Dems Should Pull Oakland in Next Election--Williams

Gov. G. Mennen Williams said yesterday that he thinks there is "every possibility" that Oakland County will go Democratic in next year's elections.

The Democratic governor cited a list of mounting Democratic victories in recent campaigns.

Speaking to a gathering of 450 at the home of Pontiac State Rep. Leslie H. Hudson, Williams observed that in the spring election Democrats captured 49.7 per cent of the Oakland County vote.

"This is about as near to winning as you can get without actually being the victor. With hard work and good organization the Democrats can emerge on top in Oakland County next year," he prophisied.

Williams was the top speaker at a fund-raising affair sponsored by the Oakland County Democratic Committee.

HUDSON IN RACE

At their first big conclave since the April 1 election, the Democrats raised about $2,900 for future campaigns and saw Hudson launch his campaign for the party's nomination as U. S. Representative next fall.

The Pontiac representative, now in his second term at Lansing, already has announced his intention to run.

While not specifically mentioning Hudson by name, Williams believed there was a good chance a Democrat could capture the Congressional post for the first time in modern history.

He attacked the political theory that Democratic voters, moving out of Detroit to the suburbs, automatically change their party affiliation with their address.

"Hard work by the party has shown that the suburbs can go Democratic as easily as the big city," he maintained.

The five-term governor, who in his first campaign for office received his initial support from Oakland County, was introduced as "the next president of the United States," a reference frequently made nowadays at party gatherings.

As usual, the party leader accepted the introduction without comment, keeping mum about his 1960 political intentions.

Other Democratic office-holders introduced were Dr. Lynn M. Bartlett, Superintendent of Public Instruction; John C. Mackie, State Highway Commissioner; Mrs. Irene E. Murphy, of Birmingham, U. of M. Regent; and Jan B. Vanderploeg, member of the State Board of Agriculture, MSU governing body.

William John Beer, Pontiac attorney and treasurer of the county committee, was master of ceremonies.

Did Legislature or Laxity Cause Hospital Break?

Senator Calls Meeting Over Escape of Six Northville Patients

DETROIT (AP)—Was it administrative laxity or financial skimping by the Legislature that brought on the escape of six young mentally disturbed patients from the nearby Northville State Hospital Saturday!

The six youths are all back in confinement today. But their escape promised to bring on a full-blown debate with possible political overtones.

A Legislative committee is to meet with the institution's administrative chiefs today to discuss charges that cutbacks by the lawmakers have reduced the hospital's security force to the danger point.

The meeting was called yesterday by Sen. Elmer R. Porter (R-Blissfield) after Dr. Robert R. Yoder, assistant medical superintendent at Northville, blamed what he termed "terrific cutbacks" by the Legislature as responsible for seriously weakening the institution's guard facilities.

"I'm afraid these riots will occur again," Dr. Yoder said, referring to the escape of the six teenagers.

Porter, head of the Senate Finance Committee, said he ordered today's meeting to "straighten out the doctors."

He said Northville had been given all the money it asked for to care for a given number of patients.

The Legislature appropriated $4,426,623 to operate the hospital during the 1957-58 fiscal year. The budget was based on 2,250 patients and 899 attendants.

Last year the institution operated under a $4,335,842 budget accorded on the basis of 2,275 patients and 889 employes.

Dr. Yoder said yesterday that he has issued orders not to admit any additional mentally disturbed patients between 10 and 18 to the hospital.

"We simply cannot manage adolescent patients with the number of attendants allotted to us by the Legislature," Dr. Yoder said.

The six teenage patients overpowered a guard Saturday and escaped after looting a cabinet of narcotics. Four were recaptured in the area shortly after the break. The other two surrendered themselves at the hospital yesterday.

Teenager Dies in Fishing Boat

Mother, Watching From Shore at Cass Lake, Summons Help

A Detroit teenager died on Cass Lake this morning while his mother watched from the shore through binoculars. The death, first thought due to drowning, was later found to be from natural causes.

Robert Dean Coffey, 17, of 1474 Harding St., Detroit, took a motor boat out on the lake at 7:30 this morning to fish. His mother, Mrs. Olie H. Coffey, apprehensive because her son suffered from epilepsy, kept watch.

At 8:30 Mrs. Coffey became alarmed because she could see no sign of activity on the boat and she summoned neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Haring of 3795 Lakefront Ave., Waterford Township.

They rode out in their motor boat and found Robert with his head and arms dangling in the water over the side of his craft.

Firemen, who assumed he had drowned, worked on the youth with an inhalator on shore and in the ambulance, but he was dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital.

An examination there showed the youth had died as a result of an epileptic seizure, not from drowning.

The family was staying at a relative's home on Cass Lake, at 3777 Lakefront. Mrs. Coffey said her son had not had a seizure in 18 months, so she let him go out alone. He had asked his younger brother, Ronald, 11, to accompany him, but the boy had decided not to go.

After tomorrow a slow warming trend is expected which will last through Saturday. Showers are expected Wednesday and Thursday.

In downtown Pontiac the lowest temperature recorded preceding 8 a.m. was 61. At 2 p.m. the mercury registered 75.

Parents Fear Kidnaping

Renew Search for Boy

BRIDGEPORT, Calif. (AP)—Little David Scott was still missing last night when darkness forced searchers to suspend their efforts. The search resumed at daybreak today in the mountainous Twin Lakes area.

The 3-year-old boy was last seen Saturday afternoon. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Scott of San Diego, were camped near Mono Village on vacation.

They fear possible kidnaping. Sheriff Cecil Thorington issued an all points bulletin asking law enforcement officers to check outgoing cars.

"He's a very friendly child," the sheriff said. "He would be willing to go with anybody."

One Wants to Retire

Abbott, Costello Split Up, No Quarreling Involved

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Bud Abbott and Lou Costello—the funnymen who broke up audiences with the classic and confounding discussion of "who's on first?"—have broken up themselves.

Costello, the roly-poly prat-faller of the famous comedy team, said yesterday that straight man Abbott has settled down on a ranch near Santa Barbara and decided not to do any more work for awhile.

There was no fight involved in the breakup, Lou said. It's just that Abbott is getting along—he's 61 now, 10 years older than Lou—and wants to get out of the act and spend his time developing a stable of thoroughbred horses.

Costello said a renewal of the old partnership would be "up to Abbott,"

With Abbott out, Lou is through as a team man.

"Oh, I might try and work with Dean Martin," he quipped, but he would want no other partner.

There was actually no formal announcement of the split. A newsman noticed that Costello had been doing a lot of solo jobs recently and asked him about it.

"It's funny," Costello said, "but I was seen as a single by millions of people on . . . national TV shows, and you're the first one who's asked me why. I guess after 20 years no one would believe that Abbott and Costello have split up."

On Costello's agenda as a single are the lead role in a movie based on the life of the late New York Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia, more night club appearances, and the emcee's part on a new TV quiz show.

Aquarama Upsets Two Fishing Boats

DETROIT (INS) — The huge Great Lakes cruise ship, Aquarama, is in the news again today after two boats were swamped in its churning wake and nine fishermen narrowly escaped drowning.

The two small boats were upset late yesterday as the 520-foot ship swept past Grassy Island in the lower Detroit River.

A Lincoln Park woman, Mrs. Helen Swanek, suffered head injuries and body bruises when the wake of the former ocean liner dumped her and three companions into the water.

Their boat was completely demolished. With Mrs. Swanek was her husband, Stanley, and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Wayrynen of Detroit.

The four were picked up by other fishing boats.

Another boat, carrying five persons, also was swamped as the ten-thousand ton Aquarama passed. Ecorse police said they were unable to learn the identities of the occupants or how they escaped drowning.

Must Go Around Populous Areas, Reports Mackie

Favors Turnpike Route East of Woodward for Defense Project

By PETE LOCKBILER

Pontiac will be linked by an expressway-type road to the proposed north-south interstate highway, State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie promised yesterday.

But the interstate route itself, though still undecided, will not pass within the city limits, the new commissioner said.

Interviewed yesterday at a gathering of Oakland County Democrats, Mackie said routing the major highway through Pontiac or a big city would "defeat its purpose."

He said that during the two weeks he has been in office he has not had time to become familiar with a proposal by the Oakland County Planning Commission that the road pass through Pontiac just west of the business district.

But observing on the feasibility of this proposal, Mackie said:

"As part of the proposed Federal Interstate Defense Highway System, the new north-south highway must try to skirt populous and industrialized areas as much as possible.

"It should pass close to but still by-pass, all the major cities from Toledo to the Straits of Mackinac."

Mackie said that the big cities, including Pontiac, will each be connected with the highway by limited access expressways. These should provide an easy flow of local traffic to and from each city, he said.

"But to route all of the interstate traffic through Pontiac would defeat the purpose of the road," Mackie observed.

The highway is planned for military travel and civilian evacuation in a time of national emergency, he said.

"It should also make a big contribution to business, commuting and just plain traveling

Yesterday's 89 Advances New Contest Leader

Yesterday afternoon in downtown Pontiac the mercury reached a sizzling 89 degrees, making Max Jackson, of 42479 Lakeland St., Plymouth, the new leader in our Hottest Moment in July contest.

His estimate of the month's hot spot was only two minutes away from the mercury's highest ascent thus far in July.

The weather man has reported, however, that temperatures are averaging above normal and will remain high until August.

A heat wave comparable to June's siege of 90 degree scorchers may be in the offing. It's still anyone's guess in this contest. Sixteen more days must pass to determine the July winner of a $100 Savings Bond.

Waterford Boys Burned Destroying Clubhouse

Two Waterford Township brothers were burned this morning when they attempted to get rid of their old clubhouse "in a hurry."

Richard Bain, 14, of 5248 Possiter Ave., Waterford Township, is in Pontiac General Hospital with face and shoulder burns and his brother Charles, 15, had his hair singed.

STOVE EXPLODES

A small stove exploded as Charles poured gasoline over the stove and clubhouse contents.

Charles told Waterford Township firemen that the boys' father, Donald, had complained of the appearance of the building, located in back of their home. He had told them to tear it down.

STOVE STILL HOT

In an effort to dispose of it quickly, they removed the valuable contents and poured gasoline over remaining debris. The stove was still hot from an earlier fire in it and upon contact with the gasoline it exploded, causing a flash fire.

Richard was outside the building when the explosion occurred while Charles was inside, pouring the gasoline.

Drainage Talk Slated Tonight

Waterford Township's Board to Discuss Areas Hit in Last Rain

Drainage facilities in Waterford Township will be one of the main topics for discussion when the board meets at 7:30 p.m. tonight, according to Supervisor Elmer Johnson.

The engineering firm of Johnson & Anderson made preliminary surveys in the Whitfield Estates subdivision this morning. After further studies by the company, elevation statistics and estimated construction costs will be presented for board action next week.

HARDEST HIT

The Whitfield Estates was one of the subdivisions in the county hardest hit by the recent downpour and is located on Williams Lake road near Airport road.

Eugene Moore, who audited last year's township financial reports, will be present tonight to discuss his work and recommendations will be made by board members on the township fiscal situation.

★ ★ ★

Last week's tabled rural zoning ordnance will be discussed and some changes will be debated, according to clerk James Seeterlin.

Chairman of the zoning board, Adsit Stewart, met with the township board members this week in an effort to clarify and study the old ordnance.

★ ★ ★

Seeterlin said that he will request the board to ask for bids for a permanent fence around the Waterford Cemetery. Located on Dixie Highway in Waterford Village, the cemetery has not been used for the past 25 years, and the proposed improvement will help to preserve its historical value, Seeterlin said.

Boy Uses Revolver to Awaken Parents

NEW YORK (AP)—John V. Hurley Jr., who is 3, likes to go into his parents' bedroom each morning to awaken them. Today he did it with a revolver, and shot his mother in the right hand.

Police said the child climbed up on the lower drawers of a dresser and reached the strongbox in which his father, a policeman, keeps a .38 revolver.

He took the weapon down and began to play with it, while his parents slept.

Suddenly, it went off. The bullet struck Mrs. Hurley's right hand, ricocheted from the headboard, bored through a bedside radio and lodged in a wall.

Know the Weather

By E. H. SIMS

Does the height of clouds in summer tell us anything about possibilities for rain?

The height of summer cumulus definitely is a weather sign to be watched. These little white cumulus clouds we see so often on summer days build up at various levels depending upon the amount of moisture in the air.

They are caused by rising warm air condensing, and if the rising warm air condenses at a low altitude there is quite a bit of moisture in the air — thus chances of rain are quite good. If, however, the clouds form high up, then the rising air contains little moisture, and chances of rain are not so good.

Thus the little white summer puffs that are called by many people fair-weather signs are not necessarily signs of fair weather. They are the first signs of rising thermals, and quite often they are followed by a thundershower in the afternoon — in summer. That is especially true if they begin to form at low altitudes early on summer mornings.

Newsmen Got Senate Secrets

Given to Aid Coverage, Says Robert Kennedy at Hoffa Trial

WASHINGTON (INS) — Senate Rackets Committee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy testified today in the James R. Hoffa trial that he had made available to newsmen some secret documents from committee files.

Kennedy was called as a government witness in the case charging teamsters vice president Hoffa with conspiracy and bribery to plant a spy on the committee staff.

Under cross-examination, Kennedy said the information was made available to newsmen in the form of "briefings."

He said the information was provided to aid newsmen in covering forthcoming committee hearings and added that no newsman ever violated a confidence.

His testimony followed another move for a mistrial by Hoffa's attorney, Edward Bennett Williams, which was denied by Federal Judge Burnita S. Matthews.

READY TO RETURN

Williams made the new motion on grounds the attorney for Hoffa's former co-defendant, Hyman I. Fischbach, is now out of the hospital and is ready to return to the courtroom.

Last week, when Fischbach's counsel, Daniel B. Maher, became ill, the judge ordered Fischbach to face trial separately at a later date.

At that time she denied a separate motion for a mistrial on the part of Hoffa and made the same decision today when advised Maher could return.

Kennedy, in testifying about information given newsmen, denied that the secret documents delivered to Hoffa by committee investigator John Cye Cheasty had ever been known to any reporter.

Driver Pays $25 Fine

Aubrey Thomas, 45, of 526½ S. Saginaw St., pleaded guilty today after being arrested on a drunk and disorderly charge following an auto accident which injured two persons Saturday.

Thomas paid a $25 fine instead of a five-day jail sentence when he appeared before Municipal Judge Cecil B. McCallum.

Senator Sees Rights Bill Scope Limited to Voting

WASHINGTON (AP)— Sen. Ervin (D-NC) said today he sees "a good chance" to reduce the administration's civil rights bill "to what its supporters have been trying to advertise it to be—namely, a voting rights bill."

While Ervin and other Southern senators expressed confidence they were gaining ground, they are likely to run into an increasing counterattack from supporters of the House-passed bill once the preliminary skirmishing is ended.

So far the Senate debate, now entering its seventh day, has been technically on a motion of Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California to take the bill off the calendar and bring it up for action.

This is to be voted on late tomorrow, and even the bill's all-out foes concede the motion will carry.

Once this happens and the Senate turns to actual consideration of the bill and proposed amendments, proponents plan to jump into the debate. To date, in the interest of time, they have been largely content to leave the speech-making to Southern foes of the bill.

The measure, passed by the House last month, would establish a six-member commission to study civil rights problems, and create a special civil rights division within the attorney general's office.

Another part, designated Section 3, would permit the attorney general to obtain federal court injunctions against violations, or threatened violations, of voting rights and other civil rights instead of having to rely on criminal prosecutions.

Persons accused of defying the injunctions could be convicted and jailed for contempt of court without a jury trial.

Still another section makes similar provisions specifically limited to voting rights.

Sen. Russell (D-Ga), leader of the Dixie forces, offered an amendment Saturday to rip out the whole of Section 3. He and other opponents contend that section is aimed at forcing racial integration in Southern schools and other public places with the use of federal troops if necessary.

Area Woman Killed by Train

Dorothy Duffie Stood Transfixed on Tracks, Waterford Police Say

A Waterford Township woman, Dorothy Duffie, 47, staying temporarily with relatives at 1135 Lakeview Ave., was killed when struck by a Grand Trunk passenger train Sunday afternoon.

The death of Mrs. Duffie, a mental patient at Pontiac State Hospital, who was on a visiting pass, was ruled an accident today by Dr. Isaac C. Prevette, Oakland County Deputy Coroner.

State Police said Mrs. Duffie apparently became confused and stood transfixed between the rails as the train approached.

The accident occurred on the Grand Trunk Railway track about a half mile east of Scott Lake Rd., in Waterford Township.

Benton M. Gracey, of 53 Marston St., Detroit, engineer of the Muskegon to Detroit train, told state troopers she made no attempt to avoid the train.

"We saw her standing in the center of the track as we rounded a curve, traveling at about 30 miles per hour," he said.

Gracey added he blew the whistle a few times and with his fireman, Jack Elliston, of 10855 W. 11 Mile Rd., Huntington Woods, tried to wave the woman off the track.

The accident occurred about two miles from her home.

Hunt Pressed by Coast Guard

Seek Steel Container Menacing Navigation in Atlantic

NEW YORK (INS) — The Coast Guard began today an air-sea search for a steel container of radio-active sodium that failed to sink when it was dumped 185 miles out in the Atlantic.

The container, declared a "menace to navigation" and believed to weigh more than a ton, bobbed up in the wake of the tanker Bay Way yesterday as the ship raced through the Atlantic dumping radioactive waste.

★ ★ ★

The container was one of 25 loaded under navy supervision at the Schenectady laboratories of the General Electric Co. A coastguardsman said it floated because it was only partly filled.

The Coast Guard cutter Agassiz patrolling the area was rushed to the scene to warn navigation through the night of the potential danger.

★ ★ ★

Not only would the container probably dent a steel ship, but if it opened up under the impact, it might explode when water reached the sodium.

The waste material was left over from the development of the nuclear power plant for the navy's latest atom-powered submarine, The Seawolf.

Man Bound Over in Boy Scout's Death

MUSKEGON (AP) — Municipal Judge William T. Caughey today ordered Herman Barmore bound over to Circuit Court on a charge of manslaughter in the 1955 gunshot death of Peter Gorham, 12, Evanston, Ill., Boy Scout.

The judge set July 18 for Circuit Court arraignment on the charge and set bond at $20,000.

Barmore, 44-year-old itinerant handyman also known as Charles W. Ficher, was returned to jail, however, because of a hold order from New York state which seeks him as a parole violator.

Pontiac Assured of Highway Link

pleasure. But these are secondary considerations," Mackie said.

The Plan Commission and several downtown Pontiac groups had proposed to the former State Highway Department administration that the interstate route enter the city near Franklin road and Square Lake road.

The commission proposed that the road parallel Bagley and Williams streets and then leave the city along the Grand Trunk Railroad route.

This proposal was based on the assumption that the interstate route would be west of Woodward, in the general area of Telegraph and Southfield roads.

Former State Highway Commission Charles M. Ziegler favored this route.

★ ★ ★

But Mackie yesterday said the most desireable route would be east of Woodward.

LIKES TURNPIKE ROUTE

He said that the question is still up in the air, but added that the proposed route of the Michigan Turnpike Authority is preferable to Ziegler's.

This route lies west of Woodward until a point south of Square Lake road, where it crosses Woodward and passes Pontiac on the east.

Better still, Mackie said, would be a route between Detroit and Pontiac that lies entirely east of Woodward.

In this connection, he said, the proposed Oakland-Hastings Expressway, which ultimately would pass along Stephenson Highway, is important.

★ ★ ★

The route Mackie designates, with the approval of the Federal Bureau of Roads, as the interstate route will be eligible for federal aid amounting to $9 for every $1 of state money.

"We're not going to make any move, however, until we have completely reviewed all our sources of money," Mackie said.

The interstate highway has the state's "top road priority," Mackie said, and should be a reality in about three years. Planning is snagged, however, until the Wayne and Oakland County route is decided, he added.

★ ★ ★

The commissioner said he intends to meet with the turnpike authority soon to discuss its proposal that the turnpike be designated as the interstate route.

The area of the Republic of Panama is slightly smaller than that of the state of Maine. It is 425 miles long and from 31 to 118 miles in width.

Helicopter Flies Ike to Capital

Ends His Participation in 1957 Civil Defense Drill, Operation Alert

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower was lowered onto the south lawn of the White House by helicopter today, marking the end of his participation in Operation Alert 1957.

He whirled in from a secret "command post" within 200 miles of Washington, where he took personal charge of government efforts to bounce back from the theoretical holocaust of Friday's mock nuclear bomb attack in which 155 key American cities supposedly were hit.

Eisenhower had departed from the White House for a secret hideaway when the civil defense drill began Friday. That trip also was by helicopter. For the first time in history, the helicopter was used to transport a president to and from the White House.

★ ★ ★

The President's participation in the civil defense drill was interrupted during the weekend, which he spent at his Gettysburg, Pa., farm. Eisenhower left the farm by helicopter earlier today for the command post, then flew to Washington after being briefed on progress of the exercise.

Asked how the trip was, he smiled and replied, "Fine, fine."

"It was good weather," he added, "and a good way to see the country."

★ ★ ★

In the helicopter with him was James Rowley, head of the White House Secret Service detail. Other Secret Service agents were in another machine which also landed on the White House grounds, back of the south portico.

Presidential Nominee?

Battle May Aid Knowland

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) apparently has seized on the civil rights controversy in the Senate as offering an issue that might make him the Republican presidential nominee in 1960.

Knowland, the Senate Republican leader, said last night he will announce next fall whether he intends to seek the Republican nomination for governor of California.

He had announced previously he would not run for re-election to the Senate next year.

Knowland said he has arranged tentatively to make 45 speeches in all sections of California after Congress quits. He said his schedule for those speeches would depend upon the adjournment date, which is uncertain because of the battle over the administration's civil rights bill.

If he runs for the governorship, the supposition is that he will be attempting to place himself in a position to bid for the presidential nomination two years later.

Perhaps with this in mind, Knowland has taken the leadership in efforts to get the House-passed civil rights bill before the Senate.

The Day in Birmingham

Water, Zoning, Sirens Top Tonight's Agenda

BIRMINGHAM —Water, zoning and sirens seem to be the highlights of the city commission session tonight.

Charles J. Sitta of 1423 Buckingham has protested by letter the flooding of his and neighboring properties by surface water which flows into the area from the nearby Derby school grounds.

He points out that an emergency ditch dug to guide water through vacant properties to sewer lines has proven inadequate. It results in standing pools which he describes as "a danger to small children" adding that as the water becomes stagnant it creates an undesirable situation.

★ ★ ★

Another letter from C. E. Patterson, 1304 Lake Park Dr., asks that action be taken to provide grading, sewers, curbs and permanent paving to protect residents from excessive flooding of the street.

A third communication is from William E. Burgum who cites the continued flooding in the Kimberly-Pine-Winthrop-Chesterfield area.

He said the July 8 storm brought raw sewage into basements. Its health problem necessitated complete and extensive cleanups and disinfection in several area homes.

Zoning will include further discussion on the proposed amendment to a change from Business A to Business C in the Sheffield Estates subdivision. The properties under question lie along 14 Mile road east of Woodward avenue. Commissioners and plan board officials say there has been no indication that the move will meet opposition.

City Managers office and officials of the Birmingham Fire Department will present their several reports on plan to hook the fire siren and air raid sirens together to provide greater coverage.

It has been pointed out that in the event of an air raid the present system does not completely cover the city especially in the downtown business district.

Several plans have been tried and found impractical. Tonight these and the possibility of using a telephone system to alert off duty and volunteer firemen for general alarm will be discussed.

Birmingham Civil Air Patrol will be hosts to 25 or 30 cadets from the British Equivalent beginning July 24. The guests will arrive at Selfridge Field where Birmingham's Group No. 3 will meet them. A round of events is planned to keep guests busy and give them a chance to observe how their American friends live.

★ ★ ★

This is the third group of British cadets to visit here. Other foreign guests have been from Portugal, Chile, Alaska, Cuba and the Netherlands.

State Mishaps Leave 14 Dead

But Only Five Killed in Highway Accidents, Despite Heavy Traffic

Night Club Damaged by Bomb Explosion

DETROIT (AP)—A bomb exploded in a downtown Detroit night club today blasting a large hole in the bar and damaging the interior. No one was in the building at the time.

The explosion occurred at the Frolic Show Bar. Police said the bomb, containing either dynamite or black powder, apparently had been placed in a refuse container.

Coast Brush Fires Still Burn Fiercely

NEWHALL, Calif. (AP)—A fierce brush fire reached this mountain community yesterday, but was beaten down before it could cause extensive property damage.

Outside the town, the blaze was still out of control.

The flames consumed one small structure in the city and destroyed several buildings in a nearby canyon.

Late Aga Khan's Body to Be Laid to Rest in Egypt

GENEVA (AP) — The late Aga Khan's body will be flown Wednesday to the Egyptian province of Aswan, where the Moslem leader will be buried in Oriental pomp amid scenic beauties he loved.

A family spokesman said the remains of the spiritual ruler of 20 million Ismaili moslems will be accompanied by his widow the begum, his son Aly, and his grandson successor, Aga Khan IV. Twelve representatives of Ismaili communities in Africa, the Middle East, India and Pakistan will also go along.

The spokesman said the 79-year-old leader's embalmed body will lie in state Tuesday and most of Wednesday at the lakeside villa where he died last week. It will leave late Wednesday in a chartered Swiss Airlines plane.

Set August 27 Date for Gas Rate Hearing

LANSING (AP)—The State Public Service Commission has set an Aug. 27 hearing date for a petition by Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. for a gas rate increase.

Consolidated, in petitioning for the rate increase Feb. 20th, did not specify a dollar amount or percentage. The utility was last granted a price hike Aug. 17, 1955.

In its petition, Consolidated said the rate increase was needed, to offset higher taxes, labor costs and operating costs and to meet depreciation charges.

It also cited the spending of 34 million dollars for plant expansion in 1956 and further expansion this year to cost 31 million dollars.

Republican Predicts New Gains in South

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A Republican party official—I. Lee Potter—predicted today that GOP gains in Dixie in 1952 and 1956 "are only a foreshadowing of things to come."

★ ★ ★

But Potter said to bring about a "responsible two-party system" in the South, Republicans will have to run more candidates to give the voters a chance to express a preference. Potter recently was named director of Republican campaign activities in the South for the GOP National Committee.

In a speech prepared for the Louisiana Federation of Women's Republican Clubs, Potter asked: "How can we expect to attract voters if we do not have candidates?"

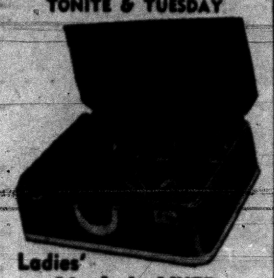

★ ★ ★

Declaring the GOP let 65 of 114 congressional seats go by default in 12 Southern and border states in 1956, he said: "Yet a vote analysis shows that twice as many Southern voters in 1956 cast a straight Republican ballot as in 1952. Given the opportunity, many more would have done so. It is up to us to provide the opportunity. . . ."

Turn Away Students at New York Schools

NEW YORK (AP)—Between 2,000 and 3,000 students who want to go to high school in the summer have been turned away because New York City's Board of Education can't find enough teachers to handle the load. Summer high schools in New York had 28,000 students last year, and 34,000 had applied when classes started last week.

Casey Jones' Partner Dead

Fireman on Last Run of 'Cannonball Express' Felled by Cancer

MEMPHIS (AP)— Cancer has killed the man who was fireman when Casey Jones, the greatest railroader in American folklore, made his fabled final run in the "Cannonball Express."

★ ★ ★

Simeon T. (Sim) Webb, 83, of Jackson, Tenn., died in a hospital Saturday night, 57 years after the Cannonball burst through a stalled freight train on the Illinois Central line near Vaughn, Miss.

Obeying Casey's shouted order "jump for your life," Webb leaped from the cab of the steam engine. Casey, with brakes locked and whistle screaming, rode with the locomotive and was killed.

★ ★ ★

The wreck of that "big eight-wheeler of mighty fame" grew to legendary proportions in the next few years. A song about Casey sold millions of copies.

Webb enjoyed his sideswipe with fame, telling his story thousands of times. But he quit railroading in 1919 after another narrow escape when an engine he was firing overturned.

★ ★ ★

The elderly Negro was stricken with cancer some months ago. He moved from Jackson to Memphis, staying with a daughter until he became critically ill July 3 and was admitted to the hospital.

Fast 'Gunman' Outdraws Foes From California

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — There was a deathly silence as the four gunslingers, hands poised above their pistols, stood face to face in a rodeo arena last night.

Suddenly, their hands flashed down and the guns seemed to leap from the holsters.

The silence was broken by the roar of gunfire.

Bill Reust of Santa Fe slipped his smoking gun back into the holster.

He had proven he was the king of the gunslingers.

Even though outdrawn and and outshot, the other three managed to walk away from the gunfight without a scratch.

The gunslingers were using cap pistols and shot against the stop watch and not each other.

Reust, the winner, is 10 years old.

The second-place finisher, Lars Henderson of Los Angeles, is 9.

It all started when Lars and his 11-year-old brother Eric appeared on a television show demonstrating some new cap pistols.

The boys were touted as the fastest on the draw. The Santa Fe youngsters, from the stomping grounds of Billy the Kid, cried, "Draw and prove it, podner."

Janice Nicholson, 12, the second member of the Santa Fe gang, finished third and Eric was last.

Mother Turns In Son for Plotting Robbery

TOKYO (AP) — The mother of a rising young Japanese movie actor turned informer on an older son, police said today, after she heard him plotting a payroll robbery.

★ ★ ★

Police said they rounded up Masao Takarada, 26, and two other men and charged them with attempted robbery.

Takarada's 24-year-old brother Akira is one of Japan's more popular film stars. Police said he was not involved in the plot.

★ ★ ★

The police gave this account:

Mrs. Takarada, 49, heard Masao and his two confederates—all discharged by a candy company—plotting to hold up their former employer as he left the bank with the company payroll.

The mother telephoned her son's former employer and suggested he take a police escort with him to the bank. He took along six policemen, who arrested the trio outside the bank.

Public Vs. Private Power

Hells Canyon Dam Battle Catches Seaton in Middle

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE

The continuing battle between private and public power always puts someone in the middle and the current "man in the middle" is Interior Secretary Fred A. Seaton.

Right now, Seaton is in the middle of the hotly debated controversy over whether the government should build one high dam across the Snake River at Hells Canyon, Idaho, in place of three low dams planned by private industry.

His position in the crossfire doesn't bother him. He thinks of such a role as normal for him and put it into words shortly after his appointment to the Cabinet last year. This was when a reporter asked him what kind of a Republican he was and he answered:

"A liberal conservative—perhaps a middle-of-the-roader."

Newsmen like the blond, 47-year-old Kansan. He's approachable, friendly and, in return, likes the press corps whom he has informed, "I'd rather be a newspaperman than anything."

He IS a newspaperman and in private life directs a family chain of newspapers and radio and TV stations.

ORIGINAL 'TEAM' MEMBER

Seaton is an original member of the Eisenhower "team," having known the President and worked with him since 1952 when, as junior senator from Kansas, he met Ike at SHAPE in Paris. From then on, he's been an Eisenhower booster and aide.

Politics and Seaton are no strangers. In his 20s he was chairman of the Young Republicans, and he was active in Kansas Gov. Alfred M. Landon's campaign for the presidency.

With Eisenhower's election in 1952, Seaton could have been in line for an important administration post but he went back to private business. That didn't last long, however, because a year later President Eisenhower brought him back to Washington as an assistant secretary of defense.

As interior secretary, Seaton advocates the Eisenhower "partnership power program." He is on record as saying he thinks it simple common sense that the government and private industry share the heavy costs of power plants and dams.

Friendly, cheerful Fred Seaton and his attractive wife, Gladys, live simply in a big, bustling household with their four adopted children and an assortment of pets, including a duck.

Arab Resettlement May Be Up to U.N.

On his return from a two month tour of the Middle East, Senator Humphrey, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee on that area, offered some constructive proposals for settlement of the Israeli-Arab question.

The Senator suggests that the United States take the lead in another effort to bring together Israel and the Arab states for a permanent peace settlement. He urges new attempts to solve the Arab refugee problem which is mostly responsible for Arab hostility toward Israel.

The Minnesota lawmaker points out that Iraq needs three million new inhabitants and that Syria and Jordan also must have more people to develop their countries. Development of the fertile Jordan River Valley should take care of 200,000. He urges Israel to accept a limited number of refugees as a token of good will and to offer compensation.

Israel couldn't possibly absorb the original 600,000 Arabs who fled the country. The population of the refugee camps now is said to be nearly one million through births and an influx of hungry Arabs from other areas who come there to be looked after by the United Nations.

The Arab states have favored leaving these refugees in camps on Israel's border to keep enmity alive. But in the case of Jordan at least this has backfired as the refugees provided the principal support for the pro-Communist Egyptian-Syrian plot to overthrow Jordan's government.

Perhaps a Middle Eastern Development Agency operating within the framework of the United Nations, as Sen. Humphrey suggests, is the answer. Under the Eisenhower Doctrine, accepted by both Israel and most Arab countries, the United States could take the initiative and offer assistance in restoring peace to the area.

Red Industrial Output Far Behind America's

Russian industrial output is falling farther behind America's, says Prof. G. Warren Nutter of the University of Virginia and a member of the National Bureau of Economic Research.

Reporting to the American Economics Association Dr. Nutter says, for instance, that Russian production of boots and shoes in 1955 equaled the U.S. 1911 production, that is to say it lagged 44 years behind American output. In 1913 the lag was 23 years when Russia produced boots and shoes equaling our 1890 output.

★ ★ ★

In the basic steel industry Russia in 1955 produced the same amount of steel ingots as did this country in 1926. In 1937 the Soviets turned out the same produced in 1905. The lag in other key industries in 1955 was: freight cars, 69 years; cotton fabrics, 48 years; coal, 47 years; cement, 32 years; electric power, 16 years.

★ ★ ★

These figures are total production and Russia's population has been growing fast. On a per capita basis the lag for these key industries in 1955 puts Russia 56 years behind the same industries in the United States.

This doesn't mean that Russia is weak. That country has made tremendous strides but much of the production is in military goods and heavy machinery. Much of ours goes for consumer goods as well as for defense needs and our standard of living is rising fast.

★ ★ ★

Soviet leaders are concerned about low production but under the Communist slave system they cannot get the wholehearted cooperation of the people. The capitalist system not only provides incentive but under it workers and employers alike enjoy the fruits of their efforts.

CD Chief Peterson Norway Ambassador

Val Peterson, outgoing Civil Defense Administrator, has a new and pleasant assignment as U.S. Ambassador to Norway.

As CD Chief for the past several years he has had a frustrating job. Much of his time was spent in trying to prepare the United States mentally and physically for disasters which might come from nuclear war.

★ ★ ★

In spite of impossible odds and much unjust criticism, he never complained and never lost his sense of humor. Mr. Peterson was one of the original Eisenhower backers and worked hard during the first campaign. During World War II he served in the China-Burma-India theater and attained the rank of lieutenant colonel.

The Old Pro Is Ready for His Cue!

David Lawrence Says:

President Moves to Curb Inflation

WASHINGTON — There's more than meets the eye in President Eisenhower's recent directive to all government bureaus to hold down spending.

LAWRENCE

It isn't any deep plot to take political credit from the Democrats for their efforts to play the role of economizers. Nor is it any contradiction of what the administration has been saying and aiming at right along.

ECONOMIC FOREST

The trouble with political Washington these days is that it can't see the economic forest for the political trees. It is so interested in individual ambition and party advantage that it is indifferent to the basic cause of the present trend toward a dangerous inflation—rise in prices due to the increase in labor costs, and the fact that labor has not sufficiently augmented its productivity per hour.

Efficient labor today moreover is scarce and, in periods of full employment, productivity sometimes lags.

Fundamentally both political parties have shied away from doing anything that would bring on a recession or depression. Yet some overall readjustment is inevitable and the political impact of a drastic change in government spending policy depends on just when the climax in the readjustment process comes and what areas of the country are adversely affected.

SLOWED DOWN

For it is certain that as government spending is substantially cut, the wheels of the nation's economy will be slowed down, some unemployment will be created and wage and price levels will be held steady. If a tax reduction takes effect concurrently with the drop in government spending and tends to offset the downward spiral in business, the ultimate result will be a sound economic condition.

But in the interval there will be some painful losses. Wherever such adversity occurs the party in power will find the voters registering their protest at the polls irrespective of previous party allegiance.

The President's directive was not conceived as part of a political program. Politically the usual course is to acquiesce in more and more inflation and more and more spending and to disregard budget balancing. What Eisenhower has done, however, is to set a limit of $70 billions on this year's budget which is a cut from the $71.8 billion estimated in his message of last January.

His directive issued in the last two weeks is really aimed at the fiscal year starting July 1, 1958, when it is hoped to hold government spending to the same figure of $70 billions. Budgets have to be planned long in advance.

But the decision to reverse now the long-range trend has been taken. The administration, however, will have to be prepared to pay for this politically in 1958 in certain regions of the country which will be affected.

What the President did with his directive was really to take an action that is routine in a procedural sense—to order the bureaus to hold the line for this year and keep within the same figure next year.

BUDGET BALANCE

But the step takes on added significance and urgency now.

For it looks as if there will be a budget balance in the current fiscal year—ending June 30 next—of at least $2 billion because revenues are much better than anticipated. If Congress wants to cut on the non-defense side the administration will go along and agree to a tax cut, effective during the calendar year 1958.

It is plainly evident that the administration has concluded it can expect no help from either big business or big unionism in restraining the wage-price spiral. It is evident also that the Federal Reserve Board can do little to check the inflation merely by letting interest rates rise and curtailing credit.

Only one thing is going to stop inflation and stabilize the purchasing power of the dollar for a while and that's a recession. This means some unemployment. It will perhaps also halt the use of "escalator" clauses in labor contracts.

Country Parson

"Unkind words, like physical injury, may eventually quit hurting—but may leave their victim crippled for life."

Dr. William Brady Says:

False Shame, Ignorance Dog Those With Epilepsy

Two years after an injury in a snow accident a college freshman had her first epileptic seizure. It was comparatively slight, the form called petit mal ("little illness"), and the first and successive seizures therefore were called "fainting spells," although the young woman and her family were worried and embarrassed.

DR. BRADY

Then the Motor Vehicle department refused to give her a driver's license. She got the feeling that she was rejected and feared that she would have a seizure in the presence of strangers.

The poor girl joined the tormented group of intelligent people who "do not belong."

I say intelligent people because first, that's what the author of the article I am cribbing calls them. (The June, '57 issue of the Alpha Chi Omega LYRE) and secondly, because, come to think of it, nearly all the epileptics I have known were a cut above the average intelligence level.

The author of the magazine article, Dorothy Drach Abbott, reminds us that for generations epilepsy has been associated with witchcraft and demonism. Some epileptics and their families or acquaintances still think they are possessed with devils or insane.

★ ★ ★

A person with epilepsy (either petit mal — brief lapses — or grand mal — convulsions and complete loss of consciousness) is not very liable to go insane.

70 KNOWN CAUSES

This is astonishing to me. To the best of my knowledge, the cause of epilepsy is still unknown.

Epilepsy, the article says, is no more inherited than heart trouble or hay fever — and it is now well controlled by drugs. This I'll buy as is.

Which drug is best in each case is for your physician to decide, perhaps in consulation with a neurologist.

The college freshman married a young accountant who "did not care in the least that she was an epileptic." Later she had her first grand mal seizure.

STARTED A CLUB

It was then that she communicated with the state Epileptic society, obtaining educational material, and wrote to local papers asking epileptics to write her. Soon she had a kind of county epileptic society going — 15 at the end of the first meeting. There are now 200 members.

This and other similar organizations are helping many epileptics to help themselves and get jobs.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Here's Advice for Mr. Milktoast

Lorna's case was diagnosed many years ago by William Shakespeare. For Shakespeare was a remarkable applied psychologist. If you wonder why some husbands have nagging wives, scrapbook this case. And be sure to send for the booklet mentioned below. Nagging often reveals a wife's erotic frustration.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case V-337: Lorna G., aged 20, is a college coed.

"But, Dr. Crane, my problem concerns Mother," Lorna began. "For she is certainly a perfect example of a nagging wife.

★ ★ ★

DR. CRANE

"Nothing Daddy does is ever right! She criticizes him all the time. But he is so meek and forgiving that he shrugs off her caustic remarks.

"He is very generous with his money. And he doesn't smoke or drink. He always comes home on time from the office.

"And he is a faithful attendant at church, too, so why should Mother be such a chronic nagger?"

WHY WIVES NAG

Nagging is often the weapon employed by an erotically starved female to prod a sluggish man into action.

Although women in general are comparatively frigid, as measured by the average male's standard, they do have some definite hunger for affection.

★ ★ ★

A normal woman cannot enjoy the full amount of erotic thrill, however, from a dutiful Mr. Milktoast.

In the famous comic strip about Jiggs & Maggie, you will find that Maggie is also a chronic nagger.

But that is because Jiggs has degenerated into a platonic husband whose major thrill is in fondling a stein of beer or a plate of corned beef and cabbage instead of his wife.

When men grow senile, they thus begin to think about gastric pleasures instead of love delights.

★ ★ ★

They may become connoisseurs of various fancy restaurants and be able to tell you the eating places that concoct the best salads or the most succulent stew.

So when men debate food recipes, they are often growing effeminate.

SHAKESPEARE'S PSYCHOLOGY

Shakespeare was one of the greatest applied psychologists of all time, and he understood the psychology of nagging wives.

In the "Taming of the Shrew" he showed the strategy which such cross, quarreison women need.

Subconsciously a girl "senses" whether or not her male escort is a verile male or a sluggish, half effeminate creature.

And if she feels that he isn't bold or audacious enough, she tries to nag him into assuming his proper masculine role.

Affection and love involve a lot of tactual elements. So women crave more than flowery words and long range romancing.

They hope their sweetheart will use some cave man tactics, at least on occasion.

They want to know that the steel fist is under the silk glove.

Once they are sure of that fact, they may be docile and happy the rest of their lives.

But if a man never shows his masculine steel, but always tries to mollify his mate with gentle words and mild remonstrances, she will become even more quarrelsome.

HOW WIVES FEEL

"Dr. Crane, I don't know why I am so mean to my husband,"

many a young wife has tearfully confessed to me.

But closer analysis shows that she is trying to prod her mate into a laying on of hands.

★ ★ ★

"I just wish he'd spank me till I couldn't sit down," is a common remark of such wives, who thus indicate their craving for masculine brute force.

Although most men are too selfish and brutal there is a minority who fail because they try to be too gallant and ultra considerate. (See tomorrow's case.)

If you wish more specific advice on "How to Handle Nagging Wives," send for that booklet, enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Ask Pontiac's Assistance With Recreation for Teens

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

Just what are teenagers in Pontiac supposed to do through the summer months? Often I read of people complaining about rebellious teens and the pranks they pull. Honestly, can you blame them?

There are only about three places the kids can go to occupy their time — drive-ins, shows or rootbeer stands. It's only natural for girls to seek friends of the opposite sex. The same for the guys. But is there one safe place in Pontiac to do this? Honestly, Pontiac, the answer is no. I suggest something be done about it.

Last summer there was a teen club, but the kids without cars or dates couldn't attend because it wasn't a proper, or convenient location. An excellent idea would be to get one or two large halls, close to town and provide recreation for all the kids. Admission prices should be low enough to fit the kids' pockets. It costs so much to see one movie, and some of the movies aren't healthy for us kids.

This is a plea to the people of Pontiac. Please open your hearts and help teenagers enjoy a healthy and happier teen life.

Two Speak Up for Teachers

I'm not a teacher, but have worked around them for eight years. Those who say they get too much money should look at it this way:

Construction laborers who build the school get $2.50 or more an hour, whether they've had one day or 12 years of schooling. Would you want those people to teach your child? This is not to be derogatory about construction workers, but teaching is skilled labor, the same as engineering and medicine. You must go to school to learn. If a teacher isn't worth more money than a laborer, then I say go hire a laborer to teach your children.

I'm a taxpayer, too, but I can see farther than the end of my nose.

George W. Vosburg

We consider ourselves a pretty average family where the family head is a teacher. My husband has eight years experience, the last five of which have been in Pontiac. We have three small children, own a 1952 car and are buying our $9,000 home.

Last year my husband brought home a grand total of $90 a week. This averages less than $70 on a 12-month basis. In order to make ends meet, he must work at odd jobs in the evenings and weekends, and naturally all summer.

Teachers on the whole aren't complaining, because with their education they are capable of obtaining better paid jobs. Some have done that, but most of them enjoy their work so much they don't want to quit teaching. Where would our educational system be if every young man trying to support a family decided to take a higher-paying job?

How many men in white collar jobs begin work at 8 a.m. and leave at 5 p.m. or later, as is often the case with my husband, then put in hours of extra work and get home by 10 or 11 p.m., only to spend another hour or two preparing work for the next day? Doctors are the only other people I can think of who work these hours, but they get paid for it, and rightly so.

Schools, like churches, are taken too much for granted and too many people expect them to go on doing their work without financial help, or even appreciation and respect.

Can You Spare A Few Minutes to Win $1,700?

Well, if you can't spare a few minutes to win that much money, you're not like any of the people we know. For a little effort, you might be able to make the down payment on that house you've been wanting. Or maybe you want to be sure of your son's next year in college. And a lot of people would welcome just a good spending spree. Any of these will be yours if you can select the correct numbers for this week's Pot-O-Gold. Even if someone wins last week's puzzle and the big prize is taken, you can't complain too much about $100 for a consolation.

The new puzzle contains a series of squares which are alphabetically lettered and a corresponding list of sentences with two clue words. Each of the words is numbered. The object is to select the word which you think best fits the clue sentence. You then place the number of that word in the square which has the same letter as the clue sentence.

In other words, you will read the clue labeled A and decide which of the two words makes the most sense in the sentence. You then write the number of that word in the puzzle square marked A.

Do the same with all other squares. Read all the clues carefully and be sure the right numbers are in the right squares.

Should Governments Warn Against Smoking

Ponder Cigarette-Cancer Problem

LONDON (AP)—On the basis of available evidence should governments tell their citizens there is a danger of acquiring lung cancer through heavy smoking?

In Britain and some western European countries many people believe governments now have a moral obligation to campaign against tobacco — and particularly against cigarette smoking. They feel stern efforts should be made in the interest of national health to keep teen-agers from acquiring the habit.

Others, including medical men, feel the case against smoking has not been proved. They question the value of statistics showing cigarette smokers run grave risks of developing lung cancer.

Governments themselves are in a dilemma.

A successful anti-tobacco campaign would seriously disturb national budgets. The British government collects almost two billion dollars a year from cigarette taxes.

★ ★ ★

In France and Italy the tobacco industry is a profitable state monopoly. The governments themselves back advertising campaigns picturing smoking as a pleasure.

Any scientific survey indicating smoking is a danger pushes down prices of tobacco shares on the London Stock Exchange. But these setbacks last only a few days.

The latest flurry developed June 27 when the British government informed Parliament of the findings of the Medical Research Council. The council's 14 experts listed smoking, particularly of cigarettes, as a principal cause of lung cancer.

★ ★ ★

The council found that one heavy smoker in eight—a heavy smoker being one who consums 24 or more cigarettes a day—is likely to die of lung cancer. Among nonsmokers this condition strikes only one in 300.

Many doctors questioned the figures. Some said reports like these made some people so nervous they actually smoke more. Others thought smoking is a necessary cushion to the stresses of modern life.

The British government has declined to sponsor an antismoking campaign. It says educational efforts of that sort are the responsibility of local authorities.

★ ★ ★

In France the government-controlled tobacco industry is conducting experiments in an effort to remove the danger from smoking.

Peron Puts Wreath at Bolivar Memorial

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Ex-dictator Juan D. Peron, an exile the government of native Argentina would like to see get the boot from Venezuela, placed a wreath yesterday at the foot of the monument to liberator Simon Bolivar.

The wreath was labeled from "Argentines resident in Venezuela."

The ceremony, attended by fewer than 200 persons, was meant to show that Argentines are not disrespectful of this country. The present Argentine government has broken relations with Venezuela because the latter refused to restrict the activities of the ousted dictator.

Would End Draft, Backer Claims

New Military Pay Plan Pushed

WASHINGTON (INS) — Industrialist Ralph J. Cordiner mapped a two-pronged campaign today to win congressional approval for the military merit pay plan he believes would end the draft and save billions of defense dollars.

Cordiner told international news service that he hopes first to build a favorable record for the plan in Senate hearings late this month, and that he is prepared to continue the fight when Congress reconvenes next January.

He said: "I'm dedicated to this I think it's so good that I'm prepared to carry on the fight as long as may be necessary."

Cordiner, president of General Electric Company and chairman of the government's Civilian Commission on Military Compensation, does not rule out a possibility that he would accept appointment as Secretary of Defense if this came as a White House go-ahead for his plan.

Appearing on a television program last night, he said only that he would "have to do a lot of soul-searching" if the Cabinet job were offered him. His subsequent remarks underscored the importance he attaches to his program.

The industry leader, however, took issue with President Eisenhower's contintion that it might prove inflationary to adopt at this time the plan to grant military pay increases on a merit basis.

Cordiner said he is convinced the measure would be "deflationary, not inflationary," and would have these additional results:

A "more than likely chance" of ending the draft. He pointed out that there are only 305,000 draftees in the 2,800,000-man military establishment and that his plan contemplates a manpower reduction of 10 per cent — 280,000 men.

★ ★ ★

A savings of more than five billion dollars annually in defense costs by 1962. Cordiner said the five billion dollar estimate was prepared by the Defense Department, itself, and that he thinks the estimate is too conservative.

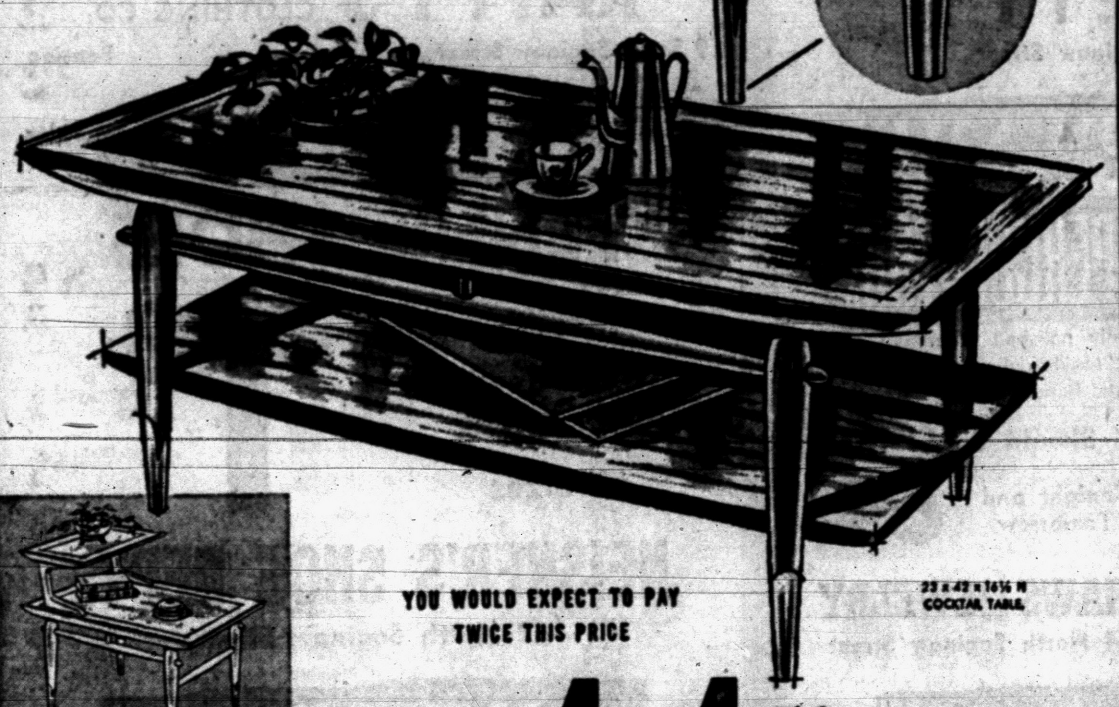

Cordiner said he favors a professional army father than a military establishment that operates as a training ground for industry.

Franciosa Claims He's Not Violent

Also Denies Tales of Bride Shelley's Hot Temper

By OLGA CURTIS

NEW YORK (INS) — Actor Anthony Franciosa, who's facing a 10-day jail term for slugging a photographer, says he's "really not a violent guy."

And he claims his bride, actress Shelley Winters, is "not hot-tempered" either.

Then how come all the kicking and screaming in California when a photographer tried to snap their picture before they got married?

"I blow up once or twice a year like any other guy," Franciosa said sheepishly. "This time I got caught at it."

GOLDFISH BOWL

"The ironic thing is that if I'd slugged anybody six months earlier, nobody would have noticed. The movies certainly put you in a goldfish bowl."

★ ★ ★

The 29-year-old New York actor, who stepped from a hit Broadway show to quick Hollywood fame, is still admittedly "scared" by his sudden status as a celebrity.

"I can't reconcile myself to this goldfish business," he explained. "I know it has to be, but I'm going to try to keep it to a minimum."

As a result, his comments on his private life are few. He and Shelley "are still honeymooning," are "calm," and "haven't had any fights."

★ ★ ★

"Those stories about Shelley's temper must be exaggerated," said her bridegroom of two months. "She's not hot-tempered. She's very warm and sensitive — with definite ideas like any normal person."

The curly-haired, 6-foot-1 actor preferred to discuss the difference between acting on stage and in movies.

NEW TECHNIQUE

"I played the brother in 'Hatful of Rain' on Broadway for a year," he noted. "But in repeating the part for the movie version I had to learn a whole new technique. In fact, I had to forget my stage characterization."

Franciosa, who is now a veteran of four movies, plans to concentrate on pictures for a while.

"Anything but Westerns," he grinned. "I don't particularly want to get on a horse off-screen or on. I rode a horse just once and got thrown, and I've never been back on a horse."

Champion Patti Berg gave Mrs. Woody Miller and Mrs. Charles Devine of Birmingham and Mrs. Murray Patten of Detroit a few pointers on golf balls at a golf clinic held at Birmingham Country Club.

Climbing out of Forest Lake Country Club pool is Diane Downey of Birmingham. Not quite so interested in swimming is Sue Schaefer, also of Birmingham, who is sunning on the pool's ledge.

Play Important Role in Suburbs

Clubs Brighten Country Life

By GRETTA PORTER

Country living is on the increase and the country club plays an important part in this. And for proof of that, come with us on a guided tour of some Pontiac area country clubs.

★ ★ ★

Your first stop is Pontiac Country Club, a semi-private club that is owned by its golf pro, Frank Syron. As you step into the clubhouse Frank reports that the Tuesday Tee, a group of Tuesday golfers, has just teed off and is headed for the first green. The Niblick Club is not far behind.

One of the most attractive features of the Pontiac Country Club is the fact that Syron has many golf leagues which play there. These men's and women's groups allow golfers to play every week in the same foursome of friends.

FOREST LAKE CLUB

Just a short drive from the Pontiac Country Club is the Forest Lake Country Club.

★ ★ ★

As you walk through the gracious foyer and lounge of the club you instantly realize that members here are active.

For, as you sit in the club's comfortable French provincial lounge waiting for club manager, John Mahrer, you can hear voices floating from the sundeck to the pool. And, on the bulletin board is a poster advertising a forthcoming swim show.

But activities at Forest Lake do not end with swimming and sunbathing.

Every day except Monday you will find Brenda Whiting on the playground supervising activities for the youngest set. And for those who have the ambition on hot summer days, there is a well-kept 18-hole golf course.

★ ★ ★

Our last stop is the Birmingham Country Club.

As you enter the club drive you are impressed with the apparent difficulty of this golf course. The "gentle hills" could even give good golfers a hard time.

CHAMPION BERG

But you are not at Birmingham Country Club on a tour of inspection of fairways and greens. Instead, we have come to Birmingham to see the woman who has conquered all golf courses—Patti Berg.

★ ★ ★

Conducting you through the clubhouse is Ray Maguire, the club's charming pro.

After moving the golf clinic into Birmingham's comfortable lounge because of a sudden deluge, Ray guides you to various centers of club activities.

Here, too, many activities revolve around the club's pool. Children dart in and out of the pool with amazing alacrity, always heeding, however, the lifeguards' suggestions.

★ ★ ★

Moving back into the clubhouse, it is obvious that there is much "young blood" at Birmingham Country Club. Children move in and out of the club, often heading for the bar to get soft drinks.

Yes, more and more people are getting out of the city and the emphasis now is definitely on country club living.

76 Beauties Settle Down to Big Event

LONG BEACH, Calif. (INS) —The 76 international beauties competing for the title of Miss Universe settled down to the serious task of preparing for the big event today after displaying their charms to 100,000 spectators at the sixth annual Miss Universe pageant parade.

★ ★ ★

The lovely girls from 33 nations and the United States padded over a mile route yesterday under a blistering sun that turned the fair skins of the Nordic beauties to a blushing pink.

The three-hour parade was led by Carol Morris, the Ottumwa, Ia., girl who won the Miss U.S.A., and Miss Universe crowns last year.

Retiring Miss Universe Looks for Fame in Vain

LONG BEACH, Calif. (INS) —The girl chosen last year as the most beautiful girl in the world is today just another long-stemmed beauty knocking vainly at the gates of Hollywood.

★ ★ ★

Blue-eyed Carol Morris, the pride of Iowa and the cream of the 1956 Miss Universe crop, admitted at the 1957 tuneups for the beauty pageant yesterday that she was being cold-shouldered by the movie studios and faces the prospect of becoming a schoolteacher.

The curvaceous brunette who was the only three-time winner —Miss U. S. A., Miss Universe and the most popular girl—in the history of the pageant said her motion picture career ended when the option she won last year wasn't picked up.

★ ★ ★

"I'm looking around, but if nothing turns up within six months I'm going back to Iowa and to school."

Her last role in the glamour capital of the world may be the part of the retiring queen when she crowns the new Miss Universe Friday.

Shower Given for Bride-Elect Miss McManus

Among the guests for the Thursday affair were Mrs. Thomas J. Fluent, the prospective bridegroom's mother, and Mrs. Robert Eschrick of Detroit, his sister.

Personal News of Interest in Pontiac

Enjoying an extended tour of Europe that includes England, France, Germany, the Scandinavian countries, Switzerland and Italy is Virginia Levely, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanton Levely of Elizabeth Lake road. Traveling by plane, Virginia will return to her home Aug. 28.

Will Karim Carry On the Family's Playboy Tradition?

Tale of Fabulous Khans Continues to Unfold

By IRWIN SAFCHIK
INS Staff Writer

A heart that once pumped blood to feed more than 250 pounds of life stopped beating last Thursday—and another chapter ended in a tale even Scheherazade might have considered too fanciful to tell.

★ ★ ★

The tale is about the Aga Khan, his wives, wealth, weight and worshippers—the 20-million or more Moslems of the Imamat Ismaeli sect.

It is also about his sons and his grandsons—including his handsome young successor—and about East meeting West, the past mingling with the present, the spirit living in harmony with the flesh.

The story did not end with the death of the 79-year-old spiritual leader at his lakeside villa near Geneva. Now, there is the intriguing question of whether his grandson and appointed successor, 19-year-old Karim, will be able to command the respect and exert the authority the old Aga did.

★ ★ ★

These were considerations which the late Aga—as nearly infinite in his wisdom as he was in his wealth and charm—undoubtedly weighed carefully before deciding on Karim to pick up his mantle.

In choosing the lanky 6-foot Harvard University student, the Aga had to skip over his own two sons.

THE NUCLEAR AGE

His explanation for doing this was that he wanted a "young man who has been developed during recent years"—the nuclear age.

★ ★ ★

But those who knew the Aga were convinced that wasn't the whole story, that the romantic escapades of sons Aly, 46, and Sadruddin, 24, had something to do with the choice.

Not that the Aga very often shook a fatherly finger of reproach at them. His own reputation as a man who rarely shunned pleasure ruled that out.

But the Moslem leader may have lost confidence in Aly and Sadruddin, and one thing he knew: His people would only accept as their new leader someone they trusted completely.

★ ★ ★

And, in the twilight of his amazingly full life, there was probably no one the Aga himself trusted more than he did Karim.

The youth was extremely close to his grandfather, who often cabled Karim at Harvard asking him to fly over to Cannes and keep an old man company. The studious, serious-minded youth would read newspapers and books to the ailing Aga.

ALY TOO BUSY

Such devotion was rarely if ever exhibited by his own two sons—or, apparently, sought from them. Aly, for one, always was busy building on his reputation as the "golden prince," the international playboy whose playmates and wives included some of the most beautiful women on two or more continents.

★ ★ ★

For the past 20 years or so, the Aga was known to have been under strong pressure from some of his most prominent followers to skip over Aly when it came time to pass on his title and the two-million-dollar-a-year income that goes with it.

Aly, they argued, had disqualified himself from the role of spiritual leader when he was named as the other man in a sensational divorce suit at the age of 24.

Nor did they particularly enjoy watching the spectacle of his brief marriage to movie actress Rita Hayworth or listening to the fireworks of their divorce settlement.

★ ★ ★

Neither, for that matter, did the Aga, and he said so. This was the first inkling that eldest son Aly would not, after all, take his father's place when he died.

The speculation then naturally turned to the Aga's second son, Aly's half-brother, Prince Sadruddin.

Sadruddin is a graduate student at Harvard, which he first entered in 1950 with the simple announcement that "I will be plain Mr. Sadri A. Khan. I don't want anyone to call me prince. I'm just another freshman."

★ ★ ★

Tall, husky, fair-haired Sadri lived up to his own advance billing, and many a fellow student didn't have the slightest idea who he was. But Sadruddin did not carry his apparent shyness to un-Khanny lengths.

A French ballerina said he had proposed marriage to her in 1948, when he was only 15, a suggestion which she claimed to have rejected on the grounds of age. Asked about this, Mr. Sadri A. Khan replied: "I wouldn't know the lady if I met her on the street."

Last May, Sadri announced his engagement to Nina Dyer, a 27-year-old ex-model equally well-known for her former marriage to Baron Heinrich von Thyssen, who had her babysit with a panther among other pets, and for her sensational way with a Bikini bathing suit.

★ ★ ★

They were to have been married this week, but the Aga's death postponed the wedding. He didn't think much of the match anyway, and that's what led many to suspect that the potentate had disqualified Sadri as well as Aly.

This left Karim, one of the two sons born to Aly and the former Mrs. Joan Yarde-Buller Guinness in 1935. Only a year separated Karim from his younger brother Amin, with whom he attended Harvard.

STRAIGHT-A STUDENT

There, teachers and fellow students knew "K," his campus nickname, as a straight-A student, a keen-witted, somewhat shy, handsome all-around man who was tabbed for a couple of the university's most selective clubs.

★ ★ ★

He majored in history, frequently dressed in a leather jacket and sports trousers and, by his own account, asked "Where's Radcliffe?"—the nearby women's college—as soon as he arrived at Harvard.

His roommate one year was John Fell Stevenson, son of Adlai E. Stevenson. When John Fell suffered serious injuries in an auto accident in March 1956, Karim flew off to visit him in the hospital.

Despite his academic leanings and the fact he wears glasses, Karim is much like his father. An accomplished ice hockey and cricket player, he loves speeding horseflesh.

★ ★ ★

In 1956 the Aga-to-be was seen squiring a steady succession of French movie starlets at the Cannes Film Festival.

SEEN WITH COUNTESS

More recently, he was seen horseback riding in London and shopping in Paris with Countess Bunny Esterhazy, stepdaughter of a refugee Hungarian financier now living in England.

★ ★ ★

But his mind was on books too—and very probably on the possibility that he might someday succeed his grandfather. In 1954, he and brother Amin made a series of addresses on behalf of the Aga to the Ismaeli community in Kenya.

Certainly Karim's youth was no drawback as far as the Aga was concerned. The right Hon. Aga Sultan Sir Mohamed Shah was only 7 years old when he became the 48th imam of the Ismaeli branch of the Shiah sect of Moslems.

How many persons fall into this religious subdivision is not known. Some estimates run into a couple of hundred million, but 20 million seems the most widely accepted figure.

★ ★ ★

They can be found in Pakistan and India, in Iran, Syria and Iraq, in Burma and Southeast Asia, in Sinkiang and Russian Turkestan, in Egypt and in East Africa.

MOSLEMS DIVIDED

The Shiahs form a minority of the Moslem world, being outnumbered by the Sunnis. They split over the question of who succeeded the Prophet Mohammed as ruler of Islam.

The Sunnis say the line of succession runs through the caliphs; the Shiahs insist it began with Mohammed's son-in-law, Hazrat Ali.

★ ★ ★

The Imamat Ismaelis are those Shiahs who believe the Aga Khan is a direct descendant of Ali and therefore entitled to receive their homage, as well as a portion of their income. In return, he issues them their passports to heaven when they die.

"Modern" historians knew little about all this until more than a century ago when the 46th imam—and the first to be called the Aga ("Honorable Sir") Khan ("Chief") — was exiled from Persia.

His departure followed an attempt to overthrow the Shah of Persia. The attempt was unsuccessful despite the 800-man army conscripted by the Aga from the 3,000 sons he is said to have fathered by various harem inmates.

The Imamites settled in India, where the first Aga set a pattern that his descendants have followed closely — accumulating wealth, hunting and maintaining a string of race horses.

The Imam died in 1881, when the most recent Aga was already 4 years old and only a few years before his father died too.

MARRIED TO COUSIN

While still in his teens, the Aga was drafted into a marriage with a cousin, Shahzadi. That matter was dropped before long, and soon he was touring Europe as an extremely eligible bachelor.

★ ★ ★

His second wife was an Italian ballet dancer named Theresa Magliano, who bore the Aga two sons. One died; the other was Aly.

Theresa died when Aly was only 15. He went to live in Paris under the not particularly vigilant eye of his grandmother, who believed boys will be boys — which Aly definitely was.

Now the Aga was touring Europe as an extremely eligible widower. In 1929, he met Andree Carron, the beautiful 31-year-old daughter of a provincial hotelkeeper. It took a year before she would accept the 53-year-old Aga's marriage proposal.

★ ★ ★

But when she did, they were married twice — once before a French mayor in a civil ceremony and once at a Paris Mosque.

In 1933, Sadruddin was born, by which time the Aga had already picked out his third wife, Yvette Labrousse, "Miss France" of 1930.

THE FOURTH BEGUM

Sadri and his mother sat around Switzerland while daddy toured Europe and India with Yvette. In 1943, there finally was a divorce on the grounds of "mutual dislike and diversity of interests," and the Aga soon after made the former "Miss France" his fourth and final begum.

★ ★ ★

Through all this, however, he was exerting his leadership over the Imamite sect and periodically getting his picture into Western newspapers by having himself weighed at festive ceremonies.

His followers would match his weight with practically priceless gems, but the Aga promptly distributed the largesse to various charities.

This helped to make the world a pleasanter place to live in, which was one of the Aga's main objectives, as it is of his people.

★ ★ ★

While the Aga rarely tried to influence his disciples politically, stressing that they were citizens of whatever country they lived in, he made no scret of his own leaning toward the West.

SUPPORTED BRITISH

Throughout both World Wars, he threw his full support to the British, and between the wars, he was a prominent figure in the League of Nations.

★ ★ ★

Even in that role, he could not sublimate his love of high living. The league didn't last long, but it did survive one of the Aga's most lavish parties—a reception attended by 2,800 persons.

Not long before his father died, Aly was asked about rumors that he would not after all be chosen as the Aga's successor. These rumors he attributed to "malicious tongues," adding:

"I'm accused of being a playboy, but my father was a playboy too—until he got too old for it."

Whether Karim will carry on this tradition as the 49th imam, or give the West a different understanding of the title "Aga," remains to be seen.

Learn to Replace Unhappy Thought With Happy One

Worry Can Mar Health and Beauty

BY JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Worry is extremely destructive to health and to beauty also. This is especially true if your worry is not backed up by constructive action. Chronic worriers mull their problems over continually without doing anything about them.

★ ★ ★

Of course there are some situations and conditions which are impossible to correct, but most of them are susceptible to improvement if we give intelligent thought to the problem and then do what we can. If we can't do anything, we simply have to adjust to the situation or injure our health by stewing in our own juice.

The expert worrier can fret about anything; things which are not important and things which will never happen. Their worry becomes an art of self-destruction. These individuals might even feel unimportant and lonely without their worries until they replace them with more constructive, positive thoughts.

I am not advocating that you ignore danger signals, that you fail to apply intelligent thought to unpleasant situations which are developing or bang your head into a door because you don't give a darn.

However, the worry habit is a very strong one which can develop subtly in times of real stress and carry over as a habit after the crisis is past. A lowered state of health or nervous exhaustion also can cause one to have an apprehensive approach to life.

MENTAL DISCIPLINE

We can accomplish much through mental discipline, by replacing an unhappy thought with a happy one, by staying busy, by seeking out those who are optimistic instead of pessimistic, by improving our health.

★ ★ ★

We could worry all day long about an unchangeable situation and not make a dent in it. Instead we would only age earlier than necessary, get a drooping contour, and take the bloom and fun out of life for ourselves and those who know us.

If you feel that you have the worry habit and would like to rid yourself of it, my leaflet No. 64 "Worry," may be of help. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

ART OF CONVERSATION ENDANGERED BY TV

Conversation is an art which is in danger, and yet it is one of the most fascinating pastimes in the world. Since the advent of television, too often social gatherings turn into silent ones so far as talk is concerned.

★ ★ ★

A recent letter from a reader asks me to point out some of the conversational faults of older women. Actually, some of the most delightfully intriguing conversationalists I know are older men and women. This naturally would be true if the individual has lived richly and has kept his sense of humor, if he still enjoys life and looks forward to the future.

He or she has had more time to become tolerant, to sharpen wit, to become better read and better traveled, to store up more interesting anecdotes, to make more friends and develop more interests, to lose self-consciousness and gain poise, to get values all straightened out.

However, there are certain tendencies which we all should watch, certain dreary habits and ruts we may sink into unless we give a thought to the matter as we grow older.

★ ★ ★

Older people may fall into the habit of speaking lugubriously. Conversation may be spotted always with deaths and illnesses. This is natural because the older we are the more people we know who are ill or who die.

TALK OF FAMILIES

Older women may talk too much about their families. This, too, is natural if, as too many older folks do, they are living vicariously through their children and grandchildren. This is sure to happen unless a woman has seen to it that her horizons have expanded continually.

★ ★ ★

I always have felt that characteristics intensify with age. If a woman has been catty and has indulged in gossip all her life, this habit is certain to grow on her in age.

The very fact that physical activity is curtailed makes her apt to compensate by exploring the lives of others. It is wonderful when this curtailment causes her to explore more fully the world of mind and spirit about her.

Many older persons repeat themselves over and over again. This cannot always be helped because this is often a sign of older age, but the more varied the interests and thoughts and activities which are carried into older age, the less likely this is to happen. The wider the horizons the more there is to talk about!

★ ★ ★

Older people often live in the past and therefore talk about it almost exclusively. Current day talk and interests and an eager glance toward the future will fix that.

SO MUCH VELVET

Life at any age is so much velvet and it is too bad that it ever loses its glow for anyone.

★ ★ ★

If you would like to check yourself against my leaflet "Mannerisms of Age," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 67 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Carol Dodge Likes to Experiment---Is Good at Salads

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Since we are a firm believer in teaching children to cook, we delight in getting recipes from youngsters who do. Twelve-year-old Carol Dodge of Hickory Heights is our newest young cook to appear in this column. She shares her favorite cookie recipe.

Carol is the experimental type of cook. Her mother says she loves to concoct salads. Swimming and reading are two of her favorite hobbies. Already she has started a book collection.

KISSES
By Carol Dodge

1 cup confectioners sugar
2 egg whites
1 cup cut-up dates
1 cup pecans, cut up
½ teaspoon vanilla

Beat egg whites stiff. Add sugar and beat vigorously about 10 minutes. Fold in dates and nuts. Drop from teaspoon on a greased baking sheet. Bake 15 minutes at 300 degrees. Makes about 3 dozen.

Grooming Is Charm

A mature woman can become more charming as she grows older. This results from continuing good grooming habits she began as a young woman. As she grows older she sees that she has no hair straggles, is personally dainty and that her clothes are neat and spotless.

Take Health Stride

Walking is excellent for the spirit as well as for the body. However, this doesn't mean shuffling along. To help hip and leg muscles it is necessary to stride along.

How About Introducing 'Gam Girl of 1957?'

Feminine Legs Deserve the Spotlight

BY PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — The female leg, long a subject of delight and dismay depending on whose and in what shape, has been getting the short end of the stick lately. (The stick, for the sake of those who don't notice girls, is the current female figure from rib to ankle.)

★ ★ ★

Ever since Marlene Dietrich — Grandmommy Long Legs — began coming out only at night and in lengthy swathings of chiffon, the leg has taken a back seat to other assets of female anatomy.

In fact, in the last few years, what with the swing towards male walking shorts and the national concern for the high cost of eating, there has been considerably more talk of men's and chicken legs than of girls'.

In my opinion, this is a grave mistake. Just because Marilyn Monroe and Jayne Mansfield and Sophia Loren, et. Publicized Al, have other charms that may overshadow the long and lithesome limb — must good legs fall into disuse, except for bicycling?

★ ★ ★

The way I see it, more women have attractive legs than any other single commodity of the torso. Their waistlines may resemble hips and their bustlines may resemble waistlines — but their legs are good.

THEIR ONE CLAIM

Should these women, the average women whose best asset is the trim calf and slim ankle, lose their one claim to being ogled? Simply because ladies' legs are not being touted these days?

★ ★ ★

It seems about time that the people who arrange such things as leg revivals (the hosiery manufacturers, the Hollywood press agents, etc.) should get on the ball and bring the emphasis back to where it was in the days of Betty Grable.

Introduce a "1957 Gam Girl" — inaugurate a "National Ladies' Limbs Week" — get Dior to shorten skirts — bring out colored hose — Persuade Elvis to record something called "The Doll With the Dimpled Knees."

Meantime, the women of America whose legs are their chief claim to focal fame must do their own part toward reviving interest in this down-and-almost-out key to feminine glamor.

★ ★ ★

Don't just stand there — kick! When someone is looking.

On the subject of legs, there is some dispute in the large cities of the U. S. as to whether or not it is polite to go out in them — nude. Emily Post has never taken up the stockingless status of women.

★ ★ ★

Summer is habitually a time to rid oneself of all unnecessary clothing gadgets, and girls who can get by with it do away with girdles, sleeves, slips and hats.

There are two items of apparel, however, that mothers always insist remain in a daughter's daily wardrobe, even if only mad dogs and Englishmen are out on the street to see how much or little a lady is wearing. They are white gloves and hose.

After making a brief personal survey of some men I know, who haven't been around in the sun much but insist they have decided thoughts on the subject, neither gloves nor stockings are necessary.

In fact, when the humiture (temperature plus humidity) exceeds 130, such accessories on wives and girl friends makes them feel definitely uncomfortable.

★ ★ ★

Capsulized, their feeling is that, in the company of a perfectly polished female in summertime, a man senses subconsciously that he is a slob. And it's bad enough to be physically distressed without being mentally miserable too.

Walled Lake Scene of Annual GM Truck Picnic

MERRY-GO-ROUND POPULAR — As always, the merry-go-round was among the most popular rides for children and adults alike at the annual GMC Truck & Coach picnic Saturday. The outing, held at Walled Lake park, attracted an estimated 30,000 persons. Free rides and free refreshments made their usual hit with the small fry. Shown above on the merry-go-round are Mrs. Bob Sweet and her children, Martha Rose and Scott. Mrs. Sweet is the daughter of Martha Lindsay, a Truck & Coach Division employe.

END OF A STRENUOUS DAY — While the youngsters usually outlast the older folk at a picnic, there are exceptions. These three who attended the GMC Truck & Coach Division outing at Walled Lake Saturday just came to the end of their endurance and took time out for a much needed recovery snooze. They are Roger and Debra Mills (twins) and Gary Terry.

Chicago Suburbs Threatened by Floods in Wake of Rains

CHICAGO (AP)—Floods threatened some areas in downstate Illinois and Chicago suburbs today in the wake of torrential rains over the weekend.

The heavy rains which struck the Chicagoland area Friday night and Saturday morning and spread into central and south central sections of the state sent many streams to near flood stage.

★ ★ ★

The Illinois River was at flood stage at Ottawa, a city of 19,000 some 85 miles southwest of Chicago where the flow was backed up by a 600-foot dam. Starved Rock State Park on the bank of the Illinois River was ordered closed.

The runoff from Chicago's record 6¼-inch rainfall, which caused millions of dollars damage to property, sent the little Calumet River spilling over dikes and forced some 200 families from their homes in the Highland, Ind., and Calumet City, Ill., area. However danger of further flooding appeared easing, as the river started to recede last night.

★ ★ ★

Heavy rain fell in areas between Springfield and St. Louis yesterday, with nearly 6 inches at Vandalia. Minor flooding was reported along parts of the Kaskaskia River.

Nine deaths were attributed to the storm in Chicago.

★ ★ ★

Although water in the metropolitan area still caused some hardship and inconveniences, most of Chicago and nearby communities had finished cleanup jobs.

Rail, air and bus traffic was reported about normal. Telephone service also was near normal. Some 33,000 telephones were knocked out by the storm.

★ ★ ★

Segments of several roads in the Chicago area remained closed. Most of the several hundred families forced from their homes in low areas in Joliet, Kankakee and Chicago suburbs returned to their dank houses.

House Urged to Approve Foreign Aid Authorization

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House, moving toward consideration of a $3,242,333,000 foreign aid authorization today, was told Russia's "lesser emphasis on violence" is due only to free world strength.

Chairman Gordon (D-Ill) of the House Foreign Affairs Committee said in a speech prepared for opening debate on the bill: "The current shifts in the Kremlin mean new faces, but we have no basis whatever for any hope that the old Communist threat has been removed."

★ ★ ★

And he said the present Soviet leadership showed in Hungary it is still willing to use military force to gain its ends.

Gordon made a strong plea for approval of the measure without major change and floor managers of both parties predicted it would be passed that way. But the bill faced some bitter opposition and several determined efforts at amendment.

Rep. Lawrence H. Smith (R-Wis) a member of the Foreign Affairs Committee, said he considers the bill "dangerous" and "unnecessary."

★ ★ ★

The measure is "dangerous," he said in a prepared speech, because it "is the almost complete abdication of congressional control . . . It is unnecessary because the pipelines are already jammed with far more foreign aid funds than administrators can find places to spend."

Gordon said he favors one change in the bill—the elimination of a committee-added paragraph which, it was disclosed today, would bar much of the contemplated aid program for Poland. It would make all assistance provided under the bill subject to the Battle Act, which bans aid to countries which engage in strategic trade with Soviet Russia.

That would knock out special authorization for the President to extend up to 30 million dollars in aid in special cases, regardless of the Battle Act.

★ ★ ★

The hitherto unnoticed amendment thus would cut off such aid to Poland, since that country still is part of the Soviet economic bloc although it has gained a measure of independence from Moscow.

★ ★ ★

Rep. Burleson (D-Tex), a senior member of the Foreign Affairs Committee, meanwhile made it certain that an amendment will be offered to end trials of U.S. service men in foreign courts.

"I'm not only willing to support it, but I'd offer it on the floor," Burleson said.

It appeared certain also that there will be attempts to eliminate completely, or cut down to one year, the provisiou in the bill for a three-year loan fund of 500 million dollars annually for long-range projects.

★ ★ ★

The bill already has been trimmed 600 million dollars below President Eisenhower's recommendation and 375 million below the Senate-approved figure.

The authorization bill will set a maximum figure for the program. Actual appropriations of funds is accomplished by separate legislation.

U.S. May Drop Ban on Reporters Travel to China

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department reportedly is planning to end its ban on the travel of U. S. newsmen into Red China.

Secretary of State Dulles, it was learned yesterday, may announce a new administration decision on the controversial issue next weekend. He meets Thursday with several leaders in the newsgathering and publishing fields in an effort to get their backing for a compromise plan for China news coverage.

Meanwhile, the United States is preparing to resume its battle to keep Western trade with the Chinese Communists at a bare minimum.

Representatives of 15 major trading nations meet in Paris this week to discuss setting quotas for about 25 important items which previously were banned from shipment to Red China.

A backstage argument seemed likely between the United States on the one hand, and Britain, France, West Germany and Japan on the other. The U.S. delegation has been instructed to work for the lowest possible quotas on the items under discussion.

Plane Knocks Down Television Antenna

FAIRFIELD, Conn. (AP) — James B. McKinney says a low flying airplane not only caused his television picture to jump but knocked down his antenna as well.

The twin engine red plane swooped low over McKinney's two-story house yesterday and the blast from the propellers blew the antenna over, he told police. Police had no idea where the plane came from or where it went.

Backyard Wells on the Way

Oil Boom Moves Into Los Angles Limelight

LOS ANGELES (INS) — Ever since Americans began flocking to the place about 100 years ago Los Angeles has been sort of a never-never land.

Always there was something—gold, oranges, scenic wonders or the movies—that set the city off from the rest of the country—or the rest of the world, for that matter.

BACKYARD BOOM

Today it is the center of a "backyard" oil boom. Apparently a whole string of oil pools underlies the city and a while ago the city council gave a green light to the development of this important natural resource.

In immediate prospect, as soon as all of the various details can be taken care of, is the development of at least six oil fields in the metropolitan area.

The area covered extends from the west side all the way across town to the east side and from the harbor area on the south to the outskirts of the city of San Fernando 40 miles to the north.

One contemplated field, on Bunker Hill, lies immediately adjacent to the downtown district.

Fifty and more years ago Bunker Hill was the locale of Los Angeles' most stately homes, but the growth of the city by-passed it and it slipped into a slum area.

FORTUNATE DELAY

Recently the Community Redevelopment Agency acquired it with a view to re-developing it into a new, modern section. That work has not been carried out yet, which perhaps is fortunate. It leaves room for a revision of plans, for an oil field to be inconspicuously tucked way in a corner or two of the project.

They call it a "backyard" oil boom, but in a way it is a misnomer. Such backyard wells as there are will be under the backyards, not in them.

Plans call for the wells to be slant-drilled from certain designated central locations.

While there will be drilling in residential areas, and in commercial areas, too, there will be none in residential yards. It will be done on plots of ground which either already are clear or from which a building or two has been removed.

With whip-stock or slant drilling, oilmen can reach out hundreds of feet in all directions from the drill site.

Oil company sources estimate that the royalties will range from possibly $2 a month to $20. The latter calls for a well producing 100 barrels a day of high gravity oil.

RICH GET RICHER

A lot of little people are going to profit in a $2 to $20 a month way from the boom, but probably the biggest money is going to go to people who already are well-to-do, such as the members of the Hillcrest Country Club and of the nearby Los Angeles Country Club.

The latter club is one of the oldest and most exclusive in Los Angeles. Its 800 members have formed a drilling corporation, the Westla Company, to exploit the club's 312 acres.

The club lies just north of the 20th Century-Fox studio, where there are already 11 wells producing a total of 3000 barrels a day. More wells are going to be drilled on the studio property in the immediate future.

Oil is not new in Los Angeles. In fact, it was discovered 65 years ago. Several shallow-well fields were developed, some right in the city, others in nearby areas later annexed to the city. As the wells played out the land became more valuable for subdivision and the oil was forgotten.

However, a few years ago the oil industry discovered that often there were bigger and better pools underneath the first discovered oil pools.

That is the oil that the drillers are after in Los Angeles now. The new pools could last from 20 to 40 years.

Cherry Benefactor Starts 1957 Mission

TRAVERSE CITY (AP) — Several hundred elderly persons living in convalescent homes or patients in hospitals in lower Michigan are scheduled to have plenty of sweet cherries to eat.

Herman Gustly, Traverse City resort owner, has started out on his 14th annual sweet cherry mission. This year he is distributing 70 cases of cherries to institutions in Grand Rapids, Muskegon, Alma, Saginaw, Detroit and other places on his list.

Gustly is not a cherry grower and purchases all the fruit he gives away.

YORKTON, Sask. (AP) — Perfect cribbage hands come fairly often, but this 29-point hand was turned up in Braille cards by Fred Schnell, blind war veteran.

Deputies Check Shoes and Shirt Found on Shore

The Oakland County Sheriff's Department is investigating a pair of black shoes and a blood-soaked shirt found on the shore of Walled Lake Sunday.

Deputies said the shirt and shoes were found by Orville J. VanSycle, 133 Coalmont St., and Frank Whittemore, 144 Coalmont St., as they hunted for frogs yesterday.

In searching for further evidence, deputies found spots in the sand nearby which they believe to be blood stains. There was no evidence of a fight or scuffle, deputies said, but there was evidence that a boat had been pulled up on shore sometime Saturday night or early Sunday.

The search failed to produce further evidence. Deputies also checked on a party which had been held in the neighborhood Saturday night, but those involved knew of no fights or anyone who was missing.

Three persons were injured in an auto accident Saturday after one driver, an army lieutenant colonel, failed to yield to oncoming traffic before making a left turn, Pontiac Police report.

He was Fredrick N. Terry, 40, of 30000 Grandview, Inkster. The officer was released from St. Joseph Mercy Hospital after treatment for ear lacerations.

His 34-year-old wife Colette was in fair condition today with a possible fractured skull.

The second driver, Kay Ellen Matheson, 21, of 9050 Park St., Cooley Lake Rd., Milford, was released after treatment for minor injuries.

The accident happened about midnight Saturday at South boulevard and Saginaw street.

BUG-EYED — Eight-year-old Mike Marecak, of Denver, Colo., is a butterfly collector with a cockeyed technique. Subtly luring the unwary insect onto his nose, Mike stares the creature into submission and collects it with a quick swish of the handy butterfly net.

QUEEN FOR CAMPAIGN — Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart, as chairman of the Notre Dame Dad's Club Building Drive, crowns Mrs. John R. Callahan, Hazel Park, "Mrs. Woodcrest." The 500-diamond, 85-carat crown, valued at $250,000, an heirloom of the Hapsburg family, is from the collection of Sydney Krandall and and Sons, jewelers. Value of the crown is the same amount that the "Dads" are seeking to raise for construction of a gym at Notre Dame High School, Harper Woods. The addition is needed to give students full state credit. "Mrs. Woodcrest" is named in honor of the completely furnished $40,000 Woodcrest home, to be awarded to some contributor to the Dads' drive, ending Nov. 17.

For Farmington Water System

Petition for Special Districts

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — Petitioning for the establishment of special assessment districts for a proposed water system in the township dry areas is now under way.

Volunteers met recently with Milton M. Thompson, bonding attorney; Lawrence Pate, engineer, and township officials to discuss the project. Thompson emphasized that only the signatures of the deed holder as it is recorded in the office of the registrar of deeds is legal on special assessment petitions.

He said he will attempt to obtain lists of record owners in order to expedite the project. Both Thompson and Pate said they hope to have financing completed and mains laid within one year to 15 months.

Thompson stated that the township board should go on with the revenue ordinance while petitions are being circulated. The proposed system is to be financed by both special assessment and revenue bonds.

Mrs. Philip Neuberg, petition chairman, said she plans to appoint area captains this week and to get petitions into the hands of volunteers "as soon as possible." She also requested that anyone willing to assist in petitioning call her or the town hall.

Jobs on Farm Taking Upswing

Michigan Employment Sees Peak of 83,000 Within 2 Weeks

DETROIT (AP) — Employment on Michigan farms will jump from the present 62,000 to a 1957 peak of 83,000 within the next two weeks, it was predicted today by the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

Max Horton, MESC director, said that by the end of the month an additional 5,000 cherry pickers and 2,500 blueberry pickers will be needed.

At the peak, Horton estimated that 40,000 will be picking cherries, 14,000 harvesting cucumbers, 15,000 gathering bush fruits such as blackberries and raspberries, with the rest of the 83,000 weeding, hoeing and harvesting vegetables such as beans, lettuce, onions, potatoes and squash.

Horton said most of the work would be on a piece-rate wage scale. He said cherry pickers will get a base rate of two cents a pound; blueberry pickers, six cents a pound; raspberry harvesters, 10 cents a quart; snapbean pickers, 2½ cents a pound; cucumber pickers, half the value of pickling cucumbers picked.

Horton said MESC assisted in the signing up of Boy Scout troops and church groups for farm harvesting work.

Led Athletic Life at Harvard

New Aga Khan's Friends Proclaim Rise to Power

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (INS)—Men of Harvard know him as "K"—Karim Khan, 20-year-old university junior today proclaimed Aga Kahn IV, new spiritual leader of 20 million Ismaili Moslems.

Friends, classmates, professors and instructors said this student with all "A's" has been a fairly studious, keen minded, somewhat shy, witty, charming and handsome undergraduate.

★ ★ ★

Slender, athletic and a linguist, Aga Kahn IV has played interhouse hockey, was a member of his freshman soccer team, likes single sculls, is an expert skier and speaks French without an accent and English like a Britisher.

"He bears a remarkable resemblance to actor Marlon Brando," said one of his professors.

Although men of Harvard who have know the new Aga Khan for three years have different viewpoints, they agreed he wasn't a playboy, but they said he had an eye for beautiful western women.

WHERE'S WOMEN'S COLLEGE?

As he told newsmen shortly after his arrival in Cambridge:

"My first question was 'Where's Radcliffe?'" Radcliffe College for Women adjoins Harvard.

He was often seen in the evening at Hayes-Bickford Restaurant near Widener Gate, with a beautiful young woman from Radcliffe or Wellesley College.

As an all-around college man he frequently dressed in a leather jacket and sports trousers.

His current "date" in Europe was reported to be Anne Marie Mersen, French film starlet, but it isn't serious.

"An awful nice guy, a top man," was the way Richard Gill, tutor at Leverett House described Karim Khan.

Marshall Cohen, member of Harvard's Society of Fellows and philosophy teacher, recalled Kahn as a "polite and charming young man who did not work as hard as he could have all the time, but whose keen mind was quite evident." He read Plato, Aristotle and the Stoics, under Cohen.

Professor Richard N. Frye, whose $75,000 chair of Iranian studies Karim's late grandfather endowed, described "K" as "intelligent, serious, charming but rather shy."

One of Karim's greatest interests at Harvard was engineering, even though he was majoring in history, and this may be a clue to his surprise selection by the late Aga as his successor who held Karim was suited to cope with the atomic age.

Last summer the grandfather sent Karim on a tour of Iran, Madagascar and British East Africa, where the Ismailiis are most concentrated.

EXPECT LESS PUBLICITY

Professor Frye said he doubted the new Aga Khan would continue his grandfather's flair for publicity over gold, diamonds and other precious commodities. He said he thought the first thing the new Aga will be advised to do is to get rid of his grandfather's villa at Cannes.

The Harvard savant observed that whether Karim will have more than one wife was his decision—the grandfather had three before he married the present Begum.

But the professor said the Aga is "not only a religious authority, but also an economic and political adviser, a kind of supreme court for disputes in Moslem law and chief administrator to the vast charities built up by his grandfather, who brought the Ismailis together and operated to improve their financial and spiritual strength while at the same time living in great splendor."

★ ★ ★

Unlike his Uncle Sadruddin, also a Harvard student and prominently mentioned as successor to his grandfather, Karim lived an unpublicized life at Cambridge. He was elected to Hasty Pudding Club and Signet (eating) Society.

The latter is one of the few Harvard Clubs which requires neither family background nor wealth for membership, but intelligence and wit.

Karim's favorite roommate has been John Fell Stevenson, son of Adlai Stevenson. Showing the close bond between the two students was an airplane flight made by Karim to Illinois in March 1956 when John was hospitalized as the result of an automobile accident.

WILL BE GOOD NEWS

John is aboard an American President Lines' vessel in the Far East, but his brother Borden, a Harvard summer-school student, said:

"This will be good news to John. Karim couldn't have been a grander person. He was my brother's constant companion. Everybody respected Karim. He had a tendency to keep to himself."

The new Aga is an admirer of Mr. Stevenson, who has often visited his two sons at Harvard.

If the Aga returns to Harvard in the fall, he will live like a senior and be inscribed as a member of the Class of 1958, but he will be only a junior. His departure from Harvard last year to fly to the bedside of his gravely sick grandfather, plus previous absences, put him half a year behind his classmates.

Whatever happens, the new Aga will be called a Harvard alumnus.

Junior Editors Quiz on SCIENCE

QUESTION: Why is the apple famous in science?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: It was an apple which fell on the head of Sir Isaac Newton, thus leading the great scientist to resume work which led to the discovery of the law of gravity.

Newton, who lived in England more than 200 years ago, experimented with many things such as light, color and astronomy. But his deepest interest was gravity.

Although many great men like Galileo and Ptolemy had discovered some things about gravity long before Newton, not much was known in 17th Century about how it worked.

In 1689, Newton worked out the "law" that explains why objects fall to earth.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Take a big apple and a small apple to a second floor window and drop them at the same time. Which will hit the ground sooner?

Into 'Misleading' Advertising

Will Widen Investigation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Blatnik (D-Minn.) said today his House Government Operations subcommittee won't stop at cigarettes in its inquiry into what he termed misleading advertisements.

Medical supplies, furniture and clothing ads are likely to be targets of later investigation, Blatnik said, after the completion of hearings starting Thursday on filter cigarettes.

★ ★ ★

Claims for pills that are supposed to make reducing easy by cutting hunger, claims for tranqualizer or "happiness" pills, and markdowns on products from "list prices" that never existed were listed among items under scrutiny by the House investigators.

No date for hearings on these subjects was fixed as the subcommittee concentrated its attention on the cigarette issue.

In announcing Saturday plans for the cigarette hearing, Blatnik said the American public is spending an extra half million dollars a day for filter-tipped cigarettes, with cigarette advertisers having "emphasized the superiority and effectiveness of their particular filter."

★ ★ ★

But some reports the subcommittee has show many filters provide little or no protection by way of stopping nicotine or tar, he said.

Clears Up Disparity in Prince Karim's Age

GENEVA (INS)—An Ismaili sect leader has explained the confusion over whether Prince Karim, successor to the Aga Khan, is 19 or 20 years old. He's both.

Moslems consider an infant one-year-old at birth, so in Moslem eyes Karim, born Dec. 15, 1937, is 20. By Western count, he's 19.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery
Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids
New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery.
In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.
Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.
And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!
In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.
All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne*)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.
This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H.* Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Jet Shipment Eases Egypt-Arab Relations

CAIRO (AP)—Egypt has advanced her campaign to patch up differences with her Arab neighbors with word she is shipping jet planes to Saudi Arabia.

Cairo radio quoted an official in the Saudi-Egyptian joint command as saying jet deliveries began July 1 and would be completed in August. He did not specify the number of jets involved.

★ ★ ★

This was the first reference in weeks to the joint command the two countries set up more than a year ago. Under that pact Egypt was to ship Vampire jets and train Saudi pilots.

Britain sent Egypt single-engine Vampires and two-engine Meteors under a 1950 agreement, but failed to fulfill demands for another 60 fighters in 1952. The Soviet bloc has in the past couple of years shipped President Nasser at least 80 MIG15 fighters and 20 IL28 fighter-bombers.

In the past few months Egypt's relations with Saudi Arabia, Lebanon and Jordan have been strained—partly as a result of the Eisenhower Doctrine.

★ ★ ★

Iraq long has been a major Egyptian target because of her membership in the Baghdad Pact.

Nasser has waged a peace offensive over the past two weeks. Last week he sent his army commander, Maj. Gen. Abdel Hakim Amer, to visit Saud. Relations began to improve.

A Lebanese trade delegation arrived in Cairo Friday, amid reports that Lebanese Economy Minister Nasri Maalouf would talk with Nasser about smoothing things over. Earlier Lebanon lifted the ban on Egyptian publications.

Iraw made two moves over the weekend to show she wants better relations with Egypt and Syria. Premier Ali Jawdat ordered suspension of the jamming of broadcasts by the Cairo and Damascus radios which Baghdad began six months ago. Iraw also changed her previous decision not to participate in a pending consumer goods fair sponsored by Egypt.

In Jerusalem, meanwhile, Israeli Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion said he does not foresee war with the Arabs in the next few years, but added that the possibilities for peace are "remote."

Man Just Yells to Scare Away Store Robbers

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Anthony Perry, 69, thinks he has found a way to prevent holdups at his confectionery store. He just starts yelling.

Perry, who has been robbed three times in recent years, says "I work hard for my money and I get sick of these guys trying to come in here and steal it."

★ ★ ★

Saturday night two tall young beanpoles walked into his store wearing handkerchiefs on their faces and carrying guns.

Perry dropped to the floor behind the counter and began yelling.

"You could hear me all over town," he said later. "I hollered for help and I hollered for these guys to get out. One of them tried to stick his gun over the counter which was so filled with potato chips and pretzel bags he couldn't see me. Pretty soon I guess they got scared too, and they ran away without taking anything."

Man Trying to Float 300 Miles Along Coast

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—A Los Angeles man is floating out in the Gulf of Mexico today.

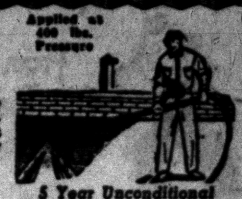

Michel Golden said before he left he would sail or float 300 miles southwest along the lower Texas coast to Brownsville.

The Coast Guard said he'd more likely end in the South Atlantic.

"I doubt that he'll ever reach Brownsville," Coast Guard Cmdr. T. F. Knoll said. He said there were no currents the Los Angeles man could depend upon to head his rubber raft for Brownsville.

Golden gave no reason for his trip.

Prepare New Trial Evidence

'Clinton 15' Defense Finds Information With 'Sobering Effect'

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Robert L. Dobbs, chief counsel for the "Clinton 15" in the hotly fought civil rights trial here, said today he has uncovered new information that will have "a very sobering effect on this case."

He ran down "a good lead" during the weekend recess in the trial, he said.

"I've located a person with information that will have a very sobering effect on this case," he said.

The defense will begin calling witnesses after the government's case finishes this week. U.S. Dist. Atty. John C. Crawford Jr. estimates that he will take at least two more days.

Dobbs declined further details about the new witness except to say, "It's someone within the territory of this court."

The case — growing out of riots that broke out when Negro students entered Clinton High School last autumn — is being tried in the U.S. District Court for Eastern Tennessee.

The 15 Tennesseans and lanky John Kasper, New Jersey segregationist organizer, are charged with criminal contempt. The government accuses them of "acting in concert" to flout a federal court order against any interference with desegregating the high school. Clinton is a highland town of 4,500 near Knoxville.

Swimming Party Puts Chaplin Jr. in Drunk Tank

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Police say Charles Chaplin Jr. topped off a swimming pool party by winding up in the tank—the drunk tank.

Officers said they answered a call yesterday from an apartment where a swimming party was in progress. Police said the 32-year-old son of the noted comedian was locked in one of the apartments with an irate husband, Robert Focht, waiting outside.

★ ★ ★

"I'm waiting for Chaplin to come out and when he does I'm going to thrash him because of some remarks about my wife," officers quoted Focht.

★ ★ ★

Chaplin, described by officers as very cooperative, was led off to the safety of the Lincoln Heights jail, where he was booked on a drunk charge. He later posted $20 for his release and was to appear in court today.

British Cruise Ship Okay After Running Aground

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP)—The British cruise ship Reina del Pacifico has resumed her homeward voyage — apparently none the worse for a three-day sojourn on a coral reef.

Pronounced seaworthy, the 17,287-ton liner put to sea yesterday for Liverpool. She carried 432 of the 556 passengers who were aboard when she ran aground last Monday off Batavia.

Typhoon En Route to Chinese Mainland

MANILA (AP) — Typhoon Wendy slowed down to merely storm proportions over the South China Sea today. It headed for the Red mainland after a romp through five rich agricultural provinces on northern Luzon that caused heavy crop damage.

★ ★ ★

There were no reports of casualties.

Still packing 70-mile-an-hour winds, the storm continued its northwesterly course. It was expected to hit the China coast between Hong Kong and Swatow.

Strong winds battered the Nationalist Chinese bastion of Formosa as the storm roared toward the mainland. But there were no reports of casualties or heavy damage on the island.

Ask Radiation Probe

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—Czechoslovakia is asking the General Assembly opening here Sept. 17 to look into the effects of atomic radiation. Debate on a similar proposal by India and the United States in 1955 led to the formation of a scientific committee due to report next summer.

GOP Rebuilding Role Switches to Martin

LANSING (AP) — A leading role in rebuilding the Republican Party back to its former prominence in Michigan has been handed to John B. Martin, 48, a Grand Rapids attorney.

The former Rhodes scholar was named Michigan's Republican national committeeman at a special meeting here Saturday of the Republican State Central Committee.

Martin won by a 52-14 majority over William B. Cudlip, a Detroit attorney. He succeeds Clifford O'Sullivan and will serve until 1960.

O'Sullivan resigned as national committeeman to accept President Eisenhower's appointment for a federal judgeship in the southwestern Michigan district.

A third candidate for the national committee post, Owen J. Cleary of Ypsilanti, withdrew his name earlier last week. He said he was doing so "in the interest of the party."

Custody Battle Waged in Warsaw

Polish Family Reunited

NEW YORK (AP) — A teen-age Polish girl looks toward a reunion today with two strangers—her American father and mother.

Brown-eyed Olga Bozyk, 13, arrived in the United States for the first time yesterday. She stepped out of a plane arm in arm with her triumphant mother, Mrs. Walter Bozyk.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Boyzk fought for a decade to bring her daughter here from Warsaw. She borrowed $7,000 to wage custody battles in Poland.

"I have not a dollar left, and we have only the dresses we are wearing," Mrs. Bozyk said at the airport.

Today Olga plans to meet her father and her 16-year-old brother Donald here. Bozyk is a $250-a-month Rochester, N. Y. mechanic.

Olga was only 4 months old when her family was hauled away to a German slave labor camp in 1944. She was left with neighbors in Warsaw.

★ ★ ★

The Bozyks came to America in 1949—without Olga. They became citizens five years later.

Last April Mrs. Bozyk journeyed back to Poland to battle for her daughter. On May 4 a court in Warsaw ordered Olga restored to her mother.

But Olga's foster parents took her into hiding. Polish authorities finally found the child May 10. When they turned her over to Mrs. Bozyk, Olga said: "I hate you. I don't want to live with you."

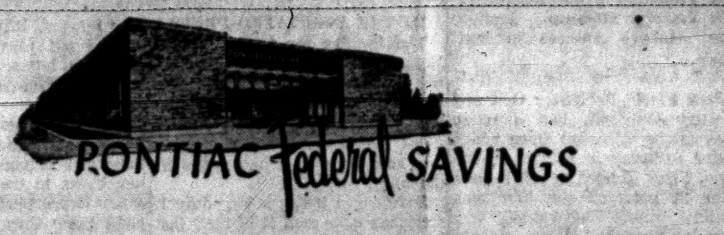

★ ★ ★

Yesterday Mrs. Bozyk said love gradually brought a change.

"As soon as we were alone, I knew everything was going to be all right," she said. "I had to wait three weeks for a kiss, but within two hours we were talking and she stopped hating me. My heart and my patience did the rest."

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Bozyk placed a collect phone call to her home in Rochester. Olga took the receiver. Her reserve melted, and soon she was using one of the few English words she knows—"father."

Phils Near NL Lead

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Phillies are trying for the National League jackpot by playing "double or nothing" with the rest of the league. By winning four doubleheaders in the last 10 days, the 50 to 1 shots of opening day now are only a half game off the pace.

Snapping a losing streak July 1, the Phils have won 11 of their last 13 in a sharp form reversal. In their first nine doubleheaders, they split five and lost both ends four times.

Curt Simmons and Jim Hearn handled the pitching Sunday as usually light hitting Phils smashed five home runs and beat St. Louis twice, 6-2 and 11-4. Von McDaniel, the 18-year-old $50,000 bonus baby, suffered his first major league defeat in the opener and Larry Jackson, the Cards' top winner, lost the second.

Brooklyn dropped Milwaukee to third place, one game behind St. Louis, when Gil Hodges hit a two-run homer in the ninth for a 3-2 victory after successive doubles by Frank Torre and Andy Pafko had given the Braves a tie-breaking run in the top of the ninth.

★ ★ ★

Cincinnati finally snapped its seven-game losing streak, slugging Pittsburgh twice, 9-6 and 12-4. New York outlasted Chicago, 8-6 in 12 innings, winning on Willie Mays' two-run homer after Whitey Lockman's second home run of the day had tied the game in the ninth.

★ ★ ★

The Phillies showed little respect for McDaniel, raking him for five runs and five hits before he left for a pinch hitter after four innings. Rip Repulski turned on his old Card mates with a three-run homer in the first inning. Ed Bouchee also homered for the Phils.

Back-to-back home runs by Joe Lonnett and Chico Fernandez and Bouchee's second of the day were key blows in the second game in which Hearn pitched his first complete game since May 1, 1956.

★ ★ ★

Stan Musial changed his mind about sitting out the second half of doubleheaders and played both games. He explained Saturday's rainout and the relatively cooler weather were responsible.

★ ★ ★

Brooklyn and Milwaukee played it close to the vest at 1-1 from the first inning until the ninth when Pafko drove in a run with an automatic double off the left field wall that a fan caught. After Gino Cimoli walked to open the ninth, Hodges hit Bob Buhl's first pitch into the left field stands. Red Schoendienst accounted for Milwaukee's first run with a homer and the Dodgers scored when Charlie Neal tagged up and scored from third after Eddie Mathews caught Duke Snider's foul near the left field stands.

★ ★ ★

Cincinnati came from behind with six runs on eight singles in the seventh inning of the opener, winning for Hersh Freeman on relief. Ted Kluszewski, playing his first complete game in several weeks, hit two homers and Smoky Burgess had one among the 19 hits in the second game while Joe Nuxhall went all the way.

Pontiac Youth Scores 3 and 2 Win in Finals

Notre Dame Student Defeats John Kurach at Charlevoix

(Special to The Pontiac Press)

CHARLEVOIX—Lloyd Syron, 21-year-old son of Frank Syron, Pontiac Country Club pro, today wears the crown as the State Amateur Golf Champion, won yesterday at Belvedere Golf Club in Charlevoix.

Syron's steady play in the finals steered him to a 3 and 2 victory over John Kurach, public links player from Detroit, and it ended a three-year championship rule of Glenn Johnson, who was unsuccessful in his 4th straight title bid.

Kurach stopped Johnson 3 and 1 in their pressure-packed semifinal match. Syron's winning card showed two bogeys and two birdies. His medal score was even with par when the match ended on the 16th green.

★ ★ ★

The champion's birdie four on the 454-yard 9th green followed a spectacular approach from about 25 yards from the left of the green. The ball came to rest about eight inches from the cup after striking the pin.

Kurach also birdied the hole with two putts. Four bogeys and one other birdie—with a 45-foot putt on the 542-yard fifth hole—left him one down at the turn.

Syron went 2 up, turning point in the match, when he was conceded a par on the 12th hole. It was a bogey five for Kurach who was about 20 yards wide of the green after his second shot.

★ ★ ★

A brilliant second shot on 16 left Syron six feet from the pin. Kurach, barely on in two, was faced with a 60-foot putt. It took him three to get down. Syron canned his putt for the final birdie, ending the match.

The chunky, 5-8, 180-pounder arrived at Charlevoix early last Thursday by car and was unable to fire a practice round before qualifying. He qualified with a 75 over the par 36-36—72 course.

Syron qualified for the first time three years ago at Jackson and was a quarterfinalist last year when he lost to Tom Draper.

It was Kurach's second defeat in the state amateur final since first qualifying for the event in 1955. A former Hamtramck high school golfer and World War II Air force mechanic, he was defeated 3 and 2 in the 1955 final by Johnson.

Syron entered the championship match after a one-up semifinal victory over Jack Zinn, 27, of Detroit.

DOUBLE-BARRELED VICTORY — Tiger pitcher Billy Hoeft not only got credit for the victory against the Baltimore Orioles yesterday in the first game, but he helped things along by rapping out two home runs. He has only four hits this season, three of them home runs.

Shaw's Win 11th

No-Hitter for Falkenhagen

A no-hitter by Ron Falkengagen snapped a seven-game losing streak for the Pontiac Jets and Shaw's won its 2nd game in three days to extend its lead to 1½ games in Class A league baseball action at Wisner Stadium yesterday.

Falkenhagen walked six batters and hit two but 10 strikeouts kept the last place Thomas Die & Stamping nine from scoring in the 9-0 contest.

One of the whiffs got him out of a bases loaded jam in the 4th. He had men on base in six of the seven innings but always worked out of it, twice with the help of double plays. Only one ball was hit to the outfield off Falkenhagen.

The Jets scored in each of the 1st five innings as Joe Sato singled three times to bat in two runs, Judge Booker and the pitcher added two safeties apiece.

★ ★ ★

Shaw's came up with some top-notch pitching of its own as Jerry Taylor blanked Griff's Grill on three hits for a 6-0 victory giving the Jewelers an 11-2 record.

Shaw's clinched the verdict in the very 1st frame with two runs. Les Stone and Terry Thomas sparked the winners with two hits each.

Sally and Bill Keep Golf Title

Sally Sharp tuned up for her Michigan Women's Amateur title battle starting today, with another successful title round at Plum Hollow Golf Club. Sally and Bill Nettle shot a four-under par 32 Saturday to retain their 1956 Plum Hollow Invitational mixed-best ball crown.

They topped a field of 84, despite wet conditions that chopped the event from 18 holes to a nine-hole round.

Runnersup were Dr. John Hauser and Mrs. Jane Israel of Knollwood who had 38. Low net for the event was carded by Fred Droesch and Peg Bannister with 38-7-31.

State Women's at Orchard Lake

Three Courses Host Golf Tourneys

A total of 189 Publinx golfers and 87 women amateurs teed-off in their respective tournaments at three golf courses this morning.

At Birmingham and Plum Hollow, the publinx players are seeking 10 berths for the national tournament to be played at Hershey, Penna., July 29-Aug. 3.

Players began teeing-off at 6:30 a.m. with 18 holes slated at each course.

At Orchard Lake Country Club, the 41st Annual Women's Amateur State Championship got started at 8:30 a.m. with Birmingham's Sally Sharp as defending champion.

The women will qualify in medal play today and begin match play tomorrow with the finals set for Thursday.

Among the early area publinx golfers to go out were Ron Rothbarth of Pontiac and Tim Baldwin of Birmingham at 7:33 a.m. State Public Links champion Mike Andonian of Pontiac started at 8:15 a.m. and Roy Iceberg followed. Joe Burgdorf of Pontiac, who played in the state tournament at Charlevoix, did not show up at his scheduled time.

Miss Sharp did not have to play in the qualifying round of the women's tourney. Five other former champions are in the field including Mrs. Fonnie Reynolds (1954), Mrs. Rylma Marquardt (1953), Mrs. Betty Jane Wilson (1951), Mrs. Don Weiss, four-time winner champ.

★ ★ ★

All the courses were in good playable condition. The publinx meet was rescheduled after the downpour last Monday.

Andonian ran into putter trouble at Birmingham. He missed three short putts of four feet or less and took the front nine in three over par 39. Iceberg ran into trouble in the traps and finished with a 41, while Rothbarth posted a 37 going out.

Police Lose Softball Lead

Richard's Tavern kept rolling along as the National League leader while the Pontiac Police contingent dropped to 2nd place in the International League as a result of city softball games played yesterday.

Richard's backed a four-hit shutout performance by John Geiger with a 12-hit batting attack for a 13-0 rout of Oxbow as A. Hayward belted a three-run homer, two doubles and triple for six runs batted in.

Eddie's Bar downed the UAW-CIO 4-2 and Buettner's Cleaners whipped Pontiac Select-A-Drink in other league action.

A two-run triple by Jack Avery and a wild pitch enabled Eddie's to come from behind in its triumph. Buettner's led all the way for its 5th victory.

Franklin Products took over the IL lead without playing as the State Hospital upset the Police tossers. Wildness by starter Bill Newman brought about the Police downfall with the winners scoring all their runs in the 1st two innings.

Gibson Seeks More Honors

CHICAGO (AP)—Althea Gibson of New York City, the newly crowned Wimbledon champion, seeks her first major U. S. tennis title when the National Clay Courts Tournament opens today.

Miss Gibson, seeded No. 1, is a strong favorite to capture the title in the week-long tournament which ends Sunday. She was defeated in the semifinals last year by Shirley Fry, last year's Wimbledon Champion.

Herb Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif., will seek his second straight title in the men's division. Flam also won in 1950 and is top seeded.

Vic Seixas Retires Western Open's Cup

MILWAUKEE (AP)—For the first time in the 50-year history of the event Vic Seixas yesterday retired the men's singles cup of the Western Open Tennis Tournament by crushing Texan Tut Bartzen for the 1957 championship.

Seixas, the nation's third ranking player, overcame a slow start and never permitted his opponent to get his game working. Bartzen, of Dallas, battled in the first set as Seixas won 7-5, but then couldn't keep pace as the Philadelphian quickly closed out the match 6-2, 6-2.

The women's singles championship went to Karol Fageros of Miami, Fla., who had an easy time of it as she defeated Lois Felix of Meriden, Conn., 6-3, 6-2. Miss Felix, third-seeded, gained the finals with an upset victory over top-seeded Darlene Hard of Montebello, Calif., in Saturday's semifinals.

Pancho Next for Lew

Hoad Starts Well as Pro

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—Lew Hoad said today he was just as nervous as could be when he made his professional tennis debut—but in the next breath he revealed that he caught a half-hour nap just before he was called on the court.

"I really was nervous," Lew laughed. "I can sleep any time, of course, once I start swinging my racket, I forget it. But I was as nervous as, say, when I stepped on the court for the final at Wimbledon."

★ ★ ★

Hoad, signed right after he won Wimbledon for the second straight year, began to earn some of the $125,000 Jack Kramer is giving him over the next two years, by crushing Frank Sedgman yesterday, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4, in the Tournament of Champions.

"I might even have been more nervous against Sedgman than I was at Wimbledon," observed Hoad. "After all, I figured I could beat Ashley Cooper, my opponent there. I wasn't so sure I could lick Sedgman."

★ ★ ★

The 6,500 spectators at the staid West Side Tennis Club rarely have seen the type of tennis put on by Hoad. He was a living terror, beating back everything Sedgman had to offer. Sedgman managed to break his service just once, in the second game of the third set.

"What can I say about him?" asked Sedgman who last played Hoad in 1952. "He was terrific. In six months, he'll be even better. His anticipation was wonderful. Of course, I haven't played a real match since January, so my reflexes were slowed a little. But that would have had no bearing on the outcome."

Did Sedgman think Hoad could beat pro king Pancho Gonzales when they meet next Sunday?

"Not right now," he answered. "Gonzales has the service to beat Lew. Pancho has a flat delivery that's real hard to hit. Lew's spins and you can get to it. Furthermore his second service isn't as good as Pancho's.

Gonzales made his debut in the tourney by turning back Tony Trabert, 6-3, 3-6, 11-9, 6-3. While Ken Rosewall whipped Pancho Segura, 6-3, 6-1, 6-8, 2-6, 13-11.

STATE CHAMP — Official state small-bore rifle champion, Harold Stoughton (above) from Ford Gun Club, was a lucky guy Sunday at the title matches shot at Oakland County Sportsmen's club range. Stoughton was actually 2nd in the firing, to a West Virginian, W. Dean DeLamater, but DeLamater wasn't eligible to hold the title and trophy, which Stoughton holds. Tourney was restricted to Michigan residents only. Stoughton fired 3180—200x, DeLamater 3180—212x.

'Champ' Misses Trophy

Out - of - Stater Wins; Title to Ford Shooter

By H. GUY MOATS

A set of unusual circumstances developed in the two-day State Smallbore Rifle Match Championships, during the weekend. Match was shot over the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club outdoor range.

First off, there were two champions. That is, the actual overall top score was fired by W. Dean DeLamater of Parkersburg, West Virginia. But, because DeLamater was not a Michigan resident he couldn't qualify for possession of the fine big championship trophy, which went to Ford Gun Club marksman, Harold Stoughton.

Stoughton's hold on the trophy gave him the official title and the trophy, and also boosted the Ford Club into the team championship. DeLamater's score was a fine 3180-212 bullseyes. Stoughton had 3180-200.

Title was determined by shooting in eight different matches for a combined total, plus bullseyes. All firing was from prone position, with .22 caliber rifles.

Actual 3rd place went to Charles Nelson of Brewster Club, Detroit, with 3180-188; 4th to last year's champion, Charles Casper of Ford, with 2176-208; 5th to John McClay of Roseville Sportsmen's Club with 3176-183.

Ford Gun Club team scores (match 16)—1957 - 59x; runnerup OCSC team—1577 - 76x. Individual scores—Ford-Casper, 398-24x, Alex Smith 399-27, Denny Wu 396 - 14, Stoughton 399-24. For OCSC — Roberta Gubbins 396-17, Bob Wagginer 395-25, Bert Beam 390-17 and Al Johnston 388-18.

A field of 56 took part, coming from Sault Ste. Marie, Holland, Lansing, Jackson, Port Huron and Flint, besides the metropolitan area. The Soo delegation of four included a wheel-chair marksman, young Joseph Haller, a beginner shooter who did a good job.

Some 135 of the nation's leading women golfers are entered in the 1957 tournament, assured of a new champion because defender Ann Quast of Marysville, Wash. is not entered.

Homers Save Yanks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Just when the American League appeared on the verge of becoming a race once more, the New York Yankees turned on a six-run rally to get an even break in Chicago. Faced with the threat of having their lead sliced to one game, the Yanks bounced back from a 4-0 deficit to a 6-4 second game victory mainly on a grand slam homer by pinch hitter Bill Skowron. Billy Pierce's fine five-hit pitching had won the first for Chicago 3-1, so the Yankee margin remained at three games.

Despite two home runs by Ted Williams, who displaced the Yanks' Mickey Mantle as the American League leader with 25, the Boston Red Sox lost two to Cleveland. As a result of the sweep, the Indians are only a half game behind the third-place Red Sox. Joe Altobelli's sacrifice fly with the bases loaded won the first for Bob Lemon 3-2 and the Indians clobbered Boston pitching for 20 hits to take the second 17-4 for Stan Pitula.

Detroit prepared for the Yanks' visit by knocking off Baltimore twice 10-2 and 7-6 in 10 innings. Billy Hoeft hit two homers and pitched a seven-hitter in the first game and the second was won by Red Wilson's single after a damaging error by Jim Brideweser, Baltimore shortstop.

Kansas City kept Washington six games behind in last place by splitting a double in 100-degree heat. Julio Becquer's timely hitting helped Washington take the opener 4-1 for Camilo Pascual but the A's cut loose with a 17-hit barrage, including two homers by Irv Noren, in ar 11-3 second game romp. Truman Clevenger, Washington reliefer, was slugged for seven hits and six runs in the sixth. By hitting safely in both games, Hector Lopez of the A's ran his consecutive hitting streak to 21 games.

A crowd of 48,244 saw the Yanks erupt at Comiskey Park after being shut out with five hits by Dick Donovan for eight innings. Three singles brought one run. With one out, Skowron ripped into a pitch by relief man Jim Wilson for a grand slam. Tommy Byrne, Yankee winner, followed with another homer. Pierce retired the last 16 Yanks in order, winning his 13th in the opener.

Williams had a perfect 4 for 4 at Cleveland with three hits in the first and a pinch homer in the second. As a result of this fine day, Williams boosted his average to .339, only six behind Mantle's leading .365.

Juggling Acts Backfire for Paul Richards

Hoeft Hits 2 Homers in 10-2 Opener; 2nd Game Won in 10th, 7-6

DETROIT (AP) — It isn't quite cricket for one manager to second-guess or criticize the maneuvering tactics of another, but Jack Tighe of the Detroit Tigers was mighty thankful today for some of Paul Richards' string-pulling that backfired.

The Baltimore Oriole manager, the undisputed champion juggler of lineups in either Major League, engineered a 9th inning "defensive maneuver" in the exhausting second game of yesterday's doubleheader at Briggs Stadium and the Tigers turned it into a twin bill sweep.

The scores were 10-2 in the opener and 7-6 in the nightcap.

"I can forget all the moves we made that didn't work out," said Tighe. "Richards made the one that counted."

Richards, the former Tiger catcher, put rookie Joe Durham into left field as a replacement for ex-Tiger Bob Nieman, who is more renownend for his hitting than for his work with the glove. But Durham's sputtering approach to Reno Bertoia's line drive in the Tiger half of the inning gave the Tigers a run and wiped out a 6-5 Baltimore lead.

The Tigers won it in the 10th, when after one threat had been snuffed out by a disputed double play, they got an unearned run on a single by Ray Boone, an error by shortstop Jim Brideweser and a game-winning single by catcher Red Wilson.

Bill Hoeft scattered seven Oriole safeties and got three of his own—including two home runs that drove across three runs—for the first game victory since May 17 and only his second triumph against four setbacks.

Wilson, who caught both games in place of the slumping Frank House, lined his third single of the day into left field in the 10th and Boone who singled scored the winning tally.

Lou Sleater picked up the victory, his third against two losses.

Tie for Title in Legion Loop

First half season title action in the 18th District Junior American Legion Baseball eague Sunday wound up in a knot between Milford, which licked Rochester 10-3, and Berkley which was idle. Each had a 9-1 mark.

Decision will be made tonight at a special meeting of manager and post commanders at Birmingham to decide whether a playoff will be held to name the district team for the Owosso Third Zone district playoffs July 23, 24, 25. Eighteenth district 2nd round begins Wednesday.

Milford took the lead on a 3rd inning 3-run rush to offset Rochester's 2nd inning three runs. Milford then added three more in each of the 4th and 7th frames. It was a free-hitting game at Milford, but Rochester's Herb Peters said today that the seven errors by his team was a material aid to the winners.

Clawson didn't exactly entertain Birmingham, in the other 1st-half finale Sunday, when it took a league-record win, 23-9. Nineteen runs were scored by Clawson in the 6th, 7th and 8th innings. In each frame Clawson sent 10 batters to the plate.

First half standings:

	W	L		W	L
Milford	9	1	Clawson	4	6
Berkley	9	1	Birmingham	1	9
Rochester	6	4

Red Shakeup Hits Romania

New Foreign Minister, Minister of Culture, Secretary Appointed

VIENNA (AP) — Communist Romania has a new foreign minister, minister of culture and party secretary as a result of the purge of two leaders from the Red party hierarchy.

Party boss Gheorghe Gheorgiu-Dej ousted Miron Constantinescu and Josef Chisinevsky from the Communist Politburo July 4, charging they tried to form an "antiparty group" similar to the purged group in the Kremlin.

Yesterday Radio Bucharest announced Constantinescu also had been fired from his jobs as deputy premier and minister of culture. Atanase Joja, Romania's former U.N. representative, succeeded him in the culture post.

★ ★ ★

Foreign Minister Grigore Preoteasa was shifted to Chisinevsky's job as Communist Party Central Committee secretary. Replacing him as foreign minister is Ion Georghe Maurer, a lawyer who served as secretary of transport in 1945.

More than 4,100 communities in the United States are wholly dependent upon buses for public transportation.

Hollywood Headlines

Olivia Due in Movieland to Star in 'Prime Rebel'

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Over the transatlantic telephone, Olivia de Havilland, living in Paris, promised Samuel Goldwyn Jr. to be in Hollywood Aug. 15 to start "The Prime Rebel."

Livvy plays the femme interest in this father and son tale, which also stars Alan Ladd and features Alan's son David.

Livvy hasn't made a picture in Hollywood since she starred in "Not as a Stranger." "Rebel" will be a reunion for Livvy with director Michael Curtiz, who directed so many of the De Havilland films at Warners.

I had luncheon with Livvy in Paris last summer and I am so glad that her husband, Pierre Galante, one of the editors of Match Magazine, will join her here later. I hope that she will bring her year-old daughter, Gisele, whom I saw when she was 4 weeks old.

An Argosy Magazine story, "Big Fella Wash-Wash," intrigued Harry Cohn, Columbia Pictures' top man, so he sent orders to buy it for Jack Lemmon.

The title will be changed to "Wackiest Ship in the Navy." It is the story of an ancient ship that was put into service during the war in 1942.

GOOD FOR LORI

Going out on her own after she and U-I parted company was the very best thing that ever happened to Lori Nelson.

She has just been signed for a big NBC spectacular, "The Pied Piper of Hamlin." On July 26 Lori will start a six-week rehearsal with Van Johnson and Paul Douglas for "The Pied Piper," and later it will be released as a motion picture.

Apparently NBC wants to try and prove that it doesn't hurt any motion picture property to be shown first on TV.

Debbie Reynolds was heartbroken when she returned from Europe and her daughter, Carrie Frances, cried and didn't recognize her.

"I almost cried too," Debbie told me, "but I have spent most of my time with her since I returned and she's beginning to know me again."

Debbie is happy because her record "Tammy," which she made for her Universal-International picture, has already sold over 200,000.

She tells me Eddie is in Israel on the invitation of the government. He opens July 19 at the Monte Carlo gala and then goes to Casablanca for the Bob Hope show.

MARX MANSION

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random.

Groucho Marx moved into his new quarter of a million dollar home. Quite a shack it is with gold fixtures in his wife's bathroom and a sunken tub.

Poor Johnny Campbell. He's been all over the world on assignments for Harry Brand of 20th, and he had to go to little old Lexington, Ky., to meet his nemesis. Johnny's got measles!

Pat Boone's year-old daughter underwent a tonsillectomy at Hollywood Presbyterian Hospital. Shirley was so worried you would have thought it was a major operation.

It was a reconciliation dinner for Jeff Richards and his wife, Vicki, at the Malibu Sports Club.

Site for A-Tests Bought by Firm

Curtiss Wright Planning to Manufacture Missiles on Nevada Land

RENO, Nev. (AP)—Roy T. Hurley, board chairman and president of Curtiss Wright Corp., announced today the purchase of a 150-square mile missile and atomic test site. He said negotiations under way increase total area to more than 300 square miles.

Aides said they believed it the largest industrial real estate transaction in U.S. history in land area involved.

★ ★ ★

At a news conference, Hurley declined to indicate cost or disclose construction plans or employe totals.

He said he preferred not to outline his plans because "it might be two months or two years before we move out here" and he did not want to make commitments.

He said the treeless, barren area, used now primarily for grazing sheep, will be used for testing and manufacturing missiles and missile fuels and for any future atomic testing. He said he had no specific plans for atomic work.

★ ★ ★

Curtiss Wright currently is building a nuclear reactor and a remote-operated laboratory for research on radioactive materials at its 80-square-mile Quehanna research and development center, established four years ago in central Pennsylvania. Hurley said the Quehanna purchase itself was described as the largest Pennsylvania land transaction since the days of Benjamin Franklin and William Penn.

Rossellini Won't Get Home for Summer

NEW DELHI (AP)—Italian movie director Roberto Rossellini says he can't get home to spend the summer with his wife Ingrid Bergman despite her hopes.

Miss Bergman has said several times since reports circulated that her husband was romancing an Indian woman that he would return to Italy in August. She said they would spend the summer at their villa "as we always have since our marriage."

★ ★ ★

But Rossellini—in bed with the flu—said last night in New Delhi he had no plans for leaving India. He said it will take him at least two more months to finish documentary films he is making for the Indian government.

★ ★ ★

The Home Ministry said he can remain in India until the films are completed. There have been reports that the family and husband of Mrs. Sonali Das Gupta, Indian script writer who moved into a hotel room adjoining Rossellini's in Bombay, had asked the government to force Rossellini to leave. He has insisted his relationship with Mrs. Das Gupta is only a business association.

Greek Reds OK Purge, Party Paper Reports

LONDON (AP)—Pravda said today the Greek Communist party has passed a resolution endorsing the demotion of members of the "Malenkov group" in the Soviet Union.

The Communist party organ, in an article broadcast by Moscow radio, said the Greek Reds declared that the group's "antiparty factional activity deserves the most severe condemnation."

Cattle Losses High

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The National Cattle Raisers Confederation estimates drought has caused herders losses of $5,600,000 thus far this year in north Mexico. Officials of the National Farm Assn. put the losses as high as 8 million dollars.

ATOM-AGE MASK — The Army's new, atom-age mask, pictured above, is designed to protect soldiers against inhaling radioactive fallout particles as well as war gases and germ warfare agents. Filters built into the mask replace the usual canister-type filter device. First shown at Edgewood Arsenal, Md., it's said to provide easier breathing, better vision and improved speech transmission in addition to being more comfortable to wear, says the Army. It will not protect against direct atomic radiation.

Woman Drops Child 4 Floors

Policeman Catches Girl by One Leg; Mother Stopped From Jumping

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP) — A screaming mother dangled her 17-month-old daughter out of a fourth - floor window yesterday, then let go. A patrolman lunged forward and caught the child by one leg.

"It was a lucky grab," said Patrolman Larry W. Schanz after it was all over.

The mother, identified as Louise Pepper, 23, formerly of Sayre, Pa. was committed to Binghamton State Hospital for mental examination.

Sgt. Robert E. Forbes said he tackled the woman as she attempted to jump from the window herself, minutes after her baby was saved.

★ ★ ★

The child, Wanda, apparently was not injured.

Police said the incident started with an argument between the mother and a man she had been out with. They said the woman threatened to throw Wanda out of the window of her apartment unless the man left. He did, but the mother continued to dangle the child out of the window.

Forbes and Schanz said the woman threatened to drop the baby if anyone started toward the stairway.

After another patrolman had spread a blanket to catch the child, Schanz and Forbes dashed into the building and up the stairs.

★ ★ ★

They said the woman turned to the window again and hung the child by one foot. As she let go, Schanz grabbed.

Wanda's leg "fell into my hand and I held on for dear life," Shanz said.

New York City's Huge Population Seen Shrinking

NEW YORK (AP)—The City of New York, which for years has claimed to be the largest in population in the world, is shrinking in numbers, a preliminary special census report shows.

Reports from Tokyo about population growth there indicate that New York, with 7,771,509 persons by latest count, may be third in size of population. The latest Tokyo count is 8,471,637. Metropolitan London claims 8,239,910.

The city undertook a $1,500,000 special census this spring in the hope of obtaining more money from the state. Each additional person over the 1950 census of 7,891,957 would mean $6.75 more in state aid.

However, the report released yesterday showed 120,448 drop in population since 1950. In the same period suburbs all around the city's borders have enjoyed phenomenal growth.

The city will try to raise its total by finding more persons to count as residents before the final count in October.

Renewing Licenses Harder—After You're 75

WASHINGTON (AP) — Renewing a driver's license in the District of Columbia is going to get tougher if you are still driving at 75.

To get a permit renewed at that age will mean an extensive examination, an eye test, a written test on rules of the road and a doctor's certificate that you are physically able to drive.

Billy May Lengthen New York Crusade

NEW YORK (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham's New York crusade may be extended for two or three weeks beyond its scheduled closing date, next Saturday night.

Graham, who preached to a crowd of 19,200 at Madison Square Garden last night, announced that a decision on extension will be made later in the week.

★ ★ ★

This would be the second extension. When the crusade started May 15, the schedule called for a June 30 windup. Requests for a longer schedule were so numerous, crusade officials said, that a decision was reached June 3 to continue through the first three weeks of July.

Total attendance at the Madison Square Garden meetings has reached 1,036,700. Last night's 331 "decisions for Christ" raised the total to 32,593.

★ ★ ★

There was a roar of approval last night when Graham in a brief statement before the sermon said: "There is a possibility of our crusade being here for another two or three weeks. As far as I know now, the closing date is next Saturday. The Graham family had planned a vacation. However, I am ready to answer the call."

Stocks Remain on High Ground

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market edged further into new high ground for the year in moderately active early trading today.

Leading issues advanced narrowly. There was a scattering of losers.

★ ★ ★

The opening was active and there were some sizable blocks. Within a half hour the pace slowed.

Steels were higher as continued good demand was forecast for the rest of the year. Motors resumed their uptrend of Friday. Base metals showed a slightly higher tendency. Chemicals were mixed and aircrafts were lower.

Wall Street saw the market in a traditional summer rally after the averages attained new yearly highs on three occasions last week. On average, the market was just below historic bull market highs, a level which is now being tested.

★ ★ ★

Fractional gains were made by U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, Chrysler, General Motors and Ford.

Boeing and Douglas Aircraft dropped a major fraction. United Aircraft was down around a point.

Allied Chemical was off more than two on news of lower earnings.

Gainers included Sperry-Rand, International Business Machines, Du Pont, Anaconda, Kennecott, Southern Railway and Royal Dutch.

Among losers were Texas Co., American Tobacco, Goodyear and Consolidated Edison.

Burglars Steal Mechanic's Tools From Orion Man

Oakland County sheriff's deputies reported Sunday that sometime late last week someone broke into a tool shed behind the home of Morris G. Reynolds, of 1792 Grandview St., Orion Township, escaping with two boxes of mechanic's tools.

Reports said the tools were valued at about $250, and that the lock on a trailer on Reynolds' property had been broken, but nothing was missing. Detectives believe this robbery to be linked with similar break-ins in the area during the past few months.

Gov. Williams Plans Quick Jobless Action

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Williams said today he would take "immediate steps" to meet what he called a "public emergency" arising out of growing unemployment in Michigan.

Williams said he would ask the Michigan Employment Security Commission for a report on sources of unemployment, then meet with auto and labor leaders to discuss ways for reducing the total of jobless workers.

Immediate action was decided upon, he said, on the basis of reports from the MESC and Walker Cisler, president of Detroit Edison Co. and chairman of the Governor's Emergency Production Commission.

The MESC reported that 195,000 persons, or 6.7 per cent of the state's labor force, were out of work as of June 15. Cisler's report, issued 10 days ago, predicted unemployment would rise to 235,000 by Aug. 15.

County Board Eyes Rented Office Space

A special meeting of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors has been called next week to consider leasing of more office space.

Pressed for room to work while a court suit holds up construuction of a new courthouse, the county wants to lease the former Road Commission building at 550 S. Telegraph Rd.

3-YEAR LEASE

Supervisors' chairman Delos Hamlin, of Farmington, who called the meeting, said a three-year lease with a six-month termination clause is being considered.

The rent would be $525 a month.

The staff of Drain Commissioner Daniel W. Barry and the new Department of Public Works would probably move into the new space, as well as several smaller departments, Hamlin said.

Supervisors will be asked to vote an appropriation for the rent at the meeting scheduled for 9:30 a.m. July 23.

The Road Commission, which had intended to sell the building after it moved into new headquarters in the County Service Center three months ago, favors the lease.

Chairman Sol Lomerson said that bids for the building's sale were too low. They were opened earlier this month.

Inventory Shows Upturn in Sales

Passenger Car Figure for Retailers July 1 Reflects June Rise

DETROIT (AP)—New car retailers had 744,315 passenger cars in stock July 1. The total compared with 787,748 cars June 1.

★ ★ ★

The figures, computed by Automotive News reflect an encouraging sales upturn in June. Deliveries for that month have been estimated unofficially at 544,750 units and the total for the January-June period at 3,084,650 units. In the same 1956 period retail deliveries numbered 3,155,800.

New car inventories were lower on July 1 last year. The 679,598 figurre in that instance, however, reflected a sharp production cutback that began earlier in the year when inventories reached the record total of 904,000 units.

Ward's Automotive Reports, commenting on the industry's sales and production picture, said last week retail deliveries for June 21-30 were at an average daily rate of 26,656 units, best since Sept. 21-30, 1955, when they averaged 29,218.

★ ★ ★

The agency put the indicated over-all factory output for 1957 at 6,200,000 cars. Some earlier estimates placed the figure at six million units for both assemblies and retail deliveries.

Carol Kids Betty, Judy and Everyone's Happy

By EARL WILSON

LAS VEGAS—A guy can hardly find time to lose money on the nickel machine here, due to all the talk about Carol Channing kidding the britches off Judy Garland and Betty Hutton in her new act.

★ ★ ★

Carol also has all the hep people chattering over a pretty hilarious impression of grandma Marlene Dietrich slithering around in a black chiffon negligee.

"It's one of those usual Hollywood negligees—no back and no front . . . just sleeves," Carol explains.

CAROL

After Carol did her impression of a girl singer at the Palace who comes out and sits at the footlights with a towel around her neck and tells how humble she is after all the record breaking weeks, I said to her "Is it Judy or Betty or both?"

"Why I had nobody particular in mind," she said, giving me that "little girl from Little Rock" look with the big round eyes.

But her tongue almost went through her cheek saying it.

Anyway, this little girl worked since she was four and she never had any childhood.

"All I had was money, fame, a large annuity and real estate holdings in Beverly Hills—a mighty poor substitute for affection," she says, still being humble.

Carol, one of the greatest talents to hit this town especially in the satire department, does it all nice and friendly.

Neither Judy nor Betty would object to it—though each would claim it's about the other.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL IN N.Y. . . .

Artie Shaw had a N.Y. restaurant ship corned beef to him in Spain . . . Sophia Loren has an offer to record an album, to be titled, "Music That Sounds the Way She Looks . . . Debra Paget's mother chaperoned her when she came to town for the Steve Allen show . . . The big handsome guy escorting Julie Newmar of "Li'l Abner" is her 6-foot baby brother—just 15.

EARL'S PEARLS: Face powder can catch a man—but it generally takes baking powder to keep him.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: A local gent checked the prices of carpeting for his huge living room, and decided it'd be cheaper to put in a lawn. That's earl, brother.

Valley Forge Intrigues Scouts

Keep Midnight Watch to See if Ghost Tales Are Really True

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (AP)— In the wood-fragrant, comradely atmosphere of Boy Scout Jamboree campfires, American scouts, and their guests from a score of foreign lands share a keen interest in the lore of Valley Forge. As imaginations quicken around the fires, valiant volunteers clamor for a chance to find out whether the tales are true.

One tale, dear to every yarn-spinner in these historical parts, tells of "The Rider of the Night," a shadow man on a shadow horse.

★ ★ ★

Believers say the phantom is Mad Anthony Wayne, brilliant Revolutionary War fighter, whose statue graces Valley Forge Park. It is said that the ghost rider comes bucketing up past the statue. Many a midnight watch has been kept to see whether Mad Anthony's ghost really gallops.

★ ★ ★

Then there is the saga of the sitting ghost. He is more mysterious than the shade of Mad Anthony. He has no identity, and why he is haunting Valley Forge nobody knows. This ghost glides to the crest of road banks and to the top of hillocks and stays there, immobile, for hours on end, staring in supernatural melancholy at those who pass his way.

★ ★ ★

It was a Missourian (naturally) who raised the question of credibility of witnesses. Bob Huston, of Windsor, a member of jamboree troop 6, said he couldn't help but be skeptical about these stories. But he and his show-me friends quickly added that it was fun to listen to the stories, whether they had any germ of truth or were sheer fancy.

★ ★ ★

The scouts, on the whole, feel they are pretty well schooled in history. One big gathering therefore, was astonished to learn that many less knowledgeable visitors think Valley Forge is where Washington started his crossing of the Delaware. The Delaware River is a good 25-30 miles away. Even some of the younger scouts thought at first that Valley Forge was a battleground rather than a bitter winter camp.

Thinks Money Needed More by Other Victims

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP)—Dr. Cecil Clark is grateful for donations to rebuild his wrecked clinic in Cameron but he feels money now is needed more by other hurricane victims.

All donations received by the doctor have been used to buy medical supplies for the people of Cameron, Dr. Clark gave no estimate of the total.

When the need for medical supplies to victims lessens, Dr. Clark indicated, he will accept money to rebuild his clinic, the only one in Cameron.

Dr. Clark lost three children when Hurricane Audrey brought its winds and waves to the small city June 27. Despite the knowledge that the children were gone, Dr. Clark worked ceaselessly that day and the next caring for the injured of the city.

The 33-year-old physician yesterday said the cost of rebuilding his clinic would be $10,000.

Could Warm Up Arctic?

OTTAWA (AP) — The Soviet News Bulletin put out by the Russian Embassy here says the Canadian arctic could be warmed up by 25 to 30 degrees for 35 billion dollars.

The Soviet formula: Dam up the Bering Strait, pump cold arctic water into the Pacific and let warm Atlantic water flow through the arctic.

A Canadian arctic expert's verdict: "Crazy."

GOP Legislators Opposing Dam

Assert Hells Canyon Project Would Drive Industry Out of State

WASHINGTON (AP)—Michigan Republican congressmen are trying to tie together two heated issues from widely separated geographical areas—the Hells Canyon fight and the Michigan economic situation.

Reps. Cederberk and Ford contend that a federally-built Hells Canyon high dam on the Snake River between the Idaho and Oregon, would drive industry from Michigan. And it would be done, they say, at the expense of Michigan taxpayers.

★ ★ ★

Michigan Republicans have argued that Democratic tax policies are driving industry from the state and are partially responsible for widespread unemployment in the Detroit area and elsewhere. The GOP, going into the 1958 Michigan campaign as the underdogs, might use that as a major campaign issue.

A bill to build a Hells Canyon high dam, opposed by the White House, was passed by the Senate but has been blocked in the House Interior Committee.

"It is a serious thing when industry moves away from Michigan, whether due to internal policies of a state administration or because they are attracted elsewhere," said Cederberg.

★ ★ ★

"It is more serious when Michigan citizens are federally taxed to provide projects in other areas which will attract Michigan industries. This is the case of the hells Canyon project . . ."

Cederberg said 36 million dollars of the 651 million needed to build the high dam would come from Michigan.

"The passage of the bill," said Ford, "would mean that the development of 'cheap hydro-electric power' in the Paci&c Northwest with federal funds would entice industry and consequently employment out of our own state, Michigan, into that area."

★ ★ ★

In the Senate vote on the Hells Canyon legislation, Michigan's two senators were split — Republican Potter against the bill and democrat McNamara for it.

Red Team Splitting Up After Political Parley in Czechoslovakia

By HAROLD K. MILKS

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP) — Nikita Khrushchev and Premier Bulganin went separate ways today on the eve of their departure from Czechoslovakia.

After a quiet Sunday of rest and political conferences, the Soviet Communist party boss traveled to Pilsen, site of the giant Skoda works liberated by American troops in World War II, to address a mass meeting.

★ ★ ★

Premier Bulganin went to Most, a mining community near the East German border, for a similar meeting.

Both were to return to Prague tonight for a Soviet Embassy reception prior to tomorrow's windup of their eight-day visit to this Communist country.

★ ★ ★

Khrushchev and Bulganin spent yesterday at the country home of President Antonin Zapotocky at Lany, 20 miles nortwest of Prague. It is the former home and burial place of Prof. Thomas G. Masaryk, founder of the Czech republic, and is a national sanctuary.

Seize Japanese Boats

OTARU, Japan (AP) — Japanese maritime safety headquarters reports Soviet patrols seized 56 Japanese fishing boats with 572 crewmen in northern waters from January to June. Of these 31 boats and 509 men were released; 25 vessels and 63 men still held.

New Pocket Telephone 'Whistles' at Carrier

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP)—A pocket "telephone" was put into service in the Allentown-Bethlehem area today by the Bell Telephone Co.

★ ★ ★

It is actually a transistor radio receiver about the size of a cigarette pack. The carrier can be signaled from a central switchboard that he is wanted. Then he goes to a telephone and dials a pre-arranged number.

★ ★ ★

A special operator will handle the calls. She dials a number which transmits a radio signal, within an eight-mile range, to the requested receiver. The signal activates four reeds in the set, emitting Bell says, "a pleasant whistle."

Hail Reserve Force as 'Most Effective'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Security Training Commission says the United States now is approaching the point of having "the most effective reserve force in our history."

★ ★ ★

And, the commission said in a final report, "it would be a grave mistake if the reserve program were permitted to lag because of the lack of funds or any other reason.

"Therefore, we urge that extreme caution be exercised in any decisions relating to the budget or other aspects of the program for training our reservists."

★ ★ ★

These comments were contained in the commission's farewell report to Congress. The group was formed in 1951 to supervise the universal military training program for which Congress provided in legislation extending the draft.

Finally Spelled Right After 67-Year Wait

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—History is spelling Aaron Dunkel's name right now, but it took 67 years to turn the trick.

Dunkel was Pennsylvania's secretary of internal affairs from 1879 to 1883 and he was twice a state senator.

★ ★ ★

Yet five years after he quit public office Smull's Legislative Handbook, forerunner to the Pennsylvania Manual, supposedly the last word on the state's affairs, started to spell the name "Dunkle."

The error persisted. It was compounded when a portrait of the man was hung in the capitol and the nameplate bore the same misspelling.

Not until the new edition of the manual came out recently was the mistake corrected officially.

New York Police Investigate Philadelphian's Murder

Identify Bullet-Ridden Body in Tin Trunk

NEW YORK (AP) — A bullet-pierced body found squeezed into a tiny tin trunk was identified last night as that of a Philadelphian who came here three weeks ago to look for a job.

The murdered man's fingerprints led police to identify him as James F. Malloy, 53. They said he was fingerprinted when he applied for a job as a painter at the Philadelphia Navy Yard in 1942.

★ ★ ★

Since then he had rented a room off and on from Oscar Schaeffer of Philadelphia. He came here three weeks ago to hunt for a job and rented another room.

Schaeffer told police Malloy was "quiet, unassuming and perfect gentleman" and used the room about once a month. He kept a painter's ladder in the room and usually wore work clothes, Schaeffer said.

A doorman at the New York building where Malloy rented a room said he had seen the man alive Friday night.

★ ★ ★

A detective was sent to Philadelphia in a hunt for clues.

Earlier, police reported that the man was shot three times with a .22-caliber weapon. They said he was "probably" still alive when jackknifed into the trunk.

The crime was discovered Saturday night when a clerk noticed an odor coming from a trunk on a Railway Express agency platform on Manhattan's West Side.

Police pried the trunk open and found the body.

A nationwide alarm was sent out for two unidentified men who delivered the trunk to the agency.

Police said the murderer operated with remarkable coolness. While the victim lay dying, the killer sealed the three bullet holes, the nose and the mouth with adhesive tape and bandages to block bleeding.

He lined the trunk with newspapers and plastic sheeting before cramming the body inside. Odor-erasing mothballs were also tossed in the trunk.

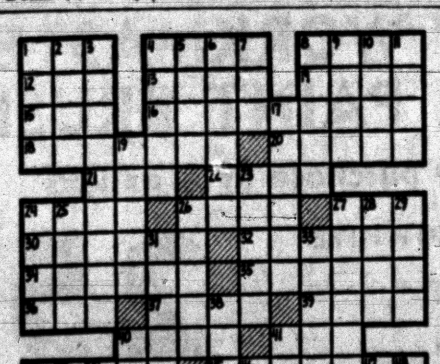

★ ★ ★

The body was clad only in silk shorts.

A medical examiner said Malloy had soft hands and apparently had done "no laborious work" recently. He had expensive dental capping of the kind favored by entertainers.

The trunk was marked for shipment to "Hal Jefferson, Hotel Ambassador, Los Angeles, Calif." But police said there was no such person at the hotel and no reservation for anyone by that name.

Police said the two men who delivered the trunk to the express agency were apparently unaware of the gruesome contents. They made no effort to conceal their faces. And one remarked, after paying the $40.92 shipping charge, that they could "drink up the change" from the $50 bill they offered.

Bob Considine Says:

Train Robbers Treated Too Well

NEW YORK (INS) — Any red-blooded American who has ever thought of turning to a life of crime has instinctively yearned, if he has any class, to be a train robber. In the warped section of our folklore, the train robber is no more culpable than Robin Hood.

★ ★ ★

The first topflight motion picture ever made was an 11-minute feature named "The Great Train Robbery." The next big one out of Hollywood's endless and still healthy arsenal will be another involving train-heisting.

It is "Night Passage," with Jimmy Stewart, Audie Murphy and Dan Duryea. It can hardly miss, what with the cast (incidentally), the first two must have more decorations between them than Grant and Lee) and the treasured theme.

Now, there have been some pretty miserable murderers among our hallowed train robbers, including Jesse James, who was known to his friends as Dingus. A rosy legend has flourished about this niggardly bum.

He was a member of the notorious guerrilla band of William Clarke Quantrill who pillaged Lawrence, Kan., on Aug. 21, 1863, and killed 150 innocent citizens. As a professional gunman, James later carried four Roscoes and killed when the mood or situation demanded.

QUITE A HAMBONE

Must have been quite a hambone, too. Once after derailing a train in Missouri, where he had corrupted or terrorized law enforcers without number, he relieved the passengers of their valuables, cracked open the safe in the baggage car, and then handed the train engineer this written message:

The Most Daring Train Robbery on Record

The southbound train of the Iron Mountain Road was stopped here this evening by five armed men and robbed of ..... dollars. The robbers arrived at the station a few minutes before the arrival of the train and arrested the agent and put him under guard, and then threw the train on the switch.

The robbers were all large men, all being slightly under six feet. After robbing the train, they started in a southerly direction. They were all mounted on handsome horses.

"The only resemblence here to my grandfather is that they both rode horses," Jesse's granddaughter said after previewing the whitewashed version the movies once made of her assassin ancestor.

Jesse met the kind of death he unquestionably dealt out to others in his time. He was shot in the back by Bob Ford while adjusting a picture frame, and the craven act, the years, bad biographies and a slanted editorial on a tombstone have made this punk an ersatz martyr.

The latter reads, "Jesse James, died April 3, 1886, aged 34 years, 6 month, 28 days, murdered by a traitor and coward whose name is not worthy to appear here." The St. Joseph (Mo.) Gazette sent him to The Great Stickup Out Beyond with this headline: Jesse, by Jehovah.

★ ★ ★

Frank James, who used to spend his time between train robberies writing letters to editors pleading his innocence, surrendered to the governor of Missouri after Jesse's death, served some time, and wound up as a doorman in a San Francisco burlesque house.

TURNED PREACHER

Cole Younger, who had been a captain in the Confederate Army, became a preacher after his train-robbing and prison days. His brother Jim committed suicide. His brother John, who boasted "no blankety bank detective is ever gonna catch me grinnin' through a grating," took on a whole posse and was ventilated for eternity.

★ ★ ★

Bob Dalton started out as a U.S. marshal before turning train robber. One of the Dalton boys, after serving time, became a Los Angeles businessman.

Texas Sam Bass' grave in Pound Foot, Tex., is a tourist attraction. Bill Carver was tracked down by a notice on his "wanted" posters which read, "Smells like a pole-cat," perhaps the costliest BO in train-robbing history.

In this day of phones, telegraphy and radio, people still dream of robbing trains. Two crooks tried to frisk the Paris-Quimper Express last May 8.

Three years ago a couple of zoot-suiters kept the people on a westbound B & O out of Martinsburg, W. Va., terrorized for hours. P.S.—They were caught, perhaps by their key chains.

★ ★ ★

We can't tell you how train-robber Audie Murphy makes out in "Night Passage," but he sure gave the Germans enough trouble.
