In Salute to MSUO

chancellor, and John A. Riley, outgoing chamber president. Maier was installed as president and Varner disclosed MSUO plans at the chamber's annual banquet at Elks Temple.

Install Maier C. of C. Head at Banquet

Edward A. Maier took over the reins of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce last night at the colorful annual banquet in Elks Temple.

The 1959 president was given the gavel and congratulations by John A. Riley, outgoing 1958 president.

Maier, vice president and manager of Abstract & Title Guaranty Co., promised an active year ahead for the chamber.

Riley, assistant advertising director of The Pontiac Press, thanked chamber members for their support in accomplishing 1958's many objectives.

Adding enthusiastically-received harmonies to the banquet was the Michigan State University Men's Glee Club. Directed by Edward L. Richmond, the 46 young men won rounds of applause.

Toastmaster was Carl Rogers, plant manager of GMC Truck & Coach Division.

Others speaking included John W. Hurlinger, chamber manager; Stuart A. Whitfield, vice president of Pontiac State Bank; and Harold A. Fitzgerald, publisher of The Pontiac Press.

Whitfield, 1958 treasurer for the chamber, presented Riley with a gift of photographic equipment.

634 Million Net, Reports GM

But $2.22 Per Share Dips From $2.99 for Year Previous DETROIT — General Motors Corp., the world's largest industrial organization, had net profit last year of 634 million dollars. The financial statement reflected substantial improvement in the final quarter of 1958.

Of the year's total income, $225,000,000 was earned in the final quarter of the year.

The earnings for the full year, equivalent to $2.22 per share, compared with $2.99 per share in 1957.

Earnings for 1958 came from net dollar sales of $9,522,000,000 compared with $10,990,000,000 in 1957. Sales of defense products accounted for five per cent of total net sales, the same proportion as in each of the preceding two years.

The statement, issued by Frederick G. Donner, chairman, and John F. Gordon, president, said demand for cars and trucks began to reflect generally improved business conditions during the fourth quarter of 1958.

"Over-all, the outlook for 1959 is encouraging," they said. "With the economy expanding and opportunities for business increasing, there appears to be a sound basis for the belief that confidence of businessmen and consumers should continue to rise."

Chancellor D. B. Varner Outlines New Approach

Less English and more Russian will be emphasized when Michigan State University Oakland opens this fall.

The 600 students expected in the initial class probably will not be required to take freshman English composition, said D. B. Varner, MSUO chancellor, at the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce annual banquet last night.

"I know this would be a radical departure from traditional college curricula, and perhaps is a controversial step," Varner told 400 persons at Pontiac Elks Temple.

"But if the students don't know their native tongue after using it for 18 years, it's too late for us in college to teach it to them."

The cost angle has been figured in, too, Varner said.

"Educational dollars are scarce nowadays. We don't want to spend them teaching students what they should have learned before they came to us."

What about the student who didn't do too well in high school English?

"All freshmen will be given English entrance tests. Those who pass them won't have to worry about beginning English."

"Those who don't pass will be required to take a special remedial English course, for which there will be a special fee so that the course is not an added expense to the school."

AT C. OF C. SALUTE

Varner was principal speaker at the Chamber of Commerce salute to the new university, now under construction a mile east of Pontiac on property donated to MSU two years ago by Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson.

Also speaking were three members of Varner's staff: George Karas, director of the physical plant; Roy Alexander, director of student services; and Herbert Stutenberg, director of applications and admissions.

It was announced that Oakland County banks, working in cooperation with the MSUO Foundation, were promising $30,000 a year for MSUO scholarships.

Commitments for the first $24,620 for this year were presented to Varner last night.

Another important announcement came from Karas, who said that Feb. 23 is the date for groundbreaking ceremonies for the university's second building, a student center.

But House Adjourns Unfil Monday Night for Dem Convention

LANSING (AP)—A proposal to lift the state's debt ceiling from $250,000 to 50 million dollars was advanced to voting stage in the House today.

Ending a 90-minute debate on the issue, the lower chamber adjourned until Monday night in recognition of the Democratic state convention opening tomorrow in Grand Rapids. The Senate will follow suit after its meeting this afternoon.

Republicans showed little enthusiasm for the debt limit plan, offered as an amendment to the state constitution by Rep. E. D. O'Brien (D-Detroit).

Rep. Robert S. Gilbert (R-Saginaw) called it a "Democratic smoke-screen" calculated to divert attention from Gov. William's plan to mortgage the Veterans Trust Fund until after the April 6 election.

Both the trust fund and debt ceiling proposals were put up as solutions to the state's cash emergency.

Also moved up for a decisive vote, probably next Tuesday, was a plan to authorize calling of a constitutional convention by a majority of those voting on the proposition.

Both constitutional amendments need a two-thirds majority in both House and Senate to go on the ballot.

The Republican four-cent sales tax proposal teetered today at the brink of a legislative grave after a first passage try in the House fell 22 votes short.

Its only hope for a new lease on life appeared to be a trade that would assure adoption of a solution to the state's cash emergency acceptable to Democrats.

Whether such a deal was in the cards nobody seemed to know.

Surprising no one, the sales tax increase plan received just 52 favorable votes, all Republican, as against 74 needed on a passage roll call yesterday. Fifty negative votes were cast by Democrats.

Afterward, Rep. James F. Varner (R-Ypsilanti) served notice he will seek a second passage vote Tuesday or later next week.

Asked what would change the outcome then, Rep. Allison Green of Kingston, GOP floor leader, mentioned two items of "trading stock" but declined to speculate on whether a swap would be arranged.

Aha, There's the Reason

ROCKFORD, Ill. (UPI) — A roadblock set up yesterday to catch license plate violators netted only violators traveling south. Police found a resident around the corner was warning violators traveling north to take a bypass.

ACAPULCO, Mexico (AP)—President Eisenhower flew into this palm-fringed tropical resort today to begin two days of talks with Mexico's President Adolfo Lopez Mateos.

The smiling, 49-year-old Mexican leader led a big delegation of government officials who gathered at the gaily decked airport to welcome Eisenhower.

Thousands of excited Mexicans lined the streets of Acapulco to join in the greeting.

With the Mexican president were U.S. Ambassador Robert C. Hill and Mexico's foreign minister, Manuel Tello.

Communist calls for anti-American demonstrations apparently were being ignored by thousands of holidaying Mexicans and others as the scrubbed and shining city readied its best holiday face for the chief executive from the North.

Never had a meeting between a Mexican president and a foreign chief of state taken place in such exotic surroundings.

Eisenhower said the primary purpose of his Mexican visit is to pay his respects to a great neighboring republic.

Among those accompanying Eisenhower were his youngest brother, Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, president of Johns Hopkins University and a top adviser on Latin American affairs; the President's son John; Roy R. Rubottom, U.S. assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs; and Mexico's ambassador to the United States, Antonio Carrillo Flores.

After the welcoming ceremonies, the two presidents were to talk this afternoon on the Mexican presidential yacht Sotavento.

Straley Job Hearing Brings Threat Against Eastman

An anonymous phone call threatening violence to Public Safety Director George D. Eastman was received last night by Civil Service Commission Chairman Stuart A. Austin shortly before the Commission opened its hearings on ouster charges against Police Chief Herbert W. Straley.

LAUGHS OFF THREAT

Eastman laughed off the threat as the work of a "crackpot."

Three police officers were stationed at the doors to keep order as the first session of what is expected to be a lengthy hearing got under way.

Straley's attorney, Clarence L. Smith, asked the commission to dismiss charges against the suspended chief on grounds Eastman was never legally public safety director.

Eastman's charges against Straley were filed by City Manager Walter K. Willman with the Civil Service Commission Feb. 9.

Under the city charter, Smith contended, the city manager holds the title of public safety director unless otherwise spelled out by the City Commission.

"Neither by resolution or ordinance has the Commission ever separated the two posts," Smith said.

SEES NO POWER
Smith also said the Commission had no power to hear the charges against the chief.

Again citing the city charter, Smith said that all charges against Straley had to be made by Willman.

City Attorney William A. Ewart argued the charges against Straley were drawn up by Eastman in accordance with the State Civil Service Act which, he asserted, nullifies various provisions of the charter.

"If the city charter conflicts with state law, then the state law is supreme," Ewart said.

As for Eastman, Ewart said that Willman clearly had the right to hire a safety director.

"The City Commission clearly recognizes this fact and has acknowledged it by considering ouster resolutions several times," Ewart declared.

OUTER ATTEMPTS
Four attempts to fire Eastman have been made in recent weeks by Commissioners Milton R. Henry and Robert A. Landry.

"They (the commissioners) wouldn't consider firing someone who never had the job," Ewart said.

Smith's motion to dismiss the charges was referred to the Civil Service Commission's attorney, James G. Hartwick, for study.

Hartwick will offer legal advice on the motion when the hearing continues at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Smith also objected to Straley's suspension by Willman on grounds that only the Civil Service Commission could suspend him.

News Flash

LANSING — Former speaker George M. Van Pelt (R-Holland) will soon resign his seat in the Legislature, friends reported today. He has carried his plan to the point of obtaining a commitment from the governor's office for the calling of a special election to name a replacement and thus avoid disturbing the delicate Republican-Democratic balance of power in the House.

DETROIT (AP) — A sparrow, dallying over a meal of bread crumbs, found its feet frozen in a puddle.

Cass Kulsea, a bird watcher, noticed its predicament.

Kulsea said he chipped the bird loose with his pocket knife but there was so much ice around its feet it couldn't move.

Kulsea took the bird in his home, held it under a faucet and ran warm water over the ice until it melted. Then he released the sparrow.

County Dems to Push Plan for Constitution Revision

Oakland County Democrats at the State Convention in Grand Rapids tomorrow and Saturday will try to drum up some support for another try at revision of the state constitution as suggested by Mrs. Irene Murphy, University of Michigan regent from Birmingham.

Local Democrats at their county convention in Pontiac last week endorsed such a revision.

However, in hopes of winning support from her party, which at its last convention turned thumbs down on a constitutional convention, Mrs. Murphy suggests selection of convention delegates based on the even party split in the House of Representatives instead of under the old formula.

Upholds County Plans in Ruling Against Suit

But Annexation Vote May Be Necessary on Site, Decision Says

A new courthouse for Oakland County cleared its biggest legal hurdle today as the Michigan Supreme Court ruled in favor of the county.

By a 4-3 vote, the high court said the county could use so-called non-tax or miscellaneous receipts to finance the construction of the long-awaited building.

But the court ruled annexation proceedings to secure a portion of the land for the courthouse were illegal and a vote on it may be necessary.

However, this single setback for the county isn't expected to block the construction of the four-story building.

Norman R. Barnard, county corporation counsel, said, "We have sufficient land to get started."

He said present plans call for erection of the main part of the proposed $4,500,000 building on land already clearly within the city boundaries of Pontiac.

The Supreme Court in its decision today reversed a decision of visiting Harrisville Circuit Judge Herman C. Dehnke who said in 1957 that Oakland County had accumulated a $1.6 million building fund illegally by padding annual budgets and transferring surpluses to accrue this sum.

It was the contention of the Oakland County Taxpayers' League, an independent group, formed expressly to fight the county's building plans, which filed suit in Oakland County in December of 1954.

It was the League's contention — and Judge Dehnke agreed — that the county was bound to a constitutional limitation of raising yearly not more than one-tenth of one mill on money borrowed or taxes for building purposes.

The Supreme Court ruled today, however, that the Oakland Board of Supervisors had the right to use for building purposes miscellaneous funds as distinguished from funds raised by taxation beyond the millage limitation.

"There's no constitutional inhibition preventing the legislature from allowing the board of supervisors to use surpluses accumulated from what the trial court aptly referred to as miscellaneous receipts," the high court said in its opinion.

It also said the Oakland supervisors had the right to designate a new courthouse site to be in the County Service Center on Telegraph road—and that it had the (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2.)

Predicts Upsurge of Spiritual Light

By BRIG. GEN. DAVID SARNOFF
Chairman of the Board, Radio Corporation of America

Whatever man conceives in his heart or mind can become a reality.

Here is an example of what I mean. At the 45th anniversary of our organization I asked our scientists for three gifts for our 50th birthday: a magnetic tape recorder for both black and white and color television, an electronic amplifier of light, an electronic air conditioner without any moving parts.

One startled scientist said: "It's a wonderful thing to have an imagination unrestrained by a knowledge of the facts." But in five years they developed all three.

Their strength gives me courage to stick my neck out again, and predict what they, and others, will achieve in the next 20 years:

Nuclear energy will be used in industry, planes, ships, trains, automobiles. Direct conversion of atomic energy into electricity, a principle already demonstrated, will be a fact.

Solar energy will be effectively harnessed and in worldwide use. In under-developed areas this will prove a miraculous blessing.

In communications, color television will be completely global. Individuals will be able to hold two-way private telephone conversations and see each other as they talk. And the beginnings will be made in instantaneous translation of languages, so people will finally understand each other across the barriers of Babel.

In transportation, jet-propelled and rocket vehicles, powered with nuclear fuels, will travel at 5,000 miles an hour with greater safety and comfort than today's aircraft. Many of the world's leading cities will be within commuting distance of one another.

NO MORE FAMINE
Famine will be eliminated practically everywhere. Through striking developments in solar energy and electronics, through new biological and chemical discoveries, irrigation, and flood control men will enrich the land and "farm" the oceans.

In health, the new tools of electronics and atomics will bring an avalanche of improvements in preventive (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2.)

Local Officials Hail Decision, Plan Action

Oakland County officials today jubilantly heard of the freeing of $1,600,000 in courthouse funds and announced intention to begin its construction immediately.

"It's wonderful news. We couldn't hope for anything better," said Delos Hamlin, chairman of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

"This vindicates our long plans to give the people of Oakland County a new courthouse on a pay-as-you-go basis, without the extra costs involved in borrowing," said Hamlin, one of the planners of the courthouse financing scheme.

"It'll save the taxpayers money and that's what we wanted to do."

Hamlin believed construction on the first portion of the building could begin as early as this spring.

The high court's ruling that the county failed to properly annex county service center property west of West boulevard (Pontiac city limits) did not worry Hamlin.

"The first portion of the building is planned for east of West boulevard, anyway, within the undisputed city limits of Pontiac, the county seat."

David Levinson, Birmingham chairman of the Supervisors' Special Courthouse Committee, said his group would be reactivated immediately.

Irate Mob Seizes Panama City Hall

PANAMA (AP) — Several thousand demonstrators seized City Hall in the Panamanian capital Wednesday night after the beating of a radio commentator who had charged municipal funds were being mismanaged.

The crowd — which swelled to 5,000 — demanded the ouster of the 15 city councilors and set up a rump council to run municipal affairs.

They kept control of the building until President Ernesto de La Guardia Jr. pledged that the regular councilors would be barred from their offices pending an investigation.

The president ordered the National Guard to leave the demonstrators alone.

Medical Insurance Would Hike Tax House Liberals Push Bill to Boost Social Security

WASHINGTON (UPI)—House liberals today kicked off a drive to pass a controversial labor-backed bill that would expand social security benefits to include medical care for old folks.

Bitterly opposed by the American Medical Association as a step toward socialized medicine, the measure is almost sure to stir up one of the hottest fights of the Democratic 86th Congress.

The bill, introduced today by Rep. Almon J. Forand (D-R.I.), is regarded as a "must" by the AFL-CIO and has wide popularity among oldsters, to whom Congress often caters.

Eventually, it would require big increases in social security taxes on employees and employers to finance it.

TAX JUMPS YEARLY

If you are a worker making $4,800 or more a year, you now pay $120 in social security taxes. Under present law, your tax will jump $24 next January and climb gradually to a peak of $216 in 1969.

On top of this, Forand's bill would add $12 a year to pay for the medical benefits program—a smaller tax increase for those making less than $4,800 a year.

Foes charge this would fall far short of meeting ultimate costs. Forand as much as conceded this, claiming only that his bill would match costs "for some time at least."

Forand last year sponsored a similar bill which would have raised more revenue to pay for the medical benefits. It would have applied social security taxes to the first $8,000 in annual earnings, instead of the present $4,800 limit. He drafted this from his new bill.

$12 INCREASE

Any worker earning more than $4,800 would immediately be hit with a tax increase of more than $12 a year. This is because the bill would apply social security taxes to the first $8,000 in annual earnings, instead of the present $4,800.

As a result, workers earning $6,000 or more would be required by 1969 to pay $285 a year in social security taxes. The maximum tax for self-employed covered by the program would then be $437.50 a year.

Some foes charge that even this tax boost would not be enough to cover long-run costs of the new medical benefits. Forand claimed only that his proposed increases would match costs "for some time at least."

There are nearly 2,000 manufacturing establishments in the nation's alcoholic-beverage industry plus 7,500 wholesalers and 300,000 retail liquor dealers.

Canine Sentries Serve With Distinction in War

WASHINGTON — Through the attack the enemy. Medieval dogs, centuries dogs have followed their masters into battle. Ancient Greek warriors equipped dogs with heavy spiked collars and trained them to police himself urged their use as sentries in the Egyptian campaign. North African tribesmen dressed dogs in clothing, giving them a resemblance to burnoose-clad warriors. The dogs ran in front of the lines and drew enemy fire, thus betraying gun positions.

During World War I, Germany put perhaps 30,000 messenger and ambulance dogs into action. France had 15,000 dogs to de-mobilize in 1918. Its canine military casualties exceeded 3,500 killed and 1,500 missing.

After the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor in 1941, the United States Army established the famous K-9 Corps. Almost every breed of dogs, large and small, was accepted. To help out with their training, the director of Britain's War Dog Training School and four dogs came to the United States in what was humorously described as a "leash-lend" program. Eventually, American dogs served in every theater of operations from Greenland's perpetual ice to New Guinea's steaming jungles.

K-9 HEROES

Dog patrols proved invaluable in sniffing out the enemy in the dense tropical vegetation of the Pacific. Some earned citations for valor. One dog is reported to have attacked an enemy pillbox in Sicily and forced the entire crew of four to surrender. Another voluntarily attacked three Japanese infantrymen advancing with fixed bayonets toward a foxhole containing two wounded American soldiers. His action saved their lives.

Dogs also saw service in the Korean War and demonstrated their effectiveness as guards for bases and supply points. Over and over again, the assignment of a dog and handler to an area meant the end of pilferage.

President Chiang Kai-shek of Free China said on the death of U.S. Lt. Gen. Claire L. Chennault that "he came to our aid in the darkest hours."

Basic Accord Reached in Cyprus Negotiations

At a conference in Zurich, Switzerland, a tentative draft of a new constitution for an independent Cyprus has been agreed on by the Prime Ministers of Greece and Turkey.

Under the agreement NATO would be given control of military bases on the British Crown Colony and the island would become an independent republic. The question of garrisons for the bases will be taken up later in the coming talks between the Prime Ministers of Greece, Turkey and Britain.

The Greeks no longer insist on enosis, that is making Cyprus part of Greece. The Turkish minority has withdrawn its demand for partition and for reversion of the island to Turkey should Britain abandon it. Guarantees would be given to Turkey that the island, only 40 miles from its shores, would not be used as a base against the mainland.

Nothing has been said of the British plan for a seven year tridominium shared by Britain and the Greek and Turkish Cypriotes. But the British have kept in close touch with the progress of the talks and appear to be ready to accept any settlement agreeable to the Cypriotes themselves.

It is good to know that bloodshed has ended and that the threat to Western security in the eastern Mediterranean is fading. Now that basic agreement has been reached it is to be hoped nothing will interfere with final settlement.

Fairer Laws Planned for Migratory Workers

Hearings in Washington before the National Advisory Committee on Farm Labor has moved Labor Secretary MITCHELL to make some practical suggestions for the relief of migratory workers.

"It is my contention," said the Secretary, "that the migrant farm worker will never take his place as a fully useful citizen and will never be able to successfully resist exploitation" until Federal legislation guarantees him a decent minimum wage, until he has fairly continuous employment and receives protection of Federal and State law as to housing, safety and health.

Migrant farm workers have been called the most rootless, homeless, schoolless, churchless, defenseless and hopeless people in our country. A recent estimate puts the total at 1.3 million men, women and children. Nearly 500,000 are foreigners, mainly Mexican single men, and the rest are American men, women and children.

These workers are mostly from areas of surplus labor. They have little education and no skills and many belong to families poverty stricken for generations. Pay is low and intermittent and the nature of their work tends to keep them poor.

The Department of Agriculture found that a domestic migrant was employed an average of only 115 days at $6.45 a day and non-farm jobs kept him working an additional 16 days with average earnings of $859 a year. Hourly pay ranged from $1.13 on the Pacific Coast to 55 cents in the Southeast, with living conditions generally miserable. In some Southern areas the pay was as low as 30 cents an hour.

Child labor laws are widely violated. In the year ending June 30, 1957, nearly 5,500 children were found working illegally on farms in 38 states. Half of these children belonged to migrant families. Volunteer organizations have been working for years to improve conditions.

Since 1954 at least 24 states, including Michigan, have enacted laws to help migratory workers. Much of this legislation concerns housing, health, education, recreation and general welfare. Agriculture ranks second to manufacturing in this State as to income produced. Its 75,000 migratory workers are indispensable in the harvesting of apples, blueberries, cherries, grapes, peaches, raspberries, strawberries, celery, lettuce, onions, potatoes, snap beans and tomatoes.

Many feel that the key to the migrant's advancement is better education for his children. That is a difficult problem with parents on the move and some not eager to send their children to school.

Sec. MITCHELL's moderate program will help to bring about uniform standards in work; housing, transportation and education and should be enacted.

The Man About Town May Try It Again

Successful Oil and Gas Wells Are Coming Closer

That other fellow: The guy who causes all the traffic accidents.

Hopes for striking oil or gas under the Pontiac area have not been abandoned. Scouts now are looking for a drilling spot that might present possibilities.

As new gushers are being found further to the south and east than our state's biggest source of the "black gold," hopes are renewed here. Successful wells are coming closer.

The Hillsdale findings are the latest producers in paying quantities. The production from the Scipio wells there makes it seem possible that attempts will be renewed in our area.

The latest attempt was in Springfield Township, about 12 miles northwest of Pontiac, where borings went down over 5,000 feet about four years ago. A little oil was found at the 2,500-foot level, but not enough to warrant stopping there. So the pipe was driven to nearly a mile deep, with no results.

In this same well a strata of salt several hundred feet thick was found at an upper level. A deal was under way to sell this salt for winter spreading on our highways, but never was consummated.

An effort to sink an oil well on the Ellis farm, only a couple of miles from this one, had previously failed. Before that, a well was sunk near Clarkston, but did not produce any oil.

Natural gas, comparatively near the surface, was struck in Royal Oak several years ago. It served for house heating purposes in the neighborhood, but never amounted to a profitable venture.

Geologists tell us that there's plenty of oil and gas under the Pontiac area, but the depth rapidly increases after leaving Central Michigan, and might be two miles under the surface here.

Twice 50 years ago today that the Pontiac Board of Aldermen defeated a motion to purchase an automobile for the chief of police, so he could chase speeders.

A printer's error changed the name of an Oakland County lake and highway. Named in honor of David Rappalee, a pioneer of that area, a few years ago a new county map got it "Rattalee."

Recent warmer weather probably made a king-sized puddle of the icicle found at the home of Clare Voorhees at White Lake. It measured 12 feet 8 inches long.

Quicksand in the Desert

David Lawrence Says:

Ike Firm in Face of Red Threats

WASHINGTON — Dictator Khrushchev isn't scaring anybody here with his blustering statement that any attempt by the Allies to break through to Berlin by land, sea or air would be met by force.

President Eisenhower has countered with the simple declaration that the United States and the Western powers will continue to carry out their "responsibilities" under the 1945 wartime agreement and that "it will be the other side, if there is going to be any force, which will have to use it 'to block out carrying out our responsibilities.'"

These are serious words from the President of the United States. No further authority is needed from Congress, moreover, to resist an attack on the American troops stationed in West Berlin or in the approaches to that city.

For it is written in the North Atlantic Treaty, as ratified by the U.S. Senate, that any attack on a member state or its forces—which includes West Berlin—can be considered an attack on all the Western powers, including the United States. Congress has, therefore, already authorized the use of the armed forces of the United States to repel attack.

The President made it clear that the United States would not initiate any fighting. He said to his press conference:

"He (Khrushchev) must be talking about shooting to stop us from doing our duty. After all, that is what is going to happen if it happens. We are not saying that we are going to shoot out way into Berlin."

"We say we are just going to go and continue carrying out our responsibilities to those people and the ones that we agreed to undertake way back in 1945. So that if we are stopped, it will be somebody else using force."

The President performed a service to world peace by making it clear that the United States will not fail to resist any attack on the Western Allied military forces as they pursue their rights under the 1945 agreement. That agreement was adopted when the men of the armed forces of the United States and her Western Allies were completing the job of saving the Russian people from possible conquest by Hitler's armies.

It seems a brazen piece of ingratitude for the dictator in the Kremlin to demand now that West Berlin be given up to whomever the Moscow government says shall occupy it, thus disregarding the inter-allied agreement altogether.

Certainly, unless consent is given by all the partners in the war, the territory of West Berlin should remain in its present status. Any attempt to alter that status by force becomes an attack by the Soviet Union on the Western Allies. This would mean the beginning of a war, and it seems incredible that Dictator Khrushchev would take such a risk.

It may be that Khrushchev thinks the Western Allies will not stand together and would not risk a war. But that is the kind of miscalculation which the Communist leaders in Moscow should never make. For, if fighting breaks out in the vicinity of West Berlin, it could result in a revolution inside East Germany and in some other satellite countries as well as inside the Soviet Union itself.

The peoples behind the Iron Curtain do not want war. That's why it is so important to make clear before all the world that it is the head of the Soviet regime who today is deliberately planning to initiate war.

Some of the same menacing maneuvers were made by Red China just before opening a bombardment on Quemoy and Matsu a few months ago. But President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles stood firm, and the Communists have not risked an attack on Formosa, which Congress has, by resolution, pledged the United States to defend.

The United States is not going to be bluffed by either Peiping or Moscow. To make sure the Communists understand this, it has been necessary, as Dulles once said, to be ready to go "to the brink of war." This has been cynically referred to as "brinkmanship," but it works.

It is a manifestation of resolute-ness that prevents war. Vacillation, on the other hand, breeds war by encouraging the mistaken belief that one side will not fight if attacked.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Navel Rupture in Infant Usually Corrects Itself

Umbilical (navel) hernia (breach, rupture) is a bulging of the umbilicus (navel, belly button) that is apparent at birth in many instances. The bulge is generally about the size of a quarter, and it protrudes perhaps half an inch.

If left alone, it usually disappears by the time the baby is a few months old.

In any case, it is sufficient to place a slice of 1-inch cork, padded with absorbent cotton and a sprinkle of borated talcum powder directly upon the bulge, and strap it in place with one or two adhesive plaster straps applied crosswise while the baby is held suspended by the feet.

Even if this home care fails to cure hernia, it is seldom advisable to subject the child to operation before the age of 8 years.

If the strapping is impracticable, the bulging may be prevented by a properly fitting belly binder or girdle. This should be fashioned like a whooping cough belt, with 2-inch insertions of elastic webbing at the sides, and eyelets and tape to lace at the back or snap fasteners over a flap.

It's a bit of a nuisance, to be sure, but I repeat, healing is spontaneous in most cases. So don't fret too much about it, don't give the child the impression that he is different from other children, and don't let any eager beaver operator take over, at least not before the child is eight.

QUESTION BOX
"Husband has rheumatoid arthritis. Five doctors offer only a drug to relieve pain, say there is no cure. They can't tell him the cause. Family doctor says smoking and drinking does not matter—(F.M.H.)"

Answer—No one knows the cause. I don't know precisely what distinguishes "rheumatoid arthritis" from other kinds of chronic joint disability. In the booklet "Chronic Joint Disability" (35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope), I give the best advice I can for the prevention and arrest of rheumatism.

When I say rheumatism I mean physical degeneration of joint tissues due to nutritional deficiencies, particularly deficiencies of Ca, D, I and B-complex, through the years from early childhood up to the present. I do NOT mean rheumatism or arthritis. I don't know what rheumatism or arthritis means—I doubt if anybody does. As for tobacco and alcohol, so far as I know neither is more harmful to a person with chronic joint disability than it is to anyone else. Remember, now, children, if you ask questions concerning rheumatism or arthritis, the only answer I'll make is "consult a physician."

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan. (Copyright 1958)

Beaten Girl's Death Brings Shocked Readers' Letters

More drastic laws to punish sadists who beat or otherwise mistreat children could be enacted. They bring children into the world and instead of guiding and protecting them, they neglect and mistreat them.

Judges must be as horrified as any decent person would be, but laws prescribe punishment so lenient it's no deterrent. How about PTA leaders getting busy on legislation to protect children from these parents who know nothing but clubs and rubber hose when dealing with children?

I'm in favor of a public whipping post and letting each person that passes take a few licks with a cat-o-nine tails. After a few such public exhibitions, these cowards would think twice before beating anyone who's unable to protect himself. "Suffer little children to come unto Me" would not be ignored.

Children's Friend

What is wrong with a school such as St. Williams where a child can appear in the class with recurring bruises on her arms, legs and body without the matter being investigated? Surely there were those who knew what was going on in the little Gail girl's home. Can't something be done by the schools, churches or law enforcing agencies to protect helpless children from cruel parents before a child is literally beaten to death?

These things have happened before but why do they continue? Why are the authorities helpless or indifferent to the plight of defenseless children? Perhaps Fred C. Ziem or Donald M. Francis or Father Raymond E. Jones can publicly answer some of these questions.

Our so called civilization closes its eyes to the treatment some of our neighboring children receive and we consider it none of our business to defend them. (Mrs. Leon E.) Dorothy Jackson Birmingham

The shocking murder by the woman who vented her frustrations on her 12-year-old should make sob-sisters revise their ideas on capital punishment. The old alibi of "blackout" will no doubt be used. I'd like to be on the jury.

In most schools mistreatment of children is reported to proper authorities. Why wasn't it in this case? Such mistreatment of any child, much less a cripple, is beyond comprehension. I hope she won't be turned loose to bring more fodder into the world upon which to vent her wrath.

'Let's Hear More About Eastman'

I can't remember ever seeing in local print the qualities or qualifications of Mr. Eastman. How about a few thousand well-chosen words telling of this man's abilities? When a man of this caliber honors our city with his services, it's news.

As for comparing him with our now departing Chief, it's rather like comparing a Model T to a '59 Cadillac. The T was good in its day, but its day has long gone.

Let's give Mr. William a pat on the back, too. Never did he earn his money so well as the day he persuaded Mr. Eastman to take the job of our top police administrator. I'm looking forward to an enlightening article soon on one of our city's leading servants.

Another Pilot Defends Airport

I disagree with Unhappy Pilot. I've kept a small plane at Pontiac since 1950 and have always found management and personnel helpful in every way.

Several times I've needed help and have received it promptly. Several times I've radioed while in flight asking a telephone message be relayed to my home, and it was done promptly and cheerfully.

Once or twice I've had to wait at the gas pumps while a previous arrival was serviced. Never was it due to inattention. I'd call Pontiac Municipal a happy and friendly airport and myself a happy pilot.

Teachers' Letters Bring Response

The two teachers' letters Monday are fine examples of the malarky "educators" expect the public to swallow. If they keep using figures indiscriminately to suit their purposes, they'll continue to get taxpayers' opposition.

One uses a salary figure based on a 12-month year and the other says teachers don't get paid for the summer. Well, they'd better get together, because it doesn't work both ways, much as they'd like us to believe it.

Also, using the national average is dishonest in itself, because Pontiac is considerably above the national average. Pontiac teachers are more stupid than they think we are if they expect us to raise their salaries just because teachers in the backwoods of Alabama are underpaid. Let's just stick to the local facts. We can't raise pay for the whole United States.

Tired of Being Hoodwinked

We certainly agree teachers are more important than buildings. If we had lots of money here in Pontiac it would be all right to set up schools that make good stories in educational journals, but we have more important things to worry about now.

Pontiac has always had a fine education set-up and we'd like to keep it that way. We don't care if publications never do feature stories on Pontiac's innovations, just so long as we meet the needs of our own town. What looks good in print in a national magazine may be completely wrong for Pontiac.

Educators are too concerned about what's being done "elsewhere in the field."

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Answers Questions About Religion

Lola wants logical answers to her questions about churches. This is desirable, too, for religion, like medicine, has carried a lot of unwarranted conclusions in its ritual that are unmodeled and no longer supported by logic. God is logical but some of his clergymen get biased notions, so mix a lot of "horse sense" with your church doctrines.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
Case A-458: Lola B., aged 17, is president of the Young People's Society in her church.

"Dr. Crane, why are there so many different religious denominations?" she began.

"We are to discuss this topic next Sunday night and I am to preside. So could you give us some ideas that we might use?"

"Generally we have teenagers from several neighboring churches. So we'd like to know why Roman Catholic priests are forbidden to marry but Greek Catholic priests can marry."

"And why do some churches deny that members of any other denominations will ever go to heaven?"

"Many of our clergymen quote from your columns a lot, as do our school teachers, so that's why we are asking you to referee our discussion."

RELIGIOUS MONOPOLY
Could the Arabs have claimed a monopoly on the numerals 1, 2, 3, etc., and kept them from other races by priority claim?

Could Galileo have patented gravity and kept it away from other races?

No, that would have been a childish attempt to place the iron curtain around ideas.

Neither music nor mathematics, philosophy or law, medicine or religion can be a monopoly of any race or creed.

All that any church sect can do is imitate the automobile manufacturers and make slight alterations in the "form," for all autos are fairly efficient transportation vehicles.

And churches are just religious machines to help transport us through some 70 years on this earth. They are the means to an end but not the end!

Jewish, Catholic and Protestant doctrines vary in form. But they don't take the primitive idea that there are three separate gods. No, they admit there is just one GOD.

Some churches still view God as a dictatorial monarch and bow before Him as an all-powerful King or Caesar, whereas others try to picture him as a more approachable, loving father.

But these are simply matters of individual opinion, like whether or not the clergy should marry.

St. Peter was a married man. "Oh, but he put his wife away after he became a follower of Jesus," some will exclaim.

But that's not true, for he still came home for his meals, since the Bible says he brought Jesus to dinner one evening. That's when Christ healed Peter's mother-in-law (Matthew 8:14).

Both the Roman Catholic and Greek Catholic priests followed the example of Peter and had wives until Gregory the Great was elected Pope in September, 590 A.D.

Pope Gregory was the first monk to become Pope so he tried to make all priests remain unmarried like himself.

But there was much opposition to this rule for another 500 years. Then Pope Gregory VII (1073 A.D.) added his insistence on celibacy of priests.

Since then the Roman Catholic priests have not married, but the Greek Catholic priests still do, at the parish level, though the Greek bishops are likewise supposed to be celibate.

There are several divisions in the Catholic Church, just as there are also several Jewish sects and many Protestant denominations, for when a dynamic, popular clergyman disagrees with the parent church, he often sets up a new sect.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send us your psychological charts and papers.

Asia—Free World's Stake in the Future

Reds Push Dark Cloud Over Japan's Sun

(How are we doing on our side of Red China's Bamboo Curtain? Fresh from an extensive tour of free Asia, famed author Dr. Lin Yutang has previously told why Formosa is a showpiece for the free world. Now he reports on the alarming Communist penetration of Japan.)

By LIN YUTANG

Written for NEA Service

NEW YORK—I went to Japan on my tour of free Asia as a fellow Oriental, humble to learn the secret of how an Oriental nation can master the new and keep the old.

Japan has done just that. It has kept alive Zen Buddhism and the art of gardening, the love of moss and rocks and driftwood and even the old virtues of loyalty which in many instances China herself has lost.

Completely modern in his office habits and organization, the Japanese man at home has been able to love and hold intact what was regarded as the finer values of life.

Yet I was soon to learn a new post-MacArthur Japan, where the youth of the nation reminded me of the Communist youth in the 1930s in my own country.

That youth has derided the so-called bourgeois virtues of Japanese life as "feudalistic," defied elders, indulged in teenage violence and spurned the great cohesive center of gravity of Japanese national life—devotion to the Emperor.

Thus, while I was busy enjoying the superb beauty of Japanese landscapes and temples, I was also busy gathering information on what in Japan is fashionably called "agres (la) guerre"—the post-war phase.

DISTURBING ELEMENT

The democratic, pro-Western party is in power but even a casual look at the extent of Communist de facto control of the press, labor unions and teachers' and students' unions must disturb an observant traveler.

THE NEW JAPAN, UNDER RED INFILTRATION, is torn by open defiance that results in fights against the police, like this one staged by labor unionists last March.

This infiltration is openly defiant. It results in fights with police, street riots against the H-bombs and beating of professors.

Today the press and unions are captive to a pro-Communist leadership. The Socialist Party, the next largest political party, also is captive to its leftist elements and is completely oriented to Moscow.

This is not merely a case of all youth being radical, as in many countries, but rather of radicalism being organized by "professional" agitators and organizers to suit the political policy of a foreign nation.

Nor is it a case of freedom in the press, but of infiltration through Communist cells so that pro-Moscow and pro-Peking news is played up and pro-American news played down. This in spite of the fact that the big press is owned by capitalists!

The big press tries to maintain a high standard. Criticisms of Russia during the Hungarian revolution and of the Pasternak case were published, but the news often slanted by the editors who write the stories or headlines.

My first encounter with a Japanese reporter was shocking. Provocative questions were shot at me.

"You spoke of Khrushchev starting the Quemoy War. But don't you think that the Americans are an aggressive, war-mongering nation in occupying the Formosa Strait? Why does the Chiang Kai-shek clique allow the Americans to form and dictate their policy? Etc."

When I was invited to speak before the Foreign Press Club luncheon, I was warned by Chinese journalists that if I attacked the U.S. and praised Moscow, my speech would receive big headlines, but if I denounced Moscow, the story would not appear.

All three big papers, the Mainichi, the Asahi and the Yomiuri have English editions.

NOT A WORD

In the English editions, what I said against Russia was reported, but not a word appeared in the Japanese versions, although they published everything I said about Japanese art and culture.

I cannot help thinking that as the Japanese are the greatest newspaper-reading nation in the world, the thinking of the 90 million Japanese newspaper readers must be shaped by what they read.

Perhaps the Police Law revision bill can best bring into focus what is going on in Japan. It began with a small question of whether to teach a course in ethics in schools and the introduction of an efficiency-rating system for teachers, which in any other country could not possibly have resulted in a general strike. But in Japan it did.

The Teachers' Union, led by 1,500 Communist activists and party members, not only struck themselves, but called a nationwide strike and street demonstrations in which pitched battles were fought before school gates.

The public revulsion against such violent tactics led to the proposal for a reform of the Police Law.

Gen. MacArthur had written for Japan a constitution designed to curtail the powers of the police and prevent the abuses of the old militarist clique.

Under this law, the police have no power to stop public disorderliness of conduct, prevent demonstrations, make arrests for drunkenness or confiscate arms from juveniles.

Unfortunately this provides a perfect heaven for Communist agitators whose philosophy is the very opposite of such democratic freedoms.

Another instance. Chiang Kai-shek's recent book, "Soviet Russia in China," was published in English and Chinese.

UNION GIVES ORDERS

The printers' union gave orders that it should not be published and it never saw the light in Japan.

The methods and techniques of Communist propaganda and infiltration are familiar.

They include front organizations, secret cells, the control and capture of leadership by a minority over an unorganized majority, the planting of "professionals" among students, liberal loans to any individual who needs dollars, and ideologically, the championing of "democracy," the cry against fascism and police control, and even the use of the term "The People's Republic of Japan."

Only one important appeal is missing—the desire of a backward country to become a strong, industrialized state.

Japan has already passed through the industrial revolution. She has the consciousness of a strong first-rate power.

I had the privilege of talking with quite a few outstanding scientists, at least one well known novelist, and several important professors and leaders in the cultural field.

To my surprise, they seemed to agree on the beneficial effects of MacArthur's reforms.

On the whole, they say, Mac-

Planet Satellite Target

AF Has Eyes on Venus

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The planet Venus will be the target for two Air Force satellites this June.

Informal sources said Wednesday the probes will be attempted with two-stage Atlas and Thor missiles.

The shooting dates will come midway through June when the earth and Venus are in the best position for the launchings.

Atlas-Able, which later will be the carrier for reconnaissance satellites weighing several tons, will be a two-stage vehicle using the powerful Atlas ICBM as the booster.

Thor-Able, using the Air Force's intermediate range ballistic missile as the first stage, already has been launched seven times with varying degrees of success.

One of the shots probably will be an attempt to circle Venus with a satellite while the other probe may be fired past the planet into outer space, it was learned.

The United States has made four attempts at soaring toward the moon with Pioneer probes so far with no complete success.

Hal Boyle Says:

Richer, Dumber Life Is Second Time Choice

NEW YORK (AP)—A popular parlor game today is, "If you had it all to do again, what would you do different?"

A hostess who poses this question at a party of middle-aged guests never has to worry about conversation the rest of the evening. Her only problem is to keep her rug from being flooded with the tears of what-might-have-been.

We were asked at a recent party how we would like to repent, because our first impulse was to throw up.

Since then, however, we have been brooding over the question, and have decided a second ride on the merry-go-round might be worthwhile—if we could arrange certain changes.

We would choose to be born dumber and richer. We are somewhat weary of having an IQ higher than our bank account. Common sense is the curse of the poor and sensible. Next time we'd like to be wealthy and insensible.

We would start wearing bigger shoes and looser collars earlier in life. Most of our mistakes in judgment came from a cramped mind—the result of wearing shoes half a size too short and a shirt collar half a size too tight.

We would go into business for ourselves instead of working for others. A series of sharp quick bankruptcies is better than life-long serfdom.

We would marry at 17. A man who waits until 27 to marry does not have enough time left to repent.

We would have more children—odds of them. It is more comfortable to be old than young, and nothing ages you faster than children.

We would learn to ride a horse. In our set—the subway set—a man who can ride a horse stands out like a pimple on the face of the Mona Lisa.

We would learn Judo. In this life we have tried to defend ourselves from bullies by biting them, and this hasn't been enough. We have only had to go to the dentist to get new teeth.

We would take up plumbing as a hobby. A guy who can fix plumbing gets invited to the finest houses.

About three-quarters of the lard exported from the U.S. last year went to Cuba, England and Yugoslavia.

We would fall in love only with red-haired women. In this life we have fallen in love only with blondes and brunettes, and feel vaguely cheated. We've never heard of a man who ran away from a red-haired woman. We're going to see more of the world. Travel is slendering. It's the guy who sits at home in front of his television set year after year who gets broader.

We're going to spend our money as fast as we make it. We have found in this life that the more money we had in the bank the more scared we were that some Communist—or tax collector—would come along and take it away from us, and we are tired of being a coward.

Oh, we're going to dance all day, and sing all night by the light of the moon. We're going to taste every food, try every wine, climb every balcony possible until our arteries harden.

Then we're going to lie down and die, cheerful and happy, and leave our brain to Harvard. There may not be much of it left, but whatever there is Harvard can have it!

This Was Too Much

CRAWFORDVILLE, Ind. (AP)—Allen Prescott decided it was safer to be a spectator after he suffered a broken right leg last year in a baseball game. So the 16-year-old youth was understandably discouraged when he went to watch a football game and the same leg was broken by a player careening out of bounds.

Judith Ravell Becomes Mrs. Wall in Waterford

MRS. LARRY L. WALL.

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — An altar banked in white gladiolas was the setting Saturday for the candlelight wedding of Judith Arlene Ravell and Larry L. Wall at Christ Lutheran Church here.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Arvid Anderson, pastor of the church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Ravell of 194 Crescent Rd. The bridegroom's parents are Mrs. Claude Pemberton of 738 Sherman Place, Pontiac, and William Wall, also of Pontiac.

For her wedding the bride chose an off-the-shoulder, ballerina-length gown of white nylon over lace with a white chiffon top and fitted bodice.

She wore a crown of seed pearls with a shoulder-length veil and carried a bouquet of white carnations and red roses.

The bride was attended by her aunt, Mrs. James Taylor of Drayton Plains, as matron of honor.

Best man was the bride's uncle, James Taylor. Two other uncles served as ushers. They were Charles and James Ferrel, the former of Detroit and the latter of Pontiac.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors.

The newlyweds are honeymooning in Ohio and will reside at Parkside Apartments, Pontiac, up on their return.

Sandburg Thinks Lincoln Would Favor New Party

PROVO, Utah (AP)—Poet Carl Sandburg says he thinks if Abraham Lincoln were alive today, he wouldn't be a member of either major political party.

"In fact, he would likely favor a new party. There is so little difference between the present two," Sandburg said. The famed biographer of Lincoln was here for a series of lectures.

BETTE LANE ANGELL.

The engagement of Bette Lane Angell to James H. Middleton has been announced by Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hallenbeck of 4680 Forest St., Watkins Lake. The engagement of Janice Buttrey to James E. Seifert is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Buttrey of 2810 Iron-ton Rd., Waterford Township. Lee Gravin won nomination for trustee in the only other contest. He garnered 129 votes to incumbent Ransford Bromley's 81. Both are Republicans.

Frank Webber (R) will be a candidate for re-election as supervisor having received 157 votes in the primary.

Clerk Robert McCallum (R) also will run again in the spring election. He polled 160 votes at this time.

Justice of the Peace Raymond R. Snyder (R) tallied 153 votes, and Alex Yule (R), candidate for the Board of Review, 152.

The four candidates running for the four constable posts were Francis Westphal, with 156 votes; Theodore Jarrett, 144; Milward E. Strong, 135; and Lawson Sheik, 112. All are Republicans.

Only Dems in Royal Oak Township

Primary Vote Confused

ROYAL OAK TOWNSHIP—There were no Republicans on the primary election ballot here — only Democrats and Progressive Democrats.

But, according to the Oakland County Clerk's Office they're all Democrats and only the name of the top candidate for each office will appear on the April 6 spring election ballot.

The Pontiac Press was misinformed in covering the primary elections and, as the result, ran all of the Democrat candidates as Republicans and the "Progressive Democrats" as plain Democrats in Tuesday's news story.

Incumbent Treasurer George L.

Glen with 638 votes easily dumped all opposition.

Willie Selmon, who calls himself "a real Democrat," came closest to unseating the treasurer with 323 votes. Next was Edwin Smith with 131 votes and Helen Jackson with 79.

Nominated for the four constable posts were James D. McCree, 501 votes; Square McNeal, 336; Willie Brown, 330; and Henry R. Maxey, 295.

Elmwood Dickens was nominated for supervisor with 793 votes.

The incumbent clerk, Artie H. Gray got the nod to seek re-election with 673 votes, as did incumbent trustee, Samuel Woodward with 515. Seeking the other trustee post will be Aubrey Dunn, 435 votes.

Others nominated were, for two justice of the peace posts, incumbent Mark Howard, 413 votes, and Lonnie C. Cash, 473; Mattie L. Baker for board of review, 356; and Frank Miles for highway commissioner, 380.

'Faith, Flowers' Theme of Show

Michigan Home Group
Sets Garden Affair
Opening Saturday

"Faith and Flowers" will be the theme of the 1959 Michigan Flower and Home Show which opens Saturday at the West Eight Mile Artillery Armory in Detroit, Werner M. Hoy of Davisburg, manager, announced today.

Highlights of the show now in its 30th year, will be a series of gardens and displays symbolic of the faith of each of the denominations of the Detroit Council of Churches. The Catholic Church also will be represented.

The Michigan Professional Golf Assn. greens superintendents of the leading private and public golf courses also will combine their displays into a 10,000-square-foot area of a full-size putting green where many of the "pros" will demonstrate putting.

The greens superintendents will also have a "grass clinic" to answer visitors' lawn problems.

Twenty-three gardens will be displayed by members of the landscape and nursery industry to give new ideas for landscaping and improving the grounds. Hoy added, "The Michigan Horticultural Society is the sponsor of the entire show."

"Your Life in Flowers" by the Allied Florists Assn. and "Creeds of Time" by the Michigan Garden Club women will also be featured at the show.

The show hours will be Monday through Friday, noon to 11 p.m.; Saturday and Sunday, 10 a.m. to 11 p.m.; Feb. 28, 10 a.m. to 11 p.m. and the final day, March 1, 10 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Methodists Hold Dinner-Worship Meet Tonight

Dr. John Marvin, editor of the Michigan Christian Advocate, will be guest speaker.

A potluck dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m., with the worship meeting scheduled to start at 7:30 p.m. The Chancel Choir will sing.

A special children's program will be held in conjunction with the worship meeting for adults. The youngsters will attend a class on Mexico missions which will include showing of the film, "Report From Mexico."

Mrs. Anthony Zielony of 3148 Royal Ave. is chairman of the event.

Avondale Education Board Hires New School Superintendent

LEROY R. WATT

Christian College President Speaks at Romeo School

ROMEO—Otis Gatewood, president of North Central Christian College in the area, will speak at tonight's meeting of the Elementary Schools Club of Romeo at the South Grade School here.

Gatewood will describe the social, cultural and religious background of people who live near or behind the Iron Curtain.

He will speak from personal knowledge, having visited the Soviet Union in 1954 and 1955 in missionary travels which took him the equivalent of six times around the world.

The session will open at 7:30 p.m. with a social hour during which the fourth grade room mothers will serve refreshments.

The business meeting will begin at 8 p.m., and work done by third graders will be on display.

Oakland Farm Women to Hold Potluck Dinner

The Oakland County Farm Bureau women will entertain their husbands and members of the group's board of directors at a potluck dinner Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Whittaker of Metamora will show colored slides taken on a tour of Ireland, Sweden, Denmark, Germany and Spain following the dinner which begins at 7:30 p.m. in the Clarkston Community Building, according to Mrs. Vernon Hutchings of Ortonville, chairman.

five July 1. He is Leroy R. Watt, 32, now acting superintendent for the newly consolidated Akron-Fairgrove School system in the Thumb area.

The unanimous board action in hiring Watt, climaxed two months of hassling over the dismissal of present superintendent Raymond N. Baker.

A number of Avondale citizens had protested the non-renewal of Baker's contract for the 1958-60 school year, mainly on the basis of motivation, they said. Last night Earl Wilson, of 1781 Squirrel Rd., said he still questioned the board's motives in making a change at this time.

But, in spite of certain misgivings, he promised to "wholeheartedly support the new administration."

Wilson added that "until the board merits the confidence of several of us to administer policies of the school system, it will be under surveillance."

Board President Gordon S. Hamilton took exception to Wilson's remarks about personal motivations. He added, however, the board would welcome attendance of citizens at all meetings except those where teachers' and administrators' contracts are under consideration.

Hamilton said that the reason for Baker's dismissal will be revealed only when Baker wishes it.

At the board's executive meeting Monday night, which was called to give the superintendent and his council a hearing, the board voted 3 to 0 to add the reasons and revised reasons to the minutes of the Dec. 15 meeting if Baker so desired. This is the night the ouster action was taken.

Two hearings were set for Baker. The first on Feb. 8, was called off when the board failed to furnish a second list of particulars or reasons for dismissal as requested by Baker. The board then gave him its reasons in a letter and set another hearing for last Monday night with Baker in Atlantic City attending a school administrator's convention. Baker also was not present last night.

Reasons for the superintendent's dismissal have not yet come to light as Baker is keeping them a well-guarded secret.

A number of some 40 citizens at last night's meeting favored the formation of a Citizens' Committee which would work to "help and improve the school system."

Board members agreed such a group could prove advantageous to the district, but reminded the proponents that final action on recommendations would still rest with the board.

The new superintendent was hired for three years at a salary of $10,500 for 1958-60, $11,000 for 1960-61, and $11,500 for 1961-62. His contract becomes effective July 1.

Watt received his bachelor of arts degree from Central Michigan College in 1949 and his master of education degree from Wayne State University in 1955.

In 1954, Watt was awarded a scholarship to Harvard University to study for his doctorate in education. He is married and has three daughters ranging from two to 10 years of age.

Cracks Up Plane, Area Student Unhurt

HOLLY—A Michigan State University Air Force ROTC student from Holly was in a plane crash yesterday and walked away without a scratch.

Dan N. Perkuchin, 21, of 1476 Belford Rd., was attempting to land a single-engine craft at Purdue University Airport in Lafayette, Ind., when a gusty wind flipped it over. He was on a solo training flight.

A university spokesman said the plane was damaged but could be repaired.

Record Medical $$ Paid

Refuse to Throw Out Scott Suit

$150,000 Case Against Barbers International to Be Heard in Court

Four Oakland County Circuit Court judges have refused to toss out Robert P. Scott's $150,000 damage suit against the International Barbers Union, claiming the local court does have jurisdiction in the matter.

Scott, 52, of 4390 Monroe St., Waterford Township, filed suit last summer against the International and its Detroit Local 552 charging he was dismissed from the union wrongfully and for no reason.

Union spokesmen said he was expelled for holding membership with them and the rival State Barbers Assn., an employers group.

When the suit was taken into court last November, Boez Siegel, attorney for the local, moved that the suit be dismissed. He contended that the court had no jurisdiction and that Scott's suit failed to state a cause of action.

Further, he argued that the person upon whom a copy of the suit was served, Elmer Albrecht, local secretary-treasurer, was not an agent of the International and, therefore, no proper notice of the suit had been served on the parent organization.

"It is apparent that such an officer (Albrecht) performs many of the services ordinarily associated with an agency relationship," stated the opinion of the four Oakland judges.

Therefore, they stated, Albrecht "is an agent of the international union and the motion to dismiss is denied."

Denial of the motion means that the case will be heard in the Oakland court. The date hasn't been set, however.

Gunman Gets $3,000 in Ferndale Holdup

A husky gunman held up a woman clerk at the S. S. Kresge store in Ferndale today, escaping with $3,000 in cash and checks.

The man forced the clerk to turn over receipts in the second floor office of the store on west Nine-Mile road. He was described as between 40 and 45, 5-foot, 7 inches tall and weighing about 200 pounds, with gray hair and wearing a beige baseball cap and a gray jacket.

Police have set up roadblocks in the south Oakland County area.

City Chooses Noise

NANAIMO, B. C. (UP)—The city council has decided to modify its anti-noise bylaw, for fear it would frighten away potential industry.

Sheds No Tears for Eddie

Actress Debbie Reynolds Granted Divorce Today

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Actress Debbie Reynolds, without shedding a tear, today divorced singer Eddie Fisher on testimony that "my husband became interested in another woman."

Actress Elizabeth Taylor, linked romantically with Fisher, was not mentioned by name.

Debbie was on the stand in Superior Court for only a few moments.

She said she filed for divorce because her husband asked her to. She replied calmly and affirmatively to her lawyer's question: "Did this (the divorce request) cause you grievous mental suffering?"

Her corroborating witness was dancer Camille Williams, an old Burbank High School chum and later Debbie's secretary. In answer to attorney Frank Belcher's question, "Did Mr. Fisher cause Miss Reynolds much mental suffering?" she answered: "Yes."

'DIVORCE GRANTED'
Superior Court Judge Alton Pfaff then said tersely: "Divorce is granted."

Thus ended one of the most publicized marriages of modern times, a match once deemed ideal.

The pretty, wide-eyed young actress and the handsome, wavy-haired crooner were married Sept. 26, 1935, in a lavish ceremony in New York's Catskills after a long courtship.

Last Polio Clinic of This Week Slated Today

Today will be the last time county residents will be able to participate in polio clinics this week sponsored by the Pontiac Council of Parent-Teacher Associations. Yesterday, at the third clinic, 1,258 persons received Salk vaccine shots at Bethune Elementary School. This brought the three-day total to 5,260.

More than 2,000 have registered for today's clinic, the final one, at Owen Elementary School from 1-5 p.m. and 6-8 p.m., according to Josephine Seeley, co-director of the project. Several hundred walk-ins are also expected.

The clinics are open to any county resident over one year of age and $1 is charged for each shot whether it be a first, second, third or a booster shot.

He Had No Patrol Boat

NORFOLK, Va. (UP)—The new patrol boat the state furnished Game Warden Davis A. Robertson drew admiring eyes when it was moored here. One admirer stole it before Robertson could begin work with it.

They had two children. They enjoyed great success in their careers. Then came rumors of a rift. The marriage blew wide open last year and Eddie and Miss Taylor, widow of showman Mike Todd, began openly keeping company in New York.

The Fishers agreed on a property settlement that, insiders say, will cost Eddie $40,000 a year in alimony and child support plus a $135,000-house and other community property.

Debbie gets custody of Carrie Frances, 2, and Todd Emanuel, 1. Fisher gets reasonable visitation rights.

Fisher and Miss Taylor have been constant companions of late. But both have denied rumors that they will seek a quickie Mexican wedding.

Miss Reynolds' decree is not final for a year. To wed in Mexico, Fisher would first have to get a divorce of his own there. He and Miss Taylor could not live as man and wife in California.

Says Township Loses $2,400

Doebler Reveals State Rules School Building Permit Not Collectible

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP—The township board has learned that it will not be allowed to charge a fee for any school building permits due to a ruling by the Michigan Attorney General's Office.

This means an anticipated $2,400 loss. Clerk Harold Doebler announced today, in construction of the $2,500,000 high school about to get under way.

As a result of the ruling, there will be no township inspections made during construction of the high school, Doebler said.

In a letter to the township board, the attorney general stated that all school building now comes under the jurisdiction of the state, and inspectors from various state building departments will be in charge of periodic check-ups.

In other business of the board, building inspector James Gardner has been authorized to gather information regarding the adoption of a new heating ordinance for Independence Township.

A representative from the Detroit National Reciprocal Council will be asked to explain their code methods and operational proceedings. At the present time, there is no heating code of any type enforced in the township.

No Pusyfooting on Education

Bagwell Asks Bold Action by GOP April Candidates

LANSING (U)—Paul D. Bagwell last night counseled Republican candidates for education offices not to pusyfoot in the April 6 election campaign.

"Our parents, grandparents and great grandparents sacrificed to build a great education system—our universities and colleges," he said.

"Let us not sacrifice the younger generation today so we can have two cars in our garage and four television sets in our home."

"We must have one main principle—equal opportunity for all our children and equal opportunity between generations."

At a dinner meeting with nominees chosen at the Republican State Convention, the 1958 governor nominee and titular party head said expenditures on education should be regarded not as an expense but as an investment in the nation's future.

"The future need for trained manpower is tremendous," he said. Citing population growth statistics, he added:

"By 1957 we will need almost half again as many doctors and engineers just to keep up our standard of living."

"More and more children are coming out of the high schools each year. What are we going to do—say we can't give them a higher education?"

He mentioned farm research as one kind of education activity that pays huge dividends to farmers through conquest of plant and animal diseases.

"This is a kind of thing Republicans can fight for in a positive way," he said.

On the sales tax increase issue, Bagwell said his faith was in the people's judgement.

"If the people prefer to raise 100 million dollars in this way, then the people must be right," he said.

"I have always accepted the people's judgement. Even as a defeated candidate, I accepted the judgement of the people," he said with a chuckle.

Earlier in the day, the GOP nominees were told by Lawrence B. Lindemer, Republican state chairman, that $30,000 was budgeted for the spring campaign.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Democratic Congress already has balked President Eisenhower's efforts to balance a "house of cards" budget, Sen. Norris Cotton (R-NH) said today.

But he said the budget would be unbalanced anyhow because the 77-billion-dollar estimate of revenues in the budget depends partly on tax increases Cotton said Congress is not likely to pass.

Cotton pledged to fight as a member of the Senate Finance Committee against any increase in the debt limit. He said this would force the government to live within its income no matter what spending Congress authorized.

Collision Kills Man

JACKSON (U)—Bernard Poole, 32, of Jackson was killed and his wife, Hazel, 45, was injured seriously Wednesday when their car and a truck collided on M60 five miles west of Jackson. Marvin Gorbey, 30, of New London, Ohio, driver of the truck, suffered a back injury.

Leipprandt Given Vote of 188 in Primary

ORION TOWNSHIP — Waldo C. Leipprandt received 188 votes for the Democratic supervisor nomination in Monday's primary, not 189 as previously reported in error. Leipprandt will vie with the incumbent, Ferris B. Clark (R) in the spring election April 6.

American motor vehicle producers spend between five and six million dollars a year on engineering research to increase automotive safety.

Veterans Slate Speaker

WASHINGTON (U)—Dr. Charles L. Anspach, president of Central Michigan College at Mt. Pleasant, Mich., was scheduled to be the principal speaker Wednesday night at the Veterans of World War I congressional banquet here.

United Press International employs some 5,000 staff and special to picture the news.

American Food Flown to Mexico

Eisenhower Will Avoid the Tortillas and Frijoles

By MERRIMAN SMITH

ACAPULCO, Mexico (UPI) — Backstairs at the White House: President Eisenhower's diet while he is in Mexico will remain much like it would be if he were back in Washington or Gettysburg.

On the suggestion of his doctor, Maj. Gen. Howard Snyder, a large supply of frozen American food was shipped down by air from the White House.

The U.S. Navy wanted the President to spend last night at the naval base in Corpus Christi, Tex., but the Air Force won the honor.

His base for a few hours sleep en route to Mexico was the big strategic air command center at Bergstrom Air Force Base outside Austin.

The Army sought unsuccessfully to have the President revisit his old post at Fort Sam Houston in San Antonio.

The hotel Pierre Marques where Eisenhower is staying tonight is in a big tizzy over its distinguished clientele.

Manager Charles F. Rogers greatly had to alter a lot of well-paying guests with long advance reservations to other hotels to make room for the Eisenhower party.

Eisenhower took over one of the four big wings of the hotel, as far removed as possible from the beach, the swimming pool and the center of the hotel. This was for security, as well as seclusion.

The daily rate on a single room starts at about $15 and goes up to above $30—with no meals, and more for sitting-bedroom suites.

The wing occupied by Eisenhower looks out over artificial lagoons bordered by brilliant tropical flowers, with air conditioned bedrooms and private terraces on the north side of the building overlooking Revolucionero Beach and the sea.

Eisenhower's schedule is so crowded that he'll have little time for enjoying the scenery except for this afternoon when he cruises on Acapulco Bay aboard the yacht of his host, President Adolfo Lopez Mateos.

Eisenhower and Lopez Mateos are having dinner tonight at "La Perla," a night club operated as part of the hotel El Mirador. The hotel proudly hails La Perla as "the world's most spectacular night club."

This may be true in a sense. Certainly no night club in New York, Chicago or Los Angeles includes in the floor show a group of young men diving into the ocean from cliffs more than 100 feet high.

La Perla, after tonight, also can advertise itself as "the only night club in the world visited by President Eisenhower while he was in office."

In fact, it would be almost impossible to imagine Eisenhower escorting a visiting president to the Casino Royal in Washington.

Veteran Lawmaker From New York Dies

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Daniel Alden Reed (R-N.Y.) died today at Walter Reed Hospital where he had been receiving treatment for 14 weeks for an infected foot. He was 83.

The veteran congressman, born at Sheridan N.Y., was elected to Congress Nov. 5, 1918 and has served continuously from New York's 43rd congressional district since that time.

Reed was chairman of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee in the 83rd Congress when the Republicans were in the majority. He was ranking Republican on the group at the time of death.

He was a delegate to the inter-parliamentary union meeting in Rome in 1948, and has represented the United States at subsequent meetings of the organization in Sweden, Switzerland and France.

London's Smog Takes a Brief Vacation Today

LONDON (AP)—Britain's thickest, longest and foulest-smelling fog of the season began lifting slightly today after four days, but the Air Ministry said it would be back to night bad as ever.

Thousands of drivers throughout London and southern England used the brief relief to pick up automobiles abandoned earlier when driving was impossible.

Only one night bus operated in the vast London area of nearly nine million people—and it got lost. It turned up later, its bright red paint covered with soot and dirt.

Air pollution experts from St. Bartholomew's Hospital said the fog was accompanied by high pollution, that the smog content was as much as 10 times greater than normal for this time of year.

Only About Half Vote in 1st Nepal Election

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP)—Only about half of Katmandu's voters cast ballots Wednesday as the first election in the history of the kingdom of Nepal began.

A smaller turnout is expected in the rest of the mountainous country, where transportation is largely along mule tracks and mountain trails.

There will be 17 more voting days in various districts before April 4, when election of the House of Representatives will be completed. King Mahendra proclaimed a constitution last week changing Nepal from an absolute to a constitutional monarchy.

The constitution provided universal adult suffrage — men over 21 and women over 18 — and about half of the country's 8½ million people qualify. But Nepal's literacy rate is less than 6 per cent, and the voters had to choose from a bewildering variety of candidates.

It Wasn't Hard for Him to Fall Asleep Quickly

WALLACE, N.C. (AP) — Don Tucker, a husky disc jockey who talked, played and yawned his way to a new sleep record, was well into his first slumber in 10 days today.

Tucker, his voice hoarse and eyes nearly closed, ended a 227-hour broadcast from a furniture store show window at 8 o'clock Wednesday night. The old mark, 225 hours, was claimed last month by a Jacksonville, Fla., disc jockey, Dave Hunter.

"I feel fine," Tucker, 21, whispered as he entered Duplin County Memorial Hospital. The 6-foot-5, 240-pounder received a brief examination and moments later was asleep.

Tucker, an announcer for station WLSE, drank gallons of orange juice to keep up his strength. He gained five pounds. Doctors examined him periodically during the broadcast stint that began at 9 a.m. Feb. 9.

"The first 200 hours was fun," Tucker said just before leaving his microphone. "But after that, whew!"

Dog's Barking Saves Girl, 3, From Truck

FULTON, Ky. (AP)—Butch ran into the street and came back a hero.

Janie Fuller, 3, ran into the street and Butch, a neighbor's dog, followed at her heels and stood there barking until an approaching truck driver saw him and stopped.

The girl's mother also heard Butch and brought Janie back to safety.

Slate Public Report on Waterford Center

Waterford Township residents interested in knowing more about the proposed Cultural Center to be voted on in the April 6 election will have the opportunity to participate in a program scheduled for 8 p.m. Monday at the Pierce Junior High School.

Members of the Waterford Library Committee will publicly report results of a general survey made during the last two years, according to the Rev. Walter Teeuwissen Jr., chairman.

After retired industrialist Frank Steere of 4230 South Shore Rd. donated 17 scenic acres to the township in 1957, a group of 11 residents was appointed by supervisor Elmer Johnson and was authorized to obtain construction, operation and maintenance costs, along with other necessary statistics.

In donating the land, located on Highland and Pontiac Lake roads, Steere stipulated that the first section of the library building and equipment must cost not less than $200,000.

In a summarized report, the committee estimated that besides the building, it would cost $50,000 for driveways, parking area and improvements to the grounds.

Also some $20,000 for books and $25,000 for the first year operation and maintenance, in 1962, would have to be raised.

Two propositions will be placed on the April 6 election ballot for the project. One will be for an additional one mill tax increase spread over a 10-year period and the other a one-half mill increase for operation and maintenance.

A move to form a new separate unit to be known as "Friends of the Library" will also be considered at the Monday meeting, the Rev. Teeuwissen said.

He added that the present Library Committee will not be discontinued until there is no further need of its efforts in promoting the idea of building a new library and cultural center in Waterford Township.

Aromatic oils used in making perfumes are said to have germ-killing properties.

In Texas it is illegal to "float or blast" oysters. This means adding ice to make them weigh more than their true weight.

Allies Not Agreed on Routes to West Berlin in Emergency

BONN, Germany (AP)—Western allies said today they have agreed on a plan to supply West Berlin by air and sea, but the Soviet Union has the means to operate a direct line to Berlin despite any Communist jamming of radar equipment.

Some western planners, particularly in Britain, would prefer to supply the troops by air and sea, but the risk of a direct clash between the two sides is too great. Others, chiefly in the U.S. and 10,000-man allied garrison in West Berlin, lean more to the idea of trying to get through on the ground.

Airlift backers argue that the Communists could not stop supply planes except by direct aggression, but could mess up round routes by blowing up bridges or barricading road and rail lines.

Some ground route supporters have suggested an airlift could not be operated as it was during the 1948-49 blockade because the Communists could mess up radar transmissions.

Thus, according to this argument, planes could make it to Berlin only in good clear daylight when instruments are not necessary.

Air Force officials said, however, radar jamming probably could not interrupt an airlift even at night or in fog.

Berlin is only 180 miles by air from the nearest West German airfield and 300 miles from the farthest. Jet transports could make the trip in a half hour or so.

These officials said that even the most alert radar jammers wouldn't be able to get their equipment working satisfactorily in that short a time, particularly if the ground-to-air communication kept switching beams.

What's more, they said, the supply problems would be far less acute now than in 1948-49, because it seemed unlikely the Communists would blockade the 2,200,000 civilians of West Berlin as they did before. They are posing as champions of the city's people in striving to end the postwar occupation.

Man Is Seized From Airliner

Arrested After Hoax on Bomb Leads to Finding of $500,000 in Heroin

ATLANTA (AP)—A short chubby man was arrested aboard an airliner arriving here early today after a telephoned bomb threat uncovered heroin valued at about $500,000 on the illicit drug market in luggage at a New York airport.

The man carried a New York driver's license issued to Richard Alston Jr., 44, of Jamaica, Long Island. He was held for investigation, Police Supt. J. L. Tuggle said.

Federal narcotics agents and Atlanta detectives took Alston, a Negro, off the Capital Airlines Viscount when it arrived in Atlanta at 2:53 a.m. with 13 other passengers aboard.

Police were alerted after the narcotics were found in an unclaimed brown overnight bag taken off the plane at New York's La Guardia Airport as a result of the bomb hoax. Fifty-one packets of heroin were found in the bag.

The New York-Atlanta-New Orleans bound plane was one of four searched in New York.

Alston said he worked for a trucking firm and in addition to the Jamaica address maintained an apartment in Manhattan. His pockets contained several good luck charms, $117 in cash and change and a switchblade knife.

An average adult human heart weighs from eight to 12 ounces.

San Juan Land Values Soar in Buying Boom

By PHYLIS BATTELLE

SAN JUAN, P. R.—The move of the city family to Suburbia, U.S.A., is old hat by now. The current real estate rage is toward buying a "little winter place" in the tropics, where daddy can forget the office with a planter's punch on the patio (the palms, at least, are not potted), and the kiddies can get rid of their repressions smashing coconuts.

Everywhere in Puerto Rico, there are wistful faces discussing deals with land agents.

Many of the faces are famous. As Barry Yellen, youthful producer of San Juan's drama festival series, put it: "The big stars will perform here for far less (salary) than they'd receive in New York. They do their show, and we bid them goodbye. Then a week later, we see these same stars walking the streets—all looking at real estate. They fall in love with the island."

Most of the thousands seeking land values go home, regretfully, with their savings intact. San Juan is such a boom town that already one hears of plots selling at upwards of $10,000 a quarter-acre. There appears to be one real estate value left, however, though not for long. This is in "Old San Juan," the picturesquely ramshackle city which since 1521, when it was a stronghold of the Spanish Main, has been the fortress of the city itself.

Situated on a tiny islet, scarcely

Please Help Florence

NEW YORK (UPI)—Edith A. Ayres, a former Army nurse, spoke out recently against "specialization" in nursing. It has gone so far, she said, that Florence Nightingale would have to hire somebody else to carry her lamp if she were alive today.

A 10-minute drive from the fancy hotel and home "Condado Section," it is loaded with antiquity and penniless Puerto Ricans.

Only a matter of weeks ago the government, spurred by "The Institute of Puerto Rican Culture," decided to restore the old city into a unique historic site. Each of its hundreds of houses and churches will be reconstructed, it is hoped, with authenticity. It will be another Williamsburg, Spanish style.

"We can't help worry," explained Ricardo E. Algeria, director of the institute, "about all the plate glass and chromium that has come with the tourists and the industry. Some of this is good, but we must not let it change our way of life."

So the government is willing to assist the investor in the quaint tenement town of old San Juan. For every investor in a house or building, the government will give reasonable assistance in financing.

The new owner who restores his building without changing its pure architectural style or character is also guaranteed tax exemption for 10 years, and freedom from rent controls. Thus, as the big boom continues, he should be able to repay his investment rather quickly.

Average cost of one of these old houses: $12,000. Restoration costs, depending on the size of the building and the "do-it-yourself" potential of the owner, is estimated anywhere from $7,000 to $60,000.

When the refurbishing job is completed—it is hoped within a very few years—"Old San Juan" promises to be the loveliest, potentially swankiest colony on the island. At the very least, its narrow, hilly, cobbled streets will be treasured by artists and poets.

Suddenly, Puerto Rico has become such a popular resort that the frantic maxim is: "The only way to get a room in San Juan is to buy a hotel."

The government hereby offers a more reasonable solution.

Many Gas Lights Sold

NEW YORK (UPI)—More than half a million decorative gas lights made of wrought iron were sold in 1948 for use on lawns and beside driveways, according to the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association.

MABEN, Miss. (UPI)—Superintendent J. H. Hardin of the Mayben public school said enrollment for the current school year showed 201 girls and 201 boys in high school and 138 girls and 138 boys in grammar school.

SAGE, Air Defense Planning Electronic Brain, Located at Battle Creek

BATTLE CREEK is a gigantic electronic brain using 35,000 vacuum tubes and requiring 1,500 tons of air conditioning equipment to keep it cool is going to take over the air defense of Michigan.

It also is going to handle the air defense of a good sized chunk of the rest of the nation. Just exactly how much or just when it takes over, the Air Force isn't saying. But it will concede the brain is in place and being tested.

It is known as SAGE—for Semi-Automatic Ground Environment system—and is in a building as near bomb-proof as steel and concrete can make it. The building is at Fort Custer here.

Tied in with other SAGE networks, Battle Creek's can detect hostile bombers far out over Canada, or to the south, the east or west. And it can show in seconds what bases should dispatch intercepting fighters; what types and how many.

It also can:

Map a course for the fighters, taking into consideration weather conditions.

Fire the fighters' anti-bomber missiles and guide the jet interceptors back home.

Keep displayed before the pilot constantly up-to-the-second information.

Lay down plans for a Nike anti-aircraft missile attack on any enemy bombers that may get through the fighters.

Plot an entire air battle on a big screen so Air Force commanders can get a simultaneous blow-by-blow view of what is happening, even hundreds of miles away.

SAGE can figure out in seconds problems it would take many men many days to solve and lay down facts upon which commanders can make decisions.

Royal Palms Hotel Destroyed by Fire

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—A wind-whipped fire today destroyed the Royal Palms Hotel and ignited an adjacent apartment building. Some 50 people scurried from their beds into the street.

The hotel fire was first reported at 2:30 a.m. A cold wind blew the flames out of control and an hour later, a crowd of about 400 saw the walls collapse.

There were no occupants in the 100-room, five-story hotel, which has been closed since the end of last summer's tourist business. The structure was made of wood and has a brick front.

As the hotel crumbled, it fired an adjacent three-story apartment building, which was occupied by about 50 people.

Police Sgt. Mario Fiorani led residents out into the biting pre-dawn cold.

SAGE can't make decisions because it can't think. But the one here will come pretty close to worrying.

For instance, if an alert were on, and none of the CAA flight plans fit that of a plane within its scope, SAGE would ring an alarm and flash red signal lights until someone started to do something about it.

Then it would shoot out, lightning fast, what should be done, based on facts it has stored within it and those coming in via radar. What is done is up to Col. Charles G. Chandler, a 43-year-old combat veteran, and some 20 other experts sitting before their battle-scene screen where SAGE tells them everything it knows, including speed, location, direction, number and the like.

If, under rules laid down for guides, Chandler decides to attack, battle directors in another part of the blockhouse punch buttons that ask SAGE to come up with the best plan. SAGE flashes back its recommendations: Send so many F100's from this base; so many F104's from that one; fly this course at that speed at this height, etc.

In another room, nimble-fingered technicians bend over radar scopes to blot out return "blips" from clouds, buildings or things that represent anything but the enemy SAGE is calculating to destroy.

The brain's electrical system generates so much heat that it virtually would melt itself if its 1,500-ton air conditioner went out. But, of course, SAGE has an automatic cut-off built in to take care of the situation when it tells itself it is too hot.

It has its own power-making system, six big diesel generators. And the blockhouse has living quarters for personnel should they need to stay there under an attack.

Battle Creek's SAGE, the Air Force will say, covers all of Lower Michigan, at least, to the north, goes to Pennsylvania on the east, past Indianapolis to the south, and overlaps another SAGE to the west of Lake Michigan.

SAGE, it is agreed, won't cope from here to Russia, and vice versa, but while these are being kept manned bombers and current missiles, like those that could shoot brought slowly year-by-year to the guided missiles off our necks.

Click and Rattle of the Gamblers Back in Havana

HAVANA (AP) — The click of roulette wheels and the rattle of dice came back to Havana today like a sweet melody — for foreign tourists and well-to-do Cubans.

Fidel Castro's revolutionary regime added a little glitter to its reform program by taking the padlocks off the doors of the plush gambling casinos. But poorer Cubans were still barred from the tables. The "popular" casinos where small sums were bet will stay closed.

The multimillion-dollar industry that enriched fallen dictator Fulgencio Batista and many American racketeers resumes in 11 big Havana casinos. The revolutionary regime promised strict government control.

The revolutionary leaders swallowed their much proclaimed aversion to gambling for the sake of the tourist trade, and to quiet the thousands of casino employees who had been unemployed for seven weeks.

The casinos—as much Havana as skyscrapers are New York — in recent years had become a vital link in the country's economy.

They give employment to thousands of Cubans and help bring to the Caribbean island more thousands of tourists. Their closing when the rebels took over New Year's Day dealt a severe blow to the tourist trade.

Under Batista the casinos paid a $25,000 licensing fee and a percentage of their profit to the government. The casino operators often paid out additional sums of $100,000 or more in bribes and graft.

Deadline Tomorrow on Bloomfield School Issue

Committee Urges Voter Registration

Spurring registration of voters is this week's concern of "Your Educational Security Committee," which is making a house-to-house distribution of material on the March 5 school election in the Bloomfield Hills district.

John McBride, chairman of the YES Committee, said 5 p.m. tomorrow is the deadline for registering for the election. He estimated that 25 per cent of the eligible residents of the district are not registered.

"We are making every effort to reach everyone with the facts on pressing school needs," McBride said, "with the hope of stimulating a higher percentage of registration and the heaviest possible vote."

The two proposals on the ballot call for an increase in operating millage to furnish the funds necessary to maintain our present school operations, and an $800,000 bond issue to cover elementary and junior high classroom shortages. McBride pointed out that the proposal to increase operating millage calls for an additional 4.6 mills, bringing the total to 22.29 mills, "which is lower than the rates currently paid by residents of Oak Park, Farmington, Birmingham and many other neighboring communities."

Schools in the Bloomfield district are faced with a deficit of $268,000 this year. This deficit results from the higher cost of staffing and operating additional schools in the system, the reduction of the county allocation board's school millage allotment from 8.81 mills to 7.98 mills, a step made to divert funds to the higher welfare load, and from the sharp decrease in state funds for school transportation.

McBride said the millage increase of 4.6 mills will continue for only three years. It would then be reduced to 3.6 mills for another three years, when it would terminate.

The bond issue will provide for a necessary 12-room addition to the junior high school, and a single-unit elementary school building to be erected on property already owned by the district adjacent to the junior high school on Quarton road.

Residents of the school district may register if they have lived in the district 30 days and have been residents of Michigan for six months, he said.

Bloomfield Township residents register at the clerk's office in the township hall at 4200 Telegraph

Rd., just south of Long Lake road. Hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Residents of Bloomfield Hills register at the city hall, 45 East Long Lake Rd., a half mile east of Woodward. Hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Troy residents register at the Troy City Hall, 60 West Wacker Rd., at Livernois road. Hours are 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Residents of West Bloomfield Township register at the West Bloomfield Township Hall, 4460 Orchard Lake Rd., near the intersection of Lone Pine and Orchard Lake roads. Hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

McBride announced that residents may obtain absentee ballots at the senior high school if they will be out of town on March 5.

Tool Engineers to See Seaway Movies Tonight

Colored movies of the St. Lawrence Seaway will be presented tonight by George A. Dondero, former U. S. Congressman from Royal Oak, at the meeting of the Oakland Chapter 69 of the American Society of Tool Engineers.

The dinner meeting will be held at the Rotunda Inn in West Bloomfield Township beginning at 6 p.m. The chapter also will elect officers at the monthly meeting.

Ex-Fire Chief Killed in Blaze at Ann Arbor

ANN ARBOR (AP)—A retired Ann Arbor fire chief died in a fire at the home of his daughter this morning.

The victim was Charles J. Andrews, 88, who served as chief of the Ann Arbor Fire Department for 32 years before he retired in 1939.

He was found curled under a table near a window in his second story bedroom. He was dead on arrival at a hospital. Andrews lived with his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mundus.

Firemen said Andrews apparently fell asleep while smoking. A bed in the room was destroyed and the hardwood floor beneath it was burned through.

One fireman was injured fighting the fire. Donald A. Reed, 23, was struck on the head by a bed-spring tossed from the second floor window. He was hospitalized with a deep gash in his head.

The fire was confined to the bedroom. Andrews joined the Ann Arbor Fire Department in 1890 and became chief in 1907.

Adams PTA to Discuss $5 Million for Schools

Waterford Township residents in the Jayne Adams School area have been invited to attend a PTA meeting at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow to learn more about the proposed $5 million school bond issue.

Scheduled tonight, the meeting was postponed until Friday so that Superintendent of Schools William Shunk can conduct a question-and-answer period on the issue, which will be placed on the April 6 ballot.

Cyprus Wins Independence

British, Turkish, Greek Governments Sign Pact Ending 4-Year Strife

LONDON (AP)—An agreement ending four years of bloodshed on Cyprus was signed today by the British, Turkish and Greek governments.

Turkish Foreign Minister Fatin Zorlu, in announcing the pact, said there had been no compromise and no last-minute concessions to Archbishop Makarios, leader of the Greek Cypriot negotiators.

The Mediterranean island will become independent, with Greek and Turkish leadership and with Britain retaining rights to its important military bases there.

A session of nearly two hours was held today following a similar session last night. Zorlu represented Turkey in absence of premier Adnan Menderes, still confined to the hospital after a plane crash.

The other participants were Prime Minister Macmillan of Britain and Premier Constantine Karamanlis of Greece, with top aides. Premiers Karamanlis and Menderes shaped up the agreement in recent meetings at Zurich, and brought it to Britain for approval.

All the Comforts of Home in Antarctic . . . ??

McMURDO SOUND, Antarctica's hospitable region, the Antarctic is (UPI)—Although still rated as the last becoming civilized, world's least known and most inhospitable. The terrific boost in exploration of the earth's last continent, sparked by the science studies of the International Geophysical Year, has brought many of the "comforts of home" to the scientific and military bases scattered across the South Polar regions.

Hot and cold running water, washing machines, dryers, warm living quarters and comparatively good food are helping to destroy Antarctica's reputation for being virtually uninhabitable.

The advances in civilization on this "frozen continent," is no more evident than at this bustling air base some 750 miles from the pole. In recognition of this fact, the base has been called the "New York" of Antarctica in addition to its official title of Naval Air Facility, McMurdo Sound.

The base, 2,500 miles south of civilization in New Zealand, is Antarctica's largest settlement. It supports a population of upwards of 500 persons during the five months starting in October.

This is the height of "summer," when the sun circles the horizon and never sets.

Even to men who have been here awhile, there's something weird about walking out of a darkened hut at 2:00 a.m. and being momentarily blinded by the sunlight.

In most living quarters, windows are covered with dark cloth to keep out the sun during the night.

One of the greatest problems in any small township of this size is getting enough water. The hills surrounding the camps provide an abundance of snow which is melted into water in heaters in the powerhouse and the mess hall galley.

But as the summer advances into January, the 24-hour South Polar sunshine melts all the snow within easy reach of the base and the huge tractors which scoop up the snow must go long distances to obtain fresh snow. This snow shortage results in water shortages.

Because of the difficulty in obtaining water, showers and laundry are limited to once a week. The showers and washing and drying machines are located in the camp powerhouse where electricity is produced from diesel generators.

Once a week, each man takes his laundry to the powerhouse, puts it in a washing machine, has a shower and then places the wash in a dryer. A sign on the back of the powerhouse door reads: "See you again in seven days."

Slate Reopening of Monument

Washington Obelisk to Have New Elevator, Other Improvements

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Washington Monument, refurbished with a new elevator and other major improvements, will be reopened to the public at 10 a.m., Feb. 23, Secretary of Interior Fred A. Seaton announced.

Memorial wreaths commemorating the birth of George Washington will be placed at the monument. Officials of the Interior Department and the Washington Monument Society will make the first ascending trip in the new elevator. The monument then will be open to the public.

The 555-foot obelisk was closed Nov. 17, 1958, to undergo changes for improved visitor comfort.

A new steel elevator cab has been installed. It boasts modern ventilation and lighting facilities, and is equipped with doorways on both the east and west sides. This will eliminate visitor congestion on the ground level and on the observation platform.

The monument first was opened to the public on Oct. 9, 1888. The first elevator required 15 minutes to reach the observation platform. The new elevator is geared to reach it in one minute.

The National Park Service estimates that about 33 million persons have visited the monument in the 71 years of its existence.

Camp living quarters come in various shapes and sizes. The buildings include permanent-type frame huts, quonset huts with sloping metal roofs and portable tent-like "Jamesway" huts of quonset construction.

The men who spend the cold winter here when the temperature drops to about 70 below zero, are accommodated in the frame huts which are painted orange. The huts are electrically-lit, contain a lounge and are partitioned for every two beds, which have sheets, pillowcases and blankets.

Heat is provided by two oil stoves at each end of the hut. Fans are placed over the stoves to circulate the air.

Heating is a big problem since it is several degrees colder near the floor than at the top of the buildings because the heat rises rapidly. As a result, you can have cold feet while your head is stifled by the heat.

The mess hall is a long frame building standing between the camp's two "main drags," Burke Boulevard and Forrestal Avenue. Food is served cafeteria style and despite the built-in resistance to canned foods, the menus offer a great variety.

One typical lunch included: corn chowder, chilled tuna, shrimp with cocktail sauce, baked luncheon meat, baked spaghetti and cheese, asparagus spears, stewed tomatoes, fruit pudding and lemonade, coffee and tea. For dinner on the same day, we had vegetable soup, oven roast beef, mashed potatoes, natural gravy, buttered peas and marble cake.

Canaveral Safety Officer Makes Plans Ahead for Destroying of Errant Missile

By RICHARD F. ROPER

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI)—The big missile vaulted from its launching stand and seemed to be off to a smooth start. But suddenly it began skidding crazily a few hundred feet above the Cape.

"Programming red!" crackled the report over the Cape's "hot loop."

LT. Col. Raymond D. Stephens, stationed in a windowless concrete building several hundred yards from the missile's launching stand, took a fleeting glance at the maze of instruments surrounding him. Then he moved a half-step and tripped a pair of switches that ended the flight in a brilliant explosion over the edge of the Cape.

It was just a routine "destruct" job for Steve Stephens, 43, range safety officer at the Air Force missile test center for the past year and a half. But he was well aware that the lives of thousands of Florida east coast residents depended on his reflexes.

There's no guesswork involved when Stephens has to destroy a missile—"bust it," as he describes the act. Although the final decision is up to him, Stephens has half a dozen assistants and as many instruments to work with in a launching.

SAFETY PLAN READY

Long before any firing, however, the safety planning begins with a conference in Stephens' office at nearby Patrick Air Force Base, headquarters of the test center.

This meeting is attended by representatives of the contractor whose missile is to be fired, and by the assistant Stephens has chosen to learn the weapon from nose cone to exhaust nozzle. "He's supposed to be the wizard on that bird," says Stephens.

The contractor representatives brief Stephens on how the missile is supposed to behave, and show him a chart depicting the planned flight path.

"Destruct lines" are drawn on the same chart, which is later transferred to an instrument known as the "electronic sky-sweeper" at Stephens' post on the Cape. When this device shows the missile is straying from its pre-determined trajectory and is approaching a destruct line, Stephens knows he has to blow it up.

Stephens also must huddle with other missile specialists on the design and placement of the missile's "destruct package," which blows up the bird on his ground signal. It was a faulty destruct package that led to a near-tragedy recently when half of a Polaris test rocket ran wild and plummeted into a lagoon near a residential area.

It's not always necessary to blow up a runaway missile, Stephens says. Sometimes he can merely hit the "arm" switch to cut off the bird's fuel flow, allowing it to fall harmlessly into the Atlantic. On other missiles, the "arm" switch prepares the destruct package for ignition, and if the bird veers perilously close to a destruct line—and thus poses a threat to a land area or ships—Stephens "busts" it by flipping the destruct switch.

RELY ON 'ELSIE'

In addition to the electronic sky-sweeper—known to the safety crew as "Elsie"—Stephens also relies on radar, a device called the optical skyscraper, two TV monitors and another gadget called the impact predictor, which shows exactly where a missile would fall if its power were cut off at a given instant.

But Stephens' first report often comes from an assistant manning a relatively simple device called the "wire sky-scraper," which is nothing more than a wire stretched taut at a 90-degree angle to the ground.

If the missile climbs straight up as it should in the initial phase of flight, the wire sky-scraper man reports that it is "climbing the wire." But if the bird falters or deviates from the proper course, it's "programming red."

The destruct mission described above involved an Army intermediate range Jupiter. But a few days later Stephens blew up an Air Force Thor just as quickly. Interservice rivalry has no place in this delicate operation.

A native of Collingsville, Ill., Stephens has had a variety of jobs during his 18 years of commissioned service in the Army and later in the Air Force. A veteran of more than 250 launchings, he admits that the strain is "about as rough as when I was flying B26s over Europe during World War II."

"They all accuse me of not having a nerve in my body," he said. "But I still get butterflies."

Cure Becomes Curse

SIDI SLIMANE AIR FORCE BASE, Morocco (UPI)—The officers club at this Strategic Air Command base was troubled by an influx of rats. Club officials imported half a dozen stray cats to curb the rats. Now the cat population has increased so rapidly that officers are looking for dogs to control the cats.

Just Friendly Interest

TAHLEQUAH, Okla. (AP)—Driving home from Muskogee, Tom Chastain got sleepy. He parked his car on the shoulder of the highway to take a nap. But three of his neighbors recognized the car and woke him up to see if he needed help.

Their Small Ears Prove Vital

Whale, Porpoise Use Sonar

By DELOS SMITH
UPI Science Editor
NEW YORK—Amazing creatures are whales and porpoises. They barge around at night at full speed and in a devil-may-care spirit, but never collide with one another or bounce themselves off the ocean bottom (so far as people know).

But a scientist has made this ages-old wonder seem like nothing from the viewpoint of whales and porpoises. Dr. W. N. Kellogg of Florida State University has taken the measurements of their radar—or sonar, as radar is called when its principles are applied under water.

Previous scientific efforts to explain the wonder have failed from a lack of hard facts. The whale is an impossible animal to study while alive and the lively porpoise is extremely difficult.

Nevertheless, speculative evidence indicated they couldn't do what they do by eyesight alone.

Little light penetrates below the ocean surface and the deeper you go, the blacker it gets. Yet whales think nothing of taking a half-mile dive into what has to be inky blackness.

A collision with the ocean floor at their speeds could be fatal. Porpoises in numbers swim rapidly about in the muddy waters of harbors, obviously, whales and porpoises don't see clearly where they're going.

The sonar theory has been bruited about scientifically. The example is the bat, which can fly around in the black night by emitting cries which bounce back to its sensitive ears when an obstacle is ahead, telling it to turn left or right. But the ears of whales and porpoises are unimpressive. You'd never think they served a vital purpose.

Kellogg showed that they do. Into a large salt-water pool, he put two porpoises. The water was so turbid no porpoise could see more than a few inches ahead, and the pool was rigged up electronically to pick up and record all under-water sounds.

What was picked up, continuously, were bleep-bleeps, like those of radar. Sometimes they were rather widely spaced; at other times they were so close together that Kellogg compared the sound to the Bronx cheer. What was also picked up were the echoes of these bleep-bleeps as they bounced back from the sides of the pool.

Kellogg and his associates put obstacles into the pool, many of them—steel rods which if they were touched would give off distinctive sounds of their own. These obstacles were placed in geometric patterns, to make it extremely difficult for the porpoises to avoid brushing against them.

But they did, and while swimming about vigorously. All the while the under-water reverberated with bleep-bleeps of varying intensities and numbers-per-second. All indicated they were doing it by their built-in sonar. They did it by day and they did it repeatedly in black nights, when seeing under water was out of the question.

They also were tested with food fish. Their sonars located the prey unerringly; they swooped down and the fish couldn't have known what hit them. Kellogg applied his results to whales because they and porpoises are closely related.

Both are sea-going mammals—their young are live-born and are nursed. The bat, by the way, is a mammal, too—the only mammal which can fly.

Bum Turns Into Bomb
PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—"There's a bomb on a bench at Union Depot." That's what two Phoenix policemen thought they heard in a radio call. They rushed to the train station, found nothing and learned the report had been garbled. It should have been—there's a bum on a bench.

1st Poll Test Due in Missouri Vote

March Congressional Election Will Sound Out Party Strength

WASHINGTON (AP)—A special election March 3 to elect a Missouri congressman will provide this year's first test of major party strength at the polls.

The election may have a certain psychological value in subsequent state and local contests later in the year.

In the special election, the voters will choose a successor to the late Democratic Rep. George H. Christopher, who died Jan. 23. It is the home district of former President Harry S. Truman, and includes seven rural counties and part of Kansas City.

Democratic party officials said they expect to win in the normally Democratic district, but noted that Republicans won it for one term in 1932. Republicans concede their candidate faces an uphill battle. Both sides agreed special elections are often unpredictable.

Democrats expressed some fear that the manner in which the Democratic candidate was picked may have left some hard feelings in the rural counties.

The Democratic candidate is William J. Randall, 48, a Jackson County judge—administrative, not judicial—and a native of Truman's home town of Independence.

He is a compromise candidate, having been selected at a Democratic committee meeting to break a five-hour deadlock between two other choices.

Christopher won last November by nearly 64 per cent of the vote, but party officials say they will be surprised if the Democratic margin even approaches that.

The Republican candidate is William R. McKee, 43, suburban Kansas City lumber dealer, who managed the Jackson County campaign of James A. Rahm, Republican candidate defeated by Christopher last November, 72,792 to 40,912.

Republican officials here say they will be happy if McKee increases Rahm's 1936 percentage. The GOP House Campaign Committee has sent a field representative to the district to help.

Because it is the first major party test of 1939, both parties would like to win in Missouri for whatever value it might have on the scattered elections next Nov. 3.

Beggars Taught the Trade

ROME (UPI) — A "beggar's training school," which taught young men the tricks of the trade, is out of business because the professor violated one of the rules.

Pasquale Pugliese, a 40-year-old Neapolitan laborer, founded the school, recruited the pupils and taught them such techniques as:

—Choose a crowded place.
—Look people in the face when begging.

—Make it evident you are unable to work.

—Wear clean but patched and frayed clothing; keep hands and fingernails clean, but not too clean.

Pugliese, born partially blind, kept wheel chairs, makeup kits and crutches in stock and taught students how to imitate a one-armed beggar or roll the eyes back to appear blind.

For his lessons, Pugliese charged each pupil 20 per cent of a day's collection. He might still be in business if he obeyed the rule of secrecy.

When one pupil refused to pay the 20 per cent, Pugliese threatened to expose him to the police. The pupil, 21-year-old Domenico Musone, beat up Pugliese.

While in a hospital with cuts and bruises, Pugliese denounced his pupil and one word led to another.

Soon, the police were around and the school was closed. The police seized more than $1,600 which Pugliese had collected.

The alumni now are on a police list. If they are caught begging anywhere, they go to another institution — a legitimate one known as prison.

Rich Manganese, Cobalt Deposits

Find Metals on Sea Floor

By RENNIE TAYLOR
Associated Press Science Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The ocean bottoms are strewn with deposits of manganese and cobalt so rich they probably could break the world market in those metals if they were mined on even a modest scale, a scientist reported today.

The metals are contained in black rock-like formations about the size of billiard balls and are pretty uniformly scattered over the ocean floors, he said.

Existence of these formations has been known for 75 years, but their abundance and the amount of metals they contain were determined only recently, said Dr. Roger R. Revelle, director of the Scripps Institution of Oceanography.

Dr. Revelle gave an evaluation of the deposits as made by investigators at Scripps and the University of California at Berkeley.

The assays indicated, Dr. Revelle said, that if these formations were dredged up from the depths at the rate of 5,000 tons a day and processed, they would yield enough metal to augment the U.S. manganese supply by 25 per cent and the cobalt supply by 125 per cent. The U.S. produces only 10 per cent of its manganese needs. The rest comes from imports.

Manganese is much used as an ingredient to make steel tough and is widely utilized as a component of many alloys. Cobalt is used in making special steels and in glass and as a coloring material.

A survey of the Pacific Ocean floor was made by a Scripps research vessel as a part of the International Geophysical Year. Its findings, along with those of researchers elsewhere, confirmed that the floors of both the Pacific and Atlantic oceans are well dotted with the deposits, Dr. Revelle said.

John L. Mero of the Berkeley Institution, and Dr. Edward Goldberg of Scripps reduced the survey results to figures on metallic content and the probable cost of recovery.

These figures indicate, Dr. Revelle reported, that there is up to 1,000 billion tons of these nodules at the ocean bottoms and they are capable of yielding 100 million tons of manganese.

The Berkeley valuation indicated, he said, that the nodules might contain on an average $42.50 worth of manganese per ton; that they can be dredged up for $2 a ton, transported to land for $2 to $5 a ton, and processed into metal for about $21 a ton.

The oceanography committee of the National Academy of Sciences, of which Dr. Revelle is a member, has recommended that the U.S. Bureau of Mines develop an experimental production program over a 10-year period to cost 20 million dollars.

Hoffa Hits Standards in AFL-CIO Ouster

WASHINGTON (AP) — Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa said Wednesday the AFL-CIO is applying a double standard of ethics in expelling the Teamsters on corruption charges while letting the Carpenters Union stay in the federation.

Hoffa also said that he would like to get his union back into the federation but won't ask AFL-CIO President George Meany to take the Teamsters back.

"Meany knows where to find me," Hoffa told reporters.

Hoffa expressed these views while waiting to go before a Senate committee for closed-door questioning. The committee has leveled corruption charges against officials of both the Teamsters and Carpenters, including Hoffa and Carpenters President Maurice Hucheson.

"The Teamsters ought to be taken back into the AFL-CIO on the same basis as the Carpenters have remained," Hoffa said. "Are there two sets of ethics?"

Eisenhower to Demand Taft-Hartley Changes as Part of Any Labor Bill

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower administration will insist on Taft-Hartley law changes as part of any legislation to curb labor abuses, Sen. Everett Dirksen (R-Ill.) said today.

Dirksen, the Senate Republican leader, said President Eisenhower and Secretary of Labor James P.

Mitchell are backing solidly an effort to get Congress to act on a single-package measure based on the President's 20-point program.

"If the Labor Committee doesn't report out a bill including all of the President's proposals, we will offer them as amendments when the Senate takes up the measure," Dirksen said. Dirksen described as impractical Mitchell's announced willingness to go along with Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) on a two-

Future Secure for Needed Veterinarians

CHICAGO (UPI) — Today's veterinary student has his choice of research, industry or government service, and a virtual guarantee of job security.

Veterinarians, more important now than ever before, protect the nation's public health and its ever-growing livestock industry.

Jobs in the profession, estimated at twice the number of graduates available to fill them, include those in private practice, research and in industrial supervision.

Veterinary medicine is a six-year course. After two years at any accredited college, candidates enter a veterinary college for four years of specialized training.

Graduate veterinarians must be able to diagnose, treat and control both animal and poultry diseases and be familiar with animal diseases that attack human beings.

Too Many Holidays

GREAT NECK, N. Y. (UPI) — The Great Neck school board decided that the educational process was suffering from "too many interruptions" and decreed that from now on classes would be held as usual on Lincoln's Birthday and Columbus Day.

bill approach, with union-management curbs considered in one measure and controversial changes in the Taft-Hartley Act in another.

Mitchell himself could not be reached for comment on Dirksen's statement. A Labor Department spokesman said the department had no comment.

Mitchell issued a statement last week saying he would not oppose the two-package approach provided both halves of it were passed during the session.

"Whatever the packaging," he said then, "it's the product that counts."

But he called for public pressure on Democratic leaders to make certain that Congress didn't quit with only part of the program enacted.

Dirksen contended there is no assurance two bills would be passed.

"The only way it could be done would be to have an iron-clad agreement that the second bill would be considered and acted upon," Dirksen said. "That kind of an agreement is difficult to get."

Neither of these provisions is included in the Kennedy-Ervin bill, although it would make some Taft-Hartley law changes sought by organized labor. Union leaders say they will not support the measure without these.

Kennedy has said he wants to await a report of a 12-member panel of experts before offering a bill to revise the disputed Taft-Hartley provisions.

Dirksen said there was some discussion at a White House conference Tuesday of the two-bill approach but Eisenhower and Mitchell both opposed such a course.

The Republican leader conceded that Eisenhower's opposition to what the President has called "a piecemeal program" may not sway the Senate Labor Committee, which is dominated by the Democrats. The committee, meeting today, is expected to bring out a bill within a short time.

Although Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas said he doesn't yet know what major legislation the Senate will consider next, Dirksen said he was informed the labor bill is likely to be first in line.

Bob Considine Says:

Many Ways Seen for Using Farm Surplus

OMAHA, Neb. — Telegraph poles made of corn? Automobile tires from wheat? Nylons from barley? Peppier gasoline from oats? Protein for the protein-starved world from soy beans?

Well, we'd better start thinking seriously about these and other ways of getting rid of our colossal grain surpluses or we'll be sorry, the country's leading authority on the crisis told us today.

He is J. Leroy Welsh, chairman of President Eisenhower's Commission on Increased Industrial Use of Agricultural Products. Interviewed while he was attending a meeting of the board of directors of Mutual of Omaha, of which he is a member, Welsh gave us some hair-raising facts about a problem that seldom swims before the ken of city folks.

"By July 1 the government will have in storage nine billion dollars worth of surpluses," the Nebraska grain dealer said. "In five years, if this program is continued, and we find no adequate use for the produce, we'll have between twenty and thirty billion dollars tied up.

"Warehouse rent on what we've got right now comes to more than one million dollars a day. Every day. Seven days a week.

"The government just can't stop agricultural progress. It pays the farmer to take part of his land out of food production, but then the state or some other organization turns around and shows him how to raise more on his remaining land than he raised on the whole dam' acreage.

"Take Nebraska. By 1960 we'll have enough irrigation wells pumping—about twenty two thousand of them—to produce a full crop without one drop of rainfall! Here, and elsewhere, the government can't count on droughts to slow things up."

Welsh, whose commission's recommendations have not been passed by the House of Representatives, said that much of the world is ready and eager to buy the protein content of our grain reserves.

"They don't want the stuff as is," he put it. "Almost every country in the world has its own surplus of starch. But there's a lot of protein in there along with the starch if we ever get industrious enough to recover it. It comes to thirty four per cent of the total bulk of grain.

"Seven years ago this residue, which grainmen call 'bitter' and feed to animals, was made palatable for humans when blended with other foods. But as far as I know only one major American food producer has made use of this great discovery. He put it in a breakfast cereal.

"The rice-eating peoples of Asia hunger for protein we're letting go to rot. Matter of fact, people in most countries need more protein in their starchy diets.

"Italy, for instance. We need markets like that desperately if we're going to whittle down the size of our surpluses."

Mr. Welsh revealed that there are 32 pounds of starch in every 60 pounds of grain—any kind of grain. His commission's researchers found 106 ways of using our mountains of stored starch industrially. Each bushel of grain would yield 2 1/2 gallons of alcohol for hosts of purposes over and above the best-known application of the stuff.

"If the petroleum people would substitute as little as ten per cent of their varied production with grain-produced material, we could eliminate our costly surpluses and stop paying farmers not to do what God intended them to do," Mr. Welsh asserted. "If the government had given grain to the tire companies, to make synthetic rubber—given it free—we'd all be saving money today.

"If the first oil prospectors had found starch instead of oil, we'd be making today, out of starch, everything that is made from petroleum.

"After all, there's not much difference, molecularly, between a field of corn and an oil bed. The oil was once vegetation. It all comes out even in the laboratory. With the proper catalyst, sugars and petroleum unite, opening a breath-taking vista.

"But the petroleum industry won't buy this huge source of raw materials, a source that renews it-

Flint Busmen Strike as Negotiations Halt

FLINT (AP) — Busmen of the Flint City Coach Lines struck today, cutting off this auto city's only form of mass transportation.

The 125 drivers and mechanics, members of the transport workers union, began their walkout at the scheduled start of service for an estimated 20,000 daily riders.

It was the second bus strike in three months for Flint, a General Motors manufacturing center of about 165,000 population. The TWU Local 170 struck for five days in December.

Negotiations over a new contract collapsed yesterday with the union insisting on a "firm offer" and the company proposing a wage increase contingent on city approval for an increase in the 2-cent passenger fare.

No further talks were scheduled.

Strike Settled: Now Animals Can See People

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Animals can observe the unusual antics of people again today at the St. Louis Zoo.

For three days visitors had been kept out by a strike of 55 zoo employees. The 1,600 animals were unhappy about it. They acted bored and listless.

The strike was settled Wednesday when zoo management recognized Local 410 of the Institutional and Public Employees Union as bargaining agent for the employees.

"SHOP WHERE EVERY DAY IS SALE DAY"

Fresh Meats Not So Fresh

Some Day Years-Old
Food Will Be Stored
After Processing

NEW YORK (UPI) — Some day you may be able to buy "fresh" meats and vegetables that are months and years old.

The food industry and the government are putting great emphasis today on developing new methods and improving older ones for the preservation and storage of food.

The new field includes atomic irradiation, antibiotic and chemical preservation and dehydration by "freeze drying." They will supplement present methods of canning, freezing and cooking.

The U. S. Army is building a new food processing center at the Sharps General Depot in Lathrop, Calif. This new center, scheduled for completion in mid-1960, will boast a 24-million-electron-volt linear accelerator and a high density cobalt-60 gamma source.

Research in food irradiation has been underway for several years under direction of the Army Quartermaster Corps, in cooperation with the Departments of Defense and Agriculture, the Atomic Energy Commission and various private industrial and research groups.

Indefinite preservation of food by atomic radiation would be a boon to all nations, particularly those where refrigeration presents a problem.

Through irradiation, bacteria which cause food decay are destroyed. However, in order to sterilize by atomic energy, foods must be packaged to protect them from becoming contaminated by the irradiation process.

Tests show that foods thus irradiated can be consumed by humans and animals without harmful effects.

Industry sources point out that there are many problems still to be ironed out before food irradiation becomes commercially economical and feasible.

Most foods come through the radiation process unchanged in taste and food value. But some foods, such as steak, don't taste the same, while milk and orange juice lose some of their food value.

And This Means YOU

Enriched Corn Fritters May Be Frozen

Both the time and the money budget will be well in hand when corn fritters are on the menu. You see, they can be frozen and reheated in a hot oven in just 20 minutes. Hot appetizers can be served even to unexpected company.

Did you ever hear of such efficiency and organization? You're sure to be the talk of all your friends. Some of them might even suspect you of a special sinister type of magic!

Prepare a double recipe of Tiny Corn Fritters. That unusual nutlike flavor that blends so perfectly with Corn Fritters any old time.

The corn is due to the whole wheat cereal, the kind with wheat germ added. Serve one recipe for supper with crisp bacon or nice juicy pork chops.

Now freeze the second batch to serve for that time when a few friends drop in. You'll be showing off, there's no doubt about it, but your guests will love it!

No, we won't be frittering our time this year, but they're so good, we'll probably be serving Tiny Fry until brown, 2-3 minutes. Drain

Tiny Corn Fritters
1/2 cup sifted enriched flour
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 cup instant or regular whole wheat cereal
1 tablespoon instant minced onion
1 egg
1/2 cup milk
1 1/2 cups (1 No. 303 can) drained whole kernel corn
Shrimping or oil for deep fat frying

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt, and pepper. Stir in whole wheat cereal and minced onion. Beat egg and milk together. Add to dry ingredients. Stir in corn. Mix thoroughly. Drop from teaspoon into deep, hot fat (375 degrees). Fry until brown, 2-3 minutes. Drain on absorbent paper. Yield: 3 dozen 1 1/2-inch or 4 dozen 1-inch fritters.

Chinese Mustard Sauce
2 tablespoons dry mustard
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon salad oil
1 teaspoon cornstarch
2 tablespoons water
Turmeric
Mix mustard, salt, and salad oil. Combine cornstarch and water. Boil until thickened and clear. Stir constantly. Gradually add to mustard mixture. Mix well. Add turmeric if a deeper color is desired. Yield: 1/2 cup.

Anything Goes for Breakfast

The urge of teenagers to be off beat — yet not miss the beat — can lead them to choose a well-scored breakfast . . . one that does not drum out a set breakfast routine.

Teenagers who miss the beat at breakfast may be bored with routine breakfast fare. So any scientists who have studied reactions same way, day after day. This is why teenagers suddenly ban, at breakfast, foods liked since childhood.

liked foods is sharpened by a growing capacity for independent action. When your teenager chooses an egg salad sandwich made with enriched bread, a bowl of tomato soup, and a wedge of cabbage, he may be unorthodox, but his breakfast routine the nutrients needed for good health. Or, maybe your teenager has a you for a breakfast the Greeks enjoy: Bread and cheese with a whole tomato or fruit.

If your teenager is off beat at breakfast, he has the right beat as long as he is acting in the new knowledge of nutrition. And his independent action is in harmony with the American way of trying the new, the different, the unorthodox.

size the fact that good nutrition is possible without set meal patterns. Nourish the urge to be off beat about meals, as long as you include these essential foods each day: Enriched or whole grain bread or cereal, fruits and vegetables, meat or an alternate, and milk.

Fleck Soup With Carrots

Golden specks of carrot float through this grand old soup . . . in 1939 style. Ladle it, piping hot, into soup plates or bowls. This is what you do: In a saucepan, combine 1 can (10 1/2 ounces) frozen condensed green pea with ham soup and 1 soup can water. Heat slowly stirring often. Before serving, stir in 1/2 cup finely grated carrot. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

Marinated Green Beans Delightful in Salad

Whole green beans which have been marinated in a piquant sauce of olive oil and tarragon vinegar are attractive for a salad or as an hors d'oeuvres offering. Cover cooked or canned blue lake green beans with the following mixture: 1/2 cup tarragon vinegar, 3 tablespoons Spanish olive oil, 1 1/2 tablespoons sugar, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt and 1/2 teaspoon freshly-ground pepper.

To serve, drain beans, arrange bundles of the beans inside rings of thinly-sliced sweet onion, then place bundles on crisp salad greens, allowing 1 bundle of beans for each serving.

Bananas Give Salmon Loaf New Taste

Interesting new ideas for lunch-dishes are always welcome, especially if they are as delicious as Banana Salmon Loaf. This succulent dish, in which the banana and salmon are combined with piquant flavors, will be as popular with children as with the grown-ups. It is an excellent choice for busy school day luncheons, since it can be prepared ahead, if desired, and served later—either hot or cold.

Besides being hearty good eating, the Banana Salmon Loaf is a simple dish to prepare. It is merely a matter of mixing all the ingredients together and then pressing into a loaf pan for baking.

The mellow banana in this loaf mixture provides a perfect balance for the more pronounced accents of onion, lemon juice and spices that are added. The banana also brings valuable vitamins, minerals and food energy to this recipe.

You may wish to serve the Banana Salmon Loaf with a tomato or mushroom sauce made from canned condensed soups. To do this, add only half as much water as instructed to make soup, and then heat as directed.

Banana Salmon Loaf

1 cup mashed ripe bananas (2 to 3 bananas)
1 egg, well beaten
2 cups cooked, drained, flaked salmon or 1 one-lb. can of salmon
2 1/2 cups soft bread crumbs
1/2 cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard or 1 tablespoon prepared mustard
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon pepper
Add bananas to egg and mix well. Add salmon, bread crumbs, onion, green pepper, mustard, salt, lemon juice and pepper. Mix thoroughly. Press into well-greased loaf pan (8x4x2 1/2 inches). Bake in a moderately hot oven (400 degrees) about 35 to 40 minutes, or until loaf is lightly browned and center is firm. Serve hot or cold. If desired, tomato sauce, white sauce or mushroom sauce may be served with the loaf. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

If the tears flow every time you grate an onion, just put a piece of bread in your mouth. It will reduce your discomfort immeasurably.

Be Glad Potatoes Are Small in Size

Don't be unhappy if you find some small potatoes in a bag of mostly big ones. Even the government standards for size A potatoes require only 60 per cent of the potatoes in a bag to be up to standard size of 2 1/2 inches in diameter. The other 40 per cent can be more than a half-inch smaller.

When you find some of these small potatoes in the bag that you bring home from the store, don't worry about it; just fix them in some way that gives an advantage to the little fellows in the potato bin. For instance, Crusty Brown Potatoes.

Crusty Brown potatoes are round cousins to French fries. The potatoes should be boiled to start, which makes Crusty Browns an ideal way to use leftovers. Heat deep fat; drop in whole boiled potatoes, and cook until they are golden brown and crisp. Sprinkle with salt and serve piping hot. Note: Have second helpings available.

Wrap scallops or shrimp in half slices of bacon, fasten the bacon with toothpicks, and broil or bake until the bacon crisps.

Bake Meat Pies From Argentina

These little meat filled pies are typical of pastries served in Argentina. Each province has its own particular filling; the one comes from Cordoba.

Use your favorite pie-crust dough, or a prepared hot-water pie crust. One package will make 6 to 8 empanadas, depending on the size you desire.

EMPANADAS

Filling:
1/2 pound ground beef
1 small onion, chopped
1 tomato, seeded, cut small
1 tablespoon green or red pepper
1/2 cup consommé
4 olives, minced
2 tablespoons seeded raisins
1 hard-boiled egg, chopped
Salt, pepper to taste
Butter

Saute onion in butter, add green (or red) pepper. When lightly cooked, add beef, then seasonings. Cook a few minutes, add a sprinkling of flour and the consommé. Mix well to blend all the ingredients.

Remove from fire, add raisins, olives and egg. Taste for seasoning. Let cool before filling pies.

Dough:

Roll out dough, cut in 4-inch rounds. Place filling on one side of dough, moisten edges, turn half the round over the filling and pinch edges together tightly using the tines of a fork. Place on greased cookie pans, brush with yolk of egg and bake in a hot oven—400 degrees—for about 20 minutes, until lightly browned. Serve hot.

Empanadas can be made half this size, to be served with cocktails.

Homemade Filters

Achieve clear drip coffee with homemade filters. Cut a couple of layers of face tissue into rounds the size of the bottom of the drip basket; place tissue rounds in basket then add coffee. Pour boiling water through as usual.

Pickles, Herbs Dress Up Salmon

Every fish has its day and for six weeks, this food receives special billing. However, it can be come mighty old, hat without a combination, but for the secret flavor touch, the pickles are the line. Fish and pickles are a happy answer.

SALMON STEAKS ITALIENNE — A steady diet of fish can be pretty monotonous if you don't ring in some changes now and then during Lent. You'll be enchanted with this new way of serving salmon steaks, with an herb pickle sauce. Remember these pickles for next summer's barbecues too.

Add some chopped onion, tarragon, and oregano to an ordinary jar of commercially packed sweet pickles. Close the jar tightly and let it all mellow together for a few days in the refrigerator. Then taste and enjoy and serve such delicious, interesting dishes as the Salmon Steaks Italiane.

Herb Sweet Pickles

1 (15 oz.) jar sweet pickles
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
1/2 teaspoon oregano
1/2 teaspoon tarragon
Remove cap from jar; save lid. Add onion, oregano, and tarragon to the pickle liquid. Recap the jar tightly and shake vigorously. Store in the refrigerator for three days, shaking jar several times during storage period.

Salmon Steaks Italiane

1/2 cup mayonnaise
1/2 cup chopped herb pickles
1/2 pound salmon steaks
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons herb pickle liquid
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
Mix the mayonnaise and chopped pickles together in top of a double boiler. Put over hot water and heat for 10 minutes, stirring several times.

Meanwhile, put a piece of aluminum foil on top of the broiler rack and place fish on foil. Melt butter, stir in the pickle liquid, salt, and pepper.

Brush tops of salmon steaks with the melted butter mixture. Broil 2 inches from heat for 10 minutes on one side. Turn steaks and brush with butter-pickle liquid and broil for 5 minutes on second side or until fish flakes easily with a fork. Makes 4 servings. Serve with green peas and paprika buttered new potatoes.

Cheese Sauce Doubles as Dip

The "T" in the picture stands for frozen. It's so easy to prepare several vegetables for a meal when you use frozen foods — no waste to remove, no washing to do. In the picture above, you see four different colorful frozen vegetables which were cooked separately to just-right tender-crispness — then turned onto a chop plate. Cooked carrots with watercress "tops" form the compartments for the four-dishes-in-one. And here is a wonderful new sauce for the vegetables:

Hot Parmesan-Mayonnaise Sauce
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
1 1/2 tablespoons flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese
1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Mix mayonnaise, flour, and salt together in top part of double boiler. Place over boiling water and stir in milk, stirring until thickened. Stir in Parmesan cheese until melted. Just before serving, add Worcestershire sauce. Serve hot as a sauce for vegetables. This sauce is also delicious as a dip for hot frozen French fried potatoes.

Cucumber Chunks

New idea for cocktail appetizer: cut peeled cucumbers in small chunks, marinate in olive oil and salt for at least half an hour, then roll in finely-minced parsley. Serve on toothpicks as an hors d'oeuvre.

Pumpkin Can Go Into Custards Too

New England Pumpkin Custard

3 eggs
1/2 cup canned pumpkin
1/2 cup maple syrup
2 tablespoons dark brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
2 cups milk (scalded)
Beat eggs enough to blend yolks and whites. Add pumpkin, maple syrup, brown sugar, salt, cinnamon and nutmeg; stir well. Add scalded milk, beating in gently as you do so.

Pour into custard cups. Place in shallow baking pan of hot water; have water come up nearly to tops of custard cups. Bake in slow (325 degrees) oven 45 to 50 minutes or until a silver knife inserted near center comes out clean. Remove from water; cool. Makes 6 servings.

Cream the Medley

Next time you have several small amounts of leftover cooked vegetables in the refrigerator, put them together with a cream sauce in a baking dish. Top with buttered bread crumbs and bake in a hot oven until the sauce is bubbling and the topping browned.

Substitute Fish for Meat in Favorite Italian Food

Pontiac Press Home Editor

There will be no room for dissatisfaction with meals served during Lent if you take pains to serve the family favorites. Granted you cannot have meat as often; but the substitution of fish in regular stand-by dishes makes for interesting eating.

Think how fortunate we are to live at a time when almost any food is available all during the year. No longer are we dependent on salt cod for our winter fish eating. Your fish counter, fresh or frozen, provides you with almost an embarrassment of riches in the fish line.

Have you noticed the new equal portion filets in the frozen fish section? They are square pieces of ocean fish already cut to serving size. Even when you have to cook them frozen they present no problem of portioning.

Using the equal portion filets, and a recipe of barbecue sauce, you can have delightfully different pizzas in practically no time at all.

Heavenly Fish Pizzas
1 (14 oz.) package any kind equal portion filets
English muffins, split
Anchovy rings
Anchovy filets

Barbecue Sauce:
2 tablespoons butter or oil
1/2 cup finely minced onion
1/2 cup tomato catsup
1/2 cup lemon juice
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup water
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce if desired

Broil fish according to package directions. Prepare sauce: Heat butter and saute onions until tender; add remaining ingredients and simmer, covered, for 10 minutes.

Spread muffin halves with barbecue sauce and broil until sauce bubbles, about 3-5 minutes.

Place one fish filet on each muffin pizza, cover with sauce, and garnish with anchovy. Serve with gherkins and olives. Sprinkle with grated cheese.

Good hamburgers: add an egg, catchup, grated onion and fresh bread crumbs along with salt and pepper.

Winter Fruit Salad Starts With Pears

NEW YORK (UPI) — "Pear salad superb" is especially appropriate with heavy dinners.

Wash 3 ripe Anjou, bosc or comice pears and set 1 aside. Halve, core and dice remaining 2, and combine with 1 cup each diced celery and halved, seeded Tokay grapes, and 1/2 cup salted peanuts. Mix with enough mayonnaise or salad dressing to moisten.

Heap into lettuce-lined salad bowl and garnish with remaining pear, cut in eighths and arranged in spoke pattern with a maraschino cherry center. Serves 4-6.

Let's Have a New Dessert

Pontiac Press Home Editor

"Something's gotta give" may be the words of a song, but it can well apply to the way most of us feel right now. Weary of the incessant snow, cold and ice, we're beginning to fray around the edges of our good humor.

You have to stay home because you are afraid you'll fall on the ice? Use your extra time to prepare a special dinner for your family and climax it with a scrumptious dessert.

Your menu sounds dull and uninteresting, but it's the best you can do tonight? Serve something different for dessert and perk up the whole menu.

Friends have agreed to brave the elements and come over for the evening? Ask them for gossip and make the evening an early one since everyone has to work the next day.

Anyway, who needs such excuses to serve dessert? Here are a couple which we hope will appeal to you.

Packaged pre-cooked rice now comes in a large economy size. It makes 7 cups of rice. Try some of it in this creamy dessert recipe.

Pineapple Cream Rice
1/2 cup packaged pre-cooked rice
1/2 cup pineapple juice
1/2 cup water
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup well-drained canned crushed pineapple
1/2 cup whipping cream
2 to 4 tablespoons sugar
Combine packaged pre-cooked rice, pineapple juice, water, and salt in saucepan. Mix just to moisten all rice. Bring quickly to a boil over high heat. Then cover and simmer 5 minutes. Remove from heat and let stand 5 minutes. Add pineapple, mixing lightly with a fork. Cool to room temperature.

Whip cream and add sugar. Then fold cream into rice mixture and chill about 1 hour. Makes 4 servings.

Sometime during Lent the sad

starts to rise in the maple trees and the 1959 crop of maple syrup and maple sugar is produced. Pure maple syrup gives a distinctive flavor to many dishes. We think you'll like it in and on gingerbread.

Pure Maple Gingerbread

1/2 cup pure maple syrup
1/2 cup boiling water
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cups all purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon ginger
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
4 tablespoons melted butter
Mix and sift dry ingredients. Add maple syrup and water. Add butter. Beat well.
Spread mixture in buttered shallow pan. Bake about 35 minutes at 325 degrees.

Sauce:

1 1/2 cups pure maple syrup
1 tablespoon flour
1 egg

Let come to a boil, then pour over a well-beaten egg. Stir and serve on gingerbread. Serves 6.

Pink Color in Poultry Doesn't Hurt the Fowl

Pink color in cooked poultry is not uncommon reports the Marketing Information Agent. It may appear even when the poultry is thoroughly cooked.

Pink color in cooked poultry is due to a chemical reaction. Something in the heated oven reacts with something in the poultry and the pink color results. Often the young birds show the most pink. Their skins allow gases to go through to the flesh underneath. The amount of fat in the skin also affects this coloring.

So if the turkey or chicken turns pinkish in color, do not be worried. It is safe to eat.

Protect Disinfect

Use Roman Bleach to disinfect baby's washing. Also, toys, play pen, etc. Roman Bleach is safe, easy to use.

CUT ALONG DOTTED LINE

Lamb Hits Price Bottom, Vegetables - Good Supply

Weather may be enjoyed or deplored depending upon your point of view, but have you ever thought about how it influences your food buying? An improvement in shipping conditions a week ago brought more lamb to the Chicago market and wholesale prices fell to a two year low.

Cold weather in Florida this winter resulted in acreage loss and reduced cucumber yields, so you find them scarce and priced high at the grocery. Pick a food, fresh, canned or frozen and the weather influenced the quantity and quality harvested plus the price you pay.

Fluctuating wholesale prices and large supplies bring more pork values for the observing shopper again this week. Beef supplies and prices remain about as they have been. If poultry is on the shopping list, you can find turkey, roasters and stewers at the same price per pound.

By looking at produce counters it would be difficult to tell which vegetables and fruits are in light supply. Attractive quality is displayed. Some stores will be placing emphasis on cherries for Washington's birthday.

VEGETABLES FOR CHOOSING

Carrots, cabbages, beets, potatoes and rutabagas are in ample supply. Notice more new red potatoes with the thin skins are arriving from Florida.

"Tube" tomatoes and vine-ripened tomatoes are different in several ways. "Tube" tomatoes are picked green, ripened in temperature controlled rooms and packed in 14-ounce packages. Vine-ripened tomatoes are left on the vine until a slight red color develops and are then sold by the pound. Those ripened on the vine will have more flavor and softer texture.

No matter which tomato you buy, leave it at room temperature until it is red ripe. Then refrigerate. An unripe tomato never develops flavor in the refrigerator and may become watery or tough.

FRUITS FOR THE WEEK

The holiday, February 22, may give cherries a priority rating in many households this weekend. For a fat 9-inch pie you will need two 303 size cans of tart red cherries.

Fresh baked and frozen pies will be featured also.

Michigan's hothouse rhubarb supply is improving and prices are lower in some stores. You may find a price difference of about ten cents a pound due mainly to a difference in grade. The thick heavy red stalks grade higher than the thin lighter red stalks.

Apples, citrus, bananas, avocados and pears are other fruits in adequate supply. Imported nectarines, honeydew melons and plums are available. Naturally costs are high.

PROTEIN FOODS

Pork is the leader in number of economical cuts. By studying store offerings you may choose Boston butt, steak, chops, picnic, shank of ham or spareribs for 20 cents or less per serving. Bacon and sausage continue at low prices.

Three cuts of beef fit this price range - ground beef, liver and the blade chuck roast. All the chuck roasts (blade, arm and English) are classed as less tender cuts. Even if the meat is top grade, these cuts need long cooking with liquid at low temperature.

This is the season when lamb and veal are opposites in the market. While veal is scarce and high in cost, supplies of lamb are more abundant and prices are about as low as they will be.

The large end of a shoulder roast of lamb can be cut into chops. The small end can be ground for lamb patties or cut into cubes for tender lamb stew.

Winter meals need never be dull. 1939 supplies of poultry add easy variety at prices unheard of a few years ago. Torn turkey is the thrifty choice at 29 to 39 cents a pound in many stores. Meaty stewers, weighing over four pounds, are about 50 cents a pound.

Fish supplies are not large, but ample to meet your demands.

The best way to retrieve a piece of egg shell that has fallen into the eggs is to use the rest of the shell to scoop it right out.

Heap Fruit Shells With Ambrosia

NEW YORK (UPI)—Grapefruit ambrosia makes a light dessert after a heavy meal.

Cut two grapefruit in half, crosswise, and remove sections. Set aside sections and trim membranes and cores from shells. Notch edges if desired.

Combine grapefruit meat with 2 sliced bananas, 3 tablespoons sugar, 2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice and ½ cup grated fresh coconut. Spoon into shells, sprinkle with more coconut and garnish each with whole uncapped strawberry. Chill before serving. Serves 4.

Add Extra Zest to Salad With Camembert Cheese

Here's an easy way to add a gourmet note to the salad course: accompany it with Camembert cheese and crisp crackers; be sure the greens are well crisped; and take pains with the French dressing. Make the dressing by the usual three-to-one formula, three parts of oil to one of vinegar. Use good oil and a mellow vinegar that adds flavor as well as sharpness. Red wine vinegar gives both good flavor and color. It is preferable to let the Camembert stand at room temperature before serving in order to assure that this choice cheese will have reached the perfection of its flavor.

Chili Sauce Gives Perch Tangy Taste

Ocean perch filets, on the National Fisheries Institute's plentiful list right now, are likely to stay there for weeks to come, as more than 16 million pounds are now frozen for plenty of economical good eating ahead, one million pounds more than at this time last year. Always marketed in frozen packages, these tender-meated filets are delicious prepared any number of ways—baked, broiled, pan-fried.

As the delicate flavor of ocean perch combines well with other foods, it is especially good when glazed with a spicy sauce and broiled with canned pineapple chunks. In fact, fish and pineapple can be broiled at the same time on a sheet of aluminum foil, turned up at the edges.

Chili-Glazed Ocean Perch Filets
1 package frozen ocean perch filets
1/4 cup chili sauce
Juice of half a lemon

Let filets thaw on refrigerator shelf. Cut block of filets into 4 parts. Arrange on aluminum foil on preheated greased broiler pan. Sprinkle blocks of filets with lemon juice and spread with chili sauce. Broil 2 inches from source of heat 8 to 10 minutes or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Makes 4 servings.

RICE WITH CABBAGE—Riso e Cavoli (Rice with Cabbage) is an inviting blend of rice, chicken stock, cooked ham and cabbage snapped up with black pepper.

Once Precious Spice Peps Up Rice

Once upon a time pepper was much too good for common folk. It cost a fortune. It was as precious as gold and was exchanged as wealth—taxes, tributes and ransoms could be paid with the valuable little peppercorns.

Fathers often hinted at the pepper they could provide as a dowry to attract eligible young men to their unmarried daughters. Battle, murder and sudden death were frequently the lot of those who dared to go in search of this fabulous berry.

Now everyone reaches for the pepper mill or shaker to add a fantalizing aroma to any of a great variety of dishes. Black pepper is the world's best-selling spice, particularly in America. By "pepper" we mean piper nigrum, the immature whole berries of a vine which grows in India and the East Indies.

Pepper, and spices generally, should enhance foods; entice, not command the taste buds. In Riso e Cavoli—Rice with Cabbage—the blend of rice, chicken stock, cooked ham and cabbage—it is the black pepper that gives the flavor excitement.

with remaining salt and black pepper.

Cover and steam until rice and cabbage are tender, about 10 minutes. Serve hot as the main dish. Yield: 8 servings.

If chicken stock is not available, use 1 chicken bouillon cube to each cup water specified in rice package directions.

Creamed Peas and Tuna Have Tomato Flavor

Here's an excellent Lenten special—creamed green peas and tuna. Combine one can of undiluted tomato soup with an equal measure of undiluted evaporated milk, then heat the mixture. Add one can of drained green peas.

Serve on buttered toast or hot waffles with a generous sprinkling of grated cheese. This is not only a mighty tasty dish but pretty to look at, too.

RISO E CAVOLI (Rice with Cabbage)

2 cups long-grained rice
2 cups chicken stock
2 teaspoons salt
2 cups diced leftover cooked ham
1/4 cup tomato paste
1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper
1 teaspoon instant minced onion
1 1/4 lb. firm head cabbage

Cook rice in chicken stock and salt according to directions on package. Combine ham, tomato paste, 1/4 teaspoon of the black pepper and onion and add to rice when it is about half done.

Remove outside leaves from cabbage, cut into six wedges. Remove the center stalks and place over the rice. Sprinkle GIANT CHERRY STACK—Pancakes for dessert are a welcome change from the usual cake and pie. But nothing will stop you from serving these cherry topped flapjacks at any meal. You might try them for a Sunday brunch too. Isn't it a pretty dish?

Cherry Topping Makes Giant Pancakes Better

Certainly George Washington never tasted a cherry dessert like this one! If he had, it surely would have been a favorite of his. George's cherry tree would have appropriately furnished the cherries, but Martha wouldn't have had the convenience of a mix to make the pancakes for this Giant Cherry Stack. How simple it is nowadays to have so many glamorous desserts when you have a package of your favorite pancake mix on the shelf!

Mix the pancakes according to the recipe directions, stirring lightly. Remember, the batter should not be entirely free from lumps for the lightest fluffiest pancakes. Bake only one at a time and keep the other pancakes warm in a very slow oven.

Stack them four or five high, sprinkling cinnamon sugar between each one. Over the top pour a thickened sweetened cherry sauce. The crimson topping makes this Giant Cherry Stack so inviting!

Since pancakes are traditional Lenten food, you'll find this Giant Cherry Stack is a timely dessert plus a welcome change from the usual pie and cake. Try it to complete a meal or, better still, for an evening party dessert with cups of coffee or tea.

GIANT CHERRY STACK
Sauce
One 1-lb. can frozen cherries, thawed
1/2 cup sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
Pancakes
2 cups pancake mix
2 cups milk
2 tablespoons liquid or melted shortening
2 eggs
Cinnamon-sugar
For sauce, combine all ingredients thoroughly. Cook over low heat until thickened; stir occasionally.

For pancakes, add milk, shortening and eggs to pancake mix, stirring lightly. Pour 1/4 cup batter for each pancake onto a hot, lightly greased griddle. Bake to a golden brown, turning only once. Place on cookie sheet; cover with aluminum foil and keep warm in 200 degree F. oven while baking other pancakes.

To serve, stack pancakes on platter with cinnamon-sugar sprinkled between. Top with hot cherry sauce. Cut in wedges.

Ice Will Crisp It

Chef's trick: dress thin strands of green cabbage (for slaw) with white wine vinegar, olive oil and seasonings. Add a couple of ice cubes when you mix the cabbage with the dressing, just before serving. Then remove ice cubes and sprinkle with minced parsley or paprika for a pretty topping.

Asparagus Likes Cheese

Drain heated canned asparagus and serve with melted butter and grated Parmesan or Romano cheese. Good with poached eggs on buttered toast.

For smooth mashed potatoes, try adding hot milk with the butter melted right in it.

Call Hostess to Explain Situation

Wedding May Take Place in Fiance's Church

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: I received an invitation to a large dance. It stipulates to let the hostess know before a certain date, which is about ten days before the dance, whether or not I will attend. I can't tell definitely yet and don't want to say no, if I can. Would it be very improper for me to send my answer several days after the date mentioned?"

Answer: You could telephone the hostess, explain the situation and ask if it will be possible to send your reply a few days later. She will probably say yes. But if she hesitates it will be best for you to decline.

Cherry Pie Contestants Warm Up for U. S. Finals

CHICAGO — Forty-eight state champions heated up their electric ranges today in final round competition for the 27th national Cherry Pie Baking Championship.

The finalists came from an original field of more than 135,000 contestants, ranging in age from 14 to 20. Local, county and state contests preceded the national event.

Michigan's champion in the event is Ann Fleming, 18, of South Haven.

The winner's prize is a college scholarship, an electric range, and an educational trip to Washington, D. C. and New York City. While in Washington, the champion traditionally presents the prize-winning pie at the White House.

WARM-UP SESSION

A warm-up session was held yesterday to allow the contestants to become thoroughly acquainted with their cooking equipment. Each champion produced a cherry dessert of his or her own creation.

The contestants, mostly members of the 4-H and Future Homemakers of America were brought to Chicago under sponsorship of the National Red Cherry Institute.

The contest is based on a point system covering baking technique, quality of pie and personal character.

Woman Marines Chief Hails From Texas

Redhead to Boss Lady Leathernecks

By United Press International

Command of the Women Marines will pass on March 1 to a red-haired, hazel-eyed officer who says the lady leathernecks value has been proved "beyond question" in its 16-year history.

She is Lt. Col. Margaret M. Henderson, who will succeed Col. Julia E. Hamblet as director of the Women Marines. She will get the Eagles of a full colonel.

Miss Henderson is 48. She joined the Marines in 1943 at the age of 32 after teaching school in Lubbock, Tex., for 11 years.

She says she felt joining the Marines was the patriotic thing to do. Miss Henderson said she could think of no better way to render service than to join the newly organized Women Marines and "time has not changed that conviction."

Col. Henderson says "with pride that the Marines have 2,343 occupational specialties, and that Women Marines are capable of filling 143 of these, ranging from stenographic work to jet engine maintenance."

When the Women Marines' new boss has a chance, her chief hobby is cooking from new recipes.

The 5-foot 9½-inch colonel was born in Cameron, Tex., graduated from high school at Kennedy, Tex., in 1928 and from the University of Texas in 1932.

COMMISSIONED IN 1943 She was commissioned in the Marine Reserves in June, 1943 after training at Mt. Holyoke, Mass. In World War II, she instructed Women Marines at Camp Lejeune, N. C., and served as officer in charge of the business school, Marine Corps Institute, Washington.

She went back to school teaching after the war for two and one-half years and then rejoined the Marines.

Dear Abby...

Her Cooking Is for Company Only

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: My wife has the reputation for being one of the best cooks in town. But the only time she'll cook is when we have company. I am not asking her to make anything fancy for me and the kids, but wouldn't you think she'd set the table and have a regular meal?"

"She lets the kids eat standing up at the kitchen counter and tells me to 'dig up' something. Any suggestions? Don't print my name or I'll get killed."

HUNGRY: You're complaining to the wrong woman. Threaten to expose your wife by announcing at her next dinner party. "I'm so glad we have company because we never eat like this otherwise." And you'll have no problem getting a square meal.

"DEAR ABBY: My 19-year-old daughter has lost her mind over a 36-year-old man who works where she works. They say they are getting married in July. She wants him to eat here, three or four nights a week. I tell her I can't afford it (he has an enormous appetite).

"Also on Saturday night he takes a bath here. His suit is left hanging in our closet. She wants me to take his shirts to the laundromat every week. His underclothes she gives me with her laundry to wash. I think that this is being too familiar. What do you think?"

UPSET: I think what you think.

"DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married for three years. Five months ago we were blessed with twin boys. Abby, my husband has no patience and he has made up his mind that these babies will be trained to obey. When one baby awakens and starts to cry, naturally the other one wakes up and they both cry.

"My husband goes to their cribs and whips them with his belt. It breaks my heart, but I can't do anything about it. My husband is so big and strong and ill-tempered. Sometimes there are marks on their little backs and bottoms. Abby, should I take my babies and go to my mother's? I am so ashamed and heart-broken. Please guide me right."

YOUNG MOTHER: A man who will whip babies with a belt as they lie in their cribs is sick in the head. If he refuses to see a doctor, pack up the babies and go to your mother's until he does.

"DEAR ABBY: A friend of mine said that another friend of mine started a rumor about me. This friend who was supposed to have said this about me is not the type to say what this other friend of mine said she said. In fact, what was said sounds more like it was said by this friend who said the other friend said it. Do you think I should call up the friend who was supposed to have said it and ask her to hear it from the horse's mouth?"

SUSPICIOUS: Let it go. In tracking down a rumor, the only thing you can hope to get from the horse's mouth is a horse laugh.

CONFIDENTIAL TO AL C. at the Hospital: You've got High Blood Pressure. Relax!

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

What Young People Think

Teenagers Vote for Big Families as 'Fun'

By EUGENE GILBERT
Gilbert Youth Research Co.
Census experts predict that in the next 10 years our population will increase spectacularly—and the attitude of today's teenagers about family size shows this may happen.
Exactly half of the 600 young people we questioned across the nation said they prefer large families. By and large, they mean families with four or more children.
The teenagers apparently are firmly against the one-child family. Sixty-four per cent said they do not approve of a family having only one child. Most of them think one child would be spoiled. Only 3 per cent said they would like to have just one child after they marry.
One-third of those polled said that having four children would be ideal, and nearly as many think that three children is average.
Those in favor of large families gave a number of reasons for their preference, but most of them boiled down to the idea that large families have more fun and get along together.

'MORE FUN'
Typical of the response was that made by Marie Bogacki, 16, of St. Louis, who said she prefers a large family "because a large family has more fun together. There is never a dull moment."
Another 16-year-old, Anne Rock of Jamaica Plain, Mass., sided with Marie, saying:
"I think children in a large family are more responsible. They have to care for the other children and do more work."
With this strong emphasis on large families, it might seem that the teenagers were giving no thought to the problems of feeding, clothing or educating a large family. But we asked them about this and got a lopsided response, with 83 per cent saying they think about the matter.

In some cases gave reasons that were similar to those preferring large families. For instance, Linda Whycoff, 17, of Jamaica Plain, Mass., voted for the large family because it is "closer together."
But Sue Rohrer, 14, of Detroit, prefers a small family, explaining "I think a small family is closer knit."
Steven Leffert, 15, of Los Angeles was one of the pro-small family group. "The children can get more attention," he said.
And Terry Penniman, 17, of Sac City, Iowa, argued that with a small family "the same things can be accomplished, like sharing, loving one another, etc., but in a small family more of each can be obtained."
When asked how many children they would like to have after they are married, 33 per cent picked the number four.
These responses came from teenagers choosing four or more children as ideal for a family:
"Four—because then they must learn to live with other people and to share things."—Leonard Kowalski, 16, Detroit.

"Four or six—because I love children and I want to have lots of my own, so I can give them all my love and devotion."—Karen Boswell, 17, St. Louis.
"Six—always has seemed like a nice happy home."—Fayth Carlson, 17, Duluth, Minn.
ONE, TWO, THREE
Those expressing preference for small families, put it this way:
"One—to one child I could give all the attention and time required to build a really well-rounded person."—Alice Groca, 18, Rockville, Md.
"Two—I can give two more advantages."—Harvey Montgomery, 18, Arlington, Va.
"Three—it affords plenty of companionship without being too many for the parents to control."—Bob Cohen, 20, Los Angeles.

In an effort to determine something about the composition of their own families, we asked each teenager about the number of other children.
Forty-seven per cent said they had one brother, and 51 per cent one sister. The majority—43 per cent—were the oldest in the family, and only 1 per cent of those interviewed had no brothers or sisters.
ON JEALOUSY
The teenagers were about evenly divided on the question of jealousy between two brothers or two sisters.
David McLeod, 15, of Detroit, was one of the 43 per cent believing there is jealousy. He said the "older is jealous of attention given to the younger, and vice versa."
But 40 per cent thought there is no jealousy in most cases, and gave explanations such as the one given by Mary Farmer, 17, of Sac City, Iowa, who said, "They learn to accept each other."
One other question about families was asked and this concerned the number of years separating children.
There is no question but that most of them feel there should be two years between children. Sixty-eight per cent picked two years as preferable.
Typical of the response of those favoring two years is the one made by Phyllis Bloom, 19, of Washington, D. C., who said, "They can help each other as they grow up."
And Terry Penniman, 17, of Sac City, Iowa, also selected two years, explaining that "the family matures at an even rate and each one enjoys the chance to be different."

Not one of those questioned said they would want to have a childless marriage.

Keep Right Eating Habit

Weight Loss Affects Personality

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
The following is a letter I have just received from a woman who joined my 8-Week Self-Improvement ment Marathon. She was in the fourth week of her self-improvement routine.

She says, "Dear Mrs. Lowman: I have lost a little over 10 pounds and you cannot know how much difference this makes in the way I look and feel. I had no idea what those 10 pounds had been doing to me. I have the sense of being attractive again and it has affected my whole personality. I am gay and I feel younger. I want to go places and do things! My husband is as happy as I am. He has noticed the big change, not only in the way I look but also in the way I think and act. He is more delighted about the last than my improvement in appearance."
"You see, I had a very good figure when we married eight years ago. We now have two children. I gained about 10 pounds when I had my first child but I lost five of that. The other five remained. Then I gained another 12 when my second child came along two years ago."

"That put me close to 20 pounds overweight. I have just procrastinated and have put off reducing over and over again. Having been accustomed to a good figure I was self-conscious."
"I guess I needed some prodding and direction like you have been giving us. Now tell me this! After having once gained weight, will I have to watch it constantly? I mean, is one more likely to gain when one has been fat before?"
I congratulate this young mother. I know that she is not exaggerating. Improvement in appearance can have a dramatic effect on personality, especially when a woman has been accustomed to being attractive.
To answer your question: Only if you once again acquire the eating habits which caused you to become overweight in the first place, will you gain.
Naturally, if a woman has a glandular deficiency which led to obesity in the first place, and still has the same condition, she will be apt to gain again—unless she combats it with medication from her physician and calorie counting. However, a VERY small percentage of overweight is due to a glandular lack.

If you missed Marathon and would like to join to see how much you can improve in eight weeks, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for the Marathon Booklet. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Karloff's Niece to Stand Trial
Charged With Choking, Drowning Her 2 Sons Last December

GUILDFORD, England (AP)—Mrs. Diana Bromley, 39, niece of actor Boris Karloff, has been ordered to trial on charges of strangling one of her sons and drowning the other.

Mrs. Bromley was charged in Magistrate's Court Wednesday. No date was set for the trial.

The woman is the wife of Thomas E. Bromley, a Foreign Office official attached to the British Cabinet who was British consul in Washington in 1946-49. Her father is Sir John Pratt, British diplomat, authority on the Far East, and brother of the stage and screen star, who dropped the family name and took the stage name Karloff.

At the preliminary hearing, Prosecuting Attorney M. J. Jardine told the court Mrs. Bromley drugged her sons—Martin, 13, and Stephen, 10,—after they came home from school last Dec. 16 for the Christmas holidays.

He said she laid the unconscious boys on a bed in the garage, backed in a car to pump out carbon monoxide fumes, and lay down with them.

After a while she realized they were still alive, said Jardine, and "she then killed Martin by strangling him with a belt. She carried Stephen upstairs to the bathroom and drowned him."

The attorney said Mrs. Bromley hacked at the boys' throats after they were dead, then cut her own throat and tried to drown herself in a lily pond.

Bromley, returning home that night with Christmas gifts, discovered bodies of the boys and then found his dark, attractive wife wandering in the woods. She has been in a London hospital since.

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — A South Korean battalion commander was accused today of shooting and killing his division commander after the superior officer severely reprimanded him and cut him across the face with a swagger stick.

The Defense Ministry said Lt. Col. Chung Koo Sun, 34, fired seven pistol rounds at close range and hit Brig. Gen. Suh Jung Chul, 40, four times.

Chung was arrested and an investigation was started. A ministry spokesman said charges of murder, disobedience and ungentlemanly conduct might be filed.

Cites Big Role of Manpower

Kaiser Says Challenge for the Future Lies in Developing Labor

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — America's greatest challenge in the future lies not so much in the development of resources as in the development of manpower, according to industrialist Henry J. Kaiser Jr.

Kaiser, vice president and director of Kaiser Industries Corp., told the convention of the American Institute of Mining, Metallurgical and Petroleum Engineers that "we're in for a future which literally knows no bounds."

He said that within 11 years, the American steel industry would increase annual production from 110 million tons to about 150 million tons — "the equivalent of 70 million automobiles."

"Aluminum capacity," he said, "is expected to rise even faster — and more than double itself by 1965. Production should increase from two million tons yearly to over four million tons — or enough to manufacture 64,000 jet transport planes."

Kaiser said cement, gypsum, glass and plywood should double in use by 1975.

"New housing starts in the 1970s are likely to average 1,700,000 or more," he said. "For every 100 houses we are building today, we will be building 150 by 1970 in the same amount of time."

Kaiser said such constantly accelerating growth requires thinking ahead not just five years, or 10, but as much as 25 and 50.

"If we don't — if we cling to the standard techniques we now have, hoping to get by — many of us will be doomed to failure," he said.

Some 4,000 delegates are attending the five-day convention, which ends today.

The institute's three constituent organizations include the Society of Mining Engineers, the Metallurgical Society and the Society of Petroleum Engineers.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Pro tennis champ Pancho Gonzales has the fastest service in the world. Once his delivery was clocked at 113 miles per hour.

GARBAGE GARB — Striped pants, formal coat, white gloves and bowler comprise attire of the well-dressed English garbage man these days. Gimmick demonstrated in Woking, Surrey, is new refuse can which can be emptied without fuss or muss.

Guajiros Keep Tribal Life in Mountains of Venezuela

WASHINGTON—Less than 100 miles from Venezuela's modern oil port of Maracaibo, a group of South American Indians clings to a way of life little changed since the Spanish Conquest.

Their home is the arid, inhospitable Guajira Peninsula, jutting into the Caribbean from the continent's northwest shoulder.

The peninsula mostly belongs to Colombia, from which it is isolated by rugged mountains, says the National Geographic Society. Venezuela holds a small neck of land and coastal strip. But the Guajiros of both countries are united in an ancient tribal society that is virtually autonomous in social and political organization.

ARABS OF THE WEST

The Guajiros are small to medium in size, with coal-black hair and copper-colored skin that runs to lighter shades among the upper class. Their total population, broken down into many clans or "sibs," has been estimated anywhere from 30,000 to 130,000.

As a pastoral people of superb horsemanship, the aborigines are nicknamed the "Arabs of the West." Like the Eastern nomads, they wander over bleak and sandy scrub lands, forever seeking water and forage.

Wealth and prestige are based on livestock, introduced originally by the Spaniards in the 16th century. The Guajiros tend to hoard their cattle, depending for meat on goats, sheep and pigs.

Small game, wild seeds, and the pulp and fruit of thorny plants supplement the diet. Fish, lobster and crabs are hunted along the coast.

A few tribes, settled in rare pockets of fertility, cultivate crops.

WOMEN INFLUENTIAL

The Guajiros' tribal organization does not include central government. Each sib has its own chief, forage area and cattle brand.

Women occupy an influential position, though wives are bought and polygamy is practiced to the extent men can afford it. Rank is passed on through the maternal line. A few women have become chiefs.

The Guajiros have an ancient custom of secluding girls at the age of puberty. During the Blanqueo, which may last from several weeks to two years, the girls learn to weave and keep house. Sheltered from the high winds and burning sun of their homeland, they also gain the admired paleness that attracts husbands.

A striking factor in Guajiro life is the law of compensation, which demands a life for a life, an eye for an eye—or the financial equivalent. Strangely, responsibility for wrongdoing may extend to persons only indirectly involved. If an intoxicated Indian commits a crime, for instance, the shopkeeper who sold the liquor may have to pay up.

Bears Moving In

MEADOW LAKE, SASK., Canada (AP) — Eddy and Ronald Esau shot four bears on the Peter B. Friesen farm 10 miles north of here in a single day. George MacDuff just previously had shot three in one day on a farm 10 miles southeast of here.

Paul Smarks, the ambitious president of the Michigan Coaches Association, is a disappointed but not discouraged man.

In his battle, as head of the coaches group, to gain representation on the Executive Council of the Michigan High School Athletic Association, Smarks has been repeatedly turned back by the principals who make up the organization.

The recent veto of the principals in giving high school coaches representation on the athletic body was the second setback in this regard for Smarks and his association.

"We will continue to seek fair and justifiable representation," said Smarks, "after all, coaches are dedicating much of their lives to the youths of this state why shouldn't they be heard on matters of physical education and athletics?"

"We do not challenge the authority of the superintendent or the principal in any school to oversee his entire educational program, but we should have a voice in our own workshop," Smarks added.

"Justification" is the right word picked by Smarks, but there is very little meaning in the word to be found in the setup and the antique constitution of the Michigan High School Athletic Association.

What makes the principals in the state fear the coaches so much that they would deny them a voice in their own profession?

It is hard to figure out, except there must be a tremendous fear among many principals that athletics in the MHSAA might be "disrupted" to a point of common sense.

When Lynn M. Bartlett was seeking the office of State Superintendent of Public Instruction, the Coaches Association jumped on his bandwagon.

"The Messiah" is here, so they thought. Bartlett indicated he was in favor of giving the coaches a seat on the executive council.

When the vote came up, the coaches lost by a wide 4-1 margin. It was obvious Bartlett's "blessing" held little favor with the principals.

Now Smarks is pointing to legalities. He refers to a paragraph put into the Michigan constitution by the legislature which reads: "The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall have supervision and may exercise control over the interscholastic athletic activities of all the schools of the state."

What now Mr. Bartlett—recommendation or action?

Lakers Defeat Pistons 2nd Time in 2 Nights

By The Associated Press
The New York Knickerbockers' magic number for clinching second place in the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Assn. was down to a lucky seven today.

The Knicks took a 5½ game lead over Syracuse by defeating the Cincinnati Royals 118-116 last night. Any combination of New York victories or Syracuse defeats totaling seven will clinch second place for Fuzzy Levane's crew.

In the only other NBA game yesterday, the Minneapolis Lakers posted their second triumph over Detroit in as many nights, 105-95.

Richie Guerin, hitting consistently from outside, was the big gun for New York. He scored 33 points in a game that was close throughout. Jack George sank two free throws with 13 seconds left to clinch the verdict for the Knicks. Jack Twyman was the Royals' high scorer with 34 points.

Minneapolis got 29 points from Elgin Baylor and 25 from Larry Foust as it opened a three-game lead over the Pistons in the battle for second place in the Western Division. The Lakers led all the way. Gene Shue topped Detroit with 22 points.

Northern Wrestlers Win Fifth by 52-0

Taking advantage of three forfeits, the Pontiac Northern wrestlers drubbed visiting Flint Tech 52-0 last night for their 5th dual victory in nine starts.

The victory insured the charges of Bill Willson of at least a .500 season in their first year with one match remaining.

Bob Hocking's 34-second pin featured the rout. Carl Bills, Jerry Fields and George Graves were other Huskies to win on falls.

Stan Hertel and Winfred Miracle took one-sided decisions while Maurice Lackey and Don Davis were other victors.

The only match PNH did not win was an exhibition in which Jim Teets was involved in a draw. Mel Oswald took the other.

Marciano Buys Bowling Alley

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Rocky Marciano, who made a fortune knocking 'em down, is now going to concentrate on setting 'em up.

The former heavyweight boxing champion announced that he has purchased a 36-lane bowling alley in Hollywood, Fla., and will devote full time to the business as owner and operator.

"This will be my job from now on," Rocky said. "I have bought a home in the area and will be at the lanes every day."

Rangers Lose 6th in Row

Hawks Help Struggling Wings in 4-2 Victory; Maloney Scores Pair

By The Associated Press
Whether it's beer and pastries as Coach Phil Watson believes, the New York Rangers just can't shake off the third period jinx that is dampening their chances of gaining a Stanley Cup playoff position in the National Hockey League.

Last night, the Rangers dropped a 4-2 decision to the Chicago Black Hawks in the only game scheduled. The setback was their sixth in a row—the longest losing streak in the NHL this season.

New York was beaten when Phil Maloney and Tod Sloan scored third period goals for Chicago after the teams skated off tied at 2-all at the close of the second session. The Rangers have been blanked in the third period in each of the last six games while their opponents have scored 14 times.

Maloney's first goal and one by Earl Balfour put the Hawks in front 2-0 in the first period. But Andy Bathgate and Dean Prentice deadlocked matters in the second.

The setback left the Rangers in fourth place, four points ahead of Detroit. The Red Wings, however, have two less games and have a chance to gain ground tonight when they meet the league-leading Montreal Canadiens.

The Pistons also announced that their game on Sunday, March 1, against the Cincinnati Royals will be a matinee contest instead of a night game, as previously announced. It, too, will be played at U. of D.

Tigers Make 'Package Offer' to A's

Ferrell Trying to Land Maris From Athletics

New Detroit General Manager Sees Trade in Making

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—General Manager Rick Ferrell of the Detroit Tigers made a package offer to the Kansas City Athletics yesterday, apparently for Roger Maris.

Ferrell would not say whom he offered nor would he admit that the power-hitting Maris was the player he was trying to land. But the Tigers have had their eye on the 24-year-old outfielder and Ferrell a few days ago said he would "push hard" for a batter of Maris' caliber before the Tigers open their American League season April 10.

"The Athletics haven't made a trade since last year," said Ferrell, acting general manager since the departure of John McHale. "It's hard to see how they can go into a new season without making one."

"They have several players we like," Ferrell added, "and if we can get together on the right men, there is a good chance for a trade."

Maris currently is a much sought ball player. In 1957 he hit 14 home runs in 116 games for the Cleveland Indians. He doubled that figure last year in 51 games at Cleveland and 99 at Kansas City.

In two seasons against the Tigers, Maris has hit 12 home runs and 10 of them were in Briggs Stadium.

Ferrell said none of the Tigers' top players was in the package he offered the A's. He made his proposal to Parke Carroll, Kansas City's general manager, in a telephone conversation. Carroll promised to talk over the proposition when he arrives in Florida next week.

This was the first concrete trade Ferrell has proposed since he took over for McHale last month.

"I did some talking with the Yankees in New York but found they aren't anxious to make any deals with us," Ferrell said.

Ned Irish New Boss of Garden

NEW YORK (AP)—Ned Irish, executive vice president of Madison Square Garden Corp., will take over as president under the new owners of the controlling stock in the big New York sports arena.

This was disclosed at a hearing Wednesday when Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan approved the sale by James D. Norris and Arthur M. Wirtz of their 219,350 shares of Garden stock to the Graham-Paige Corp. for $3,948,300.

It was Judge Ryan who handed down the antitrust decree against the International Boxing Clubs of New York and Illinois. Norris had been president and Wirtz treasurer of the Garden Corp., parent organization of the clubs, until their recent resignations.

Judge Ryan had ordered the two boxing clubs dissolved and ruled Norris and Wirtz had to sell their Garden stock. His decree was upheld by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Bill Davis fired 20 points to pace the winners' attack. Eugene Gidcumbe scored 14 for Boys Club.

In Class D National League action, Don Smith tallied 22 points to lead Lakeside Shopping to a 54-33 triumph over Coca Cola. Bob Colisch made 12 for the losers.

Baseball's Hospital List Grows; Mantle Says No

By The Associated Press
Baseball's hospital patients shared the spotlight today with the latest contract signees and potential holdouts.

Red Schoendienst, Milwaukee second baseman, and Bill Rigney, San Francisco manager, already hospitalized, were joined yesterday by Lindy McDaniel, St. Louis Cardinals' right-handed pitcher.

McDaniel underwent an emergency appendectomy in Meridian, Miss. He was in surgery for an hour and is expected to join the Cardinals in St. Petersburg, Fla., next week.

Schoendienst, who has tuberculosis, is expected to undergo surgery today for removal of a small diseased portion of his lung. His physician said, "We are optimistic about Red's chances of playing in 1960."

Rigney is recovering rapidly from injuries received in an automobile accident. Giants' President Horace Stoneham talked with Rigney by phone from Phoenix, Ariz., and reported, "It looks like he will be out of the hospital Friday and could be here Monday for the official opening of spring training."

In Kansas City, outfielder Bob Cerv, who played with a wired jaw several months last season, and Athletics' General Manager Parke Carroll reached a deadlock in their salary talks. It is believed that Cerv is asking for $30,000, double the amount offered him.

"Mr. Carroll left future talks up to me," said Cerv, who hit 38 homers and had a .305 batting average. "He said 'go home and think about it.' As far as I'm concerned I've thought plenty about it."

The Mickey Mantle-New York Yankees contract squabble was again in the news. The star outfielder said he won't go into spring training without signing his contract. Mickey said he had sent back the contract offered him and has discussed it twice with the Yanks by telephone.

Yankee General Manager George Weiss did manage to get in some productive effort. He signed Don Larsen, the no-hit pitcher of the 1956 World Series for an estimated $18,000. Also coming to terms with the World Champions were first baseman Marv Throneberry and Frank Leja.

Rams Entertain St. Bernard Five

Only Area Parochial Tilt Here Friday; St. Michael at Visitation

Only one of the three area Catholic basketball clubs will be in action, on the home front, Friday night. Parochial fans are promised a red-hot argument at St. Thomas Hall, where St. Frederick tangles with strong St. Bernard in a game set for 7 p.m.

While the Rams are at home, St. Michael opposes a tall Detroit Visitation club at Visitation Community Center, 2800 Burdette.

Pete Viviano, for 18 years the Ramblers' coach, brings a good club here. It has a 8-3 record, boasts several outstanding boys in Jay Frontera (21-point average), and John Trupiano. Frontera is the ace scorer, Trupiano (6-3) a fine rebounder. Both are hard to stop.

Both Shamrock and Ram tiffs are "firsts" with their respective opponents.

Chavez Ravine Deed Expected

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Gov. Edmund Brown expects a deed for 36 acres of Chavez Ravine to be delivered today to the City of Los Angeles.

After the city pays the state $170,374 for the acreage it can do anything it wants with the property, Brown says.

Los Angeles plans to turn the 36 acres and other land in the area over to the Los Angeles Dodgers for a baseball stadium.

The assembly committee on governmental efficiency and economy reported yesterday it could find no reason for holding up the sale.

Wheaton Quits League

WHEATON, Ill. (AP)—Wheaton Wednesday quit the College Conference of Illinois because the college was winning too many championships in football, basketball and track.

Athletic Director Harv Chrouser said Wheaton officials decided on withdrawal from the eight-member conference because of "apparent inequity of strength" due to Wheaton's larger enrollment of 1,700. Since becoming a charter member of the conference in 1946, Wheaton's conference record has included: Eleven track titles under Gil Dadds, former famed miler.

Lions Confident That Both Will Decline Offers

Respective Alma Maters Have Assistants' Jobs Still Open

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Lions are confident both Earl Morrall and Terry Barr will decline coaching opportunities and return to the professional football club next season.

"We have talked with both of them," said president-general manager Edwin J. Anderson, "and I feel certain they will be back in the Detroit Lions' camp in July."

Morrall reportedly has been offered an assistant coaching job at Michigan State, his alma mater, and Barr apparently could have an assistant's job at Michigan, his alma mater, if he said the word.

"We have no reason to believe they won't return," said Anderson.

Neither school is saying, of course, that any other has been made. But both are looking for assistants and it is known both Morrall and Barr have been approached about getting into coaching at their respective schools.

"Both of them have good futures in professional football," said coach George Wilson. "If they did not, then I would think it would be wise for them to grab a coaching job. But both of these fellows are fine athletes, and great assets to our club."

Wilson recalled that tackle John Gordy played one season with the Lions — in 1957 — then took an assistant coaching job at Nebraska, only to return to the Lions for next season.

"We believe this is a good illustration of how a player can get to feeling that he must grab at the first coaching opportunity," said Anderson. "Someone told Gordy on that idea. Now he knows he can learn a lot of football, and earn more money, while playing the pro league. There will be other coaching opportunities, and better ones, later on."

Urge Ohio Bill Against Betting

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—A measure to eliminate "all wagering, gambling, or betting at race tracks" in Ohio was introduced in the legislature yesterday.

The bill, offered by State Rep. Charles F. Madden Jr., means the death knell of the betting window at both harness and running tracks should it pass.

Gov. Michael Disalle recently hit at betting, stating that he found it hard to justify betting on horses.

Disalle did not advocate the elimination of all betting, however, but he is urging bills to reduce the number of tracks and racing days in Ohio.

"It would be hard to eliminate horse racing," the governor said, "but at least we could clean it up."

Weather Hinders Olympic Hopes Heavy Snow Irks Skiers

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (AP)—Cussing the weather was the favorite sport at Squaw Valley today as heavy snow fell steadily on ski courses where pre-Olympic tests are scheduled this weekend. More than 18 inches of snow fell Wednesday and was continuing.

While most of the early-arriving contestants boled up in their dormitories, 105 millimeter recoilless rifles banged away yesterday at dangerous corners on the ski courses, trying to knock down snow piles that might cause avalanches.

Morale was low, especially among Chileans who came early to practice.

Treacherous conditions on the Squaw Peak men's downhill course caused officials to switch this event, set for Monday, to the shorter women's course known as KT 22.

Instead of racing down the 2 1/2 mile Squaw Peak course once, as is customary, contestants will make two runs down KT 22, which is about 1 1/2 miles.

The change in courses was made after officials closed the unmade Squaw Peak course, west of the valley.

Visibility was cut to 50 to 100 feet for a brief time yesterday, then improved to a mile or two. Through it all, show packing machines and workmen spent most of the day getting KT 22 ready.

There had been some hope that the storm, which started after rain Sunday, would stop. But the latest forecast said it would continue at least until tonight.

However, officials said the men's and women's slalom events would go off as scheduled Saturday and Sunday.

Vikings of Flint Northern Battle Chiefs for Title

PCH Cagers Eye Valley Honors in State's Top High School Game

By BILL CORNWELL

Friday is "V-Day" in the basketball fortunes of Pontiac Central High School.

The "V" could stand for victory, of course, and all of Central's many well-wishers who have followed the Chiefs through thick and thin this season hope that it does.

But in this case the letter V will have to stand for Vikings—the Vikings of Flint Northern whom the Chiefs meet tomorrow night at Wildanger Fieldhouse in Flint with the Saginaw Valley Conference title at stake.

Maybe the letter V will change its meaning from the Vikings to victory for PCH after the battle is ended, but to do it the Chiefs will have to play 32 minutes of basketball at its very best.

This is the No. 1 prep attraction in Michigan. No other game on the weekend horizon can compare with it in glamor or magnitude of importance.

The championship of Michigan's toughest Class A league rides on the outcome. The contest pits the state's top-ranked quintet — Pontiac Central — against 4th-rated Flint Northern.

To the winner goes at least a share of the Valley crown and an even more solid foothold in the weekly prep poll.

Coach Art Van Rybin's Pontiac cagers proudly display an overall 12-1 record and a 7-1 mark in loop play. Their lone defeat was a 53-52 overtime loss at the hands of Valley rival Flint Central on the latter's court after the Chiefs had whipped the Indians here.

Flint Northern, coached by Jack Marlette, is equally proud of an over-all 11-1 slate and a Valley record identical to Pontiac — 7-1. The Vikings' only reversal was a 57-49 loss to the Chiefs at PCH and the Northern have been waiting for the return match ever since.

Wildanger's 2,000-capacity gymnasium is expected to be filled to overflowing for this showdown engagement between two of the state's best schoolboy teams. Game time is 8 p.m.

The winner will clinch a tie for the championship. Each team has one conference contest following tomorrow's dogfight. PCH has to travel to Saginaw High and Northern goes to Bay City Central, both on the night of Friday, Feb. 27, to close the regular season schedule.

Northern seeks to earn at least a share of its 5th Valley title in the last eight seasons. The Chiefs last won the crown in 1957 when they went through the 10-game SVC schedule unbeaten to gain honors all alone.

With leadoff man L. G. Haynie rolling a 600 series, Clinton's posted a 2.746 and knocked Jones Truck Lines of Muskogee, Okla., into second place. Jones had gained the lead Sunday, first day of the 72-day tourney, with 2.712.

The booster division is for teams with an average of 830 or less.

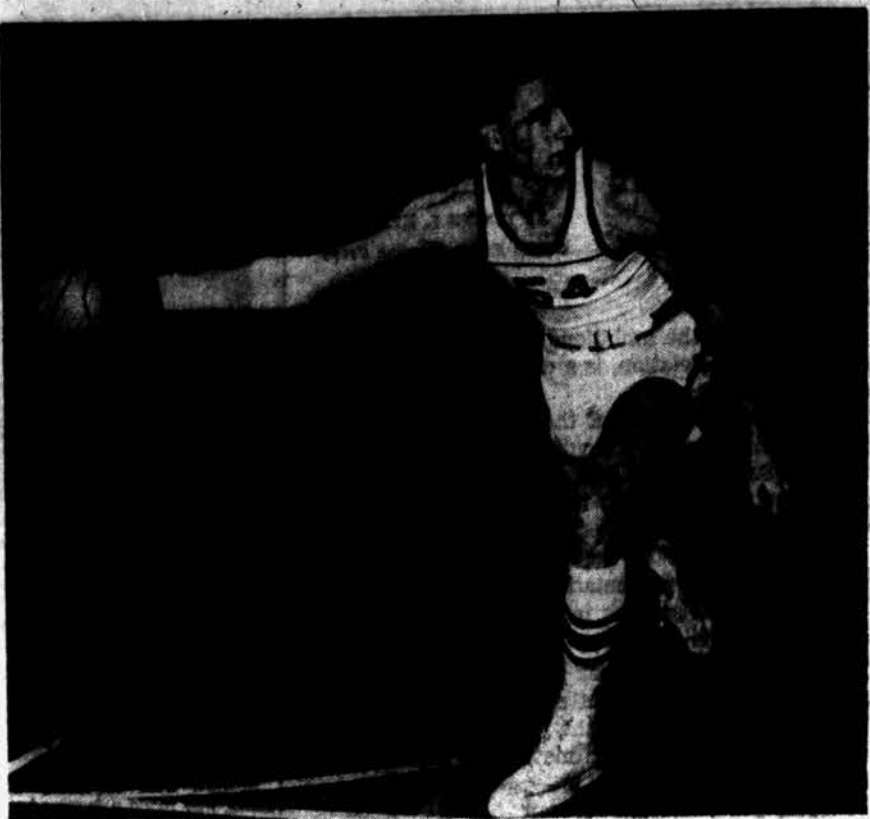

In the open team division, Blatz Beer of Toledo, O., moved into eighth place with 2,830. Metropolitan Clothing of Dayton, O., leads that division with 2,865.

No one broke into the top 10 in the singles, doubles or all-events divisions.

'Hoppy' Has Makeover

Howard (Hopalong) Cassidy, halfback of the Detroit Lions, is recovering from minor surgery in a Detroit hospital.

Cassidy underwent corrective surgery on his nose.

Tar Heels Aim for National Title

By The Associated Press

North Carolina is the proven class of Atlantic Coast Conference basketball. But the Tar Heels still have to go through two more weeks of "Russian roulette" before they can attempt another national championship.

Russian roulette is coach Frank McGuire's term for an ACC system that junks a full season of competition and orders a post-season tournament to determine the conference representative in the National Collegiate championships.

With an 11-0 conference slate, like that of the Tar Heels after last night's 74-67 victory over North Carolina State, most teams could start firming plans for the NCAA.

But the Tar Heels will have to hope that luck doesn't run out during the ACC tournament at Raleigh March 5-7. The NCAA would like to have the team currently rated the nation's best in the Associated Press poll.

North Carolina (17-1 over-all) nailed its second clutch decision over State by sinking 26 of 30 free throws.

In other big ones Eastern Kentucky wrapped up the Ohio Valley Conference and an NCAA berth with a 72-70 victory over Western Kentucky; Kentucky kept in the Southeastern chase with an 83-71 triumph over Vanderbilt; Texas Christian moved closer to the Southwest conference title in a 68-64 decision over Rice, and West Virginia battered Pitt 50-69.

Tournament hopefuls St. Joseph's (Pa.), LaSalle, Navy and St. Francis (Pa.) won again, and NIT entries Villanova and Fordham fattened their records.

St. Joseph's routed Bucknell 87-64, LaSalle wallowed Albright 93-62, Navy whipped Georgetown (DC) 72-47 and St. Francis topped Steubenville, one of the small school powers of the midwest, 74-68.

Villanova shot its record to 17-4 in a 67-54 romp over Buffalo and Fordham celebrated with a 66-62 decision over Canisius.

Baseball rules state that a runner must touch each base in proper sequence in order to score a run. But when he fails to touch a base or when other runners on, how is the mixup unraveled?

Here is just such a theoretical situation. What is your decision?

Jim Piersall is on second base, and Vic Power on first for the Cleveland Indians against the Detroit Tigers. No one is out and Russ Nixon, the next batter, sends a long drive that lands safely in right center field. Piersall and Power score and Nixon reaches second. However, third baseman Eddie Yost of Detroit noticed that Piersall did not touch third base. He gets the ball, stops on third and speaks to the umpire. The umpire agrees that Piersall did not touch the bag.

Do you think that:

a. All runners are out, retiring the side?
b. Piersall and Power are out?
c. Only Piersall is out?

May Settle 2 Loop Titles Friday

Romeo, Troy Can Clinch 1st on Home Courts

Northern Hosts Cranes; Waterford, Avondale and Holly Also Home

Two of Oakland County's five remaining unsettled prep basketball league races can be decided tomorrow and a third will be partially in the books providing the favorites are victorious.

Topping a slim non-league list will be the game at Pontiac Northern matching the Huskies against Cranbrook. The Cranes should rate the edge on the basis of a 58-36 romp last month but they have dropped all three outings since while PNH has won two of its last three.

Troy in the Oakland B and surprising Romeo in the Tri-County are the teams seeking clinchers while Wayne-Oakland pacesetter Brighton can be assured a title tie by winning Friday.

The Eastern Michigan and Southern Thumb loops still have wide open battles with three contenders in each case. Fighting for the runnerup slot is all that's left in the Inter-Lakes and South Central.

The big Romeo five, which has come along fast after a mediocre start, will have its work cut out against improved Lapeer. The Bulldogs have won seven straight including a 73-67 verdict at Lapeer but in a row since that loss. Rochester will be a strong choice as host to lowly L'Anse Creuse. Triumphs for Lapeer and Rochester would end play in a three-way deadlock. Troy will be heavily favored to wrap things up at home against Clawson although the Colts only nipped the Trojans by two earlier. The league's 2nd slot could be determined as Lake Orion visits Fitzgerald needing a win to tie. Avondale, carrying a slim chance for a share of the No. 2 place, is host to Rick Moos and Madison.

Brighton will be expected to nail down at least a part of the W.O. crown at Clareville in gunning for its 9th straight win. Holly will be seeking No. 11 in succession at home against dangerous West Bloomfield boasting a 7-1 loop record to 8-0 for BHS. Milford travels to Northville and Bloomfield Hills plays at Clarkston in either case.

Two of the three EML title aspirants will be in loop games. Port Huron is favored to take over sole possession of 1st by beating Hazel Park since co-leader East Detroit will be going outside to meet weak Roseville. Ferndale will have its hands full at Birmingham needing a win to keep up the torrid pace.

Walled Lake and Farmington are deadlocked for 2nd in the I-L with Southfield one game back. The Falcons can eliminate the Bluejays tonight and take over the position alone unless Walled Lake can upset undefeated Berkley. Waterford and Van Dyke will duel for the cellar at the Skipper court.

Oxford is waging a tussle with Millington for runnerup in the SCC but must face power Imlay City at home tonight while Orionville entertains North Branch. Millington preps for next week against Frankenmuth.

Two of the Thumb powers collide as Almont puts its slim lead on the line against Anchor Bay. New Haven stands to gain on the loser by tripping Armada. Capac is at Dryden and Memphis goes to Brown City in other action.

Aussie Cricket Ace With Yanks

SYDNEY (AP)—Dashing cricketer Norm O'Neill was given the nod by his boss today to spend four weeks training with the New York Yankees baseball team in St. Petersburg, Fla.

O'Neill, 21, is the brightest hope of Australian cricket. He is a star bat and renowned at throwing the ball straight and fast at the wicket. He is also an inter-state baseball player—possibly a little higher standard than United States high school.

The Yankees announced on Tuesday they would give O'Neill a trial, and he is expected at St. Petersburg on March 4.

Ira Murchison to Run in Milwaukee March 9

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Ira Murchison, co-holder of the world record of 10.1 seconds in the 100-meter dash, will make his first start of the indoor track campaign in the Journal Games March 9.

Murchison, a student at Western Michigan, will defend his title in the 50-yard dash. He accepted an invitation Wednesday to compete. Murchison has not competed since the holidays because of illness. He started working out again Monday.

One of the highlights of every bowling season comes up again here Saturday when the Bowling Proprietors Association of Greater Pontiac sponsors its annual Captain-Sponsor tournament.

All the action is at East Highland Recreation this year where five of the doubles teams already jumped the gun last Sunday because they cannot take part Saturday.

The big day is annually climaxed with a gala banquet for everyone taking part. The Old Mill Tavern will be the scene of the fete again Saturday night. All kinds of awards are given away at the affair as a climax to a big day of fun.

Association officers Stan Mayes and Barb Howe and Jay Koprine have been working hard on arrangements—especially concerning the banquet. They hope to have a top name bowler and city official as leading guests.

This is biggest fun-packed event of the keg season each year here and in several communities. It is the one time where the captain is able to show his appreciation to his sponsor.

The standings of the Michigan Elks tournament at Ann Arbor should have some Pontiac men at or near the top in one or more of the divisions by Sunday night. Teams from Lodge 810 will fill three squads there Saturday in the final local bid for state honors.

May Settle 2 Loop Titles Friday

Northern Hosts Cranes; Waterford, Avondale and Holly Also Home

Two of Oakland County's five remaining unsettled prep basketball league races can be decided tomorrow and a third will be partially in the books providing the favorites are victorious.

Topping a slim non-league list will be the game at Pontiac Northern matching the Huskies against Cranbrook. The Cranes should take the edge on the basis of a 58-38 romp last month but they have dropped all three outings since while PNH has won two of its last three.

Troy in the Oakland B and surprising Romeo in the Tri-County are the teams seeking clinchers while Wayne-Oakland pacesetter Brighton can be assured a title tie by winning Friday.

The Eastern Michigan and Southern Thumb loops still have wide open battles with three contenders in each case. Fighting for the runnerup slot is all that's left in the Inter-Lakes and South Central.

The big Romeo five, which has come along fast after a mediocre start, will have its work cut out against improved Lapeer. The Bulldogs have won seven straight including a 73-67 verdict at Lapeer but the Panthers have taken three in a row since that loss. Rochester will be a strong choice as host to lowly L'Anse Creuse. Triumphs for Lapeer and Rochester would end play in a three-way deadlock.

Troy will be heavily favored to wrap things up at home against Clawson although the Colts only nipped the Trojans two years earlier. The league's 2nd slot could be determined as Lake Orion visits Fitzgerald needing a win to tie. Avondale, carrying a slim chance for a share of the No. 2 place, is host to Rick Moos and Madison.

Brighton will be expected to nail down at least a part of the W-O crown at Clarenceville in gunning for its 9th straight win. Holly will be seeking No. 11 in succession at home against dangerous West Bloomfield boasting a 7-1 loop record to 8-0 for BHS. Milford travels to Northville and Bloomfield Hills plays at Clarkson in other action.

Two of the three EML title aspirants will be in loop games. Port Huron is favored to take over sole possession of 1st by beating Hazel Park since co-leader East Detroit will be going outside to meet weak Roseville. Ferndale will have its hands full at Birmingham needing a win to keep up the torrid pace.

Walled Lake and Farmington are deadlocked for 2nd in the I-L with Southfield one game back. The Falcons can eliminate the Bluejays tonight and take over the position alone unless Walled Lake can upset undefeated Berkley. Waterford and Van Dyke will duel for the cellar at the Skipper court.

Oxford is waging a tussle with Millington for runnerup in the S-C but must face power Inlay City at home tonight while Orionville entertains North Branch. Millington preps for next week against Frankenthuth.

Two of the Thumb powers collide as Almont puts its slim lead on the line against Anchor Bay. New Haven stands to gain on the loser by tripping Armada. Capac is at Dryden and Memphis goes to Brown City in other action.

MEET DIRECTOR, STAR PUPIL — Gene Norris, Pontiac Central High swimming coach and director for the March 6-7 Saginaw Valley championships here, has a word with a star pupil. Bruce Norvell, ace orthodox breaststroke swimmer, is rated a threat in his specialty. This is Pontiac's first Valley title meet and takes place in the Pontiac Northern pool.

First Time in Pontiac

Gene Norris, Pontiac Central coach, is the meet manager.

Officials for the six-school event, the Valley's fourth annual championship meet, will be headed by Earl N. Risky, director of intramural sports, University of Michigan. Risky will be head official and starter. Francis W. Staley, PCH principal is honorary referee.

Awards will be presented by administrative aide (PCH) William Lacy.

Aussie Cricket Ace With Yanks

SYDNEY (AP)—Dashing cricketer Norm O'Neill was given the nod by his boss today to spend four weeks training with the New York Yankees baseball team in St. Petersburg, Fla.

O'Neill, 21, is the brightest hope of Australian cricket. He is a star bat and renowned at throwing the ball straight and fast at the wicket. He is also an inter-state baseball player—possibly a little higher standard than United States high school.

The Yankees announced on Tuesday they would give O'Neill a trial, and he is expected at St. Petersburg on March 4.

Ira Murchison to Run in Milwaukee March 9

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Ira Murchison, co-holder of the world record of 10.1 seconds in the 100-meter dash, will make his first start of the indoor track campaign in the Journal Games March 9.

Murchison, a student at Western Michigan, will defend his title in the 50-yard dash. He accepted an invitation Wednesday to compete. Murchison has not competed since the holidays because of illness. He started working out again Monday.

One of the highlights of every bowling season comes up again here Saturday when the Bowling Proprietors Association of Greater Pontiac sponsors its annual Captain-Sponsor tournament.

All the action is at East Highland Recreation this year where five of the doubles teams already jumped the gun last Sunday because they cannot take part Saturday.

The big day is annually climaxed with a gala banquet for everyone taking part.

The Old Mill Tavern will be the scene of the fete again Saturday night. All kinds of awards are given away at the affair as a climax to a big day of fun.

Association officers Stan Mayes and Barb Howe and Jay Koprine have been working hard on arrangements—especially concerning the banquet. They hope to have a top name bowler and city official as leading guests.

This is biggest fun-packed event of the keg season each year here and in several communities. It is the one time where the captain is able to show his appreciation to his sponsor.

The standings of the Michigan Elks tournament at Ann Arbor should have some Pontiac men at or near the top in one or more of the divisions by Sunday night. Teams from Lodge 810 will fill three squads there Saturday in the final local bid for state honors.

Johansson Will Bring Family Here for Drills

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—Ingemar Johansson is not going to take any chances of getting homesick while working out for his title fight with champion Floyd Patterson.

The Swedish heavyweight said today he will take his parents, brother Rolf, a few more relatives and his girl friend with him to the United States. The date and site of the fight have not been announced but it is expected to be held late in June in either Los Angeles or New York.

"I want to feel at home when I am preparing myself for a fight," Johansson said. "I get homesick if I don't have my folks around."

Johansson, his advisor, Edwin Ahlquist and trainers will leave Sweden 10 weeks before the title fight.

2 Grid Assistants

Wait MSU Approval

EAST LANSING (UPI)—The State Board of Agriculture was expected today to approve the appointment of two assistant Michigan State football coaches.

Cal Stoll, assistant coach at Georgia, and Danny Boisture, head coach at Redford St. Mary's, have been named to the MSU staff by head coach Duffy Daugherty subject to board approval.

Daugherty lost three assistants when Sonny Grandelius was named head coach at Colorado and took along Buck Nystrom and John Polonchek.

ONLY A DREAM—Supplying isolated advance positions, as shown in this drawing, would be one use of the new, cargo-carrying "Lobber."

Pentagon Plans for Future

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Pentagon planners are now dreaming of a completely mobile army that would include:

Tank divisions that could range a thousand miles in a fast deep sweep into enemy territory. They wouldn't slow down for fuel or ammunition. Fuel and ammunition-carrying ballistic cargo missiles would be shot to rendezvous points at 1,500 miles an hour.

Pentomic atom-age infantry, fighting in small semi-isolated units, forced by the speed of fast-moving battle to carry a minimum of food and ammunition. With no front or a rear, and no stable lines of communication, they could still be missile-fed supplies with pinpoint accuracy as needed.

version uses a cheap standard rocket engine. It's powered by a solid fuel.

The cargo missile itself weighs about 200 pounds. Broken down, launcher and missile can be carried by three men.

The present Lobber, still being tested, could be made ready for large-scale production within a year — unless someone decides to change it radically.

They Pick Top Names

CAIRO, Egypt (UPI)—Mohamed Saleh Salem, a farmer in the Nile Delta, is such an admirer of Chinese Communist leader Chou En-Lai that he named his new-born son Chou En-Lai Mohamed Saleh Salem. Recently triplets were born to another Egyptian worker and were named Nasser, Tito and Nehru.

Tripped Up by Ribbon

HOBOKEN, N. J. (UPI)—Ribbon-cutting ceremonies to reopen a viaduct here were delayed an hour because nobody remembered to supply the ribbon. A member of the City Council went to a store and bought some.

Had Ignition Problem

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (UPI)—John Verelle, 33, of Syracuse, was unable to start his car on the day of the season's first snowstorm. Someone had stolen the battery.

Mass-produced, the missile will cost less than $1,000 and be 70 per cent recoverable for use another day. It will carry 80 to 120 pounds of cargo. The present

State Educates the Handicapped

Oklahoma Shows Heart for Her Disabled Citizens

OKLAHOMA CITY — Oklahoma has football, Indians, oil — and a cold-eyed compassion for her handicapped citizens. The state is one of the most progressive in the nation in helping the disabled help themselves.

A man with no hands is never lucky, but an Oklahoman with no hands has a better chance than most others to again become a productive, self-sufficient member of the community.

One of the reasons for Oklahoma's record is the firm backing of Gov. Raymond Gary, who supplied from his contingency fund the $15,000 that got the program moving two years ago.

The grant enabled the Governor's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped to hire a full-time director and office secretary for one year.

EFFORT PAYING OFF
Last year the Oklahoma Legislature demonstrated its support by giving the committee $40,000 to retain the executive director for two more years. Don Davis, the first man to fill the job, is still at it and the results are starting to roll in.

Oklahoma ranked sixth in the nation in hiring of the handicapped during 1957. Just under 12,000 jobs were filled by persons with some disability.

Davis' job is entirely one of coordination. He has no authority to tell anyone how to rehabilitate a handicapped person or how to arrange employment for one.

He conducts short and long range programs of public education. He makes or arranges for frequent speeches before civic, veterans and employer groups. He often makes contact with individual employers on behalf of specific handicapped persons.

Another part of Oklahoma's attack on disability is the Vocational Rehabilitation Center at Oklahoma State University's School of Technical Training at Okmulgee.

Commonly called Okmulgee Tech, the school provides dozens of trade and technical courses ranging from greenhouse management to saddle-making.

Most of the students are able-bodied. About 300 per year are disabled to some extent. Combined with the school is a physical rehabilitation center which, since 1951, has treated more than 1,000 students.

Here the job of rebuilding bodies is the primary aim. But when a man has mastered his new legs or learned how to walk in braces, he often needs a new trade.

Unlikely any other state, he can continue his physical training while taking vocational schooling and all under one roof.

Begin Working on Odd Bridge

Houghton to Hancock Span to Be 1st Vertical Lift Setup in Michigan

LANSING — Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie has announced the start of work on the $3,933,889 superstructure of the unique vertical lift Houghton-Hancock Bridge.

The span, linking the two cities along U.S. 41, runs across the Portage ship canal.

The bridge will be the first vertical lift bridge on the Michigan trunkline system and it will have two levels. The upper level will carry vehicular and pedestrian traffic and the lower portion will be used by railroads.

Over-all length of the bridge will be 1,310 feet. It will have a 233-foot center lift span.

When not used by trains crossing the lower level train deck, the center lift span will be elevated and the train deck will become the vehicular deck. This will permit small craft to pass beneath the bridge without stopping traffic.

The bridge is scheduled for completion by Dec. 15.

Self-Employed Get Help?

By RAY HENRY

Associated Press Writer

Congress this year may give self-employed people a new reason for setting aside money for their old age.

The first major step toward it was taken last week by the House Ways and Means Committee.

It did so by passing a bill allowing the self-employed a special tax break on income they put into their own retirement plans while they're working.

If the bill becomes law, it could mean a saving for self-employed people, such as doctors, lawyers and farmers, of thousands of dollars in tax money.

KEY PROVISION

This is the bill's key provision:

A self-employed person would be permitted to put up 10 per cent of his yearly income—but not more than $2,500—into a retirement plan and pay no tax on it until he started getting it back after retirement.

This means, in almost every case, a person would have to pay less tax in the long run on the money he sets aside in a retirement plan.

Here's why:

The percentage of a person's yearly income paid in federal tax depends, in a general way, on the size of his income. The higher his income the higher the percentage of it goes for tax.

Since a person's income normally is lower in his retirement years, the rate of the delayed tax would almost certainly be lower than that applying to the same amount of money as part of his income while working.

It's an open question now whether the bill will become law.

The next step is consideration by the House. If approved there, the bill still must be passed by the Senate and signed by President Eisenhower.

BLOCKED IN SENATE

An identical bill was passed by the House late in last year's session, but was blocked in the Senate. Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) said at the time that he had been advised the bill would be vetoed by the President if passed by Congress.

The Treasury Department opposes the bill, mainly because it would mean an immediate loss of 300 million dollars in tax money.

Proponents of the bill say that the tax delay would merely equalize the tax treatment between self-employed people and employees.

Under present law, employees now enjoy a tax postponement on their retirement income if their employer pays into a qualified pension, profit-sharing, or stock bonus what he might otherwise have paid directly to the employees.

Employer contributions to such plans are tax exempt and the employee is not taxed on the income from them until he draws the benefits.

The bill as approved by the Ways and Means Committee not only limits the amount per year a self-employed person can put into a retirement plan, but also says the tax break can apply to no more than a lifetime total of $50,000.

It also fixes the retirement age at no earlier than 65 and no later than 70 and allows persons 50 or over to set aside more than the 10 per cent and $3,500 yearly income limits.

Florists Hoping Reds Join Up

Want to Add Russia to Wire Network 'Saying
It With Flowers'

NEW YORK (UPI)—Some 24,000 of the world's florists are trying to get Nikita S. Khrushchev to say it with flowers.

They are members of Interflora, which arranges for the exchange of flowers across international boundaries, and they'd like to add Russia to the 126 countries of their network.

The florists have assigned a spunky little Frenchman, Maurice Debré, to the task of winning over the Soviet premier, but Debré's mission this way:

"I'm certain that the exchange of floral gifts between people of all nations cannot help but improve international relations and promote the cause of global understanding.

"The language of flowers is truly a universal medium which translates the wishes for joy, for love and for sympathy into every tongue."

An official of the Florists Telegraph Delivery Association, New York, said that if only one of the 92 floral shops in Moscow were to join Interflora, the Soviets could put the language of flowers to the test on a global basis.

To express indifference, for example, the FTDA suggests the Russians could send dogwood. China aster would mean "will consider the offer"; blooms in various shades of pink would mean "offer rejected."

Jonquils: "Please return my affections." Daisy: "Love me, love Debré, to the task of winning over me not." Blue violet: "I'm always loyal." White violet: "I'm innocent." "Like other East-West parleys, slow negotiations are holding up the project."

A legend in Trinidad says that whoever eats the cascadura, a large fresh-water fish, will return to this Caribbean island to end his days.

Fear Freighter, Crew Lost in Aegean Sea

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—The 400-ton Greek freighter Tris Hierarches and her crew of 12 are feared lost in the Aegean Sea. The ship left Athens six days ago with a cargo of grain for Salonika. Marius in tow.

Nothing has been heard from her since, but one of her small boats was found floating at the entrance to the Gulf of Euboea. Another Greek freighter, the Marius II, was abandoned by her 14 crewmen east of Euboea Island today after a boiler explosion. The crew landed safely in a lifeboat on the island. Another ship took the ship with a cargo of grain for Salonika. Marius in tow.

White Students Not Expected

Believe 22 Negroes to Be Only Ones Enrolled in Virginia High School

FRONT ROYAL, Va. (AP)—The first high school classes ever held for Negroes in Warren County begin here today in an all but empty school once attended by 1,000 white pupils.

School officials held little hope that any white pupils would appear. None were present Wednesday when the school opened under a federal court integration order. Twenty-two Negroes registered.

The school had been closed since September under state anti-integration laws. Nearly 800 white pupils have been attending private classes.

Until Wednesday the county had no high school for Negroes. Principal James Duff said, "Practically all courses the students require will be offered" despite the small registration. There will be no extracurricular activities, however, unless more pupils enroll. The school cafeteria will be closed.

A white faculty of 10 will teach at the 40-classroom high school.

A controversy arose over whether the refusal of white parents to send their children to the reopened high school constituted an illegal "little massive resistance" program on the local level.

Negro leaders saw the action as a boycott for which the school board was responsible because it failed to urge white pupils to return to the high school.

Say Ice Sheet Nearly Leveled Mackinac Island

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—Mackinac Island, one of the state's top scenic attractions, almost wasn't.

University of Michigan geologists say the historic island had a close call about 10,000 years ago.

They say the island, was nearly leveled by the last glacier to reach Michigan. Luckily, they say, the huge sheet of ice began receding before engulfing the tiny island in the middle of the Straits of Mackinac.

Although the straits area has long been a place of great interest to geologists, it wasn't until recently that the exact location of the ice's last advance (termed the Valder Ice Sheet) was known.

Tight bottom samples of clay in 640 square miles of the straits were taken by researchers of the University of Michigan Great Lakes Research Institute, headed by Prof. John Ayers, an oceanographer.

"From these samples," explained Ayers, "we have gotten clear indications as to where the ice edge stood out over the water. It reached the edge of Mackinac Island."

Cardinal Hospitalized for Observation Term

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — John Cardinal O'Hara has been in Misericordia Hospital three days for observation.

This was learned today after Richard Cardinal Cushing, archbishop of Boston, announced he would officiate at the March 18 investiture of the most Rev. John J. Wright as Bishop of Pittsburgh. Cardinal O'Hara was to have officiated.

A hospital spokesman said the 70-year-old archbishop of Philadelphia was not ill and his condition was "not serious at all."

This was confirmed by Cardinal O'Hara's physician, Dr. Thomas J. Ryan, who said the prelate would leave the hospital within two weeks. He did not comment on Cardinal Cushing's announcement in Boston that Cardinal O'Hara has been ordered by doctors to take several weeks rest. The tall, frail prelate has been bothered by arthritis for some time.

She testified the experience caused her to have frequent dreams of being stuck in an elevator with a fire in the shaft. The judgment was against the owners of the apartment building.

INSPECT NEW ELECTRONIC EQUIPMENT — "Progress" is the word at the bookkeeping department of the Community National Bank. Increasing speed and accuracy of banking, the bank has installed new electronic bookkeeping equipment. Inspecting the "electronic bookkeeper" as it is placed in service are (from

Atlas-Like System at Community National Bank Uses 'Electronic Bookkeeper'

Electronic banking — based on some of the same techniques that guided the Atlas missile into orbit — has been installed by Community National Bank of Pontiac.

In announcing the bank's entry into automation, A. C. Girard, president, said the new equipment will actually "read" and "write" electronically in recording checking account transactions.

The bank has purchased 12 high-speed bank bookkeeping machines from Burroughs Corporation, Girard said. The first five are already installed and in operation. They are specifically being used to speed the recording of the thousands of pay-by-check account transactions the bank has in its nine branch offices and main downtown bank.

"In producing its electronic bank bookkeeping machines, Burroughs has adopted some of the same advanced magnetic and electronic techniques it uses in building the ground guidance computers for the Air Force Atlas missile," Girard said.

"Actually in such figuring equipment the requirements for either banking or defense are quite similar. Both jobs call for absolutely accurate work with figures, and in this case banking benefits by developments originally designed for defense."

"We are proud to pioneer in the use of this equipment in the Pontiac area. It will provide more accurate, efficient service to checking account customers than has ever been possible before. It will also mean the elimination of many routine and time-consuming tasks involved in the processing and handling of checks."

Girard pointed out the adoption of electronic automation will not mean a reduction of staff at Community National Bank.

"Rather it will enable us to keep up with the amazing growth of the pay-by-check movement and create new, more interesting jobs for our present highly qualified staff," Girard said.

One of the machines is to be in full operation on display in the bank's main downtown office lobby for the remainder of the week.

The new "electronic bookkeepers" are being used with a new system of coded checks. Each account has its own number. Eventually this will be printed in magnetic ink easily read by both electronic machines and the human eye, as another step in the bank's program of installing electronic automation Girard pointed out.

In operation the new machines read information and instructions from magnetic ink stripes printed on the back of each account ledger form. They can also write additional new information or instructions into the stripes as a normal by-product of regular posting operations.

Acting upon instructions from the magnetic ink stripes the machines will automatically pick up the old balance, line up the ledger form to the correct line for new entries, accept new transaction posting, compute and print new balance and verify the account number all in one single rapid-run operation. Each of these steps has previously been carried out manually.

"Automation such as this in banking will enable us to turn out more work at a faster pace and yet serve our customers more efficiently and accurately," Girard said.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — For 18 months Vencil Gene Hawkins had been getting traffic tickets—and ignoring them.

Municipal Judge Joseph Marchetti convicted Hawkins, 30, on each count and sentenced him to 1,455 days in city jail.

"Why—they don't get that much

U.S. Income Up $13.5 Billion

Someone Has More Money to Spend This Year

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK — Do you have more money to spend today than you had a year ago?
Possibly you yourself don't. But the slide rule boys down in Washington say Americans as a whole have. Some 13½ billion dollars more, in fact.

Once a month they add up all the data they can get on personal income from various sources. Their figures are closely watched by merchants and manufacturers alike, since the statistics give them some idea of how much money is available to be tapped for sale of the goods they stock or make.

Like all such data the figures aren't put forth as gospel. They are simply the best that can be got together at this time with the methods used.

The Commerce Department says that in January personal income, on a seasonally adjusted annual basis, hit a record of nearly 362½ billion dollars.

BIGGEST ITEMS
What goes into this figure? Wages and salaries are the biggest items. This January they came to 244½ billion dollars, up 9½ billion from the previous year. The gain reflects both some increases in wage scales in the last 12 months and longer work weeks in many factories.

The department's statisticians also gather data as best they can on what the professional man and the small businessman makes for himself.

It adds what landlords take in as rent, what stockholders get as dividends, and what individuals get as interest on bonds, saving accounts and the like.

Estimates of farm income are included, and also what is called transfer payments. These are benefits paid to the unemployed, to veterans, to social security pensioners.

From the total the department then deducts what workers contribute toward social security — and notes that this is about one billion dollars more this year than last, due to a hike in the rates at the start of the year.

What can Americans do with all this 362 billion dollars? Well, first off they can pay taxes. With what's left they can pay higher prices for some goods and for many services.

Then they can pay all the bills connected with the steadily rising standards of living of Americans as a whole — the last generation's luxuries are this generation's necessities.

Other Washington statistics show what inroads the twin forces of higher taxes and inflation have made on personal income since the days before World War II. In 1933 a man with a wife and two children, and with an income of $5,900, paid $59 in taxes and had $4,941 left to spend on what he needed or wanted. MUST MAKE $11,140 Today to buy the same items and services, the man must make $11,140. Federal income and social security taxes will take $1,590 of his gross, and inflation has cut its purchasing power by $4,800.

So it's a good thing that total personal income has risen to a new high. It seems to take more all the time just to stay even.

Incidentally, one of the personal income items reported by the Commerce Department is wage and salary payments by government. This has risen by 3½ billion dollars in a year and now tops 44 billion.

New Civil Strife Brewing in Iraq

Premier's Split With Nasser Backers, Ties to Reds Shake Nation

By JOSEPH E. DYNAN
BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — Premier Abdel Karim Kassam's split with the followers of U.A.R. President Nasser and his closer relations with Iraq's Communists are threatening to tear his revolutionary government apart and plunge the nation into fierce civil strife.

Kassam himself is still extremely popular, but there are many doubts arising about his entourage.

In short, the honeymoon is ending for the revolutionary forces which overthrew the pro-Western government of Nuri Said, and assassinated young King Faisal last summer.

With the Nasserites evicted from the Cabinet, the men around Kassam now are dissipating popular enthusiasm for the republican regime by an increasingly stern effort to put Iraq into a quasi-Marxist doctrinal straitjacket through police state methods.

The trend appears to be toward even more of a military dictatorship coming from the far left.

Superstition Persists in Uganda That Firemen Can Humans

KAMPALA, Uganda (UPI) — A widespread belief among East African tribesmen that fire brigades traffic in human flesh brought Nusiua Bua into court here — accused of trying to sell his friend to the fire department.

He was alleged to have called at the fire station one night with his friend Alibino Ongom, with an offer to sell Ongom to Fire Chief W. D. Flint for 75 pounds ($120).

Bua denied the charge, claiming he was looking for a job and counter-charged that if he refused to sell his friend, both of them would be eaten.

Bua was remanded to a higher court.

The belief that the fire department is a cannibal sect originated in East Africa about 20 years ago, when the bright red fire engines were first introduced.

Their appearance coincided with a sales drive by a meat canning firm. To attract African custom, the firm used a bright red wrapper with the picture of a smiling African head on it.

African tribesmen put two and two together — and drew the obvious conclusion.

The wrapper was changed, but the superstition that the fire department's job is to catch humans for canning still persists among up-country tribesmen.

To Dedicate Ferris Dorm at Big Rapids Sunday

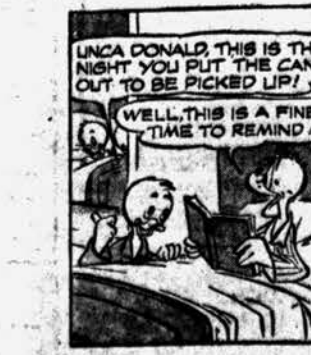

BIG RAPIDS (UPI) — Ferris Institute's newest dormitory, the $925,000 Hallisay Men's dormitory, will be formally dedicated Sunday.

The dorm, named in honor of the late Dr. Richard G. Hallisay, who was dean of the commerce department, will house 266 students and is the newest of six dormitories built since the college building program began in 1955.

Don't Fire Boozers

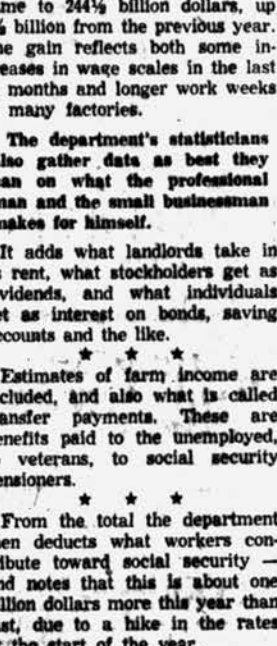

NEW YORK (UPI) — Evelyn Gardner, deputy executive director of the National Council on Alcoholism, says boozers should help — not fire or scold — workers who go on binges.

But South Will Rise Again

No Congress Harmony?
Wrong, Sweet Adeline

WASHINGTON (AP)—Who says will — produce as swingin' a Congress in lack of harmony? Your House of Representatives — and, at the drop of a hint, What's more, this frantic foursome is made up of both Northern and Southern Democrats, with an Oklahoman thrown in to sing first tenor.

"The House Boys," as they call themselves, the eldest being only 59, brought down the House, or at least threatened the foundations, Tuesday at a fund-raising fete for the National Symphony Orchestra. In derby hats and pasted-on handlebar mustaches, to say nothing of ladies' garters on coat sleeves and pantlegs, the (hmm) singers were:

Tenors—Reps. Toby Morris (D-Okla.) and John S. Monagan (D-Conn.).

Baritone—Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark.).

Bass—Rep. Ross Bass (D-Tenn.). Bass in this case is pronounced bass as in fish. The part he sings is pronounced Bass as in baseball.

If this confuses you, you should have seen Congressman Bass. His mustache fell off in mid-aria and he never did get it fastened on securely.

Don't get too optimistic about the hint of North-South harmony in Democratic ranks.

Monagan, the man from Connecticut, was only an understudy getting his first big break. He'll be out of "The House Boys" when the regular second tenor, Rep. Hale Boggs (D-La.), gets back to town. It'll be a 75 per cent Dixie outfit then.

A pianist-singer named Hank Fort summed up the situation by singing a song of her own composition:

"Save your Confederate Money, Boys — The South Will Rise Again."

It's Only Normal

NEW YORK (UPD)—Clark W. Blackburn, director of the Family Service Assn. of America, said recently that a big step—like marriage—is bound to precipitate fears in varying degrees.

The well-known ski resort town of Stowe, Vt., lost 40 of its 65 young men in the Civil War.

Believes in Insurance

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Larry Robertson, already a young businessman delivering 60 papers, faced a business crisis when someone stole his bicycle. He borrowed a bike and started saving his money to buy another. Executives at an oil company's division office on his route, stepped into the crisis and gave him a bike. Larry promptly used his savings to buy a lock.
