

Syrian Army Men Claim Coup Success as Fighting Continues

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Syrian army officers voicing friendship for President Nasser staged a lightning coup today and claimed firm control of this turbulent nation.

But there were reports of fighting in Damascus and near Syria's border with Israel.

The rebels drew immediate support from Iraq, scene of a pro-Nasser coup only 28 days ago, and from Nasser's United Arab Republic.

Both warned other nations to keep hands off the Syrian revolution.

Asserting they held complete sway over Syria, the rebel regime turned down offers of military help from Iraq's revolutionary rulers. But a dispatch from Baghdad said Iraqi army units were moving toward the Syrian frontier to support the revolution.

Reports leaking through the sealed borders of Syria, however, told of continued fighting with forces loyal to the toppled regime of Premier Khaled el-Azem, the advocate of compromise who for weeks had tried to head off unrest in the army.

Azem took refuge in the Turkish embassy in Damascus, Turkish officials reported in Ankara.

These reports also said there was violent street fighting in Damascus.

REPORTS CONFLICT

This conflicted with word from Western diplomats in Cairo, who reported no resistance during the morning and told of street demonstrations in favor of the revolution.

Western diplomats in Cairo had reports from Damascus that no resistance to the coup had developed in the capital by mid-morning and street demonstrations in support of the army were taking place.

Diplomatic reports reaching Beirut said there was fighting between opposing units near Tiberias, on the Syrian-Israeli border, during the morning.

The resistance would come from army elements whose uprising in September of 1961 cut Syria from its union with Egypt in the United Arab Republic. They had denounced U.A.R. President Nasser as a tyrant.

Under Roberts' plan, Harvey's district would be renumbered and include only two of the six counties he now represents.

Instead of an 8th district consisting of Saginaw, Gratiot, Montcalm, Ionia, Clinton and Shiawassee counties Harvey would have to run in the 7th District made up of Saginaw and Gratiot and the thumb area counties of Tuscola, Huron, Sanilac and St. Clair.

One of the State Senate Republican leaders scoffed at Harvey's complaint, saying it came "only because he'd have to change his mailing list."

We're not taking any Republican counties away from him; we're just giving him some different ones."

Roberts, who gave a more sympathetic ear to Harvey's howl, said efforts would be made at a GOP caucus next Tuesday to see if an alternative could be found.

Slayer Godfrey Committed to State Hospital

To Stay in Children's Center Until Opening
Is Available

Oakland County Probate Judge Donald E. Adams today committed 15-year-old slayer Douglas Godfrey to Pontiac State Hospital for psychiatric treatment.

Young Godfrey, who admitted the Jan. 25 murder of his 38-year-old mother Mary because "she bugged me too much," will remain in the county's Children's Center until an opening is available at the hospital.

Judge Adams said he could get no indication from the hospital of the length of the waiting period.

Patients awaiting admittance to state mental hospitals have waited six months to a year for an opening in the past.

Pontiac State Hospital has "one of the better recognized adolescent wards," the judge said.

Judge Adams signed the commitment order this morning following a mental health hearing in Probate Court on a petition filed Wednesday by the boy's father, Donald H. Godfrey, 44, of 983 Turley Road, Bloomfield Twp.

Godfrey filed the petition following Judge Adams' ruling that the youth would not be tried as an adult for first-degree murder but would remain under juvenile court jurisdiction for confinement and treatment for mental illness.

The judge's decision came after a hearing Wednesday at which three psychiatrists testified Douglas was seriously mentally ill.

Young Godfrey, who will be 16 years old March 16, has admitted killing his mother with a 22-caliber bullet fired from the kitchen window of the $40,000 Godfrey home.

The resistance would come from army elements whose uprising in September of 1961 cut Syria from its union with Egypt in the United Arab Republic. They had denounced U.A.R. President Nasser as a tyrant.

OK Contract in NY

News Strike Stalemate Ends

NEW YORK (AP)—The 91-day newspaper shutdown in this city appeared near an end today.

Negotiators for publishers and striking printers agreed to accept terms proposed by Mayor Robert F. Wagner in the dispute that has cost the industry at least $100 million.

Some details are still to be worked out. Rank and file printers have yet to ratify the agreement.

Two other unions still are striking. But the big log jam was broken.

The agreement announced by Wagner today seemed to open the way for eight newspapers with a circulation of more than 5 million copies daily to resume publication shortly. But it was not possible for them to announce at once the date when presses will start rolling.

Eugene Buttrill, New York Herald Tribune vice president, said the pact negotiators agreed upon calls for a weekly pay package increase of about $6.50 a man the first year and about $6 the second year, a total of about $12.50.

The first year's increase would include $4 in pay and $2.50 for fringe benefits, he added, and the second year's hike would include $4 in wages and $2 for fringe benefits.

Included in the second year package would be 36 cents per man per week for reducing the work week from 38½ hours to 35 hours, Buttrill said. The contract provides for less free time for union members during each shift.

Buttrill said.

Bertram A. Powers, president of striking Local 6, AFL-CIO International Typographical Union, said the union made concessions on the money issue but that it had obtained three major objectives.

He named these as a common contract expiration date, a

GLUG, GLUG — This two-story house is shown up to its eaves in ice and high water yesterday at Dunham, Pa., near Harrisburg, as the Juniata River rolled over its banks, flooding low-lying areas. An ice jam on the Susquehanna River caused residents in lowlands north of Harrisburg to be evacuated. The city appeared to be in no immediate danger, however.

Danger Still Remains

Flood Scourge Is Easing Up

By The Associated Press

Surging waters receded in most rivers and streams in the nation's flood belt from Indiana into the Southeast today and the danger of new major flooding appeared ended temporarily.

But there were some critical spots in the flood zones and ice jamming remained a serious threat in some areas.

No heavy rainfall was reported in the more than a dozen states which have been hit by the season's first serious flooding. However, there were patches of light rain and snow flurries in some parts of the Ohio River Valley, the hardest hit by the late winter overflows.

Minor flooding was reported in some other eastern and southern states but the heaviest damage was in Ohio, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Indiana. The floods, caused by heavy rains and melting snow, were blamed for at least 18 deaths. Property damage was estimated in the millions of dollars.

The nation's general weather pattern showed few changes. No heavy rain or snow was reported and temperatures were mostly normal levels. Cool spots were across northern areas from the Plains to Maine. It was a little cooler in the Southeast, with temperatures dropping to the upper 30s in extreme northern Florida and much of Dixie north of Florida.

ICE JAM BREAKS
Although flood conditions in most of Ohio appeared improved, there were some trouble spots. A mile-long ice jam broke in the Sandusky River in Fremont Thursday night, pushing the stream up to three feet above the 12-foot flood stage.

Huge ice floes 50 feet high were stacked at the north and south ends of Fremont. The river cuts through the city. Mayor Richard Maier declared a state of emergency for the northwest Ohio city of 18,000.

In Pennsylvania, an ice jam formed on the Susquehanna River in the Harrisburg area and residents in lowland areas north of the city were evacuated. Harrisburg, however, appeared in no immediate danger.

Flood warnings were issued for areas in central South Carolina. The Broad River crested at 12 feet and the Congaree River rose rapidly to crest at 22 feet, 3 feet above flood stage.

Five counties in West Virginia, hit hard by overflows from the Ohio River and its tributaries earlier this week have been designated as disaster areas by the Small Business Administration in Washington. The counties are Brooke, Hancock, Marshall, Ohio and Wetzel, which will be eligible for federal loans for property caused by the damaging floods.

Organize Citizens' Group for Township School Study

A citizens' advisory committee of nearly 200 persons was organized last night to explore future needs of Waterford Township Schools and prepare recommendations for the school board.

Superintendent of Schools Dr. Don O. Tatroe told the cross-section of town-living residents gathered at Pierce Junior High School that a final report would be due April 18.

Tatroe set this deadline to allow time to prepare a bond issue proposal for the June election in the event the committee recommends additional classroom space.

Classroom facilities are considered adequate through the 1963-64 school year, but then additional space will be needed, he said.

The April report will embrace a five-point study as recommended by the board of education. Five subcommittees with approximately 10 members each were established last night.

Areas of study include development of a master plan, school construction program, establishment of construction standards, establishment of school facility standards, and development of an effective communications program on the committee's recommendations.

Tatroe established a similar citizens group while he was assistant superintendent of Warren Consolidated Schools.

"This is not a preplan by the school board to have a group of people make recommendations we want made," he said.

REVIEWS GROWTH PATTERN
Tatroe reviewed the growth pattern of the school district and predicted a continued enrollment increase which would necessitate more classroom space.

He pointed out that current population of the district's 23 schools is 14,194. Five years ago it was 10,423. If the usual growth pattern continues, the enrollment will reach 19,339 five years hence, he said.

Further reviewing the school population situation, he said that assuming no new homes were built in the district in the next five years, the school enrollment would still increase to 16,751 in 1968.

March 29 will be the next meeting of the full committee. Reports of the subcommittees will be considered then. Final recommendations are scheduled for consideration April 11, followed by completion of the report a week later.

At a special meeting preceding the assembly, school board members approved preparation of contracts for some 400 teachers and administrators for 1962-63 school year.

The board also empowered a committee to negotiate on the purchase of a new elementary school site in section 12 of the township, subject to later approval of the full board.

Tax Data Center Likely to Be Located in State

WASHINGTON — The Internal Revenue Service is expected to reverse itself again and place a data processing center in the Detroit area, a usually reliable source said today.

Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon on Tuesday announced the elimination of plans for location of the center in the Detroit area. (Pontiac had been a contender for the proposed data processing center along with Port Huron and Detroit.)

(Although the IRS regional office in Chicago dropped Pontiac from its list of recommended sites, local officials and civic leaders still planned to make a strong bid for the center before a congressional subcommittee.)

Dillon's announcement brought an immediate cry of "breach of faith" from Democratic Sen. Philip Hart and Pat McCamarran, the eight House Democrats from the state.

The Michigan congressmen contended the IRS nearly a year ago said that Michigan had been selected as the location of a center to serve the Michigan-Illinois-Wisconsin region.

Under Dillon's reorganized plan, Michigan would be put into a five-state region with the center at Covington, Ky.

An unnamed source said today, however, that Vice President Lyndon Johnson, who was in Michigan recently, had gone to bat for the Michigan center in a talk with President Kennedy.

It would be a mistake from a political standpoint to eliminate the center proposed for Michigan.

Spikes Rumor Tax Office to Leave Pontiac

U. S. Rep. William S. Broomfield, R-Oakland County, today spiked rumors that the Internal Revenue Service planned to abandon its Pontiac office in the Federal Building at Perry and East Broomfield said he received assurances from Internal Revenue Service District Director R. I. Nixon that the rumors were false.

"We are very pleased with our accommodations and the cooperation we receive in the Pontiac area," Nixon said. "We hope to remain there for some time to come."

Mrs. Anderson also said they "have never lived under the same roof together as man and wife" in an apartment action filed Feb. 27 in Oakland County Circuit Court.

She charged her husband with extreme cruelty. The annulment complaint said she had lived in Oakland County "upwards of ten days" and asked for a divorce if an annulment were not granted.

FACES ASSAULT CHARGE
Anderson also faces an assault and battery warrant in Birmingham charging he struck his wife Monday while trying to force her into his car in a parking lot.

Anderson said he was on two years' probation for stealing a plane last June from a Plymouth airport.

"I realize I will probably go to jail now," he said.

Anderson waived examination on a charge of unlawfully taking an airplane before a Waterford Township Justice John E. McGrath, who bound him over to

Okay Contract in NY Strike

The automation involved is the use of teletypewriter tape to provide type.

The contract, Buttrill said, calls for the use of tape only to set the stock and bond markets of the New York and American stock exchanges.

Buttrill said that in the past is an agreement that printers who held situations when the strike started or were substitutes that day can't be laid off as a result of the use of tape.

They do not, however, have to be replaced when they leave the papers. Eventually natural attrition would reduce the work force, Buttrill added.

The union had asked for an $18 pay increase over two years and a reduction in the work week to the figure that was accepted. Publishers had estimated the cost of the union proposals, including fringe benefits, at $37 a week per man.

They had offered a package of something more than $10 a week. The printers' pay scale prior to the strike averaged about $145 a week.

The printers' union has still to come to terms with the New York Post, which broke away from the Publishers Association of New York City and resumed publication last Monday.

Senate Okays Bill to End Burial Bias

LANSING — Two bipartisan bills to outlaw racial discrimination in cemeteries — including a measure introduced by Sen. Farrell E. Roberts, R-Oakland County — were passed 34-0 without debate yesterday by the Senate and sent to the House.

The bills provide that no cemetery organization shall deny or limit burial because of race or color. Similar bills failed to get out of committee last year.

Efforts to pass the legislation arose out of protests by veterans and Indian groups against a refusal in 1960 by Troy's White Chapel Memorial Cemetery to bury George Nash, an Indian, because he "was not white."

He Flies Into Trouble

Planes spell trouble for 22-year-old Lavern Anderson, arrested yesterday for unlawfully taking and using an Aerodynamics, Inc. twin-engine Piper Aztec.

On July 5, 1962, Anderson was "laid off" from Mettetal Airport in Plymouth for taking a "pleasure flight" in a single-engine Piper 250 Commanche.

Marvin Mettetal, assistant manager at the airport, said that

He was jailed when unable to furnish $25,000 bond.

His final landing at Pontiac Airport was termed "perfect" by police and airport officials.

Anderson said he took the plane about 3:30 a. m. from a ramp owned by Aerodynamics, Inc., Piper plane distributor.

He took off, landed once, and took off again and landed at Big Beaver Airport in Troy where he waited until daylight, he said.

Then he flew three times over his wife's home in Livonia before landing at Bert Airport just east of Birmingham.

He said he planned to borrow a car there, get his wife and fly her "to Canada maybe."

At Bert for two or three hours, Anderson took off and buzzed Birmingham three times.

Anderson said he then landed on Northwestern Highway to close a door that had come open in one of his dives.

Antique Cars to Bring Back Days of 1908

Antique cars will join in a 100-car motorcade Saturday, March 23 to remind area residents of 1908, when Michigan's present constitution was adopted.

The antique cars, carrying passengers garbed in period costumes, will be accompanied by the old-fashioned music of the Franklin Band as they parade from the rustic Franklin Cider Mill to the Pontiac Mall and then to Detroit.

Sponsored by leaders of the Oakland Citizens League and a nonpartisan federation of Oakland civic and other groups, the caravan will urge citizens to "Vote Yes" on April 1 for a new Michigan constitution.

Parade Marshal R. H. McManis is offering prizes for outstanding antique cars participating and for best costume. The cars will be inspected by three judges at 9 a. m. at the cider mill rendezvous.

Expected to represent Gov. George Romney in the six-hour rally for the constitution are Mrs. Romney and their 15-year-old son, Mitt.

Also participating will be representatives of the League of Women Voters, the American Association of University Women, Birmingham Jaycees, Oakland County Farm Bureau, United Church Women, Birmingham Chamber of Commerce and other groups making up the county-wide federation sponsoring the motorcade.

Birmingham Area News: Civic Leaders to Study Community House Drive

BIRMINGHAM — Representatives of 63 organizations in this area have been invited to an open house Monday to familiarize civic leaders with the 1963 Community House Drive.

Goal for the drive, which runs through March 31, is $53,000. John K. Stevenson, vice president of the Community House, is host for the affair to be held at his home, 841 N. Cleary Road.

Stevenson, a partner in the firm of McKenny-Stevenson, noted that there would be no speeches Monday.

"The 17-member Community House Board of Directors will be available to answer questions," he said.

"We hope these organizational leaders will subsequently speak to the respective members in behalf of the Community House and its 1963 fund drive," he added.

The open house is scheduled from 6-7 p. m.

Cochairmen of the drive are Mayor Florence G. Willett and William B. Bachman Jr., a local advertising executive.

Bachman announced the appointment of David H. Harris O. M. A. C. H. S. 1178 N. Glenhurst Road, as chairman of the business and professional solicitations committee.

Wayne Klein, of 25232 Orchard Grove Road, Southfield, was named public relations chairman.

Mayor Willett will head the organization solicitation committee.

The Birmingham chapter of A. I. O. O. F. will hear a discussion of the proposed state constitution at its March 18 meeting.

Speaking will be Mrs. John D. Ramsey, consultant for the Birmingham League of Women Voters.

The meeting will start at 8 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Jack LaBelle, 217 Westwood Ave.

Applications are now being taken for evening classes in drawing and painting at the Cranbrook Academy of Art.

Classes meet Tuesdays from 8 to 10 p. m. for a 10-week period, beginning March 26.

Planned specifically for the advanced amateur, enrollment is limited to 25.

Donald C. Willett, an instructor at the Academy, will be instructor.

Wilson's letter continued: "Since the Communists obviously are aware of the answers to these questions, I can see no reason to withhold the same information from the American public."

In expressing agreement with Mahor, Sen. Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said: "I feel that there's too much intelligence given out." And Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., told a reporter: "All he should heed the admonition that silence is the golden rule of intelligence."

On the House side, Mahon's assertion that "the present situation is outrageous and intolerable" brought a bipartisan plea to try to stop the tongue-wagging as far as Congress is concerned.

"I hope that during these confused times members of Congress will be particularly careful about what they say," said Rep. Frances P. Bolton of Ohio, top Republican on the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

"EXERCISE DISCRETION"
"We must exercise discretion in these matters," said Rep. Ben F. Jensen of Iowa, senior Republican on the Appropriations Committee. "None of us should be responsible for giving aid and comfort to the Communists by loose talk."

Assistant Senate Democratic Leader Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota suggested in a Senate speech that a new joint committee on national security affairs be established with legislative jurisdiction over all government intelligence agencies.

In his speech, Mahon called on Sen. V. J. Bennett, Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, and House Speaker John McCormack, D-Mass., to "coordinate a course of action for the purpose of halting the rapid erosion of our national intelligence effort."

of 15780 Kirkshire St., will be 1 p. m. Monday at the Manley Bailey Funeral Home. Burial will follow in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery, Troy.

Mr. Phillips' died yesterday after a lengthy illness. Surviving are a daughter; Mrs. Mary V. Hubbard, with whom he made his home; and two grandchildren.

JFK Happy as Dem Hits Loose Talk

WASHINGTON — Rep. George Mahon's plea that public officials keep quiet about American intelligence activities was welcome news to President Kennedy, and many members of Congress agreed "silence is golden."

The President, it was learned today, was immensely pleased when Mahon showed him news wire accounts of the Texas Democrat's speech Thursday on the House floor. There was good reason to believe Kennedy began making plans to grab the ball Mahon tossed into the air.

White House sources said, however, that the congressman acted on his own initiative, that Kennedy had no foreknowledge of the blistering attack on loose talk.

Mahon, chairman of the House Defense Appropriations subcommittee, said "officials in Moscow, Peking and Havana must applaud our stupidity in discussing publicly facts which they would gladly spend huge sums of money endeavoring to obtain."

He gave no specific examples and said the executive branch and the legislative, Republicans and Democrats alike, "must share the blame" for "making us the laughing stock of the world."

There was an immediate chorus of amens on Capitol Hill.

At the same time, Rep. Bob Wilson, R-Calif., said he had called on Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara to tell the American people whether Soviet spies recently reported en route to Cuba to remove Soviet troops actually were carrying missiles to the island.

In a news release from his office, Mahon said he had sent a letter to the secretary posing these questions:

"How many ships have actually arrived in Cuban ports ostensibly to return Soviet soldiers? Have our intelligence-gathering services checked the unloading of these vessels to determine whether they carried missiles? Into Cuba? How many Russians have left Wilson?"

Cuba's letter continued: "Since the Communists obviously are aware of the answers to these questions, I can see no reason to withhold the same information from the American public."

In expressing agreement with Mahor, Sen. Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said: "I feel that there's too much intelligence given out." And Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., told a reporter: "All he should heed the admonition that silence is the golden rule of intelligence."

On the House side, Mahon's assertion that "the present situation is outrageous and intolerable" brought a bipartisan plea to try to stop the tongue-wagging as far as Congress is concerned.

Plane Set to Take Medicine to Cuba

MIAMI (UPI)—A Pan American Airways four-engine DC6 is scheduled to ferry 15,000 pounds of medicines to Cuba today and is expected to return here with about 100 Cuban-Americans seeking asylum.

The Red Cross chartered DC6 will carry the supplies as part of the $53 million in ransom promised Fidel Castro in return for the release of 1,113 Bay of Pigs prisoners at Christmas.

The flights are scheduled to continue on a regular weekly basis until the backing of an estimated 500 Cuban-Americans okayed for exit are evacuated to this country, the Red Cross said.

High Court Rules Against Tardy Seaman

LANSING (AP)—Michigan's Supreme Court has ruled that if you miss the boat, you can't expect to collect unemployment compensation.

In a 6-3 decision, the court declared yesterday that Robert Wickey of Muskegon was justifiably fired for misconduct after he failed to return to his post as fire patrolman aboard the SS South American, a cruise ship, when it docked at the Eisenhower Lock on the St. Lawrence River.

Wickey took shore leave, went to a movie and returned after the ship had left. He was dismissed and his application for unemployment compensation was turned down by the Michigan Unemployment Compensation Appeals Board.

Former Muskegon Circuit Judge Noel Fox then reversed the appeals board, but the Supreme Court reversed Fox.

A new biography of composer Sergei Rachmaninoff by Nikolai Bazhanov will be published this year by a Soviet publishing house.

Would Stop Fluoridation

Bill Affects 34 State Cities

Foes of System Seek Referendums on Issue

LANSING (AP) — Some 34 Michigan cities would have to stop fluoridating their public water supplies if a bill calling for referendums on the issue is passed, fluoridation supporters told a House Committee yesterday.

And Detroit would have to hold up plans to begin fluoridation of its supply, scheduled to begin in the spring after being approved by the city's common council last year.

These were among points raised by spokesmen for the Michigan Dental Association and other groups advocating fluoridation in the lengthy, emotion-racked hearing before the Committee on Towns and Counties.

The bill was termed "a backward step in public health" by Dr. Otto Engelage, former president of the Michigan State Medical Society.

He said statistical studies show a definite reduction in dental cavities among children drinking fluoridated water, sometimes as high as 60 or 70 per cent compared to similar groups not drinking fluoridated water.

Rep. William Hayward, R-Royal Oak, and mayor of his city, told the committee the bill should make an added provision that suburban residents could vote on Detroit's water supply — which they use — before it is fluoridated.

He said he plans to introduce an amendment to require such a vote.

OPPOSITIONS APPLAUDED

Opponents of fluoridated water — applauded vigorously by visitors at the hearing — charged dentists really want it because it improves their business.

Several said fluoride is known to be a poison which can cause eye trouble and other ailments.

William Travis, chairman of the fluoridation committee of the Detroit District Dental Society, charged opponents of fluoridation rely on "emotional appeal and fear and apprehension to get their point across."

He displayed examples of what he termed "scarce propaganda" distributed by antifluoride groups in efforts to see it defeated at the polls.

He added that fluoride issues often lose because people are moved to vote "no" or to abstain from voting entirely because of uncertainty.

"It is illogical," said Travis, "to submit a scientific issue that involves a thorough knowledge of physiology, pathology, histology, biological chemistry, pharmacology and other sciences, to be decided upon by the average voter."

Elections, Film Planned at Garden Club Meeting

AVON TOWNSHIP—Election of officers and a conservation film will highlight Monday's 1 p.m. meeting of Stiles Branch of the Woman's National Flower and Garden Association.

The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. Janoschka, 3309 Livernois Road.

ACCEPTS CHECK FOR YMCA—Handing a $2,100 check to to Rochester's YMCA Membership Campaign Chairman Lloyd Lake is Walter E. Spink (left), chairman of the management committee. The presentation was made at last night's kick-off dinner for the family membership drive at St. Paul's Methodist Church.

TOP 4-H ALUMNI — Two area adult 4-H leaders were honored at last night's Leader Recognition Dinner, attended by about 125 at Waterford Township's Community Activities Building. Honored as state winners of the 4-H Alumni Recognition Contest were Mrs. Francis A. Miller, 809 E. Clarkston Road, Orion Township, and James L. Reid, 5400 Cedar Island Road, White Lake Township, (center).

John H. Worthington, an Oakland County 4-H agent, presented plaques to the pair.

Rochester YMCA Kicks Off Family Enrollment Campaign

ROCHESTER—The family enrollment phase of the Rochester YMCA's membership drive was launched at a kick-off dinner here last night. A goal of $9,000 in fees was announced.

Meeting in St. Paul's Methodist Church, campaign workers were served a chicken dinner prepared and donated by the women of various local church groups.

Following a brief talk by Schools Supt. Donald C. Baldwin, specific details of the drive were considered.

The sustaining and civic membership phase of the drive was completed in the past three weeks, and the receipt of $2,100 was announced.

Businesses and local organizations have been contacted and asked to pay $25 or more for their membership. Chairman of the advance drive is Herman Klix, 621 W. University Drive.

Those working in the family membership drive have been divided into two divisions led by George Ennis, 4966 N. Rochester Road, and Eugene Rounds, 415 Taylor St.

Family membership dues are $10. In 1962 total membership exceeded 1,750 persons, and some 21,200 participated in YMCA activities.

Opportunities offered by the local "Y" range from ladies' bowling instruction to woodshop-craft-shop classes for boys.

OTHER FACILITIES

Other phases of the local program include a business and professional club, bowling leagues and a junior air-ride unit.

The local club, located at 423 Helen St., also sponsors Guy Cluses for all ages, Summer trips, dancing classes and tennis competition and instruction. Enrollment for all programs must be made at the "Y." New activities will be added during the year when sufficient interest is shown and leadership available.

Fourteen teams, with 10 members on each, will be canvassing the area for memberships during the drive. A final report of campaign results is scheduled for April 4.

Anyone not contacted may join by enrolling at the "Y" office.

Intercept Sewer Arm Bids Will Be Opened March 15

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP—Township supervisor John C. Rehard announced today that the Oakland County Department of Public Works will open bids March 15 on construction of an arm to the Farmington sewer system intercept.

The arm will be started at 14-Mile and Middlebelt roads and continue in a northwesterly direction for 3½ miles.

Township Treasurer Lillian Warner estimated total cost for the project, including construction and engineering, will be about $400,000. It will be paid with a special district assessment spread during a 10-year period.

Two township ordinances have drawn Rehard's fire.

He urged township trustees to take another look at both the food sanitation ordinance and zoning ordinance regulating construction of hosthouses.

The food sanitation ordinance is a "general type of sanitation regulation that covers everything," Rehard said.

He requested the board to enact an ordinance that would specifically regulate facets of food handling and sanitation.

Rehard termed the ordinance

Still No Word of Missing Area Police Chief

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — The mysterious disappearance of Township Police Chief Andrew Plano is no closer to being unraveled today, although it appears likely he is on his way to California.

Township Supervisor Ed Cheyz reported this morning that the police car radio was found yesterday in Plano's garage.

"Everything that belongs to the township has been returned," Cheyz said.

This would indicate that the 51-year-old chief had no intention of returning, he added.

State police report no clues this morning on the local policeman's disappearance.

Six Eye Council in Farmington

3 Oppose Incumbents on April Ballot

FARMINGTON — Six men, including three incumbents, have filed nominating petitions for three vacancies on the City Council here.

Incumbents are Henry B. Forrest, Hugo E. Peterson and Howard W. Thayer.

Virgil Cornwell, 32395 Valleyview Circle, Robert J. Schulte, 32004 Valleyview Drive, and Ralph D. Yoder, 31661 Lamar Drive are the others.

The two receiving the highest number of votes in the April spring election will serve four-year terms, while the third will serve for two years.

Filing for municipal judge are Paul W. Gugel Jr., 32308 Leelanoe Road, Sylvester J. Pheny, 32264 Valleyview Circle, and Howard L. Richards, 31631 Grand River.

John J. Schulte Jr., 79, present municipal judge, has decided to run for associate municipal judge. The latter position carries a smaller workload.

Opposing him will be Michael J. Hand, 34367 Cass Court.

Also on the April 1 ballot will be a charter amendment requesting an annual salary of $500 for councilmen and mayor.

The charter now provides for payment of not more than $128 per year.

Nation's Innkeepers Feel Business Decline

One of the inconsistencies of our generally expanding economy is the number of business segments experiencing hardship in keeping their heads above water.

Such a one is the popular conception of the hotel industry. With business and pleasure travel at an all-time peak, it would seem that this allied field would be sharing the transportation boom.

The opposite, however, is the case. Hotel-keeping, traditionally dependent on 65 per cent occupancy to break even, last year hit a 24-year low. The national average was 61 per cent.

What has happened to this age-old form of commercial hospitality?

Mainly it is that travelers are forsaking the old, established downtown hotels in favor of the constantly increasing number of highway motels, airport hotels and new downtown "motor-inns"—close-in hotels with free parking and motel-like informality.

Another factor contributing to the dismal total of vacant rooms is the ease and greatly increased speed of travel. Whereas, for example, an Eastern executive traveling to a Midwest appointment or two was once a potential hotel guest, he can now jet-fly to a noon meeting, transact an afternoon's business and return home in time for dinner.

The suffering hotels are trying many innovations to boost occupancy above the present danger point.

Promotion of group junkets at substantially reduced rates, bargain weekends and outright rate cutting are being tried—with success in some cases, but without over-all benefit for the industry.

The late E. M. Statler, founder of the hotel chain now operated by Hilton Hotels Corp., once characterized hotel rooms as "perishable." Unlike a dealer's tangible merchandise that remains on his shelves until sold, each day's potential revenue from vacant hotel rooms is irretrievably lost.

Unhappily, the landlords seem confronted with the disturbing fact that in their daily involvement with the ins and outs of their inns, there are more outs than ins.

Without Better Support U.N. Faces Bankruptcy

In the near future the United Nations will be confronted with some harsh economic facts of life.

Unless greater support is forthcoming from several of the large members and present delinquencies are paid up, the organization will soon be broke.

Currently it is $120 million in the red, with the deficit increasing at the rate of about $4 million a month.

Although the U.N.'s expenditures have risen by 70 per cent since 1955, it has had no difficulty in meeting its regular budget. It is the special peace-keeping operations in the Congo and Middle East that have run up the deficit—mainly because a large number of countries have refused or been unable to contribute to the emergency actions.

Sixty-seven countries owe $76 million for the Congo venture, and 58 owe $27 million for the Middle East operation.

The Soviet Union, owing $46 million, is the largest debtor. France owes $14 million. Belgium, Portugal and South Africa are behind in their payments.

Of the 110 U.N. members, the United States now pays about 47 per cent of the entire cost, including as much as 50 per cent for the Congo operation.

These and other inequities will soon be aired in Congress, with a report made last week to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee serving as the groundwork.

Lawmakers are becoming increasingly critical of our "patsy" role in the United Nations from the standpoint of the related stringency in the U. S. domestic budget and actions taken by the international body inimical to our national interests.

Particularly ranking to Capitol leaders was the U. N. decision to grant Cuba over $1 million for a five-year agriculture project when the U. S. defense policy is to deny such aid to the Castro regime.

Perhaps it has finally reached the stage where the club members need more than a notice on the bulletin board. "No pay, no play" should be the edict. Members not in good standing should not be allowed to vote until they ante up.

The Man About Town

Ties With Past Local Men Are Directors First Western Railroad

By HOWARD HELENBRAND
Prompted by the piece on the early Detroit-Pontiac railroad that ran a week ago,

George H. Crane of Rochester, exemplified the words of the old song, "I've been working on the railroad," and went to work on it.

The piece alluded to which caught his eye contained the line "... but the first locomotive and rails in the West were the property of a road (unidentified) within the borders of Michigan."

My friend knows all about it. The Erie and Kalamazoo. It began operating in 1836 over a 23-mile stretch between Toledo and Palmyra—and is still in business!

In 1849, the line was leased to the Michigan Southern. In turn was absorbed by the New York Central system.

There are presently nine directors of the original line, and three of them are Pontiac residents. In addition to the aforementioned Mr. C., the other two are Stuart E. Whitfield of 286 Cherokee Road, and Philip M. (Phil) Hubbard of 55 S. Berkshire.

It must be pretty nice to be able to travel from Toledo to Palmyra on passes!

With the recent retirement of two veteran members of the Pontiac Fire Department—both aerial truck drivers attached to Station No. 3—combined experience of 70 years ends.

The total is evenly split between Delmo (Del) Chapelaire of 3355 South Boulevard, and Walter (Wally) Mielke of 38 E. Rutgers.

The retirees have some indelible recollections of their fire-fighter days. They answered the alarm on all of Pontiac's headline fires during the past third-century.

And they remember that when houses years ago had wood shingle roofs, as many as 20 runs a day would be made when furnaces were first started up in the fall.

Furthermore, Pontiac once covered adjacent areas—Waterford, Drayton Plains, Clarkson and Auburn Heights being under local fire protection.

All best wishes to these fine examples of public service for many enjoyable and rewarding years in their well-earned leisure.

Fifth Column For Latin America

David Lawrence Says:

Government Isn't Businesslike

WASHINGTON — These are days when, judging by the debates and discussions here, it is supposed to be very difficult to cut expenses in government. Yet almost every business comes to grips with this problem right along.

There are at least three ways to keep expenses down. One is to stop adding new expenses. Another is to stop expenditures that are no longer needed or that can be postponed.

LAWRENCE for a while. A third step is to consolidate several items into a single expenditure of lesser amount that accomplishes the same general purpose either temporarily or permanently.

Government spenders usually reject all three devices. For in government, businesslike approach is supposed to be impossible. The first consideration usually is whether the cut in expenditures will cost the administration any votes in key states in the next election.

The next commandment is that appropriations for certain areas must not be diminished lest senators or representatives from that locality be alienated and their support lost to the administration in its effort to get "welfare" legislation passed.

A third rule is that, if a subsidy has been granted, it must be continued even after it has outlived its practical benefit to the country as a whole, and that, if a previous administration or Congress has authorized an expenditure, the money must always be spent irrespective of new circumstances or new needs for public funds.

FALSE IMPRESSION

The impression being conveyed is that only the Republicans want to cut the government expenses. It happens, however, that Sen. Willis Robertson, of Virginia, chairman of the Senate Banking and Currency Committee, is a Democrat who has served 30 years in Congress. In a speech to the senate on Thursday, he said:

"I have consistently opposed pump-priming and deficit financing. ... I have diligently examined the budget for fiscal year 1964. ... I propose to indicate how the budget can be reduced at least $6 billion to which may be passed in order to move toward the goal of a sound fiscal policy."

"In the area of nondefense spending, reductions can be made in proposed new spending programs, several existing loan programs, civilian research programs, foreign-aid spending, and civilian personnel expansion."

"Reductions can be achieved in spending requests for new programs because their need is not established as being sufficiently vital to justify an increase in the deficit, their cost impact on the 1964 and later budgets is by no means fully determined, and insofar as the objectives of these programs may be desirable, they can be met privately or by state or local governments."

"I desire to make it crystal clear that in making suggestions for eliminating or curtailing some of the President's spending proposals, I am acting as a loyal Democrat who has never left his party and who wants to help and not harm his party's success in the elections of 1964."

The impact of the tax discussion on business confidence thus far has not been salutary. Although the country has been told, for instance, that corporations will get a lower tax rate, the truth is that the percentage of income flowing out of the companies to the government will be higher than before.

It will be 1969 before companies with an excess of $100,000 a year in taxes will get any real reduction in the outflow of cash to the government under the administration's program.

In the next five years, therefore, businesses face a penalty instead of a benefit from a tax cut. That's just one of many reasons why the whole tax program proposed by the administration has aroused members of Congress of both parties.

Bob Considine Asks:

Could the U.S. Economy Stand Impact of Peace?

NEW YORK — Could the U.S. economy stand up under the impact of peace — total peace — if it suddenly broke out?

"News from," a periodical devoted to management's side of the news, collects some unerring statistics pertinent to the question raised above.

The $56-billion U.S. defense budget is larger than the total output of France.

Defense contracting is the biggest industry in the world, the biggest, most complex and most unstable.

A B29 has 100,000 electronic components. It takes 9,000 CONSIDINE companies to build all the pieces that go into an intercontinental missile.

The work force that keeps the whole thing going has undergone as many changes in nature as the weaponry itself. There were 30 defense contractors in World War II when 30,000 planes were built.

Now only a fraction of that figure are fabricated, and production has long since been shut down on manned bombers.

In World War II there was heavy defense production in the Midwest. Seven auto producers were listed among the top 30 defense contractors. At Willow Run, Ford turned out one B24 bomber every hour.

THREE REMAIN

Now only three car builders remain on the list of 30. General Motors has dropped from first to 10th; Ford from third to 20th; Chrysler from eighth to 27th.

Defense spending consumes 10 per cent of total U.S. output, employs 10 per cent of the labor force. Twenty-five per cent of all new plant and equipment installed in the U.S. goes to produce military hardware.

Defense claims a whopping 50 per cent of the U.S. research and development dollar.

Robert McNamara presides over an establishment that owns more real estate than the combined areas of Connecticut, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Vermont, New Hampshire and Delaware.

Voice of the People:

'Nuclear Striking Forces Have Checked Take-Over'

Congressmen support foreign aid because the U.S. is locked in a cold war which they claim will be lost without foreign aid. They oppose our $100 billion aid has prevented Red forces from overrunning most of the free world. If Red aggressive intent has existed, it has not been our economic aid and military assistance which has prevented the take-over. Rather it has been strategic nuclear striking forces.

The U.S. has had overwhelming supremacy. Consequently, the Kremlin has not dared to challenge our free world support. Nevertheless, with our bomber program canceled we will yield our nuclear striking forces if the untrustworthy Kremlin will likewise reduce its striking power by some 10 per cent. Meanwhile, assuring taxpayers that through foreign liberals we can spend ourselves out of our dangerous dilemma, handouts continue the liquidation of our sovereignty.

'U.S. Single Hope to Free World'

The United States as a Constitutional Republic, is the single hope to those all over the world that oppose atheistic Marxian power.

The collectivists elite in our government want world government because it is unlimited power. In the U.N. there would be no Congress to restrain the executive.

Under the current misuse of the treaty-clauses of our Constitution, the Charter of the United Nations and all it empowers are above our Constitution, laws and Congress.

In 1917, the Russian Revolution began with strikes and riots in St. Petersburg.

In 1944, French authorities in Algiers adopted an ordinance giving French Moslems in Algeria the same rights as French non-Moslems.

More Talk Needed

The Winchester Evening Star

President Kennedy is becoming angry at the public reaction to his tax revision program. During an answer session he became caustic and biting, particularly in reference to what he termed "heated talk about budget increases—partisan talk about swollen federal payrolls—exasperating talk about increasing deficits—and, finally, rash talks about a crushing debt burden."

President Kennedy's outburst leaves us bewildered. Why shouldn't there be "heated talk" about budget increases? Almost every week Mr. Kennedy has sent to the Congress proposals to increase federal spending. His current budget calls for an expenditure of $100 billion, an increase of $12 billion. That is something for the American people to become "heated" about.

This Democratic newspaper is frank to say that we feel there should be more "heated talk" about budget increases. We feel there should be more of what Mr. Kennedy describes as "partisan talk" about swollen federal payrolls. We feel there should be more "exasperated talk" about increasing the already tremendous deficit. And, finally, we feel there should be more "rash talk" about the crushing debt burden.

Finally, President Kennedy condemns the "rash talk" about a crushing debt burden. Well, isn't $306 billion a crushing debt burden? Is it "rash talk" to call attention to this gigantic sum of money which represents nearly 35 times the total assessed wealth of the entire State of Virginia? We see nothing "rash" about those who talk about the nation's gigantic debt.

This Democratic newspaper is frank to say that we feel there should be more "heated talk" about budget increases. We feel there should be more of what Mr. Kennedy describes as "partisan talk" about swollen federal payrolls. We feel there should be more "exasperated talk" about increasing the already tremendous deficit. And, finally, we feel there should be more "rash talk" about the crushing debt burden.

Blockade on Cuba

The Nashville Banner

How much longer will the United States stand by—permitting Soviet military operations in Cuba—before it slips on a full naval blockade?

The Russian build-up in Cuba is in violation of the Monroe Doctrine, and a direct assault on hemispheric security. That it was permitted in the first place, with Nervous Nellie policy reaction refusing to recognize for what it was, makes it even more imperative to act now as realism decrees. If anything is clear at this point it is that talk, talk, talk accomplishes nothing—or the exchange of notes to placate, appease, and pacify.

If there is no intention to go in and do the job which hemispheric security ultimately will require, the United States must renege a blockade which will seal off Cuba. At least, with a total blockade, they might be starved out. The area will not be safe until one way or another the Soviet forces are removed—and preoccupation, hesitating timidity and indecision, heightens the danger.

Days of Old Produced Treasury Trove for Memory

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the best ways to measure a man's wealth in this world is by the treasure trove of his memories. You're pretty well-to-do, nostalgically speaking, if you can remember when —

You sat on a curbstone at dusk, waiting for the lamplighter to come by hoping he'd say "hello" to you.

Speeding Sunday bicyclists were a leading traffic hazard, and were gravely denounced by newspaper editorial writers as "scooters" and "road burners."

Nobody took a bath except on Saturday night unless he was going to the doctor for a thorough medical examination.

The height of a city kid's ambition was to live in an apartment building that had an elevator in it. It was a big thrill to go with your mother to a department store and ride on an escalator.

TEACHER'S PET

The other children called you "teacher's pet" if she gave you the coveted honor of taking the blackboard erasers outside during class and banging the chalk dust from them.

There was small need for teenage baby sitters as most families had an elder member—grandma, grandpa, or both—who could stay home and take care of the small fry.

A sack of popcorn and a movie ticket were the same price—ten cents.

Only the town miser kept his front door locked at night.

One of the most important duties of a congressman was to see that free seeds were mailed to his constituents.

During the first World War every girl put a paper containing her name and address in the sweater she knitted for our soldier boys in France. This got many a girl a husband, too!

COFFEE GRINDER

When you went to the grocery store, the clerk always ground the coffee for you by hand in a big red machine, and the fresh aroma was unforgettable.

If you tried to give the postman a tip at Christmas, he felt insulted. The peak of male devilishness was to stand with a group of young fellows outside the corner drugstore and call out "Oh, you kid!" whenever a pretty girl passed by.

One of the landmarks of your life came the day you first learned how to whistle through your teeth loud and clear.

You saved up your spending money secretly to take a course in ventriloquism by mail. For some reason, you never quite mastered the art.

In summer, you couldn't travel

50 miles by rail without getting a cinder in your eye. It was the mark of an experienced traveler to call all Pullman porters "George."

A girl who could bake and had learned to play "Love's Old Sweet Song" on the piano was regarded as ready for marriage.

The nation's most popular wonder drugs were epsom salts, mustard plasters and castor oil.

Something of innocence was lost to the country forever when Mary Pickford, "America's Sweetheart," finally cut off her long curls.

The patrons of every town barbershop were divided into two classes—those who thought Ty Cobb was the greatest ballplayer who ever lived, and those who thought Babe Ruth was.

It was widely held that the advent of the five-day week would result in the moral ruin of the working class.

Remember?

Like Splash of Cold Water

Break Puts Them in Line

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—More than 50 residents of Miami Springs hurried to City Hall to pay delinquent water bills Thursday.

"I never saw anything like it," one clerk said. "They came dashing in as fast as they could, with the money in their hands."

Then the truth was learned. A road grader accidentally cut the main water line into Miami Springs. Many residents thought their water had been cut off because of unpaid bills.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Science Is Interested in 'The Sea Within Us'

Man is sometimes referred to in a derogatory sense as a poor fish. Taken literally, however, this is not so far from the truth.

In his slow evolution from a sea to a land animal, he has actually brought the sea within him. Several years ago Rachel Carson wrote a book entitled "The Sea Around Us."

In the last quarter of a century the medical profession has been taking a deep interest in the sea within us; for it is true that every living cell in our body is bathed in a fluid called lymph which has a composition almost identical with that of sea water.

Indeed, if we lose much of our precious body fluid we go into shock.

The body normally loses water through exhaled air (nearly a pint a day, mostly as evaporation from the skin without any sweat being seen or felt), and urine (about 3 pints a day).

Excessive loss through sweating, vomiting, diarrhea, or hemorrhage may threaten life. With the realization of the importance of maintaining the body fluids and their dissolved salts in balance, surgery has made great strides.

Whereas surgical shock used to be a common and dreaded complication following an operation, surgeons now prevent it by gentle handling of tissues and prompt replacement not only of lost fluid but also of the lost salts.

Human bodily functions, from the movement of our muscles to the mysterious thought processes that go on in our brains, depend on the movement of fluids and minerals across cell membranes.

This is essentially an electrochemical process. It has been shown that even our emotions may affect the mineral balance in our blood stream.

Anger and fear cause an increase in the excretion of sodium through our kidneys and mental depression decreases it.

PLAYED UP REMEDIES

In the wake of our newer knowledge of the importance of the fluid in our bodies that is so closely related to sea water, the pseudo scientists with a permanent yen for a fast buck played up sea salt and sea water as remedies for everything from cancer to insanity.

Because it has never been shown that sea salt is any more beneficial than iodized table salt, the Food and Drug Administration, always alert to protect the gullible, has been busy suppressing this industry.

But there are always a few die-hards lurking about. Sea salt is 75 per cent sodium chloride or table salt and the rest is a mixture of magnesium, potassium, and iron salts.

All are well supplied by the average American diet.

If you have laid in a supply of sea salt, however, don't throw it away, it may still come in handy to sprinkle on ice-enrusted sidewalks.

Q — Please tell me what you think of honey and vinegar for arthritis.

A — Although this treatment was highly recommended in a best-selling popular book, there is no supportable evidence that it has any beneficial effect on this disease.

There are many kinds of arthritis and the disease is often hard to cure, but your doctor can determine what type you have and, if he cannot cure it, he should at least be able to give you some relief.

Discover Good Use for Swimming Hole

PARSONS, Kan. (AP) — There's no use letting the city swimming pool go unused just because cool weather has arrived.

The Parsons Recreation Commission and Kiwanis Club pumped water from a nearby creek into the city swimming pool, which had been drained for the winter, ordered 1,350 troutlarvae in the 1930's.

from a hatchery and organized a fishing contest for youngsters from kindergarten age through the sixth grade.

Kiwanis members provided life-guards, necessary tackle and lots of free advice.

Customs of the natives on Wallis and Futuna Islands are a mixture of practices inherited from their pagan Polynesian ancestors and the Christian faith introduced by Marist missionaries.

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — A business office representative at a telephone company was trying to help a customer — listed as a doctor — determine who made a long-distance call for which he was charged.

"Do you get many long-distance calls from patients?" the customer asked.

"Very few," came the reply, "I'm a veterinarian."

Mel's No Sap About Those Maple Trees

POLAND, Ind. (AP) — Mel Trusler takes sap from 150 maple trees on his eastern Clay County farm, but you won't find a bucket hanging anywhere.

This was Trusler's first season to cook maple sirup and instead of buying 150 buckets, he purchased two miles of small plastic hose and made a maze of his maple grove.

The tubes are inserted into the trees and carry the sap to a large storage tank in the center of Trusler's sugar camp.

A small pump forces the sap from the tank to the nearby house, where he has kept one old-fashioned sirup-making idea — a wood-burning fire.

Trusler says the original installation cost him about 25 cents a tap more than the generally accepted buckets which dangle from maple trees.

However, he said, considerable labor is saved by the piping system and he has no buckets to catch things other than sap, such as bugs, dust and rain.

Trusler says he plans to use the plastic hose system again next season and make some expansions and improvements.

He's found only one catch — a hungry squirrel once in a while takes a nip through the hose.

Before reaching 15 years of age, 66 per cent of teen-age girls are buying their own clothes without adult supervision and 70 per cent are planning their own parties, a teen-age magazine survey shows.

Georgia Still Claims Its Beloved Son, Josef Stalin

By EDDY GILMORE

GORI, Georgia, U.S.S.R. (AP) — Denounced and denigrated all over the Soviet Union, Josef Stalin lives on in the hearts of his fellow Georgians.

"He may have been a rascal," said one Gori native, "but he was our rascal." "To do what they've done to him is wrong. One day when they rewrite history again, he'll be regarded as one of the great."

Here in his dusty, somewhat down-at-the-heel home town, the two-room cabin where Stalin was born is preserved as a shrine.

Big and shining, the Stalin Museum attracts hundreds of visitors, mostly Georgians, every month.

But just outside the town, a tremendous statue of the old tyrant has been pulled down and replaced by the replica of a deer.

The 65-mile road from Gori to Tiflis, capital of the Georgian Republic, once had many statues of Stalin. Today only one stands, a bronze statue of Stalin in an overcoat. It's in the center of Georgia's first capital, the ancient mountain town of Mtskheta, but all the bronze plaques carrying effusive praise of Stalin have been ripped off.

In Tiflis, two statues of Stalin remain.

One is at the top of Mt. Mtskhinda, which towers over Tiflis.

Here too, plaques describing him in glowing language—both Georgian and Russian—have been removed.

The other statue is at the entrance of a park. It looks pretty lonely.

Beria Square, named after Stalin's late unbeloved police chief, has been renamed Lenin Square.

In these days of de-Stalinization many Georgians feel they are paying for the fact that the man who ruled the Soviet Union for 25 years was a Georgian.

ANCIENT LAND

This is a beautiful, ancient land, yet things look crummy.

The old shanty town in which many Kurds live still stands at one end of Tiflis.

I stayed in Tiflis' best hotel and most of the food was uneatable.

There was some loose coarse salt on the tables.

"We haven't seen any pepper for years," said a waiter.

We ordered shashlik, one of Georgia's favorite dishes. It was untasty and about as tough as one of Stalin's old boots.

Georgians make no secret of their dislike for Russians, and the Russians you meet around Tiflis

Keego Harbor Youth Enters Guilty Plea

A 16-year-old Keego Harbor youth yesterday pleaded guilty to the Nov. 21 burglary of a Waterford Township service station.

DeWayne D. Weaver of 3682 Norcott St. entered his plea as his trial was about to begin before Oakland County Circuit Judge William J. Beer. Sentencing was set for March 19.

The youth was charged with breaking into Boles Service Station, 3861 Elizabeth Lake Road, and taking a 38-caliber pistol, four cigarette lighters and $8 in cash.

Amersom will consume 18.2 billion pounds of beef this year, or the equivalent of 90 pounds per capita, the American Meat Institute forecasts.

are not enchanted by Georgians. The Russians are in a considerable minority.

I suffered two minor insults in public places from Georgians who took me for a Russian.

In poor Russian, one said: "Why don't you go back to Moscow? You're not welcome here."

EXTRA POLITE

Other Georgians treated me politely. When they learned I was an American, they treated me extra politely.

In Gori I told a Russian-speaking Georgian that I'd come to Georgia from the former city of Stalingrad, now named Volgograd.

"During the celebrations marking the 20th anniversary of the Germans," I told her, "Stalin's name was not mentioned even once."

She burst into tears.

In a restaurant I shared a table with a highly educated Georgian and a pretty Russian woman.

I got a most articulate account of the current attitude toward the deceased Stalin.

"Georgia has been invaded 40 times," he said, "by the Romans, the Turks, the Persians and so on."

"Sometimes I feel as if we're being invaded again, as if we've been occupied by a foreign power."

"I'm afraid we are paying for Stalin's sins and God knows he committed them."

You encounter a lot of self-pity

Georgia isn't just Tiflis and Gori, however.

Sukhumi, just south of Sochi of the beautiful Black Sea Coast, is a city of enchantment.

The people are gay and happy and not preoccupied with Stalin's ghost.

The hotels are good and, in season you can see some of the world's briefest bikinis.

A beach exists where you can swim and sunbathe in the nude.

The undraped males and females are segregated, but the beach photographers roam the beaches taking pictures of anyone who wants a photograph and is willing to pay.

A fierce, loud and undisciplined people, Georgians are adept to knife-wielding.

A few moments of sinister uneasiness arose as my chauffeur-driven Intourist car was descending a high mountain.

Turning a sharp curve, we encountered a barricade of stones across the paved highway.

PLUNGES THROUGH

Widely refusing to stop, the driver plunged through the barricade without damaging the car.

As we hastily sped away from the spot, I noticed about a dozen swarthy faces staring from behind trees and bushes on the high banks beside the road.

Was this a planned holdup? The driver shrugged and pressed the accelerator.

Nobody ever offered an explanation of the incident.

Red-Rome Coexistence Near?

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The XXIII sparked speculation today meeting between Premier Khrushchev's son-in-law and Pope John.

REDS IN ROME — Alexei Adzhubel and his wife, daughter of Soviet Premier Khrushchev, are shown in St. Peter's Square yesterday before their audience with Pope John XXIII.

the threshold of a major breakthrough to friendlier relations.

Signs of a change between the Kremlin and the Vatican have been evident for months.

The 18-minute private audience which Pope John granted Alexei Adzhubel Thursday was the first face to face meeting in history of a Roman Catholic ruler and a leading figure from the Soviet Union.

Besides his family connection with Premier Khrushchev, Adzhubel, 39, is chief editor of Izvestia, the Soviet government newspaper.

The initiative for the meeting came from the Soviet side. Adzhubel and Khrushchev's daughter, Rada, are touring Italy. Vatican officials said the couple asked to see the Pope. Apparently Pope John welcomed the opportunity.

There was no suggestion that communism is coming to terms with the church. Rather, Khrushchev appears ready to try for coexistence with Catholicism.

OTHER MOVES

A major overture came from the Soviets last October. The Russian Orthodox Church accepted the Vatican's invitation to send observers to the Vatican Ecumenical Council. Last month Moscow released a Ukrainian Catholic archbishop held in prison for 18 years.

Pope John's meeting with Adzhubel coincided with reports that some kind of diplomatic or consular tie might be in the making between the Vatican and Moscow.

Prior to his meeting with Pope John, Adzhubel said he thought a Vatican consulate in the Soviet Union would be a good idea.

The Adzhubel audience also caused speculation about freedom for Hungary's Josef Cardinal Mindszenty and a personal visit to the Pope by Khrushchev, who may visit Italy this year.

In Moscow, however, high level Western diplomats were dubious about a meeting of Khrushchev and the Pope in the near future. They said it would strain further China and other hard-line Communist countries.

3 Michigan Counties Eligible for Labor Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three Michigan counties are among 25 additional labor market areas designated by the Labor Department yesterday as eligible for aid under the Accelerated Public Works Program.

They are the East Tawas area of Alcona and Iosco counties and the West Branch area of Ogemaw County.

34 States Report Outbreaks of 'Flu'

ATLANTA (UPI)—The U.S. Communicable Disease Center (CDC) said today outbreaks of influenza-like disease have been reported in 34 states. A CDC spokesman said the outbreak is of epidemic proportions.

The spokesman said, however, the flu outbreak started late this year and it is hoped the total effect will not be as damaging as in past epidemic years.

The CDC official said the 796 deaths from pneumonia and influenza reported by 108 key cities last week were about 50 per cent higher than anticipated.

Incidence of Syphilis Continues to Increase

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Surgeon General Luther L. Terry announced today that 21,143 cases of syphilis were reported to the Public Health Service in 1962, the largest number since 1950.

Terry said the figures represented "a continuation of the increase which began in 1956 when only 6,392 cases were reported."

Guantanamo Base Has Better Defenses

NEW YORK (AP)—Rear Adm. Peter Corradi said Thursday the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo, Cuba, is better defended now than it ever has been.

Corradi, chief of the Navy's Bureau of Yards and Docks, told a convention of the Associated General Contractors that "800 workers have been working like mad since the Cuban crisis began."

He said that, with most Cuban laborers cut off from the base, the work has been done by Navy Seabees, helped by civilian labor from Jamaica, Panama and the United States.

Meadow Brook Ball to Whirl Into Area Social Season May 11

Among members of this year's Meadow Brook Ball Committee are Mrs. Lester L. Colbert of Bloomfield Hills and Mrs. Louis Colombo Jr., Lahser Road. Work has started on the May 11 affair. Proceeds go toward Oakland University's scholarship fund.

The highlight of the Bloomfield Hills social season—the Meadow Brook Ball—will be held at Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson's sumptuous country mansion Meadow Brook, May 11.

Some 30 area committee members are assisting co-chairmen Mrs. James O. Wright and Mrs. R. Jamison Williams with plans.

The committee hopes to top this year's goal of $25,000 as a donation to Oakland University's scholarship fund.

Mrs. William T. Gossett, past cochairman, whose husband was recently appointed assistant to the U. S. trade negotiations chief, Christian Herter, has been commuting between Washington, D. C., and Bloomfield Hills to help with arrangements.

The 500 guests at the ball will dance in a two-story ballroom and stroll on broad terraces overlooking the 1,000-acre estate which was donated by Mrs. Wilson and her late husband for the creation of Oakland University.

The Wilsons built the 125-room home in 1928. It contains furnishings and works of art, including canvases of Rembrandt, Van Dyke and Joshua Reynolds. Many others hang on the walls of the paneled corridors and great hall.

Try Marriage Counselor

Your Wife Needs Help

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: My wife is a good woman except for one thing. She is a lousy cook. Everything she makes tastes the same. She smokes while she cooks and ashes fall into the food.

I am always finding something in my dinner that doesn't belong there.

One night the supper is undercooked and the next night it's burned. She hasn't made a good meal since I married her and it's been six years. Any suggestions?

DEAR ABBY: You problem didn't originate in the kitchen, and chances are it can't be solved by me in your mail.

INDIGESTION
DEAR INDIGESTION: Your problem didn't originate in the kitchen, and chances are it can't be solved by me in your mail.

A woman who doesn't care enough about her husband to TRY to put a good meal in front of him needs more help than I can give her in a letter.

If there is a marriage counselor in your area, invite him to dinner.

DEAR ABBY: What, in your opinion, is a good life of work for a girl to get into if she is interested in getting a man?

ANXIOUS
DEAR ANXIOUS: Nursing — a man loves a girl who knows how to rub his back.

Air line stewardess — where else can you find a man already strapped down?

DEAR ABBY: Will you please tell me how you can keep an old witch of a mother-in-law out of your house?

This one has had four husbands. Buried one, divorced two, and drove the fourth one crazy. (No joking — he is in a mental institution.)

She comes over every day, uninvited, and orders everything around.

She talks incessantly and criticizes everything and everybody. She has two other children who are lucky enough to live out of town, and they treat her like they don't even know she is alive. My husband tells me not to pay any attention to her.

How can I accomplish this miracle? I think she needs psychiatric care.

VERY VERY NERVOUS
DEAR NERVOUS: Think of your mother-in-law as someone just two steps ahead of the man in the white coat and your resentment will turn to compassion and your anger to resignation.

Do this for your own sanity, or you will beat her to the psychiatrist.

CONFIDENTIAL TO

PAUL: Don't worry. If criticism had any real power to harm, the skunk would be extinct by now.

Stop worrying. Write to Abby. For a personal reply enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send one dollar to ABBY, care of The Pontiac Press, for Abby's new booklet, "HOW TO WRITE LETTERS FOR ALL OCCASIONS."

Student Tells of Homeland

Miss Saenen told of differences between her country and the United States in industry, education and social customs.

Borrow to Protect Good Credit Rating

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Dear Miss Feeley:

We are having a rough time making our money stretch. In the past year we have had three unexpected hospital and doctor bills to pay. Because of our time payments and mortgage payments, there are many times when we can send only $2 or $3 a month to our creditors.

MARY FEELEY has a monthly payment for about 30 months. We want to keep a good credit rating, but we are worried about what our creditors will say if we keep sending them such small amounts.

What would you advise?

Mr. and Mrs. G. K. Appleton, Wis.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. K.:

You're putting first things first,

I'm glad to see: keep a good credit rating. If that means a loan, then take out a loan. But borrow the smallest amount possible, for the shortest time possible, to settle your overdue accounts.

Shop around to determine the best loan available. If you have insurance, investigate the possibilities of borrowing on it. Consider a personal loan from your bank.

If your husband's company has a credit union, that's a likely source. There are also the finance companies.

Remember, though, that a loan is not free money—you have to pay it back! So try to avoid long payments, as the longer you stretch out the payments, the more it costs in interest.

I assume this loan could pay medical as well as time payments and miscellaneous bills. However, if you have certain time payments now that are not carrying too high an interest rate, and are being met when due, it might be wise to eliminate those from the list.

Then a smaller loan would be sufficient to cover the bills that are endangering your credit. But before you eliminate those time payments, check the true interest you're now paying—see if it's worth while to pay them off completely by increasing the sum you borrow.

When you're weary from chasing after debts you never quite catch up with, it's a powerful temptation to borrow big and relax quick. But stay on your feet a while longer. Pay off that loan on the double—then put into a savings account what might otherwise have gone for interest. If you can do this, you'll be better prepared if another emergency should arise.

Dear Mary Feeley:

I would like to name a first and second beneficiary on my savings account passbook. Can this be done, and is it advisable?

M. M. Grand Rapids, Mich.

Dear M.M.:

This is not advisable. Have you given thought to the importance of having a will? I suggest you go to a lawyer and let him draw up a will that states specifically who your beneficiaries are to be, and in what order. Or this can be done in a codicil to your present will if you already have one.

(Send your questions on money problems to Mary Feeley in care of The Pontiac Press, enclosing stamped, self-addressed envelope for reply.)

Wed in Colorado

To Honor Son, Bride

Dr. and Mrs. Ashton W. Emery will honor their son, Jack William Emery of Aurora, Colo., and his bride, the former Sandra Jean Ferguson of Wheatridge, Colo., at a reception in Rolling Hills Country Club followed the ceremony.

The couple, presently on honeymoon, spoke vows before Dr. J. Carlton Babbs Saturday afternoon in Park Hill Methodist Church, Denver.

A reception in Rolling Hills Country Club followed the ceremony.

Daughter of the John R. Fergusons of Wheatridge, the bride wore a ballerina-length white tulle tulle gown accented with Alencon lace. Bouffant silk illusion veiling fell from a lace headband. She held a crescent of white Cymbidium orchids.

Her sister Patricia, who was maid of honor, wore pink silk tulle and carried pink rosebuds and white carnations.

On the esquire side were best man Homer Garrison Jr. of Aurora and ushers Richard Dean and Arthur Wolston, both of Denver.

The bride is a graduate of the University of Colorado and her husband attended Central Michigan University.

For the wedding, Mrs. Ferguson chose a champagne ottoman silk ensemble and corsage of green Cymbidium orchids. Mrs. Emery clipped pink orchids to her dress of mauve silk shantung.

She's a Female Triple Threat

USO Entertainer Says GIs Hungry for Home News

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor
NEW YORK — U.S. military men stationed overseas are just as eager for news of home and entertainment as they ever were during a war, says a Missouri-born girl who holds an unique position at the United Service Organization, Inc. (USO).

"Only thing is," said Miss

M. J. Boyer, 24, a brown-eyed blonde, "people back home don't remember this as acutely as they did during the war years, it seems."

"We will have GIs come up after a show and say, 'there really are girls, after all'," she added. "But their main conversation is about home... what's going on there... how long it'll be until they get back."

Miss Boyer, according to USO, is its only female triple-threat manager — producer-performer. She casts the members of the troupe for tours, does out the weekly pay checks, puts together and rehearses the various acts, and also sings, dances and acts in what usually is a revue.

M. J. (she uses the initials from her first name of Mary Jane because she dislikes the moniker) and her "Eight on the Go" revue — four men, four girls — has just returned from a Mediterranean tour.

It was a three-month series of performances before military forces stationed in Turkey, Greece, Saudi Arabia, Ethiopia, Cyprus, Crete, Morocco, Libya, Spain, Lebanon, France and Italy.

"The weather was diabolical," said the trim Miss Boyer. All of Europe, even parts of the Mediterranean, have had the worst winter in many years.

MILITARY TRAVEL
The military transports the performers as near as it can, under weather conditions, to the spot they're to perform. From then on, she said, being "on your own is sometimes horrendous. Once in Turkey, we used ferry, barge and train to get to a base."

USO calls the eastern Mediterranean one of its toughest circuits for entertainers because of isolation of bases and of weather, a spokesman said.

"But," said M. J. Boyer, "this is one way to see the world. Although, a lot of the travel is in bucket seats (typical compartment equipment for military aircraft) and the country doesn't look at all like the travel posters when you get there."

Since, in the summer of 1958 while a senior at Northwestern University, she organized a troupe to tour the far east for the Department of Defense, Miss Boyer has traveled nearly 200,000 miles to entertain U.S. forces.

Currently, she is in New York planning a show which USO will send to the Far East in May.

Miss Boyer, five feet, four inches tall and weighing 115 pounds, holds a bachelor of science in speech from Northwestern. She is from Bellefontaine, Mo., outside St. Louis. Her father, Charles, is a retired division manager for a mail order catalog company.

"Well," she said, "first off, you can't deny the fact that you're performing for an audience that appreciates you probably more than any other. This is steady employment and we are paid (union scale or, in her case, more because of her triple role)."

"And I want to be a producer. The experience I'm getting is fantastic."

How about social life for a girl of 24 always on the go? "Touring military bases," she said, "you're never lacking for dates when you want them. If you don't... and you do have to keep a schedule... just say you're on the move a lot. That's your best defense."

Routine Can Aid Figure

Do Exercises at Work

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It is entirely possible to do exercises which are beautiful to the figure and beneficial to the health while at work or going about our daily lives.

For instance, the way you sit in a chair can be a good exercise or it can cause or increase figure defects. Sit with your hips close to the back of the chair. Straighten your spine all the way.

New pull your abdominal muscles in and hold while you count to eight slowly. Relax and continue. Do this periodically during the day and try to remember to never allow your abdomen to protrude. This is a splendid abdominal exercise.

While waiting for a bus or subway you can do arch exercises. Roll onto the outside of your feet. Roll back. Do this a few times and then roll forward and backward on your feet.

When you are making up a bed or reaching up to a shelf, exaggerate the reach so that you feel the pull. Reach more slowly than you normally would, giving time for the stretch.

When you are using the vacuum cleaner or sweeping or raking leaves bend forward from the waist and feel the pull. Do not slump over the cleaner or broom and rake.

The way you hold your head is of the greatest importance. Do not lead with your chin and do not collapse at the back of your neck while doing your work or playing bridge or using a typewriter or sewing. Holding the head correctly is in itself a splendid exercise. Think of this often during the day.

If you have had the habit of slumping, your muscles will feel tired for a while when you begin trying to have correct posture. However, in the long run, poor posture is tiring. It places a strain on ligaments and muscles.

When you begin working on getting rid of round shoulders, take little rest periods when you lie down on the bed or floor on your back, without a pillow. Heat is also helpful when muscles ache from unaccustomed work.

If you would like to have my leaflet, "Gymnastics While You Wait," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 28 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Electric Brush for the Family

The latest grooming device to be mechanized is the hairbrush. An electric brush is said to accomplish in five minutes beneficial effects which would require an hour's worth of elbow-grease. The entire family can share one of these brushes because its plastic bristle section pops out for washing in hot soap or detergent suds and rinse water.

Former Judge Dies in Clawson

DETROIT (U) — Former Wayne County Circuit Judge Frank B. Ferguson, 69, died of an apparent heart attack yesterday in his daughter's home in Clawson.

Ferguson, whose brother Homer is a former Republican senator from Michigan and currently is a judge of the U. S. Court of Military Appeals, retired from the Wayne circuit bench two years ago. He served there for 16 years.

A resident of Paradise on Whitefish Bay in the Upper Peninsula, he had just returned to Michigan from a Florida vacation.

Ferguson began his public service in 1923 as an assistant prosecutor for Wayne County. He was elected a Common Pleas Court judge in 1939 and served until 1944 when he defeated Judge William Friedman for a place on the circuit bench.

A native of Harrison City, Pa., Ferguson came to Detroit to practice law with his brother after being graduated from the University of Pittsburgh in 1917. He became active in Republican party politics here.

Hopi Indians Get Electricity; Some Prefer to 'Stay in Dark'

By JAMES E. COOK
The Arizona Republic
Written for The Associated Press
KEAMS CANYON, Ariz.—Electricity has finally come to the Hopi Indian villages, some of America's oldest communities. It's not entirely welcome.

A majority of the 4,000 Hopis on the tribe's northeastern Arizona reservation welcome electricity. They can light their pueblos, apartment-like villages where Hopis have lived for centuries.

Housewives can swap washboards and gasoline-powered washers for electric models. Silver Smith Orville Talamyapewa can polish his wares on an electric buffing wheel.

But a hard core of "traditionalists" oppose power lines, just as they opposed a new highway two years ago, lest the white man's conveniences destroy the Hopi way of life.

It is an honorable, reasoned way of life that experts say has existed for 1,000 years.

OLDEST COMMUNITY
Some scientists claim that Oraibi, one village where the power line is welcome, is the oldest continuously inhabited community in North America.

The gentle dispute that divides the Hopis is as fundamental as

Asks Week Dedicated to Constitution

LANSING (U) — Democratic State Chairman Zolton Ferency yesterday asked Gov. George Romney to proclaim the week just prior to the April 1 election as "Know Your Constitution Week" in an effort to present both sides of the proposed new document to voters.

"The Democratic party will be happy to join in a bipartisan effort to make both sides of the constitutional question as widely known as possible," Ferency told the governor in a letter.

"In the hope of promoting greater citizen concern over making the decision which must be made on Election Day, May I respectfully request that you declare the week just prior to that day as "Know Your Constitution Week."

Ferency noted that he and Romney are "in total disagreement" over the worth of the new constitution. Romney argues its passage and the Democrats are opposing it.

DIRECTOR DIES — Edward E. Ford, 63, a director of the International Business Machines Corp., died in Delray Beach, Fla., this week. Ford, a native of Binghamton, N.Y., held an estimated $61,482,900 in IBM stock.

Reveal Drop in Birth Rate for Country

WASHINGTON (AP) — Preliminary figures indicate that fewer babies were born in this country in 1962 than in any year since about 1956, the Public Health Service reported yesterday.

The service added that the birth rate of 22.4 per 1,000 population was back at the level existing before an upsurge of births began in 1946.

An estimated 4,167,000 live births were registered last year, down 2.7 per cent from 4,282,000 in 1961.

Exactly comparable figures are not available for years in the mid-1950s, because slightly different procedures were used in arriving at total estimates. However, available figures show an estimated 4,218,000 births in 1956 and 4,104,000 in 1955.

Flu Halts Hospital Visits

JACKSON (AP)—Jackson's Foote Hospital has curtailed visiting hours because of an increase in flu cases. Local physicians said only a few cases of Asian flu have been reported but many persons are suffering from flu in various forms.

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP)—An explosion is building up under Haitian President Francois Duvalier, voodooist dictator of this land of grinding poverty. If anti-Communist-Haitians don't bring him down, diplomats believe the Communists eventually will take over.

Outwardly, the bespectacled Duvalier, 50, a medical doctor, appears to rule firmly in defiance of his enemies and the United States' official disapproval of his government.

But under the tense calm of graveyard peace visitors feel the pulse of growing discontent that threatens to make Haiti, only 10 miles across the Windward Pass age from Fidel Castro's Cuba, the next storm center of the Caribbean.

Some residents say Duvalier may fall within a few months. They talk of May 15-22 as a crucial week. His first presidential term expires May 15 under the constitution. His opponents don't recognize a rigged election in 1961 that extended his time in office until 1967.

Leaflets of the underground National Democratic Union declare its aim is to overthrow Duvalier in 1963. Foreign observers have not succeeded in tracing UDN's ramifications, but they suspect it is organized and financed by Haitian exiles.

Dread of Duvalier's "boogymen," his private militia, makes Haitians fearful of talking. These armed partisans are called "Tonton Macoutes," after the bogeyman of Haitian folklore who is supposed to go about the countryside at night putting bad children in a sack on his back.

Duvalier's presidential guard, his denim-overalled militia and the Tonton Macoutes are estimated at 7,500, outnumbering the regular army of 5,000 men.

Washington has shown its disfavor toward Duvalier by cutting off $8 million in aid of Haiti's $28-million budget yearly. The United States is helping to build a jet airport and maintains an anti-malaria program, but the end of other aid is expected to be a harsh blow to Haiti's tattered economy, based on coffee exports to Europe. Tourist business from the United States is about 30 per cent under last year's.

Haiti is perhaps the poorest country in the Western Hemisphere. Most of its 4.8 million inhabitants live in hunger on peasant farms.

DRIVEN INTO EXILE

All Haitian opposition leaders have been driven into exile. Chief among them are veteran politicians Louis Delvalle and Daniel Fignole. Duvalier defeated Delvalle in the 1957 election.

"I believe the stiffening of the U.S. attitude toward Duvalier will bring about his downfall," Delvalle said recently in Santo Domingo. "If something is not done quickly I fear an invasion from Cuba."

Discontent in the army could lead to an eventual clash that could topple Duvalier.

Royal Oak Child Dies When Struck by Car

ROYAL OAK (AP)—Gerald Gerard, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gerard of 1720 Dallas St., Royal Oak, was injured fatally yesterday when he was struck by a car on 10 Mile Road near South Wilson Street.

The driver, Terry C. Taylor, 26, of Warren, was not held.

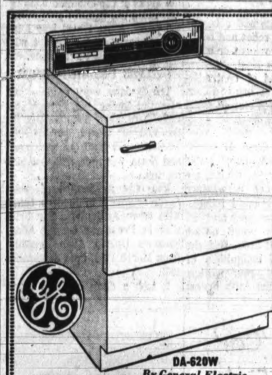

Diplomats here share the fear of an eventual Communist takeover, perhaps within a year or two unless Duvalier is overthrown earlier. These diplomats believe that Communists in the underground are satisfied to keep the Duvalier regime as a target for subversion until a force emerges that the Reds can use for their own ends.

Duvalier once showed a leftist mysticism, with voodoo leanings, trappings of a cynical strong man bent on keeping power. He say he now is bereft of ideology or thought of raising the standards of his hungry people. They say he practices a sort of person-

"Our Legs Don't Get Cold Anymore!"

"With electric heat, there are no drafts or cold spots—even the floors are nice and warm," says Mrs. William Albert. "We saved $300 on installation when we converted from the old system. Electric heat saved us space, too—now we have an extra closet where our chimney used to be. There's nothing to worry about or take care of. My draperies stay a whole lot cleaner. For all the electric appliances we have—range, water heater, clothes dryer, air conditioner—we think our $35 per month electric bill is a real bargain. Believe me, once you have electric heat, you won't want anything else."

Meet the William Albert family of Nankin Township, Michigan.

What about your home? Do you have a hard-to-heat room? Are you adding on a room? Are you buying a new home? Is the heating system in your present home more trouble than it's worth? One of the types of electric heating units shown below may be the answer to your heating problems. One easy way to find out is to ask your electrical contractor. Another is to call your Edison office. We'll be glad to send you a copy of our free booklet, "Electric Home Heating" and will answer any questions you may have about the modern, worry-free way to heat your home—electrically.

Syria May Provide Key to the Future of Arab Nationalism

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

The tortured heart of Arab nationalism is in Syria, its birthplace. In Syria may be the key to its future.

In the dusty, colorful streets of Damascus, the oldest continuous city in the world, there is a permanent atmosphere of tension and anxiety.

It is a strange atmosphere. You cannot put your finger on just what is wrong. The Damascus have lived with the feeling for generations and they are fatalistic about it.

Syria has exploded many times each time with repercussions throughout the Arab East. In an era of cold war and world tension, the explosions become progressively more dangerous. Unfortunately for Syria, her geography is far too important for her to be left alone in peace.

Syria, the ancient land of the Phoenicians, lies at the eastern end of the Mediterranean with an important, bustling port at Latakia. Across the country run 430 miles of pipeline of the Iraq Petroleum Company, feeding vital fuel to Europe's industry. Syria occupies the western part of the Arab East's fertile crescent, and great er Syria has been a dream of many nationalists.

EAST VS. WEST

The clash between the modern West and the ancient East is evident on all sides. Swank Arab finger their ever-present beads but look as Western as Chicagoans. In restaurants and cabarets bearded sheiks in robes and head-dresses from the provinces or other parts of the Arab East.

RESTLESS UNDER FRENCH

The Syrians were restless and resentful under the French and there were many disturbances. By the end of World War II, the French could hold out no longer, and Syria won her independence in 1946.

The only semblance of unity Syria achieved in modern times with other Arabs was her brief stay in President Gamal Abdel Nasser's United Arab Republic from March 1958, until September 1961.

It took a deep crisis to bring for neighboring Israel, which the Arabs consider an expression of western imperialism.

Syria's history is one of invasions: By the Egyptians, the Assyrians, the Macedonians, the Persians, the Mongols, and finally the Turks of the Ottoman Empire, who ruled the country harshly for 400 years. After World War I the French came to the Levant with a League of Nations mandate.

The situation was ready-made for the Russians, and they leaped into it eagerly. But there seemed to be a large degree of fear that the Communists were getting entirely too powerful. This apparently played a large part in the willingness of Syrian leaders to let their country be absorbed into Nasser's U.A.R.

UNHAPPY EITHER WAY

Syria would have been unhappy under the Communists. But she was unhappy under the Egyptians, too. Nasser's forces moved in quickly, abolished Syrian political parties and instituted what seem a dictatorial rule of Egyptians over Syrians.

Finally, in September, 1961, there was a coup by Syrian army officers, and the Egyptians were turned out.

The coup leaders denounced Nasser as a corrupt dictator who had tried to exercise a "divine right" of rule over Syria.

But Syria still was unhappy. Her government was unstable. There was a new procession of premiers and a brief military coup in March 1962. The Syrians feared the pro-Soviet revolutionary regime of Abdul Karim Kassam in neighboring Iraq.

Late in 1962, the Syrian temperature rose noticeably. Nasser influence was stirring up the old flames of pan-Arab unity and nationalism. Frequently, pro-Nasser students bloodied the campus of Damascus University.

from the United States and Europe. Syria had hopes of getting her head above water.

But politically, Syria's situation chronically was one of precarious balance which could be upset at any time by violence or coups from either the left or the right.

$40-MILLION U. S. AID

Khaled El Azem, a veteran of 20 years of turbulent Syrian politics, took over as premier. He was not a member of any party and had avoided political alignments. A multimillionaire, he was not popular with the Syrian business community. For all his background, he was bitter against the West and the United States.

College Men Find Good, Bad in Proposed Constitution

ANN ARBOR (U)—Thirty-five faculty members from Michigan colleges and universities find both toward and backward steps in the proposed new constitution in an analysis which they say was made to give voters "a balanced viewpoint."

The educators, most of them political scientists, said they made their study because they were tired of the "absolutism" with which the Republican party supports and the Democratic party opposes the proposed document to be voted on April 1.

Faculty members from Kalamazoo College and the Universities of Michigan, Detroit, Eastern Michigan, Western Michigan, and Wayne State participated in the analysis.

The so-called inter-university faculty committee on constitutional revision was headed by Samuel J. Eldersveld, professor of political science at Michigan.

No "Yes" or "No" recommendation is made on the new constitution as a whole. They plan to publish a booklet covering findings on eight so-called "critical" sections and let the voter reach his own for or against decision.

"We felt it was our responsibility as educators who are opposed to the absolutism of the stands taken by the two political parties on the issue of the proposed constitution to present a balanced viewpoint to the voter," Eldersveld said.

REVIEWED BY GROUP

While the findings were written by individuals, they were reviewed and revised by the entire group before approval. The "critical sections" covered are: highways, education, civil rights, judiciary, executive department, legislative apportionment, finance and taxation and local government.

Partial conclusions reached in the study follow:

CIVIL RIGHTS

"A very strong provision against discrimination... a civil rights commission is established as a constitutional body."

"The civil liberty and civil rights provisions take away no traditional safeguards and strengthen those that exist. The search and seizure provisions are regrettable, (but) represent no change and are likely contrary to national law."

"The right of appeal in criminal cases, the right to fair trial in legislative and executive investigations, a very strong equal protection provision are notable steps forward."

JUDICIARY

"The merits of the judiciary article... are basically three: An intermediate court of appeals is established; the justice of the peace courts are deprived of constitutional status and their corollary, the fee system of salary payment, is prohibited; The concept of a unified court system is specified somewhat more precisely."

"The foregoing improvements are offset, however, by three serious shortcomings:

"Nomination and election of judges to the newly established Court of Appeals is to be done on a district basis; the governor is deprived of the authority to fill judicial vacancies; the election of Supreme Court justices need not be done on a statewide basis..."

HIGHWAYS

"The legislature may by law call upon the highway commission to handle 'other public works' that do not fit into the definition of highways..."

"Marking of the proceeds from gasoline and weight taxes for highway purposes is retained, but in less rigid terms... the legislature (is given) a little more latitude in determining the objects for which highway funds are to be expended..."

"We are keenly disappointed in the structural arrangement for the highway department (with a director to be chosen by a commission of four Republicans; four Democrats)."

EDUCATION

"Under (the new constitution) the board of education might exercise considerable financial leadership by giving advice to the legislature which conflicts or supports budgets provided by the institutions themselves."

"Both political scientists and educators generally agree that the appointment of the state superintendent under the new constitution is better than the election for a two-year term as provided in the (present) 1908 constitution..."

LEGISLATIVE APPOINTMENT

"(The appointment plan will not provide straight popular representation. It is not designed to do so. It will, however, guarantee the metropolitan counties... that they will receive their full entitlement of seats under the terms of the constitution."

"Furthermore, they will receive their seats prior to the smaller counties and according to a mathematical formula... (and) it does increase the senatorial representation of the heavily urbanized counties."

"The provision constitutes a notable advance in apportionment."

"Certain facts... are clear: (The article) will constitute an improvement over the apportionment system currently in effect... It will not provide a system of straight popular representation in the senate, but will come closer to doing so in the house. It does provide a system of guaranteed decennial (every 10 years) reapportionment..."

FINANCE AND TAXATION

"The article... is one of the most disappointing parts of the document. It represents a reaffirmation of 'fiscal fundamentalism'—pay-as-you-go balanced budgets and regressive taxation irrespective of real needs."

"The limits set on the income tax are a major restriction on the legislature's ability to devise comprehensive and rational tax reforms... in its provision for local finance (the constitution) administration agencies the document took an enormous step forward. Recognizing that no individual can supervise 125 agencies, it placed a limit of 20 on the number of principal departments and required that they be grouped by major purposes."

"(A) major change in the local government article lies in the language permitting the legislature to create by law a system of county home rule..."

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI)—The general assembly yesterday adopted this resolution honoring Rep. Robert J. Tesio, D-Bridgeport, for becoming the father of twins for a second time:

"Whereas this double-barrelled addition to the Tesio family has increased the number of their offspring to the awesome total of nine. We do most heartily applaud this private little population explosion of the Tesio family."

A-Sub Launches Polaris Rocket OK

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The atomic submarine Thomas Jefferson successfully launched a Polaris rocket Thursday after a carefully launched launch failed.

The two Polaris A2 missiles were fired one hour apart while the Jefferson cruised beneath the surface of the Atlantic about 30 miles southeast of Cape Canaveral.

The second Polaris flew several hundred miles down range.

The first rocket landed in the water not far from the launching point. Cause of the trouble was not immediately known.

Electric, Gas Workers Strike in Support of French Miners

PARIS (U)—French electrical and gas workers went on a two-hour strike today while a week-old walkout still paralyzed the nation's coal mines.

Growing labor unrest moved swiftly toward a major crisis between President Charles de Gaulle's government and Communist, Socialist and Catholic unions.

Beyond immediate demands for wages, shorter working hours and other benefits was the issue of the right to strike.

Workers in the nationalized electrical and gas industry walked out to protest the government's drafting of the nation's 200,000 striking coal miners.

France and the upper Loire Valley—scheduled a one-day without Tuesday, charging that the draft order abridged the right to strike.

The Catholic Labor Union in the Moselle region of eastern France called for a nationwide general strike in both private and nationalized industries.

By delaying the draft order to return to the pits, the miners made themselves liable to fines or jail sentences. The government has made no move to enforce the draft, and the miners stood fast in defiance of it.

But official sources indicated the government may order the arrest of the strike leaders as a first step.

The electricity and gas strike caused lights to blink out, halted elevators, lowered gas pressure and stopped the vast Paris subway system.

It also halted commuter trains into Paris. But place it came after the rush hour, most commuters got to work.

The 110,000 electricity and gas workers also seek pay boosts to bring them into line with workers in private industry.

Man's Ear Fails Early

CHICAGO (AP)—Mr. Average? he retorts, not aware yet that people, especially females with high-pitched voices, will have to talk a little louder from now on for him to hear them as well.

And, studies by a St. Louis psychologist indicate, the average male will lose more of his hearing at about age 50 and suffer a third drop in hearing acuity when he reaches the 59-65 age bracket.

112 PEOPLE STUDIED

Dr. John F. Corso, Ph. D., drew his conclusions on hearing loss with advancing age from a study of 112 men and women who had been exposed to a minimum of industrial noise and were presumed to have normal hearing.

Writing in the current Archives of Environmental Health, published by the American Medical Association, he said a diminution in hearing acuity becomes noticeable in men at age 32 and in women at age 37.

Marked changes in the hearing of men, he said, occur on the average in steps of about 15 years. In women, he added, the changes are more gradual, with deterioration fairly uniform.

Clear Mud in Norwich Flood Area

NORWICH, Conn. (AP)—Most of the mud had been cleaned away today in the downtown section of this city of 40,000 but an estimated $2 to $3 million worth of damage remained from the Wednesday night flash flood that cut a narrow swath over a three-mile route.

Federal and state officials scheduled conferences with city officials today to receive their requests for aid. The Small Business Administration has declared Norwich, in southeastern Connecticut, a disaster area.

Gov. John N. Dempsey canceled appointments Thursday and made an inspection trip. He promised all possible help from the state.

Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., a native of Norwich, flew here from Washington Thursday night. He said he would stay "as long as I can be of any help."

Funeral arrangements were made for five women and one man who died as flood waters swept down from a 15-acre pond more than a mile away after the dam burst. Alex Pobol, 43; Helen Roode, 44; Mae Robidoux, 50; and Anna Barrett, (age unknown) will be buried Saturday. Services will be held Monday for Madlyn Atterbury, 61, and Margaret Moody, 23.

All except Mrs. Moody were victims of a boiler explosion touched off by water that entered the Turner and Stanton cord-manufacturing plant. The blast demolished one wing of the plant. Mrs. Moody was swept away as she fled from an overturned car.

Her three small sons and three persons injured in the explosion remained in a hospital. Attendees said all were in good condition.

Costs Have Risen for Farm Production

COLUMBUS, Ohio (U) — Glen J. Vollmar, Ohio State University extension economist, reports that farm production costs today are nearly four times as high as they were in 1940.

He said studies show about 70 per cent of a farmer's gross income went to pay for production costs in 1961, compared with about 50 per cent in 1940. In 1940, U. S. farmers spent $1.75 on machinery and buildings for every dollar spent for hired help. By 1960 the ratio had risen to 2.77 to 1, Vollmar said.

Play for Third Time Saturday at PNH

Northern, Central Will Settle Basketball Differences

By JERRY CRAIG
There will be a third Pontiac Northern-Pontiac Central basketball game this season. This was the overriding thought last night as the two city schools posted victories in the district Class A tournament at PNH last night.

Northern opened the festivities by outslugging Brother Rice, 75-66; and PCH put the frustration on the cake with an 82-34 romp over Birmingham Groves.

The Huskies starting quietly just had hands and feet too quick for Brother Rice's Warriors. The game started as a nip-and-tuck affair with Gary Hayward's field goal just before the buzzer pushing PNH to an 18-14 first quarter advantage.

Midway through the second quarter two field goals by Jerry Reese and one by the same Hayward built the Huskies to a 28-18 lead.

Reese continued hitting — he had 10 in the quarter — and when Gary Hayward scored the last six points in the half for the winners, PNH had a 33-point margin at the intermission, 42-29.

INTERCEPTION

The visiting Warriors were continually bothered by quick Huskie hands reaching out to pick off errant passes and by the quick Huskie feet that continually sped down court on fast breaks, usually leading to scores.

When Brother Rice's guards could get their passes inside the PNH zone defense, it often led to goals. Dave Walter (24), 6-5 Bill Moore (15) and sharp shooting Paul Jagels (17) did almost all of the Warriors scoring and most of it came within 15 feet of the bucket.

Walter hit eight of his points from the foul line, displaying a very deliberate technique for shooting fouls.

But PNH had its own three-pointers. Gary Hayward hit 10 field goals, many on one-handed jump shots from the side, among his 23 points.

Backliners Reese (seven field goals and 10 for 16 from the foul line for 24) and Mike Burlew (seven and field goals four for four to total 18 points) were a constant problem to the Brother Rice defenders.

The threesome accounted for 40 of Northern's 42 points in the opening half. As soon as one stopped scoring, another would pick up the slack. Reese came through with a nine-for-nine exhibition at the charity stripe in the final quarter just when it appeared the Warriors had found their offensive punch and would narrow the gap considerably.

As it was, they did come within seven points, 56-52 with 1:21 remaining but the winners quickly boosted it back to 11 on field goals by Gary and Roger Hayward.

Jagels hit a near 40-foot set at the buzzer to push the final deficit under 10.

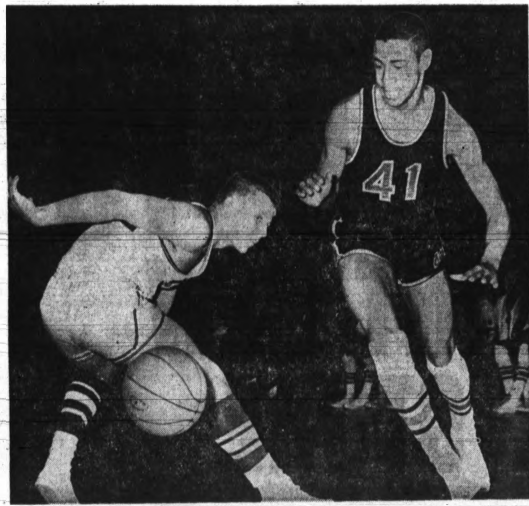

TALL CHIEF

Pontiac Central simply had too much height for Birmingham Groves.

Lester Hardiman, 6-4, tipped in the Chiefs' first two points of the game and they were on their way to their most lopsided victory of the season.

Jim Whitney's jump shot tied the count, 2-2, and that was the only time Groves was even with the Chiefs the entire game. It attempted to pay fast-moving, control basketball in the opening quarter and only trailed 10-8 halfway through the period until Hardiman, Jesse Hodge, McKinley Jones and Mel DeWalt hit consecutive field goals and the rout was on.

TEAMWORK? — An unidentified Birmingham Groves player appears to be giving Pontiac Central's Gerald Henry (41) a tricky between-the-legs pass in the district semifinal class last night at Pontiac Northern. The score looked as though Groves passed to Central all night, also, as the Chiefs romped to an 82-34 victory.

Play Twins Saturday

No Sore Arms in Tiger Camp

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

LAKELAND, Fla.—"Imagine," said Bob Scheffing, "here we are talking about the first exhibition game of the season, without even mentioning a sore arm."

The Tiger manager named his pitchers for the first three games of the Grapefruit Circuit and crossed his fingers hoping nothing will happen in the interim.

The Minnesota Twins, however, the home team in Orlando for Saturday's first game, report 13 different players are nursing injuries and ailments.

Scheffing has picked big right hander Bob Anderson, the product of Western Michigan who was obtained from the Chicago Cubs for third baseman Steve Boras as the starting choice against the Twins.

Doug Gallagher and Larry Fester will take their turn in the mound after Anderson and they will be opposed by pitchers Jim Roland, Dick Stigman and Fred Lasher.

HOME OPENER

For Sunday's "home" opener at Henley Field in Lakeland, Hank Aguirre will start, followed by Phil Regan and Bill Faul. The Twins will counter with Gary Roggenburg, Lee Stange and Bill Ples.

Anderson, was not treated too well in the Tigers' only intra-squad game Tuesday. He was hit hard, giving up five hits in three innings, and the start against the Twins will be a real test, because the Minnesota club which surprised everyone by finishing second last year, is loaded with power, especially right handed power.

The Twins had their own intra-squad game Wednesday and the so-called second stringers routed the "varsity" 13-7 with the two squads pounding out 18 hits.

Bob Allison and Harmon Killebrew are showing off their power in training-camp. Allison hit one over the wall with the bases loaded in the squad game and Killebrew hit one with a man on base.

Roggenburg, the former University of Dayton basketball star, was the pitching ace of the Twins' squad game. He did not give up a hit or walk and struck out two in three innings. Fleis also showed well, allowing one hit in three frames.

In talking about the Tigers' fortune of not being plagued with sore arms prior to the exhibition opener, Scheffing said he thought the early camp for pitchers and the indoor work in the Tigerstown hanger during the bad days has helped the team.

"We didn't have to curtail the throwing during the inclement days, and a little work every day, even in the hanger, has helped us tremendously," said Scheffing.

All the regulars with the possible exception of Rocky Colavito will start in Orlando. This means Bubba Phillips at third, Chico Fernandez at short, Dick McAuliffe at second and Norm Cash at first. Bubba Morton will probably be in left with Bill Bruton in center, Al Kaline in right and Gus Triandos behind the plate.

Monday's game in Lakeland against the White Sox will be one of anticipation for Scheffing and the Tigers. Provided the weather is good and warm, Frank Lary will start against Chicago.

Winless Woodcum Drilling is winless no more in the Waterford Township recreation basketball program.

Possessors of a 9-12 record in the regular season play, Woodcum upset A&W Root Beer, 73-58, in the opening round of the double elimination Class B playoffs last night.

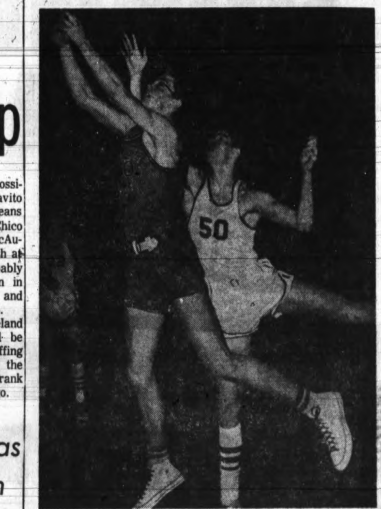

Jim Hurren tallied 35 points for the winners, including 25 in the second half. Leo Placencia (22) and Rod Lyons combined for 42 markers for the losers but it was Woodcum's night to rejoice.

In an exhibition match, Class A champion Lakeland Pharmacy took a 79-47 pounding from runner-up Spencer Floors as three of the losers regular performers were missing from the lineup.

John Herrington scored 30 counters for Spencer while Dale Fussman led the champs with 21.

IT GOT AWAY . . . Whatever it is (probably the basketball) that Brother Rice's Bill Moore and Pontiac Northern's Gary Hayward (50) are looking at has gone on its way during this action last night in the district basketball tournament at PNH. It could well be that Moore sent "it" toward the basket because he hit seven field goals in his 15 points.

Lakers, Clawson Win to Reach Title Game

By DICK BUCK

Point spreads can be deceiving. West Bloomfield won its second game in Class B district tournament basketball last night at Pontiac Central by 20 points, Clawson did the same by 19.

Yet the Trojans were far more impressive and must be given the favorite's spot in tomorrow night's showdown between the two teams at PCH.

Last night's scores were 56-36 for the Lakers over Orchard Lake St. Mary and 57-48 Clawson against Detroit Lutheran West.

Clawson amassed a spectacular 57-27 first-half lead. None of its regulars saw action in the second half. If they had . . . The Lakers, on the other hand, got off to a shabby start, scoring just nine points in the first quarter.

er. Neither team was able to notch a point in the first 3 1/2 minutes of the game.

FINAL SCORE
Dan Greig finally splintered the ice at the 4:34 mark with a two-pointer. He added 12 points the rest of the way to top all scorers.

Teammate Bob Aumaugher, perhaps one of the best nonstarters in the area, clipped in with 13 points.

West Bloomfield burst to life in the second quarter after mauling a meager 9-6 lead in the first eight minutes.

Of the Lakers' 21 points in that decisive second period, Greig collected eight and Aumaugher nine. Their total was seven more than the entire Eagle quintet could muster in that span.

Clawson, which had a sloppy eight-point first quarter against Clarendonville Tuesday, did just the opposite against the Leopards.

The Trojans outshot, outrebounded, outran and outsmarted the opposition this time, taking a 25-15 mark on the scoreboard.

They were even more efficient in the next quarter, stuffing in 32 points in about as near perfect a performance as a team could come up with.

"I received good support from the citizens of Pontiac and I want to thank them for it," he commented Thursday.

Originally from the Upper Peninsula, he attended the University of Michigan and joined the coaching staff at Pontiac Central in 1948.

He is married and has two daughters. At his new location, he will be assistant football coach and physics teacher.

Kettering at Bay, 60-32

Wolves Keep Howling

By DON VOGEL

The 'howl' of a wolf called a pack of basketball playing Wolves to a late winter feast last night in the Clarkson High gym.

Little did the student who played the tape recording of the real wolf's cry realize what easy prey Kettering's Captains would be in the state Class A district tournament.

Neither did the Kettering partisans among the 2,000 fans who watched Clarkson post a 60-32 triumph.

Clarkston will play Grand Blanc Saturday at 7:30 p.m.

for the district championship. Winner of the Clarkson district moves to regional play at Pontiac Northern next week.

The Class D district title will be decided at Clarkson tonight when, Flint St. Mary and Flint Michigan School for the Deaf play at 7:30.

Even with hook in the lineup, it is very doubtful if the Captains would have come much closer to the fired-up Wolves.

CLARKSTON'S BEST

It was one of the poorest performances of the season by Kettering, co-champion of the Tri-Country League, and one of Clarkson's best showings.

Ken Miskin and Dan Craven led Clarkson to its second straight district victory. Miskin fired in 17 points and Craven added 15.

Guard Rick Pankey was high for the losers with 10.

The Wolves were superior to the Captains in times departments.

Miskin, Bob Osgood and Mike Bray dominated both halves.

Craven and fellow guard Larry Gardner setup outside screens and blocks that the Captains tried to bull through like fullbacks.

All this did was draw fouls or allow Craven and Miskins to get loose for unmolested shots. It also proved to be the downfall of Kettering high scorer Bob Borge.

Three of Borge's five fouls were for trying to run over Clarkson players who had successfully screamed him. He left in the third period after hitting only three points.

The Captains couldn't find a way to penetrate Clarkson's zone defense. Several times Kettering passes were intercepted by the alert Wolves.

Clarkston jumped to an 11-3 lead. The Wolves increased the margin to 31-12 at the half. They scored the first nine points in the third quarter to put the game out of reach.

The greatest difference was 52-21 in the first minute of the fourth quarter.

The Kettering-Clarkston duel was rated about even.

Clarkston was given a slight edge because of the home court. The Captains were without the services of sparkling Earl Hook who was injured with two games left in the regular season.

Even with hook in the lineup, it is very doubtful if the Captains would have come much closer to the fired-up Wolves.

Rochester, Walled Lake Defeated

District basketball play neared a climax last night with the fall of Rochester, Royal Oak and Walled Lake in separate court encounters.

Rochester slipped to Clio 59-49 in a roughly fought Class A contest at Lapeer. The Falcons led briefly in the first quarter, but Clio held a 23-19 halftime advantage and was never headed after that.

Fernadez breezed past Don-dero 52-32 with double figure scoring efforts from Bruce Rodwan (23), Truman McNeal (11) and Don Brooks (11). The Eagles led the entire distance.

The victory gave Fernadez a Class A District crown to wear to next week's Regionals.

In a surprisingly easy match, Bellevue crushed Walled Lake 75-51 in Class A at Ypsilanti. The Vikings led victim to a third quarter scoring binge by Bellevue.

Entering the decisive frame, Walled Lake was back three points. However, from that 29-25 standpoint, Bellevue busted the game wide open, outpointing the Vikings 24-13.

Bellevue received balanced scoring from Rick Hedges (21),

Frank Nunley (19) and Charles Cabana (18). Walled Lake was topped by George Bullock (12) and Doug Walters (11).

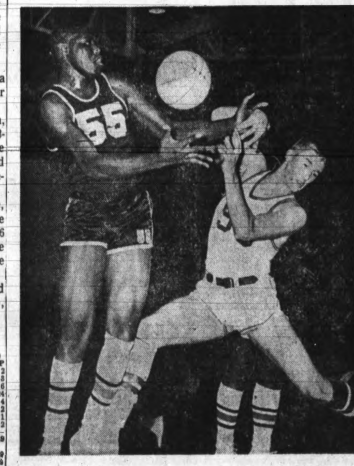

In a second game on the same card, Ann Arbor swamped Plymouth 53-34.

Rochester, seeing its first tournament action, jumped off to a 13-9 lead at the end of the first period. Clio roared back to take command and ice the victory.

Memphis visited the Rochester Class D tourney last night, and floored Richmond St. Augustus 61-30. The Yellowjackets tied the knot on the cage package with a 20-point fourth quarter.

In a second game, Marine City's Holy Cross knocked off New Baltimore St. Mary 47-38.

THAT'S FAR ENOUGH — Massive McKinley Jones (55) of Pontiac Central puts a ball to Birmingham Groves Bill Stephenson's (50) forward progress in full stride under the basket last night at the PNH gym. The presence of Jones and Lester Hardiman under the basket for PCH last night made it almost impossible for the entire Groves team to make much progress on the scoreboard in the lopsided triumph by the Chiefs.

Greener Pastures Lure Heikinen

PNH Losing Football Coach

"I just couldn't pass up the opportunity."

The lure of greener pastures has prompted Pontiac Northern High School's football coach Ed Heikinen to submit his resignation.

Heikinen has received an offer to join the New Trier Township High School system in Winnetka, Ill., reportedly one of the most attractive school systems in the country.

His resignation is now awaiting action by the Pontiac Board of Education. The board is expected to accept Heikinen's resignation when it meets again Thursday.

"This is a fine opportunity for him," Louis Crew, the board's director of certified personnel, said yesterday.

A committee of school officials probably will be selected to screen applicants and recommend possible successors to parting coach for his efforts, particularly on the gridiron.

"We are very sorry to see him go," Johnson said. "He has done a very excellent job for us. I think he has taught a lot of football."

Heikinen came to PNH at its inception. The teams have posted an overall 18-16-2 mark under him, including a second place finish in the Inter-Lakes League the year the Huskies competed.

"I received good support from the citizens of Pontiac and I want to thank them for it," he commented Thursday.

Originally from the Upper Peninsula, he attended the University of Michigan and joined the coaching staff at Pontiac Central in 1948.

He is married and has two daughters. At his new location, he will be assistant football coach and physics teacher.

Northern's athletic director Eldon Johnson praised the departing coach for his efforts, particularly on the gridiron.

"We are very sorry to see him go," Johnson said. "He has done a very excellent job for us. I think he has taught a lot of football."

Greenwich Rocked by Clay's Poetry

NEW YORK (AP) — Can Cassius fight like he can write? That was a burning question today in Greenwich Village, still rocking from the invasion of Cassius Marcellus Clay, the self-proclaimed next heavyweight champion of the world.

The decision is still out on the poetry reading contest in a village coffee house, where Clay was pitted against a group of beatnik poets.

It appeared to boil down to whether as a fighter Clay is a pretty good poet, or whether as a poet he is a pretty good fighter.

Clay invaded a coffee house in the village to read an ode on two and call attention to his 10-round fight next Wednesday night against Doug Jones.

"This boy likes to mix. He will go in six," quoth Cassius, as a warm-up.

He went on from there to thoroughly demolish the old adage that actions speak louder than words.

GAMEY FOE

The competition was worthy, although a little gamey. Cassius had clearly had the most recent bath.

He made the scene — a dungeon where there are at least 14 guitars for every person.

at lunch time, just as a collection of beats, sports writers and other social outcasts were devouring a repast of cold slaw and chicken wings off paper plates.

Cassius surveyed the inmates and admitted that as a "country boy" his acquaintance with the bearded beatnik set was slim.

"They look like the Smith Brothers," he said.

A young lady read a poem dedicated to Cassius.

He responded by reading his poem, dedicated to Cassius.

Being a boy with an eye to the future, he wound up this way: "Marcellus vanquished Carthage, Cassius laid Julius Caesar low."

"And Clay will flatten Douglas Jones with a mighty measured blow."

"So when the gong rings and the referee sings out 'The winner!'"

"Sonny Liston will fall, "And Cassius Marcellus Clay will be the noblest Roman of them all."

Prodres Injures Back

Frisco Stars Still Holding Out

By United Press International

Major league baseball's exhibition season begins Saturday and among the notable absentees from the action will be Orlando Cepeda and Juan Marichal of the San Francisco Giants and Johnny Podres of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

The Giants, who meet the Cleveland Indians at Tucson, Ariz., are still waiting to hear from Cepeda, their slugging first baseman, and Marichal, an 18-game winner last year for the National League champions.

Podres is hitting out for a better contract in Puerto Rico while Marichal refuses to budge from his home in the Dominican Republic unless a more substantial contract is offered.

Money isn't the factor in Podres' case, it's his aching back. The veteran lefthander "popped" his back while making the final pitch in batting practice Thursday.

Trainer Wayne Anderson, however, said the injury is not serious.

Meanwhile, the Dodgers' 25-game winner Don Drysdale tuned up for Saturday's starting assignment against the Washington Senators at Vero Beach, Fla., by allowing only one hit and facing 11 batters in three scoreless innings.

Manager Mickey Vernon of the Senators said southpaw Claude Fila, Osteen would start against the Dodgers and Dave Stenhouse and rookie Jim Duckworth would finish up.

In other Saturday games, the Cincinnati Reds play the Chicago White Sox at Sarasota, Fla.; the Milwaukee Braves engage the Kansas City Athletics at West Palm Beach, Fla.; the New York Mets and the St. Louis Cardinals tangle at St. Petersburg, Fla.

The 11th Frame

Competition in the Pontiac Traveling Classic League appears to be growing keener each month.

The league is in its first winter season and the match scores in recent weeks have been extremely close. In addition, Airway Lanes and 300 Bowl and Lounge are waging a very close race for the title.

Last Sunday's results proved very frustrating for Westside Lanes while down-trodden Wonderland Lanes found a ray of sunshine.

Westside saw its hold on third place jeopardized by two losses. Runerup "300" stayed close to Airway by taking a 9-7 victory from Westside, and then in a makeup match the latter squad was victimized on total pins by last place Wonderland, 970-124.

The match score had ended in a 11-11 deadlock.

Wonderland, also, pinned a 9-8 defeat on Cooley Lanes to gain a tie for sixth place with Idle Howe's Lanes. Tim White accounted for eight of his team's points in the two wins.

Airway took Huron Bowl, 12-11, in another close match. The Sunday Airway will visit 300 Bowl in a crucial match at 1 p.m.

IN PRO-AM — Don Carter (left) and Ray Bluth are two of professional bowling's leading performers and they have entered the PBA elimination tournament scheduled for Pontiac's 300 Bowl next month. Local amateurs may draw them for partners in the Pro-Am event.

Don Carter to Compete in 300 PBA Pro-Am

Like to have Don Carter's help in shooting for an estimated $1,000? This fate could befall some lucky Oakland County bowler next month at 300 Bowl in the Professional Bowling Association's Pro-Am tournament.

But the chances of this are not too bright unless area bowlers begin showing some interest in the Pro-Am elimination tournament now in progress at Howe's Lanes and the 300 Bowl.

Pistons Again Drop Decision to Celtics

DETROIT (AP)—It was the same old story last night—Boston over Detroit.

And to make matters worse, the Celtics' 115-104 victory — the eighth in as many meetings with Detroit this season — cut the Pistons' advantage over San Francisco to one game.

The Pistons and Warriors meet head-on tonight in Fort Wayne, Ind., in the battle for third and final playoff spot in the National Basketball Association's western division.

The game marked Bob Cousy's final appearance in Detroit and the retiring Celtics' veteran made his farewell a flashy one.

Cousy and Sam Jones, the game's high scorer with 31 points, put Boston back into a commanding lead after the Pistons managed to crawl within two points midway in the third period.

Ice Regatta on Weekend

Forty-five ice boats, including four of the top five in the country, are expected Saturday and Sunday at the Cass Lake Ice Yacht Club DN Regatta.

The boats, all from Illinois, Ohio, Michigan, and Indiana, will run in only the second regatta in the nation this winter. Snow and ice have cut down events this year.

The regatta will feature Jim Nolan, Elgin, Ill.; Lewis Loncke, Chicago; Eddie Grant, Detroit; and Chuck Cartwright, Cass Lake. A fifth top entry might be Jane Pegal, of Chicago.

The International last January in Ohio is the only other major regatta this winter.

WELL, IT WAS HERE! — All eyes and hands seem directed to where the basketball was during this scramble for the elusive sphere in last night's PNH-Brother Rice district game. The Warriors' Paul Jagels (left foreground) is too late to grab the ball before it rolls between his legs while Mike Burklow of Northern is stretching to catch up to it. Also watching are the Huskies' Roger Hayward (left), Gary Hayward (background) and Dean Soden (52). Bill Moore (52) and Dave Waller (24) of Brother Rice, also, observe the play.

Groves, Brother Rice Lose to Pontiac Teams

put up a pint on a foul shot by 6-4 Bill Stephenson in the closing seconds, but Hodge cut loose a shot from approximately 50 feet out that cleanly cut the cords at the buzzer. It wasn't Groves' night.

Central's margin continued to grow in the second quarter as the outside players cut loose long jump shots and Jones or Hardman would go high above the rim to tip in the rebound.

A brief full court press in the quarter by PCH didn't help Groves' attempts to run offensive patterns. After two foul shots by Whitney narrowed the gap to 28-13 with approximately five minutes to go in the half, Central ran off a string of 16 consecutive points that left the Falcons down, 44-13, at intermission.

Hardman had all 15 of his points in the first half. Jones tallied 14 before the break and quickly added two more buckets in the third session.

When Jones' tipin' made it 57-18 midway through the quarter, coach Art VanRyzin pulled his regulars for good. That didn't stop the point parade for the Chiefs, although it did slow down some.

VanRyzin used 12 players and 11 scored. Walter Moore, a slender sharp shooter of whom the coach expects much next season, hit nine points in approximately 11 minutes playing time.

Most of the crowd entertainment during the evening's activity came from the intra-city rivalry. PCH boosters supported the Brother Rice cause while the Huskies' fans rooted for Groves.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY

A quick count of my losing tricks showed that I might lose five tricks. There was a possibility I was a trump loser if the trumps broke 4-0, but there was a play to guard against that. All I had to do was to be sure that when I started to draw trumps I played the king or queen from my hand first.

JACOBY

Then if someone showed out I would have a proven finesse against the jack, wherever it might be.

After taking the first trick with the king of hearts I laid down my king of spades. When both oppothe queen of clubs, but if I took it and lost, a club would come back and I would have to attack the diamond suit myself.

There was a better play available. I cashed the ace and king of clubs and led a third club. East was in with the queen, but it would not have mattered if West had taken the trick.

* * *

East had to give me a ruff and a discard or lead a diamond. I led a diamond there would be no way for me to lose more than two diamond tricks, thus I had insured my contract by eliminating spades from the East and West hands and hearts and clubs from my hand and dummy.

Cloud of Federal Crackdown Hangs Over Bargainers

(EDITOR'S NOTE — A time of growing labor-management trouble looms ahead and raises the issue of possible future compulsory arbitration. Last of four special articles.)

By STERLING F. GREEN
Associate Editor
WASHINGTON — Although the odds are against any early government crackdown on labor strife, another serious outbreak of "national emergency" strikes might induce Congress to act. Maybe not in 1963, perhaps in 1964.

President Kennedy wants new powers to deal with economy-crushing shutdowns. But he feels this is not the year to open the Pandora's box called the Taft-Hartley Act.

His secretary of labor is not sure the bill will stay on. Patiently, W. Willard Wirtz has taken unions and bosses that are underestimating the public's growing distaste for industrial "brinkmanship."

"A decision has been made," Wirtz said. "That decision is that if collective bargaining can't produce peaceable settlements of these controversies, the public will."

When Congress convened a good many members reacted in alarm to the paralysis of East and Gulf Coast shipping, the current threat to aerospace production, and the railroad, airline and construction shutdowns.

URGE SANCTIONS

They saw the industrial union led by Walter Reuther gearing up a militant, multimillion-dollar campaign drive, and heard Teamsters President James R. Hoffa beating the drums for a giant alliance of transportation unions.

Influential Congress members rushed to introduce a half-dozen drastic measures—compulsory arbitration, anti-strike legislation, the break-up of national unions, even partial seizure of essential industries by the government.

Kennedy did not mention labor legislation in any of his messages to Congress. The President hopes to say his aides, to avoid any eruption of labor controversy in Congress that would divert attention from his No. 1 goal, tax reduction.

Congress apparently will be happy to leave the labor bills in case of storage.

One congressional staff aide explained: "Labor bills are just unpopular. Whichever way a congressman votes, he makes a lot of people mad at him."

Moreover, Congress has learned from experience that when the Taft-Hartley Act is opened up for amendment, labor and industry lobbies crowd into the act—only to find responsible legislation beyond a near impossibility.

The line-up of potential disputes is not as bad in 1963 as it might be next year.

In 1964 wage contracts expire in many of the highest, hardest-bargaining industries—steel, autos, oil, meatpacking, aircraft, ordinance, maritime, telephones, and most of the Teamsters' biggest trucking agreements.

A prolonged strike in any one of these industries could imperil the national defense, economic stability, or public health. Shutdowns in batches would almost surely force Kennedy to call on Congress for restrictive legislation.

Some of the ugliest disputes since World War II have been settled by the simple threat of congressional action.

What might be the shape of the new legislation if Kennedy finally is forced to use this ultimate weapon, or if an impatient Congress takes matters into its own hands?

Kennedy's ideas are well known. The Taft-Hartley law gives him only the power to set up a fact-finding board to consider whether a national emergency exists; then he may seek a court order to enforce an 80-day cooling-off period. At its expiration, the strike can be resumed.

The President has suggested the need for a bigger selection of weapons.

Most frequently mentioned is the one fact-finding board with power to recommend actual terms of settlement, thus bringing public opinion to bear on the contending parties. The President's labor-management advisory committee backs this idea.

Others are demanding stronger medicine. Financier Bernard Barrage has proposed a "court of labor-management relations" to take over disputes which the parties cannot settle and "hand down decisions binding upon both."

Wirtz says such legislation is "a very real likelihood" if another major crisis develops which cannot be handled by existing voluntary machinery.

New Issue Feeds Old Eastern Quarrel

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
A new issue has come up to complicate an old quarrel between India and Pakistan.

The issue deals with Kashmir and Pakistan's action in signing a border agreement with Red China for a section of Kashmir border which also is under dispute with India.

Unfortunately, the action comes just at the time when the Indians and the Pakistanis are preparing to resume talks in Calcutta their own Kashmir negotiations.

Hereafter, it had been felt those negotiations were going surprisingly well and that finally there might be reached a solution to a problem which has poisoned relations between the two neighbors almost from the first day each achieved independence.

The question has been asked just why Pakistan chose to act as it did at this particular time.

The Pakistan response has been that the negotiations with Red China were proposed in March 1961, long before any one could foresee the crisis in Indian-Chinese relations, and was entirely unrelated to that conflict.

The explanation has not appeased the Indians who have accused the Pakistanis both of endangering their own negotiations and of conducting a give-away program for the Red Chinese.

300-MILE BORDER

The Pakistan agreement covers a 300-mile stretch of border beginning where the borders of China, Afghanistan and Pakistan meet, runs across the top of some of the world's highest mountains and ends at a point near an Indian outpost in the Ladakh area which India and Communist China are disputing.

Despite Pakistan's denial the question of timing persists.

Pakistan remains a close ally of the United States and long has been regarded as the western anchor of the free world's defense line which runs along the Asian perimeter all the way to Korea.

But the Pakistanis equally have not been reticent in expressing their resentment against recent U. S. military aid to India which they contend might someday be turned against themselves.

Relations between the U. S. and Pakistan, while still officially good, are not so warm as they were.

But despite these and other resentments which smolder in the Indian-subcontinent, there remains hope that the Kashmir dispute still can be solved.

Pakistan has dropped its demands for a plebiscite and is willing to explore alternatives.

India is willing to return a dispute she officially had considered closed.

Militarily, India has found she can be cut off from her northeast areas unless she obtains a corridor from Pakistan. Pakistan needs similar access across India to link East and West Pakistan.

There is another good reason for close Indian and Pakistan relations. India's own experience with Red China, after years of faith in coexistence, scarcely can give Pakistan President Ayub Khan much faith that the Chinese will keep their promises to him.

Net 131 in Raids by IRS Agents

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Internal Revenue Service agents swooped down on gambling operations in 52 cities last night, arresting 131 gamblers, but will get them by peaceful negotiations when "conditions are ripe."

The agents, striking simultaneously at 149 bookmaking and numbers parlors, seized 11 automobiles, 37 slot and pinball machines and confiscated $25,000 in cash.

Raids were conducted in cities in 19 states—New York, Tennessee, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, Kansas, Missouri, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland, Michigan, Illinois, Louisiana, Texas, Utah and California.

An IRS spokesman said it was part of the agency's "systematic, periodic raids." The last one came in December.

Police Search Plane for Concealed Bomb

LONDON (AP)—Airport police acting on a telephone tip, halted a Spanish plane minutes before it was to take off for Madrid Thursday and searched it for a hidden bomb. None was found and the plane took off with its 51 passengers.

Spanish police found a home-made bomb Monday night aboard an airliner in Barcelona that was being readied for a flight to Palma de Mallorca. This came after a Communist organization, calling itself the Iberian Council of Liberation, had sent notes to foreign newsmen in Madrid warning tourists to stay away from Spain.

Rayburn Building $83-Million Play Pen

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rising like a medieval fortress from the foot of Capitol Hill, and stretching almost to the summit, is the new $82.9-million Rayburn House office building and play pen.
High walls of granite command its western approaches including the Botanic Gardens and other nearby hotbeds.
Based on my experience as a noncommissioned noncombatant in World War II, I would estimate that its ramparts could be defended by a single cannon, provided it were Chairman Clarence Cannon of the House Appropriations Committee.
I mention these military potentials only to show that the premises are secure from siege by hostile taxpayers. There is nothing spartan about the building itself.
When construction is completed next year, its appointments will match those of the new Senate office building, which has been described, to choose one of the milder adjectives, as "a marble palace." Until this week, my acquaintance with the Rayburn Building — named in honor of the late speaker Sam Rayburn, who deserved a better fate — was limited to external appraisal.
On Wednesday, however, arrangements were made to give newsmen a peek at a couple of the 169 three-room suites contained therein.
Newsmen being notoriously nosy, our inspection party was provided with an escort who restricted our movements to the exhibit suites.
I am therefore unable to file a progress report on the gymnasium, swimming pool and other off-limit areas.
BRING YOUR OWN
Contrary to what you might expect for $82.9 million the suites are not outfitted in Oriental splendor. Any congressman who might want to live like a sultan will have to supply his own dancing girls.
Nevertheless, I feel certain that even the most delicate lawgivers will be able to make themselves comfy.
The basic decor is what I would classify as "Madison Avenue Renaissance." Each suite has a kitchenette with built-in refrigerator, a clock with signal lights linked to the house chamber, two lavatories, about 75 built-in file drawers and a built-in safe.
Some feature picture windows overlooking a freeway. On a clear day, you can see a

Mrs. Fred Alger Dies in Florida

DETROIT (AP)—Mrs. Frederick M. Alger Jr., 56, wife of the former Michigan secretary of state and U.S. ambassador to Belgium, died yesterday at her winter home in Palm Beach, Fla.
Mrs. Alger, of suburban Grosse Pointe, was the former Suzanne de Marigny Dewey, daughter of Charles S. Dewey, a Chicago banker who was assistant to the U.S. secretary of the Treasury and a financial adviser to the Polish government.
Mrs. Alger met her husband in Warsaw where she moved with her family at the age of 19. Alger was employed by her father. Their marriage in 1929 was an international social event.
Although she claimed she was "too scared" to speak in public, Mrs. Alger, a brunette beauty with a quick smile, helped her husband in his campaigns for secretary of state and governor.
After her husband was defeated by former Gov. G. Mennen Williams in 1962, she accompanied him to Belgium where he served as ambassador for former President Eisenhower.
Upon their return from Europe, the Algers divided their time between their Grosse Pointe and Palm Beach homes.

traffice jam. They also have several skeleton-size closets and a large lobby. I did not, however, see any built-in lobbyists.
Regardless of how little influence he may have, no lawgiver occupying the new building need fear a power shortage. Every suite has 61 electric wall plugs.
Seeing that made me wish I had a few built-in shares of utilities stock.

"DOBE! MARRIED—Arct Dwayne Hickman, television's Dobie Gillis, moved up his wedding date and married actress Carol Christiansen yesterday, nine days ahead of their scheduled March 16 wedding date. Miss Christiansen's parents came from Detroit to Hollywood for the ceremony at Immaculate Conception Catholic Church. Darryl Hickman, the bridegroom's brother was best man.

Despite Past Auto Injuries, Godfrey, Blanc to Dance

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Arthur Godfrey and Mel Blanc—each the survivor of a near fatal auto accident, each held together by silver plates and pins—will try to forget on March 18 that they've had to use canes ... and will try to dance on TV.

Mel Blanc, while still on a cane, learned about this ambitious undertaking when he reported to the big redheaded Arthur (who'll be 69 in July) for rehearsal for CBS' "Arthur Godfrey Loves Animals" TV show.

"Tell me about your accident," Arthur said first.

"Well, this leg here had 22 breaks in it. ... I had five fractures in my spine ... I was unconscious for 21 days ... they kept telling my wife Estelle that I couldn't make it ... she'd cry and beg them 'Please don't say THAT!' ... there were 18 doctors on duty at the UCLA Medical Clinic and practically all of them worked on me ... I was in a cast 8 months but it took two months of getting me together so they could put me in a cast ...

"I've still got six silver screws through my leg ..."

Blanc'll do Bugs Bunny, Porky Pig, Speedy Gonzales, and Pepe Le Pew, the French skunk, as well as the sound of Jack Benny's expiring Maxwell, on the Godfrey show.

"The one man who never forgot us when I didn't know whether I'd pull through," Mel said, "was Jack Benny. He'd come to see up every 10 days."

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: There's a youngster who is very proud because he can do something his teachers can't do—read his handwriting.

WISH FUL SAID THAT: Statistics show that America's fastest-spreading sport is Jackie Gleason.

EARL'S PEARLS: A man who gives in when he's wrong is wise. A man who gives in when he is right is married.

A couple of Broadwayers were wondering why so many celebrities, like Desi Arnaz, pick Las Vegas for a wedding site. "Why not?" asked Rip Taylor. "You know a better place to gamble?" ... That's earl, brother.

Plan Literacy Classes in Negro Voter Drive

SAVANNAH, Ga. (UPI) —A

Negator voter registration organization said yesterday it would organize classes to teach prospective Negro voters to read and write.

Hosea Williams, head of the Crusade for Voters, said the drive has been instrumental in getting the bulk of Chatham County's 13,000 Negro voters registered.

Won't Limit State Aid

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UPI) —

Democratic Gov. Otto Kerner said yesterday he would veto any bill to put a limit on state public aid payments.

Suggests Changes in Ford-Canton Bill

LANSING (U) — A series of amendments designed to bolster employers' position was forced by a management spokesman yesterday as the House Labor Committee opened hearings on Gov. George Romney's "compromise solution" to the Ford-Canton controversy.

The administration bill was portrayed to committee members as leaning too far toward strikes against themselves through taxes they pay to support the Michigan unemployment compensation fund.

Romney has termed his bill a "compromise" designed to settle the issue in the public interest, but says he expects neither management nor labor to be completely satisfied with it.

Labor is expected to ask that the law governing such cases be retained in its present form under definitions laid down in the 1959 court ruling.

CHARGE URGED
Cooper told the committee management finds the Romney bill unsatisfactory in its application to strikes and benefit payments in both single-plant and multi-plant situations.

The urged acceptance of one amendment which would exclude all workers laid off as result of a strike by members of the same union, and another which would automatically disqualify all employees laid off by a strike in their own plant, regardless of their grade, class or other considerations.

The single-plant amendment would restore the law to its effect prior to the Ford-Canton ruling by the high court, Cooper told the committee.

The other, he said, would

Syrian Rebels Claim Control of Country, but Fighting Rages

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Pro-Nasser army officers launched a revolution in Syria today and claimed control of the country. But Turkish officials in Ankara received reports of violent street fighting in Damascus.

Western diplomats in Cairo had reports from Damascus that no resistance to the coup had developed in the capital by midmorning and street demonstrations in support of the army were taking place.

The rebels, broadcasting on Damascus Radio, pledged themselves to forge Arab unity "in the shortest possible time." They condemned Syria's withdrawal without saying they wanted to rejoin the U.A.R.

Districting Plan Mullied by GOP

Proposal Would Place Half of County in 19th

LANSING — Senate Republicans yesterday discussed in closed caucus the Congressional redistricting plan that would put more than half of Oakland County's area into the state's new 19th Congressional District.

The plan, introduced by Sen. Ferrell E. Roberts, R-Oakland County, was given "exploratory" discussion, according to Senate caucus leader, Stanley G. Thayer, R-An Arbor.

Sensors consider a complaint about a switch the plan would make in his district from U.S. Rep. James Harvey, R-Saginaw, and a suggested change that would put Madison Heights and Hazel Park in a district with Macomb County.

Roberts' plan, also sponsored in the House by Rep. Henry M. Hogan Jr., R-Bloomfield Township, would put Pontiac and the western three-fifths of Oakland County into the new district with Lapeer and Livingston counties.

The Oakland County portion, besides Pontiac, would be west of a north-south line coinciding with Inkster Road.

The eastern two-fifths of the county would remain in a reduced 18th district, which now encompasses the entire county.

Under Roberts' plan, Harvey's district would be renumbered and include only two of the six counties he now represents.

Instead of an 8th district consisting of Saginaw, Gratiot, Montcalm, Ionia, Clinton and Shiawassee counties Harvey would have to run in the 7th District made up of Saginaw and Gratiot and the thumb area counties of Tuscola, Huron, Sanilac and St. Clair.

One of the State Senate Republican leaders scoffed at Harvey's complaint, saying it came "only because he'd have to change his mailing list."

We're not taking any Republican counties away from him; we're just giving him some different ones."

Roberts, who gave a more sympathetic ear to Harvey's howl, said efforts would be made at a GOP caucus next Tuesday to see if an alternative could be found.

HOLD HEADQUARTERS

Reports to Cairo said the rebels held the army headquarters in Damascus and were believed to have arrested the armed forces commander, Gen. Abdel Karim Zahreddin.

It was Syria's third military coup in 15 months.

Playing the same martial music that heralded the Iraq revolt one month ago today, Damascus Radio trumpeted call for "unity, freedom and socialism."

The same slogan became the cry of the army uprising that overthrew strongman Abdul Karim Kassem in Baghdad Feb. 8.

There was no quick way of telling whether the rebels were winning or losing inside Syria. They held Damascus and Aleppo radios and broadcast their communiqués. But land, sea and air communications and telephone lines with Syria were shut off, and Damascus Radio ordered a curfew until further notice.

Area-Hopping Pilot Held in Jail

Marriage Woe Troubles Man

Accused of Stealing Plane Before Ride

A 22-year-old Belleville man with marital problems contemplated his airplane difficulties today in Oakland County jail. He was being held for stealing a $65,000 plane from Pontiac Airport yesterday.

LaVern A. Anderson, 47000 E. Michigan Ave., Belleville, was arrested after he landed the brand new twin-engine, six-passenger Piper Aztec at the airport about 1 p.m. He surrendered meekly to police.

Anderson said he brought the plane down because "I had made my point" of seeking to impress the seriousness of marriage on his estranged bride of three months, Geraldine A. Anderson, 25 of Livonia.

He surrendered ended a wild ride of several hours in the skies of Oakland County. He buzzed downtown Birmingham three times, reportedly diving as low as 200 feet, landed on Northwestern Highway, almost killed two men at Troy's Berry Airport and was pursued by two planes.

In a formal statement to Oakland County Prosecutor George F. Taylor, Anderson said he took the plane to spirit away his bride of three months from the Birmingham insurance office where she worked, the Companion Insurance Agency, 920 E. Maple Road.

His wife, whom he married secretly in Toledo, Nov. 24, "refused to take marriage seriously," Anderson said. "She didn't even try to make a go of it."

HAD AMBITION

Anderson said his ambition to become a commercial passenger pilot was thwarted by poor sight in one eye.

In the plane, he was armed with a loaded .30-caliber British army surplus rifle he bought Saturday at a store in Livonia.

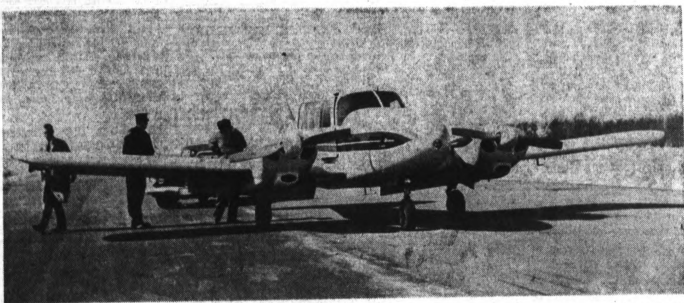

He told Taylor he was going to use the rifle "on both of us, but I couldn't go through with it."

Anderson said he and his wife had not lived together since their wedding. His wife was living with her grandmother at 2535 Five Mile Road, Livonia, he said.

She turned against him when he revealed their marriage to her grandmother about a month ago, he said.

Mrs. Anderson also said they have never lived under the same roof together as man and wife in an annulment case filed Feb. 27.

Tongue Wagging Hit, JFK Real Pleased

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. George Mahon's plea that public officials keep quiet about American intelligence activities was welcome news to President Kennedy, and many members of Congress agreed "silence is golden."

The President, it was learned today, was immensely pleased when aides showed him news wire accounts of the Texas Democrat's speech Thursday on the House floor. There was good reason to believe Kennedy began making plans to grab the ball Mahon tossed into the air.

White House sources said, however, that the congressman acted on his own initiative; that Kennedy had no foreknowledge of the blistering attack on House talk.

Mahon, chairman of the House Defense Appropriations subcommittee, said "officials in Moscow, Peking and Havana must applaud our stupidity in announcing publicly facts which they would gladly spend huge sums of money endeavoring to obtain."

He gave no specific examples and said the executive branch and the legislative, Republican and Democratic alike, "must share the blame" for "making us the laughing stock of the world."

There was an immediate chorus of amens on Capitol Hill.

At the same time, Rep. Bob Wilson, R-Calif., said he had

Berz Manager Recounts 'Air-Raising' Experience

By DICK SAUNDERS

"And there I was, with a 500-horsepower grim reaper staring me in the face," said Milton H. Berz Jr.

The 34-year-old manager of Berz Airport in Troy was a bit shaken. He'd just missed being run down by a twin-engine Piper Aztec piloted by LaVern A. Anderson.

Anderson had stolen the airplane from Pontiac Municipal Airport early yesterday.

"It was close. I was bracing myself for the shock. I didn't think we'd make it," said Berz.

It was a day that Berz won't forget.

Anderson landed at the airstrip just east of Birmingham around 8 a.m. and said he was a charter pilot working for Aerodynamics, Inc., Pontiac Municipal Airport, according to Berz.

"He wanted gas. He said he'd just flown to Pelliston and back and was waiting for someone here."

"We recognized the plane. It's a type used for rifle purposes."

"He had a rifle but didn't threaten anyone. He showed it off . . . seemed to be proud of it. There just wasn't anything unusual about him, so we hardly paid attention," Berz related.

Anderson stayed there for at least three hours and was described as friendly and conversational. The plane was refueled—enough for six hours in the air.

"Around 11:30," Berz continued, "the plane was reported missing over our telephone intercommunication system. Evidently he (Anderson) heard it too and started for the aircraft."

"We reported the plane was here. The owner called and told us he wanted to talk to the pilot. By this time Anderson was taxiing out to take off."

Berz and his brother Ted, assistant manager, hopped into Berz' car and drove out to the plane. Berz got out and told Anderson he had an urgent phone call.

HE'D TAXI IN

"I offered to drive him back, but he said he'd taxi in. We were driving back slowly about a hundred yards or so in front of him when I heard the engines roar."

"I looked back and saw him fireballing that plane right at me."

"Those props could really tear up a car. I swerved and somehow made it."

The props missed Berz car by inches, he estimated.

"Then we just sat there and watched his take-off."

Wages, Hours Key Issues in 91-Day Strike

Way Paved for End After Some Minor Negotiations

NEW YORK (AP)—Representatives of publishers and striking printers agreed today on a new contract, clearing the way for an end to New York's 91-day-old newspaper shutdown.

Key provisions of the pact are an increase in wages over a two-year period, plus a reduction in hours the second year, for a total package of $12.63.

Cost of the strike within the industry has been estimated in excess of $100 million.

There was no indication how soon eight closed newspapers, which before the strike printed 5½ million copies a day, might resume publication.

The agreement is subject to union ratification, but Mayor Robert F. Wagner said he assumed it would be ratified in view of its unanimous endorsement by local and international officers of the International Typographical Union, AFL-CIO.

Wagner made the announcement at 6:30 a.m. He had proposed the settlement shortly after midnight.

SOME NEGOTIATIONS REMAIN

"This means that the shutdown involving the printers will end as soon as the union completes negotiations of certain so-called clean-up issues and ratifies the agreement," said Wagner.

"In addition," he said, "negotiations involving other unions, two of whom are still on strike, will likewise have to be completed."

Still on strike are unions representing stenographers and mailers.

The shutdown deprived New Yorkers of all nine of their major dailies for a record 87 days. The New York Post broke the solid front of the Publishers Association of New York and resumed publication Monday.

As outlined by Wagner, the third-party agreement he worked out — as accepted by negotiators for both sides — provides for a wage rise of $6.51 the first year of the contract and $6.12 the second.

Also included, Wagner said, are various terms to offset the effects of automation—called a prime issue in the dispute by the president of ITU Local 6, Bertram A. Pov-

GMC Assists Chevy Truck

Assembly of Models Relieves Pressure

Assembly of several models of Chevrolet's large trucks by GMC Truck & Coach Division has relieved the pressure on Chevrolet plants, according to J. E. Conlan, Chevrolet's assistant sales manager for trucks.

"It has been very helpful," Conlan said.

"Since the start of 1963 model production, GMC has been assigned the assembly of all Chevrolet tilt-cab and diesel models and all of the largest series in our line," Conlan added.

By utilizing the excellent production facilities, truck building experience, and skilled manpower at GMC, we are able to devote capacity at our own assembly plants to producing the light, medium, and selected heavy-duty series in our line and more nearly meet the strong demand."

"Within the past week we have added three additional tilt-cab models to our Pontiac-built trucks."

"This continuing and mutually beneficial arrangement has worked very well. The trucks are built to Chevrolet's specifications and marketed through its sales organization. The augmented production helps to expedite delivery to customers, and at the same time adds volume to GMC's own production schedules."
