Chairman Rogers Statement on Plan to Normalize US-Cuba Relations

"President Obama has again undertaken secret negotiations that reward our enemies and undermine U.S. interests - this time with Cuba. Cuba engages in arms trade with rogue countries like North Korea and actively works to undermine our friends throughout Latin America by attempting to foment often-violent communist revolutions. The President has again chosen to make a flashy announcement about a thaw in relations, but I see no evidence that Cuba intends to change its ways and become a responsible nation. As with Iran, Cuba gets all the benefit of this policy shift, the United States gets little in return."
