Mac, Wilson Set New Probe of Profumo Security Aspects

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and Labor party leader Harold Wilson meet today to arrange a new inquiry into the security aspects of the Profumo scandal and a parliamentary censure of former War Minister John Profumo.

Profumo emerged from 13 days of seclusion with friends. He and his wife, former actress Valerie Hobson, returned to their London home last night as police held back a silent crowd.

It was Profumo's first appearance in public since he resigned June 5 that he lied in the House of Commons to cover his relation with Christine Keeler, whose favors he shared with an assistant Soviet naval attaché.

A sweeping bipartisan probe into the security aspects of the scandal was forced on the government Monday by Laborite claims in Parliament that no one can say for sure whether Profumo leaked state secrets.

The inquiry also will look into the reasons why security service reports of Profumo's affair with Christine were not communicated to Macmillan.

Wilson wants a select committee of the House of Commons to investigate, with full powers to call anyone it likes, including the prime minister. Sessions would be secret, but evidence eventually would be published.

Macmillan would prefer an investigation by a panel of judges.

The leaders agreed to discuss how to punish Profumo for lying to Parliament. The Labor party has introduced a motion in the House of Commons censuring him for "grave contempt" of the House.

Macmillan remained under relentless pressure to resign and make way for a younger man who could give the demoralized Conservative party a better chance in the general election which must be held by October 1964.

80 Cardinals Assemble to Choose a New Pope

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The cardinals of the Roman Catholic Church walked solemnly into conclave today to elect a new pope.

The 80 cardinals—their average age is 72—still wore the violet robes of mourning they put on after the death on June 3 of Pope John XXIII.

They will not change into their crimson robes again until they emerge from the conclave after electing the Church's 262nd supreme pontiff.

The lone door into the sealed conclave area was locked from the inside and outside at 5:15 p.m.

They must eat and sleep in the sealed area around the Sistine Chapel until they give the world's half-billion Roman Catholics a new spiritual ruler.

The princes of the church gathered at the Pauline Chapel and then walked in solemn procession 150 feet to the famous Sistine Chapel, the scene of conclaves for the past century.

Then a prelate commanded "extra omnes"—all unauthorized persons out—and the time came to close off the cardinals from the outside world.

Earlier the princes of the church at a solemn Mass prayed for inspiration.

Voting will begin tomorrow. Four ballots will be held daily in the Sistine Chapel—two in the morning and two in the afternoon—until one man gets 54 votes, a two-thirds majority.

Although church law does not bar a lesser prelate or even a layman, the new pope is certain

Expects Capitol Hill Battle

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy sent Congress today a five-point civil rights program which he said would provide the most "reasonable, reasonable and urgently needed solutions" to discrimination in public accommodations, education and employment.

In a 5,500-word special message, Kennedy proposed one of the broadest civil rights programs in nearly a century to meet what he termed "the growing moral crisis in American race relations."

Presented in language that took full account of the inevitable bitter fight over them in Congress, Kennedy's proposals would:

1. Bar racial discrimination by hotels, restaurants, theaters, stores and sports arenas. As a last resort the attorney general would have authority to sue in such a case if the rejected individual could not finance the case himself.

2. Add $40 million to next year's budget to broaden existing and proposed federal programs aimed at training and developing skilled manpower and expanding the employment opportunities of young people. Kennedy said "unemployment falls with special cruelty on minority groups."

3. Authorize the attorney general to initiate federal court suits to force desegregation of public schools and colleges when students have been "denied equal protection of the laws."

4. Create a federal community relations service to work with bi-racial human relations committees in local communities "to help ease tensions and suspicions, to help resolve interracial disputes and to work quietly to improve relations in any community threatened or torn with strife."

5. Enactment of a law, "making it clear that the federal government is not required to furnish any kind of financial assistance to any program or activity in which racial discrimination occurs."

Kennedy cited economic, foreign policy and other reasons for his proposals but said the overriding argument is that they are "right."

He called discrimination against Negroes in public accommodations "a daily insult that has no place in a country proud of its heritage—the heritage of the melting pot, of equal rights, of one nation and one people."

"No one has been barred on account of his race from fighting or dying for America—there are no 'white' or 'colored' signs on the foxholes or graveyards of battle," the President added.

Kennedy asked all Congress members to "set aside sectional and political ties" at what he termed a time of national crisis.

And he called on them to stay in session until the program is enacted, preferably as a package, "however long it may take and however troublesome it may be."

Nothing Sensational Revealed in Study

From Our News Wires
LANSING — An 18-page report criticizing Eastern Michigan University was in Gov. Romney's hands today—and the door was closed on one of the governor's most heated clashes with Detroit since he took office 5½ months ago.

The four-member, all-Democratic board bowed abruptly to Romney's demand for the "confidential" report yesterday and obtained clearance from the North Central Association (NCA), a school accrediting agency, to make its contents public.

The report itself turned out to contain nothing sinister or sensational.

Instead it was an 18-page recitation of faults board members had recently implied existed or alluded to in their first statement issued on the EMU investigation.

The report, allegedly a major factor in the board's decision to end Eugene B. Elliott's term as

Dems Vow to Back Kennedy Proposals

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democratic congressional leaders greeted President Kennedy's massive civil rights proposals today with prompt pledges to strive for their enactment.

They got some immediate Republican support, and, as expected, there were Southerners vowing to battle unceasingly against them.

Few thought that Congress would go all the way with Kennedy's proposals. But there were predictions that Congress, after a momentous legislative struggle, would in the end enact strong legislation.

As to timing, Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, said he hoped to start hearings on Kennedy's proposals next week.

He predicted that the committee would report a strong bill by the end of July but added that he doubted the president would get all that he is asking.

"WILL DO OUR BEST"
Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Senate Democratic leader, promised:

"The President has shown great leadership."

"It is up to us to show statesmanship."

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., assistant party leader, called the proposals "the minimum."

Liz and Burton Plan Marriage

LONDON (AP)—A spokesman for actress Elizabeth Taylor today said she plans to marry actor Richard Burton.

Her secretary, Richard Hanley, said he did not know when the wedding would take place.

Miss Taylor and Burton are still married, she to American singer Eddie Fisher and Burton to Sybil Williams Burton.

Miss Taylor, 31, and Burton, 37, are presently living in London—in separate suites at the Dorchester Hotel.

There have been rumors that Mrs. Burton, who is 34, would never give her husband a divorce.

A quiet Welsh girl, Mrs. Burton, during the run of a play in which Mrs. Burton, an actress, had a part.

After the wedding, she never returned to the stage, but remained at home with her family.

The Burtons have two children, Kate, 5, and Jessica, 3.

'Area Enforcing Laws on Bias'

But Problem Is Acute in Housing and Jobs

Enforcement of Michigan's civil rights laws has not been a problem in Oakland County, nor the main problem in racial discrimination in the state.

But law enforcement officials are powerless to act in the areas where problems are acute—housing and employment.

This was the picture drawn yesterday by Michigan Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley after he and two members of his staff met with Oakland County Prosecutor George F. Taylor in Pontiac.

Their conference dealt chiefly with enforcement of the state's Public Accommodations Act, which prohibits racial discrimination by hotels, restaurants, bars, barber shops, resorts and others.

Kelley said he was satisfied that the law was being enforced in Oakland County. Only six or seven complaints were received within the past four years and "they were handled expeditiously by the prosecutor," he said.

Taylor said there had been no arrests.

"Whenever we've had a complaint," he said, "I've explained the law and there's been no further problem. We have a class of merchants in Oakland County of which we can be proud."

Taylor and Kelley agreed that continued enforcement was necessary, along with efforts to educate businesses on their obligations and members of minority groups on their rights.

Kelley pointed out that main source of complaints under the public accommodations law was the outside area, where Negroes run into discrimination by resorts when they go north on summer vacations.

Man Goes 82 Orbits; Moscow Radio Lauds First Lady of Space

From Our News Wires
MOSCOW — Russia's blonde, dimple-chinned first lady of space and her male partner returned safely to earth today after setting new records. He chucked up 82 orbits and she 49.

Moscow Radio, gushing out words of praise for both, called space woman Valentina Tereshkova "the girl with the cornflower blue eyes."

She and Lt. Col. Valery Bykovsky landed about 600 miles apart in the Soviet Republic of Kazakhstan, the customary area for return of Soviet space travelers.

Premier Khrushchev proudly announced the successful landing at a meeting of the Communist Party Central Committee. He had just had a telephone talk with Valentina.

"Your voice rings as if you had come from a party," he said he told her.

And he added: "She talked with a calm voice without any sign of fatigue."

She had been in space just short of three days and Bykovsky just short of five.

Valentina was the first down at 11:20 a.m. (3:20 a.m. Pontiac time). She had tucked her blonde curls under her space helmet and blasted off at 12:30 p.m. last Sunday.

Bykovsky followed Valentina down at 2:06 p.m. (6:06 a.m. Pontiac time). He had taken off at 3 p.m. Friday.

In Washington, an administration official described the Soviet orbital flights as "a significant accomplishment but not the new milestone in space activity which we are watching."

This view was expressed by Dr. Edward C. Welsh, executive secretary of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, which advises President Kennedy on U.S. space programs.

Welsh and other American space experts had expected the Russians to attempt either an eight-day manned flight or a space rendezvous with the docking of two craft in orbit. They accomplished neither.

Preparations already were under way for a gigantic celebration in Moscow with emphasis on the accomplishment of Valentina, already the darling of the Soviet capital.

City Requests Halt in Lawn Sprinkling

City Manager Robert A. Stierer today asked Pontiac residents to voluntarily refrain from lawn sprinkling as the water table fell to its lowest point in the city's history.

The sprinkling had been in effect from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Saturday until further notice.

"The water department's observation wells had indicated the city stood at 129.2 feet (deep) this morning," Stierer noted. "The previous low was 129 feet in August 1955."

Barring a major break in water mains, he had expected, the city's dwindling water supply and sprinkling bans will become things of the past when Pontiac starts using Detroit water July 1.

Rain to Last Rest of Week

Rain and winds will play havoc with picnic plans for the remainder of the week. Scattered thunderstorms are predicted for late this afternoon and tonight with a low of 60.

Thursday will be mostly cloudy and a little cooler with showers ending and a high of 77.

Winds will be south to southwest increasing to 10 to 20 miles this afternoon and tonight becoming northerly Thursday.

Friday's outlook is fair with not much change in temperature.

Lowest temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 61. By 2 p.m., the mercury had risen to 82.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The bathyscaphe Trieste is going down in the Atlantic to attempt finding the lost submarine Thresher, on the basis of new photographs of debris on the ocean bottom. Secretary of the Navy Fred Roth said today.

Roth said several new deep ocean photographs taken by the research ship Conrad were considered highly significant, justifying a closer examination.

Riot Troopers Halt Dixie Negro Protest

From Our News Wires
Helmeted state troopers, using nightsticks and electric livestock prodding devices, dispersed 300 to 350 Negroes from the courthouse lawn in Gadsden, Ala., today.

About 100 riot-trained troopers clamped a tight security lid on the northeast Alabama city of 65,000 — sixth largest in the state and 65 miles from previously racially troubled Birmingham.

plunged themselves down on the Elowah County courthouse lawn early today and vowed not to budge until 396 members of their race were released from custody.

The 396 had been arrested yesterday for taking part in segregation protest marches.

Of the Negroes being held, Elowah County Sheriff Dewey Colvard said: "They'll stay in jail until the judge decides what to do with them."

About 200 white spectators —

many of them teen-agers — had gathered at the courthouse.

A glimmer of hope for racial peace showed today in Jackson, Miss. — one week after the slaying of integration leader Medgar W. Evers — as Negroes tentatively agreed to end demonstrations.

AGREE AT MEETING

The agreement, with minor dissent, came at a Negro mass meeting last night in answer to further conciliation by city officials to requests of integration leaders.

Reports persisted, however, that the Congress of Racial Equality, the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, and the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee would carry on demonstrations.

An official of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People — which, led by Evers, had spearheaded the drive — said there was no truth in reports of dissension among Negro leaders.

Evers was buried today in the quiet of Arlington National Cemetery, mourned by Negroes and whites, including a White House representative and high government officials.

Final military honors were paid the slain Negro who had survived the Kennedy assassination but died from an assassin's bullet in Mississippi.

A white soldier was beaten to death early today in Washington in a fight that involved two white soldiers and five Negroes, police reported.

Killed was Pvt. Edward J. Belcher, 19, of Brooklyn, N.Y., stationed at Ft. Belvoir, Va. CALLED EDUCATORS

President Kennedy called some 200 educators to the White House in his drive for voluntary integration in various segments of American life to prevent discrimination against Negroes.

Kennedy has held similar meetings with business executives, labor spokesmen, and religious leaders. He will meet Friday with about 200 lawyers.

White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said today it is possible President Kennedy may meet with church leaders in one of a series of conferences he is holding on the civil rights issue.

Salinger mentioned no time or schedule for such a meeting.

In New York, top city officials, mindful of simmering unrest among the city's more than one million Negroes, have called an emergency meeting with NAACP leaders to forestall racial violence here this summer.

Key of concern are stated plans for mass anti-discrimination rallies under NAACP auspices protesting inequities in housing, employment and political representation.

A top Negro leader today accused the city administration of "collusion and complicity" and threatened a "mass protest demonstration" unless discrimination is ended in the construction trades unions.

The charge was leveled by Herbert Hill, national labor secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP).

TRUCE ENDS

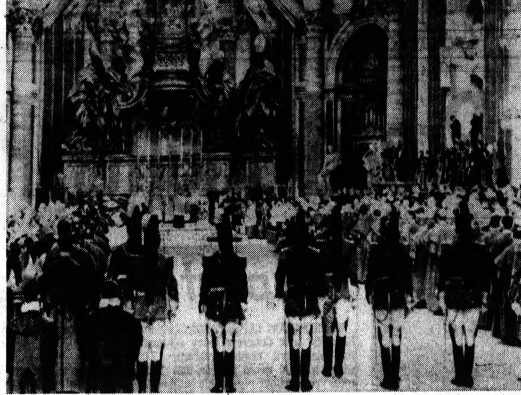

Danville, Va.'s rocky racial truce which had held for three days broke apart today as 20 Negro demonstrators staged a singing march down the main street.

The demonstrations, the first since Saturday in which 35 were arrested, came just minutes after the office of Mayor Julian R. Stinson announced the first public school desegregation for Danville.

Desegregation of the schools was one of the prime demands made by the Negro leaders who have kept racial tensions at a fever pitch in this tobacco and textile center for more than two weeks.

In Washington Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson said today "a time bomb ticks away in many of our streets" warning local communities to act to improve human relations.

Johnson said in a speech prepared for commencement exercises at the FBI National Academy that "explosive new situations in human relations" must be attacked "with something more than a night stick."

Tiros 7 Transmits Cloud Cover Pictures

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —

The Tiros 7 weather observatory satellite rocketed into orbit today and on its first global pass transmitted a series of cloud cover pictures.

The robot weatherman, in a study assignment of which is to study hurricanes and typhoons born in the 1963 season, shot into orbit aboard a three-stage Delta rocket which blazed into the predawn darkness from Cape Canaveral at 4:50 a.m.

The satellite, in tandem with the earlier Tiros 6, could provide the most extensive photographic investigation yet of a full hurricane season.

Two hours after launching, after the space package completed one circuit of the earth, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced it was in successful orbit about 400 miles above the earth. Minutes later a tracking station at Wallops Island, Va., reported receiving a set of cloud pictures which were described as being good quality.

The Wallops pictures were "direct read-out" material rather than stored images — that is, they were received immediately as they were taken.

NASA said the pictures embraced an area within a 1,500-mile radius of Wallops.

The agency said the satellite's altitude in orbit ranges between 286 and 403 miles, and it takes 97 minutes for one sweep around the earth.

The success was the 10th straight for the Delta space rocket.

The launching created a sky-high spectacle for observers along the southeast U.S. coast.

As the blazing rocket penetrated the cold air of the upper atmosphere, a bright vapor trail blossomed around the vehicle. The trail was brilliantly illuminated by the blaze of the rising sun, creating a colorful spectacle.

Indications were good from the start, with a report 11 minutes after blast — off that all three stages of the booster had performed properly to push the payload toward its intended 400-mile high path.

Murder Charge Being Sought

A Pontiac man is being held in the Oakland County Jail for investigation of murder, after a man he is charged with beating last month, died yesterday.

Pontiac police said a murder warrant will be sought against Jefferson L. Moreau, 36, of 238 Franklin Road.

Theodore Montgomery, 44, of 567 Fildev, died at 11 a.m. at Pontiac General Hospital. He had been hospitalized since May 5 when he was clubbed numerous times on the head with a board.

Moreau was arraigned the following day on a charge of assault with intent to murder.

He pleaded innocent to the charge before Municipal Judge Maurice Finnegan and was released on $100 bond. He was taken into custody again yesterday.

His examination on the charge was postponed pending the condition of Montgomery.

The flight took place in the parking lot of Mina Market, 589 Franklin Road, and according to police, climaxed an argument over the use of a public telephone.

Kennedy said the problems involved cannot be solved "by clinging to the patterns of the past" but by violence in the street.

Neither, he said in reference to Alabama's Gov. George C. Wallace, integration of the University of Alabama, can a solution be found through "physical actions or preserving appealing such melodramatic" by a public official, "how devices may seem to some."

The program is certain to set off long hours of heated debate in Congress, particularly about the sections on discrimination by privately owned public accommodations and a bar against federal aid for activities in which such discrimination occurs.

In obvious anticipation of that battle, Kennedy asked Congress to "stay in session this year" until it has enacted — preferably as a single omnibus bill — the most responsible, reasonable and urgently needed solution "to racial relations difficulties."

He asked every member of Congress to "set aside sectional and political ties, and to look at this drafted after consultations with both Democratic and Republican leaders of Congress, he said he feels certain that bipartisan support can be rallied behind his civil rights measures "as it has in the case of world crises."

At the same time, Kennedy cautioned against any demonstrations at the Capitol to protest an expected Southern filibuster against his proposals. Negro leaders are planning for such mass action.

The President said: "Unruly tactics or pressures will not help and may hinder the effective consideration of these measures."

The proposed measure specifically listed hotels and motels furnishing lodging to transient guests including travelers from other states; motion pictures, sports arenas, exhibition halls and other public places of amusement and entertainment which move in interstate commerce, and certain retail shops, department stores, markets, drugstores, gasoline stations, restaurants, lunch counters and soda fountains.

In that area of private enterprise Kennedy already had lost the backing of the Republican congressional leadership.

The proposed ban on discrimination by shops, stores, restaurants and lunch counters would apply to those establishments which provide services to interstate travelers to a substantial degree, those offering goods which, in substantial portion, have moved in interstate commerce, and those establishments which otherwise subvert the interstate movement of goods in commerce.

The legislation offered by the administration says that discrimination in access to accommodations provided for the

School Board President Elected to Second Term

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Dr. Charles L. Bowers last night was elected to his second term as president of the Bloomfield Hills School District Board of Education.

Other new officers are Merrill O. Bates, vice president; Max Miller, treasurer; and new board member Richard H. McGraw, secretary.

Mrs. Kay Flint, assistant superintendent of schools, gave a report on the final plans for an experimental class for exceptional children.

The first class in the district, it is designed for 10 or 12 gifted students six to 12 years in age, and will begin in the fall.

A study of school boundary lines indicated that additional elementary rooms will be needed next year if the present ratio of 25 pupils per room is maintained.

Superintendent Eugene L. Johnson said district voters will probably be asked to consider expansion during the next school year.

The board last night granted two congregations permission to use schools for services until the first of the year.

Both Pine Hill Congregational Church and a new Catholic parish hope to have their places of worship constructed by that time.

Meanwhile, the former will use the Pine Lake Elementary School and the latter the Eastover Elementary School.

An indication of where the summer interests of Birminghamites lie can be seen in the recreation program registration largely completed this week.

Activities and enrollment figures include: swimming, 659; tennis for children, 113; tennis for adults and teen-agers, 38; day camp, 81; golf, 80; riflery, 57; archery, 44; and drama, 44.

Service for Allan LeSarge, 74, of 2855 W. 14-Mile Road will be 1 p.m. Friday at the Manley Bailey Funeral Home. Burial will be in Acacia Park Cemetery, Southfield.

Mr. LeSarge died yesterday of a heart attack. He was a member of the Methodist Church in Lake Linden and the Lake Linden Masonic Lodge.

Surviving are his wife Maude; daughter Mrs. John Vance of Albuquerque, N.M.; a son Alan P. of Birmingham; two sisters; and five grandchildren.

ing with tourist associations to inform such areas of the law.

Although the law has been on the books since 1937, and a similar one existed since 1875, there is no record of any convictions, Kelley said. The law makes violation a misdemeanor punishable by at least 15 days in jail and a $100 fine.

Complaints usually are resolved to the satisfaction of all parties concerned, he said.

But he went on to point out that what he, Taylor and other law enforcement officials could do about racial discrimination was limited.

"We must deal with the law we actually have," Kelley said, pointing out Michigan has no law dealing with housing and that discrimination in employment is the province of the Fair Employment Practices Commission.

Altufis, a civilian criminologist with the St. Paul, Minn., police department, said he found type A blood on Thorson's overcoat and both type A and type O on the trousers. Mrs. Thorson's blood was type A. Thorson's blood is type O.

He said the area of type A blood on the overcoat appeared after fluorescent treatment. It was not visible to the naked eye, he explained.

"Blood stains on the trousers were visible to the eye," Altufis said. "There was type O blood on the right hand pocket, rear pocket and left thigh area."

His lawyers have been battling to block the admission of the clothing as evidence.

Thorson, a Birmingham stock salesman, is accused of strangling and beating Mrs. Thomas in their Detroit home.

Change Traffic Flow

1-Way Streets Now 2-Way

The city gave its normal street-closing notices a new twist today.

Officials announced some directional changes in traffic flow.

All of Fairgrove and the portion of Union from Pike to Huron — presently one-way streets — will become two-way streets tomorrow.

Both changes are permanent. They were necessitated by a switch in traffic flow requirements created by construction of the perimeter road.

The new highway will make Fairgrove a dead-end street and increase the need for two-way traffic movement on Union.

Also tomorrow, Wayne Street from Huron to Warren will become one-way northbound temporarily.

All parking, including reserved parking for the County Sheriff's Department, will be removed from the east curb.

The sheriff's parking will be moved to the west curb and the intersection of Wayne and Warren will become stop streets in all directions.

The Wayne Street change was needed to allow construction barriers around a new addition being built at the rear of First Presbyterian Church of Pontiac.

Keego Harbor Official Quits on Request

Mrs. VanHorn Leaves 3 Jobs

Southfield Man Hired by City Council

KEEGO HARBOR — Mrs. Eileen B. VanHorn, clerk, treasurer and acting city manager, last night handed in her resignation which had been requested by the City Council.

The resignations of part-time employees George Hahnfeldt, building and health inspector, and assessor Frank C. Derby also were accepted.

Councilmen then hired Gordon B. Hunter of Southfield to take over the jobs handled by Mrs. VanHorn and Hahnfeldt.

Hunter, former Hudson city manager and Southfield assistant city manager, will begin his new duties July 1 at a starting salary of $7,000.

Mrs. VanHorn, who was hired as clerk and treasurer seven years ago and "automatically fell into the city manager's shoes," was making $5,300 a year.

She said the request for her resignation came as a complete surprise to her.

The council has been looking for an administrator for two or three months, according to Mayor Vernon B. Edwards, but Mrs. VanHorn said it "was all done under cover."

"NOT DISSATISFIED"
"We weren't dissatisfied with Mrs. VanHorn," Edwards said. "It was just a matter of getting an administrator who is familiar with zoning and planning and can relate the ordinances to the developers who are coming in."

At the same time, he said, Keego Harbor is a small town which must have an administrator who can fill three or four positions.

Mrs. VanHorn, who claims she has no plans for the immediate future, said she was disappointed at the manner in which she was dismissed.

"It could have been worked out," she said. "I didn't want all the responsibilities I've had here."

Councilwoman Mrs. Beatrice R. Halsema cast the only vote against acceptance of Mrs. VanHorn's resignation on the grounds that there had not been enough consideration of the move.

The council plans to pass an ordinance allowing the appointment of a full-fledged city manager in the near future.

The city charter now has no such provision.

Pair Tours Canada

ORTONVILLE — A honeymoon of Oxford was best man. Stand motor trip through Canada to New York followed the Saturday evening wedding of Mary Ann Turnbull and James Frederick Thompson.

Nuptial vows were spoken at the Oxford Free Methodist Church.

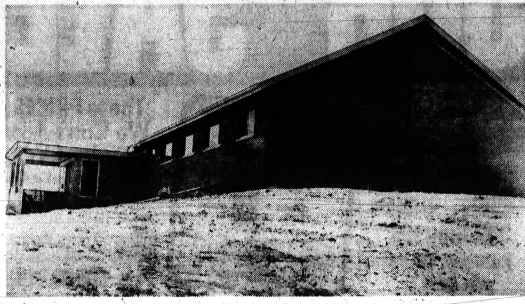

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Turnbull of 3529 Lakeside are parents of the bride. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thompson, 480 N. Coats, Oxford.

Alenore re-embroidered with pearls and sequins trimmed the bride's floor length gown of organza over tulle. The fitted bodice featured a lavalier necklace, and the skirt ended in a chapel train.

A floral cluster held her silk illusion veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of carnations and roses.

Mrs. David Bundy of Pontiac was matron of honor, while Janet Turnbull of Pontiac served as bridesmaid for her sister.

DEDICATION SUNDAY — Lake Louise Church of the Nazarene, 51 W. Seymour Lake Road, Brandon Township, will dedicate in a special service 2:30 p.m. Sunday, Dr. E. W.

Martin, district superintendent, will be guest speaker. Most of the labor was donated for the $55,000 building, according to Rev. John E. Mellish, church pastor.

Tough 7 Miles to Complete 12-Towns Drainage Project

The Oakland County Drain Commission has only seven miles to go to complete the $44-million 12-Towns Drain in the southeastern drainage district of the county.

But it's a tough seven miles to go, according to Drain Commissioner Daniel Barry.

What's left are tedious drain tunnels that must be mined out under busy streets and large buildings in Royal Oak, Oak Park, Huntington Woods, Pleasant Ridge and Ferndale.

Barry, his staff and 14 contractors can look back on 37 miles of the 44-mile-long project already completed.

12 Girls Compete Tonight for Title of Miss Oxford

OXFORD — Miss Oxford, the lovely lass who will represent this village in the Romeo Peach Queen Contest, will be chosen from 12 local girls vying for the title tonight at the high school.

Starting at 8 p.m. in the student center, the girls will be judged on appearance, poise, personality and speaking ability.

Work Shown in Art Exhibit

ROCHESTER — Three Rochester High School students were represented in the statewide High School Art Exhibit at De Water's Art Institute, Flint, recently.

Michael Bright's print, "Bridge," and Nancy Bennett's watercolor, "Blue Birds," were selected from the exhibit to hang for a month in Gov. George Romney's office in Lansing.

Claudia Wetling was the third student to participate in the exhibit. All three are eleventh grade students of Mrs. Blossom Coburn, Rochester High School art teacher.

The lucky winner will be crowned at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the village park, during the band concert intermission.

Those competing for the coveted crown include: Janet Miholek, Eve Van Hentenryk, Carol Gleifer, Philinda Ashley, Norma Seiler, Carol Roberts and Carla Beuchler.

Others are Elsie Skinner, Sharon Mersino, Audrey Moore, Linda Schlicht and Marcie McGee.

All the girls are between 17½ and 21 years old.

Carol Inman, Miss Oxford of 1961, will be mistress of ceremonies tonight.

After the new reigning miss is crowned, she will participate in the "Midnight Madness" sale in the village.

From 9 p.m. to midnight downtown merchants will be open offering many of their wares at reduced prices.

Chairman of the Miss Oxford Contest, which is sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, are Mrs. Jack Valentine and Mrs. Gerald Van Vleet.

In addition to being Oxford's entrant in the Romeo Peach Queen Contest, scheduled for early August, Miss Oxford will reign over other communitywide activities throughout the year.

Given Probation in Bar Fight Death

A 30-year-old Clawson man convicted of assault and battery in the death of a Howell man in a Royal Oak tavern fight last year was placed on two years' probation yesterday.

Theodore Surgenor, 852 Manly, was sentenced by Oakland County Circuit Judge Arthur E. Moore.

Surgenor, who had been charged with manslaughter, was found guilty of the lesser charge by a jury May 22 after a four-day trial.

Police claimed that a blow on the neck inflicted by Surgenor killed Donald Greer, 25, of Howell, in a fight outside the Royal Inn, 4724 Rochester Road.

moth drain pipe were lowered into a huge trench dug parallel with Stephenson Highway.

This part of the project, one of the largest of its kind, went fairly fast. There were few obstructions to be tunneled under.

Construction has been going on for 18 months now. Barry said the project should be completed around the first of next year.

A companion project, the DeQuindre drain, won't be completed until sometime in 1964, however. It is intended to carry sewage picked up by the 12-Towns drain into Detroit for treatment.

The 12-Towns will carry storm waters, that have periodically flooded wide areas of the district in the past, into the Red Run Drain. This large, open-drain lake will dump the flow into Lake St. Clair.

Northern parts of the 12-Towns already were pressed into service during recent, heavy rainstorms. This relieved flood conditions in parts of Royal Oak, Birmingham and Clawson, said Barry.

The project has been unmarred by any major accidents to date. This is a rarity among large construction projects, said Barry, who is proud of the many safety measures being taken.

Both the 12-Towns and DeQuindre projects are being financed by a county bond issue.

The county will be reimbursed by 17 benefited communities which will raise the money through special assessments and connection and treatment charges over the next 30 years.

5 Departments Fight Barn Fire

Vacant Wixom Home Gutted by Blaze

Firemen from five departments worked for more than two hours last night to extinguish a second-floor barn fire in Milford Township.

Two of the departments later were called to a vacant home in Wixom which was gutted by a blaze believed to have been started by children.

Damage to the barn on the Rolland B. McMaster farm, 52300 Pontiac Trail, was estimated at $2,000.

Firemen believe the fire could have been started by spontaneous combustion in hay and straw on the top level of the structure.

Milford, Lyon Township, Walked Lake, Wixom and Novi fire trucks were at the scene from 8 to 10:30 p.m.

Shortly after midnight, Wixom and Novi firemen extinguished a blaze which swept a vacant home at 28350 Beck, Wixom.

Damage to the reportedly condemned building was estimated between $3,000 and $4,000.

Wixom firemen and police are investigating a report that children were seen playing in the house about 10:30 p.m.

Contracts Let on Hospital Job

$7.5-Million Expansion Set for Beaumont

ROYAL OAK — Contracts totaling $7,551,830 for a major expansion project at William Beaumont Hospital were awarded yesterday.

The proposed construction will add five floors to the present building, a seven-story wing on the north, a central records building and a power plant.

New facilities scheduled would accommodate 452 more beds, reaching a total of 711 beds.

R. W. Dailey & Co. of Detroit was awarded the contract for general construction, with a low bid of $3,401,200.

A $2.59-million job was let to the combined companies of Spitzley Corp. and Shaw-Winkler, both of Detroit, for mechanical work involved in the expansion.

ELECTRICAL WORK

Batzli Electrical Co. of Flint was awarded the contract for electrical work on the project. The firm's low bid was $278,944.

"Work should begin, in three to four weeks," Hospital Director Owen R. Pinkerman said today.

"Approximately one-third of the project is expected to be completed in 14 months, with all facilities scheduled to be operational after 27 months," he added.

Operating rooms and other service areas to support the proposed additions have already been constructed.

Among the capital being used to support the hospital addition is a federal grant of $1,125,000, awarded through the government's Hill-Burton Fund.

When completed, the planned construction will make William Beaumont the largest hospital in the country, with the exception of Pontiac State Hospital.

Utica Man on Probation

A 22-year-old Utica man was placed on a year's probation yesterday for his theft of a gas generator from a Pontiac firm last November.

Ronald Feazel, of 8254 Russell, pleaded guilty May 23 to simple larceny. He was accused of taking the item from National Industrial Supply Co., 88 S. Cass.

Feazel was sentenced by Circuit Judge Arthur E. Moore.

CLARKSTON — Newly installed honored queen of Bethel No. 25 is Vicki Fife, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dwayne Fife, 5553 Dvorak, Independence Township.

Fat Kane was installed as senior princess and Larie Walter as junior princess.

Other new officers include Sherry Sparkman, guide; Judy Struther, marshal; Jennifer Pike, chaplain; Sue Barling, musician; Sandy Smalley, recorder; and Marty Terry, treasurer.

Dinner Is Held

Couple Is Married

MRS. BRUCE W. PICKARD

UNION LAKE — A church reception and a dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon A. Snodgrass followed the marriage of their daughter Patricia Audrey, to Bruce Williams Pickard, 9340 Pittsfield, Saturday.

The bridegroom is the son of Thomas Pickard, West Commerce Road, and Mrs. Thomas Pickard.

Commerce Methodist Church was the scene of the wedding. The couple plans to live in the Pontiac area after a honeymoon in Northern Michigan and West Virginia.

Marsha Page of Walled Lake attended as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Adelaide Phelps and Nancy Shull, both of Union Lake.

Norman Thompson of Commerce served as best man. Tommy Phelps of Union Lake and Gordon Snodgrass Jr. seated the guests.

The bride wore a floor-length white lace gown with long sleeves and a scalloped neckline. She carried a cascade of white carnations.

Found Unfit to Stand Trial

Holly Man Accused of Attempted Murder

A 45-year-old Holly man accused of attempted murder was found mentally unfit to stand trial after an Oakland County Circuit Court sanity hearing yesterday.

Noah Terry of 306 LeGrande was ordered sent to the Ionia State Hospital for the criminally insane.

Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziern ruled that Terry was not capable of understanding the charges against him or assisting in his defense.

Judge Ziern's ruling came after three psychiatrists testified that the defendant was not mentally competent.

Terry had been charged with attempted murder in the shooting of a 32-year-old woman who lived next door to him—Mrs. Ethel Truxton, 304 LeGrande.

Police said Terry walked next door Jan. 12 and fired four bullets from a 38-caliber revolver into Mrs. Truxton, who was critically injured.

The sanity hearing was requested by Terry's attorney, Lynn V. Hooe Jr. of Pontiac.

Judge Ziern said Terry would be returned here for trial if he is restored to sanity.

Reset Trial of Davison Bank VP

FLINT (AP) — The federal court trial of former Davison Bank Executive Vice President George A. Greenlee and a former assistant cashier at the bank, Mrs. Joan Phelps, 32, has been rescheduled from June 25 to July 9.

U.S. District Judge Stephen J. Roth granted the delay yesterday after a hearing on a series of defense motions by attorneys for Greenlee, 50, and Mrs. Phelps. He said it would allow more time to gather statements through discovery proceedings.

At the same time, Roth denied motions for a bill of particulars in the charges and separate trials.

Mrs. Phelps' attorney claimed a joint trial on charges of violating the federal banking act would produce testimony against Greenlee that would prejudice his client's position.

Roth said efforts would be made to avoid this.

To Appeal Conviction on Sewer Line Charge

MOUNT CLEMENS (UPI) — Joseph S. Dresner, who was found guilty Monday of installing a lateral sewer line in Roseville's Park Lawn subdivision, said yesterday he will appeal the case.

Dresner, a Detroit builder, was found guilty in the court of Justice of the Peace Francis A. Casellucci. Dresner's twin brother, Milton is awaiting trial on similar charges.

EAGLE — Jack Frost, 14, of Troop 126, First Methodist Church, Clarkson, received his Eagle award Monday night. A scout 3½ years, Moore is a member of the Order of the Arrow, an honor camping society and the holder of the God and Country Award. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Frost, 8125 Cramlane, Clarkson, he will attend Clarkson High School in the fall.

Exec's Wife Found Dead

ROYAL OAK (AP) — Mrs. Francine Perkins, 50, second wife of industrialist E. Howard Perkins, was found fatally shot in the night temple yesterday.

City police said they went to the Perkins' home after Mrs. Perkins' son by her previous marriage telephoned anxiously from Washington, saying he had been able to get in touch with her.

The body was found in a bedroom. A 25-caliber pistol was near the body. Police said a note was nearby, but did not disclose its contents.

An autopsy yesterday at St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital determined the 25-caliber slug caused death.

Perkins was believed to be in London on business, police said. He is chairman of the board of Brooks & Perkins, Inc., the metalworking firm which built 15 gold-plated spheres for the Navy's Vanguard space project.

EMU Report Hits Officials, State Unit

LANSING (U) — The responsibility for troubles at Eastern Michigan University lies not only with the school's own administration, but also with the legislature and the State Board of Education.

This is a conclusion drawn by the six-man investigating team which studied the Ypsilanti school at the request of the state board, and whose "confidential" report finally was made public Tuesday.

Criticism of EMU and its role in education were broad and sweeping in the 18-page report — for example:

"Eastern Michigan has lost its character as a teacher-training institution of quality and even distinction; it has not yet found its new objectives and . . . is of itself probably incapable of setting realistic and sensible goals consistent with sound public policy for the State of Michigan."

Criticism also got down to the personal level: "A significant source of tension within the university stems from the fact that most of the principal administrative officers subordinate to the president are fairly new to their posts . . . with little experience in academic administration."

"(The) three vice presidents approached their administrative roles with vigor and enthusiasm but . . . without sufficient prior experience in higher education or adequate sensitivity to the present feelings of faculty and of subordinate officers of administration."

But in total, the report by the North Central Association team appeared to many capitol observers to be far less "controversial" than the battle between Gov. George Romney and the state board would have indicated.

In addition, many of the conclusions and recommendations of the NCA team already had been-made public, piece-meal fashion, by the board itself.

Its list of five recommendations were these:

• The board should define and "codify" major policies for guidance of Eastern Michigan and the other three universities under its jurisdiction.

• The board should establish new, clear channels of communication with faculty members at EMU, defining the role of the administration in relation to them.

• The place of EMU should be clarified within the "system" of public education as a guide for

• EMU should work out a clear policy regarding faulty personnel employment, tenure, promotion and retirement, and make it available in published form.

• The NCA should make an "accrediting visit" to Eastern Michigan University in late 1964, after the school spends a year in "full self-study."

"TOO MANY CHIEFS"

The report called the EMU administration a case of "too many chiefs per Indian," meaning it is more elaborate than a student population of 5,800 would warrant.

In addition, said the investigators, "The faculty has reason to be concerned about the diversion of resources into administrative 'overhead' at a time when inadequate resources are available for proper execution of the teaching function."

The blame for some of this was laid to Dr. Eugene Elliott, who was fired as president of EMU by the board last week, effective June 30, 1964. The board, at the same time, eliminated the post of vice president for planning and development, now held by James Green.

The investigators said Elliott, in recent years, "seemed to have become somewhat disengaged from the internal affairs of the university" and "insulated himself" from both faculty and students. Within the last year, however, Elliott had tried to re-establish personal contact with faculty and students, they said.

The State Board of Education came under criticism for failing to set up a broad policy of guidance for Eastern and its sister institutions.

This was particularly important, the probers said, for Eastern as it underwent a phase of transition from teacher's college to "multipurpose university."

Retirement System Grows

The Oakland County employees retirement system—with investments totaling nearly $4.6 million—is big business.

The Detroit Bank & Trust Co., as financial adviser for the system, reports it has $620,000 invested in U. S. Government bonds, $353,000 in county sewage disposal system bonds, $2.6 million in corporate bonds and $979,083 in FHA mortgages.

The system has an additional $80,000 of cash on hand waiting to be invested when the sum totals $100,000.

All of this money started to accumulate in 1946 when the employees' retirement system was founded.

At that time, the county contributed $66,202 to get the system rolling.

County employees have been kicking in a small percentage of their monthly earnings ever since. And the county has continued to make annual contributions as computed by an actuary, A. J. Gabriel & Co. of Detroit.

Investment earnings provide a third source of revenue for the retirement fund.

These earnings amounted to $177,437 last year and are expected to add another $195,576 this year at 4.25 per cent.

The system now covers 1,641 employees who are paying 3 per cent of the first $4,300 of their annual earnings and 5 per cent of the remainder.

AMOUNT ACCUMULATED
Last year, these percentages amounted to $273,347 toward the fund. The county contributed $377,569.

The county's share amounted to 5.4 per cent of total payroll last year when 23 employees retired, making a total 150 drawing pensions.

These pensions ranged from $17 to $300 a month. They amounted to a total of $121,105 last year.

Employees are entitled to collect their pensions once they have passed age 60, provided they have 10 or more years service with the county.

The retirement system is administered by a seven-member retirement commission.

Three of the members serve by virtue of their positions with the county. A fourth member is appointed from the citizenry by the County Board of Supervisors, and the remaining three are elected by employee members for four-year terms.

Secretary of the Board of Auditors Robert Lilly is chief administrative officer of the system. Robert Allen, corporation counsel, serves as legal adviser, and County Treasurer Charles Sparks is custodian of funds and system treasurer.

OTHER MEMBERS

Lytle Baker of Royal Oak is the citizen member, while Theodore Koella Jr., deputy county treasurer; James W. Hunt, director of the Juvenile Division of Probate Court; and Howard Rummel, a drain commission accountant, are the elected members.

Lilly said the number of county pensioners is growing pretty much as the county staff is increased. However, the number of pensioners does fluctuate from year to year.

In 1960 there were 20 retirees, a total of 12 in 1961 and 23 last year.

"We have a very up-to-date retirement plan that is fairly comparable to other retirement systems in the state," said Lilly.

"It covers all full-time county employees except those at the County Road Commission who have their own retirement system backed by an insurance policy and Social Security."

Lilly said that in theory there is no limit to the eventual size of the system or fund.

A fully paid plan, where investment earnings would carry the entire cost of the system, is not foreseeable, he said.

Funds can generally be invested in anything allowed any Michigan insurance company by state law. This excludes stocks because they represent ownership in companies.

Corporate bonds include those issued by the Aluminum Co. of America, Armco Steel Corp., Burroughs Adding Machine Co., General Motors Corp., Republic Steel Corp., Sears, Roebuck & Co. and United States Steel Corp.

Wants Honor for Volunteers

EAST LANSING (U) — Gov. George Romney yesterday suggested creation of a "Michigan Academy for volunteer leadership" to honor persons with outstanding records of voluntary service.

Speaking at the Michigan Week recognition dinner, where 11 awards were presented to top leaders of the past 10 years, Romney also suggested expanding awards classifications to include civil rights leaders and those who lead "in meeting the critical problems of youth."

Awards presently are given to outstanding citizens in three fields — culture, religion and education.

In addition to the 10 award winners announced earlier, Walker Cislak, president of the Detroit Citizen Co., was given a special citation in all three fields.

Lesinski Says Poland Fears Tariff Setback

WARSAW, Poland (U) — Michigan Lt. Gov. T. John Lesinski said yesterday that Polish economic officials are concerned over a possible loss of U. S. tariff concessions.

Lesinski and another Michigan Democratic leader, Sen. Philip A. Hart, were received in Warsaw by Dr. Witold Trzampczynski, Polish minister of foreign trade.

The two men, here for the Poznan International Trade Fair, later dined at the home of the U. S. charge d'affaires, Albert W. Scherer Jr.

Lesinski, a first generation Polish-American, is the official representative of Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges at the fair.

Tiger Fans Expecting Better Days in Future

It's a new deal for the Tigers. Circumstances dictate a change. In all professional sports, it's pretty much a question of "win, or else." This may be defenseless, and it precipitates injustice at times, but it's "the law of the jungle."

This is especially true in good sports cities and Detroit ranks strictly in this category. Winning athletic teams always draw well in Michigan. Currently, the Tigers are about the most inept, futile and impotent baseball team that ever represented the area. There aren't over half a dozen big league players on the squad of twenty five and when the management trades, it's always "trash for trash." Rearranging the rotten apples at the bottom of the barrel accomplishes nothing.

This last isn't the fault of the coaches or the manager. It's strictly a deficiency on the part of top management. Apparently it can't afford to purchase.

The unwritten rule in all sports suggests that losing managers face the firing squad. And the current Bengals are the most depressing club in the two big leagues. Even the lowly Mets have supporters.

Certainly the change can do no possible harm and the fans unite wholeheartedly in the hope that better days are ahead.

Not Much Sense Behind EMU Report Hassle

It is good to know that Gov. ROMNEY won the oral tug-of-war over his right to scrutinize a report on Eastern Michigan University.

He is now to have a look-see at the document until now tightly clutched in the secretive hands of the State Board of Education.

As the top executive of a half-billion dollar corporation (Michigan), it is inconceivable that reports, activities and decisions of all state agencies should not be subject to gubernatorial appraisal.

We wonder how long any industrial organization of comparable size could operate with its directing head similarly hamstringed.

If there were any legal basis for withholding the tortured report from the Governor, and up till now none has been adduced, it should be speedily amended.

Reds 'Up in the Air' Over Space Feat

We enthusiastically acclaim the latest space topper of the Russians.

Undeniably in the forefront of travel into cosmic vastness since the pioneering Sputnik I took off, Soviet scientists and astral explorers have conclusively maintained their initial advantage.

Noteworthy too, and rating a chivalric bow of approbation, is the entry of the fair sex into another era heretofore considered exclusively male.

Moreover, of fanciful appeal for romantics, the rendezvous envisioned for the orbiting Lt. Col. Valery F. Bykovsky and Valentina Tereshkova introduces an adventuresome variation of the timeless pattern of Boy Meets Girl.

Although antagonism has characterized U. S.-Russian relations, it exists mainly in the realm of opposed governmental and social attitudes little shared by the citizenry whose personal preoccupations and goals are basically identical.

Particularly is this mutuality found in the field of science, transcending as it does both nationality and boundary. The technical current of one country inevitably joins the flowing stream of another.

Strange are the ways of destiny. The science which has spawned unremitting warfare, ever more horrible, may yet be the catalyst uniting the world in peace.

Court Fails to Mix Study of Religion

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — In this country where people have different religious beliefs and some have none, no state can impose any religious belief or exercise in the public schools.

That's the short of the Supreme Court's historic ruling Monday outlawing the reading of the Bible and the Lord's Prayer in public schools as a religious exercise.

This goes even if students, whose parents object to the religious exercise, are excused from taking part.

But the court, whose majority opinion was written by Justice Tom Clark, did not say the Bible or religious history could not be studied in public schools as part of a general education program.

Under the Constitution, Clark said, a state must maintain strict neutrality on religious matters, "neither aiding nor opposing religion."

Another justice, William O. Douglas, agreeing with Clark, put it this way: "Through the mechanism of the state unless it is banned, all of the people are being required to finance a religious exercise that only some of the people want and that violates the sensibilities of others."

HEADING TO DECISION
The court had been working up to this decision and almost reached it, but not quite, last year in the case of New York schools where the Board of Regents had recommended the recital of a 22-word prayer at the start of each school day.

The prayer, which had been drafted by the board's legal staff, said: "Almighty God, we acknowledge our dependency upon Thee, and we beg Thy blessing upon us, our parents, our teachers and our country."

But some people don't believe in God. Others, if they do, prefer to pray some other way. The court banned that prayer as unconstitutional. The opinion then was written by Justice Hugo Black.

He said for the school board to require recital of its prayer violated the first section of the First Amendment, which declares, "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof."

In that case Black put the emphasis on the first part of the amendment—"establishment of religion"—and not the second part. But that amendment prohibited Congress from passing a law "respecting establishment of religion."

How then could Black say the states can't pass such a law?

Because the 14th Amendment makes it apply to states too, by saying, "No state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States." The religious privileges are guaranteed by the First Amendment.

Black reasoned: the government has no power to "prescribe by law any particular form of prayer which is to be used as an official prayer in carrying on any government-sponsored activity."

He said: "neither the fact that the prayer may be denominationally neutral, nor the fact that its observance on the part of the students is voluntary, can serve to free it from the limitations of the establishment clause."

But he was talking about a prayer written by a school board and imposed on the students.

He didn't answer this question: What about schools that require Bible-reading every day but excuse children whose parents don't want them to be a party to it—even though they only have to listen and don't have to say anything?

David Lawrence Says:

High Court Inconsistent in South

WASHINGTON—President Kennedy is planning to ask Congress to enact a law barring segregation in "public accommodations."

But one cannot be sure just what is constitutional with regard to racial discrimination, for instance, in the use of public restrooms and toilets.

The Supreme Court of the United States has exhibited a curious inconsistency in dealing with such facilities in an advisory nature favoring practices of racial segregation in public buildings or facilities.

Apparently no legal barrier is LAWRENCE recognized today by the Supreme Court when brushing aside state ordinances, customs, or even statements of an advisory nature favoring practices of racial segregation in public buildings or facilities.

The utmost flexibility prevails, and the highest court has taken it upon itself again and again to tell local authorities they must give due regard to the "equal protection" clause of the 14th Amendment.

A decision rendered on March 9, 1959, by the Supreme Court, however, remains a conspicuous exception and is still in effect.

The case arose when a Negro attorney sought from the United States District Court a permanent injunction to restrain the city of Norfolk and certain of its administrative officers "from maintaining certain signs in state courthouses in city indicating segregation of races in public restrooms maintained in building for men and women."

The U.S. District Judge, after the hearing, dismissed the complaint on Feb. 26, 1958. The case was taken to the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals, which affirmed the decision on Oct. 15, 1958. In 1959, by refusing to hear the case, the Supreme Court of the United States upheld the appeals court ruling, which said:

ACTION PROPER
"We think this action was properly taken . . .

"The matter was one which affected the internal operations of the court of the state and within its power to regulate under these circumstances, interference on the part of the Federal court was not required and the action of the district judge in dismissing the case was in accord with the principles laid down in Commonwealth of Pennsylvania vs. Williams."

The supreme court opinion in the Pennsylvania case of 1935 makes strange reading today. It said:

"It is in the public interest that Federal courts of equity should exercise their discretionary power with proper regard for the rightful independence of state governments in carrying out their domestic policy."

"It has long been accepted practice for the Federal courts to relinquish their jurisdiction in favor of the state courts, where its exercise would involve central or interference with the internal affairs of a domestic corporation of the state.

"There are stronger reasons for adopting a like practice where the exercise of jurisdiction involves an unnecessary interference by injunction with the lawful action of state officers."

Red Bosses Brake Hard on Soviet Union Thinkers

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Rebellious Soviet intellectuals have the bad news: They are going to be regimented all over again. It will be something like a union of thinkers, with the state telling them exactly what to think.

Through his chief ideological spokesman, Premier Khrushchev has told the intellectuals that only the party has "the right and duty to direct the processes of social life" for all the people.

A state-controlled union of all creative people—writers, artists, radio and television workers, scenarists and the like—seems in prospect.

Khrushchev's spokesman, stern-faced and uncompromising Leonid Ilyichev, told the party's important Central Committee session on Tuesday that he supports the idea of an organization to "pool all artistic forces into a single union of creative workers."

Such a union would make the creative people far easier to control than they are now. The party obviously means business.

The party, Ilyichev warned, "has never shared nor will it share with anyone its guidance of ideology." It has "directed and will continue to direct the entire ideological life of the country."

This was a clear warning that the work of writers and artists who do not knuckle under will be consigned to oblivion.

NO PRODUCTION

Artists who balk at total submission have been sullenly unproductive ever since Khrushchev lowered the boom on them for straying from party norms of "socialist realism." That, in a nutshell, means producing only what is designed to further the aims of the state.

Ilyichev thundered: "We say to those who expect the struggle against ideological wanderings and distortions to be a temporary campaign which will soon be over and forgotten while they sit it out and say nothing: It won't work!"

For creative people, this will be Stalinism all over again.

Khrushchev's destruction of the Stalin myth had appeared to open the door to free expression. Taking the cue from Khrushchev, intellectuals denounced the cruel sins of Stalin's day. But by indirectness, this condemned the system under which the Communist party carried out Stalin's will. The party is unwilling to share the blame in any way.

Fluoridation

The New York Times

Mayor Wagner predicted that a proposal to fluoridate New York City's water supply would soon be taken up.

Fluoridation to reduce tooth decay was first recommended by the Board of Health in 1962.

Last December, a group headed by the Surgeon General, United States Public Health Service met with the mayor to urge action on fluoridation. Accompanying the surgeon general were Dr. Gerald R. Timmons, president of the American Dental Association, and Dr. George Flister, president of the American Medical Association.

These, and all other leading scientific groups have approved the efficacy and safety of fluoridation.

Dr. Arthur Bushel, director of the Bureau of Dentistry of the city Department of Health, has stated that "the cost of not fluoridating" would mean greatly increasing the Health Department's dental program budget.

The values of fluoridation have been validated and revalidated during the last 18 years since the first controlled scientific studies of fluoridation were begun.

More than 51-million Americans in 4,251 communities are drinking fluoridated water. Of these, 7.26 million live in 1,934 communities that have naturally fluoridated water.

One of the latest studies on the benefits of fluoridation

tion comes from the District of Columbia. Studies there show that 6-year-olds today have 59 percent less tooth decay than children of the same age 10 years ago.

Of the major cities in the United States, only New York and Los Angeles do not have fluoridation programs.

Family dental bills for the U.S. total nearly $2 billion a year, but only 40 per cent of our population gets dental care.

Controlled fluoridation does not mean adding a foreign substance to water. All water contains some fluoride. Fluoridation as a public health measure simply means controlling the amount of fluoride in a public water supply.

Each year that New York delays in adopting fluoridation, say authorities, proved health benefits are being withheld from the people and perpetuating a costly and serious health problem.

Search for Peace

The Jackson Citizen Patriot

No American will quarrel with the basic premises of President Kennedy's American Union speech which he announced at Big Three talks in Moscow on a nuclear test ban and his unilateral decision to halt such tests in the United States.

But the bitter facts of the world as it is today give rise to a little hope that anything well come of this bold new move by the major nuclear powers and by the President.

Mr. Kennedy put his finger on the reason why failure should be expected, even though he was citing it as a hopeful sign. He said: "Agreements to this end (halting the arms race) are in the Soviet's interest as well as ours, and even the most hostile nations can be relied upon to accept and keep those treaty obligations, and only those treaty obligations, which are in their own interest."

The overriding "interest" of the Soviet Union is communism of the world and the attendant destruction of capitalism and freedom as we know it.

It may be that the President and his advisers have detected "constructive changes" (his words) in the Communist bloc which make them believe a treaty is possible now or in the relatively near future.

But trickery with them is a way of life and a means to an end. A meaningful agreement, without placing considerable faith in the so-called broken word of the Russians, seems impossible.

Freedom Marchers to Retrace Route of Bloody Detroit Riot

By A. F. MARAN

DETROIT (AP) — A massive "Walk to Freedom" demonstration is scheduled in Detroit Sunday—the 20th anniversary of the ending of one of this century's bloodiest race riots.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., Southern Christian leadership leader, is to head a 3 p.m. march in which sponsors are striving to enlist 100,000.

Along the scheduled downtown route of the march fell some of the 34 killed and 700 injured in Detroit's 1943 rioting. Woodward Avenue will take the marchers directly through the spot where a race riot erupted 80 years before that—in 1863.

Richard V. Marks, secretary-director of Detroit's commission on Community Relations, says there still is "plenty of the racial discrimination and racial prejudice" which contributed to the four-day outbreak of violence 20 years ago.

Marks adds, however, he is "not the least bit concerned about the march producing violence," and James Del Rio, planning chairman for the demonstration, says "peace and order are our aim."

Del Rio, a director of the newly organized Detroit Council for Human Rights which is sponsoring the walk, says the demonstration has a two-fold purpose:

To raise $100,000 for Dr. King's Southern Christian Leadership Council, and to protest against indignities Negroes have suffered in Birmingham and against many things going on in Detroit, particularly in jobs and housing."

The bloodshed of 20 years ago sprang from a fist fight between a Negro and a white man on a bridge to Belle Isle. Other Negroes and whites got involved in the fracas.

At the time, Negroes were flocking from poorly paid jobs in the South to Detroit's high-wage defense industries and were spilling over from mid-city slums into what had been all-white neighbor-

Fighting spread as rumors, mostly false, fed flames of hatred. It finally took federal troops, as in 1863, to put down the riot.

TIME OF CHANGE

At the time, Negroes were flocking from poorly paid jobs in the South to Detroit's high-wage defense industries and were spilling over from mid-city slums into what had been all-white neighborhoods. Detroit's schools long had been integrated, but Negroes predominated in some and were virtually non-existent in others.

Along with the Southern Negroes, many whites from the mountains and deltas of the South also came to Detroit, bringing with them their customs and their beliefs in race separation.

All officers of the Council for Human Rights are Negroes, with the Rev. C. L. Franklin of New Bethel Baptist church its chairman. Del Rio reports "40 pastors are committed to our effort."

But the city's largest group of Negro preachers, the 200-member Baptist Ministers' Conference, has decided to take a hands-off attitude toward Sunday's march. However, Del Rio said he had telegrams of acceptance from 37 individual Baptist ministers "and the congregations of the others will be there whether they are or not."

The Baptist ministers had announced plans for a July 14th rally to raise funds for Dr. King's Southern group before the Rev. Mr. Franklin and his new organization disclosed their "Walk to Freedom" plans.

Expressing concern that Sunday's demonstration might be largely Negro, the Rev. Joseph Williams, secretary of the Baptist Conference, said: "We feel there is Caucasian concern about Negro rights." He added that the Detroit Council of Churches and the Detroit Association of American Baptists had expressed "their desire to work with us."

Del Rio, wealthy mortgage broker and insurance company director, said the new Detroit Council for Human Rights was organized by "people who are disposed to do very little compromising and the old guard is being dragged along."

Iran Blood Shed Over Reforms People Asked

By DAVID LANCASHIRE

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Five months ago, excited crowds surged into Tehran's streets to throw their weight behind a radical reform program, a blood-less revolution aimed at changing the face of ancient Iran.

This month, riotous mobs marched in a shrieking rampage through Tehran, smashing, burning and defying army gunfire that left scores of bodies in the streets.

Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi's government claims the same reforms that got a 99.97 per cent "yes" vote from Iranians in a referendum in January caused the latest bloody riots.

The government claims the mul-lahs—Iran's bearded, be-turbanned and often backward religious leaders—went out the screaming mobs because 800,000 acres of lucrative land controlled by the holy men is to be broken up and leased to peasants under the shah's land reform program.

Inclusion of the Moslem church lands in the reform was an-gling and defying army gunfire that left scores of bodies in the streets.

"The mul-lahs," said Prime Min-ister Assadullah Alam, whose own vast estates are being chopped up by land reform, "will lose im-mensely from their pockets. They also oppose the reforms that will give Iranian women political pow-er, but it is the loss of the land that hurts."

Outside the cities, Iran resem-bles a nation of the middle ages. Its 16 million peasants live in 50,000 mud brick villages, and each village is, or was, someone's private property. Some land-lords own hundreds of them—one estate is reputedly the size of Switzer-land—and the peasants are vir-tual serfs.

OTHER REFORMS
Other reforms listed in the Jan-uary referendum are considered minor compared to the break-up of the big estates, but their suc-cess would have tremendous im-pact on Iran's 20 million popu-lation.

One was a crash educational program resembling an Iranian peace corps. Instead of doing mil-itary service in Iran's already over-sized army, young men would be conscripted, trained as in-structors and sent to villages to teach reading and writing—only about one Iranian in 10 can do either—and help in development projects.

Another is improvement of the electoral law that has made past Iranian elections a farce. Hidden within the new electoral law was an issue almost as explosive as taking land from the mosques.

The amendments include giving women the vote, and permitting them to run for public office. When Iran's first woman was elected to a provincial council last year, under a provincial and vil-lage law, the mul-lahs protested so vehemently that the government knuckled under and revoked it.

Women have no divorce rights and few inheritance privileges, and their lot is a dreary one.

"But land reform is the big thing, and there is no question that things are on the move," said one Western diplomat.

Before the two-stage program began last year, round figures show 46,050 of the 50,000 vil-lages were privately owned, with another 16,000 owned by the shah him-self. The government held the deeds to 1,450 more communities, and 900 are still owned or con-trolled by the mul-lahs in their mosques.

As of last month, the govern-ment had bought 4,335 villages from the landlords, and handed out 2,350 of them to 140,000 peas-ant families. The new owners are to pay for them over the next 15 years, and village cooperatives hope-fully are to replace the land-lords as suppliers of seed, advi-ce and credit.

Pair Asks More Pesticide Study Time

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two government officials said yester-day the problem of potentially harmful pesticides should be given more scientific study before control legislation is considered.

Their testimony brought a pro- test from Rep. John D. Dingell, D-Mich., that "you people have been hiding around."

George Barnes, an assistant to Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman, and Frank P. Briggs, assistant secretary of in- terior for fish and wildlife, testi- fied before a House Merchant Marine and Fisheries subcom- mittee.

That group is considering two bills that would tighten controls on pesticides harmful to wildlife, improve coordination be- tween government agencies and require stricter labeling to show the chemical substances.

Barnes took the position that a study recommended by the Pres- ident's Science Advisory Com- mittee should be carried out be- fore legislation is considered.

Briggs, agreeing, said "one im- portant point" is that the bill "deals only with the protection of fish and wildlife resources, and does not touch upon pro- tection of people and domestic animals."

But Dingell, in questioning Barnes, wanted to know why the Agricultural Department hasn't moved more quickly.

"I don't want gobbledygook, I just want a straight answer," Dingell said.

Dingell went over the proposed bills section by section. On each one, Barnes conceded his de- partment has no specific objec- tion and approves of the general ob- jectives of both bills.

"You have had better than three years' notice on this legis- lation, have you not?" Dingell insisted.

"Yes, sir," said Barnes.

"... Now you come before us this morning and say you need more time to study the matter."

He added, "You have been hid- ding around... you say let's wait, let's delay. How long does it take to come up with a legis- lative proposal?"

YOUR CHILD MAY HAVE PIN-WORMS

Fidgeting, nose-picking, a sore anal- itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms. A nasty parasite that medical experts say infect 1 out of every 3 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do... and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with danger- ous, highly contagious Pin-Worms which infect entire families. Get Jayne's P-W Vermifuge... small, easy-to-take tablets... special sizes for children and adults.

Greeks Laud Singing Group From U. of M.

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—The English-language Athens News yesterday acclaimed a concert by the touring University of Michigan glee club as a "delightful educational experience."

"It was a real joy to watch and listen to the clean-cut youth of America in their excellent interpretation," the paper said.

"The concert was both enjoyable and educational. The young men built a musical bridge between their nation and those fortunate Greeks who attended."

"There seemed to be a magic carpet during their presentation of slightly over one hour that took us over some regions of the United States as well as enabling the audience to form a visual image of American ways and thoughts."

Fingerprinting Nabs Civil Service Liars

LANSING (UPI) — More than 100 persons who lied about a serious criminal record on their civil service applications were nabbed by fingerprint screening.

State Personnel Director Franklin K. DeWald said 9,810 persons were screened through the commission last year.

He said 528 applicants were rejected because of serious criminal records and about one-fourth of these were discovered by the fingerprint check.

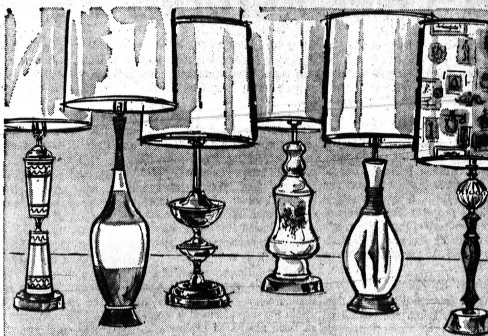

Cosmonette Part of a Long-Range Plan in Space?

JODRELL BANK, England (AP)—A British scientist says the Soviet space woman's venture could be part of a long-range plan to colonize other parts of the solar system.

"It is important to emphasize there is no aspect of a stunt in sending a woman into space," Sir Bernard Lovell, director of England's big radiotelescope, said Monday night.

The plan for colonization could look as far ahead as a quarter-century, he said, and probably would be directed at Mars. Valentina Tereshkova's flight, he said, "is clearly part of a well conceived scientific plan."

Pontiac City Affairs

Set Sewer Bid Date

The City Commission last night set bid-opening dates for a Glenwood sewer construction contract and for the city's 1963-64 vehicle and compensation insurance policies.

In authorizing City Clerk Olga Barkeley to advertise for bids on both items, the commission scheduled bid opening at 2 p.m. July 15 for the construction contract and June 28 for the insurance policies.

It's the second time around for the sewer contract.

Bids received earlier were rejected as too high. The low bid came in about $17,000 over the estimated $26,000 cost to reconstruct the sewer.

Commissioners decided to try again. Last week the city accepted a $13,000 federal public works acceleration program grant for the sewer, which would be half the estimated cost.

The fleet insurance covers public liability and property damage claims involving city vehicles. The workmen's compensation coverage applies only to waste collection and disposal employees.

OKAY CHANGE

In a move to assure legality of constructing a school district maintenance and service building on Perry Park property, commissioners agreed a change in the 1961 Pontiac General Development Plan.

The approved resolution would change the proposed use of the parcel in the master plan from recreational to service or public facilities.

The site at North Saginaw and Montclair was acquired by the Pontiac School Board earlier this year.

In other business, commissioners tentatively approved rezoning three residential lots east of 101 E. Columbia to commercial use.

The planning commission had been deadlocked in a 4-4 vote on the request at its June 5 meeting. The owner had originally requested the zoning change in February.

It was denied then because the owner had no plans or drawings of a proposed commercial use for the lots.

His second request was accompanied by plans for an auto body repair shop on the site. It was protested last night by several nearby property owners who objected to the proposed use.

TO PREPARE ORDINANCE

An ordinance to rezone the lots will be prepared for introduction, public hearing and final adoption at future commission meetings.

Cost estimates for proposed construction of a sanitary sewer on Rockwell, Bagley to the Clinton River, and curb and gutter replacement on Franklin Boulevard, Orchard Lake Avenue to West Huron, were accepted.

Total cost of the sewer is estimated at $3,174, with $2,232 coming from special assessments to property owners, $288 for sewer stubs, and $654 the city's share.

The curb project, covering all of the west side and only part of the east side of Franklin, is estimated to cost $15,920, with $4,338 paid by special assessments and $9,584.62 by the city.

Public hearings will be held July 2 on plans for both projects.

Commissioners approved a lease with Joseph J. Miller for a lot in the T-Hangar area at Pontiac Municipal Airport. Miller will pay $120 annually to rent the parcel.

Deeds were formally accepted for property the city has acquired in the new R20 urban renewal plat and future installation of a water main and widening of Oakland Avenue in Dixie Highway Subdivision.

SUPPORT RESOLUTION

Commissioners also voted unanimously to support a resolution.

Actress, Hubby Try Year's Separation

HOLLYWOOD — Wealthy actress Dina Merrill is embarking on a year-long trial separation from her husband, Stanley M. Rumbough Jr., of New York, a spokesman said yesterday.

Miss Merrill, who inherited a fortune from her grandfather, Charles Post, said that at the end of the year the couple's marital situation will be reviewed, but there is no thought of a divorce at this time.

The couple has three children, Lee, 16, David, 13, and Nina, 10. Rumbough is prominent in New York society.

at the request of the City of Dearborn, asking the U.S. Postal Service to issue a stamp next month commemorating the late Henry Ford.

City Attorney William A. Ewart reported that proceedings under state statutes in the case of Policeman John Bridgewater had been withdrawn at Bridgewater's request.

Under the Veteran's Preference Act, legal proceedings against a war veteran may be heard under city charter provisions and the state law.

The city initiated action under the city charter recently, charging Bridgewater with misconduct. He was suspended for three months and put on a two-year probation by the police trial board.

He then withdrew his request for a court hearing.

Had he not withdrawn his request for a court hearing, Ewart would have been placed in the awkward position of defending, in court, the man he had "prosecuted" in the trial board hearing.

Balloon Corps Vets Set Saturday Picnic

Few in number but copious memories, a group of World War I balloon men will gather Saturday in Independence Township to reminisce about bygone days.

Peter B. Simler, 7670 Phelan, will be host to the annual picnic of Detroit Bed 6 of the National Association of American Balloon Corps Veterans at his home on Deer Lake. Simler is Bed 6 commander.

A dozen or so vets from around the state, along with their wives, are expected for the 2 p.m. reunion of those who handled captive balloons in the Army, Navy or air service during the First World War.

Once numbering 15,000, the NAABCV now has about 1,000 members across the nation. From 40 to 45 of this number represent the Michigan membership.

The vets, ranging in age from 65 up into the 80s, are a close-knit group. But advancing age and illness have resulted in a steady decline in attendance at annual picnics. Appropriately, balloons strung along Dixie Highway will steer the balloon men to the picnic site as they converge on the area Saturday.

2nd-Low Bid Wins Contract

City Awards to A & A Street-Paving Job

For the second consecutive year, the City Commission has awarded the city's annual street-paving contract to the second-lowest bidder.

Commissioners last night accepted a recommendation from City Engineer Joseph E. Neippling that the 1963 paving and resurfacing contracts be awarded to A & A Asphalt Paving Co. of Birmingham.

The contracts are expected to be officially awarded and signed at next week's meeting.

A & A's bid of $91,552.32 for the paving contract was some $12,700 more than Oakland Paving Co. of Berkeley.

LOWEST BID

Oakland's bid, lowest of four bids submitted for street paving, was $78,836.72.

A & A submitted the low bid, $29,873.50 for the resurfacing contract.

Neippling recommended that the Oakland bid for paving be disqualified because "they failed to meet our specifications for the distance asphalt may be hauled." He said that "asphalt must be laid at a proper temperature" in order to get a well paved surface.

"Oakland would have to haul it more than 25 miles from a plant in Northville. With that distance involved, they'd either have to put it on too cool to do a good job or heat it so hot at the plant that it would burn."

The A & A plant is only six miles away in Pontiac Township.

BYPASSED BEFORE

Oakland also was bypassed last year when the Berkeley firm submitted low bids for both contracts but both were awarded to A & A.

However, last year the engineer's recommendation favored Oakland. There was a $20,000 difference between the Oakland and A & A bids last year.

Until then, A & A had been low bidder for the contracts for most of the previous 10 years.

A & A's bids for the 1963 paving and resurfacing contracts total $121,425.82, which is still lower than the originally estimated cost of $138,522.

Soviets Get OK for Embassy in Exclusive Area

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union has received permission to build a $2-million embassy in an exclusive section of the Chevy Chase residential area in northwest Washington.

The neighbors were not happy, but the District Board of Zoning Adjustment brushed off their objections that the embassy would draw sightseeing buses, anti-Communist pickets and streams of cars.

The present embassy is in a busy downtown area about four blocks from the White House.

The demand for energy fuels in the nation is expected to triple by the year 2000.

For R20 Improvement

Suggests Contract Award

City Engineer Joseph E. Neippling has recommended that the city award a contract for R20 urban renewal site improvements to Ann Arbor Construction Co. of Ann Arbor.

The contract is expected to be officially awarded by the City Commission at next Tuesday's meeting.

Neippling's recommendation came at last night's City Commission meeting. The Ann Arbor firm submitted a bid of $78,806.75 for the job.

Only other bid was $82,452.06 submitted by A & A Asphalt Paving Co. of Birmingham.

Engineers had originally estimated the work would cost about $80,000.

The contract includes paving new streets, resurfacing existing streets and sidewalk construction and repair.

Also included is storm and sanitary sewer reconstruction. The work is to be done at a half-dozen locations in the R20 area prior to resale of land to developers.

Since 1900, the number of men and women 65 years of age and over has increased 4½ times while the population has not much more than doubled.

X15 Pilot Soars Near Top Flight for Winged Craft

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — X15 pilot Robert Rushworth, preparing for a flight above 50 miles, has rocketed to 223,000 feet at speeds up to 3,600 m.p.h.

The 38-year-old Air Force major made the flight Tuesday despite failure of his altimeter and vertical speed indicator.

He is expected to try for an altitude record in the next two months.

The present record for winged craft—314,750 feet or nearly 60 miles—was set in an X15 last July 17 by Air Force Maj. Robert White.

Arts Council Unit Hosts Guests

Present Third Tea to Promote Concerts

Mrs. John H. Christopher, Lake Orion (left), and Mrs. James S. Moon, Eastway, greeted guests at today's tea given by the Community Arts Council Board for Oakland University Concert series.

The spacious ground of the Stephen M. Du Brul home on Lake George Road offered many spots for guests to enjoy tea. Mrs. George Kimber, Clarkston (center), serves Mrs. Ray Van Wagoner (left) and Mrs. Royce Exline, both of Lake Orion. Mrs. Exline is official hostess of the Arts Council board.

Members of the Community Arts Council Board presented the third in a series of teas today to promote the Oakland University Concert series.

Mrs. Stephen M. DuBrul's home on Lake George Road was opened to women interested in hearing more about the programs to be offered next season.

Guests heard Oakland University Chancellor D. B. Varner and Dr. Lowell Eklund outline 1963-64 concert series offerings. The two are co-chairmen of the Arts Council. They stressed that the objective of the program is to bring world-renowned musicians to the OU campus regularly for benefit of both students and area communities.

COMBINE ATTRACTIONS

This year's selections combine local attractions, such as the Pontiac Symphony, with internationally known artists such as the Vienna Boys' Choir, and Andres Segovia.

Mrs. Edmund L. Windler, chairman of the Arts Council, and Mrs. James S. Moon, program coordinator, said that similar teas will be held throughout Oakland County during the coming months.

Among Wednesday's guests were Lake Orion Mayor Irvine Unger and John Lessiter, Orion Township supervisor. Heading up arrangements for the tea was Mrs. R. J. Van Wagoner assisted by Mrs. George Kimber, Mrs. Martin Parker, Mrs. John Christopher and Mrs. Francis Miller.

Others were Mrs. H. W. Robinson, Mrs. I. J. Gouin and Mrs. Royal Exline, official hostess of the Community Arts Council board.

Co-Op Dinner Held by Service Guild

The Junior Wesleyan Service Guild of Central Methodist Church met Tuesday evening for a cooperative dinner at the home of Eunice Collins, Keego Harbor.

Helen Kinney, Ruby Julian and Mabel Smith presented the program.

Members of Sorority Honored

The entire Xi Pi chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority received the Order of the Rose Degree Tuesday evening. Similarly honored was director and honorary member Adah Shelly.

The presentation ceremony was conducted by Mrs. William Cheal of Xi Alpha Nu chapter. She was assisted by nine members of that group and two from Alpha Omega chapter.

The Order of the Rose is only conferred upon sorority members with 15 years active participation in the organization. Xi Pi chapter was founded in August 1933. Miss Shelly was director of the group at that time.

Following the presentation in the Lake Orion Federal Savings and Loan building, refreshments were served with Mrs. Ralph Price, Xi Pi chapter, presiding. Hostesses for the year's final meeting were Mrs. Willard Stephen and Mrs. Alphonse Fowler.

Marcia Smith Married in Germany

Wed today in St. Christopher's Episcopal Church, Frankfurt, Germany, were Marcia Jewell Smith and Arthur James Bracher.

Breakfast in the Frankfurt Post Officers' Club followed the morning vows spoken before Rev. Karl E. Spatz of St. Augustine's Episcopal Church, Wiesbaden.

Daughter of the Marshall E. Smiths of Edgfield Drive, who attended the ceremony, the bride appeared in white.

MRS. ARTHUR JAMES BRACHER

WEARS PALE BLUE

Nora Hoffman of Letart, W. Va., maid of honor, wore pale blue taffeta overlaid with white-on-white embroidery, and a short blue veil.

Charles Old of Mansfield, Ohio, was best man for the bridegroom, son of Mrs. Arthur J. Bracher, Seattle, Wash., and the late Mr. Bracher. David Halbert, Lumberport, W. Va., and De-trotter Charles McCarthy were ushers.

The new Mrs. Bracher is an alumna of Western Michigan University and her husband attended University of Washington. After six weeks' travel in Europe, they will visit her parents here, en route to Seattle where they will live.

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: The letter signed "SMART TOO LATE" interested me. Here is a boy who urges other young people not to wait until their last semester of high school before buckling down to study.

He uses himself as an example

because he had just received the shock of having been turned down by the college of his choice.

What gives a person who has failed the authority to lecture to others on the subject?

MRS. JONES

DEAR MRS. JONES: A winner is obviously in a position to give advice, and many will listen. But nobody can inspire a drunk to sober up like an ex-drunk who has been able to do it himself.

Wedding Vows Said in St. Michael's Church

A reception in the American Legion Hall, Auburn Heights, followed the recent morning vows of Mary Lou Teets and James E. Fox in St. Michael's Church.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Teets of Shimmons, wore white peau de soie taffeta trimmed with pearls and chipped crystals, ending in a chapel train. Her silk illusion veil fell from a crown of pearls.

Barbara Fox, sister of the bridegroom, served as honor attendant. Mrs. Robert O'Neill was bridesmaid. Both wore floor-length gowns of lavender chiffon over peau de soie taffeta and carried cascades of carnations tipped in lavender.

Eddie Reid was best man for the bridegroom of Elizabeth Lake Road, son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Fox of Cooks. The bride's brothers, James and Donald Teets ushered with Duane Fox, the bridegroom's cousin.

MRS. JAMES E. FOX

Della Teets was flower girl for her sister, and Loren Fox, brother of the bridegroom, was ring bearer.

The couple will reside on Shimmons.

DEAR ABBY: My son is 17 and wants to get a driver's license. He drives all right, so that's not the problem.

You see, he was born in March, and I didn't get married until May of the same year.

I don't want to give him his birth certificate with that information on it. He says he needs his birth certificate to get his driver's license. What should I do?

WORRIED MOM

DEAR WORRIED: You do not say whether you married the boy's father, or another man. Your problem involves laws and procedures that differ in different states. In some states birth certificates can be "fixed up" to protect the child and the original sealed. Ask your city or county health department, or the department of vital statistics, for information.

DEAR ABBY: Maybe this problem will sound small and unimportant to you, but it's really got me stumped. After 25 years and three children my husband now says, "I just can't sleep with you any more because you snore."

Now, Abby, do you think he's got somebody else or is snoring enough to make a man sleep alone?

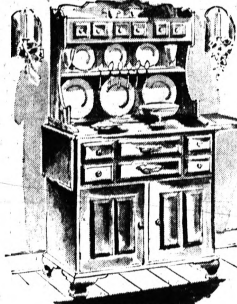

DEAR SNORING: Believe him. Snoring has driven more husbands (and wives!) out of their mates' bedrooms than infidelity.

CONFESSIONAL TO "PATTY'S PIG": Knowledge is the awareness that fire will burn. Wisdom is the blither. Blisters heal. Cheer up, Sister.

Newlyweds Touring Tennessee

The Gary Alan Millers (Carole Eileen Coolman), who were wed by Dr. Wanner H. Brunelle in the Allen Park Presbyterian Church, are honeymooning in Tennessee.

Following the church reception, the bride's parents, the Percy D. Coolmans, were hosts at a family buffet in their Allen Park home.

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton B. Miller Jr., Marie Circle, are parents of the bridegroom.

pearl tiara topped her silk illusion veil and she carried white orchids and carnations.

Douglas Wahlsten, Berkley, was best man. Seating guests were Jerry Hartkopf, Birmingham, Oliver Raymond, Roseville, and Lloyd Utterback.

The couple, who are graduates of Alma College, will live in Rochester.

Why Grow Old?

By JOSEPHINE LOHMAN

It always fascinates me that there are fashions in figures just as there are fashions in clothes. And, I wonder which influences which most. Perhaps both are influenced by the thinking and the general outlook of the time.

I also ponder that old question of whether women dress for women or for men. At any rate, so far this spring, none of the new feminine fashions seem destined to raise the ire of men as the sack and the trapeze did a few seasons ago. This year they are good looking and not very offbeat.

I recently ran across a very old issue of "Godey's Lady's Book," the popular fashion magazine of its day. I am sure it will amuse you to know that in 1859 men were ready to find something to carp about in women's fashions.

WEIRD FASHIONS

A male resident of New York state wrote to the editor of Godey's complimenting the magazine on its excellent fiction and home service departments but blasting it for perpetrating weird and uncomfortable fashions upon hapless females. The editor answered:

"We do not invent fashions or lead them; we only select and report the newest, the best and the most becoming. If the gentleman understands women's nature he must be aware that no decree of Napoleon the Third, despot though he be, nor command of Alexander, czar of all the Russians, nor even the opinion of Louis A. Godey, publisher, would make any lady take off her hoops one day before fashion decreed it."

Somebody had our number back then! At this point the editor inserted a drawing sent him by the complaining gentleman. The lady in the drawing was dressed as this man felt that rational clothes should be; in a plain, loose, calf-length dress with no waistline and a high round neck. In fact this was an almost clairvoyant representation of our present chemise dress.

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

"Dear Eunice,

"I have been looking at ready-made bridesmaid dresses, even though I hope to make my daughter's, and some of the ones made of sheer fabrics have a double sleeve with no hem. This is such a neat-looking sleeve that I am wondering if I can't make mine like this?"

Mrs. R. A. F.

Dear Mrs. R. A. F.:

A double sleeve often is found in sheer fabrics because it does eliminate the hem. It is simple to make. Check the exact length you want the finished sleeve to be. Fold the sleeve pattern to this length. Lay this fold on the fold of the doubled fabric (keep the grain line the same as marked on pattern). Thus you cut out both thicknesses.

Stitch the underarm layers and press the sleeve on the lower fold line. Baste the two layers of the sleeve fabric together at the cap of the sleeve and proceed as if there were only one layer of fabric.

Many times an embroidered medallion or beading is placed on the under side of the fabric and, if your fabric is sheer, it gives a different, subtle detail that is fascinating.

"I have just finished a sweater and would like to line it. Is there an easy way to cut the lining?"

A sewing fan who has the "knitting bug"

One of the easiest ways to cut the lining for a sweater, is to cut lining for each section after the sweater has been blocked, before sewing the sweater together. Add a little extra for ease and for the seam allowances.

If your sweater has a ribbing at the edge of the sleeves and along the bottom, you must ease the lining without stretching.

The lining should give the same way the sweater will.

Many sweaters are lined in a very fine silk or chiffon and most of them are not lined throughout the sleeves. Just finish the armholes with a tiny rolled hem. (linings are a matter of choice).

"Dear Eunice,

"HELP! Please come to my rescue? My closet is full of clothes with holes and puckers where there should be a nice gusset.

"Just the thought of a 'gusset' sends cold chills through me.

"I'm sure they are the devil's own invention, but it seems they are here to stay, so please tell us how to make them the right way."

Mrs. F. F. C.

From the many, many letters I have received about gussets and gusset details, I know your problem is a common one. Because these instructions are very detailed, I have written a new leaflet called "The Secret of Gussets."

You may obtain your copy by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10 cents to Sew Simple, in care of The Pontiac Press. You'll treasure it!

"Dear Eunice,

"My dress has a separate band for the front trimming and the buttonholes are made in this seam. Do I make round buttonholes just like any other dress? They are made vertical instead of horizontal."

Mrs. E. E. N.

Whenever buttonholes appear in any kind of a seam, they are usually not made as bound buttonholes.

In most cases you machine stitch the seam to the end of the buttonhole, secure the stitching again and skip to the end of the buttonhole, secure the stitching again and continue machine stitching to the beginning of the next one.

You will have slits that will appear as folds because the seam was pressed open. If you wish, you can machine stitch 1/8 inch each side of the fold to simulate a buttonhole, but a personally prefer mine unstitched.

For those summer fun clothes, don't forget colorful designs, monograms, etc., are easily and so very effectively applied with press-on adhesive fabric.

Please send me your sewing problems and I'll try to solve them. Send today for your copy of "The Secret of Gussets." Send 10 cents as a self-addressed stamped envelope to Sew Simple, in care of The Pontiac Press.

Blossoms Deck Altar for Wedding Ceremony

White carnations graced the altar of the Columbia Avenue Baptist Church for the wedding of Sandra Darlene Lockwood and Larry Wayne Tate. Rev. Fred Hubbs of Detroit, uncle of the bride, and Rev. E. Clay Polk, pastor of the church, officiated.

A finger-tip silk illusion bouffant veil of imported silk was held by a crown of pearl, crystal and imported orange blossoms and complemented the bride's modified Sabrina gown of Rochelle lace with sequin trim.

The dress, with fitted bodice and tapered sleeves, ended in a chapel train.

The bride carried white carnations with white ribbon streamers. Mrs. David Hanout of Flint, cousin of the bride, served as honor attendant. She wore a lavender taffeta sheath with a nylon tulle overskirt and carried lavender-tipped carnations.

Serving his brother as best man was Lemuel Tate. Ushers were Don Ruffner, Drayton Plains, and George Ratledge of Pontiac. Junior usher was Bob Tondt, nephew of the bridegroom.

The newlyweds will reside in Pontiac.

Scholle Won't Withdraw Case Against Districting

LANSING (AP) — August Scholle, president of the state AFL-CIO, was on record today against the present apportionment plan of the State Senate.

The case, first introduced in 1959 and now pending before the U. S. Supreme Court, challenges the Senate districts established by a 1952 amendment to the state constitution.

Scholle charged the districts violated the 14th Amendment to the U. S. Constitution by denying citizens equal protection of the laws because of wide disparities in district populations.

The U. S. Supreme Court had asked participants in the suit whether they considered the question most because of the passage of the state's new constitution, which would redistrict the Senate with 80 per cent emphasis on population and 20 per cent on area.

"We do not consider the case moot," said Scholle. "The situation for which we went to court is still in effect, and it is not greatly improved by the new constitution."

The labor leader noted that the new constitution would change the present districts, but said the important issue was still before the court.

That issue, he said, is whether the State Supreme Court's order to reapportion the Senate on a strict population basis is to be upheld.

The state court ordered immediate redistricting last July, but a stay of execution by U. S. Justice Potter Stewart prevented the order from taking effect until the U. S. court had heard the case.

Wisconsin Senate Gets GOP Redistricting Bill
MADISON, Wis. (UPI) — The State Assembly yesterday passed a Republican-sponsored legislative reapportionment bill and sent it to the Senate for concurrence on minor amendments.

It was similar to a bill vetoed last year by Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., then governor, because it did not give Milwaukee County more than its present 24 assembly districts.

Quits Post as Head of Italian Party

ROME (AP) — Pietro Nenni resigned last night as head of the Italian Socialist party in an apparent attempt to pressure Communist rebels in his ranks to back a new Christian Democrat government.

Nenni resigned a few hours after Premier-designate Aldo Moro, leader of the Christian Democratic party, abandoned 24 days of trying to forge a new coalition government with Socialist support.

A Socialist party revolt led by pro-communists wrecked Nenni's moves to end the government crisis before President Kennedy's scheduled June 30 arrival.

It also left the 72-year-old Nenni without a majority in the Central Committee of the Socialist party.

Nenni had agreed on a plan of cooperation with Moro's Christian Democrats, the Democratic Socialists and the Republicans.

He was reported furious at the Socialist Central Committee's last minute rejection of his plan Monday night. A dozen other top party leaders resigned with him.

The committee called a meeting today to decide whether to accept Nenni's resignation.

The long-time Socialist leader has quit the party leadership before, and in the past his opponents have always knuckled under to him.

But since the parliamentary elections in April the party's pro-Communist wing has been clamoring for Nenni's ouster and a return to the old alliance with the Communists.

Schooling Cut in Traverse City

Take Action in View of Estimated Deficit

TRAVERSE CITY (AP) — The Traverse City School Board yesterday announced sweeping cuts in academic, athletic, transportation and other programs in the city's public schools next year.

The action was taken in view of an estimated $150,000 deficit. The school board adopted its resolution as the result of a June 10 voter defeat of a proposed 4.1 mill levy for three years to overcome the anticipated operating deficit.

School Supt. William Novak believed, however, that public reaction to the resolution might result in a new referendum on millage before the next school year.

The six-point resolution provided that in 1963-64:

● All school bus operations within and without the school district be suspended. Some 4,800 bus riding pupils are serviced in the district.

● All intercollegiate and recreational athletics and recreational programs be suspended.

● Present vacancies in the teaching staff not be filled.

● Projected textbook changes in elementary grades and supplies for all grades be suspended entirely or curtailed.

● All travel and conferences normally attended by instructors or administrators be held to the barest minimums and be engaged in only after specific approval by the school superintendent. Student vision and hearing test programs also will be suspended.

● The elementary school summer program be eliminated and secondary school summer programs be curtailed.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UPI) — The Illinois House passed a bill yesterday raising the salaries of most elected state officials.

Net Lights for Pay

BALTIMORE (AP) — Wanted—alive, not dead—more than a million fireflies.

This call to adventure for pint-sized Frank Bucks went out yesterday from the McCollum-Pratt Institute of Johns Hopkins University. For hunters without a weapon, the institute will supply the net.

And there is money laid for all who "bring 'em back alive" 10 cents a gram. The institute estimates an intrepid youngster can earn as much as $5 a day.

The fireflies are needed for the institute's continuing study of bioluminescence, the mechanism by which fireflies and other organisms produce their own light.

Dem Helps Frisco for GOP Convention

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Mayor George Christopher announced Tuesday night San Francisco has raised the $650,000 needed to pay the 1964 National Republican Convention's expenses should it come here—thanks to a Democrat hotel man.

The city had pledged $400,000 in its own funds and set out to raise $250,000 more privately.

Christopher said hotelman Benjamin Swig, the Democrat, promised to put up $125,000 at a meeting the full $250,000 was pledged.

Extend Surrender Time in Iraq-Kurd Conflict

CAIRO (UPI) — The Iraqi government has extended the deadline on its surrender ultimatum to Kurdish rebels in Northern Iraq, the semi-official Middle East News Agency (MENA) said today.

Mena, quoting Baghdad Radio, said the deadline next Tuesday had been extended to June 20 "for those rebels who were not informed of the surrender order."

Nearly twice as many fire deaths occur in December and January as in other months.

GI Insurance Brings Queries

Cite the Advantages of Permanent Policy

The Oakland County Veterans Affairs Office has been swamped recently with inquiries regarding GI insurance policies.

A $10,000 life insurance policy that costs $5.50 a month in premiums is generally considered very reasonable.

The small monthly payment is what many veterans holding GI insurance are paying today.

But there is a hooker to the policy.

These payments, according to Oakland County Veterans Affairs Director Floyd Cramer, increase every five years. They become highest when the veteran usually is least able to pay.

KEEP INCREASING
For instance, a 40-year-old veteran who is paying $5.50 a month now will be paying $26 monthly at age 60, and $61.80 when he reaches 70.

"Many veterans ask if there is any advantage to converting to a permanent $10,000 insurance policy," said Cramer. "If they do the premium becomes $21.50 a month and will never go up."

There are approximately six million GI insurance policies presently held by veterans. The face value of the policies is about $40 billion.

Of the policies, five million are held by World War II veterans, 700,000 by Korean veterans, and 300,000 by World War I veterans.

Electronics, a relatively young industry, now employs nearly 20 per cent of the nation's engineers.

Bartlett Says of Legislature

'School Funds Must Be Tackled First'

LANSING (AP) — The problem of financing the state's public instruction schools should be the first item. A spokesman for Gov. George Romney agreed, saying that the legislature this fall, says Lynne more money for school districts was a main aim at the special legislative session slated to begin in September.

Says that Detroit schools are taking this fall in cutting to half-day sessions and curtailing other aspects of their program "are completely intolerable and inexcusable," Bartlett said.

"I know that Detroit is making a valiant effort to meet its problems and minimize the damage to school youth, but it must, as many other communities in Michigan must, have help," he said.

For this reason, the state's school chief said, the first and foremost concern of the State Legislature this fall must be a revision of its tax program to give the schools more support.

"While Detroit has many unique problems," Bartlett said,

"one of which is the recent defeat of the school millage, it is certainly not alone in facing a school crisis."

Communities throughout the state have experienced similar drastic cutbacks in their education programs and immediate action must be taken to provide for the education of today's youth said Bartlett.

"The state's portion of public education has continuously declined," Bartlett said. "While the state paid 52 per cent of the school dollar in 1952, it only pays 38 per cent now. The local taxpayers have had to pay the difference which has led, inevitably, to the severe financial difficulties in which Detroit and other communities are now involved."

Retorted a spokesman for
Gov. Romney, press secretary
Richard Millman:

"Broader revenue basics for local governments, especially for school districts, is one of the chief objectives of our tax reform session this fall. We inherited a problem and have had to live with it, but we hope to solve it."

Democrat Bartlett went outside the field of education in a statement aimed at Republican Romney, calling the Detroit bid for the 1968 Olympics "a gross mockery."

"Just what right do we have to promise millions of dollars to erect a stadium for the Olympics afford to provide physical education for its children?" he asked.

OU Musical to Net Funds for Tutoring

Oakland University students will stage a musical benefit at 6 p.m. tomorrow in the Oakland Center to raise funds for a proposed tutorial project for underprivileged children.

As part of the nationwide
Northern Student Movement,
OU students will provide free tutoring for high school students in poor areas.

About 30 Oakland University students have signed up for the summer tutoring program. The project is called Detroit Educational Tutorials.

The benefit will feature folk singing, jazz, readings and similar entertainment. Several faculty members will also take part.

Judge Grants Divorce From 'Animal Gazer'

LONDON (UP) — A Divorce Court judge yesterday advised Mrs. Winifred Rose, 27, not to look at her husband because his "animal gaze" might confuse her.

Judge Percy Lamb then granted her a divorce on grounds of cruelty. "He regarded her as a chattel," he declared.

Public Hearing Slated on a Business Loop

LANSING (UP) — The State Highway Department has announced it will hold a public hearing Thursday to discuss details of a proposed I-675 business loop. Maps and sketches of the proposed $23-million freeway will be on display at the meeting, scheduled for early Thursday morning at Saginaw Arthur Hill High School.

Two U. S. Officials Get Honor College Degrees

City Set to Rezone County-Owned Land

The city is all set to rezone some 24 acres of county-owned property on Oakland as soon as the prospective buyer signs an agreement to pay for his own sewer and water service.

Lloyd Realty Co. of Pontiac has an option on the property bounded by Oakland, Kennet, West Boulevard and the Grand Trunk Western Railroad Belt Line.

The company wants to put an automobile dealership and service garage on the land. This requires rezoning it from residential to manufacturing.

A public hearing was completed last night on an ordinance to rezone the parcel, but final approval was deferred by the City Commission until the agreement is signed.

The land is now unserved by sewer or water lines.

Under the agreement, Lloyd would pay special assessments for the extension of city sewer mains to the property and would drill his own well for a temporary water supply at this time.

Then, at a later date, he would pay for city water lines when they are extended to that area.

Solid-Fuel Minuteman Launched in Pacific

VANDENBURG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—The first solid-fuel Minuteman intercontinental ballistic missile launched under simulated combat conditions was fired down the Pacific Missile Range Tuesday, the Air Force announced.

The missile, launched from an underground silo, was the ninth fired from Vandenberg, said a spokesman. No further details were given.

Mama's Fired Up

Stripped of Success

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—"Crepes Suzette," an aspiring young stripper at Seattle's only burlesque house, found her flame extinguished by her irate mother who jumped on the stage and threatened to spank her.

Mama, in turn, got the hook. It happened last week when Gloria Bledsoe, 18, billing herself as "Crepes Suzette," was trying to make good by starting at the top and working down—shedding raiment.

David Ben-Gurion, retired Israeli statesman, was born in Poland in 1886.

Charges Distortion of Facts on Fallout

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (AP)—A Department of Lands and Forests scientist said in a statement yesterday, officials are "white-washing the truth about atomic fallout."

Dr. Gattward Stehr, of the department's insect laboratory, called for more precautionary measures against radiation.

He was commenting on a recent denial by Dr. P. M. Bird, Canada's Radiation Protection Division chief, that there was a dangerous count of radiation in the Soo district.

Dr. Stehr said high counts of radiation have been found in samples of milk sold in the area.

Members of the first Congress in 1789 had median age of only 44.

Let's talk about Mohair suits

...at Osmun's

Talk about royalty.

The prince of summer suitings has traditionally been Mohair. And with good reason. No other fabric has been quite able to match its regal look and yet remain as downright cool.

The secret?

No secret at all. All you need is the special glossy hair of the Angora goat. It's tough. It's silky. And it's very uncommon. But most important, it can be woven into the lightest, crispest suits under the summer sun: Mohair.

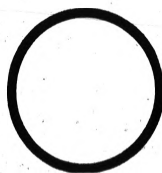

Notice the "can be." Not everyone is capable of getting everything out of Mohair that Nature put into it. It takes skill . . . and lots of experience.

For over 30 years we at Osmun's have been fortunate to have one of Michigan's largest collections of fine Mohair suits from America's finest houses. You'll find rich solid shades and subtle self-stripes and plaids. The styling is perfection. Our tailors perfectionists.

Come into Osmun's and see our big selection of Mohairs in 1-2- and 3-button styles.

In Maryland Town

Hope to Settle Woes

CAMBRIDGE, Md. (UPI) — Negro leaders renounced demonstrations today and said that "for the first time" they had hopes of settling their problems in this troubled fishing town.

They called off a planned demonstration last night after getting word from the Justice Department that work on their grievances was "well under way."

Mrs. Gloria Richardson, head of the Cambridge Nonviolent Action Committee, said, "there will be no demonstrations — period."

After returning with other representatives of the Negro community from a meeting with Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy in Washington, she said that because of discussions at the Justice Department, "we strongly feel that progress is being made."

'REPORT' MEETING
The Negroes scheduled another rally tonight and called it a "progress report" meeting.

"We are for the first time hopeful that the problems will be settled by the people of Cambridge," Mrs. Richardson said.

The Negroes refused to comment specifically on what was said in their meeting with Kennedy. Burke Marshall, the Justice Department's civil rights chief, promised the Negroes Monday that the government would intervene as a mediator if necessary.

Violence broke out in the Chesapeake Bay city last week when Negroes protested against segregation, and Gov. J. Milford Tawes sent the National Guard in at the request of city officials. There has been virtual martial law since Friday.

There was no indication whether the town's white leaders had been in touch with the Justice Department.

The Negroes called off their demonstration last night less than three hours from the time they had vowed to march in the streets despite a military ban on such demonstrations.

The Negro community was informed of the new development by a sound truck moving through their district.

HAD PLANNED CURFEW
It was learned that Gen. George C. Gelston, Maryland's assistant adjutant general, has planned to order a 7 p.m. curfew and block all approaches to the city.

Another battalion of National Guardsmen moved into the town yesterday, briefly swelling the number of troops present to to 800. But the first battalion to enter Cambridge was due to leave today bringing the total back to 400.

The Negroes want fast and full desegregation of public schools, restaurants and other public facilities.

Set Protest at Meeting of Doctors

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — A small group of white and Negro doctors planned to picket the American Medical Association convention today in an effort to prod the organization into taking a strong stand against racial segregation in medicine and health services.

The group, calling itself the Medical Committee for Civil Rights of New York, expected to have about 35 doctors on the boardwalk to picket the medical association's headquarters, according to Dr. John L. F. Holloman Jr., co-coordinator of the committee.

Holloman said yesterday the group's action was prompted by refusal of the AMA's officers "to exert their authority in integrating hospitals and clinics everywhere, especially in the South."

The committee sent two letters to Dr. George P. Fister, AMA president, asking that the organization "speak out immediately and unequivocally against racial segregation and discrimination," said Holloman, who identified himself as a general practitioner in New York City.

A spokesman for the AMA Board of Trustees said the letter never was received officially.

The board, however, issued a statement saying: "The American Medical Association by action of its house of delegates, has a long standing policy of nondiscrimination for membership in the association and constituent societies."

Holloman replied that the Medical committee was not asking the AMA to clean its own house, but to exert its influence to end discrimination in hospitals and clinics.

The medical committee, formed 11 days ago, has a temporary structure of officers that includes seven whites and four Negroes, Holloman said.

cities, better housing and equal job opportunities.

City officials have offered desegregation of public facilities in return for a year-long moratorium on demonstrations, but the Negroes rejected this offer.

N. C. Governor Enters Unrest

To Take Leading Role in Race Negotiations

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Gov. Terry Sanford stepped into North Carolina's prolonged racial unrest last night and let it be known he will take a leading role in future negotiations over grievances.

Sanford asked Negro leaders from across the state to meet him here next Tuesday to talk over their problems and aspirations.

He said mass demonstrations that have occurred in many rural cities should stop and segregation grievances be placed on the negotiation table.

Sanford, until now, had refrained from entering openly the statewide dispute over segregated facilities of public accommodation.

In a special television message last night, he told the Negro leaders, "We have had sufficient demonstrations. I cannot and will not allow the situation to degenerate to the point of mob against mob, citizen against citizen, force against force. Further mass demonstrations breed disorder, endanger lives, establish animosity and serve no good purpose."

He appointed Capus Waynick, former U.S. ambassador to two Latin American countries, as his liaison with mayors of cities with racial problems.

Waynick worked out an acceptable plan of desegregation in High Point, where he lives in retirement.

Before Sanford spoke, a cafeteria in Greensboro, long the focal point for anti-segregation demonstrations, lowered its color bar for the first time and served three Negro men.

Evers Killer Manhunt Continues

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Who killed Medgar Evers?

The police say they don't know. Angry Negroes would like to know. The entire city has been set on edge.

Chief of detectives M. B. Pierce, heading the investigation, has clamped tight silence on exactly how close police are to solution.

"Now let's don't tell this killer too much," Pierce said, fending off reporters' questions.

TYPICAL METHOD
It was typical of Pierce's method: silence, or near that, until a suspect was charged.

"We have every available man working on the case. We will find the killer," Pierce said today, a week after the murder.

Jackson FBI agents have been working hard — in glove with Pierce's men.

FBI agents elsewhere have been assigned to seek the killer of the state field secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

In Washington, the FBI examined evidence and returned it to Pierce.

Evidence consists of a World War I 38-06 Enfield bolt action rifle, a new Japanese telescopic sight fitted to the rifle with English screws, a fingerprint on the scope and the bullet.

FOUND IN THICKET

Sixteen detective have been assigned to trace the rifle — discovered in a honeysuckle thicket about 200 feet from where the soft-nosed bullet pierced Evers' back.

The rifle was discovered in mid-morning about 10 hours after the fatal shot was fired, jammed under the thicket. An empty cartridge case was in the chamber, with six live rounds in a clip beneath.

The FBI has returned a report on the evidence, but following his policy of secrecy, Pierce has not made it public.

Pierce said gunsmiths over the nation are being checked by the FBI, but the man who attached the scope has not been found.

About 100 persons have been questioned and suspects have been taken into custody and released. But still, no killer. The city has offered $5,000 reward for the Evers murder.

Race Demonstrators Leave Ohio Capitol

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes' office was clear of demonstrators today for the first time since Monday, but there was no indication how long it would remain that way.

A group of youthful members of the Congress of Racial Equality left the office shortly before midnight last night after lying on the floor of the outer office for about nine hours.

Their protest, like other recent kneel-ins, pray-ins and chain-ins, was against failure of the House to act on housing legislation. A group of five—one Negro man, three white men and a white girl started the demonstration at midafternoon yesterday.

The governor was in Washington yesterday, but before he left town Monday, he said he did not object to a sit-in by three demonstrators who were then in his office.

Two of the three remained there Monday night, but called off their vigil at 8:45 a.m. yesterday.

The latest demonstrators were Alexander Weathers, the Negro, James Fuller, Neal Mann, Pat Colucci and Robert Nafziger. All put the Colucci girl are from Cleveland. She is from Columbus. All are in their early 20s.

While they were staging the lie-in, the Rev. Bruce Klunder, white minister from Cleveland, took up a vigil seated on the floor of the House of Representatives.

"I'll stay until the (housing) bill comes to a vote, or as long as humanly possible," he said.

About four hours later however, the minister left when told that he did not go voluntarily, he would be carried out. Unauthorized persons are not permitted on the House floor when the lawmakers are in session.

Equipment for Outdoor Meals

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Food Editor
Outdoor meals are fun, but they shouldn't mean more work for Mom. Now, at the start of the summer, is the time to organize your equipment.

There are several ways you can do this. You can have a complete set of silver and dishes in a spot easily accessible to your patio or backyard. Or you can use trays or baskets to carry your regular table service outside.

One national manufacturer has come up with a 'silverware server' which both stores and totes the silver. You can put it on the serving table if your picnic is buffet style and let everyone help himself.

There are several types of tongs that help turn or hold food. There's a new can opener that puts two holes in the can top at one time.

We went snooping in a few local stores this week to see what some of the available gadgets for outdoor meals are.

Foam ice chests and refrigerators have certainly made life lighter. Our old picnic refrigerator weighs more than the food we put in it. The new ones are almost weightless.

Some of their other advantages are that they never rust, never collect odors and — we add from unhappy past experience — don't put a hole in your leg if you bump into them.

There are little clamps that hold a cloth on the picnic table in spite of wind.

Paper plates and cups have improved immeasurably. In time

NEW HOUSEWARES — Roast Carving Grip (on chicken) steadies chicken for carving; a large capacity Salt and Pepper Shaker (on bricks) holds both salt and pepper, shaker top closes tight for travel and for protection against summer humidity; Serving Jars for relish and mustard travel from refrigerator to terrace table; 2-Hole Can Tapper punches 2 holes with one motion; Grip Turner (with hamburger) holds foods firmly for turning and serving; Silver Self Server stores silver and doubles as self service caddy; Tongs (with corn), like Roast Carving Grip and Turner, comes with a switch lock that holds tongs together for storage.

past you sometimes picked up a piece of the paper plate with your last bite of hamburger.

Modern paper plates have a plastic-like coating that prevents this. You might like the divided plates if you don't want your food all mixed together.

If you are a young couple just starting out, be very choosy about what you buy for outdoor eating. It is so easy to fall prey to the over-zealous salesman and buy more than you need. Keep your equipment simple, adding only what you feel a definite need for. Your food will taste just as good.

Here's an unusual meat dish to try on your barbecue grill.

Deviled Flank Kebabs
2 1/2 pounds flank steak
4 1/2 oz. can deviled ham
1 teaspoon Kitchen Bouquet
1/2 cup catsup
1 tablespoon salad oil
Spread inside surface of steak with thin layer of deviled ham. Roll up lengthwise and fasten if necessary. Cut into 1-inch thick slices with a sharp knife. Slip onto long skewers, piercing lengthwise.

Combine Kitchen Bouquet, catsup and oil. Brush both sides of kebabs generously. Broil on outdoor grill, 5 minutes on each side. Makes 12 slices or 6 servings.

Honey Butter Is Good on Breakfast Pancakes

Are the members of your family pancake buffs? Then they'll probably enjoy a change from the usual syrup topping.

Combine liquid honey with an equal portion of butter and store in a tightly covered container in the refrigerator. Let the mixture soften a bit at room temperature before serving.

FREE PARKING

Plenty of Free Parking Lots for Your Shopping Convenience

There are about 6000 parking spaces in Downtown Pontiac.

Most of them are now FREE for shoppers.

Some however continue to be operated commercially and in these lots a modest charge is made for parking.

Downtown Park and Shop Inc. is still continuing to offer stamps which when affixed to your parking claim check pay all or part of this charge.

We are happy to do it because we want you to come downtown often . . . and thanks for coming.

JFK Counting on Europe Trip to Patch Up Atlantic Alliance

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy is counting on his 10-day swing around Western Europe, beginning next weekend, to shore up the battered Atlantic alliance by strengthening ties between several key allied countries and the United States.

Beyond the nations he actually visits Kennedy hopes his personal presence on the Continent and statements on U.S.-European policy will dramatize the extent of this country's defense commitments to the allies.

Officials said today that the President will put heavy emphasis in one or more of his public statements on U.S. determination to participate in the defense of Western Europe and the beleaguered city of West Berlin.

The point is considered important because of uncertainties created in Western Europe during the past six months by French President Charles de Gaulle's insistence that the continental powers need their own means of nuclear deterrence. He claimed they could not always be sure of U.S. aid in a crisis.

NO 'FIST SHAKING'

Whatever the President says on this point, however, officials declared, will be free of "fist shaking" because he is determined to stick to the spirit of last week's speech at American University here in which he appealed for a lessening of cold war tensions and

Eye Industry, Reserve Units for Astronauts

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Aeronautics and Space Administration turned its quest for new astronaut volunteers toward military reserve groups and industrial firms today.

Confronted with a July 1 deadline for nominations for the 10 to 15 new astronauts to be appointed by next October, NASA invited the commanding officers of Air National Guard units in every state and heads of various reserve organizations to submit names of qualified potential candidates.

NASA also sent letters inviting similar suggestions to professional groups and other organizations throughout the United States and to major aerospace companies.

The military services previously had been invited to submit their own lists of candidates.

The new astronauts will join the 16 already selected in training for two-man Gemini earth-orbital flights starting possibly late next year, and for three-man Apollo lunar missions planned before the end of the decade.

Jaguars, among the fiercest beasts of prey, are noted for their loud roar.

There have been many suggestions that in view of the political turmoil in Italy, the Profumo scandal in Britain and the prospective change of leadership in West Germany, that the President should cancel or postpone his European trip. But apparently he and his chief advisers have been determined from the first to go through with it.

Officials said that a time of transition in Europe is from the President's point of view a good time to make the trip and talk with men who will have power in the future. They also argued that a cancellation would have meant a blow to U.S. prestige at a critical time.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said Tuesday the American people ought to be told what Kennedy's purposes are in going to Europe. Administration officials said they had no indication that he would make a pre-departure speech. The probability is that when he returns he will broadcast to the nation a report on his tour and his talks with allied leaders.

The President will visit West Germany, Ireland, Britain and Italy. He is scheduled to fly from Andrews Air Force Base Saturday evening direct to West Germany's Bonn-Cologne airport, where he is due Sunday morning. He has scheduled a news conference in Bonn late Monday afternoon and a major address in Frankfurt Tuesday afternoon.

STOPS AT WALL

In West Berlin on Wednesday Kennedy will make three brief addresses and make two stops at the Berlin wall which divides the Western city from Communist East Berlin.

In West Germany Kennedy will confer with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, who is due to retire this fall, and with Vice Chancellor Ludwig Erhard, also a Christian Democrat, who is scheduled to succeed Adenauer. He also will talk with Willy Brandt, the Social Democratic mayor of West Berlin.

In England, Kennedy plans a working visit with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan at Macmillan's home outside London where the President will stop overnight on June 29, following his visit to Ireland.

His principal diplomatic problem for discussion with Macmillan is the policy to be followed by the United States and Britain in the mid-July conference with the Soviet Union in Moscow on a nuclear test ban.

Details of the trip to Italy, at the end of the tour, are uncertain. Kennedy officially will be visiting northern Italy in the Milan area. Pope has been chosen by the time he gets to Italy at the end of June, the President is expected to go to Rome. Otherwise, in view of the continuing crisis over selection of a new Italian government, he probably will stop only in northern Italy in the Milan area.

Costly Greeting

Happy (Ulp!) Anniversary

LONDON, Ont. (P) — Ronald Trachy's anniversary present to his wife yesterday was an advertisement in the London Free Press saying:

"I, Ronald Trachy, hereby accept responsibility for all debts incurred by my loving wife, Mariene. I do this in return for the eight wonderful years of marriage we have shared together, and for the three healthy children she has given me, David, Sandra and Mark."

His wife's reaction:

"I'm going to open charge accounts all over town."

Okay Revamp of Reserve Plan

Would Hike Hitch
From 6 to 18 Months

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Armed Services Committee yesterday unanimously approved a major revamping of the so-called six-month military training program and extended the maximum service to 18 months.

The legislation, a result of a lengthy inquiry into manpower problems during the call-up of reservists in the Berlin crisis, also would make the program permanent. The present law expires Aug. 1.

As it now stands, such trainees now serve from four to six months on active duty before returning home to their reserve units.

Under the proposed new program, they would serve on active duty for up to 18 months to learn more difficult military skills.

The House group, headed by Rep. Carl Vinson, D-Ga., also approved a bill which would permit the Congressional Medal of Honor and other top decorations for heroism and gallantry to be awarded to Americans in such cold war combat situations at Viet Nam.

During the Berlin crisis, many six-month trainees called to active duty as individual replacements did not possess skills needed by the Army. As a result, a large number of Korean War and two-year draft veterans had to be recalled to duty.

The legislation, sponsored by Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., also would set a uniform six-year reserve obligation for all trainees.

Under present law, those who enlist before becoming 18½ have an eight-year obligation, while those who come in at an older age have a six-year obligation.

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — Lorraine Belinsky, 20, sister of baseball pitcher Bo Belinsky, has been named Miss Trenton (N.J.) in the eliminations for the Miss Universe contest.

Junior Editors Quiz on GEORGE WASHINGTON

QUESTION: Why is George Washington called the "father of his country?"

ANSWER: Washington showed strength of body and mind even as a boy. He liked outdoor activities such as sailing, rowing and sailing. He learned arithmetic, which helped him keep track of his affairs.

He learned how to be civil to people, writing in his note book "Use no reproachful language against any one..." Washington loved the country he was born in; he saw that it's people were determined to have freedom and he determined to help them, knowing that the fight would be long and bitter.

As he took command of the army, everything was confused and uncertain. Washington's strong character brought direction, his courage and faith inspired his soldiers to victory against enormous odds.

After the victory, his devotion to republican principles led him to turn down a suggestion by certain army officers that he become king. He saw the need for a strong constitution and presided as it was created.

Then, as first president, Washington steered the country onto the course which led to its future and our present.

A kind, wise father loves his child and cares and guides him as he grows up. This is what Washington did for the newly born United States, and this is the answer to your question.

FOR YOU TO DO: We all know about Washington the man, but the story of his boyhood is not so well known. See if you can find out more about his interests as a boy. What were the rest of the "Rules for Civility" he wrote about on those sheets of paper which his mother sewed into a note book?

Kremlin Slaps China, Widening Red Split

MOSCOW (AP) — The Kremlin has delivered an unprecedented, stinging rebuke to the Chinese Communists by refusing to publish the latest Peking letter demanding Premier Khrushchev's scalp.

The slap was regarded by some observers as a blunt Soviet invitation to the Chinese to stay away from the conference the Communist giants have scheduled logical differences.

The Soviet Communist party's Central Committee, headed by Khrushchev, said Tuesday night that publication of the Chinese letter would lead only to "further aggravation" of the dispute shaking the Red world.

The 30,000-word Chinese letter had called on the Russians to publish Peking's charges and let "all the Soviet comrades and Soviet people think for themselves and judge who is right and who is wrong." The Chinese pointed out that they had published their opponents' criticisms.

Okay Fund Transfer for Airport Project

LANSING (AP) — The State Administrative Board yesterday approved the transfer of $100,000 in state funds from Flint to Detroit for airport construction.

The board was told that a Flint airport construction program apparently will not be approved by the federal government.

The state money now will go to partially finance a Detroit City Airport project calling for obstruction removal, approach clearing, extension of runways, construction of taxiways and installation of lights.

important requisite in the struggle for socialism."

The committee statement was the first time the Soviets have acknowledged publicly suppression of an important document. The statement noted that both parties had agreed to a truce until after their July 5 meeting in Moscow.

At the same time, the Soviet statement accused the Chinese of distorting issues and denounced Chinese attacks on the Soviet Communist party and parties siding with it.

Actor's Affairs Taken Over

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A lawyer and a bank are assuming responsibility for the personal and financial affairs of ailing actor Edmund Lowe, 73.

Superior Court Judge Clyde C. Triplett named attorney Donald C. Kimber conservator of Lowe's person Tuesday and appointed the Bank of America conservator of his estate.

Attorney Vernon Bettin presented the petition which said Lowe was ill and not able to take care of his own affairs.

U.S. Space Effort Now Shifts to Second Moon Phase

EDITOR'S NOTE — With Project Mercury ended, Howard Benedict, AF correspondent at Cape Canaveral, looks to the future of manned space flights in the last of three articles.

By HOWARD BENEDICT
CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — With Project Mercury officially concluded, the United States now shifts full attention to Project Gemini, the second phase of a plan to land astronauts on the moon before 1970.

Furnished with a mountain of data collected from six Mercury manned space flights—climaxed by Air Force Maj. Leroy Gordon Cooper Jr.'s 22-orbit mission in May—Gemini officials are moving confidently ahead.

Two-man Gemini teams will test many techniques essential for the Apollo lunar landing program. The astronauts will remain in orbit for periods up to two weeks; they will join their spacecraft with another orbiting satellite, and eventually one of the crew is to open the capsule hatch and step outside to see what it's like more than 100 miles above the earth.

Gemini presently is nearly a year behind schedule. This was a major reason space officials declared an end to Project Mercury.

Main reasons for the lag involve technical problems associated with developing a highly sophisticated spacecraft and manning the powerful Titan 2 booster rocket. Shortage of funds, which resulted in elimination of all but essential overtime work several months ago, also has contributed to the delay.

SAME SHAPE

The Gemini spacecraft retains the bell shape of the Mercury capsule, but it will be larger and weigh about 6,000 pounds, twice as much as the earlier vehicle. It will have 50 per cent greater cabin area to accommodate two pilots.

As a result of Mercury experiences, new fuel and power systems have been devised for Gemini and the emphasis will be on pilot control rather than on automatic as in Mercury.

The need for a two-man crew was explained by Gemini official Andre J. Meyer Jr.

"For really extended flight periods, it was considered most desirable to be able to alternate rest periods and generally to lighten the load on one man."

He said two men would simplify rendezvous maneuvers and the exit of one of the pilots into space.

Dr. Stanley White of the Manned Spacecraft Center said the dual pilot arrangement will permit simultaneous medical monitoring of two men and enable the astronauts to use instruments to check one another's condition.

Present schedule calls for an unmanned rocket Gemini capsule to be launched on a brief suborbital flight from Cape Canaveral next December. An unmanned orbital flight of a complete capsule is scheduled for June 1964.

3-DAY FLIGHT

If all goes well, two astronauts—selected from the original seven Mercury pilots and the nine pilots named last fall—will make the first, manned Gemini trip in October 1964. The flight presently is programmed for three days to provide basic data for long-duration flights, but it could be extended.

During 1964, the length of the flights will be increased to a week and then two weeks to gather extensive medical data on the pilots' reaction to prolonged exposure to space weightlessness. The information is needed before man ventures forth to the moon and planets.

When confidence is gained in this maneuver, an Agena satellite will be shot into orbit from Cape Canaveral by an Atlas rocket and the two-man craft will be launched a day or two later to attempt a hookup, probably in late 1965.

ADDITIONAL SUPPLIES

Once the two vehicles have docked, the Gemini astronauts will use the Agena fuel supply and engine to alter course, possibly scooting from their normal 180-mile-high altitude to more than 600 miles into space.

Then the Agena will be jettisoned and Gemini will return to earth. Initial flights will use a Mercury-type parachute system for a water landing. But a wing-like paraglider device is being developed to enable later Gemini craft to maneuver near earth and land like a glider on solid ground.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration has placed a $456.6-million order with the McDonnell Aircraft Co., St. Louis, for 13 Gemini capsules. Under an agreement reached with NASA earlier this year, the Air Force will use some of the capsules to test military applications of man-in-space — including rendezvous with and inspection of suspected hostile satellites, reconnaissance and observation of enemy missile launches.

By 1965, initial earth orbit flights of the Apollo spacecraft will begin to overlap Gemini and by 1967 NASA's participation in Gemini is expected to end.

Then on to the moon, perhaps to a manned landing by 1968.

Tigers No Different Under New Boss

'Chuck' Sees Team Suffer 9-0 Defeat

BOSTON (UPI) — "That's a helluva way to treat a guy on his first time out. Well, I guess it will take a few days to get things straightened out."

Thus Charley Dressen, for 10 years a manager of four different major league clubs, marked his return to the big top when he took over the diving Detroit Tigers last night.

Dressen, with less than 24 hours notice on his shift from a special scout for the Los Angeles Dodgers to successor of the deceased Bob Schefling, saw the Tigers lose, 9-0, in his first game back. "I just didn't treat me very well," the 64-year-old Dressen said. "No, we haven't had a clubhouse meeting yet. But we'll have one pretty quick now. Just give us a few days and we'll get straightened away."

Dressen, who plans to have his first long talk with the team today at a hall, the Tigers rented for the occasion, said the team only missed one sign all night as he managed a small smile. "I'll take time for me to get to know my players."

Dressen knew little about either the Tiger or Red Sox players and passed up the usual pre-game talk on Boston batters. Instead, he took starting pitcher Bill Faul aside and said, "Son, I understand you've pitched against these fellows before."

"That's right," Faul answered. "I understand you've beaten them twice," Dressen said and Faul repeated, "That's right."

"Well, just go out there and do what you did before," Dressen instructed.

Faul, known for his dabbling in hypnotism, did it for six innings before he caved in while the Tigers were looking like the same old Tigers under Bob Schefling. It was Detroit's eighth straight loss and put them 13 games out from .500 and 12½ games out of first.

The Tigers did such customary things as stranding nine runners including leaving the bases loaded in the first inning. Bubba Phillips singled in the fourth inning and was picked off base. Billy Bruton singled in the fifth inning and was thrown out at second trying to stretch it into a double. It was rather true-to-form for the Tigers.

At Kaline even failed to hit as he went 6-for-4 and his batting streak ended at 14 games.

After the game, Dressen said, "We've got a long way to go. I remember a team in this town that was in last place on the Fourth of July and went on to win the pennant."

Dressen was thinking of the 1914 miracle Boston Braves—and it'll take a miracle for the Tigers to go anywhere this season.

Twins Sign Wertz for Pinch Hitting

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Vic Wertz, 38-year-old veteran of 16 major league seasons, was signed by the Minnesota Twins Tuesday night.

Wertz had been working out with the club since his release by the Detroit Tigers. Wertz will be used primarily as a badly-needed left-handed pinch hitter.

The Twins optioned third baseman Jay Ward to Dallas-Fort Worth of the Pacific Coast League.

The Twins also announced signing of Dennis Lortscher, 17-year-old right-handed pitcher from Lake City, Minn. He was assigned to the Twins' farm team at Wytheville, Va., in the Appalachian Rookie League.

'Lip' Decked by Briton

Clay Stops Cooper in 5th

By RICHARD K. O'MALLEY

LONDON (AP)—Cassius Marcellus Clay, the punching prophet, beat Britain's Henry Cooper in the predicted fifth round Tuesday night and silenced a horrified crowd in the fight that Liz Taylor stopped.

As the fifth round opened, a terrible cut over Cooper's left eye pumped blood by the pint over the Wembley Stadium ring.

Cass the Gas flashed remorseless lefts into the unseeing eye.

Liz, there with that other noble Roman Richard Burton, jumped out of her seat and started screaming, "No, no, no."

The crowd, two minutes earlier confident that Clay was finished, took up the cry with a chant of "stop it, stop it." They threw bees.

newspapers into the ring to show that Cooper was done.

Referee Tommy Little stepped in. The crowd sat in silence as he declared Clay the winner on a technical knockout after one minute 15 seconds of the fifth round—exactly 20 seconds earlier than Cassius had forecast.

Thus Clay had pulled off another prophecy. But he was dumped on the seat of his trunks before he did it.

The Louisville Lip, who entered the ring for the scheduled 10-round fight wearing a crown, appeared anything but kingly in the first round when Cooper swarmed over him like a man fighting off "stop it, stop it." They threw bees.

But he straightened out in the second round and the outdoor crowd of 50,000 saw a fast, quick-punching heavyweight. The clown in him was gone when he got in trouble.

AT THE BELL

Cooper caught Clay flush on the chin with a solid left hook and Cass went down heavily for a count of three before the bell at the end of the fourth round. Cass admitted in his dressing room that the punch numbed him but contended he would have been up without the bell.

To ringers watching Cassius in action against Cooper, he appeared extremely fast for a big man, punching rapidly and well and in general looking good. But whether he is ready yet for the ponderous punches of Sonny Liston was a question mark.

Cassius collected a reported $75,000 and Cooper $42,000. The gate was about $280,000.

Clay weighed 207, the heaviest he has been. Cooper came in at 185½.

British sportswriters, long since tired of the talkathon act, handed Clay full marks as a prophet but were less sure of his boxing ability.

Steve Fagan of the Daily Sketch wrote: "For all his three-week screams and threats, Clay looked far from a world beater."

LAUGHING MATTER Peter Wilson of the Daily Mirror thought some of the damage to Cooper's eye was caused by Clay's glove, which tore in the fourth. He added:

"Any suggestion that Clay—fast though he is and clever at blocking and swaying out of range—should be matched with Sonny Liston should be laughed out of the rings of the world."

Cassius Tells World —British Ref Dirty

LONDON (AP) — Cassius Clay, who was filled with admiration for Henry Cooper Tuesday night—but he had an equal bundle of scorn for British referees.

Clay, who took Cooper out in the promised five rounds, bristled angrily in his dressing room about Referee Tommy Little:

"He's a dirty referee, and I'm telling the world. And that's what he is."

Asked if he would fight in Britain again, Cassius replied testily: "Not with a British referee. Not with a dirty referee."

RIGHT PRICE

When asked again, the cash register clanged in his head and he allowed he would fight over here again if the price was right. But then he added:

"But not with a British referee."

He praised Cooper as the toughest man he had ever fought. "He shook me up. He hit me harder than I've ever been hit. Cooper is a great fighter and don't let nobody trick you. That man is a real fighter. And he can sure hit."

Of the knockdown when Cooper decked him with a savage left in the fourth round Cassius said he could have got up but that "I was a little numb. I mean Cooper can hit."

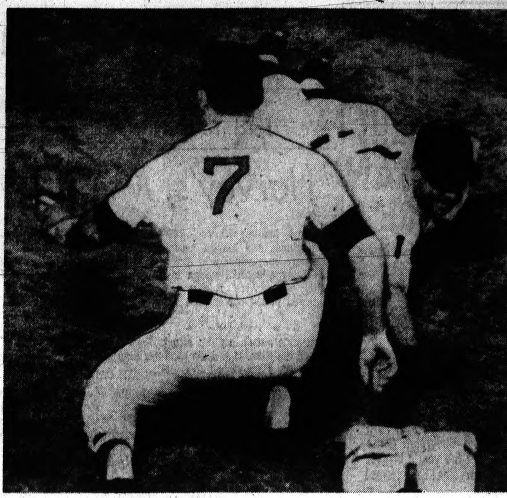

When asked about a fight with Sonny Liston, the world heavyweight champion, Clay said: "The Ugly Bear will fall in eight."

Then someone asked him if he was ready to fight Liston. "If the price is right," he said. Then Jack Nilon, one of Sonny Liston's managers, shouldered through the crowd in Clay's dressing room.

He looked at Clay and said: "We want you."

Clay added: "And the price will be right."

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) —

Burly Jack Nicklaus, a cock-sure youngster with a veteran's savvy, begins his bid for a second straight U. S. Open Championship Thursday and another step in still is considered manageable enough for any of 20 or 30 players to win.

Chances are he'll do it only over the imposing body of one Arnold Palmer.

Another talent-rich field, including Gary Player, Tony Lema, Gene Littler, Julius Boros and Sam Snead, is ready to meet the challenge of the 23-year-old Ohio husky in his attempt to repeat the crusade of the 33-year-old Pennsylvania strong boy who bristles at suggestions he's on the way down.

The course, called The Country Club because tradition recognizes it as "THE first of its kind in America, has come in for a lot of criticism of its condition but enough for any of 20 or 30 players to win.

Nicklaus admittedly isn't playing as well as he did before he won last year's Open in a playoff with Plamer at Oakmont, Pa., or when he dethroned Arnie as Masters champion in April.

ARNIE SHARP Palmer had been away from competition fighting physical and mental weariness for nearly a month before he returned last week and won the $100,000 Thunderbird classic. In practice rounds neither has looked as sharp as he might.

But it's hard to find a knowledgeable regular of this prestige championship who doesn't think that the three days of medal play competition winding up with Saturday's stamina-draining 36 holes will come down to a slugfests match between golf's two heavyweights.

How they feel about each other was never more evident than in an unusual preview of their expected head-to-head battle which came in the annual practice round Tuesday afternoon.

With a little side bet going, Palmer and Player took on Nicklaus and Phil Rodgers in a best-ball tour of the 6,850-yard, par 71 layout.

Lloyd H. Smith of Birmingham scored a hole-in-one yesterday on the 166-yard ninth hole at Stonycroft C.C. Smith nailed his ace with a four-wood and finished with a 47.

Smead Shoots 73 in Seniors Event

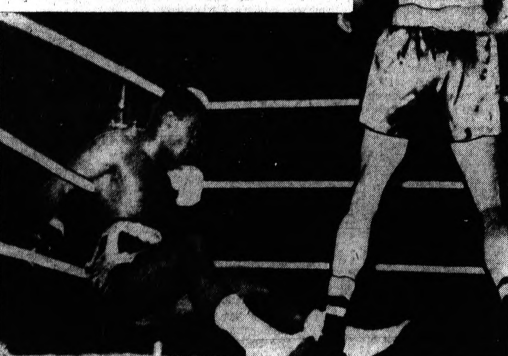

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP) — Llewellyn Smead of Orchard Lake fired a 37-36-73 yesterday and shared fifth place in the first round of the Western Seniors Golf Association tournament.

Smead shares fifth with Bert Bell of Worthington, Ohio in the 15th annual 54-hole medal play tourney for players 55 or older.

Jacob Myers of Bloomington, Ill., and George Dawson of Glen Allen, Ill., were deadlocked for the top spot with 68s.

Ace at Stonycroft

Lloyd H. Smith of Birmingham scored a hole-in-one yesterday on the 166-yard ninth hole at Stonycroft C.C. Smith nailed his ace with a four-wood and finished with a 47.

Wins First Start as Cardinal

Glass Slipper May Fit Burdette

By The Associated Press

Lew Burdette, a reluctant Cinderella who beat the stroke of midnight by a couple of ticks, may find the glass slipper forced on his foot a perfect fit.

Acquired from Milwaukee just before Saturday night's trading deadline, Burdette went right to work for St. Louis and maintained the Cardinals' slim hold on the National League lead by checking the New York Mets 6-2 on six hits Tuesday night.

Burdette, a 36-year-old left-hander, was dispatched to the Cards along with his hefty salary for catcher Gene Oliver and pitcher Bob Sadovskis. The two-time 20-game winner said frankly he would have preferred to stay in Milwaukee.

But Burdette, though reluctant to give up his long time associations with the Braves, may prove the added pitching help St. Louis needs in its drive to nail a NL pennant for the first time since 1946. The Cardinals felt that way when they measured him for the glass slipper.

TWO-OUT HOMER

Burdette responded immediately with a strong performance, blanking the Mets until Tim Lincecum hit a two-run homer with two out in the ninth. He struck out seven and walked only one while boosting his record to 7-5 with his fourth straight victory.

The Cardinals kept the Cardinals one-half game ahead of San Francisco. The Giants took over second place and dropped Los Angeles to third, 1½ games back, by thumping the Dodgers 8-3.

In other games, fourth-place Cincinnati edged Philadelphia 2-1, the Chicago Cubs downed Houston 7-5 and Milwaukee defeated Pittsburgh 7-5 in 10 innings. The Cardinals put it out of the Mets' grasp with five runs in the first inning, making the most of three hits, an error, a balk, aing a leadoff single in a six-run wild pitch, a passed ball and third inning and winding up the three walks to chase starter Carl upspring with a two-run single. Wilkey, now 5-6. Key singles were: That provided more than enough scattered 10 hits for his ninth vic-

THE PALMER METHOD

APPLY CONTROL AT TOP OF BACKSWING

Movement slows down long enough at one point in the swing, so that some control may be consciously applied. That point occurs at the top of the backswing, when the club's direction changes from up to down (see illustration #1).

At the start of the downswing, relax the right wrist as much as possible in order to cut down the tendency to "throw" the clubhead out from the top — uncoupling wrists too soon and wasting stored-up power.

Also, at downswing start, return the right elbow to the side at once (see illustration #2). This prevents the power built up on the left side from tensing or stretching on the backswing. Lose this left-side tension and you will wind up with a weaker-than-used shot.

Harvey's, Martin Win Contests

League leading Harvey's of Colonial House and Martin Associates were easy winners in American League softball action last night, while Arro Realty and Monicatti pulled out one-run victories.

Harvey's put on a 13-hit attack to bury the Elks, 11-0. Fats Keith limited the Elks to just five hits while fanning five. Harvey's big inning came in the fifth when they jumped on Elks hurler Linus Grant for seven runs on six hits, the big blow coming from Tom Stodt who belted a three-run homer.

Perc McConner and Jerry Hughes combined to pitch a four-hitter against 300 Bowl, as Martin Associates won handily, 7-0. Martin's scored twice in the first, third, and seventh innings to beat 300 hurler Dick Vivian.

A triple by Bill Hayward in the top of the seventh scored brother Bud Hayward to give Arro Realty a 4-3 win over Howe's Lanes. The game-winning blast was Martin's third extra-base hit of the evening. Earlier he knocked in three other runs with a triple, and a homer. Harry Avesian blanked Howe's with only six hits while striking out 11.

In the other A contest, Monicatti had a close call in beating Dave's Boys, 2-1. Earl Monroson homered in the fourth with one on to give the winners their margin of victory.

Tim Mayor was the winning pitcher allowing only five hits. Roger Reynolds led the winners to only three hits in a losing cause.

A pair of twinbills are scheduled for this evening. At Beaudette Park, Pontiac Millwork will meet Bud & Lou's at 7 p.m. and Bustner's face Poponea's Mkt. in International League contests. At Northside, Circle Inn plays G & M at 7:00 p.m. and Bob & Larry's meet Local 653 in the nightclub.

Haskins Chevrolet downed Dixie's Hideaway, 6-0, and Dixie Bar came from behind to defeat Lakeland Pharmacy, 11-10 in a pair of Class C games in the Waterford softball league last night.

Dixie Bar rallied in the bottom of the seventh when Don Kelly knocked in the winning run with a one out single. John Mellenbach picked up the win in relief. The win by Haskins placed them within one game of league leading A & W.

Bridges Hurt but New York Keeps Winning

White Sox Fall Game Behind; Cleveland on Rampage

By The Associated Press

Lo, the poor Yankees. They can't seem to survive a game without someone getting banged up. They've got a casualty list as long as the New York telephone book.

The only thing the battered Bombers can do is win.

They won their fifth in a row Tuesday night, with relief pitcher Marshall Bridges injured but banged up. They've got a casualty list as long as the New York telephone book.

The Yankees victory boosted their American League lead to a four-game over the Chicago White Sox, who were clipped by the Minnesota Twins 5-3.

SIXTH STRAIGHT

Cleveland's rampaging Indians took their sixth straight, beating the sagging Baltimore Orioles 7-3 behind Barry Latman's five-hit pitching; Boston's Earl Wilson blanked Detroit 9-0 on a four-hit, spilling Chuck Dressen's desire as Tiger manager; and the Los Angeles Angels got the tie-breaking run on a bases-loaded wild pitch in the 11th inning for a 2-1 decision over Kansas City.

The Yanks, who've had several regulars hurt, suffered their biggest jolt when slugger Stan Mickey broke a double and broke a two-week streak. They promptly went into a three-game losing spin, but have since pulled out handsomely by winning eight of 10.

They lost little time settling matters with the last-place Seattle Mariners in their last six. Tom Tresh and Tony Kubek hit two-run homers as New York built up a 5-0 lead against Tom Cheney in the first two innings and by the fifth it was 9-0. Maris, in addition to homers 10 and 11, also singled.

Whitely Ford started for the Yanks and lasted through the sixth, long enough to gain his ninth victory in 12 decisions and win his lifetime mark against Washington in a 3-2 loss. Larry Odom tagged the stylish southpaw for a two-run homer before Whitely was replaced by Bridges.

The left-handed reliever joined the limping list in the seventh when he was sent sprawling by Osborne in a play at first base. Bridges went to the sidelines with a slightly hurt left knee and Hal Reniff finished up.

Harmon Killebrew's 11th homer and run-producing singles by Vic Power, pitcher Jim Perry and Zola Versalles paced Minnesota to a 4-0 lead and the Twins held on against the White Sox. Perry gave up eight hits and five walks in seven innings but only two runs and J.C. Martin got the other Chicago run with a homer against Twin reliever Bill Daller in the eighth. Joe Horlen was the loser.

FANNED 11

Latman doled out just one Oriole hit through six innings, and struck out 11 over-all. The Tribe backed him with an early offense, scoring in each of the first five innings off loser Dave McNally and reliever Wes Stock for a 7-0 advantage.

Willie Kirkland socked his sixth homer in the last 10 games for the Indians, who have zoomed up to fourth place by winning 16 of their last 18. The Orioles, meanwhile, have dropped 15 of 19.

The 11th Frame

The annual Bowling Proprietors of Michigan, Inc., convention concluded last week at Caberfas Lodge near Cadillac with a rosy outlook.

The largest turnout in recent years heard favorable reports in almost all areas, although individual snipes were taken at perpetual trouble spots.

Probably the biggest news to come out of this year's meetings was the decision to appoint a full-time youth director. Also, the selection of Robert Brogger of Grand Rapids as president of the organization was announced.

Troy's Chuck Walby of the Thunderbolt Lanes was elected vice president.

The new youth director when appointed will work with group's man of many hats, W.W. (Eddie) Edgar, in addition to concentrating on the development of the youth program.

Another area where new emphasis is expected is in the senior citizens' program. Plans call for the establishment of bowling centers as recreation headquarters practically for the senior citizens.

This program has received the endorsement of Gov. George Romney.

REMINDER
A reminder is passed along to bowlers that this would be a good time for an annual eye checkup before the next season starts. It doesn't take much discrepancy in the depth perception or distance judging abilities of our eyes to miss those important spares.

The Bowling Proprietors' Association of America will have its annual meeting (31st convention) next week at the Roosevelt Hotel in New Orleans.

Detroit Bill Williams will be holding the presidential gavel. In line with a new promotional tieup for youth activities with a national cereal concern, the convention will hear Bob Richards of Olympic games fame give the principal address.

The latest release sheet from the Women's International Bowling Congress reports 11 women in the nation's 300 games this past season.

An Allen Park woman, Ma A Sparks, has the fifth highest individual three-game series a 740, and the Schaefer's Bakersies team from Detroit is recognized for the sixth best team game this year, an 1101.

Scheffing Receives Many Job Offers

DETROIT (AP)—The job offers started pouring in as soon as Bob Scheffing was ousted as manager of the Tigers.

"I've had several of them," said the dismissed skipper, grinning broadly as he stepped off a plane from Boston Tuesday night and embracing his wife, Mary.

"He's had all kinds of job offers," said Mrs. Scheffing.

There were only to manager another club.

"I can't say," said Scheffing.

French Student Champ

PARIS (AP)—Patrick Cros, a 20-year-old Paris student, won the French Amateur golf title Tuesday when he beat defending champion Gaetan Mourgue d'Algue, 1-up on the 41st hole, in an all-French final of the international tourney.

U.S. Girls Win in Tennis

LONDON (AP)—The United States team, Darlene Hard, Billie Jean Moffitt and Carole Caldwell ruled as a slight favor against Britain today in the semifinals of the Federation Cup Women's Team Tennis Championships.

Australia played South Africa in the other team semifinal. Each of the four scored 3-0 victories Tuesday, with the United States dropping only 11 games in an easy conquest of The Netherlands.

Miss Hard and Miss Moffitt, both from Long Beach, Calif., won singles matches and Miss Moffitt teamed with Miss Caldwell in a 6-0, 6-3 doubles victory over Mrs. de Jong Duldig and Mrs. Jenny Riddorff.

Miss Hard beat Mrs. de Jong Duldig 6-2, 6-2 in singles and Miss Moffitt stopped Mrs. Riddorff by the same score.

Australia beat Hungary, Britain beat Australia and South Africa beat France in the others.

Meantime an argument raged as to whether a tournament can be made a permanent success.

Clippers Beat Cranbrook to Take Over First Place

The Clippers took over undisputed possession of first place in the Class A city league last night by downing previously unbeaten Cranbrook, 6-4 in the nightclub of a doubleheader.

In the first game, Huron-Airway had an easy time defeating Talbott Lumber, 7-1. The win moved the Airway into third place with a 3-2 record.

A two-run double by Dave Diehm in the bottom of the sixth inning provided the Clippers with their winning margin. Diehm's blast against Clay Williams and Larry Douglas to break the tie.

The Clippers jumped off to a quick one run lead in the first inning without the benefit of a hit. Two walks and an error gave the winners their early margin.

In the third inning the winners scored three times when Cranbrook hurler John Billedeau yielded three hits, the big blow coming from Felix Brooks who doubled home Warren Stephens.

POOR FIELDING
Cranbrook battled back in the fourth when they tied the score on some sloppy Clipper fielding. Cranbrook mustered three hits in the fourth and combined with two Clipper errors knocked the score at four apiece.

Bob Raedler received credit for the victory in relief of Terry Anderson. Raedler came in the sixth with one out and two men on. He pitched his way out of the jam by getting Chuck Heavens to fly out, and then after walking Al Levy fanned Billedeau.

Deer Lake Yields Top Derby Pike

Carl H. Betz, 3615 Covert, Pontiac, received a minnow bucket for a Father's Day gift and, of course, he had to try it out.

At 5 a.m. Sunday he was fishing Deer Lake when a large pike hit one of the minnows. Thirty-five minutes later Betz boated an 11-pound 9-ounce northern.

The 35½-inch fish now leads The Pontiac Press Big Fish Derby's pike division. Betz was fishing alone.

The other leaders remain the same:

Rainbow trout — 4 pounds 7 ounces. Black bass — 5 pounds 9 ounces. Bluegill — 1 pound 3 ounces. Twenty-two Boy Scouts and members of Donelson school nine adults made an eventful 70-mile float trip by canoe on the Manistee River recently.

Jim Nye acted as guide and commander of the four-day trip.

The group camped out along the river on the trip between Grayling and Cadillac, fishing along the way. There were no casualties reported.

Scoutmaster Norman Mack and his assistant, George Newton, were joined by committeemen Rex Lawrence, Jack Londick, Robert Lohff, Leon Sirlin and Bruce J. Amett.

DERBY LEADER — Carl H. Betz, Pontiac, holds the 11-pound 9-ounce northern pike he caught Sunday morning at Deer Lake. The fish is the new leader of The Press Big Fish

Proud Lake Boss Honored

Conservation Group Awards Massini

Alfred G. Massini, manager of Proud Lake recreation area, has received a special award from the District 7 of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs for "outstanding leadership in teaching youth in the conservation and wise use of natural resources."

The plaque presented to Massini is one of several he has received for his work in conservation education with youngsters since becoming manager of the recreation area in 1951.

In 1956, he earned an outstanding service award from the Clinton Valley Council of Boy Scouts, the highest honor given to anyone outside the scouting ranks. Massini also has received other awards from schools which have taken part in the recreation area's outdoor education program.

"The MUCC award is a tribute well deserved by Al Massini," remarked Arthur C. Elmer, chief of the Conservation Department's parks division.

He has made an all-out effort to give youngsters a better, first-hand understanding of conservation through his area's program of outdoor education.

County Maps Ready

LANSING (AP) — New maps of Alcona, Benzie, Grand Traverse, Missaukee and Roscommon Counties now are available without charge, reports the State Conservation Department.

The improved maps show public fishing sites, campground areas, lands open to general hunting and recreational use as well as such regular features as roads, section lines and township names.

BOH Prepares for Big Horse Show

Horses and riders seeking their moments in the sun—literally and figuratively—will converge on the Bloomfield Open Hunt next week. Six days (Tuesday-Sunday) of top riding, jumping and parading both inside and out-of-doors will be offered the public at the established annual Detroit Horse Show.

Some club members are saying the show began more than 50 years ago, others say less. Rumors indicate the Bloomfield Hills club may decide to celebrate its golden anniversary show next year.

But, regardless, this year's show is of prime importance at the moment and indications are it will be another top flight attraction for the equestrian minded.

The entry list is expected to approach 350. Not only will the Midwest be well represented, but the East and South have sent in considerable entries. Included are such names as Man-O-War Farms from Lexington, Ky., the Risin' Creek Farm of Atlanta, Ga., the Fairfield Farms of Fletcher, N.C., plus numerous applications from Toronto.

Making his first appearance will be Mrs. A. C. Randolph of the exclusive Upperville, Va., area who will have five entries at BOH.

20 ENTRIES
Max Bonham of the Battle Creek Hunt Club will have 20 entries and Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Carmichael's Laughlin Place Stables at Niles is sending eight horses.

Bloomfield Open Hunt will be well represented and has top contenders particularly in the equitation events.

Club representatives did very well at the Metamora Hunt Horse Show last weekend, and probably will score again this coming weekend at the Grosse Pointe Horse Show.

Included in the good showings by BOH representatives were those of Katie Monahan, Rick and Allison Cram, Larry Gieske, Robert Lambert, Jr., Donna Brown, Peter and Jane Foley and Linda Brandt.

Pam Evans and Carol Schuster of the Chuck Grant Stables also showed well, as did Penny Crocker and Sue Biddon.

Stealing the show, however, was Mrs. G. J. Graham's Battle Son and Battle Fashion duo. They took the Conformation Hunter Championship and the Regular Working Hunter Championship, respectively.

Mrs. Graham lives in Bloomfield Hills but keeps her mounts at the Metamora club.

Another possible strong contender for honors in the hunter divisions will be How About That ridden by nine-year-old Blythe Davis.

The BOH entrant captured a championship with a first and three seconds at big horse show last weekend in Chicago.

In addition to the daily riding events, the Detroit Horse Show will also feature The Hunt Fair, an exhibition of shopping, booths and carnival of games for entertainment, relaxation and refreshment.

soring this year's affair and will have a special holiday for its students, Saturday, June 22.

Special events in between the competition will include exhibitions by Chuck Grant and his horse Shining Gold, Bud Carrell and Rose (a demonstration of the Australian boomerang and the 12-foot bull whip), the Arabian Horse Troop, the Oakland University Chorus men's octet, and a parade of 1963 cars.

'62 State Deer Harvest 5th Largest in History

Nearly 96,000 deer were harvested by firearm hunters in Michigan last fall, according to the Conservation Department's final estimate.

The figure, fifth highest ever recorded by hunters in this state, is based on returns of the department's annual postcard survey of license-buying sportsmen.

Last season's buck take was 63,300, up nearly 10 per cent from the year before. The state's harvest of antlerless deer totaled 32,510, a figure topped only in 1952 and 1959.

Hunters in the southern Lower Peninsula killed an estimated 5,450 bucks to set a new record for this part of the state where whitetail numbers are increasing about 14 per cent every year. Their 1961 take was 4,080.

Buck kill also rose in the northern Lower Peninsula, from 36,640 based on traffic survey counts.

ONE OF FIVE
About one of every five hunters was successful. Shooting success was 24 per cent in the Upper Peninsula and in the Northern and Southern Lower Peninsula, 22 and 10 per cent, respectively.

The department's final figure on deer kill is about one per cent above its preliminary estimate at the end of the season which was based on traffic survey counts.

Holly Area Projects Beneficial

"Without this road, we would not have been able to put in these two food patches and improved game habitat in this area."

Ed Tucker, state game biologist for Oakland County, made this statement as he watched one of his crews put the finishing touches on a field of buckwheat in the Holly recreation area.

The road he was standing on did not exist a year ago.

The half-mile roadway was part of the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club and County Earth Movers and Excavators Assn. projects in the Holly area in 1962.

Also completed last summer were two water impoundments, several food patches and a large number of brushpiles.

Tucker made the suggestions, the OCSA conservation committee and earth movers combined to carry out the projects at no cost to the state.

"All of the projects helped the wildlife improvement program tremendously," said Tucker whose office is at the Holly area headquarters.

"The road opened some prime hunting territory," he pointed out. "It also let us get our equipment in where we could do the most good in the way of improving habitat."

The road runs east of Dixie Highway (M-54) just north of the Holly ski resort. Corn and buckwheat have been planted, brush piles formed and ground cover improved.

LARGE COTTONWOOD

The road passes what is believed to be the largest cottonwood tree in the state.

A hen bluewing teal could be seen using the one and a half-acre impoundment established by the two organizations west of Ortonville. Tucker also reported seeing mallard and black duck pairs on the pond.

"I also kicked up some woodcock around the edges last week and rabbit sign has improved around brushpiles near the water," Tucker reported. He also said ground had been flushed this summer along the pond's outlet stream.

The initial 1962 project was a half acre pond a half mile northwest of the large one. Tucker believes black ducks nested on this impoundment.

The OCSA and earth movers projects drew state-wide attention. Although no official figures are available, it is estimated that the three major projects saved the Conservation Department's game division over $5,000.

The two organizations are reported to be planning additional work in the Holly area.

The above-mentioned projects are only a small part of the game management program now under way in the Holly and Ortonville recreation areas.

Tucker has his crews busily planting crops and ground cover, making "grouse clearings" in heavily wooded areas and forming brushpiles.

"Last year we had one food patch for every 42 acres in the Holly area," said Tucker. "There will be close to the same number this year."

He reported that hunting pressure doubled in some sections last fall.

Deer in the Holly area are on the increase, grouse are up and the food patches and cover are luring more pheasants. Tucker looks for an improvement in rabbit and waterfowl numbers.

"Hunters can thank the Sportsmen's Club and earth movers for helping improve game conditions," said Tucker. "The three special projects enabled us to move well ahead of our schedule."

The schedule of Solunar Periods, as printed below, has been taken from John Alden Knight's Solunar Tables. Plan your days so that you will be fishing in good territory or hunting in good cover during these times, if you wish to find the best sport that each day has to offer.

The Mirror Cracked

Did Uninvited Guest Have Part in Murder?

By AGATHA CHRISTIE
Instillent XV

"So locally you've drawn a blank?" said Craddock, offering his cigarette case to Frank Cornish. "Completely," said Cornish.

"No enemies, no quarrels, no good terms with her husband?"

"No question of another woman or another man?"

"The other shook his head. 'Nothing of that kind. No hint of scandal anywhere.'"

"She wasn't what you'd call the sexy kind. She was on a lot of committees and things like that and there were some small local rivalries, but nothing beyond that."

"There wasn't anyone else the husband wanted to marry? No one in the office where he worked?"

"He's in Biddle & Russell, the estate agents and valuers."

"There's Florrie West, with a maid, and Miss Grundle, who is at least 50 and as plain as a haystack—nothing much there to excite a man. Though for all that I shouldn't be surprised if he did marry again soon."

Craddock looked interested.

"A neighbor," explained Cornish. "A widow. When I went back with him from the inquest she'd gone in and was making him tea and looking after him generally."

"He seemed surprised and grateful. If you ask me, she's made up her mind to marry him, but he doesn't know it yet, poor chap."

"What sort of a woman is she?"

"Good looking," admitted the other. "Not young but handsome in a gipsy sort of way. High cheekbones, dark eyes."

"What's her name?"

"Bain. Mrs. Bain. Mary Bain. She's a widow."

"What'd her husband do?"

"Sure. Sure. Fire ahead."

Dermot Craddock took advantage of a pause to say: "Thank you very much. You said I might ask questions?"

"Sure. Sure. Fire ahead."

"Is this where she died?"

"Yes, sure. Right here. At least, we actually I can show you the chair."

"What doesn't make our task easier?"

"Of course," said Hailey Preston, "she might have used the stuff herself and taken a dose, and as I say, have an allergy."

Craddock looked unconvinced. Hailey Preston sighed and said: "You're quite definite about the dosage?"

"Oh yes. It was a lethal dose and Mrs. Baddock did not take any such things herself. As far as we can make out the only things she ever took were bicarbonate of soda or aspirin."

Hailey Preston shook his head and said, "That sure gives us a problem."

"When did Mr. Rudd and Miss Gregg receive their guests?"

"Right here," Hailey Preston went to the spot at the top of the stairs.

"What doesn't make our task easier?"

"Of course," said Hailey Preston, "she might have used the stuff herself and taken a dose, and as I say, have an allergy."

Craddock looked unconvinced. Hailey Preston sighed and said: "You're quite definite about the dosage?"

"Oh yes. It was a lethal dose and Mrs. Baddock did not take any such things herself. As far as we can make out the only things she ever took were bicarbonate of soda or aspirin."

Hailey Preston shook his head and said, "That sure gives us a problem."

"When did Mr. Rudd and Miss Gregg receive their guests?"

"Right here," Hailey Preston went to the spot at the top of the stairs.

"What about a Mrs. Banny?"

"Ah yes, she's the former owner of this place, isn't she? I believe she, and Mrs. Baddock and her husband, did come up about the same time."

He paused. "And the Mayor came just about then. He had a short chain on and a wife with low hair, wearing royal blue with little groups of people stood on either side, their eyes upraised to the child."

"One of the more pleasing Madonnas, Dermot Craddock thought."

"To the right and left of this picture were two flower painted, copies of Brueghels, he thought."

"The whole effect was very charming but it seemed to him that there was emphatically nothing there that could cause a woman to look like the Lady of Shalott whose doom had come upon her."

"Jim Galbraith, one of the newspaper boys who was covering this, three of four others, I didn't know."

"There were a couple of photographers—one of the locals, I don't remember his name, and an arty girl from London, who rather specializes in queer angle shots."

"Her camera was set up right in that corner so that she could get a view of Miss Gregg receiving. Ah, now, let me think, I rather fancy that that was when Ardwyck Penn arrived."

"And who is Ardwyck Penn?"

Hailey Preston looked shocked. "He's a big shot, Chief Inspector. A very big shot in the television and moving picture world. We didn't even know he was in this country."

"His turning up was a surprise?"

"I'll say it was," said Mr. Preston. "Nice of him to come and quite unexpected."

"Was he an old friend of Miss Gregg's and Mr. Rudd's?"

"He was a close friend of Marina's a good many years ago when she was married to her second husband. I don't know how well Jason knew him."

"Anyway, it was a pleasant surprise when he arrived?"

Craddock nodded and passed from that to other subjects.

He made meticulous inquiries about the drinks, their ingredients, how they were served, who served them, what servants and hired servants were on duty.

"The answers seemed to be, as Inspector Cornish had already hinted was the case, that although any one of 31 people could have poisoned Heather Baddock with the utmost ease, yet at the same time any one of the 31 might have been seen doing so. It was, Craddock reflected, a big chance to take."

"Thank you," he said at last. "now I would like, if I may, to speak to Miss Marina Gregg."

Hailey Preston shook his head. "I'm sorry," he said, "I really am sorry but that's right out of the question."

Craddock's eyebrows rose. "Surely?"

"She's prostrated. She's absolutely unconscious. She got her physician here looking after her. He wrote out a certificate. I've got it here. I'll show it to you."

Craddock took it and read it. "I see," he said. He asked, "Does Miss Marina Gregg at ways have a physician in attendance?"

"They're very high-strung all these actors and actresses. It's a big strain, this life."

"It's usually considered desirable in the case of the big stars that they should have a physician who understands their constitution and their nerves."

"Maurice Gilchrist has a very big reputation. He's looked after Miss Gregg for many years now. She's had a great deal of illness, as you may have read, in the last few years."

"She was hospitalized for a very long time. It's only about a year ago that she got her strength and health back."

"I see."

Hailey Preston seemed relieved that Craddock was not making any more protests.

"You'll want to see Mr. Rudd?" he suggested. He looked at his watch. "He'll be back from the studio in about 10 minutes if that's all right for you."

"That'll do admirably," said Craddock. "In the meantime is Dr. Maurice Gilchrist actually here in the house?"

"He is."

"Then I'd like to talk to him."

"Why, certainly. I'll fetch him right away."

HURRIES AWAY

The young man bustled away. Dermot Craddock stood thoughtfully at the top of the stairs.

Of course this frozen look on Mrs. Banny had described might have been entirely Mrs. Banny's imagination.

She was, he thought, a woman who would jump to conclusions.

At the same time he thought it quite likely that the conclusion to which she had jumped was a just one.

Without going so far as to look like the Lady of Shalott seeing doom coming upon her, Marina Gregg might have seen something that vexed or annoyed her. Something that caused her to have been negligent to a guest to whom she was talking. Some body had come up those stairs perhaps, who could be described as an unexpected guest, an unwelcome guest?

At the same time he thought it quite likely that the conclusion to which she had jumped was a just one.

Cosmonauts Set Records, Return Safely

Man Goes 82 Orbits; Moscow Radio Lauds First Lady of Space

From Our News Wires
MOSCOW — Russia's blonde, dimple-chinned first lady of space and her male partner returned safely to earth today after setting new records. He chalked up 82 orbits and she 49.

Moscow Radio: gushing out words of praise for both, called space woman Valentina Tereshkova "the girl with the cornflower blue eyes."

She and Lt. Col. Valery Bykovsky landed about 600 miles apart in the Soviet Republic of Kazakhstan, the customary area for return of Soviet space travelers.

Premier Khrushchev proudly announced the successful landing at a meeting of the Communist Party Central Committee. He had just had a telephone talk with Valentina.

"Your voice rings as if you had come from a party," he said to her.

And he added: "She talked with a calm voice without any sign of fatigue." She had been in space just short of three days and Bykovsky just short of five.

FIRST DOWN
Valentina was the first down at 11:20 a.m. (3:20 a.m. Pontiac time). She had tucked her blonde curls under her space helmet and blasted off at 12:30 p.m. last Sunday.

Bykovsky followed Valentina down at 2:06 p.m. (6:06 a.m. Pontiac time). He had taken off at 3 p.m. Friday.

In Washington, an administration official described the Soviet orbital flights as "a significant accomplishment but not the new milestone in space activity which we had expected."

This view was expressed by Dr. Edward C. Welch, executive secretary of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, which advises President Kennedy on U.S. space programs.

Welsh and other American space experts had expected the Russians to attempt either an eight- or day manned flight or a space rendezvous with the docking of two craft in orbit. They accomplished neither.

Preparations already were under way for a gigantic celebration in Moscow with emphasis on the accomplishment of Valentina, already the darling of the Soviet capital.

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and Labor party leader Harold Wilson meet today to arrange a new inquiry into the security aspects of the Profumo scandal and a parliamentary censure of former War Minister John Profumo.

Profumo emerged from 13 days of seclusion with friends. He and his wife, former actress Valerie Hobson, returned to their London home last night as police held back a silent crowd.

It was Profumo's first appearance in public since his admission June 5 that he lied in the House of Commons to cover his relation with Christine Keeler, whose favors he shared with an assistant Soviet naval attaché.

A sweeping bipartisan probe into the security aspects of the scandal was forced on the government Monday by Laborite claims that Christine were not communicated to Macmillan.

SECRET SESSIONS
The House of Commons to investigate, with full powers to call anyone it likes, including the prime minister. Sessions would be secret, but evidence eventually would be published.

The leaders agreed to discuss how to punish Profumo for lying to Parliament. The Labor party has introduced a motion in the House of Commons censuring him for "grave contempt" of the House.

Macmillan remained under relentless pressure to resign and make way for a younger man who could give the demoralized Conservative party a better chance in the general election which must be held by October 1964.

Macmillan would prefer an investigation by a panel of judges. The Labor party has introduced a motion in the House of Commons censuring him for "grave contempt" of the House.

Gov. Romney Finally Gets EMU Report

Nothing Sensational Revealed in Study by Accrediting Agency

From Our News Wires
LANSING — A 18-page report criticizing Eastern Michigan University was in Gov. Romney's hands today — and the door was closed on one of the governor's most heated clashes with Democrats since he took office 5½ months ago.

The four-member, all-Democratic board bowed abruptly to Romney's demand for the "confidential" report yesterday and obtained clearance from the North Central Association (NCA), a school accrediting agency, to make its contents public.

The report itself turned out to contain nothing sinister or sensational.

Instead it was an 18-page recitation of facts board members had recently implied existed or alluded to in their first state-ment issued on the EMU investigation.

president of EMU June 30, 1964, was compiled by a four-man investigating team from the NCA.

Reasons for the board's sudden about-face from a previously adamant position were explained by Board President Chas Magnuson, who said "unforeseen interest generated by... publicity" had prompted the move.

He said the action, however, did not change the board's position on the question of whether Romney has the constitutional power to demand and get a report which the board preferred not to give him.

"The board reasserts its constitutional rights as a separate unit of government to operate without interference from other units of government," said Magnuson. Dr. Lynn Bartlett, superintendent of public instruction, said he hoped disclosure of the NCA report's contents would "end speculation."

Clearly the victor in a battle during which he had hinted he would go as far as possible in legal action against the board — up to and including the filing of charges — Romney said he considered the controversy at an end.

Tells 5-Point Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy sent Congress today a five-point civil rights program which he said would provide the most "responsible, reasonable and urgently needed solutions" to discrimination in public accommodations, education and employment.

In a 5,500-word special message, Kennedy proposed one of the broadest civil rights programs in nearly a century to meet what he termed "the growing moral crisis in American race relations."

Presented in language that took full account of the inevitable bitter fight over them in Congress, Kennedy's proposals would:

1. Bar racial discrimination by hotels, restaurants, theaters, stores and sports arenas. As a last resort, the attorney general would have authority to sue in such a case if the rejected individual could not finance the case himself.

2. Add $40 million to next year's budget to broaden existing and proposed federal programs aimed at training and developing skilled manpower and expanding the employment opportunities of young people. Kennedy said "unemployment falls with special cruelty on minority groups."

3. Authorize the attorney general to initiate federal court suits to force desegregation of public schools and colleges when students have been "denied equal protection of the laws."

ENACTMENT OF LAW
5. Enactment of a law "making it clear that the federal government is not required to furnish any kind of financial assistance to any program or activity in which racial discrimination occurs."

Kennedy cited economic, foreign policy and other reasons for his proposals but said the overriding argument is that they are "right."

He called discrimination against Negroes in public accommodations "a daily insult that has no place in a country proud of its heritage—the heritage of the melting pot, of equal rights, of one nation and one people."

"No one has been barred on account of his race from fighting or dying for America—there are no

They got some immediate Republican support.

And, as expected, there were Southerners vowing to battle unceasingly against them.

Few thought that Congress would go all the way with Kennedy's proposals. But there were predictions that Congress, after a momentous legislative struggle, would in the end enact strong legislation.

As to timing, Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, said he hoped to start hearings on Kennedy's proposals next week.

He predicted that the committee would report a strong bill by the end of July but added that he doubted the president would get all that he is asking.

WILL DO OUR BEST

Sen. Mike Mansfield, of Montana, the Senate Democratic leader, promised:

"The President has shown great leadership."

"It is up to us to show statesmanship."

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., assistant party leader, called the proposals "the minimum necessary to close the citizenship gap in America today."

"I will be a sponsor of this new civil rights program, and pledge my time and energy in the effort to win congressional approval this year," Humphrey said.

"I predict the administration's program will be approved."

"EXCELLENT OBJECTIVES"
Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., said the President "has set forth some excellent objectives, but strong leadership will be required for their accomplishment."

"A strategy for success will require formation of a civil rights coalition which can provide the votes needed for victory in any showdown," Keating continued.

80 Cardinals Assemble to Choose a New Pope

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Eighty cardinals of the Roman Catholic Church prayed for divine guidance today before assembling in conclave to elect a successor to Pope John XXIII.

The cardinals attended a solemn Mass to the Holy Spirit offered in St. Peter's Basilica by their French dean, Eugene Cardinal Tisserant.

Late in the afternoon they were to enter a sealed-off area of the apostolic palaces around the Sistine Chapel, not to emerge until they have chosen the 262nd pontiff of the church.

Voting will begin tomorrow. Four ballots will be held daily in the Sistine Chapel—two in the morning and two in the afternoon—until one man gets 54 votes, a two-thirds majority.

Although church law does not bar a lesser prelate or even a layman, the new pope is certain to be a cardinal and probably will be an Italian.

The election is expected to be a lengthy process because of the division in the college between conservatives and progressives, a division brought to world attention during the first session of Pope John's Ecumenical Council last fall.

Neither the conservative nor the progressive bloc is large enough to elect a Pope without support from cardinals regarded as middle-of-the-road moderates.

STRONG BLOC
The conservatives, who long have dominated the church through their control of the Vatican Curia, are numerous enough to block a candidate.

This has led observers to believe (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

Liz Taylor, Richard Burton Plan to Marry

LONDON (AP)—A spokesman for actress Elizabeth Taylor said today that she plans to marry actor Richard Burton.

Her secretary, Richard Hanley, said he did not know when the wedding would take place.

Miss Taylor and Burton are still married, she to American singer Eddie Fisher and Burton to Sybil Williams Burton.

Miss Taylor, 31, and Burton, 37, are presently living in London—in separate suits at the Dorchester Hotel.

There have been rumors that Mrs. Burton, who is 34, would never give her husband a divorce.

A quiet Welsh girl, Mrs. Burton married Richard in 1959 during the run of a play in which Mrs. Burton, an actress, had a part.

After the wedding she never returned to the stage, but concentrated on making a home for her husband.

The Burtons have two children, Kate 5, and Jessica 3.

SOMEbody GOOFED — Those trees at the County Courthouse are supposed to be in the concrete planter boxes at left. A concrete patio will go where the trees are. Due to a mix-up between landscapers and building architects, the trees were planted in the wrong places. They are to be moved into the planters soon.

City Asked to Stop Lawn Sprinkling

City Manager Robert A. Stierer today asked Pontiac residents to voluntarily refrain from lawn sprinkling as the water table fell to its lowest point in the city's history.

The sprinkling ban will be in effect from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Saturday until further notice.

"The water department's observation well on Walnut Street, stood at 12.2 feet (deep) this morning," Stierer noted. "The previous low was 12.9 feet in August 1955."

Barring a major break in water mains, he added, the city's water supply and sprinkling bans will become things of the past when Pontiac starts using Detroit water July 1.

Riot Troopers Halt Dixie Negro Protest

From Our News Wires

Helmeted state troopers, using nightsticks and electric livestock prodding devices, dispersed 300 to 350 Negroes from the court-house lawn in Gadsden, Ala., today.

About 100 riot-trained troopers clamped a tight security lid on the northeast Alabama city of 65,000 — sixth largest in the state and 65 miles from previously racially troubled Birmingham.

The Negro demonstrators had plunked themselves down on the Etowah County courthouse lawn early today and vowed not to budge until 356 members of their race were released from custody.

The 396 had been arrested yesterday for taking part in segregation protest marches.

Of the Negroes being held, Etowah County Sheriff Dewey Colard said: "They'll stay in jail until the judge decides what to do with them."

About 200 white spectators —

many of them teenagers — had gathered at the courthouse.

A glimmer of hope for racial peace showed today in Jackson, Miss. — one week after the slaying of integration leader Medgar W. Evers — as Negroes tentatively agreed to end demonstrations.

AGREE AT MEETING

The agreement, with minor dissent, came at a Negro mass meeting last night in answer to further conciliation by city officials to requests of integration leaders.

Reports persisted, however, that the Congress of Racial Equality, the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, and the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee would carry on demonstrations.

An official of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People — which, led by Evers, had spearheaded the drive — said there was no truth in reports of dissension among Negro leaders.

"The main strategy and force will be turned toward registering to vote. That's going to be the main thing," said the Rev. G. R. Hightower, a Negro leader who with four others met yesterday with Mayor Allen Thompson and two city commissioners.

BURIAL WITH HONORS

Evers, who lived through the invasion of Normandy and died fighting for integration in Mississippi, will be buried with military honors today in Arlington National Cemetery.

His body was to be carried to the cemetery after being viewed by thousands of persons at the John Wesley AME Church.

A white soldier was beaten to death early today in Washington in a fight that involved two other white soldiers and five Negroes, police reported.

Killed was Pvt. Edward J. Betcher, 19, of Brooklyn, N.Y., stationed at Ft. Belvoir, Va.

Police Inspector Lawrence A. Harnett said Betcher apparently had been beaten by "an unknown heavy object."

His two companions, Pvt. Philip J. Cheng, 27, and James D. Spencer, 22, said police they had been beaten only with fists. They were not severely injured.

CALLS EDUCATORS

President Kennedy called some 200 educators to the White House today in his drive for voluntary action in various segments of American life to prevent discrimination against Negroes.

The schoolmen were scheduled to meet with the President at 3 p.m. (Pontiac time) — the fourth group to do so.

Kennedy has held similar meetings with business executives, labor spokesmen, and religious leaders. He will meet Friday with top city officials.

In New York, top city officials, mindful of simmering unrest among the city's more than one million Negroes, have called an emergency meeting with NAACP leaders to forestall racial violence here this summer.

Of key concern are stated plans for mass anti-discrimination rallies under NAACP auspices protesting inequities in housing, employment and political representation.

Official apprehension — was sharpened by a pitched battle in Harlem Monday night between some 300 Negroes and policemen.

The Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., Negro integration leader, said in New York today a nationwide protest march on Washington will take place if southern Democrats attempt to filibuster against civil rights legislation in Congress.

He said representatives of several civil rights organizations will meet this week in New York to map strategy for the demonstration.

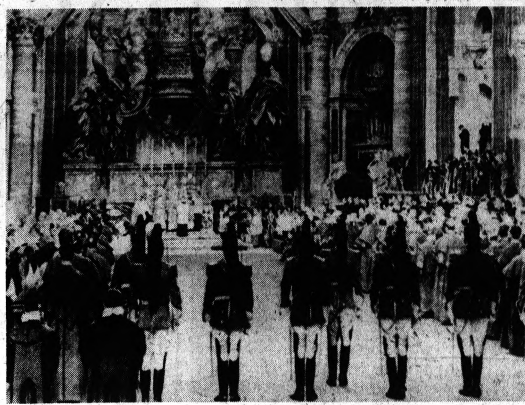

TEST FOR TRUCE

Danville, Va.'s, somewhat shaky racial truce may meet its severest test today.

Growing Negro dissatisfaction with progress to date threatened to plunge the city back into racial strife.

"We stand ready to march," said the Rev. Lawrence G. Campbell yesterday, even as he hung up after bowing to a protesting telephone plea from Atty. Gen. F. Kennedy to halt the demonstrations.

Others promised to renew the protest marches, and yesterday Negro leaders presented new demands to the mayor's advisory committee.

Tiros 7 Transmits Cloud Cover Pictures

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The Tiros 7 weather observatory satellite rocketed into orbit today and on its first global pass transmitted a series of cloud cover pictures.

The robot weatherman, main assignment of which is to study hurricanes and typhoons born in the 1963 season, shot into orbit aboard a three-stage Delta rocket which blasted into the predawn darkness from Cape Canaveral at 1:50 a.m.

The satellite, in tandem with the earlier Tiros 6, could provide the most extensive photographic investigation yet of a full hurricane season.

Two hours after launching, after the space package completed one circuit of the earth, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced it was in successful orbit about 400 miles above the earth. Minutes later a tracking station at Wallops Island, Va., reported receiving a set of cloud pictures which were described as being good quality.

The photos were snapped as the satellite zipped over the North Atlantic Ocean between Newfoundland and Greenland. A vortex — a whirlpool — like cloud — was clearly visible, officials reported.

SKY-HIGH SPECTACLE

The launching created a sky-high spectacle for observers along the southeast U.S. coast.

As the blazing rocket penetrated the cold air of the upper atmosphere, a bright vapor trail blossomed around the vehicle.

The trail was brilliantly illuminated by the blaze of the rising sun, creating a colorful spectacle.

Indications were good from the start, with a report 11 minutes after blast — off that all three stages of the booster had performed properly to push the payload toward its intended 400-mile high path.

Tiros 7 was timed so it and the earlier Tiros 6 would photograph the main hurricane breeding grounds of the Atlantic and Caribbean during the full 1963 season.

Theodore Montgomery, 44, of 567 Filbert, died at 11 a.m. at Pontiac General Hospital. He had been hospitalized since May 5 when he was clubbed numerous times on the head with a board.

Moreau was arraigned the following day on a charge of assault with intent to murder.

He pleaded innocent to the charge before Municipal Judge Maurice Finnegan and was released on $100 bond. He was taken into custody again yesterday.

His examination on the charge was postponed pending the condition of Montgomery.

The fight took place in the parking lot of Mina Market, 588 Franklin Road, and according to police, climaxed an argument over the use of a public telephone.

On the point of privately owned facilities serving the public, Kennedy said simply that he was proposing "a provision to guarantee all citizens equal access to the services and facilities of hotels and restaurants, places of amusement and retail establishments."

While the message did not go into detail, a draft bill also sent to Congress by Kennedy said that all persons should be entitled "to the full and equal enjoyment of the goods, services, facilities, privileges, advantages and accommodations of a number of what are termed 'public establishments.'"

The proposed measure specifically listed hotels and motels furnishing lodging to transient guests including travelers from other states; motion pictures, sports arenas, exhibition halls and other public places of amusement and entertainment which move in interstate commerce, and certain retail shops, department stores, markets, drugstores, gasoline stations, restaurants, lunch counters and soda fountains.

SCANDAL WITNESS — Marilyn Rice-Davis, 18-year-old friend of Prothro case-famous Christine Keeler, was stopped at a London airport this week and returned to her home to the trial of Dr. Stephen Ward, accused of living on earnings of prostitutes. Marylyn will be a hearing witness.

80 Cardinals to Pick Pope

A moderate eventually will be chosen as a compromise pontiff who will institute a period of appraisal after Pope John's constant efforts to modernize the church and find a way to get along with communism while not jeopardizing Catholic philosophy.

The first vote is expected to put many cardinals in the running.

Subsequent ballots are sure to narrow the field to such cardinals as Giovanni Battista Montini of Milan; Carlo Confalonieri of the Curia, the church's administrative headquarters; Giovanni Urbani of Venice; Paolo Marella of the Curia and Giacomo Lercaro of Bologna.

Cardinals Montini, Urbani and Lercaro are considered progressive. Cardinals Confalonieri and Marella are looked upon as moderates.

NOTED CONSERVATIVES

Conservatives most prominently mentioned include Alfonso Cardinal Castaldo of Naples and Francesco Cardinal Roberti of the Curia.

The 80 cardinals gathered in Rome make up the highest and broadest conclave of all time. For the first time cardinals from every race of mankind are taking part.

Missing from the conclave are Joseph Mindszenty, the Hungarian prime minister who is a refugee in the U.S. Legation in Budapest, and sailing Carlos Maria de la Torre of Ecuador.

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Herbert Hoover has made "an almost miraculous improvement" from his illness, a family spokesman said today.

The spokesman, Neil MacNeil, said "his family and his friends, as well as his physicians, are astounded by his vitality."

MacNeil said no medical bulletins would be issued after today if the 88-year-old former president continues to improve.

A bulletin this morning said there is no evidence that Hoover's present illness is connected with the cancer removed from his large intestine last August.

The legislation offered by the administration says that discrimination in access to accommodations provided for the public comes within the scope not only of the interstate commerce clause of the Constitution but also the 14th Amendment which prohibits racial or religious discrimination.

Kennedy said the state and local approach and voluntary efforts, have been tried in ending discrimination of the type dealt with in this key section of his program.

"But these approaches," he said, "are insufficient to prevent the free flow of commerce from being arbitrarily and inefficiently restrained and distorted by discrimination."

Heads to GOP Session

School Board President Elected to Second Term

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Dr. Charles L. Bowers last night was elected to his second term as president of the Bloomfield Hills School District Board of Education.

Other new officers are Merrill O. Bates, vice president; Max Miller, treasurer; and new board member Richard H. McGraw, secretary.

Mrs. Kay Flint, assistant superintendent of schools, gave a report on the final plans for an experimental class for exceptional children.

The first such class in the district, it is designed for 10 or 12 gifted students six to 12 years in age, and will begin in the fall.

A study of school building lines indicated that additional elementary rooms will be needed next year if the present ratio of 25 pupils per room is maintained.

Services for Allan LeSage, 74, of 2355 W. 14-Mile Road will be 1 p.m. Friday at the Manley-Bailey Funeral Home. Burial will be in Acacia Park Cemetery, Southfield.

Mr. LeSage died yesterday of a heart attack. He was a member of the Methodist Church in Lake Linden and the Lake Linden Masonic Lodge.

Surviving are his wife Maude; a daughter Mrs. John Vance of Albuquerque, N.M.; a son Allan F. of Birmingham; two sisters; and five grandchildren.

Both Pine Hill Congregational Church and a new Catholic parish hope to have their places of worship constructed by that time.

Meanwhile, the former will use the Pine Lake Elementary School and the latter the Eastover Elementary School.

An indication of where the summer interests of Birminghamites can be seen in the recreation program registration largely completed this week.

Blood Expert Will Testify

To Cross-Examine Man in Thorsen Trial

DETROIT (AP) — Cross-examination of Harold Alfutis, a blood expert who was formerly a partner in the Detroit scientific laboratory, was expected to open today's session of the Robert M. Thorsen murder trial.

Alfutis testified yesterday that blood found on a pair of Thorsen's trousers was the same type as that of Thorsen's slain mother-in-law.

His statements followed a court decision to permit Thorsen's blood-stained clothing to be admitted as evidence against him.

The 31-year-old Thorsen is on trial for first-degree murder in the slaying of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Dorothy Thomas, 62.

Alfutis, a civilian criminologist with the St. Paul, Minn., police department, said he found type B blood on Thorsen's overcoat and both type A and type O on the trousers. Mrs. Thorsen's blood was type A. Thorsen's blood is type O.

He said the area of type A blood on the overcoat appeared after fluorescent treatment. It was not visible to the naked eye, he explained.

"Blood stains on the trousers were visible to the eye," Alfutis said. "There was type O blood on the right hand pocket, rear pocket and left thigh area. I found type A on the left pant cuff and the right leg."

His lawyers have battled to block the admission of the clothing as evidence.

Change Traffic Flow

1-Way Streets Now 2-Way

The city gave its normal street-closing notices a new twist today.

Officials announced some directional changes in traffic flow.

All of Fairgrove and the portion of Union from Pike to Huron — presently one-way streets — will become two-way streets tomorrow.

Both changes are permanent. They were necessitated by a switch in traffic flow requirements created by construction of the perimeter road.

The new highway will make Fairgrove a dead-end street and increase the need for two-way traffic movement on Union.

Also tomorrow, Wayne Street from Huron to Warren will become one-way northbound temporarily.

All parking, including reserved parking for the County Sheriff's Department, will be removed from the east curb.

The sheriff's parking will be moved to the west curb and the intersection of Wayne and Warren will become stop streets in all directions.

The Wayne Street change was needed to allow construction barriers around a new addition being built at the rear of First Presbyterian Church of Pontiac.

At Commission Meeting Propose Civil Rights Unit

Formation of a community council on civil rights to augment the city's present Human Relations Commission was proposed at last night's City Commission meeting by the Greater Pontiac Evangelical Ministers' Fellowship.

A resolution requesting that the City Commission set up such a council was presented by Rev. Theodore Aliebach, pastor of Oakland Avenue Presbyterian Church and president of the fellowship.

Earlier in the meeting, the commission approved a resolution supporting President Kennedy's five-point program for civil rights.

The Rev. Mr. Aliebach said the fellowship was suggesting the council as a means of promoting peaceful solution to social problems, particularly civil rights and racial equality.

WHITES AND NEGROES

He proposed that the council be made up of both whites and Negroes, with representatives from the commission, governmental agencies, local Roman Catholic parishes, Jewish synagogues, the Pontiac Council of Churches, the fellowship and other groups.

"It is suggested that this council function as a forum for the free interchange of ideas and grievances" and as a means of setting up programs to promote equal rights.

Commissioner Milton R. Henry hailed the proposed council as "a cross section of citizens who can sit down and talk about problems together that they'd otherwise talk about alone."

"I intend to see that this proposal comes up for a vote of the commission at a future meeting."

"I'm here to represent my district and I know my people are very interested in what is proposed here," Henry noted.

The matter will be studied at an informal meeting before any formal action is taken.

Bias Rallies Set Saturday in Suburbs

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People says it will hold rallies in several Detroit suburbs Saturday to protest racial discrimination in the communities.

Arthur Johnson, executive director of the local NAACP branch, said the communities will be selected tomorrow. He said Dearborn probably will be one of them.

Dearborn officials said a permit would be necessary for a demonstration in Dearborn, but the NAACP had made no request for a permit.

Johnson said permits will be requested when the target communities are selected.

The planned series of rallies will fall on the day before a "walk to freedom" in Detroit which sponsors hope will have 100,000 whites and Negroes marching behind Southern integration leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

A number of religious, labor and government organizations have pledged support.

Rep. Robert E. Waldron, Wayne County Republican vice-chairman, yesterday urged all Republicans in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties to join in the Detroit march.

Newlyweds Touring Tennessee

The Gary Alan Millers (Carole Eileen Coolman), who were wed by Dr. Wanner H. Brunelle in the Allen Park Presbyterian Church, are honeymooning in Tennessee. Following the church reception, the bride's parents, the Percy D. Coolmans, were hosts at a family buffet in their Allen Park home. Mr. and Mrs. Clinton B. Miller Jr., Marie Circle, are parents of the bridegroom.

pearl tiara topped her silk illusion veil and she carried white orchids and carnations.

Douglas Wahlsten, Berkley, was best man. Seating guests were Jerry Hartkopf, Birmingham, Oliver Raymond, Roseville, and Lloyd Uiterback.

The couple, who are graduates of Alma College, will live in Rochester.

Why Grow Old?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It always fascinates me that there are fashions in figures just as there are fashions in clothes. And, I wonder which influences which most. Perhaps both are influenced by the thinking and the general outlook of the time.

I also ponder that old question of whether women dress for women or for men. At any rate, so far this spring, none of the new feminine fashions seem destined to raise the ire of men as the sack and the trapeze did a few seasons ago. This year they are good looking and not very offbeat.

I recently ran across a very old issue of "Godey's Lady's Book," the popular fashion magazine of its day. I am sure it will amuse you to know that in 1859 men were ready to find something to carp about in women's fashions.

WEIRD FASHIONS

A male resident of New York state wrote to the editor of Godey's complimenting the magazine on its excellent fiction and home service departments but blasting it for perpetrating weird and uncomfortable fashions upon hapless females. The editor answered:

"We do not invent fashions or lead them; we only select and report the newest, the best and the most becoming. If the gentleman understands women's nature he must be aware that no decree of Napoleon the Third, despot though he be, nor command of Alexander, czar of all the Russians, nor even the opinion of Louis A. Godey, publisher, would make any lady take off her hoops one day before fashion decreed it."

Somebody had our number way back then! At this point the editor inserted a drawing sent him by the complaining gentleman. The lady in the drawing was dressed as this man felt that rational clothes should be; in a plain, loose, call-length dress with no waistline and a high round neck. In fact this was an almost clairvoyant representation of our present chemise dress.

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

"Dear Eunice, I have been looking at ready-made bridesmaid dresses, even though I hope to make my daughter's, and some of the ones made of sheer fabrics have a double sleeve with no hem. This is such a neat looking sleeve that I am wondering if I can't make mine like this?"

Mrs. R. A. F.

Dear Mrs. R. A. F.: A double sleeve often is found in sheer fabrics because it does eliminate the hem. It is simple to make. Check the exact length you want the finished sleeve to be. Fold the sleeve pattern to this length. Lay this fold on the fold of the doubled fabric (keep the grain line the same as marked on pattern). Thus you cut out both thicknesses.

Stitch the underarm seam and press the sleeve on the lower fold line. Baste the two layers of the sleeve fabric together at the cap of the sleeve and proceed as if there were only one layer of fabric.

Many times an embroidered medallion or beading is placed on the under side of the fabric and, if your fabric is sheer, it gives a different, subtle detail that is fascinating.

"I have just finished a sweater and would like to line it. Is there an easy way to cut the lining?"

A sewing fan who has the "knitting bug"

One of the easiest ways to cut the lining for a sweater, is to cut lining for each section after the sweater has been blocked, before sewing the sweater together. Add a little extra for ease and for the seam allowances.

If your sweater has a ribbing at the edge of the sleeves and along the bottom, you must ease the lining without stretching.

The lining should give the same way the sweater will.

Many sweaters are lined in a very fine silk or chiffon and most of them are not lined throughout the sleeves. Just finish the armholes with a tiny rolled hem. (linings are a matter of choice).

"Dear Eunice, HELP! Please come to my rescue? My closet is full of clothes with holes and puckers where there should be a nice gusset.

"Just the thought of a 'gusset' sends cold chills through me.

Mrs. F. F. C.

Dear Mrs. F. F. C.: From the many, many letters I have received about gussets and gusset details, I know your problem is a common one. Because these instructions are very detailed, I have written a new leaflet called "The Secret of Gussets."

You may obtain your copy by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10 cents to Sew Simple, in care of The Pontiac Press. You'll treasure it!

"Dear Eunice, My dress has a separate band for the front trimming and the buttonholes are made in this seam. Do I make bound buttonholes just like any other dress? They are made vertical instead of horizontal."

Mrs. E. E. N.

Dear Mrs. E. E. N.: Whenever buttonholes appear in any kind of a seam, they are usually not made as bound buttonholes.

In most cases you machine stitch the seam to the end of the buttonhole, secure the stitching and skip to the end of the buttonhole, secure the stitching again and continue machine stitching to the beginning of the next one.

You will have slits that will appear as folds because the seam will be pressed open. If you wish, you can machine stitch 1/4 inch each side of the fold to simulate a buttonhole, but a personally prefer mine unstitched.

For those summer fun clothes, don't forget colorful designs, monograms, and are easily and so very effectively applied with press-on adhesive fabric.

Please send me your sewing problems and I'll try to solve them. Send today for your copy of "The Secret of Gussets." Send 10 cents and a self-addressed stamped envelope to Sew Simple, in care of The Pontiac Press.
