Audit Report In

The Auditor General recently released a report of the results of the audit of Oakland University for the period July 1, 1978 through March 31, 1981. The report contained 67 comments and recommendations which addressed matters ranging from the distribution of investment income to the measurement of stack temperatures and carbon dioxide levels for evaluation of boiler efficiency.

The university has already complied with eight of the points, has agreed to comply with twenty-three more, has agreed to the issue of six but cannot comply because of funding requirements, will review six for feasibility and does not concur with twenty-four.

The report is rather perfunctory and carried nothing of substance or consequence according to President Champagne—who personally met with the Auditor General's representatives.

A copy of the report and the university's response is available in the Kresge Library for anyone who is interested in reviewing it.

Drive Aids Library

The 1981 annual fund drive resulted in a total of $18,191.74 in payroll and cash contributions including $1,510.94 for Kresge Library.

The 1981 drive resulted in specific contributions of $829.94 for library use and another $681 contributed to the fund drive but with no designated use. It was decided that all such undesignated funds in 1981 would go to Kresge Library.

Diane Stricker, chairperson of the Library Council, said that all members of the council were delighted to receive the undesignated monies. The library is in need of additional funds for library acquisitions to support the research, teaching, and service goals of the university.

Black Awareness Month

U.S. Congressman George Crockett, Black state legislators, and Maya Angelou, author of the celebrated work "I Know Why the Caged Bird Sings," will participate in the Oakland University celebration of Black Awareness month starting Feb. 1.

The public is invited to all of the lectures and cultural arts programs scheduled throughout the month. A complete schedule can be obtained by calling 377-2000 or 377-3200.

Congressman Crockett will open the fete at 2 p.m. Feb. 1 in the Crockery of the Oakland Center speaking on Black Awareness Month theme. Black state legislators will be guests of the university.

Other free programs include Feb. 8—"Detroit: Its Renaissance," with Walter Douglas, president of New Detroit, speaking at 2 p.m. in the Crockery, Oakland Center.

Feb. 9—"Reaganomics" with Karl Gregory, OU professor of economics and fiscal expert and federal consultant, speaking at 3:15 p.m. in the Gold Room Oakland Center.

Feb. 11—"Careers in Communication" with Pat Edwards of WLBS radio, lecturing at 6 p.m. in the Multipurpose Room of Vandenberg Hall, East.

Feb. 16—Novelist Maya Angelou lectures at 2 p.m. in the Crockery of the Oakland Center.

Feb. 20—Gil Scott Heron in concert at 8 p.m. in the Crockery, Oakland Center. Tickets are $5 for OU students and $7 general admission.

The Black Awareness Month program is centered around politics, economics, academics, cultural/social, and esthetic themes.

Center Honored

The Continuum Center was awarded a Resolution of Tribute from The Michigan House of Representatives and the Michigan Senate for its public service work. The presentation was made by the Honorable Ruth B. McNamee, State Representative, at a Jan. 8 luncheon. Elinor Waters, director of the Continuum Center, accepted the resolution.

Student Queen

Donna Poulin, OU sophomore, reigned over the Super Bowl by virtue of her title, Miss Pontiac Silverdome of 1982.

The business management major was crowned as part of the Super Bowl Week festivities in Pontiac. She received a vacation in Las Vegas, a coat, a chance to model at the 1983 auto show, and the use of a Pontiac Firebird for one year. She was one of 47 contestants.

Faculty Activities Are Noted

Carl R. Vann was reappointed as adjunct professor of community health sciences, Colleges of Medicine, at Michigan State University. Professor Vann is director of health behavioral sciences at OU and has been affiliated with the MSU program for the past ten years. Vann was the featured speaker at the annual meeting of the Society of Public Health Educators in Cadillac, September 23. He gave a talk on "Clinical and Administrative Perspectives on Health Education and Staff Development." He was the featured speaker at the auxiliary annual meeting of the Michigan Hospital Association, held in Traverse City on October 27, 1981. He gave a talk on "The Changing Nature of the Hospital in Health Promotion and Delivery." He has been invited to present his paper "Mental Health and Primary Care: Fantasy and Reality in Graduate Medical Education," to the annual meeting of the American Public Health Association, in Los Angeles.

William A. Macauley and Edward J. Heubel wrote "Achieving Representative Juries: A System that Works," which has been published in Judicature, Vol. 65, No. 3, September 1981.

Thomas W. Casstevens' essay (with Harold T. Casstevens II) "Stability of Membership in Congress, 1987 Onwards" was published in the UMAP (Undergraduate Mathematics and its Applications) Journal, Vol. 2, No. 1, 1981.

Don S. Schwerin is on leave the 1981-82 academic year as a visiting lecturer at the University of Canterbury, Christchurch, New Zealand. He has received a National Science Foundation-NATO Postdoctoral Fellowship for 1982; he will be affiliated with Aarhus University in Denmark.

Boaz Kahana, psychology, presented a paper entitled "Psychological Assessment of the Elderly: Implications for Planning Psychotherapy" at the recent meetings of the Michigan Psychoanalytic Society.

William Robinson, Jr. has assumed his duties as associate director of admissions.

Robinson comes to OU from the University of Detroit where he was director of educational opportunity programs. He has had previous experience as a high school principal, as an administrator at Wayne State University, and as a high school science teacher in the Detroit area.

Jerry Rose, director of admissions and scholarships, said "We are delighted at the broad range of experiences of our new associate director brings to the institution. I know he will help us in our admissions recruiting." Rose said Robinson will have significant responsibilities in the day-to-day operation of the Office of Admissions and scholarships.

Robinson holds degrees from Michigan State University (B.S.) and Wayne State University (M.Ed. and Ed.D.). His areas of specialization include staff training, curriculum development, budget management, and grant/proposal writing.

Keith E. Stanovich, psychology, recently had an article entitled "Relationships Between Word Decoding Speed, General Name-Retrieval Ability, and Reading Progress in First-Grade Children" published in the Journal of Educational Psychology. Dr. Stanovich has also recently been appointed to the Editorial Board of that journal.

Philip Singer, sociology/anthropology and Center for Health Sciences, recently appeared as the first speaker before the Oakland Patient Environment Nexus (O.P.E.N.) in their Patient Advocacy

Training course at Clinton Valley Regional Psychiatric Center. Professor Singer spoke on "The Illness Paradigm and Labelling Theory."

Jean S. Braun, psychology, has been appointed to the Board of the Michigan Society of Licensed Psychologists. She will also serve as chairperson of the Society's Committee on Ethical Practices.

An article by James Dow, anthropology, appeared in the winter issue of Human Organization, the journal of the Society for Applied Anthropology. It was entitled "The Image of Limited Production: Envy and the Domestic Mode of Production in Peasant Society."

Carroll M. Hutton, assistant dean of continuing education and director of labor education, has been appointed to serve on the Education Committee of the Michigan Employment and Training Services Council. Hutton serves on this committee as a representative of the State Advisory Council for Vocation Education.

An OU history major, Robert E. Sullivan (A.B., 1968) has finished seminary after receiving his Ph.D. at Harvard University. His dissertation, John Toland and the Deist Controversy, will be published next year by the Harvard University Press. Sullivan is now on the staff of Saint John's Church in East Bridgewater, Massachusetts.

Donald E. Morse, chairperson of rhetoric, was a workshop leader for the National Council of Teachers of English Convention in Boston. His presentation "Teaching the Concept of Audience Through Given Situations," and "Writing Assignments to Teach the Concept of Audience," were part of a two-day workshop on "Given Language."

Equal Opportunity Group

At the January 20 meeting of the Oakland University Board of Trustees, President Joseph Champagne announced the appointment of the Advisory Committee on Equal Opportunity. The president charged the committee:

- to promote equal opportunity and affirmative action at Oakland University by serving as an advisory group to the Office of Equal Opportunity.
- to review policies, procedures and programs, both existing and proposed, to determine whether the objectives and spirit of the Board policy on equal opportunity and relevant legislation are being met, and to recommend development of new policies, procedures and programs.

—to assist the Office of Equal Opportunity in defining needs of protected groups and identifying current or potential problem areas.

—to review the affirmative action program of Oakland University and make recommendations for improvements and/or changes.

Members include: Nancy Collins, human and educational services; Brian Copenhaver, dean, arts and sciences; Robert L. Donald, English; Wilma Garcia, Department of Rhetoric, Communication Arts, and Journalism; Hazel Goff, food handler; Cleveland Hurst, director of special programs; Linda Lash, accounting clerk; Phillip Ray, executive assistant, University Congress; and Zachary Shallow, University Congress president; Barbara G. Murphy, director, Office of Equal Opportunity (ex officio).

Six Development Proposals Funded

Six educational development proposals designed to strengthen teaching on campus were winners in the fall judging by the Teaching and Learning Committee.

The awards run from $300 to $1,075 and will help improve existing programs, add new capacities to existing programs or create new ones, hire consultants, or support visits to other institutions with programs that may have application at OU.

In addition, a second round of educational development grants, this time with a limit of $350, are being solicited by the Teaching and Learning Committee. The deadline for application is 5 p.m. Feb. 12 in the Office of the Provost. Applications should include title page, abstract, a narrative not to exceed five pages, and budget information.

Consultant Visits

Edward F. Anthony, director of Asian studies and international orientation programs at the University of Pittsburgh, was a recent consultant at OU.

William Schwab, chairperson, Department of Linguistics, said Anthony was providing advice on the feasibility of developing an international orientation program at OU. The program would provide services for American business personnel and others who were going abroad and provide a similar service for foreign executives, their families and others who might be coming to this country.

Computer Course Open

Registration is open for a second offering of the noncredit personal computer course for beginners, to be conducted by the Division of Continuing Education beginning March 20.

The eight-week course will be conducted in the Apple II lab from 9:30 a.m. to noon, Saturdays, by John Tower, associate dean, School of Economics and Management. The course is geared to persons without experience who are interested in using personal or microcomputers to run a household or business. Hands-on experience will include writing simple business programs and using simple purchased programs as well as writing business programs for sales analysis, payroll and inventory control. Tuition is $95. University employees may be eligible for reimbursement under career development. Inquiries should be directed to the employment relations office. Registration information may be obtained from the Continuing Education office, 7-3120, 265 SFH.

Sigma Xi Seminar

The OU Chapter of Sigma Xi, an honor society to promote scientific research, has scheduled a Sigma Xi Bag Lunch seminar for Feb. 18 from noon to 1 p.m. in room 350, Hannah Hall of Science. Guest speaker will be Professor John McKinley, physics, talking on "Cosmic Gamma Ray Lasers." The chapter is comprised of science faculty and promising graduate and undergraduate students. Officers are Beverly Berger, physics, and John Cowlshaw and Frank Butterworth, biology.

Acting Award

Six OU students were nominated for the Irene Ryan Acting Scholarship Competition held early this month in South Bend, Indiana.

The OU students all missed in their attempt at the award, but the university had more students nominated than any other institution in the region.

OU students competing were Kim Werkman, Christopher Howe, Margaret Patton, Janet Marie Cheff, Eddie Robinson, and Coleen Downey.
