President Hails Continued Rise in Employment

Ike Declares Figures Prove U. S. Recovering From Recession

THURMONT, Md. (AP) — President Eisenhower is heading for the political firing line next week contending the country is rebounding from the recession and can look forward to continued recovery.

The President, spending a weekend at his Catoctin Mountain Lodge near here, yesterday hailed a new government report on the situation.

The Commerce and Labor departments said unemployment decreased by 588,000 last month — a more-than-usual drop for September. They also reported more jobs were opening up in durable goods plants that were hard hit by the recession.

In a statement with political overtones, Eisenhower said the figures are evidence of an "accelerating rate of recovery." Without spelling them out, he said "there are also good reasons for expecting a continuing recovery in our economy during the months ahead."

★ ★ ★

The President undoubtedly spoke with an awareness that the Democrats are trying to capitalize on issues that touch the private purse during the congressional election campaign. He said it is "noteworthy that the improvement in employment conditions . . . has been accomplished while the cost of living has been virtually stable."

★ ★ ★

Republican campaign strategists in Washington voiced belief the improved job picture should give a lift to GOP candidates in such industrial states as Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Pennsylvania.

★ ★ ★

Tomorrow Eisenhower is flying to New York to speak at Columbus Day and church ceremonies—and to confer with New York Republican candidates. He plans to return to Washington Sunday night.

Tuesday is the President's 68th birthday.

On Friday Eisenhower hops off for Cedar Rapids, Iowa, on the first leg of a campaign stumping tour that will take him also to Los Angeles, San Francisco and Chicago.

Low of 34 Degrees Expected Tonight

The weatherman promises Sunday will be fair and cool. The forecast is clearing and colder tonight and fair tomorrow.

The mercury will drop to 34 degrees tonight and rise to 57 tomorrow.

★ ★ ★

For the next few days temperatures will average five degrees below the normal high of 64 and normal low of 45.

★ ★ ★

Rainfall will total one-tenth inch or less with chance of light showers early in the week.

★ ★ ★

Before 8 a.m. the lowest temperature in downtown Pontiac was 45 degrees. The reading at 1 p.m. was 48.

Rocket Leaves Canaveral for Distant Journey

UP AND AWAY — In a cloud of steam and fire, the Air Force rocket picked to reveal the secrets of the moon leaves its launching pad to begin the long journey from the missile test center at Cape Canaveral, Fla.

MOON CLOSEST MONDAY — This drawing of approximate distances from earth to moon during mid-October is not drawn to scale, but it shows that the moon is closest to the earth on Oct. 13. Dotted line indicates orbit a rocket might travel, if there were no disturbing influences of sun and moon. With the rocket fired today, and the moon more than two days away, the gravitational attraction of the moon could deflect it into orbit, indicated by solid line.

Some Doubts Whether 'Pioneer' Is on Target

Thor-Able Missile Off on Fantastic Mission at 3:42 This Morning

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — An American Air Force rocket named Pioneer soared out of the clutch of the earth's gravity today in the first free flight through space but there were some doubts whether it would make its planned rendezvous with the moon.

But a little later the Defense Department said the moon rocket may be "departing from the intended trajectory." The department said that at

(See Related Stories on Page 12)

9:47 a.m. (Pontiac time) the rocket had reached an altitude of 38,600 nautical miles — by far the highest ever attained by a man-made vehicle. The new space rocket:

1. Was fired at 3:42 a.m. (Pontiac time) today.
2. Has an 85-pound space payload.
3. Was blasted into space by an Air Force Thor-Able combination.
4. Is scheduled to reach the moon late Monday.
5. Reached a top speed of nearly 25,000 miles an hour.
6. Carries instruments sending space conditions back to earth.

Five and a half hours after the rocket was launched majestically from Cape Canaveral, the Pentagon announced that it flew on a slightly higher trajectory than expected.

Therefore, the Pentagon said, it would be late this afternoon before scientists can determine firmly whether Pioneer is actually on course and on target and will approach the vicinity of the moon.

In the firing, all three main stages went off successfully. This hurled the 85-pound payload out into the void on a fantastic lunar mission.

If all goes well, Pioneer should reach the vicinity of the moon in 2.6 days, or late Monday. If it obtains the desired orbit around the moon, it would stay within 40,000 miles of it for seven days, the Defense Department said.

CAN'T TELL YET

"Current data indicates that the Pioneer flew on a trajectory slightly higher than expected," a statement said. "It is, therefore, not possible to determine if the Pioneer will approach the vicinity of the moon."

★ ★ ★

The rocket achieved an escape speed of something less than the expected 25,000-mile-an-hour peak velocity. Its traveling speed through space is considerably less than that on the 221,000-mile trip to the moon.

Although launched at nearly 25,000 miles an hour, the robot is constantly losing velocity because of the pull of gravity. It was expected to average only 3,500 miles an hour on its journey to the neighborhood of the moon.

Its "terminal velocity," according to experts, would be about 2,000 miles an hour. But the pull of the moon's gravity, if the rocket gets close enough, would push up that figure somewhat.

If it goes into orbit, officials said

Moon Could Hold Vast Treasures

By WILLIAM J. TUCKER

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — Why are we reaching for the moon?

We will find no life there. On that, all scientists are agreed.

The moon has no life-giving atmosphere. It is too hot for survival on its bright side and too cold on the dark side. An eternal curtain of dust hangs over the orb.

But a trip around the moon, even by a robot satellite, would mark man's first linkup of the planets, a scientific stride rivaling the harnessing of the atom.

Furthermore, reconnaissance of the moon would unravel secrets of our own beginning.

The moon and earth have traveled in space together since the creation of the solar system as we know it. Many scientists believe that they sprang into orbit from the same solar explosion, two vast chunks hurled into perpetual juxtaposition more than 200,000 miles apart.

But the earth, due to its greater density and retention of heat, became molten at one point. The heavy metals sank to the center and hardened into an inaccessible core. A thick crust of sand and rock formed around it and the minerals found in this crust are, relatively speaking, rare.

Many astronomers, but by no means all, believe that the moon shook off its solar beat and never melted. Therefore it conceivably could hold vast treasures in mineral deposits close to its crater-pocked surface.

Instruments aboard a satellite approaching within even a few thousand miles of the moon could probe its dust-shield and, by taking magnetic readings,

Local Lecturer Says Rocket Can Hit Moon

As the Air Force's "Pioneer" rocket streaked through outer space toward the moon today, Pontiac area scientists cheered the success of the historic flight and waited impatiently for furthed reports on the space vehicle's progress.

Dr. George E. Folkman, a lecturer at the Cranbrook Institute of Science planetarium, said that the Air Force rocket's chances of hitting the moon are "good."

Based on fragmentary bits of information, Folkman said that he felt the AF would more likely be attempting to hit the moon than to place the rocket into orbit.

But whatever the AF is trying, he said, the odds are favorable. Dr. Folkman, who has visited Cape Canaveral, said that once the rocket is launched successfully, most of the problems are licked.

"After the launching," he stated, "it's a matter of physics and mathematics." He figures the rocket should reach the moon in from 38 to 40 hours.

Dr. Folkman said the AF is not actually shooting at the moon, but aiming for the spot where the moon will be at that time.

"If there's an explosive in the rocket, the blast can be detected on earth," he said.

Dr. Orren Mohler, assistant director of McMath-Hulbert Observatory at Lake Angelus, said that the observatory thus far has been unable to pick up the rocket's radio signal.

He said the observatory has no information on the lunar shoot, and pointed out that the project is primarily an AF project.

Much less information has been released on this test than on the launchings of the previous satellite launchings, he noted.

3-2-1-ZERO! Pioneer Blasts Off

'Grim 70' Tenses for Final Countdown

By ROBERT S. McNEILL

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) —When the time grew near to put the flame to one tubular object on Cape Canaveral, the fire flickered out in another.

Theodore J. Gordon, only 28, handled the "terminal" count down for the rocket — the rapid-fire check-off in the last crucial 30 minutes.

As if by signal, the 70 men in the blockhouse, the human nerve center of the rocket, knew that when the stocky Gordon let his cigar go out things were beginning to get "sticky."

Other smokers also doused their tobacco. The banter of the earlier hours was gone.

The grim 70 pressed buttons, barked orders into headsets and checked the lights on their console boards. They were only 100 yards from the poised rocket, but they could not see it.

The count started the night before, some eight hours earlier.

When the loudspeaker blared "all unauthorized personnel clear the blockhouse," the crew knew the payoff was close at hand.

The blockhouse men changed to freshly laundered white "shoot shirts" with the names of their firms stamped on the back. This let everybody know they belonged there.

Gordon was the "czar" of the countdown but not an autocratic one. He conferred from time to time with his chief trouble-shooter, another veteran under 30, Bill Stitt, the assistant field supervisor of technical operations for the Douglas company which built the base rocket, the Thor.

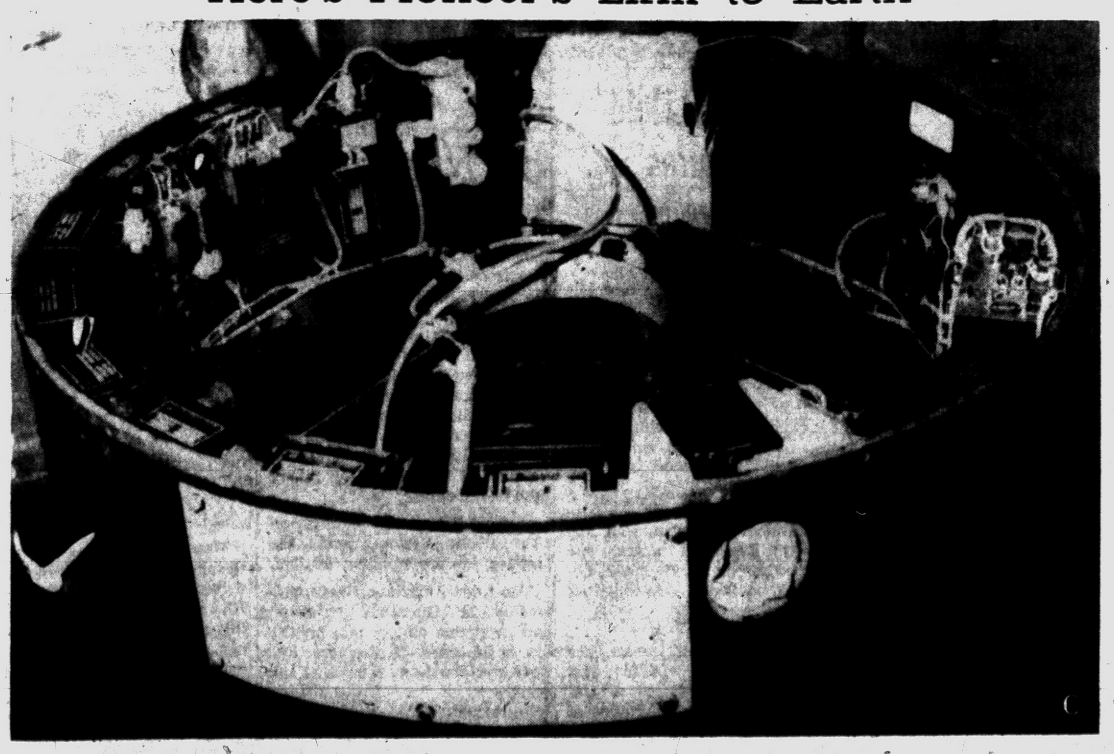

★ ★ ★

Most of the men at the consoles, each with an assigned number of tasks, were also young. But back of them sat a table of "elder philosophers," ready to step forward with a suggestion—but only if asked to do so.

The lights on the boards told the blockhouse crew that the

Dr. Crane to Speak Here

Slate Noted Psychologist

Dr. George W. Crane—psychologist, author, columnist, lecturer—will present a public lecture Oct. 21 entitled "Sex Problems in Marriage" at the Pontiac Central High auditorium.

Dr. Crane, whose column appears daily in The Pontiac Press, will be sponsored by the The Press in this visit to Pontiac.

If plans can be arranged, Dr. Crane will present a lecture for high school students during his visit. His lecture will begin at 8 p.m. with no admission charged. A question and answer period will follow the lecture.

Dr. Crane took all his college work at Yale and Northwestern Universities. He holds five college degrees, including Doctor of Philosophy and Doctor of Medicine.

Bandits Kidnap Man, Rob Store

Force Detroit Father of 2 to Surrender Car, Watch $3,000 Holdup

DETROIT (AP) — Three bandits, seeking a getaway car, kidnaped a father of two yesterday and forced him at gunpoint to watch the trio rob an east side Detroit supermarket of $3,000.

Casey told police the trio approached him as he entered a parking lot. One pointed a gun at him and demanded the car keys.

After taping Casey's wrists, the gunmen drove to the supermarket. Leaving one bandit behind to watch Casey, the others went into the store and demanded money from Manager Lawrence J. Potasky.

Scooping up the money, the gunmen ran back to the car. A witness got the license number and reported it to police. Officers traced the registration and went to Casey's home unaware of the kidnaping. They asked Casey's wife if her husband had a gun, but did not tell of the robbery.

The gunmen abandoned Casey and his car at an east side intersection. Casey worked free and went to police.

Officers then called Mrs. Casey and told her her husband was safe and was no longer "wanted."

"Thank goodness," she said, "I didn't know what to think."

Reds Not Expected to Okay Test Ban

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UPI) —Western diplomats saw little hope today of Soviet agreement to a nuclear test suspension until Russia completes its current test series.

The diplomats, including U. S. sources, said it now appeared the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union would meet in Geneva Oct. 31 to negotiate means for halting the tests without advance agreement to do so.

The United States and Britain had sought agreement with the Soviet Union for a one-year test moratorium beginning with the start of the talks.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zori told the General Assembly's main political committee yesterday his country was ready to agree to a test halt "for all time."

Pioneer Flies Higher Than Anything Else

LODRELL BANK, England (AP)— The American moon rocket launched this morning has already gone higher than any man-made object ever recorded on the world's largest radio telescope here, British scientists announced today.

"Everything is going absolutely according to plan. We are plotting the position of the rocket to within half a degree," Prof. A. C. Lovell told newsmen as his giant steel saucer-shaped telescope tracked the American rocket through space.

The instrument began receiving beep signals from the rocket at 8:52 a.m. today.

Prof. Lovell said the rocket had passed the 30,000-mile level. He said his scientists manning the 250-foot-wide telescope had never before recorded any manmade object so high out in space.

ASSEMBLING THE PAYLOAD — Workmen attach small vernier rockets to the base of the satellite, Pioneer, which was hurled into outer space early today to gather data on the moon. The small rockets provide the final burst of speed to send the missile into outer space at a speed of approximately 25,000 miles per hour. At the top of the cylinder is the retro rocket which will be used to slow down the satellite as it approaches the moon.

Endless Human River Flows by Pope's Bier

VATICAN CITY (AP)—A silent, endless river of humanity flowed today through St. Peter's Basilica and around the body of Pope Pius XII, his face austere and peaceful in death.

The pontiff, clad in the robes in which he will be buried on Monday, lay directly under the great cupola and above the tomb of his predecessor, St. Peter.

DOOR OPEN AT DAWN

The side doors of the basilica opened at dawn. The long procession began. Men, women and children entered doors at the right and moved across slowly, shoulder to shoulder, held within borders by wooden stands.

They moved with sounds of shuffling and whispered words.

They turned silently to look at the patrician countenance they had known so long and that now was waxen and still, a golden bishop's miter on the head.

SOME WEEP

Twenty-four candles cast a golden glow on the Pope, slightly inclined on a six-foot-high catafalque so that his lean face was higher and clearly visible.

By noon, hundreds of thousands, moving in a 20-foot-wide solid stream, had already passed by the Pope.

The Pope's body had been brought here Friday night from the papal summer palace at Castel Gandolfo, 18 miles away in the Alban Hills, where he died at 82 Thursday.

CARDINALS CONFER

Meeting in Vatican quarters across St. Peter's Square, a group of 16 cardinals made further arrangements today for the funeral of Pope Pius and the choice of his successor.

The Vatican announced these decisions:

The Roman Catholic Church's 261st pontiff will be buried beneath the basilica in a funeral service starting at 4 p.m. Monday, Oct. 13. The service will last about an hour and a half.

The secret conclave of the College of Cardinals to elect the 262nd Pope will begin at 4 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 25. Most of the church's 55 cardinals are expected to attend.

BEHIND LOCKED DOORS

The election will be held behind locked doors of the Vatican's Sistine Chapel. The Cardinals may choose the new pontiff from among their own number, or perhaps select a prelate who is not a prince of the church. The balloting will go on until the choice is made by two-thirds plus one of the cardinals present.

The opening of the basilica's doors today signaled the beginning of a solemn nine-day period of mourning and daily requiem masses there.

DULLES GOING

Secretary of State Dulles will head the U.S. delegation to the funeral of Pope Pius XII in Rome.

President Eisenhower announced this yesterday in Gettysburg, Pa. where he took care of some official business during his weekend away from the White House.

At the same time, Eisenhower accepted an invitation from the apostolic delegation to attend a Pontifical Requiem Mass for the late pontiff next Tuesday at St. Matthews Cathedral in Washington.

Named with Dulles to represent the United States at the Rome rites were Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce, former U.S. ambassador to Italy, and Chairman John A. McCone of the Atomic Energy Commission.

gaunt service tower had been moved back from the rocket, that fueling was continuing almost until target time to "top" the volatile liquid oxygen and keep it at full pressure.

As the crucial instant drew near, Gordon tolled the count at five-minute intervals, then on the minute. In the last minute his count quickened to every 10 seconds. Finally, and almost as an anti-climax, he began the fateful "10-9-8" and down to zero.

With every station leader giving assent by his silence, 30-year-old Harold Eaton pushed the firing button. Everything else was automatic.

Nothing happened immediately. But as the automatic sequencer fulfilled the last steps the rocket came alive 30 seconds later.

The blockhouse crew broke for the door, waiting until the safety signal was flashed so they could run out and root for their bird.

New Pact Set for UAW, GM

Union Expected to Okay Agreement, Submit It to Workers for Vote

DETROIT (UPI) — The United Auto Workers Union's Executive Board was expected to give its approval today to a new contract agreement reached between the union's bargaining team and General Motors Corp.

The board met all day yesterday to consider the new agreement but was unable to complete a point-by-point check.

After the board approves the agreement it will still have to be submitted to a vote of the union's members working in GM plants for final ratification.

To date, the pact has failed to get GM back into production because numerous local issues were left unsolved when the national agreement was reached.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther pledged full UAW support for any "legitimate" demands made by the local unions still on strike at 112 GM plants. Local contracts have been reached at only 16 GM plants since the national agreement was reached last week.

Of GM's 275,000 UAW members, only 36,168 have returned to work.

The UAW also was negotiating with American Motors Corp. for a new contract to cover that company's workers throughout the nation. No progress has been reported in the talks, held under a news blackout, although a strike deadline is now less than a week away.

Tax Spread OK Due on Monday

County Supervisors to Decide How to Carve $50,870,307 Total

Approval of the amount of taxes to be spread this year by the cities and townships in Oakland County is expected to be given Monday when county supervisors meet.

This total for the county comes to $50,870,307, of which $22,760,279 will be collected in the different areas for schools over and above the 15-mill limitation.

Supervisors were ready to approve the spreading of taxes when they met last Monday, but a late ruling on two allocation tax appeals from the State Tax Commission prevented this.

In effect, approval Monday gives treasurers of the county's 21 cities and 25 townships the authorization to put the county, school and miscellaneous taxes on the rolls. They are collectable in December.

Out of the $50-million-plus total, the county will draw $10,164,723 for operating costs next year. This is based on a 1958 county equalized valuation of $1,808,669,648.

Among the other business to come before supervisors Monday will be making 16 appointments to different county positions.

Developments toward drafting a six-county program of proposed legislative enactments next year will be reported on also. A number of possible additions to Oakland's already approved program might be made Monday.

Fixing the boundaries of the Evergreen sewage disposal system will be another order of business.

Frazer Staman, Novi Township supervisor and chairman of the Salaries Committee of the board, will tell that his committee has refused to budge from its original stand fixing Circuit Court judges' pay at $22,500, beginning Jan. 1, 1960.

Reduce Charge in Local Killing

Confessed Gun-Slayer of Texas Hoodlum Held for 2nd Degree Murder

The charge against Demitrios B. Tsermengas, confessed killer of Texas racketeer George Kean, was lowered to second-degree murder yesterday as he was bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court for arraignment Tuesday.

Attorneys for Tsermengas, Clarence L. Smith and Peter J. Lucas, argued during an examination of their client that the prosecution had shown no evidence of premeditation in the killing.

West Bloomfield Township Justice Elmer C. Dieterle agreed and reduced the charge from first-degree murder. Tsermengas was returned to the county jail after failing to make a $15,000 bond which Justice Dieterle set.

Kean was "accidentally" shot by Tsermengas in a Commerce Township home of a friend last December when Tsermengas and two other members of a Texas gang attempted to disarm Kean. Kean, Tsermengas said, had threatened to kill the three of them after a day-long drinking spree.

STORIES MATCH

Testimony Friday by Donald E. Chandler, in whose home the fatal shooting took place, told pretty much the same story Tsermengas, 39, had related to police when he was arrested at his Ecorse home.

The Prosecutor's Office here continued extradition proceedings to return two other men from Texas. They are Lowell E. McComb and Thomas D. Smith, who were allegedly aiding Tsermengas in removing pistols from Kean.

Kean's body was discovered Sept. 28 near Alpena on a tip given to Texas Rangers. The gang stopped off at Chandler's home, 1872 Point Dr., on the way to Sault Ste. Marie to stage a robbery.

If the moon, like the earth, should have put a crust around its metallic core, that crust would be more like the one originally created than the crust of the earth has been since the dawn of history. The surface of the earth has been deluged, covered by sandstorms, eroded and distorted by earthquakes over the centuries.

★ ★ ★

The moon, in its eternal airlessness, has stood in space like a hothouse—or an ice house, depending on which side you look at.

★ ★ ★

For that reason, man has taken great care in his first reach for the moon not to contaminate it. The moon rocket was not supposed to strike the moon face-on, but there was a possibility of lunar collision with the robot or its third stage. So the moon rocket got an ultraviolet ray bath to sterilize it before launching.

The Day in Birmingham

Convention of Architects to Honor Oakland Group

BIRMINGHAM — Paying recognition to its 96 members who either have offices or live in Oakland County, the Detroit Chapter, American Institute of Architects, will hold its annual convention at Showcase, Inc., Tuesday. Fifty-nine of the chapter's members work or live in Birmingham.

Highlighting the affair will be awarding of the chapter 1958 gold medal and its honorary membership.

A reception and cocktail party, dinner and election of officers also will be held.

The Village Woman's Club of Birmingham will present "How to Build a Building," a one-act play based on their building committee's experiences with Birmingham architects, Smith, Tarapata & MacMahon.

Showcase, Inc., at 312 E. Brown St., is a permanent exhibit of the latest in building products and equipment. It contains three architectural exhibits — residential, schools and the 1958 honor awards of the Western Michigan Chapter, AIA.

Ladies have been invited to attend the reception, dinner and program.

The chapel pulpit in the prayer room at the First Baptist Church in Birmingham will see its first official use at the evening service tomorrow.

Mr. Smith was a member of the church's board of Trustees, Board of Deacons and served as missionary treasurer of the church.

Birmingham Stamp Club will hold its first auction of the new season at 8:30 p.m. Monday at the Community House.

E. E. Puls, president, said 60 lots of United States and foreign stamps and covers will be sold. The auction is open to the public.

Beginners and first-class requirement classes are scheduled from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. Boys working for swimming and life-saving merit badges will have the pool from 8:30 to 9:30 p.m.

The Bloomfield Hills Camera Club will sponsor an exhibit of the work of Henri C. Bresson, noted French photographer, at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Cranbrook Academy of Art Galleries.

As the car began to move down a slight incline, the boy became frightened and jumped out of the car, according to Birmingham Police. As he did he slipped under a wheel. It passed directly over the middle part of his body, police said.

Detroit Lions Acquire Chicago Guard Hogland

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Lions today acquired guard Doug Hogland, a six-year National Football League veteran, from the Chicago Cardinals.

Detroit coach George Wilson said he swapped a 1959 draft choice for the 240-pound Hogland, one-time Oregon State star. Wilson declined to say what choice he gave.

Center Bob Griffin, picked up on waivers two weeks ago from the Los Angeles Rams, was released by Wilson to make room for Hogland.

One hour after launching, it was announced the payload had broken free of the earth's gravity pull and was streaking through space.

Five big stations across the globe and nine minitrack stations were tracking Pioneer. Their data was funneled to the Space Technology Laboratory in California for reduction to show just where pioneer was headed.

Dr. Robert Bennett of the STL, on the scene at Cape Canaveral, said it was hoped to get a good "fix" on the payload by early afternoon.

30,000 MILES AWAY

At Jodrell Bank, England, scientists at a giant radio-telescope reported that at noon (7 a.m. Pontiac time) the moon rocket was about 30,000 miles above the earth's surface.

The main objectives of the moonshot were:

1. To get the rocket payload out of the earth's gravitational field. This was accomplished, and was an historic achievement. It is the first time man is known to have overcome the earth's gravity with an object in space.

2. To collect scientific data during the 221,000 mile flight to the moon—and around it, if orbit is achieved.

3. To control the rocket so that the scientific payload will reach the vicinity of the moon, possibly within 50,000 miles.

4. To achieve proper powered flight performance of the rocket.

5. To put the payload in orbit around the moon, with resulting scientific benefits.

Several things could happen when Pioneer reaches the vicinity of the moon—if it does, it could go into orbit around the moon, caught by the moon's gravitation. It could score a direct hit on the moon. Or it could score a near, or not so near, miss and wander into space.

This was a crowning day of triumph for the Air Force and for missile men everywhere. For even if Pioneer did not reach the moon, it had achieved one of the major break-throughs in space research.

Some 120 reporters and photographers applauded Maj. Gen. Donald N. Yates, commander of the Missile Test Center here, when he appeared for a news conference with test directors two hours after the shoot.

Two months ago Yates and other Air Force officials had to face up to the press corps after a moon rocket blew up 10 miles and 77 seconds from the launching point.

Rep. James G. Fulton (R-Pa) said the launching "leapfrogs us over Russia on all Sputniks."

Fulton, a member of the House Committee on Astronautics and Research on Outer Space observed the shoot from the Cape along with Rep. Joseph Kilgore (D-Tex).

Press Assn. OKs Report on Freedom

From Our News Wires

BUENOS AIRES — The Inter American Press Assn. Friday unanimously approved a report by its Committee on Freedom of the Press assailing conditions in Cuba, Haiti, the Dominican Republic and Paraguay.

Delegates to the association meeting gave a standing ovation to the Cuban colleagues for their report on censorship in Cuba. They are Dr. Guillermo Martinez Marquez of El Pais, and Jorge Quintana of Bohemia.

Harold Fitzgerald, publisher of The Pontiac Press, made the motion for the standing ovation.

The Inter American Press Assn. elected 14 American newspaper and magazine editors and publishers to its board of directors. Five were re-elected and nine were new members.

Re-elected were: Robert U. Brown, Editor and Publisher Magazine; W. H. Cowles, Spokesman Review, Spokane, Wash.; James S. Copley, Copley Press; John R. Herbert, Quincy (Mass.) Patriot-Ledger, and Harold A. Fitzgerald, The Pontiac Press.

There were no fatalities but at least two occupants of the hay wagon were seriously injured when it was struck from behind by a car shortly before midnight.

Most seriously injured were Sandra Sackrider, 20, of Flint, with a fractured pelvis and possible internal injuries and Michael Lorimer, of Joliet, Ill., with a fractured right leg.

Also among the injured was Martha Rogers, 20, of 1411 Maryland, Birmingham. Miss Rogers was shaken up in the accident.

There were 18 couples in the wagon, all students from Rather Hall, a men's dormitory and their coed or high school dates.

Thirteen students were admitted to the Lansing Edward W. Sparrow Hospital and three were hospitalized at the university infirmary. Five students were later released from the Lansing hospital.

State Police were holding Oscar Rios, 24, of Lansing, the driver of the car. They said Rios admitted he had been drinking at a rural tavern before his car collided with the rear of the wagon on Lake Lansing road on the Lansing outskirts.

Most of the injuries were received when the students were thrown against the steel sides of the boxlike wagon.

"I could see the car coming from behind and knew it was going to hit us," said Conrad Conti, 18, of Walled Lake.

"We were all thrown around in the hay. The driver was thrown off his seat right in the middle of us. We asked if anybody was hurt and one fellow said he thought his leg was broken."

Trooper Steven Cloonan of the East Lansing Post said the fact that the wagon was of all-steel construction probably prevented the accident from being a major tragedy.

"I hate to think what would have happened if it had been an old wooden wagon," he said. "We could have had a number of fatalities."

Troopers said skid marks showed the driver apparently braked his car only a second or two before it crashed into the rear of the wagon. Skid streaks measured 90 feet in length.

Hackett Begins Role of Country Gentleman

By EARL WILSON

FORT LEE, N.J.—Buddy Hackett, the lovable slob from the sidewalks of Brooklyn, lumbered the other day through the Albert Anastasia mansion which he bought for $64,000 and explained how he is a stupendous success, though broke.

WILSON

"Lookut my wife's shoe closet!" puffed Buddy, up on a second floor. "My wife never had where to put her shoes before.

"Seven bedrooms, six bathrooms, we got! The previous tenant" — that would be Anastasia, who was bulleted to death in a barber chair—"even had a private phone system. Wait'll you see the cellar. It looks like the Copacabana!"

"How long will it be before you have it furnished?" I asked.

"Let's see. I'm 34. I expect to retire in 26 years. About then," he grinned.

"We got no money left. If we ever get rich, we're gonna put a pool right over there. If you get a pool you gotta have a lotta towels, and they cost you!"

★ ★ ★

Buddy now owns a showplace the equal of one his TV boss, Jackie Gleason, has built in Peekskill. Strolling around the patio which is on the edge of the Hudson, looking across the water to the Rockefeller Church, Buddy plucked a rose and handed it to my B.W. who'd accompanied me.

HACKETT

"This is the first rose from our rose bushes," he bowed, bashfully.

"I didn't even know we had roses," said his wife, Cheri. We've only been in here about a week."

Our excursion around the half-acre estate near Palisade Park demonstrated what we knew already — that there's a lot of money in TV. Buddy's predecessor had a steam room. He also had one large room for electric trains —which'll be Buddy's office. There was a common laundry chute—even a miniature Paris Street on the patio.

"Jan Murray says you could put a cannon on the front lawn and challenge the world," Buddy beamed.

"I always thought someday I'd like to own this house.

"When I read about the unfortunate demise of the man who lived here, I started to try to buy it. Then they had the auction. Somebody bid $100. My lawyer bid $64,000 . . . Then the vandals got in here. I hadda spend about $2,000 to replace plate glass windows."

"Buddy led us to the enormous bar, to the elegant maid's room. "It never stops." Buddy shook his head in continuing amazement.

Farm Policy Lambasted by Truman

MINOT, N.D. (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman told 2,500-Democrats last night that farm theories like those of Agriculture Secretary Benson brought 30-cent wheat in the depression.

"And they may do it again unless you do something to stop them," Truman said.

Truman, on a swing through the Midwest to campaign for a Democratic Congress, said the Republicans had created a new kind of "4-H club"—high prices, high taxes, high unemployment and high interest rates.

He said the Eisenhower administration has been pursuing special privilege policies since the first day it was in office.

British to Fly Over Syria

CAIRO (AP)—The United Arab Republic has agreed to allow British planes to fly over Syria when the evacuation of British troops from Jordan begins Oct. 20 the newspaper Al Ahram reported today.

Reflections

Hurricanes Are Terrible

J. L. VOORHEES

Those winds are so destructive that only experience can bring realization and yet it has been those winds that made our fertile valleys. A Soap Box orator lashes himself into a hurricane of emotion; he destroys, and he builds. "Freedom" and "Taxation Without Representation" grew out of a hurricane of emotional outburst. A father and son were farming into the Dust Bowl; the boy blindly follow his plow, saw his furrow fill with blown soil while the air was saturated with it. He unhitched his horse, left the plow where it was, rode back to the house, told his father, "I'm through. This farming is wind, dust, hail—and failure. I want a fortune," walked away. That wind screeched, scoured, dug. The father found the plow, saw a trench where the wind had scoured away the soil to rock, speckled with yellow. Those specks were gold nuggets.

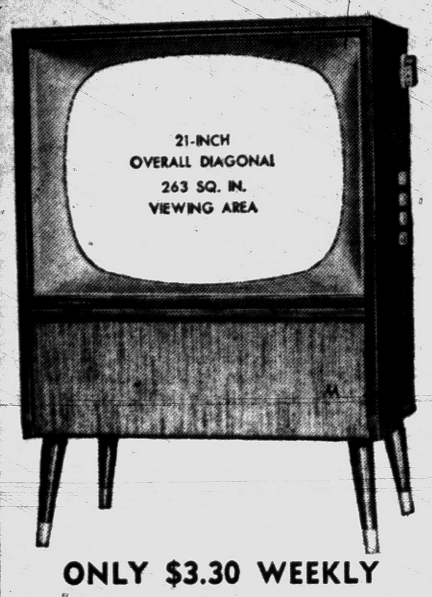

M. E. SIPLE

Youth, 17, Stabs Two Teachers

Attack Occurs During Break in Football Game at School Stadium

HAMMOND, Ind. (AP) — Two Hammond High School teachers, one the varsity wrestling coach, were hospitalized today with abdominal wounds and police held a 17-year-old boy without charge.

Coach Donald Lee Clark, 24, of Hammond, a former Purdue University varsity wrestler, dragged the youth the length of the Hammond football stadium last night after the boy slashed him with a switchblade knife.

Teacher Ronald Wagenblast, 26, who lives in nearby Chicago, was stabbed when he tried to aid Clark.

The incident occured just before the end of a football game in which Hammond's undefeated team beat Hammond Clark, a neighborhood rival, 26-7. School officials said the stabbing had nothing to do with the game.

★ ★ ★

St. Margaret's Hospital reported that both wounded men probably will recover. Coach Clark's wound was the most serious. His wife was expecting a baby momentarily.

State Farmer Held on Murder Charge

WHITE CLOUD (AP) — A 63-year-old White Cloud farmer has been ordered held for Circuit Court arraignment on a general charge of murder in the fatal shooting of his wife and the wounding of her brother.

★ ★ ★

Justice Wells Branch yesterday ordered David Tozer held without bond pending arraignment Oct. 16. The court will determine the degree of murder.

Tozer has signed a statement admitting the slaying of his wife, Ethel, 62, and the wounding of her brother, Darrell Reed, 47, Thursday night in an argument at the Tozer home.

Cecile First Quint in World to Have Child

By CHRISTINE STEWART

MONTREAL (AP)—The birth announcement read:

Born to Cecile and Philippe Langlois, a boy, seven pounds, 14 ounces. Mother and son both doing well.

It would have been just another announcement but for the fact the mother is one of the famous Dionne quintuplets, and the first quint in the world to bear a child.

As Cecile made news, so will sister Annette in a short time. The first of the four surviving quints to marry, Annette is the second to expect a blessed event.

One editor remarked:

"Let's face it. The quints were big news when they were born and they'll continue to make news as long as they are living."

The girls have always shied away from publicity. They have moaned on more than one occasion that they want to be left alone, more so since the 1955 death of Emilie during an epileptic seizure at a rest home in the Laurentian Mountains north of Montreal.

Reporters trooped in droves to the Roman Catholic retreat at Ste. Agathe, Que., and some newspapers said the death occurred under "mysterious circumstances."

★ ★ ★

But Dr. Rosario Fontaine, a Montreal medico-legal expert, scotched the rumors by issuing a post-autopsy statement saying Emilie died of suffocation in a pillow during the epileptic seizure.

It was then that Papa Oliva Dionne disclosed Emilie had suffered from epilepsy since childhood.

Three of the four surviving quints now are married, Cecile to Philippe, a television technician, Annette to finance company executive Germain Allard and Marie to Florian Houle, a Quebec government clerk.

When Annette married Germain in October 1957, at the ultra-modern Notre Dame de Salette Church in Montreal, about 70 reporters and photographers sneaked in through a back door. Photographers snapped pictures a few feet from the altar despite the couple's plea that they wanted no publicity.

About a month later, Cecile and Philippe were married in Corbeil, Ont., where the Dionne parents now live and where quints' doings have ceased to be a local novelty. Their ceremony also was widely publicized.

Marie and Florian were married Aug. 12 in the chapel of Montreal's historic Notre Dame Church. They managed to keep their wedding a secret until about 12 hours afterwards.

Yvonne Dionne remains unmarried, and, in the opinion of brother-in-law Germain Allard, may remain so.

"Ivy," said Germain, "is not 'boheme' exactly, but something like Bohemian. She likes to come and go as she pleases."

Cecile and Yvonne graudated together as nurses last year from Notre Dame de L'Esperance Hospital in suburban St. Laurent. Annette was studying music and home economics in Nicolet, Que.

Marie twice entered a convent to become a nun, but left because of ill health and never returned to take her final vows. In 1956 she opened a flower shop on Montreal's fashionable Pine Avenue, named it "Salon Emilie" and painted the walls blue, the late Emilie's favorite color.

Marie closed the shop six months later. She complained to a reporter that the trust company handling the quints' estate had "interfered." Other reports said the shop produced more publicity than profit.

Emilie was 20 when she died. The surviving quints, who turned 24 on May 28, inherited a reputed one million dollar trust fund when they reached 21. It was from her share of this fund that Marie financed the shop she had named after the sister closest to her.

The quints were born to Oliva and Elzire Dionne May 28, 1934, in a modest farm house near Callander, Ont. The couple already were the parents of six other children, one of whom died at birth.

The girls became wards of the Crown on whose behalf the Ontario government engaged nurses to care for them. The quints' parents were given little responsibility in their care, saw the girls only for a few minutes daily, a condition which Mr. and Mrs. Dionne quietly resented.

The girls remained close when they grew up, but a gap between the parents and children appeared to remain.

The quintuplets, sheltered for most of their lives, decided to fend for themselves when they were about 20, a year before they came into their money and about the time Emilie died. They decided to settle in the Montreal area.

The four surviving quints did not spend the Christmas of 1955 with their parents, breaking an annual custom. This gave rise to speculation that all was not well between the parents and the girls.

Lately, however, all seems rosy between the girls and their parents. Papa Dionne remarked after hearing of Marie's secretive marriage to the 38-year-old Florian Houle: "I have never met Florian, but if Marie picked him out by herself, we feel sure she will be happy."

Says Radiation Kills Cancerous Tumors

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — A leading nuclear scientist says atomic radiation has been used successfully to destroy cancerous tumors in humans without harming surrounding tissues.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Lee E. Farr, director of the medical institute of the Brookhaven National Laboratory, said the tumors were destroyed by radiation from nuclear reactors.

Treatment of humans was carried out at Brookhaven and the results were called encouraging.

The center, housing radiation equipment for the treatment of cancer and other diseases, is part of the Yale-New Haven Medical Center.

★ ★ ★

Farr said he has been conducting exploratory experiments with the reactor method for several years.

Aurora Mayor Trying Hard to Replace Chief

AURORA, Ill. (AP) — Mayor Paul Egan, at odds with his police force, has offered Jack Muller, ace ticket giver in the Chicago Police Department, the job of police chief in Aurora.

Before newsmen and television cameras, Muller, now running as an independent candidate for Cook County (Chicago) sheriff, told Egan yesterday he would like to think it over for a couple of days.

Egan's dispute with Chief Donald Curran and his 68-man police force began with a disagreement over the legality of bingo. Curran, though ifred, has refused to quit his job.

The City Council has backed Curran.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Parents Aren't Always to Blame

Bella's case should make all of you teenagers sit up and take notice. And if you have real courage, then rate yourself per the test mentioned below. Until you attain the emotional level of true adulthood, don't try to pass the buck to Dad or Mother for your own lack of friends or poor grades or fat figures.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE Z - 340: Bella Z., aged 18, is rapidly becoming a problem.

"Dr. Crane, Bella is our youngest," her father informed me, "and maybe Mother and I gave too much attention to our two older children.

DR. CRANE

"At least, Bella says that is why she is going to the dogs. But our older children made good grades and studied faithfully.

"Bella always resented our suggestions. And she felt she had been cheated in life, apparently because she was the baby of the family.

"So she got belligerent and failed in two subjects. Then she got too much for the failure of your kids.

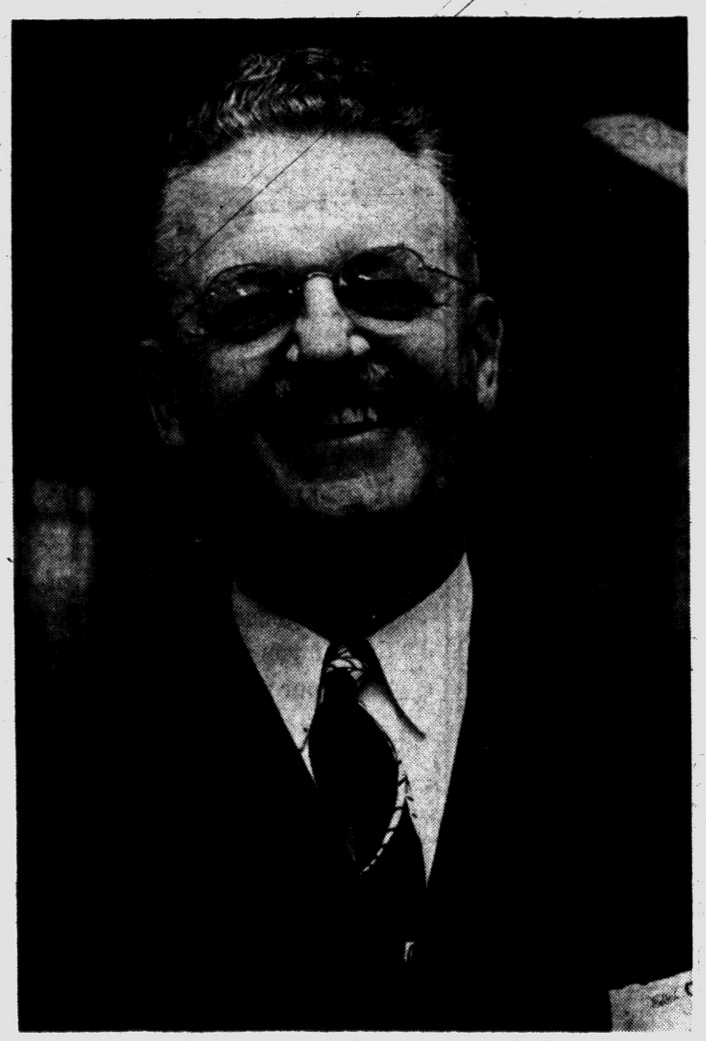

You can't be expected to rate a 1.000 batting average. In fact, if you attain the 0.333 of a star outfielder, you deserve a gold star in this hectic modern age.

How many of you have been suspended or expelled from school? How many have brought home flunk notices?

How many have been arrested for reckless driving of the family car? How many of you still "sponge" off your parents for spending money, instead of earning your own funds?

Too long we have stressed the obligations of parents to their children.

LAPEER — Service for Mrs. James T. (Alice E.) Smith, 70, of 921 N. Main St., will be held at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday at Baird Funeral Home with burial in Mt. Hope Cemetery.

Mrs. Smith died this morning at Lapeer County General Hospital. She was a member of Main Rebekah Lodge 319 and the VFW Auxiliary.

Surviving are seven daughters, Mrs. Carl Clemens of Kingston, Mrs. Clayton Bristol of Grayling, Mrs. Robert Clemens, Mrs. James Scramlin, both of Lapeer, Mrs. Carl Jackson of Marlette, Miss Leola of Ann Arbor and Mrs. Paul Chubb of Dearborn; two sons, Theodore of Pontiac and Stephen of Lapeer.

Also surviving are two brothers, Guy and Grover Phillips; two sisters, Mrs. William Olmstead and Mrs. George Stock, all of Lapeer; 25 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

MRS. WILLIAM THOMSON

ALMONT — Service for Mr. William (Jennie) Thomson, 87, of 338 E. St. Clair St. will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday at Muir Brothers Funeral Home, Almont, with burial in Ferguson Cemetery.

Mrs. Thomson died yesterday in Bishop Hospital following a long illness. She was a member of the First Congregational Church, a deaconess emeritus and a member of the Almont Home Study Club.

YPSILANTI (AP)—Mrs. Agnes Livernois, 102, believed to have been Washtenaw County's oldest resident, died Friday at a Ypsilanti convalescent home. She had made her home in recent years with a grandson, Harold Townsend, of Manchester Township. Survivors include 24 grandchildren, 80 great-grandchildren and at least 30 great great-grandchildren.

Deaths Elsewhere

CHICAGO (AP)—Dr. Nelson M. Percy, 82, internationally known surgeon and developer of the Percy system of whole blood transfusion, died Friday.

NEW YORK (AP)—Rear Adm. Lamar Richard Leahy (Ret.), 78, naval veteran whose career included service in both world wars, died Friday.

SALISBURY, N. C. (AP)—Walter F. McCanless, 70, one-time textile tycoon, livestock operator and financial promoter who reportedly built up and lost several fortunes, died Thursday.

The first railroad in the U.S. is believed to have been a short track of wooden rails built in 1795 on Beacon Hill in Boston, Mass. Wagons drawn by horses supplied the transportation.

It Seems to Me . . .

Automation Inevitably Means More Work for More People

Just the other day, I discussed automation with CHARLES E. WILSON, whose experience as an engineer, as President of General Motors and Secretary of Defense should qualify him as an expert de luxe, strictly in his own right.

★ ★ ★

"Automation," said he, "has been opposed almost forever. Back in England when looms first came, workers rioted and destroyed them, honestly terrified by the spectre of unemployment." The use of looms and other machinery has increased the number of garment workers ten thousand fold.

★ ★ ★

Early in the printing industry, the introduction of the linotype caused sincere, conscientious printers to fear large forces of craftsmen would be walking the streets, unemployed. The facts are that the employment of printers has gone up spectacularly since that day. The linotype helped make the publication of today's infinitely larger papers possible. Newspapers in the very largest centers were four and six pages, when hand set type was the rule.

★ ★ ★

In a contract that CHARLES E. WILSON himself signed with WALTER REUTHER, he wrote this clause into the document and it was accepted completely by the union President:

"To accomplish more with the same human effort, is a sound economic and social objective."

This constituted the recognition of a basic principle by both sides. Both employer and labor leader agreed that labor saving machinery was "good business" and that a sound human principle was enunciated.

"Wages can only be increased," said Wilson, "when the recipient is provided the means for producing more with the same — or less effort. That means progress for both sides."

Forever, the introduction of automatic machinery has caused some alarm. This is understandable. And yet, all recorded history proves substantially that the more automatic machinery we use, the more overall employment results and the greater is the standard of living for all concerned.

I asked O. E. HUNT, former Chief Engineer and Executive Vice President of General Motors, whether Pontiac could build as many Pontiacs in 1959 as they built in 1955 with a substantially fewer number of men.

His answer was interesting:

"The plant could do it with fewer, perhaps, but only a small number less, providing they built exactly the same car in 1959 that they built in 1955. But the 1959 product contains many added features that again require more men. And, even if the 1959 Pontiac with the added features required slightly less men, additional employment would be provided somewhere to make that machinery possible. And finally, if Pontiac were built more easily in 1959, the price would come down, resulting in more sales and hence additional employment.

★ ★ ★

CHARLES KETTERING, one of this nation's greatest engineers said: "Show me a competitor that's completely automatic and I'll be very happy. The introduction of a few new features and betterments will immediately make the mechanized plant obsolete because it can't meet the new improvements. We need men."

★ ★ ★

A recent development in my own business is the factor of teletype tapes. The ITU looked upon this advance with disfavor at first. Now, shops where they're in use accept them as completely as men accept the linotype or high speed rotary presses.

★ ★ ★

Mankind will forever struggle to improve the methods of living. And he will succeed. He always has. This is the only pathway to shorter hours of employment and better wages. Basically, no one in America seeks or wants large unemployment. There can be no prosperity for anyone in that contingency. We need each other. But as we improve our own methods, we make it possible for each other to live more comfortably, with less effort and more profitably.

★ ★ ★

I would especially like to suggest this viewpoint be considered by the three top union officials who discussed the subject here in my office recently.

And in Conclusion . . . . . .

Scene: New York bar. Characters, two gentlemen. 1st Gent: "How's business?" Second ditto: "Swell. Just got a $100,000 order." 1st Gent: "Nuts." 2nd Gent: "Honest. Come over to the office and I'll show you the cancellation."..... Senator Carleton H. Morris, Kalamazoo, is a nephew of the late Carleton Morris of Ottawa Drive ..... What's become of Adora Kisshauer, C.I.O. official that we used to see at United Fund meetings? A real swell girl and very easy on the eyes..... Bill Brooks, 46, of Staten Island has ten children— all girls. They range from 17 years to 17 days.

★ ★ ★

My old friend, JOHN T. O'ROURKE, President of the Inter-American Press Association has been barred by the Dominican Republic as "undesirable." Said JOHN: "I'm delighted. It's like being declared unwelcome in Hell by the Devil." ..... Several times this past summer golfers saw a fox on the seventh fairway at the Bloomfield Hills Country Club ..... JIM VAN PELT, Michigan quarterback is the outstanding sensation of Canadian football his first year ..... Newspaper boys say GREG SHERWOOD DODGE has actually engaged herself a press agent to soften the bad publicity following her recent West Coast brawls ..... MERRITT D. HILL, Ford executive and a grand individual, graduated from Pontiac High.

★ ★ ★

Dagmar (remember?) has just completed the first act of a play. Recently she published her memoirs entitled "First Person Plural." It struck the book stalls with all the impact of a wind blown feather..... It always amazes and intrigues me when I discover that certain male friends are first-class cooks. The latest addition to the list is Louis C. Goad, Executive Vice President of General Motors. It's a long and honorable list.

The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

Sam Walter Foss' faith in God made him a friend of man. The journalist, humorist, librarian and poet of last century America believed that great art was created by him "who understands man, knows the heart of him, loves him above all the rest."

I talked with his daughter in Massachusetts and she remembers her father's "strong faith." A minister once hailed him as a preacher in poetry. His inspired lines of "The House by the Side of the Road" live as one of America's most popular poems:

"Let me live in my house by the side of the road,
Where the race of men go by—
They are good, they are bad, they are weak, they are strong,
Wise, foolish—so am I;
Then why should I sit in the scorner's seat,
Or hurl the cynic's ban?
Let me live in my house by the side of the road

Days of All Faiths

Week Points Out Layman's Position

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

Christian laymen everywhere are beginning to realize that they, not just the clergy, are the church, and that they have a ministry much larger in scope than that of the ordained clergy.

The World Council of Churches says the layman's ministry is to the world as he meets it every day outside the church, while the clergyman's ministry is mainly to his own congregation.

It is in recognition of this newly understood position of the layman that the National Council of Churches each year sponsors Churchmen's Week, which begins tomorrow and continues through next Sunday.

Tomorrow is Men and Missions Sunday; next Sunday will be Laymen's Sunday. All through the week between these two peak days there will be in most communities "Fellowship Rallies" — meetings of local Christian laymen without regard to denominational lines.

These rallies take one of two forms. Either the men come together in one large community hall for dinner, followed by a devotional program and an address, or they have dinner in separate groups at their own churches and then adjourn to an assembly hall for a mass meeting.

The point of such a united demonstration is obvious. In a time when many people outside the churches are bewildered by all the varieties of denominational expression, these rallies are a powerful statement of the basic unity that underlies the differences. They show that the ties that exist among Christians are stronger than the divisions.

One practical feature of Churchmen's Week is the United Service Project. Laymen are asked to help Church World Service find ten million pounds of good used clothing to be sent abroad.

WESTMINSTER'S BUILDER

To know what Monday is about you have to know what a Confessor is and what a Minster is, for this is Edward the Confessor's day in the church calendar, and he was the man who built — or rebuilt — Westminster Abbey.

A Confessor is any male saint who was not a martyr. A Minster is the church of a monastery. All right, on with the story.

Good King Edward of England was next to the last of the Anglo-Saxon kings, just before the Normans invaded in 1066. He came to the throne in 1042, when he was 40 years old. He was of a family that had been dogged by bad luck for years, and at one time he made a pious vow that if the family's misfortune should be brought to an end he would go on a pilgrimage to St. Peter's tomb in Rome.

When Edward became king and the troubles seemed all pretty well straightened out, he did not forget his promise but set about preparing for the long trip. His advisers, however, had misgivings.

Dr. William Brady's Mailbag:

Poet Should Grind Wheat, Turn It Into Party Treat

"Belly breathing puts me to sleep
Quicker than counting a thousand sheep
But, Doctor Brady, the germ of wheat

DR. BRADY

Answer — Oh, now, I wouldn't say that. If the pure fresh raw wheat germ does not appeal to you — be sure it is fresh, not over two or three weeks from the mill — try incorporating portions of it in other dishes or recipes — using one-third to one-half wheat germ in place of that portion of flour the recipe calls for.

★ ★ ★

"What effect has ordinary baking soda on food? I like it in fresh lemonade as a fizz drink, but have heard it kills the vitamins. (A.H.)"

"Working in a chemical plant, where I have to weigh arsphenamine. They say it is harmless, but I wonder whether the arsenic in it could get into the system of a worker handling it so much. (S.R.)"

Answer — Ordinary soap and water cleanliness, carefully avoiding touching hands to mouth or tongue, washing hands immediately after handling the chemical, having proper ventilation of workroom to insure any dust will be carried away, protects worker against arsenic poisoning from such source.

★ ★ ★

"We have a baby, now 8 months old. Does it pay to get the polio vaccine for him? Does it pay to get all the other immunizations that babies now get? (Mrs. H.W.)"

Answer — I'd advise polio, diptheria and smallpox immunization in every instance. Leave the others to your doctor.

"Have you any recommendations as to the value of ultra-violet light apparatus? I am considering installing it in our dental office. (..... D.D.S.)"

Answer — I haven't. Personally, if I found such a bunch of gadgetry installed in my dentist's office I'd commiserate with him on being sold a bill of goods. However, it may impress gullible customers.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

First 100 Speeches Are Hardest

Tim is a big, athletic fellow but he is almost scared to death. He says he sheds buckets of "cold" sweat when he has to give a report at his service men's club. And he grows so nervous, he develops a headache. So study the data below and be sure you have that booklet in your file, if you sing or speak in public.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case Z-342: Tim G., aged 31, is a self-made man, who now belongs to a service men's club.

★ ★ ★

"Dr. Crane, I'm scared to death, though," he admitted, especially when I'm on a committee and am asked to make a report.

DR. CRANE

"Should I drop out of the club? Why, I become so nervous that I may have a headache the rest of the day, just because of a few words I have been asked to utter at the luncheon."

BRAVO, "COLD" SWEAT

Tim should be grateful for his "cold" sweat. That's the type of perspiration that means you are getting ahead in the world.

★ ★ ★

Hot sweat is helpful, but you can shed literally barrels of it in some manual labor job, such as being a section hand on the railroad, without ever climbing a single rung on the ladder to success.

But when you tremble and shake and feel the cold sweat on your brow or in the palms of your hands, be grateful!

For that means you are getting out of your accustomed depth and are being forced to learn new habits to meet bigger opportunities.

★ ★ ★

Tim says he feels like an amateur. Well, why shouldn't he? For he is an amateur!

He wouldn't expect to sit down at the piano for the first time and rival Paderewski, would he?

Then why think you can be an accomplished orator when you haven't addressed more than a dozen audiences.

It's the first 100 speeches that are the hardest! So take heart! All of us professional speakers have gone through this "cold" sweat phase.

"There's no royal road to learning," runs the ancient adage, and it also applies to popularity, public speaking, writing and all other professional chores.

At the outset, every beginner is nervous and jittery. God Almighty intended it that way, for when we are thus keyed up, our thoughts percolate more swiftly so we are not so likely to miss a trick.

To avoid showing your tremors, however, mount your speech notes or sheet music on a heavy cardboard background.

If that is impossible, then seize the flimsy sheets in both hands and pull gently in opposite directions. This maneuver will kill almost every sign of tremor, though you may still be as jittery as a cat.

If you are making a speech, be sure you have a central theme or idea that can serve as the motif.

Upon this motif you can string a number of cases or illustrations, told as narratives (stories).

Save your funny stories for later in the talk or fade out with a joke. You don't need humor at the start, for the audience will usually give you undivided attention for 3 to 5 minutes till it sizes you up.

★ ★ ★

Use the jokes, therefore, to waken the audience and leave them laughing when you say goodbye.

Jesus used this "narrative" method of speaking and almost every great orator has subconsciously adopted it, without any formal training in college.

It is the surefire method for making a speech that people relish. And it relieves you of the tedium of memorizing a long, dry "essay" type of talk.

For further advice, send for my booklet, "Surefire Public Platform Strategy," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit).

Pass these booklets around at your club meetings or in school, as thousands of such groups are doing, for they are non-profit educational aids, so the more of you who can benefit from them, the better service they render.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his phychological charts and pamphlets.

'May Be Parade, but No Progress'

Wednesday I was unfortunate enough to witness the most ridiculous display of downright ignorance our City has ever shown.

They had the brazen affrontery to parade bright, shiny, new cars which are not being built by thousands of workers who are unable to build them because they're sitting home out of work.

'Let Guiltless One Cast First Stone'

Your editorial concerning the status of Russian athletes seems badly timed and ill considered. We know a great many of them are in the armed services and get plenty of free time, but what of our own system?

Top athletes are offered scholarships worth several thousand dollars, with guaranteed "expenses" in order that they appear for their universities and for ther country. This has become such a racket that the whole matter of American scholarships is due for discussion at the next meeting of the International Federation, at the request of Australia, and following complaints from several countries whose top athletes have had offers of so-called "scholarships."

Perhaps we should set our own house in order and get rid of this thinly disguised "professionalism" before accusing others of breaking the rules.

'Music Can Help Stop Delinquency'

I'm firmly convinced that all minds and hands occupied with making musc do not commit crime or have time for vandalism. Every parent ought to grasp the opportunity, such as our Symphony concerts, to expose their children to such fine and beautiful music.

God knows their musical diet is altogether too much trash. Even one exposure to good music often leaves a permanent impression and can sometimes entice a youngster to take up music study.

What a precious gift God has wrought for us. How grateful we ought to be.

After studying the mind for seven years, I've found one thing that solves all problems.

I once hated and once failed. Now, I love others and they love to help me get ahead because they love me in return.

Man Dislikes Digs Made at Scotch

People responsible for those items which continually poke at the Scotch seem to regard themselves as the elite. How could they really size up if compared with John Paul Jones?

I wonder if it's just a coincidence that these have a close resemblance to totalitarian propaganda.

Their perpetual drive has probably even penetrated the Iron Curtain.

Did Gift Have Her Name?

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: My son is going to be married shortly and several wedding presents were sent here to our house from relatives and friends of ours who did not know the bride's address. When they arrived I opened them. I thought this a perfectly natural thing to do as they were obviously wedding presents and intended for my son as well as the bride.

★ ★ ★

"When my son's fiancee came here to visit one evening I, of course, showed her the presents. She seemed very put out because I had opened them and thought that I should have left them intact for her. I would very much like to know if I was wrong."

Answer: Wedding presents are correctly addressed to the bride-to-be and sent to her parents' house. If the ones you received were addressed to her and sent to your house you should certainly not have opened them. If they were addressed to you, you were right in opening them before sending them over to be put with the other presents.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Since arriving here from the East I have noticed that guests call the host and hostess the day after a cocktail party to thank them even though they did thank them verbally when leaving the party. Is this just a local custom and is it necessary for a resident of a locale where it is not done, to follow it or risk being thought rude or boorish?"

Answer: This is a local custom, but remember the old saying, "When in Rome, do as the Romans do."

"Dear Mrs. Post: Is it necessary for me to write a thank-you note for a wedding present that was given to my husband at the office by his co-workers and whom he thanked personally at the time it was presented to him?"

Just Wait Till She's 16 — Abby

Little Gal in Love With Horses Will Transfer Affections Soon

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: Is this a problem? Our daughter is 12 years old and ever since she's been old enough to walk and talk she has had horses on the brain. She draws horses, plays horses, dreams about horses and talks horses night and day. We let her do a little riding but can't afford too much of it as we live in the city. Her ambition in life is to break horses." Should we let her go on this way or can you suggest some way to distract her?"

ABBY

MOM

DEAR MOM: My daughter was exactly like yours when she was 12. Last year (she is now 16) I took her to a horse show. She suddenly exclaimed, "Mother, isn't HE terrific?" I replied, "Yes, beautiful horse!" She looked at me in amazement and said, "Not the HORSE — the fellow who's riding him!" I knew then that she was normal. It will happen to you.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: I like my husband as a friend but not as a husband. We were married when we were both very young and now he doesn't appeal to me like he did when we were first married. The man who sold me my new vacuum cleaner and all the attachments appeals to me like my husband used to when we were first married. Maybe I'm not making myself clear, Abby, but this vacuum cleaner salesman is in love with me and I'm in love with him. Do you think after 22 years of marriage, I'd be foolish to consider a change?"

MAE

DEAR MAE: A woman who would trade in her husband for a vacuum cleaner salesmen (and all the attachments) is very foolish. Disconnect these silly notions and try to make the best of your marriage — before everybody gets sucked in.

★ ★ ★

'DEAR ABBY: I am a young woman of 24 and I stand 5 feet 6 in my stocking feet. I am going with a young man who is a few years older and he stands about 5 feet 3. It is embarrassing to be seen with him even when I wear flats because he is so much shorter than I am.

★ ★ ★

"I have never met a man whose company I enjoy more and he has everything else a girl would want in a man. I have brought up the subject of elevator shoes but he passes it over as a joke and that's as far as I get. I wish he'd wear them because an inch or two would help a lot in his appearance. Should I insist on it or skip it?"

TOO TALL

DEAR TOO: If the mention of elevated shoes doesn't get a "rise" out of your boyfriend, it means he has accepted the fact that he is what he is. He's already "elevated" himself above the average man. Appreciate him and skip it.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: Our son (age 22) is going with a very pretty girl from the other side of the tracks. We have heard some stories about her that would make any parents want to break up this romance. Nobody has any actual proof of these rumors, but I always say, 'Where there's smoke, there's fire.' How can we break it up without being obvious?"

CONCERNED PARENTS

DEAR CONCERNED: Where there's smoke there doesn't always have to be fire, but there is usually somebody who is pretty burned up. Don't prejudge anyone until you have all the facts.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: I am a teen age boy and my problem is an inferiority complex. My parents are always comparing me to my cousin who is very smart. They tell me I will never amount to anything and they make me feel like a failure in life at the age of 17. Please tell me what to do?"

DEAR YOUNG MAN: Go to someone whom you admire. Your coach, a favorite teacher at school, your clergyman or family doctor. Ask him to suggest some activities that will build your self-confidence. Sports, youth groups or helping younger boys could be the answer.

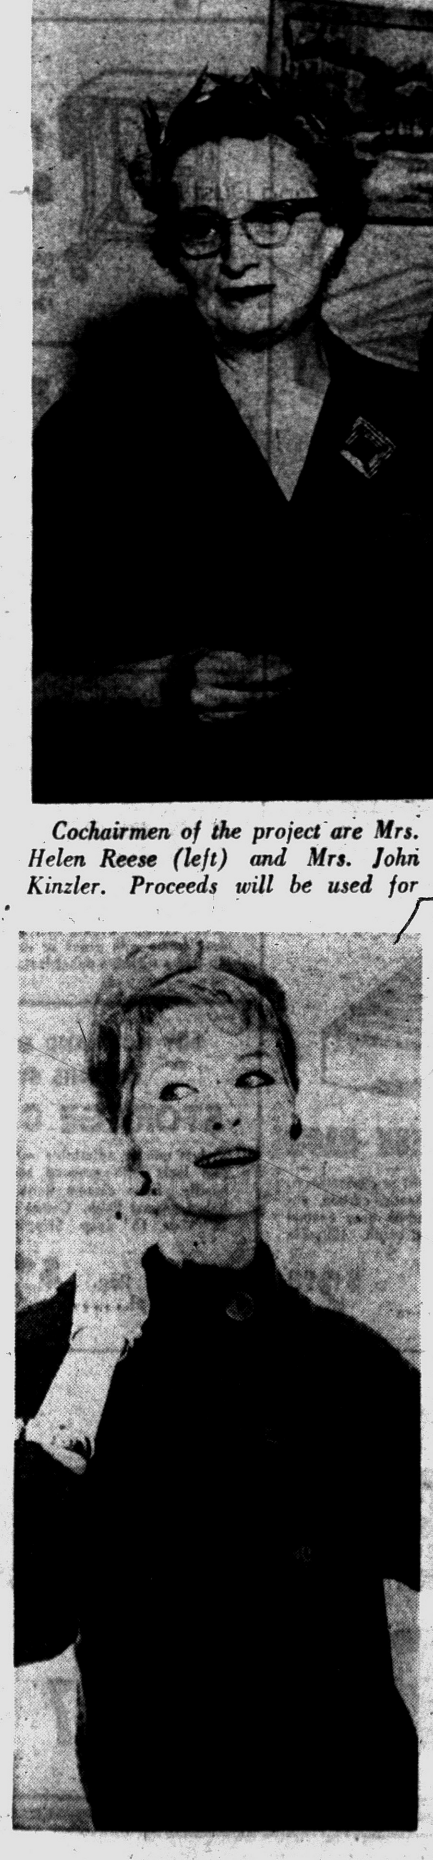

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: My grandmother told me before I was married many years ago that my wedding ring should go on first and then my engagement ring afterwards to signify that that most important thing in my life would always be my wedding ring. If ever the time came when I decided to break up my marriage and give back my wedding ring, I should be prepared to give up all the material things brought to the mafriage by my husband. The engagement ring goes first in the bargain, therefore it should be on the outside."

Spadea's american designer pattern

Harvey Berin

Harvey Berin's clever use of bias cut inspires exceptional fit thru the bodice and achieves an even more interesting effect when the fabric is an oversized check, plaid or herringbone pattern.

★ ★ ★

Since the entire back of the bodice is on the bias, the pattern of the material is matched and mitered along the center seam. The front is on the straight except for the two side pieces that flank the buttoned panel. Also on the bias, these lend a subtly shaped curve to the bustline.

The skirt with a center back pleat is slim and trim with a minimum of darts over each hip.

Select dimensional novelty tweeds, corduroy or velvet for the three quarter sleeve style; crepe, jersey or dress wools that can be as sheer and lightweight as silk for the shorter sleeve dress and wear it well into Spring.

10	34	24	35	16½
12	35	25	36	16¾
14	36½	26½	37½	17
16	38	28	39	17¼
18	40	30	41	17½

Size 12 requires 2½ yards of 54 inch material for dress with three-quarter sleeves. To order pattern No. 1244, state size, send $1.00 — for HARVEY BERIN label, send 25 cents.

For new 96 page Pattern Book No. 15, send $1.00. Address SPADEA, Box 535, G.P.O., Dept. P-6, New York 1, N.Y. If paid by check, bank requires 4 cents handling charge.

Why do the cars of tomorrow have to be driven on the roads of 25 years ago?

Have a Routine

Grooming Takes Time, Thought

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

The woman who prides herself on being able to hop into a shower and then into her clothes and ready to leave the house in 10 minutes, usually shows it! Of course there are times when this is necessary, but for habitually good grooming we must invest time and thought and planning. We must make it a part of our daily and weekly routines.

Take the question of the bath! Just getting wet under the shower will not win any beauty prizes for the woman who depends on that for cleanliness. We need soap and water and the friction from a wash cloth or a bath brush in order to remove the impurities, dead cells and dirt, from our skin.

We should give special attention to our feet and elbows since these become dark and rough unless we do. There is also another area which women often neglect. The cosmetics we use on our face and the natural hair oils often combine to create a filmy rim around the hairline. A sudsy cloth or a little brush will take care of this.

The removal of superfluous hair should also be a part of our weekly or semi-weekly routine.

Naturally no woman can be attractive in appearance or lay claim to good grooming if she neglects either nails or hair. This means regular trips to the beauty parlor or a systematic routine at home which you indulge in as faithfully as you do your housekeeping.

"ONCE OVER"

It also is essential to give your clothes the "once over" at the beginning of each week. Do gloves need laundering? Are collars clean? Do clothes need pressing? Do any hooks or eyes need replacing?

You may not be planning to go anywhere or to wear a certain outfit or use a pair of white gloves, but life has a way of being unexpected and you are sure to get caught and find yourself feeling and looking poorly groomed because of some one item, that is, unless you make this weekly review a part of your life.

Make-up also requires time. You cannot slap it on and look attractive or well put together. One thing women sometimes forget is to take the make-up on the face all the way down to the collar bones, and sometimes past them. We often see a strip of skin between the face and the neck which is sans make-up.

I guess we have to pay a price for everything, even good looks and good grooming! The latter is such an essential part of feminine appeal. There is nothing more unattractive than a sloppy woman.

★ ★ ★

You cannot slap make-up on and look attractive or well put together.

Home-School Communication Topic for PTA

"Home-School Communication," was the theme of the program when Cora Bailey PTA met Thursday evening at the school.

Home-School Communication, a citywide project, was the evenings program directed by Mrs. Ellen Sheffield, a member of the city committee.

A film, "So This is PTA," was shown by Horton Southworth, principal. Mrs. L. D. McLaughlin, program chairman from Pontiac Council of Parents and Teachers, gave a talk on "The Constitutional Convention."

Three discussion groups were held, led by Dolph D. Wright, Bruce Allen and Mrs. Sheffield. Mr. Southworth was moderator.

It was recommended that Bailey School adopt the practice of parent-teacher conferences as a partial system of grades reporting.

Religions Compared at Group Meeting

November Group of First Presbyterian Church met at the Ledgestone drive home of Mrs. Clyde Herring Wednesday. A discussion on "Differences Between Moslem Religion and Christianity" was led by Mrs. Walter Behn.

★ ★ ★

Plans were discussed for the group's birthday dinner in November with Mrs. Herring as chairman, Mrs. Fred Tate was a guest.

Pre-Soak Scrub and Dust Cloths

It's worthwhile to presoak your dust and scrub cloths in a pail of hot soap or detergent suds.

This loosens embedded dirt and — after rinsing — makes it practical to include these dirty "rags" with a machine load of regular washing.

Do you know that office executives have rated cleanliness first among their requirements for applicants?

Splinters can be removed with less pain if an ice cube is pressed to the spot for 20 to 30 seconds before "operating."

Father Able to Star in Kitchen Briefly

By RUTH MILLETT

"Any man who takes over in the kitchen can outcook his wife," says Eugene Earle, chief of an airline's flight kitchen.

Whoa, there, Mr. Earle. Let's look at the facts. When Papa takes over in the kitchen and really does himself proud, he is showing off for guests. Mama has cleaned the house, polished the silver, arranged the flowers, done the marketing, and probably cooked everything but the piece de resistance, at which Papa shines.

Furthermore, she has probably cooked a meal for the children, fed them in advance and cleaned up the kitchen. Then afterward stood at the master's side, handing him each thing he calls for and trying to soothe his ruffled nerves if the knife he has never bothered to sharpen for HER has to have a razor edge put on it before HE can chop up the top quality roast he is using for stew meat.

But with Mama waiting on him like an operating room nurse speeding the job of a surgeon, and the guests bragging on his genius with seasonings, Daddy-O can wind up the evening looking mighty good.

But what would the meals be like if the man of the house took on the not-so-glamorous job of turning out three meals a day, seven days a week, year after year?

I have a pretty good idea. A friend of mine was recently in the hospital for a few weeks, and when she got home the first thing her children said was, "Gee, Mom, when can you cook us a meal? Dad's been giving us breakfast cereal every single meal and we sure are tired of breakfast cereal."

I've no doubt that the father who gave his kids a choice of crispies or jumpies or snappies every time mealtime came along could learn to shine as a chef, cooking a tasty dish for guests whenever he happened to be in the "creative" mood.

But is that COKING? Not from a woman's point of view. That's a production, with Papa in the starring role — and Mama doing the dirty work.

Proper Cooking of Fudge Makes It Real Creamy

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

It's been a long time since we printed a recipe for fudge. This is the old fashioned cooked fudge that you let cool to lukewarm before you beat it. The secret of its success, says Mrs. Leon Glynn, is to cook it until it forms a ball that feels like plastic—sort of waxy in cold water.

★ ★ ★

The Glynns have no family, just a dog, she says. She has a full time job. Membership in the Soroptimist club and in the Altar Society of her church keep her leisure hours filled.

FUDGE
By Mrs. Leon Glynn

2 cups sugar
3 squares baking chocolate
⅔ cup milk
2 tablespoons white corn syrup
Dash of salt

Mix all ingredients together and bring to boil in saucepan. Cook gently to just above the soft ball stage; until the candy makes a waxy, plastic-like ball in cold water. Do not stir while cooking.

Remove from stove and cool to lukewarm. Add 1 tablespoon butter and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Beat until smooth and until mixture begins to lose its shine. Pour into buttered pan and cut into squares. Nuts may be added if desired.

Report of Tour, Set for Dinner

'Why Am I Teaching?' Teachers' Training Class Subject for Discussion

Karen Burnworth and Al Brewer, members of the youth group, will give a report of their experiences when they toured the Southwest last summer on a youth caravan, at the congregational dinner Wednesday evening in First Presbyterian Church.

★ ★ ★

Also featured at the dinner will be a picture entitled "Reason for Being." Hosts and hostesses include Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Ellis, the Floyd Shorts and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Reaves.

★ ★ ★

At 9:30 a.m. Sunday, Dr. William H. Marbach will preach on "Wanted—Decisions of Character." Mrs. Michael Siano will sing "The Ninety and Nine." At the same time, the Rev. Galen E. Hershey will teach a membership instruction class.

The Rev. Mr. Hershey will speak on "Choose Life" at 11 a.m. and Patricia C. Bennett will be soloist. Infants will be baptised at this service.

The second session of Teachers' Training will be Monday evening with the subject for discussion, "Why Am I Teaching?" The church elders will also meet Monday night with the board of trustees on Tuesday night.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Hugh Little will open her home on Cherokee road to the Women's Prayer Group Tuesday morning. Sewing for the Red Cross will be Thursday morning.

Candidates to Train at Alliance Church

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cline, missionary candidates, are receiving training for the foreign field in the Alliance Church, North Cass Lake road at M59.

★ ★ ★

Mr. Cline is a graduate of Nyack Missionary College and Mrs. Cline is a registered nurse. After their training in the local church, they will be going to a foreign mission field under the Christian and Missionary Alliance. A reception was given the couple Wednesday evening in the church fellowship hall.

★ ★ ★

At 11 a. m. Sunday, the Rev. Gordon Donaldson, assistant director of Missionary Internship, will preach. At 7 p. m., Mr. Cline will speak.

Confident Living

Gloomy Mental Attitude Brings Sickness of Body

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

"But, doctor, what then is my trouble? You say you find nothing wrong with me physically. But how can a person feel so bad and still check normally? It just doesn't make sense."

DR. PEALE

The patient, a man in his early fifties, had for a solid hour unloaded a mass of gripes, cynicisms and gloomy negativisms to the London physician who told me of this incident.

"Aren't you aware of the sickening effect of such thoughts and attitudes?" the doctor asked. "The physical body is sensitive to mental depression such as yours. Medicine can do nothing for you. In fact, I won't prescribe anything, not even a sedative. But I will give you a prescription, and if you follow it I believe you can become a healthy person."

The doctor scribbled something on his prescription pad and shoved it across the desk. The man stared at it. "Get your spirit lifted" was all that it said.

"What I mean is that you need some inspiration that will purge your thinking. At present you are bogged down in mental and spiritual darkness. And diseases breed in such darkness. Better change your outlook.

"How do that? Well, try listening to some high grade music. Read a really great book. Maybe go to Switzerland and live with the mountains for a fortnight. However you do it, get your spirit lifted or you can expect trouble," concluded the physician.

NOT NEW ADVICE

What good advice that is! But long before I heard that from a London physician my mother tried to teach it to me as a child.

She was a person of boundless enthusiasms. To her everything was exciting. She got an enormous thrill out of living, and even advancing years, together with sickness and suffering, did nothing to dampen her keen and joyous delight in life itself.

She taught her children, both by example and advice, that, "You can do anything with yourself if you really want to." How often I heard her say that.

"But to do that," she warned, "you have got to keep in tune with the Highest. Never, never let yourself sag. Cultivate a God-replenished spirit and you can always meet life with victorious enthusiasm." That was her philosophy and she drummed it into her three boys.

The Bible, which is always concerned with our welfare, also prescribes the uplifted spirit. Because I am writing this column in Switzerland, it is scarcely possible to avoid heeding this Biblical injunction. Perhaps one reason people love Switzerland is that it keeps one constantly looking up, so that presently you actually begin to feel uplifted.

All day long, amidst intermittent sun, fog and snow, I have been watching climbers heading upward from near the base of the Matterhorn. All of these mountain climbers seem to have bright eyes. And they have a marked ability to relax. There is no tension in them, only a quietly expressed joy and friendliness.

And now, come evening, I am astonished at the sense of peace and happiness within me. Perhaps this really wonderful contentment is from having fellowship with kindly, simple, strong people who themselves possess this uplifted spirit which my doctor friend in London prescribed.

So, it is good to live with big things—mountains, music, art, big thoughts, great ideas—and, most important, God. If you are not happy, but very much want to be, I suggest a trial of the prescription, "Get your spirit lifted."

South Side Church Schedules Services

The South Side Church of God will hold special services Monday through Oct. 19 in observing the third anniversary of the church. The time will be 7:30 each night.

Speaking during the week will be Dr. Richard H. Dixon Jr. of Trinity Baptist Church, the Rev. J. A. Massey from Detroit, Rev. S. M. Edwards of Liberty Baptist Church and Rev. Claude Goodwin of Providence Missionary Baptist.

Other speakers will be the Rev. Amos Johnson of New Bethel Baptist Church, Rev. John Lytell and Rev. R. S. Jackson, both of Detroit.

The anniversary sermon will be preached at 3 p.m. on Oct. 19 with refreshments in Fellowship Hall following the service. The Rev. H. C. Shankle is pastor.

Inquiry Sessions to Start Tuesday at Christ Lutheran

The fall series of adult discussion and inquiry sessions at Christ Lutheran Church, Airport and Williams Lake roads, will begin at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday and will continue for eight consecutive Tuesday evenings.

★ ★ ★

The Rev. Arvid E. Anderson, pastor, will teach the group.

Subjects to be included in the informal discussions will be: "The Church in Its True Sense," "The Bible and Its Use in Modern Day," "The Nature of Mankind," "The Practice of Worship," "World-wide and Local Work of the Church" and "The Family and Its Spiritual Foundations."

★ ★ ★

The pastor stated no obligation to church membership goes with attendance at the meetings. The discussion sessions are set up as a service to families in the community who want to know what the church teaches and practices.

St. John's Members to Hear Architect

Speaking Sunday morning at the 11 o'clock worship hour in St. John's Lutheran Church will be Pastor Carl H. Sandgren, director of church architecture and building finance of the Augustana Lutheran Church.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Sandgren of Minneapolis, Minn. will meet with the Rev. Carl W. Nelson, pastor of St. John's and members of the congregation in preparation for the building fund appeal to be made on Oct. 18.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Sandgren studied at Gestavus Adolphus College and the University of Minnesota. In 1932 he was ordained and served as pastor of several churches before accepting a call to establish the department he heads.

★ ★ ★

The purpose of the appeal is for building a new church on the 33 acre site purchased on Pontiac road, one-half mile east of Opdyke road. The church is presently located at Hill street and Cherry court.

Orchard Lake Man Chosen

Young People to Plan United Nations Annual Collection for Children

J. O. Sarto, elder in the Orchard Lake Community Church, Presbyterian, was recently elected president of the Detroit Council of United Presbyterian Men.

★ ★ ★

The organization represents men's work in more than 100 United Presbyterian churches in Southeastern Michigan.

The Rev. Edward D. Auchard, pastor, will preach on "God's Share" at both morning services tomorrow.

The officers of the Grandale Presbyterian Church in Detroit will at the Orchard Lake Church tomorow afternoon for the annual retreat and planning conference.

The Senior High Westminster Fellowship will attend the Fall Rally and Workshop for Westminster High in the Detroit Presbytery at Royal Oak Sunday.

Roberta Welch, moderator, has announced the following commission chairmen, Sue Alm, Jack Haviland, Kathy Irons, Ellen Ferguson and Valerie LaPiner.

The Junior High Fellowship will meet for supper at 5 p.m. Thursday with Mrs. John Haviland in charge. The young people will plan for the annual collection for the United Nations Children's Fund.

★ ★ ★

The Mariners, an organization for couples, will be guests of Alma College Saturday for the Homecoming festivities. The program includes the Alma—Hillsdale football game and dinner at the college commons.

First Christian Pastor to Represent Michigan

The Rev. and Mrs. D. D. McColl of 165 Dwight St. will leave Monday to attend the International Convention of Disciples of Christ of Christian Churches in St. Louis, Mo.

The Rev. McColl, pastor at First Christian Church, will represent the state of Michigan on the Recommendations Committee. More than 3,000 delegates from all over the world are expected to attend the 10 day convention.

Rev. Fred Hubbs Leading Revival

Columbia Congregation to Observe Anniversary October 18

Evangelist Fred Hubbs, a former resident of Pontiac, is speaking each night at 7:30 in the Columbia Avenue Baptist Church, 64 W. Columbia Ave., in a series of revival services. Meetings will continue through Oct. 19.

The Rev. Mr. Hubbs is currently executive secretary of the Baptist State Convention of Michigan, one of the seven State Conventions of Southern Baptist Convention.

Sunday School Night will be observed on Monday night and on Tuesday night, the largest family present will be given a special gift.

The Columbia Avenue congregation will celebrate its 11th anniversary on Oct. 18 with a fellowship dinner in the recreation hall. According to the Rev. Marion F. Boyd, pastor, the church has grown to 650 members, the Sunday School weekly attendance to nearly 500.

The church has sponsored two other churches during this period, one in South Lyons and another in Keego Harbor.

Thank Offering Slated for Both Worship Hours

The annual Thankoffering service of the Women's General Missionary Society will be observed at the 8:45 and 11:15 morning services in the Auburn Heights United Presbyterian Church.

Speaking at both hours will be the Rev. Matthew Theis, secretary of city and industry for the Synod of Michigan of the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A.

Prior to his present position, Mr. Theis was director of the Dodge Community House, Detroit.

The sacrament of Baptism will be administered during the 11:15 service. At the 10 a.m. Sunday School period, Mrs. Leonard Hebel will tell a special story to the primary children.

Six young people of the youth group will be attending the Presbyterial Westminster Fellowship Workshop from 3:30 to 8 p.m. Sunday in the Fort Street Presbyterian Church in Detroit. The regular meeting will be held locally at 6:30 p.m.

The contest will start at 9:45 a. m. Sunday in Marimont Baptist Church, 68 W. Walton Blvd. with Congressman William S. Broomfield participating in the ribbon-cutting ceremony. Kyle Wilson, youth director of First Baptist Church, will sing. The contest will continue six weeks.

Jesus said unto him, Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind.

This is the first and great commandment.

And the second is like unto it. Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.

Bear ye one another's burdens, and so fulfil the law of Christ.

Nazarenes to Celebrate 50th Anniversary Sunday

LIEUT. BILL LEGREE

The Williams Lake, Parkdale, Zion and First Churches of the Nazarene will join with Nazarenes around the world in celebrating the golden anniversary of the denomination in special services Sunday.

★ ★ ★

Special guest for the Sunday School hour at 10 a.m. tomorrow in the Williams Lake Church will be Lieut. Bill Legree, known nationally as "Flint's Singing Cop." He will sing and tell of his many experiences.

A regular officer of the Flint Police Dept. for 24 years, he is in charge of the Child Safety Division with traffic supervision over 35,000 youngsters in public and parochial schools.

The congregation worships in the Williaims Lake School, Airport and Hatchery roads. The Rev. Paul Coleman is pastor.

The Rev. A. K. Jones of Danville, Ill., will conduct revival services at the Parkdale Church, Parkdale and Hollywood streets at 7:30 each evening Tuesday through Oct. 26 as part of the anniversary celebration.

"The Program and Purpose of the Church," will be the topic of the sermon by the Rev. Wayne E. Welton, pastor, at the 11 a.m. service Sunday.

Tomorrow night at 7:30, he will preach on "The Biggest Question of the Day." The choir will sing "Holiness Forever" and "Trust and Obey."

A golden anniversary revival is scheduled at the Zion Church of the Nazarene from Tuesday through Oct. 26. Services will begin each night at 7:30 with the Rev. Howard Rickey, the evangelist.

The choir of the First Church of the Nazarene will sing Tuesday. The Rev. Robert A. North is pastor of the Zion Church and Jack Burton, music director.

Under the supervision of the pastor, the Rev. Kenneth Hutchinson, special anniversary music and services are being planned for the First Church of the Nazarene, 60 State St.

Speaking at the 68th annual Harvest Home Banquet in First Methodist Church at 6:30 p.m. Friday will be Dr. Frederick C. Vosburg, minister of Court Street Methodist Church in Flint.

'Going Steady' at Rally Tonight

Singspiration in Central Christian Church at 9:15 Sunday Evening

"Going Steady" a gospel film, will be shown at 7:30 tonight in the Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church, 404 Oakland Ave. at the Oakland Youth Rally.

★ ★ ★

At 9:15 p.m. Sunday, Singspiration, sponsored by the Oakland County Youth Fellowship, will be held in Central Christian Church, 347 N. Saginaw St.

The Ambassador Singers from Canada will be featured as will a local quartet and the trumpet trio.

★ ★ ★

Bill Meyers will be in charge of the singing. Glyn Stone is director of the Fellowship.

And whosoever shall exalt himself shall be abased; and he that shall humble himself shall be exalted.

Evangelistic Meetings Slated

Sunday School Officers, Teachers to Arrange Classes in New Unit

"Evangelize or Fossilize" will be the theme of the Rev. Theodore R. Allebach's sermon at 10 a.m. Sunday in the Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church.

★ ★ ★

Coming to conduct evangelistic services from Oct. 19 to 26 will be the Rev. Harold Hansen of Granger, Wash.

The Junior High department of the Sunday School will meet tomorrow in the newly acquired property at 18 Cadillac St.

Pioneer and Builder Youth Groups will meet at 5:45 p.m. with "Man With a Mission," the evening subject. At 7 p.m. the pastor will preach on "Blessed Is the Man Who Trusts in God."

At the 7:30 p.m. meeting Tuesday, officers and teachers of the Sunday School will plan the arrangement of classes in the remodeled unit to be occupied in early November. Joyce Sweet, superintendent, will be in charge.

All women of the church are asked by the pastor to meet for an all day session from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Blessed is he that considereth the poor: the Lord will deliver him in time of trouble.

Minister Helps to Build Own Parsonage in Ohio

REYNOLDSBURG, Ohio (AP) — While getting his education, the Rev. Mr. Harold Hill learned carpentry on summer construction jobs.

It came in handy again recently when his Presbyterian church here couldn't afford to build both a parsonage and an addition to house classrooms. With the help of his family and members of the congregation, the young minister built the parsonage himself.

Tracking System Covers World

Stations Pick Up Rocket Signals

By JACK LEFLER

★ ★ ★

Picking up signals from the moon-bound missile's powerful transmitter, far-flung stations relayed the information to an awesomely complex data reduction center here.

★ ★ ★

The hub of the tracking network is operated by the Air Force ballistic missile division.

Its ears are ground tracking stations at Manchester, England; Singapore; Hawaii; Patrick Air Force Base, Fla., and Millstone Mountain, N. H., and nine widely scattered minitrack stations of the Naval Research Laboratory.

The Hawaii and Singapore stations were built especially for this project.

These ground stations are receiving telemetry data from the rocket. They record it on magnetic tape. Information on the missile's position is transmitted to the Inglewood headquarters. Tape data will be sent by plane.

A 40-member team headed by Lt. Col. Donald Latham and Dr. G. E. Mueller mans the Data Reduction Center of Space Technological Laboratories here.

As the messages come in from the tracking stations, mathematicians take the individual reports, convert the various time designations to a standard figure and check for errors in transmission. Then the figures are transferred to computer punch cards.

Now the lightning-fast IBM electronic digital computer takes over. It is the heart of the entire operation.

These figures tell the experts where the rocket is in relation to earth and moon.

The data center has two-way contact with each of the five principal stations. These points communicate with each other by conference calls.

The Naval laboratory's minitrack stations are at Ancon, Peru; Antigua, Leeward Islands; Antofagasta, Chile; Cotopaxi, Ecuador; Grand Turk, Bahamas; Johannesburg, South Africa; San Antonio, Cuba, Havana, Cuba; Woomera, Australia, and Santiago, Chile.

They transmit their reports to the Air Force Missile Test Center, Cape Canaveral, Fla. The information is relayed to Inglewood.

The rocket has a small television-type, infra-red scanner to relay pictures back to earth. The five major tracking stations are equipped to receive this transmission on magnetic tapes.

★ ★ ★

'Voice of America' Contest Now Open

Entries are now being accepted locally for the Voice of America scriptwriting contest to be held the week of Nov. 10, according to a spokesman of Post 1370 of the Pontiac Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The contest is open to all 10th, 11th, and 12th grade students in area public, private, and parochial schools.

The scripts are to be written as broadcast commentaries from three to five minutes in length on the theme "I Speak for Democracy."

State winners will go to Washington, D. C. Top prize nationally is a $1,500 scholarship to any college the winner chooses. First prize locally is $50.

To enter, eligible students may contact their high school principal or the local sponsor. Co-sponsors of the contest are the VFW post and radio station WPON. Entry deadline is Nov. 7.

Dr. Hagen Has No Comment on Moon Rocket

EAST LANSING (UPI) — Dr. John P. Hagen, director of the Navy's Vanguard project, declined to comment this morning on the Air Force's launching of its second moon rocket.

Hagen, who told a Michigan State University engineers' reunion last night that satellites will open knowledge of "strange new things" to man, was reached in East Lansing, a few moments after the Defense Department announced in Washington that the four-stage rocket had been aimed for the moon and fired from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

"I have no statement to make at this time," Hagen said.

Last night, Hagen said "quality and not quantity" of satellites should be stressed in comparing U.S. and Russian advances.

Pick Up Air Signal of U. S. Moon Rocket

FT. MONMOUTH, N.J. (AP) — Monitors for the Army Signal Corps today picked up the signal from America's moon rocket 3½ minutes after it was launched.

Receivers were still picking it up at 6 a.m., though it was getting weaker.

The rocket was fired at Cape Canaveral, Fla., at 3:42 a.m.

How McElroy's Memo Launched Moon Rocket

By DOUGLAS LARSEN

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A top-secret memo to the three services from Secretary of Defense Neil McElroy, dated Oct. 14, 1957, officially launched America's attempt to send a rocket to the moon.

The date was 10 days after Russia astounded the world by launching Sputnik I. It was five days after McElroy had switched from selling soap to directing America's defenses. At that time there was great fear that Russia would get to the moon first.

How many tries, if any, the Russians have made to reach the moon is not known. The first U.S. effort failed on Aug. 17.

The McElroy memo ordered the services to submit proposals for some new space projects which could be accomplished within a year or so.

All then-current space projects had been limited to the development of specific weapons — excepting only the Navy's Vanguard program. This was considered strictly non-military, being done as part of the International Geophysical Year operation.

The services decided that the order meant the Administration was ready to reverse its previous policy against diverting any military effort to space projects for propaganda or purely scientific reasons.

What the memo really meant was that McElroy hoped to be able to sell the President and National Security Council on this reversal at a later date.

At the moment the White House was busy explaining to irate Americans that a U.S. satellite could have been launched before the Sputnik. But, the White House said, this would have been at the expense of the ballistic missile development schedules.

By the first of November the three services had submitted a total of 35 new space proposals.

The new Secretary of Defense had only glanced through the proposals when Sputnik II went up, Nov. 3. By that time McElroy believed that the Navy's Vanguard program needed a quick back-up program.

Thus, on Nov. 8, with the President's approval, he ordered the Army to prepare to fire two Jupiter C missiles for launching satellites. This was one of the Army's proposals. And it was a partial reversal of the policy against using military materials for space study.

On Jan. 31 — after one Vanguard had risen a few feet and crashed, and a second was scrubbed after four unsuccessful count-downs — the Army put Explorer I into orbit. America was naturally delighted.

All three services had submitted moon shot proposals in response to the Oct. 14 memo. But they failed to promise a firm date on when it could be done. After studying the proposals McElroy asked for these dates.

STUDIES PROBLEM

Several members of this group moved into the Douglas Aircraft plant in California where the Thor intermediate range ballistic missiles were being built. Their goal was to determine how best to divert a group of Thor missiles to a moon program with least interruption to the weapon-testing program.

By this time McElroy had found a strong supporter for his belief that the decision against using military stuff for semi-military space study should be officially reversed. He was George W. Allen, new head of the U.S. Office of Information. At a Security Countil meeting in December they won their point.

The President and NSC members — top cabinet officials — were then convinced that the propaganda and science benefits from successful lunar probes would outweigh any delays they would cause in the weapons programs.

CONGRESS ACTS

In the meantime Congress was creating the Advanced Research Projects Agency in the Pentagon to take over such quasi-military efforts as lunar probes. ARPA came into official existence on Feb. 8. By mid-March, Roy W. Johnson, its new boss, had his staff together and was ready to go.

Johnson's first order of business was to evaluate the promised schedule of moon shots offered by the services. The Air Force said it would be ready for a firing the weekend of Aug. 16-17, 1958.

The Army offered an elaborate plan for moon shots, but refused to do his bit until more than two days after the main part of the rocket was blasted off at 3:42 a.m. EST today from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

Samulon, sitting at his post in Hilo in the Hawaiian Islands, is charged with pushing a remote control button that will attempt to set off a "reverse rocket" that will slow down the missile as it approaches the moon.

The 85-pound "Pioneer" will then have traveled more than 200,000 miles in two days and perhaps be as close as 20,000 miles to the moon.

When Samulon pushes his button, a radio signal will go out and—it is hoped—cause the final part of the rocket to ignite. No one could be sure the signal would reach that far.

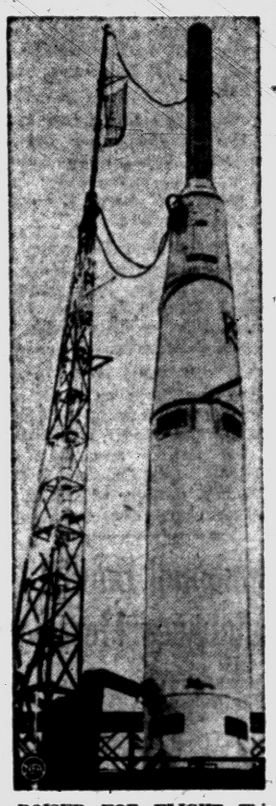

The rocket blast touched off by Samulon will be directed away from the moon and will have the effect of slowing down the on-rushing device, and change its direction somewhat.

If all goes well, the space vehicle and its infra-red camera will go into a temporary orbit or at least a curving course around the moon, so that a crude picture of the moon's far side can be obtained.

Samulon is stationed in Hawaii because the lunar robot should be almost directly over that point when the time for firing the final stage arrives.

The actual decision on exactly when Samulon should push the button will be made with the aid of a huge computer at the Air Force Ballistic Missile Division in Inglewood, Calif.

POISED FOR FLIGHT—This picture of the Air Force's Thor-Able moon rocket was taken just before the first attempt at lunar flight failed on Aug. 17. It is the same missile which was successfully launched for the moon at 3:42 this morning.

He'll Push Button to Hit Moon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Henry Samulon, 42-year-old Polish-born electronics engineer, is "the man with the golden finger" in the U.S. Moon rocket shoot.

That is the title conferred on any person who pushes the key button in a rocket firing. But in this case, Samulon won't get to do his bit until more than two days after the main part of the rocket was blasted off at 3:42 a.m. EST today from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

New Regime Warns People of Pakistan

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — The new revolutionary regime has warned Pakistan's 81-million people to tighten their belts during an economic and political reform.

The chief administrator of martial law, Gen. Mohammed Ayub Khan, issued the warning last night. He spoke to Pakistani reporters for the first time since President Iskander Mirza seized personal power Tuesday with Ayub's help.

TV's Yancey Derringer Totes 3 Guns at Once

By BOB THOMAS
AP Motion Picture Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The new TV season has brought forth umpteen Westerns and one Southern, suh, name of Yancy Derringer.

This Derringer is a cool character of post-bellum New Orleans who carries three firing arms bearing his own name. Except for a mustache and a vaguely larcenous nature, you might take him for another TV idol named the Range Rider. Or he might pass for Jock Mahoney, star of Universal-International movies.

All are the same guy, a towering, muscular ex-stunt man who is now embarking on his fourth career in films. And this one seems to be the most promising to date.

Jock graduated from falling off cliffs and horses to make 78 Range Rider half-hours. Then he did 11 features for U-I.

"I returned from Germany after doing a small but meaty part in 'A Time to Love and a Time to Die' and found out that the bottom had dropped out of the studio," he said. "They didn't know when they'd be in business again and suggested I consider TV offers."

One was to do Revue's "Cimarron City." He was offered $70,000 a year on a flat salary. Jock said he'd work for $40,000 if he could share in the profits to avoid paying much of his income to taxes. No deal. Then U-I asked if he'd like to have his freedom. Jock impulsively said yes.

★ ★ ★

"There I was owning only my house and having no income," he remarked. "It happened so suddenly that I didn't have time to line up another job."

But his action had the endorsement of the family council—his lovely wife Margaret and three children. Their confidence was justified. The offers started coming in, most of them for Western series. He shied away, not wishing to climb back into the Range Rider's saddle.

One day he encountered Richard and Mary Sale, veteran film-writing team. They chatted most of the day and into the evening. Out of the meeting of minds came Yancy Derringer.

Six Candidates to Be in Pontiac for Public Forum

Six candidates in the forthcoming state elections, three Republicans and three Democrats, have agreed to take part in a public forum Oct. 24 in Pontiac.

They include: Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart (D-candidate for Michigan senator), State Rep. Leslie H. Hudson (D-18th District candidate for U.S. House of Represetatives), Leo P. Meagher (D-12th District candidate for State Senate), U.S. Rep. William S. Broomfield (R-incumbent for 18th District seat), State Sen. L. Harvey Lodge (R-incumbent for 12th District seat) and Alan G. Weatherwax (R-candidate for state treasurer).

The forum, intended to answer questions of the general public, will be held in the Little Theater at Madison Junior High School at 8 p.m.

Economist Raps State Tax Law

Says Present System Puts Double Burden on Lower Incomes

ANN ARBOR (AP) — A University of Michigan economist says the present state tax laws impose a double burden on lower income families.

Prof. Richard A. Musgrave told the University Press Club of Michigan yesterday that families in the $2,000-$3,000 range pay out 12 per cent of their annual income in state taxes.

This compares with six per cent taxation for those with yearly incomes over $7,000, he said.

Musgrave said highly regressive effects of state taxation are offset in part by federal income taxes which take a relatively higher share of income from middle and upper groups.

The U. of M. economist said the adoption of a two per cent state income tax would put some $100,000,00 annually into the state treasury.

Earlier this year, Musgrave indicated he favored a flat state income tax as a means of increasing state revenues.

He said a progressive rate for a state income tax might encourage some families in the upper brackets to move out of the state.

By BILL CORNWELL

SAGINAW — The non-conference "honeymoon" for the Pontiac Central football team ended abruptly and rudely here Friday night on the turf of Saginaw Arthur Hill's Memorial Stadium.

With three wins over outside foes tucked under their belts and a perfect record to protect, the hopeful Chiefs made the trek to this up-state city last night to open their 1958 Saginaw Valley Conference campaign.

A big and fast Arthur Hill team with a deceiving 1-2 mark let the PCH gridders know—and not too politely, either—that Saginaw Valley football is no picnic.

It was Homecoming time at Arthur Hill and the Chiefs obligingly honored the occasion by allowing a fired-up Lumberjack squad to run around, over and through them for a decisive 27-0 triumph.

Central gave a completely lifeless and lack-luster performance. It was a showing in violent contrast to the spirited and aggressive tactics displayed against Waterford, Wyandotte and Ferndale.

The Chiefs didn't block and they didn't tackle. Offensively, they were so inept that the hard-charging Jacks swarmed through their line like water through a leaky dike and on defense they were rushed off their feet.

Their attack was so feeble that they entered the 4th quarter with ZERO net yards rushing and finished the game with an anemic 25. They made only one scoring threat and they didn't cross midfield until the final period.

Arthur Hill has a capable football team this season, but the Jacks aren't that good. Pontiac was just that bad in this contest.

The Chiefs put themselves in a hole at the very start by fumbling on the 1st play from scrimmage, the alert Hillites pounced on the ball and promptly scored and the Chiefs were mired in the hole for the rest of the route.

Sparked by quarterback Phil Bird and fullback Jim Bublitz, the Lumberjacks tallied once in each quarter and wasted four other scoring opportunities. The swivel-hipped Bublitz hit pay dirt three times and 3rd string quarterback Tom Dawson accounted for the 4th and final touchdown.

Pontiac received the opening kickoff and fumbled on the 1st play with Arthur Hill's Ray Beebe recovering on the PCH 20. The Jacks crossed the last white stripe in five plays with Bublitz going over from two yards out. Dave Birch placekicked the extra point and the Chiefs were seven down after 3½ minutes.

Following a Pontiac punt, the Lumberjacks drove 58 yards in 12 plays to chalk up six points as Bublitz again cracked over from the two with only two minutes left in the half. Birch missed his kick and it was 13-0 at intermission.

Arthur Hill took the 2nd half kickoff and marched 67 yards in a dozen tries with Bublitz ripping through the middle of the PCH line from the five for the TD. Birch booted point No. 20.

Ken Wenzel spotted another Central fumble on the last play of the 3rd period on the PCH 22 and the Jacks paraded to another touchdown in the 2nd minute of the 4th stanza. Dawson tore off tackle seven yards for the TD and Bob Geyer placekicked the point to wind up the scoring.

The listless Chiefs woke up long enough for one scoring effort late in the game. Their attempt got them to the Arthur Hill six but the threat died when the Jacks threw them back to the 22 where they lost the ball on downs.

The statistics:

Oxford Surprises Lake Orion, 13-7

Rochester Routs Utica, 33-0

Rochester came back from a week's layoff to rout Utica, 33-0 on th Falcon gridiron, while Oxford surprised Lake Orion 13-7 in key rivalries last night.

Five Rochester players scored TD's in the victory with Ron Robbins going 27 yards in the first quarter. Howard Hinkle added the point.

On the ensuing kickoff, Utica fumbled and Rochester started on the 18. Ted Knapp went the final one yard to make it 13-0.

Two more scores in the second quarter came when Larry Hummel went one yard and Reggie Dixon ran the point. Dixon then went 55 yards around end in only three plays and at the half it was 26-0.

In the 4th quarter, Rochester marched 94 yards and Dave Hecht went the final 11 yards. Hinkle added the final point. Utica managed only 40 net yards and one first down in the game.

Lake Orion had fumbleitis and Oxford was alert enough to capitalize. After a second stanza fumble, Dick Duncan went 15 yards for Oxford and Doug Stott ran the point.

In the third quarter, Orion drove 60 yards with Lee Schoup going 20 yards and Bud Gouin adding the point.

The tie was broken in the final quarter when Duncan went 10 yards after a fumble was recovered on the Orion 30. As the game ended Orion was on the Oxford 15.

Final Round Today for World Amateur

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (AP) — Final round of action was under way today in the first world amateur golf tournament, with players from three leading teams bracketed in the last threesome. New Zealand leads U.S. 687-690.

Reid Jack, 1957 British amateur winner, led the individual field with 74-74-76—224. Charles Coe was third with 74-77-76—227.

Sexton Spoils Fonde's Record

Halts Ann Arbor Win Streak in Six-A, at 43, on 20-13 Count

By The Associated Press

Lansing Sexton has ended Ann Arbor's long and storied string of victories in the Six-A football league.

Sexton scored a fourth period touchdown, breaking a 13-13 tie and defeating Hank Fonde's Pioneers Friday night, 20-13. It was Ann Arbor's first defeat in the Six-A league in 43 starts.

Sexton took the lead on the first play of the second quarter when Clarence DeMyers plunged five yards. Ann Arbor got its first score on a 66-yard pass play from Jim Potter to Joe Walker. Each team scored again, the Lansing club on a four-yard run by Emerson Boles and Ann Arbor on a 27-yard run by Bill Orr, and the game was deadlocked 13-13 at the half.

Other highlights around the state prep circles: Stockbridge won its 15th straight, beating Williamston 26-0 . . . Hudson made it 24 without a loss, stunning Pittsford 47-0. Kalamazoo Central won its first in 14 starts, edging Grand Rapids Union 7-6.

Vikings Wallop Southfield 32-6 to Tie for Lead

Falcon-Walled Lake Tussle Next Week May Decide I-L Title

By CHUCK ABAIR

Unbeaten Farmington, stunned by a hard-hitting Waterford eleven in a scoreless first half, came to life to romp to a 42-6 waltz last night ruining homecoming for the Skippers.

The victory enabled the Falcons to move into a tie for the Inter-Lakes League lead with Walled Lake. The Vikings just about eliminated defending champion Southfield by winning 32-6. Berkley matched Waterford's 1-1 record by tripping Van Dyke 12-6. Loop honors may very well be decided next Friday when Farmington visits Walled Lake.

One Waterford booster summed up the contest with the remark that it was "just like the Pontiac game." That also had been interesting for one-half before the Skippers flopped.

They certainly fell apart last night after showing some good stuff both offensively and defensively for 24 minutes.

Farmington roared back following the intermission to break the scoring ice covering 70 yards in three plays and a minute and 16 seconds. It was all Falcons from then on.

Speedster Mike Agee, whose running stole the show, tallied the first TD from the 18 after setting it up on a 37-yard gallop. Neil Stevenson, Al LeSage and reserves Ron Rader and Ed Goodfellow followed, the latter getting two. Harvey Chapman kicked six straight over the crossbar.

The home team moved the ball well but had trouble keeping it due to four lost fumbles and two pass interceptions.

★ ★ ★

Little scatback Mike Ewer ran well all evening. He helped pace the lone Waterford touchdown march which covered 68 yards. A sparkling pass play with Billy Bryce flipping to Wendy Meyer accounted for the last 33.

Ace halfback Frank Fink ran the ensuing kickoff back 25 yards and then dashed 65 yards to paydirt on the first scrimmage play to tie the count. The half ended 12-6 after Mike Wurst scored.

Wurst added another in the 3rd, while Tom Phelps and Bob Christian went over in the final session. Phelps and Wurst added extra points.

Berkley scored twice in the opening half and then held off a late Van Dyke bid. Bear John Stifler's 80-yard run for a TD on a pass interception highlighted the contest.

Sugar Bowl His Dish

UNIVERSITY, Miss. (AP)—In two games in the Sugar Bowl Stadium last season, Mississippi quarterback Ray Brown netted 283 yards on 21 carries, completed 5 of 10 passes for 43 yards and three touchdowns and scored four times. One of his tallies was a 92-yard scrimmage run. Ole Miss beat Tulane 50-0 and Texas 39-7 in Brown's two big games.

Lakers Stay Unbeaten

The stage was set today for a Wayne-Oakland showdown game next Friday at Northville which will likely determine if red-hot West Bloomfield has the stuff to go all the way.

GRATSCH

A 21-23 triumph at Brighton last night gave the Lakers three straight loop victories and four overall matching Northville's defending champions.

The Mustangs bombed Milford 34-6 last night, while Holly was blanking Clarkston 13-0. Bloomfield Hills had nipped Clarenceville 7-6 in an afternoon battle to escape last place.

One of the happiest coaches in the area after the 4th week of play was Holly's Al Gratsch with his initial victory after three impressive showings in defeat. "It sure feels good to be a winner," he commented at Clarkston.

Talented John Lucadam dashed seven yards and kicked his first of three extra points to put the locals ahead to stay early. A fine defensive stay stopped Brighton at the one in the same period.

Lucadam's 35-yard run set up the 2nd tally which was scored by swift Jack Newton from the five. Newton's 60-yard kickoff return and a 25-yard Lucadam-to-Tom Bell pass accounted for the other.

Clarkston, missing injured quarterback Bob Porritt, never got a strong threat going despite gaining well between 30-yard lines.

Holly clinched the issue in the 1st quarter on a Don Rounds' six-pointer. George Coggins made sure when he crossed from the 10 in the 3rd. Mel Joseph and Larry Crouch were standouts in defeat.

Northville rung up three touchdowns in the very 1st quarter and then coasted along to victory. Bob Starnes and Larry Nitzel each scored twice. John Zeeman was the Milford scorer.

Veteran quarterback Doug Danziger was the Bloomfield Hills hero. He broke up a scoreless duel by going around end for a 25-yard TD jaunt in the 2nd period and passed for what turned out to be the winning point.

On the extra point play, the senior southpaw faked a kick and passed to John Leslie. Clarenceville quarterback Carl Fox got the touchdown back with a 45-yard scamper in the 3rd but defender Dennis Haugh came up with a key tackle on a running attempt for the extra point to save the day.

Clarkston lineup: Ends—Parks, Caverly, Smith, Allen. Tackles—Marsh, Saiz, Keift, Gallagan. Guards—Tisch, G. Armstrong, R. Armstrong, Myers, Irwin. Centers—Wilmot, Greene, Currier, Spahn. Backs—Glennie, Crouch, Joseph, Jim Hennig, Jerry Hennig, Morgan, Snover.

Holly lineup: Ends—Ennis, Wagner, McDaniels, Mills, Moody. Tackles—Schwartz, Hill, Richter. Guards—Burgess, Reid, Scramlin, Gardner, Johnson, Howell. Center—Bensett. Backs—Kinney, D. Coggins, G. Coggins, Hayes, Rounds, Brown, Harmes, Rogers.

Birmingham Wins, 33-7 for 2-0 Mark in EML

Birmingham is making a habit of scoring on the opening kickoff. Quarterback George Forrest took the Ferndale boot and went 80 yards and the Maples continued their scoring spree to whip the Dales, 33-7, in an EML game last night.

Last week it was Ed Busch who scored on the opening kickoff against Mt. Clemens.

In the second quarter, however, Birmingham recovered two Ferndale fumbles and Same Reeve went five yards and Busch went 10 for the tallies.

Playing without its regular quarterback Tom Morey, the Dales could not stop the Maples. In the third period Busch scored his 9th TD of the season going 15 yards and Phil Russell passed to Pete Palmer 40 yards for the other.

Phil Isbell added all Birmingham points on kicks. The win gave Birmingham a 2-0 mark in the EML and a 3-1 record for the season.

In another EML contest East Detroit nipped Hazel Park, 14-13 after a pair of bad punts started the Shamrocks on the move.

In the 1st period, Chuck Williams went over from the one and the 2nd quarter Dick Ickes went six yards. Bill MacGillivray booted both points.

Bill Polly went one yard in the third quarter for Hazel Park after a blocked punt set up the TD and Bob Fulcher kicked the point.

The tying point was blocked after Gary Chapman went five yards in the 4th quarter for the other Hazel Park TD.

Pontiac Press Photo

MAPLE LEADERS — Birmingham's unpredictable Maples made it three wins in four starts and two straight in the Eastern Michigan League at Ferndale last night led by co-captains Bob Lovell, left, and Ed Busch. Lovell is the ace of the forward wall while halfback Lovell leads the team and all Oakland County in scoring with nine TDs. Proud coach Carl Lemle is shown with his two top performers.

After 19, Imlay Does It

Almont's Win Streak Ends

After 19 straight victories, Almont the state's number one class C team has tasted defeat, and strangely it was Imlay City which turned the table last night as it did three years ago when the streak started.

It was a scoreless game until the 4th quarter when Imlay scored twice to win 13-0 as Bob Maison went three yards and Dick McKee went from the one. Roger Lomberson booted after the second TD.

Almont's high powered offense managed only 80 yards compared to 280 for Imlay. In last week's UPI poll Almont was first.

Avondale Falls to Lapeer

Lapeer took a 13-0 halftime lead and then proceeded to whip Avondale 26-0 on the pin-point passing of quarterback Don LeDuc.

The game was scoreless after one period but in the second quarter Butch McKillen raced 40 yards and LeDuc passed 20 yards to Dick Coulter for two scores. LeDuc ran the second point attempt.

Avondale came back to make it 13-6 in the third quarter with Dick Smith going 15 yards following a fumble, but early in the 4th quarter Dick Kohlloff intercepted a Jacket pass and went 45 yards to make it 20-6 with Bob Stevens' point.

The last TD came on a pass from LeDuc to Coulter for 45 yards and Lapeer remained unbeaten, while Avondale now stands at 2-2.

Troy scored 13 points in the first quarter with Rich McKinnon going five yards after the Colts marched 95 yards after the opening kickoff and then held on to edge Fitzgerald 13-12.

After the kickoff following the TD, Fitzgerald fumbled and Troy started on the 40. Jim DePauw went the last seven yards. Dave Stokes ran the point.

Fitzgerald scored in the 3rd and 4th quarters, both by Gary Wilkie who went 35 yards and four yards. Both points were blocked.

Clawson fumbled away its chances to score and as result the game with Madison ended in a scoreless tie.

Clawson got to the 15 late in the 4th quarter but then fumbled at this point to end its threat.

Maple Harriers Win 28th, Seek 29th Today

Birmingham High's cross-country team today is shooting for its 29th straight dual victory. Yesterday, at Royal Oak, coach Kermit Ambrose's squad defeated Dondero 18-42 for No. 28, over a new course.

★ ★ ★

Maples' Tom Brown led the pack at 11:38. Birmingham finished seven in the top 10, including No. 2, Ted Enger, Al Baumann (3rd). Jack Mathias (5th), Bill Sabo, John Shelley (7-8), Dave Hunter (10th). Dondero's Ken Rutledge was 4th, Bill Reid 6th and John Ahola 9th. Maple reserves also won, 15-49.

Titans After 3rd Win Against Oldtime Rival

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The University of Detroit goes after its third victory in four states today in an intersectional meeting with old rival Villanova.

Detroit dropped a decision to the high flying Air Force and the Titans came back last week with a 26-13 victory over Quantico Marines.

Villanova edged Boston College last week, 21-19.

Florida Raps UCLA, 21-14

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Sophomore halfback Don Deal popped loose for a 67-yard touchdown run to spark Florida to a 21-14 victory over UCLA Friday night, but it took a great defense to stave off a challenge by the Bruins in the last three minutes of the game.

A Football Town

DURHAM, N.C. (AP)—The town of Clinton has been a good contributor to Duke football this season. Three Blue Devils come from there. They are tackle Marv Musselwhite, fullback Bob Crummie and center Ted Royal.

Bobby Boyd Squares Score With Beecham

★ ★ ★

Boyd, a Chicagoan, won a unanimous 10-round decision over Beecham who had beaten Boyd in a previous meeting at Miami.

★ ★ ★

The victory put Boyd back in the good graces of manager Bernie Glickman who had said he would retire the 24-year-old middleweight if he lost to Beecham again.

Full Slate in Thumb Loop

Bob Fisher and Doug Graham each scored twice and each also added a point as Brown City defeated Memphis 32-20 in a Thumb League game, which also showed New Haven and Armada at 6-6 and Dryden beating Capac, 13-0.

Fisher went 54 and seven yards and Graham went 9 and 32 for a 26-6 halftime lead. Pete Likens scored once and got two extra points and Barry Falter went 11 and 26 for the Memphis scores.

New Haven's Tom Kamley went two yards after Dick Petty went 60 to set up the TD in the first quarter. Armada scored in the 3rd quarter on a 15 yard run by Bob Zarate.

OAKLAND ILLINI — Coach Ray Eliot's No. 2 left tackle at the University of Illinois this season is Bruce Dollahan, a native of Kansas City who played his high school football at Berkley. Dollahan, a senior, is a letterman in his 3rd year with the Illini and is rated one of Eliot's most valuable players. He has seen action at both tackle spots as well as guard and moved up to 2nd string left tackle behind Ron Nietupski following last Saturday's game with Duke.

Rams Tower Over Lions' Size, Offense

LA Pro Outfit Has 7 Players Over 6-Feet-4

Detroit Offensive Unit Sputters to 28 Points in Two Games

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

The Lions may be kings of the jungle, but on the gridiorn they will look like midgets compared to the herd of Rams out of Los Angeles Sunday afternoon at Briggs Stadium.

★ ★ ★

The Los Angeles pro outfit, with 60 points in two games compared to Detroit's meager 28 total points, will be looking down at the Lions tomorrow as seven of the Rams in either the offensive or defensive units go over 6-feet-4.

Offensive ends Lamar Lundy and Leon Clark go 6-7 and 6-4 respectively. The offensive tackles Bob Fry and Ken Panfil are 6-4 and 6-6. Only player under six feet on the starting offensive unit is halfback Ron Waller at 5-11.

The Rams are 1-1 for the season, having lost a last second field goal contest to Lou Groza and the Cleveland Browns, 30-27, and winning a 33-3 game with San Francisco.

Detroit, with a sputtering running game which has picked up only four first downs and 106 yards rushing, will present some new faces to fans for the first regular season home game.

Coach George Wilson is using every combination possible trying to get the running game moving, and Hopalong Cassady is certain to see more action as a ball carrier tomorrow.

John Henry Johnson has an anemic 2.9 average rushing while Gene Gedman is 1.0 per carry. Cassady has carried only once for 12 yards.

★ ★ ★

The Rams have a power-laden offense with Billy Wade passing and Waller, Jon Arnett and Tom Wilson packing the pigskin.

Play at Montreal Tonight; Home Tomorrow

Red Wings Kickoff Campaign

The Detroit Red Wings and the New York Rangers, with six new faces on each club, will inaugurate the Wings' 1958-59 home season Sunday night at Olympia Stadium.

For the first time in 17 years, the local opener will not be the Red Wings' first game. Tonight, Detroit will take on the champion Canadiens at Montreal.

Detroit has compiled an outstanding mark in 25 previous home openers since the 1933-34 season, winning 16, tying three and losing only six times. One of those half-dozen defeats was administered last year by the Rangers who beat the Wings 3-2 for their first win in six opening games with Detroit.

In 1957-58 New York succeeded in keeping the Red Wings winless on their own ice by winning four and tying three of the local seven-game series. However, Detroit almost reversed the score in New York with four victories, two ties and only a single defeat.

Gordie Howe and New York's Andy Bathgate were the scoring leaders in last year's 14-game rivalry. Howe totaled 18 points on five goals and 13 assists and Bathgate had 15 points on five goals and 10 assists.

All six of the newcomers on coach Phil Watson's Broadway Blues are rookies while four of Detroit's new Wings are freshmen. The colorful Eddie Shack leads the first-year Rangers with the others being defensemen Bill Dobbyn and John Hanna and forwards Earl Ingarfield, Jim Bartlett and Les Colwill.

Detroit's neophytes include rookies Len Lunde, Claude Laforge, Gerry Ehman and Charlie Burns. New to the Red Wings but veterans in the NHL are defenseman Gus Mortson and right wing Duncan Fisher, who once was with New York for 2½ seasons.

The last opening game on foreign ice for Detroit was in 1941 when the Red Wings invaded the Forum and took a 3-2 decision from the Canadiens.

Lions' Coach Denies Story

Wilson Argry Over Feud Report

DETROIT (AP) — George Wilson blew up Friday at a published report of a "smoldering feud" between him and quarterback Bobby Layne.

"There's nothing to it—nothing at all," said the Detroit Lions' coach. "Bobby and I always have been the best of friends, we've never had any trouble and the only feud going on is the result of someone's imagination."

The Detroit Times said Friday Layne was traded to Pittsburgh because of a "bitter cleavage" between the two.

The newspaper said the battle reached its climax Saturday in Green Bay, and that was when Wilson called a 10 p.m. meeting before the Green Bay game, which resulted in a 13-13 tie.

"Sure, I called a meeting, but that's not unusual. We always have meetings before the game, and I'll call them any damn time I want to."

The Times story said most of the players grumbled about the hour of the meeting, and add "a couple of the players reported and it was apparent they had been over-relaxing."

Wilson was quoted as telling the other Detroit players at a Tuesday morning session, "I could have fined Layne for turning up at the meeting in the condition he was in."

Wilson said Friday:

"Layne probably had a couple of cocktails. Sure, and some of the other players probably had a couple of drinks or a beer or two. But that's not unusual. Layne was not drunk, and neither was anybody else. And nobody had any cross words."

★ ★ ★

The coach conceded he might have made the statement about fining Layne. "Hell," he added Friday, "I could have fined a lot of them—a lot of times."

Club President — General Manager Edwin J. Anderson called the story "the most ridiculous thing I ever heard of. There's not an ounce of truth in it."

After the story appeared in the paper, Wilson and Anderson were closeted in a private meeting and neither would say what was discussed. But it was learned they talked about the story, and about the publicity that has attended the trade that sent Layne to the Pittsburgh Steelers for quarterback Earl Morrall and two draft choices.

The Times said that at the Saturday night meeting in Green Bay, there were heated words between coaches and players about strategy for the upcoming game. The newspaper added that on the plane trip home, Layne was critical of the way the club was run.

After the trade was made Monday afternoon, Wilson described the transaction "the toughest thing I've ever had to do." Wilson and Layne have been close friends, on and off the playing field, for 10 years.

"That friendship didn't end when I became coach of the Lions," said Wilson Friday.

PCH Upsets Viking Harriers, 22 to 30

Finishing five runners in the top 10, led by sophomore Joe Anderson, Pontiac Central's cross-country team yesterday afternoon tossed an upset victory, 22-30, at Flint Northern. Meet was run over the Swartz Creek Golf Club layout where the Saginaw Valley title meet takes place next Thursday.

Anderson's time was 10:57. Gary Locke of FN was 2nd at 10:58 and PC's Rufus Anderson 3rd with 11:00, showing how close the race was. Maurice Johnson 4th (11:05), Fred Gross (N) (11:06), John Jefferson (P) (11:14), Dale Raby (N) (11:17), Jim Patterson (P) (11:18), Cal Williams (N), Doug Allen (N), Jim Nelson (P), Carl Adams (P) wound up in that order.

Win squared Pontiac's SVC mark at 1-1. Chief JVs lost in a 3-way meet, FN 27, Davison 47 and PC 67.

Casey Quitting? 'Plain Rubbish' Says Yank Pilot

"Plain rubbish," said the 68-year-old skipper still enjoying the thrill of beating the Milwaukee Braves in the final game of the World Series Thursday after being down three games to one.

South Lyon Wins 2nd

Trailing 12-0 at halftime last night, South Lyon fought back to pull out a 13-12 victory for its 2nd successive League of the Lakes triumph. Milan Obrenovich scored from the one and passed to Dave Wren for the touchdowns. Wren ran over for the extra point after 1st tally and it proved to be the difference.

Rumors Have 3 Braves Put on Trading Block

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Rumors that sprouted from the debris of the Milwaukee Braves World Series defeat have three players perched on the trading block and Manager Fred Haney ready to resign.

The report that Haney would retire has been growing since rumors placed former Cincinnati Manager Birdie Tebbetts in line for an executive post with the Braves.

Tebbetts has been mentioned as the possible choice as an aide for club President Joseph Cairnes who recently was named an official of a Florida development company headed by Braves' owner Lou Perini.

The 60-year-old Haney denied he will retire saying, "as long as they keep paying me, I'll be around." He has managed the Braves to two consecutive National League titles and one world championship.

Haney is expected to discuss terms with General Manager John Quinn before leaving for his West Coast home early next week. Shortstop Logan is convinced that Haney doesn't care for him, the report said.

The infielder had a bad season and a poor Series. During the regular campaign he hit only .227. His average was .120 in the Series and he was charged with a pair of errors. However, they did not contribute to any scoring.

Buhl missed a good portion of the season because of arm trouble. Late in the year he and Haney hardly spoke. The fast ball specialist was never considered for a Series appearance. He was 5-2 this year.

★ ★ ★

Conley was used mostly in relief, working 72 innings and winding up with a record of six defeats and no victories.

Baseball - Yet! at W. Michigan

KALAMAZOO (UPI) — The Yankees have won the World Series but the baseball season still isn't over at Western Michigan where the Broncos will stage their first Alumni-Varsity game next Saturday with a number of major league stars playing.

Baseball coach Charley Maher will send his Mid-American Conference champions against a team that includes Stubby Overmire, former Detroit Tiger and St. Louis Brown southpaw; Charlie Maxwell, Tiger outfielder; Ron Jackson, Chicago White Sox first baseman and Bill Lajoie, Pacific Coast League outfielder.

Jack Rumohr, Baltimore Orioles property, and Dick Sosnowski, who pitched in the Florida League this summer, will pitch for the Varsity.

Casey Replaced; in All-Star Tilt

NEW YORK (UPI) — Manager Casey Stengel of the world champion Yankees will be replaced — for one game — Sunday. Stengel's Mickey Mantle will manager an American League all-star team in a game with a National League all-star outfit. Willie Mays is pilot for the Nationals.

Game takes place in Yankee Stadium with probable pitching choices being lefty Billy Pierce of the White Sox and Bob Friend Pirate 22-game winner. Game is the first all-star baseball tilt in the stadium for 16 years.

Table Tennis League Gets Season Started

Feature match was Glenn Whitcroft, former state singles champ, defeating John Whetlaufer, Oakland County junior champ, 21-18, 7-21 and 21-17.

Third Period Aerial Wins for Kimball, 6-0

A third-period pass play from Jim Whan to Johnny Kennedy, early in the third period last night, gave RO Kimball a 6-0 grid win over Dearborn, at Royal Oak.

Pistons Swamp Lakers, 110-87

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Pistons swamped Minneapolis 110-87 last night and brought their pre-National Basketball Assn. season exhibition record to 2-1.

George Yardley, Walter Dukes and Earl Lloyd each scored 18 points for the Pistons who put the game on ice in the third quarter after briefly trailing 46-43.

Piston coach Red Rocha said he was pleased with the performances of rookie forwards Barney Cable and Shelly McMillon. Cable scored 11 points and McMillon had 8.

The Pistons and Lakers meet tonight in Terra Haute, Ind., and play a third pre-season exhibition game at Lansing Monday night.

Yardley broke the game open for the Pistons in the third quarter when he scored eight straight points to wipe out the brief Minneapolis lead. Detroit led 41-39 at half time.

BACKYARD COMFORT — Outside the year-round porch the Roy Axlings have a patio where they spend most of their free time in warm weather. The fence which provides both privacy and storage is painted red. What looks like a low fence enclosing the patio is really a long bench. Lakeside Homes built this red brick house about two years ago. The Axlings added the porch. This home is in Hill 'n' Dale Subdivision.

PRE-FAB FIREPLACE — Instead of going to the trouble and expense of constructing a fireplace the Axlings fitted this copper and steel pre-fab unit into the brick wall. Except for the coldest days, it offers enough heat to make the porch livable the year around. Those unusual lights on the wall were once candle holders in a railroad car. Fitted with brass reflectors and tops to prevent smoking, the lights are both conversation pieces and charming accessories.

Roy Axlings Add Porch Room to New House

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Both Mr. and Mrs. Roy Axling work in Detroit, but they live in Hill 'n' Dale subdivision in Walled Lake. It's just about two years now since Lakeside Homes built their red brick home on Twilight Hill Drive. The third occupant of the house is a parakeet named Robin.

We visited the Axlings on a sunny September Saturday. Both were outdoors working on the lawn. Their lot is 90x150 feet. There are flower borders in the front and around the patio in the rear.

This patio is screened from the street and the neighbors with strategically placed red fences. Part of the fence has storage space in it. A big round table, a barbecue grill and bright colored chairs take up most of the space.

At one side Mr. Axling built benches. These are V-shaped with space in the center between the two pieces of lumber. Why the space? To let the rain through.

Lighting comes from hurricane lamps mounted on wrought iron posts. One of the lamps was originally an oil lamp. It was converted to electricity, then fitted for candles in its present setting.

ADDED PORCH

Entrance to the house from the patio is through the year-round porch the Axlings have added to the original house. Walls are brick to match the exterior. Except for the space taken up by the fireplace, there are windows on three sides with stone sills. These are curtained in an off-white material with a printed cotton ruffle all around the upper walls.

The fireplace is a pre-fab one and has proven most satisfactory. The chimney is copper, the fire chamber steel. An old fashioned coal scuttle sets at one side.

The lights on either side of the chimney are unusual. The Axlings (especially the male half of the family) enjoy collecting old fashioned lights of all kinds. These were once candle holders in a train.

Mr. Axling mounted them on a board with a brass plate behind each and a cap on top. As the candles burn down, they automatically rise in the holder so that they are always the same height.

Double doors go into the dining room. Here the floor is carpeted in beige and brown tweed. Table, chairs and corner cupboard are mahogany. Quilted chintz in a gold and green print is used on the chair seats.

The kitchen is small and narrow. Floors are beige tile, while walls are painted creamy yellow. Cupboards are natural birch. Trivets above the sink and a black tin rooster made by Mr. Axling are decorative accents. In the hall leading from kitchen to garage there is a utility room. Beside it is a half bath.

HAND HOOKED RUG

Furniture is upholstered, while the wooden pieces are mahogany. Accessories are in the Chinese style. Matching brown wing chairs, with a brocaded pattern in gold flank a table in one corner. The small sofa is rose beige.

One bedroom is used as a den. The Axlings took the door off the closet in this room and are using the space for the television set. Walls are gray. The maple sofa is cushioned in green. Maple book shelves and a profusion of flourishing plants make it a cozy-looking room.

PINK COLOR SCHEME

In the bathroom the vanity top is covered with plastic matching that in the kitchen. Walls are sand color on three sides, coral on one. The rug also is coral. All fixtures are sand color.

OPEN DINING ROOM — Separated from the living room only by a low brick planter, the dining room is small but adequate. Bird prints are grouped on one wall, all in matching frames. This is the view from one corner of the living room. It shows also the rose beige sofa and the kneehole desk in the latter room, as well as part of the hallway to the bedrooms.

RATHER FORMAL — With the exception of the platform rocker which is more in the colonial style, the Axling living room is done in traditional decor. Two sets of creamy white draperies cover the nine-light picture window. The rug is pink, brown and green, while the wing back chairs in the corner are brown, brocaded in gold. Walls are sand color.

Renew Old Screens With New Finish

Use a spray gun, felt or carpet-like applicator, or a regular paintbrush to apply the new finish, says an article in the current issue of a home magazine. The trick is to apply the finish evenly and spread it thin so it doesn't clog the mesh. Use a paintbrush to apply varnish.

The original finish of galvanized screens may be permanent in dry climates. Otherwise, paint every other year with screen enamel. Painted steel screens should be painted with screen enamel usually every season. Bronze and copper screens should be recoated usually every season with spar varnish, after first thoroughly washing the mesh.

Wash aluminum screens in fresh water with a mild detergent. Wash stainless steel screens in fresh water and wipe dry. Wash fiberglass and similar plastic materials in fresh water, too. In salt-air areas, and where chemical fumes are heavy, aluminum screens should be given an occasional coat of varnish or regular aluminum paint, the magazine says.

Like Dinosaur, Basements Disappear

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The basement, which evolved from a place to store food for the winter to a gadgeted recreation — and even sleeping — area, is slowly disappearing from the American house.

★ ★ ★

Government statistics reveal that in 1940 about 69 per cent of all new, single-family houses had a full or partial basement. By 1956 the proportion had dropped to 43 per cent.

★ ★ ★

—A decrease in the proportion of nationwide housing starts accounted for by the Northeast, where basements are more popular than in other sections of the country.

—North Central 69 per cent.
—South 18 per cent.
—West 27 per cent.

★ ★ ★

According to officials of The National Association of Homebuilders (NAHB), housinb professionals applaud the swing away on grounds of commonsense, comfort and economy.

★ ★ ★

"People don't make full use of their basements," NAHB housing engineer Milton W. Smithman told United Press International. "They also clutter them up with a lot of stuff they don't need. As for things that should be saved, they still have the attic for storage."

★ ★ ★

As for habitation, Smithman said, "People are not accustomed to living in holes in the ground. Living below ground causes problems of moisture, heating and lighting. Basement apartments are obviously considered less desirable because the rent of them is less."

Room for Mother

Here's a new idea for a sandbox. Build the box of sturdy, weather-resistant western red cedar to desired size and then build a garden-type bench, also out of cedar, with tilted back adjoining the sand-box, so that baby sitter or mother can be comfortable while watching the small try at play. Edges of the sandbox need to be only two thickness high of cedar 2x4s.

Textured Stone Now Reaches Handyman Stage

★ ★ ★

By the use of such stones in muted colors and variegated shapes, it has been possible to give distinctive touches to the various houses in a development. Individual owners also have used textured stone over the original outside walls to add elegance to their homes.

★ ★ ★

Today, the wide range of textures and colors in quarried stone, available in pre-cut sizes and designs, has made it possible to bring this "custom" look indoors. Flagstone is only one of a wide variety of stones which give texture and design interest to flooring, reduce maintenance problems to a minimum and eliminate the need for eventual replacement.

New flooring favorites with modern decorators include blue stone, quartzite, slate, marble, granite, limestone, travetine and sandstone. Any of these stones, as well as flagstone, can transform a conventional foyer floor into something to be admired as well as walked on.

The versatility of modern stone veneers also gives the home owner a wide range of opportunity to achieve indoor distinction through a fireplace. There are a number of fireplace designs available at local stoneyards in pre-cut kits, planned to make installation easy for the do-it-yourselfers.

Decorative wall designs entirely of stone, keyed to blend with strongly textured woods and fabrics, are in high favor with modern decorators. Stone colors ranging from smoky gray and charcoal to gold, pink, russet and muted blue can be chosen to blend or contrast dramatically with any color scheme.

Refinish Old Cabinet With Plastic Cover

If you have a cabinet in your living room or den with scarred paneled doors, here's a way to make it look like new without a lot of refinishing. Cover the panels with one of the latest decorative coverings, some of which feature the fashionable metallic designs.

Recently introduced is a de luxe Patrician line which has gold and silver foil and threads laminated to the plastic-coated material. It's available in background colors of turquoise, pink, white and yellow.

Applying the self-adhering material to panels is simple. Just wash and dry the wood thoroughly to remove all wax or polish.

Measure the area to be covered, then cut out the size pieces you need. Remove the paper backing and press the covering into place, smoothing air bubbles out with your hands, a ruler, or squeegee.

Wash oilstone with ammonia. If stone is very dirty, scour with aluminum oxide cloth or flint paper.

Roof Overhang Has Many Advantages

★ ★ ★

According to the Southern Pine Association, the big overhang is also the perfect complement of horizontal lumber siding on three separate counts:

1. Like the siding, the overhang emphasizes long, lateral lines.

2. The natural insulative value of the wood exterior is further enhanced because the overhang keeps off sun.

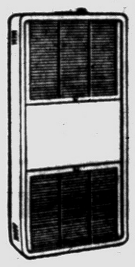

3. The overhang also keeps rain off paint, thus reducing the frequency of repainting requirements.

NEW WINDOW UNIT — Designed to fit any type of frame construction, Strutwall, the new wall component consists of an Andersen window unit which is actually glued and nailed to framing members of the wall and represents the best joining of wall and window available. Strutwall eliminates two-thirds of the steps involved in framing a conventional rough opening and installing a window unit. Installation is rapid. Only two cuts are required to adjust height of the load bearing assembly to the particular type of construction being used, then the strutwall can be tilted up with the rest of the wall. This simplicity of installation makes the new unit ideal for the do-it-yourself builder. Andersen Strutwall represents a two-way advance in building technique. First, it makes possible a better, tighter window installation than ever before. Second, many operations usually performed at the building site are now done at the factory. This results in faster erection and economies in labor and material.

Real Estate Men Plan Conference

Practicing appraisers, realtors, brokers and representatives of financial firms will attend the ninth annual Appraisal Conference at Michigan State University Oct. 15.

★ ★ ★

One of the major addresses will consider the "Impact of the Current Economic Situation on Real Estate and Land Values." The speaker at the noon luncheon on this topic will be Leon T. Kendall, economist, United States Savings and Loan League, Chicago.

★ ★ ★

The other speakers will include Donald Treadwell, Wyandotte, president, Michigan Real Estate Association; James Rodgers, Detroit appraiser; Norman Smith, vice-president, First Federal Savings and Loan association of Detroit; Harvy Nedeau, Muskegon real estate dealer; Warren Beauchamp, Detroit, president, Michigan chapter, American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers; L.L. Cook, Flint real estate dealer; and Earl Closser, Marquette, past president of the Upper Peninsula Board of Realtors.

★ ★ ★

Slated for the M.S.U. Kellogg Center, the event is sponsored cooperatively by the College of Business and Public Service, the Michigan Real Estate Association, Michigan chapter of Society of Residential Appraisers and Michigan chapter of American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers.

Find Exact Center

A good place to set the first perforated insulating tile when refinishing a ceiling to reduce the noise level in a room is at the exact center of the ceiling, home improvement specialists at Allied Chemical's Barrett Division advise. In this way the tile will come out even at all four sides.

NEW GARAGE — A garage is more than a car shelter. To look its best, it must blend in with the house it serves. This new garage at the Harry Woodman home on Gateway drive is made of green cedar shakes to match the house. Inside there is room for two cars and an upstairs storage room. A disappearing staircase gives access to the upper level. Donald Johnon, contractor and builder, constructed this 24x24 building.

Available now are ladder brackets which you can attach to any point on a ladder leg, making a useful easel to set screens or storm windows while you paint them.

The elm is a loose barked tree; therefore more readily open than other trees to fungus infections.

Put Coffee Cans to Planter Use

If you plan to enliven your home with house plants this fall, don't forget to blend the containers for those potted greens with the room's motif. This may seem like a small matter in home decorating, but it is important to the over-all decorative effect of any room.

With the variety of attractive materials available today, it is surprising how inexpensively, yet cleverly, you can do this.

Simply save a few one- and two-pound coffee cans, larger juice cans and the bigger potato chip cans until you have the right size and number you need. Wash and dry the cans thoroughly.

Cover the cans with a material having an adhesive backing. One covering comes in 10 solid colors and an array of checks and patterns. It is especially practical in that it has a plastic coating that is impervious to water drops from a sprinkling can.

White Livens Color

Adding white or off white to a "dead looking" color scheme often adds more life to the room than does the addition of a bright color, says Jane Graff, extension specialist in home furnishings at Michigan State University. Every color scheme benefits from some pale neutral to give relief from color. These can be in the background of patterned areas, in furniture or in accessories.

Development of blister resistant paints by the paint manufacturing industry has solved one of its most perplexing problems and made available new quality paints for home owners.

Island in Kitchen Routes Traffic Around Cook

Of all the rooms in the home, none has more problems of traffic congestion than the kitchen.

Seat of savory smells and intriguing cooking activities, the kitchen is the loadstone for every member of the family, as well as guests. In the poorly planned kitchen, too many people just get in cook's way.

One of the most clever ideas is to design an island in the center of the kitchen which may contain the range, work surfaces and storage. This island divider actually creates traffic lanes, or streets, in the kitchen. It also serves to define various work areas.

One particularly interesting island in a prize winning kitchen, which is designed in vertical grain west coast hemlock to match the rest of the kitchen cabinets and walls, adds exciting interest to this room.

SEDVES FOUR WAYS

This island divider is a four-in-one functional masterpiece. It serves as (1) a traffic separator, (2) storage for various pots, pans and utensiles needed at the range, as well as high, deep storage for card tables and trays, (3) a drool bar where guests can lean on the opposite side from cooking area, and, (4) it contains the electric range.

It was easy to plan work areas just a step or two apart in this kitchen because the island brought the cooking area right up within a step of the sink, the mixing and vegetable preparation sections, and the refrigerator.

The dining area is easy to reach either from the traffic side of the island or from the cooking side.

Modernize Old Tub, Add Storage Space

An old-fashioned bathtub can be readily made more modern and more attractive in appearance by the home craftsman. By extending the enclosure beyond the end of the tub as shown in the diagram, storage space is provided for detergents and other equipment used in the bathroom. It is suggested that a door be installed also for easy access and repairs to plumbing if the old tub is one with exposed pipes.

The framework is made of 2 by 2-inch lumber. The paneling is made of 1 by 12-inch lumber or tileboard. If tileboard is used it is suggested that cross braces be added to the vertical framework to provide nailing surface. Use a miter box when cutting the frame pieces to insure square ends.

The base of the frame, or sole, should be positioned on the floor so the dimensions can be determined. Cut the end pieces so that the side section of the frame including the thickness of the panel will be flush with the lip of the tub. If tileboard is to be used the end pieces will be longer.

If the sole is to be fastened to a wooden floor, use 8-penny nails. For tile floors, use an adhesive for attaching wood to tile, or drill holes in the tile for expansion anchors and screw the sole in place.

The uprights are cut to a length 2⅜ inches shorter than the lip of the tub to permit the top plate and horizontal paneling to slide under the lip. If tileboard is used, the upright will be longer.

Assemble the uprights to the top plate 11½ inches apart on centers with 8-penny nails. Slide the sections in place and toenail them to the sole and to each other with 8-penny nails.

The doors are made of 1 by 12-inch lumber. For clearance, plane 1-16 inch from all edges of the 1 by 12-inch door. Locate the position for the ½-inch wide, 2 inch long butt hinges 4 inches in from the ends of the door and chisel out the area for the hinge plates.

A corresponding area in the panel is also notched to recess the plate. If a water-tight seal is desired, caulking may be applied where the tub touches the wood. Hang the door. Door pulls and friction catches complete the project.

GARAGE STORAGE—Every garage has dead wall space above the hood of the car. Some clever designers have converted this loss into highly usable, deep storage cabinets. Made of common grades of one-inch Douglas fir lumber, the cabinet can be deep enough to hold fishing and garden gear, and compartments can be adapted to special storage needs.

Go Modern or Traditional With This Ranch House

By JOHN O.B. WALLACE

This ranch comes in either modern or traditional dress to suit the taste of the homeowner. It remains a well designed house in either case.

Selected for the quality-proven House of The Week series and designated X-27, it gives you a choice of either traditional or modern exteriors without altering its room arrangement or the size of its rooms.

In either version it has 7 rooms, 2 baths and a basement — all packed into an area only slightly larger than a medium-sized house. Its seven rooms include three bedrooms.

Additionally, there is a two-car garage as well as an outside porch 12 by 15 feet 8 inches. Study plans for this design, available to readers through this newspaper, illustrate and describe fully the living plan that goes with either exterior.

The work of Architect Herbert W. Neumann, the plan boasts four entrances, including an extra rear entrance. The architect says the second rear entrance adds virtually nothing to the cost of the house but keeps the kitchen free of traffic and annoyance.

The second rear entrance permits youngsters to get to a rear lavatory, the basement, the family room or to their own bedrooms without using the kitchen.

Other entrances are to the kitchen, to the front foyer and from either front or back to the outside porch.

THE LIVING AREA

In the modern version, the living room has a sloping ceiling and full height corner windows which follow the roof line. In the traditional version, the living room ceiling is the customary height. In the modern version, the living room fireplace has a full brick or stone wall on one side and a fixed glass window on the other.

In the traditional version, the fireplace has a flagstone outer hearth and a firebrick inner hearth. The dining room is more than 11 feet square and has a rear picture window. Sliding glass doors open from the dining room to the porch.

The master suite has a split bath with a partition separating the bath area from the toilet and lavatory area. The family bathroom at the end of the bedroom hall has a double vanitory and an alcove tub, and can be used as a guest lavatory.

The 10 by 15 foot kitchen is U-shaped which permits superior counter and cupboard space. The kitchen is conveniently located between the dining room on one side and the family room on the other.

The rear of the kitchen, actually an alcove with a full-sized picture window, can be used as a breakfast area. Laundry and heating facilties are in the basement.

THE CASUAL AREAS

The family room, 12 by 17 ft. 4 in., is ideally located — next to the kitchen, handily reached from the entrance foyer, and it has a rear entrance of its own. It has a big rear picture window. Shutter doors separate the family room and the foyer.

The covered patio porch is an outdoor living area with access to and from the garage and the main house. Its floor is scored concrete. In the modern version, this porch has pierced-brick pillars at the front.

In either version, this porch could be enclosed with louvered glass walls or screens at the owner's option.

STORAGE STATISTICS

There are three huge closets (in the foyer, the bedroom hall and the master bedroom) and five other closets for a total of eight. The garage will store two cars. Additional storage space is provided in the basement.

The traditional version calls for asphalt shingle roof, wood shingles, wood shutters, stone veneer, a cupola, screened louvers, vertical siding on the gable, and casement and awning windows.

Design X-27 has overall dimensions, including the outside porch and garage, of 44 ft. 6 in. by 93 ft. 4 in. The living area has 1,862 sq. ft., the garage 462 sq. ft.

Glue Bonds Huge Arches

A single timber arch of the kind they are making these days — eight stories high and 350 feet long — may contain enough lumber to build two average sized homes. But not a single nail will be found on the immense surface. The thousands of wood components are bonded together entirely by glues — not the standard variety but tremendously strong modern adhesives that are moving wood back into big buildings.

One outstanding chiropodist says women have less back troubles when they live in homes with wood framed floors. Wood has much more resilience than concrete slab floors, and has a certain "give" which takes the shock off the spinal column and leg muscles.

Ketchikan Is Alaska's Industrial City

By HAL WOOD

KETCHIKAN, Alaska (UPI) — When you travel to Alaska, the first city of any size you come to is Ketchikan, population 7,800, nestled between the mountains and the sea on the island of Revillagideo.

At first glance, it is a pioneer, western village, featuring old-time saloons with sawdust on the floors and tinkling pianos.

"We claim we are the closest thing to a self-supporting city in Alaska," said Bill Boardman, an insurance salesman and secretary of the local chamber of commerce. "Of course, we have to import nearly all our food, except fish, but we have a well-balanced economy otherwise."

★ ★ ★

The city of Ketchikan bills itself as the "salmon fishing capital of the world." And for many years the huge canneries here were the main source of financial support.

They still are an important factor. Their business this year will run between 15 and 20 million dollars.

But a new pulp mill, built several years ago, has become the big industry. Last year it grossed 26 million dollars. It employs 400 men and keeps another 400 busy in the logging camps. The pulp mostly is used for making rayon.

It has a newly-completed glass and aluminum three-million-dollar high school with a beautiful gymnasium. The city has an assessed valuation of 40 million dollars.

While the island, which is 35 miles long and 45 miles across, has only 37 miles of paved roads, there are about 2,000 cars registered in the city. So Ketchikan has traffic jams, too. Also parking meters.

★ ★ ★

The city is only 800 miles north of Seattle — but there is no way to get here unless you fly in or come by boat. There is not a level spot on the whole island, so planes land at nearby Anette Island, and the passengers transfer to little eight-passenger seaplanes, which land on the Ketchikan waterfront.

★ ★ ★

All this sounds picturesque—and it is. But before packing the family off and heading for this booming city, consider these factors:

1 — The annual rainfall is 160 inches a year, more than twice as much as any other place in the United States.

2 — The ground is sour, because it never dries out. As a result, there is no grass.

3 — There are no cows or horses on the island. There would be no way to feed them, short of shipping in hay.

The prices, natives proudly proclaim, are "only" 22 per cent higher than in Seattle. But Seattle prices are among the highest in the nation, so the average may be only 10 per cent higher than most places in the U. S.

The temperature is moderate. The average is only five degrees cooler than Seattle. Last year there was no snow at all, although most years some snow falls.

The price of food, all shipped in from Seattle, would make the average U. S. housewife hysterical. Lettuce sells for 33 cents a head, watermelon 11 cents a pound, tomatoes 47 cents. Strawberries are 79 cents a box, bread 40 cents a loaf and bananas 33 cents a pound. Tap beer sells for 30 cents a glass.

"We have a fine economy now," said Boardman, "but I think it will get better. The statehood vote has resulted, already, in a few more visitors. By 1960 we expect to have a car ferry running from Prince Rupert, B. C., a distance of 90 miles. It will take only six hours for the trip. Then we will hope that the tourists become another major industry."

Suspect Mother Poisoned Four

She Stands Trial for Murdering Daughter, 9, in 'Hate and Greed'

MACON, Ga. (AP)—Nurses and a restaurant worker have testified that Mrs. Anjette Lyles persisted in bringing food and drink to the four relatives she is accused of poisoning with arsenic.

Mrs. Lyles, a blonde, buxom former restaurant owner, is being tried on a charge of murdering her 9-year-old daughter, Marcia. She also is under indictment in connection with the deaths of two husbands and a mother-in-law over a six-year period beginning in 1952. The state has claimed her motives were "hate and greed." The 33-year-old defendant has denied that she had anything to do with the deaths.

Mrs. Jacqueline Firany, a nurse who attended the child, testified that while Marcia was screaming with pain in the hospital, Anjette "didn't take it too seriously."

A cook in Anjette's restaurant, Rosemary Reynolds, told the all-male jury Friday she saw Anjette prepare buttermilk on two occasions for her mother-in-law, Mrs. Ben F. Lyles Sr., and on one occasion lemonade for Marcia. Each time, the cook said, Anjette took the glass containing the beverage and a large black pocketbook with her into the restaurant bathroom before she left for the hospital.

Mrs. Leilia Radline, a nurse who attended Marcia from March 3 until her death April 4, 1958, said the child's illness did not appear serious at first, but grew progressively worse. By the third week, she said, Marcia was having hallucinations.

Another nurse, Mrs. Hazel Shea, testified that the defendant fed her second husband, Joe Neal Gabbert, all of his meals while he was confined to Parkview Hospital in Macon.

Guards Stand Watch at Oak Ridge School

CLINTON, Tenn. (AP) — With the students home for the weekend, two deputy sheriffs stood watch today at Clinton High's temporary school building in nearby Oak Ridge to guard against more bombings.

★ ★ ★

Sheriff Glad Woodward said Friday that two of his men will be at the building, a vacant Oak Ridge grade school, at all times when classes are not in session. As an added precaution, he said, lights will be left burning at night.

★ ★ ★

The 859 white and 11 Negro students of Clinton High have been attending classes at the Oak Ridge building since Thursday. Their own school here was wrecked early Sunday by three predawn explosions which Woodward said must have been caused by at least 100 dynamite sticks.

The explosions caused about $300,000 damage, of which $73,000 was covered by insurance.

90th Anniversary Costs Chicago Cafe $10,000

CHICAGO (UPI) — It cost Chicago's oldest restaurant $10,000 to celebrate its 90th anniversary Thursday.

Henrici's, one of the Loop's popular eateries, created a consumer demand by offering full dress meals at the same prices charged on Oct. 9, 1868. The menu was the same, too.

Baked chicken sold at 35 cents, down $2.00 from today's $2.35, sirloin of beef with sauce madeira sent from $3.50 to 36 cents, and breaded veal steak with tomato sauce plummeted to 30 cents.

Deadline Near, Quemoy Tense

Both Sides Strengthen Military Positions as Truce Nears End

TAIPEI (AP) — Both sides strengthened their military position today as the self-imposed Communist cease-fire in the Quemoy area neared its weeklong deadline.

Nationalist Chinese leaders gave the impression they were convinced the Communists sooner or later would reopen the bombardment of the offshore Quemoys which they pounded for 44 days before declaring a seven-day cease-fire. The seven days are up at midnight Sunday.

There was speculation here that the Communists might not openly announce an extension of the cease-fire but merely continue to withhold further artillery attacks at least for the time being.

The United States, in the ambassadorial talks in Warsaw, Friday urged such an extension upon Red China. The Chinese envoy's answer was not disclosed, but the two ambassadors arranged to meet again next Wednesday.

The Communists declared their cease-fire on the condition that the United States stopped its escorts several days ago.

But the Nationalists, making ready for any eventuality, continued a heavy and steady buildup of their forces and supplies in the Quemoys and have started a mass evacuation of civilians. At least 500 soldiers landed in the islands Friday.

Lark Line to Start at $1,785?

Small Car May Keep S-P in Business

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT (AP) — A small automobile as much as three feet shorter than many competing vehicles may keep Studebaker-Packard Corp. in the automotive business.

The car, named the Lark, was shown and demonstrated this week to industry writers from throughout the country. If the potential market for smaller cars is as great as Studebaker-Packard executives measure it, the Lark series easily could provide the difference between profit and loss for S-P in 1959.

Studebaker-Packard reported a net loss of $13,300,000 for the first half of 1958; it will have additional losses for this year's July-September quarter. These losses will add to the 134 million dollar tax loss credit the company holds.

A refinancing and diversification program along with the new line of cars right now give Studebaker-Packard better prospects than it has had at any time since it was created through the merger of the two old line companies four years ago.

In developing the Lark line, Studebaker-Packard engineering and styling departments have achieved a well proportioned vehicle. As the cars appeared on the test track their height, length and width showed them to be much more balanced than they appeared in initial motion picture showings.

To be offered both in six and eight cylinder models the passenger cars are built on a 108½ inch wheelbase and have an over-all length of 175 inches. The station wagons, also in six and eight cylinder models, have a 113-inch wheelbase and are 184½ inches in over-all length.

The price range has not yet been disclosed beyond a company statement that it will start below $2,000. However, the guessing has been that the lowest price model will have a factory suggested list of about $1,785; the highest model at approximately $2,200.

It is not much of a secret that Studebaker-Packard's future in the automobile business depends largely upon the reception given the Lark series. Whether S-P will sell enough of the cars to produce a profit will depend in large degree upon how great is the unsatisfied demand for smaller and less costly vehicles.

Retail sales of smaller cars this year will go to 400,000 units if American Motors' Rambler and Metropolitan models are included. The total will top the 1957 volume by more than 100,000 cars. Figured on the same basis, the 1959 total could go close to 600,000.

Harold E. Churchill, S-P president, has not disclosed what sales volume will be needed for a break-even or profit operation in the year ahead. He emphasizes, however, that he believes the smaller car has a huge market potentiality.

★ ★ ★

He indicated he was not disturbed at the possibility success for Studebaker-Packard in the small car market might bring other makes, notably General Motors, Ford and Chrysler more intensively into the competition. That has been reported as a late 1959 possibility. It could reduce the market slice of each maker in the smaller car field.

Says GM Dealers Won't Go Rushing In WASHINGTON (AP) — A General Motors vice president says GM dealers won't go rushing into the auto glass replacement business just because GM has cut its glass prices to them.

'Live Wire' Snake Gives Wife Shock

DALLAS (AP) — Mrs. W. D. Hathcox, 26, had trouble convincing her husband yesterday about that vacuum cleaner cord that wiggled at her touch.

The Dallas housewife spotted what she thought was an out-of-place electrical cord as she herded her year-old son out of the closet and straightened things on the floor.

★ ★ ★

"I picked it up to hang it back where it belonged," she said later. "Then it wiggled!"

"He wouldn't believe me," said Mrs. Hathcox. "He told me it was my imagination. So I called the police."

★ ★ ★

Farming of Salt Lebanese Task

Method Is Unchanged Since Biblical Times; No Cheaper Way

CHEKKA, Lebanon (UPI) —Salt from the Soviet Union brings to mind pictures of Siberian mines but salt from Lebanon reminds one of a slow, calm, sunny operation which has been going on the same way since Biblical times.

★ ★ ★

This small village is one of many between Beirut and Tripoli on the beautiful northern coast road where the main industry is salt farming. Since the time of Christ, people along this Mediterranean strip have scraped a living by winning salt from the sea.

All along the coast road there are tiny windmills which suck up sea water into stone slats where the water evaporates, leaving a residue of salt.

Aged Faras Riza, who owns half an acre of salt slats, said no one gets rich at the job. He gets five piasters (one-and-a-half cents) for a little over two pounds of salt.

TAKES 15 DAYS

After the sea water is pumped up into the four-inch-deep slats, it takes 15 days for the water to evaporate. A slat will yield about 20 pounds of salt every 15 days. Then it is loaded into old UNRRA sacks and carried off by a donkey to town for sale.

A great hindrance to workers at the slats are mosquitos which zoom all over the place. For some reason lizards also are attracted by the salt and they scurry around like tiny shimmering tanks on the stone walls.

Although salt is produced only once every 15 days, the work is a full-time operation. Riza has about 70 slats and he must continually mend walls, check the windmill and the water level and shovel and sack the salt. The soles of his feet are harder than leather after years of standing in brine.

As Riza asked, "How could one do it cheaper?" There probably is no better way.

Card of Thanks 1

WE WISH TO THANK OUR MANY friends, neighbors and relatives for their sincere kindness & the beautiful floral offerings in our recent loss of my dear beloved husband, John E. Nichols. Special thanks to Rev. Lowe & Sister Lowe for their comforting words and songs. Thanks to the people of the Church of God at Lake Orion for their love and care extended to us in this time of sorrow. Thanks also to the Pursley Funeral Home.
Beloved wife Martha Nichols and son Rodney Jerry.

'Swiss Family' on TV Sunday

By The Associated Press

Next to "Ben Hur" it's hard to imagine a more difficult story for live television to dramatize than "Swiss Family Robinson." But the adventures of a Swiss family cast away on a jungle island is being dramatized live from New York Sunday evening over NBC-TV, in a special hour show.

Typhoon, jungle, sea — all the elements that have made generations of children take delight in "Swiss Family Robinson" — will be created in the NBC Brooklyn studio for the show which stars Laraine Day and Walter Pidgeon.

The set designer for this complicated David Susskind production is Dwayne McKinney. The typhoon sequence is being done on tape a day early and inserted in the show. "We had to do it that way," says McKinney, "because we absolutely had to have a day to refurbish and dry out."

Eighty tons of water, driven by two huge "hurricane fans" imported from Hollywood, will be used.

About 500 exotic plants, purchased from a Long Island greenhouse, will be supplemented by hundreds of manufactured palms and plants for the island which has been constructed in the studio.

Nixon Says GOP Labor's Best Friend

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP) — Vice President Nixon, plugging for West Virginia's two Republican seats in the Senate, said Friday night the Republican administration has been labor's best friend.

Nixon said the concept of labor belonging to a single party is "completely opposed to the American tradition."

★ ★ ★

"There is no place in the United States for the class distinctions and class conflict which plague the governments of other nations," he told a Republican rally at Memorial Field House.

"We are proud of the fact that in 1952 and 1956, the Eisenhower ticket received the votes of millions of America's wage earners," he said.

★ ★ ★

"Republican candidates will receive similar support this year because the record shows this Republican administration has been the best friend America's wage earners have ever had."

He came here to appeal for the election of the state's two GOP senators, Chapman Revercomb and John D. Hoblitzell Jr.

Chrysler Gets Contracts for Work on Missile

WASHINGTON (AP) — Award of two contracts totaling 4,192,000 to work on the Jupiter missile has been announced.

Rep. Robert J. McIntosh (R-Mich) who announced the contracts yesterday said work on both would be performed at the Michigan Missile Ordnance Plant at Sterling township.

New York 'Caught' by Camera

Manhattan Commuters Drown Out TV Shooting

The Naked City, the new TV series filmed on location in Manhattan, lost its first round with New York crowds when tidal waves of commuters in Pennsylvania Station virtually drowned out efforts to shoot a scene for "Line of Duty," to be seen Tuesday at 10:30 p.m. (EST) over ABC-TV.

Actors and sound technicians, assembled in the main passenger lobby of the world's busiest train station, couldn't cope with the roar of thousands of office workers scurrying to work at 9 o'clock in the morning. Filming had to be called off until the rush subsided.

Other scenes in the drama were filmed on location on an East River pier, in an old Bowery saloon and in a lower East Side tenement.

Starring John McIntire and Jafes Franciscus, with guest star Eugenie Leontovich, "Line of Duty" tells of a young detective's inner struggle after he is forced to shoot and kill his first criminal. As detective Jim Halloran, Franciscus roams the city on a lonely pilgrimage to find out for himself what kind of person the dead man was.

Although it isn't written into the script, viewers will see guest star Leontovich limping as she portrays the dead gunman's mother.

"If you are me," explains the distinguished character actress, "you go into a trance when you start to act. You find out who you are, where you come from, what is your motivation. Then the part goes from your head to your heart, your soul. Finally, the feeling goes down to your legs.

"This is why I limp. I am the old Greek mother of a man killed by a policeman. My limp is not in the script. It is how you call it psychosomatic."

Continue Hearing on Power Rate Hike

LANSING (AP) — The State Public Service Commission hearing of a Consumers Power Co. application for a $15,300,000 annual rate increase will go into its second week Monday.

The case was adjourned over the weekend yesterday after company witnesses explained how they planned to apply the proposed hike.

The company said some 658,000 residential customers would pay an average of four to six cents a day more for their power to contribute $12,900,000. The remainder will come from commercial industrial and other users.

Identify Body as One of Missing Students

SENNETERRE, Que. (UPI) — Provincial police disclosed today that a body found in the Nottaway River had been identified as Robert Carey, 23, of Rochelle, Ill., one of two University of Michigan students missing on a 250-mile canoe trip in the dense bushland north of here.

Police said U. of M. Professor Percival Price, father of Allan Price, the other missing youth, planned to continue searching with some Indians for his son.

District Coroner Dr. L. J. Bolduc, who flew into the bush last Sunday night with the search party, said Carey had drowned and estimated he had been dead about a month and a half. Two Indians found the body, snagged on some branches in the water.

Police said they had little hope of finding the Price boy, speculating that he too drowned and that his body was probably at the bottom of the river.

2 More Polio Victims Die in Detroit Area

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit area polio epidemic has claimed two more lives to bring the total for the year thus far to 19.

Detroit has recorded 561 cases so far this year, compared to 174 in the same 1957 period. The total for the city and Wayne County now is 733.

The death yesterday of Edward Knorfske, 11, was the first of the year in Wayne County outside Detroit. The other polio death was Leroy Willis, 32, who died in a Detroit hospital.

A total of 43 polio cases were reported in Detroit this week. Health authorities said the figure was the lowest weekly total in five weeks.

Boy Burned in Fire Dies After Ambulance Crash

CHICAGO (AP) — Christipher Wendt, 8, Edwardsburg, Mich., who suffered burns in a home fire Sunday then critical injuries in an ambulance crash died in Wesley Memorial Hospital Thursday.

The ambulance skidded off U.S. 112 and hit a tree as the boy was being taken from his home to a hospital in Niles, Mich., Sunday.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Speeding Car Flips, Injuring 2 Persons

BRUCE TOWNSHIP—Two persons were injured last night when their car overturned at the intersection of Gates and Camp Ground roads in Bruce Township, one mile northwest of Romeo.

Her passenger, Charles Dennis, 16, of 8480 Pilgrim St., Washington, had minor cuts and bruises.

Both were treated by a Romeo physician.

Vacationers Flock to Seaside Resort

Russians at Play Are Lighthearted Group

(Russians at play are something the western world doesn't hear too much about. Here is closeup look at one of the Soviet Union's most popular resorts, to which Russians flee to escape the cold and snow of Moscow and other cities of the north.)

By COLETTE BLACKMOORE

SOCHI, Russia (UPI)—Frost has alread touched Moscow. It snowed heavily in Sverdlovsk in mid-September. Winter has gotten a head start in Russia this year.

By day they swarm in scanty bathing suits to the pebbly beaches from Tuapse to Batumi like ants to a luxurious picnic ground. By night they dress up in city finery and flock to wherever the music and the Georgian wine is.

Each day they became browner and more light hearted. Every evening brings them closer to kopecklessness until, at last, the holiday fling over, they pack their bags and head northwards to the jobs and families which await them.

The best place to observe grownup Russia at play is Sochi, queen of the eastern sea resorts, sprawling along the foothills of the Caucasian Mountains. Its Indian summer,stretching far into October with scorching hot days and cool nights, attracts sunworshippers from all over the Soviet Union.

A middle-aged engineer and his plump, delicate-skinned wife have leisurely driven down from Leningrad in their own car for a month's rest. They are your neighbors on the beach and it takes only a smile to start a conversation with them.

You talk together about the fun of travel. They want to know how you spanned the miles from New York to Moscow and how much this wonderful trip cost you.

"Will we ever be able to visit America?" they wonder out loud. "It's so far and so expensive."

You tell them about the first groups of Soviet tourists who saw the United States this August and September for ten days and six thousand rubles.

Some boys from Kev, not long out of university, are living it up in seashore style. One of them has an old car and together they ride with their girl friends up and down the coast. They take in the late movie shows, gather on park benches to whisper in each other's ears what boys and girls the world over whisper in such settings.

They delight in trying out the few phrases of English which they remember from high school, and enjoy your astonishment when they talk knowlingly of Ella Fitzgerald, Bing Crosby, Van Cliburn, the Philadelphia Orchestra and other American entertainers. These are open-minded, warm young people and it is a pleasure to pass an hour chatting with them.

In a restaurant, in the evening, a pretty woman in her thirties is flushed and happy and she and her partner dance every foxtrot and waltz the orchestra has to offer. She has left her husband to look after the home fires in Krasnoyarsk and come south for a breath of fresh air and frolic. Vise versa with her partner.

They, like many other Russians, feel that husbands and wives generally see too much of each other and that it's good to separate for vacations and perhaps even engage in a little flirtation.

The wise ones don't ask their spouses with whom they spent their time in Sochi. Said one Russian, "If I am really curious to know what my wife was up to down there, I simply look to see how much money she spent."

The daily issue of Pravda arrives in Sochi almost half a day late and once read through it passes as a sun bonnet or padding against the rough, sandy beach.

Here the Far Eastern crisis seems farther away than ever and only the more serious minds try to analyze the fine points of Nikita Khrushchev's latest statements.

California Cardinal Flies to Rome for Balloting

The Trans World Airlines plane carrying the cardinal and his party is due to arrive at 9:35 a.m. Sunday, Rome time.
