Romney Offers Record $624-Million Budget

Taylor, Head of JCs Answer Criticism of Charter Amendment

By DICK SAUNDERS

Officials of the Pontiac Area Junior Chamber of Commerce along with City Commissioner William H. Taylor today answered criticism of a proposed charter amendment.

The amendment, which would change present methods of electing city commissioners, will be put to a vote of the people at a special election Monday.

It was strongly opposed by Mayor Robert A. Landry in his state of the city address. Four other commissioners also voiced opposition to the plan being proposed.

Following is how the Jaycees and Commissioner Taylor answered Landry:

Landry: "The proposed charter change, if passed, will disfranchise every citizen in every district from his right to elect his own representative."

Taylor: "The people should not be misled by this false statement. Each district will still nominate its individual representative who will vie at the final election against another candidate from his own district."

Landry: "We can have representation at large without . . . literally telling our people we think you're smart enough to nominate but not intelligent enough to elect your own commissioner."

★ ★ ★

Jaycee president Richard C. Fitzpatrick answered, "This is exactly the opposite of what we propose.

PRESENT SYSTEM

"In our opinion, the present system of electing commissioners says, in effect, Voters are only intelligent enough to elect a commissioner, not a commission.'

"We feel that every voter in the city is intelligent enough to elect seven men, not just one."

Landry: "There is a much better way to do this. I would propose the following: Enlarge the present districts to number five instead of seven, and nominate and elect two representatives at-large. That would give us both district . . . and at-large representation."

★ ★ ★

Fitzpatrick: "This suggestion exhibits a greater lack of equal representation than the system proposed in the charter amendment.

ONE FROM EACH

"The city would have five districts with one man from each.

"Then, two men would be elected at large. Those two can't live outside Pontiac. They must live in one or more

Nixon Wavers on '64 Course

Willing to Sacrifice for GOP, America

By JULES LOH

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard M. Nixon, apparently detecting growing sentiment that he should run again for president, says he is "willing to do everything necessary" to see to it the Republicans nominate their most popular and best-qualified man this fall.

He insists there has been no change in his position that he is not a candidate, but it was his first indication that events might put him in this year's race.

"I will make any decisions in the future," he said in an interview, "based on my primary conviction that it is vital to get new leadership for this country and that the Republican party must nominate its strongest man.

"I will say this — and I have not said it before — I will make any sacrifice to see that that is done."

Interviewed in his office, Nixon said:

"I believe that any man who has become a public figure belongs to the public and as long as they want him to lead, to lead.

"But leadership doesn't always involve being a candidate.

EYES RESPONSIBILITY

"I feel that having been the (Republican) candidate in 1960 and having received the votes of more than 34 million people, I have a responsibility to them."

The former vice president, who is 51 years old today, became a partner Jan. 1 in a New York law firm now named Nixon, Mudge, Rose, Guthrie & Alexander.

"I have to judge what that responsibility is and how to meet it.

"I also feel the Republican party has an obligation to nominate its strongest candidate and one who would make the best president — and I believe the two go together."

Barry Called Irresponsible by McNamara

'Goldwater Damaged Security by Calling Missile Unreliable'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara accused Sen. Barry Goldwater today of damaging national security and being politically irresponsible in saying the U.S. long-range missiles are not reliable.

McNamara released a statement taking issue with assertions made by Goldwater while the Arizona senator, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, was campaigning in New Hampshire.

Goldwater said that cuts in defense spending proposed by President Johnson would put too much reliance on the nation's missile forces.

Goldwater said intercontinental ballistic missiles are not reliable, adding:

★ ★ ★

"I can tell you that, and I'll probably catch hell for it."

READ TO REPORTERS

McNamara's statement of reply was read to reporters by Asst. Secretary of Defense Arthur Sylvester.

The text of McNamara's statement:

★ ★ ★

"Sen. Goldwater's reported statement that the U.S. long-range missiles are not dependable is completely misleading, politically irresponsible, and damaging to the national security.

NO SUPPORT

"There is no information, classified or otherwise, to support the false implication that our long-range missiles cannot be depended upon to accomplish their mission.

★ ★ ★

"The importance of the long-range missiles to the defense of this country and the evaluation of their effectiveness by our leading military authorities is indicated by the strong support given by the joint chiefs of staff to the missile program."

The Odds Are Good for Area Snowfall

There's a chance of about one inch of snow late this afternoon or tonight with temperatures turning colder.

The Weather Bureau forecasts a freezing low of 25 tonight and a 30 degree high tomorrow. Partly cloudy and cold is the prediction for Saturday.

Today's southeasterly winds at 5 to 20 miles per hour will become northwesterly at 10 to 25 m.p.h. this afternoon and continue through tomorrow.

★ ★ ★

About .3 of an inch in rain fell on the Pontiac area during the night and early morning.

Thirty-four was the low temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a. m. The record at 2 p.m. was 36.

STUBBORN — It was roundup time in Bloomfield Township yesterday at Telegraph and Devon Hills when this cow fell from a truck taking her to a packing house. It took five policemen to corral the animal and tie her to a pole in front of 3555 Shallowbrook until the cattle truck returned with a loading ramp. Township Patrolman Don Zimmerman and owner Richard Long, of Millington, helped her aboard.

Saginaw Fire Kills 4 Children

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP) — Four children—left alone while their mother went across the street to make a telephone call—died when a fire swept through their home last night, police said.

The victims were Keith Yancer, 3 and three sisters, Joan, 5, Marjorie, 1, and Melissa, 2, officers said.

Three other Yancer children were rescued by a neighbor who pulled them through the front door after smashing out the glass.

The mother, Jeanette Yancer, 23, tried to reach the other children, but a passerby, Leroy Yanna, 14, restrained her after Yanna was driven back by heat and flames, police said.

Yanna suffered facial burns. Mrs. Yancer, who is separated from her husband, Jack, was hospitalized for smoke inhalation and shock.

PAPER IN FIRE

The children told police the fire started when one of them dropped tissue paper into a lighted gas range being used to heat the frame house.

Mrs. George Peder, 50, a neighbor of the Yancers said she saw 1-year-old Marjorie crawling from the living room with the fire behind her. She called to the baby to keep coming, but the fire caught up with her and engulfed her.

Yanna, who helped rescue the surviving Yancer children, was treated at the hospital for facial burns.

Yanna told police he heard screams for help and ran to the house with Mrs. Peden.

Police said Mrs. Peden smashed the glass out of the front door and helped Jack Yancer, 6; and his two sisters, June Ellen, 5, and Amanda, 7, from the burning 1½ story frame home.

Mrs. Yancer told police she had gone across the street to use a neighbor's telephone to call her father.

State Won't Probe City Election

A City Commission request to investigate 1962 commission election expenses has been turned down by the state attorney general's office for lack of evidence.

Joseph Sullivan, head of the attorney general's criminal investigation division, said today that investigators "were not able to substantiate certain allegations made by those requesting the investigation."

He added: "We were unable to find any evidence to substantiate any wrongdoing."

★ ★ ★

Sullivan said the state attorney's office had stopped its probe.

Asked about an alleged "slush fund" for 1962 commission candidates, Sullivan said that the material presented had been turned over to the local prosecutor.

★ ★ ★

Senior Assistant Prosecutor Jerome K. Barry said that he knew nothing about the matter. Prosecutor George F. Taylor is on vacation.

Murphy Looks Into Future

Auditor Chairman Sets Goals for 1964

By DICK HANSON

Like others who find themselves in top executive positions, Oakland County's new board of auditors chairman, Daniel T. Murphy, wishes he had a crystal ball to predict the future.

"Good administration calls for looking into the future if you can," said Murphy after the first week in his new post.

The 40-year-old Murphy was appointed by the County Board of Supervisors after members saw in him an ability to foretell problems and maintain a smooth operation.

★ ★ ★

While he was clerk-register, no department ran more smoothly.

The 85 members of the board of supervisors look to Murphy for wise counsel before they make their policy decisions in county government.

For this administrative service, they have agreed to pay Murphy $19,000 this year.

Murphy has set his goals in 1964.

Foremost among these, he said, is "coordinating the supervisors" committees to avoid any duplication or wasted effort in county government.

★ ★ ★

"Also, I will be looking for areas where county departments might be brought together to avoid any possible duplication," he added.

STEP TAKEN

Murphy already has taken a step in the latter direction.

With concurrence of the other two members of the board of auditors, he has decided to meet with the various department heads every Monday to consider any problems they might have in the daily operation of county government on the administrative level.

Other goals Murphy said he has set are:

- Expanding data process-

Mental Health, Schools Gain

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney today offered the legislature a $624-million program he says will meet Michigan's need in mental health, education and other fields without exceeding expected income.

In his second State of the State message to the legislature, Romney proposed a 1964-65 budget of $624 million, an all-time record and $74 million above current spending.

Emphasizing thrift in government despite a "healthy financial outlook," the governor said this nevertheless will be a tight spending plan, budgeting an expected surplus of $35 million.

Most of the increase above this year's $50 million would be marked for expanding mental health facilities and, in education, to prepare for increasing enrollment.

Romney said his 1964 program is aimed at meeting "two basic objectives —to protect and enlarge human rights, and to serve human needs."

Romney, who is expected to seek reelection but says he is willing to be drafted for the GOP presidential nomination, asked lawmakers to ignore poltics and weigh only the merits of his propoals.

The governor said Michigan did more for its future in 1963 than in any year in this century.

He told lawmakers 1964 will be a year for "building on these accomplishments."

He outlined 11 areas of concern, in most of which legislation will be sought. Key elements of these included:

★ ★ ★

An "interim" plan for boosting the state school aid formula through both state aid and deductible millage, by $10 million, plus $11 million for added enrollment.

HIGHER EDUCATION

An additional $21 million for higher education operating funds as part of an over-all $89 million program of expansion to meet heavy new enrollments.

Expansion of state clinical facilities for the mentally retarded and mentally ill, also unspecified funds for research and other needs.

Revision of the state's plan for obtaining federal aid to dependent children of the unemployed to qualify under federal standards.

★ ★ ★

A state minimum wage, beginning at $1 per hour.

INCOME TAX

Legislation enabling nonresidents to pay only half of a city income tax to a city in which they work, a proposal revived from the tax reform program defeated last year.

More legislation to implement the new Constitution, including districts for the State Court of Appeals and a specific proposal for county home rule.

"Early action" on governmental reorganization, but no specific plan from the governor's office.

Talk Lauded by Legislators

Lesinski Says Dems Will Support Program

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney's "state of the state" message drew praise from both Democratic and Republican ranks in the legislature today.

Romney proposed increased spending for education, mental health and other areas, while at the same time spending less than the state's anticipated income.

Lt. Gov. T. John Lesinski, the state's top elected Democrat and president of the Senate, said "I believe every Democrat will work to secure most of this program and more."

★ ★ ★

Lesinski added it was his opinion Romney "fails to propose an effective program to expand our state economy to meet the tidal wave of young people entering the labor market, let alone secure jobs for the present unemployed."

EXPRESSED DOUBT

Some other Democratic leaders quickly characterized the governor's program as "something we have advocated for years," and expressed doubt he might be able to sell it to his own Republican majorities in the House and Senate.

Republicans aligned with both the conservative and moderate factions of the Senate lauded the governor's aims.

One Republican, however, said Romney's making himself available for draft as a presidential candidate might deter from his effectiveness with the legislature and predicted: "To get the kind of program he wants, he's going to have to work hard at it here."

★ ★ ★

That senator was Kent Lundgren of Menominee, who said Romney's announcement of draft availability had left legislators "sort of perplexed."

SIMILAR VEIN

Lesinski had comment in a somewhat similar vein, saying at one point in a statement:

"It is my hope Romney will now make an effort to exert some leadership and overcome the legislative opposition to him within his Republican ranks.

"My real fear is his untimely announcement of presidential availability has opened a Pandora's Box of struggles for power within his political party which could endanger even this minimal program."

Sen. John Smeekens, R-Coldwater, said he was "thrilled to be back (in legislative session) for the first time in eight years and not be facing a crushing deficit."

Raymond D. Dzendzel, D-Detroit, Senate minority leader, said "in general, it, the Romney program looks good and is one which we generally through the years have fought for."

Answer Amendment Criticism

of the five districts as proposed by the mayor.

"Thus, the city could have two districts each with two representatives, or one with three resident commissioners."

★ ★ ★

Landry: "Pontiac did live with the elect-at-large system and what did it bring us? Six commissioners living in a three-block area in one section of the city."

NO DISTRICTS

Taylor: That is because the old system called for both nomination and election at-large. There were no districts at all.

"Under the system proposed in the amendment, the city still has the same seven districts and the voters in each district nominate their own candidates to represent them in the final election.

"With nomination by district retained, every district is assured of having a commissioner on the City Commission."

Landry: "Let's not be lulled during the first act so that the second act will find us sleeping at the switch. We all know the second act is to nominate at-large and elect at-large, then, goodby representation."

NO PLANS

Fitzpatrick: "We have no plans at all for a 'second act'. We do not advocate complete nomination and election at-large, which could lead to unequal representation or a concentration of power in one district."

Landry: "This proposed charter change came into being for one reason alone, to get somebody."

Fitzpatrick: "This is not a personality contest. We are not out to 'get' anybody or any group.

"We are only interested in what we feel is a more fair and equitable method of expressing citywide majority opinion."

GOOD GOVERNMENT

Taylor: "This was proposed only to obtain good government for the people and by the people. If I thought the aim of this amendment was to 'get' somebody or a group of people, I would wash my hands of the whole thing.

"Look what the mayor has done. Three years ago he and some others set out to 'get' opposing candidates in three other districts through the use of dirty campaign literature.

"They set out to do this because they wanted an autocratic mayor-council government, not the city manager-commission type that the charter prescribes.

★ ★ ★

Landry: "This same proposal was advanced two years ago but was not accepted as the right thing to do. If it was wrong two years ago, it is also wrong today. Two years do not change wrong to right."

LOSS OF JOBS

Taylor: "Two years ago members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, in advancing this proposal, were threatened by a group of men in the city with a loss of their jobs if they made any effort to place such a proposal before the people.

"There is no question but what the Jaycees were pressured by people who have been compromising over the years with majority factions of former commissions, for fear of injuring or halting their own projects.

"The proposal was right two years ago and is right today."

★ ★ ★

Other critical comments of the proposed charter amendment were voiced by Commissioners Milton R. Henry, Winford E. Bottom and Dick M. Kirby.

EXPENSIVE TO RUN

Henry: "With an at-large vote, a man is going to have to have a million dollars to run for election.

"This city would be a mess, with people selling themselves to the highest bidders."

Taylor: "Any election costs a man money. Certainly two years ago the election was one of the most expensive we've ever seen, and that can be proven.

★ ★ ★

"When a professional has to be called into a city and paid for his services to run a campaign, it gets very expensive."

PRESSURE GROUP

Bottom: "Under the system proposed in the amendment, a small pressure group could select a slate of seven men, get them nominated and then campaign for them, with the result that they'd be answerable to a small group, not to the people in their district."

Taylor: "Under any system, if a group decides it's going to get someone elected, it can do so."

Kirby: "This whole thing has come about because your city officials have dared to be independent and uncontrolled."

★ ★ ★

Taylor: "I would hope the citizens of Pontiac haven't forgotten the two years of rule by men who are hungry for power and themselves have forgotten the rights of the people of Pontiac.

"A typical example is the 'mayor's' state of the city address. It used to be the city manager's duty. It used to be discussed with the whole commission before it was presented.

★ ★ ★

"It would seem there is considerable 'control' somewhere when the same majority votes the same way time after time."

Auditor Chief Sets the Goals

ing methods to accomplish a more efficient day-to-day operation.

- Establishing direct communications with business and industry to keep them better informed of county programs.
- Further assisting local communities in doing their jobs at less cost by combining efforts in such fields as tax assessing and public works.

IMMEDIATE PROBLEMS

Some of the immediate problems facing county government Murphy described as:

- Completing a Childrens Village for the county's juvenile court wards.
- Perfecting a community mental health program.
- Establishing a welfare relief reserve fund as a cushion against any drop in the economy.
- Finding ways to finance new construction of county facilities in the face of rising demands by a growing population.

NEW BUILDING

"We are overcrowded at the courthouse and need a new building program that will include another wing," Murphy said.

He said there will be no more annual surplus of county funds for building purposes as in the past, "we will have to find another way."

Murphy said he was prepared to make one prediction now: "The county will give the taxpayer the best for his dollar."

19,000 Idle as Result of Buick Strike

FLINT (AP) — A strike over production rates kept the mammoth Buick plant of General Motors Corp. idle for a second day today with 19,000 workers off the job.

★ ★ ★

Negotiations with striking Local 599 of the United Auto Workers were scheduled to resume this afternoon after being halted following the start of the walkout Wednesday.

★ ★ ★

Besides 15,000 on strike at Buick, another 4,000 were idled at a Fisher Body factory in Flint for lack of supplies from Buick.

LATEST IN SERIES

The Buick strike was the latest in a series in the auto industry over production rates since the car industry started work on 1964 models late last summer. All the other strikes have been settled.

GM's Buick complex of more than a score of factories, including car assembly and manufacturing units, was affected.

★ ★ ★

The Buick car comes off the assembly line here at a rate of about 60 an hour. GM also turns out the Buick at other factories in the country, including a big plant at Kansas City.

★ ★ ★

Local 599 charged a "speedup" on the assembly line. Management denied that work was too heavy.

Jack Wagner, local 599 president, said management demanded a production rate that "exceeded twice the capacity of the workers and the machines."

School Costs to Keep Rising

Members of a select citizens committee had a financial picture painted last night of ever-increasing school budgets during the next decade.

School officials presented projections showing operation budgets will increase annually by $357,220 through 1974.

Total operating costs may rise nearly $4.5 million during the next 10 years, they said.

The expenditure subcommittee of the Pontiac School Study Committee met last night at Madison Junior High School, ending a study of expenditure needs for local schools.

ESTIMATED RISE

School officials estimate that operation costs will rise from $10,520,377 this year to $15,027,221 by 1974.

The major portion of the increases will come in the costs of personnel and cost of living, they said.

Per pupil expenditures will jump about $18 per year, climbing from the present level of $477 per pupil to $685 by the school year 1973-74.

The citizens group agreed with the statistics.

They meet next Wednesday with the income subcommittee to begin studying how much local taxpayers will have to contribute to make the expenditure and income columns balance.

MILLAGE DETERMINATION

Chairman James Howlett, who heads the 42-member committee, said the group would begin determining the actual millage needed to support the income and expenditure requirements of the next ten years.

He said the committee would draft a written report and submit it to the Pontiac school board.

The citizens indicated that the projected expenditures in the future were modest and might even be higher.

★ ★ ★

School Supt. Dana P. Whitmer told committee members last night that supplies and new instructional techniques would increase costs.

★ ★ ★

He said use of education television, teaching machines and programmed learning devices, data processing and more in-service teacher education programs would mean increased costs.

Widow Plans Book About Lee Oswald

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Marina Oswald plans to write a book about her life in the Soviet Union and her marriage with Lee Harvey Oswald, the Dallas Morning News said today.

★ ★ ★

The 22-year-old widow, whose business adviser said Wednesday she had accepted as a fact the accusation that her husband assassinated President John F. Kennedy, would get professional help in writing the book, the newspaper said.

★ ★ ★

It said a Grand Prairie, Tex., lawyer, John M. Thorne, was to discuss the projected book with an executive from a publishing company.

The Russian-speaking Marina has "picked up considerable English, enough to talk with you conversationally, but not enough to do a book," Thorne was quoted as saying.

BECAME MOODY

Martin said Oswald had changed since returning to the United States from the Soviet Union, where he and Marina married. "He became more moody, more unhappy," Martin said.

Oswald's mother, Marguerite Oswald of Fort Worth, refused to believe her daughter-in-law was convinced of Oswald's guilt.

Roberts Eying Congress Seat

Delay in Court Setup Forces New Decision

By JIM DYGERT

Indications are growing that State Sen. Farrell E. Roberts, R-Oakland County, will aim his political aspirations this year at a new legislative adventure instead of the quiet dignity of a judge's robe.

His decision rests between seeking the Republican nomination for Congress in the new 19th district and running for a seat on the new state court of appeals.

He has not yet officially decided.

But statements by the senator have made it clear that his choice probably will be for Congress.

★ ★ ★

Most GOP leaders who have talked with Roberts expect his decision to go that way.

EXPECT ANNOUNCEMENT

Some of the senator's associates expect him to announce his candidacy for Congress within a week or two.

His entry into the race would mean at least a three-way contest in the 19th district GOP primary. The district covers northern and western Oakland County and all of Livingston County.

Oakland University Development Director James Dickerson and Pontiac attorney Richard D. Kuhn already have their hats in the ring.

★ ★ ★

Roberts began thinking about the congressional race last month when the State Legislature failed to set up the new appellate court called for in the new state constitution.

CLOUDED FUTURE

This left the status of the court uncertain until legislators tackle the issue again in the current 1964 session.

Roberts, who had been planning to run for the appellate court, began to wonder if he could wait for the matter to be settled before making his final plans.

Actually, Congress was the senator's true preference in the first place.

★ ★ ★

The 39-year-old attorney leaned toward a decision to seek a judicial post, out of regard for his wife and two young sons.

Long hours in Lansing interfered with his family life, and Washington promised to be even worse.

Romney Offers Record Budget

minimum wage, senior citizens, annexation, youth problems, county home rule, mental health and conservation—the state has fresh studies on which to rely in deciding courses of action, Romney said.

CIVIL RIGHTS

He told lawmakers the only legislative requirement in the field of civil rights will be appropriations for the state Civil Rights Commission, created by the new Constitution.

"The sole task . . . will be adoption of a budget equal to the faith the people have placed in their constitutional Civil Rights Commission," he stated.

Stressing government thrift, Romney said:

★ ★ ★

"A continuing and relentless program of spending reform is essential to the fiscal integrity of any government and its ability to help people."

PRESERVE SURPLUS

He explained this is the reason for what he termed "careful budgeting" that will be designed to preserve some of the estimated $35 million surplus at the end of the 1963-64 fiscal year.

The governor said 18 months ago Michigan had a deficit of $85 million.

He warned that, without "restraint and sound judgment in budgeting, a new fiscal crisis could arise in 1965 and 1966.

Birmingham Area News

Pupil Pile-Up Poses Problem

BIRMINGHAM — Beset with heavy enrollment problems, Birmingham Board of Education members are focusing their attention on millage and bond issue elections in 1964.

Additional funds for operation will be needed by next September, when another 1,000 pupil increase is expected, according to Schools Supt. John B. Smith.

This year's enrollment increase of 870 was over 380 more than had been expected.

★ ★ ★

With the revision of enrollment projections, the board must also alter its anticipated expenses.

BUDGET PROJECTION

"The 1961 five-year budget projection was based on an average growth rate of about 400 students per year," Smith said.

"At the growth rate of 1,000 students per year, an additional two operating mills would be required just to maintain the present standards in the school system."

He compared the present enrollment of 14,134 with 13,263 in 1962-63 and 12,737 in 1961-62.

★ ★ ★

Special attention is being given to elementary needs, where additional buildings will be needed by September, 1965, Smith said.

EXTREMELY CRITICAL

He cited the "extremely critical" situations in the Valley Woods and Beverly school areas, but noted that other additions will be needed.

The board also is studying the many recommendations of the Citizens' Elementary Curriculum Study Committee.

"Any substantial incorporation of the recommendations for improvement made by this committee will require additional financial support," Smith noted.

★ ★ ★

He said careful consideration would be given to increasing the 1.9 mills of operating funds which will be levied for the last time in December.

Robert A. Thom, internationally known artist and president of the Community House, will be the main speaker at the annual Birmingham Jaycee awards banquet scheduled for Wednesday.

City Commissioner William E. Roberts, Birmingham Chamber of Commerce president, will be the toastmaster, according to Jaycee President Gerry Dudley.

The 6:30 p.m. event at the Kingsley Inn will feature presentation of the Jaycees' distinguished service award to one of their members. Bosses' night also will be observed at the banquet.

Ida D. Stradley

Private service for Mrs. Ida D. Stradley, 90, of 1019 Cranbrook, Bloomfield Hills, was today in the Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co. with burial following in Grand Lawn Cemetery, Detroit.

Mrs. Stradley died Tuesday after a prolonged illness.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. William Ross of Kingsville, Ont. and Mrs. Vincent E. Van Fleet of Birmingham; four grandchildren and a great-grandson.

Protest Filed on Hanger Promotion

A Pontiac policeman has filed a grievance with the city manager that claims city personnel regulations were violated when Acting Chief William K. Hanger was promoted to the rank of inspector.

The officer, Lt. Raymond Meggitt, submitted the protest yesterday to his superior officers.

City Manager Robert A. Carter said he had received the grievance but would not comment on who the complainant was or what the letter contained.

★ ★ ★

"This is the way every grievance should be handled," said Carter. "There is a procedure that must be followed when a grievance is received."

PUBLIC GETS INVOLVED

"It seems that with every protest in the past the community became involved," Carter added.

"We are attempting to work out the problems of police in the police department."

Though Meggitt could not be reached for comment, it was learned that he protested that others in the department were not given an opportunity to take a competitive examination for the inspector post.

★ ★ ★

Hanger was appointed inspector Dec. 11 by Carter. In receiving the rank, second only to that of chief, he skipped over the rank of captain from lieutenant.

LEARN OF ACTION

Pontiac Police Officers Association members learned of the grievance last night at their meeting. No official action was taken by the association.

Carter said he is studying the grievance so he can answer it properly.

★ ★ ★

"If the man does not feel it is the right answer he has the right to appeal to the city commission.

Laxatives Can Ruin Natural Regulation

By DR. WILLIAM BRADY

The medical profession today is pretty well rid of the autointoxication obsession which was so profitably promoted at the dawn of the century by Kellogg of Battle Creek and Lane of London.

In horse and buggy days, there were a lot of nuts who couldn't take their minds off their bowels long enough to give autonomic regulation a chance to work. They couldn't trust nature. They relied only on "internal baths" or colon irrigation.

Some of these smart alecks or smart alices ultimately went on the operating table for partial or total colectomy—conversion of the colon into a semi-colon or removal of the entire poison factory.

★ ★ ★

I have never taken a laxative or used any kind of "aid" since I was a boy on Chapel Street and more or less subject to my elders' belief that an occasional "cleaning out" with salts, senna, castor oil or "liver pills" was advisable for everybody.

NOT DIFFERENT

It is not that I am different from other people, but just that I believe the autonomic mechanism that regulates circulation, breathing and other functions also regulates the bowels if not interfered with.

Indeed I say in Little Lesson No. 25, "The Constipation Habit and Colon Hygiene" (for a copy send me 35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope):

"Mob, crowd or mass psychology got you into this habit in the first place, together with your smug, abysmal ignorance of psysiology . . . Thousands in the same predicament have abjured all physic, stuck it out three, four or five days and won.

★ ★ ★

"The outcome is a question of intelligence and morale. If you are . . . you will probably get panicky the third or fourth day and go back to your old physic or enema . . ."

KEEP AFRAID

That is what the quacks and nostrum makers have spent so much of your money for these past hundred years—to keep you afraid of the "autointoxication" bugaboo.

People who have been inculcated from childhood with the idea of "autointoxication" or "poisoning" of the system by products of fermentation or putrefaction absorbed from the intestine or colon if the bowel is "lazy," sluggish or inactive are generally as unteachable as are alcoholics who think or pretend to think their narcotic is good for them.

It is as sensible to believe one needs something every day, or at least once a week, to "regulate" the heart, the brain, the lungs or the kidneys as it is to think one must use something to regulate the bowel.

★ ★ ★

All these vital functions are controlled by the automatic nervous system independently of the will. This automatic regulation is always most efficient when not interfered with. Interference begins in early infancy when the neighbor saireygamp prescribes the first dose of castor oil for the luckless infant.

OBJECTIONABLE

Castor oil, by the way, is particularly objectionable because its after-effect is binding—indeed that is why the physician prescribes it for acute diarrhea.

Adults with the "mucous colitis" obsession usually think they know more about the subject than the ordinary doctor does.

Their stupid use of enemas or, as they call them, "bowel washes," "internal baths" or "colon irrigations" aggravates and perpetuates their trouble, which is not "mucous colitis," not colitis at all, but just colon derangement due to vicious interference.

★ ★ ★

These poor geeks—a "geek," in my lexicon, is a person who believes anything that seems to accord with his half-baked preconception—owe their sad plight to the morbid habit of "watching" or keeping their mind on the bowels.

If my language seems crude it is intentionally so, to stir these unhappy creatures out of their smug complacency.

★ ★ ★

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Hope Fading for Lost Plane

HONOLULU (AP)—Hope faded today for the survival of nine men lost on a missing Air Force transport plane. Their fate remained a mystery as a massive search drew toward a close.

The Air Force and Navy had been involved since last Thursday in what they called the greatest search effort ever in the Pacific.

Sixty-nine aircraft and three Navy ships scanned 600,000 square miles of ocean between Hawaii and Wake Island without finding any trace of the big C-124 plane or its eight Air Force crewmen and a Navy passenger, who was escorting the body of another Navy man home.

The search was down to eleven planes and three ships today.

Lodge Draft Committee Must Move Office

BOSTON (AP)—A committee to draft Henry Cabot Lodge for the Republican presidential nomination has moved its office to Washington after running afoul of a Massachusetts law.

The committee's headquarters in Boston closed Saturday after Secretary of State Kevin H. White ruled the law required that Lodge agree to use of his name in such a committee's title. No such assent has come from Lodge, the U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam.

Planners Eye Oxford Pits for Garbage Graveyard

By ROGER SRIGLEY

OXFORD — Regional planners are considering conversion of the gravel pits north of town into a $32-million garbage graveyard.

The Detroit Metropolitan Regional Planning Commission, which came up with the idea, sees the pits as a 2,400-acre dump serving residents in Oakland, Wayne, Washtenaw, Macomb and Monroe counties.

Last night, Fred R. Cheek, deputy director of the commission, told Oxford village and township officials about his association's proposal.

★ ★ ★

Next Thursday, he will present it to the Supervisors Inter-County Committee (SICC), which is made up of representatives from some 200 local governments in southeast Michigan.

TWO PLANS

Two plans are being considered, both of which use the Oxford pits as end of the line for more than 3,500 tons of trash daily.

Another huge "sanitary land fill," as planners call them, is being considered for Green Oaks Township, south of Kensington Park.

Cheek described the land fills as going "beyond anything that anybody has anywhere" in the field of sanitation and efficiency.

★ ★ ★

Throughout the five - county area, 28 indoor transfer stations would be located. Here, the refuse would be put into enclosed trailers after being collected.

TRAIN TRANSPORT

Rubbish would be taken from 13 of the sites to one of the 15 located adjacent to railroad tracks, where 25-30 tons of it, still in the trailers, would be loaded on flat cars.

The garbage train would make a daily trip to Oxford, where the refuse would be dumped and spread in the pits. Some 400 trailers would be emptied each day.

Some 181 workers would be employed at the site. Facilities would be run on a 16-hour-per-day schedule.

★ ★ ★

Heavy equipment operators, mechanics, electricians, plumbers and clerks would be included in the permanent staff.

DIRT COVERING

As refuse is brought into the area, it would be spread and compressed. At the end of each day, six inches of dirt would be spread over all the trash.

★ ★ ★

Cheek said this step would eliminate possibility of flies, rats, odors and other undesirable characteristics common to the typical dump.

At last night's session, the planners showed a film on a landfill near Los Angeles, Calif., similar to the one proposed for Oxford. Builders were erecting $125,000 homes on the edge of the facility.

★ ★ ★

Cheek said when filled, the land would be suitable for conversion into a recreation area.

CALIFORNIA USE

He showed pictures of golf courses and baseball diamonds in California which were above former landfill areas.

"Who's going to run the show," was one question asked the planner. Cheek suggested the possibility of an organization of existing public officials.

He said the State Water Resources Commission and Health Department would have to give their okay before any work was done on the project.

After Cheek presents the commission's plan to the SICC, which requested the study, the members can recommend that the idea be adopted by county constituents.

LOCAL PERMISSION

Paul Reid, executive director of the planning commission, said he thought under current law the landfill could not be constructed without permission of the local officials.

He pointed out, however, that enabling state legislation might be passed.

Officials of American Aggregates Co. and Koenig Fuel and Supply Co., last night expressed their objection to the idea.

★ ★ ★

The two companies own extensive land parcels and carry out gravel excavation in the area eyed by the planners.

"This is a regional problem," Reid pointed out.

Cheek said he wasn't trying to sell the idea, but was just presenting one answer to a dilemma which has existed "since Eve threw away that first apple core."

Dropout Aid Tops Bills in Legislature

LANSING (AP)—Bills to provide work training programs for high school dropouts headed the list of bills introduced as the legislature opened its 1964 session Wednesday.

★ ★ ★

Rep. Harry Demaso, R-Battle Creek, offered two proposals dealing with the subject of training persons for employment when they drop out of school before graduation.

★ ★ ★

A total of 39 bills were introduced in the house and two, both duplicating house bills, went into the hopper in the senate.

SPECIAL PROGRAM

One of Demaso's bills would authorize the state or the governing body of any county, city, village, township or school district to appropriate money for special education programs for dropouts, out of school for two months.

All such plans would be subject to approval of the state superintendent of public instruction.

Another Demaso bill would appropriate up to $290,000 for the 1964-65 fiscal year, to be used by the Michigan Employment Security Commission for a state training program for dropouts, six months out of school, for government jobs.

Both bills would limit eligibility to persons between 16 and 20 years old.

WORK CAMPS

Demaso also introduced a bill to establish state-operated work camps for training youths 17 to 20 years of age in selected skills.

The camps would be operated by the State Department of Social Welfare, and be built on publicly owned park or forest lands. Similar bills introduced by Demaso were killed in the 1963 session.

★ ★ ★

Introduced by Rep. Joseph Gillis, D-Detroit, were bills to repeal hunting bounties on rats, mice, English sparrows, foxes, coyotes, wolves and bobcats. Bills to repeal the bounties also were defeated in 1963.

Gillis also introduced bills to expand the number of state liquor licenses available.

REMOVE LIMIT

One would remove the legal requirement that licenses be limited to one per 1,500 persons in the last U.S. census. The other would allow the state to issue up to 200 tavern or class C licenses to ski areas with one or more ski tows or lifts. These licenses would be in effect between Nov. 1 and April 30.

Gillis also introduced a bill which would add to the state law language requiring police officers to take persons arrested for "investigation" of felonies before a judge "without unnecessary delay," and to make a complaint at that time.

★ ★ ★

The duplicate bills introduced in the house and senate were measures to provide for creation of a park on presently submerged portions of Peach Island in the Detroit River, and to define paragoric as a narcotic.

SURVEYS DAMAGE — Ernest Howarth, owner-manager of the Stop and Shop Super Market in Almont, looks at the mess left after fire destroyed the interior of the two-story building that houses the store yesterday. Mopping up and salvaging the inventory was started this morning. Firemen from five area departments, Almont, Dryden, Capac, Romeo and Imlay City, were called to battle the blaze.

After $50,000 Fire

Salvaging Starts at Market in Almont

By LEE OLSON
Area News Editor

ALMONT — Work began this morning on salvaging the inventory of the Stop and Shop Super Market at 101 S. Main. The store was gutted by fire yesterday morning.

The blaze which broke out at the rear of the store caused an estimated $50,000 damage, according to owner-manager Ernest Howarth.

He said he ran for some papers in a sublevel office when the fire was first discovered about 9:30 a.m., but was forced to flee when the building started to go up in flames "like a tinder box."

★ ★ ★

The Almont Fire Department was on the scene "in about two minutes" and called for assistance from the Romeo, Capac, Imlay City and Dryden departments.

CONCENTRATED EFFORTS

The volunteer fire fighters concentrated their efforts on containing the blaze in the one structure and preventing it from spreading to adjacent buildings.

They had the blaze under control in about an hour and a half, but the local firemen stayed on the scene for about six hours.

The interior of the two-story structure that houses the market was ruined by fire, smoke and water.

The Almonte Restaurant next door was closed because of smoke. It reopened for the Lions Club meeting last night after the smoke fumes had been dispelled by fans.

FIRST FIRE

The fire was the first in the business district of Almont since 1942, local merchants said.

Howarth, who has been in business at the same location for 12 years, said he plans to start renovating the building right away and to reopen as soon as possible.

He had insurance on the property.

He said he first thought the fire started from faulty wiring around the fuse box, but as yet this has not been substantiated.

Pizza Party Planned by Rochester YMCA

ROCHESTER—A pizza party is planned for members of the local YMCA's "Y" Teen Canteen tomorrow beginning at 7 p.m.

No advance registration is needed for the affair, which will be held at the "Y" on Helen Street.

White Lake Needs Auxiliary Firemen

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP—The fire department here is now recruiting auxiliary firemen.

A 12-week civil defense training course in auxiliary fire fighting will begin Jan. 23, providing a sufficient number of persons apply.

Supervising the instruction will be Capt. Gerald Fettig and Fireman John Ingamells of the local department. Classes will be held from 8 to 10 p.m. Thursdays at the fire hall.

★ ★ ★

Interested persons can apply at the Township Hall, 7525 Highland.

State Road Toll at 40

EAST LANSING (AP) — Traffic accidents have killed 40 persons in Michigan so far this year, provisional figures compiled by state police showed today. The highway death toll at this date last year was 23.

Walled Lake Will Allow Gas Station

WALLED LAKE — Clark Oil Corp. will be allowed to build its service station here, right across the street from Walled Lake Junior High School and St. Williams School and Church.

The oil company had been refused a building permit because the site it had chosen was within 300 feet of a school and church, forbidden under the city's zoning ordinance.

Clark started appeal proceedings in Oakland County Circuit Court against the municipality.

However, city councilmen this week decided to withdraw from the case and let the company build its service station.

SIMILAR CASE

They based their decision on an opinion of City Attorney Howard I. Bond, who described a similar case in which the city involved had lost in court.

Vocabulary Is Topic for Union Lake PTA

UNION LAKE — "The New Vocabulary" in today's teaching will be the topic at Monday night's meeting of the Union Lake Elementary School PTA.

Mrs. Mary Weborg, seventh grade teacher at Clifford H. Smart Junior High School, will be the speaker. The program is scheduled for 8 p.m.

Unit on Boundaries Eyes Two Petitions

Whether Wolverine Lake can vote on annexing 20 acres, and whether Royal Oak Township can vote on incorporation as a city were to be considered today by the boundaries committee of the County Board of Supervisors.

If the committee finds that the petitions and proposed boundary descriptions from these two communities are in order, it can only recommend that the board set election dates as requested.

Board action probably would be taken at its next meeting Jan. 17.

★ ★ ★

Phillip Kopman, developer of Penny Lake Estates, is seeking annexation of 20 acres to Wolverine Lake.

IN SUBDIVISION

Except for the property in question, Kopman's subdivision is entirely within village limits on the south side of the lake.

The 20 acres would square off the subdivision's boundaries.

Streets in the subdivision have been blacktopped, but no houses have yet been constructed.

★ ★ ★

Petition for incorporation of Royal Oak Township was submitted by a group of citizens earlier this month.

★ ★ ★

The township is divided into two parts by Oak Park. The petition bearing 190 signatures seeks a special election on incorporation of both parts as a single unit.

New Trial Set in Novi Case

Disconnection Suit Goes Back to Court

NOVI — The Michigan Supreme Court has ordered a new trial in the case of a land development company seeking to disconnect 520 acres from the village.

The case was appealed in Oakland County Circuit Court after Hickory Lane Land and Development Co. was refused permission to disconnect the property by the village.

The high court ruled the lower court was in error in dismissing the petition at the conclusion of the plaintiff's case.

★ ★ ★

Rather, the circuit court should have taken testimony in behalf of the village and then made a decision, the Supreme Court ruled.

WANTS TO SEVER

The company, which also acted for the estate of Mrs. Georgia M. Mitchell, wanted to sever the land from the village under a state law permitting such separation to prevent unfair taxes, when the land is idle three years and receiving no benefit from the village or city —in this case Novi.

★ ★ ★

The vacant property is located in the northwest portion of the village, near 11 Mile and Napier.

In ordering the new trial, the Supreme Court cited similar decisions in Minnesota and Illinois.

Church Will Show Films About Christ

HIGHLAND — A motion picture study course on "The Life of Christ" will begin Sunday night at Highland Congregational Church.

The 12-part program will be held on consecutive Sundays through March 29.

The films will begin at 7 p.m. at the church on Livingston.

Rejection Ignored by Romeo Builder

ROMEO — Builder Harold Fritz is going ahead with his plans to erect an apartment at 377 N. Main, even though the council has rejected the idea.

"They didn't really vote against it." Fritz says, "they just refused to vote."

At Monday's council meeting all other members failed to support a motion made by Councilman Stanley Holmes to rezone the lot for multiple dwelling, so the motion died.

"I plan to continue with my plans for construction," Fritz said yesterday.

FEELS IT'S LEGAL

The builder said he felt that his action was legal, despite the council's silent rejection.

First step toward construction will be his request for a building permit.

Fritz contends that the property on North Main where he proposes to build the 16-unit apartment would be more valuable after it was constructed.

★ ★ ★

He is backed up by statistics of professional appraisers.

PROPOSAL FOUGHT

However residents of the area have organized and retained Attorney J. Gerald McLean to fight the proposal.

Twice McLean turned in petitions with signatures of some 50 neighbors of the site objecting to construction of the apartment.

★ ★ ★

McLean has argued that the multiple housing unit would increase traffic and depreciate a "beautiful old neighborhood" which has attracted people to Romeo.

MERCEDES M. DIONNE

The engagement of Mercedes M. Dionne to Howard J. Brumley Jr. is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard J. Dionne of 1761 Clarkston, Orion Township. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard J. Brumley of Detroit. No date has been set for the wedding.

Girl Singers Set Rehearsal

All you have to do is be a gal and like to sing in order to attend the Utica-Rochester Chapter of Sweet Adelines' first rehearsal of the year Monday.

The chorus will begin preparation of songs it will present at the annual chorus competition in April at Detroit's Ford Auditorium.

Some 25 groups of female songsters from throughout Michigan, Ontario, Indiana and Ohio will attend the event and compete for top honors.

★ ★ ★

Monday's meeting will begin at 8 p. m. in the Avon Township Hall, at Fourth and Pine, Rochester. The Sweet Adelines, Inc. is the female counterpart of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America.

Four-part harmony is stressed in all of the melodies sung by the chorus.

Church at Lake Orion to Hold Ham Dinner

LAKE ORION — The Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints will hold a baked ham dinner today at the church, 531 Flint.

Serving will be family style from 5 to 7 p.m. Proceeds will go into the building fund.

PLAN YEAR AHEAD — Recently elected officers of the Rochester area Chamber of Commerce met with the chamber's board of directors yesterday to map out plans for the coming year. Discussing ideas for a membership drive are (from left) Vice President Walter Rewold, owner of Village Cleaners; President William W. Toussaint, a senior customer business representative for Detroit Edison Co.; Secretary Mrs. Betty Levick, owner of Rochester Secretarial and Answering Service; and Treasurer Donald Foss, owner of Milco Specialties.

EMILY L. BASS

Emily Louise Bass is engaged to Thomas Harry Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brown of 120 Shadbolt, Lake Orion. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mrs. Fred Gibb of 704 Buena Vista, Lake Orion, and the late Mrs. Norman J. Bass. A May 9 wedding is planned.

WED 55 YEARS—A family dinner is planned by Mr. and Mrs. George F. Dingel for Saturday evening at their home, 384 Coats, Orion Township, to celebrate their 55th wedding anniversary. Married Jan. 9, 1909, in Pontiac, the Dingels have seven daughters, three sons, 17 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Mayor Landry's Logic Extremely Unfounded

Mayor LANDRY opposes the new voting plan as "the cost of a city-wide election campaign would be too great for the candidates to bear."

Mr. Mayor!!!!

How in the world would a man run for Congress? He'd have to cover an entire county — and often two or three. And think of a senator. Why, Robert, a senator has to persuade an entire state. Under your analysis, no one could ever run for the Senate in Texas or California. Our own Philip Hart is a pretty wealthy man, but our Sen. McNamara isn't — and he had to battle in two big peninsulas.

But he made it.

Think of that, Mr. Mayor.

★ ★ ★

And ROBERT—give thought to the Presidency. Campaigning in fifty states would demand another KENNEDY, a Colonel HENRY CROWN of Chicago or our only billionaire, the fabulous Mr. GETTY. But HARRY TRUMAN made it. And he wasn't worth enough to stick in your eye.

Someone may argue that political parties help defray these campaign expenses, but that's pointless as friends and impromptu contributions fill exactly the same purpose on a much smaller scale in city elections.

★ ★ ★

It's time Pontiac had better thinking and comprehension in the City Hall. We've had two years of this kind of "logic."

It's enough.

In fact, it's too much.

Let's support the Jaycee program and vote "yes." Let's improve Pontiac's name around the State and Country and let's indicate to industry that we're sound and stable—and not a city run by men who only have enough gumption to campaign for office in two square blocks.

★ ★ ★

The Mayor's contention is pure hogwash, as we look at it; and he and his henchmen are scared to run at large when the whole City can speak. Otherwise, why do they object?

Yes, why do they?

Vote "yes."

U.S. Economic Signs Point Upward for '64

With the 1963 over-all economy at new highs, a look into 1964 is timely.

Economists pointed out that with the first day of the new year the economy entered its 35th month of uninterrupted business rise, making it the second longest in 110 years of United States history.

★ ★ ★

But prolonged as is the expansion by all peacetime standards, it shows no signs of fading away into another recession. On the contrary, the upturn which began in early 1961 was still solid and strong at the end of 1963, and the now almost certain passage of the general tax cut will keep it going in 1964.

★ ★ ★

As a guide to the national economic state and its prospects, the National Bureau of Economic Research has selected 26 sensitive and significant "indicators" that reflect the fiscal picture.

Twelve are known as "leading indicators," since they usually signal in advance business upturns or downturns; nine are "coincident indictators," because they move up or down with the economy; five are "lagging indicators," and go up or down after the economy as a whole has changed direction.

Currently, all but one of these indices are on the good side — an unusually strong indication of a healthy business climate and outlook. The only indicator on the negative side is "Accession Rate, Mfg." (hiring).

It seems to us that odds of 25 to one on good times ahead should make a bull out of the most hesitant bear.

LBJ Begins With a Bang

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON — President Johnson has had amazing luck. It was as if the rest of the world agreed to take a holiday from the news so he could get the biggest possible, unchallenged front-page play. And he did.

MARLOW

And he's been free of the anguish that comes from dealing with Congress, except for a brief hurly-burly with absent members when he twisted their arms to get them back to vote on foreign aid just before Christmas.

So he had the field pretty much to himself to make announcements and pronouncements.

This was bound to end, like all good things, as it is ending now with Congress.

★ ★ ★

Yesterday Congress got his State of the Union message in which he offered something for practically everyone.

"CUT-RATE UTOPIA"

One derisive Republican called it a "cut-rate utopia."

There's nothing unusually ominous about that since it's just about what some Republican says every year when a Democratic president outlines his program.

But Johnson offered so much in so many fields that even a much harder-working Congress than this one, which wants to get home fast for the 1964 elections, would pass only a fraction of his programs.

He knew before he proposed them that, unless he fought for them, he would be accused of making only an empty political gesture.

FIGHT INEVITABLE

So he can be expected to fight.

But it takes two to fight.

So from now on he will have to share much of the news with Congress.

But that's only a start.

RETURN TO NORMAL

The rest of the world, after being almost hush-hush for weeks, will have to return to normal with its murders, arsons, riots, tensions, conflicts, confusions and usual insanities.

That's more competition for Johnson, starting any day now.

Shortly after President Kennedy's funeral it became clear Johnson, with less than a year before election and therefore with a need to make the greatest personal impact soonest, would start aiming for page one.

★ ★ ★

He could have done that anyway, without really trying and with very little interruption from anyone else, since as new President everything he did would have been news.

WAY BEYOND

But he went away beyond that.

He worked overtime, sometimes 18 hours a day and more, not only at his job but at creating news in 50 different directions, besides his personally conducted tours of the White House and his ranch and his deer hunting.

There weren't many events that took the play away from him since that last week in November.

★ ★ ★

Some of the outstanding exceptions were the kidnaping of Frank Sinatra Jr., the trip of Pope Paul VI to the Holy Land, and Sen. Barry Goldwater's entirely expected announcement he would like to be president.

NOT EXHAUSTED

But even, with the world back to normal, the possibilities for creating eye-catching news are by no means exhausted for the publicity-conscious Johnson.

A trip abroad is a good example.

Even the Republican presidential candidates can hardly be more than occasional major competition for him on the front pages, at least until after the big party conventions next summer.

★ ★ ★

They're just would-be presidents, while he's the real thing.

Too Many Pocahontases!

David Lawrence Says:

Johnson Described Utopian State

WASHINGTON — President Johnson has just delivered to Congress not so much a message on the "State of the Union" as an alluring description of a utopian state.

LAWRENCE

Though speaking of the United States as "the richest nation on earth," Mr. Johnson, even more than his predecessor, emphasized poverty as a national problem.

He did not define this explicitly, but in general terms. He said his purpose was "to help that one-fifth of all American families with incomes too small even to meet their basic needs."

The question remains, however, as to what are really the "basic needs" and what persons can accurately be described as poverty-stricken.

The President seems to think that the cause of the poverty is "in a lack of education and training, in a lack of medical care and housing, in a lack of decent communities in which to live and bring up their children."

SOME RELIEF

No doubt there are communities in which poverty occurs, just as their are "distressed areas" where some unemployment prevails, and relief should be provided. But it is regrettable that not enough emphasis has been placed upon individual responsibility and also on the most effective way to create jobs.

Mr. Johnson did not mention the need to remove the barriers that the private-enterprise system faces every day in the creation of new jobs.

About the only reference to job creation in the President's speech was the mention of the $11-billion tax reduction over the next two years. He spoke of it as providing "investment incentives."

But in the same address to Congress, the President repeated an error which has often been noted in past administration policies — namely, a recommendation that laws be pased which cannot but have the effect of frustrating the development of the free-enterprise system.

GENERAL TERMS

There were many proposals in the President's address, nearly all couched in very general terms. The statement of the aims of the United States in foreign policy is in line with that of preceding administrations.

So there really was no new contribution to international policy. In fact, there was little new on the domestic side either.

For while the President promised "a progressive administration which is efficient and honest and frugal," the budget in the coming fiscal year will involve a deficit of $4.9 billion.

It is true that the earlier estimates were higher, but, unfortunately, a fiscal system is not measured by the size of the estimates or the theoretical economies achieved when estimates are finally cut down.

The fact remains that America is to run on a deficit budget in the years to come, and not a single word in the President's message gave any indication of when a balanced budget will be achieved.

So the people of the United States are asked to continue to accept the platitudes of hopefulness —that some day the millenium will arrive.

Capital Letter:

Master Showman LBJ Back on Center Stage

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON—The ol' maestro, who had every right to be a little rusty after three years on the straw-hat circuit, is conversely dazzling the political experts with his range and virtuosity.

Ruth MONTGOMERY

Lyndon Baines Johnson, during his first six weeks in the big time, has worked up a repertory that's a real show-stopper. It has something for everybody, and to judge by current public opinion polls, it will be playing to standing room only for some time to come.

LBJ has lost none of the flair that he exhibited as leading man during a long run at the Senate. Still the unexcelled master of cajolery, double hand-shake and arm-grip, the one-time boy wonder now has the wide, wide world as his arena.

No group seems too large, too small, too right, or too left to find something for itself in LBJ's bag of magic.

Economy-minded Republicans are cheering the several billion dollars being lopped from budget estimates, the slimmed-down federal payroll and chauffeurless limousines.

★ ★ ★

Texas liberals were pleased that Johnson took time out to call on Sen. Ralph Yarborough in Austin, and Northern political bosses duly noted that he went out of his way to attend the funeral of William Green in Philadelphia.

TOOK NOTICE

Kennedy fans also sat up and took notice when he dispatched Kennedy brother-in-law Sargent Shriver with a personal message to Pope Paul VI, which was delivered in Nazareth.

Catholics liked LBJ's expression of eagerness to meet personally with the Pope, and Protestants approve those Sunday trips he's been taking to the Episcopal church.

Even conservative GOP presidential candidate Barry Goldwater has handed his rival kudos, by saying he would have answered Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's Christmas message as LBJ did—with a call for "action, not words."

Members of the press lucky enough to be around when LBJ walks on stage have been flattered by news conferences over coffee cups in his office, and over bales of hay at the ranch.

Only the congressional members of the stellar audience have been pouting a little, because he refused to dim the lights long enough to let them slip home unobserved. But he gave them a nice Christmas party and will have lots of patronage goodies to dangle before their eyes this year.

Lights! Music! The second act begins.

Here's Staff's Eye View of LBJ

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) — You get a different picture of President Johnson when you talk in private with those who have worked for him at one time or another.

CROMLEY

Here are the very personal stories present or former colleagues tell:

"I had worked with him for years trying to deal with him on an intelectual level. Then a friend told me I was going about it in the wrong way.

"'You've got to deal with him in a glandular way,' he said. 'You've got to work with him in a total relationship — brains, glands, the lowest and the highest levels.'

"After that, I openly expressed anger when I felt anger, annoyance when I felt annoyed and enthusiasm when I felt enthusiastic.

"From that day on our relationship was very good."

★ ★ ★

"Lyndon stretches me. He thinks I'm smarter than I am. So I kill myself trying to live up to it.

"I have put in a week researching a problem, researching it as thoroughly as I could, reading, talking to a lot of people, thinking it through. Then I presented it to him. He asked the one question which I should have seen, that I didn't know the answer to."

"President Kennedy's staff members already have a feeling he wants them around. If they stay around, they'll be excited by him. His mind is as first-rate as any they will ever encounter. If they can adjust their esthetics to his Texas mannerisms and speech, I think they'll have quite a ride."

"He never sleeps. On a diplomatic trip, if the day went well, he keeps his staff members up to 4:30 a. m. telling them how wonderful they were. If the day went wrong, he keeps them up to 4:30 a. m. trying to analyze what went wrong and why. Then he'll be up early in the morning and away by 8."

★ ★ ★

"A girl in his office was getting married. When it was time for her to take her young man back to Texas to introduce him to the folks, Lyndon sent a telegram to her parents saying: 'We've been so proud of this girl. We like this boy. He's done great things. He's from a different part of the country, but we know you'll like him.' He wanted to pave the way at a time he knew the girl would be nervous. In some ways he's as sensitive as a woman."

★ ★ ★

"On one occasion when he was vice president, Mr. Johnson and some friends had been out hunting. As a surprise, he was going to have a party for them and present them with mounted trophies of what they had killed.

"But just before the party, he learned that one of the group had his boss visiting him. So Mr. Johnson packed the trophy in the back of his car, rushed out and delivered it in person while the man's boss was there. Lyndon thought it might help the man if his boss saw the vice president come personally to deliver something."

"You don't dare mention you're not feeling up to snuff. He'll have a battery of doctors at your door."

"When he came over to the State Department to talk to the staff, President Johnson mentioned with appreciation the top five men of the department. But then he went on, in front of the whole group, to single out three of us department junior men he had worked with."

"Just before leaving on his trip to northern Europe, Mr. Johnson learned that one of his former office staff had lost her husband and would be lonely. He immediately signed her up as a secretary and took her along. She had to work, but she wasn't lonely."

"When Johnson has quarreled with you, if he has blown up or has done something else to make you unhappy, he finds it difficult or impossible to come around and apologize. Instead, he does something nice for you, sends you a little gift, something he thinks you would like."

Voice of the People:

Express Various Views on Charter Amendment

Pontiac people should take a good look at the vote the Jaycees are pushing. It sounds as if there would only be a few people with enough money to run for city commissioner. The average person in town is a working man or woman connected with some labor movement. This vote pushed by the Jaycees is designed to make it impossible for a working man or woman to become a commissioner.

★ ★ ★

The voters will have to decide if they want to elect their own commissioner or have a political machine control the voting.

The Pontiac Press being the only paper in town has power and can sway people. If this proposal is passed The Press could elect who it wants. It would no longer be a people's election.

★ ★ ★

Ask yourself why the Jaycees are pushing this when better than half of them live outside of town. Do they want to put their own man or men in office?

600 Columbia — Edwin Manley

Pontiac is the home of many thousands of citizens who have shown their disapproval of the present city government by signing the charter amendment petitions a short time ago.

They and all the people who work hard to make this the finest city in Michigan have the opportunity to vote for or against the charter amendment Jan. 13.

E. W. Watchpocket

What a real opportunity all eligible voters have to improve our city government and stimulate business by voting Monday for the Jaycee charter amendment. Let's be loyal to a grand city.

227 Cherokee — Vera Bassett

A vote of "yes" on the Jan. 13 charter amendment can return harmony and prosperity to a once-proud city that has fallen victim to decay and stagnancy.

Prosperity is the end product of a community working in harmony. The citizens—both resident and nonresident—the elected representatives of the people, and those future citizens must work together to restore harmony in Pontiac.

Charles F. Hatter

I would like to give credit to the Pontiac Area Junior Chamber of Commerce for its efforts in the coming charter amendment election.

This amendment is extremely worthwhile and important because it changes the way in which our commission is elected to a much more democratic method.

Each eligible voter in the city would have a part in the selection of all the commissioners, not just the one from his district. I hope everyone will think this question over carefully and vote intelligently on Monday.

Joel Goldberg

A citizen has a right to elect his own representative be it on the city commission, in the state capital or in the U. S. capital. His right to elect his own representative should not be taken away from him any more than his right to be free. If he loses this right he ceases to be free. The citizens should not tolerate the efforts of the few to usurp their right of representation on the City Commission. Vote "no."

502 E. Mansfield — Charles J. Nasstrom

We have an opportunity to change the City Charter. With such a change we can vote all the city commissioners from all the seven districts instead of just the one from the district we live in, as now.

★ ★ ★

By this method we are likely to have better-qualified men in office. In fact, better men are apt to run for office, when they see their chances of getting elected are improved, as they will be.

The commission discharged the city manager, Robert Stierer, without just cause. The time is coming to discharge the commission. The best way to do it is to amend the charter so you can vote for or against the present or future commissioners. If you do not vote to amend the charter, you will not be able to vote for all the commissioners.

Vote "yes" and you can then vote for a better commission.

Passage of Obscene Mail Bill Urged

To all civic-minded people of this area: I urge you to write your two senators on the obscene mail matter. Ask them to support H.R. 319. This bill is to protect postal patrons from obscene mail matters, and against Communist propaganda.

★ ★ ★

These senators are Philip Hart, Patrick McNamara, Senate Office Building, Washington, D.C.

★ ★ ★

For those of us who believed as our late, beloved President, you should write your senators and congressman asking them to pass the Civil Rights Act of 1963.

Says Barry Once Criticized 'Insurance'

Sen. Barry Goldwater apparently intends to run jointly for senator and the presidential ticket, after criticizing President Johnson for having provided the same insurance as in the past. Sen. Goldwater then explains his twisted position by saying that he is as much as a pupil of the teacher President Johnson.

I'd like to know if Goldwater is hobbling around on crutches because he has put his foot in his mouth.

State Gaining in Classrooms

LANSING (AP) — Michigan will average 57 new public classrooms weekly this year if the 1963 school construction rate continues, reports the State Department of Public Instruction.

★ ★ ★

Year-end records show there were 3,926 new public and nonpublic classrooms added during 1963, up 11 per cent from the previous year.

It was the second consecutive year that such construction not only met current requirements but also cut into the backlog of needed classrooms accumulated during the war and depression years, the department said.

The state can expect to add 34 new elementary and 23 secondary public classrooms weekly. Nonpublic schools will add six elementary and five secondary classrooms a week.

"In terms of people, this means we'll be adding one new student space every minute and 18 seconds during 1964 if Michigan citizens and school districts can keep up with the tremendous effort they put forth last year," said Dr. Lynn Bartlett, state superintendent of public instruction.

Fischer Five Paying Social Security Fee

ABERDEEN, S.D. (AP)—The federal government has recognized the Fischer quintuplets — they've been issued Social Security cards.

Cards also have been issued for the five older children of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Fischer, who became parents of the quints last Sept. 14.

★ ★ ★

Albert J. D'Amour, manager of the Social Security office in Aberdeen, announced issuance of the numbers.

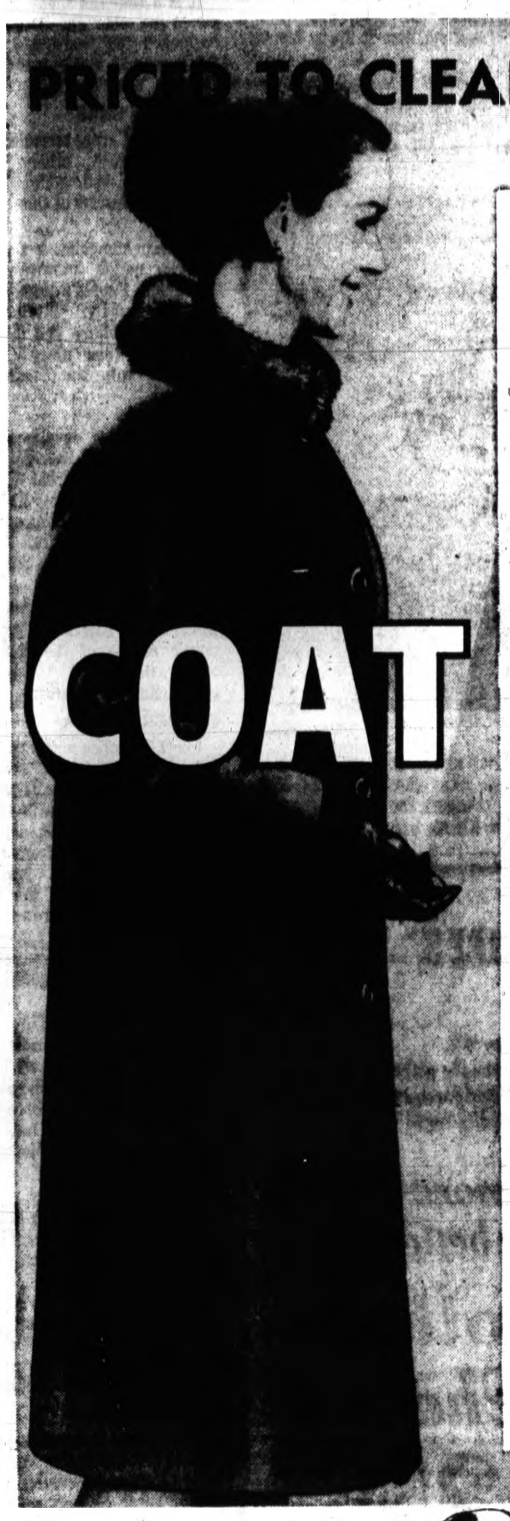

The quints' four sisters and brother range in age from three to eight years.

GETTING WAGES

The Social Security cards became necessary because the family is receiving a substantial sum from a national magazine under an exclusive contract for stories and pictures on the babies' development. Some of the money is being allocated to the children.

There are 410 points of legal entry into the United States; 284 on the Canadian and Mexican borders and 126 on the Atlantic, Pacific and Gulf Coasts.

Mongol Cowboy Unaffected by New Life

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is another dispatch from an Associated Press correspondent who was permitted to make a visit to Outer Mongolia, the big Asian country seldom seen by Western reporters.)

By HENRY S. BRADSHER

ULAN BATOR, Outer Mongolia (AP) — The Mongolian horseman gallops across the prairie, his long pole with a leather thong loop at the end held out to catch a horse from his herd racing ahead of him.

The ear flaps of his fur-lined cap wave in the icy winter air, a sheepskin robe is wrapped tightly around him and high boots ride in stirrups. Finally he catches the horse, twists the leather thong around the pole to tighten the loop, and leads it back and ties it up by his yurt.

* * *

Then this Mongol cowboy goes into the yurt, a round tent with wooden frame, for a warming bowl of the national drink, kumis, made of fermented mares' milk.

It is a timeless scene. It happened the other day—but it also happened 700 years ago when the horseman was a member of Genghis Khan's army.

OTHER SCENES

Since that army terrorized the Western world, other scenes have come and gone on the plains and deserts of Outer Mongolia.

Modern Mongolia, a Communist-run nation known as the Mongolian People's Republic, is gaining rapidly. Government-owned agriculture and industry are taking their places in the economy with the tending of livestock.

* * *

The economic development is generally along Russian lines with extensive Russian aid and advice. Mongolia owes its present independent existence to the Soviet Union. In the 1920s it became the first Soviet satellite.

* * *

Siding by habit with Moscow, Mongolia is now suffering economic effects of the split between the Soviet Union and China, its two neighbors.

BORDERS CHINA

For 1,700 miles northern Mongolia is bordered by Siberia. On its other sides Mongolia shares a 2,700-mile border with China.

Part of this border, separating Outer Mongolia from Inner Mongolia—which is part of China—runs through the Gobi Desert. Its scrub growth and patches of gravel and sand dunes are the best known physical feature of Mongolia. But there is much more.

* * *

In 626,000 square miles—almost 2½ times as big as Texas—there are broad, rolling prairies. There are low, bare hills and higher, forested hills and the vaulting Altai Mountains that reach 15,000 feet.

* * *

Wandering over much of Mongolia are about 24 million head of livestock, more than half sheep. The two-humped camel of Mongolia still carries some of the freight. Most goes by truck on tracks across the prairies and deserts and a few stretches of prepared roads in mountains.

FOLLOW REDS

Soon after Communists took control of Mongolia in 1921 they tried to follow the Soviet example of rural collectivization, It took Soviet troops to put down, with loss of thousands of Mongolian lives, the rebellion of herdsmen and lamas of the Tibetan form of Buddhism who held extensive temporal power. Buddhism was crushed and virtually eliminated, but the government backed off on collectivization.

* * *

It had, however, established its power to remold the people into a Communist pattern.

By the mid-1950s it had so strengthened its system of cooperatives and state farms with schools, hospitals and veterinary services that it was able peacefully to gather all livestock under government control.

COMMUNIST LIFE

The traditional nomadic life of the herdsman now revolves around a cooperative or state farm headquarters of permanent buildings. A family tending livestock in some remote part of a cooperative, which might cover 1½ million acres, shifts its yurt from one seasonal pasture to another. The children 8 or older go off to boarding school at the headquarters.

* * *

Ulan Bator has expanded from a village of yurts around a monastery to a city of 218,000 persons, half or more living in modern apartment buildings. In addition to being the capital, it is the first and until recently the only significant industrial city in Mongolia. The second is now being built at Darhan around a steel plant.

* * *

In the countryside, most people wear the traditional belted robes that show the long Chinese influence. In Ulan Bator, three-quarters of the people wear Western clothes. Their woolens were made here on machinery from Britain; their shoes on Czech machinery.

The relative prosperity is striking to a traveler familiar with underdeveloped countries of Asia to the south of Mongolia.

Neither an experienced outside observer living here nor a traveler can sense any regret over the Communist course. There is no sign of opposition to the regime of the 48-year-old prime minister and Communist party leader, Yumzhagin Tsedenbal.

There is, instead, a strong sense of pride by a spirited people in the way this historic land is moving into the modern world.

AP Photofax

ASIAN HORSEMAN — This typical Mongolian horseman on the praire near Ulan Bator wears a sheepskin robe, high boots and fur-lined cap. He carries a long pole with a leather thong loop at the end, with which he catches a horse from the herd. The Mongolian cowboy is much the same as horsemen in Genghis Khan's army 700 years ago.

U.S. Reds Seek to Enter Candidates

NEW YORK (AP)—The Communist party, U.S.A., announced Wednesday it is writing to officials of the 50 states for information pertinent to "placing Communist candidates on the ballot."

Letters were sent by the party's public relations director, Arnold Johnson, to secretaries of state and attorneys general in each state. They seek information on election laws in general and specific laws, if any, applying to the rights of Communist candidates to appear on the ballot or of voters to write in the names of such candidates.

Is the new 1964 SAAB in the same boat as Volkswagen?

As for styling or body changes, yes. They're few and far between. And both cars make a fetish out of sound engineering. But SAAB mechanical changes tend to be dramatic, year to year. Take the new 1964 SAAB. It has a completely new brake system: dual master cylinders with independent hydraulic lines that connect the front wheel on one side with the rear wheel on the other side. If one fails, you still get effective braking on both sides. So do your wife and kids. We made a dashboard change, too. Not one instrument, but the whole works.

Otherwise, SAAB sticks to the solid things it's always had: front-wheel drive, fantastic 2-stroke engine, and room — comfortable room. So it's not really in the same boat as Volkswagen. Nor is the price. SAAB costs about $300 more. Value-wise, it's worth it.

Only $1895 (right off the boat).

Clinic Service Classifies Special Education Children

By L. GARY THORNE

The four - year-old fidgeted slightly under the gaze and gentle prodding of Dr. Leon Hall. Finally, with a shrug of shoulder - length pigtails, the preschooler repeated a precise and definite "no."

That was the only language Dr. Hall, coordinator of psychological services for Oakland Schools, got the preschooler to say last October.

But it was enough.

★ ★ ★

It was not the "no" that interested Dr. Hall, but how the "no" was said.

FOLLOWS DIRECTIONS

Now the brown-haired youngster after six one-and-a-half-hour visits, answers just about any question asked her and follows directions nearly as well as her counterparts.

She has received intensified psychological clinic services inaugurated late in 1963 by Oakland Schools.

The clinical services classify children for the county-operated special education program, determining what handicap — physical, mental, or emotional — certain youngsters might have.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Hall said, for example, that the four-year-old in this instance came to the clinic with a speech defect.

TO ASSESS

"It's up to us," he said, "to assess what's there and what she can produce."

In other words, why can't this youngster talk like other four-year-olds?

Last year, nine children were brought to the psychological clinic with a so-called speech defect.

★ ★ ★

There was no outward answer in each case.

After diagnosis, there were eight different classifications of the nine children.

INITIAL RESPONSE

Dr. Hall said that sometimes the child's initial response will indicate severe mentally retardation, but a further analysis will give far more insight into an entirely different problem.

He pointed out that an IQ of 79 might be enough to classify a person as mentally retarded, but the potential of two individuals with the same IQ may be vastly different.

"We are moving farther and farther away from the concept of the IQ as a single measurement for classifying a child as mentally retarded," he added.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Hall does not see all the special education pupils or would-be pupils in the county program.

CLINICAL SERVICES

Visiting teachers, the school psychologist and school social workers usually perform such clinical services in individual school districts, placing students in the proper classrooms.

However, the county offers the services to districts without local facilities and also handles some of the cases, particularly since last fall, that need intensified screening and testing.

The "new clinical services" actually mean more time spent on individual cases.

★ ★ ★

Thus, like the little girl, new students avoid wasting any time and go into the proper special education room immediately upon entering school, Dr. Hall said.

Death 'Excusable'

JACKSON (AP) — Deek Morgan's fatal shooting of Harold Williams, 23, Sunday night was a "clear case of excusable homicide," Assistant Jackson County Prosecutor Lysle Hall said Wednesday. He said a lie detector test supported the story of Morgan, 58, that Williams was threatening him with a gun, he grabbed the gun and it discharged into Williams.

3-Power Meeting Over Navy Base

DUNOON, Scotland (AP) — A committee of British, Scottish and American members has been set up to discuss ways of improving relations between the U.S. Navy and the people of Dunoon on the Holy Loch, the Dunoon Town Council announced yesterday.

★ ★ ★

A statement by the committee said an inaugural meeting has been held by representatives of the U.S. Navy, Dunoon Town Council and the British Navy. Further meetings will be held monthly.

There has been friction between some of the townspeople and a minority of the American sailors at the base, mainly on moral issues.

It's a Howl

Doggy Noises in the Air

HAYWARD, Calif. (AP) — John Yolton has struck back with electronic vengeance.

A few months ago, Yolton complained to Hayward police that howling and barking dogs owned by neighbor Dominic Magri were disturbing him.

Nothing happened.

★ ★ ★

PLAYS IT BACK

And, at 3 a. m. night after night, he played them back at full volume from a window facing the Magri home.

The Magri dogs don't bark when the tape recorder plays.

They just listen to the recording of their own barking.

★ ★ ★

Now Magri has complained to police.

Not to get Yolton arrested, he explains, but "just to set the record straight."

A new city of Skopje, Yugoslavia, is planned, perhaps on a different site nearby the old one.

CHILDREN'S UNIT — Sprawling design of the proposed special service unit at Oakland County's Childrens Village site is intended to make more individual treatment of troubled youngsters possible. These youngsters are intermingled with others in present, overcrowded county youth facilities.

YOUTH COTTAGES — Two home-type buildings as shown here are proposed for construction on the county's Childrens Village site. They will be used to rehabilitate troubled youngsters before they are returned to their own communities. Construction is scheduled to begin March 3.

Construction Should Start March 3

Final Okay Awaited on Childrens Village

The Oakland County Board of Supervisors is expected to approve final plans for the first three units of a proposed Children's Village for juvenile court wards at a meeting Jan. 17.

A recommendation for approval is being prepared now by the board's juvenile affairs committee, culminating 18 months' effort.

First units for the 50-acre site at the County Service Center are to include two rehabilitation cottages for 50 youths and a special services unit for 42 youths.

★ ★ ★

These buildings are intended to solve overcrowded conditions at the county's existing juvenile facilities and enable more individual care and treatment, especially of emotionally disturbed youngsters.

FUTURE EXPANSION

Eventually, the village will be completed to house and educate all youngsters placed in the county's care.

Construction of the first three units is scheduled to begin March 3, with completion due before the end of the year.

Cost of all three units plus site improvements is expected to amount to $646,000. The federal government has promised a grant to cover half the cost.

★ ★ ★

The three units will be of contemporary design and brick and block construction.

RESEMBLE HOMES

The rehabilitation cottages will resemble large, split-level homes. Each will contain four dormitories, a sick room, large living room and dining area, and a recreation room and storage space on the lower level.

The special service unit, described by Juvenile Affairs Director James Hunt as a semidetention building for troubled youngsters, is of a sprawling design, with several wings jutting out that can be controlled from a central observation station.

It will contain 17 individual bedrooms for boys who require separate quarters and two four-bed dormitories, a study room, living room and serving kitchen.

★ ★ ★

Similar quarters for 17 girls will be provided in wings at the opposite end of the building.

ROOMS INCLUDED

These will include eight single bedrooms, two four-bed dormitories, a study, living room, dining room and serving kitchen.

Partial basements will provide separate recreation rooms for girls and boys.

The final plans are being prepared by the Pontiac architectural firm of Harry M. Denyes Jr. Associates, Inc. Denyes said he expects to have plans ready for the committee Jan. 15 so that it can recommend board approval two days later.

★ ★ ★

The plans also must meet federal approval before construction contracts can be awarded Feb. 27.

TO OUTLINE NEED

Meanwhile, the juvenile affairs committee directed Hunt to prepare a budget and a plan outlining the need for future buildings at the village, including a school which Hunt said also will be needed about a year from now.

★ ★ ★

The education needs are also being considered by the County Board of Education, Hunt said.

History Tells of Trips by Other Popes

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI was the first pontiff to make a pilgrimage to the Holy Land, but he was not the only Pope to travel from the Holy Land to Rome.

Vatican historians came up with this bit of information today:

Teobaldi Visconti, archdeacon of Liege, Belgium, was in the Holy Land on a pilgrimage when a conclave elected him Pope on Sept. 1, 1271.

6 DAYS LATER

Word of his election reached Visconti at Acre. He started for Italy Nov. 19 and entered Rome March 13, 1272. Six days later, he was ordained a priest and became Pope Gregory X.

Gregory X was one of the few Popes who were not ordained when elected.

Roman Catholicism considers St. Peter the first Pope. He, too, made the journey from the Holy Land to Rome.

State Republicans Set Leaders Confab

LANSING (AP) — Republicans will plan their budget and hear pep talks at a leadership seminar sponsored by the Republican State Central Committee at Lansing Friday and Saturday.

Speakers Friday evening will include Sen. Jack Miller, R-Iowa, and Raymond Humphreys director of education and training for the GOP National Committee.

The executive, budget and finance, education and research and finance committees will meet Friday night. Gov. George Romney will address the delegates at the windup session Saturday noon.

What Will Amendment Do?

Vote Nears on Charter Change

By DICK SAUNDERS

Monday, a special election will be held in Pontiac on a proposed amendment to the City Charter.

The amendment affects the city's present method of electing city commissioners, but doesn't change the present method of nominating them.

Commission candidates will still be selected only by the voters of the district they represent, regardless of the outcome of Monday's vote.

What the amendment will do, if it is adopted, is to allow all of the city's voters to vote for a full commission, not just one man from their own district.

VOTE FOR SEVEN

If approved, the charter amendment would allow the individual voter, regardless of where he lives, to vote for seven candidates, one candidate from each of Pontiac's seven districts.

In effect, the proposal on Monday's ballot is a revision of one that was adopted in 1939.

That year our present method of electing a local government was approved 3,404 to 3,086, a winning margin of 318 votes.

★ ★ ★

Before that, for 20 years, commissioners had been elected and nominated at-large.

ONE NEIGHBORHOOD

Many citizens said that the complete at-large system had resulted in most of Pontiac's commissioners living in one neighborhood.

They felt this was not equal representation.

So the completely districted system was adopted by voters.

For the past few years, the Pontiac Area Junior Chamber of Commerce has felt that the all-district plan is just as unequal as the all-at-large plan.

Members of this group suggested the amendment that Pontiac will vote on next Monday.

SET PETITIONS

The Jaycees were set to circulate petitions asking for the special election two years ago.

★ ★ ★

They decided the time wasn't right. Many major city projects, not to mention urban renewal, were beginning to unfold and progress.

"We simply didn't think an issue such as this would particularly aid the rapid and smooth progress of these many projects," explained Richard C. Fitzpatrick, Jaycee president.

★ ★ ★

"We felt our proposal was right, but we also knew that any election creates some flurry of activity and even disruption in municipal affairs.

SMOOTH OPERATION

"At that time, we decided it was more important for the welfare of the entire city, that all energies be directed at continuing the smooth operation of these major improvement projects.

"We waited," he said.

"Frankly, by last August we felt the government had done more to disrupt itself than we could possbily do. There was no longer any reason to wait."

The Jaycees began circulating petitions asking that a special election be set for the charter amendment shortly after City Manager Robert A. Stierer was suspended by the City Commission.

★ ★ ★

Before the commission fired Stierer by a 5-2 vote Sept. 17, the Jaycees had submitted petitions containing some 11,500 signatures, more than twice the amount needed to force the special election.

CERTIFIED

They were certified by the clerk who set Jan. 13 as the election date.

★ ★ ★

Commissioner Milton R. Henry claimed many of the petitions were illegally notarized and threatened a court case to have them declared void.

★ ★ ★

Which Is Best for Pontiac?

Analysis of Electoral Systems

Political science books are crammed with classical arguments both for and against the district plan and at-large plan of electing municipal officials.

Because the proposed electoral system to be voted on in Pontiac Monday combines elements of both forms (nomination by district and election at-large) these classic merits and defects offer voters a guide in making their decision.

DISTRICT PLAN

Merits of this method are as follows:

- It insures adequate representation of every section of the city, both politically and economically.

★ ★ ★

- It places no heavy burden on the voter, since the voter is asked to select only one member of the commission, definitely labeled as his commissioner, rather than seven who all represent him, in theory.

MORE INTELLIGENT

- Because the voter chooses from only two candidates, he is usually able to cast a more intelligent vote with more background knowledge of the candidate's records.
- Too often the average voter finds that to be represented by everybody is to be represented by nobody.

Some of the classical defects exhibited by the district plan are the following:

- It is sometimes said that the man who best promotes the interests of his district will best serve his city, but American experience has been quite the opposite.

LOCAL ISSUES

- It places local whims above the general welfare and forces councilmen to engage in a prolonged scramble for patronage since their reelection depends only upon the approval of voters in districts they represent.
- It is apt to produce an inferior type of commissioner, since the best qualified men are not always so evenly distributed that one may be found in each district (this would not be changed by the proposed amendment).
- It is historical fact that the district plan frequently gives the minority party a majority on the city commission.

★ ★ ★

This final item cannot be construed in the political sense locally, since the commission ticket is, by law, non-partisan.

VIEWPOINTS

However, it can be applied to "conservative" vs. "liberal" viewpoints. To illustrate the point, assume that 3,000 votes are cast in each of three districts and so-called "liberals" win in District A by 100 votes and in District B by 100 votes.

In District C, a "conservative" wins by 1,000 votes. Thus, the "liberals" gain two commission seats and the "conservatives only one, even though the combined popular vote gave the "conservative" group a 5 to 1 majority.

AT-LARGE PLAN

Among the classical merits listed in history books are the following:

- It makes possible the choice of men who put the city's interests above local prejudices.
- It virtually eliminates the need for constant wrangling over the favors to be dispensed to each district.

AVAILABLE TALENT

- It becomes possible to draw upon all available talent, wherever it may be found within the city.

Classic arguments against the at-large plan of election are as follows:

- It presents the danger of a clean sweep by the majority party, since most voters know the political affiliations of candidates even though the election may be non-partisan.

★ ★ ★

- Since the tendency is to vote along party lines, talent is sometimes sacrificed for politics.

ONE NEIGHBORHOOD

- The at-large system can result in all commissioners being elected from one neighborhood (this is not possible under the proposed amendment since candidates are nominated by districts).
- It is more expensive for a candidate to campaign city-wide than to campaign in his own ward.

In conclusion, it might be of some value to know a little about the trend of electing city officials in America.

★ ★ ★

The ward, or district method, once predominated. It began to be replaced by the at-large plan early in the 20th Century.

COMBINATION FORMS

In the past 15 years or so, many cities have experimented with combination forms, attempting to employ some of the better facets in both plans.

COMPREHENSIVE

In his comprehensive study, "The Law of Municipal Corporations," the late Judge Eugene McQuillin listed an at-large election of commissioners as one of the essential elements of municipal structure.

However, he pointed out that "there is no greater error than to suppose that a municipal charter, as a commission form or a city-manager plan, or one with the non-partisan feature, has some inherent quality to ensure its efficient, honest working.

"In urban democracy the vitality and purity of community service must be in the belief and effort of the people.

"The (people) should be free to unfold themselves in the expression of their ideas and ideals in the political community service."

★ ★ ★

How Other Cities Vote for Officials

How do other cities with the city manager form of government vote for their elected officials?

Here's a breakdown of Michigan cities in Pontiac's population class of 50,000 to 100,000.

There are 13 such cities, including Pontiac, three of which have a mayor-council form.

★ ★ ★

District election and nomination: Pontiac, Bay City and Ann Arbor.

AT LARGE

At-large election and nomination: Saginaw, Kalamazoo, Royal Oak, St. Clair Shores, and Roseville.

Combination at-large and district form: Jackson and Wyoming.

In 1959, a Michigan Municipal League survey showed that of 80 city manager cities in Michigan in all population classes, 67 elect their commissioners at-large; 11 by districts and two by a combination form.

★ ★ ★

A more recent survey by the International City Manager's Assn. shows for all city manager cities nationally, some 78 per cent elect at-large, 12 per cent by districts and 10 per cent by a combination form.

Only 29,804 Able to Vote

Fewest Eligible in Past 16 Years

There will be only 29,804 Pontiac residents eligible to vote in Monday's special election, according to City Clerk Olga Barkeley.

The total of registered voters is lower than it has been in 16 years.

The drop comes at a moment when Pontiac voters are being asked if they want to change their present system of voting for city officials.

About a year ago, there were nearly 37,000 registered voters in the city. Most of the loss may be due to a provision in the new State Constitution.

TWO-YEAR LIMIT

The constitution, which went into effect Jan. 1, requires people to vote or renew their registration every two years. It used to be every four years.

In November, some 9,500 notices were mailed by the clerk's staff to people whose registration was due to lapse Dec. 31.

About 3,000 were signed and returned.

★ ★ ★

The last time Pontiac's total of registered voters fell below 29,000 was for a primary in 1948 when only about 24,000 were registered.

Since then, it's been consistently over 32,000.

There were also about 24,000 persons eligible to vote 25 years ago, when in 1939 the city went to the polls to choose its present system of electing commissioners.

Polls to Be Open 7 A.M. to 8 P.M.

Polls throughout Pontiac will open at 7 a.m. and close at 8 p.m. Monday.

★ ★ ★

There are no changes in polling places from the last election, according to the city clerk.

★ ★ ★

For Monday's election, District 5 will have the largest registered voter force with 7,209. The lowest is District 3 with 2,979 registered voters.

★ ★ ★

Others are: District 1, 3,961 votes; District 3, 4,028; District 4, 5,542; District 6, 2,999; and District 7 with 3,068 eligible voters.

Two Sides to the Question of Amendment to Charter

As in any controversial issue, there are arguments on both sides of the fence regarding the proposed charter amendment to be decided by voters at a special election in Pontiac Monday.

The amendment proposes that city commissioners be nominated by district vote and elected — one from each district — by an at-large vote of electors at the April election.

The present method is to nominate and elect by district vote alone.

★ ★ ★

The pros and cons have received considerable attention of the electorate this week.

This is a summary of local arguments.

★ ★ ★

Opponents argue that a city-wide election campaign would be necessary for candidates under the proposed system, and it would cost too much for many interested parties to bear.

INTEREST GROUPS

They claim that this would either discourage otherwise capable people from running for office, or would force them to look to "special interest groups for financial support.

This, the opponents say, would cause many elected officials to turn their backs on the districts they represent.

Others claim that such "special interest groups" could hand-pick candidates in each district, and provide funds for their primary and general election expenses.

★ ★ ★

Thus, a majority of the commission, they argue, could be under an obligation to a small group.

SAME SITUATION

While proponents of the plan find such domination equally distasteful, they claim that any electoral system is succeptible to domination by a small group paying the campaign bill.

They argue that should such a group organize, it is just as easy to concentrate money in several districts individually as it is to spread it over the whole city.

In fact, those favoring the proposed plan feel the cost involved in a citywide campaign for each candidate, would create less hazard of such skullduggery than the present system.

★ ★ ★

To "control" a commission majority, they say, means financing four or five campaigns in a small, localized area of the city under the district election plan.

TOO EXPENSIVE

However, the proposed plan would require financing four or five citywide campaigns to get the same result.

This would be too expensive for any special interest group, they claim.

Some opponents argue that, if the proposed plan is so favorable, why isn't it used elsewhere?

★ ★ ★

Proponents point to Jackson as one city in Pontiac's population class that does use it.

PONTIAC SYSTEM

They also point out that of 12 other cities with 50,000 to 100,000 population in Michigan, only one uses Pontiac's present election system, Bay City.

They further point out that aside from Bay City (in the same population range) only Ann Arbor elects by district and it's on an alternating term basis. All others elect at large or by a combination form.

Opponents point out that a candidate, under the at-large system, could win in his home district and still lose the election if the vote in other areas went against him.

★ ★ ★

This, they claim, is unfair representation.

CITYWIDE VOTE

Proponents, however, point out that when a man on the City Commission votes on any item involving municipal expense, his vote affects the whole city.

Thus, a taxpayer deserves the right to vote for a man who will decide, in part, how his taxes are to be spent.

Some opponents argue that experience shows local government under the district election plan is best.

★ ★ ★

Proponents say that on the contrary, history has proven the district election on a municipal level to be one of the least desirable and democratic methods.

NEXT STEP

Opponents claim that, eventually, the next step is to nominate at-large, as well as elect.

Proponents deny this. They claim this would destroy equal representation, which the proposed plan has been drafted to preserve.

Finally, some opponents claim they are only against the proposed electoral method, but not opposed to representation at large.

★ ★ ★

They propose the best method, however, is either to elect some by district and some at large, or to nominate and elect all at large on a partisan ballot.

ALREADY REPRESENTED

Proponents say that those elected at large in a combination form would necessarily come from a district already represented by someone.

Thus, a city would always have one or more districts in which two candidates resided.

As for a ballot along party lines, the proponents argue that this would lessen equal representation, since one party would almost always dominate the commission.

Congress—IV

Senate 'Rulers' Guard Outdated System

(Editor's Note: In the last of four dispatches on Congress UPI's national reporter explores the question: "Is there any cure for congressmen and the way they act?")

By HARRY FERGUSON

WASHINGTON (UPI) — So long as he stays inside the boundaries of the District of Columbia, a member of Congress can behave like an absolute monarch.

He can take the floor and attack anybody he chooses for any reason whatsoever without fear of legal reprisal.

He can park his car beside a fire plug with reasonable assurance that nothing will happen because Congress rules Washington and its police department.

★ ★ ★

He can create a near panic in the Defense Department and all other agencies and departments of the government merely by making a phone call and asking an embarrassing question.

FAWNED UPON

He is flattered by foreign diplomats, fawned upon by lobbyists and invited to go on television coast to coast.

It is small wonder that a member of Congress, unless he is well balanced and has developed at least a slight sense of humor, sometimes yields to an inner feeling of infallibility and an outward bearing of arrogance.

This is one of the things that makes it difficult to change the rules of Congress and bring it out of the horse-and-buggy age into the modern world.

★ ★ ★

But a bold minority keeps trying to do it.

BOTH BARRELS

The leader is Sen. Joseph S. Clark, a Pennsylvania Democrat, who walked into the Senate last Nov. 21 and let his colleagues have it with both barrels:

"Who is to blame for the failure of the Senate to perform our constitutional duty? It is not the leadership.

★ ★ ★

It is that small bipartisan group which does not want anything to happen, which appears quite content to have congressional government break down.

"Gentlemen, it is later than we think.

"The bricks and mortar of which the houses of Congress are built are cracking and falling out of place under our eyes.

"The American people are becoming disillusioned with the legislative performance of the Congress.

★ ★ ★

"They are demanding both action and reform.

MUST ACT

"We must act to restore the efficacy of congressional government before the legislative branch of our federal republic destroys itself because we are unwilling to save it.

"One might say that the ruling cliques in the Finance Committee, the Judiciary Committee and the Appropriations Committee constitute the Senate establishment's nests of opposition to the program of the President.

"These men are conducting a sit-down strike against the people of the United States.

★ ★ ★

"I said in February this would happen. I say in November it has happened."

RESOLUTION TO REFORM

Last Jan. 15, Clark introduced a resolution to reform the rules and proposed a joint committee of Congress to undertake the task.

There are 600 pages of rules governing the operation of Congress, and tucked away in those pages are all sorts of devices and dodges for wasting time and delaying action on legislation.

Clark's proposals struck at the heart of the problem:

● Committee chairman would be elected by the respective committees instead of relying on the rule of seniority. No man could be a chairman after he reached the age of 70.

★ ★ ★

● An objection could be made after a senator had held the floor for three consecutive hours. Debate on a bill could be cut off after two weeks by a simple majority vote of the Senate.

NO WANDERING

● A rule of germaneness would be in effect. That means senators no longer could wander far afield in their speeches but would have to stick to the subject of the legislation under debate.

Winter faded into spring, spring into summer and summer into autumn without any action on Clark's proposals.

The seasons had gone full circle and it was winter again—Dec. 15 — when Clark made a last, desperate move.

He attempted to get unanimous consent for the Senate to consider his resolution.

ONE OBJECTION

The objection of only one senator would be enough to prevent it, and the objection came from Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia.

He is leader of a bloc of Southern senators committed to fighting any change in the rules that would deprive them of the weapon of the filibuster against civil rights legislation.

Whether Clark's resolution is dead or merely sleeping, no one can predict.

He plans to continue the fight.

BEWILDERING

Foreigners, and especially Englishmen, are bewildered by the activities of the Congress and particularly its proclivity for wasting time.

The House of Commons dealt with the problem in 1880 after members from Ireland attempted to talk a bill to death.

A procedure known as "the guillotine" — named for the French decapitation device — was installed.

★ ★ ★

It stipulates in advance how long debate shall last and when the time limit is reached the guillotine falls.

NO PROBLEM

The British House of Lords, roughly the equivalent of the Senate, presents no problem.

For instance, if Commons sends an appropriation bill to Lords, action must be taken, with no amendments permitted, within one month, if there is no action within the prescribed time, the bill becomes law without the approval of Lords.

Thus the House of Lords actually is without legislative power.

★ ★ ★

But it does provide a colorful forum where elderly gentlemen can talk at great length on subjects of interest only to themselves.

★ ★ ★

Many of our senators would love it.

Expect Over 1,600 for Mackie Testimonial

LANSING (AP) — Planners say they expect an attendance of more than 1,600 for a testimonial dinner for State Highway Commissioner John Mackie at Lansing Jan. 16.

The $10-a-plate dinner will be held in the main auditorium of the civic center, with a capacity of 1,600. Sponsors say they plan to use auxiliary auditoriums for any overflow.

Relations Not Always Sweet

Poland Parrots Nik's East-West Views

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

In Nikita Khrushchev's dispute with Red China, one of his strongest supporters has been Polish Communist party leader Wladislaw Gomulka.

NEWSOM

And now in their just-concluded meeting climaxed by a wild boar hunt in Poland's Masurian Lakes district north of Warsaw, it appears that Gomulka may be emerging as at least a part-time spokesman for Khrushchev's various Cold War peace proposals.

★ ★ ★

Today's cordial relations between the two were not always so.

It was on Oct. 19, 1956, that an angry Khrushchev arrived in Warsaw.

Behind were the anti-Soviet riots of Poznan. Still ahead was the anti-Soviet revolt in Hungary.

★ ★ ★

The Poznan riots and other demonstrations sweeping Poland forced the government to relax its iron rule and to a shakeup in the Communist party's ruling Politburo.

RETURN TO POWER

It also led to the return to power of Gomulka, who in 1951 had been jailed as a Titoist and national deviationist.

Khrushchev called Gomulka a "traitor" and accused him of wanting "to sell the country to the Americans and the Zionists" after Soviet troops had shed their blood there.

Khrushchev demanded both a reinstatement of the old Polish Politburo and a slowdown in Polish democratization. And he backed his ultimatum with the threat of troops even then reported moving on Warsaw.

★ ★ ★

Gomulka and his supporters defied the Russians and got away with it.

EAST-WEST PLANS

From the names of those reported taking part in the most recent Khrushchev-Gomulka conference, it is logical to suppose that particular attention was paid to recent proposals of both men toward East-West agreement.

Khrushchev's call for an international pact banning use of force to alter frontiers would be of special interest to Poland, whose western border with West Germany remains unsettled.

Of special interest to Khrushchev would be Gomulka's proposal to freeze nuclear weapons in Central Europe at their present level. Such a proposal would bar nuclear arms to West Germany.

★ ★ ★

Beyond this is another interesting line of speculation.

PRIVATE ENTERPRISE

In pursuing their own road to socialism, the Poles long ago broke up unprofitable collective farms, returning them to the hands of private peasants.

Today, only 1,600 collective farms remain out of 10,000 existing in 1956. Eighty-seven per cent of all Polish farm land is held privately.

Polish agriculture is the most successful in the Soviet bloc.

Recently, Radio Liberty, whose transmitters have been beamed on the Soviet Union since 1953 and whose staff of former Soviet citizens still maintains contact behind the Iron Curtain, reported a similar turn under consideration in the Soviet Union.

FARM SYSTEM

Radio Liberty's Iron Curtain source said a committee of Soviet experts even now was reported to be in Poland studying Poland's farm system.

If the subject of agriculture also came into the talks, it may be that Khrushchev, by giving the Russian peasant an incentive, is readying a move which would strike at the very foundations of Marxist-Lenninist teachings.

Congress Unlimbers Under State of the Union Pressure

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Congress pressed by President Johnson to cut taxes, enact civil rights legislation and war on poverty is unlimbering slowly.

In a 41-minute State of the Union speech interrupted a record 80 times by applause, Johnson told the legislators Wednesday the nation can move forward under a new $97.8-billion budget to provide the greatest federal impetus to social welfare in history.

★ ★ ★

Reaction to the President's pledge of less spending and fewer federal employes was generally favorable. But it was tinged with bipartisan skepticism that the series of health, education, housing and job training programs he proposed could be carried out under a reduced budget.

Several Republicans predicted there would be a wide "performance gap" between what the President asked and Congress produces.

STEPS UP ACTION

Urged by Johnson to move expeditiously, the Senate Finance Committee stepped up slightly its consideration of the House-passed $11-billion tax cut. It approved two provisions: A reduction in corporate rates from the current top of 52 per cent to 50 per cent for 1964 and to 48 per cent in 1965; a minimum standard deduction of $200 for the taxpayer plus $100 for each exemption including himself.

But March 1 appears a better bet for completion of congressional action than the Feb. 1 date he spoke of.

The House Rules Committee already had scheduled a start of hearings today on the civil rights bill Johnson said poses a "moral issue."

AP Photofax

FRIENDS, RELATIVES APPLAUD — Cheering the message are: First row (from left): Mrs. Josefa Saunders, President's aunt; Mr. and Mrs. Huffman Baines, aunt and uncle; Mrs. Fred M. Vinson, widow of the Chief Justice; Lucy Baines Johnson; Mrs. Johnson; Susan Taylor, President's niece; and Mrs. Helen Williams, Johnson's maid. Second row (from left): Mrs. Orville Freeman, Mrs. Stewart Udall, Mrs. John Gronouski, Margaret Price, Mrs. Robert McNamara, and Mrs. Douglas Dillon.

The measure probably will reach the House floor early next month.

Johnson's call for action on health care for the elderly, financed through Social Security, will get the attention of the House Ways and Means Committee beginning Jan. 20. But 1964 approval is regarded as highly doubtful.

The President got some assurances of support for his decision to cut back by 25 per cent production of enriched uranium used in nuclear weapons. Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, said he regards the action as "both practical and wise."

★ ★ ★

To go with his declaration of "unconditional war on poverty in America," Johnson came up with only one new proposal—a suggestion for establishment of a high level commission on automation.

All of a dozen other suggestions he made had been laid before Congress by his predecessor, the late President John F. Kennedy.

NATIONAL CORPS

Included in the as yet unbroken logjam in the House are Senate-passed bills to establish a domestic Peace Corps, bolster youth employment, provide additional help for depressed areas, expand the library construction program and provide for mass transit subsidies.

Most Republicans and some Democrats expressed doubt that Johnson can make good on his promise to hold federal spending to $97.9 billion in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen told a news conference Johnson had sketched "a paradise that can be devoutly wanted by everyone," promising to cure all of the ills of the nation with less government spending and fewer federal workers.

"I don't go in for such financial legerdemain," Dirksen said.

★ ★ ★

Prods Senate on Tax Cut

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson told Senate taxwriters today that each month's postponement of enactment of the $11-billion tax cut bill keeps $600 million out of wage earners' take-home pay.

The President asked the Senate Finance Committee to pump hundreds of millions more dollars into the economy this year by cutting the present 18 per cent payroll withholding rate to 14 per cent as soon as the tax measure is enacted.

Johnson spelled out in a letter to Chairman Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., the proposed 14 per cent rate that he said yesterday in his State of the Union message he would ask to be put into effect this year.

Under the House-approved tax bill before Byrd's committee, the withholding rate would be cut to 15 per cent as soon as the measure goes into effect but would not drop to 14 per cent until next Jan. 1.

DELAYS STIMULUS

The President said that unless the lower rate is made effective as soon as possible, it would delay "a significant part of the economic stimulus from the tax program until . . . sometime in late winter (of 1964) or early spring of 1965."

Johnson, still pushing for popular support of the tax bill, also scheduled White House meetings today with two groups. They were the executive committee of the Business Committee for a Tax Reduction, headed by Henry Ford II, and the Citizens' Committee for Tax Reduction and Revision, a group set up to help the administration at the grass-roots level.

$50-Million Savings Seen in First Year of N-Cutback

By ELTON C. FAY
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON — The administration calculates that its cutback in production of nuclear weapon raw material will save about $50 million in the next fiscal year, more later — and eventually end several thousand jobs.

★ ★ ★

The cutback was announced Wednesday by President Johnson in his state of the union message and explained to newsmen later by Chairman Glenn T. Seaborg of the Atomic Energy Commission.

★ ★ ★

Other highly placed officials discussed the strategic and political implications of the announced 25-per cent reduction in the output of enriched uranium and the closing of four plutonium plants. They said stocks of U.S nuclear weapons had increased 50 per cent in the past three years, making the uranium cutback possible.

4 TO CLOSE

Seaborg said four of the AEC's 14 plutonium producing reactors will be shut down — three at the Hanford, Wash., plant and one at the Savannah River plant near Aiken, S.C.

At the gaseous diffusion plants at Oak Ridge, Tenn., and Portsmouth, Ohio, production of enriched uranium will be trimmed back by about 25 per cent.

★ ★ ★

"Budgetary savings of about $50 million in fiscal year 1965 will result," Seaborg said. "A total of about 2,900 contractor positions will be affected."

★ ★ ★

Approximately 2,500 of the total jobs affected will be at the Hanford and Savannah plants, with the remainder apparently in the uranium processing plants.

24 PER CENT

At Hanford, Seaborg said, about 2,000 positions, or 24 per cent of a present 8,300 payroll will be affected. The Savannah cutback will affect about 500 of the 6,500 employes.

The three reactors at Hanford will be shut down at intervals during a six-month period starting Jan. 1, 1965. The Savannah River plutonium pile will go out of operation about next July 1.

★ ★ ★

The savings which the administration foresees are in three areas — payrolls, electricity and the raw ores used in the processing of weapons materials.

★ ★ ★

The Hanford plant has a present annual payroll of about $73 million; the Savannah River plant about $52 million; the Oak Ridge uranium plant about $22 million; the Portsmouth plant $11 million.

LARGE CONSUMERS

Seaborg notes that all three of the uranium plants are large consumers of electric power and that in fiscal 1965 savings in this category is estimated at $37 million.

Message Is Hailed by State Senators

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Philip Hart, D-Mich., hailed President Johnson's State of the Union address Wednesday as "strong and masterful."

"He ducked no issue," Hart said.

★ ★ ★

Michigan's other senator, Patrick Mc Namara, also a Democrat, was particularly pleased with Johnson's statement opposing a reduction of the 40-hour work week. "I thought it made a lot of sense," Mc Namara said.

'Outliberaled the Liberals'

Barry Criticizes LBJ's Speech

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (AP)— Sen. Barry Goldwater says President Johnson "outliberaled every liberal since 1932" in his State of the Union message to Congress.

"I didn't think he could do it but he did," said Goldwater, campaigning in New Hampshire for the Republican presidential nomination.

★ ★ ★

Today, Goldwater completes the opening stint of what he says will be at least a 19-day campaign for the state's March 10 presidential primary, first in the nation. He starts the third day of this campaign trip with a morning news conference, and has promised a detailed statement on Johnson's message.

After listening to part of the speech while parked on a snowy road in Amherst, Goldwater said:

ALL THINGS

"I would say that he's suddenly become all things to all people. It was my impression that he out-Roosevelted Roosevelt, out-Kennedyed Kennedy and even made Truman look like some kind of piker."

★ ★ ★

Goldwater said Johnson wants the government to move into almost every field of American life, and added that he is running for president to put a stop to that.

★ ★ ★

Still expressing surprise and satisfaction at his New Hampshire reception, Goldwater said he will spend another 16 days campaigning here.

★ ★ ★

"That's a minimum," he said. "I'll do whatever my New Hampshire people say is needed."

ANOTHER TOWN

The Arizona senator said he will come back to New Hampshire Jan. 21 for another Tuesday to Thursday tour. He said there will be at least two more of those midweek visits, plus a full week of campaigning one or two weeks before the primary.

★ ★ ★

Between tips, he said, his sons, Barry Jr., 26, and Michael 24, will be working in New Hampshire.

★ ★ ★

"What I'm after are delegates," he said. "Winning a popularity contest isn't the important thing. It's getting delegates. So I'm working with Republicans."

The New Hampshire balloting couples a presidential preference vote with an election to chose convention delegates. The state will have 14 votes at the Republican convention next July.

INTO LIVING ROOM

Goldwater took his conservative crusade into living rooms, church halls and a school gymnasium Wednesday stressing this theme:

"The Republican party is the one that offers the home for conservatives, and I want to offer whatever leadership I can."

★ ★ ★

Goldwater made his major speech of the current tour Wednesday night before more than 1,500 at St. Anselm's College in Manchester.

He charged the Johnson administration "in order to placate the Soviets, obviously is pushing for a neutralized Europe."

★ ★ ★

Goldwater said the North Atlantic Treaty Organization should get its own force of tactical weapons. He said that would revitalize the Western alliance and halt the spread of national nuclear forces.

Rocky Road for Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The civil rights bill President Johnson says must be passed this year renews its perilous journey through Congress today after being stalled for months.

It goes before the House Rules Committee, where more than a score of hostile witnesses are expected to take their best shots at it before the bill is cleared for floor action.

★ ★ ★

The rules committee approval is needed before the measure can be sent to the full House under customary procedures.

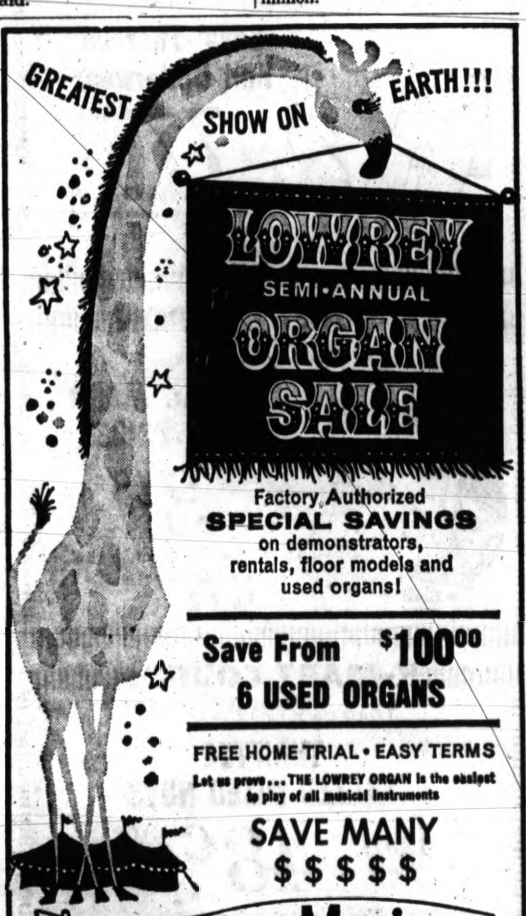

A strong bipartisan majority on the committee favors the bill but chairman Howard W. Smith, D-Va., is the leader of the opposition and will probably keep the hearings running for at least two weeks. Thirty witnesses, nearly all Southerners, have asked to testify.

★ ★ ★

The bill's backers were heartened by Johnson's strong endorsement of the measure in his State of the Union Message to Congress Wednesday.

2 Teen-Agers Get Probation

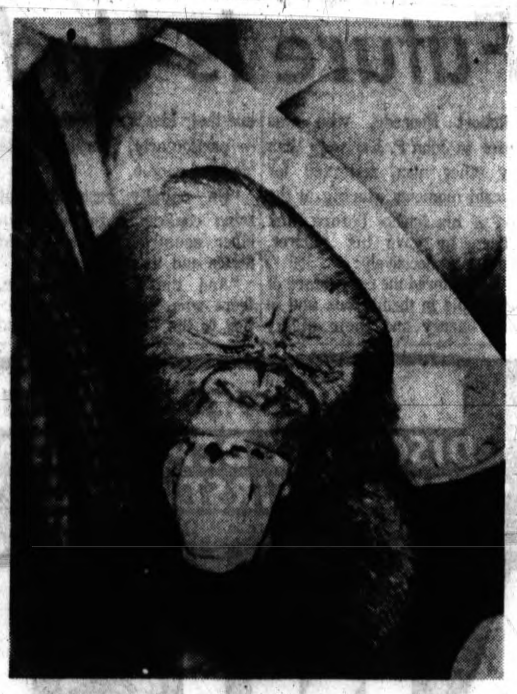

Two area teen-agers were put on probation and given 60 days in jail Tuesday by Circuit Court Judge Stanton G. Dondero.

Paul Rose, 19, of 49150 Pontiac Trial, Wixom, was placed on two years' probation and ordered to pay $150 court costs in addition for larceny from a car.

Rose pleaded guilty Dec. 12 to, along with an accomplice, taking a tire and battery, from a disabled car left by a Dearborn man on Moore Road in Milford Township. The accomplice was placed on probation in November.

Robert L. Oliver, 17, of 8626 Munrovia, Utica, was put on three years' probation. Oliver, who also was ordered to pay $150 costs, pleaded guilty last month to attempted breaking and entering in the nighttime.

Police arrested Oliver Nov. 20 inside Mack's AAA Mobile Service, 33330 W. Eight Mile, Farmington. Oliver told them he was lost and broke-in to get a road map, police said.

DON'T ASK ME THAT! — Mimbo, a mere 33 pounds of gorilla at age 1, showed frustration when reporters viewed him on arrival in Dallas, Tex., en route to the Fort Worth Zoo. Mimbo and a pal, 9-month-old Timbo, are being traded for an adult gorilla.

Family Swim Program Set for Waterford Residents

A swimming program for the entire family will be added to the Waterford Township Recreation Department's slate of winter activities beginning this month.

Scheduled to begin Jan. 22, the family swim session will be held weekly at the Pontiac YMCA building from 8:45 to 9:30 p.m.

Cost of the eight-week swimming program will be $4 per person. Advance registration is required.

★ ★ ★

A weekly swimming session for ladies will begin Jan. 21 at the YMCA pool and continue each Tuesday for eight weeks. A fee of $4 is specified for this 1:30 to 2:30 p.m. activity.

NO INSTRUCTIONAL

Both the family swim and the lady's swimming program are recreational activities. No instruction is planned.

Other recreation department activities scheduled to begin this month include cake decorating, bridge instruction, dog obedience and women's volleyball.

Cake decorating will begin Monday for advanced students with both an afternoon and evening session available. Cost for the 10-week program is $5.

★ ★ ★

A 10-week intermediate class in bridge instruction will begin Tuesday. The fee is $7.50 per person.

DOG OBEDIENCE

Formation of a dog obedience class is slated for 8 p.m. Jan. 22 when owners may register.

They are asked not to bring pets to this session. A fee of $12 per dog is specified.

The women's volleyball league will get under way Jan. 20. A fee of $3 per player has been set for the volleyball program.

Details on registration for the various recreation department activities are available at the organization's office in the Community Activities Inc. building on Williams Lake Road.

Texas Patrolman Is Acquitted in Mexican's Death

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—Border Patrolman Dudley Clanahan, 28, says he can "start to live again" today. He was acquitted of murder Wednesday in the death of a Mexican horseman who was struck by the landing gear of the officer's plane.

★ ★ ★

A federal jury deliberated only 15 minutes before returning the verdict.

The patrolman blamed a downdraft for causing his plane to strike and kill Isidoro Rodriguez Chaparro, 26, on a West Texas ranch Nov. 20, 1962, as he searched for illegal immigrants.

★ ★ ★

The state maintained Clanahan deliberately struck the Mexican national.

After the Election? Bob Kennedy's Future Is Undecided

(Editor's Note: Widespread interest has centered on the future of Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy. In this interview he looks ahead, compares the civil rights picture to that of a year ago and reflects on what he considers John F. Kennedy's greatest contribution to the nation and the world.)

By JOSEPH E. MOHBAT

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert F. Kennedy says he will stay on as attorney general and do whatever President Johnson and the Democratic party ask him to in the presidential campaign.

Beyond that, the future of the 38-year-old brother of slain President John F. Kennedy remains uncharted.

★ ★ ★

"I'll certainly stay on through the election," he said in an interview. "I don't know what I'm going to do when that's over."

ROBERT F. KENNEDY

Kennedy deftly engineered his brother's successful campaign in 1960. Would he do as much for Johnson, who fought John Kennedy for the Democratic nomination that year?

AVAILABLE TO WORK

"I'll be available to work in the campaign," he replied instantly. "Nobody's said anything to me about it yet, but I'll do whatever anybody — the President or the Democratic National Committee — feels will be helpful."

Kennedy, until today, had made no statements for publication about his plans since an assassin took his brother's life in Dallas Nov. 22.

★ ★ ★

He looks tanned, healthy and more relaxed than he has since that fateful day. He has had time to rest, ski, be with his family and collect his thoughts.

The man who settled into the high-backed red leather chair in the fifth-floor chambers of the Justice Department had a quiet, subdued manner. But he was quick to smile, ready to laugh at a quip as he answered questions.

NONCOMMITTAL

He was noncommittal when asked about a recent Associated Press survey which showed him second favorite — behind Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota — for the vice presidential nomination.

"My one interest now is being attorney general," he said. However, he was obviously pleased that the Democratic County chairmen canvassed in the poll thought so well of him.

★ ★ ★

He was more outgoing about recent reports that President Johnson has his eye on Kennedy's brother-in-law, Sargent Shriver, Peace Crops director, for the vice presidential slot.

"He's a very able figure," Kennedy said of Shriver. "He turned in one of the outstanding jobs of President Kennedy's administration in directing the Peace Corps. He would certainly be qualified for the job."

VP NOMINATION?

And what if Johnson should ask Kennedy to accept the vice presidential nomination?

"Well, I'll just have to go back to what I said before," the youthful attorney general insisted calmly. "I don't know what I'll do after I leave here."

★ ★ ★

He thought a moment, then turned over, out loud, some of the avenues he has considered since his life was so dramatically reshaped seven weeks ago.

"I could go teach, I could run for office in Massachusetts. Or I could go into business or private life."

CULTURAL CENTER

He was asked his opinion of recent criticism of the proposed Memorial Cultural Center in Washington.

Did he think—?

"Do I think we ought to wait 57 years— I think it would have been nice if the Lincoln Memorial had gone up 57 years earlier. This is something President Kennedy worked hard for. But while I certainly would like to see it named after him, most of all I'm anxious that we have such a facility. We're about the only major capital in the world that doesn't. And I don't think things would be helped any by waiting 57 years."

Would he compare the national civil rights picture today to that of a year ago?

"I think there's more of a feeling now in the country that something needs to be done. There's a greater awareness that people are being treated unjustly. A year ago, people were not thinking about it so much; they were pushing it to the backs of their minds.

GREAT PROBLEM

"My feeling is that there still is a great problem in the South —But I think many of the more urgent problems are in the North, where they haven't been recognized yet."

Kennedy — already the author of two books —was asked if he plans to write one about his late brother.

"Not just now," he said. "Sometime, maybe, but not now."

What does he consider his brother's greatest contribution to the country and the world during his presidency?"

Robert Kennedy, who was closer to John F. Kennedy than any other man, reflected for several moments, staring at the tips of his fingers before him.

Then he gave his answer, firmly and decisively:

"He restored the confidence of the people in themselves and in their energy and their ability and their ideals and their future — particularly, perhaps, the younger people.

"He equally restored that some confidence in people in other countries in the United States and its people.

"And that's why, you see, there was such a strong reaction to his death in the United States and abroad — and even behind the iron curtain."

Peyton Place Pretty Prosaic

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—I keep reading these novels about sex and sin in suburbia and they make me want to sue my real estate agent. I feel that I have been cheated.

WEST

The house he sold me is indisputably in the suburbs, but as best I can tell, the area is almost totally devoid of hanky panky.

I moved out there expecting to find material for a book of my own. And I have. But who wants to read a book about Japanese beetles?

If I used my neighborhood as the setting for a novel, its salacious index would register several degrees below "The Five Little Peppers and How They Grew."

Furthermore, I have prowled around a bit in the adjacent neighborhoods, and they don't appear to be any more wicked than my own.

★ ★ ★

The conclusion seems inescapable that some of the novels depicting the suburbs as hotbeds of depravity were subsidized by subdevelopers.

ONLY HOTBEDS

The only hotbeds I've seen were full of African violets.

According to the blurbs on the dust jackets, suburbs are a symbol of our decaying moral fiber. But I haven't encountered any decay outside of a compost pit.

It is true that the agent I dealt with didn't exactly promise that riotous living went along with picture windows. I guess I got that impression because he carried his conditional sales contracts in a paperback copy of "Peyton Place."

★ ★ ★

At any rate, I soon found that the suburbs are a poor place for research on assignations. In my community, people are more interested in bird feeders.

SECRET ROMANCE

Last summer, having nothing on my note pad more spicy than a new recipe for barbecue sauce, I tried to persuade one of my neighbors to start a secret romance with a lady across the street.

"Sorry, old boy, I'd like to accommodate you, but I've got to mow the lawn," he told me.

In another effort to promote my literary enterprise, I undertook to organize a neighborhood orgy. It didn't turn out very well, either.

I finally got a group together on a night when the PTA wasn't meeting, but no one present knew how an orgy was conducted.

In fact, some of them thought that they had been invited to an organ concert. So we played charades instead.

Somewhere in the land, there may be a suburb that is as decadent as the novels indicate. But I'm convinced that the average suburbanite thinks a peccadillo is some kind of relish.

Orders From Father, Not Mom, Impress Boys

DESMOINES, Iowa (AP) — The Rev. P. M. Casady, in discussing the problems of raising youngsters, told his parishioners that boys usually should get orders from their fathers.

It is natural, he said, for males of all ages to rebel against orders from women, and he suggested that boys are less embarrassed when they tell their chums, "The old man says I can't."

County to Fete 22 Retirees

Long-Time Employes Also Will Be Honored

Oakland County government will honor its 22 recent retirees and 289 long-time employes with a banquet and special plaques Feb. 3 at the Pine Knob Ski Resort in Independence Township.

In announcing the banquet plans, Personnel Director John Witherup noted that this will be the first time such a program is held for county employes and retirees, although some were feted at individual banquets in the past.

He described the banquet as a joint effort of the county personnel office and the county employe's credit union, noting that part of the costs will be defrayed by profits from vending machines in employes lunch rooms and lounges.

Witherup estimated that some 800 county employes, retirees and their wives or husbands will attend the banquet.

HONOREES

The long-time employes who will be honored include Miss Isaure Mitchell, 59, of the equalization department and Robert J. Evans, 67-year-old deputy drain commissioner.

★ ★ ★

They have the longest time in service of any county employes, said Witherup.

Suggests Graduation as Driver Requirement

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—A Birmingham school board member has suggested that graduation from high school be a prerequisite for obtaining a drivers license.

Liston A. Corcoran made the proposal Wednesday during a panel discussion on high school dropouts. He stated—and the panel agrees—that the automobile was a primary cause of pupils leaving before finishing high school.

Memories Soften Past, Heal Old Wounds

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Nostalgia is man's favorite medicine for what ails him. It cures his blues.

BOYLE

Everyone likes to look back, even the child who delights in asking its parents, "Tell me again about when I was just a little baby."

The great virtue of memory is that it softens the past, bandages many of its bruises, and makes it seem a less complex period than the busy present.

You've seen a lot of water flow under the bridge yourself if you can pause now and remember when—

Practically every home held a picture of the national hero—Gen. John J. (Blackjack) Pershing, U.S. commander in France during World War I.

Most country clubs were kept solvent by a battery of slot machines in the recreation room.

HOLE IN KNEE

Schoolboys wore long black stockings that usually had a hole in the knee.

You could learn the chronology of your ancestors by reading the dates of their births and deaths in an old and massive family Bible.

More young lads were tempted to chew tobacco at an early age than to smoke cigarettes, because big league baseball players traditionally were "chawers."

There were more flop-eared mules in America than automobiles—and more horses than either.

During Prohibition days, if a man let dandelions grow in his yard, the neighbors were sure he was using them to make wine.

You could make the average child happy by giving him a penny to buy himself a "jawbreaker."

If you got a cinder in your eye, you didn't go to a doctor. You went to a druggist, who would gladly take it out for free.

A whole generation of Americans grew up hating orange juice because it reminded them of castor oil, the taste of which it was supposed to camouflage.

Only people who had taken science in college knew what a calorie was—or cared.

A white collar man earned more than a blue shirt worker.

It was considered a disgrace for a man to lose a job or accept any kind of government relief.

A politician was regarded as a fellow who couldn't find honest employment.

Father handled the money in the family, and a wife was expected to buy her clothing out of the money she saved from her household expenses.

Soviet Censors Delete N-Cutback Reference

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet censors today deleted all references to President Johnson's cutback in U.S. production of atomic explosives and his challenge to Russia to follow suit.

Soviet reports of the President's message to Congress yesterday instead emphasized his remarks about maintaining American defense capabilities on a high level.

Fewer than 15 million persons, about 8 per cent of the population, reside on farms.

Pedestrian Is Killed

TRAVERSE CITY (AP)—Havillah C. Hoffmaster, 79, of Traverse City was injured fatally Wednesday when struck by a car on U. S. 31 in Traverse City. Police said Hoffmaster was attempting to clear ice from a gutter when he was hit.

Things Are Looking Up at New Library

LENDING A HAND — Helping in the huge task of shelving 10,000 books at Waterford Township's public library are (from left) Janice Hughey and Linda McMurray, both students at Kettering High School, and Robert Bauer, director of Community Activities Inc. of Waterford Township.

Stacking 10,000 books in a 25-by-28-foot room and still providing space for reading tables and a librarian's desk is a tall order.

But, it's being accomplished.

Mrs. Richard Lee, newly appointed librarian for Waterford Township's library in the Community Activities, Inc., building, and a volunteer force this week are readying the library for its Monday opennig.

New shelves have been built and much rearranging accomplished as the former CAI library undergoes conversion to the township's public library.

★ ★ ★

Formerly open just a few hours weekly and manned by volunteer help, the library now will be on a 32-hour weekly schedule with a full-time librarian and an assistant.

BOOK CONTRACT

A contract between the township and the North Oakland Library Cooperative (NOLC) provides for the 10,000 volumes. More books will come later.

The NOLC contract also allows township residents with library cards to use the facilities of the Pontiac Library without paying the customary $5 fee to outsiders.

An open house Monday from 7 to 10 p.m. will mark the official opening of the Waterford Township Library.

Township officials, Friends of the Library and representatives of the school system will be among those present for the opening celebration.

MRS. RICHARD LEE

MOTHER OF FIVE

Mrs. Lee, former head of the Grand Rapids Library processing center, is the mother of five daughters. She was reared in Hawaii and is a graduate of the University of Hawaii.

Library hours after Monday will be as follows:

Monday, Wednesday and Thursday from 2 to 9 p.m.; Tuesday 2 to 6 p.m.; Saturday 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. The library will be closed on Friday and Sunday.

34 Scientists Fled to West During '63

BONN, Germany (AP) — Thirty-four scientists fled from Communist East Germany to the West last year, the West German refugee ministry reported today.

A total of 1,710 East German scientists have crossed the Iron Curtain since 1958, the ministry said. Of these, 510 were professors or university teachers.

Body Is Identified

BENTON HARBOR (AP) — A woman whose body was recovered from Lake Michigan was identified Wednesday as Minnie Arent, 44, of nearby Benton Township. She was seen walking along the lake shore Tuesday and later was seen to slip or jump into the lake, authorities said.

British Stop Outbreak by Cypriots

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UPI) — British troops last night averted possible fighting between Greek and Turkish Cypriot police who confronted each other with guns drawn around 10 government houses in Nicosia.

After three hours, the British persuaded both sides to withdraw.

No shots were fired and no one was injured, but the island remained tense pending the outcome of a round of peace conferences to be held in London next week.

★ ★ ★

Fighting between the Greek and Turkish communities broke out last month when Archbishop Makarios, President of Cyprus, announced his intention to change the nation's constitution.

GREEK LEADER

Makarios is a leader of the Greek community and the Turks, outnumbered by about four to one on the island, feared the changes might cost them their constitutional guarantees.

An estimated 200 Cypriots were killed before British troops flew in and established a buffer zone between the warring communities.

Britain, Greece and Turkey have guaranteed the independence of Cyprus.

★ ★ ★

Later both sides agreed to a truce and yesterday roadblocks and barbed wire barricades thrown up when the fighting broke out began coming down.

"With minor exceptions due to local misunderstandings all main roads are clear and open to traffic," a British communique said last night.

No Rent Is Required Unless Repairs Made

NEW YORK (AP) — Tenants do not have to pay any rent until the landlord makes needed repairs, a Brooklyn judge has ruled.

In the strongest decision yet in the rash of rent strikes by New York slum dwellers, Civil Court Judge Fred G. Moritt yesterday went further than a previous ruling that tenants must at least deposit rent money with the court.

City Renewal Aide Gets St. Clair Post

Daniel B. Skeen, who announced yesterday he has accepted the post of urban renewal director in St. Clair, is the third Pontiac urban renewal aide to become director of a renewal program elsewhere in the last 14 months.

Assistant urban renewal director in Pontiac, Skeen will take over his new job Jan. 20. His resignation is effective Jan. 17.

Skeen had succeeded Roland H. Bourke Jr. as assistant director last April when Bourke accepted directorship of a renewal program in Alexandria, Va.

★ ★ ★

Prior to that, John M. Hooyer left the post in November 1962 to take over as head of the Jackson urban renewal program.

$10,000 POST

St. Clair is a city of 4,538 population, just south of Port Huron. Skeen will start at $10,000 a year, the same salary for urban renewal director in Pontiac.

Skeen had been earning $8,100 annually as assistant director here.

He said his only reason for leaving was that "a better opportunity presented itself. I am looking forward to the chance to further myself in my profession."

Skeen had been the center of some controversy in November, involving the validity of a contract agreement between the city and Charles L. Langs. The contract was designed to designate Langs as Pontiac's exclusive developer of downtown urban renewal lands.

OPEN CRITICISM

Several commissioners had openly criticized Skeen for questioning the contract's validity, although he was backed by Urban Renewal Director James L. Bates. Bates said the agreement had never been approved by federal urban renewal officials.

At the time, Mayor Robert A. Landry asserted "nothing happened except a department head giving out information and he's going to quit giving out information in short order or he's not going to be working here."

The contract agreement is still unapproved by federal officials.

VALUABLE EXPERIENCE

"My decision to leave," Skeen noted, "has nothing to do with any problem here. I have gained a great deal of valuable experience working on the Pontiac project."

★ ★ ★

Skeen of 1162 Neafie is a native of Pontiac and had been in the urban renewal department for 2½ years.

State Police Graduates

EAST LANSING (AP)—State police graduated 39 probationary troopers at East Lansing Wednesday and announced they will be used to strengthen 23 posts involved in patrolling the state's freeways.

Freeway Mile Markers Not Always Mile Apart

LANSING (AP) — The mile posts on Michigan's freeways aren't always a mile part, motorists were advised Wednesday by the State Highway Department.

In some cases, the exact mile cannot be marked because of an obstruction, such as an overpass, culvert or bridge. The mile post then is placed within 50 feet one way or another.

Low Cost Meat Dishes

Counting Pennies? Here's Help!

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Is the budget a little out of kilter after all the holiday expenses? Are you watching your food expenses more closely for a while?

★ ★ ★

Meat dishes are usually the most costly part of the meal. By saving on them, you can keep the total food picture in line.

Casseroles can be one answer. The one we suggest below uses ground beef.

We rarely buy hamburger because too much of it has to be thrown away in the form of fat. We don't buy ground round steak, because it's too dry. We compromise on ground chuck which is just right.

Sounds like the story of The Three Bears, doesn't it?

★ ★ ★

Ground chuck should be fine for Cheeseburger Pie.

Cheeseburger Pie

1 pound ground beef
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
⅛ teaspoon garlic powder
¼ cup enriched flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup tomato sauce (8-ounce can)
½ cup chopped celery
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
Cheese Pastry

Brown beef and green pepper in large skillet. Add garlic powder and mix well. Stir in flour and salt. Add tomato sauce and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Stir in celery and Worcestershire sauce and bring to a boil.

Pour into 8-inch square baking dish. Top with Cheese Pastry. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees) 30 to 35 minutes.

Cheese Pastry

1½ cups sifted enriched flour
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup shortening
¾ cup shredded process American cheese
3 to 6 tablespoons cold water

Sift together flour and salt. Cut or rub in shortening until mixture is crumbly. Stir in cheese. Sprinkle with water, mixing lightly until dough begins to stick together.

Turn out on lightly floured board or pastry cloth and press dough together. Roll out ¼-inch thick. Cut into 8-inch square and cover hot hamburger mixture.

Cut remaining pastry into strips ½-inch wide and arrange lattice-style on top of 8-inch pastry square. Makes 4 servings.

If Sunday's dinner consisted of pot roast, you have all the makings for a delicious second-day dish. The creamy smooth gravy has both cheese and evaporated milk in it.

Beef and Noodles Parmesan

¼ cup butter
2 medium onions, sliced
1 cup sliced celery, cut diagonally
3 cups cut-up cooked beef pot roast (approx.)
1 teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
1 cup boiling water
1 beef bouillon cube
1 teaspoon worcestershire sauce
2 tablespoons flour
⅓ cup grated parmesan cheese
1 tall can evaporated milk (1⅔ cups)

Melt butter in large skillet. Add onions and celery. Cook over medium heat until onions are transparent.

Add meat and continue to cook slowly until meat is thoroughly heated through. Remove from heat and add salt, pepper, water in which bouillon cube has been dissolved and worcestershire sauce. Gradually sprinkle in flour, stirring to blend smoothly. Stir in parmesan cheese and evaporated milk.

Heat, stirring occasionally, until mixture is hot and bubbling, about 5 minutes. Serve over hot cooked noodles. Makes 6 servings.

★ ★ ★

Have you ever considered using canned corned beef for something besides hash or sandwiches? One can will serve four people in this recipe.

If you think that patty shells are too expensive, substitute toast, crisp noodles, rice or hot biscuits. But we think the patty shells would give the meal a dressed-up touch. Even families appreciate this.

Creamed Corned Beef in Patty Shells

½ cup chopped onion
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 can (12 oz.) corned beef, unchilled
1 can (10½ oz.) condensed cream of mushroom soup
½ cup milk
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
½ teaspoon celery seed
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Cook onion in butter until golden. Add corned beef. Cook, stirring, until meat is heated, but not browned. Mix soup and milk; add to meat. Heat through; add seasonings. Serve in patty shells or over hot biscuits. Makes 4 servings.

CREAMED CORNED BEEF

Who Needs Rolls for Frankfurters?

Quick and easy use of leftovers that is sure to please youngsters.

Charlotte's Cheesefurters

Leftover cooked frankfurters, sliced in half lengthwise
Sliced bread
Cheddar cheese, sandwich-size slices

Place 2 frankfurter slices on each slice of bread. Top with a slice of cheese. Arrange open sandwiches on foil. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven until cheese melts. Cut in half and serve.

Dress Up Pudding

Add a teaspoon of grated orange rind to a package of vanilla pudding at the same time you add the milk and cook as usual. Chill and serve with curls of semi-sweet chocolate as a garnish. The orange and chocolate flavors are extremely compatible!

A pound of fish steaks or fillets usually makes three servings.

Heats Nicely Beforehand

Cocktail frankfurters and sweet gherkins are tasty party foods served in a barbecue dunk.

Blend 1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce, 1 tablesppon dark corn syrup, ¼ teaspoon onion salt and a dash of chili powder in saucepan. Add 1 jar (6 ounces) cocktail frankfurters and ¾ cup sliced sweet gherkins.

Cook over low heat 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Serve warm with cocktail picks. Makes about 6 servings.

You Can Expect to Eat Well in '64

Never before have Americans had so much food for such a small portion of their income! Consumers spent less than 19 per cent of their income (after federal taxes) for food in 1963 compared with 23 per cent in 1952.

★ ★ ★

Although food expenditures per person rose 11 per cent during that period, per person income increased about 35 per cent.

★ ★ ★

The outlook for the new year promises the same food abundance at prices much like those in 1963. This prediction is made by agricultural economists who study trends in income, population, and production to analyze what consumers might expect.

★ ★ ★

According to the experts there will be declines in use of eggs, processed fruits and pork in 1964. There will be increases in the use of beef, chicken, and processed vegetables.

Consumer income in 1963 was about 5 per cent above 1962 and a similar gain is in prospect in 1964. Food expenditures are expected to increase in 1964 because consumers will want to spend part of their increasing income for food and they will continue to buy more food with "built-in maid service."

Yearly increases in food expenditures have averaged 15 per cent of annual increases in income (after federal taxes) since 1947.

★ ★ ★

Retail food prices during 1964 may creep upward as they have in most postwar years, but the rise is expected to be less than 1963's 1½ per cent increase.

★ ★ ★

Retail prices of food from livestock products in 1964 are expected to average about the same as in 1963.

Some price declines may take place in 1964 for beef, eggs, and other products expected to be in large supply.

Increases can be expected in 1964 in prices of food purchased and consumed in restaurants and other away-from-home eating places. These prices have increased at a rather steady rate of about 2½ per cent per year since 1953.

Americans used about 170 pounds of red meats per person in 1963. This was up 6 pounds or 4 per cent from 1962.

Most of the increase was in beef, up to a record 95 from 89 pounds in 1962. Use of pork is expected to be 65 pounds in 1963, 1 pound more per person than in 1962.

Consumers are expected to increase their use of poultry from the 30.6 pounds per person estimated for 1963. This will be true because fryer production is expected to increase slightly in 1964. Turkey supplies in '64 will be about as in 1963—about 7 pounds per person.

★ ★ ★

Consumers will use about the same amount of dairy products in 1964 as they did in 1963. Some declines are occurring in use of fluid whole milk and cream, condensed and evaporated milk, and cottage cheese.

These declines are being offset by increases in use of cheese, ice cream, fluid skim milk, and non fat dry milk solids.

★ ★ ★

Our use of fruit is down rather sharply in 1963 compared to 1962, mostly for citrus fruit, and at present is at the lowest level in 20 years. Fresh fruit use is off about 6 per cent and canned fruit use is down 2 per cent.

Frozen juice consumption is down almost 20 per cent, but canned juice use is up 8 per cent.

Prospects for 1964 point to some recovery in use of fresh fruits. Citrus supplies will likely increase a little, but are expected to remain well below levels of recent years.

BEEF AND NOODLES PARMESAN

Gay Little Tomato Tree Is Unusual Party Idea

New, colorful and calorie-low, the idea of using western iceberg lettuce and cherry tomatoes for parties. Tucked into a head of lettuce, these tiny tomatoes make perfect topiary trees. Guests pluck off a tomato, dip it in snowy sour cream "dunk," then reach for another . . . and another!

★ ★ ★

Cherry tomatoes are relative newcomers to the vegetable kingdom, as compared to lettuce, for instance, which has been around 2000 years or more. Only within the past five years have these pixie tomatoes been grown — first in California — and only within the past two have they caught on for parties because of their festive look.

★ ★ ★

Choicest tomatoes are small; then they're god and crisp; large ones are apt to be mealy. So choose tiny tomatoes for concocting trees.

Cherry Tomato-Lettuce Trees

3 large heads western iceberg lettuce
Horseradish, Mushroom-Sherry Clam-Parsley, Caviar or Creamy Leek Dip
6 pints cherry tomatoes
Cocktail picks

Core lettuce; rinse in cold water; drain well. Place in plastic bags or transparent film. Refrigerate. Prepare one of the dips given below and chill several hours.

At serving, place each head of lettuce on a stemmed dish. Rinse tomatoes and insert cocktail picks into each, then into lettuce. Place lettuce on sherbert dish. Serve with dip or dips, of your choice. Each dip is sufficient for one tree. Makes 10 servings.

★ ★ ★

Horseradish Dip: Blend 1 pint dairy sour cream; 1 tablespoon mayonnaise, 1 teaspoon prepared horseradish, and ½ teaspoon seasoned salt.

Mushroom-Sherry Dip: Blend 1½ cups dairy sour cream with ¼ cup mayonnaise, ¼ cup sherry wine and 1 envelope (1½ ounces) mushroom soup mix.

★ ★ ★

Clam-Parsley Dip: Blend together 1 package (8 ounces) softened cream cheese. 2 tablespoons minced parsley; 1 teaspoon salt; dash pepper; 1 can (7½ ounces) minced clams, drained; and 1-3 cup light cream.

Caviar Dip: Mix 1 pint dairy sour cream with 1 jar (1 ounce) black caviar and ⅛ teaspoon onion juice.

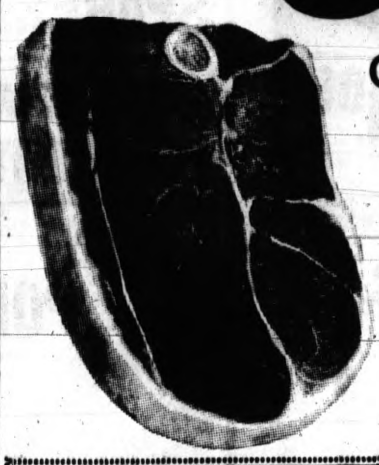

Creamy Leek Dip: Blend 1 pint dairy sour cream with 1 envelope (1 7-8 ounces) cream of leek soup mix; ½ teaspoon parsley flakes, and 2 tablespoons milk.

To Serve True American Food--Make It With Beans

To be sure, Europe and Asia had their beans, but they were a far cry from the succulent green beans and tender limas we know. Old World "beans" were dried seeds from various bean plants, and included such goodies as hyacinth beans, asparagus beans, horse beans and Windsor beans.

But edible pod beans of the so-called "garden" variety — string beans, green beans or wax beans — and limas were the American Indians' contribution to the world's food supply. The pilgrims learned about these beans from the Indians who showed them how to combine various beans, corn and meat in a stew called "m'sickquotash," later "succotash."

It has been estimated that there are now more than 1,000 different varieties of beans (this does not include coffee beans and Mexican jumping beans), many of which are among the world's most important food crops. Certainly, bean production is important to the economy of many of our farm states.

The popularity of beans has steadily increased with the growth of modern food processing techniques. In particular, the commercial fast-freezing process made it possible for the first time to preserve the fresh flavor, texture and natural color of these vegetables during storage.

Although cut green beans were the first of their kind to be frozen, today's frozen "beanery" is extensive. The Directory of the National Association of Frozen Food Packers lists more than three dozen different sizes, cuts and combinations of beans.

★ ★ ★

These include green beans, Italian green beans (the broad, flat kind), wax beans, lima beans, butter beans, and speckled butter beans, in addition to vegetable combinations such as succotash, and prepared dishes such as beans with butter and cheese sauces. You'll even find bean sprouts in the frozen food case — they're used in frozen chow mein.

So you see, the frozen "beanery" offers a wealth of variety for menu planning. Here are some interesting ways to serve them.

In-a-Minute Lima Bean and Ham Casserole

2 (8- or 9-oz.) packages frozen lima beans in cheese sauce
1 (4-oz.) package frozen French fried onion rings
1½ cups cooked diced ham

Heat frozen lima beans in sauce as directed. Remove onion rings from freezer to stand a few minutes at room temperature. Turn lima beans into 1½-quart casserole and toss with ham cubes. Top with frozen French fried onion rings.

Bake in moderately hot oven (375 degrees) for 10 minutes or until mixture is bubbly and onions are golden brown. Makes 6 servings.

Green Bean Antipasto

1 (9-oz.) package frozen Italian green beans
½ cup bottled Italian-style salad dressing
1 cup shredded lettuce
1 tomato, cut in wedges
½ onion, sliced in rings
1 green pepper, sliced in rings
4 anchovy fillets

Cook frozen green beans as directed on the package, then drain. Let green beans marinate in salad dressing in refrigerator for at least two hours. Then toss with chives, lettuce, tomato, onion and green pepper. Add more salad dressing, if desired. Top with anchovy fillets and serve. Makes four servings.

★ ★ ★

Dixie Wax Beans

1 (9-oz.) package frozen cut wax beans
4 slices bacon
½ teaspoon caraway seeds

Let frozen wax beans stand at room temperature while preparing bacon. Saute bacon in a heavy skillet until crisp, drain on absorbent paper and crumble. Drain bacon drippings, leaving 3 tablespoonsful remaining in skillet. When drippings have cooled somewhat, turn wax beans into skillet.

Saute lightly, separating with a fork, and stirring occasionally, for 8 to 10 minutes or until tender. Toss beans with crumbled bacon and caraway seeds. Makes 3 to 4 servings.

Foil Holds Heat Inside Egg Dish

A new covered way to make the best shirred eggs ever.

New Shirred Eggs

Butter or margarine
Eggs
Seasoning salt
Paprika

Spread butter generously over bottom and sides of shirred egg dishes. Crack 2 eggs into each dish without breaking yolks. Sprinkle with seasoning salt and paprika.

Cover each dish tightly with aluminum foil. Bake in a slow (325) degrees oven 12 to 18 minutes depending upon firmness desired and whether you are using shirred egg dishes of porcelainized iron, copper, stainless steel, pottery, or 6-inch pie plate of ovenproof glass.

Remove one dish after 12 minutes and check. Replace foil and bake longer if necessary. Serve at once.

Put Bit of Sugar in Tuna Filling

There are all kinds of sandwiches — from the plain to the fancy. The variety seems endless.

Here is a tasty sandwich that is ideal for luncheons or buffet suppers. What's more, it is easy to prepare. The delightful combination of ingredients in this spread will bring compliments from your guests. Try this recipe the next time you entertain.

Tuna - Cucumber Sandwiches

¼ cup vinegar
1 tablespoon sugar
Salt and pepper to taste
1 cup chopped cucumber
¼ cup chopped onion
1 6½ ounce can chunk-style tuna, drained
3 tablespoons mayonnaise
8 slices buttered bread

Combine vinegar, sugar, salt, and pepper. Stir until sugar is dissolved. Add chopped cucumber and chopped onion. Let stand 1 hour. Drain. Add drained tuna and mayonnaise. Mix well and spread on buttered bread to make sandwiches. Yield: 4 sandwiches.

Private Poll Will Tell

Gov. Faubus After 6th Term?

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—A few years ago the idea of a third-term governor seemed preposterous in Arkansas, which had a 50-year tradition of "two terms and out."

Now Gov. Orval E. Faubus, a mountaineer whose name once was a symbol of resistance to school desegregation, talks like a man who will seek a sixth term. He says he will announce his plans next month.

* * *

His decision apparently will hinge on a private poll, a device he uses frequently to sound public opinion.

Sensing possible public distaste for desegregation, Faubus used National Guard troops to block integration of Central High School in Little Rock in 1957. Arkansas responded by breaking its third-term tradition and gave him 70 per cent of the vote in the 1958 Democratic primary. In Arkansas, the primary usually decides the governor's race.

FRUITLESS BATTLES

Now he has held the office nine years and the hard core of his opposition is weary from fruitless battles to oust him in 1960 and 1962. His foes are wondering not so much about whether he will run as where a worthy opponent can be found.

So far only State Rep. Hardy Croxton of Rogers, a proponent of government reform, has demonstrated a desire to oppose Faubus.

* * *

But the names of former Gov. Sid McMath and former U.S. Rep. Dale Alford, two of his five opponents in 1962, are mentioned often enough to make Faubus take critical stabs at them.

Two years ago Faubus appeared weary, A hard and losing fight for a $60-million state construction bond issue was just behind him. He had feuded for years with the powerful Arkansas Education Association. A losing battle for a school-closing constitutional amendment had followed his fourth-term success in 1960.

WOULD RETIRE

Faubus, saying he wanted to write, announced in a dramatic television appearance that he was retiring from politics.

A week later reports circulated that he was having second thoughts. A month later he announced for a fifth term and he polled 51 per cent of the first primary votes to escape a runoff election for the fourth time.

GOV. FAUBUS

Now Faubus does not talk of retirement. The state government has run smoothly for the last year. He has settled his dispute with the education. An expanding economy is bringing in revenue faster than it is being spent.

In this tranquil atmosphere Faubus has talked, for the first time since 1958, of what he will do if he is reelected. His main platform, he said, will be a rural road construction program.

NEGATIVE PROMISE

His last promise was negative—that he would fight school integration. He kept his word by closing Little Rock schools during the 1958-59 term and by proposing the school closing amendment through the legislature.

By 1960 he had all but dropped integration as a campaign topic and he ignored it in 1962. Both years he campaigned mainly on government efficiency and economic advancement of the state.

Most observers believe voters are sufficiently satisfied to elect him again this year — under a rural road banner or no banner at all.

Indeed, his main opposition may come in the general election—if Republicans can get Winthrop Rockefeller to run.

Rockefeller has been a potential GOP candidate since 1960, but observers believe he will wait to challenge someone less experienced than Faubus.

Twins Killed in Fall From Mother's Arms

MADRID (AP) — The 3-day-old twin daughters of a Spanish couple fell from their mother's arm as she leaned from a sixth-floor window here yesterday and were killed.

Police said the mother, Maria Victoria Alonso, apparently shifted both infants onto one arm while reaching for clothing drying on a line outside the window. She was prostrate from shock.

He's Real Cut-Up; Takes Broom Trip

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — The fellows who got their black eyes bumping into a doorknob will have to take a back seat to 12-year-old Lawrence Raymond.

He cut himself by tripping over a broom which sent him flying through a window.

The boy and some friends went to a service station to telephone one of the youngsters' parents to pick them up after basketball practice.

Lawrence thought he saw a car coming and ran for the door of the station.

The broom hurled him through the plate glass display window, necessitating 14 stitches in his head and three in his right hand.

Parole Him? He's Gone

NASHVILLE, Tenn (AP) — Probation officer Fred Newman rejected Roy Tyrone Stanford's request for probation yesterday.

* * *

His report to criminal court explained that Stanford "has escaped from the workhouse and is now at large."

"I doubt that he is a fit subject for probation," said Newman.

Start Freeway Survey

ST. JOSEPH (AP)—A State Highway Department crew has started surveying for the I-94 business loop freeway connection between I-94 and M33 at St. Joseph. The two-mile long freeway, expected to cost $1.7 million is scheduled for construction early in 1967.

WOMEN'S SECTION

Versatility, style and function highlight the unusual and decorative new pieces in Drexel's "Declaration" line. Shown in a den setting are the new catkin back daybed, sleek and slim contemporary clock in rosewood, black and rosewood cube mobile table and mobile bar with black plastic top, drawers and cabinet for storage.

Furniture Features Warmth and Livability

Drexel Furniture Company of North Carolina is offering both furniture groupings and occasional pieces at this year's market in Chicago.

Designed by Henry and David Warren, the line captures warmth and livability in contemporary styling. Walnut veneers and Carpathian Elm burl are combined as an interesting variation of textures under a warm light brown finish.

The "Eastrend" group derives a subtle inspiration from the Far East.

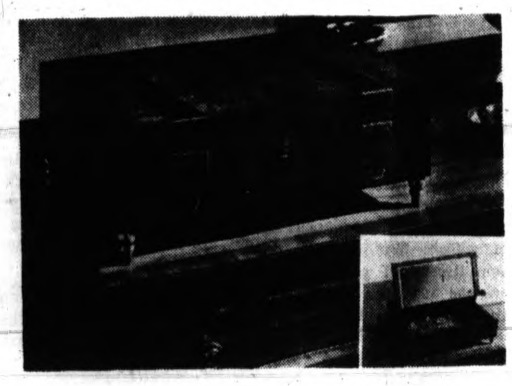

Highlighting this group are a large style selection of occasional tables for living room, a wide bookcase that gives the look of "twin" bookcase and other unusual pieces.

In another contemporary group "Declaration," the finish is oiled walnut.

Added at this year's Winter Home Furnishings Market are five accent pieces in a combination of rosewood and black. Some of these are a sleek clock, mobile bar, hall chest with multiple drawer storage inside and an octagonal commode table.

★ ★ ★

New pieces in "Et Cetera" collection include a handsome black lacquer credenza with pierced interlaced scroll work and a four-drawer miniature chest.

The perfect home accessory, is this jewelry chest from Drexel's new "Repertoire" group. Beautifully made in Carpathian Elm burl with brass legs and strap trim, it is fitted with a red velvet compartmented liner to hold the most elegant jewelry. It is also available as a silver chest with tarnish-free liner to hold service of 12 in silver flatware. Approximate retail $79.

Today's handsome bookcase units are the ideal solution to the homemakers' storage problem. Forty-eight inches wide, this one is divided in the center to give the look of a pair of cases. Shelves are adjustable. From Drexel's new "Eastrend" group, it hints of the Far East, yet blends with other furniture beautifully.

OK to Keep Winnings From Cards

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: You have written that a hostess does not accept a prize for high score in her own house. When guests in our house lose money to us at cards, is it improper for us to accept their money?

★ ★ ★

A: A prize donated by the hostess is quite different from money won or lost at cards, and hosts properly keep their winnings or pay their losses.

Q: I am going to be married next month. Two weeks ago my cousin's husband died very suddenly.

I am about to mail my wedding invitations. Would it be in bad taste to send her one so soon after her husband's death?

★ ★ ★

A: Write her a note saying that you are enclosing an invitation to let her know you are thinking of her and to assure her that if she feels up to coming to the reception, or even only to the church, she will be more than welcome.

Q: We have no one to wait on table and whenever we have guests, I serve. When removing the used plates before dessert, I pile the plates one on top of the other and remove them all at the same time to eliminate trips to the kitchen.

My sister has criticized me for this and said it is not proper to stack the dishes. May I please have your opinion?

A: Your sister is right; the plates should not be stacked. They should be removed two at a time, one in each hand.

Details concerning the announcement of an engagement are described in the new Emily Post Institute booklet entitled, "Announcing the Engagement."

To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Emily Post Institute, in care of The Pontiac Press.

Village Woman's Club

Sets Spring Class Series

Once again the Village Woman's Club is offering a series of classes for the spring season.

Highlighting the spring semester will be three new courses: "History in the Making," art and a night course in Spanish.

Last fall's courses in antiques, Japanese flower arrangement, bridge, French and Spanish will continue.

The "History in the Making" series presented in cooperation with the division of continuing education at Oakland University will open its eight lecture series at 9:30 a. m. Jan. 16.

Dr. David C. Potter will discuss the relationship of India's history to contemporary events. Dr. Potter was recently appointed assistant professor of political science at Oakland University.

Another lecturer in the "History in the Making" series will be Dr. Alfred G. Meyer, a specialist on the Soviet Union, who is a professor of political science at Michigan State University.

Additional speakers will be announced later.

SPANISH

The club has obtained Mrs. Alicia Gonzales Renfrew as instructor for its new night course in Spanish which begins at 8 p. m. Jan. 16.

Beginning March 21 and continuing weekly for eight weeks, Dr. Ernest Scheyer, professor of art history and humanities at Wayne State University, will lecture on art.

Classes in the creative and meaningful art of Japanese flower arranging are scheduled for six weeks, beginning Tuesday.

The instructor, Mrs. Lawson M. McKenzie, has studied with Mrs. Frank A. Allen, the founder of Ikebana International, a society formed for those interested in the art of Japanese flower arrangement.

ANTIQUES

The antique series will begin March 2, with Gerald Gibson speaking on "Early American Fabrics and Interior Decorations." Mr. Gibson is curator of decorative art at the Henry Ford Museum.

Hunt Fair Committee Collecting Treasures

Preparations are now being made for this year's Hunt Fair by the committee which raises funds for the Oakland University Scholarship.

This year's Hunt Fair, which is sponsored in conjunction with the Detroit Horse Show and the Bloomfield Open Hunt Club will be June 22-28.

★ ★ ★

Committee cochairmen are Mrs. Harold Howlett of Birmingham and Mrs. Ralph Norvell of Pontiac.

The fair this year will be enlarged. The trinkets and treasures booth, one of the most popular attractions, will be enlarged and stocked with antiques, jewelry, household articles and bric-a-brac.

COLLECT TREASURE

The supply of treasures for the booth will be donated as admission tokens by guests who will attend a series of teas.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. S. D. Steiner of Bloomfield Hills is chairman of the trinkets and treasures tea committee. Mrs. Harry Watson Jr. and Mrs. S. Tenny McGraw are cochairmen of the booth at the fair.

★ ★ ★

Some 1500 invitations are being issued to the teas which are scheduled during the later part of January and early February.

Hostesses include Mrs. Warren S. Booth, Mrs. William Breech, and Mrs. Robert A. Dearth, Bloomfield Hills; Mrs. Alton J. Deutser, Lake Angelus; Mrs. Harold A. Fitzgerald and Mrs. Philip Rowston, Pontiac; and Mrs. William Gard and Mrs. Charles Parcells Jr. of Grosse Pointe.

ALL AREAS

Other hostesses are Mrs. Paul Horton, Metamora; Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson, Rochester; Mrs. Edmund Windeler, Waterford-Clarkston; Mrs. Arthur Moore, Royal Oak; and Mrs. Robert Tuholske, Huntington Woods.

★ ★ ★

In addition to the tea hostesses, the following are members of the trinkets and treasures committee: Mrs. Howard B. Barker, Mrs. Arthur Butterbaugh, Mrs. E. M. Estes, Mrs. Alfred C. Girard, Mrs. Clement Jensen and Mrs. Colin H. John.

★ ★ ★

Concluding the list are Mrs. Russell Nowels, Mrs. John W. Sanders, Mrs. Edward A. Schirmer, Mrs. Parbury P. Schmidt, Mrs. William Shunck, Mrs. George T. Trumbull, Mrs. Richard B. Wallace, and Mrs. Charles L. Wilson Jr.

Most Wives Are Interested in Morning Mail---Not Male

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a mail carrier and some of the stories he tells me about the women he sees on his route would curl your hair.

He says some of them answer the door in their bathrobes at two o'clock in the afternoon, and he has seen some appear in thin, see-through nylon dusters.

Anyway, he says he sure wishes they would cover up as they are disgraceful! I was taught to dress up in the morning, with undergarments, hosiery, shoes and a fresh house dress.

And, believe me, I wasn't trying to tempt the mail carrier, either. Please print this so the guilty ones will see it and take the hint.

MAIL CARRIER'S WIFE

★ ★ ★

DEAR WIFE: I doubt if the average housewife has any intention of carrying away the mail carrier. It's her MAIL she's interested in—not your MALE.

DEAR ABBY: Is it proper to thank people at the grave for having come to a funeral? My little niece passed away last week.

She was only two years old.

The funeral was small in attendance, but very lovely. When we were all leaving the cemetery, the child's grandmother went around to all the people she knew and said "Thank you for coming."

This is the first time I have ever heard of THANKING people for attending a funeral. Wasn't she out of order?

SIMPLE QUESTION

★ ★ ★

DEAR SIMPLE: I see nothing wrong with thanking those she knew for attending the funeral.

And if you do, you appear to have dug uncommonly deep to find fault.

DEAR ABBY: I have been going steady with a nice man for six months and he wants me to meet his people.

He says his mother wants me to come for dinner. I am 28 and he is 32. When I go to his house for dinner for the first time, should I offer to help his mother with the dishes afterwards?

I have never met his mother or father.

NERVOUS

★ ★ ★

DEAR NERVOUS: If his mother has no help in the kitchen and it is apparent that she must do her own cleaning up, by all means offer to help.

Sigma Beta to Celebrate Anniversary

Five chapters in this area will meet Friday to celebrate the forty-first anniversary of the founding of Sigma Beta National sorority.

Local chapters participating are Psi of Pontiac and Beta Omicron of Highland.

Mrs. Wallace Williams, a member of Psi Chapter and national president, and Mrs. Eugene Russell, of Beta Omicron and national editor, will be special guests.

Following dinner at the Harlan House in Detroit, the members will see Dr. M. K. Sherman's program entitled "Hypnosis in Healing." The presentation is primarily educational, intended to inform and explain the various aspects and uses of hypnosis.

Art's Place Discussed by Group

"The Place of Art in the Home" was discussed by Mrs. Mary A. Hardy, Oakland County Home Economics Extension Agent, at the Tuesday evening meeting of the Opti-Mrs. club.

Mrs. Hardy exhibited original paintings as well as reproductions of works by famous artists.

The group met at the home of Mrs. Fred Coleman on West Iroquois Road. Mrs. Glen Harding and Mrs. Bernhard Hansen assisted the hostess.

★ ★ ★

Several Opti-Mrs. members volunteered to work at the March of Dimes kickoff luncheon to be held Tuesday at the Miracle Lounge.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick G. Richardson of Bloomfield Hills will host 90 guests at their annual dinner dance at the Bloomfield Hills Country Club Friday night. The tradition was started in 1950.

★ ★ ★

Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Osmun of Ogemaw Road will welcome their son, Monroe B., from Clearwater, Fla. for the weekend.

Prolong the Life of Your Parakeet

Pretty little parakeets can be hardy creatures and live for 10 years or more when given loving care. It means a proper diet as much like the balanced diet nature provides in its natural habitat.

A daily ration of parakeet seed, parakeet treat, conditioning food and cup of clean water will help keep your bird happy and healthy.

Local Unit Sponsors Tea for Nurses

The Women's Auxiliary to the Pontiac General Hospital, Inc. sponsored a January tea for student practical nurse class No. 30 in the hospital auditorium.

Mrs. Franklin Mills was chairman with Mrs. Charles Galloway as cochairman and Mrs. S. V. Sekles as hospitality chairman.

Those graduates honored included Marlene Smith, Mary Robinson, Rowena Smith, Mrs. Arzella Wynn, Gwendolyn Ramsey, Mrs. Herbert Mullen, Marva Lowe, Virginia Clover and Alice Auker.

Square Set to Sponsor Gay Night

The Square Set square dance club will sponsor a hootenanny Saturday from 8:30 p.m. to 12 a.m. at the Herrington School.

Guest callers will include Charles Becker of the Hix and Chicks, Ed Farr of the Style Steppers and Melvin Sheffer of the Wagon Wheelers.

Chairman of the hootenanny is James Thompson with Russell Williams as cochairman.

Working on the program are V. C. Shafer, Wayne Brookshear, and Jack Ralph. Refreshments will be handled by Mr. and Mrs. Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Strubler are in charge of publicity while Mr. and Mrs. Sam Healander will handle the welcome committee and Charles Hocevar, the tickets.

Reservations may be made by contacting Russell J. Williams.

Pontiac Press Photo

Practicing for the Square Set Club's hootenanny on Saturday are Mr. and Mrs. V. C. Shafer, Moreland Avenue (rear) and guitarist James Thompson, Shimmons Road.

Find 'Lost Mothers'

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — My hint is for mothers of children too young for school who take the children along when they shop.

★ ★ ★

I suggest pinning a name tag somewhere on the child's coat. It could read, "My name is Tommy Brown. My mother is wearing a red coat and we are shopping for toys and shoes," or whatever the case may be.

I have worked in a large department store for four years and realize how much help this could be, especially during the holiday rush. Thank you for reading my aid for lost mothers.—GINNY

DEAR POLLY — Don't throw away that old pincushion without first cutting it open. Recently I acquired a new one and then cut open two old ones that I had had for years.

I found 37 needles in one and more than 60 in the older one. Now I know where my needles have been disappearing.

I would never have believed it possible there could be so many needles inside these cushions and all in perfect condition as the sawdust preserved them from rust.—MRS. H. A.

DEAR POLLY — A friend of mine recently made a birthday cake for her 12-year-old son. It was in the form of a train consisting of locomotive, coal car, lumber car, tanker, box car and caboose.

★ ★ ★

Batter for the engine and the tanker was baked in soup cans. The rest of the batter had to be baked in a pan about 6 by 8 by 1-inch.

A small square of the cake is attached to the engine with icing to make the cab and the whole locomotive is iced with chocolate. A gumdrop makes the bell.

The large wheels are made of tiny doughnuts, iced with chocolate and the smaller ones are round, colored candies as are the wheels of the other cars.

The coal car is also iced with chocolate and small bits of licorice piled up to look like coal.

HOLDS CANDY

The lumber car can hold candy stick logs. Ice the tanker with white and outline near the ends with lines of chocolate and write the number of the child's age, in chocolate, on each side.

A small square of cake on top of a "car piece" of cake will make the caboose which is iced with red. This really made a hit with the children.—MRS. G. F. G.

★ ★ ★

DEAR POLLY — The hobbyist who uses small brushes for oil painting should find my hint useful. Take some empty thread spools and cut one side of each of them flat.

Then glue them to a thin board, mounted upright on a stand. Brushes slipped into the spools are readily available when needed.—M. E. U.

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice Farmer; I was putting some covered bias cording around the edges of my suit and had a terrible time wherever there was a corner to turn. Surely there must be an easy way to do this without the corners pulling and not laying flat.

May I also tell you at this time how much all of my friends and I look forward to your helpful hints. Hardly a week goes by without someone learning something new.

Dear Mrs. R. E. E.: First, many thanks for your encouraging words about "Sew Simple!" It's a column that is made interesting by the letters you all send to me. Believe it or not, I learn many good tips from you readers too.

★ ★ ★

After your cord has been covered with bias fabric, machine stitch close to the cord with the presser foot. Now trim the excess to ⅝ inch from stitching.

Pin the trimmed cording to your collar, however, when you get to the corner, or to an almost square corner, you must clip the bias edges of your cording. This will permit it to lay flat at the curves.

MACHINE STITCH

I always machine stitch the cording in place on one layer of the fabric first. Check to be sure the stitching is exactly on the original stitching (you can fold the cording over and check to see exactly how it will look when completed).

When you are satisfied, place the facing on top (right sides together), pin in position, matching all edges, and machine stitch the facing to your garment from the side where you can see your first stitching. This will insure perfect results because you will have a guide line to follow.

TAILOR TRIX WINNER

"My mother (a dressmaker from Norway) alway told me not to match the underarm seam of the sleeve with the underarm seam of the garment. Instead, bring the underarm seam of the sleeve forward ¼ inch. This will change the notches in front of the sleeve, but should be eased in the front of the sleeve and not beyond the shoulder."

Gals: I have tried this with many of my students this fall and it works wonders! We have done this so often in order to make the sleeve hang perfectly, but now I find that it works just about 100 per cent.

Mrs. A. N. Rood, East Grand Forks, Minn., is this week's winner of a Tailor Trix Pressing Board.

Dear Eunice: I would like to know whether any of your readers could help me find a pattern for a pleated cheer leader's skirt? This would have a different color under the eight pleats.

Mrs. L.C.

Dear Mrs. L. C.: I don't know whether there is such a pattern on the market, however, you can use any inverted pleated skirt pattern. If there wasn't a separate piece of pattern under each pleat, you could cut your pattern on the fold lines, adding a seam allowance to each piece that was cut apart.

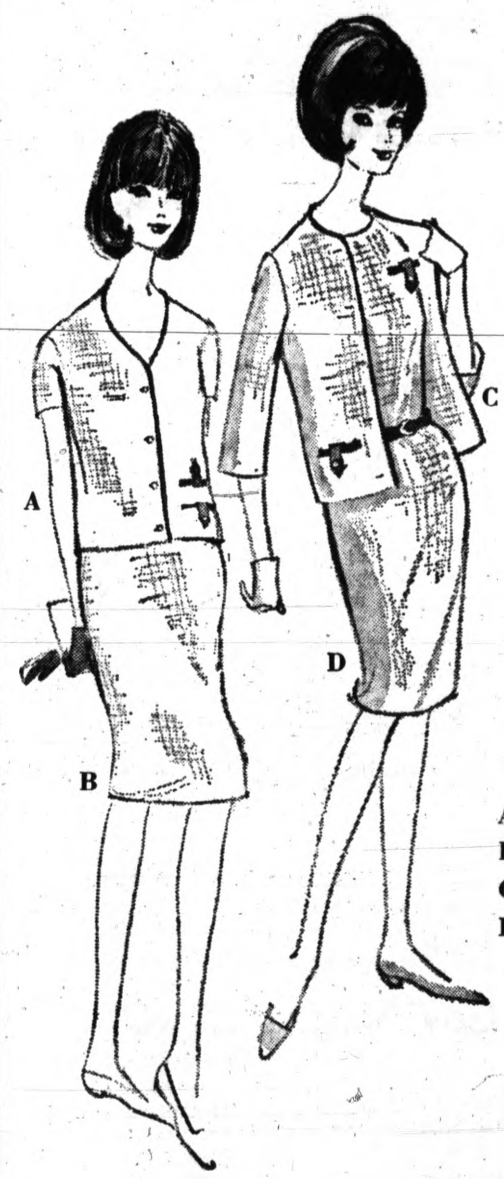

Your contrasting color would be used for the pleat underlay. (If any of you know of such a pattern, please let me know so that I may pass the information on to Mrs. L. C. as well as any others who may ask for it.

Dear Eunice: What would make the slide fastener inserted down the cent back of my dresses buckle at the waistline?

Mrs. S. M. R.

Dear Mrs. S. M. R.: This is usually caused by not making the bodice the correct length in back. Before inserting the zipper, baste the skirt to the bodice, tie a string around your waistline, and check to be sure the waistline seam is exactly at your own waistline.

I'm afraid you have allowed too much "ease" to the center back length, and this, of course, would cause the slide fastener to buckle.

Jacques Tiffeau creates an Empire-line coat in wide wale wool ottoman. Belted just below the bustline in sleek white fringed kid, the coat falls plumb-line straight to the hem. Collarless and with cuffed shirt sleeves, this is the perfect top coverage for any daytime hour.

Call it a convertible topper. This travel folder suiter of black and white over-plaid has a detachable brim. Named "Bellini" by its designer, Mr. John, it was shown at the spring millinery fashion show in New York.

Everything's in Fashion

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK — Eggheads, politics, sailors and "My Fair Lady" — these incongruities make up the spring wardrobes of fashion-conscious women.

As for sex appeal, California designer Rudi Gernreich spelled it out in Chinese, with droop shouldered, kimona-like dresses and tunics at fashion press week previews Wednesday.

FASHION POLITICS

Very often the Lyndon B. Johnson influence showed up — that's the new name for the cowboy look, important since the Texan moved into the White House.

Silk low-belted shifts were not without scarves tied sideways or backwards. But instead of a ten-gallon hat, each jaunty model wore a pint-sized white fedora.

Sleeves fascinated Gernreich. His models fluttered butterfly sleeves gathered like wings over the shoulder, or sported funnel-like arm coverings or tiers of ruffles on flamenco-type sleeves.

★ ★ ★

Ceil Chapman, queen of the draped shape, returned to her throne this season with voluptuous Edwardian chiffon and matte jersey numbers right out of the "My Fair Lady" musical.

This year Miss Chapman was a sidewinder — with tucks, draping, panels and revealing slits winding up on the same side.

DANGEROUS DOILIES

She also borrowed grandmother's lace doilies for stiffly starched collars and ruffled necklines on otherwise somber and siren-like black crepe clingy dresses.

Egghead scientists and the sailors came into the fashion picture with the Pellon show featuring as yet unknown designers.

★ ★ ★

Some found design inspiration from the white labo coats of researchers, while still others found style in the middy suit, made giddy with lace or militant with gold braid.

Patricia C. Peter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Peter of Lanman Street, plans to marry Waymon F. Fowler in June. Her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Fowler of Ash Flat, Ark.

Why Grow Old?
By Josephine Lowman

Do you want to look and feel years younger just eight weeks from now? You can!

As most of my readers know, their favorite newspaper is publishing my Eight-Week Beauty Improvement Plan (BIP) this week.

The idea that a woman can make a tremendous change in her appearance in eight weeks is no idle dream of mine. I have seen it happen over and over again in my classes.

★ ★ ★

I have been as excited as my pupils were when their bulges turned into curves, when their self-consciousness turned into self-confidence, when chronic fatigue was exchanged for energy, and boredom simply disappeared!

IT'S POSSIBLE

Not only do I know this to be possible because of my classes but because of thousands and thousands of letters from my readers.

Yesterday, I brought you information to help you decide what your ideal weight is. Today, let's talk about measurements. You must weigh and measure yourself before you know what goals you are shooting for during the next eight weeks. I think that is important.

The usual standard for the perfect figure is; the bust and hip measurements should be the same and the waist should be 10 inches less. Use this only as a guide. Some lovely figures have a few inches more in the hips than in the bust and vice versa. I have always thought that a slim waist is the most important measurement.

★ ★ ★

Remember that bony structure should be considered when thinking of measurements as well as when deciding what your ideal weight is. For instance, sometimes a woman may try to reduce her hips in order to come nearer to the standard measurements for a perfect figure when this is impossible because of build.

EVERY 2 WEEKS

Do not take your measurements more than once a week. Once every two weeks is better. In two week's time there will be more of a difference than there will be in only one week's time.

Let's start with the bust measurement. Measure around the fullest part of your bust. If you wear a brassiere when you measure, be certain to wear the same one every time.

Take your waist measurement at your natural waistline. Measure your abdomen around the largest part.

★ ★ ★

Measure your hips around the fullest part. Take care that the tape measure is in a straight line around your body. If it dips or hikes up in spots, you will not get an accurate measurement.

SAME TAUTNESS

Also, try to pull the tape to the same tautness each time. It should not be tight or loose, just snug.

★ ★ ★

If you have been following my Beauty Improvement Plan this week, you now know how to weigh and measure yourself. Tomorrow, we will talk about calories and be on our way.

★ ★ ★

If you missed earlier columns and would like to have my Eight-Week BIP (Beauty Improvement Plan) routine and my unique wall chart on which you can watch your beauty line rise as your weight line falls, send 25 cents (plus 15 cents for postage and handling) and your printed name and address to Josephine Lowman, in care of The Pontiac Press.

★ ★ ★

Tomorrow: "Calorie Counting Small Price to Pay for Weight Reduction."

Area Study Group Meets

Special and adjourned meetings were demonstrated at the Parliamentary Study Club's Wednesday meeting in the Masonic Temple on East Lawrence Street.

Acting president was Mrs. I. J. Gouin. Assisting her in the program were Mrs. E. M. Malon, Mrs. Clark Bartenbaker, and Mrs. Vivian Tubbs. Others participating were Mrs. Melvin Norberg, Mrs. Ervin Christie and Mrs. George H. Watters.

Mrs. Joseph Phillips was the sponsor and Mrs. Ross Elliott, leader of the day.

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

MARY FEELEY

Dear Miss Feeley

My boy friend and I plan to be engaged soon and hope to be married a year later. We have been discussing how much we have to save to be able to start our life together comfortably and without any debts.

★ ★ ★

What would you say we need to furnish a three-room apartment? I intend to work for awhile but know that you can't base anything on the woman's salary because of possible pregnancy, etc. So what would you consider a reasonable take-home pay for the man?

We have been discussing these things over and over these days and want to get together on the right thing to do. Your answers will help us so much.

D. L. S., Commack, N.Y.

Dear D. L. S.,

I know it's hard to look at figures when you're got stars in your eyes. But you and your fiance had better put some figures down on paper, or you'll still be talking around in circles right up to your wedding day.

Let's not confuse the issue by what I might think is a reasonable take-home pay. What does your young man actually earn now, and what will he probably be making this time next year? That's what you have to work with.

LOOK AROUND

Start looking around at possible apartments and get an idea of what you can expect to rent at, say from 15 to 20 per cent of the take-home pay. Make out a week's menus, then the two of you price-shop the supermarket and get a rough idea of what it would cost to eat for seven days.

★ ★ ★

Try to estimate how much each of you spends on clothes over a period of a year, and slice that into 52 weekly parts — or 12 parts, depending on whether you want to work out a budget by the week or the month. Figure up his expenses on the job — lunches, transportation, any other obligations.

These are the basic budget categories to deal with first. As for furniture, 12 per cent of the income is generally a reasonable amount. But maybe you'll find you have to furnish one room at a time — or just buy the essential pieces till you can save up for the rest. Whatever you do, don't taken on a heavy burden of installment payments or you'll rue the day.

Remember, too, that you'll need to allow something for medical costs, and should allow something for savings — 5 to 15 per cent is sound.

★ ★ ★

While you're taking a good look at the situation, give a thought to your individual personalities, habits and capacity for self-discipline. These can help to make or break any plan for living you could set up.

★ ★ ★

Chile is increasing its sugar-beet acreage 25 per cent this year in the hope of becoming self sufficient in sugar.

April vows are being planned by Sandra Jean Rickard, daughter of the Robert Rickards of Wixom and George E. Thrasher, son of the George E. Thrashers of North Jessie Street. She was graduated from Cleary College, Ypsilanti and her fiance from University of Michigan.

No two punches used by railroad conductors are exactly alike in pattern or design or the perforation. Each is registered in the name of the conductor who uses it.

Local Group Hears Talk on Children

Robert Wollaeger, program director of the North Oakland County Child Guidance Clinic spoke on the "Emotional Development of Children" to the Women of the Moose, Pontiac Chapter 360.

Mrs. George Harshbarger took the place of Mrs. Elmer Chaffin, child care chairman. The child care committee was in charge of the evening.

Mrs. Martha Brown was enrolled as a new member at the Monday evening meeting at the Moose Home on Mt. Clemens Street.

Plans are being completed for the mid winter conference to be held Jan. 26.

New President for Fashionette

Mrs. Hugh Remley was installed as new president of the Fashionette Club at a candlelight service Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Frederick Root presided over the business meeting at the Adah Shelly Library preceding the service. Mrs. John Neaves conducted the installation.

Let's Knit

Trim Basic Sweater

See what fun it is to be your own designer. Use this basic garment and then applique it with pearls, sequins, felt, or embroider it with yarn or silk. The fringes, which are a favorite with many, are an added attraction.

This basic sweater is as fast to knit as a bulky sweater but does not have the bulky look. It gives you a dressy look when worn with a skirt and heels and a sporty look worn with capris.

Instructions are written in sizes 8 through 18. Included in the pattern are instructions for a long sleeve and also a ¾ sleeve. Instructions for all sizes are written on one pattern.

Fringed Sweater No. 42 may be obtained by sending 50 cents in coin, check, or money order to: Ursula DuBois, The Pontiac Press Pattern Dept., Box 3307, Van Nuys, Calif.

Beta Omega Sorority Holds Pledge Service

Pledge services were held by Beta Omega chapter of Lambda Chi Omega National Sorority at its Tuesday evening meeting.

Mrs. Richard Ervin opened her Sylvan Lake home for the occasion.

New pledges are: Mrs. Robert Hutchings, Mrs. Cecil Poppy, Mrs. James Greenwood, and Joanne Zimmerman.

Completing the list are Mrs. Robert Cook, Mrs. James Weaver, Isabella Evans, and Mrs. Max Dajnowicz.

The group made plans for an installation dinner at Devon Gables.

Lodge Has Dance

The monthly dance and meeting of Pontiac Vasa Lodge No. 510 will be held at the Knights of Pythias Hall at 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

Committee members are Mr. and Mrs. Gustaf Perrson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stireman, and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Swanson.

Garden Group Has Meeting

Mrs. Doyle Hempton of Allen Lake Drive was hostess to the Silver Lake Branch, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, on Wednesday.

The technique of arranging dried plant material was demonstrated by Mrs. Arthur C. Arnold of the Waterford Branch, WNF&G Association.

Mrs. Fred Froede and Mrs. Benjamin D'Arcy assisted the hostess.

Talks of Soul, Industrial Tools

Everett A. Dell, minister of the Pontiac Unity Center will give a special lecture on "Industrial Tools Form Spiritual Truths" at the Jan. 23 meeting of the Women of Unity.

Mr. Dell was in the tool and die industry for many years before he became a minister. The theme of his informal talk will be the similarity between the making of auto parts and the making of better mental habits.

The women are planning refreshments for the fellowship hour following the meeting. Husbands and friends are invited to attend this special January meeting.

Cerebral Palsy Meeting Topic

Mrs. F. W. Schilling, of Ann Arbor, director of the Detroit Cerebral Palsy Center, discussed the disease at the Monday evening meeting of Xi Beta Theta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority.

Mrs. Ivan Bauman opened her Wyman Street home for the meeting.

Plans were discussed for the afternoon tea from 2 to 4 p.m. Jan. 19 at the First Federal Savings and Loan Building. The tea will honor two new chapters.

Group Will Meet

The January meeting of the Highland Estates Extension Study Group will be held Monday at the Loch Leven Road home of Mrs. B. G. Pritchett.

A demonstration of mouth to mouth respiration will be given by the Pontiac Fire Department.

The Luther Whitings of Allerton Street announce the engagement of their daughter Joann Jones to Airman 3.C. Jim L. Teague, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Teague, also of Allerton Street.

Local Clubs Install '64 Leaders

Mizpah Temple No. 7, Pythian Sisters, and Fellowship Lodge No. 277, Knights of Pythias, installed officers Tuesday in Fellowship Lodge Hall at the temple.

Conducting the Pythian Sisters' installation were Mrs. Karl Erickson, mistress of ceremonies; Mrs. Fred Wheeler, grand chief; Mrs. Lewis Ellis, grand senior and Mrs. Milton Probert, grand manager.

★ ★ ★

Taking office were Mrs. George Gleason, most excellent chief; Mrs. Erickson, excellent senior; Mrs. Geraldine Janes, excellent junior; Mrs. Dale Payne, manager; Mrs. Harry Harrington, secretary and Mrs. George Brinkman, treasurer.

★ ★ ★

Others are Mrs. William Barrette, Mrs. Clarence Mahaffy, Mrs. Reino Perkio and Mrs. Olive Carpenter.

GUESTS

Among the guests were Past Grand Chief, Mrs. William Whally, currently senior supreme representative, and Mr. Whally.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Adelbert Ayers, Mrs. Elleray Thomas and Mrs. William Cowie.

Red Cross Slates First Aid Course

A standard course in first aid instruction will open at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Oakland County Chapter House of the American Red Cross on Franklin Boulevard.

★ ★ ★

The course will consist of five two-hour classes taught on successive Tuesday evenings by Robert Owens.

★ ★ ★

Certificates will be issued to those completing the course and the only charge will be the cost of the textbook.

While this course will cover the standard Red Cross first aid instruction, it is specifically planned to meet requirements of those interested in skiing, skating and other winter sports.

Courses in advanced first aid will follow at an early date.

★ ★ ★

The general public is invited to participate by calling the Oakland County Chapter for advance registration.

Asian Nations Seek Accord

Indonesia, Malaysia May Settle Discord

MANILA, Philippines (AP)—A high-level meeting with Malaysian officials to find a peaceful solution to the dispute between Malaysia and Indonesia is emerging as the goal of current talks between Indonesian President Sukarno and Philippine President Diosdado Macapagal, highly placed sources indicated today.

The sources, who refused to be identified, said the Philippines and Indonesia do not regard the present situation as an insurmountable obstacle to revival of Maphilindo, the association that Indonesia and the Philippines formed with Malaya last summer before it became the nucleus of the Malaysian Federation.

The sources said there was agreement in the current talks that the door should be left open for the inclusion of Malaysia in Maphilindo and for the possible admission of such other Asian countries as Thailand, Cambodia, Laos and Burma.

PEACEFUL SOLUTION

The Philippine and Indonesian delegations issued a communique today promising to seek a peaceful solution to the dispute with Malaysia. There was no indication, however, that Sukarno is prepared to abandon his anti-Malaysian campaign without concessions from the new federation.

One of Sukarno's chief complaints against Malaysia has been that Britain retains military bases in its former territories.

Didn't Hit Right Target

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Eileen O'Neill obtained an annulment Wednesday from big game hunter William D. Holmes afer telling Superior Court that their marriage was kissless.

Miss O'Neill, 24, said their honeymoon was a three-month tiger hunt in India. The setting was romantic, she said, but Holmes wasn't.

The actress married Holmes, 37, a movie director-producer, Sept. 29, 1961.

"THE RUNNING MAN"

It Is in New Movie

Can the H-Bomb Be Funny?

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — Can the H-bomb be funny?

A lot of people may not think so, and hence may pass up Stanley Kubrick's new film, Dr. Strangeloeve, er: How I Learned to Stop Worrying and Love the Bomb." It may be their loss. Despite its arch title, the film is one of the wildest satires in recent times.

THOMAS

That doesn't mean that "Dr. Strangelove etc." is an unqualified success. Some of its humor is misdirected and the actors sometimes get out of hand. But when its aim is ontarget, whammo!

The film starts out eerily with the camera advancing over a carpet of clouds through which juts a mountain peak. Under this eternal shroud in the arctic, the narrator ominously intones, the Russians are working on the ultimate weapon, the doomsday bomb. The musical background is a syrupy rendition of "Try A Little Tenderness."

Then the mad saga begins. A psychotic air force general (Sterling Hayden) cracks up and sends a fleet of bombers with their deadly cargo toward the Soviet Union. The general is the only person who knows the code that can retrieve the bombers, and he isn't telling it.

MOTEL TRYST

The commanding Air Force general (George C. Scott) is roused from a motel tryst to attend a meeting with the President and other high officials in the war room. The interplay becomes more ludicrous and the tension mounts until—well, I won't tip the ending. But I will say that the background music is another syrupy number, "We'll Meet Again."

The tone of the satire is demonstrated by the character names. Hayden is Gen. Jack D. Ripper, Scott (who purposely overacts but gets a little out of hand) is Gen. Buck Turgidson and Keenan Wynn plays Gen. Bat Guano.

★ ★ ★

The Kubrick touch is more of the sledgehammer than the stiletto variety, and the results are devastating. Nothing is spared; the monolithic military, the bewildered civilian officials, the double-dealing Russians, all are equal victims in the nightmarish comedy.

Peter Sellers displays his gift of mimicry in three leading roles: 1. Group Capt. Mandrake, a British officer who tries to dissuade Gen. Ripper; 2. President Muffley, the Adlai Stevenson-like chief executive; 3. Dr. Strangelove, a German scientist working for the Americans. The latter is a classic.

"Dr. Strangelove" is an audacious effort that will enrage many, especially the far right, and dismay some, perhaps our allies. Others may find it the most effective piece of social comment on the screen in years.

Junior Editors Quiz on HAIR COMB

QUESTION: What was the origin of the hair comb?

ANSWER: The use of the hair comb to smooth out and beautify unruly hair goes far back in human history.

Though we don't know exactly who first discovered combs, we find them, made of wood, bone or horn, in the dwellings which prehistoric men built along the shores of Swiss lakes about 5000 years ago.

The Greeks, Romans and Egyptians made beautiful combs, using close-grained boxwood and also ivory. A comb of this period, as shown, looks strikingly modern.

In Asia, combs were frequently made out of bamboo, or buffalo horn, as shown in the comb from New Guinea.

The most dramatic use of the hair comb is undoubtedly in the huge ornamental combs of Spain, which Spanish ladies love to place in the back of the head so they tower up into the air; then flowers are put in front of them and the elaborate lace shawl called a "mantilla" is draped over the top, producing a most romantic effect.

Such combs are usually of tortoise shell. Modern American combs are generally made of synthetic plastic materials.

FOR YOU TO DO: Put a piece of tissue paper over a comb and sing into it, with your lips touching the paper. Your vibrating lips will vibrate the paper producing many queer and interesting sounds.

Ike, Truman Dispute Succession System

NEW YORK (AP)—Former Presidents Dwight D. Eisenhower and Harry S. Truman disagree over whether an elected or an appointed official should be next in line for the presidency after a vice president succeeds to the office.

The two men, along with former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N. Y., and House Speaker John McCormack, discussed the complexities of presidential succession in a series of filmed interviews, televised last night by the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Eisenhower said that when a vice president succeeds to the office of president on the latter's death, the next in line for the top job should be the secretary of state, an appointed official.

★ ★ ★

This was the system until 1947 when the law was changed with the backing of then President Truman.

HOUSE SPEAKER

Under the change, still in effect, next in line of succession after the vice president is the speaker of the House, followed by the president pro-tem of the Senate, both elected officials.

Truman said he did not believe that any president should have the right to appoint his successor, as he would have if the secretary of state was second in line. He said he thought the successor should be a man who holds an elective office.

"The speaker of the House," he said, "has been a member of the House for a good long time . . . and when he's elected speaker he comes more nearly being elected by the country at large . . ."

Truman said an even better method would be to have the Electoral College fill the job of vice president after the latter succeeds to the presidency.

Nixon agreed. He said the vice president who becomes president should be authorized to convene the Electoral College within 30 days to fill the vacancy.

★ ★ ★

Both Nixon and Eisenhower disagreed with a proposal by Keating that two vice presidents be elected at four-year intervals. Nixon said that would downgrade the office.

★ ★ ★

Eisenhower said his only reservation about having a cabinet member succeed to the presidency would be a situation where the cabinet member has more than one year to serve as president. In that case, he said, it might be advisable to hold a special national election.

Tour Brings Chou Back to Africa

TUNIS (AP) — Chinese Premier Chou En-lai returns to Africa today to collect the first dividend of his current tour — Tunisia's recognition of the Peking regime.

Chou interrupted his tour of Africa nine days ago to visit Albania, Red China's only ally in Communist Europe. He will spend two days in Tunisia, then go to Ghana, Mali, Guinea and East Africa.

Red China and Tunisia announced jointly on Dec. 27 that Tunisia would establish diplomatic relations with Peking when Chou came to Tunis.

Tunisia's recognition will boost to 12 the number of Red Chinese diplomatic missions in Africa. At present 15 African governments recognize the Nationalist Chinese government.

NO BIG CHANGE

Western diplomats do not expect any radical change in Tunisia's attitude, which generally has been pro-Western and particularly pro-American. U.S. aid to Tunisia averages about $60 million a year.

Tunisia's plan to recognize Red China is explained as "political realism" on the part of this North African nation, which is officially pledged to a policy of nonalignment.

President Habib Bourguiba wants to "normalize" the relations between the two nations, official sources say.

Tunisia twice voted in favor of Red China's admission to the United Nations and has sent several exploratory cultural and trade missions to Peking.

French Announce Nuclear Test Plans

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — French Defense Minister Pierre Messmer says his government will hold nuclear tests on an uninhabited Pacific atoll 700 miles from Tahiti some time next year.

Speaking at a stopover here en route by plane to Tahiti, Messmer said yesterday France is willing to discuss the tests with Australia and New Zealand but is determined to proceed.

Detroit River Separates Pair in Love

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Erno Nagy, a former Hungarian Air Force pilot who now lives here, is winning his battle to wed a girl he met in Germany but the Detroit River remains a barrier between their lives together.

Nagy, who is 28, will wed Erika Waczowicz in Windsor, Ont., Saturday but the future Mrs. Nagy will not be able to enter the United States.

The couple met while Nagy was serving in the U.S. Army in Germany.

★ ★ ★

The international legal complications would have been resolved if the couple had been married while Nagy was a soldier, but they decided to await his discharge.

When he tried to arrange for his fiancee's transportation to the United States, Nagy learned she was born in a section of Germany that now is considered Poland and whose residents are not eligible to enter the United States.

FLEW TO CANADA

Miss Waczowicz flew to Canada last week but how long she will have to wait to enter the United States after the marriage has not been determined.

★ ★ ★

Nagy came to the United States in 1959 and must wait until November to be eligible for American citizenship. He served two years in the Hungarian air force before fleeing during the Hungarian revolution. Shortly after arriving in Toledo he was drafted into the U.S. Army for two more years.

Italy Textile Workers Go on One-Day Strike

ROME (AP) — Italy's 400,000 textile workers went on a one-day strike today, while 65,000 metal workers in the Milan area walked out for three hours.

★ ★ ★

The strikes were called by Italy's three main trade unions, Communist and non-Communist. They charged employers had failed to comply with provisions of a national contract agreed on last year.

Leader Dead; Austria Weeps

Independence Fighter After World War II

VIENNA (AP) — Austria went into mourning today for former Chancellor Julius Raab, who led it back to independence after the Nazi and postwar occupation.

Ill with diabetes and a liver complaint for several years, Raab died yesterday. He was 72.

Vienna Radio canceled all light programs and played only classical music. Black flags were hoisted on official and private buildings.

★ ★ ★

Austrian newspapers devoted their front pages to Raab, a conservative, praising him as the "freedom chancellor."

TREATY CREDIT

"The conclusion of the Austrian State Treaty and with it Austria's freedom is mostly to be credited to Raab's political instinct and cleverness," said the independent Kronenzeitung.

The independent Kurier said it was doubtful that Austria would have gained full freedom in 1955 without Raab.

The funeral was tentatively scheduled for Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

Raab entered politics after World War I and was minister of trade and transport when the Nazis took over Austria in 1938, interrupting his career.

BACK TO POLITICS

He returned to politics after World War II with the Soviet Union occupying the eastern third of Austria and the United States, Britain and France the Rest.

Raab became chancellor in 1953 and headed the government until 1961.

Taking advantage of a softening in Soviet policy after Stalin's death in 1953, Raab pressed for a restoration of Austrian independence. The Soviets agreed to independence but demanded that Austria be kept militarily neutral.

★ ★ ★

Raab agreed but kept Austria a political Friend of the West.

★ ★ ★

Raab had been in poor health since his retirement, and the illness was believed to have contributed to his defeat for the presidency by Adolf Schaerf, a Socialist, last March.

Package Deal Set by Distant Parish

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Meeting the problems of parishioners who live as much as 14 miles from the church, St. John's Methodist Church has started a day-long "package deal" of study, worship and fellowship, along with a Sunday dinner.

★ ★ ★

The program starts at the 9 a.m. worship services and continues through 2:30 p.m., with the church offering a noon meal at $1.25 for adults, 50 cents for children and $2.50 for a family.

★ ★ ★

The schedule includes church school, children's choir rehearsal, Youth Fellowship, pastor's period, children's story hour, workshops and other meetings in addition to services.

Recreation Paradise Eyed Near Detroit

LANSING (AP) — Legislation was introduced Wednesday for a $30 million project that would turn Peach Island in the Detroit River into a recreation paradise.

Sens. Stanley Thayer, R-Ann Arbor, and Charles Youngblood, D-Detroit, sponsored a bill seeking state permission to fill in 34.4 acres of submerged land in the river.

★ ★ ★

The property is adjacent to Peach Island and is on the U.S. side of the river. Peach Island is on the Canadian side.

Visitors to the proposed artificial island would reach it by cable car from the Detroit riverfront. A bridge linking the new island with Peach Island also would be built.

THREE OWNERS

The recreation island would be owned by Emanuel J. Harris, of Detroit, Robert Jacob of Dayton, Ohio, and his brother, Richard, of Detroit, formerly partners in an investment firm. They are part owners of the Book Building in Detroit.

The trio have purcsased the island property from the Hiram Walker Distillery.

★ ★ ★

Harris said the project is his idea. He is an investments executive. Robert Jacob heads the Dayco rubber firm and his brother is president of Cadillac Plastic, a Dayco subsidiary.

★ ★ ★

Harris showed lawmakers a brochure depicting the proposed recreation island. The brochure terms the plan "an entirely new recreational concept," and "the newest and largest harbor proposed on Michigan's water highway."

ISLAND FACILITIES

The island would have facilities for canoeing, water skiing, instructional skiing, bowling, tobogganing, ice-skating, tennis, golf, fishing, and horseback riding, Harris said.

It also would have an outdoor ampitheatre for concerts, movies and stage plays.

★ ★ ★

Harris said some 750 persons would be employed on the island.

Enabling legislation also was introduced in the house Wednesday. It was sponsored by Reps. Robert Waldron, R-Grosse Pointe, Paul Chandler, R-Livonia, Michael O'Brien, D-Detroit, and William Baird, D-Detroit.

Seems Like the Bull Ring

AUBURNDALE, Fla. (AP) — Fourteen wild bulls which broke out of their pen created a day of pandemonium here.

★ ★ ★

Highlights included: a bull charging a police cruiser, which swerved out of the way; another chasing a city councilman up a street; a lady whacking a bull with a broom because he was in her flower bed, and a red-shirted youngster running home to put on a less provocative shirt so he could join in the various chases that developed.

'Solemates' a New Fad

NEW YORK (AP)—A new trend in dormitory wear for coeds are "solemates"—short, white wool socks with the painted face of a boy on one foot and a girl on the other—designed to make more attractive the girl who insists on studying lying on her stomach on the floor with her feet in the air.

★ ★ ★

Solemates are a natural collector of autographs and less confusing than the fad of elementary school hats with a face on the back of the hat, popular a few years ago.

About OK! Prof Probes Its Origin

NEW YORK (AP) — The origin and history of the expression "O.K." are revealed by a Columbia University professor of English in an article in "American Speech, a Quarterly of Linguistic Usage," published by the Columbia University Press.

First recorded in a Boston newspaper in 1839, it stood for "Oll Korrect," following a current fad for using initials, Prof. Allen Walker reports.

But its popularity really started during the presidential elections in 1840.

★ ★ ★

The "Democratic O.K. Club" was formed in New York to support Martin Van Buren's drive for reelection.

HIS BIRTHPLACE

The initials stood for "Old Kinderhook," Van Buren's birthplace near Albany, N.Y.

"The slogan 'O.K.' became known all over the country and the expression was catapulted into national use," the writer observes.

Read has drawn his conclusions from evidence culled from scores of newspapers, journals, letters, magazines, diaries, pamphlets and other historical sources.

Rural Living Up, but Farmers Down

WASHINGTON (AP)—The trend for the past 10 years has been for the rural population to increase while the number of farmers decreases, a trend expected to continue for at least the next 20 years.

★ ★ ★

Figures show that in 1950 rural population (in thousands) was 54,230 and farm population 23,000, or 42 per cent; in 1960, rural population was 54,054 with farm population 15,635, or 29 per cent; and by 1980 rural population is expected to be 60,000 with farm population 9,000 to 12,000, or 15 to 20 per cent.

British Start Tourist Drive

LONDON (AP) — With the Olympic Games in Tokyo and the World's Fair in New York offering serious competition, the British Travel and Holidays Association already has launched an extensive campaign to coax foreign visitors to come to Britain in 1964 and help celebrate the 400th anniversary of Shakespeare's birth.

★ ★ ★

Tourism is Britian's fourth most important export industry and its biggest dollar-making one.

★ ★ ★

The campaign hopes to persuade visitors to stagger their tours, by urging more to come in early summer and autumn, rather than all in July and August.

Taking No Chances on College Days

MIDDLEBURY, Vt. (AP)—Nathan Hall Wakefield has his application in at Middlebury College well in advance.

At the age of one month he applied for membership in the Class of 1984.

"I am the great-great grandson of Nathan Hall, Class of 1861," the letter to the college said, "son of L. H. Wakefield, Class of 1957, and cousin of Lee Hall, Class of 1966.

★ ★ ★

Please accept my application as a freshman at Middlebury College, Class of 1984."

Snags Sharks for Restaurant

SUMMERLAND KEY, Fla. (AP) — Floyd Flexon uses his automobile horn to help him catch sharks.

★ ★ ★

He strings a bait line across a channel near his home and connects it to the horn. When the horn blows, it means a shark is on the hook.

★ ★ ★

Flexon sells the sharks to a restaurant which features them as an exotic menu item.

★ ★ ★

More and more customers are acquiring a taste for shark and the restaurant owner says he can use all Flexon can catch.

Chiang, Japan Near Break

Return of Defector Strains Relations

TOKYO — Chou Hung-ching, a defector from Red China who had second thoughts, sailed for home today. His deportation has strained relations between Japan and Nationalist China almost to the breaking point.

After three months of indecision, the 44-year-old interpreter for a Red Chinese hydraulics mission sailed on a Japanese freighter for Dairen. After defecting on Oct. 7, he said he wanted to go to Formosa but changed his mind and decided to go back to the mainland.

The Chinese Nationalists charge the Japanese government let pro-Peking Japanese and Chinese Communists brainwash Chou.

★ ★ ★

The Nationalist government has recalled the four top officials from its Tokyo embassy, reducing it to a staff of 10, and threatens to close it. The Taipei regime has indicated a total break might follow if Japan took similar steps in Taipei.

CROWDS DEMONSTRATE

Crowds demonstrated outside the Japanese embassy and the residence of the Japanese ambassador in Taipei today. Police guards were strengthened to check any violence.

The Nationalists implied the government of Premier Hayato Ikeda was influenced by a desire for increased trade with Peking. The Japanese retorted that their only consideration was a sincere desire to follow Chou's wishes.

Ikeda is planning to send elder statesman Shigeru Yoshida, a personal friend of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, to Taipei on a peace mission. But word from Taipei was that his mission would have little chance of success.

Japan presently exports more than $100 million worth of goods to Formosa. Exports to Red China are less than $50 million a year, although the Red Chinese and the Japanese under a private trade agreement signed last year a plan to expand their trade to more than $100 million a year.

Phonics Method 'Sold' Over U. S.

HONOLULU (AP) — Mrs. Romalda Bishop Spalding believes that writing, spelling, speaking and reading should be taught as a single subject and has devised a method to do so.

Her method is based on phonics, which teaches students the sounds of the language and the alphabetic letters which produce those sounds.

She has lectured throughout the United States on the method, and it is being used today in private schools in Texas, New York, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Ohio, Louisiana, California, Washington and Alaska.

Patriarch Athenagoras Called Back to Istanbul

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — Patriarch Athenagoras I has received an urgent call to return to Istanbul, his headquarters, and will leave Amman today, a spokesman says.

Athenagoras, spiritual leader of the world's Orthodox Christians, arrived in Amman from Jerusalem yesterday. He came to the Holy Land for meetings with Pope Paul VI of the Roman Catholic Church last Sunday and Monday. There was no elaboration on the call from Istanbul.

Prison Needs Whip

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — A public whipping is scheduled for Jan. 28 at New Castle County Correctional Institution near here, but if it comes off, Warden Raymond W. Anderson says he'll have to borrow a whip.

The prison has a whipping post but Anderson said he gave the whip in 1960 to Chesley H. Looney, then director of the state prison system. Now no one can find it, said Anderson.

Talmadge R. Balser has been sentenced to 10 lashes and 15-years for robbery. His attorney Wednesday asked Superior Court Judge Stewart Lynch, who ordered the whipping, to set aside that part of the sentence.

Court observers said Balser's attorney, Edward W. Schall, apparently was trying to obtain a delay until he could appeal to the State Supreme Court.

There have been no whippings in Delaware in more than a decade.

Trapped Miner Only Wanted Out

MACKAY, Idaho (AP)—"Never mind the food and water," said Stanley Johnson who had been trapped by a cave-in 1,158 feet underground, "just get me the hell out of here!"

So his rescuers, who had thought he might want something to eat after 27 hours in a 12-by-6 foot mine pocket, got him out.

★ ★ ★

They took him to a hospital in nearby Arco where the doctors looked him over, gave him food and sent him to bed.

He was cold and somewhat weakened—the temperature in the pocket was around 40 degrees—but otherwise okay.

NOT MUCH TO SAY

Custer County Sheriff Glen Reed, who drove Johnson, 38, a bachelor, to the hospital said, "He didn't have much to say. He was pretty cold but had enough room to keep moving around in there so he could keep from freezing."

Justice of the Peace Art Wright of Mackay, who talked with Johnson when the miner was pulled to the surface at 4:20 Wednesday afternoon, said, "He was in good shape. About the only thing wrong was he was extremely cold.

★ ★ ★

"They got him out by drilling a series of holes through a petition from another shaft, then chipping out the area between the holes. They couldn't blast because of the cave-in danger.

★ ★ ★

"He was trapped around one o'clock yesterday (Tuesday) afternoon. He and Harold Lambert were drilling into the bottom of a stope—an old ore pocket—but didn't know it was that close.

★ ★ ★

"When they hit bottom, tons of fill came down. It trapped Harold for about 30 minutes, but he dug out. Stanley couldn't—there was too much.

Condition of Nehru Improves

BHUBANESWAR, India (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru is making satisfactory progress, a medical bulletin said today.

The 74-year-old Indian leader, who was ordered to bed early Tuesday, spent a restful night, the bulletin added. His doctors say he is suffering from high blood pressure and fatigue.

The disclosure by his physicians yesterday that he had suffered a slight weakness in his left arm and leg raised speculation Nehru may have had a slight stroke. There was no confirmation of this, however, and the weakness was reported improving.

★ ★ ★

There was still no word whether Nehru would appear at today's opening of his ruling Congress party's 1964 convention here.

RESTED IN BED

Nehru rested in bed this morning while doctors remained continuously in attendance. The doctors wanted to fly the prime minister back to New Delhi today, sources said, but he apparently wes insisting on remaining a little longer.

Observers suggested that Nehru feared his departure would demoralize the party convention.

His only child, Mrs. Indira Gandhi, reportedly remained with Nehru most of the time. She told newsmen her father was all right except for high blood pressure.

★ ★ ★

A specialist in New Delhi who has been receiving reports on Nehru's blood pressure said the weakness on his left side may only involve an uneven rise in blood pressure there.

Timber 2nd to Corn as Top Farm Product

Trading Fairly Active

Stock Market Holds Steady

NEW YORK (AP) — The six-day stock market advance stalled early this afternoon around the level of its latest all-time peak. Trading was fairly active.

Prices were mixed, with most changes small.

★ ★ ★

If Wall Street showed any surprise, it was that prices did not dip in a normal spell of general profit taking. Instead, the list remained on an even keel.

At noon, The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was unchanged at 289.2—the historic closing high it established yesterday. Industrials were off .1, rails rose .1 and utilities were unchanged.

SELECTIVE GAINS

Selective gains among motors, oils, rails, office equipments, drugs and tobaccos were the upside features.

There were losers in the same groups. Steels continued to decline on balance as these stocks, highly favored in brokerage house comment, backed away on profit taking.

A report that Ingersoll-Rand has reached agreement to acquire Pendleton Tool resulted in an accumulation of buy orders which delayed the opening of Pendleton. It rose 7¼ to 25 on an initial block of 9,500 shares, later trimming a point from the rise. Ingersoll-Rand fell nearly a point.

Chrysler held a gain of about a point, trimming its best price. General Motors gained another fraction.

Columbia Gas raised its dividend a cent-and-a-half and the stock edged up.

AMERICAN EXCHANGE

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were mixed in moderate trading.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. Government bonds retreated in reaction to the Treasury's new financing plans.

Third Kidney Transplant Made by Denver Team

DENVER (UPI) — A history-making team of Denver surgeons announced yesterday they had performed their third animal-to-human dual kidney transplant, the second such operation this week.

The pioneering team of surgeons, based at the Colorado General and Veteran's Administration hospitals, said all three patients were in good or satisfactory condition.

The latest patient, identified only as a 16-year-old boy, received two kidneys from a baboon Wednesday during a six-hour operation at Colorado General.

★ ★ ★

Doctors would not release additional identification or details of the case.

OTHER PATIENTS

A 40-year-old man who received two baboon kidneys Monday and a 45-year-old man who underwent a similar operation Dec. 20 were reported doing "very well" by a hospital spokesman.

The operation Wednesday was the fifth animal-to-human kidney transplant known. The other two patients, both operated on in New Orleans, died.

The first of the five, a woman, received the kidneys of a Rhesus monkey Oct. 8.

★ ★ ★

The kidneys ceased to function, however, and had to be removed. She died later.

SECOND SUBJECT

The second patient, also in New Orleans, was 44-year-old Jefferson Davis, a dock worker.

Davis spurred the hopes of transplant medicine after receiving two kidneys from a 90-pound chimpanzee Nov. 5 and recovering enough to leave the hospital by the end of December.

But Monday, just as the Colorado team of doctors was preparing for its second baboon kidney transplant to the 40-year-old man, Davis died in New Orleans of pneumonia.

★ ★ ★

The Denver surgeons also have performed 51 human-to-human kidney transplants, a successful spleen transplant, and five of the only six liver transplants ever attempted in humans.

They also have conducted dual human-to-human kidney transplants, using kidneys from cadavers, as have doctors in Arkansas.

One of the dual kidney recipients, Mrs. Deritha J. Heline, 42, of Jefferson County, Ohio, died Dec. 14 at the VA Hospital, one week after she received the kidneys taken from a person who had died of a heart attack.

The Denver doctors began their transplant operations among other than identical twins in November 1962.

★ ★ ★

The first patient—a 12-year-old boy who recieved a kidney from his mother — made a virtually complete recovery.

★ ★ ★

All of the liver transplant patients have died. The longest any survived surgery was 23 days, and 19 of the 51 kidney transplant patients have died.

Headless Peter, a drummer boy who was robbed and beheaded a few centuries ago, is said to appear regularly at Dover Castle, England, beating a ghostly tattoo as he marches through the corridors.

Opening lead—♦ Q

By OSWALD JACOBY

I play with a great many partners during the course of a year. Invariably they ask if I have any set rules for them to follow and I them this, "Any time you double your opponents when you are going to be on lead have your mind made up as to what you are going to lead."

JACOBY

There is a lot of experience behind this request. Occassionally you get a chance to double a contract that you know you will set several tricks.

In many more instances the double is likely to be a close one and a bad lead may allow declarer to romp home. So, in close situations be sure you have a good lead before you double.

Of course, this does not mean that you should double only because you have a good lead at your disposal yet that good lead sure is a help.

South had one of those 18 point hands that is really too strong for a one no-trump opening and when West overcalled with two hearts, South felt impelled to try three diamonds.

West's double was really inspired. He had two trump tricks, a fine lead, a stout heart and little else, but he felt sure that East was going to show up with some nice tickets.

West was right on all counts. East was loaded and the trump opening pulverized the unfortunate declarer. Even though dummy came through with two club tricks South had to lose two spades, one heart, two trumps and a club for 500 points minus.

What do you do?

A—Bid three no-trump only. There are too many holes in your hand to warrant any further advance toward a slam or even toward five diamonds.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding three diamonds your partner bids three hearts over your three clubs. What do you do now?

Joins Police Search for Son

ATHENS, Ala. (AP)—An off-duty state trooper donned his uniform to take part in a search for his son, wanted for arson.

Police Chief John Sandlin reported Wednesday that Don Bradford, 16, was charged with two counts of second-degree arson.

He said the youth admitted setting fire to two animal clinics, but "doesn't know why he did it."

★ ★ ★

When officers told Earl Bradford, a state trooper, Tuesday that his son was wanted for questioning, he asked for an immediate arrest.

And when they were unable to find Don, the father put on his uniform and joined the search.

Bradford was spared the unpleasant duty of arresting his son, however, as other officers located him.

Phone Service Hard to Get

LIBERTY, Ky. (AP) — There's a telephone line within 20 feet of the French Toms home at Labascus but the former Casey County sheriff said he'd tried unsuccessfully for five years to get a phone in the house.

★ ★ ★

The line, he said, was overloaded already with party-liners.

This prompted Toms to take his complaint to the Casey County News. He wrote:

". . . We are supposed to be able to get a phone as soon as somebody drops out. Or maybe a better statement would be when somebody drops dead.

"The trouble is that all my neighbors are healthy, and Mrs. Toms and I probably will die before they do. After all, I'm 69 and Mrs. Toms is 60."

"I cannot do it," Scottish-born Dr. Biezanek said, "because I am obliged in my conscience to do this work and also to remain a practicing Catholic.

PCH Taking Impressive Record to Flint

SPORTS

Shamrocks, Rams Battle for Second

The Rams of St. Frederick, with their hopes for a Northwest Parochial League title dimmed by the loss to Royal Oak St. Mary Tuesday, will entertain St. Michael tomorrow night on the Pontiac Central court.

The winner will move into second place in the loop race.

★ ★ ★

The Rams came from behind in their first meeting with the Shamrocks back in December to pull out a 65-59 victory, but the improving Mikemen have won four of their last five starts for a 4-3 league mark.

Elsewhere on the parochial slate, league - leading Royal Oak St. Mary travels to Orchard Lake St. Mary, and Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows will entertain Waterford Our Lady of Lakes.

St. Frederick (4-2) gave ROSM a battle Tuesday before falling 61-47, and the team played without the services of its high-scoring forward Lowry Holland.

Holland sprained an ankle in practice Monday, but coach Gene Wright said he expects to have him back in the lineup against St. Mike.

In six outings, Holland has ripped the nets for 134 points, good for a 22.3 average and sixth place on the Oakland County scoring list.

★ ★ ★

Center Mike Dean and forward Bob Peoples lend added scoring support to the team which has averaged 64 points a game in seven contests.

The Mikemen were hampered by foul troubles earlier in the season but this problem has diminished somewhat and they are now riding the crest of a three-game winning streak.

1-2 PUNCH

Mike Pope, a 6-4 center, and Rick Lavoie, at a forward post, give the Mikemen a good 1-2 scoring combination.

Lavoie is averaging 14.8 points a game and Pope is riding in 10th place on the scoring ladder with a mark of 19.7.

The Mikemen have a height advantage, but Holland offset this asset in their first encounter with his accurate outside shooting.

Orchard Lake St. Mary has been idle since December 17 and the long layoff might hamper the Eaglets in their return to action.

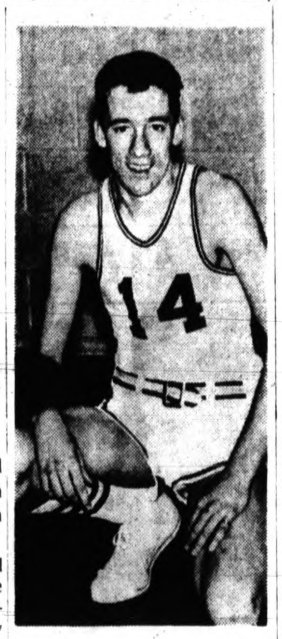

The Eaglets have chalked up wins over St. Agatha and WOLL in compiling a 2-2 league mark. Frank Rompel leads the squad in scoring with an average of 17.8 for five games.

★ ★ ★

WOLL's Lakers used a strong second-half rally Tuesday in knocking off St. Agatha and the victory broke the squad's seven-game losing streak.

FOLS is 3-3 in league play and was also the victim of some close decisions earlier in the season.

Bob Hart has averaged 13.5 points a game for the Lancers and Miles Kearney's mark is just over 10 a game.

Pontiac Press Photo

TOP SCORER — Lake Orion's Bruce Fritz, the team's leading scorer with an average of 16.2 for four contests, will be in the lineup tomorrow night when the Dragons play host to Warren Cousino.

Chiefs Favored Over Northern in SVC Scrap

State Rating, Loop Position at Stake in Friday Tilt

Pontiac Central's Chiefs can not afford to walk into the Wildanger Field House ambush they encountered in the final regular season game last season.

PCH will return to the court located behind Flint Northern High Friday night for a Saginaw Valley Conference basketball clash with the Vikings with its title hopes in danger.

As was the case last year, Central will be favored to defeat host Flint Northern. PCH had a nine-game winning streak, state rating, a 21-point early season victory over the Vikings and 10 consecutive wins over them when it stepped on the court.

All the Chiefs came back to Pontiac with was a 56-54 overtime loss.

Again PCH will go to Flint with state rating (fourth in the Associated Press Class A weekly poll) and a win streak (four in a row after a 65-64 loss in second game).

The only loss for PCH came at the hands of Flint Central in the previous visit to Flint this season.

THIRD PLACE

Added incentive for Flint Northern Friday night will be the opportunity to climb past Central into third place in the race with a victory.

The Vikings are 2-1 (3-1 overall) while PCH is 3-1 in the SVC. The two have met and conquered one common foe, Midland.

The Chemics were Northern's first victim this season, 71-57. Central handed Midland a 90-43 lesson in late December.

The Chiefs turned back archrival Pontiac Northern last Friday in the first start of the new year. Their Flint foe has not played a scheduled game since its only loss this season Dec. 20 at Saginaw — which currently leads the SVC.

Northern has only one letter winner on this year's team — Larry Mayfield, the captain. But it does have size and speed. The Vikings like to play a wide-open style of basketball.

Central coach Fred Zittel plans no changes in his starting lineup of Gerald Henry and Mel DeWalt at forwards, Jim Johnson at center, and Bill Morgan and Alvin Keel in the backcourt.

A 6:30 p. m. reserve contest will precede the varsity encounter Friday.

Huskies at Farmington for I-L Tilt

PNH Leading League Race

Falcons' Tall Line Poses Big Threat

Pontiac Northern may find the going difficult Friday when the Huskies try to get back on the winning basketball path at Farmington in an Inter-Lakes League game.

★ ★ ★

The Farmington gym has always caused the Huskies problems in the past.

A big Farmington front line poses another threat.

Although the Falcons have only a 3-5 over-all mark and are winless in two I-L starts, they are considered the league's spoilers.

PNH rides atop the loop with a 2-0 mark, but the Huskies were brought down to earth at Walled Lake before winning and finally had their record blotted by Pontiac Central last Friday.

Bob Lorenz, a well-built 6-2 forward, is the major scoring threat for the Falcons. His running mate up front, 6-3 Dave Schlack is averaging in double figures as is 6-8, 230-pound center Neil Warriner.

The guard situation has been giving coach Jack Quiggle some problems and this could prove to be Farmington's undoing against the favored Huskies.

SCORING ACE

Northern will send Roger Hayward, the county's second leading scorer with a 23.8 average, against the Falcons. He will be supported by strong scoring guards Jerry Reese and Mike Burklow.

Dick DeWeese, who turned in a steady performance against PCH, will probably start at one forward. Dean Souden and John Bailey are the frontrunners for the fifth slot.

If Bailey opens the game, Burklow will move to forward.

Walled Lake has been the only common foe.

The Falcons lost 79-77 in overtime while Northern had to rally from a 10-point halftime deficit to post a 73-63 win.

★ ★ ★

Farmington's height will have to be overcome by the Huskies. They couldn't cope with Central's rebounding. Big Hayward will have to show an improvement in this department.

Although not quite as aggressive under the boards as he could be, Warriner is a fair topper and can hit baskets from close in.

The only way any team is going to defeat Northern is by stopping the Huskies' fast break. Pontiac Central succeeded, now it will be Farmington's turn.

★ ★ ★

A victory for Farmington coupled with a Walled Lake triumph over Southfield would throw the four teams into a tie for first place.

Oakland A Showdown Set; Jockey for Position in W-O

The awaited basketball showdown in the Oakland A League comes Friday night when Troy invades Fitzgerald.

The teams are tied for first place with 4-0 records.

★ ★ ★

A scramble for third and fourth places in the Wayne-Oakland has developed and will continue Friday.

In other Oakland A games, Madison is at Avondale, Cousino plays at Lake Orion and Rochester goes to Clawson. Wayne-Oakland action has Clarkston at Clarenceville, Holly at Bloomfield Hills, West Bloomfield at Milford and Brighton at Northville.

The loser of the Troy-Fitzgerald contest will be alone in second place figuring a way to get revenge in a later rematch. All other O-A teams have two setbacks and appear out of the running.

Troy has downed all four of its opponents while the Spartans have rolled to a like number of wins against league foes after an opening loss to Eastern Michigan League power Hazel Park.

Lake Orion, now moving upward after a slow start, is expected to oust Cousino from a third place deadlock with the Dragons and Clawson.

BATTLE FOR 4TH

Avondale and Madison will be battling for the fourth spot with the visitors favored to outscore the Yellow Jackets. Avon's greatest problem has been scoring.

Winless Rochester is a definite underdog despite the high scoring efforts of Bruce McDonald who is averaging 22.7 points a game.

Clarkston and Bloomfield Hills are heavily favored to remain 1-2 in the Wayne-Oakland chase.

This enhances Northville's hopes of tying the Milford-West Bloomfield winner for third place. The Mustangs, who are definitely improving, are expected to handle last place Brighton with ease.

The real battle looms at Milford.

The Redskins have not lived up to their pre-season rating of at least an outside title threat. The Lakers, meanwhile, have shown signs of jelling.

City Cage Champs Open With Rec League Win

West Bloomfield Heating and Southwest Community Club began the city recreation American League basketball race last night with victories at Pontiac Northern.

★ ★ ★

West Bloomfield dumped Corr's Fuel & Oil, 76-63, while defending city champion Southwest took the Bachelors' Club, 76-71.

In Waterford Township recreation play, Lakeland Pharmacy slipped past Zilka Heating, 63-56, and Frushour & Struble Realty whipped Bill's Towing, 72-54.

In Pontiac Class D's opening night action, Cotton Billiards walloped St. Luke's Methodist, 70-35, while Victor Paint was a 57-55 winner over New Hope Baptist Church.

West Bloomfield pulled away from Corr's in the final period on the strong foul shooting of Don Fugate who hit six of seven.

SWCC built its winning margin in the third quarter against the Bachelors, after leading only 40-39 at halftime.

Lakeland Pharmacy led most of the way against Zilka although the Class A team had to go all out to beat the "B" foe. Stu Thorell and Tom Nickman each had 16 for the winners.

Jerry Lewis and Dick Hobson had 18 apiece and Dick Shipman 15 in the first victory by Frushour & Struble. The winners scored 21 straight points to break the game wide open in the third quarter. Joe Umphrey led Bill's Towing with 18 and Ron Hetherington had 17.

Bullets Riddle Pistons Again by 106-99

DETROIT (UPI) — It's excuseable that the Detroit Pistons can't beat the Boston Celtics — no other team does much of a job of that, either.

★ ★ ★

But certainly the Pistons should be able to beat the Baltimore Bullets.

However, they couldn't do it again last night and fell a little deeper in the western division cellar by losing a 106-99 game to the Bullets last night.

Detroit is now 0-4 against the Bullets and they are the only team besides the Celtics the Pistons have been unable to beat this season.

The Pistons jumped off to a 41-25 lead in the second period but then were outscored 17-1 and fell behind.

Cinci Manager Under Xrays

SEATTLE (AP) — Cincinnati Reds' Manager Fred Hutchinson is undergoing daily radiological treatments for lung cancer.

He had the first one Wednesday. His brother, Dr. William Hutchinson, a Seattle surgeon, said there would be no announcement on the progress of the treatment for some time.

★ ★ ★

"It will take a month before we know what's happening," Dr. Hutchinson said.

Hutchinson, 44, will be treated at the Tumor Institute at Swedish Hospital daily for a week, and then there will be an observation period. Further treatments may follow.

UNIQUE IN U.S.

The institute director, Dr. Orless Wildermuth, said Hutchinson would undergo two-million volt Xrays from a Van De Graaf generator while in a pressure chamber. The treatment is unique in the United States, but commonly used in Great Britain and Australia.

★ ★ ★

"We don't want surgery now. We don't think it's the proper time," Dr. Hutchinson said.

The popular baseball figure said he noticed slight swelling in his neck just before Christmas, but at first thought it was only an infection.

★ ★ ★

He said it was like having the rug jerked away when he was told it was cancer.

Walled Lake, Oxford Set First Place Goals

Walled Lake and Oxford will be aiming for first places when they play the leaders of their respective leagues Friday night.

★ ★ ★

Kettering, frontrunner in the Tri-County League, will invade Oxford. Southfield, tied for first in the Inter-Lakes with Pontiac Northern, hosts Walled Lake.

Waterford Township High will be home for its I-L skirmish with Berkley. The loser will be left in last place.

L'Anse Creuse will be trying to win at Romeo while hoping that Oxford can triumph thus leaving the Lancers and Wildcats tied for first place. Lapeer entertains Flint Kearsley in a nonleaguer.

Walled Lake, 1-4 overall, has not lived up to expectation. But the Vikings are 1-1 in league play and could join the four-way jam for first place if Farmington triumphs.

SURPRISE TEAM

Southfield's rangy team, 2-0 in the I-L, has been a surprise quintet. However, the Blue Jays' league victims have been over Berkley and Waterford, the two bottom teams.

Unbeaten Kettering will be heavily favored to up its record to 5-0 and its league mark to 2-0.

The Captains have played much stronger competition than the Wildcats who are 1-1 in league action and 2-2 for the season.

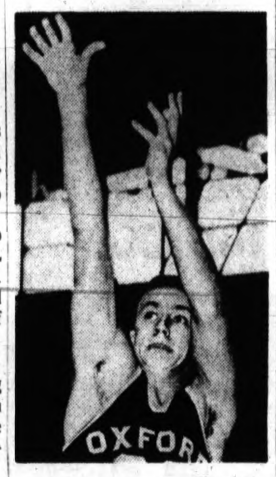

Although Romeo has lost its only league start while L'Anse is 1-1, the Bulldogs will be favored. Playing before the home fans will be the biggest advantage.

Waterford's Skippers are gaining experience with each game and could make Berkley their first league win.

Coach Bob Taylor has been using several players in various combinations meaning that all are gaining plenty of game experience.

The Skippers' main problem has been sustaining rallies.

They had both Lapeer and Farmington on the run, but bogged down because of ball handling errors when the go-ahead points were within their grasp. This cost them close defeats.

Pontiac Press Photo

PLAY MAKER—One of the leading scorers on Oxford's cage squad is senior "Buzz" Cork, a 5-7 guard, who is averaging 14.0 points a game. He will be in action at home tomorrow against Kettering.

'Y' Cagers Postponed

All games in the YMCA Church League's senior division schedule Friday have been postponed, league director John Miller announced Wednesday night.

Spartan Swimmers Run Mark to 3-2

Warren Fitzgerald Spartans boosted their non-league record to 3-2 Wednesday by defeating Ferndale's swimmers, 59-46.

One varsity record was tied in the meet. Fitzgerald's Dan Robertson posted a 2:19.8 timing in the 200-yard individual medley to put his name on the school record book.

The winners' Bill Jones was the only double winner, taking first in the 200 and the 400-yard freestyle events. Ferndale could only place two point winners in three of the 11 events.

SUMMARY OF EVENTS

200 medley—Fern. (Kiddle, White, Loncar and Shank) 1:52.6.
200 freestyle—Bill Jones, Fitz.; 2:03.8.

Hockey Rained Out

The Waterford Township Recreation Department ice hockey league has postponed its schedule for tonight at North Side Community Club due to poor playing conditions caused by rain.

The Saturday morning schedule is still valid.

Needs Votes to Move A's

Can Finley Reach First Base?

CHICAGO (AP) — There are those who think Charles O. Finley doesn't have a chance even to reach first base, let alone steal home with a whole baseball team.

But the 45-year-old Chicago insurance executive still insists he is moving his Kansas City Athletics to Louisville, where he has signed a conditional two-year contract with the state of Kentucky.

He needs eight votes to approve the shift when the 10 American League club owners, or their representatives, meet with league President Joe Cronin in New York next Thursday.

The session is called to mediate Finley's stadium lease dispute with Kansas City.

Various surveys indicate Finley may get only one vote of approval—his own.

Arthur C. Allyn, president of the Chicago White Sox, thinks Finley will be dispossess of his franchise.

★ ★ ★

"By signing a contract with the state of Kentucky, he has committed a breach of trust with Kansas City, and Joe Cronin would be within his rights in picking up the Kansas City franchise to be operated by the league until a new owner takes over," Allyn told the Chicago Sun-Times.

"Finley has threatened to sue (Finley denied reports that he would sue), I understand, but he must have forgotten the conditions under which he was awarded the franchise in the first place. He owes as much to the fans of Kansas City as I owe to the fans of Chicago. He just can't do this and he's a fool if he thinks he can get away with it."

★ ★ ★

But Finley, whose latest move is to telegraph punches with Cronin, is so confident that his move will be approved "after the owners have had an opportunity to analyze the true facts" he says he is going to go ahead with plans for Louisville.

"We'll wear bluegrass green and Fort Knox gold uniforms," he says. "And we'll be called either the Louisville Athletics or the Louisville Sluggers.

"Now that we've got Rocky Colavito and Jim Gentile, as well as Ed Charles, I rather like the name Sluggers."

Meanwhile, Cronin directed Finley by telegram Wednesday to refrain from making any further arrangements for transferring the club. Finley sent a hotely-worded reply back to the league president in Boston.

Several hours after these exchanges, the Kentucky legislature, in joint resolution by the General Assembly, requested Cronin, the league's directors and members "to give their serious and studied consideration to the advantages inherent in the relocation of the Athletics to Louisville to the end that accomplishment is assured.

Dryden Invades Almont for Renewal of Rivalry

It will be Almont's Ken Schulte against the balanced attack of Dryden when the arch-rivals meet in basketball Friday at Almont.

★ ★ ★

Neither school has set the Southern Thumb Conference on fire, but records mean little when they meet in athletics.

Schulte has been carrying the Almont (1-4) offense with a 20.6 average. The highest single game output was 27. It came Dec. 13, when Almont downed Armada, 65-64, for its first victory in two seasons.

The losing string has since been re-instated and has now reached two.

Dryden (1-3) will be a slight favorite. The Cardinals' only win was 49-46 over Anchor Bay. The Tars turned back Almont, 65-46.

Ken Kitchenmaster is the only Dryden player averaging 10 points a game. Tom Sterner, Dennis Hilliker and Ron Faulds each are in the eight-point bracket.

Tom Sisson is averaging a couple of points less.

POTENTIAL HELP

Gerald Duckert and Ken Wennior started the season as high scorers for Almont, but soon tapered off. A return to form would help the Raiders.

Neither team has played since Dec. 20 and this could have an effect on the overall play.

In other league games, Armada will be trying to climb out of last play at home against Brown City, tied with Dryden and Almont for fifth. Frontrunners Capac and New Haven are expected to win handily.

New Haven entertains Anchor Bay while Capac is at Memphis.

★ ★ ★

Imlay City is favored to retain first place in the South Central League when the Spartans entertain Millington. North Branch goes to Deckerville in the other league game.

City Keglers Trail Leader in Pin Match

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Veteran Pat Patterson found himself in the position of both host and leader of the $25,000 St. Louis Open tournament on the Professional Bowler's Association tour at the end of Wednesday's open round at suburban Crestwood Bowl.

★ ★ ★

Closing out with strike-filled games of 258 and 247, Patterson had a 12-game total of 2,664.

Right behind Patterson was the man who won the tournament on the same lanes one year ago, Andy Marzich of Long Beach, Calif., with 2,658.

Pontiac's two entries were running 35th and 36th. Monroe Moore had blocks of 1207 and 1235 for 2442 while Mike Samardzija Jr. had 2441 on 1285 and 1156.

The latter had a 325 high game in his first block and a 170 low in his second six games. Moore's best was 232 and his lowest 173, both in the first block.

Patterson, 37-year-old captain of the six-time national champions Don Carter team, is a co-owner of Crestwood Bowl, along with bowler of the year, Dick Weber.

Olympic Hopes Better, NCAA Head Predicts

NEW YORK (UPI) — The NCAA officially wound up its 58th annual convention today with the firm conviction that the United States Olympic chances have been appreciably strengthened.

★ ★ ★

Robert F. Ray, president of the NCAA, and executive director Walter Byers both offered the same two reasons for their belief that the U.S. will be much stronger for next October's olympics in Tokyo.

—The sudden creation of a new and more cordial relationship with the AAU.

—The implementation of an NCAA campaign to help underdeveloped sports.

NEW UNITY

"Our entire membership of colleges and universities showed a new unity during the convention," Byers said. "I also felt the appearance of president Jay-Ehrat Mahoney and Col. Donald Hull of the AAU at our meetings was a tremendously encouraging sign."

Mahoney, who attended the session at Ray's invitation, told NCAA members the AAU was more than willing to meet with the NCAA-supported United States Track and Field Federation.

Much of Byers' optimism over America's forthcoming Olympic chances could be traced to the action taken by the NCAA committee in yesterday's final legislative session.

The delegates approved a plan for such additional NCAA events as a small college championship in swimming and an expanded soccer tournament that would raise the number of participating teams from eight to 16.

"Legislation like that certainly has to help our chances," Byers said. "I feel our campaign for youth fitness, headed by Tom Hamilton, also will pay dividends for this country."

Hamilton, who is executive director of the Athletic Association of Western Universities, is chairman of the NCAA's youth fitness campaign.

He will attempt to strengthen under-developed sports in the various other collegiate conference.

The NCAA delegates yesterday approved four regional football championships for small college teams, an NCAA indoor track championship for 1965 and a small college outdoor track meet.

Furman's Selvy of Sixties Paces Win

By The Associated Press

Furman's Selvy of the Sixties isn't Frank, but he's earnest.

David Selvy, who has stumbled more than once while trying to follow the footsteps of his brother Frank, hit the high point total of his career Wednesday night with a 25-point effort that carried Furman to a 74-63 Southern Conference basketball victory over Richmond.

Ten years ago, Furman's Frank Selvy was a month away from his 100-point output against Newberry, one giant step in the most fantastic single season ever recorded in major college annals. When the entries all were posted, Selvy had scored 1,209 points for a 41.7 average.

NOT QUITE

Three years ago, David Selvy came to Furman. The temptation was to label him "another Frank." He wasn't.

He scored only 71 points in 16 games as a sophomore—Frank scored more in three quarters—then was held out of action last season by Coach Lyles Alley. And going into the game against Richmond, David had only a 13-point average this season.

But the 6-foot-2 junior had that Selvy touch against the Spiders. Richmond led 51-42 when David took over. He sank seven of eight shots from the field, put the Paladins ahead to stay 58-57 with four minutes remaining and wound up with 16 points in a torrid eight-minute stretch.

While Furman was winning its fifth game against nine losses, DePaul remained one of the country's three major unbeatens along with UCLA and Davidson. The Blue Demons won their 10th straight and continued their bid for national ranking by whippng Notre Dame 86-73.

LOYOLA WINS

Third-ranked Loyola of Chicago got 25 points from Les Hunter and 24 from Ron Miller in a 96-80 victory over Marquette, and 10th-ranked Duke tightened its hold on first place in the Atlantic Coast Conference race by edging Clemson 81-75.

Rich Katstra equalled his season's output of 25 points as he led Virginia to a 66-53 triumph over North Carolina State, Rick Barry scored 35 points in Miami of Florida's 97-92 decision over Jacksonville and Georgia Tech downed South Carolina 87-73.

* * *

DePaul pulled ahead of Notre Dame 18-16 on Jim Murphy's jump shot and made it 26-17 on baskets by Emmette Bryant, and Murphy had 21 each. Notre Dame's Ron Reed took game honors with 25.

Hunter and Miller received able assistance in the scoring department from Vic Rouse and John Egan as the well-balanced Loyola team brought its record to 11-1. Rouse scored 19 points and Egan 18 while John Stone was the leading Marquette marskman with 17 points.

ACE DUKES

Duke won its fifth ACC game without a loss against Clemson, moving ahead to stay 31-30 in the closing minutes of the first half. Hack Tison led the Blue Devils with 23 points but the Tigers' Jim Brennan was tops for the game with 30.

Katstra equalled his output for nine previous games—seven of which Virginia lost — and brought the Cavaliers their first ACC victory by making the remarkable turn-about against N.C. State.

Joins Farm System

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles announced today that Lou Gorman, former minor league baseball player and executive, will join the Orioles next Wednesday as assistant farm director.

MacARTHUR HONORED — Gen. Douglas MacArthur receives the first Tuss McLaughry award for distinguished public services at the American Football Coaches Association dinner last night in New York. Making the presentation is Ohio State coach Woody Hayes (left) while Laughry, who gained fame as a coach at Brown and Dartmouth, looks on.

'Bounces' Helped Texas Win---Royal

NEW YORK (AP)—"You've got to get those bounces to win the close games," Darrell Royal said. "I just got the bounces."

★ ★ ★

The brilliant young coach of the University of Texas, college football's Coach of the Year, is the first to admit that he's no superman in his profession.

"There were a dozen teams last season that might have licked us on a given day, just as we might lick them," he said. "Some games are decided by five snaps of the ball. The line between victory and defeat is a thin one."

BEST COACH

Extreme modesty and a sound sense of values are the trademark of the clean-cut, 39-year-old former Oklahoma quarterback who was picked by his contemporaries Wednesday as having done the best coaching job in 1963.

Royal was picked as the major college Coach of the Year and the man who once almost hired him, paunchy Bill Edwards of Wittenberg, set a precedent by winning the small college award for the second year in a row.

★ ★ ★

They were honored by a dinner Wednesday night at which they received the annual Kodak plaques. Also honored was the retired General of the Armies Douglas MacArthur, who was presented the first Tuss McLaughry Award given to an individual who has distinguished himself in service to others.

Royal led the Texas Longhorns through an unbeaten 10-game campaign, to a victory over Navy in the Cotton Bowl and the undisputed national championship. Edwards' Wittenberg team won eight games and tied one.

"I guess I've just got a lot of friends," Edwards, who while head coach at Vanderbilt once almost hired Royal as backfield aide, said modestly.

Royal, 39, a onetime pupil of Oklahoma's Bud Wilkinson, also was disinclined to take his honor too seriously.

"Certainly, I live in constant dread of what the next year might bring," he told an informal press conference. "We can't stay like we are. We are bound to have a dip.

★ ★ ★

"When that time comes, I just hope the people see me in the same light. I'm not going to change. I'm going to be trying my darndest to put another good year together."

Royal is a handsome, collar-ad type with a home-spun naturalness, a sincere modesty and a sharp sense of humor.

Asked about reports that he is considered a conservative, close-to-the-vest coach, he replied:

"Well, down in Texas, they call me the Barry Goldwater of the coaching profession. It's not so. We're willing to pass any time we get beyond the 50-yard line."

Ferndale Star Takes County Scoring Lead

Ferndale's Bruce Rodwan tossed in 34 points in a losing cause against Royal Oak Kimball last Friday to take the Oakland County basketball scoring lead.

★ ★ ★

In five games, the 6-5 Rodwan has dropped in 46 field goals and 28 charity tosses for 120 points and an average of 24.0.

Rodwan is one of nine players in the county averaging more than 20 points a game.

Hot on the leader's heels is Pontiac Northern's Roger Hayward, who has racked up 119 points in five outings for a 23.8 average.

★ ★ ★

Ted Bauer of Troy and Ralph Wingate of Emmanuel Christian, two of the early-season leaders, are now running third and fifth.

Bruce McDonald, Rochester's scoring ace, has moved from seventh to fourth in the race. He tossed in 26 markers against Fitzgerald Tuesday evening to run his four-game average to 22.7.

ROCKET LEADS

Dwight Lee has provided the scoring punch in keeping New Haven's Rockets tied for the Southern Thumb League lead with Capac.

The 6-1 senior leads the area scoring pack with an average of 27.8 for five games. John Scheuer of Capac is running a close second at 24.5.

Ken Schulte of Almont holds down third place with a 20.6 mark for five tilts, and Romeo's Carl Kemp is nestled in fourth position with a 19.8 average.

Emergency Crews Called for Olympics

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP) —Emergency crews of the Austrian army were out in force today to save the 1964 Winter Olympics, threatened by an alarming lack of snow.

Some 2,200 soldiers were packing ski courses for the Alpine and Nordic competitions with coats of ice and snow from nearby areas.

The Olympic Organizing Committee issued a call for volunteers to help the army get the runs ready for the games, which open Jan. 29.

Professor Friedl Wolfgang, chairman of the organizing committee, pledged that the Games will be held as scheduled.

"The weather is not going to interfere with the Games. We guarantee satisfactory conditions," he said.

"If the snow doesn't fall, we'll get it anyhow."

★ ★ ★

Other preparations have moved smoothly.

Hundreds of square miles of rugged mountain terrain have been bulldozed into ski runs. The jump hills have proved to be in good condition. Bobsled shutes and skating arenas had a glistening coat of ice.

But for nearly three weeks, Innsbruck has basked in bright sunshine under blue skies. The little snow which fell earlier, now is melting away or is showing bald spots.

NO PROMISE

And the abnormal weather holds no promise of fresh snow in the immediate future.

Wolfgang said, however, the situation only affects preparations for the Alpine ski runs south of Innsbruck and the cross-country trails in the north.

"We are prepared to handle any extremes," he said. "If the snow shortage continues—then we will bring in all the white stuff we need from adjoining areas. If the weather changes and we get too much snow, we have plenty of men and equipment to keep the runs in shape."

★ ★ ★

Wolfgang's biggest headache is the men's downhill run on Mount Patscherkofel. The upper two-thirds of the course are still skiiable but the lower stretch to the finish line needs a completely fresh coat of snow.

The men's downhill race could be shifted to another course in the Luzum Valley, southwest of Innsbruck, the site of all the other Alpine ski races—or it could be postponed a few days.

MOST EXCITING

"Postponement would be an emergency measure," said Wolfgang. "The downhill is always the most exciting and the most dangerous event in Winter Olympics. The sooner we can get it over with, the better."

Wolfgangs' military and civilian force will have the Lizum area ready for use by next week.

The slalom runs from Birtgitz Koepsl peak have been hosed down with water to provide an ice base.

★ ★ ★

Soldiers with tractors, snowshovels and ice picks are moving hundreds of tons of snow to the top of the four-men's and women's slalom courses. From there, the snow is being spread over the courses by a system of mobile aluminum slides.

Meanwhile, Army details in long convoys of trucks were moving about the plateau of Seefeld, northwest of Innsbruck, to put the cross country trails into shape.

STILL COVERED — While Austrian Army and civilian personnel labor to prepare the downhill and cross-country trails for the Winter Olympics, the combined jump remains in good shape, unaffected by the lack of snow.

U.S. Lass Wins Slalom, Praise

★ ★ ★

"Miss Saubert is just fantastic," said Sailer, triple Olympic gold medal winner of 1956 and world champion of 1958.

He watched the 21-year-old Oregon State student from Lakeview, Ore., flash down the 3,600-foot course with its 49 gates and an altitude drop of 1,050 feet.

"Fantastic, great," Sailer exclaimed. "And in my opinion she can go faster. I don't think she has reached her limit yet. She is strong, she is alert, and she has got stamina. That is what makes a great Alpine skier."

MISSED GATE

"I would bet on her to win the giant slalom at the Olympics," Sailer said. In Tuesday's special salom Miss Saubert was unplaced because she missed a gate. She won one special slalom race at Oberstaufen, Germany, last week.

Sailer also made Miss Saubert favorite to win at Bad Gastein, Austria, next week where the last major international ladies' ski races before the Olympics are scheduled.

★ ★ ★

Bob Beattie, head coach of the U.S. Olympic ski team, was very satisfied with his squad.

"The girls did very well," he commented. "There is room for improvement and I can promise you that the American team will be top fit for the Olumpics."

Linda Meyers, 26, Bishop, Calif., placed seventh in the giant slalom. Barbara Ferres, 19, of Houghton, Mich., was 20th in the field of 90 women skiers that included all the stars the world over who will participate in the winter games.

ONE FELL

Only one American competitor 24-year-old Joan Hannah, Franconia, N.H., was eliminated because of a fall early in her run. The other Americans Margo Walters, 21, Salt Lake City, and Starr Walton, 21, Sacramento, Calif. They were 27th and 31st respectively.

Miss Saubert said she and her teammates hope to get more practice in downhill racing. Coach Beattie plans to take the girls to Pontresina, Switzerland, to give them just that.

Southfield Girls, Kimball Boys Tops

Southfield and Royal Oak Kimball took victories yesterday in the second Mt. Holly High School Ski League meet of the season.

Southfield won the girls division and Kimball was tops in the boys class. The Royal Oak squad and Southfield team were second in the opposite class.

Detroit Benedictine finished third in both classes while Utica found itself fourth on its first venture into competitive skiing.

The best showing by a Chieftain was fourth in the girls by Hilda Klein. None of the boys managed to finish the icy course for Utica.

K. Sheppard led the girls with a :52.3 timing for Kimball. The girls skied a less difficult course than the fellows and her time was the best in both classes.

★ ★ ★

Kimball's D. Clark led the boys with :56.4.

Saturday West Bloomfield, Waterford, Kettering, Walled Lake and Berkley will compete in a meet beginning at 9:30 a.m.

Young Skaters Battling Odds

May End Two Hexes in Ice Championship

CLEVELAND (AP)—Two ancient hexes were in danger of being shattered today as the 1964 National Figure Skating Championships and Olympic trials got under way at the Cleveland Skating Club.

No man has won the senior men's singles title without first holding the junior crown.

POSES THREAT

Threatening to end the first hex is 14-year-old Scott Ethan Allen, from Smoke Rise, N.J., who already has represented the United States in two world meets. Scott is making his third bid for the senior men's singles title with tradition against him.

Allen has been runner-up in national figure skating events four times without winning a title.

Stepping-Stone Role for Cranbrook Sextet

Cranbrook became a stepping-stone on the Lakeview ice Wednesday as it dropped a 2-0 International High School Hockey League match.

★ ★ ★

The win boosted Lakeview atop the second division of the league with a 5-1-2 mark. Cranbrook currently is fifth in the first division race with a 2-3 log.

Goals by Dennis Blenc and Dave Weagel in the second and third period decided the penalty-marred game. Numerous minor penalties and two misconducts were levied.

One of the misconducts was levied against Cranbrook goalie John French for straying too far from his net to complain.

French made 21 saves in the game while his teammates only had 12 shots at the Lakeview netminder. Cranbrook will meet St. Ladislaus at home tomorrow beginning at 4 p.m.

Downhill Slide With Sticks Started Boom

Skiing Big Business in Michigan; Tops U. S. in Resorts

LANSING (AP)— The first fellow ever to slide down a snowy hill on a pair of sticks would be amazed now to see what a business he started.

Skiing was a $20 million business in Michigan last year. Given good snow, the industry should net at least $25 million in 1964.

Michigan has 85 winter sports centers now, the most in the nation. The number is climbing. An estimated 220,000 skiers will use these facilities if snow conditions are as good as in recent years.

"Our winter business should well top the record $20 million season last year," said William McGraw, director of the Michigan Tourist Council.

That first fellow to climb up the hill again because he enjoyed sliding down on his wooden sticks would look out of place if he tried it in Michigan's modern ski centers.

LIFTED UP HILL

You ride up the hill in ski lifts now.

Skiing is getting to be a family sport. More and more families are taking winter vacations, bringing the children along and enjoying the mid-week family rates offered at many resorts.

Beides skiing, they can skate, toboggan or use the resort as a headquarters for hunting or ice fishing.

Some of the resorts are putting in outdoor, heated swimming pools. For armchair athletes there is good food and generally one or more cocktail lounges.

Skiing has become a glamorized sport. Imported instructors from Switzerland and other European ski spots teach the novices.

But it has become a less expensive sport than in former years. There has been a gradual lowering in the cost of equipment.

BOOM STARTED

The skiing boom in Michigan started after World War II.

There were only 38 winter sports centers in the state 10 years ago, compared with the 85 now.

Loans have been available in recent years from the federal government, through such agencies as the Small Business Administration, to help build the sports centers. Most such centers also figure on summer and year-around business so as to gather the dollars spent on recreation 12 months of a year.

2 Top Broad Jumpers Compete in LA Meet

LOS ANGELES (AP)—America's two top men in the broad jump will meet in the fifth annual Los Angeles Invitational Indoor Track Meet Jan. 18.

Ralph Boston, Olympic champion, will compete against Darrel Horn, who ranks second to Boston in the event.

Warm Weather, Rain Hit Snow Conditions

Soaring temperatures and rain caused a flutter of dismay among ski enthusiasts in Michigan this week.

Most resort operators said, however, that conditions remained good despite melting snow.

MONEY FOR MEDICINE—Fifth graders Don Johnson (left) and David Leonhard represented students of Bloomfield Hills Vaughan School yesterday when they presented a $314 check to Dr. Herbert Bloom, a Project Hope director. The 515 pupils at the school have been collecting money for the hospital ship SS Hope since September. They held a white elephant sale and requested contributions rather than candy at Halloween.

Haven't Money for Postage

College Backers Seek Funds

A financial bind confronts the Community College Citizens Committee (CCCC), but plans were mapped last night to alter the group's plight.

However, temporarily at least, the CCCC does not even have funds to solicit funds.

The group needs money to finance a campaign for an Oakland County community college.

★ ★ ★

A letter was drafted last night to be sent to organizations and individuals, requesting campaign contributions. A mailing of about 5,000 letters is planned.

NO POSTAGE

A CCCC member has offered to print the letters free, but the committee has a campaign war chest of exactly $30. Thus, they are short the postage.

Harold J. Abrams, secretary of the group, hopes to solve the problem by passing the hat among the committee members themselves.

In other business last night, the citizens committee agreed to a suggestion from Eugene Kuthy of Royal Oak to leave the actual development of the community college to the board of trustees.

He said the college ballot propositions should be presented to voters in just this light. This is more flexible, he added.

TRAIN VOLUNTEERS

Mrs. Aimee May, chairman of the Speakers Bureau, reported three sessions had been scheduled to train some 40 persons who have volunteered to act as speakers.

The first session is slated for Feb. 1 at 10 a.m. at 200 N. Woodward, while a second workshop is set for 8 p.m. Feb. 3 at 17600 W. Eight Mile, Southfield.

No site has been set for the third training session on Feb. 14.

★ ★ ★

The CCCC set Feb. 5 at 8 p.m. for their next meeting.

Dems Elect Party Chiefs

Pontiac Man Heads in New 19th District

Democratic precinct delegates of the new 19th Congressional District last night elected Robert Jackson of Pontiac as district chairman.

Jackson, a real estate appraiser who serves on the Oakland County Board of Supervisors, will hold the district post on an interim basis until after the Aug. 4 primary, when the first voting under the new districting will take place.

He was selected in balloting among some 75 delegates who crowded along with about 75 others into a meeting room at the main office of First Federal Savings of Oakland in Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

Three other officers and a 15-man district committee for the Democratic party also were chosen.

OTHER OFFICERS

Mrs. John Desch of Livingston County was named vice chairman. Donovan G. Gillmore of 463 S. Opdyke, Pontiac Township, was elected secretary.

Chosen as treasurer was Julian H. Scott of 5405 W. Maple, West Bloomfield Township.

Officers and committee members also will serve on the party executive committee of their home counties.

Of the 15 committee members, 11 were picked from Oakland County and four from Livingston County.

Plan Would Raise Level of Williams Lake Water

Waterford Township Supervisor James E. Seeterlin said today he would seek approval of the Oakland County Road Commission for a plan to raise the level of Williams Lake this spring without affecting the Maceday Lake level.

Seeterlin proposes to install a 12-inch water pipe in the presently plugged culvert between the two lakes to carry excess water from Maceday to Williams Lake.

The plan is based on the assumption that the Clinton River will reach a flood stage this spring as it usually does.

★ ★ ★

The excess water from the river will be diverted to Williams Lake, Seeterlin said.

GATE VALVE

A gate valve would be installed with the water pipe to regulate flow. If no flood stage develops this April, no water will flow into Williams Lake, Seeterlin said.

Seeterlin said that if the road commission approves the pipe installation the present level of Maceday will be guaged and maintained.

Last May a group of Williams Lake residents, concerned because their lake was two feet below normal level, tried to open the plug installed 18 years ago by the road commission.

★ ★ ★

Sheriff's deputies arrived before the job was finished and dispersed the crowd.

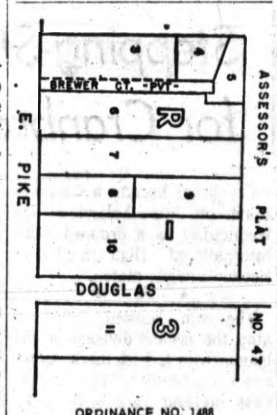

Later, the Williams Lake group took their case to court.

But Judge William J. Beer denied their petition for a temporary injunction to unplug the culvert in an Aug. 16 ruling.

Beer said then that he was not satisfied that a natural connecting link between the two lakes ever existed.

★ ★ ★

Since then the county board of supervisors authorized the drain commission to conduct a lake control study for 15 lakes including Williams and Maceday.

ORDINANCE NO. 1488
Adopted: January 7, 1964

Sylvan Lake Aide to Probe Land Use

The Sylvan Lake City Council last night directed City Manager Leroy Trafton to investigate the possibilities of a "land use" survey for the city's new community center facilities.

Trafton said the city has almost a five-acre site, and the council wants to make sure it is making the best use of the land.

In other business, a revised agreement with West Bloomfield Township on collection of a rental charge in connection with the Sylvan Manor Sanitary Sewer Project was approved.

★ ★ ★

Richard Valuet, of 2506 Garland, Sylvan Lake, was reappointed to the city's Board of Review. Valuet, who will serve three years, was filling out a one-year vacancy on the board.

Elderly Pair Ties the Knot 46 Years Later

NEW YORK (AP)—They met in Japan 46 years ago. They were married by a 101-year-old bishop.

The newlyweds are the Rev. Dr. Charles S. Iglehart, 83, and Caroline Packham, 72, both former Methodist missionaries in Tokyo and Nagasaki.

★ ★ ★

Bishop Herbert Welch performed the ceremony. "I still remember when they were youngsters," he said.

★ ★ ★

"My wife and I are old, old friends," said Dr. Iglehart. "We decided only recently to get married."

Planning Group Reelects Chief by Flipping Coin

The chairman of the Oakland County Planning Commission, Ralph A. Main was reelected yesterday by the flip of a coin.

The commission voted 6-6 twice in trying to decide between Main and his predecessor, J. Robert F. Swanson.

Main won his first term as chairman last year when Swanson declined the post, which he had held for 10 consecutive years.

★ ★ ★

Also reelected were Donald A. Kalmbach, vice chairman, and Roy F. Goodspeed, secretary.

In Fair Condition After Car Hits Tree

James Converse, 38, of 5779 Opaline, Waterford Township, is in fair condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital after suffering head injuries when his car left the road and hit a tree yesterday in Waterford Township.

Police said Converse's car, traveling northwest, went out of control and hit a tree in front of 5270 Elizabeth Lake at 5:50 p.m.

Converse told police at the scene that he didn't know how the accident occurred.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF FLORENCE Graham who passed away January 9, 1959.
What would we give if we could say hello mom in that same old way.
To hear your voice and see your smile; to sit and chat with you awhile.
Memories are treasures no one can steal, death is a heartache nothing can heal.
Some may forget you now that you're gone, but we will remember no matter how long.
Sadly missed by husband Joe, children and grandchildren.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF OUR husband and father Glen F. Allen who passed away Jan. 9, 1961. Our loss was your gain, but memories still remain. Wife Lerah and children.

SET A RECORD — This sleeping lad just set a new world's record. Not for sleeping, but for staying awake. He's Randy Gardner, 16, of San Diego, Calif., and he stayed awake 264 hours ending yesterday. The previous record was 260 hours set by a Honolulu disc jockey.

Peggy's $16,500 a Week Ranks Her With the Men

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Peggy Lee'll pull down $16,500-a-week when she opens at the Americana Royal Box April 27 and that'll make her about the highest-paid gal star on Broadway, right up there with the boys, Eddie Fisher, Sammy Davis and Harry Belafonte. We hear the Americana upped her price 5 Gs to lure her to the swingin' new West Side.

WILSON

Cary Grant'll pay a handsome reward and ask no questions for the return of a mink stolen from the apt. of his girl friend Dian Cannon who's playing "Rosemary" in the Chicago company of "How to Succeed." Grant had the coat made for Dian by NY furrier Lee Ritter. He says the number on the inside pelts is 27241 and intimates that the coat "wasn't cheap." He feels that it may have landed in a hock shop. Ghana Arrests Three Officials

Continue Probe Into Assassination Try

ACCRA, Ghana (AP) — The government arrested opposition leader Joseph B. Danquah and two former police officials last night as security officers continued investigating the latest attempt to assassinate President Kwame Nkrumah.

The government also ordered the dismissal of 10 other police officers, including Commissioner Erasmus Madjitey, 48.

There was no official explanation for the arrests or dismissals, but Nkrumah's party newspaper, The Ghanaian Times, called the 13 men "reptiles in our midst who were working for enemies and drinking from the same cup with us at the same time."

★ ★ ★

The newspaper said a "whole conspiracy" was unfolding since the attempt on Nkrumah last Thursday and soon "we shall be in a position to make the picture of Ghana revolution clear to the whole world."

CONSTABLE ACCUSED

A police constable, Seth Nicholas Kwami Ametewee, has been accused of firing five shots at Nkrumah just outside the president's official residence.

Nkrumah escaped injury, but a security officer was killed.

Danquah and the two former police officials arrested with him — Deputy Commissioner Samuel D. Amaning and Superintendent M. K. Awuku — are being held under the preventive detention act. It allows the government to keep suspects in jail without trial for 10 years.

The Ghanaian Times called yesterday for the expulsion of the U. S. Peace Corps, describing its members as "spies and meddlers." There are about 150 Peace Corps volunteers in Ghana, most of them teachers.

Danquah, 68, has been an elder stateman to politicians opposing Nkrumah's move to establish his Convention People's party as the only legal political organization in Ghana.

Board Rules Electrocution Will Continue

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The State Pardon and Parole Board has rejected the argument that it is cruel and inhumane to require a convicted murderer to live through preelectrocution hours again.

The board ruled Wednesday that J. W. Pugh, 35, must die Jan. 14.

Pugh originally was sentenced to be executed Nov. 25, the day of President Kennedy's funeral. But Gov. Carl E. Sanders granted a 30-day stay of execution after President Johnson proclaimed a day of mourning.

MADE HIS PEACE

Pugh's attorney asked the board to commute the sentence to life imprisonment, arguing that Pugh had "made his peace with God and man and steeled his nerves" for the execution when the reprieve came.

14 Canadian Ships to Go in Mothballs

OTTAWA (AP) — The Canadian Navy will put 14 ships into mothballs before the end of March as part of a program to reduce naval expenditures.

The program will save an estimated $7.75 million annually. Associate Defense Minister Lucien Cardin said the 14 ships include three destroyers, the escort maintenance ship Cape Breton and two squadrons of minesweepers.

Nixon Wavers: Events Decide Future Course

Willing to Sacrifice to Secure Best Leader for GOP, America

By JULES LOH

NEW YORK (AP)—Richard M. Nixon, apparently detecting growing sentiment that he should run again for president, says he is "willing to do everything necessary" to see to it the Republicans nominate their most popular and best-qualified man this fall.

He insists there has been no change in his position that he is not a candidate, but it was his first indication that events might put him in this year's race.

"I will make any decisions in the future," he said in an interview, "based on my primary conviction that it is vital to get new leadership for this country and that the Republican party must nominate its strongest man.

"I will say this — and I have not said it before — I will make any sacrifice to see that that is done."

Interviewed in his office, Nixon said:

"I believe that any man who has become a public figure belongs to the public and as long as they want him to lead, to lead.

"But leadership doesn't always involve being a candidate.

EYES RESPONSIBILITY

"I feel that having been the (Republican) candidate in 1960 and having received the votes of more than 34 million people, I have a responsibility to them."

The former vice president, who is 51 years old today, became a partner Jan. 1 in a New York law firm now named Nixon, Mudge, Rose, Guthrie & Alexander.

"I have to judge what that responsibility is and how to meet it.

"I also feel the Republican party has an obligation to nominate its strongest candidate and one who would make the best president — and I believe the two go together; that the man best qualified for president would also make the best candidate.

"I have thought that the best way to serve that end would be by not getting into the scramble myself, but by talking about issues and attempting to give leadership in developing a program against the present administration and for a Republican alternative.

STUBBORN — It was roundup time in Bloomfield Township yesterday at Telegraph and Devon Hills when this cow fell from a truck taking her to a packing house. It took five policemen to corral the animal and tie her to a pole in front of 3555 Shallowbrook until the cattle truck returned to take Bossy back home. Township Patrolman Don Zimmerman and owner Richard Long, of Millington, helped her aboard.

Saginaw Fire Kills 4 Children

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP) — Four children-left alone while their mother went across the street to make a telephone call—died when a fire swept through their home last night, police said.

The victims were Keith Yancer, 3 and three sisters, Joan, 5, Marjorie, 1, and Melissa, 2, officers said.

Three other Yancer children were rescued by a neighbor who pulled them through the front door after smashing out the glass.

The mother, Jeanette Yancer, 23, tried to reach the other children, but a passerby, Leroy Yanna, 14, restrained her after Yanna was driven back by heat and flames, police said.

Yanna suffered facial burns. Mrs. Yancer, who is separated from her husband, Jack, was hospitalized for smoke inhalation and shock.

PAPER IN FIRE

The children told police the fire started when one of them dropped tissue paper into a lighted gas range being used to heat the frame house.

Mrs. Peden said she saw 1-year-old Marjorie crawling from the living room with the fire behind her. She called to the baby to keep coming, but the fire caught up with her and ungulfed her.

Yanna, who helped rescue the surviving Yancer children, was treated at the hospital for facial burns.

Yanna told police he heard screams for help and ran to the house with Mrs. George Peden, 50, a Yancer neighbor.

Police said Mrs. Peden smashed the glass out of the front door and helped Jack Yancer, 6; and his two sisters, June Ellen, 5, and Amanda, 7, from the burning 1½ story frame home.

Mrs. Yancer told police she had gone across the street to use a neighbor's telephone to call her father.

Jaycees, Taylor Answer Criticism of Amendment

Officials of the Pontiac Area Junior Chamber of Commerce along with City Commissioner William H. Taylor today answered criticism of a proposed charter amendment.

The amendment, which would change present methods of electing city commissioners, will be put to a vote of the people at a special election Monday.

It was strongly opposed by Mayor Robert A. Landry in his state of the city address. Four other commissioners also voiced opposition to the plan being proposed.

Following is how the Jaycees and Commissioner Taylor answered Landry:

Landry: "The proposed charter change, if passed, will disfranchise every citizen in every district from his right to elect his own representative."

Taylor: "The people should not be misled by this false statement. Each district will still nominate its individual representative who will vie at the final election against another candidate from his own district."

Landry: "We can have representation at large without . . . literaly telling our people we think you're smart enough to nominate but not intelligent enough to elect your own commissioner."

★ ★ ★

Jaycee president Richard C. Fitzpatrick answered, "This is exactly the opposite of what we propose.

PRESENT SYSTEM

"In our opinion, the present system of electing commissioners says, in effect, 'voters are only intelligent enough to elect a commissioner, not a commission.'

"We feel that every voter in the city is intelligent enough to elect seven men, not just one."

Landry: "There is a much better way to do this. I would propose the following: Enlarge the present districts to number five instead of seven, and nominate and elect two representatives at-large. That would give us both district . . . and at-large representation."

Fitzpatrick: "This suggestion exhibits a greater lack of equal

State Decides Not to Probe City Election

A City Commission request to investigate 1962 commission election expenses has been turned down by the state attorney general's office for lack of evidence.

Joseph Sullivan, head of the attorney general's criminal investigation division, said today that investigators "were not able to substantiate certain allegations made by those requesting the investigation."

He added: "We were unable to find any evidence to substantiate any wrongdoing."

Sullivan said the state attorney's office had stopped its probe.

'SLUSH FUND'

Asked about an alleged "slush fund" for 1962 commission candidates, Sullivan said that the material presented had been turned over to the local prosecutor.

Senior Assistant Prosecutor Gerald K. Barry said that he knew nothing about the matter. Prosecutor George F. Taylor is on vacation.

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — The Argentine airline ALA said today one of its airliners crashed six miles from Zaraet, a river port city about 50 miles northwest of Buenos Aires. First reports said 29 of the 31 aboard had perished.

U.S. Missiles Unreliable, Claims Barry

Likes Manned Craft; Winding Up Swing in New Hampshire

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (UPI) — Sen. Barry Goldwater said today that this nation's intercontinental ballistics missiles are not "dependable."

". . . And I'll probably catch hell for saying this," said the Republican presidential hopeful.

Goldwater, winding up a three-day campaign swing in New Hampshire, urged a defense posture utilizing manned aircraft.

"I'm very fearful that we may get caught sometime with our airplanes down," he said.

SHORT RANGE

Goldwater said at a news conference that the United States' short range missiles "are dependable."

But, he said, "I wish the Defense Department would tell the people how undependable the long range missiles are."

"I can't tell you just how undependable they are," he said. "It's classified information."

"They're not dependable—the ICBM's — and I'll probably catch hell for saying this," Goldwater said.

LASHED OUT

Goldwater also lashed out at "certain people" who he said contend there is a hate movement under way in some sections of the country.

Goldwater said "I was also sorry to see that Mr. Johnson felt he had to resurrect the hate theme in referring to President Kennedy's assassination.

To simply say it was an act of hate is an attempt to obscure the real issue. The assassin was a product of the sort of hate taught by Communists, not by Americans."

He said the idea that hate is prevalent "is the biggest lie that's ever been perpetrated on the people of this country and it (hate) is the most despicable word in the English language."

$624 Million Asked

★ ★ ★

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney today offered the legislature a $624-million program he says will meet Michigan's need in mental health, education and other fields without exceeding expected income.

In his second "State of the State" message to the legislature, Romney proposed a 1964-65 budget of $624 million, an all-time record and $74 million above current spending.

Emphasizing thrift in government despite a "healthy financial outlook," the governor said this nevertheless will be a tight spending plan, budgeting an expected surplus of $35 million.

Most of the increase above this year's $50 million would be marked for expanding mental health facilities and, in education, to prepare for increasing enrollment.

Romney said his 1964 program is aimed at meeting "two basic objectives —to protect and enlarge human rights, and to serve human needs."

Romney, who is expected to seek reelection but says he is willing to be drafted for the GOP presidential nomination, asked lawmakers to ignore poltics and weigh only the merits of his propoals.

The governor said Michigan did more for its future in 1963 than in any year in this century.

He told lawmakers 1964 will be a year for "building on these accomplishments."

He outlined 11 areas of concern, in most of which legislation will be sought. Key elements of these included:

★ ★ ★

An "interim" plan for boosting the state school aid formula through both state aid and deductible millage, by $10 million, plus $11 million for added enrollment.

HIGHER EDUCATION

An additional $21 million for higher education operating funds as part of an over-all $89 million program of expansion to meet heavy new enrollments.

Expansion of state clinical facilities for the mentally retarded and mentally ill, also unspecified funds for research and other needs.

Revision of the state's plan for obtaining federal aid to dependent children of the unemployed to qualify under federal standards.

★ ★ ★

A state minimum wage, beginning at $1 per hour.

INCOME TAX

Legislation enabling nonresidents to pay only half of a city income tax to a city in which they work, a proposal revived from the tax reform program defeated last year.

More legislation to implement the new Constitution, including districts for the State Court of Appeals and a specific proposal for county home rule.

"Early action" on governmental reorganization, but no

Democrats Rap Governor: 'Trying to Boost Image'

LANSING (AP)—State Democratic chairman Zolton Ferency pretty well summed up quick critical reaction of Democratic state officeholders in his comments on Gov. George Romney's State of the State address today.

"The general tenor," Ferency said, "obviously is designed to boost his reputation on the national scene."

Others joining Ferency in quick verbal jabs at Romney included state superintendent of public instruction Lynn Bartlett, and Aud. Gen. Billie Farnum.

State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie said he agreed with Romney that "everything possible must be done to reduce traffic deaths in Michigan." For the moment, Mackie withheld other comment.

Ferency charged that the governor "takes credit for a lot of accomplishments that are not his and claims some things as accomplishments that are not at all," then expanded:

"For example, I agree that Gov. Romney bears full responsibility for the new constitution. Whether it will aid or hinder Michigan's progress still is a matter of doubt.

★ ★ ★

"It would be an outright theft to claim any credit for any surplus in the state treasury. Everyone knows the booming Michigan economy is a direct result of the Kennedy-Johnson national policy and that Gov. Romney made no contribution to increased automobile sales."

FARNUM ASKED

After a review of accomplishments listed by Romney for his administration, Aud. Gen. Billie Farnum asked: "What happened to the kitchen sink?"

Farnum said he was unable to comment specifically, however, regarding the governor's budget plans until he knows whether they include funding outlays required by the new State Constitution for state employes and public school teachers.

Superintendent of Public Instruction Lynn Bartlett said a recommended program of kindergarten through 12th grade in every local school district "is something we have been working on for years."

★ ★ ★

Proposed increases in the current school aid formula and deductible millage, Bartlett said, "do not meet principles laid down by his special assistant" on education.

Murphy Gazes Into Future

Auditor Chairman Sets Goals for 1964

By DICK HANSON

Like others who find themselves in top executive positions, Oakland County's new board of auditors chairman, Daniel T. Murphy, wishes he had a crystal ball to predict the future.

"Good administration calls for looking into the future if you can," said Murphy after the first week in his new post.

The 40-year-old Murphy was appointed by the County Board of Supervisors after others saw in him an ability to foresee problems and maintain a smooth operation.

★ ★ ★

While he was clerk-register, no department ran more smoothly.

The 85 members of the board of supervisors look to Murphy for wise counsel before they make their policy decisions in county government.

For this administrative service, they have agreed to pay Murphy $19,000 this year.

Murphy has set his goals in 1964.

Foremost among these, he said, is "coordinating the supervisors" committees to avoid any duplication or wasted effort in county government.

★ ★ ★

"Also, I will be looking for areas where county departments might be brought together to avoid any possible duplication," he added.

STEP TAKEN

Murphy already has taken a step in the latter direction.

With concurrence of the other two members of the board of auditors, he has decided to meet with the various department heads every Monday to consider any problems they might have in the daily operation of county government on the administrative level.

Other goals Murphy said he has set are:

● Expanding data process-

The Odds Are Good for Area Snowfall

There's a chance of about one inch of snow late this afternoon or tonight with temperatures turning colder.

The Weather Bureau forecasts a freezing low of 25 tonight and a 30 degree high tomorrow. Partly cloudy and cold is the prediction for Saturday.

Today's southeasterly winds at 5 to 20 miles per hour will become northwesterly at 10 to 25 m.p.h. this afternoon and continue through tomorrow.

★ ★ ★

About 3 of an inch in rain fell on the Pontiac area during the night and early morning.

Thirty-four was the low temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a. m. The recording at 1 p. m. was 37.

Gains, Losses Fractional

Market Hovers at 6-Day High

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market moved irregularly early today at the summit of a six-day advance to record highs.

Most gains and losses of key stocks were small.

Trading was heavy at the start. Wall Street remained encouraged that President Johnson's budget reduction will lead to quicker action on the $11 billion tax cut.

Chrysler continued its rebound, adding a point, and there were no losers among Big Three motors. Ford was steady, General Motors up a fraction, American Motors and Studebaker unchanged.

SPERRY RAND

Sperry Rand, Wednesday's most active stock, rose ¼ to 21⅜ on an opener of 10,000 shares.

★ ★ ★

Tobaccos also continued fairly steady to higher despite the imminence of the government's report on smoking and health. Philip Morris, still riding on record annual profits and sales, added another point.

★ ★ ★

Wednesday, the Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 1.0 to 289.2, another new high.

Sherwin-Williams advanced a point on the American Stock Exchange. Prices were mixed. Other gainers included Aerojet-General, Brown Co. and Syntex. Among losers were Draper and Pyle National.

Corporate bonds showed little change.

Emergency Crews Called for Olympics

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP) —Emergency crews of the Austrian army were out in force today to save the 1964 Winter Olympics, threatened by an alarming lack of snow.

Some 2,200 soldiers were packing ski courses for the Alpine and Nordic competitions with coats of ice and snow from nearby areas.

The Olympic Organizing Committee issued a call for volunteers to help the army get the runs ready for the games, which open Jan. 29.

★ ★ ★

Professor Friedl Wolfgang, chairman of the organizing committee, pledged that the Games will be held as scheduled.

"The weather is not going to interfere with the Games. We guarantee satisfactory conditions," he said.

"If the snow doesn't fall, we'll get it anyhow."

★ ★ ★

Other preparations have moved smoothly.

Hundreds of square miles of rugged mountain terrain have been bulldozed into ski runs.

★ ★ ★

The jump hills have proved to be in good condition. Bobsled shutes and skating arenas had a glistening coat of ice.

But for nearly three weeks, Innsbruck has basked in bright sunshine under blue skies. The little snow which fell earlier, now is melting away or is showing bald spots.

NO PROMISE

And the abnormal weather holds no promise of fresh snow in the immediate future.

Wolfgang said, however, the situation only affects preparations for the Alpine ski runs south of Innsbruck and the cross-country trails in the north.

"We are prepared to handle any extremes," he said. "If the snow shortage continues—then we will bring in all the white stuff we need from adjoining areas. If the weather changes and we get too much snow, we have plenty of men and equipment to keep the runs in shape."

★ ★ ★

Wolfgang's biggest headache is the men's downhill run on Mount Patscherkofel. The upper two-thirds of the course are still skiiable but the lower stretch to the finish line needs a completely fresh coat of snow.

The men's downhill race could be shifted to another course in the Luzum Valley, southwest of Innsbruck, the site of all the other Alpine ski races—or it could be postponed a few days.

MOST EXCITING

"Postponement would be an emergency measure," said Wolfgang. "The downhill is always the most exciting and the most dangerous event in Winter Olympics. The sooner we can get it over with, the better."

Wolfgangs' military and civilian force will have the Lizum area ready for use by next week.

The slalom runs from Birtgitz Koepsl peak have been hosed down with water to provide an ice base.

★ ★ ★

Soldiers with tractors, snowshovels and ice picks are moving hundreds of tons of snow to the top of the four-men's and women's slalom courses. From there, the snow is being spread over the courses by a system of mobile aluminum slides.

Meanwhile, Army details in long convoys of trucks were moving about the plateau of Seefeld, northwest of Innsbruck, to put the cross country trails into shape.

STILL COVERED — While Austrian Army and civilian personnel labor to prepare the downhill and cross-country trails for the Winter Olympics, the combined jump remains in good shape, unaffected by the lack of snow.

U.S. Lass Wins Slalom, Praise

★ ★ ★

"Miss Saubert is just fantastic," said Sailer, triple Olympic gold medal winner of 1956 and world champion of 1958.

He watched the 21-year-old Oregon State student from Lakeview, Ore., flash down the 3,600-foot course with its 49 gates and an altitude drop of 1,050 feet.

"Fantastic, great," Sailer exclaimed. "And in my opinion she can go faster. I don't think she has reached her limit yet. She is strong, she is alert, and she has got stamina. That is what makes a great Alpine skier."

MISSED GATE

"I would bet on her to win the giant slalom at the Olympics," Sailer said. In Tuesday's special salom Miss Saubert was unplaced because she missed a gate. She won one special slalom race at Obersfaufen, Germany, last week.

Sailer also made Miss Saubert favorite to win at Bad Gastein, Austria, next week where the last major international ladies' ski races before the Olympics are scheduled.

★ ★ ★

Bob Beattie, head coach of the U.S. Olympic ski team, was very satisfied with his squad.

"The girls did very well," he commented. "There is room for improvement and I can promise you that the American team will be top fit for the Olumpics."

Linda Meyers, 26, Bishop, Calif., placed seventh in the giant slalom. Barbara Ferres, 19, of Houghton, Mich., was 20th in the field of 90 women skiers that included all the stars the world over who will participate in the winter games.

ONE FELL

Only one American competitor 24-year-old Joan Hannah, Franconia, N.H., was eliminated because of a fall early in her run. The other Americans Margo Walters, 21, Salt Lake City, and Starr Walton, 21, Sacramento, Calif. They were 27th and 31st, respectively.

Miss Saubert said she and her teammates hope to get more practice in downhill racing. Coach Beattie plans to take the girls to Pontresina, Switzerland, to give them just that.

Southfield Girls, Kimball Boys Tops

Southfield and Royal Oak Kimball took victories yesterday in the second Mt. Holly High School Ski League meet of the season.

Southfield won the girls division and Kimball was tops in the boys class. The Royal Oak squad and Southfield team were second in the opposite class.

Detroit Benedictine finished third in both classes while Utica found itself fourth on its first venture into competitive skiing.

The best showing by a Chieftain was fourth in the girls by Hilda Klein. None of the boys managed to finish the icy course for Utica.

K. Sheppard led the girls with a :52.3 timing for Kimball. The girls skied a less difficult course than the fellows and her time was the best in both classes.

★ ★ ★

Kimball's D. Clark led the boys with :56.4.

Saturday West Bloomfield, Waterford, Kettering, Walled Lake and Berkley will compete in a meet beginning at 9:30 a.m.

Young Skaters Battling Odds

May End Two Hexes in Ice Championship

CLEVELAND (AP)—Two ancient hexes were in danger of being shattered today as the 1964 National Figure Skating Championships and Olympic trials got under way at the Cleveland Skating Club.

No man has won the senior men's singles title without first holding the junior crown.

Only one lady west of Philadelphia has been able to capture the senior ladies' singles title.

ROSES THREAT

Threatening to end the first hex is 14-year-old Scott Ethan Allen, from Smoke Rise, N.J., who already has represented the United States in two world meets. Scott is making his third bid for the senior men's singles title with tradition against him.

Allen has been runner-up in national figure skating events four times without winning a title.

Stepping-Stone Role for Cranbrook Sextet

Cranbrook became a stepping-stone on the Lakeview ice Wednesday as it dropped a 2-0 International High School Hockey League match.

★ ★ ★

The win boosted Lakeview atop the second division of the league with a 5-1-2 mark. Cranbrook currently is fifth in the first division race with a 2-3 log.

Goals by Dennis Blenc and Dave Weagel in the second and third period decided the penalty-marred game. Numerous minor penalties and two misconducts were levied.

One of the misconducts was levied against Cranbrook goalie John French for straying too far from his net to complain.

French made 21 saves in the game while his teammates only had 12 shots at the Lakeview netminder. Cranbrook will meet St. Ladislaus at home tomorrow beginning at 4 p.m.

Downhill Slide With Sticks Started Boom

Skiing Big Business in Michigan; Tops U. S. in Resorts

LANSING (AP)— The first fellow ever to slide down a snowy hill on a pair of sticks would be amazed now to see what a business he started.

Skiing was a $20 million business in Michigan last year. Given good snow, the industry should net at least $25 million in 1964.

Michigan has 85 winter sports centers now, the most in the nation. The number is climbing. An estimated 220,000 skiers will use these facilities if snow conditions are as good as in recent years.

"Our winter business should well top the record $20 million season last year," said William McGraw, director of the Michigan Tourist Council.

That first fellow to climb up the hill again because he enjoyed sliding down on his wooden sticks would look out of place if he tried it in Michigan's modern ski centers.

LIFTED UP HILL

You ride up the hill in ski lifts now.

Skiing is getting to be a family sport. More and more families are taking winter vacations, bringing the children along and enjoying the mid-week family rates offered at many resorts.

Beides skiing, they can skate, toboggan or use the resort as a headquarters for hunting or ice fishing.

Some of the resorts are putting in outdoor, heated swimming pools. For armchair athletes there is good food and generally one or more cocktail lounges.

Skiing has become a glamorized sport. Imported instructors from Switzerland and other European ski spots teach the novices.

But it has become a less expensive sport than in former years. There has been a gradual lowering in the cost of equipment.

BOOM STARTED

The skiing boom in Michigan started after World War II.

There were only 38 winter sports centers in the state 10 years ago, compared with the 85 now.

Loans have been available in recent years from the federal government, through such agencies as the Small Business Administration, to help build the sports centers. Most such centers also figure on summer and year-around business so as to gather the dollars spent on recreation 12 months of a year.

2 Top Broad Jumpers Compete in LA Meet

LOS ANGELES (AP)—America's two top men in the broad jump will meet in the fifth annual Los Angeles Invitational Indoor Track Meet Jan. 18.

Ralph Boston, Olympic champion, will compete against Darrel Horn, who ranks second to Boston in the event.

Warm Weather, Rains Make Over Snow Conditions

Soaring temperatures and rain caused a flutter of dismay among ski enthusiasts in Michigan this week.

Most resort operators said, however, that conditions remained good despite melting snow.
