A four-year-old boy who toppled into the rain-swollen Pontiac Creek yesterday was swept through a 125-foot debris-choked culvert, and plucked from the stream by a neighbor as he emerged from the opposite end.

Ronald Ladwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Ladwell, 38 Deland Ct., is almost none the worse for wear today, except for a few bruises.

Fire department officials summoned to the scene said today the child's trip through the culvert was miraculous. Lieut. David Warrillow estimated that the boy had been submerged more than one minute.

Neighbor Curtis Grandberry rushed to the scene when he heard screams for help from children there.

When the youngsters told him what had happened, Grandberry dashed to the opposite end, and caught the boy as he bobbed out of the pipe.

Taken to his home where he coughed up a little water, Ronald was otherwise unhurt. A Pontiac Fire Department inhalator rushed to the scene was not needed.

According to witnesses, a group of youngsters was playing near the creek, which is higher than usual after the four-inch rain which swamped the city Sunday. Ronald fell in, and a playmate leaped to rescue him.

The current in the creek was too strong for the unnamed would-be rescuer, and the Ladwell boy was torn from his grasp, and sucked into the mouth of the culvert.

Screams of the playmates brought Grandberry to the scene. According to Lieut. Warrillow, the culvert is packed with rubbish, tires and other junk and debris. He estimated the water was six to eight feet deep.

GM, Ford Report Unemployment Now on Decline

Anticipate Rehiring of Men Each Week for Remainder of '56

DETROIT (AP)—Ford Motor Co. and General Motors Corp., two of the nation's Big Three auto makers, said yesterday unemployment at their plants had reached its peak and is on the decline.

Officials of the two firms expressed their views at a conference of government, business and labor officials called to discuss unemployment in the auto industry.

Harry W. Anderson, GM vice president in charge of industrial relations, said his company has called back 2,200 workers since the low point in employment last month.

EXPECT UPTURN

"We anticipate further rehires each week for the balance of the 1956 model run," he said. "With the introduction of new 1957 models in the fall of this year we expect to recall the balance of the 36,000 laid-off seniority employees in Michigan available for work."

John S. Bugas, Ford vice president in charge of industrial relations, said current unemployment conditions "at worst, are about what they were in 1954."

"But," he added, "there is even less reason than there was in 1954 for pessimism."

"As a matter of fact, within the last 48 hours, we have found it necessary at Ford to increase our production schedules of 1956 models," he said.

Michigan's legislature returned to Lansing today to pick up where it left off Thursday in its squabble over liberalizing unemployment benefits.

The Governor's proposals were still tied up in the house labor committee.

"Every time we look at these various proposals we find they are politically expedient instead of being sound," said Rep. Richard C. Van Dusen (R-Birmingham). "We have had nothing but irresponsible hogwash."

"I agree with him," said Rep. George Van Peursem (R-Zeeland), committee chairman. "And I'm not optimistic that we'll find a sound solution in such a short time."

The Republican remarks dealt a blow to Democratic hopes for some sort of increase.

Ill-Fated Airliner Which Crashed Into Atlantic No One Survives as Venezuelan Craft Crashes

ON DELIVERY FLIGHT—Venezuelan Super Constellation airliner that crashed into Atlantic Ocean today is shown in flight last year when it was delivered to the operating company, Linea Aeropostal Venezolana. It was one of two in service between New York and Caracas.

Pontiac Unit Learns in Field Cook or Clerk—All Handle Tanks in Reserve Training

CAMP MCCOY, Wis.—Everyone from company clerk to battalion cook drove a tank and fired its cannon during the two-week annual training session of Pontiac's 703rd Tank Battalion, a unit of the Army Reserve's 70th "Trailblazer" Division.

"That's the way the Pontiac outfit operates," according to Lt. Col. Lloyd A. Gabler, commanding officer.

"With us," he states, "military duty comes first, before any sideline specialties."

"Besides, all the fellows naturally like to tell the folks at home how they drove a tank."

The battalion's 15 officers and 68 enlisted men jumped right into driving practice Monday, the first day at this 63,000-acre World War II basic training camp near La Crosse on the Mississippi River.

The specialized tank crews will culminate the practice today and tomorrow as M4 light tanks speed through practice areas to fire on the run at stationary targets.

The "Trailblazer" unit is a Reserve division of the Fifth Army and has brought about 2,300 men here, including the Pontiac contingent.

An additional 3,000 Regular Army members are temporarily here to give support and instruction, bringing the personnel total up to nearly 17,000, but the soldiers still "rattle" around in this huge camp, built in 1942 to accommodate over 35,000.

Pontiac Reservists are training in 90-degree heat, often working more hours than the 7:15 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. schedule calls for.

Few have left the camp at night for recreation, and excellent fishing and swimming facilities are yet to be enjoyed. Officers are working late at night to prepare the next day's activities.

For driving practice, tank crews use M47 medium tanks, similar to the M48 versions at home in the Pontiac training center, yet they cannot fire the 90 mm cannons on the M47.

Big as Camp McCoy is—seven by 14 miles—the 90 mm. shell can travel 17 miles before striking. A shell missing the target might land in surrounding dairy country.

So they've been firing 75 mm. guns with reduced charges. The Fifth Army also has provided two-seater helicopters and a fleet of small L19 observation planes for the training period, as well as M1 rifles—the infantryman's standby.

Eight recruits new to the Pontiac battalion are handling the M1 for the first time. This is the third day they've practiced aiming and they still have yet to fire a shot.

ROUTE OF AIRLINER—Solid line shows approximate route of Venezuelan airliner from Idelwild airport to a point 250 miles east of Norfolk, Va., before it turned back. Cross marks location of crash about 35 miles east of Asbury Park, N. J.

Brooklyn Boy Orphaned Eastern Tragedy Worst in Commercial Air History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A 10-year-old boy lost his mother, father, sister and brother in the crash today of a Venezuelan airliner.

Abraham Goldstein, 55, of New York, said he was a grandfather of the boy, Lawrence Handler. The boy had been left to stay with his grandparents in Brooklyn.

Twenty Americans and 46 Venezuelans, plus a crew of ten, were aboard the four-engined Super Constellation.

Linea Aeropostal Venezolana, the Venezuelan national airline, was founded more than 25 years ago.

In 1946 it became an international carrier, with routes between New York, Havana and Caracas. It was one of the first lines to operate from Idelwild Airport when it opened in 1948.

It won American Safety Council awards in 1949, 1950 and 1951 for operating without an injury or fatality of passengers or crew members.

The greatest loss of life ever recorded for a plane mishap was when a military C124 went down near Tokyo in 1953 with 129 servicemen aboard.

Captain Luis Plata, pilot of the lost aircraft, has been flying since 1940 and has logged approximately 12,000 hours of flying time, without an accident. He was the president of the Venezuelan Pilots Assn., and his loss will be greatly felt by L.A.V. as will the loss of the other members of his crew.

The Coast Guard said the airliner sank in water about 120 feet deep. Weather at the scene as dawn arrived was described as good and the sea calm.

Wives! --- This Gal's on the Beam

LEVITTOWN, Pa. (AP)—An outspoken woman with the iron of self-reliance in her blood says that many a modern American husband dies too soon because his wife saddles him with endless household tasks.

"Young wives are killing their husbands by expecting them to do too much work when they get home from their jobs," asserted 78-year-old Mrs. Agnes Ferguson Murdoch.

"And it's all done in the name of cooperation! All this talk you hear these days about cooperation. Which really means things like the husband taking over the children as soon as he walks in the door, pitching in on a lot of housework, and all the rest of it. Oh, it's all so familiar, as the men know."

HAS EXPERIENCE

Mrs. Murdoch reared six children of her own and had a big hand in the upbringing of three stepchildren besides.

For most of the 44 years of her married life she took care of a 15-room house with little outside help.

What's more, she thrived on it. Not many would guess that she's crowding 80, nor question her proud boast of "grand" health.

Her husband Alexander has done all right too. He's a sunny, pink-cheeked, eye-twinkling 91.

On the subject of what she calls men's rights, Mrs. Murdoch said:

"I think a husband deserves a chance to relax when he gets home after working all day."

"And I believe wives are pushing their husbands into heart attacks by demanding too much of them."

As Mrs. Murdoch sees it, too many modern women fall victim to self-pity, and self-pity leads to general flabbiness of mind and spirit.

"I managed fine," she said, "even if we didn't have the benefit of all these automatic appliances and other labor-saving gadgets, to say nothing of synthetic fabrics and goods you don't even have to iron."

"We mothers didn't have kaffee klatches as I believe the dailies habit now is called. We didn't have time. But I did take about an hour each day to rest and to be alone just to think."

School Taxes Rise Next Year

City Property Owners to Pay $23.75 a $1,000 for Valuation

Pontiac taxpayers will receive school tax bills next year for $23.75 per $1,000 of city-assessed valuation, the Board of Education was told at its meeting last night.

The rate is nearly $4 higher than last year's $19.84.

Board Treasurer Verne Schiller said the rate is $1.74 less than the County Allocation Board has authorized.

Superintendent of Schools Dana P. Whitmer explained the tax bills are computed on the basis of city assessment values, which are lower than the state's equalized valuations. Under the state rate, he said, the board is authorized to tax 16.33 mills, which rises to 23.75 when applied to city valuations.

Total revenue from the taxes, including authorized millage and voted increases, will be $6,027,048.28, Schiller said.

Roaches Build Immunity to the Very Best Poisons

WASHINGTON (AP) — Alarming news today from the cockroach world.

The persistent little creatures, which have been on this earth 30 million years or so, apparently aim to stick around for another 30 million.

For roaches at the Washington National Airport have spurned man's finest scientific poisons. In the words of exterminator Simon H. Ratner:

"They simply haven't been dying with their accustomed regularity."

Ratner says the story really begins around 10 years ago, when a fine, new poison was assembled. It not only knocked off resident roaches, but also took care of any relatives that might come visiting during the next month or two.

Everything went well until fairly recently when disturbing reports came from Louisiana and Texas about roaches that had built up resistance to the poison.

Manufacturers changed their formula, once again roaches died on schedule, and everyone was happy.

When the airport people called Ratner to say their roaches appeared apathetic about ending it all, he figured he had the trouble diagnosed instantly.

"I decided the roaches had hitchhiked in," he said, "on planes coming from Texas. So I got some of the new poison. But these airport roaches were not only resistant to the old treatment, they also were resistant to the new."

BUGS SMARTER?

So roaches are smarter than scientists, eh?

"Look," Ratner said, "this is no laughing matter. I kept going back with some of the old poisons until I got 'em all."

"But it looks like the same thing is happening that always happens in the pest control business. Get a good poison, and the first thing you know the rats or the bugs are resistant to it."

Since cockroaches appear so determined to remain with us, let's find out a little more about them. "They don't eat enough to bother at all," Ratner said. "The worst part of it is they may walk over the floor and then on to a table and spread germs that way. But the main problem is aesthetic. Mention roaches to most people, and they cringe."

EVEN IN CLEAN HOMES

"Another thing. Cleanliness has nothing to do with it. They're brought in from somewhere, maybe in a carton or a package. Maybe they get behind a baseboard, and lay their eggs. Pretty soon, roaches are everywhere."

"Most husbands blame their wives. 'If you'd keep the place clean,' they say, 'we wouldn't have them.' Nothing to it. I have been called out for roaches in some of the very finest, and cleanest, homes in Washington.

"Another thing. Roaches are nocturnal characters. Since they come out only at night, they may be in the place six months before you see them."

"Then some night mother gets up to give the baby its two o'clock bottle and there they are."

"Mothers with small babies," Ratner said, "are my very best customers."

Straits Bridge High Man Likes Scenery

MACKINAW CITY — Bill Hood, who looks down on the Straits of Mackinac bridge job from atop the 552-foot towers, says he's "never had a prettier place to work."

As a signalman on the project, his job is to "talk in" the tons of tools, steel and men transported by derrick to the top of the main towers.

His post is a steel beam—from which he can see best — high above the water. He operates by telephone headset.

"You get used to it up here,"

Bill says. "As a matter of fact, after you've been up here for a while, you begin to lose your sense of height. The water begins to look as though it were only 250 feet below."

PREFERS "BILL"

Hood, who prefers "Bill" to his given name of Elijah, has been an iron worker since he turned 16 in his native Herrin, Ill.

At 36, and thoroughly experienced, he observes "you've got to be safety minded." He's responsible for relaying instructions to the derrick operator above and to the bargeman who hooks on the loads to be carried aloft.

Wind, cable twist and a number of problems are present on each hoist.

But, when things are a little slow between lifts, Bill whistles away the time admiring the scenery.

"It's beautiful, all of it — the shoreline, the tugs shuttling around, the freighters going through the Straits. I've been a signal man for four years," he says, "but I never had a prettier place to work."

O-JIB-WA OFFERS YOU FREEDOM FROM PAIN

This true, unpaid testimonial, from Mrs. Sherman V. Taylor of Route 2, Lowell, Michigan, tells the facts of how O-Jib-Wa Bitters made it possible for her to walk again, without the terrible pains of Rheumatism and Arthritis.

"I first learned about O-JIB-WA BITTERS about 15 years ago, through a newspaper ad. I was bothered at the time with severe gas and indigestion, so decided to try it. It helped my stomach so much that when rheumatism struck my legs and hips recently, I again called upon this wonderful medicine for help. My left leg often gave out, and at times I couldn't walk a step. I managed to get meals and do some housework, but it was a real chore. I could just barely get around by slowly moving one foot out in front of the other. I didn't see much change in the first five days, and was a little disappointed, but by the time I had taken your medicine for two weeks, I was feeling lots better. I am completely free of pain and stiffness now, and can walk good, and do all my housework with no pain or trouble at all. My brother also took O-JIB-WA BITTERS with good results, so sure thank you for making us feel so good. I'm glad to have this opportunity to tell other sufferers bothered with rheumatism, arthritis or stomach trouble, how O-JIB-WA BITTERS helped me. I'm certain that anyone who gives this medicine a fair trial, will soon see why I praise O-JIB-WA so highly."

Injunction Issued on Racial Bus Laws

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — City and state officials have nine days from today in which to appeal a federal court decision against bus segregation laws in Montgomery or see enforcement of the laws stopped June 29.

A three-judge federal panel in a 2-1 vote yesterday issued an injunction against both the Montgomery and Alabama bus segregation laws. The panel suspended the injunction for 10 days, however, to allow time for its decision to be appealed.

The vote was the same by which the three jurists declared the laws unconstitutional June 5.

Officials said they would have to study the situation before deciding whether to appeal the case directly to the U.S. Supreme Court.

AFL Group to Re-Submit Williams' Endorsement

DETROIT — Officials of the AFL building trades councils say they will reoffer a resolution endorsing Gov. Williams' candidacy for a fifth term at the Michigan Federation of Labor convention today.

The resolution of endorsement was missing from the list of resolutions read on the convention floor yesterday.

Leaders of the building grades group, which claims to represent 150,000 of the state's 350,000 AFL members, said they had submitted the resolution to the resolutions committee well ahead of the deadline, which passed at noon yesterday.

Set Aug. 7 Date for Milford Vote

Electors to Decide on Franchise for Michigan Consolidated Gas Co.

MILFORD — A special election will be held here Aug. 7 on the request for franchise to install natural gas in Milford Township and village.

Township and village officials recently granted the Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. a franchise enabling the company to lay pipelines along township roads and village streets. Necessary branch lines to customers will be maintained by the firm.

Final verdict of the ordinance will be up to voters in August. A check from the gas company for $350 was received by village attorney Harry Mead, to cover expenses of ordinance publication and election costs.

James Spindle and E. G. Reynolds, representatives of the gas firm, met with the village council and township board recently to explain the details of the franchise. All pipeline installation costs for branch lines will be borne by the company, Spindle said. Cost of connecting the line from the curb to heating facilities must be borne by the customer.

Under terms of the franchise the gas company would lay the lines and restore all streets to their former status, Reynolds said.

Junior Sailors of Orchard Lake Launch Activities

Orchard Lake Country Club's Junior Sailors gather each Tuesday for sailing events as summer activities get under way. Cochairmen of this year's activities are Barbara Hobart (left) and Nance Tregenza

Will-O-Way Gives Satire on Business

Leading Character Steals the Show in 'Gold Cadillac'

Bertha Forman, who resembles an average middle-aged American housewife, stole the show at Will-O-Way Tuesday evening — and walked into the hearts of the audience. The play which opened last night is "The Solid Gold Cadillac."

As Mrs. Laura Partridge, owner of 10 shares of stock in General Products Corp., she attends just one stockholders' meeting. Chaos results.

In her own plodding way, Mrs. Partridge ferrets out facts the board of directors prefers to keep quiet. As a stockholders' representative, Mrs. Partridge carries on a voluminous correspondence. Before the end of the play, this results in the discomfort of the board.

The play spoofs big business, the government, and the Senate's frequent investigations of various big officials.

William Smith, playing the part of a big businessman who has to sell all his stock before a government official, has one exhaustingly hilarious scene. He delivers an eulogy in the dramatic manner of the past, complete with numerous gestures.

Robert Bryson, Gerald M. Harrington and Treasa Way Sikorski support Miss Forman in "The Solid Gold Cadillac." Newcomers include a husband and wife team, Danny and Janet Simpson.

Danny Simpson, according to the program, is a native of Pontiac, once known as an exhibition diver. After receiving his master's degree from MSU, he went into the theater.

"The Solid Gold Cadillac" will run nightly, except Monday, through July 1. "The Seven-Year Itch" opens on July 3.

Which Category Fits You Best?

When you get around to the matter of summer vacation wardrobe, women become very easy to handle.

They fall into three general classes: (a) those who like to go dressy (b) those who favor blue jeans and T-shirts and (c) those who combine dressy dresses and the practical, practically no-iron kind of clothes.

This year, all three classes will be made happy by the clothes designers have ready for them. Designers have taken into consideration the facts that all women do not lead completely air-conditioned lives all summer long, that price is a point, that fabrics must hold their own, and that travel can be hot, dusty and wrinkling as well as scenic.

ASN Holds Meeting

Mrs. William Looney entertained members and guests of Alpha Nu Nu sorority at a picnic at her home on Dutton road Monday. Assisting the hostess were Elena Bajari, Mrs. LaMar Peeples and Mrs. Ivan Senters.

For the Daughters

Ensembles (dress and coat in harmonizing fabric and color) are as good for the kiddies this year as they are for the grownups.

all of Birmingham. They're all set for the sailing events to be held at Orchard Lake.

Mrs. Eric Sommer of Birmingham (left) is chairwoman of the junior girls' sailing activities. She is photographed with Marilyn Chaffee (center) and Bonnie Bramblett, both of Birmingham.

Fellowship Class Views Color Films

The Fellowship Bible Class of the First Baptist Church enjoyed an imaginative tour of America through colored motion pictures when members and guests met at the church Tuesday evening.

Completing the evening program were several violin solos presented by Jim Charlton accompanied by Mrs. William Hokea at the piano. David H. Gee was chairman for the evening.

A cooperative dinner was served prior to the program, with Mrs.

Harry Bickford and her committee in charge. Devotions were given by the Rev. William Hokea, assistant pastor of the church.

It's a Good Sale Buy — If You Can Use It

Sales lure all women. But it's a good fashion rule to remember to buy at a sale only those things you can really use. Don't be lured by a red silk dress when you never wear red but feel that you've found a great bargain. It will wear itself out on a hanger in your closet.

U. of M. Group Plans Fall Tea

The executive board of the University of Michigan Alumnae Club met at the home of Mrs. William Gordon on Dwight avenue Monday afternoon.

Suds Lampshade

To wash a fabric lampshade, prepare a deep tubful of warm soap of detergent suds. Then rinse by dunking the shade up and down in warm, clear water until clean, repeating in fresh suds, if needed. Rinse, shake well, and set on a bath towel to dry.

MRS. DON G. PIXLEY

A reception at the Detroit Boat Club followed the Tuesday wedding of Ernestine Persing and Don G. Pixley. The bride, of Lake Orion, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dribben of LaCrosse, Wis. Don is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vern Pixley of Rochester. The ceremony was held in Goodison Methodist Church.

Couple Will Make Home in Rochester After Trip

The Rev. William H. Collycott of Goodison Methodist Church performed the double-ring ceremony Tuesday noon uniting Ernestine Persing and Don G. Pixley.

For the wedding, the bride chose a pale pink ballerina-length gown of crystalet with a round neckline and short sleeves. A looped cord outlined the scoop neckline and sleeves.

Stick to What Suits You Best — All the Time

There is much value in the advice given to mature women that says: find what suits you and stick to it.

One field in which this is particularly true is the matter of hairstyle. It is to the women whose standard style is long hair, done up in a bun, that this column is addressed.

If one's hair begins to lose luster and act droopy, it may be time to have it cut off. Long hair is more difficult to care for, even if it's worn in a bun. It's harder to wash, takes longer to dry and a single strand that falls out is by far more conspicuous, both on the shoulder and down the drain.

Short hair can be shampooed with frequency, since a few rubs of the towel make it dry enough to wear outdoors immediately. The scalp is easier to get at for treatments or massage. If one's scalp is sufficiently oily, a daily shampoo is within reason, a great pleasure in muggy weather.

Soft folds fell from the princess-style waistline, and she wore a small cloche-type hat matching her dress. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls.

The bride, of Lake Orion, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dribben of LaCrosse, Wis. Don is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vern A. Pixley of Rochester.

Mrs. Joyce Yerex of Rochester was her only attendant. She wore a blue street-length dress with a matching scroll hat. Vern A. Pixley served as his son's best man.

For the ceremony and the reception held at the Detroit Boat Club, Mrs. Dribben wore a rose beige lace dress and Mrs. Pixley chose a rose-organza gown.

Following a honeymoon in Nassau, the newlyweds will make their home in Rochester.

Slim Line Upholstery in Current Vogue

A new look has taken over in the field of upholstery. It is best described as the "slim line." The heaviness and bulkiness associated with sofas and upholstered chairs is gone and has been replaced by an air of lightness. Slim legs lift the pieces off the floor. Features of the new simple styling are narrow tapered arms and slim backs and cushions.

Woman's Club Meets at Library

Scholarship Fund Set Up at Monday Gathering

Members of the Pontiac Women's Club met Monday at the Adah Shelly Library for a cooperative luncheon with Mrs. F. R. Alspaugh serving as general chairman.

During a brief business meeting Mrs. Marie Gix was elected to membership and a scholarship fund was established. Mrs. Guy Bevington will serve as chairman of the fund committee.

Helen Bassett, 1936 graduate of Pontiac High School, was awarded a scholarship by the Pontiac Women's Club and has been accepted as a nursing student at Highland Park General Hospital.

The club will also participate with the State Federation of Women's Clubs in establishing a scholarship fund for Marsha Thomas, who will enter University Hospital at Ann Arbor for nurse's training.

"The Magic Suitcase" was the topic discussed by Helen Spencer. She displayed many "miracle articles," each a derivative of petroleum, which she said brought beauty to midlife and cheerfulness and comfort to the home.

Miss Spencer closed with the remark that the manufacture of these products and many others will depend on free enterprise for their development and future scientific progress.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Joseph Painter, Mrs. C. M. Pelican, Mrs. Lewis Stewart, Mrs. Ira Haddrell, Mrs. N. P. Warriner, Louise Padlock, Mrs. W. H. Eustice, Mrs. C. B. Robinson and Mrs. Arthur Sharpe.

Janice Flemington Weds in Rite at Detroit Church

A gown of white organza with tiny tucks edged in lace was worn by Janice Elaine Flemington for her marriage Saturday to Knut Erichsen.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Flemington of Birmingham. Knut, of Bloomfield Hills, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kristofer Erichsen of Oslo, Norway.

The wedding was performed in St. Olaf Lutheran Church, Detroit, with a reception for 200 guests held in the church parlors.

Sue Persons of Elyria, Ohio, wore a yellow, ballerina-length gown for her duties as bridal attendant. She carried a nosegay of blue shasta daisies. Laurie Flemington was flower girl. She wore a dress similar to the bride's in white organza.

Jon Ivarson of Oslo, Norway, was best man. Seating the guests were Norman Flemington of Birmingham, Robert Beder of royal Oak, Eric Matus of Birmingham and Bill Summers of Bay Village, Ohio. Kevin Flemington was ring-bearer.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Woolfenden of Birmingham represent-

Pontiac High School Class of 1898 Gathers at Dinner Reunion

Thoughtful Gift Will Please Bride

If you receive a wedding announcement or an invitation to the church only, you are not obliged to send a gift unless you wish to. However, accepting an invitation to the wedding reception does virtually place you under obligation to send a gift.

Custom as well as courtesy demands that you send the present well before the wedding day. Don't be tempted by the old theory that one can send a wedding gift any time within a year of the wedding — it's too easy to let the obligation slide entirely!

Illness or absence from town are valid excuses for late wedding gifts, but such gifts should always be accompanied by a note explaining the delay.

The amount of money you spend depends on your own means, and on your closeness to the couple. Relatives, godparents or close friends may want to give household appliances or major furnishings, and because of the importance of style and color, should work these out in consultation with the bride or her parents.

If your problem is one of wanting to send a small gift to a friend or acquaintance, but not being able to spend much money, then try for something useful, but just a little bit different.

For instance, instead of giving a print or picture, you might give a certificate for framing at a local frame shop. Later, the couple can have a favorite print framed in the style which coordinates with their decor.

For a couple who are hi-fi fans, you might give one well chosen record album. Useful and seldom thought of would be a collapsible luggage rack, for they're sure to have guests and usually in a first home every inch of space counts!

If you are handy, embroider or edge one pair of fine-quality pillow slips — an inexpensive gift but one which could become an heirloom.

Grains Recede in Profit-Taking

CHICAGO (AP)—Grains started out very strong on the Board of Trade today but then slipped back on profit-taking. Prices continued to hold above the previous close, however.

Dealings were active. Largest gain was in July soybeans and this contract held up well as trading progressed. Largest reaction from the opening bulge occurred in wheat which ran into a lot of profit-taking.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was unchanged 1/4 higher, July $2.10 1/4; corn 1/4 higher, July $1.47 1/4; oats 1/4 higher, July $1.25; soybeans 1-3/4 higher, July $3.00; hard 15-20 cents a hundred pounds higher, July $11.05.
