Hurricane Helene Slashes Toward Carolinas

160-Mile Gales, Rains Lash Tokyo Area

Raging River Carries 1,200 Away in Worst Storm in 24 Years

From Our News Wires

TOKYO — The worst typhoon in 24 years lashed the Tokyo area with 160-mile winds and the heaviest rains in the city's history early today, taking a toll that authorities feared may amount to as many as 1,600 dead.

At latest reports, 303 persons were known dead, 1,286 were officially "missing"—with little hope that more than a few would ever be seen alive again—and 1,943 were injured. Record 16- to 20-inch rains left nearly 400,000 persons homeless.

The howling storm struck its most devastating blow at the Izu Peninsula, 75 miles southwest of Tokyo, where the rain-swollen Kano River roared through 10 cities and villages, killing at least 148 persons and carrying some 1,200 away.

Rescuers near the mouth of the raging river snatched about 100 persons from its dirty brown waters, but there was little doubt that most of the 1,211 still missing were carried far out to sea.

Almost a half million houses were flooded and 30,000 acres of rice paddies ruined.

The known casualty toll was expected to rise as communications with the disaster areas were fully restored.

A half dozen villages on the scenic Izu Peninsula 70 miles below Tokyo were struck by 100-mile-an-hour winds and raging floods. Newspaper reports said 80 bodies were recovered from the swollen Kano River and 600 were missing. Police confirmed at least 38 killed in that area.

Entire families were reported buried alive in landslides.

In Tokyo, drenched by a record 15 1/2-inch rainfall, police said 23 persons were killed and 14 missing. Four were electrocuted by broken power lines.

Firemen, troops and volunteer rescue crews were dispatched from Mishima and Numazu to the Izu Peninsula. Tokyo's police and firemen worked around the clock and troops were mobilized to mop up damage. U. S. military crews worked with them.

Medical teams were organized in seven major hospitals and 13 health centers, and tetanus vaccine was prepared for 180,000 shots. The Water Bureau issued a warning that city reservoirs

5-Cent Postage Penalty Deferred Until Feb. 1

The 5-cent postage due penalty on unpaid or insufficiently prepaid mail has been deferred again until Feb. 1, Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield announced yesterday.

This action was taken to permit further study by the Post Office Department and to avoid possible confusion during the holiday mail season.

The penalty, previously had been suspended to Oct. 31 following the new postal rates which went into effect Aug. 1.

Extensive Study on Baby Babbling Bursts Bubble

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Two college professors who did research on baby babbling say sounds that resemble "Ma Ma" mean discomfort.

"It's an unhappy utterance," said Dr. Ray Bixler. "A cry of distress," added Dr. Harold Yeager.

It means mother should come running. A change may be in order, or it's dinner time.

The University of Louisville psychologists did extensive research on the subject, even inquiring of foreigners.

In any language, "Ma Ma" means the same, they wrote in the current issue of Psychological Reports.

"Baba, Dada, Gaga, Dididi and Glub-Glub are happy sounds," they added.

They believe "Ma Ma" was the first spoken word—probably shortened from the natural crying sound "Mamamamama."

Mental Health Plans Rejected

State Agency Refuses to Act on Proposals of Probate Judges

The State Mental Health Commission yesterday turned thumbs down on proposals made by a committee of Michigan probate judges seeking to find beds for some 500 persons waiting admission to mental institutions.

Oakland County Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore, chairman of the committee, said members were "uniformly disgusted" after the five-member commission announced no steps will be taken until January when the State Legislature convenes.

At that time, the commission told Judge Moore, the State Department of Mental Health would ask for an additional $18,600,000 so that 1,080 vacant beds could be put in use. Judge Moore said the present department appropriation for 1958-59 is already 62 million dollars.

He said he would now appeal directly to Gov. Williams and legislators "so that steps be taken now and not in the future."

The committee of judges presented a survey showing 960 vacant beds in the state, and urging an appeal to the State Administrative Board to appropriate money so that these beds could be filled by those on the waiting list.

If this wouldn't work, Judge Moore said, the committee would have requested the current Legislature to be called back in session to provide the needed money.

"But they refused to do anything about this pressing emergency matter," the judge said in returning to Pontiac. The meeting before the commission was held in Lansing Friday afternoon.

"They said there always has been a waiting list and always will," Judge Moore commented.

History Compiled by Postal Worker

Pontiac Post Office Was First in Oakland County

(Editor's Note: George C. Stenson is employed in the finance section of the Pontiac Post Office, and has been employed in the local office since Jan. 1, 1929. He is president of the Pontiac Metropolitan Club. As a hobby he has compiled a history of the Post Office in Pontiac, devoting many hours in research. The Press prints herewith a condensed version of this history.)

By GEORGE C. STENSON
On the 12th day of January in 1819, Gov. Lewis Cass issued a proclamation fixing the tentative boundaries of Oakland County.

The old Indian Trail from Detroit to Saginaw crossed the Clinton River midway between Water Street and Orchard Lake Avenue, and as this point was the logical location for a settlement, this became the site of the future city of Pontiac.

As might be expected, the first post offices established in Oakland County were located in the two townships into which Oakland

President Taps Retired General for Adams' Job

Wilton Persons to Take Post as Chief Assistant in White House

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today appointed retired Maj. Gen. Wilton B. Persons as his chief assistant to succeed Sherman Adams.

Persons, 62, has been serving as deputy assistant to the President.

The White House said Eisenhower also intends later to appoint a deputy to Persons. The title will be chosen later.

Eisenhower also named Bryce N. Harlow as deputy assistant to the President for congressional affairs, a new title. Harlow is now a special assistant to Persons for congressional affairs.

Rounding out the new White House top command is the already announced selection of Robert Merriam, former assistant budget director, as deputy assistant to the President for interdepartmental affairs.

Persons' appointment came six days after Adams announced he would resign.

Adams, Eisenhower's right-hand man during most of his time in office, quit under fire, announcing his decision in a dramatic TV-radio broadcast.

Adams' relations with his good friend, Boston industrialist Bernard Goldfine, had been investigated by a House committee and there were demands from Republicans that Adams get out.

Where Oh Where Has Our New Vanguard Gone?

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A basketball sized Vanguard satellite geared to probe weather conditions apparently was still lost today.

The three-stage rocket blasted into space with its 22-pound payload yesterday, but scientists are not sure what happened.

Two scientists at Johannesburg, South Africa, who picked up an early signal from the satellite said they believed it wound up in the Indian Ocean.

Douglas Hogg and William Porter at a tracking station in Johannesburg said they had received the signal 38 minutes after launching. The satellite was traveling fast and too low to last long, they said.

New City Post Office Is Dedicated Today

Another memorable event in Pontiac's 97 years as a city was written into history this afternoon with the dedication of the city's new post office on West Huron street.

Sunny skies welcomed citizens and guests as Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield delivered the dedication address outside the $850,000 building.

Giving the invocation from the speaker's platform was Dr. Milton H. Bank, pastor of the Central Methodist Church. At the conclusion of the ceremonies the Rev.

Thompson Marcero, pastor of St. Vincent de Paul Church, presented the benediction.

Prior to the dedication program, music was furnished by the Pontiac Central High School band. Open house was held in the post office after the ceremony.

The Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce sponsored today's dedication program.

Official acceptance of the new building marks the start of postal service here from a building devoted exclusively to the service.

GM Sees Strike Inevitable if UAW Won't Back Down

By JACK VANDENBERG

UPI Automotive Editor

DETROIT—General Motors Corp., hamstrung by local strikes throughout the nation, appeared ready today to settle for a nationwide strike by the United Auto Workers Union.

GM Vice President Louis G. Seaton, chief negotiator for the world's largest auto company, said his firm "will not go beyond the Ford settlement in any agreement with the union."

It was perhaps the strongest stand taken by any company in talks with the union to date and came in the wake of repeated statements by UAW President Walter P. Reuther that GM and Chrysler would have to give more than Ford to reach an agreement.

"If the union refuses to trim its demands in line with the Ford agreement, we may have trouble," Seaton said. "But we already have trouble from widespread local strikes so the threat of a national strike is an empty thing to us."

The UAW is scheduled to strike GM plants throughout the nation if an agreement is not reached before 10 a.m. (EST) Tuesday.

Reuther said the union was not asking for more economic gains from GM but "there are certain demands in line with the Ford agreement, we may have trouble," Seaton said. "But we already have trouble from widespread local strikes so the threat of a national strike is an empty thing to us."

Desert Myrtle Beach as Storm Nears Coast

Damage Reports Increase; Call Out National Guard in Disaster Area

MYRTLE BEACH, S. C. (UPI)—Hurricane Helene swung toward the north today, threatening the busy port and resort city of Wilmington with its winds of 125 miles an hour.

The tropical howler had appeared certain to smack inland slightly north of this popular but now-deserted resort town on the South Carolina seaboard, but it still was hugging the coast some 40 miles offshore at 9 a.m. (Pontiac time).

Plenty of advance warning from the Weather Bureau and Civil Defense authorities had emptied the danger areas of practically all residents. Thousands fled inland or checked in at numerous emergency shelters.

A special 9 a.m. bulletin from the Weather Bureau said the storm's center was about 40 statute miles southwest of Cape Fear, N. C. It was expected to hit close to that spot during the afternoon.

Damage reports began mounting during the morning—Rube blown off beach houses at Kure Beach, power poles and lines down in many areas, planking ripped off the boardwalk at Carolina Beach, fishing piers badly damaged in the Myrtle Beach area.

The Lafayette Bridge on Highway 17 north of Georgetown, S.C., was blown open and jammed. The bridge is the swivel type that swings from a middle pivot.

60 M.P.H. GUSTS
Winds jumped to gusts of 60 miles an hour this morning in the Cape Fear area and gusts up to 90 miles an hour were reported at the Oak Island Coast Guard Station near there.

Further down the beach in the vicinity of Myrtle Beach, winds were no higher than 50 miles an hour this morning.

The hurricane was accompanied by driving rain, whipped to froth by the winds. Georgetown south of Myrtle Beach had 2.5 inches. Frying Pan Lightship, the southern guardian of Cape Hatteras, reported winds of 90 miles an hour in gusts this morning.

The Weather Bureau warned that tides would continue to rise 7 to 10 feet above normal and probably higher in some spots between Myrtle Beach and Hatteras during the day.

Civil Defense authorities said the evacuation of danger zones on the beaches was orderly in most cases, but in some instances they had to threaten forcible evacuation. No arrests were reported.

ADVANCE WARNING

Plenty of advance warning had practically cleared the beaches. National Guardsmen were on patrol to prevent looting of vacated stores and homes.

Helene chose almost exactly the "port of entry" as her older sister, Hazel, a storm that caused heavy damage three years ago in the same area. Marks of Hazel's wrath still were apparent.

Old Couple Won't Leave Goat Island

CHARLESTON, S. C. (AP)—Hurricane or no hurricane, Henry and Blanche Holloway prefer to stay with their 40 goats on Goat Island north of here.

If need be, said the hermit couple—both in their 80s—they could sit out Hurricane Helene in their dugout cave or in "one of our big friendly trees."

Although the mile-long island is less than six feet above water at its highest point, the Holloways weren't worried. "God is going to take care of us all right," they said.

The island has been home for the Holloways and their herd of goats for many years.

They've taken cover in one of the big oak trees that cover the island during previous storms.

"These big old trees are my friends," said Holloway.

NBC to Probe '21' Charges

2nd Contestant Claims He Received Answers in Advance

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Broadcasting Co. says it will launch an immediate investigation into charges by a second former contestant on the quiz show "21" that the program was fixed.

Artist James Snodgrass, 35, said yesterday he had received answers in advance and was told when to miss after a series of matches with Hank Bloomgarden, a $92,500 winner. Snodgrass took home $4,000.

NBC said, "This comes as a complete surprise to us. We had absolutely no knowledge of it." The network added it would undertake a "prompt and thorough investigation of the charges."

Jack Barry and Dan Enright, co-producers of the program, declined comment.

Snodgrass told reporters he made the charges to Dist. Atty. Frank Hogan's office and to a grand jury investigating quiz shows. He added he would have let the matter lie if he had not been subpoenaed.

Bloomgarden also appeared before the grand jury, but refused to comment publicly.

Herbert Stempel, another former "21" contestant, charged recently he was coached on answers and told when to miss questions as he compiled winnings of $49,000 on the show.

Cooler but Pleasant Is Weekend Outlook

Partly cloudy and continued cool is the weather outlook for the Pontiac area tonight with the low near 48. Today's northwest winds will decrease tonight increasing tomorrow at 10-16 miles an hour.

Cooler temperatures will continue Sunday with the high reaching around 70. The U. S. Weather Bureau predicts Monday will be fair and a little warmer.

Fifty-four was the lowest recording in downtown Pontiac before 8 a.m. The mercury rose to 70 at 1 p.m.

1,600 Feared Dead in Tokyo Typhoon may have been contaminated by flood waters.

Sides over the city were sunny this afternoon as Ida, named typhoon No. 22 and classified as one of the worst ever to approach the island nation, headed north still packing 50 m.p.h. winds.

The Weather Bureau said the typhoon may hit Hokkaido, Japan's northernmost island, tonight.

The Coast Guard reported 15 vessels sank in the height of the typhoon and eight more were swept away to sea. Twenty-six seamen were listed among the missing.

Japan's railroad traffic was still tangled by flood damage.

Air traffic resumed at the International Airport.

The storm collapsed some houses in Tokyo, crumbled part of the Imperial Palace wall and left thousands of stranded commuters wading up to waist deep in streets lined with abandoned cars.

The Imperial Palace moat overflowed and a police crew was dispatched to catch the escaped royal fish-carp.

Some 50,000 householders sought refuge in schools and public buildings.

THEY STOPPED . . . TOO LATE — This "stop" sign at Pike street and Shirley avenue failed to prevent a crash last night. The result was this collision between a city bus and a car which sent two persons to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital. Mrs. Virginia Heath, 38, of 86 S. Perry St., the driver of the bus, told Pontiac police the car, driven by Roy W. Griffith, 28, of Avon Township, darted in front of her bus at the intersection.

Mrs. Heath was treated and released, while David Kershner, 23, of 56 Michigan Ave., a passenger with Griffith, was listed in good condition at the hospital after suffering head lacerations and multiple abrasions. Griffith told police he stopped at sign, let another car go through, and proceeded through himself when his car was struck by the bus.

Virginia Schools Await Decision

Federal Court to Hear Appeals for Delay of Integration Today

BALTIMORE (AP) — Two Virginia communities ask a federal court today for a year's delay in integration of their public schools.

Appeals by Warren County and Norfolk officials were carried to a three-judge federal appeals court sitting here in emergency session. Virginia officials, meanwhile, marked time in the segregation crisis while awaiting the court's decision.

Warren County High School, at Front Royal, has been padlocked by the state. A recently enacted Virginia statute gives the governor that right when desegregation is imminent.

Six junior and senior high schools at Norfolk have been ordered to admit 17 Negroes. Opening of the schools has been postponed until Monday, awaiting legal action. If that action upholds immediate integration, the next move is up to the state.

Two Charlottesville schools are closed because of court-ordered integration. But the community there is holding a semblance of classes—white—in private dwellings. Negro schools are running normally.

Norfolk and Warren County already had appealed for a temporary postponement from Chief Justice Simon E. Sobeloff of the Fourth U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals. He refused both. However, he offered to call the full court in emergency session to review both cases.

Sobeloff also refused a year's delay to Charlottesville. He said that he, as a single appellate judge, could not justify postponing a district judge's decision—without exceptional reasons.

Post Office in Pontiac First in Oakland County

was back at 15 East Lawrence St., with 14 employees.

Free delivery was established in 1906. In July of 1908 Congress decreed that all horses drawing mail wagons must have 30 days vacation each year.

In June of 1912, the Government purchased the property at the northeast intersection of Huron and Perry Streets, and erected a building at a cost of $80,000. This building was remodeled and enlarged in 1928, doubling its capacity of the building. During the time that remodeling operations were taking place, the post office was temporarily located at 40 Patterson Street, midway between Saginaw Street and Cass Avenue, on the north side of the Street.

The office returned to the enlarged building on Nov. 23, 1929. More employees were added then and at intervals since, until there are now about 275 on the force.

Growth of Pontiac and its suburban area has necessitated opening of branch or contract offices in recent years: In Huron Gardens Aug. 1, 1951; on North Perry St. near Glenwood July 15, 1950 (closed in March of this year); and at Union Lake Jan. 16, 1953.

On Oct. 5, 1955 a post office garage was constructed at 138 West Pike St., for storage and servicing of mail trucks.

Last December the post office added to its equipment the "Mailster," a three-wheeled motor-powered vehicle used for combined delivery of mail and parcel post in some areas, where carrier service on foot is not practical.

With opening of the new post office being dedicated today, the Huron Gardens branch was closed (July 26) and the branch equipment and personnel transferred to the downtown office. A contract branch was reopened in the northern part of the city, at Walton and Baldwin.

Herodotus, known as the "Father of History," was the author of several books of history dealing principally with the Greek-Persian Wars, and in writing of the mounted couriers of Xerxes, composed the following:

"Neither snow, nor rain, nor heat, nor gloom of night stays these couriers from the swift completion of their appointed rounds."

This sentence has been very fittingly inscribed on the facade of the New York post office. A great many people believe that this is the motto of the Post Office Department. Such, however, is not the case. But when you take into consideration the unfailing devotion to duty of all postal employees, and the unwritten axiom that "The Mail Must Go Through" regardless of the extremes of weather, be it hot or cold, be it fair or inclement, be the night dark or the day sunny, could you think of a better motto?

Enrollments Cut as MSU Tightens Up

EAST LANSING (UPI) — The recession and a budget-cut were blamed today for holding Michigan State University's fall term enrollment to 20,549, down 181 from fall term last year.

The figure includes 952 students enrolled in off-campus extension courses for credit.

Late enrollments may increase the figures slightly, MSU Vice President Tom Hamilton said.

"This is accordance with our enrollment plans," Hamilton said. "Being unable to take more students (because of a one-million-dollar budget cut), our selective admissions policies were continued and higher academic standards were demanded of students who wished to continue in the university."

"Despite the more optimistic economic outlook, many of our students' families continued to be affected by the recession. More of our students than ever before are seeking part-time jobs, loans and other ways in which they can assume at least a part of the cost of their education."

Vote Is Today in Little Rock

Expect Heavy Turnout for Crucial Referendum on Integration

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Election officials predict a heavy vote in today's crucial referendum on the integration of Little Rock schools.

The ballot offers a choice of allowing Negroes to attend all schools in the Little Rock school district, or restricting them to their own segregated schools.

There are about 42,000 eligible voters, including 8,000 Negroes. Tension over the election has been rising during the past few days.

Last night Gov. Orval E. Faubus, who closed the city's four high schools two weeks ago in a move to avoid immediate integration, appealed for a heavy turnout at the polls.

He assailed Little Rock factions that have been promoting a vote for integrated schools. But Faubus said he was not trying to influence the election. "The decision is yours," he declared in a locally televised speech. "As your public servant, I will abide by your decision."

A plea for approval of integrated schools was made last night by four of Little Rock's church leaders. They appeared on a televised program sponsored by a women's group that contends the high schools can only be opened if voters approve integration.

Faubus has proposed a private school plan. He said last night that private institutions would not be subject to court rulings and therefore could be operated on a segregated basis.

Trying to Solve China Question

India Is Sounding Out Envoys of Both Sides on Formosa Crisis

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — India's veteran mediator V. K. Krishna Menon has been sounding out delegates from both sides of the Iron Curtain with a plan aimed at breaking the Formosa deadlock.

Informants said Menon, who had played a middle role in helping solve past East-West disagreements at the U. N., wants to make the offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu a no-man's land, while a political settlement is sought for Formosa.

Under this proposal, the sources said, the Chinese Nationalists would pull their armed forces from the islands, while the Red Chinese would promise not to attempt any landings during negotiations.

The Indians are understood to feel that next Tuesday—when the talks between U. S. and Red Chinese ambassadors resume in Warsaw—will be the critical stage in the bargaining session between the United States and Red China.

The United States has made it pretty clear that if the Warsaw talks break down it will toss the issue before the General Assembly, or the Security Council.

WHAT LUTHERANS BELIEVE ABOUT THE LORD'S SUPPER

When a girl promises her hand in marriage, it is an added joy to have an engagement ring as evidence of the happy fact. What a blessing if a jeweler could invent a ring that would guarantee a "till death do us part" marriage!

In the Lord's Supper our Lord has given us something more wonderful, to bind us closely in love to Him and to one another. Christ speaks of Himself as the Bridegroom and of His Church as His Bride. In this Sacrament He gives proof again and again of His love and . . . more marvelous still . . . here His Body and Blood sustain our love and keep us His forever.

At His last Supper with His disciples our Lord Jesus took bread and wine and as He gave it to them said, "This is My Body, My Blood, given for you for the remission of your sins."

What is the point of it all? Christians show their trust in His death for sins as they follow His directive, "This do in remembrance of Me." They take as their own the forgiveness which His broken Body and shed Blood earned for men when they do this act in faith.

Your Lutheran friends urge you not to miss the blessings of this Sacrament, for here Jesus gives Himself to His followers! It is only by the power of God that the Son of God could come to earth in the form of a Babe . . . and it is by the same power of God that He can come to us with the forms of Bread and Wine.

The pastor at your neighborhood Lutheran Church is ready to help you prepare to receive these blessings!

Terraces, Porches, Patios Surround Ranch Home

By JOHN O. B. WALLACE
AP Newsfeatures
Six outdoor living areas have been deftly linked to form an inviting fresh air border for this autumn offering in the House of the Week series.
The nine-room ranch plan, designated X-25, provides outside activity space for every member of the family. The perimeter areas are arranged so that all can be reached directly from interior rooms.
The result is a traffic pattern with an efficiency seldom achieved in residential designs.
The hub is formed by the living area — dining, living and recreation rooms. Radiating from the hub are traffic routes leading to all parts of the house, both inside and out. The plan is the work of Herman H. York, a New York architect.
The outdoor border includes (1) a covered rear porch, (2) a rear terrace the full width of the house, (3) a corner dining terrace, (4) a side area for a children's supervised play terrace, (5) a "buffer" breezeway, and (6) a partially covered front entrance.
The "buffer" breezeway separates the more formal living areas of the house from the garage and its adjoining man's hideaway room. The latter is an 11 by 19 foot space providing full privacy for the man of the house in his pursuit of hobbies or crafts. The hideaway room is an important interior detail.
Complete details of the plan follow, area by area:
This area includes the living room, 15 feet 4 inches by 20 feet 4 inches, and the dining room, 12 by 13 feet 4 inches. Both are at the back overlooking the rear terrace and gardens.
A brick wall fireplace, which is an extension of an indoor barbecue unit in the recreation room-kitchen area, separates the living and dining rooms, assuring privacy and formality to each.
In a separate wing at the right are the sleeping rooms and two baths. There is space for either three or four bedrooms, depending on whether an adult den is wanted. The master bedroom, 12 by 15 feet, has a private bath with stall shower, four sliding door closets, a twin corner-window arrangement and a separate exit to a rear covered porch.

The two front bedrooms are cross ventilated and have three and two closets, respectively. There is a central hall leading to all rooms and baths. The fourth bedroom (or den) also has a separate exit to the rear porch.
The kitchen, scientifically planned and attractively equipped, overlooks the children's play area. A cook-top range is set on a triangular-shaped island. Storage cabinets are built into the range unit.
The island range, the architect says, "expands the amount of counter top work space and minimizes the housewife's kitchen routine because it separates the areas for preparation, cooking and cleaning."
There is a direct exit from the kitchen to the outdoor dining terrace, and an indoor brick wall barbecue separates the kitchen and the adjoining recreation room.
The kitchen is entered from the breezeway through a small service hall which contains a lavatory, a mud closet and the basement stairway. The laundry room and the heating plant are below in the full basement.
In addition to the outdoor terraces and porches, there is the the basement or in a small section of a garage.

Here, the architect decided to give more importance to the workshop and endow it with a pleasant atmosphere and more privacy. It is fully equipped with work bench, storage closet and abundant wall space for tools and other utility purposes.

THE EXTERIOR
Vertical boards are used around the garage-hideaway area and brick veneer is used at the entrance. Hand split wood shingles are used elsewhere on outside walls. Asphalt shingles are used for the roof. The chimney is of brick.

The breezeway is covered between the kitchen and the garage-hideaway room. Flagstones or slate set in concrete are specified for the outdoor terraces.

Overall dimensions are 62 feet 10 inches by 72 feet 10 inches. The habitable area has 2,048 square feet. The garage and hideaway room have 630 square feet. A minimum lot, 100 by 125 feet, is recommended.

Utilize Odd Places in Bath for Storage

Dwarf-type storage counts up to big utilization of dabs and dabs of space. With modern building materials, it's an easy matter to occupy wasted space with storage devices.

Under the lavatory in the bathroom is an ideal, though small, storage space. Frame it with 1x2-inch lumber and cover it with tough, wear-resistant, easy-to-paint hardboard. Add a shelf and a door and you've made a neat storage place for cleansing powder, extra soap bars, cleaning brushes and possibly some linen, as well.

Line the inside with Peg-Board, and the door, too, and you'll double your capacity. Get matching hooks from the lumber yard and hang on them items that otherwise have to be stored out of the bathroom.

A second, shallow medicine cabinet either jutting from the wall about four inches or recessed between wall studs, is another dwarf-type storage unit that will be a joy to the family. Use glass shelves and close the cabinet with Peg-Board or hardboard sliding doors.

Maintenance costs on a jet engine: $120 per hour. On a piston engine: $75 per hour.

Build Bench on Spare Door

A full-fledged work bench usually is a luxury reserved for the homeowner. Yet you can improvise one in an apartment if you have a spare, solid closet door—leading say, into a storage closet.

Using plywood, hinges and a piece of 2 by 6 as a base, the latter secured against the back of the door, make your apartment work bench in much the same way you would make a drop leaf table mounted on a wall.

The top edge of the 2 by 6 base should be placed about 36 inches off the floor and mounted horizontally on the inside of the door with the 6-inch-wide face against the door. The base should be trimmed enough at the sides to permit the door to close.

The plywood bench should be cut the same width of the trimmed base and about 30 inches in depth. Hinge it to the base.

A lightweight, collapsible "horse" completes the apartment work bench. Simply open the closet door, raise the plywood on its hinges and rest it on the horse.

The part of the door above the drop-leaf work bench can be used to hang tools and materials just as if it were the back of a basement work bench.

Good Heating System Fits House, Comfort Needs

A house that looks like a dream home in summer can be a nightmare of discomfort in winter unless it has a good heating system. Fortunately, the selection of a good heating system is not particularly difficult, but it requires care and thought.

The first rule is don't buy on price alone. Beware of the bid that looks like a bargain. It may include inferior equipment and short cuts in the installation.

Remember, too, that a heating system is a long-time investment. Buy with the idea that you will be living with your heating system for at least 10 years and longer.

The second rule is to know the reputation of your heating contractor. He should be willing to give you names and addresses of customers for whom he has installed heating. The general appearance of his shop and his employees should instill confidence. Your local gas utility or fuel oil supplier can often help you.

Check on the reputation of the manufacturer, too. Alarmed by the number of sub-standard heating systems installed since the war, most manufacturers now issue strong, plainly-worded warranties covering their equipment.

A good heating contractor is always willing to explain why he recommends a particular make of furnace in terms of the way it is built, efficiency, safety and durability.

Finally, remember that no matter how good the furnace, it is no more efficient than the way it is installed. A competent and experienced heating contractor will inspect the house and talk to the owner about his comfort requirements before making recommendations.

One he knows how a house is constructed—the number, size and position of doors and windows, the amount of insulation, and other factors involved in a scientific study of heat loss—he can tell what equipment is needed and how it should be installed.

Installation has been greatly simplified by the development of the factory-engineered heating systems. All parts and fittings are standardized and the furnace is designed to work in harmony with the air distribution system. This takes the guesswork out of installation.

Other points to remember: 1. The furnace and air distribution system should be installed in such a way that summer air conditioning can be added simply and economically. Such planning ahead can save costly alterations in the future and it adds to the re-sale value of your house.

2. Make sure the installer is willing and able to service what he sells.

3. Do your heating shopping early. Breakdowns usually occur during sub-freezing weather.

Has Its Ups and Downs

The expression "raising the roof" dates from the Old West. The roof was built separately from the rest of the house and a man's neighbors would help him lift it onto the house's framework. Then all would join in a party celebrating the event. Today, a roof can be "lowered" by applying "Ranch-line" shingles whose wider tabs blend with a home's long, low look. The party is optional.

Hard Maple Floor Excellent in Kitchen

A new attitude in kitchen floors. Interior decorators "discover" Northern hard maple for kitchen floors every three or four years. This year is one of them. The maple wood blends beautifully with the new type of wood kitchen cabinets built of maple and birch.

Maple floors are easy on the building budget and never require replacing. Properly finished, they require no scrubbing. Soft brushing will do the trick. And floors of Northern maple are handsome.

Another reminder! The top or finish hardwood floor should not be laid until plastering and cement work are thoroughly dried and woodwork and trim installed. As a final reminder, turn the heat on for at least ten days before you lay hardwood flooring. This precaution applies for either summer or winter.

Match Boards Up First for Beautiful Walls

Do you want a beautiful wood-paneled wall with an exquisite pattern of contrasting grain and texture? Then, here's an idea. Cut your panel boards to exactly fit the wall. Then, lay them out on the floor and carefully select each board so that you have the ideal combination of contrasting boards next to each other.

For best results, you may wish to finish the panel boards before installing. If you use such lovely, tawny-toned woods as western red cedar or Douglas fir, you can use clear lacquers or varnishes to retain their lovely, golden colors.

Only Two Thirds

Less than two-thirds of the cost of a new home today is spent on the home itself, a recent study reveals. The rest is spent for land, fees and other builder's expenses.

4 Top Officials Quit Airtemp

Resignations Believed
Part of Reorganization
Plan for Company

DAYTON, Ohio (UPI) — The Chrysler Airtemp Corp., a subsidiary of Chrysler Corp., announced the resignation yesterday of four top officials at its plant here.

The four are Carl E. Buchholz, president; John F. Knoff, vice president in charge of sales; M. T. Bard, director of branch operations; and R. L. Forsberg, director of marketing.

Company officials did not comment on the resignations, but Bard's resignation was announced "for personal reasons."

It was understood the action is part of a reorganization program and that the company is mapping "a vigorous new sales and product campaign."

It was learned that Paul M. Augenstein of the General Electric in Louisville, Ky., would become president and Joseph B. Ogden of RCA Whitpool at St. Joseph, Mich., will be named vice president in charge of sales.

The firm, which employs 1,700 persons here, manufactures heating and air conditioning equipment and gunnery and fire control for tanks.

Expect Record Vote on School Bond Issue

UTICA — Voters in the Utica Community School District are expected to turn out in record numbers Monday to decide a proposed $54-million school bond issue, Fred Atkinson, schools superintendent, said today.

Atkinson and other school officials have been making numerous personal appearances before clubs and organizations in recent weeks to explain the proposed school expansion program.

The bond issue is designed to meet future school needs, resulting from anticipated population growth in the Utica area, the superintendent said. It will cover cost of additional classrooms, schools, sites equipment and an administration building to house special teachers and administrators.

The alternative, Atkinson said, would be half-day sessions.

Lake Orion Pilot in Crash-Landing Escapes Unhurt

No amount of good luck charms could have brought a Lake Orion pilot more good fortune than he experienced yesterday when forced to crash-land his plane.

State Police reported that Jared Voorhees, 27, of 3280 Kern Rd., had motor trouble while flying his one-engine plane over Bald Mountain Golf Course, in Orion Township.

Voorhees told police he tried to make an emergency landing on the golf course. Completely without power, he misjudged the course and overshot it, police related.

A wing of the plane hit a tree. The aircraft spun around in mid-air and came down on its landing gear.

Police said the landing gear was broken off, windshield broken out, propeller broken off, and the body damaged in several places. Voorhees stepped from the plane without a scratch.

Unwanted Eggs Refuse to Stay Buried in Yard

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) — In preparing an eight-pound female turtle for soup, Floyd H. Hessel-tine buried the unused portions, including 34 eggs, in his back yard.

Mrs. Hessel-tine yesterday found 31 young turtles, three inches long crawling around her garden.

The eggs had incubated in the earth and the turtles had clawed their way to the surface.

Lets Woman Sue Bishop of Lansing

FLINT (UPI) — Circuit Judge Stephen J. Roth refused yesterday to dismiss a $200,000 damage suit against Bishop Joseph H. Albers of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Lansing.

A Mount Morris woman, Mrs. Mary Downum, was injured in a fall at St. John Vianini Church in Flint. Counsel for Bishop Albers, statutory trustee of the church, urged the suit be dismissed because Mrs. Downum was in a charitable organization, the church, when she was injured.

However, Judge Roth ruled that private charitable organizations are not immune to lawsuits. Many of the charitable organizations are now big businesses, he said.

"If they are to be relieved from negligence, it gives them an opportunity to be careless without redress and in effect put a premium on the neglect of duty," he added.

Wintergreen Oil Drink Fatal to Inkster Child

DETROIT (UPI) — A 2-year-old suburban Inkster girl died in Receiving Hospital yesterday of what doctors said was an undetermined dose of wintergreen oil.

Police said the girl, Queen Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Robinson, apparently drank the oil without her parents knowledge.

15 Russians Ready to Tour America

Car Production Estimated Total for Year May Exceed 4,350,000

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Production of U. S. built automobiles in this year's final quarter has been scheduled at more than 1,460,000 cars.

The figure can be reached if there is no serious interruption to production. It would compare with the 1,440,000 units built in last year's October-December period. And it would bring production for the calendar year to better than 4,350,000.

To help stimulate demand for the 1959 model year the car makers have developed a wider variety of models. What they have not built in this country they are importing.

Station wagons have shown a steadily increasing share of car-buyer interest in recent years. Offered in varying sizes—from five to nine passenger capacity—they accounted for about 15 per cent of 1958 vehicle output. Two years ago they represented about 11 per cent.

It is being estimated 1959 output will be 17 per cent.

Industry authorities continue to differ widely in their views concerning the U. S. market for smaller cars. Most ardent advocate among U. S. auto makers, of course, is George Romney, American Motors president.

Most of American Motors' cars are in the smaller size category. They lifted the company into the profit column in 1958 for the first time in its four year history.

Some of the larger car company heads still say they are uncertain whether their entry into smaller car production in this country would be profitable. But all have been getting such cars ready. Meanwhile they are importing European-made units for further testing the market.

At the same time he predicts the U. S. market for such vehicles will increase to 400,000 units in 1959. This year's market is estimated at 300,000 units.

The rapidly growing demand for smaller vehicles has been a feature of the U. S. car market through the last four years. Yet, as the demand mounted an increasing number of foreign auto makers have begun shipping cars to this country.

Dem Campaign Caravan Busy in Area Tomorrow

Gov. G. Mennen Williams and his campaign caravan will be kept busy tomorrow during a junket through Oakland County.

The Oakland County Democratic Committee, directed by Carlos G. Richardson, has arranged an itinerary for the governor and his party starting at 8:30 and concluding in the evening with stops in Novi, Wixom, Commerce and Farmington.

At noon, the group will enjoy coffee and donuts following an address before a gathering at the Gingelville Community Center, 3575 Baldwin Ave.

Richardson will greet the governor at 8:30 and move to the Villa Inn in Lake Orion for a breakfast. From there the party will journey over to Gingelville.

The remainder of the itinerary includes: 1:30 p.m. — Reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emil F. Jaworski, 691 Stanley Ave., Pontiac. 3:55 P.M. — Guest of Richardson at a lawn party at the Richardson home.

Waterford Women Offered Exercises

Waterford Township women from 16 to 60 may participate in a weekly exercising class scheduled to begin September 30 at the Community Activities Center on Williams Lake road.

Each Tuesday night session from 7 to 9 p.m., will be divided into two periods. During the first part of the evening, group practice of basic exercises and mat work will be taught.

Gymnastic games will take up the second part of the class, according to the recreation department's instructor, Mrs. Carol Wolfe.

Because of the limited number of registrations accepted, those interested in the course have been urged to call the recreation department for immediate enrollment.

Church Sets Social Hour

ROCHESTER—The First Congregational Church of Rochester will hold its first fall coffee hour in the church hall following the Sunday morning worship service, chairman Mrs. Lowell Purdon announced. Members of the Board of Deaconesses will serve.

Two Persons Hurt in 2-Car Collision

ROME — Two persons were injured slightly in a two-car collision yesterday afternoon at the intersection of Main and St. Clair streets in Romeo.

Mrs. Clara Buschlen, 69, of 2519 14-Mile Rd., Royal Oak, suffered a bruise on her head and Charles Brusate, 41, of Algonac, received a cut on his arm.

Romeo Police said Gideon Buschlen, 70, to make a left turn, drove in front of Brusate's auto which was approaching from the opposite direction. A near head-on collision resulted.

Buschlen was ticketed for failure to yield to the right-of-way.

2 Area Men Injured as Their Cars Collide

Two area men were injured last night when the cars they were driving collided at Northwestern Highway and Orchard Lake Rd., West Bloomfield Township.

According to Redford State Troopers, the injured men were Robert C. Blackinton, 43, of 1706 Ashtan St., Walled Lake, and Joseph A. Riley, 47, of 3524 Elwood St., Berkley.

Both were taken to William Beaumont Hospital. Riley suffered a possible concussion, fractured jaw, and cuts, and is reported in "fair" condition. Blackinton was treated for minor injuries and released.

Good Samaritans, Kept in Dark About Cargo

KENNETT, Mo. (AP)—Francis Loter said he had a good reason for waiting until a group of men helped put his overturned car trailer back on the highway before telling them of his cargo.

Youth Admits Setting Grand Rapids Fires

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) — Two of the most spectacular fires in Grand Rapids history were solved today, a year to the day after they happened.

Kent County Sheriff Arnold O. Pigorsh said an 18-year-old youth signed a 10-page confession admitting that he and a 26-year-old companion used dynamite to touch off fires at two oil companies that caused an estimated $350,000 damage.

Pigorsh said Thomas W. Kehl said he and the older man set fire to the Cornell Oil Co. to divert police while they burglarized a high school about two miles away and started a fire at the Ver Brugge Oil Co. for vengeance.

Police Probing Two Burglaries and Break-In

Pontiac Police detectives are investigating reports of two burglaries and a break-in in the city yesterday.

The first report came from Edward Bugbee, of 39 McKinley Dr., who told police a thief entered his home through a window and made off with a $100 16-gauge shotgun, and then went to his garage and took an outboard motor valued at $50.

Police investigated a second report but found nothing missing at 40 Clarence St. The complainant, Mrs. Edna Scriber, said the thief entered by kicking in the back door.

Earl Mustonen, of Oak Park, foreman at the Cy Owens auto agency, 147 S. Saginaw St., told police someone entered the agency garage through an unlocked window. Mustonen said an undetermined amount of change was taken from a cigarette vending machine and two soft drink machines.

Ear Piercing Painless

BEVERLY YHILLS, Cal. — Dermatologists have developed a method of piercing ear lobes without bleeding or pain. They do it by using a new ear-piercing earring and clamp. The clamp anesthetizes and drives blood out of the lobe, which is then pierced with an earring having a needle shaft.
