Anniversary Award Car Is Placed on Display

GOLDEN PONTIAC — A sleek, golden 1957 Pontiac is on display in front of the Oakland County Courthouse. The car will be given away Aug. 26 by the Pontiac Downtown Assn. as part of its celebration of Pontiac Motor Division's 50th anniversary. Shown with the car are A. C. Girard, (right) president of Community National Bank and president of the Downtown Assn., and S. E. Knudsen, general manager of Pontiac Motors.

County Building Program May Suffer Curtailment

There were strong reactions yesterday to the possibility that Oakland County's pay-as-you-go building program might have to be drastically curtailed, if not entirely eliminated.

Officials considered the possibility that the same court decision which recently tied up nearly $1,400,000 earmarked for a new courthouse might cause the entire building program to be shelved.

Assistant Corporation Counsel Charles A. Davis said that under the court ruling, the county is not legally able to spend any more money on buildings this year and may not be able to spend enough next year to keep up its building maintenance program.

Unless the county abandons pay-as-you-go financing and finds other means of raising building funds, "we won't have a dime next year for new buildings, which is a ridiculous situation," said Royal Oak Supervisor Harry W. Horton, chairman of the county's Building and Grounds Committee.

Expansion planned at the crowded children's home was immediately hit by the building curtailment, and Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore threatened to demand a public vote on a bond issue if funds cannot be found elsewhere.

CITIZENS CONCERNED

"The county's citizens are tremendously concerned about the children's welfare and will vote for the money, I'm sure, if the county can't disentangle itself legally," said Judge Moore.

23 Die as Russian Airliner Falls in Copenhagen Harbor

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) — A twin-engine Soviet airliner coming in for a landing plunged into Copenhagen Harbor today after clipping a tall chimney. Police said one American was among the 23 dead—18 passengers and a crew of 5. There were no survivors.

Police said names of victims could not be given until later tonight.

Seven non-Russians on the plane, an Iljushin, were listed as three West Germans, two Britons, a Norwegian and an American. Sixteen bodies were recovered.

Six bodies floating in the muddy harbor were picked up minutes after the crash. Others were recovered from the submerged wreck.

Harbor rescue services were preparing to raise the wreck. The plane was in 18 feet of water. The 270-foot chimney is four miles from the airport.

SAW BODIES FALL

Some bodies fell from the plane before it hit the water, some of the hundreds of witnesses around the harbor said.

The Iljushin 14, Russia's standard airliner about the size of an American Convair, was on a regular run from Moscow and Riga to Copenhagen.

The route was opened last year and is flown alternately by Aeroflot and SAS planes.

The pilot contacted the control tower at Copenhagen's Kastrup Airport for permission to land. Radio contact was suddenly lost nine minutes before the plane was scheduled to land.

WENT INTO DIVE

Witnesses said the plane came out of low-hanging clouds and struck the mist-shrouded chimney which was slightly damaged. The plane went into a steep dive and smashed with severe impact into the southern part of the harbor.

Officials of the Copenhagen Fire and Rescue Service said the plane apparently rammed nose-first into the harbor's mud bottom and possibly somersaulted.

In Moscow, the British Embassy reported that two British delegates to the youth festival, Alan Titt and Miss Berly Hall, were believed to have been among the passengers.

Promotions of 3 Police Officials Confirmed at Stormy Meeting

Promotions of three Pontiac Police Dept. officials were confirmed by the Civil Service Commission last night following a stormy public hearing punctuated by bitter exchanges between Police Chief Herbert W. Straley and Commission Chairman Theodore Carlson.

At issue was whether the three officers, Capt. Joseph Korean and Lts. Charles Gale and Harry Nye, were promoted prior to six months before Civil Service was adopted in Pontiac.

The state law says that officers promoted within the six month period must take competitive examinations to hold their jobs.

City Attorney William Ewart gave his opinion that the men were promoted before the period began and need not take the tests.

He was challenged by Attorney Paul Meridith for the Police Officers Assn., who argued the men were named either acting or provisional captain and lieutenant and thus did not have full rank until after the six months period had begun.

NO DISTINCTION IN ACT

Ewart maintained that they were fulfilling the jobs called for by their rank and receiving full pay in accordance with the rank.

He said the civil service act does not distinguish between permanent and temporary ranks, but simply says the men doing the job are permanently appointed.

Temper flared when Carlson began to question the chief about whether he had made his appointments under the police rules and regulations or under the general city personnel rules.

"What is the purpose of all these questions," Straley demanded. "You are just trying to drag this thing out."

At one point, Straley vehemently expressed uncomplimentary opinions of Carlson and the chairman replied "It's mutual."

LET HIM TALK

Carlson also tangled with Ewart as the city attorney tried to hush the chief up. "Let him talk for himself," Carlson snapped at Ewart.

Ewart and Meridith also tangled over a letter purporting to be an attorney-general's opinion on the matter of promotions.

Ewart said that the Civil Service Commission had been given this letter which bore a recent date. Ewart said he had found the letter was actually written to Highland Park in 1951 by the

Claim Organizer Sought Bribe in Grand Rapids

Violence Threat Made by Union Official, NAM Vice President Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Labor Rackets Investigating Committee was told yesterday that a former union organizer threatened violence in the Grand Rapids area in 1946 if a bribe was not paid him.

Marshall M. Miller, a former official of the Upholsterers' Union, denied that he had sought a bribe in Grand Rapids or accepted one in New York.

Testimony regarding the alleged incident in Grand Rapids was given to the Senate committee in a sworn statement by Stephen F. Dunn, former Grand Rapids lawyer and now a vice president of the National Association of Manufacturers. (NAM).

Miller, who has sought unsuccessfully, to appear as a witness at the Senate hearing, told newsmen that "Mr. Stephen Dunn is a scurrilous liar." He said Dunn had a record of "trying to beat labor down."

In his lengthy statement, Miller said he left the CIO and the United Furniture Workers in 1946 because of communism in the CIO.

Dunn in 1946, represented some furniture firms in Grand Rapids. Dunn testified that Miller, after leaving the CIO-United Furniture

Detroit Man Convicted of Operating Vehicle Without Helper

Pontiac's controversial safety ordinance concerning ice-cream peddlers was upheld today by Municipal Judge Cecil B. McCallum.

The judge convicted Sam Wine-man, of Detroit, on a charge of violating the ordinance by selling ice cream to minors without having an attendant to secure the safety of the children from traffic and other hazards.

WILL APPEAL

Wineman immediately notified the judge of his intent to appeal the decision to circuit court. He was fined $20 or four days in jail.

The ordinance is already in circuit court where a case is pending to test its legality.

The ordinance also bans use of attention-drawing devices such as bells, horns and chimes on the grounds that these lure children to run into the street.

The ordinance and the drive to enforce it is an outgrowth of demands by both the safety committee of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce and a campaign by City Commissioner John E. Carry.

Hints Special Session

AT NEWS CONFERENCE — President Eisenhower tells reporters he is making no threats, but that he is prepared to call a special session of Congress if it fails to vote adequate funds for foreign aid. The President talked to newsmen at a special conference in his White House office after he signed a bill authorizing $3,367,083,000 in foreign aid for the year starting July 1. This sum could be cut when Congress acts on the appropriation bill for foreign aid.

30 Victims of Leukemia Picnic at Rochester Farm

Thirty small children scammed about the J. C. Pickering farm near Rochester yesterday, seemingly no different than any other happy, healthy group of youngsters.

That figure itself is half a billion less than Eisenhower originally said was needed.

Eisenhower served notice that he will call a special session of Congress to get more money if he finds U. S. interests jeopardized by lack of funds.

Disregarding the special session talk, an appropriations subcommittee in a 3 1/2-hour closed session last night made the $809,650,000 cut which the full 50-member committee approved today.

In its final committee form the measure allows $2,524,760,000 in new money for the overseas program in the year which started July 1.

With a carryover of $667,050,000 from previous appropriations, this gives Eisenhower $1,238,200,000 less than he first said was needed.

Before the full committee acted today Republican Leader Martin of Massachusetts said Eisenhower won't stand for the cut the subcommittee made.

"It's too deep a cut," Martin said. "The President won't stand for this. This will not permit him to keep his commitments."

The new presidential statement bore out Martin's prediction on how Eisenhower would view the subcommittee action.

It did not, however, go into the matter of a special session or anything else Eisenhower might do about it.

House Group Overrides Ike's Security Plea

Revised Measure Allots $2,524,760,000 in New Money for Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — The full House Appropriations Committee today brushed aside a new plea from President Eisenhower—the third this week—and slashed $809,650,000 from foreign aid funds.

The action came on the heels of a White House statement, directed to the committee, asking for restoration of the money. "In the conviction that the national interests of this country are deeply involved,"

The sequence was about the same as yesterday's, when Eisenhower in a special news conference, a session such as he has never held before, appealed for all of the $3,367,083,000 which Congress had set as the ceiling in an authorization bill he had just signed.

Plan Meeting on Drag Strip

Teens Defend Program as 1st Step in Search for Recreation

Tonight, teens throughout the county are invited to attend a second meeting planned to outline a promotion program to build a drag strip in Oakland County, organized as a group and elect officers.

The gathering, which begins at 8 p.m. in a fifth floor classroom of the Oakland County Jail, 104 Wayne St., will be conducted by representatives from Oakland County Sheriff's Department and the Pontiac Police.

MANY LETTERS

Since their first meeting last week, which more than 60 boys and girls and their parents attended, Patrolman Richard A. Navarre, Pontiac police vice squad, reports he has received many letters from teens stating their reasons for wanting a legal place to race their autos.

In organizing, the group will become one of more than 15,000 such clubs in the United States.

One writes he thinks there should be an organized strip somewhere in Pontiac because it would provide a safe place to race; competition and something teens could work for; practical experience for their mechanical abilities.

Another claims: "It would give us so-called hoodlums something to do. Instead of breaking and entering, we would be building and entering. Since Pontiac is one of the spokes in the automotive world, it should have one. Local people could make money if the strip was constructed through the sale of stocks."

Navarre said a Detroit man has already offered to finance building a strip in Pontiac but the group, called the Oakland County Timing Strip Association, hopes to inject enough local interest to promote and carry out the project through local funds and residents.

The need for a drag strip was proposed by teens as a partial solution to the problem of the lack of sufficient teen recreational facilities in Pontiac, discussed in a recent series of articles in The Pontiac Press.

Is it true that the darker the cloud, the more dangerous the storm? Does the color of a cloud really mean anything or is it just the condition or reflection of light in the sky at the time?

Since water particles that make up clouds really have no color, the darkness often exhibited by a rain or storm cloud actually results if there is a lack of light reflection inside the cloud—and not any color of the cloud particles themselves.

A dark cloud is likely to have greater moisture content and, therefore, greater potential for rain, wind and electricity (lightning).

In the summer, dark clouds which reach down almost to the earth are often the squall line front of a thunderstorm and highly dangerous for aircraft and all those they pass above.

These clouds usually feature a downdraft, and contain lightning—though the greatest lightning danger from a thunderstorm comes during the second half of the storm, not the first.

Later, Meridith said the more recent date on the letter was a typographical error and no effort to mislead the commission was intended.

Despite repeated objections from Commissioner Gerald Guinan and Stuart Austin, Chairman Carlson pursued the question of how the chief came to make some of his appointments temporary, some acting, and others permanent.

It was finally decided that the provisional appointments were made pending the officers taking tests.

None of this moved the commission's majority and finally, on a vote, the men were confirmed unanimously.

The commission also agreed that a fourth officer, Det. Lt. John A. DePauw must take a civil service examination for his job, but would hold his rank until the tests were prepared.

In other action, the commission accepted the recommendation of City Manager Walter K. Willman and temporarily promoted four officers until tests for the jobs could be held.

Sgt. Carl Colando was named acting lieutenant, and Patrolmen Jess Quick, Forest Hatfield and David Slater were appointed acting sergeants. They can serve up to three months in their temporary ranks.

The commission also authorized examinations for 13 new patrolmen, two sergeants and two lieutenants.

The commission went on record as including only full-time fire fighters and law enforcement under civil service. Civilian employees were excluded.

MASSACRED RULES

A final hassle over rules for the Police Dept. developed when Carlson urged action on a rules draft he had prepared and accused the city attorney of having "massacred" them in an earlier opinion.

Ewart retorted, "Those rules were designed to give the commission administrative authority over the police department, which is strictly against the state civil service act."

No action on the rules was taken.

up to $500,000 a year, including funds from non-tax sources, which were not affected by the suit.

PUBLIC BOND ISSUES

"Or the county can ask for public bond issues, which was the league's intention when it brought the suit in the first place," said Gillespie.

Morton, however, said the league represents "nothing more than a group of self-interested Pontiac lawyers who don't give a hoot about the public welfare."

He said the league's main interest was in blocking the county's proposal to build the new courthouse on a site on the city's west side, where other county buildings are being located.

The present, 50-year-old courthouse is in downtown Pontiac. Horton claimed the Pontiac lawyers want to keep it there, "handy to their offices."

These charges were denied by the league's executive secretary, Bruce J. Annett.

"The county, which has refused to put the question of where the new courthouse will be located to a public vote, is the party that has not been acting in the public interest," Annett said.

Robbers Caught After Fast Chase

Police Wage Gun Battle at Speeds of 90 M.P.H. in Auto Pursuit

ELGIN, Ill. (AP) — A gun battle waged at 90 mph speed ended yesterday in the capture of two men who, minutes earlier, had robbed a credit union of $4,177.

The robbers were identified by police as Albert Parsons, 37, of Columbia, S. C., and Detroit, and Ray C. Stevenson, 49, of Detroit. Authorities gave this account:

Stevenson stuck a gun in the back of the office manager of the Elgin National Watch Company Employees Credit Union.

He and four other employees were forced to put the money in a brief case. The gunmen then fled.

One employee, Howard T. Johnson, saw the pair drive toward south Elgin. He notified police and a squad car took up the chase.

The two autos raced at speeds up to 90 mph through south Elgin and then back toward Elgin on U.S. 31, the officers firing at the fleeing robbers and the gunmen returning the fire.

Meantime, the officers radioed for help, and a roadblock was set up at the outskirts of Elgin, where two additional squad cars were placed across the highway and other armed officers stood by.

The fleeing auto skidded to a stop at the roadblock and Parsons and Stevenson were seized.

An estimated 15 shots were exchanged during the battle. Seven bullets hit the robbers' sedan, and one of them wounded Stevenson in the shoulder. Two bullets struck the police car.

RECOVER MONEY
The money was recovered. Police Chief Herbert Lange said Parsons and Stevenson will be charged with armed robbery.

It said the committee noted that the unexpended balance for the mutual security program last June 30 was $6,195,000,000. That, with the new money recommended, would give the agency $8,719,760,000.

As in his previous pleas, Eisenhower took the stand today that even the full authorization bill figures would hamper programs designed for the country's best interests.

WHITE HOUSE VISIT — Neil H. McElroy, slated to succeed Charles E. Wilson as secretary of defense, sports a big grin as he walks toward the White House today for a conference with President Eisenhower.

Committee OKs Neil McElroy as Defense Chief

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Senate Armed Services Committee approved today President Eisenhower's nomination of Neil H. McElroy to be the new Secretary of Defense.

Sen. Frank Barrett (R-Wyo.), emerged from a closed session to tell newsmen that the committee confirmed the president of Grocer and Gamble Soap Co., to be Charles E. Wilson's successor.

Barrett said he thought the vote was unanimous.

The nominee said he does not plan to sell the 473 shares of stock he owns in the firm or to give up an interest in a trust involving some 1,000 other shares.

He said he would resign as president of the firm but not sever his connections with the company entirely because of three beneficiary programs it has.

He said these programs constitute the "cornerstone of my family's and my future security."

McElroy said that he will have the status of an employee on leave without compensation.

But the nominee said he will resign his directorship in General Electric and Chrysler Corporation and dispose of his stock in these firms because they do substantial business with the government.

He said he also would dispose of his interest in one oil company and in three oil drilling partnerships.

Spartan Stadium New Name for MSU Grid Field

EAST LANSING (AP) — A name change for Michigan State's enlarged football bowl, from Macklin Stadium to Spartan Stadium, was announced today at MSU.

The field has been known as Macklin Stadium to honor the late John F. Macklin, first full-time athletic director and coach of all sports from 1911 to 1916.

"For some time, it has been felt that the name of Macklin Stadium had little significance for the current generation of alumni, fans and students," commented MSU president John A. Hannah.

"It seemed that a name of more general significance would be appropriate and we decided on Spartan Stadium as the best suggestion."

Workmen now are increasing the capacity of the stadium from 60,000 to 70,000 seats with overhanging double decks on the sides providing most of the extra seats.

The Day in Birmingham

Police Campaign Opens on Thefts of Hub Caps

BIRMINGHAM — Det. Sgt. Robert Schaulle announced today the opening of the hub cap marking program in Birmingham for the prevention of thefts of this automobile accessory.

The service will be free at nearly every gas station in the city. Station attendants have purchased the engraving tool and will copy the serial number as shown on registration slips on each hub cap.

Schaulle said he was very pleased with the cooperative attitude of station attendants. He said it had cost them money and would in the future cost them time.

"We believe that 80 per cent of the hub cap thefts are done by juveniles," Schaulle said. "By having the caps marked we feel it will curb a great many of the thefts. The marking on each cap is certainly going to be a hindrance on resale. It will provide immediate identification for owners."

"Our cooperating gas stations are urging all their customers to stop by and ask for this courtesy service."

Schaulle said that in the past thefts of hub caps had been one of the leading juvenile offenses in the city. There has been practically no means of identifying a stolen cap. Schaulle pointed out, but in most instances there has been ready sale.

He said the majority of the thefts were done with the resale in mind although some of the older youngsters had taken the caps for use on their own cars.

"We are sure that if the motorists will cooperate as well as the gas stations have done we are going to be able to practically stop this practice."

Cigarettes, cigars, candy and golf balls totaling approximately $123 were stolen Tuesday night from the club house at Birmingham's Springdale Park. Also taken was a barometer and golf shirts. The cash register was pried open in an attempt to get its contents.

Police here said Bloomfield Hills had reported recovering a number of empty cartons and the barometer which had been smashed. Stony Croft Club in Bloomfield Hills was entered the same night and about $20 in merchandise was stolen.

When the vision of Cornelius Collins, 73, of Milford was impaired yesterday by the heavy rain he ran the stop sign at the Maple-Franklin road intersection and struck the car driven by Harold Colwell, 47, of 580 Covington. Mrs. Alice Collins, 68, was taken to Beaumont Hospital for treatment of a lacerated leg.

A Pittsburgh Pa. woman died Tuesday of injuries received in a fall down a flight of stairs. Mrs. Florence N. Albright had arrived to visit Mrs. Frank S. Cartwright at 1179 N. Glenhurst.

Clyde T. Oakley
Clyde T. Oakley, 66, of 1792 Oak St. died Wednesday in Beaumont Hospital.

Retired manager of the Trucon Steel branch of Republic Steel Corp. he was a native of New Jersey. He was a graduate of Ohio State Architectural and Engineering School and came to Birmingham 12 years ago from Cleveland.

He was a member of Alpha Rho Chi, the Masonic Lodge, Scottish Rite, and Shrine of Cleveland, First Presbyterian Church of Birmingham and its Men's Club. He was also a member of the Birmingham High 12 and a past president of the Society of Professional Engineers and Producers Council and a member of the Detroit Engineering Society.

He is survived by his wife, the former Mable Marshall, two daughters Mrs. Malcolm Cameron, of Birmingham, Mrs. Lowell Sutton of Royal Oak, a brother and five grandchildren. The body will be at the Bailey Funeral Home until 9 a.m. tomorrow when it will be taken to Shaker Heights, Ohio for services Saturday afternoon.

Sailor Confined to Ship for Refusing to Salute
SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A Navy enlisted man—for the second time in his service career accused of refusing to salute to an officer—was confined to his ship yesterday. Neil William Lucas, 24, electrician's mate 3.C. of the repair ship Ajax, said his religious beliefs will not allow him to salute. He formerly lived in Gladwin, Mich.

AFL-CIO Asks Halt to Monroe Reactor

WASHINGTON — President George Meany of the AFL-CIO has informed the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) that the AFL-CIO is opposed to a proposed nuclear reactor in Michigan.

A letter from Meany to the AEC opposing construction of a fast breeder reactor near Monroe, Mich., was made public yesterday by Sen. Anderson (D-M).

At the same time Anderson, a member and former chairman of the Senate Atomic Energy Committee, indicated he will fight for elimination of government research funds for the Michigan project.

The AEC has issued a temporary construction permit to Power Reactor Development Co. (PRDC) to build the reactor. PRDC is a group of privately owned utilities headed by Detroit Edison Co.

Meany urged the AEC to rescind the PRDC permit on grounds that the reactor might endanger the Detroit and Toledo, Ohio, metropolitan areas.
That stand is identical to the one taken by President Walter Reuther of the United Auto Workers and other Michigan labor leaders who have brought proceedings before the AEC.

Hearing Postponed in Auto Crash Case

The examination of Harold Frye, 35, of 1483 W. Julia St., Flint, on a manslaughter charge has been postponed from today to Sept. 5.

Frye is charged with manslaughter in the auto crash death of Mrs. Richard D. Schultz, 28, of 6510 Portage Trail, White Lake Township, on July 15.

He was arraigned before Justice Donald Adams on July 22 and demanded examination.
Frye was injured in the crash and his physical condition was given as the reason for the postponed hearing.
Frye is charged with driving his car on the wrong side of the road in the head-on collision with the Schultz car. Seven others were injured in the crash.

Noah Webster began writing the dictionary in 1807 and finished in 1828.

Booming in London

LONDON — Fortune-telling is enjoying its greatest boom for nearly a quarter of a century in London.

The latter-day harpies charge anything from $2.50 to $10 for telling you that you will meet a tall, dark stranger (or a pretty girl) any time now and that money and travel are coming your way.

It's the same old malarkey, but more and more people are deserting today's headlines for a hazy glimpse of the future. A leading psychiatrist explains: "There's nothing unusual about this crystal ball boom. The newspaper headlines — on Nasser, a big strike, or Elvis Presley — act as a kind of barometer. The more scary the headline, the more people want to learn their future."

The United States averages 175,000 forest fires a year, the National Geographic says. People start about 90 per cent of them, mostly through sheer carelessness.

Railroads Take Over When Automobiles Fail

NEW YORK — There is a railway point in Montana and one in Pennsylvania so inaccessible an automobile can't get to them. At Lombard, Mont., where the Northern Pacific and Milwaukee routes meet, the only way into the town except by rail is by skiff on the Missouri River.

At Penn Haven Junction, Pa., where the Lehigh Valley and the Central of New Jersey roads cross, there is no highway because of the narrow river gorge and the roughness of surrounding hills.

A middle-aged friend confides he's been taking tranquilizer pills, but quit when he caught himself not giving a darn when a shapely gal in shorts walked by.

Today's schools won't really be training our children for a realistic life till they let'em leave in the middle of a class for a coffee break. — Earl Wilson.

Jungle Cats Howl—They Want Horsemeat

DALLAS, Texas (INS)—This mechanical age is playing hob with the jungle cats at Dallas' Marsalis zoo.

A horse meat shortage has Zoo Director Pierre A. Fontaine in a quandary because horses provide his cats with their staple diet.

Fontaine explains horsemeat is the ideal food for the cats. He says it closely resembles antelope meat, their principal food in their native African habitat.

Fontaine's cats turn up their noses at other types of meat—even succulent beef. He hopes a mixture of beef by-product and horsemeat may solve the problem which he says is confronting every other zoo across the country.

Nearly 2,000 species of shrimp exist. The young pass through 10 larval stages. Most adults apparently spawn only once and have a life span of one year.

Scents Sales Score

NEW YORK—According to the Society of American Perfumers, United States producers of aromatic chemicals and deodorizing substances sold about $250,000,000 worth of their products in 1956 compared with less than $100,000,000 in 1950 and under $50,000,000 in 1939.

The deodorizers are used for many different purposes. After-shave lotion is sprinkled on male chinchillas to make them more acceptable to the females of the species; fertilizers are scented with mint; white wall tires are impregnated with pine odors; concrete walls, dog bones, and diapers are scented to please the more fastidious.

Large Scandinavian communities in Danish, Icelandic, Norwegian and Swedish are found in all the major cities in the United States and also in Blair, Neb.; Rock Island, Ill.; and Santa Barbara, Calif.

India's Red Party Gaining Strength

As the result of a very small majority a Communist administration last April took over the State of Kerala, the smallest in India.

At that time few New Delhi politicians, including Prime Minister Nehru, were alarmed. Kerala has the highest literacy rate and the worst economic conditions in India, a perfect setup for Communists.

Proceeding carefully and within the constitution, Kerala's Communists have moved forward relentlessly to create an active headquarters for the Indian Communist Party. "Peoples' Action Committees" are everywhere usurping the functions of the law courts and spreading their influence to other states.

State police are almost helpless because the Communist Chief Minister has cut down their authority. According to the General Secretary of Nehru's Congress Party, there's a complete breakdown of law and order.

Strikes have been called on the slightest pretext and plantation managers are faced with anarchy. Loyal workers are beaten and even killed. Many Communists have been freed from jails no matter what their crimes. Yet New Delhi authorities are not yet fully awake to the seriousness of the situation.

India's constitution reserves to the central government all powers not expressly vested in the states. Prime Minister Nehru has the power to restrain the Kerala regime.

In the past he has dealt harshly with India's own Communists while talking softly to Moscow and Peking. Let us hope that he will act before India's Communists gain such strength that they will be in a position to dictate to him and run the whole country.

Oil From Shale Rock

What is termed the biggest U.S. oil discovery in years has been found in the mountain region of Colorado.

The Union Oil Company of California, which owns 40,000 acres of shale lands, is operating a pilot plant near Grand Junction. The company mines the shale, extracts the oil and refines it.

A small shale oil industry existed prior to the first petroleum well established in Pennsylvania in 1859. For more than 100 years Scotland, Sweden, France and the Baltic countries produced small quantities, says U.S. News & World Report.

Shale deposits extend over a wide area not only in Colorado, but in Utah and Wyoming. Colorado alone has nearly 1.3 trillion barrels of oil reserves, according to a new report by the U.S. Geological Survey. Other known petroleum reserves in this country are said to consist of 36 billion barrels and in the Middle East, 150 billion.

Oil shale is a rock which itself has no oil. But up to 12 per cent of it consists of solid marine organisms laid down eons ago at the bottom of ancient seas. This organic material, Kerogen, turns to liquid when heated. After refining it can't be distinguished from natural petroleum.

For years shale was uneconomical to mine. But after a great deal of research, the U.S. Bureau of Mines developed a method whereby the shale could be mined for less than 50 cents a ton. The Bureau also operated an experimental retort for cooking the shale near Rifle, Colo. until 1955 when private interests, the Union Oil Co., took it over.

In this country we use more than one million barrels of imported oil a day, some of it from the Middle East and therefore strategically vulnerable. Use of petroleum is increasing steadily so that any new oil sources are of vital interest for national defense as well as for domestic purposes.

Concerted Effort to Push Their Uses in Our Homes

Judgment: Something about your wife that you shouldn't criticize—look what she married.

First inaugurated by this column a few years ago, the movement to Use Home Grown Apples at Home is assuming sizable proportions. First suggested to us by the late Robert Hodges who grew apples on the present site of the Pine Lake Golf Course, and was a Pontiac industrialist of a half-century ago.

"Apple Pie Week" was launched. Now that irrepressible booster,

John C. Finlayson, gets behind the project which is extended to include the counties of Wayne, Oakland and Genesee. Kiwanis Clubs of that area are backing him up, he has leased

"Hidden Paradise," a large building out Commerce way, as headquarters, and the festivities will ripen with the local 1957 apple crop.

We're quite in agreement with Bill (Rusty) Blenheim

Buddy Parker, including Buddy.

Our sunflower derby is running in two classes—height and size of flower. In the former, Mrs. Gregory Lester of Rochester is leading: 12 feet. In the latter,

With the exception of those in our game preserves, the partridge is almost an extinct bird in the Pontiac area. However,

Norman Maxfield who lives just north of Rochester, reports a pair have hatched out a brood near his home, and have become quite tame, as also have a bevy of quail.

Don't Just Stand There—

High Court Ruining U. S. Security

WASHINGTON—Somewhere the several justices of the Supreme Court of the United States are on vacation, but it is hoped that they have time to read the newspapers and learn of the damage that has been done to the security of the United States by some of the decisions recently rendered by a majority of the court.

Justice Tom Clark, himself a former attorney general, can take satisfaction from the fact that he vigorously dissented and predicted the injury that would follow.

For the director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, J. Edgar Hoover—the man primarily responsible for the conduct of the investigative process of the Federal government—cries out against what is happening as a result of the court's ruling that FBI confidential files can be exposed in the court room to Communists.

This is helping them in their efforts to outmaneuver and outwit the United States government and to serve the cause of the enemy. "Since the Jencks decision," writes the head of the FBI to the minority leader of the House of Representatives, Joseph W. Martin, "we have faced one obstacle after another. We have experienced instance after instance where sources of information have been closed to our agents because of the fear that the confidence we could once guarantee could no longer be assured."

WON'T COOPERATE "We have also experienced a reluctance on the part of numerous citizens to co-operate as freely as they once did."

"The fact that prior to June 3, 1957, (date of the Jencks decision) informed people knew that our files were inviolate has been a powerful factor in our ability to secure information."

The Supreme Court could have ruled that a judge had discretion as to whether any material taken from the files should be placed in the record, and the decision could have pointed to ways to preserve the FBI's confidences within existing law.

But while the Supreme Court has been conscientiously protecting Communists and Communist sympathizers by upholding their right to conceal their activities from inquiring government agencies and congressional committees, no such protection was given the FBI itself.

Nor is this the only havoc wrought by the Supreme Court in recent decisions. Thus, police officers throughout the country are concerned because of the decision in the Mallory case, which says that a suspect has to be "formally arraigned" before he can be questioned.

The Country Parson

"We don't live up to the advice we give doesn't prove the advice is bad."

A confessed rapist had to be released because of this decision. Representative Kenneth Keating of New York, ranking Republican on the House Judiciary Committee, said a few days ago that, as a consequence of such rulings, the efforts of police officers to solve Federal crimes are being "shackled."

Washington's police chief, Robert V. Murray, said the Mallory decision would "cause a substantial rise in crime and a drastic reduction in the solution of major criminal cases in the nation's capital."

Congress in general is disturbed by what the Supreme Court has done but, because of the entanglements of the "civil rights" situation and the delays to other major bills, the way to remedial legislation to offset recent decisions of the Supreme Court has been temporarily blocked.

Significant, however, is the fact that the Internal Security subcommittee of the Senate Judiciary Committee has reported out a bill to curtail the "appellate jurisdiction" of the Supreme Court of the United States. This is the first time since 1937 that any legislative step affecting the operations of the high court has gone that far, though in recent months a variety of restrictive bills have been introduced.

The proposed law would specifically provide that the Supreme Court shall have no jurisdiction to review any case which involves the validity of the jurisdiction of Congressional committees or actions of witnesses before such committees.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Extra Salt and Vitamin B Cancel Bad Effect of Heat

"... We work hardest at it or play, if you like—in the dog days. Sometimes a player loses six to eight pounds weight during a game. What advice have you to prevent dehydration of the body in the summer time? (R. M.)"

Take 5 grains of common table salt with every drink of water. This not only prevents dehydration but in everyday practice wherever people work, play or march in extreme heat it has proved the best way to prevent heat stroke, sun stroke, heat exhaustion, heat cramps.

In industrial plants where exposure to extreme heat is unavoidable it is now the custom to have a salt tablet dispenser alongside the drinking fountain to provide the necessary salt with every drink of water.

A reader who plays a lot of golf in the summer says she has "heard some old tales about the effects of too much salt" and so she would hesitate to take any.

The golfer doesn't detail what she has "heard" about the effects of "too much salt." Maybe something not suitable for children.

We should remember that a normal, healthy adult excretes (in urine and sweat) up to half an ounce of salt a day. Plenty of trouble may occur from failure to take enough salt on one way or another—say freshly salted foods. Seldom if ever does "too much" salt harm a healthy person.

TAKE VITAMIN B Scientific observation has shown that a considerable amount of vitamin B is lost when sweating is excessive, and so any one who sweats a good deal, whether from heat alone or from vigorous work or play, should take an extra ration of B1 (thiamin) in one form or another, each day.

The judicious use of table salt with drinking water or what ever beverage one takes for refreshment is noticeably more refreshing than is water or other beverage without the extra salt.

And according to assurances received from many who have tried it, the weariness and fatigue following excessive sweating seem to pass in shorter time if one takes, say, a 10 mg. thiamin tablet as well as the extra salt.

How much water and how cold, for one who is "overheated" from exposure to heat or from hard work or play, are questions of individual preference—just so long as one takes some salt with each drink.

Signed letters, not more than one page or ten words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Becky gets woozy mentally, especially in the morning. But visitors perk up her mind. For conversation whets your wits and thus raises your I.Q. If you wish to perk up Grandma, be sure to follow the advice below. And get a pedometer to keep Grandma's joints from growing so stiff she cannot walk.

By Dr. GEORGE W. CRANE, Case V-370: Becky S., aged 76, has four children and 10 grandchildren.

"Dr. Crane, I'm worried about Mother," one of her daughters began.

"In the morning, for example, she may be in a mental fog. She doesn't know whether she has just eaten breakfast or dinner."

"And she may ramble in her talk. But when we have guests or some of our relatives come for a visit, she may perk up and be quite rational."

"So can you explain what makes her improve like that? And in such a short time?"

PERK UP GRANDMA Elderly people often get hazy about time. And in the morning they may be so woozy in their thinking that they seem almost deranged.

That is often due to temporary anemia of the brain. For oldsters are likely to be somewhat low in blood hemoglobin.

For lack of good dentures, they may shun tough meat and raw vegetables which contain the iron necessary for rich red blood.

Moreover, we are all inclined to be somewhat sluggish in the morning. Our blood pressure is then lower and our pulse rate slower.

We may also be somewhat faint from lack of food since it has been 12 hours since the evening dinner the night before.

All of these conditions are likely to be accentuated in an elderly person. Added to them is also the fact that hardening of arteries often reduces the blood supply to the brain.

But the arrival of relatives or old neighbors, will then serve as a mental tonic. Actually, those guests raise the I. Q. of Grandma by making her brain function more normally via conversation.

The excitement and gaiety of the event speed up her pulse and raise her blood pressure. So more blood is forced through the vessels in her brain.

Thus, she becomes more alert mentally. She thinks more clearly. The gossip about old times peeps up her emotions and revives happy experiences of childhood.

In medicine we realize that mental excitement can act like a tonic to a woozy brain and actually increases its nourishment via the increase in blood flow through a functioning organ.

TEA PARTIES Tea parties or a coffee hour for Grandma will thus actually raise her I.Q. meanwhile.

The presence of guests is mentally stimulating and a joyous break in her otherwise monotonous day.

But the caffeine content of tea or coffee or cola soft drinks, also is a chemical prod. So her circulation improves and she is more alert.

If you wish additional methods for perking up Grandma or Grandpa, then see that they have

Wants to Know Authority Behind China Travel Ban

I am writing this in connection with the State Department ban on travel beyond the Iron and Bamboo Curtains. I agree that it could lead a few people away from us, but I would like to know by what authority the U. S. has the right to tell one or any of its citizens where they can or can't go? And how can they be allowed to put any consequences on a person if he should go to that country anyway?

I think that Larry Schwartz's reasoning that he would never again have such an opportunity is entirely correct. If given the opportunity I, too, would like to travel through Russia and China.

This wouldn't necessarily mean that I was interested in communistic beliefs. I would simply be interested in seeing places where history was made, and in seeing things that made up an old way of life.

If someone knows what rights the government has in regard to this subject, please let me know, as I can't see where they have any at present.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

Knowing this, that the law is not made for a righteous man, but for the lawless and disobedient, for the ungodly and for sinners, for unholy and profane, for murderers of fathers and murderers of mothers, for manslayers...—1 Timothy 1:9.

There is but one law for all; namely, the law which governs all law—the law of our Creator, the law of humanity, justice, equity; the law of nature and of nations.—Edmund Burke.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

These Tips Will Perk Up Oldsters

hearing aids which work well. For then your elderly relatives can receive mental stimulation via radio and TV.

And take the old folks to an eye doctor for new glasses. Don't let them stumble along in a visual fog when new eye glasses will give them a bright and shiny outlook on life.

If cataracts are clouding their vision, then consult an eye surgeon. He can remove a cataract and often restore excellent vision to elderly folks. The cost is not prohibitive... maybe a few hundred dollars.

Moreover, pick up these old folks and get them to church every Sunday, for this is a wonderful tonic both for their body and soul.

And prod old folks into keeping their joints limber via walking. Get a pedometer for them, which registers how far they walk every day. This may inject some competition.

Old folks are only two feet from slavery, and those two feet are their own pedal extremities. So keep them walking or they'll soon be bedfast invalids.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 2c to cover typing and shipping costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Knight in Race in California

Formal Entry Lacking, but Intention to Run Appears Definite

By MORRIS LANDSBERG
SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Gov. Goodwin Knight today pretty well knocked down any chance that he might withdraw from the 1958 Republican gubernatorial primary rather than tangle with Sen. William F. Knowland and perhaps Vice President Nixon.

Knight, in an interview, said he is convinced Nixon has not committed himself to supporting Knowland in the event the Senate leader runs for governor.

He indicated strongly, however, that Knowland's entry in the state election and his endorsement by Nixon, as widely speculated in Washington, would not alter his own plans. Knowland expects to announce his decision after an extensive state tour next month.

Knight, who has shown a friendlier attitude toward Nixon of late, said he really couldn't say whether the vice president would remain neutral in a contest that might bear importantly on the 1960 presidential race.

The governor said Nixon has agreed to confer with him on the California political situation, "as it pertains to the Republican party," on his forthcoming visit to his home state.

Knight, who has not formally declared his candidacy for reelection, said his plans have not been completed and he didn't know when he would make them known. But he seemingly left himself no exit in saying:

"I don't want to leave the public service."

Take Your Dog on Vacation Trip in Wood Kennel

By International News Service

Pack up your poodle, pointer or police dog in an airborne kennel and fly away at vacation time. Don't leave Bowser to brood at home, take him with you.

One airline (American) provides kennels in two sizes. Light but strong and low in cost, the kennel can become a permanent part of the pooch's luggage.

It is made of wood finished with clear varnish.

Dogs up to 15 inches at the shoulder and weighing up to 30 pounds—the cocker, beagle, terrier class—fit into the small size. This kennel weighs 13 pounds and costs $9.50.

For the English setter or pointer sizes—25 inches at the shoulder and 75 pounds—a larger size is available. It weighs 40 pounds and sells for $14.

Special accommodations are arranged for pets in the Great Dane or Saint Bernard class.

Other small animal carriers displayed by pet shops are excellent for traveling.

These carriers, with zipper opening, have cross ventilation and a special pocket for leash and dog biscuits.

'3 Idols Lure Teenager Today'

Graham Calls on Youth to Be Stalwart in Face of Pride, Money, Fame

NEW YORK (AP)—Billy Graham said last night that pride and love of money and fame have "become the golden idols in our lives and the Devil demands we bow down and worship them."

He likened Nebuchadnezzar's golden idol to the pride and desire for riches and fame that he said are leading young people away from Christ.

Graham is devoting his Madison Square Garden meetings this week to juvenile delinquency and the problems of young people. A large percentage of teenagers has been in his audiences.

The evangelist called on youths last night to be "stalwart" as the "teenage-friends" of the Biblical Daniel were in the face of the fiery furnace.

The reference was to Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, the youths who came unscathed from the fiery furnace into which they were thrown for refusing to bow down to the golden idol.

Graham said that youth today should — like Daniel and his friends — refuse to compromise with the Devil's idols or to rationalize by thinking that they can bow down to them outwardly, while saying to themselves "We don't really mean it."

The attendance was 17,000. That raised the total to 1,529,800 since Graham's New York crusade began May 15. There were 636 "decisions for Christ," bringing the total so far to 46,509.

Korea Celebrates Ninth Anniversary

SEOUL (AP)—South Korea today celebrated its ninth anniversary as a republic and its 12th year of independence with a display of U.S.-equipped military might.

Troops paraded on Seoul's main street under the white of jet fighter planes. Celebrations also were held in towns throughout the south.

In the capital city, President Syngman Rhee told some 5,000 students that Korea has "a stronger self-confidence than ever before." He said the military buildup "has strained our capacity to the limit" but pledged "we shall be able to maintain a self-supporting economy in the near future."

Girard Transferred, Awaits Aug. 26 Trial

TOKYO (AP)—Under military police escort, Specialist S.C. William S. Girard was transferred yesterday from Camp Whittington to Camp Drew, 10 miles away.

The move was part of a general troop realignment resulting from withdrawal of U.S. Army combat units from Japan. Girard will be taken from Drew to Maebashi for the opening Aug. 26 of his Japanese court trial on a charge of fatally shooting a Japanese woman, a scrap metal collector.

Sale Promotion Gimmick Costs Shop Owner Floor

NAKANJOJO, Japan (AP)—An enterprising bicycle shop owner installed a television set on the second floor and invited his customers to gather there.

Eighty persons crowded the room to view a wrestling show. Midway through the first bout the floor collapsed. One person was injured. The TV set was smashed.

Use Prisoners on Roads?

MARSHALL (AP)—The Calhoun County Board of Supervisors is considering the use of jail prisoners as road laborers. The number of prisoners ranges from 80 to 100. Prosecutor Noble O. Moore said males over 18 could be used on roads.

Car Lands in Kitchen

FLINT (AP)—Mrs. Ruth Endicott heard automobile brakes screeching as she sat in her kitchen. She made a dive for the utility room, and just in time, too. The car careened into the house and ended up where she was sitting. The house is on a curve. Seven cars have ended up in the Endicott's front yard in five years. Frank H. Jones Jr., of Owosso, was injured and $1,500 damage done by the one that reached the kitchen.

Errol Flynn in Hospital With Knee, Rib Injuries

NEW YORK (AP)—Actor Errol Flynn was in Roosevelt Hospital today with knee and rib injuries he reportedly received 10 days ago

In a speedboat accident off Palma, Majorca.

The hospital said he has a possible rib fracture and torn ligaments of the left knee. Flynn arrived here by plane from Paris yesterday.

Planned Wardrobe Makes Trip Happy

OMAHA, Neb. (INS)—Choice of a proper wardrobe is an essential aspect of the American vacation. Marjorie Harker, travel consultant (for Union Pacific Railroad), has some hints to the harried planner.

First, says the travel expert, selection should be as cautious as a diet-conscious woman in counting her daily calorie intake.

The travel wardrobe should begin with several well-chosen basic costumes, such as a light-weight woolen dressmaker suit for cool days and a sleeveless dress with covering jacket for warmer weather.

Several blouses with an extra skirt are advisable.

Everything that goes together and can be paired off with many separates to make different combinations for day and night wear is desired.

In a coat, pick a lightweight cashmere or similar type, for a practical outer garment. Include shirts, sweaters or scarves.

Hats should be small and packable. Include a turban or ribbon cloche for windy days on the open road or for boat rides.

Final advice: "Take half as many clothes as you think you will need and twice as much money."

Radio Outspeeds Sound

NEW YORK — Radio waves travel at the speed of light or about 186,000 miles per second. By comparison sound waves are much slower, traveling only about 1,100 feet per second.

From Metropolitan Coast Areas

Americans Going to China Mostly Students

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Most of the 41 Americans who left Moscow today to visit Communist China are students or recent students. There is a concentration from the heavily populated metropolitan areas of the coasts.

There is a 20-year-old youth whose father thinks the trip is a terrific opportunity. There is a 38-year-old pastor of the Church of England, who was graduated from Wesleyan University and the General Theological Seminary of Boston.

There are would-be writers and photographers looking for story material, young businessmen and business workers, and a lawyer. Many of the students are attending educational institutions in Western Europe.

The father of one girl was deported from the United States on grounds he was a member of the Communist party, which he swore in court he was not. He is now broadcasting for Moscow radio.

The mother of another girl, 23, did not know her daughter had been in Moscow or was planning to go to Red China. One youth is the son of a man who refused to tell a House committee whether he had been a Communist.

All went to Moscow to attend the youth festival, a Communist-sponsored annual extravaganza billed as nonpolitical. About 150 Americans arrived for the show, which lasted from July 28 to Aug. 11. Many went for a joyride. At least a third of them took advantage of the cut-rate travel and lodging costs.

The first such festival took place in 1947 but it was a pale shadow by comparison. Until this year most of the annual events had been attended mostly by satellite and other Communist youth. This year's event, which cost the Soviet Union a pretty penny, was advertised widely.

At least a few of the Americans did not intend to attend any of the study groups scheduled during the 15-day event. These meetings covered such different topics as stamp collecting, atomic physics, sports and theater. Many get-togethers turned into political rallies.

Just before the festival wound up, Communist China offered to give 15 of the Americans a free trip, all living expenses paid, to China. Eight members of the American administrative committee of the festival accepted, and seven others were elected. Then Red China offered to take any other Americans along for the trip, provided they paid a token $100 for their return trip.

All of the 41 have American passports. The only American attending the festival without a U.S. passport was refused permission by Chinese officials to go on the trip.

The State Department in Washington frowned on the Moscow conference, saying it would be just a propaganda show. Some of the Americans who attended expressed belief the United States should have sponsored a delegation of thousands to show the Communists what American youth is really like.

The State Department also took a thoroughly dim view of the China trip, warning the travelers they might face legal action under the Trading with the Enemy Act. That warning caused four or five prospective China visitors to change their minds.

Spanish Food Delicacy Shocks U.S. Visitors

By International News Service
Americans who visit Spain invariably gasp when they open a menu and see a choice of "rape." It's not what they think it is, of course. It's squid, which is a Spanish delicacy.

Try a recipe from the Finisterre restaurant in Barcelona, which is popular with tourists, for "Rape a la Americana con Arroz." Just take a fresh squid, cook it in tomato sauce, throw in some cognac and serve with rice. Price in Barcelona: 90 cents.

Red China's Boss Mao Tze-tung Reported Getting Tired, Ready to Quit

HONG KONG (AP)—Red China's criticism campaign revealed widespread discontent, many leading non-Communist intellectuals, along with Liu and Peng Chen, mayor of Peking, took the lead in demanding a savage counter-attack.

This report by a Chinese businessman who arrived in Hong Kong from China today coincides with hints that the ruling Communist political bureau is divided over Mao's Feb. 27 speech to encourage criticism of the party.

Mao, according to the Chinese businessman, designated either Premier Chou En-lai or Vice Chairman Liu Shao-chi to succeed him. He said Mao made the statement as part of his February speech to the Supreme State Council in which he urged that a campaign of criticism be conducted free of bitterness on the part of Communists.

The source said he heard Mao's voice, with its broad Hunan accent, in the 4½-hour tape recording form in which it originally was taken down nearly six months ago.

In it, Mao is also said to have admitted that more than 800,000 persons were liquidated during the 1952 drive against counter-revolutionaries.

Still unconfirmed reports from the mainland say that when the view when he launched the original campaign of criticism.

The third is that an important meeting of more than 1,000 government and party leaders was held in Tientsin on Aug. 10, Mao was not present.

The fourth point is the creation of new work-through-reform organizations, apparently to deal with recalcitrants revealed by the criticism campaign. In addition, the official press disclosed recently that at least two Communist party members have charged that there is dissension at the top over Mao's policy. Mao's continued absence at a time when important decisions are being taken seems at least to suggest that all may not be well in Red China.

Peer Who Criticized Her Wants Queen Elizabeth to Let Hair Down in U. S.

LONDON (INS)—The peer who tried to set fire to the plush curtain that surrounds the British royal family, hopes Queen Elizabeth will let down her hair when she visits America this fall.

"I'd like her to get a load of the United States and for America to get a load of her," Lord Altrincham said today.

"People want to see the Queen," he said. "If, in addition, she makes a sincere and spontaneous speech—even if it is short—that's what counts, in my opinion."

Author Granted New Hearing

Prisoner Facing Death Wins Another Stay in Long Legal Battle

SAN FRANCISCO (U. S. — Death row author Caryl Chessman will get a new hearing in state court sometime between Oct. 14 and Dec. 1 as he continues his nine-year legal battle to escape San Quentin Prison's gas chamber.

Chessman, 36, appeared yesterday before Judge Louis E. Goodman in Federal District Court and announced the discharge of his attorneys in order to do his own pleading. He said, however, that he was retaining the attorneys, George T. Davis of San Francisco and Miss Rosalie Asher of Sacramento, as "advisers."

He asserted his attorneys had been "thrust out of the case" because Warden Harley O. Teets had confiscated his records at San Quentin and didn't have material with which to work. He asked the judge to order Teets to return the papers and that the state be ordered to supply him with photostatic copies of his 1948 Los Angeles trial transcript.

Judge Goodman said Chessman would have to take his appeals to the state courts. Goodman added that his own function was that of "errand boy" for the U. S. Supreme Court, which ordered California to hold another hearing on the trial transcript.

Chessman, convicted of kidnap, attempted rape, robbery, sex perversion and auto theft, contends the trial transcript was faulty. He said the court reporter's shorthand notes were inaccurately transcribed by another after the death of the original reporter.

The Los Angeles Superior Court sentenced Chessman to die under California's "Little Lindbergh" law.

Empty Cackle, Empty Nest End Egg Marathon

FLEMINGTON, N.J. (U. S. — Meg O'Day laid an egg yesterday by failing to do just that.

The little champion hen, who has produced an egg every day for the past 284, finally gave Rutgers University officials the bird.

She arose from her nest at the Hunterdon County egg laying test farm with the customary cackle, but without leaving the customary egg.

Walter Keimer, staff member at the farm, phoned the sad news to the Rutgers agriculture experiment station in New Brunswick, sponsor of the test.

Officials at the station, who have touted Meg's 284-day achievement as setting a state, national and maybe even a world record, had hoped she could keep it up for a full 365 days at least. Meg's marathon started last Oct. 1, 318 days ago, as part of a project to study the effect of breeding and feeding on egg production. Meg had been faithful for 317 of those days, missing only one previous day since the test started.

High Peak Mastered in 48-State Climb

RED LODGE, Mont. (U. S. — The Rev. F. W. McDermott, 59-year-old Springfield, Ill., minister, has fulfilled his long ambition to climb the highest point in each of the 48 states. The last step, he said yesterday, was the toughest.

McDermott passed through Red Lodge late yesterday on his way home after climbing 12,850-foot Granite Peak in southern Montana — the last step in a series of climbs extending over several years.

"This was the toughest climb of them all," he said.

McDermott climbed 13,785-foot Gannett Peak in northwestern Wyoming last week and 12,665-foot Mt. Borah in central Idaho about a week earlier.

The average weight of the human brain is 48 ounces.

MURFREESBORO, Ark., (INS) — This has been a lucky year for 82 persons who visited the crater of diamonds at Murfreesboro.

Harold Miller, operator of the attraction, said that a number of diamonds has been found by tourists and other persons who came to look for sudden wealth. Miller said some of the stones appeared to be fairly valuable, while others were very small.

Australians Discover Mothproofing Process

CANBERRA — Australian scientists have invented a new mothproofing process for wool that uses dieltrin, the most active and persistent insecticide of its type known.

The process, recommended by the International Wool Secretariat, is said to be cheap and effective; the treated wool has no odor and the appearance and physical properties are unchanged. At least 14 major companies are using the process in Australia.

SAND IS FINE — Watkins Hills residents are complaining about fine sand in their water system. Watching township worker flush a hydrant, is Purl Hull, Brian Barkell, his father Clifford, sister, Delta, Holly Isles and Susan Barkell.

Watkins Hills Folks Seeking Solution

Find Sand in Water 'Hard to Swallow'

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

Fine sand has clogged up the water mains in the Watkins Hills subdivision in Waterford Township, according to clerk James Seeterlin.

For two years, residents have complained about the sand condition in their drinking water. However, it wasn't until this week that water pressure slowed down to a mere dribble, due to sand infiltration.

There are two water pumps housed in the station adjoining the subdivision. From the very first time water was pumped into the new homes, two years ago, residents say that they began complaining to township authorities about the sand problem.

One of the property owners, Clifford Barkell, of 4023 Baybrook Dr., said, "We informed the former township board of the sand in our water before they okayed the system."

He said that the board told the property owners that this was due to high pressure tests being made, and that in time the sand would settle down.

"It has," he said, "right down in our water pipes." Barkell claims that the situation has grown steadily worse.

As the sand continued to pile up in the mains, water faucets were chewed to pieces, hot water heaters have loaded up and many water meters have been ruined.

At the present time, there is no meter on the Barkell home—after two replacements by the township.

Barkell said that his family and most of his neighbors have been drinking water that has been filtered through their water softeners.

Because of the sand condition in the system, the regeneration period is four times longer to get the water through than it was two years ago, he said.

A fire hydrant at the corner of Baybrook and Fairport drives, is running constantly because department servicemen cannot turn it off due to sand clogging the mechanism.

Clerk Seeterlin said that an all out effort began yesterday, to relieve the situation. Consulting well-experts have advised running the hydrants, wide-open, for 12 hour stretches.

They explained that the starting

Public Hearing Set on Petitions for Village Acres

ORION TOWNSHIP — Another public hearing on six petitions for rezoning, presented by Planning Consultant Victor Adler for "Village Acres" here, will be held Monday, Aug. 26, at 8 p.m. in Orion Township Hall.

The various petitions are for rezoning for a drive-in theater, light manufacturing, garden apartments, a shopping center and multiple dwellings.

The petitions for the 2900-acre former Scripps estate have been revised, wherever possible, to meet many of the local objections.

Auburn Heights Club to Have Tiger, Oriole Guests

AUBURN HEIGHTS — A father and Son Baseball Banquet at 7 p.m. sponsored by the Auburn Heights Boys Club will be held at 7 p.m. Wednesday at the American Legion Hall, Churchill road, here.

Both players and management of the Detroit Tiger Baseball Club and the Baltimore Orioles will be present.

Following the dinner, movies of the 1956 World Series will be shown.

Purpose of the banquet is to raise funds for athletic equipment for the Boys Club.

Attending as guests of honor will be Oakland County Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem and County Sheriff, Frank Irons.

All tickets must be purchased in advance.

Charles Cresswell, Executive Director of the Boys Club, states, "One of the problems we have are boys whose fathers cannot attend. Anyone who wishes to be a 'Big Brother' to one of the boys can do so by contacting any merchant in Auburn Heights, or calling me at the club, FE 8-9501."

Plan Family Dinner at St. Rita's Parish

HOLLY — Parishioners of St. Rita's church in Holly are planning a family style chicken dinner for Sunday at the church grounds, East M87.

Besides the dinner to be served from 11:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., features of the day will include fancywork, "parcel post" and bake sale booths.

According to the Father Cyril Rancourt, pastor of the church, arrangements have been made so that this year's affair will feature plenty of home-style food with quick service.

The last Sunday Mass at the church is at 10:30 a.m.

Says Homes to Spring Up in Last of '57

Sees $2 Million Boom at Wolverine

WOLVERINE LAKE — A brighter financial picture promises to bring a building boom to Wolverine Lake village, according to John C. Finlayson, village clerk.

Finlayson envisions big things for the last half of 1957 insofar as Wolverine Lake is concerned. He flatly predicts that two million dollars worth of new homes will spring up in the village by the end of the year.

His estimate was carefully calculated on the basis of available lots, customer demand and the interest shown by builders.

"The potential is here," said Finlayson. "The recent governmental action which lowered FHA required down payments should give builders the go signal."

lion dollars worth of new construction for 1957 proved to be $400,000 under the actual figure.

He likened Wolverine Lake village to Sylvan Lake City, in respect to location. "We're near everything at Wolverine Lake and yet the area is practically 100 per cent residential," Finlayson explained.

Bulk of the new homes to be erected will be in the $10,000 range. He expects a about 80 new homes in that range, about 50 in the $15,000 bracket and about 40 at the $12,000 level.

There are 162 lots in Laguna Vista Subdivision No. 2, a $15,000-$20,000 section, which offers black-top streets.

A planned program for road improvement is being carried on in Shulte Hoffman Subdivision where there are 80 lots available for homes valued at $10,000.

About 400 lots are ready in Spring Lake Heights Subdivision for ranch homes in the $10,000 bracket and another 90 in Spring Lake Heights Subdivision Annex.

Fast growing Tampa Shores Island Subdivision, a development of $15,000 - $20,000 homes, still contains 30 acres of vacant property for future development. The 30 acres should provide 120 lots.

Stuarts Oak Island Lake and Shankin's Wolverine Lake Subdivisions contain 60 and 35 vacant lots, respectively.

A total of 320 vacant lots exist in Penny Lake Woods No. 2, a subdivision with blacktop streets and community water.

Another 340 lots are available for development in Wolverine Lake Manor for new homes in the $10,000 range. The subdivision contains a natural, scenic park.

Among factors which have spurred building activity in Wolverine Lake is the location of the new Lincoln plant at nearby Wixom village.

The proposed Northwestern Highway extension and the proposed Huron-Clinton Valley road should provide stimulus to building in the area. The Huron-Clinton Valley road will branch off the Northwestern extension and pass through the heart of Wolverine Lake village on the way to Kent Lake and Kensington Park.

State School Schedule for Imlay City District

IMLAY CITY — School will begin for 1,100 students in the Imlay City School system on Thursday, Sept. 5 at 8:45 a.m.

All pupils in grades 1 through 7, who will be attending in town for the first time, should register with Mrs. Helen Corneil, during the week of Aug. 26.

All students in the rural schools and the pupils in the former Lum, Lake Pleasant and Bentley Districts will register on the first day of school.

Those in the last two districts may obtain books and supplies at the Lum School during the week of Aug. 26.

All other rural pupils, as well as those attending school in town, may obtain their books and supplies at Imlay City School during the same week from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Textbooks and workbooks will be supplied on a rental basis.

Official Tempers Clash

Farmington Council Busy

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — A long agenda and clashing tempers marked the regular meeting of the Township Board here Tuesday.

Supervisor Frank Stephenson stated that the township attorney is working on a new health ordinance. Trustee Wendell Brown commented that all matters should be passed on by the board before referral to the attorney.

The board then adopted a resolution authorizing the Oakland County Department of Public Works to proceed with the sewer interceptor through Farmington Township.

They also agreed to contribute up to $1,000 toward completion of plans for the interceptor. The sum will be returned when bonds are sold.

Stephenson threw the meeting open for general discussion on a resolution to increase lot sizes R-3 and R-4.

Land developers present expressed opposition to the proposed increase in lot sizes declaring the plan to be highly uneconomical.

Members of the planning board expressed belief that increased cost of lots would be a minor point compared to increased costs of schools, sewers, police and fire protection.

Harvey Freeman, planning board member, stated that "from a health standpoint alone, retardation of growth is in the interest of the township." The board approved the proposal. Brown submitted a list of seven resolutions which he requested the board to act upon.

The first resolution, calling for the return of all township employees to the positions they held last April, brought from Stephenson a charge that it was "unfair to spring something like this", and a demand that the township attorney define the responsibilities and powers of the supervisor.

Brown endeavored to have all seven resolutions read into the record. Stephenson, however, with the support of other board members, managed to have the matter tabled pending study by the attorney.

To Use Property as Gravel Pit

Seymour Acreage Rezoned

OXFORD — The Oxford Township Board, in the latest zoning controversy, voted unanimously to rezone 94 acres on Seymour Lake road, two miles west of Oxford, from suburban farms to sand and gravel.

The local zoning board had earlier placed the property in the suburban farm class, and subsequently voted 3-2 against rezoning. Donald Marshall, owner of the property, had requested the Township Board to override the zoning board's recommendation so that the sub-marginal farm and swamp land could be mined for sand and gravel and then rehabilitated and subdivided. Nearby property is already being mined.

According to Lee Clark, Oxford Township Supervisor, the Township Board acceded to Marshall's request, inasmuch as there would be no appreciable major damage to persons or property from the mining operations, and the resulting rehabilitated land would be more valuable to the township than as it stands.

Tan lake residents, who object to the gravel mining in their vicinity and resulting truck traffic, have protested the action and are circulating petitions for a special election among resident taxpayers of the township outside the village limits.

Ten per cent of such eligible electors must sign the petitions to bring the question to a popular vote.

Once Wild West Now Big Buyer

WASHINGTON (INS) — Western ranchers buy the most new cars per farm, according to a joint analysis of the Departments of Agriculture and Commerce.

The two agencies polled 10,600 farmers around the country and found that in 1955, for example, half the western farmers who bought cars got new ones. In the south, two-thirds of the car buyers settled for used models.

State Farm Tour to Be August 20 in Washtenaw

The annual State Farm Management tour next Tuesday will give Michigan farmers a chance to look into the future.

They will have the opportunity to see how methods of managing farms may be changing. The event is sponsored by Washtenaw County Agricultural Extension Council in cooperation with Michigan State University's Department of Agricultural Economics.

Theme of the program will be "Farming Today — Tomorrow Way."

Chancellor of the University of Nebraska, Dr. Clifford M. Hardin will be the speaker at the program.

Bill Dexter, assistant Washtenaw agricultural agent, said the tour will begin at 9 a.m. on the Richard Powers Dairy Farm, located five miles south of Chelsea on M92.

4 Men Seek Trustee Post at Farmington

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — Clerk Floyd Cairns here said that a trustee will be appointed Sept. 10 to fill the vacancy left by Mrs. Elise Avery, now township treasurer.

Four men, Miles Johnson, Robert Schulkins, Leo Meagher and William Fisher, are seeking the post.

Swiss Village Road Repairs in Progress

ORION TOWNSHIP — Fairview Avenue, the entrance to Swiss Village, which earlier in the year was the center of much controversy here, is becoming a black-topped road.

Cecil Jones, contractor, has provided ways to use the road while construction is in progress, but requests that residents curtail unnecessary trips that slow up work.

A diagonal line divided the road between county and village leaving a question as to which would be responsible for lowering a hill at the border, now is amicably settled by the two governmental groups to the citizens' satisfaction.

Orion Council in Action

Hears Protests, Petitions

LAKE ORION — Several controversial questions were brought before the Lake Orion Village Council at its regular meeting Monday evening.

A delegation appeared before the council with attorney L. R. Bebout as spokesman. He demanded that something be done to eliminate the gravel trucks on Flint street.

One citizen he said, counted 23 trucks in a 30 minute period while another showed evidence of "cracked plaster" on the vibrations.

Bebout pointed out that the village council is responsible for the problem, inasmuch as this is not a state highway. It was suggested the board limit all trucks except those making Orion deliveries.

Another group of irate citizens appeared protesting a house trailer boat which has spent 15 days on the lake and has not left despite the sanitation directors' request. They were told that an ordinance prohibiting this use of the lake would be formulated.

The most heated arguments of the evening developed over a proposed roadway through the village park on "Goat Hill", which William Healy of Berkley has been seeking approval to construct. After several points were brought out and a compromise could not be reached the council voted to assemble at 8 Sunday morning on the site, for the purpose of conferring on the question.

Another citizen appeared before the council requesting that an appropriation be made in next year's budget for a fulltime policeman on the waterfront.

A $2,000 appropriation would cover the three months on an eight-hour schedule according to estimates of property owners.

Richard Arthaud appeared as spokesman for a group of six residents on Park avenue. The citizens are willing to contribute some funds if necessary to get the road in good condition. The council will check this area on Sunday morning also.

The time for collecting village taxes was extended to Oct. 1.

New Chief Detective

OAK PARK — New Chief of Detectives for Oak Park is Public Safety sergeant Joseph Roberts. Assigning Roberts to the post Wednesday, Public Safety Director Glenford S. Leonard said the rank of detective sergeant will be eliminated.

Oyster Industry Gauged

HARTFORD, Conn. — The New England oyster industry's worth is estimated at something over $5,000,000. Flanders Smith, engineer of the Connecticut Shellfish Commission, says the oyster business is a $3,000,000 industry in the Nutmeg State alone.

Only 12 letters comprise the Hawaiian alphabet.

Request 3rd Home Agent

Members of the Oakland County Home Demonstration Advisory Council will request that the extension committee of the county board of supervisors hire a third home demonstration agent to meet the needs of their increased adult education program.

The council voted to request another agent following the approval of the first year program of a report from the program projection study committee, which outlined a five-year plan at the annual meeting.

Mary Hixon is the only such agent for Oakland county, third-largest home demonstration group in the United States. A second agent will be employed in September. More than 1,850 women in 109 different clubs are served by this county extension service.

The increased scope of the home demonstration work and adult education will necessitate a third agent, the group feels.

Projects and classes offered this year starting in the fall include: leader training meetings; selecting pictures for the home; picture framing; outdoor cooking; sewing short cuts; flower gardening; house plant care and home work simplification.

SPECIAL WORKSHOPS

Special interest workshops will be available when requested by individual groups. They include: wool dress making, simple upholstery; family life — series for husbands and wives; color and design and Red Cross first aid.

The council also prepared plans for six Rally Days which will be conducted in September.

Council officers elected at the annual meeting to serve two-year terms are: Mrs. Harry M. Clark Jr., Southfield township, chairman; Mrs. Arthur F. O'Hara, 635 Farnsworth St., vice chairman; Mrs. B. C. Brondige, Holly, secretary; and Mrs. Howard Parr, the county were designated in the new constitution approved by the council.

State Discusses Getting More Defense Contracts

WASHINGTON (AP)—A task force appointed by Gov. Williams to secure more defense contracts for Michigan to help ease unemployment says the Defense Department has promised it increased cooperation in securing contracts.

Lee Uhl, director of the Michigan Department of Economic Development's Industry Services Division, said yesterday "We came away very happy" after the six-man group met at the Pentagon with Army, Navy, Air Force and Defense Department procurement officers.

Looks Like Good Year for German Wines

BONN (INS)—German wine experts said today that the 1957 vintage of Rhine, Moselle and Ahr Valley wines should be a "good" one if the sunny weather continues another two weeks.

DPA, the West German news agency, said that perfect weather—little rain and lots of sunlight—could make this year's harvest a banner year for German winemakers.

Rain in July and sun in August—the formula thus far followed this year—are the essentials for a "good year" in wines.

4th Air Guard Jet Crashes; Pilot Safe

ALPENA (AP)—The fourth Air National Guard jet plane to crash near here within two weeks fell from the sky yesterday, but the pilot parachuted to safety.

First Lt. Peter F. Bachouros of Chicago, a member of the 126th interceptor wing of the Illinois Air National Guard, bailed out of his F84F jet plane while on a routine training mission and was picked up by a helicopter a few hours later near Mio.

Bachouros was hospitalized with minor injuries at Collins Field Base Hospital near here where the Ohio and Illinois Air National Guards are taking two weeks of summer training.

Maj. Aloysius X. Hiltgen, another Illinois Guard pilot, jumped from his jet Monday and two Ohio guard pilots bailed out of their craft previously. None of them suffered severe injuries.

No report on the cause of the crashes has been issued by authorities.

Canada Second to U.S. in Television Stations

OTTAWA — Canada has 35 television stations in operation and two more authorized, making it second only to the United States in the number of stations on the air.

But it trails Great Britain in receiver circulation—the United Kingdom, with 17 stations, has about 6,000,000 sets in use compared with Canada's 2,200,000.

COOL TEST—The Army is concluding tests of an expanding semi-trailer for use as a wartime general staff command post. Shown here are some of the staff members testing the vehicle, including a Pontiac man, M/Sgt. James H. Largent, 890 Scottwood (right). Others are (l. to r.) Sfc. R. B. Ferry of Longbranch, N. J.; Lt. Col. W. B. Tyler of Portsmouth, Va., and Capt. V. C. Devan of Hopwood, Penn. The trailer has air conditioning, possibly accounting for the apparent enjoyment of the task of testing, the trailer in the Fort Benning, Ga., heat.

Hal Boyle Says:

Perfume May Aid Businessmen Someday

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Very few businessmen today rub perfume on their ankles to help them solve a vexing problem.
They may be missing a bet. After all, Socrates, one of history's greatest wise guys, perfumed his ankles to assist his meditations.
"The ancient Greeks even perfumed their food and household pets," said Arnold S. Berke, who sees an increasingly scented future for the American male.
After 41, Berke, executive vice president of Schiaparelli's, is one of the youngest executives in the rapidly expanding cosmetics industry.
"Men now buy about 60 per cent of the perfume sold in this country," observed Berke, a student of psychology as well as odors.
"Most of it, of course, is for women. But speaking frankly, we are headed toward a time when most men will use perfume themselves—although naturally it will be specially formulated for them."
"South American men have always worn perfume," he said, "and in Europe it was worn by more men than women, until the French revolution came along."
Berke's firm is one of several that have already come out with special new perfumes for men.
But Berke feels that the man of the future has little real choice as to whether he'll give off the fragrance of a walking pine tree, commission or an international spy ring.
"There can be from 10 to 100 scents blended in a single perfume," said Berke. "The formula of a successful perfume is guarded as closely as the keys to Ft. Knox."
The perfume industry is almost as secretive as the atomic energy.

Two Examples for 'No' Probe Drinking on Planes

WASHINGTON (INS)—A bizarre account of an intoxicated woman disrobing aboard a plane and a drunken man giving the wrong lady a goodnight kiss has been related to the Senate in support of a ban on serving drinks on aircraft.
Rowland K. Quinn Jr., president of the Airlines Stewards and Stewardesses Association, related the episodes to a Senate Interstate Commerce subcommittee.
He said his office had received a letter from an airline crew member telling of a woman who proceeded to disrobe after having too many drinks in the plane lounge. The crew member said the captain and purser "were able to subdue and re-dress her."
Quinn submitted another report of a man who abused his wife so much that the stewardess made him sit in a different part of the plane. Later, the man got up from his seat to give his wife a goodnight kiss. The trouble was that he kissed another man's wife.
The woman he kissed awoke from her sleep and her husband was restrained from slugging the offender only by an alert stewardess.
In contrast with Quinn's testimony, the subcommittee received a petition from 87 national airline hostesses opposing the ban on serving cocktails.

Security for You

Elderly Can Build New Cell Tissues

(May Henry asked a group of specialists of the Public Health Service, the government's chief health agency, to tell some of the things being done to keep people healthy and happy when they get old. This is the second of a series.)
By NATHAN SHOCK
Chief, Gerontology Branch,
National Heart Institute
Interest in the problems of aging seems at last to be rising to keep pace with the growth of these problems.
With the growth of interest, a seldom-heard word—gerontology—may become more and more familiar to us. Gerontology is the broad scientific study of aging processes.
Since it is a young science, we must admit at the start that we know very little of the causes of aging or even what aging is. And, the world of aging is large. Our map of it shows many expanses of unexplored territory.
But, we're gradually pushing back the boundaries by exploration. A study which we recently conducted at the Heart Institute, Gerontology Branch may illustrate this.
Little has been known about how the aged human body handles calcium, and the other basic elements of tissue growth—phosphorus, nitrogen and potassium.
AGED MORE FRAIL
We know aged people are more frail—their bones may be thinner, and the "working" tissues of muscle and of internal organs may be reduced in their capacity to perform. Do the aged therefore lack the ability to use the basic elements of tissue growth to build new cells and tissues?
Drs. Morton Bogdanoff, Mary Nichols and I explored this problem in a group of men, 66 to 83 years of age.
Their diet of the four tissue growth elements was carefully controlled and varied in eight different experiments. Their excretion of these elements was also accurately measured.
Thus, it was possible for us to learn just how much of each element was being retained for storage and use, and how much was being lost or rejected by the body.
At low levels of calcium intake we did find that these aged men lost more calcium than they stored and used. BUT, this loss was neither greater nor less than that of young adults taking in calcium at similar low levels.
RETAINED AND STORED
We also found that all four elements for building tissues were retained and stored when the right proportions were provided in the diet.
The weight gain of our subjects averaged about five pounds a man. When the individual weight changes were studied in relation to the storage of the tissue growth elements, it seemed clear that these men were building new body tissue.
So we found that aged men do share with the young the power to build new cells and tissues if they have the necessary dietary elements.
Experience has taught us, however, that old people, left to their own devices, often eat diets poor in the vital elements. This is mainly a psychologic and economic problem.
Even so, there is some encouragement in the knowledge that a potential for growth exists which may respond, if stimulated and sustained.
(Questions on Social Security problems may be addressed to "Social Security," in care of The Pontiac Press. Questions will be answered by mail from the Pontiac office of the Social Security Administration. There is no charge for this service.)

Public Gets Glimpse of Honest John Rocket

FT. BRAGG, N.C. (AP)—A group of about 200 to 250 observers were treated to a glimpse of the atom-age army yesterday when an Honest John rocket capable of carrying an atomic warhead whooshed toward an imaginary enemy at 1,700 miles an hour.
The firing keyed a three-day tactical field problem. The 27-foot missile, in theory, wiped out a concentration of hostile troops 10 miles away.
It was the first public firing here of the Honest John, although one experimental rocket had been fired previously.

American Girl Reports

What's It Like to Date Russian Youth?

(Anne Hobson, of Richmond, Va., is an observer at the Communist-sponsored "International Youth Festival" in Moscow. In the following article she reports on a date she had with a young Russian.)

By ANNE HOBSON

MOSCOW (INS) — What's it like for an American girl to date a Russian?

Nicholas, a language student from Moscow University, came to pick me up at the hotel. He was dressed up in a dark blue suit, American style, and a conservative tie.

We took a bus and then the splendid Moscow subway to Gorky Culture Park, "our Central Park" as he put it.

It was a warm summer night and the whole city was out walking with us. Nicholas said that strolling in the streets at night is the Muscovites' favorite pastime.

Before we started off, he had made me promise not to "talk political." We had a rabid argument that noon, since he is a staunch member of the Young Communist League and I'm a "reactionary capitalist."

JUST LIKES TO WALK

When I asked him what he usually did on dates, he said he goes dancing or to the movies, but most of all he likes to walk. I can certainly believe that. We walked for hours. I understand now why the Russian girls wear flats.

On the bridge approaching the park he showed me how to lean over and watch a open-air movie for nothing. I accused him of having capitalist initiative but he strongly denied it.

This movie was Russian, a sort of Siberian saga with Mongols hot on the trail of the villain. He says they do have American movies occasionally, mainly Tarzan and Deanna Durbin.

We walked through the park then, and passed an open air pavilion with a fast dance-band. I asked him if he liked jitterbug or the Charleston, deliberately avoiding rock 'n' roll because of its vast political implications.

He said "no" but he got me to teach him the steps on the side, not on the dance floor. When he noticed a crowd was gathering around us, he suddenly stopped and we walked on.

DON'T LIKE MONEY

He bought me an ice cream sandwich and we sat down on the embankment of the River Moscow. At his suggestion we exchanged a dollar bill and a 10 ruble note. He carefully explained that this was just for "something to keep — Russians don't like money like the capitalist countries."

I offered to relieve him of any capital burden he had on him, but he wouldn't take me up on it.

About midnight we walked back over the bridge and made a dash for the last subway.

Only at the door of my hotel, when he had already committed himself to a second date, did he discover that alarming fact that

I'm not only a capitalist but a Christian, too.

"Whew!" was his only comment.

And I noticed that he was running back to the bus stop when there was no bus in sight.

Australopithecines Span Man-Ape Gap?

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa — Dr. Raymond A. Dart of the University of Witwatersrand in Johannesburg claims the major gap between man and his ape-like progenitors is bridged by the astonishingly manlike creatures called australopithecines that flourished in South Africa about a million years ago.

Discovery of the African man-ape skeletal remains was made a little more than a decade ago and since then more than 100 specimens have been found.

These australopithecines had "almost-human" bodies and brains, Dr. Dart points out. They walked upright in human fashion and improved tools and weapons. But they probably did not have the human faculty of speech.

Minister Also Peace Justice

Benton Harbor Pastor Feels 2 Jobs Coincide as Public Service

BENTON HARBOR (P) — The lawbook and the Holy Bible go hand in hand in the office of Benton Township's newest justice of the peace.

The justice is the Rev. Cecil Chapin, pastor of the Church of God.

"The work coincides with my work as a minister," says the Rev. Mr. Chapin. "In either case I'm a public servant."

He illustrates his point with this story:

"A young man, his wife and three children came before me after a fight. The husband was charged with assault and battery. He pled guilty and paid his fine."

"Then we sat down and talked in my office. I read the Bible before advising them to join a local church and to lead a religious life. We prayed together."

APPARENTLY RECONCILED
"Before they left, apparently reconciled, they promised that they would get along together."

The Rev. Mr. Chapin took office July 1. His candidacy was sponsored by a group of Benton Township ministers who organized support at the township caucus and in the spring election.

The minister agrees he must be careful not to be carried away by mercy.

"It is judgment, tempered by mercy, that is prescribed by the book of James, chapter 2, verse 13," he explained.

The verse reads: "For he shall have judgment without mercy, that hath showed no mercy, and mercy rejoiceth against judgment."

The Rev. Mr. Chapin says he still has difficulty sending 15 and 19-year-olds to jail because they cannot pay fines.

WORKS AS MINISTER
When it comes to performing marriages, the Rev. Mr. Chapin says he works as a minister, not as a justice of the peace, even if the wedding is in his office.

"My four years as justice of the peace will be equal to four years at any school in the world," he says.

2 Little Children Die in Flash Auto Fire

PHILADELPHIA (P) — A flash fire in an automobile killed two little children yesterday as they waited for their father to return from an errand.

Dead were Patricia, 3, and Patrick Palmer, 4. Their father William J. Palmer had left them in the parked car while he dropped off a hunting rifle at a shop for repairs.

Suddenly, flames enveloped the auto. Palmer frantically tried to reach his children, but the heat of the fire had welded shut the auto doors.

Palmer told police he had left a cigarette lighter and a pack of cigarettes on the front seat. Investigators said the children may have lit the lighter.

Flee While Sheriff Away

MANISTIQUE (P) — Edward Ray Joslin, 17, of Manistique, and Alfred George Brown, 37, of Clinton, Iowa, have been bound to circuit court on a charge of unlawfully fleeing jail. Trustees, they fled Aug. 1 while Sheriff Lloyd E. Gray was attending a convention of the Michigan Sheriffs Association.

Bob Considine Says:

Flight 150 Feet Above Sea Masterful Job

WASHINGTON (INS) — The only unremarkable thing about the award today at the Pentagon of the distinguished flying cross to Maj. Sam Tyson is that he won two of them before this.

The DFC Tyson received today from Gen. Tom White, head of the Air Force, is for piloting his C-75 transport with 67 persons to safety over 1,000 miles of sea and landing it at Hilo on Hawaii.

He slumped over his controls as the plane stopped. His hands had to be pried off the wheel. The man had weathered six and a half hours of pure hell.

Here are some of the things that happened, as he related them to me today:

He was about to tip his seat back and take a little snooze, having reached 16,000 feet on the scheduled nine-hour flight from Travis (up from San Francisco) to Hickam, when it happened. It was 4:59 a.m., Honolulu time. His people were asleep. Even the babies.

WITHOUT WARNING

Without warning, his No. 1 engine began spinning its prop at 3,800 r.p.m. Instead of 2,350. Tyson and his crew, to whom he gives all credit, went to work on it immediately. Nothing responded. Tyson knew the engine would soon "freeze" and throw the huge propeller.

He moved his passengers to the rear of the big plane, to avoid having some of them guillotined if the blades came through the cabin. Then he tipped her so that the right wing, on which rested the about - to be - launched prop, was higher than the left.

The magnesium parts of the propeller anchorage grew red, then white, then flamed, and the brutal thing spun off and to the left. It chopped a foot off one of the steel blades of the No. 2 engine's propeller, grazed the top of the cabin, fell into the Pacific.

Now he had two engines going for him. It meant a grueling, bone-bending compensation on the part of the rudder. It meant dropping down to 150 feet.

A Bilko-type sergeant, shepherding a crate of watermelons, let it drop. A broken melon fell out. He went to work on it. "Whatever happens, I want it to happen on a full stomach," he said, chomping away and spitting seeds.

WOUNDED ENGINE SCREAMS

Tyson won't soon forget the shrill agony of the wounded engine. "It was like the fifth scream of a frightened woman," he told us, as chilling a phrase as I've heard in a long time.

Inside the plane, as it toiled along so close to the water that a cough from either of the remaining two engines would have plunged it in the water in a matter of seconds, the temperature rose to about 120.

Tyson had been briefed by the Pan American boys on ditching procedure. He had all his people up in the front of the plane now, crew and those passengers. Even the babies sensed what to do. "Three for each seat designed for two. If he had to hit, there would be nobody in the tail when it broke off."

So he made it, after two excruciating circles around the field and

Hires Teachers, Sets Enrollment Times

Waterford Gears for Rush of Students

An increase of more than 400 in student-enrollment for the Waterford Township School District is anticipated when the fall term begins during Labor Day week, according to Superintendent William Shunck.

Contracts for 60 new elementary school teachers and 18 junior and senior high school instructors have been awarded. This brings the total faculty personnel to approximately 375.

The sharp increase in the elementary teaching staff is due to the additional student enrollment, plus teacher replacements and the staffing of two new elementary schools, Shunck said.

During the teacher-orientation program, Aug. 29-30, the Board of Education and Waterford Township officials will be present to welcome new people to the school system.

On Sept. 3, there will be a general meeting for teachers only, at the high school. They will then report to their individual buildings to become familiar with the fall curriculum.

Registration in the elementary school buildings for kindergarten children with last names beginning with "A" to "K", inclusive, will be held Wednesday, Sept. 4.

Children with the last names beginning with "L" to "Z", inclusive, will be held Thursday. Students in grades one through six will register both days. There will be no bus transportation provided.

Registration and pre-enrollment for junior high school students in grades seven, eight and nine will be from 9 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, Aug. 19-23. This will continue Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of the following week.

EVENING HOURS SET

For junior high students who cannot register during the day, a two-hour program has been set up for 7 to 9 p.m. Wednesdays, Aug. 21 and 28, according to principal Paul O'Neill.

Pre-enrollment for Waterford Township High School students will begin with tenth graders scheduled for Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday next week, from 6:30-12 noon and 1 p.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Sophomores unable to enroll during the day are asked to register from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 21.

Eleventh and twelfth grade students may enroll Aug. 27, 28, and 29 and are scheduled for the same hours as the tenth grade pupils.

Evening enrollment for the juniors and seniors has been set up for 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 28, according to new high school principal, James S. Fry.

Counselors will be available during the pre-enrollment period to register students who have moved into the school district during the summer.

Any schedule changes which have become necessary because of summer school attendance also will be handled during this period.

Regular school sessions for the junior and senior high school classes will begin Thursday, Sept. 5, and regular sessions for elementary school children will begin Friday.

Transportation schedules will be announced later, Shunck said.

At least ten countries use the eagle as the symbol of supremacy.

NEW YORK — A government survey shows that foreign travelers spent nearly $650,000,000 in the United States in 1935 plus an additional $60,000,000 in fares on American international carriers.

More than half the spending was by Canadians, who spent $350,000,000 more in this country than U. S. residents spent in theirs.

Hay Fever Seashun (Sniffle) Ish Here

EAST LANSING—Hay fever time, otherwise known as "the sneezin' season," begins officially today.

It is observed only by certain people who each year at this time may be seen daubing constantly at watery eyes and nose, and heard erupting periodically like Old Faithful.

While others find full enjoyment in late summer pleasures of outdoor sports, vacation, gardening and general relaxation, the hay fever sufferer knows he will be tormented by pollen for possibly six to eight weeks before the first frost.

Besides keeping a fresh supply of handkerchiefs and a stiff upper lip while awaiting the frost, the hay fever victim can do three things to lessen his misery, according to Dr. Ralph H. Ruhmkorff, assistant director of the Michigan State University health service.

"The person with hay fever sometimes can obtain partial or temporary relief by taking one of the antihistamine preparations," Dr. Ruhmkorff advises.

NEED ALLERGY TESTS
"But more permanent and satisfactory relief will be received through allergy tests and vaccine treatments to develop a real immunity."

Dr. Ruhmkorff explained that doctors administer tests to determine which agents cause a patient's allergic reactions, then produce vaccines to create a specific immunity.

"The chief drawback to this method, for many people," he said, "is that it may take several years of treatment to achieve the desired result."

The final alternative for the allergy victim, Dr. Ruhmkorff pointed out, is to seek relief by spending part of the hay fever season in areas such as northern Michigan where the pollen count is low.

A rather large percentage of Americans suffer from allergic reactions. Of some 3,600 Michigan State University students examined last year at the University health center, a total of 560 "had a definite history of allergic reaction," the physician stated. For the entire nation, estimates run between four and eight million.

STATE IS 'HONORED'

"Hay fever," an ailment so old that it is described in the Bible, is not caused by hay at all. The most common cause is ragweed pollen—and southern Michigan has one of the highest pollen counts in the nation.

Other culprits include grasses such as timothy and bluegrass which cause the also misnamed "rose fever" of May-June-July, and tree pollens which cause a third reaction in April and May which sufferers often mistake for spring colds.

"People may be allergic to many other things," Dr. Ruhmkorff pointed out. "They may sneeze over horse hair, house dust, feathers, molds—you name it and people can be allergic to it."

Whether hay fever reactions are on the increase or not Dr. Ruhmkorff is uncertain. "But we do think that nervous tension helps to aggravate allergies," he said. "And the anxieties and emotional upsets of modern living may help to make the problem worse."

Sweden's Smallest

STOCKHOLM—The Swedish Labor Federation increased its membership in 1956 by 19,828, to 1,404,284. The number of affiliated national unions remained at 44 while the total of local branches decreased by 163 to 8,576. The largest affiliate is the Metalworkers Union, with 251,768 members. The smallest, with 378, is the Chimneysweepers union.

6 Workers Die in Sand Slide

35-Foot Excavation in Dresden, Ont., Traps Construction Crew

DRESDEN, Ont. (U)—Six construction workers died last night when 150 tons of earth and sand collapsed, burying them at the bottom of a 35-foot hole where they had been pouring concrete. They made a desperate effort to dig themselves out, an eyewitness said, "then their cries died away."

The accident wiped out all but one of the crew that was working on the steel and concrete foundation for a new waterworks system pump-house in this community midway between Windsor and London.

Three bodies were recovered during the night. All six were from Ontario.

Joseph Grabec, who lives nearby and was watching the work, said "It gave way just like that." "Two were visible from the shoulders up, but we couldn't do much it happened so fast. It didn't take two seconds to fill the hole. For three minutes the men scrambled, then their cries died away."

Beauty Trend: Miss America More Curvaceous

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (U)—The new Miss America who will be selected here next month is likely to be slimmer around the waist and heavier about the hips and chest than her predecessors.

The 51 beauties who will seek the Miss America 1938 title here Sept. 2-7 have an average curvature somewhat more undulating than past contestants.

Girls from every state except Montana, Washington and Wyoming are entered in the pageant together with girls representing New York City, Chicago, Washington, D.C., Hawaii, Puerto Rico and Canada.

Their average bust-waist-hip measurements are 35½-23½-35½, compared with the 34½-24½-35½ average measurements of the 30 previous Miss Americas and with the 35-23½-35 of last year's 50 contestants.

Preliminary judging this year will be held the nights of Sept. 4, 5 and 6, and the successor to Marian Ann McKnight of Manning, S.C., will be crowned before a nationwide television audience Sept. 7.

United States Forests in Healthy Condition

PARIS, Ill. (INS) — U.S. Forests are in a healthier condition than they were 10 years ago.

According to A. C. Foley, chairman of the Illinois Forest Industries Committee, forest growth exceeds timber harvests by 32 per cent.

Foley added that the forests in Illinois are growing timber twice as fast as it is being harvested. Just 10 years ago, there was a timber deficit across the nation.

Three birds which cannot fly are the emu, kiwi and ostrich.

Junior Editors BIRD QUIZ

QUESTION: Does a swan sing a "swan song?"

ANSWER: There is a legend that the swan, silent all its life, sings a beautiful song when it dies. For that reason, people refer to a man's final speech in office or his last statement as his "swan song."

The legend doubtless refers to Europe's mute swan, the kind one usually sees in American parks and zoos. It has a black bump at the base of its bill and is in fact mute, or silent, most of the time. About all one hears it do is hiss.

But don't be too sure that the swan song legend has no basis in fact. In America are two native swans, both now scarce because of hunting in the past. Their call notes are loud and can be heard readily. And hunters have reported that at least one of these, the whistling swan, sings a plaintive and musical song just before it dies—unlike any of its calls at normal times.

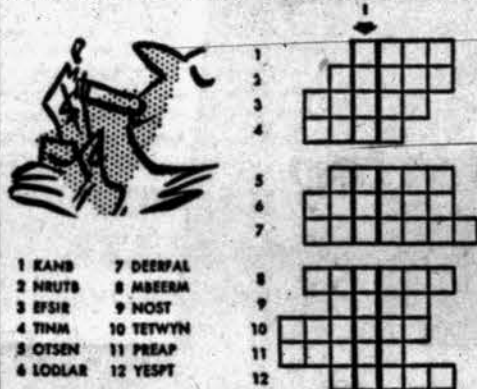

FOR YOU TO DO: Cygnets (baby swans) like to ride on their mother's back. Paste this picture on heavy paper. Cut out the cygnet and insert the tab in the slot on Mama Swan's back.

Campaign to Establish Comic Hall of Fame

NEW YORK (AP) — George Jessel, Eddie Cantor and Beatrice Lillie are leading a campaign to establish a Comedians' Hall of Fame in the New York Theatrical district. Portraits, programs and other memorabilia identified with such greats as Weber and Fields, Bert Williams, W. C. Fields, Marie Dressler, Will Rogers, Fanny Brice, George M. Cohan and Al Jolson would be exhibited.

The sponsoring trio and Charles Conaway, "Ziegfeld Follies" co-producer who originated the idea, will seek the help of municipal officials in finding a site for the center.

A High Safety Rating Goes to Ohio Turnpike

CLEVELAND (INS) — One of the best safety records on the nation's major expressways during 1956 was chalked up by the Ohio Turnpike.

Rate for all accidents—fatal and non-fatal—on the turnpike was 139 accidents per 100 million vehicle miles. This included accidents where damage was $100 or less. The fatality rate on the 241-mile expressway was 1.9 deaths per 100 million vehicle miles, compared to a national rate of 6.4 and a range of from 2.76 to 8.8 on other turnpikes.

Bob Considine Says:

Peggy Diggins Was a Unique War Figure

NEW YORK (INS) — Peggy after boot-or slipper-training with the WACs at Camp Devers in New England and consequently inherited their uniform. She had her choice of summer or winter types.

The dear, hardy belles who were under Army orders chose the drab winter type. Peggy took the pale, buff summer job. With the little stiff-brimmed cap that Col. Oveta Hobby had designed, Peggy looked like an enlistment poster.

She would have made the greatest wartime poster since her friend James Montgomery Flagg's "I Want You!" poster of World War I.

Aboard the ladies' troopship to England early in 1943 Peggy saw no reason why she should go through the glum routine of sleeping each night in a life preserver, as all WACs were ordered to do. Peggy had brought along something slinky, black and over-whelmingly feminine.

UNEXPECTED VISITOR

She was sleeping peacefully one night in mid-Atlantic, while the ship zigged and zagged to avoid possible U-boat attack, when an outraged lady sergeant stomped in, protected by the armor of a life-jacket, long woolen underwear, with a drop seat and cast-iron curlers.

Spying Peggy in her filmy black, the sergeant snorted. "Young lady, do you realize that this ship may be sunk at any moment? How do you think you could survive with nothing on but that nightgown?"

Peggy stirred sleepily in her bunk, looked at the lady sergeant and asked politely, "Who do you think will be the first picked up at sea?" and then went back to sleep.

In London in 1943 the air raid sirens sounded constantly. The Luftwaffe was trying to prove it could still throw a punch. The rule called for the taking of refuge in shelters during such disturbances.

Peggy liked to walk abroad during a raid, to watch the play of the searchlights which sometimes picked up the Nazi hit-and-run bombers much like moths at great heights.

The bombs these planes dropped were nothing compared to the descending shrapnel of antiaircraft shells and rockets the British sent up. Peggy walked through such falling barages where other correspondents feared to tread. Jagged chunks of metal the size of home plates fell around her, but never hit her.

Peggy and I once were assigned by Leo Dolan and Charlie Smith, who ran the I.N.S. Bureau in London, to go to a little place named East Grinstead, where the R.A.F.

operated a hospital and rest camp named for Queen-Victoria.

BURNED FLIERS

A magnificent plastic surgeon from New Zealand named McIndoe, since knighted, attended to the ghastly burned Spitfire and Hurricane pilots, grafting skin on them, planting new hair, rebuilding noses, chins, ears that had been seared off by flames rushing back into their cockpits from stricken engines.

It is not an easy thing to face and be casual with a badly burned human being. For me, a chicken, it is harder than facing the worst kind of adversity. The terribly burned and disfigured sense such timidity and are offended by it.

Peggy Diggins strolled through that place with the serenity of Florence Nightingale, making each fearfully cooked patient comprehend that he could rejoin the species and mingle in comfort even with people as beautiful as Peggy.

Peggy Diggins was a model and a movie girl and as lovely as anybody of our time. During the war she attracted a type of whistle that was not as irreverent as it was reminiscent. She was every homesick guy's memory of his wife, his girl, his daughter.

The whistles were whistles of awe first and respect later. There was never anybody in the history of uniformed people who looked as good as Peggy Diggins. God bless her.

Accident Rate Drops

ST. LOUIS — The truck-accident rate in the United States has dropped 71 per cent since 1934. In 1935 and 1936 a rate of 1.63 accidents per 10,000 vehicle-miles traveled was achieved compared with 5.7 per 100,000 vehicle-miles in 1933 and 1934.

Young TV Star Visiting Lansing

Cookie on Blondie Show Has Home-Coming With Aunt and Uncle

LANSING (U) — The neighborhood of Barnes Ave., has been buzzing with youngsters during the past week since word leaked out that a television celebrity is in Lansing.

Dixie Anne Barnes, 12, who plays "Cookie" on the Dagwood and Blondie TV show, is visiting an aunt and uncle at their southside home here.

It's a home-coming for Dixie Anne, who was born in Lansing. Her father now is a milkman in San Valley, Calif.

Neighborhood youngsters have been lining up for autographs and to ask questions about Hollywood. Dixie Anne tells them that her life is pretty normal. She attends parochial school except when the TV series is being filmed on a Hollywood lot, then a tutor helps her make up for lost schooling.

She likes to read and fish and to take care of her puppy, one of the offspring of "Daisy," a dog star of the show.

She doesn't know many Hollywood celebrities except those on the Blondie show but also has had roles on the Loretta Young show and NBC's Matinee Theater.

The Blondie series is being rerun right now and Dixie Anne will watch it while in Michigan.

"That's the hardest part," she said. "You watch it and wonder why you didn't do each bit of business a little bit different."

May Be 1st Successful Attempt Leukemia Victim Given Bone Marrow Transplant

PHILADELPHIA (U) — A 20-month-old girl, suffering from acute leukemia, has received what doctors say may be the first successful transplant of human bone marrow.

The child is Laura MacDonald of suburban Drexel Hill and the transplant was made from her twin sister Mary. They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Robert MacDonald.

Laura was released today from Fitzgerald Mercy Hospital in nearby Darby with the leukemia no longer evident though doctors say it could return. She was admitted in mid-June in poor condition from the disease, a cancer of the blood cells which is almost always fatal.

"Because little hope was held for her survival," a hospital spokesman said, "heroic measures were agreed upon when it was discovered that Laura's twin Mary had the same blood type as hers. The decision was made to try and transplant Mary's healthy bone marrow to her sister."

"On July 11 Laura underwent a massive dose of total body irradiation in an effort to destroy the diseased marrow immediately before the transplant."

"The following day the children were taken to an operating room where marrow was drawn from Mary's shin bone and hip bone into syringes treated with anticoagulants. This marrow was then injected into Laura's bloodstream."

"The youngster responded steadily to the transplant and had no violent reaction. In the ensuing days, there has been an encouraging improvement in the condition of her blood."

The attending physicians, who declined to be identified, stated: "This is not to be construed as a cure for acute leukemia."

"This possibly may be the first probable successful transplant of marrow from one twin to another with the preliminary use of new antileukemic medicines and irradiation, and there has been a favorable effect upon the leukemia, the end result of which will require a much longer period to evaluate."

Twining Takes Oath of Office

AF General Sworn In as Head of Joint Chiefs in White House Rite

WASHINGTON (NS)—Gen. Nathan F. Twining was sworn in today as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, the first Air Force general selected for the position.

Twining, 59, who succeeds Adm. Arthur W. Radford, took over the nation's top military post in ceremonies this morning in President Eisenhower's office at the White House.

Twining's appointment demonstrates the emphasis being placed on air power. But he indicated yesterday that he and his Navy predecessor think alike on the current state of world affairs.

Both military leaders said the threat of war is distinctly remote as long as America remains strong.

Radford told his final news conference before retiring that there was "decidedly less chance" of the U. S. becoming involved in war than when he took over as JCS chairman four years ago.

Twining is the third person to hold the JCS chairman post. Army General Omar N. Bradley took over when the joint chiefs were established in 1949 and served until 1953. Radford was in the top spot from then until today.

Radford succeeded Bradley after risking his career along with other admirals in a successful fight for construction of super-carriers of the Forrestal class. He has no immediate plans for the future.

STUDED AT WEST POINT

Twining, although a career airman, has some Army background. He was graduated from an accelerated 18-month course at West Point in 1918 after a tour of duty along the Mexican border with an Oregon National Guard unit.

The native of Monroe, Wis., completed advanced flight school at Kelly Field, Texas, in 1924. After that he held a series of Air Corps jobs and served as engineering officer for the Central zone at Chicago in 1934. He is a graduate of the Command and General Staff School at Fort Leavenworth, Kans.

His World War II service included tactical command of all Army, Navy, Marine and Allied Air Forces in the South Pacific.

In November of 1943, he assumed command of the 15th Air Force in Italy and in January 1944 was named commander of the Mediterranean Allied Strategic Air Forces.

His first Pentagon assignment was as acting deputy chief of staff for personnel in July 1950.

Airman Dies of Injuries From Sunday Accident

A local airman who was involved in an accident last Sunday morning, died yesterday at Pontiac General Hospital.

Airman 2c James E. Gottschalk, 20, of 2869 Cooley Lake Rd., Waterford Township, had remained in critical injuries since being admitted to the hospital shortly after 3 a.m. Sunday.

He ran off a curve on Indian Trail at Commerce road, in West Bloomfield Township, hitting a utility pole, state troopers said.

Gottschalk an Oakland County resident for 18 years, suffered multiple head and internal injuries. His body has been taken to the Brace-Smith Funeral Home and the funeral is scheduled for 10 a.m. Saturday from St. Michaels Church.

The Holland-American Line will rent a new three-story $16,000,000 pier to be built on the North River in New York. The Hague reports. There will be room to park 1,000 cars on the roof.

Navy Will Dismiss Civilian Employees

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Navy announces it will dismiss 18,000 civilian employees in another of a series of moves to meet an economy cut ordered by Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson.

said, and fit hardest shore installations such as shipyards, ordnance plants, repair shops and supply depots.

Illicit Adventures Claimed During Confidential Trial

LOS ANGELES (U)—Thirteen stories accusing movie stars of illicit amorous adventures have been poured into the ears of jurors in the criminal libel trial of Confidential and Whisper magazines.

Prosecuting attorneys gave the recital yesterday in an attempt to prove that the magazines libeled the subjects of the articles and published lewd and obscene matter.

And more sex-packed stories are to flow from the witness stand when the trial resumes tomorrow after being in recess today.

Arguments will be heard today on the prosecution's attempt to bar the defense from calling nearly 100 movie celebrities as witnesses to ask them if stories written about them were true.

The prosecution contends such testimony would be immaterial to the 10 stories on which the grand jury indictment was based.

Also to be argued is a defense motion to eliminate the criminal libel charge. It contends that malice has not been proved.

The stories from Confidential and Whisper were read yesterday by Dep. Dist. Atty. William L. Ritz and Asst. State Atty. Gen. Clarence Linn.

Here are the principals and the stories:

Mae West — Her alleged predilection for "muscle men" and her employment of a Negro boxer.

Robert Mitchum — The story called him "the nude who came to dinner." Mitchum sued Confidential for a million dollars, but the action was dismissed because of a question of jurisdiction.

Dick Powell and his wife June Allyson — "How long can Dick Powell take it?" the title asked. The story said Miss Allyson was "a hubby snatcher" who carried on flirtations with her leading men.

Corinne Calvert — The French actress, according to the story, was overly demanding of affection from her husband John Bromfield, and later from actor Jeff Stone.

Jayne Mansfield and Mickey Hargitay — The buxom blonde entertained Mr. Universe in her home overnight, Confidential alleged.

Billy Daniels — The singer is accused of carrying on with a call girl.

Anita Ekberg and Anthony Steel — The Swedish beauty and the British actor, now married, are said by the story to have "played house long before the wedding bells rang out."

Eddie Fisher — While an Army private in 1932, the singer is reported as having had a gay party with a blonde, a redhead and a brunette in a Detroit hotel.

Frank Sinatra — The story calls him "the Tarzan of the boudoir" and says a breakfast food is the reason.

John Carroll — A report of a Hollywood swimming party in which seven girls cavorted in the nude.

Dorothy Dandridge — The story says "what Dorothy Dandridge did in the woods" involved a romantic encounter with a man.

Miss Dandridge filed a million-dollar libel suit, settled for $10,000 out of court.

Alan Dale — The actor was reported to have "played house with two gals at once."

Maureen O'Hara — She was accused of engaging in torrid love-making with an unidentified Latin American in the back row of seats in a Hollywood theater.

Miss O'Hara has sued Confidential for a million dollars.

Judge Herbert V. Walker presides over the sensational criminal libel trial in a stern manner. But his eyes often twinkle beneath bushy brows as he discusses issues with attorneys.

After a few stiff warnings, he has trial spectators and news reporters under rigid discipline which permits no snickering at the more racy testimony concerning supposed indiscretions of movie stars.

Referring to his experience as a prosecutor, defense attorney and now judge, he observes:

"I've sat on all three corners of this triangle and I think I know pretty well what the attorneys down in front are thinking."

2 Admit Smashing Auto Windshields

DETROIT (U)—Two teenage boys accused of tossing bricks through 14 automobile windshields face possible heavy fines and jail sentences.

Det. Sgt. Walter O'Dell of suburban Grosse Pointe Woods said the youths told him they smashed the windows the nights of July 19 and 26 because "they claimed they just didn't have anything better to do."

O'Dell said warrants charging the boys, all 17 or 18 years old, with intentional damage to a motor vehicle would be issued. He said such a charge is a misdemeanor and carries a maximum penalty of $100 fine or 90 days in jail or both.

He said the youths smashed seven windshields in suburban Grosse Pointe Farms July 19 and seven more in Grosse Pointe Woods July 26.

2 Milford Boys Hurt in Scooter Accident

Two Milford youths escaped serious injury Tuesday as the motor scooter they were riding collided with an oncoming car.

Vincent Cytacki, 15, of 1790 Lumb eta Ct., the driver, and his companion, Douglas Brinker, 15, of 4001 Burnet St., turned in front of a car driven by Marion W. Sirbough, 33, of 906 Squirelane Rd., Milford, said sheriff's deputies.

The boys were treated at Pontiac General Hospital for minor injuries and released.

4 Boys Beat Youth

Gary William, 17, reported to Pontiac police he was beaten by four unidentified youths Tuesday night at Franklin road and the Grand Trunk Railroad tracks.

He said the four alighted from an automobile and struck him over the head and kicked him about the face and head, fracturing his nose. He could give no reason for the assault.

He was treated at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital and released.

About one million new homes are constructed in the U. S. in an average year.

Islanders Nurse Paradise Dream

Foresee Vast Economic Growth Ahead Catering to Tourists

HAVANA (U)—The 12,000 residents of the Isle of Pines—a land of tropical fruits in the Caribbean just 90 miles south of the Cuban mainland, are nursing grandiose dreams of turning it into a tourist paradise.

Spearheading a movement for vast economic development of the sun-bathed, palm-lined island that is more or less the permanent home of around 2,000 Americans is Francisco G. Cajigas, 57-year-old wealthy Cuban cattleman and widely known business promoter.

Cajigas, a native of the 1,850-acre square mile island, plans to make it a topflight attraction for travelers from all over the world.

Hector De Lara, president of a Havana insurance company, and an associate of Cajigas, said the latter's plans call for, among other things:

A multi-million dollar "overseas highway" or bridge to link the Isle of Pines with the closest point on the Cuban mainland, 30 miles away, and the Pan American Highway.

MOTELS, GAMBLING CASINO
Construction of a series of new motels.
Establishment of a gambling casino.

Pre-fabricated housing project, a cement plant, and the laying of a submarine telephone cable between the island and the mainland.

Along with all of this, Cajigas' plans include a 400-passenger ferry to operate between the island and the mainland.

Cajigas' enterprises on the island already include establishment of a $400,000 electric plant and a branch bank in Nueva Gerona, key town on the island.

The Isle of Pines is widely known as the "Treasure Island" referred to by Robert Louis Stevenson in his book of the same name. In addition to its storied tourist delights, it also is the site of Cuba's big national penitentiary.

Norway Will Study Election Scientifically

OSLO—The Institute for Social Research in Oslo is planning a scientific study of the parliamentary election to be held October 7.

The study will be the first of its kind made in Norway. Its object will be to survey political trends that have developed in postwar elections.

A systematic analysis will be made of campaign pamphlets, newspaper editorials, and other election material. On-the-spot campaign studies and interviews will be included.

Out to Conquer Vast Mountains

Revolutionary Era Dawns in Europe as Nations Map Road Building Plans

ROME (INS)—A revolutionary era in road-building is starting to dawn across Europe.

Man is out to conquer vast mountains that have stalled his travel for centuries. Italian engineers are in the forefront in the hope that "all roads will lead to Rome."

In Italy, France, Germany, Austria and Switzerland discussions are now seriously under way for the construction of nearly a dozen tunnels under the Alps.

The British Channel Company in London—with the contributions of French transport interests and United States' investors—is laying much of the foundation for these far-reaching projects.

Italians, famous for this type of construction, are particularly fired with the ideas because they have been greatly impressed by President Eisenhower's plans for new highways and roads in the United States.

REVOLUTIONIZE TRAFFIC
Better roads would revolutionize auto traffic in Europe and give a tremendous impetus to tourism, according to even the most pessimistic experts.

The greatest project now being envisaged would be a tunnel under Mont Blanc, linking Italy and France. This plan has been under discussion in the respective parliaments for the past two years. Italy is now eager to get started on its side of Mont Blanc.

While the French government has suspended all projects for the tunnel until the nation weathers its present financial situation, construction engineers from the two countries have been meeting frequently and are hopeful of not too long a delay.

Other tunnels under the Alps are now being planned in detail—physically as well as financially. Only recently, officials of Italy, Germany and Austria met at Innsbruck in an attempt to solve traffic problems between the three countries. A syndicate was formed and preliminary projects were discussed.

Some of the tunnels under consideration are:

SWITZERLAND TO ITALY
Simplon: about six miles long with two entrances in Italy—at Guggen and Divodro Valley—with the other entrance at Schallberg, Switzerland. The new tunnel would speed auto traffic between Milan, Western Switzerland and France.

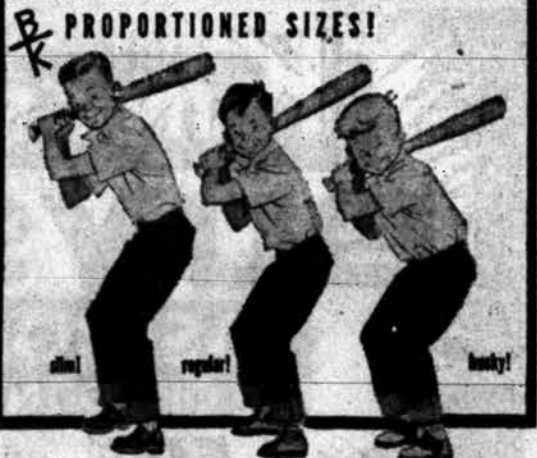

St. Gothard: about six miles long. One entrance would be near Motto-Bariola, Italy and the other at Hospental, Switzerland. This project would increase road traffic between north and south Eu-

Col-de-Ferret: almost four miles long. The Italian entrance is between Arnava and Sagloan and, in Switzerland, near Les Ars Dessous. This tunnel would open new, direct road passage between Italy and Switzerland and would integrate with the Mont Blanc Tunnel, linking it to France.

Great St. Bernard: about six miles long. Entrances at St.

Rhemy and Bourg-St. Pierre, France—helping the flow of traffic en-route to Bale, Switzerland and Milan.

Splug: about 12 miles long. The Swiss opening would be at Splug and the Italian opening at Pianazzo. The project would shorten the distance between Milan, Coira, Eastern Switzerland and Germany. Brenner: two rival plans are being discussed. Both would assist road traffic involving speedier times to all five countries.

Corn Is Summer's Choicest Gift

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

that will continue for some weeks—thank goodness. One night earlier this month The Better Half and I attended a corn fest. The corn served at that dinner had been cooked in the husk over an open charcoal fire.

The silk had been removed, then the husks were wrapped tightly around the ear and the ears soaked in ice water until they were put on the fire. The corn was tender and juicy and had that smoky flavor, but without the burnt kernels that marked the roasted corn of your youth. Many modern farms that specialize in growing corn now have hydro-coolers. These gigantic machines dip the corn into frigid water to get out all the heat from the field. This stops the ripening process, which in the case of corn means the changing of the tender kernels to hard, tough starchy ones. You can believe signs on produce counters that tell you the corn is fresh picked.

You must do your share to keep it in good condition by either using it as soon as you get it home or placing it in the refrigerator immediately—with the husks on. Use it as soon as you can. Of course, there's nothing that beats just plain butter to bring out the taste of corn. If you want to be fancy, make up some herb butters for a change. Or try this Avocado Spread.

Fresh Corn With Avocado Spread
8 ears of fresh corn
Boiling salted water to cover corn
1 cup avocado puree
3 tablespoons mayonnaise
1½ tablespoons fresh lemon juice
2 tablespoons tomato catsup
1-16 teaspoon round cayenne pepper
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon onion juice
1-16 teaspoon garlic powder

Husk fresh corn and remove silks. Drop into rapidly boiling salted water to cover, using 1 teaspoon salt to 1 quart of water. Cover and boil until corn is just tender, 5 to 7 minutes. Combine remaining ingredients and spread over hot ears of corn. Yield: 8 servings.

No matter how carefully you plan there are times when you have leftover corn. Don't throw it away. Cut it off the cob and use it for another meal.

The other day I had half a dozen excess ears. For lunch I cut it off the cob and added it to scrambled eggs. It made a good hearty dish. You can add this cut corn to pancakes or waffles with good results. A newer idea is this recipe for corn sticks using biscuit mix.

Northern Corn Sticks
2 eggs
1 cup milk
2 tablespoons sugar
2 1-2 cups biscuit mix
¼ cup butter or margarine (melted)
1 cup corn (whole kernels cut from cooked corn on the cob)
Extra butter
Maple-blended syrup

Beat eggs in medium-sized mixing bowl with rotary beater (hand or electric) until thick and almost white in color. Add milk and sugar and beat enough to blend. Add biscuit mix and melted cooled butter; beat enough to dampen dry ingredients thoroughly but not enough to get rid of every small lump. Fold in the cooked corn kernels.

Meanwhile put about ¼ teaspoon butter in each well of iron corn stick pans; place in hot

Softened Ice Cream Ladled Over Peaches

When worst comes to worst, and the refrigerator conks out, perhaps the thing most likely to make you chew your fingernails is a batch of ice cream in the freezing compartment. It takes temperatures considerably lower than the freezing temperature for ice to keep ice cream solid.

But if it should happen to you, don't throw away the ice cream. There's a dessert, suggested by the Department of Agriculture, which is so delicious that you may want to serve it, even if the refrigerator is working at its freezing best. To make it, you'll need some ice cream that has been allowed to melt a little, or whipped until it's soft. It's called Perky Peach dessert.

Perky Peach Dessert
Place a peach cut side up on a dessert dish. Sprinkle with slivered toasted almonds. Whip vanilla ice cream to soft consistency adding a little syrup from the peaches and 2 tablespoons of raspberries. Ladle over fruit.

When you're cooking fresh spinach, drain it lightly, then cook it with the water clinging to the leaves. As you add the spinach to the kettle, sprinkle each layer of leaves with salt.

Blueberries Freeze Well Dry or in Cooled Syrup

What is easier than freezing blueberries? For salads the process is super-easy. Just wash, drain, loosely pack in containers and freeze. For pies, you may store them the same way or add 1 cup of sugar to each 5 cups of fruit. For fresh fruit desserts pack blueberries in a 40 per cent cooled syrup. This is made by using three cups of sugar to four cups of water.

You'll be happy with frozen blueberries if you choose the varieties recommended in Michigan.

Forget the Heat Waves With Tangy Lemonade

Treat your family to the most cooling drink of all tonight—lemonade. You can have a pitcherful ready one-two-three with sun-kist frozen concentrate for lemonade. Everyone likes lemonade. It makes temperatures drop and heat-weariness banish. How about fixing some right now?

For a change you might like to have Lemonade Tea. This is wonderful with meals or whenever you want something good to drink. Equally tempting is this California Golden Lemonade. If your youngsters balk at eating eggs, this is an excellent way to insure they get their necessary quota.

Youngsters love a party. How about letting them have a spur-of-the-moment celebration with a big pitcher of lemonade and either cupcakes or cookies?

They'll feel like grownups if you frost the rims of the glasses by dipping the edge of each glass in lemonade, then in sugar. Chill.

Then carefully pour lemonade into each glass. Gaily colored drinking straws and lemon slices add to festive look.

Lemonade Tea
1 8-ounce can sun-kist frozen concentrate for lemonade
1 quart hot tea
Combine concentrate for lemonade and tea. Stir until concentrate for lemonade is dissolved. Chill thoroughly. Garnish as desired. Makes about 5 cups.

California Golden Lemonade
1 8-ounce can sun-kist frozen concentrate for lemonade, thawed
1 egg, well beaten
3½ cups water
Combine concentrate for lemonade and egg; beat thoroughly. Add water and mix well. Serve over ice, as desired. Makes about 3½ cups.

Our grandmothers used to make jams and jellies in huge amounts; but nowadays we realize that many jellied food products lose some of their flavor after many months of storage.

Iron-Rich Liver Helps Weak Budget

Every budget needs a balancer sometimes, and it is always better to balance nutrition at the same time, says the MSU Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawyer. One of the best balancers is liver, inexpensive and brimming with iron.

You can pay as much as a dollar and twenty-five cents a pound for calves liver or as little as 39 to 49 cents a pound for pork liver. Though it may seem strange pork liver which is the least expensive, has more iron than other kinds of liver.

If you choose calves' liver broil it with bacon. If you choose beef or pork liver cook them by braising or by browning and then cooking in a casserole. Keep the heat low when cooking liver. High heat will make it tough and spoil its appetite appeal. Select the type of liver you like, and serve up a balancer for the budget and better health.

Thin mayonnaise with a little cooking sherry and use it as a dressing for a lobster salad.

Blend Peaches in Milk Drink

Appetizing and refreshing is the only way to describe this peaches, milk and cream drink for an afternoon or evening refreshment. Fresh or frozen peaches are blended with milk and cream to make a delightfully smooth and nourishing drink with a bit of spice for a garnish.

A generous supply of milk for in between meal family pick-ups is a must, but particularly so during the summer months when increased activities at work or play bring about weariness or fatigue. A milk drink with butter colicols or a small piece of cake will give a lift to either young or old, and will include a part of the milk needed daily for nutritional needs.

For a peach of a drink — you will enjoy this recipe.

Peachy Drink
1 1/2 pound package frozen sliced peaches
1/2 cup whipping cream
1/2 cup sugar
Drop of almond extract
1 pint chilled milk
Whipped cream
Mint

Combine defrosted peaches including juice, cream, sugar, salt, and almond extract in electric blender. Beat until mixture is thick and smooth. Pour into pitcher. Add chilled milk and stir until thoroughly mixed. Pour into tall glasses. Top with a spoonful of whipped cream, sprinkle with spice and garnish with fresh mint.

If no blender is available mash peaches with fork or put through food mill. Whip cream. Fold peaches into cream. Proceed as directed above. Makes 4 servings.

If a less rich drink is desired an additional cup of milk may be added.

ICE CREAM PIE — One of the easiest summer desserts is an ice cream pie. Crush 1 1/2 cups chocolate wafers and blend with 1/3 cup melted butter or margarine. Line a 9-inch pie pan with the mixture, saving 1/4 cup to sprinkle on top. Chill. Fill the shell with softened peppermint stick ice cream. Top with remaining crumbs. Chill in freezer for 2 hours. Cut and serve immediately.

BUTTERMILK ON THE ROCKS

Cool. Smart. Refreshing. Tickle your taste like no other thirst-quencher. And so low in calories! Try it—you'll like it!

Sealtest BUTTERMILK

If white shirts could talk, they'd say—
ROMAN BLEACH is ...
BEST BLEACH

PEACHY DRINK — Peaches and milk are a perfect combination for this refreshing drink for warm summer days. Garnish with whipped cream and a bit of cinnamon or nutmeg and serve with butter cake or cookies for an afternoon or evening snack.

Blueberries Polka Dot Lemon Chiffon Pie

If ever there was a pie made to order for summer weather, this Lemon Blueberry Chiffon is certainly it. What could be better than that cool lemony flavor, accented by sweet, fresh blueberries? As for preparation, it's as easy as the proverbial pie itself! A quick cracker pie shell, along with the modern-day filling mix, saves the whole summer day for lounging. Of course, a tall glass of zesty iced coffee is always the perfect companion for this truly delicious pie.

Lemon Blueberry Chiffon Pie
1 package lemon chiffon pie filling mix
1 cup fresh blueberries
1 cup saltine cracker pie shell
Prepare pie filling as directed on package. Just before spooning into pie shell, fold in blueberries.

Saltine Cracker Pie Shell
1 1/2 cups saltine cracker crumbs

Bakes Without Any Watching

This is one of those recipes made to order for the busy homemaker or hostess — an entree that can be put together in a matter of minutes and then forgotten while it bakes in a slow oven for about an hour and a half.

Called Mediterranean Ham, this interesting entree consists of two thick slices of ham filled with a bread stuffing that's flavor accented with whole bran cereal, honey, raisins, and crushed pineapple. Cloves are pierced in the edging of fat around the top slice of ham for added tang.

Pop a few potatoes in the oven along with the ham, and just before serving time simply prepare a large and crisp tossed salad. Nice, no?

Mediterranean Ham
2 cups 1/4-inch bread cubes
1/2 cup honey
1/2 cup seedling raisins
1/2 cup drained crushed pineapple
1/2 cup whole bran cereal
2 slices of ham, 1/4 inch thick
1 teaspoon whole cloves

Combine bread cubes, honey, raisins, pineapple, and bran cereal and mix well.

Blueberries Are Versatile August Fruit

Michigan blueberries are the August berries. Make pies, jam, fruit plates and use some to dress up plain vanilla puddings and custards suggests the MSU Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawyer.

If you want to be fancy, use instant vanilla pudding. Make it according to directions, then put in sherbet glasses with alternate layers of berries.

Don't overlook blueberries at breakfast. A half cup of berries surrounded by a ring of cantaloupe or served with cereal and cream will get the family to breakfast on schedule.

Or maybe you will make fresh uncooked blueberry jam, the kind that keeps in the freezer or refrigerator.

August is the berry time for blueberries.

To dress up hamburgers when you're serving them for dinner, spread the hot cooked hamburger patties with melted butter mixed with a little prepared mustard, chili sauce and a pinch of chili powder.

Good first course: Thick slices of peeled red-ripe tomatoes doused with vinegar-oil dressing, served garnish.

on crisp romaine or water cress with drained anchovies. Use an fillets (drained) and cross one over the other to make an attractive garnish.

Garnish Salad With Meat
Next time there's a little baked ham or cold cooked smoked tongue leftover, slice it into thin strips.

Mix it with matchstick-size strips of Swiss cheese, bite-size pieces of salad greens and French dressing for a luncheon or Sunday-night supper salad.

Blueberry Sauce and Ice Cream Top Dessert

Huck Finn knew all the delights of those small, blue-black berries on the banks of the Mississippi. He was proud to take his name from the huckleberry. And the wild fruit is still a joy wherever it is found and gathered and put into pies, or jam or muffins or pancakes. But happily for most of us, removed from the wild blueberry patch, the cultivated blueberry comes to us right now, a plump and luscious adornment of the mid-summer season.

However you serve blueberries, they're a wonderful treat to the palate. And this summer, a delightful August ice cream specialty, Vanilla Blueberry Royale, brings the incomparable tart-sweetness of the fruit onto the table in a wonderfully delicious new style.

This vanilla ice cream treat, generously laced with blueberry puree, serves as the inspiration for many delicious desserts. And for party breakfasts, too, what could be more colorful or tempting than delicate pancakes, topped with fresh blueberries, and crowned with spoonful of Vanilla Blueberry Royale Ice Cream?

French Pancakes

1 1/2 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 tablespoon sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
3 eggs (yolks and whites beaten separately)
1 1/4 cups buttermilk
3 tablespoons melted butter

Sift together flour, soda, baking powder, sugar and salt. In mixing bowl, beat egg yolks, mix in buttermilk and melted butter. Add dry ingredients and beat until smooth. Fold in separately beaten egg whites.

Drop rounded tablespoonsful of batter on hot, lightly greased griddle. Bake pancakes until golden brown on both sides, turning only once. Makes 20 three-inch pancakes.

To serve, arrange pancakes in groups of three or more for each individual serving. Spoon blueberry sauce over pancakes and top with Vanilla Blueberry Royale Ice Cream.

Blueberry Sauce

Mix 1/2 cup sugar, 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg, 1 1/2 teaspoon cornstarch, and a dash of salt in a saucepan. Stir in 1/2 cup cold water gradually to make a smooth mixture. Add two cups washed and drained blueberries. Cook over low to moderate heat until sauce is thickened and clear, stirring constantly. Stir in 2 teaspoons lemon juice. Cool. Makes about 2 cups.

A 10 1/2-ounce can of minced clams, drained, may be mixed with a half-pound package of cream cheese. Add lemon juice and finely grated onion to taste and use as a spread with crackers.

BLUEBERRY TREAT—Tiny buttermilk pancakes—no bigger than three inches in diameter are the foundation for this intriguing breakfast specialty. They're topped with fresh blueberries, then crowned with Vanilla Royale Blueberry Ice Cream. Try it for a brunch treat.

Try New Combination of Rich Frozen Soups

Here's a new and glamorous chilled soup combination with plenty of flavor intrigue. And see how easy: Combine 1 can (10 1/2 ounces) frozen condensed green pea with ham soup, 1 can (10 ounces) frozen condensed cream of shrimp soup, and 1 1/2 soup cans milk. Heat over low heat until soup is thawed, stirring occasionally. Add 2 tablespoons sherry; simmer a few minutes.

Beat until smooth in electric blender or mixer. Chill until frosty cold. Makes 5 to 6 servings.

Add minced dill pickle, minced parsley, finely grated onion (pulp and juice) and capers to mayonnaise for a tartar sauce to serve with fish.

Ever add melted butter mixed chopped pecans and strips of canned pimiento to steamed rice? Wonderful with roast lamb.

Grilled Variety Meats Make Pleasant Change

Backyard meals from the grill can be almost as versatile as meals served in the dining room. Hamburgers, steaks, and frankfurters are only the beginning of a long list of outdoor "brollables." Bacon, cold cuts, ham slices, sausage, lamb chops, and spareribs can be cooked to perfection over hot coals.

For a change of menu in backyard cooking, try some of the variety meats. Calves' liver, sweetbreads, tongue and heart are tender, juicy and flavorful when broiled out-of-doors.

One of the most unusual grilled meats is beef tongue. Cook the meat in water until tender in the kitchen, then slice it for grilling. The broiled slices have a pleasing flavor and are slightly crusty outside, tender and juicy within. In this recipe, the tongue slices are brushed with a tasty tarragon and butter sauce before and during browning.

Grilled Tongue with Tarragon

1 fresh beef tongue, cooked
1 clove garlic, crushed
2 tablespoons dried tarragon
2 teaspoons prepared mustard
2 tablespoons tarragon vinegar
1 cup tongue broth
2 tablespoons melted butter

(Simmer tongue with a small onion, sliced, and a tablespoon salt in water to cover 2 hours, or until tender.) Cool tongue slightly. Remove skin, cut away end roots and cut in 1/4 inch slices. Combine remaining ingredients and brush over slices. Grill on both sides, basting with the sauce, allowing 8 to 10 minutes, total cooking time. 6 servings.

Outdoor Grilled Liver

Another variety meat that's easily cooked out-of-doors is sliced liver. Select calves' liver for best results in broiling, whether cooking indoors or out. Brush this tender meat with melted butter or margarine and broil until browned, about five minutes per side. Season it with salt and pepper before serving.

Grilled Bacon

Bacon often is served with liver and they make a tasty combination for the grill, too. Separate the slices of bacon and lay them across the grill; cook them on both sides until they reach the crispness preferred.

Broiled bananas wrapped with bacon can be cooked right along with the meats. The crisp bacon is a pleasant contrast to the soft cooked fruit. Simply cut a banana Fold sliced peaches into softened vanilla ice cream; freeze and serve with a pie made from fresh prunellums.

Jelly will ferment if it has had too little sugar added or has been improperly sealed.

GRILLED VARIETY MEATS — For an interesting change of menu, select variety meats for the outdoor grill. Here slices of pre-cooked tongue are being brushed with a tasty tarragon sauce. Broil the bacon-wrapped banana halves along with the sliced liver and bacon strips.

Folksongs, Rock Tunes Not Same

Congress Library Doesn't File Discs by Elvis, Pat

By JANE EADS
WASHINGTON — Today's young rock 'n' roll and hill-billy singing stars may be grasping fame and fortune, but their recordings aren't included in the nation's top repository for American folklore.
"They're not folk singers," says Mrs. Rae Korson, head of the Archives of American Folksong at the Library of Congress, which already boasts some 60,000 songs and tales on recordings. "They sing published songs. Folk music is handed down from generation to generation orally."

COULD QUALIFY
Recording stars Harry Belafonte, Burl Ives, Pick Temple and some of the older favorites, though, could make the grade.

"Belafonte sings all types of folk music and has a large collection of his own gathered mostly in Jamaica," says Mrs. Korson.
"Also, he spent some time studying at the library before singing at nightclubs. We'd like to have some of his records."

Mrs. Korson is not worried about the current hullabaloo over the Elvis Presleys, Pat Boone and other disc jockey hit stars.

INTEREST GROWS
"A tremendous interest in our heritage of folksong has been developing in the past five years," she said.

"Increasing numbers come to the library looking for the authentic folksong. They listen, buy records, sing and learn how to play them."

"Sometimes they bring their guitars with them and learn to play the tunes in accompaniment to the songs."

A steady stream of musicians, teachers, scholars, writers, historians, students and tourists come to the archives' "listening room" to play records.

YOUTH WANTED
"We are anxious to stimulate interest in the young to carry on research and also to preserve our songs," she said.

There is still a great reservoir of untapped material, she said, and it is important that recordings be gathered from old people still living who remember them.

Under a $25,000 grant from the Carnegie Corp., the library is issuing long-playing records in its series of American folk music and folklore. Five of these already have been made from material previously recorded.

Mrs. Korson first got interested in folk music through her husband, George Korson, a former newspaper man.

SONGS OF MINERS
Born in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Korson collected miner songs, later published by the University of Pennsylvania Press.

He's now working on a series at Pottsville, Pa., in the anthracite coal mines, under a Guggenheim Fellowship.

Defends American Women

U.S. Columnist Raps London Writer

By PHYLIS BATTLE
NEW YORK (INS) — Some American women have been smoking at the nostrils lately over an accusation by a London columnist that "U. S. girls are more pampered, petted and pursued than any other females on earth."

Ridiculous to become distraught about this. Nothing could be more complimentary, and somehow it makes the expenditures on powder and perfume nationally worthwhile.

The columnist, a man who hides under the name Cassandra, also said that "American women can outvote, outbuy and outlive American men."

Day Campers Enjoy Outdoor Activities

By PAT EVANS
Memorable hours spent at day camp will not soon be forgotten by many area Girl Scouts who for one of several two week sessions have been living, primarily, with nature.

Counseled by their group leaders, the girls have participated in about as many outdoor activities as can be imagined during their stay.

Among these were such crafts as making nature studies with frogs, toads, salamanders, moss, ferns, flower and leaf displays, practicing archery, lashing together tables, tying knots, making bed-rolls, weaving baskets, and hiking (hobo-style).

Other projects included making clay and Indian hats and engaging in sketching classes.

Progressive cooking, one of the main arts, proved both interesting and fun. In fact, on one of the warmest days several of the units made ice cream as a dessert for one of their meals.

12 CAMPS
Approximately 1250 girls, including Brownies, Intermediates, and Senior Scouts, will have attended day camp by the end of this season. Last year five day camps operated for the Girl Scouts in this area. This year, however, the number of camps has more than doubled, now totaling twelve.
For a small registration fee which covered the cost of milk and supplies, the groups were able to enjoy the out-of-doors for six days, meeting three days a week from 9 o'clock in the morning until 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Girls having perfect attendance and of age 10 or over had the privilege of camping overnight.

Camp Oaknoll in Murphy Park, Pontiac Recreation Day Camp at Frog Hollow, Old Orchard Day Camp in Sashabaw Plains, and Shady Acres Day Camp in Auburn Heights are four of these camps directed by Mrs. Clifford Neville, Mrs. John McNeely, Mrs. Warren Allen, Mrs. Leonard Methner, Mrs. Kenneth Davidson, district chairman; Mrs. Charles Boggs, Mrs. Arnold Getzner, Mrs. Carlyle Bragen, Mrs. Harvey Pyke, and many other women who volunteered their services. Mrs. Albert Latendresse, day camp chairman from Auburn Heights, and Mrs. Stanford Conn, field director for the Northern Oakland Girl Scout Council, have had an important part in supervising the general camp affairs.

A nursery school for the volunteer counselors' children was provided while the mothers instructed the girls in creative crafts.

Although Camp Oaknoll, the city's day camp, is concluding its final two-week session today, several of its young campers are eagerly looking forward to day camp again next summer.

Party at Balmoral Castle Today

Princess Anne Has Seventh Birthday

BY FRED DOERFLINGER
LONDON (INS) — Pert, pretty and precocious Princess Anne is just seven years old today but she's already challenging up a record as a rebel.

The first little girl in the British land has more spice than sugar in her make-up. The signs are that she's going to cut more capers with royal protocol and palace formality than her Aunt Margaret ever dreamed of.

Royal servants say she's very much like Margaret was when young, even to the penchant for mimicry. But she has a lot more "go" and a neater knack of getting her own way. Anne, in fact, can be naughty so nicely and amusingly that reaction to her behavior, is more often laughter than a ticking off.

RESENTS BOSSING

Like most young girls with older brothers Anne Elizabeth Alice Louise of England is envious of the prerogatives of age. She doesn't see why Prince Charles should be allowed to do things banned to her simply because he's nearly two years older. She resents his bossing — at times to the point of slaps. She insists upon doing everything for herself without Charles butting in with advice and demonstration.

To Anne women are not inferior to men, even if they are future kings.

Just the same Anne is very fond of her big brother and copies him incessantly even though her attitude frequently smacks of the "anything you can do better" school.

The lively, impish Anne with all the cheekiness of a tom-boy, is actually a better equestrian than Charles. She is alarmingly unafraid of horses and has been seen to wander up nervously to very large ones. So far she has always been rescued in time. She likes nothing better than acting as her father's groom at polo matches, holding his pony and polo stick while he mounts, Anne, with her curly blonde hair and alert blue eyes, is more highly strung than her brother and more delicate. Nevertheless, she's the type that can be coaxed but never forced.

The second in line to England's throne is growing up fast. The confines of the palace with its formality is already too small and restricting to suit her tastes.

Shortly after Charles started school in Kensington and began coming home with tales of his classes, sports and school chums, Anne decided she wanted more friends and fun too.

Six pages today in Women's Section

"I don't like doing lessons by myself," she complained at every opportunity to Royal Governess Miss Katherine Forbes and set the same bee buzzing in her mother's ear.

GETS CLASSMATES

So recently Queen Elizabeth invited two seven-year-old girls, Susan Babington Smith and Caroline Hamilton, to come to Buckingham Palace each day from their homes in London's elegant Belgravia to take school classes with Princess Anne.

Anne is delighted with her new friends but is still reportedly agitating to go to a proper school like Charles. Palace sources believe she will get her wish in September. The tip is that it will be the Francis Holland School, not far from the palace.

This is a Church of England school for girls where religion is a compulsory subject. Fees are $218 a year and Anne could stay at this school until the age of 17 or 18. One of the governors is Lady Cynthia Colville, former woman of the bedchamber to Queen Mary.

Year-Long Surveys Reveal

Jane Teen an Old-Fashioned Girl at Heart

Eugene Gilbert has been surveying the teenage scene for years, and for 12 months now he has been giving this and other newspapers special reports on it. Now he sums up his first year's findings on boys and girls in this special two-part series. This is the first.

By EUGENE GILBERT

If Dad ever wonders what happened to the little pigtailed girl he used to bounce on his knee, he'll likely discover she has suddenly become a ponytailed Miss with a timetable for the future.

Happily our "Portrait of Jane Teen," based on a year's studies of "What Young People Think," seems remarkably like that of her mother.

Jane Teen wants to marry by the time she's 25 — perhaps a little older than her mother married. But she wants the same things for her family. More than anything else she wants security, which is not necessarily measured by the size of a salary check.

For all her temporary flings at fads, Jane is a conservative young woman. Probably more than her teen-age male companions, she worries about what other people think about her. She has a highly developed social sense and she imposes it on her less aware boy friends.

But to look at her, you wouldn't dream that she worried about any of these things. She wears her makeup in a discreet and natural way. She's attractive, mature and clear-headed.

DATING A MUST

Dating is a "prime part of her life. She started going out with boys when she was 14 or so. She has between one and two dates a week. If she lives in the city, she likes group dating. In the country, "double dating" is more popular.

Jane approves of going steady, even if she doesn't want to herself. One out of five of her girl friends goes steady.

Personality is the most important thing she looks for in a boy. (He looks for the same thing in a girl.) Next she wants good reputation, good companionship, education and family.

She'd like to have a man with a background similar to her own. Surprisingly, good looks, brains and money are at the bottom of the list.

She's quite happy at home too, although she probably feels her parents aren't up to date. This doesn't mean that there are no family arguments. In fact, some arguing is just about universal.

NOT DOMINATED

Those who do find fault with Mom criticize chiefly the way she dresses, keeps house and chats.

More girls than boys felt they were tied to Mom's apron strings. But most girls didn't feel they were tied too closely.

Of course, Jane Teen uses the telephone. She doesn't think that a 45-minute conversation is unreasonable, in spite of parental complaints. As a matter of fact, girls 16 and above spend an average of an hour and 22 minutes on the telephone each day.

Jane also plans to go to college. Four out of ten girls say they feel college experience necessary regardless of whether they intend to pursue a career. And eight in ten say they plan to attend a college.

In fact many girls planning on college mention their desire to meet a young man who can provide a good future for wife and family.

The girls in the family also believe that a woman's place is making the home a better place while Dad is the one to bring home the bacon.

Security is one of her prime aims for the future. It figures in the type of man she wants for a husband, in her own college plans and in her plans for a family.

So far as following popular singers, she probably went with the crowd in clamoring for Elvis Presley—but her reason probably went unrecognized by her parents.

She went for Presley when Presley was "news," and dropped him when he wasn't. She now likes Pat Boone.

Like her male counterpart, Jane Teen thinks dope peddlers should get the death penalty. Five per cent of the boys questioned and three per cent of the girls said they had been approached by dope pushers.

Jane and 75 per cent of her girl friends have had an alcoholic beverage by the time they've reached 17. More than half have had drinks at home. Parties, bars and night clubs accounted for the rest. Eight out of ten girls are convinced, however, that it is wrong to drink without parental knowledge.

Jane is not as reckless in an automobile as her male counterpart. She says she could not be dared to take chances while driving and would choose not to ride in a car driven by a reckless friend. She is just as sure, however, that driving is an essential part of teenage life.

Twice as many girls as boys smoke without the knowledge of their parents. Most girls over 16 have the smoking habit and only a few have given it up after reports linking cigarettes to lung cancer. Jane is an avid reader of books, but reads the daily newspaper most.

The teenage girl is part of a powerful consumer group. Jane and her friends top the back to school spenders by the time they are ready for college. Like the boys, she often has more ready cash than her father—and she keeps her allowance up to the rise of prices.

Jane Teen realizes she has work to do at home and she does it, but she doesn't always like it.

Washing dishes is the most familiar chore—81 per cent of the girls do it. Cleaning her home room is second—60 per cent do this. House cleaning and shopping follow, for 50 per cent.

In short, Jane Teen seems to be following in Mom's footsteps—not completely and not at the same pace—but generally on the same path. She likes the natural way and doesn't care for artificiality.

Jane Teen has a good sense of values, and a strong base for her future life. She wants marriage, a nice home and a family. More important, our surveys indicate, she knows how to get them.

Next week: What are boys like?

Slice tomatoes vertically—from stem to bottom, instead of making the usual horizontal slices. This way you get neater, firmer slices.

Lotion Alleviates Woes of Shaving

If the man of the house is unusually hostile toward his electric shaver during the current hot weather, he probably has a good reason . . . perspiration.

Although the shaver may be awfully handy as he goes from place to place during summer, the appliance doesn't usually operate smoothly over perspiration, causing it to drag and irritate the skin.

This can be alleviated by electric pre-shave lotion which evaporates perspiration and cools and soothes the skin.

Wife With Job Needs Mate's Aid

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Oliver Wendell Holmes once said that the best way to live a long life is to choose parents and grandparents who lived a long life.

Whenever girls ask me, "What's the best way to com-without having either suffer," bine marriage and a career I'm inclined to answer, "Pick the right husband."

THE KEY FACTOR

More than anything else, the husband's personality and attitude are the key factor.

If he loves you and wants you to do what is important to you; if he takes your aspirations seriously; and if he is sure enough of himself to be unafraid of so-called competition; if he has reasonably casual ideas of what constitutes a well-kept house, the chances are you can make a go of it.

But if he honestly thinks a woman's place is in the home, if magnificently polished furniture, waxed floors and elaborate desserts are very important to him, then be prepared—if you love him—to give up the idea of a career.

After all, legally and ethically, the burden of support and working is on him. He has no choice, but you have.

DO IT HIS WAY

If you want to marry him, in all fairness you must do it his way.

There's one couple who have managed to work out the combination beautifully—Mr. and Mrs. R. of Massachusetts.

I wrote Mrs. R. and asked for her story—plus pointers to other young wives.

This is what she says:

"Of course, the most important factor in any woman's attempt to combine marriage and a career is her husband's attitude. I know this is a platitude, but I'm not sure that many girls realize how important it is.

"In a career, one can't help becoming discouraged sometimes and feeling that perhaps one's classmates, who chose marriage and left other careers to the men, chose wisely.

"What one would do at these times without a husband who is very interested in one's work and feels that it's important, I do not know.

COMPROMISES VITAL

"As to matters of housekeeping, cooperation and organization are the keynotes. Certainly compromises are a must.

"Our breakfast dishes are stacked and done at night with the dinner ones by my husband, while I iron and clean superficially.

"A good and helpful cleaning woman comes every other week for the deep cleaning. I do all the cooking and my husband markets.

"I think that I enjoy housework and cooking more this way than if I did nothing else. "I would say that if a girl is really interested in a particular field of work and in marriage, too, she must be careful to choose the right husband and to have his moral support.

JUST FORGE AHEAD

"Then, with the aid of frozen vegetables and packaged cake mixes, she can just forge ahead!"

Women today have a wider choice than ever before. But they must realize the greater the opportunity, the greater the responsibility! (Copyright 1957)

Proper Care Keeps TV OK for Eyes

What does television do to a youngster's eyes?

Experts in ophthalmology (the science treating the structure, functions and diseases of the eye) agree there is no apparent damage when viewing precautions are taken.

These five watching rules apply to adult TV fans.

1. Encourage the child to sit at least six feet from a small screen and 10 feet from a large one.

2. Take care that he watches from the front instead of the side of the screen.

3. Provide soft light in the room so there is no strong contrast between the bright screen and dark surrounding room. Place light so it is not reflected in the screen.

4. Avoid long periods of continuous viewing.

5. Rest eyes frequently by looking away from the set momentarily.

Good Habits Should Be Formed Early

Teach Beauty Routine to Children

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Our happiness, success and appearance depend to such an amazing degree on the habits we form. Our habits of thought, our habits in food, our habits in posture, in exercise and in skin and hair care influence our personalities, our health and our looks more than we possibly can imagine.

These habits should be started early in life so that they are as natural and usual a part of each day as breathing, eating and sleeping. We simply take it for granted that we will indulge in them.

When training begins in childhood it assures an attractive teenager and when habits are established that young the adolescent usually will carry through to lovely maturity.

Little Vicky O'Neill started her health and beauty routine at an unusually youthful age. She is 2 years old and is a professional model, the daughter of Peggy O'Neill, also a professional model.

Of course Vicky had an advantage because her mother tipped her off early in life that soap and water is the best beauty treatment of all. Her mother also made it attractive for the child.

Vicky learned that you take a bath not because you HAVE to but because it makes you feel good and look nice. She discovered that soapuds are pretty and feel "yummy." She wouldn't skip her daily bath for anything.

EASY AND ENTICING

Mrs. O'Neill's advice to mothers of young daughters is to make cleanliness both easy and enticing. When they are too small to reach the faucets at the basin, provide a little step stool to stand on. There's not much fun in always having a grownup wash your face and hands.

A girl likes to do things for herself. She likes her own towels and washcloths, the kind with pictures embroidered or printed on them. She likes bubble bath stuff. Above all she likes to play in the tub and enjoy this pleasant part of the day.

Peggy O'Neill feels that her little daughter, Vicky, is establishing habits now that will serve her all the rest of her life. Of course Peggy also knows that her child learns a lot by watching her mother's beauty routine. No professional model can afford to be anything less than meticulously clean and well-groomed.

Vicky has observed that soap and water cleanliness is her mother's beauty formula and that hair should be neatly brushed and combed, that fingernails must be smooth and well cared for, and that clothes must be fresh from the laundry.

If all mothers set an example for their young daughters and then made grooming and beauty care attractive with a few bubbles and personal aids, there would be fewer problems of poor grooming and scalp and skin trouble later on. Tomorrow: "Should Brush Hair, Use Tonics for an Oily Scalp."

She loves those soapuds! Little girls (and little boys, for that matter) should be taught that soap and water never hurt anyone.

Country Gives City Boy New Outlook Upon World

Farm Visit Benefits Urban Teenager More Than Going to Summer Camp

By RUTH MILLETT

There's nothing like visiting on a farm to make a city-bred teenager slow down his pace and get acquainted with the world about him.

On a farm a boy who is used to jumping in a car to ride two blocks discovers that he has legs. He'll walk miles a day over fields and through woods.

As he walks he begins to see and hear. In the quiet of the country he is aware of many sounds that blend together: the hum of insects, the clear, sharp call of a quail, the music of trees as their leaves are rustled by the wind.

His eyes scan the skies on a cloudy day, for in the country one's plans depend on the weather. Time in the country means only daylight or dark, and so the days are long and lazy for the boy vacationing on a farm.

Even his sense of smell is sharpened, for the woods smell differently from the fields. And the rain that washes grass and trees brings a fragrance of its own to the whole countryside.

Any boy brought up in a city is lucky indeed to have a relative who lives on a farm. Of course, city-bred boys can go to camps.

But camp life is different. It's organized and regimented. While it's fun, it isn't real country living.

Country living to a boy is pulling in the morning the corn that will be on the table for lunch, picking the blackberries that will go into the cobbler for dinner, going off alone in the woods with a gun and a crow call.

Nothing a city offers a boy—youth clubs, swimming pools, drag strips and teenage hang-outs—can possibly take the place of what a farm offers him.

Even a few weeks a year of country life are a blessing to a boy. For every boy in the world is a country boy at heart.

FEDERAL DEPT. STORES SAGINAW AT WARREN, PONTIAC

Worry Over Hair Nearly Universal Among Women

Worry over hair problems continues to be almost universal among women. Three out of ten women described one problem, while five out of ten described two or more, for a total of 82 per cent. Although the largest percentage with problems are found in the youngest age group, the decrease in complaints as women grow older is slight.

Manageability of the hair, dryness and dandruff are the major problems, followed by lack of lustre, hair falling out when washing or combing, and oiliness.

Manageability summarizes those who complain that hair is too limp or too fine and those who say it tends to mat, snarl or tangle. The former group is large and increases as women grow older.

Dryness and lack of lustre also show a tendency to increase with age, whereas dandruff and oiliness are definite plagues of youth. The problem of hair falling out occurs quite evenly across all age groups.

Café Curtains Gain

Café curtains, long a popular member of the home furnishings team, today are becoming important for picture windows, too. The soft-draping cotton, dacron blends and white nylon are particularly favored for summer use.

When you buy a sheer dress for summer, keep in mind the need for matching or harmonizing lingerie to wear with it. Bra, girdle and slip should all match.

Nightgown Gift Called Too Intimate

Both Men, Women Paid for Present for Co-worker

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: One of our office workers—a young woman—recently underwent an operation. The office staff took up a collection to buy her a gift. The woman in charge of buying the present bought a very pretty nightgown.

"Some of the men made quite a fuss when they found out what was sent and said that it was in very bad taste since the men in the office also contributed toward the present. The person who bought the present is very much upset over this and I promised I would write you for your opinion."

Answer: It is perhaps rather cavilling to criticize since the present was bought by a woman and in all probability sent with out being shown to the men. But to have chosen something a little less intimate would have been in better taste.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My husband, who was a physician, died several months ago and I am planning to buy a stone for his grave. What is the proper inscription to put on this?"

"Should it be Dr. John Jones or just John Jones without the title? I would appreciate an early response as I must take care of this matter very soon."

Answer: John Jones without the title.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter will soon celebrate her 21st birthday and I plan on giving a rather large party for her at the country club.

"She has been going with a boy for some time (they are not engaged). She has met his parents on several occasions but they are complete strangers to me. I would like to know if it would be proper to invite them to my daughter's birthday party."

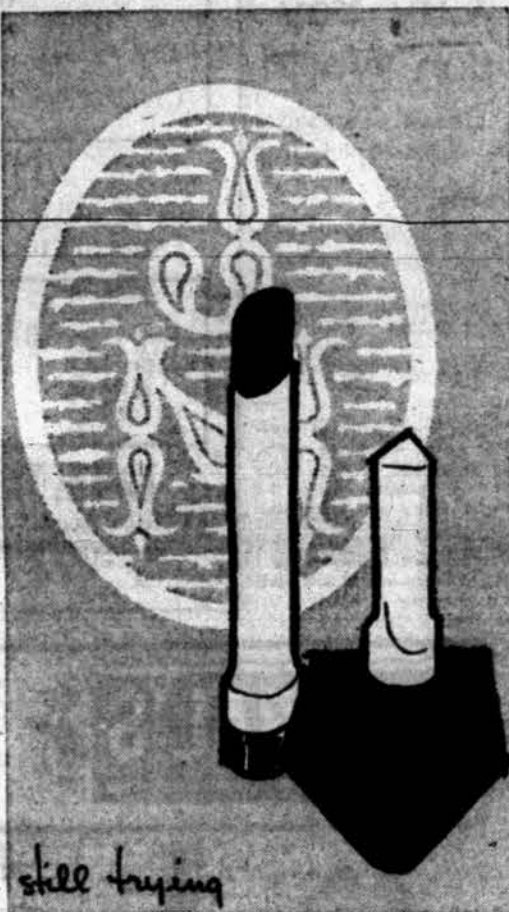

Answer: I would not advise your inviting them unless your daughter first finds out from the boy that his parents would like to come.

Wear Bandanna Bib

A young man who thinks he's too old to wear a bib can be corralled into it. A smart mother takes a tip from TV westerns. Get the young cowboy a bunch of old-fashioned bandanna handkerchiefs. Tie one around his neck to catch spilled food while he is eating.

Dries Bathing Suit

Wet bathing suits from afternoon use will dry in time for your evening swim when tossed into the automatic clothes dryer! Don't forget to shake out loose sand, zip zippers and fasten straps before suit is dryer-dried.

Midas Touch Will Accent Fall Jewels

Fashion prospectors will strike gold this fall with a bonanza of golden glitter. For the golden touch is the wear-with-everything color to brighten the monochromatic look of the season's costumes.

Making new and newswy fashion is the "brush" texture of Italian jewel fame... its dulled satiny surface bringing softness to the jewels it creates. From slim circles to wide, wide wristlets are bangles in this finish, while earrings—button, discs and domes—gleam dully in this delicate "scratched" texture.

Plus take on new dimensions of chic in a double-play of brush texture and highly polished gold. Leaves, domes, circles, bow-knots and swirls marry their unique textured look to the rustic-surfaced tweeds and bulky knits so fashion-right for urban dressing this season.

Fluid geometric designs have a look of airy boldness with their openwork designs and combinations of varied textures. Irregularly shaped cubes, crescents and squares are linked together into handsome neckline brighteners. Vari-shaped open links form bracelets, made to be worn by the armpit and revealing long light sleeves beneath them.

For the young in heart, Midas-touched chains offer a golden fashion prospect. Five feet of gleaming rope, these chains can be worn long in the casually elegant manner of the moment or looped into a bib of many strands.

Contest Slated by Church Circles

The Christian Woman's Fellowship of First Christian Church met Tuesday evening at the church. Mrs. Brady Adams gave details of a membership contest to be conducted between the circles from September to June; the winning circles to be guests at a party given by the other three circles.

Also participating in the program were Mrs. William Hoyt, chairman; and Mrs. James Boaz. A social hour followed with the Lydia Circle as hostesses.

May Fire Alternate in Place of Shasta

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (U)—"Shasta," an atomic shot scheduled and postponed 17 times, is now tentatively set for tomorrow. If it isn't fired, scientists at the Atomic Energy Commission's test site say that they may detonate another device, called Franklin Prime. Both are comparatively low-powered shots.

Testers had hoped to fire Shasta this morning, but called it off yesterday because of unfavorable winds.

Aims for Showmanship in His Art of Weightlifting

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (U)—Paul Anderson, the 360-pound Georgia boy who didn't stop growing, aims to bring showmanship to the ungentle art of lifting weights.

"There hasn't been a real star in the strong-man business since Sandow," said Paul, referring to the turn-of-the-century Hercules promoted by Flo Ziegfeld. "And even Sandow wasn't the strongest man in his day. But he had showmanship."

Paul's feats would make Sandow seem a weakling. He whipped the Russians at the Olympics in Australia. He can raise 5,000 pounds in a back lift, 550 over head, and do deep knee bends with 1,000.

So far he has made appearances on the Ed Sullivan show, at

How does he feel, lugging around 360 pounds on his 5-foot, 11-inch frame?

"I feel great," remarked the 24-year-old pride of Toccoa, Ga. "No, it's not hard for me to get around. If I were fat, that would be different. But I'm all muscle, and muscle carries itself; it's not a burden."

"I'm pretty light on my feet. Matter of fact, I can run the 100 yard dash in 12 seconds."

"I always was pretty big," he said. "Then when I was in high school, I was playing football and I decided lifting weights would get me in better condition. Pretty soon I got so interested in weights that football fell by the wayside. I rose from 240 pounds to my present weight."

"I don't eat an awful lot," Paul said. "I might have some orange juice and milk for breakfast with a protein food substitute. I work out during the day, so I seldom eat any lunch. For dinner I might have a steak. I average three quarts of milk a day."

"I don't worry about ever getting fat because I've never been too interested in food. I could diet and never suffer."

Hiss Employed in New York City for $12,000 Yearly

NEW YORK (U)—Alger Hiss is working as $12,000-a-year administrative assistant to the president of a New York City firm which manufactures women's combs.

Hiss is an aide to R. Andrew Smith, president of Feathercombs Inc.

Smith said Hiss has made himself "quite indispensable" in the three months since he joined the firm.

Smith said he had heard Hiss was in need of a job and offered him a "clerical" post which was accepted at $100 a week. Hiss was so "tremendously successful" at solving office problems and improving procedures that he was promoted rapidly, Smith said.

The firm has about 1,000 employees—150 in New York and the others in Germany and Japan.

Hiss was released from a federal penitentiary in November 1954, after serving three years and eight months of a five-year sentence for perjury. He was convicted of denying falsely before a U.S. grand jury that he passed out State Department secrets to Whitaker Chambers, onetime courier for a Russian spy ring.

Unions Blast Ike's Economy

AFL-CIO Council Sees Administration's Policy Hastening Recession

CHICAGO (U)—The Eisenhower administration's Economic policies yesterday were branded by the AFL-CIO Executive Council as "designed to hasten a recession." The council termed the policies "blundering," "confused" and "self-defeating."

"A dangerous and paradoxical situation confronts the American economy," said a statement issued by the council.

"Since the end of last year, industrial production has been going down. At the same time, prices have continued to move up despite softening demand and the rapid rise in the production facilities of the nation."

Leaders of the administration and of business are blundering dangerously, the statement said.

One of the factors hurting business by cutting down sales is the administration's "tight money-high interest" policy, the council contended.

The 35-member Executive Council neared the end of its four-day meeting after unanimously upholding President George Meany's ouster of Paul Dorfman as secretary-treasurer of a waste material handlers union in Chicago.

Meany acted two weeks ago after it had been disclosed Dorfman's wife and son ran an insurance business which made $100,000 a year handling welfare funds for two unions.

In an hourlong plea before the council, Dorfman said he personally did not benefit from the insurance business operated by his wife and son.

Boy, 3, Topples Pole

Mob Gathers at House Purchased by Negro

LEVITTOWN, Pa. (U)—A crowd of some 500 gathered again last night around a home purchased recently by a Negro family in this planned suburb of 60,000 in Bucks County.

A mob the night before had tossed stones through the windows of the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Myers Jr. Five persons were arrested then.

One man was arrested last night

Myers works as a refrigeration engineer in Trenton, N.J.

Someone Lost Casket

DETROIT (U)—Police in suburban Madison Heights are looking for somebody who lost a casket. Two youngsters found the empty casket by the Red Run drainage canal. Police said they had no idea how it got there.

But Still Not BrokeCabinet Job Cost Wilson a Fortune

WASHINGTON (INS) — Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson, the man who sacrificed most financially to sit in the Cabinet, was having dinner with a party of friends at the Surf Club in Miami Beach.

The secretary's son-in-law, Phil Hoyle, who has a General Motors dealership at Delray Beach, Florida, reached for the dinner check, and his daughter Rosemary said: "Dad, you know you don't make much money these days."

case," Wilson reminded her. "I'll just take that check."

This story, told by friends, contains one of the few comments the retiring cabinet member has made on the huge financial price, at least $4,000,000, that he had paid to give up the presidency of General Motors Corp. for the top job at the Pentagon.

Now resigning in favor of defense secretary-designate Neil H. McElroy, Wilson may still have a personal fortune of $4,000,000 or $5,000,000. But it is easy to figure this could have been twice as large if he had remained a private citizen.

His salary and bonuses from General Motors amounted to $628,000 in 1950 and $511,000 in 1952. He gave that up for $22,500 a year from the government beginning in 1952.

This proved to be only a starter. The Senate Armed Services Committee insisted that he dispose of his 39,470 shares of GM stock, which he sold at $68 a share, or $2,683,960. Taxes and costs of the transactions took a cut of that.

Their GM stock began climbing, and in 1953 the shares were split three-for-one.

If Wilson had kept his stock, the resulting shares would now be worth more than $5,500,000.

In addition, he would have drawn eight per cent on his money over the four and a half years. Instead, he transferred some of the money to his children, gave part of it away in various donations, and is reported to have put the rest in low-interest bonds.

Whatever the cost, there has never been any evidence that he felt any financial pinch as a result. When he entered the Cabinet, he was maintaining three "residences" — a home in Detroit, a summer home at Walloon Lake, Michigan, and an apartment in Miami Beach.

When he came to Washington, he leased a huge hotel suite, and later acquired a plantation in Louisiana.

His chauffeur drives an air-conditioned Cadillac that reportedly cost 12 thousand dollars with all its special features.

Mrs. Wilson, whom the secretary married when she was an eight dollar-a-week stenographer, has shared his complete unconcern about personal costs and financial losses. When his resignation became definite, she spoke for both in saying: "We're tired, but not sorry."

Expensive Kentucky Land Once Cheap

WHITESBURG, Ky. (INS) — Some 75 acres of Kentucky mountain land near Whitesburg, valued today at about $1,000 an acre, was sold in 1850 for $75 worth of chickens, hogs, milk cows and an old-fashioned hog rifle.

A Letcher County clerk office record lists the 1850 sale of the property by Moses Sexton to John Breeding, a pioneer.

Rock 'n' Roll Retarded by Unstable Bandstand

MALONE, N.Y. — Drummer Ernest Lavoie doesn't want the municipal band blamed for any rock 'n' roll music emanating from the community-owned bandstand. The bandstand's flooring is so unstable that the music stands wiggle when the brass section players beat time with their feet, he told the Village Board.

This, he said, makes it difficult to read music and produces the rock 'n' roll effect, "both musical and visually."

Hold Service for Pastor

Fred, 9, Gets Blood, Can Have Teeth Out

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — Fred House can have his teeth pulled now. Fred, 9, has hemophilia, excessive bleeding from even minor wounds. His doctors said Tuesday he'd have to wait until 10 pints of Type A-negative blood were available before the teeth could be extracted.

After Fred's plight was publicized, more than enough offers were made.

They came from a woman in Maryland, a truck driver in New York, a Huntington, W.Va., man, 11 soldiers at nearby Ft. Knox and numerous persons here. The Red Cross said the out-of-state offers although appreciated, would not be needed.

LAYNE-ROTE SUPPLY PUNCH, TRACY SCORES 2 TOUCHDOWNS

Lions Give Wilson Debut Victory

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

DETROIT—It was hot and humid, but it was a happy night for George Wilson in his debut at Briggs Stadium as head coach of the Detroit Lions who defeated the Cleveland Browns 20-10 in the first exhibition game of the season Wednesday.

Most of the 40,000 fans were especially anxious to see the much-publicized one-two punch of quarterbacks Bobby Layne and Tobin Rote. And they weren't disappointed.

The two signal callers from the Lone Star state combined to hit on 15 of 29 passes for 288 of the 378 total net yards gained.

However, the Lions uncovered another one-two combination at fullback where John Henry Johnson and Tom "The Bomb" Tracy succeeded each other to put on a running show of their own.

Johnson, who was obtained from San Francisco in the deal for Bill Stits and Bill Bowman, started the game at fullback and was the work horse with his running, kickoff returns and pass receiving for three quarters.

The crowd gave the 219 pound fullback a big hand when he left the field at the start of the 4th quarter and then most everyone sat back figuring Tracy would play nothing more than just a role of substitute.

But the former Birmingham High School and Tennessee star wasted no time taking up where Johnson left off and then some.

He took Layne's handoff and rammed inside right end 10 yards for the touchdown which put Detroit ahead to stay 13-10. Layne added the point.

For the remainder of the game Tracy and Hopalong Cassidy sparked the Lions. "The Bomb" carried for gains of four, six, two, four, 15, 13 and 15 yards for his second touchdown. The conversion failed on a bad pass from center and it was a 20-10 victory for the Lions.

Detroit missed several opportunities in the first half when long passes moved the ball deep into Cleveland territory four times, to the 14, 15, 26 and 22 yard lines. Two intercepted passes and a fumble killed the threats.

An attempted field goal by Layne failed on the other occasion, and it was a scoreless first half.

On the first series in the second half, the Lions moved 76 yards in five plays, highlighted by a 70 yard pass play from Rote to Dorne Dibble who was stopped on the one-yard line. Rote carried over and Detroit led 7-0 as Layne converted.

Cleveland's offensive perked up in the second half and Browns scored a field goal and touchdown within a period of two minutes in the third quarter.

Lou Groza booted the three-pointer after eight minutes of the period and after recovering Cassidy's fumble on the nine following the kickoff, the Browns added the TD with quarterback John Borton passing to end Darrell Brewster for the nine yards.

This gave Cleveland the lead as Groza made it 10-7, until the final stanza when Tracy scored his two

The Lions started the game with the split-T, but with the absence of injured Gene Gedman, coach Wilson went back into the slot-back lineup in utilizing three ends.

Tackle Ken Russell, 250-pounder from Bowling Green, had the honor of being the lone starting rookie, but as the game proceeded many of the newcomers including defensive back Terry Barr, end Steve Junker, end Tom Rychlec, and Gerry Leahy, back Doug Peters and others made appearances.

Veteran Jim Martin, who last year could be found in the lineup only for kicking roles, played a great portion of the game as line-backer and turned in a fine performance.

Quarterback Jerry Reichow was used in the slot back position and turned in a good job as pass receiver several times. Apparently, looking for the right end combination for the long and short aerials, the Lions substituted constantly, with six terminals.

A week from Friday the Lions will meet the Philadelphia Eagles in Toledo's Glass Bowl for their second pre-season encounter.

No Deal Exists With Cleveland, Says Lion Boss

DETROIT — Cleveland football coach Paul Brown says "yes" and the Detroit Lions say "no" to the report that a deal exists between the two clubs involving Roger Zatkoff and Lew Carpenter.

General Manager Nick Korbaw said last night "we did not make a deal, and no agreement exists in regard to a deal by which we would give Cleveland Carpenter for Zatkoff."

Brown however claims that he and former coach Buddy Parker had reached an agreement for a trade. If this is so then new head coach George Wilson says he does not want the deal.

"There may have been some talk, but no papers have been signed," said Korbaw, "and because we do not intend to agree to any so-called commitment, we have put the issue in the hands of commissioner Bert Bell."

Carpenter, a fullback, is due out of the service in two weeks. Zatkoff, living in Hamtramck, said he would not report to Cleveland after being traded by Green Bay. He has indicated, however, he would play for the Lions.

ENDS LOSING STREAK — Tigers' Frank Lary had it, yesterday, as he snapped a losing streak at eight games. The Bengal hurler scattered 8 hits while beating the A's 7-4 in last night's game at Kansas City.

Amateur Status Lost by Golfer

USGA Declares Manley Accepted Expenses to Violate Rules

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Joseph Dey, executive director of the U.S. Golf Assn., said last night it was expense money from Edward Lowery, a San Francisco auto dealer, which cost golfer Hobart Manley Jr. his amateur standing.

Dey said the Savannah, Ga., golfer acknowledged Lowery had paid Manley's expenses to the British Amateur Tournament in 1952.

Manley, meanwhile, said "I broke the rules and got caught." He said he will not seek to have his amateur standing restored.

Dey said Manley was asked about the money after Lowery told a San Francisco grand jury about it. Lowery was indicted in April and charged with evading $43,666 in state income taxes and the case is still pending.

Two months ago the USGA ruled that National Amateur champ Harvie Ward, who works for Lowery, had violated amateur rules by accepting Lowery expense money. Ward was put on probation for a year.

Ex-Bobsledder Dies

SARANAC LAKE, N. Y. (AP) — Raymond F. Stevens, a member of the U.S. Olympic bobsled team in 1932, died yesterday in Saranac Lake Hospital. He was 65.

"THE BOMB" EXPLODES — Tom Tracy had his finest day of his young pro career last night when he scored two touchdowns as the Detroit Lions defeated the Cleveland Browns 20-10 in the pre-season opener at Briggs Stadium.

Long Wait Ends, Lary Wins, 7-4

NEW LION STRIKES — Tobin Rote, newly-acquired Detroit Lion quarterback, (center, rear) endeavored himself to Lion fans in Detroit last night as he sneaked over the Cleveland Browns one yard line for the first touchdown of the exhibition game in the third period. He set it up on a 69 yard pass play to Dorne Dibble. Leon Hart (82) is up against the goal post after throwing a block while Cleveland's Chuck Noll (65) and Bill Quinlan (84) look on helplessly. The Lions whipped the Browns 20-10.

Tiger Pitcher Won Last Game 2 Months Ago

Bengals Finally Give Frank Support With 13 Base Hits

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The "long wait" is over for Frank Lary, The American League's winningest pitcher a year ago with 21 triumphs, the Detroit right-hander waited two months for victory number five of the 1957 campaign.

It arrived last night as Lary, with considerable help from rejuvenated Al Kaline—downed the Kansas City Athletics 7-4. Lary had done almost everything except win baseball games this season. Struck no fewer than three times by line drives off the bats of opposing hitters, he nevertheless managed to take his regular turn on the mound.

Casey Stengel, the astute manager of the New York Yankees, frequently refers to Lary as "the little bulldog" because of the Tiger hurler's determination.

It took determination—plus a lot of patience—for Lary to break back into the winning column. He hadn't won a game since June 15 when he defeated the Boston Red Sox 3-1—and had failed 12 times previously in his bid for his fifth victory. Eight of those times he was charged with the defeat.

Last night's victory brought Lary's record to 5-15.

Kaline, who had only nine homers for the season when he came to town Monday, hit his fourth homer in two days when he blasted No. 13 in the fifth inning with the bases empty, as they were for each of his three homers in Monday's doubleheader which Detroit split with the Athletics.

The Tigers clobbered Ralph Terry for nine hits and scored six runs in the first six innings. Terry was replaced by Wally Burnette who in turn gave way to Mickey McDermott as the A's tried to stem the Detroit drive.

Detroit's first run came in the first inning on a double by Charley Maxwell which scored Ray Boone. The Tigers collected two more in the third when Harvey Kuenn scored on Kaline's grounder and Maxwell came in on Frank House's single.

Kansas City cut the gap to 3-2 in the fourth but Detroit collected another in the fifth with Kaline's homer; two more in the sixth when Kuenn doubled to score Frank Bolling and Boone singled in Kuenn, and a final tally in the eighth when Johnny Groth singled in Bolling.

The A's notched their final two runs in the seventh when McDermott blasted a homer with one man on.

Detroit closes out its four-game series with Kansas City today. Jim Bunning (14-4) is scheduled to oppose Wally Burnette (6-8) on the mound.

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Just before Buddy Parker's bombshell at the Detroit Lions' banquet the other day, all the reporters present figured it was quite a fruitful evening with the stack of notes on guest speaker Otto Graham.

The former Cleveland quarterback had plenty to say about the futures of the All Stars he helped coach for the annual classic a week ago.

It was good copy and the writers were happy. Then came the 30-second blast of Parker's resignation announcement, and after "fall out" poor Graham's words on paper got lost in the shuffle.

Now that things have simmered, we hope, these are some of the remarks which Otto made to the 600 fans. BRODIE GREAT PROSPECT

Two of the best players in the All-Star lineup, according to Graham, were Del Shofner of Baylor and John Brodie of Stanford.

"Actually if this All-Star team was kept intact for a couple seasons to gain experience, it would give any team in the NFL trouble," he said.

"Shofner at this time is as good as any pass receiver in pro football, and Brodie is the type of quarterback who comes along once every ten years," he commented.

In comparing Brodie with Paul Hornung and Len Dawson, Graham said "Hornung is a good runner but not as good a passer, and Dawson is a good passer, but he can't run."

GIANTS NOT THE BEST TEAM

Looking over the NFL of last season, Graham said he did not think the Giants had as good a ball club as either Detroit or Chicago.

"I was disappointed that the Lions did not win the title and the championship last year," he said, "because I definitely felt they were the best all-around team in the NFL."

"I was surprised the Bears beat the Lions, and I was even more surprised the Giants beat the Bears," he finished.

Graham said he did not think the Giants could repeat this year, but he thought the Bears would.

DITTO FROM THE PRESS BOX

Easy Ed Jones, new manager of the Pontiac Speedway, has lured most all the top drivers in the state to the track for Sunday's 75-lapper which has been designated as the "Joy Fair Challenge" feature.

A guaranteed purse of $1,200 is at stake, plus a $50 bonus to any driver who outraces Fair, the number one racer in Michigan, in the feature.

Five Pontiac Area Teams Try for District Crowns

Three Pontiac teams and two from Waterford will open bids for district softball championships tonight.

Stadium Inn, Louie's Tavern and the Pontiac Police, representing the city leagues, and Emmanuel Baptist and Lakeland Pharmacy, both from the Waterford loop, are the hopeful-area contenders as the Michigan Recreation Association district tournaments get under way.

Pontiac, Mt. Clemens and Drayton Plains will be the centers of activity for tonight's first round games in classes A, B and C.

Stadium Inn wades into the five-team Class A district here at Beaurette Park, meeting Mt. Clemens in the 7 o'clock opener. Roseville faces Southfield at 8:30 while Highland Park drew a 1st round bye.

Louie's and Emmanuel battle six other teams in the 'B' tourney at Mt. Clemens. The Baptist Club opens against Berkeley at 6 o'clock while Louie's takes on Royal Oak at 7:30. Remaining games match Highland Park with Roseville and Mt. Clemens with Southfield.

Seven squads are entered in the 'C' tournament at Drayton Plains, with the Police and Lakeland carrying local hopes. Tonight's opening round finds Lakeland engaging Royal Oak at 7 and Roseville playing Southfield in the 8:30 night-cap.

The Policemen start their campaign Friday night at 7 against Howell. Madison drew a bye and tangles with the Lakeland-Royal Oak winner at 8:30 tomorrow.

All MRA tourneys are double elimination. District action winds up Sunday, with the survivors entering regional play. State titles wait at the end of the trail.

Land-O-Lakes All Set for Friday Opening

With new, completely automatic pinpotters installed and ready to go, the Land-O-Lakes bowling alley opens for another season Friday at 8:30 p.m.

The Highland Road lanes will be open daily thereafter, with Sunday bowling starting at 4 o'clock and all weekday openings set for 8:30.

There are immediate openings for leagues and teams at the Land-O-Lakes alleys. For further information, call OR 3-7340.

Women Peck Away at Records

3 Swim Marks Set in AAU

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—World record-holder Lorraine Crapp of Australia returned to action today in her specialty, the 440-yard freestyle, as America's best female swimmers continued their search for new records in the National AAU Women's Swimming and Diving Championships.

Chriss Von Saltza and Sylvia Ruuska, a pair of young, blond Californians, and a Los Angeles Athletic Club relay team broke three American records last night as the four-day meet reached the midway point.

Miss Crapp, holder of the world 440-freestyle record at 4:43.6, is expected to meet both Miss Ruuska, the 440-yard individual medley titlist, and Miss Von Saltza, the new 220-yard backstroke winner, in tonight's finals. They were placed in different heats for the late afternoon trials but were expected to qualify with ease.

Competing in the same heat with Miss Ruuska, however, was Carolyn Murray, who broke the American mile freestyle record Tuesday night.

The Australian champion finished third Tuesday as her Olympic teammate, Dawn Fraser, defeated Miss Von Saltza with a record 1:03.9 in the 110-yard freestyle.

Paula Jean Myers, 22-year-old diving champion from Los Angeles spent today practicing from the high platform. She won the 3-meter springboard event last night and needed only tomorrow night's platform title to complete a grand slam of AAU's five indoor and outdoor diving championships.

ships. She won both the indoor titles in April and took the outdoor 1-meter Tuesday.

In 3-meter competition, Miss Myers scored 511.90 points to 478.00 for Irene McDonald, Toronto, Canada, Olympic diver now competing with the Los Angeles Athletic Club.

Miss Ruuska, 15-year-old daughter of a Berkeley, Calif., swimming coach, had no trouble winning the individual medley event with a 5:49.5 that bettered a mark set last year by Shelley Mann of Washington, D. C.

The 220-yard backstroke record of 2:40.2 enabled Miss Von Saltza, a 13-year-old from Santa Clara, Calif., to take a thrilling race from the defending champion, Carin cone, Ridgewood, N. J., star who set the old mark of 2:43.8 a year ago. It was Miss Cone's first defeat in nine consecutive national backstroke championship events.

17,000 Fans See Baseball Tourney

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (AP)—A record crowd of 17,000 fans last night watched Philadelphia rally for three runs in the ninth inning and defeat Johnstown 6-3 in a first-round game of the 13th annual All-American-Baseball Assn. tournament.

John McAluney's third hit of the night drove across the winning run.

Defending champion Washington, D. C., defeated Zanesville, Ohio, 5-0 behind the two-hit pitching of Craig Anderson.

Shortstop Vince Merola hit two homers to pace Brooklyn to an 8-2 victory over New York City. Ray Shorr hurled an eight-inning as Maryland State defeated Schenectady, N. Y., 10-4. Baltimore routed Pittsburgh 20-9 on 21 hits.

Milford, Mass., defeated Holyoke, Mass., 10-2. Allentown, Pa., scored a 7-5 victory over Bessemer, Ala. New Orleans powered to a 10-0 victory over Buffalo, N. Y.

Six Tiger Farm Teams in Upper Berths

DETROIT (AP) — Six of the eight Detroit Tiger farm clubs maintained their first division rankings in their respective leagues in the last two weeks. Idaho Falls and Erie were closing fast on first place.

The top club, the Charleston

Senators in the American Association, were still struggling around in the second division but got help recently when George Aluskik and Larry Osborne reported.

Former Tiger Jack Dittmer was leading the Birmingham Barons in hitting with a .321 mark. But the Barons were right at the .300 mark and in fifth place in the Southern Association. Jim Atkins won 13 of 16 decisions in relief and Lansing's Jim Stump split 23 decisions while working 187 innings.

The Augusta Tigers were still leading the South Atlantic League, getting sparkling pitching and consistent hitting. Ron Rozman had a perfect 10-0 mark and Bill Mitchell won 8 of 9. Kent Hadley got back into the lineup after recovering from a broken thumb and was still hitting above .300. Bonus baby Jim Brady sported a 4-2 record.

Durham was in fourth place in the Carolina League but had the league leader in hits, doubles and triples in Frank Kostrol. The hard-hitting infielder had 140 hits, 31 doubles and 9 triples. Dave Reed, right-hander from Battle Creek, had struck out 160 batters and owned a 12-6 record. Phil Regan of near-Grand Rapids had a 9-11 mark.

Idaho falls held down second place in the Pioneer League but the Russells were only two games off the pace. Jack Risch was batting .395 and Al Luce .362. Both are former Michigan State stars.

The Valdosta Tigers were in third place in the Georgia-Florida league. Four pitchers — including three from Michigan — were in the double column in victories. Fred Gladding of Romulus was 13-6, Dick Walter of near Flint was 10-6 and Dick Sheldon of Birmingham was 12-8.

The Erie Sailors, under manager Charlie Kress, were in the thick of the battle for the New York-Pennsylvania League title. The Sailors had five players over the .300 batting mark, including Frank Franchi of Dearborn with a .329 mark.

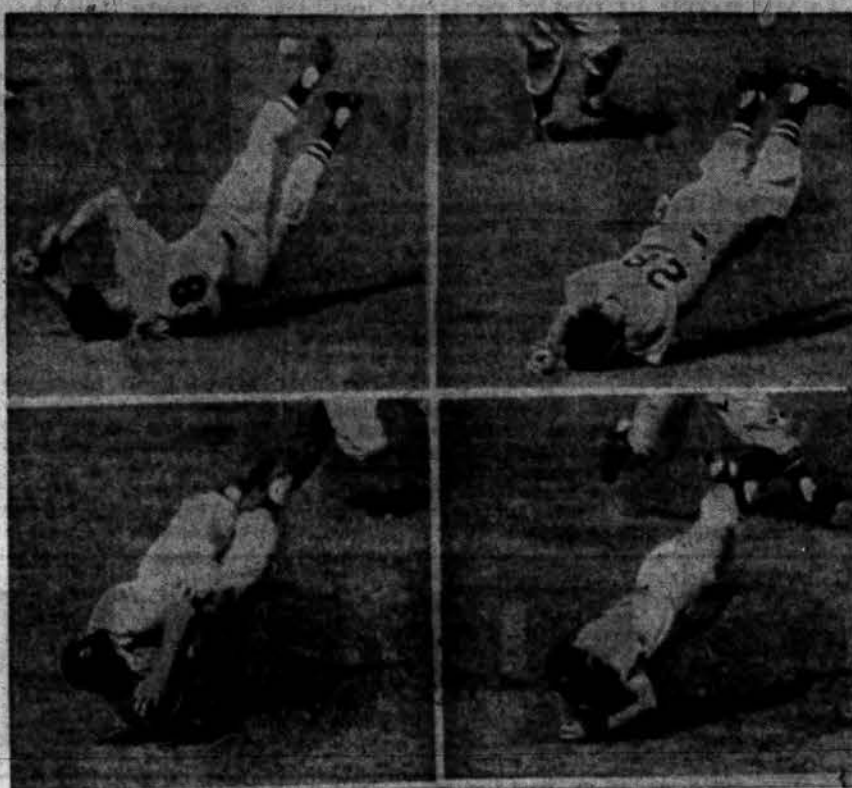

Mickey and Ted Can Go Hitless but Keep Mark

BOSTON (AP) — A good indication of the batting performances being turned in by Ted Williams and Mickey Mantle is the fact that each can go hitless in their next 100 times at bat and still have a .300 average.

Actually, Williams can go without a hit in his next 106 trips and wind up at .300 while Mantle would hit the same level if he failed to have a safe blow in his next 103 tries.

Williams of Boston leads the Yanks' Mantle in the exciting American League batting competition — .390 to .382.

There are only 21 other major leaguers with .300 or higher marks among those who have batted 250 or more times.

A SLIGHT SLIP — Slipping, Joe Cunningham, St. Louis Cards right fielder, takes a header trying for a fly hit by Dale Long of Chicago Cubs in yesterday's game at Chicago. Cunningham made the old college try for the ball, fell down, and Long got a double, as ball fell safely.

Man in Window Stirs Rigney

Dodgers-Giants Feud Brews Again

NEW YORK (AP) — Ah, for the good old days of Bill Terry.

Now there was a bloke who really could get a feud going with the Brooklyn Dodgers when he was managing the New York Giants.

His classic "Is Brooklyn still in the league?" issued more than two decades ago will live long after his great hitting feats are forgotten.

When Terry left the Giants, the intense rivalry between the two teams gradually died.

"There's another feud brewing today, though."

"It's a little flimsy and if old Memphis Bill ever gets wind of it, he'll probably snort in disgust."

It concerns, of all things, the windows in the Polo Grounds clubhouse, which are located behind center field.

The windows on the main floor, henceforth, will be closed.

It all started during yesterday's game, which the Brooks finally won, 7-6. During the third inning, with Gino Cimoli at bat, Rigney charged off the bench and demanded that Umpire-in-Chief Vin-

Smith order the lone open window on the Dodgers' side closed.

Smith complied.

Rigney complained that he saw someone sitting in the window and that it could have been a Brook agent stealing the Giants' signals.

"It wouldn't have been the first time something like that has been done," said Rigney darkly.

As things turned out, the someone sitting at the window was John Griffin, longtime Brooklyn clubhouse custodian.

When Brook Manager Walt Alston discovered what was going on, he fumed to Smith and demanded that all 13 open windows on the Giant side be closed.

Again Smith complied.

"The only time Griffin gets to see a ball game is at the Polo Grounds," scowled Alston. "He has no visibility from any other clubhouse. They started this silly thing, so I took it up."

"If I had my way, the upstairs windows also would be closed and I don't care if that's where Stoneham (Giant President Horace Stoneham) watches the game."

Rigney got in the last word, however.

"If he wanted to have the boss' windows closed," said the Giant pilot with a thin smile, "I told him he'd have to go up there and do it himself."

Frank Malzone Called Rookie

CHICAGO (AP) — Although he appeared in 27 games last season for Boston, the Red Sox's third baseman Frank Malzone is considered a rookie and eligible for "rookie of the year" award, the American League office said yesterday.

"There never has been a rule defining just what a rookie is," said Earl Hilligan, director of the American League service bureau. "Boston writers had asked about Malzone. They said they considered him a rookie and the American League office concurred. There was no such thing as a ruling on the matter, however."

Moore Gains Split Decision in Fight

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — "I didn't punch real good. That Mexican boy confused me with his south-paw tactics."

So spoke Davey Moore, the 129-pound Springfield, Ohio featherweight challenger, after his 10-round split decision over Victor Manuel Quijano, 130, of Mexico City, in the War Memorial Auditorium last night.

It was a sparkling fight and the slim crowd of 1,036, who paid $1.85 liked it immensely judging by the applause after the scrapers closed off the fireworks.

Moore gained a split decision in the fight.

Quijano won the first round, but Moore won the next two.

The fight was a close one, with Moore winning the last two rounds.

Texas Flier Has Lead in Air Force Tourney

SUMTER, S. C. (AP) — A 26-year-old Texas flier, barely mentioned in pre-tourney talk, held a two-stroke lead over the field today heading into the second round of the 72-hole World Wide Air Force golf championships.

Lt. Miller Barber, of Texarkana, Tex., stationed at Perrin AFB, Tex., fired a 6-under-par 66 yesterday to take the gloss away from a half dozen players given support in pre-tournament speculation.

Clark Put on Waivers

STEVENS POINT, Wis. (AP) — Back Nate Clark of Hillsdale College was one of two rookies placed on waivers yesterday by the Green Bay Packers. The other rookie was end Sam Morley of Stanford.

Taking 165-Mile Trip, Why Not by Bicycle?

When he decided on a vacation at his cottage in Oscoda, Walter Barningham of West Huron had a problem of finding room for his youngster's bicycle in the automobile.

But 17-year-old Dave Hutchins of Waterford High School offered a solution. He said he would ride the bike to Oscoda.

After some persuasion Barningham agreed, but doubted Dave could make it in two days. Hutchins said he needed only one day.

Starting out at 3:30 a.m. last Friday, Hutchins put his legs to work. His first stop was at 10:00 a.m. in Richville, and except for three more stops for a drink, Dave pulled into Oscoda at Lake Huron 17 hours and five minutes later for the 165 miles.

"I almost gave up about 40 miles from the cottage," he said, but after a day of rest and rubbing alcohol for his sore legs, "I enjoyed the fishing," he added.

Hamtramck Girl in Net Finals

MONTREAL (AP)—Virginia Hesse of Hamtramck, Mich., meets Ann Barclay of Vancouver today in the finals for the Open Junior Women's singles title of the Canadian Tennis Championships.

Miss Hesse moved up by defeating Sharon Caldwell, Toronto, yesterday, 6-1, 6-3, as Miss Barclay downed Pat Ryan, Ottawa, 6-1, 6-1.

Souchak After St. Paul Open

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Mike Souchak starts today after his second straight victory in the $24,000 St. Paul Open Golf Tournament. Virtually all of the top golfers are in the field that will tour the 6,660-yard Keller par 72 course in the first round of the 72-hole affair.

Souchak will be trying to match the feat of Harry Cooper who won the event in 1935 and repeated in 1936.

In yesterday's pro-amateur, Bo Winger and Art Wall tied for low pro honors with 7-under-par 65s. Don Whitt, Sam Snead, Marty Furgol and Ken Venturi had 66s in the threesome, best ball event.

Winger won $465, Wall $415 and Whitt $317.50.

Tom Hadley and Clayton Johnson were low amateurs at 68.

CAMP PERRY, O. (INS)—Army Master Sgt. Heulet L. Benner, seeking his sixth National Pistol Match Championship, leads the field into the third day of firing today with 1,754 points.

Benner posted an aggregate 868 in four .38 caliber matches at Camp Perry yesterday.

Marine Lt. W. W. McMillan was high for the day with a four-match total of 871, but still trails Benner by eight points.

Two match records were set in competition. McMillan established a new mark in the .38 caliber time-fire event with a 200-12 and Sgt. Robert K. Fisher, U. S. Army reserve, racked up another one in the center - fire National Match Course by firing a 236.

James Clark, a civilian shooter from Shreveport, La., won the .38 caliber rapid fire match and Darrell A. Nelson, Indianapolis policeman, captured the .38 caliber slow-fire event.

OTTAWA (AP)—Al Sigman, former University of Michigan football player, was cut from the Ottawa Rough Riders roster yesterday.

The first blood transfusion, according to record, was given to Pope Innocent VIII in 1492. Only about three per cent of the adult population of the United States is naturally redheaded.

FEDERAL DEPT. STORES

SAGINAW AT

Announce Waterfowl Dates

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interior Department announced today that hunting of most migratory waterfowl will be permitted between Oct. 1, 1957 and Jan. 15, 1958.

Under the department's regulations, the individual states may select specific dates within that period. The states must observe the limitation on season length set for the flyway in which they are located.

The department said the 1957-58 hunting regulations on migratory waterfowl will be substantially the same in all flyways except the Pacific. In the Pacific flyway the season will be 15 days longer but the bag and possession limits on ducks will be reduced.

Hatfield Chilson, acting secretary, said Hunters of wild ducks and geese can expect the flight this fall to be "about the same as last year."

The outside dates are the same as last year with the exception of those for Brant in the Pacific flyway. These were set between Nov. 1 and Feb. 15.

For the third year in a row the Atlantic and Mississippi flyways will have a 70-day season for waterfowl and coots, and the Central flyway a 75-day season for ducks and coots.

Splitseasons are again offered to the states as options. However, if they are selected the usual 10 per cent penalty is imposed on permitted hunting days, except for the goose hunting season in the Central flyway.

The framework within which the states may recommend open season dates on ducks, geese and coots in the Mississippi flyway, includes Michigan.

Seasons and regulations on species will be:

Wood ducks — In the Mississippi flyway, where the season on this species was closed last year, the states of Kentucky, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri and Wisconsin requested a continued closed season. However, the shooting hours will be changed to begin one-half hour before sunrise and continue to sunset in states where the season is closed.

Mergansers — The daily bag and possession limits on other ducks in each flyway may include one hooded merganser.

Hunters may take five American and red-breasted Mergansers daily and retain 10 in possession, singly or in the aggregate of both kinds, in addition to the bag and possession limits on other ducks.

Wilson's snipe — A season of 30 consecutive days within the outside dates for waterfowl will be provided in all flyways, provided the season shall not begin earlier than the opening date of the waterfowl season recommended by each state.

Detroit Golfer Holds GI Tournament Lead

FORT ORD, Calif. (AP) — Pfc. Melvin Stevens of Detroit held a one stroke lead today at the midway point in the 72-hole All-Army golf tournament.

Stevens shot a 76 yesterday to boost his total to 145.

Lt. Lester Kelly of the Third Army was second with 146.

One-Hitter for Lyons

Rodney Lyons pitched a one-hitter as Elliott Furniture walloped Elizabeth Lake Estates, 16-0, in a Waterford Little League softball game last night. Gary Moran, Jerry Goff and Larry Harms each made two hits.

Americans spend about $300 million per year for eye care.

Tigers Drub Wayne, 12-0, to Take District Honors

Behind the one-hit shutout pitching of Rudy Ransom, the Tigers handed Wayne a 12-0 drubbing Wednesday at Dearborn to win the Midget district crown.

Ransom's teammates gave him lusty 13-hit support as the Tigers qualified for the state semifinals next Monday at Jackson. The Police will be there on the same day for state Class D semis.

Oxford in Class E, Pontiac's other tourney hopeful, was a casualty yesterday. B & K Tool Co. of Saginaw defeated Oxford, 7-4, in the 'E' district opener at Saginaw.

Mike Dodge started on the mound for Oxford and was charged with the loss after giving up four runs in the first two innings. Dick Lamphere relieved Dodge in the 2nd and worked the rest of the way. Oxford narrowed the deficit to 5-4 with a three-run 5th, but

Class F Boys Club, the city's only other contender, was eliminated Tuesday in the district opener at Dearborn.

The Tigers and the Policemen will both see action Monday morning at 11 o'clock at Jackson's Ella Sharpe Park. If they survive, they will move into the state finals in the afternoon at 2:30.

Another 52 Horses on Block Tonight

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP) — Another 52 horses go on the block tonight in the Saratoga yearling sales.

The North Cliff Farm of Rixeyville, Va., will auction off its 17 yearlings, headed by a son and daughter of Hill Prince.

Mr. and Mrs. Melville Church, 2nd, owners of North Cliff say they have several good prospects. It was North Cliff who auctioned off Princess Lydia here for $3,600. The Princess finished her career with $131,000 in the bank.

Last night, 49 youngsters sold for a total of $572,000, an average of $11,653.

Top price of $81,000 was paid by Mary Elizabeth Lunn of Upperville, Va., for a Nasrullah colt.

Flam to Quit Tennis

NEW YORK (AP)—Win or lose the $64,000 he's shooting for on a national television program, Davis Cup ace Herbie Flam plans to make this his last year in big-time tennis.

"I'm calling it quits when the season is over," the 28-year-old ball-hawking whiz from Beverly Hills, Calif., said today. "I've decided it's time to go into business and start a foundation for myself."

"I probably will continue to play in the Nationals at Forest Hills and a few other picked tournaments. But this thing of hopping around all over the world is past."

Flam, the nation's No. 2 ranked player, said his plans do not exclude another trip to Australia with the Davis Cup team if he's lucky enough to be chosen. "I'd like to go and redeem myself," he added.

The boyish, crew-cut Californian currently is enjoying another type of fame as an expert on big business on the $64,000 Question, CBS television show.

His intimate knowledge of America's tycoons, past and present, in two weeks has shot him to the $3,000 mark and next week he gets a chance to try to double that. Subsequently come shots at $32,000 and $64,000.

"I'm not saying what I intend to do," Flam said. "I'm taking it on a week-to-week basis."

The tennis star said he became interested in big business as a youngster and has followed it avidly down through the years. His father is an investment broker. Herbie majored in business at UCLA and later took a post-graduate course on the subject.

"I bone up on the subject all I can," Flam said. "I go to the library every chance I get and read books. I'm interested in big business and know a lot about it."

Flam's success on the program brought up the question of his amateur standing, particularly in view of the fact that Olympic hurdles champion Lee Calhoun of Gary, Ind., was declared a pro last week for receiving gifts on the program "Bride and Groom," NBC.

"Herbie's situation is entirely different from that of Calhoun," said Renville McMann, president of the U.S. Lawn Tennis Assn. "Calhoun was chosen strictly for his background. Flam wasn't. He was screened. He would have been picked if he'd been a bricklayer or a barrister."

City Horseshoe Pitchers Defeat Waterford Club

City League horseshoe pitchers defeated the Waterford League team yesterday in exhibition matches at Oakland Park.

With the teams of Cook-Skaggs and Mortenson-Jaworski taking 9-0 sweeps, Pontiac scored a 38-32 victory in doubles. The Swigert-Clarkson team won a 9-1 series for Waterford.

Pontiac had a 54-40 edge in singles as Mortenson, Vitton, Barkley and Davis each won three straight games. Clarkson and Dieck did the same for Waterford.

Oxford Horse Competes

WESTBURY, N. Y. (AP)—A Michigan-owned horse will compete with nine others Saturday night in the $25,000 Invitational American Trotting championship at Roosevelt Raceway.

Scotch Valley, owned by Brown Valley Farms, Oxford, Mich., is expected to be a strong contender in the mile and one quarter race.

Crush Redlegs to Boost Win Streak to Nine

Last Night's Victory Was 13th in 15 Tilts Against Cincy

NEW YORK (INS)—Exactly one month ago, Milwaukee suffered the most lopsided defeat in its history and manager Fred Haney was hung in effigy. Today, the Braves are running away with the pennant.

It was on July 15th that the Braves were routed, 20-4, by Brooklyn. That left the Braves in third place, with a 47-and-57 record, 1½ games off the pace.

Disconsolate Milwaukee fans hung a figure over a downtown lamp post with a sign reading, "exit Fred Haney, we want pennant."

As per order, the Braves and Haney are delivering the goods.

The Beer City boys have won 23 while losing only five since July 15th for a blistering .821 pace that has pulled Milwaukee 7½ ahead of the pack.

The Braves increased their current winning streak to nine games last night by crushing Cincinnati, 13-3, thereby winning their 13th game in 15 contests between the two teams this season.

Bob Buhl registered his 16th victory against six defeats although he needed late-inning help from Don McMahon. Brooks Lawrence started and lost for Cincinnati but he wasn't around to see the Braves break the game open with eight runs in the ninth inning, including Wes Covington's grand slam homer.

Cincinnati's runs came on homers by Joe Taylor, Gus Bell and George Crowe. Johnny Logan hit a two-run homer for the Braves.

Staggering St. Louis lost a 3-6-1 decision to the Chicago Cubs for their eighth defeat in a row and dropped to within one percentage point of third-place Brooklyn. The Dodgers smashed 14 hits including three homers to beat the New York Giants, 7-6. Pittsburgh battered six Philadelphia Pitchers for 17 hits and a 10-to-3 victory.

Baker Still Active in Milford

Remember the Sports Stars of Yore?

BOB BAKER

(This is the 15th of a series of articles about former outstanding athletes from Pontiac and Oakland County and what they are doing today. We feature today Bob Baker of Milford and tomorrow we feature Woody Bray of Pontiac. Saturday Waldo Ashley, former Oxford athlete and now Waterford athletic director will be featured.)

One of the greatest athletes ever to play sports at Milford High who is still active in the old home town as a softball player and Little League manager is Bob Baker.

Bob starred in football, basketball and track for three years. Although doing double duty in the later two sports, he set records in the shot put and high jump and was a steady .300 hitter.

The shot put mark of 46 feet, 11 inches, established in 1940, still stands as the MHS and home field record. The high jump record was broken in 1955. He was also a consistent winner in the broad jump and ran the 440.

Bob won five state medals during competition in various regional events during 1937-40. He was a hard-working center on the basketball court and drew rave notices throughout the area for his football ability.

Baker paced the Redskins in scoring from his fullback position his last two seasons after playing tackle as a Sophomore. His most famous touchdown gallop was from one goal line to another but there were two others of 90 yards or more.

Wayne Webb was coaching sports at Milford in those days and he did everything possible to get Bob into college only to fail.

Baker had aroused the interests of several schools as the spark-plug of three successive unbeaten track teams and was honorable mention on the Class C all-state grid team twice.

Michigan State wanted him for track. Wisconsin and Bowling Green desired his talents in football but he turned them all down.

"I had to say no. There was no money in the family so I went to work. Everyone makes a fool of himself at some time and I certainly did then," he said today casting a glance back at those fun-filled days.

Baker played two years of basketball in Pontiac before going into a plumbing business with a friend which he still operates.

North Side, Commerce Easy Softball Winners

North Side Auto Supply and Commerce Drive-In Theater remained tied for first place in the Women's City Softball League by scoring easy victories last night at North Side Park. Each team has a 12-2 record.

Katy Boykins pitched two-hit ball and clouted a three-run homer as North Side whitewashed Gungelville, 16-0. Commerce trimmed the West Side Merchants, 7-1, behind the two-hit hurling of Claudia Wanik.

It's Mrs. Koss Again

Mrs. Joseph Koss won her 4th victory of the season yesterday in the weekly Women's MGA golf tournaments. Her score of 42-39-81 led a field of 86 players.

Help Hayfever Sufferers

Continue Weed Fight, City Urges

Pontiac residents were urged by the city's Parks and Recreation Department today not to stop their battle against weeds.

While praising citizens for co-operating in keeping vacant lots free of weeds, Seymour M. Gold, supervisor of Pontiac's summer weed cutting program, asked for even greater effort during the coming weeks.

"The next month will be the most important in our weed cutting program," Gold said, "because the hayfever season will reach its climax with such weeds as goldenrod and ragweed coming into full bloom."

Gold also pointed out that in the next few weeks many weeds are going to seed and, hence, careful cutting at this time can eliminate many weed headaches next year.

"More than 60 per cent of the weeds cut on property by the department in previous years is now being cut by the property owners themselves," Gold said.

PEOPLE REQUESTING CUTTING

"Our office is also getting phone calls from interested residents requesting us to cut weeds where they have grown too high."

Gold said that the department considers weeds which have grown up to 18 inches ready for cutting.

Under a 1955 city ordinance the city is billing owners 20 cents a front foot for cutting done by the city. Gold said that owners of vacant lots who cut weeds to comply with the city's July 1 property again to see if they need to be recut.

Cutting of weeds, Gold remarked, not only keeps down the pollen count, but also opens up recreational areas for children and eliminates breeding grounds for vermin.

U.S. Aids Formosa Dam

TAIPEI—The United States has made a $4,000,000 contribution to start construction of a $40,000,000 multipurpose dam at Shihman, about 30 miles northeast of Taipei. The dam will be the largest single economic project ever undertaken by free China on Formosa.

BOTTLE BABY — With the aid of a doll bottle, Howard Lorber starts a hare-raising experiment at his Paramus, N. J., home. The nine-year-old youngsters found the newly born rabbit, apparently abandoned, and is raising it on milk.

Hits New Car Lack of Safety Equipment

WASHINGTON (INS)—A House traffic safety investigator said today he was "dismayed" to read that new 1958 model automobiles emphasize horsepower but do not include built-in safety devices.

Chairman Kenneth Roberts (D-Ala.), of a commerce subcommittee studying safety problems, complained that reports of the new cars fail to recognize the need for helping to cut down chances of death and injury in accidents.

Rep. J. Carlton Loser (D-Tenn) urged that the big three automobile manufacturers—Ford, General Motors and Chrysler—install a three-inch safety belt as standard equipment in the cars coming out this fall.

The manufacturers have rejected the idea of belts as standard equipment on the grounds that it was too expensive.

Fifty-Year-Old Plane Found in New Zealand

NEW ZEALAND — An early New Zealand airplane, first flown in 1908, has made its last flight — as cargo in a modern plane.

The veteran "crate" was found in an old barn at Christchurch. It was in very decrepit condition, but was carefully packed and put aboard a plane for delivery to Auckland, where it is being patched up and placed in the War Memorial Museum.

It was built by the late R. W. Pearse, an aircraft pioneer whose idea of tilting the engine for climbing power is incorporated in recent aeronautical designs.

In 1903, when the Wright brothers flew the first heavier-than-air machine, Pearse was experimenting with planes. He later built one that actually flew — the one recently discovered.
