Emergency Tag May Be Put on Hospital Project

City Manager Outlines Crash Program for Completion of Wing

Pontiac city commissioners had under consideration today a proposal to label the Pontiac General Hospital expansion program an "emergency situation," after City Manager Walter K. Willman estimated it would cost from $300,000 to $350,000 more than planned.

Willman made the proposal at an informal meeting of the Commission last night in an effort "to make the best of a bad situation."

He disclosed these developments concerning the city's most pressing financial situation:

1—It will cost the city only $32,146 in penalties to cancel contracts covering the remodeling of the hospital's east wing.

2—There is a proposal that the hospital itself reimburse the city for the extra costs.

3—The city is fairly certain of having sufficient funds to pay off current hospital construction debts.

4—According to Willman, funds to meet the extra costs need not be raised through extra property taxes.

5—Negotiations are under way to get local contractors to complete the coinstruction program, once the original 1956 contracts are canceled.

On Willman's suggestion, commissioners decided they would vote to cancel the contracts this coming week or the next.

The crash program which the city manager outlined represented the first step the city administration has proposed to meet the setback which the expansion program suddenly experienced last September.

It was then that builders, first tearing into the walls of the old east wing to begin remodeling, discovered that the 1920 heating, plumbing and electrical installations were almost totally worn out.

To replace all three systems in their entirity would cost half a million dollars, according to an estimate from Darin & Armstrong Co., the prime contractors on the expansion program.

Willman, hoping to salvage whatever portion of the systems that might prove usable, set about trying to reduce that estimate.

The $300,000 to $350,000 figure which he came up with last night was the first official estimate he has divulged. How correct it is, is something that only time may inicate, since the administration wants to proceed with the remaining building step by step, instead of letting it out in an overall contract.

High Schoolers, Nuns Stunned by Tax Notices

PHOENIXVILLE, Pa. (AP) — No one knows exactly why 400 high school students and 40 Catholic nuns received delinquent tax notices. However, now that they've been sent, the nuns might have to pay.

Tax collector Allen L. Bevan explained to inquiring reporters Friday that for the kids it was a mistake. Tax records, it seems, got mixed up with a school census.

The nuns, Bevan said, won't have to pay any penalties because they didn't receive the original notices. But Bevan said he wasn't sure if they could ignore the whole bill.

The bills were for 1958 personal taxes, about $14 a head.

Nuns never before have been required to pay borough taxes, although there is no law exempting them.

School Aid Plan to Be Discussed

State Education Group Mulling Support Idea Costing $352 Million

LANSING (AP)—A new state school aid proposal that would cost 352 million dollars in 1959-60 was being circulated today among state school district superintendents.

The cost of the present state aid program, if paid out in full for 1958-59, would run about 300 million dollars. If continued in 1956-60, it would run about 13 millions more because of increased enrollment.

Formulated by leaders of the Michign Education Assn., (MEA), the plan would drop some features that long have marked the aid program, notably deductible millage—a measure of local tax support capability.

E. Dale Kennedy, MEA executive secretary, said the proposal, mailed out yesterday, is in the discussion stage. It will be considered for decision at a Feb. 4 MEA meeting.

The proposal would abandon the type of formula that pegs state aid to a basic allowance—$190 per membership child for the last three years—subject to certain offsets.

The new basic concept would be known as the pupil-certified personnel ratio. This figure would be 27 to start. Certified personnel means qualified teachers plus full time administrators.

Taking $217 per child, from state and local sources combined, as the sum necessary for an adequate instructional program, $5,859 would be determined as required for each 27-pupil unit.

The state-local ratio of sharing this burden then would be worked out in accordance with the amount of state equalized assessed property valuation in each district, introducing an equalization factor.

The proportion paid by the state would come out about 86 per cent in districts with only $5,000 valuation per pupil, and 68 per cent in districts with valuation of $23,000 and over.

At the statewide average of $14,000 valuation, the state's share would be $4,725 per unit, or about 81 per cent. Another $1,134 would be made up from local property taxation.

Law Eyes Aid for Pontiac

Hopes for Bill to Ease Hospital Woes

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

Pontiac — which has had its share of hospital controversies lately—hopes its new state representative, Arthur J. Law, can put through a bill to soothe some of these problems.

Law disclosed that City Attorney William A. Ewart has suggested legislation to give home-rule cities like Pontiac, authority to regulate staff personnel at city-run hospitals.

Attempts in this direction caused two major squabbles over the past two years in Pontiac—the Dr. Neil H. Sullenberger hassle and the case of the four doctors striving for more freedom in surgical practices.

Law, who is returning to public office after a five-year absence, cited Ewart's recommendation as he discussed his outlook on the 1959 session of Legislature which opens Wednesday.

Ewart said he feels, and the courts have backed the city up, that Pontiac has been legally correct in enforcing present staff regulatory powers, although no specific law grants such right.

ARTHUR J. LAW

"We have been operating under the implied powers of the constitutional provision which gives cities the authority to establish and operate hospitals," he said.

"I favor the suggested amendment to this act so we can have the new powers down in black and white. This way we can escape any future litigation," Ewart added.

Under his proposed amendment, Pontiac could adopt an ordinance "prescribing rules and regulations governing the operation of the hospital and the professional work, surgical privileges, conduct and maintenance of proper medical records of and by the physicians, surgeons, medical staff, nurses and attendants using or employed by the hospital."

Four doctors contend only the State Board of Registration in Medicine, which granted them their licenses, can so regulate them.

Mikoyan Plane Bomb Reported

Anonymous Caller on Phone Tells Airline of Planted Explosive

CHICAGO (UPI) — An anonymous caller telephoned a threat today that a bomb would be aboard the commercial airliner on which Russian Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan will fly to San Francisco.

Harry Gilman, an official of United Air Lines, said the caller told him the bomb would be planted on United flight 721 which Mikoyan and his party along with other passengers were to take from Midway Airport at 12:20 p.m., EST.

As a result, police set aside an isolated spot at the airport for examination with electronic devices of all luggage before it is put aboard the plane.

The airliner itself was placed by itself at one end of the field while police and fire department bomb experts examined it thoroughly. The plane will not be brought to the loading ramp until 10:45 a.m., authorities said.

The threat came in the wake of demonstrations here yesterday during which Mikoyan was the target of eggs and insults. The Russian official appeared unrufled by the series of demonstrations staged by anti-Communist pickets.

Girl Grabs Bills Right Out of Horse's Mouth

Margaret stopped to offer a tidbit to a horse in a roadside field on her way to school yesterday but found the horse already was busy eating five one pound notes.

She risked getting bitten and took the money out of the horse's mouth. She reached in again and retrieved a badly-chewed rent book made out in the name of Walter Prescott.

Margaret took the money and the book to Prescott, who said his daughter dropped them beside the field on her way to pay the rent.

Showdown Delayed on Straley's Future

By PETE LOCHBILER

City Manager Walter K. Willman last night indicated a showdown on Police Chief Herbert W. Straley is coming, but what it will be and how soon it will happen he wouldn't say.

"I don't want to see the chief hurt if it can be avoided. He's served the city for seven years," said the city manager in getting an informal okay from the City Commission for more time before deciding Straley's status.

"A little more time won't hurt," said Willman. "The Police Department troubles, after all, have been going on for quite awhile."

The manager refused to specify whether he had in mind retaining Straley, despite the chief's troubles with the new public safety director, or bringing removal charges against him before the Civil Service Commission.

Willman also refused to discuss whether he had talked about resignation with Straley, although he did tell commissioners:

"We (the city administration) are trying to control the situation without getting more headlines. As far as we're concerned, the less publicity the better."

It is generally conceded that if Straley fought any charges against him, his battle before the Civil Service Commission would be a climax to the long history of internal strife within the Pontiac Police Department.

If Straley resigned, however, the resignation could be treated by the city as an open-and-shut matter. The police chief up to now has vehemently denied he has any thought of resigning, despite the fact that for the past two months he has been stripped of everything but rank and pay.

Although commissioners have ex-

Russia Presents Western Big 3 Drafts of Treaty

24 Other Nations Get Notes for a Confab in Prague or Moscow

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Russia proposed in notes to the Western Big Three and 24 other nations today the convocation of a German peace conference in Prague or Warsaw within two months.

Along with the notes went a 25-page proposed peace treaty which would make West Berlin an unmarked free city until such time as the two Germanys are united.

The proposed draft treaty was similar to that offered by former Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov five years ago, and included provisions which the Western Powers previously have rejected.

Among the proposals were that Germany be prohibited from joining any military bloc which does not include all signatory nations and all foreign troops pull out of Germany within one year.

Other sections would prohibit German claims to Eastern territories now occupied by Poland.

The note went to all countries that participated in World War II against Hitler's forces.

The Soviet notes were in reply to Western rejections of an earlier Soviet note. The note of Nov. 27 had proposed that the United States, Britain and France pull their troops out of West Berlin, leaving it an unarmed free city.

In similar Western rejections, the three nations suggested that a Big Four conference be called to consider the whole German problem, including reunification.

However, Tass said the Soviet draft treaty proposal was given the Western Big Three "for transmission to governments of these states and other states who took part with their armed forces in the war against Germany, as well as to the governments of the German

Hits 'Those Gangsters'

Castro Blasts Gambling

HAVANA (UPI)—Cuba's revolutionary government launched a crackdown on organized gambling today, sending many professional gamblers and casino owners into flight or hiding.

Gambling circles reported American casino operators Meyer Lansky and George Raft, had departed this week.

Rebel troops picked up Nick de Constanzo of New York, president of the Casino Capri Corp., yesterday and questioned him for nearly nine hours before releasing him last night.

They also seized money bags containing the Capri's receipts and sealed all the Capri's safe deposit boxes.

De Constanzo told newsmen after his release that "they were looking for collaborators with the Batista government who either influenced or actually participated in Havana gambling."

Reports circulated through the city yesterday that Fidel Castro's 26th of July movement planned to interrogate officials and owners of all of Havana's gambling casinos. Most of the gamblers promptly dropped out of sight.

Castro, in a television interview beamed to New York early today, referred to Havana's casino owners as "those gangsters."

He said his revolutionary government would protect legitimate U.S. interests in Cuba, but he added:

"Those gangsters do not represent the interests of the United States."

Urrutia said in a press conference his government was opposed to any organized gambling in Cuba because, he said, gambling corrupts officials and encourages the narcotics trade.

The crackdown on gambling was one of the first acts of the government as it buckled down to Cuban reconstruction following last night's pledges of support from the rival rebel factions.

Straley Showdown Appears Near

pressed keen interest in the police situation, control over Straley is exercised only by the city manager, who appointed him.

Up to 1957, Willman was empowered to hire and fire the police chief at will. But after voters approved civil service for police in April 1957, the chief came under the protection of the civil service regulations, which call for charges and a hearing any time suspension of an officer is sought.

Only Willman, who officially appoints all police officers, can bring such charges.

The new public safety director, George D. Eastman, has indicated he would like Willman to bring charges against Straley on the basis of incompetence in office.

But Willman, biding his time, has consistently overruled Eastman.

Mayor Philip E. Rowston said no decision should be demanded for at least six months.

"We hired Eastman to bring about improvements," he said. "We can't expect everything to be done immediately."

Commissioner Floyd P. Miles was in favor of giving the Eastman regime a year. But Willman said, "It certainly won't take that long."

One consideration is the fact that Civil Service has a statute of limitations, requiring disciplinary action to be brought within 90 days.

Straley was put on "special assignment" by Eastman Nov. 12, meaning that by Feb. 12, the chief's last official acts while still fully in office will be outside the 90-day period.

The only opposition to Willman's position came from Commissioner Milton R. Henry, who has opposed Eastman ever since Eastman led the sweeping Dec. 5 vice raid which centered in Henry's district.

"The people in my district are not so much in favor of getting rid of Straley as they are in getting rid of Eastman," Henry said.

Of Eastman's Nov. 12 decision to strip Straley of power and make the chief "personally responsible" to himself, Henry said, "This is an intolerable situation, designed to force Straley's resignation."

But Willman said in reply:

"Remember that if the chief were in his old position, any changes that Eastman wants to make in the department would have to go through Straley. Remembering what the situation was like before Eastman came, can't you see any reason why Eastman has done what he has concerning Straley?"

Eastman, former police chief in Seattle, Wash., was hired after a study of the police department indicated to the Commission that a public safety director should be placed over Straley to bring about improvements in morale and efficiency.

Willman said both areas had showed improvement under Eastman.

Voelker a Hit Here, Just Like His Book

Give John D. Voelker a quiet trout stream, a box of Italian cigars, and a chance to write another novel and he would be content the rest of his life.

Voelker, who is more formally addressed as associate justice of the Michigan Supreme Court, made a smashing hit before the Young Bloomfield Democratic Club and its guests last night at the Kingsley Inn.

But it wasn't hard to tell that Voelker didn't feel at home, although he was among a group who'll probably be seeking votes for him when he runs for re-election in April.

Home to the 55-year-old Voelker is in the stillness of his Ishpeming surroundings, and at the keys of a typewriter which has brought him reputation as a top novelist as well as a jurist.

It was Voelker who could easily double in looks and speech, to movie star John Wayne — who climbed to the top of the best-seller list last year with his gold-mine novel, "Anatomy of a Murder."

Now Hollywood is in the process of cashing in, as it films the story of a happy-go-lucky Upper Peninsula attorney who takes on the defense of a prize murder case, wins it, but is left in the cold without a fee.

Asked about the coming movie Voelker jokingly told reporters he "may have a walk-on with Lana Turner" who is scheduled to play the leading feminine part.

Asked further what he received for the film rights, the author replied, "Enough to shoot off a lot of sky rockets."

The former Marquette County prosecutor admitted he never expected his book to be a best-seller. "Law will always be my greatest love, however," he insisted.

tract directly on a time and material basis by declaring this an emergency and side-tracking the charter requirement that otherwise would have this project let on an overall basis by competitive bids," said Willman.

"There is a paramount need now for fast and efficient work in complete tune with the city's desires." City inspectors, he reminded commissioners, would be on hand at all times under his plan to supervise the remaining work "with an eye to keeping the costs down and the quality of work up."

City Attorney William A. Ewart advised that an emergency situation could be declared "to protect the citizens' investment in the hospital and fill the need for added beds as a health measure for the city."

After several meetings with Darin & Armstrong, terms of an agreement to cancel the existing contract have been tentatively decided upon, Willman said, pending formal approval by the Commission.

Under the agreement, the contractor's original demands for $93,000 in penalties have been reduced to $32,146, a figure that mostly represents extra costs to the contractor because of delays on the hospital's side.

Willman also listed these figures.

To the original contract price for Darin & Armstrong of $1,975,997 for construction of the new wing and remodeling of the old (east) wing, there has been added only $22,264 in extras over the two-year construction period.

Including the penalties finally agreed upon, the general construction contract totaled only $2,030,407. Of this, the city under the proposed agreement with Darin & Armstrong will be credited with $91,990, representing work not completed or materials not furnished.

Of the settlement total of $1,938,417, the city has already paid off $1,608,715, leaving a balance of $329,701 due to Darin & Armstrong.

Willman estimated the balance due to the plumbing contractor at $36,129 and to the electrical contractor, $34,559.

The total balance due amounts to an estimated $422,389, he said.

To meet the balance, Willman cited other figures.

There is currently in the hospital construction fund $233,991, he said, which will soon be supplemented by $166,000, representing the final installment of the $500,000 which the city pledged for construction two years ago.

It is also anticipated that the city will still get $85,000 in federal funds, also allocated two years ago, Willman said.

That makes a total of $484,991 in prospective construction funds, or more than enough to meet the existing construction bills, he pointed out.

Willman emphasized that the bills all represent work already completed, plus an additional $60,000 in materials which the contractors have yet to deliver.

The $930,000 which the Commission pledged to the hospital last year was earmarked for furnishings, not construction, it was pointed out.

All of the funds the city has promised the hospital have been taken from tax moneys which otherwise would be used for such capital improvements as roads, sewers and drains. The extra city funds have supplemented the original $3 million bond issue voters approved in 1954 to expand the hospital.

Willman said he had discussed with Harold B. Euler, hospital administrator, the proposal to have the hospital pay out of its profits the extra costs to repair fixtures in the east wing.

"I know the proposal is a radical one as far as the Hospital Board of Trustees is concerned," Willman said, "but Mr. Euler has promised to take the matter up with them."

The Hospital Board has traditionally contended it is the city's job to provide and pay for the hospital's physical plant.

Commissioners allowed Willman to continue to remain vague as to how the city would raise the extra $300,000 to $350,000 he estimated was needed.

"We're working on the problem and we think we can come up with a financing plan that will satisfy you," he said.

The city manager definitely ruled out, however, raising the money through an extra tax. He indicated that capital improvement funds would again be hit for the extra funds.

Nevertheless, Willman told commissioners that the 1959 neighborhood improvement program would still be a handsome one.

He said there was a plan afoot whereby the city would not have to begin paying back its extra hospital debts for at least a year.

He disclosed that the administration is dickering with Pontiac contractors to make the necessary repairs and complete the remodeling job.

"The details cannot be released as yet, but I consider the offer under discussion to be very advantageous as far as the city is concerned," Willman said.

He said that if repairs and construction proceed on a time and material basis, it will be the city's policy to install hospital beds on a staggered schedule area by area as the construction is completed.

"That way we will be able to get additional revenue as soon as possible," he explained. "We always remember that the east wing is planned primarily as a bed section and as such will provide the cream of the hospital revenues."

"The situation, while bleak, is not as hopeless as it might seem," he concluded.

The hospital operated at more than a $100,000 loss in 1958, mainly because the east wing was not opened on schedule last fall, officials have said.

Democratic Republic (Communist East Germany) and the Federal German Republic (West Germany).

REFUSES SUGGESTIONS

The West has refused repeated Soviet suggestions that it sit down with East Germany to discuss a peace treaty or reunification. The West contends that the East German regime is illegal because it does not have popular support and therefore does not deserve a place in discussions.

The Tass statement went on:

"The conclusion of a peace treaty with Germany would play a positive part not only in safeguarding peace in Europe but also in solving the all-national task of the German people: The unification of Germany.

"The note of the Soviet government to the governments of the U. S. A., Britain and France also replies to the notes of these governments on the Berlin question and again expresses the desire to settle the Berlin question through the states concerned."

The U. S. reply to the earlier Soviet note had said Berlin should be discussed "in the wider framework of negotiations for a solution of the German problem as well as that of European security."

The envoys of the three Western powers were called separately to the Soviet Foreign Office to receive copies of the 12-page note with the draft treaty enclosed. India's chief of mission and the East German ambassador also got copies.

One envoy said he believed this draft had been circulated in the West previously.

of Pontiac's 85,000 residents, elected to the post last November after 12 years (1942-54) on the City Commission, promises he will look into Ewart's suggestion.

Aside from this, Law, a Pontiac grocery store owner, will journey to Lansing with an open mind.

"It will be for me to evaluate the issues and try to recognize the needs of the state and city," said the greying Law, who for six years was Pontiac's mayor.

He is like the youngster going to school for the first time. But he feels that his varied experiences on the Commission should help him face the new challenges he will encounter on the floor of the House.

His predecessor, Leslie H. Hudson, played the role as teacher the other day when he took Law and Hazel Park's new Democratic representative, John C. Hitchcock around the capital to show them the ropes.

Law has hopes he might win a spot on the House's powerful Ways and Means Committee, a spot Hudson held down his last two years. Because of his experience in city affairs, some city officials feel he should seek a seat on the City Corporations Committee.

Whatever lies ahead, Law intends to pursue a "go slow at first" policy, looking out for what's best for Michigan and Pontiac, and not, he emphasized, whether his stand will mean re-election or defeat.

"I was elected for two years only," he insisted. "It will be up to the people to judge my record after that."

He'll leave his market on Earlmoor boulevard in the capable hands of his wife, Nema, during weekdays. Art plans to return to the city for weekends.

He decided to get back into public service because "once you get used to it you can't go without it."

Like other lawmakers preparing for when the gavel comes down Wednesday noon, Law puts the state's critical financial condition on the top of the list of issues.

However, he's willing to stay neutral on proposals to solve the problem, such as a suggested personal income tax, until he hears what Gov. Williams has to say on the subject in his address to the Legislature Thursday.

"Hope he has the answer," declared the former Fisher Body Division worker.

Law, who makes his home with his wife and four children at 27 Miami Rd., has one big hope as he sets out on his new venture.

"I hope we all can help eliminate the rift between the governor and the House and Senate," he said.

"Quite a challenge," said the enthusiastic man who has met many others in his 52 years.

The Day in Birmingham

Retired Pastor to Serve at First Baptist Church

BIRMINGHAM — Another Birmingham church is being served by a "retired" pastor. Dr. Albert H. Gage has come from Dearborn to be interim pastor at the First Baptist Church.

During his 56 years of ministry he has helped found many new churches including the Beverly Hills Baptist Church on W. 13 Mile road. He has served as pastor in the area and has been director of church extension services for the Detroit Association of American Baptist Churches.

He has also been a director of Christian Education for the Baptists of Chicago.

In addition to his ministry, he has devoted time to Boy Scout work and is a holder of the Silver Beaver award, highest honor to be bestowed on adults by the Boy Scouts of America.

He also is the author of a number of books on churches and church affairs.

Dr. Gage replaces Dr. Emil Kontz who left in November to accept the pastorate at the First Baptist Church in St. Alban, W. Va.

The other retired minister serving locally is Dr. Alfred Gray, interim pastor at the Congregational Church of Birmingham.

With classes scheduled to open Jan. 19 in the Community House for craft and hobby courses, several vacancies still remain, according to Myra Showman, director.

Students may still enroll for any of the three classes in ceramics and Thursday evening painting classes.

Other openings are in ballroom dancing, design, flower arrangement, gardening, photography, sculpture, silver working and Tuesday evening sewing groups.

New officers of the Women's Association of First Presbyterian Church are Mrs. B. John Mitchell, president; Mrs. William J. Bird, Mrs. C. M. Greenlee and Mrs. C. F. Meyer, vice presidents; Mrs. Glenn Berry, recording secretary; Mrs. Kenneth Kesler, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. I. W. Robertson, treasurer.

They will begin their official duties at the monthly board meeting Monday at the church.

2 Bandits Enter Home, Scare Girls

DETROIT (UPI)—Two pretty, teenaged girls were terrorized by two gunmen who invaded a home in exclusive suburban Grosse Pointe Shores last night.

The girls, however, were not harmed. They are Margaret Dale, 15, and a neighbor girl friend who was visiting her, Ann Cronenweth.

Margaret's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Dale, were out for the evening when two men wearing sunglasses and one of them carrying a gun burst into the kitchen via an unlocked door from an attached garage.

The gunman, the girls said, forced them into a bathroom while his partner ransacked the house. A telephone call from Ann's father, Russell Cronenweth, to check on when she was coming home is believed to have frightened the robbers away. While Margaret answered, the gunman held his pistol against her ribs and ordered her to keep calm.

After the call, the girls said they were hustled back into a bathroom and the robbers fled. Dale listed as missing a phonograph, 10 sweaters, five shirts, an overcoat and the trenchcoats of both girls.

Auto Sales Tax Probe Continues to Expand

Investigators said today a probe into alleged cheating on state sales tax by some automobile dealers is continuing both in the Detroit area and outstate.

Warrants were issued yesterday for 23 employes of Wayne County auto dealers and self-styled "car brokers" in a move against illicit traffic reportedly involving more than 3,000 cars in the last three years.

They will be arraigned next Tuesday on charges of violation of Michigan sales tax laws.

Total sales tax loss was estimated at $200,000 or more.

Leo M. Calhoun, 1851 Craigin St., Bloomfield Hills, general manager of Stu Evans, Inc.; and Woodrow S. Thompson, of 1715 Pearson St., Ferndale, assistant sales manager of Jefferson Chevrolet.

The key to the scheme allegedly was falsification of affidavits that purchasers were bona fide residents of states outside Michigan and, as such, entitled to state sales tax exemption.

Lansing and Dowagiac were named by Jerry Cohen, chief of the criminal division in the State Attorney General's Office, as two outstate cities receiving the attention of investigators.

The investigation was launched six months ago on a tip involving one of the accused persons in Detroit. The Secretary of State's Office, which issues car titles, is participating in the inquiry.

Attorney General Paul L. Adams said the bootlegging of new cars was put on a business basis by organizing a car brokerage firm with a phony Ohio address although it actually was a Michigan firm.

While it operated out of Detroit, the corporation used a Toledo address, Adams said, thus being able to evade the state sales tax law on cars under a 1955 law which permits out-of-state residents to buy cars without paying the sales tax.

It's Freezing in Dixie

Stubborn Cold Hugs East

By The Associated Press

Freezing weather, gusted under clear skies, clasped a tight grip over the eastern two thirds of the nation today but a warm air flow was kicking at its heels in the Plains and Rockies.

In the Southeast, it was quite cold with Boston reporting an early 13. Temperatures were not likely to rise more than the 20s during the day along many coastline points.

Similar readings were the order of the day for the Midwest and Ohio Valley.

The warming trend fed by a flow of southerly winds, was to reach to the Mississippi Valley later today.

At midnight Friday, readings in the 20s were reported through much of the northern Rockies and from the Dakotas to Kansas. This marked a general 8 to 12 degree rise for many spots.

Snow flurries interrupted the clear sky pattern in the Great Lakes region and along the Appalachian Mountain range from northern Vermont to the Tennessee North Carolina area.

Hunting Bodies in Mud, Rubble

At Least 200 Dead or Missing in Town Hit by Dam Burst

ZAMORA, Spain (AP)—Troops and civil guardsmen searched in the mud and rubble of Rivadelago today for victims of Spain's worst disaster of the century.

The tiny mountain village of some 500 inhabitants was swallowed and destroyed early Friday morning by waters of a dam which burst. Engineers of the hydroelectric company which maintained the dam were out in force to find the cause of the break.

Newsmen and photographers were hindered by the troops and guardsmen. Officials in charge of rescue work refused to give any estimate of the number of persons who had died.

One official source said there were 200 survivors out of the 500 residents. Another said there were 300. Even the second figure meant there were 200 or more dead or missing.

(The government announced in Madrid early today after a Cabinet meeting that "so far" there were 15 dead and nearly 100 missing. The announcement admitted for the first time, however, that the dam had burst and not overflooded as Friday's newspapers had been directed to say.)

Little Rock Gets 30-Day Deadline

Federal Judge Orders School Board to Take Positive Plan Steps

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—A federal judge today directed the Little Rock School Board to take positive steps within 30 days to implement a plan of integration in the city's closed public high schools.

U. S. Dist. Judge John E. Miller of Fort Smith, Ark., left unresolved the question of how the board would integrate these schools, which were shut last fall by proclamation of Gov. Orval E. Faubus.

Miller's order put into effect an integration mandate issued Dec. 2 by the 8th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals at St. Louis.

The judge pointed out, in a 20-page opinion which accompanied the order, that the mandate did not require his court to direct that the high schools be opened.

"But it was implicit in the order that when and if the high schools are opened, they must be operated as a non-segregated system," the judge said.

School board members who could be reached for comment said they wanted to read the opinion before making statements about it.

This Beggar It Appears Is a Chooser

When police arrested Creel for panhandling Friday, he was wearing two jackets, two overcoats and carrying $5,450 in his pockets.

The cash was in eight frayed paper bags, wrapped in shoelaces. Fifty dollars were in silver.

Mikoyan Jeers Laid to GOP

Administration's Policy Blamed by Williams for Hostile Actions

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Williams has blamed, by inference, the administration's foreign policy for setting off a jeering demonstration against the number two Russian in Detroit.

Anastas Mikoyan, the Soviet deputy premier, was the target for the demonstration Thursday night.

"The large ethnic populations in Detroit whose countries are now enslaved behind the iron curtain have recent, as well as deep-seated causes of resentment," the governor said. "They would have difficulty in restraining their natural emotions."

Williams added:

"The fact that this country Union living up to its treaty obligations to permit free elections would tend to make these ethnic groups take matters into their own hands."

"Every time we go into a general meeting with the Russians," the governor said, "part of the agenda should be consideration of free elections behind the iron curtain where they have been promised. Our failure to do this tends to make the captive nations think we are satisfied with the status quo."

Williams said he thought it was important for the United State and Russian peoples to understand each other as fully as possible.

"In the long run," he said, "the United States has nothing but advantage to gain out of Russian visitors coming to Michigan to see our industrial prowess."

Michigan Jobless Total Increases in December

DETROIT (AP)—Michigan had 332,000 jobless in mid-December, an increase of 10,000 over the previous month, the Michigan Employment Security Commission reported today.

But the number of jobless in the Detroit metropolitan area showed a slight decrease. Detrit's jobless numbered 197,000, or 3,000 less than the preceding month.

The agency estimated that 11.4 per cent of the state's labor force is unemployed. The percentage of area is 12.8.

Pontiac Airport Gets Federal Flight Survey

Air travel at Pontiac Municipal Airport and 21 other Michigan airfields is being surveyed for a federal agency this month.

Similar to an origin-destination study of highway traffic, the survey is designed to insure safe use of available air space, Homer Hoskins, airport director, explained.

"All incoming and outgoing flights, their destinations and points of origin, local or itinerant, are being recorded for a four-day period," Hoskins said.

Civil Air Patrol personnel began the Pontiac survey yesterday for the new Federal Aviation Agency, which aims to collect similar information on air traffic throughout the nation.

Other airports already under survey are in Flint, Almont, Warren, Milan, Big Beaver, Birmingham, Ann Arbor, Detroit and Wayne County.

Former Marshal Files $250,000 Suit for Slander

ST. JOSEPH (UPI) — The mayor of Berrien Springs, four members of the village council, two newspapers and a radio station have been named defendants in a $250,000 slander suit filed in circuit court yesterday.

The suit was filed by former Berrien Springs Village Marshal Walter J. Pierson, who was ousted by the village council last November.

Named as defendants were Mayor Edward Kesterke, councilmen Lionel Stacey, William Thompson, Leroy Hand and Richard Bauer and the News Palladium Publishing Co., owner of the Benton Harbor News-Palladium, St. Joseph Herald-Press and radio station WHFB, Benton Harbor.

The suit contends the newspapers and radio station published and broadcast the alleged slanderous remarks as a news item. The suit contends the council conspired to hold him up for public scorn.

Mental Health Board Raps Probing Legislators

DETROIT (AP)—Members of Michigan's Mental Health Commission were on record today with denunciations of policies of the Phillips legislative investigators.

An official commission report, touching on incident at Coldwater and Traverse City institutions, also was critical, though indirectly.

Together, however, the individual comments of Commission members and the formal report made the legislative probers the clear target.

The formal report said publicity has been harmful to public confidence in state hospitals and to hospital employe morale.

MISSES FULL PICTURE

Charles F. Wagg, director of the State Mental Helth Department, charged the House committee had failed to go into the entire mental health program and instead had become "an investigative body into possible criminal acts."

The commission met here yesterday coincident with the clearing of Traverse City State Hospital in the New Year's Day death of Eldon Mason, a ptient. A Grand Traverse County coroner's and prosecutor's finding was that Mason came to his death accidentally.

"We are reaping the harvest of the Phillips committee," said Dr. Harry August, Detroit psychiatrist who is Commission chairman. "The department has become fair game for any charges, no matter how wild they are."

The house committee, headed by Rep. Harry Phillips (R-Port Huron), did not deal with the Traverse City incident. The committee went out of existence Dec. 31.

Just previously, however, the committee had interested itself in incidents at the Coldwater State Home and Training School. Phillips was sharply critical of the institution.

The Commission report defended the hospitals, blaming any faults to be found on "insufficient help" rather than "bad intentions" or "improper care" of patients.

Describing itself as "seriously concerned" over consequences of recent publicity on the Coldwater and Traverse City institutions, the Commission said:

"These consequences are:

(1) An apparent loss of public confidence in the operation of our hospitals and training schools.

(2) A lowering of morale among the employes manning these operations.

CARE STANDARD LOW

"If there is a weakness in the operation of our hospitals which has been ignored in all the maze of charges, it is that the standard of care of patients is too low.

"But this is due principally to insufficient help and not to bad intentions or improper care by the help which is there."

Wagg, in saying the Phillips committee became an investigator of "possible criminal acts," said "I don't feel that was the legislative intent."

Other individual comments came from Evangeline Sheibley of Detroit, a commission member, and Dr. William H. Kelly, assistant director of the state department.

Miss Sheibley complained over "unsubstantiated charges of brutality," demanding "How long do we have to take this?"

Dr. Kelly said the Coldwater school had been unfairly presented to the public.

Investigate Arson in Davisburg Fire

Oakland County sheriff's deputies have called a Pontiac arson expert into their investigation of a fire which ripped through a restaurant and apartment in Davisburg early Friday morning.

Allen Tunny, assistant Pontiac fire marshall, joined investigators today as they went through the ruins searching for clues too the origin of the blaze.

The fire, which broke out at about 1:15 a.m., raced through the Polkadot Restaurant and a four-room apartment over an adjoining barbershop. Damage was estimated at $8,000.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Guthrie, who lived in the apartment, were awakened by the blast of a train whistle in time to escape their burning apartment safely.

Deputies said they were suspicious about the exact cause of the fire and plan to make a thorough investigation.

2 Pontiac Area Brothers Freed on $5,000 Bonds

Two Pontiac area brothers were held under $5,000 bond each today in Cadillac after waiving justice court examination on burglary charges.

The brothers were arrested minutes after they left the tavern. Police found $225 and a quantity goods taken from the tavern in their car.

Hoffa Cancels His Convention

Acts After Judge Letts Postpones Order to Boost Monitors' Power

Hoffa announced the cancellation Friday shortly after a federal judge postponed issuing an order that would arm the monitors with power to compel Hoffa to obey reform recommendations.

This order, approved informally last Dec. 11 by U.S. District Judge F. Dickenson Letts, also would bar Hoffa from calling a union convention until Letts said he could.

In cancelling the convention, which had been scheduled for March 16-18 in Chicago, Hoffa said the Teamsters constitution required delegates to be chosen 90 days in advance.

"Because of spending litigation as to whether the Teamsters can have such a convention or not this would make the March convention impossible," Hoffa told a reporter.

This was a reference to the court order, initiated by the monitors, which Letts was to have signed Friday. The judge postponed the signing pending the outcome of action before the U.S. Court of Appeals aimed at letting the nion convention go on as scheduled.

The appeals court action was filed earlier this week by two New York Teamsters. Teamsters Atty. Edward Bennett Williams disavowed any union connection with it and said he will join with Martin F. O'Donoghue, chairman of the monitors, in asking Monday that it be dismissed.

In Chicago, Atty. Godfrey P. Schmidt, another member of the three-man monitoring board, told newsmen there might be a Teamsters convention and election of officers in about six months.

"Then," he said, "we'll get rid of James R. Hoffa and all his cohorts."

A 31-year-old Waterford Township man was reported in critical condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital this morning after being overcome by fumes from a can of metal solvent which he tipped over while working.

Police officers said the body of Edward Shaw, of 6401 Elizabeth Lake Rd., was discovered at 8 a.m. on the floor of the Auto Electric Shop, 367 S. Saginaw, where he is employed.

He apparently was working when he knocked over the can and was eventually overcome by the fumes, police said. They said he had not been home last night.

The mother remained at home.

Mrs. T. De la Vega, the midwife, said she delivered the first baby without excitement. The arval of the second got her a little excited and when the third one came she called the fire and police departments.

Alyea Murder Trial to Continue Tuesday

Testimony will continue Tuesday as the prosecution seeks to show that 35-year-old Raymond L. Alyea beat and stabbed to death Anthony J. Jasinski after he allegedly stole some $100 from the Southfield nursery night watchman.

Assistant Oakland County Prosecutor William E. Lang said he will continue to call a stream of witnesses as the first-degree murder trial of Alyea proceeds into its third day.

Some six witnesses have gone to the stand so far in Circuit Judge William J. Beer's courtroom to describe events before and after a gardner at the Ilgenfritz Nurseries Inc., 22951 Northwestern Highway, Southfield, found Jasinski's battered body Aug. 1.

Alyea's attorney, William R. Beasley of Ferndale, attempted during cross-examination Friday to show that his client was not in desperate need of money, as the prosecution contends, because he had been successful "playing the horses."

Rural women in Turkey, those who worked in the fields, once wore veils only on holidays and similar special occasions.

It Seems to Me . . . .

World Will Have to Be Patient to See Whose Side Castro's On

This Cuban situation still presents a bit of a puzzle to the world at large —and to the United States in particular.

Certainly it isn't within the province of nations to tell brother countries who should rule and who shouldn't. For definite reasons, recognition is denied trouble makers, but the general premise still holds: i. e. that each nation is entitled to adopt the form of government that suits its own people the best.

FULGENCIO BATISTA has never particularly qualified as the most popular ruler extant, that's for sure. He was a dictator and a militant autocrat all the way. For a time, it looked as though the general populace was willing to accept him, even though they didn't place him on a pedestal and bow in obeisance. A couple years ago I talked to Cuban taxi drivers, hotel men and shopkeepers. They seemed to accept BATISTA with a shrug of their gracious Cuban shoulders and an apparent air of indifference.

However, throughout this period Fidel Castro kept a running fire of opposition. He charged Batista with all the crimes the average dictator commits; and probably the wily head man was guilty of most. In general, his government was regarded as one that ruled by might and he intended to have it that way. Hence, when he fled ignominiously, there were widespread huzzahs. The sight of any dictator in full flight with coat tails flying is a rather heartening spectacle.

How about Castro?

Is he a bargain?

Some of BATISTA'S critics have started marching arm in arm with the new regime and singing the national anthem as the Cuban flag flies high, but is everything actually sweetness and light?

Is it?

Remember, this self-same Castro or his personal henchmen kidnaped some of our own people and a parcel of Canadians and tacitly suggested the U. S. of America go jump in the turbulent sea. This is the same chap that declared just a few years ago that if he came into power, he would take over American owned utilities and then divide American sugar acreage among the Cuban peasants.

Is this international law?

Shortly after the coup d'etat became an accomplished fact, one of CASTRO'S hand-picked boys declared that these ideas were completely in error and CASTRO had revised his thinking. He would observe the sanctity of ownership and international relations. Well, will he? And how long would it be before he reversed himself again and decided the first idea was better—for Cuba—and for him?

These are moot questions.

Also, Castro has uttered many things that tend to place the stamp of communism on his bushy bosom. Those thoughts still linger.

Cuba's provisional president, Manuel Urrutia Lleo, has made some vigorous assertions regarding his own friendship for this country and he has been sharply critical of the Communists. This is heartening. But I believe it might be the part of wisdom to sit back patiently until these frenzied opportunists get through sputtering and settle down to the real business of running Cuba.

Are they on our side basically?

Do they secretly support Russia?

Let's let the facts speak for themselves.

And in Conclusion . . . .

Washington channels are hinting that the President will visit Alaska in 1959 . . . . . Latest movie returns suggest DORIS DAY will soon stand first as the top box office attraction . . . . . I still recall 40 years ago when the Boston police force struck and the Governor stepped in and fired everyone — the whole force. AND NO ONE EVER GOT HIS JOB BACK. That Governor's name was CALVIN COOLIDGE . . . . . No one has asked me but I think Premier ANASTAS MIKOYAN was sent here to cause as much trouble and confusion as possible. Those that played into the Communist hands may have red faces in the future. The great New York News says giving aid and comfort to an enemy nation could just as easily be construed as treason in times of peace as in actual war.

Fortune magazine discusses the 221 killings and 192 attempted murders on TV in ONE WEEK! In addition there were "scores of robberies, kidnapings and attempted lynchings." David Susskind says: "It's a tremendously uphill fight to get good programming on the air — basically against the network executives." When all contributions to juvenile delinquency are finally appraised, where will this particular moral morass rank? Overheard at a church guild meeting: (bride speaking): ". . . . and I'm pretty sore. He claims I can't thaw out a dinner as well as his mother."

Purely personal nomination for an especially attractive young woman. HELEN MILLER of Lake Park Drive . . . . . I took a real interest in BATISTA'S demise. A couple years ago the Inter-American Press Association met in Cuba and the island saw a shooting fracas which resulted in a dozen midtown deaths. BATISTA gave our President, JAMES STAHLMAN, well known Nashville publisher, a personal bodyguard wherever he went. One noon we lunched several miles out in the country and ELIZABETH and I rode out with the STAHLMANS. We had an armed car escorting us in front and another behind; and that's a thrill of sorts, especially with the rebels on the warpath.

The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

"Every time I hear of any child drowning I cry, for this could have been avoided if the youngster had been taught to swim."

These are the words of Gertrude Ederle, who 32 years ago became the first woman to swim the English Channel and now spends her time teaching children how to swim, trying to give back a measure of the triumph that life has given to her.

In her famous swim, training, courage and faith made her carry on when a storm suddenly erupted in the channel, churning up 15-foot waves. The red ball of warning went up for small craft. Her father bargained with the captain of the escort tug to continue. But her trainer asked her to give up.

"Quit?" she answered. "I came here to swim the channel, not to attempt it."

As the storm raged and fatigue racked her body, Gertrude Ederle silently prayed: "Please, God, if it be Thy will, give me the strength and courage to carry on."

As Both Parties Gear for House Power Fight

Signs of Split Among State Dems

By GEORGE WEEKS

LANSING (UPI) — A split appears to be developing in Democratic ranks as both parties gear for a power struggle over House controls next week.

Democrats, who gained a 55-55 deadlock with Republican membership in the Nov. 4 election, are expected to remain solid so far as their demands for the right to organize the House when the Legislature convenes Wednesday.

But there's a struggle within the Democratic membership.

It could topple Rep. Louis Mezzano (D-Wakefield) from his position of party leadership and ranking as one of the "big four" of the Legislature.

Rep. George M. Van Peursem (R-Zeeland), outgoing House speaker, probably will be picked as GOP House leader if the speakership goes to Democrats.

In the upper chamber, Sen. Frank Beadle (R-St. Clair) already has been named majority leader and Sen. Harold Ryan (D-Detroit) emerged as minority leader.

The battle for designation as Mr. Democrat" in the House appears to be between Mezzano, Reps. Joseph J. Kowalski (D-Detroit) and M. J. O'Brien (D-Detroit), with Charles Raap (D-Twin Lake) a dark horse hopeful.

Mezzano, with the solid backing of Upper Peninsula Democrats, just nudged Kowalski for the leadership post.

This year, there are signs of a break in the once-close Upper Peninsula delegation. One Mezzano supporter said he no longer is counting on the support of Reps. Dominic Jacobetti (D-Negaunee) and Gilbert L. Wales (D-Stambaugh).

This normally would make Kowalski a shoo-in. But there's a strong anti-Kowalski bloc—a factor that could swing strength to O'Brien as a compromise candidate.

Mezzano, Kowalski and O'Brien have shared the spotlight so far during caucus talks and negotiations with Republicans over House control.

The stakes for Democratic leadership are higher this year than they have been for more than 20 years. Democrats have an even chance for at least an even split of House control.

Leaders of both sides tried to negotiate a basis for compromise agreement but gave up with the realization any agreement could be upset by the absence of any one of the 110 House members next week.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Try This Imagination Exercise

Calvin's question leads to the unusual conjectures outlined below. If you really want to stretch your imagination, then re-read this Case Record and discuss it in Sunday School. Scrapbook it, too, for future meditation. Our modern ideas of Heaven are expanding rapidly with new scientific discoveries. Theology is expanding like modern medicine.

"Dr. Crane, how many people would volunteer," he began, "if it meant riding a rocket to Mars or Venus?

DR. CRANE

"And especially if they knew they would never get back to Earth?

"We were discussing this in school and three of the boys said they'd go, but I wonder if they wouldn't back out at the last minute?

"Were they just boasting to impress the girls?"

SPACE TRIPS

This very day over 1,000 American men and women, boys and girls, are taking off on one-way space trips! They will not return to Earth!

And tomorrow another 1,000 will do likewise. For that is what happens at death, if you believe in a hereafter.

The Roman Catholic Church teaches that Heaven is a geographical place, and many Protestants do likewise.

Even the American Indians held such a view with their concept of the "Happy Hunting Grounds."

And modern science tends to corroborate that view in many ways, for Dr. Harlow Shapley, ex-director of Harvard's great observatory, estimates that there may be 100 quintillion stars in the known universe.

Our sun is just an average star. And to grasp what a quintillion means, just remember we go from million to billion to trillion to quadrillion to quintillion.

Dr. Shapley believes that if only one star per trillion is like our own star (sun), then there are at least 100,000,000 other planets like this Earth which may have life thereon!

In case you ever get conceited, just try to visualize 100 million other Earths like our own with the many problems thereon.

Do they argue over integration of schools and Taft-Hartley laws on any of these other planets?

Are they troubled with drunken driving and auto accidents or "cold" wars and confiscatory taxes? Or Capitalism vs. Communism?

WHAT IS DEATH?

Is Heaven like a "progressive party" here on Earth where we move from one planet to another in a series of promotions that makes a piker out of the eight grades in grammar school and the four years of senior high?

The next time you lose a loved one by death, try to visualize that person as simply having made a one-way trip to a distant planet in some other star's orbit.

For that may be where Heaven is located!

If life is an eternal thing, then we certainly don't sit in sub-zero temperatures playing golden harps, but probably carry right onward in a continual expansion of our Earthly personality.

Death is thus a graduation. Our personality moves onward to the next classroom in God's Cosmic School System.

If our personality (soul) thus goes to another inhabited planet called Heaven, what medium of travel does it use to get there?

Space ships are expected to travel maybe 50,000 miles per hour. But light and electricity travel 186,000 miles per second.

Yet, even at that terrific speed, it would require 1,000 years for us to reach some of the distant stars if we traveled on ether waves.

So what else would get us there instantly? What can travel faster than light? Nothing to my knowledge but thought.

You can thus imagine yourself on a distant star in a split second, though it might take a light beam 1,000 years to get there!

So does the soul travel on a different medium than the ether waves? Discuss this tomorrow.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

One That Does

The Green Empress

CHAPTER XXIII

Angus did not feel that the incidents had any connection with one another. He had believed Maurice Tarrant when he said that he had not tried the bolts of the garage door.

Tarrant might have taken the dispatch case, he had certainly tried to enter the garage—but it was impossible to imagine his going to the trouble of removing his own luggage.

If he carried joking to those lengths, he would be certifiable, thought Angus — and there was nothing about the man that suggested a lack of intelligence. He was a nuisance, but he was not a fool.

For a moment, he thought that Mr. Holt was going to enlarge upon his theory, but at that moment, the admiral came down the stairs and spoke to Angus.

"Look here," he said. "I don't pretend to be one of those detective chaps who give away nothing for thirteen chapters and then give a long history of the case, but I do know this, something shady's going on.

"And if I'm not a detective, I'm something better: I'm a man of action."

"Do we need action?" asked Mr. Holt.

"It might come to that," said the admiral. "Has it struck either of you that the thief might have got into the wrong room?"

CARTLOAD OF JEWELS

"That had occurred to me," said Mr. Holt.

"That Zoller woman next door," went on the admiral, "has a whole cartload of jewels, and doesn't mind telling you what they're worth.

"And that seems odd to me. Women don't as a rule advertise the value of trinkets they're carrying 'round. They—"

He paused. Angela was coming down the stairs; she joined the men and addressed Angus.

"Maurice is making a bit of trouble upstairs," she said.

"What sort of trouble?" demanded the admiral.

"He says it's absurd of Angus not to delay the coach for a day, and he's trying to get the others on his side."

"Well, he won't get me," stated the admiral flatly. "I'm sorry he's lost his luggage, but we can't sit here indefinitely, waiting for the thieves to return it."

"He says he wants time to get some new clothes," said Angela. "He says he won't go on tomorrow. He's going to get through to the Empress headquarters and make a—a strong representation."

"Ha," snorted the admiral. "Well, I've made some strong representations m'self in m'time, and I'm going upstairs to make another one now.

'WATCH THE FUN'

"I'm not going to have my business run for me by a whippersnapper like Tarrant."

He marched up the stairs, and Angela looked after him with a smile.

"I hoped he was going to say damned Young Puppy," she said.

"I'll go up and watch the fun," said Mr. Holt.

"You're worried," she said to Angus, when they were alone.

"I'm puzzled."

She waited, but he said no more. He wanted time to think. Suspicions, as vague as they were unlikely, were beginning to stir in the depths of his mind. Out of the confusion, certain facts were beginning to emerge.

He heard Angela's voice.

"Do you think anyone's up to anything . . . anything serious?" she asked slowly.

"I wish I knew." With an effort, he went on speaking lightly. "Whatever it is, it can't be too serious. The whole thing seems to me to be on the practical joke level."

"Are you going upstairs to see what's going on?"

"I know what's going on. If Tarrant succeeds in finding any supporters, and if they want me, they can come and look for me.

"And in the meantime" — he smiled—"we're in Burgos and the sun is shining and there's a Cathedral you haven't seen. Will you have lunch with me?"

"Of course."

But first, there were the police to see. There were questions to be answered, details to be given. It was well after noon when Angus was at last free to leave the building.

He went to Angela's room and found her ready to go out. With her was Miss Seton, trim and cool in a linen suit. At Angus's heels came Mr. Holt.

"I'm ready," Miss Seton told him, and looked at Angus. "Are you taking Angela sight-seeing?"

"If you're starting off with the Cathedral," suggested Mr. Holt, "why don't we make four of us? I'll be the guide."

'I KNOW CATHEDRAL'

"No, Angus will," said Angela.

"No, I will," said Mr. Holt. I know this Cathedral like I know my own home."

"It's a beautiful Cathedral," said Miss Seton.

"It should be," he said. It took three hundred years to build. Come on, let's go." He ushered them out into the corridor. "Wait till I tell you about Plateresque and Romanesque and Baroque and Rococo, not to mention Ciborium and retablos."

"Goodness!" said Miss Seton.

"Tell me," requested Mr. Holt, on their way downstairs, "how much do you know about the Cid."

"The——?"

"You mean you want me to tell you?"

"No, wait. He's the national hero," said Angela. "Why bring him up now?"

Mr. Holt led them out on to the street.

"Because this is his country. Ask Angus. No, don't ask Angus, let me tell you. This is the country of Le Cid. You're walkling this minute along roads that his horse's feet trod.

"You're in Burgos, and Burgos was once the capital of Castile, and Castile is the country of the Cid and ——" He stopped and stared. "Well, well, well; if it isn't the admiral and Mrs. Denby-Warre."

"Off to the Cathedral?" inquired the admiral, lifting his Panama hat in deference to the ladies."

"Yes. Are you coming too?" Angela asked them.

"We shall look," objected Mrs. Denby-Warre, "like a conducted tour."

'THAT'S WHAT WE ARE'

"And that," said Mr. Holt, "is just what we are. You-all are the tour, and I'm the conductor. This way, if you please."

"Did you know," asked the admiral, falling into line, "that this place Burgos is over 2,780 feet above sea level?"

"I knew," said Mr. Holt. "If you'd stayed here in mid-winter, you'd know too. If you——"

Once more he stopped. The whole party halted and stared in amazement at the extraordinary apparition coming towards them.

It was Maurice Tarrant. He was wearing tight black trousers and a short coat, on his head was a Sevillano hat. He looked very happy and very handsome.

"When in Rome," he informed them airily, "I invariably put on my toga."

He posed obligingly while Angela and Miss Seton took snaps of him.

"Where were you all going?" he inquired. "Not sight-seeing?"

"Why not?" asked Mr. Holt. "There's a Cathedral over there and it's got inside it sixty tombs, forty-four altars and one hundred statues. We—"

"There's a little place over there," said Maurice, "where you can get vino at about half a crown a quart."

"I was going to say," said Mr. Holt, "that we weren't, naturally, thinking of going sight-seeing on dry stomachs. Where did you say this place was?"

"Follow me," said Maurice.

They followed him.

LIKE SIESTA IDEA

Angus, with some difficulty, got Angela to himself for lunch. Thereafter, they were not likely to be disturbed, for between lunch and six o'clock the Spanish enjoyed a siesta, and most of the Empress passengers seemed to think the example good enough to follow.

Only Miss Seton and Mr. Holt were left seated together at a table in the deserted square, intent and absorbed, and oblivious of Angela and Angus, who passed close by them.

Arrest, Release Victim's Mate

Mutilation Slaying of Woman in St. Louis Remains Mystery

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The mutilation slaying of Mrs. Ruth Ann Montague, 32, mother and social worker, apparently remained unsolved today after police arrested and then released her husband.

Charles E. Montague, 34, a former mental patient who says he's troubled by migraine headaches, was arrested at the home of a friend Friday night and booked on a charge of suspicion of homicide. Early today he was released.

Police declined a detailed explanation. They did say Montague was arrested after a taxicab driver told of taking a man of his general description to a tavern on the night of the slaying. They said the driver told of picking the man up about 10 blocks from the scene shortly after the time police have determined the slaying took place. The cabbie was unable to make positive identification after seeing Montague, police added.

Mrs. Montague's body was found in the back seat of her car 13 hours after she left a sorority party last Tuesday night. The car was parked across the street from a private residence where the party was held.

The woman had been strangled, apparently with two lengths of rope found nearby. She was fully clothed, except that her shoes had been removed and her stockings rolled down.

Montague, who stands about 6 feet and weighs about 200 pounds is a laboratory technician. He had been married 11 years, and the couple had two children, Douglas, 10, and Linda Ann, 9. They lived in one of the city's better districts and her brother, Donald Jones, said he knew of no trouble between them.

Winter Dip Freezes Tail of 305-Pound Ostrich

NEW YORK (AP) — Ostriches can be pretty peculiar birds sometimes and that's why Doreen has frozen plumes.

Late Wednesday, Doreen went out to take her little dip as usual but this time her beloved pond wasn't like it usually was. It was frozen over.

That didn't stop Doreen, however. She went clomping right on out, and crash, through the ice went all 305 pounds of her. When zookeepers spotted Doreen all they could see was her neck and head poking above the icy water. She was looking pretty miserable, too.

It took quite a bit of doing but the zoo people finally got her out by pushing ladders out on the ice until they could hoist her. They lugged her, frozen stiff, back to the ostrich house.

After the ice was chipped from her feathers, Doreen was bedded in warm, dry straw for the night. She seemed fairly chipper despite all, but when morning came Thursday it was found that she couldn't stand up. She apparently hadn't regained the proper circulation in her big, long legs.

That problem stumped zoo experts for a while, until somebody hit on an idea for a kind of hammock which would hold up her body but permit her feet to touch the floor. That way Doreen could begin using her legs again even though she couldn't support herself.

It worked. At last report Doreen was beginning to kick around somewhat.

No, Just a Meteoric Fireball

Sparks in Sky–Tax Rate?

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—A fireball trailed sparks across West Texas and New Mexico Friday night, startling some satellite-conscious residents but drawing a caustic wisecrack from rancher Marvin Rivers.

"I thought it was the latest tax rate," he said in a call from his ranch west of Roswell.

Dr. Lincoln Lapaz, meteoriticist at the University of New Mexico, explained:

"This is very probably just an ordinary meteor shower which occurs at this time of year. I think we're dealing with a meteoric fireball."

Observers said the thing moved from the northeast to the southwest in a straight, flat line, appeared to shade from white to red, trailed a white tail and disappeared in a second or two.

In Bid for World Recognition

Algerians to Step Up Terrorism

By ANDREW BOROWIEC

TUNIS (AP) — Thwarted in the field by the French army, the Algerian rebels are considering stepped-up terrorism to support their four-year effort to win independence from France.

The rebels already are intensifying efforts to obtain wider international recognition for their cause. The Arab nations support them and a rebel delegation recently heard encouraging words in Communist China.

Rebel leaders who use Tunisia as a sanctuary concede that they have been hampered by the Morice Line, a French barrier of mines and electrified barbed wire on Algeria's Tunisian border. They call the line a formidable obstacle but deny French claims that it has cut rebel border movements by 95 per cent.

The rebels also have suffered from growing French penetration into the Algerian countryside with social and economic programs which French President De Gaulle is counting on to win over the people. The programs already have reduced the rebel appeal to Algeria's nine million Moslems.

These factors and the dragging on of the rebellion without an end in sight seem to be creating a serious morale problem within the rebel army.

One highly placed staff officer admitted that "several hundred of our men recently refused to go to the front and had to be arrested." This tended to back up French reports in Algeria of rebellion in rebel ranks.

The French say a number of young rebel fighters here want action or out. French sources also contend the field units are bitter about the comparatively easy life of their political leaders in Tunis, Cairo and Switzerland.

Both Tunisian and rebel officials deny French reports of trouble between rebel units in western Tunisia and the civilians living there.

As an answer to their field problems, rebel leaders indicate they are considering more terrorist attacks on important French military and civilian leaders.

On the diplomatic front, the rebels would like more recognition for their provisional government in Cairo.

A spokesman for that government Friday denied reports current in Tunis that the Soviet Union had invited rebel ministers to Moscow. But rebel leaders here make it clear they would appreciate such an invitation as a possible prelude to Soviet recognition.

Americans who keep an eye on Algerian rebel diplomacy do not think the rebels are Communist or even Communist sympathizers. "But at this stage they are ready to appeal for help to anyone," one U.S. official said.

Gunmen Elude 300 Policemen

2 Use Sailor Uniforms to Fool Lawmen After Menacing Family

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two young desperadoes who held a family hostage six hours and then donned sailor uniforms to slip through a police blockade, were still at large today.

The search for the two gunmen spread out through Southern California after it became clear they had escaped from 300 police officers making a house-to-house search through a square-mile section of suburban Anaheim.

The officers were called in from a dozen neighboring communities when the two youths vanished Thursday night after a gun fight with a policeman who tried to arrest them for a $60 liquor store holdup.

Twice during the night officers searching every house and yard in the vicinity where they disappeared called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Havey to ask if everything was all right. Twice Mrs. Havey, 27, assured them it was.

What the officers didn't know was that the two fugitives, one armed with a shotgun and the other with a pistol, stood with their guns aimed at Mrs. Havey's two children and her husband. They had threatened to shoot unless she kept the police from entering.

Also in the house were Harvey's nephew, and two of his Navy shipmates from the cruiser USS St. Paul. From 11:30 p.m. until 5:30 a.m. the gunmen held them captive. At dawn they put on sailor uniforms and forced Mrs. Havey to drive them through the police lines thrown up in the area.

Mrs. Havey was released unharmed at the home of a cousin in an adjoining town. The men gave her back the sailor outfits —having changed into their own clothes in the car.

It was a boat.

Becoming airborne on a 60 m.p.h. wind, the 14-foot aluminum boat sailed nearly half a block before it smacked into the windshield of Schechter's car.

Damage to the car was estimated at $300.

Expects Support of Joint Chiefs

Ike Believes They'll Back 'Economy Budget' for Defense

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Times said today that President Eisenhower expects the Joint Chiefs of Staff to support beore Congress the "economy budget" for defense forecast in his State of the Union message.

The Times, in a Washington dispatch by Jack Raymond, said confidence in the chiefs' backing was the result of an unannounced dinner meeting with them at the White House on Dec. 2.

When the meeting was over, the newspaper said, "it was the President's understanding that he had won the chiefs' support for the budget and that they would endorse it, however regretfully, as the best possible, when Congress holds its annual budget hearings."

At the dinner meeting, it was said, the President "had it out" with the chiefs on many of the expensive items mentioned in the President's budget message.

Earlier, the Times said, there were intimations from the Pentagon that the military chiefs would seize on the opportunity to appear before Congress and "dispute the wisdom of the budget."

May Say 'No' to Request

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: What can a hostess say when a guest (a man) calls and asks her if he may bring a woman friend to a party that she is giving? Must she be polite and say it is quite all right to bring her, or could she refuse without seeming rude, and if so how can this be done without offending?"

Answer: The hostess may with propriety say that she is very sorry but she hasn't enough men to balance the women she has invited as it is and simply cannot have another woman.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Could you tell me if it is proper to interrup someone to say 'hello' when two people are talking together? For example: Two women are talking together, and a friend of one of them comes along. Is it proper for her to say 'hello' or should she just go by without saying anything, so as not too interrupt their conversation?"

Answer: If she looks in your direction you would naturally say "hello" and pass on and not interrupt their conversation. If she is engrossed in conversation and not looking in your direction, you would go by without even saying "hello!"

"Dear Mrs. Post: Would it be possible to write on the inside envelope of our wedding invitations: "Mr. and Mrs. Brown only"? I know that if I don't, many people will bring not only their half-grown, but very young children to the wedding. They always do!

"Furthermore, if some bring their children, the others who have sense enough not to do so without an invitation, may then feel hurt and think it was only theirs who were not invited."

Answer: It is better to say on the invitations, "Deeply regret impossible to include any children."

Don't Pull Any Punches—Abby

Let Widow Ask Beau if He's Single; He'll Respect Her for Requiring Proof

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY": Mother is 48 (widowed) and is seeing a lot of a man in his fifties. She's had him to our home for dinner several times, and, Abby, perhaps I am a bit too suspicious, but whenever I ask him if he's married he never gives a straight YES or NO answer. He laughs it off and says 'Would I be here if I were?' Yet he never accepts a dinner invitation for a Sunday or a holiday.

ABBY

"He's never introduced my mother to one person who knows him and when he takes her out it is always to some out-of-the-way place. Is there some way I can find out definitely if he is married or not? We can't afford to hire a private detective. Mother agrees to check on him if we can do it without his knowing it. How?" — NO NAME PLEASE

DEAR NO: Your mother should come right out and ASK him to prove that he is a single man. If he is SINGLE he can easily prove it and should respect her all the more for not wishing to keep company with a married man. If he is married — good riddance.

"DEAR ABBY: I was very angry with the man who blames his wife for giving him nine sons but no daughters. Doesn't he know that the sex of a child is the MAN'S fault (or credit) every time? Queens have been divorced and women made to feel guilty for not 'giving' their husbands a son. For those who don't know their biology, please state in big bold letters that the MALE is responsible for what the FEMALE produces."

BIOLOGY MAJOR

"DEAR ABBY: How can you tactfully refuse invitations from a wonderful person who has a bore of a husband? I see her several times during the week because our children are good friends and PTA, church work and Scouting brings us together.

"We spent one evening together with our husbands and my husband said, 'NEVER AGAIN.' And I agreed with him. All we did was play children's card games (Old Maid and Steal the Pack) and when we tried to teach him simple Gin Rummy, he couldn't even remember that the Ace was 'one.' She keeps asking us over and I am running out of excuses. Please help me, ABBY." — NEEDS HELP

DEAR NEEDS: Thank her sincerely for the invitations but tell her you are married to one of those men who doesn't "socialize" much in the evenings.

Reach for Beauty

First Step Most Important One

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

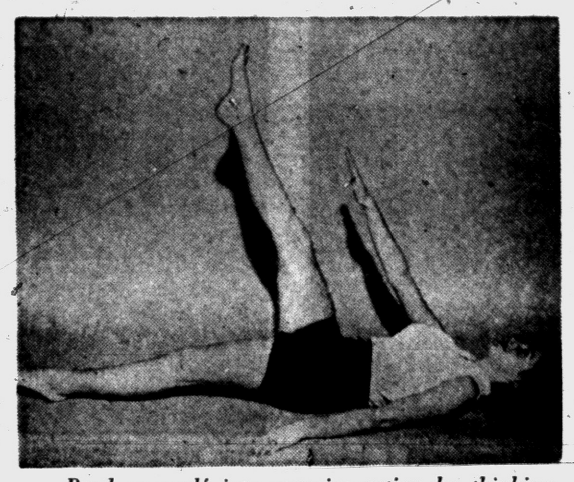
Did you miss it last year—my 8-Week Self-Improvement Marathon? Many women use Marathon once every year at this time as a regular part of their beauty routines, just as they have manicures and shampoos periodically.

Perhaps you planned to do so last january and procrastinated about sending off for the booklet, or maybe you got one and then all sorts of things happened which made it seem impossible to make use of it at that time.

Life does that to us. Things seem to happen in bunches. The cleaning woman is ill just when guests are expected. About that time little Jimmy Breaks his arm and Susie breaks out with the measles. On and on it goes.

But the truth of the matter is that it is easy to think up excuses for putting off a beauty routine. Do not do that to yourself! If you do not take a step in the right direction today, you probably never will!

Prod yourself into action by thinking of how lovely it would be to be 15 or 20 pounds lighter just eight short weeks from now. Also, concentrate on the wonderful by-products of more energy, more self-confidence, more fun buying clothes, a prettier complexion and a better proportioned figure. Remember, too, the youthful feeling which accompanies a loss of matronly, uncomfortable pounds.



Prod yourself into exercise action by thinking how lovely it would be to be 15 or 20 pounds lighter just eight short weeks from now.

Most important, your health may be at stake. Statistics are definite in their evidence that overweight shortens life expectancy and may well lay the foundation for the chronic diseases of middle and older years.

Extra pounds make one more susceptible to heart disease, high blood pressure and diabetes. It places a strain on every organ in your body. Why not get rid of it now?

Wrapped up in Marathon are eight weeks of comparatively easy diet and exercise along with specific, directed help which women need to tackle what otherwise looks like an endless and difficult (if not hopeless) task.

If you would like the Marathon booklet, send ten cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Pioneer Women Forced to Try Sand Shampoos

Necessity is the mother of invention very often. The opening of the West around 1840, in the new country brought about changes in hair styles as well as hair care.

Because short hair and braids, too, were simple and easy to care for, they became the style. Then the simplest curls possible — bangs in ringlets—became the rage.

In many sections of the country water was scarce. While washing dishes with sand, as they trekked across the plains, the women decided sand could also be used to clean the hair. And so, friction shampoos come into being.

Ladies Accented Eyes During 1909

Fifty years ago, the flakey, brownish-black charcoal of a burnt matchstick and a dash of rouge across the eyelids was the only eye make up even high-fashioned women used.

The cumbersome and irritating flame-cooked eyelash make up of the theater, which beaded the eyelashes, was too daring and took more skill to apply than the boldest woman wished to tackle.

Ask Physcian What's Your Right Weight

Strange as it may be, a doctor usually knows what weight is right for a woman.

And, as one matures, it is wise to check with a competent physician about what weight is most healthful for you.

In some cases it may be a few more pounds than a girl would like to slip into her girdle. But chances are she will feel better for the added poundage.

Faulty Dieting Hurts Nerves

Women who decide what they want to look like and then trim off excess weight by not eating, or existing on coffee and cigarettes, are fighting a losing battle.

Instead of a more attractive appearance, they wear the strained look which poor diet and resulting raw nerves breed.

Chapeau Recalls Elegance

In France, in the early years of the Nineteenth Century, hats dominated the costume silhouette. Slim, high-waisted dresses falling in soft folds, were topped with poke bonnets with high, arched brims and tall crowns.

Hats went higher and higher, adorned with flowers, ribbons and plumes, until by 1813, ladies' hats had become so tall that they were compelled to hold them on their knees when riding in a carriage.

The newest clothes of 1958 are also derived from the same high-waisted costumes worn by the ladies of Napoleon's court. Hats, too, are influenced by the poke bonnet and other tall-crowned styles worn in that era.

But today's Empire bonnets are of softly draped velvets, fluffy furs, delicate plumage, recalling the elegance of an earlier day.

Long View in Mirror Is Needed

If you have chosen to wear this year's fashionable short skirt, it is important that you consider how it will affect your ensemble as a whole — including your shoe style.

This suggestion is made by a instructor in related arts at a state university.

After you have chosen the style that is most flattering to you, consider the style of the day.

Short skirts tend to make women look taller, since more of the leg area shows. The short woman can use this to her advantage. The tall woman might find a modified version of the short skirt more becoming to her.

Your ensemble is made up of your hat, dress or suit, bag and shoes as well as jewelry and gloves. All these things should harmonize with each other as well as relate to the person wearing them, she states.

"Old Age and Happy Living" was the subject of a talk given by Mrs. Fred Stimpert, president of Pontiac YWCA, at a meeting of the Child Culture Club Thursday. Members met at the South Marshall street home of Mrs. Neil Nelson.

Mrs. Stimpert told how the Golden Age Groups grew out of the YWCA in 1948 with about 20 members and has grown to a membership of 90, to date. Slides were shown of outings in which members all participated.

Wool Blend Shirt Easy to Launder

No more need to deprive the men of the house of wool shirt comfort. Blends of synthetic and wool fibers look like pure wool and are machine washable. Read hand tags on all new clothing carefully.

Controls on new gas water heaters and clothes dryers remove all doubts about shrinkage. You can set the temperature to the specifications of the shirt manufacturer.

Spadea's american designer pattern

Brigance presents the coat dress, one of the most beautifully contained looks of fashion. Marvelous for wear right now under your winter coat, and the ideal spring starter, it is remarkably easy to make.

Shaped to perfection, and lined throughout to hold the shape, it has top stitching detail with loose edges. Note the important shorter sleeve, the collar that curves away from the neck.

For day, choose light-weight tweeds or interesting wool; for dresswear, try ottoman, faille, suiting silks; for resort and summer, it is extremely smart in pique, linen, shantung, novelty cottons.

Sizes	Bust	Waist	Hips Inches	Length From Nape of Neck to Waist

Make Accessory of Velvet Ribbon

There are so many uses for ribbon. Hang an old-fashioned heirloom locket around your neck with a bit of black velvet ribbon—a pretty period look for a strapless evening gown.

Perhaps you have an old pair of earrings that you no longer wear. If so, carefully remove their decoration from the clip and tie on tiny ribbon bows for a gay and amusing accessory.

Housework Goes With a Home, Gals

By RUTH MILLETT

Ninety per cent of the teenage girls polled in a recent survey frankly admitted that they would rather do anything than housework.

In other polls teenage girls have said just as frankly that their main ambition is to get married.

How do you plan to work things out, girls, if you want a home and a husband but don't want to do housework?

Are you going to get a job and tell your husband that since you are earning a pay check, he will have to work side by side with you in the kitchen?

Or do you plan to earn enough so that you can hire a full-time maid to run your house for you?

Or do you just figure that even though you may have to spend your life doing housework you don't have to like it?

None of those three choices is going to make you a very successful homemaker, wife and mother. None of them is going to give the man who marries you the kind of home life he has a right to expect.

Look at it from your future husband's point of view. How would you like it if 90 per cent of teenage boys said they wanted to get married, but they'd rather do anything in the world than support a family for the rest of their lives?

You'd think they were wanting something for nothing if they talked that way, wouldn't you?

Well, that's exactly what you are wanting — something for nothing. You want marriage but you don't want the responsibility of keeping house. You look forward to being a wife but not to being a housewife.

It's a partnership, girls. But it is a partnership that works best when a wife takes pride in making a home, while her husband takes pride in being able to support his family.

Confident Living

Religion, Justice, Ethics Big Issue on Campus

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

There are a lot of wonderful young people in this country. I have met them on not a few university campuses and have to admit that they are leaps ahead of my generation when we were in school. They impress me as more mature and better informed.

PEALE

I'm impressed by their searching questions relative to moral and ethical concepts. They reveal a depth of insight and earnestness that shows they want clear definitions of right and wrong, of justice and injustice.

Moreover, more of them than you might think are trying to live on high moral levels and religion is of top interest on the campus nowadays.

A few years ago I was asked by the president of my national college fraternity to serve as chairman of a committee on morals and manners. We wrote to deans of all the colleges and universities where the fraternity is located asking how the local chapter rated morally and in manners. We told the deans that we wanted the truth with no punches pulled.

Surprisingly, the great majority replied very favorably. Our committee of old grads was apparently fearful that our current active fraternity boys might be labeled as being anything from drunks to educated delinquents.

Well, we should have had more faith in them. Their deans said that basically they are moral, serious, gentlemanly boys. Their academic standards are well up, and in most instances they are credited as being creative influences in their college communities.

FRATERNITY AIMS

The college fraternity is an old institution in American university life. It was organized in the early days by serious-minded students for the purpose of mutual helpfulness. Its ritual, like those of adult fraternal orders, is based on Biblical background, and the highest idealism is taught to the brothers at a time and under circumstances of greatest susceptibility.

Fraternities have a much deeper purpose than mere collegiate socializing. On the wall of one fraternity house hangs a picture of the late Methodist Bishop Joseph C. Hartzel and below it his words "Fraternity among men is of God."

The late vice president of the United States Thomas R. Marshall said, "The forces that have been greatest in my life have been God and the college fraternity that molded me." Such was the emphasis in early days and this idealism still prevails.

One day recently I was looking at my old college yearbook. It showed a picture of my fraternity chapter. One by one I went down the rows of boys, now long since men. I was impressed to realize that everyone of them had turned out well. Not a one went bad.

And believe me some of them were "plenty worried about" when they were in college, including the writer of this column.

So when I went back to the old fraternity house some time ago and had dinner and an evening with the brothers, I was really thrilled by the high grade boys they are. Maybe I'm getting old and sentimental, but I must admit that as I came down the old walk where my boyish feet once trod, there was a mist in my eye.

Say what you will, young Americans in my book are still a great breed of men.

Methodists List $8 Million in '58 for College Use

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Methodists of the United States gave more than $8,375,000 for current operation of their colleges and other educational institutions in the 1957-58 fiscal year, the denomination's commission on higher education was informed.

Dr. John O. Gross, Nashville, Tenn., director of the commission, told the annual meeting Thursday that the figure was an increase of more than $1,250,000 over the previous year.

He reported that in addition to colleges the funds were contributed to Methodist-related universities, theological schools, secondary schools, and Wesley foundations, which are Methodist student centers at state and independent colleges and universities. He said a total of 17 educational institutions are related to the Methodist Board of Education.

Dr. Gross reported the church had more than $947,000,000 invested in institutions of higher learning at the end of the 1957-58 fiscal year.

Central Downs Bay City, 58-48; Northern Romps in Home Opener

Prosperous 1st Period Carries PCH to Victory

Bandy and Barge Pace Chiefs to 3rd Valley Basketball Win

By BILL CORNWELL

BAY CITY — A scorching first quarter and dogged determination enabled the Pontiac Central basketball team to hurdle a threatening barrier here last night.

Hotter than a Fourth of July firecracker for the opening eight minutes and frequently sloppy for the remaining 24, the Chiefs fought off an aggressive Bay City Central squad for an important Saginaw Valley Conference win.

The Chiefs opened up a wide lead in the first period and held on for dear life against the rallying Wolves to annex a 58-48 decision.

Deadly set shooting by John Bandy and Charlie Barge sent the Chiefs off to a flying start and the big Wolfpack never caught up despite enjoying a home court advantage.

Victory preserved Central's perfect record. Art Van Ryzin's cagers are now undefeated in five games and the conquest of Bay City was their 3rd in the Saginaw Valley.

On the strength of this win, the Chiefs moved into 1st place in the Valley cage race, half a game ahead of unbeaten Flint Northern which was idle Friday evening.

Northern clashes with city rival Central next Tuesday night in a crucial Valley test, then the Vikings invade Pontiac on Friday for a showdown scrap that should pack the PCH gymnasium.

The Chiefs really started out in high gear last night in the Bay City gym.

With Bandy and Barge firing with unerring authority, PCH enjoyed a 22-point 1st quarter for a 12-point advantage. The hot shooting pair accounted for 20 of those points with each boy netting 10.

Late in the opening stanza the Chiefs had a 14-point edge, but they became careless and foolhardy in the 2nd period, thus allowing the persistent Wolves to whittle their margin.

Central led all the way, although the Wolfpack twice cut the difference to three points.

It was 33-29 at halftime and 33-30 in the early seconds of the 3rd quarter.

The Chiefs hiked their lead to 45-39 entering the final period, but the never say die Wolves narrowed the count back to 45-47. Then the Chiefs went into a highly effective stall and came through with some insurance buckets to pull away from danger.

Two of Central's unsung heroes in this contest were Bill Hayward and little Phil Rabaja. Their scoring output was minor, but they more than made up for that on defense.

Hayward did a stalwart job on the boards and Rabaja was a herculean performer in the back court as he more than once held his ground and broke up a Bay City fast break.

Bandy captured individual game scoring honors with 23 points and Barge came next with 17. Center Bob Bishop, a tower of strength for Bay City, meshed 17 points and teammate John Young added 10.

It was the 3rd consecutive Valley loss for the Wolves after a season opening non-conference win over Midland.

In last night's only other Valley game, Saginaw defeated city foe Arthur Hill, 67-61. Flint Central routed Midland, 60-38, in non league activity.

South Lyon Remains Unbeaten With Ease

South Lyon just had a tight workout in posting its 6th straight victory last night. The Lions walloped Pinckney 56-30.

Thirteen different players had a hand in the scoring with none in double figures for the winners.

Waterford Bows 47-44, Southfield Nips Vikings

Skippers Scare Berkley

Waterford and Walled Lake put up big battles against the Inter-Lakes League's two pre-season favorites but still came out on the short end of close scores.

The Skippers, who had beaten Farmington by one and lost to Southfield by the same number, gave unbeaten Berkley a big scare before bowing 47-44.

Walled Lake bounced back from being upset by Class B. West Bloomfield to almost take it out on Southfield. The Bluejays finally won out 59-58. Farmington raced to a quick 13-0 lead and went on to post its 1st I-L victory beating Van Dyke 54-33.

The steady scoring of Barry Campbell and Wendy Meyer, playing his 1st tilt of the season following a football injury, and rebound work of Dale Mahrle gave highly-rated Berkley nightmares all the way.

Waterford led 12-11 following the 1st period but fell behind 30-22 at halftime. The difference was cut to four starting the last period but the locals could not overcome enough of the deficit.

Campbell wound up with 21 points while Meyer connected for 15. Mahrle controlled the rebounds on both boards and held Berkley star Bob Burris to four points in the half which gave him a total of 21. Berkley is now 7-0.

No other Bear player reached double numbers as Waterford turned in its best all around showing.

Strengthened by return of Al LeSage after being out with an injury, Farmington held off some Van Dyke comebacks before pulling away. Little Tom Grimshaw hooped 14 and Ken Cobb 10 to pace the Falcons. Cobb also held Van Dyke ace George Mack scoreless. George Hatch swished 12 for the losers.

READY TO FIRE — Dennis Vincent of Pontiac Northern is all ready to fire the ball at the basket as Detroit Thurston's Tom Goscinski stands guard in last night's home opener at Northern. The Huskies successfully initiated their new gym with a 63-45 triumph over Thurston, their 2nd victory of the season in five games.

Dryden Surprises Almont

It's a happy day in Dryden today. Everyone is still talking about how the Cardinals upset perennial Southern Thumb champion Almont there last night.

The scoreboard read 43-42 after a wild finish which saw coach Clark Burnett's brother Bob fire in the clinching basket on a rebound in the closing seconds — his only floor success of the night.

Almont had overcome a 32-21 halftime deficit to go ahead 42-41 but Dryden raced down the floor and missed two shots before Burnett hit.

Transfer John Englert rang up 16 points and Carl Grondin 11 to spark the winners. Doug Eschenburg had 16 for Almont.

New Haven led all the way in trouncing Brown City 46-32 in another Thumb contest. Nate Petty and Larry Siefert tallied 10 apiece for New Haven while Bob Fisher was meshing 11 for BCHS.

Dondero Five Bombed

Powerful Highland Park handed once-beaten Royal Oak Dondero a 66-46 beating in their Border Cities League game last night. Mike Joyce tallied 14 and John Meadows 11 in the losing cause.

VITAL POINTS — Chet Wlodkowski (12) St. Mary captain, was snapped as he went up for a vital two-pointer in last night's SCL game with St. Frederick. The bucket broke a 25-24 edge for the Rams, set Eaglets off on the winning run in the last period. St. Mary won 36-27.

Huskies Launch New Court Well in 61-45 Win

Thurston Second Victim of Locals; Fedynik Tops With 20

By CHUCK ABAIR

The spacious gymnasium at Pontiac Northern High should prove to be an ideal structure if the Huskies can keep swishing the nets as well as they did in their 1st game on the court last night.

Detroit Thurston provided the opposition in the home lidlifter which saw the locals run their bigger foes virtually into the boards in a hot last half showing that resulted in a 63-45 triumph.

Spurred on by the constant cheering of a highly-spirited rooting section, Northern turned what had been a close affair into a one-sided game in the final 16 minutes.

Down 13-12 at the 1st period, the home club roared back with a 21-point 2nd to go ahead 33-29 at the intermission. Mike Fedynik, who paced all the scorers with 20, offset 6-7 Len Wozniak's only good period by hitting four successive long one-hand shots.

Fedynik, a deadeye shot and smooth ballhandler, kept coming up with the key baskets. His two successive field goals in the 3rd period actually broke the contest wide open after Thurston had crept back within one of a tie.

Jim Dempsey, who garnered 10 of his 12 points in the last half, Bruce Norton and reserve Steve Thompson all had a hand in the pulling away to a safe lead. Dempsey was hitting on long corner flips.

It was 51-39 starting the last quarter with the only questions left concerning how high the final score would reach since the Huskies had outhustled and outshot the visitors most of the way.

Northern now has a winning streak going. Last night's victory was the 2nd in succession after three losses.

The Huskies moved the ball around very well and showed some good fast breaks throughout the evening. They also worked well on the boards often grabbing rebounds away from Wozniak.

The final totals showed the new baskets work very well. The teams caged a total of 37 field goals and 32 free throws before a good crowd. It was Thurston's 6th defeat against three wins.

Dempsey and Norton followed Fedynik in the scoring with 12 each — Norton getting 10 of his on fouls. Dick Eley worked well on Wozniak in the initial half but fouled out shortly after. PNH finished with a 38 shooting percentage.

Wozniak, who had been averaging 25 points, was held to 14. Little Dick Jones contributed 12.

It was the 3rd straight triumph for coach Peyton Goodwin's Colts who reached the state quarterfinals last March.

Lake Orion stayed in contention by nipping Madison 60-57 for its 2nd success in three league tries. Lowly Clawson had an 8-point last half in bowing to Fitzgerald 56-28 in the other game.

Troy won its game in the opening two periods totaling 23 points while Avondale was matching Madison's feat of garnering only eight. Bub Acton of the Colts led the game scoring with 12. Walt Arnold caged 11 for the Yellowjackets who are now 1-1.

The Dragons broke a halftime tie to lead by as much as nine twice but they still had to keep holding off Madison rallies. Rick Moos led the losers with 16.

Clawson had a good 2nd quarter and trailed 28-20 at halftime before hitting the skids. Three Fitzgerald Boys combined for 40 points highlighted by Ron Lickman's 16. The Spartans' win makes them 2-0 eight behind Troy.

Gallup Does His Part With 30

Birmingham Bows, 61-54

Merv Gallup had his second 30-point night in four games with Birmingham but the Maples still bowed to East Detroit 61-54 last night in an Eastern Michigan League game.

The transfer from Ferndale clicked on his jump shots for an even 30 but the Oakland County scoring leader couldn't do it alone.

Jeff Boucher, with 10, was the only other Maple to score more than four.

Behind 13-8 after one quarter of action, Birmingham rallied to gain a 22-22 tie late in the half only to falter shortly after.

The count read 27-22 at the intermission and the difference was doubled in the next eight minutes allowing East Detroit to coast to its initial loop triumph against one defeat. Birmingham has the same record.

Broncos Trip Northville; W-0 Led by Brighton

Victory Over Clarkston Makes Bulldogs 3-0; Keego Nips Milford

Brighton holds sole possession of 1st place in the Wayne-Oakland League but Holly appears ready to make a hot race of it for the championship.

The Christmas tournament champs handed Northville a 74-62 beating at home last night to move into a three-way tie for 2nd with West Bloomfield and Clarenceville at 2-1. Brighton has won three straight following Friday's 66-49 rout of Clarkston.

Holly raced to a 35-24 halftime advantage after being tied at the 1st quarter and held the upper hand the rest of the way led by the rebounding and scoring of big George McDaniels. He hit his season high of 33 with Moreland adding 15.

Last night Milford dropped a 53-52 nod to West Bloomfield after leading at the half and battling the favorites all the way.

It was a close 1st half at Bloomfield Hills but Clarenceville had things all its own way from then on for a 49-35 triumph. John Dixon hooped 12 and Bob Barrett 10 for the losers.

Oxford Defeated by Millington

Wildcats Dropped by 4; Imlay City Rolls Past North Branch

Wildcat scoring ace Doug Stott split the cords for 26 points to take game honors. Jeff Brady followed with 13. Mike Zink had 20 and Bill Sawyer 16 for Millington.

Four players tallied 10 or more in Imlay's 3rd straight SCC triumph which became a rout in the last half.

St. Mary All Alone on SCL's Peak

Eaglets Snap Ram String

By H. GUY MOATS

The merry little parade of basketball victories enjoyed by St. Frederick in Suburban Catholic League competition was halted last night by a determined Orchard Lake St. Mary's crew that threw up a 36-27 road block. Eaglets' victory elevated the Orchard Lakers to the league's top spot, all alone. They are the only undefeated club in the circuit.

Win was St. Mary's fourth straight. St. Frederick also has won four, but drops its share of the lead on it's first loss. Rams have played one more game than the Eaglets.

An effective St. Mary defense that forced the Rams to fire away at long range most of the contest was the big factor in what was regarded as an upset.

However, the real margin of victory was the free throw production. Each club managed an even dozen field goals. But the Eaglets converted half of 24 attempts while the Rams collected a meager three in 10 tries.

Tight defenses held down the scoring of both clubs until the last period when St. Mary broke the game open with 17 points, more than twice the total accumulated by St. Frederick.

Each team suffered one cold period. Eaglets counted five in the second session, Rams only three in the third. Gene Wright's quintet had only five shots at the nets in that frame, bagged a single goal.

St. Mary set up a six-point lead at the start before Rams began to move. Freds held a 10-8 edge at end of the opener, were 16-13 ahead at halftime, but hit bottom with a thud in the 3rd session, while Eaglets gathered momentum.

The contest, witnessed by a big audience in Pontiac Central High gymnasium, was tight up to the middle of the final period, when Eaglets moved from behind a 25-24 count and were never headed again.

Chet Wlodkowski's final period performance kept the Orchard Lakers in the battle, the slim captain bagging three baskets and a pair of free tosses. Mike Witkor's baskets helped gain the winning edge. Chet led game scoring with 11. Steve Pocs had nine for Rams' best.

Art Massucci led St. Benedict to a 40-36 win over St. Rita, with a 25-point effort in another SCL contest, Orchard Lakers entertain the St. Rita club on Tuesday.

In another area parochial tilt Royal Oak Shrine dropped Mt. Carmel 77-30 in First Division action.

Romeo Drubs L'Anse Creuse in Tri-County

Romeo had practically no trouble at all getting off on the right foot in the Tri-County League in a 55-34 blasting of L'Anse Creuse.

The Bulldogs led all the way in winning their 3rd in a row aided by control of both backboards. It was 29-17 at halftime.

Utica 50-43 Victim of Center Line

In the thick of the battle all the way, Utica went down to a 50-43 setback at the hands of Center Line for its 1st Bi-County loss last night.

The nip-and-tuck affair had five boys in double figures led by Bluhart of the winners with 14. Reed Bannow and Dan Jensen tallied 11 apiece in defeat.

NCAA Studies Reconsideration of Sanctions

USC Files Appeal

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI)—The National Collegiate Athletic Association, after strengthing its enforcement program Friday, was to consider today an appeal from the University of Southern California against penalties imposed for athletic recruiting abuses.

USC's president Norman Topping sent a long telegram to the NCAA deliberations here Friday night, seeking reconsideration of "the unnecessarily heavy sanctions imposed by the previous council."

The new NCAA president, H. J. Dorricott, said as soon as it is received it will be brought to the attention of the NCAA officers and the council in today's meeting.

Four days ago the NCAA slapped a two-year championship sports ban on Southern Cal for alleged recruiting irregularities. Topping's wire complains on four major counts: That the penalties are severe compared to the minor infractions; that the NCAA denied a request for delay until April in punitive action; that there was insufficient time to examine and respond to the evidence received Jan. 5; and that the NCAA apparently gave no consideration to USC's action to comply with the code since September of last year.

The delegates today were also expected to hear requests from Army, and possibly Navy, for approval of their prepping courses for prospective athletes. This follows Friday's passage of a rule banning all but the service academies from putting athletes through terms of prep school to qualify them for admission.

In a long day of business, the NCAA:

—Tightened rules against "red shirting," or stretching an athlete's eligibility by keeping him out of school for a period of time. The new rule: "An athlete must complete his three seasons of participation within 10 semesters or 15 quarters of residence from the beginning of the semester or quarter in which he first registered." Armed forces and church mission time-outs do not count.

—Elected the youngsest president in its history, 45-year-old H. J. Dorricott, assistant to the president at Western State College in Colorado.

—Approved an amendment prohibiting any member institution from making contact with other schools' athletes without permission of that institution's athletic director.

—Elected Brig. Gen. Robert R. Neyland of the University of Tennessee as a member-at-large and chairman of the NCAA Football Rules Committee. Neyland replaces Fritz Crisler of the University of Michigan.

—Voted down an amendment which would have prohibited the start of pre-season football practice before Sept. 1 or two weeks before the first day of class, whichever was earlier. The rule would have limited football schedules to 10 games.

—Approved an amendment requiring colleges to give the student athlete written statements of the amount, duration, condition and terms of grants-in-aid.

—Took time out while the annual Scripps-Howard "Football Coach of the Year" award was presented to Paul Deitzel of Louisiana State University. As 500 coaches watched, the president of their association, Bud Wilkinson of Oklahoma, introduced Richard Thornburg, editor of the Cincinnati Post and Times Star, a Scripps-Howard paper. Thornburg gave Deitzel the award.

Pro Bowl Tilt May Rival Loop Title Contest

Annual Grid Game Is Scheduled for Sunday at Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Football fans of Southern California and a national television audience looked forward today to a game rivaling the Giants-Colts title clash when the stars of the Eastern and Western pro conferences meet tomorrow in the ninth annual Pro Bowl game.

The Western Conference team had Weeb Ewbank of the world championship Colts as its coach while Jim Lee Howell of the Giants will be seeking a measure of personal revenge for his team's 23-17 championship loss two weeks ago.

The West team, led by Baltimore quarterback John Unitas, was favored by 6½ points to give the Western Conference its sixth victory.

But Howell had on his Eastern team an equally great passer if not a great option play runner in Norman Van Brocklin of Philadelphia plus his own team's Frank Gifford and Alex Webster and football's greatest rusher in fullback Jim Brown of Cleveland.

Ewbank was expected to flank Unitas with his own teammates, Lennie Moore and Alan Ameche, as well as local star Jon Arnett of the Rams.

Both teams abound in outstanding linemen. The West has Ray Berry of the Colts and Billy Wilson of the Forty-Niners at ends while the East lists Pete Retzlaff of the Eagles and Bob Schnelker of the Giants at the flanks.

The East's last victory was in 1956 when it squeaked through on a 31-30 win.

The sponsoring Los Angeles Publishers Association said a crowd of upwards of 70,000 persons was expected at Memorial Coliseum for the 1:30 p.m. (PST) kickoff and if the weather continues good, that figure may be surpassed.

One stroke back was Patty Berg, St. Andrews, Ill., who shot a 76. Grouped at 77 were Fay Crocker, Montevideo, Uruguay; Joyce Ziske, Waterford, Wis.; Mickey Wright, La Jolla, Calif.; and Marlene Hagge, Pittsburgh.

Wolverine Tankers Swamp Iowa State

ANN ARBOR (UP)—Michigan, warming up for today's Big Ten relays, swamped Iowa State in a dual swimming meet last night 74-22.

The Wolverines won all 10 events with Dick Mehl a double winner in the 50 and 100-yard free styles. It was the Wolverines' first dual meet of the season.

The relays brought teams here from six schools. The Wolverines' rivals included Michigan State, Ohio State and Indiana of the Big Ten and Iowa State, Toronto and Kenyon of Ohio.

Pistons Bow to Celtics

DETROIT (UP)—The Detroit Pistons fell nine games off the pace in the Western Division of the National Basketball Assn. by losing to the Boston Celtics 109-90 last night.

A 16-point scoring binge by the Celtics within three minutes of the third period while Detroit went scoreless spelled the difference.

"In losing, the Pitsons did the fully graceful thing toward the division leading St. Louis Hawks. The Hawks, with Bob Pettit scoring 35 points, beat the Cincinnati Royals 112-101 in the opening game of a doubleheader at Olympia Stadium.

The Pistons, losing their fifth game in six with Boston, lost a 57-56 lead when the Celtics hit their third period hot streak. Bob Cousy scored 25 points for Boston. Bill Russell of Boston set an Olympia rebound record of 28, breaking his own record of 26.

George Yardley topped Detroit's scoring with 21 points—of which he got 17 in the first quarter.

With Pettit hitting on six of nine shots in the first quarter, the Hawks got off fast. The Royals made a brave effort, coming within a point of a tie late in the game, but they were tired from their triple-overtime deefat 145-138 the night before at the hands of Syracuse.

MSU Five at Illinois, 'M' on TV

By The Associated Press

Northwestern and Illinois, current leaders in the Big Ten basketball race, meet formidable opponents today but have the all-important advantage of the home floor.

Northwestern (2-0) takes on Indiana's defending champions who have split even in two games and Illinois (2-0) is host to Michigan State. The Spantans also are (1-1).

The Michigan State-Illinois encounter is an afternoon affair as is the meeting between Ohio State and Michigan which will be regionally televised from Ann Arbor. The only other game finds Wisconsin (0-2) at Purdue (0-2).

Ohio State will be seeking its first conference victory as against one loss and Michigan (1-1) hopes to return to contention with a triumph over the Buckeyes.

Despite the home-floor advantage, it is conceivable both Northwestern and Illinois could suffer their initial defeats. Indiana, using a zone defense these days to take advantage of its team's height, beat Purdue after losing at Michigan State by only two points.

However, if the Wildcats can hand the Hoosiers their second loss, title hopes will take another step up in Evanston.

Illinois will be faced with its most severe test of the young conference race. Victories over Ohio State and Wisconsin have given the Illini a fast start but the victims have not been considered whirlwinds.

Michigan State, one of the preseason favorites, cannot afford another loss at this stage of the campaign.

If Illinois and Northwestern both come through victoriously, they very well could battle right down to the wire for the title since victories for them would mean the other top-rated teams would be saddled with two defeats.

Three more conference games are scheduled Monday night. Iowa will be at Illinois, Minnesota at Indiana and Michigan at Wisconsin.

McCoy Status Up to Coaches

Star Freshman Cager Quit Northwestern, for Miami School

CINCINNATI (UP)—The athletic directors of Northwestern University and the University of Miami (Fla.) agreed today to let their basketball coaches thrash out the status of Mike McCoy, 7-foot basketball player.

McCoy, voted the top high school player in Indiana last year, has transferred from Northwestern to Miami. He was quoted as saying he was not happy at Northwestern.

Stu Holcomb, athletic director at Northwestern, and Jack Harding, Miami athletic director, discussed the situation here where they are attending the annual NCAA meeting.

Holcomb told a reporter that Northwestern does not plan to make a formal protest in the McCoy matter. He said Harding agreed that basketball coach Bill Rohr of Northwestern and coach Bruce Hale should get on the telephone and discuss the situation. Holcomb suggested that Hale should call Rohr.

Northwestern would like to have McCoy, according to Holcomb, but does not intend to make any big issue over him.

He indicated, however, that if any change was made, it would have to be made quickly since registration at Northwestern ends this week.

Pair Overcome in Hotel Fire

Robinson Saves Couple

NEW YORK (UPI) — Former Brooklyn Dodger baseball star Jackie Robinson was credited with saving a San Antonio, Tex. couple last night when he saw smoke coming from their hotel room and sounded an alarm.

Robinson, staying in an adjacent room on the 12th floor of the Belmont-Plaza Hotel, went into the hallway to investigate after smelling smoke shortly before last midnight. Seeing smoke coming from under the next door, he notified the management.

Firemen broke down the door and found Kenneth Brown, 50, and his wife, Juanita, 40, San Antonio, overcome in their twin beds and their room ablaze.

Both were treated at a hospital for minor burns and smoke poisoning. They were able to return to the hotel several hours later.

The fire was confined to the Brown's room. Its cause was not immediately determined.

Robinson, an executive with a restaurant chain, normally commutes between his New York office and his home in Stamford, Conn. Occasionally, however, after working late, he stays at the hotel, a spokesman for the hotel said.

Pilfered Derby's Last Derby

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—The last of 100 hand-molded copper ash trays, purchased at a cost of $85 each when the Brown Derby Restaurant opened 30 years ago, has been stolen.

The trays, in the form of a full-sized derby, were used by the great of Hollywood and visiting dignitaries until their number dwindled to one—all apparently taken by patrons within a short time after the restaurant opened.

That last tray was reserved for special occasions and brought out only for such distinguished patrons as the late Presidents Coolidge and Roosevelt, the Duke of Windsor, Clark Gable, Jack Dempsey and hundreds of the stars of the movie and sports word.

Earlier this week Baltimore Colts coach Weeb Ewbank and sportscaster Mel Allen flicked their ashes into the last of the derby trays.

A Brown Derby spokesman said a two-day search of the premises has failed to turn up the tray and it is presumed stolen by a souvenir hunter.

Reflections

J. L. VOORHEES

YESTERDAY:

Many times all of us have said, "If I had just done it when I could . . .!"

Today, now, is the time to call that friend, or write that letter, or take mom out, or do something nice for dad, or give sincere praise to a son or daughter. If we think back it was a sharp word, a shrug that offended, an unintentional slight, or when mother worked hard to prepare a delicious dinner and we forgot to give proper praise; small things of themselves but they are the ones we wish to correct. Keep that sharp word under control, smother that shrug, be thoughtful and kindness will make your yesterdays into scenes of happiness.

M. E. SIPLE

Yesterday is farther away than any other point in the universe. Let's do it now and think of tomorrow.

A DREAM COME TRUE — Kay, the Greers' teenage daughter, planned this room from a picture she saw in a magazine. Three walls are green; the one behind the bed is white. Curtains and little shutters are white. The spreads on the wrought iron beds are old-fashioned counterpanes. The pillow shams are initialed with a fancy "K", standing for both Kay's grandmother and herself. That ice cream chair is brass with a gold and white seat.

Pontiac Press Photos by Tom Gerle

IN RAINBOW LAKE ESTATES — The Erwin Greers have a new home on Southward in Rainbow Lake Estates. F. W. Heltman built the home from a remodeled stock plan. The exterior is pinky-red brick with white trim. In the back their lot slopes down to Rainbow Lake. The Greers moved into their new home in September.

Your Neighbor's House

Greers Like Family Room

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Across Rainbow Lake from Westridge subdivision is a new section called Rainbow Lake Estates. You have to enter it from Airport road, north of the drive-in theater.

When this part of the county was considered for homes, men tried to fill the swampy area that ran through it. This turned out to be an impossible task; in fact, the workmen nearly lost their machinery. So they reversed their procedure and dug out the swamp. Now a fine, spring-fed lake divides Westridge and Rainbow Lake Estates.

The Erwin Greers have a new home on Southward drive, with a yard in the rear running down to the lake. F. W. Heltman built them a red brick home last summer and the Greers moved in September.

A marble topped table with a lamp on it stands in front of this window. There are chairs on either side. Near this group is the divider wall that separates vestibule and living room. In the solid portion below there is a storage space devoted to card tables. Above are three louvers.

The Victorian furniture includes a green tapestried love seat, a gold chair and another upholstered chair. Both the coffee table and a small chest have marble tops.

Near the Governor Winthrop desk is a more modern chair, a red swivel one. Next to the desk is an old walnut frame which holds three children's pictures.

ANTIQUE DINING SET

The kitchen-family room occupies most of the back corner of the house. Here the views are of the lake. Curtains are kept to minimum size, are just white ruffles trimmed with coin dot braid.

There is a "wonderful" cooking unit in the large red brick fireplace. Trivets decorate the space above the fire opening while sadirons perch on the raised hearth. There is also a curtain ruffler — happily now only a museum piece.

Next to the family room is the utility room. This has two big closets, one for coats, the other for cleaning supplies. There is a door leading to the double garage.

George's room has spatter print linoleum on the floor. Walls are sandalwood. Curtains are tan with pictures of antique automobiles on them. There's a tan cowboy spread on the maple bed.

In the other two bedrooms the floors are natural finished oak. The Greers have a pastel rug on their floor. Walls and curtains are green.

In the attached bathroom the floor is a marble vinyl. Wall tile is sandalwood while the sea shell paper above is green and beige. Kay's bath is all green with the same kind of marble vinyl flooring.

KAY'S ROOM

Kay's room is delightful. She planned it all herself after seeing a similar room in a magazine. It is green and white with accents of black and gold.

One wall and the curtains are white. Behind the beds the upper part of the windows are covered with tiny white shutters. Three walls are green. There are furry black rugs on the floor.

Crisp white ruffles cover the lower part of the beds. Instead of spreads Kay chose to use real old-fashioned counterpanes. These belonged to her grandmother, the one for whom she was named. There is a K for Kitty on the pillow shams. Her other furniture includes a walnut chest and ice cream chair in brass with a gold and white cushioned seat.

THEY LIKE ANTIQUES — Antiques collected through the years are used in the living room. Hand painted plates make an interesting wall decoration above the old walnut chest. Cane seated chairs go well with the cherry drop leaf table. The more modern red swivel chair does not seem out of place. This room has sandalwood walls and carpeting.

Can Build Basic House for $59 a Month

By DAVID L. BOWEN

If you're dreaming of a home of your own, here's a plan that can put the dream on a concrete foundation.

It's an economy house if there ever was one, planned to the last shingle to save money and aimed at a specific section of the federal housing law to help solve the financing problem.

The result: An attractive, comfortable three-bedroom contemporary home that can be built in New Jersey—a relatively high cost building region — for a bit under $8,000.

A builder who has experimented with this house type estimates that at total cost of $8,000 for house and land with no money down, the payments for insurance, amortization, interest and ordinary taxes on an FHA loan would be around $59 a month.

Section 203-I of the Federal Housing Administration's Minimum Property Requirements is the relatively unknown and little used avenue to government guaranty of a loan on this house.

That section was put into FHA regulations primarily to help prospective home-owners in rural communities where marketability of homes made them unsuited for the more common sort of FHA loans. The average lending institution doesn't use this section often enough to realize that it can be just as helpful to city and suburban home builders.

30-YEAR MORTGAGE

Here's what it means to you: Section 203-I offers 30-year mortgages (customary period is 20 or 25 years). It makes available up to $8,000 in mortgage money to the prospective builder of a house meeting its standards.

Thus the owner can even get a 100 per cent mortgage—and make no down payment — on a house meeting the requirements and costing no more than $8,000.

House of the Week X-40 has been engineered by Architect Lester Cohen to meet the requirements of Section 203-I. The $8,000 "no down payment" FHA guaranteed loan it is eligible for may, in some cases, not only cover the cost of the home but the lot as well.

Its inexpensiveness makes it ideal for the young family just starting out, for older families with an eye on budget and easy housekeeping, or it could be built as a "second house" at the shore or in the country.

How does this house differ from other more expensive ones? Not as much as you would imagine judging by the price.

Some of the economies: All partitions are non-bearing, because simplified truss construction is specified; 2x3s are used instead of 2x4s; house dimensions make best use of standard lumber sizes; heat duct runs are minimum, increasing heating efficiency and reducing size of unit required; the plumbing diagram is a model of simple eficiency.

None of these factors, says the architect, affect the durability of the house. They ALL help to bring the price down.

PLENTY OF GLASS

The plan shows the remarkable amount of livability Architect Cohen has provided under the severe cost limitation. Sliding glass doors from floor to ceiling in the dining room are an unusual luxury in such a home, as is the awning-type picture window in the living room.

Closet walls separate the master bedroom from the rear bedroom, and a similar sound buffer stands between bedroom No. 3 and the hall. Two of the bedrooms have double exposure and the bathroom is conveniently located for family and guests.

The kitchen-dining area is big and bright, with provision for a sunny dinette nook. The basementless version has a utility room, with side entrance, hard by the kitchen. Five closets and the utility room provide adequate storage.

A special feature of X-40 is that it comes with plans for optional extras. The first of these is a basement version, making provision for recreation room, hobby room and laundry downstairs. The second adds a breezeway and garage to the side of the house. The third puts a terrace off the dining room.

At additional cost, these features could be built during original construction. The breezeway garage and the rear terrace could be handled later by a proficient do-it-yourself home-owner.

The roof is asphalt shingle, with trim masonry block chimney. Exterior materials are asbestos siding, both attractive and practical, plus brick veneer. Awning windows are used for the living room, double hung windows for the bedrooms and sliding glass with fixed side panels in the rear wall of the dining room.

OPTIONS GIVEN — The floor plan shows efficient room arrangement in this economical home. Three optionals are offered with the basic plan; a version with full basement, a breezeway and garage, and a rear terrace and barbecue. Floor area of the basic house is 864 square feet.

EASY ON THE PURSE — This three-bedroom home was planned to the last shingle to save money. The basic house can be built in most areas for $8,000 and is eligible for an FHA-guaranteed loan of that entire amount.

Planter Top Bookcase Is Good Room Divider

Room dividers are of many types. Some extend from floor to ceiling completely dividing a room while others are partial dividers extending into a room horizontally to varying degrees. The room divider-bookcase shown in the diagram is of the latter type. With the addition of sliding doors in front, the divider can be used as a bar.

The top, bottom and center separator are made of 2 by 12-inch lumber. Cut the top 84 inches long. The 20 by 7½-inch cut-out is made by measuring 2 inches in from the end and sides as shown. The opening is for metal plant boxes. The separator is cut to a length of 36¾ inches. The bottom is made to fit between the sides.

Make the sides of 1 by 12-inch lumber, 38¾ inches long and bevel the rear inside edges 45 degrees. Measure and mark the location of the 1 by 2-inch cleats on the sides. The upper cleat is 8 inches from the top; the other 23 inches from the top. Cut the cleats 9½ inches long. Use glue and 3-penny finishing nails to fasten the cleats to the sides.

Interior shelves, made of 1 by 10-inch lumber are cut to fit between the separator and a side. Use a miter box to be sure the ends are squared. Make the rear panels of 1 by 6-inch tongue and groove lumber. The end panels are beveled to match the beveled edge of the sides.

Assemble the project using glue and 8-penny finishing nails. The top is attached after the panels have been nailed in place. Casters and the metal plant boxes are then inserted. If desired, the casters can be removed once the divider is moved within the room.

If the divider is to be used as a bar, sufficient allowance has been made to install tracks under the top and on the top face of the bottom for sliding doors. Should the divider be used as a bookcase, it is suggested that paneling cover the front of the top shelf to hide the base of the planters.

Sand the project smooth and round all sharp edges. Set all nails and fill the holes with wood putty. Finish as desired.

When refinishing furniture with paint or enamel, it is not always necessary to remove all of the original finish; take off just enough to get a good smooth base for the paint or enamel.

Permanent Yardstick

Mother or Dad often need a handy measuring rod for materials. This is easy to acquire if there is a work table in the house. Resurface the table and mark off inches on the wood so they are readable when a finishing coat is applied.

Folding Workbench Fits Into Very Small Area

A workbench which can be folded when not in use is ideal for the handyman with limited working space, such as in a garage. With the exception of the braces and the back, 2 by 6-inch lumber is used throughout.

First, make the frame. Cut two pieces 33 inches long for the sides and two pieces 56¾ inches for the top and bottom members. Mark the location of the four 1½ by 4-inch butt hinges.

The two outside hinges are 2 inches in from the ends of the bottom frame member; the inside hinges are 19½ inches in from the ends. Recess the hinges by chiseling out a slot for the plates. The frame is assembled with butt joints using glue and No. 10 flathead wood screws, 2¼ inches long. Mitered joints may be made if desired.

The top of the workbench is made by edge gluing and dowel jointing six pieces of 2 by 6's. At least five dowel joints should be used. Holes are drilled 2 inches deep in each board with a No. 12 auger bit for the ¾-inch diameter dowel pins.

The 2 by 4-inch braces, 47 inches long, are fastened with hinges to the base of the garage or basement wall as shown. The location of the hinges for the underside of the bench is then determined by raising the braces with the bench level. The point of contact will be the location of the hinge.

The hinges are installed in the reverse position to that shown for the base hinges. By removing the base hinge pins, the bench may be closed when not in use.

No Excuse for Drabness

In converting available space into a utility room, remember it can be attractive just as easily as it can be drab. The products of the paint industry — the paints, enamels, lacquers and waxes will aid you tremendously. Exciting color and utility can well determine the beauty end enjoyment of this room.

Planters Excellent to Divide Open Plan

Interior decorators say that planters are one of the most effective ways to divide modern open floor plans. Although planters have been used for many years, they are especially effective in modern layouts because they outline definite areas but do not eradicate the visual spaciousness of an open plan.

A well-designed planter can set off a dining area from the main living room. Privacy can be added to a living room if a planter is used to divide the children's area from the space reserved for Mom and Dad.

A home handyman can build a sturdy and attractive planter by facing a simple lumber framework with plastic-finished hardboard. Predecorated hanrdboard is highly resistant to moisture and hard wear, and it can be cleaned with a damp-wiping.

Don't fail to kep a stub-handled screwdriver in your collection, as there will always come a time when it will be inconvenient to use one with a long handle.

Closet Rearranging Will Beat Clutter

If you've been complaining that the man of the house is spreading out, what with fishing gear, skis, hunting equipment spilling over in corners of closets and shelves, give the man a break. Size up closets in the house and see if one can't be set aside just for his gear, and maybe include sports equipment belonging to small fry.

You can load one closet with rods, skis, rubber boots, sports shirts, sweaters and cold weather jackets. When other closets are relieved of this burden, you may be surprised at the neat appearance of your crannies.

For Next Summer

The "fourth" and lowest grade of Northern maple is a favorite for summer cottage floors. This is really inexpensive flooring. Some cutting is necessary in laying, but the completed floor will be attractive and durable.

Chrome Will Mar

USE TWO WAYS — This new electric jig saw can be used either as a portable tool (left) or as a table saw (right), making it a versatile addition to the home or farm workshop or trade craftsman's equipment. Developed by Thor Power Tool Company, Aurora, Ill., the new portable jig saw becomes a stationary tool when inverted and mounted beneath a steel table which is available as an accessory. Another unique feature: The saw has a built-in air vent which blows away sawdust and keeps the cutting line clear. The jig saw is available with oilite or ball and bearing construction, Neil C. Hurley Jr., Thor president, announced.

Build a Pantry Right Into Wall

Here's a unique idea for a pantry that eliminates the frustration of blind groping and fumbling for canned goods and other packaged foods, yet does not require much floor space.

In the kitchen shown, shelves were constructed when the house was built, and louver shutters of ponderosa pine added later. In an existing house, a similar pantry could be constructed in an unused wall space by simply cutting away the plaster or gypsum board on one side and installing shelves between the studs.

The four-inch depth of the studs is adequate for most cans, bottles, and small boxes, yet keeps the shelves shallow enough to avoid annoyance of one item hiding behind another.

The ponderosa pine shutters, painted or stained, provide an attractive textured surface, yet permit air to circulate in the pantry. These shutters are availailable in stock from building material dealers and come in widths and heights to suit most purposes.

Dry Well, Then Shellac

You can readily clean parchment lamp-shades which have been covered with a thin coating of shellac. After you have sprayed them with color, you must dry them well before shellacing.

Keeping Up With Jonses

If you're the neighborhood sheep make it your business to think for yourself in 1959. You don't really want oyster white walls now that all your friends have them, do you, and perhaps you can talk yourself out of that zebra striped hearth rug like the one your neighbor has just acquired.

WHEN YOU HEAT with Gas

Scratches, Burns Can Be Treated

Before treating scratched furniture surfaces, be certain of the type of finish you're treating.

Use the proper solvent for that finish — turpentine for varnish, alcohol for shellac, lacquer thinner for lacquer.

The solvent, along with a steady hand and a fine brush, is used to treat hairline scratches. Very carefully go over the scratch so that the finish blends over it.

Larger scratches will have to be refinished with varnish, shellac or lacquer. Scratches in a dark surface such as mahogany can be disguised with a little iodine.

Deep scratches and burns are best treated with shellac sticks, available in most hardware stores. You can get a shade to match your furniture. Many come in kits with all the accessories you need.

Generally, the method used involves scraping some of damaged area with a razor blade, particularly burned spots. Clean with denatured alcohol.

Melt the shellac stick — with soldering iron or alcohol lamp — so that it drips into the area to be repaired. Use more than you need and level it off so that it's even with the surrounding surface.

HANDY SHELVES — Almost every home needs shelves likes those pictured here with NBC's pretty Judy Meredith. In the bathroom they're handy for the little woman's cosmetics, perfumes, a hand towel and things of that kind. In the kitchen they may be used for spices, measuring spoons, paper towels and miscellaneous items. You might even make one to be used in your den or bedroom for knickknacks or trophies; the shelves are very versatile. In any case, these may be built at practically no cost. And it's easy when you use the full size patterns. All that's necessary is to trace the full size patterns on wood, then saw out the parts and finally put them together. To obtain the full size patterns No. 172 for making the multi-purpose shelves pictured, send 50c in coin to Steve Ellingson, The Pontiac Press, Van Nuys, Calif.

Windows Make Contrast

Board-and-batten siding used in conjunction with eye level windows is a colorful contemporary combination, the Southern Pine Association declares. In the "eye level" type, window openings are grouped to present a long horizontal show of glass in contrast to the sharp vertical lines of the lumber and batten strips. The result is pleasant variation of pattern without loss of unity.

It's Not New

Success Smooths Out Rodgers' Rocky Road

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Jimmie Rodgers, the skinny, bashful, 25-year-old folksinger, is now getting rich from TV and records, but . . .

WILSON

"When Jimmie was doing the rock 'n' roll shows, a fan hit him in the eye with a program he was supposed to autograph and it flicked his right contact lens out on the floor," said his attractive blonde wife Coleen the other day.

"Somebody stepped on it and smashed it into a thousand pieces.

"Honeycomb" and other of his big records helped him attain his own home in Granada Hills, out near Encino in the Clark Gable, Jane Russell neighborhood in San Fernando Valley, not far from the Knollwood golf course.

"We often wonder," his wife said—Jimmie was doing a recording "whether Jimmie's music teacher back in Vancouver Clark Junior College remembers she told him he'd never be a singer."

RODGERS

Jimmie's father and mother worked in the Camas, Wash., paper mill, about 30 miles from Portland, Ore. "When Jimmie was about 17," said his wife—who was his childhood sweetheart — "they were getting ready for a concert.

"Something went wrong. The teacher told him he'd never be a singer. It was so cruel! He walked out of class. Three days later he was on the way to the Air Force."

For two years he didn't sing.

In Seoul, Korea, a GI with a guitar he didn't want to tote back to America peddled it to Jimmie for $10. Jimmie did some singing with a group. But it was when he was transferred to Seward Air Base, near Nashville, the home of country music, that he started all over again.

One day everything began breaking for him.

Roulette Records, launched by Hugo and Luigi, who had heard him in N.Y., began looking for him . . . found him . . . asked if he had a song he'd like to do ("Do I! 'Honeycomb'!" . . . and so he started out with a smash hit, won the Godfrey Talent Scouts . . . and became one of TV's favorite guest stars.

"I worked with rock 'n' roll shows to get established with young people, but I'm a folksinger," he insists.

"He wants to meet Burl Ives so much," his wife said.

When Jimmie had finished his newest, "Just Because You're Young," he called to Colleen, "I want you to hear one of these." He explained to me, "This is for luck. We always do it." Looking down at the floor, they listened to it, hand-in-hand.

Mental Care Tops Lawmakers' List

LANSING (UPI)—The increasing problem of long waiting lists for the state's mental hospitals and improved mental care will be among the pressing problems awaiting Michigan lawmakers when they begin the 1959 session Wednesday.

The legislators know this and rank the mental health situation high on their lists of problems to to be faced in the next few months.

Mental health director Charles F. Wagg said more than 1,500 persons are on the lists for care in the institutions and of these, 935 are mentally retarded children. About 500 are mentally ill and the rest are epileptics.

One suggested method of getting more patients into hospitals is to use tuberculosis sanatorium facilities. These institutions are only partially filled and in some cases, almost vacant.

Rep. Robert Waldron (R-Grosse Pointe) said the TB sanatoriums should be closed and turned over to the Mental Health Department.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams has indicated the Northern Michigan sanatorium at Gaylord perhaps could go for mental health use.

He also indicated similar use might someday be made of the Copper Country sanatorium at Hancock and the Southwestern Michigan sanatorium at Kalamazoo.

"At the TB sanatorium at Gaylord there is an entire wing on that hospital that was built nearly 10 years ago that has never been used for anything," said Rep. Clarence B. Meggison (R-Charlevoix). "The same is true all over the state. Let's cut the red tape and get started."

Sen. Haskell L. Nichols (R- Jackson) said "many people shirk their responsibilities. Many (patients) could be rehabilitated better in the home."

ASK FOR MORE

The Mental Health Department plans on asking for a budget of $77,152,000, about $12 million more than it received for the current fiscal year.

Wagg said the additional funds would provide for better facilities and more people on an after-care basis and for improved out-patient clinics at the community level.

He said these two functions would allow for more patients to be released sooner from hospitals and also treat people who might otherwise become patients. This would attack the problem of crowded hospitals from both ways, he said.

Rep. George F. Montgomery (D-Detroit) called for "more therapy to restore patients to useful lives and more out-patient facilities."

"It has always seemed to me that there has been too little paroling of patients," said Rep. Don Pears (R-Buchanan), "especially among the younger patients."

Another phase of the situation is the recent investigation by a house committee looking into mental health procedures. The deaths of a patient at the Coldwater State Home and Training School and another at the Traverse City State Hospital brought much publicity to the work.

Rep. Charles Boyer (R-Manistee) said the committee might be reactivated in the coming session. However, some lawmakers say the committee's investigations have drawn heavy criticism from several areas of the state so there may be some lawmakers opposed to re-forming the group or who will push for tighter controls of its activities.

Atomic Missile Sub Launched by Navy

VALLEJO, Calif. (AP) — The Navy has launched the Halibut, first atomic-powered submarine capable of firing a guided missile.

At Mare Island Naval Shipyard ceremonies, Rear Adm. Elton W. Grenfell Friday described the vessel as "the greatest and most powerful individual submarine weapons system in any Navy in the world." Grenfell commands the Pacific fleet's submarine force.

China Builds Roads

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China has built a 6,336-mile highway network in Fukien province, the coastal area facing Formosa, Peiping Radio said today. Another 5,000 miles are planned for this year.

Independence Is Sailing Again

Commission Carrier as 5th Warship to Bear That Name

NEW YORK (AP) — The proud name "Independence" rejoins the U.S. Navy's lists today as the nation's newest aircraft carrier is commissioned at Brooklyn Navy Yard.

The 60,000-ton leviathan, as tall as a 25-story building, was built at a cost of 190 million dollars and launched last June. The fifth warship to bear the name, she is oceans apart from the first — a Revolutionary War sloop of 10 guns.

The name "Independence" became synonomous with gallantry and glory during World War II. The carrier of that name compiled a brilliant combat record and in two years; won eight battle stars.

The new Independence will be delivered officially to Rear Adm. Chester C. Wood, commandant of the 3rd Naval District, by Rear Adm. Schuyler N. Pyne, commander of the shipyard.

Then Capt. Rhodam Y. McElroy Jr., 44, a native of Lebanon, Ky., will take command.

The new carrier has space for 100 aircraft, including jets that can deliver atomic bombs, and will have 140 pilots assigned.

Little Scooters Want Solution to Big Problem

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Those little motor scooters pose a great big problem in San Francisco, even though 10 could be parked in the space for one automobile.

That's what Jerry Moretti spokesman for the Pioneer Scooter Club told the city's parking authority. He pleaded for one special parking space in each block for scooters.

"A big car motorist sees a scooter taking up a whole parking space, so he lifts it onto the sidewalk and parks," wailed Moretti. "Then a policeman gives the scooter a ticket."

Moretti's plea was taken under consideration.

Telephone Call Misses by Few Thousand Miles

SALINA, Kan. (AP) — Keith Duckers heard a click on the telephone as he dialed the number of a Salina clothing store.

A voice answered, but it wasn't at the store.

The telephone company said something had gone wrong in the complicated new long-distance dialing system.

Claim Ike's Program Not Bold Enough

Dems to Go Own Way in Congress

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic congressional leaders made it clear today they plan to whip through their own legislative program without much regard to President Eisenhower's recommendations.

Although Eisenhower will not spell out publicly the details of his proposals until his Jan. 19 budget message, Democrats generally complained his State of the Union report Friday lacked the bold approach they contend is needed to meet swiftly mounting world problems.

Republicans stood firmly behind the President.

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) summed up the viewpoint of many of his colleagues when he said:

"I don't think the President has recognized the intensity of the problems crowding in on us, especially in the field of national defense. We are approaching the period when the Soviets will have operational intercontinental missiles and we will not. I regret his failure to meet this situation."

Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn) said Eisenhower had failed to come up with any new ideas in quest for world peace. Humphrey said "it appears the Senate will be required to take the initiative in the field of foreign policy proposals."

Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill), in line to head the Senate-House Economic Committee, said Eisenhower "left untouched the biggest domestic problem of the nation, our four million unemployed."

Emphasizing the comment of House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) that the Democrats will look over Eisenhower's proposals "and then we'll write the ticket," party members unloaded an array of proposals of their own.

Twenty-six senators, led by Sen. James E. Murray (D-Mont), sponsored a bill for federal aid to school construction and teachers salaries calling for a billion-dollar outlay in the first year.

Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney (D-Okla) won Senate bill No. 1 designation for a federal aid to airports bill similar to that vetoed by Eisenhower last year. Monroney had 40 cosponsors for the measure.

Amid the critical Democratic barrage, Republicans backed the President.

Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committe, said he was particularly pleased that Eisenhower "made it so clear our defense effort cannot be based on any policy of a crash program for a maximum peril point but must be a continuing effort."

Car Sales Top Production by 25,000 Units in 1958

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Editor

DETROIT (AP)—Sales of U. S.-made passenger cars last year topped factory output by about 25,000 units.

Official production figures for the year put total new car assemblies at 4,247,441. Complete sales figures have not yet been tabulated but authoritative estimates put the total at slightly under 4,275,000 units.

The industry started 1958 with 652,000 new cars in dealer inventory. It presently has an estimated 500,000 new cars on hand.

From a production standpoint, 1958 was the industry's poorest year in a decade. But for a sharp upsurge in new car demand in December it might have fared nearly as poorly in retail sales.

That year brought only 4,158,000 retail deliveries.

Imported cars took an estimated 385,000 of the overall U. S. auto market last year. How many of these sales U. S. car makers might have taken had there been no strong pressure by foreign producers is anybody's guess.

Added to last year's indicated U. S. sales, they give an overall indicated market of about 4,660,000 cars. Imported car sales are included in the 1952 total but they were of relatively small volume—29,299 units.

Chevrolet, Ford and Plymouth accounted for 2,661,451 of last year's car assemblies. This was nearly 62½ per cent of the industry's total against 60.51 in 1957. Of 1958 percentage, Chevrolet got 29.23, up 4.34 from the preceding year, and Ford Division 24.68 against 24.90 in 1957. Plymouth's share was 8.40 against 10.72 the preceding year.

How their respective shares of the retail market figured out still is to be determined, although Chevrolet retained top place by a large margin. The big GM Division topped Ford by more than 200,000 units on sales figures for the year into November.

Most industry analysts expect the lower price makes to continue their percentage penetration of the car market through 1959. Only factor difficult of interpretation, they say, is the extent to which American Motors, Studebaker-Packard and the imported makes will increase their sales volume.

Labor Bill Seen in 86th Congress

House Leader Predicts Anti-Racketeering Law During Coming Year

By United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Chances appeared good today that the heavily-Democratic Congress would pass a labor reform bill this year, but not necessarily just what President Eisenhower requested.

House Democratic leader John W. McCormack (Mass.) was out with a flat prediction that the House will approve an anti-racketeering bill, probably along the lines of the 1958 Kennedy-Ives measure which perished in the last days of the 85th Congress.

The Eisenhower administration was reported drafting a stronger bill, including more enforcement authority for the labor department.

In his state of the union message yesterday, Eisenhower outlined in general terms a four-point program to curb labor-management abuses of the type disclosed by the Senate labor-rackets committee. He promised to fill in the details later, but declared: "Half-hearted measures will not do."

To Take Dead From Air Crash

Probe Cause of Wreck That Took 10 Lives in Tennessee Mountains

United Press International

KINGSPORT, Tenn. (UPI) — Plans were being made today for removal of 10 bodies from the charred wreckage of an airliner on a snow-covered mountainside and an investigation was launched into causes of the crash.

The 10 persons died Thursday night in the crash of a Southeast Airlines DC-3, only minutes away from a landing at the Tri-Cities Airport near Bluff City. Their bodies were found in the wreckage yesterday afternoon.

One of the victims was Wanda Nalley, stewardess aboard the plane, whose fiance climbed the mountainside yesterday in hopes she had escaped death. Douglas Wasum, 24, an engineering student at the University of Tennesse, started a hike to the scene soon after the wreckage was sighted.

Guards stopped him a few hundred yards from the crash where all aboard the airliner had been found dead. The engagement ring he had given Miss Nalley was found in the wreckage. They were to be married in June.

Introduce Measure Committee Approved in Last Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Hawaii statehood bill will have at least 40 sponsors in the Senate.

Chairman James E. Murray (D-Mont) of the Senate Interior and Insular Affairs Committee said that a number of senators already had agreed to join him in introducing an admission bill identical to one approved by his committee in the last Congress.

Other senators are expected to add their names to the bill later. It will carry the number S. 50, symbolic of the 50th state.

In the house, Rep. Leo O'Brien (D-NY), chairman of the House Territories Subcommittee, said arrangements have been made for the full Interior and Insular Affairs Committee to consider the Hawaii statehood bill as the first order of business.

O'Brien predicted the bill will be out of the committee and before the rules comittee by the first week of February.

Johnson Ahead in Filibuster Halt

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Compromise forces guided by Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) held a firm upper hand today in the Senate battle over making it easier to choke off filibusters.

They won a lopsided 60-36 vote Friday in a first test of strength when antifilibuster forces tried to establish that each new Senate has the right to adopt its own rules without regard to prior rules.

But senators demanding a tighter curb on filibusters than Johnson has proposed kept on fighting.

Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill), who denounced Johnson's proposal as "a fake," offered a substitute that would permit filibusters to be halted by 50 votes, or a majority of all 98 senators, after 15 days.

Under Johnson's compromise, talkfests could be shut off and issues forced to a vote by two-thirds of the senators present and voting. The existing rule requires the votes of 66 senators, or two-thirds of the entire membership.

The substitute offered by Douglas for a bipartisan bloc of Northern and Western senators will come up for a vote Monday.

Order Judge Turn in Records

Alabama Jurists War Over Voting Evidence in Civil Rights Issue

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—A legal tug of war between an Alabama state judge and a U.S. District Court judge over civil rights is apparently nearing the breaking point.

Circuit Court Judge George C. Wallace of Clayton, Ala., was ordered for the second time Friday to produce voter registration files for Civil Rights Commission investigators.

Wallace has had registration files from Barbour and Bullock counties in his custody since he ordered them impounded about two months ago.

U.S. District Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr. ordered Wallace to turn the records over to commission investigators about two weeks ago. Wallace was granted a hearing to show cause why he should not.

At the hearing Friday, Wallace was ordered again to make the records available for commission investigators.

Farm Leaders at Odds With Ike

Congress Dems Find Little Accord in Call for Spending Curbs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic farm leaders in Congress say they find little with which to agree in President Eisenhower's call for new curbs on government farm spending.

In his State of the Union message Friday, Eisenhower said an outlay of five billion dollars a year to support farm prices was not a sound solution to agricultural problems.

New legislation is needed to afford farmers more freedom to plant and to market, he asserted. And he declared "more effective use" must also be made of large federal expenditures now being required.

House leaders mostly shrugged off the President's suggestions as "more of the same." Their attitude clearly signaled coming resumption of the farm battles between Congress and the administration which have been waged in past years.

Senator Asks Firms Give Price Notices

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) said he would propose legislation Monday to require giant corporations to give the government advance notice of price increases.

He said the measure was designed to fight inflation, and would apply to "commodities 50 per cent or more of which are produced by eight or fewer corporations."

Welfare Department Upset

Turns Alms Into Music

NEW YORK (UPI)—The City Welfare Department's drive to eliminate solvent persons from its relief roles has turned up a woman who had made enough money begging to accumulate a collection of valuable musical instruments.

The department entered a letter of judgment yesterday in Supreme Court against Lylah Tiffany, proprietor of the Tifany Music Studio.

The department stated that she received $8,295 in relief checks since 1951 and had cost the department $1,244 in relief administration.

The complaint said Miss Tiffany declared she was penniless when she applied for relief in 1951, although she possessed a valuable collection of instruments bought with income from "soliciting alms." It said she obviously "had the means to support herself."

Earlier, the department discovered that another relief'er, Harry Schweitzer, 75, had used his $71.10-a-month relief check to speculate on securities. He had accumulated stocks worth $21,000 over a period of 20 years.

Literally Worth Weight in Gold

New Bombers Are Costly

President Eisenhower cited that fact Friday as one reason why national security costs 47 billion dollars a year.

Other examples:

"We are now ordering fighter aircraft which are priced at 50 times as much as the fighters of World war II."

"The overall cost of introducing Atlas (missiles) into our armed forces will average 35 million dollars per missile on the firing line."

The bombers which "cost their weight in gold" were identified by the White House as the Air Force B58 and the Navy's A3J.

The President's arithmetic was based on gold being worth about $500 a pound. The price in this country is $35 per Troy ounce, which runs about 14 ounces to the pound.

Straight Drama Stars Astaire

Fred Astaire makes his only appearance this season in a straight dramatic role when he stars in "Man on a Bicycle," light-hearted comedy of manners on the General Electric Theater Sunday at 9 p.m. on Channel 2.

Paul Ashcroft, a charming wastrel (Fred Astaire), has avoided gainful employment through a series of ingenious moves and a disguise kit which he carries on his bicycle tour of the French Riviera.

With the aid of an accomplice in Paris and a fictitious telegram, he gains entrance to a vacated mansion and, disguised as "Monsieur Durobat," plys his charms on the wealthy devotees of the casinos.

He rebuffs a pretty young miss, Elise (Roxane Berard), who attempts to sell him a prized heirloom and later learns that she is the destitute daughter of a once-proud French family. His attempts as Paul Ashcroft to help her are in turn rebuffed, and only as "Monsieur Durobat" is he able to bring her aid in her work with a group of orphans.

The bold deception and the luxurious way of life is threatened when Paul's Parisian "friend" arrives on hte Riviera and insists upon sharing in the good fortune.

The comedy comes to a climax when Elise discovers Paul's dual role—at a time when a group of Paul's friends are about to blackmail him and the local gendarmes appear fully intent upon arresting someone.

Groesbeck Break-In Admitted by Parolee

DETROIT (AP) — A young Southern Michigan Prison parolee was held today as the admitted assailant and robber of Adele Groesbeck, 87-year-old sister of the late Gov. Alex J. Groesbeck.

Police Capt. Arthur Chojnacki of Hamtramck said that James C. Gardner, 21, paroled last fall from a rape term, admitted breaking into Miss Groesbeck's Detroit apartment Dec. 20.

Miss Groesbeck suffered a broken hip and was robbed of $200. She has been hospitalized since.

Brazil's 1958 coffee crop is estimated at 26,000,000 exportable 132-pound bags, 45 per cent more than in 1957. The government already owns about 9,000,000 bags from last year's price-support efforts.

Hollywood Headlines

'Once More With Feeling' Will Star Kay Kendall

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD — A London call from director Stanley Donen brings news that he has signed Kay Kendall to play opposite Yul Brynner in "Once More With Feeling."

Stanley was very happy and told me that he believed that Harry Kurnitz had Kay in mind when he wrote the Broadway comedy. Stanley won't be coming back to Hollywood and will stay in London to make the picture which goes before the cameras the last of March.

Personally think Kay Kendall would be better in this than Ingrid Bergman, first rumored for the part.

Joan Collins, back in town after a visit in Europe and New York, tells me that she has been talking to Walter Wanger about playing "Cleopatra." Ever since I was a little girl, Cleopatra has been my favorite.

The troubles Mickey Rooney had in 1958, particularly romantically, with his girl friend attempting suicide, appear to be behind him—and 1959 dawns brightly for the mick. He and Barbara Thomason (now a happy gal) admit they'll be married sometime this year—so all's well that ends well.

And Mickey has never had so many jobs coming his way. One of the most important deals has just been signed by Rooney and Red Doff, a co-production setup with Aubrey Schenck and Howard Koch for two films. The first will be "The Gravy Train" with a race-track background.

Dinah Shore, who has played in Boston often and knows Cardinal Cushing, wrote him a letter when he was made a cardinal by Pope John XXIII. Cardinal Cushing has a great sense of humor, that gift which belongs to those blessed with Irish heritage, and he answered her letter.

Here is an excerpt: "The nuns who staff my household are known as Sisters of St. Joan of Arc. They have a small and extremely modern statue of this saint in the rear of the chapel. People visiting the chapel see the statue and ask, 'Who is that?' I reply: 'That is Dinah Shore.'"

With all the honors heaped on Dinah this letter pleased her more than anything else, and she's had it framed.

Tomorrow is Francis X. Bushman's 76th birthday and his wife has just dubbed a record in his honor called "The Spirit of 76." I don't like to admit I was born that long ago, but I did know Frank when he was getting the most impassioned letters from girls all over the country. And you know something—he's older today, but still handsome.

Irene Dunne and Dr. Francis Griffin will be grandparents for the second time. Their daughter, Mary Frances, married to Richard Schinnick, expects a baby in late summer. Mary, who looks beautiful, told me that she hopes to have six.

Nixon Birthplace Is Dedicated in California

YORBA LINDA, Calif. (AP) — A bronze plaque on a white frame house here says this was the birthplace of Vice President Richard M. Nixon. His mother says it isn't so — he was born in a hospital.

But Mrs. Frank A. Nixon Friday proudly unveiled the plaque as the house was dedicated as an historical site.

The plaque read:

"The birthplace of Richard Milhous Nixon who, through devotion to his country, rose to become vice president of the United States of America, 1952-1960."

The ceremony was held on Nixon's 46th birthday.

Answers on Social Security

Widow's Age Immaterial

By RAY HENRY
Associated Press Writer

From Mr. R.R. of Pittsburgh, Pa.: "I'm 63. My husband just died due to a heart attack. He was working at the time he died and had been covered by Social Security since 1936. I understand that I'm entitled to Social Security payments as a widow. Will the size of my payments be affected if I take them now rather than wait until I reach 65?"

No. A widow collects the same size payments between 62 and 65 as she does after 65. Only the payments to a retired woman worker or the wife of a retired worker are reduced if she starts collecting before reaching 65.

From Mrs. P.A. of Washington, D.C.: "I read in the paper the other day that the Social Security tax for employes, employers and self-employed persons went up Jan. 1. Are government workers covered by Civil Service Retirement also going to have to pay more?"

No. The two systems are separate and Congress didn't raise Civil Service contributions.

From N.T. of Chicago: "I'll be 65 in July and will have to retire. In addition to Social Security and my company pension, I'll have an income from two insurance annuities. Will the fact that I get these annuities in any way interfere with my right to Social Security?"

No. You are limited in the amount of actual earnings you can have and still collect Social Security. But, income from insurance, savings, investments, annuities, etc. is not considered under the limit. Only earnings from work is counted against the limit.

From A.M. of Denver: "My wife and I have been saving most of our lives for a six-month visit to Italy. We plan to make this trip this summer after I retire. Will it be possible to get our Social Security checks sent there?"

Yes. Talk with your local Social Security office and ask how the arrangements can be made.

From a Virginia reader: "I recently stopped at my Social Security office to get some information about the size of my retirement payments when I'm eligible to collect them. The young lady I talked with was very curt and I got little satisfaction. Is there some central office to which I can write to get the information I seek?"

Yes. Write to: Social Security Administration, Candler Building, Baltimore, Md. Incidentally, you might mention in your letter the experience you had with the girl at your Social Security office. The people at Social Security headquarters are always interested in knowing if the public is getting poor service.

From Mrs. M.C.Y. of Fall River, Mass.: "About 15 years ago, I applied for and got a Social Security number. I'm going back to work in a few weeks and will need a number. I've hunted high and low and can't find my card. How do I get another?"

Just ask your local Social Security office to issue you a duplicate of your old card.

Calls for Free Choice, Not National Planning

DETROIT (AP)—James A. Farley, chairman of the board of the Coca-Cola Export Corp., Friday called for freedom of choice instead of national planning.

"Freedom of choice is best," he said in a speech prepared for a meeting of the Adcraft Club. "Freedom for businesses to make their own business judgments with, of course, reasonable regulation to see that competition is kept wide open. And freedom for the individual to make his own choice."

Farley said there were many "papa knows best" reformers favoring national planning when he became Postmaster General in 1933.

Under such a setup, he said, the millions of decisions made in a free economy by the citizens would no longer be the main factor in the movements of the economy.

"That decision-making would be in a small aristocracy in the government. And, in general, those people would have never met a payroll—nor met the practical facts of life in business, or the professions or as manual workers."

Businessmen must deal with economics, he said. "And I have the greatest respect for professional economists."

"But," he added, "there are a few economists who are not content to advise business and government and then let the responsible managers make the decisions. They want to make the decisions themselves. Above all they want to tell the President and Congress what to do with and to business."

Turning to a comparison of politics and advertising, Farley said botoh thrive best "in a free society where both are subjected to the continual harsh light of publicity, claim and counterclaim, criticism and opposition."

The politician, he sair, subjects himself to the approval of the public every two or four years, but with a piece of merchandise and with advertising "every day is election day."

"Every product and every advertisement is continually and completely subject ott he verdict of public opinion. In both cases it is truth and character that stand out."

Retired General Dies

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Retired Maj. Gen. Clements McMullen, 66, commanding general of the Far Eastern Air Service Comand during World War II, died Friday of a heart attack. He retired in 1954 after 37 years of military service. McMullen was a native of Largo, Fla.
