U.S. Stronger Under GOP--McKay

Cabinet Official Is Speaker for Republican Club

Secretary of Interior Predicts Nation Will Continue Powerful

By BURDETT C. STODDARD

"The nation is stronger today — much stronger— than it was two years ago," the U. S. secretary of the interior told 450 Oakland County Republican Club members last night at their 65th annual meeting.

"Under Republican leadership," Douglas McKay forecast, "our strength will continue to grow."

At the banquet honoring Abraham Lincoln's birthday Feb. 12, at Waterford Township's CAI Building, McKay drew a parallel between the Civil War leader and President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

U.S. Rep. George A. Dondero, who introduced McKay, said in the same vein, "I think Lincoln would approve the present Republican Administration."

McKay traced the first GOP president's efforts to maintain the union and lamented Lincoln's assassination before a peace could be secured "of conciliation, rather than a continuance of hate and distrust.

"I am confident that had he lived such a peace would have been achieved. As it was, the peace of 1865 was conceived in bitterness and fear. The problems that had brought on the war were only partly solved.

"Faint traces of sectionalism remain in the country even today."

The 1952 election, which saw Eisenhower made President, eliminated many factors that had kept the North and South at odds politically, the secretary declared.

The Republican Party, led by Eisenhower, will "undoubtedly help erase remaining vestiges of sectionalism."

When the President took the reins, "extravagance, cynicism, bungling on foreign and domestic issues were rampant." The U.S. had "no definite peace plan, or even ability to decide upon our future course," McKay stated.

The world looked to Eisenhower for leadership, the secretary said, and "not in vain."

"Devout belief in Providence" and determination to safeguard the heritage of freedom are sensed by the people as quali-

Odds Against Zhukov Visit

Invitation to New Soviet Defense Chief Unlikely Despite Ties With Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower may invite Russia's Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov to visit him someday, but the experts are not betting on it.

There are too many problems, hostilities and suspicions between Moscow and Washington to make such an invitation possible now.

One of the President's associates said he does not see "a chance in a million" for such an invitation. State Department officials label the whole question "premature."

Yet diplomats said that in some special future circumstances the friendship which developed between Eisenhower and Zhukov when they were Allied military leaders in Berlin at the end of World War II might prove useful to both countries.

Zhukov moved into the spotlight yesterday when he was appointed defense minister of the Soviet Union. A few years ago under the late Joseph Stalin he had apparently been banished from Moscow.

Eisenhower was reminded of Zhukov's new eminence at his news conference yesterday and was told Zhukov had said recently he still held the dream of visiting the United States someday.

The President said he had, at the direction of Washington, invited Zhukov to visit this country in 1945. Zhukov accepted but later called off the visit, giving illness as the reason.

The President himself indicated to newsmen the improbability of a visit under present conditions. He commented that "this would be a remarkable thing at the present state of affairs." He added that he "certainly wouldn't hesitate" to talk over with his advisers the problem of an invitation "if we found it desirable."

Senate Approves Treaty to Protect Formosa, 64-6

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the second time in two weeks, the Senate in effect has told Communist China to keep hands off Formosa.

By a lopsided 64-6 vote, the Senate last night approved a mutual security treaty with Nationalist China pledging American military might in defense of Formosa and the nearby Pescadores Islands.

A strong favorable vote had been expected in the light of the acceptance given Jan. 28 to President Eisenhower's request for congressional approval of his use of American troops in the Far East if necessary, but the final action on the treaty came with surprising speed.

After decisively rejecting amendments, the Senate approved the treaty with less than six hours of debate. Voting against it were Senators Chavez (D-NM), Gore (D-Tenn), Kefauver (D-Tenn), Lehman (D-Lib-NY), Langer (R-ND) and Morse (Ind-Ore).

The treaty pledges that the United States, in accordance with its constitutional processes, will help Formosa, the Pescadores and "such other territories as may be determined by mutual agreement."

The Chinese Legislative Yuan already has approved the new pact, so its provisions take effect as soon as ratification instruments are exchanged.

Communist China and Russia have bitterly denounced the treaty as proof of American "aggression" on Chinese soil.

Morse proposed an amendment to make clear in the treaty that the United States did not recognize Chiang Kai-shek's title to Formosa, but it was rejected 57-11.

The second Morse amendment sought to eliminate from the treaty the clause mentioning "other territories." This was downed 60-10.

However, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee took official note that it is the understanding of the Senate that "nothing in the

Tells MSC Audience Agriculture Is Working Out of Slump

EAST LANSING (UP) — Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson said today American farmers are "working their way out" of the postwar farm price slump and the future looks bright.

In a speech prepared for delivery to a Michigan State College Farmers' Week audience at 3:15 p.m., Benson said "We are not at the end of the road, but only at the beginning."

Benson said he would "not minimize the seriousness of the cost-price squeeze on the farmer, but I believe most of the postwar adjustment has now been completed. The price parity index has been remarkably stable during the past year. It averaged 89 per cent of parity in 1954—only five points below the level of January 1953."

Praising Michigan State College for its 100 years of service to agriculture, Benson said the nation's colleges can lead the way to a

'55 Auto Plate Sales Zooming

Local Office Sets New Daily Record of 1,000; Deadline Feb. 28

Sale of 1955 auto license plates at the Pontiac secretary of state's office spurted this week, with only 15 days remaining until the Feb. 28 deadline.

Willis M. Brewer, branch office manager, said 1,000 plates were sold Monday, setting a new one-day record for the local office this year. To date, motorists in the Pontiac area have purchased a total of approximately 21,000 auto tags and 4,000 truck plates.

An estimated 25,000 more plates will be sold before the deadline, Brewer said. He expects some 10,000 more will be issued later this year.

Car owners were reminded again that tags cannot be issued unless they bring their certificates of title. Brewer said many persons were coming to the office without their titles, and had to make a second trip to obtain licenses.

The Pontiac secretary of state's office, located a half-block north of the municipal parking lot at 53 N. Parke St., will be open on Washington's and Lincoln's birthdays, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

On Feb. 19 and 26, both Saturdays, the office will be open until 5 p.m. This Saturday it closes at noon, the usual time.

John L. Lewis Has No Comment on Big Merger

WASHINGTON (AP)—Labor's lone wolf, John L. Lewis, had no comment today on the CIO-AFL merger. Rumor has mentioned the United Mine Workers head frequently as a possible participant in moves to set up a third organization rivaling AFL and CIO.

A spokesman for the Railway Labor Executives Assn. which embraces 14 AFL, 1 CIO and 4 independent unions, said the brotherhoods "applaud the merger action unanimously."

State Unionists to Be Brothers Under Merger

United Body of Million Likely to Give Labor More Political Power

DETROIT (AP) — An estimated million unionists in Michigan will become "brothers" instead of just "half brothers" under the new AFL-CIO merger agreement.

And the unification of the two big organizations may give labor a louder voice at the bargaining table and in the state's political affairs.

The merger, if finally approved by the constitutional bodies of both groups, will bring together roughly 700,000 CIO members and 300,000 AFL members in Michigan.

This ratio is in sharp contrast with national proportions, which give the AFL a 2 to 1 margin in membership. Thus the CIO may exercise considerably more influence in working outstate and local merger agreements than in the nation as a whole.

On the state level, for example, August (Gus) Scholle, president of the Michigan CIO Council, has been frequently mentioned in pre-merger discussions as the most likely choice to head the two groups.

The CIO's 500,000 members in Wayne County seem certain to give this "junior" organization a strong hand in merger at the county level.

In Michigan, CIO President Walter Reuther's big following hardly

Say Snow Storm to Blanket Area

Weather Bureau Warns Two to Four Inches Due to Fall Today

In a special warning issued at noon today, the U. S. Weather Bureau said the entire southern portion of the state was in the path of a snowstorm — cutting off a short-lived warm spell here.

Although the storm, moving in on a cold wave from Canada, is scheduled to abate during the night, as much as four inches of snow is expected. Temperatures ranging in the 5 to 10 above zero range are expected to accompany the storm.

Friday will bring more snow and continued cold weather with highs of about 18, the warning said.

In a preview of spring here yesterday, the mercury hit a balmy 44 degrees, melting existing snow and turning county side roads into quagmires.

Today a 37-degree reading was reported at 8 a. m. dropping to 32 by 2 p. m.

Michigan's coldest spot last night was Houghton with eight above, while Detroit boasted the highest temperature — 48. Snow-covered roads were reported slippery today in the northern half of the lower peninsula and in the entire upper peninsula.

CIO and AFL Officials Predict More Gains for Working People

DETROIT (INS)—Union officials in Detroit today unanimously approved of the agreement to merge the AFL and CIO.

August Scholle, president of the Michigan CIO Council, stated:

"This merger will result in greater progress, beneficial to all working people. Unity will achieve increased bargaining power and bring about even greater success in the election of liberal candidates. We will do everything in our power to make the merger successful in Michigan."

James Gibson, vice president of the Detroit and Wayne Federation of Labor, AFL, commented:

"We've been working very closely with the CIO in political matters and now we'll be even closer. The merger certainly meets with approval here.

"After all, it simply follows the philosophy of Samuel Gompers, the founder of the AFL."

Executives in the auto industry declined comment, but Harvey Campbell, executive vice president of the Detroit Board of Commerce, said:

"The merger is another step toward a labor government and brings closer the danger of socialism, which, in my opinion, is not American. The unions are holding out a promise of utopia they can't deliver. It's the beginning of an era of great disappointment for the American worker."

Said Mayor Cobo:

"The merger is good if it means an end of jurisdictional disputes. This increase in centralized power entails added responsibilities. I hope it is a constructive move."

Well Financed Campaign Seen to Hike Rolls

Leaders Hope Merger Will Be Completed by End of Year

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)— The nation's top union leaders, agreed on consolidating forces into a single organization, today planned a giant drive to take in millions of new members.

Leaders of the American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations decided to bury traditional rivalries and embark on the same sort of intensive mass organizing campaign that sparked the CIO's surge two decades ago.

The AFL and CIO chiefs worked out what appeared to be an ironclad arrangement to merge into a 15-million-member union federation.

A long series of ratifying actions still was required to solemnize the wedding, but declarations of intentions from principals appeared convincing. Both George Meany, top man in the AFL, and Walter Reuther, CIO chief, predicted the merger would be an accomplished fact before the end of the year.

They said a well-financed organizing drive to take in new members would be launched and where possible unions in the same general field would be combined to make more effective their bargaining and political powers.

An initial organizing goal was the chemicals and plastics industries. A field where combining rival unions appeared most likely was in the textile industry where relatively weak AFL and CIO unions have largely neutralized each other for years.

There was no way of anticipating whether the apparently stronger union setup would bring on bigger or longer labor strikes, but it was apparent that AFL and CIO leaders felt their hand would be strengthened in dealing with employers.

In arranging the merger agreement yesterday the union chiefs accustomed to hard horsetrading with employers, played a give-and-take role with each other.

The AFL was given the top jobs in the new setup. Meany

Unionists Here Praise Merger

Local GOP Chief Sees Increase in Political Activity; Dems Mum

Enthusiasm for the AFL-CIO merger was voiced here today by top union officials who agreed the unification would be "the best thing that ever happened to the American labor movement."

"There is no question that it will help both organizations, nationally and locally," said Fred V. Haggard, president of the Oakland County CIO Council.

"The AFL and the CIO have not been too close here. This may bring the two groups closer together," he said.

Earl E. Ross, president of the Pontiac-Oakland County Federation of Labor (AFL), commented:

"The least the merger will do is keep down jurisdictional disputes and raiding by other organizations. It's a big step in the right direction.

"Of course, it's going to take a long time to iron out all the details."

William McAulay, regional UAW-CIO director, said he was sure both organizations will ratify the agreement made yesterday by Walter P. Reuther, CIO president, and George Meany, AFL chief.

"On the local level, it will mean a union will get more support in case of a strike," he added.

Haggard sees little political strengthening in the move.

Semon E. Knudsen to Head GM Diesel

DETROIT (AP)—Appointment of Semon E. Knudsen as general manager of the Detroit Diesel Division of General Motors Corp. was announced today by Harlow H. Curtice, GM president.

Knudsen, 42, is the son of the late William S. Knudsen, president of General Motors from 1937 to 1940. Now an official in GM's Allison Division in Indianapolis, he will take over his new post March 1, succeeding William T. Crowe, who is retiring after 35 years with General Motors.

Knudsen joined GM as a process engineer at Pontiac Motor Division in 1939.

At Pontiac, he was successively chief inspector-defense plant, superintendent of the car assembly plant and assistant general master mechanic before he was appointed director of the process development section of General Motors in August, 1949.

Weight Limits in Force on Blacktopped Roads

Because the warmer weather has softened shoulders and bases of blacktopped roads the Oakland County Road Commission placed weight restrictions on them at noon today.

The limit on a single axle is 11,700 pounds and 16,900 on a tandem axle, said Robert O. Felt, chairman.

The restrictions will remain as long as weather conditions warrant, he explained.

Ike Sees Russian as Decent If Free to Follow Own Instincts

Newsman Gives Intimate Memories of Gen. Eisenhower and Zhukov in Moscow

Editor's Note: Eddy Gilmore was an AP correspondent in Moscow for 11 years, starting in World War II and ending soon after the funeral of Joseph Stalin. He wrote "Me and My Russian Wife," an account of his life in the Soviet Union. Currently assigned to AP's London Bureau, he is just now in the United States on a brief leave.

By EDDY GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

The time was a late summer day right after the war. The place was the Blue Room of Spasso House in Moscow. The man slouched easily in a deep leather chair was Gen. Eisenhower.

I remember asking the question. "What do you think of Zhukov?"

The general hesitated for a moment. The slanting rays of a setting sun fell across his face. He frowned slightly as he replied.

"Georgi," he said, "is a very decent fellow."

American and British correspondents who had covered the war from the Russian side had the same opinion of the broad-shouldered, square-jawed Soviet commander. A tough guy all right, but a man who could smile and a man who—unlike many other Red commanders—would give you a straight answer to a question.

"Do you think we could ever do business with Zhukov?" someone asked the supreme Allied commander who was later to become president of the United States.

"Well, left on his own," said Eisenhower, "I believe I could do business with him."

That seemed to be a good endorsement of Georgi Zhukov, Russia's new minister of defense. It filled in with what I knew of this man who was a good soldier, but I'm afraid not a very good politician.

Eisenhower visted Moscow after the war as Zhukov's guest. He received a sports parade atop Lenin's Tomb with Zhukov, attended a football game with him at Dynamo Stadium and was cheered by the Russian people as no American perhaps ever has been cherred in Moscow.

I remember Zhukov sitting around a big table in Berlin shortly after the war. Eisenhower was across the table. Field Marshal Montgomery of Britain was down at one end.

A French general whose name I can't remember was at the other end.

Beside Zhukov sat the late Andrei Vishinsky, then deputy foreign minister. I stood just behind Zhukov and Vishinsky, so close I could have flicked cigarette ashes down their necks.

Eisenhower made a proposal. When he finished, Vishinsky poked Zhukov in the ribs. He poked him with his thumb. Obediently Marshal Zhukov got to his feet and recited a routine Soviet reaction to what Eisenhower had said. If I remember correctly, it concerned some minor details of setting up a four-power command in Berlin.

Zhukov was still in the full flight of oratory when Vishinsky suddenly grabbed him by the tail of his smart fawn colored military jacket and—with a yank—pulled him back into his seat.

"You've said enough," Vishinsky whispered to him in Russian. I looked at Zhukov's broad beefy neck. Perspiration stood out around it like a string of pale pearls.

Montgomery made a suggestion and once more Vishinsky poked Zhukov. He jumped to his feet again.

Later we asked some of the high American and British brass about Zhukov at conferences.

"He's all very normal," said a British general, "except when he's got the devilish Soviet politicians around him. How he seems to hate them."

And how well another scene involving Zhukov comes back today.

Again it was Berlin, battered and broken after its capture by the Red army hordes. Zhukov sat behind a long table overlooking a pretty little lake. With a matchbox he illustrated how he moved his tanks against the Wehrmacht.

"I brought my tanks against them like this," he said, "and then I brought up two fresh artillery groups over here. And the infantry here."

An American correspondent interrupted him:

"What part did Generalissimo Stalin play in all this operation?"

Zhukov looked stunned, as if someone had hit him with an ax. He began a recitation.

"Generalissimo Stalin," he said, "directed every move I ever made in the war. He made every decision. He is the greatest and ties of Lincoln reliving in Eisenhower, McKay stated.

This trust in the President brings "opportunity for true unity and cooperation in achieving our common goals."

"Lincoln's selfless dedication to the fundamental welfare of all Americans we find reflected in the words and actions of our President today. His program is . . . for all America, based on enduring principles and not on political expediency."

The leader of the 1860s "brought to the country the promise of strong, progressive government which drew adherents from both the older parties.

"In just such a fashion has President Eisenhower provided the answer to the demand of the American people today for responsible, incorruptible leadership."

McKay cited the "outstanding" work of Dondero and Senator Charles Potter (R-Mich) and urged the gathering to take part in county affairs to build "the foundation for continued Republican progress."

The secretary quoted words used by Eisenhower to describe the present GOP program which might have been uttered by Lincoln: "It is a program that does not deal in pie in the sky promises to all, nor in bribes to a few, nor in threats to any.

"It is a program inspired by zeal for the common good, dedicated to the welfare of every American family "whatever its livelihood, social position, ancestral strain, or religion.

Describing his department's program for the 400,000 Indians in America, McKay said, "No one is good as a ward of the government. All citizens must be free. But freedom can't be forced upon them, they must desire it."

Dondero also likened Eisenhower to Lincoln saying, "The Great Emancipator once stated, 'Government should never do for the people what the people can do for themselves.'" Republican policy has always been guided by this simple formula.

"On the Dixon-Yates Tennessee Valley power contract . . . Lincoln would endorse the position of President Eisenhower, saying that in what private industry can do as well, the government ought not to interfere."

Regarding McKay, the congressman said, "This is the first time I can recall that a member of a president's cabinet spoke in Oakland County."

A brief address was given by Mrs. William A. Kennedy, president of the county Republican Women's Federation.

Among those introduced were Mrs. Peter Gibson, vice chairman of the GOP State Central Committee; Miss Sarah Van Hoosen Jones, State Board of Agriculture member; and Oakland County's State Senator William S. Broomfield.

Others were Edward E. Wilson, county Republican chairman; Mrs. Douglas McKay; and former state treasurer, D. Hale Brake.

Congratulatory messages were read from Senator Potter, Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield and the office of the President.

Lifebelt Puts Ailing Fish Back in Swim of Things

NEWCASTLE - ON - TYNE, England (AP)—Seven - year - old Ian Miller reported today his pet goldfish Peter, who can't swim, is getting around nicely in a lifebelt.

Peter flipped out of his bowl recently in a burst of high spirits and damaged his side fins. Returned to the water, he sank glumly to the bottom.

Ian appealed to his father, who cut a piece of cork and fastened it to Peter's back with a rubber band twined round the fish's middle. The cork keeps Peter top side up. He propels by flicking his tail.

Mrs. Yates died suddenly Tuesday morning at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

bright farm future through more research and education.

"It is the American way for farmers and marketing people to make their own decisions, but they need and expect the best available information if they are to make the right decisions," he said.

"We need more research and education on the development of new products, new uses and new processes" to expand farm markets and lick the problem of surpluses.

"We must face up to the ever-present needs of balancing total farm production with the kinds and amounts of products consumers want and will take at equitable prices," he said.

"This means we must provide forward-looking information to help farmers gear their individual production plans to the realities of consumer demand."

He said the founding fathers who created Michigan State College in 1855 "built a highway to enormous progress and we must carry on."

He suggested more research into control of the weather, the possibility of replacing some fast-diminishing minerals with farm crops, farm machinery powered by atomic energy and economical irrigation of desert land.

In World War II, 4,800,000 young men were reviewed by draft boards.

Michigan Unionists to Become Brothers could be expected to agree to a setup which would give the AFL the upper hand in organization of the merged group. This is especially true in that Reuther agreed to step aside on the national level to give AFL President George Meany the No. 1 post.

On the political front, AFL-CIO merger could mean solidification of labor backing for certain candidates. It may eliminate situations where the AFL—or one segment of it—supports one candidate and the CIO a rival.

Last November, for instance, most labor groups—AFL and CIO — supported Democrat Patrick V. McNamara for the U. S. Senate. James R. Hoffa's AFL Teamsters Union actively campaigned for Republican incumbent Homer Ferguson.

Various segments of the Wayne County Federation of Labor have split many times in the past over whom to support. Thus a member's contribution for political action was divided between rival candidates.

Auto industry officials declined to comment as to the effect of merger on labor negotiations.

Harvey J. Campbell, executive vice president of the Detroit Board of Commerce, said merger "is another step toward a labor government and brings closer the danger of socialism, which, in my opinion, is not American."

Schoole and Barney Hopkins, secretary-treasurer of the Michigan CIO Council, said merger would "result in greater progress beneficial to all working people."

James Gibson, vice president of the Detroit and Wayne County Federation of Labor, commented:

"We've been working very closely with the CIO in political matters and now we'll be even closer."

Neil Staebler, state Democratic chairman, added:

"To paraphrase someone else's remark, it looks like it's good for the country, and what's good for the country is good for the Democratic Party."

Helicopter-Airplane Unveiling Is Today

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — A queer looking flying contraption, half helicopter and half airplane, will be unveiled today before Defense Department brass.

It's the Bell VX3 which can take off and land vertically and also fly like an airplane. The craft with the unconventional appearance was developed here by Bell Aircraft Corp. under a joint Army-Air Force contract.

The blunt-nosed craft has 3-bladed rotors on the tip of each of its stubby fixed wings. The rotors bite vertically into the air to lift the high-tailed, big-ruddered machine into the air.

Then they tilt forward to act as conventional propellors for cruising and high speed flight.

The Day in Birmingham

Fifteen Residents of Area Named Youth Committee

BIRMINGHAM — Fifteen area representatives were named last night to serve this area as a permanent youth committee, coping with any problems that might arise for the youth of this and surrounding communities.

The committee is a prime objective of the Birmingham-Bloomfield-Franklin Council on Community Services, which recently completed its first report on facilities and leadership, needed to keep unfavorable juvenile situations at a minimum.

Chosen were: Mrs. Harvey B. Greene, who was also named chairman; Rev. Perry Williams, Rev. Robert Dewey, Paul Carter, and Eugene Johnson.

Others are: Mrs. C. E. Wilson Jr., Malcom A. Tindall, Paul Averill, Mrs. Robert V. Baxley, Dr. Donald Aikens, Mrs. Jack Gieck; Rev. Edmund Schwager, Mrs. Howard J. Willett Jr.; Dr. Harold F. Powell, and Mrs. William H. Jackson.

Mrs. Greene said meetings will be held every two weeks now while an exploratory program is conducted.

Robert E. Navin has announced that a new job will take him and his family to Michigan City, Ind., necessitating his resignation from the City Commission.

Navin, who has lived here all his life and served on the commission since last April, will present his formal resignation on Monday. City Manager Donald C. Egbert said today the lawmakers will probably accept the resignation but reappoint Navin to fill the term until this April's election.

Navin has already started work with the Hays Co. in Michigan City but is still attending commission meetings. He formerly was assistant to the president of Detroit Bevel Gear Co.

Senate OKs Pact to Defend Formosa

treaty shall be construed to modify the legal status of the territories to which it applies."

The U.S. Senate's ratification of the mutual defense pact with Nationalist China yesterday has put Chiang Kai-shek's Taipei capital in a better mood than at any time since he made his "painful decision" to withdraw his forces from the Tachen Islands.

The reaction here is one of relief and satisfaction, particularly with the 64-6 vote by the Senate.

"This shows," a Nationalist official declared, "that the American people are more united than ever before against communism."

Turkish-Iraqi Pact May Be Signed Soon

ANKARA, Turkey (AP)—Diplomatic informants say the Turkish-Iraqi defense pact, which threatens to disrupt the Arab League, will be signed in Baghdad sometime this month, possibly before Feb. 18.

Announcement of the Western-backed agreement touched off a violent campaign by Egypt against the accord with non-Arab Turkey. The Cairo government, attempting to maintain neutrality in the East-West cold war, has threatened to pull out of the league the day the pact is signed. So far the other Arab nations have refused to go along with Egypt in condemning Iraq, also a member of the league.

Born on Refugee Ship

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Chinese press reports said a girl was born aboard a refugee-laden landing ship yesterday half an hour before it docked at the northern Formosan port of Keelung.

Car Lights Guide Mercy Plane to Landing in Fog

MILES CITY, Mont. (AP)—A veteran B17 bomber pilot on a mercy flight ran into foul weather and trouble, but a motorist below saved the day. Using his car's headlights, he guided the air ambulance onto the highway.

The patient was Kenneth (Buz) Chamberlane, 36, injured Monday when a horse fell on him. Dr. Robert Currey and pilot Jim Shennum late Tuesday loaded Chamberlane on a plane at Scobey to bring him to Veterans Administration hospital here.

They ran into soupy overcast near Glendive. The ceiling lowered to less than 500 feet. Shennum spotted the highway and buzzed it.

Motorist Pep Waplef realized the trouble and pulled his car around. Its headlights guided the plane down onto the highway. Another motorist, James Cuber, of Rosebud, took the party on to the hospital.

Chamberlane was reported in satisfactory condition yesterday.

U.S. Coin of the Realm Declared Up to Snuff

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — United States coin of the realm has been declared up to standards for another year.

A group of citizenry made the annual visit to the U.S. Mint yesterday to test the coins. The 13 men and three women on this year's assay commission found everything in order—as was expected. The mint makes a preliminary check prior to each visit of the commission to ensure that.

The commission is appointed by the President. Its members receive no compensation, only the honor of appointment.

The Distinguished Service Corss was established by an Act of Congress July 9, 1918. It replaced an earlier award called the Certificate of Merit.

No More Burma Shave

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—A highway safety bill introduced in the Legislature would prohibit those rhyming little advertising signs along highways. It would ban all signs designed to be read in sequence.

Observatory Is Built for Boy

Teenager Whose Hobby Is Astronomy, Owner of $100,000 Building

BUCYRUS, O. (UP)—A private observatory costing an estimated $100,000 is under construction here in the backyard of a 15-year-old boy who follows astronomy "Merely as a hobby."

The observatory is being built for Charles Reid Michael, high school sophomore and honor student, by his father, Walter J. Michael, president of the Ohio Locomotive Crane Co. It is expected to be finished in January.

The round-domed building itself will be about the same size as Ohio Wesleyan University's Perkins Observatory, one of the largest east of the Mississippi River.

However, the custom-built telescope will be only a 12-inch one compared to Ohio Wesleyan's 69-inch reflector. A German firm will supply the lens. In the building will be an extensive library on astronomical subjects.

According to Mrs. Michael, Charles has never had any formal instruction in astronomy but has conducted a thorough study on his own.

His parents have encouraged him in his interest. During the July 4 eclipse, they drove him more than a thousand miles to a point on Lake Superior so he could use his present three-inch telescope to best advantage.

Mrs. Michael said her son follows astronomy "merely as a hobby" and that he wants to study medicine and become a surgeon.

NYC President Inspects Tracks in Special Auto

ALBANY, N. Y. (UP) — Don't be alarmed if an automobile whizzes by with a mighty blast from an air horn while you're waiting at a New York Central Railroad crossing. It's probably Central's president, Alfred E. Perlman, out on an inspection tour.

Perlman has a special automobile, equiped to run on railroad tracks and over the highway, which he uses on inspection trips along the line.

The car has flanged wheels in front and back to keep the rubber tires on the tracks and keep the weight off them. For highway travel, these wheels are flipped up out of the way by an air pressure device under the fenders.

When Perlman travels on the rails, the steering apparatus is locked into position.

Yellow lights in front, red ones on the back and a red flashing light above the car's number "100" marker provide protection against collisions with trains, even though none are supposed to be on any section of track when the car is.

Light Helps Feed Ducks

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UP)—A farmer near here found a novel way to keep his ducks well fed. He mounted an electric light on a pole near the water in the center of a pond on his farm. While the insects are having their fun around the light at night, the ducks swim around the pole feasting on them.

Kremlin Shakeup Means Less Consumer Goods

The sudden bloodless shakeup in the Kremlin is something of a paradox.

Because there had been considerable evidence that the struggle for top control was continuing, the change of leadership was not unexpected. Yet, it was surprising to learn that Premier Malenkov should resign with a confession of incapacity to manage state affairs, especially agriculture.

Surprising, too, was the emergence from the background of Nikita Khrushchev. It was this First Secretary of the Communist Party, the office from which Stalin rose to dictatorial power, who nominated Marshal Bulganin to be Malenkov's successor. That nomination was given immediate and unanimous approval by the Supreme Soviet, suggesting that Khrushchev is the new Mr. Big in Russia.

Even more surprising than Khrushchev's new status is the Supreme Soviet's approval of ex-Premier Malenkov's appointment to be minister of electric power. This post once was held by Marshal Bulganin, the new premier. Few Russian officials who have fallen down on their jobs have lived long enough to be given other appointments.

Naturally, there is wide diversity of opinion as to the meaning of this shakeup. In Europe some believe that the army may have become the real power in Russia.

Premier Bulganin, despite his rank of marshal, has no reputation either as a military commander or statesman. Also strengthening the Khrushchev theory is the fact that Marshal Zhukov, the country's greatest military hero, becomes defense minister instead of premier.

It seems too easy to say that the shakeup means more guns and less butter for the Russian people. Yet both Malenkov's resignation and Khrushchev's speech emphasized that grim prospect.

Russian foreign policy hasn't changed. Its goal still is world domination. Nor has the Kremlin's struggle ended. It will continue as long as the principle of multiple control is retained. Who will emerge finally as top man is anybody's guess.

Time to Get Road Issue on Ballots Ebbing Fast

Michigan's need for a $500,000,000 road building program is growing daily.

So is the fear that politicking at Lansing will continue to delay things until too late to get the issue on the April ballots in any form.

The deadline is February 25.

If partisan bickering hasn't subsided by then, it will be too late for anything but regrets. If the Republican leadership and the Governor can't reach some sort of a compromise, nobody will be able to do anything about more sorely needed roads for Michigan this year.

The blame will rest squarely on both.

Neither can afford it.

So far the Republicans have criticized the Governor's proposal on two counts. They contend it lacks provisions for proper financing and doesn't promise enough county roads. Their suggestion is for a two cent increase in the State's four and one-half cents gasoline tax.

Gov. Williams believes that more and better roads will increase revenues to a point where a gasoline tax increase wouldn't be necessary. But, bowing to Legislative opinion, he now agrees that a one-half cent increase in this levy would be advisable.

The Republican idea of a two cent increase in the gas tax strikes us as a sound means of retiring a highway bond issue. The State's present levy of four and one-half cents a gallon is nearly one and one-half cents below the national average and that average is rising.

One result of this bickering at Lansing is a suggestion worth considering. It is that the Republicans choose a responsible Legislator who understands the highway problem. His task would be to sit down with the Governor and work out a program to give Michigan the roads it needs where it needs them.

There still is time to get such a Governor-Legislature program on the April ballot. The haggling politicians at Lansing better do something about it soon.

February 25 is less than three weeks away.

"Don't Worry—I'm Right Behind You"

David Lawrence Says:

U.S. Should Give Hope, Food to Enslaved Nations

WASHINGTON — What a golden opportunity the spokesmen of the free world have missed in the last 24 hours! Instead of public expressions that fluctuate between fear over whether a tougher Soviet policy is in prospect or whether the road is open to more appeasement, the governmental leaders on this side of the Iron Curtain could well have drawn attention to the plight of the Soviet peoples and to measures that some day can bring their liberation.

Quite incidentally — it arose out of a reminiscence by the President of a talk he had in 1945 with Marshal Zhukov, the new minister of defense in the Moscow government — Mr. Eisenhower told his press conference Wednesday how he had described to Zhukov the operation of a free government. The President said:

"Now, I explained to him (Zhukov) how absolutely impossible it was for a democracy to organize a surprise aggression against anybody. Our processes are open. Every time you get money or you change anything in your military affairs, you go to Congress. It is debated. There is no possibility of a country such as ours producing a completely surprise attack on any other. And that is what I was emphasizing to him."

This very week, however, Malenkov was forced out by a little group of men who imposed a premier without consulting the 200 million people of Soviet Russia.

Everybody knows that the main crisis inside the Soviet Union today is the lack of food production. Yet the United States has millions of bushels of grain and foodstuffs stored in warehouses, and this surplus could be an instrument of good will more powerful than words. It will be recalled that when the East German food riots were under way two years ago, President Eisenhower offered food packages. It was a master stroke in good relations with the people of Eastern Europe.

Today the United States, with an abundance of food, is able to help out the peoples of Soviet Russia and the satellite states, all of which are undernourished because of the restricted food supply. The people on the mainland of China desperately need rice, as their government at Peiping has been exporting this commodity so as to buy rubber from Ceylon.

If the United States offered the Soviet and Chinese peoples a chance to solve their agricultural problems with farm machinery and promised them, in the meantime, foodstuffs out of the surpluses available here, the way would be opened to the hearts of the tens of millions of persons behind the Iron Curtain.

For the road to peace lies in awakening the peoples in Soviet Russia and the satellite states to the fact that they need not remain enslaved indefinitely and that economic help will be forthcoming if they will only establish free governments which the rest of the world could trust.

The billions of dollars now being spent in preparations for war could in large part be used to give a new life to the people of Soviet Russia and the oppressed peoples of the neighboring states.

Just a few hours after the news of the dismissal of Malenkov became known to the world, President Eisenhower was broadcasting over what is known as a closed television circuit to 35 meetings throughout the United States where funds were being raised to support Radio Free Europe. This is a private organization in which the former undersecretary of state, Walter Bedell Smith, now is playing a prominent part. In Mr. Eisenhower's address there were two pertinent paragraphs:

"While we maintain our vigilance at home and abroad, we must help intensify the will for freedom in the satellite countries behind the Iron Curtain. These countries are in the Soviet back yard, and only so long as their people are reminded that the outside world has not forgotten them — only that long do they remain as potential deterrents to Soviet aggression.

"The great majority of the 70 million captives in these satellite countries have known liberty in the past. They now need our constant friendship and help if they are to believe in their future."

Here was the first word of encouragement to be issued in a long time to some of the peoples behind the Iron Curtain. Back in 1952, during the presidential campaign, there were speeches about liberation, but the Communists abroad managed to persuade timid persons in Britain and America that, of course, a policy of liberation by American arms was being planned. As a result of such pressure, the idea has been soft-pedaled, so now it is significant that President Eisenhower has boldly proclaimed a revival of hope for the oppressed and enslaved peoples. That's very good psychological strategy, and, if it were accompanied now by concrete pledges of aid with food, it would contribute much toward an eventual uprising by the peoples throughout the Iron Curtain territory.

Room for 'Em Here

Opportunity to Get Young Trees for Local Planting

Getting on a high horse: Slang phrase for being "uppity;" but few women have looked well on a horse since Lady Godiva.

With a special eye toward the Pontiac area, Chief of the Michigan Department of Conservation operations work, writes that 25 million pine seedlings will be ready for distribution by the coming spring. Oakland County still has several thousand acres of rough land that is quite adapted for the planting of these young trees. Over a million already have been planted here, some of them now large enough for Christmas trees. If you wish to get into the tree raising business to any extent, or just would like to create a beautiful windbreak, write the department at Lansing.

Gaylord A. Walker,

Here's a hint to anybody opening a new subdivision in the Pontiac area. It is the ambition of most everybody to live on "Easy Street," but Pontiac has no street by that name. Many Michigan cities, including Detroit, Flint, Grand Rapids and a score of others all have one. Ye local subdividers, why not give us a chance to live on "Easy Street?"

In response to many inquiries on the matter, especially the one from

Ignorant, But Willing to Learn,"

I have contacted the weather bureau and find that their official classifications of the force of the wind are: light, up to 7 miles per hour; gentle, 8 to 12; moderate, 13 to 18; fresh, 19 to 24; strong, 25 to 38; gale, 39 to 54; whole gale, 55 to 75; hurricane, above 75.

'Old Timer' Urges House to House Mail Delivery for Auburn Heights' Residents

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

Over the past 20 years or so there has been lots of talk regarding the consolidating of the Auburn Heights and Pontiac Post offices. Again the issue has come up and I would like to put in my two cent's worth.

Don't the taxpayers have anything to say regarding this matter? I have heard all over town that the decision is to be left up to the merchants—why? The merchants all have boxes why should they worry?

I, for one, with about 200 others who should have boxes, have to wait in line, sometimes as long as 20 minutes. Some of the merchants should have to wait like this then they would be happy to let someone else help out so we could have house to house delivery like we should have had many years ago.

Come on, folks, don't be selfish. We've lagged behind long enough. The town has certainly grown, let's grow with it.

Press Readers Debate Fluoridation Question

Some cities naturally have one part of fluorine in a million parts of water. If it were dangerous, they would have taken it out long ago. Instead they let well enough alone and have lived happily ever after.

I have lived in Pontiac for 48 years and the pure well water here has never done me any harm. I think going to all the expense of putting fluorine into our water is unfair to the taxpayers.

If the well water isn't good, is our Governor going to condemn all the wells in Michigan?

Albert B. Blackford

I am an American citizen and the only allegiance I owe to anyone is to God, my country, neighbors, family and myself.

I don't see how any minority, or even a majority group, can force fluoridation on the public. Our body belongs to us and God alone so long as we shall live and not to the State, as in Russia.

I will not purchase any food products or vegetables that are handled or prepared in any fluoridated area, let alone go into a fluoridated area and patronize any place that serves foods or beverages for human consumption as far as the same shall come to my knowledge.

I wonder if the Freedom Crusade leader can't do something about this wave of mass medication and help save the American heritage of freedom of speech and body.

Thus such things as fluoridation of water, which is everybody's business, could be brought to the vote of all the people instead of the minority few who sit on a council, school board, dental association or medical association.

Wake up Americans! Protect your heritage, freedom, and American way of life.

Ralph Keeling Urges Prayer for Better Life

I shudder at the mad scramble everyone seems to be in, seeking money for fleeting pleasures that only leave a bad taste in the mouth and a weakened body and mind.

It all helps bring about the unstable condition the earth is in today. Our time here is but a fleeting moment as compared to eternity.

Don't you think it is about time we stopped leading such useless lives and contacted God who is every ready to help if we sincerely ask for help, to lead a more sane and useful life?

Try sincere prayer and you will be amazed at the relief you will experience.

Praises Commissioner for Fire Station Interest

We noticed with interest the small paragraph in "Man About Town" that Commissioner Patterson was concerned about a fire station for the west side. Perhaps we all would have the same feeling if we knew the situation as he does. I trust there'll never be reason to regret not giving this needed protection.

Last Spring we voted the necessary millage to construct necessary city improvements. As I recall it, one of the main points for this extra millage was building new fire stations.

Perhaps this was only a talking point as it always catches the interest of the citizen. In any recent statements given by the present administration regarding city improvements, there has been no mention of fire stations, even in the near future.

Let us not learn a lesson the hard way. Bravo to Commissioner Patterson for his concern.

Case Records of a Psychologist

Attractive College Coed Wonders Why She Never Is Asked for Second Date

Mabel is a one-date girl. Although very attractive looking, she failed to win second dates. If you lovely girls want to win sweethearts by the dozen, then re-read this Case Record daily and apply the advice herein. Winning popularity is a sales job, like selling magazines, and there are surefire techniques for doing both.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case N-346: Mabel M., aged 20, is a brilliant college coed.

"But something must be wrong with me," she said sadly, "for I can't get a second date with a boy.

"Oh, I have no trouble rating a first date, for I dress well, as you can see, and am not bad looking.

"But why is it that boys politely say goodnight to me on the first date and then fail to call me for a second date?"

One obvious reason that I detected at once was the fact that Mabel was straining too hard.

In salesmanship, you can press so hard as you approach the "dotted line" stage of the sales interview, that you drive your prospect away.

Subconsciously, he recognizes the excessive urgency in your voice and begins to grow wary. It seems to ring a little bell in his subconscious mind, which registers "Danger."

So he begins to wonder if your excessive strain is due to your inability to sell previous prospects. That alerts him to greater caution so he will not be the first victim, sucker or fall guy.

Mabel was growing neurotic about this problem. And her worry showed through to her prospects.

"Quit being so overly concerned," I advised her, "and develop a more philosophical attitude."

Then I reminded her that even if she never married, that didn't mean she could not enjoy life abundantly, for happiness is not a case of 100 per cent vs. zero.

If you can't be 100 per cent happy, as few ever are, then shoot for 95 per cent or 87 per cent.

"Plan your life", I further advised her, "and try to accomplish something worthwhile.

"When you team up with God Almighty and fit into some niche that will help make civilization better, then it is of only secondary importance as to whether you marry or remain unmarried."

Instead, too many modern girls make marriage their god! They show their frenzy about roping a husband so that most boys vaguely hear the hum of the lariat before they even are introduced to her.

Besides, men madly pursue the attractive girls who seem disinterested in marriage!

If a girl is gay and jolly, but gently lets the boys know she is going to be a missionary and hence is not marrying, they fight to put a wedding ring on her finger! For she then becomes a challenge and men enjoy the challenge almost as much as love itself.

Mabel should also realize that every boy has this motto tattooed on his chest at birth: "I want to feel important."

So feed him compliments! For sincere praise inflates his ego and makes him feel more important.

Keep it up for a few dates and he soon will begin to lean upon you as the emotional crutch for his ego. He feels so good while around you and so disconsolate away from you, that he decides to buy an engagement ring.

So be lavish with compliments. And don't toot your own horn by disdaining his 50 cent movie date or belittling the food at the restaurant to try to suggest your own superiority and sophistication.

Be grateful for all favors and say so. Men don't like tongue-tied girls who fail to thank them for dates.

Vitamin Shots Necessary Only on Rare Occasions

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

From down east a lady writes: Dear Dr. Brady:

The Ol' is unworthy . . . Everybody envies my being so full of pep. I tell them it is thanks to Dr. Brady, but they smile at my naivety and continue to drag around, even after "shots" . . . most of them younger in years but none seems to have vite.

Well, Ma'am, that isn't our fault, is it? You tried to tell 'em, and for years I have been telling 'em. But the poor geeks like to dream they can get it in "shots" at $7.50 per without bothering their heads about diet, nutrition, temperance, natural breathing, exercise, care of the teeth or other silly notions—after all, they can always dispel their inferiority complexes with another cocktail or highball.

Whether the trick specialist or "clinic" racketeer soaks the customer $7.50 or $3 per "shot," there's no good reason for administering vitamins that way, if the customer can still take nourishment by mouth.

In rare instances of advanced malnutrition it is necessary to inject into a vein many times more than the normal daily requirement of one or more vitamins.

One reader informs me that vitamins are magic, for whenever he gets utterly tired out and exhausted he drops in at the "clinic" and gets a "shot," and presently he is on his toes again and in fine spirits. Do I know anything else that will do that?

I do not. But I believe a shot of sterile tap water would have the same effect.

Another writer writes:

I am supplementing my diet with B-complex and calciwafers, and I am surprised . . . also some changes in my diet as suggested by the basic health diet in your Little Lesson 16. Gone are the aches, pains, allergies and irregular heartbeats, not to mention the ulcer symptoms that worried me . . . 47, look and feel fine, go to gym class every week, enjoy doing all my own housework for a family of four, and occasionally take a part time job . . .

Little Lesson 16 is the booklet "The Seven Keys to Vite," for which send 25c and stamped, self-addressed envelope. The basic diet on which to build your own regular diet. It is a protective, corrective, rejuvenation, regeneration and reduction diet.

Signed letters not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to diagnosis, drugs or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self addressed envelope is enclosed, etc.

Chiang Wrecks Island Defenses

Underground Bulwarks Blasted, Ammo Saved in Tachen Evacuation

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Chiang Kai - shek's forces blasted and burned a maze of underground defense works and shuttled tons of ammunition and supplies to rocky beaches in the high-speed final phase of the Tachen Islands evacuation.

U. S. 7th Fleet warships churned the East China Sea around the island and jets swept overhead protecting the critical military withdrawal.

Civilians already had been removed. Most of the refugees already were on the Nationalist bastion of Formosa 200 miles to the south.

Nationalist sources said the withdrawal had been completed on three outlying islands, the Yu Shan group 35 miles northeast and Pishan 32 miles southwest of the Tachens.

The government announced a decision to pull out civilians on Nanchishan, 80 miles south of the Tachens. But official quarters said the military garrison would remain there and probably would be strengthened to maintain the island as a northern shield for Formosa.

The high esteem in which he was held by Russia's 200 million people, and the fact that he seemed to get along well with Eisenhower, are probably the reasons why Joseph Stalin banished him to the relative wilderness of the Odessa military district after the war, a wilderness from which he did not return until after Stalin's death in March 1953.

AFL Leader George Meany to Head Merged Unions

MIAMI BEACH (INS)—The first step to seal the agreement for a historic merger of the AFL and CIO will be taken today when the AFL executive council meets to ratify the amalgamation.

The merger formula announced yesterday in Miami Beach after two days of "showdown talks" means that 15 million workers will enter 1956 with American labor united for the first time in nearly 20 years.

AFL President George Meany will become top officer of the merged labor group, while the CIO's Walter Reuther will be named a vice president of the new federation.

The agreement, though reached in top-level talks between the two groups, must go through the following steps before merger becomes final:

1. It must be approved by the AFL and CIO executive Councils.

2. Each organization in separate conventions must ratify it.

3. A joint AFL-CIO convention must then give final approval.

The AFL executive group is expected to approve the move today. The CIO executive board will vote on it Feb. 24.

The AFL convention will be in Chicago in September and the CIO meets in October at Buffalo.

The agreement, culminating two years of unity talks, brings to an end the bitter split between the two groups which began in 1935 when the industrial unions left the AFL.

In a joint announcement, Meany and Reuther said they were happy to help bring about labor unity "at a time when the unity of all the American people is most urgently needed in the face of the Communist threat to world peace and civilization."

Under the pact, the executive officers of the new organization would be elected at conventions held every two years.

The initial president and secretary-treasurer must come from the AFL, but the agreement does not stipulate that the post be rotated between former AFL-CIO officials nor does it specify whether officers must step down at the end of the two-year terms.

There will be 27 vice presidents, 17 coming from the 10,300,000 member AFL and 10 from the CIO's 4,400,000 members.

The merger calls for the preservation of the identity and integrity of the more than 140 unions affiliated with the two parent bodies.

On the problem of no-raid pacts, which ban unions from raiding other unions to gain members—a stumbling block to amalgamation in the past—the merger calls for a constitutional clause upholding the principles of no-raiding and establishing appropriate machinery to implement no-raiding agreements.

The merger does not call for mandatory no-raiding pledges by all unions.

In cases where unions of the CIO and AFL have conflicting and duplicatory organizations and jurisdictions, the agreement says that the unions "will be encouaged to eliminate conflicts and duplications through the process of agreement and merger."

The pact also creates within the new federation a department of organization whose purpose would be "to organize the unorganized into collective bargaining units."

Police Confiscate 2 Slot Machines in Pontiac Club

Two slot machines, which enjoyed a climax of popularity during the days of the roaring 20's, showed up in Pontiac today when police vice squad members confiscated the one-arm bandits.

Although the machines are banned in Michigan by state law, police said no arrests were made, but issued a warning to members of a Pontiac men's club where the machines once stood. Police asked that the name of the "respectable" organization be withheld.

Capt. Clark M. Wheaton, chief of detectives who said that a federal act also prohibits the transportation of the slot machines across state lines, added he learned of the machines' whereabouts from an anonymous tipster yesterday.

Hauling the one-arm bandits into police headquarters about 1 p. m. today were Sgt. Donny Ashley, head of the vice bureau, Sgt. Raymond E. Ashley and Detective Herbert C. Cooley.

Wheaton warned that possession of the machines is punishable by both state and federal laws.

U.S. Sending Lodge to Disarming Talks

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (INS) President Eisenhower confirmed today instructions for Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge to speak for the U.S. at the 5-power London disarmament talks late this month.

The meeting of the U.N. subcommittee will give the West its first chance to test the Kremlin's policy on nuclear weapons following the big top-level shakeup in Moscow.

Lodge will go to London with orders to report to the President and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles on his return the implications and evaluation of Soviet claims of superiority in nuclear weapons and of threats to use them against aggression.

keeps its autonomy, as I understand it," he said. "Therefore, I don't see any increase in political power."

Commenting on charges that the merger would lead to socialism and a socialistic government, Haggard declared:

"Whenever there is a difference of opinion, one of the opinions is socialistic. It was the same thing with workman's compensation, unemployment compensation and social security."

Meanwhile, Edward E. Wilson, Oakland County GOP chairman, predicted an increase in the political activity of the union movement.

"Now, the CIO is more interested in power politics and when the two hook up they will try to get the AFL to take the same road," he said.

Wilson, co-owner of Wilson Pontiac-Cadillac Agency in Birmingham, added:

"The merger of the two unions would be a greater monopoly than any that exists on the other side now. What other unions are there of any importance?"

By "other side," he said, he meant the industrial or manufacturing side.

Seek Ardent Lover, 70, —and Woman's Watch

ROCK ISLAND, Ill. (UP)—Police were requested to search for a romantic thief—about 70 years old. His victim reported she was sitting in the Buffalo Tavern when a man made ardent love to her.

"When it was all over I was minus a $65 watch," she said.

At Eldorado, on Beaverlodge Lake in northern Saskatchewan, a main shaft descends 1,300 feet into one of Canada's largest uranium deposits.

'Stolen' Bike Returned

BROCKTON, Mass. (UP) — A 10-year-old boy walked into the police station and reported his bike stolen. Police had one matching the description and turned it over to him. One hour later the lad was back with the bike and the story that he did not own it and had used the tale to get one.

In Hawaii, fields of sugar cane are set afire just before harvest as a labor-saving device, the flames consuming the useless leaves and tassels so rapidly that the juicy stalks are unharmed.

Love Was Always Stormy

ONEIDA, N. Y. (UP) — The course of love was thorny even in the good old days. A notice in the Ulster County Gazette, dated Jan. 4, 1800, reads: "Of my wife Hannah (notice) is hereby given, forbidding all persons whatever from harbouring or keeping her . . . as I am determined to pay no debts of her contracting."

If all the natural ice on earth, were to melt, it would release enough water to raise sea level perhaps 100 feet, says the National Geographic Society.

Load Too Heavy to Bear

LOWVILLE, N. Y. (UP)—Theodore J. Nalle of Oswego didn't get much sympathy when his 11-ton tractor-trailer loaded with 19 tons of cement crashed through a bridge into some 20 feet of water near here. He was fined $100. Town of Croghan officials pointed out the bridge was posted for a maximum load of eight tons.

American private investment in Canada is now $8,000,600,000, an increase of 72 per cent in the past 10 years, reports the 1955 Book of Knowledge Annual.

Saginaw Postpones Opening of College

SAGINAW (AP)—The target date for the opening of a junior college in Saginaw has been moved back to the fall of 1956.

The board of education has decided it would be unable to go through with plans to have a junior college operating by this fall, as had been originally intended, because of housing difficulties.

The junior college was to be situated in two buildings formerly used for Saginaw High School. Then it was discovered one of the two would be needed for elementary pupils. The questionable condition of the other building from a fire and safety standpoint prompted the decision to delay opening plans.

Turkey, Japan Approve $6,550,000 Trade Pact

ANKARA (INS) — Turkey and Japan signed a trade agreement in Ankara today calling for the exchange of $6,550,000 worth of goods between the two nations.

Under the agreement, Turkey will export to Japan chrome, minerals, wool, cotton, skins and salt. Japan will export machines and spare parts, iron and steel, tires, optical instruments, cotton goods, artificial fertilizers, porcelain and wood pulp.

Israel was voted into the United Nations on May 11, 1949.

Railway Station, Anyone

MALONE, N. Y. (UP)—If you're looking around for a couple of railroad stations to buy, there just happens to be two on the market near here. The Rutland Railway Corp. has announced its stations at Burke and Churubusco are for sale. Both depots are no longer in use since the discontinuance of rail service to the communities.

Leroy Crane Flying Patrols Off Formosa

MUSKEGON (UP) — 1st Lt. Leroy R. Crane, captain of Michigan State's 1950 football team, is a flight commander in the 335th fighter - interceptor squadron patroling waters off Formosa, his wife said today.

Crane, a former Lansing resident, is a close friend of Capt. John Q. Kimball of Muskegon, who also is a flight commander in the 335th. Kimball led a group of American Sabrejets that ran into a formation of Communist MIG's off the China coast last week, shooting down two of the Red planes.

It was only luck of the state that the 26-year-old former MSC gridiron star wasn't flying when the American planes tangled with the Reds, his wife, the former Nancy Schillinger of Muskegon, said.

Man Sends Hotel $5 for Boyhood Thefts

CHICAGO (UP) — An unidentified man sent $5 to the Hyde Park Hotel in a letter yesterday saying he wanted to pay for articles he stole from the hotel roof when he was a boy.

He said he had stolen some light bulbs, aerial wire and insulators, and "ask your forgiveness." Enclosed in the letter was a religious leaflet: "Facts You Should Know and Believe to be Saved."

Got a Permit to Shave?

TRUTH OR CONSEQUENCES N.M. (UP)—Police are arresting clean-shaven men these days if they don't have a shaving permit. It's the law that, by way of making the city look more Western for its annual fiesta program, men must buy a $1 shaving permit or wear their whiskers long. Fiesta ends Feb. 17.

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR:

JUNIOR EDITORS

SUSAN ON A SWING

Here is Susan. You can help her have fun on her own swing. Color Susan as you wish, perhaps in a blue, red or yellow dress. Make the swing board brown. Paste the picture on stiff paper and cut it out carefully.

Make a hole where the dots are at each end of the swing and in the middle of Susan's hands. Put a long string through her right hand from the back, down the front of her arm and into the hole on the right side of the swing. Bring the string in back of her, into the hole on the left side of the swing, up in front of her arm and into the hole in her left hand.

Tie each end of the string to a long pencil or a stick, making sure each end of the string is the same length. Extend one end of the pencil out from a table edge and hold the other end down on the table with a book. Now Susan can swing back and forth when you give her a push.

Dem Chances in '56 Look Good to Butler

WASHINGTON (UP) — Paul M. Butler, new Democratic national chairman, thinks his party's chances of winning the presidency and retaining control of Congress in 1956 "look exceedingly good."

After a "get acquainted" meeting with 25 Democratic senators yesterday, Butler said:

"I think the people will be behind us because they want government in the interest of the general public instead of government in the interest of special interests that the Republicans are giving them."

Wins Checker Title With Weather's Help

HOLDREGE, Neb. (UP)—A. M. Voss, 79, Lincoln, is president of the Nebraska State Checker Assn., donor of the championship traveling trophy and current holder of the trophy.

He's been president of the association for 18 years but this is the first time he's taken home the champion's cup although he's entered tourneys since 1902. It was a wind and snow storm that partly helped him be champion. His final round opponent decided to hasten home and conceded the match.

And Salad Last

Eskimos' Dentist Warns U.S. to Eat Dessert First

CHICAGO (INS) — Gray-haired Dr. Carl J. Henkelmann, a flying dentist, spent several seasons near the North Pole to bring back this message for Americans:

"Finish your meals with a salad. If you must eat a sweet dessert, make it the first course."

The dentist is telling the current midwinter meeting of the Chicago Dental Society about his experiences and advises:

"We should switch around our dishes so that the sugary dessert is not the last one. A salad or fruit has the effect of cleaning out the teeth."

If the connection between snow, sugar and salad escapes you for a moment, let Dr. Henkelmann explain.

He was the first dentist to vist Point Barrow, Alaska, 1,250 miles from the North Pole, and the Anaktuunk Pass further "south" along the Arctic Circle.

Beginning in 1947, Dr. Henkelmann, a Lincoln, Neb., man who flies his own small plane, began spending several months of the year examining the teeth of Alaska's Eskimos. He singled out one tribe—The Killicks—consisting of three families of 70 men, women and children. The results? He said:

"I found absolutely no cavities or evidence of tooth decay among the Eskimos—until the white man came into the pass with his food habits.

"In 1950 a trader set up his post in the pass as a stop for the Alaskan airlines. Last year I examined 22 people under 30 and found 12 with a total of 69 cavities. All this without the aid of X-ray detection apparatus."

He concluded:

"The trader had brought in sugar, flour, rice, oatmeal, canned goods and candy—and the Eskimos added this to their diet."

Disturbed by the results of his research, Dr. Henkelmann flew back to the states and prepared an exhibit called "The destructive effects of white man's food on the Eskimo."

Sour orange trees were introduced into Florida so early by the Spanish explorers that they were long believed to be native to the state.

Part-Time Farming Trend Continues to Hold Its Own

WASHINGTON (INS) — Part-time farming is something fairly new on the American agricultural scene.

The movement got its big push, of course, during World War II when industrial plants were screaming for every available worker to keep their production lines going full tilt.

Today there is no wartime pressure, but many farmers and members of their families still are glad to have part-time jobs, especially if they happen to live on small acreages which bring in only a little income.

The effect actually is beneficial in two ways. The more the industrial establishment of the country expands, the larger will be the demand for milk, eggs, poultry and a host of other commodities the producer has for market.

For a closer look at what has been happening, let's take the state of Ohio as an example. ..

Extension workers estimate that one-third of the state's farm families earn more than half their income from jobs away from the farm. Fully half of Ohio's farmers now earn part of their income in non-farm jobs.

One might think this a case of a man trying to serve two masters, but it doesn't work out that way. Men who were good farmers before are just as painstaking with their crops after taking outside jobs.

In Ohio at least, it seems the situation works both ways.

Industrial workers who found themselves with time on their hands after the 40-hour work week was initiated decided it would be a good idea to put those extra working hours into a small farm. They've done just that—many of them.

Advent of the machine age also has had something to do with the part-time farming trend. Increased use of machines means that frequently some members of the family find they're unneeded on the farm, especially during the slack season.

Sociologists generally view the trend as a healthy one. They believe it will encourage more people to stick with rural communities instead of moving to the city.

Ohio is a highly industrialized state and what is happening there cannot be considered an accurate picture of what goes on in the country as a whole.

But the difference is merely one of degree. Even the least industrialized state in the nation has a growing number of part-time farmers.

Whether the operation is one to bring in some additional cash income or merely to provide food for the family, farm management specialists still think it's all to the good.

Brodie Twin Goes Home From Hospital

CHICAGO (AP)—Rodney Dee Brodie, surviving Siamese twin, left the University of Illinois Research Hospital yesterday after a month's checkup. Doctors said he was in "fine condition."

The 3½-year-old boy was taken to the farm home of his parents Mr. and Mrs. Royt Brodie in Ferris, Ill. Doctors said Rodney is able to walk without assistance and carry on a conversation.

Cattlemen Independent

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Cattlemen are still pretty independent in Arizona — and apparently as fearless as when they fought Indians for their ranges. It has taken a court order to prevent six Pima County cattlemen from keeping their cattle on the air force's 600,000-acre bombing and gunnery range west of Ajo, 90 miles southwest of here.

Bags 2 for 1 Bargain

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UPI) — Fred Heifeldt, who has hunted for 20-odd years, doesn't believe he'll ever repeat a feat he accomplished this fall. Taking aim at a raccoon in a tree, Heifeldt fired his gun. He looked in amazement when two 'coons dropped to the ground dead. Fellow-hunters confirmed his aim.

The Bhotia tribesmen of India's lofty Himalaya country live in three different zones, occupied according to season. Many of the tribes move about among three villages, the highest near the Tibetan border.

Tenants Resist Evacuation in Johannesburg Slums

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—South Africa's segregationist government has launched its forced evacuation of a condemned Negro section three days early and into the area to evade the order.

The government touched off the midnight flight with an order giving 150 families 12 hours to pack up and move from Johannesburg's Sophiatown district to the new Meadowlands housing project for Negroes 12 miles outside city limits.

As a prelude to the first evacuation order, originally scheduled for Saturday, all public meetings were banned in the Johannesburg area for the next 20 days.

* * * *

Armed police assembled in nearby stations to swoop down on Negro families who ignored the "get out" notices posted by government bailiffs.

In the rain-swept darkness, many of those ordered out carried their children, furniture and clothes to join friends and relatives living elsewhere in the area. Volunteers from the African National Congress (ANC), South Africa's largest Negro organization, stripped to the waist and helped in the hurried moving.

The flight was directed by a hooded mystery man, an ANC leader hunted by police for helping to organize the resistance campaign his group is leading. For awhile he traveled in a reporter's automobile, getting out occasionally in murky alleys to whisper instructions to the movers.

Police cars trailed foreign correspondents touring the area. Whenever the newsmen stopped to talk with residents, the police ordered them to move on.

Prime Minister Johannes Strijdom's Nationalist government plans to move 60,000 Africans from the western part of the city to new homes outside the metropolis. The government calls the program slum clearance. It will segregate the races but will leave the Negroes close enough to the city to provide a labor force.

Backing the ANC opposition to the move are such prominent white South Africans as Alan Paton, author of the novel "Cry the Beloved Country"; Patrick Duncan, son of South Africa's first governor general, and the Rev. Tevor Huddleston, Anglican missionary and chairman of the Black-White Western Areas Protest Commission. They have termed the evacuations "legalized theft."

A spokesman for the ANC said the congress planned to call a "kneel-down" prayer day protest strike soon.

Reveal Potent New TB Drug

Armed Forces Doctors Told Results of Tests With Cycloserine

ATLANTA (AP)—A powerful new drug which has removed all apparent traces of tuberculosis bacilli in a number of test patients was disclosed today to physicians from throughout the nation.

About 300 doctors attending the 14th Veterans Administration-Army-Navy conference on tuberculosis were informed that the antibiotic, called cycloserine, "exerts a powerful antituberculosis effect."

The VA announced simultaneously that it soon will begin a control test on 200 patients to determine more definitely what the drug, which was compared to streptomycin, will do.

Already tests have been conducted with 37 severely ill pulmonary tuberculosis patients over a 3-to 4-month period, the physicians were told at Atlanta's Academy of Medicine.

The results were that in 11 of the patient tests for tuberculosis bacilli became culturally negative. 36 patients looked and felt better. X-rays showed improvement of the infected lung areas in 28 cases. 30 patients gained between 4 and 14 pounds during a 16-week period, and fever was reduced in all patients who had it.

Cycloserine is a powder administered orally in capsules. The dose which will be given to 200 patients by the VA will be one gram a day, medical spokesmen said.

The drug's usefulness as a preventive has not been determined and no research on this subject has been undertaken. Dr. Martin M. Cummings, director of medical research for the VA, said preventive use is "a long way off, I should think."

The National Tuberculosis Assn. estimates that there are about 400,000 tubercular cases in the country.

Motor Law Violators Target of New Plan

LANSING (AP)—Michigan's highway offenders are going to have a bumpier road ahead of them, thanks to a new filing system opened yesterday in the office of Sec. of State James M. Hare.

Hare dropped into one of the new files the drivers' license application of Earl J. Gracey of Bay City. The first application filed under the new system, it will be followed by some 3½ million more.

State officials said the new files will contain the driving history of every Michigan motorist by 1959.

Unit Plans Air Drop

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP)—Selfridge Air Force Base says the 4602nd Air Intelligence Service Squadron will carry out a parachute supply drop mission 13 miles west of Mackinaw City Feb. 14-16. The mission was described as a routine maneuver.

Holds Reunion All by Himself

Old Grad Gives Lonely Toast to Keep Pledge Made 58 Years Ago

NEW YORK (AP)—More than a dry Martini filled the glass of 79-year-old Charles H. Blair.

In the liquid shimmered his memories of college days and the chain of years twining down to his solitary fulfillment of a fraternity pledge made 58 years ago.

It was no coincidence that Blair stood at the men's bar of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel last night. He was keeping faith with the "1900 Club" of the Psi Upsilon fraternity at Cornell University.

The club was formed in 1897 as 13 youths sat around the fireside of the Psi U house on the campus at Ithaca, N.Y., and vowed to hold reunions at regular intervals for the rest of their lives. They named the Waldorf-Astoria as the site — at 8 p.m., on Feb. 9, every five years.

The original group grew to 28 and the first meeting was held — they rushed it a bit — in 1900. The years rolled, and the students scattered, but the pledge held firm.

Time, as usual, took its toll, and the pledge was modified to read "if health permits."

In 1950 three members of the club showed up.

Twenty-one of the 28 are dead. This year the only one able to show up was Blair, grandson of Ezra Cornell, founder of the university.

Blair, retired senior partner of a brokerage firm, is the father of two daughters and the grandfather of four girls and a boy.

Blair picked up his Martini ("No olives, they take up too much room") and renewed the pledge to come back in 1960.

He toasted the club members, living and dead. He recalled the old campus scenes, the coeds ("They wore red petticoats and were highly moral"), his stint as a pitcher on the baseball team.

The Martini was gone and Blair slowly put down the glass and said softly: "How many men are gone — that's what stands out."

There are more than 25,000 species of lice that eat feathers.

Abacus Could Pave Way to Crop of Baby Geniuses

By MARGARET LATROBE

I don't know how upset International Business Machine was, upon learning that the ancient Oriental abacus could tot up a column of figures faster than could their electronic devices, but I'm betting there was no dancing in the corridors at that august edifice when they read this news in the papers.

The abacus, as you know, is a simple little toy which every properly reared baby plays with. It has rows of pretty wooden beads lined up on wires of cribs and high chairs, and the wee ones amuse themselves by the hour shifting them to and fro while mother does the ironing.

But would you believe that the meakly little folk are not only entertaining themselves but slyly learning to do logarithmic calculations, as well? By diligently applying their wits to the beads they will soon have Dad on the financial carpet. "Lissen, Pop, you cheated me three cents on this weekth allowance" And at a miserably early age.

The abacus is believed to have originated with the Chinese and to have been given most respectful attention by ancient Greeks and Romans. Even now, 90 per cent of all mathematical procedures in Japan are performed on this device.

Whether or not I was provided with a toy abacus in infancy is uncertain. The fact remains that your correspondent gropes in helpless anguish at the sight of more than three digits lined and demanding solution.

While it is possible to live happily and fully without arithmetical ability, it is embarrassing to be in such constant touch with the banker, who has what I regard as an unusual and unhealthy fascination for adding and subtracting. They like a bank balance to come out even, or a little better, and they have a positive revulsion for customers requiring red ink at the end of any month.

Interest, fractions and algebra were explained to me at all the right times in school. But such problems as — "If little Johnny stood beside a telephone pole and his shadow were one-eighth that of the pole's shadow, how tall was he at five o'clock in the afternoon?" — left me with the bitter conclusion that Johnny could have better occupied his time with baseball than by loitering around on the street.

Maybe an abacus would have helped, but this is doubtful. Anyway, I just hope IBM doesn't get into any trouble, that's all. They have spent lots of time and money perfecting the adding machines which some people depend on to total up numbers.

Widows Reveal $45,000 Swindle

2 Elderly Women Tell How Con Men Fleeced Them on 'Oil' Deals

MIAMI, Fla. (UP) — Two elderly Miami widows told police they had been fleeced out of $45,000, their entire life savings, by a team of fast-talking confidence men.

The women asked that their names not be published because a members of hte family is critically ill and would be distressed by the news.

The swindle started, they said, when a man who identified himsilf as "Nathan Hale" knocked on the front door of their modest home. He told them he represented "the biggest oil company in the world" and had come to buy some oil leases they owned in Minnesota.

They gave this account of the events that followed:

"Hale" told them he wanted to buy some oil lands himself but, since his company wouldn't approve of it, he suggested the women give him $7,500 and he would add his own cash and buy the property in their name. The women gave him the cash.

Then "Hale" brought in the second member of the team, a man who said he wanted to buy the Minnesota leases. He told the women they would have to put up $19,500 to show their "good faith." They complied.

A third con man telephoned the women, said his scouts had discovered oil in the Everglades and wanted to cut them in on half the profits. They decided they couldn't afford the half interest he offered, but agreed to put up $6,500 for one third.

"Hale" returned then and said he needed $11,000 to clinch the original deal in their names. They emptied their bank account and they haven't seen the con men since.

Chicken Pox, Mumps Show Drop in Week

New cases of chicken pox and mumps continued to decline last week, according to Dr. John D. Monroe, director of health for Pontiac and Oakland County.

One new polio case, in Waterford Township, was listed in the county communicable disease report.

A breakdown of cases reported in the city and county, with comparative figures for the previous week and the same week last year, follows:

Pontiac

	Last Week	Prev. Week	Year Ago
Chicken pox	16	19	9
Measles	1	2	2
Mumps	7	3	3
Pneumonia	2	1	0
Scarlet fever	5	2	1

Witches' Broom Common

KENT, O. (UP)—Although most people don't look for witches' brooms except on Halloween, there are plenty of them around at other times of the year, according to tree experts. Witches' broom is the name for a tree disease in which broom-shaped clusters of twigs form.

At the turn of the century only 4 per cent of the nation's 18-21-year-olds attended college.

Wins Without Offensive

LEXINGTON, Ky. (UP) — Back in 1900, the University of Kentucky football team defeated the Louisville YMCA team, 12-6, without running a single offensive play. Kicking on first down every time it got the ball, Kentucky recovered two fumbles in the enemy's end zone for the touchdowns.

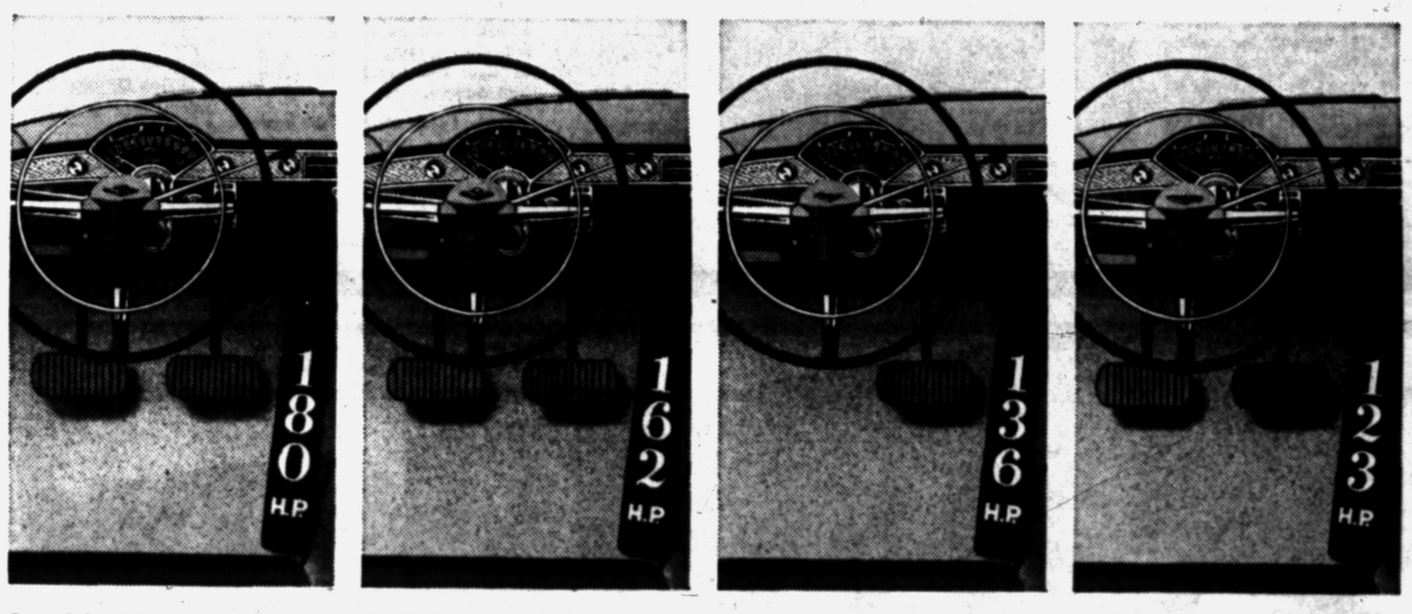

Of Vermont's 14 counties, there are 10 in which more than half the land is forested.

Record Wrecker

CLEMSON, S. C. — Bill Yarborough, slender junior guard, threatens to make a shambles out of Clemson basketball scoring records.

How many "horses" would you like?

Every driver has different requirements. Chevrolet, with four ultra-efficient new engines, offers the widest range in the entire industry. Whatever you want—acceleration, thrift, effortless cruising—you'll find it here in a valve-in-head engine built by the valve-in-head leader!

Created for drivers who put a premium on blazing acceleration, the "Super Turbo-Fire V8" has all the advanced engineering features of Chevrolet's V8 design . . . plus dual exhaust system and a four-barrel carburetor. Optional at extra cost.

A silk-lined cyclone of power, the "Turbo-Fire V8" boasts the shortest stroke in the low-price field. More compact than other V8's, it has the highest compression ratio (8 to 1) in its class . . . and the exclusive Chevrolet 12-volt electrical system.

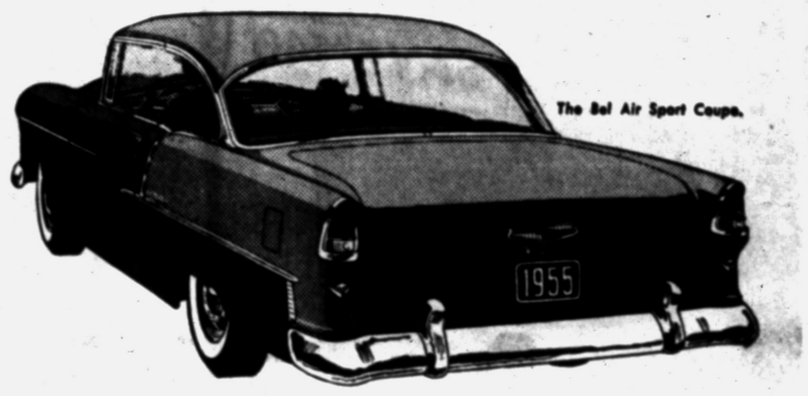

The "Blue-Flame 136" takes advantage of the cushioning effect of Powerglide* to set the standard of six-cylinder valve-in-head efficiency, gives the ease of automatic shifting at lowest price. It, too, has 12 volts . . . and quiet hydraulic valve lifters.

*Optional at extra cost.

The ultimate development of Chevrolet's 26 years' experience with the valve-in-head six, the "Blue-Flame 123" is the world's yardstick for automotive value. And its thrifty 7.5 to 1 compression offers performance that is gratifyingly smooth and lively.

All with the style that's stealing the thunder from the high-priced cars

No matter which engine you choose, you get Chevrolet's sparkling-new body design, the smartest styling on the road. You get that commanding view through the Sweep-Sight windshield, visibility that lets you see all four fenders. You get a velvety ride you never expected from a low-priced car . . . a "big-car" way of going that stems from the flexing ease of Glide-Ride front suspension, the stability of outrigger rear springs. You get your pick of three modern drives, a full range of power assists . . . and you get all this with Chevrolet's well-known thrifty ways. Come drive a Chevrolet and discover the whole story!

Friscans Mourn, Cheer the Decline of Cable Cars

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—This is a profile of the cable car. And it's none too soon.

Today's question seems to be: "Is this 81-year-old chattering climber of San Francisco's steep hills already more dead than alive?"

The Committee to Save the Cable Cars thinks so. This month it is going to disband after eight years of battling for the 12,200-pounders. The discouraged leader gives the cable car only five more years.

Come spring, only 30 cars, manned by a force of 103 gripmen and conductors, will run over less than six miles of track.

In their heyday, 600 of them, operated by 1,500 men, clamped metal fists around the noisy, cables and went swaying up and down the slopes at nine miles an hour over 55 miles of track.

Last Nov. 2, San Franciscans voted 128,482 to 78,466 against allowing cable cars to operate beyond a limited scale (the Legislature has to approve this, but the action is regarded as perfunctory).

Proponents hailed this as the pocketbook prevailing over sentiment in a city where the cable car has been the chief trademark since Andy Hallidie invented it back in 1873 so his wire works could have more business.

PASSING OUT—One of the few remaining cable cars climbs Nob Hill in San Francisco.

They say the reduced operation will save the cable car from extinction.

"Not so," retort those on the other side. Mrs. Hans Klussman, chairman of the Committee to Save the Cable Cars, says voters were bamboozled into believing the cable car can survive largely as an attraction for tourists.

A profile of the cable car is a profile of people. And it's a double exposure. One side exudes all the ecstasy of a first kiss. The other harbors the long burning anger of one who found he picked his vacation spot next door to an all-night riveting operation.

Two portentous things happened when Hallidie trundled his invention out on a Clay street hill Aug. 1, 1873,—in the dead of night lest it fail and bring him ridicule.

1. The fellow assigned the honor of being the world's first cable car gripman looked downhill into the fog shrouding the west tracks, jumped out and would have no part of it.

2. The descent, with Hallidie handling the grip, was so noisy it awakened a Frenchman in a nearby house. In his long red underwear, he went to the window, marveled over what he saw, grabbed some flowers from a vase and tossed them in tribute.

Today it still is a matter of doubters versus doters.

On the one hand, city officials say: The cable cars, youngest of which was built back in 1888, cost $1,713,528 to operate last year while taking in only $1,361,735.

On the other hand, Mrs. Klussman and her following argue: If you cut down just because a system is losing, then you'd have to do the same for buses and streetcars.

In April there's to be a Cable Car Festival. Big celebrations are planned for Chinatown, Nob Hill and Fisherman's Wharf. Boosters hope it will take on the lucrative lure of New Orleans' Mardi Gras.

Others fear it may prove a wake.

Softwood type trees in Vermont forests are in great commercial demand, but softwood forest types occupy less than one-third of the state's commercial forest acreage.

Hoffman Opposes Extension of Draft

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Clare Hoffman of Michigan was one of only four representatives who voted against continuing the draft four years beyond June 30.

All the opposition votes were cast by Republicans in the 394-4 majority.

During debate on the measure Rep. Hoffman demanded to know "where these men to be drafted are going to have to fight, and for what line of defense."

Others who opposed the bill were Reps. Burdick of North Dakota, Mason of Illinois and Smith of Kansas.

College Grant Renewed

HOLLAND (AP)—Dr. Irwin J. Lubbers, Hope College president, said the school has been granted $2,500 from the Research Corp., of New York for a continuation of a chemistry study under Dr. Gerrit VanZyl of the Hope chemistry department.

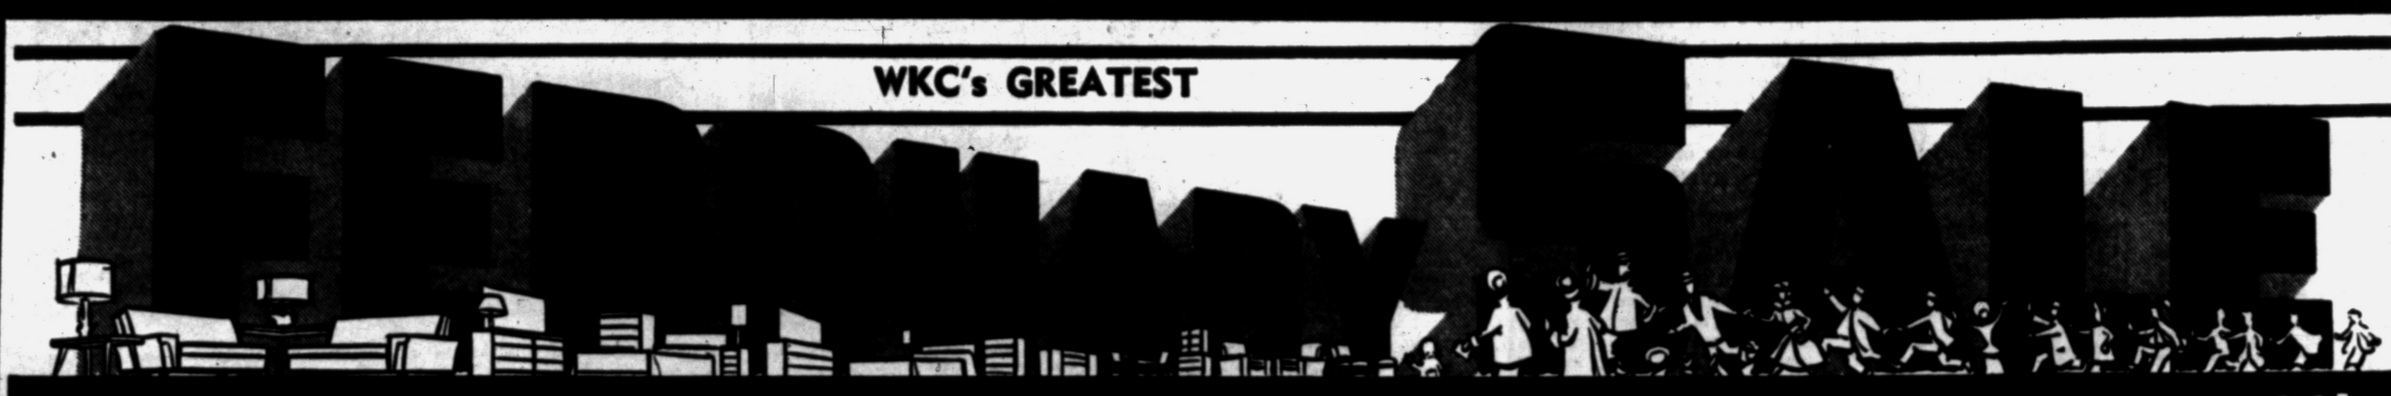

There are 18½ million home gardens in the U. S. today.

United Nations experts estimate that half the wood taken from world forests is used for heating and cooking.

Cold Spell Brought Ideal Ice Skating Conditions Here

FINE FORM—Nancy Ann Thayer, 2908 Mann Rd., Pontiac, demonstrates her figure skating ability for the camera at North Side Rink, a skating rink provided by the North Side Community Club. The Pontiac Parks and Recreation provides municipally operated rinks throughout the city.

Pontiac Press Photos

ICE REVIEW FORM — Displaying skating form and ability which would do justice to an ice review are Charles A. Springer and his daughter, Suzanne, of 3257 Alco, Lake Oakland. Chill temperatures and recent snowfalls have made ideal skating conditions at local rinks and surrounding lakes.

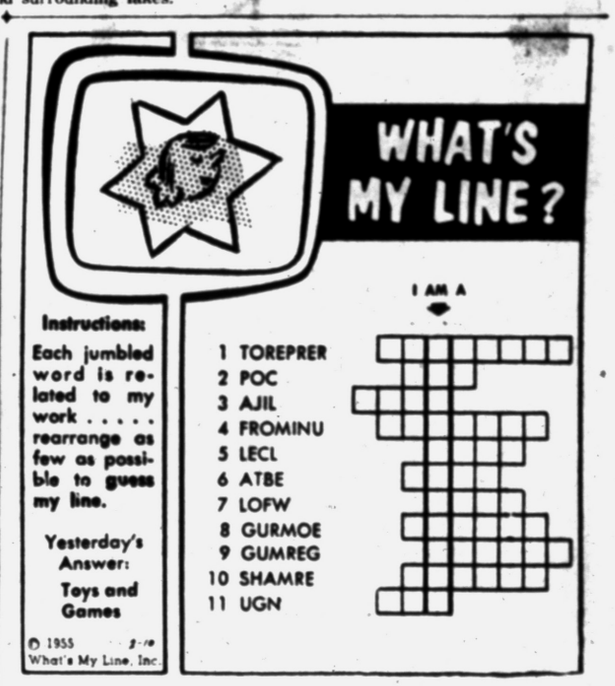

FLEDGLING PUCKSTERS—Setting himself for a shot on goal is John Kendall, 566 Lowell St., while "goalie" Dan Kimmel, 647 N. Perry St., gets ready to deflect the shot in a scrub hockey game on a pond just off Perry across from Perry Mount Park Cemetery.

U.S. Security Anchored to Ike—Brownell

CHICAGO (AP) — President Eisenhower is "our greatest national blessing," says Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr., and the nation's security is "firmly anchored" to him.

Brownell termed Eisenhower "The one person, apart and above all others among us, with the military experience, sagacity, leadership and temperament to plot a course of peace through the turbulent, war-charged waters of our world."

Speaking of the President's role as commander in chief, Brownell said the national security is in capable hands. He recalled the President's buget message statement that the nation never has been so well prepared in peacetime.

Brownell, addressing the Union League Club at its 75th anniversary dinner last night, chose at his subject "The President of the United States," because he said the question most often asked him was "What is the President like?"

Honor Church Worker

CINCINNATI (AP) — Dr. Albert W. Kauffman of Lakeview, Mich., was one of 10 church workers honored last night for a quarter of a century or more of service in weekday religious education. He received an award at the annual meeting of the National Council of Churches.

Joe (Holly) Haas Finds Another Paradise

Hawaii Land of Flowers and Good Weather

By JOE HAAS

HONOLULU—"Aloha" gets you fully introduced anywhere in Hawaii. It is the common salutation, and always brings you a generous smile.

In fact, the natives seem to have been born with a smile which their facial expression expands into a lifelong broad grin, for which there is every reason. World travelers tell me there is no place on earth with so many causes to be happy. An infectious joy permeates the very air you breathe.

HAAS

All know enough English to carry on a conversation, which they do more with their hands and bodies than with their mouths. They are personified grace in every movement and expression. They capitalize upon it.

The Territory of Hawaii, taken over by the United States 57 years ago, is composed of over 100 islands spread out over a distance of over 1,000 miles in the mid-Pacific.

About a dozen of the islands are inhabited, with a total population just above the half million mark, about the same as Oakland County. All are of volcanic formation, supplemented with coral growth over the centuries.

The territory's total land area is 6,450 square miles, seven times the size of Oakland, about two-thirds of this area being in the island of Hawaii, which has only about one-quarter of the population.

Most populous of the islands is Oahu, near the center of the group. Here is the capital city of Honolulu with a population around 250,000. In area it challenges Los Angeles for the distinction of covering more land than any other city in the world, nearly 100 square miles.

Oahu has an area of 600 square miles, only two-thirds the size of Oakland County, but has more than half the population of the entire group.

In the territory's population by racial antecedents, the Japanese are in the lead, with 37 per cent. Caucasians follow with 23 per cent. Then comes the Hawaiians with 17 per cent, Filipinos with 12 per cent and Chinese with 6 per cent, the rest being scattering.

This melting pot intermingling of the races produces a people who reflect the influence of their ideal surroundings. It seems there is nothing for which they could wish. No wonder they're so happy, for on no other spot on earth has nature lavished its blessings so freely. They encompass everything.

(Editor's Note to Joe: Just because you're far from home have you forgotten Oakland County so soon?)

It never is too hot or too cool. The winter average is 72; summer is 78. Education is compulsory and children go to school barefooted the year round.

The primary and high schools compare with the best in the states, and the new Hawaiian University has attracted some of the best instructors in the world.

Will Rule on Bail for Book Publisher

NEW YORK (AP) — The Federal Court of Appeals decides today on the plea for bail by publisher Albert E. Kahn, sentenced to six months for contempt of court in refusing to supply a grand jury with certain facts about Harvey Matusow's forthcoming book "False Witness."

Kahn, of the publishing firm of Cameron and Kahn, was sentenced yesterday by Federal Judge John W. Clancy.

Kahn's counsel immediately appealed the sentence, and Clancy granted a stay of sentencing pending the Appeals Court's decision on granting of bail.

Should bail be denied, Kahn must begin serving his sentence tomorrow while he appeals the verdict to higher courts.

Everything grows the year around. All vegetation is profuse, always green and verdant and plentiful. The flowers baffle all description as to their beauty. There are no "seasons."

The local horticultural society tells me there are over 1,500 different varieties of flowers here, and the most outstanding fact is that 95 per cent of them grow nowhere else on earth.

Flies and mosquitoes are unknown. Insects are few. There are not enough ants to make one family picnic interesting. And hooray, there are no snakes.

When a circus brought a cage of snakes to Honolulu last year a heavy police guard was maintained around it to see that none of the reptiles got away.

There are few frogs or toads—hardly anything that crawls. No bugs, germs or parasites bother the fruit, vegetables or grain. And the Hawaiians intend to keep it that way. They even spray the incoming passengers before they leave the planes.

Probably no other area of its size on earth has such a diversified terrain. There are fertile plains, mountains over two and one-half miles high, dense forests, precipitous canyons, waterfalls higher than Niagara, and a greater concentration of volcanoes than in any other spot.

Oahu's principal agricultural products are pineapples and sugar. The pineapples are canned for sale in the states. The sugar is processed here an dnine-tenths of it shipped to the states for refining and sale, the other tenth being refined here for local consumption.

Pineapple is the staple local fruit. You cannot escape it. We eat at a different place for every meal, and it always is on the menu in all of its many forms, juice or otherwise. And ripened pineapple is delicious in any form.

No oranges are grown here, neither are many of the other semi-tropical fruits. Likewise almost totally absent are temperate zone fruits such as apples, peaches and most of the berries. I'd crave for a Michigan peach.

The natives carry the resplendent floral scheme into their dress, and defy the rainbow in colors. This applies to both men and women. And they like their visitors to do the same.

In order to get into line, I bought the loudest and lousiest Aloha shirt I could find. It set me back only $2.98 financially, but 60 years historically. It is so terrific that it gets me into top place in night clubs, where such attire is rampant.

But my wife won't speak to me when I'm wearing it, and threatens to get a dress to match it. If she does, I won't speak to her, either.

Many of Today's Leaders Owe Debt to Boy Scouting

Editor's Note: This is the fourth in a series of articles prepared in observance of the 45th anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America.

Under a Democratic form of government such as we enjoy here in these United States, leadership is an indispensible requirement for success.

The Boy Scouts of America, this week celebrating the 45th anniversary of their incorporation, have contributed many of today's leaders in business, government and other fields, and are at this moment preparing thousands of younger citizens for tomorrow's great accomplishments.

Why the Boy Scout program is so effective in producing leaders is not difficult to understand. In scouting, a boy is constantly engaged in the kind of activities that develop the qualities of leadership most effectively.

Edward H. Leland, executive for the Clinton Valley Council, pointed out that more than half the 1,660 adult leaders who direct scout units in this area were once Boy Scouts themselves.

In business, too, the training received in scouting has made the road to success less difficult for many. Leland mentioned that many local executives now holding responsible positions were once Boy Scouts.

A few of these former scouters include Ted Pearson, manager for Universal Oil Seal Co.; Robert B. Oliver, local auto dealer; Ken Sanderson, engineering executive at the GM Truck and Coach Division; Don Newman, composing room foreman for the Pontiac Press, and Fred J. Poole, lumber dealer. There are hundreds more, Leland said.

Many of the men who have risen to national prominence at one time also wore the Boy Scout uniform. The late Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg of the Air Force was a scout, as were Herbert Hoover Jr., State Department official; movie actor James Stewart; Leonard K. Firestone, tire manufacturer, and Ezra Taft Benson, U. S. secretary of agriculture.

Many prominent persons who were too old to become scouts when the program began in this country participated as leaders, Leland added. Among these is President Eisenhower, who acted on the national executive board of the Boy Scouts before the press of his White House duties forced him to take a less active role.

From the time they first become scouts, boys begin learning the basic fundamentals that develop leadership. They become good followers first, and this is important because no one can give orders who cannot take them as well.

Boy Scouts learn self-reliance, honesty, and respect for their fellows; all these are traits a leader must possess. Each is given responsibility for some task or project within his troop, and the scout quickly learns leading is done from the front, while the only thing he can do from the rear is push.

Every scout has opportunities to try his hand at leading his patrol or part of it from time to time. How he conducts himself in a position of authority is observed by his adult leaders, who are always ready to suggest, seldom find fault.

But the acid test for any scout is the regard of the other boys in his unit. By their attitude, he can most accurately gauge the effectiveness of his leadership. In this way he learns to make an order sound like a request; and to temper criticism of a poor job with praise for another well done.

With this type of training in their formative years, it will be surprising if scouting's 90th anniversary does not find a great many of today's Boy Scouts in the country's top jobs.

(Tomorrow—The ideals of scouting)

Reds May Have Bomb Short-Cut

U.S. Nuclear Experts Hint Soviet Has Better Hydrogen Trigger

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov's boast that Russia holds superiority in hydrogen bomb development may refer to discovery in 1953 of a short-cut method for triggering the fusion explosive.

But if that was the case, American officials are confident any temporary advantage the Soviets held has since been overcome.

In some atomic circles here there is a suspicion that Soviet nuclear physicists evolved a technique for setting off hydrogen bombs through heat - producing compression of a high magnitude which required only insignificant amounts of the fissionable material used in conventional A-bombs.

There is the possibility that the Russian technique was perfected almost a year before American weaponeers worked out the problem, and may have been tested in the summer of 1953.

However, any Soviet lead made possible by that process—involving a huge saving in time and material—has been overcome and the over-all program of the United States now has moved out ahead again, in the opinion of some American experts.

In a speech Tuesday, Molotov said the Soviet Union has developed hydrogen weapons with "such success that the United States could appear backward."

President Eisenhower was asked yesterday at his news conference about the Molotov statement. The President replied there was no proof to that effect, then added it would be a rather remarkable feat.

New York City received its first electricity supply in September 1882 when Edison opened a generating station in Pearl street.

Urges Review of Military Cuts

Dem Leader of House Terms Ike's Program 'Dangerous'

WASHINGTON (AP)—House Democratic Leader McCormack of Massachusetts urged the administration today to reconsider proposed Army manpower cuts and said 95 per cent of House Democrats are opposed to them.

"It is a dangerous thing," he said in an interview, "to think that one man is possessed of all knowledge in one field. It could be a terrible thing for our country if the President is wrong."

Sen. Russell (D-Ga) said some senators also "are greatly disturbed," but that there probably is little Congress can do unless "we want to impeach the President, and everybody knows that is not going to happen." He said reappraisal of the cuts seems justified.

President Eisenhower has said he made the final decision on the extent of manpower reductions, which propose mid - 1956 armed forces of 2,850,000 men, compared with more than three million now. The bulk of the cut, 173,000 men, would be in the Army.

The Senate Armed Services Committee, which Russell heads, spent nearly six hours yesterday questioning Secretary of Defense Wilson and Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, about the reductions.

Wilson later told newsmen he sees no reason to revise the plans because of the shift in Soviet Russia's leader, and he added: "That's the President's position too." Wilson said the program will provide "an adequate defense structure for the United States . . . on a long-term basis."

Two Republicans, Senators Duff of Pennsylvania and Flanders of Vermont, said in separate interviews they are backing Eisenhower's decisions, Flanders said: "Even if we had more ground forces, we could not use them immediately in case of a sudden war."

Russell and Sen. Byrd (D-Va) told newsmen they are undecided on the issue.

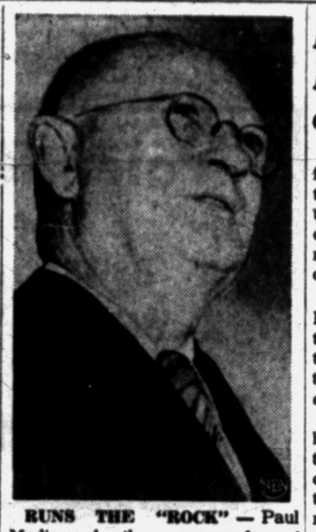

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) of the House Armed Services Committee reiterated his support for the President's program.

But McCormack said that in view of developments ranging from the Soviet political change to the Formosan situation, "I cannot understand how any leadership would not immediately reconsider the proposed reduction of the Army and Navy."

Representatives Brooks (D-La) and Winstead (D-Miss) also threw their support to demands for a reappraisal of the program after hearing what they described as second warning by Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway.

The Army chief of staff told a House subcommittee yesterday that only active forces could supply needed Army units at the outbreak of war. Earlier, he had testified the decision to cut the Army "jeopardizes our security . . . to a degree."

RUNS THE "ROCK" — Paul Madigan is the new warden of Alcatraz, the nation's toughest prison. He succeeds Edwin P. Pope, retiring after 20 years in the federal prison system. Madigan had been warden of the federal penitentiary at Terre Haute, Ind.

Former Servant Held in Slaying of Broker's Wife

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—A former man servant was booked today on suspicion of murder in the ax killing of Mrs. Katie Hayden, elderly wife of financier and real estate developer Samuel Hayden.

Booked was Rutherford Leon Bennett, 39, Los Angeles, who detectives said was discharged by the Haydens Jan. 31 after about three weeks' employment as a cook.

Bennett and a man with whom he lived, also brought in for questioning, steadfastly denied any connection with the case and said they were at home yesterday morning when the slaying occurred. Both are now employed in an automobile assembly plant.

Mrs. Hayden, 71, died soon after she was found on the kitchen floor in her luxurious home by a maid. Mrs. Peggy Smith. She had four head wounds. A bloody ax lay nearby. A few minutes before, the maid told detectives, Mrs. Hayden had gone from the living room to the kitchen to answer the back door bell.

Hayden, 70, had left for his office about an hour before. He is a former Chicago investment broker who has lived here about 10 years.

Urges Secret Confab on Formosa Dispute

OTTAWA (AP)—Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent, just back from the Commonwealth prime ministers conference in London, says he thinks "secret diplomacy would do more than an international conference" to solve the Formosa dispute.

In a radio interview, he said he did not believe the Formosa issue could be settled without the presence of both Nationalist and Communist China at any negotiations.

The most easterly town in the United States is Lubec, Maine.

Royal Europe Gathers for Rite

Fading Bluebloods to Attend Exile Wedding of Prince, Princess

CASCAIS, Portugal (AP)—Much of Europe's fast-fading royalty gathered in this little fishing village today for a "family" banquet inaugurating three days of wedding festivities for Italian Princess Maria Pia and Yugoslav Prince Alexander.

The 30-year-old prince and ex-King Umberto's daughter will be married in exile Saturday before more than 1,000 European bluebloods. Their romance blossomed last year on the Mediterranean cruise Greece's King Paul put on for scores of royal guests.

Alexander, who works for a Greek shipping firm, is the son of the former Yugoslav regent Prince Paul.

The Marquis of Lucifero, minister of the house of Savoy in charge of arrangements, said 120 persons were invited to tonight's dinner in the Eestorial Palace hotel—"119 of them of fully royal blood." Lucifero himself is the sole exception.

Later tonight prominent Portuguese and foreign diplomats will attend a reception. Umberto has invited his countrymen, blueblooded or otherwise, to attend a second reception tomorrow, mainly for Italians.

The wedding ceremony will take place in the 500-year-old Church of Our Lady of the Assumption. Because Maria is a Roman Catholic and Alexander a member of the Eastern Orthodox Church, special dispensation for the church ceremony was obtained from the Vatican.

Margaret Truman Needs More Romantic Freedom

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS)—What our country needs—and I speak in behalf of Miss Margaret Truman, who has been shabbily treated in this regard—is an appendage to the Bill of Rights, offering more and mushier freedom of romance.

As a potential spinster myself, I further urge that Congress act promptly. Time is wasting away, and so are we girls.

This comes to mind because I have been reading in various columns lately that Miss Truman is in love. Nobody has put the finger on the man yet, but the columnists say that intimates say that friends of Margaret say she certainly looks like she's got it. It being that feeling, "She's absolutely blooming," they say.

Now this is an unfair assumption, to begin with. A girl can be blooming as the devil just from taking an inch off her hips, or getting a letter from home saying Daddy is better, or having an aching tooth removed. But even if Margaret is in love, what happens now that the report is out?

Knowing her, and how she shies from publicity regarding associations with members of the opposite sex, I predict this latest assault on her sentimental privacy may have one of two repercussions.

A—She might make herself as haggard and depressed-looking as her creamy, happy face can look, thus killing the rumor. And also killing the romance, because men do not like haggard, depressed women.

B—Or she might go blithely on her way, causing the press to become more curious and resourceful. They will then discover who the man is, expose his life from babyhood in a series of Sunday supplements, and cause him to skip the country hurriedly.

Once again, Maggie will be left to moan the intermezzo from "Cavalleria Rusticana."

It has been more than a decade now that Margaret Truman, her career and would-be loves, have been blabbed about the world. For a long time it was kind of funny, because Margaret was ever cagey and cute in her comment on the pursuit of matrimonial happiness.

But when you reach the early thirties and the pressure is on, it's not so amusing to the lady being pressed, more by innuendoes than arms. At that age, sisters in the bond, a question like "Why aren't you married?" or "Who's the latest?" is sufficient cause for assault. But Margaret has steadfastly held calm. The only difference now is she doesn't laugh it off; she shrugs.

I tried to get a statement from her on the status of her social life last summer. Figuring the least obnoxious approach was to lead off with my own experience as an unmarried woman about her age, I said something like "I suppose you suffer the same way I do—parents always saying you'd feel so much better, dear, if you'd settle down—strangers asking what's the matter with Joe, he seems like such a nice young man. I find it's pretty tough, at this age, not being married."

Margaret smiled at me slyly. "Really?" she said. "That's interesting."

I don't know whether our girl is in love currently or not, but in any case, this freedom bill had better be expedited as a precaution for this, and future flings, of Miss Truman.

And while I'm about it, I urge merrie olde England to put through a similar free romance document for its own Margaret. That poor princess isn't getting any younger either!

(Tomorrow: Miss Battelle gets an advance peek at the "auto and travel" show and wonders how soon walking will become a lost art.)

German Trade Union Pat on Rearmament

DUESSELDORF, Germany (AP) — The West German Trade Unions Federation said today it has not received an appeal from the American Federation of Labor to switch its support to West German rearmament. The German group indicated the American urging would have no effect.

Wife-Slayer Given Life Prison Term

DETROIT (AP)—Claude Morse, 44-year-old preacher-farmer from suburban Canton Township, was sentenced yesterday to life imprisonment for the murder of his wife, last fall.

"You are the worst liar who has ever faced me across this bench," Judge Chester P. O'Hara said in denying Morse's request for a sanity hearing. "You are sane. There would be no point in prolonging this case by ordering a hearing. It would serve no purpose."

A jury of seven men and five women convicted Morse of strangling his wife last Aug. 16 and then driving to Kentucky to bury the body. He returned to Michigan with a 16-year-old girl he married in Tennessee and an investigation was ordered.

The girl since has returned to her parents' home in Tennessee.

Four Seriously Hurt in Crash Near Flint

FLINT (AP) — Four persons were seriously hurt last night in a head-on collision of two cars on M21 five miles west of Flint.

Harland A. Lawcock Jr., 35, of Swartz Creek, driver of one car, and his wife, Shirley, 30, were admitted to McLaren Hospital in Flint. Howard M. Tucker, 30, of Flint, the other driver and a passenger, Gene K. Forshee, 23, also of Flint, were taken to Hurley Hospital.

Genesee County Sheriff's men worked for half an hour to remove the victims from the wreckage of their automobiles.

The principal sum left by Alfred B. Nobel as the basis of funds for Nobel Prize winners was $9,000,000.

Bobo Divorce Costs Another Half Million

NEW YORK (AP)—Winthrop Rockefeller, whose divorce from Barbara (Bobo) Rockefeller cost him a repoirted six-million-dollar settlement, apparently must shell out another million dollars in lawyers' fees.

In State Supreme Court yesterday it was disclosed that Rockefeller already has paid out $500,000 in legal charges, and has another half million to go.

The court action was in answer to a $100,000 suit filed by Boston Atty. Joseph Sax against both Winthrop and Bobo. Sax charges nonpayment for services rendered in 1951-52.

Bobo contended in court that Winthrop took on all legal obligations connected with the divorce last summer in Reno.

Rockefeller reportedly has not yet been served in the suit.

Young Men Should Avoid Glamor Jobs With Titles

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the nation's highest-paid delivery boys thinks too many young men today are trying to win success the wrong way.

"They want a glamor job — a position with a title," said Alfred L. Hammell.

Hammell is the delivery boy who heads the giant Railway Express Company. Largely self-educated, although one college has conferred a doctorate in business degree on him, he began at the bottom 45 years ago as a freight handler.

Today the firm he directs as president has about 45,000 employes, rings up some 400 million dollars a year in making 90 million air and rail shipments to 23,000 American communities.

"It's a big mistake for young men to look only for the glamor jobs," he said. "Anybody who is afraid to get his hands dirty isn't likely to go very far.

"The jobs that have the least glamor on the surface often afford you the opportunity to get the most know-how of the business you're in."

Hammell got the glamor dreams out of his own system young.

"At 19 I set out prospecting for gold on an old mining claim of my father's in California," he recalled. "I spent 18 months chasing a rainbow that had no end. In that time I found $1,000 worth of gold — but it all went for beans, bacon and dynamite."

Hammell then sought employment with the old Wells Fargo Express Company in San Francisco.

"You looking for a job or a position? Inquired the depot agent.

"Luckily, I told him I wanted a job," said Hammell. "If I had said I was looking for a position — I found out later — I'd have been right back out on the street.

"The pay was only $60 a month for a 60-hour week. But I was fortunate to have a boss like that man. He let me try my hand at everything, when I wasn't busy lifting freight. I got a good all-round smattering of the business."

Hammell rose step by step in the organization, moved himself and his family to 11 cities before becoming president six years ago. He feels young men are sometimes too reluctant to pull up roots and go wherever their job calls them.

"It's important not to be too particular about what your job assignment is, or where it takes you," he remarked. "Any new assignment gives you a chance to learn more about your business."

Hammell, a gruffly genial, bear-tall man weighing 240 pounds, enjoys rough-and-ready battling. Right now he's waging war with the U. S. Post Office. It currently handles parcel post packages weighing up to 70 pounds. He wants it to go back to its old limit of 11 pounds.

"The Post Office today is in the freight business, and losing money," he said. "We're in the position of a free enterprise competing against a government tax subsidy."

At issue is millions of dollars in freight volume now sent at parcel post rates by mail order houses and gift shippers.

Hammell directs the movement of shipments ranging from a package of live lady bugs to entire freight train loads of fresh strawberries.

"We handle a surprising volume of white mice," he said. "And around Christmas we were bringing in 50 gift burros a day to the metropolitan area from Mexico.

Racehorses, fish, bees, elephants and wild animals now travel by express. Milking cows and goats in transit are all in the day's job with express agents.

4 U.S. Airmen Killed

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (AP)—Four U.S. Airmen died yesterday in two American Air Force F95 Starfire jetfighters which crashed in the bush and burned 16 miles from Goose Bay, Labrador. It was believed the two jets collided in the air. Names of the victims were withheld.

God, Country Award to Be Presented Five Pontiac Youths

Five Pontiac youths, all explorer scouts attached to Troop 7, Bethany Baptist Church, will receive the God and Country award at ceremonies Sunday, Feb. 13.

This is the largest group ever to receive the decoration in the history of Clinton Valley Council, and possibly the largest since the national award was instituted.

The God and Country Award is presented for outstanding church service, and is one of the highest a church can confer on a scout.

Rev. Fred R. Tiffany will present the medals to James Wert, Charles Parks, James Webb, Keith Mittledorf and Jerry Ryan during 11 o'clock services at the church, located on W. Huron street at Mark avenue.

Local headquarters of the Boy Scouts of America will be represented at the ceremony by Edward Leland, council executive, and Van R. Braidwood, Pontiac district executive.

The citation accompanying the award commends the boys for service in youth activities, Sunday school, ushers club, church welfare projects and Christian fellowship work.

The five were nominated by the pastor's committee of the church, and approved by the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U. S. A.

James Ryan is chairman of the troop committee, and Harold Ward is scoutmaster. Rev. Tiffany is pastor of the church.

Akron Hopes Pigeons Are Easily Insulted

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Several weeks ago the City Council ordered the Health Department to exterminate by whatever means necessary the flocks of pigeons that have been plaguing downtown Akron.

Shoot them, trap them, gas them, ordered the Council.

But after criticism from the Audubon Society and other bird lovers, the Council this week rescinded itsprevious order and passed another ordinance which simply declares pigeons are a "common nuisance."

Maybe the pigeons will be insulted and go away, the Council said.

French Prefer Weak Premier

Chronic Instability Laid to Lack of Checks and Balances

PARIS (UP) — The chronic instability of French governments baffles Americans but to the Frenchman it is quite ordinary and usual.

France has been governed in much the same manner since the formation of the Third Republic in 1875. Behind this is the average Frenchman's aversion to a too strong premier.

The United States operates its government with a system of checks and balances among the executive, legislative and judicial branches. In France, the Legislative branch — Parliament —is the dominant authority, and the main power is vested in the 627-member Lower House or National Assembly, which is elected by the people.

It chooses the premier and he remains in office only while he pleases a majority of the deputies.

There are about a dozen parties represented in the assembly plus groups that are constantly forming splinters within the parties over any given issue.

Another factor behind the recurring political crisis is the political machinery that allows every assembly deputy the dream of becoming premier.

Antoine Pinay was an unknown businessman when he became premier the first time in 1952.

If he is approved as premier by the assembly on Friday, he will head the 21st government since the war.

But the assembly is only the second elected since 1946.

The deputies are elected for five years. During their tenure the temper and the spirit of the country and themselves change many times.

Ike Lauds Work on Heart Disease in TV Address

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Eisenhower said last night the nation has received "a bonus beyond price" in the results of medical research adding 25 years to the American life span.

Speaking on a closed circuit television program to meetings sponsored by the American Medical Assn. and attended by physicians taking part in clinical conferences on heart ailments, the President said:

"If the annual toll from coronary heart diseases were revealed to the American people as a casualty list from the battlefield, the effect would be one of national shock and a demand that something be done.

"That something is being done . . . is significant and encouraging."

Doubles Judge's Raise

GRAND RAPIDS (UP) — Municipal Judge Robert B. Burns asked the Grand Rapids City Commission for a $500 raise yesterday and, much to his surprise, was given a $1,000 raise. Effective July 4, his salary will go up to $8,000 a year.

Dulles to Review Foreign Policy of Last 2 Years

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of State Dulles plans to give the nation next Wednesday a general review of foreign policy developments during the first two years of the Eisenhower administration.

He has accepted an invitation to speak before the Foreign Policy Assn., a private organization interested in international relations, at a meeting in New York City.

This speech is expected to be similar in scope to the address Dulles made Jan. 12, 1954, before the Council on Foreign Relations. That was his now-famous "massive retaliation" speech.

Dulles was reported to have decided to avoid next Wednesday any detailed speculation on the effect of the Soviet Union's change of premiers. Rather, it was reported, he plans to place emphasis on the tinderbox situation in the Formosa Strait.

Cools Off Wife Beater

GRAND RAPIDS (UP) — When Henry R. Vandervelde, 40, told Justice Cornelius Blanker that his "violent temper" caused him to beat his wife, Blanker sentenced him to 90 days in jail with the comment, "That will give you time to cool off."

Three Firemen Die in Paper Co. Blaze

MUNCIE, Ind. (UP)—A million-dollar fire roared through a paper company storage warehouse yesterday, killing three firemen and seriously injuring another.

The spectacular fire destroyed nine of 10 buildings and continued to blaze hours after it started.

Three fire fighters were crushed to death when a 30-foot, brick wall collapsed on them. They were Clarence Pete White, 50, Vernon Lutton, 30, and Doyle Upchurch, 34.

Eugene Sanders suffered a broken leg and other injuries.

Fifteen workers in the plant when the fire broke out escaped unharmed.

Chef for Presidents Will Cook for Jail

OMAHA (UP)—"It will be good." That's what Joseph T. Taylor, 67, said of the food he will serve as cook at the Douglas County Jail here.

"I've served some pretty strict people," said Taylor, "and I had no complaints."

Then he named former Presidents Theodore Roosevelt, Warren Harding and Harry Truman as among those he cooked for. That was during the 47 years he was a railroad chef, he said.

Nursing School Sets Entrance Exams Feb. 17

Pre-entrance examinations for McAuley School of Practical Nursing will be given at the Nurses Home, 126 Fulton, Thursday, Feb. 17, at 10 a.m.

The test is for all students interested in enrolling in a class schedule to begin March 21. Applicants must be high school graduates, between the ages of 17 and 24, with a keen interest in people and a desire to be of service.

At completion of the one-year course the graduate is eligible to take the state board examination, becoming a licensed practical nurse.

Applicants should contact the school director for a personal interview before taking the pre-entrance exams.

Pair Stricken Same Day Die Eight Minutes Apart

FOGGIA, Italy (UP)—Two months ago Michele l'Erario and his wife Maria suffered heart attacks on the same day and were put to bed.

Yesterday Michele told Maria, "Follow me, our time has come," and died. She died eight minutes later. They had been married 20 years.

Hans Christian Andersen was 70 years old when he died in 1875.

Pausing for a cup of coffee after making plans for their sorority dance are (left to right) Mrs. Douglas Green of Kenilworth avenue, Mrs. Maxwell Haddix of Elizabeth Lake road and Mrs. Buhl Burt of Baldwin avenue. "Pio Capers" is the title of the dance which will be sponsored by the Pontiac Council of Pi Omicron National Sorority. Tickets for the Saturday dance may be purchased at the door of Old Mill Tavern in Waterford or from any member.

Rev. Shultz Speaks

The Rev. O. G. Shultz spoke on the Trinity at the Tuesday meeting of Grace Lutheran Church Altar Guild. Money making projects for the coming year were planned.

Sorority to Hold Dance

The Pontiac Council of Pi Omicron National Sorority met at the home of Mrs. Richard Fox on Pineer drive recently to make final plans for its annual dance, "Pio Capers."

The dance will be held Saturday evening from 9:30 p.m. until 1:30 a.m. at Old Mill Tavern in Waterford. Music for dancing will be provided by a local quintet.

Tickets for the dance, which is open to the public may be purchased from any member of the sorority or at the door.

Assisting the chairman, Mrs. Buhl Burt of Iota Eta Chapter, with arrangements for the dance are Mrs. Leon Skelley also of Iota Eta Chapter; Mrs. Maxwell Haddix of Sigma Gamma Chapter, and Mrs. Douglas Green and Mrs. Fox of Sigma Zeta Chapter.

Mrs. William McRath reported on plans for the annual May Day breakfast and Mrs. Skelley, chairman for the June banquet, announced her committee.

Pink and Blue Shower Is Given

Mrs. Kenneth Evans was honored at a pink and blue shower given by Mrs. Russell Crites of East Lansing in the Dakota drive home of Mrs. E. W. Zuehlke.

Guests at the Saturday evening affair were Mrs. Verta Underwood, Mrs. B. F. Evans, Mrs. Ward W. Ross, Mrs. E. W. Zuehlke, Mrs. John Napley, Mrs. Donald Bowen and Mrs. Robert Keglovitz.

Others were Mrs. Frank Lawrence, Mrs. James Jacklin, Mrs. Harold Stenquist, Mrs. Kenneth Hoard, Mrs. Robert Morin, Mrs. James Zuehlke and Mrs. Norman McClure of Midland.

Sorority Discusses New Projects

Mrs. Thomas Bickley presented the program for the evening when Zeta Eta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority met recently in the Third street home of Mrs. C. M. Shelton.

Plans were made for the group to attend a show in Detroit on Feb. 24. The all-chapter fashion show to be held in March was discussed, and a hard times party was planned for March 21 in the East Pike street home of Mrs. Mabel Roat.

Jean Brown led the pledge training. The group worked on Red Cross sewing.

Father and Son Banquet Planned

A father and son spaghetti dinner will be held at Bagley School on Friday at 6:30 p.m. with Robert Bowen serving as program chairman.

Sponsored by the PTA of Bagley School, this is the first of several projects planned as fund raising programs to provide school ground equipment.

Tickets are available at the school or from the president, John Woodward.

Symphony Gives Third Concert

Pianist Performs With Grace, Skill, Holds Audience

By DORA DAWSON

The third concert of this season of the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra given Wednesday evening in Lincoln Junior High School created enthusiasm and pleasure because of the splendid work done on this program.

Under the direction of Francesco DiBlasi, who without exaggeration of movement seems to draw the best effort and effect from each player, music of high caliber pours forth and everyone is lifted to a level of appreciation of the best in musical composition.

In selecting music for these programs, thought is given to audience enjoyment as well as the capabilities of the players.

From the vast store of orchestral literature, pieces are chosen that amateurs and professional together can play without discouraging the least able, while the more skilled can help them to develop ability and skill through practice.

The program Wednesday evening was beautifully chosen. Opening with a "Concerto Grosso" by Handel for strings only, the voices of the different divisions, in fine unison and with sweep of melody, or voice answering voice, was noteworthy in beauty.

Highlight of the concert was the appearance of Carol Rosenberger, pianist, formerly of Birmingham, now a student at Carnegie Institute in Pittsburgh.

With the orchestra, she played the Beethoven Concerto No. 3 in C minor and from the first note held her audience in rapt attention. Her arms from shoulder to finger tips are full of easy grace and produce tone that is clear cut whether crisp or in singing tone.

Miss Rosenberger's playing of the first movement, Allegro, was electric in brilliance, while the second part, Largo, was feelingly tender and lovely. The Rondo swept the concert to an exuberant close.

The choice of Miss Rosenberger as a soloist was a most successful addition to the reputation for good music being established by the orchestral association.

Following intermission, three sets of dance forms, from the enticing waltz rhythms of "Der Rosenkavalier," by Strauss, characterful and quaint "Roumanian Folk Dances," by Bartok, to the wild, savage dances among tribes of central Asia, as caught in compositions by Borodin brought the concert to a successful close.

The ushering of Judy Dickstein, Joy Owen, Esther Thompson, Barbara Broadway and Sue Braid was a pleasant feature.

'Button-Down' Tie New Boon for Men

The most fabulous idea in neckwear of all times is the new "Button-Down" tie.

What a boon for men! Now you can have your favorite neckwear pattern and color—with a big bonus feature for neatness. In this tie, the world's only "Button-Down" tie, the short end is made with three buttonholes, spaced to match the buttons on your hirt. You just slip the small end through a loop in the large end. Button it and forget it—both ends hug your shirt all day.

You need blue VIM with the lowest suds to get clothes really white!

High suds can clog the works, keep your automatic washer from cleaning thoroughly, rinsing completely. That's why leading washer makers say: "The lower the suds, the cleaner the clothes." And that's why they approve so heartily of new Blue VIM, with the very lowest suds of any washday product. VIM really gets out the dirt, then rinses away completely. No grey left-over suds to dull your wash!

So-called controlled suds are a step in the right direction but they're still a compromise. They simply aren't low enough to get clothes really clean. Blue VIM, with the very lowest suds, guarantees you the whitest wash no matter what kind of automatic washer you own.

Lowest suds—whitest clothes! Actually, if you use anything with more suds than VIM, you can't get the most out of your automatic washer. Lever Brothers absolutely guarantees you'll get whitest shirts, cleanest work-clothes, the brightest colors, and the softest, fluffiest baby things—that you'll be completely happy with VIM's lowest suds. But if you're not—we don't want your money. You get every penny refunded!

For Club Women

State Hospital Planning Workshop

A workshop for the women's clubs of Oakland County and neighboring counties is being planned for May 2 at Pontiac State Hospital.

This workshop will cover a variety of mental health topics in which club women are interested. Representatives of the various women's organizations are invited to participate in each of the workshops, reporting back their findings to the total membership of their organization.

The event is being planned by Marguerite Parrish, director of social service for the hospital, and Richard Arthaud, case work supervisor. They believe that through the workshop, mental health information which is important to all, will be widely spread.

A total of 62 reservations are already in, reports Mr. Arthaud.

Among the first group to register were Round Table Club, Junior Chamber of Commerce Auxiliary, The American Business Women's Association, Ladies Auxiliary of Metropolitan Club No. 60, Women's Auxiliary of the Master Plumbing Contractor's Association, MOMS of America, Inc. Unit No. 2, and the Lake Orion Child Guidance Group.

To make reservations for the work shop, interested groups may either call or write the social service department, Pontiac State Hospital, prior to March 1.

Secretaries Hear Talk on Crime

Prosecutor's Aide Demonstrates Lie Detector

"Science vs Crime" was the title of a talk given by George F. Taylor, assistant Oakland County prosecutor, for the Wednesday evening dinner meeting of Pontiac Chapter of National Secretaries Association.

Mr. Taylor gave a lie detector demonstration as a part of his talk. Mrs. Hope Scott introduced the speaker. Members of Detroit Transcript Chapter of the association were guests.

Due to the resignation of Mrs. Dee Dieterle, president; Mary Eleanor Lockman, vice president will take over the president's duties for the remainder of the year.

Mrs. William Robinson was appointed bulletin chairman and assisting her will be Mrs. Warren Trevethan and Jeanette Lokuta.

Edythe Perry assisted Miss Lockman with the initiation of new members, Miss Lokuta, Delores Albin and Euretta Woody.

Pontiak Chapter is planning to attend the secretarial workshop in Detroit on March 12. National Secretaries Association convention is scheduled for July 20-24 in Chattanooga, Tenn. Michigan State Convention will be held May 20-22 in Benton Harbor.

National Secretaries Week will be April 24-30 with April 27 as National Secretaries Day.

Founders' Day Observed by Baldwin PTA

The Founders' Day meeting at Baldwin School Wednesday was opened with prayer by the Rev. Herbert Ryan. Mrs. Daniel Peterson narrated Baldwin's history with some of the events pantomimed by Mrs. Joseph Waring, Mrs. Glen Shultz, Mrs. Clarence Dodge, Mrs. Robert Carrick and Mrs. Lyle Dusenbury.

Others taking part were Mrs. Fay Magner, Norton Graham, Bob Rogers, Sue Monroe, Carol Webb, Larry Warrilow, Dennis Carroll and Dennis Merit.

Mrs. Irene Albright, Gertrude Foley, Mrs. Harry Santala and Mrs. George Gaches were elected to the nominating committee.

Educators Tell Value of Program

Xi Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma society entertained Future Teachers Club and educators of Pontiac High School at a tea in Longfellow School Wednesday afternoon.

This was the recruitment meeting of the year for the society. On the program was a discussion of the values of the cadet teaching program which is in force in Flint at this time.

The object of the cadet program is to interest students in teaching in an effort to overcome the shortage, and to help students to decide what grade teachers also assist teachers who they would like to teach. Cadet are overburdened.

Ola Hiller, of the Flint Schools, was a guest of the society. To aid in the explanation of the cadet program, two cadets, a principal and one acting teacher made the trip to Pontiac with Miss Hiller.

Serving on the committee for the tea were Lucille Brown, chairman, assisted by Mona Wooley, Grace Hinckley and Vera Mae Adams.

Guests were Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, J. Cecil Cox, John Thors Jr., C. T. Forsman, and Glenn Griffin.

Boutonniere for the Boy Is Question

Unusual Custom Something New to Emily Post

By EMILY POST

A young girl writes me: "Our school is having a large dance at one of the hotels. It is an all-girls' school and therefore each one has to ask a boy to the dance.

Several of my friends have told me that they are going to send boutonnieres to their boy friends to wear the evening of the dance. I have never before heard of this and always thought that if any flowers were sent it was the boy who sent them to the girl. Is this something new? I would very much like to know what you think of this idea."

Sending boutonnieres to the boys is unusual and apparently a local custom. But if all the girls at your school do this then you will have to do the same. I agree with you, however, that it is the boys' place to send flowers to the girls, and not vice versa.

Dear Mrs. Post: The other day while lunching with a friend of mine, another woman friend whom I had not seen for long time came into this same restaurant and as she passed our table, stopped and spoke to me for a few moments.

I did not introduce her to the woman with whom I was lunching, and have since wondered whether I was wrong not to have done so. I never know what to do in a situation of this kind. Will you please set me straight?

If the person with whom you were lunching was busy looking at the menu or otherwise occupied, it was not necessary to introduce her. But if she sat there doing nothing and the other person lingered at your table, then you should have introduced her.

Dear Mrs. Post: I am a woman in the early 50's and would like to know if it is necessary when visiting friends for me to rise when others come into the room and I am introduced to them. Also, when other guests take leave before I do, should I rise along with the hostess to bid them good-bye or remain seated.

No, you remain seated in both cases.

William Kleaver is the designer of the magnificent group of tables which were shown recently in Grand Rapids. Classical modern in styling, pieces from the collection are made of mahogany in a soft new finish, embellished by brass medallions and special brass grillwork. Tops are available in rawhide leather, as shown, in black formica or in mahogany.

Rusty Pipe One Cause of Trouble

By HUBBARD COBB

The nice thing about rusty water—both hot and cold—is that there are so many spots in the system where the rust can originate.

For example, we once knew a man who had all sorts of rusty hot water and after a good deal of checking he found that the reason was his well which went right through a small vein of iron ore.

He found this out by having the water tested and the solution was to install a filter which removed the iron from the water.

The cause of a lot of rusty water in most homes is the fact that the inside of the hot water storage tank and water storage tank is rusty.

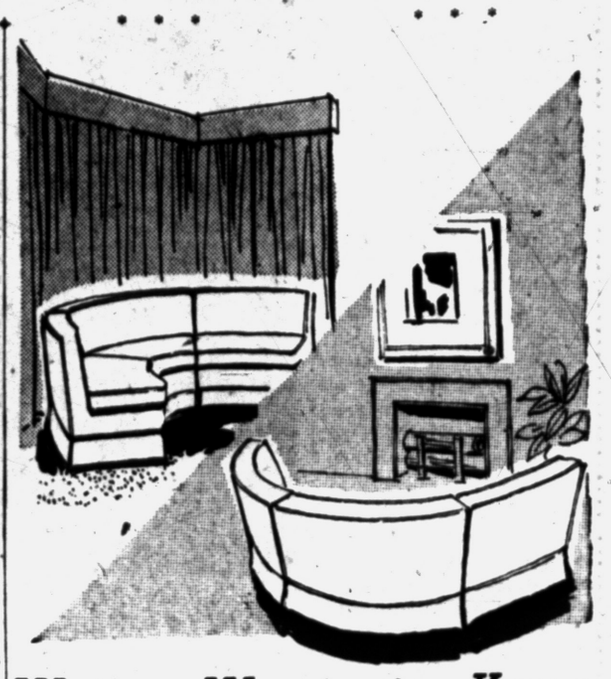

The expansion and contraction of the hot water storage tank loosens the rust inside and it comes out the tap.

The pressure of the water entering the water supply tank does the same thing and rust gets into the cold water supply lines. Iron pipes and fittings will also rust on the inside and add rust to the water system.

The best remedy for this rust condition is to replace the existing pipes and tanks with new ones made of non-corrosive materials.

If this ia a too expensive undertaking, try replacing some of the hot water lines and the hot water storage tank. If you have a washing machine, it might be worth while just running a cold and hot water line of a non-corrosive metal to this fixture so that at least you would have rust-free water for your washing and not be troubled with rust stains in freshly laundered clothing.

If this is a too expensive under- the rust condition by flushing out the pipes and tanks with water under pressure. The best way to handle the pipes is to force the water into them at the top—in the opposite direction from the normal flow. This will remove much of the loose rust and give you clean water for a period.

Writer Wants to Know Correct Place for Sofa

By ELIZABETH HILLYER

Plot with the floor plan before buying a curved sofa, to make sure it will fit happily into the room. It's all too easy to be taken with an unusual sofa shape, but it's not the right one if it hinders, rather than helps, good furniture arrangement.

Mrs. H. H. writes, "I have my eye on a sofa that's round almost in the shape of a semi-circle, but will it look good in my living room? I shouldn't buy it just because it's fashionable, I know, so will you tell me how a sofa like this would be placed in a room?"

Such a sofa is very right when there's an architectural feature it fits, Mrs. H., perhaps a bay. And it's pleasing in a room that's big enough so it can be free-standing, where it might be used, as in the sketch, to center a conversation group in front of a fireplace. But when the sofa must be crowded against a wall in a small room, it may never look at home and may make it difficult to place the rest of the furniture. Draw a floor plan of the room and make cut-outs of the furniture in it and the curved sofa. Arrange the cut-outs on the floor plan to see if the sofa looks right.

Bide Your Time With Broom, Pan

Until the day arrives when husbands and small boys ALWAYS remember to wipe their feet when entering the house, ease the task of battling General Mud.

Keep a child-size broom and dustpan in the front closet. Pick up the pieces without making an extra trip to the kitchen or basement.

Minerals Help Hair

Minerals and iodine are good for the hair, so be sure to include fresh vegetables, fresh fruit and sea food in your diet for hair beauty.

Remove Corrosion With Sandpaper

Keep a small piece of emery paper or sandpaper where you keep your emergency flashlight.

A light sanding of end of bulb and points where batteries touch each other will remove corrosion that often dims light considerably.

Time Has Come for Spring Check

Now's the time to inventory your outdoor spring-cleaning equipment. Check condition of the garden hose.

Lay in a supply of washers. Fix that wobbly ladder. Purchase the oil soap and the touch-up paint.

Ironing Blues to Be Relieved by Summertime

NEW YORK (INS) — No-iron lingerie will be a thing of beauty as well as a washing joy this coming summer.

No-iron slips and petticoats, particularly those made of textured cottons, are getting fancier and frillier. One reason is that these no-iron cottons are smoother this year.

Another is the increasing use of "mixes," like the new batiste made of 65 per cent dacron and 35 per cent cotton. Nylon, of course, is still tops in the no-iron field and you'll find it in crepe, tricot and dacron-nylon versions.

Manufacturers are loading all their warm-weather lingerie with ruffles and ribbons. A cotton plisse nightie with matching robe is printed in butterflies and strawberries and ruffled besides. A dacron-slip has lace at top, waist and hem — and the hem is ruffled.

Caps Are Different

There's a difference: Wear a shower cap for showers, a bathing cap for swimming. Both are inexpensive.

IF large figure—

The slimmer coat, straight sides with some shaping via seaming at the front, or the slightly fitted long coat, are both good.

Miss L. F.—The slimmer coat is good news for the short, full figure that should never wear bulk. Tapered box silhouette or the semi-fitted coat play an equally important role this spring and both elongate the silhouette—thus slimming it.

by Laura Wheeler

You'll look so smart in this lovely style. Wear it as a pretty dress—as a versatile jumper! Flattering lines — proportioned for shorter, fuller figures.

Pattern 519: Half sizes 14½, 16½, 18½, 20½, 22½, 24½. Tissue pattern, transfers. State size.

New Venus Line Accents Curves

PARIS (INS) — Lanvin-Castillo, a neutral fashion house in the battle of the bosoms, today launched its "Venus line" which gently accentuates feminine curves.

The Lanvin look in this spring collection features a soft, long torso silhouette topped by demure high necked, wide cowl collars framing back decolletes.

The line of these clothes points backward with waists, decolletes, belts and peplums swinging to the rear.

For daytime wear Lanvin displayed slim suits in navy and pastels. Cocktail clothes were jumper topped, full-skirted frocks in flower-printed cottons and silks with matching parasols.

In evening wear Lanvin showed a pink lame tuxedo jacket worn with a pink silk net ballerina skirt.

For a novel as well as nifty evening look Lanvin perched real-looking butterflies made of cotton on a wire frame on shoulders, collars and skirt hem.

Try Again on Romance Boy Advised

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: I met her last summer at the shore, and though we never got at all serious I did like her very much. I thought then and still think now that she was a wonderful girl but she hasn't written to me at all in spite of the fact that I wrote to her last fall.

Since I can't forget her and would like to keep in touch with her, could I write to her now and tell her how I feel and ask her to write back?"

By all means, yes, do write her again. Don't tell her too much, all at once, about how you feel. Just get the thing started again with another letter.

If your letter is gay and interesting enough, and if there are enough questions to answer, you ought to get an answer. Perhaps you could put out some feelers about the possibility of seeing her. That would make her feel she has something tangible to cope with. If she's interested, you'll hear from her.

"Dear Miss Woodward: I don't go out often and don't go with the boys yet, but I love to write letters in my spare time.

I'd like to know if there are any pen-pal clubs for teen-agers here in the city where I live? Perhaps I could become a member."

I don't, unfortunately, know of any local pen-pal club for you to get in touch with. But if you like to write letters, you might like writing to young people in foreign countries who would love to have an American pen pal.

There is so much to write about the differences in the way we live, work, play, think and entertain ourselves. There's so much to learn from their letters.

They're very faithful about writing because they want to have an American friend. If the idea appeals to you, write to the International Friendship League, 40 Mt. Vernon Street, Boston 8, Mass., for full information. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope, and tell them your choice of age, nationality, and sex.

"Dear Miss Woodward: I'm going steady and very happy with the arrangement, but I'd like to write to some boys in the service. Would it be proper, if they were just friendly letters? Where could I get some names?"

Your local paper sometimes prints photographs of local boys who are away in the service. And your nearest U.S.O. might give you some helpful steers. But before you start writing to boys you don't know—decide whether you're willing to keep on and finish something you start. Decide whether it wouldn't be easier to write to boys you know. And find out how your steady boy friend is going to like the idea!

The sun-back in silk, designed in a resort travelers and fashion fanciers will smart, new looking space print will interestenjoy the softness of the fabric.

Plan Ahead for Happy Retirement

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Mr. and Mrs. B. have made the most successful adjustment to retirement of any couple I know. Now in their early sixties, they have a charming house, a small but adequate income, and many productive interests.

Mrs. B. does part-time baby sitting, which she adores and which, she claims, keeps her interested and young. Mr. B. does part-time electrical repairs in his basement workshop, and has many people in the neighborhood as customers.

"Keeps me young," he grinned, "also, I get all the good neighborhood gossip!"

Both feel needed, and still a part of the stream of life. And they're healthy as horses.

How do they account for their success in facing an adjustment which throws many people? "Advance planning! Facing the inevitable"—that's what they told me, and they went on to explain in detail.

"When I was thirty-five," Mr. B. said, "I was sitting pretty. Good job, nice home, fine wife, three children. No money in the bank, but I figured there was plenty of time for that.

"But one day my boss, a successful man, with a big salary, announced that he would be retiring soon, because he was just hittig sixty—our company's retirement age. And—can you believe it?—he and his wife would have to live with one of their children!

"The pension wasn't enough to keep them, and he had always figured there was plenty of time. He went from a very well-to-do executive, busy and needed, to practically a charity case, dragging out his days living off his children. I decided then and there to do something about it."

Asked what he did, what suggestions he had for others, Mr. B. obliged.

"First, sit down and figure your finances at thirty-five. Figure what you'll need per month to live on at sixty. Decide where it's coming from, and how much you'll have to put aside per year for the intervening years.

"Talk to your insurance man or a good accountant, and get a plan. If your income isn't enough to set the right amount aside, see if you can get a weekend job, or maybe your wife would enjoy a part-time job, the proceeds of which would go toward retirement.

It's no chore at all when you've got twenty-five years to collect it—but if you wait till retirement time, it's impossible.

"And when you're forty-five, start a real hobby, something that you find fascinating. Develop it, study if possible, and build up your skill. Then you'll stay busy and happy as long as you live. And last, start periodic health examinations, the day you hit forty!"

A lot of women could cure themselves of jealousy by taking a good look at their husbands.

'Snow Bomb' Good for Special Party

Scout your neighborhood stores to determine if they have any "snow bombs" still in stock. Keep one or two in a cool place in the basement in anticipation of a special party.

Make "happy birthday" or other suitable stencil from typewriter paper, affix to mirror with small dabs of rubber cement, and spray on the legend. Then remove stencil.

You won't have to spend time on washday separating white from colored clothes if you have your husband make a plywood divider for the laundry hamper.

People Have Odd Hobbies Sometimes

Writers' Wisdom Meat for Others' Criticism

By MARY MARGARET McBRIDE

People do come up with the starangest hobbies! For instance, I've just uncovered an amateur carper — or would caviller be a better word?

This gentleman, who started some time back to make my life mildly miserable, gets his kicks looking for mistakes, in accuracies or moot points and then shows off by writing outraged letters—to the editor, or the police or the head of the business—demanding retractions or better.

His latest to me, set forth, on expensive, embossed stationery in superior language obviously designed for publication, his opinion on a wide-open historical point I'd touched on in a column.

I'm easily scared, particularly where research is involved, and went flying to the reference books to discover how on earth I'd come to make such a dreadful error.

Reassured, I was debating whether to answer his rude letter of write a column exposing him as a boor when I happened to glance at the Letters to the Editor column of a popular magazine. There was my carper outraged about another "error," setting somebody else right in almost the same words he had used to me.

Diverted from my mission, I began to laugh and tell the story around to friends. One looked thoughtful.

"But I think that might be fun," he said. "Fun, that is, if you're naturally irascible and need to let off steam. It would be better than snarling at your wife or secretary, for you'd sometimes break into print and so satisfy your ego as well as get rid of anger."

Then he grinned suddenly.

"In a mild way, maybe I'm a kindred spirit of your old boy," he said. "During the irritable drip stage of a head cold recently, I almost fired off a superior letter to a radio commentator.

I'd just heard from an authority that Mark Twain had not tossed off that remark about everybody talking about the weather and nobody doing anything. So when this radio character—whom I dislike anyway — airily named Mark Twain as the author, I stopped sneezing and started looking for pen and paper. I never wrote the letter, though.

What restrained me was that I couldn't remember the name of the person who really made the bon mot—some editor in Connecticut, I think."

There I go again, leaving a subject up in the air and myself open to the caviller who will be quick, I'm sure, to pick up the challenge. One thing certain, he will never by any chance write to say "well done." He'll just keep on ripping off nasty, disturbing little beefs.

Well, I won't cater to his ego by printing his name. Not even when he happens to be right, which this time, thank goodness he wasn't.

Canadian Province Backs Fluorine Use After Two Years of Technical Survey

EDMONTON, Alta. — Highways Minister Taylor said today the Alberta government "does not plan immediate action" on a recently-completed survey on fluoridation, given "unqualified endorrsation" by the Alberta Research Council.

Mr. Taylor made his brief comment in making public the report, which took two years to complete. It is understood the report will be open for debate during the legislative session starting Feb. 17.

Mr. Taylor is chairman of the Research Council, which two years ago started its "unbiased technical survey concerning the habits of fluoridating public water supplies."

The report said:

"Actually, all that is proposed is that the concentration of a substance naturally present in the water supply be increased to a level which has been demonstrated to be optional for dental health.

"Such a procedure is neither more or less than the addition of vitamin A to butter or to margarine, or the addition of vitamin B complex members to flour."

Although studies were still in progress to determine the greatest amount of protection to be realized from fluoridatioin, there now was ample evidence to justify its use in any community where the water supply is deficient in fluorides.

"Sufficient evidence has been presented," the council says, "to indicate there is a safe margin between drinking water containing the trace quantities of fluorine which are required for optimal dental dealth an dthe amount which produces undesirable phyciological effects."

The council estimated that for every $1 spent on fluoridation, $60 to $70 would be saved in dental treatment.

Parachutist Saves Buddy

FT. BRAGG, N. C. (AP) — Before he became a qualified paratrooper, Pfc. Elmor L. Taylor saved the life of another fledgling jumper. During a training jump the parachute of Pvt. William C. Bird collapsed in mid-air. Taylor, floating to earth, grabbed Bird's parachute and hung on until they reached the ground safely.

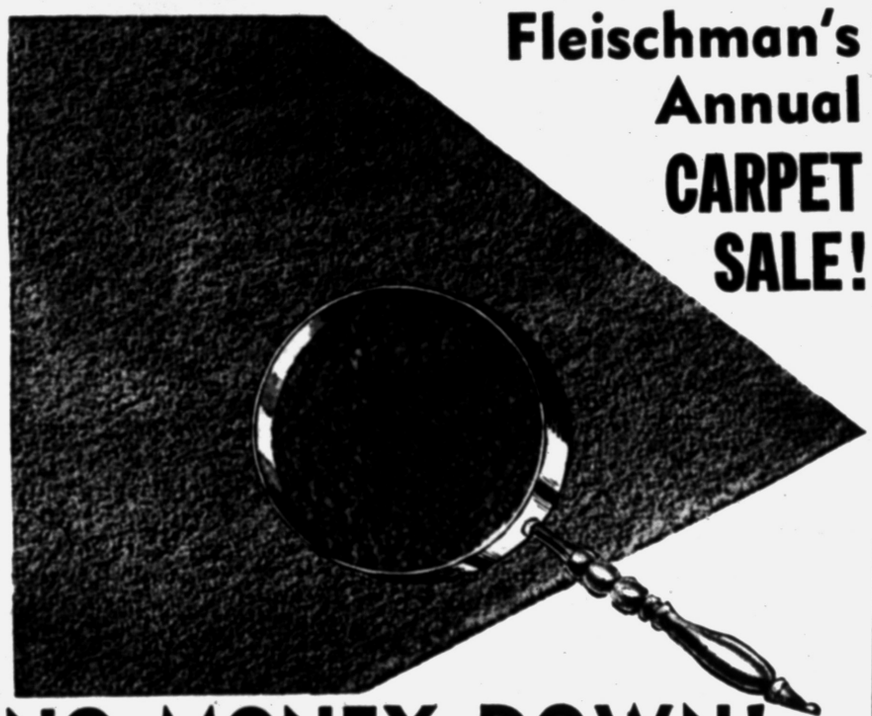

The first to assume the title of poet laureate in England was Geoffrey Chaucer. In 1389 he received a royal grant of a yearly allowance of wine.

More Cars Than Homes

HARTFORD, Conn. (UP)—Connecticut has more motor vehicles than places to live. State Motor Vehicles Commissioner Charles F. Kelley reports there are 900,000 registered vehicles, and only 700,000 dwelling units.

Colgate's New Detergent with JUST-RIGHT SUDS will

OUTWASH ANY OTHER PRODUCT IN YOUR AUTOMATIC WASHER!

it's Colgate's

NEW AD

guaranteed to wash clothes cleaner and whiter than any other product... protect your machine-or your money back!

Here is the greatest detergent yet produced by science for automatic washing machines!

It's Colgate's amazing new detergent AD—with just-right suds. Cup-for-cup, AD's cleaning and whitening ingredients combine to outwash any other product in your automatic washer.

AD is guaranteed to wash clothes cleaner and whiter than any other detergent known. And it lets your machine work better and last longer, too!

Here's why: AD gives you just the right amount of suds. Not too few. Not too many. But just-right suds for your machine and for perfect washing results.

So add AD to your life today. It upsets all previous recommendations for automatic washers. And it's guaranteed to outwash any low-suds or regular detergent known. If you don't agree that AD outwashes any other detergent in any automatic machine, Colgate-Palmolive Co. will refund your money. Mail boxtop to: Colgate-Palmolive Co., Dept. APD, Jersey City 2, N. J.

Non-sudsing detergents fail to show proper amount of detergent to use. Insufficient suds may leave clothes looking grey and streaky, many housewives feel. AD, with just-right suds, gives you the cleanest and whitest wash you've ever known!

Regular detergents produce so many suds they may cause "suds lock" . . . clog your machine . . . strain its motor . . . run up extra power and repair bills for you. AD, with just-right suds, lets your machine work smoothly and properly.

AD—with just-right suds—gives you the cleanest wash possible and the whitest wash you've ever seen. And AD lets your machine work freely and easily . . . without stress or strain. For your wash and your washer, try AD. It's better—automatically!

Today try AD— automatically better in your automatic washer!

Have a Heart on Valentine's Day

Arrange Party for Lovers Only

Treat Your Romeo (and Guests) to Raspberry Bavarian Cream

"When I was one-and-twenty I heard a wise man say, 'give crowns and pounds and guineas but not your heart away; give pearls away and rubies but keep your fancy free.' But I was one-and-twenty—no use to talk to me."

And a good thing, too! What will become of one-and-twenty when it "gives not its heart away?" Not only are we for all such delightful giving; we think it rates a proud and pretty party to emphasize who has possession!

Comes Feb. 14, then, throw a Hearts 'n' Flowers Coffee Party for a few friends and their Valentines — including yours, of course. This applies whether you're in the first fine careless rapture or have been darning his socks for nigh onto 30 years.

Give your party the full treatment—red roses, cupids, and the best coffee you know how to make, a sure-fire holder of a man's heart at any age.

You'll serve with it, we hope, a Valentine Meringue Heart, just the prettiest we've come across in many a moon.

Valentine Meringue Heart

4 egg whites
½ cup sugar

Beat egg whites until they form soft peaks; add sugar gradually, beating well after each addition. Grease heart-shaped cake pan; line with aluminum foil, letting it extend well above top of pan. Spoon meringue around inner side of pan in a border about 2 inches wide.

Bake in moderate oven, 325 degrees, 15 to 20 minutes, or until lightly browned. Lift out by means of foil to serving plate. Fill heart-shaped "ring" with:

Raspberry Bavarian Cream

1 12-ounce package frozen raspberries
2 envelopes unflavored gelatine
2 eggs, separated
½ cup sugar
½ cup milk
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup whipping cream
1 teaspoon vanilla

Defrost raspberries. Drain, saving syrup. Soften gelatine in one-half cup syrup. Beat egg yolks and add sugar. Scald milk. Add to egg yolk mixture with softened gelatine. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly until thickened. Remove from heat and add raspberries. Chill until mixture mounds slightly in spoon. Beat egg whites stiff. Fold in. Whip cream and fold in with vanilla. Spoon into center of meringue. Chill. Makes eight servings.

VALENTINE MERINGUE HEART—You just can't ignore Valentine's Day. Have a party, call in the neighbors, or treat the family to this luscious dessert. Bake your meringue in a heart-shaped shell, then fill with Raspberry Bavarian Cream.

Mash Yams, Flavor With Lemon-Honey

Such pretty color and delectable flavor when you prepare sweet potatoes this way!

Lemon-Honey Sweet Potatoes

2 pounds sweet potatoes
¼ cup butter or margarine
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon lemon rind
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 tablespoons honey
Paprika

Scrub sweet potatoes and bake in hot (425 degrees) oven until cooked through—about 25 to 35 minutes, depending on size of potatoes.

Peel potatoes and put pulp through potato ricer or mash until there are no lumps; add butter and beat until melted.

Stir in salt, lemon rind, lemon juice and honey. Pile potato mixture lightly into six small baking shells; sprinkle with paprika.

Return to oven to reheat—10 to 15 minutes. Makes six servings.

If You Want Good Meat, You Must Buy Properly

There is only one way to get good meat: You have to pick it out yourself. This means you have to be able to tell good meat from not-so-good-meat when you see it in the store.

We're not talking about cuts of meat. Everybody knows sirloin steak is better than stewed beef. We're talking about the quality of meat — what makes one sirloin steak better than another sirloin steak.

A current magazine says your butcher will not help you out. The nature of his business won't let him. He must get rid of the less desirable meat. This goes for any type of store, any neighborhood, at any price level.

The dealer always has a small amount of better-than-the-rest meat on hand but he hasn't enough of this to go around. He holds it back for the customer who really knows meat, and it might well be you.

The No. 1 clue to good beef is: Many small flecks or veins of white fat running through the red of the meat. This is called "marbling" and indicates good flavor. It also shows the animal has been properly and expensively fed.

Dark red is the best color and the bone should be pink and soft with red streaks running through it. Fat should be thick and white.

If you want to buy good pork, look for three things: Pink meat; white, thick, wax-like fat; fine-textured lean. Pink meat means it's fresh and pork should be fresh. First-class pork has a thick layer of fat around it.

Lamb should have thick fat, hard and very white. The lean should have a fine, smooth texture. Veal must be pale, almost creamy, beige-pink.

Many people don't like to buy meat with too much fat—they hate to pay for something they're not going to use. But fat is a sign of flavor and tenderness. This goes not only for pork, but for lamb and beef as well. When you pay for fat, you pay for quality.

Ever try adding a teaspoon or so of concentrated grape juice to a glass of milk? The children like it.

Try Oven Barbecuing

It's easy to oven-barbecue a chicken. Just quarter the broiler or fryer and arrange it in a baking pan. Mix up your favorite barbecue sauce and drizzle some of it over the chicken. Bake in a moderate oven, adding more barbecue sauce at regular intervals, until chicken is browned and tender.

The annual movement of America's gigantic wheat crop is the biggest single transportation job in the world.

Frost Cake in 2 Colors

Two-tone frosting: Cover your cake with frosting in one color. Then tint more frosting in a contrasting shade and spoon it into a paper cornucopia for decorating top and sides of cake.

Have a Heart on Valentine's Day

Arrange Party for Lovers Only

Treat Your Romeo (and Guests) to Raspberry Bavarian Cream

"When I was one-and-twenty I heard a wise man say, 'give crowns and pounds and guineas but not your heart away; give pearls away and rubies but keep your fancy free.' But I was one-and-twenty—no use to talk to me."

And a good thing, too! What will become of one-and-twenty when it "gives not its heart away?" Not only are we for all such delightful giving; we think it rates a proud and pretty party to emphasize who has possession!

Comes Feb. 14, then, throw a Hearts 'n' Flowers Coffee Party for a few friends and their Valentines — including yours, of course. This applies whether you're in the first fine careless rapture or have been darning his socks for nigh onto 30 years.

Give your party the full treatment—red roses, cupids, and the best coffee you know how to make, a sure-fire holder of a man's heart at any age.

You'll serve with it, we hope, a Valentine Meringue Heart, just the prettiest we've come across in many a moon.

Valentine Meringue Heart

4 egg whites
½ cup sugar

Beat egg whites until they form soft peaks; add sugar gradually, beating well after each addition. Grease heart-shaped cake pan; line with aluminum foil, letting it extend well above top of pan. Spoon meringue around inner side of pan in a border about 2 inches wide.

Bake in moderate oven, 325 degrees, 15 to 20 minutes, or until lightly browned. Lift out by means of foil to serving plate. Fill heart-shaped "ring" with:

Raspberry Bavarian Cream

1 12-ounce package frozen raspberries
2 envelopes unflavored gelatine
2 eggs, separated
½ cup sugar
½ cup milk
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup whipping cream
1 teaspoon vanilla

Defrost raspberries. Drain, saving syrup. Soften gelatine in one-half cup syrup. Beat egg yolks and add sugar. Scald milk. Add to egg yolk mixture with softened gelatine. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly until thickened. Remove from heat and add raspberries. Chill until mixture mounds slightly in spoon. Beat egg whites stiff. Fold in. Whip cream and fold in with vanilla. Spoon into center of meringue. Chill. Makes eight servings.

VALENTINE MERINGUE HEART—You just can't ignore Valentine's Day. Have a party, call in the neighbors, or treat the family to this luscious dessert. Bake your meringue in a heart-shaped shell, then fill with Raspberry Bavarian Cream.

Mash Yams, Flavor With Lemon-Honey

Such pretty color and delectable flavor when you prepare sweet potatoes this way!

Lemon-Honey Sweet Potatoes

2 pounds sweet potatoes
¼ cup butter or margarine
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon lemon rind
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 tablespoons honey
Paprika

Scrub sweet potatoes and bake in hot (425 degrees) oven until cooked through—about 25 to 35 minutes, depending on size of potatoes.

Peel potatoes and put pulp through potato ricer or mash until there are no lumps; add butter and beat until melted.

Stir in salt, lemon rind, lemon juice and honey. Pile potato mixture lightly into six small baking shells; sprinkle with paprika.

Return to oven to reheat—10 to 15 minutes. Makes six servings.

If You Want Good Meat, You Must Buy Properly

There is only one way to get good meat: You have to pick it out yourself. This means you have to be able to tell good meat from not-so-good-meat when you see it in the store.

We're not talking about cuts of meat. Everybody knows sirloin steak is better than stewed beef. We're talking about the quality of meat — what makes one sirloin steak better than another sirloin steak.

A current magazine says your butcher will not help you out. The nature of his business won't let him. He must get rid of the less desirable meat. This goes for any type of store, any neighborhood, at any price level.

The dealer always has a small amount of better-than-the-rest meat on hand but he hasn't enough of this to go around. He holds it back for the customer who really knows meat, and it might well be you.

The No. 1 clue to good beef is: Many small flecks or veins of white fat running through the red of the meat. This is called "marbling" and indicates good flavor. It also shows the animal has been properly and expensively fed.

Dark red is the best color and the bone should be pink and soft with red streaks running through it. Fat should be thick and white.

If you want to buy good pork, look for three things: Pink meat; white, thick, wax-like fat; fine-textured lean. Pink meat means it's fresh and pork should be fresh. First-class pork has a thick layer of fat around it.

Lamb should have thick fat, hard and very white. The lean should have a fine, smooth texture. Veal must be pale, almost creamy, beige-pink.

Many people don't like to buy meat with too much fat—they hate to pay for something they're not going to use.. But fat is a sign of flavor and tenderness. This goes not only for pork, but for lamb and beef as well. When you pay for fat, you pay for quality.

Ever try adding a teaspoon or so of concentrated grape juice to a glass of milk? The children like it.

The mainland area of Australia is 2,948,366 square miles.

Try Oven Barbecuing

It's easy to oven-barbecue a chicken. Just quarter the broiler or fryer and arrange it in a baking pan. Mix up your favorite barbecue sauce and drizzle some of it over the chicken. Bake in a moderate oven, adding more barbecue sauce at regular intervals, until chicken is browned and tender.

The annual movement of America's gigantic wheat crop is the biggest single transportation job in the world.

Frost Cake in 2 Colors

Two-tone frosting: Cover your cake with frosting in one color. Then tint more frosting in a contrasting shade and spoon it into a paper cornucopia for decorating top and sides of cake.

YAM-BACON WRAPAROUNDS — This colorful dish can be the main course for dinner. Fluffy mashed yams are seasoned well, then piled high on pineapple slices. Wrapped in bacon, these mounds are baked for half an hour. This recipe is a welcome change from the ever-present candied sweets.

Yam Bacon Wraparounds Will Stretch Food Dollar

Homemakers, mindful of the food budget, are glad to find some new suggestions for stretching the food dollar. Yam Bacon Wraparounds is a recipe which proves economical meals are as tempting as many a Sunday dinner menu boasting steak or roasts.

Sweet-flavored, smooth-textured yams from Louisiana are mashed with butter and piled over pineapple slices. Bacon slices are wrapped around the yams, and the delicious trio needs only to be baked for half an hour.

Cauliflower with cheese sauce is good with the yam main dish. As a change from the usual bread or rolls, serve crisp bread sticks. Start the meal off with chilled tomato juice garnished with thin slices of lemon.

During the "Louisiana Yam Supper Season," Jan., 15-March 1, fresh and canned yams from Louisiana will be in local markets in good supply.

These yams which have been developed scientifically to contain the maximum amounts of nutrients make a valuable contribution to meals you serve. One medium-sized yam supplies the daily quota of vitamin A. Yams are also rich in vitamins A, B1, B2 and C plus minerals and carbohydrates.

Keep Louisiana yams in mind for meals that are delicious, nourishing and colorful.

Yam Bacon Wraparounds

2 cups cooked yams
3 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
4 slices canned pineapple, drained
4 slices bacon

Mash yams with butter or margarine; beat until fluffy. Place one-fourth of yam mixture on each pineapple slice. Wrap bacon around yams; fasten with toothpicks.

Place in greased shallow baking dish. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees) 30 minutes, or until bacon is done. Serves four.

Fill Acorn Squash With Applesauce

Whisk the top off can or jar of applesauce and proceed. Then be prepared to take a bow for another big success:

Baked Acorn Squash with Apple sauce Filling

3 acorn squash
2 cups canned applesauce
1-3 cup brown sugar
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1-3 cup seedless raisins
¼ cup broken walnut meats
2 tablespoons butter

Scrub squash; halve lengthwise; remove seeds and stringy portions. Combine applesauce, sugar, lemon juice, raisins and nutmeats; place into squash halves. Dot with butter.

Place squash in baking dish; add enough hot water to cover bottom of dish. Cover; bake in hot oven, 400, 54-60 minutes, or until squash is tender, removing cover after 20-30 minutes. Yields six servings.

Dress Up Spice Cake With Applesauce Filling

Bonus from the Bay State is this special variation of favorite Boston Cream Pie. Make a filling by combining a pound can of applesauce and a half cup chopped nuts. Into the applesauce fold a half cup of heavy cream, whipped and sweetened with powdered sugar.

At serving time take one layer of a spice cake and split in half. Spread the applesauce filling between the split layers of cake, and sprinkle the top with additional powdered sugar.

Combine Beef and Asparagus

Succulent beef, tender green asparagus and the subtle flavor of mushrooms are tastefully blended in a creamy brown sauce to make a delicious accompaniment for fluffy white rice.

Compliment your favorite guests by serving this delightful and unusual main dish. A relish plate, salad and dessert will put the finishing touches to a meal you will serve with pride to those special friends.

Here is a recommended menu:

Relish Plate
Beef & Asparagus With Rice
Fresh Fruit Salad With Mint Dressing
Croissants Almond Torte

Beef and Asparagus With Rice

1½ pounds round steak
¼ cup salad oil
1 clove garlic, minced
3 tablespoons minced onions
1 12-ounce package cut asparagus
2 teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon pepper
1½ cups beef stock (or bouillon cubes dissolved in hot water)
½ pound mushrooms, sliced
¾ cup cornstarch
1-3 cup water
3 cups hot cooked rice

Cut meat into strips about 3 inches long and one-eighth-inch thick. Heat 3 tablespoons of the salad oil in large skillet. Add meat, garlic and onions. Cook quickly over high heat, stirring constantly, just until meat loses its raw appearance.

Add asparagus, salt, pepper and beef stock to skillet and bring to a boil. Lower heat; cover and simmer 8 to 10 minutes, or until asparagus is just tender. It should not be overcooked.

Brown mushrooms in remaining salad oil. Blend cornstarch with water. Add to beef-asparagus mixture together with mushrooms. Cook until thickened and clear.

Serve over the hot rice. Serves six.

Market Offers Space Kit to Put Junior in the Know

The food scientist has apparently outstripped the space scientist because man has already solved the problem of what he's going to eat on his space trips, even if he is a little baffled about how he's going to eat it.

Space scientists are agreed in general that the modern foods, especially those that are canned, frozen and concentrated, will be eaten on the moon just as readily as on Main street. The big problem is how to eat them.

All of this discussion is important because a local supermarket is united with leading supers in all other parts of the country in a major [illegible] drive centered around "The Space Kit".

"The Space Kit" is a product of one of the most authoritative books in the field, and the work of real scientists to make space "come alive" for young America and take it out of the comic book field.

Supermarkets get into the act with science because the space kit is their inducement to young people to learn how to shop in supermarkets. The kit is being offered free, along with the purchase of the family's regular food.

Getting back to food, your present food (concentrated because of the size of the space ship) is fine, but. The but is that there is no gravity. So if you push the last luscious bit of your favorite canned meat, it's likely to fly off into space to another planet.

Your present knife is fine, and the fork is still wonderful for spearing the spinach—but the spoon is no good, according to a recent symposium of scientists. If you manage to get some soup on the spoon, that too is going to fly off into space. According to scientists, in a word, there just ain't no gravity to the gravy.

Common as the toothpick will be the drinking straw. Seems you can't pour liquids out of a bottle—you have to lift the bottle to mouth level, and suck on a straw. Some scientists have suggested that much of the liquids you do drink in outer space will be packed in squeeze bottles, and you'll pump them into your mouth.

But there's one thing certain about foods in outer space. You're going to get just as hungry. You won't work up an appetite carrying the many, many extra pounds of space suit, because you'll just float about, but science has yet found no way to regulate the stomach.

One final note, before your space trip. Better take along Grandma's old sugar tongs. It seems some of the scientists are not too sure about that knife and fork business. So you'd better take Nana's nippers, just to be on the safe side out in space.

One other thing scientists are agreed upon. The kitchen is the most dangerous room in the house on earth—it will be just as deadly in space. If you put that steak on to broil under your super short-wave stove, the steak will rocket about the cabin with the busting of the first bubble.

You'll have to open cans carefully, so everything doesn't pop out, in one great big swoosh. It won't be too different than on earth—because one of the big problems is going to be how do you wash the dishes?

Push-Button Starter Warms Cold Auto

WESTOVER AIR FORCE BASE, Mass. (AP)—A kitchen push-button gives Capt. Kenneth R. Kurtzman a hot car on cold mornings.

Kurtzman has rigged 40 feet of TV antenna wire from the kitchen of his home to the garage. The wire carries current which trips the ignition and starts the car motor while the captain eats his breakfast.

He calls his invention "MATO"—morning - assisted - take - off. It cost him about $3.

Italy Influences Fish Scaloppine

We've borrowed a famous Italian culinary idea and developed a recipe for Fish Scaloppine. Tender veal lends itself to this idea so popular with Italian restaurant patrons — so why not tender fish fillets, which are always available throughout the country, and easier to prepare than veal?

Fish Scaloppine is a delicious top-of-the-stove dish, which takes not more than 20 minutes to prepare, once the frozen fillets are thawed. So its especially good for dinners on busy evenings, or for extra-special company meals when you have to get something ready in a hurry.

Fish Fillets Scaloppine

1 package frozen fish fillets
¼ cup flour
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon paprika
2 medium onions
4 green peppers
⅓ cup butter or margarine
¾ cup sherry wine

Let fillets thaw on refrigerator shelf and separate fillets. Mix together flour, salt, pepper and paprika. Turn out mixture onto a piece of waxed paper. Dip each fish fillet into the flour mixture to coat both sides.

Cut onions into rings and pepper into eighths. Melt butter in a large frying pan. Add onion rings and pepper and cook until tender but still crisp, about five minutes.

Lift out onion rings and pepper. Add fillets and cook just long enough to lightly brown on both sides. Add onions and pepper and sherry. Cover pan and cook about three minutes or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork.

Two tablespoons water and 2 tablespoons lemon juice may be substituted for sherry.

FISH FILLETS SCALOPPINE—Since tender fish fillets are now universally available—thanks to the frozen food processors—this dish can be made in any part of this country. Borrowed from the Italians, it's a quick dinner idea. Use it often, varying the kind fo fish fillets you use.

Glazed Ham Balls Perfect for Parties

Here's fork food for a party buffet.

Glazed Ham Balls

½ pound ground lean ham
½ pound ground pork
2-3 cup uncooked quick rolled oats
1 egg (beaten)
½ cup milk
1-3 cup firmly packed brown sugar
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon dry mustard
2-3 cup water
2 tablespoons cider vinegar
6 whole cloves
1-3 cup dark corn syrup

Mix ham, pork, rolled oats, egg and milk thoroughly; chill. Shape into small balls; place in shallow baking pan.

Bake in slow (325) oven one hour; drain. Mix remaining ingredients in saucepan; cook on top of stove, stirring constantly, until slightly thickened.

Pour over top of ham balls; continue baking 15 minutes. Makes six servings.

Follow 4 Hints for Successful Meat Freezing

Owners of home freezers can save money these days by taking advantage of the large supplies of beef and pork on the market, often at attractive prices.

Here is a list of freezing suggestions which may be helpful:

1. Wrap tightly — Trim the meat so that it is ready for cooking and wrap tightly in special moisture and vapor-proof freezer paper. Seal securely with freezer tap or tie well.

2. Label carefully—Each package should be labeled with the name of the cut, weight or approximate number of servings and the date.

3. Store systematically—Rotate the frozen meats—the first placed in the freezer, the first to come out. Fresh pork should be kept no longer than three to four months, while beef may be kept six to eight months.

4. Thaw correctly — Leave meats wrapped while thawing; thaw them in the refrigerator if time permits, rather than at room temperature.

The meat should then be cooked as soon as possible after thawing. (Small cuts of meat need not be thawed before cooking.)

Braised Ox Joints Appeal to Menfolk

The next time you see a "special" on ox joints at your meat market, buy a few pounds and treat your family to a delicious dish. (If restaurant sales are any indication, ox joints are always a favorite with the men.)

Braised Ox Joints

2 oxtails
Flour, fat
2 medium onions
1 teaspoon celery salt
1 bay leaf
4 cloves
1 cup canned tomatoes
1½ cups water

Have meatman cut oxtails into 2-inch pieces. Roll in flour. Brown thoroughly in several tablespoons hot fat in Dutch oven or large heavy kettle.

Add chopped onions, seasonings, tomatoes and water. Cover and cook slowly for 3 to 4 hours or until meat is nearly falling from bone; add more water as needed.

Remove ox joints to warm platter. Thicken gravy using 2 tablespoons flour blended with 3 tablespoons cold water. Add water to dilute to strength desired. Four servings.

Make Use of Food Color to Mark February Fetes

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

February is the month of parties. There are at least three occasions — Valentine's Day, Lincoln's Birthday and Washington's Birthday — when you have an excuse for entertaining. Even if you don't invite guests, you will please the family with special dishes for special days.

What's this all about? Color in food. Nature has lavishly bestowed color on food as it grows. We sometimes think we must improve on her and add more. This can be both good and bad.

For instance, I dislike food colored blue. I'm rather fond of naturally blue foods like plums and blueberries. But artificially blue food makes me just a bit ill. How about you; do you like blue frosting? This is a purely personal reaction, and I have no doubt women will go right on putting blue frosting on cake. When I want a patriotic color scheme, I like to have the red and white in the food, reserving the blue for dishes, napkins or other garnishes.

Cherries, raspberries and strawberries are perfect means of putting red into your color scheme. I came across this recipe for a red sauce to be used on puddings or cakes. You might like it for the approaching holidays.

Clear Red Sauce

⅔ cup sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1 cup boiling water
⅔ cup juice from cherries or raspberries
¼ teaspoon almond extract
Few drops red food coloring

Mix sugar and cornstarch in saucepan. Gradually stir in water and juice. Boil one minute, stirring constantly. Stir in flavoring and coloring.

Add any coloring slowly. Need I say that you can always add more but can never take it out? Too much makes food look violent; too little makes it look dingy. My mother once tried to make me a green angel food cake for my birthday which is near St. Patrick's Day. She didn't use enough coloring and the cake was a sickly, pale green. Cookie dough takes well to food coloring. You must get enough in for clear sharp colors, or the color will bake out.

A well known brand of coconut now includes food coloring sheets in every package. You may tint the coconut before using it as a garnish. It sounds easy enough to do. Can't you see a whole plate of Easter cupcakes, topped with fluffy icing and garnished with pastel coconut?

When carrying out a color scheme for a meal, don't have everything one color. Use your chosen color for accent, plan one or two dishes to carry out your theme. Too many lose their effectiveness.

Since logs and Lincoln seem eternally attached, a log cake dessert is a natural for this Saturday. This one is flavored with orange and mace and is covered with an orange frosting. It is both an attractive and a delicious concoction.

Lincoln Log (Orange and Mace Flavored)

Four eggs, separated
1 cup soft brown sugar
1½ tablespoons fresh orange juice
1½ tablespoons fresh lemon juice
1 cup sifted cake flour
½ teaspoon salt
1¼ teaspoons double-acting baking powder
¼ teaspoon ground mace

Beat egg whites until they stand in soft peaks. Beat in ¼ cup sugar and set aside. Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored. Add orange and lemon juice. Gradually beat in remaining sugar. Fold beaten egg whites into the beaten egg yolks. Sift flour with the salt, baking powder and ground mace, all at one time, and fold in gently.

Pour batter into a paper-lined, greased 15½x10½x1-inch jelly roll pan. Bake 15 minutes or until done in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees F.). Turn out onto a towel sprinkled with confectioners' sugar. Quickly remove paper. Roll up cake in the towel. Cool.

Unroll. Spread with orange frosting. Roll up. Sift confectioners' sugar lightly over the roll or frost, to resemble bark on the log, with orange frosting. If desired, shave bitter chocolate or slivered orange rind over top. Makes 8-10 servings.

Orange Frosting

⅓ cup butter or margarine
½ teaspoon grated orange rind
¼ teaspoon grated lemon rind
3 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
3 tablespoons fresh orange juice

Beat butter or margarine, grated orange and lemon rinds together. Add confectioners' sugar alternately with orange juice. Spread over cake roll. Roll up and frost top and sides. Makes sufficient frosting for both inside and outside of cake roll.

Ex-Commando Learns Bull Fighting in a Hurry

PERTH, Scotland (UP)— Lord Lovat of Beaufort Castle, a wartime commando leader, has added bullfighting to his accomplishments.

When a young bull being herded into the ring at the annual Aberdeen Angus cattle sale yesterday, Lord Lovat grabbed a woman's red beret and kept the bull occupied until reinforcements arrived to force the animal back in its pen.

Planes Prevent Hooky

MARANA, Ariz (UP) — Flooded roads prevented many pupils from reaching school here on day, but others, who live on cattle ranches were flown to the school in private planes. Nearly all the ranches have their own landing strips.

Ham Scrapple Ideal on Cold Mornings

Just the rib-sticking dish for a snappy winter morning!

Ham Scrapple

1 cup enriched yellow cornmeal
1 cup cold water
1½ teaspoons salt
2½ cups boiling water
½ teaspoon dry mustard
2 cups diced cooked ham
Extra cornmeal

Put cornmeal, cold water and salt in saucepan; mix well. Stirring constantly, slowly add boiling water.

Cook until thickened, stirring often. Cover; continue cooking over low heat 10 minutes or longer.

Stir in dry mustard, then ham. Pour mixture into pan (8 by 8 by 2 inches). Chill.

Cut into rectangles about 1 by 2¼ inches; remove from pan with small spatula. Roll in extra cornmeal and pan-fry in small amount of hot fat until golden brown.

Horse-Laughs, Too

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (UP) — P. T. Barnum, known as America's greatest circus promoter, was also a judge of horseflesh. Barnum was an infield pony judge at the first major horse show in North America held here in October, 1853.

Young children have fewer colds than people in their teens, available statistics indicate.

QUICK SNACKS — Here's a brand-new idea for snacks to serve before meals or with coffee or tea. These hot "nibbles" can be made in a variety of flavors, but all are made with powdered cream. Do try them.

Origin of Valentine's Day May Lie in Pagan Ritual

WASHINGTON — For makers of greeting cards bedecked with hearts, for florists, bachelors and foot-weary postmen, the coming of spring is marked not by the March equinox but by the 14th of February five weeks before.

The modern St. Valentine's Day is something of an unaccountable tradition, its exact origin obscured in antiquity. The National Geographic Society can report with confidence that there are towns named Valentine in Nebraska, Texas, Arkansas and Arizona, not forgetting a Valentines in Virginia. But there is no such certainty on how "Will-you - be - My - Valentine?" came about.

On Valentine's eve, Victorian ladies once hopefully tied bay leaves on their pillows to induce dreams of their sweethearts. They might have been shocked to know that the romantic day's history could be traced to imperial Rome's pagan festival of Lupercalia, which was quite un-Victorian and uninhibited in its observance. Celebrated in mid-February, it was a time to invoke special gods for the boon of fertility.

How did this occasion of pagan revelry give place to the name-day of a Christian saint? And who was Valentine?

The answer to the first question, many historians believe, is that Christianity, after conquering Rome, instituted a mid-February religious feast of its own to combat lingering pagan beliefs associated with that time of year.

As to the true identity of the original patron saint of romance, scholars can only guess, for reliable records are lacking. Of the seven Valentines on the early Christian calendar of saints, only two would seem eligible. Both were martyrs and may have died the same day.

One was a physician named Valentine, a preacher of the new gospel who refused to renounce his faith. Legend has it that before he went to his death he cured his jailer's daughter of blindness and sent her a farewell note, ending: "From your Valentine."

A second candidate is Valentine, Bishop of Interamna (modern Terni) who is said to have defied an imperial edict by officiating at marriage ceremonies which were banned. He paid with his life, and some authorities say he met death on February 14, A.D. 270, alongside the preacher-physician Valentine.

The practice of sending sentimental greeting cards began about A.D. 1400. Lace paper and ribboned frillwork gradually became a highly skilled art, as valentine gallants sought to outdo one another.

Valentines were the earliest American greeting cards. By 1800 they were tremendously popular. "Comic" penny valentines came into vogue a century later, and for a time the lovers' day was devoted to sending rude insults—always unsigned.

Use squares of waxed paper for sifting and measuring when baking. The paper can be discarded and you save on dishwashing.

Remove paper stuck to wood by soaking it with a few drops of oil and rubbing gently with a clean cloth.

Accent Beauty on February 14

Like a neon sign in the middle of February is St. Valentine's Day. It's a day for a party with hearts and flowers for decoration, and the accent on pretty desserts.

Frivolous but delicious is Orange Parfait, and from the test kitchens of a fresh-frozen orange juice company an easy version.

Citrus fruit, both fresh and fresh-frozen, gets high billing this month on the Department of Agriculture's list of plentiful foods, and you know what that means! It's a good buy!

Our Orange Parfait makes a nice change of pace from ice cream. Not so cold as ice cream, its texture is softer and more velvety. Spoon it gently into your tall parfait glasses.

And for the deep, deep red theme of St. Valentine's Day—add alternate layers of fresh-frozen grape juice—don't dilute it. Let it swirl through the parfait for an unusual marbled efect.

Then the final touch—a rosette of whipped cream from a pastry bag—or shape with a teaspoon if you prefer.

Orange Parfait

1 can (1 1-3 cups) sweetened condensed milk
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 can (6 ounces) fresh frozen orange juice, undiluted
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
½ can (6 ounces) fresh frozen grape juice

Place sweetened condensed milk in large mixing bowl. Stir in lemon juice until mixture thickens. Blend in undiluted fresh-frozen orange juice. Reserve one fourth of whipped cream for garnish, then fold remainder into mixture.

Place in ice cube trays and store several hours in freezing compartment of refrigerator until firm. Spoon into chilled glasses with alternate layers of undiluted fresh-frozen grape juice. Garnish with remaining whipped cream. Serve six-eight.

Sweet Cherries Accent Rolls and Coffee Cakes

Canned sweet cherries are a delicious accent to sweet rolls and coffee cakes.

Chop them for a filling for a split layer; roll them up in the dough jelly roll fashion and slice off 1-inch pieces, placing cut side up in pan; or drop the pitted or chopped cherries on top of the dough.

Powdered Cream Snacks Can Be Made in Minutes

Don't be afraid to be frankly sentimental on St. Valentine's Day. For this has always been a sentimental day symbolic of love and friendship.

Invite in a group of the people you care for most and combine old-fashioned sentiment with modern refreshments. The hostess can really go all out in her table decorations — for on this day there is a very real place for hearts and flowers.

Today, we are not catering to the guests with a sweet tooth. Instead we have selected some "quick snacks" that were created for people who prefer cheese and meat flavors.

Hot snacks are so good with coffee or tea and this basic recipe may be employed with many variations.

When instant powdered cream is used "quick snacks" can be made in a matter of minutes. This product which provides the new way "to cream" your coffee is equally good in modern recipes.

Today we are giving a recipe for "quick snacks" and we suggest that you divide the dough in half — vary one batch with one-fourth cup grated sharp cheese and the other batch with 2 tablespoons deviled ham. And this is the basic dough:

Quick Snacks

¼ cup powdered cream
⅓ cup margarine or butter, softened
⅔ cup sifted all-purpose flour

Mix ingredients together with fork or pastry blender. Roll into 1-inch balls. Place on baking sheet and bake in a hot oven (450 degrees) about six minutes. Makes 2½ dozen snacks.

If desired, mixture may be chilled in refrigerator several hours, rolled on floured board, about one-fourth-inch thick, then cut with 1-inch cutter.

Bake Chicken With Pineapple, Orange Slices

Here's an utterly delightful way to serve chicken to guests.

Chicken Pineapple Casserole

1 frying chicken (about 2½ pounds ready-to-cook weight)
4 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
1-16 teaspoon pepper
⅓ cup butter
⅓ cup chicken broth
1 No. 2 can pineapple chunks (well drained)
1 orange
Sugar
Nutmeg
2 teaspoons cornstarch
2 tablespoons cooking sherry

Have chicken cut into about 10 pieces; clean in cold water and dry. Mix flour, salt and pepper. Roll chicken pieces in flour mixture.

Melt butter in large (9 or 10 inches) skillet; add chicken and brown on both sides.

Place chicken pieces in casserole; add chicken broth. Cover and bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven about 25 minutes.

Then remove from oven: Add pineapple. Cut orange in six round slices and place over chicken. Sprinkle each slice of orange with one-half teaspoon sugar and a little nutmeg.

Increase oven heat to 375 degrees and bake chicken, covered, 15 minutes longer or until tender when tested with a fork. Arrange chicken, pineapple and orange slices on serving platter.

Pour liquid in baking pan into skillet chicken was browned in. Mix 2 teaspoons cornstarch with 2 tablespoons sherry until smooth; add to skillet.

Cook and stir until thickened and bubbly; pour over chicken.

Serve at once. Makes four to five servings.
Six servings.

CHICKEN SKILLET SUPREME — The skillet comes to the table with this appetizing Chicken Supreme recipe featuring a mushroom stuffing and giblet gravy. There's lots of nonfat dry skim milk in both stuffing and gravy.

Skillet Comes to the Table With This Chicken Recipe

Appetizing Chicken Skillet Supreme guarantees a round of affirmative votes at the family dinner table for this hearty dish features fried chicken with giblet gravy and a mushroom stuffing.

Homemakers will like this version of chicken with dressing and gravy at a time when broilers and fryers are plentiful. First make the mushroom stuffing and while it is baking, fry chicken a golden brown.

Nest the stuffing around the chicken in the skillet, and this will make an attractive from range-to-table dish to be served with lots of mushroom gravy.

Three cups of nonfat dry milk go into our giblet gravy recipe and a cup is called for in the mushroom stuffing.

Giblet Gravy

Chicken giblets
1½ cups water
3 cups liquefied instant nonfat dry milk
⅓ cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon kitchen bouquet

Simmer gizzard, heart and neck in water about one hour or until tender. Add the liver the last 10 minutes of cooking. Drain, reserve one-fourth cup stock.

Chop the giblets. Pour liquefied instant nonfat dry milk into top of double boiler. Sprinkle flour, salt and pepper over surface. Add giblet stock.

Beat with rotary beater until just blended. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly until thickened, about 10 minutes. Remove from heat.

Add kitchen bouquet and giblets. Serve hot with fried chicken and mushroom stuffing. Makes 3½ cups gravy.

Mushroom Stuffing

1 medium-size onion, chopped
⅔ cup sliced mushrooms or
2 (3-ounce) cans, drained
3 tablespoons butter
1 cup liquefied instant nonfat dry milk
4 cups soft bread crumbs
2 teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon poultry seasoning
1 teaspoon powdered thyme
2½ pound chicken, fried

Saute onion and mushrooms in butter until onion is tender. Pour liquefied instant nonfat dry milk over bread crumbs; add to onion mixture with seasonongs. Toss lightly until blended.

Turn into ungreased 8½x4½x-2½-inch baking pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) about 30 minutes or until stuffing is lightly browned.

Serve stuffing with fried chicken and giblet gravy. Makes four servings.

Keep Oranges Handy

Remember that oranges are one of the few fruits that keep well at room temperature . . . keep them handy in bowls around the house for TV snacks or for the children after school.

Appetizer Combines Grapefruit, Avacado

This appetizer is something special!

Grapefruit and Avocado Cup

2 medium-sized grapefruit
1 teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
½ teaspoon dry mustard
½ teaspoon paprika
½ teaspoon onion powder
4 teaspoons red wine vinegar
4 tablespoons olive oil
2 medium-sized avocadoes
Paprika

Peel grapefruit so no white membrane remains; cut segments away from dividing walls with small sharp knife. Do this over a strainer set over a bowl.

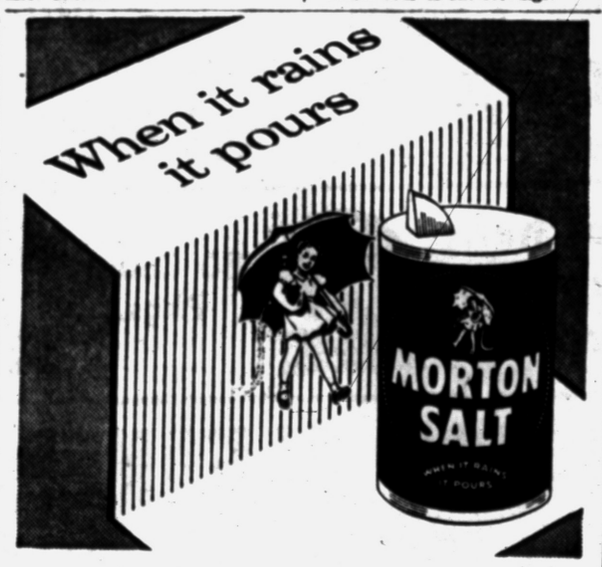

Reserve grapefruit segments. (Drink grapefruit juice or save for some other use!)

In another bowl put salt, pepper, mustard, one-half teaspoon paprika, onion powder, vinegar and olive oil; beat together well with a fork.

Peel avocadoes and cut into bite-size pieces. Save some of the whole grapefruit segments for garnishing; halve the rest.

Arrange avocado and grapefruit pieces in sherbet cups; dribble dressing over. Garnish with whole grapefruit segments and paprika.

Mikes four to six servings.

Sweet-Sour Sauce Complements Duck

Sweet and Pungent Roast Duck

1 4½ to 5½-pound duckling (ready-to-cook weight)
1 cup firmly-packed dark brown sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup red wine vinegar
1 9-ounce can crushed pineapple
1 large green pepper (cut in strips about ½-inch wide)

Roast duck on rack uncovered in a moderate (350 degrees) oven allowing 25 minutes per pound.

A half hour before duck has finished roasting, pour off fat; return to very hot (450 degrees) oven or 30 minutes.

Meanwhile stir brown sugar, cornstarch and salt together thoroughly; add vinegar and mix until smooth. Stir in pineapple, including syrup from can, and green pepper.

Cook and stir constantly over moderate heat until clear and thickened.

Cut roast duck into six or eight pieces; pour sauce over. Serve at once. Makes four servings.

Try New Frozen Soups as Sauces or Flavorings

A real "whee of a time" is in store for you when you begin cooking with the new frozen soups.

Brimming over with fresh flavor, these deluxe soups (at moderate prices) seem to capture everyone's enthusiam. Whichever of the frozen delicacies you serve, the family is pretty sure to sit up and take notice. It may be the cream of shrimp, oyster stew, green pea with ham soup, or potato soup.

These frozen items are doubly useful too. They're heavenly as sauces and as ingredients in cooking. Try the luscious pink, cream of shrimp soup as a sauce. Ladle it over a golden omelet, light as a feather, and, oh, what a marvelous feast.

The same shrimp sauce goes grandly over buttered rice, crisp toast, or waffles. Try it too with vegetables—such as asparagus.

Oyster stew also deserves a prize for its usefulness in cooking. Try it in a casserole of scalloped oysters. Or see how happily it teams with eggs—simply make scrambled eggs the usual way but use oyster stew for the liquid. Like this:

Egg and Oyster Scramble

1 can (10 ounces) frozen condensed oyster stew
8 eggs
½ teaspoon salt
Dash black pepper
2 tablespoons butter

Completely thaw oyster stew; remove oysters; mince. Beat eggs, liquid from stew and seasonings until foamy. Add minced oysters.

Melt butter in skillet. Pour in egg mixture; cook slowly until thickened and done, stirring now and then. Makes eight servings.

For Sauce:

Spring Omelet with Shrimp Sauce

1 can (10 ounces) frozen condensed cream of shrimp soup
½ cup milk
¼ cup chopped toasted almonds

Heat soup and milk slowly; stir frequently. Pour sauce over omelet; sprinkle almonds on top. Makes about 2 cups sauce (enough for an eight-egg omelet).

For omelet:

Beat eight eggs slightly; beat in one-fourth cup cream, 1 teaspoon salt and dash black pepper. Heat 2 tablespoons butter or margarine in skillet; add eggs. Cook slowly, lifting edges with spatula to allow uncooked portion to flow underneath.

When omelet is done, fold one half over. Serve on warm platter with warm sauce. Makes eight servings.

Nippy Cheese Mixture Sets Off Tomato Aspic

Slide ready-to-serve tomato aspic from the can and cut into half-inch-thick slices. Cut center out of each, leaving a doughnut of aspic. Put the doughnut slice on crisp salad greens.

Mix cream cheese with half the amount of blue cheese and a few chopped nuts. Season with chopped onion and Tabasco. Heap the mixture in the center of the aspic slice and pop the pieces out on top.

When sewing velvet, place all pieces of the pattern so the nap of the fabric runs up. When cutting velveteen, corduroy and napped woolens, place all pieces of the pattern so the nap runs down.

FRUIT-OF-TH-VINE—A famous grape juice company is introducing its newest product in Pontiac. Fruit-of-the-Vine comes packaged in a smartly styled reusable glass dessert dish. The whole Concord grapes, big ripe and delicious, are preserved in their own rich juiciness.

Try Pot Roast Chicago-Style

Chicago knows its beef. Here is a recipe for de luxe pot roast out of a noted Chicago food testing kitchen. Different and good.

Sour Cream Pot Roast

3½ to 4 pound pot roast
2 medium onions, sliced
1 clove garlic, minced
3 tablespoons lard
1 tablespoon salt
1 cup dairy-soured cream
1 cup water
4 or 5-ounce package noodles

In a Dutch oven or other heavy utensil, lightly brown onion and garlic in hot lard. Push to one side of pan.

Rub meat with salt and brown well. Combine sour cream with water and pour over meat.

Top with onions and garlic, cover and cook over low heat (or in a 325-degree oven) for 2½ hours or until tender.

Cook noodles in boiling salted water. Remove roast from pan and make gravy from drippings, adding to it the sour cream and onio mixture spooned from top of roast.

Season to taste with salt, pepper and paprika. Serve noodles and meat topped with gravy. Serves five-six.

Some people like curry powder in pot roast. Want to try it?

About 45 minutes before the meat is done, mix 1 tablespoon of curry powder and 1 teaspoon of sugar with one-half cup of water. Stir into the liquid around the roast.

Carving Pot Roasts

To carve a rolled pot roast, slice across the face of the roll.

When cutting round, chuck and other 2-inch-thick pot roasts, cut into 2-inch strips, then turn each piece on edge so that the slices can be carved across the grain of the meat.

Meatballs in Cream Are Fit for Gourmet

Sour cream is a neglected food in many kitchens. Yet it can add really superb flavor to otherwise commonplace foods.

For instance, meatballs, served in a sour cream and dill sauce, and elevated to the gourmet class of foods.

Surprise Meatballs in Sour Cream Gravy

2 cups cornflakes
1 pound ground beef
½ cup milk
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
½ cup chopped onions
10 pitted ripe olives
1½ tablespoons shortening
1½ tablespoons flour
¼ cup water
1 cup sour cream
½ teaspoon dill seed
⅛ teaspoon salt

Crush cornflakes into fine crumbs and combine with ground beef, milk, salt, pepper and onions. Shape meatballs around a pitted ripe olive. Brown meatballs in skillet in heated shortening.

Lift meatballs from skillet; pour off drippings. Measure 1½ tablespoons drippings back into skillet, blend in flour. Stir in water and cook until thickened.

Stir in sour cream, dill seed and salt; add meatballs. Cover and cook slowly for 15 minutes. Serve over buttered hot noodles. Yield: 10 meatballs, 2 inches in diameter.

Ever sprinkle refrigerated ready-prepared biscuits with poppy seed before baking?

Whole Grape Preserve Ready for Market Debut

"Fruit-of-the-Vine", the new preserves of whole Concord grapes, makes its debut in this area the week of Feb. 14. It will be on sale in Pontiac and vicinity on that date.

This newest member of a famous family of grape products is packaged in a smart, reusable dessert dish with no label on the glass; so that, when opened, it may be placed directly on the most festive table.

The result of years of study by the company's researchers and home economists, "Fruit-of-the Vine" has been called "the very same grape preserve that grandma used to make at home."

Only the seeds of the big, purple Concords are removed and it takes a full third of a pound of ripe grapes to make one glass of "Fruit-of-the-Vine."

Homemakers who have sampled "Fruit-of-the-Vine" find it a wonderful spread for breads and toast. They have experimented with the preserve of grapes as a topping for ice creams, puddings and sherberts, for waffles and pancakes.

A spoonful of "Fruit-of-the-Vine" provides a surprising taste treat when added to muffin, pancake or cupcake prepared mixes.

If you're having a party—plan your recorative motif around "Fruit - of - the -Vine." A color scheme planned around shades of lavender with flowers, grapes and decorative motifs is most effective.

"Fruit-of-the-Vine" is eye-pleasing "as is" as a topping for ice creams and sherbets, as a spread for bread—but don't forget that you can make a wonderful frosting for cakes or cupcakes with "Fruit-of-the-Vine." It's a beautiful shade of lavender.

"Fruit-of-the-Vine" Frosting

⅓ cup "Fruit-of-the-Vine"
1 egg white
Dash of salt

Melt "Fruit-of-the Vine" over boiling water, add egg white and salt. Beat until preserves are no longer lumpy.

Remove from heat and beat until frosting stands in stiff peaks. (Makes enough for 1 dozen cupcakes or an 8 x 8 x 2 cake.)

Buy Enough Pork to Insure Leftovers

When you buy a pork roast, buy one large enough so that there will be "planned-overs."

This is a timesaving as well as money-saving practice, says home economist Reba Staggs.

For the first meal, roast the pork in a moderate oven (350 degrees) until the roast meat thermometer registers 185 degrees, the well-done state.

Let the roast set 15 or 20 minutes so it will carve more easily. Slice it and serve it hot.

For the second meal, you can choose from many dishes in which cooked pork is the main ingredient.

You can grind it and use it in croquettes. Or it can be cubed and baked with vegetables, a sauce and biscuit topping for a meat pie.

Cold cubes of cooked pork mixed with French dressing, cooked peas, diced celery and nuts make a hearty luncheon salad.

THAT EXTRA TOUCH—Two interesting touches for your meals—Parmesan Cheese Muffins and Stuffed Onions in tomato sauce. Both contain nonfat dry milk which will enrich the food with extra flavor and nutrition, without adding extra expense.

Little Touch of Imagination Fancies Up Plain Dishes

It's that little extra touch of imagination that helps a homemaker turn budget-wise foods into special dishes instead of a routine meal.

For example, instead of just having hamburger or meat loaf from ground beef, have stuffed onions with tomato sauce and enrich the meat mixture with economical nonfat dry milk which adds flavor as well as the important milk nutrients.

Another interesting lift to a meal is making Parmesan cheese muffins instead of plain muffins.

Nonfat dry milk gives a rich golden brown to hot breads as well as extra nutrition. This versatile product yields the same nourishment as the pasteurized whole milk from which it is made except for the fat which is removed.

Here are recipes which show how economical nonfat dry milk enriches food with extra flavor and nutrition:

STUFFED ONIONS WITH TOMATO SAUCE

Stuffed Onions

6 large, whole onions, peeled
1 pound ground beef
2 tablespoons finely chopped green pepper
⅓ cup nonfat dry milk
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon black pepper

Sauce

1 cup stewed tomatoes
1 6-ounce can tomato paste
1½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon black pepper
½ teaspoon oregano, crushed

Mix all sauce ingredients together and put in round 9-inch baking dish. Cook onions in boiling water just until tender, about 20-25 minutes.

Remove inside of onions and chop finely. Measure and divide in half. Mix one-half with the tomato sauce in the baking dish. Mix the other half with the beef, green pepper, nonfat dry milk, salt and pepper.

Divide meat mixture into six parts, and carefully stuff the whole onions. Place in baking dish with the tomato sauce. Bake in moderate oven at 350 degrees about one-half hour or until meat is browned. Serve at once.

Parmesan Cheese Muffins

2 cups sifted flour
2 tablespoons sugar
4 tablespoons nonfat dry milk
1 teaspoon salt
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ cup grated Italian-style cheese
1 egg, well beaten
1 cup water
¼ cup shortening, melted

Sift together flour, sugar, nonfat dry milk, salt and baking powder. Mix in grated cheese. Combine egg, water and slightly cooled, melted shortening.

Make a well in dry ingredients; pour in egg mixture all at once and stir just enough to moisten dry ingredients. Do not beat.

Fill greased muffin pans two-thirds full. Bake in hot oven 400 degrees) until golden brown, about 22 to 25 minutes. Serve warm. Makes 12.

Frenchwoman's Cookery Is Answer to Egg Surplus

Madame Romaine de Lyon is France's gift to American egg producers. She runs the only restaurant in the United States where nothing but egg main dishes are served. She has 350 omelets on her menu.

Her squeeze in restaurant at 133 East 56th St. in New York City seats only 22 guests, most of them socialites and screen and stage celebrities.

Madame herself does all the cooking and a young woman from Alsace-Lorraine does the serving. The fame of her omelets has spread over the civilized world.

She uses 3 eggs for each individual omelet. Break eggs in a bowl and stir with fork until egg whites and yolks are well mixed. But do not beat until fluffy as though making a souffle.

Add salt and pepper and 1 teaspoon of cold water for each three eggs.

Melt a heaping tablespoon of sweet butter or margarine in a saucepan. Pour in eggs. Cook over moderate hot fire, holding pan in hand a little away from heat.

With spatula or fork, as eggs begin to cook around the edges of the pan, push the done part away from edge to permit the uncooked part to flow against the edge.

Cook only until the bottom is slightly browned and the top still moist. Never overcook your omelet—that's her advice.

When done, fold over in pan and serve at once on hot plate. If you use filling, add it just before turning the omelet.

Madame Romaine prepares a special "midwinter omelet" filled with chicken pieces which have been cooked in wine and then sprinkled with brandy, nuts, sliced apples and tiny pieces of toasted French bread.

With it she serves a delicate mixed green salad with her own subtle dressing, brioche, French pastry and coffee.

One of her most famous omelets is filled with chicken cooked in wine, truffles, pate de fois gras, and served with a sauce of cream, brandy and madeira wine.

So be inspired by this talented Frenchwoman and take advantage of our American crop of low-cost eggs.

Avoid Eavesdropping

LOWELL, Mass. (AP) — Policemen have petitioned for removal of an inter-office communications system at police headquarters which, they say, makes it possible to eavesdrop. Superior officers, they say, can tune in on their normal, everyday conversations having nothing to do with operation of the department.

Food Editor Hits Slump in Family Meal Planning

Pontiac Press Food Editor

Every once in a while I get fed up with planning meals! Well, you do too, don't you? The only difference between the average homemaker and a food editor is the food editor is exposed to so many food ideas and recipes every day that she is in a fog when it comes to planning family meals. Sure, I hear about new food products before the general public does; I get samples to try occasionally. But that doesn't prevent my drawing a blank now and then. What shall we have to eat?

Breakfasts and lunches fall into a pattern and don't cause much trouble. I try to vary the fruit and breadstuff for the morning meal. We always have something special on Sundays. Pancakes please the Six Year Old the most; the Better Half and Miss Teenager are agreeable about coffee cake, sweet rolls or waffles. The first two I can store in the freezer and produce at a moment's notice. Lunches have to be planned only on weekends. Then, likely as not, everyone has something different in order to "clean the refrigerator."

It's the dinners I bog down on. I often wish someone would invent a new vegetable. I get tired of the same old routine of peas, beans, corn, squash, carrots, tomatoes, spinach and beets. Why not some of the more unusual vegetables? One or more members of the family won't eat them! I can't even serve the ones they like in a different way without a storm of protests. For instance, we all like green beans. We usually have them just buttered. But I wanted to inject a little variety into the menu the other night so I served beans with lemon butter. Result? "I don't like these beans. what did you put on 'em?"; "Mom, these beans taste funny. Do I have to eat them?" You don't need three guesses to know how we'll have green beans from now on.

Potatoes are another bugbear. Like all families, mine have their favorite potato dishes. Maybe I just think I should serve food in a variety of ways—professional pride, you know. Perhaps I would be smart to stick to the tried and true recipes and please my creatures of habit.

Meat isn't so much of a problem if I serve it plain. I fear my family has no gourmet taste, savoring rich sauces and pungent gravies. Even casserole dishes are not too popular. I wish small children weren't so suspicious of unfamiliar looking food!

When everyone leaves some of his salad on his plate, I know I've made a mistake. We all like chef's salad so much. But the winter salad materials certainly don't produce the flavorful results that our garden-fresh ones do. After a night when the salad was less than successful, I take special pains to serve one I know will make a hit.

Knowing the necessity of giving my family an adequate diet, one that contains the seven basic foods every day, I try very hard to plan meals they will like. At last count, I had forty-eight cookbooks. You'd think I'd never run out of ideas. When I leaf through them, I get most enthusiastic and determine then and there to have meals that are practically perfect. That mood lasts for a while, but the reaction sets in.

I constantly take recipes home from the office to try out. Really, my family is very patient with me. They are not so fussy as I would lead you to believe. They call a halt when they've had enough, saying, "You don't have to test every recipe you receive."

This past weekend was a low point. I've gotten it out of my system, and we'll eat high for several weeks. But I thought you'd like to know that even food editors go into a tail spin occasionally and get bored with meal planning.

Flavored Tuna Spread

For extra special sandwiches, mix a can of grated tuna with one-half cup chopped celery, a minced green pepper, 2 tablespoons lemon juice and mayonnaise to spread. Delicious!

Serve Cheese Log on Lincoln's Day

If you are entertaining Saturday night, serve this Lincoln cheese log in honor of Old Abe. This tasty cheese roll with its shaggy chipped beef "bark" makes logging a pleasure. Crisp crackers are the perfect accompaniment.

Lincoln Cheese Log

1 cup cream cheese (1½ pounds)
3 tablespoons grated Swiss cheese
2 teaspoons prepared horseradish
Cream, if necessary
¼ cup coarsely chopped dried chipped beef

Blend together cream cheese, Swiss cheese and horseradish, adding a few drops of cream if mixture is too stiff. Form into one long roll about 1½ inches in diameter.

Coat outside of roll with chipped beef "bark"; chill overnight to blend flavors. To serve, cut into slices and accompany with crisp crackers.

For Dessert in Hurry

Quick trick for dessert in a hurry . . . place thick slices of big navel oranges on a dessert plate . . . top them with a little honey or maple sugar . . . delicious and different.

Tomato, Succotash Blend Delightfully

Here's a vegetable combination that's different.

Tomato Succotash

1 10-ounce package frozen succotash
1 No. 303 (1 pound) can stewed tomatoes
Salt and pepper

Cook succotash according to package directions; drain. (Save liquid from succotash for use in soup.)

Meanwhile heat stewed tomatoes to simmering; add drained succotash and salt and pepper to taste; mix gently so as not to break up tomatoes too much.

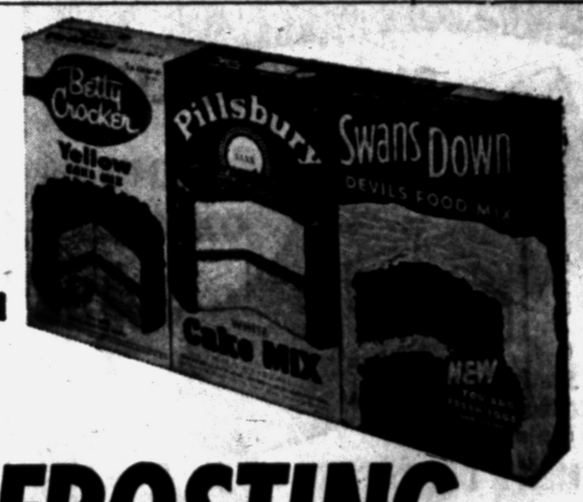

Serve in sauce dishes with teaspoons. Makes six servings.

If there's room in your refrigerator, chill parfait glasses before filling.

New Convenience!
Easy to carry! Easy to store! Saves shopping trips!

Packed in sturdy, re-usable galvanized pail with plastic measuring scoop.

Here's the thriftiest way to buy the modern "controlled suds" detergent prescribed by washer makers

If you've ever used all in your automatic washer, you know that no ordinary thick-suds detergent can wash so clean and rinse as free! That's because suds on top of the wash water don't help wash the clothes down under. In fact, too much suds actually hinders washing action.

But every ounce of all goes to work down in the water where the dirty clothes are—so there are almost no suds on the surface.

Then, when rinsing starts, all takes all the dirt right down the drain and leaves no suds scum to dull the beauty of your fresh-washed clothes.

all users are such loyal users that food stores now offer it in economical 25-lb. boxes and pails for your shopping convenience.

Thieves Force Oldster to Save Again for Burial

ATLANTA (AP)—Burglars pilfered $320 an 84-year-old Atlantan had been saving to buy a burial plot, but he assured police "there's nothing to worry about."

"I've got some work to do and there's time to start over," said K. J. Middlebrooks. "I can make it back again."

He lives alone and makes a living repairing sewing machines and clocks.

Old Newspapers Give Idea for New Parlor Quiz Game

Looking for a new game to liven up the party at your house?

If you'd like something to replace the inevitable charades or 20 questions, just dig out some old newspapers and start a quiz session, like this:

Pass out a stack of old papers, one to each person around the room. Then have someone read a headline, maybe something like this—

People Are Fleeing
By Thousands From
City of Desolation

Residence Section
Prey to Flames

Danger That Food Supply Will Give Out — All Malefactors Will Be Killed Without Warning.

The object of the game, of course is to see if anyone can guess the event being described. What makes the game interesting is that in days gone by, headlines were apparently meant to confuse, rather than inform, the reader.

The multiple layers or "decks" sometimes ran on for nearly half a column, often without saying anything. In case you haven't guessed, the one above is on a story about the San Francisco earthquake, from a Detroit paper of April 20, 1906.

Going further back, the game gets better all the time. Consider this:

CITY IN MOURNING

Memorial Services Held Upon All Sides Today.

ALL WELL ATTENDED

The Public Officials Joined in the Exercises.

Tender Eulogies Delivered and the Late President's Favorite Hymns Rendered.

Give up? Well, that's from the Grand Rapids Evening Press for Sept. 19, 1901. The story tells of local memorial services for President William McKinley, assassinated a few days earlier.

For those who like 'em tough, there are the pre-civil war papers, which didn't worry much about headlines. The New York Tribune, for instance, started its best story at the top of column one, in the upper left hand corner of the front page, under the heading "News Summary."

From there on, it was all solid type, eight pages of it, without more than an occasional bold-face line to break the monotony. When the Yankees and Rebels started shooting, however, things picked up, and a careful reader could spot an occasional line like:

From Gen. Blunt's Army
or
From Gen. Foster's Army
or
Miscellaneous

The newspapers these headlines were gleaned from were supplied by Bruce Day of 3503 Watkins Lake Rd., a Pontiac Press composing room employe.

He got them from a nephew who got them from an antique shop in Detroit where he was employed.

Patron Saint in Basement

Faith Is Helping to Buy 2 New Boilers for Chilly Residents at Old Folks' Home

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—A pair of over-age boilers with more patches than a tramp's coat are producing a type of warmth these days that can't be measured by an earthly thermometer.

The boilers are in the basement of the home The Little Sisters of The Poor operated here for 125 aged men and women. The boilers no longer are capable of heating the building properly—yet indirectly they have been warming hearts with a radiance born of faith, love and charity.

This is the way it happened:

In the recent zero cold snap the old boilers were taxed to their utmost. Even then the 12 Catholic nuns and their 125 elderly charges shivered day and night.

Sister Superior Martin Marie and her colleagues had priced a set of boilers and the necessary plumbing. They were told it would cost about $25,000 to install. To a group of nuns who have taken a vow of poverty, it seemed an insurmountable barrier.

On the third day of their shivering the sisters decided to rely on faith—faith in their patron saint.

So they went to the basement of the home, put a long plank across the top of the two old boilers and then reverently placed a statue of St. Joseph on the plank midway between the two wheezing monsters.

With a final look at the statue, they went to their little chapel and addressed special prayers to St. Joseph, beseeching his help. And then, with infinite faith, the nuns placed an order for the new heating system—the $25,000 one.

The story of the Little Sisters of the Poor and their dying boilers was printed in a diocesan paper, the Catholic Light. A Scranton newspaper editor read it and used a small story in his own publication.

That was Jan. 27. The response was instantaneous. Men and women began visiting the home, leaving donations—some quite small, some as much as $1,000.

Each visit of the postman brought more letters containing money until by yesterday the boiler fund had grown to an impressive $10,796.

Meanwhile the weather warmed slightly and the old boilers were given a little respite but, as the sister superior pointed out, winter is far from over and another prolonged cold spell might well mean their end.

Two weeks ago that threat might have cast a pall over the home and its occupants. Not now, though. The 125 old folks have more faith these days than they know what to do with.

Doctor Blasts Alfalfa Cure

Says Seed Tea Causes Skin Disease; Will Not Help Arthritis

CHICAGO (UP) — Alfalfa seed tea won't cure arthritis, but it may give the drinker skin trouble and his doctor a headache, according to the Journal of the American Medical Association.

Dr. William H. Kaufman, Roanoke, Va., wrote in a Journal article that the skin trouble is hard to diagnose unless the doctor knows that his patient has been drinking alfalfa tea.

But the trouble is, he said, most patients won't admit they have been relying on the old home "remedy."

Kaufman reported on two such cases of skin trouble resulting from consumption of alfalfa seed tea. He said he knows of no previous reports of such cases. But he added:

"The practice of taking alfalfa seed for the purpose of relieving arthritis, diabetes and related disorders is apparently widespread, and there is a strong likelihood that further cases will appear."

He said his two patients suffered skin eruptions as a result of the remedy and that four other possible cases have been found.

Bob Considine Says:

Hope for Change in Soviet Attitude Is Plain Madness

NEW YORK (INS)—It is madness, I think, to view hopefully each ebb and flow within the Russian hierarchy. It would be impossible to find a clement soul at the top of Russia's 200,000,000 souls an dits additional 600,000,000 or so through the rest of the world.

Americans who hope and pray and consequently believe that one of these years there will climb to the top of the Soviet Union's political pile a man of good heart and filled wtih peace and friendship, well, they should get another hobby.

Marshal Nikolai Bulganin would have been shot many years ago if he were imprudent enough to extend a genuine hand of friendship to the free peoples of the world. Malenkov could never have reached the position he quit the other day, if other than complete contempt of human freedom and human life were in him.

The same is true of Nikita Khrushchev, who as secretary of the Communist Party is the most important man in the slave world. He can no more reverse the course of his thinking than Niagara could reverse itself.

He is a product of a system that is more compelling than any individual in it. The system calls for enslavement of the world. It is wily, twisting, devious. It speaks in lies, feigns friendship for freedom when oppressed by such menaces as Hitler's invasion. But its goal is clearly stated in every textbook it force-feeds its teeming and malleable millions.

There can be no change in the attitude of a Soviet Union leadership. A man's a sucker to believe otherwise. It is best to stay alert, and keep your uranium dry.

The second presentation of Cinerama is, for the most part, more breathtaking than the first, which thrilled millions and helped to save the movie industry. "Cinerama Holiday" whisks (that's the only word) the viewer around the world with breath-taking verve. Believe me, it's a lot better and cheaper than a real trip around the globe.

Who could afford to fly low-level over the white-topped Alps, ride a jet off and on a U.S. carrier, hit a jackpot at Las Vegas, come a 'hellin' down a bobsled run in Switzerland, bounce across the lone prair-ee on a lambretta, pop over to Notre Dame after floor shows at the Desert Inn, New Orleans' old Absinthe House, and Paris' incomparable Lido? Who could afford a New England fair and a solemn visit to Napoleon's tomb in a space of minutes, or ride a San Francisco cable car to a wonderful, swing-time funeral in a New Orleans graveyard?

The lines that separate the three Cinerama panels do not appear to be as noticeable as in the first effort. The music from all points of the house and the sharp focus to the outermost inches of the big screen are a delight to watch and a cause for wonder.

The viewer, comfortably seated, can have no comprehension of the work that went into "Cinerama Holiday." More than 5,000 took part in the picture. More than 675,000 feet of film were exposed. It took 201 days to film, and the heartaches must have been endless.

The curators at the Louvre complained that the bright lights could bleach Mona Lisa. To get the vista-dome sequences on the California Zephyr the tinted plexiglass had to be removed and clear glass substituted, and three railroads had to coordinate and give a special track and schedule to the train bearing Cinerama's 3-eyed cameras.

Musicians lips stuck to their instruments during the Swiss ice skating scenes, shot at 10 below zero. The film, made brittle by the intense cold, broke the first six times the camera went down the bobsled run. Sixteen generators were needed to light Notre Dame's vast murkiness.

The original Cinerama stole the show in a propaganda battle we staged against the Communists at a European festival this past summer. Let's be sure "Cinerama Holiday" is similarly employed. Messrs. Louis De Rochemont, S. H. Fabian et al have produced a latter day miracle, but with sweat, toil, tears and infinite imagination—not via wand.

When Congress has set the course and voted funds for the various activities of the budget, control of expenditures shifts back to the executive branch.

LAUNCHING "HONEST JOHN"—A U. S. Army "Honest John" long-range artillery rocket is lifted from its special carrier onto its mobile launching platform during a demonstration at Darmstadt, Germany. Having no electronic remote controls, the rocket is aimed and fired at its target in the same manner as is a gun.

Boys Learn History Via Home Arsenal

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — If Ricky and Garry Carlson don't have the same devotion to the gun-toting cowboys on television that their friends have, there's a reason.

Four-year-old Ricky and three-year-old Garry have guns at home.

It's all part of their father's plan to teach them American history.

Josef. G. Carlson has begun assembling a collection of valuable "period pieces" and has put into working order an 18th century horse pistol, a flintlock rifle of the Revolutionary War period, a Civil War percussion cap rifle and a Colt.

A little number on men's shirts, inside the neckband, will help a housewife rotate the shirts evenly so each gets equal wear.

Bright Colors Safer

LEXINGTON, Va. (AP) — The drab gray color of Virginia State Highway department vehicles is on the way out. The department exhibited some gaudily painted vehicles at a highway conference here. Engineers decided the bright colors would be an important safety factor.

Famous Trichologist Tells Truth About Saving and Improving Hair

This new method of home treatment for saving and growing thicker hair will be demonstrated in Pontiac, Michigan, Friday ONLY, February 11, 1955. These private demonstrations will be held at the Pontiac Hotel on Friday ONLY, February 11, 2 P. M. 'til 9 P. M.

CHICAGO (Special)—In an interview here today Mr. E. V. Safranski, internationally famous trichologist and director of the Millard Hair and Scalp Specialists said: "There are 18 different scalp disorders that cause most men and women to lose hair. Using common sense, a person must realize no one tonic or so called cure-all could correct all the disorders," he explained.

GUARANTEED

"The Millard firm, recognizing that most people are skeptical of claims that hair can be grown on balding heads, offer a guarantee," Safranski said.

Once a person avails himself to the Millard treatment his skepticism immediately disappears. To insure this, we offer this guarantee: "If you are not completely satisfied with your hair progress at the end of 30 days your money will be returned."

HOPELESS CASES DISCOURAGED

First the Millard specialists are quick to tell hopeless cases that they cannot be helped. But the "hopeless" cases are few. Only if a man is completely, shiny bald is he in this lost category.

If there is fuzz, no matter how light, thin, or colorless, the Millard people can perform wonders.

Every one is given a complete, private examination to determine the condition of his scalp, and cause for his hair trouble.

FREE EXAMINATIONS

This examination is very thorough and highly technical, it requires 20 to 30 minutes. There is no charge for this examination and no appointment is necessary. After examination he is told the required length of treatment and how much it will cost.

After starting treatmen, he makes regular repors to the Millard firm in Chicago, and a trichologist will return to check his progress periodically.

To spread the opportunity of normal, healthy hair to the thousands who are desperately looking for help, the Millard firm is sending specialists to various cities throughout the United States to conduct examinations and start home treatment.

NO CURE-ALL

"We have no cure-all for slick, shiny baldness," Safranski emphasizes. "If there is fuzz, the root is still capable of creating hair and we can perform what seems to be a miracle."

Thereis one thing Safranski wants to be certain every man and woman knows. If a recession appears at the temples or a spot begins to show up on the crown of the head, there is something wrong and it should be given immediate attention.

HAIR FOR LIFETIME

"If clients follow our directions during treatment, and after they finish the course, there is no reason why they will not have hair all the rest of their lives," Safranski said. "Our firm is definitely behind this treatment, it all depends on the individual's faithful observation of a few simple rules."

HOW'S YOUR HAIR?

If it worries you call Trichologist S. Fischer at the Pontiac Hotel in Pontiac, Michigan, on Friday ONLY, February 11, 2 p. m. to 9 p. m. The public is invited. You do not need an appointment. The examinations are private and you will not be embarrassed or obligated in any way.

Elks Lodge No. 723, undefeated Class D powerhouse, last night hung up an all-time scoring record for the City Basketball League. It is also believed to be an all-time count for the Pontiac area.

'D' Leaders piled up more than 30 points in three of the four periods to demolish the last-place Hawks, 132-10.

The whopping score was apparently no fluke on the part of the high-scoring Elks. In three of their previous eight starts, they won by a margin of more than 50 points. No team thus far has been able to hold them to less than a 14-point edge.

Six of the nine Elk players to see action hit double figures in scoring. Felix Brooks led with 22 points, while Lawrence Peet had 20, Jimmy Williams and Gary Douglas 19 each and Willie Wilson and Jim Peet 15 apiece.

Elks led 37-2 at the 1st quarter, 64-4 at halftime and 98-6 at the 3rd quarter. Only eight of their 132 points came on free throws.

Second-place Boys' Club won its 9th victory in 10 starts, 68-46, over Irwin-Rosa in another Class D contest. Joe Barren paced the victory with 27 points, while Don Walker had 23 for the losers.

In the higher classifications, Class B teams again held Class A quintets to only a split in two exhibition games. Shaw's Jewelers, "A" co-leaders, pulled away from a 28-28 halftime deadlock to hand General Motors a 69-59 setback.

Davis Machinery, 3rd-place Class B squad, handed the Class A Nomads a 60-47 defeat. Mills led the winners with 14 points, but Hubert Price of the Nomads took game honors with 18.

Cubs Eye 1st Division

Hack Points Out Club Is Greatly Improved

CHICAGO CUBS
By STAN HACK

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—There isn't any doubt in my mind that the Cubs will be an improved club in 1955. I'm so sure that we will be a first division club that I'll be terribly disappointed if we don't make it. I don't see how we can miss. We've improved our team more than any other club in the league.

I don't think I'm too far off when I say we should be at least 15 games better than the Cub team which finished 11 games out of the first division last year. Actually, if you look back on it, we were not definitely out of the first division until the very late stages of the race. And I still think we could have made it if some injuries, including Ransom Jackson's infected hand, had not set us back on our heels.

Everything now points to a better year. We're certain to be a better team in '55 because we couldn't be much worse at times than we were in '54.

We had two major problems last year. We needed better pitching and we never quite solved our outfield problem. I think now both these matters have been solved. We'll have 21 pitchers or more in camp and seven of them had a combined minor league record of 129 victories and only 53 defeats last season. I know we'll be much stronger in the pitching department.

Our outfield will be better defensively. With Kiner gone, we can restore Hank Sauer to left field, where he is acustomed to playing, and we can spell Frankie Baumholtz in right field with any one of three younger players.

Our infield with Gene Baker and Ernie Banks as the second base combination is second to none in the National League. We also are strong both at first and third base.

I know our catching will be better. Especially if it's true about Harry Chiti, who is just out of the Army. He could be our No. 1 catcher.

Baker Bidding for Top Money Making Bouts

Pittsburgh Heavyweight KOs Willie James in 2nd Round

BALTIMORE (AP) — Bob Baker, the Pittsburgh giant with the fragile hands who knocked out Willie James Wednesday night, compared his ring record with his bank account today and found the latter sadly lacking.

Baker swatted James into what could be fistic oblivion in 2:50 of the second round. The scheduled 10-rounder in the Coliseum was James' television debut and the hard-punching 207-pounder from Roxbury, Mass., admitted he was nervous.

However, Freud had nothing to do with the devastation Baker heaped on James' jaw in the closing seconds of stanza two.

It was mostly James in the first round. The Bay State youngster kept Baker's head in motion with well-placed lefts. Baker, fourth-ranked nationally in the Heavyweight division, busied himself avoiding the rushes of the constantly pressing James.

However, in the second round, Baker took command right after the opening bell. It was a series of right-hand punches that finished the brief affair.

James managed to struggle to his knees as Referee Benny Goldstein tolled 10. He said after the fight the TV lens made him nervous and hoped he could fight Baker again.

Baker had other ideas. The 219-pound Negro said he wanted to "fight where the money is."

The reference was, naturally, to champion Rocky Marciano.

Geese Leave Swan Lake

LANSING (AP)—Some 2,000 Canadian geese reported to be spending the winter at the Swan Lake Recreation area have flown elsewhere, state conservation department field men reported.

Conservation workers speculate the birds may be resting on open water in the Ottawa marshes or might be located in a remote area of the wildlife station or somewhere along the Kalamazoo river.

Influenza Hits PHS Swimmers, Dims Outlook

Loss of Several Key Men to Hurt Chiefs at Arthur Hill

A seige of influenza has dimmed the chances of Pontiac High's swimming team to spring an upset in its important test at Saginaw Arthur Hill Friday night.

Flu, which already has cost basketball coach Art Van Ryzin the services of regular Bob Johnston, this week struck several key members of coach Des Boyce's swimming squad.

On the sick list are Bob Lamson, undefeated 100-yard free style ace, breast strokers Bob Keavy and Ken Scott; and free styler Bob Howse.

Arthur Hill can clinch at least a tie for its 5th consecutive SVC swimming title by repeating its earlier victory over Pontiac. 'Jacks won their 6th straight league victory, 64-20, over Flint Central last Friday.

Pontiac was handed a 50-34 setback by Arthur Hill here last month for the only blemish on an otherwise perfect 9-meet slate.

Meet is scheduled to get under way at 7:30 p.m.

No. 4 Duquesne Signs With NIT

Big Basketball 'Grab' for Tourney Entrants Now Under Way

NEW YORK (AP)—The big grab bag is now open for the post-season college basketball tournaments, and the National Invitation at Madison Square Garden has taken the initiative by plucking fourth-ranked Duquesne.

The Iron Dukes, runners-up last year to Holy Cross in the event and present holders of a 14-3 record for the season, confirmed today they would play in the Garden tournament March 12-19.

The National Collegiate Athletic Assn. championship gets under way with regional playoffs March 7-8 and closes with the finals at Kansas City March 18-19.

Even if there were not a conflict in dates, NCAA rules would forbid a team playing in both tournaments. So there usually is a brisk tug-of-war this time of year for available strong independents.

Knicks, Celtics Get Lift From Old Pros

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thanks to a couple of old pros—Bob Cousy and Harry Gallatin—the Boston Celtics and the New York Knickerbockers are back in business. And the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Assn. is a three-cornered race again.

Cousy, the Hub's wonderful wizard, came through with a 33-point performance to lead the "crippled" Celts to a 104-94 victory over league-leading Syracuse Wednesday night. The win cut the Nats' margin over Boston to one thin game.

Georgia Contest Well Checked—by 3 Referees

MACON, Ga. (AP)—It was pretty difficult for basketball players to get away with anything in the Presbyterian-Mercer game Wednesday night.

Difficult because the watchful eyes of the officials were upon them — three pairs to be exact.

Through a mixup in booking, three whistle-blowers showed up. Coaches Jim Cowan of Mercer and Norman Sloan of Presbyterian agreed that all three should work the game.

Presbyterian won 82-80.

Chiefs Aim for 5th Straight Home Win

Pontiac High's basketball team will seek to protect its clean 1954-55 home record Friday night, when Detroit Catholic Central comes here for a non-league contest.

Chiefs, who have only a 2-4 mark this season on the road, will be going after their 5th consecutive victory on their own floor.

Both Pontiac and Catholic Central won nerve-shattering overtime battles Tuesday night. Chiefs came from behind to force once-beaten Highland Park into an extra period and then won, 56-50. Shamrocks edged St. Andrew, 63-61, in a double overtime scrap.

The Detroit independent parochial team brings a 7-6 season mark into the game. Shamrocks hold victories over Melvindale, Pershing, Wayne, U. of D. High and St. Andrew, split in two games each with Hamtramck and River Rouge and lost to Miller, Cass Tech, Inkster and Southeastern.

Top man in the CC lineup is 6-foot 5-inch junior center Bob Skrzycki, who is averaging nearly 20 points per game. Teaming with Skrzycki will be forwards Tom Jozwiak (6-3) and Jim Haven (6) and guards Brian Hussey (6) and Bill Galvin (5-8).

Coach Art Van Ryzin will stick with the same lineup that started Tuesday's game. John James and Red Treais will be at forwards, Dick Blacklaw at center and Walt Poe and Clay Williams at guards.

Bob Johnston, who regularly pairs with Poe at guard, missed Tuesday night's contest and isn't expected to return Friday. He has been bed-ridden with influenza all week.

Elsewhere in the Saginaw Valley Conference, Arthur Hill can clinch the league title by repeating an earlier victory over rugged Flint Central. Bay City Central is at Flint Northern in another SVC game, while Saginaw High entertains Muskegon in non-conference play.

HAPPY ANGLERS—Two happy Pontiac fishermen lugged one of the biggest pike reported in the winter's ice fishing in this area, down to the Pontiac Press to prove their piscatorial prowess. The pair (left) Jerry LeFeve, 2616 Williams Drive, and Leonard DeVine, 2578 Williams Drive display the 12½ pound, 33½ inches long northern they speared in Big Silver Lake, Tuesday at dusk. The lunker followed a sucker minnow lure under the hole in the ice and LaFeve slammed his spear into it. It was the pair's first fish since erecting the shanty last week.

Major Loop Owners Told to Halt Talk of Expansion

NEW YORK (AP) — Restless major league owners won't be shooting off their mouths any more on a subject near and dear to their hearts — expansion. Not for a while anyway.

Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick made it known Wednesday that he had issued a private order to that effect, stating that "minor league cities are being definitely harmed by this loose talk."

San Francisco, Los Angeles, Houston, Dallas, Fort Worth, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Toronto and Montreal have been the names most often mentioned by club owners in expansion repartee. Practically everyone, including Frick, believes in the eventual swelling of the eight-team National and American Leagues.

But until such a move is feasible, Frick has put the "verboten" tag on all loose talk.

Said Frick: "While everyone in baseball recognizes that expansion is inevitable as a long-range program, no purpose is served by continued interviews, publicity and discussion on this subject.

"From this time on, until the time has come when definite and specific action is to be taken, let there be no more speculation and publicly expressed opinion as to when, how, or where expansion will come. Such talk, if persisted in, must be considered by the commissioner as detrimental to baseball."

Titans' Star Nears All-Time Scoring Record

Sparrow Now Only 46 Points Off U. D. Mark With 1,449

Pontiac's Guy Sparrow is now only 46 points shy of wrapping up the all-time career basketball scoring record held by Norman Swanson at University of Detroit.

Despite a four-game losing streak by the Titans, Sparrow has averaged 28 points per game during those defeats to pull his career total to 1,449 points. He has seven games left to get the 46 points.

Since winning 13 of its first 15 games, Detroit has hit the skids and now is out of the Missouri Valley Conference championship chase. The Titans meet powerful St. Louis in the Memorial Building Saturday night before going to Milwaukee for a game with Marquette, once-beaten 9th ranked team in the nation.

Sparrow has already broken his own season mark of 340 rebounds. He has taken 358, which keeps him among the top five rebounders in the country.

In the Titans' 19 games, Sparrow has accounted for 168 field goals in 405 attempts, a glittering 40 per cent average. He has added 105 free throws in 191 attempts for a total of 441 points.

His per-game average is now 23.2.

Wings Bring Up Hall to Give Sawchuk Rest

DETROIT (UP)—Detroit Red Wings brought up goalie Glenn Hall from their Edmonton, Alta., farm club in the Western Canadian Hockey League today to give Terry Sawchuk a rest.

General manager Jack Adams said "there is nothing wrong with Terry, we're just going to give him a rest."

Old-Time Racer Dies

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Eddie Hearne, one of the top race drivers of the 1920s who placed second in the 1919 Indianapolis 500-mile race, died Wednesday in General Hospital at the age of 67.

In 1923 he was national speedway champion. He retired from racing in 1929 and worked for several auto firms here.

Illinois Soph Ready to Play

George BonSalle, 6-7½, Will Aid Team in Key Tilt With Gophers

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — George BonSalle Illinois' sophomore center who has been hobbled with a sprained ankle, will be ready to start Saturday against Minnesota in a key game of the Big Ten basketball title race.

The game at Minneapolis will be televised nationally (CBS) starting at 3 p.m. EST. Minnesota leads the conference with a 6-2 record and Illinois and Iowa share second place with 5-2 marks.

BonSalle, 6-7½, will give Illinois the height needed to reduce the advantage the Gophers' have with 6-11 Bill Simonovich. The Minnesota giant now ranks 17th among conference scorers with an average of 16.2 points.

Pontiac St. Michael is a heavy favorite to win its final Suburban League game Friday night and finish in a dead heat with St. Benedict for regular-season honors in the circuit.

St. Benedict ended its regular-season schedule last night with a 51-21 triumph over St. Rita.

Mikes travel to Royal Oak to face 4th-place St. Mary. St. Frederick will be host to 3rd-place Orchard Lake St. Mary in the other SCL windup contest.

If the once-beaten co-leaders come through with an expected victory, a special playoff game will be played on Sunday at St. Benedict's gymnasium.

St. Mike, which has won nine straight victories since bowing to Orchard Lake 47-43 on Dec. 17, is boasting the highest-scoring attack in its 13-year history. Shamrocks have averaged 53 points per game, while limiting opponents to 37.2.

Sparkplug of the team is junior forward John Keller, who has a 15.6-point average. He is the only underclassman in Coach Mineweaser's starting lineup.

Dons' 5 Proves Solid Defense Still Pays Off

Frisco Collegians Keep Foes' Totals Below 50 Points a Game

NEW YORK (AP)—In an era where college basketball teams often score 100 and more points per game without batting an eye, San Francisco is living proof that sound defense isn't a lost art.

The Dons, first in The Associated Press weekly rankings, lead the nation in defense. They've allowed the opposition an average of 49.9 points a game in 17 outings.

To point up the importance of defensive tactics, Furman, a team which is out of sight in the ratings, tops the scoring parade with a 95.9 average output.

Figures released Thursday by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau for games through last Saturday, show that only one ranked quintet found a place in the top 10 offensively. That one is North Carolina State's tall and talented No. 7 rated Wolfpack which has averaged 87.5.

Utah No. 5 and Duquesne No. 4 are the only other clubs among the nation's top 10 to find a spot in the select circle of defensive giants. The Utes are ranked 4th, yielding an average of 56.8. The Dukes have yielded 60 points average per game putting them 8th.

George Washington continues to dominate the statistics in the shooting. The Colonials lead the nation in field goal and free throw percentages. From the floor they have averaged 47.9 per cent, from the free throw line 75.2.

Niagara, second to George Washington in field goal shooting, also has two firsts: One for rebounding and the other for fewest fouls committed. The jumping jacks from upstate New York have recovered 62.1 per cent of the rebounds in their games while being charged with an average of 13.4 fouls.

Texas A&M is on the bottom end of that scale, having committed 24.5 fouls per game.

Palm Beach Field Faces Tough Grind

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The 16 opening round survivors faced a grueling 36 holes of golf today on the Palm Beach Golf Club Amateur women's tournament.

Only four players will be left when the two rounds are over.

Most of the favorites easily outshot their opponents on opening day, but national amateur champion Barbara Romack of Sacramento had to fight all the way to the 18th hole before defeating Gloria Armstrong of San Lorenzo, Calif., 1-up.

Rebuilding Plan Set for Belmont

25-30 Million Dollar New York Project in Drawing Board Stage

NEW YORK (AP)—Plans for rebuilding Belmont Park, long rated as New York's No. 1 race track, at a cost of 25 to 30 million dollars have reached the drawing board stage.

The Jockey Club which favors merging of the four New York racing associations into one non-profit group with possible closing of Aqueduct and Jamaica, released Wednesday drawings calling for a complete overhaul of Belmont, first opened in 1905

The plans call for demolition and relocation of the present grandstand and clubhouse and the replacement of the mile and a half main racing oval with one a mile and an eighth in length.

Coast Fighter Gets Trial Against Bobo

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Willie Vaughn of Los Angeles, will be the opponent for Carl (Bobo) Olson, world middleweight champion, in a non-title bout at Hollywood Stadium next month, Charlie Gregoli, Vaughn's manager, said Wednesday.

The Olson appearance was announced by the champion's manager, Sid Flaherty, in San Francisco, Tuesday. But the opponent was not named.

Vaughn is the California State middleweight titleholder.

Perigo Sees Some Value in Radical Basketball Shoes

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Like a traveling magician, Sax Elliott came to Ann Arbor last weekend to exhibit some items in his bag of tricks.

But Elliott, coach of the touring Los Angeles State College basketball team, didn't bring many of his surprising creations to the floor of Yost Field House.

He showed them instead to the curious who cared to investigate in the locker room.

Elliott, whose team had played Utah that same week in shoes with six inch and two inch soles, had just completed some correspondence with the NCAA rules committee.

"I only used the six inch shoe to draw their attention to what we were doing," he said. "We knew what they'd say."

But Elliott is really proud of the "ripple sole," rather than the tall shoe. It's a soft rubber sole extending over the entire bottom of the shoe, heel to toe. The rubber is shaped into what looks like half inch waves slanting toward the heel.

Elliott said the shoes ease player fatigue.

He thinks that the two-inch sole would take some of the pounding out of the game, and would be about the right height.

In this, Elliott had some support from Michigan coach Bill Perigo.

Perigo said that he believed the shoes, with moderate heights might be of some value. He said he liked the ripple sole idea.

Clinic Mentors Made Own Advice Pay Off

EAST LANSING — Oklahoma's Bud Wilkinson and UCLA's Red Sanders were instructors along with Michigan State's Duffy Daugherty at State's spring football coaching clinic last year. Then last fall they produced undefeated and untied seasons with their own teams. Commented Daugherty, whose own 1954 State team won three and lost six: "I sure wish some of that had rubbed off on me."

Miss Wall Bows Out

LANSING (AP)—Michigan hunters today were asked to get their game hunting report cards in the mail by Feb. 15.

The cards are summarized annually to help give the state conservation department an appraisal of the season.

Ring Fan All Confused Over Too Many Andrews

NEW YORK (AP)—A fellow called up the sports desk and he was slightly confused.

"What goes on?" he asked. "First they tell me Andrews is fighting Joey Giardello in Baltimore and then they say he hurt his back or something and the fight is out. Now I read where Andrews is fighting Harold Johnson. No wonder they say boxing is a racket."

It took a understanding man about 10 minutes to straighten him out.

"Look," he started. "First there are the Andrews Sisters. They don't fight, at least not on television. Then there's Al Andrews, a middleweight from Superior, Wisconsin. He's the guy that was supposed to have fought Giardello Wednesday night. Then there's Paul Andrews, a light heavyweight from Buffalo. He's the one who is fighting Johnson in the Garden Friday night."

The man on the other end still sounded confused but he hung up. It's a good thing they didn't tell him Paul Andrews is from Buffalo only because his manager, Marshall Miles, lives tere, and never has fought in the city. However, he expects to move out Lake Erie way soon.

Andrews, Paul that is, was tracked down at the Garden Wednesday after he had finished his workout uptown. Ranked No. 2 among the light-heavy contenders to champion Archie Moore, he is favored to reverse an old score against Johnson. In his last fight, he knocked out Boardwalk Billy Smith.

NC State Wins 20th

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It appears that if North Carolina State can't be the "fustest" among the nation's college basketball teams, the Wolfpack at least is going to try to be the team with the "mostest."

The Wolfpack, at one time No. 2 in the Associated Press poll but down to No. 7 this week, is the first team to win 20 games this season. They did it 126-99 last night against William and Mary at Norfolk, Va.

In their last three games, the Pack has scored 359 points.

There was a total of 85 field goals in the game—22 of them by Ron Shavlik of NCS. He added 11 free throws for 55 points and a new record by an Atlantic Coast Conference player. The loser's John Mahoney was away back with a mere 37.

The 126-point total by NCS—ineligible for the NCAA playoffs, incidentally, because of a probationary ban ast spring—was a new high by an ACC team. Wake Forest had set the previous high only last week with 120 against Clemson.

Elsewhere, San Francisco kept its pace as the No. 1 team in the poll and the nation's defense leader with a 72-52 victory over College of the Pacific. Big Bill Russell took charge of the boards and scored 27 points for the Dons in their 15th straight sucess.

Kentucky, making its first start since falling out of the No. 1 spot in this week's poll, knocked Georgia for a loop in the Southeastern Conference 86-40. The Wildcats, ranked No. 2, led 50-20 at the half and experimented the rest of the way.

Fourth-ranked Duquesne, which yesterday ruled itself out of a possible NCAA at-large playoff berth by accepting an NIT bid, choked off Carnegie Tech 62-27.

Dayton, ranked No. 16, got ahead early and stayed there to defeat Miami (Ohio) 78-62. Cincinnati (No. 17) called on Jack Twyman for its last five points to edge Xavier (Ohio) 70-69.

A pair of upsets popped up. Georgetown (D. C.), which lost four players in training rules trouble last week, knocked off 19th-ranked Villanova 84-79.

In the Southwest Conference, Southern Methodist surprised Texas Christian 84-70.

Army Discusses OK of Football Bowl Contests

Resolution Is Expected to Be Adopted After Board Debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — An 18-man delegation was expected Thursday at West Point to discuss a resolution by Rep. Hebert (D-La) that the U.S. Military Academy accept possible future bids to participate in a post-season major football bowl game.

The New Orleans Times-Picayune and the Washington Post and Times Herald both reported Wednesday night the probability of Army teams taking part in future bowl games.

The newspapers said the first formal action toward relaxation of Army's bowl ban will be taken Thursday when the military board of visitors, of which Rep. Hebert is a member, visits the academy.

The board, comprised of Congressional, military and civil members, is expected to adopt Hebert's resolution in a vote Friday.

Secretary of Defense Wilson was reported to have told advocates of post-season games for Army that he favors such a decision.

Hebert said he had talked with Wilson about his resolution and "he is throwing his support behind our project." The Congressman said he also had talked with Col. Earl Blaik, Army athletic director and coach, and that he had indicated his approval.

The proposal reportedly also has the backing of Admiral Arthur Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and other high Pentagon officials.

Coming Cage Tourneys Claim County Area Preps' Interest

High school basketball tournament play does not begin for nearly a month, but already prep cage addicts are starting to become tourney - minded.

Oakland County Class B and C schools will be involved in district events at seven sites, followed by three big regionals the following week. Districts run from March 2-5, with regionals set March 9-12.

First round (quarter-final) contests will be played at centrally-located sites between regional champions on Wednesday, March 16. The big windup is March 18-19 in East Lansing with semi-finals Friday night and the four state title games Saturday.

A six team Class B field and four Class C quintets will battle it out in Pontiac High gymnasium. In "B", defending champion Rochester is linked with Lake Orion, Oxford, Clarkston, Romeo and Avondale.

Clarkston will be making its debut in Class B tourney competition after moving up from Class C. The "C" entry at PHS includes West Bloomfield, a perennial district champion, Pontiac's parochials, St. Mikes and St. Freds, and Armada.

Defending champ Walled Lake heads a 4-team Class B set at Walled Lake, with Milford moved to Brighton as part of a 4-team field there. Troy hosts five other Class B schools, including defending titlist Utica, while Shrine defends its district honors in a 6-team affair at Van Dyke.

With Clarkston gone, Ortonville is the county's only representative among five teams in the Blackhawks' Class C district.

For the regionals, eight Class A schools will gather at Birmingham to bid for the title won last year by Pontiac. Joining the Chiefs are Waterford's Skippers, Southfield, Berkley, East Detroit, Mt. Clemens, and Detroit DeLaSalle as well as the host Maples.

Oakland County's three other Class A teams, Ferndale, Hazel Park and Royal Oak, tangle with Highland Park, Hamtramck, Grosse Pointe and Austin Catholic at Ferndale. Highland Park won this regional a year ago.

Thirteen district champs will converge on Pontiac for the B-C regionals. Class B winners from PHS, Walled Lake, Troy, Brighton and Marysville will clash, while Class C district kings will come from PHS, Ortonville, Van Dyke, Marysville, Harper-Woods, Hamtramck, Visitation and St. Charles.

Here are the lineups for tournaments involving county entries:

DISTRICTS

At Pontiac: Class B—Avondale, Clarkston, Lake Orion, Oxford, Rochester and Romeo. Class C—Armada, St. Fredericks, St. Michaels and West Bloomfield.

At Walled Lake: Class B—Holly, Northville, OL St. Mary and Walled Lake.

At Bentley: Class B—Clarenceville, Farmington, Livonia Bentley and Redford Union.

At Brighton: Class B—Brighton, Fenton, Howell and Milford. Class C—Powlerville, Hartland, Pinckney and South Lyon.

At Troy: Class B—Clawson, Fraser, MC St. Mary, Troy, Utica and Warren. Class D—Country Day, New Baltimore St. Mary and St. Josephat.

At Ortonville: Class C—Flint Atherton, Goodrich, Imlay City, Linden and Ortonville.

REGIONALS

At Pontiac: Class B—Winners from Pontiac, Troy, Brighton, Walled Lake and Marysville. Class C—Winners from Pontiac, Ortonville, St. Charles, Visitation, Hamtramck, Marysville, Van Dyke and Harper-Woods.

At Birmingham: Class A—Berkley, Birmingham, DeLaSalle, East Detroit, Mt. Clemens, Pontiac, Southfield and Waterford.

At Ferndale: Class A—Austin, Ferndale, Grosse Pointe, Hamtramck, Hazel Park, Highland Park and Royal Oak.

Six-Man Team to Screen Applicants for LSU Job

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — A Louisiana State University official predicts a six-man selection committee will require time to screen candidates for LSU's vacant posts of head football coach and athletic director.

Sterling (Buck) Gladden of Baton Rouge, a member of the LSU board of supervisors and the selection committee chairman, said Wednesday he could not predict when successors would be named to Coach Gaynell Tinsley and Athletic Director T. P. Heard.

He said the committee would need "some time" for checking applications and suggested candidates, estimated by an unofficial source to total more than 100 names.

The selection committee, appointed Wednesday, met to organize and set up procedure for screening applications. It made no announcement of the men under consideration or their names.

One board member said privately the names before the selection committee included head coaches Jim Tatum of Maryland, Stanley Galloway of Southeastern Louisiana and Don Faurot of Missouri; former assistant coach Ed McKeever; former Los Angeles Rams coach Hamp Pool and assistant coaches Ray Graves and Frank Broyles of Georgia Tech and Gomer Jones of Oklahoma.

Record Field in Women's Event

Total of 1,370 Teams for Pin Test; Firing Will Start This Weekend

JACKSON (AP) — First of a record field of 1,370 teams start firing at Varden Lanes Saturday in the 29th Women's Stafe Bowling tournament.

It will take the five-woman teams, plus 2,630 sets of doubles and 5,260 singles, until June 4 to get the competition out of the way, long after the normal league season has ended. Previous record of 1,134 teams was set at Lansing in 1951.

The women will divide a prize fund of $39,050, also a record. The top prize in the team event is $600, with the doubles winners earning $225, the singles winner $200 and the all-events winner $125.

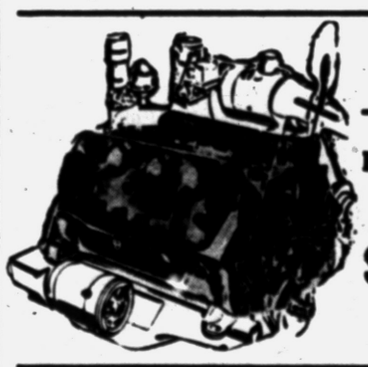

Virtually every city, town and village with a bowling alley and a women's league is represented in the tournament, which is conducted on both a scratch and a handicap basis.

Top Young Stars Pose Threats at Tucson

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Eager youngsters are expected to play important roles in the $10,000 Tucson Open golf tourney starting today.

The youth movement may be helped by the aches, pains and rustiness of some of the established consistent money winners.

The 6,409-yard, par-70, El Rio Golf and Country Club course should help the younger lads. There isn't a hard hole in the lot, Peter Thomson of Melbourne, commented. "We have courses as easy as this in Australia although we don't play tournaments on them."

Ed Furgol, St. Louis, Mo., the U.S. Open champ, has a cold and complains of pains in his chest. "I never felt so bad in my life," he said Wednesday. Aches and all, Furgol will be dangerous. He shot a six-under-par 64 in the pro-amateur Wednesday to win $50. So did Ed (Porky) Oliver, Lemont, Ill.

Tommy Bolt, the tempestuous Texas from Houston, is defending champ here but has had a nasty cold in his shoulder that has hurt his play.

Lloyd Mangrum, Niles, Ill., couldn't come here because of liver trouble. He and Jimmy Demaret, Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., each have won here twice.

Chandler Harper, Portsmouth, Va., another former winner here and an ex-PGA champ, flew here Wednesday. He is starting his first tourney of the winter. "Gosh, I'm rusty," he said. "I haven't had a chance to do much practicing."

Steady Ted Kroll, New Hartford, N.Y.; Jack Burke Jr., Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., second biggest money winner of 1954; consistent Cary Middlecoff, Memphis, Tenn., and Bob Toski, Livingston, N.J., the kingpin as far as winning cash was concerned last year, are all missing.

If there is an individual favorite it is cool Gene Littler, Palm Springs, Calif. The 24-year-old former sailor is leading money winner this year. He triumphed at Los Angeles and again at Phoenix last week. Putting troubled him Wednesday but he still shot 69.

Frank Stranahan, former amateur star from Toledo, Ohio, won't be able to accept cash until March when he'll have been a pro six months. That won't stop him from trying to win. Stranahan shot a 61 here to set a course record a few years ago.

Jones, Wardrops Set 10 Swimming Marks

ANN ARBOR — One world and one national record were broken by Michigan's swimming team during its nine-day between semesters tour of eastern and southern states. The world record time of 6:22.5 was set against North Carolina at Chapel Hill, N. C., by the Michigan 600-yard backstroke relay team of Jim Kruthers, Bert and Jack Wardrop and Bumpy Jones. The same quartet also shattered the 800 yard national AAU backstroke mark at Villanova, splashing the Distance in 8:57.7.

The Wolverines also accounted for 15 other pool records during the trip with Captain Bumpy Jones and the Wardrop twins accounting for ten of them.

Boat Makers Going in for Color, Glamor This Year

CHICAGO (AP) — If the little woman happens to visit the Chicago Boat Show, you may wind up with a chartreuse and Valencia orange runabout.

Or maybe a sleek brilliantly stained African mahogany hull job with a glacier white orlon landau top.

Or perhaps, she'll want to liven up the family scow with a two-tone outboard motor which will make the fishes blink.

Color, shipmates, has hit the boating industry, even as it has wrapped a rainbow around the automotive business.

Bob Lutz, spokesman for one manufacturer admitted boating people saw the success of the automotive industry in splurging for eye appeal and the trend to bright color and glamor is in full nautical swing.

Lutz presides at the display of three of his company's "style" leaders, two inboards and an outboard, running from 15 to 20 feet in overall length.

They're real breath-takers with stunning interior designs, tinted wrap-around windshields and rakish hull lines, "that styling gets them," Lutz said "we've sold 15 boats the first four days of the show."

In all, the Chicago show which continues through Sunday, is displaying 34 of these inboard sportsters with de luxe appointments.

No question about it, the feminine influence has brightened boating. You can even get a pair of polka-dotted water skis.

Four Candidates File for Legislative Post

JACKSON (AP) — Four Jackson County men have filed so far as candidates for the vacancy in the State Legislature created by the death last week of Rep. Leo Miller (R-Jackson).

Lyle E. Olson of Horton is the lone Democratic candidate. Supervisors James Folk of Spring Arbor and Carl Steinkraus of Summit and A. M. Townsend, retired Navy captain of Summit Township, are Republican candidates.

Candidates have until Feb. 17 to file nominating petitions.

Maybe a Zulu Would Do

Italian Actress Searching for Someone to Wed, but---

ROME (AP) — Green-eyed Gianna Maria Canale says she would like to give up film stardom for marriage. Only there's a hitch.

"I don't want to marry an American, nor—for that matter—an Italian, Frenchman, German or Scandinavian," the 26-year-old veteran of two dozen films explained in an interview.

What's wrong with Americans?

"They have too many muscles, always thinking of sports and not enough about their women. Besides, they drink too much."

Gianna Maria has been in the United States several times—including a stint in Hollywood—and had dates with American men.

Well, how about her Italian countrymen?

"Italian men are exactly the opposite of Americans. They think only of women, but not in a nice way. They have a one-track mind."

As for South Americans, they are out of the running because "they resemble Italians.

Englishmen? "Really too cold to be good."

A German husband, she said, "would want to order me around as though he were a commanding officer." And a French husband would "lose himself in too many compliments. Frenchmen talk too much. They're boring."

Gianna Maria considered a moment to decide what she did not like about Scandinavians — "too blond."

Any prospective husband—to get to the more positive aspects—must be dark-haired 35 to 45, widely traveled, a cosmopolitan with "just a pinch of the defects and merits of all nationalities."

"Above all, he must be very, very rich."

While waiting for this paragon to come up over her horizon Miss Canale intends to continue working on pictures and buying valuable paintings, rugs and antique furniture for her 14-room villa overlooking Rome.

Josh Logan Will Direct His 1st Movie

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Broadway may be shocked to learn that Josh Logan is an avid movie fan.

This may be a blow to devotees of the legit. After all, Logan is the most successful of stage directors, his list of hits including "Annie Get Your Gun," "Wish You Were Here," etc. And now he's here to direct his first movie, "Picnic."

"I've always loved the movies," he admitted when I caught him lunching with scripter Dan Taradash ("From Here to Eternity") near Columbia Studios. "Why, I even read the fan magazines."

How is it that such film fan as he has not succumbed to movie offers until now?

"I've had chances to come to Hollywood ever since my first Broadway hit ('On Borrowed Time')," he explained. "They came in every year. But they were either for a term contract, which I didn't want, or they came at a time when I was all wrapped up in a play.

"I almost did a movie during the run of 'Mister Roberts.' I bought a story called 'Rear Window.' We were going to shoot it in one of the apartment districts in New York, with Henry Fonda making it in the daytime while he appeared in 'Roberts' at night. But then I got involved in other matters, including a road company of 'Roberts' and a thing called 'South Pacific.'"

"Rear Window" was later filmed by Alfred Hitchcock with other players.

Logan, who coauthored 'Roberts,' was set on directing it for the screen. He had planned to star Marlon Brando as the hero with Fonda playing Doc. But Brando got into his hassle with 20th-Fox over refusing "The Egyptian." In order to get out of hock, Brando had to do "Desiree." Meanwhile, Logan was up to his ears in "Fanny," the new Ezio Pinza hit.

He relinquished his plans for the film "Roberts" and it was made by Warner Brothers with Fonda playing his original role. But Logan kept his financial share in the film, which he hopes will be his annuity.

Why did he finally succumb to the Hollywood lure?

"Because the studio offered me a finished script that I liked, a story I was familiar with (he directed 'Picnic' on the stage) and a star—William Holden. Also it came at a time when there was a slight lull in my theater commitments."

Lest Broadway become concerned, let me add that he intends to return to the stage, although his movie jobs may become frequent.

Do-It-Yourself Fad Hits Plumbing Snag

BATTLE CREEK (AP)—There's a limit to the current do-it-yourself craze, at least when plumbing is involved, Atty. Gen. Thomas M. Kavanagh ruled yesterday.

In reply to questions raised in Battle Creek township, Kavanagh held that a township which has adopted a state plumbing code may deny a permit to a person who is not a licensed plumber who wants to do his own plumbing on a house he is building for sale.

Fined $5 for Creating His Own Parking Place

GRAND RAPIDS (UP)—Arthur Boot was fined $5 when he pleaded guilty to pushing another car from a private parking space into an alley so he could park in the other car's place.

Police said the car he pushed into the alley was owned by a disabled veteran who was the only person authorized to use the parking space.

County Will Aid Sanitation Study

Monroe Says Pontiac, Oakland to Cooperate in Metropolitan Survey

County and city health departments will cooperate in a long-range research program designed to combat environmental sanitation problems in the Greater Detroit area, it was announced today by Dr. John D. Monroe, director of health for Pontiac and Oakland County.

This program was announced Monday by the National Sanitation Foundation, a non-profit organization with headquarters at the University of Michigan. Plans include research into control of sanitation of water, food, air, wastes and general conditions in this area.

"We will give every assistance to the program," Dr. Monroe stated, "so far as research and studies are concerned. All work done here, of course, will have to be completed within our present organization and budget."

He pointed out that any NSF projects which call for fund contributions from participating counties would have to be approved by the Board of Supervisors.

Russell H. Coltson, county sanitarian, attended a meeting in Detroit last week at which the program was outlined by Dr. Henry F. Vaughan, president of the NSF and dean of the School of Public Health at the University of Michigan.

Aim of the foundation's project is to work out a long-range program for insuring high sanitation standards in the Detroit metropolitan area in future years.

Home Building Tops Waterford Permits

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — Home construction tops the list of building permits issued in Waterford Township during January.

Of a total of 108 permits issued for the month, 94 were home permits with a valuation of $824,200. Total valuation for the month was $856,462.

Other permits issued included four for remodeling and additions to homes, $3,812; six garages and breezeways, $3,750; three additions to commercial buildings, $23,700; one removal of building, $1.00.

Jackson Judge Okayed for High Court Bid

Jackson County Circuit Judge John Simpson has been endorsed for nomination to run for State Supreme Court justice April 4 by the Jackson County Bar Assn., according to Oakland County Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem.

Judge Simpson conducted a one-man grand jury investigation here in Jan. 1953, said Ziem, into alleged criminal activities in Royal Oak Township.

Merger of Unions Recalls 1935 Organizational Split

A merger of the nation's two largest unions into one giant organization brings recollections of 1935 when nine unions split with the parent American Federation of Labor and established the CIO.

Headed by John L. Lewis, United Mine Workers president, the splinter group called itself the Committee for Industrial Organization and continued to operate under the AFL.

But in 1936, when the CIO's organization of rapidly expanding American industry began gaining momentum, AFL officials suspended the CIO unionists.

The AFL theory was that it was a federation of craft unions and had no place in its ranks for semi-or un-skilled workers.

Keeping the familiar initials, the little union changed its name to the Congress of Industrial Organization and named Lewis as its head.

Politics four years later took Lewis from the CIO. He carried out his threat to resign if Franklin D. Roosevelt was elected president for a third term, and took the UMW with him.

Phillip Murray, a close friend of Lewis' for 30 years and UMW vice president, took over the reigns of the CIO after breaking with the bushy-browed leader.

Lewis rejoined the AFL in 1946, but two years later left again when old antagonisms rose.

William Green, meanwhile, had risen to the presidency of the AFL. He and Murray toyed with the merger idea after World War II, but did not follow through with enthusiasm.

In 1950, however, Murray, Green and leaders of some unaffiliated unions formed a joint labor committee to coordinate organizational and political activities.

Outbreak of the Korean War was the reason for another effort to get together. A "United Labor Policy Committee" was formed to aid the war effort. But this folded in August, 1951, when the AFL pulled out.

Keystone of the momentous Miami Beach agreement Wednesday was the series of formal discussions agreed to in 1952 by George Meany, of the AFL, and Walter P. Reuther, of the CIO, who had succeeded Green and Murray that year.

The result of the first meeting on April 7, 1953, was an understanding that a "no-raiding" pact between the individual unions was the first step toward merger.

By September of that year, the important pact was drawn up and endorsed overwhelmingly by conventions of both unions. The pact was signed last June and covered 29 CIO unions and 65 AFL affiliates.

With that first historic step taken, both sides began a concerted effort to join forces.

In Washington last December, it was agreed that written proposals would be offered at the Miami Beach meetings.

The merger talks were harrassed somewhat by rumors of a third federation composed of the important mineworkers, steelworkers and teamsters unions.

But Reuther and Meany kept at their purpose and overcame the difficulties and sniping actions. The fruit of their efforts emerged in yesterday's action.

Bill May Save Lake Squatters

Solons Propose Way to Give Users Title to State-Owned Land

LANSING (AP) — Legislation was being drafted today to rescue an estimated 5,000 to 6,000 property owners who have built on land reclaimed from Great Lakes waters and which legally belongs to the state.

Sen. Fred Nicholson (D-Warren) said he and Rep. John T. Bowman (D-Roseville) expect to file the bill today or tomorrow.

The bill, Nicholson said, will provide a method of giving title to persons who have squatted on state-owned land and also set up machinery for acquiring title to reclaimed lands in the future.

The bill proposes, Nicholson said, to allow present squatters to pay the state 15 per cent of the current assessed valuation of the land itself, excluding buildings and improvements. Future applications to use such land would require the applicant to pay the full appraised value, he said.

"As it stands now," Nicholson said, "there is no way these people who are using this land can get title to it, no agency to whom they can even apply, except to get a special bill passed through the Legislature for each individual case.

He estimated the state would receive about $5000,000 from the sale of titles to lands already taken over illegally.

Nicholson said many persons had bought homes or started businesses on reclaimed land without knowing that they were in the wrong.

Most of the cases are in the St. Clair Shores area, reportedly, but Nicholson said they exist all along the Great Lakes shore line.

River lands are not involved because the State Supreme Court has held that frontage owners possess the river bottom to the center of the stream. But constitutionally all lake bottom lands belong to the state.

State Farm Commission Opposed to Dairy Bill

LANSING (AP)—The State Agriculture Commission has gone on record as opposed to a legislative bill that would increase the butterfat requirements for milk.

Members said that most nutritionists now claim it is more important to increase the non-fat solid content in milk than it is to increase the butterfat content. A bill filed in the Senate would increase the milk butterfat requirement from three to three and one-half per cent.

Judge Delays Prison Term on Youth's Plea

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Circuit Judge Dale Souter yesterday set aside a prison sentence he had just imposed on a 17-year-old youth, who sobbed:

"Honest, judge, I can be good. Don't send me to prison and you can be sure I'll never be in here again."

Moved by this plea, the judge voided his sentence of 18 months to 15 years in prison for the respondent, Jerry Jackson of Grand Rapids, who is held for violation of his probation.

Jackson was ordered back to jail and the judge said he would think over the youth's plea. Jackson was placed on probation last August on his conviction of burglary of a Grand Rapids Township home from which $200 in sports goods and tools were stolen.

Governor Calls for Road Ideas

Holds Door Wide Open for Republicans With Compromise Plans

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Williams held the door wide open and laid out the welcome mat today for any Republican legislators who want to suggest a compromise in the tangled highway program dispute.

The House, which has the first say on the proposal, was tied up in two Republican caucuses yesterday and planned a third for today in an effort to agree on a program.

Speaker of the House Wade Van Valkenburg (R-Kalamazoo) refused to guess whether House Republicans would agree finally on the program offered by Rep. Emil R. Peltz (R-Rogers City). Gov. Williams has called this "the county road commissioners' plan".

But Van Valkenburg said "the Peltz bill is still 'way ahead of the governor's program."

Sen. Haskell L. Nichols (R-Jackson) let it be known he would be in today or tomorrow with a still different proposal.

Williams has suggested a 500 million dollar bond issue financed partly by a half-cent-a-gallon gasoline tax increase and a 25 per cent boost in truck license fees.

Peltz proposes a two-cent-a-gallon gas tax increase, part of the money going to local governments to finance their own highway bonds. Both plans would be submitted to the people under present proposals.

But the Peltz program is stymied by fears it is unconstitutional to place a referendum on an appropriation.

Van Valkenburg said the Peltz plan could still be split up to put part of it on the ballot, but he conceded some Republicans are opposed to the two-cent increase.

There were widespread rumors of a compromise—but no details of one—and Williams said he was willing.

But he said he thought the Republicans ought to make the next move since he had taken the first step in their direction by abandoning his initial objection to any gas tax increase.

Pinay Abandons Efforts to Form French Cabinet

PARIS (AP) — Former Premier Antoine Pinay abandoned his efforts to form France's 21st postwar government today. President Rene Coty announced he would start new consultations seeking a political leader capable of winning majority support in the National Assembly.

Pinay went to the Elyse Palace to announce his withdrawal after first communicating his decision to a meeting of Conservative leaders supporting him. The Cabinet crisis started with Premier Pierre Mendes-France's resignation last Saturday after he was defeated on an Assembly confidence vote.

Leaving the Palace, Pinay said the President had urged him to continue his attempt to organize support but he felt this was impossible.

Pinay's failure had been expected since the left-of-center Popular Republican Movement (MRP) refused yesterday to let any of its members join the predominantly conservative Cabinet the former Premier was trying to build.

Over Leave Day System

Police Officers Association to Appeal to Commission

Failing to come to an agreement with City Manager Walter K. Willman or Police Chief Herbert W. Straley over a recently-invoked leave day system, the Pontiac Police Officers Assn., last night unanimously voted to take the matter before the city commission.

The association also sent a letter to Willman, asking for further discussion before going to the commission.

Willman notified the association in a letter Tuesday that he had backed a decision by Straley who set up a new 28-day departmental leave day system. Willman, quoting rules and regulation governing policemen, said the chief's authority in the matter couldn't be disputed and "I have no inclination to countermand his order."

Straley has stated he invoked the system after six months of study for the best interest of the men and the department.

At its regular meeting last night, the association said it has never doubted the chief's authority in creating policy.

A spokesman said, however, "Since about a 100 men have shown no interest in the new policy which is supposed to be for their benefit, the rotation of leave days is still going to be as the chief set it up."

The association explained that it believes that the chief is right in invoking the 28-day system for departmental working routine, instead of the conventional month period. It contends as unfair, however, that the rotation of leaves would take preferred days off from men with seniority.

Lieutenants and sergeants also would have to work three months in succession on one shift, under the present system, while their platoons rotate every 28 days, they explained. The ranking officers, some of which are members of the 97-member association, have expressed dissatisfaction with the system, according to the association.

In the letter to the city manager, the association states:

"Our committee had not intended to give the impression that we questioned Chief Straley's authority. We realize he was entirely within his rights; however, we feel that inasmuch as 100 out of 107 men were dissatisfied with a system which was set up with the idea of bettering the men's system of leave days, then steps could be taken to counteract the mistake."

The letter notes also, "... certain points in our grievance ... we feel might possibly have been overlooked."

The officers also explain in the letter that the new system "would cost the city a considerably larger amount of money in overtime work," which the policemen were granted recently.

"Often an officer is required to work seven to 10 days at a stretch before having a day off (under the new system)," the letter, which cites an example, adds.

The association last night said it would attempt again to settle the problem with Willman if granted another hearing. Willman at a recent meeting with the association's liaison committee gave the group permission to carry the grievance to the commission, the final point of appeal.

Expect to Complete Merger This Year

was assured of the presidency and AFL Secretary-Treasurer William Schnitzler will have the same title in the merged federation.

The CIO won the right to enter the AFL as a union group and to organize entire plants from top to bottom in individual unions without regard for AFL crafts.

In addition, it was agreed that the leadership for the ambitious new member organizing activities would come from the CIO.

The key question of whether unions would be allowed to "raid" or seize each other's already - organized members was left open. Reuther had wanted a definite po-police system to stop this, but it was agreed only that "raiding" was a disease which ought to be discouraged.

The merger agreement contained intentions to include guarantees in the new constitution that would prevent racial discrimination among unions and effectively deal with union racketeers.

Henry G. Riter III, president of the Cational Assn. of Manufacturers and president of Thomas A. Edison, Inc., of West Orange, N.J., said the planned union merger would bring a threat of "dangerous monopoly."

"Monopoly is always costly to the public," he said in a statement, "and labor monopolies should be outlawed for the same reasons that business monopolies have been banned."

Riter said the merger "could have the beneficial effect of eliminating costly jurisdictional strikes throughout the nation."

W. P. Kennedy, president of the independent, 215,000-member Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, made this comment about the proposed consolidation:

"All labor must be electrified, as we are, by the announcement that organic unity and peace soon will be a fact between the two great labor organizations—the AFL and CIO. It has been indicated that the independent railway labor organizations such as ours will be invited to join the new federation.

"Of course, there are problems to be worked out in this connection. But I think such a proposal might be looked upon most favorably by the officers and rank and file of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

"The giant economic and political concentrations in America today demand a united labor movement to protect the rights of all who toil."

Guy L. Brown, grand chief engineer of the 80,000-member Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, said:

"Nothing but good can come from closer cooperation between existing segments of labor. We, of course, will be interested to see what attention and protection is given skilled employe wage scales in the new merger. We think underlying cause of future unrest will revolve around this problem."

61 Girls Baking Cherry Pies in Contest Today

GRAND RAPIDS (UP) — The aroma of fresh cherry pie filled Grand Rapids' big civic auditorium today as girls from 61 counties competed for top honors in Michigan's 23rd annual cherry pie baking contest.

Fifteen girls were scheduled to start mixing ingredients for their pies promptly at 9:30 a.m. Other shifts were scheduled to take over the gas ranges at 11 a.m., 1:30 p.m. and 3 p.m.

Two finalists will be picked from each group and their pies and recipes will be turned over to three as yet unnamed judges who will pick the first, second and third place pies.

The winner, who will be announced at a luncheon for contestants tomorrow, will walk off with a $150 scholarship award and an all-expense trip to Chicago to represent Michigan in the national bake-off Feb. 18.

Michigan Man Retires as Osteopathic Leader

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Dr. Arthur A. Speir of Merrill, Mich., retired yesterday as president of the American College of Osteopathic Obstetricians and Gynecologists.

His successor, Dr. Jerry O. Carr of Fort Worth, Tex., was elected at the group's 22nd annual convention in Jacksonville.

Dr. H. C. Bruckner of Clio, Mich., was chosen first vice president.

GRAND RAPIDS (UP) —Dr. John M. Whitney, director of Federal Civil Defense Administration health offices, says that any community hit by an enemy air attack would immediately need four times the amount of blood now taken in any 24-hour period.

Whitney made the statement during an address to the Kent County doctors and physicians in which he told of the responsibilities they would have to shoulder in event of an enemy air attack.

To Air Problems, Expansion Move

City Status, Annexing, to Get Public Hearing at School This Evening

ROCHESTER—A large turnout is expected for this evening's public meeting on the proposed incorporation of the village as a city, and the annexation of a portion of Avon Township.

The village council called the meeting two weeks ago to sound out public opinion of the plan which the council has released in a report.

It will be held in the high school cafeteria, with a starting time of 8 p.m.

The changeover to city status, and the accompanying annexation, were recommendations made by the council after more than a year of study and survey of problems facing the village.

Copies of the report are still available at the village office.

As outlined, the annexation would increase Rochester's area from 1.6 square miles to 5.8.

Avon Township officials have voiced opposition to the plan, which would take two large industries from the township's tax rolls.

Engineering Costs Approved by Board

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP—The Township Board has agreed to advance $1,000 for its share of preliminary engineering studies of the proposed interceptor sanitary sewer which is visualized as running south from Waterford through West Bloomfield, Southfield and Farmington townships, and the city of Farmington.

The funds will be repaid from the proceeds of a bond issue to be sold to finance the proposed project.

In other action, the board approved three plats: Westridge, on Dixie Highway; Woodland subdivision, adjacent to Lakewood Farms on M-59, and supervisor's plat 66, adjacent to Pontiac Lake and Scott Lake Roads.

Plan Valentine Party

KEEGO HARBOR—The Raggedy Ann Rascals of Cootiette Club 135 will hold a Valentine party at 8 p.m. Friday. Members will bring a gift for a shut-in boy and another for a secret pal.

Waterford Jaycees Plan Builders Show in Spring

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — Plans are under way for an all-township builders show, sponsored by the Waterford Township Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Tentative dates for the affair, to be held in the CAI Building, are April 29 to May 1. Temporary chairman is Richard Dean.

Approximately 80 booths will be available for township merchants. Proceeds from the show will go to build a tennis court, Jaycees decided at their general meeting this week.

Also at the meeting, prizes were set for an ice fishing derby to be held from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Feb. 20. It was decided to give a first prize of $25, second prize of $10 and third prize, $5, in the contest.

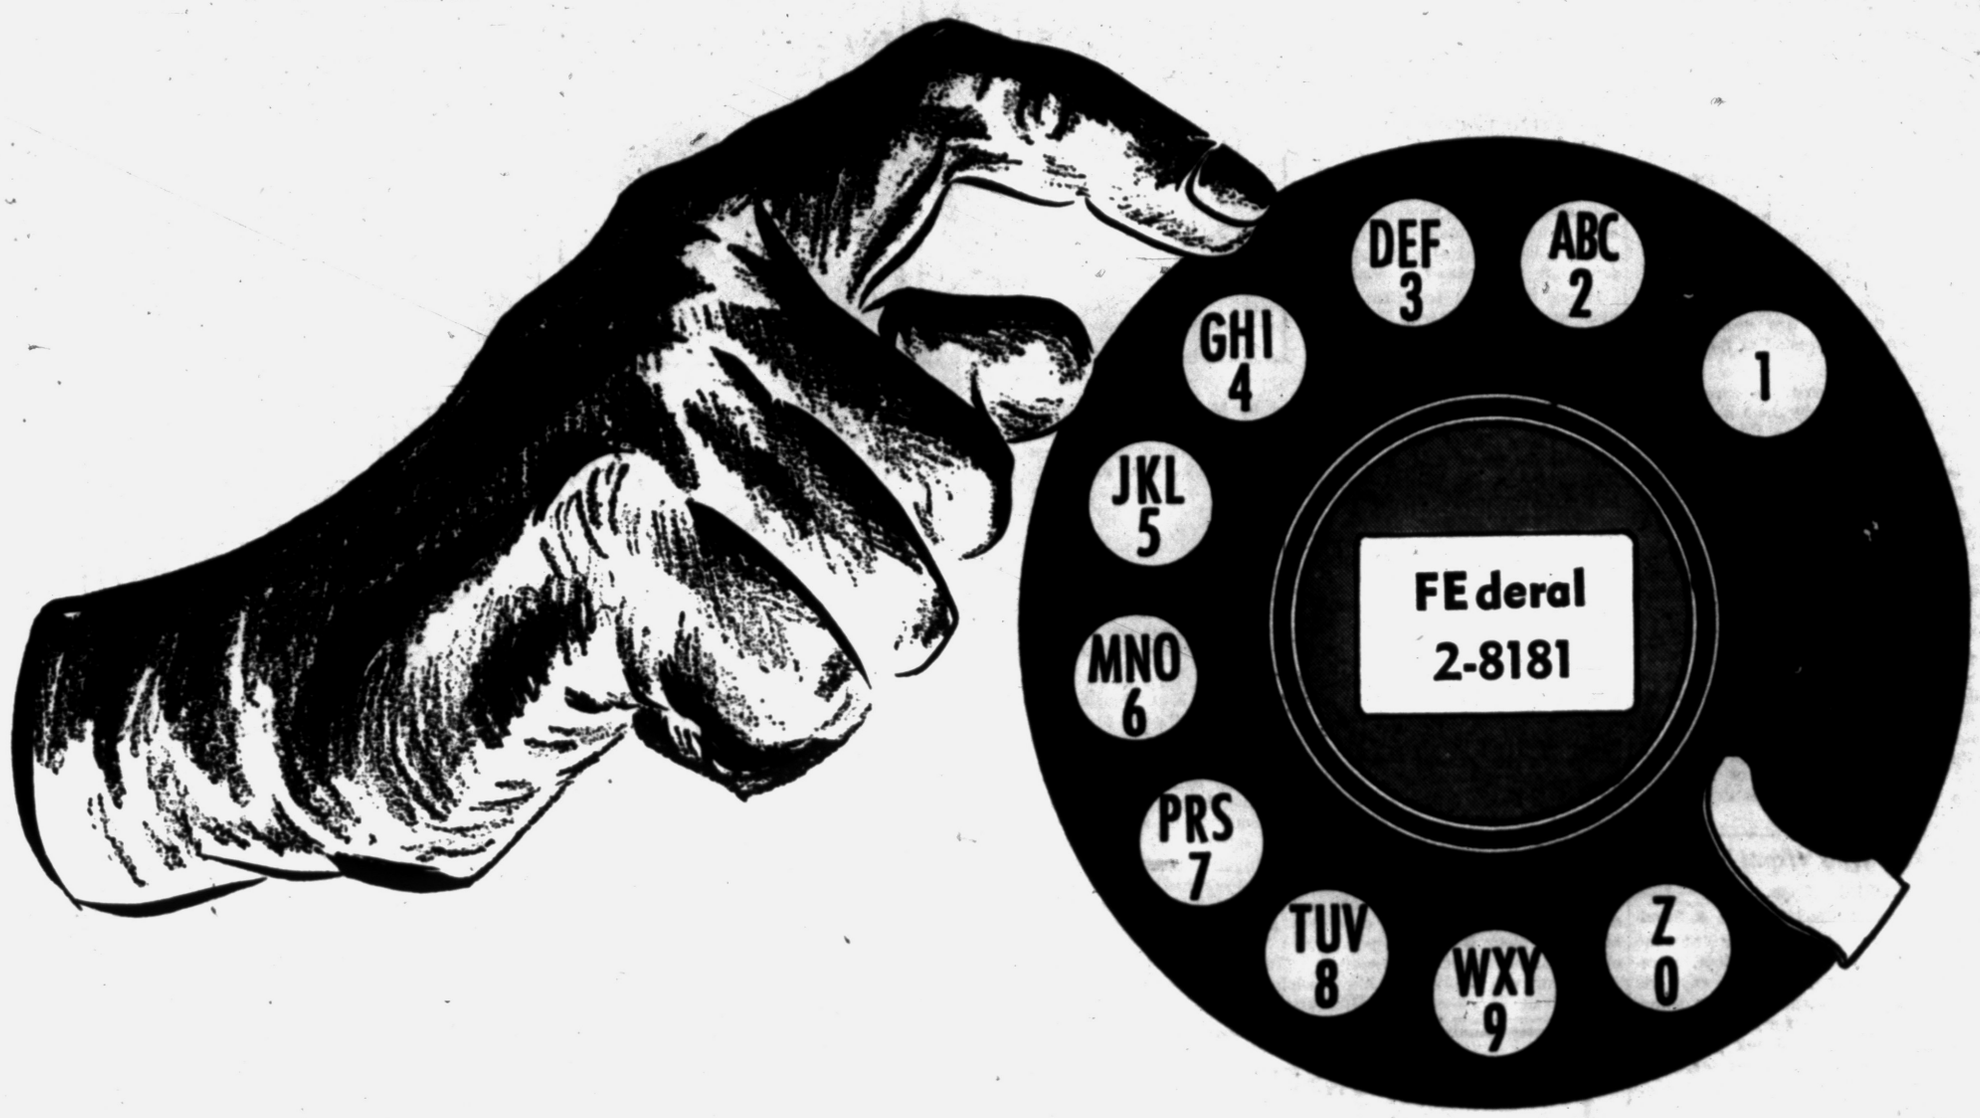

Fee to participate in the derby has been set at 75 cents, with money raised to go into the tennis court fund.

Robert Wheeler is chairman for the ice derby, assisted by Thomas Belton and Gerald DeWies.

Boys' Club Library Gives Pleasure With Education

William V. Coulacos, executive director of Pontiac Boys' Club, today said that an average of 120 boys has been visiting the club's library daily since the inauguration of a new system.

"The new system," said Coulacos, "is part of our policy to encourage the boys' thinking powers and foster education when the opportunity arises."

Under the direction of Terry Thomas, biology teacher at Clarkston High School who spends six evenings a week at the club, the library program has been top feature among hundreds of youths.

The program "is helping many boys in the way of guidance and school work," said Thomas.

"We begin the library activities at 4 p.m. and continue with the program until 9 p.m.," he explained. "The program appeals to boys of all ages."

Part of the activities include "learning the geography of interesting places in America, reading contests and help with homework."

The reading contest, called the Tom Sawyer Contest Club, requires the boy to read five books. "After reading each book, the boy is allowed to paint a picket on a miniature fence with five pickets. The boys are rewarded after completing each picket fence," said Thomas.

Coulacos explained that the system has helped the boys by creating an interest in reading and stimulating their curiosity for education.

"Our main objective here," said Coulacos, "is proper guidance for the boy. We don't expect our efforts to show results in the youth until he has grown to be a healthy, normal man. Part of our job is to bring out the educational objective of the boy who should be on his way to some educational objective in life."

The club's trained staff also does work with boys who are handicapped in some way. Thomas, who worked several months with a boy handicapped by a speech defect, was able to get the youngster to speak correctly after many unsuccessful attempts had been made to help the boy, said Coulacos.

Presently, the club's library has 700 books, but is capable of holding 1,200. Most of the books at the club are donations by persons interested in Boys' Club activities.

Coulacos said the most recent donation was by John E. Linabury of 81 E. Iroquois Rd., who gave the club a first edition book entitled "As He Saw It," written and autographed by Elliott Roosevelt. The book concerns the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

"All book donations are welcome," said Coulacos. "We need more books for the increasing number of boys taking part in the library program; especially boys' type books are needed."

The club, which is primarily set up to handle 1,200 boys, already has enrolled 95 boys since Jan. 1. Last year's membership of 1,500 was the club's largest in its 10-year history. Coulacos said this year's membership is expected to reach 2,000.

Felon, Hostage Burn to Death

Parolee Forces Girl, 17, to Drive Getaway Car; Skids Into Roadblock

JERSEY CIY, N.J. (UP)—A wild auto chase ended in flaming death early today for a man and a teenage girl he forced at gunpoint to drive him in a getaway attempt.

Police tentatvely identified the man as Leonard Pasco, 23, who had a previous record and was out on parole.

They said he attempted to escape pursuing officers by commandeering a car and forcing Constance Cobb, 17, of Milltown, to drive at top speed. The car hit a Hudson County patrol car which had been set up as a roadblock on the Pulaski Skyway.

It skidded, flipped oer and burst into flames. The girl and Pasco, trapped inside, burned to death despite police efforts to get them out.

Late last night, Pasco was picked up by a Milltown patrolman because he looked suspicious. His trousers were soaked to the knees. As Patrolman Hylan Petri was taking him to headquarters, he drew a gun, disarmed the policeman and fled.

He came upon a car parked in a deserted spot in nearby North Brunswick Township. Inside were two young couples, including Miss Cobb.

Pasco ordered all but Miss Cobb out. Then he forced her to drive him north along Route 1. A police alarm was broadcast immediately.

The car was spotted in Elizabeth, about 20 miles from Milltown, by Motor Vehicle Inspector James Philburn, who gave chase. He said he saw a gun held at the girl's neck. Two motorcycle policemen joined the chase at Newark and pursued the car until it hit the roadblock.

New Home Features Built-In Mouse Trap

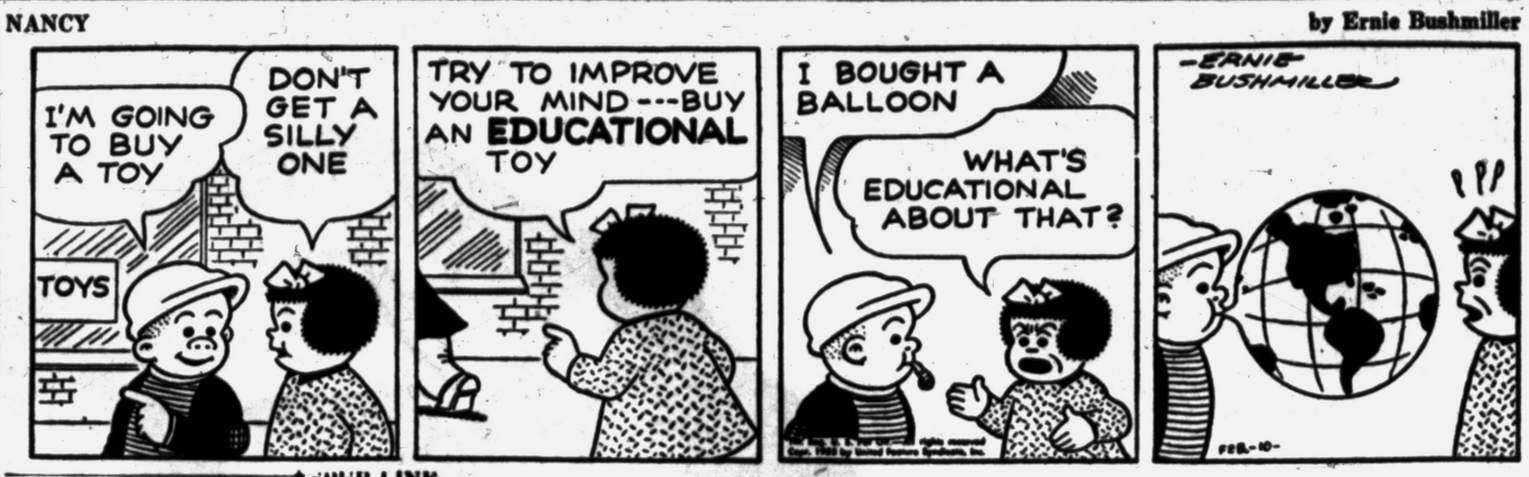

AYLESHAM, England (UP) — Mrs. Betty White kept hearing odd noises in the bathroom of the new house she moved into five weeks ago.

Workmen called in yesterday tore u the floor and discovered a cat crouching in a cavity eight inches square.

Investigation proved the animal was a 3-year-old pedigreed Persian named Tommy belonging to the next-door neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. William Reed.

"Tommy must have crept in while the house was being built and got nailed in," said Mrs. Reed.

Wheat Climbs, Others Decline

CHICAGO (AP) — Wheat prices advanced while other grains slipped a little lower in fairly active dealings on the Board of Trade today.

The firm tone in wheat followed upon the quite steep break in the closing hour of the previous session, particularly in the old crop months. It was therefore attributed in part to the belief wheat may have been oversold late yesterday.

Selling pressure in other cereals wasn't unusually heavy but it was enough to cause fractional declines in view of very limited demand in all pits.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was unchanged to ¾ higher, March $2.25⅝; corn ⅝ to ⅝ lower, March $1.51¾; oats unchanged to ⅝ lower, March 76; rye ¼ lower to ¼ higher, March $1.21¾; soybeans ½ to ¾ lower, March $2.82½; and lard unchanged to 10 cents a hundred pounds lower, March $12.55.

U.S. Hires Broker to Speed Plant Sale

NEW YORK (INS)—The General Services Administration will sign a contract today with the Thomas McCaffrey Co., Pittsburgh, under which the concern will act as broker in the sale of the foundry and machine shop at New Castle, Pa.

The contract is to be signed in a simple ceremony at 2 p.m., EST, in the office of Walter F. Downey, GSA regional director in New York.

GSA said the contract will be the first signed under a new law which authorizes the employment of brokers to try to speed up the sale of surplus government property.

The New Castle plant was described as the largest on the surplus list and GSA said the McCaffrey Co. in one of the nation's largest industrial realtors. Thomas McCaffrey Jr., president of the company, is a former president of the Society of Industrial Realtors.

T. L. Peyton, GSA surplus real property chief, said the selection of the McCaffrey concern demonstrates the agency's determination "to get quick results" on the plant sale.

He added: "We will retain real estate brokers whenever they can help us put government-owned property back into private ownership, collect cash for the treasury, and return untaxed real estate to the local tax rolls.

"As the first selling project under the program, the employment of the broker for the New Castle plant will serve as a good test case."

Dip in Price Places Beef Among Weekend Specials

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Beef is back on the list of specials in the meat departments of the nation's food stores this week.

Beef prices came down a bit at wholesale this week, so you'll find lower prices in many stores on such items as chuck steak or roast, ribs of beef, boneless chuck pot roast and porterhouse and sirloin steaks. In some instances, the reductions will be around six cents a pound.

Frying chicken prices are lower in many areas this week, too. One large chain is cutting prices by two to four cents a pound in some of its markets.

Meat men rate pork as an especially good buy. Featured items will include loins of pork, pork chops, fresh spare ribs, fresh picnics and smoked hams.

The American Meat Institute reports that retail pork prices have reached their lowest levels in two years. In many localities, it says, prices are down between 15 and 32 per cent from a year ago.

Lamb prices don't show much change from a week ago, but legs of lamb will be widely featured for weekend dinners.

Some stores are going to have turkeys at lower prices. There also will be occasional specials on shoulders of veal.

Egg prices are moving up again. A major chain is hiking prices in all its stores by from two to four cents a dozen.

Potatoes, onion and cabbage are considered the outstanding buys in vegetables this week. Good value also may be had in iceberg lettuce, bunched and topped carrots, endive, escarole, small to medium-size peppers and rhubarb.

The quality of green beans is said to be only fair, generally speaking. Among vegetables going up in price at the wholesale level this week were corn, cucumbers, eggplants and cauliflower.

Florida strawberries are arriving in good volume in Eastern markets and produce men say the price is reasonable. Other worthwhile buys are oranges, grapefruit, tangerines and apples. The Delicious type apple gets the favored rating.

Stocks Staging Sharp Increase

NEW YORK (AP)—Stocks were sharply higher today in an active market that soared ahead from its new all-time high base.

Yesterday the market staged one of its best advances of the past 15 years to send the Associated Press average of 60 stocks up $2.30 to $158.10, a new all-time high topping the previous record of $157.70 established Sept. 3, 1929.

Gains went to between 1 and 2 points frequently. Losses extended to a point in a few instances.

Brokers watched the market break sharply Tuesday when the changes in the Russian government were announced. The sell-off had no hint of panic about it. In fact, brokers felt the market acted rather well under the circumstances.

Yesterday when buying started at moderately higher prices, confidence gradually returned and then snowballed to a buying rush in the late afternoon that sent prices throughout the market sharply higher.

Directors of Gerber Products Co., New York, baby food manufacturers, have voted a stock split of one share of common stock for each two shares now held. Record date for issue of the new stock will be Feb. 23. The board also voted a quarterly dividend of 25 cents a share on the common stock, to be paid March 25 to holders of record March 14. This dividend payment is equal to 37½ cents per common share on the old basis. Previously 30 cents had been paid quarterly.

At a special election of officers of the Vagabond Coach Manufacturing Co., New Hudson, Harvey C. Childs was named vice president; T. F. Gronback, secretary, and George F. Miles, treasurer and director of sales.

The election, held this week, was necessitated by the death of P. C. Miles, co-founder and secretary . treasurer of the corporation.

Escheats Law Change Proposed for State

LANSING (AP)—Sen. Clyde W. Geerlings (R-Holland) offered an amendment to the state escheats law today which he said would pick up 10 million dollars for the state treasury.

(The escheats law gives to the state abandoned and unclaimed property to be held in trust for the rightful owner. The state converts the property to cash and uses the money, agreeing to repay it to the owner if he ever makes a claim.)

Geerlings proposed to count as abandoned property shares of stock and dividends unclaimed for seven years and which are located in Michigan.

He said he was advised that various corporations have in their possession thousands of shares of stock left unclaimed when their original stock issues were converted to a new type of certificate.

Doubts Justice of Tax Proposal

Dem Claims Williams' Corporation Levy May Be Unconstitutional

LANSING (AP) — Republican senators perked up yesterday when a leading Democratic senator declared Gov. Williams' tax program may be unconstitutional.

That is what Republican senators have been contending privately.

Sen. Cora M. Brown (D-Detroit), in debate on a tax proposal, said "With all due respects to the governor, I doubt if it is constitutional to tax corporations on different basis than other business."

She referred to Williams' recommendation for a five per cent corporation profits tax and retention of the business receipts tax only for unincorporated business.

The debate was on a bill to extend indefinitely the life of the business receipts tax, now due to expire March 15. The bill was pushed up for a vote this afternoon.

Miss Brown argued that the Senate, by extending the tax, was committing itself in one area of business taxation and thereby clocking itself from a "reappraisal" of the business tax field.

Sen. Carlton H. Morris (R-Kalamazoo) said extension of the tax did not prevent the Legislature from later amending it or repealing it. He said the state could not afford to have the tax expire March 15 and cut off income needed for the rest of the fiscal year.

He also said that the Revenue Department estimated that removal of the business receipts tax from corporations, as Williams proposed, would remove 80.78 per cent of the tax now paid.

The Senate defeated a Democratic attempt to extend the tax only to Dec. 31.

The House passed and sent to Gov. Williams a bill eliminating the "straw man" in deeding property to joint parties. Under the old law, a husband wanting to deed property to himself and his wife jointly had to first transfer the property to a third party.

Other bills filed would:

Authorize the state Administrative Board to solicit bids on the Pinecrest Tuberculosis Sanatorium at Oshtemo near Kalamazoo.

Permit counties of over one million population to issue special assessment bonds in order to stabilize the level of lakes.

Permit local units of more than 500,000 population to draw from their general funds to pay for airports and airport improvements financed primarily by revenue bonds.

Waives Examination on Driving Count

Everette M. Clayton, 47, of 67 Tregent St., charged with felonious driving after his auto struck a Detroit Edison worker last week, waived examination and was bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court yesterday.

Appearing before Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum, Clayton was ordered held in the county jail when he failed to post a $2,000 bond, pending his hearing Monday.

Clayton is accused of driving into the rear of an Edison equipment trailer Saturday, striking Royce J. King, 29, of 624 Burgess, Milford. King, recovering at Pontiac General Hospital, is in good condition. His left leg was amputated above the knee.

Hazel Park Man Hurt in Crash on John R

Charles R. Turkette, 21, of Hazel Park, was treated at Beaumont Hospital for back injuries received when the car in which he was a passenger was struck in the rear by another early today on John R. near Fourteen Mile Rd., in Troy Township.

Turkette was riding with John W. Keating, 23, of Ferndale, when their car was rammed in the rear by one driven by Harry E. Lewis, 22, of Royal Oak. Keating's car had stalled on the roadway and he was attempting to start it, according to David Gratopp, Troy Township police chief. Neither driver was injured.

Victims of Beach Erosion Face Long Wait for Relief

(Last of series)

LANSING (AP)—Home and cottage owners along the shores of the Great Lakes should resign themselves to this: Beach erosion will apparently have to be curbed on a do-it-yourself basis for some time to come.

Most Michigan legislators are fully aware of the problem. But until now, none has jumped up with a ready solution like that of the Dutch boy whose finger plugged the hole in the dike.

Because the problem is much more complex than a hole in the dike, the lack of a quick remedy is not surprising. Most Lawmakers realize that legislating the course of a river or the depth of a lake is tricky business.

Right now, there is no legislative committee set up to study the beach erosion problem, although drainage committees in both the House and Senate are equipped to look into it.

Key legislators on these committees say they are ever willing to do what can be done, which they hastily add is almost nothing.

Both the Water Resources Commission and the Conservation Department are interested in erosion, but their business is to study and chart it—not correct it.

What causes beach erosion, and why has it become such a problem?

The cause is water, of course, and to a larger degree wind whipping the water into a destructive force.

Wayland S. Osgood, Conservation Department official, says no one paid much attention to erosion until people started building cottages and homes along the shore.

Then they perked up and took notice of a force that was always there.

The fight against erosion can be divided into two major battles. First—a delaying action to minimize it, and second—a final push aimed at controlling the level of the lakes.

Jetties and groins, built by private parties, townships and cities are the weapons of the first battle.

In 1952, the Legislature passed three laws to ease the problem. One permitted counties to establish "set-back lines," beyond which no building could be done. This prevented future development of property endangered by erosion.

A second law permitted local governmental units to build jetties and groins and collect special assessments to pay for them.

A third measure permitted political units to conduct beach erosion surveys. Berrien County, hard hit by erosion, recently appropriated $8,200 for such a survey, the money to be matched with federal funds.

"Jetties and groins are tricky to erect and not the final answer," Osgood says. "If you build one in one place, you may increase erosion in another."

That's why legislators and property owners are looking for a final solution.

The search for this ultimate answer, too costly for the states, was handed over to the U.S. Lake Survey, Corps of Engineers.

Nearly $100,000 was appropriated for the study during the present fiscal year. Started in 1952, completion is not expected before 1960.

"Briefly, we're trying to see if the high level of the lakes can be lowered without affecting the low level," says Lt. Col. Edward J. Gallagher, Lake Survey district engineer.

His engineers, he said, are trying to find out if the excess water can be drained off without endangering navigation in the channels.

"One possible plan involves enlarging the channels of the Detroit and St. Clair Rivers," he said.

Under this plan, water would drain down from the upper lakes—Superior, Huron and Michigan, into the lower lakes and out the St. Lawrence River.

During low levels, a system of gates would be swung across part of the channel to keep water levels high enough for economic shipping.

Col. Gallagher says that if these projects, estimated at well over 100 million dollars, prove economically feasible, Congress will be asked to make the necessary appropriations.

That may not take place before 1965.

Until then, it appears, the lakes will continue having their own way, as they have for ages past.

MSC to Award Degree Honors

13 Slated to Receive Founders' Day Titles, Officials Announce

EAST LANSING (UP)—Thirteen honorary degrees of "historical significance" will be awarded by Michigan State College on Founder's Day Saturday, MSC officials announced today.

The honorary doctor of laws degree will be conferred by MSC president John A. Hannah in a program formally designating the 100th anniversary of the nation's first land-grant college.

Honored will be:

A. D. P. Heeney, Canadian Ambassador to the United States; Howard L. Bevis, president of Ohio State University; E. B. Fred, president of the University of Wisconsin; Frederick L. Hoyde, president of Purdue University; Lloyd Morey, president of the University of Illinois, and J. L. Morrill, president of the University of Minnesota.

The five presidents are heads of land-grant colleges.

Milton S. Eisenhower, president of Pennsylvania State University, will receive a degree as tribute to his school which also is celebrating its 100th anniversary.

Other degrees will be conferred upon Harlan H. Hatcher, president of the University of Michigan; W. W. Whitehouse, president of Albion College; Harlow H. Curtice, president of the General Motors Corp.; James P. Mitchell, U. S. Secretary of Labor; G. Mennen Williams, Governor of Michigan; and James B. Conant, High Commissioner for Germany and president-emeritus of Harvard University.

Ezra T. Benson, U. S. Secretary of Agriculture, will receive the degree of doctor of agriculture tomorrow during MSC's annual farmers' week.

Heeney is being honored because his nation is a member of the British Commonwealth which once held dominion over the Northwest territory which included Michigan and the other officials are being honored because they represent "major social and economic forces of today," Hannah said.

One Man's Illness Closes Steel Plants

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—U.S. Steel Co. plants in the Youngstown area started back towards full production today after a one-day wildcat strike over one man's health.

Some 175 members of the independent Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen struck the Youngstown and Northern Railroad, a U.S. Steel subsidiary, in protest to the suspension of a sick man who refused medical treatment.

The Y&N handles materials between truck roads and U.S. Steel's Ohio works and McDonald plant. Jobs of some 9,000 members of the CIO United Steelworkers were threatened since the firm was unable to continue production without the railroad. The CIO union did not strike.

Both the company and the BRT said the strike was not authorized.

Goodyear, Union Talk

CINCINNATI (AP) — Negotiators for the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. and the CIO United Rubber Workers Union worked today to complete a new master contract before the present one expires at midnight tonight. A new agreement, or failure to reach one, would affect 25,000 Goodyear workers in 10 plants in nine states.

Senate Votes to Repeal State Chain Store Tax

LANSING (AP)—Amid scattered Democratic outcries, the Senate yesterday voted to repeal the 22-year-old Michigan chain store tax.

The bill now goes to the House, where more opposition is expected. The bill passed the Senate by a 21-7 bipartisan vote, with most of the opposition coming from Democrats.

Sen. Charles S. Blondy (D-Detroit) argued that small businessmen opposed repealing the tax and said the Senate was too much concerned about the burden on "multi-millionaire chain stores."

Sponsors of the legislation have contended that the tax was "punitive" and "discriminatory", that it was passed to "put the chain stores out of business" and now many independent merchants who have added branches are caught in its operation.

The Senate prepared to vote today on a constitutional amendment to create a bipartisan board of state canvassers, supervisors of the state's election machinery.

The Senate suddenly recast the measure at the request of Sen. Edward Hutchinson (R-Fennville).

Objecting to a provision allowing state central committees of the two major political parties to nominate board members, Hutchinson amended it to allow the legislature to decide how the board should be created.

But his amendments specified that neither major political party could have a majority of the 4-man board and that no member could be named who was a candidate for any office which the board canvasses.

Device Defeats Effects of Polio

Arm Support Allows Student to Take Course in Drafting at Ferris

BIG RAPIDS (AP) — Clyde Bowman's ability at the drawing board helps him offset the effects of a crippling polio attack.

Bowman, 24, designed and built a ballbearing, adjustable arm support which enables him to pursue his studies in drafting and mechanical drawing at Ferris Institute.

Clyde was stricken by polio in August 1952.

It left him with a weakened right shoulder and upper arm but did not dim his ambition to become a draftsman. While at Warm Springs, Ga., for treatment from December, 1953, to April 1954, he was determined to continue toward his goal.

He says he first considered trying to draw with his left hand.

He decided against the change-over, feeling it would be less satisfactory than a device to bring his still-useful right hand into play.

Bowman sought the advice of an orthopedics device builder at Warm Springs. With that help Bowman fashioned his own mobile support which worked effectively from the start.

The device supports the forearm and moves forward, backward, and to either side. Clyde says it attaches to his drawing board and is adjustable for height, giving him alm

Cure for Cancer Seen in Decade

Ex-AMA Head Says Lifespan Soon Will Be More Than 100 Years

DETROIT (AP) — A past president of the American Medical Association says cancer will be both preventable and curable in 10 years. He also says man's average lifespan will be more than 100 years within two generations.

Dr. Edward J. McCormick made the predictions to some 500 family doctors yesterday at a medical symposium for members of the Michigan Academy of General Practice.

"Three years ago I predicted we would have a polio preventative," said Dr. McCormick. "I think we do now, but if we have not we will have soon . . . The same thing will happen in the cancer field.

He said the answer to cancer probably will come from drugs, not from radium or surgery.

Dr. McCormick said he based both his polio and cancer predictions on "confidential information."

Within two generations, he said, "the physician's role will be not be to cure disease but to prevent it."

"But much more extension of life is difficult to foresee now," he added, "because, even without disease, man's parts—his heart, liver and blood vessels—will wear out."

Founders' Day of PTA in Troy to Be Saturday

TROY TOWNSHIP—Otto Yntema, state treasurer of the Michigan Congress of Parent Teachers Assn. and director of Adult Education of Western State College will be the guest speaker at the Troy Township PTA Founder's Day banquet, to be held at 6:30 p.m. Saturday at the high school.

Laurence Lage, speech instructor will be toastmaster, and a skit will be presented by Mrs. Forrest Clippert, Lew Churchill, Mrs. J. Jardine, Mrs. Ted Halsey, Mrs. Donald Lance, Mrs. Russell Heaton, and Mrs. Edwin Reed.

William Spence of Birmingham will lead group singing.

Bleak, Windy Pescadores Vital to Western Defense

WASHINGTON—The concern of President Eisenhower and Congress over the defense of Formosa focuses attention on the Pescadores Islands just to the west, economically unimportant but strategically one of the most vital spots in the world today.

The reason is not hard to find. The 64 tiny islands totaling no more than 50 square miles command Formosa Strait. They lie a mere 30 miles west of Formosa, headquarters of the Chinese Nationalists, and 100 miles off the Communist-occupied Chinese mainland, says the National Geographic Society.

Few outposts on the earth are bleaker, windier, more monotonous than the Pescadores, once a pirate lair but now as always in their 1,365-year history a fishermen's haven. The name Pescadores derive from the Portuguese word "fishermen," and fishing today supplies a scant livelihood for most of the 80,000 population.

Although the Pescadores, with a preponderance of women, are the most densely peopled of the Formosa area, there are few other ways of sustaining life than fishing. For little can stand before the relentless buffeting of the northeast monsoon that funnels through the strait from October through March. Only peanuts, sweet potatoees and a scattering of other plants can cling to the porous, sandy soil against such pressure.

In winter the encircling seas are almost always choppy, mist-enshrouded or rain-swept. As the chill winds descend, there are no high hills in all the riverless islands to break their force. Only the few stone or concrete houses and stone fences offer a wind-break for man or plant. The lonely trees grow solely on the leeward side of buildings and then only to rooftop level.

One tree, a 300-year-old banyan, has attained distinction for its immense size—it covers half a block—but it too crouches low in deference to the wind.

The largest island is Penghu, meaning "Lake in the Sea" because the waters between the island and its companions offer comparative calm. To the Chinese Nationalists who anchor their naval ships there the entire island group is known as the Penghu Islands.

The foremost town of the Pescadores, Makung, stands on the western extremity of Penghu. Near by are grassy airstrips and across the harbor, the islands' naval base. Despite occasional splashes of bougainvillea, the city presents a drab countenance lined with rows of high stone walls. On windy evenings few inhabitants venture abroad. Curfew is enforced at midnight. By day barefoot women can be seen trudging washboard roads.

On the cinnamon-colored land the dead occupy more ground than the living. For the Pescadores are old islands. They have weathered not only killing storms but many wars. The people venerate their ancestors.

Thus, out of the islands' total area almost 10 per cent is covered by graveyards. There is probably not another corner of the globe where this is so.

Relief Possible for Prison Jam

Population Now Above 6,000 May Be Cut 500 in Current Year

LANSING (AP) — Corrections Department Director Gus Harrison said today overcrowding in state prisons could be "considerably relieved" this year, but added a few "ifs" to the prediction.

The combined population of state prisons and prison camps, now well over 6,000, could be reduced by about 500 during the next year, Harrison said.

Some 200 beds could be picked up by sending psychotic prisoners to the State Hospital for the Criminally Insane at Ionia, he said.

The commission recommended that persons convicted on drunk and disorderly and bad check charges be allowed to serve their sentences in county jails.

Liberlization of a law giving time off for good behavior, now being studied by Atty. Gen. Thomas M. Kavanagh, could reduce the prison population by another 150 prisoners, the director said.

"If the legislature acted favorably on our request for 25 more probation and 5 more parole officers, I'm sure the overcrowding would be eased," Harrison said.

Harrison said the prison population could be expected to rise in the spring. "Whenever warm weather comes, the crime rates goes up," he said.

Paw Paw Arrests Soar

PAW PAW (UP)—State Police from the Paw Paw post made 420 arrests during January, nearly triple the 143 arrests they made during the same month a year ago, Cpl. Charles Belanger said today. Troopers arrested 386 persons for traffic violations.

Beds Available for TB Victims

State Hospitals Have Facilities; Prompt Action Is Urged

LANSING (AP)—Michigan hospitals had a total of 4,565 acceptable beds available for tuberculosis patients on Dec. 31, the quarterly report by the state health department said today.

Hospitals had a patient census of 4,331 on that date, the report said.

In the Detroit area, there were 101 patients awaiting admission.

An additionl 506 beds classed as acceptable were not available for use for various reasons, the report said. Sixty-three beds were being held for patients on the way to the hospital.

This brought the total of acceptable beds throughout the state to 5,134. This compared to a total of 4,351 acceptable beds a year ago.

The health department said there are 2,976 known active cases of the disease that are not hospitalized.

Card of Thanks 1

WE WISH TO EXTEND OUR heartfelt thanks and appreciation for the acts of kindness, messages of sympathy and beautiful floral offerings received from our kind friends and neighbors during our bereavement in the loss of our beloved husband and father. We especially thank Rev. James W. Deeg, and Voorheis-Siple Funeral Home, Mrs. Ralph O. Rouse and family.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF George W. Pickering, who passed away 11 years ago February 8th. His wife and family, John and George Pickering, and Mrs. Pera Hollis.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF OUR dear father and husband, Carroll D. Pointer, who passed away Feb. 10, 1954.

No one knows the silent heartache,
Only those who lose can tell,
The grief we bear in silence,
For the one we loved so well.
Some day, sometime our eyes shall see,
The face we keep in memory,
And God will link the broken chain
Still closer when we meet again.
Sadly missed by the family and many friends.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF PEARL Evelyn O'Neil who passed away Feb. 10, 1951.

The world may change from year to year,
And friends from day to day
But never will the one we love,
From memory pass away.
Sadly missed by Walter L. O'Neil and family

New Programs, Stations Added

Networks' Top Shows Pitted Against the Best of Their Opposition

NEW YORK (AP)—Increased competition is chopping down the popularity ratings of television's top stars.

The competition is coming in two ways: In many areas that formerly had only one station, viewers had to watch whatever it carried or turn off the set. Now they have more stations — and more choice. The other is the tendency by each network to throw its strong programs against the opposition's best.

Gone are the days when Milton Berle or I Love Lucy could expect to be tuned in by 65 or 70 per cent of the TV sets in range.

The ratings on Lucy, for example, with strong Monday night opposition from Medic, has been running 4½ to 14 percentage points behind last season, when the Dennis Day show was the chief rival.

Berle ran eighth in the latest Nielsen rating with an estimated 44 per cent of TV sets tuned in. He was fourth with 52.7 per cent a year ago.

Another example is Dragnet with 44.3 against 56.3 a year ago.

A big factor could be, of course, that some shows aren't as good as a year ago or that viewers are tiring of them. Nonetheless, the ratings necessary to win places in the top 10 have been substantially below last season.

Among newcomers to the charmed circle are George Gobel, Disneyland and an occasional color extravaganza.

Marion Marlowe Gets Two New $4,000 Gowns

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Pretty Marion Marlowe has two new $4,000 gowns — yeah, 4G's each—for her show at the Pierre Cotillion Room . . . and thereby hangs a clue to her future.

"The singing sweetheart of the Arthur Godfrey show" will return to the program after a month's leave, she tells me . . . and then she'll have a week off every month to play other top cities. Godfrey and CBS have already approved.

★ ★ ★ ★

"What the heck's in a dress that can cost $4,000, besides you?" I asked.

"Imported chantilly lace, embroidery, bugle beads and pearls."

"Real pearls?"

"I'm not that rich! With those expensive costumes, I'll have to work every day on TV for the next four years to pay for them."

★ ★ ★ ★

Serge Rubenstein once said it would be "good business" if he could publicly meet Archduke Otto of Hapsburg—and agreed to give $1,000 to an Austrian charity if it could be arranged. They went to the same restaurant, sat at separate tables, and on the way out, Rubinstein was presented to His Majesty, who was cordial. Rubinstein sent around a check for only $500, however.

"That's all you're going to get," Rubinstein said, when an indignant protest came in, "because he only said hello—he didn't shake my hand."

★ ★ ★ ★

Benny Baker was in Buffalo with "South Pacific"—and a critic wrote that the Motorama was the best show in town. Benny told the critic, "I'm sure Rodgers and Hammerstein will be glad to hear that."

RENEE ROY

The President of a South American country is very short . . . and so are his aides. His government has unofficially protested that the U. S. points up his shortness by always sending lanky, 6-foot Ambassadors.

★ ★ ★ ★

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Sammy Davis Jr. will sue for $500,000 for that auto accident . . . Joe DiMaggio and Marilyn are seeing each other again, and took at least one auto ride together over the weekend.

The Dan Dailey-Gwen O'Connor wedding was a sudden decision; the marriage bands they bought at The Sahara kept slipping off during the ceremony . . . Renee Roy, last year's "Miss New York City," is touring with "The Fifth Season."

★ ★ ★ ★

Sneak previews of "Marty," the new Hecht-Lancaster movie, are the hottest attraction in town. The other night Grace Kelly, Shelley Winters, Rita Gam and the Fred Allens were among those exclaiming about the picture.

Earl's Pearls . . .

The last time a woman pays attention to what a man's saying is when he proposes.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "Nothing is as misleading as a woman's facts—unless it's her figure."—Joe (Spindletop) Marsh.

"I have a very kind janitor," says Roger Price. "When it's cold he comes up and helps me bang on the radiator." That's earl, brother.

London Model Waits in Texas for Sailor Beau

KERRVILLE, Tex. (AP) — There's a pretty young girl from London waiting on a hill country ranch for a Texas sailor who vows he's going to woo and win her for a bride.

The sailor, Lloyd Parker, met Maureen Tooze, 19, of Arundel, Sussex, on shore leave at Portsmouth, England, last year.

But he was going to sea in a few days, and he didn't have time to court the vivacious young model.

So he begged her to come visit his sister on the ranch in south central Texas until he is discharged this December. Then, he promised, he'd try to convince her she should marry him.

Maureen, the daughter of a retired British army captain, finally agreed—after a long exchange of letters from all parties.

"But we aren't actually engaged," she said of Parker. "In fact, we've had only a very few dates.

"I've been here since November of last year. I'm going to definitely stay on the ranch until Lloyd comes home."

Does she think she'll marry him?

"Well," she laughed, "he has a chance."

Parker, on duty in Cuba, telephones his sister Mrs. Ruth Leclare frequently.

"You'd better hurry, boy," his sister told him on his last call. "These hill country cowpokes keep dropping in for visits on the flimsiest excuses."

Battle Creek Teachers Will Get $300 Raise

BATTLE CREEK (AP) — Battle Creek's 389 public school teachers will receive a $300 across-the-board salary increase for the 1955-56 school year.

The new salary schedule, voted by the Battle Creek School Board, also raises the maximum and minimum salaries by $300. Teachers with a bachelor's degree will be paid $3,700 to $5,400 and those with a master's degree will get $3,900 to $5,700.

The board also promised a $150 salary boost for every teacher for the 1956-57 school year.

Three Granted Asylum

GUATEMALA (AP) — Three men accused of helping plot an unsuccessful one-day revolt here Jan. 20 are scheduled to leave today for El Salvador after being granted safe conduct. The three, Col. Francisco Cosenza, Jorge Micheo and Cadet Jose Hernandez, took sanctuary in the Salvador Embassy after the revolt.

Second 'Death' Proves Fatal to Cardiac Patient

EL MONTE, Calif. (AP) — Harry Apperson Jones, 67, was in a hearse en route to a mortuary last Sept. 1 when he revived and persuaded the driver to take him to a hospital.

A chronic sufferer from a heart condition, Jones had been pronounced dead by a doctor.

Last night Jones suffered another heart attack. And this time he was not revived. His body was taken to the same mortuary for which he started last September.

Bells Ring for Belle, 100

Fraternity Put on Probation in Coed Hazing

DENVER (AP) — Denver University's Interfraternity Council placed its Kappa Sigma chapter on probation and ordered its top officers to resign yesterday as the result of a fraternity "hazing" of 10 coeds.

The stern action stems from an incident Monday in which the girls, all members of Alpha Chi Omega sorority, were "tried" at the fraternity house for allegedly having stolen the fraternity's plaque and crest.

As punishment, fraternity members painted the Kappa Sigma insignia on the foreheads of four of the girls and on the panties of a fifth.

Council investigators found the coeds were forced from their sorority house to the fraternity.

In the raid on the sorority house, one of the girls was dropped on her head and knocked unconscious. Another girl suffered a sprained ankle when a car door was slammed on it.

GOP Congressmen Wooing Ike's Aides

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Thye (R-Minn) said today a group of Republican congressmen is trying to promote party unity behind President Eisenhower's program by establishing close informal contacts with administration officials.

Thye said the group has had meetings thus far with White House staff members and with Justice Department representatives in an effort to shoulder a role in the formation of policies. The legislators, he said, would like to "know what is coming" when new administration proposals are made to Congress.

Son of State Couple Dies in Plane Crash

BIG SPRING, Tex. (AP)—Webb Air Force Base last night identified an aviation cadet killed in the crash of his trainnig plane last night as Herbert D. Washburn, 22, Crescent City, Calif.

Washburn's T28 propeller type plane crashe dand burned on a ranch 10 miles south of here during a routine training flight. He was to have graduated in May.

The Air Force said Washburn's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Douglas D. Washburn of St. Clair Shores, Mich.

What Americans call "moose" is known in earlier British usage as "elk" and what Americans call "elk" the British call "red deer."

India Reds Eying Control of 1 State

MADRAS, India (AP) — Communists hope to win control of one of India's 29 states in elections starting tomorrow. They have at least a chance to do so.

The polling in Andhra state will take place in different sections over a 17-day period. Counting of ballots is due to start March 1.

Opposing the Communists is Prime Minister Nehru's Congress party.

Congressmen and Communists have been battling right down the line, each pouring money and energy into the electoral fight. National political figures, movie stars, parades, torchlight marches, street-corner rallies and mass public meetings have marked the campaign.

British Gate to China Is World's Tax-Free Bargain Basement

HONG KONG (NEA)—This is the tax-free bargain basement of the world.

Every week hundreds of American servicemen in bell-bottoms and Korean battle dress, pockets loaded with long-saved money, let the Indian and Chinese merchants vie with each other in a never-ending price reduction war.

In fabulous Hong Kong, you have your choice of 100 tailors who will whip up a suit and a cashmere sport coat for one-fourth Stateside price in the length of time it takes you to down a few beers or highballs—provided free while you wait.

In this city of commerce, an open port where anything goes, there are no restrictions on money and you can swap anything for greenbacks.

This circumvents the U.S. government's expensive and unwieldy program of issuing Military Payment Certificates to all servicemen in Japan, Korea and Okinawa in order to keep greenbacks from falling into Communist hands.

Here in Hong Kong, regular U.S. dollars constantly flow through the largest bank in the area, Bank of China, owned and operated by Chinese Communists.

The daily rate of exchange, which changes somewhat from hour to hour, also provides that you can illegally buy military certificates in Hong Kong, getting $1.35 value for $1. (It is, of course, illegal to have these certificates in possession outside Korea, Japan or Okinawa.)

Moreover, you can buy Japanese yen at the rate of Y420 for U.S. $1, instead of the current rate of Y360 in Japan.

The old city also boasts of the last vestige of British colonialism. Regimental bands parade down King George street twice a week, just to keep the natives in line, whether they need it or not—and retired colonels sip pink gin through drooping mustaches.

Hong Kong is a city of political intrigue. Hundreds of free-lance and full-time spies will peddle a rumor, a cargo or an intelligence report for the price of a day at the races.

But when the races or football are on, everything—even spy work—stops. British rules.

Here East meets West literally, and bamboo really grows at the dividing line, where, with the right papers, you can board a train on this side and be delivered in the same car to north of the border.

This is a curious hole in the Iron Curtain which is maintained for the convenience of both the Communists and the British.

After trade, legitimate and illegitimate, with Red China, the second big boon to Hong Kong is the influx of American servicemen.

The 7th Fleet uses the city as a recreation port and sailors call it the best liberty port in the world.

Since this part of the Pacific is currently an American lake, there are always several American ships anchored in the channel—the big ones anchor with steamup, headed for the open sea, just in case.

From Japan, Okinawa and Korea, soldiers pour in by special planes and boats.

Latest gimmick, invented by the Indians to draw American patronage, is serving cocktails free in tailor shops.

"Have a drink," is the salesman's greeting, whether you enter a shop at 9 a.m. or 9 p.m. They work around the clock.

One man who accepted a martini early in the day found that seven martinis later, he had ordered seven suits.
