

Wednesday, November 24, 2004

Children invited to Winter Wonderland

By Rebecca Wyatt, OU Web Writer

Children of Oakland University student, faculty and staff are invited to campus to celebrate the holidays at a free holiday-themed carnival.

The annual event features different booths staffed by student volunteers and organizations. The children can decorate cookies, visit Santa, make ornaments, participate in a prize-walk, listen to holiday stories and sing carols.

"We're doing the wonderland as an opportunity for students, faculty and staff to bring their families to the university for a family oriented event," said Sara Crampton, coordinator of student leadership development.

Winter Wonderland is from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 4, in the Oakland Center Gold Rooms. A light lunch and refreshments will be provided.

For more information, contact the Center for Student Activities at (248) 370-2400 or csa@oakland.edu.

SUMMARY

Children of Oakland University student, faculty and staff are invited to campus to celebrate the holidays at a free holiday-themed carnival. The annual event features different booths staffed by student volunteers and organizations. The children can decorate cookies, visit Santa, make ornaments, participate in a prize-walk, listen to holiday stories and sing carols.

Created by CareTech Administrator (webservices@caretechsolutions.com) on Wednesday, November 24, 2004
Modified by CareTech Administrator (webservices@caretechsolutions.com) on Wednesday, November 24, 2004
Article Start Date: Tuesday, November 30, 2004