Traffic Mishap Fatal for Pontiac Teacher

Two Oakland County residents, one a pedestrian, died in weekend traffic accidents.

A Pontiac school teacher, Mrs. Louise H. Norton, 50, of 322 W. South Blvd., Rochester, died at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital last night of injuries received when she was struck down by a car on South Blvd., near Rochester road.

Higgins Advises on Parking Need

Recalls Ferndale Plan; Also Favors Downtown Courthouse Site

Former State Senator George Higgins made some comments on off-street parking recently which will be of interest to downtown Pontiac businessmen and to the committee which is studying methods of stimulating business in the downtown area.

Higgins is chairman of the Michigan Turnpike Authority. He is also a highly successful businessman who has operated his own business on Woodward avenue in Ferndale for many years.

"Ferndale acted early to provide more off-street parking," he told a Pontiac Press representative recently, "because the tremendous traffic along Woodward avenue, so much closer to Detroit, affected us years earlier than it did the businessmen in Pontiac."

"We did one thing which Pontiac still may be able to do. We felt it was vitally important to provide parking for the customer just as close to our places of business as possible."

"Wherever possible we secured land immediately behind the stores. If buildings not too costly already occupied the land, it was bought up anyway, and the buildings were torn down."

"When threatened with a state ban on parking along Woodward avenue, we sat down with state officials and pointed out to them the devastating effect such a change would have on Ferndale business and on business property values."

For Western Division Title Lions Will Battle 49ers

Detroit Lions will meet San Francisco 49ers next Sunday at San Francisco in a playoff for the National Football League western division title. The 49ers defeated Green Bay Packers 27 to 20 yesterday after the Lions had defeated the Chicago Bears, 21 to 13 in a thrilling second-half comeback at Chicago.

While San Francisco and Detroit were winning their final league games, the Baltimore Colts lost to the Los Angeles Rams to break what had been a triple tie for first place.

Reports on the games will be found on today's Sports pages.

Detroit Ponders Finance Report

51-Man Survey Paints Gloomy Picture of the Economic Future

DETROIT (INS)—Members of the Detroit Common Council and officials of Wayne County are getting ready to give a long, hard look to a massive report on the city's financial condition.

The report, compiled after a year's study by a special 51-man committee, was given by Mayor Louis C. Miriani Saturday.

It painted a gloomy picture of Detroit's economic future if the 30 per cent assessment on personal property is not lowered, took a dim view of Detroit's tendency to finance projects through bonds, said it found the city's two retirement systems $25 million dollars in the hole, and suggested secession from Wayne County or a consolidation with the county.

Mayor Miriani said he believes Detroit "is in serious financial difficulty."

He set a meeting for tomorrow with seven of the city's top financial experts. Meanwhile, he ordered the heads of city departments to look for ways to cut corners in their operations.

The committee of industrialists and businessmen is headed by banker Joseph M. Dodge. It was set up by the late Mayor Albert E. Cobo.

Council President Mary V. Beck, after a hasty reading of the seven-volume report, took exception with the committee's finding that Detroit's tax assessment policy "places a disproportionate burden" on industry and business.

Ike Chats With NATO Chiefs Before Starting His Speech

rad Adenauer and Italian Premier Adone Zoli were the only two who put on earphones to listen to the President's speech in French translation.

At a news conference later, Hagerty said in response to questions he personally counted four Eisenhower "fluffs" in delivery of the speech. But Hagerty added that he told the President afterward "that was at least two less than on an average broadcast from the White House."

Hagerty called the "fluffs" perfectly natural and indicated he feels the President's speech was no different than it was before his illness.

The President laughed. Hagerty reported, about his difficulty with the word "abhorrent." The press secretary quoted Eisenhower as saying with a chuckle: "That word abhorrent—I never could get it out."

The press secretary reported the President "feeling very chipper on return to the American Embassy."

PARIS (INS)—The NATO summit meeting is big on both the working side and the side of the working press.

Some 285 diplomats are on hand in the great conference hall of the Palais de Chaillot during the big meetings of the chiefs-of-government of the NATO powers.

But the diplomats are outnumbered nearly seven-to-one by newsmen.

A total of 1,832 reporters, photographers, radio and TV men have been accredited to cover the conferences and report the news to the world.

At the news conference held Sunday by NATO Secretary General Paul-Henri Spaak, an even dozen television and newsreel cameras were turned on the Belgian diplomat, as some 600 reporters crowded around and stood on chairs to hear his words.

The scene was so much like a stage set that one observer noted that "the date of this ought to be Hollywood instead of Paris."

Nearly three-quarters of a million dollars worth of television equipment has been installed to carry the open sessions onto screens throughout the headquarters building.

One 17-foot TV screen was installed in a big news conference room to permit reporters to see the public sessions.

One wall of the conference hall is covered by a huge map of the world. On another is a big blow-up photograph of the view of the Eiffel Tower from the Palais.

Report Countdown Started on 3rd Test Firing of Atlas

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The countdown that precedes a missile launching reportedly was under way today, preparatory to the test firing of America's Atlas intercontinental ballistic weapon.

There was no official word that the third attempt to launch an Atlas might be in progress.

The Atlas normally requires a countdown of about 10 hours. However, there is no strict timetable.

Watchers from back four to five miles away from the heavily guarded launching area noted great activity around the Atlas stands, where men worked under floodlights through the night.

Two of the giant missiles were visible in their stands. These may be the ones which were given static tests last week.

In addition to the firing expected today, another Atlas launching is believed likely toward the end of the week.

Two previous test launchings of the Atlas were held last summer and last fall.

In both instances the missile got into the air. Before it could get fully under way, however, it started to wobble and change course and had to be blown apart.

The Atlas is designed to deliver a hydrogen warhead over an arc reaching as high as 600 miles above the earth to a target 5,000 miles or more from its launching

GOP Testimonial Dinner Planned for January 20

A $50-a-plate testimonial dinner honoring President Eisenhower will be held at Pontiac Elks Temple Jan. 20 under the auspices of the Oakland County Republican Committee.

The banquet will be one of many held that night throughout the nation to pull money into GOP state and national coffers.

A special feature will be a closed circuit television address by the President, said Merritt D. Hill, chairman of the Pontiac banquet.

Hill is general manager of the Ford Motor Tractor and Implement Division in Birmingham.

Tells Conference Times Demand 'Heroic Efforts'

But Affirms U.S., Allies Ready to Join Russia in Peace Action

PARIS (AP)—In a bid to reassert strong American leadership President Eisenhower told the Atlantic Alliance today mighty new forces are beginning to "cast a pall over our world."

He called for heroic efforts to match Russia's space-age military challenge "while the margin of power is still ours."

Eisenhower coupled his grim but apparently confident demand for action with a declaration that the United States and its allies stand ready to join Russia in an effort to bring the forces threatening the world "under rational control." But until that can be done, the Allies must employ their strength "to sustain peace and freedom."

"The forces arrayed against us are formidable but not irresistible," Eisenhower declared to the first heads-of-government session to be held by the 8-year-old North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

For the public opening session of the conference of 15 member nations, Eisenhower and the other government chiefs sat at a circular table in the conference room

Down to Business

PARIS (INS)—The afternoon session of the NATO chiefs of government meeting began in Paris at 3:35 p.m. (9:35 a.m. EST). It was a closed working meeting after the formal opening ceremonies in the morning.

at the Palais de Chaillot, NATO headquarters in Paris. The table was covered with blue felt.

IKE DOMINATES

The President, who had a slight stroke only three weeks ago, was easily the dominant figure at the table. His task was to reestablish American leadership after Russia's Sputnik and missile triumphs, to win the European allies to a new defense strategy based on nuclear missiles and to revitalize the unity of NATO.

In advance of the opening speech, he already had met privately with Macmillan and French Premier Felix Gaillard.

Eisenhower addressed his remarks to the council but they were directed toward a worldwide audience, including Russia. He said at one point the free world is willing to join Russia in bringing the new weapons of mass destruction under control.

But to the United States and its allies he declared "false" thoughts of which we have all been more or less guilty "must be abandoned. Among these he included the belief that freedom was inherently more productive than communism and the assumption that "the triumph of freedom over despotism is inevitable."

FACE IS FAST

"We are in a fast-running current of the great stream of history," the President said.

"Heroic efforts will long be needed to steer the world toward true peace."

Leaders of the NATO nations listened intently as the President spoke in a loud, emphatic voice. The room was packed with diplomats and correspondents.

The President spoke sitting down. He made only a few insignificant departures from his prepared text. He prefaced his speech with brief extemporaneous remarks thanking Gaillard and Luxembourg Prime Minister Joseph Bech, the chairman of the NATO council meeting, for their opening greetings, and added, "In particular, I appreciate your good wishes about my health."

SPEECH NORMAL

Eisenhower read his 2,000-word speech at his usual rapid pace. He chewed up a number of words and repeated many, but that is the way he habitually speaks. There was little, if any, evidence of speech defect due to his stroke Nov. 25.

This first major policy speech by the recently ailing Eisenhower, who has impressed Paris with his vigor and determination after his recent mild stroke, was almost entirely inspirational.

It was to be followed later in the day by another statement, offering U.S. intermediate-range missiles to the European allies along with stockpiles of American-controlled nuclear warheads.

The President was expected to argue that only by thus arming Allied forces to meet the strategic needs of the missile era can they hope to balance growing Russian might and guard their own security.

The NATO opening took place in a better political atmosphere than had existed here at the end of last week. Eisenhower had soothed French fears about U.S. policy in North Africa. West Germany despite objections was expected to go along with a start on the missile rearmament of NATO. It seemed likely the summit meeting by Wednesday would produce some accomplishments.

Eisenhower said the meeting "is unique in history" and went on: "We are here to re-dedicate ourselves to the task of dispelling the shadows that are being cast upon the free world. We are here to take store of our great assets—in men, in minds, and in materials. We are here to find ways and means to apply our undoubted strengths to the building of an ample and safer home for mankind here on earth."

"Freedom has not failed us," he said, "surely we shall not fail freedom."

Florida Ready to Put Embargo on Citrus Fruit

LAKELAND, Fla. (U.P.)—The Florida Citrus Commission was to meet before sunrise today to put the finishing legal touches on declaring an embargo on all fresh fruit shipments and for oranges destined for conversion into frozen concentrate.

The commission decided Saturday to order a ban on fresh fruit shipments at 7 a.m. tomorrow and on oranges for concentrate at 3 p.m. Tuesday.

State citrus regulations require the commission to meet within 12 hours after a freeze to adopt a resolution for an embargo. The time limit was up this morning. Purpose of the embargo is to prevent frozen fruit from being utilized. An estimated 30 per cent of all citrus was frozen last week in one of the hardest freezes since Dec. 11, 1934.

Woman Driver Injured as Car Overtakes on Ice

A woman driver was injured at 2 a.m. today when her car skidded on ice and turned over.

Barbara McCarthy, 31, of 5830 Southview, Waterford Township, told Pontiac police she was going about 35 miles an hour on Walton, near Perry, when the accident occurred.

She was treated for knee lacerations at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital.

What connection is there between the dewpoint and dew? There is only an indirect connection. The dewpoint does not control the formation of dew, though when the dewpoint is near the actual temperature, dew will form more quickly under proper conditions.

The dewpoint is that temperature at which the moisture in the air will reach the saturation point. In other words, if the temperature is ninety and the dewpoint eighty-five, a cooling of the air by five degrees will bring it to the verge of precipitation.

Dew will form, on a clear night, when the air is cooled sufficiently so that it deposits its moisture, but dew does not fall. It collects on things just as a glass of ice water in summer cools air touching it collects moisture on the outside of the glass—from the air.

Beck Released on $3,000 Bond

New Trial Sought for Teamsters Boss After Larceny Conviction

SEATTLE (U.P.)—Dave Beck, president of the Teamsters Union, is free on $3,000 bond following his conviction in Superior Court of embezzling $1,900 from the sale of a union-owned Cadillac.

The jury of five men and seven housewives returned its verdict after 8 hours and 17 minutes of deliberation. Beck's attorney has filed a motion for a new trial.

A newspaper (the Seattle Times) said it had learned that Beck's attorneys will charge misconduct by jurors as a basis for seeking a new trial.

The jury found the 63-year-old Beck guilty of grand larceny. He faces a maximum sentence of 16 years in prison. There has been no indication when sentence will be passed.

When the verdict was read Saturday afternoon, Beck stared fixedly at a wall. Later, as he raced down seven flights of stairs, he repeatedly called "no comment" to newsmen.

Conviction of Beck came exactly two weeks after his son, Dave Jr., 37, was found guilty on two counts of pocketing $4,405 from the sale of two other union-owned Cadillacs.

The Teamsters president is scheduled to go on trial next April in U. S. District Court at Tacoma on a charge of evading payment of $240,000 in federal income taxes for the years 1950-53.

Third Test Firing of Atlas Nearing point. Its average speed is 10,000 miles an hour.

In a test launching, however, the main purpose is to check the functioning of the various parts. The missile may be pre-set for a lesser altitude and a shorter range for better observation of its flight.

Although construction details are secret, the Atlas is believed to be about 70 feet long and 8 1/2 feet in diameter and to weigh some 100 tons at takeoff.

STAGES

It consists of three stages and is powered by three rocket engines.

That main Atlas engine is believed to have a thrust of 135,000 pounds and the two booster engines are estimated at 100,000 pounds thrust each. The fuel consists of kerosene mixed with liquid oxygen.

The Atlas uses a complex ground-based radio-inertial guidance system and has inertial gyroscope elements aboard to keep it on course during any temporary loss of ground guidance.

In the operational missile that is used in combat, the nose cone contains, among other things, an atomic warhead and provision for arming and fusing.

The Atlas, which requires electric power to operate its guidance and control systems, is launched vertically in order to reduce the time spent close to the ground during takeoff, and because it is easier to build equipment to launch heavy vehicles vertically.

After its initial vertical climb the missile goes into a "programmed" turn toward the target. It is during this turn that the guidance system begins to function and continues to do so until the desired altitude, speed and angle are attained. Then a signal cuts off the propulsive power.

When power is no longer available, less than 10 minutes after takeoff, the missile goes into its free flight or ballistic trajectory, and can no longer be influenced, guided or controlled.

Detroit, Wayne Eye Report on Finances

She said she believed the statement was "without justification."

"Shifting the tax burden from business and industry to the householders would cause a greater increase in the exodus of Detroit families to suburban areas," she said.

The committee contended in its report that high assessments were hurting Detroit's industrial future.

The city should get on a pay-as-you-go basis, rather than turning to bond issues to finance projects, the committee said. It added that "development of new sources of revenue" might help the city's pocketbook but it offered no specific suggestions.

Charles F. Edgecomb, chairman of the Wayne County Board of Auditors, described as "ridiculous" the committee's suggestion that Detroit might pull out of Wayne County.

"This would only create new problems on top of the ones we already have," he said.

The committee said too much money is spent needlessly to pay for overlapping functions of the city and the county.

Traffic Accidents Claim 19 Lives Over Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Traffic accidents took at least 19 lives in Michigan over the weekend, one of the highest death tolls in recent weeks.

Some roads were slick. Light snow fell in Upper Michigan and much of lower Michigan got rain Sunday.

DIE IN CRASH

Four persons, three of them members of one family, were killed in a two-car crash Saturday night, the weekend's worst traffic accident.

Mrs. Louise Norton, 50, former Pontiac school teacher, was killed Sunday night when struck by a car near her home in Rochester.

Leroy Butler Jr., 29, Argo, Ill., was killed Sunday when his car and a truck collided near Douglas.

Belinda Carol Monhollen, 6-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Monhollen of Detroit, was killed Sunday night when her parents' car and another auto collided head-on near Erie, Mich. Her parents and an uncle, James Monhollen, 17, of Detroit, were seriously injured.

Three members of an Alma family—the father, mother and a 5-year-old child—were killed when another man in a two-car high-way crash Saturday night. The accident occurred near Caro.

Killed in one car were William Owen Smith, 37, his wife Dolly, 36, and their 5-year-old daughter Charlotte. Another daughter, 3-year-old Sherry Dean Smith, was hospitalized at Saginaw with serious injuries. Killed in the other car was Harold Bader, 33, of Mayville. He was alone.

The Smiths were driving home from a funeral they had attended at Port Huron.

Shirley Tyler, 16, of Muskegon, was killed when struck by a car while walking east of Muskegon Sunday.

Lena Claudia, 73, of Adrian, was killed Saturday night when struck by a car while crossing an Adrian street.

Donald Beardsley, 57, of Detroit, was killed in a two-car accident in Southfield Township Saturday night.

Arthur Thome, 62, of Harwood, was killed Saturday night when his car hit a tree in Dickinson County.

Roscoe Calvin Sampson, 54, of Linden, was killed Saturday night when his car struck a tree in Genesee County.

Lester Brown, 23, of Plainwell, was killed when his car hit a tree.

The money will be used for Christmas baskets for needy Pontiac area families. The amount collected was $300 short of last year's drive.

Outbreak Puzzles Japanese

Family Goes Berserk

TOKYO (INS)—Six Japanese mental specialists today puzzled over a mass outbreak of insanity that apparently struck seven members of a Japanese family almost simultaneously.

Five members of the family have been admitted to a mental hospital in their home city of Tsu on Lake Biwa in southern Honshu while the other two are reportedly under observation.

Neighbors said that at noon one day last week the entire family of Fujisaburo Yamaguchi, a 59-year-old fish wholesaler, seemed to go berserk. They said the Yamaguchis were screaming and throwing things at one another.

Police were called and had to subdue the seven members forcibly.

Schone Offers to Resign From Disposal Authority

BIRMINGHAM — City Manager L. R. Gare tonight will recommend the request for the vacation of the easement at the rear of the YMCA property between Edgewood and Floyd streets. The Detroit Edison Co. has advised the commission that a new and suitable easement has been secured from the "Y" for the relocation of the Edison plant.

Commissioners also will consider the resignation of former city manager, Harold K. Schone, as Birmingham representative on the Board of Trustees for the North Evergreen Sewage Disposal Authority and also as its representative director of public works for the county.

In his letter Schone stated that he felt there is a strong possibility that the County DFW will take over the authority's responsibilities and that he feels his present position will be unnecessary.

Mayor Donald N. McPherson of Berkeley has sent a notice and invitation to Birmingham city officials concerning a Michigan Health Department meeting Jan. 9. Berkeley will host the area session at which time the state health department will explain the pollution problem in this section.

Donald N. Pierce and W. F. Shepard of the health department will outline this, and state what additional sewers will and will not be allowed.

Birmingham police and fire chiefs join in a seasonal plea for extreme caution during the gayest and most hazardous holiday season of the year. Park Smith, fire chief, asks home owners to take every caution in the use of Christmas and home decorations. Smith points out that no caution can be too great.

Police Chief Ralph Moxley, speaking for the Police Department, said again that winter driving conditions should be kept in mind. "Early darkness, the possibility of slippery streets and a sharp increase in pedestrian traffic carries us into an extremely dangerous situation," he said.

Be careful and be merry, the chiefs advised.

The annual Christmas party and dinner for the Birmingham-Bloomfield Hills Zonta Club will be held at 7 p.m. tomorrow at the Ruth Shain room at the Community House.

Besides singing carols and a gift exchange, members will pack two Christmas baskets for distribution to a needy family.

Birmingham Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, will hold a special meeting at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the Masonic Temple. There will be an initiation of officers.

James Robinson, 53, of 18855 Hillcrest Blvd., died Sunday at Northwest Grace Hospital.

Mr. Robinson was chief engineer for Vickers, Inc. He had been with Vickers 28 years.

He belonged to the Birmingham First Presbyterian Church, the Plum Hollow Golf Club, the Society of Automotive Engineers, the Engineering Society of Detroit, the Industrial Mathematics Society, The American Society of Mechanical Engineers and the American Society of Tool Engineers.

Inspiring Helen Keller Describes First Yule

(Until she was seven years old, the blind, deaf and dumb Helen Keller had no conception of the Yuletide season. Then Anne Sullivan became her teacher. Miss Keller, who now is secretary of international relations, American Foundation for Overseas Blind, describes her first real Christmas in Tuscomb, Ala., in 1887.)

By HELEN KELLER

The first Christmas after Miss Sullivan came to Tuscomb was a great event. Every one in the family prepared surprises for me, but what pleased me most, Miss Sullivan and I prepared surprises for everybody else.

The mystery that surrounded the gifts was my greatest delight and amusement. My friends did all they could to excite my curiosity by hints and half-spelled sentences which they pretended to break off in the nick of time.

KEEP UP GAME

Miss Sullivan and I kept up a game of guessing which taught me more about the use of language than any set lessons could have.

Ike's Stakes High at Paris

Now Leading Drive to Revitalize NATO Union After His Stroke

PARIS (AP)—For President Eisenhower, still convalescing from his mild stroke, the stakes are high at the NATO summit conference.

Just three weeks ago today he was stricken in Washington with a brain artery blockage. Now, after bouncing back with surprising speed, he is leading a drive to revitalize the anti-Communist North Atlantic Alliance, which he helped forge in 1951-52.

His prestige as America's president and as NATO's first supreme commander in Europe—a post he gave up 5½ years ago—is on the line as he seeks to bolster free world defenses in the face of the Russian space-era challenge.

Parisians, getting their first look at Eisenhower since he was NATO commander here, are amazed that he has traveled toward recovery so swiftly. People in the streets and French and other Allied officials frequently remark: "You never would know he has been ill."

Actually there are signs remaining of his illness, notably a slight speech impairment, and he still is under close watch of the White House physician, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, who is here with him.

On Saturday, when he stepped from his plane after a 16-hour transatlantic flight, he appeared tired, but he spruced up swiftly, and the Eisenhower smile flashed broadly.

Eisenhower's speech at the airport was his first since he was stricken. The doctors reported last week his speech difficulty had just about cleared up, but some observers detected a slight indication of it several times Saturday.

Ear Expert Says Many Hi-Fi Fans Can't Listen to It

LOS ANGELES (AP)—An ear specialist says a lot of people who buy expensive hi-fi sets can't hear what they're paying for.

Most sets produce sounds well beyond the hearing limit of all but the sharpest human ear, says Dr. Aram Glorig, a professor at the University of Southern California's School of Medicine.

The professor advises prospective purchasers of high fidelity sets to have their hearing tested before they buy. Otherwise, he says, hi-fi for them may just mean hi-fi-nance.

done. Every evening, seated round a glowing wood fire, we played our guessing game, which grew more and more exciting as Christmas approached.

On Christmas Eve the Tuscomb schoolchildren had their tree, to which they invited me. In the center of the schoolroom stood a beautiful tree ablaze and shimmering in the soft light, its branches loaded with strange, wonderful fruit. It was a moment of supreme happiness.

I danced and capered round the tree in an ecstasy. When I learned that there was a gift for each child, I was delighted, and the kind people who had prepared the tree permitted me to hand the presents to the children.

BEYOND CONTROL

In the pleasure of doing this, I did not stop to look at my own gifts; but when I was ready for them, my impatience for the real Christmas to begin almost got beyond control. I knew the gifts I already had were not those of which friends had thrown out tantalizing hints, and my teacher said the presents I was to have would be even nicer than these.

I was persuaded, however, to content myself with the gifts from the tree and leave the others until morning.

That night, after I had hung my stocking, I lay awake a long time, pretending to be asleep and keeping alert to see what Santa Claus would do when he came. At last I fell asleep with a new doll and a white bear in my arms.

Next morning it was I who waked the whole family with my first "Merry Christmas!" I found surprises, not in the stocking only, but on the table, on all the chairs, at the door, on the very window-sill; indeed, I could hardly walk without stumbling on a bit of Christmas wrapped up in tissue paper. But when my teacher presented me with a canary, my cup of happiness overflowed.

Little Tim was so tame that he would hop on my finger and eat candied cherries out of my hand. Miss Sullivan taught me to take all the care of my new pet. Every morning after breakfast I prepared his bath, made his cage clean and sweet, filled his cups with fresh seed and water from the well-house, and hung a spray of chickweed in his swing.

One morning I left the cage on the window-seat while I went to fetch water for his bath. When I returned I felt a big cat brush past me as I opened the door. At first I did not realize what had happened; but when I put my hand in the cage and Tim's pretty wings did not meet my touch or his small pointed claws take hold of my finger, I knew that I should never see my sweet little singer again.

Let's Declare War on Winter Accidents

"Old Man Winter" has arrived for sure.

Driving conditions from now on can be treacherous, and in many instances accidents could be avoided by observing a few winter driving rules.

The highways and roads for the rest of the winter will be dry only intermittently. Since this is the case, by following a few simple rules we can all avoid some unnecessary accidents.

Winter driving is hazardous at best.

It is up to you. When you winterize your car, take a minute or so and winterize your driving techniques. It's really pretty simple. Check the roads and weather conditions before you start out.

Be prepared for poor traction. You're going to have plenty of it during the next few months. Check your tires and be sure you have plenty of treads. For severe snow and ice conditions, be sure you have a set of reinforced tire chains in your trunk and use them when needed.

Keeping windshields and windows clear is of utmost importance at this time of year. Check your wiper blades, your heater, and see that your defroster is operating properly. Ventilate to keep the inside of your windows from fogging.

Get the "feel" of the road. Try your brakes occasionally while driving slowly and away from traffic to find out if the road is slippery. Then you can adjust your speed to road and weather conditions.

Don't crowd the car in front; follow at a safe distance. Keep well back of the vehicle ahead so that you will have plenty of room to stop. Without tire chains it takes three to twelve times as far to stop on snow or ice as it does on dry pavement. You may find it hard to explain why you couldn't stop when the other fellow did.

Pumping your brakes is another technique you should acquire. To stop quickly on snow or ice while maintaining full control of your car can be accomplished by a fast up and down pumping of your brakes. Jamming and freeing on your brakes is almost certain to lock your wheels. This will throw your car into an uncontrollable and dangerous skid.

The best rule of all is BE ALERT! and DRIVE CAREFULLY.

NATO May Discuss Cyprus and Algeria

Two knotty internal problems are likely to be discussed at the coming Paris NATO meeting which President EISENHOWER fortunately will be able to attend.

One is the question of Algerian independence. France's adoption of a new law providing home rule on a regional basis is a new approach welcomed by the Allies.

The other problem concerns the British Crown Colony of Cyprus. The Greek government, under pressure of inflamed public opinion and threatened defeat, has been forced to side with the Greek Cypriote demand for the right of self-determination.

Time and events have lessened the importance of Cyprus to the British. Turkey, who at one time owned the island just 40 miles off her coast, wants either no change in the government or a partition of the island.

Britain will accept any solution agreeable to Greece, Turkey and the Cypriotes, including self-determination within a fixed time, self-government, guaranteed independence or condominium between Turkish and Greek Cypriotes. The main concern of the British is protection of the Turkish minority.

The new British Governor of Cyprus, Sir Hugh Foot, is a skilled negotiator who helped form the new West Indian Federation. It is to be hoped that his efforts will help bring about some reasonable settlement in the Eastern Mediterranean among these NATO Allies.

The Man About Town Christmas Lights

Local Residential Contest Is Picking Up Many Entries

Holiday: Of which Christmas should be the most joy filled.

Word comes to me directly from Chairman

Bob Norberg of the Christmas residential lighting contest of the Pontiac Junior Chamber of Commerce, that the first three entries have been enrolled. They are

Thomas M. Bartle of 35 North Ardmore St.;

Paul Lehigh of 42 North Ardmore St. and Arthur J. Goyette of 202 West Russell St. Many others are coming and the Jaycees hope to make our residential sections resplendent with Christmas glory.

Five thousand Oakland County bred turkeys were reserved by their growers, The Travis Farms

In Addison Township, for the Christmas trade.

There's an Oakland County angle to the inauguration at Lansing Jan. 4 of some men to fill vacancies in state offices. It is being made a big occasion for an off year, and Deputy State Treasurer

Charles Lents of Holly is in charge of the program.

Some of the most energetic Sputnik chasers in the Pontiac area are Boy Scouts, including Bill Pascher, who has the reputation of wanting to know (and finding out) just what's going on.

A phone call from Mrs. Abner Flewelling of Rochester suggests that we do our full share in facilitating the collection and delivery of the Christmas mail. Keep our mail boxes and the approaches to them in good condition, and see how the cooperation is appreciated.

It wasn't such a bad typographical error when the item about Adlai E. Stevenson as the bell-cow of the Democratic party had it "cow-bell."

A newspaper clipping of 50 years ago sent me by Francis Billmeyer of Birmingham, shows that 16 Michigan deer hunters were killed by gunfire in the 1907 season, far more lost their lives that way this year. So, Mr. Billmeyer writes: "With several times the hunters on the range this year, we're not as bad as we're painted."

The TV set in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Josh Fellows in Drayton Plains went out of commission with a loud snap the other evening, and their three-year-old daughter, Maryalice, yelled, "Sputnik."

High Wages Won't Halt Recession

WASHINGTON — More pay for less work! Fewer days in the work week at even higher pay than before! More and more overtime pay for all the other days of the week!

This is what the AFL-CIO convention has just proposed as a cure for the current recession. It looks instead like the road of bankruptcy for many small businesses and a big increase in unemployment throughout America if any such program is adopted.

For the doctrine which, in every unemployment crisis, would supply "more purchasing power" sounds plausible, but it is illusory. The theory was applied in the 1930s, and it failed to bring recovery. The reason is that merely increasing the purchasing power of more and more consumers does not help the heavy-goods industries of the country. It doesn't bolster the whole economy.

This was discovered between 1933 and 1939 when, despite the leaf-raking and "made work" programs of the New Deal "to increase purchasing power," the unemployment figure after seven years was close to 10,000,000. It was only when World War II began and the heavy-goods industries in America were brought back into production that a noticeable decrease in unemployment occurred.

The excuse or argument made by the AFL-CIO leadership is that corporation profits are high. One look, however, at the four-quarter reports for 1957 will convince any fair-minded person that American business has gone into a tailspin. Insistence by union leadership at a time like this on moving costs upward can only mean forcing many smaller businesses to the wall.

As for the automobile industry, which has raised its prices recently due to high wage costs, there are already signs of buyers' resistance. Hence, if the auto workers' union insists on pushing the wage scales higher, the result can only be widespread unemployment among workers in automobile manufacturing plants and in the factories that produce parts and accessories.

PRODUCTIVITY SAME

If the increases in wages were accompanied by a corresponding increase in productivity, the story would be different. That has not happened in recent years and has been the chief cause of inflation and high prices. The theory is persistently advanced by American labor leaders today that more pay is due the workers irrespective of the amount of work done.

If the wages of the workers could be really related to profits at all times—and not just when profits are high—then logically

Room and facilities, my eye! If the house, flat or apartment is fit to live in, it is suitable for the advent of your baby as you can find in any hospital at any price. In your ignorance, or call it innocence if you prefer, you have been indoctrinated by the merchants of modern medicine who aim to keep childbirth a kind of major operation in the minds of prospective customers.

Having your baby at home, be it ever so humble, is a truly blessed event. Having your husband there with you to share in the miracle is an experience which parents can never forget.

Notwithstanding the stereotyped blab-blah the merchants of medicine give prospective customers about the equipment available at the hospital and the aseptic conditions that prevail there, the fact remains that childbirth is safer at home than it is in hospital, and the baby is less likely to be infected in the first week or two at home than in any 19th century lying-in institution — that is, a hospital that keeps the newborn infants in the show window.

In many cities now there are classes for prospective parents. Ask your physician.

After the third child, she attended a movie of the birth of a baby and for the first time realized "Oh, if only I could have seen that movie before I had my first baby! Why aren't there classes with realistic teaching about childbirth! Why are women sent to torture chambers?"

More eloquent than this woman's question is the fact that she still doesn't know what every prospective mother should know about childbirth. It is this ignorance, fostered by the 19th century lying-in institutions, that makes childbirth a casualty complete with the sights, sounds and odors associated with the hospital.

"The hospital won't let my husband stay with me and they'll tie my hands to that horrid table and force me . . ."

Well, nobody makes you go to the hospital. You choose to go there, don't you?

Yahbut 'our house is so small, we have no room and no facilities to have a baby at home, although I'd like to."

NO ROOM, MY EYE!

Room and facilities, my eye! If the house, flat or apartment is fit to live in, it is suitable for the advent of your baby as you can find in any hospital at any price. In your ignorance, or call it innocence if you prefer, you have been indoctrinated by the merchants of modern medicine who aim to keep childbirth a kind of major operation in the minds of prospective customers.

For no big industry can stand a costly strike. The employers are licked the day the big labor unions issue their demands. And the federal government stands by and lets this organized economic monopoly fix prices.

AFL-CIO insists usually that it is interested in the welfare of all the workmen but today it is getting ready to abandon at least 5,000,000 workers to unemployment and suffering.

It is demanding uneconomic increases in wages and unjustified reductions in the hours worked. Nobody in government today wants to interfere with the legitimate functions of labor unions, but the country is becoming alarmed over the abuse of power by labor leaders.

Today "collective bludgeoning" would be a more realistic term.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Childbirth—Blessed Event or 'Operation' in Hospital?

Voice of the People

'World Needs Santa Claus, Just as It Needs Christ'

The other day a minister in England said we don't need Santa Claus, that he is redundant and only Christ makes Christmas.

I pity a world without Santa Claus. As Christ is the holy embodiment of Christianity's spiritual aspects, so Santa Claus is the symbol of Christianity's human goodness.

He gives without thought of return and imposes no social or racial restrictions. Not even unassailable economic barriers can keep him from those who understand the true meaning of Christmas.

He understands our human frailties, and even those who are sometimes very bad he forgives and remembers. He looks upon this tangled world with a cheerful, happy attitude, even when it's easier to be discouraged with us.

He's the symbol of Christianity's goal of unselfish brotherly love and even if he is redundant, where is redundancy more welcome and more needed?

Thank God for him and long live Santa Claus!

Praises Program at Lincoln Junior

The Christmas spirit was all around Thursday evening when Lincoln Junior High presented its beautiful Christmas program. Jerry Smith, the director, is to be congratulated on the fine work he is doing with the young people at the school. Special thanks to all the other fine teachers who worked so hard to make this program a success. It was an evening well spent listening to good music.

Reader Apalled at Such Things

I just read of a nine-year-old girl in Lima, a rape victim, who was allowed to develop a full term pregnancy, and give birth to a six-pound boy. My blood runs cold when I think of the fiendish acts committed in the name of "God's will." Is this really 1957—or are we still in a medieval age with its ignorance and torture?

'How Can We Protect Lights?'

We decorated our two front trees with lights, but already someone got over our fence and stole everything from one tree. It's not the cost of the lights that bothers us. It's the idea of being right here at home and still having property stolen and destroyed.

There were two sets of tracks and we traced them to the next street. There are some pretty sharp operators out here and they're not small children, either. How do the people on Ardmore street protect their outside decorations?

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Can We Use 'Rattlesnake' Analogy?

How would you answer Marvin's query about the "rattlesnake" vs. the "turtle"? If we bankrupt Uncle Sam, he will be destroyed from within, and without the firing of a shot by his Communist foes. So it is just as patriotic to safeguard our economic resources as to win foreign wars. Rome, too, won its battles in Gaul but lost its freedom at home!

By Dr. GEORGE W. CRANE
Case W-373: Marvin G., aged 38, is a former Air Corps Officer. "Dr. Crane," he began, "I'd like to ask you a simple question. "Are people more afraid of a turtle or of a rattlesnake?" And I replied, "Rattlesnake."

"Correct," he continued, "so why should we waste billions of taxes maintaining obsolete 'turtles' like the infantry and even our tanks and artillery?"

"All we need to keep Russia at bay is to follow that analogy of the rattlesnake and maintain a lethal striking power by air."

"Air power is our military 'rattlesnake.' Our atom bombs and H-bombs are the venom in its 'fangs.' "To finance 1½ millions of foot soldiers, as we are now doing, is about as obsolete as to invest in bows and arrows."

"Let's cut down on our budget not only on handouts to foreign countries, but on unnecessary military expenditures at home."

nations who want Uncle Sam to furnish all the manpower and munitions to give them freedom.

Unless a country has the will to fight and the inner resolution to challenge dictatorship, we can't place freedom and liberty upon that nation from outside, as it were a coat or mantle.

So it might be wise for Congress to seek advice of American psychiatrists before we permanently bankrupt this great Republic, with our effort to "save the world" at its "free enterprise" system, in the expense of American taxpayers.

Make Egghead Popular in U.S.

Brainpower Will Rule in Tomorrow's World, Says Sen. Potter

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP)—The nation with the greatest reservoir of brainpower—predominately scientific and mathematical brainpower—will rule tomorrow's world, Sen. Potter (R-Mich.) told a college gathering today.

For this reason, he said, in a speech prepared for delivery before the Institute of Politics at Wooster College, Americans must make the egghead popular.

Money is not the answer to the shortage of scientists and engineers in the United States, he said.

"The problem of education must also be solved by hard thinking, hard work and self-discipline," he said.

He described the Russian Sputniks as products of a system that makes heroes of its scientists and engineers and a signal for the United States to have "less of the country club in the high school and college and more of the rigidity and discipline of the real halls of learning."

Convicted Slayer to Ask New Trial

LANSING (AP)—A petition requesting a new trial for Herman Barmore will be filed this week, his attorney said over the weekend.

Barmore, 44, was convicted of second degree murder in the slaying of 12-year-old Evanston, Ill., boy Scout Peter Gorham near a Muskegon area scout camp in July of 1955. He is serving life imprisonment.

John Boeschstein, Barmore's attorney, said he would petition for a new trial on two counts. He said one was that Circuit Judge Henry L. Beers of Muskegon erred in instructing the jury that they must agree on a verdict and that the judge should not have commented on testimony given in the case.

Turkey is the only country that has enacted special legislation instituting scholarships for child prodigies.

Ask Congress to Return Ike's Five-Star Rank

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Army Navy Air Force Journal has urged Congress to pass legislation permitting President Eisenhower to regain the five-star rank he held as Supreme Allied Commander in Europe in World War II after he leaves office.

The unofficial, but authoritative, publication pointed out that Eisenhower's name was erased from Army rolls when he voluntarily resigned in January, 1952, to run for the presidency.

The Journal said in an editorial that such action automatically deprived the President from benefits accruing to retired generals.

An Army spokesman pointed out the usual procedure is for generals of the Army to retain their rank and privileges even after leaving active duty.

Former chief executives receive no retirement pay.

Taj Mahal Is Memorial to a Wonderful Wife

AGRA, India (INS) — Arjumund Bano Begum was such a model wife that her husband built her the world's loveliest memorial, the Taj Mahal.

But she sure deserved it. In an age when women were kept behind walls, Arjumund Bano Begum set a record for making a wife a marriage partner instead of a possession.

And she did it while having 14 babies in 15 years of matrimony, and while putting up with her husband's other two wives and 600 concubines.

The lady entombed in the pearly marble Taj Mahal was born in 1592, daughter of a Persian nobleman in the court of the Moghul emperors who ruled India. She was 20, a dark-eyed beauty with a turned-up nose and small mouth, when she became the second wife of 21-year-old Prince, Shahjahan, son of the Emperor Jahangir.

The bearded, long-nosed Shahjahan was no sentimentalist. Among other things, he had insured his claim as heir to the throne by poisoning a brother. But he fell hook, line and sinker for his new bride.

When she presented him with children, especially since his other wives were barren, the prince made her his favorite wife. And he named her Mumtaz Mahal — "the ornament of the palace."

He broke all rules by taking her with him wherever he went, to palaces and battlefields. When he became "Emperor Shahjahan" in 1628, he made her "Keeper of the Seal."

This honor, unique for a woman, meant Mumtaz Mahal was in control of the royal treasury—a position held previously only by the most trusted man in the Imperial household.

Mumtaz Mahal, the name by which the empress is best known to history, kept her beauty and her hold on her husband in spite of her successive pregnancies.

She was still sharing his life completely when she died at 39, as the result of complications following the birth of her 14th child. Her death, on a hot battlefield in southern India, where Shahjahan was squashing a local revolt, sent him into a torment of grief.

He spent the next 18 years building her the tomb which became the seventh wonder of the world, the exquisite white Taj Mahal — "Crown Palace" on the banks of the River Jumna.

The famous mausoleum has been visited by millions, but few people know either Mumtaz Mahal's story or the old sequel to her life.

Of her 14 children, only six survived. And one of them, her fourth son Aurangzeb, grabbed the throne from his father in 1659, 28 years after her death. The son put his father under house arrest, and when Shahjahan died in 1666, Aurangzeb was too miserly even to build his father a tomb of his own.

Instead, he buried his father in the Taj Mahal, alongside his mother. But since Mumtaz Mahal is entombed in marble exactly in the center of the Taj, her husband was placed at her side in secondary position.

Grand Rapids Drivers Take Company Offer

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Bus drivers and maintenance men for the Grand Rapids city coach lines early today voted to accept a company offer and wave off a strike scheduled for this morning.

By a vote of 58 to 37, the members of Local 826 AFL-CIO Amalgamated Assn. of Streetcar, Motorcoach and Railway Union accepted an offer of six cents hourly increase, $1.25 increase in monthly company contributions to a pension fund and a six day work week. The union has sought a 10-cent hourly increase and a five day work week.

However, the offered increase, the company says depends upon the city commission's granting a passenger fare increase when it at 6:30 p.m. There will be a bingo game tomorrow. The company is asking the commission to charge five cents as a transfer fee. There is no transfer fee now.

James McGinnity, international representative for the union, said the workers also voted to strike tomorrow if the commission turns down the fare increase.

Early Yule Party Planned for Patients

About 100 patients of the Oakland County Infirmary will be treated to an early Christmas tomorrow at a party to be given them by Chrysler Corp. Mound Engine Plant employees and Local 889, UAW, of the plant. The party will be given at the infirmary at 2200 N. Telegraph Rd. from Iraq.

Iraqis to See Movie of U. S. Supermarket

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — The "Voice of America" has selected Stop & Shop Supermarket in Cambridge to represent America's food industry in a film to be shown in Iraq.

It was chosen, a Voice official said, because it "so admirably typifies the supermarket of today." Shots of the store will be in the film, which will show a day in the life of a Harvard exchange student from Iraq.

Long Ago Magic of Candle-Lit Tree Stirs Comparison of Old, New

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY

For a moment the small boy stood at the head of the stairs and shivered from cold and excitement. His glance flitted down the carpeted stairs to the high-ceiled entrance hall and darted past the stately grandfather's clock. And there it was—the tall Christmas tree, aglow with the soft, shining light of two dozen candles.

I was the small boy and that Christmas of long ago was the first one I can remember in much detail.

BURNED OUT

We had been burned out of our home and we were staying with

Aunt Kate, a plumpish, pinkish woman who never quite lost her youthful chuckle. In her home, the so-called hot air furnace never routed the winter's cold from the corners of the big house on the windy uplands, a few miles from the frozen Mississippi River.

I recall slipping from bed in the early morning on that Christmas Day and making my way, a bit unsteadily, to the tree. It was trimmed with strands of tinsel and strings of gaily colored bangles. But, clearest of all, I remember the nimbus of candle light.

Round eyes eventually perceived that the holders were attached to tree branches with snap-jaw clamps. Each candle had been lighted minutes earlier—by Santa Claus, of course. The little tongues of flames swayed and writhed and waved, and faint reflections waved back from the polished floor and woodwork and the shiny face of the grandfather's clock.

GIFTS OPENED

There were gifts to be opened and long, black, schoolboy stockings to be emptied of hard candy, nuts and oranges.

Then we set out for church. The house was on the fringe of town. To the north, where open fields lay, you could see only "a universe of sky and snow." We headed south along a path that wound through drifts as high as a small boy's chest.

(This year we probably will be up early and off to church. That custom is changeless. Then we'll come back to the big city apartment to watch the youngsters explore the stockings and inspect their presents.)

After church, there was a happy walk back through the snow to home and dinner—cooked on a ponderous, black kitchen range. Then a once-a-year treat: Christmas carols played on a talking machine.

(After dinner, we'll have peace in our household this year. Or what would be peace if "God Rest Ye, Merry Gentlemen" wouldn't come booming over the airwaves for the 29th time since Thanksgiving.)

When the Gramophone was put away, we sat back in peace; a pervading peace broken only by the crackle of shells bursting under the pressure of a silver nutcracker.

(If last year is a fair indication, Helen and Spence—our closest neighbors—will take the four strides across the apartment back porch this year for another exchange of white elephant gifts. A copy of "The Early Days of Rock Island and Davenport," to a man who wouldn't read it, for a riding boot hook, to a man who never has been on a horse. This will call for a drink of our whisky, and that for a drink of theirs. The spirit of the season and reciprocity soon will rule the sizable building and a revolving party will move merrily from apartment to apartment.)

DO-IT-YOURSELF

The do-it-yourself idea wasn't known, as such, in the old days. Folks just up and did what had to be done. Women cleaned the turkeys and baked fruit cakes and dozens of cookies. They indulged little girls who liked to fashion chains of colored paper to hang on the Christmas tree. And everybody fussed—and fumed—over the package wrapping ("Takes 20 minutes to do, and 20 seconds to undo.")

Now the Christmas pastries come in tin boxes from the supermarket and the parcels are delivered gift-wrapped from department stores.

The silent, spartan toy soldiers have gone with the small boys who handled them with firm but loving hands. They have been supplanted by whirling, flashing, smoking, whistling miniature railroads. The soft, cuddly biotch-bodied doll has been replaced by the scale-model doll house with four rooms and proportionate furniture.

We live in an era of tremendous technological progress, of course. But those stubby, multi-tubed bulbs never will catch and hold the eye like the symmetrical flames of candles.

Habemus Corpus literally means, "you may have the body."

Horsemen's Chapter Holds Yule Party

OXFORD — The Michigan chapter of the Professional Horsemen's Association held its annual Christmas party Saturday night at the American Veteran's Hall.

Frank Farro, president, spoke briefly before the 50 members.

Since its beginning six years ago, this group has done much to encourage interest among horse owners. It is particularly concerned with the encouragement of junior riders and helps support junior equestrian teams in hopes of developing future Olympic riders.

The PHA, a non-profit organization, also has donated funds to local projects. Last year it contributed to the Lapeer Hospital building fund.

Girard, Wife Arrive on West Coast Today

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — William S. Girard, with his Japanese wife, Haru (Candy), arrives here today from Japan aboard the USS Gen. A. E. Anderson. He is en route to Ft. Sheridan, Ill., for discharge from the Army on expiration of enlistment Jan. 27.

The 22-year-old soldier, convicted of killing a 46-year-old Japanese woman last month, was given a three-year suspended sentence and a three-year suspended sentence came international news after the U. S. Supreme Court ruled the Japanese court, not a U. S. military court, should try the case.

Luminous Hands Tell Story of Moses to Deaf

NEWARK, N. J. (AP) — The luminous hands of a pastor enabled more than 100 persons to "hear" as well as see the story of Moses last night.

The Rev. C. Roland Gerhold accompanied members of his congregation, St. Matthew's Lutheran Church for the Deaf, to a showing of "The Ten Commandments" and relayed the film's speaking parts by means of sign language.

Wearing luminous paint on his face, hands and arms, the 39-year-old pastor translated the film's message from a dais to the side of the Adams Theater here. An ultraviolet light trained on his hands illuminated the special paint without disturbing the rest of the audience.

Monkey Goes Shopping

WINNIPEG, Man. (AP) — Teena is a female monkey.

She escaped among Christmas shoppers Friday from her cage in the toyland of a downtown department store. The unit finally narrowed to the bargain basement.

Teena was recaptured there while rummaging through lingerie.

Britain's Trevelyan Named to U.N. Post

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. today announced the appointment of Sir Humphrey Trevelyan, first chief of the British diplomatic mission in Communist China, as an undersecretary.

The announcement said Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld named Trevelyan, effective Jan. 15, to "deal with such special political questions as are assigned him." The post pays $15,000 a year plus allowances.

Now 52, Trevelyan entered British government service in India in 1929. He was secretary to the agent general for India in Washington from 1944-48, economic adviser to the British high commissioner in Germany 1951-53, charge d'affaires in Peiping 1953-55, and ambassador in Cairo from 1955 until Egypt broke off diplomatic relations with Britain last year because of the Suez invasion. Since then he has been in the Foreign Office.

CONSTIPATED?

New laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks without gag, bloot or gripe

Most constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon, that loses so much moisture that its contents become so dry they block the bowel; so shrunken they fail to stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

To regain normal regularity, the dry, shrunken contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be moistened. Second, bulk must be brought to stimulate the colon to action; to a normal urge to purge. And, of all laxatives, only new COLONOID, possesses its great moistening capacity plus its stretch-stimulating bulk. So effective it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, yet is so gentle it has been hospital proved safe even for women in critical stages of pregnancy.

Superior to old style bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONOID neither gags, bloats nor grips; won't interfere with absorption of vitamins or food nutrients; in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other reactions. It's a physiological fact: Exercise tones your body! And COLONOID exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Get COLONOID, today! Only 98¢ for the 60 tablet package, brings positive relief at less than 2¢ per tablet.

TAIPEI, Formosa (U)—Security authorities today announced the arrest of 11 civilians—including three newspapermen—on charges of subversive activities or failure to register past Communist affiliations.

The most controversial figure among them was Ni Shih-tan, 49, chief editorial writer of the Kung Lun Pao, a newspaper which has strongly criticized the Nationalist Chinese government.

Kennan Against
One-Sided TryWarns of Concentration on NATO Strength for Western Security

LONDON (U)—George F. Kennan warned last night that a "one-sided concentration of effort" on NATO and failure to consider Soviet offers to negotiate might increase the danger of a major war.

The former State Department policy planner told a radio audience that the West should not look to NATO "to provide the basic strength on which the security of the Western world must rest."

Kennan said it would be "idle to suppose that the strengthening of NATO alone would provide the necessary climate and background for negotiations with the Soviet Union."

Recent messages from Soviet Premier Bulganin to Western governments, he said, should not be received with "the quick assumption that there is no kernel of sincerity." Bulganin proposed negotiations and warned against the stationing of nuclear weapons in Europe.

"Moscow fights with all the political and psychological means at its command," the former ambassador to Moscow said "and it will know how to take advantage, as indeed it already has in many ways, of any one-sided concentration of effort on our part."

"That is why we cannot afford to put all our eggs in the military basket, and to neglect the positive purposes—the things we ought to be doing, and would be doing, if the military threat were not upon us at all."

Finishing a six-part BBC lecture series, Kennan said the West should not "give up unilaterally the nuclear deterrent, or even stop strengthening NATO forces in Europe."

But he added: "NATO must not be strengthened in such a way as to prejudice the chances for an eventual reduction, by peaceful negotiation, of the danger of an all-out war."

A professor of history at the Institute for Advanced Study at Princeton, N. J., Kennan currently is a visiting lecturer at Oxford University.

Filling One Girl's Wish

ALBUQUERQUE (U)—Santa, says the Albuquerque post office, is going to have a tough time with this little girl's Christmas request: "I want a dolly that can walk all by itself and can talk all by itself and can eat all by itself and take a bath all by itself and get dressed when I tell her what to wear. And a dolly that will help mommy and sister with the dishes so I will not have to wash them myself. And she should be able to jump rope all by herself. And the dolly can play with me."

Can't Fend Germany,
Without A-Weapons

BERLIN (U)—West German Defense Minister Franz Josef Strauss said today that trying to defend West Germany without atomic weapons would be military madness.

Strauss said in an interview that atomic armament of the new German army could be renounced only if additional American and British units are stationed in West Germany, and that these must be equipped with atomic weapons.

Strauss conceded that the question of equipping West Germany's new army with intermediate-range ballistic missiles is not ripe for discussion in the foreseeable future, but he said rocket equipment for fighter planes, antiaircraft and antiaircraft units, is indispensable.

Bangkok Voters
Reject LeftistsAnti-Commie Democrat
Party Has 11 of 12 Seats in Thai Parliament

BANGKOK, Thailand (U)—Thailand's leftists received a crushing defeat in Bangkok today as the anti-Communist Democrat party of former Premier Khuang Aphaiwong won 11 of the capital's 12 seats in Parliament.

The Democrats were leading their nearest opponents 4-1 in first returns from yesterday's election. Returns from the rest of the country were not in.

There was little interest in the voting in Bangkok. Only about 40 per cent of the eligible voters turned out.

Khuang personally won 36,000 votes—double the number received by the only non-Democrat victor, Independent Phra Boriphand.

Elections were held for the second time this year to name 160 members of Parliament. They will sit with 123 others chosen by the ruling military junta which ousted P. Pibulsonggram as premier. The junta ordered new elections after it took over.

Premier Pote Sarasin, who continued Pibulsonggram's pro-Western policies, will be replaced in two weeks.

The Democrats' landslide in the capital struck hard at leftists and pro-Communists, who have received editorial support in the past year from most of Bangkok's anti-American press. Leftist candidates took less than 10,000 votes—a heavy vote in the northern and southern regions.

Eighteen parties and 813 candidates sought seats in Parliament.

The current labor force of the U.S. includes about 20 million women, according to recent estimates.

Laid Foundation for West's Confusion

Stalin's Spectre Haunts
Paris NATO Meeting

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — If Stalin could grin in his tomb, he'd be grinning now. He was one of the greatest gamblers in history and he won. Look at NATO, the atomic bomb, Sputniks, missiles.

His tactics forced the North Atlantic Treaty Organization into existence. But it was his determination which laid the foundation for NATO's present confusion and uncertainty.

At this moment, he has been downgraded, a form of disgrace, because he typified the ruthlessness of the Communist state and his heirs would like to obscure that part of their history.

But when Stalin became boss after Lenin's death in the mid-1920s, he inherited an impoverished, almost medieval country of about 125 million people. Today 900 million live under communism in Russia and other countries.

He forced his people for two generations into a meager existence so the resources of Russia could be concentrated on bringing her abreast of the United States. It was under Stalin that Russia laid the basis for its amazing military, technical, scientific, engineering and educational progress.

After the war when this country had the atomic bomb—and the capability of smashing the Soviets—Stalin spurned all talk of disarmament and its possibility of safety, and pushed the creation of Russia's own atomic weapons.

He was taking a gamble—a terrible one—for if war did start, Russia and Stalin and communism could have been destroyed together. By 1949 Russia had its own atomic bomb, by 1953 the hydrogen bomb.

That put Russia close to military equality with the United States which in quantity of bombs was still ahead.

The startling progress which Russia this year revealed with its satellites, missiles and jet planes had its origin under Stalin and in some ways, put Russia ahead of the United States. Those things are not the product of the four years since his death.

By blockading Berlin and grabbing off Czechoslovakia, Stalin forced the Western nations into the NATO alliance in 1949. And when he let the Korean War start in 1950, NATO really began its military buildup.

NATO was the biggest menace Russia had to worry about since World War II.

But now the military might of Russia—with its beginnings under Stalin—has the NATO partners floundering, as shown by their preparations for the Paris meeting which opened today.

It's been customary, since Russia's new boss Nikita Khrushchev downgraded him two years ago, to push Stalin into the background. He won't stay pushed. He's like a bloody ghost haunting mankind.

Perez Jimenez
Being Elected

President Favored by Voters in Venezuela's
Yes-No Plebiscite

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — President Marcos Perez Jimenez was winning re-election as expected today with 75 per cent of the first count officially reported in a yes-or-no plebiscite. He had no opponents.

Election officials reported that of 60,872 ballots counted in Caracas, 21 per cent were "no" votes and 4 per cent were invalid.

The announced count was 45,887 "yes," 12,795 "no" and 2,390 invalid. Those thrown out were of voters who had placed both a blue "yes" and a red "no" ballot in envelopes dropped in the boxes.

The counting is not expected to be completed for several days. But the Interior Ministry announced that Perez Jimenez had been overwhelmingly chosen in yesterday's balloting to serve five more years as president.

Interior Minister Laureano Vallenilla Lanz estimated that more than 2,200,000 of the 2,700,000 votes were affirmative. Vallenilla's figures indicated that about 33 per cent of the qualified voters went to the polls.

Perez Jimenez's 130 nominees for the chamber of deputies also were without opposition. Officials said there were no disturbances during the plebiscite.

Reach Fantastic
Temperatures

British Are Reportedly Near to Harnessing
H-Bomb's Power

LONDON (AP) — Two newspapers claimed today that British scientists have secretly achieved fantastic temperatures, indicating they soon can harness the hydrogen bomb to produce electric power.

The Daily Express said the scientists believe they succeeded in raising gaseous deuterium, a variant form of hydrogen, to 60 million degrees Centigrade or 108 million degrees Fahrenheit.

The News Chronicle reported that a temperature of at least 5 million degrees Centigrade, or 9 million Fahrenheit, had been achieved.

A temperature of about 150 million degrees Centigrade is needed to keep the hydrogen fusion reaction going under its own power. This is 10 times the estimated temperature at the center of the sun. In the hydrogen bomb it is achieved by using an atom bomb as the trigger.

The British Atomic Energy Authority reported several weeks ago that some progress had been made toward harnessing the H-bomb for peaceful use. Diplomats in Paris for the NATO conference said last week the British government is preparing to announce some details of a controlled hydrogen reaction.

The two newspaper reports said the new high temperatures were created by shooting intensely powerful electric sparks through a glass doughnut filled with deuterium at the government atomic laboratory at Harwell.

The superheated gas inside the doughnut was held in an electrical field, to keep it from touching and melting its glass container.

The News Chronicle said the experts who developed Britain's H-bomb now would be put to work "designing bigger and better furnaces to withstand a chain reaction."

Deuterium can be extracted in virtually limitless quantities from sea water.

Detroit Bandit Turns Up Nose
at $7 Pickings

DETROIT (AP) — The strange actions of a would-be thief yesterday had police wondering if he was overly endowed with "professional pride" or had imposed a minimum wage agreement on himself.

Mrs. Lillian Black, proprietor of a small candy store here, said a halcyon man walked in Saturday night and demanded her money. He looked at the seven dollars in a cash drawer, mumbled "never mind" and walked out.

Texan Suspect
in Flint Robbery

Arraigned in Omaha on Charge of Holding Up
Milwaukee Bank

OMAHA (AP) — FBI officials say they plan to charge Jerry John Kosarek, 24, with the armed robbery of Flint's Citizens Commercial and Savings bank.

The bank was held up and robbed of $7,113 by a lone gunman Oct. 31.

Kosarek was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner A. Z. Donato Saturday on charges of armed robbery in the holdup of a Milwaukee bank last Thursday.

Kosarek, of Bryan, Tex., was arrested by Nebraska State Patrol Troopers Friday with a reported $11,000 in cash in his possession. He later pleaded guilty to robbing the downtown branch of Milwaukee's Marshall and Meley bank at his arraignment.

He also pleaded guilty to transporting a stolen car across state lines at a previous arraignment. He was charged with transporting a stolen car from St. Louis to Flint.

Bond was set at $10,000, bringing his total bond to $15,000. Joseph Thornton, an agent at the Omaha FBI office, said he is questioning Kosarek about other bank robberies and will seek his arraignment on the Flint robbery.

Science Shrinks Piles
New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—
Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution, Al-ready, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

U.N. Closes '57 Session

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. — Deadlock characterized the 1957 session of the U. N. General Assembly. But delegates from both East and West credited the session with some accomplishments — though they disagreed over what they were.

The session started Sept. 17 and ended Saturday night after dealing with a full agenda of 66 items.

CHANGE OF ATMOSPHERE

A veteran delegate, Carlos P. Romulo of the Philippines, commented that a radical change in the atmosphere had come with "the emergence of the Afro-Asian states as the largest single group, and the outpacing of the West by Soviet Russia in rocketry."

These developments, he said, "have produced a new equilibrium of forces in the Assembly which, on controversial political questions, has resulted either in stalemate or meaningless compromise."

With Malaya's admission Sept. 17, the U. N. grew to 82 countries and the Asian-African group to 29. The group, well over a third of the whole membership, can frustrate major decisions in the Assembly because these require a two-thirds vote.

On Syria's Soviet-backed complaint that Turkey was preparing an attack, Syria introduced a resolution calling for an investigating commission, while seven other countries recommended intervention by Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld.

NO VOTE TAKEN

Advance canvassing showed neither resolution could get the necessary two-thirds majority, so the sponsors of both agreed not to press them to a vote.

In a session-end statement, U.S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge said one of the Assembly's major accomplishments was "stripping away the sham and insincerity of the Soviet war scare that the United States was masterminding a threat to the security of Syria."

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov said the Assembly was an important factor in preventing the possibility of an immediate attack on the Syrian people.

In the Political Committee's debate on Algeria, a strong Asian-African resolution calling for self-determination and negotiations was reduced through Latin-country amendments to a proposal for discussions, with self-determination not mentioned.

The embittered Asian-African group voted almost solidly against the amended proposal. The result was a 37-37 tie, with 6 abstentions, not even the bare majority needed for a committee recommendation to the Assembly.

AGREE TO TALKS

In the Assembly, a compromise resolution with Asian, European and Latin-American sponsorship passed unanimously. It expressed a wish for "pourparlers" — a French term meaning something more than discussions and something less than negotiations.

Greece promoted a resolution for negotiations on self-determination for Cyprus, and Indonesia promoted one for "endeavors to find a solution" to its dispute with the Netherlands over West New Guinea. Each got a majority in committee, but failed to get the needed two-thirds in the Assembly.

Sir Leslie Munro of New Zealand, and the Assembly president, noted in a review that the Assembly's debate on disarmament "ended in a double deadlock."

The Assembly recommended

Western disarmament proposals as a basis for further negotiations with Russia. It expanded the Disarmament Commission in an effort to provide a political balance that would keep Russia in the negotiations.

But Russia maintained its rejection of the proposals—and still said it would not sit on the commission until more Communist and neutral countries were put on it.

Pistols at 'Shooting Party' Were Stolen in Detroit

Two pistols, confiscated after gunfire in the street sent authorities racing to the scene of a Southfield Township party early yesterday, have been identified as stolen weapons, State Police said today.

The guns — .22 caliber revolvers — were stolen during a recent burglary at a Detroit hardware store, detectives said.

Nine youths rounded up and held for investigation were being questioned today about the theft. Police also confiscated a black cartridge pistol and three cases of beer from them.

Describing the youths, who range in age from 17 to 25, as party crashers belonging to two motorcycle clubs, police said they had fired the guns off in front of 27523 Northwestern Hwy.

MANY FLED SCENE

David Vaughn, 20, of that address said that a larger number had swarmed at his home. Uninvited. Officers estimated about 50 young persons fled from the scene when they arrived about 2 a.m.

The nine taken into custody include a Southfield Township youth, Ernest Fenner, 17, of 28385 Northwestern Hwy. The others, all Detroiters, are:

Daniel Carroll, 22, of 9603 N. Martindale; Johnny Lee Redd, 17, of 2005 Eason; Paul Carroll, 23, of 9343 Broadstreet; Morris J. Bartolotta, 19, of 8937 Mansfield; Benjamin Reich, 19, of 8224 St. Mary's; Michael Frankie, 18, of 7511 Elmhurst; William Garland, 25, of 9993 Cascade and William Smith, 21, of 13543 Mettetal.

Police took the names of 13 other young men and women who were at the house, for possible questioning on charges of illegal possession of alcohol.

They described Vaughn as an innocent victim in the affair.

Medical Expert Tells Class TB 'Living Threat'

LOS ANGELES (INS) — A medical expert has warned that tuberculosis, far from being a disease of the past, is a "living" threat to health.

Dr. Samuel J. Sills of the University of Southern California says there are about 55 million Americans with positive tuberculin tests.

He explained to the annual post-graduate course on diseases of the chest, which met recently in Los Angeles:

"This means that while these people do not have active TB, they have been exposed to the disease and should have periodic chest X-rays."

Theater Here Show Road Safety Series

A series of films stressing highway accident prevention is being shown at local theaters.

Put out by United Film Service in cooperation with the National Safety Council, "The Highway Zoo" is a series of minute movies on dangerous and careless drivers and stressing alertness in traffic.

This safety message to the public will continue throughout the coming year at the Oakland, Strand, Eagle and Huron theaters in Pontiac and at the Keego in Keego Harbor.

U.S. Scientist Foresaw 'Moon'

Dr. Robert Goddard Outlined Multi-Stage Rockets in 1919

WASHINGTON — Four decades ago, a brilliant American physicist envisioned sending a rocket to the moon.

No one took Dr. Robert H. Goddard seriously. Yet the New England professor was not indulging in Jules Verne fantasy. His was a coldly scientific view of the future, seen through his own trail-blazing research in rocket propulsion.

Today the late Dr. Goddard is recognized as a grandfather of space travel. In Europe as well as the United States his pioneer experiments in the 1920s and 1930s are credited with having opened the way to development of rockets capable of launching artificial satellites.

LIQUID-FUEL ROCKET

A historic Goddard rocket wobbled skyward in 1926 from a farm near Auburn, Massachusetts, the National Geographic Society recalls. The slimy-looking, skeletal device rose only 41 feet, but its flight was the beginning of a new era in rocketry.

In its design Dr. Goddard had broken away from the limitations of solid fuels then available and invented a successful liquid-fuel rocket with the potential of powerful jet thrusts.

His theory in fuels proved sound. The Germans used many of his conclusions in developing World War II's long-range V-2.

Dr. Goddard produced the first gyro-stabilized rocket. In 1935 one of his rockets rose 7,300 feet above New Mexico. Still another reached the then incredible speed of 700 miles an hour.

ANTICIPATES SPUTNIK

One Goddard invention, a re-coiled rocket launcher which the American military ignored in 1918, turned out to be the famed bazooka of World War II. In all, he held some 20 patents.

Dr. Goddard in 1919 set forth the principle of multi-stage rockets, which the Russians have so successfully demonstrated in October and November, 1957. He theorized that with the employment of more than one stage, a rocket could be sent up specifically to 580 miles — roughly the point at which the first Russian satellite went into orbit — and ultimately could reach the moon.

Jaycee Contest Response Poor

Only 3 Entries Received in Annual Yule Lighting Competition

Entries for this year's Pontiac Junior Chamber of Commerce home Christmas lighting contest are "sadly lacking," according to Robert Norberg, chairman of the event.

He said only three entries have been received to date. Deadline for the entries is Thursday.

"We encourage anybody in the City of Pontiac who is decorating their home in anyway to enter the contest," Norberg said. "There may be a prize waiting for them regardless of how much money and work goes into the display."

Entries should be mailed to Norberg at the downtown Community National Bank. They should give a brief description of the display and the entrant's name and address.

Judging will be Dec. 26 by Monroe Osmun, owner of Osmun's Men's Wear, City Manager Walter K. Willman, Mrs. Jean Smith, Pontiac High School art teacher, and Raymond T. Murn, district manager of Michigan Bell Telephone Co. in Pontiac.

They will pick an east and west side winner with plaques going to both. A grand prize winner, to be selected from the two, will be Pontiac's entry in a nationwide $5,000 General Electric contest.

Michigan Deficit Nearing $20 Million

Williams Directs Experts to Cut State Expenditures

LANSING (AP) — Anticipating a tightening state treasury pinch, Gov. Williams today directed state finance experts to draw up a plan to cut back state expenditures in the months ahead.

Williams said he has "grave doubts" that the state will have the cash to meet all authorized spending through the fiscal year ending June 30.

He said the faith and credit of the state are endangered to the point where even payrolls may not be met on time.

Williams blamed the Republican-controlled Legislature for the situation, saying it failed to provide sufficient revenue to support 1957-58 appropriations.

Writing to state controller James W. Miller, Williams recalled that some legislators anticipated a "manageable" general fund deficit of between 12 and 16 million dollars when the lawmakers adjourned their regular 1957 session last spring.

"It has now become evident that unless the revenue picture brightens substantially, this deficit will be considerably larger — perhaps in the neighborhood of 20 million dollars or more," he said.

At the same time, he said, the state faces a deficit of eight million dollars or more in promised financial help to public schools.

"These deficits are developing when the state's ability to run a sizeable deficit has been sharply curtailed," Williams told Miller.

The bulk of sales tax funds which formerly went into the general fund and formerly could be used as a cash reserve, are now segregated in the school aid fund, he said.

He also referred to legislative maneuvering last June which borrowed 24 million dollars in revenues earmarked for 1957-58 disbursement for immediate distribution to schools, thereby cutting further into available resources for the current fiscal year.

Williams said legislative committees have indicated it is unlikely that the legislature will authorize any new revenue to ease the financial crisis, and that the state will be scraping bottom after the first of the year.

At one time during November, general fund cash on hand totaled only a little more than two million dollars, he said.

Nixon, in an unscheduled appearance before an Air Force Association meeting, said "there can be no sacred cows" if inter-service rivalry has delayed the national defense.

He described as "one of the extremes" the view that Soviet success in launching earth satellites means America has lost the No. 1 military position in the world.

Nixon did not say that inter-service rivalry has delayed the U.S. defense program, but he declared that "this problem, assuming it exists, should be discussed openly."

He continued: "There can be no sacred cows where defense is concerned. If rivalry has caused delays, the public is entitled to know, and certainly the services should know."

"We can have and must have constant re-examination."

Three out of four traffic accidents in the U. S. occur during clear weather and on dry-surface pavements.

With New Instrument Find Earth's Shape

WASHINGTON (INS) — The International Geophysical Year Committee has announced that a newly-perfected "gravimeter" makes possible more accurate determination of the earth's shape.

The "sea gravimeter" is a system of gyroscopes—or spinning wheels which permits surface ships to measure gravity where only submarines could register the earth-pull before.

Produced by a German, Anton Graf, of Munich, the new device has been employed off the coast of New York since Nov. 22 by the USS Compass as part of the IGY program.

Submarines had previously made some 4,000 gravity readings of the vast land beneath the oceans which cover 80 per cent of the earth.

Now, since the strength of gravity is an expression of the density and amount of matter beneath the point of measurement, the gravimeter can be used to "feel out" the shape of the uncharted sea floor.

Author of Dyer Act Succumbs at Age 86

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Former Rep. Leonidas C. Dyer, author of the 1919 motor-vehicle theft law popularly known as the Dyer Act, died of infirmities last night at the age of 86.

The St. Louis Republican, who served 11 terms in Congress prior to 1933, died at the John J. Cochran Veterans Hospital where he had been a patient since Nov. 29.

A year ago Director J. Edgar Hoover of the Federal Bureau of Investigation wrote Dyer that 227,732 cars valued at $212,679,296 had been recovered under the federal law. The law makes interstate movement of a stolen car a federal offense.

The former congressman also was the author of the China Trade Act, cosponsor of the National Parole Act, and the unsuccessful advocate for many years of anti-lynching law.

He had remained active in law practice in recent years despite a heart ailment.

Yugoslav Public Today Learns of U.S. Aid Ban

BELGRADE (AP) — The Yugoslav public finally learned today that U.S. military aid to Yugoslavia has ceased.

A short announcement broadcast by Belgrade radio said shipments were halted under an agreement between the two governments. It added that representatives of both countries would meet soon to discuss technical questions.

The announcement came nine days after Yugoslav sources reported President Tito had renounced further aid because of too frequent American reappraisals. An announcement in Washington confirmed the report but, until today, nothing had been published on the matter in Yugoslavia.

Santa and the STRONG BOY

by LUCRECE HUDGINS-BEALE

SYNOPSIS: Richard digs a hole to the underground wheelbarrow that Sampan the goblin runs from Fairy Land to Santa Land. He gets aboard and meets Miss Muffet and Simple Simon.

Chapter IIPATRICK TWEEDEEKNES

The wheelbarrow rolled to a stop. Sampan dropped the handles. "Here we are. This is Santa Land."

Richard looked around. They were in a small lighted cave. "Where is Santa Claus?" he stammered.

"Up those steps, I expect," said Sampan. He pointed to a narrow winding staircase. "Now run along, son, and I hope Santa gives you what you want."

Richard climbed out of the wheelbarrow and waved to his new friends. "Goodbye," he said wistfully.

"Goodbye," shouted Mr. Simon. "Don't you worry about being dumb and scared. We like you the way you are."

Richard turned and started up the stairs. Round and round and round went the stairs. His head began to whirl as he climbed. Up, up, round, round. Presently he felt that he wasn't climbing but that he was walking on a cloud.

Suddenly the stairs ended and Richard found that he was standing in the middle of a great white cloud. He saw a little white house sitting on the cloud. As he walked towards the house the cloud felt cold to his feet. Suddenly some more cloud began dropping on his head and getting in his eyes.

He was terrified. He thought it was the end of the world. He began to run towards the white house. As he ran he cried, "The sky is falling! The sky is falling!"

An elf dressed in red with crooked legs burst from the house. He stared at the sky and then at Richard. "Dunce!" he roared. "Have you never seen snow before?"

Richard stopped and looked around him. He turned red with shame. The cloud he thought he walked on was simply a land of snow stretching as far as the eye could see. And the bits of cloud falling on his head were flakes of never ending snow.

"The sky is falling," shouted Richard.

"What a stupid you are!" cried the elf.

Richard nodded dumbly. He did not tell the elf how dizzy he had become on the stairs so that he thought he had been walking on a cloud.

"You are a coward," grumbled the elf.

Richard nodded. His eyes began to fill with tears. He had not expected Santa Claus to be like this. He turned away in despair.

Suddenly there was a shout from the house. Richard looked up and there was Santa Claus, the real, true, no mistake, Santa Claus coming down the steps.

He was round and red and beaming and Richard's heart filled with joy at the sight of him. Santa came down and put his arm around Richard's shoulder and then he turned to the elf.

"Patrick Tweedeknees, I heard everything you said to this boy. You ought to be ashamed of yourself for treating a visitor that way."

Richard hung his head. "It's true, I am dumb and I am a coward."

"Then this is no place for you," scoffed Patrick Tweedeknees. "Go back where you came from."

"Tweedeknees, be quiet!" thundered Santa Claus. He turned to Richard. "You mustn't mind Tweedeknees. He makes a big noise but never means half he says."

He led Richard into his warm little house and sat down with him by the fire. Tweedeknees slumped glumly in a corner.

"Now tell me," said Santa. "Who are you and why are you here?"

"I am Richard, Prince of Mitz-en-poc. It is said that you give boys and girls whatever they most desire."

"That is true. So what can I give to you?"

"Courage and wisdom," faltered Richard.

For a long moment there was silence. Then Santa slowly shook his head.

"I am sorry but those things I cannot give."

Christmas Cards McElroy Faces Crucial Decisions Ahead

Stress Elegance

Water Colors Favorites; Parchment Stock Adds Distinguishing Quality

The 1957 Christmas cards stress elegance with rich colors, textures and fine art work.

Water color reproductions are favorites, while parchment stock, with its translucent quality, and small tapestries of pure silk, richly woven to form colorful holiday miniatures, distinguish other cards.

Gold and silver foil turn up on a large portion of this year's cards, while offset color and design combinations add extra interest to cards with unusual shapes and elaborate folds.

There's even a "My Fair Lady" series of cards in quaint Edwardian style, created by the famous musical's costume designer, Cecil Beaton.

Ogden Nash is another Christmas best-seller, contributing verses like "I can't compete against St. Nicholas and if I tried I'd be ridiculous."

Inspirational messages are to be found on many of the cards with religious motifs, which are becoming increasingly popular. Dr. Norman Vincent Peale and newspaper poet James Metcalfe are represented.

Cards have been designed by such well-known painters as Norman Rockwell, Sir Winston Churchill and cartoonist Saul Steinberg.

Far From Converting H-Power to Industry

WASHINGTON (AP)—The drive to turn the power of the hydrogen bomb into industrial energy still is far short of success, an Atomic Energy Commission spokesman says.

Dr. Arthur E. Ruark, director of U.S. efforts in this field, said, "As far as we know, all nations are some steps along the road, but for all nations it's a long way to go."

Ruark decried unofficial British reports that the United States is preventing Britain from announcing important new developments in this field.

Ruark said reports that British scientists have achieved a temperature of five million degrees centigrade in heating hydrogen would be a "step on the road."

He said one of the means of attaining a sustained power-producing thermonuclear reaction would require a temperature "of the order of 100 million degrees centigrade."

By DOUGLAS LARSON

WASHINGTON (NEA) — When the President inadvertently muffled his new Defense Secretary's name at a recent press conference, calling him "Mr. Neil," it wasn't because he had forgotten the last name.

At Ike's first meeting with Neil McElroy, in connection with McElroy's chairmanship of the White House Education Conference, he began calling him by his first name. Thereafter he always referred to him simply as "Neil," explaining the "Mr. Neil" slip.

There was instant, warm rapport between the two men, such as the President had discovered with his former Treasury Secretary, George Humphrey. Ike is quoted as saying of McElroy:

"He thinks the way I do and talks my language. He doesn't waste words or time when discussing issues and seems to have an instinct for making the right decisions."

It's a happy thing for the country that the President feels this confidence in his new Pentagon boss. During the next months and years, some of the most vital decisions, short of declaring war, that have ever been made for the U. S. must be faced. And the air- ing President will lean heavily upon his Defense boss.

VITAL DECISIONS AHEAD

Within the next few months McElroy will have to make the enormously significant decision on what to do about development of an anti-missile missile. If he decides to go ahead, it will probably have a price tag in the neighborhood of six billion dollars, dwarfing the cost of any past single defense project by several magnitudes. Every taxpayer will feel the pinch of footing this bill.

It's possible he will be forced to announce that he has decided that an anti-missile missile isn't worth the cost of trying to develop it. The unbelievable complexity of such a weapon makes this decision possible.

For example, Secretary of the Air Force James Douglas points out that no previous anti-aircraft weapon has been much more than 20 per cent effective. If the anti-missile missile is twice as good as any anti-aircraft weapons developed in the past, it still won't be worth developing. If just half of the intercontinental missiles fired at the U. S. get through, that'll be enough, Douglas says.

If McElroy's decision is against making an anti-missile missile, then he'll have to make an equally important decision on drastically increasing America's retaliatory force.

The White House, National Security Agency and other top level policy bodies will naturally be in on these decisions. But McElroy will have to shoulder public responsibility for them.

Not the least of McElroy's jobs ahead is altering a huge administrative machine which Charles Wilson spent a lot of time and talent setting in motion. Wilson built a defense organization which would work smoothly and efficiently through a long, but fairly stabilized cold war situation, at a cost the American economy could easily stand.

READY FOR EMERGENCY

McElroy must now re-gear this machine to the post-Sputnik era of emergency programs, quick stops and starts, and on the assumption that the U. S. is lagging behind Russia in ballistic missiles. But he still clings to one of Wilson's goals, saying:

"At the same time our defense expenditures must be efficiently administered in order that a sound supporting economy can be maintained."

Another job ahead for McElroy is somehow curbing the inter-service feuding. No previous defense secretary has been able to do this.

More than one person has already asked why McElroy would leave his secure $285,000-per-year presidency of Prudential & Gamble for the harassed insecurity of the $25,000-per-year Pentagon post. Interviews with close friends of his come up with this long-range explanation:

McElroy's parents were school teachers. He has risen to a position of wealth and importance in the U. S. with a deep sense of patriotism for this good fortune.

"If I can help the U. S. at this time I want to do it," he told one of these friends.

In addition, McElroy loves the live from day-to-day and leave his challenge of a tough job, just as some men love the challenge of home.

bringing in fighting fish. The relative ease with which he had achieved success at P & G, and with his civic chores, made the Pentagon post look like an interesting new adventure.

Finally, McElroy has learned to live from day-to-day and leave his cares at the office when he goes home.

Some men love the challenge of home.

Some men love the challenge of home.

'Gifts for the Boys' Were Always Lavish

Shefferman Firm Ended Strikes

By ROGER GREENE
(Second Part)

WASHINGTON (AP)—Now under indictment for alleged conspiracy to evade federal income taxes, 70-year-old Nathan W. Shefferman remains something of a mystery in spite of the hot light of publicity turned on him.

His testimony before the Senate Rackets Committee, and that of other witnesses, was studded with episodes involving labor-management intrigue, factory spies, phony elections, lavish gifts to union bosses.

In the background was the dominant personality of Nate Shefferman, warm, friendly, vastly persuasive.

Witness after witness testified that when confronted with strike threats or picket lines, they hired Shefferman's Chicago-based firm of Labor Relations Associates (LRA). Nine times out of ten the troubles vanished overnight.

Shefferman's fees ran high. One company paid him $239,651 over a four-year period. But few of his 1,100 clients—including some of the biggest, most reputable firms in the country—gripped much, even when he put the bite on them for amounts ranging from $30 to $1,000 for Christmas gifts to keep "the boys" happy.

"The boys," it developed, were union chieftains who felt aggrieved during the Yuletide season unless Shefferman sent them on free hunting trips to Canada (complete with gift rifles), or to Rose Bowl football games in California.

What puzzled Senators most was how Shefferman managed to work both sides of the street, ingratiating himself with tough-minded union bigwigs who knew he was a paid agent of the traditional foe, company management.

The Senators wanted to know why, as brought out in the testimony, he acted as "chancellor of the exchequer" for Dave Beck, boss of the giant Teamsters Union, and paid personal bills totalling $95,000 for Beck and Beck's family.

CONSPIRACY INDICTMENT
Beck, with Shefferman, is now under indictment for alleged conspiracy to evade federal income taxes.

Shefferman acknowledged he was reimbursed $85,000 in Teamster Union funds. "I did not know they were union funds," he said.

Beck himself, according to the testimony, paid little out of his own pocket for the great volume of luxuries such as $45 silk shirts, $14 neckties, $150 sports coats, football tickets, TV sets, electric washers, outboard motors, nylon stockings, rumpled room love seats and diapers (five dozen) which Shefferman bought for him at discount rates.

Mervin A. Bachman of Chicago, a former National Labor Relations Board attorney who was hired by Shefferman in 1933, said the LRA operation "was one which aided employers in opposing unions."

Further testimony developed a typical pattern:

When a company, which opposed unions found its employees talking about forming a union, the firm would retain Labor Relations Associates to set up a counter movement.

CONDUCTS TESTS

The first step was frequently the appearance of a Shefferman agent to conduct "moral attitude" tests, subtly designed to find out how each worker stood on the subject of unions. Rabidly pro-union employees were either fired or pressured to change their minds.

Next came the creation of a "vote no committee" whose anti-union leaders were wine and dined by LRA agents and given pay raises or promotions.

If the company's employees still seemed bent on forming a union, a rival union favored by Shefferman would begin to negotiate secretly with the company.

Then, before employees knew what happened, the company would recognize the Shefferman-sponsored union as the workers' bargaining agent and sign a "sweetheart" contract for substantial wages. In the interview, Shefferman declined to comment on such contracts.

At least some of the hundreds of companies which dealt with Shefferman presumably were unaware of his methods. Wallace Tudor, vice president of Sears, Roebuck and Co., testified he fired Shefferman in 1936 upon discovering that LRA agents conducted what he called "disgraceful" anti-union activities at Sears' Boston stores.

For his own part, Shefferman considers himself above all a spokesman for America's system of private enterprise.

Certainly his own private enterprise lifted him from early poverty.

He said he was born in Baltimore, Md., July 19, 1887, the eldest of six children. His father was a Jewish rabbi.

FASHION CONTRAST—The only raggedy doll on market has self-improvement kit.

Shefferman went to work at the age of 16 tossing rivets for 23 cents an hour in a Baltimore shipyard. His next job was a two-year stint of rolling cigars for $3 per 1,000 in a cigar factory.

Later he worked as a clothing cutter and took other jobs. Meanwhile he enrolled in special courses—English, philosophy, applied psychology—at George Washington University and gradually entered the field of labor relations.

PAID TO LECTURE

By the end of World War I, he said, he was earning $15,000 a year teaching management efficiency to 25,000 business executives. They paid to hear him lecture on such things as the effect of humidity, food and fatigue on workers.

In 1934, he got a job through the late Sen. Wagner (D-N.Y.) as a mediator on the old Labor Relations Board and in six months rose to be supervisor of all the board's field offices.

From there he went on to become a Labor Relations consultant for Sears, Roebuck & Co. In 1939, still working for Sears, he branched out on his own to form Labor Relations Associates, with offices in Chicago, New York and Detroit.

"What labor unions primarily had to sell was hate for the boss," he said. "All we ever did was to shift the working man's attitude to understanding the boss."

U.S. Against Verdict by NATO in Mideast

PARIS (AP)—An American spokesman said today that the United States is opposed to the NATO summit conference's taking any decisions regarding the Middle East.

Turkey earlier was reported seeking NATO support for a Middle East settlement calling for revision of Israel's frontiers to the line provided for in a U. N. resolution prior to the Palestine war.

The U. N.-proposed frontiers are opposed by Israel since they would require Israeli withdrawal at a number of points.

The American spokesman said the U. S. government is opposed to any NATO conference action on such Middle East issues because the Middle Eastern nations are not represented at the parity.

PHYLLIS ABERNETHY

If Retirement Is Boring—Find a 'Cause' or a Job

By REULAN STOWE

"I retired last spring, and I'd like to tell you what I've found," says Mr. Frank Russo. "I am the only retired man living on our street. My wife and I have stayed in our house, a brick bungalow which we bought 27 years ago.

"I set the clock radio for 8:30 in the morning, but I can't sleep that late. I'm usually up by 7. After breakfast I go outside and look up and down the block and survey my property. This doesn't take long.

DOWN TO BASEMENT

"Then I go down to my basement workshop and work on a doll house for my granddaughters. I am building all the furniture to scale.

"My wife serves us lunch at 12. I have gained the impression that lunch is a chore to my wife, after years of being free from me from breakfast to dinner in the old days.

"After lunch I take a walk, because my wife has somewhere to go almost every afternoon. She is chairman of her auxiliary at church, she is active in the Red Cross, and she belongs to a bridge club. These things were well established before my retirement.

"Sometimes I spend some time in the public library and leaf through the newspapers and magazines in the reading room. Sometimes I sleep away part of the afternoon, but I find I don't enjoy napping as much as I expected to.

"How I used to long for a couch in my office when I was still working. Just 30 minutes a day would have added 10 years to my life, I used to think. Now I could sleep for three hours, and nobody would object.

"Then there's dinner, followed by dishes.

WHAT TO DO?

"This is my retirement, and we're not suffering. But what else should I do?"

Mr. Russo's experiences are typical of a man who retires and stays home. The man's situation has changed, but nothing else has.

Here are three ways he can jack up his life:

1. Find a cause. There are lonely children in orphanages, and bitter war veterans in government hospitals. He could help them instead of napping.

2. Find a job. A retired man who finds endless leisure unsatisfying does not need to pretend. He might find more pleasure in painting his neighbor's house or in serving as a consultant to a business allied with his former occupation than he finds now.

3. Find personal peace. Each man's peace in retirement is somewhat different. But he found it at 25, he found it at 45, and he can find it again at past 65.

Q—"My husband, an attorney, won't retire. He is 70. How can I convince him?"—L.H.S.

A—"Don't. Not until he is ready to convince himself.

Dear Abby....

Who Knows? You Might Win by Nose in the Competitive World of Romance

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am 19 years old and have been told that if it weren't for my nose I would be very beautiful. I have talked to my parents about getting my nose operated on but they won't let me do it because they say you can always tell a nose job and besides I could end up with something worse than what I've got.

My mother says that a fellow who really loves me will love me with this nose. I really want to get my nose fixed but I can't convince my parents. Am I wrong or are they?

DEAR MARCIA: If your nose bothers you, you should definitely consider having it "fixed." Investigate plastic surgeons carefully and be sure you get the best.

A girl's looks ARE important... and in this day of competition, many a girl has won by a "nose."

MY DEAR MISS VAN BUREN: Kindly retract your statement that "Hair has long been a symbol of masculinity." By whom, pray tell me? One of the world's most muscular men is Alexis Swoboda and he is as devoid of hair as an egg.

I am likewise and I served more than 35 years of active combat military service in the Army, Navy and Marine Corps.

HAIRLESS (U.S. Navy, Retired)

DEAR HAIRLESS: I am "a Freud" I can't elaborate on symbols in my column—but if it's any consolation—if a good man is hairless... a woman couldn't CARE LESS!

DEAR ABBY: Since we bought a barbecue last summer, my husband has started to fancy himself as a cook. When I try to get dinner, he is always under my feet showing me how to do things.

He makes a terrible mess in my kitchen, dirties up my stove and uses every pot and pan I have in the house. It's really getting on my nerves. What should I do?

FED UP

DEAR FED: Turn the kitchen completely over to him and let him have a good time. Be sure to let him know that the cook also cleans up after himself. Don't worry, it won't last long.

DEAR ABBY: I just read in your column about an Irish girl driving her husband crazy to go back to Ireland. My advice to him is to borrow the money if he has to and send her back for a visit. Believe me she won't be able to return to the States fast enough.

I was an English war bride and I used to beg my husband to send me back to England because I was homesick. After 10 years, I made the trip and it was worth every penny. I never want to leave the U.S. again.

Yours Truly, MRS. PETER H.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MURIEL: It's never too late, Infatigable!

If you have a problem, write to Abigail Van Buren in care of The Pontiac Press. She will be glad to answer your letter. For a personal reply, please enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.

There are always last-minute details to be taken care of for a dance, and making sure that all these things were done for the Kingswood-Cranbrook

Alumni Dance, which was held Saturday evening, were (left to right) Mrs. Michael Redfield, Anne Coulter, Mrs. Kent Bone and Josephine Waldo.

Yuletide Party Slated Tuesday by Secretaries

Highland Manor will be the scene of the annual Christmas party of the Pontiac Educational Secretaries Association Tuesday evening.

Ann Marie Predmore, past president, will give the invocation. Following the dinner, Mrs. Allen R. Elliott will lead the group in singing Christmas carols, with Mrs. Marjorie Wittkopf accompanying at the piano. An exchange of gifts will conclude the program.

Plans and decorations for the annual affair were made by a committee headed by Mrs. Merlin Sanderson. Other members of the group were Mrs. John House, Virginia Gregory, Mrs. Glenn Rivard, Mrs. Donald Butler, Mrs. Jim Bradsher, Cheryl Fox, Mary Hill, Joyce Thoe and Ernestene Wright.

Washington Now Noted for Fashion

Newest Creations Are Popularized in the Capital

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — In a sense Washington is the fashion capital of the world.

Paris, New York and Rome may claim the title by right of originating, producing and launching the latest style trends.

But, by wearing them, our chic best-dressers — wives of diplomats and top world figures, the famous and sophisticated hostesses — make haute monde fashions acceptable and important in the international spotlight.

LACKING IN STYLE

There was a time, and not very long ago, when the capital was with some justification accused of lacking style-consciousness.

It is still devoid of creative designers, and the range and choice of high-style offerings in our shops are limited. "Judicious shopping abroad is responsible for the 'new look' in the nation's capital.

Washington women, like smart women everywhere, still prefer the little black dress, suits or colored wool for daytime wear. They top these with luxurious and expensive furs and out-of-this-world hats.

After dark it's a different story. The capital is setting the pace of opulence, with extravagant floor-touching gowns of silks, satins, velvet and rich brocades in white or striking colors, highlighted by a rajah's fortune in real jewels.

PLEATED WHITE NET

Blonde and lovely Mrs. Wiley Buchanan, wife of the chief of protocol, chose a full-skirted strapless gown of finely pleated white net, studded with rhinestones and silver beads, by the Italian designer Fontana, for a shindig given by the Venezuelan Ambassador Cesar Gonzalez. With it she wore a necklace of diamonds and rubies.

The hostess wore lemon satin with an overlay of matching lace, the skirt featuring a small train.

The Countess de Motrico, wife of Spanish Ambassador Jose Arelliza, has two handsome Dior creations, one an emerald green satin, and other ruby velvet.

For a farewell party the Vice President and Mrs. Nixon gave for retiring Attorney General and Mrs. Herbert Brownell, Pat wore a full-length sheath of shimmering white and gold brocade, topped with an ermine capelet.

MRS. CHARLES G. LANGDON

Mary M. Campbell Wed in Rite at Detroit Church

Stock and white chrysanthemums banked the altar of Westminster Presbyterian Church, Detroit, for the Saturday evening wedding of Mary Margaret Campbell and Charles Gordon Langdon. The Rev. John Arthur Visser performed the ceremony before 250 guests.

The Roderick Alexander Campbells of Bloomfield Hills are parents of the bride, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Langdon of Detroit.

PRINCESS GOWN

The bride wore an imported white peau de soie gown fashioned on princess lines and featuring a modified Sabrina neckline and long pointed sleeves. Alencon lace re-embroidered with pearls and sequins curved around the neckline and into the back of the skirt, which ended in a chapel train.

A crown of pearls and sequins held an illusion veil, and the bride carried a cascade arrangement of white roses, stephanotis and ivy.

Mrs. Jon H. Henrikson of DeLand, Fla., served as matron of honor. Bridesmaids included Mrs. R. A. Campbell of Birmingham, Mary Fahey Campbell of Detroit, Mrs. Robert P. Wieland of Southfield and Virginia L. Dawson of Birmingham.

They were gownned alike in floor-length creations of pointsettia red taffeta with scooped necklines. Fitted bodices formed an apron effect over bouffant skirts which ended in bustle back bows with flowing panels. They carried cascade bouquets of white chrysanthemums with a touch of red carnations and ivy.

ATTENDED BRIDEGROOM

Roderick A. Campbell Jr. of Birmingham served as best man, James A. Langdon of Detroit, a brother of the bridegroom, Thomas L. Jones of Married Saturday evening in Westminster Presbyterian Church, Detroit, were Mary Margaret Campbell and Charles Gordon Langdon. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Roderick Alexander Campbell, and the bridegroom's parents are the Charles H. Langdons.

Detroit, David H. Parker of Detroit and Robert P. Wieland seated the guests. Ira Wilson III was the ringbearer.

Receiving guests at a Detroit Golf Club reception, Mrs. Campbell chose a floor-length gown of crepe de blue peau de soie with an over-panel forming a back drape. White orchids composed her corsage. Mrs. Langdon wore a Dior blue floor-length creation of peau de soie with a scoop neckline and three-quarter-length sleeves. Her corsage was of white orchids.

Before leaving on a trip to Delray Beach, Fla., the new Mrs. Langdon changed to a navy costume suit trimmed with white mink collar, navy accessories and a white rose corsage.

The couple will live in Flint until the bridegroom finishes his studies at General Motors Institute of Technology. Mrs. Langdon was graduated from Kingswood School Cranbrook and Michigan State University.

Pupils to Discuss Sputnik and Space

This is the last in the series of three telecasts designed to acquaint the public with the program for educating the gifted child.

We All Both Love, Resent Our Families

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

A college sophomore writes: "My parents are wonderful people who are making great sacrifices to keep me in college. Last year I showed my gratitude by writing them about everything that happened to me."

"This year I don't want to do this and am terribly upset by my disloyalty to them. How can I love Mom and Dad and still get so mad when they want to hear about everything I do?"

Young lady, we all love and resent our families at the same time. I do. Your parents do.

If parents and children gave each other perfect love, the children would never grow up. They'd be so satisfied they'd never want to leave home and seek husbands and wives for themselves. Babies would stop arriving on this planet.

So in a person of your age, some sense of "disloyalty" to parents is not only natural but desirable.

Why are you so afraid of it? IT'S VERY COZY

Oh, I know it's very cozy to feel absolute loyalty to one's parents. One can ask them what to do about everything. You can ask them what to think about the boys you date, knowing that Mom and Dad are always going to steer you to the right answers and protect you against mistakes.

However, as you begin to grow up, it stops working this way. One day, you suddenly discover that an answer was wrong, and that the boy they said was unreliable turns out to be a responsible one.

I think something like this has happened to you. I think you've discovered that "wonderful" Mom and Dad have been wrong a couple of times, and you are "terribly upset" by the new obligation to start thinking for yourself.

If you want to handle it well, stop thinking of us parents as so wonderful.

We are not. We just do the best we can. By insisting on our "wonderful" goodness, you make it harder to respect your own. You make growing up unnecessarily tough.

This extreme admiration is not evidence of love for us, my dear, but distrust of your own powers to judge well between wisdom and foolishness.

If your parents are as kind as you say, your "disloyalty" won't bother them. You wouldn't have got yourself born if they hadn't come through the same thing themselves.

Get Well-Organized Before You Go Shopping

Only 9 Days Till Christmas—but Don't Panic

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Well, here we are again in the midst of that delightful but harrowing Christmas rush. Only nine days until Christmas! How exciting! It is so exciting that I am about to fall flat on my face. What about you? What happened to our well-laid plans to be ready ahead of time this year?

However, there is still hope for such as you and I. There is hope if we do not panic. To panic at this point would be disastrous. We would be sure to end up giving Aunt Mary a mustache cup and Uncle Ned a rhinestone-studded bra.

Of course these are exaggerations of what might happen to those on our list. But — one thing is certain: If we go shopping at this late date without giving thought to our buying and without making a plan, we will make mistakes in the selection of our gifts.

I do not claim to be an expert in many matters but I am in this one. I have been going through this for as long as I can remember, so anything I advise you to do now has been tested for years.

It is probably too late for catalogue ordering. That is always a great help if you start early enough. You might remember it for next year. Even though I know your tendency now is to dash out immediately and waste no time, please sit down calmly with a pencil and paper.

LIST SAVES TIME

If you will take time now to make a list of those for whom you are going to buy, and think over their likes and dislikes, it will save you an untold amount of time and perhaps save them a lot of pain.

There are always some on a Christmas list who are difficult either because they seem to have everything or do not have decided tastes or a variety of interests.

Usually you can hit these through cosmetics, books, things for the house, sports equipment, new gadgets, records, lingerie, gardening, smoking or cooking paraphernalia. I find that this list covers almost everyone. If it doesn't, you might as well give up!

Of course it is a great help to watch the newspaper advertisements and clip items you think would be welcomed by one on your list. The habit of reading the book reviews helps with your book-loving friends.

Let the stores deliver and gift wrap and mail your packages for you. This will save you a lot of bone marrow. Of course this will necessitate taking your enclosure cards and the addresses with you when you go shopping.

DO IT NOW!

As you can see, it will be a great help to spend a little time now making your list and thinking over what your friends and relatives might want, gathering together the addresses of those to whom packages are to be delivered or mailed, and write on the enclosure cards, before you leave the house.

If you wish to have the packages delivered in your home city, you can request that they be delivered on a certain date or that a "Do Not Open Until Christmas" sticker be glued on the outside.

There is always a first time for everything for everyone and I had one of my first times the other night.

There was a lovely moon which I had glimpsed only briefly earlier in the evening. Before going to bed I decided to go out on the porch and get a soul-filling look at the beautiful thing. Was I surprised!

It was beautiful, yes! But, it was festooned with jet trails like a giant spider is with cobwebs. I must admit to annoyance. It was a cold, crisp night in the country and I had planned to get in touch with the forces of life and relax, but the moon only lit up the jet trails. At that moment I could hardly see the moon for those chalky trails.

This brought thoughts of war and taxes and flying to the moon. I muttered to myself, "Is there no place one can go and forget war, and the world — and the outer-world?"

If someone wants to go to the moon, let him or her, so long as I don't have to go! I find this world so exciting that if I could live to be a 100 I would not have time to tap its potentialities. I certainly would be even more confused than now with two or three orbits to explore.

A GORGEOUS SIGHT

I felt so antagonistic toward the moon, although it was not the moon's fault, that I barely gave it a nod the next day when I glanced at it earlier in the evening. However, the scene stopped me in my tracks, which had been rather rapid. There was the same moon, draped with new jet trails, but the cobwebs were exciting colors and it was a gorgeous sight! This seemed to me to be a symbol of our national and personal lives, both of which have been speeded up without our wish, but of necessity.

I no longer hated the jets. I realized that we have a need of the jets of realism and self-investment, rather than wishful thinking, for personal and national survival.

Suddenly I knew that the moon always will be in the sky, that the shining core of life always will be present, that personal and national integrity always are available, but that we have to support them with a few trails of faith and work, both rapid. There was a lovely afterglow of which have a lovely afterglow! Tomorrow: "Can't Go Wrong Giving Cosmetics or Perfumes."

Cigarette Case Lost

May Hostess Ask
Her Other Guests
About Costly Item?

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: I gave a party at my house two days ago. The day after the party I received a telephone call from one of the guests telling me that she forgot her cigarette case at my house and asking if I had come across it. I told her that I hadn't but would look for it.

"I have searched high and low, but no trace of the cigarette case, and I can only imagine that one of the guests inadvertently picked it up and put it in her bag, thinking it was hers, and that perhaps has not yet discovered it.

"The cigarette case was quite a valuable one and I am rather upset over it. Would it cast suspicion on my guests if I were to call them and ask them if they had taken it by mistake? What can I do about this?"

Answer: It would be entirely proper to call your guests one by one on the telephone and ask each if by chance she has found an extra cigarette case in her bag. Beyond this, there is really nothing you can do.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me how to prevent the guests from leaving the church before the families do? At several weddings I've been to, the guests left their places and started to file out almost before the wedding party reached the back of the church. I am going to be married shortly and would like to know if there is any way to keep this from happening at my wedding."

Answer: This can be prevented by running ribbons in front of the pews. As soon as the processional is ready to start, have two ushers run ribbons up the length of the pews and fasten them securely to keep the people from going out into the aisle as you describe, and do not remove them until after the recessional. "Ribbons" can be white tape.

"Dear Mrs. Post: What should I do in return for showers being given for me? Do I give presents to the hostesses, or what?"

Answer: Further than saying "Thank you" and showing your appreciation, nothing is expected of you. At least, not until perhaps the occasion arises when you can give a shower for your hostess in return.

MOSAICS SWEEPING
THE COUNTRY

One of the oldest art forms in the world, mosaics, is now sweeping the nation as a sensational new hobby pastime. Derived by Max Klein, of the L. M. G. Corporation, the new TILANT mosaics, pre-planned table kits and "Mosaic Murals by Numbers" kits, makes the amateur a self-satisfied artist. Simplicity is the key word for the hobby, based on the principle of using a number for every color and a space for every tile on a pre-numbered pattern.

The opaque Venetian or ceramic tiles are the finest quality ranging from rich deep hues to soft delicate tones. The TILANT table and mural kits include all of the material necessary to complete a mosaic masterpiece.

Gift Bread
Ideal for Yule
Breakfast

By JANET ODELL

More and more readers with whom we talk speak of making yeast breads to give as gifts at Christmas time. We think it a nice custom and do it ourselves. You might like to start with this coffee cake.

Mrs. Kenneth Brown of Lake Orion sees that her relatives all get some of her Christmas coffee cake to serve for holiday breakfast. As the busy mother of seven children, she keeps active in three PTA's, a church group and an Extension group. The entire family is working on a hooked rug project.

CHRISTMAS COFFEE CAKE

By Mrs. Kenneth Brown

1/2 package dry yeast
1/2 cup lukewarm water
1 teaspoon sugar
1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup milk
1 egg, well beaten
2 cups sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon baking powder (yes, that's right)
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup raisins or currants
1/2 cup candied mixed fruit
1/2 cup chopped nuts

Mix yeast, water and 1 teaspoon sugar. Let stand. Beat shortening, sugar and egg together. Add half of sifted dry ingredients to shortening mixture, then add yeast mixture, fruit and nuts. Finally add rest of flour.

Beat well after each addition. Pour into ring mold or any fancy shaped pan that has been greased.

(Bake at 350 degrees for 40-50 minutes. When cool, frost and decorate with additional fruit and nuts.)

Oldest State Resident

MRS. ELIZA TAYLOR

HIGHLAND — Today is the 108th birthday of Michigan's oldest resident, Mrs. Eliza Beaumont Taylor, 250 Center St., and as usual, she will celebrate quietly with friends and neighbors.

Born during the Gold Rush in 1849, Mrs. Taylor was one of nine children, all of whom were raised in the Highland area. Their tiny log cabin, situated on the edge of White Lake, was one of the first homesteads granted by President James Polk to a Michigan settler.

When men were the means of transportation, young "Liza" would drive the team for her father while he plowed the land, after the virgin timber had been cleared.

Square dancing, taffy pulls and sleigh rides were the main forms of recreation, especially during the Christmas holiday season, she says. Liza recalls that "there used to be so much more snow than there is now."

When the Civil War was over, Eliza married the dashing captain, James Beaumont. They had four children. He died at the age of 90.

LAST OF BEAUMONTS

It was with her daughter, Mrs. Frank Keller, that Mrs. Taylor had made her home. Mrs. Keller died this year at the age of 86, leaving Mrs. Taylor the last survivor of the Beaumont family.

Since the death of her daughter, a grand-niece, Mrs. Olive Clarke, has been Eliza's constant companion.

Although her eyesight and hearing are slightly impaired, Mrs. Taylor gets up in the morning, dresses herself and moves about the house without a cane or any other "modern-day contraption."

There will be no fancy celebrations at the Taylor home on Center street. However, a big birthday cake will be served for those dropping by to congratulate her.

County Calendar

Almost 100,000 people will hold ceremonies for installation of officers at 8 p.m. today. Luncheon will follow in the lobby room.

The annual Christmas party of the Current Events Club will be held at the home of Mrs. Charles Wills this evening. There will be a $10 turkey dinner, followed by a short program and an exchange of gifts.

Executive, 39, Starts College

Enrolls as Freshman at Illinois School With Eye on Diploma

GALESBURG, Ill. (AP) — Action speaks for John Lowery who figures it isn't too late to learn.

At 39, the farm implement dealer enrolled this fall as a freshman at Knox College with an eye on a college diploma.

The fact that his oldest son is the same age as his fellow freshman-class members doesn't discourage him. Nor does the fact that he must drive 20 miles from his hometown of Woodhull to attend classes each day.

Before he resumed his education after a 21-year lapse, Lowery operated a farm tool dealership. He has four children, the youngest less than 2 and the oldest in the Navy.

After high school he went to work for a steel plant in Gary, Ind. After 13 years he left that work and acquired the dealership.

After eight years in business, he made his decision to return to school.

Although his studies are harder than he expected, he finds the instructors "aren't like what I thought they'd be. They're friendlier, more interested, than I'd expected."

"I especially enjoy the friendliness and courtesy of the younger people," he said.

Lowery would like to teach business education. But whatever he does, he will have attained the goal it was not too late to reach for — higher education.

Industrial Mixer Said to Be 6 Times Faster

MILWAUKEE — A speedy industrial mixer developed by a Swedish inventor is being marketed by a Milwaukee firm.

The device is said to mix concrete, chemicals or animal feeds up to six times faster than conventional mixers. It is said to mix so thoroughly that it actually homogenizes the materials.

A doughnut-shaped drum in the mixer is designed to eliminate dead center in the mixing area. The blades are positioned so as to break material at the rate of 9 feet a second.

Dial Honolulu Direct

HONOLULU (AP) — Honolulu telephone numbers can now be dialed directly from 2,600 areas on the mainland United States. This city was tied in to the other direct dialing centers when the new telephone cable from Hawaii to San Francisco was tied in to mainland circuits. Telephone calls were previously placed by radio, through operators at both ends.

ROMEO'S BUSIEST MAN — Harmon A. Shields holds one of some 5,000 Christmas trees he will have sold by Dec. 25. A veteran lumberman, he is one of the area's busiest men during the yuletide season.

Romeo Man Grows, Sells Thousands of Yule Trees

By LEE WINBORN
Romeo Correspondent

ROMEO — One of the busiest men in the Romeo-Utica area this time of the year is Christmas tree salesman Harmon A. Shields. Take last Sunday for example.

There was a steady stream of cars turning into the Shields' driveway at 12350 29-Mile Rd. nearly all day long. By nightfall more than 1,000 trees had been sold. Over the years Shields' clientele has grown until practically everyone in the area knows where to look for that special yuletide evergreen.

As a young man Shields first started out as a farmer and lumberman near Gaylord. While still a youth he traveled to California but didn't stay long.

He returned to Utica during the depression and built up a big trade in cattle and horses.

"We've always sold Christmas trees," Shields said. "Lumber has been a part of my life." He sold 3,000 trees last year.

GROWS HIS OWN

Most of the evergreens, he said, are cut on the property he owns in the Upper Peninsula and the northern part of the state. He has 480 acres in Pickford and still owns about 400 acres near Gaylord.

Shields has the height and build of a typical lumberman and a heart just as big.

Six years ago Romeo High School's Varsity "E" Club was looking for a project. Anxious to help, the veteran lumberman agreed to supply the club with trees at a nominal cost.

Since that time Richmond and Rochester High Schools have adopted a similar project — with Shields as the supplier. Other schools in the area also contact him for trees for their entire teaching staffs.

Romeo High's athletic director, Dan Barnabo, supervises the "R" Club tree sales and his yard serves as the salesroom. Proceeds are used for athletic equipment and to help needy boys with their doctor bills or even clothing, if necessary.

Orion Pupils Vote to Join, Feature Christmas Plays

ORION TOWNSHIP — A poll of students has been conducted to determine whether the present Lake Orion Community High School PTA would become a parent-teacher-student association.

With 646 students voting, 65.4 per cent of the students wished to become members, 118 did not feel ready to answer the questionnaire and 99 voted no.

When asked how they would like to be represented in event they did vote to join, 25.5 per cent wanted equal representation on the executive committee, 13.5 per cent preferred one student on each committee, and only .7 per cent wanted a student representative.

How to elect their officer or committee was the final action. Seventy-five per cent wanted them by election of the students at large, 14 per cent thought they should be represented by class and club leaders, and 11 per cent thought they should be student council representatives.

The PTA has appointed a by-laws committee to formulate immediate plans for the new organization.

Agenda Includes Rezoning Plea

Payment on Machines for Voting Also Before Waterford Board

The rezoning of five acres on the corner of Watkins Lake and Scott Lake roads will be on the agenda for discussion when the Waterford Township Board meets tonight.

A request by Joseph Scariotti of 1735 Scott Lake Rd. for rezoning of the land from residential to commercial was tabled by board members for further investigation sometime ago.

Other business will be a discussion regarding the blacktopping of Lansdowne street from Hatchery to Williams Lake road, according to Clerk James Seeterlin.

How to pay for three new automatic voting machines will also be on the agenda.

Another topic up for discussion will be the rental of an additional room at the Community Activities Center for a portable hospital to be set up by the Civil Defense department of Oakland County.

The CAI has donated one large room for the CD training course which is expected to begin about the first of the year.

Attends Right Meeting But in Wrong Hall

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — A man rushed into the Norman Chamber of Commerce office and told City Manager John F. Malone "Sorry I'm late for the meeting."

"What meeting?" asked Malone. "A retail trade committee meeting," said the man.

"That was last Monday," Malone explained. Suddenly a light dawned on the man's face and he explained as he rushed for the door: "I remember now. It wasn't the Chamber at all. The meeting is at the Baptist Church."

Officers Subdue Bull Without 'Ole' Shouts

BALTIMORE (AP) — There was no one around to shout "Ole!" but patrolmen Walter Sheppard and William Evans finally subdued the one-ton Brahms bull in a clearing off Washington Boulevard.

The bull had vaulted the fence of a meat-packing company pen. The police fired away with revolver and 30-30 rifle as the enraged animal charged their car again and again, but bullets bounced off its tough hide. They finally brought him down, after using about 50 bullets.

Use Many Yule Trees

WASHINGTON — The Department of Agriculture reports that some 25,000,000 Christmas trees were produced in the United States last year. In addition, about 4,000,000 trees were imported for the Christmas market from Canada.

Anti-British Party Loses in Zanzibar

ZANZIBAR — At Zanzibar's first general election, the anti-British Party was soundly beaten.

There was little excitement in the sun-soaked and clove-scented anachronism that is Zanzibar, observers reported. Everybody voted early because after 10 a.m. in that climate even putting a cross opposite a name would be far too exhausting.

The goldsmiths, ivory carvers and silk merchants retire to the dark, cool recesses of their little shops. By 10, those without shops, the yam hawkers, coffee sellers, banana and mango traders, are making for the shade of the palm trees.

Voting was confined to males over 25 with an income of 62 cents a day or more, which barred a large number of Zanzibaris.

Christmas vacations in the Marlette schools will begin Dec. 20 at 4 p.m. and will continue until the morning of Jan. 6.

THE BERRYS

Michigan's All-Out War Spares Them

750 Saved From Highway Death

By TOM SHAWVER

LANSING (AP)—Scattered through Michigan are some 750 men, women and children who, statistically speaking, should already have gone to their graves.

Providence spared their lives, but a helping hand came from a host of citizens waging a year-around battle to control two of the nation's most relentless killers—the motorist and his automobile.

The names of the 750 are unknown and they themselves are unaware of their good fortune. As statistics, they represent the reduction in highway fatalities since Michigan declared all-out war against a rising traffic toll two years ago.

Toward the end of 1955 it became evident that 2,000 persons—roughly the population of Grayling—would die in traffic before the year was out. The final count was 2,018, the third highest toll in state history. Another 62,234 were injured.

Michigan's 1955 traffic record was abysmal, putting it seventh among the eight large industrial states and 30th nationally.

Shocked and angered, citizens demanded a brake on the growing slaughter.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams responded by calling a special legislative session. Out of it came the most ambitious safety program the state had seen.

Lawmakers voted $300,000 for a new traffic safety center at Michigan State University to pep up research and education and help organize and direct the campaign.

State police strength was jumped 200, mostly to stiffen traffic enforcement.

Pioneering nationally, the state required a driver training course for anyone under 18 as a condition of licensing. This amounted to compulsory driver training in high schools, in part subsidized by the state.

National guardsmen were ordered to reinforce state police and sheriff's traffic patrols on holidays. A state speed limit was fixed for the first time—65 miles an hour in daytime, 55 at night.

Newspapers and radio and TV stations pitched in, bombarding readers, listeners and viewers with safety gospel and the cold facts of traffic hazards.

The results speak for themselves. Last year auto deaths fell 13 per cent to 1,747, and this year are expected to skid another 11 per cent to 1,550.

But Secy. of State James M. Hare, one of the prime movers in the campaign, says progress is getting tougher.

"The number of licensed drivers went up by more than 320,000 between 1955 and 1956," he said. "The number of vehicles jumped 25,000 and the miles they traveled 600 million. Accordingly, reducing deaths gets progressively harder.

How to reduce injuries and accidents as well as fatalities is one of the big problems confronting leaders in Michigan's traffic safety campaign as it moves into its third year.

Eden Recovering From New Attack

LOOE, England (AP)—Sir Anthony Eden was reported recovering today from a new attack of fever but his doctors suggested he move nearer London so they can keep in closer touch with him.

Eden, now 60, suffered several fever attacks last February after he resigned as prime minister because of ill health. He had a bile duct operation in Boston in April. Two months ago his doctors told him he was not fully recovered from the liver ailment and needed more rest.

Eden and his wife moved 12 days ago into a rented 30-room mansion here in southwest England, 200 miles from London.

Good Site for Reclus

LAKE CITY, Colo. (AP)—When it comes to making claims as the scantiest populated county in the nation, Hinsdale county is in there pitching. Mrs. Jean Vickers, county clerk, says the south-central Colorado mountain county has not more than 150 residents.

Gold Fever Spreads in Inchon

South Koreans Eye Treasure Isle

INCHON, Korea (INS)—A pint-sized, cone-shaped dot in the Yellow Sea, visible from the port city of Inchon, has suddenly become South Korea's 20th century "treasure island."

A fortune of $600,000 in gold bullion is believed buried somewhere on the little island, and a full-blown treasure hunt has been going on for the past three weeks. Close-kipped army officers and back privates are working almost round the clock every day with modern bulldozers in search of the hidden gold—believed buried by a wealthy Japanese merchant at the close of World War II.

3 MILES OUT
Peony Island, the site of the treasure hunt, is a little dab of land situated three miles north-west of Inchon. It is clearly visible from downtown International Park, on top of a hill where the brooding bronze figure of general off the army, Douglas MacArthur, overlooks the harbor.

For centuries Peony (or Chak-yak in Korean) Island has been a mecca to native medicinal herb collectors. Peony roots grown on the little island supposedly make a health-giving herb tonic.

Except for the herb collectors, few people visit the island, whose circumference can be negotiated in a leisurely half-hour stroll, but during the summer season a sandy beach on the west side of the island draws swimmers from the city.

A former millionaire Japanese merchant in Inchon named Hisao Suzuki is supposed to have buried his gold hoardings—worth $600,000 today—just before he was evacuated to Japan at the end of the last world war.

Unconfirmed reports say the Japanese made an unsuccessful attempt to smuggle himself into Korea two years ago. At the time Suzuki was reportedly an invalid suffering from an advanced stage of tuberculosis.

Now a resident of Tokyo, Suzuki is said to have written six letters to a former Korean colleague, asking the latter's cooperation in re-locating the gold hoard.

The ROK Army criminal investigation department reportedly intercepted the letters and the result was the excavation work begun three weeks ago under army supervision.

In an interview with International News Service, an army spokesman confirmed the treasure hunt but refused to give any details. The operation, he said, is "under a cloak of secrecy."

The spokesman merely said contents of the letters obviously warranted full-scale investigation and the excavation work now being conducted with mechanized equipment.

The treasure hunt started under great secrecy, but somehow word leaked out, and it has become a sensational story in Korea.

$28,000,000 Plant Starts to Store Gas

MARACAIBO, Venezuela—The world's largest gas-conservation plant, a $28,000,000 installation in Lake Maracaibo, has gone into operation. It is designed to put back into the earth for storage purposes 300,000,000 cubic feet of compressed gas daily.

The plant is seven miles from shore on a platform 460 feet long and 131 feet wide. The platform, 15 feet above 35-foot-deep water, rests on 330 concrete pilings.

The installation houses 12 gas turbines of 8,000 horsepower which drive a like number of centrifugal compressors. This constitutes the largest single concentration of gas-combustion turbines in the world.

Improbable Question Draws Likely Answer

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—Sen. Mike Monroney (D-Okla.), speaking at a meeting here, was asked his views on the distinction between allowing Russian membership in the United Nations and barring Red China.

Monroney launched into a lengthy explanation and then inquired: "Did that answer your question?" "Well—not exactly," the man replied, "but I wouldn't want you to repeat it."

Sum of $1,500 Putting Bulges in Pot-O-Gold

Several hundred dollars would come in handy right now for just about everyone, and here's an easy way to get it. Pick out the right numbers, write them in the blanks and send it to us on a postcard by the deadline date given in the rules. Could you ask for easier money?

The new puzzle contains a series of squares which are alphabetically lettered and a corresponding list of sentences with two clue words. Each of the words is numbered. The object is to select the word which you think best fits the clue sentence. You then place the number of that word in the square which has the same letter as the clue sentence.

In other words, you will read the clue labeled A and decide which of the two words makes the most sense in the puzzle square marked A.

Meany to Testify on Hoffa's Election

WASHINGTON (AP)—AFL-CIO President George Meany will be summoned to testify in a suit aimed at erasing the election of James R. Hoffa as president of the big Teamsters Union.

Godfrey P. Schmidt, counsel for a group of 13 New York Teamsters who brought the suit, said he might want to question Meany about what Schmidt called the "irreparable damage" done to the labor movement by the leadership of the truckers union.

Schmidt told this to newsmen as Federal Dist. Judge F. Dickinson Letts prepared to resume hearing testimony in the case.

Specifically, Schmidt said he might want a forecast by Meany of the effects of the labor movement of the Teamsters ouster from the AFL-CIO and what will happen "if this split continues and widens into a breach."

2 Youths Learn It Doesn't Pay to Ride Freights

DEMING, N.M. (AP)—Two El Paso, Tex., youngsters decided they were tired of pedaling their bicycles.

Seeing a stopped freight train, they threw their bikes in the door, planning to get off when the train stopped, as usual, in downtown El Paso.

The train didn't stop. It didn't even slow down until it reached Lordsburg, N. M., 160 miles away.

With no breakfast, Jose Martinez, 16, and David Vargas, 10, pooled pennies and bought three carrots. Then they started pedaling home.

After 36 miles, night fell and it was raining. A car slammed into the rear of their bikes, demolishing them.

Jose received a severe leg cut. David a gashed cheek and scratches.

The boys were hospitalized here, still 100 miles from home. They'll be released today.

Queen Mary Arrives 2 Days Behind Schedule

NEW YORK (AP)—The liner Queen Mary, delayed by high winds and heavy seas, docked here today 2½ days behind schedule.

The Cunard vessel, originally due here Friday morning, left Southampton 24 hours late because of high winds. Once at sea, gales and rough going accounted for another 36-hour delay.

The ship carried 1,274 passengers.

Congress Eyes Sick Presidents

Will Try to Clear Up Issue of How to Relieve Them of Duties

WASHINGTON (AP)—New efforts to clear up the knotty question of how an ailing president could legally be relieved of his duties will be made after Congress reconvenes in January.

An acceptable solution to the problem, which has assumed new importance in view of President Eisenhower's three illnesses in 26 months, apparently will not be easy to find.

Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.) said he is drafting a proposed constitutional amendment which would permit a Congress-Cabinet commission to determine whether a president is able to continue in office.

Kefauver said the Constitutional Amendments subcommittee he heads also will begin hearings shortly after Congress returns in January to determine the conditions under which a vice president might replace a disabled president.

Eisenhower has proposed a constitutional amendment under which the president could declare in writing he is unable to discharge the duties of the presidency and the vice president would become acting president.

A majority of the Cabinet could install the vice president as acting president if the President were unable to determine his own fitness to function in office.

Sign Dorothy Dandridge as 'Porgy and Bess' Star

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—At the party at Romanoff's (after the "Peyton Place" premiere) I asked Buddy Adler what he has in mind for those two young and fine actresses Diane Varsi and Hope Lange.

He told me that he is going to team them in "Dormitory Girls."

"Don't you dare say this is a re-make," he added. "It is an entirely new story even though 30th made a picture by this title some time ago. Only the title remains now, and the new story will be different."

I heard from another source that Diane received a raise as a Christmas present because of her work in "Peyton Place." Her mother is here from San Mateo to spend Christmas with her daughter and granddaughter, Diane's 14-month-old baby.

I can tell you that it will be announced today or tomorrow that Dorothy Dandridge has been signed for Bess in "Porgy and Bess." She always had the inside track, and she'll be very good, too.

Dorothy will play opposite Sidney Poitier, and it looks as though Sam Goldwyn is playing in his usual big box office, and who will give their usual fine performances.

I thought Dorothy would get it since no other actress seems as right for the role as she.

Jackie Gleason's wife, from whom he is separated, isn't going to like this, but she might as well face the fact that their daughter Geraldine is a chip off the old block.

One of my friends who saw her in a comedy lead of "Roberta" at Marymount College in the East, said 19-year-old Geraldine walked away with the show.

Talent scouts who seldom miss these amateur performances in schools and colleges, immediately contacted her. But Mrs. G. is opposed and trying to discourage the idea of show business. The opinion of those close to the young girl are that nothing will stop Geraldine, however.

I'm getting awfully sick of Marion Brando (and other actors like him) singing that old song, "My private life is my own—don't dare ask me personal questions." Why not? He's a public figure.

We Americans don't even permit our presidents the luxury of a private life. President Eisenhower's life, including his illnesses, is open to the press—and so are the family affairs of other public officials.

As for these shy violet actors, they know when they go into a career what the rules of the game are. They break their necks to get in the spotlight and rate favorable attention from the press. Then the minute they make it big, some of them (not all, thank heavens!) assume the affectation that they are untouchable. Get wise, Marion, and start making friends with people who have done much to further your career.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Ginger Rogers telephoned from Havana to say, "You must come to Cuba—you'd love it." Ginger said she finishes at the new Riviera Club the day before Christmas and will then meet her mother either in New York or Florida for Christmas.

Martha Ryer, looking more like Grace Kelly than ever, sat at Buddy Adler's table with her escort, attorney Arnold Grant, at the Romanoff party.

"Is this a romance?" I asked Greg Bautzer, who, with his pretty Dana, was also with the Adlers. "It's Arnold's first date with her," said barrister Bautzer.

Walter Winchell, dancing by with Terry Moore, stopped to talk with us. He expressed indignation to Jimmy McHugh over a song which has "Sunny Side" in the title. He said it is a direct steal from Jimmy's song "Sunny Side of the Street."

Audrey Hepburn, in a Givenchy gown of pink, didn't miss a dance. Gary Cooper, with Rocky, who looked very chic as always, has been taking dancing lessons and was one of Audrey's partners. She, of course, was with Mel Ferrer.

The threat that's greater than Sputnik

Sputnik has made America take a new look at itself.

We have rightly decided that we will stand second to no nation in defense, with the most modern weapons science can provide. To reach this goal, our nation may well have to pour extra billions of dollars into defense.

We must achieve this defense strength without going into another inflationary spiral, or we could easily lose the freedom which comes from strength—economic as well as military.

No satellite launching by other powers could possibly be as great a "cold war" victory as run-away inflation in the United States.

While prices, along with business generally, appear to be leveling off at the moment, any hope that we have turned the corner on inflation is premature.

Powerful inflationary forces are still with us, and the need for new defense spending adds to them.

We can check inflation and keep our economy strong—if we all work together as aroused citizens. There's a job for each and every one of us to do. For example—

Each of us should encourage those who represent us in government to make every effort to balance new expenditures for defense with less spending in other areas.

Employers and employees together need to realize that our economy cannot afford wage and price increases unless they are based on greater values for the customer or greater productivity of the worker. All of us need to produce more in order to earn more. For we all have a stake in a sound economy in support of our defense effort.

The American people have responded to many challenges in the course of our nation's history. And, with a full knowledge of the facts, they will rise to this challenge, too—by building a strong defense and, at the same time, keeping our economy strong.

What Does Hubby Run? - Vacuum Cleaner

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

That if you check up on the average husband who brags he runs things in his house, you'll find the things he runs are the errands and the vacuum cleaner.

That more than half of all the lamb marketed in the United States is eaten in the New York City area. Families in New Orleans eat five times as much veal as those in Wisconsin. The average Californian consumes 25 pounds more beef a year than the residents of any other state.

That a survey by the Hotel Edison here showed the item most often left behind by guests was a comb.

That a guided missile office in the Pentagon is reported to have had this sign on the door: "Out to launch."

That there are more than 50,000 light bulbs in the United Nations building.

That the childhood ambition of Princess Grace of Monaco was to become an FBI agent.

That a bear cub may weigh less than a pound at birth, but a baby elephant enters this world weighing nearly 200 pounds.

That comic George De Witt gives this description of an annoying salesman: "He's the firm's affront man."

That a week off is usually followed by an off week.

That pink elephants really do exist. In some parts of Africa they give themselves a dust bath with reddish soil and it sticks to their moist hides.

That the average man has 66 pounds of muscle but only 3.3 pounds of brains.

That you can hide the scratches on red - finished mahogany by painting with fresh iodine.

That the first book printed in French, "A Discourse of Housewifery," issued in 1567, said "Eggs are good for the sick and for suffering from wantonness (hangover) and for bridegrooms."

That it was Rudyard Kipling who observed, "The silliest woman can manage a clever man; but it needs a very clever woman to manage a fool!"

High Party Leaders Blame Ike's Regime for Sliding U.S. Prestige

DETROIT — A group of high-ranking state Democratic leaders has charged the Eisenhower administration with a spreading nationwide recession and with letting United States prestige abroad "plunge to an all-time low."

The statements were made at a Democratic conference on 1958 election campaign plans here yesterday. Among party strategists attending the session were Gov. Williams, Sen. McNamara (D-Mich.), Lt. Gov. Philip Hart and six Democratic congressmen.

"Events of recent weeks have seen the international prestige of the United States plunge to an all-time low at a time when the nation is simultaneously beset by serious domestic problems," the group said in a joint statement.

Unemployment, the high cost of living and a "bleak future" for small business are the result of GOP policies in regard to hard money and its favoritism toward big business, the group said.

The statement also charged the Eisenhower administration with failing to provide leadership in the field of education.

Mr. Sperry and his wife operated the Sperry Paint and Supply Co. in Lapeer for the past six years. He leaves his wife, Lucille; his mother, Mrs. Alice Sperry of Port Huron; two daughters, Mrs. Earl Marindale of Durand, and Mrs. Walter Moore, San Diego, Calif.; two sisters, Mrs. Dwight Vincent of Yale and Mrs. Ted Newman of Livenia; a brother, Clifford, of Capac, and seven grandchildren.

The family asks that memorial donations be made to the Wall Lake Methodist Church.

Dutch Rushing

Three Ships to Leave Javanese Ports With Hollanders

JAKARTA, Indonesia — The departure of Dutch nationals from Indonesia, underway by air for a week, speeds up today with the sailing of the first of three ships from Javanese ports.

The Waterman, a 9,000-ton vessel owned by the Netherlands government, was scheduled to leave Surabaya, East Java, with the first load of Dutch subjects.

Another Dutch liner, the Sibajak, and a British troopship chartered by the Dutch, the Captain Cook, later will depart from Jakarta and Semarang. The three ships will take an undisclosed number of passengers to Singapore, Amsterdam and Rotterdam.

(In Singapore, the Dutch consulate said the Captain Cook would pick up about 800 Dutchmen.)

Many Dutch still were uncertain about their status in the island republic which their government ruled until nine years ago. In ordering the Dutch out, the Indonesian government specified that it especially wanted technicians and other vitally needed workers to remain.

But the portion of the 46,000 Dutch nationals who want to leave Indonesia seems to be growing rapidly. The Dutch diplomatic mission says many requests for visas are being received from technicians and workers.

He was arrested in Memphis when he attempted to pawn some sterling silver there in November. The theft occurred Feb. 19, 1956, at the home of F. W. D. Peterson, 888 Westwood.

Britain's Do-It-Yourself Craze Gets Out of Hand

LONDON (INS) — This "do-it-yourself" craze is getting somewhat out of hand in Britain today. In the town of Bengoe, 32-year-old Mrs. Cleone Gardner, housewife and mother of three children, is putting up a most professional-looking brick garage.

LAYS BRICKS

It's her first attempt at brick laying but she is undaunted by the project.

"Why shouldn't a woman build a garage," she challenges. "I'm finding it great fun."

Just why is she building her own garage? Mrs. Gardner says the idea came to her several months ago when she and her husband agreed that they wanted a garage big enough to take a large car and the family bicycles.

"My husband is very busy," she explained. "He's keeper of oriental books at the British Museum. Besides, he really prefers gardening."

Mrs. Gardner decided to go ahead with garage building after she and her husband had studied do-it-yourself books. They got a professional estimate, which amounted to $420, but by that time Mrs. Gardner was so fascinated by the idea that she couldn't resist having a stab at it herself.

Mrs. Gardner drew up her own plans which were approved by the Hertford Borough Council. She got her husband to help her dig the foundations but from then on she was on her own.

She is doing all the bricklaying, working two hours a day, while her children play in the sand.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP) — Another mark of the Old West has been erased from Albuquerque. Public Works Director E. O. Betts ordered removal of the few remaining horse hitching rings in curbs along Third street after he saw a woman stumble on one. "I don't really think we need them anymore," he said.

Boy Asks Help in Finding Dad

Appeals to Newspaper to Bring Father Home for Christmas

CHICAGO (U)—A 15-year-old Wisconsin boy has appealed to the Chicago Tribune for help in finding his father and bringing him home to his family for Christmas.

The boy, Alfred Kusnier, of Eagle Lake Manor, Kanasville, who said he has a sister 10 and a brother 8, asked to have the letter printed "to see if our daddy would read it and come home for Christmas." The boy said his father—actually his stepfather William Kusnier Jr.—left home last Aug. 3.

"If he only knew how much we all need him," the boy wrote, "I think that he would come home. We are being put out of our home because of not having the money for the rent and we don't have the money to pay for this either."

In his letter to his father, Alfred said: "If you should read this you will know how much we need you. Christmas is coming and we, Alfred, Marilee and Richard and Mommy need you and want you to come home. Would you please do this and then we can get everything straightened out."

The family moved from suburban Stone Park last June because they believed living in Wisconsin would be cheaper. Mrs. Kusnier says she thinks her husband may have come to Chicago to work.

Find 952 Bodies in Iran Quake

New Tremors Sunday Shake 17 Villages in Disaster Area

TEHRAN, Iran (U)—The government announced today that disaster workers have found 952 bodies in the wreckage left by earthquakes which rocked west Iran.

As the rubble from Friday's quake in the Kermanshah area was still being searched for victims, a new quake rocked at least 17 villages yesterday in the same region. The number of lives taken by the two quakes was unknown.

A government announcement after the first quake placed the number of dead at 1,287, but Gov. Gen. Emmat Mottaz of Kermanshah said that number seemed too high.

The Turkish red crescent, the equivalent of the Red Cross, announced that 1,000 tents would be flown to Iran today for homeless victims. Queen Soraya donated 2½ million rials ($33,600) to establish an orphanage in the disaster area.

Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi toured the region by plane and planned to return in a car. Another tour was planned by Clark S. Gregory, director of the U. S. Point-Four program in Iran, and Dr. Glenn McDonald, chief of the program's public health division, who sought to determine the need for U. S. aid.

Bucket Brigade Works

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (U)—A bucket brigade worked in the state capital yesterday after rain water poured through leaks in the roof, flooded several offices and dripped into the Senate chamber. Workers used waste baskets to catch the water. A crew mopped up upper floor offices. Three plumbers and an electrician stood by.

Israelis Ask Action

Warn NATO on Mideast

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN
INS Chief European Correspondent

PARIS (INS)—Israeli diplomats are warning NATO that it will be dangerous for next week's Summit Conference to be silent on the Middle East.

And, strange as it may seem, some Israelis in high diplomatic positions would like the United States to pump millions of dollars of aid into Arab Jordan right away to counter Soviet moves in Syria.

The warning about silence at the Summit is based on the Israeli conviction that the Soviets will interpret lack of western policy as an open invitation for faster penetration in the area.

An Israeli diplomat explained:

"To the Russians, silence on the issue will mean there are deep divisions of policy among NATO members on the question of the Middle East. The Russians will see that as a chance to move more boldly and with safety because a divided West cannot act."

As a non-NATO country Israel will not be represented at the Summit talks. But as a Middle Eastern nation dependent for its very existence on a strong western position, Israel is doing what it can to make its ideas known in advance of the Summit.

GET FRENCH EAR

The most sympathetic ear so far has been given by the French.

The main Israeli plea to the West is "to make your presence known and felt in our part of the world."

An Israeli diplomat said: "The West has many friends in the area. The game is not lost, far from it. For obvious reasons, Israel is on the side of the West. But there are others, like Iran and Turkey outside the Arab world and Lebanon, Iraq and Jordan inside it."

DANGER OF SILENCE

"The danger of NATO silence on the area is that it not only will encourage NATO's enemies, particularly Russia, but will discourage all these friends."

In the Israeli viewpoint Jordan is the main danger point now.

"If the Russians and their Arab supporters can topple the regime of King Hussein and get a pro-Soviet government then Syria and Egypt will be linked by land."

"That would create a formidable Arab base for anti-West campaigning. Immediately Iraq would be in danger."

The Russians, of course, know this. They are trying to make a showpiece of Syria, offering aid valued at about $200 million.

"It would be a good thing for the United States to give an equal amount of aid to Jordan."

The diplomat admitted that Jordan probably couldn't utilize that much aid properly, but said "neither can Syria, and if the Communists have one showpiece in the Middle East, the West needs another."

Solon Asks Demilitarized Corridor

Urges East-West Meeting

WASHINGTON (INS)—Sen. Ralph E. Flanders (R-Vt) urged the Western powers and Russia yesterday to discuss withdrawal of military forces from a corridor through Central Europe.

Flanders, a member of the Armed Forces Committee and preparedness subcommittee, also proposed East-West talks to end intercontinental ballistic missile development.

The New England Republican said on a television program any ban ICBM development would have to come as part of a disarmament agreement based on "full inspection and control."

He said "total inspection" would also be necessary in his proposed plan for military pullouts in Central Europe. Flanders suggested territory involved might be between the Oder-Neisse and Rhine Rivers.

Flanders asserted Russia has incentives to spend less on armaments. He remarked: "Preservation of the power of Russian rulers demands the raising of the standard of living in the area Russia controls."

Paulette Goddard Denies Marriage

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (U)—Actress Paulette Goddard denied Sunday that she had been secretly married to author Eric Remarque during his visit with her in Chicago recently.

"That is not true. That sort of story comes up about every six months," Miss Goddard said. "We have been engaged for five years. I believe in long engagements."

The actress, here for a four-day run of the "Waltz of Toreadors" with Melvyn Douglas, said Remarque flew to Chicago to visit her.

Miss Goddard said she would leave Louisville for New York City Friday to spend the Christmas holidays. Remarque, author of "All Quiet on the Western Front" and other books, lives in New York.

Girls Take Judo Class

NORMAN, Okla. (U)—Dr. Percy Buchanan, director of Asiatic affairs at the University of Oklahoma, opened a judo class for girls. Sixty coeds signed up.

Air-Ground Search Set for Plane Carrying 7

SAN FRANCISCO (U)—An air-ground search was planned today for a twin-engine plane believed to have crashed last night with seven persons aboard on a stormy flight from Reno, Nev.

The plane was en route to San Francisco over the storm-swept Sierras.

Its last radio report indicated no trouble.

Toting Pistols Again

TOKYO (U)—Japan's traffic policemen, armed in recent years only with whistles and night sticks, are going to start toting pistols again. Reason: A rash of taxi robberies.

Former Slave Dies

COLUMBUS, Ohio (U)—Mathew Carter, who was born a slave in Phenix City, Ala., 106 years ago, died yesterday at his home here. He leaves 72 descendants—7 children, 27 grandchildren and 38 great grandchildren.

Rabbit Hunter Killed

HOPKINS (U)—Lloyd Hazen, 54, of Hopkins was shot fatally yesterday when his shotgun discharged accidentally while he was rabbit hunting in Allegan County. John Massfield was named Post Laureate of England in 1930.

The Highway Ride of 1975 is Here!

New Fenton-Clio Expressway takes fullest advantage of safety through modern design and use of skid-resistant concrete

Smooth Driving Ahead...on concrete

There's a new thrill awaiting you on Michigan's newest concrete highways. Expressway design makes driving easier and safer... and the concrete pavement is smoother than ever before. Years of research and testing, plus improved construction methods, make new concrete roadways the finest of all pavements. You get a new smoothness and quietness in your ride. New concrete pavement not only gives the best riding qualities but has improved durability. These wonderful new roads will last 50 years... and more.

Concrete is Safer, Too!

Easy-to-drive concrete highways are safer. Concrete's gritty texture offers better traction and reduces skid danger. You get a smooth, quiet ride and your tire grip better. And at night, your visibility on concrete is up to four times better than on dark asphalt surfaces. Wet or dry, daylight or dark, concrete is the safety pavement.

This added service life and traditionally lower upkeep cost means tax dollars go further when invested in concrete. Michigan's newest concrete expressways are keeping the Wolverine state's reputation for leadership in highway building. They will carry heavy truck loads safely and efficiently because they are scientifically engineered. Drive one of these new concrete highways and you'll agree you never had a smoother, safer ride.

"HOPPY" ON MOVE — Hopalong Cassidy, Detroit's running star in the victory over the Chicago Bears yesterday, falls into the clutches of Chicago tackler Joe Fortunato as teammates

Steve Junker (88), Lou Creekmur (76) and Jim Doran (83) provide the blocking. Cassidy broke away from Fortunato for a gain on this play and the Lions won in a second half rally, 21-13.

Star St. Michael lineman Jerry Ohngren is hopeful of going on to college next fall. The All-County Class C selection might be a big help to some school during the next few years.

Word out of Clarkston is that former Wolves' three-sport star George Lang will transfer from Kalamazoo College to Eastern Michigan in the near future. George did not play any football during the past season, due to concentrating on his studies.

Texas Aggie stars John Crow and Charley Krueger had to turn down bids to play in the senior bowl because of the Southwest Conference ruling which would take away their scholarships.

Two of the boys who helped Troy upset Lake Orion Friday night never expected to be playing ball this season. Sandy Morgan is a former polo victim and Bill Hansen was hospitalized most of last year with a kidney ailment. They combined for 29 points in the game.

It seems 300 games are no longer a rarity among Pontiac bowlers. Bill Furlong's perfect game at Huron Bowl Friday was the 2nd of the year here. Walt Rennhack had the other last March at Motor Inn. Walt's had been the 1st sanctioned 300 in this area in 13 years.

It's the thing, nowadays, to be really in the swing with winter sports, that a ski area must be provided with a snow machine. These simple devices, thoroughly effective when there are freezing temperatures, keep hills in fine condition, with excellent blankets of snow, when the weather fails to cooperate. The Pontiac Ski Club's Highland Recreation area, according to Art Kollin, will be so equipped next winter.

Rams Scuttle Colts' Bid; Browns Topple Giants

LOS ANGELES (U) — The 1957 gridiron wars were over today for the Baltimore Colts and the Los Angeles Rams, the Colts' bid for a championship ended and the Rams owner of a 6-6 record and a new season attendance record for football.

The Rams ruined Baltimore's title hopes, 37-21, in the final regular season battle of the National Football League yesterday before 52,560 rain-drenched fans which brought their attendance mark for the season, at home and on the road, in seven exhibition and 12 league games, to 1,051,106.

The Cleveland Browns, Eastern champions, warmed up for their championship match, rallying to whip the New York Giants 34-28 and Washington outkicked Pittsburgh 10-3 in other NFL games.

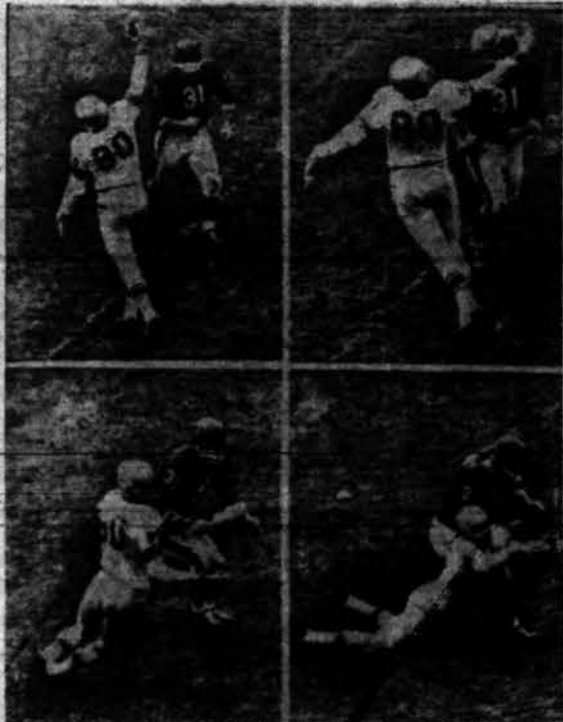

The Colts made a gallant try to stay in the Western Conference title picture. But the artistry of two elder-statesmen of the Rams,

Promising Welters on St. Nick Program

Denny Russo and Tony DeCola, two promising welterweights from Brooklyn, meet Monday at St. Nicholas Arena in New York in an interesting match.

Russo, who won't be 20 until Christmas Eve, has a fine 12-3 record. He moved out of the preliminary ranks in the last five months, beating Eddie Lynch and Peter Schmidt.

HARD WAY — Detroit end Jerry Reichow bats around a pass from quarterback Tobin Rote before making a great catch as the ball headed toward the ground. It was ruled complete as Joe Fortunato (31) tried in vain to break up the play.

Lions Not Surprised by Chicago Strategy

DETROIT (U) — The Detroit Lions football coaching staff today agreed on two things, there's not too much new in pro football and the Chicago Bears "blabbermouthed" their way to defeat.

Detroit beat the Bears, 21-13, yesterday and will meet the San Francisco 49ers in a playoff game for the division title next Sunday.

It was events leading up to the game that the Detroit coaches think made the difference.

Bears coach Paddy Driscoll and owner George Halas were quoted in Chicago newspapers last week as saying they planned "something new" for the Lions.

Lions defensive coach Buster Ramsey, going under the theory that "there's not too much new in pro football," worked the defensive team all last week on everything except the spread formation and the single wing. Then just after breakfast yesterday, Ramsey told the defensive players how to work against a spread.

Ramsey said he well remembered how the Bears beat the Lions, 27-7, three weeks ago on straight power plays up the middle with fullback Rick Casares gaining more than 100 yards.

Yesterday Casares gained a total of 19 yards and Ramsey thinks Chicago outsmarted itself by trying to get fancy instead of going with straight power plays.

"That spread formation didn't surprise us," said Ramsey. "I think the Bears telegraphed their strategy."

Howard (Hopalong) Cassidy, who was noticeably limping after the game suffering a groin injury, said "we were as tight as a bunch of school kids." Cassidy, who carried 16 times for 64 yards, was used when Detroit needed vital yardage. "I felt like a fullback out there," said the little, 180-pound halfback.

Baltimore opened the game with a bang and closed their scoring in the same fashion.

Quarterback Johnny Unitas' first play was a 62-yard completion to end Ray Berry, and three plays later a 2-yard slip to Lenny Moore put Baltimore in front.

The final Baltimore touchdown was a 29-yard play. Milt Davis took a kickoff on the one, ran to the 10, lateraled to Moore on the eight and Moore streaked down the sidelines for the touchdown.

Coach Weeb Ewbank of the Colts, obviously unhappy, admitted his pass protection was off and he wasn't delighted with some phases of the officiating.

Rookie quarterback Milt Plum passed for one touchdown and set up three others against the Giants, NFL defending champion. The Browns ended with a 9-2-1 record.

Sam Baker, Washington's field goal kicker, faked one on fourth down at Griffith Park and ran 20 yards past a stunned Pittsburgh team for the game's lone touchdown. He had previously kicked a field goal and ended his scoring sweep by converting after his touchdown.

Playoff With Frisco Next for Lions

Rally Beats Green Bay, 27-20

49ers Bank on Tittle to Win

SAN FRANCISCO (U) — Battling for their first title in 12 years of trying, the never-quit San Francisco 49ers bank on battered quarterback Y. A. Tittle in the playoff with the Detroit Lions here Sunday.

At stake are the championship of the National Football League's Western Conference and the right to meet the Cleveland Browns for the league crown on Dec. 29.

Yesterday's regular season windup, with Baltimore bounced out of contention by the Los Angeles Rams, gave the 49ers the break of their home field for the playoffs.

To reach the decisive game, the 49ers needed Tittle in the worst way. They trailed the last place Green Bay Packers 20-10 at half-time, before 50,522 fans, the fifth sellout in Kezar Stadium this year. During the first two periods, the vet of 10 pro seasons sat on the bench because of pulled muscles in both legs. Rookie John Brodie guided the sputtering first half offense.

Then in came Tittle, the team steadied. Joe Perry turned in a tremendous rushing effort and in 15 minutes and 20 seconds the 49ers had a 27-20 lead that held to the end.

"Tittle won it for us," declared a happy Coach Frankie Albert after the game. "How do those legs feel?" he called into the shower room.

"They'll be all right," came back the calm reply.

Sanders Sought for Texas Post

LA Paper Says He'll Talk Over Proposal With Aggies

LOS ANGELES (U) — UCLA football Coach Red Sanders, whose contract has six years to run, is going to talk about the Texas A&M coaching job Wednesday in College Station, Tex.

Sanders and his wife will fly there to consider an offer which the Los Angeles Times says consists of $15,000 a year plus $5,000 a year expenses; producing a TV show that would net Sanders another $10,000; a substantial amount of stock in a triple A classification oil corporation; a new station wagon every year, and an air conditioned, rent-free home with all food supplied free.

Sanders admitted he is interested in the offer but said he has discussed the matter so far only on the telephone "and no one, naturally, discusses price over the telephone, although I gathered that the money situation down there is pretty good."

Titan Quint Upsets Favored Louisville

DETROIT (U) — University of Detroit just doesn't have any regard for opponent basketball ratings.

The Titans won their third game in five starts by upsetting highly ranked Louisville, 68-64, Saturday night. It broke Louisville's three game winning streak.

Mike Walsh got 19 points and Ralph Uchison was one point behind in the Detroit attack. The Titans play St. Francis of Pennsylvania Tuesday night and Fordham Saturday night in tune-ups for the Motor City Classic tournament title against Georgia Tech, Marquette and Columbia.

Albert observed: "There's no substitute for experience."

Green Bay Coach Lisle Blackburn said the Lions were better against his club than were the 49ers and added that San Francisco "isn't going to win any championship game with Brodie."

In the dressing room at half-time there were no pep talks. Albert said later: "I told the team that Tittle would start the third quarter and it seemed to pick the players up. They were disgusted with themselves after the first half."

Taking charge on a slippery field and under cloudy skies that later poured rain, Tittle put the 49ers on a march that Gordy Soltau finished up with a 35-yard field goal.

BACK BREAKER — Dicky Mogle (47), San Francisco back, just manages to deflect the ball from a Green Bay Packer Max McGee (83) in a back bending attempt. The 49ers won the game 27-20 to go into a playoff game with the Lions next week.

Franklin Pro Captures Sanford Open

Burkemo Wins Meet

SANFORD, Fla. (U) — "I finally won a medal play tournament. After trying for 11 years, I finally made it."

Walter Burkemo was still beaming today over his Sanford Open golf victory after he and his playing partners—Ed (Porky) Oliver and Jay Hebert—staged a seesaw, suspense-packed windup that went to the final putt.

Burkemo, a whiz at match play but never better than second in a major PGA medal play tournament, stood off powerful bids by Oliver and Hebert and won by a single stroke.

The husky Detroit, playing out of Franklin Hills, Mich., fired a closing 37-31—68 for a 72-hole 269.

LA-Baltimore Game Delayed By Pigeon

White Bird Delivered to Sidelines After Invading Huddle

LOS ANGELES (U) — This time it was not a dog but a white pigeon.

Probably for the first time in National Football League history, a game was held up by a bird.

It was released during a half-time ceremony Sunday at the Los Angeles-Baltimore game. When play was resumed the pigeon, which was the pitching arm of quarterback Norman Van Brocklin of the Rams during a huddle.

Van Brocklin called time and delivered the bird to an attendant on the sideline.

Roller Skating Winners

Winners of the 2nd elimination race of the 2nd period at Pontiac Rolladium are as follows: Class A—Lynn Stanton and Carl Mercer; Class B—Linda Liken and Dennis Deacon; Class C—Sandra Hughes and David Correll; Diaper Division—Rowland Gray.

It was the first time Detroit defeated the Bears in Wrigley Field since 1953.

The Lions will meet the San Francisco 49ers in a playoff game at San Francisco Sunday. The 49ers remained in the running with a 27-20 home victory over the Green Bay Packers. Baltimore lost its chance for a three-way tie by bowing to the Rams 21-37 at Los Angeles.

Detroit and San Francisco finished the regular season with 8-4 records.

The Bears toyed with the visitors in the first half to the cheers of 41,000 fans. While the Chicago defense held Detroit's rushing to 13 yards, George Blanda kicked a first-quarter 25-yard field goal and Ed Brown rocketed a 44-yard pass to Bobby Watkins from a spread formation in the second. Watkins bounded across the goal from the 36-yard line.

Detroit unleashed a determined assault in the third quarter, scoring adroitly the first two times it took possession. Then with the game already on ice, the Detroiters added an insurance touchdown in the final 30 seconds.

Coach George Wilson of the Lions credited his team's sparkling comeback to a sudden recovery from a case of jitters.

"The team was tight when the game started and they didn't come out of it until the half was over," he said. "It was a big one for us and we knew we had to win it."

Howard (Hopalong) Cassidy sparked Detroit's third-quarter surge. He made a three-yard touchdown sweep around end to cap an 80-yard drive in nine plays. Later in the period he added vital yardage in a 55-yard play which ended with Tobin Rote's nine-yard touchdown pass to Dave Middleton.

Wilson said the main aim of the Detroit defense was to hold Chicago's Rick Casares to minimum yardage. The strategy worked and Casares gained only 19 yards in 12 carries.

Rote, filling in for the injured Bobby Layne, was a big factor in Detroit's second-half offense. Playing for his first championship, the former Green Bay Packer star completed 15 of 35 passes for 178 yards. He had four interceptions and picked up 60 yards running.

Detroit Breaks Jinx at Chicago With 21-13 Win

Showdown for Western Division Comes Sunday Against 49ers

CHICAGO (U) — The Detroit Lions broke a four-year Chicago jinx yesterday to whip the Chicago Bears and earn a tie for the Western Conference championship of the National Football League.

Crippled, scoreless and trailing by 10 points at the half, the determined Lions suddenly took command and battered through the Bear defenses for a chip-down 21-13 victory.

It was the first time Detroit defeated the Bears in Wrigley Field since 1953.

The Lions will meet the San Francisco 49ers in a playoff game at San Francisco Sunday. The 49ers remained in the running with a 27-20 home victory over the Green Bay Packers. Baltimore lost its chance for a three-way tie by bowing to the Rams 21-37 at Los Angeles.

Tuesday Prep Program Outstanding

High school basketball activity in the Oakland County area is thin Tuesday night, but the quality of the program more than makes up for the quantity.

Waterford's invasion of Clarkston, Avondale's visit to Rochester and Southfield's battle with Birmingham are top-notch attractions on a 21-game card.

League action takes a back seat tomorrow. Orchard Lake St. Mary goes to Highland Park for an important Suburban Catholic League scrap and three Southern Thumb games round out loop action.

The Waterford-Clarkston game matches the Class A Skippers against the defending co-champions of the Wayne-Oakland Conference, a "B" loop, but it's a safe bet that the bigger Skippers will have their hands full.

Dom Mast's Wolves, paced by diminutive Leroy Parks, have rolled to three straight victories. Clarkston is a veteran quintet which always hands out plenty of trouble on its own floor.

Waterford enters the contest with a 1-1 record. Sparked by forward John Herrington, the Skippers trounced Cranbrook before dropping their Inter-Lakes Conference opener to Farmington last Friday night.

The Avondale-Rochester clash should be a dilly. The two schools are big rivals and both give indications of developing into sound clubs.

Avon is unbeaten in two starts, boasting wins over Oxford and Clawson. The Falcons have lost only once in four games. "Peanuts" Montross leads the Rochester attack and 6-3 center Jerry Hill anchors the Jackets.

Birmingham, victor over Cranbrook in its only game to date, rates a slim edge over visiting Southfield, mainly because of its home court advantage. The Jays have failed to live up to their pre-season expectations, but they may break out at any time.

Berkley, the early power of the Inter-Lakes circuit, travels to Ferndale tomorrow for another non-league tilt of high interest. The contest will match Berkley's fine balance against Ferndale's classy Earl McNeal, who is off to another great season.

STRIKES AND SPARES
By Joe Wilman

How is your stance-and-approach concentration? Do you have an occasional lapse when you think about something other than bowling? Maybe you're worrying about some problem at home or at your office. Maybe you're remembering a joke someone just told. At any rate, you're not concentrating on bowling — when you definitely should be.

I've already mentioned that you should be concentrating on just one phase of your bowling game — the element that is giving you the most trouble on that night. But concentrating on some outside problem is worse than thinking about several bowling faults at the same time.

If you're stringing strikes and a lack of concentration causes you to miss the strike pocket, it costs you 21 pins right off the bat. And it can cost you as much as 38 — a pretty costly mental lapse, I'd say. Even if such a lapse only costs you a mark, many games are won and lost by 10 pins or less.

So, follow the example of our your stance, but be concentrating at the same time. Forget about other problems except the one at hand. That's one of the joys of bowling — forgetting your other problems for awhile.

Surprising Leafs Win 2

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

This was to be a season of rebuilding for the Toronto Maple Leafs—except no one bothered to inform the Leaf players of the team's blueprint plans.

The youth-studded Toronto Club, replete with a rookie coach in Billy Reay, didn't figure to cause much of a stir in the National Hockey League standings. In the pre-season evaluations, the Leafs were rated to finish no better than fifth.

But apparently the youngsters have bloomed quicker than anticipated and Toronto currently is a club that must be reckoned with. The Leafs, tied with the Boston Bruins for third place, are only four points behind the runaway New York Rangers.

The Leafs had a productive weekend with two victories over the Chicago Black Hawks Saturday and the Bruins Sunday. Toronto whipped Chicago 4-1 and turned back Boston 3-1. The revitalized Leafs have lost just one game in their last 10 starts.

Brian Cullen's goal with less than four minutes remaining broke a 1-1 tie with Boston. Bob Pulford then collected an insurance goal with six seconds to go as he targeted an empty net after Boston pulled its goalie in attempt to gain the equalizer.

Rookie Frank Mahovlich put Toronto in front in the opening period only to have the Bruins even matters on Fleming Mackell's second stanza goal.

In another game last night the league-leading Montreal Canadiens blanked Chicago 2-0.

Goalie Jacques Plante, in posting his third shutout for Montreal, had only 13 saves. Dollard St. Laurent and Don Marshall were the FIRE UP—A National Hockey League official struggles with New York Ranger captain George Sullivan in an effort to break up a fight with Detroit goalie Terry Sawchuk in their game in New York last night. Players from both teams converged on the battle. The Rangers won, 4-2.

Pistons Fall to Knicks in 8th Home Loss, 116-109

DETROIT (AP)—A peerless, 27-point performance by George Yardley failed to keep the Detroit Pistons from slowing to idling speed in their game with the New York Knicks last night.

The Pistons maintained a flawless pace in the first half of the National Basketball Assn. contest, reaching halftime with a 3-point lead, but when it was all over the Knicks had 116, the Pistons 109.

It was the Pistons' eighth home defeat against only three victories.

The Knicks pulled ahead and minutes before the intermission but the Pistons pulled ahead and were leading 61-53 at halftime. Detroit's fortunes were at its best late in the third period when it led by 14 points.

Then the roof fell in on the Pistons: a series of goals by Willie Naulls, Carl Braun, Ray Felix, Kenny Sears and Guy Sparrow was interrupted only once — when Nat (Sweetwater) Clifton scored for the Pistons.

The Knicks pulled away and with a little more than a minute remaining in the game held a 110-109 advantage. Detroit went scoreless from then on while New York scored with 24 points.

Meanwhile, the Pistons have placed former University of Detroit star Bill Ebben on an "option" list in order to meet the National Basketball Association 10-player limit.

The Pistons will retain title to Ebben and continue to pay his salary.

Two Pistons, Bob Houbregs and Dick Atha — are on the disabled list with injuries.

The 10 survivors are George Yardley, Gene Shue, Harry Gallatin, Walter Dukes, Nat (Sweetwater) Clifton, Dick McGuire, Chuck Noble, Bill Thibien, Phil Jordan and Tom Marshall.

Seixas, Gibson Top Net Picks

Named Amateur Kings in USLTA Tentative Listings

NEW YORK (INS)—Vic Seixas and Althea Gibson are the king and queen of American amateur tennis — for the time being, at least.

The 34-year-old Philadelphia veteran and the 30-year-old girl from New York City were top ranked by the United States Lawn Tennis Association in its tentative listings for 1937.

Seixas, who will lead the U.S. Davis Cup team against Australia in ten days, also was rated No. 1 in 1935 and 1934.

It was an historic designation for Miss Gibson, who became the first negro to receive top ranking from the USLTA.

Miss Gibson succeeded Shirley Fry, who married and retired. Seixas supplanted Ham Richardson.

The new ratings are subject to official acceptance by the USLTA at its annual meeting in St. Petersburg, Fla., Jan. 18, 1938.

Following Seixas in the men's rankings were: 2. Herb Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif.; 3. Dick Savitt of South Orange, N.J.; 4. Oil Shea of Los Angeles; 5. Barry Mackay of Dayton, O.; 6. Ross Humber of Brooklyn; 7. Bernard (Tut) Barton of Dallas; 8. Whitney Reed of Alameda, Calif.; 9. Perry's Alejandro Olmedo, University of Southern California; 10. Grant Golden of Wilmette, Ill.

Following Miss Gibson were: 2. Louise Brough of Beverly Hills; 3. Mrs. Dorothy Head Knott of Forest Hills, N.Y.; 4. Darlene Hard of Montclair, Calif.; 5. Carol Fageros of Miami; 6. Miriam Arnold of Redwood City, Calif.; 7. Jeanne Arth of St. Paul; 8. Sally Moore of Bakersfield, Calif.; 9. Janet Rogers of Seattle; 10. Mary Ann Mitchell of San Leandro, Calif.

Maples Fourth, Set Two Marks in Cereal Bowl

Only area swimming team competing at Battle Creek, Saturday, Birmingham High finished fourth in the Cereal Bowl Relays. But the two first places that helped to give the Maple swimmers and divers their 33 points, were record-shattering performances, says Coach Jay Myers.

Others in the top list were Battle Creek (winner) 60; Lansing Eastern 46; Ann Arbor 39 and Bay City Central, 8th, with 6 points.

Maples won the 300-yard individual medley relay with a mark of 2:55.8, considerably under the old record. They took the 200-yard butterfly with 1:51.8 compared to the old mark of 1:54.4. Pete Sitz, Dave Smith, Jim Peters, Dave Rider (300-medley) and Smith, Peters, John Hyde, Rider in the 200-butterfly, were the swimmers.

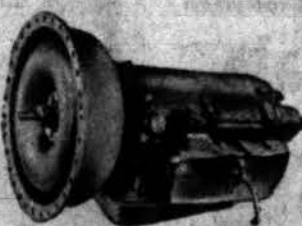

Birmingham missed a first also in the 200-freestyle when F. J. McGinnis, anchor, inadvertently missed a turn, and the team wound up 3rd. Hyde and Fred Wickham were 3rd in the diving relay.

Maples swim at Royal Oak Dondero Tuesday night, seeking their fifth dual victory.

Last Minute Bucket Wins for Bethel 5

Bethel Parks cagers pulled a surprise victory out of the fire, Saturday, against Auburn Heights Free Methodist Church league team, 34-32. A last minute bucket by Jim Hankins, that broke a 32-32 tie did the trick.

Rangers Down 'Fighting' Wings

Game Featured by Two Second Period Brawls

Detroit Fails to Match Saturday Rally in 4-2 Loss; Howe Bags 14th

NEW YORK (AP)—The Detroit Red Wings were better at trading punches than they were at scoring goals as they fell before the New York Rangers in a free-swinging National Hockey League contest at Madison Square Garden last night.

The 4-2 victory broke a five-game Ranger losing streak at the Garden and gave New York a precarious hold on second place in the NHL behind Montreal.

Detroit staged a scoring surge in the closing minutes but was unable to overcome a big lead built up by the Rangers in the first two periods. Gordie Howe caged his 14th goal of the current season in the second stanza and Johnny Wilson put the puck past New York goalie Marcel Pailhe for the other Red Wings' score.

The game was bitterly fought throughout with two fights breaking out in the second period. Detroit goalie Terry Sawchuk and Red Sullivan of the Rangers each drew major penalties in the first scrap.

The second involved Bucky Hollingworth of the Red Wings and the Rangers' Harry Howell. They were joined by Al Arbour of Detroit and Jack Evans of New York. All got off with minor penalties.

The Rangers opened the scoring in the first period with a rebound by Camille Henry. Bill Gadsby came back in the second period with a conversion of his own rebound. Danny Lewicki slapped the puck into the net early in the third stanza and Sullivan scored another with a minute to go.

The Wings roared back late in the last period but were unable to get the puck past Pailhe who made 26 saves to 27 for Sawchuk.

The fifth-place Red Wings have a 9-14 record in league play. They tied New York Saturday at Detroit 4-4 with three goals in the last 15 minutes.

'M', MSU Score Saturday Wins

Three Big 10 Teams Still Unbeaten

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Non-conference foes hammered Big Ten basketball prestige down a few more notches Saturday, but classy Michigan State and dark-horse Illinois and Minnesota still maintain unblemished records.

Michigan State, picked as a prime Big Ten title contender in pre-season calculations, added to its stature by breezing past Colorado 84-44 with a liberal use of substitutes. It was the Spartans' third straight win.

But Iowa dropped from the ranks of the undefeated, taking an 86-69 licking from Kansas State, one of the Big Eight conference giants which earlier repulsed Purdue and Indiana.

Indiana and Ohio State, ranked high in pre-season ratings, both suffered their third straight loss. Missouri smacked Indiana 78-73, while Ohio State bowed to Texas A&M 72-69 in a regionally televised game.

Illinois and Minnesota both with three wins, were not in regular competition Saturday, but the Illinois met Colorado at Champaign last night.

Minnesota, which beat an alumni team Saturday, will meet North Carolina's unbeaten nation champs in the first round of the Kentucky Invitational tournament this weekend.

In other games Saturday, Michigan defeated Washington University of St. Louis 88-58, while Purdue battered Nebraska 70-61.

Larry Hedden's sharpshooting accounted for 23 points in Michigan.

State's sharp shooting was too much for Indiana, although the Hoosiers' Archie Dees topped all scorers with 30 points. The Tigers made 27 or 53 field goal attempts and Sonny Siebert connected on nine of his first 10 shots and had a total of 27 points.

Texas A&M staged a second-half rally to down Ohio State, trailing 60-55, the Aggies scored nine straight points and never lost the lead.

Five Wolverines scored in double figures to lead Michigan to its third win in four games. Pete Tiltonson and Ron Burton led the Michigan attack with 17 and 15 points respectively. The Wolverines had things their way throughout the game.

In other games tonight, Iowa goes to Wichita and Rice invades in all-gauge competition in 1939, Wisconsin.

Mikes Open Season Tuesday Starters Big Problem

With practice sessions delayed since last Thursday, and with no preliminary test held against an outside five, Coach Bob Mineweaver's St. Michael's basketball club faces its first test of the season Tuesday against an unknown quantity. Shamrock's opposition will be Detroit East Side 2nd division school, Annunciation. The Detroiters were handed a severe trouncing last week by Gross Pointe St. Paul.

As in all other home games for the Shamrocks the Tuesday premiere will be played in the spacious Pontiac High School gymnasium, starting at 8:30 p.m. Reserves get underway at 7:30.

"That's a good question," replied Mineweaver this morning when asked about his probable starters. "But it looks like we'll just have to make our selection among seven youngsters, and there may be three sophomores and a freshman, plus our only letter-winner on the opening list."

Bob Mineweaver Jr. is the only starter. He's a senior and the lone letterman.

A late finish for the Shamrock football team and no real pressure for an early cage start is reason for the club just getting under way now.

For Tuesday's starters, Mineweaver said today, the selection will come from among Mineweaver at one forward; Art Robak or George Drake at the other forward spot; Gary O'Connell at center; and Pat Campbell or Tom Dabbs or Mike Flynn or Tom Chapdelaine for the guards.

"We don't know a thing about Annunciation," said Mineweaver. "But I don't believe they are too strong a club. At least we hope not, for our opener."

Airmen Beat Marines in Shrimp Bowl Test

GALVESTON, Tex. (INS)—Bolling Air Force Base football team beat the San Diego Marines 28 to 7 today to win the mythical All-Service championship in the 15th annual Shrimp Bowl game at Galveston.

The Trojans walloped Waterford H-Y, 32-10, behind Larry Beamer's 12 points. Stan Griffith scored 13 points as the Swishers trimmed the Phalanx Deuces, 42-29. Jim Livingstone and Em Williams made 10 apiece for the Deuces.

St. Louis Five Pulling Away

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Don't look now but there's also a runaway race developing in the Western Division of the National Basketball Assn.

The St. Louis Hawks are starting to pull away from the pack just as the Boston Celtics have done in the Eastern Division. The Hawks now are 5½ games ahead.

Cranes Win on Court and Mat in Weekend

Two sports victories were chalked up for Cranbrook School's cagers and matmen last of the week. Cranes defeated Oak Park 58-36 for their first win in five starts, while the wrestlers trimmed Ann Arbor High's team 22-21 at Ann Arbor.

Bob Klein led Crane cagers with 19 points. Others who aided were John Dudley with 8, Dave Collon 10, Pete Ordway 8, John Studebaker 13, Jim Polonty 2 and Bill Gallagher 2. Bailey with 10 led the Parkers.

Jim Ludwig's pin over his AA opponent won the mat test. Count was 21-17 when Jim took his fall for five points and the Cranes' 2nd straight win.

These events closed Cranbrook sports activities for the year. They will resume after the Yule holidays.

of the Cincinnati Royals while Boston's lead over the Syracuse Nats has been reduced to 7½ games.

The Hawks completed a successful weekend with a 128-115 victory over the Minneapolis Lakers last night to extend their winning streak to five. St. Louis, which has won 15 of its last 17, whipped the New York Knicks 128-124 in a nationally televised game Saturday afternoon.

In other games Sunday night, Syracuse routed Cincinnati 109-83 with a third-period scoring spurt and New York rallied in the final minutes to overhaul the Detroit Pistons 116-109.

Cliff Hagan triggered St. Louis to within four points of the league record for most points scored by one team. Hagan collected 40 of the Hawks' 138. Philadelphia holds the mark of 142 set against Boston in 1936.

The Hawks, leading by 18 points at halftime, made it a rout with a 43-point fourth period after Minneapolis had rallied in the third stanza. Verne Mikkelsen was high for the Lakers with 27.

Syracuse continued to chop away at Boston's lead in the Eastern Division as the Nats handed Cincinnati its second defeat in as many nights. The Nats broke up a close game with a 32-point third period and added 36 more in the final quarter as the Royals fell further behind St. Louis.

Miner's Helmet Pose Snubbed by Prince Philip

LONDON (AP)—Prince Philip has refused to allow a safety campaign to use a picture of him wearing a miner's helmet.

James Tye, administrative director of the British Safety Council, wanted to display posters with a photograph made when Prince Philip went down a coal mine at Moseley, Lancashire. It would accompany a slogan: "Wear a safety helmet."

The Prince's squerry, James Orr, wrote Tye that Philip "considers it rather inappropriate that a photograph of a member of the royal family should be used in this connection."

Tye commented today: "I am disappointed. I still hope the prince may change his mind."

Businessmen Optimistic About Industry's Future

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Many businessmen think the public is unduly disturbed today by the drop in stock market prices. They hold that the first half of 1958 isn't going to be as bad as all that.

Furthermore, they are counting on 1958 ending up in about as good a shape businesswise as industry and trade experience now—not roaring maybe, but not limping too much either.

Among the most optimistic industry spokesmen is Joseph A. Hoban, a B. F. Goodrich vice president, who looks for a substantial upturn in business in mid-1958 in response to new products and new methods of marketing. For his own industry he predicts a record sale of replacement auto tires, 5 per cent over 1957.

D. C. Minard, president of the Trane Co., La Crosse, Wis., sees chances of a moderate increase in 1958 in industry wide sales of air conditioning equipment.

Those who feed the nation aren't worrying about sales. Paul S. Willis, president of the Grocery Manufacturers of America, says consumers spent a record 79 billion dollars for food this year and probably will spend 4 billion dollars more in 1958.

Some increase in personal spending for soft goods and services in 1958 is forecast by Ira T. Ellis, Du Pont economist, speaking at an economic forum held by the National Industrial Conference Board. He thinks consumer prices will average 1 per cent higher next year.

Bradford B. Smith, U. S. Steel economist, believes steel output next year should be around 100 million tons.

Government agencies predict a 5 per cent dip in plant and equipment spending by business next year, bringing it down to 35 1/2 billion dollars. But expecting a rise in other type of building, plus higher costs, Walter E. Hoadley Jr., Armstrong Cork treasurer, believes total construction will be about the same next year as this in dollar volume, a record 47 billion dollars.

George P. Hitchings, Ford Motor economist, looks for a good underlying demand for new cars next year.

On the other hand, bankers at the forum are more cautious than the industrialists.

John D. Wilson, a Chase Manhattan Bank of New York vice president, sees slightly fewer auto sales next year and not much of an increase in home building. He thinks business spending may drop by 5 billion dollars. But the federal budget may be up by 2 billion and state and local government spending by 2 or 3 billion dollars.

Norris O. Johnson, a vice president of the First National City Bank of New York, takes the calm view: "The incipient business recession has been remarkably slow to unfold. I don't think it will be deep or long, or offer many parallels to the Thirties."

Copper Stocks Rise on Market

NEW YORK (AP)—Coppers advanced in a mixed and moderately active stock market today.

Motors and most leading steels were off. Aircrafts, rails, oils and building materials were irregular.

Key stocks showed price changes of fractions to about a point.

The coppers were up as Kennecott announced a 12 per cent cut in production at its United States mines, falling in line with other major producers in a move which is expected to help stabilize the copper price. Meanwhile copper prices in London rose and there was a boost at home in the custom smelter price.

Kennecott, Anaconda and International Nickel were all up around a point while Phelps Dodge rose a major fraction but there was no great buying surge.

With steel operations this week expected to extend their decline, U. S. Steel was off around a point. Bethlehem and Republic Steel fractions. Youngstown Sheet rose about a point.

General Motors, Chrysler and Ford were all off fractions. Douglas Aircraft and North American gained fractions but Lockheed slipped a bit.

APPLE SPLIT—Even apples are developing split personalities these days. This specimen, about to be eaten by Mrs. Joe Rhodon, is a 50-50 blend of sparkling Red Delicious and Golden Delicious. The freak fruit was picked on a farm near Tinton, Wash.

Briefing Stated for CD Officials

State's Survival Plan Will Be Outlined Here Wednesday

A briefing on a civil defense survival plan for the entire state will be held in Pontiac Wednesday by Michigan Civil Defense Director Ralph M. Sheehan.

The meeting will be to outline the purposes and problems behind the $304,000 plan that has been prepared by state CD officials and the Federal Civil Defense Administration.

Civil defense officials from a

Detroit metropolitan area of seven counties, including Oakland, and from Lansing, Grand Rapids and Flint are expected to attend the 10 a.m. session.

It will be held in the supervisors' room of the County Office Building at Lafayette St.

Following the meeting, there will be a question and answer period for all civil defense officials.

Representing Oakland County at the meeting will be Lewis C. Jarrendt, county CD director, and Ransford Bromley, assistant director.

Johnson Calls for 'Take Charge' Missile Chiefs

Demands Hard Decisions

WASHINGTON (INS)—Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson, criticizing a lack of "hard, firm decisions," called today for appointment of "take charge" men in the space and missile fields.

Johnson said "we have the technical skill, the resources and the necessary enthusiasm." He said "what we have been lacking are hard, firm decisions at high levels."

SEND FOR SUNDOWNERS

He said "it is time to send for the 'sundowners'—men who can make decisions and stick to them"—and said he had a feeling "Dr. James R. Killian, is said to be only an adviser to the chief executive and planning does not originate with him."

Johnson did not mention any names in his critical statement.

William Holaday is the Defense Department missile chief charged with overall direction of the three services' various projects and responsible only to the secretary of the defense.

The senate preparedness subcommittee hearings thus far have brought out that Holaday does not initiate missile programs but merely executes.

ONLY ADVISER

Similarly, President Eisenhower's so-called missile "czar," Dr. James R. Killian, is said to be only an adviser to the chief executive and planning does not originate with him.

Johnson, chairman of the Senate Missile-Satellite Inquiry, also called for an early start on "practical work to get us to the moon ahead of Russia."

He said "we are a few steps behind in the race already and someone is going to have to take over direction so we can skip a few steps and overtake our competitor."

AGENCY NEEDED

Johnson and other subcommittee members agreed that there is a need for a "space agency," but the chairman said there are "conflicting views" as to where this agency should be and how much authority it should have.

Sen. Ralph E. Flanders (R-Vt.), a member of the subcommittee, proposed yesterday that Dr. James R. Killian, President Eisenhower's so-called missile "czar," be in charge of such an agency.

Flanders noted that the nation which occupies space has constant surveillance of the entire world and declared: "I sincerely hope the White House, as an organization, and the President, as an individual, have a comprehension of the importance of space."

Johnson said the hearings have made it clear that security of the country will not be assured mere-

AGENCY NEEDED

Johnson and other subcommittee members agreed that there is a need for a "space agency," but the chairman said there are "conflicting views" as to where this agency should be and how much authority it should have.

Sen. Ralph E. Flanders (R-Vt.), a member of the subcommittee, proposed yesterday that Dr. James R. Killian, President Eisenhower's so-called missile "czar," be in charge of such an agency.

Flanders noted that the nation which occupies space has constant surveillance of the entire world and declared: "I sincerely hope the White House, as an organization, and the President, as an individual, have a comprehension of the importance of space."

Johnson said the hearings have made it clear that security of the country will not be assured mere-

Big Grain Crop Acts as Anchor on Price Climb

By EARL AYKROD

CHICAGO (AP)—Huge supplies of grains in 1957 acted as a drag against any marked advance in prices.

Early in the year, and as late as May, prices of grain futures on the Chicago Board of Trade were higher than in 1956, but thereafter began to decline as prospects for big production became a certainty.

CROPS QUESTION

From then on, it was just a question of how big 1957 crops would be at the end of the season.

Near the end of the year the latest production figures available for wheat were 597 million bushels, for corn 3,333,000,000 bushels, and for soybeans 491 million bushels. The latter was an all time record.

Wheat production was only slightly smaller than in 1956. Total wheat supplies for the 1957-58 marketing year are estimated at 1,843,000,000 bushels, including a carry-over of around 900 million bushels. Domestic disappearance for 1957-58 is estimated at 530 million bushels, slightly above 1956-57.

High for the year for cash wheat at Chicago was $2.46, corn $1.39, oats $1.07, and soybeans $2.33, all in January.

Looking ahead, the Department of Agriculture foresees somewhat lower prices for 1958 crop wheat, reflecting prospects for a crop now estimated at from 975 million to a billion bushels. Feed grain prices also are expected to average lower than in 1957.

Generally, the USDA looks for prices and incomes to farmers, which have improved the last two years, to average much the same in 1958 as in 1957.

WHEAT STOCKS

The reduction of wheat stocks in 1956-57 resulted from record exports of 549 million bushels. The previous record was 504 million bushels in 1948-49. As in other recent years, a large part of the 1956-57 exports were moved under government foreign aid programs and by export subsidies.

Corn production was the third largest of record but around 5 per cent less than 1956 when the second largest crop was produced. Production in 1957, however, established a new national record yield per acre in the western corn belt.

High moisture content and delayed harvesting were the general rule throughout the corn belt in 1957, a sharp contrast to the dry crop and early harvest experienced in most areas a year earlier. The 1957 harvest was still underway in early December.

The soybean crop resulted from an estimated record yield of 22.7 bushels per acre on the largest acreage of record. Like corn, the bean harvest was delayed in the Midwest by unsettled weather.

Cash prices for wheat and oats held up better in 1957 than in 1956, but corn and soybeans were lower.

Near the end of the calendar year the low for cash wheat at Chicago was $2.11 in May compared with $2.02 in July 1956; for oats 61 1/2 in October compared with 65 in March 1956; for corn $1.17 in November compared with 1.24 in October 1956, and for soybeans $2.22 in October compared with $2.23 in September 1956.

Junior Editors Quiz on Christmas

FOLD FORWARD ON DOTTED LINE

QUESTION: How did the custom of making a Christmas crib originate?

ANSWER: Jesus was born, as the Evangelist Luke tells us, in a humble stable at Bethlehem because His parents were unable to obtain lodgings at the crowded inn. The stable actually was a grotto carved out of a hillside. St. Helena, mother of the Emperor Constantine and a very devout woman, converted the original grotto into a chapel and decorated it in marble and gold. Later a magnificent basilica was built over the grotto. But the custom of erecting replicas of the Nativity scene began in the 13th Century when St. Francis of Assisi constructed a wooden manger and grouped about it figures of Joseph, the Mother and Child, the animals and the shepherds. In time, the practice spread to other countries and was handed down through the ages, until today many homes, churches, department stores, even public parks and town squares, are adorned with replicas of the crib or creche at Christmas time.

FOR YOU TO DO: By following the Junior Editors Quiz each day this week you will be able to color, cut out and assemble your own Christmas crib. New figures will be added each day until you have a complete Nativity scene for use under your Christmas tree, in a window or on the mantle piece. First we begin with the stable where Christ was born and the manger where He was placed. Two shepherd boys, each with a lamb, have come to adore Him. Tomorrow more figures will be added. Be sure to save all the parts in this series so your crib will be complete for Christmas.

(Suzanne Parker, E. Lansing, Mich., wins $10 for this question. Send yours on a postcard to Violet Moore Higgins, AP Newsfeatures, care of this newspaper. Tomorrow: Why is the donkey favored in the Bible?)

U.S., Reds Would Exchange Experts Hopes for Educator Swap

WASHINGTON (INS) — The U. S. is hopeful today that an agreement can be worked out with Russia for an exchange of school experts.

Welfare Secretary Marlon B. Folsom said he hopes an American official will be allowed to visit Moscow soon to make final arrangements.

He indicated that Director Oliver J. Caldwell of the Division of International Education would make the trip.

Folsom told Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark) in a letter that his department has been engaged "for many months" in negotiations with the Soviet government.

He said: "We believe that this is the most constructive step we can take to improve our knowledge of Soviet education." Fulbright had accused the administration of issuing "official statements in recent years," which, he said, tended to downgrade Russia's educational accomplishments.

An agreement would permit educational authorities to inspect colleges and schools in each country.
