New War Raging in Central America

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP) — A new undeclared war raged in Central America today between Honduras and El Salvador, with each accusing the other of aggression. The Organization of American States ordered a peace team down from Washington.

Honduran authorities charged that Salvadorean ground forces invaded Honduras yesterday at two points, and that Salvadorean planes made widespread attacks. Unconfirmed reports said seven cities were bombed.

A dispatch from Guatemala, which borders both countries said Salvadorean officials reported some 1,000 Honduran troops had crossed the border into El Salvador. Sources in Tegucigalpa said the Honduran air force's World War II Corsairs also crossed the frontier and ran into heavy antiaircraft fire.

President Fidel Sanchez Hernandez of El Salvador held a three-hour emergency meeting with his cabinet, then announced he had ordered his army "to exercise the right of legitimate defense."

A government statement, broadcast from San Salvador, said the Salvadorean forces had been ordered into action after "continuous attacks by Honduran troops on the Salvadorean frontier, violation of air space and the knowledge that Honduran troops and air force personnel had mobilized in Santa Rosa de Lima for a large-scale attack."

Two Honduran towns reportedly suffered a "high" number of casualties from the Salvadorean air attacks. They were Ocotepeque, a town of about 5,000 and Santa de Copan, with 9,500 residents.

The Honduran government said Salvadorean ground troops invaded the country at Amatillo from the south and Poy from the west. The government said Salvadorean planes dropped bombs on Honduran army and air force installations near the international airport in Tegucigalpa.

In Washington, Jorge Fidel Duron, Honduran representative to the Organization of American States, told a special OAS meeting that Salvadorean troops had penetrated 40 miles inside Honduras. He said some of the troops used the Pan American Highway.

PEACE TEAM

The OAS ordered a peace team into the two countries at once. The team was expected in the area tonight.

The Salvadorean representative to the OAS, Julio A. Rivera, told the OAS council that the Honduran reports of Salvadorean invasion were only a "curtain of smoke" to hide "genocide" against some 15,000 Salvadoreans who have moved into neighboring Honduras.

Honduras and El Salvador have been at odds for years, mainly over border territory, but the most serious recent flare-up occurred last month over the three-game series to determine which country's soccer team would participate in the World Cup matches.

There were fights between Hondurans and El Salvadoreans, both on and off the field during the first two games, after the second game Honduras broke off diplomatic relations with El Salvador.

World Cup officials then ordered the deciding game played on a neutral field in Mexico City. El Salvador won the final game, 3-2, on June 27.

2nd Man Suspended

Pontiac's last black fire fighter was suspended indefinitely today by Fire Chief Charles D. Marion.

Daniel Sowell, 29, of 53 Edith was told today by Marion he was suspended because of a violation of the force's grooming code.

Sowell, who has been a city fire fighter five years, wears a thin moustache that Marion reportedly says is too long.

Two weeks ago, Marion suspended Frederick Milton, another black fireman, for similar reasons. Milton has complained that racial prejudice is the real cause for his suspension. Sowell was on vacation when Milton was suspended.

SHORT HAIR

The suspensions come in the wake of a recent announcement by Marion that fire fighters must wear short hair, cannot wear sideburns below the middle of their ears, and cannot wear moustaches longer than the corners of their mouths.

Sowell's moustache extends about an eighth of an inch further than the corners of his mouth. Like Milton, Sowel is convinced the real reason for his suspension is racial conflict.

★ ★ ★

"This is just one more step of harassment," he said.

Sowell claimed he and Milton were mistreated by Marion after they asked that a petition calling for the impeachment of controversial Detroit Judge George Crockett be removed from the fire stations' bulletin board.

Marion was not available for comment this afternon. With the suspensions of Sowell and Milton, Pontiac now has an all-white fire department.

Sowell said he thinks the only way for Milton and him to return to the force would be for them to shave their moustaches.

Hospital's Board Born in Controversy

Created because of a controversy, the Pontiac General Hospital Board of Trustees 17 years later finds itself embroiled in another issue — the dismissal of Harold B. Euler, hospital director for 11 years.

Early in 1952 the City Commission, yielding to pressures from a number of organizations complaining about the management of the hospital, gave up its authority and placed the operation of the facility in the hands of a seven-member board of trustees.

Four years later, the commission, following the recommendation of a consulting firm, expanded the board to 11 members.

★ ★ ★

GIVE MORE TIME

The organization contended that a board of trustees could devote more time to the day-to-day operation of the hospital than either the City Commission or the city manager.

Financial and operational problems had beset the city hospital for a number of years prior to the decision to give over the reins to a hospital board.

★ ★ ★

Four years earlier, in April 1948, an Ann Arbor consultant had recommended that the hospital operation be divorced from city government, but nothing had come of the proposal.

Under the city ordinance by which it was established, the board of trustees is an autonomous group, answerable to the City Commission only on financial matters.

STAGGERED TERMS

Members of the board are appointed by the City Commission to four-year terms on a staggered basis, and can only be removed from office by a vote of not less than four members of the City Commission. No member of the board can be in the medical profession.

Officers of the board — chairman, vice chairman, secretary and treasurer — are elected each year by fellow board members following a report by a nominating committee.

★ ★ ★

The committee is one of a half-dozen on which board members serve. Others are finance, personnel, public relations, building and long-term planning.

Most active are the finance and personnel committees, which meet regularly while the others meet only on call.

ONCE A MONTH

The entire board, by law, must meet at least once a month, normally the third Thursday.

With all of its power, the board, however, has direct control only over the hospital administrator among the personnel and staff members. It can both hire and fire the administrator without confirmation by the City Commission. All other employes of the hospital come under the direction of the administrator.

Dems Pushing for Tax Reform

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than a half dozen Democratic senators have served notice they will offer a broad series of tax reform amendments to the income surtax extension bill.

The announcement appeared to apply the padlock after Democratic leader Mike Mansfield virtually closed the door yesterday on any chance for final action on the surtax extension bill before Congress starts its summer recess Aug. 13.

By proposing a series of amendments, the Democrats could launch the finance committee into the time-consuming area of major tax reform.

The committee, after its final public hearing today on the provisions in the House-passed surtax bill, goes into executive session Thursday to discuss what to do on tax reform.

Mansfield said there appeared no chance that a bill combining comprehensive reform and a surtax extension could clear the finance committee by the August congressional recess.

Democrats seeking wide changes in the surtax legislation include Philip A. Hart of Michigan.

String of Scorchers Seen Till Saturday

Little relief may be expected from 90-degree temperatures before Saturday.

The weatherman predicts temperatures will average eight degrees above normal until then, with highs from 87 to 93, and lows from 67 to 71 for the next five days.

★ ★ ★

There's a chance of late afternoon or evening thundershowers tomorrow, and thundershowers are likely Thursday.

Today's variable winds at 5 to 15 miles per hour will become south to southwest at 15 to 18 miles tomorrow.

Confident Astronauts Ready to Go

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The three astronauts are ready to fly to the moon. They say they are not afraid. They are confident their spaceship and training will see them through.

The rocket that will vault them is receiving the final servicing for lift-off at 8:32 a.m. (Pontiac time) tomorrow. The weather outlook is good.

"The three of us have no fear of launching out on this expedition," said Neil A. Armstrong, set to become earth's first messenger on the moon. "I'm sure that American ingenuity and American craftsmanship have given us the best equipment that can be made available. We are happy to be ready to fly."

Armstrong appeared at a televised news conference last night with Edwin E. Aldrin Jr., who will follow him down the steps of their moon-landing craft, and Michael Collins, who will orbit overhead awaiting their return.

MILLION PERSONS EXPECTED

About a million persons are expected at this moonport to see the launching.

The precise Apollo 11 flight plan calls for going into moon orbit at 12:26 p.m. EST Saturday, undocking the lunar lander from the mother ship 24 hours later, and touching down on the moon at 3:19 p.m. Sunday.

But the two astronauts will have to wait before making their self-televised imprint on the moon. First they must check the systems to propel them back up to the orbiting mother ship with Collins aboard, then try to sleep for four hours.

Man's first step on the moon is set for 1:17 a.m. next Monday.

'SOUND SLEEP UNLIKELY'

"I suspect I'll be surprised if I'm able to get a sound sleep on the lunar surface," said Armstrong, who has been given sleeping pills for that purpose. "Fortunately our flight plan doesn't require that. We'll have had adequate rest on the night before and the night after the night in question, and I think even if my worst suspicions are true, we'll be in fine shape."

Their only hope of rescue is Collins, coming overhead every two hours in the immutable laws of space travel. He has the ability, at a tremendous cost in valuable fuel, of coming down within 9 miles of the surface.

★ ★ ★

"We would be prepared to go down to the absolute limit," said Collins. "It would be a decision that would be up to mission control."

SHE SEES WHERE DADDY WILL BE—Swiss underwater explorer Jacques Piccard escorts his daughter Maria Louise to shore after he took her for a tour of the research sub Ben Franklin yesterday morning at Riviera Beach, Fla. 'Rusk Didn't Tell LBJ of Ho Feeler'

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Johnson said Dean Rusk, his secretary of state, did not tell him about a 1964 peace feeler from North Vietnam for two years, Norman Cousins reports this week in two magazines.

Cousins, editor of the Saturday Review, told of the incident in an article published jointly in his magazine and Look.

U Thant, secretary general of the United Nations, sent a letter to Hi Chi Minh North Vietnam's president, in the fall of 1964, asking for peace talks, Cousins said. This was before the U.S. began bombing North Vietnam.

Three weeks later, North Vietnam told Thant it would enter secret talks, and Thant told Adlai Stevenson, American ambassador to the United Nations, who told Rusk, according to the article.

COUSINS' STORY

Cousins told this story:

In early 1965 Stevenson told Thant "the State Department was reluctant to enter into negotiations at that time because it feared talks might result in the collapse of the South Vietnamese government."

President Johnson first learned of the feeler when he and Rusk met Thant at the United Nations on Oct. 7, 1966, and Thant asked the President why he had never responded to the offer. Johnson "said this episode was a new book to him and that he was hearing about it for the first time."

★ ★ ★

Johnson turned and asked Rusk if he knew about the matter. Rusk said Stevenson had not been authorized to reject negotiations, but he did not say whether the ambassador had been empowered to accept them.

Cousins said he gained the information through conversations with those who were involved.

County Unit Offers to Buy Transfer Site

BIRMINGHAM — The City Commission received an offer from the Oakland County Incinerator Authority last night for purchase of property on Collidge Avenue as a rubbish-transfer site.

The price will be contingent upon the acreage for which the city can supply title insurance. The parcel will probably be in about 10 acres. Price has been set at $15,750 per acre.

A commission spokesman said the city and the incinerator authority are now in agreement on all but the price in the long-debated transfer station issue.

That is expected to be determined at the commission meeting next Monday.

NO RIGHT TURN

In other business, the commission agreed to install a no-right turn sign at the Yorkshire-Coolidge intersection and to establish a four-way stop at the St. Andrews-Dorchester intersection.

The action was taken in response to a demand by the Pembroke Manor Property Owners Association that the commission do something about traffic difficulties in the subdivision, which arose since the start of a construction project on Maple between Coolidge and Crooks.

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Arrangements have been made to permit Beverly Hills and Bingham Farms residents to use the Bloomfield Township Public Library beginning Aug. 1.

Residents will use cards obtained at the Baldwin Public Library in Birmingham.

The two villages previously had contract arrangements with Baldwin. The two libraries, in turn, have had contracts with each other.

The new arrangement will give residents of Beverly Hills and Bingham Farms access to an additional 40,000 volumes, as well as a closer building, according to Director H. G. Johnston.

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The Cranbrook Institute of Science will begin a class on "Land, Water, and Sky" for youngster who have completed fourth, fifth or sixth grade beginning July 28 at the Institute.

The class will meet Mondays and Wednesdays from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. through Aug. 20. The fee is $20.

Gulf Stream Study Is Launched in Sub

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — With her portholes glowing like green coals, the research submarine Ben Franklin and her crew of six slipped beneath the black waters of the Atlantic last night to begin a 30-day, 1,200-mile undersea journey along the Gulf Stream.

"Here we go," yelled Donald J. Kazimir, captain of the bus-sized submarine as it sank in 1,800 feet of water 10 hours after being towed 20 miles out to sea.

★ ★ ★

Also aboard the Grumman Aircraft Corp.-U.S. Navy sponsored vessel were Jacques Piccard, the Swiss scientist who designed her; Erwin Aebersold, another Swiss who is chief pilot; oceanographer Roswell F. Busby of Fort Washington, Md.; English scientist Kenneth Haigh; and American scientist Chester B. May of Huntsville, W. Va.

★ ★ ★

The mission plan called for the Ben Franklin to sit on the bottom at 1,800 feet for two hours to calibrate her instruments, then rise to 600 feet and drift north with the Gulf Stream, gathering biological and geophysical data.

It will also test the ability of men to live for long periods of time in confined quarters.

★ ★ ★

Tomorrow afternoon, the Ben Franklin should be off Cape Kennedy a few hours after the Apollo 11 astronauts rocket toward the moon. There the decision will be made whether to give the sub's crew the go-ahead for the 30-day mission.

★ ★ ★

The trip is planned to end with the submarine surfacing 200 miles southeast of Boston.

Bishop Tells of Killings

MUNICH, Germany (AP) — A Roman Catholic bishop, who as a German army captain passed on an order for the execution of 17 Italians in World War II, has asked the villagers of Filetto di Camarda in Italy and his own parishioners for forgiveness.

★ ★ ★

The executions were carried out in the village, located 60 miles northeast of Rome, in 1944, when the Most Rev. Matthias Defregger, 53, was a German officer. He became a priest in 1949.

Luna 15 Pace Fuels Mission Speculation

JODRELL BANK, England (AP)—The Soviet moon ship Luna 15 is travelnig at a slower speed than usual and will take longer than the usual 3½ days to reach the area of the moon, the director of the astronomy station here reported today.

"There is every indication that it may be attempting something new," said Sir Bernard Lovell. He said this could be the recovery of moon rock.

Lovell spoke with newsmen after his giant radio telescope, which has been tracking Luna 15, had discovered the moon ship was on a trajectory different from other unmanned Soviet moon flights.

There has been widespread speculation in Moscow that the Soviets may be attempting to steal some of the glory from the planned U.S. manned landing on the moon by bringing back some moon rock first.

Luna 15 had been expected to reach the vicinity of the moon tomorrow, but Lovell said after studying the latest signals picked up from the Soviet spacecraft that it would not reach the moon's vicinity until Thursday morning.

Lovell did not elaborate but scientists described his reasoning this way:

Luna 15 is moving more slowly toward the moon, possibly because it is heavier, from carrying new equipment for a new mission. A slower approach to the moon would save fuel needed to brake the spacecraft for landing and reserve fuel needed for relaunching it for the return trip.

'Nixon Won't Accept ABM Compromise'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon was described by Republican congressional leaders today as having no intention of compromising his embattled Safeguard antiballistic missile proposal.

Following Nixon's weekly conference with the GOP leaders, Rep. Gerald Ford of Michigan told newsmen that it is his understanding "the President is very firm that there will be no compromise."

★ ★ ★

Senate GOP leader Everett Dirksen of Illinois said he is confident a Senate vote will support the administration plan.

★ ★ ★

The Nixon camp got a boost yesterday when Sen. Winston L. Prouty of Vermont, once an ABM foe, announced he would vote for the Nixon proposal.

APPROVAL ASSURED

And the Pentagon put out the word today that Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird believes Prouty's vote will assure approval of the administration's ABM program.

★ ★ ★

Jerry Friedheim, one of Laird's public affairs officers, passed this word to newsmen at a Pentagon briefing.

★ ★ ★

Friedheim said "proponents in the Senate have indicated that they have 51 votes," which would provide a majority.

He gave no breakdown, and did not indicate whether the 51 might include the vote of Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, who could be expected to cast a favorable tally in the event of a tie.

DISCUSSION DECLINED

Friedheim declined to get into any discussion of what kind of compromise might be considered if the Senate voted against the Safeguard System.

With the outcome of Senate action still in doubt, there had been reports that Nixon might accept a compromise if he thought such action necessary to salvage part of his plan.

Early Segregation of School Is Told

DETROIT (UPI) — A long-time resident of Royal Oak Township testified yesterday that Negro children were transferred from another school to the Ferndale School District's all-black Grant School when it was built in 1926.

Mrs. Mary Morris, 70, whose children attended Grant School, testified at a Department of Health, Education and Welfare hearing which opened yesterday.

The hearings will look into federal charges the district illegally discriminated against pupils at Grant School. If discrimination is found, federal aid for the suburban Detroit district could be cut off.

Panel Hears Bishop Urge Parochiaid

DETROIT (AP) — A Catholic bishop urged yesterday that parochial schools be given financial help by the state partly because they carry on "an ancient American tradition of keeping God and prayer in the school."

★ ★ ★

"Religiously oriented schools, if kept afloat with a little state help, can produce youngsters with moral orientation to take their traditional place in the American democracy," declared Auxiliary Bishop Thomas J. Gumbleton of the Detroit archdiocese.

★ ★ ★

Bishop Gumbleton was one of some 35 persons appearing before the Governor's Commission on Educational Reform at a public hearing in Detroit.

★ ★ ★

The commission is a blue ribbon-group that has been asked to draw up a blueprint of recommendations for legislative and administrative steps to improve Michigan's educational system.

★ ★ ★

Bishop Gumbleton said that the question of parochiaid boils down to a matter of whether taxpayers want a large tax increase through letting nonpublic schools expire or whether they want to make a modest investment in nonpublic education as a means of saving large sums in the future.

Exam Set for 2 in Police Scuffle

Bond was set at $500 each for two Pontiac black community workers yesterday pending examination on charges of resisting arrest during a scuffle with police last week.

Elick Shorter, 25, director of education for the Pontiac Area Urban League, and Kenneth Walker, 27, a Harambee employe, will face July 24 examination before District Court Judge Cecil McCallum. Walker will be tried July 23 on a separate charge of creating a disturbance.

Both men stood mute on all charges at their arraignment yesterday. They had been freed earlier at an informal arraignment on personal bond.

The arrests stemmed from a July 10 incident at the Hayes Jones Center, where Patrolmen Raymond Hawks and Carl Yuill were making a "goodwill" visit.

Hawks and Yuill said they were met at the center with shouted obscenities. When they tried to arrest Walker for his alleged taunts, the tussle started, according to Police Chief William K. Hanger.

Walker and Shorter both suffered head injuries.

Witnesses denied obscenitites were used, but said someone may have called the policemen "white pigs." They claim several officers jumped Shorter when he tried to act as a peacemaker and stop the scuffling.

Pressures 22 Pct. Below Specified Level

C5A Wing Cracks in Test on Ground

WASHINGTON (AP) — The controversial C5A supertransport has suffered what could be its first major test failure—a wing cracking under pressures 22 per cent below the contract-specified level.

The Air Force disclosed yesterday the wing cracked during ground static tests of a C5A airframe minus tail assembly at the Marietta, Ga., plant of the Lockheed Georgia Co.

★ ★ ★

The impact of the break on the over-all program, and why it occurred, is being assessed by the Air Force and company engineers. Completed models will continue test flights in the meantime.

The C5A — world's largest air transport — has been the focus of considerable criticism in Congress because of soaring expense.

COSTS ESCALATE

Under original plans, the Air Force intended in 1965 to buy 120 models for $3.1 billion but that has escalated by $1.5 billion, according to official estimates.

In the face of the criticism, a major Pentagon argument has been that the plane has been meeting or exceeding virtually all contract specifications.

The 230-foot jet plane, capable of carrying tanks, helicopters, trucks and troops, recently made its first cross-country flight and appeared to be performing highly satisfactorily.

On Sunday, however, came the wing crack.

While the nose and tail were held down, a special test rig forced the wings upward in a trial of their strength. Then the break occurred in a wing near the point where it joins the fuselage.

★ ★ ★

Specifically, the crack occurred under pressures amounting to 128 per cent of the design load limit, which is 738,000 pounds. The Air Force said the contract calls for the company to demonstrate that the airframe can withstand 150 per cent of the load limit.

★ ★ ★

The idea of using pressures beyond 100 per cent of the load limit is to "verify the additional margin of safety," the Air Force said.

The static tests help engineers calculate stress distributions and show the ability of the airframe to sustain ultimate loads under critical conditions.

PREVIOUS 100 PCT. TEST

The Air Force said the airframe was "tested satisfactorily" to 100 per cent of its load limit some time ago.

★ ★ ★

A Pentagon spokesman said the Federal Aviation Agency requires a demonstration of only 100 per cent of the load limit.

"So, put in that context, the crack at 128 per cent doesn't seem so serious," the spokesman said. But he acknowledged that, viewed from the contract requirement, the problem takes on a different light.

School Bills' Fate Bodes Ill for Reform

LANSING (AP) — Gov. William Milliken's promised legislative reform this fall of Michigan's educational system may prove difficult enough to propose and vastly harder to carry out, if actions on other education measures in the House are an indication.

Although few legislators will be surprised if Milliken's special committee, backed by a 40-member advisory council, leans heavily on tax reform in its early October recommendations, virtually any suggestion, from sex education to administrative reorganization, could stir a partisan donnybrook.

★ ★ ★

A legislative proposal to break up Detroit's massive, 300,000-student school system into regional districts illustrates the difficulty of getting reform from the Capitol to the schoolhouse.

DELAYS OVERCOME

Introduced by Sen. Coleman Young, D-Detroit, the bill headed toward final House consideration today after overcoming attempts Monday to postpone its consideration until autumn.

Young's reorganization plan earlier passed 25-8 in the Senate, but faced strong opposition in the lower chamber, which rejected a similar bill proposed by Reps. George Montgomery and James Del Rio, Detroit Democrats.

★ ★ ★

As amended by the House, the Young plan would divide Detroit into some seven to 11 regional subdistricts by Jan. 30, 1970. Each district would have from 15,000 to 40,000 students.

POWERS OF BOARD

The regional or neighborhood controlling board, composed of nine members required to live in the district, would be empowered to determine curriculum and spending policy, hire a superintendent and assign, promote or discharge teachers.

Allocation of funds would remain with the larger, main district, as would review of teacher dismissal orders, contract negotiations, bonding, special education and building programs.

"I'm for quality education," said Rep. E D O'Brien, D-Detroit, who, with outstate Republicans, urged postponement of the bill until later in the year. "Your good intentions are worthless unless you have the money to finance them," O'Brien maintained.

Other opponents have pointed to political and administrative difficulties with similar plans elsewhere, particularly in New York's Ocean Hill - Brownsville district.

LABOR CONFLICT

An experiment with decentralized, local policy control there last fall turned into a battle between the regional board and the city superintendent over teacher assignments, then mushroomed into a labor conflict between Mayor John Lindsay's administration and the city's teacher union.

Also postponed until today was a bill to raise the current, $1.25-per-hour minimum wage to $1.40 in January and progressively higher through 1973.

House Democrats hope to increase that scale, approved by the Senate, but Speaker William A. Ryan, D-Detroit, admitted, "Neither side has the votes to pass a bill."

MSU Workshop Has Teachers on Tour in Area

Twenty-seven teachers from Pontiac, Clarkston and Waterford Township are receiving graduate credit toward their master's degrees in education this summer by making field trips.

The teachers are participating in a community resources workshop, sponsored by Michigan State University, for six hours credit. The purpose of the workshop is orientation of the teachers to resources in the community to be used in the classroom.

★ ★ ★

Among field trips they have made were to Michigan Bell, the Grinnell Piano factory, a local stockbroker's office and The Pontiac Press.

Each teacher will present a project at the end of the workshop. Their slide-and-tape presentations will be made available to all of the other teachers and to schools in their districts.

State Road Board to Get M59 Plea

Pressing for improvements on M59, county officials are hopeful they may get a hearing before the State Highway Commission.

The hope stems from a meeting yesterday with State Highway Director Henrik Stafseth in Lansing.

Supervisor E. Frank Richardson, R-Waterford Township, who served as chairman of the county's special road committee at the meeting, said he was "hopeful" priorities could yet be moved up to hasten widening of M59 west of Pontiac.

Ricardson said his committee asked specifically that the start of improvements covering on 1.9 miles of M59 from Airport Road to Williams Lake Road be moved up to this fall from March 1970.

'SAVE A SEASON'

"This would save one full construction season and eliminate one year of detours while work on M59 is in progress," he said.

Also being sought is an earlier start on the widening of M59 from Williams Lake Road to the west county line.

The first stretch, 4.5 miles west from Williams Lake Road, is scheduled for preliminary engineering and right-of-way acquistion by the State Highway Department in 1973. Construction would start in 1974 and would not be completed until 1976.

"This would be an intolerable delay," Richardson said.

On the advice of Stafseth, he plans to write to John Osmer, secretary of the State Highway Commission, to arrange a meeting.

The presentation to Stafseth consisted of a study made by Deputy County Planner Thomas Fitzpatrick. The study detailed the growth along M59, the county's northerly east-west corridor to justify its immediate improvement.

PRESSURE ON STATE

Sol D. Lomerson, chairman of the County Road Commission, attorney Leroy McEntee and Paul Van Roekel, highway engineer, all have maintained pressure on the state to advance the schedule for M59 improvements.

Key Legal Aide Enters Detroit's Race for Mayor

DETROIT (AP) — A top city legal aide yesterday jumped into the Detroit mayoral contest with a harsh blast at the three Common Council members who have announced or are expected to announce their candidacies.

Thomas H. Gallagher, 49, chief assistant corporation council, filed for the primary and charged Mary Beck, Ed Carey and Mel Ravitz all with seeking the "hypocrite vote." Miss Beck and Carey have announced their candidacy.

★ ★ ★

Calling himself a "Truman Democrat," Gallagher criticized law and order campaigns which he said the three favored. He called for helping the poor and tempering law and order with justice.

"Any person who is head of a household and is bringing in less than $10,000 a year is dirt poor," he said.

He also took a shot at the three council members for vetoing Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh's request for more policemen in light of their calls for law and order.

"The future of this city is in bondage, thanks to them," he said. "They can't govern themselves and yet they want to govern the city."

'ROCHESTER JUNCTION'—A new concept in retailing—a minishopping center housed in old railroad cars—opened yesterday in Rochester. The center now includes a restaurant and a discount drugstore. Eventually, the developers hope to attract boutiques, antique shops, probably an old-fashioned ice cream parlor and other related browsing shops to the six-car center. Rick Worthington spent the day ushering motorists into the center.

Rochester Balks at Construction Firm's Proposal

ROCHESTER — The Roger Au Construction Co. tried to sweeten its approach with a $1,000 contribution to the centennial celebration, but city fathers last night balked at the condition on the gift.

The firm asked the council to allow open cut ditching for its various construction projects in the city, a variance from the tunnel ditching done heretofore. In return, the construction company would donate $1000 toward the centennial celebration.

★ ★ ★

An Au representative explained that savings of $4,000 per ditch could be realized by the company if the city would grant the request. In addition, the company spokesman said that open cut ditching would be completed faster.

Rochester Urban Renewal Director Bob Smalley described Au's performance so far as "complete lack of cooperation with the city."

EXPRESSES APPREHENSION

City Manager Bill Sinclair expressed apprehension in granting the Au request "because I fear we would have the same problems all over again."

City councilman John Boeberitz said he was "not anxious" to approve the Au request, for he did not want a packed council meeting when the Au firm did not work as speedily as promised and roads were blocked by construction crews once again.

★ ★ ★

"I think it's real nice that the firm has offered us $1,000 for our centennial, but we're not in the centennial business," snapped Councilman Thomas Case.

Council voted unanimously to table consideration of the Au request until the July 28 meeting. Meanwhile, City Manager Sinclair will study the request and make recommendation July 28.

New Supervisor Quits His Post in Milford Twp.

MILFORD TOWNSHIP — The resignation of Clare Caswell, township supervisor since March 31, is effective today.

Caswell of 102 Detroit indicated that he was resigning "due to my added interest in northern Michigan." He has a home in Hillman.

★ ★ ★

There are no immediate plans to choose another supervisor, according to township Clerk Mrs. Geraldine Downes. The next scheduled board meeting is in August.

Caswell, 66, replaced township Supervisor Mrs. Roger S. Hubbell, who had resigned because of illness.

★ ★ ★

When hired, he had recently retired from Chevrolet Motor Division, where he was an assistant staff engineer in the engineering department.

Problems at Avon Library? Better Not Make Book on It

AVON TOWNSHIP — Despite rumors to the contrary, all is well at the Avon Township Free Public Library.

★ ★ ★

In the midst of the discussion on township and City-of-Rochester division of library assets, the library board had sought $1,069 in state aid.

The state aid was stalled in the State Library Department for several months when application figures submitted by the township board of trustees and the library board conflicted.

★ ★ ★

"The problem lay in the timing of funds' deposit and outgo," explained Library Board Treasurer Hudson G. Hill. "The township would pay its bills on the first of the month and we would show payment in our records in the middle of the month, for instance."

CHECK IN THE MAIL

Hill said the state accepted revised and final application for the $1,069 this week and that the check was in the mail.

★ ★ ★

Adding to the confusion at the time of the application for state aid was the quit claim deeds that reverted ownership of the library to Avon Township with the City of Rochester entering a district agreement. A ratio basis division of assets scheme would not legally permit a library district to be formed between the two governing bodies involved. For that reason, the quit claim deeds were drawn.

★ ★ ★

Also rumored this week was that the librarian, Miss Clara Bryce would be replaced. Miss Bryce and the board denied this rumor.

Water-Rate Hike Effect Is Mulled

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Common Council yesterday considered possible ways to modify its already-approved increase in water and sewer bills in the city. At issue are increases in water bills reportedly ranging from 10 to 100 per cent, hitting industrial users for as much as several thousand dollars a year more. Among the hardest hit would be Chrsyler Corp., whose increase would be an estimated $1.5 million.

★ ★ ★

No decisions on any changes were made.

Councilmen Nicholas Hood and Philip Van Antwerp said they favored the city running a deficit of about $5 million, with water rates increased half of what is needed to cover the bond issue for which they originally were increased.

6-MONTH HIKE

Councilmen Mel Ravitz and Louis Miriani both said they favored an interim six-month increase pending a more detailed look at long-term funding.

The rates were increased to pay off a $10-million bond issue which paid for sewer and drainage improvements. Such bond issues usually have been paid out of the general fund.

★ ★ ★

Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh asked for a three-mill property tax increase. Council rejected it in favor of the water bill hike, which it said it considered more equitable.

Ditch to Be Fenced

TROY — Complete enclosure of the ditch and drain pipe in the Somerset Park Apartments complex that has taken the lives of two Troy youths is being planned.

"We've been talking with the Biltmore Co. people (developers of Somerset Park), and I think they will agree to anything the city comes up with," said Mayor Jule R. Famularo.

★ ★ ★

City commissioners last night received a report from City Manager Paul York regarding progress of a special assessment district possibility.

York reported that sample bids are beig sought and that cost estimates are being prepared in preliminary work toward the improvements.

PERMANENT GATE

Earlier York had told commissioners that he was in favor of constructing a permanent gate across the drain pipe and completely enclosing the ditch.

In other action last night Mayor Famularo proposed that the City Commission study a recently passed Detroit ordinance outlawing the carrying of loaded firearms within city limits.

★ ★ ★

"I don't believe even the state has a law prohibiting the carrying of loaded guns within city limits and I believe we need this law.

★ ★ ★

"It would not prohibit the legitimate sportsman from transporting his unloaded firearms from the city to the hunting grounds or the individual with a permit to carry a loaded weapon," said Mayor Famularo.

★ ★ ★

The matter will be on next Monday's agenda for further consideration.

Senate Will Study Smut, Property Tax

LANSING (AP) — Pornography and property taxes will be among topics occupying the minds of Michigan senators this summer as the Legislature recesses and special committee studies get under way.

★ ★ ★

The Senate gave its approval Monday to several resolutions authorizing studies by committees that will function during the summer recess, expected to begin later this week, and report their findings to the 1970 Legislature.

One committee, suggested by Sen. James Fleming, R-Jackson, will probe "the manufacture, display, sale and distribution of obscene and pornographic materials."

MATERIAL INCREASE CITED

The resolution cites "a tremendous increase in the quantity of obscene and pornographic materials available to the people of this state" and says such literature "may have an unknown evil and criminal affect on the minds and actions of our people and in particular the minors of our populace."

Fleming, who sponsored antipornography legislation this year that failed to make it through the House, was expected to be named chairman of the study committee. If so, he said, the group would begin its investigation with public hearings.

★ ★ ★

A second committee, meanwhile, will delve into property tax administration. And such problems as "changes in assessments which may not be brought to the attention of the taxpayers until too late for relief and unequal per capita assessed valuations in taxing districts, particularly school districts...."

Procedures and methods used in local equalization of assessments also are in line for Senate study.

Senate taxation chairman Harry DeMaso, R-Battle Creek — believes the legislature should consider doing away with some property tax exemptions before adopting new or higher levies—sponsored this study resolution.

The measure cites "numerous complaints....by members of the Michigan Legislature regarding the equalization of assessments by local assessors and by local assessing procedures.

"The very foundation of a sound and equitable tax structure depends upon complete uniformity in assessing and equalization of assessments," it says.

Walled Lake Unit to Present 2 Plays

WALLED LAKE — The Twilight Circle Theatre is presenting two plays this summer, "The Glass Menagerie" by Tenessee Williams and "Mary, Mary" by Jean Kerr.

"The Glass Menagerie" runs tomorrow and Thursday. Tickets for the 8:15 show at Walled Lake Central High School are available at the door for $1.25.

★ ★ ★

Season tickets, $2 for both plays, are also available at the door.

"Mary, Mary" will run in August.

★ ★ ★

The Twilight Circle Theatre is composed of high school students in a summer class in play production.

Lake in Barry County Claims Hastings Boy

HASTINGS (AP) — A five-year-old boy, Raymond Van Wee, of Hastings, drowned in Algonquin Lake in Barry County late yesterday.

Barry County sheriff's officers said the child was in the care of a baby sitter at the time. Police said that while the boy was wading, the baby sitter turned to care for another child and when she turned around the boy was missing.

Sheriff's police recovered the body a short time later.

Walled Lake Board OKs New Teacher Contract

WALLED LAKE — The Walled Lake School Board last night approved a master teachers contract calling for a $650 raise for beginning teachers with bachelor's degrees.

The new minimum salary for a beginning teacher is $7,500 while the new maximumm for a teacher with a masters degree is $13,358, up $1,254 from last year.

★ ★ ★

The teachers approved the contract reecntly by a five to one vote.

The contract calls for an increase of one working day for some 430 teachers in the Walled Lake system.

BAD-WEATHER DAYS

They will now be allowed to use their own discretion in deciding whether or not to attend school on inclement-weather days when children do not attend. Previously, any teacher who could get to school — but didn't — was charged with one day of sick leave.

The section on "professional behavior" was also strengthened with procedures set up to promote better cooperation between the teachers association and the administration.

Chairman of the board meeting was Mrs. Barbara Scully, newly elected president. A member of the board for the last eight years, she was president five years ago. The other new officers include Joseph Long, a board member for 21 years, vice president; John Clark, an 11-year board member, secretary; and Stuart Elwood, a third-year board member, treasurer.

The board accepted a report on the educational specifications for a junior high school drawn up by a citizen-and-staff committee.

COMMITTEE OF 85

The committee was authorized to prepare the specifications in late 1967 and has been working since. The group, composed of 85 laymen and professionals, formed committees to prepare specifications on the individual areas making up a junior high school.

Rolland Langerman, general chairman, noted that "It was decided to plan with the thought in mind that the specifications could be restudied and revised at a later date should the school district decide to move in the direction of a middle school concept."

Noteworthy features of the specifications include a learning materials center and a cafetorium. The center will be placed in a location easily accessible to all students. Resource materials will include books, periodicals, and audi-visual materials.

The cafetorium will include space for the student body to have meals in an area which can be easily turned into a large auditorium-type space. The committee urged that the dining area have movable partitions also so that the space can be divided into at least two parts.

REACTIVATION PLANNED

Langerman noted that when the time comes to actually begin building a new junior high school, the committee will be reactivated to revise or change specifications if necessary.

★ ★ ★

The specifications will be given to the architect designing the building.

★ ★ ★

Langerman predicted that a new junior high school will be needed about 1972.

"We try to stay ahead of the building program," he noted.

★ ★ ★

Currently there are 2,221 students attending the two junior high schools, now housing grades 7 through 9. When the new Western High School opens this fall all ninth graders will transfer to Western and Central high schools. Projected enrollment for the junior high schools this fall is 1,544 but is expected to rise to approximately 2,800 by 1972. Capacity of the two junior high schools is 2,300.

NLRB Decision Hailed

DETROIT (UPI) — United Auto Workers President Walter Reuther has labeled as "historic" the decision by the National Labor Relations Board that employers must bargain on benefits for retired workers.

This is the first time in the 34-year history of the NLRB that it has "squarely held an employer has a duty to bargain with respect to retired employes," the labor chieftain said in a prepared statement yesterday.

★

The board, in a four-to-one decision, struck down the ruling of an NLRB trial examiner that retired workers at Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. were not employes within the meaning of the act and their benefits were not subject to mandatory bargaining.

★ ★ ★

"This historic decision," said Reuther, "will have far-reaching effects beneficial not only to present retirees, but to the workers of today who will become the retirees of tomorrow."

★

There are about 260 hospital employes in all categories for every 100 patients.

Meet Your Neighbors

'Commons' Is Uncommon

By BARBARA GRIBBIN

Canterbury Commons in Farmington Township is an area of large Colonial-style homes built about three years ago. It does have a commons, a wide strip of land running through the subdivision, providing bike paths and playground facilities. It creates a park-like setting for strolling and adds a spacious feeling.

The 283 homes in Canterbury Commons, northeast of 13 Mile and Farmington roads, were built in two sections, each offering a number of different styles of two-story houses.

Life centers mostly around the Canterbury Commons Association, which is in the process of acquiring a community house for its activities.

The association, formed soon after the first homes were built, provides numerous events including an annual Easter egg hunt, Fourth of July parade and Christmas party for the children. A theater party and pancake brunch are fund-raising events.

A bi-monthly newsletter keeps members informed. A property protection committee works closely with township police, and block captains keep neighbors informed of what's going on in the community.

THE PHILLIP APPLEBAUMS

Phillip Applebaum is chairman of the restrictions committee of Canterbury Commons. He and his wife and two children, Linda, 8 and Cari, 6, moved from Livonia. His committee's job is to approve plans for additions and extra structures residents plan. "We've got a beautiful place here," he said, "and we're trying to keep it that way."

Applebaum is a credit management consultant with American Credit Association. Tennis is his favorite sport; he tries to play every day.

Active in school affairs, Mrs. Applebaum is a past member of the board of the local PTA. She's a member of the activities committee of Canterbury Commons and is a township board representative for the association. She plays bridge and sews in her spare time.

THE ROBERT McCONNELLS

The Robert McConnells moved three years ago from Detroit. The family includes two sons, Stuart, 10 and Bruce 5. McConnell an automotive sales representative, is president of Canterbury Commons Association.

He plays golf and is active in the YMCA Indian Guide program with Stuart. He plays the piano for leisure.

Mrs. McConnell, came to the U.S. from Scotland 13 years ago. The family camps for its summer vacations. Skiing and swimming are favorite family sport.

Both parents bowl in leagues during the winter. The McConnells belong to the First Presbyterian Church in Farmington Township.

THE AL DuFRESNES

Royal Oak is the former home of Mr. and Mrs. Al DuFresne whose children are David, 7, Kathy, 5, and Jeannine, 3 years old.

DuFresne is a CPA and partner in the firm of Metal Awning Components Inc., in Clawson. He and his wife bowl on a mixed league. Work on the lawn and garden keeps the parents busy. They've been building a large terraced garden and planting.

Mrs. DuFresne is a member of the activities committee and the board of directors of the Canterbury Association.

DuFresne is active in the Indian Guides with David and is a member of the Sidney Hill Men's Club in Detroit. He coached Little League football in Birmingham and is also active in the YMCA in Farmington. Finishing off the large basement of his home keeps him busy.

Both DuFresnes give much of their time to community work. They are members of St. Fabian Church in Farmington Township.

THE JACK SCHMAUCHS

The Jack Schmauch family moved from Franklin a year and a half ago. Originally the Schmauchs are from Chicago. Their two children are Eric 7, and Melanie, 5.

Schmauch is in charge of the Detroit office of Chicago Show Printing Co. He's chairman of the subdivision's property protection committee, which maintains patrols in the community during the summer. He fishes and golfs.

While Schmauch was in the service in Germany he and his wife began collecting mugs, a hobby they have continued here. Part of their collection is displayed on the long mantel in their family room.

Mrs. Schmauch lists swimming and tennis as favorite sports; she's also a member of a bowling league. The family belongs to the Franklin Community Church.

THE WARD OHRMANS

Mr. and Mrs. Ward Ohrman moved from Westbrook Manor in Farmington. They are from Chicago originally. The family includes two children, Todd, 10, and Brooke, 8.

Ohrman is sales manager of Nemethy-Davis Division of Western Printing Co. Show business was his first love; he holds a masters degree in theater. He did a lot of acting in Chicago and still does some commercials.

Ohrman sings in the choir of the Franklin Community Church, in which the family is quite active. He's also a member of the maintenance committee at Canterbury

Mrs. Ohrman recently completed building a grandmother's clock all by herself. The works were given to the family some years ago, but since no one ever got around to actually building the cabinet, Mrs. Ohrman decided to give it a try. She entered a woodworking class at Farmington High. It took two courses to complete the clock. One of two ladies in the class, she took a lot of ribbing from the men before she showed them that she really could build the clock. The whole family is proud of her.

Mrs. Orhman sews and knits for her family as well as making ceramics, refinishing furniture and golfing with her husband. She's a member of the Hill and Dale Garden Club.

THE JIMMY HAUGENS

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Haugen moved from Minneapolis three years ago. Their children are Jimmy, 12, Kari, 10, Jan, 8, and Leigh, 6. Haugen is an engineer with Ford.

Both Haugens are members of the Farmington Players and were in separate plays last season Haugen does wood sculpturing, some of which is displayed in his home. He and his wife sail, ski and play tennis.

They've been decorating their home with such unusual ideas as fabric on the kitchen walls. The family belongs to the Antioch Lutheran Church in Farmington Township.

THE WILLIAM TAKAIS

Mr. and Mrs. William Takai moved from Lakeland, Fla., although their original home was in Detroit. They have five children, Tom, 12, Joseph, 7, Cathy, 5, Teddy, 3 and Ann Marie, 6 months old.

Takai is a market researcher. He's cubmaster Pack 48 at Bond School and chairman for adult leadership training for Cub Scouting in the Ottawa District. His hobbies include golf and tying trout flies with son Tom. Active in Scouting, Tom likes camping and other activities.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Takai is neighborhood correspondent for Canterbury Commons, writing a weekly column for the Farmington Enterprise and Observer on activities in the community. She is a past president of the Bond School PTA and president of the Canterbury Belles bowling league. She paints in her spare time.

The family's main hobby is raising tropical fish. The Takais also are active in St. Coleman Church, Farmington Township.

Next week, Rochester Knolls

SYNCHRONIZE YOUR WATCHES — There's no time lag at the Ward Ohrman home at 30106 Foxgrove, Farmington Township. Ohrman checks his watch to make sure the grandmother clock his wife made is on time as their children Brooke, 8, and Todd, 10, look on. It took two woodworking classes at Farmington High School to complete Mrs. Ohrman's clock-making project.

God Speed Astronauts

Almost 12 years and $24 billion after Russia's Sputnik I pushed us into a space program, the United States is about to place men on the moon.

Aside from early attempts to land rockets there, the Reds saw they would finish second in the two-country race to land a manned space ship on the rocky craters. They chose to pursue different goals in space, seeking information on other planets rather than placing a man on the earth's satellite.

★ ★ ★

Sometimes the competition with the Russians produces worthwhile results. If not for Sputnik I and the other Russian space moves, what would have been our pace? With no spark fostered by the USSR, would we be ready to put a man on the moon tomorrow?

★ ★ ★

With or without the Reds, sooner or later, we would have reached this eve of the big day. But the moon landing is not the end of our space adventures. It may well be the beginning, and as significant as that first rocket that escaped earth's gravitational pull.

Successful completion of the moon landing project will really put us in the space travel era. But we must not discount the possibility that tomorrow's space flight might end in disaster instead of triumph. In addition to the fiery deaths of three astronauts right on our own planet, we have had several close calls already.

★ ★ ★

It is a tribute to our technology, training and selection procedures that we've been able to solve the problems which have occurred while men and their machines were aloft.

But tomorrow's escapade is more perilous than all the others. There is more room for error, miscalculation or malfunction than ever before.

There is no guarantee that the American "good guys" always win and never get hurt.

★ ★ ★

Agnostics and atheists may cross their fingers and hope, the rest of us will pray tonight for the continued safety of our courageous scientists.

★ ★ ★

As we all go about our normal chores tomorrow, let us be with that gallant trio in heart, if not in space.

Better Than Housecalls!

Music Key to Social Fabric

Archaeologists of the future, given only the recorded musical sounds of the 1960s, might do a fair job of reconstructing American life during this decade. The nervous tempo of rock, the persistence of musical idioms of the past, soul music, blatantly sexual love songs, protest songs—all these compose a medley of the times. Rock is the manifesto of the youth generation.

But music in America has become more than just a mirror to society. It has become big business—$2 billion a year in sales of records and instruments. Forty-four million Americans play musical instruments, twice as many as in 1950.

★ ★ ★

And it's not all kids. Broadcast Music, Inc., estimates that the average adult listens to two hours of music a day on radio alone. At times the sound of music seems to have penetrated every recess of livable space; it is more difficult to escape than to find.

★ ★ ★

Part of the picture of musical America is the summer music camp, where youngsters (and some adults, too) combine the usual outdoor activities of summer camp with musical instruction.

One of the best known is the National Music Camp at Interlochen, Mich., now in its 42nd summer. In past seasons as many as 150,000 aspiring musicians attended upwards of 400 summer camps. For those who can't attend, or don't care to, there's a proliferation of jazz, folk, country and bluegrass music festivals to attend.

NIETZSCHE, the philosopher, said it well: "Without music, life would be a mistake."

Hallmark of Viet History: Division

By BRUCE BIOSSAT
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Many Americans, leaders included, seem always to be astonished and dismayed—even disgusted—that South Vietnam's Saigon government does not rise to the levels of democratic tolerance and competence expected of it.

BIOSSAT

Even those observers most generous-minded toward Saigon say that if the South Vietnamese leaders had lived up to just a few expectations—like that for thoroughgoing land reform and for healthy acceptance of opposition parties—they would today be in a far stronger position than they are.

★ ★ ★

But probably our expectations have been too high from the start.

Not in excuse but in explanation, these things need to be said about the difficulties of South Vietnam's leaders, past and present:

This tiny country of 65,000 square miles, just a shade smaller than our own Washington state, is fundamentally one of the most badly divided patches of earth anywhere on this globe.

The major divisive elements are regional, ethnic, religious, social and political.

South Vietnam has northerners, "centerites" and southerners, different from one another in makeup and outlook, tending usually to be distrustful of one another.

★ ★ ★

The religious divisions are an old story, with the Buddhists heavily dominant, the strong Catholic infusion from North Vietnam a key factor, the Cao Dai and Hoa Hao sects a special problem with their own political complexion and, for a time, their separatist armies.

★ ★ ★

Ethnic minorities come to about 16 per cent of the total South Vietnamese population. About 1.3 million are overseas Chinese, most of the remainder Cambodians and the celebrated Montagnards of the Central Highlands.

AUTOCRATIC TENDENCIES

Neither in this fractured society nor in North Vietnam nor in the two sectors together has "nationhood" long been a fact of life. In much of the past 300 years, the entirety of Vietnam has been divided into halves and even thirds.

★ ★ ★

What central authority the Vietnamese themselves have established in parts of Vietnam has been traditionally autocratic, with no tolerance of opposition.

★ ★ ★

That embedded habit lingers today, and explains why South Vietnamese leaders act so swiftly to stifle rivalry, even as they pay formal homage to new concepts of democracy.

For all this autocratic tradition, it is an established fact that the power of the Saigon government in the years since the 1954 Geneva pact has never run too strongly in many of the country's 2,500 villages—and some places it really never reached at all.

CRASH PROGRAM

Saigon's performance from 1954 on was in effect a crash program to make a nation before the quickly consolidated, better organized Communist government of Ho Chi Minh in North Vietnam could engulf it.

It broke the power of the sect armies, built a fairly workable bureaucracy on the ashes of the French debacle, began land reforms.

★ ★ ★

But its stubborn clinging to autocratic leadership, its repressive overreaction to the lingering threat of 5,000 or more Hanoi agents and its incapacity to win over anti-Red but still diverse elements opened the way to the internal chaos that plagues it yet.

David Lawrence Says:

Soviet Naval Intrusion Irksome

WASHINGTON — The cause of world peace is not helped by the presence of a Soviet naval fleet in the Gulf of Mexico just a few miles from the territory of the United States.

LAWRENCE

The task force is capable of firing missiles. It consists of eight ships — a guided-missile cruiser, two guided-missile destroyers, a submarine tender, two diesel submarines and two oilers.

Some reports say that the Moscow government has sent the ships to this area because a few American destroyers have been patrolling the Black Sea.

★ ★ ★

Whatever the reasons for the Soviet maneuver, it certainly has created uneasiness here and accentuates the importance of the proposed talks with the Soviets on arms limitation.

★ ★ ★

Every country has a right to send its war vessels into any ocean as long as they remain beyond the three-mile or 12-mile limit prescribed.

75 MILES AWAY

Thus far, the Soviet fleet has stayed at least 75 miles west of Key West, Fla., and is planning to go to Havana, presumably to attend the celebration of Cuba's national day on July 26.

★ ★ ★

President Monroe, 146 years ago, proclaimed the doctrine that the United States would not tolerate the establishment of a foothold in this hemisphere by any European country.

★ ★ ★

The Monroe Doctrine, as it is called, was respected for many decades. But within recent years, the Soviet government has defied it by establishing a foothold in Cuba.

★ ★ ★

The Russians may argue that they have a right to keep any country from establishing bases in Europe and that, in effect, if the United States is to have a free hand in keeping other nations from setting up bases in this hemisphere, then America ought to be prohibited from doing the same thing in Europe.

MAINTAINS ARMIES

But the Soviet government maintains armies of occupation in the Communist-bloc countries of Eastern Europe in defiance of the settlements reached at the end of World War II.

The time has come to make clear to the government in Moscow that it must detach itself not only from Cuba but from any other country in this hemisphere. For the principles behind the Monroe Doctrine are still valid as a means of protecting the peoples of the Western Hemisphere against military conquest by any European or Asian power.

★ ★ ★

There can be little trust in Soviet pledges about maintaining peace while funds and military equipment are being shipped to Cuba, and a Soviet fleet cruises in waters off our shores with vessels capable of firing missiles which could easily destroy American lives and property.

Bob Considine Says:

Cocoa Beach Is Striking It Rich on Moon Shot

COCOA BEACH, Fla.—This place is the Klondike of the space age. Apollo 11 is its newest gold strike. Scientists, engineers, industrialists and newsmen are its prospectors.

CONSIDINE

It doesn't go in too strong for raucous saloons or gunplay, there are no readily apparent gambling halls in the area, but Cocoa Beach has more nightclubs per capita than the Klondike ever had, and the cocktail girls in their mini-minies are probably more fetching than the hardy ladies who lighted up the eyeballs of Jack London, Wilson Mizner, Tex Rickard and Robert W. Service.

★ ★ ★

The Klondike is no more. Its gold petered out. What Cocoa Beach is running out of is rockets, which are in some cases more precious than gold.

The innkeepers, merchants and a topless go-go girl here and there have learned to live with the ups and downs of the space age.

FAT AND LEAN

They know from the Old Testament that there will be days of fat and maybe months of lean; that it's a one-day-chicken, next-day-feathers business.

The fattest of all the fat times is right now. Motel rooms are booked from here to Orlando and beyond. But it is Cocoa Beach where the pressure is greatest. It can be a real swinging place when the mob's in town and something is happening out on the cape.

★ ★ ★

Everybody wants to see this one — surely the greatest single piece of exploration in the whole history of man.

There have been predictions that a million people will try to press into this area in the hopes of getting close enough to the 36-story space vehicle to see its brief moment of stunning glory.

Whether it's a million, half a million, two million, they'll pick Cocoa Beach dry of food and drink in record time, and then move on — leaving the regulars with their windfall to count and their feet to soak in Epsom salts. Their stay will have been short but unforgettable.

★ ★ ★

No camera, no commentator has yet been able properly to depict or describe the enormous conflagration of a Saturn 5 blast-off. It is as if somebody opened the front door of Hell. It is Krakatoa, the San Francisco earthquake and a Biblical Ascension, all thrown together.

Then it's gone in a matter of a minute or so. And in a few hours so are the awe-stricken observers. Cocoa Beach goes back to sleep in the sun, not to rouse itself and shake the sand from its shoes until the next shot.

Voice of the People:

College for Osteopaths Makes Tax Dollar Sense

Legislative committees and the State Board of Education have for years been reviewing the case for state support of osteopathic medical education. Official support of the Michigan College of Osteopathic Medicine (MCOM) is based on knowledge that Michigan taxpayers want family physicians and that colleges of osteopathic medicine produce more of them, economically, than other schools. Qualitatively, the physicians of either school of medicine are equals in the eyes of the federal government and are equally licensed by the State of Michigan.

★ ★ ★

It is known that we need more doctors, more accessible doctors, more general practitioners. The MD schools result in about 18 GPs per 100 graduates The DO schools result in about 75 GPs per 100 graduates.

★ ★ ★

At Pontiac, the Michigan College of Osteopathic Medicine has a valuable site (164 acres contributed by Pontiac citizens) and buildings. These assets were privately financed and are worth $1.8 million. Michigan's osteopathic physicians are contributing a six-figure amount, annually, for ten years toward the development of MCOM. The founding classmen have been enrolled and will begin attending MCOM in September.

★ ★ ★

Investigation will show that Michigan DOs, who provide better than one third of the general practice physician care in Michigan got none of their professional training at the public's expense. Hitherto, their taxes have paid for the education of other professions, never their own.

'Right to Teach Sex Belongs to the Parents'

Too many board of education members think of the board as some sort of tin god in trying to push for sex classes in the schools. The right to teach sex belongs to the parents. There is nothing old-fashioned about sex. Witness the loose morals of the young since pornography started to be pushed in America under the guise of freedom. Witness the obscene telephone calls, the increase of rape, the increase of broken homes, etc. You don't find loose morals in Communist Russia because the Communists know loose morals would destroy Russia. They push loose morals in America to destroy America.

Comments on Firing of Hospital Head

I am not a Pontiac property owner but I am a citizen from this area who uses the Pontiac General Hospital. If the board thinks they are right in what they did, let them speak up and not hide anything from the public. I suggest we check into the capabilities of the board members.

Question and Answer

Is there any way to figure out the calories in portions of prepared foods and packaged products which are cooked at home? I do pretty well watching my weight, but am at a loss for foods like this.

GRUMPY DIETER

REPLY

A paperback book by Corinne Netzer may be just what you need. Published by Dell, it's called "The Brand Name Calorie Counter." It lists calorie counts for various convenience foods as well as comparing brands.

Question and Answer

I'm an Rh-negative woman planning to marry an Rh-positive man. I know that can mean trouble for babies we might have, but isn't there something I can take to prevent the blood problems that often develop before the babies are born?

THINKING AHEAD

REPLY

There is an Rh-immune globulin that has been licensed as a "vaccine" to prevent erythroblastosis fetalis, the blood problem you're probably thinking of. However, we don't want to be accused of practicing medicine without a license, so we suggest you ask your doctor about it.

Nixon Tour Bucking Soviet Interests

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

When President Nixon leaves Washington to try out his own brand of personal diplomacy in Southeast Asia, India, Pakistan and Romania he will be heading directly into an area where the Soviet Union has been showing increasing interest.

In Southeast Asia he will visit the Philippines, Indonesia and Thailand. Among each of these, plus Malaysia and Singapore, the Soviets are pursuing a twofold objective.

★ ★ ★

One objective is to fashion a cordon around a hostile Red China.

The other, accounting for recent stepped-up activity as a climax to years of patient spadework, is to take advantage of Britain's withdrawal from east of Suez by 1971 and an anticipated lessening of U.S. interest in the area after Vietnam.

This will be an angle that Nixon will attempt to offset.

There is evidence that Russian efforts are paying off.

The Philippines, a country once so anti-Communist that in 1962 it banned a Yugoslav basketball team, has begun modest trading with East Europe and may follow it up with formal commercial and diplomatic relations.

In Jakarta, Indonesia, the Russians maintain one of their largest embassy staffs despite the anti-Red fever which swept the country after the abortive Red coup attempt of 1965.

FIRST IN RED CAPITAL

Malaysia opened its first embassy in a Communist capital, Moscow, in April 1968. Moscow is the biggest buyer of Malaysian rubber and buys large quantities of other raw materials such as tin.

The Russians established an embassy in Singapore in January and concluded an agreement with the government for landing rights for Aeroflot, the Soviet airline.

★ ★ ★

Anti-Communist Thailand has had diplomatic ties with Russia back to 1896. The Russians use it as an important base from which to keep an eye on American military activities.

In recent months Russian officials have conferred with the leaders of both India and Pakistan.

★ ★ ★

The Russian presence in the Indian Ocean has become increasingly evident of late, and there are persistent reports of Indian "facilities" for Soviet ships in return for Russian arms and submarines.

As the Russians attempt to strengthen their barriers against Red Chinese expansion, even the presence of American troops in South Vietnam has not been wholly bad from their viewpoint. They'd rather have the U.S. there than Red China.

'Sick-Ins' by Police Seek Higher Pay in 2 Chicago Suburbs

CHICAGO (AP) — A "sick-in" in two Chicago suburbs by policemen demanding higher wages moved into its fifth day today with state and county officials helping patrol the communities.

Officials in west suburban Cicero and south suburban Chicago Heights were unsuccessful in efforts to end the sick-ins that began Friday.

Only skeleton crews remained in the two departments as nearly 150 policemen failed to report for duty.

So far, no major crime incident has occurred.

Cicero has about 70,000 residents, and Chicago Heights has about 40,000.

AID IN PATROLLING

Sheriff's police and state troopers are helping patrol the two suburbs.

Sgt. John Flood of the Cook County sheriff's police, head of the Cook County Police Association, said the sick-ins may spread. The association seeks exclusive bargaining agent status in Cicero, and Flood charged that Cicero officials have refused to negotiate.

* * *

Cicero Mayor John Karner denies it.

"They're definitely wrong," he said. "We'll definitely sit down with them.

NO SETTLEMENT

Sunday, however, the Cicero town board refused to hear Flood plead his case. Monday night, it consented to hear an attorney for the police association, Arthur Loevy, instead. No settlement was reached.

Meanwhile, several cases had to be postponed Monday in the Cicero branch of Cook County Circuit Court because police witnesses failed to appear.

* * *

Starting pay for Cicero police is $7,600. The association asks an across-the-board $2,000 increase.

In Chicago Heights, the Police Benevolent and Protective Association demands that patrolmen's pay after the first year be raised from $8,200 to $10,000.

Chicago Heights police rejected Sunday a city offer of a raise to $8,500.

Six members of the 100-man Cicero force were on duty.

Only two lieutenants stayed on the job in Chicago Heights, out of a 54-man force.

Errant Drivers Swamp State

Hare Unhappy With Automatic Suspension

LANSING (AP) — The Department of State is setting new records in suspending and otherwise disciplining errant drivers — but Secretary of State James Hare says he isn't too happy about the situation.

Hare said his department may well double its total of 60,520 driver improvement activities last year, such as suspensions and revocations.

* * *

"We can attribute most of the hike to a very punitive new law which forces our department to suspend drivers if they do not take care of their tickets within 40 days," Hare said.

Hare said more than 51,000 drivers had some kind of action taken against them during the first half of this year, more than four months ahead of the 1968 pace.

17,000 LIFTED

The Automatic Suspension Act has required the lifting of more than 17,000 licenses, he reported.

In June, Hare said, there were 6,618 such suspensions. He predicted the number would reach more than 50,000 by the end of the year.

* * *

Hare said he still was not receiving too many complaints about the new law.

One reason might be, Hare suggested, that many people continue to drive while under suspension.

QUICKLY PAY

"In other instances," Hare said, "as soon as persons receive their suspension notices in the mail, they quickly take care of the unpaid ticket and have their driving privilege restored.

Hare has favored the so-called Illinois system instead of the present suspension law. Under this system, a driver stopped for a moving violation must surrender his license and is given a temporary permit to drive, good only until his appearance in court.

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Former U.S. Sen. William A. Blakley, overcome by smoke from a burning mattress in his hotel room, was reported "doing fine" today.

Blakley, 71, was carried unconscious from the hotel room after the fire was discovered early today, given oxygen and then hospitalized. A hospital attendant said later he was "sitting up and talking—doing fine."

The eighth-floor fire forced the evacuation of some 40 guests from the Commodore Perry Hotel.

A Crowd's Expected . . .

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Officials estimate a million people want to watch the Apollo 11 astronauts leave for the moon, and there is fear that this part of Florida will suffer a monstrous traffic jam by tomorrow on land and sea and in the air.

There are plenty of places for watching. It's the getting there that's sticky. And the getting away will be stickier.

★ ★ ★

Never before will so many people have traveled to watch a show that lasts three minutes at best.

Over a network of roads that would be taxed by a football game crowd, officials expect 350,000 cars, the Poor People's Campaign mule train, a man running from Houston, Tex., and another coming by bicycle.

AND 3,000 BOATS

On the Indian and Bana rivers that separate the launch site from the mainland they foresee 3,000 boats.

And airports as far away as Miami expect to be busier than Chicago's O'Hare, the world's busiest, with 1,500 planes in and out.

★ ★ ★

Not all the watchers will be in the marshland and orange groves that characterize the eastern coastline. The space agency expects to accommodate 5,000 VIPs, 1,500 other guests and 3,000 to 5,000 newsmen near the launch site. They'll see the Saturn 5 lifet-off from 3½ miles away.

Each member of Congress got an invitation for a free plane trip for the big day — along with one relative.

JOGGER, CYCLIST

Bill Emerton, a 49-year-old Australian marathon runner jogging the 1,040 miles from Houston to the Cape "to expose as much publicity as possible to the mission," is expected to arrive today. And bicyclist Enio Ponti of Houston is making the same trip to make the cape fire

A Launch-Pad Fire and Apollo's Rebirth

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Two and a half years ago, the nation and the space program in particular were stunned by the launch-pad fire that killed three astronauts.

Now, as Apollo reaches finally for the moon, it is becoming clear that in the ashes of that tragic fire lay the seeds of the near-perfection that has marked the nation's four manned Apollo flights.

After the fire, manned Apollo launches were grounded for 21 months while the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and its contractors sought to rectify mistakes leading to the tragedy and possible further mishaps.

The errors were found and resolved.

So now Apollo 11 astronauts are ready to land on the moon July 20—five months ahead of the 1970 deadline set by President John F. Kennedy.

CHANGES NEEDED

Investigation after the tragedy showed that major changes were needed in the moon craft.

At the time of the Cape Kennedy fire, the 363-foot-tall Saturn 5 man-to-the-moon rocket was 10 months away from its first unmanned flight and experiencing numerous development problems, particularly with its thin-skinned second stage.

The spidery lunar module—LEM-landing craft was overweight, and the Apollo 1 fire investigation was showing that the moon-lander also needed overhaul to make it more fireproof and reliable.

★ ★ ★

Ground controllers had many uncertainties, too, about earth-to-moon communications and how well astronauts could navigate to and from the moon and in lunar orbit.

Safety procedures needed to be strengthened for testing spaceships and rockets on the ground. Management within NASA and its contractors was undergoing a shake-up, and no one was certain where the ax would fall next.

HEAVY CRITIC

Morale was low and plunging as the whole space effort came under heavy criticism by the public and Congress for what was termed sloppy workmanship and inadequate safety procedures.

With an engineering effort unparalled in America's technological history, however, the tide of pessimism slowly began to be arrested.

★ ★ ★

The space agency and its contractors admitted their mistakes, brought in outside experts to help solve problems, and went to work rebuilding and reorganizing.

The fire resulted in the deaths of the three astronauts and direct and indirect costs of nearly $600 million. But the postfire effort also resulted in a textbook first unmanned flight of the Saturn 5 rocket and equally successful manned missions on Apollos 7, 8, 9 and 10 to clear the way for Apollo 11 next week.

QUICK ESCAPE

After the fire, three-man Apollo command ships got a new quick-escape hatch that can be opened in three seconds, compared to the 90 seconds Apollo 1 astronauts Virgil I. Grissom, Edward H. White II and Roger B. Chaffee needed to open their spaceship door under the best of conditions.

★ ★ ★

Thirty miles of wiring aboard the command ship were redesigned and enclosed by fire walls and special panels to keep any fire caused by a short circuit from spreading. More than half the solder joints in the life support system were armored to prevent leaking of dangerous gases.

★ ★ ★

Space suits were made more fire resistant, fire extinguishers were placed aboard moon ships and 79 per cent of all flammable material inside the cockpit was replaced or removed.

On the LEM-lander, metals were shaved and waffled to lighten the walls of the spacecraft. Fuel tanks were reduced nine pounds each by welding together two halves of thin-walled titanium tanks instead of using bolts—a technical feat that required new techniques.

LIGHTER TANKERS

Apollo's 11's LM is the first with the lighter tankers.

To improve fireproofing, food-storage areas on the LEM were covered with flame-resistant material. Plastic circuit breakers were enclosed and numerous other potential fire sources sealed off.

The Saturn 5 rocket, meanwhile, also had its problems. On the second unmanned launch, there were up-and-down vibrations that might have prevented astronauts, had they been aboard, from performing normally.

★ ★ ★

Officials determined the vibration was caused by frequencies of the engines resonating up the rest of the rocket's structure. They solved it by filling cavities just above the engines with helium gas to act as a shock absorber.

Other problems occurred during manned missions, including Apollo 10, but one by one these have been understood and solved.

★ ★ ★

"The Apollo 1 pilots did not die in vain," one NASA official observed. "Out of that tragedy has come a better spaceship and a nationwide engineering capability able to quickly track down and resolve problems.

"Ironically, the fire may have saved the lives of other astronauts—and prevented problems later that would have delayed the lunar landing even longer."

Torrid to Frigid, Astronauts Safe

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP)—The temperature on the moon varies 500 degrees. In sunlight, the temperature is about 250 degrees Fahrenheit, in darkness it drops to about 250 degrees below zero.

A special water-cooling unit in the portable life support system will protect the astronauts from the extreme heat. Their suits are insulated against the cold.

Lunar Chase

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — After the Apollo 11 lunar module ascends from the moon surface, some 22 hours after landing, it will reach an orbital speed of about one mile a second to catch up with the command module.

'Data Important to Planning Future Explorations'

Doctor for Spacemen

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Eight years ago Dr. Charles A. Berry had to convince doctors and scientists that astronaut Alan B. Shepard would not die of a heart attack during a 15-minute suborbital flight.

Four years ago, he had to convince them that the Gemini 4 pilots would not tumble out of their spaceship and drown after four days in space.

★ ★ ★

Now, Berry is ready to monitor the hearts of two men walking on the moon. Most of the doubters have been stilled.

"It's indicative of how we've knocked down one medical fear after another in manned space flight," said Berry, the astronauts' chief medical officer. He said the 4,514 hours of weightlessness Americans have endured in space have produced no serious medical problems.

NEW ENVIRONMENT

On the moon, Berry said, "we will be placing men in an entirely new environment. After four days of weightless flight, they will step onto a surface where the gravity field is only one-sixth that of earth. We'll watch them closely to see how fast they tire, how well they do their assigned tasks."

"What we learn on Apollo 11 will very important to the planning for future lunar exploration," he said.

When astronauts Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. step onto the moon's surface early July 21, Berry will be in the Mission Control Center in Houston, Tex., receiving three readings on each man, a quarter-million miles away.

He'll be watching heart rate, oxygen consumption and temperature of the water that cools the space suit. The last will be an indirect measure of how much heat the astronauts' body is producing.

METABOLIC PROFILES

Berry said extensive preflight physicals have enabled doctors to draw a metabolic profile of eac man.

"We know," he said, "what their work capacity on earth is at various heart rate plateaus—120 beats a minute, 140, 160 etc. And also the related oxygen consumption and how much heat the body generates. We have all this information in a computer program in the control center.

★ ★ ★

"We'll feed the information we receive from the moon into the computer," he added. "We know the heat production level which the portable life support system can handle without being overburdened. If it reaches that point for five minutes, we will tell the astronauts to stop and rest."

Berry said that working in the bulky space suits could prove difficult on the moon. For this reason, the astronauts will start out with simple tasks and work chief an honorary chief of Houston.

Hosea Williams of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference said poor people from at least five southern states will be with the mule train. The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, head of the SCLC, will hold rallies.

★ ★ ★

"These people have a right to demonstrate and march as long as they don't break the law and tie up traffic," said Sheriff Leigh Wilson.

"We've covered all contingencies, I think," said Phil Streit, safety director of Brevard County. "We've planned as much as we can plan. Now we have to wait and see if it works."

RESORT ATMOSPHERE

Brevard County, which includes Cape Kennedy, Cocoa Beach, Cocoa, Merritt Island and Titusville, normally has a population of 221,000. But it has a resort atmosphere, is thick with restaurants, bars, motels and topless joints. To appease other needs, the county has stationed portable comfort facilities strategically.

All parks and beaches have been turned into public campgrounds. All police in the area will operate as a single unit for traffic control. Thirty ambulances with 60 attendants will be scattered at various places.

★ ★ ★

The Florida East Coast Railway is making two of its line cars — station wagons converted for use on tracks — available for emergencies. An Army helicopter will serve as a flying ambulance. The Coast Guard will have two 82-foot cruisers, three 40-footers and two smaller boats on patrol.

Sheriff Wilson had one optimistic outlook.

MOVING SLOWLY

"We don't really anticipate any bad accidents," he said, "primarily because the traffic will be moving so slowly."

GETTING READY FOR LAUNCH — With two tandem bicycles and a foreign compact car, Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Crady of Peoria, Ill., and their son and daughter, Mark, 9, and Lisa, 7, prepare to pitch camp near Cape Kennedy, Fla., yesterday to watch tomorrow's launch of Apollo 11. They drove from home with the bikes lashed to the top of the car and the camping equipment stowed inside.

Stamp Buffs Flood Prime Recovery Ship With Mail Requests

ABOARD THE USS HORNET (UPI) — Stamp collectors from all over the world are flooding the Apollo 11 recovery ship with requests for "first day covers" and Hornet postmark cancellations during the first attempt to land men on the moon.

The Hornet will probably cancel more letters the day of Apollo 11 splash-down than have ever been canceled aboard a ship on a single day in history," said Robert L. Richards, the "postmaster" aboard the ship.

★ ★ ★

For weeks, stamp collectors have been mailing stamped, self-addressed envelopes for marking with a commemorative cachet of the astronauts' return to earth. More than 250,000 already have been received

As the letters come in, Richards and his crew hand stamp the envelopes with the "first day cover" — a large red stamp depicting the lunar lander and the command ship.

HISTORIC MESSAGE

It says:

"Apollo 11. Manned lunar landing. AS506. U.S. Navy Recovery Force Pacific."

Many of the envelopes bear the six-cent Apollo 8 stamp, showing the earth rise over the horizon of the moon. It reads:

"In the beginning, God . . ."

★ ★ ★

"It would sure be a lot easier if we could start canceling envelopes now," Richards said.

"But we have to wait until splash-down before we can put dated postmarks on the envelopes."

At Least 10,000 'VIPs' to Eye Launch

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Space Agency officials expect at least 10,000 "special guests" ranging from Chamber of Commerce officials to authors at Cape Kennedy tomorrow when Apollo 11 is shot toward the moon.

Included in the host of VIPs will be nearly 300 members of Congress and an uncounted number of their wives or other guests.

One congressman not going is Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa. He took to the House floor Thursday to denounce the excursion as a taxpayer-financed junket whose only accomplishment would be to "clutter up (the site) with three or four hundred congressmen and their wives."

A spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) said 283 lawmakers — 41 senators and 242 representatives — had signed up so far for the trip. Each may bring one guest.

ONE-DAY TRIP

Most will board Air Force planes near Washington at 5 a.m. EDT tomorrow, fly down to the cape, glimpse the shot and return that same day. All expenses will be paid by the government.

An advance contingent of 42 members of the House and Senate Space committees will fly down tonight. Because they are on "official business," they may charge their rooms and other expenses to the government. But a NASA aide said, "you'd be surprised how many consider it a privilege and pass up the chance."

Most of the 10,000 "special guests" must pay all their own expenses, according to NASA. But NASA could not say how much it would spend in manpower and facilities to accommodate them. Besides congressmen, exceptions include ambassadors or their representatives (about 120 are expected) who have been invited by President Nixon.

Protocol centers, which went into operation Friday, have been set up at five points around Cape Kennedy, where the VIPs will be assisted and from where they can catch buses for tours and transportation to the space facility.

'A CROSS-SECTION'

A NASA spokesman said in choosing who to invite the agency decided to capture a "cross-section" not only of America but the world.

Among those invited were delegations from different countries; high federal officials; governors of each state and territory; mayors of all cities with populations over 100,000 (and cities with fewer people where there is a link between the community and the space program); air and scientific attaches of embassies; artists, authors and Pulitzer Prize winners; representatives of farm, labor, women's, Negro, church and business groups; national and state officers of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce; prominent industry figures; educators and ordinary members of the public who wrote in (when there was time) for tickets.

★ ★ ★

Gross' comments in the House Thursday brought an attempt from Rep. Olin Teague, D-Tex., to make the Iowan change his mind.

"I wish you would go down," he almost pleaded. Gross was unmoved.

HE'D ARRANGE IT

Teague offered to arrange it so the government would not pay for Gross' part of the trip. Gross also refused that.

But Rep. James G. Fulton, R-Pa., had the last word. He looked over at the short, 70-year-old Iowan standing behind the railing smoking a cigarette and remarked:

"I would suggest that certain people lift their sights above the corn stalks on either side of the row they're hoeing."

Will Keep Close Tabs on Trio

up to tougher ones during the 2½ hours they plan to be outside the lunar landing module, or LM.

CLOSE TO CRAFT

"On this first landing," Berry said, "we probably won't let them wander much more than about 100 feet from the safety of the LM."

The first thing each will do is find out if he can move around and keep his balance in the one-sixth gravity field.

★ ★ ★

"They'll stand on one foot and attempt walking exercises," Berry said. "They're not going to float away like they were weightless. There's enough gravity there to maintain a position. When they make a motion, they'll tend to float a bit, so they'll probably take big steps and sort of jump."

He said, "The biggest psychological problem is that for the first time you're putting men on the moon and there will be a crew reaction. Amazingly, the Apollo 10 crew, after an initial "Good Lord, there's the moon down there,' went right to work on their tasks, virtually ignoring the fact they were orbiting the moon."

HARD TO SLEEP

Excitement over their being on the moon, Berry said, could affect Armstrong's and Aldrin's ability to sleep in the four-hour rest period planned before they step outside. He said, "We might have to make a real-time decision on whether to give them a sleeping pill or perhaps a stimulant."

Berry doubts there are any germs or living bacteria on the moon's surface which the astronauts could catch and bring home. But to be on the safe side, astronauts Armstrong, Aldrin and Michael Collins will start a 21-day quarantine period the day they leave the moon.

★ ★ ★

On splash-down in the Pacific, they, their spaceship and the rocks they bring home will be placed behind a biological barrier. They'll be hurried into an airtight trailer on the deck of the recovery ship and will be flown inside the trailer to a sealed building at the Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston.

Doctors there will watch the astronauts closely during the quarantine period.

PARTICULARLY IMPORTANT

Keeping the astronauts bug-free before launch has particular importance this time.

Berry said, "If the astronauts get an undetected bug before they go up and then develop something in the 21-day quarantine period, we'll have to convince ourselves whether this is a moon bug or an earth bug. That could be a real problem and it could lengthen the quarantine period while we take time to prove what it is."

★ ★ ★

Such concerns are common for the man who is doctor to a new breed—the astronauts.

"Before Alan Shepard's first flight in the Mercury program in 1961," Berry recalled, "There were many dire predictions about what might happen and they covered almost every part and function of the body. He would become disorientated. He wouldn't be able to urinate. He'd become mentally unbalanced. Things like that.

CARDIAC FAILURE FEARED

"The President's Science Advisory Committee wanted to stop Shepard's flight because they were convinced that launching a man on a rocket would produce such high heart rates that they'd end up with cardiac failure."

He said that because of fears of disorientation and unconsciousness the Mercury capsules were built to operate automatically from liftoff to landing. But often the automatic controls failed during the six Mercury missions and man had to take over.

"Mercury proved," Berry said, "that man can survive in space up to 34 hours and he could do control functions."

But Mercury also pointed up a medical problem that can occur in weightlessness. After a nine-hour flight, astronaut Walter Schirra showed signs of cardiovascular deconditioning, or a weakening of his capacity for work. His heart had grown lazy. Pumping blood in weightlessness was much easier than pumping in earth's one gravity field.

When Schirra returned to earth, his heart wasn't up to contending with gravity so quickly. Blood pooled in his legs, and his heart had to beat faster to make up for the weakness.

ALMOST FAINTED

"When Gordon Cooper finished his 34-hour flight, he almost fainted," Berry reported.

Exercises and more comfortable flying conditions have virtually eliminated the blood pooling on subsequent flights, but astronauts still show some cardiovascular deconditioning, with about a 10 per cent reduction in work capacity after return to earth. Generally, the pilots return to normal within two days.

But before solutions could be demonstrated, Berry had to clear the hurdle of the 1965 four-day Gemini 4 flight of James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White II.

"Responsible medical people said the crew would be unconscious on landing, or they would have difficulty egressing, lose consciousness and fall in the water and drown," Berry said.

"I received phone calls in the control center almost up to the time of launch from other responsible people who said in effect, 'You're going to kill those men.' "

What did Berry tell the critics?

CONVINCED

"Althought we had evidence of cardiovascular deconditoning, I told them I was convinced of man's ability to maintain a homeostatic state — a state of normality or balance within the body. All the body chemistry tends to balance itself out to maintain an even keel of body activity. I felt the body would adjust itself.

★ ★ ★

"The day Jim and Ed walked on that red carpet on the carrier after their flight, I was never more elated," Berry said. "That was a momentous flight that knocked down a lot of straw men. They have evidence of cardiovascular deconditioning but they were able to do their tasks and it didn't last long."

The program moved to the eight-day Gemini 5 flight and more potential medical problems.

★ ★ ★

"That eight days was important," Berry said, "because that was the planned duration of the early moon flights. Gemini 5 showed that 'Yes, man could survive for eight days,' but on that mission Gordon Cooper and Peter Conrad had more physical degradation than on any of our flights, including the 14-day and other longer ones that followed.

Berry said Apollo taught one amazing medical fact—that the loss of red blood cell mass apparently is caused by a pure oxygen atmosphere.

★ ★ ★

Looking to future space station flights and possibly planetary trips lasting months or more, Berry said: "I am confident man is going to adapt to this environment."

★ ★ ★

He noted several long range space station discussion include provisions for testing artificial gravity as a means of overcoming the effects of weightlessness. This, he said, would take care of many problems.

EXPLAINING MEDICAL EQUIPMENT—Dr. Charles A. Berry, the astronauts' chief medical officer, works with a model as he briefs newsmen on medical projects in the space program. During the lunar-landing part of the Apollo 11 spaceflight, Dr. Berry plans to monitor the astronauts' health signs closely.

Vermont's Sen. Prouty: Quiet, Precise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Winston L. Prouty, Vermont's other senator, is a quiet, meticulous man with a suddenly prominent role in the debate over U.S. defenses—and a political problem.

Prouty, 62, and nearing the end of his second term, announced Monday he will vote for deployment of President Nixon's Safeguard missile defense system.

In that decision, he opposed his Vermont colleague, and the Senate's senior Republican, George D. Aiken.

Prouty's long-delayed decision was a crucial one in a Senate nearly deadlocked over the Safeguard issue.

CAMPAIGN ISSUE

It is likely to echo on campaign platforms in Vermont if, as expected, Republican Prouty seeks another Senate term next year.

Aiken said the Vermont Democrats undoubtedly will make Safeguard an issue, and Prouty said a majority of his home-state mail opposes the position he is taking.

"I feel as a U.S. senator that it's not my mission to be a scale to weigh the mail," Prouty said. "We have to make our own decisions."

Prouty said his decision was one of conscience, and one free of pressure from any side.

★ ★ ★

"I think perhaps they know me well enough to know that I do not respond and never have to pressure," he said after announcing his stand in a half-hour Senate speech.

Prouty's Senate reputation is that of a precise legislator with an eye for detail, a man who never before had attracted the kind of attention the ABM declaration drew.

Prouty devotes much of his attention to legislation before the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee, and to Social Security problems.

His basic weapon: persistence.

SEEKS $70 MINIMUM

Prouty labored for years to expand the Social Security program to cover older people who had not met minimum participation requirements during their working years.

Prouty is working in similar fashion for a $70 minimum monthly Social Security payment.

★ ★ ★

Prouty is a native of Newport, Vt. near the Canadian border where his family operates a lumber and building materials business. His right thumb is missing, the result of a childhood accident in the family sawmill.

He became mayor of Newport in 1938, moved on to the Vermont House of Representatives and was elected to Congress in 1956.

He served in the House, until elected to the Senate in 1958.

Prouty's first wife died, and he was married to Jenette H. Hall July 3, 1962.

Prouty said he read volumes of evidence, consulted scientists and defense experts and reached his judgment about a week ago.

Sunday, Prouty attended church services at the White House, then told President Nixon of his decision.

'DELIGHTED'

"I simply told him I was making a speech today, and it supported his position. He said he was delighted to hear it."

Prouty said he was convinced President Nixon's ABM proposal made the system purely defensive, and insured it would not impede any U.S.-Soviet arms talks.

Nevertheless, when Aiken announced Thursday that he was opposed to the Safeguard plan, Prouty postponed his own announcement so he could consider Aiken's arguments.

"Many people assumed I was on the other side," Prouty said after declaring his support of the deployment.

DRY NASAL TONES

A corps of Safeguard supporters was on hand when Prouty announced his decision in dry, nasal tones. When he finished they took turns praising him. Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, the GOP leader was lead off man: "Win Prouty, I congratulate you."

★ ★ ★

Sen. Norris Cotton, R-N.H., chose for Prouty a term more commonly applied to Aiken: "A real statesman."

N. Viets in DMZ Shell Allied Posts Four Times

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese gunners shelled allied outposts from within the demilitarized zone four times Monday and made four other rocket attacks that could have come from inside the DMZ, the U.S. Command reported today.

The command said 35 rockets and mortar rounds were fired. It was the first shelling reported from inside the buffer zone since last Wednesday.

★ ★ ★

The U.S. Command also reported the loss of four more U.S. Army helicopters, two to enemy action and two that collided while maneuvering to avoid enemy fire.

Four Americans were killed and three wounded in the aerial collision late Monday 34 miles north of Saigon. Two South Vietnamese were killed and three Americans were wounded in one of the other crashes.

One of the helicopters was destroyed when a South Vietnamese soldier detonated an enemy mine as he leaped off it near Tay Ninh.

The U.S. Command said this raised the total of helicopter lost in the war to 2,850.

A command spokesman said that "surprisingly" none of the shelling near the DMZ caused any casualties or material damage. The targets included a South Vietnamese infantry outpost near Gio Linh, a U.S. Marine position four miles southeast of Con Thien, another Marine post near Con Thien, and three other allied bases in that area.

A U.S. spokesman said the command had "no indication" that the last four attacks came from within the DMZ but added that "all of the targets certainly were within range" of the zone.

DMZ POSITIONS

Allied artillery fire was directed against the firing positions in the DMZ, the spokesman said, but the results were not known.

American and South Vietnamese forces reported 72 enemy killed in a series of actions, most of them small, in various parts of South Vietnam.

Mayor, Council Targets
Recall Try in Ann Arbor

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — An estimated 500 to 800 persons, many of them members of the American Legion post, converged on the city hall last night and kicked off a campaign to recall Mayor Robert J. Harris and the city council.

The groups carried signs praising Washtenaw County Sheriff Douglas Harvey and demanding "law and order now."

★ ★ ★

Post Commander George Harms and Jack Gearis, an Ann Arbor attorney, told legion members earlier they have already collected 6,000 signatures on petitions demanding the recalls, primarily because of handling of street violence near the University of Michigan.

Harris, a University of Michigan professor, had a well-publicized clash with Harvey over handling of recent street clashes between police and youths. Harvey had been criticized for his role in the violence on South University Street near the U-M campus. The sheriff is the subject of recall campaigns being conducted in the university and hippie communities.

★ ★ ★

Also discussed was the issuance of a permit by city officials for a rock concert in a park.

Police said there were no incidents in the two marches last night, one by citizens who walked to city hall from West Side Park, and the other by uniformed legionnaires from near the University of Michigan Stadium.

Device to Aid Rural India Snake-Bite Victims

NEW DELHI (UPI) — Medical research workers have developed an inexpensive machine which may help reduce India's death toll from snake bites.

Because of inadequate medical facilities in rural areas, an estimated 20,000 persons die of snake bites — usually cobra — in India each year.

★ ★ ★

A team of anesthetists headed by Lt. Col. G. C. Tandon has developed a portable, hand-operated respirator which the doctors believe will keep a snake bite victim alive up to four days while he is being moved to a hospital.

★ ★ ★

"Most snake poisons paralyze certain muscles and cause respiratory failure," Dr. Tandon said. "Surprisingly, the other toxic factors in cobra venom are not of major clinical importance. Thus our most important job is to keep the vital oxygen line free, and this is where our tiny pocket respirator comes in extremely handy.

MOST CRITICAL PERIOD

"The most critical period for the snake-bite victim is the time between the actual bite and the administration of antivenin — an average five to six hours or even more."

★ ★ ★

Several years ago, Tandon's only son, an army engineer, died in a drowning accident. "Since then I've always pondered over my plans to invent a small artificial respirator which could be attached to a swimmer's kit," he said.

The pocket respirator resembles a toy accordion. It can be manufactured for 20 rupees (less than $3) and can be operated without special training.

★ ★ ★

Tandon is the head of the department of anesthesiology in the All India Institute of Medical Sciences. He and his colleagues spent two years developing and testing their respirator. They picked up 30 stray dogs from the streets and injected cobra venom into their veins.

LETHAL DOSES

"These lethal doses normally would kill a dog within 45 minutes unless antivenin was administered," Dr. Tandon said. "But we kept the dogs breathing for as long as four or five days with the help of artificial respiration and then administered antivenin. The dogs lived."

★ ★ ★

India's major killer snakes are cobras, two varieties of vipers, and kraits. The cobra is the big killer. According to Tandon, a six-foot cobra contains enough poison to kill 100 persons.

★ ★ ★

About 80 per cent of India's 531 million people live in villages, where most of the snake bites occur. Hospital facilities are scant in the rural areas, and the only known antidote for snake bites, antivenin serum, requires special storage conditions which are not available in rural villages.

West Airs Project ---It's Sure to Be a Gas

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — I've been traveling around the country for the last three weeks, ostensibly on vacation. Actually I was on a business trip.

WEST

I spent most of the time scouting around for a suitable mountaintop on which to locate a bottled - air plant.

I didn't want word of the venture to leak out until I had signed a long-term lease. Now that the deal has been completed, I am ready to start raising the necessary capital.

★ ★ ★

If you dare to come in with me on this project, I can virtually guarantee you riches beyond your wildest dreams.

The investment may not pay off right away, but in 25 or 30 years we should be rolling in dividends.

WATER SALES

The idea for going into the bottled air business came to me as I was reading a report that bottled water sales are expected to total about $60 million this year.

Thousands of Americans are now buying bottled water from stores, vending machines and route salesmen to avoid drinking tap water. The demand was created primarily by pollution.

Tap water in a lot of places tastes funny because so much chlorine is needed to kill bacteria in municipal water systems.

Drinking heavily chlorinated water straight is bad enough. Mixing it with bourbon is a social felony. So it is easy to see why the bottled-water industry, which usually features pure mountain spring water, is prospering.

FASTER RATE

Now consider that the air probably is being polluted at an even faster rate than water. Indeed, some ecologists figure that at the present rate of pollution the earth's atmosphere will only be good for another 50 years or so.

Already, on muggy days when the smog index is soaring, the average city dweller likely would pay a handsome price for a whiff of good mountain air.

★ ★ ★

It wouldn't be good business to introduce bottled air at this particular time, however. Better we should wait until the atmosphere deteriorates a bit more, meanwhile building up our inventory.

Eventually, I fugure, cities will have to start putting chlorine in their air supply as well as the water system. That will make it safe to breathe, but it will smell funny.

★ ★ ★

By about 1990, nonmedicated air should be getting scarce enough to command premium prices. And by that time we will have our warehouse full of bottled mountain ozone.

OCC Facility Open to Public

The Oakland Community College Highland Lakes campus in Waterford Township will open its Learning Resources Center to the community beginning Aug. 1.

★ ★ ★

According to Thomas Lewandowski, associate dean of the LRC, persons in the community are invited to obtain guest library cards which will enable them to check out books, magazines and music records from the center.

★ ★ ★

"OCC is a community college and we hope to better serve the community by making available our library facilities," Lewandowski said.

★ ★ ★

In addition to more than 20,000 books, the LRC contains many up-to-date periodicals in specialized areas such as automotive technology, nursing and electronics.

★ ★ ★

Free copy service and computerized checkout of materials is also available.

Ex-Bandsmen at PNH Form Booster Club

A Pontiac Northern High School Alumnae Band Boosters Association has been recently organized to sponsor fund-raising projects to assist the band.

The group hopes to help buy uniforms and other supplies for the band and to help finance extracurricular trips for them, according to Mrs. Jane Maxwell McClain, one of the alumnae instrumental in forming the booster club.

★ ★ ★

"Not only are we interested in supporting the band monetarily, but we also hope to lend support in spirit by attending all band performances as a group," Mrs. McClain said.

The membership is to consist of interested past members of the band. Those interested in joining may contact Mrs. McClain at 22 E. Yale.

★ ★ ★

The first project of the organization will be to attend the band's performance of the band at the Michigan State Fair in August. A band reunion picnic is planned for mid-September.

As Man Focuses on Moon, Less-Glorious Life Goes On

By SAUL PETT
AP Special Correspondent

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. — The kids splashed in the tepid pool at the Holiday Inn while mother read about "what to do and see" in this port of discovery, and a diaper service truck rolled through the still, hot air of a housing subdivision called "Orange Blossom Heights," which is scarcely above sea level, and a few miles away a man lay dying of cancer, and in a shop called "Marcene Modes," a lady cautiously fingered a dress, as if holding back an emotional commitment, and a gray-haired man emptied the garbage at the "Celestial Trailer Courts," and in a neat white bed another man lay in a tortured world of his delusion, 238,587 miles from the Sea of Tranquillity.

Tomorrow, men will be going to the moon.

* * *

At a dock at Port Canaveral, a black, sinister-looking British submarine called the Renown waited to take on a cargo of Polaris nuclear missiles, and a few miles south a blond, bronzed, young god browsed, with sensual touch, through the merchandise at "Soul Surfboards," and men drank at the "Ali Bar" and "The Satellite Lounge," it being too early for the topless girls at the "Missile Lounge," and in the black ghetto of Cocoa, Fla., an old man stared wordlessly through the window of the tiny "Working Man Friend Cafe" on Magnolia Street. Tomorrow, men will be going to the moon.

At one of the many cocktail parties up and down the beach, somebody wondered aloud why, when you have three guys named Neil, Mike and Buzz, do you need an American flag, and out in the Atlantic Ocean, a white-haired lady and her dog bathed together in the mild, tepid surf, the tide rising relentlessly in response to a force a quarter of a million miles away, and in the hot sun a retired couple carried their groceries out of a "Ututem" store and on "Satellite Beach," just south of Patrick Air Force Base, among the palm trees and the bougainvillea, the trailered boats in the driveways and the basketball backboards over the two-car garages, a woman tried not to worry about her husband in Vietnam. Tomorrow, men will be going to the moon.

EXODUS OF BRASS

At the "Wooden Nickel Saloon," a man noted that all the government people coming here represent the biggest exodus of brass from Washington since the gentlemen and their ladies rode buggies out to witness the first Battle of Bull Run. And from the bridges over the Indian River, white men and black men fished for trout and sheepshead in water partially polluted by the dredging for fill to build the space center. And a little farther west in Brevard County, which has the highest average family income in Florida ($10,000), Mrs. Lucille Ward, a Negro lady, wondered what to fix for dinner for her family of seven, a choice usually among collard greens and neckbones, or pigtails or hog maw; with a total monthly income of $152, the Ward family was officially included among the 7,000 ill-fed people in the county. Tomorrow, men will be going to the moon.

On the beach, an old pensioner in an outrageously floppy straw hat said Social Security convinces him this is the greatest country in the world. And at many places, children played a game called "Last One on the Moon Is a Rotten Egg." And in the town of Cape Canaveral, among the sleep-in trucks, trailers and hearses, police arrested still another young American on a dope charge. And it was seasonably warm, 95 degrees, in this stretch of America, and the forecasts called for seasonable temperatures, ranging from 250 above to 250 below, on the moon, where men will be going tomorrow.

In many places, there were visibly happy people, swimming and water-skiing and scuba-diving and playing golf, and the visitor saw few signs that this county has one of the highest divorce rates in the nation. In an office in Cocoa, a psychiatrist said this must be understood against the fact that the average age in this area is only 26 and, like doctors and lawyers and executives, he said, space engineers and technicians have in common "intelligence, perfectionism, excessive devotion to their work and a relative inability to communicate on an emotional level with their wives." Like much of the planet which is a quarter of a million miles from the Sea of Tranquility another man pointed out, marital instability must be understood against the fact that the population here has multiplied 10 times in 10 years. And by the year 2,000 the earth's population will double to seven billion. Tomorrow, men will be going to the moon.

* * *

And out at the space center itself, the monstrous Saturn 5 stood 363 feet above the flat, scrubby plain, silent and taut with tethered power. And at the outdoor museum nearby, a lady in tight pants stood before a rocket similar to the one which carried John Glenn up only seven years ago, a rocket one-quarter the size of the Saturn. "Honey," the lady shouted to her husband, "take my picture in front of this one." And in a room at the space center, Neil Armstrong, Edwin Aldrin Jr. and Mike Collins were interviewed on coast-to-coast television, sponsored locally by a buttermilk vendor, and for the 100th time in an age which defies spontaneity they were asked about their fears and the first words to be uttered on landing up there, and for the 100th time they responded with an equanimity that seems to defy other men. And tomorrow they will be going to the moon. They seem ready. Are we?

The bull apparently made it to safety after more than an hour of chasing by police, dogs, children, mothers in convertibles with children, newsmen and photographers.

* * *

The young bull was last seen southeast of the city. His cow mate was not so strong. She died while lying in the tall grass near Moorhead Industrial Park.

* * *

The bull took advantage of the shade and the damp ground to regain his strength. He was up and running again after 10 minutes when some of the curious got too close.

LITTLEST MOTORCYCLE BUFFS—Denny McDowell, 10, won the hearts of the Pontiac Matadors Motorcycle Club members last month after Denny's bicycle was stolen from the front porch of his home, 78 S. Tasmania. Denny, victim of a home fire in 1965, received a new bike from the Oakland Sheriff's Department soon after the theft. The Matadors provided an extra treat, a minibike to be shared by Denny and his brother Mike, 13, also a victim of the fire. Jail Bonds OK May Be Near

State Municipal Finance Commission could approve today a $9-million bond issue for the construction of the county's proposed law enforcement complex.

Even with such approval, and no other delays, project costs are likely to rise by $354,000, the difference between the low bidder, who wants out, and the next bidder.

Bids from contractors, taken last May, expired Saturday. Daniel T. Murphy, chairman of the county board of auditors, said he expects to get extentions from all but one of the contractors.

Low bidder on the complex, Sorenson-Gross of Flint, is not expected to go along with the 45-day bid extension. The firm said the $7,181,000 bid was some $100,000 low because of specifications for a sprinkler system in the building were overlooked.

WANTS TO WITHDRAW

Harry L. Lapham, secretary-treasurer of the county building authority, has been notified by Sorenson-Gross it wishes to have its bid withdrawn.

Apparent low bidder on the complex, which will provide a jail, crime lab, morgue and ballistics testing facility, now is A. Z. Shmina & Sons Co. of Detroit. Its bid is $7,535,000, which is $354,000 higher than Sorenson-Gross.

A Pontiac firm, J. A. Fredman Inc., came in third in the bidding at $7,585,800.

Murphy today said his office has already been notified by Shmina & Sons it will hold firm on its bid for the 45-day extention. He said Sorenson-Gross has not yet formally declined to extend its bid and may still be considering taking the project.

Bidders on the security equipment contracts for the jail, Southern Steel Co. and Decatur Iron and Steel, also are expected to go along with the extention. Their bids were $472,000 and $506,000, respectively.

Even with finance commission, approval today, advertising and sale of the bonds would push the earliest starting time on the two-year project up to mid-August.

* * *

The complex will be constructed immediately east of the courthouse in the county service center.

After months of feverish weaving, Mrs. Robert Jackson of Bonnie Brae Street, Avon Township, needs only "load up her wares" and she will be ready for the annual Ann Arbor Street Art Fair. It will run Wednesday through Saturday.

May Use Both Names When Signing Letter

By ELIZABETH L. POST
Of The Emily Post Institute

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband and I often write our congressmen, political organizations, stating our views on different matters. Since we usually have the same opinion, we like to send it from both of us, but wonder about the closing signature.—Carolyn C.

★ ★ ★

Dear Mrs. C.: There is nothing wrong socially or politically, in saying "My husband and I feel very strongly that . . ." However, if you prefer, you may certainly write the letter using "We," and sign it Carolyn and John Cooper.

WEDDING GIFTS

Dear Mrs. Post: I am 24 and planning to be married for the first time. It is hard to draw a line between those people who are merely acquaintances and those who are good friends. To invite everyone means many will feel they are being "hit up" for a gift.

★ ★ ★

But many feelings will be hurt if these same people are not invited. I would feel much happier to invite all and engrave "No gifts please." Is this proper?—Lois Ann

★ ★ ★

Dear Lois Ann: Although "No gifts, please" is correct on most other invitations, I have never heard of it on a wedding invitation. Since the beginning of time brides have been given wedding gifts and most people wish to do so. An invitation to the church carries no obligation.

★ ★ ★

Could you limit your reception to friends who are close enough so that they will want to give you something, and ask other acquaintances to the church only? If not, I would suggest that you write nothing on the invitations and accept the gifts in the spirit in which most will be given.

Weaving to Jan Jackson Is Exciting, Creative Craft

Three years ago, the Robert Jackson family of Bonnie Brae Street, Avon Township, took a vacation trip through the Maritime Provinces of Canada.

Among their souvenirs, there is one which has remained with them and exerts a steadily increasing influence on their activities.

Included in their tour of New Brunswick was a visit to a weaver. The Jacksons, impressed by the craft, took lessons from Eleen Auvil of Romeo upon their return.

Jan Jackson found that the lessons were good since "weaving is a very visual thing."

"But," she quickly adds, "there are also many excellent books."

She believes that anyone can weave.

DEXTERITY HELPS

"To some degree, a natural dexterity is helpful, especially for threading the loom," she states. "And yet, this work is often used as a type of therapy for individuals wishing to develop their dexterity."

With the completion of each item, her confidence grew. People she met and long-time friends convinced her that she should display her work.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Jackson began with small area art fairs. To date, she has shown her weaving in all of the major cities of Michigan.

The annual Ann Arbor Street Art Fair, which runs Wednesday through Saturday, will be the setting of her next display. This is the fourth consecutive year she has participated in this art show, the largest one in Michigan.

"I highly encourage everyone to drive down to see us," Mrs. Jackson, smiles, as she puts in her pitch. "My husband says it is the gathering of the very best of the craftsmen. And I'm not known to contest him on such points."

OU DEMONSTRATION

Mrs. Jackson will demonstrate weaving July 29 at Oakland University's Trumbull Terrace.

In explaining the process, she states that weaving and spinning are two parts of a singular process. The spinner takes the fleece and makes it into a yarn. Then the weaver takes over.

The biggest job is deciding the color and size of the warp. A warp is a set of parallel yarns from which your item will be made.

After the warp is made on the warp winder, it is put on the loom. Since a warp can be as wide as 20 yards, a helping male hand is always welcome. Her sons, Scott, 17, Dan, 15 and Glenn, 13, cooperate.

"Now," she adds, "the fun begins as you take the shuttle (a slender pointed wooden device used for passing thread from one side of the loom to the other) and shoot it through the shed (which is the opening between the two layers of yarns).

"This is where you can actually see a product being made."

ALWAYS CREATIVE

"You decide, perhaps, that you would like to make a poncho, but no one tells you how long or wide it must be. That is what makes this craft so exciting," she inserted.

Mrs. Jackson says that she spends an average of four hours a day at this hobby.

"Of course, this is somewhat idealistic," she adds. "But I do spend quite a bit of time on it. I find the time because I enjoy it so much. Also, you can always pick up just where you left off without a lot of preparations."

In her spare time, she is a secretary for her husband, an insurance agent, is active in church work and previously, helped the family raise Airedales.

LBJ Awaits New Grandchild; Luci Nugent Hopes for a Girl

By HELEN THOMAS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Luci Johnson Nugent, youngest daughter of former President Lyndon B. Johnson, is expecting her second child at the end of this year. She's hoping for a girl.

★ ★ ★

Luci, who turned 22 earlier this month, is in town visiting her sister, Lynda Bird Robb, who with her husband, Marine Maj. Charles S. Robb, is in the process of moving into a newly purchased $75,000 house in Arlington, Va.

In a wide-ranging interview during lunch at the Jockey Club, Luci told UPI about her family, her plans and how she feels driving by the White House in the post-Johnson days.

HOPES FOR GIRL

She said she expects her second child in December or January, and hopes it will be a girl. She said she does, however, have "gobs of little boy's clothes" if it turns out not to be a girl.

Those clothes have been outgrown by her first child, Patrick Lyndon Nugent — also called "little Lyn" — who is now two years old. He is at home at Austin, Tex., with his father, Airman 1C. Patrick J. Nugent who returned from a year's duty in Vietnam early in April.

Lyn, Luci said, is "into everything," learning Spanish from his Costa Rican governess and having a good time becoming reacquainted with his father.

★ ★ ★

Luci said she expects her second child will be born at Seton Hospital in Austin, the same hospital where Lyn was delivered. She also said she had given away all her maternity dresses and "I hope I won't have to wear them."

She reported her father is "doing well" and her mother is touching up her memoirs based on a diary of her White House years. She said she reviewed some of the book for her mother and "Mother tells it as it is."

"VIOLATION OF CONFIDENCE"

She added that she had read stories of former first lady Jacqueline Kennedy's White House days as reported by her one-time personal secretary. She had little comment on the reports except to say she viewed them as a "violation of confidence."

Luci said she would like to write a book some day and at the moment is trying to sell a magazine article aimed at children based on her father's pet dog "Yuki."

She said she still gets mail from the American public, often from girls who ask her how she went from a size 11 to size 3. The answer, she said, was "vanity."

Luci admitted a certain nostalgia about being back in Washington.

★ ★ ★

"It's a strange sensation to drive past the White House and you feel a certain rapport with anyone who lives there."

"Most of all I miss the people," she added.

Abby Advises Enlightening as Well as Policing Kids

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I suppose I could be criticized for watching my 11-year-old daughter so closely, but I don't care. She has three teen-aged brothers, and when she and one of them are doing something ALONE, I make some excuse to call her down to do something else.

I have this theory that sex is sex to a boy until he reaches total manhood, be it his sister or cousin or anybody else, and I will NEVER go off and leave them together all alone, not even for 15 minutes.

I have a married daughter and I raised her the same way. I told her, "You don't wear shorty pajamas or your underwear in front of your father, brothers or any other man."

Also, when the girls are in bed, the boys stay out of their bedrooms, and the girls stay out of the boys' bedrooms when the boys are in bed. (Unless somebody is sick, of course.)

Some folks may think I have a dirty mind, but I know too many young girls who were started down the wrong road by "loving relatives."

Sign me, "CAREFUL" IN W. VA.

DEAR "CAREFUL": I hope you are as conscientious about "enlightening" your children as you are "policing" them, or all your efforts will have been for naught.

★ ★ ★

CONFIDENTIAL TO "SCHOOL DAZE": You need have no misgivings about sending your son to that exclusive private school where he will rub elbows with the "rich kids." If you've raised him right (and from your letter, I think you have) he'll not envy them for their material wealth. He'll probably be envied for his humility.

Far-Away Rome Is Port-O-Call for Shari Bush

By SHIRLEY GRAY

With a gay "arrivederci" and a wave of the hand, Mrs. George (Shari) Bush, Bloomfield Hills artist, is off to Rome. Husband George has been on assignment there for Firestone for about a year and a half, and it looks like at least another two years before he's free to come home.

So, Shari, their 13-year-old son, Perry; an apricot poodle named "Gidget," and a white cat called "Cha-Cha" are all sailing for Naples Aug. 20, then on to Rome where George already has a home rented, complete with formal flower garden and a statue.

LOOSE ENDS

Shari is busy tying up loose ends, including final lessons with her pupils in the Brush Club, and the finishing touches on a few portraits. On Wednesday, Shari will be honor guest at a luncheon in Franklin, at the Sandy Lane home of Mrs. Edward Ducet.

A bon voyage party in two stages is planned for Aug. 16 in honor of the Bushes. After cocktails at the home of the George Mortons of Bloomfield Hills, all will drive out to the Lake Angelus home of Newton Skillman for dinner. George should be home by then, to help with moving details.

Bloomfield Hills is still "home," says Shari, who promises, "We'll be back."

Coston Spina, June history grad son of the Tony Spinas of Bloomfield Hills, is spending his summer "out of this world" or at least the next thing to it. He's in Russia, for eight weeks of intensive study of the Russian language at the University of Leningrad, followed by a tour of the Soviet Union.

The Spinas haven't heard from their son since he left for Russia right after graduation from MSU last month. Coston warned them he might not be able to keep in touch, and firmly instructed the folks before he left not to worry. So Moms' not worrying, she said, but keeping her fingers crossed just the same.

Twofold Purpose for Nail Brush

Nail brushes come in several styles, all with stiff short bristles designed to work soap under and around nails. This is a must for both men and women, particularly after dirty work.

Such a brush figures in pedicures also, not only to clean and condition toenails, but to help smooth small calluses.

Trauma of Turning Forty Short Lived

By BETTY CANARY
NEA Writer

This may be interpreted as either a warning or a tip to brides — take your choice — but I thought I should tell them that if their luck is the same as mine, someday their husbands will celebrate a 40th birthday. Today mine is 40, plus one day, and life has returned to normal. But yesterday, ah, yesterday, was an altogether different thing.

★ ★ ★

I awakened (a bad omen to begin with) and realized all was quiet. Where were the horrible morning sounds that usually punctuate the moment? Where the sounds of a tidal wave in the shower? Where the strains of "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot!" sung to the accompaniment of slammed dresser drawers?

"Wake up!" I said. He moaned.

"Happy birthday!" the children greeted. He jerked the covers over his head. "Feel any different?" they cried. He burrowed deeper.

"What did he say?"

"Something about being over the dam."

"The highest dam is Hoover, which is 726 feet!"

"Maybe if I'd stayed a bachelor . . ." the voice groaned from under the blankets.

"What did daddy say?"

★ ★ ★

"I think he's crying!"

"Are you ill?" I inquired solicitously. "Shall I call the doctor?

"I have a headache," the muffled voice whined. "I'll probably have to start wearing bifocals."

"You don't even wear reading glasses," I reminded the inert mound.

"You NEVER have a headache," a daughter accused.

"Maybe he has a brain tumor," a son said loyally.

★ ★ ★

At noon he managed to get out of bed long enough to lean feebly against the mirror and check for gray hairs. He found three in the left sideburn. We helped him back to bed. By 2 o'clock he was able to sit up and read a magazine and take a little liquid refreshment. By 6 he agreed that perhaps we could prop him up after all so he could watch the television news. Seven o'clock arrived and he had strength enough to shower and dress. We attended a party planned in his honor. Before leaving I offered my mascara brush for the sideburn but he declined, saying that a touch of gray at a man's temple lent a distinguished air.

★ ★ ★

A friend greeted him dolefully at the party. "So you're 40. On MY 40th birthday I couldn't have gone to a party. I turned into Chicken Little and thought the sky was falling."

"Ha ha!" my distinguished husband (well, distinguished on the left side) said. "Never felt better in my life!"

"My husband," a neighbor said, "called the dentist on the day he turned 40. He was convinced that overnight all his teeth had loosened up."

"Can't believe his imagination could run away like that!"

"Me either," I said in my best "standing-by" voice.

"I had no panic, no trauma, but, well, I did have a slight headache today . . ."

"Only his sinus," I lied loyally.

Doctor Continues Practice at 87

OSCEOLA, Iowa (AP) — After 50 years as a doctor, Dr. A. D. Craft is still practicing at the age of 87 and has no plans for retirement.

A schoolteacher and farmer before he decided to enter osteopathy, he sold his farm to start his schooling at the age of 34 and graduated in 1919 from the College of Osteopathy in Kirksville, Mo.

The happiest moment in his career, he says, is "when my son, Olaf, chose the same profession and was graduated from the same school in 1950."

Hand Wants Status Resolved

Unsigned Lion Hints at Legal Action

Detroit Lion defensive end Larry Hand has hinted at possible legal action if the Lions don't take action soon to resolve the question of his status.

While the Hand matter is in the air, the Lions open camp today at their usual site, at Cranbrook School.

Forty-seven players, including a few second string veterans hoping to improve their position, are expected to show, with the rest coming on Sunday.

Halfback Altie Taylor, Detroit's top draft choice, will miss opening practice for an appearance in the College All-Star game.

His playing there was necessitated by the failure of running stars O. J. Simpson, Leroy Keyes and Ron Johnson to sign contracts, making them ineligible for the game.

"We tried to get Taylor excused," said general manager Russ Thomas. "But it was useless. They needed him and he had to go. I offered to give them Wilson Bowie (13th round choice) instead."

Veteran holdout Hand played out his option last year with the Lions and would like to be traded.

There are plenty of clubs reportedly eager to get him — including the Baltimore Colts, the Los Angeles Rams and the New York Giants — but Thomas said they aren't interested in making a deal.

"We're going to want a defensive end, we don't mean just anyone," Thomas said. "We want someone comparable to Hand."

The Lions have an ace up their sleeve — no club will sign Hand for fear that Commissioner Pete Rozelle will order whoever gets Hand to pay the Lions just compensation for their loss, a potentially stiff price to pay.

Hand's lawyer, George Dakmak, Monday indicated the possibility of legal action.

Dakmak said he is going to call Rozelle and ask "What the devil is going on here. It looks to me as if the Lions don't plan to sign, don't plan to trade and are putting pressure on clubs not to sign him. I tell you this, Hand is not sitting out a full season."

Dakmak denied Hand was asking $50,000 a year and said his differences with the club are "far less than the ball club is insinuating."

Already in training camp are eager players quarterback Greg Landry, tackle Chuck Bailey, defensive end Bob Bergum and running back Larry Watkins.

The group, none of them regular players, showed up a day early and worked out on their own.

'No Control Over Situation' — Mayo

Senators 'Walk' Over Bengals; McLain Ailing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — When manager Mayo Smith said afterwards "I had no control over the situation," the fans knew who he meant.

Wild Joe Sparma, the Detroit Tigers' answer to dull moments, started for ailing mound ace Denny McLain and walked seven Washington Senators in four innings as the Nats shut-out the Bengals 3-0.

★ ★ ★

McLain, who was scheduled to start, stayed home in Detroit's Ford Hospital with a case of phlebitis in his left arm, apparently a result of sodium pentathol injections during recent dental work.

STAFF REDUCED

The disaster reduced the number of solid, dependable winners on the reeling Detroit pitching staff to one — Mickey Lolich. But Smith is hopeful McLain will soon rejoin the team to work one game of the Washington Senators.

★ ★ ★

The lowly Seantors pulled up to within two games of the third-place Tigers Monday night behind the cool five-hit pitching of Joe Coleman.

The Senators only managed four hits but Sparma and other Detroit hurlers gave away 12 walks.

★ ★ ★

Sparma, whose wildness has kept him from making it past the fourth inning in three of his last five starts, walked leadoff man Jom French in the third and saw him score on a double by pitcher Coleman. Sparma got the next two hitters but then walked Frank Howard and Mike Epstein to load the basis. Ken McMullen lined to left to bail him out.

WHAT PLATE?

But in the fatal fourth, Sparma couldn't find the plate with both hands and a seeing eye dog. He walked leadoff man Bernie Allen. Tim Cullen lined off Jim Northrup's glove for a double. Then Sparma cranked out three straight walks to force in two runs and win a quick trip to the showers. Tom Timmerman put out the fire and was later aided by Daryl Patterson and Fred Lasher.

★ ★ ★

But Coleman kept the Tigers swinging at air. He struck out nine men, including Norm Cash three straight times. It was his sixth career win against the Tigers, with no losses.

TOUGH FORKBALL

"He throws a tough forkball," said Al Kaline. "It breaks almost like a curve. I know he's always been tough for us."

Smith planned to start John Hiller 2-2 tonight against Barry Moore 7-3 but there wasn't much to do about the shattered rotation.

★ ★ ★

"I had no control over the situation tonight," Smith said.

"We needed somebody to take Denny McLain's place. We've got Earl Wilson and Pat Dobson in the rotation now. I don't know where that would leave Sparma.

★ ★ ★

As the fading World Champions march down the rung of American League East, the injuries pile up. Besides McLain's circulatory problems, Dick McAuliffe enters Ford Hospital today for extensive tests on his right knee that may result in surgery sidelining him for the season. Both Bill Freehan and Willie Horton are out with muscle pulls.

Tennis Entries Grow for County Tourney

Things are getting closer to record numbers for the 10th annual Oakland County Open Tennis championships which will get under way Friday on the Oakland University courts.

As of noon Monday there were 136 entries and with the deadline set for Wednesday at 4:00 p.m., the total of 178 which set a record for the tournament last year, could be earased.

The tournament sponsored by The Press and Pontiac Recreation Department, will begin Friday evening with Senior Men's singles and Men's Double.

DEFENDS TITLE

Bob Neff of Southfield, former cage coach and tennis coach at Southfield High, will return to defend his senior men's champinship which he won from his doubles' partner Ian Wilson.

He and Wilson, along with ex-city champions Ralph Alee and Leon Hibbs are expected to get the top seeded positions in this division.

★ ★ ★

Saturday, the juniors will get into action with singles and doubles, and the men's doubles and mixed doubles will follow, so as to get the tournament into the quarterfinals this weekend.

Next weekend, play will continue with all finals scheduled for Sunday, July 27.

Defending men's champion Rick Watson, past juniors champ, will not be available to defend his crown this year.

The new event this season, the mixed doubles, has already attracted 15 teams and should grow before deadline time.

★ ★ ★

Players are permitted to enter only three events.

Pairings for Friday's matches will be listed in The Press on Thursday, with pairings for Saturday and Sunday to be listed on succeeding days.

All entries, together with 50 cent fees per event, should be submitted to The Press sports department or to the receration department at city hall.

Firebirds Hope to Get Test Saturday for '69 Grid Outlook

The Pontiac Firebirds are sporting that "new look" with the "new outlook" for the 1969 season in the newly redesigned Midwest Football League.

After two weeks of practice, head coach Tom Tracy will find out Saturday night just what the Firebirds really do have for the 1969 race in the Central Division of the MFL.

In an exhibition game at Wisner Stadium Saturday evening the Firebirds will face the Detroit Cowboys, an opponent which will be in the same division with Pontiac this season.

The other teams in the same division are Lansing and Flint, while the members of the Lakes Division include Grand Rapids, Dayton, Lackawanna and Benton Harbor-St. Joe.

The biggest search for players at given positions are offensive linemen.

STRONG TRIO

With former University of Michigan Rose Bowl captain Tom Cecchini expected to join the Firebirds this week, the team will have a solid trio of linebackers.

Steve Szabo, Jon Izer and Cecchini could make up the best trio of line backers in the league.

The secondary is figured to be much stronger with newcomers Don Sims and Brandon Oliver strong candidates for starting jobs to go with returnees Chuck Stein, Chris Payne and John Lane.

Game time Saturday is 7:00 p.m. and a feature of the evening will be the performances of the winning marching units of the state Eagles' bands which will compete for honors earlier in Pontiac.

Tickets are available at area Eagles' lodges and at Osmun's, Griff's, Bob-Ken's and VFW Post No. 1370 downtown.

The Firebirds have also placed season tickets on sale at $10 for the seven-game home schedule.

Berkley Hurler Pitches No-Hitter in Legion Tilt

Rick Nelson struck out 14 batters in pitching a no hitter for Berkley over Walled Lake in American Legion baseball action yesterday.

A double by Greg Grizinski scored Jim Simpson, who walked, in the 5th for the only run and only hit of the game.

After a slow start, Farmington toppled Southfield, 5-3 in another game.

Eastern Ice Foes to Face Spartans, Tech in Tourney

HOUGHTON (UPI) — The Michigan Tech Huskies will host Princeton, Michigan State and the University of New Hampshire in the fifth annual Great Lakes Hockey Invitational Tournament Dec. 19-20.

The field for the holiday tourney was announced Monday by Alan J. Bovard, athletic director at Michigan Tech and GLI tournament director. Of the four schools, Michigan Tech will make its fifth consecutive Great Lakes appearance; New Hampshire its second appearance and Michigan State its third. Princeton will make its debut in the tournament.

It will be held at Olympia Stadium in Detroit.

Last year a record two-day crowd of 16,000 saw Michigan Tech win its first GLI championship over Michigan, MSU and Wisconsin.

Golfer Unrattled

Just Another Hazard

The golfer steadies his stance, grips his putter firmly, aims and swings with determination to hit his mark.

But it isn't a birdie he gets, or an eagle. It's a snake. A 26-inch rattlesnake to be exact.

Mike Fiorillo, 4920 Hatchery, Drayton Plains, approached his ball on the edge of a rough on the fourth hole at the Twin Lakes Golf course Friday and heard the characteristic rattling of the poisonous reptile.

With somewhat careless abandon, he wacked the serpent with his putter to stun him then held him at the neck with the club while with the other hand he grasped a firm hold behind the head.

Fiorillo then lodged the rattler, who had just swallowed a frog, into a golf tube and completed his nine holes of golf, unrattled.

He finished with a 46.

Walter Hagen Is Home Following Cancer Treatment

TRAVERSE CITY, Mich. (AP —Famed golfer Walter Hagen returned home Monday afternoon from Munson Hospital in Traverse City after a recurrence of the throat cancer which has bothered him since 1964.

Hagen, 76, was being fed through a tube into his stomach and his return home reportedly depended on finding trained nurses to care for him.

Hagen's personal secretary, Russell Allen, and his housekeeper, Doris Brandis, will also be at his home.

★ ★ ★

Hagen a legend in golf, is the only man ever to win the Professional Golfers Association title five years running, 1922-27.

He had been under treatment at Munson Hospital for nearly two months. He was taken there after being stricken in Palm Springs, Calif., where he spent the winter.

Michigan Wrestlers Steal Show in Junior Tourney

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — Michigan boys stole the show Monday as the U.S. team surged to tie for second in the opening day of action in the Junior World Wrestling Championships at Boulder.

Bulgaria led after the first day of competition with an expected strong Soviet Union team and a surprising young American team taking five victories each. Three of the victories were taken by Michiganders.

★ ★ ★

A Madison Heights, Mich., boy, Bill Eisenheimer, keyed the American surge with an opening victory as he scored a 7-3 decision over Polni Gogoalze of the Soviet Union at 145 pounds.

Another Madison Heights youth, Bernard Gonzales, won on disqualifications over Tim Wenzel of Canada in 6:34, while Bill Davids of Hazel Park, Mich., pinned West German Paul Schnieder in 7:45, in the 105-pound Greco-Roman class.

★ ★ ★

Only one Michigan wrestler lost, Doug Willer of Berkley, who was pinned by Mansouh Bairamon of Russia in 2:23.

Another American who scored well was Steve Clark of Garden Grove, Calif. who pinned Canadian Bruce Ruitter in 29 seconds.

Komives, Rookie Sign Piston Pacts

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Pistons picked up two more contracts Monday, raising to 12 to the total number of players signed for the National Basketball Association team.

Howard Komives, veteran guard obtained last year in a trade with New York, and Steve Vandenberg, draft choice from Duke University, were the two who signed.

However, Walt Bellamy, Terry Dischinger, Dave Gambee and Bud Olsen, all from last year's squad, are yet to sign contracts.

Knockout Victim Paid $6 to Get Into Arena

NEW YORK (AP) — Charlie Green, a last minute sub who had to buy a $6 ticket to get in, came within a whisper of upsetting Jose Torres Monday night but wound up a second-round knockout victim.

Green was called into service at 8:15 p.m. when Jimmy Ralston of Buffalo, N.Y., scheduled to box Torres, said he had reinjured his left elbow while warming up in his hotel room and could not fight.

The Garden, forced to make a quick shuffle, talked Green into sending for his ring trunks and taking on the former world light heavy champ. Fortunately, Green had been training steadily and was ready to go.

The crowd of 8,450 paying $39,400 was shocked when Green flattened Torres with a right hand to the head just as the first round ended. Torres got up, stumbled ahead and fell to his knees and his corner men helped him to his ring stool.

"What happened? asked a stunned Torres to his seconds.

Torres came out slowly for the second, his legs still wobbly, he dropped to his knees for an automatic eight-county early in the round and said to himself, "I've got to take this guy out quick."

Summoning all his strength in one right hand punch, he dropped Green on his face. Referee Johnny LoBianco was up to nine before Green even rolled over and was counted out.

Gil Clancy of Green's corner crew claimed LoBianco should have continued the count after the first round ended under New York rules which permit a count to go on if a fighter is down.

★ ★ ★

However, LoBianco said Torres got up at "three" so he stopped counting. He cleared Torres' corner men of any wrong doing in helping him to the corner.

Cubs Win 'World Series' Opener Over Mets

Hands Checks New York, 1-0

Cubs Stretch Lead to 5½ Games

The Chicago Cubs have already won the first game of the "World Series" — their own July version, that is.

The Cubs stretched their lead in the National League's Eastern Division to 5½ games over New York Monday when they nipped the Mets, 1-0, in what Cub Manager Leo Durocher called, "a World Series game."

"It was a World Series game, in World Series atmosphere," said Durocher. "It was tense and there was great pitching — and great plays."

The great pitching came from Tom Seaver, ace of the Mets' staff, and Bill Hands, who beat the Mets for the seventh time in his last eight decisions against them.

Hands allowed six hits, one more than Seaver, but pitched masterfully in tight situations, stranding eight runners. Seaver, who pitched a one-hitter and narrowly missed a perfect game in his last outing against the Cubs, fell victim to Durocher's managerial wisdom.

FOLLOWS ORDERS

Don Kessinger, following Leo's orders, beat out a bunt leading off the sixth. He took second when Durocher called for the hit and run as Glenn Beckert grounded out. Billy Williams then singled for the game's only run.

Buc Can't Finish What He Begins

By the Associated Press

Big Bob Veale has thrown Pittsburgh's first pitch in 20 ball games this year...and the last pitch in one.

Pirates catcher Jerry May probably wishes he had it so good.

The Montreal Expos drove Veale from the mound during a two-run eighth inning breakthrough Monday night and trimmed the fading Pirates 2-0 behind right-hander Bill Stoneman.

FAILS TO FINISH

Veale, 4-11, has failed to finish 19 consecutive starts since April 9, when he went the distance against St. Louis in the Pirates' second game of the season.

May, who caught Veale's first pitch against the Expos, caught nothing but trouble thereafter. He was forced out of the game with a severely bruised thigh in a third inning mishap, then shaken up again when the ambulance transporting him to a Montreal hospital was involved in a collision.

★ ★ ★

Tony Bartirome, the club trainer, suffered minor lacerations in the road accident.

Pirates Manager Larry Shepard, meanwhile, remained in a St. Louis hospital, where he was taken Sunday after complaining of chest pains during the first Veale dueled Stoneman to a standoff until the Expos struck in the eighth. Bob Bailey's infield hit and singles by Coco Laboy and Jose Herrera produced one run and a walk to Adolfo Phillips finished Veale. Ron Brand then delivered an insurance run with a single off reliever Bob Moose.

Gibson, Seaver Among All-Stars

4 Newcomers Picked by Schoendienst

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Two members of his own St. Louis Cardinal staff and two from the surging New York Mets were included on the nine-man staff named by Manager Red Schoendienst for the National League in next week's All-Star game at Washington.

★ ★ ★

Schoendienst named Bob Gibson, 11-7, and Steve Carlton, 11-5, from his own staff and also named the top two pitchers, Tom Seaver, 14-4, and Jerry Koosman, 7-5, who've played a major role in making the Mets contenders this season. All four were on the staff named by Schoendienst last year.

★ ★ ★

To go with that quartet, Schoendienst named the National League's traditional ace—Juan Marichal of San Francisco—and four pitchers who had never been selected before—Phil Niekro of Atlanta, 14-7, Larry Dierker of Houston, 12-6, Bill Singer of Los Angeles, 12-7, and Grant Jackson of Philadelphia, 9-8.

★ ★ ★

The All-Star game will be played next Tuesday in Robert F. Kennedy Stadium in Washington, D.C.

Twins Need 13 Innings to Win Sixth Straight

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) — Leo Cardenas stroked a run-scoring single in the 13th inning Monday night, giving the Minnesota Twins a 4-3 victory over the Chicago White Sox that stretched their winning streak to six games.

★ ★ ★

Tony Oliva singled to start the 13th, sped to third on Bob Allison's single and tallied the winning run on Cardenas' single to center.

Bobby Knoop's run-scoring single gave Chicago a 3-2 edge in the top of the 12th, but the Twins retied it when pinch hitter Rod Carew beat out a bunt with two out in the bottom half and raced home on Cesar Tovar's double.

Allison led off the bottom of the ninth with his second homer of the game, sending it into overtime.

★ ★ ★

Allison rapped his 250th career homer in the second, but the Whie Sox tied it 1-1 in the fourth on singles by Gail Hopkins, Pete Ward and Ed Herrmann, and moved in front in the eighth on Hopkins' RBI double.

Dodger's Wes Parker Likes Astro's Hurling

HOUSTON (AP) — Pitcher Denny Lemaster of the Houston Astros probably would rather face just about any batter except Wes Parker of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Parker was Lemaster's nemesis Monday night as the slugging first baseman knocked in one run with a sacrifice fly in the first inning, homered in the fourth and scored one of two runs in the ninth as the Dodgers beat the Astros 4-1.

It was the second time this year Parker has helped beat Lemaster in the opener of a three-game series.

STRANGE SUCCESS

In the other two games, the switch hitting Parker went 5-for-7 against Lemaster.

"Other pitchers I don't have success against," said the 29-year-old Parker, "but Lemaster I do, for some strange reason. Really, he's not a bad pitcher."

Maury Wills singled in the first inning and scored on Parker's sacrifice fly.

For the Astros, Joe Morgan hit his 12th homer off the top of the right field fence in the bottom half of the first.

★ ★ ★

Don Sutton, now 12-9, gave Houston few opportunities to get any more across the plate. The Astros loaded the bags in the seventh before Manager Walt Alston decided it was enough for Sutton and called on Jim Brewer to finish.

Strong Finish Is Hope of Cellar Angels

ANAHEIM (AP) — California Manager Lefty Phillips is being very cautious about it.

"We're at the stage now where we can make a drive and finish third or fourth," he said after his last-place Angels nudged Kansas City 2-0 Monday night.

"I told them while we were on the road trip, 'You fellas know that if we're going to move up, we'll have to make our move now.' I told them they're a much improved ball club. You have to crawl before you can walk."

Leads Golf Qualifying

Miss Lauer Adds Another Laurel

Bonnie Lauer, 18-year-old Berkley golfer who is a member of Edgewood Country Club, just keeps winning in the state women's ranks.

Miss Lauer, who is following the winning ways of a couple past golfing teenage stars, Sally Sharp and Joyce Kaxmierski, took the qualifying medal in the 53rd Women's Michigan Closed tournament yesterday at Dearborn Country Club.

She fired a 36-38 — 74, finishing one shot ahead of Nancy Patch of Farmington who was last year's top qualifier.

Miss Lauer had only 27 putts, while Miss Patch, who missed a chance to tie by bogyeing the 18th hole, had 28 putts.

Miss Kaxmierski, last year's tournament champion is now on the pro tour.

Match play started this morning and the top 32 players in qualifying make up the championship flight, which was finally decided with a five way playoff for the last spot.

Mrs. Christ Miller, Pontiac women's city champion from Farmington, took third place in the qualifing with a 76.

Walled Lake '9' Wins 11 Straight in Softball Play

Michigan Building Maintenance fought off a stiff challenge by Copper Mug to keep its win streak intact with a 6-5 victory in eight innings in a Walled Lake Industrial softball game last night.

Michigan Building has now won 11 straight games since its loss in the first game of the season and lead the A Division. Copper Mug, which loaded the bases in the bottom of the overtime inning but couldn't score, is now 6-6.

In another game, Pyles Industrial shut out Walled Lake Building Maintenance, 4-0.

In the final scheduled game, Mcbile Temp forfeited their game to Wixom.

Reaches Net Finale

One More Step for Laver

CHESTNUT HILL, Mass. (UPI) — Wet or dry, early or late, crowded or in privacy, Rodney Laver is still the ruler of pro tennis — almost.

Only fellow Australian John Newcombe stood between Wimbledon champ Laver and the $8,000 jackpot in the 1969 U.S. Professional tennis championships. And Laver has beaten Newcombe five times in six meetings.

AFTER 4TH TITLE

The 31-year-old Laver will be hunting his fourth straight U.S. pro crown when he and Newcombe tangle at Longwood Cricket Club tonight.

A finalist for the seventh straight year, southpaw Laver was an overwhelming choice to defeat Newcombe, though it was unlikely he could match last year's straight set victory over the same rival.

After the title match, Laver will team with the veteran Pancho Gonzalez against the Wimbledon doubles champions, Newcombe and Tony Roche.

Laver wiped out his chief challenger Monday night in a four-set victory over Ken Rosewall, 6-3, 5-7, 6-2, 6-3.

* * *

Newcombe was quicker with a 6-3, 6-4, 6-4, rout of still another Australian, Fred Stolle.

Pitchers' Duel Marks Junior Baseball

Snack and Rack's Dave Clancy and Cranbrook's Rick Walker each allowed three hits in a pitcher's duel last night, but Cranbrook bunched all of theirs in the fourth inning to win the Class D junior baseball game, 2-1.

Snack and Rack scored their lone run in the top of the fourth on a single, infield out, stolen base and an error.

In other city Class D action, Talbott Construction scored in every inning but the fifth to pound out an 11-4 win over the Yankees.

Lakeland scored five times in the bottom of the second inning to pull away from Froede Design for an 8-5 victory.

P.P.O.A. and Bloomfield Hills High School fought a tenacsious 11-inning battle that was called because of darkness still tied at 1-1.

* * *

Bloomfield scored its run in the fifth inning on one hit and had a chance to win it all in the bottom of the seventh when pitcher Chris Brinkley led off with a triple, but was stranded as his teammates flied to left and struck out twice.

In Class E. Eriksen's Tigers mauled Rochester with an 11-hit barrage, 12-2, ended after the sixth inning because of the 10 run rule.

Roger Allison boomed a homerun and scored three times, and Kirk Eriksen hit triples in two successive times at bat to lead the winners.

In class F, the Yankees overhwelmed the Met Club 22-2 as Cloyd Fowler pitched a one-hitter. Alladin Vending outhit the Padres, 4-2, but lost the game, 13-9.

* * *

Talbott Construction and Columbia won their games by identical scores of 8-3. Rochester Merchants and Auburn Heights were the respective losers.

* * *

In a four-inning game, Eastern Auto smashed Roy L. Teadors Raiders, 26-5, slamming out 20 hits in the storm.

Tim Recknagel threw a one-hit masterpiece and his teammates scored 12 runs as Eaton Eagles shut out the New Hope Baptists. Recknagel struck out 17 batters.

Sam Allen scored seven times in the first inning on one hit, but found the Aamco Firebirds were still burning and had to rally for four runs in the fifth inning to squeeze out a 12-10 victory.

In widget action, Alladin Vending knocked off the Auburn Heights Boys Club, 9-3 as Phil Cole pitched a two-hitter and hit a home run.

McCray Catering Service came from behind to tie Pontiac Optimist in the bottom of the fifth inning, 5-5, but Optimist scored two runs in the extra inning to win, 7-5.

Pontiac Police rallied for four runs in the fifth inning to defeat Columbia RA, 6-4.

Pro Crown to Ron Fox

Ron Fox, a 15-year pro golf circuit veteran, won the PGA Michigan Pro Championship by stroking a 68-69—137 on Lansing's 6,573-yard Walnut Hills course Monday.

The 32-year-old Fox, in his first year at the Detroit Golf Club, took home $450 in prize money.

Jet Veterans to Hear Czar

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. (AP) — The Joe Namath case has taken another strange turn with pro football Commissioner Pete Rozelle agreeing to discuss the situation with veteran members of the world champion New York Jets.

The big question today was which member of the Big Two involved in pro football's biggest controversy would reach the site of the Jets' camp here — Rozelle or Namath, the shaggy-haired quarterback who may or may not already be en route here.

Namath received permission Sunday from Coach Weeb Ewbank to report late and said he would "get back" to him either Tuesday night or Wednesday. Whether that meant Namath would contact Ewbank in person or by phone remained a question.

Rozelle, meanwhile, confirmed late Monday night that he had agreed earlier in the day to a command performance at the Jets' camp presumably to present his side of the issues involved in the Namath dispute. No date has as yet been set, although indications are that it will not be held until late in the week.

IN OTHER CAMPS

CARLISLE, Pa. (AP) — Coach Vince Lombardi greeted the remainder of his Washington Redskins team at its training camp Monday and got down to the business of getting the players in shape for the upcoming National Football League season.

Fifteen newcomers—mostly offensive linemen—joined the pre-season camp to bring a total of 78 players at Dickinson College. After the two workouts, Lombardi told newsmen, "It was not too light even though we did not do a lot of contacts. We did a lot of running, and they were on the sleds for awhile.

"I never believe in a lot of contact in camp," he said, "There's no use killing your team here."

VETS JOIN COLTS

WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP) — Four veterans joined the Baltimore Colts for workouts Monday, five days ahead of their scheduled reporting date.

Participating in the National Football League Club's drills were fullback Jerry Hill, tight end John Mackey, defensive end Bubba Smith and defensive tackle Billy Ray Smith. Quarterback Earl Morrall continued to practice while weighing his decision on whether to accept a job offer outside football.

EAGLES WAIVE 2

READING, Pa. (AP) — The Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League announced Monday they had put two players on waivers.

The Eagles said defensive end Henry Shows from the University of Mississippi and offensive tackle Chuck Van Robays of Detroit, both failed their physical examinations.

BRONCOS CUT

DENVER (AP) — The training camp of the Denver Broncos of the American Football League was 11 players smaller after the first day of workouts.

The Broncos announced after an afternoon practice Monday was cut short by wind and rain that four players had been cut. Earlier in the day, the club announced seven others had been placed on waivers.

BACK SHOT — The horses and players are going one way and the ball is going the other way as result of a back shot by John Mager of the Orchard Lake polo team which scored a 9-3 triumph over Cleveland Sunday. The Cleveland player is Dick Nepper.

Orchard Lake's record is now 5-1 and this weekend the polo team will meet Columbus, Ohio in a pair of matches, Saturday and Sunday at the field in Union Lake, at Lochhaven and Willow Roads.

Orchard Lake Poloists Win Fifth Match

The Orchard Lake polo team twice spotted Cleveland one-goal leads but came on strong behind the one-two scoring punch of Harold Garian and John Mager to pull out a 9-3 victory Sunday.

The victory is Orchard Lake's fifth in six starts this season. It whipped Grand Rapids twice and Columbus twice before dropping a 12-9 slugfest at rugged Darlington, Pa., who hasn't lost in three years at home.

The Orchard Lake team has been rained out of matches at Beaver Valley, Pa., and Cleveland.

★ ★ ★

Sunday's battle saw Cleveland score first, then two goals by Garian were answered by two more for the visitors. Mager tied it for the last time with a solo dash down the field.

The Orchard Lake scoring twosomes each added three more goals to put the game out of Cleveland's reach.

Grid Deadlock

WINNIPEG (AP) — The Calgary Stampeders built a three-touchdown lead but the Winnipeg Blue Bombers fought back and earned a 22-22 tie in a Canadian Football League exhibition game Monday night.

City League Challenger Loses Control, Ground

Talbott Lumbers' first place challenge in the City Class A baseball league went out of control in the sixth inning yesterday and frontrunning M.G. Collision gained more breathing room.

Teamsters scored all of its runs in the sixth to upset second place Talbott, 4-2, behind the six-hit pitching of Don Picmann. Meanwhile, M.G. was getting a 12-strikeout effort from Walt Miller in a 5-1 win over Carl's Golfland and now holds a 3½-game lead over Talbott.

★ ★ ★

Idle R. T. Clippers moved into a second place with Talbott. Both have 10-6 records to Collision's 14-3.

Rob Clancy of Talbott was sailing along with a 2-0 lead when his control and defense failed in the fatal inning. Two walks and a single by Teamsters' George Metcalf plated one run.

BASES LOADED

Another walk loaded the bases and two runs scored when the shortstop erred on a ball hit by Sandy Heavenrich. Clancy hit the next batter to reload the bases and was relieved by Al Thomas. The final run scored on a fielder's choice.

Teamsters now has a 9-9 record.

Miller allowed only four hits and didn't walk a batter for M.G. He started a two-run third with a single. Jerry Harkey followed with a double and both runners scored on an infield error.

Terry Ruffato's single, a walk, two fielder's choices and a passed ball yielded two more tallies in the fifth. The final run scored in the sixth on singles by Harry Bartkowiak and Mike Burklow and an infield miscue.

'Year 2525' Opens Door to Future for Singing Duo

By MARY CAMPBELL
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Not often, but once in a while, it happens — a homemade rocket from nobody knows where flashes up and across the sky of the pop record business.

"In the Year 2525," No. 1 in the nation, is sung by a couple of guys nobody ever heard of before, Zager and Evans, from Nebraska, who cut the record themselves in a four-track studio in Odessa, Tex.

* * *

They'd been singing it in Cattman's Lounge in Lincoln, Neb., where they started performing when they got together as a duo last August. They were hired for $10 a night apiece, six nights a week, and the clientele came and went, so Denny Zager, 25, and Rick Evans, 26, didn't have to travel.

Then, "25," detailing prophesies up through the year 9595, began getting requested five or six times a night from the regulars at the lounge, who also began talking up the idea that the boys should record it.

STRINGS AVAILABLE

So they did — borrowing $500 from their boss and going down to the Odessa, Tex., studio that Evans remembered from his traveling rock group days. "A little brick building in the middle of a sand burr patch." He also remembered a symphony in the town, and the availability of string players for a record session.

So they cut the record, mixed it themselves in Omaha, set up Truth Records and ordered a pressing of 1,000 records.

* * *

Then their friends back in Lincoln helped out some more. A disc jockey in Lincoln plugged the record. Other people sent it to people they knew who might be able to do something.

That resulted in a New York management company signing Zager and Evans and selling their single to RCA Victor, which put it out and watched it jump up the best-selling chart in its first six weeks — 100, 84, 35, 7, 3, 1.

* * *

RCA quickly sent Zager and Evans to Chicago to record an LP, "In the Year 2525 (Exordium and Terminus)," of 10 Evans originals, released July 7, with advance orders of 100,000 copies based on interest generated by the single, and brought the duo to New York to meet the press for the first time.

APPARENTLY UNSPOILED

Zager and Evans are Midwestern direct, self-effacing but self-confident, apparently unspoiled by virtual over-night success. They say doing the kind of songs they like is more important to them than money.

They call themselves Zager and Evans, they say, because they couldn't think of a group name any more original than their own names and put Zager first because it's more unusual. "Besides I wanted to be a star," Zager says, then quickly adds, in case anyone might think he wasn't kidding, "I hope you don't put that down."

They call Evans' songs, as heard in the album, profound, and both are proud of them. Evans says, "They're, about contemporary situations and subjects." Zager says, "He tries to stay away from cliches." Evans says, "I'll use a cliche if there's something at either end of it."

Evans adds that usually their songs are liked by people hearing them the first time through. He also adds that of the 100 songs he's written, "85 aren't very good."

MELLOWING VOICE

Evans thinks his voice sounds "a tiny bit like Roger Miller" and Zager thinks he is "awful close to Bobby Goldsboro."

When Zager used to sing in rock groups, at first in a group Evans was in, later in another group, his singing "always kind of mellowed things off."

Paul Newmans Take Stand Against Giving Autographs

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Paul Newman and Joanne Woodward have taken a firm stand against signing autographs.

Some young fans were waiting for them when they received the American Jewish Committee's Human Relations award at the Americana. Newman looked at them with his celebrated bright blue eyes and echoed his wife's statement: "I don't sign autographs."

WILSON

* * *

"You used to," one kid said.

"I don't anymore," Newman said. "With everything that's happening in the world, why do you collect autographs?"

"It keeps us off the street," one of them said. "Isn't it better than smoking pot?" "Yes, and I'm sorry, but I still don't sign," Newman said.

* * *

When Joanne Woodward was publicizing "Rachel, Rachel," she sometimes asked fans why they didn't read or do something useful instead of hunting autographs.

They are not the first stars to feel this way. Cary Grant tried to discourage the practice 15 years ago and still refuses when there's a crowd. Newman made a serious speech at the luncheon repeating the thought from the election campaign that Washington needs a Secretary of Peace.

* * *

There must be money in TV — Merv Griffin, who owns 5 radio stations, bought the 5-story building at 162-164 W. 48th St. for around $800,000 and will install production offices since it's near the Cort Theater, where he'll do his new CBS show. On the ground floor Vincent Sardi will operate a restaurant called "Pip's" after Merv's pet name for Arthur Treacher.

"I got a little piece of Rockefeller Center," Merv says.

(Just occurs to us that Merv and Vince will sell food and booze to fans while they're waiting to see Merv's show, and afterward. Johnny Carson and Ed Sullivan are biting their nails wishing they'd thought of that.)

* * *

Joe Franklin must have been kidding when he said the "Oh! Calcutta!" musicians were supposed to play naked but their wives objected and insisted they at least wear their sheet music. That show's sort of a "nudical comedy"

JUDY: THE FILMS AND CAREER OF JUDY GARLAND. By Joe Morella and Edward Epstein. Citadel Press. $8.95.

JUDY GARLAND

Judy Garland was a living legend. This book, meant as a record of that legend — of her triumphs and tragedies — has now become the complete story of her life.

Her death at age 47 will surely bring a flurry of "biographies," detailing the quest for home and family of the real-life Dorothy of Oz.

* * *

This book published before her death and written with the unstated hope that Judy would once again "come back," now has a special and sad significance of a hope unfulfilled.

It's authors plan to add one final page to the book, noting simply that Judy Garland died in London June 22, 1969.

* * *

This book, by two of her fans, is not really a biography, but rather a record of her film, television, recording and concert career. The authors make no attempt to analyze, to explain or to defend her.

Judy took no part in the book's production. Indeed, according to its authors she never acknowledged its existence.

* * *

In text and with numerous photos, "Judy" traces the star's film career, its peaks — "Broadway Melody of 1938," "The Wizard of Oz," "For Me and My Gal," "A Star Is Born," "Meet Me in St. Louis," "Judgment at Nuremberg" — and its valleys — her concert and television career, her up-and-down life in newspaper headlines, five marriages and mental and physical health problems.

AN UNFINISHED WOMAN. By Lilliam Hellman. Little, Brown. $7.50.

Lillian Hellman explains the title of her memoir, "All I mean is that I left too much of me unfinished because I wasted too much time."

She wrote "The Children's Hour," "The Little Foxes," "Another Part of the Forest" "Toys in the Attic," etc., but this book isn't about her plays. She had dipped into the storage cartons of personal memories and brought forth some of them for view.

* * *

Mrs. Hellman writes so well that disconnected and unexplained references somehow fit into an over-all organization. Her insights and phrases are sharp and often smile-provoking. "Her taste in men was, indeed, bad, even for writer ladies."

An unfinished woman maybe, but not so very unfinished, and fascinating to read about.

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

As bridge writers have pointed out since the play of the first dummy, the streets of London are filled with impoverished gentlemen who owe their plight to the failure to pull trumps. A somewhat different situation applies in the New York bread lines. Their members pulled trumps too soon.

South wins with dummy's ace of spades and is faced with a problem: Should he go right after trumps or try to discard a club on the third good spade? He has to lose three aces.

If West holds the ace of clubs, South may lose two club tricks. He can guard against that by going right after a club discard. Which line should he adopt?

The basic mathematics are that spades will break 4-3 just oer 62 per cent of the time while West will hold the club ace just 50 per cent of the time.

There are complications in other suits. For instance: If West holds all three missing aces (a 12½ per cent chance), South can go after trumps with no fear that a club will be led through his king. East can never gain the lead.

★ ★ ★

This brings the trump play up to a 62½ per cent chance. There also is a chance that if West holds the aces of hearts and clubs, he will continue spades or even play his ace of clubs after getting in with the ace of hearts. This also favors the immediate trump play.

If you take a good look at all four hands, you will see the winning play is to try the spades right away and that is the play we recommend. The first reason is that if spades do break 5-2 and West holds the long spades, South will overruff.

The second, although a very far-fetched reason, is that maybe East or West started with two spades and the singleton ace of hearts.

CARD Sense

Q—The bidding has been:

Pass	3♥	Pass	?

You, South, hold:
♠AK964 ♥Q85 ♦AK104 ♣2
What do you do now?

A—Bid four no-trump. You plan to bid six hearts if partner shows an ace and will investigate seven if he shows two.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding three hearts, your partner bids three clubs over your two spades. What do you do now?

Monday's Trend Continues

Market Is in Broad Retreat

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market retreated over a broad front in fairly active trading early this afternoon, with brokers reporting "Some potential buyers very timid and staying out of the action."

The fall "is a continuation of Monday's downtrend," an analyst said, "with some of the selling coming in just because the market is going down."

★ ★ ★

The Dow Jones industrial average, which lost a total of 33.87 points last week and 9.11 more Monday, at noon was off 5.50 at 837.64.

Declining issues led advances by nearly 700.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon was off 2.3 at 297.4, with industrials off 3.6, rails off 1.4, and utilities off .5.

"The concerns inhibiting some investors are basically the same ones that have been weighing on the market for some time," an analyst said.

★ ★ ★

"Tight money, the possibility that corporate profits will be lower later this year, the income tax surcharge extension and tax reform."

He said there was worry that the reforms might affect "tax treatment of capital gain and loss rules as well as the oil and gas depletion allowance."

★ ★ ★

Despite the continuing concern, some analysts again pointed to what they called "the market's extremely oversold condition." This condition, they said, could possibly bring about a technical rally.

Court Upholds Hoffa Verdict

'No Wiretaps Used in Fraud Conviction'

CHICAGO (AP) — James R. Hoffa, president of the Teamsters Union, has lost a bid in U.S. District Court to have a 1964 fraud conviction reversed and avoid an additional five-year prison sentence.

Judge Richard B. Austin ruled Monday that wiretap evidence played no part in the fraud conviction—as defense lawyers had argued—and he ordered Hoffa to serve the sentence. He was convicted of fraud conspiracy involving use of $1 million in union funds.

★ ★ ★

Thomas A. Foran, U.S. attorney, said Hoffa would be returned to the federal prison at Lewisburg, Pa., where since 1967 he has been serving an eight-year sentence on another conviction.

Hoffa's attorneys contended the fraud conviction was illegal because he was not shown wiretap evidence used against him. The U.S. Supreme Court held recently that all defendants must be shown transcripts of wiretap evidence used by the prosecution at their trials.

★ ★ ★

Maurice Walsh, Hoffa's lawyer, asked that the five-year sentence be allowed to run concurrently with the eight-year term he has been serving for tampering with a jury in his trial in Chattanooga, Tenn. Judge Austin declined.

Hoffa will be eligible for parole on the jury tampering sentence in November.

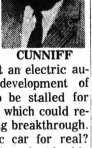
Down-to-Earth Aim: Practical Electric Car

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK — While most Americans will be entranced tomorrow as the astronauts rocket through space, scores of scientists will be working quietly on the less glamorous job of moving earthlings at 45 miles an hour.



CUNNIFF

These are the men who are trying to perfect an electric automobile, the development of which seems to be stalled for the moment but which could result in a startling breakthrough.

Is the electric car for real? Ask the researchers for the big electric product manufacturers and you realize it is surprisingly real. And you get the same answer from the Big Three auto makers too.

The state of the art is really more advanced than most Americans seem to realize. And the implications, too, are greater.

REVOLUTIONARY

A successful electric vehicle suitable for volume sales would be as revolutionary a technological development as anything seen before in America, matched only by such products as airplanes, telephones and computers.

At the present time most of the large electric equipment manufacturers have development projects under way, and at least six small companies now are selling vehicles that can travel 100 miles at 40 to 50 miles an hour.

In fact, the major manufacturers of internal combustion engines also have been working on the project, although perhaps a little more quietly.

Scores of battery-powered transportation devices already exist: buses, industrial trucks, delivery vans, noiseless dairy trucks, golf carts, automatic trains.

6 YEARS ON MARKET

A southern California manufacturer has been making a lightweight, two-passenger electric car for six years. He sells about 150 a year, mostly to elderly and handicapped people, who drive them about city streets.

The U.S. Post Office recently awarded a contract for four electric mail trucks capable of reaching a top speed of 45 miles an hour and which can make 400 starts and stops without recharging.

The utilities, whose sales could be greatly increased because of great amounts of power needed to recharge vehicles, have their sights set on the huge Post Office fleet of 55,000 city carriers, all gasoline-driven.

The spark behind development of the electric car comes as much from the negative factors of noise and air pollution from gasoline-driven vehicles as it does from the great potential market.

GULP'S MUCH AIR

W. J. Clasp of the Edison Electric Institute, an organization of electric utilities, commented recently that one automobile traveling 30 miles at 60 miles an hour consumes more breathable air in that time than 100,000 people.

Clapp's viewpoint is perhaps prejudiced, but the point remains that many Americans are becoming deeply concerned with the air they breathe and feel the automobile is one of the chief contributors to pollution.

The fact that the electric car has not yet met with more acceptance is partially a tribute to the effective promotion of gasoline driven cars by the big manufacturers. In England, for example, 80 per cent of the vehicles used for door-to-door deliveries are electric.

The obstacles are real, however. How do you pack enough batteries into the car without eliminating the driver's space or increasing the weight to the point of diminishing return?

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q — I am a financially secure 64-year-old widow. Dillingham Corp., now trading well below my $36 cost, worries me. Should I hold? — H. K.

A — Despite its poor market action, both fundamentals and growth potential are as promising as ever for Dillingham.

Hawaii is in the midst of an accelerating tourist boom. Conservative estimates place tourist spending at $560 million this year, up from $460 million in 1968. Construction activity jumped 26 per cent last year and is limited only by a current shortage of skilled workers. Though based in Honolulu, Dillingham's operations are worldwide in real-estate development, heavy construction, shipping and oceanographic research and engineering.

Several major acquisitions for stock and cash valuing $68 million are now being negotiated. Operating earnings for the first half of 1968 are up 15 per cent to 20 per cent, according to company president L. S. Dillingham. If this trend continues, full-year net of $1.15 to $1.20 is possible. Shares now available at a multiple of only 22X are rated a buy for long-term appreciation.

Q — My 54-year-old mother has $35,000 in savings drawing five per cent interest. She earns $7,500 annually and will work until 65. Thereafter Social Security and a small pension will provide her support in retirement. A friend suggested that she invest $25,000 in Puritan Fund for inflation protection. Is this the best plan for her? — J. E.

A — Fidelity Management & Research Co. is adviser to the Puritan Fund, the Fidelity Group and four others. All have performed well over a 10-year period and in the first half of 1969 are reporting results in line with other income-producing funds.

★ ★ ★

Puritan Fund, founded in 1946, has operated in both rising and falling markets with consistently good results — an important consideration when selecting a mutual fund. For your mother's needs, a mutual fund should provide not only protection for her capital but also the possibility of some growth which a bank account cannot offer. If you decide to purchase Puritan Fund, there is a reduction in the acquisition fee from 7½ per cent to 5 per cent for an investment of $25,000.

Nixon Policy at Stake

Wiretap Ruling Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell says he expects a new administration policy of broadening the rise of wiretaps in internal security matters to be upheld in a federal court test.

The decision, scheduled to come down in Chicago today, involves the case of five antiwar demonstrators charged in connection with disorders during the 1968 Democratic National Convention.

* * *

"As you can well imagine," Mitchell said Monday, "those electronic surveillances were placed on long before my coming to office."

* * *

Nevertheless, he said, "We will maintain, so long as the courts support us, that this is a power vested in the president of the United States to protect the foreign and internal security of this country.

EXTENSION OF POWERS

"And we will try and sustain, and expect to sustain, the power of the president and this government to act accordingly."

* * *

Mitchell's argument marks a broad extension in powers heretofore claimed by the government to eavesdrop on private conversations of private citizens through electronic devices—including taps on telephone lines and microphones installed in offices and rooms.

* * *

Previously, the government claimed only that the president, acting through the attorney general, had the power to eavesdrop in national security matters involving foreign intelligence gathering operations.

The latest controversy was triggered June 13 when the Justice Department filed a memorandum in U.S. District Court in Chicago, laying claim to the broad new snooping powers.

NO LIMIT

The source of the uproar is the fact that there is no limit to, or protection against, eavesdropping in cases where the administration suspects someone, not necessarily involving alien powers, may be planning to "subvert the existing form of our government."

* * *

The new position has sparked considerable furor inside and outside the government, some Justice Department lawyers, including one of the authors of the memorandum, is unhappy over it.

* * *

Mitchell contended Monday that the administration has reduced the number of wiretaps in operation since taking office in January.

* * *

But he would not give the specific number, except to say that it is less than the 49 wiretaps and five bugs—microphones—reported by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover in April.

INSTALLATIONS

Figures are elusive, however, when officials are asked the number of taps and bugs installed annually. Some snooping devices, sources report, are in operation for only a day.

* * *

The wiretap controversy was resurrected a month ago after the government disclosed that the FBI eavesdropped on the telephone conversations of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

* * *

"With respect to the individual citizen," he said, "unless they are involved in organized crime or in the process, or have committed a crime, they have no concerns whatsoever."

DISCUSSES SNOOPING—Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell speaks at a news conference yesterday in Washington. He said the Nixon administration has used electronic surveillance more sparingly than prior adminstrations.

Lockwood Resists Revolt

LANSING (AP) — A Republican revolt failed Monday to overthrow Emil Lockwood as majority leader of the Michigan Senate.

The "Dump Lockwood" move —touched off by fighting over Gov. William Milliken's appointment of a Negro attorney to a state post—came during a heated 2½-hour, closed-door-caucus.

* * *

Dissidents, angry because Lockwood bucked the caucus majority and supported the appointment of Myron Wahls to the State Employment Security Commission appeals board, called for a caucus rule that would order the majority leader to support majority positions.

"The resolution said that the majority leader should fight for and express the majority sentiment of the caucus regardless of his own personal feelings or those of the executive office," Lockwood said. "I voted for the resolution."

The measure failed on a 10-10 vote.

Sen. Robert Huber, R-Troy —who reportedly offered the resolution—vowed not to return to the Republican caucus until "they decide they are going to go back to the will of the majority."

Lockwood refused to name dissidents or say he would have resigned had the resolution been adopted.

"I did advise (the caucus) I felt I wouldn't be able to abide by the rule," he told reporters.

Huber condemned the caucus vote, saying he "couldn't work under those conditions, until the philosophy goes back to control of the majority."

Last week Huber was among 15 of the 20 Senate Republicans who fought a close but unsuccessful battle against the Wahls appointment. He accused Milliken at that time of naming Wahls in "a blatant attempt to get black votes for his expected reelection bid in 1970."

Lockwood stood by the governor's nominee, along with the remaining four Senate Republicans and Democrats, most of whom sat on their hands and refused to get involved in the GOP family fight. Their inaction virtually assured Wahls the $18,500-a-year post.

Sen. Robert VanderLaan, R-Grand Rapids, who refused comment on the caucus but reportedly spurred action, had led the fight to deny Wahls confirmation.

VanderLaan accused Wahls of a "lack of judicial restraint" because of comments "chiding" police after the controversial New Bethel Church shootout between police and militant blacks in Detroit and the subsequent condemnation of Recorder's Court Judge George Crockett, a Negro.

Wahls had "no experience in the MESC field" and had been involved in organizations listed as "subversive" by the U.S. Justice Department, VanderLaan said.

VanderLaan also condemned Wahls, a Republican, for endorsing a Democrat's candidacy for mayor of Detroit. Wahls has indicated support for Sen. Coleman Young, D-Detroit, for mayor.

Lockwood fought that argument saying he believed most senators could be accused of doing the same thing. The St. Louis Republican said he has attended political festivities for former Senate Minority Leader Raymond Dzendzel, D-Detroit, and probably would do so again if he were asked.

City to Discuss Vacating of Two Streets

A public hearing on vacating Parkhurst and Chandler within the Human Resources Center site for construction tops the agenda for the Pontiac City Commission meeting tonight at 8 at City Hall, East Wide Track and East Pike.

A proposed plan change for the urban renewal project to accommodate the $5.1-million resouces center which will house 1,880 elementary pupils, will also be presented for discussion and consideration.

* * *

A further report on the matter of short-term trading of duty time by members of the fire department will also be presented.

This matter was discussed at last week's meeting when Fire Chief Charles Marion was accused of giving special treatment to Fireman Frederick Milton in allowing him to trade shifts to attend law classes.

* * *

Also on the agenda tonight is a report on summer hiring of youth.

Goods cast from a vessel in distress and found floating in the sea are flotsam. Jetsam is goods cast overboard to lighten a wrecked ship, but which sinks instead of floating.

Charlie Brown Says:
"There's nothing so devastating as having a cherished belief clobbered"
AND IF YOU HAVE CHERISHED A BELIEF — that charm lies alone in the newer homes for a large family — you're about to have that belief clobbered when you see this older house. The house was built over 127 years ago owner states. On the old stage coach route from Pontiac to Lansing. First settlement west of Pontiac. There was a blacksmith shop, doctor's office, old hotel and stable, stage coach barn for changing of horses on the route. All gone with the winds of time except this house — standing like a rock with the whirlpools of change swirling around its ol' solid feet. Retaining its beauty with old fashioned lilac hedges, gorgeous roses, glads, zinnias, petunias, geraniums, tulips — a riot of color in spring. In summer — a vegetable garden of asparagus, rhubarb, strawberries, corn, lima beans, peas and blackeyed peas, radishes, turnips, onions and tomatoes. Solid and well kept in a modest small community. A delightful small barn with room for 2 cars and a playhouse upstairs for the kids. Lot 136 ft. front and rear by 134.70 on the side. Zoned residential small farm on an asphalt road. Rewired up to code 5 years ago. Well. Gas. 3 septic fields. 4 large bedrooms, 1 bath and room for another. Modern kitchen, large living room and dining room. 2 porches. Asphalt roof new 4 years ago. In excellent condition. Price $40,000 with $15,000 down. Balance 7 per cent land contract. Please call for an appointment — please do not ask "to just drive by."

House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan celebrated his 56th birthday yesterday amid some good-natured quips from colleagues in Washington.

Democratic leader Carl Alber of Oklahoma wished him "many more years as our distinguished minority leader."

Rep. John B. Anderson of Illinois, who heads the House Republican Conference, replied: "I have other and higher hopes for him than that."

Maureen's Hubby Wears the Pants

Actress Maureen O'Hara, 49, has portrayed a stubborn Irish housewife in numerous movies, but says she lets her husband wear the pants in their house.

Miss O'Hara and her husband, Charles F. Blair, flew into Tokyo yesterday on a sentimental journey before he retires as a senior pilot with Pan American World Airways. On his final flight, Blair, 59, is piloting a regular commercial flight around the world.

The titian-haired actress married Blair in March 1968. And she said she promised then to limit herself to one movie a year, provided her husband raised no objections.

Miss Prowse Finds Home Sacked

Juliet Prowse returned home to Beverly Hills yesterday and found that, over the weekend, thieves had taken a diamond and ruby bracelet, diamond rings and several watches valued at more than $50,000. The red-haired dancer was philosophical, however.

"They didn't get the really precious things—my animals," she said. She has a kitten and a dog with three puppies.

Miss Prowse had been visiting her husband, Eddie James, a choreographer working in Las Vegas.

Trooper Arrests Two in Theft at His Home

NEW BUFFALO (AP) — Two Chicago men have been charged with breaking and entering—at the home of a state trooper.

Authorities said Trooper Raymond Kinny spotted a car in the driveway of his home and followed it. He stopped the car because it had no license plates and found a shoe box containing his coin collection on the vehicle's front seat.

* * *

The trooper arrested William Patrick Rogers and James Lloyd Seals. Rogers also was charged with being AWOL from the U.S. Army.

Escapee From VC Will Lead Parade

IONIA (AP) — Spec. 5 Thomas Van Putten, the 21-year-old Caledonia soldier who escaped from the Vietcong in April after 14 months of captivity, will be honorary grand marshal of the Ionia Free Fair's Aug. 4 inaugural parade.

* * *

Van Putten was plucked from the jungles just outside Saigon by a U.S. Helicopter 18 days after his escape.

* * *

The career soldier will also be a special guest at the fair's Governor's Day luncheon Aug 8.

A Look at TV

Flight Coverage Massive

By JERRY BUCK
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK — From countdown to splash-down, television's cameras will accompany the Apollo 11 astronauts to the surface of the moon and back.

Coverage plans of the historic flight are reaching historic proportions. During the critical phases of the moon landing the three networks will be on the air continuously for at least 30 hours.

Two hourlong previews of the flight will be offered tonight. NBC's special is at 7:30-8:30 p.m. and CBS's at 10-11 p.m.

Coverage of the lift-off, set for 8:32 a.m. (Pontiac time) Wednesday, begins in the early morning.

PROGRESS REPORTS

Regular progress reports will be aired throughout the flight by the television and radio networks.

The Apollo is to send back the first of at least seven live transmissions for 15 minuts at 6:32 p.m. Thursday. All of the transmissions will be in color except for those from the lunar module on the moon.

On Sunday, as the lunar module Eagle prepares to separate from the command module Columbia, the networks will begin approximately 30 hours of continuous coverage. ABC comes on at 11 a.m. for 30 hours of coverage and CBS and NBC at 10 a.m. for 31 hours.

The extended coverage, which ends at 5 p.m. Monday, will take the mission through the descent of the Eagle, the landing, the walk on the moon, lift-off from the lunar surface and docking with the Columbia.

TOUCHDOWN TIME

The lunar module is scheduled to touch down on the moon at 3:23 p.m. Sunday, but astronaut Neil A. Armstrong will not leave the craft and set foot on the moon until 1:21 a.m. the next morning.

He is to be joined by astronaut Edwin E. (Buzz) Aldrin Jr. for a 2-hour-and-40-minute exploration of the area around the capsule. Astronaut Michael Collins will remain aboard the orbiting Columbia.

When Armstrong steps out of the module, an automatic black and white television camera in the descent stage will be activated to transmit pictures of the first footstep on the moon.

A special Trendex survey commissioned by ABC estimates that nearly 50 per cent of the U.S. viewers will stay up for the moon walk. In other parts of the world it will be daylight and hundreds of millions of people in Europe, Africa and Asia are expected to witness the event by satellite television.

CONSTANT VIEW

Armstrong is scheduled to take the camera out of the descent stage and set it on a tripod 25 feet from the lunar module for a constant view of the astronauts working on the moon.

Obviously, during the period of extended coverage Sunday and Monday there will be long hours between activities. So the networks are lining up all kinds of attractions, from scientific reproductions of the moon's surface to science fiction to moonlight and romance.

* * *

Here is a sample of some of the plans:

On CBS, former President Lyndon B. Johnson will discuss his role in the space program, and Orson Welles will discuss the relevance of science fiction.

Duke Ellington is composing a piece of original music on the moon landing for ABC. The network also is setting up a special telephone system so that viewers around the nation can question newsmen about the moon mission. The most pertinent queries will be answered on the air.

NBC will try again to show the Apollo in flight, through the 16-inch telescope at the Fernbank Science Center in DeKalb County, Ga. Van Heflin, James Earl Jones and Julie Harris will read from the letters and journals of famous explorers. Danny Kaye, in his first television appearance in three years, will cohost a portion of the coverage.

Township Hits Pop Festivals

Court Ruling Sought on Saugatuck Zoning

SAUGATUCK (AP) — Within 10 days or two weeks, Saugatuck Township officials will go to court in an effort to deliver a knockout blow to any future pop music festivals in this Lake Michigan resort community.

James E. Townsend, a Holland attorney who represents the township, said Monday he is preparing legal documents to determine whether beachfront properties may be used for such festivals without violating the township's zoning code.

* * *

He said both plots of land where more than 10,000 youths poured in to attend a music festival over the Fourth of July weekend are actually zoned for residential or farming use. However, he said one parcel has a nonconforming-use permit because swimming privileges were rented by the owner before the code went into effect.

The legal action was decided upon by the township board after nearly 200 residents protested the property's use for the music festival.

LICENSE, BOND

The board said it also plans to consider requiring a license for any similar festivals and possibly a bond in case of damage.

At least two property owners, Albert Hinson and Ron Joosma, told the board they were forced to defend their land at gunpoint during the last festival against what they described as invading motorcycle gangs and groups of hippies.

* * *

Allegan County officials also have been urged to consider ordinances to prevent future festivals. Townsend said "direct action and regulation is probably a matter of township control," but there would be no objection if county officials took regulatory action too.

AMA Hears Duke Psychiatrist

Sex Among Elderly to Rise?

NEW YORK (AP) — A Duke University psychiatrist says it is quite possible that sexual activity among elderly persons will show a definite increase in the future.

The ability for sexual activity among the elderly is already appreciable at ages even beyond 75, Dr. Ewald W. Busse said today in a report to a symposium, "Physical Fitness and Aging," at the annual convention of the American Medical Association.

* * *

"Assuming that the health of the elderly will continue to improve, and assuming that neurotic sexual conflicts will be less prevalent, it is quite possible that sexual activity among the elderly in the years ahead will show a definite increase," Busse said.

He led up to his forecast by saying the situation at present is this:

● In general, sexual activity between marital partners tends to be maintained until after the age of 75.

● Approximately 60 per cent of married couples between the ages of 60 and 74 years of age remain sexually active.

● After age 75, sexual activity declines, so as to include only 30 per cent of married couples that age.

INTERACTING FACTORS

But, he said, the continuation of sexual activity is dependent upon several interacting factors, adding:

"Among the married, the physical and mental health of the partner is important—as are the patterns of sexual interest and activity that have been established in early adulthood.

At the same session, Dr. Lawrence E. Lamb of Baylor College of Medicine, Houston, Tex. —one of the world's pioneering centers in heart transplant research—criticized "the theatrics of artificial hearts and transplants."

* * *

"While a few surgeons make headlines with human experimentation,' he said, "the real battle against disease, death and debility is being waged in the unglamorous area of preventing heart disease . . . "if the money spent on the artificial heart was spent on really launching a preventive program, thousands of lives could be saved."

LIVING PATTERNS

He also said: "Preliminary studies suggest that changes in living patterns can decrease heart attacks by 50 per cent, a very significant observation when compared to heart transplants in which 90 out of the first 95 transplants were dead within five months."

Dr. Lamb named no names in saying that "artificial hearts and heart transplants . . . have produced an abundance of headlines and little else other than notoriety for a few surgeons."

* * *

But he is on the staff of the same medical school as Dr. Denton A. Cooley, who holds the world's record for the number of heart transplant operations.

Cooley was also on the AMA convention program. He disclosed in an interview Monday that he and an associate have developed a new and apparently improved artificial heart device, and that it should be ready for use within six weeks.

About 22,500 doctors are attending the five-day convention. The AMA says it represents about 66 per cent of the nation's 325,000 doctors.

Time to Face Facts About Drug Use, Abuse

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Dr. Einstein, a clinical psychologist, is executive director of the Institute for the Study of Drug Addictions and editor of the International Journal of Addictions.)

By STANLEY EINSTEIN Ph.D.
(Written for NEA)

NEW YORK — More drugs are being used by more people today in the United States than ever before. There are more drugs in existence and more of them are available than ever before.

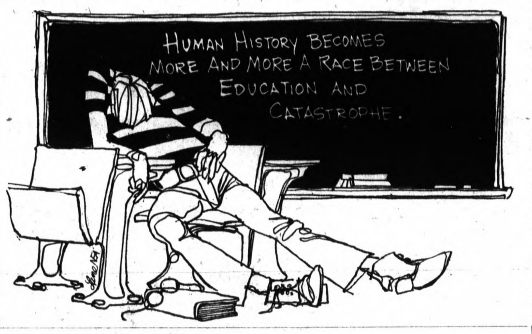
And many drugs are being misused because as a people we are too willing to turn to things — to the world of chemical objects — rather than to people to meet many of our needs.

★ ★ ★

Not so long ago, drug abuse was associated with slum life, economic and social poverty and with some ethnic groups. We felt secure about our children, friends and relatives when we read about Negroes, Puerto Ricans or Mexican-Americans being arrested for drug use or the sale of drugs.

Today we know drug use knows no boundaries. Last year, in surveys done with college students in California, more than 40 per cent acknowledged use of some drugs and plans to continue drug use after graduation.

But if the use of drugs has spread from the ghetto to the nicer parts of the city and to the town, the suburb, college campus and even high school, then it is time to learn the true answers to some basic questions.



● What are drugs?

A major source of confusion about "the drug problem" arises from the differences between the scientific definition and society's definition.

★ ★ ★

The most often used definitions come from medicine and the law. Medically, a drug is something which a physician prescribes for a specific and limited use. It is given for either the treatment and prevention of illness, for the relief of pain, or to restore us to a state of well-being.

The law generally equates drugs with habit-forming or addicting substances against which we must be protected. Such protection results from the control of a drug's manufacture, distribution, use and possession.

PROHIBITION LESSON

But we sadly learned during Prohibition that the forces of law and medicine could not solve America's drinking problems. And we are learning this again today about drugs. As more laws are passed to control drug missure and as more treatment facilities are opened, the number of visible drug users and addicts increases.

Obviously, a medical-legal definition of drugs can't help us. A broad, unbiased definition could help us understand how many people have a drug problem and how better to cope with it.

By such a definition, a drug could be anything which by its chemical makup could offset the structure as well as the functioning of a living organism.

★ ★ ★

This definition forces us to consider as drugs not only addicting substances such as opiates and barbiturates, but also to include alcohol, tobacco and even food. It forces us to recognize that substances are classified and our reactions to them are determined according to their social usage during any given period of time.

ACCEPTED DRUGS

Alcohol, which is a dangerous drug, is seen and accepted as a social beverage. Cigarettes and marijuana, becuase of their active chemical ingredients, are both drugs, but we don't see cigarettes as being a drug.

★ ★ ★

Our unbiased definition forces us to face up to three facts:

First, a great majority of our nation's population is involved in drug use and even misuse.

★ ★ ★

Second, the answers to the drug problem can only occur in the social arena — among ourselves — not in the medical-legal one, nor even the scientific one.

And third, our solutions and responses are for a specific time—not forever.

● Who uses and misuses drugs?

The answer to this question is quite simple—all sorts of people: young ones, old ones; males, females; marrieds, singles; the well and the not so well.

★ ★ ★

● What are the consequences of drug misuse?

There are a number of important consequences to be considered in evaluating drug misuses — physical, mental, social, economic and legal. Most of us tend simply to lump all of this together and make a quick decision about a drug—it is or isn't dangerous.

New War Raging in Central America

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP) — A new undeclared war raged in Central America today between Honduras and El Salvador, with each accusing the other of aggression. The Organization of American States ordered a peace team down from Washington.

Honduran authorities charged that Salvadorean ground forces invaded Honduras yesterday at two points, and that Salvadorean planes made widespread attacks. Unconfirmed reports said seven cities were bombed.

★ ★ ★

A dispatch from Guatemala, which borders both countries said Salvadorean officials reported some 1,000 Honduran troops had crossed the border into El Salvador. Sources in Tegucigalpa said the Honduran air force's World War II Corsairs also crossed the frontier and ran into heavy antiaircraft fire.

President Fidel Sanchez Hernandez of El Salvador held a three-hour emergency meeting with his cabinet, then announced he had ordered his army "to exercise the right of legitimate defense."

ORDERED INTO ACTION

A government statement, broadcast from San Salvador, said the Salvadorean forces had been ordered into action after "continuous attacks by Honduran troops on the Salvadorean frontier, violation of air space and the knowledge that Honduran troops and air force personnel had mobilized in Santa Rosa de Lima for a large-scale attack."

Two Honduran towns reportedly suffered a "high" number of casualties from the Salvadorean air attacks. They were Ocotepeque, a town of about 5,000 and Santa de Copan, with 9,500 residents.

★ ★ ★

The Honduran government said Salvadorean ground troops invaded the country at Amatillo from the south and Poy from the west. The government said Salvadorean planes dropped bombs on Honduran army and air force installations near the international airport in Tegucigalpa.

In Washington, Jorge Fidel Duron, Honduran representative to the Organization of American States, told a special OAS meeting that Salvadorean troops had penetrated 40 miles inside Honduras. He said some of the troops used the Pan American Highway.

PEACE TEAM

The OAS ordered a peace team into the two countries at once. The team was expected in the area tonight.

The Salvadorean representative to the OAS, Julio A. Rivera, told the OAS council that the Honduran reports of Salvadorean invasion were only a "curtain of smoke" to hide "genocide" against some 15,000 Salvadoreans who have moved into neighboring Honduras.

★ ★ ★

Honduras and El Salvador have been at odds for years, mainly over border territory, but the most serious recent flare-up occurred last month over the three-game series to determine which country's soccer team would participate in the World Cup matches.

There were fights between Hondurans and El Salvadoreans, both on and off the field during the first two games, after the second game Honduras broke off diplomatic relations with El Salvador.

★ ★ ★

World Cup officials then ordered the deciding game played on a neutral field in Mexico City. El Salvador won the final game, 3-2, on June 27.

Compromise Pushed

ABM Gets Boost

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Winston L. Prouty's announcement of support for the Safeguard program has moved the administration close to Senate approval of the missile defense system—but critics still are plugging for a compromise.

Sen. George D. Aiken, like Prouty a Vermont Republican, says by giving a little ground the administration could command 60 of the 100 Senate votes rather than taking a chance on a one or two vote victory.

★ ★ ★

The latest Associated Press poll shows the Senate evenly split, 49 opposed and 49 for the antiballistic missile-ABM-program as proposed by the administration.

Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., has not committed himself and Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N. H., now says he also is uncommitted.

McIntyre had been listed as opposed to ABM because he has offered an amendment which the administration has not endorsed.

AGNEW BREAKS TIE

A tie vote would be broken by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, as presiding officer of the Senate, in favor of the administration.

Related Story, Page A-10

Aiken, who has announced his opposition to the ABM proposal as it stands, suggested the administration could pick up 10 votes if any agreement could be reached on the sites for building Safeguard radars and computers—without arming them with missiles until later. The senator noted that ABM proponents have said there is no intention of installing missiles in the next three years.

Aiken conceded that Democratic leader Mike Mansfield and other hard-core ABM opponents probably wouldn't be swayed because they want any development and testing to be in the Pacific rather than at proposed missile sites in the United States.

Aiken said he thinks the proposal by McIntyre for construction of only radars and computers on the two sites in Montana and North Dakota picked by the administration needs "further refinement."

WON'T CONCEDED WIN

Refusing to concede that the administration can win as matters stand, Aiken said he had anticipated Prouty's support of the program.

Hospital's Board Born in Controversy

Created because of a controversy, the Pontiac General Hospital Board of Trustees 17 years later finds itself embroiled in another issue — the dismissal of Harold B. Euler, hospital director for 11 years.

Early in 1952 the City Commission, yielding to pressures from a number of organizations complaining about the management of the hospital, gave up its authority and placed the operation of the facility in the hands of a seven-member board of trustees.

Four years later, the commission, following the recommendation of a consulting firm, expanded the board to 11 members.

★ ★ ★

GIVE MORE TIME

The organization contended that a board of trustees could devote more time to the day-to-day operation of the hospital than either the City Commission or the city manager.

Financial and operational problems had beset the city hospital for a number of years prior to the decision to give over the reins to a hospital board.

★ ★ ★

Four years earlier, in April 1948, an Ann Arbor consultant had recommended that the hospital operation be divorced from city government, but nothing had come of the proposal.

Under the city ordinance by which it was established, the board of trustees is an autonomous group, answerable to the City Commission only on financial matters.

STAGGERED TERMS

Members of the board are appointed by the City Commission to four-year terms on a staggered basis, and can only be removed from office by a vote of not less than four members of the City Commission. No member of the board can be in the medical profession.

Officers of the board — chairman, vice chairman, secretary and treasurer — are elected each year by fellow board members following a report by a nominating committee.

★ ★ ★

The committee is one of a half-dozen on which board members serve. Others are finance, personnel, public relations, building and long-term planning.

Most active are the finance and personnel committees, which meet regularly while the others meet only on call.

ONCE A MONTH

The entire board, by law, must meet at least once a month, normally the third Thursday.

With all of its power, the board, however, has direct control only over the hospital administrator among the personnel and staff members. It can both hire and fire the administrator without confirmation by the City Commission. All other employes of the hospital come under the direction of the administrator.

Dems Pushing for Tax Reform

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than a half dozen Democratic senators have served notice they will offer a broad series of tax reform amendments to the income surtax extension bill.

The announcement appeared to apply the padlock after Democratic leader Mike Mansfield virtually closed the door yesterday on any chance for final action on the surtax extension bill before Congress starts its summer recess Aug. 13.

By proposing a series of amendments, the Democrats could launch the finance committee into the time-consuming area of major tax reform.

The committee, after its final public hearing today on the provisions in the House-passed surtax bill, goes into executive session Thursday to discuss what to do on tax reform.

Mansfield said there appeared no chance that a bill combining comprehensive reform and a surtax extension could clear the finance committee by the August congressional recess.

Democrats seeking wide changes in the surtax legislation include Philip A. Hart of Michigan.

String of Scorchers Seen Till Saturday

Little relief may be expected from 90-degree temperatures before Saturday.

The weatherman predicts temperatures will average eight degrees above normal until then, with highs from 87 to 93, and lows from 67 to 71 for the next five days.

★ ★ ★

There's a chance of late afternoon or evening thunder-showers tomorrow, and thundershowers are likely Thursday.

Today's variable winds at 5 to 15 miles per hour will become south to southwest at 15 to 18 miles tomorrow.

★ ★ ★

Probabilities of precipitation are near zero today, 10 per cent tonight and 20 per cent tomorrow.

Sixty-six was the low temperature before 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac. The mercury had soared to 89 by 12:30 p.m.

Confident Astronauts Ready to Go

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The three astronauts are ready to fly to the moon. They say they are not afraid. They are confident their spaceship and training will see them through.

The rocket that will vault them is receiving the final servicing for lift-off at 8:32 a.m. (Pontiac time) tomorrow. The weather outlook is good.

"The three of us have no fear of launching out on this expedition," said Neil A. Armstrong, set to become earth's first messenger on the moon. "I'm sure that American ingenuity and American craftsmanship have given us the best equipment that can be made available. We are happy to be ready to fly.

Armstrong appeared at a televised news conference last night with Edwin E. Aldrin Jr., who will follow him down the steps of their moon landing craft, and Michael Collins, who will orbit overhead awaiting their return.

MILLION PERSONS EXPECTED

About a million persons are expected at this moonport to see the launching.

The precise Apollo 11 flight plan calls for going into moon orbit at 12:26 p.m. EST Saturday, undocking the lunar lander from the mother ship 24 hours later, and touching down on the moon at 3:19 p.m. Sunday.

But the two astronauts will have to wait before making their self-televised imprint on the moon. First they must check the systems to propel them back up to the orbiting mother ship with Collins aboard, then try to sleep for four hours.

Man's first step on the moon is set for 1:17 a.m. next Monday.

'SOUND SLEEP UNLIKELY'

"I suspect I'll be surprised if I'm able to get a sound sleep on the lunar surface," said Armstrong, who has been given sleeping pills for that purpose. "Fortunately our flight plan doesn't require that. We'll have had adequate rest on the night before and the night after the night in question, and I think even if my worst suspicions are true, we'll be in fine shape."

Their only hope of rescue is Collins, coming overhead every two hours in the immutable laws of space travel. He has the ability, at a tremendous cost in valuable fuel, of coming down within 9 miles of the surface.

★ ★ ★

"We would be prepared to go down to the absolute limit," said Collins. "It would be a decision that would be up to mission control."

'Rusk Didn't Tell LBJ of Ho Feeler'

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Johnson said Dean Rusk, his secretary of state, did not tell him about a 1964 peace feeler from North Vietnam for two years, Norman Cousins reports this week in two magazines.

Cousins, editor of the Saturday Review, told of the incident in an article published jointly in his magazine and Look.

★ ★ ★

U Thant, secretary general of the United Nations, sent a letter to Hi Chi Minh North Vietnam's president, in the fall of 1964, asking for peace talks, Cousins said. This was before the U.S. began bombing North Vietnam.

Three weeks later, North Vietnam told Thant it would enter secret talks, and Thant told Adlai Stevenson, American ambassador to the United Nations, who told Rusk, according to the article.

COUSINS' STORY

Cousins told this story:

In early 1965 Stevenson told Thant "the State Department was reluctant to enter into negotiations at that time because it feared talks might result in the collapse of the South Vietnamese government."

President Johnson first learned of the feeler when he and Rusk met Thant at the United Nations on Oct. 7, 1966, and Thant asked the President why he had never responded to the offer. Johnson "said this episode was a new book to him and that he was hearing about it for the first time."

★ ★ ★

Johnson turned and asked Rusk if he knew about the matter. Rusk said Stevenson had not been authorized to reject negotiations, but he did not say whether the ambassador had been empowered to accept them.

Cousins said he gained the information through conversations with those who were involved.

County Unit Offers to Buy Transfer Site

BIRMINGHAM — The City Commission received an offer from the Oakland County Incinerator Authority last night for purchase of property on Collidge Avenue as a rubbish-transfer site.

The price will be contingent upon the acreage for which the city can supply title insurance. The parcel will probably be in about 10 acres. Price has been set at $15,750 per acre.

A commission spokesman said the city and the incinerator authority are now in agreement on all but the price in the long-debated transfer station issue.

That is expected to be determined at the commission meeting next Monday.

NO RIGHT TURN

In other business, the commission agreed to install a no-right turn sign at the Yorkshire-Coolidge intersection and to establish a four-way stop at the St. Andrews-Dorchester intersection.

The action was taken in response to a demand by the Pembroke Manor Property Owners Association that the commission do something about traffic difficulties in the subdivision, which arose since the start of a construction project on Maple between Coolidge and Crooks.

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Arrangements have been made to permit Beverly Hills and Bingham Farms residents to use the Bloomfield Township Public Library beginning Aug. 1.

Residents will use cards obtained at the Baldwin Public Library in Birmingham.

The two villages previously had contract arrangements with Baldwin. The two libraries, in turn, have had contracts with each other.

The new arrangement will give residents of Beverly Hills and Bingham Farms access to an additional 40,000 volumes, as well as a closer building, according to Director H. G. Johnston.

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The Cranbrook Institute of Science will begin a class on "Land, Water, and Sky" for youngster who have completed fourth, fifth or sixth grade beginning July 28 at the Institute.

The class will meet Mondays and Wednesdays from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. through Aug. 20. The fee is $20.

Gulf Stream Study Is Launched in Sub

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — With her portholes glowing like green coals, the research submarine Ben Franklin and her crew of six slipped beneath the black waters of the Atlantic last night to begin a 30-day, 1,200-mile undersea journey along the Gulf Stream.

"Here we go," yelled Donald J. Kazimir, captain of the bussized submarine as it sank in 1,800 feet of water 10 hours after being towed 20 miles out to sea.

★ ★ ★

Also aboard the Grumman Aircraft Corp.-U.S. Navy sponsored vessel were Jacques Piccard, the Swiss scientist who designed her; Erwin Aebersold, another Swiss who is chief pilot; oceanographer Roswell F. Busby of Fort Washington, Md.; English scientist Kenneth Haigh; and American scientist Chester B. May of Huntsville, W. Va.

★ ★ ★

The mission plan called for the Ben Franklin to sit on the bottom at 1,800 feet for two hours to calibrate her instruments, then rise to 600 feet and drift north with the Gulf Stream, gathering biological and geophysical data.

It will also test the ability of men to live for long periods of time in confined quarters.

★ ★ ★

Tomorrow afternoon, the Ben Franklin should be off Cape Kennedy a few hours after the Apollo 11 astronauts rocket toward the moon. There the decision will be made whether to give the sub's crew the go-ahead for the 30-day mission.

★ ★ ★

The trip is planned to end with the submarine surfacing 200 miles southeast of Boston.

The executions were carried out in the village, located 60 miles northeast of Rome, in 1944, when the Most Rev. Matthias Defregger, 53, was a German officer. He became a priest in 1949.

Soviet Luna 15 Is Past Halfway Point in Flight

From Our News Wires

MOSCOW — The Soviet Luna 15 streaked toward the lunar surface today, well past the halfway point of its mission.

Luna 15 is expected to reach the vicinity of the moon about the time the U.S. Apollo 11 astronauts begin their voyage to put the first man on the moon.

★ ★ ★

The craft was launched Sunday.

All was silence from the Soviet craft and monitors at Britain's Jodrell Bank Observatory said they had received no signals since Sunday.

Soviet cosmonaut Maj. Gen. Georgi Beregovoi said in a news conference in Helsinki "it may take samples of lunar soil or it may try to solve the problems of a return from the moon surface."

Beregovoi's suggestion seemed to confirm reports in Moscow that the Soviets would try to dim the glory of Apollo 11 a bit.

★ ★ ★

Some experts saw in the Russians' unmanned vehicle an attempt to pluck soil samples from the moon and return them before the Apollo 11 astronauts can deliver theirs eight days after lift-off.

Asked if he would be disappointed if the Russians first snared lunar dirt, U.S. astronaut Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. said yesterday:

"I'm sure all of us would. We'd like to return with everything we set out to do on this flight."

VC Plans Step-Up to Pressure Nixon

PARIS (AP) — The head of the Vietcong delegation to the Paris peace talks declared today attacks are being stepped up in South Vietnam "to oblige President Nixon to change his attitude" and, if necessary, the war could go on as long as 20 years.

Mrs. Nguyen Tri Binh, chief of the Vietcong delegation, made her remarks in an interview as the North Vietnam delegation rejected the latest election proposals of President Nguyen Van Theiu of South Vietnam. The Vietcong previously announced its rejection.

★ ★ ★

In Saigon, Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky said if the other side finally rejects Thieu's plan, South Vietnam should walk out of the Paris peace talks. But he added this was his personal opinion.

★ ★ ★

In Phu Bai, Thieu told a meeting of South Vietnamese regional and popular forces he expected an increase in Vietcong terrorism in areas that his government is trying to pacify.

ELECTION PROPOSAL

Thieu proposed Friday that all political factions in South Vietnam, including the Vietcong's National Liberation Front, join in elections held under international supervision. South Vietnam will formally present the plan to the peace talks Thursday.

★ ★ ★

Thieu urged the Vietcong leaders yesterday to reconsider their rejection until his plan was presented formally to the Paris talks.

Mrs. Binh, in an interview with the Paris newspaper Figaro, did not mention Thieu's plan directly, since her delegation previously denounced it as a fraud.

She asserted, however, that the Americans are playing a double game, "intensifying their operations and manipulating Thieu, while in Paris they talk of peace and nonintervention."

★ ★ ★

She then remarked that the Vietcong was stepping up its struggle in South Vietnam to force Nixon to change his attitude.

Panel Hears Bishop Urge Parochiaid

DETROIT (AP) — A Catholic bishop urged yesterday that parochial schools be given financial help by the state partly because they carry on "an ancient American tradition of keeping God and prayer in the school."

"Religiously oriented schools, if kept afloat with a little state help, can produce youngsters with moral orientation to take their traditional place in the American democracy," declared Auxiliary Bishop Thomas J. Gumbleton of the Detroit archdiocese.

★ ★ ★

Bishop Gumbleton was one of some 35 persons appearing before the Governor's Commission on Educational Reform at a public hearing in Detroit.

The commission is a blue ribbon-group that has been asked to draw up a blueprint of recommendations for legislative and administrative steps to improve Michigan's educational system.

★ ★ ★

Bishop Gumbleton said that the question of parochiaid boils down to a matter of whether taxpayers want a large tax increase through letting nonpublic schools expire or whether they want to make a modest investment in nonpublic education as a means of saving large sums in the future.

Early Segregation of School Is Told

DETROIT (UPI) — A long-time resident of Royal Oak Township testified yesterday that Negro children were transferred from another school to the Ferndale School District's all-black Grant School when it was built in 1926.

Mrs. Mary Morris, 70, whose children attended Grant School, testified at a Department of Health, Education and Welfare hearing which opened yesterday.

★ ★ ★

The hearings will look into federal charges the district illegally discriminated against pupils at Grant School. If discrimination is found, federal aid for the suburban Detroit district could be cut off.

Exam Set for 2 in Police Scuffle

Bond was set at $500 each for two Pontiac black community workers yesterday pending examination on charges of resisting arrest during a scuffle with police last week.

Elick Shorter, 25, director of education for the Pontiac Area Urban League, and Kenneth Walker, 27, a Harambee employe, will face July 24 examination before District Court Judge Cecil McCallum. Walker will be tried July 23 on a separate charge of creating a disturbance.

Both men stood mute on all charges at their arraignment yesterday. They had been freed earlier at an informal arraignment on personal bond.

The arrests stemmed from a July 10 incident at the Hayes Jones Center, where Patrolmen Raymond Hawks and Carl Yuill were making a "goodwill" visit.

Hawks and Yuill said they were met at the center with shouted obscenities. When they tried to arrest Walker for his alleged taunts, the tussle started, according to Police Chief William K. Hanger.

Walker and Shorter both suffered head injuries.

Witnesses denied obscenitites were used, but said someone may have called the policemen "white pigs." They claim several officers jumped Shorter when he tried to act as a peacemaker and stop the scuffling.

Pressures 22 Pct. Below Specified Level

C54 Wing Cracks in Test on Ground

WASHINGTON (AP) — The controversial C5A supertransport has suffered what could be its first major test failure—a wing cracking under pressures 22 per cent below the contract-specified level.

The Air Force disclosed yesterday the wing cracked during ground static tests of a C5A airframe minus tail assembly at the Marietta, Ga., plant of the Lockheed Georgia Co.

★ ★ ★

The impact of the break on the over-all program, and why it occurred, is being assessed by the Air Force and company engineers. Completed models will continue test flights in the meantime.

The C5A—world's largest air transport—has been the focus of considerable criticism in Congress because of soaring expense.

COSTS ESCALATE

Under original plans, the Air Force intended in 1965 to buy 120 models for $3.1 billion but that has escalated by $1.5 billion, according to official estimates.

In the face of the criticism, a major Pentagon argument has been that the plane has been meeting or exceeding virtually all contract specifications.

The 230-foot jet plane, capable of carrying tanks, helicopters, trucks and troops, recently made its first cross-country flight and appeared to be performing highly satisfactorily.

On Sunday, however, came the wing crack.

While the nose and tail were held down, a special test rig forced the wings upward in a trial of their strength. Then the break occurred in a wing near the point where it joins the fuselage.

★ ★ ★

Specifically, the crack occurred under pressures amounting to 128 per cent of the design load limit, which is 738,000 pounds. The Air Force said the contract calls for the company to demonstrate that the airframe can withstand 150 per cent of the load limit.

★ ★ ★

The idea of using pressures beyond 100 per cent of the load limit is to "verify the additional margin of safety," the Air Force said.

The static tests help engineers calculate stress distributions and show the ability of the airframe to sustain ultimate loads under critical conditions.

PREVIOUS 100 PCT TEST

The Air Force said the airframe was "tested satisfactorily" to 100 per cent of its load limit some time ago.

★ ★ ★

A Pentagon spokesman said the Federal Aviation Agency requires a demonstration of only 100 per cent of the load limit.

"So, put in that context, the crack at 128 per cent doesn't seem so serious," the spokesman said. But he acknowledged that, viewed from the contract requirement, the problem takes on a different light.

State Road Board to Get M59 Plea

Pressing for improvements on M59, county officials are hopeful they may get a hearing before the State Highway Commission.

The hope stems from a meeting yesterday with State Highway Director Henrik Stafseth in Lansing.

Supervisor E. Frank Richardson, R-Waterford Township, who served as chairman of the county's special road committee at the meeting, said he was "hopeful" priorities could yet be moved up to hasten widening of M59 west of Pontiac.

Ricardson said his committee asked specifically that the start of improvements covering on 1.9 miles of M59 from Airport Road to Williams Lake Road be moved up to this fall from March 1970.

'SAVE A SEASON'

"This would save one full construction season and eliminate one year of detours while work on M59 is in progress," he said.

Also being sought is an earlier start on the widening of M59 from Williams Lake Road to the west county line.

The first stretch, 4.5 miles west from Williams Lake Road, is scheduled for preliminary engineering and right-of-way acquistion by the State Highway Department in 1973. Construction would start in 1974 and would not be completed until 1976.

"This would be an intolerable delay," Richardson said.

★ ★ ★

On the advice of Stafseth, he plans to write to John Osmer, secretary of the State Highway Commission, to arrange a meeting.

The presentation to Stafseth consisted of a study made by Deputy County Planner Thomas Fitzpatrick. The study detailed the growth along M59, the county's northerly east-west corridor to justify its immediate improvement.

PRESSURE ON STATE

Sol D. Lomerson, chairman of the County Road Commission, attorney Leroy McEntee and Paul Van Roekel, highway engineer, all have maintained pressure on the state to advance the schedule for M59 improvements.

Key Legal Aide Enters Detroit's Race for Mayor

DETROIT (AP) — A top city legal aide yesterday jumped into the Detroit mayoral contest with a harsh blast at the three Common Council members who have announced or are expected to announce their candidacies.

Thomas H. Gallagher, 49, chief assistant corporation council, filed for the primary and charged Mary Beck, Ed Carey and Mel Ravitz all with seeking the "hypocrite vote." Miss Beck and Carey have announced their candidacy.

★ ★ ★

Calling himself a "Truman Democrat," Gallagher criticized law and order campaigns which he said the three favored. He called for helping the poor and tempering law and order with justice.

"Any person who is head of a household and is bringing in less than $10,000 a year is dirt poor," he said.

He also took a shot at the three council members for vetoing Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh's request for more policemen in light of their calls for law and order.

"The future of this city is in bondage, thanks to them," he said. "They can't govern themselves and yet they want to govern the city."

Senate Will Study Smut, Property Tax

LANSING (AP) — Pornography and property taxes will be among topics occupying the minds of Michigan senators this summer as the Legislature recesses and special committee studies get under way.

★ ★ ★

The Senate gave its approval Monday to several resolutions authorizing studies by committees that will function during the summer recess, expected to begin later this week, and report their findings to the 1970 Legislature.

One committee, suggested by Sen. James Fleming, R-Jackson, will probe "the manufacture, display, sale and distribution of obscene and pornographic materials."

MATERIAL INCREASE CITED

The resolution cites "a tremendous increase in the quantity of obscene and pornographic materials available to the people of this state" and says such literature "may have an unknown evil and criminal affect on the minds and actions of our people and in particular the minors of our populace."

Fleming, who sponsored antipornography legislation this year that failed to make it through the House, was expected to be named chairman of the study committee. If so, he said, the group would begin its investigation with public hearings.

★ ★ ★

A second committee, meanwhile, will delve into property tax administration. And such problems as changes in assessments which may not be brought to the attention of the taxpayers until too late for relief and unequal per capita assessed valuations in taxing districts, particularly school districts....

Procedures and methods used in local equalization of assessments also are in line for Senate study.

Senate taxation chairman Harry DeMaso, R-Battle Creek — believes the legislature should consider doing away with some property tax exemptions before adopting new or higher levies—sponsored this study resolution.

The measure cites "numerous complaints.....by members of the Michigan Legislature regarding the equalization of assessments by local assessors and by local assessing procedures.

"The very foundation of a sound and equitable tax structure depends upon complete uniformity in assessing and equalization of assessments," it says.

'ROCHESTER JUNCTION'—A new concept in retailing—a minishopping center housed in old rialroad cars—opened yesterday in Rochester. The center now includes a restaurant and a discount drugstore. Eventually, the developers hope to attract boutiques, antique shops, probably an old-fashioned ice cream parlor and other related browsing shops to the six-car center. Rick Worthington spent the day ushering motorists into the center.

Rochester Balks at Construction Firm's Proposal

ROCHESTER — The Roger Au Construction Co. tried to sweeten its approach with a $1,000 contribution to the centennial celebration, but city fathers last night balked at the condition on the gift.

The firm asked the council to allow open cut ditching for its various construction projects in the city, a variance from the tunnel ditching done heretofore. In return, the construction company would donate $1000 toward the centennial celebration.

★ ★ ★

An Au representative explained that savings of $4,000 per ditch could be realized by the company if the city would grant the request. In addition, the company spokesman said that open cut ditching would be completed faster.

Rochester Urban Renewal Director Bob Smalley described Au's performance so far as "complete lack of cooperation with the city."

EXPRESSES APPREHENSION

City Manager Bill Sinclair expressed apprehension in granting the Au request "because I fear we would have the same problems all over again."

City councilman John Boeberitz said he was "not anxious" to approve the Au request, for he did not want a packed council meeting when the Au firm did not work as speedily as promised and roads were blocked by construction crews once again.

★ ★ ★

"I think it's real nice that the firm has offered us $1,000 for our centennial, but we're not in the centennial business," snapped Councilman Thomas Case.

Council voted unanimously to table consideration of the Au request until the July 28 meeting. Meanwhile, City Manager Sinclair will study the request and make recommendation July 28.

New Supervisor Quits His Post in Milford Twp.

Caswell of 102 Detroit indicated that he was resigning "due to my added interest in northern Michigan." He has a home in Hillman.

★ ★ ★

There are no immediate plans to choose another supervisor, according to township Clerk Mrs. Geraldine Downes. The next scheduled board meeting is in August.

Caswell, 66, replaced township Supervisor Mrs. Roger S. Hubbell, who had resigned because of illness.

★ ★ ★

When hired, he had recently retired from Chevrolet Motor Division, where he was an assistant staff engineer in the engineering department.

Problems at Avon Library? Better Not Make Book on It

AVON TOWNSHIP — Despite rumors to the contrary, all is well at the Avon Township Free Public Library.

★ ★ ★

In the midst of the discussion on township and City-of-Rochester division of library assets, the library board had sought $1,069 in state aid.

The state aid was stalled in the State Library Department for several months when application figures submitted by the township board of trustees and the library board conflicted.

★ ★ ★

"The problem lay in the timing of funds' deposit and outgo," explained Library Board Treasurer Hudson G. Hill. "The township would pay its bills on the first of the month and we would show payment in our records in the middle of the month, for instance."

CHECK IN THE MAIL

Hill said the state accepted revised and final application for the $1,069 this week and that the check was in the mail.

★ ★ ★

Adding to the confusion at the time of the application for state aid was the quit claim deeds that reverted ownership of the library to Avon Township with the City of Rochester entering a district agreement. A ratio basis division of assets scheme would not legally permit a library district to be formed between the two governing bodies involved. For that reason, the quit claim deeds were drawn.

★ ★ ★

Also rumored this week was that the librarian, Miss Clara Bryce would be replaced. Miss Bryce and the board denied this rumor.

Water-Rate Hike Effect Is Mulled

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Common Council yesterday considered possible ways to modify its already-approved increase in water and sewer bills in the city. At issue are increases in water bills reportedly ranging from 10 to 100 per cent, hitting industrial users for as much as several thousand dollars a year more. Among the hardest hit would be Chrsyler Corp., whose increase would be an estimated $1.5 million.

★ ★ ★

No decisions on any changes were made.

Councilmen Nicholas Hood and Philip Van Antwerp said they favored the city running a deficit of about $5 million, with water rates increased half of what is needed to cover the bond issue for which they originally were increased.

6-MONTH HIKE

Councilmen Mel Ravitz and Louis Miriani both said they favored an interim six-month increase pending a more detailed look at long-term funding.

The rates were increased to pay off a $10-million bond issue which paid for sewer and drainage improvements. Such bond issues usually have been paid out of the general fund.

★ ★ ★

Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh asked for a three-mill property tax increase. Council rejected it in favor of the water bill hike, which it said it considered more equitable.

Site of 2 Drownings in Troy

Ditch to Be Fenced

TROY — Complete enclosure of the ditch and drain pipe in the Somerset Park Apartments complex that has taken the lives of two Troy youths is being planned.

"We've been talking with the Biltmore Co. people (developers of Somerset Park), and I think they will agree to anything the city comes up with," said Mayor Jule R. Famularo.

★ ★ ★

City commissioners last night received a report from City Manager Paul York regarding progress of a special assessment district possibility.

York reported that sample bids are beig sought and that cost estimates are being prepared in preliminary work toward the improvements.

PERMANENT GATE

Earlier York had told commissioners that he was in favor of constructing a permanent gate across the drain pipe and completely enclosing the ditch.

In other action last night Mayor Famularo proposed that the City Commission study a recently passed Detroit ordinance outlawing the carrying of loaded firearms within city limits.

★ ★ ★

"I don't believe even the state has a law prohibiting the carrying of loaded guns within city limits and I believe we need this law.

★ ★ ★

"It would not prohibit the legitimate sportsman from transporting his unloaded firearms from the city to the hunting grounds or the individual with a permit to carry a loaded weapon," said Mayor Famularo.

★ ★ ★

The matter will be on next Monday's agenda for further consideration.

Walled Lake Board OKs New Teacher Contract

WALLED LAKE — The Walled Lake School Board last night approved a master teachers contract calling for a $650 raise for beginning teachers with bachelor's degrees.

The new minimum salary for a beginning teacher is $7,500 while the new maximumm for a teacher with a masters degree is $13,358, up $1,254 from last year.

★ ★ ★

The teachers approved the contract reecntly by a five to one vote.

The contract calls for an increase of one working day for some 430 teachers in the Walled Lake system.

BAD-WEATHER DAYS

They will now be allowed to use their own discretion in deciding whether or not to attend school on inclement-weather days when children do not attend. Previously, any teacher who could get to school — but didn't — was charged with one day of sick leave.

The section on "professional behavior" was also strengthened with procedures set up to promote better cooperation between the teachers association and the administration.

Chairman of the board meeting was Mrs. Barbara Scully, newly elected president. A member of the board for the last eight years, she was president five years ago. The other new officers include Joseph Long, a board member for 21 years, vice president; John Clark, an 11-year board member, secretary; and Stuart Elwood, a third-year board member, treasurer.

The board accepted a report on the educational specifications for a junior high school drawn up by a citizen-and-staff committee.

COMMITTEE OF 85

The committee was authorized to prepare the specifications in late 1967 and has been working since. The group, composed of 85 laymen and professionals, formed committees to prepare specifications on the individual areas making up a junior high school.

Rolland Langerman, general chairman, noted that "It was decided to plan with the thought in mind that the specifications could be restudied and revised at a later date should the school district decide to move in the direction of a middle school concept."

Noteworthy features of the specifications include a learning materials center and a cafetorium. The center will be placed in a location easily accessible to all students. Resource materials will include books, periodicals, and audi-visual materials.

The cafetorium will include space for the student body to have meals in an area which can be easily turned into a large auditorium-type space. The committee urged that the dining area have movable partitions also so that the space can be divided into at least two parts.

REACTIVATION PLANNED

Langerman noted that when the time comes to actually begin building a new junior high school, the committee will be reactivated to revise or change specifications if necessary.

★ ★ ★

The specifications will be given to the architect designing the building.

★ ★ ★

Langerman predicted that a new junior high school will be needed about 1972.

"We try to stay ahead of the building program," he noted.

★ ★ ★

Currently there are 2,221 students attending the two junior high schools, now housing grades 7 through 9. When the new Western High School opens this fall all ninth graders will transfer to Western and Central high schools. Projected enrollment for the junior high schools this fall is 1,544 but is expected to rise to approximately 2,800 by 1972. Capacity of the two junior high schools is 2,300.

Lake in Barry County Claims Hastings Boy

HASTINGS (AP) — A five-year-old boy, Raymond Van Wee, of Hastings, drowned in Algonquin Lake in Barry County late yesterday.

Barry County sheriff's officers said the child was in the care of a baby sitter at the time. Police said that while the boy was wading, the baby sitter turned to care for another child and when she turned around the boy was missing.

Sheriff's police recovered the body a short time later.

God Speed Astronauts

Almost 12 years and $24 billion after Russia's Sputnik I pushed us into a space program, the United States is about to place men on the moon.

Russia has long since tossed in the towel on the moon business.

Aside from early attempts to land rockets there, the Reds soon saw they would finish second in the two-country race to the rocky craters. They chose to pursue different goals in space, seeking information on other planets rather than placing a man on the earth's satellite.

★ ★ ★

Sometimes the competition with the Russians produces worthwhile results. If not for Sputnik I and the other Russian space moves, what would have been our pace? With no spark fostered by the USSR, would we be ready to put a man on the moon tomorrow?

★ ★ ★

With or without the Reds, sooner or later, we would have reached this eve of the big day. But the moon landing is not the end of our space adventures. It may well be the beginning, and as significant as that first rocket that escaped earth's gravitational pull.

Successful completion of the moon landing project will really put us in the space travel era. But we must not discount the possibility that tomorrow's space flight might end in disaster instead of triumph. In addition to the fiery deaths of three astronauts right on our own planet, we have had several close calls already.

★ ★ ★

It is a tribute to our technology, training and selection procedures that we've been able to solve the problems which have occurred while men and their machines were aloft.

But tomorrow's escapade is more perilous than all the others. There is more room for error, miscalculation or malfunction than ever before.

There is no guarantee that the American "good guys" always win and never get hurt.

★ ★ ★

Agnostics and atheists may cross their fingers and hope, the rest of us will pray tonight for the continued safety of our courageous scientists.

★ ★ ★

As we all go about our normal chores tomorrow, let us be with that gallant trio in heart, if not in space.

College for Osteopaths Makes Tax Dollar Sense

Legislative committees and the State Board of Education have for years been reviewing the case for state support of osteopathic medical education. Official support of the Michigan College of Osteopathic Medicine (MCOM) is based on knowledge that Michigan taxpayers want family physicians and that colleges of osteopathic medicine produce more of them, economically, than other schools. Qualitatively, the physicians of either school of medicine are equals in the eyes of the federal government and are equally licensed by the State of Michigan.

★ ★ ★

It is known that we need more doctors, more accessible doctors, more general practitioners. The MD schools result in about 18 GPs per 100 graduates. The DO schools result in about 75 GPs per 100 graduates.

★ ★ ★

At Pontiac, the Michigan College of Osteopathic Medicine has a valuable site (164 acres contributed by Pontiac citizens) and buildings. These assets were privately financed and are worth $1.8 million. Michigan's osteopathic physicians are contributing a six-figure amount, annually, for ten years toward the development of MCOM. The founding classmen have been enrolled and will begin attending MCOM in September.

★ ★ ★

Investigation will show that Michigan DOs, who provide better than one third of the general practice physician care in Michigan got none of their professional training at the public's expense. Hitherto, their taxes have paid for the education of other professions, never their own.

'Right to Teach Sex Belongs to the Parents'

Too many board of education members think of the board as some sort of tin god in trying to push for sex classes in the schools. The right to teach sex belongs to the parents. There is nothing old-fashioned about sex. Witness the loose morals of the young since pornography started to be pushed in America under the guise of freedom. Witness the obscene telephone calls, the increase of rape, the increase of broken homes, etc. You don't find loose morals in Communist Russia because the Communists know loose morals would destroy Russia. They push loose morals in America to destroy America.

I am not a Pontiac property owner but I am a citizen from this area who uses the Pontiac General Hospital. If the board thinks they are right in what they did, let them speak up and not hide anything from the public. I suggest we check into the capabilities of the board members.

Music Key to Social Fabric

Archaeologists of the future, given only the recorded musical sounds of the 1960s, might do a fair job of reconstructing American life during this decade. The nervous tempo of rock, the persistence of musical idioms of the past, soul music, blatantly sexual love songs, protest songs—all these compose a medley of the times. Rock is the manifesto of the youth generation.

But music in America has become more than just a mirror to society. It has become big business—$2 billion a year in sales of records and instruments. Forty-four million Americans play musical instruments, twice as many as in 1950.

★ ★ ★

And it's not all kids. Broadcast Music, Inc., estimates that the average adult listens to two hours of music a day on radio alone. At times the sound of music seems to have penetrated every recess of livable space; it is more difficult to escape than to find.

★ ★ ★

Part of the picture of musical America is the summer music camp, where youngsters (and some adults, too) combine the usual outdoor activities of summer camp with musical instruction.

One of the best known is the National Music Camp at Interlochen, Mich., now in its 42nd summer. In past seasons as many as 150,000 aspiring musicians attended upwards of 400 summer camps. For those who can't attend, or don't care to, there's a proliferation of jazz, folk, country and bluegrass music festivals to attend.

NIETZSCHE, the philosopher, said it well: "Without music, life would be a mistake."

The task force is capable of firing missiles. It consists of eight ships — a guided-missile cruiser, two guided-missile destroyers, a submarine tender, two diesel submarines and two oilers.

Some reports say that the Moscow government has sent the ships to this area because a few American destroyers have been patrolling the Black Sea.

★ ★ ★

Whatever the reasons for the Soviet maneuver, it certainly has created uneasiness here and accentuates the importance of the proposed talks with the Soviets on arms limitation.

★ ★ ★

Every country has a right to send its war vessels into any ocean as long as they remain beyond the three-mile or 12-mile limit prescribed.

75 MILES AWAY

Thus far, the Soviet fleet has stayed at least 75 miles west of Key West, Fla., and is planning to go to Havana, presumably to attend the celebration of Cuba's national day on July 26.

★ ★ ★

President Monroe, 146 years ago, proclaimed the doctrine that the United States would not tolerate the establishment of a foothold in this hemisphere by any European country.

★ ★ ★

The Monroe Doctrine, as it is called, was respected for many decades. But within recent years, the Soviet government has defied it by establishing a foothold in Cuba.

★ ★ ★

The Russians may argue that they have a right to keep any country from establishing bases in Europe and that, in effect, if the United States is to have a free hand in keeping other nations from setting up bases in this hemisphere, then America ought to be prohibited from doing the same thing in Europe.

MAINTAINS ARMIES

But the Soviet government maintains armies of occupation in the Communist-bloc countries of Eastern Europe in defiance of the settlements reached at the end of World War II.

The time has come to make clear to the government in Moscow that it must detach itself not only from Cuba but from any other country in this hemisphere. For the principles behind the Monroe Doctrine are still valid as a means of protecting the peoples of the Western Hemisphere against military conquest by any European or Asian power.

★ ★ ★

There can be little trust in Soviet pledges about maintaining peace while funds and military equipment are being shipped to Cuba, and a Soviet fleet cruises in waters off our shores with vessels capable of firing missiles which could easily destroy American lives and property.

Bob Considine Says:

Cocoa Beach Is Striking It Rich on Moon Shot

COCOA BEACH, Fla.—This place is the Klondike of the space age. Apollo 11 is its newest gold strike. Scientists, engineers, industrialists and newsmen are its prospectors.

CONSIDINE

It doesn't go in too strong for raucous saloons or gunplay, there are no readily apparent gambling halls in the area, but Cocoa Beach has more nightclubs per capita than the Klondike ever had, and the cocktail girls in their mini-minies are probably more fetching than the hardy ladies who lighted up the eyeballs of Jack London, Wilson Mizner, Tex Rickard and Robert W. Service.

★ ★ ★

The Klondike is no more. Its gold petered out. What Cocoa Beach is running out of is rockets, which are in some cases more precious than gold.

The innkeepers, merchants and a topless go-go girl here and there have learned to live with the ups and downs of the space age.

FAT AND LEAN

They know from the Old Testament that there will be days of fat and maybe months of lean; that it's a one-day-chicken, next-day-feathers business.

The fattest of all the fat times is right now. Motel rooms are booked from here to Orlando and beyond. But it is Cocoa Beach where the pressure is greatest. It can be a real swinging place when the mob's in town and something is happening out on the cape.

★ ★ ★

Everybody wants to see this one — surely the greatest single piece of exploration in the whole history of man.

There have been predictions that a million people will try to press into this area in the hopes of getting close enough to the 36-story space vehicle to see its brief moment of stunning glory.

Whether it's a million, half a million, two million, they'll pick Cocoa Beach dry of food and drink in record time, and then move on — leaving the regulars with their windfall to count and their feet to soak in Epsom salts. Their stay will have been short but unforgettable.

★ ★ ★

No camera, no commentator has yet been able properly to depict or describe the enormous conflagration of a Saturn 5 blast-off. It is as if somebody opened the front door of Hell. It is Krakatoa, the San Francisco earthquake and a Biblical Ascension, all thrown together.

Then it's gone in a matter of a minute or so. And in a few hours so are the awe-stricken observers. Cocoa Beach goes back to sleep in the sun, not to rouse itself and shake the sand from its shoes until the next shot.

Question and Answer

Is there any way to figure out the calories in portions of prepared foods and packaged products which are cooked at home? I do pretty well watching my weight, but am at a loss for foods like this.

GRUMPY DIETER

REPLY

A paperback book by Corinne Netzer may be just what you need. Published by Dell, it's called "The Brand Name Calorie Counter." It lists calorie counts for various convenience foods as well as comparing different brands.

Question and Answer

I'm an Rh-negative woman planning to marry an Rh-positive man. I know that can mean trouble for babies we might have, but isn't there something I can take to prevent the blood problems that often develop before the babies are born?

THINKING AHEAD

REPLY

There is an Rh-immune globulin that has been licensed as a "vaccine" to prevent erythroblastosis fetalis, the blood problem you're probably thinking of. However, we don't want to be accused of practicing medicine without a license, so we suggest you ask your doctor about it.

Hallmark of Viet History: Division

By BRUCE BIOSSAT
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Many Americans, leaders included, seem always to be astonished and dismayed—even disgusted — that South Vietnam's Saigon government does not rise to the levels of democratic tolerance and competence expected of it.

BIOSSAT

Even those observers most generous-minded toward Saigon say that if the South Vietnamese leaders had lived up to just a few expectations—like that for thoroughgoing land reform and for healthy acceptance of opposition parties—they would today be in a far stronger position than they are.

★ ★ ★

But probably our expectations have been too high from the start.

Not in excuse but in explanation, these things need to be said about the difficulties of South Vietnam's leaders, past and present:

This tiny country of 65,000 square miles, just a shade smaller than our own Washington state, is fundamentally one of the most badly divided patches of earth anywhere on this globe.

The major divisive elements are regional, ethnic, religious, social and political.

South Vietnam has northerners, "centerites" and southerners, different from one another in makeup and outlook, tending usually to be distrustful of one another.

★ ★ ★

The religious divisions are an old story, with the Buddhists heavily dominant, the strong Catholic infusion from North Vietnam a key factor, the Cao Dai and Hoa Hao sects a special problem with their own political complexion and, for a time, their separatist armies.

★ ★ ★

Ethnic miniorities come to about 16 per cent of the total South Vietnamese population. About 1.3 million are overseas Chinese, most of the remainder Cambodians and the celebrated Montagnards of the Central Highlands.

AUTOCRATIC TENDENCIES

Neither in this fractured society nor in North Vietnam nor in the two sectors together has "nationhood" long been a fact of life. In much of the past 300 years, the entirety of Vietnam has been divided into halves and even thirds.

★ ★ ★

What central authority the Vietnamese themselves have established in parts of Vietnam has been traditionally autocratic, with no tolerance of opposition.

★ ★ ★

That embedded habit lingers today, and explains why South Vietnamese leaders act so swiftly to stifle rivalry, even as they pay formal homage to new concepts of democracy.

For all this autocratic tradition, it is an established fact that the power of the Saigon government in the years since the 1954 Geneva pact has never run too strongly in many of the country's 2,500 villages—and some places it really never reached at all.

CRASH PROGRAM

Saigon's performance from 1954 on was in effect a crash program to make a nation before the quickly consolidated, better organized Communist government of Ho Chi Minh in North Vietnam could engulf it.

It broke the power of the sect armies, built a fairly workable bureaucracy on the ashes of the French debacle, began land reforms.

★ ★ ★

But its stubborn clinging to autocratic leadership, its repressive overreaction to the lingering threat of 5,000 or more Hanoi agents and its incapacity to win over anti-Red but still diverse elements opened the way to the internal chaos that plagues it yet.

Nixon Tour Bucking Soviet Interests

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

When President Nixon leaves Washington to try out his own brand of personal diplomacy in Southeast Asia, India, Pakistan and Romania he will be heading directly into an area where the Soviet Union has been showing increasing interest.

In Southeast Asia he will visit the Philippines, Indonesia and Thailand. Among each of these, plus Malaysia and Singapore, the Soviets are pursuing a twofold objective.

★ ★ ★

One objective is to fashion a cordon around a hostile Red China.

The other, accounting for recent stepped-up activity as a climax to years of patient spadework, is to take advantage of Britain's withdrawal from east of Suez by 1971 and an anticipated lessening of U.S. interest in the area after Vietnam.

This will be an angle that Nixon will attempt to offset.

There is evidence that Russian efforts are paying off.

The Philippines, a country once so anti-Communist that in 1962 it banned a Yugoslav basketball team, has begun modest trading with East Europe and may follow it up with formal commercial and diplomatic relations.

In Jakarta, Indonesia, the Russians maintain one of their largest embassy staffs despite the anti-Red fever which swept the country after the abortive Red coup attempt of 1965.

FIRST IN RED CAPITAL

Malaysia opened its first embassy in a Communist capital, Moscow, in April 1968. Moscow is the biggest buyer of Malaysian rubber and buys large quantities of other raw materials such as tin.

The Russians established an embassy in Singapore in January and concluded an agreement with the government for landing rights for Aeroflot, the Soviet airline.

★ ★ ★

Anti-Communist Thailand has had diplomatic ties with Russia back to 1896. The Russians use it as an important base from which to keep an eye on American military activities.

In recent months Russian officials have conferred with the leaders of both India and Pakistan.

★ ★ ★

The Russian presence in the Indian Ocean has become increasingly evident of late, and there are persistent reports of Indian "facilities" for Soviet ships in return for Russian arms and submarines.

As the Russians attempt to strengthen their barriers against Red Chinese expansion, even the presence of American troops in South Vietnam has not been wholly bad from their viewpoint. They'd rather have the U.S. there than Red China.

A Crowd's Expected . . .

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Officials estimate a million people want to watch the Apollo 11 astronauts leave for the moon, and there is fear that this part of Florida will suffer a monstrous traffic jam by tomorrow on land and sea and in the air.

There are plenty of places for watching. It's the getting there that's sticky. And the getting away will be stickier.

* * *

Never before will so many people have traveled to watch a show that lasts three minutes at best.

Over a network of roads that would be taxed by a football game crowd, officials expect 350,000 cars, the Poor People's Campaign mule train, a man running from Houston, Tex., and another coming by bicycle.

AND 3,000 BOATS

On the Indian and Bana rivers that separate the launch site from the mainland they foresee 3,000 boats.

And airports as far away as Miami expect to be busier than Chicago's O'Hare, the world's busiest, with 1,500 planes in and out.

* * *

Not all the watchers will be in the marshland and orange groves that characterize the eastern coastline. The space agency expects to accommodate 5,000 VIPs, 1,500 other guests and 3,000 to 5,000 newsmen near the launch site. They'll see the Saturn 5 lifet-off from 3½ miles away.

Each member of Congress got an invitation for a free plane trip for the big day — along with one relative.

JOGGER, CYCLIST

Bill Emerton, a 49-year-old Australian marathon runner jogging the 1,040 miles from Houston to the Cape "to expose as much publicity as possible to the mission," is expected to arrive today. And bicyclist Enio Ponti of Houston is making the same trip to make the cape fire.

A Launch-Pad Fire and Apollo's Rebirth

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Two and a half years ago, the nation and the space program in particular were stunned by the launch-pad fire that killed three astronauts.

Now, as Apollo reaches finally for the moon, it is becoming clear that in the ashes of that tragic fire lay the seeds of the near-perfection that has marked the nation's four manned Apollo flights.

After the fire, manned Apollo launches were grounded for 21 months while the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and its contractors sought to rectify mistakes leading to the tragedy and possible further mishaps.

The errors were found and resolved.

So now Apollo 11 astronauts are ready to land on the moon July 20—five months ahead of the 1970 deadline set by President John F. Kennedy.

CHANGES NEEDED

Investigation after the tragedy showed that major changes were needed in the moon craft.

At the time of the Cape Kennedy fire, the 363-foot-tall Saturn 5 man-to-the-moon rocket was 10 months away from its first unmanned flight and experiencing numerous development problems, particularly with its thin-skinned second stage.

The spidery lunar module—LEM-landing craft was overweight, and the Apollo 1 fire investigation was showing that the moon-lander also needed overhaul to make it more fireproof and reliable.

* * *

Ground controllers had many uncertainties, too, about earth-to-moon communications and how well astronauts could navigate to and from the moon and in lunar orbit.

Safety procedures needed to be strengthened for testing spaceships and rockets on the ground. Management, within NASA and its contractors was undergoing a shake-up, and no one was certain where the ax would fall next.

HEAVY CRITIC

Morale was low and plunging as the whole space effort came under heavy criticism by the public and Congress for what was termed sloppy workmanship and inadequate safety procedures.

With an engineering effort unparalled in America's technological history, however, the tide of pessimism slowly began to be arrested.

* * *

The space agency and its contractors admitted their mistakes, brought in outside experts to help solve problems, and went to work rebuilding and reorganizing.

The fire resulted in the deaths of the three astronauts and direct and indirect costs of nearly $600 million. But the postfire effort also resulted in a textbook first unmanned flight of the Saturn 5 rocket and equally successful manned missions on Apollos 7, 8, 9 and 10 to clear the way for Apollo 11 next week.

QUICK ESCAPE

After the fire, three-man Apollo command ships got a new quick-escape hatch that can be opened in three seconds, compared to the 90 seconds Apollo 1 astronauts Virgil I. Grissom, Edward H. White II and Roger B. Chaffee needed to open their spaceship door under the best of conditions.

* * *

Thirty miles of wiring aboard the command ship were redesigned and enclosed by fire walls and special panels to keep any fire caused by a short circuit from spreading. More than half the solder joints in the life support system were armored to prevent leaking of dangerous gases.

* * *

Space suits were made more fire resistant, fire extinguishers were placed aboard moon ships and 79 per cent of all flammable material inside the cockpit was replaced or removed.

On the LEM-lander, metals were shaved and waffled to lighten the walls of the spacecraft. Fuel tanks were reduced nine pounds each by welding together two halves of thin-walled titanium tanks instead of using bolts—a technical feat that required new techniques.

LIGHTER TANKERS

Apollo's 11's LM is the first with the lighter tankers.

To improve fireproofing, food-storage areas on the LEM were covered with flame-resistant material. Plastic circuit breakers were enclosed and numerous other potential fire sources sealed off.

The Saturn 5 rocket, meanwhile, also had its problems. On the second unmanned launch, there were up-and-down vibrations that might have prevented astronauts, had they been aboard, from performing normally.

* * *

Officials determined the vibration was caused by frequencies of the engines resonating up the rest of the rocket's structure. They solved it by filling cavities just above the engines with helium gas to act as a shock absorber.

Other problems occurred during manned missions, including Apollo 10, but one by one these have been understood and solved.

* * *

"The Apollo 1 pilots did not die in vain," one NASA official observed. "Out of that tragedy has come a better spaceship and a nationwide engineering capability able to quickly track down and resolve problems.

"Ironically, the fire may have saved the lives of other astronauts—and prevented problems later that would have delayed the lunar landing even longer."

Torrid to Frigid, Astronauts Safe

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP)—The temperature on the moon varies 500 degrees. In sunlight, the temperature is about 250 degrees Fahrenheit, in darkness it drops to about 250 degrees below zero.

A special water-cooling unit in the portable life support system will protect the astronauts from the extreme heat. Their suits are insulated against the cold.

Lunar Chase

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — After the Apollo 11 lunar module ascends from the moon surface, some 22 hours after landing, it will reach an orbital speed of about one mile a second to catch up with the command module.

'Data Important to Planning Foreign Explorations'

Doctor for Spacemen

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Eight years ago Dr. Charles A. Berry had to convince doctors and scientists that astronaut Alan B. Shepard would not die of a heart attack during a 15-minute suborbital flight.

Four years ago, he had to convince them that the Gemini 4 pilots would not tumble out of their spaceship and drown after four days in space.

* * *

Now, Berry is ready to monitor the hearts of two men walking on the moon. Most of the doubters have been stilled.

"It's indicative of how we've knocked down one medical fear after another in manned space flight," said Berry, the astronauts' chief medical officer. He said the 4,514 hours of weightlessness Americans have endured in space have produced no serious medical problems.

NEW ENVIRONMENT

On the moon, Berry said, "we will be placing men in an entirely new environment. After four days of weightless flight, they will step onto a surface where the gravity field is only one-sixth that of earth. We'll watch them closely to see how fast they tire, how well they do their assigned tasks."

"What we learn on Apollo 11 will very important to the planning for future lunar exploration," he said.

When astronauts Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. step onto the moon's surface early July 21, Berry will be in the Mission Control Center in Houston, Tex., receiving three readings on each man, a quarter-million miles away.

He'll be watching heart rate, oxygen consumption and temperature of the water that cools the space suit. The last will be an indirect measure of how much heat the astronauts' body is producing.

METABOLIC PROFILES

Berry said extensive preflight physicals have enabled doctors to draw a metabolic profile of each man.

"We know," he said, "what their work capacity on earth is at various heart rate plateaus—120 beats a minute, 140, 160 etc. And also the related oxygen consumption and how much heat the body generates. We have all this information in a computer program in the control center.

* * *

"We'll feed the information we receive from the moon into the computer," he added. "We know the heat production level which the portable life support system can handle without being overburdened. If it reaches that point for five minutes, we will tell the astronauts to stop and rest."

Berry said that working in the bulky space suits could prove difficult on the moon. For this reason, the astronauts will start out with simple tasks and work

PREFLIGHT CHECK—Giving a final preflight check of the X rays of the Apollo 11 astronauts is Or. Charles A. Berry, chief physician for the trio. During the spaceflight, the doctor plans to keep a close watch on monitors to guard against health problems.

Area Couples Exchange Wedding Vows

Giroux-Dean

Newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Giroux (Teresa Diane Dean) are honeymooning in Hawaii following their exchange of wedding vows Saturday in Mt. Hope Lutheran Church.

Joining the couple as they greeted guests in the Metropolitan Club were their parents, the Charles Deans of West Mansfield Street and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Giroux of Dixie Highway.

★ ★ ★

The bride chose a gown of organza accented with lace appliques. She carried a bouquet of roses, Stephanotis and ivy.

Honor attendants Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jones led a bridal party of 13 for the candlelight ceremony.

Homemade Lamp

Need an inexpensive lamp for a child's room? Buy a lamp base at a variety store and make the shade from a painter's cardboard pail and a piece of colorful cotton fabric. Pin the fabric together on the pail, on the bias of the material. Glue seams down with household cement.

Cotton will not "pill up."

Luallin-Nelson

Carrying roses on a prayer book, Charlotte Barbara Nelson was wed Satuday to Lt. Gerald David Luallin, USAF.

The bride wore a Victorian style gown of peau de soie appliqued with Alencon lace for the double-ring ceremony at Christ Church Cranbrook.

Honor attendants for the candlelight wedding were Ellen Valas and Lt. Roy Reed.

★ ★ ★

Following a reception at Orchard Lake Country Club, the son of the Calvin Luallins of Oakland, Calif. and the daughter of the Robert Nelsons of Lochrittge Road, Bloomfield Township, left on a honeymoon trip to Texas.

Shiel-Howe

Janet Grace Howe became the bride of Larry Stewart Shiel in First Baptist Church, Holly on Saturday. Their afternoon wedding was followed by a reception in the church parlor.

Gowned in crepe trimmed with daisy appliques, the bride carried a basket of lilies and daisies. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Howe of Holly was attended by Janet Doty.

★ ★ ★

On the esquire side, Ivan Samuels assisted the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Shiel, also of Holly.

The couple is honeymooning in the Western states.

Pankner-Fudge

Redeemer Lutheran Church, Grand Rapids was chosen by Linda Sue Fudge for her wedding Saturday to Mark Norman Pankner. Following the noon ceremony, a reception was held in Fingers Restaurant, Grand Rapids.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Fudge of Grand Rapids was gowned in silk faille with Alencon lace panels. She carried a cascade of orchids, Stephanotis and ivy.

★ ★ ★

The bride's twin sister, Barbara, served as maid of honor. Eugene Pankner was best man for his brother. They are the sons of Mrs. Norman R. Pankner of Whitfield Drive and the late Mr. Pankner.

Bertucci-Zimmerman

Reaches Net Finale

One More Step for Laver

CHESTNUT HILL, Mass. (UPI) — Wet or dry, early or late, crowded or in privacy, Rodney Laver is still the ruler of pro tennis — almost.

Only fellow Australian John Newcombe stood between Wimbledon champ Laver and the $8,000 jackpot in the 1969 U.S. Professional tennis championships. And Laver has beaten Newcombe five times in six meetings.

AFTER 4TH TITLE

The 31-year-old Laver will be hunting his fourth straight U.S. pro crown when he and Newcombe tangle at Longwood Cricket Club tonight.

A finalist for the seventh straight year, southpaw Laver was an overwhelming choice to defeat Newcombe, though it was unlikely he could match last year's straight set victory over the same rival.

After the title match, Laver will team with the veteran Pancho Gonzalez against the Wimbledon doubles champions, Newcombe and Tony Roche.

Laver wiped out his chief challenger Monday night in a four-set victory over Ken Rosewall, 6-3, 5-7, 6-2, 6-3.

* * *

Newcombe was quicker with a 6-3, 6-4, 6-4, rout of still another Australian, Fred Stolle.

Pitchers' Duel Marks Junior Baseball

Snack and Rack's Dave Clancy and Cranbrook's Rick Walker each allowed three hits in a pitcher's duel last night, but Cranbrook bunched all of theirs in the fourth inning to win the Class D junior baseball game, 2-1.

Snack and Rack scored their lone run in the top of the fourth on a single, infield out, stolen base and an error.

In other city Class D action, Talbott Construction scored in every inning but the fifth to pound out an 11-4 win over the Yankees.

Lakeland scored five times in the bottom of the second inning to pull away from Froede Design for an 8-5 victory.

P.P.O.A. and Bloomfield Hills High School fought a tenacsious 11-inning battle that was called because of darkness still tied at 1-1.

* * *

Bloomfield scored its run in the fifth inning on one hit and had a chance to win it all in the bottom of the seventh when pitcher Chris Brinkley led off with a triple, but was stranded as his teammates flied to left and struck out twice.

In Class E, Eriksen's Tigers mauled Rochester with an 11-hit barrage, 12-2, ended after the sixth inning because of the 10 run rule.

Roger Allison boomed a homerun and scored three times, and Kirk Eriksen hit triples in two successive times at bat to lead the winners.

In class F, the Yankees overhwelmed the Met Club 22-2 as Cloyd Fowler pitched a one-hitter. Alladin Vending outhit the Padres, 4-2, but lost the game, 13-9.

* * *

Talbott Construction and Columbia won their games by identical scores of 8-3. Rochester Merchants and Auburn Heights were the respective losers.

* * *

In a four-inning game, Eastern Auto smashed Toy L. Teadors Raiders, 26-5, slamming out 20 hits in the storm.

Tim Recknagel threw a one-hit masterpiece and his teammates scored 12 runs as Eaton Eagles shut out the New Hope Baptists. Recknagel struck out 17 batters.

Sam Allen scored seven times in the first inning on one hit, but found the Aamco Firebirds were still burning and had to rally for four runs in the fifth inning to squeeze out a 12-10 victory.

In widget action, Alladin Vending knocked off the Auburn Heights Boys Club, 9-3 as Phil Cole pitched a two-hitter and hit a home run.

McCray Catering Service came from behind to tie Pontiac Optimist in the bottom of the fifth inning, 5-5, but Optimist scored two runs in the extra inning to win, 7-5.

Pontiac Police rallied for four runs in the fifth inning to defeat Columbia RA, 6-4.

Pro Crown to Ron Fox

Ron Fox, a 15-year pro golf circuit veteran, won the PGA Michigan Pro Championship by stroking a 68-69—137 on Lansing's 6,573-yard Walnut Hills course Monday.

* * *

The 32-year-old Fox, in his first year at the Detroit Golf Club, took home $450 in prize money.

Jet Veterans to Hear Czar

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. (AP) — The Joe Namath case has taken another strange turn with pro football Commissioner Pete Rozelle agreeing to discuss the situation with veteran members of the world champion New York Jets.

The big question today was which member of the Big Two involved in pro football's biggest controversy would reach the site of the Jets' camp here —Rozelle or Namath, the shaggy-haired quarterback who may or may not already be en route here.

Namath received permission Sunday from Coach Weeb Ewbank to report late and said he would "get back" to him either Tuesday night or Wednesday. Whether that meant Namath would contact Ewbank in person or by phone remained a question.

Rozelle, meanwhile, confirmed late Monday night that he had agreed earlier in the day to a command performance at the Jets' camp presumably to present his side of the issues involved in the Namath dispute. No date has as yet been set, although indications are that it will not be held until late in the week.

IN OTHER CAMPS

CARLISLE, Pa. (AP) — Coach Vince Lombardi greeted the remainder of his Washington Redskins team at its training camp Monday and got down to the business of getting the players in shape for the upcoming National Football League season.

Fifteen newcomers—mostly offensive linemen—joined the pre-season camp to bring a total of 78 players at Dickinson College. After the two workouts, Lombardi told newsmen, "It was not too light even though we did not do a lot of contacts. We did a lot of running, and they were on the sleds for awhile.

"I never believe in a lot of contact in camp," he said. "There's no use killing your team here."

VETS JOIN COLTS

WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP) — Four veterans joined the Baltimore Colts for workouts Monday, five days ahead of their scheduled reporting date.

Participating in the National Football League Club's drills were fullback Jerry Hill, tight end John Mackey, defensive end Bubba Smith and defensive tackle Billy Ray Smith. Quarterback Earl Morrall continued to practice while weighing his decision on whether to accept a job offer outside football.

EAGLES WAIVE 2

READING, Pa. (AP) — The Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League announced Monday they had put two players on waivers.

The Eagles said defensive end Henry Shows from the University of Mississippi and offensive tackle Chuck Van Robays of Detroit, both failed their physical examinations.

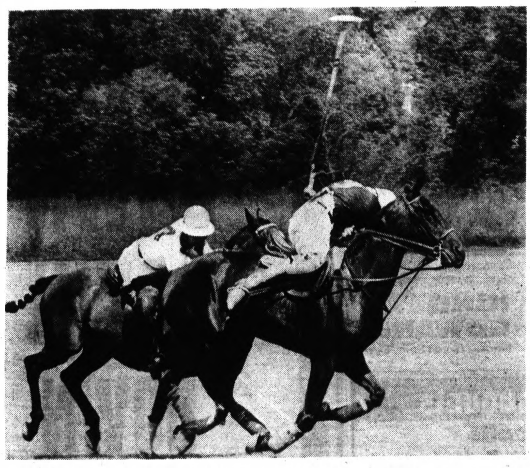
Six-Under-Par Provides Win

REGINA, Saskatchewan (AP) — Bobby Cox of Vancouver fired a six-under-par 65 and beat defending champion Moe Norman and Stan Homenuik by one stroke for the Saskatchewan Open Golf Championship Sunday. Cox posted a 208 total for the Canadian tour event.



BACK SHOT — The horses and players are going one way and the ball is going the other way as result of a back shot by John Mager of the Orchard Lake polo team which scored a 9-3 triumph over Cleveland Sunday. The Cleveland player is Dick Nepper.

Orchard Lake Poloists Win Fifth Match

The Orchard Lake polo team twice spotted Cleveland one-goal leads but came on strong behind the one-two scoring punch of Harold Garian and John Mager to pull out a 9-3 victory Sunday.

The victory is Orchard Lake's fifth in six starts this season. It whipped Grand Rapids twice and Columbus twice before dropping a 12-9 slugfest at rugged Darlington, Pa., who hasn't lost in three years at home.

The Orchard Lake team has been rained out of matches at Beaver Valley, Pa., and Cleveland.

★ ★ ★

Sunday's battle saw Cleveland score first, then two goals by Garian were answered by two more for the visitors. Mager tied it for the last time with a solo dash down the field.

The Orchard Lake scoring twosomes each added three more goals to put the game out of Cleveland's reach.

Orchard Lake's record is now 5-1 and this weekend the polo team will meet Columbus, Ohio in a pair of matches, Saturday and Sunday at the field in Union Lake, at Lochhaven and Willow Roads.

Grid Deadlock

WINNIPEG (AP) — The Calgary Stampeders built a three-touchdown lead but the Winnipeg Blue Bombers fought back and earned a 22-22 tie in a Canadian Football League exhibition game Monday night.

City League Challenger Loses Control, Ground

Talbott Lumbers' first place challenge in the City Class A baseball league went out of control in the sixth inning yesterday and frontrunning M.G. Collision gained more breathing room.

Teamsters scored all of its runs in the sixth to upset second place Talbott, 4-2, behind the six-hit pitching of Don Picmann. Meanwhile, M.G. was getting a 12-strikeout effort from Walt Miller in a 5-1 win over Carl's Golfland and now holds a 3½-game lead over Talbott.

★ ★ ★

Idle R. T. Clippers moved into a second place with Talbott. Both have 10-6 records to Collision's 14-3.

Rob Clancy of Talbott was sailing along with a 2-0 lead when his control and defense failed in the fatal inning. Two walks and a single by Teamsters' George Metcalf plated one run.

BASES LOADED

Another walk loaded the bases and two runs scored when the shortstop erred on a ball hit by Sandy Heavenrich. Clancy hit the next batter to reload the bases and was relieved by Al Thomas. The final run scored on a fielder's choice.

Teamsters now has a 9-9 record.

Miller allowed only four hits and didn't walk a batter for M.G. He started a two-run third with a single. Jerry Harkey followed with a double and both runners scored on an infield error.

Terry Ruffato's single, a walk, two fielder's choices and a passed ball yielded two more tallies in the fifth. The final run scored in the sixth on singles by Harry Bartkowiak and Mike Burklow and an infield miscue.

Court Upholds Hoffa Verdict

'No Wiretaps Used in Fraud Conviction'

CHICAGO (AP) — James R. Hoffa, president of the Teamsters Union, has lost a bid in U.S. District Court to have a 1964 fraud conviction reversed and avoid an additional five-year prison sentence.

Judge Richard B. Austin ruled Monday that wiretap evidence played no part in the fraud conviction—as defense lawyers had argued—and he ordered Hoffa to serve the sentence. He was convicted of fraud conspiracy involving use of $1 million in union funds.

★ ★ ★

Thomas A. Foran, U.S. attorney, said Hoffa would be returned to the federal prison at Lewisburg, Pa., where since 1967 he has been serving an eight-year sentence on another conviction.

Hoffa's attorneys contended the fraud conviction was illegal because he was not shown wiretap evidence used against him. The U.S. Supreme Court held recently that all defendants must be shown transcripts of wiretap evidence used by the prosecution at their trials.

★ ★ ★

Maurice Walsh, Hoffa's lawyer, asked that the five-year sentence be allowed to run concurrently with the eight-year term he has been serving for tampering with a jury in his trial in Chattanooga, Tenn. Judge Austin declined.

Hoffa will be eligible for parole on the jury tampering sentence in November.

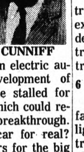
Down-to-Earth Aim: Practical Electric Car

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK — While most Americans will be entranced tomorrow as the astronauts rocket through space, scores of scientists will be working quietly on the less glamorous job of moving earthlings at 45 miles an hour.



CUNNIFF

These are the men who are trying to perfect an electric automobile, the development of which seems to be stalled for the moment but which could result in a startling breakthrough.

Is the electric car for real? Ask the researchers for the big electric product manufacturers and you realize it is surprisingly real. And you get the same answer from the Big Three auto makers too.

The state of the art is really more advanced than most Americans seem to realize. And the implications, too, are greater.

REVOLUTIONARY

A successful electric vehicle suitable for volume sales would be as revolutionary a technological development as anything seen before in America, matched only by such products as airplanes, telephones and computers.

At the present time most of the large electric equipment manufacturers have development projects under way, and at least six small companies now are selling vehicles that can travel 100 miles at 40 to 50 miles an hour.

In fact, the major manufacturers of internal combustion engines also have been working on the project, although perhaps a little more quietly.

Scores of battery-powered transportation devices already exist: buses, industrial trucks, delivery vans, noiseless dairy trucks, golf carts, automatic trains.

6 YEARS ON MARKET

A southern California manufacturer has been making a lightweight, two-passenger electric car for six years. He sells about 150 a year, mostly to elderly and handicapped people, who drive them about city streets.

The U.S. Post Office recently awarded a contract for four electric mail trucks capable of reaching a top speed of 45 miles an hour and which can make 400 starts and stops without recharging.

★ ★ ★

The utilities, whose sales could be greatly increased because of great amounts of power needed to recharge vehicles, have their sights set on the huge Post Office fleet of 55,000 city carriers, all gasoline-driven.

The spark behind development of the electric car comes as much from the negative factors of noise and air pollution from gasoline-driven vehicles as it does from the great potential market.

GULP'S MUCH AIR

W. J. Clasp of the Edison Electric Institute, an organization of electric utilities, commented recently that one automobile traveling 30 miles at 60 miles an hour consumes more breathable air in that time than 100,000 people.

Clapp's viewpoint is perhaps prejudiced, but the point remains that many Americans are becoming deeply concerned with the air they breathe and feel the automobile is one of the chief contributors to pollution.

The fact that the electric car has not yet met with more acceptance is partially a tribute to the effective promotion of gasoline driven cars by the big manufacturers. In England, for example, 80 per cent of the vehicles used for door-to-door deliveries are electric.

REAL OBSTACLES

The obstacles are real, however. How do you pack enough batteries into the car without eliminating the driver's space or increasing the weight to the point of diminishing return?

Recharging is a problem, also. There are physical limits to the rate at which batteries can be charged. An experimental vehicle being used by General Electric, for example, reuires eight hours to recharge.

And there is another obstacle also. It is habit. Although electric utilities are in the door-to-door business as much as the milkman or the mailman, few utilities use anything but gasoline-driven vehicles.

News in Brief

3 More Make Blatz Offers

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Three more bidders submitted offers Monday to acquire the Blatz division of Pabst Brewing Co.

The bids were handed to Federal Judge Robert E. Tehan, who is conducting hearings on an order for Pabst to divest itself of Blatz. The order was the result of an antitrust action.

United Black Enterprises, Stroh Brewery Co., of Detroit and a subsidiary of Bankit Corp., of Milwaukee were Monday's bidders.

★ ★ ★

The G. Heileman Brewing Co., of La Crosse, Wis., already had made an $8.5 million offer, which was boosted to $10,750,000 Monday. Associated Brewing Co., of Detroit bid $10.5 million. The Associated offer had been $1 million higher, but was reduced last week because of the length of the lengthy federal court hearing.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q — I am a financially secure 64-year-old widow. Dillingham Corp., now trading well below my $36 cost, worries me. Should I hold? — H. K.

A — Despite its poor market action, both fundamentals and growth potential are as promising as ever for Dillingham.

Hawaii is in the midst of an accelerating tourist boom. Conservative estimates place tourist spending at $560 million this year, up from $460 million in 1968. Construction activity jumped 26 per cent last year and is limited only by a current shortage of skilled workers. Though based in Honolulu, Dillingham's operations are worldwide in real-estate development, heavy construction, shipping and oceanographic research and engineering.

Several major acquisitions for stock and cash valuing $68 million are now being negotiated. Operating earnings for the first half of 1968 are up 15 per cent to 20 per cent, according to company president L. S. Dillingham. If this trend continues, full-year net of $1.15 to $1.20 is possible. Shares now available at a multiple of only 22X are rated a buy for long-term appreciation.

Q — My 54-year-old mother has $35,000 in savings drawing five per cent interest. She earns $7,500 annually and will work until 65. Thereafter Social Security and a small pension will provide her support in retirement. A friend suggested that she invest $25,000 in Puritan Fund for inflation protection. Is this the best plan for her? — J. E.

A — Fidelity Management & Research Co. is adviser to the Puritan Fund, the Fidelity Group and four others. All have performed well over a 10-year period and in the first half of 1969 are reporting results in line with other income-producing funds.

★ ★ ★

Puritan Fund, founded in 1946, has operated in both rising and falling markets with consistently good results — an important consideration when selecting a mutual fund. For your mother's needs, a mutual fund should provide not only protection for her capital but also the possibility of some growth which a bank account cannot offer. If you decide to purchase Puritan Fund, there is a reduction in the acquisition fee from 7½ per cent to 5 per cent for an investment of $25,000.
