Set Up New Group to Study County Reforms

Local to Greet Hoffa Thursday at Willow Run

Victory Fete Planned; Probers Eye Mystery of Convention Records

DETROIT (INS) — The Detroit Teamsters headquarters announced today James R. Hoffa, president-elect of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, will return to the Motor City at 5 p.m. Thursday from Miami Beach, Fla.

Members of Hoffa's home Local 289 plan a victory celebration which will include a reception at Willow Run Airport and a cavalcade of cars and trucks to the Teamsters Headquarters.

From Washington comes word subpoenaed Teamster records on seating of delegates at the union's Miami convention were reportedly en route to the Senate rackets committee today after Hoffa said their had been "temporarily lost."

Senate probers said yesterday the union claimed some of the records were "thrown down the incinerator" by a hotel maid who later died suddenly.

Committee Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark) said his group would seek to determine whether the incident was just a "strange coincidence" or an attempt to obstruct its investigation.

Hoffa said in Miami Beach that the records had been "temporarily lost." He added the maid had mistakenly thrown the records into a receptacle somewhere in the hotel, but union officials recovered them.

The subpoena for the records was served Oct. 4 on Joe Konowe, secretary of the Teamsters' Credentials Committee at the convention.

McClellan said arrangements had been made for the subpoenaed documents to be turned over to his group this week when committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy was notified they had been destroyed.

An attorney for the Teamsters telephoned Kennedy Sunday night and reported that all the credentials committee's documents had been thrown down the incinerator by the night maid of the Eden Roc Hotel.

When her name was requested so that an investigator might interview her, the attorney stated that she had suddenly died of a heart attack.

McClellan said his group will "be interested in determining whether this incident is just another of the many strange coincidences that the committee has encountered in trying to secure Teamster records, or if it is in fact a willful defiance of the committee's authority."

GIs in Girls' Rooms?

Faubus Finding Support

From Our Wire Services

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus' executive secretary said today he was told by six Central High School girl students and two student mothers that the governor's charge that federal troops had invaded their school dressing rooms was true despite White House denials.

SAY IT'S TRUE

Arnold Sikes, the governor's secretary, told newsmen:

"I had eight telephone calls last night from girls and their mothers who said the charge was true."

Sikes made his statement as other capital sources said Faubus is determined to play out his challenge of the federal government to an uncertain end and "won't back down" for both political and economic reasons.

The governor's "stand pat" position was underscored by his bitter exchange with the White House on the dressing room charge.

Sikes refused to name the persons who called him. He said he was told there were "two specific instances," one occurring just before a seventh period girls' gym class, another involving a girls' washroom.

CITES ONE INCIDENT

Sikes explained only the gym class incident, saying:

"They said the door was open and a soldier was standing at the door where they were dressing. One of the girls was partially undressed."

He said the girls and mothers telephoned him after they had tried to reach Faubus by phone without success. He explained:

"They said they had heard the news and just wanted to confirm what the governor had said."

The White House denial of the accusation as "untrue and vulgar" brought a "we'll prove it when the time comes" retore from the 47-year-old governor.

The Army in strong terms denied its troops had invaded the dressing rooms.

A school official termed Faubus' claim "ridiculous."

The governor, told last night of White House reaction, shot back this reply: "What does the White House know about it 2,000 miles away? We'll prove it when the time comes."

A number of Central High girls said they knew nothing about any such trespass into the dressing rooms.

Federalized National Guardsmen maintained the watch today outside integrated Central High School.

U.S. Rejects Russian Talk of Dual Control on Missiles

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department today rejected a suggestelon from Nikita Khrushchev for U.S.-Russian agreement to establish international control of space missiles.

It said such a step should be part of a general disarmament package.

The State Department recalled that the United States, Britain, France and Canada had made a proposal in disarmament talks at London Aug. 29 aimed at assuring that space missiles are launched and used exclusively for "peaceful and scientific purposes."

Jameson Parker, press officer, said tersely that "we will stand" on that approach which calls for agreement by many nations—not just the two superpowers.

Parker declined other comment on Khruschev's interview with New York Times correspondent James Reston until after officials have studied all angles of the lengthy remarks of the Soviet Communist boss.

Parker was also asked for information on a report, attributed to Khrushchev by Reston, that Russia had proposed a visit to the United States by Marshal Georgi Zhukov but the United States turned it down.

Parker said, "I don't know anything about it." Then he adedd that he had not actually looked into the matter but hoped to do so.

The import of Parker's comment on Khrushchev's call for missiles controls appeared to be that the U.S. government is not interested in joining in two-party deals with Russia which would have the effect of settling matters in which other countries have a vital interest, without giving them an adequate voice.

It appeared hede that tough-talking Khrushchev had decided to use Russia's newly won position in missile and satellite development to pressure the Western powers into a defensive position in the cold war.

Khrushchev charged that the United States is responsible for all troubles between it and the Soviet Union because it is trying to negotiate as if the United States is strong and Russia is weak.

Make Best of Today: Showers on the Way

It looks like our beautiful days are over for the time being. The U. S. Weather Bureau predicts, for the Pontiac area, increasing cloudiness tonight with a low near 50.

Tomorrow will be mostly cloudy with showers by afternoon or evening. The high tomorrow will reach 64-68.

The outlook for Thursday is again cloudy and cooler with scattered showers.

In downtown Pontiac, 48 was the lowest recorded temperature preceding 8 a.m. By 2 p.m. the mercury had risen to 68.

Price of Land on Mars Soars With Red Sphere

TOKYO (AP) — The price of real estate on Mars has jumped fivefold in Japan since the Soviet satellite started whizzing through space.

The Japan Space Travel Assn. founded last year to whip up interest in outer space, says it has already sold more than 40,000 acres of Mars land, most of it for 200 yen (55 cents an acre.)

"Since the satellite boom, land on Mars is selling for 1,000 yen ($2.70 an acre)," Toraji Kishikda, the association's secretary, said today.

Scientists Brief Ike on Satellites

Discuss U.S. Program in Relation to 'Sputnik'; Washington Buzzing

WASHINGTON (INS)—President Eisenhower got a detailed briefing from U.S. scientists today on Russia's globe-circling "Sputnik" and America's own lagging satellite program.

The Chief Executive met for an hour with a group including Dr. Alan Waterman, director of the National Science Foundation, and Deputy Defense Secretary Donald Quarles.

Presidential News Secretary James C. Hagerty stood by a previous statement that the United States does not plan any speedup of the launching schedule of its own earth satellite.

The White House meeting came as Washington buzzed with angry charges, mostly from Democrats, that the administration failed to push America's satellite and missile programs fast enough.

These charges undoubtedly will be laid directly before Eisenhower at his news conference tomorrow, along with other ramifications of the Soviet's dramatic triumph in the race to conquer outer space.

Students Absent With Asian Flu

About 15 Per Cent Out in Pontiac Yesterday; Malkim Hit Hardest

Asian flu and other illnesses have cut into school attendance heavily. Almost 3,000 of the 19,000 students, or about 15 per cent were absent yesterday, school officials said. The figure was about double that of Sept. 25 when the last complete check was made.

Malkim Elementary School was hit the hardest yesterday when 200 of the 557 students were absent.

At Pontiac High School 849 of the 2,891 students were absent. This is 29 per cent compared to the daily five to seven per cent absentee rate. At Eastern Junior High School the absentee figure was 268 or 28 per cent of the 953 students.

Pupils are absent from one to five days with the flu, school health officials report.

The increased absences in area schools last week, especially in the Holly and Waterford School districts, was cited yesterday by Dr. John D. Monroe, director of the Oakland County health department as an "explosive type of upper respiratory epidemic . . . and some of the cases are probably Asian flu."

Holly Superintendent Charles Coggins said today the three schools in the area, Holly High School, Holly elementary and Davisburg elementary would be closed Thursday and Friday.

Originally, students would have had next Thursday and Friday, Oct. 17 and 18 off so teachers could attend a teachers institute in Detroit.

Coggins said he now has made arrangements for teachers to attend a similar institute this week instead at Flint due to the increased number of recent absences.

'Sputnik I' on Orbit, Seen by Navy Unit

FROM OUR WIRE SERVICES

WASHINGTON — "Sputnik I"—on schedule and at full speed—whizzed into its fourth day of earth-circling today amid growing speculation as to its political and military significance.

The U.S. Naval Research Laboratory said early today that the Russian satellite's signal was being received regularly and that there was "nothing to indicate" it is slowing down or wavering in its orbit.

"Sputnik I" caused a flurry of scientific excitement last night when it failed to give its "beep" for a while. The U.S. Navy said the signal stopped at 6:40 p.m. (EDT), but was heard clearly again after 8 p.m.

British trackers said they thought the rate of the signal was speeding up.

The U.S. Naval Laboratory also reported more sightings in Alaska and said the best occurred yesterday when three observers traced the satellite clearly for nine minutes.

Oakland Board Votes to Form Committee of 9

Special Body to Include 3 Citizens; May Call in Governmental Experts

Oakland County Supervisors yesterday ordered a special committee to study reforms in county government.

During a five-hour session dedicated to housecleaning the present governmental setup, supervisors:

Approved a motion by Supervisor John L. Carey of Springfield Township for a nine-member committee to study possible legislative and constitutional changes in state law governing county government.

★ ★ ★

Ordered an experimental "open door" policy for its committee meetings;

Gave a vote of confidence to Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore and the Board of Public Works;

Enthusiastically received Chairman Delos Hamlin's nine-page report on the past accomplishments of Oakland County government.

Hamlin, of Farmington, said he would announce the names of the nine persons he appoints to the study committee at the next board meeting, Oct. 30.

Four of the committee members will be supervisors, three private citizens, one from the board of auditors and one from the corporation counsel's office.

GET NO PAY

Serving without pay, committee members will be empowered to call on university experts to help them in their study, but will have to return to the board for appropriations to finance expert studies.

Supervisors stipulated that the study committee must make periodic progress reports with a view towards legislative changes during the 1958 session.

Supervisors decided on a four-point policy to improve their knowledge about what goes on in committee sessions. The new policy calls for all committee meetings to be open to the public, with all supervisors and "interested persons" to be notified of committee meetings at least four days in advance.

ASK FOR REPORTS

"Interested persons" was interpreted to mean county employes, when affected, and the press.

Supervisors asked for summaries of committee action to be sent to them after meetings have been held.

The votes of confidence came after criticisms of Judge Moore's past appointments of supervisors

Adults and Teens Uphold Rochester Ban on Sloppy Dress

Proper School Attire Becomes Hot Issue in Area

Last month the Rochester Board of Education voted to clamp down and curb discipline problems by controlling the dress of students.

Some parents claim the manner in which their children dress "isn't anyone's business" because "it's a free country." Others say they can't afford "dress pants for boys who walk to school in all types of weather."

According to Harlan Johnson, principal of Rochester High School, the board objects to boys with long hairdos and girls with curlers and scarfs on their heads.

They also put the foot down on jeans, shirts unbuttoned down to the waist, black leather jackets and engineering boots worn by boys because they felt they were not appropriate for school, Johnson said.

"The rule was made on the theory that people act how they are dressed. They wouldn't get into trouble as quickly as they would if they wore old clothes," Johnson explained.

"We don't want to be unreasonable. If the parents have already bought youngsters their school wardrobe for the year, it's a different story. At least 98 per cent of the students in high school have cooperated with the new policy," he added.

Here's what four adults thought about the idea during an on-the-street interview:

Mrs. Charlie C. Miracle, of 109 W. Fairmount Ave., feels that "there is nothing indecent about students, either boys or girls, wearing jeans or boots to school." The mother of five children, she said parents should judge what their children should be allowed to wear to school.

MRS. MIRACLE DONAGHY

"Personally, I don't think jeans respectable for school dress," said David Donaghy, 935 Voorheis Rd.

The Consumers Power technician said he thought persons who wear jeans to school "set a bad pattern for other kids. They are worn mostly by delinquents and wearing them sets a bad example for the school." He felt the same way regarding boots and black leather jackets but thought the PTA's should agree on the dress of students.

Housewife Mrs. Rodney Milton, 226 E. Iroquois Rd., commented: "It's a matter of good taste whether children dress like that for school, but if they have a reason and if such clothing is worn properly, I think it's all right. Clothing children is expensive. There is a connotation that this sort of apparel represents cheapness. I don't think the jackets are as economical as others and the boots are definitely not a necessary part of clothing."

★ ★ ★

John Kent of 246 Ferry Ave., an employe at Pontiac Motors, felt "if the kids want to dress that way, it's all right as long as they wear clean clothes." Kent said he preferred a "more moderate dress" but as long as students didn't wear shorts or bermudas to school, they dressed properly.

Only one of the teenagers interviewed approved of jeans and black leather jackets as being appropiate for school dress.

Waterford Firemen Out on 97 Calls in 3 Months

Monthly reports occupied last night's regular Waterford Township Board meeting.

Township firemen answered 97 calls during July, August and September, according to Fire Chief Edward Smith.

In Treasurer Dorothy Olson's monthly financial statement, balance in the general fund totaled $88,432 for September as compared with $105,596 balance at the end of August.

Only 10 summonses were issued by the Waterford Township Police Dept., which recently rehired two patrolmen.

There were 18 arrests made, 509 calls answered and policemen drove 10,838 miles.

Capt. Millard Pender of the force has been in St. Joseph Hospital with a heart condition for the past two weeks.

Clerk James Seeterlin presented a report on an increase in water rates in the Huron Garden Subdivision from $3 to $4.50 per 1,500 cubic feet. This was a quarterly rate.

The report revealed that there have been increasing losses in operation and maintenance of the water system, No. 1 and there are no funds available in case of emergency.

The rezoning of five acres on Scott Lake and Watkins Lake roads from residential to commercial was tabled for further study.

After a lengthy discussion, the township board and contractors of the Parkdale Homes, Inc. decided on an operational agreement regarding a water system in the Highland Estates Subdivision.

Other business of the board included a notification from the city of Pontiac approving the first phase of the Sylvan Shores sewer project. The system is now ready for house connections to the new sewer line.

Board members were told that an additional $488 will be needed for the Whitfield Estates drain project due to a change in manhole installations. The original estimate was $11,487 plus seven per cent for engineering costs.

Preliminary plans for the Holiday Farms Subdivision on Highland Rd. was held up due to inadequate access to the subdivision.

2 Injured in Crash; Try to Elude Police

Two men were injured when their car ran through a dead end on Miami St., striking a tree, in an effort to outrun a state police car yesterday morning, said the police.

Troopers first saw the car driven by William E. Fuqua, 28, of 1526 Moccasin Dr., Waterford, west of Pontiac on Huron street, driving in a reckless manner. They followed the auto on a chase through Pontiac.

Troopers said the car was traveling at a high rate of speed and weaving over the center line. Fuqua turned onto Miami street and crashed off the dead end.

Injured were his companions, Glenn Galen Gidcumb, 25, of 285 Highgate St., and Joseph J. Haveman, 25, of 336 N. Saginaw St. They were treated at Pontiac General Hospital and released.

Fukua is being held by state police on a charge of reckless driving.

Know the Weather

Can those suffering from arthritis "feel" the approach of rain?

Quite often the rising humidity that accompanies rain will telegraph the coming of precipitation to the arthritic.

However, this is not an infallible rule. Often the moisture content of the air will rise and rain will not necessarily follow. The arthritic's joints may then ache and give a false forecast of rain.

So the person suffering from arthritis is not a foolproof forecaster of rain. Sometimes he is a foolproof hygrometer, for damp air definitely affects the comfort of many suffering from arthritis.

as estate appraisers and of the "swiftness" with which the five-man DPW board had been appointed this summer.

Judge Moore defended appointments of supervisors, when they are assessors, as appraisers since "they are the best men for the job."

It had been noted that supervisors, who ultimately control Judge Moore's salary, receive fees for appraisals.

After Pontiac Supervisor Clair Cummings reviewed the qualifications of the DPW appointees, Supervisor Marshall E. Taylor of Walled Lake withdrew his objections, saying, "If I had known that last summer I would never have complained."

On the board are Hamlin, Drain Commissioner Daniel W. Barry, and Supervisors John G. Seaman, of Berkley; Don R. MacDonald, of Sylvan Lake and Hiland M. Thatcher, of West Bloomfield Township.

Hamlin listed 23 improvements in county government which the board of supervisors helped bring about by legislative changes during the past 15 years.

He also noted 17 big changes which the county has brought about working within the framework of existing laws.

"There is no doubt that this county is in for many changes, located as it is in a 'hot spot'—a swiftly developing metropolitan area," Hamlin said.

"County government must become stronger, practically to the point of home rule. But I think we have been doing a very good job, working under existing laws and conditions."

GM Transmission Strike in 2nd Day

YPSILANTI (UP) — A production-stopping strike at General Motors' Detroit Transmission Division plant at Willow Run entered its second day today and threatened to slow down the output of GM's 1958 cars.

About 6,000 hourly rated workers of United Auto Workers Local 735 were idled by a walkout yesterday.

The plant makes hydromatic transmissions for Cadillac, Oldsmobile and Pontiac passenger cars and some GMC and Chevrolet trucks.

A meeting between management and union officials was scheduled this afternoon.

A company spokesman said "The strike obviously will affect production of 1958 cars if it continues long enough."

Faubus Faces Wave of Bitter Denials

Negro students are enrolled along with nearly 2,000 whites.

In recent days, National Guard troops under federal command have comprised the perimeter force while, inside, paratroopers of the regular Army's 101st Airborne Division kept order in the corridors.

Wooden barricades stacked out of use and the military guard were the only indications today of the bitter integration controversy that has engulfed the school for weeks.

Faubus' latest charges were made yesterday in a letter to Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker, commanding the military units at the school and the reserves nearby. The governor made the letter public.

The general returned the letter unopened, James C. Hagerty, presidential press secretary, said. Walker did so, Hagerty said, because it was addressed to "the commander of the occupation forces."

CITES 'DESPERATION'

Army Secretary Wilber Brucker said in Washington that the letter "has all the earmarks of desperation and is an unworthy attempt to defame our American soldiers. . . ."

The deadlock between President Eisenhower and Faubus continued. The President maintains that Faubus has not given firm assurance that he will enforce integration if troops are removed. Faubus says he will not give up the prerogatives of Arkansas' chief executive.

Dealt by Russia to U. S.

Calls Satellite 5th 'Shock'

ST. LOUIS (INS)—Missouri's junior U.S. senator has charged that the Soviet's man-made earth satellite is the fifth major scientific "shock" dealt to the United States by Russia.

Senator Stuart Symington, in a St. Louis speech last night, listed the four earlier Soviet "shockers" as the atomic and hydrogen bombs, jet bombers and the newly developed inter-continental ballistic missile.

He then said: "Now comes the fifth, the satellite. It proves that some of us have been wrong in our beliefs about the Russians." The Democratic senator and former Air Force secretary added:

"We might as well face up to it. If our policy does not change we are in grave danger of losing our country."

Virgil Blossom, the hulking school superintendent who must weigh the appeals of parents and students, told International News Service "a great majority are intensely interested in getting back into school."

★ ★ ★

The "intense interest" is registered in the faces and speech of students and their parents waiting in the bare foyer outside Blossom's office.

For 40 of these students, yesterday was obviously one of judgment. The rest would come today.

One well groomed, middle-aged woman told her uneasy teenaged son:

"You've got to go back and hold yourself above this controversy. Your education comes first, ahead of personal dissatisfactions.

The son, shifting in his seat, sheepishly admitted he was hasty in walking out of the school but added, "I didn't join the rabble (students who walked out and hanged a Negro in effigy) across the street."

"Just remember," his mother admonished, "Christ was crucified by a mob."

Another mother, slim, red-haired and distraught, followed her blue-jeaned son from the office and told a bystander:

"I've been on tranquilizers since this integration business started. I guess I'll live through it — if my pills hold out."

★ ★ ★

Neither parent had any assurance from Superintendent Blossom that their offspring would return to classes.

Concerning their problems, Blossom said, "Our job now is rehabilitating the students and getting them into the frame of mind where they are ready for education.

"Wherever the students and their parents show a good cooperative attitude we are working to reinstate them.

"None will return to school before Wednesday and those that do come back on probation. They must display good citizenship or they go back out, this time for good."

Port Huron Site Called Strategic in Seaway Plans

PORT HURON (UP) — Perkins McGuire, assistant secretary of defense, says he is "greatly impressed by the strategic location of Port Huron" at the head of the St. Clair River and foresees for it "a great future as a seaport after opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway."

McGuire was principal speaker last night at a banquet preceding today's opening of Port Huron's Business Opportunities Exhibit.

The exhibit, featuring a model of the United States' earth satellite, will run through Thursday. It is designed to show Michigan industries opportunities of securing new defense and other business.

McGuire said the armed services likely would spend 20 million dollars "for varied new business this year" out of a 38-billion-dollar expenditure."

Gov. Williams was among exhibit visitors.

Ingrid Denies Talk Rossellini in Paris

PARIS (INS) — Ingrid Bergman denied reports today that her husband Roberto Rossellini and his alleged Indian amour Sonali Das Gupta had arrived in Paris.

The Swedish actress, whose husband has been making movies in India for the past several months, said she had heard nothing about his coming to Paris.

As for Sonali, who reportedly left her husband for Rossellini, Miss Bergman said, "Oh, it sounds like something someone made up."

A story appearing in a London newspaper said Rossellini and Sonali arrived in Paris last night for a "showdown" with Miss Bergman.

Neither police, the Indian embassy nor leading hotels were able to confirm the report.

Receives Blank Card

HELENA, Mont. (UP) — Gov. J. Hugo Aronson's office received a 2-cent postcard carefully addressed to the "Executive Department, Helena, Montana," and postmarked Oct. 4, 1957, in Cooksville, Mo. The message side of the card was absolutely blank.

'Sputnik I' on Orbit, Seen by Navy Unit

Island in the Aleutians said the sphere was "very bright and continually visible" until it disappeared behind a cloud.

They described it as of "white appearance, dimly visible to the naked eye, but clearly visible with TX50 binoculars" (standard Navy issue binoculars).

Earlier, at the same weather station, 20 naval officers said they saw the satellite for 10 minutes as "red in appearance initially, changing to yellow and then to white over the 10 minutes." They said it alternately dimmed and brightened.

WASHINGTON — Naval Research Laboratory reported today that Sputnik is due overhead 60 miles east of Detroit at 10:32 p. m. (EST) tonight, coming from southwest and heading northeast.

TRACKED OVER BOSTON

At Cambridge, Mass., scientists of the Astrophysical Observatory of the Smithsonian Institution tracked the Russian satellite over the Boston area at 7:03 a.m. EST today.

The predicted time schedule called for it to make two more passes over continental United States this morning. It was to pass Omaha, Neb., at 8:40 a.m. EST and over the Rocky Mountains some 250 miles northeast of San Francisco at 10:16 a.m. EST.

The satellite won't make another passage over continental United States until after midnight tonight.

The satellite could not be sighted over Boston even with powerful telescopes because of thick weather.

GRANDSTAND VIEW

Residents of Melbourne, Australia, had a grandstand view of the Soviet satellite today. Thousands of persons also saw what was believed to be a portion of the rocket from which the satellite was launched.

★ ★ ★

In cloudless skies the satellite was visible to the naked eye for three to four minutes.

The second satellite appeared almost immediately after the first faded.

It was visible only 30 seconds and appeared to be longer than the first, as if flashing two white lights close together.

★ ★ ★

Russian pride in the achievement and predictions for the future were almost boundless. Soviet Communist Party Chief Nikita Khrushchev was quoted as saying the satellite and Russian long-distance rockets mean that fighter and bomber planes "can be put in museums."

The red leader also was quoted as saying Russian scientists had overtaken American scientists despite predictions they could not do so under the Communist system.

The Day in Birmingham

Police Sergeant Cited for Valor in Gun Fight

BIRMINGHAM—The city's first citation for valor was presented last night to Police Sgt. Richard E. Brown.

Mayor William Roberts, in making the presentation of a plaque, said that a medal was being obtained for Brown in the near future.

Sgt. Brown was wounded a week ago in a gun battle with Frank R. Frahm, 58-year-old Detroiter who was caught during the attempted robbery of a home here.

Brown, reacting in the face of danger, fired four shots at the ex-convict, who died later.

Brown had answered a trouble call to the home of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Van Alstyne, 515 Kenesaw St.

At last night's award, the sergeant fidgeted before commissioners and fellow townsmen, commenting that he was more scared than he was facing the gunman.

The modern living department of the Birmingham Women's Club will meet at the home of Mrs. John Wilson, 251 Oakland Ave., on Thursday.

Mrs. Donald Clarke, Mrs. P. A. Lockhart, Mrs. N. E. Clarke and Mrs. B. Sedgwick will serve on the committee. Mrs. Lewis Paul will present the program on "Toys for Children."

Mrs. Melbourne Appel is Better Living chairman.

Birmingham permits dropped from 91 for August to 53 for September. Estimated construction costs were set at $377,520. Permits included two new single family units, 21 single alterations, one new business, one new garage, and one swimming pool. Several permits also were issued for moving and razing structures.

Delta Gamma alumnae are invited to attend the Birmingham chapter meeting at 8 p.m. tonight at the home of Mrs. Edward J. Schott, 7222 Ward Eagle drive.

Mrs. Schott will be assisted by Mesdames Richard T. Dickason, Richard Pass, and Frank Pero.

Following the business meeting, Katherine Lymperis, Oakland County Board of Education vision consultant, will show stenciling, picture outlining and object making for sense training of visually handicapped children. This is part of the work for the year on the national project of aid to the blind and sight conservation.

Planes Obsolete, Nikita Boasts

Communist Chief Also Warns Turkey Against Warring on Syria

MOSCOW (UP) — Nikita Khrushchev boasted last night that Soviet scientific advances have made war planes obsolete.

He also warned Turkey against shifting its forces to war on Syria while leaving its Russian border bare.

★ ★ ★

The Soviet Communist chief said at an East German Embassy banquet that some people scoffed when Russia announced its intercontinental ballistic missile.

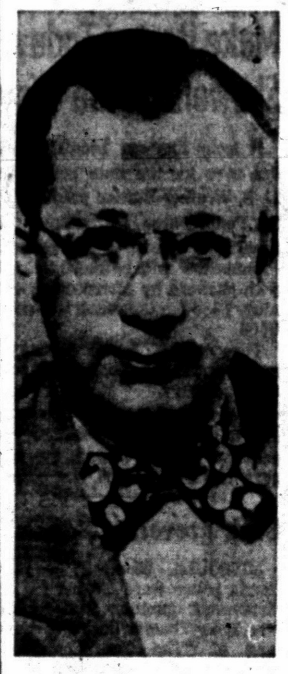

★ ★ ★

"Some people said it was only psychological warfare — that we were only trying to impress people," he said.

"Now we not only have a rocket that can fly to other countries but we have a satellite that flies around the world. I don't have to point to this with my finger—any idiot can see it."

Khrushchev said with these scientific achievements, "they might as well put bombers and fighters in the museum."

"We have passed the richest and most advanced country of the capitalist world — the United States," the party chief crowed.

ATTACKS PENTAGON — Dr. I. M. Levitt, director of Fels Planetarium, in Philadelphia, said the United States could have launched its huge Jupiter C guided missile into outer space a year ago. He said the Pentagon explained its failure to do so by asserting the Jupiter was designed as a missile, not as a satellite launcher.

Japan's Longest Tunnel to Be Started Soon

TOKYO — The Japan National Railways plans to start work soon on an 8.4-mile-long tunnel on the main Hokuriku line, which runs from Maibara on Lake Biwa northward along the Japan Sea to Toyama.

When completed in the spring of 1961 the $19,000,000 tunnel will be Japan's longest and the world's fifth longest. The longest, Simplon Tunnel in the Alps, extends 12.3 miles.

Webford Club to Meet Thursday for Lunch

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — First fall meeting of the Webford Club will be held Thursday at the home of Mrs. G. D. Andress, 6330 Elizabeth Lake Rd. Mrs. Jack Andress will be co-hostess. Potluck luncheon will be served at 12:30 p.m.

Mrs. Mary Eddy Veazy from the Michigan Bell Telephone Co. will give a demonstration on "Color Comes Calling." Each member is asked to bring a guest.

Coal Traffic Climbs

WASHINGTON — According to the American Waterways Operators, Inc., coal river traffic in the nation climbed 26,000,000 tons between 1947 and 1955 and now exceeds 100,000,000 tons a year.

Satellite Stays on Page One Around World

NEW DELHI (UP)—A front-page cartoon in the non-Communist Indian Express today shows U. S. Secretary of State Dulles turning from a telescope trained on the Soviet earth satellite to remark to President Eisenhower:

"This calls for immediate extension of the Ike Doctrine to the moon."

As all Indian papers continued to give news of the satellite extended front-page attention, the President of the Indian National Institute of Sciences sent congratulations on the launching of the satellite to the president of the Soviet Academy of Sciences.

The Indian Communist party also sent "warmest greetings" to the "creative scientists of the Soviet Union and its great people."

JAKARTA, Indonesia (UP) — Indonesian newspapers today told their readers for the first time about the launching of the Soviet earth satellite.

★ ★ ★

The government saluted the achievement as a significant scientific event which "it hopes will be used for the welfare of humanity." But Dr. A. R. Ritsema, director of the meteorological station in Jakarta, complained that the Russians had given no advance information on the man-made moon to help foreign observers and commented:

"It appears all the discoveries made through the use of this satellite will be monopolized by the Russians."

LONDON (UP)—The tabloid Daily Sketch carried a headline from outer space today — the up-and-down black lines of an oscillascope recording of the Soviet earth satellite's radio signal.

"Here is the highest headline ever written," the Sketch said.

Sees No Failure by Congress With 'Moons' Money

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UP) — Rep. Mahon D-Tex., chairman of the House subcommittee on military appropriations, says failure of the United States to develop the first earth satellite was not due to the failure of Congress to provide adequate funds.

★ ★ ★

"If there is an inadequacy of funds," he declared, "it is brought about by the administration's and Bureau of the Budget's withholding of funds which have been made available by Congress for the purpose of preventing defense spending from rising above the level of 38 billion dollars."

★ ★ ★

Mahon made his comments in an interview. He said he hopes Russia's achievement will jolt the administration into aggressive action to end what he called "fateful rivalries" among the Army, Navy and Air Force. He contended the military services have failed to cooperate and coordinate.

5-Year-Old Boy Struck, Injured by Passing Car

A five-year-old Pontiac boy was struck by a passing car yesterday on Columbia avenue near Ivy street, as he ran from behind a parked truck, said Pontiac Police.

Charles Woodard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Woodard of 375 Fourth Ave., was treated at Pontiac General Hospital for minor injuries, and released.

The driver of the car, Roy E. Lindahl, 49, of 3563 Coseyburn Rd., Drayton Plains, told police he had no chance to avoid hitting the child.

Great Britain's casualties in World War I were 750,000 killed.

Gov. Williams Calls Special CD Meeting

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Williams has called a special meeting of the Civil Defense Advisory Council Oct. 21 to consider implication of new Soviet scientific achievements.

The successful Soviet projection of a satellite, and their claim to have a working inter-continental missile, Williams said yesterday, call into question assumptions on which civil defense planning so far has been based.

Among these assumptions are the "probable nature of enemy atomic attack, their probable capacity to hit target cities and the degree to which they could knock out essential installations," he said.

Williams said state civil defense officials, and a representative of the Federal Civil Defense organization, will be asked to sit in on the meeting later this month.

Opposes U.N. Seat for Peiping

U. S. Youth Leaves China

HONG KONG (INS) — One of the 41 young Americans who visited Red China against state department orders has emerged from behind the bamboo curtain with some harsh words for the Peiping regime.

Daniel O'Connell, 25-year-old Chicago polio victim, hobbled into Hong Kong from Red territory Sunday and promptly told newsmen "Red China should not be admitted to the United Nations because it is a state where there's a complete lack of personal freedom."

O'Connell, who went into China after attending the Moscow Youth Festival in August, strongly defended the U.S. ban on trading with China, noting that the Peiping government urgently needs machinery and motor vehicles.

"The U.S. should not only refuse to trade with Red China, but also should discourage its allies from doing so."

One of O'Connell's legs is paralyzed and the other partly affected as the result of an attack of polio in 1946. He entered Hong Kong without a valid entry visa and chose to surrender his passport rather than go back into China.

★ ★ ★

It was understood the passport would be returned when he leaves the British Crown Colony.

O'Connell said he had gone into the Communist country to "see what life was like" there. During the visit, he said, 34 of the 41 Americans virtually never spoke when controversial questions involving the United States were discussed.

"They didn't speak against the United States," he said, "but remained silent. But when discussing Red China's admittance to the United Nations, 33 said Peiping should be admitted."

O'Connell said he was one of those who opposed the idea.

While in Shanghai, he said he asked permission to see imprisoned Roman Catholic Bishop Kung Ping Mei. The request was turned down, but he was taken to see Catholic Chinese as well as a priest he identified as Fr. Cyril Wagner.

Fr. Wagner was suffering from asthma, O'Connell said, but was "neatly dressed."

★ ★ ★

The Chicagoan said the people of China seemed contented with their government, but he added that he was shocked by the fact there is no freedom of the press.

Orders Inspection of Christmas Trees

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Agriculture Department has ordered inspection and certification of all Christmas trees shipped out of Northeast areas infested by the Gypsy moth.

★ ★ ★

The order covers trees grown in Connecticut, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, most of New Hampshire and Vermont, and many counties in Maine and eastern New York.

★ ★ ★

It was feared that the trees could carry tiny buff-colored egg clusters into areas of New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey where the destructive pest has been eliminated by long and expensive drives.

★ ★ ★

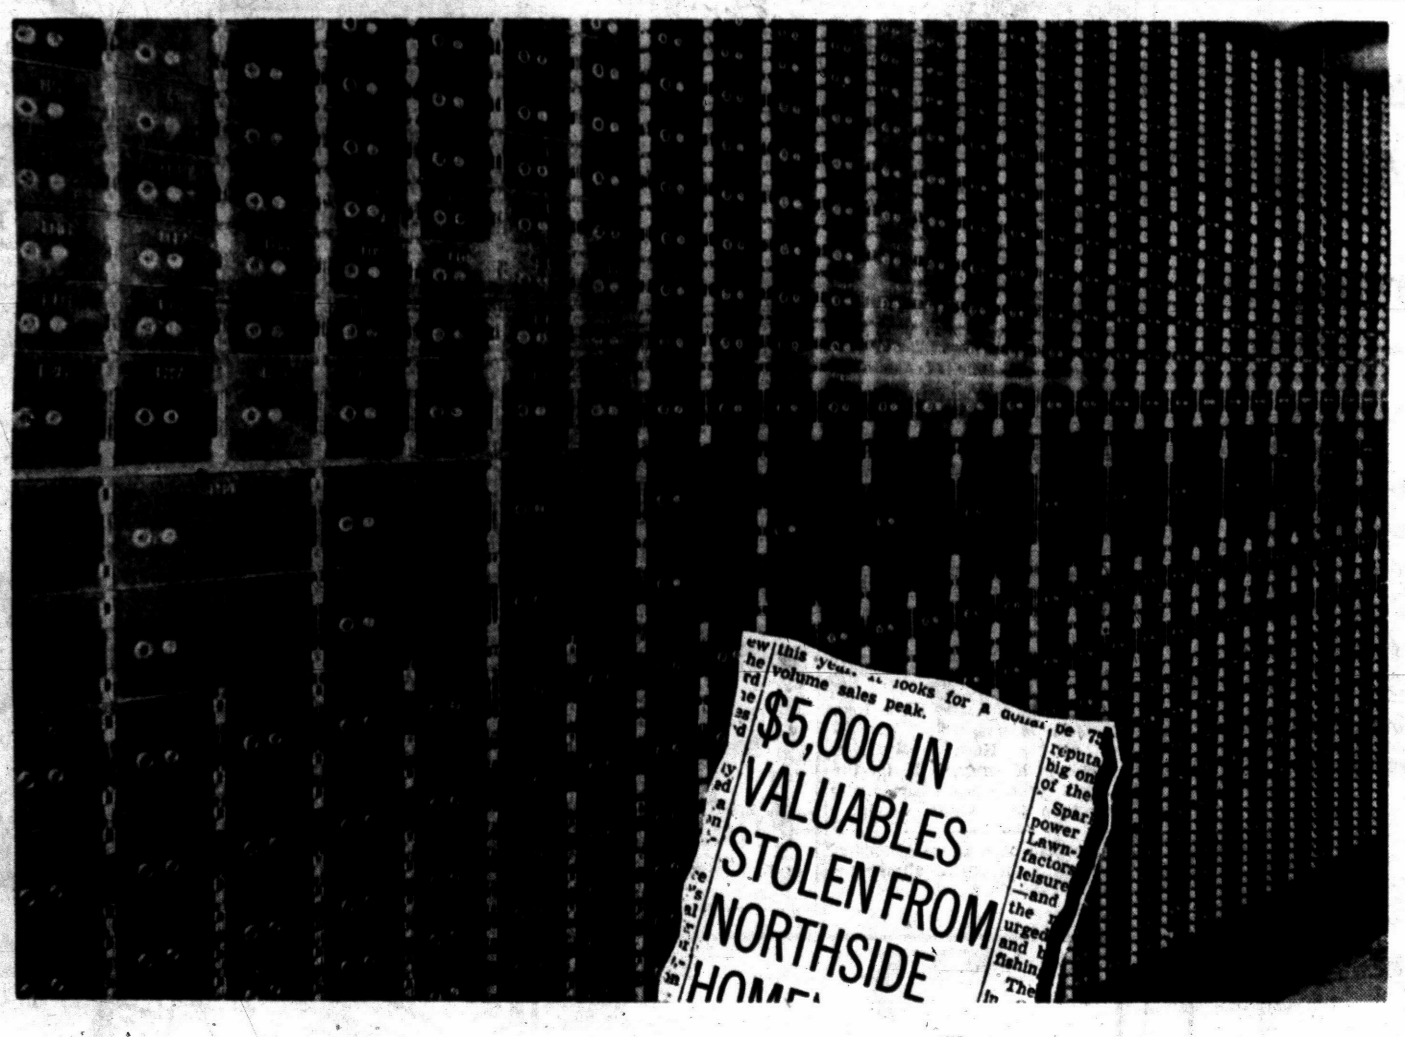

The department appealed to motorists to help control the Gypsy moth by not taking trees out of the infested area.

Crescent rolls, the breakfast treat, were invented by Vienna bakers in 1686. The Turks were besieging the city at the time and the Viennese got the idea from the crescent on the Turkish flag.

Viewers Ponder Bridge's Cables

Engineering Wonders of Mackinac Span Draw Questions

ST. IGNACE (AP) — How in the world did they ever get those big cables up there?

That is one of the questions most often asked about the Macinkac Bridge which joins Michigan's peninsulas across the Straits of Mackinac.

Each cable is made up of 12,850 wires. Together they have 42,000 miles of wire in them, weigh 11,840 tons and are 24½ inches in diameter. Each stretches gracefully over two 47-story towers and down concrete anchors weighing a total of 360,380 tons.

The job of getting them in place looks impossible, and it is—all at once.

First the wire, .196 of an inch thick, arrived in coils 400 feet long. These were spliced by machine into reels weighing about 16 tons and carrying 320,000 feet of wire.

Machine-drawn pulleys rigged on a small steel cable above catwalks stretching from anchor to anchor pulled the cables across, four wires at a time.

The wires were spun into 37 strands of 340 wires each and each strand tied to an individual steel finger reaching out into a gigantic hollow concrete room from their moorings in the anchor blocks.

While bridgemen term placing of the cable, spinning, there is no spinning. The wires go straight. Splices at joints are made with threaded ferrules or sleeves in which the threads are cut. The wires, of course, have threads at the joints.

After the cables are "spun," flat steel bands under high tension are placed about them at intervals.

Finally, when all the suspenders are hung and locked and the suspension spans in place, the cables are coated with a heavy red lead paint, then giant machines wrap them in a strong, heavy wire—three strands at a time—which makes them water-tight.

After that the cables get three coats of outside paint.

Jaycees to Hear Detroit FBI Chief

Charles W. Brown, special agent in charge of the Detroit FBI office, will be featured speaker Wednesday night at the Pontiac Junior Chamber of Commerce's "Ladies Night."

Brown, a member of the bureau since 1940, will appear at the annual dinner to be held at 7 p.m. at the Roosevelt Hotel.

Wives of Jaycees are reminded to bring their purses, as dinner "will be on them," Jaycees report.

The agent has served as special agent in charge of offices in Charlotte, Cincinnati, El Paso and Denver before his appointment in 1955 to the Detroit office.

Jordan Troops Seize Supply of Czech Arms

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—A government spokesman reported today that Jordan security forces seized a "big quantity" of Czech arms near Huwarth village, in the Nablus district of Jordan-occupied Palestine.

Presumably the arms came from Syria, which is being supplied by Czechoslovakia and the Soviet Union. Nablus is a center of discontented Palestinians and Arab refugees from Israel.

The spokesman said the arms were of various types with ammunition. He added that a number of arrests had been made during the raid, which took place yesterday.

'Long Ocean Trip' Only a Short Hop Across the Bay

NAPLES, Italy (AP) — Bound for Venezuela, the 10 Italians loaded their luggage on the boat and kissed the friends and relatives from their home village farewell.

An hour later the voyage was over. They were on the ferry between Naples and the Isle of Capri, just across the bay from the city.

The story was told in court yesterday and Pasquale Corvino, a fugitive, was sentenced in absentia to 10 months in prison on a charge of cheating. He had collected the equivalent of $300 from each of the 10, promising them passage to Venezuela and jobs when they arrived. Instead he put them on the Naples-Capri ferry and then disappeared.

Asian Flu 'No Joke' in Chinese Laundry

DEVONPORT, England (AP) — Jim and Harry Wing hung a notice in the window of their Chinese laundry saying: "Closed owning to Asian flu."

"It's no joke," Jim told a reporter. "My brother, his wife, his two children, my child and I all have it."

'Gunman' Proves to Be Officer Cashing Check

DETROIT (AP)—A police cruiser dashed to the National Bank of Detroit on an excited citizen's telephoned report there was a man with a gun in the bank lobby.

The man carried a gun under his jacket.

He turned out to be Patrolman Eugene Carter in civilian clothes —cashing his paycheck on his day off.

Mackie Against Raids on State Road Funds

KALAMAZOO (AP) — State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie last night cautioned against raids in 1958 on state road building funds.

If they succeed, he told the Oilmen's Club, it will mean fewer road improvements over a longer period.

But Mackie predicted failure for any attempts in the legislature to divert highway funds to highway patrol expense or to aid financially straitened local bus companies.

He reviewed the one and one-quarter billion dollar highway improvement program he outlined last week in Lansing, and said:

"I am confident a vast majority of Michigan motorists, impatient for better roads, will have little sympathy for anybody who proposes financial sabotage of this new highway construction plan."

Sen. Elmer R. Porter (R-Blissfield) has been talking of renewal at the 1958 legislative session of unsuccessful efforts to shift the burden of state police patrol expense from general purpose to highway revenues.

Lauds France's Work in Developing N. Africa

DETROIT (AP) — Dr. I. F. Fraser, director of the American Library in Paris, says the French have made their part of Africa "a functioning, modern country."

This could not have been done without the French, he said in a talk at a meeting of the Economic Club of Detroit yesterday.

"Just as our American West was a desert under the Indians, North Africa had been a desert for 1,500 years under the Arabs," he said.

People Have Guilt Complex Over Luxuries

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — Esther Williams, girl swimmer turned pony-tailed businesswoman, was discoursing on the subject dearest to psychiatric hearts — "personal guilt."

* * *

Everybody's got too much of it, she said.

And how will she ever make a lot of money that way?

"What I mean is," said Miss Williams, "I'm trying to sell people swimming pools with my name on them. And people feel guilty about buying swimming pools, because they think a pool is a luxury that they shouldn't be able to afford.

"Actually, a good swimming pool only costs about the same as a good car, only people can rationalize that they need a car, and they can't rationalize that they need a pool. And why should they feel guilty about one and not the other?"

* * *

Esther struck a pose — Theda Bara-ish in a poor man's way. "Because Hollywood, my old swimmin' hole, has made it look like if you have a pool in the yard, you ought to have a million in the bank and a Sinatra on the patio and a leopard on the hearth."

MIDDLE CLASS SCARED

In other words, Hollywood's technicolor epics, many of which featured Esther herself slithering through silver waters in golden swim suits, have scared America's middle classes, by giving home pools some overtones of sex and opulence. It doesn't seem quite decent to be sexy, or quite appropriate to be opulent.

"So they're just guilty." Miss Williams looks attractively annoyed at the thought.

"Son of a gun, I stopped making underwater movies because I wanted to get out of the tank. Besides, I thought the audience was getting up to here with my toothpaste smile and shiny nose and clean hair. So I stopped and I go into the swimming pool business, and Hollywood's got me in a tank, so to speak, again."

The movie star, whose beauty is still as fresh as today's problem, finally has hired a motivational research outfit to help her decide how to tackle the situation. In ads, for example, should she pose on a diving board like a teenager wet behind the ears and elsewhere ("which I think I can still manage"), or should she sit primly, the efficient businesswoman, at a floating desk?

"Obviously, I can't promote pools in a Bikini," she said. "Marilyn Monroe begat Jayne Mansfield who begat Diana Dors, but mama won't let papa write a check for a swimming pool that is being advertised that way."

KEEP SEX OUT

Sex must be kept out of any substantial family investment.

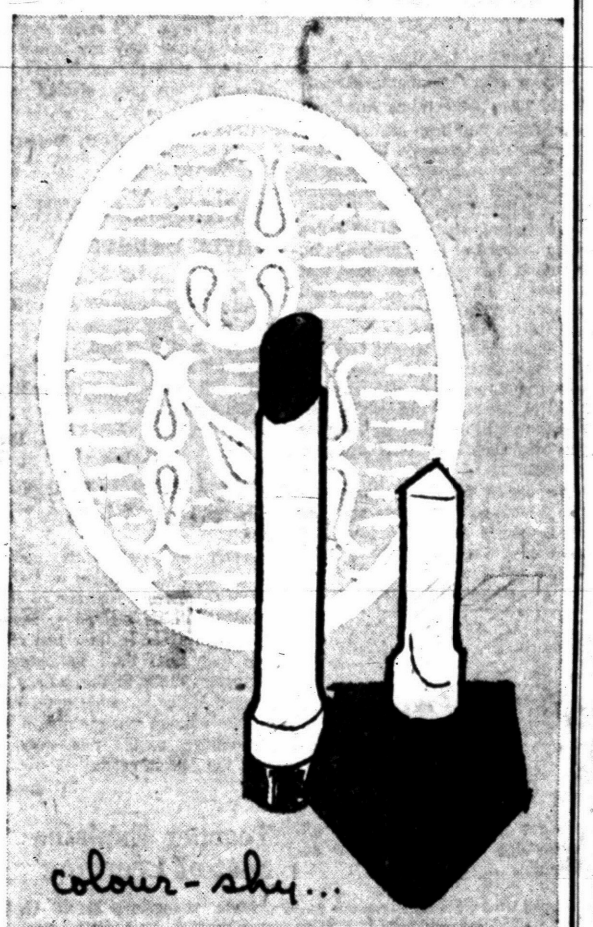

"I can see it now," she said. "The man who's researching me motivationally, is going to come back after his surveys and say all right, three things — get fat, have another baby, and do a TV series showing your family splashing around happily even though they can't afford a car."

* * *

Ah, guilt complexes. Ah, researches motivational. They can sure make you crawl, and not only Australian style.

Scouts Aim at $64,000

TRAVERSE CITY (AP) — The Scenic Trails Council, Boy Scouts of America, including 18 northern Michigan counties, opens its drive Oct. 15 to raise $64,000 for operations in 1958. Meanwhile, 17 other Michigan councils and groups in Wisconsin, Illinois and Indiana begin campaigns for the coordinated Boy Scout fund drive.

Bank's Methods Get International View

There's a distinct Pontiac touch in the current issue of that international monthly, The Reader's Digest.

★ ★ ★

With the largest circulation of any publication in the world (over seven million), that gives us cause for joy at the recognition.

One of its feature stories, "They're Out to Get Your Money," tells about how present day progressive bankers go after customers with methods that would startle their dignified forebears.

★ ★ ★

Among the few banks specifically mentioned (a dozen or so), the third on the list is the Community National Bank of Pontiac, which "has a curb side cage that rises like an elevator out of the sidewalk, and drops back after banking hours."

The article (condensed from Popular Science Monthly), says, "Bankers stay awake nights dreaming up lobby spectaculars to entice people through their doors."

It points out that successful modern banking quite largely follows the modern super market trend.

As a result of these methods, and the thrift crusade, also a banking project, they get credit for the fact that our nation's savings accounts have reached a record high of 80 billion dollars.

★ ★ ★

This condition, "Just as it is good for the banks, also is good for the rest of us, for every dime that is saved strengthens the anti-inflation dike."

France Again Needs New National Leader

All hope that France would be able to present a workable plan to sidetrack U.N. General Assembly discussion on the Algerian question, has gone by the boards.

With the ousting of Premier BOURGES-MAUNOURY the plan to divide Algeria into six provinces — four Moslem and two European — has been discarded by a narrow vote. France's 22nd premier since World War II, in office less than four months, also had made a brave attempt to deal with economic problems.

★ ★ ★

Finance Minister GAILLARD advanced an austerity program of price and wage controls and reduction of agricultural subsidies to check inflation. This, of course, aroused both labor and the farmers.

Opposition to the premier was led by Communists on the left and Poujadists and Gaullists on the right. Neither group has any program of its own and could not form a new government. Left wingers voted against ment. Left wingers voted against the Algerian plan because it didn't go far enough and right wingers because it offered too much.

France's constitution is responsible for the instability of its government. A cabinet can be overthrown by diverse minority elements. Any premier attempting to take a strong constructive stand finds himself out of office. However, the various ministries so used to crises, keep the wheels turning no matter what happens at the top.

When narrow personal interests are put ahead of national and world interests, the question is how long can France put off the task of solving its grave problems.

Japan on U.N. Council

Japan, our enemy not so long ago, has been elected to a non-permanent seat on the Security Council of the United Nations of which it has been a member less than a year.

A "gentleman's agreement" in 1945 allotted one of the six elective seats to Eastern Europe and Russia demanded it for Czechoslovakia. But Communist Eastern Europe is well represented and Asia is emerging as a power entitled to a seat. Choice of the Moscow satellite, Czechoslovakia, would merely have given Russia an extra vote on the Council.

Japan has shown increasing independence of the United States and was elected to the seat by the votes of free nations over strong Soviet protests. The action was a tribute to the first former enemy of founding members to be seated in the Council, which is primarily responsible for maintaining peace and security.

MEMBER OF AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS

The Gilded Cage

David Lawrence Says:

Why Get Jittery Over Satellite?

WASHINGTON — What a strange case of jitters has swept the most powerful country in the world! The Soviets shoot a rocket 560 miles up into the air and send a ball spinning into space and everybody forgets that the U.S. Army sent a rocket 600 miles into the air a year ago. It went 3,600 miles across the earth's surface and just didn't happen to have a ball attached to it to be flung into space.

LAWRENCE

Yet today the emphasis is on the fact that the Soviets have the power to fire guided missiles across continents, and presumably America doesn't. This is supposed to terrify the American people and tell them that Russia has intercontinental missiles and America had better bow in humble submission.

Some of the hysterical reaction arising in the United States from the Soviet announcement was promptly noted in the Soviet press. Immediately there were demands that America "change" her foreign policy and agree to "coexistence." This is but another way of demanding that the Soviet policy be accepted. This means infiltration wherever the Communists wish and continued enslavement of hundreds of millions of people.

READY TO SURRENDER?

Judging from some of the comments in America, there are persons who feel the only thing to do is to surrender to the Russians and forget about any possible resistance. One is reminded of the tales told in the 1930s by those prominent visitors who were invited to see the Nazis' air strength and their armored divisions. These observers immediately counseled that there was no use resisting such military power and that it was better to try to "do business with Hitler."

Unquestionably the Soviets have pulled off a propaganda stunt which is dramatic to the extreme. But American foreign policy is not usually upset by propaganda. The position of the United States against the Soviets was outlined in four hours of conversation by Secretary of State Dulles to Andrei Gromyko, the Soviet foreign minister, last Saturday.

Their meeting in Washington occurred on the day after the first announcement of the Soviet's launching of a space ball. From what has been learned here since, the Soviets showed in that conference no signs of forwarding the cause of peace. Their policies presumably are based on the theory that democracies are weak and fickle and will be swayed by propaganda stunts.

There are bound to be certain consequences in the other direction —a stiffening of American policy. Instead of assuming that military preparation can be cut down through "disarmament" discussions, there will be a tendency here to urge larger appropriations for armament.

Perhaps the most interesting aspect of the new revelation is the confirmation it gives of the wisdom of President Eisenhower's aerial inspection program. It has been known for some time that airplanes could fly at tremendous heights and avoid detection. They can photograph from the sky and go unmolested.

The theory that one government will not permit another government to fly planes over its territory without permission seems to have been abandoned by the Russians in their latest exploit. They were supposed to have announced in advance, for scientific reasons, their intention to traverse the air over America, but they didn't.

One wonders what the Soviets would have said if an American contrivance had been sent spinning over Russian territory. Maybe the Soviets have unwittingly created a precedent for future reconnaissance through the air. They have been arguing that 12 to 30 miles is the territorial limit horizontally. It might be contended now that vertically there is no national sovereignty over space way up high in the heavens.

Long before the Wright brothers flew the first plane, there were adventurous pioneers who traveled high in balloons. But while balloons are still of value for weather purposes, they don't play any part in warfare.

We are a long way from the "Buck Rogers" era yet—and the moon seems to be not just 560 miles in the air but still at least 215,000 miles away.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Cause of Adult Tetany Is Calcium, 'D' Deficiency

"Your suggestions have helped me in many instances — hives cured, pruritus greatly relieved, hunger pain stopped. But tetany does not seem to be helped, although I take 6 calcium capsules daily and make every effort to get a high calcium diet. (G.S.B.)"

★ ★ ★

It would be interesting to know, sir, what symptoms indicate that you have tetany.

DR. BRADY

A symptom is any change from the normal condition or function perceptible to the patient.

Most pediatric textbooks give obviously contrived descriptions of an infantile state called tetany. I have not examined every such textbook of recent vintage and I don't intend to. But I have studied enough of them to realize that these pediatric authorities have been led up the garden path by their predecessors.

In a pamphlet on Adult Tetany, available free for a stamped, self-addressed envelope, and in this column I have purposely emphasized the most familiar symptom of adult tetany, namely, painful cramp in foot or leg, sometimes in hand or arm, occurring in the night or perhaps on waking early in the morning, especially if one ventures to stretch.

DEFICIENCY IS CAUSE

What will relieve such a cramp is a medical question, not in my province. But I can tell you with assurance gained from long study and experience, what causes adult tetany and what will prevent this and other manifestations of it.

The cause is calcium and vitamin D deficiency.

To prevent the painful nocturnal cramps, follow a high calcium diet and expose as much skin to direct sunshine or diffuse daylight as may be convenient. Or else supplement your regular diet with a good daily ration of calcium and vitamin D — not for a week but daily for a few weeks and then two or three days a week the year around.

This will not only prevent painful nocturnal cramps but it will prevent numerous common ailments due to calcium and D deficiency.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

The Country Parson

"Nowadays if you want to do a job, you can rent just about any equipment you need—except the will to do it."

Case Records of a Psychologist:

How Should This Be Handled?

Art violated the traffic laws several times. He was arrested and fined. But his name never was printed in the newspaper. So the parents of his girl friend did not realize the hazard to their daughter when Art took her for an automobile drive. If the newspaper had warned the public about Art, wouldn't it have rendered a bigger public service?

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case W-314: Art Jr., aged 17, is a high school senior.

"Dr. Crane, Art took my daughter on a date last week," her father informed me.

"I didn't know he was one of those smart alecks who thinks he is a big shot to race a car at 80 or 90 miles an hour.

DR. CRANE

"My daughter is now in the hospital with a broken pelvis and such a mutilated face that plastic surgeons may never be able to make her look even halfway normal again.

"If our newspaper had published the names of juvenile lawbreakers, this would never have happened.

"For Art had been arrested several times because of speeding, but I had no way of knowing that fact.

★ ★ ★

"So I assented to my daughter's going with him on her date last week. But if I had known he was a lawbreaker, I'd have kept her home!"

NEWSPAPER RESPONSIBILITY

Yesterday I mentioned Editor Ben Maidenburg's dilemma about whether to print the identity of juvenile offenders or shield them by omitting their names when their crimes are described in the paper.

Art's case is a classical example to show that withholding the names may sometimes promote more disaster.

A newspaper's aim is to do the most good for the most people over the longest period of time.

Is that motto fulfilled by publicly labeling every criminal? Or is it better that teenagers be given extra advantages when they violate the law?

Back in Biblical times we are told that God branded the murderer Cain with a mark on his forehead, so the Almighty thus had no hesitation in publicly exposing a serious offender.

Indeed, this public censure of criminals may often exert as wholesome an effect as to lock them in a prison cell.

In Colonial Days, our pioneer forefathers appreciated that fact by placing petty offenders in the public square, where their heads and hands were fastened in the pillory.

★ ★ ★

There the culprits were taunted and laughed at. They even became targets for rotten eggs and decayed vegetables.

And the children of the community quickly learned that crime certainly did not pay social dividends! No romantic "halo" attached to the heads of those humiliated violators.

Many intelligent modern Americans still feel that it would be a wise thing if we returned to the pillory method or even public floggings of petty culprits.

"We are becoming maudlin and stupid in our undue coddling of lawbreakers," they argue.

CHRIST'S FORMULA

"If a man smite thee on one cheek," Christ stated, "turn the other also."

But Jesus didn't say we should keep up with this policy endlessly.

So let's apply that formula to the matter of juvenile crime.

If a teenager gets embroiled in the action of a mob and thus is led into violation of the law in some minor respect, suppose we offer him a chance to profit from that first error.

Let's omit his name from the newspaper account. But if he violates the law a second time, then he is either stupid or likely to be a "habit" criminal.

In which case, wouldn't it be wise to warn society by naming him? This would have protected Art's girl friend in today's case.

And if anybody commits a major criminal act, such as murder, shouldn't he be named in the newspaper, regardless of his age? What do you say?

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

I don't know if I should praise the City or the residents, but I guess both are in line for commendation. Downtown streets look 100 per cent cleaner since the city placed litter cans on the sidewalks. It just goes to show you that people weren't really sloppy, but just needed more places to put their paper bags, etc.

Relates Experience in Auto Accident

Having just had a valuable experience, I'd like to pass on a lesson in how to handle an automobile accident in which you're involved.

If you have hit another car but have no driver's license or insurance and you're at fault, if your car is smashed and you can't drive it away, I'll tell you what to do. Get out and run, and when the police pick you up, deny everything, then hire a good lawyer. If the case gets serious, go ahead and plead guilty.

If you're lucky and come up before Judge Finnegan, you can get off with a $10 fine. That's what happened recently when I was hit by a man who handled the accident that way. If the guy in the other car is injured, so what? You must protect yourself. All they can do is get a judgment against you, and then you can quit your job and skip town. It's really simple.

Now I know why my insurance rates are so high, but I don't understand why we elected this judge.

Security for You

Benefit Payments Like Life Insurance

By RAY HENRY

Mary Martinez probably wouldn't have believed it if she'd been told a year ago that her husband had nearly $40,000 in life insurance.

But, after her husband died last October, she discovered that Social Security is very likely to mean at least that much to her and the 10 Martinez children, all under 18.

Here's how:

Her husband had worked as a market employe for a number of years. His job was covered by Social Security and Social Security tax had been deducted from his wages every pay day.

As it does for all people covered by Social Security, the Social Security Administration had kept track of Martinez' work and the wages on which he had paid Social Security tax.

So, when his wife applied for payments after his death, it was to this record that her local office turned.

Based on this record, Mrs. Martinez was told that she and the children would be eligible for $200 a month for at least the next 13 years; that the payments might drop some after that. But, she was also told, she would continue to get payments until Steven, born four months after his father's death, had reached 18.

The grand total of the payments would be nearly $40,000, not counting the old age payments which Mrs. Martinez will be eligible to draw when she reaches 62. She's now 36.

Like Mrs. Martinez, many wives probably would be surprised to find that their husband's Social Security record would provide them and their children with such insurance.

Yet, the right of survivors to collect payments after a worker's death has been part of the Social Security law since 1940.

FOR EXAMPLE:

Here's a rundown of how the law can work for you:

Suppose you're the breadwinner for a wife and two children under 18. And, suppose you die tomorrow.

If your widow were to visit a Social Security office, the people there would first check to see whether you were "fully" or "currently" insured when you died.

To be "fully" insured, you generally must have worked under Social Security since 1936 an amount of time equal to at least half of the time between Jan. 1, 1950 and the time of your death. To be "currently" insured, you must have worked for at least 1½ of the last three years before your death.

If your Social Security record shows you were either fully or currently insured, the Social Security people will immediately ask her to apply for payments.

Your wife and children will receive payments based on the amount of your average monthly earnings. The minimum payment she'll receive will be $50.20 for herself and the children. This is based on an average monthly income of $50.

The maximum payment she may receive will be $200 a month, based on an average monthly earning of at least $310.

Payments of your wife's benefits will end in the month preceding any of the following: (1) Your children become no longer entitled to receive payments because both are over 18. (2) Your wife becomes eligible, through her own earnings, to an amount equal to what she's being paid as your widow. (3) Your wife remarries.

(Questions on Social Security problems may be addressed to "Social Security," in care of The Pontiac Press. Questions will be answered by mail from the Pontiac office of the Social Security Administration. There is no charge for this service.)

Trial Famine Ended

TAKES THE GUESSWORK OUT OF COOKING

AUTOMATICALLY!

Like magic . . . foods don't burn, don't boil over! Now you can cook on top burners by temperature control, the same as in your oven. The secret lies in the new Gas top burner that "feels" the temperature on the bottom of the pan. This "Magic Touch" top burner makes every pot, pan and skillet you own an automatic cooker. Whether you're preparing elaborate sauces or deep-fat frying (in an ordinary saucepan) the Gas flame does all the necessary adjusting by itself . . . like magic. And new Gas Ranges have other enchanting features . . . they're automatic all the way. Oven, broiler, griddle, roast control, rotisserie and ignition are self-operating, too.

Racial Bitterness Injures City

Blossom Sees 3- Year Task Shot

Second in Series
By RELMAN MORIN

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)— A more thoroughly angry, harassed and sorrowing man than Virgil T. Blossom would be hard to find today.

Blossom is superintendent of schools in Little Rock and architect of the "Little Rock plan" designed to integrate its schools.

★ ★ ★

He worked on it for three years, inching carefully toward a solution of the thousand-and-one problems. It was the hardest job of his life. Two months ago, he thought he had it licked.

Then came disaster.

On the night of Sept. 2, the School reopened for the fall term, Gov. Orval Faubus suddenly put National Guardsmen around the high school. His orders — keep out Negroes.

The "Little Rock plan" went up the chimney.

What's more, it may never be salvaged. First, the federal courts answered Faubus. Then, President Eisenhower put steel in their rulings by the startling order that has brought federal troops to Arkansas.

Integration has taken place, in the sense that nine Negro children, under guard, are sitting in classes in the school.

But in the process, a fine community has been wounded to the quick. People who may have had no pronounced feeling about integration before, now have taken sides. Deep emotion has welled up. It is polarized today in two white-hot points. There is little doubt that the segregationist point is bigger and hotter.

Hence, Blossom's plan — a long range plan— is certain to encounter resistance he thought had been dispelled.

Blossom started working on it in May 1954.

At that time, the school board announced it would comply with he Supreme Court decision declaring segregation unconstitutional. But Blossom said then, and still says, time is the all-important factor.

"You need time to remove the psychological barrier present in both races," he says.

The essential of the plan are:

1. Phasing integration over an unspecified period of years. It begins with the high schools, then applies to junior high schools, and finally the primary grades.

2. Scheduling it in terms of finances, facilities and problems that develop as the process moves forward.

It has a unique third feature.

Any student, white or Negro, who by reason of his address would normally be assigned to a school where his race is in the minority is permitted to go out of his district and enroll in one which has a majority of his race.

"I've always said the majority of people do not want integration," says Blossom. "But our job on the school board is to comply with the law as set forth by the Supreme Court."

As the planning went forward, Blossom was out talking to parents, teachers and civic groups, explaining it. He appeared more than 200 times. He answered questions, invited criticisms.

He is a formidable salesman. He quotes an ardent segregationist as saying after one of the meetings, "Doggone, Virgil, you almost sold me. I couldn't think of a good argument to give you."

But others did.

The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored people, demanding total integration, twice challenged the "Little Rock plan" in the courts, but the plan was upheld each time.

"The Little Rock plan" went on the shelf. But Blossom says today:

"Integration is here and I think it's here to stay. The court order may be obeyed. I believe it will all work out."

Others disagree.

Plan Football Game, Dance

Nike Open House Saturday

In commemoration of the 40th anniversary of the anti-aircraft artillery service, a open house, football game and a dance will be held Saturday at the Nike site at Auburn Heights.

★ ★ ★

The officers and enlisted men of Delta Battery of the 18th AAA Missile Battalion will be hosts during an open house scheduled from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. The public has been invited to attend this and other events.

During the open house the site will be officially named the "Auburn Heights Nike Site" in honor of the community in which it is located, according to Capt. Raymond J. Geoffrion, commanding officer.

Tours will be conducted through both the headquarters and launcher areas. Refreshments will be served. They have been provided by the Auburn Heights Rotary Club and the Moms Club.

★ ★ ★

A "flag" football game will be played at Avondale High School at 3:30 between a battery team and a group of local players. The 28th AAA Group (parent unit of the 18th) Drum and Bugle Corps will perform at half time.

The final event will be a dance Saturday night at 9 at the Auburn Heights American Legion Hall. It will be sponsored by the American Legion and the Lions Club of the community.

The Nike site is located at the junction of Hamlin and Squirrel roads just north of Auburn Heights.

Tests Fail to Prove Poisoning of Ex-Red

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — Former Russian agent Nikolai E. Khokhlov may have been poisoned with thallium but medical tests still have not proved it, a U.S. Army hospital reports.

★ ★ ★

Col. Frank Y. Leaver, commanding officer of the hospital here, said Khokhlov has improved considerably since being admitted two weeks ago. Leaver said he believes Khokhlov's illness "is due to poisoning but this has not been proved by toxological studies."

★ ★ ★

Khokhlov is a former Soviet secret police captain who defected to the West in 1954. Officials of the anti-Soviet National Alliance of Russian Solidarists have charged Soviet agents poisoned him. Col. Leaver said he had suffered from skin blisters, loss of hair and high temperature, symptoms which might have resulted from tallium poisoning.

The Hudson River was given its name in 1674. Before that it had been named the San Antonio River and the Mauritius River.

Zhukov of Russia Visits Yugoslavia

BELGRADE (AP)—Soviet Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov began an eight-day visit to Yugoslavia today. The Russian defense minister is the highest ranking Soviet military man to come here since World War II.

★ ★ ★

Zhukov landed at the ancient Adriatic port of Zadar from the Soviet cruiser Kuibyshev.

Adm. Mate Jerkovic, the army chief of staff, Gen. Ljubo Vuckovic and other high-ranking Yugoslav military officers welcomed Zhukov, who is a member of the Soviet Communist party's ruling Presidium.

After inspecting a naval guard of honor at Zadar, Zhukov was taken to the nearby military airport of Zemunik to be flown to Belgrade.

★ ★ ★

Zhukov and his party of high-ranking Soviet officers will visit military units and installations in Croatia and Slovenia, in western Yugoslavia, as government guests.

Will it always be too big for Bobby?

Bobby will be the happiest boy this side of heaven the day he gets that M.D. after his name. But right now things don't look too promising.

Bobby lives in a community where there's a serious shortage of classrooms, teachers and good schoolbooks. That means less schooling for Bobby than he needs.

Let's see that this doesn't happen in our schools. You can help by supporting our School Board, by attending PTA meetings and school conferences.

Hal Boyle Says:

Shirley Jones Tired of Acting Like Shirley

NEW YORK (AP) — Shirley Jones is a sweet, old-fashioned girl who doesn't want to spend the rest of her life acting like a sweet, old-fashioned girl.

Critics have hailed the Cinderella-like rise of the young film star, but Miss Jones herself definitely doesn't want to remain a Cinderella forever.

"I'm afraid too many people think I am nothing but a perpetual ingenue — able to play only saccharine roles," she said.

Shirley, a Smithton, Pa., brewer's daughter, has had only one small setback in her career. She failed to win a contest to represent her state in the "Miss America" beauty contest. But after appearing in the Pittsburgh Civic Light Opera, she won star rank in two important Hollywood productions — "Oklahoma!" and "Carousel."

★ ★ ★

But was she to spend the rest of her life in crinolines? Some meanies were unkind enough to suggest that Miss Jones, although she had a wonderful voice, was a bit on the chubby side — and maybe the crinolines were a merciful favor.

Shirley's answer was to diet down to a svelte 113 pounds (she's 5 feet 5; for her latest film, "April Love," costarring Pat Boone. Only a born churl could find fault with her figure now."

The trimmed-down Jones chassis is seen to good advantage as Shirley does a chaste strip tease while preparing to take a shower. She has no intention of trying to outdo Gypsy Rose Lee, but she does hope to progress to more mature roles in which she can demonstrate her acting ability more than her talent at singing.

One of her goals is to appear in a stage show with her husband, Jack Cassidy, who is a veteran of 23 Broadway productions.

She and Cassidy, who have bought a home on the West Coast, live quietly and avoid the rounds of cafe society. Shirley not only looks like "the girl next door." She can cook like the mother of the girl next door, and enjoys it.

"Eventually I want to raise a family of four or five children. If I can have them and stay in show business I will. But if it becomes too much of a task, then I'll get out."

Shirley has none of the neurotic fears and feelings of insecurity that afflict many young performers whose rise to stardom is more of a polevault than a climb.

"I don't believe in being afraid," she said. "There are too many worthwhile things in life to do to let yourself be overtaken by fear. Why should anyone let fear be a major factor?"

Christ's Tongue Dying Language

Today Only 3,000 Can Speak Aramaic, Once Widely Used

MALLOULA, Syria (INS) — "Say the Lord's Prayer, and say it in the tongue our Lord spoke," the priest said to one of his 15-year-old parishioners.

The boy recited the Lord's Prayer breathlessly in Aramaic and dashed away.

The Rt. Rev. Athanasius Skaff beamed and said:

"Isn't it wonderful to hear it in the very words Christ may have used." Then sadly: "But it's a dying language."

★ ★ ★

Today only some 3,000 people can speak Aramaic—a language that in Persian times was the Lingua Franca of the entire Middle and Near East and which Jesus Christ is believed to have spoken.

Never written but handed down by word of mouth, Aramaic has survived to this day only in the Syrian villages of Malloula, Jabadein and Bakha.

With an almost entirely Greek Orthodox population of 1,500 Malloula presents the strange spectacle of a village literally plastered on to the side of a steep, rocky ravine, the dead-end of a gorge in the barren foothills of the Anti-Lebanon range.

The small, whitewashed houses sit one over the other while at the very top, and under a forbidding overhang of sheer rock, stands the monastery of Mar Taqla—a shrine that draws thousands of visitors and pilgrims every year.

Asked whether there had been any miraculous or noteworthy cures during his 10-year tenure of office, Father Athanasius boomed:

"Of course, of course, my boy. Didn't you know that faith can move mountains?"

Then he told the story of Mar Taqla, a 15-year-old girl who was converted to Christianity in 60 A.D. and is believed to be one of the first Christian martyrs.

For 55 years she lived like a hermit in the cave above the monastery and healed those who came to her.

She died around 130 A.D., according to Father Athanasius, and lies buried inside the cave which has been converted into a chapel, lined with marble and Byzantine icons and hung with silver censers.

GOP Risk Program Detailing Declined

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—National GOP Chairman Meade Alcorn declines to say where his party has begun its calculated risk program of selecting candidates for the 1958 primaries.

Touring the Northwest, Alcorn told a news conference here the party is willing to risk a "political boss" tag to get better candidates on primary tickets. He indicated he feels the candidates the national party supports will be the nominees after the primaries in most instances.

Alcorn said candidate-selection is in progress in one Pacific Northwest state. He refused to say which state or whether representatives or senators are involved.

Draft Board in Georgia Balks on Calling Up Men

BUENA VISTA, Ga. (AP) — The Marion County draft board says it will not call up any more men for duty until it is assured they will not be used by what it called a "misguided president" to enforce Supreme Court decisions or Federal Court orders.

The decision was announced in a letter mailed Oct. 1 by the board to the state headquarters of the Selective Service System in Atlanta.

Integration Problem! Men Would Oust Girl

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—"Fringe benefits" may be paying off for Jeanne Smith. But students at all-male Bellarmine College a Catholic institution, don't want a coed in their classes.

The school newspaper, the Concord, reported the student senate adopted a resolution directing its president to investigate the presence of a "female student" in day classes.

★ ★ ★

The Rt. Rev. Alfred F. Horrigan, college president, explained that while the school doesn't admit women in the day division, it's "a fringe benefit for Miss Smith, who is a member of our staff."

As for Miss Smith, she enjoys the classes, but says:

"I'm not an intruder in a men's college."

Destroy Records of Sigler Jury

State Supreme Court Orders 'Hot' Documents Burned; Storage Costly

LANSING (AP)—The bulky records of the so-called Sigler grand jury, one of the most sensational criminal inquiries in Michigan history, went up in smoke yesterday.

They were destroyed in an industrial incinerator by order of the State Supreme Court and under supervision of Circuit Judge Louis E. Coash, who terminated the probe June 30, 1947.

★ ★ ★

The grand jury investigation, begun in 1943, started as a sifting of charges that bribes were paid to state legislators.

Before it ended four years later, indictments had been handed down not only against legislators, but police officials and businessmen as well.

Relatively few of those indicted were convicted, however, and of those sent to prison all have served their terms or died.

★ ★ ★

The spectacular inquiry catapulted Kim Sigler, original special prosecutor, into the governor's office and Circuit Judge Leland W. Carr, the original special grand juror, to a seat on the State Supreme Court.

Sigler later was killed in an airplane accident. Carr still serves on the Supreme Court.

Judge Coash succeeded Carr in the grand jury investigation, and Richard Foster, Lansing attorney, replaced Sigler.

Authority for destruction of the records was asked by Jack Warren, Ingham County prosecutor, who said their maintenance was becoming costly and no longer served any good purpose.

The court's order was to destroy covered documents, transcripts, notes and assorted other records filling 84 drawer file cabinets, 23 cardboard boxes and cardboard file cabinet drawers, 109 loose leaf binders, six card files and numerous manila envelopes.

Hoping to get to America, 43-year-old Antonin Liska and his wife Jarmila took their children, 9 and 5, and slipped into one of the empty oil tank cars that is sent to Austria regularly to pick up the oil that Russia exacts as reparations. They brought along old military gas masks—in case the car's air was bad — and a large nylon sack of clothes and food.

★ ★ ★

6 Klansmen Indicted for Mutilating Negro

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UP)—Indictments charging mayhem and assault with intent to murder have been returned against six white men in the sex mutilation of a 34-year-old Negro.

Officers said Judge Aaron was kidnaped Sept. 2, taken to a meeting of the Klu Klux Klan and castrated to prove that one of the six men was worthy of promotion in a Klan organization.

Aaron, officers said, was picked up at random by the men as he and a girl companion walked along a road.

Aaron said his abductors told him to tell Negro leaders the same thing would happen to them if they sought to send their children to white schools.

Texas Town Sells Pool in Anti-Integration Move

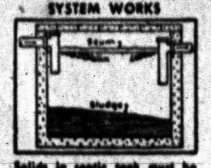

MARSHALL, Tex. (UP) — E. N. Power who bid $10,500, has been awarded sale of the city swimming pool in an anti-integration move.

The city offered the pool and other facilities for sale after Titus Edwards, 21, a Marshall Negro, sought in U.S. District Court an injunction against the ban of Negroes at the pool. The case was set for a Nov. 4 hearing.

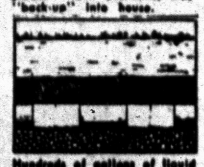

Power said he plans to reopen the pool, now closed for the winter, next year. Marshall citizens approved sale of the city property in a special election last spring.

DON'T RISK A CLOGGED SEPTIC TANK—DRAINFIELD!

HOW YOUR SEPTIC SYSTEM WORKS

Solids in septic tank must be liquefied to prevent overflow into drainfields and clogging of drainfield laterals—"fingers". When bacterial action is lacking—killed by detergents, chemicals, or hampered by grease — tank overflows, may "back-up" into house.

Hundreds of gallons of liquid must pass through drainfield daily and be absorbed into surrounding soil. When necessary bacterial action is lacking soil becomes clogged, new field may be necessary.

Septic Aide, used regularly, provides positive bacterial action to liquefy solids in septic tank system or cesspool; helps assure proper absorption in drainfield. Septic Aide helps to keep systems sanitary; prevents overflow, kills odors. Septic Aide costs pennies, may save dollars in messy repairs requiring digging up your lawn and yard.

● SIMPLE TO USE Septic Aide is a clean, odorless powder requiring no mixing. It is simply flushed into toilet or drain every month after first application.

● SAFE TO USE Septic Aide is non-toxic, non-caustic, non-poisonous. Safe for plumbing, appliances, septic tank, drainfield, animals and humans. CAN'T HURT HANDS!

● ECONOMICAL TO USE Six Septic Aide Treatments cost only $2.98

Don't Receive Information From Reds

Many American Scientists Frustrated by Russians' Secrecy About 'Moon'

WASHINGTON (UP) — Said the U.S. scientist at the Naval Research Laboratory:

"Maybe we ought to send up our own satellite with a television camera to circle around the Russian satellite. That way we'd know what's going on."

★ ★ ★

The remark, made both in sorrow and in jest, is a tipoff on the attitude of the men who had to catch the Russian satellite in mid-air and track it down.

It's a mixed attitude. They're irked and frustrated, but they're proud too.

They're irked because they haven't yet received the cooperation that they had been led to expect from Russian scientists during this International Geophysical Year.

They're frustrated because there is nothing they can do about it.

And they're proud because, in spite of this lack of cooperation, they managed in a relatively few hours to latch onto the satellite's path and plot its future course.

A Russian satellite expert has said the baby moon now whirling overhead at 18,000 miles an hour is a sort of experimental model. A second one will go up soon, he added, and information from its flights around the earth will be shared with the world's scientists.

★ ★ ★

That's what an American expert meant yesterday when he said "Sure, the Russians said they would exchange information freely with us—but they didn't say when."

The American added that as soon as U.S. experts got a true "fix" on the satellite's path, that information would be dispatched at once to the 62 nations taking part in the International Geophysical Year—including Russia.

★ ★ ★

"As far as we know they don't have a true fix yet," he said. "For that matter, as far as we know, they may have a perfect fix. As far as we know, we just don't know."

When the bare announcement came out of Moscow that the Russians had launched what they call a Sputnik, the men of the Naval Research Laboratory went to work at once tracking it down.

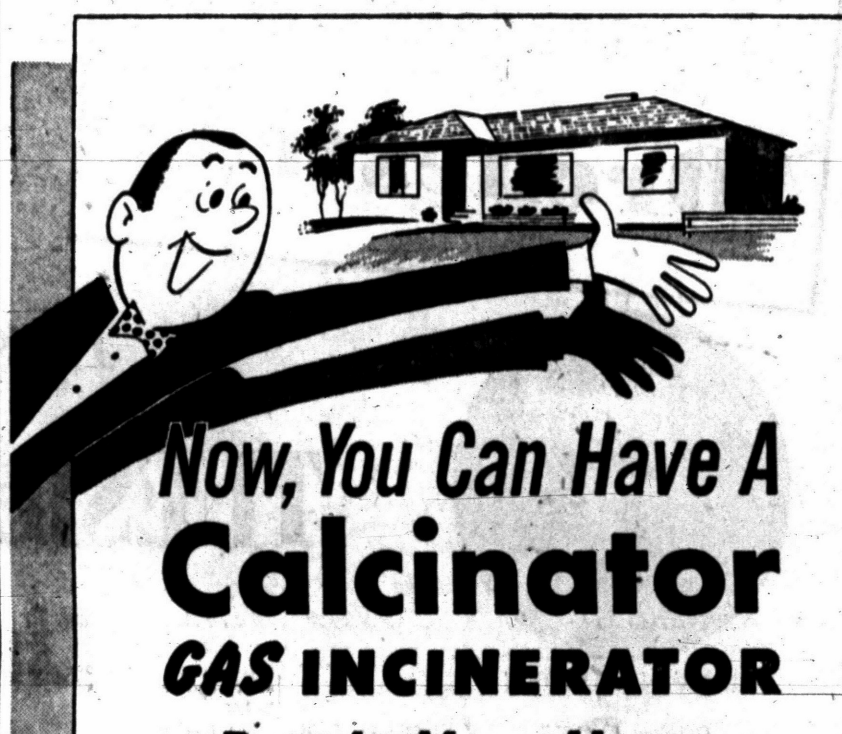

Nine "Minitrack" stations were already set up in North and South America to track the American satellite Vanguard when it goes aloft, probably in early spring. Those stations were pressed into service with a quick change of radio equipment and given a new target—Sputnik.

The Minitrack stations get a lot of credit—but almost as much of the initial credit goes to the nation's 165,000 licensed amateur radio operators.

★ ★ ★

"The hams flooded our switchboard right from the start," one American at the research laboratory said. "We even got a report from an American ship off the coast of Japan."

The father of a teenage boy says he's worried about the kid: "He suddenly stopped asking embarrasing questions." . . . A couple we know usually gets into battles while doing crossword puzzles. It seems that one word leads to another. —Earl Wilson

Two Quints Due to Wed Very Soon

But Will Cecile or Annette Be First to the Altar?

MONTREAL (AP) — Two of the four surviving Dionne quintuplets may be married before long, but whether Cecile or Annette will be first remains uncertain.

Cecile plans to marry Philippe Langlois, 26-year-old broadcasting technician, late next month. It was thought she would be the first of the 23-year-old sisters to wed.

But the girls' father, Oliva Dionne, said in North Bay, Ont., yesterday that another of the quints, Annette, and Germain Allard, 22-year-old Montreal University student, plan to marry Friday at Montreal.

The father said Annette and Allard told him of their plans Sunday at the family home in Callander, Ont. Allard commented in Montreal that he hopes to marry Annette but "it won't be Friday." He said they are not formally engaged, that he is still going to school.

She Proves Handicaps Are Not Handicapping

Hazel W. Fuller Leads Active Life Despite Loss of Hearing, Sight

By GRETTA PORTER

When is a handicapped person not handicapped? Sound like a riddle?

★ ★ ★

It's not meant to be. For the answer let's look at the case of Hazel W. Fuller, who lives with her mother, Mrs. Ione Bartholomew of West End avenue. Miss Fuller is totally deaf and almost completely sightless and yet one would not consider her handicapped.

First a little background on Miss Fuller.

She was adopted by Mrs. Bartholomew at the age of 3 but didn't start to lose her hearing until adolescence. She got quite deaf and took a three-year course in lip reading at Flint in two years.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Bartholomew now speaks to her daughter by combining sign language and exaggerated lip movements. Miss Fuller answers clearly and distinctly because she learned to speak before losing her hearing.

OWN BEAUTY SHOP

She worked for 15 years at Oakland Motor Car Company and then worked her way through a school of cosmetology. Miss Fuller had a beauty shop in her home for seven years until chemicals destroyed one eye.

★ ★ ★

Up until a year ago she was treasurer for Pontiac League of the Blind. She had to give that work up because she was no longer able to read.

This brings us up to date when Miss Fuller, now deaf and almost totally blind, is forced to stay at home much of the time.

However, she does housework, gets meals and writes poetry.

Typing the verses herself, Miss Fuller has written some 22 poems. She composes most of her poetry in the morning before getting out of bed.

HOPE REMAINS

Miss Fuller has no special theme but by reading her work it is obvious that she will not give up hope that her sight may someday return.

★ ★ ★

At first, most of her poems concerned faith, but now nature and flowers have found their way into her work.

★ ★ ★

Although she cannot see or hear, Hazel Fuller is not handicapped. She does nearly everything that she did before she lost her sight and has now developed a skill (poetry) that was previously unknown and untried.

Reveal Betrothal

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Smith, formerly of Pontiac and now of Marion, Ind., announce the engagement of their daughter, Marydee, to Jack H. Burns, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Burns of Marion, Ind. A January wedding is planned.

BETTY JEAN SOPER

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Soper of Cherokee road announce the engagement of their daughter, Betty Jean, to Charles E. Hauser Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Hauser of Pontiac Lake road. An April wedding is planned.

Home Rite Solemnized for Couple

Audrey Buckner Gelbard became the bride of Leonard L. Grossman Sunday in a ceremony performed at the Walnut Lake home of her brother, Noel A. Buckner.

Audrey's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Norman Buckner of Pine Lake, and Leonard is the son of Mrs. Stanley K. Grossman of Detroit and the late Mr. Grossman.

Following the ceremony, a dinner attended by members of the immediate family was served at the Franklin Hills Country Club.

Leonard is a graduate of the University of Michigan School of Law and is a member of Phi Sigma Delta fraternity. The bride is a graduate of Olivet College.

Made Her Debut Before World With 1940 Broadcast

From Babyhood, Elizabeth II Studied to Be Queen

(The early life of a girl destined to wear the British crown is like that of no child anywhere in the world. For Elizabeth II, these years were doubly difficult for her realm for a time was threatened with destruction. Here in the third of six articles, is the story of her preparation for the role she now fills.)

By BOB CONSIDINE
International News Service

Elizabeth II was born in a modest house at 17 Bruton St., London, at 2:40 Wednesday morning, April 21, 1926, the first of the two daughters of the Duke and Duchess of York. George V, bearded and benevolent, sat on his throne. God was in His heaven.

★ ★ ★

The future queen was born three years after the marriage of her parents, Albert, the shy and stammering second son of George V, and tiny, plumpish, rosy-jawed Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon, youngest daughter of the 14th Earl of Strathmore and Kinghorne.

Elizabeth Alexandra Mary, christened in the chapel at Buckingham Palace, dropped her royal uncles, the Dukes of Gloucester and Kent, one notch down in the order of succession to the throne.

Ahead of her res'ed the world's most popular bachelor, Edward, Prince of Wales, and her gentle and retiring father—whom Edward almost completely overshadowed.

★ ★ ★

Yet almost from her birth, Elizabeth appeared destined to occupy the last great throne in Christendom. The Prince of Wales, unmarried and in his middle-30s, used to tease the little girl by calling her "Queen" and giving her a courtly bow.

Her father must have sensed her future, too. He took special pains to train the child in the rudimentary rights and duties of nobility.

★ ★ ★

Her formal education, and that of Princess Margaret, was turned over to an Edinburgh University graduate, Miss Marion Crawford, a Scots governess who has written warmly and at great length about her experiences with the children—sometimes to the annoyance of the former students.

HISTORY AND LAW

When Edward VIII stepped down for Albert, who became King George VI, Elizabeth, now heiress presumptive, became also the charge of Henry Marten, Eton authority on constitutional history and law. Elizabeth was 10 years old.

★ ★ ★

She was 13 when World War II erupted. There was the maturing sight of her bombed-out birthplace in Bruton street, her old home in Piccadilly, and a corner of Buckingham Palace to add to her education and the responsibilities that lay ahead.

Elizabeth as an individual, and an almost poignant one, was presented to the world in October 1940, when she made a broadcast that aroused emotions almost equal to those which greeted the abdication broadcast of her uncle four years before. She was 14½ when she stepped to a BBC microphone and spoke to the war-scattered children of the dominions and the empire.

★ ★ ★

The performance moved South African novelist Sarah Gertrude Millin to note, in her diary, "It was perfectly done. If there are still queens in the world a generation hence, this child will be a good queen." It had, in addition, an incalculable effect on American sentiment for Britain at a difficult time in U.S. neutrality.

"Princess Elizabeth," Miss Crawford wrote, "never had the gay, carefree character of Princess Margaret. But though Elizabeth had little of her sister's lighthearted way, she was not solemn.

"You can see that she always thinks deeply about things, takes others' suffering to heart, and is careful never to say anything that might hurt. That is so much her that no different upbringing could change it.

★ ★ ★

"(As a child) she was no plaster saint, but always a very human little person—sometimes quick-tempered and inclined to be a little overcritical. The curious thing, however, was that she was quick to see her own faults when they were pointed out to her, and eager to correct them."

DUTIES INCREASED

Elizabeth's jobs piled up after the way she handled the broadcast. On her 16th birthday she was appointed colonel of the Grenadier Guards and inspected her troops.

★ ★ ★

At 17, she was president of the Royal College of Music, president of the Queen Elizabeth Hospital for Children, president of the National Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. She began to appear more often at her father's side as he cacrried out his war work and public functions.

Eventually her father let her join the ATS, the British WAC. She donned the drab uniform of the women's army, became a qualified truck driver and eventually rose to the rank of junior commander.

The end of the war meant only new chores. She must expand her range, be seen by more of her future subjects, know them better.

Early in 1947 she accompanied her parents and sister to South Africa, and from Capetown on April 21 of that year, her 21st birthday, spoke again to her farflung peoples by radio, concluding:

"I declare before you all that my whole life, whether it be long or short, shall be devoted to your service and the service of our great imperial family to which we all belong.

"But I shall not have the strength to carry out this resolution alone unless you join in it with me as I now invite you to do. I know that your support will be unfailingly given.

★ ★ ★

"God help me to make good my vow, and God bless all of you who are willing to share in it."

A STRONG BREW

It was strong brew from a 21-year-old girl. It was what her father would have said, if he could. The daughter did it better.

Elizabeth was ready, the finished product of a hundred loving and austere instructors and shaping hands. George VI must have sensed it very surely that day.

We Must Learn to Cope With Threats

Our Everyday Life Is a Cold War

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

We are likely to get the jitters because of the state of world affairs or the "cold war," but we should be able to take it because everyday life is a "cold war," and this kind of a cold war often turns out to be hot!

Cold wars have been going on between husbands and wives, parents and children, in-laws, lovers, employes and employers, social leaders, etc., ever since human nature has been what it is. And who hasn't often declared a cold war on finances?

Life bluffs us, makes threatening noises at us and tries to scare us out of our wits. For instance, no matter what a delightful experience it is, being a parent is a war of nerves.

The constant jitters begin with Junior's first tooth and actually never end. All sorts of threats are poised over our heads, such as broken bones, illnesses, accidents, the wrong friends, the wrong career or the wrong marriage.

★ ★ ★

Things lull for a while after the offspring is settled in what seems to be the right career or a happy marriage or both. The peak of strain is at teenage.

ETERNAL WARFARE

Marriage should not be a cold war but in many homes it is, and for the duration of the entire relationship. Even in the best marriages there are times which resemble a cold war with all sorts of maneuvering going on.

★ ★ ★

Society is a cold war for the ambitious social climber. Of course it seems foolish to me to get even one dented nerve in this cause, but it is important to a lot of women.

In any career there are many times of important decision, and there is the element of good or bad luck, or timing, which keeps us guessing. There is competition and pressure.

Our personal lives are filled with threats to our happiness and health and peace of mind. If we are to survive the cold war which daily life provides, we must learn to take these threats for what they are worth.

★ ★ ★

We must guard against them whenever possible but we must avoid the worry habit. Otherwise our health and our success will be damaged.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Worry" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 64. Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Slate of Officers Installed by Bemis-Olsen Auxiliary

Mrs. Richard Nicholson was installed as president of Bemis-Olsen Amvets Auxiliary, Post 113, at a joint installation Saturday evening at the Oakland avenue post.

Serving with Mrs. Nicholson are Mrs. Charles Butler, vice president; Mrs. Malcolm Oswalt, secretary; Mrs. James Houck, treasurer, and Mrs. Kenneth Hackett, chaplain.

Others are Mrs. Lillian Kuhn, sergeant-at-arms; Mrs. Guy Harrell, liaison officer, and Wanda Fogel, public relations chairman and historian. Malcolm Oswalt was installed as post commander by Department Senior Vice Commander Lada of Allen Park.

The Corporal Bagnowski membership trophy signifying the most gain in membership in the Department of Michigan was presented to the post by Mr. Lada, while Mrs. Kameron Hoxie, District III president, awarded Mrs. Guy Harrell her past president's pin.

★ ★ ★

Other guests of the evening were Kameron Hoxie of Lansing; John Telechowski of Garden City, national Fourth District provost marshal; Chester Burton of Pleasant Ridge, District III commander, and Mr. and Mrs. Kal Morrison of Royal Oak.

Also present were Commander Louis Hadden and Mrs. Hadden, of Jimmy Dey Amvets Post 12, and Mrs. James Houck, auxiliary department junior vice president.

Dancing and refreshments served by Mrs. Harold Willis followed the business meeting.

Alumnae to Gather

A white elephant exchange will be held Tuesday evening when South Oakland County Alumnae Association of Kappa Delta sorority meets in the Birmingham home of Mrs. Tunis Rice. Cohostesses will be Mrs. Grant Cowan and Mrs. Archie Armstrong.

Guild Has Meeting

Mrs. Clarence Sherbarth and Mrs. Robert Strause cohostessed a Thursday evening meeting of Women's Guild of Bethel Evangelical and Reformed Church. Mrs. George Bussard presented the program.

Stretch Hot Dogs With Tasty Stuffing

When appetites seem bottomless, a hearty stuffing will add staying power to the humble hot dog. Mix ½ cup crushed corn chips with 1 cup grated American cheese, add 1 tablespoon finely chopped onion, 1 teaspoon worcestershire sauce, 4 tablespoons tomato sauce or puree.

Split 10 frankfurters lengthwise and fill generously. Bake in preheated gas oven at 350 degrees for 20 minutes. Serve in split buns with tall glasses of chilled tomato juice.

We never know what ripples of healing we set in motion by simply smiling on one another.

Nut Studded Meringue Tops Tart

Mrs. Gignac Puts an Apricot Mixture on Cookie Base

By JANET ODELL

Delicious eating will be yours when you try Mrs. James Gignac's recipe for Viennese Tart. Serve these delectable little bits for afternoon tea or for a fancy dessert.

Mrs. Gignac keeps more than busy with maintaining her home and taking courses for her Master's degree in English literature at Wayne University.

VIENNESE TART
By Mrs. James Gignac

1 box (medium size) dried apricots
½ cup sugar
½ pound walnut meats (1 pound in the shell)
½ pound butter
½ cup sugar
4 eggs, separated
3 cups sifted flour
¼ teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon vanilla

Cook apricots with sugar and mash with a fork. Cool. Cream butter until fluffy, add sugar and lightly beaten egg yolks. Beat well. Beat in vanilla.

Sift dry ingredients and work into mixture. Mixture will be quite heavy. Spread on an ungreased cookie sheet and flatten evenly with your hand.

Spread with cooled apricots. Beat egg whites stiff, add ½ cup sugar to make a meringue. Spread over apricots and sprinkle with nuts. Bake 30-45 minutes in a 300 degree oven. Cut into 1½ inch squares. If served in the European style, these would be cut as eaten.

Instead of cutting one stalk of celery at a time, cut several stalks together on a cutting board, using a French knife.

Roasted...

Before roasting, wipe lamb roast with a damp cloth, season, and place, fat side up, on low rack in shallow open pan. Insert roast-meat thermometer into center and roast in slow oven (325°F), allowing approximately ½-hr. per lb. cooking time. Roast is medium done when thermometer registers 170°F, well done at 182°F. Remove roast to hot platter and keep hot. Use meat drippings to make luscious gravy.

Lamb is delicious so many different ways...

AND WRIGLEYS FEATURES SPECIAL LOW PRICES ON ANY CUT YOU WISH!

LAMB SHOULDER ROAST..... 43¢ lb.

Try this! Place prepared whole carrots, potatoes, onions and tomatoes in roaster. Sprinkle lamb shoulder with salt, pepper, and rub with cut garlic clove. Place roast on top of vegetables, cover with tight-fitting lid, cook in 375°-400°F oven about 2 hours, or until lamb is fork-tender. Remove lid, continue cooking another 20 to 30 minutes 'til lamb is browned lightly.

RIB LAMB CHOPS, Table Trimmed ..... 99¢ lb.

Try this! Blend 2-tablespoons butter or margarine, 1-tablespoon lemon juice and a dash of chili powder, curry powder or garlic salt. Spread over hot chops after they're broiled, sprinkle with chopped parsley and serve immediately.

DELICIOUS LAMB PATTIES....59¢ lb.

Ideal for quick-fix dinners, or a change in the breakfast menu. Patties are generously thick, wound with a bacon strip to add savory flavor. Delightful with a topper slice of cooked or uncooked pineapple.

TENDER LAMB BREAST..... 19¢ lb.

Try this! Barbecued breast of lamb! Heat 2 tablespoons of fat in skillet. Cut 2-lbs. of lamb breast into 4 pieces, season with 2-teaspoons of salt and brown in hot fat. Add 1 medium sliced onion, ½-cup chili sauce, ¼-teaspoon pepper, 1-tablespoon cayenne pepper, 1-tablespoon vinegar and cup of water. Cover and simmer about 1½-hours. Uncover and cook about 20 minutes more, or until sauce is almost absorbed. Serves 4.

LAMB CHOPS Blade-Cut Shoulder ..... 69¢ lb.

Try this! Before broiling, soak chops for 2 hours in this sauce for zest: (amount for 4 chops) ¼-cup salad oil, 1-tablespoon lemon juice, 1-teaspoon salt, 2 cloves of garlic cut into slices. Ummmmmmm!

LOIN CUT CHOPS, Table Trimmed ..... $1.19 lb.

Try this! Many folks say loin cut lamb chops are too good to season with anything but salt and pepper. Others prefer a dash of garlic salt, paprika or curry. Or, before broiling, brush chops with French dressing.

MR. AND MRS. GENE E. SHELL

Gene E. Shell Marries Barbara Diane Kenifeck

WATERFORD — Three hundred guests witnessed the Saturday marriage rite of Barbara Diane Kenifeck and Gene E. Shell at Christ Lutheran Church here.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. G. E. Kenifeck of 4443 Windiate Dr. and D. W. Kenifeck of Pittsburgh, Pa. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Carl Shell of 4250 Seeden, Drayton Plains.

★ ★ ★

The bridal gown was of white lace and Italian silk, with tiered back of lace and silk ending in a chapel train. The seed pearls and sequins of her high neckline matched the headpiece which held her fingertip veil. Her only jewelry was a set of tiny pearl earrings.

She carried a cascade arrangement of orchids, mums and stephanotis, with ivy.

Attending the bride were Beverly Keller of Waterford, Connie Sabat of Waterford and Marlene and Connie Shell, both of Drayton Plains.

Flower girl was Charlene Councilor, and Bruce Anderson of Drayton Plains was ring bearer.

Serving as best man was Gerald Hesse of Port Huron, and ushers were Arla Flesher and Bill Kenifect, both of Waterford, and Dick Shell of Drayton Plains.

A reception immediately following the ceremony was held in the church parlors. A second reception was held afterward at the home of the bride's mother.

Following a honeymoon tour of New England, the couple will reside at 3377 Addie, Drayton Plains.

White Lake CD Sets 'Tornadoes'

Simulated Winds to Hit Two Different Areas in Township

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — The Civil Defense organization here is planning a demonstration, with two simulated tornadoes, for Sunday, Oct. 12.

The demonstration will begin at 1 p.m. and end at 5 p.m., with White Lake Town Hall as CD headquarters.

The mock tornadoes will hit two different areas of the township. The first one is planned to be near the White Lake Presbyterian Church, 4804 White Lake Rd., with the church serving as first aid station at that point.

The second tornado will strike in the Dublin area and casualties will be sent to Dublin Community Center at 685 Union Lake Rd.

★ ★ ★

Plans for the mock disaster recently were worked out by Andy Piano, CD director for the township and the Civil Defense staff.

MRS. JAMES STOKES

Avon Man Takes Bride

AVON TOWNSHIP—S.Sgt James Stokes and Arlene Bourassa exchanged wedding vows at a recent morning ceremony in St. Anthony Church, Woonsocket, R.I.

Arlene is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Bourassa of Woonsocket. Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Stokes of 777 Nawakwa St. here are the parents of the bridegroom.

The bride approached the altar wearing an imported Italian lace gown over white satin. The fitted off-the-shoulder bodice featured a lace jacket with long tapered sleeves.

A princess crown of seed pearls held her veil, the scalloped edges of which were ornamented with seed pearls. She carried a Bible covered with white satin and her bridal bouquet of white baby mums, centered with pink sweetheart rosebuds.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Gerald Malone served her sister as matron of honor and Irene Penne was bridesmaid.

Walter Harris served as best man. Richard Bourassa and Tony Moross seated the guests.

The couple will reside at Hyannis, Mass., until the bridegroom is discharged from the Air Force in April, when they will make their home in Rochester.

2 Schools Slate Oct. 26 Event

Students, Moms to Vie at West Bloomfield and Walled Lake

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Good ol' dad should be the person who profits the most from the apple pie contests to be staged Thursday morning at West Bloomfield and Walled Lake High Schools.

Win, lose or draw, housewives and school girls have sharpened their baking techniques to a point where dad will be eating a better apple pie for many months to come.

Large numbers of entries are expected at both schools. The West Bloomfield Township Kiwanis Club will award a total of 12 prizes, six to each school. First, second and third place winners in both the housewife and school girl divisions will receive a prize.

Contestants are seeking an opportunity to represent their area in the contest finals, to be held at West Bloomfield Township High School on Saturday, Oct. 26. The winners of each division, housewife and school girl, will compete for top Oakland County honors.

Since the city of Walled Lake does not have a Kiwanis Club, the West Bloomfield unit decided to sponsor the contest for that area.

Both junior high and senior high girl students are eligible to compete in the school girl division.

Housewives, regardless of age, are invited to participate in the contest at either Walled Lake or West Bloomfield high schools, whichever school is nearest their home.

The housewife division is open to wives residing in the area served by the West Bloomfield club. Additional information regarding the contest may be obtained by contacting John Finlayson at Market 4-1710.

Finlayson is chairman of the county-wide contest.

Competent judges will evaluate the pies on a basis of 50 points for the crust and 50 points for the filling.

MRS. CHARLES E. CLANCY

Honeymoon in Canada

Couple Exchange Vows

DRAYTON PLAINS — Newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Clancy are traveling in Northern Michigan and Canada today after repeating their marriage vows in a candlelight service Saturday in Lakeland United Presbyterian Church.

Upon returning from their honeymoon, they will live at 94 Dwight St., Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

The bride chose a ballerina length gown of Chantilly lace and tulle over bridal satin. It was fashioned with a mandarin collar, fitted bodice and full skirt with lace inserts.

Her fingertip veil of French illusion cascaded from a tiara of pearls. The bridal bouquet was composed of carnations and stephanotis centered around pink rosebuds.

The bridal attendants—her three sisters — were Mrs. Edson A. Whipple of Toledo, Mrs. William Wegman of Pontiac and Karol Larson, junior bridesmaid.

The bridegroom was attended by Edson A. Whipple of Toledo. Ushers were Charles Hartley and William Wegman, of Pontiac.

A reception held after the ceremony in the church parlors was attended by 200 persons.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Clancy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Larson of 3512 Wilkie, Drayton Plains, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Clancy of Christopher, Ill.

FRANKIE D. RUSSELL

The engagement of their daughter, Frankie Donzell Russell, to Samuel Lanpher is announced by Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Russell of Tubbs road, Waterford Township. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Caleb Lanpher of Jones road. No date has been set for the wedding.

PATSY LOU FAWCETT

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd A. Fawcett of 4450 Major, Drayton Plains, announce the engagement of their daughter, Patsy Lou, to Clare Gene Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer R. Johnson, 3320 Seebaldt, Drayton Plains. The bride-elect attends Ferris Institute, Big Rapids, where she is affiliated with Alpha Phi Beta sorority. The prospective bridegroom is a graduate of Ferris Institute, College of Pharmacy, and is affiliated with Phi Sigma Chi fraternity. He is now attending Wayne State University. The couple plans to be married Jan. 25 at Christ Lutheran Church.

When he has completed his mission here and learned the work of a local church he will be sent

Grange Leader Urges Farm Self-Help Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Herschel D. Newsom, master of the National Grange, has issued an appeal to farm leaders for a united stand behind what he calls "self-help mechanisms" for solving farm price and income problems.

"We should know by now that we can't buy our way out of our difficulties with taxpayers' dollars," he said.

Writing in his organization's monthly magazine, the Grange leader said, "Experience has taught us that we must solve our own problems, if they are to be solved. Self-help mechanisms are sorely needed."

"Let's start to build a farm program for farmers, not just a grange, a farm bureau, a farmers union or a Benson program," he said. "None of us can be sure there'll be another opportunity after 1958, and certainly there will never be a better time."

Newsom's reference to 1958 is based upon the prospect that farm legislation may be one of the major matters to come before the next session of Congress.

Janet Collins Wed to Harding Angel

WALLED LAKE — Mr. and Mrs. Merle L. Collins of Walled Lake announce the marriage of their daughter, Janet, to Harding Angel. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. A. A. Angel of Franklin, N. C., and the late Mr. Angel. The couple, married Sept. 21, are living on Pontiac Road.

Relief Corps Honors Daughter of Veteran

ROCHESTER—New Honor was conferred upon the William P. Everitt, Woman's Relief Corps here Friday, when Mrs. Gertrude Everitt Adams of Ypsilanti daughter of a GAR veteran came to Rochester to be initiated into the 65-year old organization which bears her father's name.

Mrs. Adams said in an interview, "It is a great honor to become a member of Rochester's oldest organization which was named for my father, and which my mother, Mrs. Fannie Everitt, had a part in drawing up and signing of the charter.

Mrs. Adams, for many years made her home in Spokane, Wash. but was a native of Rochester and attended school here.

Representing the Corps at the WRC Convention in Lincoln Park Tuesday will be Mrs. Flossie Bartlotthew, Mrs. Bessie Holt, Mrs. Dale Clark, and Mrs. Emma Price.

Playground Accident Injures Romeo Boy

ROMEO — A seventh grade student at the Croswell Street School here suffered a brain concussion in a playground accident yesterday afternoon.

He is Edward Striber, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Striber, 413 North Bailey St. Playing a game with other children, he was tackled and hit his head as he fell.

The boy was taken to Mt. Clemens General Hospital where he is under observation and treatment.

Farm Real Estate Hits $112,400,000,000 Value

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Agriculture Department reported today that the value of the nation's farm real estate reached an estimated 112 billion, 400 million dollars last July 1. The total was an 8 per cent increase over a year earlier. The increase was highest in the Southeast, lowest in the mountain states.

Film Producer Slated Oct. 24

West Bloomfield Series to Open With Talk on Education Movies

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Opening speaker for the Adult Education Series sponsored by the West Bloomfield Township Library Board will be William Murray, a local man whose accomplishments in the educational movie field are becoming internationally known.

Murray will speak on "The Role of the Movie Maker in Education Today" and will augment his lecture by showing some of his own films.

William Murray has a background in many phases of movie making as writer, director and producer in both California and Michigan, as well as a special interest in audio-visual education.

His company, Portafilms, was started in California 11 years ago and moved to West Bloomfield Township in 1953. Portafilms produces primarily educational films which are circulated throughout the United States and 19 countries abroad.

Of great interest to Oakland County residents should be the fact that most of the films are shot in this area and use local talent.

Murray will speak at 8 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 24, at the main branch of the West Bloomfield Township Library, which is now located upstairs in the old school building at 3201 Orchard Lake Rd., Keego Harbor. There will be a discussion period following, and refreshments will be served.

Romeo Sets Hearing Date for Zoning Amendments

ROMEO — Village Council members last night set Nov. 4 as the date for a public hearing on proposed amendments to the present zoning ordinance.

The hearing is scheduled for 8 p.m .in the Village Hall.

Some 14 changes and a new zoning map were recommended for adoption after months of study by the village Planning Commission.

Expected to draw the most comment at the hearing is the extension of the business district on South Main street, from Washington to Croswell street. It is presently zoned residential.

★ ★ ★

Three Main Street residents appeared last night to voice protests against the proposed rezoning. Their opinions were heard and they were invited to re-appear at the hearing.

Another major change is the creation of a separate single family residence district. Previously, single and two family dwellings fell under the same classification.

Council members voted to charge only cost of materials for a sewer and water tap on the new Youth and Civic Center property.

The village will pay $500 as its share of the cost for a new, double stop light at the main intersection in town, following action taken last night. The state and county will pay the remainder of the $2,000 total cost.

A program of tree removal is planned by the Department of Public Works, on a part time basis during the winter months. Some 40 trees in the northwest section of town already have been earmarked for removal because of disease or wind damage.

COLUMBUS DAY PARTY — Deep in planning session for the fall card party of St. Patrick Altar Society are, left to right, Mrs. Henry Prokoff, Mrs. Gerald DeSormier, Mrs. Joseph Hunt and Mrs. Robert Hancock, all of White Lake Township. The event, to benefit school and convent equipment fund, will be held at 8 p. m. Saturday in St. Patrick Parish Hall at Union Lake and Hutchins roads. The public has been invited to attend.

Teeple Lake Group to Plan Year's Program

TEEPLE LAKE — Teeple Lake Extension Group will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Chairman Mrs. Jesse Weaver, Cedar Island road.

The group will plan its program for the coming year, and final arrangements will be made regarding the window display to be placed in Gambles' window. A social hour will follow.

Altar Society to Give Party

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — Columbus Day—Saturday, is the day set for the fall card party of St. Patrick Altar Society. The event will be held in the parish hall at Union Lake and Hutchins roads, starting at 8 p.m.

Table prizes and a special prize —a clock-radio—will be awarded. Refreshments will be served.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Leon A. Glynn is general chairman of the affair, with Mrs. Robert E. Hancock as her cochairman. Mrs. Hancock is also in charge of the cleanup committee.

Other committee chairmen are: Mrs. Frederick Carr, refreshments; Mrs. C. Stanley Freville and Mrs. Gerald De Sormier, special prizes; Mrs. M. Joseph O'Connell, tables; Mrs. Bernard Zimmer, table prizes; Mrs. Henry Prokoff, serving; Mrs. Kerwan L. Mulligan, tickets; Mrs. Gerald F. DeSormier, special prize, and Mrs. Gordon A. Schulte, publicity.

Tickets may be obtained in advance from members of the Altar society or at the door.

Garden Club to Hear Talk on Conservation

ROCHESTER — "Michigan's Non-Renewable Resources" is the topic Helen Martin, of the Department of Conservation will speak on at Tuesday's meeting of the Rochester Garden Club. The meeting is scheduled for 1:30 p.m. in the Rochester Public Library auditorium.

Hostesses are Mrs. Norman H'Amada and Mr. Harold Shuart, and Mrs. Frank R. Chapman is tea chairman.

Rochester Gals Have Fun With Shakespeare Skit

ROCHESTER — The Stratford Shakespearean Players have nothing on Rochester's Women's Club Players who presented "When Shakespeare's Ladies Meet," an original Skit by Mrs. Robert Woodruff depicting a scene at the local library, in the Avon Park Pavilion on Friday.

One hundred and twenty women from this area attended the luncheon and plays which will benefit "Girls Town" at Belleville, the 1957 project.

"Juliet's (Mrs. R. A. Woodruff)" Garden in Verona formed a perfect setting for the one act play. Other members were Ruth Freer as Katherine, Portia; Mrs. Louis Stieb, Ophelia, Mrs. Arthur Dewey; Desdemona, Ethel Ashlee; Cleopatra, Eleanore Porter of Pontiac. Each lady was a leading lady from six of Shakespeare's well known plays.

In the library skit were Mrs. A. R. Cary, Mrs. Henry W. Axford and Mrs. Charles Case with the prologue by Helen Zerby.

East Berlin Cold to Red Officials

For Reasons Unknown, Privileges Taken From Communists

BERLIN (INS) — The Communist diplomatic corps in East Berlin is facing the unpleasant prospect of living like the proletariat.

★ ★ ★

For reasons unknown, the East German Government is withdrawing the amenities and privileges which make it almost possible for the Soviet-bloc striped-pants set to believe they had a soft deal in a decadent bourgeois capital.

★ ★ ★

The first blow was struck with the abolition of the eight-year old special shop for diplomats, where French perfumes, British woolens, American nylons and Russian caviar could be bought cheaper than in the countries of origin.

Then the East Germans withdrew the free diplomatic tickets they had been issuing for the operas, concerts and theaters. Now only ambassadors and minister-counselors get the free tickets.

The diplomatic "country club" just outside East Berlin has been turned over to a trade union.

Even the round of diplomatic cocktail parties which in Communist capitals has been formalized and elaborated to a degree surpassing the Western custom, have been cut to the bone. Only ambassadors and minister-counselors bet a chance to mingle with the Communist aristocracy.

★ ★ ★

Sometimes the East Germans are downright undiplomatic with the diplomats. When the ambassador of a very friendly satellite called the protocol office to ask for reservations for a holiday on the Baltic Sea, he was told to get in touch with the East German trade union, which monopolizes holiday accommodations along the coast.

★ ★ ★

Diplomatic sensitivities are naturally offended. One satellite representative said, "This is the worst Communist capital I have been in. If there were any Western diplomats here, they wouldn't stand for it." (Since no Western or neutral nation recognizes East Germany, there are only Red diplomats in East Berlin).

Naturally, the diplomats are touring to capitalist West Berlin for their fine wines, good materials and tasty tidbits for the table.

The Russians in East Berlin haven't been bothered by this callousness of the East Germans. They have their own compound with their own shop, like the American PX, and the invitations and free tickets haven't diminished.

State Apples Important in U. S. Export Trade

By ED MARKAITY

Associated Press Farm Writer

GRAND RAPIDS — The forthcoming marketing season may find West Michigan apples comprising an extensive portion of the overseas export trade.

S. B. Davis, Grand Rapids food broker and past president of the International Apple Assn., says a very real opportunity appears to be developing for Michigan apples in the United Kingdom, Germany, The Netherlands and other European markets.

OUTLOOK GOOD

Fred W. Burrows, executive vice president of IAA, calls the outlook "the best in several years."

He says the European fruit crop appears to be lighter than predicted earlier. His association has received many inquiries seeking information on procedure for importing apples.

Another factor boosting the export possibility for Michigan apples is the effect of an eastern United States drouth, which reduced the amount of that area's "export size" apples.

Davis adds, however, that most important in total effect on the Michigan apple situation appears to be an opportunity for marketings in Canada. Thousands of bushels of Michigan apples were hauled to Canada's prairie provinces last winter as a new outlet developed by shippers.

Meanwhile, the Michigan State Apple Commission has ordered the printing of 5,000 extra apple promotion kits to supplement an original supply of 12,500 which already is exhausted.

H. F. "Pat" Patterson, commission secretary-manager, said the demand surge by the wholesale and retail trade indicates a "tremendous interest" in Michigan apples through the entire Middle West.

★ ★ ★

Many outlets expected to start moving Michigan apples about the second week in October, he reported, as soon as local supplies were cleared.

★ ★ ★

The kits, designed to carry out the "Big Ten" theme of the 1957 promotion program, consist of point of sale material for use in store displays of Michigan apples.

Patterson reported a "surprising number" of requests from such states, as Texas, Alabama, Louisiana, Georgia, Florida and "some Western states."

Blames Schools for Soviet Lead

Poor Education in U.S. Seen as Reason Reds Beat Us on Satellite

LOS ANGELES (INS)—Dr. Joseph Kaplan, professor of physics at the University of California at Los Angeles, today credited the Russian school system with producing the scientific brains responsible for launching the first earth satellite.

Dr. Kaplan, returning last night from Washington where he attended a special International Geophysical Year conference, hit at American schools for falling far behind the Russians in the basic training of future scientists "because we are unwilling to pay the price."

He said:

"A good scientist can be ruined if he doesn't have a good teacher in high school. This is where the Russians have beaten us badly. They have a far better scientific program in their high schools than we have in ours.

"This is where the youngsters are made or broken."

He said he sees no more military dangerous implications from the Russian satellite launching than "out of any other scientific discovery."

But he criticized what he called "hysterical talk and accusations" along with demands for congressional investigations into America's satellite program.

He said he is confident "that we will get a satellite up during the IGY. Our program in the United States is to go ahead with a well laid program along well considered plans."

Asks Improvements for Panama Canal

BALBOA, Canal Zone (AP) — A proposed 19-million-dollar improvement program probably would enable the Panama Canal to meet the demands of world commerce for 20 years, Canal Zone Gov. Hugh Arnold says.

★ ★ ★

Arnold told a group of military engineers last night that the changes would cut the time a ship spends at the canal from 17 hours 18 minutes to 11 hours 27 minutes.

He said the improvements also would save the canal administration $250,000 annually.

The program has been submitted to the U.S. Budget Bureau but no action has been taken on it.

★ ★ ★

The program includes adding five towing locomotives with a higher speed than present ones, additional lighting, mooring facilities within the canal and the widening of some sections.

Arnold said the changes might be completed by 1961 if the funds are approved.

Expect Canada to Urge Balance

Officials May Request U.S. to Increase Buying of Dominion Goods

WASHINGTON (AP) — Canada's new Conservative government is expected to urge in talks here this week that the United States buy more Canadian goods to help balance heavy Canadian purchases.

Cabinet-level delegations meet at the State Department today for a discussion of trade and economic relations. The talks will continue through Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

Secretary of State Dulles heads the U.S. group, which also includes Secretary of the Treasury Anderson, Secretary of Agriculture Benson and Secretary of Commerce Weeks.

★ ★ ★

The group sent here by Prime Minister John Diefenbaker from Ottawa is headed by Finance Minister Donald Fleming and includes Sydney Smith, recently appointed foreign minister in the Conservative regime.

Officials said the Canadians did not plan to press any hard proposals for altering basic economic relations. The meeting was described as "exploratory."

★ ★ ★

The Canadians were reported prepared to argue that the United States sells in Canada $1,300,000,000 more each year than she buys there, and should do everything possible to help increase imports from Canada.

Thinks Satellite Radios Its Data on Secret Channel

NEW DELHI (AP)—A top Indian scientist speculated today that the Soviet earth satellite is radioing information on a frequency not disclosed by the Russians.

Dr. K. N. Mathur, deputy director of India's National Physical Laboratory, said the Soviet Union may have disclosed the 20.005 and 40.002 megacycle frequencies just to "create a stir."

★ ★ ★

"There must be some other frequency on which they are getting all the information," he said.

Mathur, who is in charge of India's satellite operations, also joined other scientists in saying the sounds picked up on the two announced frequencies may be code. The Russians have denied that any code is being transmitted.

The Indian scientist reasoned that the Soviet Union would not spend a huge sum of money to launch a satellite that sent only a meaningless "beep beep beep" back to earth.

Meeting Will Coincide With Bridge Opening

ST. IGNACE (AP) — The Upper Peninsula Development Bureau will hold its 47th annual meeting here Oct. 31-Nov. 1 to coincide with scheduled opening of the new 100-million-dollar Mackinac Bridge linking the state's upper and lower peninsulas.

Gov. Williams and Sen. Potter will be principal speakers.

A tour of the bridge will be a Nov. 1 feature, following a symposium on "Our New Frontiers."

Clean Up Lake Allegan

ALLEGAN (AP) — More than 35 boats, 15 tractors and an estimated 2,800 man hours over the weekend comprised the second phase of the volunteer Lake Allegan Clean-up, a project to rid the 1,700-acre lake of stumps, deadheads and other obstacles to boating, according to Al Kiella, cleanup committee chairman.

New Sweeper Gets Official Off Hook

STOCKTON, Calif. (UP)—The City Council last night authorized purchase of a street sweeper with brushes on both sides—thereby taking City Manager John Lilly off the hook.

During the Council's deliberations it was pointed out that the double-brushed sweeper was needed to sweep the left side of one-way streets. All the city's present sweepers have brushes on the right side only.

Councilman Harvey Stull wanted to know how the right-sided sweepers had been sweeping the left side of one-way streets—did they go the wrong way to do it?

"Frankly," said Lilly, "we've just been ignoring one side."

Questions 'New Man'

Peggie Castle Back Home; Reports on Mario Lanza

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Actress Peggie Castle is back from Rome with reports of a new Mario Lanza—or is he?

Peggie went to Europe last summer to visit her husband, an MGM location manager. The day she arrived, she received a hurry-up call to report to Rome to appear with Lanza in "The Seven Hills of Rome." She did, and it was an experience.

"For the first three weeks, everything went smoothly," she remarked. "Mario was just a doll, and I thought all those reports I had heard about his temperament were false rumors.

"Then it got hot. And oh, can Rome in the summer get hot! One day it was 138 degrees in front of the camera. We couldn't have takes more than 30 or 40 seconds long or we'd be dripping.

★ ★ ★

"Mario heard that one of the other studios had air conditioners. He asked the head of our studio to get one. It was refused. One day on the set, Mario said 'This is ridiculous,' and he started tearing off his clothes. He kept on, right down to his shorts.

"I must say I was on his side. He proved his point. We got the airconditioner."

Mario's weight problems, which haunted him and MGM during his stormy career at the studio, are with him yet, Peggie said.

"Mario has a fantastic ability to put on and take off weight," she said. "He does it almost before your very eyes. He can easily put on 45 pounds in a week. Then he can diet and take off 20 pounds in two days. At one time, he was on a 500 calory diet—nothing much more than a handful of shrimp a day.

"His doctor explained that Mario was a rare case. His tissues retain moisture. So he can swell up like a balloon overnight, and deflate just as rapidly.

HORRORS TO COME — Jack Baker and his show will come from Hollywood to the stage of the Oakland Theater Saturday, to give a midnight performance only. Among features of the "House of the Living Dead" stage show will be: Dracula; the materialization of the late James Dean and an "old-fashioned" spiritualistic seance, at which the audience may ask questions. The producer has promised free tokens to "persons brave enough to sit through out the horror performance and leave the theater unassisted." Baker, who has brought his troop to Pontiac annually for the past seven years, is married to a Pontiac-area girl whom he met during one of his shows here.

Navy Credits Russia With Missile Capable of Hitting Allied Bases

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Navy credited Russia today with another first—possession of operational intermediate range ballistic missiles capable of placing nuclear warheads on virtually every fixed Allied base in Western Europe.

The disclosure, coming on the heels of Russia's pioneer launching of a space satellite, was made by Capt. H. L. Miller of the Office of the Chief of Naval Operations.

He said in a briefing prepared for the National Security Industrial Assn. that "the known Soviet possession of the IRBM at present seriously prejudices our tenure of any base within 1,500 miles of Soviet launching sites."

★ ★ ★

American officials have expressed frequently during the past several years the belief that the Russians were developing and testing long-range missiles, but this is the first public and unhedged statement that the Soviet military forces now have such weapons.

The U.S. Army, Navy and Air Force all are in the process of developing 1,500-mile ballistic missiles, but they are still in the testing stage.

The Navy has long contended that the coming of the missile age makes aircraft carriers a vital part of the U.S. military machine. Fixed air bases could be destroyed much more easily by ballistic missiles, the Navy contends, than could its carriers and other vessels which move from one place to another.

Rain, Snow Fall in Northwestern, Atlantic States

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rain or snow fell in wide areas of the country today, with mostly dry weather in the southeast, southwest and east central sections.

One wet belt extended from the Washington coast eastward through the upper Mississippi Valley and southward through the central Rockies and most of the plains.

Low pressure off the mid-Atlantic Coast triggered rains during the night in most of the mid and north Atlantic states. Heaviest falls were from New Jersey into southern New England. More than 1½ inches fell at LaGuardia Field.

However, skies were expected to clear during the day in the mid-Atlantic states, with the low pressure moving northeastward. More showers were indicated in New England.

Detroiter Chosen for Highway Post

LANSING (UP) — Victor Eichhorn, 38, of Detroit, a veteran federal employe, has been installed in the strategic position of Right of Way Division director in the State Highway Department.

★ ★ ★

The appointment was announced late yesterday by Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie.

For the past five years, Eichhorn has been chief of the Real Estate Division and reviewing appraiser for the Detroit district of the U.S. Corps of Engineers.

★ ★ ★

In his new post, Eichhorn will have direct supervision over land purchases running into the tens of millions of dollars to clear the way for a big expressway program announced by Mackie last week.

Aeronutronic Buys Permanent Acreage

LOS ANGELES (UP) — Aeronutronic Systems, Inc., Ford Motor Co.'s west coast subsidiary, today announced the acquisition of a large permanent building site.

Gerald J. Lynch, Aeronutronic president, said the site is a 200-acre tract located near Newport Beach, Calif. He said plans call for construction on the site of a multi-million dollar research, development and prototype center. Construction of the center's research laboratories will start immediately, Lynch said.

Ford organized Aeronutronic in mid-1956 to develop and manufacture advanced systems for military and commercial application. Military work by Aeronutronic includes missile weapon systems, reconnaissance systems and upper atmosphere vehicles, with emphasis on aeronautics, electronics, materials, computers and nucleonics.

For the past year Aeronutronic has had its central offices in Glendale, Calif.

Threw Beer Bottles to Good Purpose

DETROIT (UP) — Joseph Knight, 31, night porter at a bar, was caught fast early yesterday after closing hours when an elevator door closed on his foot.

To attract attention he began throwing beer bottles at a glass panel in a naarby door.

One excellently aimed pitch went through the panel and on through a window at the front of the door.

At the sound of the crash two policemen came running and rescued Knight.

California has about one-half million acres of vineyards and more than 300 bonded winery establishments.

Norway Votes to Retain Party

Socialist Labor Group Receives Big Majority; Election Conceded

OSLO (UP)—Prime Minister Einar Gerhardsen and opposition leaders agreed today that Norway's voters had continued the Socialist Labor party in office with a resounding vote of confidence.

★ ★ ★

Results from 699 of Norway's 744 election districts indicated the middle-of-the-road Laborites, in the general election yesterday, won 78 of the 150 seats in the Norwegian Storting (Parliament).

Labor held 77 seats in the last Storting and has been in power for 22 years.

Other party showings (1953 results in parenthesis):

Agrarians, 15 seats (14); Conservatives, 29 (27); Liberals, 15 (15); Christian People's party, 12 (14); and Communists, 1 (3).

The major development of the election was the drastic reduction in the Communist vote. The Reds lost one seat in Oslo and one in the arctic, where Norway shares a frozen frontier with the Soviet Union. Communist officials blamed the losses on events in Hungary and campaigning by other parties on the theme that votes for Communists would be wasted.

★ ★ ★

Beep Trouble Reported for Satellite

TEMPLE CITY, Calif. (UP) — A scientist from the California Institute of Technology reports that something has gone wrong with one of the transmitting devices on the Russian earth satellite.

Dr. Henry L. Richter, one of the scientists manning the satellite tracking station here, said 20-megacycle transmissions from the flying sphere last night were coming as "steady rather than breaking beats."

Dr. Richter, superintendent of the research department at Caltech, said this might indicate battery trouble.

He said there was nothing wrong with the transmissions coming from the satellite at 40 megacycles.

Dr. Richter made the statement after a tracking session that began at 10:40 p.m. Monday. He said earlier in the day that the 20-megacycle transmissions had changed in character and appeared similar to those sent by television transmitters.

Pieck Begins 3rd Term as East German 'Head'

BERLIN (UP) — Wilhelm Pieck rested in the country today as he began his third four-year term as president of Communist East Germany.

Kept from official duties recently because of poor health, the 81-year-old President was not present yesterday when Parliament re-elected him unanimously.

The Turkish Republic was proclaimed on Oct. 29, 1923, with Mustapha Kemel as president.

Ion-Stream Principle

Scientists Show Theories for Future Space Travel

CLEVELAND (UP)—The National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics bombarded a small pinwheel inside a glass vacuum jar with an invisible stream of ions today and made it whirl briskly.

★ ★ ★

The same ion-stream principle, NACA said, someday may be harnessed to push 10-ton space ships moonward at many thousands of miles an hour once they have reached outer space.

Coupled with atomic energy, such a vehicle might have virtually unlimited range.

The demonstration was part of a four-day public inspection of the NACA's Lewis flight propulsion laboratory, which is attracting top scientists to Cleveland this week.

In order to simulate the searing temperatures which will be experienced by aircraft and power plants at extreme speeds, NACA has developed a research tool, the electric arc tunnel. It uses a cathode ray and anode nozzle to transmit a spark, much as in the powerful searchlight of an antiaircraft unit.

★ ★ ★

A fluid injected into the arc chamber, heated by the arc and expanded through the nozzle produces a high-speed stream, or "plasma jet," with temperatures of 10,000 to 20,000 degrees.

"The arc tunnel suggests an attractive propulsion device for outerspace flight," NACA said in a report made public at the demonstration.

★ ★ ★

"If a stream of ions, as in an arc jet, can be accelerated to high velocities by use of electric or magnetic fields a small amount of thrust will be produced."

Ions are tiny bits of matter—atoms which have been stripped of some of their electrons and have become electrically charged.

Phycicist M. J. Krsnican explained that beyond the earth's atmosphere a vehicle would require only slight power in small increments to accelerate a great deal.

"For example," he said, "a 10-ton vehicle in outer space, powered by 10 pounds of thrust for only one month, would increase its original velocity by 25,000 miles an hour."

Such a vehicle before its ion acceleration presumably would be traveling at least 18,000 miles an hour, which is the minimum speed for an earth satellite to maintain its orbit. Still greater speed would be required to break away from the earth's pull and escape into space.

273 Planes Turn Out

BEAVER ISLAND (UP) — A dawn patrol flight drew 273 planes and about 500 persons to this Lake Michigan island Sunday for a traditional breakfast, plus perch fishing and patridge hunting. Dr. John Ludwick, resort operator, said early plans indicated only 150 planes would take part in the flight.

Wheat covers more of the world's farm lands than any other crop and is grown in all 48 American states.

Nehru's Memory Proves Better Than Elephant's

TOKYO (UP)— Prime Minister Nehru of India and the elephant he gave the children of Japan eight years ago met again today.

Nehru remembered Indira, the elephant, who is named for his daughter. Apparently Indira didn't recall the Prime Minister. As Nehru spoke about Indira to children at a zoo, the animal unconcernedly went ahead with her meal of bananas, turnips, apples and grass.

A chimpanzee squawked and stared at the visiting Prime Minister while thousands of flag-waving schoolchildren cheered.

There should be very little want of sports to fill the appetites of the honest-to-goodness sports fans at this time of the year.

In fact with baseball still in the picture, with football just reaching its high note at this time, with golf still holding on to its partisans, with hockey pushing its way in and with basketball even making its debut, it is a wonder Mr. Fan doesn't devour the sports pages to a point of rebellion.

Writers often hear the average sports page reader say —"when it's baseball season I want to read about baseball, when it's football season I want football, or when its hockey, basketball, swimming, etc., I want them during their own seasons."

★ ★ ★

Actually, anymore just where do we differentiate one season from another?

SPORTS OF ALL SEASONS

Granted that the high point of baseball is during the summer, of football in the fall, of basketball in the winter, but on the sports pages they have now become all-seasons' sports.

★ ★ ★

You can read about baseball in February from the training camps into October during the World Series. You can read football from July about the All-Star game to the end of January about the pro-bowl game.

You can read about hockey in September when the teams begin work and in April during the playoffs, or basketball from October to May.

Every year the seasons get longer with pre-season and post-season additions.

If it keeps up we may have the fantastic result of having a team with a home base in the North for the summer and the same team going South for the winter to continue the same but year-round schedule.

It doesn't make sense to have people sit in T-shirts to watch a football game in Chicago or to have 900 fans in topcoats watch a baseball game in the same city.

That's just what happened this year. It happened for the football all-star game in the Windy City in mid-summer and it happened when the Tigers played the White Sox in the final series in Chicago.

It's getting so that the whole essence of the philosophy of those steering certain sports fields has become — add another event and a few more days to the season and make another dollar.

★ ★ ★

We say hurrah for sports, but long live the certain season.

DITTOS FROM THE PRESS BOX

Pontiac High is getting ready for its first annual "Football Festival" next week, with floats and music and a homecoming atmosphere for its game with Saginaw . . . We are asked, "Why not condemn the PHS track at Wisner field and not only the poor stadium lighting?" . . . But we do, really. For a three-time state championship track team, the facilities are like the lights, very dull. And that is why Pontiac doesn't get a league or regional meet.

Burdette Gives Milwaukee Series Edge, 3-2

Yankees Really Hurting

Burdette Says Injury to Mantle Hard Blow

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Lew Burdette, the Milwaukee Braves' pitching hero of the World Series, thinks the New York Yankees are really hurting because of Mickey Mantle's handicap.

That's nothing new. Manager Casey Stengel and all the World Champions know it. But Burdette, who got his 2nd series victory over New York with a splendid 1-0 shutout on a seven hitter yesterday, sums it up well from the Braves standpoint.

"Mantle must be considered always a threat at the plate, whether injured or not," said the 30-year-old righthander.

"But now he is considered much more of a threat on the base paths than with a bat in his hand. But, gosh, all the Yankees are threats when you are looking at 'em from the mound.

"I just mean, Mantle isn't Mantle anymore."

Burdette was surprised he used only 87 pitches in his whitewash job. They included sliders, fast balls, screwballs, and sinkers, but about only eight curve balls. Burdette says he will be ready to go again when the series windup resumes in New York tomorrow if manager Fred Haney wants him.

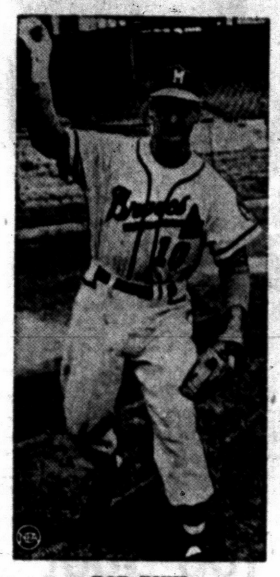

"A couple of years ago I pitched a complete game with only two days of rest, and I could do it again," he said. "I'll go any time Haney wants me."

Burdette was in such complete charge in registering his second victory over the Yankees, after beating them on another seven-hitter 4-2 in the second game of the series, that he ran up a three-ball count on only three batters.

Burdette said his greatest thrill was winning the 2nd game of the series last week.

"Now the novelty is worn off," he added. "It's just another game, but an important one. I think the 1st time a pitcher beats the Yankees has to remain the top thrill."

Hootin' and Hollerin'

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Although yesterday was a work day in this industrious town, there was almost as much hootin' and hollerin' in downtown Milwaukee after yesterday's game as there was after Sunday's thrilling 7-5 Braves' triumph. Auto horns kept blasting most of the evening.

AP Wirephoto

HE'S MILWAUKEE'S BOY — Lew Burdette (33), Braves' pitcher, was applauded by catcher Del Crandall and Ed Mathews (right) after Burdette had set down the Yankees, 1-0 in the fifth World Series game in Milwaukee, yesterday. Mathews scored the winning tally.

'Underdogs' Need One More After 1-0 Win

Mantle Still Is Doubtful Starter as Scene Shifts to New York

NEW YORK (AP) — The proud and haughty New York Yankees today were in their worst position since they bowed to the Brooklyn Dodgers in seven games in the 1955 World Series.

Their poise and confidence shaken for the first time in the series, following yesterday's twin jolt to the chin—the knowledge of Mickey Mantle's almost certain loss and Whitey Ford's paralyzing 1-0 defeat by Milwaukee—the Yankees find themselves in the distasteful position where one more loss will end their world championship reign. The Braves' triumph yesterday gave them a 3-2 lead in the series.

The Yankees' only comfort can be gleaned from the schedule which calls for a day off today. Although manager Casey Stengel is frankly pessimistic about Mantle's availability for tomorrow's sixth game, he is hoping against hope that his top slugger's sore shoulder mends sufficiently to enable him to swing a bat.

Mantle actually hurt his right shoulder in the first inning of Saturday's game when Red Schoendienst fell on top of him trying to flag down pitcher Bob Buhl's throw in an unsuccessful attempt to pick Mickey off second. Hardly anyone realized Mantle was hurt. Even when he was held hitless by Warren Spahn on Sunday. But yesterday, just before game time, Stengel announced he was withdrawing the Oklahoma strong boy from the starting lineup.

Stengel explained that the Mick's shoulder had stiffened considerably and it hurt him when he swung a bat.

The Yankees received a taste yesterday of what it is like without the bludgeoning art of Mantle when they were held to seven hits by Lew Burdette (nothing longer than a single) as Ford lost the heartbreaker to Milwaukee. Whitey himself yielded only six hits, but three of them came in one inning— the sixth—to account for the only run of the game and result in Burdett's second victory over the Yankees in the series. Ford had beaten the Braves in the opener 3-1 on five hits.

The partisan crowd's biggest thrill, however, came in the sixth. Ford and Burdette were locked up in a real pitching duel. Neither side had been able to push a runner as far as third base. The Yankees had touched Burdette for four hits and the Braves had gotten only three off Ford.

Whitey retired the first two Braves in the sixth. Then came the big break. Eddie Mathews hit a slow chopper to the right side. Coleman, usually an alert fielder, waited for the ball to bounce to him instead of charging in for the short hop. By the time he could get the ball and whip it to first, Mathews was across the bag with an infield single. Henry Aaron followed with a bloop single to right that dropped between Coleman and right fielder Hank Bauer. Mathews racing to third. Adcock, whose bat had been practically muted in the four previous games, came through with a line single to right, and Mathews romped across the plate with the only run of the game.

Burdette still had his work cut out for him, however. He gave up singles in each of the next three innings, but only in the ninth did he face more than three batters. Yogi Berra singled to open the seventh but Slaughter hit into a double play. Coleman singled with one out in the eighth, but Mantle, in a pinch running role, was cut down trying to steal second.

★ ★ ★

Burdette, growing stronger as the game progressed, fanned the first two Yankees, Bauer and Kubek, in the ninth but McDougald kept New York's hopes alive with a single to right. Berra, however, swung at Lew's first pitch, a slider, and raised a puny popup to Mathews, ending the game.

Buhl vs Turley Wednesday

NEW YORK (INS) — A burly band of Milwaukee Braves stormed menacingly into New York today, eager to bury the battered Yankees and make their own wonderful city the baseball capital of the universe.

The magnificent Braves were one World Series victory away from paradise, and the Bronx Bombers came home to try to stop Milwaukee's burning desire to crumble the walls of their title dynasty.

For the occasion, manager Fred Haney was expected to send righthanded fastballer Bob Buhl (18-7) to the pitching mound against New York's jet-balling righthander, Bob Turley (13-6).

Shunning miracles for just plain marvelous clutch pitching-hitting and fielding, the Braves moved ahead 3-2 in the spectacular yesterday.

This notable achievement, which evoked delirious outbursts of joy from 45,811 fans at Milwaukee's County Stadium, set the stage for tomorrow's 6th game at Yankee Stadium. And it was no secret that the faithful in the Beer City and their ball - playing delegates hoped to convert the spacious Yankee park into a triple-decked cemetery.

Saginaw Valley Teams Play Full Slate Friday

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

After a flu-bitten week which had fever temperatures higher than normal around prep front, the action gets heavier this weekend especially in the rugged Saginaw Valley Conference which has a full slate on tap.

Two teams, Pontiac and Flint Northern were idle last week because of the flu bug. Pontiac's game with Ferndale and Northern's contest with Grand Rapids Catholic were called off because of heavy influenza rates among Ferndale and Grand Rapids players.

The big game of the SVC is at Flint Central where the state's number one team, Bay City Central shoots for its 4th straight win. Flint Central could sting the Wolves after holding highly regarded Ann Arbor to a 14-14 tie last weekend while Bay City was mauling city rivaly Handy 53-12.

Saginaw is host to Flint Northern and in the local attraction the Chiefs entertain Arthur Hill.

The Hillities gave Alpena a drubbing last Friday, 34-13, despite the fact that only 29 players made the trip because of the flu which kept several at home.

Pontiac still has the taste of the 13-6 victory it gained at Lansing Sexton two weeks ago, and in view of Sexton's 45-0 victory over Kalamazoo last Friday, the Chiefs will hardly expect to find their opponents taking them too lightly.

"Pontiac must not be too bad considering what Sexton, a team it beat, did to Kalamazoo," said Arthur Hill coach Kurt Kampe. "We're not taking Pontiac lightly, we plan an all-out effort," he added.

Kampe watched the Chiefs lose to Wyandotte in the opener and his scout saw the game at Sexton therefore PHS should be well scouted.

In its three games to date, Arthur Hill defeated Grand Rapids Catholic, 10-0; lost to second-ranked Midland, 33-0 and then whipped Alpena.

"I'm not making excuses," said Kampe, "but the week we played Midland, the entire city of Saginaw was flu-ridden and we were hurt badly. The flu has been around here for more than three weeks already, and it is now finally tapering off."

CRASHING CATCH — Wes Covington, Milwaukee Braves' left fielder, tenses every muscle as he slams hard against the left field fence in Milwaukee yesterday, for a sensational grab of a bid for a home run by Yankee's Gil McDougald. Play came in the 4th inning. It was the World Series' most spectacular catch, so far. Braves won, 1-0.

Crucial Games Ahead in Prep Loops

It's still early in the season, but there is a handful of high school football games coming up this weekend that could make or break the championship ambitions of several Oakland County area teams.

Although this week's results won't decide anything conclusively, they will help the various league puzzles to fall into place a little better.

The Eastern Michigan League and the Wayne-Oakland Conference grab top billing.

East Detroit, boasting a 12-game winning streak, and surprisingly strong Hazel Park collide Friday at Hazel Park in the EML's No. 1 attraction. Both teams are undefeated in three starts this season.

Chuck Skinner, head coach of the Parkers, said his squad would be dangerous in 1957 if injuries didn't deplete his thin ranks. So far the Parkers have stayed in sound physical condition and they should prove a thorough test for the defending champion Shamrocks.

Birmingham, which squeaked by Mt. Clemens, 13-12, in its loop opener, plays host to Ferndale Friday in another important contest.

Holly and Milford hold the spotlight in the Wayne-Oakland circuit. The two teams clash at Milford Friday night and the W-O title could well hang in the balance, although defending champion Northville is still to be encountered by both schools.

Milford, unbeaten in three games, will match its better team speed against the weight and power of the Broncos, who are also unbeaten but have two ties on the slate. Holly was fortunate to gain a scoreless tie with West Bloomfield last Friday.

Any title hopes remaining for Waterford and Walled Lake in the Inter-Lakes Conference will rise or fall Friday.

The disappointing Skippers tangle with Berkley at Waterford and Walled Lake is at home against Farmington. Waterford and the Vikings both dropped their loop openers and any further setbacks will throw them out of the running.

Clawson and Madison square off at Madison in the top Oakland B League game. The spirited Eagles are working up a full head of steam for powerful Clawson, the defending champ which thus far has mowed down three opponents.

★ ★ ★

St. Michael and St. Frederick renew their blazing city rivalry Sunday afternoon at Wisner Stadium while Orchard Lake St. Mary and unbeaten Ferndale St. James lock horns at Orchard Lake in crucial Suburban Catholic League battles.

★ ★ ★

Imlay City invades Ortonville Friday for an important South Central scrap while Warren and South Lake, both undefeated, engage in a Bi-County showdown at South Lake.

6 Oakland Teams Remain Spotless

There are only six Oakland County high school football teams with perfect records after three weeks of action in the 1957 season.

★ ★ ★

The undefeated — untied squads, all with 3-0 marks, are Hazel Park, Lake Orion, Clawson, Troy, Milford and Ferndale St. James.

Southfield and Holly are unbeaten, but the Jays have a tie with Royal Oak Kimball while Holly has been held to two deadlocks

Eight area schools boast clean 3-0 slates. Included are Romeo, Warren, South Lake, Detroit St. Rita, Highland Park St. Benedict, Almont, Brown City and Armada.

★ ★ ★

Last week's top casualty was Walled Lake, which had its 10-game victory string snapped by Southfield, 19-0.

Patanelli Calls Spartans Finest He's Seen There

'M' Coaches, Gridders Hear Scouting Reports on Saturday Foe

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Duffy Daugherty admits he has plenty of good players at Michigan State, but he'd like some great ones.

At Michigan the thinking is that Daugherty has more great ones than he needs for Saturday's classic btween the intra-state rivals.

This is the finest Michigan State team I've ever seen," said end coach Matt Patanelli, who kept tabs on the Spartans by scouting their victories over Indiana and California.

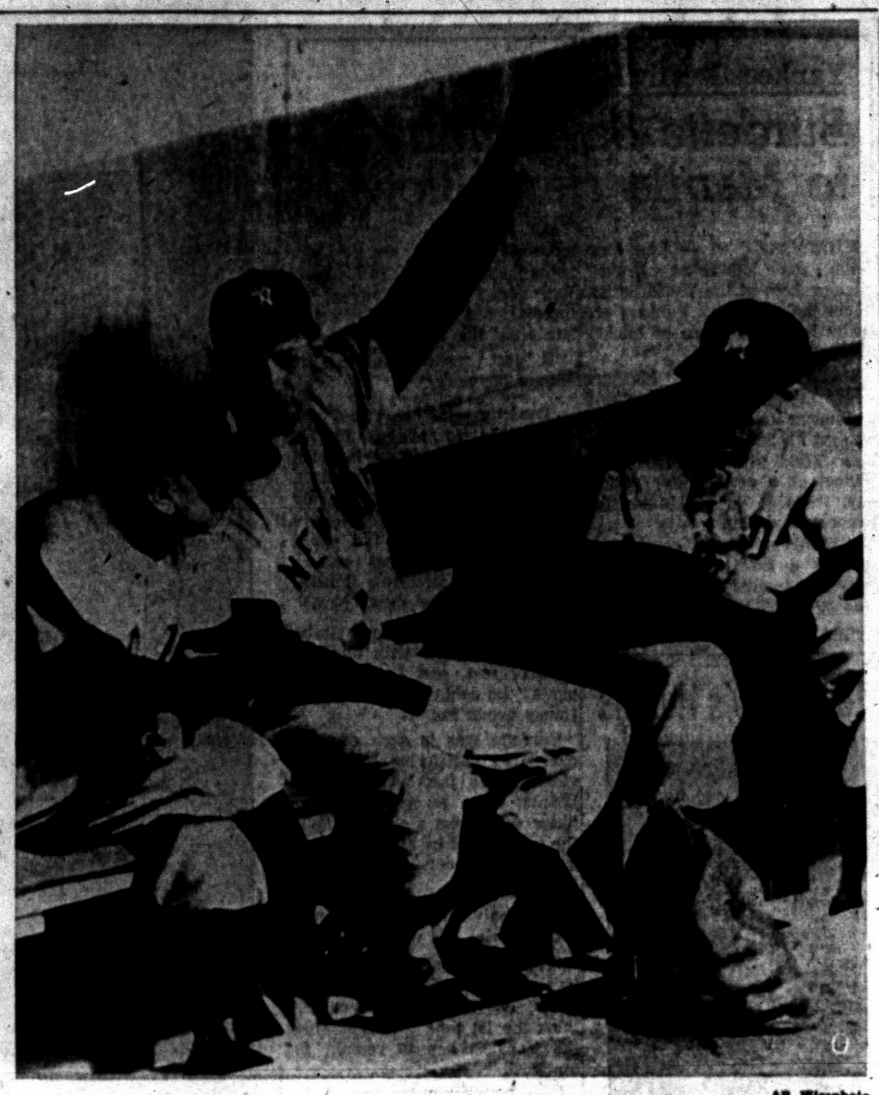

Patanelli has been connected with Michigan football long enough not to make hasty judgements. During his three years as a player himself from 1934 to 1936, the Wolverines never defeated Michigan State. Since he returned here as end coach in 1953, the Spartans have split four fames with Michigan and twice went to the rose bowl.

"Dan Currie, Sammy Williams and Walt Kowalczyk are just a few of the great ones at State," Patanelli said. "They have tremendous depth. Their second unit is just as good in size, strength and speed as the first."

Patanelli delivered his espionage report to Michigan players after practice last night. It had an ominous ring, but didn't sound hopeless.

The Wolverines know they are underdogs. They know the Spartans were heavy favorites two years ago, too. They remember beating Rose Bowl-bound Michigan State 14-7 that time.

Another memory stirs the Wolverines. They still believe they should have won last season. Instead, Michigan State was a 9-0 victor after Michigan tolled off more yardage (159-143) and more first downs (13-9).

Michigan Squad Blocks Spartan Trail to Roses

Two Universities Meet at Ann Arbor Saturday for 50th Time

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan State has multiple reasons for throwing its multiple offense against Michigan with full fury in Saturday's football classic.

Michigan has to be eliminated if the Spartans are to realize burning twin ambitions for a clear-cut Big Ten title and a third Rose Bowl trip.

The coaches put the Conference crown first but the players, prompted by seniors with lively memories of the last jaunt to Pasadena, are more impressed by the Rose Bowl.

There's also a matter of settling scores. Since Duffy Daugherty has been head MSU coach, Michigan has a 2-1 edge in the series.

The Wolverines won 33-7 in 1954 and in 1955 did it again by a 14-7 score, the only Spartan defeat that season. Last year, State won a 9-0 decision.

This will be the 50th renewal—the golden anniversary of the series dating back to 1898. As usual in recent years, the game is a sellout and the air will be electric with the excitement of the 100,000-plus fans jammed into Michigan stadium.

Michigan State has not been scored on this season in the 54-0 runaway over Indiana and the 19-0 licking of California. Michigan allowed one touchdown in taking Southern California 16-6, then marched through Georgia 26-0.

Studying scouting reports on the Wolverines, Daugherty commented that this Michigan team appears to have a better balance between ground and passing attacks than some recent Ann Arbor outfits.

"It looks like a typically good, tough Michigan team," he said. "This is one game we don't have to build the boys up for. They have a head of steam on already."

The feeling in the MSU camp is that Michigan coasted some Saturday and has been holding out some surprises. But work started last night on acquainting the squad with what is known from the scouting reports.

Sugar Ray Robinson won the world welterweight boxing championship by defeating Tommy Bell in 1945.

Clever Slade Gets Split Verdict Win

NEW YORK (AP)—"I went to hit him but he wasn't there."

That's how Jerry Luedee explained why he lost the last two rounds—and the fight—to clever Jimmy Slade at St. Nicholas Arena last night.

Slade's sweep of the final two rounds gained him a split decision in 10 rounds and got his comeback off to a flying start.

Knocked down in the third round and behind going into the ninth, Jimmy nimbly maneuvered around the ring to outbox his crude but willing rival. Luedee had scored earlier with sweeping punches to the head and body.

Midland Grabs Class A Top Spot

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Midland's magnificent Chemics, who have rolled over three Saginaw Valley League football teams in almost-effortless style, today became the No. 1 high school team in the state's Class A ranks.

★ ★ ★

The Chemics, after routing Flint Central, Saginaw Arthur Hill and Saginaw with a 112 to 13 scoring edge, shoved rugged Bay City Central out of the top spot after the Wolves had reigned just one week.

So tremendous have the first three weeks of Michigan's high school action been that there has been a new leader each week in the Associated Press "Top Ten" rankings.

★ ★ ★

By the slender margin of a single vote, the six member sports editors serving on the AP's Class A panel moved Midland ahead of Bay City Central, despite the Wolves' convincing 53-12 rout of cross-town rival Bay City Handy.

★ ★ ★

A slick, 180-pound quarterback, Mike Westley, has guided Midland to three straight one-sided triumphs. Against Saginaw he passed four times for touchdowns and scored twice himself. Another time his touchdown was called back.

★ ★ ★

Westley has convinced the Saginaw Valley, at least, that he's one of the state's most talented signal callers. Joe Hart, veteran sportswriter of the Saginaw News, warned that the Chemics seems to be "getting better as the season progresses."

★ ★ ★

Flint Northern, the 1956 mythical state champion and top-ranked in the first weekly poll this season, was idle last week because of influenza. But because of Flint Central's upset 14-14 tie with Ann Arbor, Northern moved into third place—up one notch from a week ago.

★ ★ ★

Muskegon Heights tripped Holland 18-0 and moved up a notch to fourth place. Close behind in fifth place is Muskegon Catholic, a 27-0 winner over Muskegon. Ann Arbor's tie with unranked Flint Central dropped the Pioneers from second to 6th place, just ahead of East Detroit's powerful Shamrocks.

Wyandotte edged Highland Park 20-13 and retained the 8th spot, while Lansing Eastern (13-0 over Port Huron) and Traverse City (42-6 over Canadian Soo) deadlocked for the 9th and 10th spots.

Other teams given support are Flint Central and Battle Creek Central.

Here's how the AP panel selected the "top ten" in Class A:

1. Midland
2. Bay City Central
3. Flint Northern
4. Muskegon Heights
5. Muskegon Catholic
6. Ann Arbor
7. East Detroit
8. Wyandotte

Weather Too Nice!

Hunters' Job Difficult as Vegetation Dries Out

By JACK PATTERSON

MANISTEE — Continued clear skies and warm weather are making the hunters job increasingly hard. The woods are getting very dry, noisy underfoot, and it will take a good driving rain to knock enough leaves down to permit a little target visibility. Incidentally, before that rain comes, color tourists are advised that northern Lower Peninsula colors are about at their peak.

PATTERSON

As one moves over toward the West side he notices a subtle change in hunters' reports on grouse. From Emmett county down to Oceana they agree there are more birds than last year. Shooting conditions, however, haven't permitted the increase to show up in game bags. Most cover is still too thick.

We drove 1,500 miles through grouse areas before we saw a bird fly across the road. Monday, for the first time since, we noticed birds on the road and flying across, in the Western counties of Zone 1. While that doesn't necessarily mean anything it looks like a pretty strong indication that the western counties have more birds than the rest of the state.

We dropped by the cabin of some friends in Mason county, and although no one was about, windrows of fresh grouse feathers offered testimony to the fact of birds in the area. We found some birds in sample areas.

Duck hunting throughout the northern area is suffering from summer weather and their is considerable local feeling in many areas that the native duck crop has been a thin one. This pessimistic outlook may change promptly with the coming of some "ducky" weather.

Deer hunters — bow hunters, that is, are far scarcer in western counties than in central and eastern ones. That isn't just a comparison of week-end and week-day conditions, either.

Bow hunters apparently don't favor this area so much, although from personal observation there are enough deer around to make it worthwhile.

Woodcock are relatively scarce in most of the western areas we checked but that situation can change overnight.

Rainbow fishermen would like to see some rain to improve their possibilities. Sharper weather should help too.

One of the extra pleasures the grouse hunter, who also happens to be a trout fisherman, can enjoy is the opportunity to watch brook and brown trout going through courtship maneuvers.

Speedboat King Suspends Trials for World Mark

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Donald Campbell took another spin on Onondaga Lake in his jet-powered hydroplane yesterday even though he said, he was ill with flu.

Several hours after he announced that he was temporarily suspending plans to try and break his world water speed mark of 225.63 miles an hour, Campbell skimmed over the glass-smooth lake at 150 miles an hour.

Afterward, he said his boat, the powerful Bluebird II, still had a roll that developed Saturday.

Oklahoma Still Nation's No. 1 Eleven

Spartans Rated 2nd in Weekly Gridiron Poll

Sooners Given 65 Votes for 1st Spot; Michigan Rises to 6th Place

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Yankees may be sufferin' but their football counterpart in sustained reign, Oklahoma's Sooners, are rolling right along in their accustomed style.

For the third straight week, it's the Sooners no. 1 in the Associated Press college football poll. Of the 116 sports writers and sportcasters participating in the nation-wide balloting, 65 cast first-place ballots for Oklahoma.

On the usual point basis of 10 points for first, nine for second, etc., the Sooners accumulated 1,047 points for a tidy lead over runner-up Michigan State, which had 21 first-place votes and 906 points.

The same teams ranked one-two a week ago and lost none of their luster in their second games of the season, Oklahoma boosting its winning streak to 42 with a 40-14 rout of Iowa State while Michigan State blanked California, 19-0.

Elsewhere, the top 10 line-up underwent quite a shuffling, with Texas A & M moving up to third place followed by Minnesota, Duke, Michigan, Oregon State, Iowa, Auburn and Army.

Army was numbered among the elite for the first time, and just in time to give added meaning to the resumption of the Cadets' series with Notre Dame at Philadelphia Saturday. Army replaced arch-rival Navy, which lost to North Carolina 13-7 and fell from sixth place a week ago clear out of the first 20.

Notre Dame moved up to the 12th spot (from 16th a week ago) after bouncing Indiana 26-0 for its second consecutive victory. Arkansas, 3-0 after a 20-7 decision over Texas Christian, heads the second ten. After Notre Dame comes North Carolina State, Mississippi, Rice, Wisconsin, Georgia Tech, North Carolina, Tennessee and Pittsburgh.

The Top Ten teams with points on 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis, with first place votes and won-lost records in parentheses:

1.	Oklahoma (65) (2-0)	1,047

2 Teams Share Best-Ball Honor

Two teams divided best-ball honors and Max Evans and Tommy Cosmos shared individual laurels in an 18-hole pro-pro golf tournament Monday at Edgewood Country Club.

Evans and his partner, Ron Fox, and the team of Reggie Myles Jr. and Gene Walsh fired rounds of 33-33—66, five under par, for a 1st place tie. Evans and Cosmos each shot a 68 for low individual cards.

The teams of Ray Malsin-Earl Roy and Cosmos-Bill Langnau shot 66's for 2nd place. Lou Powers and Stan Jawor carded a 68 for 3rd spot.

LA Finally Pops the Question

Asks for Dodgers' 'Hand'

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles City Council has finally asked Walter O'Malley for the hand of his darling Brooklyn Dodgers.

★ ★ ★

The move that had been stewing since last May became a reality late yesterday afternoon when the council—over determined opposition—mustered the necessary 10 votes to transfer the Dodgers West.

★ ★ ★

In New York, O'Malley withheld comment, but his acceptance of the contract offered by the city was believed in the bag. The Dodger president has until Oct. 15 to make his decision.

Four councilmen opposed the transfer to the very end of the tumultuous, six-hour session. All four said they want the Dodgers, but feel terms of the contract bringing them here are unfavorable to the city.

There was a threat from the camp of the four dissenters of trying to nullify the council action by placing the issue before the voters as a referendum.

Councilmen favoring the Dodger transfer gave this plan little chance of success. Such an election could not be held until next summer, they said, and besides, the city's residents are overwhelmingly in favor of bringing the Bums to Los Angeles.

To bring the issue to a vote, thousands of signatures would be required. The exact number would be determined by the size of the vote in the last municipal election.

Yesterday's vote was delayed for hours by Councilman John Holland, bitter foe of the transfer who charged the city was getting only 1-30th of what it should from O'Malley.

Tension increased, however, when the roll call vote was finally called. Nine of the votes were already committed, but there was some uncertainty on which way Councilman Ransom Callicott would vote.

He responded on an "aye" which proponents of the transfer feel will have this effect on the National pasttime:

The National League season will open locally next spring at 22,500-seat Wrigley Field.

Under terms of the contract, the Dodgers would play their games in Wrigley Field until O'Malley builds his team a 50,000-seat stadium on 300 acres of Chavez Ravine land deeded the Dodgers by the city.

Then O'Malley gives the city the 10-acre site of Wrigley Field, home of the Los Angeles Angels in the Pacific Coast League, which O'Malley picked up when he bought the Angel franchise last year.

$100,000 Bid for Title Bout

DETROIT (AP)—A Detroit group is willing to guarantee Archie Moore $100,000 to defend his light-heavyweight championship against Chuck Spieser here.

Spieser, a Detroit fighter ranked No. 4 in the list of challengers of the elderly Archie's crown, has not fought since his knockout loss to Tony Anthony of New York last spring.

Moore's last defense was a technical knockout victory over Anthony.

Joe Spieser, brother and manager of the fighter, said:

"We have reason to believe Jack Kearns, Moore's co-manager, will accept our offer within a day or so."

Pitchers Last Longer Than First Basemen

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Series pitchers have had more complete games than the first basemen. Harry Simpson of the Yanks, an outfielder by trade, has been the only first sacker to go the distance. He did it twice. By contrast, Burdette has had two complete games and Warren Spahn and Whitey Ford one each for a total of four.

Champagne List Is Star-Studded

New York's Richest Horse Race Attracts 14 Top Runners

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A field of 14 appeared probable today for the Champagne Stakes, New York's richest horse race, Saturday at Belmont Park, while Dedicate and Gallant Man are scheduled for a rubber match in the co-featured Jockey Club Gold Cup.

★ ★ ★

The one mile star-studded Champagne includes George E. Widener's Jester, the Belmont Futurity winner; The Maine Chance Farm's Jewel's Reward, winner of the Washington Park Futurity and Cowdin Stakes among others; the Jaclyn Stable's Li'l Fella, winner of two Belmont stakes and the World's Playground at Atlantic City; Fred W. Hooper's Alhambra, who won five stakes and was disqualified from the Arlington Futurity; and the Foxcatcher Farm's Rose Trellis, who took the Hopeful at Saratoga.

Other probables include the Wheatley Stable's Misty Flight, the Llangollen Farm entry of Rise 'N Shine and Crasher, the Claiborne Farm's Nadir, Walter M. Jeffords' Piano Jim, the Brookfield Farm's undefeated Isendu, the Greentree Stable's Turpitude, and Time Called, another Widener entry.

Anna Cannuli's Chance It Tony.

With all 14 going, the Champagne will have a gross pot of $158,500, with $94,275 to the winner.

Fans Get First Look at Piston Cagers Tonight

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit gets its first good look at the city's newest professional team—the pro basketball Detroit Pistons—tonight when Charley Eckman's team plays an intra-squad game for charity.

The game will begin at 8:30 p.m. in Detroit's Olympia Stadium and proceeds will go to the United Foundation.

"It'll be more than just a workout for some of the players," said coach Eckman. "A couple of these boys have a good chance to make the squad and this is a good time for us to find out just how good they are."

MONDAY'S FIGHTS

NEW YORK—Jimmy Slade, 173½, New York, outpointed Jerry Luedee, 169½, New Haven, Conn., 10.

NOTTINGHAM, England—Hogan "Kid" Bassey, Nigeria, outpointed Victor Pepeder; France, 10. (featherweights).

Scoring Lead Held by Nitschke, Sessi

CHICAGO (AP) — Illinois fullback Ray Nitschke scored three touchdowns in a 40-0 rout of Colgate Saturday to move into a tie with Iowa's Gene Sessi in the Big Ten football conference all-games scoring race.

Both Nitschke and Sessi, who scored his three touchdowns in a 70-14 rout of Utah State in Iowa's opener, have 18 points.

Bob Blakely of Minnesota is third with 17 points on two touchdowns and five conversions, followed by Michigan's Stan Noskin and Wisconsin's Sid Williams with 13 points each.

Fourteen other players are tied for sixth place with 12 points each.

The leaders:

	T	FG	PAT	Total
Sessi, Iowa	3	0	0	18
Nitschke, Illinois	3	0	0	18
Blakely, Minnesota	2	0	5	17
Noskin, Michigan	3	0	1	13
Williams, Wisconsin	2	0	1	13

Mad Scramble Looms for NHL

41st Year Opens Tonight

MONTREAL (AP) — The National Hockey League faces off its 41st season tonight with indications that annual forecasts of a mad scramble for top placings may turn out more factual than proverbial.

Wholesale player swaps since last season, with at least three big names involved, have put even speculation on a topsy turvy basis.

There is fairly general agreement, however, that the strengthened Chicago Black Hawks not only will climb out of the cellar but should barge into select company as one of the four playoff teams.

There is also a feeling, which causes coach Toe Blake to shudder for fear of complacency among his stalwarts, that the Montreal Canadiens will finish first and regain the NHL title they surrendered to the Detroit Red Wings last season.

The question-mark Black Hawks themselves usher in the season in the only game scheduled today, when they are hosts to the Toronto Maple Leafs.

★ ★ ★

The Wings open play Thursday at Olympia against New York as Chicago and Montreal tangle.

Get First Ace at 75

CHICAGO (AP)—Charles F. Eldridge waited until he was 75 to get his second hole-in-one. He got his last ace with a 5 iron on the 145-yard second hole of the Walnut Hills Country Club.

Bay City Men Wish Better Luck on Water Trip

BAY CITY (AP) — Two elderly Bay City men set out yesterday on a 6,000-mile, year-long boat trip—hoping for better luck than they had on the first attempt.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Max McKay, 68, and Fred Newmann, 73, plus a cat mascot named Jap, make up the crew of the 41-foot auxiliary ketch Escape.

★ ★ ★

This is the second time the pair has set out on a route that would take them along the Great Lakes, the Illinois and Mississippi Rivers, the Gulf of Mexico, the Atlantic, the Erie Canal and back home again.

★ ★ ★

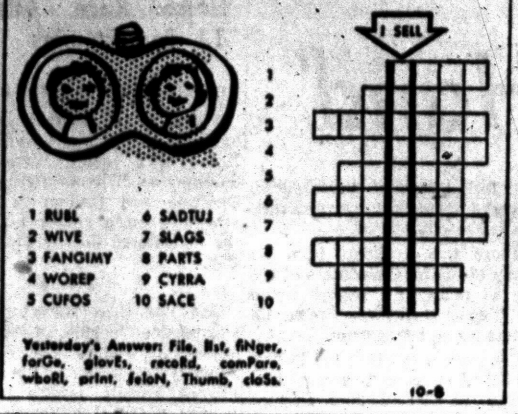

Last fall they got as far as Lockport, Ill., where the Escape was crushed by a big river barge.

The boat has been outfitted with a new diesel engine and was almost completely rebuilt.

The men have no set schedule for their adventure. They hoped to make Oscoda their first stop.

Martin Picks Up Another 2 Points

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market churned in heavy early trading today with prices mixed after a decline at the opening.

Missile and aircraft stocks were irregular after their leap of yesterday on news of Russia's success with its man-made moon.

★ ★ ★

But Martin Co., maker of the American satellite and yesterday's most active stock, rose another two points in brisk trading.

Gains were mainly fractional, but in a few cases stretched to two points or more. Lukens Steel was ahead around two in a come-back from yesterday's 10-point loss. Du Pont added more than two.

Youngstown Sheet, after taking a small loss, was up a major fraction. Republic Steel was off a bit, but U. S. Steel and Bethlehem moved to the upside. Chrysler, Anaconda, Allied Chemical, Texas Co. and United Air Lines were other gainers.

★ ★ ★

Up around a point were General Dynamics and Royal Dutch. Losers included Goodyear, Goodrich, United Aircraft, International Nickel, American Cyanamid, Southern Railway and New York Central.

Opening blocks included: United Corp. unchanged at 6⅞ on 10,500 shares; United Aircraft off 1 at 59 on 1,000; Curtiss-Wright off ⅜ at 33 on 1,600; and Gulf Oil off 1⅛ at 119½ on 2,000.

At an air force target island in Lake Glan in central Sweden recently the Swedish Air Force gave a "cease fire" orders. Reason was that a Canadian wild goose was about to hatch some eggs in the zone where the screaming jet planes were doing practice maneuvers.

Need for Scientists to Double in 3 Years

WASHINGTON (AP)— The Atomic Energy Commission said today a survey has indicated the need for scientists and engineers in privately supported atomic energy activities will almost double in the next three years.

The announcement said an estimated 7,000 to 7,500 scientists and engineers were employed in September 1956, either full or part-time, in all types of atomic energy activity supported by private industry. It was estimated this number increased to 9,000 in July 1957.

"By 1960 the demand is expected to increase to an estimated 16,000," the announcement said.

The survey was made for the AEC by Atomic Industrial Forum Inc. of New York. The results were published today.

The report said that while there does not now appear to be a critical shortage of scientists and engineers for private atomic work, it is possible that "current limited shortages" may be more serious in the future.

Burglars Get $2,108 From Two Rochester Offices

ROCHESTER — The Rochester Police reported two break-ins here over the weekend.

Whn Ralph B. Garner, investment broker, returned to his office in the National Bank Building yesterday, he discovered that $2,000 in checks was missing from a filing cabinet. The door had been forced for entry, as had the filing cabinet, he said.

The second break-in occurred at South Main St. A rear window was entered and owners reported $98 in bills and $10 in silver had been taken.

Investigating is officer William Wohl.

Soybean Prices Continue to Rise

CHICAGO (AP) — Soybean futures continued to advance on the board of trade today, extending yesterday's advance. Other futures were mixed in a light trade.

Corn, down as much as ½ cent at the outset, rallied after the Department of Agriculture came out with an official announcement that it plans to curtail domestic sales of CCC corn "insofar as possible." The announcement confirmed reports heard on the board of trade last week.

USDA confirmation of the report, however, gave some strength to the market and corn advanced as much as a cent at times.

Near the end of the first hour new style wheat was ½ to ⅞ lower, Dec. $2.18, corn ¼ to ¾ higher, Dec. $1.20¼, oats ⅛ to ⅜ lower, Dec. 67⅛, rye unchanged to 1 lower, Dec. $1.29, soybeans 1 to 1¾ higher, Nov. $2.29½, and lard was 5 cents lower to 2 cents higher, per hundred pounds, Oct. $11.22.

Western Allies to Submit Plan

Will Ask of U.N. Group Speedy Consideration; Menon to Delay Talk

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States and its allies today planned to seek speedy discussion of their new disarmament plan as the U.N. Assembly's chief Political Committee moved into action.

The Western delegates were expected to put the resolution before the committee tomorrow and to seek immediate discussion of it.

★ ★ ★

Indian Delegate V. K. Krishna Menon, meanwhile, delayed unveiling his own rival arms plan, which it had been expected would be outlined in policy speech today to the Assembly.

★ ★ ★

An Indian spokesman said Menon's resolution had been held back until tomorrow. He added that Indian delegates will confer tonight with U.S. disarmament negotiator Harold E. Stassen in an attempt to bring the U.S. and Indian arms views closer together.

★ ★ ★

The Indian proposal, like companion schemes put forth by Russia and Japan, calls for suspension of all nuclear tests subject to inspection but prior to actual disarmament.

The Western plan specifies suspension of nuclear tests only after agreement is reached to stop using atomic material for weapons, reduce armed forces and evolve a comprehensive system of inspection.

The Western proposals include setting up an inspection system to insure that sending rockets through outer space would be for peaceful and scientific purposes only.

The United States acknowledged it is studying what possible effect the launching of the Soviet space satellite will have on the disarmament picture and said it no doubt would have some proposals to make on that score in the future.

Railroads Must Pay Full Bill for Gates

LANSING (AP) — Railway companies will foot the whole bill for erection of crossing gates under a new ruling by the State Supreme Court.

In a unanimous opinion, the court ruled yesterday that an 1873 law still in force bans county road commissioners, or any other governmental unit, from splitting the costs of crossing gates with the railroads.

The case arose out of a Public Service Commission order directing the railroad to erect a crossing gate and flasher signals at the Superior Road crossing in Washtenaw County. Judge Louis E. Coash of Ingham County Circuit Court affirmed the order.

★ ★ ★

In a friendly suit, New York Central and the road commissioners contended records showed no necessity for crossing gates at the intersection and questioned the PSC's authority to issue the order.

★ ★ ★

However, testimony by Washtenaw County authorities confirmed poor visibility at the disputed crossing.

Although regular United States airmail postal service dates back to 1918, there was no airmail post card until January 10, 1949.

Stabbed Body Found; Screwdriver Near

Police Comb Deep Into Mexico for Slayer of Girl, 5

ROSWELL, N.M. (AP) — Police today combed deep into Mexico for the kidnap-slayer of a 5-year-old girl whose unclothed body was found last night in a dump eight miles east of here.

★ ★ ★

Little Sandra Jo Lucero apparently died from a single stab wound in the heart. The weapon, a screwdriver, lay nearby.

Police Chief Tommy Thompson and Sheriff J. C. Jones said they will file murder charges today against Joe Franco, 24, a farm worker with a record of minor scrapes with the law.

★ ★ ★

Franco, a "friend of the family," has already been charged with kidnaping the child from her home early Sunday. The FBI, whose agents were aiding local lawmen, issued a fugitive warrant for Franco.

His car was found abandoned 200 miles southwest of here in El Paso, Tex., near a bridge across the Rio Grande into Juarez, Mexico. Border patrolmen, FBI agents, Mexican police and New Mexico lawmen swarmed into Mexico in a joint effort to find Franco.

Left behind in the car was Franco's 30-30 rifle, fully loaded and with a shell in the chamber.

A post-mortem was ordered on the child's body to determine exact cause of death and whether she had been sexually assaulted.

Officers said it appeared to be a sex crime.

Her body, half covered with sand, was found by a group of five of her relatives, who told police they searched there because they knew Franco "was always boasting" about the area. His parents live nearby.

Sheriff Jones and Chief Thompson remained in El Paso, where the Mexican manhunt headquartered.

Officers pieced together this account of events leading up to the slaying:

Franco came by the Lucero home about 10 p.m. Saturday night to see the child's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clement Lucero. They were at a movie and their five children, including Sandra Jo, were in the care of a 10-year-old uncle.

★ ★ ★

Franco left and returned about midnight. The babysitter and Sandra Jo were sleeping on a bed. The parents hadn't returned. Franco told the boy he was sleepy and the boy moved to the couch, leaving Franco with the little girl.

About 12:30 a.m. the boy heard Franco go out the back door. Sandra Jo got up to close the door against a heavy rai.. then falling. She didn't return.

At 2:20 a.m. Franco turned up at the farm of his sister and brother-in-law, Carl Carruthers, at nearby Dexter, where he was employed. He loaded his rifle before them and told them, "I'm going to Juarez and I don't know if I'm ever coming back."

★ ★ ★

Returning to Roswell, Franco picked up Johnny Flores, just discharged from the Navy, at a filling station and asked him if he wanted to go to Juarez. Flores agreed and rode with Franco to the village of San Patricio about 65 miles southwest of here. There, without explanation Franco forced Flores from the car into the rain. He had told the youth he had "stabbed a man with a screwdriver" and was in "bad trouble."

★ ★ ★

Harold G. MacVittie Jr., Milford, and Claude S. Whaley, 3300 Elizabeth, were ordered to furnish financial responsibility for unsatisfied judgment.

Licenses were revoked from Gerald A. Ranney, Lake Orion, and Richard R. Smith, Birmingham, for violated license restriction.

Scott Murder Trial in Opening Stages

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Trial of L. Ewing Scott, charged with murdering his wealthy wife, settles today into the tedious questioning of prospective jurors.

It is expected to require several days. Defense Attorney P. Basil Lambros spent 80 minutes yesterday interrogating one prospect.

As the trial opened, prosecution and defense attorneys agreed that Scott be tried only on the murder charge. Trial on charges of forgery and grand theft in the alleged looting of Mrs. Evelyn Scott's $600,000 estate was put off until later.

★ ★ ★

"The principal issue in this case is whether or not Scott murdered his wife," said Dep. Dist. Atty. J. Miller Leavy. "We feel the evidence indicates that he did. We regard the thefts and forgeries as evidence of his motives."

Mrs. Scott disappeared in May of 1955 and her body has not been found. The defense contends she is alive.

Business Show at Port Huron

Oakland County Firms Exhibit; Display Power of State in Production

Numerous Oakland County industrial firms are represented at the Michigan Business Opportunities Show which began today at Port Huron.

Jay F. Gibbs, general manager of the show, listed the following: Alray Manufacturing Co., Pontiac, Detail Production of Ferndale, Nu-Era Gear Corp. of Rochester, Royal Oak Tool & Machine, Walter S. Ryan, Inc. of Royal Oak, and Birmingham Temprite Products Corp.

These will be among some 150 exhibits by private industry and governmental services.

"The exhibits will exemplify the great production power of this state which has made it the automotive capital of the world," said Carl M. Kaltwasser, business adviser of the Army's Detroit Ordinance District and defense liaison officer for the show.

ONIONS

QUESTION: Why do onions make you cry?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Scientists, who know their onions better than cooks, blame the eyes more than the onions for our tears when peeling an onion. Although we do not realize it, we always have tears in our eyes. These pass along the eyeballs and help keep the eyes clear and clean. An occasional blink carries the tears that have formed under the eyelids over the eyeballs into a duct leading to the nose. But sometimes the tears come so fast that they miss the draining system and pour down over the cheek. Smoke will cause this. So will onions. The strong odor of onions sets the tear glands to working extra hard at providing a protective wash for the eyes. The result is a small deluge of onion tears. But cheer up next time you cry over an onion. People whose tea ducts do not function properly and fail to cry actually suffer more during the peeling process. Their eyes are not protected by nature's built-in eye wash.

★ ★ ★

Stock Market Studies Yields

Recent Falling Prices Bring Closer Scrutiny of Margins, Profits

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — With stock prices on the downgrade most of the time in recent weeks and trading in the doldrums much of the time, traders and investors are taking a closer look today at a number of things:

How high stock margins should be, yields on favorites at present prices and corporate profit margins.

★ ★ ★

Margin rules of the Federal Reserve Board aren't as close to traders as they once were — the percentage buying on margin is much lower today than in the 20s say. At the moment a buyer must put up 70 per cent in cash.

★ ★ ★

But the rules are close to a broker's heart because his income depends on commissions on sales and with the market volume low commissions are on the slim side. Keith Funston, president of the New York Stock Exchange, thinks that if the Federal Reserve let people put up only 50 per cent in cash, trading would pick up and the broker members would be happier.

★ ★ ★

So far the Federal Reserve isn't talking.

Yields on stocks are closer to the investor's heart. And the long drop in prices has sweetened the yield for many favorites. The Exchange, monthly magazine of the Big Board, points out 20 common stocks in its October issue out today that have long records of unbroken quarterly dividend payments and have fallen in price enough of late to make their yields more attractive.

★ ★ ★

Yields on stocks are closer to price paid for a stock into the year's cash dividend income.

★ ★ ★

The 1,071 companies with common stocks listed on the exchange reported sales last year of nearly 233½ billion dollars, but net income after taxes of 16½ billion, or a profit on sales of 7 per cent. Highest percentage was 20.8 for the financial companies and the lowest 2.8 for retail trade.

Commission to Confer on Bus Line Merger; Accept Gift of Jaycees

A legal agreement, paving the way for the new Pontiac Post Office, is expected to be approved tonight by city commissioners on the advice of City Attorney William A. Ewart.

★ ★ ★

Before entering into the agreement, commissioners will rescind an old agreement for the West Huron property between Chippewa and Genesee. This was between the city and the Community National Bank, which originally sought the land.

★ ★ ★

Following action on this and 17 other matters, the commission will confer with an official of the Pontiac City Lines, Inc. to discuss the possibility of a merger of the city and the bus line to assist the latter's financial difficulties.

JAYCEES GIVE $2,000

A presentation will be received at this evening's weekly session by David R. Ewalt, Parks and Recreation director of the Pontiac Junior Chamber of Commerce. The $2,000 donation will be made to aid in the continued development of Jaycee Park, at Joslyn & Walton Blvd.

★ ★ ★

A public hearing will be conducted on the proposal that three lots at the northeast corner of West Huron and Thorpe streets be rezoned from Residential 2 to Commercial 1. The request for the change was made by the Shell Oil Co. The Planning Commission approved the move last week.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

In another series of hearings, the public will be afforded an opportunity to comment on the city's intention to construct sanitary sewers on Stanley avenue from Kinney to Lounsbury, Livingstone avenue from Blaine to Stanley, and on Blaine avenue from Kinney to Livingstone.

★ ★ ★

A final hearing will be on a special assessment roll to finance a curb, gutter, grade, gravel and related work project for Carlisle avenue from Cornell to Columbia.

Safety Association of Waterford to Meet

A meeting of the newly-organized Waterford Township Safety Assn., will be held at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Watterford Township High School.

★ ★ ★

Purpose of the meeting is to hear a report on a recent survey made by members of the association and to decide on the next move regarding bus transportation for all children until safe walking facilities are made available. Ralph Blair is chairman of the group.

★ ★ ★

All interested persons in the township have been urged to attend this meeting.

Truck Runs Over, Injures Inkster Man

Brighton Post State Police report that an Inkster man was run over by a truck Monday at Walker's Gravel Pit on Southhill road near Pontiac trail, in Milford Township.

Chester Bryce, 47, of 25727 Lehigh St., a truck driver for McGinnis Brothers Asphalt Co., was rushed to Pontiac General Hospital. He is reported in satisfactory condition today, with multiple fractures of the pelvis and chest injuries.

Police said that Bryce walked behind a truck on the scales when suddenly it backed up, completely running the rear wheels over him.

★ ★ ★

The driver, Henry Wells, 20, of 229 Walton Blvd., said he did not know he wasn't supposed to back off the scales.

Bay City Men Wish Better Luck on Water Trip

BAY CITY (AP) — Two elderly Bay City men set out yesterday on a 6,000-mile, year-long boat trip—hoping for better luck than they had on the first attempt.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Max McKay, 68, and Fred Newmann, 73, plus a cat mascot named Jap, make up the crew of the 41-foot auxiliary ketch Escape.

★ ★ ★

This is the second time the pair has set out on a route that would take them along the Great Lakes, the Illinois and Mississippi Rivers, the Gulf of Mexico, the Atlantic, the Erie Canal and back home again.

★ ★ ★

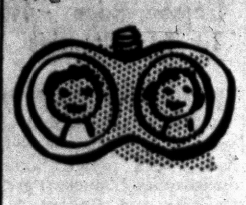

Last fall they got as far as Lockport, Ill., where the Escape was crushed by a big river barge.

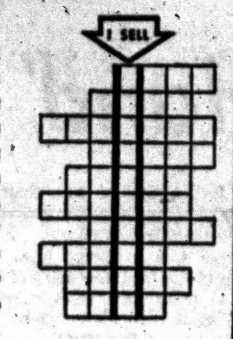

The boat has been outfitted with a new diesel engine and was almost completely rebuilt.

The men have no set schedule for their adventure. They hoped to make Oscoda their first stop.

Martin Picks Up Another 2 Points

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market churned in heavy early trading today with prices mixed after a decline at the opening.

Missile and aircraft stocks were irregular after their leap of yesterday on news of Russia's success with its man-made moon.

★ ★ ★

But Martin Co., maker of the American satellite and yesterday's most active stock, rose another two points in brisk trading.

Gains were mainly fractional, but in a few cases stretched to two points or more. Lukens Steel was ahead around two in a come-back from yesterday's 10-point loss. Du Pont added more than two.

Youngstown Sheet, after taking a small loss, was up a major fraction. Republic Steel was off a bit, but U. S. Steel and Bethlehem moved to the upside. Chrysler, Anaconda, Allied Chemical, Texas Co. and United Air Lines were other gainers.

★ ★ ★

Up around a point were General Dynamics and Royal Dutch. Losers included Goodyear, Goodrich, United Aircraft, International Nickel, American Cyanamid, Southern Railway and New York Central.

Opening blocks included: United Corp. unchanged at 6⅞ on 10,500 shares; United Aircraft off 1 at 59 on 1,000; Curtiss-Wright off ⅜ at 33 on 1,600; and Gulf Oil off 1⅛ at 119½ on 2,000.

At an air force target island in Lake Glan in central Sweden recently the Swedish Air Force gave a "cease fire" orders. Reason was that a Canadian wild goose was about to hatch some eggs in the zone where the screaming jet planes were doing practice maneuvers.

Need for Scientists to Double in 3 Years

WASHINGTON (AP)— The Atomic Energy Commission said today a survey has indicated the need for scientists and engineers in privately supported atomic energy activities will almost double in the next three years.

The announcement said an estimated 7,000 to 7,500 scientists and engineers were employed in September 1956, either full or part-time, in all types of atomic energy activity supported by private industry. It was estimated this number increased to 9,000 in July 1957.

★ ★ ★

"By 1960 the demand is expected to increase to an estimated 16,000," the announcement said.

The survey was made for the AEC by Atomic Industrial Forum Inc. of New York. The results were published today.

The report said that while there does not now appear to be a critical shortage of scientists and engineers for private atomic work, it is possible that "current limited shortages" may be more serious in the future.

Burglars Get $2,108 From Two Rochester Offices

ROCHESTER — The Rochester Police reported two break-ins here over the weekend.

Whn Ralph B. Garner, investment broker, returned to his office in the National Bank Building yesterday, he discovered that $2,000 in checks was missing from a filing cabinet. The door had been forced for entry, as had the filing cabinet, he said.

The second break-in occurred at South Main St. A rear window was entered and owners reported $98 in bills and $10 in silver had been taken.

Investigating is officer William Wohl.

Soybean Prices Continue to Rise

CHICAGO (AP) — Soybean futures continued to advance on the board of trade today, extending yesterday's advance. Other futures were mixed in a light trade.

Corn, down as much as ½ cent at the outset, rallied after the Department of Agriculture came out with an official announcement that it plans to curtail domestic sales of CCC corn "insofar as possible." The announcement confirmed reports heard on the board of trade last week.

USDA confirmation of the report, however, gave some strength to the market and corn advanced as much as a cent at times.

Near the end of the first hour new style wheat was ½ to ⅞ lower, Dec. $2.18, corn ¼ to ¾ higher, Dec. $1.20¼, oats ⅛ to ⅜ lower, Dec. 67⅛, rye unchanged to 1 lower, Dec. $1.29, soybeans 1 to 1¾ higher, Nov. $2.29½, and lard was 5 cents lower to 2 cents higher, per hundred pounds, Oct. $11.22.

Western Allies to Submit Plan

Will Ask of U.N. Group Speedy Consideration; Menon to Delay Talk

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States and its allies today planned to seek speedy discussion of their new disarmament plan as the U.N. Assembly's chief Political Committee moved into action.

The Western delegates were expected to put the resolution before the committee tomorrow and to seek immediate discussion of it.

★ ★ ★

Indian Delegate V. K. Krishna Menon, meanwhile, delayed unveiling his own rival arms plan, which it had been expected would be outlined in policy speech today to the Assembly.

★ ★ ★

An Indian spokesman said Menon's resolution had been held back until tomorrow. He added that Indian delegates will confer tonight with U.S. disarmament negotiator Harold E. Stassen in an attempt to bring the U.S. and Indian arms views closer together.

★ ★ ★

The Indian proposal, like companion schemes put forth by Russia and Japan, calls for suspension of all nuclear tests subject to inspection but prior to actual disarmament.

The Western plan specifies suspension of nuclear tests only after agreement is reached to stop using atomic material for weapons, reduce armed forces and evolve a comprehensive system of inspection.

The Western proposals include setting up an inspection system to insure that sending rockets through outer space would be for peaceful and scientific purposes only.

The United States acknowledged it is studying what possible effect the launching of the Soviet space satellite will have on the disarmament picture and said it no doubt would have some proposals to make on that score in the future.

Railroads Must Pay Full Bill for Gates

LANSING (AP) — Railway companies will foot the whole bill for erection of crossing gates under a new ruling by the State Supreme Court.

In a unanimous opinion, the court ruled yesterday that an 1873 law still in force bans county road commissioners, or any other governmental unit, from splitting the costs of crossing gates with the railroads.

The case arose out of a Public Service Commission order directing the railroad to erect a crossing gate and flasher signals at the Superior Road crossing in Washtenaw County. Judge Louis E. Coash of Ingham County Circuit Court affirmed the order.

★ ★ ★

In a friendly suit, New York Central and the road commissioners contended records showed no necessity for crossing gates at the intersection and questioned the PSC's authority to issue the order.

★ ★ ★

However, testimony by Washtenaw County authorities confirmed poor visibility at the disputed crossing.

Stabbed Body Found; Screwdriver Near

Police Comb Deep Into Mexico for Slayer of Girl, 5

ROSWELL, N.M. (AP) — Police today combed deep into Mexico for the kidnap-slayer of a 5-year-old girl whose unclothed body was found last night in a dump eight miles east of here.

★ ★ ★

Little Sandra Jo Lucero apparently died from a single stab wound in the heart. The weapon, a screwdriver, lay nearby.

Police Chief Tommy Thompson and Sheriff J. C. Jones said they will file murder charges today against Joe Franco, 24, a farm worker with a record of minor scrapes with the law.

★ ★ ★

Franco, a "friend of the family," has already been charged with kidnaping the child from her home early Sunday. The FBI, whose agents were aiding local lawmen, issued a fugitive warrant for Franco.

His car was found abandoned 200 miles southwest of here in El Paso, Tex., near a bridge across the Rio Grande into Juarez, Mexico. Border patrolmen, FBI agents, Mexican police and New Mexico lawmen swarmed into Mexico in a joint effort to find Franco.

Left behind in the car was Franco's 30-30 rifle, fully loaded and with a shell in the chamber.

A post-mortem was ordered on the child's body to determine exact cause of death and whether she had been sexually assaulted.

Officers said it appeared to be a sex crime.

Her body, half covered with sand, was found by a group of five of her relatives, who told police they searched there because they knew Franco "was always boasting" about the area. His parents live nearby.

Sheriff Jones and Chief Thompson remained in El Paso, where the Mexican manhunt headquartered.

Officers pieced together this account of events leading up to the slaying:

Franco came by the Lucero home about 10 p.m. Saturday night to see the child's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clement Lucero. They were at a movie and their five children, including Sandra Jo, were in the care of a 10-year-old uncle.

★ ★ ★

Franco left and returned about midnight. The babysitter and Sandra Jo were sleeping on a bed. The parents hadn't returned. Franco told the boy he was sleepy and the boy moved to the couch, leaving Franco with the little girl.

About 12:30 a.m. the boy heard Franco go out the back door. Sandra Jo got up to close the door against a heavy rain, then falling. She didn't return.

At 2:20 a.m. Franco turned up at the farm of his sister and brother-in-law, Carl Carruthers, at nearby Dexter, where he was employed. He loaded his rifle before them and told them, "I'm going to Juarez and I don't know if I'm ever coming back."

★ ★ ★

Returning to Roswell, Franco picked up Johnny Flores, just discharged from the Navy, at a filling station and asked him if he wanted to go to Juarez. Flores agreed and rode with Franco to the village of San Patricio about 65 miles southwest of here. There, without explanation Franco forced Flores from the car into the rain. He had told the youth he had "stabbed a man with a screwdriver" and was in "bad trouble."

Licenses were revoked from Gerald A. Ranney, Lake Orion, and Richard R. Smith, Birmingham, for violated license restriction.

Scott Murder Trial in Opening Stages

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Trial of L. Ewing Scott, charged with murdering his wealthy wife, settles today into the tedious questioning of prospective jurors.

It is expected to require several days. Defense Attorney P. Basil Lambros spent 80 minutes yesterday interrogating one prospect.

As the trial opened, prosecution and defense attorneys agreed that Scott be tried only on the murder charge. Trial on charges of forgery and grand theft in the alleged looting of Mrs. Evelyn Scott's $600,000 estate was put off until later.

★ ★ ★

"The principal issue in this case is whether or not Scott murdered his wife," said Dep. Dist. Atty. J. Miller Leavy. "We feel the evidence indicates that he did. We regard the thefts and forgeries as evidence of his motives."

Mrs. Scott disappeared in May of 1955 and her body has not been found. The defense contends she is alive.

Business Show at Port Huron

Oakland County Firms Exhibit; Display Power of State in Production

Numerous Oakland County industrial firms are represented at the Michigan Business Opportunities Show which began today at Port Huron.

Jay F. Gibbs, general manager of the show, listed the following: Alray Manufacturing Co., Pontiac, Detail Production of Ferndale, Nu-Era Gear Corp. of Rochester, Royal Oak Tool & Machine, Walter S. Ryan, Inc. of Royal Oak, and Birmingham Temprite Products Corp.

These will be among some 150 exhibits by private industry and governmental services.

"The exhibits will exemplify the great production power of this state which has made it the automotive capital of the world," said Carl M. Kaltwasser, business adviser of the Army's Detroit Ordinance District and defense liaison officer for the show.

Junior Editors Quiz on ONIONS

QUESTION: Why do onions make you cry?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Scientists, who know their onions better than cooks, blame the eyes more than the onions for our tears when peeling an onion. Although we do not realize it, we always have tears in our eyes. These pass along the eyeballs and help keep the eyes clear and clean. An occasional blink carries the tears that have formed under the eyelids over the eyeballs into a duct leading to the nose. But sometimes the tears come so fast that they miss the draining system and pour down over the cheek. Smoke will cause this. So will onions. The strong odor of onions sets the tear glands to working extra hard at providing a protective wash for the eyes. The result is a small deluge of onion tears. But cheer up next time you cry over an onion. People whose tea ducts do not function properly and fail to cry actually suffer more during the peeling process. Their eyes are not protected by nature's built-in eye wash.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Peel an onion and see how close you can hold it to your eyes before tears start to form. When you have dried your eyes, paste this picture down on cardboard and color it with your crayons. Cut around the panel and fold the easel (at top left) back to make it stand up.

Recent Falling Prices Bring Closer Scrutiny of Margins, Profits

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — With stock prices on the downgrade most of the time in recent weeks and trading in the doldrums much of the time, traders and investors are taking a closer look today at a number of things:

How high stock margins should be, yields on favorites at present prices and corporate profit margins.

★ ★

Margin rules of the Federal Reserve Board aren't as close to traders as they once were — the percentage buying on margin is much lower today than in the 20s say. At the moment a buyer must put up 70 per cent in cash.

★ ★ ★

But the rules are close to a broker's heart because his income depends on commissions on sales and with the market volume low commissions are on the slim side. Keith Funston, president of the New York Stock Exchange, thinks that if the Federal Reserve let people put up only 50 per cent in cash, trading would pick up and the broker members would be happier.

★ ★ ★

So far the Federal Reserve isn't talking.

Yields on stocks are closer to the investor's heart. And the long drop in prices has sweetened the yield for many favorites. The Exchange, monthly magazine of the Big Board, points out 20 common stocks in its October issue out today that have long records of unbroken quarterly dividend payments and have fallen in price enough of late to make their yields more attractive.

★ ★ ★

Yields on stocks are closer to price paid for a stock into the year's cash dividend income.

★ ★ ★

The 1,071 companies with common stocks listed on the exchange reported sales last year of nearly 233½ billion dollars, but net income after taxes of 16½ billion, or a profit on sales of 7 per cent. Highest percentage was 20.8 for the financial companies and the lowest 2.8 for retail trade.

Commission to Confer on Bus Line Merger; Accept Gift of Jaycees

A legal agreement, paving the way for the new Pontiac Post Office, is expected to be approved tonight by city commissioners on the advice of City Attorney William A. Ewart.

★ ★ ★

Before entering into the agreement, commissioners will rescind an old agreement for the West Huron property between Chippewa and Genesee. This was between the city and the Community National Bank, which originally sought the land.

★ ★ ★

Following action on this and 17 other matters, the commission will confer with an official of the Pontiac City Lines, Inc. to discuss the possibility of a merger of the city and the bus line to assist the latter's financial difficulties.

JAYCEES GIVE $2,000

A presentation will be received at this evening's weekly session by David R. Ewalt, Parks and Recreation director, from the Pontiac Junior Chamber of Commerce. The $2,000 donation will be made to aid in the continued development of Jaycee Park, at Joslyn & Walton Blvd.

★ ★ ★

A public hearing will be conducted on the proposal that three lots at the northeast corner of West Huron and Thorpe streets be rezoned from Residential 2 to Commercial 1. The request for the change was made by the Shell Oil Co. The Planning Commission approved the move last week.

★ ★ ★

Three reports from the plan group will go before the commission tonight.

★ ★ ★

In another series of hearings, the public will be afforded an opportunity to comment on the city's intention to construct sanitary sewers on Stanley avenue from Kinney to Lounsbury, Livingstone avenue from Blaine to Stanley, and on Blaine avenue from Kinney to Livingstone.

★ ★ ★

A final hearing will be on a special assessment roll to finance a curb, gutter, grade, gravel and related work project for Carlisle avenue from Cornell to Columbia.

Safety Association of Waterford to Meet

A meeting of the newly-organized Waterford Township Safety Assn., will be held at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Watterford Township High School.

★ ★ ★

Purpose of the meeting is to hear a report on a recent survey made by members of the association and to decide on the next move regarding bus transportation for all children until safe walking facilities are made available. Ralph Blair is chairman of the group.

★ ★ ★

All interested persons in the township have been urged to attend this meeting.

Truck Runs Over, Injures Inkster Man

Brighton Post State Police report that an Inkster man was run over by a truck Monday at Walker's Gravel Pit on Southill road near Pontiac trail, in Milford Township.

Chester Bryce, 47, of 25727 Lehigh St., a truck driver for McGinnis Brothers Asphalt Co., was rushed to Pontiac General Hospital. He is reported in satisfactory condition today, with multiple fractures of the pelvis and chest injuries.

Police said that Bryce walked behind a truck on the scales when suddenly it backed up, completely running the rear wheels over him.

★ ★ ★

The driver, Henry Wells, 20, of 229 Walton Blvd., said he did not know he wasn't supposed to back off the scales.

Pleven Seeking French Support

Opinions Divided About His Possible Success in Getting Government

PARIS (AP) — Premier-designate Rene Pleven plunged today into the ritual round of political talks which mark every French Cabinet crisis. Opinions were divided on whether he might succeed in forming a government.

Nine days ago Premier Maurice Bourges-Maunoury was defeated on a confidence vote on his bill to give home rule to Algeria. He continued as caretaker Premier while Socialist Guy Mollet took a 48-hour canter around the political course and decided he hadn't a hope of winning. Pleven is the first candidate to start out with the avowed intention of getting a Cabinet together and ending the crisis.

★ ★ ★

Setting up office in the Ministry of Public Works, Pleven first saw Mollet and Bourges-Maunoury last night. Today he called in Robert LaCoste, resident minister in Algiers, and outgoing Finance Minister Felix Gaillard. He was to meet with party delegations, including one from his own small but strategic Democratic and Socialist union of resistance later in the day.

Some sections of the French press conceded that Pleven's chances were better than they had been 48 hours ago. But he has to get both positions in order to succeed. Much depends, therefore, on the talks now in progress.

★ ★ ★

Accepting President Rene Coty's commission yesterday, Pleven said he would ask for a one-year political truce. He said he would refuse to form a minority government and demanded that all parties except the extreme left and right join his Cabinet.

The unpopularity he earned as Defense minister at the time of the French defeat at Dien Bien Phu which preceded the loss of Indochina has not been entirely allayed, however. A dozen youths burned an effigy of Pleven in front of the Arc de Triomphe last night. Police arrested their leaders but later released them.

Flu-Type Disease Moving Northward

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The siege of flu-type disease among school children, still strong in southern Michigan after two weeks, is moving northward.

Four schools were shut down yesterday in Sault Ste. Marie in Michigan's Upper Peninsula.

★ ★ ★

At Manistee in the northern section of the Lower Peninsula, 170 of the high school's 690 students were absent.

The wave of upper respiratory ailments in the Detroit area shifted its impact over the weekend and continued to take a heavy toll on attendance.

Public school health officials at Grand Rapids said the epidemic was "holding its own," with 4,058 absentees — 15.7 of the enrollment — compared with 4,021 Friday.

★ ★ ★

The University of Michigan at Ann Arbor and Michigan State University at East Lansing both reported large numbers of students out with upper respiratory ailments. The number of bedfast students at the University of Michigan infirmary was 52, with many others receiving out-patient treatment. At MSU there were 118 cases.

Bow and Arrow Man Bags Deer With Poor Shot

POTTSTOWN, Pa. (AP) — He admits he's not a very good shot with bow and arrow, but John Chicglo bagged a deer anyway.

Chicglo, 37, had headed home in disgust after a whole weekend without seeing a deer on his first bow and arrow expedition. Suddenly he screeched to a stop as three deer bolted in front of his car.

★ ★ ★

A careful aim, an excited draw, then Chicglo's arrow sailed right over the back of the buck, which sprang away. Chicglo didn't cry over the missed target —the arrow struck and killed a doe standing behind the buck. It was the first season doe had been legal in the state.

Hits Lawyers' Words

DENVER (AP) — The chief justice of Colorado's Supreme Court says lawyers ought to use simpler words and shorter sentences. "I've got to use a dictionary in reading some of your legal briefs," Chief Justice O. Otto Moore told the Denver Bar Assn. "And too much of that becomes embarrassing."

Card of Thanks 1

WE WISH TO THANK OUR MANY friends, neighbors and relatives for their kindness shown us during our recent bereavement. Special thanks to Father Riley and Brey Smith. Wife, Hazel Gillotte and Children.

WE WISH TO EXTEND OUR heartfelt thanks and appreciation for the acts of kindness, messages of sympathy, and beautiful floral offerings received from our kind friends and neighbors during our recent bereavement in the loss of our beloved wife and mother. Earl Ellenwood & Family.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF MRS. Fannie Wright, who passed away Oct. 8th, 1956.
Mother dear, today our parting makes the year
Yet your tender care is with us everywhere;
Words cannot express how we miss you dear,
Still, we know you'll always guide us,
Until we meet in heaven, where there are no tears.
Sadly missed by Mr. W. O. Wright & Family.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF PAULine Ross, who passed away 2 years ago October 8, 1955.
Two lonely years have passed and gone,
Since one we love so well;
Was taken from our home on earth,
With Jesus Christ to dwell.
The flowers we place upon her grave,
May wither and decay,
But the love of her, who sleeps beneath,
Shall never fade away.
Sadly missed by Mother, Husband, Children, Sister, Brother & Grandchildren.

DON'T WASTE ANOTHER MINUTE, START FRESH IN A NEW CAREER.

OUT OF THIS WORLD $225
Never, but never, have you seen offices like these. You can be a RECEPTIONIST there, if you are neat, personable and can type 45 w.p.m.

BY YOURSELF $250
You'll be strictly on your own as STENOGRAPHER in a small 1-girl office. The atmosphere is informal and the location ideal. Right in your own back yard. Average skills.

IT'S SO PEACEFUL $250
in the country and that's where this plant is located. They are looking for a FIGURE CLERK with good handwriting, accurate but not fast typing, and some office experience. Over 21. Must have own transportation.

GOOD NEWS $240
Working as RECEPTIONIST in a newspaper office, has just got to be fun. The lucky girl who gets this must be neat and attractive and type 50 w.p.m.

SMILING VOICE $275
That's what this JR. STENO must have, plus good typing and some shorthand. She'll be sending out publicity releases and do some public relations.

YOUR OWN OFFICE $375
Only a real SECRETARY rates that, and that's what we want. She must have good typing and shorthand, be efficient, responsible and capable of dealing with top brass in her company.

S'WONDERFUL $385
An exclusive and glamorous restaurant nearby is looking for a competent qualified BOOKKEEPER, between the ages of 30-50, who is capable of handling a 4-girl office. Good typing.

UNHAPPY CLOWN — Pinky Lee, who appears on NBC-TV's "Gumby Show" Saturdays at 9:30 a. m., feels that he's been persecuted by the critics. Veteran comedian Lee longs to have a children's show of his own, instead of playing a supporting role on someone else's program.

Believes Critics Persecute Him

Comic Accepts Small, Cheap Job in Order to Entertain Kids

By DICK KLEINER

NEW YORK (NEA) — These are trying days for Pinky Lee. The little man in the funny hat used to be one of the biggest names on TV. But today he's appearing on a show and it's not even his show.

It's called "The Gumby Show" (NBC-TV) and you have to look close to see any mention of Pinky.

★ ★ ★

"My heart is crying," says Pinky.

He pulled out an airplane ticket and started figuring on the back. He wrote down his weekly salary and then started deducting his expenses. When he got through, he had $34.

And that was before he took anything off for eating or clothes or cigarettes. This, he says, is less money than he's made in the past 15 years.

★ ★ ★

"You see," he said, stuffing the ticket back in his pocket, "I have no pride. I just want to do the thing I love the best — entertain the children.

"Oh, I'm not broke. I wouldn't have to go around and ask for a handout. I could get along. But I love entertaining the children."

NOT PUBLICIZED

So, he says, he took the spot on "The Gumby Show," a weekly affair, "even though they don't publicize it, they don't even say I'm on it and 98—no, 99 per cent of the people think I'm off TV completely."

★ ★ ★

On the surface, Pinky Lee is a cheerful guy. He smiles readily, his pixie face lighting up with the great warmth that seems to enchant children.

But there is a definite impression that, underneath, this is a man who feels he's been persecuted, stepped on, kicked, laughed at.

His conversation is punctuated with references to what "they" have done to him or would like to do.

★ ★ ★

"They" don't publicize his show. "They" don't like him because he wears funny hats. "They" don't understand that he's not trying to entertain adults, only children.

THEY ARE CRITICS

Who are "they"?

"They are the critics," says Lee, leaning forward eagerly. "They've never tried to understand me. They're way up here (and he gestured over his head) and I'm way down here (and he moved his hand down around his knees).

★ ★ ★

"They judge me the same as they would Sid Caesar or a big night-time spectacular. And I'm just a flat-footed comic trying to entertain kids."

Pinky Lee is a veteran comedian who started in show business at 5 as a boy contralto. By the time he was 12, he'd earned enough to buy his parents a house.

"I had no childhood," he says. He hung around theaters in his home town, St. Paul, Minn., watching vaudeville and trading his mother's home-cooked dinners for free lessons in dancing and comedy.

★ ★ ★

He got into the children's field accidentally, he says. Two successive TV series that he did pulled a lot of letters from children and parents, urging him to concentrate in that field. So he did.

"Let's face it," he says, "I'm not a very talented guy. I dance a little, I sing lousy, I don't even tell jokes any more on my programs. But I do have a knack of making friends with children."

★ ★ ★

All this contributed to his disappointment when he couldn't get a children's show of his own. He had some offers for adult shows but he didn't want that—he wanted children.

So, as he says, he had no pride and took the Gumby show even though it was at a small salary for him.

Doris' Manager Tells of Troubles With Her

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—I was talking to Doris Day one recent afternoon — and there was a sudden boom of laughter from the next table.

★ ★ ★

Bill Reed, the proprietor of the club, and Doris' manager, were hahahing so raucously that I shrugged helplessly and said, "What is it with you two?"

"I was just saying that it was 11 years ago this month that I brought a piece of paper in here," Doris' manager said, "and told Billy, 'Here, sign this dame's contract, will you?"

Her manager, a tall, good looking man, went on to say, "I didn't even know Doris Day then.

"But I was an agent, and my partner, Al Levy, out in California, was very high on Doris. He wrote me to handle her in New York, and I signed her here for $350 a week for four weeks, with an option for four more weeks at $500 a week."

But Doris was crying about something a week before the Little Club opening and the manager couldn't seem to get her quiet long enough to lay out the songs.

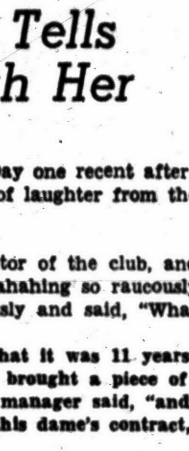

"She opened, though, and was very good—but at the end of the month, she had personal problems in California, and had to leave.

"I was very disgusted with Doris Day."

"And how long did it take you to cool off?" I asked him. He paused to count.

"I guess about four years," he said.

"That's right," Doris said, holding his hand. "Four and seven are eleven —we're married seven years now!"

DORIS DAY

"But I want to make it clear," declared her husband, Marty Melcher, "she was a dangerous client, because she still owes Billy Reed that four weeks at $500 a week and I hope he doesn't try to get her to work for that amount."

"What if he does?"

"I will give him a speech," he said," on what a pain in the neck Doris Day was in those days! Of course," he added, "none of that is true today, since I have reformed her."

Sun Will Power the Town Clock in Palm Springs

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—This desert resort town which brags about its sunshine is going to put the sun to work telling the time.

What is believed to be the first clock perpetually powered by solar energy will be installed on the Chamber of Commerce Building.

Twenty silicon cells are being installed around the face of the clock to convert the light energy given off by the sun into usable electricity to power the clock. Storage batteries will store power for use at night.

Oahe Dam Biggest Job

PIERRE, S. D.—Oahe Dam, going up near Pierre, is said to be the world's largest construction project. When completed it will impound 23,000,000 acre feet of water.

5th Atom Submarine Launched Thursday

VALLEJO, Calif. (AP)—The Sargo, first atom-powered submarine to be built on the West Coast, will be launched here Thursday.

She will be the Navy's fifth nuclear-powered submarine, and will join the fleet after several months of outfitting.

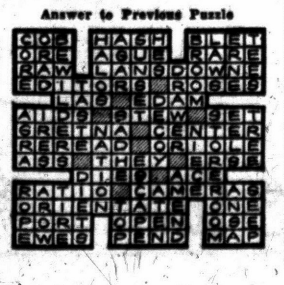

Three other atomic subs are under construction here at Mare Island Navy Yard. They include the Halibut, the first sub to combine guided missile armament with atomic propulsion.

Rowdies Riot in Red Capital

Warsaw Police Break Up Demonstrations by Small Crowd

WARSAW (AP) — For the fifth straight night street fighting broke out in this Communist capital, but the antigovernment demonstrators had dwindled from a mass student protest to a small crowd sparked by rowdies.

★ ★ ★

About 100 riot police charged last night's jeering crowd of 1,000 with clubs after a teen-age gang set a wooden flower kiosk afire. Forty persons were reported arrested in the clash outside the Warsaw Palace of Culture.

★ ★ ★

The disorders began Thursday night, when police broke up a demonstration against closure of the student newspaper Po Prostu for criticizing the Communist government. After another clash Friday night, organized students took no further part and rowdies moved in.

★ ★ ★

Communist authorities kept up a press campaign demanding severe penalties for demonstrators. Total arrests and casualties have not been announced.

★ ★ ★

A resolution by the University Youth Union called for quiet. It said: "We condemn the riots but at the same time consider that they were the logical consequence of militia interference, inconsiderate action of students and lack of proper organization."

Bob Considine Says:

'Putting Baseball Park to Bed' Is Huge Task

MILWAUKEE (INS) — An empty baseball park is a spooky place. The fans miss a lot by leaving it when a game is done. Curious sights and sounds unfold as the lights come on in the press box and the writing blokes unlimber their golden adjectives.

★ ★ ★

The clean-up men go through the stands, harvesting a mountain of trash, their voices sounding hollow but melodious in the distance.

The redjackets who have guarded the field to keep the people off the geometrical lawn now have retired, divesting themselves of their spurious military splendor and rejoining not only the civilian but the civil world.

Almost inevitably a small boy or two will emerge from hiding in the stands and they'll run like emboldened does on to the field, jumping up and down in exultation. If they're particularly adventurous, they run around the bases and slide raggedly into home plate. No little boy I've even seen, like this, was "thrown out" at home plate — judging from the bravado of their manner as they stand up and beat the dirt off their pants.

The glory is short-lived. Somewhere from the shadows of the grandstand a man bellows, "Git off that field." They git.

Men now drag out a full reptile house of hose, and when the dirt of the infield has been rolled and the spike wounds in the batter's box and mound have been filled, the whole place is watered. The gracefully shaped dirt crown of the infield changes color as the water is sprayed on it, from tan to gold to the color of old bourbon. Which is what some of the writers, hanging like bats in their cage under the eaves of the stadium, are thinking about.

Comes now a thrilling demonstration of aeronautics. Men have carried out the tarpaulin which will protect the field from rain, overnight. It has come out rolled around a hard core of some sort of wood or light metal. This is extracted and the gigantic cloth (heavy nylon?) lies there like a disembowled scroll, reaching from the foul line in short leftfield to short centerfield.

Then, on command, a dozen men string out along the leading edge of the huge napkin and seize handles that have been sewn on it. There is a bark not unlike that of a track meet starter, and the men all gallop off at once, the tarpaulin unwinding behind them. The wind gets under it as they run madly before it, giving it graceful buoyancy.

It is a ballet performance until the pullers reach the line that runs from home plate to first, and extends out into right field. At that point there is no more tarpaulin to play out. They are jerked up sharp by the sudden weight of a napkin which now covers the entire infield. They walk back over it, breaking the air bubbles as they march. The infield has been put to bed.

Now, they, too leave. The place has been abandoned to the night watchman, under his yellowed light near the one last open gate, and to the remnants of the writers, with their tat-a-tat portable typewriters, and the patient telegraphers who send the seemingly endless words. They depart in time, also, the writers wondering where they failed.

And a place that knew high emotion and deeds of daring only a few hours before, sleeps against another day.

Only One to See Million Dollar Television Show

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A television show with a million-dollar cast goes on the air today for an audience of one—a sick little boy.

It will be just about the biggest birthday party a youngster ever had.

★ ★ ★

Today is the ninth birthday of "Little Boy Blue," who is seriously ill of muscular dystrophy in Lakeville, Mass., Hospital. He is known to the public by that name only.

He was homeless and friendless when he became ill. His father is in prison for murdering his mother.

★ ★ ★

Comedian Jerry Lewis heard of an appeal for cards to ease the boy's loneliness. He decided "Little Boy Blue" ought to have more than cards for his birthday and the idea snowballed.

★ ★ ★

Jerry, who is national chairman of the Muscular Dystrophy Assn., asked Gen. David Sarnoff, head of NBC-RCA, for a closed television circuit linking NBC studios in Burbank, Calif., with the hospital room.

At 4:30 p.m. "Little Boy Blue" will have his birthday party.

★ ★ ★

Performing just for him and singing "Happy Birthday" will be Lewis, Eddie Fisher, Eddie Cantor, Tennessee Ernie Ford, Hugh (Wyatt Earp) O'Brian, Jim (Gunsmoke) Arness, Walt Disney's Mouseketeers, the Skylarks, a singing group, and an 18-piece orchestra.
