GM, Ford and Chrysler on Tap for Inspection by Indonesian President

DETROIT, (INS) — Dr. Achmed S. Sukarno, president of Indonesia, was in Detroit today to inspect the industrial might of General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.

Dr. Sukarno, who arrived in Michigan yesterday for a two-day visit, was to start the day by viewing automation production at the Chrysler-Plymouth engine plant. He then was to tour the General Motors Technical Center and the Ford Steel plant and assembly line.

The Indonesian leader received an honorary degree from the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor yesterday and then gave an address in which he warned that "war means the destruction of man and all his works."

Dr. Sukarno later inspected the U. of M.'s Phoenix project and the Detroit Edison Rouge power plant.

The Indonesian president, on a two-week tour of the U.S. as the guest of President Eisenhower, leaves Detroit tomorrow morning for Arizona.

He will go to Grand Canyon National Park, Los Angeles and Salt Lake City before returning to the Bureau of Public Roads.

Political Leaders Seeking Solution to Auto Layoffs

DETROIT — City and state leaders today sought ways to hold down layoffs in Michigan, where unemployment currently is pegged at 220,000.

Political leaders yesterday spoke in Detroit at a mass meeting of Dodge local 3 of the United Auto Workers union. Detroit unemployment is now estimated at 130,000 and Dodge local 3 has 14,800 of its 26,800 members out of work.

Mayor Albert E. Cobb said that increased sales will come from the inventory and won't necessarily result in more jobs.

Meanwhile, supplemental unemployment benefits begin this week for laid off employees of General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams promised the workers he will soon call a conference of top labor and management leaders in an effort to find a solution for the problem.

Sen. Patrick V. McNamara (D-Mich.) told the meeting the growing layoffs are partially the result of the 1955 sales. He also charged that Republican prosperity is "something like a false-front prosperity."

Douglas Fraser of the UAW said state unemployment compensation the usual spring upturn in auto to give a laid off worker 60 to 65 percent of his normal take-home pay for up to 26 weeks.

Commies Trail in Early Returns in Italy Election

Turnout of Vote Heavy as Pro-Western Parties Take Substantial Lead

ROME (AP) — Italy's pro-Western Center parties took a substantial lead over the Communist-Socialist Left today in fragmentary early returns from nationwide local elections.

The figures were so scattered, however, they could not be interpreted as a firm trend.

In 394 of the 48,313 voting districts the Christian Democrats won 81,200 votes, the Communists 26,207 and the Socialists 19,561. The total pro-Western Center bloc had 103,309 compared with 45,768 for the extreme left and 30,191 for the far right.

The results included areas in the extreme north of Italy, where the Left is weak.

First scattered returns from Sicily gave the Christian Democrats 2,283 votes to 1,214 for a Communist-Socialist combine and 1,520 for a Center-Right alliance.

The voting turnout in the elections, watched as a test of West European reaction to Moscow's new coexistence line, was heavy. It was estimated 90 per cent of those eligible may have cast ballots. This circumstance seemed to favor the Center parties.

At stake were control of 6,587 community and provincial councils from the Alps to Sicily, local posts in 563 other communities and provincial governments in 533. The candidates totaled 313,601.

The Catholic Church's interest in an anti-Communist victory, voiced repeatedly by the Vatican newspaper L'Osservatore Romano was evidenced by the thousands of nuns and priests among the early voters.

Former President Truman was an interested spectator. Now visiting Italy as a tourist, he drove past a number of polling places in Florence but didn't get out of his car. He said he "did not want to interfere in any way."

Reporter Tries Panhandling--Gets 50 Cents

What does panhandling pay these days?

Only 50c an hour, a Pontiac Press reporter discovered recently.

Downtown Pontiac pedestrians are generous with advice, and curious as all-get-out.

But they keep their money in their pockets, for the most part.

BY CHUCK ABRAIR

Armed with torn and dirty clothes, a heavy beard, and a sad story, I roamed the Saginaw Street business district for over an hour on a recent afternoon, with almost no success.

It was one of the warmest days of the spring, with the streets loaded with shoppers from throughout Oakland County, but it was no place for a beggar.

Future of Airport Bright, Aeronautical Head Reports

(Editor's Note: This is the fourth in a series of articles on Pontiac's Municipal Airport, its past and present problems and plans for the future.)

BY GEORGE T. TRUMBULL, JR.

LANSING — Pontiac is assured of a bright future in development and services at the Municipal Airport, according to Brig. Gen. Lester J. Maitland, state aeronautics director.

He said the city has been boosted in priority for state and federal assistance in the expansion of the port because of "aeronautical necessity."

"Pontiac has an excellent chance of keeping up in its present development plans because of the proximity to Detroit," the general said.

Future expansion plans will hike the field into Class 4. It presently is ranked just above a cow pasture after being classed tops in the country two years after the first plane landed here Oct. 14, 1928.

GETS COMPLAINTS

Gen. Maitland said industry officials have continued to complain to his office because corporation owned planes were unable to go into Pontiac because of length of the runways.

Another block to larger craft using the local field hinges around the fact that insurance rates on planes are increased if they are not based on a concrete-paved field.

Work is expected to be completed in late fall on expanding the port's east-west runway from 1,800 to 4,000 feet which will permit DC-3's to use the field.

This expansion is being financed with the aid of federal grants total.

Pontiac to Build New Waste Unit

GM Division Launches Erection of Big Plant at Local Site

Plans for the construction by Pontiac Motor Division one of the country's most advanced industrial waste disposal plants were announced today by R. M. Critchfield, general manager.

Critchfield said installation of the first of 34 huge steel storage tanks will begin immediately. The cylindrical tanks will range in size from 10,000 gallon capacity to upwards of 500,000 gallons.

The new disposal plant requires erection of a three-story building to house laboratory facilities and automatic control apparatus. The operations building will utilize 12,000 square feet of floor space.

The new system, designed by a Toledo firm, contains four sections. One section will handle cyanide wastes, another handles metallic acids, another for alkali and acids and the fourth for oily wastes.

Critchfield stated the new plant incorporates the most modern facilities available for neutralizing objectionable wastes in copper, nickel, cyanide and chrome solutions from metal plating operations throughout the Pontiac plants.

When completed, the system can handle as much as 1500 gallons of noxious waste solutions a minute. It is expected to be in operation by the end of summer.

Scientists Report Nuclear Waves From Eniwetok

AEC Has No Comment; Nippon Says Explosion Equals Air-Drop Size

TOKYO (INS) — A spokesman for Tokyo's central meteorological observatory said shock waves recorded in Japan indicate the United States today exploded a nuclear device "about the same size" as the hydrogen bomb dropped from the air a week ago.

(There was no immediate comment from the Atomic Energy Commission in Washington.)

"Abnormal" atmospheric pressure changes recorded in stations throughout Japan indicated the United States exploded its third nuclear device of the current series in almost exactly the same spot and at the same time as last Monday's awesome air-drop.

An observatory official said: "It is virtually certain (the atmospheric changes) were caused by the third United States nuclear explosion in the mid-Pacific."

Discounting speculation that the shocks might have been of Soviet origin, the spokesman said weather station reports from all over Japan "prove" the shock was in the Eniwetok area.

SAME TIME OF DAY

The official added the third blast occurred at about 3 a.m. Japan time and was "probably about the same size as the May 21 bomb dropped from a B-52 over Namu Islet in Bikini Atoll."

That blast, witnessed by newsmen and Civil Defense officials occurred at the same time of day just before 6 a.m. Eniwetok time (3 a.m. Japan time and 1 p.m. Sunday EST.)

Last week the observatory said atmospheric vibrations "reached generally the same intensity" as those that followed the mammoth March, 1954, explosion.

TESTS UNTIL AUGUST

However, an official announcement from Joint Task Force Seven said flatly the May 21 H-bomb produced a yield "substantially below that of the largest 1954 test."

The task force is in charge of the current series of H-bomb tests dubbed "Operation Redwing" which opened May 5 and are scheduled to continue into August.

Newsman who were permitted to witness "Cherokee," America's first H-bomb air drop last week have since returned to the United States. Reports when they left Eniwetok were that the next test was to be of a missile with an atomic warhead. It was not believed likely this would be ready for a test until June.

Judge Rules Mistrial in Tax Fraud Case

ST. LOUIS (U) — A mistrial was declared today in the case of Harry I. Schwimmer, an attorney on trial with two Truman administration officials on a conspiracy charge in federal court here.

The mistrial ruling applied only to Schwimmer, who became ill in the courtroom last week and went to a hospital.

Attorneys for the other two defendants — Matthew J. Connelly and T. Lamar Caudle — had announced before the hearing started they intended to seek a mistrial for their clients in the event Schwimmer was ruled out as a defendant.

Connelly, who was Truman's appointments secretary, and Caudle, former head of the Justice Department's Tax Division, went on trial with Schwimmer three weeks ago on a charge of conspiring to defraud the government by fixing a tax case.

Testimony was halted after Schwimmer, who suffers from a heart ailment, became ill last Wednesday.

City Airport's Future Good, Says Official

ing $121,500 appropriated to the city this year and last.

Gen. Maitland said the grants cover but two years of a four year program for the advancement of airports in the state.

Miehigan is assured of receiving $1,600,000 plus 25 per cent of the amount for discretionary funds for both 1957-58.

"Pontiac will certainly share in these funds for the next two years because they have shown the state of their great interest in expanding facilities at the field," the state official commented.

FUNDS WEREN'T MATCHED

Pontiac was slow in developing its field in the years past, he said, because of the failure of the city to match appropriated funds from the state and federal governments.

"The desire to improve has to originate in the community," Maitland declared. "The state and federal grants cannot step in to help without the initiative of the city."

The city did not receive state funds for the expansion until 1945 and 1947 when it was granted a total of $11,176. The present federal aid program for airports did not originate until 1946.

An official of the state aeronautical department said Pontiac was not able to match funds under the federal aid program until 1949.

In 1949, Pontiac received a federal grant of $28,000, state grant of $13,000, which was matched locally by $14,000 for surfacing the east-west runway and constructing taxi strips to the "T" hangers on the field.

Assistance bogged down for the year because of lack of local financing, and did not resume until last year when money was appropriated for runway expansion presently underway.

Reports from last year reveal that the city matched with $18,000 state and federal grants totaling approximately $21,000. This was employed for drainage and grading of the east-west strip.

"In the last two years Pontiac has made tremendous strides in airport development," Gen. Maitland emphasized.

"There is no doubt in my mind that every 10 cents that Pontiac spends in this direction will be repaid in the increased business that will result."

Next, when a neighboring community has done in keeping its flying facilities up to snuff.

'Poison' Scare Has Police Racing — and Then Smiling

Pontiac Police are always willing to help—sometimes, too willing.

They rushed the eight-month-old daughter of the Laverne Beattys to Pontiac Hospital Saturday afternoon, believing the baby had been poisoned by a wrong medical prescription.

Little Janine, however, was only suffering from an ear infection for which Dr. John P. Williams had prescribed a dosage of eight drops of acromycin.

Williams cleared up the confusion by saying he had prescribed the right medicine but the drugist who filled the prescription Saturday morning had forgotten to put instructions on the bottle.

The Beattys have no telephone in their home at 48 Hazel St. Williams said, so he asked the police to drop by to have the parents call him at his Commerce Township home for instructions.

Somewhere along the way, the message became garbled. Police believed the medicine could

It's Here! You Can Win $100 for Your Solution to POT-O-GOLD No. 1

POT-O-GOLD is an intriguing new kind of word game. Here, for the first time, The Pontiac Press offers this game of skill in contest form.

The puzzle consists of (1) a number of circles which contain a few scrambled letters, and (2) a corresponding list of clues to these words printed below. The object is to arrange each group of circled letters into a word that best fits its clue. The word which you circled for Circle No. 1, then, would be the one which you would print in the space to the right of (1) below.

You'll notice that some circles contain 8 signs in 'pots of gold.' You may use such a symbol as any letter you wish. However, it and all letters in that circle must be used. The 8 sign, of course, can represent ANY letter in the word.

Do the same in all the other circles. Study the clues carefully and arrange all the letters into words that you believe best conform to these clues. Use your 8 signs to help you spell out the right words.

That's all there is to it. Good luck!

A Keego Harbor youth suffered an injured right arm and bruises of the right leg when the bicycle he was riding collided with a car in Keego Harbor.

David Abbott, 11, was treated and released by St. Joseph Mercy Hospital. The car he allegedly ran into was operated by Edna Shaw, of 2710 Orchard Lake Rd., Keego Harbor.

Keego Harbor police reported the boy was riding his bike along the sidewalk when he turned into the street between two parked vehicles and struck the side of the Shaw car.

Hearings Set for Paving Southfield and Holland

BIRMINGHAM — Hearings on paving of Southfield road and Holland Street again come before city commissioners tonight.

The two projects, discussed by commissioners and a goodly number of residents at previous meetings, have thus far presented problems because of opinion differences on width required. Property owners who would pay through assessments toward the improvements question the need of additional width.

A proposed motor bus ordinance came before commissioners again tonight. It was altered after its appearance at an earlier meeting, when a Suburban Shopper Inc. spokesman said the ordinance called for too close restrictions for his firm's ten-passenger buses.

Routing could not be exact, he pleaded, because buses filled up quickly and then took the shortest route downtown.

Joseph F. MacGregor

Joseph F. MacGregor, 62, who retired as a rural carrier at the Birmingham Post Office last Aug. 1 and took his family to Tucson, Ariz., died Friday in Tucson after a six-month illness.

He was past commander of the Charles Edward American Legion Post in Birmingham and was a member of the VFW 16th Engineers Post in Detroit. He had lived in Birmingham about 40 years, coming from Detroit. Before working for the post office, he was with the Birmingham Police Department.

He leaves his wife, Joyce, a daughter, Susan, and a son, Robert, all in Tucson; two sons, Bruce and John in Birmingham; a daughter, Mrs. Dougald Leitch, of Bryan, Texas; a brother, Gordon, of Birmingham; and three sisters, Alice of Detroit, Mrs. Paul E. Floyd of Washington, D. C. and Mrs. Burton Noss, of Lansing.

Service will be at the Brings Mortuary, Tucson, with a VFW memorial service and burial will be in Southlawn Cemetery, Tucson.

First Woman Regent Dies; Here a Year

BIRMINGHAM — Mrs. Esther Marsh Cram, 84, who had been prominent in educational and civic circles in Michigan, died at her home, 1580 Oxford, Sunday.

She had come to live in Birmingham last year, after living here as a child when her father, the Rev. Augustus Marsh, was minister of the Presbyterian Church.

She was named the first woman on the University of Michigan Board of Regents by the then Governor Fred Green, who had been a classmate when she attended Michigan. She held degrees from Alma College, (1894) and from Michigan, (1898).

She had been on the governing board of the State League of Women Voters and active in YWCA work in Flint, Grand Rapids and Detroit.

Born in Portland, she lived 25 years in Detroit, and taught in Detroit Public Schools before her marriage to Leroy Victor Cram. She leaves her son, Steward M. Cram, of Birmingham, and two sisters and a brother, Jane D. Brush, Alice R. Marsh and Harry W. Marsh, of Djakarta, Indonesia.

Service will be at 3 p.m. Tuesday at Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Company, and burial will be in Mackinaw City. Memorial Tributes may be sent to the Presbyterian Church in Mackinaw City.

Harry Truman Views 'Gates of Paradise'

FLORENCE, Italy (INS)—Harry S. Truman quipped "I hope I can get into them" as he viewed Florence's Gates of Paradise Sunday.

The former president and his party visited the 14th century gates by Lorenzo Ghiberti on the second day of his Florentine stay.

Earlier, he lunched with 92-year-old American art historian Bernard Berenson, an Italian resident for 30 years, and attended church at St. James Episcopal Church. Truman leaves for Venice tomorrow.

Ordination Makes Eight Brothers in Priesthood

NEWCASTLE - UPON - TYNE, England (U) — Joseph O'Hara yesterday joined his seven brothers in the Roman Catholic priesthood. All seven attended the ordination in Minsteracres Abbey, including two from Birmingham, Ala.

The eight brothers range in age from 26 to 39. Joseph being the youngest. The two who came from America for the ceremony were Fathers Alban and John O'Hara.

Tax Allocation Rates Subject of Meeting

A hearing on preliminary Oakland County tax allocation rates, set last week by the tax allocation board of the Board of Supervisors, will be held tomorrow at 9 a.m. in the County Office Building. Treasurer Charles A. Sparks said today.

Rates will apply to school district, township government and county government taxes for 1957, and fall within the 15 mill statutory allowance.

Father Lectures to Give Loans to MSU Students

EAST LANSING 48 — Prof. James G. Hays, retired professor of dairy extension at Michigan State University, is a man who tells funny stories for a serious purpose.

Prof. Hays has a mechanical cow and travels the country as a humorous speaker, primarily before farm groups.

All the money he receives goes into the Jimmy Hays Memorial Student Loan Fund—a fund set up to loan money to deserving students at Michigan State University. The fund was created in memory of his son, Jimmie, a former MSU student leader who died of cancer.

The State Board of Agriculture, governing body of Michigan State, reports Prof. Hays has just made another contribution to the loan fund—$11,067 gathered from his lecture tours during the past four years. The loan fund now has reached the impressive total of $25,611, the board was told.

Expected Much...and Got More!

He had heard it time and again from his friends who drive Cadillac.

He had heard, for instance, of Cadillac's marvelous performance... and of Cadillac's great comfort and handling ease... and of the satisfaction that comes to the man at the wheel.

And so, when he took the keys to his first Cadillac, he thought he knew what to expect from the "Car of cars."

Well, here he is—a few miles out on his maiden journey—and he's learning a great truth about Cadillac. That nothing can adequately prepare a man for Cadillac ownership, save the experience itself.

How, for instance, could anyone fully foresee the joys of owning a new Cadillac? It gives a man a sense of pride and a feeling of fulfillment that literally defy description.

Or how could anyone anticipate the thrill of driving a new Cadillac? Smooth and quiet... eager and responsive... restful and relaxing—it simply has no counterpart on the world's highways.

And how could anyone foreknow the many other pleasures that await him... the joy of finding that his Cadillac, with all its quality and character, is among the most practical of motor cars to own and operate...

...and the satisfaction we believe he will find in his relationship with us as his Cadillac dealer—and in our honest concern with his motoring well-being.

Yes, it's a wonderful thing, this education in the ways of Cadillac ownership—and we hope that you will stop in soon for a personal preview of the experience.

We think you will be delighted to learn how quickly you can get delivery and to find how much your current car is worth to us in trade.

CHECK YOUR CAR—CHECK ACCIDENTS

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR:

JUNIOR EDITORS

Here is a house with a garage for the car and a drying yard for the washing. By coloring this picture and then cutting it out according to directions you can make it look very real.

You may want to color the house like your own, or a friend's. The lawn should be green, with the bushes darker green, and the clothes on the line will show best if they are brightly colored.

When you have finished coloring it paste the panel down on cardboard. Study the little diagram in the corner, which shows you how it should look when completed.

Cut around the clothes lines, the bushes, the house, the garage and the car as indicated by the dark outline. Fold up the wall at the back of the yard. Fold all the cut out parts forward so they stand up as they do in the little diagram, then set the picture on the table so that it looks like a real house and grounds.

(This idea was first submitted by Susan Weiss, Arlington, Va. If you have an idea for a Junior Editors panel send it in care of this newspaper, and it may win you $10. Violet Moore Higgins, AP News-features.)

Civil War Prison to Be Developed

Johnson Isle Becoming Residential Resort Spot for Clevelanders

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP)—An island in Sandusky Bay, once a Civil War prison camp, is being turned into a residential resort.

Some Cleveland promoters bought Johnson's Island—all except one acre where 206 Confederate officers are buried.

The promoters said today they have already sold a third of the lots along the coast line, and are negotiating for construction of a three-mile causeway to the mainland. RUINS REMAIN The island, where 15,000 Confederate officers were once confined, is more than a mile long and nearly a half a mile wide at its widest point. A few ruined foundations are all that remain of the prison camp. For many years the cemetery was unattended until the United Daughters of the Confederacy in Cincinnati bought it. They replaced the wooden markers with Georgia marble headstones, donated by the people of that state. In 1910 a monument to the Confederate dead was unveiled—a statue of a soldier. Now the cemetery is U. S. government property.

The real estate promoters plan to recondition the existing docks and clean out an old quarry to create a land-locked harbor.

Tokyo-Born Ike Making Name for Himself

Pride of U. S. Navy Reaping Rewards of Citizenship, Educational Opportunity

NEW YORK (INS)—Tokyo-born Isaac "Ike" Shapiro, who started on the road to his education by making friends with the first U. S. Navy men to enter Yokohama Harbor after the war, receives his law degree next week.

Ike, who is now 25 and an American citizen, will receive his degree on June 5 at Columbia University where he obtained his bachelor of arts degree in 1954.

Ike has traveled some 10,000 miles in the more than 10 years since the day he boarded the U. S. Navy LST 1139 that had just sailed into the Japanese port.

FIRST TREAT—STEAK

He was thin and undernourished after four years in a Japanese prison camp with his stateless Russian-born parents and three brothers. He accepted his new friends' first gesture of kindness—a steak dinner.

Before the 14-year-old boy, dressed in patched shirt and shorts, had left the warship he was made "honorary" midshipman of the U. S. Navy, and later because of his knowledge of English, Japanese, Russian and French, he earned the job as interpreter for the 31st Marine Air Group.

Ike's boss, Colonel (now Brigadier General) John C. Munn was transferred to Hawaii. And after obtaining permission from the boy's parents and authorities he sent for the boy and enrolled him at Punahou, a private school in Honolulu.

TO STUDY AT PARIS

When Ike finished at Punahou, measures were initiated to bring him to the U. S. and finally in 1949 he was enrolled at Columbia as a scholarship student. In 1951 he obtained his U. S. citizenship, and soon after his education was interrupted by a two year tour of Army service in Korea.

Ike, who has graduated near the top of all his classes, will not stop with his education now that he has obtained his degree. He will go on to Paris in the fall on a Fulbright Scholarship to study comparative law for a year.

Shapiro's parents and his younger brother are living in Hollywood now and expect to become U. S. citizens next year.

And to close the story on a romantic note, he'll be married three days before he leaves for Paris to Miss Jacquelin Weiss of West Englewood, N. J.

Firemen Meet June 8-10

PORT AUSTIN (AP)—The Michigan State Firemen's Assn. will hold its 81st convention here June 8-10.

Hal Boyle Says:

Tom Wolfe Finds His Home Again in Death

ASHEVILLE, N. C. — Once, upon a time there was a boy born here 100 years old at his birth—or so he always felt.

He was the youngest of eight children, the "baby" in the family. He was a strange child, thin and pale-faced, and given to long brooding silences. He wore dresses until he was at least three. His mother didn't let him cut his shoulder length curls until he was nearly nine.

SERIOUS THOUGHTS

His father, who carved and sold tombstones, could quote Shakespeare and the Bible endlessly. These things may have helped give the boy his early preoccupation with death and time and literature.

The boy, Tom Wolfe, grew into a raw-boned giant 6 feet 5½. His mind matched his stature. In a lonely room in London he wrote a classic first novel, "Look Homeward, Angel," which told of his lost youth—and every man's heart hunger for a previous time gone by.

He was just 29, and the world acclaimed him as a new literary titan. But many folks here thought Tom had been too brutally frank in portraying both his family and his townspeople.

For years Tom felt himself an outcast, more lost and lonely than ever. But before his death in 1938 time softened the anger of citizens here, and today he is recognized as Asheville's most famous son.

HOME IS MUSEUM

The town has made a museum of the old rambling 22-room white clapboard house in which he dreamed as a boy, the "Old Kentucky Home" in which his mother, Julia, sometimes cooked for as many as 35 to 40 summer boarders.

Thousands of visitors make a pilgrimage here each year. They are people who loved Tom through his books, which still sell widely. They range from garage mechanics to college presidents, but many are young students.

"The younger generation thinks he's wonderful," said Wolfe's sister, Mrs. Mabel Wheaton, who showed me through the old home.

Mrs. Wheaton, who is 10 years older than Tom and was the closest member of the family to him in life, resembles him physically. She is tall and shares his tremendous energy, his gusto for living. She was a singer in her youth.

BORN ANCIENT

"Tom always said he was 100 years old when he was born," she said, "and I think he really was."

She guided me into the parlor past two fading hallway mottoes that said, "Do Right and Fear Not" and "Peace be Unto This House."

She sat down at an ancient upright piano and played a few bars from Stephen Foster's "Beautiful Dreamer."

"The whole family used to like to sing that," she remarked. "Tom liked all tuneless things."

SIGNS OF LIVING
The old-fashioned furniture was marked with the signs of much usage. Everything in the house bore the signature of vigorous past life.

Upstairs Mabel showed me the bed on which her father had died lingeringly of cancer, another bed in which all eight Wolfe children had been born.

Then she led me to the room in which had been put Tom's furniture from his New York apartment and his two typewriters. His worn leather briefcase leaned against a table leg on the floor, the kitchen. A strange memorial went out to Riverside Cemetery, where Tom, who always felt lost, died.

"Tom really never had anything in his life," said his sister, Mabel. "They're just as she left own books."

Back downstairs, we went into the seal of honor on him when he died.

Tom, who once in his loneliness wrote "You can't go home again," did, in fact, after "the decontaminated there. They said the fever, and the fret," they are ngifying 124 others who come back to the only home he ever knew, the temple of the past in which time stands still forever.

After leaving Mrs. Wheaton, I son with mercy, love and pity, and with this High Horsepower Combination

TRY PURE'S CHALLENGING 1,000-MILE OFFER

Use High HP Purelube Motor Oil and PURE Gasoline (Premium or regular, whichever you normally use) for 1,000 miles. If you have been using a 10-W, 20 or 30 grade oil, you will burn less gasoline... use less oil, or both... or we will give you any oil which may have to be added in a 1,000-mile oil-change period. Offer good until July 31, 1956. Ask your Pure Oil dealer for details.

Why we make this offer

We want to help our regular customers and make a lot of new friends. We figure the best way to do this is to let you prove to yourself that you can save on gas, oil, or both by using High HP Purelube in your crankcase and PURE gasoline in your gas tank.

How the High-Horsepower Combination works

High HP Purelube, with its special combination of high-cleansing additives, cleans up your engine.

PURE'S two great gasolines burn clean because they are made clean by careful processing and refining.

Used together, High HP Purelube and PURE gasoline clean up your engine and keep it clean. They maintain your car's High-Horsepower performance and economy.

Prove it in your car.

SPECIAL OCTANE BONUS for High-Horsepower Engines

If your car is no more than four years old (a 1953 to 1956 model) it has a high-compression engine, designed to deliver high horsepower. After the "break-in" period, these modern engines tend to develop a thirst for more octane in the gasoline they burn. Unless they get it, they tend to knock and lose power.

Use of PURE'S High-Horsepower Combination keeps your engine clean, actually reduces the deposits which cause this octane thirst.

The result: Your engine gets a special bonus in knock-free power—the equivalent of up to 4 octane numbers. New cars keep their showroom power, older cars regain it.

This special OCTANE BONUS is yours when you use High HP Purelube motor oil and either of two great PURE gasolines. Why not give it a try, starting today? Be sure with Pure Knitting, crocheting, leatherwork and weaving were a few of the opportunities available to patients through the occupational therapy program, mentioned by the speaker. She stressed the present need of the hospital for a physiotherapist to work with patients in rehabilitating them for their discharge from the hospital.

PRaises VOLUNTEERS

In closing, Mrs. Blocker thanked the members of the Big-Sister group who volunteer their time to work with the patients and asked for materials to continue the occupational therapy program for the patients.

Avoid Self-Analysis if You're Blue

By ANNE HEYWOOD

All too often we plan our lives or evaluate our personalities when we are in a blue mood.

We wake up feeling depressed and low. Then we begin analyzing what's wrong with our lives, dwelling on the awful mistakes we've made and the dumb prospects that lie ahead.

How much better it is to postpone such considerations until we're out of the doldrums!

Mrs. K. did that kind of thing for years.

She is the mother of four children, now all in school, and she has a devoted husband.

She does her own housework but has, as she admits readily, all the labor-saving devices you could wish for and a modern, easy-to-run house.

For several years, I've been getting letters from Mrs. K. every once in a while.

"My life just isn't adding up," the first one said. "I get through the work, and then next day it's there to do all over again. I have no special talent or interest, and my husband and children, whom I do love."

"But I'm not brilliant or talented and have nothing to look forward to except more of this same thing, until I'm too old to 'care.'"

With my reply, I sent her a copy of my Housewife's Career Guide, to help her find some talent or interest.

Her next letter was a little more cheerful. It turned out that she loved cooking and was pretty good at it. It should just admit it.

There are four pages in today's Women's Section entitled habit of doing her self-analysis in unhappy periods.

I wrote and told her never, never to do that. I said that she catch herself up short and do some kind of physical work when a blue mood came on and do any self-evaluating when she was cheerful.

I also suggested that the minute she felt blue, she should drop everything and go into the kitchen and cook something special.

She followed my advice and today, she is a different person.

She has faced the fact that we all have ups and downs and her "downs" have begun to pay off. Her cooking is so killing and successful now that she's baking things for a local team and making a little money on it. Most of all, she feels like "somebody" which, of course, has made the blues appear less frequently.

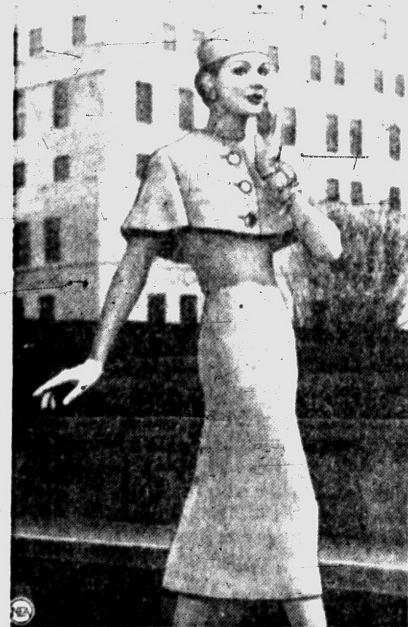

GOOD TRICK

It's a good trick to bear in mind — make yourself to get to work on some physical project automatically, the minute you feel depressed.

And save your self-analysis for your more cheerful moments!

If you would like a copy of my Housewife's Career Guide, send me six cents in postage in care of The Pontiac Press.

Blue Tops Spring Color Fashion Wear

NEW YORK (NEA) — Blue, blue, blue in every shade from turquoise to brilliant peacock. This is a blue spring, one in which you're in fashion just wearing blue.

But it's more fun if the line, too, is new and the wool from which your suit (or dress or coat) is cut is one of the lightweights. These are the woolens that, years ago, were considered dress-weights. Now, they're used for everything and worn on chilly days with perfect propriety.

The sheath is the new line this spring and is the basis for most of the new fashions. Above the waist, it has new interest achieved through deep collars, cuffs, buttoned stoles or widened necklines. Above the waist, the look is dramatic; below, it's slim and straight.

Sheath line (left) is used by Pauline Trigere for wool-tweed

From Hattie Carnegie comes this jacket-dress ensemble (right) in mimosa yellow tweed flecked with gray. It's both soft and lightweight. Loose fitted box jacket is worn with dress of lighter weight and with a subtly-differing pattern. Dress buttons from neck line to waist, has tab detailing.

Millions Around the Globe to Observe Memorial Day

WASHINGTON — With fragrant spring flowers, parades, speeches and flags, millions of Americans at home and abroad once more will honor their war dead on May 30.

When word spread that Mississippi and other southern women had decorated Union as well as Confederate graves, northerners were touched and interested.

Finally, early in May 1868, General John A. Logan, commander of the Union veterans' Grand Army of the Republic, issued an order to all posts. It set May 30 as an annual date for "decorating the graves of comrades whose bodies now lie in almost every city, village and hamlet churchyard in the land."

The government's official commemoration program focuses on the more than 100 national military cemeteries. Ninety-four of these are in the United States, scattered from Arlington on the Potomac, to the Golden Gate of San Francisco; from St. Augustine, Florida, to Custer, Montana, on the Custer massacre site.

Others have been established at Honolulu; Mexico City; Sitka, Alaska; and San Juan, Puerto Rico.

FOR PERPETUAL REMEMBRANCE

In Europe, Africa and Asia, 22 major American cemeteries, plus unguessable numbers of smaller plots, memorials and monuments, will witness this year's ceremonies recalling the sacrifices of two World Wars and the still truce-deadlocked Korean struggle.

Many of the quiet gardens of perpetual remembrance stand on historic battlefields whose names and locations evoke their once desperate and heroic story. Flanders Field in Belgium and the Aisne-Marne Cemetery at Belleau Wood in France are two of the eight American cemeteries created in Europe as a result of World War I.

Out of the European and North African landings and other actions of World War II came 14 more, including St. Laurent overlooking the D-Day Normandy beachhead, Italy's Anzio-Nettuno, and the burial grounds at Tunis, North Africa, and Manila in the Philippines.

In addition to the cemetery exercises, flags will fly at half-mast and 21-gun salutes be fired at every United States military post and aboard all naval vessels. Flowers will be cast on the waters for those lost at sea.

One of the youngest overseas shrines scheduled for May 30 services comes under United Nations, not United States, jurisdiction. It is the Korean cemetery at Pusan, where some 2,000 soldiers of 10 nations are buried.

BORN OF CIVIL WAR

The Civil War made May 30 a patriotic holiday. Even before the conflict's end, the custom of strewing flowers over graves of the fallen had caught on, especial-

When someone's counting on you... you can count on life insurance

Like most fathers, you are naturally proud of your role as good provider—proud that your family can count on you for the years ahead.

You, in turn, can count on life insurance to help you meet these future responsibilities. Over the years the life insurance business has earned a reputation for conservative, careful management in handling policyholder funds and in carrying out its policy obligations.

This record is demonstrated in the reports which each life insurance company must file every year in every state in which it is licensed to do business.

Through these reports and periodic examinations by the state authorities, the affairs of the business are an "open book" to the public.

These are among the reasons why you can count on life insurance... and why it is America's most widely used form of thrift.

A life insurance program can guarantee that money will be ready when the family needs it most—in case of the father's death... when the children go to college... to meet emergencies... for retirement. Planning your life insurance calls for experienced help. The best person to see, of course, is your own life insurance agent. You'll also find many helpful suggestions in the new booklet, Your Life Insurance—and How to Use It. Your free copy will be mailed promptly; simply send your name and address on a postcard to Dept. First Lady Candidates

Energetic Pat Nixon Does Own Housework

(This is the last of six articles on the political wheel of fortune, might become "first lady.")

By RUTH MONTGOMERY
WASHINGTON (INS) — A couple of generations ago, a vice president quipped that his most important duty was to make a daily check on the state of the president's health.

Since any second lady is only one heartbeat removed from the White House, this series must necessarily include a column on slim, gracious Patricia Nixon, who has already pinch-hit for the First Lady.

Stepping into the executive mansion, with its impressive staff of servants, would be a major dislocation for brown-eyed, auburn-haired Pat, who does all of the cooking, dish washing and housework for the busy Nixon ménage.

It seems incredible that in this wealthy land of ours, the vice president should receive such comparatively niggardly compensation ($30,000 a year and a taxable $10,000 expense allowance) that his household has to struggle along without a maid.

Harry S. Truman could understand the Nixons' plight, since one of his first acts as president was to borrow enough money to tide him over until payday.

DYNAMO OF ENERGY

Doing her own work is nothing new, however, for Pat, whose frail good looks belie her built-in dynamo of energy. Up with the birds, she has her day's schedule planned before 7 a. m.

Next, she dresses and feeds her 7 and 9-year-old daughters, sees them off to public school by bus and their father to work at the Capitol.

With one eye on the clock, she then cleans, sews, dresses and is off to an official luncheon, with a tea, an embassy cocktail party, and often a protocol dinner to round out the busy day.

Through it all, Pat remains unruffled and fresh as the proverbial daisy in her tasteful dresses from local ready-to-wear stores. Not for her are the Dior and Fontanas of our feuding Washington hostesses!

It is impossible not to admire Pat. To that, the State Department would sound a grateful "amen."

TO THE RESCUE

During the dark days following President Eisenhower's heart attack, she more than once rescued it from a difficult dilemma of international protocol by quietly shifting her busy schedule to greet visiting dignitaries.

When the White House entertainment schedule was necessarily reduced, the Nixons took over the glamorous but difficult chore. Often in recent months, Pat has proved herself a gracious, considerate hostess to such visiting heads of state as the Presidents of Italy, Brazil, Guatemala and Uruguay.

On fatiguing trips to the Far East and South America with the vice president, she has earned the admiration of officials and plain people alike. Recently, during a warm little speech to the Senate Ladies' Club, Pat was asked whether she hesitated to shake hands with lepers in the Orient.

Without affectation, she replied simply: "No, because I honestly feel that when you do what you know to be right, God will take care of you. I was not afraid."

The one-time teacher of typing and shorthand is adored by her husband's staff at the Capitol. She is equally popular with a grateful press corps, whom she invited into the Nixons' recreation room each evening after realizing that reporters had to camp on her doorstep while she was besting the grim reaper last September.

Pat personally brewed them coffee and urged the newsmen to feel at home, even though their overnight presence must frequently have disturbed her sleep.

OWN SECRETARY

Besides serving as chief cook and bottle washer, Pat is her own secretary, as well. A surprising number of letters pour into the Nixon household, and she somehow finds time to answer them all.

Her favorites are from children, who write to ask how Tricia and Julie are getting along with their schoolwork and Brownie activities.

Because Washington dinner parties usually begin at 8 p. m., Pat and Dick sit with the youngsters during their own meal and read them a bedtime story before a babysitter takes over for the evening.

While Nixon in recent weeks was "charting his own course" and deciding on a second-term contest, Pat patiently told curious friends: "I leave all such decisions to him."

Now that he has thrown his hat into the vice presidential ring, Pat is preparing for a busy fall of campaigning. Dick will do the speech-making, but the one-time school teacher will undoubtedly stand by her man on the political stump.

Who knows, she may even have to hire a maid from September until November!

White Collar Girl Needs Her War Paint

The "war paint" arsenal of the average white collar girl at date time is a pretty awesome thing, but all of the items in it really fill a useful purpose and guarantee her that always "freshened-up" look that's so important to the career girl.

Check these: Rouge, powder, lipstick, eye drops, mascara and a good hair brush all help to hide the fact that she's just put in seven

His Strength Is Overtaxed by Visitors

Wife Should Limit Length of Calls on Ailing Husband

By EMILY POST

Today's first letter tells me: "My husband is home recuperating from a very serious operation. He is well enough to be up and around but is still very weak. Since he has been home many of his friends have come in to see him."

"He is very happy to have visitors, but some of them stay too long and after they have gone he is completely exhausted. Is there any way he can tactfully get them to leave after a certain length of time without making them feel that he does not appreciate their visits?"

Answer: There is only one thing to do. You must take each visitor aside and explain seriously that the doctor insists that your husband must not see any visitor for more than a specified time—and remind all visitors the moment their time is up.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I am engaged to a man who has been married before. His wife passed away several years ago. I want to announce our engagement in the newspaper but he says it is incorrect to announce an engagement this way when one or the other has been married before. Will you please tell me if he is right?"

Answer: I'm glad to be able to tell you that there will be no impropriety in your announcing your engagement in the newspaper.

"Dear Mrs. Post: At previous graduations, the class always wore caps and gowns. This year we would like to wear long white dresses instead."

"However, the exercises will take place at a morning hour and the question has been raised as to whether long dresses would be proper in the morning. Will you please advise us?"

Answer: Long dresses are quite proper at graduation, whether the exercises take place in the evening or in the morning.

The bad thing about good sportsmanship is that you usually have to lose to prove you've got it.

'Blonde Mink'-Damon Runyon's Greatest Achievement

Now of course there are many different ways of cooking tripe but personally I prefer it stewed with tomatoes and mushrooms and a bit of garlic and in fact I am partaking of a portion in this form in Mindy's restaurant on Broadway one evening in January when a personality by the name of Julie the Starker sits down at my table and leans over and sniffs my dish and says to me like this:

"Tripe," he says. "With garlic," he says. "Why, this is according to the recipe of the late Slat Slavov who obtains it from his old Aunt Margaret in Troy. Waiter," he says, "bring me an order of this delicious concoction only with more garlic. It is getting colder outside and a guy needs garlic in his system to thicken his blood."

"Well," he says, "this is indeed a coincidence because I just come from visiting the late Slat Slavov and having a small chat with him."

Naturally I am somewhat surprised by this statement as I know the late Slat Slavov is resting in Woodlawn Cemetery and to tell the truth I remember I am present as a pallbearer when he is placed there to rest, but I am also pleased to hear these tidings as Slat is always a good friend of mine and no nicer guy ever steps in shoe leather.

"Well," I say to Julie, "and how is Slat these days?"

"He is cold," Julie says. "He states that it is very crimping around the edges up there in Woodlawn especially at night. You know the late Slat always hates cold weather. He is usually in Florida by this time of year to duck the chill."

"Furthermore," Julie says, "he is greatly embarrassed up there without a stone over him such as Beatrice promises to get him. He says it makes him feel like a bum with nothing to show who he is when all around him are many fine markers including one of black marble to the memory of the late cockeyed Corrigan who as you know is of no consequence compared to the late Slat who is really somebody."

Well, of course this is very true because the late Slat is formerly known and esteemed by one and all on Broadway as one of the smartest operators in horse racing that ever draws breath.

HE IS A PLAYER
He is a hand-capper by trade and his figures on the horses that are apt to win are so highly prized that one night he is stuck up by a couple of guys when he has six thousand in cash money on him, but all they want is his figures on the next day's races.

He is a player and a layer. He will bet on the horses himself when he sees spots he fancies or he will let you bet him on them and he has clients all over the United States who call him up at his office on Broadway and transact business with him one way or the other.

He is a tall guy in his late forties who is not much thicker than a lath which is why he is called Slat though his first name is really Terence.

He is by no means Mr. America for looks but he dresses well and he is very rapid with a dollar. He is the softest touch in town for busted guys and he will get up in the middle of the night to do somebody a favor, consequently no one gets more or larger hellos along the main drag than the late Slat.

IN THE MUGGOLA CLASS
He comes from a little burg upstate by the name of Cohoes and I hear that he and Julie the Starker are friends from their shortpant days there, although Julie is about the last one in the world who will expect to see a guy of class like Slat associating with as Julie is strictly in the muggola department.

He is about Slat's age and is short and thick and has a kisser that is surely a pain to even his own mama. He is called Julie the Starker because starker means a strong and rough guy and there is no doubt that Julie answers this description in every manner, shape and form.

He is at one time in his life a prize fighter but strictly a catcher which is a way of saying he catches everything the other guy throws at him and at other times he is a bouncer; I do not know what all else except that he has some Sing Sing background.

At all times he is a most undesirable personality but he is very fond of the late Slat Slavov and vice versa, and they get along together in a way that is most astonishing to behold.

He is not only a handy guy for Slat but he is also a social companion and for some years whenever you see Slat you are apt to see Julie the Starker except when Slat is with his fiancée Miss Beatrice Gee and even then you may see Julie though as a rule Miss Beatrice Gee does not approve of him any more than she does of leprosy. In fact, she makes no bones about considering the very sight of Julie revolting to her.

In addition to being the late Slat's fiancée, Miss Beatrice Gee is at this time a prominent show girl in one of Mike Todd's musical shows and she is conceded by one and all to be the most beautiful object on Manhattan Island or anyway no worse than photo finish for the most beautiful.

Se is an original brunette and is quite tall and carries herself in a way that the late Slat says is dignity, though it really comes of Mike Todd's director putting a big copy of the Bible on her head and saying she will either learn to walk balancing it or else, though he never does tell her or else what.

Morocco Given Diplomatic Rule

New Government Hints Rental Money May Be Asked of U.S. for Bases

PARIS (AP) — The foreign minister today signed a series of agreements which give the former North African protectorate, the site of some big U. S. air bases, its full diplomatic freedom.

The documents included letters exchanged between the two governments which give the former North African protectorate, the site of some big U. S. air bases, its full diplomatic freedom.

Members of the Moroccan government have hinted that rental money may be demanded from the United States for the bases, which were built at a cost of about 500 million dollars.

SPAT FOLLOWS SIGNING

The ink of the signatures was hardly dry before the foreign ministers started a sharp little diplomatic exchange.

Armed Balfour, Moroccan foreign minister, said the Moroccans must "free themselves from an attitude of lack of confidence, colonial policy" practiced by France during the protectorate.

In reply, French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau said France was looking to the Sultan, Sidi Mohammed ben Youssef, to use his great popularity among the Moroccan people and to act energetically in removing causes of friction between the French in Morocco and the Moroccans.

1,500 Spectators See Blessing of Blossoms

TRAVERSE CITY (AP) — Sunny skies and more than 1,500 spectators set the background yesterday for the annual blessing of the blossoms in the cherry orchards of Old Mission Peninsula.

The religious ceremony, sponsored by the Grand Traverse Ministerial Assn., had been delayed three weeks by inclement weather.

Rev. Richard Sellick of the Ogdenburg Methodist Church delivered the invocation. Rev. Francis Foley of Traverse City Grace Episcopal church gave the blessing prayer and Rev. William Niedema of Faith Reformed Church delivered the blessing sermon.

NEW GARAGE READY — Oakland County's Road Commission hopes to move into this new garage building within a month. Interior appointments of the $350,000 building now are being installed. Future plans, now temporarily postponed, call for a second garage bay to the left of the office space shown, and additional office space jutting into the foreground. Financed by state gas tax revenues, the new building was necessitated by the proposed rerouting of Telegraph Road at Orchard Lake, which slices off the rear of the present garage and makes expansion, needed now for two years impossible. The new building is located on the County building site, off Pontiac Lake Road just west of Telegraph.

Counseling Key to Clinic Success

In ady's past a good spanking and bed without supper were supposed to cure any child's "bad behavior."

Such isn't the case in 1936. Wise parents are concerned when Sonny or Susie continually misbehaves or reveals some personality disorder. They seek professional help to aid him or her in growing up to be a useful productive member of society.

Help for the emotionally disturbed child in Oakland County is just as near as the Oakland Child Guidance Clinic, 133 Franklin Blvd.

A professionally staffed clinic serviced by a psychiatrist, a psychologist, psychiatric social workers and student trainees comprises service for "problem" children in Oakland County.

A total of 341 children were treated in the Child Guidance Clinic in the past year; 167 cases of which were "closed." The clinic admitted 50 more children for service than in 1934. In just April of this year some 117 children were seen by clinic staff members indicating a continual increase of parents seeking help for their children.

Coy Outlook Loses Face Among Eligible Bachelors

Marriage as a way of life is at peak popularity among American men. In number, American husbands have reached a record high, totaling nearly 39 million in the civilian population alone.

The typical American nowadays marries at a relatively early age, establishes his own household soon after marriage, and keeps his nose to the grindstone to the extent that he bears responsibility for raising a family throughout most of his working life.

About 95 per cent of all married men under 65 are gainfully employed.

These facts are derived from a statistical profile of the American husband by the statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., using data from the Bureau of the Census. Further details include the following:

Over one-quarter of the present-day husbands are under 35 years of age, and an additional fourth are in the 35 to 44 age bracket.

At the same time, however, the number at ages 65 and over is close to 4,400,000—about 11 per cent of the total—and is growing rapidly.

Four-fifths of the families where the husband is in the age range of 25 to 34 have at least one child, and nearly one-quarter have three or more children. The relatively large families are even more common where the husband is in the 35-44 year age group.

Although in most families the husband is the sole breadwinner, in about one-fourth of the families both husband and wife are employed.

Massive Feed Benefits College at Traverse City

TRAVERSE CITY (AP) — Five thousand persons were fed on the campus of Northwestern Michigan College at $1 a head for a menu that included cube steak, beans, potatoes, ice cream and other goodies.

The feed, which started at 11:30 a.m. yesterday and ended at 6 p.m. was sponsored by the junior college's alumni Wigwam Club. The food, including two tons of beans, a ton of cubed steaks and a ton of potatoes, was donated by a Traverse City merchant. A team of 400 volunteer workers cooked and served it.

Besides the steak and fixins, the $1 cost also included a baby-sitting service and pony rides for the youngsters. The event drew so many people the Wigwam Club had to borrow every picnic table in Traverse City.

The $5,000 profit—all the money taken in—will go to purchase physics equipment for the college, Michigan's newest one.

Chief of Eastern Aden Dies at 80 in Hospital

ADEN (AP) — Sultan Salih Bin Ghalib, premier chief of the Eastern Aden Protectorate, died in a hospital here last night. He was believed to be more than 80.

The old Sultan headed the Qu'aiti state of Shihir and Mukalla, most important of the several small states and sheikhdoms which make up the eastern portion of the British protectorate along the southwest coast of the Arabian Peninsula.

MODERNISTIC PINOCCHIO — Standing as a monument to the world of children, a 15-foot-high statue of Pinocchio and the "Blue Fairy" forms a futuristic pattern against the sky in the children's park at Colodi, Italy. In exchange for contributions to build the monument, children received a certificate — "good for one lie" — enabling them to tell one fib apiece without risking a telltale lengthening of the nose — like Pinocchio.

Eaglets Third in Meet

Orchard Lake St. Mary's hopes for a Catholic League track championship went awry Sunday afternoon at the University of Detroit.

The Eaglet thinclads turned in their poorest performance of the season as they took only one event and compiled 38 points to finish 3rd behind St. Joseph, which won the meet with 46 points, and Servite with 39.

Both champion St. Joe and runner-up Servite had been outscored by St. Mary in dual and triangular meets during the season.

St. Michael produced one winner and scored 14 points to place 5th behind DeLaSalle, which piled up 30.

St. Mary's lone victory was scored by Stan Majewski in the 120-yard high hurdles. Majewski took 2nd in the 180 low hurdles and 3rd in the broad jump.

Gerry Leszczynski placed 2nd in the 100 and 220 dashes and Pete

Madelans finished 3rd in the high hurdles, ended in a 3-way tie for 2nd in the pole vault and took 5th in the low sticks.

Jerry Ostrowski placed 2nd in the 880, Pete Krystek took 3rd in the same event, Joe Waluk was 4th in the shot, and Chet Wajda placed 5th in the broad jump and tied with teammate Benny Masztakowski for 5th in the pole vault.

Dan Dropps of St. Mike cleared 5 feet 10 1/2 inches in the high jump to set a new Catholic League record. Mike Clever placed 4th in the 100 dash, Bill Hall took 4th in the 220, the medley relay team finished 3rd and the 880 relay squad claimed 4th to complete the Shamrock's point total.

St. Joe won 5 events, Servite 3, DeLaSalle 1, Austin 1 and Dearborn St. Bernard 1. Austin followed the Mikes with 13 points. St. Bernard had 8, Sacred Heart of Dearborn 3, and Grosse Pointe St. Paul 1.

SETS HOMER MARK — Dale Long, first baseman of the Pittsburgh Pirates, blasts the record-breaking home run Saturday which set a new Major League mark of seven homers in seven consecutive games. The blow came against Philadelphia for the surging Bucs. He will try for eight straight tonight against the Dodgers since the Buc-Philly doubleheader was rained out yesterday.

Cranes Capture All-Sport League Trophy First Time

The weekend proved to be a 'howling success' for Cranbrook athletes.

Cranbrook's track team returned from Cleveland with the Inter-State Conference championship, the 1st in the school's history, and the baseball and tennis teams disposed of visiting Shady Side Academy from Pittsburgh.

The track squad rolled up 52 points to win the annual league meet. Nichols of Buffalo scored 47 1/2 points to finish 2nd, Western Reserve of Hudson, O. tallied 27, University School of Cleveland compiled 20 1/2 and Shady side made 7.

The track title, combined with football and tennis crowns and a basketball co-championship, also enabled the Cranes to win the Inter-State League's all-sport trophy for the 1st time in Cranbrook annals.

Cranbrook's thinclads set one league record and three school marks in the conference meet Saturday. Dave Martin ran the mile in 4:32.6 for a league and school record and won the 880 in the time of 2:04, which just missed the loop figure by .7 of a second. Herb Stanton ran the 440 in 51.4, a new school mark.

The mile relay team of Charles Gessner, Jim Harrison, Tom Noteware and Roger Waud finished 3rd, but still set a school record with a time of 3:37.6. Cranbrook won six events and tied for 1st in another.

Dave Campbell hurled a one-hit shutout and faced only 21 batters as the Crane baseball forces downed Shady Side 8-0. Campbell struck out 15, walked none, and gave up one single in the 5th inning, a line drive off the bat of Dewey Hamilton which handcuffed 3rd baseman Bob Pearson.

Pearson led the Cranes at the plate with two singles and a triple for two RBIs. Chuck Grube singled and doubled and batted in three runs.

Jerry Dobson's victory over John Knepper was the decisive match as Cranbrook defeated Shady Side in tennis, 3-2.

Mets Hold Practices

Two practice sessions will be held this week for Mets' Class B baseball club. They meet Tuesday and Thursday at south diamond, Columbia-Joslyn field. Drills start at 5 p.m. Information about tryouts may be had by calling Ray Newton, FE 5-1023.

St. Mary Athletes Feted at Banquet Last Night

Orchard Lake St. Mary paid tribute to its athletes Sunday night when the school's annual all-sports banquet was held in the gymnasium at Orchard Lake.

Letters were awarded to 79 boys football, basketball, baseball, track and golf. Rev. John Rakoczy, athletic director, made the presentations.

Ted Kopacki was honored with two trophies. He received the achievement award, which goes to the boy who best combines athletics and scholarship, and the free throw award, given to the highest percentage of foul shots during the season.

Rivals Ready for Belmont

NEW YORK (AP)—Kentucky Derby winner Needles checks into the big town today from Baltimore to put in his final training chores before the championship showdown with the Calumet Farm's sensational Fabius in the $100,000-added Belmont Stakes June 16.

Fabius demonstrated Saturday at Garden State Park that he will be a rugged customer to handle in the mile and one-half Belmont when he romped home a 2-length winner in the $62,800 Jersey Stakes.

One week earlier, at Pimlico, Fabius had taken the measure of Needles in the rich Preakness, middle jewel in the Derby-Preakness-Belmont triple crown for 3-year-olds. On May 5, Fabius led down the Derby stretch at Louisville, but Needles rushed up in the late stages to snare the decision.
