Oscar Collecting Time

Hollywood Picks 'Oscar' Winners

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—A British screen veteran, a Hollywood newcomer and two American pictures filmed in the Orient carried away top honors at last night's glittering 30th annual Academy Award presentations.

It and made-in-Japan "Sayonara" grabbed 12 of the 16 awards made to feature pictures. "Bridge" and the people who made it won seven awards and those in "Sayonara" swept in five.

The latter group included one to Red Buttons as the best actor in a supporting role and another to Japanese actress Miyoshi Umeki for the best actress in a supporting role. They played the parts of tragic lovers in a story of post-war Japan.

Awards night traditionally is Hollywood's biggest and gayest evening of the year. But in the background last night there was the pall of the plane-crash death of showman Mike Todd and the heart attack passing of veteran producer Don Hartman.

The film industry itself took over the awards show and broadcast and telecast it throughout the nation as a public service. There were no commercials and the studios picked up the entire tab of around $575,000 for the air time. The cost of the entire show was about $850,000.

Legislature OKs Bonds to Pay for Pipeline

Bringing Lake Huron Water to City Area Nearer Reality

The Legislature in Lansing today easily completed passage of a bill to make financing simplified for a giant pipeline to bring Lake Huron water to the Pontiac area.

The measure would authorize the Southeastern Michigan Water Authority of Oakland and Macomb counties to issue revenue bonds to finance the project, estimated at costing between $100 and $200 million depending on the number of customers.

Senate agreement on minor House amendments put the bill over its last legislative hurdle and headed it towards the governor's desk.

Final passage was considered an important victory for the authority and Oakland County legislators who sponsored it.

The bill was passed with the stipulation it would go into effect immediately after the legislative session instead of the usual waiting period of 90 days.

The authority at present is confined to issuing general obligation bonds. The revenue bond provision means that interested communities can join the project without seriously limiting their ability to borrow money for other ventures, it was explained.

The authority proposed to build the pipeline from an intake north of Port Huron to a pumping station near Auburn Heights.

It could provide an economical source of water for Pontiac and other northern Oakland and Macomb county communities, authority officials say.

Pontiac and other major communities in the area are being asked to contract with the authority for its water. Several other communities, including Detroit and Flint, have become interested, and it is on their decision to join that the initial size of the pipeline and its cost depends, the authority has said .

The bonds would not be issued until a sufficient number of communities have signed up to enable the authority to pay them off, the bill stipulates.

Two Men Die; Speedometer Stuck at 110

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Two men were killed last night when their car plunged over a railroad grade crossing, shot 120 feet through the air and sped another 90 feet on the ground before hitting a tree.

Dead are Jack C. Hudkins, 20, of Ann Arbor, and William F. Blom, 21, of Ann Arbor Township.

Sheriff's deputies said the car's speedometer was stuck at 110 miles an hour. The crash was on a county road seven miles northeast of Ann Arbor.

Outside Judge to Hear Case

Adams Pulls Himself Out of Sullenberger Suit Against Hospital .

Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams today ruled himself out as presiding judge over next month's trial of the $250,000 damage suit against Pontiac General Hospital by Dr. Neil H. Sullenberger.

Judge Adams assented to a motion made in the ousted staff surgeon's behalf to the effect that an outside judge should handle the case because it involves "many Pontiac officials and area physicians," and has received "extra ordinary publicity" locally.

"Dr. Sullenberger has a right to feel that he is getting as fair a trial as possible," said Judge Adams in granting the motion.

However, Judge Adams pointed out his ruling does not affect the county's three other circuit judges.

If they follow Judge Adams' lead and disqualify themselves also, the case appeared likely to go to Circuit Judge William O. Arch, of Monroe County, scheduled to visit the Oakland County circuit beginning April 8.

"Judge Arch's assignment to the case, however, is up to the state circuit court commissioner, I believe," said Judge Adams.

Adlai Lends Support to Ike's Tariff Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower and Adlai Stevenson join forces in a second bipartisan display today, this time for support of Eisenhower's embattled tariff and trade program.

The speech is scheduled for 9:30 p. m., EST.

Sees Belief in Heaven as Vital to Well Being

(Editor's Note: This is the third in a series of articles on Heaven, written by local residents and compiled by Mary Anglemier, Pontiac Press church editor).

By MAJOR ERNEST ALDER

A yearning has always existed in the human heart to find the answer to the question, "Is there a life after death?"

This subject should be of interest to everyone, as a completely acceptable answer is of such vital concern not only to our future well being and happiness, but equally to our present sense of security and peace of mind.

There are three positions we can take with reference to this age-old quest, so aptly phrased by the Patriarch Job; "If a man die shall he live again?"

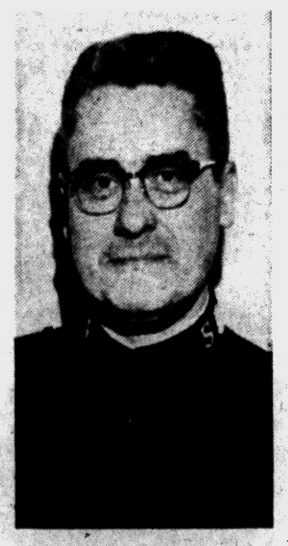

1—Refuse to believe in a Divine Being, thus ruling out the possibility of a hereafter (atheism).

2—Adopt the attitude of uncertainty regarding a Supreme Being, and entertain serious doubts about the existence of life after death (agnosticism).

3—Accept the assurances given in the Holy Bible of God's existence and His plan for mankind with the hope which this conviction inspires of a glorious existence beyond the grave (Christian philosophy).

I take my stand unreservedly with the latter position. The acceptance of the Christian concept with its emphasis on immortality gives meaning and coherence to life.

Chamber Says Happy Birthday

GM's Role in City Lauded at Banquet

By PETE LOCHBILER

General Motors Corporation's role of "good citizen" was traced from Pontiac to the nation's capital by featured speakers before 400 people at the Elks Temple last night.

The giant company's contribution to local and national economy, the leadership it has provided here and in Washington were cited at the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce banquet honoring GM's 50th anniversary.

Glowing tributes to GM were made by City Manager Walter K. Willman; Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, Pontiac superintendent of schools; Rep. William S. Broomfield and John A. Riley, new chamber president.

"Tremendous" was the word used by Willman, the first speaker, to describe the impact on Pontiac of GM's three divisional plants located here.

That description sounded the keynote for the 30-minute tribute that preceded remarks by the evening's main speaker, L. C. Goad, GM executive vice president.

The company's tax contribution (56 per cent of local taxes) was cited as the outstanding reason behind Pontiac's new public buildings, new schools and new neighborhood improvements.

'ECONOMIC CORE'

GM's Pontiac, Fisher Body and Truck & Coach divisions were described as the "economic core of Pontiac" and the surrounding area —providing jobs and payrolls, stimulus for business and services, growth and prosperity.

"The growth of General Motors means the growth of Pontiac," said Willman, paraphrasing a famous saying of GM's former president, C. E. Wilson

Dr. Whitmer mentioned 14 specific examples of how General Motors' contributes to Pontiac schools, over and above its financial contribution.

"Many of us who live here often forget how this great corporation helps make our public school system a better one," he said.

His list of examples ranged from participation by GM leaders in educational programs, industrial relations, and vocational education planning to the gift of Pontiac automobiles for use in driver training classes.

ATTRACTS OTHERS

Riley emphasized that many new businesses, services and light industrial concerns have been attracted to Pontiac because of the presence of the giant automotive plants here.

"The growth of our community and the adjacent area has been directly associated with the development of GM's Pontiac divisions," he said.

He commended the role played by the corporation and its employes in civic endeavors such as the United Fund, hospital drives, boys' clubs, children's camps and other voluntary programs.

The speakers praised GM's leadership in Pontiac civic affairs. It was noted that three of the four outgoing chamber directors, cited last night for their service during the past year, were GM divisional officials.

Broomfield developed this theme into a tribute to the role that GM leaders have played in the nation's affairs.

"I could begin by mentioning the service rendered by Gen. William S. Knudsen during World War II and end by citing the recent service of C. E. Wilson as Secretary of Defense.

"It would take all night to complete the rest of the list of GM executives who have given their time and energies to their country," Broomfield said.

Broomfield told the predominately Pontiac audience that the corporation plays a similarly important part in the affairs of Oakland County, which he represents.

Goad Hits Union Aim of Pay Hike

A top General Motors Corporation executive last night said UAW demands for wage increases this year, if met, would contribute to "further inflation" during the present business recession.

Louis C. Goad, GM executive vice president, attacked what he described as the union's "unpublicized" demands during the present negotiations on a new contract.

Speaking before 400 persons at the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce annual banquet, held this year in honor of GM's fiftieth anniversary, Goad said:

"Wage and fringe benefits increases since 1948 have already averaged more than the increase in productivity, however measured. It is easy to see what effect more increases would have."

Goad told the Elks Temple audience he was not refering to the so-called "profit - sharing" proposal.

"This has received all the publicity," he said, "and the public's attention has been distractd from what the union passes over lightly in its publicity as 'the basic minimum demands' — those concerning wage increases."

Goad's criticism came towards the end of a speech that was mostly concerned with GM accomplishments in the past and its hopes for the future.

He decried the fact the union has said it would ask for "the

The shift makes Khrushchev head of both the Soviet government and the Communist Party and invests him with a power comparable to that of the late Joseph Stalin.

Bulganin, as had been expected, submitted his resignation as premier to a joint session of the two houses of the Supreme Soviet. Bulganin had held the job since February 1955.

Khrushchev's elevation to the premiership was announced to the Parliament by Marshal Klementi Voroshilov, chairman of the Supreme Soviet's Presidium and the equivalent of Soviet president. Voroshilov, 77, had been re-elected to his post a few minutes earlier.

Khrushchev received the action modestly. He stood with bowed head and did not join in the deputies' applause, but when it subsided he responded by clasping his hands above his head in a gesture reminiscent of a pugilist's salute to the crowd.

Then, with a smiling Bulganin seated behind him, Khrushchev moved to the speakers' microphone and told the deputies:

"You have just expressed great confidence in me by your decision and you have done me a great honor. I will do everything to justify your confidence and shall not spare strength, health or life to serve you."

Khrushchev is also first secretary of the party's Central Committee. He now becomes the third man in recent times to hold both top positions in the Soviet Union simultaneously.

The others were Josef Stalin and Georgi Malenkov. Malenkov held the twin posts for less than a month in 1953.

WIDELY EXPECTED

Bulganin's eclipse had been widely expected because of his virtual disappearance from public events since March 16.

Bulganin today appeared at the session of the Council of Nationalities of which he is a member. His face was grave although he smiled at the applause as he entered.

Khrushchev led a group of top officials into the hall as the Council of Union opened its session. With him were the nation's President, Klementi Y. Voroshilov, and its top woman official,

Downtown Area to Be Giant Salesroom

Plan 'You Auto Buy Week'

To restore the public's buying confidence and stimulate local business conditions, Pontiac auto dealers will turn a portion of the downtown area into a giant used-car salesroom tomorrow night.

The dealers are presenting a "You Auto Buy Week."

The kickoff for the campaign will be Saturday morning, Robert B. Oliver, president of the Pontiac Automotive Trade Assn., sponsoring the campaign announced.

More than 100 autos will be sold at bargain prices, some as low as 99 cents.

The autos will be priced and parked on Huron street between Cass avenue and Saginaw street which will be blocked off tomorrow night. Parking meters will be covered at 6 p.m. Friday in this two block area.

The sale actually begins at 8:30 Saturday morning but prospective buyers will be able to select the auto they want Friday night after 9 p.m.

The doors will be unlocked so that whoever remains in the auto all night and is still behind the wheel at 8:30 a.m. will be able to buy it. Salesmen will be identified by the white hats they will wear.

Oliver said this way, "the special event will be conducted on a first come, first served basis."

They include: Matthews-Hargreaves Inc., 34 Mill St.; Pontiac Retail Store, 63 Mt. Clemens St.; Oliver Motor Sales, Inc., 210 Orchard Lake Ave.; Jerome Motor Sales Co., 280 S. Saginaw St.; Cy Owens Inc., 147 S. Saginaw St.; Braid Motor

The campaign will be conducted with the cooperation of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce and Pontiac Retail Merchants Association.

Each of the nine dealers will contribute at least 12 autos to the campaign which will include one new, four "cheapies" and seven other autos.

At 10 a.m. Saturday the autos which have been sold will be replaced and this process will continue until 2 p.m. when the "kick off" sale ends. The campaign will then continue until April 10 at the auto dealer lots.

The slogans: "Crusade For Jobs", "Sales Mean Jobs" and "Buy Something Now" will be carried out throughout the week in retail merchants stores.

Rain, Winds Hit Atlantic Coast, Southeast

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rain and strong winds hit areas along the Atlantic Coast and the Southeast and there were a few wet spots in the West but dry weather prevailed in most other parts of the country today.

The rain belt in the East extended from parts of Georgia and Alabama northward into southern New York state and southern New England. Some snow was mixed with rain and drizzle in parts of central Pennsylvania.

Strong northeasterly winds lashed the southern New England and mid-Atlantic coastal areas. Gusts reached 50 m.p.h. at Atlantic City, N. J., during the night. Small craft warnings were posted for most of the mid and north Atlantic coast.

The early spring storms, however, appeared diminishing and the forecast called for light rain or drizzle from southern New England and New York state southward into the Carolinas.

Police Play Cowboys in Detroit Roundup

DETROIT (INS) — A squad of Detroit policemen played the role of cowboys as they rounded up 31 steers that ran loose for half an hour today.

The steers escaped while being unloaded from a cattle car into a corral along the railroad tracks between the Ford Expressway and Trombley.

The run-away steers remained in a bunch as they wandered down the railroad right away and were herded back by police crews of six Chene Precinct scout cars.

Know the Weather

By E. H. SIMS

Does dew fall? If so, when does it fall?

Dew does not fall, so there is no need to answer the second question. However, dew is an interesting weather element and close observation of it can tell you something about the weather to follow during the day.

Dew collects on surface objects, like blades of grass, and is moisture taken from passing, warmer air. The earth objects which collect it from the air must be colder than the air—so as to condense some of the moisture out of the surrounding air.

Seeing dew, either at night or early morning, is a clear weather indication—though not a foolproof one. The absence of dew tells you that chances are good that rainfall is ahead—sometime in the next twenty-four hours.

Union Pay Bid Hit by Goad

He maintained that the economy, instead, "should stop 'shipping water' in the form of more rounds of wage increases that cause costs to rise faster than productivity.

"The water is gaining on the pumps, and our economy is becoming cost - logged," he said.

"We are now faced with the paradox of a slackening in business activity with a continuing upward trend in the cost-of-living index. Backed by the monopoly power of unions, the pressure of wage costs on prices continues."

Goad saw the current recession as "largely the result of a let - down" in public confidence.

"People seem to have adopted an attitude of 'wait and see.' I attribute this in part to the uncertainties caused on the one hand by efforts to curb inflation and on the other by the pressure of excessive wage increases."

'TAX CUT NEEDED'

He said the economy needs, first of all, action by the government in the form of an across - the - board tax cut, as suggested by GM president Harlow M. Curtice when testifying in Washington two months ago.

"I have no hesitation in saying that the long - term growth potential of our country is impressive," he added.

He listed the UAW's current wage demands in five categories:

1. An across - the - board wage increase on a percentage basis (amount not specified), plus so-called inequity adjustments and an extra wage increase for skilled trades employes.

2. Substantially increased supplemental unemployment benefit payments and increased employer contributions to the fund on a percentage of payroll basis.

3. A 22 per cent increase in pension benefits, plus a cost - of - living escalator clause for pensioners.

4. Insurance coverage for all doctor and hospital bills.

5. Numerous so-called non-monetary demands, "many of which would result in substantially increased operating costs."

He continued:

"If the union is as genuinely interested in the national welfare as it claims to be, a most constructive step would be for it to accept the suggestion made by Mr. Curtice that the present agreement be extended for another two years.

'WOULD AID ECONOMY'

"This would have a most salutary effect on the present state of the national economy. It would also tend to assure continued progress over the longer term."

Goad dealt briefly with the proposal for profit-sharing. "It's another attempt to move in on management, this time clothed in the chemise look," he said.

As interpreted by management, he said, profit - sharing is another form of incentive pay, "to which ironically, the union historically has always been opposed."

He claimed union figures and talk about productivity have been "fuzzy."

Quoting the union as saying its workers "must catch up with productivity," Goad at the same time figured that GM hourly earnings over the past ten years have increased 49 per cent over the rise in the cost of living.

During the rest of his speech, Goad talked about the profit system, General Motors' growth, and technological advancement.

He said the competitive profit system lay at the heart of General Motors' success.

The desire of stockholders to make a profit, he said, was "ultimately responsible for changing the automobile from a luxury product to the necessity we consider it today."

He said technological progress "is the only means I know of to assure a continuing increase in abundance."

Saying that the corporation is determined to advance technologically, Goad took another swing at the UAW by pointing out that research "can only be financed out of capital accumulated "primarily from business earnings that are available for reinvestment."

U.S. Plans Up to 5 Attempts

Hopes to Reach Moon Vicinity

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States said today it will make up to five attempts to send unmanned space vehicles to the vicinity of the moon.

The White House and Defense Department issued separate announcements.

Secretary of Defense McElroy said that with President Eisenhower's approval the Pentagon's Advanced Research Projects Agency will proceed with several programs for launching a number of small, unmanned space vehicles.

An initial allocation of about eight million dollars has been made to start the space program.

The administration thus moved to follow up Eisenhower's statement last night that studies of outer space can provide benefits for the world's people and their children.

McElroy said Roy W. Johnson, ARPA director, is issuing instructions to the Army, Air Force and Navy to undertake the new programs.

The Pentagon announcement said:

"The programs authorized include both scientific earth satellites and efforts to determine our capability of exploring space in the vicinity of the moon, to obtain useful data concerning the moon, and provide a close look at the moon. In technical terms these programs are called 'lunar probes.'

"Authority to undertake one, and possibly two, lunar probes was given the Army's Ballistic Agency at Huntsville, Ala. ABMA was also authorized to launch two and possibly three earth satellites. Modified Jupiter-C rockets will be used in these projects.

"A program calling for three lunar probs was assigned to the Air Force Ballistic Missile Division (BMD), Los Angeles, Calif. BMD will use a Thor-Vanguard system with a third stage to be developed.

"Meanwhile, the Naval Ordnance Test Station at Inyokern, Calif., was ordered to develop a mechanical ground scanning system for use, when available, in lunar probes."

A Defense Department spokesman said the present intention is not specifically to hit the moon but "it is possible that one of these vehicles could hit it."

Drop Drinking Charges Against 31 in City Court

Illegal drinking charges against 31 persons, including 24 minors were dismissed in Pontiac Municipal Court yesterday.

The action was taken on motion of Assistant City Attorney Sherwin Birnkrant who said there was not enough evidence of wrongdoing to warrant prosecution.

Of the 31 arrested on March 21, seven men were charged with furnishing beer to minors. The 24 youths were charged with being in possession of beer.

The adults released were: William Colyer, 24, of 1003 Mt. Clemens St.; Harold Russell, 21, of 465 E. Third St.; Richard Cramer, 24, of 95 E. State Proposes to Widen M24

Asks City Pay $20,000 Toward Cost of Project to Create Jobs

To help relieve unemployment in the Pontiac area, the State Highway Department has announced it will repave and widen Opdyke road (M24) from Square Lake road to Walton boulevard at a total cost of $160,000, if the city will participate in one - eighth of the bill.

A highway department spokesman said the job would begin as soon as possible, possibly in May if the weather permits.

The City Commission will be asked Tuesday to consider setting aside $20,000 out of capital improvement funds as the city's share of the project, City Manager Walter K. Willman said.

The highway department said the project would involve 2.78 miles of repaving. The present road would be widened from 20 to 24 feet.

Willman determined today that the construction would not be eligible for federal aid, which would have put the city's share in the cost at one-sixteenth of the total, or $10,000.

R. E. Dibble, assistant to the highway department's chief engineer, said that construction hinges on the city's willingness to participate in the financing.

"We are willing to advance the project for early construction in an effort to relieve unemployment in the Pontiac area," he said. "If the city approves the $20,000 Tuesday, we might be able to advertise for bids next week."

The Opdyke project is one of many throughout the state that the highway department is proposing to offset unemployment, Dibble said. It had not been previously listed on the department's schedule of new construction.

Dean's Service Station Loses $90 in Break-In

Dean's Service Station, Pontiac Lake Road and M59 Waterford Township, was broken into last night and approximately $90 was taken.

Owner Dean Chew told Waterford Township Police his station has been robbed four times in the past year. Entrance was gained by breaking a window in the rear door, and a night light had been turned off.

The Day in Birmingham

Plan Two Committees for Proposed High School

BIRMINGHAM — Two committees from the Citizens Committee on Education will be established to work with the Birmingham Board of Education and PTA Council during the planning and construction of the district's new Junior-Senior High School, it was announced today.

Approved by the Board of Education and the PTA Council, the committees will be known as the Plans Review Committee and the Public Relations Committee.

The first group will work closely with the board and architects on the review of educational and construction specifications for the new school. Its members will attend all meetings of the board and the Central School Administration with the architects, and will review both sets of specifications for the school.

It will make recommendations to the board on improvements and changes in the plans to meet the thinking of the PTA Council and the Citizens Committee on Education.

The Public Relations Committee will have the responsibility of keeping parents and taxpayers informed on the program and planning of the school and its construction. It also will attend board meetings with the architects.

Ernest W. Seaholm of 1587 Fairway, Birmingham, has been named chairman of the Plans and Review Group while Walter Piel, principal of the Pierce School heads the publicity committee.

The new pool at Birmingham High School will be the scene of the "Wizard of Oz," a water ballet being staged by the Aqua-Belles of the Girl's Athletic Association. Two performances will be given Friday and Saturday evenings, starting at 8 p.m.

The "auditorium" at the pool will seat about 700, and directors are anticipating a sell-out for each evening. The production has been in charge of Sally Reid, Barbara Emerald City trio of Dollie DeStephenson and Judie Stevenson, members of the high school teaching staff.

Miss Stephenson said the cast will include 83 swimmers, 12 "on shore" stars and have a crew of 15 working on props and scenery.

A special number will star Sue Roseberry. Other features will be a water duet starring Sue Leahy and Carol Williams, and the Emerald City trio of Dollie DeJongh, Judy Austin and Jane McKinley.

The public has been invited to the initiation ceremonies of Charles Edwards Post 14, American Legion, at Torry School Friday at 8 p.m.

Mayor Howard S. Kelley of Royal Oak will be the guest speaker. The Birmingham High School Band will supply the musical portion of the program.

"Spectator or Participant?" will be the topic for the discussion group of the Senior Men's Club when it meets Friday at the Community House.

Te formal program will be a talk on "Geriatrics" by Donald Albert of Wayne State University.

British Press Guesses as Meg Sees Townsend

LONDON (AP) — The rest of the world took second place in the British press today to the heart-throbbing news of Princess Margaret's reunion with her former suitor Peter Townsend.

But only one newspaper came right out and said there might be a revival of the romance. The Daily Mail, which has been publishing Townsend's accounts of his just-ended trip around the world, said the handsome war hero might still be hoping to marry the Queen's sister.

The theme of most newspapers was "Together Again," with the Daily Mirror asking, "Is it good-bye — again?" Interest was so strong that the Times, which had ignored the romance almost until the princess put royal duty before love, published a prim 250-word account of the meeting on a secondary page.

The 27-year-old princess and the commoner met for almost three hours at teatime at Clarence House, the stately mansion near Buckingham Palace which Margaret shares with Queen Mother Elizabeth. Afterward the princess went to a movie premiere and Townsend spent the night in the apartment where he is staying.

Many Steps Involved in Marketing Produce

DENVER —Between a dozen and two dozen different operations are often involved in marketing a fresh fruit or vegetable.

These include cooling after harvesting, cleaning, sorting, grading, trimming, packing, storing, loading and refrigerating or warming during shipment. The produce may be unloaded and again stored at terminal facilities, then delivered to retailers, where it must be prepared — sometimes repackaged — for display and sale.

Angry Robbers Take Every Bit of Clothing

CLEVELAND (INS)—Forty-two-year-old Henry Nowak of Cleveland was surprised when he answered a knock at his side door and found Zygmund Zabielski, 41, standing there, stark naked.

Zabielski told Nowak that two robbers had accosted him and became angry when they found he had only one penny in his pocket. For "revenge" they took all of his clothes and left him wearing only a handkerchief blindfold.

Two Persons Killed in Car-Truck Collision

KALAMAZOO (AP) — Two men were killed when their car and a truck collided on US. 131, nine miles west of here last night.

Dead are the car's driver, Lester M. Jones, 41, of Fulton, and Clarence Peters, 44, of Kalamazoo, a passenger.

Built Just for Two

LONDON (INS) — British boat builders have designed a new, strictly two-person cabin cruiser for honeymooners.

Miracle Man Takes Title Fifth Time

Who said he was "over the hill" agewise and could not come back?

SUGAR RAY ROBINSON stands alone as the "miracle man" of boxing. There is no other fighter living or dead that has come back four times to regain a title.

At the ripe old age of 37 which is well beyond the peak for most athletes, Sugar Ray Robinson has demonstrated what a fighting heart can do. That old sports adage "they never come back" is not a part of the new middleweight champion's makeup.

Whether he bows out now as champion is a decision he alone will have to make. But to the boxing gentry he will long remain as one of the all time stalwarts in a rugged business.

ROBINSON'S brilliant career is not only a credit to his race but it will long remain an inspiration to others.

ICA Director Smith Does His Homework

No one could argue that there has been no waste nor bungling in our vast mutual aid and security programs and the new director of the International Co-operation Administration (ICA) has replied to charges of mismanagement.

While previous administrators have ignored rumors of ridiculous projects and outrageous expenditures, Director JAMES H. SMITH Jr. after careful investigation, has given the House Foreign Affairs Committee the facts as to some of the more absurd charges.

No iceboxes or anything else have gone to Eskimos from ICA; Greek undertakers didn't get dress suits but Greek soldiers received shoes; ICA did build public baths in Egypt, not for camel drivers solely, but as a means of controlling disease. As to grass planting along roadsides in Lebanon, that was done for erosion control; a private charity, not ICA, sponsored a knitting school in Korea to aid war widows.

In commenting on Director SMITH'S sworn testimony, the Milwaukee Journal says that "he believes deeply in the program . . . he doesn't try to soft talk or double talk Congressmen . . . he does his homework . . . he gives them the facts."

Director Smith's refreshing candor makes us think that he will be a watchful administrator of this huge foreign aid program. No doubt there'll be some changes made.

Spain Hopes for Voice in European Defense

There is a small bit of good news in the possibility that some arrangement may be made between Britain and Spain for defense of the Strait of Gibraltar.

Spanish resentment over British control of the strait is giving way to a more balanced view for at least two reasons. One is mounting Moroccan hostility toward Spain due to a desire to be free to join a future federation of Tunisia, Algeria and Morocco. Secondly, Spanish control of an enclave in North Morocco opposite Gibraltar could give Spain a voice in Western defense planning.

U.S. air bases in Spain are 80 per cent completed. They include an air base near Madrid, a supply base near Seville, an air and sea base at Rota and a 485 mile underground fuel pipeline linking the bases. Total cost will be $340 million.

For the privilege of building these bases in Spain, the U.S. has given FRANCO $650 million in military assistance and defense support and another $264 million in economic aid to help build dams, factories, highways and housing. Spain is the only Western European country still receiving direct grants of U.S. economic aid. But FRANCO now wants more. He says these bases make his country more vulnerable to attack.

Leaders in Spain feel that its anti-Communist ideology should make it a member of NATO. Spain also controls territories strategically important to that defense organization. Politically, of course, Spain is a dictatorship, but so is Portugal, a NATO ally.

If Britain and Spain should settle their differences over Gibraltar, there's a possibility that Spain may be invited to join NATO.

The Man About Town

Smooth, Bumpy

Railroad Crossings in This City Both Good and Bad

Deserve: What many of us do not get—for which some should be thankful.

Every auto driver wonders why the going is so smooth over some paved railroad crossings and so bumpy over others. A check with upper maintenance men of the railroad shows that all should be smooth, if the crossing is on a level grade.

Pontiac crossings show a great variance. Those on South Saginaw St. are quite smooth, while there are plenty of bumps at Oakland Ave. The seven tracks that cross Cass Ave. are general bone shakers, but West Huron St. offers little cause for complaint.

Crossings on Baldwin Ave., South and East Boulevards, Sanford St. and Montcalm St. might be better. Bagley St. and Johnson Ave. are quite good, and you hardly know you're going over that on Opdyke Road.

Two crossings on Walton Boulevard are a paradox. Only a few feet apart, one's as smooth as silk and the other's a tooth loosener. Most of the others in the city offer a fairly good transfer.

According to a nationwide survey, is a hot one. While consumption of the beverage is increasing, the number of breweries has dropped from 750 to 225 in the last 20 years.

"The Battle of the Beers"

The automobile and other modern inventions drove out the old blacksmith shop, whose main income came from the shoeing of horses. But the riding fad is bringing it back. I know of four started recently in the Pontiac area.

of Michigan State University, just get word to his secretary that you're from Pontiac, and see how quickly he gets to you. I've found it so.

'Twas less than 30 years ago that we thought we were to get a $300 million auto toll road between Pontiac and Detroit, built over the railroad. It was to be completed "within two years."

In my humble judgment, this man knows his stuff when it comes to welfare relief. And he says human nature never changes with the years, nor with good or bad times.

Easy Pickings

David Lawrence Says:

Ike Resisting Political Expediency

WASHINGTON — It takes courage for a president of the United States to resist the temptations of political expediency. President Eisenhower could become a "hero" overnight to groups that want him to slash taxes, fix higher farm prices, or rush into the "summit" conference sought by the Soviet rulers.

LAWRENCE

But the President refuses to follow surface opinion. He prefers to take the sound course, which involves perhaps temporary political disadvantage but saves the country from financial or economic disaster later on when the full effect of short-range stimulants wears off.

VETO FORTHCOMING

The President has been urged by members of his own party—who come from districts where certain types of farm legislation are politically popular—to sign the bill that fixes dairy prices. But a veto is forthcoming, and it takes plenty of fortitude to withstand the pressure to sign the measure and help certain Republican congressmen to get re-elected.

President Eisenhower doesn't just "follow the crowd" with respect to tax legislation either. He told his press conference yesterday that "there are many factors that would imply that the bottom (of the recession) is certainly close, or possibly even now reached" and that his own feeling is that "we are going through the worst of it right now."

While giving assurance that "we are going to do those things we think should be done" on a tax cut, he emphasized that this "is not something to be done lightly." He added that "we are not going into a tax cut or any other—what we believe to be unwise program—that can hurt us badly in the future."

POLITICIANS PANICKY

This is a piece of sound statesmanship which is all the more admirable because so many politicians have become panicky and have begun demanding all sorts of tax cuts irrespective of the effect on the federal treasury. The President made it clear that he isn't ruling out a tax cut of some kind if the situation really requires it, but he left no doubt that his decision is going to be made on the basis of the economic facts and not by succumbing to political temptation.

When will these facts become available? If, as the President says, right now is the period when the country is riding along the bottom of the slump, there should be some further indication of how much of a stabilized trend has been achieved after the statistics, ready in mid-April, show what actually happened during the month of March.

It is apparent that President Eisenhower is somewhat concerned about the widespread talk of a repeal of the excise taxes. This is something which has been advocated as a means of boosting automobile sales, which have slowed down in recent weeks. But the President would not commit himself on this issue beyond saying that people should buy products on the basis of what they are worth and when they believe they are getting a bargain rather than worry about the possibility that later on the articles might be a little cheaper.

Undoubtedly any reduction in auto prices would help sales somewhat, but it is questionable whether the relatively small amounts involved in the excise taxes alone would induce persons who feel they don't need or cannot afford a new automobile to buy one just because the price is a little lower.

What will stimulate automobile sales more than anything else is a feeling of confidence among people who really need and want to buy a new auto but who have become uncertain about the future of their jobs in a recession period.

A wave of optimism concerning this outlook, based on the belief that steady work at the same or higher income is in prospect, will do more to sell new cars than a revision of excise taxes that is made without some manifestation of general improvement in the economy.

To legislate a cut in income taxes generally would mean a large loss in revenue to the treasury, and this, on top of the expected deficit due to increased defense spending and other recovery measures, could scare the American people because of the fear that more inflation would bring a further depreciation in the purchasing power of the dollar.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Bronchiectatic Should Try Non-Surgical Drainage

Chronic bronchitis, the "winter cough" of elderly persons, is bad enough, but bronchiectasis is worse.

Bronchiectasis is dilatation or ballooning of bronchial tubes, so that cavities form in which sputum collects and is very difficult to expel by coughing.

DR. BRADY

In ordinary chronic bronchitis, the patient generally coughs more or less day and night, perhaps having a harder coughing spell in the early morning. The patient with bronchiectasis may pass the greater part of the day with little or no coughing and then, in a severe coughing spell, sometimes upon going to bed, more frequently early in the morning, brings up a large quantity of sputum, perhaps half a pint or a pint.

Lung surgery is the best treatment in some cases of bronchiectasis, but before surgery is considered the patient should have the benefit of a fair trial of non-surgical drainage of the bronchiectatic cavity.

For the best effect, non-surgical drainage should be practiced at regular two or three hour intervals in the day, and always early each morning and late each night.

Early in the course of the disease, postural drainage for a few minutes every two or three hours may effect symptomatic relief which approximates a cure.

The easiest postural drainage of bronchiectatic cavity is by lying prone across the bed on waking in the morning, and resting your forearms on the floor. Remain in this posture for five minutes every morning, and take the same posture for two or three minutes every two or three hours through the day.

Or stand on your head for a minute or two. Or hang by your knees for a minute. Or take the knee-chest position for a few minutes several times a day. It doesn't matter how you invert so long as you keep hip level well above shoulder level.

One with bronchiectasis can scarcely realize how much good a few minutes of inversion every two or three hours can do, until he or she tries it for a few weeks.

The bronchiectatic who has not had the advantage of non-surgical drainage has not had proper treatment.

Horace gives us some interesting data that all newspaper promotion men might stress more fully. For the educational benefits of the daily newspaper save you subscribers hundreds of dollars in unnecessary medical pills. By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case X-364: Horace G., aged 35, is a high school principal.

DR. CRANE

Dr. Crane, I have always been a worry wart about my health," he admitted, sheepishly.

"My wife used to laugh at me about my slavery to pills and other medicines, for I always had our medicine cabinet full of such things.

"And I would develop all the symptoms of the various ailments being described in the medical column of our newspaper.

"Then I sent for two of your booklets. They may not seem, on the surface, to have had a bearing on my case.

"For one of them was the 'Compliment Club' and the other was 'Sex Problems in Marriage.'

"But paying daily compliments turned my attention off my epidermus. And the sex booklet cleared up some misapprehensions that had worried me since adolescence.

"So I save probably 10 times the cost of my daily newspaper in the medicines I no longer need. What do you think of that?"

Well, I think millions of Americans could duplicate Horace's case if they would follow his simple prescription.

And I cite his true case to show you that your daily newspaper wields a very constructive and more far-reaching influence in your community than many of you imagine.

Literally millions of you readers of this column in your large newspaper, have written to me for advice and booklets. The usual mail input averages five per cent of the total circulation per year.

Worry warts have thus been given a wider horizon and a positive outlook so they no longer are constantly fearful of their medical condition.

Thousands of marriages that were on the verge of divorce, have been straightened out so the youngsters in those homes now have happy parents and the security of an unbroken home.

And thousands of boys and girls who would have quit school before getting a diploma, have written that they stayed in school, or actually went back to high school after dropping out, just because of the arguments for school attendance which they have read herein.

In the brief space allotted to me each day, I have not been able to give you but a small fraction of the wide variety of cases from my office practice.

I simply pick those which I have found are most typical of your own problems in other cities all over America.

"Dr. Crane," you wives will often comment, "your case yesterday was an exact duplicate of my own problem. In fact, my husband cut it out and laid it beside my plate at the dinner table."

VICARIOUS TREATMENT

The purpose in having this clinical column in your newspaper is to permit you to see your own case described herein as I analyze an identical patient that has come into my office.

Then, as I diagnose this office case, you can vicariously obtain the same helpful counsel and remedy your difficulty right there in your own home.

That idea of "vicarious benefits" underlies our whole theory of the public school system.

For we try to help the current generation avoid the blunders of the past by giving them the "case method" so they can analyze problems and remedy them, before they themselves get into trouble.

So be grateful America has such a great educational agency as the newspapers, which teach you vital facts ALL your life. Even if they cost 25 cents per copy, they'd be worth the price!

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Today's Faulty Education Can Be Blamed on Adults

Parents and senior citizens are responsible for lack of fundamental education attained by our young people. Classical subjects are and always have been available, but few register for them. Getting by with a minimum of thinking and academic work has been condoned by many parents. We must incite and excite our children to learn. All aren't scientists, but all should have basic knowledge.

Except in rare cases, one gets what he expects from a child. If adults haven't set high standards, they'll receive little more. A youth should be expected to work to his mental and physical capabilities.

The cry is for better education and personnel, but many school systems try to economize on teachers' salaries. What good are new schools without good teachers? The biggest loss of teachers is in the sixth or seventh year when they realize the public doesn't put a dear price tag on their services, so they turn to industry. Teaching is one profession which penalizes a person for experience.

School boards are made up of interested, conscientious persons but the majority has insufficient educational or financial background. Schools have become big business and no business would hire an inexperienced comptroller. Schools need trained business managers to leave superintendents free for personnel and educational problems.

Certainly in years since World War II we have witnessed the results of John Dewey's philosophy and the whole ridiculous system of training and education he instigated. 'No Difference in Creed, Deed'

The difference between my creed and what I practice is not obvious as B. J. states, because no difference exists.

There's a vast difference, however, between preventing children by setting God's natural laws in operation yet frustrating their effects, and simply omitting to have children. No one is obliged to set the natural productive laws in operation. So, too, the obligation to pay bills isn't violated by the man who has no bills. I may omit creditors, but if I have them, I must not prevent them from receiving what is due them.

Regarding our birth rate compared to other countries, our population has increased something like 35 million the past 15 years, but it isn't due to people like B. J. The attempt to pull everyone down to his or her level is the act of a frustrated person. Misery loves company.

'This May Be Original Sin'

We're all self-righteous. When the parent reprimands his young son for pulling the cat's tail, he explains tearfully he was only holding it, the cat did the pulling.

The deeply rooted need to blame someone else or to explain away acts we're unwilling to admit begins early in life, and can be traced back to the origin of the race. When Adam was caught eating the forbidden apple he said it was Eve's fault. Eve wasn't going to be trapped so she blamed it on a poor serpent that couldn't talk back.

Hitler believed he was right, so did Wilkes Booth, Nero, Stalin and countless others. Perhaps the real original sin was when Adam opened his mouth to explain why he did it.

Both on Top of Film World Today

Guinness Disliked His Role; Actress Remained Aloof

(This is the first of three articles tracing the life and career of Alec Guinness, who won an "Oscar" for his potrayal of the colonel in "The Bridge on the River Kwai.")

By ALLEN R. DODD JR.

LONDON (INS) —Alec Guinness, a bald, publicity shy, 43-year-old Briton, was not happy with the role of Colonel Nicholson in "The Bridge on the River Kwai" before he played it, and he wasn't happy with at least one repercussion of his award - winning portrayal.

His reactions in both cases provide some insight into the man and his attitude toward his career and his profession.

DISLIKED ROLE

Guinness didn't want to play the role, because, as he explained, "The colonel is a completely humorless man." Such people do exist, but Guinness was afraid he might inject some humor into the part and end up mocking it.

What depressed him after the release of the film was the fact that "I received two offers to play dotty lieutenant colonels."

Guinness has a profound respect for his profession, a respect he nourished during years when he was living on little more than some people spend on cigarettes.

He has an equally deep determination not to be "typed" as an actor on stage or before the cameras, and not to be "peddled" to the public as an actor through the usual publicity techniques of show business.

Guinness answers virtually all requests for publicity — regardless of how glowing the promises — with the polite but firm statement:

"My home is my own."

But despite this attitude, he is one of the few international stars to emerge from British films since the end of the war — a considerable feat in a sick industry that is harassed by heavy taxes and falling admissions and in no apparent position to sell anyone to the world.

He has accomplished the feat for a simple, but relatively rare, reason: He is a superb professional actor.

American audiences tend to think of Guinness primarily as a comedian because he first came to their attention in such films as "Kind Hearts And Coronets" and "The Lavender Hill Mob."

Thus, his role in the "River Kwai" was considered by many a departure, and his dramatic talents as a "discovery." It seemed the clown had decided to play hamlet.

But the truth is, Hamlet had been playing the clown.

Before Guinness burst on the screen as eight different characters in "Kind Hearts" back in 1949, he had spent quite a few years in that citadel of classic drama, the Old Vic Theater.

Guinness' ability to switch from the stage to the movies, from drama to comedy and back again is a tribute to the years he spent developing his skills. It is also a fitting answer to the judgment of a schoolmaster who, after young Alec had tried for a part in a school play and failed, told him:

"You'll never make an actor."

(Tomorrow: Guinness' first break — at $14 a week).

(Hollywood is the land where all dreams come true—except the ones you don't hear about. The dream came true last night for Joanne Woodward, a 28-year-old actress who hit the jackpot—the Academy Award —in her first starring role. Here is the first of three articles on her overnight success.)

By LEE BELSER

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Joanne Woodward, the girl who said she didn't care a tinker's darn if she won an Academy Award, burst into tears last night as she was handed a golden Oscar, symbol of Hollywood's highest accolade.

And then she added:

"I guess I cared more than I thought I did."

Joanne, who won the statuette for her remarkable performance as the girl with the multiple personality in "The Three Faces of Eve"—her first starring role—is the expatriated New York TV and stage actress who once declared:

"If I had a lot of respect for the people who think I gave the best performance of the year, then it would matter."

But after the awards show she walked through a battery of newsreel cameramen and reporters and said:

"I guess it's pretty obvious that I don't feel that way any more."

FEMALE BRANDO

The 28-year-old actress, sometimes called the female Marlon Brando because of her nonconformist ways, hails from Thomasville, Ga. where she learned to act at the age of three. She was bumped by a car and sustained nothing worse than a banged-up knee.

"I wasn't hurt," she recalled, "but I carried on like Sarah Bernhardt and the poor woman who ran me down kept bringing ice cream and soda pop. I guess I learned early to play it to the hilt."

After that it was mostly clear sailing for the taffy-haired baby thespian. She was only nine when she made her stage debut as a 40-year-old nun in a children's theater production of "Comedy of Errors."

The came a series of grade and high school plays and finally little Joanne blossomed out as the fair Ophelia in "Hamlet" at Louisiana State University.

"I was terrible," she said. "Who ever heard of Ophelia with a southern accent?"

Eventually Joanne persuaded her parents to let her try her luck in New York after she flopped as a $25-a-week secretary in a Greenville, S.C. real estate office because she misplaced a $50 check.

In Gotham, she found the big town not only was unaware of her existence but completely uncooperative about giving her a job.

"For a year I lived on $60 a month," she said, "sharing a cold water flat with another girl. I ate hot dogs and coffee for breakfast. It cost about 15 cents and who eats lunch?"

Joane finally got a crack at the big time in a Robert Mongomery TV show. Then came Omnibus, a long line of TV, a couple of legit plays—and finally Hollywood.

Twentieth Century Fox, impressed by her TV and stage activities, put her under long-term contract and promptly offered her one role after another. She turned them all down.

Her constant demand for off-beat casting earned her the title of "The Girl of a Thousand Faces," and it's true that Joanne is difficult to recognize in some of her roles.

Naturally, when Fox offered her "The Three Faces of Eve" it was grist for the off-beat mill.

"Why I got the role, I'll never know," the actress said. "They wanted at least 1500 other people to do it, including Judy Garland and Carroll Baker.

"The thing that tickled my sense of humor in this transaction was the fact that this time when I arrived in Hollywood, I was met at the train by a limousine.

"The first time not only did no one know I had arrived, but it was Thanksgiving, and I spent it alone eating cold-storage turkey at a lunch counter on the Sunset Strip."

(Tomorrow: Oscar winner in a homemade dress.)

As Racket Probers Indict Hoffa

Kennedy Achieves Goal

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS

A young, shy-looking millionaire from Boston has accomplished once more what he set out to do—show that Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa "runs a hoodlum empire."

Such victories, working with Congress or working in politics, are not new for Robert F. Kennedy, 32-year-old chief counsel for the select committee to investigate labor-management corruption.

For his age, he has a record of unusual achievement, from managing the campaign that elected his brother, John Kennedy (D-Mass) to the Senate, to a brief hour in the Washington spotlight during the sensational Army-McCarthy hearings of 1954.

The Boston lawyer with six children and an unruly head of hair has been a major reason for the success of the Senate Rackets Committee, and the indictment it issued yesterday.

Kennedy is the son of former U. S. Ambassador to Britain Joseph P. Kennedy, a multi-millionaire financier.

But young Kennedy has never been content to live on his family money.

At 18, in the late days of World War II, he entered the U. S. Navy as a seaman. He later served aboard the USS Joseph P. Kennedy Jr., a destroyer named for his eldest brother, a Navy pilot killed during the war.

After military service, he entered Harvard College, where he played varsity football in 1946 and 1947. In 1951, he was graduated from the University of Virginia Law School.

He joined the Justice Department as an attorney in the Criminal Division in 1951, then under Attorney General J. Howard McGrath.

In 1952, he left to run the successful senatorial campaign of brother John, then a congressman.

Early last year, he began work as chief counsel to the Rackets Committee and the close confidant of its chairman, Sen. John McClellan (D-Ark). The young lawyer and the senator first worked together when Kennedy was counsel to the minority Democrats during the Army-McCarthy hearings.

One of nine children, he received a million dollars from his father when he turned 21, as did the other surviving Kennedys. He is married to the former Ethel Skakel of Greenwich, Conn.

'Belief in Heaven Vital to Well-Being'

be a brief, short-lived existence into something that has the promise of a rich and full maturity.

My belief in this respect is based on the nature of man, the character of God and the experience and teachings of Christ.

Man has moral attributes which differentiate him from the brute. He is ruled by moral ideals; he feels the constraint of duty; he is subject to moral law.

Ideals have been set before him which he cannot attain in a single lifetime; therefore, he must have all eternity before him to work out these ideals which in themselves are prophetic of eternity.

Plato based his hope of a future life on what he knew of human nature. The saints of the Old Testament based their hope of immortality on what they knew of the character of God.

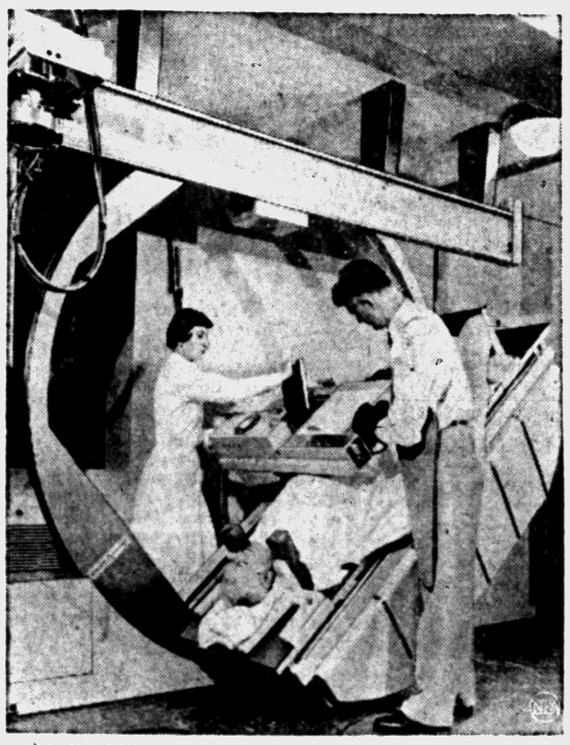

If the Christian religion means anything, it is that God condescends to love men and call them His friends. Jesus was always emphasizing the reality of the relationship between God and man.

The mere fact that God makes men his friends is a pledge of immortality; through death and beyond, the happy relationship abides.

Jesus' own experience and His teachings are conclusive proof of life hereafter. It is an historic fact that Jesus died and rose from the dead.

His resurrection is not a dream, nor is it fancy. It is not a myth, which has persisted through the centuries, but a sober historic fact which converts promise into assurance; the assurance that because He lives, we, too, shall live.

"If a man die shall he live again?" The answer comes to me "Let not your heart be troubled. In my Father's house are many mansions; if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you, that where I am, there ye may be also."

ROCK-A-BYE PATIENT — It's out of the nursery and into the hospital for the "rock-a-bye." At least that's true for some stomach ulcer patients who will receive a gentle rocking on this X-ray examination table designed by General Electric. For some examinations of this disorder the patient is rolled and tilted in a variety of positions. This allows the radiologist to see the barium, swallowed by the patient, as it flows from one part of the stomach to the other. Dr. Richard Schatzki, radiologist of Brookline, Mass., writing in Your Radiologist magazine, says, "gentle rocking of the patient will bring the proper amount of coating over the area desired and leave the ulcer filled with barium."

Now Congress Must Decide on $600 Million Proposal

ABCs on President Eisenhower's Jobless Pay Plan

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — This is an A-B-C on President Eisenhower's proposal — sent to Congress yesterday —to extend the jobless pay of people who have used up all the unemployment insurance they're entitled to.

The number of weeks states pay benefits to their unemployed vary; so do the payments.

To relieve the hardship on the many thousands who have used or will use up their maximum number of weeks, Eisenhower proposes extending the number of weeks for them in all states by 50 per cent.

For example: a man who drew $25 a week in a state with a maximum of 26 weeks, would, if he had used up his 26 weeks, continue to draw $25 for another 13 weeks.

Eisenhower asked Congress to vote 600 million dollars for this, with the program to last until April 1, 1959. Complications begin right here. To understand why, look at the system as it works now:

Employers now, to provide money for the insurance fund, pay a tax on the first $3,000 of their employes' wages. The federal tax is three tenths of 1 per cent. The state tax varies by states, from practically zero up to 2.7 per cent.

The federal government uses its tax to administer the program. But the tax each state collects goes into its own individual fund. It draws on its fund to pay benefits to its own jobless people.

The 600 million dollars—as outlined by the administration — would not be a gift to the states but a loan. Eisenhower suggests that the states enter into agreements with the federal government to get from the special fund what they need to extend the UI payments of those unemployed who have exhausted their benefits.

But, if the states don't want to agree, then Eisenhower suggests the federal government set up its own machinery in those unwilling states and draw on the 600 millions to extend the payments anyhow.

How would it be paid back? Eisenhower suggests this:

If, at the end of four years a state on its own had not paid back what the federal government had put up, then the federal tax on its employers would go up until full repayment was made.

But a state, to save its employers from the higher tax, could do this:

Its legislature—any time before those four years were up—could meet and vote to repay the federal government either out of that state's own treasury or out of its unemployment insurance reserve fund.

Since employers almost certainly fight any added tax on themselves, the natural thing for them to do would be to pressure their state legislatures to make the repayment one way or the other.

Employer groups likewise may try to pressure Congress not to approve Eisenhower's plan from the start.

Many states now have so much money in their reserve funds that they could afford — if they wanted to — to extend their weeks of jobless pay.

Since they have preferred not to, some state governors will not be happy about the 600 millions Eisenhower proposes since it will have to be paid back. The governors would have accepted the money more readily if it were a grant, or gift.

But Eisenhower would have run into some criticism if he had suggested giving the states a gift of 600 millions. So the plan he proposed is a compromise.

SCORES A FIRST — This super-Schmidt Meteor camera, for years a favorite of astronomers, scored an epic first this week as it successfully photographed the tiny Vanguard satellite. Charles Tougas, director of the Organ Pass station near Las Cruces, N. M., adjusts the mechanism. The camera is operated in a "trading" arrangement between Harvard University and the Smithsonian Institute.

1.5 Billion Pencils Made

NEW YORK — American manufacturers produced 1½ billion lead pencils in 1956—nearly $34,000,000 worth. This was about twice the value of those produced in 1941.

Women Eager for Motherhood

Kinsey Report Indicates Fewer Modern Wives Fear Pregnancy

NEW YORK (INS) — The latest Kinsey report indicates that today's young wives are more eager to have children than their mothers or possibly even their grandmothers were.

A summary of the report published in the April issue of a national magazine says that while nearly one out of four married women in the United States undergoes an abortion, the rate is declining among modern wives.

"Today's young wives," the summary declares, "are having far fewer abortions than did their mothers at the same age . . . and may even wind up with a better record than their grandmothers."

It comes to the conclusion that young American wives of today's generation are "the most eager for motherhood of any our nation has seen in years.

They are not afraid to get pregnant, and they have less to do with abortionists than any preceding generation."

The report, third to be issued since 1948 by the Institute for Sex Research at Indiana University, is called "Pregnancy, birth and abortion." It will be published May 14, but the magazine bought the right to print a summary, the first half of which appeared last month.

It reported that a Kinsey Institute survey of more than 5,000 women — most of them upper-class white protestants from the northeast — found that 10 per cent became pregnant before marriage and eight per cent underwent premartial abortions.

Shrimp Boat Nets 1,000-Pound Bomb

PORT ISABEL, Tex. (AP) — The crew of the shrimp boat "Frances H." found a 1,000-pound bomb without fuse or tail fins in their nets while fishing about 40 miles northeast of here. They turned it over to the Navy.

Cmdr. C. D. Huston, commanding officer of the Naval Auxiliary Air Station, said the bomb was about 4½ feet long and resembled a regular U.S. 1,000-pound bomb.

"There is no reason to assume that it isn't," he said.

Complains of Aches; Finds He's Been Shot

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)— Determined to learn the cause of a persistent stomach ache, Ernest Miranda went to the doctor and learned he had been shot 11 days ago.

An X-ray disclosd a small-caliber bullet had entered his abdomen. Deputy Sheriff William H. Russell said Miranda told him he had the pain since March 15 when his mother found him unconscious in the yard of his home. His last previous recollection was drinking in a tavern the night before, Russell said.

The doctor decided the bullet was not in a position to harm Miranda and did not remove it.

Crowd Finally Learns How to Start Up Car

WAURIKA, Okla. (AP) — Mary Snider couldn't get her car engine to turn over and a dozen persons gathered around to offer suggestions and help.

A garage mechanic was called but he couldn't get the car started.

PREMIER NIKITA KHRUSHCHEV

Khrushchev No New Stalin

Power Grab Premature?

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

The Soviet people have a new one-man dictatorship today—but not yet a new Stalin.

Nikita Sergeyevich Khrushchev, less than a month away from his 64th birthday, has moved boldly to take into his hands a power comparable to that held by Joseph Stalin in the last 15 years of that dictator's reign.

By pushing aside his courtly and goateed shadow, the inconsequential Marshal Nikolai Bulganin, and stepping himself into the role of premier, Khrushchev holds the reins of total power. He is head of the government and boss of the Communist party. The much-touted "collective leadership" installed after Stalin died just five years ago now is a thing of the past.

To retain his hold on this final rung in the ladder of power, Khrushchev will need both spectacular successes and continuing external tension. Therefore the move presages bold and aggressive policies at home and abroad.

But Khrushchev still has a long way to go before he wields a power equal to that held by Stalin. There remains internal political opposition to Khrushchev, and he will have to snuff it out if he is to retain his grasp on the top rung.

The development must have been a shocker, even to the Russians. Khrushchev already wielded enormous power as boss of the Communist party. But his grab for total power seems premature, almost as if he felt forced to act quickly.

There was—and still is—strong opposition within the party to Khrushchev's internal policies, particularly with regard to his new agricultural program. Many Communist economists view it as a move away from communism.

Khrushchev, in his climb, quickly thwarted Georgi Malenkov's bid to be the new Stalin and finally disgraced and exiled him.

U.S. Leaders Startled

WASHINGTON (AP) — United States leaders were startled today by the news that Soviet Communist boss Nikita Khrushchev had become premier of the Soviet Union. It appeared to be a return to the Stalinist pattern of power.

Predicts Lakes Will Become 'Sea' of World

CHICAGO — An Army engineer said today that improvements in the Great Lakes - St. Lawrence system will make the Great Lakes in effect one of the "seas of the world."

Maj. Gen. Charles G. Holle, special assistant to the chief of engineers, said the project may provide "an impetus to the growth of the midwest which stretches the limits of the imagination, and will affect every interest, every activity and every human being in the region."

Holle made these predictions in an address at the 20th annual American Power Conference of power industry officials, engineers, educators, business and industrial executives and government officials.

Expect to Pass Road Bill Today

Senators Ending Work on Measure to Speed Highway Building

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators go back to work on the big highway construction speedup bill today with leaders predicting final passage of the antirecession measure by tonight.

Sen. Gore (D-Tenn), chief sponsor of the bill, said he was confident it would be sent to conference with the House without any further major changes. A highway bill passed by the House is less broad in scope.

House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex) said in an interview the House probably would agree to the conference quickly. He expressed hope the bill could be sent to President Eisenhower before Congress starts an Easter recess April 3.

The bill would make available $1,800,000,000 more in federal-state funds for roadbuilding this year than would be possible under the present program.

Over-all, it would make possible a highway program of about 5½ billion dollars this year. Much of this, however, would involve construction in later years.

Moon May Live 4 to 6 Months

Expect New Space Data as Explorer III Orbits at 125-Mile Perigee

WASHINGTON (INS)—Scientists reported today that the orbit of the Army's Explorer III satellite is better than previously anticipated and that the bullet-shaped "moon" may stay aloft from four to six months.

This replaced predictions that the third U.S. satellite would remain in orbit no longer than a "couple of weeks" because of a minimum altitude lower than planned.

The Naval Research Laboratory reported that the perigee, or low point, of Explorer III was disclosed in "latest refined orbital elements" to be 125 miles instead of 110 miles as estimated earlier.

Other late data on the satellite that was rocketed into space by the Army's Jupiter-C missile yesterday included:

Orbit time — 115.7 minutes: apogee (highest altitude) — 1,735 miles; inclination — 33.3 degrees.

The laboratory in its 10:30 a.m. EST report estimated the life expectancy of the artificial moon at "one-third to one-half year."

Meanwhile, an Army scientist said low perigee means that Explorer III will furnish "new" space information.

MSU Will Teach International Law

EAST LANSING (AP)—A course in international business law, described as the first of its type to be offered by an American university, will be available for the spring term at Michigan State University.

The course, offered by the College of Business and Public Service, will deal with legal problems which might arise between citizens of different nations.

An anticipated increase in international trade to come with the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway is expected to bring with it increased problems of international law, MSU spokesmen said.

Reveal Differing Views on Juvenile Delinquency

Parker told a meeting of juvenile officers that society is "producing a pattern of misbehavior at a faster rate than it can cope with."

McKesson told the same group today's juveniles are no different from their parents and grandparents.

"We're arresting kids today for things they would not have been arrested for a generation ago," he said. "The situation is not nearly as bad as it looks."

3 Lost Children Found in Police Dog's House

CHICAGO (AP)—Three little children, missing for several hours and hunted by scores of policemen and neighbors, were found by a neighbor yesterday in the large doghouse in his back yard.

Behind the locked door of John Mayo's doghouse were Mike Koloc, 4½, Patty Caveney, 4½, and Craig Chisholm, 4. All were crying. They didn't know how the door became locked.

GM Weighing UAW Demands

Talks Recess So That Company Can Prepare Counterproposals

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp. negotiators today were studying a proposed contract presented by the United Auto Workers as talks covering 320,000 GM workers recessed until April 8.

The UAW presented its demands, including its controversial profit-sharing plan, in talks opening Tuesday.

The meetings were recessed yesterday so the company could study the demands and make counterproposals.

The negotiators worked in a classroom-like atmosphere in a GM conference room. At one end of the room was a large blackboard where economists and researchers, employed by both sides, could jot down statistics and improvise charts to back up their theories.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther, who headed the union team at the GM opening session, is expected to return from Washington to be on hand for opening talks at Ford and Chrysler.

The negotiations will proceed behind closed doors at all three companies for the next two months. The GM contract runs out at midnight May 29. Ford and Chrysler contracts expire two days later.

Official in New Country Assures Press Liberty

ACCRA, Ghana—A press conference in Accra was assured by Kofi Baako, the Minister of Information of the new country, that the liberty of the press will continue to be assured.

"It is my intention," the Minister said, "to set up a Press Relations Section which will be in constant touch with the press. Frequent conferences will be called, he said, to explain the Government's point of view and policies on current affairs, so that "the country and the press shall know what the Government thinks and is doing. I have heard it rumored that certain newspapers are going to be banned. That is not true."

Making Coffee Not His Line, Masons Decide

HOMINY, Okla. (AP)—Fellow Masons aren't sure they're going to let J. H. Jacobs do any more cooking at their meetings.

He made the coffee, which turned out a little strong. After several gulps, and screams, members found Jacobs' formula was a pound of coffee to a gallon of water.

THE MAN OF TOMORROW? — This artist's drawing may be a true picture of man in the 85th century, if predictions of biology professor Jay M. Savage work out. The University of Southern California professor foresees man becoming a bald, big-domed, spindle-legged, nearly toeless, bug-eyed sight. Savage arrived at his unflattering picture by projecting present trends of changes in the human form. Heads, he says, are already getting larger to house more brains. The bug eyes? From watching television, maybe?

DENVER (INS)—Rocco Di Giahlonardo was angry when an auto swerved in front of his car on a freeway in Denver.

The 28-year-old motorist avoided a wreck with the offending auto, but hit three guard posts, jumped an embankment and turned over.

Spray Helps Pines Grow

MINNEAPOLIS—Minnesota foresters have found that spraying with monuron, a chemical herbicide, encourages the natural regrowth of white pines. Test plots—in which sprayed chemical controlled aspen and other vegetation, leaving more room for the pines—showed up to 16 times as many white-pine seedlings as normally.

Manganese Supplied

WASHINGTON — India has been the major source of this country's manganese imports during 10 of the last 12 years. Russia, the largest supplier before World War II, has sent no manganese to the United States since 1951.

Youth Not Sure Scientists Are Really People

NEW YORK — Two surveys among high school students show that a surprisingly large number of the teenagers "are not sure that scientists are people," according to Steelways magazine.

The publication of American Iron and Steel Institute says a sampling of 48,000 high school students in the United States by the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science indicated that youngsters respected the scientists, but few either wanted to be one or to marry one.

It said a Purdue Opinion Panel sampled the views of 15,000 representative high school students, and its findings included these stunners:

14 per cent thought there was something evil about scientists.

30 per cent believed that one could not raise a normal family and become a scientist.

25 per cent thought scientists were more than a little "odd."

28 per cent didn't believe scientists had time to enjoy life.

Steelways say that if they are indicative of country-wide sentiments, "the soil on which we must count for a bumper crop of scientists needs more vigorous cultivation."

She Had No Blue Slip

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Employes at the Denver Federal Center lined up to receive Asian flu shots. A pretty stenographer stepped in a line of men, held her arm up and promptly fainted.

When the girl was revived, the nurse laughed and asked: "Do you have a blue slip?"

The stenographer's face reddened.

"Oh, my goodness," she said, "what happened to the one I had on?"

Security for You

System Due for Changes...If and When

By RAY HENRY

Here's some advice: Don't ask the Health, Education and Welfare Department whether President Eisenhower will ask for changes in Social Security this year.

Chances are you'll feel as if you reached for the brass ring on a merry-go-round and wound up with a handful of air. That's what happened to me.

I popped the question recently to one of the chief assistants to Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Marion Folsom. His name: Robert H. Hamlin. His title: Assistant to the secretary for program analysis. His job: Studying and recommending changes in the programs run by the Welfare Department, including the Social Security program.

Here's how the conversation went:

"Does the Eisenhower Administration plan to ask Congress to make some major changes in Social Security this year?"

"Well, as you know," Hamlin answered, "we have made no specific proposals yet."

"Yes, but are you planning to make some proposals?"

"The possibility of changes is under very serious study at this time. But, of course, Social Security is always under study. We watch the program carefully to see if there is a need for readjustments due to changes in the cost - of - living and such factors."

"Do you think the study will show a need for changes?"

"I can't say," Hamlin said. "No decision has been made. We have a staff doing a complete study."

"How long do you think it will be before you will make a decision?"

"Well, we'll know within the next few months. There are many factors to be weighed."

"What are the factors?"

"They're too numerous to mention and too involved to explain."

"Is politics a factor?" I asked.

"The program has been changed every two years since 1950, always just before election time. This is another election year."

"Fortunately, Social Security has always been free of political considerations. I hope such considerations never get involved."

"Is the recently unfavorable publicity about the financial soundness of the Social Security system a factor being considered?"

"It's not a major factor. We believe the system is financially sound. So, the unfavorable publicity is not a source of great concern. Naturally, we wish the publicity hadn't occurred."

"There are many factors and they're involved."

Of course, Congress doesn't have to wait for the administration to suggest changes. Some 500 bills have been introduced by congressmen which have plenty of recommended changes.

Chances are some of the bills will get serious consideration, but it's anybody's guess at this time whether any will be passed which do such things as raise Social Security payments or broaden the program.

(Questions on Social Security problems may be addressed to "Social Security," care of The Pontiac Press. Questions will be answered by mail from the Pontiac office of the Social Security Administration. There is no charge for this service. You may obtain Ray Henry's new social security handbook by sending 35 cents in coin to this newspaper and requesting "Security for You" booklet.)

Waives Examination on Charge of Burglary

David J. Fry, 19, of 326 Oakland Ave., waived examination yesterday in municipal court on a charge of burglary.

He was bound to circuit court by Judge Cecil B. McCallum for arraignment there Monday.

Fry is accused of being a member of a gang which broke into the Sanford Inn, 568 S. Sanford St., on Dec. 30, 1957 and stole a large quantity of whisky.

Jap Workers on Strike; Seeking Higher Wages

TOKYO (AP) — Japan's spring labor offensive for higher wages reached a peak today with about half a million workers off their jobs. Most of the walkouts were for 24 hours or less, but more were promised if wage agreements aren't reached.

Those out included employes of private bus and railway companies, miners, longshoremen, government workers and synthetic chemical unions.

An estimated 11 million commuters in and around the major cities were stranded, but by late afternoon 15 of the 55 struck companies had reached agreement with the unions.

About 90 million Americans are members of some church denomination.

You Can Phone Office While Riding in Plane

CHICAGO — If you're riding on the right plane, you can telephone your home or your office while flying at 15,000 feet.

One regularly scheduled passenger plane is taking part with a few private and business aircraft in an experiment to check operating efficiency and public reaction to the new service.

That American delight, the watermelon, really had its beginning in Egypt.

PROTECTING THE SERGEANTS—The Army is now issuing raincoats to its new sergeants — the 45-foot Sergeant missiles. The raincoats, like the one being fitted above at St. Paul, Minn., are polyvinyl chloride covering to protect the missiles against all weather conditions until they are ready to fire. The 50-pound coat can be removed from the missile in firing position in less than 45 seconds.

While Ike Shapes Antirecession Program

Be Fair to Farmers, GOP Demands

WASHINGTON (INS) — President Eisenhower was confronted yesterday with GOP demands that he be "fair" to the farmers in shaping an antirecession program that gives help to others.

While a majority of Senate Republicans were urging that Eisenhower sign the pending farm price freeze bill, congressional Democrats criticized his newly submitted unemployment benefit plan as inadequate and "unworkable."

The President, who yesterday ordered a 600-million-dollar speed-up in government procurement to stimulate the sagging economy, had a chance to answer both at his new conference this morning.

Senate Republicans voted 17 to 14 Tuesday night in favor of presidential approval of the measure which would freeze farm price supports at 1957 levels. Their sentiment was conveyed to the President by Senate GOP Leader William F. Knowland.

And Sen. Andrew F. Schoeppel (R-Kan), chairman of the Senate GOP Campaign Committee, warned that a presidential veto of this bill would make it "tougher" on farm state senatorial candidates this year.

He made it plain the handling of the farm economic issue would affect how farm state legislators vote on foreign aid and reciprocal trade—key planks in the Administration 1958 program.

Schoeppel noted that Congress was voting pay increases for federal employes, labor contracts provide automatic wage boosts and a "stiff figure" is asked for foreign aid. He said:

"It's only fair that the agricultural economy be held in status quo until we can come up with a farm bill with a more realistic parity. Within a year we can get such a bill."

The 17-14 show of hands by GOP senators represented a shift of at least four Republican votes in support of the farm freeze. Only 13 Republican senators voted for the measure in the Senate last week. Sen. Roman Hruska (R-Neb) said he also would have voted for approval of the measure had he been present yesterday.

Mr. Eisenhower's plan to give jobless workers 50 per cent more time on the unemployment payment rolls than their states now provide, using federal funds which would be repaid by the states, ran into this barbed criticism from Democrats:

—Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass), chairman of a Senate Labor Subcommittee, said the proposal offers "an anchor instead of a life preserver." He said it does nothing for jobless workers now uncovered by unemployment compensation and offers "practically no help" for one now drawing benefits for less than six weeks. A jobless person now getting six weeks benefits would have only three more weeks added by the Administration program.

—Rep. Eugene McCarthy (D-Minn), a Ways and Means committeeman, said state laws are not flexible enough to permit the Ike plan to work. He claimed the federal government would have to do "whatever is to be done right now."

Flower Fan, 80, Works Daily in Greenhouse

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Eugene W. Burghard has spent most of his life raising flowers and at 80 he puts in an active eight-hour day the year around at his floral company greenhouse.

His proudest memory is of winning the national chrysanthemum championship in 1922. John D. Rockefeller had won the title six years in a row until Burghard's nod.

Do You Eat Like Bird?

ROCHESTER, N. Y. — Bird researchers say that if the average 7½-pound infant grew as fast as a baby parakeet, he would weigh more than 176 pounds at the age of three weeks.

Pleasure Pier Returns to Deal, Historic Town

DEAL, England — A grand new pier 1,000 feet long and with a promenade deck of 900 feet has been opened at the hisoric English town of Deal.

The previous pier, like many others in Britain, was destroyed as an anti-invasion measure.

The first pier that Deal ever had was built in 1838 — one of the earliest in England — and appears in a painting by Turney. Designed by Sir John Rennie and built of wood, it cost about $30,000; but before long it fell a victim to attacks of the sea-worm and to storm and was sold at auction in 1860 for $150.

A 1,000-foot pier was built in 1864 and lasted until World War II.

Fire Destroys Private Home of Irish Leader

DULBIN — Because the nearest firefighters were 12 miles away, the President of the Irish Republic recently lost his private home.

Learning at 2 a.m. that a house was afire at Roundwood, County Wicklow, the fire brigade of Bray hurtled 12 miles across Gallary Bog. By the time they got there the house could not be saved.

Roundwood Park, a handsome 15-room building, was President Sean T. O'Kelly own residence (his official home in Dublin must be vacated when he quits office). Over 200 years old, the house contained many valuable paintings and relics, all lost in the fire.

$4,000 Ring Wedged in Church Confessional

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A $4,000 diamond and sapphire ring has been found wedged between the cushion and a wall in the priest's section of a confessional in old St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church.

The sexton found the ring and gave it to Father John Overend, who had it appraised, then delivered it to police.

Inspector Eugene Osuno suggested it was left by "either a repentent sinner or a fearful thief."

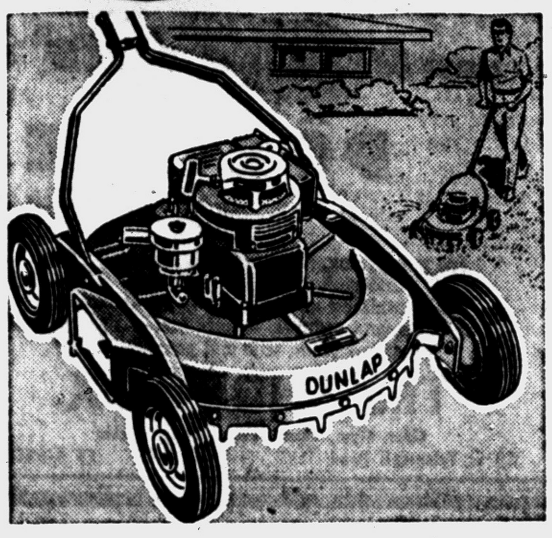

Motorcycles were invented in 1868 by W. W. Austin, of Winthrop, Mass.

GOP Seeks to Chop Williams' Budget

LANSING (AP)—With the Republican budget nearly complete, a tally showed today that GOP economizers propose to carve 18 million dollars off 1958-59 spending recommendations on Gov. Williams.

Whether the hewing, assuming it sticks, gave promise of a balanced state budget or a giant deficit was anybody's guess. Everything would depend on how dramatically the business recession lifts.

By far the deepest cut was 13 million dollars for higher education.

Analysis of appropriation bills already filed and two more in preparation pointed to a proposed general fund expenditure level of about 331 million dollars.

The GOP majority plans no authorization, during the current session at least, to tap the state general fund for school aid purposes, a 12 million dollar item in the governor's 361 million dollar spending outline.

Mackie States Need for Funds

Sees Present Federal Highway Monies Used Up by Next Fall

WASHINGTON (AP)—John Mackie, Michigan highway commissioner, says the state needs more federal highway funds before September or new road construction will suffer next fall.

Mackie, a Democrat, told Michigan's Congressioal Delegation at a dinner last night that the state must have the support of its congressmen in attempting to increase federal contributions for all highway programs.

He denied charges by Republicans that the state's road building program has stalled and failed to use all federal money apportioned for the program.

Mackie led a bipartisan delegation of state officials, state legislators and highway builders for a one-day visit here. A state highway department official said dual purpose of the visit was to answer congressional criticism and push for more federal money.

Mackie said all federal road money apportioned to Michigan for both current and next fiscal year will be obligated by September.

"In other words," he added, "unless their federal allocations are increased, the Michigan State Highway Department will be completely out of federal funds against which to program new construction by this fall."

Rep. Griffin (R-Mich) last month accused Michigan of lagging behind other states in using available highway money. Other Republican congressmen echoed his criticism.

Included in Michigan's delegation were Republican State Sen. Haskell Nichols, chairman of the Senate Highway Committee; Republican State Rep. Emil Peltz, chairman of the House Roads and Bridges Committee, and members of the Michigan Road Builders Assn. representing all elements of the industry.

Vessels Using Phones

CHICAGO—Radio telephone stations on the Great Lakes handle about 225,000 calls between shore and ship in a normal year. There is no tabulation of how many ship-to-ship radiophone calls are made, but one estimate is that they total about three times the station-handled calls.

Retail Auto Sales Hit Peak of 55 Billion

WASHINGTON — Commerce Department figures show that retail automotive sales in the United States reached about 55 billion dollars in 1957, a new record and an increase of nearly 10 per cent over 1956.

The total included sales by motor vehicle dealers, which rose 8 per cent; parts and accessory dealers, up 12 per cent, and those of gasoline service stations, which climbed 10 per cent.

New Jobs Mean New Views of Union, Company

ANN ARBOR (INS)—A University of Michigan study shows workers who are promoted to foremen or elected shop stewards usually change their attitudes towards management and unions.

The researchers, who conducted the study over a three-year period in a medium sized appliance factory, said new foremen tend to become opposed to some of the union policies they once supported.

Stewards' attitudes changed, but they generally did not become more hostile toward management. The U-M researchers explained:

"Workers who became foremen had to relinquish their membership in the union, while workers who became stewards did not. New foremen are subject to one main set of loyalties—to management. They tend to develop negative attitudes towards unions and positive ones toward management."

They said new stewards have over-lapping group membership. Even though they are union leaders, they still depend on management for their livelihood. The study related:

"As a result, they tend to become more favorable to the union but they do not turn against management.

Residents Quietly Petition Annexation to Farmington

Others Study Incorporation

By MARY CELINSKE
Farmington Correspondent

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — While township civic associations, the Chamber of Commerce and other interested groups, have been studying municipal government incorporation and annexation, residents of approximately eight square miles in the southern part of the township have quietly petitioned for annexation to the city of Farmington.

The area requesting annexation is bounded by Farmington road on the east, Eight Mile road on the south, Haggerty road on the west and 11 Mile road on the north.

It includes approximately half of the dry area, which for years has been petitioning the Township Board for a water system, and almost all of the area township and planning boards have sought to rezone for industry.

VIGOROUSLY OPPOSED

Rezoning of the southwest section of the township was proposed by the Zoning Board three months ago, but has been vigorously opposed by some township citizens.

The city with little vacant building space left, needs to expand to take in possible industrial sites, Scherffius agreed.

The city's present water supply would be adequate to supply the new area as well as any industry which does not require water for its manufacturing processes, he said.

Scherffius also pointed out that the city is negotiating with Detroit for additional water.

GOES TO COUNTY BOARD

The annexation petition now will go to the Oakland County Board of Supervisors to be referred to its Boundaries Committee. This committee studies such petitions, hears protests and recommends that the board set a date for the annexation election.

Voting on the proposal would be residents of the city and the area proposed for annexation.

LOOK-ALIKES MEET — Two Romeo women, who for many years have been mistaken for one another, met for the first time this week. Discussing some of their humorous experiences of mistaken identity are Miss Helen Holt (left), of 73817 Gould Rd. and Mrs. Robert C. Smith of 129 Church St.

Meet After 8 Years of Mistaken Identity

Look-Alike Women in Romeo Cause Much Head Scratching

By LEE WINBORN
Romeo Correspondent

ROMEO — Two Romeo women, mistaken for each other for more than eight years, finally met this week.

The look-alikes are Mrs. Robert C. Smith, 39, of 129 Church St., and Miss Helen Holt, 40, of 73817 Gould Rd.

Both of the Women have had several interesting experiences because of their similarity in appearance and size.

The scene of one such incident was the Peerless Cafe on Main Street. Mrs. Smith was having lunch when a complete stranger sat down beside her and engaged her in conversation.

Almost half an hour went by before either of them realized it was a case of mistaken identity. Mrs. Smith admits she has difficulty remembering names and faces and was not sure she had not met the man until he began to blush and stammer discovering his error.

Mrs. Smith and Miss Holt both are only four feet, 11 inches tall. Each has short, honey-blonde hair, hazel eyes and wears size four sample shoes. Miss Holt tops Mrs. Smith in weight, 90 to 87 pounds.

Both of the women are artistically inclined. Miss Holt won an art scholarship in high school, and a Christmas card Mrs. Smith designed was accepted for exhibition at the Detroit Institute of Arts two years ago.

"I was in the drugstore recently, and the clerk wanted to give me a prescription you ordered." Miss Holt told her new-found friend.

Another experience Miss Holt had was when the Romeo village employe who reads water meters saw her at the Youth Center. He asked her why she spoke to him there and then didn't recognize him when she was at home — another case of mistaken identity.

When the look-alikes finally met at the Smith home Monday afternoon, they confessed they had been wary of the meeting — having heard so much about each other for so many years. Once the ice was broken, however, they were fascinated with their similarities in appearance and tastes. Both say they smoke a lot, drink coffee on the slightest provocation and get pneumonia "at the drop of a hat."

Miss Holt left Romeo in 1945 — just about the time the Smiths moved here. She returned three years ago, and again the resemblance stories began to circulate. During their first meeting, the two women decided to trace their genealogy to determine if they possibly might be related, both being of English-French extraction.

Mary M. Dennis Exchanges Vows With Seaman

ROMEO — Mary Margaret Dennis of Madison Heights and Seaman 3.C. William C. Withorn, USN, of Romeo were married in a recent afternoon ceremony at the Evangelical Lutheran Church in Warren. The Rev. L. H. Rasch performed the double-ring rite.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clare Dennis of 26614 Brush, Madison Heights. The bridegroom's parents are the Charles W. Withorns, 300 Benjamin St., Romeo.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride was gowned attractively in white net and satin fashioned with appliques of lace, high scalloped collar and long sleeves ending in points over her wrists.

A crown of seed pearls held her fingertip veil of French illusion. She carried a cross-shaped arrangement of carnations and stephanotis centered with a white orchid.

Laura Lee Dennis was flower girl, and the bridegroom's cousin, Robert Withorn Jr., Armada, was ringbearer.

Assisting his brother as best man was Gerald M. Withorn. Groomsman was Floyd Pierce. Seating the guests were Warren Burmann of Armada and the bride's brother, Donald.

The MYF will serve breakfast in the church dining room immediately after the sunrise services.

Area Police to Buy 2 New Patrol Cars

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — The Farmington Township Police Department will buy two new police cars.

The Township Board has approved the purchase of the cars from Berling McHughs, low bidder, for $3,100 and the department's two old cars.

A tentative budget also was approved at the Tuesday night meeting. It will be presented to township citizens for approval at the annual meeting April 5 at O. E. Dunkel Junior High School.

The board also spent a lot of time discussing an improvement revolving fund but took no action. Supervisor Frank J. Stephenson said this subject as well as the proposed purchase of road equipment by the township will be placed before the voters at the annual budget meeting.

Pontiac Tot Falls From Automobile

A 21-month-old Pontiac girl was admitted to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital yesterday afternoon after falling from a car driven by her mother, reported Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies.

Mary Lou Stemmer, the daughter of Mrs. Mary Stemmer, of 70 Lorberta Ct., was reported in fair condition today, after suffering multiple cuts and bruises and possible head injuries.

Deputies said the girl leaned against the car door and accidentally opened it as the car was traveling along Pontiac Lake road at Daffodil street, in White Lake Township.

MSU Specialist to Accompany Area Farmers

Beef Cattle Feed Lot Tour Scheduled

Oakland County area farmers have been invited to take part in a beef cattle feed lot tour Monday to gain up-to-date information on growth stimulators, antibiotics and feed combinations for beef, Jay B. Poffenberger, Oakland County agricultural extension agent, announced today.

Accompanying the group will be Bill Finley, Michigan State University beef specialist, who will explain various phases of feeding operations and answer questions on feeding, management and maketing.

The tour will start at 10 a.m. at the Stanley Allen farm, 1201 N. Oxford Rd., 1¼ miles north of Oxford. Allen is using a new protein pellet feed that looks promising, Poffenberger said.

At 11 a.m., the tour will stop at Devon Acres, Dartmouth road just south of Seymour Lake road in Brandon Township, where a silage unloader and automatic feed bunk will be seen.

Afternoon stops will include the William Brendel farm, 4942 White Lake Rd. just east of Ormond road in the western part of Oakland County. Brendel has a new pole-type beef barn.

Final stop, at 2:30 p.m., will be at Knobby Hills Farm, 342 N. Clyde Rd. just west of Clyde corners. Tour members will see how the farm handles its silage. The farm maintains its registered Angus breeding herd on grass silage and hay, and has done an excellent job of using grass silage, Poffenberger says.

Any interested person is invited to attend the tour at any or all of the stops, Poffenberger said.

At Rochester High School

District PTA to Hold April 16 Conference

The annual Spring Conference of Parent-Teachers Associations of District 7 will be held April 16 at the new Rochester Community High School.

The meeting is designed to give the more than 55,000 members of Oakland County PTAs an opportunity to learn the "Why and How of PTA."

Registration and exhibits will begin at 7:30 p.m. Local units have been requested to bring their history and procedure books for display.

The East Oakland Area Council, whose president is Mrs. G. A. Goforth, will be host for the "little convention," as the district conference is called.

Mrs. Charles Cox of Ferndale, District 7 director, will be the presiding officer. She will introduce the presidents of the 18 locals organized this year.

MRS. CHARLES NELDRETT

MRS. NELDRETT SLATED

Among the honored guests at the conference will be Mrs. Charles Neldrett, president of the Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers. She will direct a workshop and will be a member of the "Cracker Barrel Session" group, a panel which will answer questions on PTA from the various workshops.

Following registration, the general meeting will be held in the auditorium which seats 750 persons. There will be 18 workshops discussing all phases of PTA work. They will be led by the 30 county leaders and 15 members of the State Board of Managers.

Other panelists in the "Cracker Barrel Session" will be Otto Yntema, field director of Western Michigan College and an ardent PTA worker, moderator; Carl Anderson, vice president of Region F; Mrs. Serge Foeller, vice president, Region D; Mrs. Mark Goddard, director of district services; Mrs. Daniel Irwin, juvenile protection chairman; Dr. Robert Frehse, character and spiritual education chairman; Clifford Smart, legislative chairman; and Dr. Morton Sobel, international relations chairman.

Mrs. Martin Parker of Lake Orion, general chairman, emphasized that all school PTAs and PTSAs can send as many representatives as they desire, and to get the maximum benefits should send at least one person to each of the workshops that apply to their PTA unit.

Her committee chairmen, members of the East Oakland Area Council, are Mrs. William Porter, correspondence; Mrs. Richard Eberline, hospitality; Mrs. Kenneth Sutherland, refreshments; Mrs. Odes Case, registrations; Mrs. Cecil Dennison, publications, mrs. Clare Bebout, exhibits; Mrs. G. A. Goforth, hostesses; and Mrs. Robert Sanford, publicity.

Same Barber Snips Hair of 4 Generations

PORTLAND, Maine (AP)— The day 13-months-old Harold Pulsifer III got his first haircut was a special day—not only for him but the barber.

Harold was the fourth generation Pulsifer whose locks have been snipped by Anthoine J. Lemieux, 59, of Portland. Tony, who started barbering in Fall River, Mass., used to cut the hair of Edward E. Pulsifer in Sanford, Me., in 1925. Edward was Harold's great grandfather. Harold E. Sr., Harold E. Jr., and now Harold III have become Tony's customers in Portland.

Walled Lake Library Adds 13 Youth Books

WALLED LAKE — Thirteen books which appeal mainly to teenagers have been added to the regular shelves of the Walled Lake Community Library. The books were taken from the library's rental shelf.

"Bud Plays Junior Hi Football," Paul C. Jackson; "Beautiful Joe, A Dog's Own Story," Marshall Saunders; "Because of Madeline," Mary Stolz; "Mary Pippins In The Park," P. L. Travers; "Win," Lucile McDonald; "Wing Harbor," Zola and Ross; "Capture of the Golden Stallion," Rutherford G. Montgomery.

"A Stormy Spring," Alice Acland; "Black Beauty," Anne Sewell; "Rocket to Luna," Richard Marsten; "The Coming of Space Ships," Gavin Gibbons; "The Beau Collector," Pauline H. Coleman; "Ol' Paul, the Mighty Logger," Glen Rounds.

A donation of two new books to the library was made by the Inter-Lakes Branch of the Women's National Farm and Garden Association, according to Mrs. Dorothy Meagley, library community relations chairman.

The books are "The Wise Garden Encyclopedia" and "10,000 Garden Questions." The donation was made in honor of National Library Week.

Avon Photographic Club to See German Slides

ROCHESTER — Suzanne Craft of Rochester will be the guest speaker at the Avon Photographic Club meeting at 8 o'clock tonight. Miss Craft, a graduate of Rochester High School, was an exchange student appointed by the Michigan Council of churches, and spent last summer in Europe. She will show color slides taken in Germany.

The club holds its meetings in the auditorium of Woodward Memorial Library at West Fifth and Pine Sts.

Members have been asked to bring their best color slides to be judged in competition at the Greater Detroit Camera Club in April.

Protest White Lake Assessments

Committee Investigates Tax Spending

The committee was formed Sunday at the Township Hall when about 200 property owners registered a mass protest against what they called increased property assessments and higher property taxes. Property owners said their assessments have doubled and, in some cases, tripled.

White Lake Township thus became the second township in Oakland County in which taxpayers have organized recently to protest higher assessments on their property. Bloomfield Township was the scene of a similar protest meeting last month.

Many of the taxpayers at the White Lake Township meeting were from English Villas Subdivision. Officials on hand to answer questions at that meeting were Forest Brendel, supervisor of White Lake Township; Edwin C. Sage, of the Oakland County Board of Equalization, and James Reed, a member of the Township Board of Review.

A call for volunteers to serve on the Taxpayers Committee was answered by L. H. Marsh, Minchiem Dempster, Mrs. E. J. Thorpe, Mrs. Harold Lane and Mrs. Ralph Jamieson.

The committee intends to ask the School Board for facts and figures regarding expenses since the schools receive the largest portion of the township property tax collection.

Committee members also will contact the Oakland County Drain Commission for an explanation of money allotted for maintenance of the Pontiac Lake level control system. A new dam and new dikes were constructed recently.

Mrs. Jamieson, a leader in the fight against increased property taxes, reported that about 150 township residents have signed petitions in behalf of the tax cause.

She said that it appears likely that White Lake Township and Bloomfield Township committees will take petitions to Lansing together.

Drug Cuts Cholesterol

MOUNTAIN VIEW, N. J. — A new drug, Lenic, has been developed by a Mountain View pharmaceutical concern, which says it will reduce the cholesterol level in the blood. The firm says the drug contains five "unsaturaged" fatty acids which help to reduce the cholesterol content, believed to be an important factor in hardening of the arteries.

Near Antibiotic Against Cancer

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Scientists are coming closer to an antibiotic against cancer.

Their search began long ago when doctors noticed that a few cancer patients were actually cured when they had a serious bacterial disease, erysipelas.

The erysipelas germs were producing a chemical — an antibiotic — that fought against the cancer.

Antibiotic means a chemical or drug produced by living organisms. Pencillin and streptomycin are made by tiny molds. They're effective against many kinds of germs, but NOT against cancers.

New steps toward the cancer antibiotics were described today to an American Cancer Society tour for science writers of major U.S. research centers.

Certain bacteria, including erysipelas germs, produce an antibiotic known as a polysaccharide, a complex sugar. These chemicals have had some temporary successes against human cancers. But a drawback is they're quite poisonous or damaging themselves.

But now several new ones have been found which apparently have NO bad effects at all, said Drs. Helga Francis Havas and A. J. Donnelly of the Institute for Cancer Research here.

These were developed in a laborious search of mixed products from various combinations of bacteria, and tests of 126 preparations in more than 10,000 mice.

Some cause complete disappearance of two thirds of cancers planted artifically in mice. But they don't do much against natural or spontaneous cancers in mice, the scientists said.

Tested so far on 10 humans with far advanced cancer, the new chemicals have not yet shown any definite, measurable effects, they said. But they are free from bad or damaging effects.

Ninety-five per cent of Canada's milk supply is carried by highway transport, and its fresh fruits and vegetables move mainly by truck.

Better Bomarc in Development

Firm Plans to Increase Interceptor's Range by Using Solid Fuel

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Boeing Airplane Co. is "pressing quite hard" on development of a longer range, solid propellant Bomarc interceptor missile, President William E. Allen said today.

"Use of a solid fuel will increase the range,' he said.

Its officially announced range is at least 250 miles. The range of the new Bomarc, not disclosed has been estimated at up to 600 miles.

Capable of much greater speed and higher altitude than any manned fighter plane, the Bomarc has been described by the Air Force as one of the most important weapons of the Air Defense Command.

It uses a liquid fuel rocket engine for takeoff power. Once the missile levels off, twin ramjet engines power it for supersonic cruising on a collision course with its target.

Although Allen had nothing to say on this point, the advanced version reportedly will be armed with a nuclear warhead.

Hal Boyle Says:

NEW YORK (AP)—Ralph Beauty Marble Candy has gone away.

In a woman's world, Ralph Beauty Marble Candy made the greatest possible masculine mistake. He mauled a young lady, the big bully. And so he has been exiled from civilization.

Ralph Beauty Marble Candy, who lasted less than two weeks in the big city, came here as the answer to a maiden's prayer. The maiden was our daughter, Tracy, nearly 5, who has been dictating notes of protest to Santa Claus ever since Christmas because he didn't bring her a kitten.

"Is this a kitty?" asked Tracy dubiously as Ralph Beauty, who looks more like a dwarf lion, stepped from his carrying case.

But she threw her arms around him. She loves all animals passionately, and would have embraced him even if he were a real lion. Ralph Beauty thought the situation over deliberately for a full tenth of a second—then calmly scratched her, and strolled off.

"Remember, he's just here on loan," cautioned Frances. "If he scratches you, he'll have to go back."

This was like telling a child not to stick beans up its nose. Tracy couldn't stay away from Ralph Beauty, and he couldn't get away from her. She was too young; he was too old. He scratched her less each day, but he still did scratch some. Tracy loyally tried to hide the scratches, shield him from blame.

But there came a day when Frances announced firmly: "I'm not going to let him turn Tracy into a human scratching post.

Back into his carrying case went Ralph Beauty Marble Candy—out into the suburbs to join another family of gamblers.

"Goodby, honey-honey," whispered Tracy, giving him a final squeeze. She didn't cry at all. She had been bribed with the promise of a real kitten to replace him.

Defiant to the end, Ralph Beauty gave her a friendly farewell scratch, and stalked disdainfully away—independent forever.

SPACE PIONEERS — These Air Force officers can justly be called space pioneers even at this early stage of a new era. Capt. Joseph Kittinger (left), 29, has flown almost every type of plane and has soared 96,000 feet in a balloon. Col. John Paul Stapp (middle), 47, was dubbed "the fastest man on earth" in 1954 when he rode a rocket sled 632 miles an hour to test whether a human could stand the violent starts and stops that would be necessary for space flights. Lt. Col. David Simons (right), 35, went 102,000 feet into the air in a balloon last summer to study the upper atmosphere.

Trap Catches Wildcat

All Bets Put on Betz

GALLIPOLIS, Ohio (AP) — There was a Judge Robert Betz on either side of the bench during a recent drunk driving case here. Judge Robert M. Betz of Common Pleas Court presided, while Judge Robert S. Betz of Gallia County was counsel for the defense.

Half Ton of Food to Be Flown In to Isolated Group

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP)—Close to half a ton of food was to be flown in today to a remote sawmill camp in northern New Mexico. About 60 people are stranded there by roads made into bogs by heavy rain.

First word of their plight became known Friday when a man rode a horse 13 miles to the hamlet of Regina. Officials learned of the marooned group only yesterday.

There was no report of illness among the mill, farm and ranch families in the little community of Llaves. But officials were ready to get a doctor in if necessary. A "good many children" were reported among the marooned.

There was no communication with the group.

Lt. Col. Daniel Boone, who flew in 240 pounds of emergency food last night and dropped it by parachute, said he believed he could fly a doctor in if he used a small plane.

Sickening Sack Poor Choice for Madame

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS)—In the minds of many Americans, there is a strong suspicion that the reason Paris' male fashion designers turn out such often-grotesque styles is that, subconsciously at least, they despise women.

It's an old, old theory. And those too-too gentle men from France have always claimed innocence in the matter.

Yet this year, with the advent of the sickening sack, what other explanation is there? . . . What other excuse for distorting the distaff into an expensive version of a parcel of thin-skinned Idahos.

It was time to change the fashion cycle, someone will reply, in order to boost business and give the girls a new reason for putting out their lettuce for French dressing.

But were there not other styles to cycle to? The Greek toga, comparatively, would have been a graceful revival. The Amazon wrap-around might have been seductive in 1958. Even the bustle with the cinch on top—that was more alluring and female than this!

Thank goodness, the American manufacturers of dresses on Seventh Avenue will modify the chemise (as dug up by the French) so that it will be slightly more reasonable, in price and silhouette, for the American woman. Even so, the die is cast and apparently we are stuck with the end in trends.

Thus it is that we mourn the passing of Miss Claire McCardell, one of a fistful of delightful obstinates who refused to let the boulevardier boys dictate orders. Miss McCardell was a wonderful woman: Quietly efficient on the outside, shy just under the skin, and firmly assured way down where it counts.

I remember the first time I interviewed her, a decade ago, she talked little on her own, preferring to answer questions in a brief, pointed manner. Asked if she was swayed, in her designs, by Paris, she said no.

"I never go to Paris," she explained. "I don't want to be influenced."

Miss McCardell, who died of cancer last weekend at age 52, went on to say quietly and decisively that she didn't believe a couturier thousands of miles away could possibly understand her particular fashion problems as well as she could, herself. She said it flatly, without sarcasm.

"I like comfort and ease in my clothes," she said. "I don't think they always realize how active we all are."

She then sketched for me the first dress she'd ever designed. It was a free-wheeling skirt, with a soft, sweaterish-moulded bodice. In it a girl could look chic and feminine—show her curves, and at the same time execute a high jump.

McCardell designed it when she was a student at Parsons School of Design in the mid-30s. I still have the sketch. It would look equally chic today; still high style and high jumpable enough to attract the kind of attention that the "all-American" lady likes to attract.

Claire McCardell presented us with our most long-wearable styles. In years of chemises, or in years of flamboyant hoops, her simple, clean-lined clothes always looked "right." Her secrets: She ignored Paris. She was a creative genius, as even Dior once admitted. And, perhaps most important, she liked and respected women.

HOW DO WE STAND? — Overall picture of the nation's economy for 1957 is shown in Newschart, above, as reported by Real Estate Trends, Inc. Two-sided character of the economic picture is indicated by such comparisons as the growth of multifamily housing construction, as opposed to single-family; or the rise in prices, income and defense spending, offset by declines in profits, retained earnings (corporate profits not paid out in dividends) and stock prices.

Would Be Autoist in Soviet Union Has Long Wait

LONDON (INS) — Faced with the cheery prospects of three-year waiting lists for private automobiles, Russia has boosted new-car prices again, this time by 20 to 25 per cent.

The Molotov auto plant's ZIM limousine, a copy of the 1946 Buick, goes up from $4,000 to $5,000. Two years ago it sold for $3,500.

The year-old Volga, a five-passenger car with modern lines, went from $3,200 to $4,000.

It's predecessor, the Pobeda, which is still being manufactured, was up from $2,200 to $3,000. Two years ago it cost only $1,500.

Despite previous price boosts, and the requirement that prospective purchasers put down the full price of the car when they order, waiting lists have grown astronomically.

In Moscow alone, a quarter of a million orders are on the books for private cars. And the Soviet motor industry made only about 110,000 autos in 1957 — half of which went to state enterprise motor pools, including the state taxi companies.

* * *

The price increases will be an unexpected boon for Russia's thriving black-market in used cars. The owner of a year-old car can get up to twice his original investment if he sells.

Cancer Scientist Gives Warm Nod to Smoking

BETHESDA, Md. (INS) — A leading American Cancer Society researcher said today he would not necessarily advise people to quit smoking and might even tell them to take it up.

Coming from a longtime ACS investigator, the statement in the cancer - s m o k i n g controversy seemed startling. But Dr. Frank H. J. Figge of the University of Maryland explained:

—Too little is known about "human susceptibility" to cancer to advise persons to give up smoking.

—Overweight persons may even be advised to take up smoking to reduce chances of developing liver or pancreatic cancer.

Dr. Figge, reporting to writers on the society's tour of research centers, told newsmen at the National Cancer Institute his conclusions were based on exhaustive studies of peculiar man-like mice and humans.

He said:

"I know these views are in disagreement with the statistics. But I believe individual susceptibility to cancer must be taken into account.

NO GOOD AT ALL

"A person who gives up smoking after six or eight years may do himself no good at all — if he is among the 10 per cent of the population susceptible to lung cancer.

"If not susceptible to lung cancer — and apparently 90 per cent of the population isn't — a person can smoke till doomsday and it won't hurt."

Dr. Figge, a professor of anatomy, does not smoke. But, he said:

"If I knew I was susceptible to liver cancer, I would smoke."

He isn't sure he is susceptible to liver cancer and admitted that personal knowledge about susceptibility is somewhat of a problem.

ADVISED FOR FATTIES

Dr. Figge advises smoking for those with excessive weight, which, he explained, tends to predispose susceptible persons to liver and pancreatic cancer.

Dr. Figge developed the strain of mice that behave like humans. It is believed to be the only strain of its kind in the world.

Dr. Figge said, too, that he is gathering evidence which indicates that a virus may cause obesity — overweight.

The virus, he explained, attacks the hypothalmus — a part of the brain scientists sometimes refer to as the "appestat," a t e r m coined to describe nature's thermostat linked with control of eating urges.

Ancient Romans were first to use mattresses, stuffing sacks with reeds, hay, wool or feathers, and sleeping on them in the third century B. C.

Both Have Soared 18 Miles or Higher

2 Men Likely Choices for Space Flights

By STEVE LOWELL
2nd in Series

ALAMOGORDO, N.M. (AP)— In America's first tentative probing toward outer space, two men have soared 18 miles or higher.

If manned satellites come within a few years, either might become this nation's first space traveler.

They are a dissimilar pair.

Capt. Joe Kittinger, 29, is the eager enthusiast. He won his wings in a fighter plane at 21, after a year and a half at the University of Florida. He was assigned to Germany, later was transferred to the Air Force Missile Test Center here as a training officer.

One of his first jobs was to lecture on parachute jumping.

"I never had made a jump and felt that people didn't respect my advice for that reason," he says. So he won permission to go through jump school at El Centro, Calif.

When he returned, he gave talks on his experiences. One of his listeners was Lt. Col. David Simons. Soon Simons was off for jump school, and Kittinger went along for a second round.

Simons, 35, is the intense, scholarly scientist and physician.

"The big question in college," he says, "was whether to go into medicine or physics. I decided on medicine on my father's advice, and I'm certainly glad I did." His father was the late Dr. Sam Simons, a general practitioner of Lancaster, Pa.

Simons was a flight surgeon during the Korean War, became interested in space medicine, now is chief of the space biology branch of the missile test center. He is in charge of evaluating the hazards of cosmic radiation at high altitudes. In his research he has used balloons to carry animals to altitudes as high as 120,000 feet.

Simons is 6 feet, weighs 180 and has receding brown hair. He is married and lives with his wife and four children on Lovers Lane in Alamogordo. He enjoys swimming, but his favorite hobbies are photography and radio.

Kittinger, from Orlando, Fla., is red-haired and blue-eyed, 5 feet 11, and a trim 155, but it's an effort. He hunts, fishes, exercises regularly and watches his diet because "everything I eat goes to the middle." He, his wife and two children live at Holloman Air Force Base here, where he is assistant operations officer in the fighter test section.

Kittinger flew the photographic jet plane in 1954 when Col. John Paul Stapp made his record 632-mile-an-hour rocket sled run to test man's reaction to sudden acceleration and deceleration. In that race, incidentally, Stapp won.

When Stapp, now head of the missile center's aero-medical laboratory, set up a project for high ascension balloons, Kittinger applied. He had to get a balloon pilot's license.

By last summer, Simons and Kittinger were ready for the big flights. Kittinger went to 96,000 feet. A few weeks later Simons broke the record by soaring to 102,000 feet.

In addition to his ballooning, Kittinger has been flying the fastest jets in experiments primarily designed to solve the mysteries of weightlessness — when man gets beyond the pull of gravity and has nothing to hold him, his tools or his food unless they are tied down.

Of becoming the first man into outer space, he says: "If everything were ready, I would go. I feel I have the qualifications — through parachute and balloon training and through survival training as a pilot and four years of subgravity flying."

Simons concedes that a pilot may be the first man into space, but he says: "Selecting the pilot is more than just selecting a man to do or die. He must be able to understand the scientific and engineering meaning of what takes place during the flight. The most valuable test pilots are those who are scientists and engineers.

"The man chosen must come back with as much information as possible. He must have a keen appreciation of the problems of the first flight. He must grow up with it." This doesn't exclude the pilot. He just must have other qualifications."

Tomorrow: The problems of zero-G.

If you think the younger generation isn't interested in getting ahead, just wait till one of them pulls up next to you at a stop light . . . A new novelty button reads: "I am an Alcoholic—In Case of Emergency, Buy Me a Beer."—Earl Wilson

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Victor Reginald Beecroft, 71, veteran dramatic actor who appeared in many Broadway plays, silent movies and later radio and television, died Tuesday. Beecroft, who was born in London and came to this country in 1908, retired in 1955.

Welfare, Taxes Cost Austrians 45.4 Pct.

VIENNA—Social welfare and tax burdens in Austria are particularly high, Vienna reports, now amounting to 45.43 per cent of the wages and salaries of the average laborers and white-collar workers. This compares unfavoraby with other Western European countries.

Austria stands third among these nations in this respect, the workers' payments being exceeded only by Italy and France. The figure for the Netherlands is the same as for Austria. In Belgium the rate is 17.7 per cent and in Germany 11.7 per cent. Austria, with a figure of 10.1 per cent, stands third with regard to the cost of vacations with pay, preceded by Italy and Belgium, the Vienna figures show.

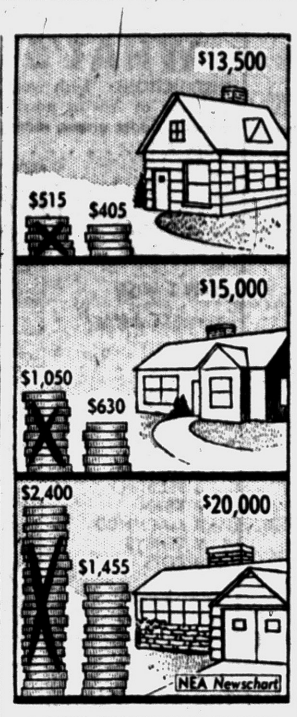

Method Uses Sugar to Preserve Cream

WASHINGTON — Researchers of the United States Agriculture Department report that they have developed a method of preserving dairy cream by adding sugar, much as sugar is used to make preserves and jellies.

The sugar-preserved cream, the researchers say, has 40 per cent butterfat and keeps well without refrigeration.

DOWN PAYMENTS DOWN—Newschart above shows the new and old down payments required on home mortgage loans insured by the Federal Housing Administration. In a twin move designed to spur home buying and create 500,000 more jobs, Congress approved and sent to the President a $1,850,000,000 housing bill. In the bill FHA interest rates remain at 5¼ per cent. Interest on GI loans was raised from 4½ to 4¾ per cent.

West Germans Clarify Women's Rights Law

BONN — A law elaborating on the equal status of husband and wife, now guaranteed for the first time by the Constitution, has been passed by the Bundestag of the West German Republic, in Bonn.

Changes brought about by the new law are so far-reaching that they will not become effective for a year. The principal change will affect property owned by married couples. Under a new regulation the property of husband and wife does not become the joint property of both.

In the event of divorce, property acquired after marriage will go to the spouse in whose name it was acquired. Each spouse administers his or her property.

Escaped From Prison at Jackson

Convict Views 22 Years as Fugitive

By THOMAS DYGARD

He changed buses at Chicago and rode to Kansas City.

TOOK ALIAS

There, in a strange city, he got a room under the name Harry E. Bennett. He got a job as a farm laborer. Later he worked as a wrapper in a shipping department, as a carpenter, as a ditch foreman over 15 men, as a maintenance man in an office building, and as a door-to-door campaigner in a gubernatorial campaign.

He married and after 11 years was divorced. Then he married again. That marriage ended in a separation. He fathered a child by his second wife.

For 22 years and five months he was a successful fugitive.

TOLD NO ONE

During that time he told no one that he was Roy Hunkins, who had walked away from Southern Michigan State Prison while a trusty, serving 10 to 20 years for armed robbery.

He had served five years and had 2½ years to go for parole.

He told no one that before his escape he had served time—a total of about 17 of his 32 years — for car theft, larceny, desertion from the Army, parole violation, and other offenses.

Then, because of his tangled family life, he started to travel. His journey led to his home town of Kalamazoo, Mich., where he wanted to visit a cousin. Somebody recognized him.

Now he is No. A-95371, finishing a term for armed robbery.

CHECK RECORDS

Prison officials are checking his record on the outside the last 22½ years. If it is clean, he probably will get out in a few months. He now is 61.

It never bothered me much that I was an escapee," he said, "until my little boy was born two years ago."

Hunkins was intent on getting custody of his son when his second wife left him, but he discovered he would have to go to court to do it. After 22 years, "I finally found something I wanted to do and couldn't do it because I was a con."

He claims he returned to Kalamazoo to give himself up and square his record.

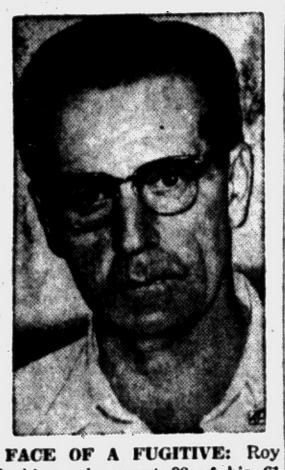

EDGY MOMENTS

Life on the outside had its edgy moments for Hunkins-Bennett.

Twice he almost ran into men he had known in prison.

"I saw them on the street and ducked," he said. "They didn't see me."

Minor brushes with the law — traffic tickets mostly — rolled off his back. Nobody asked for a birth certificate. His Social Security card, in the name of Harry E. Bennett, was one of the first issued. When he was asked about military service, he replied that he never had been in the service.

FACE OF A FUGITIVE: Roy Hunkins, who spent 22 of his 61 years as a fugitive from Southern Michigan State Prison.

"One thing that bothered me," he said, "was guys — a neighbor or somebody I worked with — talking about some crime they had read in the paper. They would always say, 'What do you think about that?' or 'Do you think they'll catch him?'

"I always wanted to ask them, 'What makes you think I'd know?'

"Those kind of questions were rapping right at my front door."

On the outside Hunkins built three houses. The first he sold to get a bigger one. The second went to his wife when she divorced him. The third was sold because his wife didn't like it.

The future, which 30 years ago looked like alternate periods of violence and the drabness of prison for Roy Hunkins, is doubtful. He wants to return to Kalamazoo, get a job barbering, and build himself another house.

"Coming home at night and eating a good meal and sitting down in front of the television, maybe with a beer or two — that's hard to beat."

British Astronomer Blasts Space Travel

BELFAST, N. Ireland — "Space travel is a shocking waste of money," Britain's Astronomer Royal, Professor R. van de Reit Woolley, said during a visit to Belfast, Northern Ireland.

Professor Woolley, who was quoted some months ago as saying that "space travel is all bilge," qualified this statement. He said "I did not say people would not get to the moon. They will get to the moon if any general staff thinks it is necessary. But it will be a shocking waste of money for what comes out of it."

He said there is not any real connection between astronomy and the satellite projects. It is true that the latest developments in space travel might have an importance for astronomy of "a very technical kind" but they are really of more interest to geophysical researchers studying the upper atmosphere, he said.

Just Too Much Water for One Little Girl

ROANOKE, Va. (AP) — The scene was the children's department of the Roanoke Public Library. A mother was searching for a book suitable for her young daughter. Finally she pulled a volume from the shelf.

India's 85th Airport Opens at Udaipur

UDAIPUR, India — India's 85th airport, the Udaipur aerodrome, recently was inaugurated by Humayun Kabir, Union Minister for Civil Aviation. He said that air service will start soon from Udaipur to New Delhi and will go a long way toward promoting tourism.

Five more aerodromes will be opened in India this year, he indicated.

Just prior to the inauguration of the new airport, a Tiger Moth trainer aircraft of the Madhya Bharat Flying Club of Indore had to forceland at Udaipur. The plane was to have participated in the ceremonies at the airport. Its crew escaped unhurt.

Car Output Points Up Need for More Roads

WASHINGTON—It is estimated that 50,000 miles of new roads were constructed in the United States during the first 10 years after World War II, but during the same period enough new automobiles were manufactured that if parked bumper to bumper they'd stretch 200,000 miles.

Junior Editors Quiz on INDIANS

ANSWER: Although Indians no longer range over the prairies on fleet-footed ponies, there are still a great many of them. When the population of the United States was counted in the census of 1950 there were 343,000 Indians and more than 270 tribes. This isn't as many as the 846,000 believed to have been in what is now the United States when Columbus landed in 1492. But it's a big increase over the 237,000 of 1900.

After the Indian quit fighting the white man, he and his brothers were put on reservations. Some still live on reservations because they wish to, but others are scattered all over the United States. Indians have the same privileges of citizenship as other Americans. Many work in heavy construction, others are sheep herders and farmers. Jim Thorpe, a great American athlete, was an Indian. An Indian helped raise the American flag on Iwo Jima during World War II.

FOR YOU TO DO: Here is a problem in arithmetic. The population of the United States in 1950 was 150,697,000, including the Indians. How many other citizens were there for each Indian? Answer tomorrow.

(The $10 award for today's question goes to Sandra Kay Gasperson of Bunker Hill, Ill. Write your question on a postcard and mail it to Violet Moore Higgins, AP Newsfeatures, in care of this newspaper. Tomorrow: How many kinds of dogs are there in America?)

Gave Car to Drunk; Faces Manslaughter

A unique trial in Michigan annals continued in Detroit today with a man charged with manslaughter in a traffic fatality although he was miles away.

A jury is hearing the trial of William Marshall, of River Rouge, accused of manslaughter because he allegedly gave his car to a drunk man to drive.

Marshall's car was driven by Neil McClary, 19, of 1955 Mardin St., Lake Orion, who was killed in a head-on collision on the Ford Expressway on Feb. 4.

McClary collided with a car driven by James Coldiron, of Taylor Township, who was also killed.

The meeting was at Devon Gables Inn, Bloomfield Township.

Professors Cite English as Key to Success

OXFORD, Ohio (AP) — If a young person doesn't know how to put the English language together by the time he or she enters college, the chances of passing other subjects and staying in college are not too good.

That's the opinion of English professors at Miami University here. They are urging high school English teachers to prepare would-be college students so they can "write 300 words without several grammatical errors, mispellings and grammatical inconsistencies."

About one third of all passengers between London and Paris travel by air.

New Zealand Marks Money to Trace Source

AUCKLAND, N. Z. — New Zealand is going to try a "gimmick"—marked money — to find out what happens to tourist dollars.

One day soon a bevy of smartly dressed tourists will step on to an Auckland wharf with packages of marked bills in their pockets. The markers of the money — the Auckland Tourist Liaison Committee — will pick a tour ship with a 24 or 48-hour stopover in midweek, with plenty of opportunity for spending.

It is expected that marked money will first show up in jewelery stores for curios, in department stores and film supply shops. Other bills will leave a trail between Auckland and Rotorua, a tourist resort. Afterward a study will be made of the spending.

Safety in Home to Be Explained to Area Officials

Safety chairmen of organizations throughout Oakland County will have the opportunity to attend an open meeting on home safety rules including those which should be used in the kitchen and by baby sitters.

The meeting, sponsored by the Michigan State University Extension Service, will be held at the Oakland County Health Center, 1070 N. Telegraph Rd., from 9:30 a.m. until noon Friday.

Richard Pfister, MSU agricultural engineer, will discuss a practical home safety project which could be inaugurated in an organization's program.

Safety rules in the kitchen will be presented by James Goodell, fire chief of GMC Truck and Coach division.

Mrs. Harry M. Clark Jr., of Southfield, chairman of the Oakland County Home Demonstration Council, will conduct the program on safety for baby sitters. A film, "The Baby Sitter," will be shown and Mrs. Clark will present ideas on how groups can set up their own baby sitting course.

Safety chairmen members of the 120 home demonstration extension groups throughout the county are also expected to attend the meeting.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's decision favoring nuclear rearmament of Western Germany has produced the longest and most bitter debate in the short history of the Bundestag, or parliament.

Adenauer and his Christian Democratic Party men have been called successors of the militaristic Kaiser and Hitler. His Socialist opposition accusers have begun stumping the country, calling for general strikes to protest nuclear armament.

The old chancellor's attitude is: That Germany wants general controlled disarmament but if NATO partners recommend rearming Germany with nuclear power then the Bonn government must do it or divide the Western alliance. Adenauer flatly rejected the Polish plan for an atom-free zone in central Europe.

Socialists demand that the major powers consider the Polish "Rapacki Plan," named after Polish foreign minister Adam Rapacki. They also contend that Adenauer's policies block all possibility of reuniting Germany.

Overlooked by many Germans in the hot debate was one of Adenauer's statements that was new. He remarked that if the Russians would agree to German reunification the Germans in turn would consider a plan to continue supplying Russia with East German uranium from the mines in the Erzgebirge range near Czechoslovakia.

These mines have made East Germany Europe's biggest producer of uranium, the nuclear bomb ingredient. Allied experts in Bonn quoted by the German DPA news agency estimate Soviet zone production as reaching about 400 tons of enriched uranium per month.

Allied specialists figure that Moscow was able to make 50 to 60 atom bombs from the uranium received from East Germany during the past 12 years of milking.

The Erzgebirge uranium fields are located around the small towns of Aue and St. Georgenstadt. These and three mines near Greiz in Thuringia were exploited entirely by the Soviet Union in the first 10 years after World War II. But since 1955 there has been a joint Soviet-East German control called "Soviet German Wismut, Inc."

Living Costs Climb Throughout World

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y.—Latest United Nations figures show that while American family living costs have risen an average of 19 per cent since the start of the Korean War in 1950, residents in other countries are worse off.

Living costs have risen 326 per cent in Argentina since 1948, 116 per cent in Austria, and 96 per cent in Australia. Other increases: 72 per cent in France, 71 per cent in Japan, 47 per cent in Norway, and 45 per cent in Great Britain.

THE BERRYS — By Carl Grubert

Air Crews Not Reassured

Safety Measures Ordered to Stop Falling A-Bombs

WASHINGTON (AP)—New safety measures ordered to prevent any further accidental dropping of nuclear bombs apparently reassures everyone except the crews of the bombers.

The chances probably are not high that the crew could jettison a bomb quickly if plane trouble were to develop during takeoff or landing.

After the latest of a series of accidents—this one near Florence, S.C., March 11—the Defense Department said that the Air Force had "taken interim measures to assure that a similar malfunction" of a bomb lock system does not occur. None of the accidents resulted in fatalities or nuclear explosion.

It is understood that Strategic Air Command bombers now have nuclear weapons so firmly attached that wrenches and screwdrivers are needed to prepare the bombs for release.

Once a bomber is at altitude and cruising, a crew might have time to disconnect the safety device and clear the way for jettisoning a bomb in event of trouble.

But the periods of greatest hazard are during takeoff and landing. Here there would be no time to unfasten safety devices and rid the plane of its TNT trigger for the nuclear bomb. The airmen would have to ride the plane—and their luck—to a landing.

Aircraft accidents, rather than bomb release troubles, have caused most of the dozen or so accidents involving planes carrying bombs.

So far as is known, only two cases of malfunction of bomb release mechanisms have occurred.

Plan New Offensive in West Sumatra

MEDAN, Sumatra (AP)—Jakarta government forces are planning a new offensive into western Sumatra in an effort to crush rebel troops before the rebels attempt a planned counterattack on this important North Sumatra port city.

Lt. Col. Hasan Kasim, chief of staff for the Medan military area, said today that the rebels are now plotting to drive towards Medan from Tapanuli province south of here but "we will not sit around waiting for them to attack."

Kasim said that Col. Maludin Simbolon, the rebel foreign secretary and a chief military leader, has been in Tarutung for the past four days planning the attack on Medan.

Strong Jakarta forces have been halted at Prapat on the shore of Lake Toba about 100 miles southwest of Medan. If they press on down the main road, they would be in Tapanuli.

More Produce Needed

BOSTON—Nutritionists feel that the average person in the United States needs at least 200 pounds a year more of fresh fruits and vegetables than he ordinarily consumes. For a balanced diet, a person needs about 564 pounds of fresh fruits and vegetables a year; the average consumption of these at present is only 320 pounds.

Estimates 5 Million Alcoholics Need Help

NEW YORK (AP) — About five million persons in this country need help because of excessive drinking, estimates Mrs. Matty Mann, founder and executive director of the National Council on Alcoholism.

She told the opening session of the group's annual three-day conference that 70 million U. S. adults drink, and one in 14 is an alcoholic needing assistance to overcome the habit. Most alcoholics are married and living at home with their families, she said.

Without Nagging Backache

Now! You can get the fast relief you need from nagging backache, headache and muscular aches and pains that often cause restless nights and miserable tired-out feelings. When these discomforts come on with over-exertion or stress and strain—you want relief—want it fast! Another disturbance may be mild bladder irritation following wrong food and drink—often setting up a restless uncomfortable feeling.

Doan's Pills work fast in 3 separate ways: 1. by speedy pain-relieving action to ease torment of nagging backache, headaches, muscular aches and pains, 2. by soothing effect on bladder irritation, 3. by mild diuretic action tending to increase output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes.

Congressmen Eagerly Agree:

'No Place Like the Old Home State!'

By ARTHUR EDSON
AP Feature Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Be it ever so humble, to a congressman eager for re-election there's no place like the old home state.

Any loyal reader of the congressional record gets almost daily reminders that each state is the best of all possible states, with the finest people, the most remarkable products.

Let's take South Dakota, for a starter.

Wonderful state. There's still gold in those hills, though now there's even more gold in South Dakota's livestock. Lovely voters.

But who would stand up in public and defend its winter weather? Why Sen. Francis Case (R-SD) of course.

In introducing Case at a dinner in honor of Capt. Finn Ronne, the Antarctic explorer, the master of ceremonies said:

"A man from South Dakota should know what a winter in the Antarctic is like."

Naturally this would cause any South Dakotan to peel off his parka and come out fighting.

Case offered to bet that South Dakota's winter was warmer than weather there. Unfortunately, he lost — but he refused to concede defeat.

Case explained to the Senate later that it was only five degrees cooler in South Dakota and since the air was drier, "I submit it felt 10 degrees warmer.

Then, warming up to his chilly subject, Case said:

"Out where I come from, the natives do not scurry to Florida. They prefer to remain in the beautiful black hills, where they can enjoy not only balmy temperatures, but also some of the most beautiful mountain scenery in the world."

Moseying down the old superlative trail, we soon reach Texas.

Even in adversity, Texas is the most. For here is Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D Tex)) referring to last spring's disasters and saying sadly but proudly:

"Texas is large enough to have a drought and floods and a series of tornadoes, all at the same time."

Now, let's move along quickly.

Rep. A. L. Miller (R-Neb): "Nebraska has the highest life expectancy rate of any state in the union."

Rep. Martha W. Griffiths (D-Detroit): "It's great to live in Michigan."

Sen. George Aiken (R-Vt): "Nobody has better air than Vermont."

Sometimes, alas, the praise turns to poetry. And so we have Rep. Al Ullman (D-Ore) putting into the record a poem by Mrs. John Lauer. She wrote an "'Ode to the Potato," and one of the nine verses goes like this:

"As long as we have the good earth,
And the potatoes have good eyes,
Our country will know no hunger,
And our spirits will continue to rise."

Army Agent's Death Declared Unnatural

CAMP ZAMA, Japan (AP) — The U.S. Army said today that laboratory tests give no hint of what killed an Army intelligence agent found floating in Tokyo Bay but that he did not die a natural death.

The Army's statement said the exact cause of the death of M.Sgt. Emmett E. Dugan, Crafton, Pa., "may never be known." Dugan's body had been in the water so long, the Army said, that chemical tests were neither reliable nor conclusive.

Drowning was ruled out because Dugan's lungs were not filled with water. There was no trace of any poisonous chemicals in his body, the statement said, and no evidence of any injuries that could have killed him.

Thus Army investigators seemed up against a blank wall in the case. Before Dugan disappeared from his intelligence unit here Feb. 4, he handed his insurance policies to his wife Maud and told her, "If I don't return, you'll need these."

The 39-year-old agent's body was found in Tokyo Bay March 12. The Army said he did investigating work, and Japanese sources said he had been assigned to collect information on Communist China.

FT. CHAFFEE, Ark. (AP) — Pvt. Elvis A. Presley will spend his last full day here today getting his records in shape for assignment to Ft. Hood, Tex., where he will take eight weeks of basic combat training with the 2nd Armored Division.

Presley wound up his processing by marking GI equipment and clothing issued to him.

Shorn of his trademark sideburns, wearing a severely tailored Army uniform instead of gold-threaded suits, the 22-year-old Presley seemed already adapted to military life.

Weapons Collectors Train Sights on Virginian

VIRGINIA ARMS MERCHANT Sam Cummings looks over an Italian-made rifle in one of his crowded warehouses. Gun was used in Ethiopian campaign and World War II. Cummings sells them in U. S. to gun cranks and sportsmen.

Youthful Samuel Cummings is in no danger. Their aim is strictly business. He just happens to have more of what they want than anybody else in the United States. And that's guns.

HEADS FIRM

Cummings is president of The International Armament Corp. of Alexandria, Va. Since he was 24, the young gun merchant has been equipping armies from South America to Western Europe. His sharp business sense has shot what was once just a gun collecting hobby into a two million dollars a year business.

From his five warehouses on the banks of the Potomac River, Cummings supplies governments friendly to the United States with modern firearms ranging from pistols to machine guns. That's just part of the business, though.

He also scoops up entire arsenals of antique, obsolete weapons from these countries. Then he sells these to gun cranks all over the United States.

SMELLS STORES

Cummings' success secret is his ability to smell out surplus weapons stores. Government rules prevent him from buying up surplus in the United States.

But there's nothing to stop him from obtaining excess stocks of modern guns in other countries. And in many of these foreign warehouses he's found quantities of American-made weapons.

After cleaning out one of these storehouses, Cummings is ready to start selling. There's always a buyer. Cummings says some armies are still using guns that were new in the last century.

FABULOUS DEALS

It's in these gun-poor countries that the young weapons merchant makes some of his most fabulous deals. First he sells them new guns. At the same time he offers to take the ancient arsenals off their hands. If they say yes, he may knock several hundred dollars off the cost of the new guns.

Although it sounds like shotgun business management, actually the deal brings down profits with the accuracy of a high-powered rifle. Cummings estimates that 40 per cent of his annual two million gross business is made by selling the old weapons to American collectors. Fifty thousand letters pour into his office each year from gun cranks. Cummings says about 90 per cent of these letter writers end up buying.

His biggest competitor in the new gun market is the United States government. However, Cummings says that by buying foreign surplus he can beat the government price. Also he reminds buyers they have to go through less red tape when they deal with him.

His deals are popular enough to keep him out of the country for about eight months every year. Buying, selling and demonstrating weapons sends him to Europe, Africa, the Far and Middle East and South America.

JOB HEADACHES

The job is not without its headaches. For one thing the bodyguards of some South American presidents have doubts about Cummings. He complains that when he's demonstrating a gun for a Latin American leader, a bodyguard's weapon is usually trained on him.

A business like this arouses the interest of a lot of very particular people. But the young salesman has grown used to the constant check-ups of the State Department, FBI, Treasury and Customs Bureau.

Campfire Girls Make Cookies

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Girls like to cook. Wise mothers take advantage of this and allow their daughters to experiment in the kitchen. Wise youth organizations like the Campfire Girls provide for this interest in cooking and schedule program material in the homemaking field.

On Saturday when the local Campfire Girls celebrate the 48th birthday of the national organization, there is to be a big party at Lincoln Junior High School. Among the displays will be decorated cookies made by the Wahanka group. The cookies will spell out, "Happy Birthday, Campfire Girls, 1958."

Mrs. Fred Feekart of Lapeer road is the leader of the Wahanka group. She works with 14 girls, all fifth and sixth graders. With their varied interests, they are usually working on several projects at once. At present, they are concentrating on cooking and other phases of homemaking.

After the cookies were baked, the girls used a simple butter frosting in pastry bags to decorate them. With the display cookies, they restrained themselves; with others they went to work on all sorts of complicated designs.

Here is their recipes:

Sugar Cookies

1 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
3 cups sifted flour
1½ teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt (not necessary if margarine is used)
4 teaspoons milk

Cream shortening and sugar, add egg and vanilla and beat well. Sift dry ingredients and add. Add milk. Chill. Roll out ⅛ inch thick. Cut into large rounds. Bake on greased cookie sheet for 12 minutes at 375 degrees. Sprinkle with sugar before baking. Makes about 30 cookies.

Fish Chowder a Whole Meal

Good soup can be even better when you add macaroni, spaghetti or noodles. These foods provide satiety value as well as interesting flavor and texture. With macaroni foods added, soup can serve as the main dish for a lunch or supper.

Lenten Chowder is a fine example of such a main dish soup. Fish and broccoli achieve a pleasing merger in this recipe.

Lenten Chowder

¼ cup butter or margarine
1½ cups chopped onion
1 pound frozen fish fillets, thawed
3 cups hot water
1 tablespoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 package frozen broccoli, thawed
4 ounces elbow spaghetti
1 quart milk, scalded
½ cup light cream, scalded

Melt butter or margarine in large saucepot. Add onion and cook until lightly browned, stirring occasionally. Cut fish fillets into bite-size pieces. Add water, salt, pepper, and fish pieces to saucepot. Bring mixture to boiling, cover, reduce heat and cook 15 to 20 minutes.

Chop broccoli and add to saucepot with spaghetti and cook 10 to 15 minutes longer. Stir in heated milk and cream. Serve immediately in heated soup bowls. Makes 6 servings.

Boston Butt Gives Good Meat Value

If your family likes roast pork, consider the Boston butt. This pork cut comes from the shoulder and has a larger amount of lean than does a loin roast.

A Boston butt will give about three servings from each pound. Divide three into the cost per pound to figure cost per serving. The loin roasts give two and one-half servings per pound. When you compare cost of Boston butt and loin roasts, you find that Boston butt is just as good a value price-wise.

Pork roast is a seasonal meat choice, reminds the MSU Marketing Information Agent. March is expected to bring the peak of pork production for the winter and spring months, says Mrs. Josefine Lawyer.

Careful Storage Keeps Nuts for Year-round Use

To store nuts properly and prevent their becoming rancid, remember: unshelled nuts keep better than shelled nuts. Unsalted nuts keep better than salted nuts. Nuts will hold their crispness for 8-10 months in the home freezr. They should be sealed in air - tight polyethylene bags for freezing.

Nuts that are low in fat (such as filberts) should be roasted in a gas oven at a low temperature, 275 degrees. Almonds, walnuts, pecans and other nuts high in oils and fats can be roasted at 375 degrees, in a gas oven.

When frying hash use a generous amount of hot fat, spread the hash evenly over whole bottom of skillet, cover, cook over low heat without stirring until there is a crisp brown crust on the bottom.

Pretty garnish: Thin round slices of carrot, with a whole clove in the center of each, for flower petals. Make stems of strips of green pepper or scallion (green onion) tops.

Experiment With Spices

Sugar cookies take to a hint of ground nutmeg.

Add a dash of powdered allspice, along with cinnamon and cloves, when you are making apple pie or spicy applesauce.

If you have pumpkin-pie spice on your kitchen shelves, you'll find it's handy to use in any dessert that will benefit from a combination of cinnamon, cloves and ginger.

Cinnamon adds interest to plain chocolate cookies.

Mix cinnamon with confectioners' sugar and use for sifting over doughnuts straight out of the deep-fat kettle or bought and heated.

Add a little nutmeg to whipped cream to be served with cottage pudding and fruit sauce.

Nutmeg and cinnamon are both good to add to an apple quick loaf; a little powdered clove goes well in a prune quick loaf.

Round or Chuck Good Swiss Steak

Swiss steak is not a special cut of meat, states the MSU Marketing Information Agent. It is a way to prepare meat. It is beef cooked slowly in a covered pan until tender.

Swiss steak is usually made from a thick slice of round steak, but it can be made from other beef cuts too, relates Mrs. Josephine Lawyer. Try an Arm-chuck roast. If it is large enough for two meals, use part for Swiss steak today, the rest for pot roast tomorrow.

Two to three hours in a covered pan with water or tomato juice for moisture makes tender Swiss steak that is sure to please.

Plan Week's Menus With Ground Beef

Awarding a prize for the most versatile of all meats? Give it to ground beef or hamburger. It may take a second prize, states the MSU Marketing Information Agent. That of being one of the most economical meats.

Here are suggestions for seven different dinners of ground meat. First night, broiled hamburgers served on the plate on a toasted bun. Second night, chili con carne. Third night, meat loaf with tomato sauce topping. Fourth night, ground beef, macaroni and tomato casserole.

Fifth night, spaghetti with meat sauce. Sixth night, ground beef steaks with mushroom sauce. Seventh night, a variation of pizza pie. Use a crust of ground beef with a topping of cheese, tomato and herb sauce.

Ground meat will win a prize for being easy to use, easy to combine with other foods.

Creamed chicken has a rich color if 1 or 2 egg yolks are used in the sauce.

SEA-FOOD AVOCADO MOLD — Serve delicate crab meat and avocado together in a mold, gently flavored with herbs and spices from an envelope of salad dressing mix — a wonderful Lenten luncheon entree idea!

Molded Crab Salad Spiced

Lenten luncheon menus provide a definite challenge for gourmet cooks, since most of us run out of ideas for new and different meatless combinations to serve.

Today's new recipe, then, is one to keep in mind when searching for a Lenten luncheon entree, because it features delicate crab meat and avocado in the most appetizing manner possible: in tart lemon-flavored gelatin with a touch of distinctive herb and spice seasoning added from an envelope of salad dressing mix.

Plan to make this Sea-food Avocado dish in a fish mold, then garnish attractively with olive, parsley and tomato wedges. This Lenten luncheon entree is so appetizing that you'll want to feature it throughout the year!

Sea-food Avocado Mold

1 package lemon-flavored gelatin
1 cup hot water
½ cup cold water
1 medium avocado, mashed
2 to 4 tablespoons chopped green pepper
1 tablespoon old fashioned garlic salad dressing mix
2 tablespoons vinegar
¾ teaspoon salt
1 can (6½ ounces) king crab meat, drained

Dissolve lemon-flavored gelatin in hot water. Add cold water. Chill until slightly thickened. Combine remaining ingredients. Fold into slightly thickened gelatin. Pour into a 1-quart mold. Makes 4 servings entree salad.

Choose small beets for serving whole, large ones for slicing or dicing.

Stretch Food, Thicken It With Eggs

Call on eggs to make foods richer, suggests the MSU Marketing Information Agent. Call on eggs to thicken and hold foods together. Call on eggs to stretch some foods.

When eggs are reasonable compared to most meat cuts, you might use a few extra in dishes relates Mrs. Josephine Lawyer.

For a rich white sauce, make the white sauce and add a small amount of the sauce to one well-beaten egg. Stir this mixture into the rest of the white sauce.

Would you like to stretch whipped cream for dessert? Call on the white of an egg. Whip a meringue of one egg white, add two tablespoons of sugar. Fold into one cup of whipped cream.

To make food richer, to stretch food, call on eggs.

Round Steak Simmered With Herbs and Peas

For a real happy result try serving peas with beefsteak in sour cream. Cut round steak into strips and coat with flour, then brown in fat in hot skillet. A little onion, garlic and green pepper will add to the flavor, and some hers, such as marjoram, basil and oregano.

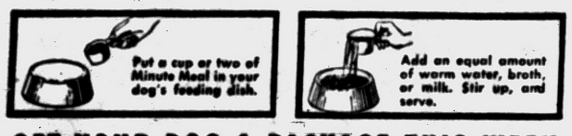

Cover dkillet and cook the steak at low heat about 45 minutes. Remove cover and add a cup of peas and a half cup of dairy sour cream. Heat and serve over cooked noodles.

Vegetables Can Turn Into Something Special

After a long winter of heavy, warmth-giving meals, the meatless dishes of the Lenten season are as welcomed as the first breath of spring. And, the surest way to add new interest to that egg or cheese entree is to accompany it with healthful vegetables.

Instead of limiting your menus, however, to a monotonous cycle of basic vegetable recipes, try preparing them in different and more unusual ways. You'll be pleased with the results, for not only will your family relish these tempting vegetable dishes during this season but also all year round.

Sweet Potatoes and Apples

4 large sweet potatoes
4 large apples
¾ cup melted butter
1½ teaspoons salt
1 cup brown sugar
1 teaspoon lemon juice
½ teaspoon nutmeg

Boil potatoes. Cool, peel and cut into ½" crosswise slices. Wash, core and pare apples. Cut into ½" rounds.

Saute apples in ¼ cup butter until nearly soft and golden. Arrange alternate slices sweet potatoes and apples in greased 2-quart casserole. Combine remaining butter, salt, sugar, lemon juice and nutmeg. Pour half over potatoes and apples.

Bake uncovered, in preheated 375 degree F. oven for ½ hour. Add remaining sugar mixture. Bake an additional 20 minutes. Yield: 8 servings.

Quick Beets Supreme

1 No. 2 can sliced beets
¾ cup sliced onions
2 tablespoons butter
¼ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1-3 cup beet liquid or water

Pour off liquid from beets and reserve. Saute onions in butter until onions are tender. Stir in sugar, salt, pepper, lemon juice and one-third cup beet liquid or water. Add beets and cook until beets are thoroughly heated — about 5 minutes — stirring occasionally. Yield: 6 servings.

Glazed Carrots

1 lb. carrots, cooked
2 tablespoons melted butter
6 tablespoons brown sugar
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon paprika
2 teaspoons water

Cut cooked carrots into halves or quarters. Dip in melted butter. Place in heavy skillet over low flame. Sprinkle with sugar, salt and paprika. Add water. Cook until well glazed, spooning sugar mixture over carrots occasionally. Yield: 4 servings.

Glazed Onions

2 tablespoons melted butter
6 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon paprika
2 teaspoons water
1 lb. small onons, boled

Blend first five ingredients in large skillet over low flame. Add onions. Cook, turning often, until onions are golden and glazed. Yield: 4 servings.

Bean Dishes Serve Many at Low Cost

Let's talk beans talk. Most homemakers know beans are a good food buy in nutrition and economy. How far beans will stretch the budget depends on whether you start with dry beans or conveniently canned beans reminds the MSU Marketing Information Agent.

Dry beans cost 15 to 20 cents a pound. Since a pound will usually serve 7 to 8 people, the cost of just plain beans is not more than 3 cents reports Mrs. Josephine Lawyer. Even when you season with bacon, you probably won't put more than 30 cents worth of seasonings with a pound of beans. That keeps the price per serving at 7 cents or less.

Canned beans cost about 10 to 15 cents for a 1 pound can. That means they cost about 5 to 7 cents a serving, not counting the seasonings you may add.

Dry or canned, beans talk economy, nutrition and flavor.

Milk Ups Nutrition

Home economists of the Department of Agriculture suggest that one tempting way to make use of the abundance of potatoes is to slice potatoes and onions very fine and fry them. Use two parts potatoes to one part onions. Start cooking in hot shortening in a heavy fry pan. Add milk, salt and pepper. Cover and cook slowly until almost tender. Remove cover and brown potatoes during last few minutes.

Veal Leads Bargain List for Week Before Easter

Veal and fryers compete for the shoppers' meat dollars this week before Easter. Most fresh produce supplies are ample, not plentiful. This is the season for good values in canned and frozen foods, reports the Consumer Marketing Information Agent.

MEATS — Many families traditionally serve veal on Palm Sunday. Even though wholesale prices remain steady, many stores follow the tradition by offering veal cuts at special prices. Top grades are still scarce.

Veal cuts are about one-third the size of beef cuts; are very lean. Because veal comes from young animals its flavor is mild. Lack of fat and mild flavor are reasons why veal is cooked with moisture or added fat, and with the addition of spices and other flavors. Sour cream is a favorite addition.

Some retailers report fryer prices are slightly lower. Others say special prices this week are related to less customer demand. Whatever the reason, shoppers will find prices ranging from about 40 to 50 cents per pound.

You may find bacon a few cents more per pound due to higher wholesale prices. Wholesale prices on Boston butts have increased, but retail labels remain as they have for several weeks. Shoppers are getting a good value price-wise when choosing this cut, reminds Mrs. Josephine Lawyer. Boston butts are approximately 84 per cent lean, 11 per cent fat, 5 per cent bone.

Choice grades of beef are the highest they have been since 1952-53. Prime grades are even higher. This is due to small supplies. No ease in beef prices is expected until after the Easter holidays.

Best beef value is ground beef which still figures an economical choice. Divide current prices by four and you will see that cost per serving is low compared to many meats in the market.

Lamb prices continue steady with little change in retail prices. There are exceptions this week, with some stores featuring annual sales on "spring" lamb.

FRUITS & VEGETABLES — Many fresh produce choices continue in light to moderate supply. During this abnormal supply situation, homemakers who need to watch food dollars may buy more canned and frozen items.

When making a decision of which to buy — canned, frozen or fresh, keep in mind the number of servings the various packages give. No. 303 or one pound cans, in which most fruits and vegetables are packed, hold two cups. This is usually four one-half cup servings. Ten-ounce frozen packages serve three people. A pound of fresh vegetables will serve three to five. A pound of fresh fruit will usually serve three to four.

Bananas are in slightly better supply. Apples, grapefruit and orange supplies are dwindling. It is wise to keep these fruits, with the exception of bananas, in the refrigerator to prevent spoilage. Apples held at room temperature will shrivel and lose flavor quickly at this time of year.

Potatoes, carrots, cabbage and green onions belong on the economy list of vegetables. Better supplies of asparagus and head lettuce are expected within two weeks.

EGGS — Strong customer demand for eggs at Easter time is the reason for price changes you may find. Egg prices moved up about two cents a dozen this week.

Since brown eggs cost less per dozen, why not choose these for eggs which you plan to dip in dark colors?

Nutty Egg Salad Differs

Here's a way to serve eggs with nuts: Hard boil eggs, remove shells, and chop the eggs, along with pecan meats; combine with stuffed green olives and mayonnaise. Here is a salad mixture that makes a delicious filling for sandwiches, especially whole wheat bread; and when stuffed into a hollowed-out tomato, it becomes heeer delight.

Bake Frozen Vegetables

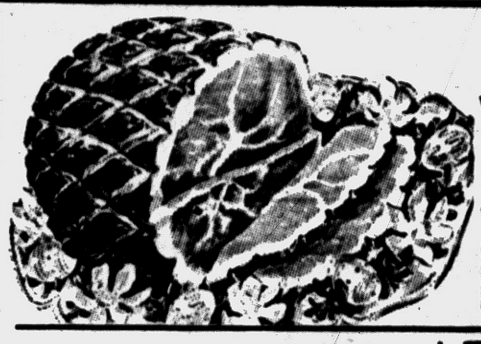

For variety cook frozen vegetables in the oven, say Michigan State University food specialists. Place frozen vegetable in a casserole with 1 to 2 tablespoons butter and ¼ teaspoon salt. Cover and bake until tender — about 45 to 60 minutes. Add 2 to 4 tablespoons water with lima beans and cut spinach and chopped broccoli into 6 or 8 pieces.

For a festive touch, arrange chilled canned Bartlett pear halves in dessert dishes; sprinkle each serving with 2 tablespoons red wine or grape juice. Top with a spoonful of whipped cream and a dusting of nutmeg.

BE SMART! SAVE DOLLARS NOT STAMPS!

"Trading Stamps," said the United States Supreme Court, are an appeal to stupidity. Here's a very "good" reason why.

More than 25 MILLION DOLLARS EACH YEAR is paid out by retailers to Trading Stamp Companies in the METROPOLITAN DETROIT AREA ALONE.

This is enough money to cover the deficit in the city budget and go a long way toward helping solve the state financial crisis.

SAME STORY...

NEW HEADLINE!

Year after year, as the report comes in, the same story is filed for the record. Advertisers continue to exhibit their confidence in the power of newspaper advertising by placing the bulk of advertising dollars in newspapers.

According to the McCann-Erickson, Inc.-Printers' Ink Preliminary Estimates of Advertising Expenditures for 1957, advertisers spent a record $10,432,000,000 in all forms of media. Of this total, a new high of $3,325,000,000 was invested in daily newspapers—more than in radio, TV, magazines and outdoor combined.

Advertisers turn to the daily newspaper because it gives the best buy for the money. Take a hard look at your advertising budget. Is the major share going into deeper-penetrating, more resultful newspaper advertising? If so, you're on your way to more sales per advertising dollar.

All business is local...and so are all newspapers.

Pontiac Press Photos

A Pontiac Press paper boy, Jim Willis of Niagara avenue, stopped over at Dr. W. J. Gooding's home to deliver a paper and found himself two new friends. Although Siamese cats are known for their unfriendliness, Kim Ling (left) and Charlie Chan (right) seem to have taken a liking to Jim.

Posing for our Press photographer is Luckless, a cat owned by Dina Greenway of Tubbs road. Now, Luckless, they tell us, is a most unusual cat in that he is not only coal black but was born on Friday the 13th! It's a good thing Dina's not superstitious.

Cats as House Pets Are the Last Meow

Do you realize how many people are cat lovers?

We never stopped to consider this question until we decided to go out and snap a few pictures of cat lovers and their feline companions.

ALL VARIETIES

In Pontiac we found all kinds of cats from kittens to full-grown specimens weighing over 10 pounds, and alley cats to registered Siamese.

But no matter what the cat's background may be, it was unanimous that once a person becomes attached to a cat he would never have any other pet.

Cats are haughty but loveable, playful yet cautious. And unlike some other pets, these creatures are clean to have as house pets. A feline who doesn't keep herself (or himself) licked clean is indeed a rarity.

And what is more graceful to watch than a cat sitting comfortably licking its fur until it shines? Or what could be more delightful than observing a cat closing in on a mouse (a rubber one we hope) with speed, grace and agility?

MANX BREED

One of the most interesting but least well known cats is the Manx or bob-tailed variety. This specimen, which orginated on the Isle of Man, has a tail with only about three vertebrae. The sight of a bob-tailed cat hopping across the lawn in full chase is amusing and pleasant.

Yes, indeed, cats are loveable creatures, do interesting things and are fine pets.

Over on Chippewa road we found Linda Porritt and her cat, Mitzie. We snapped the twosome just as Linda came home from school and was greeting her feline friend. Mitzie doesn't seem to object to Linda's affection.

Junior League Plans Fair June 6-7

By RUTH SAUNDERS

BLOOMFIELD HILLS—The Junior League of Birmingham has planned a Country Fair to be given in the gardens of the Cranbrook Academy of Art June 6 and 7.

Mrs. Harter Williams, general chairman, has chosen the following members as heads of the several committees: Mrs. William H. Barney, finance; Mrs. Robert Schaffer, tickets; Mrs. William Davis, Mrs. John S. Kerr and Mrs. Richard C. Kern, publicity; Mrs. Colin John and Mrs. Gordon Craig, construction and decorations; Mrs. William C. Long, food; Mrs. John K. Bagby, personnel; Mrs. William B. Bachman, activities; Mrs. John Finegan and Mrs. Charles Lynch, grounds.

Mrs. Paul McKenney will be in charge of a contest, Mrs. Gurden Miller is compiling a Junior League cookbook and Mrs. Richard Teel will emcee an auction.

There will be games, pony and helicopter rides for the children, contests, dancing and a soda bar for teenagers, with many lovely handmade articles to be shown in several booths.

Birmingham Society of Women Painters will arrange an exhibit and sale.

On Friday at noon the fair will open officially with luncheon and style show under the direction of Mrs. Robert Williams.

TEA FOR BRIDE-ELECT

Mrs. Carleton Fox has issued an invitation for a tea April 10 to honor her future daughter - in - law, Virginia Beresford.

Virginia is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Beresford of Lone Pine road. She will be married to Dr. and Mrs. Fox's son, James, in June.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor H. Taylor (Mary Boyer) announce the birth of a son, Jeffrey Boyer, March 10.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Lerchen were hosts at a buffet supper last Friday evening for Mr. and Mrs. Dean Coffin, former Birmingham residents moving back here from Hudson, Ohio.

Guests included the Garvin Bawdens, the Paul S. Bowers, Mrs. Edward Haskett, Mr. and Mrs. David E. White, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Shuler, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hafner and Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Oldberg.

TO ENTERTAIN

Next Tuesday Mrs. Robert L. Bodor will entertain the Birmingham Society of Women Painters at luncheon. She will be assisted by Mrs. W. L. Dennis.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Curtis Matthews and their children will return from Miami Beach just in time for Easter.

Dear Abby....

Just Respect Their Religion

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: We have some neighbors who are very nice but their religion teaches them that dancing is a sin. Our daughter is going steady with their son. They are only in high school but it could get serious.

ABBY

My daughter loves to dance but because this boy's religion forbids dancing she doesn't dare suggest going to a school dance.

I never thought in this day and age intelligent people could believe dancing to be a sin. I can't understand it. Please tell me if you can understand a religion like this one? I don't.

FOR DANCING

DEAR FOR: We are not expected to UNDERSTAND the other person's religion. Just to respect it.

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of four active boys—twin boys, 13, another 11 and another 9. I can stand almost everything, but when they fight in the house it gets me down.

I wait until their father comes home from work so he can lay down the law to them. We don't have a piece of furniture in this house that's in one piece because one of the boys is always pushing somebody around, and lamps, tables and chairs go smash.

Are these average boys and if they are, how does an average mother keep her house from falling apart?

AVERAGE MOTHER

DEAR AVERAGE: Four pair of boxing gloves are a lot cheaper than refurnishing your home. When the boys get rambunctious, tell them to put the gloves on, and send 'em outside.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my mother. She hates my best friend, Mitzi, because Mitzi fell in a hole in our yard and had to have seven stitches in her head, and Mitzi's father is suing my father for $5,000. We didn't dig it. A gopher dug it. How can I explain this to my mother.

SAD WITHOUT MITZI

DEAR SAD: Your Mom knows it wasn't Mitzi's fault. Give her a little time to simmer down and hope your mother's anger disappears with Mitzi's stitches.

DEAR ABBY: My wife is very hard to please when it comes to buying her a present. Everytime I buy her something she takes it back.

I suppose I shouldn't feel hurt because I'd rather have her take it back and exchange it for something she likes better than to keep something she doesn't really care for. Have you any suggestions for my problem?

WANTING TO PLEASE HER

DEAR WANT: Give her something that you made yourself. Like money.

DEAR ABBY: Suppose a guy goes away to school and promises he will write to you and he doesn't write? Would you write him first?

PATSY

DEAR PATSY: No, I'd write him OFF!

CONFIDENTIAL TO "CLEAN AS A WHISTLE": You should be—you were taken to the cleaners!

CONFIDENTIAL TO GRAMMA: My, what big ears you have! Stay off the party line and you will not be so upset by the affairs of others.

For a personal reply, write to Abby in care of The Pontiac Press. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Guests at the luncheon meeting were Mrs. Joseph Green of Royal Oak, WCTU district president; Mrs. Charles Downer of North Branch and Mrs. J. A. Jennings of Royal Oak.

Mrs. Peter Niemi assisted the hostess. State Work Week will be held at the home of Mrs. Clara Todd in Plymouth on April 9 and 10.

MRS. JAMES McCURDY

Installation Conducted by Shrine

Installed as worthy high priestess of Pontiac White Shrine Wednesday evening at Roosevelt Temple was Mrs. James McCurdy. William Anderson was installed as watchman of shepherds.

OTHERS INSTALLED

Also installed at the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Smith, associate watchman of shepherds and noble prophetess; Mrs. Wayne Reaves, worthy chaplain; Bernice Cover, scribe; Mrs. Earle Hoskins, treasurer; Mrs. Donald K. Ely, worthy shepherdess; Mrs. Edward Pritchard, worthy guide; Mrs. William Koggenhop, herald; Wayne Scott and Mrs. Frank Payne, king and queen; Mr. and Mrs. John Sellman, guard and guardian and Mrs. Al Hanoute, organist.

Others were William Cousins, Wayne Reaves and Miles Frusher, wise men; Mrs. Wallace Cooley, Mrs. Cousins and Mrs. Robert Jackson, handmaids.

In the queen's court are Fern Barton, matron of honor; Mrs. Harry Cwikiel, courier, and Mrs. Miles Frusher, flower girl.

KING'S GUARDS

Hope Chests Get New Look

Modern girls still have old-fashioned "hope" chests but only a whiff of cedar remains to tag new designs.

They have swinging doors, are decorated with parquet and harlequin inlaid woods, and are fashionable enough to be used in living rooms as well as a woman's boudoir.

Professors Dig Music as Well as Technology

According to the American Music Conference, a survey of 46 such schools found that more than 60 per cent play some musical instrument for their own pleasure—more than three times the proportion of the general public.

More than a third of these professors and their families make musical evenings a regular family activity. And many play in regular community or school bands and orchestras.

To Dry Out Patent

Prior to World War II the lacquer coats of patent leather were dried in open fields. This natural drying method improves the wear. Patent is now dried in a weather-protected but open pavilion. This modernizezd method has further improved the leather.

Honesty May Be Unkind

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: When a friend asks, 'How do you like my new hat?' and you personally think it very unbecoming, is it rude to say you do not like it?

"A friend and I have had a difference of opinion about this. She seems to think that you should say you like it whether or not you do. I disagree with her and think that when an opinion is asked for, one should give it frankly and honestly."

Answer: If the hat has been bought and paid for and cannot be exchanged, there is no use in saying it is very unbecoming. But if the hat can be exchanged and it is really very unbecoming, it would be fairer to be frank to a real friend.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My boy friend is a senior in college and does not have much money to spend on entertainment. I, on the other hand, have a good job with a large company. Would it be proper for me to supply the evening's entertainment on occasion without offending him?"

Answer: It would certainly be proper, on occasion, for you to tell him that you have tickets for this or that and ask him to go with you. But it would be very embarrassing to him should you go to the box office and pay out money in his presence.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Is a guest of honor supposed to leave the party in her honor first or after the other guests?"

Answer: Unless the guest of honor is a person of very real distinction it is no longer considered a necessary courtesy for anyone to sit on and on after a lunch or dinner waiting for her to make the first move to leave.

At a tea or reception the guest of honor should at least remain long enough to give a majority of the guests an opportunity to meet her. In other words, be among the last to leave.

Worry Can Turn Everything Gray

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Everyone worries occasionally. We would not be intelligent if we didn't. However, most of us worry too much.

The worry habit is a vicious and a dangerous one. It can fix its tentacles on you until your whole world is clouded with a vague apprehensiveness. This has a terrific effect on health as well as on happiness.

There are all kinds of worriers. There is the amateur who has a hard time finding anything of importance to worry about. Then there is the average worrier and, of course, the expert. This is one art you do not want to practice to become expert in.

The worry habit when practiced constantly can turn into a neurosis which becomes a real psychological problem for the victim. He or she becomes afraid of everything, even such simple experiences as a shopping trip or a session at the beauty parlor. This may sound extreme to you but it is not overdrawn. It happens to many people.

Usually the result of worry is not so extreme. Many folks worry about their health. Many of these have been told by competent doctors that there is absolutely nothing wrong with them, but they continue with their fears.

The person in this state is usually tired all of the time, is usually sensitive and shy and sometimes suffers from dizziness. He is often a victim of insomnia, too.

A lot of folks who are not in such extreme trouble do live in a generally apprehensive atmosphere. Everything may seem gray, every trip a danger, and every human relationship a threat. I think many people live in this atmosphere without realizing it since it has become such a habit.

Check up on yourself to see if your present outlook is as optimistic as it once was. I think we all need to take an inventory of ourselves in such matters once in a while because we can so easily slip into habits of thought and feeling before we know it.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Worry" which gives you some practical psychological suggestions for ridding yourself of worries send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 64 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Tomorrow: "Shampoos Oily Hair Every Other Night"

Redheads Need Eye Harmony

If your hair is red, your brows and lashes will also need the same warm tones to bring color harmony to your entire appearance.

With tresses that are light and flaming, use an auburn pencil and brown eyelash makeup, and if the hair's coloring is dark red, feather the brows with a regular brown shade and use brownish-black eyelash makeup.

Miss Caldwell Becomes Bride of Donald Cole

Mrs. Jones Caldwell of Dwight avenue announces the marriage of her daughter, Elizabeth Ann F. Caldwell, to Donald Gene Cole, son of the Alton Coles of Dwight avenue.

The bride is also the daughter of Rudolph Winston Caldwell of Boston, Mass. The couple will reside on Murphy avenue after April 1.

Overlook Remark

If a friend says something that hurts your feelings, just remember that the remark was probably not meant the way you took it. If you show that you've been hurt, you'll strain a friendship.

Patricia Ann Lawrence Speaks Marriage Vows

White gladioli, pompon chrysanthemums and snapdragons decorated the altar of Orchard Lake Community Church for the Saturday afternoon wedding of Patricia Ann Lawrence to Brice Edgar Boesch. The Rev. Edward Auchard performed the ceremony before 200 guests.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Rex Lawrence of Chadwick road, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Boesch of Sebewaing.

She wore a seed pearl Juliet cap with short veil and carried a cascade arrangement of white roses, carnations and lilies-of-the-valley.

Maid of honor Charlotte Robb of Drayton Plains was gowned in an aqua chiffon over aqua taffeta gown in ballerina length featuring a chiffon cummerbund and cap sleeves. She carried white carnations and red roses.

Bridesmaids Patricia Sarantos of Midland and Sharon Livingston wore eggshell chiffon gowns styled like the honor attendant's. They carried white carnations and red roses. Dora Lee Boesch of Sebewaing, junior bridesmaid, was gowned like the attendants.

To receive guests at a reception in the church parlors Mrs. Lawrence chose a powder blue sheath dress with powder blue accessories and an orchid corsage. Mrs. Boesch's choice was a navy two-piece dress with pink accessories and an orchid corsage.

For traveling to Buffalo, N. Y., the new Mrs. Boesch chose a brown tweed suit with red accessories and a corsage of white roses and carnations. The couple will live in East Lansing.

MR. and MRS. CLAYTON COCKING

Juanita L. Dovonno Wed in Candlelight Ceremony

Pink and white flowers banked the altar of Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church Saturday for the candlelight wedding of Juanita Lee Dovonno and Clayton I. Cocking. The Rev. Theodore Allebach performed the ceremony before 150 guests.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Samuel Dovonno of Pontiac road and the late Mr. Dovonno. Parents of the bridegroom are the Irving Cockings of Putnam avenue.

For her wedding the bride chose a Chantiliy lace dress in ballerina length. The gown of lace and tulle over satin featured a portrait neckline and short sleeves finished with scalloped lace and trimmed with seed pearls and sequins. The full tulle skirt was fashioned with a wide band of scalloped lace over tulle.

A tiara of seed pearls and sequins held her illusion veil in place. The bridal bouquet was a cascade of white and pink roses.

Ruth Ann Mitchell of Wyandotte served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Joyce Freeman and Mrs. William Reddish, with Darlene Bengry serving as junior bridesmaid.

They were gowned in turquoise ballerina - length dresses featuring bouffant skirts of nylon organdy over taffeta with taffeta cummerbunds. They carried pink carnations.

The bride changed to a navy sheath dress with white accessories and a miniature rose corsage from her bridal bouquet. The couple will live on Pontiac road.

Married Saturday were Marie Annette Beatty and Floyd G. Robinson. The service was read at Bethany Baptist Church.

New Tub Toys Make Bathtime Fun for Kiddies

New tub toys that float are charming inducements to make youngsters love their daily baths.

Elephants, fish, dachshunds are all made of easy-to-keep-clean polyfoam that's soft, absorbent, and equally appealing whether the toys happen to be wet or dry!

These toys come packaged in sanitary plastic bags and are safe for baby to handle or chew on—if washed often with soap or detergent and hot water.

A sudsy dousing and rinsing after each bathtime will keep them sweet as new.

Soap and Water Best for Burns

A good first aid treatment for minor burns is washing with soap and cold water. The soap cleanses the spot, the cold water soothes it.

If the pain subsides, you can forget about any further treatment, medical authorities declare. But if a burn continues to give trouble, by all means see your doctor.

WHAT ABOUT THE CHEMISE?

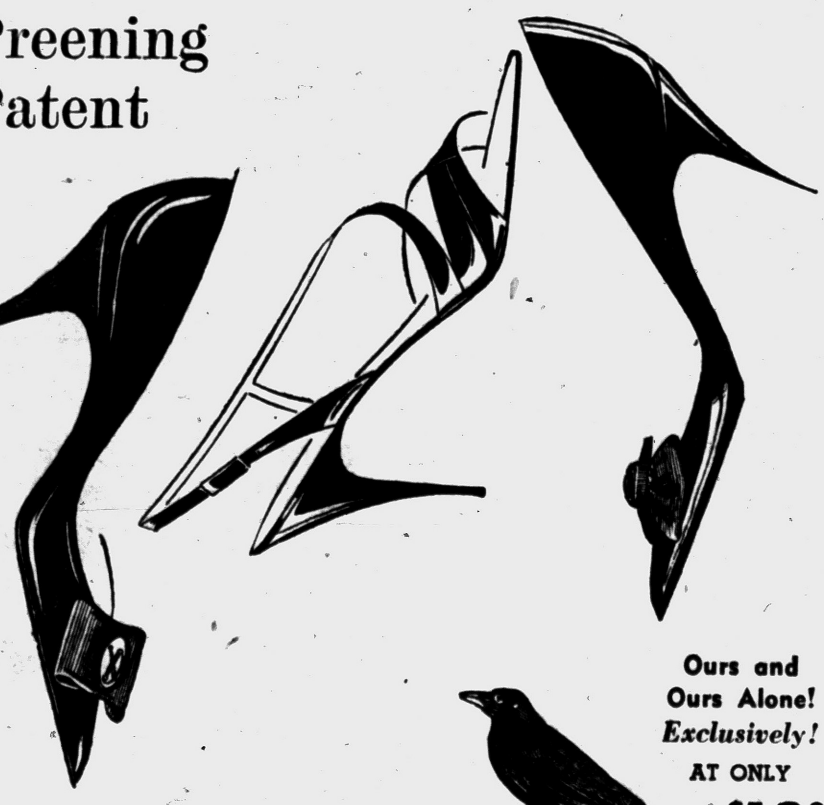

So many people have asked our advice about the chemise that we are prompted to make this public statement on the subject.

HERE IS WHAT WE THINK

1. We believe the chemise, as modified by our American designers who know the American woman, will be an important fashion and will be with us for some time.
2. But we believe that the chemise will not monopolize the fashion scene because there are other equally important fitted and semi-fitted clothes, and we believe women should not permit themselves to be led astray by too much propaganda.
3. Our advice to fashion conscious women is "Buy what is most becoming to you."

Romantic Floral Perfume Goes With Spring Mood

Spring is the brightest season of the year. Sunshine and gentle winds make the recent drab winter seem far behind.

Tired winter wardrobes are set aside, and lovely colors emerge in fashions. It's fun to step out in a new mood, and high on every woman's shopping list will be a change of scent.

Your Christmas perfumes are probably used up, but if not, you'll feel they're not right for spring, when the very air makes you want everything bright and new.

And one of the world's most famous French perfumes is just a blend, with romantic overtones of rose and jasmine. It is so highly concentrated that its makers claim a single drop will last for hours.

Why not try a new floral scent with your new coiffure and your pretty spring fashions?

It will be the finishing touch to your feeling of luxury and loveliness.

The thin upper-torso figure should approach the chemise with care, lest it really hang like a sack from thin-shoulder-no-bosom. The loose blousing at the waist relieves the altogether unbroken silhouette and rounds out the upper figure.

We Vary Comments TO, ABOUT Others

By RUTH MILLETT

What women say TO each other and ABOUT each other are very rarely the same thing.

A woman says to her hostess: "This is the most marvelous angel food cake I ever ate. You must give me the recipe some time." But on the way home she says to her husband, "That cake was fair, but mine's a lot better. Don't you think?"

A woman says to the friend who has been dieting. "You look wonderful." But she asks all their mutual friends, "Have you seen Marianne lately? She has been dieting and she looks simply haggard."

A woman says to the mother of the destructive 3-year-old she brought with her when she came calling: "Don't worry. There isn't a thing he can hurt." But to her friends she says flatly, "I was a nervous wreck by the time they left. And she just sat there as unconcerned as could be."

A woman says to an old acquaintance she hasn't seen in years: "You haven't changed a bit." But in describing the meeting to her husband she says, "You remember Dorothy. Well, she was in town today and we had lunch together, and I was shocked at how she has aged."

A woman says: "I think you did absolutely right," when another woman tells her about a decision she has made. But to their mutual friends she worries, "I certainly hope Anne isn't making a mistake. If I were in her place, I would have done thus-and-so."

A woman says: "It's perfectly lovely," when she inspects another woman's efforts at interior decoration. But when she describes the living room to someone else she says, "It's a shame she didn't get some help from a professional decorator."

But fortunately, we usually only hear what we say TO each other.

Clean Building Declared Vital for Safe School

Clean washrooms, clean lunchrooms, clean floors, clean walls and windows—plus plenty of warm water, soap, and clean toweling—help to safeguard the health of pupils and teachers.

They also contribute to the pupils' general education because children learn good health and grooming habits along with other studies.

Avoid Ties That Clash With Suits

Challis Neckwear Blends Well With Patterned Wool

There's more to looking well-groomed than just putting on a fine wool-worsted suit in the three-button "natural shoulder" model that's currently the accepted fashion among fastidious businessmen. The proper selection of accessories, too, does much to enhance a man's appearance.

The first rule is to avoid choosing accessories that clash with your suit's color and pattern. Many of this season's wool-worsted suits have definite pattern interest. They require neat or plain furnishings.

For example, the popular glen plaid wool-worsted suit calls for either a solid-color tie or one with a neat under-the-knot design.

WOOL CHALLIS TIES

There's a growing trend among "good dressers" toward wool challis ties for wear to the office with their patterned wool-worsted suits. Particularly worth noting are the rich-toned woolen ties trimmed with soft suede. The wonderful thing about them is that they never look wrinkled.

Wool ties are also a master at holding their shape . . . especially the part that ties into a knot. Why not take advantage of the winter 20 per cent off furnishings sales going on right now and add some of the new wool challis tie patterns to your neckwear wardrobe?

Should your wool suit be plain or in a solid color (like a gray wool flannel), then let your wildest impulse be your guide (limited to ties, of course) and choose a bright paisley wool cravat to brighten up your good wool suit.

Keep to a solid-color business shirt if your wool-worsted suit has pattern interest. Avoid a steady diet of white button-down business shirts and start wearing colored shirts, instead, to the office. People almost always take notice of a man in a colored shirt that blends with his wool suit. In fact, those co-workers will probably commend you for the "switch to color."

SPARE SHIRT HANDY

It's advisable to have a freshly laundered shirt in your desk drawer for that contingency when you'd either have to rush home to make a change or buy a new one. By keeping an electric shaver in the office, too, you'll be able to get rid of that "5 o'clock shadw" whenever it's necessary to entertain a client in town.

Did you know that a belt will feel more comfortable if the buckle is shifted from the front a little to the side. It will make your fine wool business or sports jacket fit better, too.

If, by chance, you're one of the fortunate ones planning on taking a Caribbean cruise this winter, check to see if Port-au-Prince, Haiti, is on the itinerary. Many cruise ships now stop there for at least a day.

Instead of spending all that time downtown in the business section around the iron market, hire a cab with guide and drive up to Kenskoff, a district of Port-au-Prince, 1,800 feet above sea level. It's an hour's drive, and on the way the driver will stop to give you an opportunity to see some magnificent views of the harbor down below

Take along a lightweight wool-worsted sports jacket or a soft lamb's wool sweater, because Kenskoff is very cool in the late afternoon and early evening. Lemon is the newest shade in tropic-light wool jackets.

Dad May Get Financial Break

Small Weddings Attract Teens

By EUGENE GILBERT
President of the Gilbert Youth Research Co.

It looks like the hard-pressed father of the bride may be able to relax one of these days. His teenage sons—and, more important, his daughters—are leaning toward small, informal weddings. This in face of the fact that actual weddings these days are reported to be more lavish and elaborate than ever.

Our latest survey of youthful thought in America came up with the information that only three girls out of seven and one boy in four say now that they would prefer being married with pomp and ceremony.

PARENTAL INFLUENCE

And there are indications that those who want a formal wedding are influenced by the fact that they feel their parents expect it of them.

"I would like to make it very simple but mother would have a fit," said Ann Clark of Jacksonville, Fla.

"After all, I'm her only daughter and she's been looking forward to my wedding since the day I was born."

Nevertheless, if they want a big wedding or a small one, the teenagers are almost unanimous in the feeling that they should not share in the wedding expenses. Ninety five per cent of them felt that way.

Parental blessing, as well as dad's checkbook, also is important to altar-bound youth. Less than one per cent of the youngsters told us they would like to elope. They're suspicious of elopement marriages.

"My brother eloped," said a Chicago boy. "By the time my mother and dad forgave him, he and his wife were separated."

Many fewer than 1 per cent of those polled said they thought their mothers or fathers would like to have them elope.

More teenagers want to be married in private homes than any other place. There again they are flying in the face of the known popularity of the church wedding right now.

One in five told us they'd prefer being married in their own homes and one in eight said they'd choose the home of a friend or relative. One in five wanted a hotel or other public building.

GIRLS FOR CHURCH

It is not strange that the girls, who are more apt to like a pompous wedding than the boys, also lean more toward a church wedding.

Roughly one out of three per cent of the girls and 24 per cent of the boys.

About two out of three teenagers would like a month's honeymoon and one in five thinks his or her honeymoon should be about two weeks long.

Honeymoons didn't mean too much to two girls we interviewed.

"All I want is nice groom," said a Baltimore lass.

"I don't think I'll get married in the first place," said a bitter 16-year-old.

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Back in 1953 the Detroit Tigers shelled out $120,000 to three kids. The biggest lump of the investment, a figure around $60,000, went to an upstart southpaw named Bob Miller.

Remainder of the 120 grand was split by Reno Bertoia who got $25,000 and Al Kaline who received $35,000.

No one needs to summarize Kaline's five years with Detroit. Bertoia almost made partial returns of productivity last year, but Miller is still trying to earn his breakfast down in Tigertown.

One thing was always certain and that is — Miller could easily out-talk either Kaline or Bertoia, and probably combined.

Last spring he received his second opportunity to make the grade in the Tigertown camp and he fizzled.

After his second fizzle, Miller, the "modest" fellow that he is, just couldn't criticize himself enough. He was so disappointed in himself he took six months of Army duty and sat around the capitol in Washington to regain the "prowess" which he knew was in his pitching arm.

Of course it was there, Miller himself said so. From 1953 to 1957, Miller in his mind, had developed so many tricky pitches and such a variety, that it almost seemed like the $60,000 would embarrass the meager bonus.

But no one was impressed, just Miller. In fact one writer who watched Miller and then listened to him, wrote in his column, "The Tigers are in the lemon business, they've got themselves a real sour one for $60,000."

Miller is back in Lakeland this year, throwing and still talking his head off on the mound of Cobb diamond in Tigertown.

The concensus of opinions on the question of Miller making the grade are all the same.

"He has a Major League pitching arm, but he has to make up his mind to use it," said Bill Norman, manager of the Charleston AA team, with whom Miller will start this season.

The Tigers need a lefthander badly. Seems a shame to have one at a bonus cost more than three times greater than the team's top winner in 1957, Jim Bunning, is receiving.

Detroit will get a long last look to see if he can make it with Charleston this year, because the Tigers can afford to bring him up only once more.

He pitched and won a fine game in six innings for the "B" team against the Yankee "B" squad and later against the Cincinnati "B" team.

"He's using his fast ball a little more," said one of the Tiger minor league managers watching him on the mound.

This was something on which Miller based his "long-life in the majors," theory. He wasn't going to throw out his arm with too many fast balls and curves. He was going to have so many different pitches he wouldn't have to worry about speed.

Well, four years have already gone by. Miller is fooling someone but not the batters. If Miller does develop that Christmas tree of pitches, and being only 22, who knows we may have another Satchel Paige. You can just hear it, "At the age of 52, Miller now delivers his Vanguard or Sputink pitch," so may say a sportscaster in 1998.

Tonight--Pistons May Exit as Wings Try Again

Another Loss to Hawks Will Mean Elimination From Playoffs

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Detroit Pistons face a do-or-die situation in the NBA's Western Division playoffs as they meet St. Louis in the 5th game of a best-of-seven series here tonight.

Trailing 3-1 thus far, the Motor City five has its back pinned against the wall on the enemy's court at that.

However, the Pistons are likely glad to be away from their own Olympia floor after that record 145-101 walloping by the Hawks Tuesday.

Detroit's only victory in the series was last Sunday at St. Louis and coach Red Rocha is hopeful his charges will return to the "kind of ball we are capable of playing" back at Keel Auditorium.

The situation is the very same in the Eastern Division where the leading Celtics also are at home tonight.

Should the Pistons find their winning ways again tonight, the sixth contest will be played Saturday back at Olympia. A 3rd Detroit victory would bring about a showdown tilt at St. Louis Sunday.

Several of the Hawks have had a hand in their playoff success but the chief Detroit tormentor has been ex-Kentucky great, Cliff Hagan. The 6-4 forward has tallied 128 points for a 30.5 average in the four games with a .537 shooting percentage.

Rocha has hopes Hagan can be held down and Piston ace George Yardley can regain some of the form which enabled him to rewrite the NBA record books during the regular season.

It is certain something will have to happen or the Detroiters will be packing away their hoop gear until next year.

Eye Treatment Keeps Basilio Hospitalized

CHICAGO (AP) — Treatment of Carmen Bassilio's swollen eye was to get underway today in Wesley Memorial Hospital, where the dethroned champion's wife, Kay, spent the night near his bedside.

Basilio fought the last 10 rounds against Sugar Ray Robinson in the Chicago Stadium Tuesday night with his left eye completely closed. It ballooned into a mean, discolored thing by the end of the fight which Robinson won on a split 15 round verdict to regain the middleweight title for the fourth time.

A Chicago eye specialist, Dr. A. Perritt, was called in for examination of the eye yesterday at the insistence of Basilio's wife. The specialist suggested that the former champion be taken to the hospital, and after an examination, this statement was issued:

"The eye itself is not involved. There has been a massive hemorrhage around the eye and we want Mr. Basilio to be hospitalizd several days for observation and treatment."

Robinson, saying that he "ached in every bone," parried the question of a third meeting with Basilio, who won the 160-pound title from him in New York last September.

Robinson said he plans to go to Hollywood in May to test for several movie roles, particularly one in which he would be cast as a toreador in a bull fighting script.

His attorney, Martin J. Macket, said Robinson had told him he had no plans to retire from the ring. He said the champion is against a June rematch, will consider one in September and will give thought to meeting Basilio again.

The International Boxing Club gave an incomplete financial accounting of Tuesday night's fight, showing that each fighter on a 30-30 split would receive in excess of $256,469.

This included for each $81,869 from the net gate, $9,000 from domestic radio and $600 from foreign radio, an estimated $120,000 from closed circuit TV and an estimated $45,000 from movies to be shown later.

Redshirts Hear Stinging Words by Jack Adams

Detroit Hopes to Even Series With Canadiens in Montreal Forum

MONTREAL — The fiery oratory of general manager Jack Adams should be ringing in the ears of the Detroit Red Wings tonight when they tangle with the Montreal Canadiens at the Forum.

Adams cut loose with some choice words yesterday in the wake of Detroit's savage 8-1 pummeling at the hands of the National Hockey League champs here Tuesday night in the opening game of the Stanley Cup semifinals.

Adams' tongue-lashing went something like this:

"We couldn't even have beaten a junior hockey team. For years I've been dying with these guys. But I'm not going to do it anymore. It's their money, not mine, that they're tossing off."

The Redshirts were at their worst against the high-scoring Canadiens in the opener. Montreal had five goals before Terry Sawchuk was even settled in his goaltending position and the defense apparently forgot to show up.

Detroit has always had great difficulty at the Forum and the Wings will have to make another stand here tonight before returning to friendly Olympia Stadium ice Sunday for a two-game series.

Adams' parting words yesterday were enough to burn the ears of every Red Wing player: "Maybe you are a National Hockey League team, but you didn't play like one. If you have no feeling of pride you don't deserve anything better than what happened to you."

The Red Wings must win this evening or find themselves in a precarious 2-0 deficit in the best-of-seven playoffs when they return to Detroit Sunday. Coach Sid Abel said he planned no line-up changes for tonight's contest.

The New York Rangers and Boston Bruins renew their semifinal series this evening at Madison Square Garden. The Rangers scored a 5-3 victory over the Bruins Tuesday in the Garden and seek a 2-0 edge before their playoff switches to Boston.

Boston Takes 4-2 Decision

Tigers Get Socks, but Sox Win

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — The Detroit Tigers, spared a scheduled intrasquad game, went through batting and infield drills today as manager Jack Tighe worked to shake the Bengals out of a preseason losing streak.

Tighe wants his charges to be in fighting trim when they meet the Los Angeles Dodgers Friday, after losing to the Boston Red Sox 4-2 yesterday at Sarasota.

The defeat flattened Detroit's spring record to 5-11. It was the Tigers seventh loss in eight starts.

The Tigers were impressive in the batting box, banging out 11 hits to Boston's five. It was the Sox' fourth straight Grapefruit League triumph. They have a 9-4 mark.

Billy Hoeft, taking the mound for the first time in two weeks, allowed only one hit in his five innings against Boston batters. That was a ground single by Frank Malzone which skipped by third baseman Lou Skizas in the fourth inning.

Billy Martin, Harvey Kuenn, Gail Harris and Johnny Groth each connected twice as the Tigers battered Red Sox starter Frank Sullivan for eight hits in the first five innings. The Bengals got three more off George Susce and Murray Wall who followed Sullivan.

Jim Stump followed Hoeft and was charged with the loss as Boston sprayed the park with a triple, two doubles and a single in two innings. Harry Byrd took over in the eighth and put the sox down 1-2-3.

It was the first step to the mound this spring for Stump who had been troubled with a sore arm.

Malzone's single off Hoeft allowed two runners to score. The tap followed a similar hit by Dick Gernert which skipped through Skizas' legs for an error.

Tigers Get 39 TV Dates

DETROIT (AP) — Regional telecasts of 39 Detroit Tigers baseball games will be made in 1958.

The games will be carried over seven television stations in Michigan and Northern Ohio while the entire 154-game schedule will be presented by 44 radio stations in the two areas.

The television coverage will include 11 Saturday home games, nine Saturday away games, 11 Sunday away games, six week-night away games, one weekday away game and one holiday away game.

NCAA Swimming Meet Under Way Today

'M' Rated Co-Favorite

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Michigan and Yale were heavy favorites to capture most of the prizes in the 35th annual NCAA swimming meet that opened today.

Coaches of the 59 teams assembled here generally were agreed that host Michigan would stroke to its second straight national title.

A majority gave the Easterners the only chance of overhauling the Big Ten champion Wolverines in the three-day meet.

But there was one dissenting opinion cast against the Elis. That came from Yale's own veteran coach, Bob Kiphuth.

"Depth has been our problem this year. We have three good swimmers. Michigan has eight or nine. If I use our men in the individual events, it takes the guts out of the relay teams."

Only three individual titlists from the 1957 championships were entered this year. But among them they won six of the 14 individual events.

Eli Tim Jecko became the sixth swimmer in history to win a triple crown. Two of his triumphs set NCAA meet records. Dick Kimball of Michigan won both the one-meter and three-meter diving events. Cy Hopkins of Michigan scored a record-breaking victory in the 200-yard breast stroke.

Jecko faces a stiff struggle in his three events from Michigan's ever-improving sophomore Tony Tashnick. Tashnick has bettered Jecko's best times in the 200-yard butterfly and individual medley and the 100-yard butterfly.

Kimball will be challenged by Ohio State's diving tandem of Don Harper and Glen Whittne. Each topped Kimball at the Big Ten meet three weeks ago.

Hopkins will be pressed to retain his crown by Joe Koletsky of Yale, Frank Modine of Michigan State and Jim Stanley of Harvard.

Robin Moore, world record holder in the 100-yard freestyle, was entered in the 100 and 50-yard freestyles. He won the NCAA 50 two years ago. Don Patterson of Michigan State, Gary Morris of Iowa and Fred Westphal of Wisconsin were expected to be Moore's top challengers in the 50.

Ted Bishop of Boston and Jack Penrose of Miami Beach became a favorite to take the title this time.

Sixteen teams will compete over the 6,600-yard Orange Brook Country Club course where par is 36-36—72. Finals will be payed Sunday.

Classmates Vie for Skate Title

Jenkins, Brown and five other Senior men's contenders open their competition today in the Intricate School Figures—the compulsory skating patterns which account for 60 per cent of final scores.

Brown, who gained a surprise victory over Jenkins in the School Figures of the world meet in Paris, will try to counter Jenkins' spectacular free-skating craft by adding some new jumps to his repertoire.

Legion Loop Organizes

Oakland County's Junior American Baseball League has been set up for this year as a five-team circuit, but there is hope that the roster may be boosted to seven by the start of play, about June 7.

Current membership includes a Royal Oak club, representing Frank Wentland Post. The Wentland post was in the circuit in 1950, but has not been represented since.

Pontiac so far is not represented. The Boys Club nine, which started the 1957 season, later withdrew. It is hoped that Cook-Nelson Post will manage an entry by June, along with the Waterford post.

District Legion baseball chairman Al Voss of Birmingham, is top man for the league.

"We hope to start play around June 7, after the high schools have finished their seasons. League is composed of boys not over 17 years of age who may be drawn from schools rated in size according to Legion rules," says Voss.

Winners of the circuit in 1957 were Rochester and Milford, with Milford going to the regionals in a playoff.

Apparel Appeal for Ladies in Keg Tournament

Flint's Dort Bowl is offering a novel tournament for Michigan women.

For a $3.25 entry, which includes bowling fees and tourney expenses, the air-conditioned Flint alleys have a first prize of a year's wardrobe, a guaranteed $500 value, and a runnerup $250 wardrobe prize.

Both wardrobes will be through The Vogue store in Flint.

The remainder of the prize list will be based on total entry with 100 per cent of the entry fees guaranteed to be returned in prizes.

The event will run daily, except Mondays, May 6 through June 8 on a 70 per cent handicap basis.

Have 15 in Five Games; Ford, Friend Go Distance

Cubs Get 5 More Homers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sixty runs and 15 homers in five games.

It just happens to represent the most recent performances of the 1958 Chicago Cubs.

And if rival managers are sitting up to take notice, who can blame them? Bobby Bragan of Cleveland and Bill Rigney of the Giants have been forced to. Their teams have been taking the shellackings.

The Cubs, who have been making a MESA of all recent Arizona opposition, did it again yesterday. They hammered five homers in trouncing the Indians 10-5.

Dale Long, Elvin Tappe, John Goryl, Walt Moryn and Jim Bolger did the home run hitting while Ernie Banks drove in two runs with a single. Long and Banks each have hit four circuit blows in last five games in which the Cubs have lifted their spring mark to 10-7.

The Pittsburgh Pirates, who finished in a tie with the Cubs for seventh place last year, were heartened by the return to action of first baseman Ted Kluszewski. Big Klu, who was out with a back injury most of last season, at Cincinnati, made his first appearance in the lineup and had one single in three trips as the Bucs trimmed Los Angeles 6-4.

Another route-going performance was turned in by Whitey Ford of the New York Yankees. Ford yielded only four hits as the Yank "B" team beat Richmond of the International League 8-1.

The Yankees' regular squad was not so fortunate. Sloppy defensive play enabled the St. Louis Cards to pick up three runs in the sixth inning and three more in the eighth for a 7-3 victory over the American League champs. Stan Musial produced an important triple in the sixth.

Veterans Willie Mays, Joe Adcock and Billy Goodman were vital factors in other exhibition games.

Mays and rookie Orlando Cepeda each hit two home runs as the San Francisco Giants beat Baltimore 7-5. Oriole Manager Paul Richards was ejected from the game for disputing a decision by Umpire Shag Crawford.

Adcock led an 11-hit attack with a pair of four-baggers in Milwaukee's 10-2 triumph over Philadelphia. Don Cardwell of the Phils was belted for five runs in the eighth on two hits, three walks, a hit batsman and a balk. Ed Mathews also homered for the Braves.

Billy Goodman drove in six runs with two doubles and single that helped the Chicago White Sox trounce the Kansas City A's 14-1.

The Red Sox and Giants trimmed their rosters. Boston sold pitcher Clarence Churn to Cleveland and first baseman Frank Kellert to its Minneapolis farm in the American Assn. They also optioned infielder Joe Tanner to the Millers.

The Giants transferred pitcher Ralph Vold and outfielder Felipe Alou to Phoenix of the Pacific Coast League and sent to Sanford, Fla. for re-assignment pitchers Tom Bowers, Ernie Broglio, Dom Zanni and catcher Roger McCardell.

Kaline Cinch for 'Hall' Says Detroit Manager

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Manager Jack Tighe says outfielder Al Kaline is "a cinch to be a hall of famer" if he avoids serious injuries.

"There are four things you look for in a ball player," said the Detroit Tiger manager. He listed them as fielding, hitting, running and throwing.

"Kaline can do all four, and do them a lot better than the average player," said Tighe. "There's not a thing he doesn't do well—and he's bound to get better. He's far from his peak."

If a player can do two of those things well, Tighe said he can be a good player. Doing three of them well makes him very good — "and if he does all four well, like Al, well then, he's tremendous."

The ex-bonus player will "never be a leader but rather a lifter," his manager explained.

"He's not a holler guy like some," said Tighe. "But then, neither are guys like Williams, Musial and Mantle."

Kaline needs only maturity at the plate and a better knowledge of the strike zone to reach his potential, said Tighe.

"He still swings at some bad pitches," Tighe added. "Like last year, when he was in a slump, he was swinging at bad pitches because he was so anxious to hit the ball. He had about 50 fewer bases on balls because of that anxiety. When he learns the strike zone like Musial and Williams know it, he'll be a much better hitter and a smarter one.

"But right now, Al is his own worst enemy. He gets mad at himself—which in itself isn't bad—but maybe he lets it get out of hand. I can see that going away gradually now—he's maturing—and if he can avoid serious injuries and get his share of the breaks, he's a cinch to be a hall of famer."

Philly Hangs On by Topping Celts

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Philadelphia Warriors, hanging by their fingers on the brink of elimination, clash with the Celtics tonight at Boston in a desperate bid for four straight victories and the National Basketball Assn. Eastern Division title.

The Warriors went into last night's contest trailing 3-0 in the best-of-seven elimination series and pulled the fat from the fire with a 112-97 victory over the Celtics at Convention Hall.

City Champs Play Jackson

Royals in State Tourney

The Lakeside Royals, Pontiac's Class A basketball champions, will meet the Jackson City Bank team Friday night in the 1st round of the Michigan Recreation Association state tournament at Ypsilanti.

Jackson and the Royals will square off at 9 o'clock in the Willow Run High School gymnasium as part of a doubleheader. Flint and Highland Park collide at 7:30 in the opener of the twin bill.

Another double bill on the Ypsilanti High School court completes the eight-team field. Kalamazoo plays Wyandotte at 7:30 and Grand Rapids clashes with host Ypsi in the 9 o'clock nightcap.

Winners at Willow Run will face each other Saturday afternoon at 1:30, followed by a 3:30 game between the Ypsi High survivors.

The championship final is scheduled Saturday evening at 8 p.m.

Saturday's semifinals and title game will be held on the Ypsi High floor. All teams playing at Ypsi qualified for a berth in the state tourney by winning district crowns.

The Royals conquered Birmingham and Roseville here last week to win their district title. They have been city champs for the past two years.

No $$$ for Burkemo

City Boy's Club Hosts Tourney

The Pontiac Boy's Club will play host to a two-day sectional tournament for Boy's Club teams starting tomorrow when the locals play Keego Harbor at 3:45 p.m.

Three games are set for Friday followed by semifinals and the championship contest Saturday.

Dearborn, Detroit, Highland Park, Auburn Heights and Ypsilanti are the other teams taking part in the event. All players are 16 years of age and under.

Forte, Patrick Will Attend Dryden Fete

The athletic teams of Dryden High School will be feted at an All-Sports banquet to be Friday evening at the Dryden Community School.

Aldo Forte, offensive line coach of the Detroit Lions, and sportscaster Van Patrick will be guests of the players. Forte will show filmed highlights of Detroit's six most important games of the past season with Patrick serving as narrator.

Dryden assistant coach Robert Bancroft will be toastmaster.

A Lone Wolverine

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Capt. Max Pearson, a runnerup last year, will be the University of Michigan's lone representative tomorrow and Saturday in the NCAA wrestling championships at the University of Wyoming. Pearson will wrestle at 130 pounds.

LITTLE MISS WONDERFUL — Basketball, tennis, baseball or golf, Mary Ann Eisel shows indications of becoming another Babe Didrikson. Pitching for the Aces, the 10-year-old broke a 44-year-old all-male tradition in the St. Louis Municipal Baseball Association of 800 boys. The 65-pound sixth grader swims like a fish, but mother objected when she began talking football.

Boston Subs Don't Squawk

BOSTON (NEA)—While the Boston Celtics have romped in the National Basketball Association, Red Auerbach speaks more wonderingly of his bench than his starters.

"All your trouble in basketball comes from the seventh, eighth, ninth and 10th men," Coach Auerbach says. "They're the ones that don't play much and they sit it out night after night and after a time they start screaming about it. Then you have trouble.

"I should have plenty of it. Andy Phillip, Arnie Risen and Jack Nichols are my deep men and they're veterans. But do they squawk? The other way around. I put them in a game for five minutes and they don't just hold a lead. They play their hearts out and get us an even bigger edge."

UP Fishing Sites OK'd for Purchase

LANSING — Fishing sites on Bass Lake in Luce county and on Beaton's Lake, Gogebic county, were approved for purchase at a recent Conservation Commission meeting.

The Commission also approved purchase of 194 acres in two southern Michigan game areas under the Pittman-Robertson program.

Money from the sale of Great Lakes bottom lands will be used for purchase of three tracts of high priority wildfowl lands; two tracts totaling 160 acres will be purchased for addition to the Shiawassee River state game area southwest of Saginaw and 18 acres, including about 9500 feet of lake frontage on Portage Point, Delta county, will be purchased for addition to Menominee state forest.

Tebbetts Seeks More Trades, Has Good Bait

TAMPA, Fla. (UP) — The Cincinnati Redlegs made a flock of winter trades for pitchers and other needed talent, but manager Birdie Tebbetts says the club is interested in further deals.

He told newsmen yesterday, "sure, we're rich with catchers and there are four or five clubs in the National League who don't have any catching to speak of.

"We haven't moved. They know our address in case they want to come up with the right deal."

71 Million Golf Rounds

CHICAGO (NEA)—The National Golf Foundation in its annual report proves rather conclusively that Americans are still going crazy about the Royal and Ancient.

The foundation reports 71 million 81-hole rounds played in 1957, up from 67½ million last year.

Total equipment sales were up 11 per cent, with ball sales up seven per cent and club sales up three.

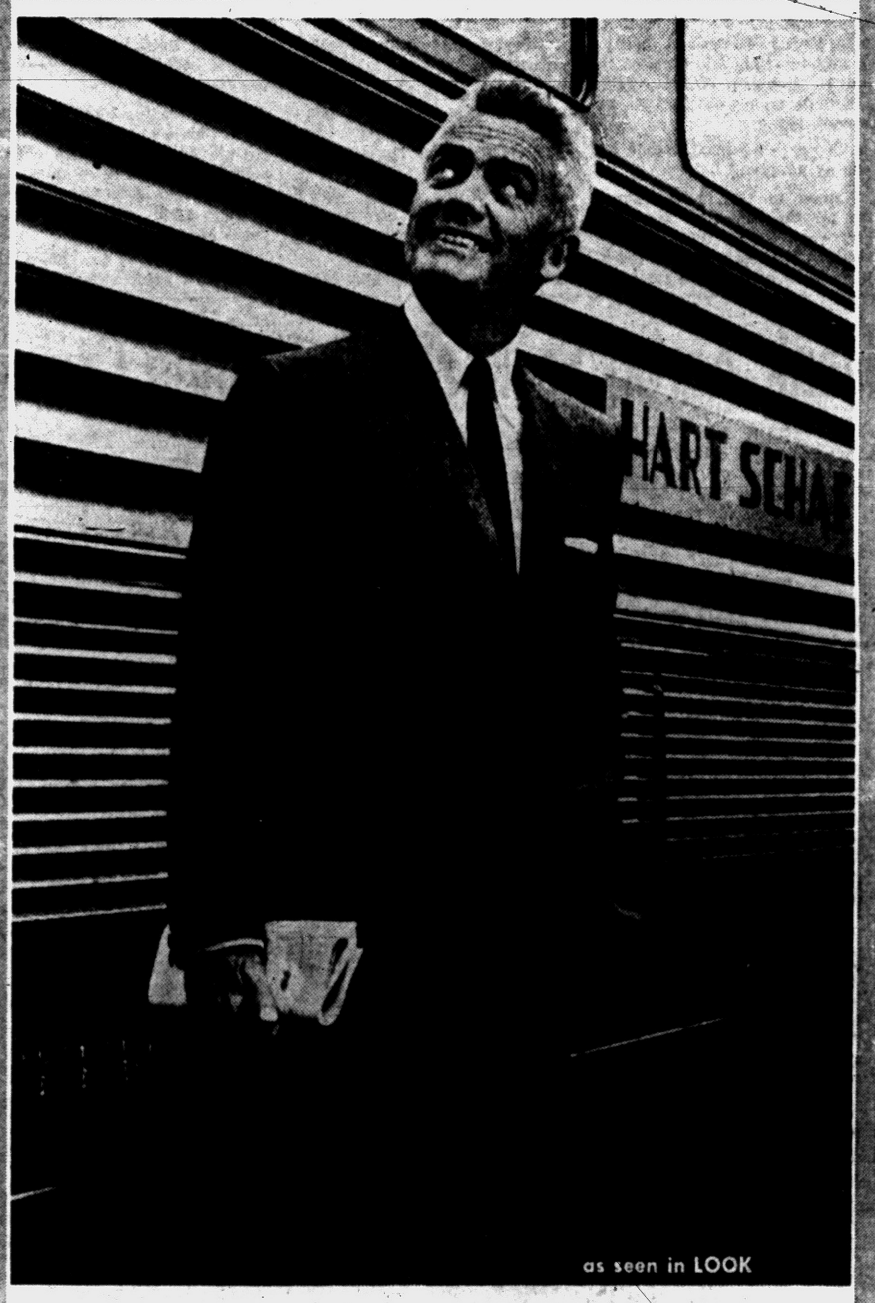

Most of the people wild about golf are women and kids. Women's play was up 15 per cent above 1956 and junior play 20.

No fewer than 160 new courses were opened at a cost of $35,000,000. And you can look for more of the same in years to come. The foundation reports that 289 more courses are now being constructed and 758 more are planned.

U.S. Skaters Lose, 9-6

LONDON (UP) — Weldon Olson of Marquette, Mich., scored one goal for the U. S. amateur hockey team in its 9-6 loss to the professional Harringay Racers here yesterday. The American team is on its way home from the world hockey championships at Oslo where it finished fifth.

Quarter-Finals Tonight in AAU

1957 Champ, Favorites Stay Alive in National Cage Tournament

DENVER (AP) — The 51st National AAU basketball tournament swings into the quarter-finals tonight with defending champion U.S. Air Force and co-favorites Wichita, Kan., and Bartlesville, Okla., still in the running.

Lake Charles, La., pulled the tourney's big surprise by upsetting fifth-seeded Akron, Ohio, 72-66. The Louisiana Team, built around a core of players who won the 1956 NAIA small college championship for McNeese State, used poise and a 27-point production by Bill Reige to sideline the Ohioans.

Peoria, Ill., became the fourth NIBL team to reach the quarter-finals by trimming the smaller U.S. Navy All-Stars 94-58 and meets Lake Charles in the final game of today's pairings.

Akron was the only one of the eight seeded teams to fall in the second round. Twenty-four teams began play Monday in the tourney that winds up Saturday.

Spartans Strong Boxing Threat

Michigan State Team Will Be Dropped After Weekend NCAA Meet

Defending champion Hal Espy of Idaho State drew the Pacific Coast titleholder, Archie Milton of San Jose State, as his first opponent.

San Jose State, which won the Pacific Coast team title in Reno last week, and Michigan State are figured to give defending champion Idaho State the most competition.

Other schools entered are the Universities of Virginia, Hawaii, California, Nevada, Wisconsin and San Francisco; Cal Poly, College of Idaho, Washington State and Chico State.

MSU is giving up boxing as a varsity sport after this season and the six-man entry in the NCAA will be the last to officially carry the Green and White colors.

John Horne, in the 178-pound bracket, is undefeated this season and the strongest MSU title contender. Tom McNeeley, also a tackle on the football team, decisioned Epsy of Idaho State in dual meet competition and also could bring back a title.

YOU'RE THE MANAGER

CURT SIMMONS

By BEN OLAN

Philadelphia first baseman Ed Bouchee was one of the major leagues' outstanding rookies in 1957. He batted .293 and drove in 76 runs. Many observers feel he has the potential to become one of the stars of the game.

In the following situation, Bouchee kicked off a rally that led to some masterminding by Mayo Smith, the Phils' manager. Smith made the right decision. How would you have called it?

Ruben Gomez (R) is pitching for the Giants. The game with Philadelphia is tied 1-1 in the top of the 10th at New York. Bouchee starts off the inning with a single and Chuck Harmon runs for him. Willie Jones grounds out, Harmon moving to second, Stan Lopata is walked intentionally. Bob Bowman grounds out with Harmon moving to third and Lapata to second. Chico Fernandez also is walked intentionally, filling the bases. Pitcher Curt Simmons (L) is the next batter with Richie Ashburn (L) on deck.

Would you:

a. Let Simmons swing away?

b. Have Harmon try to steal home?

c. Put in a pinch-hitter for Simmons?

(Other data: Simmons has 4 hits in 16 tries for the season; Harmon has two steals in 13 games; the available pinch-hitters are Harry Anderson, Marv Blaylock, Solly Hemus and Roy Smalley.)

Result: A — Simmons swings away and hits a single, scoring Harmon. Curt holds the Giants in the bottom of the inning and the Phils win 3-1 (May 30).

State NAIA Fetes Cage Stars

MT. PLEASANT — Tom Newhof, Calvin College's superb high-scoring standout, and Ferris Institute's Roger Vanderlaan became the first two-time selections on the annual Michigan NAIA All-Star basketball team which was announced today.

Both made the honor squad last year as juniors.

Named to the 10-man honor list for the first time were Ed Start of Calvin, Gary Lee of Central Michigan, Chuck Crickmore of Eastern Michigan, Bob Pearce of Northern Michigan, Leon Harper of Adrian, George Arrick of Alma, Jim Reynolds of Hillsdale and Walt Maser of Kalamazoo.

The players will be feted at the Michigan NAIA chapter's annual basketball banquet Thursday night at Ferris Institute. The event will start at 6:30 p.m. and one of the highlights of the evening will be the announcement of the 1958 Coach of the Year winner in basketball.

For Newhof, the repeat selection made him eligible for NAIA All-America honors and the Knights' prize center was selected on the third team among the nation's best small college players.

One of the most prolific scorers in Calvin's cage history, Newhof played on two MIAA championship teams and compiled an 18.8 per game point average, scoring 1,350 points in four years of competition.

He is a 6 ft. 9 in. senior and the team's most valuable player during the recent season. Newhof earned all-MIAA honors all four years.

The MIAA placed the most players on the honor list, claiming six berths, two of them by Calvin. Central Michigan and Eastern Michigan of the Interstate Conference grabbed two positions while independents Northern Michigan and Ferris were represented by one player apiece.

Although only 5 ft. 8 in. tall, the Chip sophomore led CMC in scoring with 320 points in 22 games for a 14.5 average besides playing a brilliant role as Central's floor field general from his guard position.

Vanderlaan, a 6 ft. 3 in. senior, has been Ferris' most valuable player for four straight years and the Grand Rapids product reset the all-time career scoring record with 973 points. He scored 248 of them this season and had a 17.7 per game average. Vanderlaan captained the 1957-58 Bulldog crew.

Crickmore, former Flint Central captain, is only a junior and was Eastern Michigan's all-everything player. He led the team in scoring with 270 points, was named most valuable and honorary captain for 1957-58 and has already been selected to lead the team next season.

Hank Aaron Seeks Triple Batting Crown

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP) — Hank Aaron, the major league home run and runs batted in champion last year, could be the first Triple Crown winner in the National League since Joe Medwick in 1937.

The way the fleet Milwaukee outfilder has been slugging in spring training, he appears a serious threat to regain the batting title he lost to Stan Musial last season.

In the first 11 games, Aaron was batting .342 with four home runs and 13 runs batted in. Two of the homers came in one game.

"Last year I got off to a good start but I went into a tailspin after I hurt my ankle in Philadelphia," said Aaron at the world champions' spring base. "I was hitting about .350 at the time.

"I never dreamed of leading the league in home runs. I wouldn't bet any money on repeating. But I ought to average 30 or 35. I'd like to drive in over 100 runs. If I get off good, I'll go after everything."

Reconciled to playing center field until Billy Bruton is able to take over his old job, Aaron is working hard at learning the tricks of the position. Although he played center from mid-July through the World Series, Aaron still has problems.

"It's harder playing center than right," he said. "You have to make a longer throw. And you have to learn how to cross over and back up the others.

"I have made up my mind to get used to it although I have played both positions in the exhibition games. This is the place to learn, down here where it doesn't count.

Aaron, known as a bad ball hitter, owns a .313 major league average over a four-year span since he made the big jump from Jacksonville in Class A to the Braves. The Most Valuable Player in the National League, and a .393 slugger against the Yankees, this young (24) man from Mobile has the makings of a great hitter.

"Henry is the same kind of hitter as Rogers Hornsby used to be," said Manager Fred Haney. "Like Hornsby, his power is to right and right center but he can pull the ball out of the park. He hits where the ball is pitched."

Top Pros in Azalea Field

WILMINGTON, N. C. (AP) — Sixteen of the top 22 official money winners of the year are in the field for the $15,000 Azalea Open golf tournament beginning tomorrow.

Ken Venturi of San Francisco, the leader with more than $11,500, has passed up the 72-hole, three-day test, because of a flu attack that forced him out of the St. Petersburg, Fla., Open a week ago.

Billy Casper, the round man from Apple Valley, Calif., whose $11,450 in winnings ranks a close second to Venturi, is entered here as is Arnold Palmer, the Latrobe, Pa., pro who won last year, and won at St. Petersburg last Sunday.

Michigan Boxer Wins Fight in Air Force Meet

WASHINGTON (AP) — One Michigan fighter won his bout and another lost in the quarter-finals of the Air Force Worldwide Boxing Tournament last night.

Defending Champ Beaten in Seniors Tournament

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Medalist J. Walcott Brown of Sea Girt, N.J., moved into third round play today as one of the few remaining favorites in competition for the American Seniors Golf Assn. title.

Hart Scores TKO Over 'Tombstone'

PHILADELPHIA (AP) —Garnett "Sugar" Hart, equipped with his new "wheeling and rolling" maneuver, is ready to take on the best in the welterweight division says Manager Marty Stein.

Hart, of Philadelphia, is one of the fresh faces in the division and his speed and fast hands make him a crowd pleaser. Now, says Stein, with wheeling and rolling, Hart should move far above his present National Boxing Assn. No. 7 ranking.

Top Mud-Runner Eyed for Derby

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A muddy track was in prospect today for the mile and a furlong Florida Derby but Gulfstream Park officials expect a field of 12 to 14 starters in the $100,000 added Saturday feature.

Interest centers about the mud-running ability of Calumet Farm's Tim Tam, the probable 6-5 choice, who won an allowance race at Hialeah in the mud and took the Everglades over a track rated "good."

Close Competition Seen for NCAA Mat Tourney

LARAMIE, Wyo. (AP)—Individual and team competition in the NCAA wrestling tournament tomorrow and Saturday may be the closest in the 28-year history of the collegiate athletic competition.

Three membres of the Big Eight Conference — Oklahoma, Iowa State and Oklahoma State—loom as the favorites.

Orient Fistic Tour Planned for Sugar

TOKYO (AP) — Lope Sarreal, Filipino fight promoter in Japan, said today middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson is interested in staging a series of boxing exhibitions in the Orient.

Sarreal said he received a letter from George Gainford, one of the champ's managers, asking him to arrange an exhibition tour for Robinson.

The Filipino matchmaker said he has accepted the offer and cabled Gainford guaranteeing the champ at least six exhibitions. He said if everything goes well he plans to have Robinson appear in Honolulu, Okinawa, Bangkok, Manila, Japan and possibly Guam.

He Just Wanted to Play

BLOOMINGTON, Ind.—(NEA)—A college football career started and ended for Don Brodie the same afternoon, but it made a lot of people happy.

Too small to take het punishment but with such a competitive heart that he endangered himself, Indiana coaches feared to play the five-foot-seven, 151-pound wingback.

As his father, Dr. Donald Brodie, an alumnus, and his 84-year-old grandfather, John W. Teter, who was a Hoosier halfback in 1899-1900, said: "Don would rather sit on the Indiana bench for three years than play with any other team."

This was his third year on the bench. In practice he hurtled his mite-sized body at giants. No one was too big, no going too rough.

He loved football and he wouldn't let the lack of size stop him. A student trainer, he helped the squad get ready for practice, suited up, battled the big fellows.

His moment finally came at Ohio State. On his first play he outfought two defenders to catch a 21-yard pass as the half ended. In the second half he did it again with a 25-yard pass. He fought for the last inch. Tacklers buried him. Injured, he left the game.

"It was my unpleasant job to break his heart," Dr. Brodie said, "by telling him that he had a broken bone in his leg and he was through as a football player."

57 Is Simple: Hold and Hope

"You have a 4-4, a 4-3, an Oklahoma 52, a Philadelphia Eagles 71 and a 57."

All his numerical descriptions made sense (Oklahoma 52: a five-man line and two line backers) except the 57 and he was asked about it.

"A 57 is simple. It is a five-man line and the linebackers move up and hold the ends and hope the officials don't catch them."

World Amateur Golfing Tournament Set for Fall

It will be knwon officially as the World Amateur Golf Team Championship. It will be held every two years and will be open to all golf-playing nations.

The first tournament will be staged next October, exact dates to be fixed later, at historic St. Andrews in Scotland. The 1960 event comes to the United States and the 1962 tournament probably goes to Australia.

President Eisenhower said of the project, announced today "I visualize it x x x as a potent force of establishing good will and friendship between yet another segment of the populations of nations."

The U.S. Golf Assn. and the Royal and Ancient Club of St. Andrews announced jointly that invitations had gone to 49 nations asking them to send representatives to a planning conference May 2-3 at Chevy Chase, Md., near Washington, D.C.

At the Chevy Chase meeting, an international committee will be set up to conduct the tournament.

The format is aready set. It will be a 72-hole medal play tournament in which each country places four players. The team title will be determined by adding the three lowest individual scores of each team.

The tournament will rotate among three geographical zones—America, Europe and Australia. It will be held in October so as not to conflict with established events such as the Walker Cup and America's Cup.

Sees New Record in Texas Relays

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—"I definitely feel we can set a new sprint medley relay record at Austin. And then probably lower it later in the season."

No, that's not a proud Texan talking. It's California's Don Bowden, NCAA half-mile record holder and the only American to run a mile in less than 4 minutes.

"We have a good chance to win both the medley and two-mile relays," said Hamilton, the United States' 1952 Olympic coach.

Pontiac Boxer Loses in Navy Tournament

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Robert Nichols of Pontiac, Mich., dropped a split decision to Dale Mallet of Leesville, La., in the All-Navy Boxing Tournament here last night.

Gonzales Leading Hoad

MUNCIE, Ind. (AP) — Pancho Gonzales was ahead of Lew Hoad again today in their professional tennis series after beating the Australian here, 6-3, 6-1. Gonzales' victory last night gave him 23-22 edge in series.

Lions Complete '58 Exhibition Schedule

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Lions have completed their 1958 exhibition schedule with the addition of a Sept. 20 game against the Cleveland Browns in Cleveland.

The National Football League champions will play the Browns in Detroit Aug. 22.

Other pre-season games will be against the College All-Stars at Chicago Aug. 15, the New York Giants here Aug. 29, the Chicago Bears at Dallas Sept. 5, and the Philadelphia Eagles in Norman, Okla., Sept. 13.

Denies Report Kramer to Raid Aussie Ranks

SYDNEY (AP)—A report that had the makings of an international incident between the United States and Australia was denied today.

Sports writer Ken Archer, writing in the Daily Mirror, said that Jack Kramer, U.S. pro tennis promoter, was ready to raid the ranks of Australia's top athletes and launch them on professional careers. Bob Barnes, Kramer's Australian manager, was quick to deny the report.

"Kramer is not the least bit interested in turning Australia's top athletes and swimmers into professionals," Barnes said. "The idea was mine. I wrote to Kramer who quickly knocked the scheme on the head."

BRIDGE ACROSS THE SEA — A girl with a bridge all her own is nine-year-old Marissa Leonzio, who made headlines recently when she wrote a plea for a span over a stream close to her home near Nibbiaia, Italy. She wanted the bridge because the waters of the stream rose so high she was often unable to wade across and had to make a four-mile detour to get to school. Marisa got her bridge to school and also one to America, when Columbia Pictures, who paid for her bridge in Italy, invited her to a Washiniton, D. C., premiere of its film, "The Bridge on the River Kwai," as a guest of the American Field Service. She holds a model of the bridge in the film against the background, appropriately enough, of New York's Queensboro Bridge.

'Fallout Hazard Not Yet Known'

AEC Scientist Says Nuclear Danger May Take Years to Assess

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. Willard F. Libby said today the extent of radioactive fallout hazard from nuclear weapons testing is "not known exactly and probably will not be well understood for many years."

But Libby said "common sense and good judgment can be brought to bear" in assessing the hazards.

Libby, scientist member of the Atomic Energy Commission, discussed world concern over fallout in a speech for the Swiss Academy of Sciences meeting in Lausanne, Switzerland. The text was made available here.

"Persons living at high altitudes on granitic rock always have received extra radiation many times greater than is contained in the radioactive fallout from the testing of nuclear weapons," he said. "Even those living on certain sedimentary rocks at sea level always have received about 10 to 20 times the present fallout dose."

"Of course," Libby added, "this does not mean that any of the effects from radioactive fallout are in any way negligible and it does not mean that certain numbers of people will not be injured by radioactive fallout radiations, even though these numbers be very small relative to the total population of the world."

He said research to increase understanding of the hazards is being done, especially in the United States and Britain.

Susan Kurtz Slated to Return Sunday

ONSTED (AP) — Susan Kurtz, 11, who is recovering from a dramatic last-change heart operation in a Cleveland hospital, is scheduled to return to her home here Sunday.

Physicians at St. Luke's Hospital shut off a pinched transplanted artery and closed a hole in the girl's heart. They also enlarged her main heart-lung artery.

"We're very happy," Susan's father Lloyd said yesterday as he prepared to bring his daughter back by car. "Susan's recovery has been just short of a miracle."

Moonshiners Invited to Church by Sheriff

"We were sorry we did not arrest anyone, but we left a friendly note inviting the moonshiners to join us at church Sunday morning," reported Sheriff T. C. Sizemore.

Hollywood Headlines

Pressure on Film World Applied by Many Groups

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Notes and comment on the Hollywood scene—

The movie industry has to fight not only television and an apathetic audience. It still gets pressure from all sides.

This week G-man J. Edgar Hoover asked the industry to soft-pedal films glorifying crime. This is believed to be the first such formal request from the FBI to the movies.

Until recently, the industry also heeded a request by the Treasury Department to avoid narcotics subjects. Films are still more limited in handling dope stories than is TV.

The services exert an influence through granting or denying the use of troops, equipment and facilities. "The Caine Mutiny" had to pass Navy muster before the fleet cooperated. The Air Force also made "suggestions" about the treatment of the romance of an American flier and Japanese actress in "Sayonara."

Recently, "The Hunters" script had a hot romance between a senior Air Force officer Robert Mitchum and a junior officer's wife May Britt. The torrid aspects of the affair were toned down by request.

Supervision even extends to titles. Twentieth Century-Fox had a comedy called "A Nice Little Bank That Should Be Robbed." The bankers objected, so the title became "How to Rob a Nice Little Bank." The FBI put thumbs down on a blueprint for bank robbery. Now it's back to the original title, the studio figuring perhaps bankers are easier to fight than the FBI . . .

The movie town is still reeling from the deaths of Jesse Lasky, Al Lichtman, Harry Cohn, Mike Todd and Don Hartman. Never was production talent needed so badly. Yet the ranks of producers are thinning . . .

The long career of Peggy Ann Garner is just about over, says her husband Albert Salmi. He's working in his second film, "The Bravados," at 20th-Fox, where Peggy made many films as a child star. Except for an occasional TV show, she's content to be a housewife, he said.

Both Parties Claim Gains in New York

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The 1958 session of the New York State Legislature adjourned last night with both Democratic Gov. Averell Harriman and the Republican majority leadership claiming gains that would bolster party chances during this gubernatorial election year.

Minutes before the session ground to a close, the Republican high command split dramatically over a plan to combat crime in the state.

Harriman fought hard against a bill that would set up a four-man crime commission with two Republicans and two Democratic members. The governor had wanted a three- or five-man commission controlled by Democrats.

GOP Senate leaders tried to head off a Harriman veto of the crime commission by approving a resolution that would have created a six-member joint committee. But the measure was pigeon-holed in the Assembly.

Negro 'Most Popular' in Texas High School

ESLACO, Tex. (AP)—Leon Jackson, a Negro halfback on the Weslaco High School football team, has been named the most popular boy in the school.

Jackson, 17, was chosen in a student election in which more than 500 students took part, school officials said.

The South Texas school has been integrated for three years but only three Negroes attend. Jackson has maintained a "B" average in school.

Superintendent Grady Hester said Jackson was selected "not because he was an underdog but because the kids just like him."

Esther Williams Sues to Divorce Ben Gage

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Esther Williams and Ben Gage have decided to end what once was regarded as one of Hollywood's happiest marriages.

She sued for divorce yesterday, charging the former radio announcer with extreme mental suffering and cruelty.

They married 12 years ago and have three children.

They separated last November. She is 34, he is 43.

End Campaign Talks in Canada

Pearson Appeals From Ottawa, Diefenbaker to Speak in Quebec

OTTAWA (AP) — Conservative Prime Minister John Diefenbaker and Liberal Party Leader Lester Pearson scheduled nationwide appeals for votes tonight in final television speeches of their campaign for the parliamentary election Monday.

Pearson was scheduled to speak from Ottawa (10 p.m. EST) and Diefenbaker was to follow 15 minutes later from Quebec City. Both will continue speaking to local meetings through the weekend.

Diefenbaker drew an audience of 6,000 at Montreal last night. He invited Quebec voters to "embarrass" him with the number of cabinet - caliber Conservative members they elect. Only 9 of the 75 Quebec MPs in the last Parliament were Conservatives, but three of them were given Cabinet posts.

The Prime Minister spoke in French and English and drew a two-minute standing ovation when he finished.

At Windsor, Ont., Pearson chided the Conservatives for taking no action to remove barriers on the sale of Canadian-made cars to Communist China.

Speaking to a capacity audience of 900 in a school auditorium, the Liberal leader referred to charges by the Canadian director of the United Auto Workers that U.S. government pressure on the Ford Motor Co. blocked the sale of 1,000 Canadian-build Fords to China.

Pearson, who was foreign minister under the Liberals, said the government should have let Washington know what Canada thought about American interference with Canadian exports.

Fourth Brother Wins Badge as Eagle Scout

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — When the Eagle Scout badge was pinned on Paul Lester Ghiz, 16, it was an old story to the Ghiz family.

Sons of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Ghiz, Paul's three brothers had won their Eagles within the preceding five years.

The elder Ghiz is leader of an Explorer Post.

Feisal Alters Government

Makes First Changes Since Assuming Power in Saudi Arabia

CAIRO (AP) — Exercising the powers yielded by his royal brother, Saudi Arabia's Crown Prince Feisal reportedly has set up three master committees to help him run the desert kingdom's foreign, internal and economic affairs.

Informants said the 54-year-old prince already has begun streamlining the government hitherto run by a nine-man Cabinet and 40-member Consultative Assembly hand-picked by King Saud.

Egyptian officials kept silent about the change, but there was no doubt they welcomed it.

Feisal, who previously held the figurehead jobs of premier and foreign minister, reportedly wrested authority in a showdown with his brother over political and financial troubles.

Despite its vast oil resources, the Saudi government is reported broke. Informants trace the trouble to the extravagance of the royal family with its more than 300 princes.

Informants expressed doubt that Feisal would try to alter the agreement giving the United States use of the Dhahran air base unless it developed that Saud had granted some secret concessions.

The informants also felt that the witch posed no great threat to the Arabian American Oil Co. (Aramco), which has the oil concession in Saudi Arabia.

Austria to Build Swimming Pool Atomic Reactor

VIENNA — Austria expects sometime during 1958 to have a 5,000-kilowatt swimming pool atomic tank research reactor, Vienna reports.

The Study Company is 51 per cent government owned. Meanwhile the Ministry of Education has been moving toward a decision as to the type of training reactor, which probably will be located in Vienna, with the increasing possibility of establishing in addition an exponential pile in Oraz.

Wheat Futures Rally Today

CHICAGO (AP) — Wheat futures showed their first signs of a rally in several days in early dealings on the Board of Trade today. All deliveries were up around a half-cent a bushel or more but some traders said the grains did not appear to have built up a very deep or solid demand.

Other grains and soybeans were around steady in a light trade.

After about an hour the entire market had firmed up with wheat gains running in well over a cent a bushel. At that time wheat was ⅝ to 1½ higher, May $2.17⅜; corn ½ higher to ⅛ lower, May $1.17; oats ¼ to ½ higher, May 66; rye ¼ to 1 cent higher, May $1.28¼; soybeans unchanged to ⅝ higher, May $2.25¼; lard unchanged to 10 cents a hundred lbs. higher, May $12.67.

Reuther, Solon Ready to Clash

UAW Chief, Goldwater May Tangle as Probe of Kohler Strike Ends

WASHINGTON (AP)—Walter Reuther and Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz) squared off today for what could be a fiery climax of their long feud.

Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, was called to testify as possibly the final witness in the Senate Rackets Committee's probe of violence in the nearly four-year-old UAW strike against the Kohler Co., a Wisconsin maker of plumbing fixtures.

The Kohler hearing originally set for 11 a.m. was set over to 1:30 p.m. without explanation.

Goldwater, a member of the committee, long has been a critic of Reuther. The two have swapped unpleasantries at long range. A month ago, Reuther and Goldwater called each other cowards.

The UAW chief has accused Republican members of the committee of being biased and wanting to smear him and the auto workers union. Reuther has included Goldwater in this charge, along with Senators Mundt (R-SD) and Curtis (R-Neb).

Both sides of the Kohler strike have accused each other of violence which at times has marked the bitter dispute that started in April 1954.

Herbert V. Kohler, the company's head, testified that the UAW resorted to mob violence, "night riding vandalism" and illegal boycotting against his firm. Kohler also said he believes the UAW has lost the strike, on which the union has acknowledged spending 10 million dollars.

He said the company has not been hurt, and that while "I have to be a little modest about it, I think it (the union) has lost it."

Although the strike still is in effect, the company is operating with a force of nonstrikers and new workers.

The silver-haired industrialist said he could see no purpose in any further negotiations with the UAW at this time. He said the company challenges the union's claim to represent a majority of Kohler employes.

Machine Tool Orders Up 18 Pct. in Month

CLEVELAND (AP) — Machine tool orders rose in February for the second consecutive month, the National Machine Tool Builders Assn. reports.

February bookings amounted to $22,800,000 or 18 per cent above January and 23 per cent above December, when orders fell to an eight-year low.

Incoming business in February was 61 per cent under a year earlier and for January and February was down 65 per cent from the like 1957 months.

Usual Dividend Given

DETROIT (AP) — Parke, Davis & Co. Wednesday declared a regular quarterly dividend of 50 cents per share, payable April 30, 1958 to stockholders of record April 7, 1958. The payment will be the company's 282nd consecutive dividend since 1878.

Completely Automated

NEW YORK — Completely automated broadcasting is possible with a newly developed system that contains taped commercials and news, recorded music and spot announcements.

Airline Stocks Rise on Market

NEW YORK (AP) — Some airline shares advanced as the Stock Market was mixed with a slightly higher tendency in quiet early trading today.

Changes of fractions to around a point were the rule for most key stocks. The opening was fairly active and irregular.

Northwest Airlines and Capital Airlines each rose more than a point on the news but there was scant reaction immediately from the stock of two other lines affected, Trans World and Delta Air Lines.

Some leading steels and a few selected issues showed a firmer tone. Most important market groups showed little change. Chemicals produced some scattered losers. Motors were barely changed although Ford dropped a fraction.

Lorillard was up about a point. Raytheon was firm. U.S. Steel and Bethlehem added fractions. As the White House tightened controls on crude oil imports in the voluntary program, Amerada, a big domestic producer rose about a point. Royal Dutch gained fractionally.

Allied Chemical was clipped for about a 1-point loss. Other losers included American Cyanamid, Union Carbide, United Aircraft, and Santa Fe.

Among opening blocks were Capital Airlines up 1 at 16½ on 4,000 shares; United Air Lines up ¼ at 26 on 1,100; U.S. Hoffman Machinery up ⅛ at 9⅞ on 3,000; and American Telephone up ⅛ at 171⅝ on 1,500.

Ike Orders Reduction in Oil Import Quotas

WASHINGTON (INS) — President Eisenhower today ordered a reduction and reallocation of voluntary oil import quotas and barred federal agencies from buying imported petroleum from companies refusing to comply with the program.

Imports west of the Rockies will not be affected under the directive which the President said was issued as a "national security" measure. This is on the basis that excess oil imports would reduce mineral exploration in the United States, important in case of war.

Near Money, Manpower Exhaustion

Algeria Bleeding France to Death?

CLEVELAND (NEA) — Now into its fourth year, Algeria's war of independence against France is draining the "mother" country of money and manpower to the point of threatened exhaustion.

To keep a 500,000-man army on active duty in sprawling Algeria is sucking francs from the French economy at the rate of three million dollars a day. Against France's half-million soldiers are poised the Algerians' national liberation force (FLN) of some 35,000, backed by 100,000 partisans.

So far, the cost in lives has been nearly 6,000 French and nearly 38,000 Algerians. Map shows the relationship of 852,000-square-mile Algeria and France, about one-quarter that size. Above map shows closeup of the area of fiercest fighting.

Discovery of oil near Ouargla in the Sahara Desert has intensified the Algerians' struggle for independence and strengthened France's determination to hold on to her new-found riches. Oil pours through a six-inch pipeline 93 miles long from the Hassi Messaoud field to Touggourt, from where it is transported by rail to Philippeville on the Mediterranean coast.

The rebels constantly bomb and dynamite the railroad. In an effort to seal off the Tunisian border, the French have tried to create a no-man's-land by erecting a 150-mile fence of electrified barbed wire (see map) along the railroad running south from Bone.

On the claim that many of the Algerian guerrilla attacks were engineered and supported from Tunisia, early in February 25 French military aircraft bombed and strafed the Tunisian village of Sakiet-Sidi-Youssef, only 700 yards from the Algerian border.

The 68 civilians killed included 34 children buried in the bomb-blasted school. The raid had worldwide repercussions as an act of unjustified brutality.

The Algerian civil war directly affects U. S. interests in North Africa where we and our allies have NATO air and naval bases vital to defense and retaliation in case of war with Russia.

RETIRING — Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin, above, Army research chief, is retiring Monday after 30 years of military service. He'll be succeeded in the post by Lt. Gen. Arthur G. Trudeau, a former Army intelligence chief and Korean commander. Gavin said last January in announcing his intention to retire that the Army was deteriorating and he felt he could do more for it outside than he could in.

Before Senate Committee in Washington

County Works Head to Testify

The Oakland County Public Works Dept. represented by its director, Harold K. Schone, was slated to testify this morning before the Senate Banking and Currency Committee in Washington.

The group was called to represent all the nation's counties in giving testimony on Senate Bill 3497, which would establish a federal revolving fund to loan money to local governments for approved public works projects.

The bill was introduced by the committee's chairman, Sen. William Fulbright (D-Ark).

Schone told the committee that the major need today among counties is for water, sewer and storm drainage projects.

He supported the bill strongly on these projects and a few others such as garbage disposal facilities, local airports, land acquisition for public parks, for parking lots and for hospitals and health centers.

Schone said that the Oakland group did not see the need for federal money for sidewalks, roads (which are covered in the federal highway construction law), public transportation, schools, (except classroom construction), libraries and office buildings.

Pointing to the skyrocketing price of land in Oakland County when sewer and water is available, the DPW director stated, that opening of new land areas in the county with these facilities could substantially reduce the price of homes by cutting improved land prices.

Schone said, too, that a major difficulty today is that improvements are based on existing tax base and population, when they should be built in anticipation of growth.

Oakland, he said, in 1950 had a population of 396,000 and the best estimates show a present population of 686,000 with an expected population in 1980 of 1,158,000.

He urged that funds be made available for planning future projects so that they will be ready to go when the need arises and money is available for construction.

Schone said that sewage disposal problems are pressing in the southern part of Oakland, while the future need in the northern half can be foreseen.

"While there is a strong desire to do the project right . . . it is apparent that a bond issue could not be sold for the entire project because of the present tax base and population, so that if some outside support on the federal level is not obtained, this project will follow the past pattern of 'too little—too late,'" he stated.

The bill Oakland supported would enable counties to borrow from the federal government and repay the loans at the rate the federal government pays for its loans plus one-quarter of one per cent service charge.

It would also provide outright grant-in-aid for planning.

Soviet Shakeup

Presidium member Ekaterina Furtseva.

The Council of Union adopted an agenda presented by the party leaders which included four topics for joint sessions:

Election of a Presidium of the Supreme Soviet to act in the Parliament's absence; appointment of a new government; discussion of Khrushchev's plan to reorganize the agricultural machinery system, and discussion of a ban on thermonuclear weapons.

Parliamentary observers pointed out that the new government could be the same as the old one. The government traditionally hands its resignation to a new parliament.

But Bulganin has been completely absent from recent public events, heightening speculation that Khrushchev had decided to fire his old traveling companion, the signer of his widely circulated diplomatic letters.

Therefore, a change to a new premier will have no basic effect inside the U.S.S.R.

After Voroshilov's statement, which amounted to nomination, the parliamentary machinery went into action to make Khrushchev head of government. As such he will face President Eisenhower across the table if a summit conference is held.

The Moscow Communist Party chairman, I. V. Kapitonov, speaking on behalf of a group of Moscow deputies, moved a resolution accepting Bulganin's resignation and approving Voroshilov's new Council of Ministers with Khrushchev as chairman.

Voroshilov began his statement by declaring that all Soviet people knew Khrushchev as an outstanding statesman in the Soviet government and the Communist Party.

Senate Weighs Change in Taxes

Device Would Update '58 Levy on Properties to Dec. 31 This Year

LANSING (AP)—A device to slice as much as 150 million dollars off Michigan businesses passed the Senate today, 262.

The bill now goes to the House.

The measure merely would change the next tax day, that is the legal day for property tax assessments, from Jan. 1, 1959 to Dec. 31, 1958, moving it ahead to this calendar year.

Sen. Clyde H. Geerlings (R-Holland) said the effect would be to permit many firms to double up on state property taxes in figuring allowable deductions for federal income tax purposes.

The device would be available to corporate and unincorporated businesses on an accural account basis and operating on a calendar fiscal year. It would not benefit the individual property owner.

Moonshiners Work Day and Night in Arkansas

James S. Merrick, agent in charge of the Federal Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Unit, said 119 illegal whisky stills were seized in the state during 1957. The ATTU also confiscated 1,527 gallons of illegal moonshine, 39,780 gallons of mash and made 172 arrests.

Video Adapters Condense Story

90 Minutes of Drama to Feature Large Cast Including Gracie Fields

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — A television adaptation of Charles Dickens' "A Tale of Two Cities" is the ambitious undertaking of CBS-TV's Show of the Month tonight from 9:30 to 11 O'clock.

Its large cast will include Rosemary Harris, Gracie Fields, Eric Portman, Agnes Moorehead, Walter Fitzgerald, James Donald and Denholm Elliott. Robert Mulligan is the director.

Because "A Tale of Two Cities" is required reading in high schools almost everywhere, just about everybody has read it and vaguely remembers that it concerns a group of English and French people in the French Revolution.

You probably remember Sidney Carton going to the guillotine with his speech: "It is a far, far better thing than I do than I have ever done . . . "

But how much of the story do you remember?

LARGE AND DIFFUSE

To retell it now probably would spoil the adaptation made by Michael Dyne for the David Suskind TV production. The novel is so large in scope and diffuse in scene and character that it sounds like an awesome task to adapt for a 90-minute television drama.

"When I read the novel again," Dyne said, "I thought we needed at least 2½ hours. The difficulty was that everybody has a favorite scene and each would say 'But you can't leave out that.' "

Dyne, a 39-year-old Englishman has written 70 plays for American television, found that the wisest course was to cut the large subplot involving Jerry Crunshaw.

So, presumably, we shall see the story of Sydney Carton, who loved Lucie Manette, and Lucie, who in turn loved Charles Darnay, the young man who looked like Carton.

"The London scenes are heavily cut," Dyne said. "We're cutting the burning of the chateau in Paris. But we are doing the storming of the Bastille—with 50 people, not 5,000."

HEAD ROLLING?

"The present plan is that there will be a head dripping with raspberry jam. But it will be seen in shadow—and won't cause any rumpus like that 'Macbeth' head on television a few years ago.

"Usually I'm against that sort of thing, but it's essential in this case in order to portray the horror of the Revolution."

Russia Claims Camera Rocket

After Taking Pictures in Space, It Lands at Predetermined Spot

MOSCOW (INS) — The Soviet Union announced today the firing of a single-stage, picture-taking rocket 294 miles into space and its return to earth at a predetermined spot.

Western observers noted that Soviet scientists apparently have solved at least part of the problem of re-entry which made it impossible for them to bring Sputnik II back to earth with its canine passenger, Laika the dog.

The official news agency Tass said the rocket, including film and radio equipment, weighed 3,360 pounds, and was fired over European Russia on Feb. 21.

The rocket also contained instruments to measure electron temperatures, atmospheric pressures, ultra-violet band spectrum and the concentration of free electrons in the ionosphere and for studying ion contents in the atmosphere and registering the impact of micrometeor particles.

Tass called the 294-mile height a record. But, it said, an even larger rocket had been fired last May.

Tass said animals and more than two tons of apparatus had been successfully dropped to earth in the May experiment after the rocket reached an altitude of 125 miles.

The agency said other rockets have been tested in the Arctic and Antarctic, at Mirny and from a survey ship taking part in geophysical year studies near the South Pole.

Consumption of Liquor Steadying in Sweden

STOCKHOLM—Liquor consumption in Sweden seems to be stabilizing two years after restrictions on purchases were removed. In the first year, which ended in October, 1956, total consumption went up 31 per cent.

Consumption started to decline in November, 1956, when liquor prices were increased, and 1957 consumption, through August, was down 14.8 per cent compared with the previous year. In the last few months earnings have increased, but liquor consumption has not.

Health Coverage Broad

OSLO — All employed persons over age 15 and their dependents are covered by Norway's State compulsory medical and hospital-care plan. Contributions are based on earnings and sickness risks. The Norwegian Department of Social Affairs administers the insurance plan, which has been in effect many years.

Soviet Moms Angered by No Heroine Badges

LONDON (INS) 8 mothers with large families (five children and up) in the Brest province of Soviet Byelorussia have kicked up such a fuss about not receiving their "Mother Heroine" badges that officials in Minsk, the capital, have been aroused.

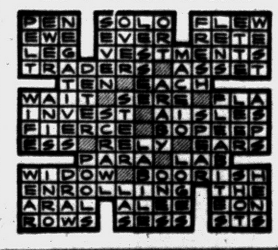

Soviet press reports reaching London say that the republic's cabinet has ordered local officials to speed up the issue. More than 35,000 awards have been made since Stalin decreed badges to help boost the birthrate.

1891 Train Wreck Led to Railroad Watches

CINCINNATI — Two trains collided April 19, 1891, at Kipton, Ohio, killing 11 persons. Investigation showed that the wreck might have been averted had not one engineer's watch been slow.

Worried by this tragedy, a watchmaker and railroad enthusiast, Webb C. Ball, concluded that accurate watches were a necessity. He designed the first standard railroad watch and set up the industry's first coast-to-coast watch-inspection service.

Cheesecake Gal, Anita Blasts Neckline Oglers

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Anita Ekberg has come out against people ogling women's necklines.

"Dey're really insulting to women the way they say 'How do you do?' and then look down instead of into her face," fumed Anita, over lunch. Her Swedish accent returned in her anger. "Sometimes dey don't even say 'How do you do?—dey just look right down your neck!"

WILSON

"We don't go around looking men over from top to toe," she growled. "We're not that rude."

Anita mentioned that Tony Steel, her husband (whom she'd just sent to Regent Hospital with a virus attack), didn't like oglers, either. It's because she's become an actress—she was in Bob Hope's "Paris Holiday" and also on Steve Allen's show—that she'd like to play down her physical characteristics which, however, helped her earn around $100,000 last year.

Despite all her remarks about those insulting people, I noticed that they still ogled when she bounced out. She was wearing a tight sweater.

Stop the presses, take a headline: Kim Novak's famous blonde hair has gone—she's got black hair ("ash black," with white streaks) for parts of "Bell, Book and Candle" . . . Judy Garland's son Joey, soon to be 3, strutted around on stage with his mom while she sang "I'll Be Back." Judy explained that her father taught her the song. Judy's estranged husband, Sid Luft, applauded from the audience and then visited Judy in her dressing room. Is a reconciliation in order?

Sea Crash Killed 5 East Detroiters

Death Plane Pilot Refused to Supply Life Jackets

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—The pilot of a private plane that crashed at sea Tuesday night, killing five persons from Michigan, declined to rent life jackets, J. L. Greenwell, executive vice president of Exec-U-Plane Inc., said last night.

He said the pilot, Hugh Wilkinson, 34, of nearby Dania, not only turned down jackets but took the plane without approval of his plane-renting firm.

Wilkinson, his wife Patricia and their son, Dana, 7, all formerly of East Detroit, drowned in the crash that came when the plane ran out of gas returning from Nassau, Bahamas. Mrs. Dolores Scites, 31, and her daughter Debra, 1½, also drowned.

Mrs. Scites' husband, Lloyd T. Scites, 34, of East Detroit, was the sole survivor. He was treated at a Fort Lauderdale hospital for shock and exposure, and released.

Sheriff's investigator Al Topel said Scites told him $9,27 worth of gasoline was put into the plane at Nassau, and that one of the tanks was noted to be empty shortly after takeoff for the return trip.

Greenwell said Wilkinson was refused permission to use the plane Monday. "We told him we couldn't rent it out as it wasn't equipped for flights over water," he said.

However, Greenwell said, Wilkinson — "a good friend of the firm"—showed up before the office was open Tuesday and took the plane.

Red Gamber, operator of Red Aircraft Service, said his wife was present when Wilkinson filed flight plans and asked if he wanted to rent life jackets. It would have cost $7.50 to supply the plane.

But Wilkinson refused, Gamber said.

LUDINGTON — To overcome one of the discomforts of ice fishing, a Michigan firm is offering a fishing pole that has a heating element in the handle to keep the angler's hands warm. To regulate the heat he merely turns a cap on the end of the pole.

Steelmen Look for Better Times

New Uses, Population Rise Spur Optimism Despite Present Slump

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Steel output is at its lowest for any nonstrike period since April 1952. But steelmen's confidence today is buoyed by many new things.

One is the needs of today's hordes of children in the 1960s. Another is the new uses and new steel products dveloped or within sight—with scientific advances constantly demanding new alloys. And still another is slump-born new vigor in the battle with other materials — masonry, wood, plastics and other metals — for present markets.

On the side there's some family feuding, as new alloys or processes take over fields once held by older steel products.

The competition isn't easy. Other materials seek new markets too.

But steel research is turning up new fields as old ones decline. Battleships may be passe and tanks less in demand, but steel has found new markets as curtain walls for buildings and in nuclear power plants, in missiles and in launching installations.

Demands from fabricators and end-users of steel have brought a host of new steel alloys into use. Examples cited by Republic Steel's Commercial Research Division: precipitation hardness grades of stainless for the aircraft industry, and the recently developed aluminum coated steel sheets.

Steel research itself has blossomed since the war and is coming up with new steel products on its own. U.S. Steel reports that 900 employes at its research center, Monroeville, Pa., are working on 1,002 projects, such as studies of boron steels to increase effectiveness in high carbon steels and improved alloys for high-temperature service. It has developed a sandwich rolling process that makes sheets only 0.033 of an inch thick, for the aircraft and missile industries.

Inscription on Tomb in Tobago Is Puzzling

PLYMOUTH, Tobago — One of the world's most puzzling gravestone inscriptions is a cemetery in Plymouth on the island of Tobago in the British West Indies. It reads:

"Within these walls are deposited the bodies of Betty Stivens and child. She was the beloved wife of Alex Stivens, who to the end of his days will deplore her death, which happened upon the 25th day of November, 1783, in the 23d year of her age. What was remarkable of her, she was a mother without knowing it, and a wife without letting her husband know it except by her kind indulgences to him."
