Geneva Talks Broken Amid Red Demands

FROM OUR NEWS WIRES

GENEVA — The Big Four foreign ministers conference on Berlin collapsed tonight under new Soviet demands and the diplomats agreed to a three-week "cooling off" recess. The new date is July 13.

The arrangement was made at a secret session at the headquarters of Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

The statesmen arranged also to have a plenary session of their conference tomorrow, at which, presumably, the current phase of their talks will be wound up.

Earlier today Russia renewed its demand for a deadline on the Allied occupation of West Berlin but offered to extend the time to 18 months instead of a year.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko today refused to accept the West's latest proposals for a stopgap Berlin solution even as a basis of discussion.

A British delegation spokesman said Gromyko advanced new proposals for an interim Berlin arrangement but these have given "no new hope" to the West for a solution.

★ ★ ★

And in Moscow, Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev said today a summit meeting becomes all the more necessary if the Geneva meeting of foreign ministers breaks down.

He expressed confidence a conference of heads of state will take place.

"We hold," he said at a mass rally in the Kremlin for a visiting East German delegation, "that if the foreign ministers do not reach agreement in Geneva, a meeting at the summit will become all the more necessary.

"I would be glad to go, not only to one but to several summit meetings."

Woman Dies in Car Mishap

Auto Rolls Over Six Times; Kills Mother of Area Basketball Star

The mother of a former all-state basketball player from Walled Lake was killed instantly yesterday afternoon when her car rolled over six times after hitting the shoulder of the pavement on Northwestern highway south of 10-Mile road in Southfield.

Witnesses told Southfield Police her car, traveling at a high rate of speed, had drifted to the soft shoulder of the road. As she attempted to bring it back onto Northwestern, they said, it shot across the road and rolled over six times.

Mrs. Hughes was thrown out of the car and was crushed by it, police said.

The couple has three sons, Larry and Donald, both at home, and Gerald serving in the military service in Korea.

Larry, who was named to the all-state basketball team in 1956-57, last year was selected as the outstanding sophomore player for the University of Detroit.

Ike Brings Smile, Quip to FHA Dinner Speech

WASHINGTON (AP) — With a smile, President Eisenhower said at a Federal Housing Administration dinner Thursday night that there's only one purchase more important than buying a home.

★ ★ ★

"And that exception is, for the man, the purchase of a wedding ring," the President said. "And that weding ring is the inspiration of a home and for purchasing it."

The dinner honored the FHA on its 25th anniversary.

Theater Loses Queen

ACTRESS MOURNED — The American theater world today was mourning its queen, actress Ethel Barrymore, who died yesterday in her sleep at her Beverly Hills, Calif. home. Miss Barrymore, relatively inactive in recent years, suffered from a chronic heart condition.

Acting Dynasty Ends: Ethel Barrymore Dies

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Death came quietly Thursday to Ethel Barrymore and closed the curtain on an era ruled by a proud theatrical dynasty.

She died in her sleep. She had been an invalid in her Beverly Hills apartment for more than a year with a heart ailment.

Miss Barrymore would have been 80 Aug. 15. She will be buried in Calvary Cemetery Monday.

For more than six decades, her regal bearing and resonant voice had captivated audiences. And she has been a star of the theater, movies, radio and television.

The sharp-witted actress, who originally wanted to be a pianist, was the last surviving member of a theatrical triumvirate that included her equally famous brothers John and Lionel. John died in 1942 and Lionel in 1954.

"We Barrymores became actors not because we wanted to go on the stage," she once explained, "but simply because it was the thing we could do best."

And it was. Ethel was the most versatile, ranging from light comedy to tragedy with equal skill. She won a 1944 Academy Award for her portrayal of the fatally ill mother in "None but the Lonely Heart" and nominations for "Spiral Staircase" and "Pinky."

In Hollywood, actress Judith Anderson, a friend of 30 years, wept softly when told the news and then quoted these lines: "There's a new star in the sky . . . and the glory of the heavens is my infinite sorrow."

Others commented.

Clifton Webb: "A queen has died."

Helen Hayes: "All of us work hard in the theater, but none of us can ever give it the luster she did."

49-to-46 Vote Ousts Nominee From Cabinet

Rejection Is Big Loss to People of U.S., President Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today that the American people are the losers in what he called the sad episode of Senate rejection of Lewis L. Strauss as secretary of commerce.

The grim-faced President took the highly unusual step of calling newsmen into his White House office to read a brief statement.

At the outset, Eisenhower noted that the Senate Thursday night refused to confirm Strauss for the Cabinet post.

Eisenhower went on to praise Strauss warmly.

He called Strauss a man who has loyally, honorably and effectively served his nation under four presidents.

Eisenhower said further that if the nation is to be denied the right to have officials of proven ability and integrity in responsible government positions, then "indeed it is the American people who are the losers in this sad episode."

WASHINGTON (AP)—Michigan's Democratic Senators Philip A. Hart and Pat McNamara voted with the majority last night as the Senate rejected, 49-46, confirmation of Lewis L. Strauss as secretary of commerce.

The statement was squarely in line with the position the President has taken throughout the long fight—that Strauss is an effective, dedicated and upright public servant.

Opponents on the other hand had argued that Strauss had been devious and less than frank in his dealings with Congress and the people.

The issue of public vs. private power had also come into the affair through Strauss' connection as head of the Atomic Energy Commission with the bitter Dixon-Yates controversy.

Eisenhower read his hand-written statement before a hastily set up battery of cameras and floodlights.

The Strauss visit was set up after the Senate action.

QUIET BEGINNING — Britain's Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip began their six-week tour of Canada's provinces Thursday in a mood which is slated to be sharply contrasted in the days ahead. They attended solemn war memorial ceremonies at St. Johns, Nfld. after their flight from London. The current visit promises to be one of the most grueling in Elizabeth's reign.

Queen Flies Out to Gander for Dedication at Airport

GANDER, Nfld. (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip flew here today to open a new 3½-million-dollar airport terminal building. Gander is a stopping point for trans-Atlantic airliners.

She received a cordial but restrained welcome at St. Johns Thursday.

For a few hours it appeared her weather luck had deserted her and that grim gray fog which smothered St. Johns for three days might disrupt the tour.

The thick mist lifted miraculously a few hours before she arrived by jet airplane from London Thursday afternoon.

The skies were virtually cloudless, and warm sunshine flooded the bleak, heavily wooded region returned after the Queen's afternoon appearances but cleared again Thursday night.

Today's program began with a reception at Government House, a motor tour of parts of St. Johns not visited Thursday, and a stop at Newfoundland's new eight-million-dollar government building.

When the Queen of England assumes her role as the Queen of Canada or one of the other Commonwealths, her people at home get almost as big a kick out of it as do her hosts of the moment.

And be not confused in spite of a confusing relationship. The people of Canada are her hosts, for she is their Queen, but they are only technically her subjects, for she is not their ruler.

In a strange fashion, the Queen belongs to the Commonwealths, but not they to her. They lay their hearts before her and call her sovereign, but do not let her, or the British government which she traditionally approves but does not appoint, give commands.

How the British and associated peoples ever developed this system of a revered monarchy, a symbol of empire but without power over the lives of men as free as any in the world, is an old, long and in many ways beautiful story. It is typical of the spirit of compromise, of making the best of given situations, which places them among the world's great peoples.

So the people of Canada can pay homage without reservations, and the people of Britain take pride in the monarchy which is the focal point of a worldwide association of nations, a modern substitute of democracy for empire.

Senate Asked to Recognize MSUO Potential

LANSING (AP)—The Senate was asked today to give expressed recognition to the probable future status of Michigan State University Oakland by so referring to it in the higher education appropriation bill.

Sen. L. Harvey Lodge (R-Drayton Plains) objected that the bill, in the MSU section, referred to the new unit, due to open this fall, as the "Oakland Center."

"I predict MSUO ultimately will be the greatest and largest university in the state because it has the potential," Lodge said. The school will enroll 550 students in its first class in September.

He compared its probable future status with the present distinction of the University of California at Los Angeles (UCLA).

Consideration of his request was deferred until Monday night after some other senators said uniform treatment should be given to the Oakland institution and University of Michigan branches at Flint and Dearborn.

Long Hauled Off to New Hospital

Bellows Loud Curses as Deputies Drag Him to Institution

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Hoarsely screaming curses, Gov. Earl K. Long of Louisiana battled all the way with sheriff's deputies Thursday night as they hauled him to a mental hospital for the second time in three weeks.

"Hell, I'm not going to get in there," he yelled when they tugged him into a sheriff's car to take him to southeast Louisiana State Hospital at Mandeville, 50 miles to the east.

The 63-year-old governor swung a roundhouse right at a deputy but missed.

"You-all look, you-all look," he shouted.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Chester Williams, coroner of East Baton Rouge Parish, said Gov. Long had suffered from delusions of persecution. The medical name is paranoic schizophrenia.

But Long remained unconvinced that he needed hospital treatment.

AT LEAST 30 DAYS

Dr. Charles Belcher, acting superintendent of Southeast, indicated Thursday night in an interview with the Associated Press that Long must remain in his hospital at least 30 days.

This latest chapter in the weird and tragic story of Earl Kemp Long pitched Louisiana politicians into additional jitters. Who is to take over the duties of governor?

Lt. Gov. Lether Frazar, it is supposed, will step into the breach, as he did when members of the Long family flew a drugged and unwilling governor May 30 to a psychiatric clinic at John Sealy Hospital in Galveston, Tex. However, nothing is certain.

The fantastic events leading immediately to Long's detention at Mandeville began Thursday morning when the restless governor in-

House Approves Royal Oak Mall

Royal Oak's $2,610,000 plan for a downtown shopping center was ready for the governor's signature today.

The House gave its approval to a minor amendment which was added when the Senate okayed the bill yesterday. The House had already approved the rest of the proposal.

The measure would allow Royal Oak to issue special assessment bonds on the downtown business area to retire $220,000 in outstanding revenue bonds sold to finance existing municipal parking lots.

Downtown merchants have indicated they are willing to assume the cost of providing free municipal parking surrounding a proposed downtown shopping mall on Washington avenue.

★ ★ ★

Plans call for tripling the number of existing parking spaces encircling a landscaped shopping mall in the central business district.

Rep. William Hayward (R-Royal Oak) was expected to support the measure as amended today.

Thompson Claims Juror Biased in New Trial Bid

Turned down once before, convicted arsonist Jack D. Thompson, Flint Teamster's business agent, is trying again to win a new trial, this time on the grounds that the jury foreman was prejudiced against him and the Teamsters.

Genesee County Prosecutor Jerome F. O'Rourke said Thompson and his attorneys are "scratching" deep to delay his twice-postponed sentencing, now set for June 29.

Thompson, 42, faces a maximum imprisonment of 10 years for being the second man in last summer's burning of a dry cleaning establishment outside Flint. Thompson's close friend and fellow business agent, Frank Kierdorf, died four days later from head-to-toe burns received in the fire.

On Monday, one week before Thompson is scheduled to be sentenced, Circuit Judge Stephen J. Roth will listen to arguments from Thompson's attorney, Joseph R. Joseph, that the original jury verdict of April 3 be thrown out.

Joseph is expected to claim that jury foreman Coley Crump, now a factory worker with Buick Motor Division, once worked for a Flint builder who had a labor dispute with Thompson's Local 332, thus making him biased against Thompson.

The prejudice claim was made in an affidavit filed in the Genesee County Clerk's Office yesterday in behalf of John H. Adair, an organizer with Local 332 and a friend of Thompson.

The affidavit contends that Crump did not disclose the information about the alleged abor dispute when he was being questioned as a potential juror.

O'Rourke is expected to ask Judge Roth that the latest request — Thompson was turned down by Roth June 4 — for a second trial be dismissed. He said Crump was a part-time employe for the building firm, Suburban Builders, as a cleanup man, at the time of the trial and today he is a full-time employe of Buick.

Adair adds in his affidavit that Crump "also was well acquainted with the prosecutor's staff and with relatives of the prosecutor's staff."

O'Rourke said Crump admits knowing O'Rourke's 80-year-old grandfather, who once worked for Buick and visited the trial.

Hospital Wing to Be Occupied

Girl Attacked by Crocodile at Performance

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—A circus crocodile attacked its 24-year-old girl trainer before 2,000 spectators here last night. It gashed her face and snapped at her arm.

The trainer, Doreen Duggan, tried to go on with the show, but attendants seized the 12-foot crocodile and put it back in its box. Miss Duggan was taken to the hospital for treatment of her wounds.

Miss Duggan "hypnotizes" two crocodiles in her act. Last night she had lulled the first one and was taking the second out of its coffin-like box when it attacked.

It snapped at her face and blood flowed from her cheek. She wiped it away and tried to go on with the act. The crocodile then lunged for her arm, narrowly missing it as she fell back.

Released from the hospital after an anti-toxin injection and treatment of her gashes, Miss Duggan said she was not giving up crocodile training.

"I am determined to go on with my act," she said. "The circus is my life."

Senate Turns Down Strauss Nomination

Strauss smiled broadly as he stepped from his car. He hurried past waiting newsmen, saying: "I'm late for the boss."

Strauss, former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, was the first Cabinet nominee to be rejected by the Senate since 1925, when Calvin Coolidge's choice of Charles B. Warren to be attorney general was turned down.

Strauss became the eighth Cabinet nominee to be rejected in all the country's history.

When the showdown came, shortly after midnight, 31 Republicans and 15 Democrats voted for confirmation. Against confirmation were 47 Democrats and 2 Republicans—Sens. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine and William Langer of North Dakota.

★ ★ ★

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas voted against Strauss, as did most other senators who had not disclosed their stand in advance of the roll call.

CLAIM DECEIT

In long and bitter committee hearings, Strauss' foes pictured him as an arrogant egotist with a Napoleonic complex. They said he was deceitful and in the past had been devious in his dealings with Congress.

His friends denied the deceit charge and contended he was the victim of a political lynching. They said he had been a dedicated public servant in the past.

Over a period of weeks, the Senate Commerce Committee considered his nomination in an atmosphere of high tension and bitter recriminations. In the end, the committee approved Strauss—but by a narrow 9-8 margin.

Later, some of Strauss' critics suggested that Eisenhower withdraw the nomination. This Eisenhower refused to do.

DIXON-YATES ROLE

Strauss had a role in the 1954 Dixon - Yates contract which would have brought private power into the Tennessee Valley Authority area.

That contract later was canceled on grounds of conflict of interest. In general, Strauss' advocacy of private development of atomic power alienated supporters of public power projects.

Nursery Area Ready Today

But More Cash Needed to Complete East Unit, Director Tells Trustees

The first portion of the remodeled east wing of Pontiac General Hospital is expected to be occupied Monday.

Harold B. Euler, hospital administrator, said he expected contractors would turn over two nurseries on the second floor to the hospital today.

The nurseries hold 12 bassinets apiece and will bring the hospital's bassinet total up to the planned complement of 48, Euler said.

Euler told the hospital's Board of Trustees last night that the remodeling program probably will stretch out into next year, and more money will be needed shortly.

He said it may be next spring before remodeling is finished, although a Nov. 1 target date has been set for moving in the first 96 patient beds, a maneuver which is expected to increase revenues to a point where the hospital can operate on a balanced or near-balanced budget.

More ready cash from the city will be needed in about a month, Euler said.

Already about $140,000 has gone into the remodeling program out of the $200,000 city commissioners set aside early this year from funds that otherwise would have gone into equipment and furnishings.

Euler said City Manager Walter K. Willman has been notified of the approaching cash shortage. He said the remodeling is costing about $20,000-$25,000 every two weeks.

The city is lending the hospital money to complete remodeling and make expensive repairs to faulty heating, plumbing and electrical systems in the old east wing.

The hospital has promised to pay the money back whenever its operations show a safe profit.

It has been estimated that the total cost of the unanticipated repairs will be $350,000-$400,000 over the original construction budget.

Early this year, the city canceled original construction contracts and hired local contractors to proceed on the repairs on a time-and-material cost basis in an effort to keep extra expenses at a minimum.

Euler estimated that about 80 per cent of the east wing will be occupied by the end of the year. But the new maternity ward there may not be finished until spring, he said.

The hospital originally expected the 96 new beds would be in operation this summer. Their absence may mean that the hospital will face another tight financial situation this summer when occupancy traditionally falls off, Euler said.

"But if we can hold our occupancy up higher this year than last, we may be able to get through the summer without too much trouble," Euler said.

Adding strength to this hope is the fact that occupancy has been good all year, currently at 89 per cent about 1 per cent higher than anticipated when the budget was prepared.

Euler said that the hospital is operating almost exactly on the 1960 budget estimates, which predicted a $45,000 loss this year.

The hospital is currently $47,000 in the black as far as income and expenses are concerned, he said, but about $7,000 in the red if depreciation on buildings and equipment is figured in.

The avowed aim of the hospital this year is to reach a point where depreciation can be funded for the first time with a small profit in addition.

Rep. Broomfield Charges:

Tennessee Raiding Our Industry

Tennessee "raiders" are swiping industry from Michigan by dangling cheap Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA) power as a bait, declared Oakland County's U. S. Rep. William S. Broomfield today.

★ ★ ★

"The horrible part of this whole situation," Broomfield said, "is that Michigan taxes helped pay for the construction of the Tennessee Valley Authority power plants."

"In effect," he said in letters to Sens. Patrick V. McNamara and Philip A. Hart, Michigan Democrats, "our workers are paying taxes to force themselves out of jobs in Michigan."

He urged McNamara and Hart to oppose a pending TVA bill which he said would "take the TVA out from under direct federal control and permit further expansion . . . in its present service area." A Senate public works subcommittee now is considering a house passed TVA self-financing bill.

★ ★ ★

Broomfield cited a recent editorial in the Nashville (Tenn.) Banner to back his contention that "those in Tennessee regard any of our businesses and industries in Michigan as fair game."

The editorial said a band of "raiders" dispatched to Michigan by Tennessee Gov. Buford Ellington turned up 23 "immediate prospects" for transfer to Tennessee.

The editorial, inserted in the Congressional Record recently by Rep. J. Carlton Loser (D-Tenn), added:

"And you can bet your last bar of soap that Gov. Ellington will never have to come a-beggin' to newly acquired firms to get Tennessee out of a fiscal fiasco similar to that created by Gov. G. Mennen Williams and his lieutenant governor without portfolio, UAW chief Walter Reuther."

★ ★ ★

Broomfield said Tennessee pays only one-tenth the federal taxes paid by Michigan and that Michigan is one of nine states providing two-thirds of the total federal taxes collected.

★ ★ ★

"Now we are in trouble and Tennessee—by its own admission—is booming." "Instead of helping Michigan, we are being asked to help Tennessee by the passage of (the TVA bill), thereby facing the danger of losing even more industries from our own home state to cheap, subsidized, tax-free power."

Cursing Gov. Long Dragged to Hospital

The governor's release from the Galveston clinic had been arranged in a compromise with Long's family and a promise that he would take at least two weeks of treatment at Ochsner.

For three and a half hours doctors argued. Long remained adamant. This interval gave Mrs. Long time to arrange for the pickup.

DEPUTIES STOP CAR

When his car crossed the East Baton Rouge Parish line, deputies stopped it, then drove him to the parish courthouse. Long, growing angry, refused to move from his car. Dr. Williams and another physician interviewed the governor as he sat on the front seat smoking a cigarette and joking.

They obtained, then, an order from Dist. Judge Fred Leblanc committing the governor to the state hospital. That's when the fireworks really started.

The scene — shouting police, arrested newsmen, barricades and threats of camera smashing—harked back to a day long dead when Long's elder brother, the late Huey P. Long, ran Louisiana as his own kingdom.

Dr. Williams said later that Gov. Long has thoughts and beliefs not fully based on fact. He also said he had a bad heart.

★ ★ ★

"We had no trouble with him," said Asst. Chief Deputy George Leblanc, one of four officers who accompanied the governor.

'WASN'T TALKING MUCH'

"He wasn't talking much," Leblanc said. "We're used to handling mental patients. We try to keep them in such a mood they won't get violent. I imagine he must have been pretty tired."

There were arrests and threats of arrests in the excitement that accompanied Long's arrival at the Baton Rouge Parish Courthouse and at Mandeville.

★ ★ ★

Jim Hughes, a reporter for the Baton Rouge Morning Advocate, was arrested when he and several other reporters refused to move across the street from the governor's car at the courthouse. Hughes was not booked and was ordered released by Asst. Chief of Police Howard Kidder.

★ ★ ★

Automobiles were not permitted to stop within a three-mile radius of the mental hospital. David Zinman, Associated Press reporter, stopped and got out of his car near the hospital. A state policeman ordered him to move on immediately or be arrested.

Grizzly Bear Mauls Ranger in Glacier Park

EAST GLACIER, Mont. (UPI)—A grizzly bear severely mauled a Glacier National Park employe on a lonely mountain trail last night, despite the heroic actions of a Michigan companion who tried unsuccessfully to lure the bear away.

Joseph L. Williams Jr., 20, of Harvey Cedars, N.J., was reported in serious condition at a Cardston, Alta., hospital, 120 miles north of East Glacier. The Miami (Ohio) University summer park employe was rushed there after park rangers, using flashlights to see, brought him down the mountain on a stretcher.

Williams was conscious as the stretcher bearers made the slow 1,000-foot descent from Alton Mountain. He suffered severe cuts on the right side of his head and right leg.

A park spokesman said Williams was hiking with Robert M. Winter, 17, of Grosse Pointe. He said Winter attempted to distract the bear by throwing rocks and walking and running in the vicinity, but the bear would not leave Williams.

Winter then ran screaming down the shale and brush covered mountain calling for help. He suffered exhaustion and severe leg cramps, was treated at the Cardston Hospital, then released.

Wixom's Tax Appeal Denied

County's Equalization Confirmed in Letter From Commission

Wixom's appeal of its 1959 tax equalized valuation, on which taxes will be based, has been denied by the Michigan State Tax Commission.

Edward Kane, secretary of the commission, wrote County Clerk Daniel T. Murphy Jr. today: "It has been concluded that the allegation of discrimination in the appeal was not well-founded and the Commission thereupon denies the appeal and confirms the equalization as adopted by the Board of Supervisors."

In its appeal, the city contended that the county's Equalization Dept. hiked the city's equalized factor without physical appraisal of the Ford Motor Co.'s Lincoln-Mercury plant, where a Ford office building had not been used in more than a year.

City officials said this, coupled with what they said was "no new construction" in the city, should have lowered, not raised the factor.

Wixom Mayor Joseph T. Stadnik, who charges the city is absorbing $4,000,000, or 28.6 per cent for Oakland County's total valuation increase of $14 million this year, was not immediately available for comment on the Commission's denial.

The Day in Birmingham

Collision of Car, Bicycle Puts Boy, 12, in Hospital

BIRMINGHAM — Twelve-year-old O'Neil Dillon Jr. suffered a lacerated elbow and cerebral concussion yesterday when he rode his bicycle into the path of an automobile on S. Adams road between Yosemite and Villa roads. The boy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. O'Neil Dillon Sr., 1231 Yosemite Rd.

The driver of the car, Roger R. Ramesbottom, 34, 2051 Oakfield, Detroit, told police that he was traveling north when the bicycle shot out of a driveway at 359 S. Adams Rd. Ramesbottom said he swerved his car, but was unable to avoid hitting the boy.

The automobile's right front fender caught the wheel of the bicycle, the impact throwing its rider partly onto the hood of the car and then to the pavement. The boy's left elbow was cut when it struck the base of the auto's windshield wiper.

Ramesbottom was ticketed. The accident occurred at 12:12 p.m. O'Neil was taken to William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak, where he is reported in satisfactory condition.

On tap next week is a variety-filled swimming schedue, plus music, archery, golf, tennis, and baton-twirling activities.

Playgrounds and a day camp will open the following week, and a riflery program is set for the month of July.

Richard Eastham, 19, of 474 Oakland Ave., Pontiac, being held in the Oakland County Jail on armed robbery charges, was to have been arraigned yesterday.

But Eastham thought better of it and requested another 24 hours to mull over his statement. He was again scheduled for arraignment this morning before West Bloomfield Justice of the Peace Elmer C. Dieterle.

Eastham is accused of the early Wednesday morning holdup in Bloomfield Township of John R. McAlevy, 29, of the Roosevelt Hotel, Pontiac.

Members of the Past Matrons Club of Birmingham, Chapter 220, OES, will meet at the home of Mrs. Arthur Baynes, 29261 Telegraph Rd., Southfield, for a dessert-luncheon on Tuesday at 1 p.m.

The adult choir of the Congregational Church of Birmingham will be found in the swim Sunday, June 28.

The occasion will be a picnic and swimming party for the choir at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Driver, 2584 Comfort Dr., immediately following church services.

Mrs. James Isham and Mrs. Don Riegelman are in charge of reservations for the event.

Gulf Storm Beulah Calms to Gentle Breeze

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Beulah, the season's second tropical storm developed in the Gulf of Mexico in three weeks, withered and broke apart Thursday before its full impact had hit any shoreline.

The Weather Bureau said Beulah, whipped into storm intensity in the western Gulf last Tuesday, had calmed to little more than a breeze before striking the Mexican coast near Tampico Thursday night.

Just Being Nice Wife

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Police moved up cautiously behind a young woman who had been seen acting "suspiciously" on the Golden Gate bridge. Mrs. Nancy Bell, 28, laughingly told them she had no intention of jumping off. She was signaling "Hello, Darling," in Morse code with a mirror to her husband, a crewman on a vessel entering the harbor after a six month absence.

Prison Bound Flying Bank Robber Regretful

Bandit Tells of 'Fear and Loneliness'

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—On the eve of his entry into prison, flying bank robber Frank Sprenz gave a hint of what life was like during the months when, all alone, he matched wits with scores of law officers trying to track him down.

He warned anyone following his example to "be prepared for three very close companions I've had—fear, loneliness, and regret."

The 29-year-old Sprenz, a master of deception whose escapades won him a place on the FBIs list of 10 most wanted men, appeared humble and contrite before Judge William H. Victor Thursday.

He said he had been selfish.

"My parents—very good people—are now ashamed to walk down the street," he said before the Summit County Common Pleas judge sentenced him on six charges. Sprenz had pleaded guilty.

Sprenz is one of two sons of an Akron couple who both work. The other brother, Lawrence, likewise has a police record and has served time in the state penitentiary for carrying concealed weapons.

"This has hurt me very much. . . . I have been stripped of all the rationalizations and justifications I built up around these (crimes)," Frank Sprenz told the judge.

Judge Victor sentenced him to terms ranging from 1-5 years to 10-25 years on three counts of car theft, two counts of armed robbery, and one count of breaking out of Summit County Jail. All sentences are to run concurrently with other state sentences Sprenz drew at Hamilton, Ohio, where he robbed a bank of $25,955 last March, escaping in a stolen plane.

Sprenz broke out of jail here April 16, 1958. FBI efforts to catch him, stepped up when he stole a plane at Toronto, were intensified after the bank robbery. Sprenz was captured in Mexico April 13 after a plane he was using had cracked up.

Sprenz' attorney, Ralph Felver, said he thinks Sprenz "could get out on parole in 8 years and 4 months," with state sentences running concurrently with federal sentences.

Judge Victor indicated this was a surprise to him. He thought Sprenz would have to serve state and federal sentences consecutively.

When Judge Fred B. Cramer sentenced Sprenz on Butler County charges two weeks ago, he said the state sentences could be served concurrently with federal sentences totaling 25 years maximum.

"Frank Sprenz did not draw one day today," Felver said.

Drunk Parolee Finds Rolls Royce to Liking

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP)—Carl H. Franklin, a paroled convict, is back in jail because of his fondness for fine cars.

He was arrested Thursday after Patrolman Maynard Enos saw him driving a $12,000 Rolls Royce astride the center driving strip near Menlo Park.

Franklin, booked on charges of auto theft, parole violation and drunken driving, said that he had parked his 1954 car next to the British car in a tavern parking lot.

"I liked it better than my car," he explained.

Franklin was paroled three weeks ago after serving a term for theft of a Cadillac in 1952.

Detroit Diggers Find Skeleton

Discovered Near Spot Where Killers Buried Woman in 1940

DETROIT (AP)— A Detroit couple and neighbors digging a basement extension uncovered the shattered skeleton of a woman yesterday.

Police said the skeleton was dug up at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Shelton, a block from the site where two killers buried one of their victims 19 years ago.

The discovery of the skeleton, said by Medical Examiner F. X. Krynicki to be that of a woman, prompted speculation by police that the bones represented another victim of John Kasap and John Kurzawa, who now are serving life sentences for murder.

Kasap was 22 and Kurzawa 21 when they were arrested and charged with three Detroit area slayings. Both men are confined at Southern Michigan Prison.

Krynicki said the skeleton indicated the woman had been murdered and "buried quite some time ago."

There was a hole in the top of the skull and the jawbone was broken.

Police said they would investigate to determine if there was any connection between the bones found at the Shelton house and Kasap and Kurzawa.

Politics Infests Sewage, So Dems Are Film Stars

CHICAGO (AP)—A change of cast was ordered today for the Chicago Sanitary District's movie, "Storm Warning," a thriller about sewage disposal.

Since the film was made last year three Democrats have replaced three Republicans on the nine-member board. Scenes showing the Republicans are to be cut out and new scenes shot showing the Democrats.

'I Didn't Mean It, Dear'

TEL AVIV, Israel (UPI)—A man accused of beating his wife while she slept told police yesterday it was unintentional. Police, who withheld the couple's names, kept the husband in jail although he contended that he had been dreaming of "revenue men sequestrating our property. I waved my hands excitedly and apparently my wife's face got in the way."

Life Unique in Deep Seas

Scientists Make First Probes, Find Unusual Creatures Thrive

WASHINGTON — Four to seven miles beneath the surface of the ocean lies a strange world which no man has ever visited.

★ ★ ★

It is a world of pitch-black darkness, near freezing temperatures, and pressures that range as high as 900 tons per square foot. A fraction of that pressure is enough to crush a block of wood to half size. Yet life not only exists, but thrives.

★ ★ ★

So far scientists know only a little about the strange creatures that inhabit these enormous depths, the National Geographic Society says. Indeed, it was not until a few years ago that they knew that life could survive under such terrifying conditions.

To be sure, scientists had long known about the extraordinay fish with fantastic shapes and luminous organs which live at depth of perhaps 3,000 to 10,00 feet. But the floor of the ocean drops much deeper. In 1951 the British oceanographic vessel Challenger recorded a depth of 35,640 feet, about 200 miles southwest of Guam, in the Pacific Ocean's Mariana Trench.

Bottom of this trench lies farther below sea level than Mount Everest, the world's highest mountain, soars above it. A penny tossed from a ship would fall for several hours before reaching bottom. Scientists felt it was almost incredible that life could survive there. Yet if there was no life, an even more fantastic possibility occurred to them.

Without any sort of life, even bacteria, the bodies of animals which dropped into the depths would be free of fermentation. Scientists might find the intact bodies of creatures that had long ceased to exist at upper levels, animals now known only as fossilized remains.

About the time Challenger discovered its record depth, the Danish ship Galathea II lay northeast of Mindanao, one of the two principal islands of the Phillipines. On board was Dr. Anton Bruun, leader of an oceanographic expedition bent on determining whether life exists in the ocean trenches.

Dr. Bruun and his associates succeeded in collecting a sample of the sea floor at a depth of 33,000 feet. It turned out to be extremely fine mud—and it contained bacteria. Galathea sent down a trawl-net and brought up another sample of the sea floor. It contained a sea anemone, five mollusks, and a minute crustacean. They had been living 33,462 feet under the waves.

★ ★ ★

How can a fragile sea anemone endure pressure that would kill a man in an instant? Partly because the anemone is mostly water. Its internal pressure balances the external pressure. The animals generally die when brought to the surface where there is little external pressure.

Summer School Has Undergone Key Change

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Dean Edward F. Overton of the University of Richmond says the concept of summer school has undergone a great change. Once it was considered remedial work for academic deficiencies but summer school now is filled with young people in a hurry to graduate.

No Chances Are Taken

SAND SPRINGS, Okla. (AP) — Two candidates for re-election to city offices had to temporarily blot out their names on their office doors. The election board felt voters, who had to walk past both doors to cast ballots, might be influenced.

Hospital Ship to Tour Asia

WASHINGTON (NEA)—The people of Indonesia and South Korea will be the first beneficiaries of a unique and dramatic U. S. goodwill mission—a floating hospital and medical school.

The sea-going health center is the reconditioned Navy hospital ship Consolation. Loaded with life-saving drugs and about 60 doctors, nurses and technicians, the ship will sail Sept. 15 from San Francisco to Southeast Asia.

It will provide expert medical aid and instruction to Asian countries upon the request of their medical associations. Indonesia and Korea are the first to ask for this help.

If enough money can be raised, the Consolation may visit other areas of the world in future years, and it may be joined by other reconditioned hospital ships.

The goodwill mission is known as Project HOPE. The letters stand for "Health Opportunity for People Everywhere." It's the brainchild of Washington physician William B. Walsh, head of the People-to-People Health Foundation Inc.

PPHF is one of 41 committees that make up the People-to-People Program. Conceived by President Eisenhower, the program is based on the belief that goodwill projects carried out by private citizens are more effective in building good foreign relations than those sponsored by the government.

Dr. Walsh declares:

"We believe that the Consolation will be a striking, dramatic symbol that this mission comes from the heart of the American people. It's truly inspiring evidence that people in this country are deeply concerned about the people in other countries as human beings.

"We know how difficult is the accomplishment of this task and are constantly aware that our purpose must be to give help that is actually needed where we go, rather than the help we ourselves may think should be given."

The ship will be staffed with about 20 physicians, 20 nurses, 15 medical technicians and two dentists. Half of the doctors will be interns. They will be rotated every four months, which is about the time that the Consolation is expected to remain in one country.

Replacements will be flown from the United States to the ship. Since the principal aim of Project HOPE is medical education, permanent staff members will be selected according to their teaching ability as well as their medical skills.

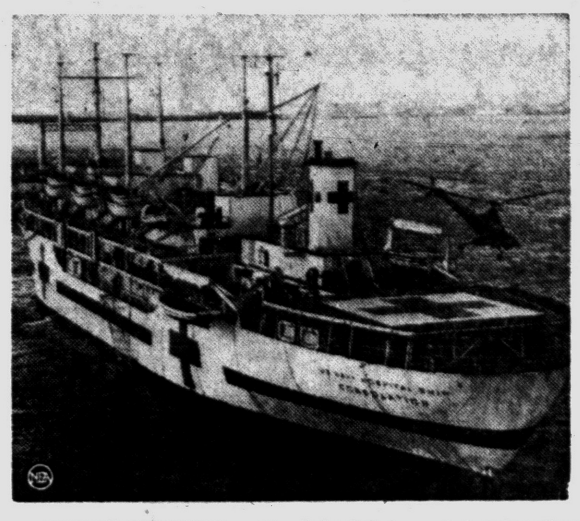

When the Consolation docks at a foreign port, local doctors will be invited aboard to attend classes devoted to the latest disease-fighting and surgical techniques. The ship's operating rooms and 800-bed hospital ward will be available to their patients.

Thus, the physicians will be able to watch the Consolation's doctors at work and also get practical experience in trying out the new techniques.

Mobile medical units will be dispatched inland to train people how to give inoculations, work X-ray machines and help deliver babies. Public health techniques also will be taught. If an epidemic should break out, the medical staff will work fulltime to take care of the sick.

★ ★ ★

"In all our efforts, we will participate with local doctors present," Dr. Walsh explains. "We expect to learn from local conditions and experience as well as to teach."

THE CONSOLATION — The help that is needed rather than the help we think should be given.

Dr. Walsh says it will cost $3.5 million to operate the ship for the first year. Most of the money is being donated by large corporations. The rest will come from donations by individual citizens.

Drug firms will provide the medical supplies and oil companies are expected to donate the ship's fuel. Pledges of food have also been made. One company has already offered a carload of potatoes. The American President Lines will operate the vessel at cost.

Navy Says Flotilla Will Dock at Detroit

DETROIT (UPI)—Detroit has received word from the Navy that eight destroyers and a submarine planning to tour the Great Lakes this summer will be able to dock at Detroit, Mayor Louis C. Miriani said.

Miriani said he received a telegram from Rear Adm. John W. Gannon saying a Coast Guard sounding of the harbor facilities in front of Detroit's Civic Center indicates docking of the ships is possible here.

★ ★ ★

"Recent Coast Guard soundings indicate municipal seaway acceptable and we have arranged with Coast Guard to provide buoys for proper channel for our entry," Gannon said.

A flotilla of 28 vessels, including a cruiser, several destroyers, supply ships and heavy weapon carriers will sail to Chicago to celebrate the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Dog Fight Broken Up but So Is Week's Budget

SAN DIEGO (AP)—Mrs. Margaret Messinger, 61, swung her large shopping purse at fighting dogs, one of them her own.

That broke up the fight but when Mrs. Messinger got home she found $21.40 was gone from the purse. It apparently flew out when she swung at the dogs.

Little Rock High School May Reopen

Faubus Order Ruled Illegal

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Itinerant Little Rock High School students face the possibility of a homecoming this fall.

Authorities generally agreed that the way to reopening four closed high schools was paved Thursday when a three-judge federal court struck down a state law Gov. Orval E. Faubus invoked to keep the schools shut throughout the 1958-59 academic year.

There was general agreement that the schools would operate under a token plan of integration previously approved by the federal courts.

Everett Tucker Jr., president of the Little Rock School Board, said the board felt it was bound by a previous court order to operate the schools under the integration plan if the school closing law was declared invalid.

Tucker said all five board members were in agreement that the schools should be reopened, even if it meant token integration.

Faubus took the court decision calmly. He said it was no surprise but came sooner than he had expected. The governor said he would not make a decision on whether to appeal the ruling until he had consulted with his attorneys.

The court also ruled out a companion act to the school closing law which provided for transfer of funds from closed schools to other schools where displaced students enrolled. Both acts were passed at a 1958 special legislative session called to deal with problems of school integration.

For Six Years He Saved

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — A man asked police to help him find a paper sack containing $1,000 which he lost while riding a bus in downtown Phoenix.

But the man refused to allow his name to be published.

He explained: "I've been six years saving that money. My wife doesn't know about it. If she knew, she'd make me put it in our joint bank account."

It was Will Rogers who said, "Everything is funny as long as it is happening to somebody else."

Chancellor Reverses Retirement Decision

Dr. ADENAUER's reversal of his decision to retire from the Chancellorship of West Germany and run for the Presidency seems to have been received submissively by leaders of his Christian Democratic Union.

★ ★ ★

His change of heart was extremely unpopular at first as the party wanted him to become President. A leading Hamburg newspaper, noting growing opposition to ADENAUER's dictatorship and taking issue with the party's decision, declared that "intelligent historians have assured us it is unjust to say all Germans are born to be ruled."

★ ★ ★

In reply to opposition Social Democrats' criticism, 83-year-old ADENAUER made the paradoxical statement that it is the highest principle of democracy to respect the decision of the individual conscience. One of his claims to fame has been that under his rule Germany had for the first time built a real democracy.

★ ★ ★

For years past the admittedly able Chancellor has made all decisions and stifled opposition. Despite party leader's recognition for a more imaginative policy and the popularity of Dr. Erhard, his apparent successor, they have gone along with Dr. Adenauer's rather undemocratic refusal to step down.

George Winters

GEORGE WINTERS, one of this area's well known citizens, died Thursday and leaves a whole host of friends behind.

★ ★ ★

A few years back, George was established as "Pontiac Manager of the Detroit Tigers," and even dispatched to Florida two or three times by The Press to cover spring training and make sure that "his boys" were in shape for the opening of the season. He was devoted to baseball and in those days the Tigers were all his personal pals.

★ ★ ★

A friendly, gregarious individual who loved everybody, GEORGE leaves an unfilled niche that no one else can precisely occupy. He was a "grand guy" and a staunch, loyal friend of Pontiac. We have no more faithful citizen.

★ ★ ★

When those of us who knew him eventually reach the Great Beyond, George will be there coaching on the third base line, "helping out," and doing something to make the way more pleasant and easier for someone else. That's the way he was—and is.

Lottery Used in Rome to Raise Olympic Funds

Accommodations for the Olympic contingent itself has taken all available space in Rome and the general public will be accommodated in private homes. A big apartment development is under way.

★ ★ ★

Rome must build stadia for the games and outside of the gaunt spectre of the ancient coliseum, she possesses nothing. (And the coliseum plays no part in the plans.) This spectacle will attract a huge tourist trade but one great, big question always confronted them.

Where's the money coming from?

★ ★ ★

The Roman officials have been studying this gravely for some time and they have their answer.

A lottery will do it.

And this means a government lottery.

The ruling powers have been supervising one for some time and a definite percentage of the "take" has been assigned to this purpose.

Would a Michigan lottery work?

Could we help dig ourselves out of our past debts with a State supervised lottery? Many think we could. Many think it would receive concerted opposition. Certainly it's worth exploring.

It has required nearly a week for my countless white corpuscles and my anemic lone red one to cooperate with my only brain cell that is not a sell, and effect a partial recovery from that editorial assault of my boss on my suggestion of as the proper title for a resident of the best state in the union — or anywhere else.

He would like it to be

But I'm willing to compromise on

as suggested by a letter in our VP on this page Wednesday, although that still is a little downey.

However, I'm still sticking by

for a resident of the best city on earth, and for a county that is absolutely without peer or equal.

So, Hello, Boss: you top Michiganer, Pontiacite and Oaklander.

David Lawrence Says:

Vendetta Against Strauss Tragic

WASHINGTON — One of the most tragic episodes in the entire history of the United States Senate is the fight that has been waged to prevent the confirmation of Lewis L. Strauss as secretary of commerce.

It is tragic because it is based on a personal feud. When hatreds become deep seated, they sometimes produce far-reaching cleavages, with emotion substituted for reason.

LAWRENCE

The current dispute is the outgrowth of friction between Strauss and Sen. Clinton Anderson, Democrat, of New Mexico. When the former was chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, he rubbed Sen. Anderson the wrong way.

★ ★ ★

The New Mexico senator is chairman of the Joint Atomic Energy Committee in Congress. He is influential with his colleagues. Many sided with him — as members of the senatorial club often do—without particular regard to the merits of a question, but with greater regard for the wishes of a fellow senator.

Anderson's home state — New Mexico — is the seat of the atomic laboratories where many scientists are gathered. Some of them are embittered over what they believe was Strauss' animosity toward J. Robert Oppenheimer, the scientist whose "clearance" was denied for security reasons by a presidential board.

While Strauss was not a member of this board, he did present to the White House the charges that led to the inquiry. It was natural that many of Anderson's constituents should expect him to do what he could to punish Strauss.

But this isn't all. It so happens that Strauss fought against governmental operation of power projects and in favor of private power. So this gave an opportunity for some of his foes in that field to be lined up against him.

★ ★ ★

The hearing held by a Senate committee was more of an inquisition than the normal recording of the views of a prospective cabinet officer. Usually the opposition party doesn't object to the appointment by a President of whomever he wants in a Cabinet post. But the recent hearings resulted in a bitter fencing match and answers provoked were not always as clear-cut as they would be if a different atmosphere had prevailed. Strauss was thereupon attacked as being "deceitful" and as lacking in character.

★ ★ ★

But not all the Democrats allowed this vendetta to envelop them. Sen. Thomas J. Dodd of Connecticut, in a speech Thursday to the Senate, said:

"Lewis L. Strauss is a man of 63 years. He is a former shoe salesman with a high school education who has received honorary degrees from 29 colleges and universities.

"He has a background of devoted service to philanthropic and religious affairs. He has earned distinction and wealth in the field of finance.

"He has a record of honorable achievement in the naval service in which he rose progressively to the rank of rear admiral.

"He has played some role in almost every administration, Democratic or Republican, since the days of Woodrow Wilson.

"He has earned letters of commendation from five presidents. He has been awarded five of his country's highest decorations. He has been honored by grateful nations of the free world.

"He has taken positions on matters of first importance to this nation, positions that were controversial, positions that were right.

★ ★ ★

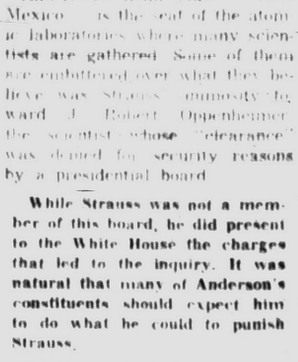

"In the 42nd year of his public life, at its climactic hour, we in the Senate are asked to reward this man by visiting upon him a condemnation and a repudiation that have not been accorded any American in a generation."

★ ★ ★

Sen. Dodd said: "If ever a government official, in possession of critical secret information, indicted himself as a security risk by his own words and actions, it was Oppenheimer . . . He was a regular financial contributor to the Communist party."

The Country Parson

"Men WORK and pray for the things they really want but just pray for the things they should want."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Clip Obstructing Tonsil With Simple Snickersnee

From the first of this series of talks about tonsils I expected angry reaction on the part of the ever-ready operators. Formerly when I published a series of articles on "The Scandal of Tonsillectomy" the reaction was almost too hot to handle.

DR. BRADY

So far the reaction has been so feeble that I am encouraged to think the medical profession is reconsidering the question of tonsil surgery. If so, I'll say "better late than never."

One young colleague, whose spirit I admire, tells me my teaching is fanatical, in that I never approve of tonsil surgery.

I not only approve of tonsil surgery but I have practiced it on members of my own family, with entirely satisfactory results. Tonsillotomy, that is — not tonsillectomy!

In any case where hypertrophy or enlargement of the tonsils obstructs the nasal air passages and causes mouth breathing — or obstructs ventilation of the middle ear cavity through the Eustachian tubes and causes more or less deafness — or obstructs the lower throat passage and causes difficulty of swallowing or speech impairment — tonsillotomy, in my judgment, is the proper treatment.

With the aid of the tonsillotome or snickersnee the doctor instantaneously slices off the obstructing portion of tonsil — an operation as safe and as quickly over as extraction of a tooth.

No, young man, my teaching in reference to tonsil surgery is not fanatical. It is merely conservative and, if I may so, humane. My sole purpose is to warn the public against radical, hazardous tonsillectomy.

Answer — Send stamped, self addressed envelope for free pamphlet Relief for Allergy.

Signed letters (not more than one page or 100 words long) pertaining to personal health and hygiene (not disease, diagnosis or treatment) will be answered by Dr. William Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Voice of the People

'Whole Education System Needs a Drastic Change'

When Mr. Sigler was governor, I heard a talk between the Michigan State University head and Mr. Sigler. The college superintendent said he would have no need of help from the state, as fees paid by students were sufficient.

★ ★ ★

By contrast, I heard a program of college students Friday, but all we hear now is more money for education and what are we getting? Juvenile homes and reform schools full to the doors. The whole education system needs a house cleaning. No business or industry could be run under such a system, with so much expense, most of which is taken from home owners and elderly people and low incomes.

★ ★ ★

Why do colleges keep students on the roll call who are gaining nothing? And where do they learn to be so unmannerly? Are they the prodigy of the Reuther undesirables. They sound much like it. Where is the pioneer spirit? And I understand schools are operating only 180 days a year.

★ ★ ★

But my squawk is on his pinch hitters, for he uses a pigeon named Chrisley time after time and this bird is batting exactly .063. That's the lowest on the squad of 25 players, behind all the pitchers and all the substitutes. This humpty dumpty Dykes repeatedly puts Chrisley in for men hitting .240 to .270. Down with Dykes and higher and higher for the Tigers.

Second Guessing Gussie

'Treat Dog Well and He'll Behave'

It is not common sense to kill any animal that attacks human beings—far from it. I've seen animals being mistreated by grown-ups and children alike. Half-drunk men slap their dogs before bystanders just to show off, and the dog just sits there, looking bewildered, not knowing for what reason he was being punished.

★ ★ ★

And children, if not told to be good to animals, are naturally cruel. Their parents must tell them not to poke their fingers in dogs' eyes and ears.

★ ★ ★

Any dog, if he's worth anything, will take a nip at small children if they do such things, so it's up to parents to watch for those things. Please, look at both angles. That's just fair play.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

Let us lift up our heart with our hands unto God in the heavens. Lamentations 3:41.

Prayer, in its simplest definition, is merely a wish turned God-ward. —Phillips Brooks.

'Double Standard Does the Harm'

Lack of sex education is a definite factor, but I put the blame for unwed mothers and fathers squarely in society's lap. Until society places a like stigma on the male animal it has coddled so long, we will have illegitimacy.

★ ★ ★

Boys know they have nothing to lose and proceed accordingly, knowing they can dance, but the girls alone will pay the piper. When both sexes know they have a reputation to lose, that will act as a deterrent. Think how much more effective a car is when both brakes are in good working order.

★ ★ ★

Come on, society, catch up to progress. Women are voting, we no longer hang witches, doctors no longer use leeches on patients and mentally ill patients no longer reside in the snake pit.

In Favor of Equality

'Then What About the Detroit Case?'

You printed a strong and logical editorial supporting full legal action against those four Florida boys who heaped indignities on the little colored girl and now I hope you feel equally strong for the full action of the law against the Detroit Negro who killed a white woman for no reason at all. This is a two-way street, isn't it?

The other day I visited . . . A friend of long ago . . . Who helped me learn so many things . . . That I have come toknow . . . And it was really wonderful . . . To talk with him and roam . . . Around the charming premises . . . That now he calls his home . . . And there I saw the painting that . . . Is named "The Helping Hand" . . . A fisherman and little girl . . . Who made me understand . . . That nothing is more wonderful . . . Than just to have a friend . . . The kind that really trusts in you . . . Today and to the end . . . The same as in that painting where . . . The small girl grips the oar . . . To help the kindly fisherman . . . Get safely back to shore.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

'Conditions' Sons to Like Dentistry

Dr. Joe's problem is a follow-up for Don's case yesterday, since he wishes to "condition" his two sons favorably toward dentistry as a career. Notice how the morticians were similarly "conditioned." And never forget that universal motto tattooed across every child's chest.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE B-465: Dr. Joe, aged 34, has two young sons in grade school.

★ ★ ★

"Dr. Crane," he began, "I'd like to have my boys enter dental college and join me in practice.

"But I realize a lot of kids veer away from their dad's profession.

"So I wonder just what methods would be best for trying to 'sell' dentistry to them. They are only 8 and 10 at the present time.

DR. CRANE

"Do you think that is too young an age to steer their thinking toward a specific career?"

DENTAL SURVEY

Last year I made a survey of American dentists for Cal Magazine, and found that a goodly percentage of dentists were persuaded to enter dentistry long before they reached college.

In fact, many reported they had chosen dentistry before they left grade school.

And when I discussed this subject before the National Selected Morticians and several state funeral directors associations, I found that those men likewise had picked that career in the early teens.

"A local mortician asked me to lend a hand at the church," said the leader of his state association.

"He thanked me when I had finished and praised me, saying I'd make a dandy mortician.

"Later, he let me drive his ambulance. And it was such a thrill to me to speed through traffic with a red light flashing, that I decided at the age of 15, I was going to be a mortician."

Incidentally, a number of other leading morticians confessed it was the thrill of being allowed to drive the ambulance that first won their affection for mortuary science.

DENTAL 'CONDITIONING'

The dentists gave somewhat similar reports. Older dentists would let them work with plaster and mold such characters as Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs.

★ ★ ★

This inflated the ego of the boys, even at age 10 or 12.

"I WANT TO FEEL IMPORTANT."

Since no lawyer or physician or banker or auto salesman had ever taken time out to inflate the ego of those youngsters concerning such professions, and this older dentist had, then the boys naturally leaned toward a dental career.

Some of our leading American dentists thus made their original decision because of such diplomatic "conditioning" by a kindly dentist.

If your child does NOT want to follow in his dad's profession, it often means the boy is afraid of being accused of riding his father's coattails to success.

Or he may vaguely resent the domineering of the usually busy male parent and thus strike out against his dad in indirect fashion by deciding to pick any trade or profession except the one his father represents.

If you think your profession is a worthy one, then "sell" it to your son, for there are many advantages in having a shingle with "Father & Son" thereon.

To help win your children, send for my "Tests for Good Parents," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit). If you rate tops on it, your children will more likely want to follow your profession.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

'Anatomy' Star Ben Gazzara East Side Boy

By PHILLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK—Ben Gazzara, who looks like a post-graduate Sal Mineo and acts like nobody's bizness, was born on New York's famous East Side. This is the old home neighborhood of some of our better actors and comedians who confess, rather proudly, that they slugged their way to success on a diet of stolen bananas.

Ben doesn't want to trade on hardship. "I didn't live that far down on the East Side," he said.

"I remember the depression a bit. I remember my mother saying she wasn't hungry a lot — and you know what that means. But I never had it tough.

"I found my drive early in life but it wasn't because I needed money. It's just I got into some school plays, and the applause started ringing in my ears. It sounds corny, but even as a kid I felt alive on the stage."

His first role, at age 11, was an Arab. He thought it was sissy stuff until people began to clap. Then, abruptly, he found it better than stick-ball or hitching on trucks.

Gazzara, whose full Thespian power will be unleashed on the movie public soon in "Anatomy of Murder," is being compared with the young John Garfield, the mature Marlon Brando and even early Rudolph Valentino.

"Flattered? I think it's amusing," he said. "We live in a country where people somehow have to put the finger on what kind of person you are, or they're uncomfortable. Things must be categorized, put in a neat little package.

"Well, I have too much Italian pride to be put in a slot, even a talented one."

"But it's a lot of idiocy—that concept of an (Actor's Studio) actor doing back-scratching and nose-picking. It all started when Brando did a great acting job in 'Streetcar Named Desire' and a few flunkies on the periphery without any talent began to imitate him." In acting, imitation is the insincerest form of flattery.

Gazzara's chief successes so far have been on Broadway, in "End as a Man," "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" and "A Hatful of Rain." With so much acclaim, he can afford to lead a nonconformist personal life, as well as professional one.

But then, he always did. In high school, he once was a truant for 60 days because he couldn't stand the "impersonalness" of New York City schools. When he was transferred to a small parochial school, he attended faithfully, and graduated with honors; but he refused to attend the graduation ceremonies "because you had to wear a wool suit, and it was too hot for a wool suit."

Gazzara now lives in a fourth-floor walk-up apartment on Manhattan's unfashionable West Side. When he's in a play he walks the mile and a half to the theater district, instead of taking cabs. Like so many young artists today, he's trying to maintain his individuality in the face of success . . .

He explains, "I attempt to live according to my own rules, but it's not easy. You've got to bend. There are responsibilities to those one loves that must be attended to even at the expense of what one wants to do at the moment. You can't be a baby, demanding everything. You have to grow up."

Journey To Love

Chapter XX

"I'm sorry to disappoint you," Kathie said coldly. "The deed is worthless."

His mocking grin faded. "I'm sorry, Kathie," he said, and there was sincerity in his voice. "I'm truly sorry."

Leilani was looking on curiously, but she did not ask questions. The waiter appeared at Alex' elbow, and by the time he had finished ordering, Bea had returned with the news that a plane seat was available.

★ ★ ★

Alex drove the three women in his own car, and when he reached the downtown area, he turned toward the mountains.

"Where in the world are you going, Alex?" Bea asked.

"Kathie can't leave Honolulu without seeing the Pali," he said. "There's plenty of time."

Abruptly they came out of the trees to the summit and Alex pulled off the highway. Kathie cried out at the vista of valley and sea that lay 3000 feet below them. From where they had stopped, the road zigzagged narrowly down the face of the mountain, so steep as to be almost a sheer cliff.

Later, along the road to the airport, Alex stopped to buy an armful of leis and for the second time that day the women were garlanded with sweet-smelling blossoms.

He turned to Kathie then, and for the space of a heartbeat he hesitated.

"I can't be impartial," he said, grinning, and took her in his arms. She went cold all over at his touch, but when their lips met, the blood flowed back into her veins with a warmth that was dizzying.

Dazedly she boarded the plane and listened as Leilani, who sat beside her, explained how to fasten her safety belt.

WAVE GOODBY

Leilani waved and made frantic sign-language gestures through the porthole to Alex, waiting below. Kathie lifted her hand, too, but forgot to lower it.

She stared at his foreshortened figure, bareheaded, his thinnish face creased by a one-sided smile.

I love him, she thought, with a frightened lurch of her heart. Whatever he is, whatever he's trying to do—I love him!

★ ★ ★

It was Kathie's first flight, and she stared through her window in half-fearful fascination as the great machine skimmed the concrete runway and lifted its nose toward the sea.

She caught a last glimpse of Alex' dwindling figure standing under the coconut palms near the air terminal.

When would she see him again? Her sense of emptiness was alarming. She tried to tell herself that she was being silly.

Wasn't Alex following them the next weekend? Why should she have this strange depressed feeling?

The sea glittered below them, and the already familiar contours of Diamond Head seemed squat and low as the plane circled toward it. Gradually the beauty of the scene unrolling beneath her lightened Kathie's heavy mood.

The coastline was scalloped with a lacy froth of white surf, and the ocean was a blue that made her shiver with pleasure.

'YOU HAVE EVERYTHING'

"I don't even have a place I can call home anymore," Kathie told her. "You have everything, Leilani. A home, friends, money—"

Leilani gave a short laugh. "We're as poor as church mice."

"You can't be as poor as I am. You've been traveling; you've bought a lot of lovely new clothes—"

★ ★ ★

"Aren't you traveling?" Leilani asked her. "Didn't you buy new clothes for your trip?"

"Yes, but—"

"We haven't got anything but a lot of debts," she said cynically. "Bea has a business iron in the fire in San Francisco, but I don't think anything will come of it. She thinks I'll marry money and pay off our debts."

Kathie looked at her, a little shocked. "Sam?" she asked. "But you don't love him, do you?"

Leilani hesitated, her lovely eyes clouded. "He's rather sweet, isn't he?" she said. "And so terribly rich. But so far you have the edge with him. Are you going to grab him?"

"Leilani!" Kathie protested, embarrassed.

It annoyed her to see Leilani's charm marred by such frank calculation, even though the calculation was so obviously her mother's. "Besides, isn't Alex wealthy enough?"

"Oh, his grandfather has other property," Leilani said, with a careless shrug, "but it's all tied up and there are too many descendants sharing the income. Whoever marries Alex will have to live off what he earns as a reporter for a long time. After his grandfather dies, the estate will still be split umpteen dozen ways. Alex is related to half of Honolulu, I do believe!"

It sounded like a wonderful life, Kathie thought, but she refrained from saying so.

(To Be Continued)

Packing Concern in Detroit Pressed

Dundee Livestock Co. filed a federal court petition Wednesday to declare the firm bankrupt. Dundee claims it is owed $9,827 and declared the company's appointment of a trustee March 2 was designed to "hinder, delay and defraud its creditors."

★ ★ ★

The petition was the latest in a long line of difficulties for Hammond Standish & Co. The company was unable to meet its payroll May 29, although its employes had dwindled from 300 to fewer than 50.

In 1957, employes agreed to lend the company 10 per cent of their wages for working capital, with the money to be repaid in five years at six per cent interest.

In 1951, employes had sacrificed three weeks' pay in an effort to keep the company from going out of business.

Never Underestimate . . .

CHICAGO (UPI) — Women today own 52 per cent of all stocks in publicly-held companies, control 70 per cent of all estates and half of all savings accounts and government bonds, according to the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust Co.

Piggyback Traffic Up

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Piggyback traffic on the nation's railroads made substantial gains in 1958, with total loadings reaching 276,767 cars, 11 per cent above 1957, according to the Association of American Railroads. And it noted that the gain came in the face of a 15 per cent drop in overall carloadings.

The Ice Cream cone was introduced at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition at the St. Louis World's Fair in 1904. The concession ran out of plates to serve ice cream, so it wrapped the ice cream in thin pastry.

No Fidel-ers Wanted

MONTPELIER, Vt. (UPI) — Beards may be okay in Cuba, but not in the Vermont National Guard. Maj. Gen. Francis Billado, Vermont, adjutant general, issued an order against chin fringe saying guardsmen must maintain "a proper military bearing."

Hal Boyle Says:

Postcarditis: Scourge of Travelers Abroad

PARIS (AP)—There is one disease that, sooner or later, strikes all tourists abroad.

It is known medically as "postcarditis."

The symptom is simple and unmistakable. The victim suddenly is swept by an inexplicable urge to write postcards to the folks back home.

You and your wife are making a trip to Europe after saving for 20 years. You are having a fine time seeing the sights until one day you pick a postcard off a rack.

"I think I'll mail this to Joe at the office. It'll make him turn green with envy," you say.

And the wife says, "That's not a bad idea. I think I'll mail one myself to our next door neighbor."

You don't know it then, but you and your wife already have taken the fatal step. Writing just one postcard is as impossible as eating only a single peanut at a cocktail party.

NO TIME FOR VIEW

You go to the top of the Eiffel Tower, but neither you nor your wife have time to look at the splendid view of Paris. You are too busy selecting splendid postcards and scribbling "Having most wonderful time. Miss you terribly."

★ ★ ★

You go to the Louvre and tell the guide, "Never mind Mona Lisa and the Venus de Milo. Show us the postcard counter."

You are both now in the grip of a mania more insidious than addiction to the bottle or the opium pipe.

"We've written to all our relatives and friends," says the wife. "Who'll we write to now?"

"Our enemies," you say, reaching for another postcard.

ALL OVER

Then one morning it is all over. You awake feeling guilty and suffering from a bad case of writer's cramp. You can't look at another postcard. The madness is gone.

★ ★ ★

So you cable the boss for passage money, and you and your wife take the next plane or ship home.

But the first thing you do is start looking up all the people you wrote to.

"We sure had a great time," you say.

Then you add: "By the way, have you still got any of those postcards we sent you? We want to see what Europe really looks like."

The secret is—if you want to see Europe with your own eyes while you are still there—never write that first postcard home.

One machine tabulating 400 names a minute and running 40 hours a week would require about two years and eight months to count all the people in the United States today.

Hal Boyle Says:

Postcarditis: Scourge of Travelers Abroad

PARIS (AP)—There is one disease that, sooner or later, strikes all tourists abroad.

It is known medically as "postcarditis."

The symptom is simple and unmistakable. The victim suddenly is swept by an inexplicable urge to write postcards to the folks back home.

You and your wife are making a trip to Europe after saving for 20 years. You are having a fine time seeing the sights until one day you pick a postcard off a rack.

"I think I'll mail this to Joe at the office. It'll make him turn green with envy," you say.

And the wife says, "That's not a bad idea. I think I'll mail one myself to our next door neighbor."

You don't know it then, but you and your wife already have taken the fatal step. Writing just one postcard is as impossible as eating only a single peanut at a cocktail party.

NO TIME FOR VIEW

You go to the top of the Eiffel Tower, but neither you nor your wife have time to look at the splendid view of Paris. You are too busy selecting splendid postcards and scribbling "Having most wonderful time. Miss you terribly."

★ ★ ★

You go to the Louvre and tell the guide, "Never mind Mona Lisa and the Venus de Milo. Show us the postcard counter."

You are both now in the grip of a mania more insidious than addiction to the bottle or the opium pipe.

"We've written to all our relatives and friends," says the wife. "Who'll we write to now?"

"Our enemies," you say, reaching for another postcard.

ALL OVER

Then one morning it is all over. You awake feeling guilty and suffering from a bad case of writer's cramp. You can't look at another postcard. The madness is gone.

★ ★ ★

So you cable the boss for passage money, and you and your wife take the next plane or ship home.

But the first thing you do is start looking up all the people you wrote to.

"We sure had a great time," you say.

Then you add: "By the way, have you still got any of those postcards we sent you? We want to see what Europe really looks like."

The secret is—if you want to see Europe with your own eyes while you are still there—never write that first postcard home.

One machine tabulating 400 names a minute and running 40 hours a week would require about two years and eight months to count all the people in the United States today.

Could Decide British Election

Commercial TV Is Hot Issue

LONDON (UPI) — "Use Blitzo every night, and your clothes will be whiter than the whitest white."

Examine that jingle carefully. It is a reasonable facsimile of the sort of commercial British television viewers have been seeing and hearing.

Does it sound like political dynamite? Can it be that the fate of a government will hang on a detergent commercial?

Stranger things have certainly happened. So some Socialists must be uneasy about the timing—there may be an election this year—of a campaign against TV commercials by a group of Labor members in Parliament.

For the fact of the matter is that many viewers enjoy commercials—and might vote against anyone who attacks them.

The current attack centers on a new British institution called "The Natural Break." Under the regulations setting up the Independent Television Authority, which controls commercial TV, advertisements were to be used only between programs or during their "natural breaks."

The leader of the crusaders, Christopher Mayhew, claims "natural breaks" are being "artificially manufactured so that more money can be made from advertisers. His group alleges that many of these are really "unnatural breaks" such as when an Indian attack on a western was interrupted for a scalp lotion commercial.

It is noteworthy that although Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's Tories are free to take any stand they wish on TV advertising, none of them has yet joined in the assault. It is not that the Tories like program interruptions — in fact, many probably detest them more than the Socialists.

But politics are politics and in an election which figures to be dramatically close, even a few votes may be vital. Thus the Tories are well aware that public opinion polls show that the working class, jealous of its few amusements, actually considers the commercial part of its television entertainment.

In the developing strategy for the next election, the Socialists have tried hard not to give the Tories any extra ammunition. Commercial TV circles believe this was the reason the question of curbing the Independent Television Authority was omitted from the Labor Party manifesto.

But Socialist papers and parliamentarians have made clear that cutting commercials out of many programs will be one of the party goals when they are in power again.

* * *

This obviously gives the Tories an electioneering chance to insinuate that what is really under way is an attack on the people's entertainment.

88 Firms Employ 721 Former Officers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eighty-eight of the 100 firms that got the most defense contracts have hired a total of 721 retired military officers, says Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill).

When such firms hire former officers of high rank to negotiate with their former fellow officers —some of whom they have promoted—the potential and actual abuses are magnified, Douglas told the Senate Wednesday.

He noted that the government's General Accounting Office has found several instances of overcharges on defense contracts involving some of these companies.

Douglas placed in the Congressional Record a list of the 100 top defense contract firms. The list included the number of retired officers with the rank of colonel, naval captain, or higher on each payroll. A few companies had none.

West Has Made Major Concessions at Geneva to Avoid Showdown

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Big Three Western Allies, although stopping short of a complete backdown, have made major concessions to the Soviet Union on Berlin. In fact, the West has made concessions from the start.

It was more than six months ago that Premier Nikita Khrushchev told the Allies to get their troops out of West Berlin or he would turn over to the East German Communists control of the supply routes to the city.

The Allies could have said then: "We stay. Now let's see you make good on your threats. If you try force, it will be met by force."

Instead, to avoid a conflict which might lead to war, the United States, Britain, and France suggested to the Soviet Union that all four try to negotiate, a peaceful settlement. The result was the foreign ministers' meeting in Geneva.

The net result — after six weeks of these talks — has been more concessions by the Allies, this time as the talks seem to be reaching a climax which may bring some kind of settlement or blow up the whole meeting.

From the beginning the Allies have insisted they had a right—stemming back to World War II agreements — to keep their troops in West Berlin. Although that city is 110 miles inside Communist East Germany, its inhabitants are mtied to the West German government.

★ ★ ★

If they didn't get out — and refusing to get out is the most important point on which the Allies haven't backed down — then, according to Khrushchev's warning, the East German Reds would take control of the supply routes to the city.

This meant the Allies — who refuse to recognize the German Communists as the lawful government of East Germany, a Soviet satellite — would be recognition.

But once the Reds controlled the supply routes, they could squeeze the city, unless the Allies were willing to use force to stop them, by cutting down on the supplies allowed to go through.

This would threaten the city's economy. If large-scale unemployment followed, as it probably would, the present stability of the city would be shaken. All these things the Allies faced.

So although the Russians had started all this and although the Allies had insisted they had the right to be in Berlin and have free access to the city, these are some of the concessions the Allies made this week:

1. They demanded a Soviet guarantee of their right to get into and out of West Berlin and to keep the city supplied — by rail, road and air — even though East Germans controlled the routes.

By this proposal the Allies dropped their earlier demand for a specific Soviet guarantee of their continued right to be in Berlin as an occupation power.

2. The West said it was ready to accept control of its traffic to West Berlin by the East German Communists, although the West would continue to hold the Russians responsible for keeping the supply lines open to all trafic to Berlin.

Thus the West was attempting to keep the East Germans in the category of mere Soviet agents, hot a sovereign power. Nevertheless, the Allies actually would have to deal with East Germans whom they said they would not recognize.

3. The West did not ask the Soviet Union to agree to Allied occupation of Berlin forever. Thus in a sense they were yielding to Soviet pressure, since they were not telling the Russians they'd leav, if ver, only when they pleased.

★ ★ ★

Instead, the Allies wanted Moscow to agree to their staying in Berlin until all Germany is unified — this seems so far off it was in effect asking for agreement to an indefinite stay — or until some new agreement is reached.

The next move was up to the Soviets who seemed to be thinking hard on what to say now since the Allied concessions, in world public opinion, were obviously an effort to avoid a violent showdown.

California OKs Making of River

Man-Made Stream to Water Parched Section of State

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—A 500-mile man-made river, flowing across alkali deserts and over 4,000-foot mountains, and a 2½-billion-dollar public works project to provide thousands of new jobs for 50 years is the water plan which passed the Legislature Wednesday.

California's voters in November 1960 will be asked to authorize 1¾ billion dollars in bonds and to pledge an expected 15 million dollars a year in tidelands oil income, plus 20 million a year in water project revenues to build the largest water transport system in the world.

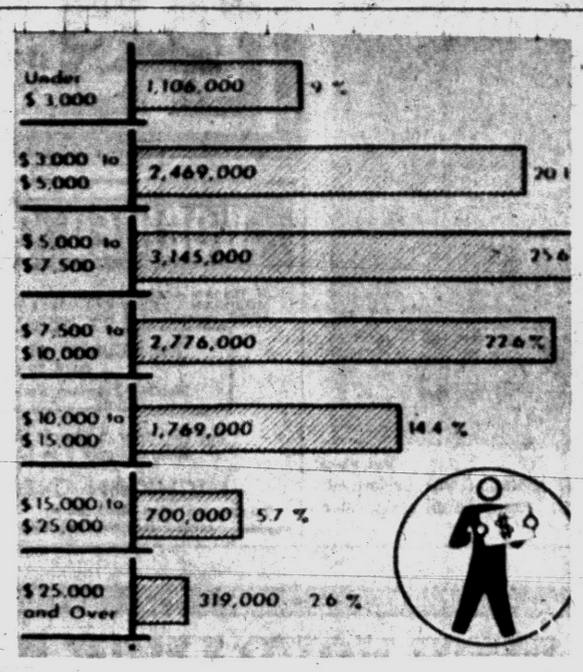

Heart of the project will be huge Oroville Dam on the Feather River in the northern Sierra Nevada.

Melted snow stored behind the dam would be released during the dry California summers to flow down the Feather and the Sacramento to the natural pool where all the streams of the great valleys converge before entering San Francisco Bay.

Water would be pumped from there and poured into 638 miles of canals, pipes, conduits and tunnels—carrying it as far south as San Diego near the Mexican border.

Pumps would lift the water 3,691 feet over the Tehachapi Mountains for the parched southland, which gets only two per cent of the state's annual rainfall, and where, ironically, California's population boom is centered.

Only 4 Play 'Em All

NEW YORK (UPI) — Only four major leaguers played in every game during the 1958 season. They were Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs, Frank Malzone of the Boston Red Sox, Frank Bolling of the Detroit Tigers and Nellie Fox of the Chicago White Sox.

Battle Police in Africa City

30,000-40,000 Zulus Riot

DURBAN, South Africa (UPI) — Rioting Africans burned shops and battled sporadically with police in this port city throughout the night.

★ ★ ★

In rioting yesterday an estimated 30,000 to 40,000 Zulu men and women stormed across a 10-mile area of the city, battling police with bare hands, homemade pistols and knobkerries, clubs which are the traditional Zulu weapons.

The casualty list counted two dead and an estimated 20 injured —eight wounded by police gunfire —but there were fears it would go far higher when police were able to investigate crowded African slums.

HEAVY REINFORCEMENTS

Heavy police reinforcements stood by at headquarters posts and troops and armored troop carriers were alerted to move in if police could not gain control of the situation.

One yelling crowd of Africans attacked an American correspondent in an automobile about midnight. They battered the vehicle with sticks and stones after just having set fire to a row of shops.

The smell of burnt human flesh hung heavily over the gutter ruins of an Indian home near the native shanty town of Cato Manor. A burning gasoline station illuminated the sky.

★ ★ ★

Indian families, fearing that natives would start attacking them in the early morning, fled with their belongings. Tiny children were carried wrapped in blankets in the arms of their fathers.

Man From Lineup Saved by the Law

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — O.V. Norris, 55, picked George E. Emerson, 27, from a police lineup as the man who robbed a grocery store where Norris worked.

Then Norris said to an officer, "I'll give you $50 to let me take one punch at him."

Let's Be Reasonable

AYDIN, Turkey (UPI) — Arzuhalci Cevdet, long separated from his wife, opposed her request for a divorce which included a demand for the equivalent of $100 a month alimony. He would agree, he said, only if the alimony were made $200 a month "so she can live decently."

Authorization Probably Higher

Large Drop in Foreign Aid Likely Due From House

WASHINGTON (AP) — House approval of a 3½-billion-dollar foreign aid authorization could mean operations at about the present level for another year, the program's supporters said today. But because actual money must be provided in a separate appropriation bill later, the amount available after July 1 could be much less.

The House voted Thursday night —271-142—for a $3,542,600,000 program slanted toward economic loans and partly away from military and economic grants.

Much legislative cutting and patching lies ahead, but Foreign Affairs Committee Chairman Thomas E. Morgan (D-Pa) said he thinks the pattern of the final program probably has been set.

The authorization the House voted for the year beginning July 1 is close to the actual appropriation for this year—$3,448,092,500. It is $366,800,000 less than President Eisenhower asked. But it is still more than some House members, including opponents on the Appropriations Committee, say they will support when it comes to voting actual funds.

The Senate has yet to act on its own version of the authorization bill, with which the House measure eventually will be compromised. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee has voted a $4,165,000,000 authorization subject to senate action.

Morgan, whose committee recommended 100 million dollars more for loans than the House Finally authorized, said the outlook is for a higher figure when the inevitable compromise is reached with the Senate.

Both the House and the Senate committee bills emphasize the economic side of the program and announce preference for loans grants. Both call on the executive branch — the Senate version in more peremptory language — to come up with a plan for getting away from economic grant aid.

★ ★ ★

Grade Schoolers Attend Saturday

Voluntarily Take Extra Day of Class to Get Foreign Language

ABINGTON, Pa. (UPI) — The moppets of the Cedar Road School are trooping back to class on Saturdays, of all things, and even stranger, they are doing it voluntarily in order to learn a foreign language.

The Cedar Road School is pioneering an experiment in making courses in French, German, Spanish, Italian and Russian available to the students in grades two through six.

And nearly half of the 154 pupils in those grades have enrolled for the classes.

The program, purely voluntary and sparked by the Abington Township School District, got under way last February and proved so successful that plans already are being made to continue it when the fall term opens in September.

Marian Garrison, principal of Cedar Road School, said the program involves teaching the children languages by conversation.

PARENTS PARTICIPATE

The parents themselves are participating in the instruction and report their children are making amazing progress in actually talking the foreign languages.

An enrollment fee of $2 is charged for each course, proceeds from which will buy foreign language books, take care of incidental expenses . . . and pay for a party planned for the end of the current term.

The classes are held "without any written material or homework or grammatical instruction," according to Paul J. LaMorgia, one of the group that planned the courses.

★ ★ ★

"The object is purely conversational," he said. "The purpose is to get children's ears acquainted with the sound of a foreign language in order to help adjust their oral ability for handling foreign sounds before professional teaching begins at the junior high school level."

She taught Russian for the Berlitz school in 1918 and speaks several Slavic languages plus French and Italian.

Odd Food Needs Tasting Party

Researchers at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station have arranged tasting parties for 28 fourth graders as part of a study of food waste in school lunches.

After the youngsters checked off the vegetables they liked, didn't like, or had never tasted, the researchers inquired into family practices in buying, preparing and serving the vegetables. Parents also were asked if THEY liked the vegetables.

Then, says the study report, the three vegetables with which the children were least familiar—broccoli, rutabaga and squash—were served to them in a variety of ways.

NATURAL FORM

The report said:

"As each new vegetable was presented at tasting parties, it was shown in its natrual form and the children were told what part of the plant it represented.

"The students were given opportunities to read about the vegetables in the classroom and some brought samples of broccoli and squash from home. These were cooked and the class tasted them.

"The children were also provided opportunities to suggest more appealing ways of preparing and serving the vegetables."

The original study was conducted in the fall of 1954 and the preference phase repeated among 26 of the original 28 children in the spring of 1956.

Generally, the report says, children ate best the vegetables with which they were most familiar and which were served regularly at home.

When relatively new vegetables were served at tasting parties and later in the school lunch program, acceptance "tended to improve with familiarity."

ACCEPTANCE MAINTAINED

When the resurvey was conducted, the report went on, "the degree of acceptance built up in the vegetable acceptance improvement program for certain previously unfamiliar vegetables was fairly well maintained."

Food acceptance programs like tasting parties can serve a double purpose, the researchers conclude.

"First, in increasing the variety of foods familiar to the children, and secopd, in increasing the nutritional benefits derived by children from the school lunch by stimulating their interest in food and cultivating better attitudes toward it."

★ ★ ★

But, they warn:

"Children in the present study tended to slip back into a pattern of higher plate waste when the educational efforts were relaxed."

Fraters Play Prank on Overnight Guests

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — When men of Theta Kappa Phi turned over their Ohio State University fraternity house to dates during a weekend party, there was a catch.

Before leaving, fraternity members hid several alarm clocks. Alarms began sounding at 4 a.m., keeping the 32 girls temporarily occupying the house busy hunting down the clocks.

Paper Struck in Kansas City

Walkout Over Work Week, Holiday Pay Hits Star, Another Also

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — A printer's strike has shut down the Kansas City Star and the smaller Kansas City, Kan., Kansan.

The strike left Missouri's two largest cities without major daily newspapers. The Post-dispatch and Globe-Democrat in St. Louis have been closed 10 days by a stereotypers' walkout.

★ ★ ★

This morning's edition of the Kansas City Star was not published after members of the International Typographical Union's Local 80 had voted 311 to 26 Thursday night in favor of a strike. The company publishes the Times in the morning and the Star in the afternoon.

★ ★ ★

The Star said the strike involved differences over a shorter work week and holiday pay.

Earlier a local union official said the printers were concerned about union security and fringe benefits more than wages.

In a statement issued after the strike vote, the Star said both parties were in accord on the matter of wages in the last negotiating session Wednesday.

Cocktail Party, Car Greet Young Eiffel Visitor

PARIS (AP)—For days, officials of the Eiffel Tower have been preparing to welcome the 35 millionth visitor — with a cocktail party and a car as a prize.

Yesterday the 35 millionth visitor arrived. He was 10-year-old Julien Bertin from a hamlet in Normandy.

After the initial shock, the officials phoned Julien's mother. The car, she said, would come in handy for Julien and his brother and sister, who have to walk three miles to school.

The cocktail party will go on as scheduled later this month. Fruit juice will be on hand for Julien.

White Girl, 14, Raped by New York Negro

NEW YORK (AP) — A 14-year-old white girl was raped Thursday night by a Negro youth in a Corona, Queens, school yard, police reported.

Two youths were picked up for questioning in the case early today.

The blonde girl, not identified by police because of her age, gave this account.

She had been attending a function at a junior high school. About 9:15 p.m., she went into the school yard and was chatting with some girl friends.

A Negro youth she "knew by sight" came over and asked her to join his group, consisting of five other negro youths.

When she refused, the girl said, the youth struck her in the left eye with his fist and dragged her over to his group. While his companions circled about her, she said, the first youth assaulted her. She said the other boys molested but did not attack her.

A school supervisor, hearing the girl's screams, ran to her rescue, and the youths fled. The girl was termed in fair condition at Elmhurst General Hospital.

The White House in Washington has been painted white since 1814.

Missile Starts Early, Kills 1 GI, Injures 5

NAHA, Okinawa (AP) — One U. S. Army man was killed and five others were injured today when a Nike-type missile ignited prematurely at a launching site near Naha Airport.

A U. S. military spokesman said the missile was in a horizontal position when the accident occurred. The rocket ploughed several hundred yards, then broke apart in an open field near the launching site. There was no explosion.

The military spokesman said all safety factors built into the missile were in operation, which apparenly prevented the explosion.

Gen. Donald P. Booth, U. S. Army commander in the Ryukyu Islands, named a board of officers to investigate the accident and determine the cause.

★ ★ ★

Faithful Master to Receive Medal for Saving Hound

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (AP)—Luke Chastain, who worked for 18 days before he freed his trapped coon hound from a mountain crevice, is going to receive a medal tonight.

At a banquet in his honor Chastain will receive the Walter E. Stillman award from the American Humane Sciety.

★ ★ ★

"I'll go, but I'd rather be 'coon hunting," he said.

Chastain, with the help of friends, fed Old Touse through the narrow opening. He chipped and dynamited the rock for 18 days before the dog was freed Dec. 11.

"He's been a little hard of hearing ever since," Chastain said. "But he's still the best dang 'coon hound anywhere in this country."

AIRLINERS OF TOMORROW — Here are artists' conceptions of two supersonic passenger planes conceived by British and American engineers as possible with present technical knowledge. Both are said to be capable of speeds over 2,000 miles an hour. The Lockheed Aircraft Corp. model at top would have trapezoidal or delta wing at rear of the fuselage with tail arrangement in front for optimum trim control. The British version at bottom, by Bristol Siddeley Engineers Ltd. could carry 130 persons from London to New York in 98 minutes, engineers say.

Future Planes Will Leave Corridors of Concussion

LOS ANGELES (AP) — When you climb into the airliner of the near future, don't bother hunting for a seat by the window. There won't be any window.

This won't matter because you'll be at your destination almost before you get settled comfortably—coast to coast in less than an hour and a half.

And you'll be too high—14 or 15 miles up—to see much anyway.

Below, people at first will shudder at your passing because your plane—traveling at 2,000 miles an hour, three times the speed of sound—will create a corridor of concussion across the country. Authorities say people will get used to these supersonic booms.

The time to worry will be when you get anywhere near another airliner. Shock waves could wreck another plane if it got too close.

This picture of tomorrow's airliner—which could be built with the materials and knowledge possessed today—was drawn by Maj. Gen. John W. Sessums Jr., vice commander of the Air Research and Development Command.

In a paper to be presented today at the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences, Gen. Sessums gave these additional details of airliners now on the drawing boards:

1. They will be long and slender with the engines set as far aft as possible.

2. They will be smaller, carrying no more than 75 passengers, because each plane will be able to transport as many passengers in a week as today's fastest airliner can transport in a month.

3. They will be made of stainless steel or titanium because they will get so hot that aluminum might melt.

Soldier Killed, 6 Injured in Korean Gun Battle

SEOUL (AP) — One South Korean soldier was killed and six others wounded Thursday in a gun battle with three unidentified intruders about 12 miles south of the demilitarized zone between North and South Korea.

The U.N. command said one of the intruders had been killed and the other two captured. Presumably they were infiltrators from Communist North Korea.

Animal Trainer Wonders What Became of Sally

POMPTON PLAINS, N.J. (AP) — What's that? You say you heard a seal bark?

A 6½-foot seal was being trucked to entertain youngsters at a party Thursday. Somewhere along landlocked Rt. 46 the seal joggled open a lock and escaped.

Robert Dietch, an animal trainer who runs a children's zoo in Fair Lawn, said he had missed a turn going to a birthday party here. He stopped to ask directions.

★ ★ ★

It was then he discovered the seal, named Sally, had escaped. He searched all afternoon with his assistant but no Sally.

"She'll make for a swamp or a swimming pool," he added.

Congress Must Pass Compromise First

Expect Ike's OK on Housing Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Leading Democratic and Republican Senate spokesmen on housing legislation said today a compromise $1,375,000,000 housing bill should win the approval of President Eisenhower.

★ ★ ★

Senate-House conferees agreed on the omnibus bill Thursday after the Democratic majority had cut the amount sharply to blunt GOP charges that the Democrats are reckless spenders.

Sen. John J. Sparkman (D-Ala) chairman, and Sen. Homer E. Capehart (R-Ind), senior Republican on the Senate's Housing subcommittee, both said they did not see why Eisenhower could not sign it.

Both houses must approve the compromise before it is sent to the President.

Some Republicans on the conference committee assailed the compromise and insisted it still went beyond the President's recommendations in many respects. Their attitude left in doubt the eventual fate of the bill.

The conference report is scheduled to be called up first in the Senate, probably early next week.

The compromise contains large grant authorizations for government-sponsored housing programs. It also has many provisions designed to help private homebuilding industry. These include 10 billion dollars of new insurance authority for FHA home loans, liberalized down payments for FHA mortgages, and longer term Veterans' Administration mortgages.

Sparkman and Capehart emphasized that the bill would add only about 24 million dollars to Eisenhower's budget in the 1960 fiscal year starting July 1. Eisenhower's own proposals would have cost about four millions for that year.

Most of the authorizations in the bill are for spending several years in the future.

The Senate originally had allotted $2,100,000,000 for the slum program over six years, and the House 1½ billions for three years. The administration requested $1,350,000,000 over six years. The compromise provides 900 millions for this program over two years.

Two Democratic senators, Joseph S. Clark (Pa), and Paul H. Douglas (Ill), said they might not sign the conference report because of this cutback. They said this program is vital to slum-ridden cities and that city officials should have a long-term extension so they can plan their programs.

Boating Fans Find San Diego a True Mecca

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) — Thousands of acres of protected water and a mild climate combine to make this southern California seaport city one of the nation's most ideal spots for boating enthusiasts.

There are more than 12,000 pleasure boats registered here and private ownership is increasing at the rate of 100 boats a week, making San Diego what one might call a "boat in every garage" city.

San Diego harbor, dotted with hundreds of naval and commercial vessels, and Mission Bay, now being developed at the nation's outstanding aquatic park, provide facilities to handle everything from paddleboards to ocean-going yachts.

The center of boating activities in San Diego Bay, a boot-shaped harbor containing 25 miles of navigable waters, is Shelter Island, a man-made peninsula providing ample car and boat-trailer parking facilities as well as launching ramps. And it's free.

Shelter Island will be even more attractive this summer with completition of a new marina, complete with slips for 135 boats of all sizes up to 115 feet and every service needed by visiting yachtsmen from showers to restaurant.

Junior's Case Righted

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UPI) — City Judge James B. McKenna fined Gary B. Hogan Jr. $15 for speeding after correcting a "mixup" through which Hogan's case had been disposed of as a youthful offense. Hogan is 43.

Find Relaxing Chemical

BOSTON (UPI) — A substance that blocks the chemical process of muscle contraction — and produces relaxation — has been separated from the "relaxing factor system" of the muscles, report scientists from Harvard University and Massachusetts General Hospital.

Priest Sponsors Tribute to Rabbi

Interfaith Honor Hailed by Massachusetts Chief, National Leaders

LAWRENCE, Mass. (AP) — A capacity crowd of 600 men and women — Protestants, Roman Catholics and Jews — attended a testimonial dinner Thursday night for a Rabbi. The sponsor was a Catholic priest.

Honored was Rabbi Norman Towersky, head of the Orthodox Jewish Congregation of Lawrence. The Very Rev. Edward J. Carney, O.S.A., his close friend, was the sponsor.

A message from Gov. Foster Furcolo of Massachusetts typified the spirit behind the affair. He said: "The occasion serves as a model for similar groups throughout the country . . . It is my privilege to register the appreciation of the commonwealth for this local display of the good neighbor policy and interacial amity in Massachusetts."

Rabbi Twersky told the gathering: "I feel actually that this testimonial was not held for me but instead for my spiritual children." He expressed appreciation to Father Carney and described him as a very dear friend.

The priest said: "I am proud to say that he has been, he is, and always will be my dear and close friend. A tribute to him is a tribute to his flock and his people."

Rabbi Samuel Foxx of Boston, president of the Orthodox Rabbinical Council of Greater Boston, said: "At a time in history when peoples of the world have failed so dismally at Geneva, we have demonstrated to those experienced leaders in the world that we have reached the summit, the summit of brotherhood and the summit of understanding."

Telegraphic tributes were received from Vice President Richard M. Nixon, House Majority Leader John W. McCormack (D-Mass) and House Minority Leader Charles Halleck (R-Ind).

In 1949, the latest year for which figures were available railroads and highways served areas with approximately 1.2 to 1.5 billion people in the world.

Bingo or Aloha Quiz, It's Illegal in Hawaii

HONOLULU (AP) — Hawaii's Supreme Court says that bingo by any other name is still bingo and is illegal in the islands.

The court upheld the conviction of nine players of a bingo-type game called "Aloha Quiz." It differed from bingo in that winners had to answer a question before being given cash prizes.

Brands Administration Reckless

Summerfield Hits Dems, Says GOP State's Hope

ST. JOSEPH (AP) — Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield says Michigan's state Democratic administration is "reckless" and says only a Republican administration can "bring fiscal sanity back to Michigan."

Summerfield, a former Flint auto dealer, spoke at a $60-a-plate fund raising dinner sponsored by the Southwestern Michigan Republican Assn. here last night.

Summerfield said Michigan's current financial crisis "occurred because public spending was used by the state administration as a political policy."

He charged that Gov. Williams, now in his sixth consecutive two-year term, and the Democratic party have become "the pawns of a union leader whose devotion to the lures of the welfare state has been reflected in everything the governor has done." He did not name the union leader.

★ ★ ★

"To continue in these ways," Summerfield said, "is to pile taxes upon taxes on every Michigan family. It is to drive more good industries and businesses out of Michigan. It is to take away our people's jobs and export these jobs to other states. It is to put future heavy indebtedness on the income of every-wage earner whose job remains.

"It is, in short, to destroy the greatness of Michigan."

Summerfield said Williams "continues to think in terms of spend-and-tax, tax-and-spend," and said a Republican administration would provide a "determined program to help, not penalize Michigan business — small, medium and large — so that business can create more jobs for more of our people."

Mrs. Nelson, who will be 101 July 6, explained Thursday how she came to be in a hospital for the first time in her life.

★ ★ ★

Toasting photographers at her bedside with a raised glass of orange juice, Mrs. Nelson said she fell two days ago while getting some food out of the refrigerator of her Manhattan apartment.

When a policeman arrived Thursday and asked her what happened, she told him, "Oh, I was kicking up my heel a bit."

But as for the police report that she had been ballet dancing, she snorted: "I don't know where they got that ridiculous idea."

Mrs. Nelson said she was born in Rochester, N.Y., in 1858; that her husband, James, a stockbroker, died many years ago, and an only child died in infancy.

Looking forward to her next birthday, Mrs. Nelson said, "I'd like to stay around for a while. I'm having a good time. I've never grown old. I've never worn drawstrings on my bonnet or woolen drawers."

She added, her eyes twinkling, "If you find a good-looking man who's not too old, let me know."

"She's a wonderful woman. She invited me to her next birthday party. She told me she'd have cake and wine."

Grand Rapids Doctor Perishes in Blaze

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Dr. Le Moyne Unkefer, 36, died early today in a fire which caused damages estimated at $3,000 in the living room of her northeast Grand Rapids home.

★ ★ ★

Her husband, Dr. George H. Ruggy, and their two children escaped the blaze, according to police. The victim and her husband shared a medical practice in suburban Cornstock Park.

Dr. Ruggy was admitted to Blodgett Memorial Hospital for observation after the fire.

Firemen were unable immediately to establish the cause of the blaze and arson squad investigators were checking the scene.

The fire broke out shortly before 1 p.m. Dr. Henry J. Kreulen, medical examiner, said the victim's body was found in the charred living room.

Letter Wanders Astray From Egypt to Illinois

CAIRO, Ill. (AP) — Mail meant for Shepheard's Hotel in Cairo, Egypt, was missent to Earl Shepherd's hotel in Cairo, Ill.

Shepherd said the letter was addressed to Mr. and Mrs. Harold B. Nelson, care of Shepheard's Hotel, Cairo, UAR, from Jessie L. Hamil, American Embassy, Jedda, Saud'i Arabia.

Shepherd said an Arab mail clerk apparently mistook UAR (United Arab Republic) for USA. Shepherd redirected the letter to Egypt.

Would Incapacitate Troops

Knock-Out Gases Could Make Wars More Humane

DETROIT (AP) — An Army general says that future wars may be humane affairs with knock-out gases replacing guns and rockets.

Maj. Gen. Robert J. Wood, deputy chief of research and development for the Army, discussed the possible role of gases at the second annual industry, missile and space conference here yesterday.

Non-lethal gases which incapacitate enemy troops for varying lengths of time are in the research stage, he said.

A death ray has been perfected, he said, but the tube to project it has not been developed and the power plant to generate the ray would be the size of a small city.

Gen. Lyman Lemnitzer, Army vice chief of staff, said that "in the near future, I am confident that man himself will enter space."

Earlier, Wilson H. Hunter, assistant to the director of the National Aeronautics and Space Agency, had told the conference the first U.S. spaceman will decide for himself whether to make an early landing or keep going for 24 hours.

Hunter described "Project Mercury," in which a human will be launched into space, and said the spaceman would be entirely on his own after being launched into orbit.

The spaceman, Hunter said, will be fired in a northeast direction so that he can eject himself earthward while traveling over the Atlantic missile range in his third trip around the world. Or he can complete 16 orbits and return to waters in the same region in 24 hours, Hunter added.

Want to Trim Crews of Nuclear Subs

GROTON, Conn. (AP)—A project is under way to trim the 100-man crews on nuclear submarines. If it is successful, crews might be reduced to 12 men.

★ ★ ★

The project was announced by the Electric Boat Divison of the General Dynamics Corp. The company said the Navy has selected it to manage an industry naval team known as the Submarine Integrated Control System. The plan is to balance the use of manpower with machines.

Actor, Actress to Wed

Woman TV Producer Kept on Go

Buys for Churchill, Charges Murrow

By MARY PRIME

NEW YORK (URI)—Buying presents for Winston Churchill, rounding up a piano for James Cagney, and listening to Yul Brynner play the guitar are all in a day's work for Wendy Sanford.

She is a TV producer. When she started in her early 20s, she was the youngest woman producer and the only one to go into the business strictly on her own.

Then movie stars worked in television for $500 because they wanted to find out about the new medium, she added.

As a producer, she hires directors, scouts for scripts, helps with casting, keeps shows within budgets, suggests script and camera changes and sees that things run smoothly.

★ ★ ★

"When I asked the salesgirl to charge them to Mr. Murrow's account and send them to Mr. Churchill at his London address, she thought it was a practical joke and refused to take the order."

When Cagney did a show, she got him a piano so he could dance every lunchtime to keep in trim. Yul Brynner brought a guitar and played folk songs in spare moments.

Miss Stanford also worked with some then unknowns, including Charlton Heston, Jack Palance, Lee Remick, and Sidney Lumet. Grace Kelly worked for $125 a week. She was "very nice and very quiet and kept to herself . . . because she was reserved."

The late James Dean had a "look of great concentration and emotion," but it was "just because he was nearsighted," Miss Sanford said. "He was living on cloud nine. I had the weirdest feeling something was going to happen to him. He was driven," she said.

A vivacious, dramatic looking brunette, Miss Sanford is married to George Mendoza, an author who formerly was in advertising and was co-producer of a TV show. She is packaging for fall television a version of her husband's first book, "And Amedeo Asked, How Does One Become a Man?" which will be published Sept. 16 (George Braziller, Inc.)

★ ★ ★

Miss Sanford worked first as a stage manager and actress in Hollywood. She came home to her native New York for vacation, became interested in television and went to work as a "Girl Friday" for the executive vice president of CBS.

She couldn't take typing or shorthand, but her theatrical experiences soon boosted her to the production staff of Studio One.

She was assistant to the director on Robert Montgomery Presents for four years and associate producer of other live and filmed shows.

Historical Group Briefed on Restoration Progress

The Board of Directors of the Oakland County Historical Foundation met Wednesday afternoon at the Wisner Home.

Chairman of the restoration committee, exterior repairs, Dr. Sarah Van Hoosen Jones, reported on progress of the work and on future plans.

A small brick structure at the back of the home, formerly a summer kitchen, is being remodeled. The little building will become a vault in which all valuable books and records belonging to the foundation and to the Wisner Home, will be stored.

Virginia Ward of the committee on interior restoration presented suggestions concerning the work of the committee. Work on interior restoration will be in order soon.

Richard C. Poole introduced a report prepared by Mrs. Mary Greene and Mrs. Irma Johnson of the Pontiac City Schools. 2,500 school children have visited the Wisner Home during the past school year, under the direction of Mrs. Greene and Mrs. Johnson.

French Make Tasty Dishes —of Flowers

Tourists to France this or any summer may put a new twist on the enjoyment of flowers by eating them as well as admiring them. France's flowers not only look good enough to eat, but are transformed into gourmet delicacies at many of the country's restaurants.

The restaurant in the Eiffel Tower, for example, often offers a salad featuring tulip stems. Lasserre's in Paris has created a chicken dish cooked in lime blossoms.

The Tour d'Argent has produced a souffle made with violets, and at Maxim's there are fritters filled with acacia flowers. Crystallized violets and orange blossoms are sold as candy in many stores.

Rebecca Circle Holds Meeting

The Rebecca Circle of Oakland Park Methodist Church met at the home of Mrs. Joseph Chummings Wednesday.

Mrs. Charles Baynes and Mrs. J. L. Slaybaugh took part in the program.

Arlene Newcombe, newly elected president of General Motors Girls Club of Pontiac, was named chairman for the coming year at the meeting held Monday evening in the conference room of Pontiac Motor Division.

Mrs. L. J. Whitfield and Mrs. George Wilmot will be representatives to Greater Pontiac Advisory council.

You're to Blame . . . Abby

Can't Expect Deaf 79-Year-Old to Cope With Spirited Boys

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: When my husband and I went out for an evening we dropped our boys (9 and 11) off at my mothers. She is 79 and quite deaf. When we came to pick the boys up the place was a mess.

ABBY

The ceiling had come down in the dining room. The kids had stood on the bathroom sink, tilted it and dislodged the hot water pipe.

My mother had fainted.

My husband said the plumbing was faulty (the house is 80 years old) and our boys were not to blame. The whole family got into a fight saying our boys were "wild animals." Who was to blame?

FAMILY FIGHT

DEAR FAMILY: Parents who would leave two such spirited children with a 79-year-old deaf grandmother must want very badly to go out. I'd say you were to blame.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I am 15 years old and I make money babysitting whenever I can. My mother asks me to "lend" her a dollar or two for groceries. Then she spends it on beer. I have bought my own school supplies and odds and ends with my sitting money because I haven't the heart to ask her for any.

My girlfriend has been asking me to sleep at her house but my pj's are so ragged and small for me that I am ashamed of them. Would I be wrong to "hold out" a little of my sitting money to save for pj's, Abby? I would love to have a best friend and sleep nights at her house.

NO PJ'S

DEAR NO: Don't "hold out" on your mother. If she asks you for money, tell her you are saving it for "something special." Tuck it away and buy those pj's.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I am thinking about going into business making pies in my home and putting a sign in my yard "HOME-MADE PIES FOR SALE." Do I have to have a license or a permit to do this?

CONSIDERING

DEAR CONSIDERING: In most communities people who handle food for public consumption must be licensed. Call your County-City Health Department and let them advise you.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is 21 and has been divorced since she was 17. She is very beautiful but has given us nothing but trouble. We had to pull her out of high school because a married man got her in trouble. A classmate married her but the baby died. That marriage lasted five months.

She's working in an office now although she's had no training for the job. She and her boss are buddy-buddy. She's trying to take him away from his wife. She's had 7 raises in 5 months and says nothing can get her fired. She buys expensive clothes and never gets a bill.

She wants to move into her own apartment. Her boss is behind this. I hate to see what's happening. Can we stop her?

HEART-SICK MOM

DEAR MOM: A 21-year-old woman can throw her life to the dogs if she wants to and no one can stop her. When this "beautiful" girl was growing up she missed her most important lessons. Nothing is sadder than 20-20 hindsight.

Ham Loaf Has Sauce Baked on Top of It

Mrs. Nate Mihay is today's cook. Bowling is her favorite leisure time occupation.

HAM LOAF
By Mrs. Nate Mihay

2 pounds fresh pork, ground
½ cup bread crumbs

½ teaspoon salt
1 cup milk

Sauce

1 cup brown sugar
2½ tablespoons flour
1 tablespoon ground mustard
Vinegar to make thin paste

Pour half of this sauce over ham loaf and bake 30 minutes at 350 degrees. Pour rest of sauce over loaf and bake another 1 to 1½ hours.

It's a Man's World but Who Gets Breaks

By RUTH MILLETT

What has got me skeptical about it right now is a story telling how a Chicago judge ruled in favor of a wife who asked that her husband be prevented from taking over the kitchen in their home.

"A woman's place is in the kitchen," said the judge, enjoining the husband from buying the groceries or taking over the kitchen.

From where I stand over a hot stove it looks as though women's place is in the kitchen when they want to keep a husband out of it.

But a woman's place is NOT in the kitchen if it so happens that the woman would rather hold down a job than do housework, or if she would rather be a clubwoman than a kitchen slave, or if she can sell her husband on the idea that "togetherness" means that a husband ought to help with the housework.

So it looks as though we can work it any way we want to, and a poor husband never knows whether or not a woman's place is in the kitchen until he gets the word from the little woman.

If we don't want Papa messing around in the kitchen, out he goes. If we want him to buy the groceries, and help out with the cooking and dishwashing then we tell him that the new pattern for marriage is "togetherness" which means he isn't to sit in his easy chair and expect Mama to preside over the kitchen without his help.

If that's a man's world all I can say is that in a man's world a woman seems to get all the breaks.

Sagging Bust Not Inevitable

THE QUESTION BOX
By Josephine Lowman

Q. "I am expecting my first baby in a few weeks. Is there any particular exercise I can do after the birth of my baby to prevent a sagging bustline? I have always had a very firm bust but I understand that sagging breasts are unavoidable after having a child."

A. Many women have babies and nurse them and still retain a firm bust. Preventative measures are more effective than corrective ones. I hope you have worn a brassiere which was designed to support the extra weight of the bust during these nine months. This is even more important now if you nurse your baby than it was during pregnancy.

Also always lie down when nursing your child. As soon as your doctor says you can do so take exercises for firming the abdominal muscles. You also can take some, then, for increasing the chest muscles. This will lift the bust.

Along this same line I have just received a letter from a reader who says, "I wish you would pass this along to the woman who was trying to decide whether or not to nurse her baby. She doesn't know what she is missing if she doesn't. I have seen more women with a sagging bust who never even had a child, than I have among those who nursed their infants.

"I have nursed my four children but I always wore the right kind of brassiere and was careful about good posture. I haven't a sag!"

Q. "I am a girl of 15 years. My problem is that I have such rough skin on my legs. It looks goose-pimply even in hot weather."

A. Sometimes a vitamin deficiency causes such condition. I suggest that you see your family physician and ask him about this. He will recommend a dermatologist if he feels you need one.

Q. "Do you think that 12 is too young for shaving legs if I don't do it very often?"

A. No, not if you really need it. I would delay for as long as you can because the hairs are stubby when they grow back in.

Q. "What is best to use for bleaching hair on my upper lip?"

A. Peroxide is as good as anything.

Q. "Is it normal for one breast to be larger than the other?"

A. Not if the difference is at all great. See your physician about this.

Call Friends as Soon as You Arrive

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: My husband and I are taking a cross-country trip by car and will pass through certain cities in which we have friends. Most of them we haven't seen in years. I think it would be a splendid opportunity to renew these old friendships.

"To avoid missing them when we're in their towns, could we write on and give them some idea of when we expect to come through. Would this obligate them to anything?"

Answer: If you write ahead of time they will probably think that you expect them to invite you to a meal. I would suggest that you wait until you arrive in their towns and then telephone to see if they are home and say that you would like to stop by to see them for half an hour or so.

"Dear Mrs. Post: The other day while lunching with a friend of mine, another woman friend whom I had not seen for a long time came into this same restaurant and as she passed our table, stopped and spoke to me for a few moments. I did not introduce her to the woman with whom I was lunching, and have since wondered whether I should have done so. I never know what to do in a situation of this kind. Will you please set me straight?"

Answer: If the person with whom you were lunching was busy looking at the menu or otherwise occupied, it was not necessary to introduce her. But if she sat there doing nothing and the other person lingered at your table, then you should have introduced her.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When applesauce is served with the main course, should a teaspoon be provided? We serve it in little glass cups when we have pork and ham."

Answer: A teaspoon is really not correct. It should be eaten with your fork — whether you eat it directly or whether you put it on your meat plate.

Stand Alone Before You Lean on Others

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

A commercial artist found himself in constant trouble with art editors. He'd accept a commission, and as the time for delivery neared he cooked up excuses to delay it.

Finally, with the help of psychotherapy he solved his problem and was able to say "No" to editors who tried to force promises from him he wasn't sure he could keep.

Almost at once, more problems appeared. He began to lose friends and broke with his girl. To his doctor he accused himself bitterly of his failure to maintain human relationships. One day his doctor said mildly, "You certainly keep your foot on your own neck."

Later, he had one of those flashes of realization psychologists call an "insight." He realized that the friends he'd lost had all one trait in common: the need to make his decisions for him. He saw that these relationship failures had not been failures at all but triumph, a new growth of the same self-respect that had enabled him to say "No" to the pressuring art editors.

With this altered view of his "failures," he found he could recover some of his friends; but on a new, independent, more satisfying basis.

Perhaps this story applies to a Mrs. P. who writes, "My neighbor has been wonderful to me since we moved here. Yesterday I told her to mind her own business. I feel terrible about it. She'd told me I ought to punish my little boy for running up and down the apartment hall. Shall I apologize? She's been so helpful, babysitting for us, introducing us to people . . ."

★ ★ ★

For which helpfulness she wants the right to make your decisions.

Let's let time go by for a bit. And open our minds to the possibility that ingratitude to this lady is not a fault bu a development.

When we assert our own judgment of our child's need for punishment to a friend or relative, we are also rejecting dependence on their judgment. Used to trusting it more than our own, we feel horribly mean and unkind when we say "This is my business."

But our self-accusations, like those of the artist who lost his dominating friends, is just our old fear of being alone with our own decisions, our old dependence trying to scare us back into the nursery.

If we try to recover this friend before we can feel respect for our self-assertion, we may go right back to trading our obedience for her helpfulness.

Use Nitrogen to Increase Vigor of Yellow Plants

EAST LANSING — How does your garden grow? If it looks a little yellow, some nitrogen will bring increased vigor, according to Michigan State University extension specialists.

★ ★ ★

A general yellowing of plants indicates that the soil doesn't have enough nitrogen to push the crop to lush maturity. Sidedressing can remedy the trouble.

Only one pound of nitrogen per 1,000 square feet is needed for a quick sidedressing job. One pound of nitrogen is contained in five pounds of ammonium sulfate, three pounds of ammonium nitrate, or a little more than two pounds of urea.

★ ★ ★

If your garden cultivator or tractor doesn't have a special sidedressing attachment, you may want to get one. Or, if your garden is too small to support such an attachment, the fertilizer can be spread by hand along the rows.

★ ★ ★

Early peas, sweet corn, and leafy crops such as cabbage, cauliflower, celery, and the greens usually benefit from nitrogen sidedressing, say the specialists. But sidedressing of nitrogen on tomatoes is not recommended until the second cluster of fruit is set, they caution.

Cultivation Preserves Moisture

Now that the garden's planted, it's time to think about cultivation, one of the most important garden jobs.

Proper cultivation preserves moisture, gives beneficial bacteria better working conditions, and improves the general appearance of the garden, say Michigan State University specialists.

Cultivation preserves moisture by loosening the soil, so the rain soaks in. And dead weeds don't use up the precious moisture your plants need. Bacteria, the kind your garden needs for good health, work better in loose, aerated soil.

So begin cultivation as soon as the row of plants can be recognized, unless the ground is too wet, advise the specialists. Even if weeds haven't appeared, loosen things up a little. Then cultivate as often as necessary to keep the weeds under control.

★ ★ ★

Weeds are easily killed when they're small, but get tougher and use more water and nutrients as they grow larger.

CULTIVATE SHALLOW

As the season progresses, cultivate shallow to prevent damage to the roots of the garden crops. And don't go too close to the rows.

Many good chemical weed killers are available, but they won't entirely replace proper cultivation, which does more than just kill the weeds.

Rotary Hoe Gets Young Weeds Out of Soybean Field

Go over your soybean field with a rotary hoe just as soon as weeds start appearing, advises S. C. Hildebrand, farm crops specialist at Michigan State University.

A rotary hoe effectively kills young weeds just coming through the soil surface. Use the implement until soybean plants are six inches high, and don't worry about damaging a few plants.

Hildebrand says that you may need only one cultivation if you go over the field two or three times with a rotary hoe.

Cultivate early if you have no rotary hoe. Don't cultivate too deep, as ridges might cause harvesting difficulty in case of lodging. Deep cultivation may "prune" weed roots without killing the weeds.

Michigan State University recently prepared an extension bulletin called "Soybean Production in Michigan." Co-authors are Hildebrand, farm engineer R. G. White, plant pathologist H. S. Potter, and soilman J. A. Porter.

USED AS HAY

As late as 1926, nearly three-fourths of this country's soybeans were used as hay, the specialist points out. But farmers found other hay crops were more efficient. By 1957, 90 per cent of the total crop was raised for its beans. Most Michigan soybeans go into oil or oil meal.

IT GREW, AND GREW, AND — This is no beanstalk. Mrs. Glenn Ludwig and family, 675 Third Ave., have been outgrown by their long-standing friend, the Dieffenbachia. When it first moved into their home four years ago it was only a foot high. It is now eight feet tall and just six inches from the living room ceiling.

Friend Outgrows Ludwigs

It was only a foot high when it first started living in Mrs. Glenn Ludwig's house four years ago.

★ ★ ★

It came from some country in South America and the six Ludwig children took to it, as kids will with strange and wonderfully different things.

They gave it lots of love and attention, but didn't pamper it with special food the way some people do.

It must have grown on love. It grew, and grew, and grew and grew.

★ ★ ★

It grew bigger than the youngsters. It grew bigger than mom and continued until it was even a good deal bigger than dad.

NOT ENOUGH ROOM

It's so big now, there just isn't room enough anymore in the home at 675 Third Ave.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Like any of nature's beautiful wild things, it must have room to be happy. The Ludwigs have agreed they will sell it to someone who can provide a good home.

★ ★ ★

Dieffenbachia, as they call it, is eight feet tall. It stands in a small pot in the living room. Its large spotted green leaves almost touch the ceiling.

Although its juice is very acrid and poisonous, the Ludwigs say they never have seen a sign of ill temper from their friend. It has never harmed them.

The sequine species sometimes is called "dumb cane" because the juice causes temporary loss of speech if applied to the mouth.

★ ★ ★

The Ludwigs don't know what kind their Dieffenbachia is, and don't care.

They know they must part. There will be a large empty void in the hearts and home of the Ludwigs.

Most housewives keep meat in the freezing compartment of their refrigerators between weekly shopping trips. Yet many prefer not to buy meat that has already been frozen, according to a study made by Michigan State University agricultural economists.

Schedule Pruning of Trees

The objective in pruning evergreens should be to keep them in form. By observing their character, we can schedule the time of pruning. A little pruing, once or twice each year, has a certain dwarfing effect on the growth of the plants and will eliminate the severe cutting back.

The dormant pruning—except for the pine family—is performed in late fall or early spring. For exposed locations choose the spring.

The summer pruning is timed for mid-June to early July on the new growth which the plant produced during May and June. The following new growth, occurring late July to mid-September, has a chance to ripen before severe winter sets in. The severe cutting-back should be held for early spring only.

By forming the shape of your evergreens, either spreading or upright, make sure the base of the plant is wider than the top, so all parts of the plant get as much sunshine and rain as possible. In a straight up and down form, the base of the plant often thins out and becomes leggy. If you must have a cylindrical or square form, thin out and shear the upper one-third of the plant.

The Arborvitae, white cedar, and its forms, are generally satisfied with one early spring pruning. If, in the pyramidal form, forceful, stringy looking side branches appear, cut them back.

GREAT DAMAGE

If they are let to grow several years, and a multiple-stem tree is the result, a sleet storm can cause great damage. The now popular Amerian Arborvitae hedge form should be pruned conically in the younger stage, to widen and thicken the base. Here the heavy side growth is necessary.

The Junipers need pruing every year to hold them in proportion to your home. The upper one-third of the plant produces the heavier growth, which needs thinning and shearing. The strong growing spreading Junipers, like Pfitzer and Hetz, need attention twice a year, early spring or late fall and early July.

Excessive growth can be cut back to a point where a few side branches remain. Other smaller branches of the main body of the plant, lightly pruned, will fill out the plant again in one or two growing seasons. The Creeping Junipers, like the Andorra, should be pruned lightly once a year on the tips. Give Junipers room for air and sunshine.

The Taxus or Yews. These, of all the Evergreens, respond well to any kind of pruning. Even real old wood will reproduce many new shoots, when severely cut back. Well-shaped plants are kept that way by pruning early spring and again mid-June.

The Pines. These are the exception to the general rule of pruning. The new candles are to be cut back between the 10th and 20th of June only, when the new growth is about two-thirds developed.

Several leaders will grow out, from which you select the best one and cut out the inferior competitor. Here again is one exception, the White Pine. Its new candles are cut back in early July. The dwarf Mugho Pine is kept low in foundation plantings.

The Spruce and Firs, under fair conditions, will grow into shapely trees much by themselves. Should pruing be required, it should be done on the new growth during early July.

If a leader is cut back, it will be necessary to form a new one, by selecting a strong side branch at the top, which, tied up straight will form the new leader. The Douglas Fir in this group needs most attention, as it tends to grow irregular.

Store Tools in Practical, Decorative Garden Shed

For all green-thumbed homeowners who love puttering in the garden, but haven't a proper place to store their tools, here's a choice idea from a well known Northwest landscape architect.

Chandler D. Fairbank, ASLA and OLSA, has devised a handsome, practical garden shed to house those unwieldy implements like the lawnmower and wheelbarrow.

These step-saving sheds are just tall enough for the man of the family to walk into without bumping his head, about three feet deep, and as long as is needed for the amount of equipment to be stored — usually nine to twelve feet is ample space.

The tool shed never needs to look like a shanty out back, Fairbank said. In fact, with a little imagination stirred into the design and construction, it can become a very handsome, as well as useful, yard accessory.

★ ★ ★

For instance, the garden house can be incorporated into a fence, with the fence forming its back wall. Siding for the tool shed can be made to simulate the fence pattern so that it becomes a "part" of the fence.

VERTICALLY INSTALLED

If rough-sawn western red cedar is used for the fencing material, it should also be used for the shed, and the finishes should match.

★ ★ ★

Fairbank suggested that the tool house be divided into three compartments, each having a separate door. In one, the lawnmower and rakes may be kept, in another, bags of fertilizer and the wheelbarrow. The third should have shelving hung on the walls for small tools like trowels, and for seeds, pots, and tiny plants.

★ ★ ★

If the inside of the garden shed is lined with building paper, it will be a good, weather-tight place to keep bulbs and what-not during the winter months.

The roof should slope towards the back, Fairbanks pointed out, so that rain water and snow don't accumulate, and cedar shingles are easy to nail on and durable, as well as properly rustic looking for a garden structure.

If the back fence is a long one, you can capitalize on the tool house by making it the focal point of the fence, said Fairbank. Place the shed dead center, and then stagger the height of the fence panels down away from the shed. Staggered heights help to relieve the drawn-out look of a long fence and will give your yard a touch of individuality.

Soil Insects Cause Bothersome Damage

Soil insects, like ants and symphylids, and moles in your garden can cause expensive and bothersome damage. Now is the time to prevent this, according to Michigan State University extension specialists in horticulture.

The specialists recommend, for prevention of the insects, two and two-thirds pounds of five per cent granular Chlordane per 1,000 square feet, or one and one-third pounds of five per cent granular Dieldrin per 1,000 square feet.

The mixture should be worked and watered into the soil, say the specialists, but not more than once a year. It should be done where the insects are easily noticable.

Annoying Bagworm Totes Its Own Private Cafeteria

People who live out on a suitcase have nothing on a traveling insect called the bagworm, which lives in a case. The bagworm, a wide-ranging tree pest, munches on greenery while toting its case, a sort of private cafeteria, wherever it goes.

June is the time when the insect briefly has no home of its own. Over-Wintering eggs in last year's bag begin to hatch and larvae emerge to feed on tender young leaves.

Soon they are spinning their own cases about themselves. The bags get bigger, the insects fatter and the foliage thinner until the feeding cycle is completed in August or September.

Then the bag is attached by a silken thread to a twig or branch. This becomes a pupal case from which next year's crop of caterpillars will emerge. Since the bagworm chews up the scenery from Massachusetts to Florida and as far west as Texas, it's a pest of no mean proportions.

There are two methods of control—spraying with malathion, both a contact and stomach poison, and picking off the cases, if they are within reaching distance, and burning them. You can use either or both these methods, but make sure you get started now.

The insect is most vulnerable when its bag is small. It also hasn't had much chance to do extensive damage. Under no circumstances try to burn out the nests. Scorching may hurt your trees more than the insects will.

Townscaping Molds Wide Urban Spaces

The molding of a town's exterior character through landscaping is a growing trend in many parts of the country, according to the American Association of Nurserymen.

Today more than ever before leading citizens of cities and towns are working to shape the urban principles of design.

Townscaping requires "not only the protection of Nature's endowments but the deliberate efforts of all who are concerned professionally or otherwise with shaping tomorrow's urban spaces" writes Grady Clay in the publication Landscape Architecture.

"Few influences more subtly repel our advances or more surely arouse us than the spatial qualities of our cities."

Philadelphia is cited as an example. "In another generation the Quaker City will possess many greenways—urban spaces deliberately designed to recapture some of the visual charm and amenity found in the best of the old cities and occasionally in the new."

Start Your Own Roses

By WAYNE B. SIEFERT
County Horticultural Agent

Do you have a friend who admires your favorite rose? Try an experiment. Use the quart jar method and see if you can successfully start new plants. Flowering stems are most often used as a "slip" or cutting.

When the flower has gone by, cut the stem down to the first three-leaflet leaf. This will be the tip of the cutting. Cut the bottom of the cutting so four leaves are on the cutting.

Make three or four of these to improve your chance of success. Now pick your rooting spot—choose a sandy loam soil with partial shade. Take off the bottom two leaves and plant this twig so only the top two leaves stick out of the soil.

Invert a quart jar over each one. Water the soil around each jar every week. Within two months the plant will begin to grow if you have succeeded.

HANDY MAN — A handy man finds that stepping stones toward a more attractive and useful yard are not too difficult to install. Any ordinary mower will do the trim-around. Among the materials that can be used are bricks, patio blocks, cinder blocks, broken concrete, old railroad ties and rough logs.

Steppingstones Less Work

What every yard needs are some hard surface areas for walking, playing or just standing. Hard surfaces in the right places can also eliminate a great deal of tedious hand trimming and there's apt to be less trimming if the grass doesn't grow right up to walls and flower beds.

★ ★ ★

There are numerous materials from which to choose.

Ties and logs should be cut into two-inch slabs if used for patios or walks. They can be left as-is for mower strips, strips on which mower wheels ride along cultivated areas.

Patios are best made by digging out the turf to a sufficient depth to allow for thickness of the surfacing material, plus a two-inch bed of sand. Fit material tightly, sweep excess sand into the joints. Driving in stakes at the ends of the rows will hold them securely.

Use the same materials for providing walks through the yard or along the garden. Such a walk will save wet feet following rain, will prevent damage to the lawn in frequently traveled paths.

★ ★ ★

Dig out the turf so that the hole matches the paving material in size and shape. The depth should be enough for the paving stone or block plus the two-inch bed of sand.

Don't set the paving stones so far apart that giant steps are needed to reach them. Place them flush with the ground so you can mow right over them and thus eliminate hand-trimming.

A mowing strip is worth the work of installation. It will save hours of labor in the future.

Check now to see where you have to trim grass by hand because your mower can't get you close enough. Around the house and garage are obvious places, alongside of flower beds is another.

In the latter case, arrange the mowing strip so that it also keeps grass out of the flowers, helps to hold back soil.

Heavy building blocks set in a ditch need nothing in the way of a special base. Shallower stones should be set on a sand base.

If irregular material is used, keep the straighest sides near the lawn.

Give Flowers Growing Room

Plant One-Foot Deep for Root Penetration, Advise Floriculturists

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — University of Illinois floriculture specialists say prepare the soil for flower planting at least one foot deep. Soil for perennials should be tilled at least two feet deep.

They say the deeper the soil is prepared, the greater the roots can penetrate. The deeper the penetration, the greater the soil volume from which the plant can draw water and nutrients.

Shallow preparation forces the roots to develop in the surface regions of the soil, where they are more subject to adverse summer weather and to gardener neglect.

Frequently people attribute it to the lack of a green thumb when plants become diseased and die when actually the root development was shallow and injury was caused by the drying of the soil around the roots.

The gardener pays for shallow cultivation not only during hot periods of the summer, but also during rainy periods in the late spring.

In wet periods, the water accumulates in the cultivated zone and does not seep through the uncultivated zone. This condition is called waterlogging, and many plants die in waterlogged soil.

Another point the floriculturists make is that it isn't enough to merely dig up the soil when you prepare it for planting. You must also incorporate some organic matter.

Peat moss is one of the best forms because it is slow to decay and won't rob the soil of needed nitrogen. It keeps the soil from being compacted by the spring and summer rains.

AQUATIC WEEDS

Weeds in lakes is one of the number one problems in many local lakes. Not only do they look bad in the water, they smell bad if they are raked out.

During the past two years Michigan State University and the Kensington Park Authority have been working on types of pellets which kill weeds by destroying the roots. Once they found out it would kill some weeds, their problems really began.

★ ★ ★

When they got rid of one weed, some tougher one soon took it's place. They soon learned the chemical would not harm fish nor swimmers.

Spreading these pellets was a tough problem, so they tried putting them on top of the ice. Drifting ice became a problem.

Other manufacturers are also getting into the act with "other" chemicals. Many of the answers are being unraveled, and we may soon expect a pelleted chemical to give seasonal control of most of the rooted vine-like weeds.

Many fish biologists agree some aquatic weeds improve fishing. But when the whole lake is full of weeds, fishing becomes very poor. Not only is it hard to get a fish line near schools of fish, but most of fish in the school are too small to keep. Weedy lakes are poor fishing cites because large fish cannot catch food fish among the weeds.

Because of this, too many small fish become too big to be food fish. The large survival of small fish overpopulate a lake, resulting in more fish than food, so every fish becomes starved or stunted.

Colombiere College Will Hold Open House

Jesuit Novitiate Opens Its Doors

New Building Located on Big Lake Road, Off Dixie Highway

SPRINGFIELD TOWNSHIP — One of Michigan's most beautiful structures will be open for public inspection from 1 to 5 p. m. Sunday at the Colombiere College open house, near Clarkston.

A far cry from its original Jesuit novitiate structure some 400 years ago, the newly constructed $5,000,000 Colombiere College on Big Lake Rd., is situated on 400 acres of scenic hills and woods just east of busy Dixie highway.

The open house will climax two years of construction work with more than five years of planning by the Detroit Province of the Society of Jesus. Most of the men living at the new novitiate will be destined for the priesthood, a program of 15 years of training for a Jesuit.

The principal structure of the college is five stories high, but because of the rolling terrain, six levels are included in the building designed by architects Diehl & Diehl of Detroit.

★ ★ ★

The fourth level serves as a main floor, affording entrance to the chapel and dining room, each of which accommodates 200 students. The classrooms and libraries have been placed in wings adjoining the main central wing.

30-DAY RETREAT

During the first two years of the four-year training course at the college, the young man makes a 30-day retreat, living in silence, meditation and prayer. At this time he is introduced to the Jesuit rule of life, learning and practicing humility and obedience.

For two more years, the young priest-to-be lives in the same seminary but in a different part of the building. He studies the classical languages in particular, and the other courses of a liberal arts college.

Accommodations for quiet prayer in the modern air-conditioned chapel are of utmost simplicity. Several other chapels have been included in plans throughout the new building, with stained glass windows, and ultra-modern appointments.

Brightly-colored draperies frame the huge plate-glass windows in the cheery dining room, where the young men are seated in groups of six at each table.

Guided tours of the buildings and grounds have been planned for the public Sunday.

EXTERIOR VIEW — The new novitiate of the Detroit Province Jesuits, Colombiere College, in Springfield Township, will be open for public inspection from 1 to 5 p. m. Sunday.

Miss Utica to Be Named

Decision Will Be Told Tomorrow; Won't Wait Till July 4th Parade

UTICA—A new format will be followed tomorrow night in the selection of "Miss Utica" who will reign over the Utica Lions Club's 13th annual Independence Day celebration.

Instead of waiting for Gov. Williams to name the queen during the coronaiton ceremonies which precede the parade on July 4, announcement will be made immediately after the judges reach their decision.

The contest will be held at 8 p.m. in room 143 of Utica Community High School. Girls who will be vying for the title must be single, be between 17½ and 20 years of age and be residents of the Utica Community School district, according to Contest Chairman Francis Chapoton.

In previous years, the four out-of-town judges narrowed the field down to three finalists during the contest. Then the identities of the queen and her two maids of honor remained a secret until the governor placed the crown on the lucky girl's head.

In addition to receiving a crown, "Miss Utica" will ride in the place of honor on the Lions Club float in the July 4 parade through the center of town. She also will ride on the float in other area parades during the summer months.

Like other title-holders in neighboring communities, Utica's queen will be eligible to enter the Peach Queen competition in Romeo early in August.

CONTEST WINNER — Sonja Schultz, 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schultz, of 8211 Normandy Rd., Goodland Township, won the title of "Miss Dryden" last night. She will reign over the village's "Boom Day" celebration July 4.

Big Horse Show Near Clarkston
Finish Rodeo Planning

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP—Plans for one of the biggest horse shows in Michigan have been completed by the Clarkston Rotary and Dixie Highway Saddle clubs.

Beginning 9 a.m. Sunday, the show will be presented on the Glen Ellis farm on Dixie Highway, just north of Clarkston, and will continue until dark, according to Chairman Harry Waggener.

Twenty different competitive events have been scheduled, and 10 saddle clubs from all parts of Michigan have been invited to participate.

★ ★ ★

Not only will there be western contests, but competition in English Classes will be included. Other events will also feature three-gaited horses.

After the grand parade at noon, there will be a broom polo contest between Dixie Saddle club and Oxford Saddle club.

The show will be held whether it rains or shines, according to Waggener, and all proceeds will be donated to the crippled children's fund, the Independence Township Fire Dept., polio fund and other worthy community projects.

360 Register for Girls' State

ANN ARBOR — The 19th annual Wolverine Girls' State program was set in motion here Tuesday as 360 high school juniors began registration for the nine-day event.

★ ★ ★

Electing their own city, county and state governments by means of mock state and local government machinery, participants are making a realistic effort to learn democratic principles.

Mrs. Joseph Phillips, editor, of 38 Texas St., Rochester, is among Legion Auxiliary officers for the Girls' State program sponsored by the Michigan American Legion Auxiliary and the University of Michigan.

The program also includes classes on political science taught by Univesity of Michigan faculty members and addresses by State Rep. George Sallade and Gov. G. Mennen Williams, scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Sunday in Rackham Lecture Hall.

Participating girls are organized into 18 "cities" of 20 "citizens" each and are receiving counseling from various U. of M. students including Valjoan Urban, 1147 Clute St., Lake Orion; Cecille Y. Dumbrigue, 3288 Loon Lake Shores, Drayton Plains; Sally Hanson, 5643 Putnam, Birmingham; and Patricia Cornell, 1150 Yorkshire, also of Birmingham.

The high school representatives are living at Mary Markley Hall, newest U. of M. women's dormitory, where voting machines are displayed and used.

Meeting Will Feature Color Slides of Shrines

LAKE ORION—The Rosary Altar Confraternity of St. Joseph Church here will present colored slides of the Shrines in Europe July 1 at St. Joseph Parochial School.

Valedictorian Wins Miss Dryden Crown

DRYDEN—Proving that beauty and brains make an unbeatable combination, the valedictorian of the class of 1959 at Dryden High School won the local beauty contest last night.

The lucky titleholder is Sonja Schultz, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schultz, of 8211 Normandy Rd., Goodland Township.

Sonja was named "Miss Dryden" over a field of six other aspirants for the crown. Two of the other girls were selected to serve as members of the queen's court. They were Jacque Arnold and Sharon Hillker, both 17.

Jacque is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Arnold of 231 Lake Pleasant Rd., Attica. Sharon's parents are the Paul Hillikers of 3795 N. Mill St., Dryden.

The trio will reign over Dryden's "Boom Day" celebration July 4. Both the contest and the Independence Day program are sponsored by the Dryden Area Development Assn.

Miss Jo Hammond of Detroit, acting as mistress of ceremonies, interviewed each of the contestants as they appeared on stage in formal attire. The competition was held in the new high school gymnasium.

The three out-of-town judges graded the girls on attractiveness, poise, appearance, personality and public speaking ability. They were Mrs. Robert Tripp of Lapeer Township, Marty Heim, Lapeer newspaperman, and Lee Winborn of The Pontiac Press.

The four other contestants were Janet Sterner, Sandra Hadley, Patricia Nagy and Mary Walker.

Pioneer Church to Observe 125th Anniversary on Sunday

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

HIGHLAND TOWNSHIP—Members of West Highland Baptist Church will celebrate the 125th anniversary of the church's founding with an all-day observance Sunday.

Established in 1833 in a tiny log cabin, the church was the first of any denomination to be organized in this section of the county. Later the church officials helped organize Baptist churches in Milford, Holly, Howell and Parshallville, according to historical records.

A strict code for moral conduct was instituted at the first business meeting held in 1834, and a resolution was passed stating that "Any member who stays away from covenant meetings or the Lord's Supper twice shall be subject to a call from the committee."

After the log cabin came meetings in a schoolhouse with a professional minister, the Rev. S. Morrell, hired to give one-half of his time for six months for a total salary of $125.

★ ★ ★

The records show that he lived in Walled Lake and walked the entire 14 miles to the Highland church for the Sunday services.

The more than a century-old church is located on Hickory Ridge road near M59.

Although the membership of the church has not shown a tremendous increase since the early days of board seats, plank floors, candles and fireplaces, the principles and code of ethics have remained practically the same.

A former pastor, the Rev. Ralph Karney will conduct the the 10 a. m. service Sunday, and at 12:30 p.m. there will be a basket lunch, with all members and their families congregating on the church lawn.

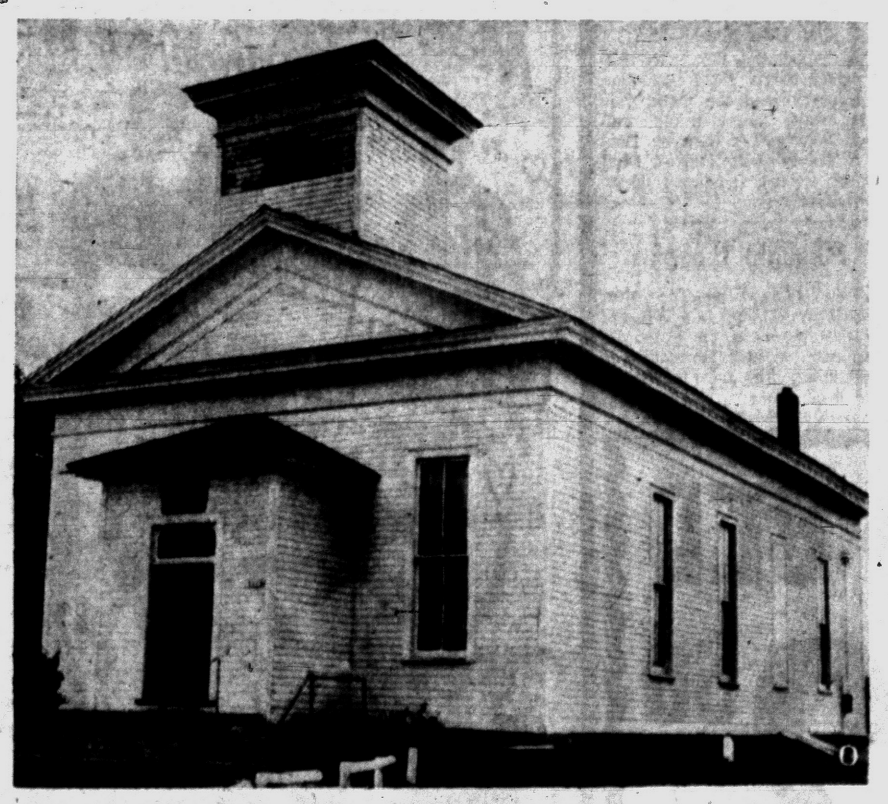

At 2:30 p.m., a "reminiscing-type" of service will get under way, with several former pastors of the church leading the program. At 5:30 p.m. the women of the church will serve a buffet lunch.

Mrs. Mabel Beckwith will be honored for having been a member of the church for 73 consecutive years, and Mrs. Etta Jones also will receive honors for her 71-year record.

Mrs. Alice Gaunt, Foster Gaunt, Mrs. Florence McHugh and Mrs. Pearl Nacker have 60-year membership. Mary Charlick and Mrs. Emma Judson have been active members for the last 50 years.

MARKS ANNIVERSARY — The West Highland Baptist Church will be the scene of an all-day observance Sunday in celebration of the 125th anniversary of its founding. Pictured here is the first home of the church, a log cabin, and the present structure.

Orion Woman Hurt in Crash

Car Struck by Truck at Perry, Opdyke; Arm Broken, Chest Injured

PONTIAC TOWNSHIP — Mrs. Russel Hale, 51, of 4230 Clarkston Rd., Lake Orion, was seriously hurt yesterday when her car was struck by a truck driven by Edward Handziak, 25, of 9255 Sunset Rd., Union Lake.

Mrs. Hale was taken to St. Joseph Hospital, Pontiac, suffering from a broken arm, knee injuries and contusion of the chest.

The driver of the truck told Edward Knyzewski, Oakland County Sheriff's deputy, that he became confused as he approached the corner and could not stop.

The officer said that his skid marks were 175-feet long.

After the accident the woman was found lying on the floor under the dashboard. Knyzewski said that he could get no statement from her.

The White House announced yesterday that the President would participate Oct. 13 in groundbreaking ceremonies for the Eisenhower Presidential Library in Abilene, Kan.

The library will be built on property across the street from the President Eisenhower Museum and the President's boyhood home. It will cost about 3 million dollars to be collected by public subscription.

Argentina Fears Revolution Plot

Military Officers Are Reported Gathering at Cordoba Garrison

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — President Arturo Frondizi's government charged today it is the target of a revolutionary plot. Unconfirmed reports spread that a military revolt already is under way in the interior.

Angry officers were reported collecting at Cordoba, 400 miles northwest of Buenos Aires. Leaders of the Coroba military garrison have been openly opposing government policies since Tuesday.

Police swept through the capital with orders to arrest top generals and admirals, many of them leaders of the provisional military govenrment that steered Argentina back to civilian rule after the armed forces had overthrown the dictator, Juan D. Peron, in 1955.

Many of those sought were said to have fled.

Communications to Cordoba were partly cut by a heavy storm. It was impossible to check the report of a revolt or the government's counterclaim that everything was under control throughout the country. The federal police asked radio amateurs to relay any official messages they picked up.

The Cordoba garrison was said to be backed by troops in Campo de Mayo, near Buenos Aires, and Salta, in northern Argentina. Discontent with the government was reported spreading to other garrisons.

Curbs on the armed forces, including confinement to quarters for some troops, were reimposed after being lifted briefly Thursday while Frondizi tried to bargain with some of the military leaders.

Leaders and supporters of the previous provisional government have never been too happy with Frondizi and have believed he was secretly in the league with the Peronists.

★ ★ ★

The current flareup apparently stems from a renewal of reports—which the President has denied—that he signed a secret pact with Peron to get elected. Although they are anti-Peron and anti-Communist, the dissident army leaders reportedly oppose Frondizi's use of troops against Peronist and Communist unions trying to nullify his economic austerity program with strikes.

Small Business Help Proposed as Legislature Eyes School Aid

LANSING (AP)—Relief for small business with narrow profit margins was the keystone of a new tax proposal laid before the House today as a stepping-stone toward compromise on a long-range tax program.

It also would step up effective tax rates on many large, profitable corporations, bringing in a big chunk of new revenue.

The author was Rep. Allison Green (R-Kingston), Republican floor leader.

Green met for the second time yesterday with Rep. Joseph J. Kowalski (D-Detroit), his Democratic counterpart, in an attempt to clear the decks for a possible break in the five-month legislative deadlock on taxes.

DECLINES COMMENT

With them was Alfred B. Fitt, legal adviser to Gov. Williams, whose opinion of any compromise offer will bear strongly on the Democratic reaction.

Kowalski declined to comment on whether Green's proposal made a favorable impression. But there were signs that Democrats were interested.

"We're going to give it a close study," he said. "We may come up with some suggestions of our own, maybe next week."

The mere fact that Kowalski was willing to consider the proposal was a sign that the Republican-Democratic impasse on new taxes may be on the way toward dissolving.

Democrats heretofore have clung to demands for a personal and corporate income tax package.

Green proposed enactment of the Republican bill to add a penny to the three-cent use (sales) tax, which would bring in most of the 140-million-dollars revenue increase sought for the 1959-60 fiscal year.

The use tax bill, similar to two others passed by the Republican-run Senate and defeated in the House, was set aside for the second straight day yesterday.

It was scheduled for debate next Wednesday when the pattern of a compromise, if it is to come, will probably be more clearly defined.

Green's main proposal, outlined in a bill he introduced yesterday, would amend the state business activities tax, which as it stands will produce about 60 million dollars in the fiscal year starting July 1.

The bill would allow each BAT taxpayer an additional deduction of up to $10,000 paid in salaries and wages. This would raise from 27,000 to 51,000 the number of small businessmen exempted from the tax.

Green hopes, however, to boost the state take to at least 75 million dollars by taking a bigger bite from firms which show a healthy profit.

LANSING (AP) — Prospects were bright for House approval of a bill to boost state aid to schools by more than 30 million dollars in 1959-60.

Chances rose sharply yesterday when backers of a more generous aid formula beat down an attempt to substitute a bill continuing state help at $190 per pupil.

The proposed increase would put the per pupil formula at $210 and raise the deductible millage, or equalization factor between rich and poor school districts, from 2¼ to 3½ mills.

School aid costs would rise from the current 301 million dollars to about 332 millions, but 14 millions of the increase would go for support of an expected 70,000 increase in public schools enrollments.

WARNS AGAINST RISE

The "hold-the-line" group, spurred on by the House Ways and Means Committee, warned against boosting school aid while the state was having trouble paying its current bills.

Rep. Arnell Engstrom (R-Traverse City), committee chairman, said the more expensive version almost certainly would run into trouble with the Republican Senate majority.

"We are laying the seeds for another financial mess for the state by increasing state aid at this time," said Rep. Robert S. Gilbert (R-Saginaw).

The tussle stemmed in part from the realization that a sizable school aid increase would all but squelch any chance for enactment of the Republican use (sales) tax bill without additional taxes as well.

Rep. Raymond Wurzel (R-Port Huron), chairman of the House Education Committee which recommended the increase, told lawmakers the state hasn't boosted its aid level in three years.

STEADY RISE

In the meantime, he said, school construction and maintenance costs, plus teacher salaries, have risen steadily.

Gov. Williams, the state superintendent of public instruction office and many school organizations also are pushing for the increase.

LANSING (AP) — A whopping $13,042,000 spending increase for higher education in 1959-60 was placed before the Senate today with Appropriations Committee endorsement.

Carrying a total of $100,803,209, the bill would grant operating increases of $3,367,000 for the University of Michigan and $2,554,000 for Michigan State University. Other schools were down for smaller boosts.

Speedy approval with little argument was expected as lawmakers, sensing a chance for a fairly quick session windup, hustled to slap together a general fund budget destined to total between 410 and 420 million dollars.

Gov. Williams' recommendation was for 424 millions, exclusive of provision for deficit retirement.

The first major budget bill for the fiscal year starting in just 11 days cleared the Legislature yesterday, and moved to the governor's desk.

A plea for immediate action to end their cash crisis that "threatens the foundation of higher education" in Michigan has been made by the Board of Trustees of Michigan State University.

A resolution to that effect was adopted unanimously yesterday by the six-member board—four Democrats and two Republicans—and forwarded to Gov. Williams, the State Administrative Board and the Legislature.

The Board of Trustees also approved an emergency plan for meeting faculty and staff payrolls due late this month.

The impact of payless paydays will be softened if state aid is not forthcoming.

Faculty and staff members will be issued special paycheck stubs entitling them to prearranged paycheck loans at any Lansing or East Lansing bank.

Green Space Objects Called Cosmic Ice

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The incandescent green objects seen in the sky during the flying saucer epidemic a few years ago probably were hunks of cosmic ice from an exploding comet, says a weather researcher.

Their bright green glow likely was due to frozen nitrogen compounds in their makeup, he adds. A laboratory test of similar compounds under deepfreeze conditions was found to give off the same kind of bizarre light.

This explanation of a phenomenon which stirred the imagination of people around the world was given to the American Meteorological Society Thursday by Donald H. Robey of the Convair Division of Genral Dynamics Corp., San Diego.

Ants Shocked, Woman Jolted, Bankroll Blasted

SEATTLE (AP) — A Seattle woman told police Thursday she paid two men $1,500 to have ants in her attic "shocked to death."

Mrs. Marguerite H. Reiten, 45, said the men talked her into having $500 worth of repairs on chimney, roof and gutters. Then they said she had ants in her attic which needed removing.

She agreed, and the men went to work with an electrical gadget "electrocuting" the ants. They demanded $2,600 and finally settled for $1,500 in cash which Mrs. Reiten got from her bank. When she asked for a receipt, one of the men said as they drove off:

"You've got the best receipt in the world—the work we did on your house."

Washingtonians Only Taxed Americans Without Representation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Nine score and three years ago, our forefathers brought forth on this continent a new nation dedicated among other things, to the proposition that there should be "no taxation without representation."

That exception is the nation's capital.

The 850,000 U.S. citizens who live in the District of Columbia have no vote. They have no voice, direct or indirect, in levying their taxes, passing their municipal laws or determining how much should be appropriated for their schools. All these decisions are made for them by Congress, which serves as Washington's city council.

Nor do District residents participate in the selection of the three commissioners who administer municipal affairs. They are appointed by the President.

Some members of Congress think this situation is scandalous. With President Eisenhower's backing, they are now trying, for the fifth time in 10 years, to push through "home rule" legislation that would give the District of Columbia limited powers of selfgovernment.

Other members of Congress believe it would be a serious mistake to change Washington's status. They hope to give home rule legislation a quiet burial, as they have done in the past.

OPPONENTS SAY

The first, which figures prominently in public debate, is that the seat of the national government is a unique kind of city.

"Washington was set up from the start as a 'federal city,'" says Rep. James C. Davis (D-Ga.), chairman of the House District of Columbia subcommittee which considers home rule legislation.

★ ★ ★

"The whole point in creating the District of Columbia was to make sure that no state, county or city government would be able to interfere with the functions of the federal government."

For Congress to surrender its present direct control over Washington's municipal affairs would be "asinine," Davis contends, because it would "endanger the security of the federal government."

The second argument against home rule seldom figures in public debate but is prominent in private conversation, particularly among Southern congressmen. It has to do with the fact that Negroes now constitute half the population of the District of Columbia and seem likely in the near future to comprise a clear majority.

Other Southern lawmakers privately express fears that self-government in Washington would lead to the election of Negro officials, and that these officials might somehow use municipal powers to bring pressure on Congress or federal agencies for adoption of pro-Negro policies.

SUPPORTERS SAY

Supporters of home rule offer answers to both of these arguments.

They say that "protecting" the federal government from possible interference by a municipal government may have made some sense a long time ago when the federal government was a new, weak and uncertain experiment. But federal power is now so vast that it seems ridiculous, to home rule proponents, to suggest that a city council could seriously interfere with its exercise.

They also point out that the Administration-backed home rule bill now pending in Congress contains several safeguards against runaway conduct by a local government.

Any laws passed by the proposed city council could be repealed or modified by an act of Congress, or vetoed by a direct governor appointed by the President. If the assembly passed a bill over the governor's veto, provision is made for a second absolute veto by the President himself.

The Washington Post and Times-Herald, in a recent editorial urging passage of home rule legislation, replied to the racial argument in these words:

"Actual experience has shown that there is little disposition on the part of Negroes to vote as a bloc, unless that is necessary for protection of their rights. But in any event, a general denial of suffrage in order to prevent Negroes from voting is the very negation of democracy."

Capitol observers believe the home rule bill probably will be passed by the Senate fairly soon. It would then go to the House for consideration by the District of Columbia Committee, which is heavily dominated by Southern Democrats.

History indicates the bill will be pigeonholde in that committee unless Speaker Sam Rayburn and other House Democratic leaders intervene strongly to insist that it be brought to the House floor for a vote.

De Valera Wins; Proposal Loses

Vote for Irish President Closer Than Expected; Amendment Defeated

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — Ireland's voters elected Eamon de Valera president by less margin than expected and spurned his proposal to wipe out proportional representation in electing members of Parliament.

The final count Thursday night from Wednesday's national election gave the 77-year-old political veteran 538,058 votes to 417,482 for 67-year-old Gen. Sean MacEoin.

De Valera had been expected to run up at least a 200,00-vote majority. But only 6 per cent of the electorate voted, and apparently a lot of the old man's supporters stayed home, confident he would win anyway. Only a few Dublin constituencies and one or two others gave MacEoin a slight edge.

Nearly complete returns showed the constitutional amendment to end proportional representation trailing 397,825 to 419,994. De Valera wanted to substitute a straight voting system, but the smaller parties who would have suffered ganged up on his Fianna Fail party.

New York-born De Valera will be inaugurated June 25 to succeed Sean T. O'Kelly, who has served the legal limit of 14 years.

De Valera will be succeeded as prime minister and leader of Fianna Fail by Sean Lemass, commerce and industry minister in the last De Valera government. The party holds 78 seats—a majority of 9—in the 147-member Dail.

Hollywood Headlines

Filmland Eagerly Awaits Siren Simone Signoret

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD — The eagerly-awaited Simone Signoret arrives in Hollywood in 10 days and Raymond Stross, British producer at MGM, says he has first call on her for "The Mark." The co-star he's after is Van Heflin.

After "Room At the Top," Simone is the biggest excitement in movietown since Marlene Dietrich was discovered. There's a great deal of interest about whether she will be accompanied by her husband, Yves Montand.

Delighted to see my old and dear friend Fannie Hurst who came directly from the airport to the cocktail party Margaret Ettinger and Communication Councilors gave in my honor at the Gold Room of the Sheraton East. What a party!

★ ★ ★

Steve Allen came early but dashed away for rehearsals and came back later to pick up Jayne and Audrey Meadows. Molly and Charlie Berns came in from the country. I was very interested in meeting Marie Torres, the TV reporter who went to jail for refusing to betray the source of a story.

ADDS DARREN

Hall Bartlett, on the Columbia lot to produce and direct his independent "All the Young Men" with Alan Ladd and Sidney Poitier, has added the teenagers delight, Jimmy Darren ("Gidget") to the cast.

"The only way to solve this argument about new faces vs established stars in movies, is to combine them," Bartlett told me.

"The fans are loyal to their old favorites—but they also want to see new talent." He added that this is the first loan-out for young Darren since Sam Briskin signed him to a Columbia contract.

Tab Hunter, who has been beauing Debbie Reynolds around Honolulu, planes back to Hollywood tomorrow morning.

Dinah Shore, wearing a pink dress and matching coat, breezed into Maggie Ettinger's cocktail party when it was almost over with Mrs. Sidney Korshak who is sailing on the Liberte with her. Dinah told me that Missy and the two Korshak boys had a ball lunching at the Automat—dropping nickels in the food slots.

His testimony prepared for the Senate Commerce Committee called for enactment of remedial legislation to lift a "political gag" on broadcast news coverage in time for next year's political campaign.

The NBC board chairman said the "gag" was the "clear and immediate result" of the Federal Communications Commission's recent Lar Daly ruling.

Texaco Set to Buy California Oil Firm

NEW YORK (AP) — Texaco, Inc., is planning to purchase the Superior Oil Co. of California for the equivalent of 765 million dollars.

In a joint announcement Thursday night, Augustus C. Long, Texaco chairman, and William M. Keck, chairman of Superior, said they had reached "an understanding in principle."

The combined company would control an estimated eight per cent of the total oil production in the United States. About a year ago, Texaco passed the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey as the largest domestic producer of crude oil.

Ruler of Theater's 'Royal Family' Used Dignity to Cloak Life's Hurts

(Editor's Note: To the public Ethel Barrymore was the imperious queen of America's greatest acting family, cool and crisp. She played that role both on the stage and in private life. So great was her artistry that she almost hid the fact that she also was a human being and a woman. In two articles the first of which follows, AP columnist Bob Thomas provides a close up of both the legend and the woman.)

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Here's what it was like to interview Ethel Barrymore in the sunset of her life:

You arrive at her apartment on a Beverly Hills side street, a few doors from busting Wilshire Blvd. You are surprised at how modest the place is for the great lay of the American theater. Then you realize that wealth does not always accompany great fame, especially at the end of an acting career.

★ ★ ★

You are greeted by Sammy Colt, a good-natured balding man of middle age, who says his mother will see you shortly. During the wait, you study the downstairs living room, furnished in simple good taste. There is a framed photograph of John Barrymore, looking an electric Adonis at the height of his acting career.

Miss Barrymore is in the pink satin bed, but she sits with back upright. Her hair is white and beautifully groomed. You can scarcely believe from her smooth face that she is nearly 80. Most of all, you notice the eyes, those burning coals that fix on you demandingly.

Ten you hear that voice. What a voice! Sounding more like an echo, she asks you in flat tones: "Well, what is it that you want to know?"

You smile, remembering from past encounters that her frigid manner can be thawed. You start asking about the things she likes to discuss best—baseball, the theater, her brother Jack, her grandchildren.

She confesses that she has been watching her old movies on TV. This despite her long refusal to see herself on the screen—"Why should I? I never saw myself on the stage."

How did she react to her performances? "I wasn't too greatly upset."

In time, you feel brave enough to ask how she likes interviews. She replies firmly that she doesn't and explains that she was too often misquoted in her youth.

"I got so I dreaded interviews," she says. "You might say I was gun-shy."

★ ★ ★

You know better than to extend this interview beyond its normal span. So you make a quick adieu and are rewarded for your brevity by a smile from the great lady.

★ ★ ★

This was my last encounter with Ethel Barrymore, whose heart gave out yesterday, two months before her 80th birthday. To the end, she displayed to outsiders the cool, dignified figure as ruler of the theater's royal family.

That was the role she created for public view, and she played it to the hilt. She was jealous of her family's name and reachted with a Victorian "We are not amused" when the Barrymore name dipped into scandal. Her own behavior was considered impeccable.

This cloak of dignity almost hid a warm human being. Being an actress, she could not help but be emotional, and the one great love of her life was shattered when her marriage ended in divorce court. A devout Roman Catholic, she chose not to remarry. The bitterness of the situation colored her later years.

She wrote in her autobiography: "I think that both my brothers and I were born under a dark star, so that there was to be no such thing for us as enduring happiness in life. Perhaps it was an inheritance."

Coyle Stars in Murder Film

Police Take Movies of Fatal Gun Battle Acted Out in Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—John J. Coyle came back to Philadelphia Thursday night and made a movie about a murder.

The Police Department produced the film. John directed it and played himself. A detective played his dead brother, William. Another detective played a patrolman killed while walking his beat.

The theme was violence and tragedy. Two young men stealing milk from doorsteps in the early morning hours June 5 are seen by Patrolman James F. Kane. William ducks behind a parked car and fire five shots. John stands covering him. Then the brothers run back to their apartment by different routes. The film ends.

★ ★ ★

Some 2,000 persons gathered to watch the re-enactment and filming of the 33-year-old patrolman's murder. Portable lights illuminated the block. Cameras were mounted on trucks. Tape recorders picked up the noise of the blank cartridges fired in the re-enactment.

The filming started as soon as Coyle, 24, reached the city from Wareham, Mass. Detectives brought him back.

He also pleaded guilty in District Court at Wareham to charges ranging from intent to murder two Massachusetts policemen to kidnaping. He agreed voluntarily to return to Philadelphia.

William was killed and John captured Wednesday after a 48-hour manhunt in a woody, swampy section where they tried to hide after abandoning a hostage and a car they had driven from Philadelphia.

Eight all-steel cabooses now in use on Bangor and Aroostook Railroad in Maine were troop sleepers during World War II.

Blushing Tigers Leave 'Birdland' for Washington

Error With Two Out in 9th Inning Allows Winning Markers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tails dragging in embarrassment, the Detroit Tigers left Baltimore to the Orioles and went to Washington today to start a four-game series.

They have 93 more games to play, but it is doubtful if any loss they might suffer later will bring on more blushing than the 7-6 setback administered yesterday by the Orioles.

The Tigers lost no ground to league-leading Cleveland but as they squared off against the Senators tonight they found themselves in a fourth-place tie with the Orioles. And the New York Yankees are just one game back.

Detroit blew a 6-1 lead against the Orioles, who scored six times in the final two innings to extract the series edge.

Even after Baltimore crept to within a run of tying matters in the eighth, victory was all but tucked away with two out in the ninth. Relief pitcher Dave Sisler got two dangerous batters, Gene Woodling and Bob Nieman, on routine grounders.

★ ★ ★

That's when the embarrassment began. Gus Triandos singled and Albie Pearson went in to run for him. An ex-Tiger, Jim Finigan, drew a walk. Tiger manager Jimmie Dykes summoned Tom Morgan from the bullpen.

An inning earlier, Dykes had taken Rocky Bridges out of the lineup and put Inman (Coot) Veal at shortstop for defensive purposes.

Veal, unquestionably a superior glove man, nevertheless booted Bob Boyds simple ground ball and the bases were loaded. Chico Carrasquel then blooped a single to short right field, scoring Pearson and Finigan.

Both runs were unearned but that fact does not erase the defeat. Nor does it relieve the discomfort caused by Finigan, who banged out three hits in four trips and scored two runs.

To make the afternoon fully frustrating, another Detroit cast-off pitched in a manner that must have seemed strange to his ex-teammates. Southpaw Bill Hoeft, making his first appearance with the Orioles after being acquired from Boston, hurled four and two-thirds innings of sparkling relief ball.

Hoeft, dealt to Boston by the Tigers, yielded only three hits. The lone run off him resulted from a wild pitch. Hoeft was lifted for a pinch batter and Ernie Johnson picked up the triumph. Sisler took the loss.

A walk, a hit batsman, a single and a throwing error by second baseman Billy Gardner brought home two Detroit runs in the first inning. Gardner threw wild on a double play relay and the ball struck Al Kaline in the head as the Tiger outfielder was streaking to first base.

Kaline was removed from the field on a stretcher and taken to a hospital. Surgery was performed last night to repair a fracture of the left cheekbone below the eye. Kaline probably will be able to return to the lineup in a week or 10 days.

Walker hit his first big league home run in the third but the Tigers bounced back with three more runs in the fourth. Lou Berberet drove in two runs with a double and Frank Bolling batted across another with a single.

Bolling contributed a single to a sixth inning uprising that produced Detroit's sixth run. Hoeft's wild pitch, coming with two out, scored the run.

Starter Don Mossi had a smooth five-hitter working into the eighth. Then a walk and Triandos' 16th home run narrowed the margin to 6-3. Finigan singled and Carrasquel lined his fourth home run into the left field bleachers. Now it was 6-5 and on came Sisler to pitch.

The ex-Boston hurler, fast becoming the Tigers' No. 1 stopper, was wild and walked two batters but squirmed out of the inning. He was one out away from victory an inning later until Veal kicked away the game-ending grounder.

Cheek Bone Fractured

Kaline Reported Good Following Face Surgery

WASHINGTON (AP) — Al Kaline was reported in good condition today following surgery in nearby Baltimore.

The young Detroit outfielder was injured yesterday in the Tigers' 7-6 loss to Baltimore's Orioles. A wild throw by second baseman Billy Gardner struck Kaline on the left cheek, under the eye, as the Detroit player raced to first base.

Gardner was attempting to complete a double play when the throw got away from him.

Oddly, the double play was completed although two runs scored on it. Kaline never reached first base, and while he lay unconscious, pitcher Jerry Walker recovered the ball and threw it to first baseman Bob Boyd.

Dr. E. D. Kitlowski described the injury as "a depressed fracture of the lower cheekbone." He said he thought Kaline could leave the hospital Friday or Saturday and rejoin the Tigers in Detroit next week.

Indications are that Kaline, currently hitting .351 and the team's hottest run-producer, will be sidelined for at least a week. Johnny Groth, who substituted for him yesterday, likely will continue in center field.

Kaline, only a few hours before he was beaned, had predicted that, "barring injuries," the Tigers would remain in contention for the American League pennant the rest of the season.

★ ★ ★

Shortstop Coot Veal, whose ninth inning error permitted the Orioles to go on and whip the Tigers, buried his face in a towel and cried when he reached the clubhouse. One of the slickest fielding men in baseball, Veal had been inserted for Rocky Bridges to strengthen the closing defense.

Others tried to cheer him up as he sat on a stool, his back to the room in the clubhouse.

"Forget it as quick as you can, boy," said manager Jimmie Dykes. "There never was a baseball player who didn't blow one. Forget it. Forget it."

Right fielder Harvey Kuenn, an ex-shortstop, told newsmen: "That poor guy over there. He's the one I'm sorry for. Doesn't the kid remember some of those I butchered when I was playing shortstop?"

OUT FOR 10 DAYS—Al Kaline lies in his hospital bed in Baltimore awaiting surgery which took place on his fractured cheek bone. The Tiger outfielder is expected to be out of action at least 10 days and possibly longer.

Al Balding Takes Early Lead at Canadian Open

MONTREAL (AP)—Canada's tall, angular Al Balding took the lead in the first round of the Canadian Open Golf championship Thursday with a 6-under-par 66 on the rain-soaked Islesmere Course.

The 6-foot-3 golfer from Markham, Ont., put on a remarkable putting show to take a one-stroke lead over four of the top touring professionals from the United States. He finished the round with a 25-foot birdie putt on the 18th green.

A stroke behind at 67 were Bob Rosburg of Palo Alto, Calif., who finished second in the U.S. Open last week; Art Wall of Pocono Manor, Pa., the 1959 Masters champion and leading money winner; Dow Finsterwald, U.S. PGA champion, and big George Bayer, the power-hitter from Dallas.

In all, there were 24 par breakers in an opening round marked by almost continuous rain and heavy clouds. Par for the 6,695-yard course is 36-36—72.

Billy Casper, the newly crowned U.S. Open champion, finished two over par with 35-39—74. Asked if the weather bothered him, he replied with a curt, "No."

Amateur Jim Funston of Detroit posted a 38-34—72 and finished among the leaders after yesterday's first round.

The first day of the $25,000 Open—with top money of $3,500—was replete with moisture and incidents.

There was a hole in one by Jim Swarbrick, a Montreal pro; a disqualification, a disallowed protest and an eagle that helped Bayer shoot a 31 on the back nine.

Swarbrick's ace came on the 150-yard fifth hole. He used a 6-iron and the ball struck a slope on the green, rolled back and dropped into the cup.

Bayer's eagle 3 came on the 505-yard 12th hole, where he easily reached the green with his second shot and sank a good putt.

Balding needed only 28 putts on his round and one-putted eight greens. He was in traps on the 16th and 17th, but came out nicely, reached the green and one-putted each time.

Oklahoma Nine NCAA Titlists

OMAHA (AP)—Oklahoma State used a mixture of power and finesse to win the NCAA college baseball world series championship from Arizona, 5-3, last night and give the Big Eight Conference its second NCAA national title in a week.

★ ★ ★

This was Oklahoma State's first championship in five series tries. Just last week-end at Lincoln, Neb., the NCAA track and field championship went to Kansas—the first time Kansas had ever won the title.

It was in the top of the seventh inning when Oklahoma State showed on its power and finesse. The Cowboys were trailing 3-2 when they came to bat. But Ben Bancroft tied the score with a 385-foot homer and then the Cowboys broke loose.

HIT BY PITCH—Tony Taylor, who was hit in the face with a pitched ball by Pirate pitcher Ronnie Kline yesterday, was somewhat luckier than Detroit's Al Kaline in as much as Taylor, Cub second baseman, sustained no broken bones. Kaline's cheek was fractured in a game in Baltimore. Taylor stayed in a Chicago hospital overnight.

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

You can't find it listed in the Detroit Tiger record books, but when the team went to training camp in Lakeland, Fla., in 1946, there were two managers on the ball club.

Officially Steve O'Neill was manager of the Tigers at the time, but actively and sentimentally George Winters was called "Pontiac manager of the Detroit Tigers."

'PM' WINTERS

There were very few who knew more about the Tigers than Winters. From his barber's chair for 30 years on West Lawrence street he "managed" the Tigers and he helped "guide" them to three American League pennants.

He was sort of a proxie manager as well as being a historian for Tiger facts when any arguments arose.

During his spring training trip to Florida, which The Pontiac Press sponsored in 1946, Winters wrote about "Steve and I" and how he and O'Neill brought the Tigers through a real successful exhibition season.

When the Tiger players took assignments from the "associate" managers they carried them out on orders of either "DM" or "PM".

The "DM" stood for Detroit manager O'Neill and the "PM" for Pontiac manager Winters.

For a week, Winters filed his stories on the Tiger camp to the Press sport pages.

"I'm sort of a utility man and manager down here," Winters reported.

"I was coaching at third base and with two on and Hank Greenberg up when O'Neill motioned to me," Winters reported. "Want me to hit for Hank?" I asked. "Yep," O'Neill answered.

"But I figured the younger players better get a chance so I yelled for Steve to send in Barney McCosky," the "PM" manager wrote.

Winters admitted later he regretted not going up to bat for Greenberg.

"This would have looked pretty good in the box score he showed:

	AB	R	H	RBI
*Winters	1	1	1	3

Batted for Greenberg. Homered with 1 on.

"Well, I guess Steve and I have the Tigers on the right foot, they've won five straight in the exhibition schedule," Winters commented in his last story out of Lakeland.

Of course the story carried a P.S.—"Will someone nudge my boss about some extra dough. You know I learned a new game on the train traveling with these Tigers and no one told me a straight beats three of a kind."

Winters headed home with his prediction that the Tigers would be a faster team than they were as the 1945 champions, and he said they would win a few more games.

He was right, they did win a few more games but they still finished second. They won the pennant in 1945 by winning 88 and were second in 1946 even though they won 92.

Yesterday the "PM" of the Tigers passed away at the age of 71. He never got the opportunity to "manage" them to another pennant, and he thought this could be the year.

Three-Hit Shutout in Class B Loop

Cellar-dwelling Don Nicholie scored two unearned runs in the 1st inning and sailed to a 2-0 victory over Pontiac Business Institute behind the three-hit shutout pitching of Al Levy in Class B City League baseball activity yesterday at Jaycee Park.

It was only the 2nd win of the season in 10 starts for the Nicholie club, which tallied twice without the benefit of a hit. Three costly errors let in both Nicholie counters.

Levy himself accounted for two of Nicholie's four hits off losing hurler Larry Cates and reliever Jim Conway.

HIT BY A MOOSE — Chicago White Sox catcher Sherm Lollar rolls over in the dust but holds onto the ball after tagging out Bill "Moose" Skowron, Yankee first baseman, in the 8th inning yesterday. Skowron tried to score after a fly ball but Jim Rivera threw a perfect strike to the plate. The Yanks won, 5-4, in 10 innings.

Weekend Could Change AL Race

Big Series for Tribe-Yanks

By the Associated Press

Cleveland steams into New York tonight for the first of what should be four frenzied games with the Yankees in a weekend series that could jar the Indians out of the American League lead. It also could spill the Yankees off their comeback spurt from the cellar.

The Injuns, holding a 1½-game lead and 3½ games ahead of the fifth place World Champions, are one of the teams manager Casey Stengel had in mind when he warned that his Yankees still have some scores to settle.

At the moment, Cleveland has a 4-3 season edge over the champs, who have just gained a 4-3 lead over Chicago's second place White Sox with a three-game sweep. (Detroit leads New York 8-3 and Baltimore has a 7-5 edge.)

The Yankees, although winning four of their last six, still have pitching and fielding troubles, but their big guy, Mickey Mantle, is hitting the big home run again. The Mick, who clinched Wednesday's game with a three-run homer, yesterday ignored a taped ankle and belted a 10th-inning home run for a 5-4 victory over the White Sox.

In the lone night game, Harmon Killebrew regained the major league home run lead with his 23rd as Washington beat Kansas City 7-5, the A's fifth straight defeat.

Vic Wertz drove in three runs for the Red Sox, singling home the clincher in the eighth and tagging the loss on reliever Mike Garcia (0-5) in Boston's first success against Cleveland. Locke, a 25-year-old right-hander just up from San Diego, broke a 2-all tie with a three-run homer in the fourth, but allowed five runs and seven of Boston's 10 hits—including fifth-inning homers by Wertz and Jackie Jensen. Jack Harshman, a winless lefty with Baltimore before Monday's trade, won his first with five innings of two-hit relief.

★ ★ ★

The Yankees and White Sox both blew two-run leads, Chicago with two-unearned runs in the fifth against rookie Jim Bronstad, and New York with a two-run eighth that chased starter Bob Shaw. Mantle's 15th homer handed the loss to reliever Gerry Staley (2-3) while Bobby Shantz gained his first victory in three decisions with three innings of perfect relief.

★ ★ ★

The Senators came from behind three times to beat the A's and Ray Herbert (4-6), finally clinching it in a three-run sixth when Julio Becquer's pinch double broke a 5-5 tie. Roy Sievers' fifth home run—the 199th of his career—upped the Nats' AL leading total to 82. Bill Fischer (6-2) won it with Tex Clevenger's three innings of hitless relief.

Football, Basketball Cut

Capac Drops Top Sports

CAPAC (UPI) — Football and basketball will be dropped by Capac Community Schools next fall as part of a sharp cutback forced on the Board of Education when voters rejected a tax hike.

The board voted yesterday to curtail the school program drastically next term.

The board must find a way necessary because voters rejected a three mill tax increase. The board mkust find a way to save $34,000 that would have come from the tax.

Half day sessions for first graders and elimination of all shop and art classes are planned. Basketball and football will be dropped. One homemaking class and one agriculture class will be eliminated.

★ ★ ★

No new books will be bought for the library and no textbooks will be replaced. Purchase of science and music equipment will be cutback.

★ ★ ★

Capac High School probably will lose its accreditation by the University of Michigan, the board said. The university threatened to lift the school from its accredited list a year ago when similar cuts were ordered.

Doctoring Your Golf

By DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF

PATIENT'S COMPLAINT: Hitting behind the ball.
DIAGNOSIS: Dropping the right shoulder.
TREATMENT: If your golf swing is executed properly, the right shoulder comes around and under as the downswing progresses. But this should be a gradual process — not a quick drop at the start of the downswing.

When the right shoulder does drop quickly and abruptly at the start of the downswing, the clubhead will almost always hit the ground before it hits the ball. And that's no way to play decent golf!

Here's a simple way to avoid this fault — just swing normally hard without trying to put more power than you have into the shot. In short—quit trying to kill the ball!

A key point here is one I feel must be stressed several times a year because it's so important—START THE DOWNSWING SLOWLY AND SMOOTHLY.

Teeing Off

By BILL CORNWELL

On June 30 of last year the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department put a youth golfing program into effect at Municipal Golf Course. It followed closely on the heels of their free golf plan for city people 65 years old and over.

The youth program, which extends free playing privileges to Pontiac boys and girls from 12 through 17 years of age once a week during the summer months, will be continued again this year and is now in force at the city links.

City youngsters will be happy to know that they can play golf free of charge at the Municipal layout each Monday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. until Sept. 1 upon presentation of an identification card before teeing off.

Identification cards will be issued at the Parks and Recreation office upon request after presentation of proof of age and residence. The department prefers birth certificates for verification of age.

The identification card, with a two-by-two picture attached, must be shown each time the player registers at Municipal. Registration prior to each nine-hole round is compulsory.

Retaining the free playing privilege is simple enough. All golfers are asked merely to observe a few rules of the game, such as replacing divots, practicing good golf etiquette and following standard playing procedures.

SHORT PUTTS

Mrs. Robert Gibson really ran away with the honors this week in the Woman's Silver Lake Golf League. Mrs. Gibson had a low net score of 25, eight strokes better than her nearest rival, Mrs. Don Fillmore.

Mrs. Paul Castleberry carded a four on No. 2 to win the blind hole division and she shared low putt laurels at 15 with Mrs. Edward Dalton and Mrs. Harry Freeman.

Joy Fair Hits Raceway Wall

Local drivers started out as if they were going to monopolize the program in the Thursday night Modified races at the Detroit Metropolitan Speedway, but a series of accidents sidelined several of them.

Jimmy McCune of Toledo, Ohio, who dead-heated with Mickey Katlin to co-win the season's opener last year at the Mt. Clemens oval, had the checkered flag all to himself this year. Following McCune under the finish flag was Bud Wilson of Dexter driving a car owned by John Wilson of Highland.

Forfeit, Halted Tilt in Waterford League

Not one of the three Waterford Recreation League softball games set for last night went regulation distance. One was ended in the first inning, a 2nd game was halted in the 6th, and a Little Leagues contest wound up in the 5th frame.

Arrows forfeited to Dobski's Bar (7-0) after left fielder Doug Reick went out in the 1st with a "trick" knee. The team had no sub and the tilt was called off.

The 10-run rule stopped Waterford Merchants — Lotus Lakers in the bottom of the 6th with Merchants leading, 18-8, after a 10-run 6th frame blast. Ivan Herr's (WM) 4 for 4 topped hitters, for 4 RBIs.

Elizabeth Lake A's won 10-0 in the 5th over Lakeland Optimist Little Leaguers under the 10-run ruling.

Crowded Field for Publinx Qualifying

All-Time Total of 321 Golfers to Play Monday

Only 8 to Get Berths for National Tourney at Denver

For a while, at least, it's going to be mighty crowded on the golf course in the 36-hole sectional qualifying rounds for the National Public Links tournament.

The 1959 sectional qualifiers are slated next Monday at Orchard Lake and Tam O'Shanter Country Clubs and 321 golfers from throughout the state, an all-time record total, have registered for the trials.

The previous record entry, set last year, was 255.

Of the 321 playing the cut-throat competition, only eight will earn berths in the National Public Links tourney, which is scheduled July 13-18 at Wellshire Golf Club in Denver, Colo.

★ ★ ★

Monday's gigantic field will begin teeing off at 6 o'clock in the morning on the Orchard and Tam layouts and despite this early start a "threat of darkness" finish is anticipated by Publinx officials.

In an attempt to speed up play and get a daylight finish, Roy Iceberg, president of the Michigan Publinx Golf Association, has announced that all players shooting 85 or higher for the first 18 holes will be eliminated from the field for the afternoon round.

Iceberg went on to say that certain rules would be rigidly enforced and penalties invoked for their violation.

★ ★ ★

Slow play and practice putting after holing out each will be subject to a two-stroke penalty, declared the MPGA prexy.

Golfers who pass the 84-or-lower qualifying hurdle in the morning will switch courses for their final round in the afternoon.

Giants Rap Cincinnati, 8-3

Braves Cling to Slim Lead

By The Associated Press

Milwaukee's battered braves, still breathing hard after almost blowing a seven-run lead at Los Angeles, trudge into San Francisco with a half-game National League lead tonight for the opener of a three-game set against the mildly menacing Giants.

The Braves clung to that slim lead with a 7-6 victory over the Dodgers last night after the Giants had rapped Cincinnati 8-3 in an afternoon game.

It was only the second victory in five games for the Giants, who have picked up two games on the Braves while playing no better than .500 ball in their last 18 decisions.

The main menace to Milwaukee's bid for a third straight pennant at the moment is the Braves' own sorry slump. They've lost 10 of 18, 12 of 20 and seven of their last 11.

Just a month ago tonight, they won their sixth in a row and took a 4½-game lead — largest of the season in the NL — with an 8-1 decision at San Francisco.

While the Braves and Giants have been shadow boxing, Pittsburgh's third place Pirates have been on the move. They made it six out of eight yesterday, beating the Chicago Cubs 4-2 in 13 innings in the only other game scheduled as unbeaten reliever Elroy Face won his 11th.

The Braves, who won only two of the five games at Los Angeles, built a 7-0 lead in four innings, getting one in the second when loser Stan Williams gave up a bases-loaded walk, and adding four in the third, three on Mickey Vernon's second home run of the season. Then Del Crandall's 10th home run scored two in the fourth for the clincher against Johnny Klippstein.

The Dodgers got to work in their fourth, scoring three on four hits and a walk that chased Bob Rush — who had pitched perfect ball for three frames. Bob Trowbridge gave up a two-run, 400-foot homer by Duke Snider in the sixth, then needed Don McMahon's relief after the Dodgers scored another in the eighth on Wally Moon's third hit, a double. McMahon finally saved it for Trowbridge, gaining his first decision, by fanning Moon in the ninth with the tying run on second.

Orlando Cepeda, 4-for-5 and picking up nine points for a .345 average, drove in the Giants' first two runs and scored another in a decisive, three-run fifth after the Reds had gained a 2-2 tie. Jackie Brandt's two-run double capped the rally that handed Joe Nuxhall a 3-5 record.

Stu Miller (4-3) won it, although giving up five hits in his 4 1/3 innings of relief.

★ ★ ★

An RBI single by Bob Skinner and Bill Virdon's sacrifice fly did it for the Pirates. Their other runs came in the seventh on Dick Stuart's pinch-hit homer after Cub starter Moe Drabowsky had allowed only one hit for six innings. Face, the Major's top winner and now 16-0, since May 30, 1958, blanked the Cubs on three singles in a five-inning job, his longest chore of the season.

Chicago had only two hits in the first eight innings against Ron Kline, but both were home runs —by Walt Moryn in the fifth and pinch-hitter Jim Marshall in the eighth. Bill Henry (5-3) was the loser in relief.

Tigers Hold Flint Camp

DETROIT—Boys and young men between the ages of 16 and 22 in Genesee and Oakland counties will have an opportunity next week to try out for careers in professional baseball.

The Detroit Tigers will conduct the tryouts at Atwood Stadium in Flint Monday and Tuesday, June 22-23. Sessions will start each morning at 10 o'clock and run right on through the noon hour to 2 o'clock.

Participants are required to bring their own spikes and gloves. The Tigers will supply the bats and balls.

The first day will be devoted to tests in fundamentals and the tryouts will conclude Tuesday with a regulation nine-inning game between picked teams of the more advanced aspirants to determine their competitive qualities.

In charge will be Steve Gromek, former major league pitching star who is now engaged by the Tigers for the express purpose of supervising the 12 tryout camps set up throughout the state of Michigan during the Summer months.

Boe, Bantin Come Close

Two No-Hitters Spoiled

Two pitchers had no-hitters spoiled early by singles in city softball games last night.

★ ★ ★

He also led his own cause with two bingles as Lodge 810 took over 3rd place and dropped its victims to the cellar.

★ ★ ★

Jerry Bantin hurled the other gem blanking Pontiac Retailer, 10-0. He also starred at the plate as Drive-In Cleaners took sole possession of 2nd place in the International.

★ ★ ★

Sport Shop garnered 15 hits including a homer by Jim Reynolds, a triple and three doubles while Wally Johnson was scattering three.

State Hospital was down 1-0 before putting together two of its three safeties, two errors, a wild pitch, and pass ball for its three runs in the 5th.

Challenger Prefers Rest

Floyd, Ingemar Opposites in Drills

GROSSINGER, N. Y. (AP) — If ever two heavyweights approached a championship fight with more divergent training methods than Floyd Patterson and Ingemar Johansson, it must have been when Max Baer was bewildering boxing experts.

★ ★ ★

"I finished my roadwork today, I finish my boxing tomorrow," Johansson said, yesterday after a 7-round session in the ring.

"After that I just walk and rest and soak up energy."

Patterson, in his Chatham, N.J., camp, plans to keep right on working up to the day before the fight, even though his handlers think he is close to peak form.

The champion did no boxing yesterday but ran four miles as usual and later went for a long walk with his sparring partners. He plans to box today, tomorrow, Sunday and possibly Monday. And he'll continue road work until Wednesday.

Johansson hasn't neglected boxing and road work, but his theory is that once he has achieved top condition, the relaxed approach will bring him up to the fight in better physical and mental condition.

"I feel myself getting stronger and stronger," he explained seriously. "I shadow box before a mirror and always I see my good right hand hitting him and knocking him out. It happens again and again. It's very nice."

Ingemar's right hand—good or otherwise—has been the subject of considerable speculation during the training period. He has used it very seldom against his sparring partners. And there was a story going around that he still is troubled by hand injuries incurred in his amateur days. Johansson says that's sheer nonsense.

He admitted he had broken his right thumb in seven places back in 1949 and that he had bruised his left hand in knocking out Ernest Fann in a Golden Gloves bout in Chicago in 1951.

"Now my hands don't give me any trouble at all," he said.

"When I was younger I didn't know how to bandage my hands. Now I do. I don't let anybody bandage them for me and I get them just right."

The articulate challenger also discussed the matter of speed, since Patterson has a reputation as a swift puncher.

"I never met a man faster than myself," Johansson said. "I think I get faster when I meet faster men. I think I can be as fast as he is when I fight him."

BREAKING TRAINING—Ducking away from boxing, Ingemar Johansson received some golf pointers from former ring great Barney Ross at Grossinger, N. Y. yesterady. Ingo, who meets Floyd Patterson for the heavyweight title next Thursday, has completed his heavy training and plans to rest until the fight.

Posies for U. S. Matmen

MOSCOW (AP)—Eight tired but confident members of the U. S. wrestling team arrived here five hours late Thursday night on their trip from New York via Amsterdam.

Despite the delay a dozen members of the Soviet Sports Committee waited at the rainy airport to give each American a bouquet of flowers. The Americans wrestle for the first time Saturday night in the Lenin Stadium Sports Palace, which can hold 20,000.

It is the first trip to Russia for all of the Americans. Four of them wrestled the Russians in the United States last year. Then the Soviet grapplers dominated their tour. They are Terry McCann of Tulsa, Okla., Jerry Hoke of the Marine Corps, Newt Copple of Lincoln, Neb., and Frank Rosenmayer of San Francisco.

After Saturday's competition, the Americans also will appear in matches at Kiev, Leningrad and Tbilisi.

Gurney Favored in LeMans Test

American Drives Sports Car to Near Record in Trial for Big Race

LE MANS (AP)—Lanky California driver Dan Gurney came close to the track record Thursday night with a trial lap that made his streamlined red Ferrari a favorite for the Le Mans 24-hour sports car endurance race.

Ferraris swept the top three spots in the trials and dampened British hopes that Jaguars or Aston-Martins might wrench the coveted sports car trophy from the Italian firm which won last year.

The best British cars could do was fourth by a Jaguar driven by Masten Gregory of Kansas City.

Gurney, teamed with French champion Jean Behra as co-driver for the race which starts Saturday, sped his lap at an average speed of 199.176 kilometers (123.7 miles) per hour. His time was 4:03.3, just 4.6 seconds off the 1957 record set by the late Mike Hawthorn in a 4-liter Ferrari. The engine capacity limit this year is three liters.

Bye Bye Bird Keeps Winning

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP)—Bye Bye Byrd, driven by Clint Hodgins, stepped into the lead a quarter-mile from the finish and went on to a half-length victory in the $40,750 Good Time Pace at Yonkers Raceway Thursday night.

The 4-year old son Poplar Byrd, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Red C. Larkin of Chicago, paced the mile in 1:59 3-5.

For his fourth victory in seven starts this year, Bye Bye Byrd paid $9.40 and boosted his earnings for 1959 to $56,767.

Unranked Netter Star of Southern Meet

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—The star of the 74th Southern Lawn Assn. tennis tournament so far is a pert little 16-year-old miss from St. Louis.

Justina Bricka, who came into the tournament unranked, staged a major upset when she beat top-seeded Laura Lou Kunnen in split sets Wednesday, 6-4, 6-4.

And Thursday the tomboyish player ousted the No. 1 ranked Woman player in the south, Sandra Loubat of Shreveport, La., by the same score, 6-4, 6-4.

Miss Bricka, who won the National Indoor Championship for girls when she was 13, goes into the semifinals today and possibly against Carol Hanks, also of St. Louis, her doubles partner with whom she is ranked No. 6 nationally in junior rankings.

Tennis Tantrums Mar Action at Wimbledon

LONDON (AP)—Tennis tantrums and pre-Wimbledon nerves have taken over in the London championships at Queens' Club.

★ ★ ★

Officials were ready for even bigger outbursts in today's semi-finals of the men's singles, in which American Davis Cup ace Alex Olmedo of Peru plays Ramanathan Kirshnan of India and Neale Fraser meets Frank Gorman in an all-Australian affair.

Yesterday several players displayed minor outbursts of temper after losing or making poor shots.

Rackets were hurled in the air and flung to the ground, balls were banged out of court, umpires were abused and the ball girls reprimanded for moving while play was in progress or for not picking up balls at the net.

Barry Mackay, former University of Michigan star, who earned the tag "the gentle giant" in earlier rounds, lost in a fit of temper after being beaten in the quarter-final 4-6, 6-2, 6-3 by Gorman.

He crashed a foot through his racket. He stalked off court muttering, "I'm mad, mad about losing."

Bob Mark of Australia, showed signs of temperament in his match with Olmedo. After the umpire reversed two calls he insisted on linesmen being appointed.

Olmedo who won 12-10, 6-2 rounded up four spectators and they were given official sanction by the referee.

Fraser frequently snapped at the ball girls "pick it up" when his first service thundered into the net. And he reprimanded them for moving during play as he eliminated Earl Buchholz of St. Louis, 0-6, 6-1, 6-1.

Patti Shook Captures Spring Lake Title by Beating Ex-Champ

★ ★ ★

Patti Shook won the Spring Lake Women's Open golf tournament yesterday by defeating former two-time champion Mrs. Edgar Reynolds of Lansing, 5 and 4, in the championship match.

Eighty of Western Michigan's top women golfers took part in the tournament which began with qualifying rounds Monday. Patti copped medalist honors that day by firing an 82, eight over the ladies par of 74 for the 6,049-yard Spring Lake course.

Her victory over Mrs. Reynolds, who won the Spring Lake title in 1952 and again in 1955, was by far the biggest achievement of her golfing career to date.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Reynolds got into the finals by defeating 1958 champion Mrs. Jack Scripsema of Grand Rapids, 5-3, while Patti defeated Nancy Way of Grand Rapids, 3-1, in her semi-final round.

Third Major League Plans Hailed by Considered Cities

NEW YORK (UPI) — Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick and elder - statesman Branch Rickey voiced confidence today that the expanding American economy can produce the players needed to form a projected third major league.

Where the required 200 players would be obtained has long been an obstacle to baseball expansion plans. It was the big question asked by big league players themselves in a United Press International survey after yesterday's disclosure that the formation of a new 100 million dollar league will be announced next month.

"The players will develop if we can make the jobs for them," said Frick, who at the same time said other considerations involving baseball law made him "neutral" on the plans for a third league. "We have enough confidence in the country's economy to believe it can fill 200 new jobs provided we should create them through the expansion of our game," Frick said.

Rickey said in Pittsbourgh that "of course, there aren't many Musials, or Mayses or Williamses or Aarons. But if you insist on quality of that type, you'll settle for a half-dozen players.

"But there are thousands of good ball players all over the United States. There are more than ever before in history."

Rickey, inventor of the game's farm system and the man who broke its unwritten color barrier by hiring Jackie Robinson, even had a proposal for a new World Series alignment.

"Hold the series in three cities instead of two and double the revenue," said ol' Branch with a thoughtful puff on his cigar.

League presidents Warren Giles of the National and Joe Cronin of the American said they wanted to learn more details before they commented. Civic and baseball officials in Buffalo, Minneapolis, Toronto and Arlington, Tex., hailed the announcement.

The major question, pointed out by Frick, appeared to be whether there would be enough time under baseball rules for the new franchises to be approved so they could operate in 1961—the target date announced by William A. Shea, chairman of the New York mayor's baseball committee, yesterday.

"I don't want to dash cold water on the project, nor do I want to sound over-enthusiastic," said Frick. "But under the rules of baseball, the club owners would have to have six months notice on matters like this before they can take them up at the league meetings. Baseball law also stipulates that the new league would have to have franchises organized 10 months before the start of a season."

Insiders familiar with the way the owners can change the rules of their "millionaires' club" pointed out, however, that such objections could be brushed aside if the plans for the new league look favorable. They expect the owners' position to crystalize sometime around the July 7 All-Star game. Shea said the announcement of the new league's formation could be expected between July 1 and 15.

Shea disclosed yesterday that the backers of an all - important New York franchise in the new circuit were members of three wealthy and famous sports-minded families.

Mrs. Charles Shipman Payson, sister of John Hay (Jock) Whitney, U.S. ambassador to Great Britain and co-owner with her brother of the Greentree racing stables.

—Dwight F. Davis Jr., and George Herbert Walker, sons of the donors of the Davis Tennis Cup and Walker Golf Cup, respectively.

The New York group has been assured that the city will finance a new 52,000-seat-capacity stadium in the Flushing Meadow area, site of the old World Fair grounds on Long Island. Long Island has undergone the most rapid expansion in population in New York in the post-war era.

Among the other cities mentioned for possible franchises are Montreal, Houston, Toronto, Minneapolis-St. Paul, Buffalo and Dallas-Ft. Worth.

"I don't want to speak for any other city," said Shea. "It is, however, merely a question of eliminating enough of them to get down to eight teams. We have been in contact with all the other cities interested but they must make their own announcements. Certain amounts have been pledged by all interested cities."

—Gerald Moore, chairman of the Metropolitan Area Sports Commission of Minneapolis-St. Paul: "If this third major league is formed, then this territory becomes the property of that third major league."

—Millionaire sportsman Jack Kent Cooke of Toronto: "Isn't it wonderful? Speaking for the Maple Leafs, we would expect to be invited to join the league."

—Mayor Tommy Vandergriff of Arlington, Tex., chairman of a Dallas-Tarrant County committee promoting a major league team: "Construction of physical facilities could be done. I believe there is the necessary time to form a program and pursue it to its completion by 1961."

Eight Olympic Champions Vie for Honors in AAU

BOULDER, Colo. (AP)—Eight Olympic champions and seven world record holders, along with some 440 other athletes, are vying for honors in the National AAU track and field championships today and tomorrow.

Bids to International competitions, including summer tours abroad, go to the top finishers in the 21 events. The 1-2 men in each competition will form the United States dual team matched against the Russians in Philadelphia July 18-19.

The top three in each event carry the stars and stripes into the Pan American games at Chicago Aug. 27-Sept. 7. Others will be chosen for teams that tour several European countries this summer.

Interest centers on the 100 where defending champion Bobby Morrow, hampered by a leg injury for the past two weeks, faces a stiff challenge from Ray Norton and Bobby Poynter, both of San Jose State, and Billy Woodhouse of Abilene (Tex) Christian College.

Morrow, Norton and Woodhouse have run the 10-yard dash in world record-equalling 9.3 seconds.

O'Brien's chief challengers are Dallas Long, Southern California's freshman sensation, and Lt. Bill Nieder, ex-Kansas University great. Long has a 63-7 heave up for consideration as a world mark.

Hayes Jones of Eastern Michigan, defending AAU champion, leads a star-studded field in the 110 meter high hurdles today. He'll battle 1956 Olympic champion Lee Calhoun and Winston-Salem College's Elias Gilbert. Jones leads this year with a 13.6 seconds mark over the 120-yard high hurdles. Calhoun and Gilbert have each registered 13.7.

Bass Anglers Optimistic on Eve of Season Opener

Metropolitan area fishermen today were optimistic over prospects for start of the state's 1959 bronzeback season that gets under way Saturday. The black bass season is the last of the state's angling seasons to start. Seasons for trout and other fish opened in April.

The Pontiac Press annual three-way "big fish derby" also goes into action Saturday, with a total of $150 for fishermen whose residences are in Oakland County. Fifty-dollar U.S. Bonds will be awarded for the heaviest bass, and largest (weight) northern pike and bluegill. No angler may win in more than one division.

Boat liverymen on most of the the county's many lakes, and conservation officers, report conditions are excellent for good catches. The cooler nights of this week may have a tendency to bring the big, fighting bronzebacks to the surface for some fast and furious plug and fly-fishing.

1958 CHAMP — Oakland county's bass fishermen (and women, too) Saturday begin the 1959 state season, and at the same time open competition in The Press annual big fish derby. Few, if any champions in the bass division have ever repeated, but last year's winner, Mrs. Charlie (Noreen) Raglitz of White Lake (above) with her 6-pound, 8½-ounce entry) may try again.

Miami Ace Picks Cage Over Grid

The 240-pound former Miami University cage star, said he was offered a contract with the New York Giants pro football club.

"I feel my future lies in professional basketball with Cincinnati," the athlete said.

Lewis Retires as Cubs' Traveling Secretary

CHICAGO (AP) — Bob Lewis, who served under nine Chicago Cub managers, has retired as the team's traveling secretary after 33 years.

Don Biebel, 27, a former catcher from Menasha, Wis., succeeds Lewis, who will remain with the club in an advisory capacity.

Tigers Eying Farmhand

The answer to Detroit's first base problem may be down on the farm — away down at Birmingham, Ala., in the Class AA Southern Assn. Jay Cooke, a 22-year-old, 6-foot-2, 200-pounder, is flailing the ball at a .384 clip and has hit 11 homers and driven in 48 runs in 53 games. Cooke is a left-handed swinger. Gail Harris and Larry Osborne, who have been splitting first base chores for the Tigers, are hitting .158 and .227, respectively.

Variety of Thrills for Junior Fans

Pontiac Boys Club and J&R Auto Stores were Class E winners in opposite type game. St. Michael outscored Ritter's Market 15-10 in "D," Baldwin, the Aces and J&A Engineers were Widget victors while Lytell-Colgrove and Preston Bros. were other successful teams.

Pete Vasquel pitched a one-hitter and got two of his team's three safeties — both doubles — to pace the Boys Club over Our Lady of Refuge, 5-1. He struck out 11. J&R nipped Tel-Huron 11-10 by getting four in the 5th on one hit.

Walks and errors dominated the St. Mike triumph although three of winners' five safeties were for extra bases. Play was halted after 5⅓ innings because of darkness.

Baldwin belted the Fighting 69ers 23-1 in 2½ frames with five pitchers giving up 16 walks and 7 hits for the losers. Two chuckers combined for a one-hitter for the Aces in a 9-1 verdict over the Wild Dogs.

Jay Nash slammed three home runs and a double featuring a 28-4 J&A romp over Met Club. Roy Taylor contributed a grand slam homer and two singles.

Don Nicholie scored a run on three errors and a passed ball but was blanked from then on in a 2-1 Lytell victory. Dave Jones and Bob Diamond were the Lytell hurlers.

Scoring three in the 1st, Preston handed the Blue Racers a 9-0 whitewashing on the one-hit pitching of Mike Painchaud. Larry Skinner had a double and triple to lead the attack.

Knights Boost Lead Over Jets

Defending City Kings 2½ Games Behind K.C. After 4-2 Loss

The defending champion Jets found themselves trailing the front-running Knights of Columbus by 2½ games last night after taking a 4-2 beating from the K. of C. team in Class A City League baseball action at Wisner Field.

The K.C. club wasted no time sewing up the decision. The Knights scored four times in the 1st inning as singles by Al Barkley and Ernie Zubalik and Stu Dell's double each delivered one run and an error by center fielder Gene Cox accounted for the other.

A walk to Felix Brooks, Chet Woodmore's single, a two-base error by 2nd baseman Barkley and another single by Al Hayward produced two runs for the Jets in the 3rd frame.

Jerry Taylor pitched the distance for the Knights and permitted six hits, two apiece by Woodmore and Dave Simmons. The losing hurler was Bill McGuire, who also went the route for the Jets and allowed eight safeties while fanning eight. Hal Trott and Zubalik each socked two hits for K.C.

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Southeastern Michigan captured its fourth straight Junior Wightman Cup round robin tennis title yesterday.

The Michigan team, which did not drop a single match in the eighth annual regional tourney for girls 21 and under, blanked the Ohio Valley squad 5-0 in the featured match today.

The big surprise of the three-day tourney was recorded by Sue Miller of Toledo. Miss Miller upended Sue Hodgeman of Kalamazoo, Mich., 6-1, 4-6, 7-5. Miss Hodgeman, the top-rated player of the meet, was ranked eighth last year by the U.S. Tennis Assn. in its national rankings of girls 18 and under.

Prof's Son New Prep Net Champ

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP) — Bill Lenoir, a skinny blond with a game like that of Pancho Segura, is the new National Scholastic tennis king.

The 17-year-old son of a University of Arizona law professor won the championship yesterday with a 6-1, 3-6, 7-5, 6-3 triumph over John Karabasz of Coral Gables, Fla. Lenoir had been ranked No. 1 and Karabasz No. 2.

The doubles title was won for the second year in a row by the Coral Gables team of Karabasz and Frank Froehling. They routed John Vinton and Curtis Myers of Choate School, Wallingford, Conn., 6-2, 6-1, 6-0.

Canadian Clubs Expected to Ask AHL Franchises

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP) — The Quebec City Aces and the Montreal Royals of the Quebec League of Canada are expected to petition for franchises during the American Hockey League's three-day meeting which begins here next Wednesday.

★ ★ ★

Lloyd Blinco, general manager of the Hershey AHL club and league board member, said that admission of the two Canadian clubs would greatly increase travel costs.

★ ★ ★

He also said that if the two are accepted, the league would have to be split into two divisions. The league presently has six members: Hershey, Cleveland, Buffalo, Rochester, Providence and Springfield.

Massachusetts Puts OK on Sugar's Title

The Massachusetts Commission is a member of the National Boxing Association, which stripped Sugar Ray of his 160-pound crown on May 4 for inactivity.

Robinson is still recognized as champion by the New York State Athletic Commission, not a member of the NBA. And he also is recognized by Cuba, and NBA affiliate.

Unskilled Violence Is Replacement for Old Days' Finesse, Pride

LONDON (UPI) — Modern criminals turn to violence because they are too lazy or lack the talent to develop any skill at their jobs, according to an old hand from Scotland Yard.

★ ★ ★

The gun, the bludgeon and the fist, he noted, have largely replaced the finesse that many old-time lawbreakers used to bring to their chosen profession.

Scotland Yard does not permit its famous investigators to give out interviews where they can be quoted by name, and this one offered his view with that understanding.

"When did you last hear of a good pickpocket?" he asked. "Before the war there were signs wherever crowds gathered warning them to beware of pickpockets. Today, it's one of the rarer crimes.

'REASONS OBVIOUS'

"The reasons are obvious. It takes years to develop the technique of picking a pocket and staying out of jail. Why bother when you can get the wallet or wristwatch simply by fracturing the victim's skull?"

"They were intelligent, glib, agreeable chaps of considerable chaps of considerable general knowledge. When they crammed for a specific job they got to know it inside out.

"They would even bring confederates over from Australia or the United States if the sucker a maharajah or American millionaire perhaps—needed the additional persuasion they could provide.

"I must admit the postwar millionaire is apt to be less gullible than wealthy men used to be, but even so its so much easier for the underworld to simply rob him with or without violence.

CONSIDERED PRIDE

"The old-time con man would consider it an affront to his professional pride if he had to descend to this level."

Some other crimes, he said, have dropped from fashion because they are outdated.

"We don't get much counterfeiting of coins any more," he said. "Simply isn't worth the effort to make shillings and half-crowns, considering the high cost of livng."

The average price of a drug store prescription in the United States today is $2.90, acording to the Health News Intsitute.

Tells Why He's Friendly With Them

'Deal' With the Reds or Go to War'---Eaton

By AL DeSTROW
NEA Special Correspondent

CLEVELAND — The vigorous voice of multi-millionaire Cyrus Eaton, 75, quivers with emotion when he denounces the "insane fanaticism" of politicians and statesmen he accuses of pushing the world towards global war and nuclear annihilation.

For a year, he has devoted more time to his personal crusade for "an accommodation with communism" than to management of the three-billion-dollar coal, iron, railroad and utilities empire he controls.

He proudly displays piles of letters from all over the world commending his courage but is aware that his campaign has also stirred much criticism.

A group of judges, holding an informal discussion in Cleveland, unanimously agreed that only Eatons wealth and personal prestige permit his course of conduct.

ONE-MAN POLICY

In effect, he seeks to establish a one-man foreign policy. He told Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan and Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov that a majority of the American people don't support the "cold war" policies of President Eisenhower.

He appealed to Canadian Prime Minister Diefenbaker to adopt an independent policy of massive trade with Communist countries, regardless of Washington.

Eaton knows that congressmen and others have denounced him as a "traitor," and consider him a "Communist capitalist."

★ ★ ★

Here is Eaton's philosophy as he has spelled it out in speeches and interviews:

"I am a sincere capitalist. I believe that our system of free enterprise can provide the best possible standard of living for the average man.

"But the Russians and Chinese are equally convinced of the superiority of their system.

"We must find a way to end the 'cold war' and enter into a peaceful competition with the Communists to see which system can do the most for its people.

OURS WILL TRIUMPH

"I am convinced that our system will triumph in the end.

"But if we don't make peace then both systems will be destroyed in a puff of nuclear annihilation and all modern civilization will be obliterated."

Eaton's conviction is that "we can and must make a deal with the Russians."

He believes that the President of the United States and the premier of Russia should sit down together in an atmosphere of mutual trust to work out a bargain.

That, Eaton says, is the "sensible solution" that would be adopted by the heads of two corporations that found themselves engaged in ruinous competition.

He believes that vast armaments expenditures could eventually bankrupt both countries, and "confiscatory taxes" ultimately destroy free enterprise.

Eaton brushes aside the argument that the Russians can't be trusted with: "We must trust them. The alternative is mutual destruction."

NO ALTERNATIVE

(President Eisenhower has repeatedly pointed out that Russia's record of broken treaties gives the U.S. no alternative to insisting upon agreements with self-enforcing provisions.)

The white-haired, ruddy-cheeked board chairman of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway has spent more than $100,000 of his personal fortune on his crusade for world peace.

"My only motive in trying to prevent the nuclear annihiliation of humanity," he says, "is that I have had a very good life, and want my 13 grandchildren and everyone else's grandchildren — to have an opportunity to have a good life, too."

Suggest Naming Summer Home Island for Dulles

OTTAWA (AP)—A suggestion has been made in the House of Commons that Duck Island, where the late John Foster Dulles had a summer home, be renamed Dulles Island.

Opposition Leader Lester B. Pearson asked whether the government is considering and consulting with the Ontario government about affecting such a change of name for the island, which is in Canadian territory at Lake Ontario's eastern end.

Foreign Secretary Howard Green said he would try to reply later.

Guests Thought Thief Just Looking for Mom's

Several guests said they saw a young man calmly rifling the purses but thought he was just a son of one of the party goers.

Civil Defense Test Organized Confusion

One woman disappeared. Four hours later she telephoned from a spot 21 miles out of the city and asked if she could return. A Civil Defense official went to look for her. He got lost.

Lifeboat Station Opens

MUNISING (AP)—The Coast Guard has opened its summer lifeboat station at Munising. A part-time detachment of four men, headed by Boatswain's Mate 2.C Jack Machett, will man the station. Chief Joe Pabst has been appointed head of the Rock of Ages Lighthouse in Lake Superior, replacing Chief Floyd Miller who will supervise the Munising lighthouse operation.

Speedster Sets Many Records

Boat Breaks 'Water Barrier'

Over the past four years, 38-year-old Donald Campbell, in a series of record-breaking runs with his boat, Bluebird II, has added nearly 100 miles per hour to the world's water speed record.

His latest official record achieved this year on Coniston Water, Lake District, England, stands at 260.35 miles per hour. On his fastest runs, he has approached 300 miles.

Breaking records, however, is only one part of the Bluebird story. Behind these high-speed runs, says Campbell, there is a serious purpose — principally that of testing out new engineering theories for building and controlling high-speed water craft.

The boat that he built and named Bluebird II after his father's boats and cars, was hardly beautiful. The hull, containing it's tiny cabin and aircraft jet-engine, was slung between two floats; the idea being that at very high speeds the whole craft would lift itself out of the water until only the rear points of its floats and hull were skimming the surface at tremendous speed.

And this $70,000 turbo-jet hydroplane only came into being (it was launched 1955) after a fascinating piece of detective work by Campbell and his designers.

It was soon after John Cobb was killed in 1952, when his boat, Crusader, disintegrated at something over 200 miles per hour, that the new design team set to work to build Bluebird II.

They decided that in the region of that speed, there must be a "water barrier" (rather like the sound barrier faced by aircraft) which sets up shock waves able to tear any conventionally designed structure to pieces.

From these pictures they carefully calculated the oscillations sustained by the hull immediately before it disintegrated, and the stresses on each individual frame member.

It was then possible to work out the exact sequence of failures and transferred stresses leading to the breakup.

STRONGEST HULL

This valuable information enabled the team to contrive a hull for Bluebird II stronger than any ever built.

So that is would also be the lightest yet they worked out an ingenious design using seamless high tensile steel tubes welded together.

When completed, the hull weighed only 580 pounds. This gave Bluebird II a lower weight than any boat of similar construction, while still being five times stronger than Sir Malcolm Campbell's old Bluebird (in which he set up the 141.74 miles per hour record that stood until 1950), and three times stronger than Cobb's Crusader.

Campbell has said, modern jet engines provide ample power for anyone to go as fast as they like; the problem is to put such engines into structures that will stay in one piece when subjected to very severe stresses. Interviewed before his first record attempt, he described Bluebird's novel tubular hull as "the backbone of my whole endeavor."

He plans to break the record again before retiring, probably in Canada, and then to set a new world land speed record in Utah. (Work has already started on a car and Campbell has said he would make the attempt to beat the land speed record of 394.196 m.p.h. held by Cobb if he broke the water record.)

The battle for greater speed was taken up by Campbell, whose father once held both the land and water speed records.

His first boat had been wrecked on Lake Coniston in 1951. In Bluebird II Campbell became the first man ever to break through the 200 m.p.h. "water barrier" and live when he achieved 202.32 m.p.h. in July, 1955.

A speed of more than 200 m.p.h. had only been reached previously by two men Cobb and Mario Verga, both of whom were killed when their craft disintegrated as they approached the unknown force of the "barrier".

Four months later, on Lake Mead, Nevada, Cambell put his own unbeaten record up to 216.2 m.p.h. The next year he achieved 225.63 m.p.h.

In November 1957 he beat his own record with his speed of 239.07 and again a year later with 248.62 m.p.h. It was this last record he broke recently.

Gets 99-Year Sentence for 1st Degree Burglary

DECATUR, Ala. (AP) — A circuit court jury last night convicted Willie James Sykes, a Negro, of first-degree burglary and sentenced him to 99 years in prison.

Sykes had been accused of breaking into the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. James David Crosswhite and getting into bed with the white couple.

There was no indication of an appeal.

Pending Merger Ups Oil Issues

NEW YORK (AP) — Texaco and Superior Oil of California were active and higher as the stock market pursued an uneven course in early trading today.

Changes of most key stocks were narrow, kept mostly within a 1-point range to the plus or minus side.

The "understanding" for a merger between Texaco and Superior Oil was the hottest news on Wall Street. The proposed basis would be the exchange of 24 shares of Texaco for each Superior Oil share outstanding.

Texaco opened unchanged at 75½ on a big block of 10,000 shares. Superior leaped 60 points to 1,780 on an opener of 70 shares.

Top-Level Talking on Steel Resumes

Four man teams representing the United Steelworkers Union of America and the 12 largest steel companies are seeking to reach agreement on terms for a new contract before the current three-year pact expires June 30.

If no agreement is reached by that date, there almost certainly will be a strike by 500,000 union members employed in plants that produce 90 per cent of the country's steel.

Asia is five times larger than all of Europe.

Buy, Sell Orders Are About Even

CHICAGO (AP)—Dealing in grain futures were at a fairly good rate during the first several minutes of activity today on the Board of Trade but orders to buy and sell were in about equal volume and the market showed little trend.

★ ★ ★

Rye and 1960 crop wheat contracts were firm. Other deliveries held within minor fractions of previous closes.

★ ★ ★

Dealers said there appeared to be a slight pickup in hedge selling of wheat but it still was described as well below the usual amount and this stage of the winter crop harvest.

★ ★ ★

Near the end of the first hour, however, prices had become strong in spots. Wheat was unchanged to ⅜ cent a bushel higher on the 1958 crop contracts, July $1.86⅝; the 1960 crop months up ⅝ to 1 cent; corn ⅛ lower to ½ higher, July $1.26½; oats unchanged to ⅝ higher, July new type contract 66½; rye ½ to 1¾ higher, July $1.26⅝; soybeans ½ to ¾ higher, July $2.23¾.

Accord Nearing on Jobless Pay

Dispute in Legislature Has Delayed Extended Benefits to 31,115

LANSING (AP) — Senate-House conferees today appeared headed toward reconciling an interchamber dispute that has tied up more than seven million dollars in jobless pay benefits due 31,115 unemployed persons.

The impasse, now in its 11th week, involves the so-called temporary unemployment compensation extension bill to bring qualified Michigan workers under benefit provisions of a federal enactment last spring.

Republicans and Democrats have disagreed on what to do about a State Supreme Court decision in January awarding 11,000 Detroit area Ford workers jobless pay for idleness stemming from a strike in Ford's Canton, Ohio, forge plant.

Republicans contended the decision would require employers to subsidize strikes against them out of unemployment compensation tax funds, and have stood for an outright bar in the bill against future applications of the January Supreme Court doctrine.

Democrats argued that something should be done to limit its possible effects but the GOP proposal went too far, and that while something satisfactory was figured out TUC should be passed without delay.

The first break in the long stalemate developed Wednesday when Democratic conferees offered some compromise language. Yesterday, Republicans led by Sen. John P. Smeekens (R-Coldwater) made a counter offer.

Both sides expressed hope of getting together next week.

Timely Course in Geography

MSUO Summer Class to Spotlight Russia's Role in World Affairs

"Geography of the Soviet Union" will be offered as a special feature of the summer school program of extension courses being presented by Michigan State University through Michigan State University Oakland.

According to Dr. Lowell Eklund, director of continuing education, the course will cover the physical and human geography of the U. S. S. R. with particular emphasis on its resulting role in world affairs.

★ ★ ★

"We are particularly pleased to be able to offer this course to the Oakland-Macomb community this summer," Eklund stated.

"It is not only a very timely course from the point of view of current international affairs, but Professor Edward Prophet, the course lecturer, is a nationally recognized expert in his field.

The course meetings will be held from 7 to 10 p.m. on Monday and Wednesday evenings for one month commencing June 22.

Bicycle Licenses Issued Saturday

Due to the shortage of manpower, Waterford Township Police will not license bicycles tomorrow, according to Chief Millard L. Pender.

Licenses will be issued the following Saturday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Board of Education offices on Walton boulevard for people living inthe Jayno Adams-Drayton Plains school area, he said.

Pender pointed out that if bikes are used after dark it is necessary to have lights and reflectors. However, a bike must be equipped with a warning bell or horn, and no sirens are permitted in the township.

Iran, in southwest Asia, was called Persia until 1935.

Open Drive to Solve Fiscal Woes

State Citizens Hold Rally

EAST LANSING (UPI)—Two hundred citizens staged a mass meeting today to open a drive for solutions to fiscal woes of crisis-weary Michigan.

The citizens, recruited by American Motors President George Romney, sought to overcome the "lack of objective political leadership" they say will drive Michigan from riches to rags.

Another 100 unable to attend said they hope to join the "Citizens For Michigan" movement started in 51 cities where taxpayers fear Michigan's political and fiscal chaos will jeopardize the state's future.

Only three out of 300 citizens invited to the rally said they wanted no part of the organization.

The organization said it wanted no part of anyone not "free from political affiliation and economic self-interest."

★ ★ ★

Other politicians said the group got off on the wrong foot by ignoring the facts of Michigan's political strife.

The meeting was called as the state's unpaid bills piled higher and higher.

Nasty News Shield Drops Fast at MSU

EAST LANSING (AP)—Annoyance of Michigan State University officials over publicity given a run of embarrassing campus incidents led to a clampdown on news by campus police. But it was short lived.

MSU police eased off a refusal to confirm a $1,000 burglary in a campus golf course building in a matter of a few hours yesterday. Their reticence was blamed on crossed wires within university channels.

Campus police refused an account of the theft more than 12 hours after it occurred late Wednesday. Meanwhile, State Police provided the report customary in such cases.

Although the university has yet to announce disciplinary action, eight participants were hauled in by East Lansing City Police. Six were fined for disorderly conduct and too are awaiting trial.

Then on Wednesday came the revelation that a student ring had been caught selling final examinations stolen from faculty offices. Dr. John A. Hannah, MSU president, read about it in the newspapers.

Only the day before, Sen. Elmer R. Porter (R-Blissfield), Senate appropriations chairman and a key figure in MSU's current drive for a bigger operating budget, privately chided Hannah over the handling of last week's disorders.

Porter acknowledged that he told the university president that if he had been in charge some students would have been expelled from school for their part in what he called the "riots."

After learning of the exam thefts, Hannah Wednesday night ordered just such punishment for participants in the theft ring. He also ordered automatic flunks for students who used stolen exams.

James H. Denison, Hannah's administrative assistant, denied a report that the president directed campus police in the future to clear information through his office.

'INTERNAL UNHAPPINESS'

"The president said only that when something happens he or somebody else on the administrative staff should be told before reading it in the newspapers.

"I was told to talk to the police and work out a system which would satisfy everyone," he said.

Before noon yesterday, some newsmen received telephone calls from an MSU information officer offering any information available on the safe looting.

STILL SMILING — Lewis L. Strauss was still able to smile at breakfast this morning despite the Senate's dramatic 49-46 rejection of him as secretary of commerce. The vote which came shortly after midnight was the first turndown by the Senate of a presidential nominee since 1925. Strauss' chief information officer, Albert H. Leman, said the former head of the Atomic Energy Commission accepted the defeat "with not a whimper." Leman added that Strauss expressed gratitude for those who stuck by him.

Hitchcock Bans Wiggle to Create Sex Appeal

By EARL WILSON

★ ★ ★

"Oh, hello!" he said. "Just planning our first fall TV show. Bringing Lawrence Harvey over. It's the story of a chicken farmer who murders his girl friend and grinds her up into chicken food. It's a toothsome tale, a gastronomic treat!" He laughed merrily. "Would you like a drink?" He grinned evilly. "Maybe a hot girl sandwich?"

WILSON

"Thanks just oodles," we demurred. "We really came to ask how you de-ice a babe, how you sexize a cold chick."

"Ahh, yes, the Grace Kelly, Eva Marie Saint bit," he nodded. "I am supposed to have given them sex appeal. I only gave them some mystery—and I didn't permit them to wiggle."

"But we thought a real wiggly wiggle was sexy," we said, "and that you could say the same for a real waggly waggle."

"Oh, no, my dear fellow! That's too obvious. You must be more subtle." Hitchcock's mind flitted off to that ground-up girl down in the henhouse.

"Are you opposed to Marilyn Monroe wiggling?" we inquired.

"Oh, no, but I'd like to see Marilyn Monroe be just as sexy without wiggling. In a famous kissing scene in 'Notorious,'" he remembered, "I had Ingrid Bergman and Cary Grant talking about cooking and washing dishes. It's the contrapuntal approach."

We told Hitchcock that since he's made Eva Maine Saint sexy in "North by Northwest," maybe he had some ideas for Debbie Reynolds.

EVA MARIE

"Certainly! She's a rather lively little girl—slow up her tempo. All that vivacity and drive that's inside—let it come out some other way. Age her a little. Give her a little more languor . . ."

"Should she wiggle?" we asked.

★ ★ ★

"Nobody should wiggle!" he shouted. "It isn't sexy!" He must be right, too, because when we went to the door, he wiggled and so did we. Not that either of us had much choice.

Rescue Teams Aid Hurricane Victims in Miami

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) —Rescue teams gave a helping hand today to hundreds of persons driven from their homes by rains riding gale force winds and Miami's worst tornado in 34 years.

About 500 homes were damaged. Three houses were crushed by the whirling wind which struck suddenly Wednesday night.

★ ★ ★

Disaster survey teams, hampered by sightseers and a seven-inch rain, made a spot damage estimate of five million dollars. Most of it was to expensive homes north and south of the business district.

Police squads blocked off the damaged areas and warned they would shoot looters. They arrested eight suspects.

Police in Turnabout

WINOOSKI, Vt. (UPI) — Former police commissioner Ernest Seymour rejoined the force as a patrolman and is working under Chief Joseph Sprano, who was pounding a beat when Seymour headed the department.

Hospital Strike May End Soon

Tentative Settlement in Wage Dispute Reached in New York Meeting

NEW YORK (AP) — Tentative settlement of the six-week-old hospital strike was reached at a mediation meeting at City Hall today.

"The strike will be settled," said Mayor Robert F. Wagner, who had been sponsoring the peace talks.

The strikers — nonprofessional employes of seven hospitals — will vote Monday night on whether to accept the terms.

Wagner said union leaders had promised they would recommend acceptance to their members. The steering committee of the Greater New York Hospital Assn. said it would recommend approval by the managements of the struck hospitals.

★ ★ ★

The mayor said details of the agreement would not be made public until it is put before the strikers, members of Local 1199 of the Retail Drug Employes Union.

Hours earlier, Wagner had said the last block to agreement was the question whether the strikers would be rehired.

The strike was called by the union in its drive for recognition as collective bargaining agent for nurse's aides, orderlies, elevator operators, kitchen workers, and other housekeeping employes. Doctors and nurses were not involved.

The union, which claims to represent about 4,000 employes of the seven hospitals, says wages ranged as low as $25 a week. Most of the nonprofessional workers are Negroes, and Puerto Ricans.

The strike began six weeks ago today against Mount Sinai, Beth David, Beth Israel, Lenox Hill, Bronx, and Brooklyn Jewish Hospitals. It was extended to Flower and Fifth Avenue Hospital two weeks ago.

Kids Won't Have to Run When Ball Hits Window

NEW YORK (UPI)—Youngsters playing sandlot baseball can now run for home plate instead of the hills if they accidentally break a window, according to Frank C. Russell, president of a Columbiana, Ohio, window-making firm.

Russell said his firm guarantees free replacement, provided the youth carries a card from a Rusco dealer. About 500,000 of the cards are being handed out free this year, he said.

Playhouse 90 Topples to Level of Most Others

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UPI) —Last night Playhouse 90 got mixed up with the posh set and turned out a tosh play.

★ ★ ★

For the first time ths season, the CBS-TV drama showcase defected to film, reeling out 90 minutes of a movie which had been shot in England for theater consumption.

"Dark as the Night" it was called and a dark and murky piece of dramaturgy it was — stodgy at the start, muddy around the center, oozy at its close.

The story was one of those veddy British things about a wealthy chap who was running for Parliament, but whose wife was threatening to leave him, a bit of a fix, wot?

Just to complicate matters, his chauffeur was trying to kidnap his wife, his chauffeur's girlfriend was trying to rob his safe, a gossip columnist was trying to blackmail him, and his housemaid was hysterical.

"What a situation," said the chap midway. "Just . . . about . . . as . . . dark . . . as . . . the . . . night." Which summed it up all rather neatly, I thought.

Michael Wilding, Dennis Price and Michael Hordern were among the players thrown to the lines. The female involved was Laraine Day. She looked properly distraught and I can't say I blame her.

Yesterday morning, NBC-TV cut into its regular schedule to present some snippets of film cabled from London to North America.

★ ★ ★

The historic film was shown in a couple of sections — the first contained shots of London Airport and Buckingham Palace; the second offered Queen Elizabeth waving ta-ta to her mom and sister and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan at the airport. The footage had been shot about two hours before it was shown here.

Its quality was fairly good: the definition was a little misty, but all of its parts were quite recognizable, right down to the lumpy dress of the royal family.

Two years from now, according to an announcement on the special show, a new improved cable will be laid from Scotland to Newfoundland.

And in 1969, there should be something approaching an around-the-world cable.

The vistas this sort of thing opens giddys the senses. Think, for example, of a billion or so people all over the globe sitting down at once to watch American cultural contributions like Arthur Murray Party or the Price Is Right.

Who knows? — we may eventually end up numbing our enemies into submission.

THE CHANNEL SWIM: A soft drink sponsor has placed a verbal order with NBC-TV for 10 Sunday one-hour specials next season—there's a good chance that Mitch Miller will emcee the musical shows . . . CBS-TV's Twentieth Century will shoot two of its offerings in Poland and Japan this summer — the tentative titles: "Poland Today" and "The Changing Face of Japan."

Wants to Halt Tampering With Huron River

Hubbard Seeks Action in Pond Draining

Dearborn's Mayor Orville L. Hubbard has threatened to seek an Oakland County Circuit Court injunction against James Robbins, owner of Milford's emptied millponds, "to halt the alternate draining and flooding of the Huron river which runs for three-quarters of a mile along the eastern boundary of Camp Dearborn."

By closing the privately-owned dam on the river, Robbins "has been destroying fish and wildlife, and the scenic shoreline," Hubbard claimed.

Robbins owns and controls the main dam on the Huron River which forms the boundary line for Camp Dearborn. He has maintained that the reason for opening the flood gates of three Milford pond dams, as well as the Huron River structure, was for insurance inspection.

It has been 10 weeks since the flood gates were opened, leaving gapping mud-holes in the town and reducing the river to a trickling stream, Hubbard said. "Robbins could have made a dozen inspections by now," he said.

In directing City Attorney Ralph B. Guy, Jr. to compile evidence for court action, Hubbard said Robbins has been engaged in this "modern-day water torture all spring, apparently just to disturb the rights of others to enjoy the use of the Huron River."

No definite date has been set for the petition filing, according to Dearborn's director of public information, Alex Pilch. He said Guy has been ill and the matter temporarily shelved until he returns to his job.

Guy has filed a formal complaint with the Michigan Water Resources Commission and the State Department of Conservation. He said he also will report Robbins' action to the Army Corps of Engineers, which has supervision over navigable waters.

Robbins, who heads 32 different industrial commodity corporations throughout United States and Europe, has indicated he would like to land-fill the Milford ponds and sell the land for a proposed shopping center.

Told of the threatened injunction, Robbins said:

"This is the first time I have heard about any possible court proceedings. However, I would be most happy to be added to the distinguished list of poeple who have been in litigation with Mr. Hubbard at one time or another."

Planes Help Aussies Meet Vacation Urge

MELBOURNE (UPI) — To at least one travel-conscious continent the tourist season presents an awkward problem. When it's vacation time at one end, it's over at the other.

Somehow, upwards of 200,000 Australians each year solve this knotty problem merely by boarding a plane and proceeding east or west as the case may be, to arrive in the opposite season.

Those trying to escape the hot Australian summer leave in the spring, when it's fall in the northern hemisphere. Others, with more time and money on their hands, slip out in winter time to take in the European summer.

Nowadays, most travel by air, if only because this cuts a seven-week sea voyage down to a mere 65 hours, the time it takes to cover the 12,000 miles from Sydney to London stretch. This will be reduced to 28 hours flying time come fall and the jetliners.

Australia's own globe-girdling airliner, Qantas, today carries 130,000 Australians per year to foreign lands and each year the number grows.

As a result, ties between the Continent Down Under and the outside world are becoming stronger as more immigrants arrive to make it their home. Not long ago, the 1,000,000th post-war immigrant from Europe crossed the threshold into Australia.

Bob Considine Says:

U.S. Doctor to Care for Vietnamese Lepers

NEW YORK—Did you beef about having to help a friend in need today? If so, let Dr. Patricia Smith of Seattle, Wash., unconsciously shame you.

Dr. Smith leaves Seattle tonight on Northwest Orient Airlines flight No. 1. Her destination is a leprosarium outside Kontum in the north central Haut Plateau of Viet Nam. She may or may not contact the disease.

But her chief concern as she left, to work among primitive and stricken people who will not understand either her motive or her medicine, was how to acquire a station wagon to use as a mobile clinic.

Patricia Smith wanted to be a reporter, and entered Seattle University with that in mind. But during her years of studying the "who, when, where and whats" of newswriting she was haunted by an article she had read in her final year in high school.

★ ★ ★

The article concerned Dr. Ignaz Philipp Semmelweis, the Hungarian physician who first introduced aseptic methods into obstetrics, a contribution which has saved the lives of millions of mothers and children.

In 1945, sophomore Smith turned pre-med. By 1951 she was in the University of Washington School of Medicine determined ". . . to do something which contributes to the rest of the world."

She interned for a year at Cincinnati general, then plunged into work in a desperately needy locale, the coal-mining town of McDowell, Ky. With that experience under her belt, young Dr. Smith decided to enter private practice. A measure of wealth and fame awaited her.

Fate promptly intervened. Vietnamese children who have never heard of Dr. Smith will live because fate did intrude.

Last summer she learned of the existence of the Grail, an international organization of women dedicated to missionary work at home and in mission countries.

DISCOVERS NEEDS

Dr. Smith took a summer course at the national headquarters of the organization, in Loveland, Ohio. She discovered there medical needs in the world that, as she said later, "made eastern Kentucky look luxurious by comparison." Soon she was enrolled in an overseas course at Grain Center, Brooklyn.

On the other side of the world, another good woman needed help. A French nun named Sister Marie Louise of the Order of St. Vincent de Paul had spent years working among Vietnamese lepers.

The tireless, courageous woman had wrought many miracles, one of which was to persuade the Viet Nam government to build her a settlement of wooden houses on stilts for the lepers, plus a stocked dispensary, a kindergarten, preventorium, and a nursery for non-infected children of lepers.

She worked mostly alone, moving from village to village by jeep, dugout, horseback and foot, inducing poor leprous wretches to accept treatment or journey to the leprosarium. It was endless, backbreaking, often disheartening work, performed under vile conditions and fraught with shocking danger.

REQUESTED HELP

She could use aid, so she presented her request to the Bishop of Kontum, who turned it over to a Maryknoll Missionary named Paul Duchesne, who in turn wrote to the Grail asking for "a girl or two, not necessarily professional people, who would like to give some years to the leprosarium in Kontum."

★ ★ ★

Patricia Smith accepted as if it were an offer of a raise in pay.

Before leaving, Dr. Smith, who wanted to be a reporter, reported my work . . . trying to make the natives understand that we do have something to treat leprosy with and that we can help them.

"The fondest hope and wish of Sister Marie Louise, I know, is to have a station wagon mobile clinic. You can get just so far with a supply-limited jeep.

"To be able to give treatment on the spot is of the gravest importance. A mobile clinic would allow traveling for several days with sufficient facilities to treat patients in many villages at one time. We could sleep in it at night . . ."

How about that?

Triplets Don't Stop Girl From Getting Diploma

REDLANDS, Calif. (AP)—Linda Sue Voss has a few things the other 469 graduates at Redlands High School don't have: triplets.

"Today is just about the proudest day of my life," said Linda, who gets her diploma today. "Nobody around here thought I'd make it through school."

At the time Linda was about to enter her senior year. She was determined to graduate, so the school agreed to continue her instruction at home.

"It's been tough all right," she added, "but you never know what you can do until you have to. And mister, we have to!"

Linda got two As and one B on her final report card. She proudly emphasizes that she was taking a stiff, college preparatory course.

Now that she has her diploma, does Linda plan to call it quits, academically speaking?

Linda says she has no intention of resting on her sheepskin. She and her husband are planning to get college degrees.

State Senate Receive Iron Ore Plant Bill

LANSING (AP) — A House-approved bill sought by prospective operators of low-grade iron ore plants appeared on the Senate calendar today after committee doctoring designed to remedy constitut9onal objections.

Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams ruled that as it left the House the bill was defeative in that it provided an objectionable basis for taxing production facilities during the construction phase of the costly plants.

As amended, the bill by Rep. Louis Mezzano (D-Wakefiel would apply only a 2 per cent specific tax on production in lieu of all ad vaorem (property taxes.

During the construction phase, the tax would be figured on rated production at full scae operatio but only in proportion in any year to the percentage of completion of the plant.

Korean Children Unearth Huge U.S. Ammo Supply

SEOUL (AP) — Two children discovered an underground cache containing enough U.S. Army ammunition to supply an infantry regiment for three days.

The children reported to military police. The ammunition will be taken to a remote area and demolished underground, the Army said.
