ALL YEAR-COSTUME — This young lady is prepared for any kind of weather. The bathing suit tells how many of us felt with yesterday's record-breaking mildness. The scarf is a start on what we'll need if the prediction of colder next week comes true. 58 Degrees in City Friday Sets New 62-Year Record

Somewhat colder temperatures are due in the Pontiac area for the next few days, the U. S. Weather Bureau reports.

Showers ended early this morning and temperatures dropped. Tonight will be partly cloudy and colder with a low of 26-30 degrees.

Sunday will also be partly cloudy and colder with a high of 38-42.

A 62-year-old record was broken yesterday when the mercury reached a high of 58 in downtown Pontiac. This was 2 degrees above the record set Dec. 20, 1895.

The lowest temperature preceding 8 a. m. recorded in downtown Pontiac was 35. The reading at 1 p. m. was 41.

Luke Discovers Angel's Message to Virgin Mary

Were it not for the gospel of Luke, the world would not possess the powerfully moving words spoken between Mary and the messenger of the Lord at the Annunciation. There is reason to believe Luke received the information directly from Mary. Here is how the interview may have come about.

By GEORGE CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

Only a mother knows the measure of that greatest drama: The bringing into the world of a new child.

No other could realize the yearnings, the anxieties and uncertainties, the tremendous joys and high dreams of bestowing life. No other but God.

So it was that the perceptive physician Luke, in his project to trace the genesis of Jesus, turned his course toward Mary. He walked rapidly, astir with hope.

It was about 20 miles from Nazareth to Capernaum, past undulating fields, vineyards and clusters of acacias and yew trees. Oxen-pulled carts, loaded with autumn's final crops, trundled along the road.

Luke glanced at the gray sky. Winter's rains soon would be starting. Smoke hung over the farm houses, and from within the rock pens came shouts, and the bleating of sheep getting a last shearing of the year.

SEARCHED FOR MARY

If Mary still lived, she would be in her 70s now. Almost 30 years before, her Son had made His tremendous sacrifice for man. Luke prayed silently. Grant that he might find her. . . she could reveal so much.

Part Time Santa Faces Bad Yule After Losing Suit

DENVER (INS)—Walter Waddington faces a bleak Christmas unless he can get back his Santa Claus costume.

Waddington told police he hurriedly drove away from the parking lot near the discount house where he is employed as a part-time Santa.

It was later he realized he had left the suit lying on top of the auto. Retracing his route, he found the empty box but not the costume.

The rig, rented from a Denver firm, costs up to $100.

Ike Steps Up Efforts to Put Teeth in Policy

Fill-Ins From Top Aides Arm Him to Prepare NATO Speech

WASHINGTON (INS)—President Eisenhower is expected today to step up the pace of the administration's efforts to put teeth in the "peace-through-strength" strategy framed at the NATO Paris meeting.

The President set the stage for the intensified drive when he held a whirlwind round of talks with top aides on budgetary, legislative and diplomatic moves shortly after he returned yesterday from Paris.

Armed with their fill-ins, he will knuckle down to the immediate task of preparing the radio-TV report that he and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles will deliver to the nation Monday night. Dulles, who went from Paris to Madrid for a brief conference with Generalissimo Franco yesterday, is scheduled to return to Washington today. There was no immediate indication whether he will go to the White House after his arrival.

Army Delivers 'Greeting' Card to Elvis Presley

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Elvis Presley reports Jan. 20 for induction into the Army—unless Hollywood manages to have it put off for eight weeks.

"I'm kinda proud of it," he said with a cheerful wink. "It's a duty I've got to fill and I'm going to do it. Daddy's always told me to be a good soldier or bust."

There was no cheer at Paramount. In Hollywood, studio head Y. Frank Freeman said if Presley can't show up as scheduled Jan. 13, the studio will lose $300,000 already spent in preparing to film "King Creole."

And there was nothing cheerful about the situation to Presley's manager, Tom Parker of Nashville, Tenn., who said the draft notice would cost Presley-half a million dollars in gross income immediately.

He estimated that the government would lose at least half a tax, not to mention the cost of Presley's upkeep.

'Dangerous Snipers' Only Target Practicing

Scared School Boys Terrorize Area

Three scared schoolboys turned out to be the "dangerous snipers" that scores of police officers believed were terrorizing the countryside southwest of Pontiac for more than two hours yesterday afternoon.

The boys, finally picked up in Pontiac shortly after 4 p. m., said simply, "We were just having a little rifle practice. We weren't doing anything wrong, were we?"

LECTURED BY POLICE

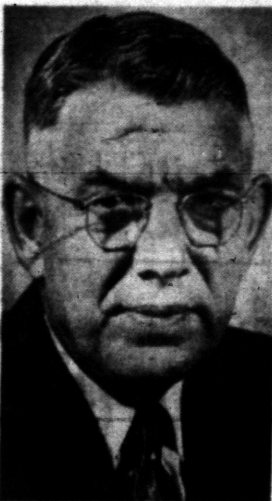

Police agreed, gave them a lecture, sent them home, and then sat down to ponder how "a little rifle practice" had mushroomed into an alert that involved state police, the sheriff's department and local police all the way from Pontiac to Wyandotte.

The boys, two age 15 and one age 16, had the afternoon off from

Soviet Government Asking U.N. Session on Weapons

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet government called today for a special session of the United Nations or an international conference to discuss disarmament.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko said disarmament talks could pave the way for an East-West summit conference.

Addressing Russia's Parliament, Gromyko apparently rejected a foreign ministers meeting Thursday by the 15 NATO nations.

The West has consistently blocked all disarmament efforts in the U.N., Gromyko said, and

Police Seize Driver as Robbery Suspect

Thug Threatens Employees in West Huron Street Unit of Community National

By PETE LOCHBILER

An armed bandit held up the West Huron Street branch of the Community National Bank last night and escaped with more than $7,000 after holding a teller and a guard at bay with two guns.

A suspect subsequently was arrested by Michigan State Police and held last night on a charge of investigation of armed robbery.

It was Pontiac's first bank robbery in three years and the first at the Community National or any of its eight Oakland County branches, including the West Huron branch founded in 1950.

The bandit, described as unshaven and shabbily dressed, entered the branch bank at 994 W. Huron St., Waterford Township, about 7:58 p. m. and proceeded to the nearest teller cage on the southwest side of the building.

There he thrust a check at the teller, Mrs. Virginia Graham, and said simply, "Cash it."

Mrs. Graham, alarmed at the man's beard and dirty shirt, was preparing to give the alarm, she said, when the bandit suddenly pulled out a pistol in one hand and thrust a large brown paper bag at her with the other, saying, "Fill it."

Faced by the gun, Mrs. Graham, of 2594 DePew St., West Bloomfield Township, began to stuff currency into the bag.

At that moment the bank guard, Adam Kimpel, rushed over demanding, "What's going on here?" The bandit whirled around and, keeping the one gun trained on Mrs. Graham, pulled out another and aimed it at Kimpel.

"You don't come another step," he told Kimpel, brandishing the gun in the guard's face. "And you keep on filling that bag and hurry it up," he said to Mrs. Graham. Both guns were identified as .38-caliber revolvers.

When the bag was filled, the thug retreated backwards toward the door, training his two guns on the employees and hugging the sack of money between his elbows.

"You just keep still," he said, as he retreated out the nearest door at the front entrance and escaped on foot.

FBI ON THE CASE

Police described the man as between 30 and 40 years of age, about 5 feet 9 and weighing between 150 and 170 pounds. They said he was wearing a light felt hat and tan trenchcoat.

The FBI joined local officers and State Police on the case last night.

Bank officials said there were about eight customers present and 20 employees, out of which only (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

75,000 Facing Auto Layoffs

Glutted Car Market Forces Ford, Chrysler Shutdowns

DETROIT (AP)—An overproduction of cars will result in temporary layoffs of about 75,000 auto workers during the holidays.

Chrysler Corp. and Ford Motor Co. will curtail production by shutting down plants longer than usual during the holiday period.

General Motors Corp. plans no extended shutdowns. The company said plant managers have the option locally of adjusting schedules.

All the shutdowns were described as an attempt to balance supply with demand. Too many cars have been going to market at a time when Christmas shoppers are in a conservative mood.

At the same time, auto executives sounded a note of optimism.

Chrysler's President L. L. Colbert said his firm is experiencing its third best sales year. George Romney, president of American Motors Corp., said his firm is now making money after running in the red for its past fiscal year.

2 Youths Get 30 Days, $100 Fines

Bomb Hoax Leads to Jail

DETROIT (AP)—Two teenage youths who caused a bomb scare at Van Buren Township School in Belleville Wednesday were under 30-day jail sentences and $100 fines today.

Justice of the Peace Harry A. Agge of Belleville sentenced Richard Coleman, 17, of Belleville and Byron Michling, 18, of New Baltimore, Thursday night. The two admitted calling the school and reporting a bomb had been planted there.

The school's 2,700 pupils were sent home. A search revealed no bomb. The two youths, arrested for questioning with a number of others, admitted the hoax.

School Board Suit Concluded

Federal Court Action by Milton Henry Claims Segregation in City

By HAROLD COHEN

A stream of witnesses yesterday concluded the suit of Pontiac attorney Milton Henry against the Pontiac Board of Education in federal court in Detroit.

Federal Judge Theodore Levin gave both sides eight weeks to file briefs and took the case under advisement. He promised a speedy decision after briefs are filed.

Among those that testified were Superintendent Dana P. Whitmer, board members Rev. J. Allen Parker and Louis Schimmel, Edward Turner, attorney and president of the Michigan and Detroit NAACP chapters, and Everett Spurlock, director of the Pontiac Urban League.

Through the witnesses, Henry and his law partner, Herman Stallings, attempted to show that the school board:

1. By shifting of attendance boundaries and in the location of new buildings was concentrating Negroes in a few schools and keeping others all white.

2. Was discriminatory in the hiring and placement of Negro teachers.

3. Violated its policy by allowing white students living on the edge of the Jefferson Junior High attendance area to attend Eastern Junior High.

MOVED CLASSES

4. Transported classes of students from overcrowded Whittier School to McConnell School in a barge and kept them segregated from the white McConnell pupils.

Attorneys for the school board sought to prove:

1. That the school board located new buildings and drew attendance lines strictly in accordance with student convenience and safety and without regard to race, color or creed.

ADHERE STRICTLY

2. That its policy of students attending the school within whose area they live is strictly adhered to.

3. That great progress has been made in the past 10 years in hiring and placement of Negro teachers.

Judge Levin outlined his stand on the case several times. He said that if the board of education was maintaining patterns of segregation he would enjoin the practice. But, he said, he had seen no law which held that a northern school board must juggle attendance boundaries to promote integration, as Henry contended.

He asked Henry to produce with his brief a map showing the southern part of the Pontiac school district re-divided in accordance with his belief that boundaries could be changed to aid integration.

Board members and administrators who testified admitted that the board was not promoting pupil integration, but said they were not deliberately hindering it.

They maintained they paid no attention to racial questions in determining policy and making decisions.

Tip: Use of Christmas Trees

Fire Free Holidays Happy Ones

Keep the holiday season a happy one by making it fire safe.

This is the advice and plea of Pontiac Fire Marshall Charles E. Metz and Clyde R. Haskill, chairman of the traffic and safety committee of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce.

Metz claims that the majority of house fires occur during this time of year, especially throughout the holiday season.

To help prevent a home disaster, Metz urges that Christmas trees be kept in water.

"Even though they are cut, they still absorb water. The big tree tree, and the branches and needles will remain moist.

Metz warned holiday decorators not to use flammable decorations. He added that only approved electric lights which have a "UL" (Underwriters Laboratories) on each light should be used. Candles should never be used on the tree, he added.

Put the tree in a good sturdy stand that will not tip over and injure anyone and make sure the stand is the type that will hold water, Haskill said.

"It is essential that all Christmas tree lights be checked to insure that none of the wires are frayed," according to Haskill.

Don't put the tree near direct heat. This will prevent the tree from drying and also the needles from falling. Also, move all ash trays and portable heaters away from the tree.

Metz warned residents should not burn the lights unless some adult is home.

He concluded that the wrappings from the gifts should be picked up immediately to prevent a fire starting from a heater, fireplace or careless smoker.

Russians Propose U. N. Arms Session

China—should take part in disarmament talks.

That Assembly session increased the U.N. Disarmament Commission to 25 members but Russia had declared she will boycott the Commission.

A subcommittee of the Commission became stalemated last summer when Russia refused to accept Western disarmament plans and the West countered that Soviet disarmament suggestions would not provide safeguards to insure that Russia complied.

Speaking after Gromyko, Communist Party boss Nikita Khrushchev called for an East-West summit conference "to solve all the problems that trouble humanity, including disarmament."

Khrushchev said the West should sign a no-war agreement with the Soviet Union.

Khrushchev, dressed in a blue suit with blue and white striped tie, spoke earnestly and with considerable emotion. He was interrupted repeatedly by applause.

"We tell the United States to abandon its policy of positions of strength," the pudgy party boss said. "Let us solve our problems by peaceful means on the basis of equality."

"Let us outlaw war."

Khrushchev said if the United States and Russia could reach an agreement without prejudice to the interests of other countries, "good results for peace will be achieved." To reach an agreement, he said:

William Webster of the New England Electric System, Jerome B. Wiesner of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and John J. Conson of McKinsey & Co.

ODM Director Gray, when asked about the report, has declined even to acknowledge its existence.

However, the White House has done that much.

Some officials are known to believe that the persistent leaks of the purported contents are a deliberate attempt to build public support for the all-out program recommended by the Gaither group, and thereby to prod the administration into action.

Thug Takes $7,700 From Branch Bank

Mrs. Graham, Kimpel and two other women tellers realized that a holdup was taking place.

The two tellers nearest Mrs. Graham had pressed their alarm buttons connected with Pontiac Police headquarters, but before officers could arrive the bandit had already escaped.

The bank's parking lot attendant, A. W. Gault of 406 S. Avery Rd., said he saw the bandit running wildly around the building, circling through the parking lot to the east and then around in back toward Tilden street, where his car was parked.

Gault followed the bandit and saw him speed north on Tilden in his car to Elizabeth Lake road, where Gault believed he turned east toward Pontiac.

ALSO SAW FLIGHT

Just before Gault witnessed this, an Oakland County sheriff's deputy, Donald Kraft, who had been dining at restaurant across Tilden from the bank, left the restaurant and also saw a car speeding north.

Both Gault and Kraft were able to furnish identification of the car as about 1946 vintage and black. MORE

As a result, Harold Dudley, 28, was arrested in a car fitting the description that was headed south on Telegraph road south of Maple road shortly after 9:15 p.m.

Dudley was taken by Redford State Police troopers to the bank, where Mrs. Graham and Kimpel robber, State Police Det. Charles Leaf said.

Dudley, who denied the crime and said he had come from Canton, Ky., only two days ago to find a job here, nevertheless was held as a suspect in this and other area crimes, Leaf added.

NO GUNS FOUND

When arrested, Dudley had no guns in his car and only $1.02 on his person, according to Waterford Township Police.

Township Police Capt. Millard Pender said the loss had been fixed last night at $7,720, but the amount might become greater as final checking continued today. Bank officials said the loss was "about $7,000."

Kimpel, a former Pontiac police lieutenant who specialized in identification procedures, said he had covered armed robberies before but had never been a principal investigator in one. Kimpel retired in 1952.

The bank's vice president, W. E. Cashin, believed the robbery had been planned as a "one operation and get out quick" job.

"The bandit held up the No. 1 cashier, about 10 feet from the door, and then left without bothering our 16 other cashiers in the bank, all of whom had comparable sums of money in their cages," he said.

The loss, Cashin said, was fully insured. The bank opened as usual at 9 a.m. today.

Proposal 'Step Ahead'

PARIS (INS) — NATO officials said today Soviet proposals for a new East-West disarmament talks "seem some sort of a step forward" but still fall short of the minimum Western requirement for security.

2 Counties Join to Review Plans

Oakland and Macomb to Confer Monday on MSU, Pipeline

Oakland and Macomb County Boards of Supervisors will meet jointly for the first time Monday in Pontiac to consider two important projects affecting both areas.

Previews will be presented of the planned $2 million Michigan State University branch college near Rochester and the $131,360, 000 Lake Huron pipeline proposed by the Southeastern Michigan Water Authority.

Speaking before the 9:30 a.m. meeting in the Oakland County Office Building will be Dr. D. B. Varner, MSU vice president, and Howard K. Kelley, Royal Oak mayor and water authority chairman.

The special session is an unofficial one, arranged by Harold A. Fitzgerald, chairman of the two-county MSU advisory committee. Following the session, Oakland supervisors will convene into a regular meeting.

The university is expected to detail plans being finalized for a new building on the grounds of the $10 million Meadow Brook estate, donated to the school by Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson.

It has been projected that the school would have facilities for up to 1,000 students, drawn mostly from the northern sections of the two counties.

Kelley will present the final $116,000 report of the Bechtel Corp., a San Francisco firm acting as the water authority's engineering consultants.

The report states that the project is feasible from both engineering and economic standpoints.

Involved is a 96-inch pipeline from north of Port Huron to a treatment and storage plant in Utica.

From there, water would be pumped out to Pontiac, Utica, Rochester, Mount Clemens and other contracting cities in the northern parts of both counties. Oakland and Macomb set up the water authority and advanced the money for the Bechtel report.

Junior Editors Quiz on Christmas

QUESTION: Why is the Nativity scene important in the history of art?

ANSWER: From the earliest days of the Christian era, artists have been fascinated by the humble, inspiring scene of the Mother and Child in the crude stable at Bethlehem. In addition, the angels and shepherds, the three kings from the East, the bright star shining down on Bethlehem—all these details provided a tremendous range for the display of both artistic talent and devotion. The story, as told by Matthew and Luke, has been beloved through the ages, and the urge to illustrate it has gripped many of the world's greatest artists and produced some of art's greatest treasures. Madonnas, as representations of the Mother and Child are called, have been done in oils, mosaics, marble, granite and almost every other imaginable art material. Rubens and Rembrandt painted famous Nativity scenes; so did Botticelli, Murillo, Raphael, El Greco and Michelangelo. Artists in each age picture it differently, but all find it a source of tremendous inspiration.

FOR YOU TO DO: This is the final installment in the Junior Editors Christmas quiz. You now have a complete creche to assemble and display under your Christmas tree. Color, mount in cardboard, cut out and assemble the figures as suggested in yesterday's outline, or make up your own groupings. If by chance you missed the diagram showing how the pieces fit together or any other parts in this Christmas series, try to get hold of back issues of your newspaper to complete the set.

(Have you a good question? Mail it on a postcard to Mrs. Violet Moore Higgins, care of this newspaper. It may win $10. Monday: Are bears the only animals that hibernate?)

Confident Living

In Cathedral or Lowly Hut Christmas Is in the Heart

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

This is a story told by the late Queen Marie of Romania and it comes from a small village where the people were so poor that the only church they could afford was a ramshackle wooden building from which all the paint had long since withered away.

The village stood at the edge of the forest and, on the other side of the forest was a town far richer than the poor little village. It boasted a beautiful new church with fine bells and a gold altar. And, somehow, the people of the village came to believe that prayers said in the church in town were much more likely to reach the ear of God than prayers said in their own poor little church.

But the path from the village to town was not an easy one and, even worse, halfway through the forest it passed a well which had the reputation of being haunted. No one passed it without throwing a coin into it as an offering; it was said that if you did not do this, a creature from the well would drag you down into it and you would never be seen again.

One bitterly cold, dark night—a Christmas Eve—a little boy hurried along that path to town. He had no coins at all; he carried only a small taper and five matches. Back in the village, his widowed mother was dying and he hoped to light his taper on the altar of the beautiful church in town and pray that her life might be saved.

The boy had never gone to the town alone before, let alone at night. And there had always been a coin for the haunted well. Now, as he approached it, he hugged the trees on the other side. Perhaps he would not be noticed.

HEARS MOAN, VOICE

But as he passed the well, a moan came from it. He started to run but tripped on a root and was thrown to its very edge, looking down into its mysterious depth. A voice came up at him, a shrill child's voice: "Help me out! Help me out! If you throw me down your taper and matches I can see my way."

The boy gasped, wondering how the voice knew about his taper and matches, and replied: "I can't. The candle is for my mother. She is dying and I must light this on the altar of the big church so that she can get well."

"Who will miss your candle in that church?" the voice asked. "There are many burning there now. Give it to me instead."

"But I can't; it's the only one I have. If my mother dies, I'll be an orphan, all alone. I must take it to the church."

The voice from the well took on a pleading note: "This is the night of Christ's birth; in His name I ask you. Give me your taper. Can you refuse what I ask in His name on His night?"

COULD NOT REFUSE

The boy thought for a minute and was overcome with grief. He knew that he could not refuse, even if it meant that his mother might die. He threw the candle and matches into the well and fell weeping on his knees.

Suddenly the air was filled with music and light, and there, stepping out of the well before him, was the Christ Child holding the little taper in His hand. But from that lighted taper came a light that seemed great enough to light the whole world.

"Go back home," said the Child. "Your mother is waiting for you. I will take your candle to church."

The boy ran home as though he had wings on his feet. And there was his mother up out of bed and waiting for him, as though she had never been ill. He fell into her arms and hugged her and they both cried.

Later, they went to the village church together to give thanks. The old building looked as decrepit as ever, but when they entered it was filled with light. Yet only one little taper burned at the altar and from it came a radiance that filled the church with beauty. And, as the boy stared at the little taper, he realized that it was his own.

For love is only a little taper, yet it lights the whole world. Never does it burn to bright as at Christmas when it reminds us of the words that celebrated the birth of the Child Jesus: "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men."

Let this candle burn in your heart and light it in the hearts of others and we can be sure that this Christmas—and all the Christmases to come—God will bless us, every one. (Copyright, 1957)

Loneliness of Workers

Automation Problem

EAST LANSING, Mich. (INS)—A Michigan State University survey reveals that most workers prefer automated jobs in industry but express a slight distaste because such work "makes them feel lonely."

MSU researchers found workers in plants with automation isolated from their "buddies" and miss the socialization.

William A. Faunce of State's department of sociology and anthropology said his interviewers talked with 125 workers in four large, highly automated automobile plants in Detroit.

Though on Top in TV, Jill Wants to Do Movie

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — "I'm seen by 20,000,000 people a week on television and it's great and it's gratifying," said the lovely "Hit Parade" doll, Jill Corey, "but I don't know why . . . It may be the glamour connected with it. Anyway, I'd like to do a movie. That's my big dream."

WILSON

Jill at 22 has had a lot of great moments. She's been on the cover of Life, has had two smash records ("Love Me to Pieces" and "I Love My Baby"), has "dated" Frank Sinatra about a year, and has been told she looks like Gene Tierney — pretty good for a Pennsylvania coal miner's daughter.

"Frank," said Jill, "tried to do things for me in Hollywood. He sent me to see Solly Blano, the talent man at Warners. I guess Mr. Blano wasn't too impressed. I never heard from him. Anyway, maybe I wasn't ready then. I think I'm ready, though, right now!"

A snapping-eyed little gal of 5-feet-4 whose real name is Norma Jean Speranza ("I was named after Norma Shearer"), Jill was singing for $5 a night with an Avonmore, Pa., dance band when a friend sent some tape recordings of her singing to Columbia Records' Mitch Miller.

"Two weeks later I had offers from Arthur Godfrey, Dave Garroway, a record contract, and was on the cover of Life. That was '53."

THE WEEKEND WINDUP

Come Jack Carter zooms to the $7,500-a-week class Dec. 20 in Miami. . . "Romanoff and Juliet" cost $17,000 to produce in London; the identical show on Broadway cost $75,000. The Four Lads may be the first of the popular quartets to get their own TV set. . . Jayne Mansfield and Erin O'Brien will join Bob Hope's GI tour. Jane says breathily, "I love soldier audiences — they're all men."

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: A Texas oil man's giving each of his friends a cheap radio for Christmas — but each one's in a Cadillac. That's earl, brother.

Coaches Unhappy Over 'Sudden Death'

Wilson, Albert Claim Playoff Ruling Unfair

Interest High in San Francisco for NFL's 'Showdown' Tilt

SAN FRANCISCO — The big playoff game between the San Francisco 49ers and the Detroit Lions in the Western Conference of the National Football League is just a day away and excitement here has reached fever pitch.

The 49ers had a narrow squeak yesterday when halfback Joe Arenas was shaken up in a four-car collision. But their hopes jumped today as the 34-year-old star made practice and said he would "rattle and roll" Sunday.

The sudden death playoff with a TV blackout in a 100 mile area around Kezar Stadium has caused considerable comment—most of it unhappy.

Even official Washington has taken a gander at the TV situation with the justice department looking for possible violations of anti-trust statutes.

And both the Lions and the 49ers expressed displeasure with the NFL decision that would force them into sudden death play if the regulation game ends in a tie.

But the fans are resourceful in the face of a sellout at 60,000 seats Kezar.

One enterprising group found out they could pick up the Chico, Calif., TV station signal atop the Fairmont Hotel on San Francisco's Nob Hill.

Main concern over the sudden death aspect of Sunday's game was the possibility one team might not get a chance at the ball offensively.

Forty-Niner coach Frankie Albert suggested a fifth "quarter" as opposed to rule 14 of the NFL. The rulebook calls for a three minute rest if there is a tie at the end of regulation play and then whichever team scores first will be the winner.

It will be that winner who meets the Cleveland Browns Dec. 29 for the league championship. Sunday's game will be telecast nationally (CBS), starting at 1 p.m. (PST).

Both teams have been holding secret drill and skill sessions in preparation for the game for which tickets became non-existent a few hours after they were placed on sale Monday.

Lapeer Wins in Overtime

Lapeer conquered Davison, 59-58, in an overtime basketball game Friday night at Lapeer for its 2nd victory of the season in four starts. Jerry Bennington, who paced Lapeer with 18 points, was the hero as he tallied all five overtime markers for the Panthers. The score was 54-54 at the end of regulation time.

Tar Heels, W. Va. Hit Finals

Dons in Bluegrass Windup

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
North Carolina's fabulous Tar Heels jump out of the Big 10 frying pan into a Southern Conference fire tonight as they continue their toughest 24 hours since the National Collegiate basketball championships last March.

They're past part one of the two-part puzzle sprung on them by the Kentucky Invitation at Lexington, a battling 73-67 decision over Minnesota's Big 10 Gophers in last night's opener.

Now it's on to the finals with West Virginia's unbeaten Southern Conference perennial blocking the top-ranked Tar Heels' way to the championship and their 38th straight victory.

West Virginia is eminently qualified after whipping host Kentucky 77-70 for its seventh straight.

Kansas, No. 2 in The Associated Press rankings, made it 6-0 last night with a 77-50 romp over Washington with Wilt Chamberlain scoring 37 for a season's total of 197 and a per game average of 32.8. That was the second game of a doubleheader at Lawrence, following a 58-44 victory for third-ranked Kansas State, now 6-0, over California.

Cincinnati, No. 4, continued its team challenge and the Bearcats' sprightly soph. Oscar Robertson, an individual bid in a 94-53 rout of North Texas. Robertson, runner-up to Chamberlain for scoring honors, boosted his average to 32.0 with 37 points.

The San Francisco Dons, seventh in the last reckoning, defeated Seattle, No. 12, behind Gene Brown 60-51 to reach the finals of the Blue Grass tournament at Louisville against the host Louisville Cardinals, 66-61 winners over Army.

Freshman Jackie Moreland's two clutch baskets in the last three minutes enabled Louisiana Tech to join Alabama in the Carrousel tournament finals at Charlotte. Unbeaten Tech, winning its UCLA, unbeaten when it left home a few days ago, took its second straight road whipping, this one 67-43 from 11th-rated Bradley.

Indian Sets Pool Mark Chief Tankers Winners

A hard-working Pontiac Central High swimming squad yesterday afternoon upset a favored Flint Central crew 55-41, making up in part for last week's rather sorry showing against Arthur Hill (78-18).

Swimming in their own pool, Chiefs splashed to six first places, against four for the visiting Indians who turned in the big high spot of the meet with one pool record. Veteran medley swimmer Bill Darton clipped almost a second off Pete Simonson's (last spring) 120-yard mark of 1:16.3 with a 1:15.6 performance. He also turned in a very fast 53.3 for 100-yard freestyle.

Dondero Triumphs, 69-56

Royal Oak Dondero rolled to a 69-56 victory over Monroe last night in a Border Cities League basketball game at Monroe. Center Greg Eastwood scored 19 points for the Oaks, who now have a 1-1 league record and an overall mark of 3-1.

South Lyon Victorious

Jim Hammon and Doug Kinn scored 11 points apiece to lead South Lyon to a 37-34 triumph over Hartland in a League of the Lakes basketball game at South Lyon. The Lions are now 1-1 in the conference and 2-1 overall.

FUTURE COLOMBIERE COLLEGE — This is the architect's sketch of Colombiere College, a four million dollar project now under construction on Big Lake road about a quarter mile west of U.S. 10 in Springfield Township. The college will train future Jesuit fathers and brothers of the Detroit Province, Society of Jesus. Completion is expected in 1959.

In Springfield Township

Jesuit College Going Up

SPRINGFIELD TOWNSHIP — Colombiere College, to be a four million dollar training college for Jesuit priests and brothers, is under construction on Big Lake road in Springfield Township.

Completion for the college being built by the Jesuit fathers and brothers of the Detroit Province is expected by 1959. Ground was broken last June.

One of 10 provinces of the Society of Jesus throughout the country, Detroit Province Jesuits operate the University of Detroit, and the University of Detroit High School, they conduct Gesù Parish and St. Peter and Paul (Jesuit) Parish in Detroit, and the Manresa House of Retreats for men in Bloomfield Hills.

Each year many talented and capable young men from the area of the Detroit Province make application to become Jesuit fathers and brothers. In order to train these young men to become future teachers, pastors, scientists, authors, retreat masters and missionaries, it was found necessary to build a new college.

An intensive search was made throughout the lower part of Michigan and northern Ohio for a suitable location, and the location finally chosen was the beautiful hilly spot on Big Lake road about one quarter mile west of U. S. 10.

The new Oakland County college will be featured on a half hour television program at 8 a.m. Sunday on Station WJBK-TV.

Volkswagen Leads in U.S. Sales

Sales of Foreign-Built Autos Increasing

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Editor

DETROIT — Sales of foreign-built automobiles in the American market are certain to go about 200,000 units this year. Last year retail deliveries numbered slightly more than 91,000.

The German-built Volkswagen continues to lead in American sales. Last year it accounted for 50,000 sales in this country. Indications are its 1957 total will come to approximately 65,000 units.

OPINIONS DIFFER

There still is a difference of opinion in industry circles regarding the possible penetration of foreign-made cars in the American market. Some analysts have predicted 1958 imported car sales will reach 400,000 units—if the year's over-all total again reaches six million deliveries.

But many industry analysts say that figure will be close to the top of possible volume for the imported cars. Others say the demand will continue to mount although somewhat more slowly.

Whether a half-million unit market for the smaller, high-mileage cars would influence more makers to attempt production of such units in U. S. factories also is disputed. American Motors is the single U.S. car maker building a smaller car in this country. It builds a compact car on a 108-inch and a 100-inch wheelbase. It also imports an 85-inch wheelbase unit.

General Motors has just introduced its European-built Vauxhall and Opel models. Chrysler, meanwhile, is continuing its study of the small car possibilities. Latest word from the home offices was that no decision likely will be made for another six or 12 months.

Studebaker-Packard is the only other maker without a low-priced imported model. But it is known to be canvassing the smaller car possibilities. It has an economy-priced model in its Scotsman sedan.

ries factory-tagged at less than $2,000.

There are varying opinions as to what stimulated demand for foreign-built cars over the last couple of years. Low initial cost combined with great fuel economy undoubtedly has been a factor.

William C. Flaherty, a Chrysler Corp. business research executive, says prestige has been the most important factor.

Flaherty says: "While sales of foreign cars have grown rapidly since 1953, there is little evidence these cars are going to replace or erode the market for U. S. makes. Continued good demand and price levels for used models on American makes supports this view."

He added that "the fortunes of the new car market for foreign makes depends a good deal on the development of used model markets for them."

George Romney, American Motors' president, visualizes a changing trend in consumer needs and desires toward the smaller and more compact car. He has been emphasizing this viewpoint for several years.

Supporting his view, he says, is an increasing demand for American Motors' Rambler models and the steady rise in foreign car sales.

Whatever may be the basic appeal of the smaller cars, foreign auto makers expect it to expand. Nearly 30 imported makes will be shown at the Chicago Auto Show next month compared with 15 at the 1957 show.

Mishap Involves Basketball Star

Two Romeo Students Shaken Up, Fireman Slightly Injured

ROMEO — Two Romeo High School students were shaken up when their auto was sideswiped by a car driven by a local volunteer fireman, apparently on his way to answer an alarm, shortly after noon yesterday. The accident happened at the intersection of W. St. Clair and Prospect streets.

Basketball star Bill Redman, 17, of 212 S. Main St. suffered a bump on the head. His passenger, cheerleader Patricia Kohlhaugen, 17, of 70189 Mellen St. also was shaken up in the mishap.

Driver of the other car was fireman George J. Welch, 32, of 244 Morton St., who suffered slight head cuts.

Weich told Romeo Village Police that he was about to pass Redman when the youth started to turn left from the outside lane. His car hit Redman's, glanced off a utility pole and straddled a big tree stump.

Weich said he was traveling 35 m.p.h. and that Redman had not indicated his intention to turn.

Damage to the Welch car was estimated at $1,000 to Redman's $300.

Redman was lost to his team in last night's basketball game with Fraser on orders from his doctor.

The fire call was at Orchard Industries on Scotch Settlement road. A greasing machine had caught fire, and smoke sent all employees home for the remainder of the day.

Kids' Theater Party in Romeo Today

ROMEO — Today is a busy day in Romeo with the children's theater party being held this afternoon and the annual Christmas Ball in the Romeo High School auditorium tonight.

The local merchants association is sponsoring a free show at the Romeo Theater from 2 to 4 p.m. After the movie, Santa Claus will distribute candy to the youngsters.

The Christmas Ball, sponsored by the junior class at the high school, will feature dancing from 8:30 p.m. to midnight.

Oxford Church School Has Christmas Party

OXFORD — The Christmas activities of the Congregational Church will start with a Christmas party for the church school classes through the fourth grade at 3 p.m. today.

There will be special music by the choir, directed by Mrs. Lee Valentine, Sunday morning. At 4:30 p.m. Sunday, the church school Christmas program will be presented with the Junior and Senior Chorus assisting.

On the same day there will be Christmas caroling at 6 p.m. followed by the Junior Christmas party at 7 p.m.
