Waterford Heads List of Area School Votes

By DICK ROBINSON

Some 10,000 to 12,000 Waterford Township School District voters are expected to go to the polls between 7 a.m. and 8 p.m. tomorrow to decide on a one-year, 9-mill school property tax increase.

Meantime, Utica, Imlay City and Lapeer school district voters will decide on bond issue elections today and tomorrow.

* * *

The Utica district will ask voter approval tomorrow on a $29.6-million bond issue. The largest figure ever asked by the district, if approved, will be used for new building construction and additions and renovations to existing buildings.

The Imlay City district today is seeking $2,535,000 for site purchase and construction of a new middle school, additions to the high school and elementary school and construction of new administrative offices.

LAPEER BOND

The Lapeer district is asking voters today to approve a $6-million bond issue to provide 85 new classrooms throughout the district. Officials said, if approved, the expansion should suffice until 1975.

Passage of the Waterford tax increase —99 per $1,000 of state equalized property valuation — would assure enough additional school income to put students back on full-day schedules for all of 1970 and half of 1971, school officials say.

* * *

The problem, points out acting Supt. Dr. John Pagen, is that the school district — third largest in Oakland County with 18,502 students — is simply not taking in enough revenue to support a full academic program.

The 42-square-mile Waterford district is made up of nearly all of Waterford Township and portions of Independence, West Bloomfield and White Lake townships.

CUTS MADE

Since last year, the board of education has cut $1.48 million from its budget, eliminated 127 teaching positions and put 8,498 junior and senior high school students on shortened days and 4,257 elementary pupils on half days.

Another 5,749 elementary pupils are scheduled to go on half days in January when the 4,257 return to full days.

* * *

Pagen says if the millage hike is defeated Waterford Township and Kettering high schools will lose their accreditation, posing some problem for graduates hoping to get into college.

Also, a defeat means full-day class schedules won't be restored this school year, according to Pagen.

The 9-mill hike will produce $1,905,330.30 in income, Pagen said.

It will cost the average Waterford Township homeowner $90 to restore full-day school classes for 1½ years, starting in January, school officials say.

* * *

Total taxes for Waterford residents are up 25 per cent this year, residents will discover when they get their tax bills next month. But the school tax increase will be put on next year's bill.

Indiana Teacher Held

Kidnaped Boy Pulled From Lake

From Our News Wires

HAMMOND, Ind. — An elementary school teacher was arrested today and charged with kidnaping a 6-year-old boy who said he was abducted in Chicago by a man who later tried to drown him in Lake Michigan.

* * *

Hunters rescued the boy Sunday when they chanced upon the scene at Little Sable Point north of Muskegon. The hunters said a man was dragging what appeared to be a child's body through shallows near the shore.

John E. Walrath, 30-year-old Hammond resident who teaches at Griffith, Ind., will be brought before a U.S. commissioner on kidnaping charges later today, the FBI said. He is a bachelor and a 1969 graduate of Fort Wayne Bible College.

* * *

"He's trying to drown me," little Timmy Martin, told the hunters. They scuffled with the man but he escaped and fled in a car which had been parked nearby.

Timmy Martin, a brown-haired, brown-eyed youngster who was the object of a large-scale search in Chicago, was tearfully reunited today with his mother, Mrs. Kathy Bryant, at the Hart State Police post.

* * *

For more than 30 hours, Timmy and the stranger were together on the drive from Chicago up the Lake Michigan shore.

* * *

"He told me to take off my shoes and roll up my pants because we were going in the water," the lad told police.

'PRETENDED I WAS DEAD'

"He picked me up and threw me in and tried to drown me, but I pretended I was dead already," Timmy said haltingly from his mother's arms.

* * *

"And then he dragged me, but the hunting men came along and he let me go," the small boy said.

The man scuffled with the hunters, escaped and fled in a car parked nearby.

The man fled as the hunters arrived, police said.

* * *

"It was a one-in-a-million chance that the hunters were there," said Steve Juterbock, 19, one of those who took part in the rescue. "The hunters were going back to get a jeep that was stuck. It was a good mile from anywhere that you could drive with a normal vehicle."

* * *

Timmy told police the stranger picked him up Saturday while he was playing in the street with other kids in the neighborhood.

* * *

After Timothy failed to come home, Mrs. Bryant said she called neighbors and police to report him missing. One boy, Steven Walker, 9, told police that a man had offered the two of them $1 each to go with him. Steven said Timmy accepted the money, but he (Steven) returned home.

Brunettes Are Junior Misses in Pontiac and Waterford

Gentlemen may prefer blondes, but judges for the Junior Miss Pageants in Pontiac and Waterford Township prefer brunettes.

Two pretty dark-haired girls began a year's reign Saturday night, the result of their winning performances in the annual Jaycee-sponsored contests.

The "fairest of the fair" are Pontiac Junior Miss Jan Felt, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Felt of 2150 Ostrum, Waterford Township, a senior at Pontiac Northern High School, and Waterford Junior Miss Connie Crawford, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray D. Crawford, of 3168 Herbell, Waterford Township, a senior at Waterford Mott High School.

Both girls chose music as their talent. Jan performed a piano medley and Connie was a talented mop woman in an actress's dressing room, singing and dancing "If My Friends Could See Me Now."

REGIONAL COMPETITION

The two will compete Dec. 12 and 13 at Holly in the regional Junior Miss Pageant. The winner there will be eligible for the state pageant. Both local winners received scholarships and assorted prizes for their performances Saturday.

U.S. and Russia Ratify N-Pact

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon signed today the paper of ratification for the treaty to prevent the spread of nuclear weapons. Russia simultaneously took similar action in Moscow.

Nixon penned his signature on four different documents at the ceremony in the presidential oval office.

* * *

All told, 43 nations must sign to make the nonproliferation treaty effective.

The White House said 22 nations already had ratified the treaty.

MAY BE CEREMONY

The instruments of ratification by the United States also will be deposited in Moscow and London, as the treaty requires, within the next 10 days or two weeks.

At that time, there may be a joint Soviet-U. S. ceremony here at the State Department to which former President Lyndon B. Johnson and former Secretary of State Dean Rusk will be invited.

* * *

Nixon said the negotiation and ratification of the treaty spanned three administrations — his own, Johnson's and that of the late John F. Kennedy.

The Russian ratification was reported by Tass, the official news agency, which said Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko made a report to the body on behalf of the Soviet government.

* * *

The Soviet move toward ratification came after statements by the new Bonn government of Chancellor Willy Brandt that it was willing to sign the treaty. Earlier Soviet delays were believed intended to put pressure on the previous Bonn regime.

Apollo 12 Nears Splashdown

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Racing through the final hours of their voyage of discovery, Apollo 12's moon men marveled at a spectacular earthly eclipse of the sun today and fired their jet thrusters a brief burst to zero in on their splashdown target in the South Pacific.

Charles (Pete) Conrad Jr., Richard F. Gordon Jr. and Alan L. Bean were in good spirits as their Yankee Clipper streaked faster and faster toward their home planet on a course that would slam them into the atmosphere 76 miles high at a speed of 24,600 miles per hour.

* * *

Atmospheric friction and parachutes were to slow them to 22 m.p.h. in the final minutes before splashdown, set for 3:56 p.m. EST about 400 miles southeast of American Samoa.

As Yankee Clipper approached the earth it was on a slightly shallow path that would cause it to land long. A five-second firing of the jets at 12:44 p.m. steepened the angle to aim the spaceship at a point close to the aircraft carrier Hornet.

The astronauts were awed by a sight that can be seen only by men flying far from their home planet — an eclipse of the sun by the earth.

"What a spectacular view," Gordon commented from an altitude of 29,000 miles. "It's unbelievable."

"Fantastic sight," Bean said. "The sun is illuminating the whole atmosphere all the way around. Really looks pretty. You can't see any earth. It's black, just like space. You can't see any features on it. All you can see is a sort of purple blue with some shades of violet."

"It has to be the most spectacular sight of the whole flight," Conrad added. "The sun from around about a quarter of the earth is pure blue, and then it becomes pink for about 20 degrees of arc and then it turns back to blue again. And it's blue all the way around the bottom, to where it turns pink again and then it turns blue again."

The astronauts photographed the eclipse and tried to picture numerous lightning flashes they spotted in the atmosphere.

GOOD WEATHER

The ground reported weather conditions were good in the recovery area, with a forecast of scattered clouds, easterly winds up to 10 knots, 10 miles visibility and waves three feet, with swells of five feet.

The astronauts spent much of the morning "polishing the brass" aboard Yankee Clipper, stowing loose articles and tidying up the cabin for the reentry and landing.

The astronauts hoped to match in the Pacific the pinpoint landing Conrad and Bean achieved last Wednesday when the lunar module Intrepid touched down only 600 feet from an unmanned Surveyor spacecraft that landed on the Ocean of Storms 2½ years ago.

The landing in warm Polynesian waters climaxes a lunar expedition which should vastly enrich man's knowledge of the moon and perhaps his own earth and universe.

Coming home with Yankee Clipper are 80 to 90 pounds of moon rock gathered by Conrad and Bean, film recording nearly eight hours of moon walk, and parts of Surveyor 3.

PINPOINT LANDING

They also demonstrated on man's second visit to the moon that astronauts can land at a precise point on the surface, valuable knowledge for future Apollo crews who will fly into mountains and craters.

China Paper Hits Russia

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China gave another indication Sunday that its border talks with the Soviet Union are not going smoothly.

An editorial in the Peking People's Daily, the Communist party newspaper, denounced the Soviet Union by name, something the Chinese had refrained from doing since the border negotiations began in Peking on Oct. 20.

Clouds Just Teasing Ski Buffs

If your skis are all polished and ready to go, you'll have to wait a bit longer for the weatherman to cooperate. The clouds due on the horizons for the next few days are not scheduled to drop any snowflakes. But they are expected to stay and look gloomy just to tease a little.

* * *

Temperatures are expeced to dip tomorrow, however, with the highs in the low 40s and the lows in the 20s. Wednesday's forecast contains more of the same, cloudy skies and cool temperatures.

* * *

Light variable winds this morning will swing southwest to south at 5 to 10 miles per hour by tonight, steadying out of the southwest tomorrow morning at 10 to 20 m.p.h. and swinging to the northwest by tomorrow night.

Precipitation probabilities in per cent are today 5, tonight 10 and tomorrow 20.

3rd Arms Huddle Ends

HELSINKI, Finland (AP) — U.S. and Soviet negotiators met for two hours today, their longest secret session since starting their strategic arms limitation talks a week ago.

In advance of today's private parley at the U.S. Embassy, U.S. envoys had hoped for clues from the Russians on what nuclear arms the Kremlin might consider negotiable in future full-scale discussions on curbing the superpower missile race.

* * *

As usual, spokesmen for both sides refused after the business session—third since the talks began—to disclose anything except the length of the meeting and when the next one will be held: Wednesday at the Soviet Embassy.

As the delegations were meeting, the Soviet news agency Tass sounded its first criticism of the United States in the arms talks.

FIGURES CITED

Tass said "imperialist states"—obviously meaning the United States—were to blame for the arms race. It cited rising U.S. military expenditures and figures on U.S. strategic arms strength.

Tass, in a dispatch from Helsinki, praised the Soviet government for seeking an end to the arms race but gave no credit on this score to the United States.

* * *

A U.S. delegation spokesman denied a published report that the Russians last week had been told the details of the United States' nuclear force.

Newsmen previously had been advised by U.S. sources that the delegation here did not intend to reveal secret material in the talks.

The two teams traded general statements in two 90-minute secret sessions last week, then recessed for a three-day weekend at Soviet request after each side sought more explanation of the other's position. The long weekend gave the Kremlin plenty of time to study the conference exchanges and to formulate instructions for its men in Helsinki.

The current preliminary talks, expected to last into December, are a diplomatic probing operation to find out what might be dealt with in substantive negotiations later.

Lodge Calls 'Untrue' Charge He Balked in Private Talks

PARIS (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge branded as "untrue" today a statement by North Vietnam's negotiator that Lodge had been unwilling to hold private meetings with Hanoi's representatives on "general problems" concerning South Vietnam.

Xuan Thuy, Hanoi's chief envoy to the Paris peace talks, had made the allegation in an interview with the New York Times. Thuy said Lodge was prepared to discuss only mutual troop withdrawals.

* * *

Lodge, chief of the U.S. negotiating team, replied in a formal statement issued today.

* * *

"First," Lodge said, "it is not true that I have not been willing to meet privately or otherwise with Mr. Thuy to discuss general problems concerning Vietnam. And he knows it very well.

WILLING TO TALK

"Second, it is also not true that in the private meetings which have been held, I have only been willing to talk on only one question, that of mutual troop withdrawal. He knows that, too.

"Third, it is not true, as alleged, that the U.S. wishes to continue the war in Vietnam and is therefore inflexible."

* * *

Lodge, who has announced his resignation effective Dec. 8, continued:

* * *

"The facts are that Mr. Thuy has been as intransigent in private meetings as he has been in public meetings. He has avoided engaging in any give-and-take. Instead, his position has been to insist on the U.S. withdrawing completely from South Vietnam without any indication of what the North Vietnamese would do. He has also demanded that the U.S. overthrow the present government in South Vietnam as we leave.

* * *

"For our part, we have made it clear that—far from rejecting —we are willing to discuss all questions relevant to peace."

Sen. Griffin Scoffs at Tax-Cut Move

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Republican leader dismissed today as "political shennanigans" a move supported by top Senate Democrats to sharply increase personal income tax exemptions.

Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., said the move would cost $12 billion in federal revenue — and that would scuttle the tax reform bill now before the Senate.

* * *

Griffin, the Republican whip, said it might lead to a veto of the measure.

Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., is pressing the proposal to raise personal exemptions to $1,000, from the present $600.

'POLITICALLY APPEALING'

Griffin said it would be unrealistic to cut tax revenues by $12 billion "as inviting and politically appealing as it might be."

Griffin said the Nixon administration is determined to hold the line on federal revenues.

* * *

Meanwhile, Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, Mont., told newsmen he was standing by his previously announced support for an increase in the exemption to $1,000.

"It is ridiculous to argue that the present $600 exemption is adequate," he declared.

Gore is urging that the increase in the exemption be accompanied by various revenue-raising measures so there would be no net boost in the revenue loss to the Treasury.

Lieutenant to Face Court-Martial in 'Massacre' at Vietnam Village

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army today ordered a general court-martial for 1st Lt. William L. Calley Jr., accusing him of the premeditated murder of at least 109, men, women and children in Vietnam in March 1968.

Calley, first American soldier charged in the alleged massacre of Vietnamese villagers, will face a possible penalty of death or life imprisonment if convicted, the Army said.

Related Story, Page A-10

* * *

Decision to proceed with the trial was made by the command at Fort Benning, Ga., where Calley is now stationed, and announced jointly in Washington and Georgia.

Only a short time earlier the Army had announced the assignment of Lt. Gen. William R. Peers to find out whether the brigade involved in the alleged mass killings had tried to cover up the incident in its original low-level investigation of the operation.

The Army charged Calley with six specifications of premeditated murder of "Oriental human beings" during a U.S. military operation at the village of My Lai in Quang Ngai Province about March 16, 1968.

* * *

Each specification accused Calley of killing the villagers with a rifle.

One specification said he shot "not less than 70 males and females of various ages."

Another specification charged him with killing a child, about 2 years old.

The decision on the court-martial was made by Maj. Gen. Orwin C. Talbott, who as commanding general at Ft. Benning was the convening authority in the case.

The Army said the trial will be held at Ft. Benning. No date has been set.

Education Unit Taps Seaholm as a Member

BIRMINGHAM — Seaholm High School has been elected to a three-year membership in the College Scholarship Service Assembly (CSSA) of the College Entrance Examination Board.

Seaholm is one of 66 secondary schools in the United States elected to membership at the organization's recent meeting in New York.

CSSA is a membership organization of colleges, universities, secondary schools, large urban area school systems and other educational organizations.

Membership in the organization entitles Seaholm to participate in the deliberations of the assembly at both the national and regional levels, to interpret the needs and interests of secondary schools in the affairs of the Assembly, and to assume and carry out the responsibility for informing local secondary schools on the problems and activities of the assembly.

CSSA, an Education Testing Service, program conducted for the board, offers a number of services to help colleges and other donors administer scholarship programs.

These include a central transcript and computation service that collects and evaluates financial information about students applying for scholarships. Colleges and other scholarship sponsors both use this service.

Novi City Manager Dallas Zonkers Makes A Point

'City Has Few Hangovers'

New Novi Exec Is Optimistic

By LOIS FRIEDLAND

NOVI — "This is a city which can and will be developed strictly according to the wishes of its citizens — through controlled development," explains Novi's new city manager.

Settling into the new job, Dallas C. Zonkers, a dapper man with a salt-and-pepper mustache, tells why he came to Novi.

"This city can be developed like a new city. The area is not crowded and not full of old hangover problems," said Zonkers.

He explains that going into an old town with old estates, buildings and public utilities is difficult since expensive improvements in water and sewer lines may be necessary. Furthermore, it become too difficult to zone land and plan proper land use if buildings are already scattered around, he says.

Novi's land is largely vacant. The southeast part of the city is connected to the Detroit water sewer network.

The Village of Novi and 98 per cent of the township were incorporated as a city in May 1968. Incorporation left eight small and separate township "islands" within the new city. The division of assets is still being argued.

* * *

Zonkers, former city manager of Flushing (near Flint), which became a city five months before he took office in 1965, is skilled in administering a community's transition from village to city status.

He declined to discuss specifics on the current negotiations for assets explaining that he is not directly involved. (The mayor is handling negotiations), but he is willing to play the role of a hitherto-uninvolved middleman if needed.

"Unhappiness is always caused because townships do not like to be diminished," he said. The township will receive less than 3 per cent of the assets.

He noted that special problems have come up because the township islands within the city are so isolated it will be difficult to provide adequate services, especially fire and police protection.

* * *

A fluent talker and apparent doer, Zonkers already has visions of helping organize area municipalities with mutual problems.

* * *

"Federal government programs are geared to areas — by mutual planning you can accomplish a lot more faster. By presenting united efforts to solve problems from the state on up you get better consideration," he explained.

Library Error Rectified; Assets, Dispute Fade

By TIM McNULTY

ROCHESTER — Controversy over the Avon Township Library subsided last week when it was discovered the library's assets were $900,000 less than previously reported.

According to a letter from State Att. Gen. Frank J. Kelley to Township Attorney Lewis R. Bebout, a typographical error was made in the attorney general's first report, estimating library assets at $991,000.

* * *

The figure should be $99,100, Kelley wrote. Originally the money was left to the library in the estate of Eva Woodward Parker. Out of that money the library building at 210 W. University was constructed and furnished.

Recent questions raised by the Friends of the Avon Township Free Public Library and the city and township's request for a division of assets prompted the attorney general's reports.

AUDIT UNDER WAY

The Friends challenged the library board to show the library's financial holdings and stock interests in its annual report. An audit to determine the library's holdings is now under way by the accounting firm of Harris, Reames and Ambrose of Rochester.

Kelley's letter also said joint ownership of the library by the city and township was "not possible" under the present state statute concerning libraries.

"The library is a distinct and separate entity," said Kelley, "with segregated control and funds of the library in the library board.

"I do not suggest that city residents have lost all interest in the library," Kelley said, "but joint operation is not permitted."

Residents of the city may not sit on the library board, and all funds for the library are channeled through the township's general funds on an as-needed basis.

Aside from the monies left by the Parker estate, the township supports the operating costs of the library through the return of a sales tax percentage from the state.

"Failure to levy a special tax does not alter the status of the public library as independent," Kelley said.

The township is authorized to levy "up to one mill," said Bebout. "However it has not levied that tax since sometime in the 1940s."

Bebout also said the attorney general's letter merely "continues the status quo" on the library situation. "Before I recommend anything on it (to the township)," he said, "I'm waiting for more information from the attorney general's office."

Bebout said the present library board will continue to function and operate, the city still cannot have representation, the township will continue to pay and the library will probably enter into another contract with the city and Oakland Township for services in the coming year.

Although no date was set, Kelley also recommended that a meeting be held with members of his office and Oakland County Prosecutor Thomas J. Plunkett, city and township officials and the library board to decide on any future action involving the library's legal status.

Garage-Home Blaze Damage Put at $15,000

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP — Fire damage was estimated at $15,000 in the garage and home owned by Leonard Sampson of 5437 Sunnyside, according to township Fire Chief Donald Beach. The fire began around 1 p.m. yesterday, Beach said, when the hot exhaust from Sampson's motorcycle ignited a cardboard box in the garage.

Smoke damage was reported in the house which adjoins the gaarge and the outside of Sampson's car was charred. Fifteen men from the township's volunteer fire department extinguished the flames with a half-hour.

Phone Firm Answers Attack by Bloomfield Twp. Official

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The Michigan Bell Telephone Co. has come to its own defense here following a verbal attack by Township Supervisor Homer Case.

Case had some terse words for the telephone company last Thursday when the telephone lines servicing the township's police and fire departments failed for the fourth time in a year.

* * *

Case said that after each failure, two of which have been caused by wet cables, and the others by a truck accident and a broken underground cable, the telephone company had promised to stay on the problem until it is solved.

The supervisor maintains that in time of a line failure the township should be served with emergency equipment so that residents can maintain contact with the police and fire departments if needed.

IMMEDIATE ACTION?

Chuck Woodhead, public relations manager for Pontiac Division, stated that in every instance emergency crews have been sent to the scene almost immediately to repair the problem.

"In this last instance it was arranged to have all calls to the Bloomfield fire and police departments switched to the Birmingham station. The Birmingham station then radioed all calls over to Bloomfield.

* * *

"We fully realize the importance of keeping police and fire lines open and I believe that we reacted immediately to every situation that has developed involving the Bloomfield police and fire departments," the official said.

He added that last week's problem was caused when a crack developed in the lead splice of cable located in a manhole at the Long Lake-Woodward intersection. The crack permitted moisture to form on the cable, causing a short.

3-Hour Blaze Damages Barn; Landmark in Bloomfield Twp.

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Firemen from four area departments fought a blaze at the famous landmark barn on the Wabeek Farms property on Long Lake Road near Middle Belt for nearly three hours yesterday before bringing it under control.

The fire reportedly broke out in the hayloft of the barn which was part of the former country estate of the late U. S. Sen. James Couzzens.

* * *

Chrysler Corp. owns the property which includes a large complex of dairy buildings.

An attendant who lives on the property was able to free more than 100 head of cattle quartered in the barn before the blaze got out of control. Firemen who arrived at the scene shortly after the alarm was turned in at 4:38 p.m. carried several calves to safety.

PARTICIPATING FIREMEN

About 35 firemen from departments in West Bloomfield Township, Franklin and Bloomfield Township plus personnel from the Tri City Department (Keego Harbor, Orchard Lake and Sylvan Lake) fought the fire with nine pieces of equipment. The blaze was brought under control at about 7:15 p.m.

The only nearby dwelling, a house located on the same property about 20 feet from the barn was saved.

* * *

The cause of the fire and total damages remain undetermined, according to Bloomfield Township Fire Department officials.

Election Tomorrow

Utica School Bonds Gain Fans

UTICA — Individual and organizational support for the school bond issue election tomorrow continues to increase, according to school officials.

Nearly 2,000 persons and 24 community organizations have officially endorsed the election proposals to finance the $29.5-million construction program.

* * *

"We are encouraged at this display of grass-roots backing for our attempt to keep pace with expanding enrollment," said Phillip Runkel, superintendent of schools.

The ballot proposals seek financing for eight new schools, several building additions and an extensive remodeling program throughout the 65-square-mile district.

The bond issue will not require a tax increase until the 1972-73 school year, according to the Board of Education. After 1972-73 the most that will be levied in additional taxes is one mill ($1.00 per $1,000 of assessed valuation), a board spokesman said. He said it would be approximately $11.50 a year for the average home owner.

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Florida Senators Ask Cape Name Change Back to Canaveral

WASHINGTON (AP) — Florida's two senators, noting that space shots are no longer made from Cape Kennedy, said today the name of the historic spot should be changed back to Cape Canaveral.

Democratic Sen. Spessard L. Holland and Republican Sen. Edward J. Gurney made their plea as the latest moon-walking astronauts—who took off from Merritt Island near Cape Kennedy in Florida—headed for a splashdown in the Pacific Ocean.

In testimony prepared for the Senate Interior Committee, the two said their resolution to redesignate Cape Kennedy as Cape Canaveral would in no way disturb the name of the space facility on Merritt Island, known as John F. Kennedy Space Center. Earlier space shots were made from pads at the Cape, but the current moon shots are launched from Merritt Island.

The senators said their proposal was designed to restore the cape's historic name, which showed on maps as far back as 1530.

"This may well be the oldest geographic point in the United States, certainly on the East Coast," Gurney said. "It was recorded before the names of Cape Cod and Jamestown."

* * *

He said he doesn't believe that the late President Kennedy, "with his appreciation for American heritage, would want any action which would deprive us of such a historic name."

Gurney said newspaper polls in Florida show that 92.8 per cent of the residents of that state favor the redesignation.

The name change from Cape Canaveral to Cape Kennedy came shortly after President Kennedy's assassination in 1963. no hearings on the proposal, and no meeting of the Interior Department's board of geographic names to act on it. And, he added, the change brought heavy protests from Florida.

Moon Touchdown 'No Piece of Cake'

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — "I'll tell you one thing," Pete Conrad was saying. "It took every bit of knowledge I had to get that baby down there in the right place. That was no piece of cake."

Conrad, Alan L. Bean and Richard F. Gordon Jr. were holding the first news conference from space Sunday and he was recalling how he brought the lunar lander Intrepid in.

* * *

"It took everything I had to get that LM down in one piece," Conrad said. "I think we got somethings to work out on that."

Apollo 12 was on the last leg of its voyage of 953,000 miles when the space agency passed up questions submitted by newsmen.

STORM NO WORRY

The astronauts said they would be willing to launch again in the kind of thunderstorm that marred their blastoff Nov. 14, recommended improvements in tools and carrier bags and reported difficulty in sleeping on the moon.

Newsmen asked whether Conrad's exhilaration on the moon might have been caused by an "oxygen high," a state of euphoria that sometimes occurs when an astronaut breathes pure oxygen.

"I was very happy," said Conrad, "but I wasn't on an oxygen high."

In the first 10 minutes of a moon walk, Bean said, "You find that it is not as hard as you think it is going to be to move around, and you are pretty happy about that .... I was in a good humor to start with, seeing we had landed next to the Surveyor. That started the thing off right."

TOLD DIFFICULTIES

Bean described difficulties in identifying rocks and soil this way:

* * *

"This second day we went out, the same thing that looked gray to us the first day started looking—at least to me—a sort of brown, dark brown or a tannish brown, and it was really one of the most interesting things of the lunar surface operations . . . how much that color can change just with a 71 degree or so sun angle change."

* * *

The derelict Surveyor spacecraft they inspected and removed pieces from looked brown, Bean said, but "I wouldn't be a bit surprised that when we get all those parts back to Houston, they don't turn out to be—under the earth light and light of the laboratory—kind of dark gray again."

Hornet Crew Will Unfurl Its Welcome

ABOARD USS HORNET (AP) — When the Apollo 12 crew boards their prime recovery ship after splashdown today they will be greeted by a big banner reading: "Three More Like Before."

And many of the 2,200 crewmen of the Carrier Hornet are wearing buttons bearing the same slogan.

The apollo 12 slogan is a follow-up to the Hornet's recovery of the Apollo 11 crew last July 24 and their return to Honolulu with the ship proudly wearing a big banner: "Hornet Plus Three."

This apparently will be the last Apollo recovery for the Hornet since the craft is destined to be pulled out of active duty next March and placed in the mothball fleet.

CARRIER REFUELS

The Hornet rendezvoused with the fleet oiler Hassayampa Sunday and refueled with 900,000 gallons of oil, then returned to the splashdown area, 405 miles southeast of Pago Pago.

* * *

"We're home free now," the Hornet's weatherman, Lt. Cmdr. William G. Tasker, reported Sunday in a special splashdown weather report. He said there would be partly cloudy skies, widely scattered rain showers, south-southeast winds of 10 to 18 knots and moderate seas. He predicted air temperature of about 84 degrees at splashdown time and water temperature about the same.

Wives' Tension Near End

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Apollo 12 streaked today toward a Pacific splashdown, ending 10 tense days for the wives of the moon adventurers.

"I was thinking how thankful I'll be when Al gets home again," Sue Bean, the pert blonde wife of moon walker Alan Bean, said after church Sunday.

* * *

For Mrs. Bean, Barbara Gordon and Jane Conrad, the flight of Apollo 12 has been a mixture of apprehension, exhilaration and sleepless nights.

The worrying began during the first moments of launch, when commander Charles Conrad Jr. reported the spaceship had suffered an electrical power failure attributed to lightning.

DRAMATIC MOMENTS

Then came the perilous descent to the moon, the moon walks, the broken television camera, the drama of liftoff from the lunar surface.

The wives followed the high adventure via television and squawkbox, flanked by children, friends and relatives.

* * *

Barbara Gordon attended Mass daily. All three families tried to ease the tension with picnics and other group activities.

Mrs. Conrad and her two youngest boys went flying in a glider Sunday, and afterwards she visited Mission Control to view the last telecast from space.

Told by ground controllers his family was there, Conrad exclaimed:

"Hey, great, tell them we'll be home in about a week!"

* * *

Actually, the astronauts will be back in Houston Saturday, but it will be Dec. 11 before they leave quarantine to rejoin their kin.

* * *

"I can hardly wait," said Sue Bean.

Prisoners Given Help

An innovative program for rehabilitation of prison inmates has been announced by Pontiac Motor Division.

Under the plan, soon-to-be-paroled prisoners are provided work passes that enable them to perform standard work assignments at the local auto plant.

Once established in jobs, parole status of former prisoners will in no manner affect continuance of their employment.

★ ★ ★

Eligibility of those to be thus employed is determined by joint screening action by the Michigan Department of Corrections and the local employer. An initial group of eight has been approved and hired.

Work-pass employes draw comparable wages with other workers and share fully in all fringe benefits. The only exception is that the bulk of their earnings is retained by a State agency pending their release from prison.

★ ★ ★

Commenting on the plan, Department of Corrections Director Gus HARRISON says, "All too often a man in prison has a family on relief and debts pile up while he serves his sentence. When he returns home, he has financial, employment and personal adjustment problems. The work-pass program is aimed at helping him overcome these problems and at keeping him from becoming a repeater."

★ ★ ★

The Pontiac Motor Division is to be commended on its enlightened human-relations program as another indication of the social responsibility that General Motors Corp. is increasingly assuming.

Now Comes The Real Wait—

New 'Ticket' Nips Nipponese

Japan, which hardly has enough room for all its people, is experiencing an automobile population explosion. The result has been some monumental, Roman-style traffic tie-ups in its major cities. One of the major contributors to the hardening of the vehicular arteries is illegal parking.

To counter this, as well as a scofflaw attitude on the part of too many Japanese drivers, police in Yokohama are experimenting with a new device, reports Highway User magazine. It's a "lockable traffic ticket" that stays with a car as long as its owner refuses to pay his fine.

Where the conventional ticket can simply be removed from under the wiper blades and thrown away or put in the glove compartment with its predecessors, the new waterproof ticket is locked to the fender mirror or door handle of an illegally parked vehicle.

Unless the motorist goes to the police to have it unlocked and removed, he has to drive around with this evidence of his violation—waving a red flag at the bulls, as it were.

In the past, more than 70 per cent of Yokohama motorists have ignored traffic summonses. The new lockable ticket has reduced this to 10 per cent.

Defines Ideal Newspaper

"A newspaper is the greatest single happening in the history of free men. A newspaper is the voice of sorrow, war and death. It is also the voice of liberty, integrity, democracy and life. More people are affected directly by its news than by any other source in existence. The printed word lives on forever because it is imprinted, not just on paper, but on human lives. A newspaper is man's personal handshake with immortality."

We're not blowing our own horn. The above definition of a newspaper was written by a student reporter for the "Pioneer," school newspaper of Southwest High School in St. Louis, Mo.

★ ★ ★

We plead guilty to partiality in this instance, however, and happen to believe that, while it may not be an accurate definition of every newspaper everywhere, no higher ideal could be aimed at by any newspaper anywhere.

Effort to Sow Dissent in Army Seen

WASHINGTON (NEA) — There is talk that some anti-Vietnam groups will now put a heavier priority on promoting dissidence among men in the Army.

CRCMLEY

An infrastructure has been built up in and around a number of major Army posts during the past year.

The antiwar men and women have gained some experience in underground Army newspapers, in running coffee shops and in conducting off-post "parties" for enlisted men.

They now think they know what techniques appeal to recruits and which don't. They think they know where to concentrate their efforts (among new recruits during training, when the shock of Army life is the greatest; men are harder to reach once they've been assigned to a unit).

★ ★ ★

They also know now some of the things they can do legally — how far they can go safely.

They've learned that if they find the right men they can get fast results if they concentrate on "technical aid" — coaching prospects in how to organize, how to put out an underground paper, how to win other recruits, then leaving much of the job to these men.

ISOLATED SUCCESS

Some anti-Vietnam groups are rumored to be getting more of their own people into the Army.

This has been accomplished successfully in a few cases. But there's no evidence yet the movement has infiltrated to any appreciable depth.

★ ★ ★

It is known that a number of the protest men and women believe conditions are good for effective work among Army recruits:

AWOL (absent without leave) rates for the Army as a whole have jumped from 60 per thousand men in fiscal 1965, to 78 in 1967, to 90 in 1968, to 112 per thousand in 1969.

Desertion rates have shown a similar trend — 15 per thousand in fiscal 1966, 21 in 1967, 29 in 1968 and 42 per thousand in 1969. A man is listed as a deserter currently if he is missing for more than 30 days.

CONCENTRATIONS

What makes the situation ripe for the anti-Vietnam movement, some of its leaders are understood to believe, is that the most susceptible young men are concentrated for the most part in a relatively few places, all in the United States — that is, in the major training centers for new recruits.

Military men this reporter has talked to, while having no data to prove their point, believe the rapid increase in AWOL and desertion rates these past few years is partly a result of increasing permissiveness in American society and the step-up in anti-Vietnam talk in their home communities.

★ ★ ★

This would seem to indicate the strategy of the anti-Vietnam activists could be quite effective.

Jailed Negro Needs Your Help

WASHINGTON—Dr. Thomas W. Matthew, a Negro, is in prison today for what is technically a misdemeanor, and he will remain there for six months.

He pleaded guilty to one count of three charged against him—in fact, he had made them public himself before he was arrested and tried. Under any other circumstances, Dr. Matthew would have been given a suspended sentence.

De TOLEDANO

A few years ago, Dr. Matthew was making $100,000 as a neurosurgeon. He had his own hospital. He gave it up to try to bring psychological and economic independence to his people.

★ ★ ★

He didn't pass the cup among the multimillion-dollar foundations. Instead he set up a project —NEGRO (National Economic Growth & Reconstruction Organization) — that created industries which paid $11 million in wages to people who had been on relief. That $11 million eased the welfare problems of cities, states and the federal government.

What was Dr. Matthew's "crime"? In the early days of his project he poured his personal earnings, including income taxes not yet paid, into the work.

He frankly stated that this was extra-legal, adding that holding back his taxes provided funds for NEGRO.

This year, the success of NEGRO enabled Dr. Matthew to file and pay his income taxes.

The normal procedure under the circumstances would have been to impose a fine on him and let the matter go.

The head of what is the country's largest black self-help project, however, is sentenced to six months in prison.

BOOK THROWN AT HIM

Since he refused to plead "not guilty," the court was bound to give him some sort of sentence. But it could have been a light one and should have been suspended.

Instead the federal court threw the book at him. "It hurts me more than it hurts you," the judge who read the sentence said in effect.

A group of citizens headed by John Chamberlain, the columnist and critic, has been organized to try to win President Nixon's intercession. It is in Mr. Nixon's power to pardon Dr. Matthew or to effect his release from prison.

Senators and representatives are being asked to plead Dr. Matthew's case with the White House and the Justice Department.

OTHER FISH TO FRY

But Congress has, and will continue to have, other fish to fry. It will not move unless the voters stir it up with letters, telegrams and phone calls.

And send encouragement to the imprisoned man via Citizens for Dr. Matthew, 890 West End Ave., New York City — or Suite 1052, National Press Building, Washington, D. C.

★ ★ ★

In his plea for Dr. Matthew, Chamberlain wrote: "We urge all Americans to join us in our declaration that the national interest demands that Dr. Matthew be allowed to continue his work for an America in which all people are equal in responsibility as well as opportunity . . . for the union of the haves with the have-nots through growth not force . . ."

Christmas Hard to Fight, but Spiro-Hero Can Do It

Faster than a Senate confirmation, more powerful than an inflationary curb, able to straddle tall issues in a single straddle, it's . . . MEDIOCREMAN!

As we join Mediocreman today, kids, he's in his stuffy Oval Office disguised as the mild-mannered President. His pretty secretary, Lotus Lane (who doesn't know his true identity) enters, looking worried.

HOPPE

Lotus: Terrible news, Mr. President. Inflation's running away. And with holiday shoppers on the loose, prices will go out of sight. Christmas this year will ruin the country.

The President: Well, Lotus, perhaps if I issued a strongly-worded attack against Christmas . . .

JOB FOR MEDIOCREMAN

Lotus (angrily): You'd be crucified! What good would that do? (stomping out) Oh, I wish Mediocreman were here.

The President: Hmmm, I think Lotus is right. This sounds like a job for Mediocreman. (He quickly whips off old blue suit to reveal underneath a stuffy old gray suit, the uniform of . . . MEDIOCREMAN! He pushes a secret button under his desk and up through a trap door pops his trusty sidekick . . . Spiro-Hero!)

Spiro-Hero (saluting): You called, Chief?

Mediocreman: Right, Spiro. I wanted to tell you what good jobs you've been doing for me lately.

Spiro-Hero (glowing): You mean my statesmanlike appraisal of those effete, intellectual, impudent, snobbish, ideological eunuchs who are parasites of passion?

'SACRED DUTY'

Mediocreman: I couldn't have put it better myself, Spiro, if I weren't trying to lower my voice and bring the people together.

Spiro-Hero (modestly): I consider it my sacred duty, Chief, to stand up before the people, come what may, and speak your mind.

Mediocreman (frowning): I'm against it. I admire your courage in taking on the television networks, the most powerful opinion-molding force in history.

Spiro-Hero (stoutly): I sure showed that tiny, closed fraternity of privileged men that their querulous criticism can't scare us—without involving you in any way, sir.

ANOTHER JOB

Mediocreman: Right, Spiro. And now I've got another job for you—Christmas.

Spiro-Hero (beaming): Oh, good, Chief. I'm all for Christmas.

Mediocreman (frowning): I'm against it.

Spiro-Hero (still beaming): I'm against it. Oh, I'll rip cheap, tawdry, maudlin Christmas up one side and down the other. I'll tell the kids there's no Santa Claus and I'll . . .

Mediocreman (clapping him on the back): That's the ticket, Spiro. And when they attack and revile and castigate you, take heart in the knowledge that you are keeping my sacred promise—namely that they won't have me to kick around any more.

Pontiac Man in Vietnam Disturbed by Home Scene

Lately, we here in Vietnam are dismayed and irritated to hear of civil disorders and other senseless acts committed by Americans against fellow Americans for the purpose of demonstrating against our involvement in the war.

★ ★ ★

We believe in what we are doing and feel President Nixon is proceeding properly to obtain a just peace. Have these self-proclaimed intellectuals no patriotism or national pride? Dissent is healthy but many of these acts border on insurrection which is intolerable.

★ ★ ★

None of us truly wishes to be here and perhaps we do not fully agree with the method of handling the war, but we do have purpose and are determined to carry it out. We love our country.

Jeers for Hubert Humphrey for twisting Agnew's words to seem like suppression of the right to dissent; to the National Board of the YWCA for its support of (1) the black manifesto; (2) abolition of the Un-American Activities Committee; for the clergy who lead young protesters to believe they are following Jesus; for the government which allows desecration of the flag with the broken cross, the so-called peace symbol.

Draws Comparison With Earlier March

The veterans marched on Washington after WW I and had the waterhoses and tear gas put on them and were threatened with machine guns. Why did not the Poor People's march and the so-called Peace March (which were Communist-backed) get the same reception?

★ ★ ★

If President Nixon would do away with Communists in America, we would have no more trouble.

★ ★ ★

Why not march for victory in Vietnam and Korea? In these wars victory has been denied us by the traitors in our own administration. According to our commanders, we could have won these wars in a weekend, but that would not have brought the National debt up sky high.

I particlpated in the peace march because I felt the need to go. It was good to see a half-million people united in the cause of stopping the war.

(Q) Besides a valid driver's license, what papers should be in my possession if I'm stopped for a violation? How can my husband, daughter and I carry registration proof, if necessary?

MIGHT NEED IT

(A) You need driver's license, registration and proof of insurance. If you don't want to leave the registration in the car, you can get extra copies at the Secretary of State's office, 96 E. Huron. There's no charge to make extra copies if you have the registration with you. If you've forgotten or lost the registration, it must be verified in Lansing, and there's a $1.00 teletype charge, plus 50 cents for a phone call.

Senator Advised That State Is on 'Daylight Saving Time'

Here we go again.

Michigan has been on daylight saving time for the last quarter of a century, but a Detroiter who doesn't seem to comprehend wants us on double daylight saving.

This would probably make us the only area in America if not in the entire world—that operates so blindly.

★ ★ ★

A Senator from Detroit can't seem to grasp the fact that we're on daylight saving steadily—winter, spring, summer and fall.

Apparently he doesn't understand.

★ ★ ★

Some twenty or thirty years ago an hysterical group of "businessmen" in Detroit decided that it would be "nice for business if Detroit were on the same time as New York." Fortunately, they didn't copy London or Tokyo, or we'd have midnight around three o'clock in the afternoon. Michigan was swayed by these misguided miscreants and the State moved supinely to Eastern time—"to be like New York."

Wonderful!

Sensational!

★ ★ ★

So-o-o-o, we've been an hour off the clock ever since. When daylight saving became a vogue, a few Michigan agitators thought we should have double daylight saving and be unique in America—yes, in the Western Hemisphere and probably in the whole wide world. We'd really thumb our nose at the sun and tell Old Sol to hide behind his darkest clouds.

★ ★ ★

Under the misguided urge of those that didn't comprehend, we 'tried it' and found it sadly wanting. Nature wasn't swayed. Little children still want to go to bed on Central time and they resent our permanent daylight saving to a considerable extent and they squawk openly and vociferously to helpless mothers who agree with them completely. But they have to 'live by the clock.'

★ ★ ★

The world won't come to an end if we have double daylight saving time. Another misguided disciple of palpable error can come along and root hard for triple daylight saving and call it the "Light of the Lord."

Why not?

How silly can we be?

Who really wants double daylight saving time, anyway?

And a distant echo answers in hollow mockery: "Mostly those who don't comprehend."

Halloween Tricksters . . .

Halloween has come and gone but some of the grim and despicable aftermath remains. Legislators are toying with measures to punish the wicked who let sadistic spite injure innocent little children.

Those jungle savages who put razor blades, needles and broken knife blades into cookies and candy bars that were gathered by happy, joyous little boys and girls in fancy costumes are under observation.

★ ★ ★

Here in Michigan, a sentence of seven years is under consideration.

Is that really enough?

These beasts deserve the works.

When a smiling, laughing youngster in fancy costume knocks on your door with a few companions and a mother or father in the background, he or she deserves God's own joyous welcome. Defenseless cruelty as outlined here simply begs for "the full extent of the law."

★ ★ ★

These brutal cowards should spend the first few years in solitary confinement.

Little people depend on adults.

We simply can't fail them.

Faith, trust, love and belief are completely in the hands of their elders and when they're double-crossed, this love is betrayed, and the reprehensible culprits have gotten right down on both knees and begged for the full treatment.

Air Passengers . . .

Does anyone know where the Nation will end with this airport problem?

In 1948, New York's three big landing strips handled 3.6 million passengers. In 1968, this figure leaped to 36.7 million. They predict that in 1970 it will whirl to 45 million.

And by 1980?

Can you guess?

Well, they say 80 million.

★ ★ ★

If this isn't enough to push everyone right back on his heels, I close with the assertion that many experienced and shrewd authorities say the 80 million is an understatement.

And in Conclusion . . .

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

Many rate the Canadian goose as one of "God's noblest creatures." It mates for life which could last 80 years but rarely exceeds five because of predators—including mankind. If either mate is killed, the survivor spends a winter in solitude and then mates the next spring. The honker can kill an eagle and they've knocked men off horses and killed dogs with one blow. . . . . New York's welfare list totaled 400,000 five years ago and now it runs an unbelievable million.

U.S. Strength in Viet Lowest in Two Years

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command announced today that American troop strength in Vietnam has dropped to 484,400 men, the lowest in two years. This virtually completes the second round of troop withdrawals ordered by President Nixon.

The command's report of troop strength as of last Thursday showed a drop of 4,800 men during the previous week. This reduced U.S. strength to only 400 more than the new ceiling of 484,000 men Nixon ordered to be reached by Dec. 15.

★ ★ ★

A U.S. spokesman said the command still expects to reduce American troop strength by that date to 4,000 less than Nixon's ceiling, or 480,000 men.

U.S. forces reached a high of 543,400 men last April, two months before the President announced withdrawal of 25,000 men. In September he announced another 35,000 men were being pulled out.

There has been speculation in both Saigon and Washington that Nixon may announce further troop withdrawals before the end of the year unless there is some marked change in the war picture.

Informants reported today that allied intelligence has detected an increase in the movement of North Vietnamese war materials and troops along the Ho Chi Minh Trail, but Lt. Gen. Julian J. Ewell, who commands the U.S. 2nd Field Force in Saigon and the 11 surrounding provinces, indicated at a news conference that increased infiltration has not become evident yet in his zone.

Ewell said that during the last several months, infiltration into his area had fallen to as low as 1,000 enemy troops per month compared with an average of 6,000 a month in the first six months of the year. He said this was probably due too the monsoons over Laos, and he expects the rate to increase now that the rains have moved on.

Responding to the new enemy threat, the U.S. command has shifted a good part of its fighter-bomber raids from targets in South Vietnam to the infiltration corridors through eastern Laos.

FOR PAST 5 DAYS

For the past five days the 150 planes of the Carriers Ranger and Hancock have been sent out to bomb and strafe the trail network and to check on traffic moving from North Vietnam south.

Informants said there always has been an increase in North Vietnamese infiltration at this time of the year, after the seasonal monsoon rains have ended and movement along the jungle trails is easier.

★ ★ ★

One informant said it appears the enemy command is trying to prepare "for something more pronounced than a campaign marked by a series of 'high points' of activity," the pattern for the past year.

This could take the form of a sustained countrywide offensive, or the present strategy of cyclic "high points" of activity could continue, informants said.

Meanwhile, the nightly Vietcong and North Vietnamese were reported wounded, while shelling dropped to its lowest level in nearly three months. Only two rocket and mortar attacks were reported Sunday night.

The U.S. and South Vietnamese commands reported more than 100 enemy troops killed in scattered fighting Sunday. Twenty-three Americans were reported wounded, while the South Vietnamese said their casualties were "light."

★ ★ ★

The U.S. Command announced the redeployment of most of a brigade of the U.S. 4th Infantry Division from near Pleiku in the Central Highlands, to the Ban Me Thuot region farther south in the highlands.

U.S. Should Stop Sending Draftees to Vietnam---HHH

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The United States should stop sending draftees to fight in the Vietnam war, says former Vice President Hubert Humphrey.

"When you send young men over to Vietnam now, after the highest official in this land has said we're going to get out, it's asking a terrible price of them and I would hope that we would quit sending selectees and draftees into combat in South Vietnam," he told newsmen.

★ ★ ★

"We should have a program of systematic, accelerated withdrawals of our combat forces from South Vietnam and we ought not to let South Vietnam, the government in Saigon or the people of North Vietnam deter us."

The 1968 Democratic presidential candidate also told newsmen Sunday he hopes President Nixon will take the initiative at the current U.S.-Soviet arms limitation talks in Helsinki by announcing an end to further testing of multiple warhead weapons systems.

SEARCH FOR ENEMY—Carrying packs, cooking pots and other equipment on their backs, South Vietnamese soldiers wade through waist-deep water as they search for enemy troops in the U Minh forest in the Mekong Delta. Agnew Popularity Rising, Senator Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Ralph T. Smith, the newest senator, describes Vice President Spiro T. Agnew as "a very popular fellow" with the average American.

"I've found out that in the last several weeks the vice president has become much more popular than he was before," the Illinois Senator said in an interview recorded for home state broadcast.

* * *

"The American public is giving every indication of liking what he says and how he says it, and certainly I agree with those who suggest that he wouldn't be saying it if the President didn't sort of turn him on or suggest that he might talk in a certain direction," Smith said.

Agnew in speeches during the past month has been sharply critical of war protest leaders and the reporting by television commentators and some newspapers.

SAME PROTECTION

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said the same Constitution which protects the right of dissent and of free-press guards Agnew's right to criticize demonstrators, commentators and newspapers.

"The First Amendment protects Mr. Agnew as much as anyone else," Mansfield said in a statement in the Congressional Record.

* * *

But at the same time, Mansfield counseled a general lowering of voices.

Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., said President Nixon is leading the administration on a "crude campaign to stifle dissent."

"The sinister effects of the administration's campaign against freedom of speech, assembly and press are a far greater threat to liberty in this nation than any result, no matter how unfortunate, over the war in Vietnam," McGovern said Saturday night in Bethany, W.Va.

'OPPOSES SANCTIONS'

Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., said he is "strongly opposed to legislative sanctions on the journalistic community."

But Tower wrote constituents that Agnew initiated a significant dialogue which should remind every newsman "of the burden of responsibility he has shouldered as a journalist."

* * *

Tower added: "I do believe there is a need for some sort of voluntary journalistic code which would insure the highest possible degree of responsibility among individual journalists as they carry out their public trust."

Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., said Agnew's criticism of television news programs was well founded. "The so-called news programs too often fall prey to sensationalism and sometimes, or even usually, present a one-sided viewpoint," he said in a newsletter.

Isolation of Gene Stirs Fears of Manipulation of Traits

BOSTON (AP) — The gene, which transmits hereditary characteristics, has been isolated for the first time and two scientists who helped do it have voiced fears of possible manipulation of human traits.

"I feel the bad far outweighs the good in this particular work," said Dr. Jonathan Beck with, 33. "I feel this is more frightening than hopeful. It is obvious that it raises the possibility of genetic engineering."

* * *

Also expressing apprehension that the discovery may have harmful applications, Dr. James Shapiro, 26, head of the Harvard Medical School research team which isolated the gene, said, "We don't necessarily have the right to pat ourselves on the back."

The discovery was announced to newsmen Wednesday, but publication of the story was delayed until Saturday to coincide with publication in the British magazine "Nature," of a paper outlining the technique.

SPECIFIC FUNCTIONS

The gene was separated from a bacteria called Escherichia coli, widely found in the intestine of man and other animals. The researchers used an enzyme to dissolve away material they did not want.

The scientists told newsmen that a bacteria may contain as many as 1,000 genes, which have specific individual functions, while a human body may contain a million genes.

* * *

Genes are gathered into groups called chromosomes which carry the entire code of life.

NOT INDIVIDUALLY

Before the work by the Harvard group, genes had been separated in groups but not individually.

Researchers on the project included Shapiro, of Chicago, a research fellow in bacteriology; Beckwith; Dr. Lorne A. Mac-Hattie; third-year medical student Lawrence J. Eron of Millburn, N.J.; Dr. Garret M. Ihler; Dr. Karen Ippon; Dr. Rita R. Arditti, a native of Buenos Aires; Dr. William Reznikoff; and laboratory technician Ronald MacGillivray.

All are affiliated with the medical school's departments of biological chemistry or bacteriology and immunology.

NEW FIGURES IN CONTROVERSY—These two figures emerged over the weekend in the controversy surrounding an alleged American massacre of hundreds of Vietnamese in the village of Song My in 1968. Lt. Gen. Hoang Xuan Lam (left), South Vietnamese commander in that area, has conducted an investigation that reportedly whitewashes American actions. However, Charles A. West, a former U.S. Army sergeant, said his unit was ordered to destroy the village "and everything in it."

GIs Ordered to Wipe Out Village, Says Ex-Soldier

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — A former GI says U.S. troops were ordered to wipe out the Vietnamese village of Song My as an enemy stronghold in 1968 — and did.

"Everything and everybody was wiped out," Charles Gruver, 24, said in an interview Sunday. "Men, women . . . children . . . Only the chickens were left alive."

The killings on March 16, 1968, have led to charges that there was a massacre of civilians. Gruver said he was satisfied that Song My — U.S. military code name Pinkville — was infested with soldiers of the North Vietnamese regular army, but added:

"We'd never been ordered to wipe out everybody before. Most of the guys didn't dig it at all. When it was all over, they were almost sick."

The rmy has charged 1st Lt. William L. Calley Jr., 26, of Waynesville, N.C., with "the premeditated murder of approximately 100 Vietnamese civilians."

S.Sgt. David Mitchell, 29, of St. Francisville, La., a member of Calley's platoon, has been charged with assault with intent to commit murder.

Speaking of the 1968 incident, Gruver said:

* * *

"In the last week or so, we'd lost about half our company to snipers and mine fields, and the guys were really fired up when we started the attack. As we entered, we drew fire from some of the huts, and then a lot of guys sort of went crazy."

Gruver said he was a private first class in C Company, 20th Infantry Regiment, and carried an M79 grenade launcher, but did not fire his weapon.

Gruver was discharged from the Army about 10 months ago, after serving in Vietnam 14 months. He now works for an uncle in the contruction business in Tulsa.

Floods this year in India have claimed 822 lives and 228,671 head of cattle and done about $153 million property damage.

'1 of 5 Babies Unwanted by One Parent'

NEW YORK (WMNS) — One of every five babies born to married couples was unwanted by at least one parent, according to a population expert.

"And that's doubtless an underestimation," added Dr. Charles F. Westoff of Princeton University's Office of Population Research, since many parents "forget" their original feeings and find it too painful to characterize as unwanted a child already born.

Dr. Westoff and his colleague, Dr. Larry Bumpass, based their estimate on a 1965 survey of nearly 5,000 representative women of childbearing age. Recently, the professors resifted the raw material for information on unwanted births.

* * *

In a report to the annual meeting of the Planned Parenthood-World Population organization, Dr. Westoff summarized their findings:

- The larger the family, the greater the number of unwanted children. Only five per cent of first children are unwanted but more than 50 per cent of sixth children fall into that category.
- Poor and near-poor couples have more unwanted children than non-poor couples. Among the poor, 42 per cent of the babies are unwanted, compared to 26 per cent among the near-poor and only 17 per cent among the non-poor.
- Unwanted births account for from 35 to 45 per cent of the nation's recent population growth, indicating that reducing unwanted births by "major social measures" could make a "substantial" contribution to defusing the population explosion.

SPECTER OF 1984

The menace of the world population explosion said another speaker, Dr. Malcom Potts, is so enormous that the alternative to a concerted, rational program now might well be "the government putting hormones in the water supply in 1984 or carrying me off for a forcible vasectomy (sterlization operation) because I had two children."

To forestall this dreary future, Dr. Potts, the medical secretary of the International Planned Parenthood Federation, advocated the widest distribution of contraceptives, including the birth control pill, reform of outdated abortion laws and fuller use of "normal marketing techniques."

From the public health viewpoint, he said, "I stand by my deliberately provocative statement that the pill should be in vending machines and cigarettes on prescription."

Just like the words of the popular song, love was waiting in a beautiful balloon Saturday for Linden Harding, 29, and his bride, Cheryl, 20. Following their marriage ceremony at St. Hugo of the Hills Catholic Church, the young couple received the final blessing in a four-passenger balloon at the Orchard Lake Country Club.

Blessing Given to Airy Couple

The scene at the Orchard Lake Country Club Saturday afternoon was straight out of the pages of an 18th century novel.

Linden Harding, 29, of West Long Lake Road, founder of the Balloon Platoon, a unique club comprised of hot-air balloon enthusiasts received the final blessing of his marriage to Cheryl Apel, 20, in a balloon.

The wedding ceremony was held at St. Hugo of the Hills Catholic Church. At approximately 4:30 p.m. the wedding party and guests assembled at the country club to watch the newlyweds receive the final blessing 10 feet above the ground in a balloon. The balloon was tethered by ropes.

Members of the Balloon Platoon, founded in the spring of 1968, constructed the four-passenger balloon complete with a wicker basket and fringes around the edges in time for the wedding.

Harding is an assistant chief designer, styling for General Motors Corp. where he first met his bride. Cheryl, whose home is in Harper Woods, attended Michigan State University for two years.

Hosting Means Paying; Be Sure They Know It

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Recently at our son's college homecoming, he and three of his friends invited their parents out to dinner in appreciation of "all we had done for them."

The bill came to well over $60, plus tax and tip. Apparently the boys did not have enough money with them, so in order to minimize the embarrassment, my husband paid the bill with his credit card and left the tip in cash.

* * *

Our own son and one of the other boys paid us their share the next day; one other parent mailed his son's share, and the fourth will probably never pay us.

Our questions: When we see these boys again, should we bring up their inexcusable lack of preparation to pay the bill that night in order to help them avoid such situations in the future? Also, do you think my husband did the right thing in rescuing the boys the way he did? Or should he have let them solve their money problems in their own way?

A MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: I think your husband did what any other father would have done in the same situation, and I don't fault him for it. (It would have taken a super - disciplinarian to witness one's son and his friends trying to scrape up enough money to pay the tab for a "parents' treat" and let them solve it in their own way.)

I do think you should tell your son in no uncertain terms that he is a big boy now, and old enough to come prepared to pay his share of the check when he's a host. And as for the other boys, it's up to their parents to give them the same lecture.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My husband is 23 years old, and he decided that WASHING his hair will make his hair fall out, so will you please put something in your column to set him straight?

Melvin is a very good - looking fellow, but he's got this thing about losing his hair. He won't use a hairbrush at all because every time he sees a few hairs in his hairbrush he practically bawls. And he doesn't use a comb any more than he absolutely must.

He's a wonderful guy, but, Abby, you don't know how hard it is to sleep with a man who hasn't washed his hair since last July. Help!

MEL'S WIFE

* * *

DEAR WIFE: Tell Mel that a CLEAN scalp is essential to the healthy growth of human hair, and he stands to lose more hair (and friends) by allowing rancid oils to collect on his head.

DEAR ABBY: I would like to answer "NEEDS TO KNOW," who asked if she should stay with a no-good husband for the sake of the kids.

As a small girl, I frequently saw my father beat up my mother. I tried my best to comfort her, and I begged her often to leave him. When I reached 14, the situation hadn't improved any, so after another one of their terrible battles I told Mamma that I couldn't take it any longer, and if she didn't tell HIM to get out, I was going to run away.

She finally made him get out, and later she divorced him. By that time she was no longer young and pretty. She grew older and more bitter, and she had no use for men. I'm sure she thought that by staying all those years she was doing the right thing. How wrong she was! Poor Mamma. She threw her life away for nothing.

In-Laws Order Favorite Photos Without Paying

By ELIZABETH L. POST
Of The Family Post Institute

Dear Mrs. Post: After our daughter was married, the groom's mother ordered over 14 pictures. Some of these she wants us to mail overseas at our expense. We had paid the photographer for the album and for pictures for our family. Each week we are told she has ordered more and we owe more.

* * *

She would now like nearly all the pictures in the album. She claims it is correct for us to pay for as many pictures as she wants. What is the duty of the bride's parents in regard to pictures?—Mrs. R.

* * *

Dear Mrs. R.: Your daughter's mother-in-law has more nerve than tact. You are in no way obligated to provide pictures for her or her family. The usual procedure is for the bride's family to show all the proofs to the groom's parents, and allow them to select those they want. The groom's mother either orders them herself, or, asks the bride's mother to include their order with her own.

* * *

If there is a price list, the groom's parents pay for their share at once — otherwise they reimburse the bride's mother as soon as she receives the bill.

CAMEO RINGS

Dear Mrs. Post: Among our office employes, we have had considerable disagreement with regard to properly wearing a ring, such as a cameo, etc. Is it proper to wear the figure facing other people or toward your wrist? — Ruth.

* * *

Dear Ruth: Years ago, when rings with family crests were used to seal letters by pressing the ring onto sealing wax, they were worn facing away from the wearer. Thus, when the clenched fist was pressed down on the envelope, the design came out right side up. Today, rings are no longer used for that purpose and all rings with a recognizable design — cameos, class rings, etc. — are worn so that the design is facing the wearer.

Games Are Full-Time Job

What becomes of a child of seven who discovers that his "Uncle Wiggily" game can be vastly improved upon? One such child was Sid Sackson, author of A Gamut of Games, who answered the question by becoming the country's leading game inventor, collector, and game historian.

An engineer by trade, Mr. Sackson has had over six adult games produced by major game companies in the United States, among them being the 3M Bookshelf Game "Acquire."

His interest in games became worldwide, and he has now amassed a library of over 1,000 games with an additional 10,000 methodically indexed on cards in his library, the number growing every day.

* * *

Mr. Sackson's interest in games has taken him around the world, delving into records of ancient games found in obscure corners of libraries and museums and into foreign game-centers to learn what challenges the Dutch, German, British, and other gamesters.

The result of his travels has been the discovery of a game played more than 3,000 years ago, and creations of a Benedictine monk, a Polish film critic, the son of a Russian aristocrat, two basket-weavers and of other surprisingly inventive personalities.

GAME BOOK

A Gamut of Games, Mr. Sackson's first book of games, contains thirty-eight of his findings, 22 of which were created by the author himself. Playable by young and old, the games range from a series of replacements for tic-tac-toe to a variation on a standard bridge game to a war strategy game.

The population of Egypt is estimated at about 33 million, compared with 21.5 million in 1950.

Effective Washing Is Key to Hand Hygiene, Beauty

Although hand lotions or creams and regular manicures are often necessary for well-cared-for hands, did you know that about the best "treatment" you can give your hands is to wash them effectively?

* * *

Handwashing is something most of us do routinely, without being aware of its real importance. Many women will carefully follow directions for use of an expensive cosmetic preparation, but consider routine, casual hand-washing good enough.

* * *

But hands that are not sufficiently clean have contributed to many a case of food poisoning, and serious infections of all kinds. Staphylococci (often referred to as "staph") the bacteria responsible for many skin infections of babies, teenagers and adults, are spread primarily by germ-laden hands. Even hands that look clean may be harboring millions of germs.

* * *

"Effective hand-washing may be the most important single control measure in combatting staphylococci infection," according to an article in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

A number of published medical studies suggest that the best way to keep hands as bacteria-free as possible is to wash them frequently and thoroughly, preferably with an antibacterial skin cleanser containing 3 per cent hexachlorophene.

SURGICAL USE

Many surgeons who must wash their hands as often as 20 times a day use a creamy emulsion called pHisoHex. Exclusive use of this sudsing fluid on the skin helps to maintain the antibacterial effect between washings.

An emollient ingredient in the liquid cleanser helps to keep hands from drying unduly. However, hand lotion — for those whose skin is extra dry or for those who prefer to use it—will not disturb the antibacterial effect of pHisoHex.

* * *

Clean, well-trimmed fingernails are an important part of effective hand care.

Careful drying will help keep skin and nails in good condition.

Salvation Army, PSH Plan Meal

None to Miss Turkey

By JANET ODELL
Women's Editor, The Pontiac Press

Individuals in families look forward to intimate gatherings on Thanksgiving Day. But what about persons in institutions? What sort of a holiday can they anticipate? Is an effort made to have a gala dinner?

We've been talking with Elizabeth Ross, dietician at Pontiac State Hospital, and the cook at the Salvation Army Men's Social Service Center. Both have appetizing plans for those in their charge.

Miss Ross will be on hand Thursday to be sure everything goes well at the hospital. She'll join her family in the afternoon but will prepare and serve her own holiday meal on Friday.

* * *

Because the general population of PSH is down and because many of the patients go home or are invited for home visits, only about 1200 dinners will be served at noon Thursday. A normal day finds 1500 to 1700 in the main dining room or the ward dining rooms.

* * *

All will have the same menu of roast turkey with homemade sage dressing, mashed potatoes, cranberry sauce, celery curls, pickles, hot rolls, pumpkin pie, coffee and milk.

The evening meal on Thanksgiving Day is always oyster stew.

The turkeys will go into the revolving ovens at midnight. Dressing will be baked separately. Potatoes are the instant variety.

SIMPLE FOODS

Convenience foods have made life easier for institution cooks, says Miss Ross who has been at PSH for three years. She worked on a state committee to develop a series of menus for use in the 18 state institutions. These cover a three-month period. Some of the food buying is done on the state level.

Many foods already arrive at the hospital in individual portions. Some of it needs cooking; some needs only be reheated.

* * *

Like any economical homemaker, Miss Ross plans to use every bit of the thanksgiving bird. She'll serve turkey soup and turkey a la king. The giblets go into the dressing. There will be turkey again at Christmas.

* * *

This will be the last Thanksgiving dinner prepared and served in the old facilities. By the middle of January, the new dining room and kitchens should be ready for occupancy. The patients will have a more cheerful place in which to eat. Just going to meals can be therapy in a mental hospital.

* * *

Responsibility for good food served attractively to homeless men rests lightly on the shoulders of Lloyd Rainwater, the cook at the Salvation Army center. Mrs. Major Leonard V. Espinosa, the manager's wife, plans meat for a month at a time, but Rainwater decides on the rest of the menus.

* * *

With 17 years of experience behind him, he is relaxed about his job. He has a second cook and six helpers.

BAKES ROLLS, PIES

With only 75 men to feed, he is able to do his own baking. He will make rolls and pies for Thursday. He too uses convenience foods like cake and pudding mixes, but potatoes right now are fresh. The Center has 30 or 40 bushels of them to use up.

* * *

Here's a tip homemakers can use. Chef Rainwater had salmon croquettes ready for the evening meal when we saw him. He had used an ice cream scoop to form the croquettes. This is not only a time saver but it assures you of even size.

Back to the Thanksgiving menu: It will start with chilled fruit juice. The turkey with sage dressing will be accompanied by mashed potatoes, candied yams, peas with onions and two kinds of cranberry sauce. There's a relish tray in addition to tossed salad. Parker House rolls and butter will be followed by pumpkin and mince pie and fruitcake.

* * *

Need is the only credential for admittance to the Center. Good food is considered an essential part of the therapy there too; that and some form of useful work.

* * *

"The men eat like there is no tomorrow," says Rainwater.

Pontiac Press Photos by Ed Vanderkarr

Miss Elizabeth Ross, head dietician at Pontiac State Hospital, makes sure there will be enough bread for dressing to be served with the Thanksgiving turkey. She figures on using 280 loaves, all of which must be prepared by hand. Miss Ross strives to make meals for the patients as attractive and appetizing as possible.

Dinner Table Helps Keep Family Ties

Richard D. Haynes of St. Louis, head of Monsanto Company's leavening agents section, said recently, "Thanksgiving Day is an ideal time for the homemaker to prove to herself that she holds the key that can make her house a home."

Most of us Thursday will probably be part of a family group which is somehow happier and more contented — whose members feel closer to each other on that day than on a normal day, Haynes pointed out.

He believes this rare, once-or-twice-a-year feeling surely transcends mere holiday atmosphere.

* * *

"Couldn't it simply be a comfortable, subconscious appreciation that this food was specially prepared by somebody who really cares for us?" he asks.

If the Monsanto food specialist is right, then maybe there is really a Thanksgiving Day secret that can help retain the "family feeling" that seems to be slipping away.

Psychologists generally agree that a good way to narrow the generation gap at home — or to avoid it altogether — is to keep open a regular line of communication between parent and child.

* * *

Here is how a Thanksgiving Day atmosphere might be transposed to our everyday dining tables to serve as that vital link:

TOGETHERNESS

At least one meal each day should bring the entire family together without such interferences as the television set. The ideal time probably would be the evening meal, when today's events can be discussed by everybody and tomorrow's problems are comfortably distant.

A thoughtful interchange of ideas and opinions at such a time can result in family closeness which is likely to linger and "sink into" the subconsciousness of each member in the ensuing "quiet hours" of the night.

* * *

When family schedules prohibit such a gathering in the evening, an alternate mealtime, such as breakfast, can suffice, since a particular time of the day is not vital. The most important elements are frequency and regularity.

* * *

The frequency will minimize the chances that a serious problem or decision will remain unattended for a harmful period of time.

* * *

The regularity will assure each member of the family that an opportunity to air any subject — to a sympathetic audience — is never more than a day away.

Such a "family forum" can be gratifying not only between parents and children, but also between husband and wife, brother and sister.

Farm Boys in USSR Get Royal Treatment

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

TASHKENT, U.S.S.R. — How you going to keep 'em down on the farm?

It's easy on a collective apparently — if you offer such inducements as a guaranteed annual income, four months vacation each year, your own house and garden plot, and a movie every day during the winter farming lull.

* * *

A visit to a huge collective about an hour's drive from the capital of the Uzbek Republic offers a detailed view of how a state-owned farm operates.

* * *

Our group spent the good part of one day watching cultivation and harvesting on what must be a showcase for the Soviets — a 34,580 acre agricultural complex involving 1,600 families.

The manager of "Kizie Uzbekistan" farm is Anvaragamna Zarov, a genial man with sun-weathered face who gave us a grand tour from the cotton fields to the cattle barns.

* * *

The farm, actually a self-contained community, is located in the rich foothills of the Upper Asia mountain mass and its major crop is cotton. The whole of this oasis is known for its prize cotton, picked by hand on this particular farm because of its quality.

STATE BUYS

The state buys all the cotton and in turn furnishes all the seeds, the manager told us. Some acreage also is devoted to other production — 2,000 acres of orchard and vineyard, another 1,037 acres in hay and other crops for feeding the cattle, still other acreage of mulberry groves for the farm also produces silk.

* * *

If the harvest is exceptionally good, the excess vegetables and fruits are distributed to farm personnel. Each farmer also has a small private garden plot near his home, extremely modest by standards on a U.S. mechanized farm.

* * *

The farm, established in 1930, has its own radio and telephone communications, electrical and natural gas supplies, its own hospital and 12 centers for the ailing, a recreation center, a theater where five movies are shown during the farming season, every day during the winter. It has a choral society and a theatrical group.

* * *

When we asked Zarov how the farm folk got into Tashkent if they wanted to enjoy city life, he told us that 32 farmers own their own cars, another 75 motorcycles.

* * *

Insomnia Masks Real Problems, Says Expert

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The trouble with insomniacs, says a UCLA pyschiatrist, is they tend to become preoccupied with their sleeplessness.

Studies on insomnia suggest that chronic sleeplessness is associated with moderate to severe personality disturbances as reflected by psychological testing, reports Anthony Kales of UCLA's Brain Research Institute.

* * *

Whatever the problems are, insomniacs generally focus on their inability to sleep and show little concern for their emotional difficulties.

The most common variety of insomnia is characterized by chronic inability to fall asleep readily. Other victims of the disorder may fall asleep easily but have persistent difficulty staying asleep.

Line Dishpan

When washing crystal and delicate china, line your dishpan with a towel. The soft fabric will act as a cushion, guarding against chips and scratches.

Glittering chains, colorful scarves and the feminine allure of transparent fabrics continue big for fall. To complete the look, fashion glasses (left) are added in eye-flattering frame and lens pastels. Distortion-free and well-fitted, they are delicately tinted to go anywhere daytime and at night. Daring fashions, too, such as these pastel-tinted accessory shields (right). They are part of today's ever-changing spirit of adventure. Glasses are by Bausch and Lomb.

Let's Please Pause for Thanksgiving

By BETTY CANARY
NEA Writer

Although we are still tied to our agrarian past, Americans are growing less attuned to the seasons. When our town recently celebrated its Harvest Homecoming, I even had a young neighbor ask, "What does 'harvest' mean?"

We explained, and yet it was difficult for me to believe that merely saying the word didn't conjure up for her a vast cornucopia spilling over with vegetables and fruits. Or that she didn't see in her mind's eye wheat fields or apple orchards or farmers tying bundles of corn.

* * *

Perhaps this is what the real Generation Gap is all about — a woman from the turkey-only-on-Thanksgiving era explaining "harvest time" to a girl who knows one should keep frozen turkey dinners on hand for emergencies.

November has always been my favorite month, at first, because I could celebrate both Thanksgiving and my birthday. I still favor it, but now I find myself giving thanks for different things. Mainly that my children's choice of birthday gifts improves with the years. (There's a limit to how many gallons of gardenia cologne a person can use.)

It's a heavy, rich month and there's not much opportunity for drifting thoughts about how time is lent to us and not given. We are busy every hour, so is everybody else.

The hardest part of the school year is here and the house is filled with children and projects each afternoon and a hurried "let's get finished," feeling runs like a current through our lives.

So far I have managed to maintain my attitude of passive resistance to Christmas tree ornaments which appeared in the stores along with Halloween masks and witch costumes. But, I haven't been able to completely pass up the catalogues. Our first one arrived, again this year, in August.

I should perhaps commend that company for its early-bird approach, but I find that kind of compliment hard to dredge up when I'm still shaking sand out of beach towels.

I'll continue celebrating Thanksgiving as a separate and complete holiday instead of treating it as a springboard for Christmas.

Preparations for it are not too difficult at our house because our dinner is a traditional one, the menu planned (or is that "preordained?"), the activities of the day as much the same each year as we can keep them.

So, someplace in between the time when the children bring in Pilgrim hats fashioned from black construction paper and the time when the yellow tablecloth is ironed and put away until next Thanksgiving, why not try to have a brief respite from rush and worries?

Knit Velour Has Velveteen Look

The long and lanky look of the Thirties is the fashion silhouette of the year, reports the National Cotton Council.

The casual elegance of this era is embodied in knitted fabrics, noted for their capacity to cling and drape. Cotton knits — lightweight and comfortable as only cotton can be — are spotlighted in many of the season's prettiest outfits.

* * *

One of the most popular knitted cottons doesn't resemble a knit at all. It's velour — a plush pile fabric that looks like velveteen, yet has a softer, more pliable face.

Soft velours are used for T-shirt dresses, many with narrow stripes printed around the neckline and sleeves.

Polly's Pointers

Will Remove Stain

DEAR POLLY — Mrs. B. J. can remove coffee and tea stains from her plastic tablecloth by using ½-cup of a clear ammonia detergent to a quart of warm water. Scrub small areas at a time with a small brush and rinse with warm water. This also is good for any leatherlike fabrics. My flannel-backed plastic cloth looks like new after doing this. — MRS. G. R.

* * *

DEAR GIRLS — I presume Mrs. G. R. is referring to an ammonia all-purpose liquid cleaner that makes suds like a detergent and does work well for this.—POLLY

POLLY'S PROBLEM

DEAR POLLY — Our ceilings were plastered in a swirl design and I would like to know how we can paint them without ruining this pattern. I am afraid regular paint will cover the swirls.—MAXINE

* * *

DEAR POLLY — I live alone and seldom use the big oven to my electric range but use a small broiler constantly. My counter space is limited so a place to keep the broiler was a problem until I took a 12x24-inch board, covered it with adhesive-backed paper and laid it across the two back burners on the stove which I never use.

* * *

I shove the board all the way back to the wall so there is no danger of it scorching when the front burners are on. I would not recommend this for a gas stove with a flame but it is great for an electric stove which has no flame. I use the range oven for storing cookies, crackers and paper products.—O. L. R.

* * *

DEAR GIRLS — This is a great idea for a storage place for a portable boiler, or any other small appliance, but extreme care should be used when the front burners are on, even on an electric stove. Omitting the paper covering would help but it would be safer to use a metal tray or even a cookie sheet.—POLLY

Married twice, she had seven children, of whom two sons are still living. She also has 13 grandchildren, 29 great-grandchildren and 10 great-great grandchildren.

Doesn't Hurt to Get Involved

Finance World Open to Women

Note to wives:

Don't brood if hubby doesn't talk investments with you. Three out of four husband's don't.

Some wives, however, choose not to be bothered with investments or financial details, except spending money.

Still other women are antagonistic toward financial planning. Others, woefully unprepared, find economic responsibilities thrust upon them by family emergencies.

* * *

One of America's most successful women stockbrokers offers this advice:

"Any reasonably intelligent woman can learn her way around the money world and at the same time preserve her feminine nature."

The words come from Herta Hess Levy, who works daily with a large number of customers, men and women, in the Chicago office of Paine, Webber, Jackson & Curtis, nationwide investment firm.

Mrs. Levy's comments are contained in the new paperback edition of her book, "What Every Woman Should Know About Investing Her Money."

WOMEN'S POWER

In plain English, Mrs. Levy gives women an eye-opener into their economic strength. She outlines the workings of the stock market and tells women ways of choosing the right investment vehicle for reaching specific investment goals. And she outlines the help professionals can provide.

Mrs. Levy speaks from experience, as a widow, a mother and a stockbroker with limitless enthusiasm. She draws upon her background in outlining for women the avenues open for enriching their lives with "R and R," her term for the romanticism and realism she sees in business.

This is the picutre Mrs. Levy paints of women's economic status:

Women own almost half the shares of common stock held by individuals in this country. They own almost half of all the real estate. They're the beneficiaries of more than half the life insurance policies written in addition to owning their own policies.

* * *

"Women possess wealth, receive income from it, enjoy its benefits, but have little control or even understanding of the management of money," she says.

And that's a pity, she says.

"When married, what a delicious community of interest to plan together, to spend and save together," she writes. "If unmarried, what great joy and satisfaction comes with the capacity to earn, to save, to spend and to shape one's own life."

* * *

Motivation heads the list of requirements she sets forth "for becoming a true, confident, successful, yet feminine woman investor."

"You must have the desire to become an investor and to see the wonderful things your money can do."

* * *

Next comes understanding "a few basic economic facts." Then, setting up investment goals and sticking with them.

A husband should realize that his wife is better off with some knowledge about financial affairs, Mrs. Levy says. If the guidance isn't forthcoming, a wife should seek it herself. And if wives have financial knowledge, husbands would be more inclined to talk money matters with them, she observes.

* * *

And that would change the statistics that show that about three out of four married men never or occasionally discuss investments with their wives.

The figure comes from a sampling of 2,140 Paine, Webber customers coast to coast. In addition, the survey shows that one out of six married men made investment conversations with their wives "frequently" and one of eight, "all the time."

Baby Shampoo Pampers Hair

If you're one of the real nature girls who rides down the ski slopes with hair blowing in the wind, you make a lovely picture. But what it can do to your hair is disasterous—unless you give it some special tender loving care.

* * *

The sun, snow and cold remove the natural oils from your hair and with them the shine and bounce. Gentle washing is mandatory so as not to dry out your hair any more.

* * *

Baby shampoo cleans it without removing all the natural oils and leaves it shiny and manageable. Then use a conditioner to fortify your hair against the new exposure, and every time you head for the slopes add a little more conditioner to the ends of your hair to keep them soft.

* * *

You can be the queen of the slopes, and the beauty by the fire back at the lodge, if you just give your hair some tender loving care.

Does There Exist Redress for Renters?

By ANNE TAYLOR
AP News Feature

In some respects this country is becoming a nation of renters. In the past couple of years, housing starts have been depressed and an increasing percentage of new construction has been in the form of apartments.

And with this trend, almost predictably, has come an increase in the number of complaints about living conditions. Most typical, but more and more common, is the following type of letter.

* * *

Dear Miss Taylor:

We rented our apartment without a lease. The first year the landlord raised the rent $3, and this year he raised it $5.

He promised to redecorate the apartment, which was not done. It cost us $250 to have the apartment painted last month. He allowed us $50 toward the job. Then he raised the rent.

Do you think it is right for him to raise the rent — whenever he gets a tax increase — without doing any improvements?

Mrs. A. R., Chicago

Dear Mrs. A. R.:

Believe me, I sympathize with you, but I believe my sympathy and your ire are going to do little to correct the situation. There's little redress for renters who do not have leases specifying their landlord's obligations.

I would consult the local housing authority to learn just what your landlord's obligations are. I would also seek legal advice, especially as to whether your oral agreement might possibly have any validity as a contract.

I'm sure you are aware that landlords, too, are under financial pressures due to tax increases and the high cost of upkeep. Your increases do seem to be small in view of the high rate of inflation.

However, promises are promises. I think your landlord owes you fewer oral promises, more performance and a standard lease.

RETIRED

Dear Miss Taylor:

I have retired, and my husband will retire in a few years. Our house, which is paid for, is worth about $30,000. My retirement is more than $400 and I think my husband's will be at least $150 a month.

We have 12,900 shares of a mutual fund and $15,000 in a savings bank. Some people advise us to leave $4,000 or $5,000 in a bank and invest the remainder in something safe. But today we don't know what is safe.

Mrs. R., Castro Valley, Calif.

* * *

Dear Mrs. R.:

With money in the bank, $100,000 in a mutual fund (I estimate) and a nice pension, I think you already have learned quite a bit about safety and security. And I think you can find more safe investments.

Utility stocks would provide good dividends and possible appreciation. Tax-exempt municipal bonds have safety and very attractive yields. U.S. government securities also can be considered.

I think, however, that you would be more comfortable with, of all things, another mutual fund —one that has a consistently good record for five years and which has outperformed the popular market averages for the past six months.

Periodic withdrawals from your funds, combined with dividends, should add at least $2,500 to your retirement income. However, you are overly concentrated in your present fund. I think you should diversify.

Meat Buying Starts Day

NEW YORK (AP) — A one-square-mile area in New York City's lower West Side houses the busiest wholesale meat market in the world.

The business in the market totals $2 billion a year. The employment runs at a relatively stable 5,000.

While most of the city folk are still asleep, the buyers and butchers, the luggers and loaders, the skinners and trimmers and cutters are already at work. The workday starts at 5 a.m.

"My wife moans about it once in a while, but I guess you get used to it," says 37-year-old Ralph Fusco whose family has owned butcher shops in New Jersey for three generations.

Let Baby Suck Finger Is Advice to Mother

NEW YORK — The use of pacifiers to satisfy an infant's sucking instincts is not as satisfactory as the thumb or fingers, a noted pediatrician declared in a magazine article released recently.

Writing in the current issue of Redbook magazine, Dr. T. Berry Brazelton, a distinguished physician and researcher who has taught at Harvard Medical School for the past 23 years, said many mothers "overuse" pacifiers.

* * *

"Such use reflects the mother's need for a crutch, not the infant's," he contended. "Nearly every infant needs some extra sucking, and if allowed to, he will find it for himself on his thumb or fingers. A pacifier will replace his interest in his own fingers, but since it is not an independently mastered crutch, it is, in my opinion, not as satisfactory."

* * *

Dr. Brazelton also chastized mothers who prop their babies bottles so that they can feed themselves. He said that this is the surest way of depriving a baby of the warmth a mother adds to the simple act of feeding.

"Forcing a baby to rely on his own resources while feeding may prolong and intensify his attachment to his bottle, since it becomes his sole source of gratification."

Dismissing the concern of mothers whose infants suck their fingers, Dr. Brazelton said, "The happiest babies often do the most sucking after feedings. It seems to be the baby's attempt to reproduce the pleasant situation for himself.

"When finger-sucking is invested with the memory of a satisfying feeding and contact with his mother, it becomes a very important activity to him."

Dr. Brazelton's copyrighted article is condensed from his forthcoming book Infants and Mothers: Differences In Development, which Redbook calls "the most enjoyable and helpful baby book since Spock." In addition to special psychoanalytic studies he has conducted, Dr. Brazelton's opinions also emanate from a 19-year-old private pediatric practice in Cambridge, Massachusetts.

* * *

The purpose of Dr. Brazelton's research has been to help mothers to a better understanding of the term "normal" because he is firmly convinced that babies can be very "different" and still be perfectly healthy.

Salmonellosis May Be Threat at Holiday Time

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — If your Thanksgiving turkey's coming out of a freezer, let it thaw completely.

Then cook it thoroughly.

That way, says Dr. Matthew S. Loewenstein, you minimize the risk of having the holiday spoiled by food poisoning.

Dr. Loewenstein is assistant chief of the Salmonella Unit of the National Communicable Disease Center (NCDC) here.

* * *

Loewenstein says turkeys—as well as other poultry, eggs, and many meat products—may transmit salmonellosis, a food poisoning that could turn Thanksgiving fun into great discomfort.

Salmonellosis is an acute infectious disease characterized by a sudden onset of abdominal pain, diarrhea, frequent vomiting, chills, fever and prostration, says the NCDC.

Loewenstein said the chances of buying at a store a turkey that carries salmonellosis are "about 10 per cent" at any time of the year.

However, he added, if the turkey is thawed out well and cooked thoroughly under hygienic conditions, there is almost no chance of getting salmopellosis from a disease-carrying bird.

Another NCDC official, Dr. John Bennett, said regular checks on poultry conducted by the United States Department of Agriculture don't reveal whether salmonellosis is present. Individual bacteriological tests would have to be conducted to detect the disease, Bennett explained.

The disease poses no serious threats to healthy persons, Bennett said.

* * *

However, infants and elderly persons, as well as those weakened by illness, may be fatally affected by gastrointestinal disorders caused by salmonellosis. Serious cases, although rare, require hospital treatment.

* * *

Bennett said most healthy persons who eat food carrying the disease will experience only a mild discomfort for 24 to 48 hours.

Plants range in size from bacteria only a few microns (millionths of a meter) long to giant redwoods more than 350 feet high.

Borrowed from the kitchen to double as a floral container, the above casserole was chosen to further enhance a fall color scheme of natural, muted tones for this Thanksgiving centerpiece. For a feeling of the fields and the harvest, florists note that dried materials offer exciting color combinations and textures in a bouquet with fresh flowers. For example, the mixed arrangement above includes: purple eucalyptus spirals, wheat, oak leaves, berried branches, orange and bronze sea oats, yellow fuji mums, bronze daisies and tangerine carnations.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

There has been a lot of publicity about isometric exercises during the past few years. However my mail indicates that many women are still confused concerning just what it is, what makes it different, and how it compares with other types of exercise. Today let me clarify this for you.

To put it simply, an isometric exercise is the action of a muscle or a group of muscles against an immovable object. It can also be action against another group of muscles. Either can create great tension. In other words, you exercise without moving.

* * *

Here is an example of muscles against muscles. Place your hands on the back of your head. Pull forward with your hands as you push back with your head. Hold for six seconds at the point of greatest tension. This exercise will help you keep a lovely neck.

Now let me give you an example of muscles against an immovable object. Stand in a doorway. Reach up with your arms and place the palms of your hands against the top of the doorway. Push against the doorway with your hands. Hold at greatest tension for six seconds.

There are several advantages to be had from isometric exercises. In the first place a good routine takes literally only a few minutes. Also results are obtained much quicker than from other types of exercise.

Then too, many persons can do these exercises when others are prohibited because of some special physical condition. A medical checkup is advisable before adopting any plan of exercise.

* * *

The isotonic exercises are those which call for action, such as walking, jogging, swimming, calisthenics, and so forth. They are valuable because they stir up circulation, thus improving the circulatory system and the heart. Of course they require much more time than isometric exercises. Ideally an exercise program should include some of each type.

Isometrics are especially effective for women because they can be applied to definite and limited areas and also because they show results so quickly. An increase in bust measurement occurs much more rapidly than with other types of exercise. Flabby areas may firm up within a couple of weeks if you are faithful and exercise every day.

* * *

I have selected some isometric exercises which I think will be most effective for women. These will quickly correct the most usual defects in figure and require little time. If you would like to have these, send twenty cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for the booklet, "Isometric Exercises for Women." Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

A reception in the American Legion Hall, Rochester, Sunday afternoon, marked the upcoming golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Ben J. Tucker, Thanksgiving Day. The couple, residents of Rochester since 1921, married Nov. 27, 1919, in Williamston.

Youth Make Films Shown at Institute

Films made by young people for young people will be featured in a "Fifth Saturday Special" by the Detroit Youth Theatre, Saturday at the Art Institute.

The Youth Film Festival will present animated films produced by youngsters, age 5 and up. The films range in length from 15 seconds to 6 minutes.

They are made available through the Yellow Ball Workshop in Lexington, Mass., which trains children in the mechanics of film production. The students are free to inject their own creativity. Artwork, animation and special effects are also student-produced.

* * *

The total impression of these short films is astounding, as young producers capture a special mood with fresh humor and directness.

The Yellow Ball Workshop has assembled an impressive collection of reviews by New York critics who feel these young producers have created the best animated films in the media today.

The hour-long film festival will be shown at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. Tickets are available at the Art Institute Ticket Office and all J. L. Hudson ticket centers.

'Good Old Days' Not So Rosy

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — Want to spin time back to the era when a loaf of bread cost eight cents, eggs about 53 cents a dozen, round steak 46 cents a pound, and margarine 27 cents?

Just set your calendar back 40 years to 1929 — and the days before the big Wall Street crash.

* * *

In addition to lower food prices, also fewer people paid income taxes. Four million Americans filed returns that year, putting $1 billion in Uncle Sam's coffers. That compares with 73 million paying Uncle Sam more than $106 billion last year.

* * *

But take a closer look at the "good old days." Doing so only a dunce would want to bring them back. Consider:

- The suicide rate was 22 percent greater than it is today.
- More than seven out of 10 students 17 years old had quit school before graduation.
- One mother out of every 143 died in childbirth compared with one in about every 3,500 today.
- The infant mortality rate stood at nearly one out of every 15 births — three times greater than 1969.
- The typical American in 1929 earned $25.03 for a six-day work week.

The look at the good old days comes in a report from the State Farm Life Insurance Co.

The typical worker of 1929 was compared with his counterpart today — a married factory worker, 40.

DIETS DIFFER

Diets were markedly different. In addition to eating only one-fifth as much beef as they do today, Americans then also consumed only one-quarter as much margarine.

People also consumed three times as much butter and nearly four times as many sweet potatoes.

Families were large, the average household consisting of 4.1 persons. Today the average is about 25 percent smaller.

* * *

The marriage rate was about the same in 1929 as it is today, but the divorce rate was only a little more than half as great.

People didn't marry as young as they do today. The median age at marriage was 25.6 years for a male and 22.4 for a female — compared to about 23 and 20 years, respectively, today.

There are an estimated 200 million charge accounts and 240 million credit cards in use in the U.S.

Most Migrants Gone but Needs Linger On

LANSING (AP) — Most migrant laborers who came to work on the 1969 Michigan fruit and vegetable harvests have left for the year, but talk of the problems—and efforts to solve them — remain.

A resolution dealing with migrants sparked some debate at the recent Michigan Farm Bureau delegate conference in Lansing.

★ ★ ★

There was little controversy over sections commending the Legislature and Gov. William Milliken for "realizing that there are special problems with respect to seasonal farm workers" and calling for streamlining regulations so migrants would be encouraged to arrange for Michigan jobs before leaving their home states.

But the delegates, sensitive over what the Farm Bureau calls "often one-sided reports of migrant conditions and adamantly opposed to the California grape boycott, objected to another section.

FINALLY AWAKENING

It expressed encouragement that government agencies, religious groups and the public "are finally awakening to the needs of our seasonal employes." (Several church-affiliated groups have endorsed life boycott.)

They also questioned a section calling for an income tax increase to provide funds for training and education programs to improve the health, general educational level and skills of farm workers.

★ ★ ★

"If they'd just urged that current programs for migrants be adequately and properly funded," said one source, the resolution may have passed.

But it failed.

Instead, delegates endorsed a proposal citing the "current arousing of social conscience an public awareness with regard to special problems related to seasonal farm workers.

RECOGNIZED BY GROWERS?

"In the past, these special problems have been recognized only by their farmer-employers," the resolution said.

Farmers have tried to provide housing and improved living conditions for migrants, it said. "They have increased farm wages at a faster rate than most other wage rates even as net farm incomes have decreased.

"Even with the recent gains farm employers have provided for these seasonal employes," it continued, "there are still problems inherent in the migrating from state to state each year, particularly for a group with a low educational level and when a language barrier is sometimes present."

The approved resolution also commended government leaders for realizing the problems and encouraged them to "be informed of the true agricultural labor situation."

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile, the Michigan Welfare League also endorsed resolutions involving migrant workers.

SPECIAL PROGRAMS

The league urged special education and day care programs for migrant children, coverage under minimum wage laws, an "appropriate" unemployment compensation plan and federal legislation to bring migrants under the National Labor Relations and Social Security acts.

★ ★ ★

At the state level, work continues on recommendations submitted last month by a special task force on migrant labor named by Milliken.

Symphony Strike in D.C. Ends as Offer Accepted

WASHINGTON (AP) — A six-week strike by members of the National Symphony Orchestra has ended with a 55-25 vote by the Musicians to accept management's final offer.

* * *

The concert season, which was to have started Oct. 14, will begin Tuesday night.

A spokesman for the National Symphony Association said salary and fringe benefits would amount to $14,000 in the third year of the new contract.

* * *

A spokesman for the American Federation of Musicians said the offer was accepted only because of a threat by the association to cancel the symphony season.

Despite extensive family planning measures, the population of India is expected to reach 500 million when the next census is taken in 1971. In 1961, the population was 439 million.

Suspect Guilty in Bar Slaying

Second Convicted of Manslaughter

Oakland County Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem this morning found a Troy man guilty of second-degree murder in the killing of a Pontiac bar patron last March.

The ruling against Richard L. Henry, 24, of 4345 Livernois could result in life in prison when he is sentenced by Judge Ziem Dec. 9.

* * *

The same day, Ziem will sentence James Maybee, 32, of 29 S. Paddock, a codefendant with Henry in the knife slaying of Larry Belce, 52, on March 15.

A jury of 11 women and one man found Maybee guilty of manslaughter, a lesser offense than second degree murder. Manslaughter carries a maximum penalty of 15 years in prison.

WAIVED JURY TRIAL

Henry had waived his right to a jury trial and was tried by Judge Ziem.

The six-day trial of the two men ended Nov. 14, with the jury taking four days to reach its verdict against Maybee.

* * *

Belce, a roomer at the Waldron Hotel, was stabbed five times with a hunting knife in the men's room of Bob-Ken's Bar, 9 N. Saginaw.

Maybee was blamed for the stabbing by Henry, who took the stand in his own defense. He said it was his knife but that he had given it to Maybee.

* * *

However, blood was found only on Henry's clothing, according to testimony.

Gift to Red Cross in Will Challenged

AUSTIN, Minn. (AP) — District Court Judge Daniel Foley has taken under advisement a contested will case involving a $952,000 bequest to the American Red Cross.

Warren S. Carter Jr. is contesting the will of his great-aunt, Marian Jenks, whose estate was valued at more than $1 million at the time of her death in 1968. Carter received about $50,000 of the estate. Some $10,000 went to Carleton College and three Carter daughters. The reminder of the estate was left to the American Red Cross.

Carter claimed his aunt did not know the nature or extent of her property nor the nature of the disposition she was making.

Because of the population explosion, it is predicted that there will be at least 18 cities in Latin America in the next decade with populations of one million or more.

Army Sweetens Pot for Drill Sergeants

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army is short of drill sergeants —those noncommissioned officers with tough reputations who have the job of transforming civilians into soldiers.

* * *

Reasons for the shortage include long working hours, not enough pay and too little prestige.

The Army is trying to cure the situation, including $30 a month more to sweeten the pot.

A recent circular appealing for volunteers reported the Army was short more than 2,500 drill sergeants. That's nearly one-third of the total requirement of some 8,000.

MORE WORK

"Shortage has forced greater work loads on those currently performing this duty," the Army's personnel office said.

* * *

Traditionally, drill sergeants have been saddled with the image of tough, blue-jowled ogres.

But Army officers say that's not the way it works in their service.

"The drill sergeant develops a sort of father image for our recruits, and sometimes he has to be around for personal conversations about problems having nothing to do with the Army," one officer said.

* * *

Counting such personal touches and the training routine itself, officers said, often means a 14- to 16-hour workday for drill sergeants.

Copying the Marine Corps, the Army about 4 years ago started a special program for producing drill sergeants and established a badge of office, the wide brim campaign hat.

A survey conducted last year, however, showed that the job "does not carry enough prestige." Army personnel officials said.

Drill sergeants get certain benefits now, including a $30 a month "superior performance" payment, extra uniforms and free laundry.

The Army wants to double the monthly special pay.

'NO ROUGH STUFF'

Army authorities emphatically deny their sergeants use rough stuff in shaping recruits during basic training.

Investigators looked into 19 claims of brutality since last January and found that only 5 involved drill instructors.

Men who elect to become drill sergeants are put through a rugged six-week course. The attrition rate run between 35 and 40 per cent.

Authorities said there is no special psychological screening.

However, officers said the prospective drill sergeants are "put under stress during their schooling, and that tends to show their true colors."

Tools Taken in Area Theft

Joseph Bailey of 1684 W. Leonard, Addison Township, yesterday reported the theft of several power tools from the barn behind his home.

* * *

Missing are a $40 drill motor, a $59 air compressor, and a chain saw valued at $176.

* * *

Oakland County Sheriff's deputies could find no signs of forced entry to the barn.

$5,300 in Items Stolen in Addison

Reported stolen yesterday from an Addison Township storage shed were 150 fluorescent light fixtures and 160 feet of copper tubing, totally valued at $5,300.

* * *

According to Oakland County Sheriff's deputies, the shed at the John Fedricks home, 225 Rowland, was entered with a key hanging on the wall of an adjacent barn.

2 Hospitalized by Avon Crash

Two women were hospitalized last night following an automobile accident in which their husbands were also injured.

The four were taken to Crittenton Hospital in Avon Township.

* * *

Mrs. William E. Hale, 23, of 38 Bec, Southfield, is listed in fair condition with a concussion and internal injuries. Mrs. Domingo J. Vidal, 22, of 1119 Avon Manor, Avon Township, is listed in critical condition with internal injuries.

Mr. Hale and Mr. Vidal were treated and released.

* *

According to Oakland County sheriff's deputies, a car driven by Mrs. Hale crashed into the side of an embankment on Dequindre near Yates in Avon Townsip.

Mrs. Hale was driving approximately 60 miles per hour west on Yates, skidded 57 feet at the Yates-Dequindre Intersection, crossed Dequindre and crashed into the embankment, according to deputies.

$45 Million Goes to Army Sergeant

FORT BRAGG, N.C. (UPI) — A few days ago, he was simply Sgt. Bucky Wharton, stationed at Ft. Bragg and living on his Army earnings of $214 a month.

Now, he is probably the richest sergeant in the U.S. Army. Wharton says things are a lot better already.

★ ★ ★

The Texas Supreme Court upheld a ruling awarding him an inheritance of $45 million from his late grandmother, Electra Waggoner.

"I have a tremendous responsibility on my shoulders," the new 22-year-old multimillionaire added.

TO GO TO SCHOOL

Wharton doesn't plan to stay a "rich sergeant" for long. The young soldier is due to be released from the Army next June and then he hopes to go to school, either in Texas, Mexico or New Mexico.

"I have no idea when I will take over the estate," he said. "I hope I'm not just a figurehead. I want to take an active part in it."

★ ★ ★

The decision by the Texas court ended seven years of litigation over the estate, which includes one of the biggest ranches in the Lone Star State, the W. T. Waggoner ranch, near Vernon.

Will GOP Adopt Similar Tactic?

Dems Take New Fund-Raising Tack

LANSING (AP) — If Michigan Democrats can raise $50,000 by offering prizes, will political fund raising in this state enter a new era?

Both Democrats and Republicans have big deficits. And while party spokesmen insist the traditional fund raising methods are as good as ever, they agree that increasing costs make it necessary also to consider new ways of getting the dollar.

★ ★ ★

State Democratic Chairman James McNeely says the party's new twist — a game offering a big prize for only $1 — simply is an emergency measure for now, aimed at wiping out a deficit.

If it is successful, however, McNeely says he can "almost guarantee" the party will try the contest approach again.

WHO WOULDN'T?

After all, who wouldn't want to repeat a $50,000 gimmick?

Republican Chairman William McLaughlin says he, too, will be interested in the results of the contest which offers a 1970 automobile as grand prize and lures participants with 102 other prizes.

★ ★ ★

Does he think this type of approach cheapens the political fund-raising process?

"I have no objection to raising money in any legal way," he laughed.

★ ★ ★

However, he says the Republicans have not been working on a game approach.

BROADER BASE

McNeely says one way to see if it is a means of broadening the base of political contributions without asking for large amounts.

★ ★ ★

"Nobody in this contest has to buy a membership," McNeely says. "And we're not taking names for mailing lists."

Republican Gov. William Milliken says broading the base of financial support is an important problem for both parties, but that he has not found the game approach particulary appealing.

Cleric Leaves Pulpit for Police Chief Post

ARCANUM, Ohio (UPI) — The Rev. E. W. Bailey has ended his 26-year career in the church to become police chief of this southwest Ohio village.

★ ★ ★

Bailey, 52, a native of Bay City Mich., preached in Detroit for six years and headed congregations of the Church of the Nazarene in Hollywood, Fla., and Butler, Ind.

In May he heard a radio broadcast at Fort Wayne, Ind., advertising the fact that Arcanum was seeking a new police chief. He and his wife pulled up roots and moved here from Butler, Ind.

"We've got a pretty good ministry in police work because we're right out there with the people," Bailey said. "We have to show that being Christian isn't sissy."

ATTENDING CLASSES

Bailey was accepted as a patrolman at first and then appointed chief after his six-month probationary period. He is attending police training classes required by the state at Greenville and will graduate in January.

He said his goal was to "lead our residents to obey the law rather than make arrests after the law has been broken."

★ ★ ★

Arcanum, with its population of 2,000, boasts a low crime rate, and "I want to keep it that way," he said.

Savings Rise Average $900 in 10 Years

LANSING (AP) — The average savings account in Michigan's 32 state-chartered savings and loan associations has zoomed up nearly $900 during the last 10 years, reports the state commerce department.

The department's financial institutions bureau said the average savings account totals $2,897 today, compared with $2,002 in 1959.

★ ★ ★

The Savings and Loans Associations had assets totaling nearly $1.25 billion last year, compared to more than $1.17 billion in 1967, the bureau said.

Dividends distributed to the 381,159 members amounted to $48.5 million, $3.8 million more than the previous year.

Premature Fete Marks Birthday of Beethoven

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A cake 20 feet high and 15 feet square has been ordered by the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra, to celebrate the 200th birthday anniversary of composer Ludwig van Bethoven.

Actually, the Union Square party tomorrow will be a bit early — experts disagree on whether Beethoven was born Dec. 15 or 16, but they all agree it was in 1770.

★ ★ ★

Charles Schulz, creator of the "Peanuts" comic strip whose Schroeder is an avid Beethoven fan, explained that the orchestra "didn't want to wait until next year."

★ ★ ★

On hand will be the 6th Army Band, the Red Garter Band and stars of the hit musical "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown," which features "Peanuts" characters.

WATERFORD JAYCEES
SUPPORT
WATERFORD SCHOOL MILLAGE PROPOSAL

QUESTIONS

What is the millage proposal?

What does this mean in terms of money for each property owner?

Where is this money from the millage to be spent?

Why not use the money the schools have for new construction?

How much money do the schools receive and where does it come from?

Why is the millage needed for a period of only one year?

What will happen if the Michigan State School Board requires all schools to operate on full day schedules?

What is required in order to return schools to a full day schedule?

Why does Waterford require an additional 125 new teachers?

ANSWERS

The proposal is that a 9 mill increase in school taxes be levied for a period of one year (1970), for the operation of schools.

A 9 mill increase means that each $1,000.00 of assessed value of your property costs an additional $9.00. An example of this would be: if your home is assessed at $4,000.00, your increase in taxes would amount to $36.00 for the one year.

The money from the millage is to be used for 3 purposes. 90% of it will pay for 125 new teachers. 6.2% will go for custodial services. 3.8% will go for supplies the teachers will require.

The money for new construction is under the heading of bonded debt. This is for principle and interest for school construction. This money under state law can not be used for any other purpose.

The Waterford Schools have a budget of $12,066,832.79. They receive $5,187,435.47 from local taxes. They receive $5,932,788.32 from the state. They also receive $868,000.00 from the state which can only be used for certain state specified purposes.

The school administration feels that by the time the one year is up, the State Legislature will have passed and put into effect a new school aid reform bill.

A full day schedule of school is — normally 6 hours of classes. If the state school board requires Waterford schools to conform to this and the millage proposal does not pass, then Waterford would have to apply for an emergency loan under the Inkster Act. If after a period of one year Waterford cannot repay this loan, then the State would step in and eliminate the Waterford School District. Once this is done, it is very unlikely that the Waterford School District would ever again function as an autonomous district.

In the elementary schools it would require an additional 3½ hours of classes. In secondary schools this would require an additional hour of school.

An increase of one hour of schooling in the secondary schools involves 8,117 children. This means an additional 54 teachers in order to teach them. The other 61 teachers are required in the elementary schools in order to increase their school day to 6 hours.

As stated above, this millage proposal will cost the individual property owner $9.00 per $1,000.00 of Assessed Value — BUT WHAT WILL NON-PASSAGE OF THE SCHOOL MILLAGE COST THE CHILDREN, THE TOWNSHIP, THE STATE, AND THE NATION IN TERMS OF EDUCATION AND FUTURE DEVELOPMENT. CAN WE HONESTLY AFFORD THE LATTER COST?

The Waterford school millage proposal was investigated very carefully by a committee composed of Waterford Jaycees. The committee checked with the Waterford school administration and obtained facts from them. These facts were also checked with the Oakland County administration. The committee also talked to some teachers from Waterford Schools. After reviewing all of these facts, the committee presented the facts to the membership of the Waterford Jaycees. The membership then gave their approval and support to present the facts to the public.

License-Plate Slogan Backed

LANSING (AP) — Michigan Tourist Council Director William T. McGraw has jumped into the current debate over the state's new gold-and-white license plates.

McGraw says it would be "tragic" to take the slogan "Great Lake State," off the plates, as was suggested earlier this week.

* * *

Paul Chase, a representative of the Corrections Department prison industries which make the plates, made the suggestion after law enforcement officials said the plates are hard to read.

He said the letters and numerals could be made higher and more legible if the slogan were dropped.

'IMPORTANT MEDIUM'

"The slogan appearing on the plates is an important medium in helping to promote the advantages of Michigan's natural resources, industry and agriculture as well as tourism," McGraw said, "especially when the plates are exposed on city streets and highways all over the nation."

He said deleting the slogan "would be a tragic reduction in the over-all efforts of the state government to sell Michigan's attributes."

McGraw said some $400,000 is spent annually by the tourist council in programs directly advertising Michigan's travel and vacation opportunities.

"The license plate slogan," he said, "is an extremely valuable no-cost bonus which could never be priced."

State Police Director Fredrick Davids, newly named state safety commission director, said the gold-and-white combination, honoring Oakland University, was "unfortunate... as far as visibility is concerned."

Kalamazoo Police Chief Dean Fox, president of the Michigan Association of Chiefs of Police, had complained the plates are hard to read.

OCC Students Proud of Their Mascot, the Car

SNAZZY MODELS — Angela Williams of 102 Palmer, Miss Nike of Oakland Community College's Auburn Hills Campus, sits on the fender of OCC's official mascot — a 1926 Oakland. The automobile was purchased by students through the Contingency Fund for Student Activities.

Oakland Community College's new mascot has gone into hibernation for the winter until the snow melts and carries away an old archenemy — salt.

Come the first thaw however, and the sleek 1926, dark green Oakland automobile will be back on its feet, or, rather tires.

* * *

The snazzy antique, was recently purchased from a private owner in Wayne by Dr. H. Vaughn Whited, assistant to the president, following approval by the board of trustees.

* * *

Funds for the sale, which came to $2,000, were provided by OCC students through the Contingency Fund for Student Activities.

HISTORY OF OAKLAND

The history of the Oakland auto goes back to 1908 when the Oakland Motor Car Co. first opened for production. The company was then located directly behind the present Pontiac Motor Division Administration Building, 196 Oakland.

* * *

In 1926, OCC's new antique mascot could cruise at a streamlined 45 to 50 miles per hour on trips up to 500 miles.

* * *

Cost of the car at that time was approximately $1,100.

In 1932, Oakland was dropped from the GM line in favor of the new Pontiac, which had originally been introduced as Oakland's companion car.

Push for Rec Funds Expected in State

LANSING (AP) — The State Natural Resources Department expects a shower of local community requests — upwards of 200—for a share in some $24.3 million of recreation bond money.

The next deadline for community officials to apply for funds is Dec. 2.

* * *

Some $5.7 million—the rest of $30 million allocated to the department for local recreation improvements — won legislative approval after DNR screening last fall. Some 60 local projects were cleared in that first allocation.

DNR officials say they expect many of the 86 earlier applications that were not cleared will be refined and submitted again.

MOST BENEFICIAL

The department says it is trying to channel bond money where it will do the most good for the largest number of local recreation users.

Joseph Seavey, chief of the department's recreation services division, says there are hopes that plans covering "the full sweep of community needs for recreation will be received.

* * *

"We would like to see this bond money used at the local level so that everyone—underprivileged children, senior citizens, the handicapped, school dropouts and all others — will have a chance to do their recreational thing," he said.

But Money Is Woefully Lacking

Devastated Gulf Coast Area Recovering

GULFPORT, Miss. (UPI) — "Together We Build," read the bumper stickers along Mississippi's Gulf Coast.

And, sure enough, the once-scenic region is recovering from the nation's mightiest hurricane, Camille, which came ashore three and a half months ago with the greatest fury of any storm ever recorded in the United States. But it isn't easy.

* * *

Most of the rubble has been cleared, nearly all the roads opened, and all the basic services restored. But the most important ingredient in the recovery program — money — is woefully lacking.

"We're experiencing economic strangulation," said Robert L. Rauch, whose resort hotel at Biloxi was wrecked by Camille. "The banks are in no position to make major loans, the Small Business Administration is dawdling, and the insurance companies are making low bids."

There is money to be made by businessmen who can get on their feet. Many families lost everything — their cars, their television sets, their toothbrushes — and the stores that are open are thriving.

The storm victims can buy more — and the merchants sell more — if more money is turned loose. Hundreds of homeowners, lacking money, have been unable to do anything but patch their wrecked houses, and many merchants are operating in makeshift structures.

* * *

Only a dozen of the 55 restaurants that had catered to a booming tourist trade on the beach are back in business. Most of the owners await action on SBA loans or insurance claims. The same problem confronts dozens of hotel and motel owners.

"We need the money and we need it now," said Jim Stevens, a Gulfport restaurant and motel owner who heads the Mississippi Innkeepers Association. "This delay is terrible."

BIGGEST MONEY

Eighty er cent of the 110,000 insurance claims stemming from Camille already have been processed, but the remaining 20 per cent involve the biggest money. The insurance industry estimates it will wind up paying $225 million to Camille victims.

Many coastal residents contend it should pay far more. Most of the unsettled claims involve structures apparently hit by both wind and water. Ordinary policies cover wind damage but they don't pay for water damage.

"The insurance adjusters want to talk water," said Stevens, whose Confederate Inn on the beach at Gulfport was badly damaged. "We know we had winds."

* * *

The worst hit area, between Gulfport and Pass Christian, was struck by a tide of 30 feet and winds up to 200 miles per hour. Insurance companies, which had engineers on the coast the night of the storm calculating the height of the waves, note that nearly everything on the beachfront was damaged by the monstrous tide.

BLOWN DOWN

On the other hand, homeowners and businessmen contend their property was blown down before it washed away or was flooded. Camille's winds, they note, reached tornado force.

The insurance industry's response — and this argument may go on for years — is that "when you get to the point where the water stopped, the houses are standing."

* * *

A volunteer force of lawyers has been formed on the coast to represent local residents in suits against insurance companies. The group, financed by a $50,000 federal grant, is headed by Boyce Holloman, president of the Mississippi Bar Association.

With local people forming the jury, one lawyer noted, there could be a series of easy victories against the insurance companies.

UP TO FIVE YEARS

The rebuilt coast — and this recovery process may take five years — is expected to look far different from the pre-Camille coast.

Already gone are the stately old houses that stretched for miles along the beach as resorts for the wealthy. With them went most of the beach's magnificent live oaks. In their place will be plush motels, office buildings and apartment houses.

* * *

Public services and facilities are being restored at federal expense, as required by law. Enough federal aid will come into the area to permit several towns to improve their outmoded water and sewage systems. Urban renewal projects and new zoning codes are in store.

"The coast is going to be rebuilt," vowed Gov. John Bell Williams. "It is going to be rebuilt with planning and it is going to be one of the finest, if not the finest, recreation areas in this country."

Emphysema is a more common respiratory problem than either lung cancer or tuberculosis.

COL. FREDERICK DAVIDS

State Police Takes to Road for Recruiting

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan State Police, in an effort to round up prospective trooper candidates, are taking to the road in a "recruitmobile" for the first time in history.

Col. Fredrick Davids, State Police director, says the mobile recruiting office—provided on a no-cost loan basis by a Buchanan company—will be operating for about 30 days.

* * *

Tentative schedule for the recruitmobile includes a stop Tuesday at Muskegon's Chamber of Commerce building and Wednesday in Grand Rapids at the Franklin Complex.

Visits also are planned at St. Joseph, Benton Harbor, Kalamazoo, Battle Creek, Jackson, Pontiac, Flint, Saginaw, Lansing and Detroit.

* * *

Police departments in the various cities to be visited have been invited to participate in the recruiting effort, Davids said.

Davids said the mobile recruiting office was a "positive approach" toward finding candidates from all races and all walks of life.

Man Confesses to Killing 6, Kidnaping Wives

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The police in Cuernavaca, Morelos state are holding a 26-year-old man after he confessed to killing six men and kidnaping their wives.

* * *

"So I would be their master I had to kill their husbands," Rosendo Cabrera Mendez was quoted as telling the police. Cuernavaca is about 48 miles from Mexico City.

* * *

Police said Cabrera used a shotgun in all six murders. They didn't say what happened to the six widows.

CRACKING THE DEFENSE — Royal Oak's John Gabler, halfback for the University of Michigan, goes high Saturday for extra yardage in the fourth quarter of the Wolverines' 24-12 victory over Big Ten rival Ohio State. The win gave Michigan a tie for the Big Ten title with OSU and assured the Wolverines of a Rose Bowl trip against the University of Southern California New Year's Day. Closing in to halt Gabler is linebacker Jim Stillwagon (68).

Vikings Next for Lions After Ripping Green Bay

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

The impact of the Detroit Lions' 16-10 triumph over the Green Bay Packers may not have shaken the football world as Michigan's stirring victory over Ohio State, but that's the next order of business Thanksgiving Day when the mighty Minnesota Vikings come into town.

Beating the Packers is a tough task any time, but beating them on their own field with names who just a few months back were not even known in pro football makes yesterday's victory more unbelievable.

With another defensive regular Mike Weger sitting out the game with a sprained ankle and all-pro tackle Alex Karras helped off the field with a knee injury in the 4th quarter, the Lions still came up with some brilliant defensive plays which helped preserve the win.

It was one of those rare games when almost all of the breaks went for the Lions but as coach Joe Schmidt noted, "we came up with the big plays at the right time."

Quarterback Greg Landry, again running in key situations and passing on crucial third down situations, outhustled the Packer vaunted defense while Errol Mann, a Green Bay reject, relished the opportunity to kick three field goals.

KEY PLAYS

There were numerous key plays and with Karras, Mike Lucci, Joe Robb, Larry Hand their defensive teammates hitting quarterback Don Horn and Packer runners with crunching tackles, names like Ed Mooney, Wayne Rasmussen, Denny Moore and Dan Goitch were covering the fumbles that resulted.

Now the Lions must regroup their injured forces to be ready for their game-of-the-year against the Vikings on Thursday.

More bit of trickery, just as the Lions used against the Cards last week, started the scoring. With Lem Barney in punt formation, Bill Triplett who was set up to block for Barney, took a direct snap from center Ed Flanagan and raced 33 yards for a first down on the Packer 16 with 6:21 left in the first quarter.

Mann made it 3-0 by booting it from the 23, thereby breaking the all-time Lions' record of 15 field goals in one season.

Bart Starr, hit hard by Lucci and Tom Vaughn was forced out of the game and Horn replaced him late in the opening period.

LEAPING LION — Dick LeBeau (44) of the Detroit Lions gets his hands on a pass intended for Green Bay's Boyd Dowler and bats the ball away. The fine defensive play stopped what would have been a Packer touchdown and the Lions went on to defeat Green Bay, 16-10, and set the stage for a big showdown battle Thursday at noon with the Minnesota Vikings.

No Runnerup Trip for Michigan

After Watching Upset

USC Plans for Michigan

LOS ANGELES (AP) — When the underdog Michigan Wolverines were surprising the nation by upsetting Ohio State University and earning a Rose Bowl bid, USC's Trojans watched them on television and cheered.

At the end of the third quarter, the Trojans unglued themselves from the television set and prepared for their big game against archrival UCLA—hours away. Despite standings in national polls, UCLA was rated a slight favorite.

Three hours after Michigan upset Ohio State 24-12, the Trojans of USC pulled off a lesser upset on their own Saturday with a 14-12 victory over the Bruins of UCLA and won their fourth consecutive trip to the Rose Bowl.

Coach John McKay of USC, obviously pleased with the Michigan triumph, termed it "one of the best things that has ever happened to football."

PLAN DEFENSE

Asked about the Jan. 1 game at Pasadena, he commented: "Michigan runs the ball well, and I think we have a good defense against the run."

The Trojans won their cross city battle of undefeated teams with just 1:32 left when sophomore quarterback Jimmy Jones threw a touchdown pass in the far corner of the end zone to Sam Dickerson.

* * *

"Someone told me I was just six inches in bounds," Dickerson commented after the game.

The key play in the Trojans triumph was an interference call against UCLA's Danny Graham at the Bruins' 32 on a do-or-die Trojan throw.

On the fourth down with 10 yards to go at the UCLA 43, Trojan quarterback Jimmy Jones threw a pass aimed at Dickerson. It appeared off the mark. Graham hit the intended receiver, however, before the ball reached their area, bringing the interference call and keeping the Trojan hopes alive.

On the next play, Jones hit Dickerson on a play where the receiver first headed toward the goal post and then sped to a corner of the end zone where the thrower aimed the ball.

* * *

That touchdown sent the Trojans to the Rose Bowl for the fourth straight time where they will meet a co-champion of the Big Ten, rather than the second place team, since Michigan dumped Ohio State.

McKay's pleasure over the Wolverines triumph was because he felt some question might have remained about his Trojans' excellence were they to defeat a second-place team in the bowl.

The Buckeyes beat Southern California 27-16 in the Rose Bowl last year.

Wolverines Get Rose Bowl Bid as Co-Champs

By FLETCHER SPEARS

ANN ARBOR — Coach Bo Schembechler's reservations about a trip west New Year's Day are over.

Schembechler is the energetic first-year coach of the University of Michigan Wolverines, the most heralded football team in the nation today following their stunning 24-12 victory Saturday over previously unbeaten Ohio State.

* * *

Bo's concern before the game was understandable. He and the Wolverines were supposed to lose and lose badly. A trip to the Rose Bowl in Pasadena New Year's Day was virtually locked up despite what happened in this game.

* * *

But snide remarks by hundreds of writers were tossed about all last week. Bo and the Wolverines bore the brunt of them. The point of it was the Big Ten was going to send its second-best team to the Rose Bowl.

FEW MISTAKES

So Bo and the Wolverines went out and beat Bo's former boss Woody Hayes at his own game. The Wolverines made few mistakes and the scrappy Michigan defense forced the Buckeyes, whose 22-game winning streak came to a halt, into numerous booboos including six interceptions before a record 103,588 in Michigan Stadium.

"I didn't want to go to the Rose Bowl as runner-up," said Schembechler. The Wolverines gained a tie for the title with OSU at 6-1. Michigan goes to the Rose Bowl since OSU went last year and conference rules ban a return trip.

* * *

"I feel a lot better about going now," said Bo. "I'd never believe it could happen in one year."

* * *

The scoring was wrapped up in the first half. OSU went ahead 6-0 on a one-yard run by fullback Jim Otis and later led 12-7 on a 22-yard pass from quarterback Rex Kern to Jan White.

Regain First Place in U. S. Hockey Loop

SAULT STE MARIE, Ont. (UPI) — The Soo Canadians regained first place in the U.S Hockey League Sunday with a 6-2 win over the Green Bay Bobcats.

The Canadians' Don Kurylo scored two goals in the team's third win against one loss. It gave them a two-point margin over the second place Marquette Iron Rangers, who were idle Sunday.

'Better Days Ahead,' Duffy

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan State Coach Duffy Daugherty was almost as happy as if he were a Rose Bowl winner after the surprise 39-7 Spartan wipeout of Northwestern Saturday.

"We're gonna get better next year," Daugherty promised despite the 4-6 season.

The win only put MSU in ninth place in the conference over luckless Illinois. Daugherty was high in his praise of the Michigan sinking of titanic Ohio State 24-12.

"I sure want to congratulate them on a fine performance, both on offense and defense. Michigan played a tremendous game.

Daugherty said there is sure to be some switching of assignments next year — some of his stalwart defense men being shifted to offense. The defense made three touchdowns and set up another.

MSU was given a tremendous advantage when sophomore Brad McLee and junior Jay Breslin turned two intercepted passes into touchdowns. McLee ran like a seatback, returning the ball 39 yards for his score. Breslin took one in for 44 yards.

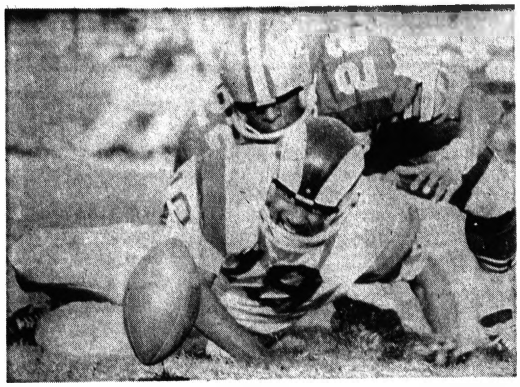
Rams Stay Unbeaten in NFL Play

Crippled Cowboys Edged in Bruising Contest, 24-23



AP Wirephoto

LOOSE PIGSKIN — Jim Nettles of the Los Angles Rams (19) appears to have the edge in getting to the loose football but the ball was recovered by Dallas Cowboys' Bob Hayes (22) who dove over Nettles to get it. The Rams won the game in Los Angeles, 24-23, to remain undefeated in NFL play.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Los Angeles' quarterback Roman Gabriel threw two touchdown passes, scored once himself and the Rams held off a gallant last-quarter rally to defeat the Dallas Cowboys 24-23 Sunday to remain unbeaten in the National Football League.

Running their winning streak to 10, the longest in the NFL since Green Bay did it in 1962, the Rams seemingly had the game sewed up 24-16 in the first five minutes of the final quarter.

But the crippled Cowboys stormed back with a 99-yard parade upfield and narrowed the gap to one point on an eight-yard shot by Craig Morton to Lance Rentzel.

A sellout crowd of 79,105 in summer-like weather in Memorial Coliseum watched as the Cowboys, with time running out, renewed their threat. It ended when Eddie Meador intercepted a Morton pass as the Dallas passer raced under pressure from linebacker Doug Woodlief.

The Rams, 10-0, remain four games in front of Baltimore in the Coastal Division while Dallas, 8-2 leads the Capitol Division, two games ahead of Washington.

TD BOMBS

Gabriel's touchdown bombs, both to Wendell Tucker, were good for 35 and 58 yards, the latter breaking a 10-10 deadlock early in the second half.

Tucker caught the bullet throw between Mel Renfro and Phil Clark and was off like a shot for the 58-yard play.

Morton hit Mike Ditka for 11 yards and the Cowboys' first touchdown in the second quarter and finished Dallas' scoring with the connection to Rentzel.

Mike Clark, Dallas' place kicker, booted field goals of 18, 22 and 43 yards to keep the Cowboys in contention while the Rams' Bruce Gossett kicked on from 36 yards out.

Dallas played without several of its regulars. Among the missing was rookie running back Calvin Hill, the league's leading rusher, whose anticipated duel with the Rams' rookie star, half back Larry Smith, fell through when Hill was sidelined with a badly jammed toe.

Jethro Pugh, a member of the Cowboys' defensive front four, and Ralph Neely, their outstanding defensive tackle, also missed the game. Los Angeles is still without one of its offensive linemen, guard Joe Scibelli.

The Rams took the opening kickoff and drove 76 yards in 12 plays, capped by Tucker's 35-yard pass reception. But the going was never easy from then on.

Dallas' 99-yard parade started when the Rams downed a punt on the Cowboy one-yard line. Dallas gambled in on its own 31 and a 31-yard pass from Morton to Bob Hayes was instrumental in the scoring march.

Gabriel went into the game with only one pass interception chalked against him this year. But he was nicked for two — one apiece by Lee Roy Jordan and Chuck Howley

3 HOLDING PENALTIES

In one of the oddities of the season, the Bears, who now are 1-9 for the season, were found guilty of holding on three successive plays. Instead of having second down and eight yards to go, they had second and 53. All this happened in the first quarter before Bob Grant filched a Douglass pass on the Bear 45. On the seventh play Morrall hurled a 28-yard scoring pass to Willie Richardson.

DAYLIGHT FOR EDDY — With Frank Gallagher (68) paving the way and some help from Rockne Frietas (76) Nick Eddy finds an opening to pick up good yardage in the game against the Packers yewterday. The Lions won the game, 16-10, despite another injury to Eddy plus a knee injury to defensive tackle Alex Karras.

In 16-10 Win Over Packers

Lions' Defense Has Big Plays

After Horn fumbled and Rasmussen recovered a Packer drive ended on the Detroit 34.

To start the second period, Barney's punt was fumbled by Elijah Pitts and Mooney recovered on the 19 to set up Mann's 21 yard field goal, his 17th in 21 attempts.

INTERCEPTION

It was then Barney's turn to stop a Packer drive when he intercepted on the Lions' 10 and moving it to the 29.

Marching 65 yards to the Packers' four, Landry tried to hit Earl McCullough. The ball glanced off the goal post into McCullouch's arms but the TD was nullified because of this.

Landry then drove into the end zone himself for the four yard tally.

* * *

Just before the half ended Mann connected from the 31 yard line for a 16-0 lead at intermission. It was set up by a 19 yard run by Landry.

The two defenses were rugged in the third quarter. The Packers stoped Altie Taylor on two tries for just inches on the GB 38 and when the Packers moved to the Lions' 13 with one yard to go on a 4th down, Karras and Paul Naumoff smeared Donny Anderson for a two yard loss to end this threat.

Just before the quarter ended Mike Mercer missed on a 31 yard field attempt.

Mercer, who has been jeered by Packer fans for his kicking, finally put Green Bay on the board with a 27 yard field goal after 3:58 of the fourth quarter.

Then the defensive fireworks really started.

MIDAIR GRAB

After tackle Bob Brown tipped a Landry pass, Willie Davis picked it off in midair and the Packers had the ball on the Lions 13.

On the first play, Horn hit Travis Williams on a screen and when Williams was hit he fumbled and Denny Moore made a diving recovery.

When Karras limped off the field, Dan Goitch replaced him and the Packers still had five minutes left.

Robb drove Horn to the ground for a 17 yard loss and Goitch recovered Horn's fumble at midfield.

* * *

A moment later Robb again threw Horn for a 10 yard loss and it temporarily stymied the Packer drive, eating up the clock even though Green Bay finally scored with 22 seconds left as Horn passed 10 yards to Boyd Dowler.

"Sure we gave a lot of yardage on that last Packer drive (82 yards passing) but we let them have the short yardage rather than get burned on the fast bomb," said Lucci, who played one of his most outstanding games. "This helped eat the clock-up.

The game against the Vikings will start at noon Thursday and a record crowd could witness the crucial contest.

"Landry is a winner," Lion coach Joe Schmidt said of quarterback Greg Landry, a second-season player from the University of Massachusetts.

"He has won five out of six" of the games he has started, "and he'll get better with experience," the coach said. "He's got the ability to run, and he gets the job done."

Landry led all ground gainers, picking up 57 yards in eight carries, including the four-yard touchdown scamper when all of his pass receivers were covered.

Raiders Take Lead in AFL's West

Interceptions Ruin Chiefs

Oakland Steals Five Dawson Passes

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Oakland stole Kansas City's defensive thunder Sunday, intercepting two Len Dawson passes for touchdowns and turning a fumble into field goal to edge the Chiefs 27-24 in the battle for supremacy in the American Football League's Western Division.

The Raiders regained the divisional lead with a 9-1-1 record. Kansas City, now 9-2, had a seven-game winning streak halted.

A record Municipal Stadium crowd of 51,982 watched Oakland take a 27-17 lead on linebacker Dan Conners' 75-yard pass interception run late in the third quarter, then stand off a Chiefs' rally.

The comeback bid ended when Dave Grayson and Gus Otto intercepted Dawson's passes at the Raider 8 and 50-yard line in the final two minutes. In addition, rookie Ed Podolak fumbled away a punt for Kansas City with 1:30 left.

5 INTERCEPTIONS

Oakland's defense picked off Dawson passes, threw him for losses four times totaling 31 yards and pressured him into poor throws several times.

Dawson passed 31 yards to Otis Taylor for a touchdown in the second period, giving Kansas City a 14-3 lead and came back with a 42-yard toss to Frank Pitts with 12:41 left in the game to pull the Chiefs up to 27-24.

Kansas City's troubles started on the opening kickoff when Podolak fumbled at the Chiefs' 23 and Lloyd Edwards recovered for Oakland. The Raiders turned that into a 10-yard field goal by George Blanda.

After the Chiefs mounted their 14-3 lead, George Atkinson took the ball away from Fred Arbanas on an apparent pass completion and romped 22 yards to an Oakland touchdown.

Jan Stenerud put Kansas City ahead 17-10 with a 14-yard field goal late in the first half, his tenth straight successful boot to tie an AFL record, but the Raiders tied moments later when Daryle Lamonica hit Warren Wells on a 22-yard touchdown pass capping an 80-yard sweep.

Blanda's 14-yard field goal after a 67-yard drive with the second half kickoff put Oakland ahead for the second time 20-17. The Raiders made it 27-17 a half-quarter later on Conners's long interception dash.

UPS AND DOWNS — Minnesota Viking ball carrier Dave Osborn (left) does a one leg balancing act and he falls over teammate John Beasley (87) on the ground. While Osborn goes downward, a Pittsburgh Steeler's feet go upward on the play. He gained 10 yards and the Vikings gained a 54-14 victory.

Colts Beats Bears

Benched Unitas Leads Win

CHICAGO (AP) — After the Chicago Bears intercepted two Earl Morrall passes and converted them into touchdowns, Johnny Unitas came off the bench with 7:40 remaining to play Sunday to lead the Baltimore colts on a 67-yard touchdown drive and then into range for Lou Michaels' 17-yard field goal for a 24-21 National Football League victory.

During the first three quarters Sunday Unitas stood on the sidelines, his hands in the pockets of his warmup jacket, and watched intently as Morrall had his problems.

Then with 7:40 remaining in the last quarter and the Bears leading 21-14 Unitas was unleashed.

The crowd cheered as he came onto the field and directed the Colts 67 yards in seven plays, capped by Terry Cole's 16-yard touchdown run. Michaels booted the point to tie the score 21-21. During the drive Unitas completed all three of the passes he attempted, the longest being 21 yards to Tom Matte.

With time running out, Jerry Logan stole Bobby Douglass' aerial and returned it six yards to the Bear 40. From there Matte and Cole took shots at the line as the Colts drove to the 10 with about 12 seconds remaining. Then Michaels made his field goal from the 17, the ball hitting the upright but bounding through.

Eagles Rout Cardinals

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Norm Snead's 23-yard touchdown pass to tight end Gary Ballman lifted Philadelphia to a 34-30 triumph Sunday over the St. Louis Cardinals in a see-saw National Football League game.

* * *

The Snead-Ballman aerial came with 22 seconds left in a whirlwind finish. The clubs, both struggling to avoid losing seasons, swapped the lead four times in the final quarter.

Reserve quarterback Jim Hart's passing assault had appeared to lift the Cardinals from defeat after Philadelphia entered the final 15 minutes nursing a 20-13 lead.

After the Eagle's Sam Baker missed a field goal try from the 50 on the last period's first play, Hart drove the Cardinals to two touchdowns in an attack supplemented by Jim Bakken's 46-yard field goal.

Speedy John Gilliam caught the final Cardinal touchdown, a 43-yard pass from Hart, with 1:14 left.

World Record for Lifting

GRAEFENRODA, Germany (AP) — Soviet light heavyweight G. Ivanschenkow Saturday night set a world record in the Olympic combination press, snatch, clean and jerk by lifting a total weight of 1,085.4 pounds the East German News Agency, ADN said.

* * *

He bettered the previous world record in the event of 1,079.9 pounds held by a soviet weight lifter named Golubovitsch.

'Don't They Just Love Me Here,' Alex Karras

"They sure love me here," said Karras after the game, "they yelled louder than if the Packers had scored a touchdown."

Dr. Richard Thompson said Karras sufered a sprained knee and he was hopeful that the all-pro tackle would see action against the Minnesota Vikings Thursday.

KEY RECOVERY

Denny Moore, who has been playing the other defensive tackle in place of Jerry Rush, who will have a medical check today for the bleeding ulcer which hospitalized him three weeks ago, came up with the key fumble recovery which saved the day for the Lions.

After Travis Williams took a screen pass from Don Horn, he fumbled and Moore dove through the air to get it.

"I think that's the fastest I ever moved for a ball. I felt like I had wings, I'm glad it didn't squibb away from me," he said.

Another key recovery was that of Dan Goitch who took Karras' place.

After Joe Robb smeared Don Horn the ball squirted loose.

"I was ready to get hold of Horn when I saw the ball bouncing by. I just happened to be in the right place," said Goitch.

Most satisfying feeling was that of kicker Earl Mann, who had signed a 1969 contract with the Packers before coming to the Lions' training camp.

* * *

"I played in the exhibition game with Dallas in 1968 and when I hurt my leg they put me on the taxi squad.

"When I went back to Green Bay earlier this year they told me they were going to stick with Mike Mercer, so they released me from my contract."

Mann now has 18 field goals of 23 attempts this year and the three yesterday he called the "most satisfying of them all."

Vikings Wallop Steelers With Gary Cuozzo, 52-14

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) — Gary Cuozzo came off the bench to throw for two touchdowns and set up two more Sunday as the Minnesota Vikings clubbed the Pittsburgh Steelers 52-14 in a National Football League game of marathon returns, interceptions and funny bounces.

The most bizarre play in the game came when the Steelers kicked off in the third period with Minnesota leading 24-14. Charlie West fielded the return at his 14 and raced down the sidelines.

The ball popped out of his hands at the Minnesota 40, but 233-pound Viking John Beasley didn't break stride in catching the ball in mid-air and rumbling the final 60 yards behind Clint Jones' blocking for the touchdown.

Pittsburgh's earlier third period touchdown, a 10-yard pass from Terry Hanratty to Jon Henderson, was set up when Bobby Walden's punt bounced off Viking receiver Bob Grim and Bob Adams recovered at the 19.

WHO CAN I TURN TO?—With the inevitable about to happen, Ohio State quarterback Rex Kern (10) tries futilely to battle his way out of the clutches of Wolverine defenders Henry Hill (39) and Mike Taylor (33) in the fourth period of Saturday's game. Kern was limited to 53 yards rushing as the Buckeyes 22-game winning streak was brought to a halt by Michigan.

Schembechler was feeling some heat from Michigan fans earlier in the season when he and the Wolverines dropped a 23-12 decision to Michigan State. But Saturday's effort is likely to warm even the hearts of the most critical of his critics.

The Wolverines were busy, too. Garvie Craw scored in the first on a three-yard run and in the second on a one-yard smash. Quarterback Don Moorhead, who kept the Buckeye defense guessing all day, picked up the other marker with a two yard run. Tim Killian closed the scoring with a 25-yard field goal just before intermission.

★ ★ ★

Otis had his usually fine day with 144 yards in 28 trips with the ball but the Wolverines held the slippery Kern in check.

★ ★ ★

"We knew Otis would get his yardage," Schembechler said. "We didn't want Kern to have the football. So — boom — he goes 25 yards (running) on the first play."

Kern, however, rushed for only 30 more yards the rest of the day and completed just six of 17 passes.

★ ★ ★

Linebacker Marty Huff, one of 20 Ohioans on the Michigan team, admitted the Wolverines plan to work on Kern worked remarkably well.

WILD THROWS

"We just put the pressure on him. He got wild and threw the ball away," said Huff.

"Our defense was just fantastic all afternoon," beamed Schembechler.

While there was jubilation in the Wolverines locker room, only silence came from the OSU side of the runway beneath the stands.

Coach Woody Hayes kept the locker room door locked for about half an hour after the game, then emerged for 99 seconds and then retreated quickly to the locker room.

★ ★ ★

"Like everything good it (the 22-game win streak) had to come to an end," said Woody. "We were outplayed and outcoached. Our defense didn't do well in the first half, but it did in the second half.

"Our offense in the second half was just miserable. We made every mistake possible. We didn't get the ball to Otis enough. He's one heckuva football player."

'BEAT' LOSER

As Hayes slipped back into the locker room, an OSU fan was standing near the door crying and beating his head against the cement wall.

★ ★ ★

The game marked the eighth time in the last 26 years that the OSU-Michigan contest decided the Big Ten championship.

★ ★ ★

Over-all, OSU closed with an 8-1 record while U. of M. was 8-2.

Canada Horse Team Victor

Win O'Keefe Trophy in Royal Fair

TORONTO (AP) — The Canadian equestrian team won the Royal Winter Fair international team championship Saturday and the O'Keefe Trophy for the first time since 1966.

The Canadian team's second-place finish in the McKee International Stakes was enough to finish with 132 points, 15 points ahead of the United States team, which won the Cup in 1967 and 1968.

The team championship was actually decided after the first round of jumping when only one American-Jared Brinsmade-advanced to the first jump-off. The U.S. team had to overcome a 13-point deficit and maximum number of points Brinsmade could have picked up was 10 for a first-place finish. He finished third on Oct. 1.

★ ★ ★

Frank Chapot, who has led the U.S. to last year's team championship, was eliminated when San Lucas clipped the third element of the fifth jump.

Team-mate Neal Shapiro, was knocked out when Trick Track caught the fourth jump with his stomach. Kathy Kusner, who was on the U.S. team that won the championship in 1964, was cut when That's Right knocked down the eighth jump.

Texas Seeks No. 1 Spot

By The Associated Press

The king is dead; long live the king!

But Ohio State's successor as king of the college football world won't be known until all the ballots in The Associated Press poll are in and counted tonight.

There is no shortage of candidates in the wake of Michigan's stunning 24-12 upset of the mighty Buckeyes, who had been at the top of the rankings all season long.

"I'm nervous as a cat over the possibility that we could wind up No. 1 in the nation," said Darrell Royal, who second-ranked Texas team did not play Saturday. "But when I start thinking about it realistically, I know we have three more games to go and the big shootout is still ahead, too."

The "big shootout" is the Dec. 6 Texas-Arkansas clash which could decide the top team of the regular season.

ANOTHER SHOT

Joe Paterno, whose fourth-ranked Penn State team beat Pitt 27-7, said Ohio State's defeat "gives us another shot at being No. 1 if Ohio State hadn't been beaten it would have been tough. But I think we have the credentials."

There was no word from Frank Broyles of third-ranked Arkansas, also idle Saturday. Broyles probably was too busy plotting an ambush for Texas when the Longhorns invade Fayetteville.

A 71-yard punt return by Dennis Onkotz set up the first of Charlie Pittman's two touchdowns as Penn State broke a 7-7 halftime tie with stubborn Pitt.

Missouri, ranked seventh, crushed Kansas 69-21 as Terry McMillan passed for four touchdowns and scored twice. It was the highest-scoring game in Big Eight history.

Eighth-ranked Notre Dame held off the Air Force 13-6 and Tennessee, No. 9, struggled past lowly Kentucky 31-26. Louisiana State's Charlie McLendon wore a screw in his lapel to symbolize the failure of a post-season bowl to invite his Tigers, who were busy whipping Tulane 27-0.

OWEN CHECKED

Auburn, Mississippi and Florida, ranked 11th, 13th and 15th, respectively, were idle, but Stanford, No. 12, edged California 28-28 and Nebraska, No. 16, limited Oklahoma's Steve Owens to 71 yards after 18 100-plus games and trounced the Sooners 44-14.

Purdue, No. 17, won the state championship from Indiana 44-21; West Virginia, No. 18, rallied to beat Syracuse 13-10; Houston, No. 19, walloped Wyoming 41-14 as Elmo Wright caught seven passes for 282 yards and four touchdowns, and Toledo, No. 20, completed a 10-0 regular season with a 35-0 triumph over Xavier.

Another perfect record came to an end as Princeton whipped Dartmouth 35-7 and forced a three-way tie with Yale for the Ivy title. The Elis downed Harvard 7-0.

Toledo Ends Season With 10th Victory

CINCINNATI (AP) — Sophomore quarterback Chuck Ealey passed for two touchdowns and ran for another as he paced Toledo to a 35-0 college football victory Saturday over Xavier (Ohio) and the Rockets first undefeated, untied season.

The triumph gives the Rockets a 10-0 record which they will take into the Tangerine Bowl against Davidson. The Rockets won the Mid America Conference title.

Rice Gridder Killed

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Meredith Morton, 19, Rice University sophomore football guard from Henderson, was killed Saturday night when an automobile went out of control near the Rice campus.

Spartans End Season by Routing Wildcats

Tom Kutschinski, another defense man, scored the final MSU TD on a 43-yard punt return.

Bill Triplett, who was in at quarterback only because of injuries to his replacement, was running the team when MSU scored its other touchdowns.

SCORING PASS

He threw a 20-yard pass to Steve Kough for one, plunged over from the one-foot line for another and handed off to Don Highsmith for a 12-yard score.

Daugherty expects at least five of his seniors to be prime candidates for the professional draft.

He named them as: twin brothers on defense, Ron and Rich Saul; defenseman Don Law; end Frank Foreman; and Highsmith.

"Highsmith can play any position," Daugherty said.

"He could be a receiver or a defensive back.'

Highsmith gained 209 yards in the game, tops for any Spartan player this year. By sheer coincidence he also set a new mark of 209 carries for an MSU player in a season. The former record was 177 carries by Tommy Love in 1968.

The Spartans will have their team dinner tonight to name the most valuable player. Gov. William Milliken will give the award. Best bet to take it is Highsmith.

'M' Basketball Enters Scene in Frosh Tilt

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Most eyes will still be on the football Wolverines, but the Michigan basketball team debuts tonight in the traditional freshman-varsity game at the University Events Building.

The team is minus starting forwards Dennis Stewart and Bob Sullivan and guard Ken Maxey, all of whom graduated last spring. But the Wolverine attack will be led again this season by 6-foot-7½ All-Big Ten forward Rudy Tomjanovich.

Tomjanovich, a graduate of Hamtramck High School, enters his senior year as one of only six Michigan netters who has topped 1,000 points in his career.

He averaged 25.7 points and 14.2 rebounds a game last season.

The other returning starter is junior guard Dan Fife of Clarkston.

Rounding out the varsity squad will be Mark Henry at guard, Bill Fraumann at center and Rod Ford of Richard Bird Carter at the other forward slot.

FIRST THREE — Holding the score sheet which verifies they are the first three Pontiac Open Bowling Championship qualifiers from Cooley Lanes are keglers Stan Durnen (left), Robert Taylor (center) and Tom Stilwell. In the first day's qualifying event which drew a record high of 140 bowlers, Durnen qualified for the playoffs Dec. 14 with a 655 handicap series, while Taylor fired a 652 and Stilwell a 607.

Record High of Qualifiers

The 13th version of the annual Pontiac Open Bowling Championship got off to a rip roaring start Sunday as 140 keglers qualified for the $1000 guaranteed first prize money at nine local bowling sites.

Sunday's 140 qualifiers established a new record high for the number of bowlers to qualify in the first night of the Open Bowling competition. All hit the target score of 600 or better.

Firebird Lanes led the qualifying list with 56 making the playoffs, scheduled for Dec. 14, followed by Westside Lanes, 20, and Cooley Lanes, 19.

HIGH SERIES

There were some high scores turned in at Firebird Lanes including a 726 series by Bill Foster and 710 by Claude Hagerman, but North Hill Lanes captured the qualifying high series honors with Don Chapp's 754 total series.

Chapp fired games of 256-225-183 to combine with his 90 pin handicap.

North Hill also had another over-700 series qualifier in exactuals champ Bill Johns who shot games of 227-287-228 for an actual series of 722.

* * *

Westside Lanes was the only other center to turn in a 700-plus series with Duane Roger's 723 total.

Rogers shot games of 235-213-221 for an actual 664 total and added a 54 pin handicap for Westside's high qualifying series.

The high qualifying game of the day was rolled by Jim Gillespie who qualified at Firebird Lanes.

Gillespie, who turned in a final 681 series, bowled a high game of 277 to lead all qualifiers in that class.

CHAMP QUALIFIES

Last year's Open champion, Steve Oliseck, didn't do too badly in his bid for a second straight championship crown.

Oliseck was the top qualifier at Howe's Lanes putting together games of 222-224-227, and adding a handicap of only 12 pins for a top 685 series.

Oliseck, along with partner Barb Howe, took mix 'n match doubles honors for the first night at Howe's Lanes with a combined score of 1308.

* * *

Barb Howe was another one of the top qualifiers at Howe's with a final series of 823.

With qualifying for the Open Championship scheduled to run two more successive weekends, Nov. 30 and Dec. 7th, its almost virtually assured that an all time high of qualifiers will enter the semi-finals to vie for this year's prize money.

Aztecs Parlay Before 48,817 to Win, 42-24

SAN DIEGO (AP) — San Diego State scored three times in the fourth quarter Saturday night to pull out a come-from-behind 42-24 victory over North Texas State before an Aztec record crowd of 48,817 at San Diego Stadium.

* * *

The undefeated Aztecs, who trailed 24-14 at the half and 24-21 going into the final quarter, finally came alive behind the pinpoint passing of quarterback Dennis Shaw to record their ninth victory of the season and 19th in a row over two seasons.

Irish Await Foe for Cotton Bowl

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Coach Ara Parseghian conceded today his Notre Dame football team is handicapped by "a huge void in time" preparing for No. 2 Texas or No. 3 Arkansas in the Cotton Bowl on New Year's Day.

"They will be practicing under imminent game conditions for two consecutive weeks, while we may be laying off more than two weeks of the 38 days before New Year's Day," said Parseghian.

* * *

He referred t oThanksgiving Day games sending Texas against Texas A&M and Arkansas against Texas Tech before Texas and Arkansas collide Dec. 6 in a showdown for the Southwest Conference title and Cottown Bowl assignment against Notre Dame.

It is ironical that Notre Dame last week lifting a 44-year ban against post-season play, this fall made its earliest finish in years last Saturday with a hard-earned triumph over Air Force 13-6.

EARLY FINISH

"I can't remember when Notre Dame ever finished the regular season this early," said Parseghian, whose Irish posted an 8-1-1 record." Through the years, Notre Dame usually finished on the last Saturday of November or the first Saturday of December.

"So now we have a huge void in time which presents greater continuity problem in sharpness and conditioning than northern teams, excepting the Big Ten's Rose Bowl club, generally have preparing for a bowl game."

* * *

Parseghian is touching all bases as a "complete novice" is eadying for a Bowl Game. Today, Ara talks with a sevenman player committee to get the team's feelings about a practice and travel schedule. The group is headed by co-captains Bob Olson and Mike Orlard.

"I also will talk this week with our business office and administration people and maybe such bowl-experienced coaches as Frank Broyles (Arkansas), Darrell Royal (Texas), Dan Devine (Missouri) and Johnny Pont (Indiana)," Parseghian said.

* * *

Parseghian, meanwhile, excused his somewhat battered Irish for Thanksgiving week, suggesting they keep in shape by playing handball, basketball or otherwise exercising on an individual basis.

PRACTICE PLAN

"I won't see them again until next Monday or Tuesday at the earliest," he said. A tentative practice plan may include working out here from Dec. 16 or 20, then breaking for Christmas and resuming drills after Christmas at Dallas. Bad South Bend weather, on the other hand might send the Irish straight to Dallas Dec. 16.

Texas and Arkansas scouts last saturday saw Notre Dame, minus four injured offensive starters, huff and puff to beg by a good Air Force team.

* * *

The Irish were held to one touchdown in victory the first time in 11 years and fumbled through a second half in which the only score was the game's fourth field goal and second by Air Force's Dennis Leuthauser.

The margin of victory was two fielders by Scott Hempel following Denny Allan's slick 39 touchdown run with the game 2:03 old.

Parseghian however, saw considerable benefit in the fact the Irish "needed a game in which there was great pressure all the way."

* * *

"Ever since the tie with Southern California 14-14 in midseason, we had four games in hand by halftime and our players were forgetting what it means to be under the gun right to the end," said the Irish coach.

"And take it from me Air Force is a very fine team."

Nino Defends Boxing Crown

ROME (AP) — Classy Nino Benvenuti, having disposed of the best middleweights offered by the United States, looked ahead today to a crack at the world light-heavyweight crown worn by America's Bob Foster.

The tousle-haired fighter from Trieste took care of his last—and many thought best—middleweight challenger Saturday night when he floored Cuban Luis Rodriguez of Miami, Fla., at one minute of round 11.

* * *

The knockout punch, described by Rodriguez's manager, Angelo Dundee, as a "good uppercut left hook, right in the banana," came after Nino's face had turned into a mask of blood from Rodriguez' blows.

He needed 10 double stiches to repair the damage.

Benvenuti weighed 159¾, Rodriguez 156.

Rodriguez commented that he had hoped for a knockout himself in round 11 and added, "that was my mistake." It appeared that the Cuban boxer was getting set to deliver a hard right jab when he ran into Benvenuti's left.

NY Jets Stomp Bengals' QB

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Jets, fired by a defensive unit that shut off Cincinnati's running game and brutalized rookie quarterback Greg Cook, smothered the Bengals 40-7 Sunday to step closer to the American Football League's Eastern Division title.

The Jets, rebounding from last week's 34-16 loss to Kansas City, romped to their eighth triumph in 11 games.

* * *

AFL scoring leader Jim Turner booted four first half field goals, Joe Namath fired two touchdown passes to George Sauer and No. 2 quarterback Babe Parilli flipped another to Pete Lammons. Bill Mathis ran 11 yards for the final score.

But it was the New York defenders, much maligned after their break down against the Kansas City Chiefs last week, who triggered the rout. They threw Cook four times for losses, forced him into a fumble, set up Namath's first scoring pass on John Dockery's 35-yard interception return and blanked the Bengals until the final period.

* * *

Cook, limited to nine completions—three of them in the first half—for 143 yards, finally threw an eight-yard payoff pass early in the final quarter to tight end Bob Trumpy, who made a one-hand grab to avert a shutout.

* * *

Turner kicked field goals from the 29-and 41-yard lines in the first quarter and toed a 50-yarder in the second before Namath hit Sauer from five yards out following Dockery's runback.

Don Maynard, who caught eight Namath passes for 137 yards, set up Turner's 17-yard field goal with a 30-yard gainer as the Jets boosted their halftime lead to 19-0.

Late in the third quarter Dale Livingston's punt from the Cincinnati end zone was returned by Bill Baird to the Bengals' 31. Namath threw to Maynard for 15 yards, then hit Sauer for 15 and another score.

Ken Riley, hit hard returning the ensuing kickoff, fumbled and Wayne Stewart recovered on the Bengals' 27. Parilli, in for Namath, promptly fired his first TD pass of the season, an eight-yarder to Lammons. That increased the bulge to 33-0.

Mathis' wrapup touchdown capped an 80-yard fourth quarter drive mounted by third-string quarterback Al Woodall.

Charlie Frazier caught two of the scoring passes and Ron Sellers the other, while two big interceptions by linebacker Ed Philpott and some dazzling running by rookie Carl Garrett also featured the triumph.

Kelly Scores Three TD's as Browns Defeat Giants

Kelly, flashing his brilliant running form of past seasons, totaled 124 yards in 18 carries, the 19th time in his career he has cracked the 100-yard mark, but the first time this season.

Kelly's three touchdowns got the Browns out to a 21-0 lead before the Giants scored in the first half. After the Giants cut the margin to 21-17 in the third period, quarterback Bill Nelsen Threw a 24-yard TD pass to Gary Collins in the fourth quarter to put the game out of reach.

INTERCEPTION

The Giants blew a chance to get back in the game midway through the final quarter when Browns linebacker John Garlington intercepted a pass in the end zone. Two plays earlier Giant quarterback Fran Tarkenton had thrown 62 yards to Don Herrmann, for a first-down at the Browns' two.

Kelly ran 23 and 30 yards for touchdowns in the first quarter, both scores set up by New York errors.

Junior Coffey fumbled on the Giants' first play from scrimmage at the New York 24. The Browns' Jim Kanicki recovered, and Kelly scored two plays later.

* * *

Walt Sumner intercepted a Takenton pass at the Brown' 45 and returned it to the Giants' 39 to set up Kelly's second TD.

Kelly completed a 60-yard Browns' drive on the first play of the second quarter with a one-yard run.

Pete Gogolak kicked a 27-yard field goal and Tarkenton passed 23 yards to Aaron Thomas for a touchdown to cut the lead to 21-10 at halftime.

Redskins Stop Falcons' Rally on 14 Yard Line

WASHINGTON (AP) — Charley Harraway threaded his way 68 yards through the Atlanta defense for the only touchdown of the second half Sunday as the Washington Redskins survived a fourth quarter threat to defeat the Falcons 27-20 in a National Football League game.

Quarterback Sonny Jurgensen, unable to find a receiver, threw a pass to Harraway four yards behind the line of scrimmage and he picked up a few blockers as he dodged and sidestepped his way through most of the Atlanta defense for the touchdown and a 24-20 lead.

The Falcons threatened to tie the score in the fourth quarter after a punt by Washington's Mike Bragg was deflected and Atlanta took over on the Redskins' 37 with 6:31 remaining.

The Falcons 3-7, moved to the Redskins' 18 but Paul Gipson fumbled and the ball was recovered by Redskins' linebacker Chris Hanburger on the 10.

Atlanta's Rudy Redmond intercepted a Jurgensen pass on the Falcons' 29 and quarterback Bruce Lemmerman moved the Falcons to the Washington 14 in the waning minutes.

* * *

However the Redskins dumped Lemmerman for a five-yard loss and three of his passes were incomplete to stop Atlanta with only 43 seconds left in the game.

Saints Trim 49ers, 43-38 in Comeback

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Ernie Wheelwright cracked three yards for a touchdown with 26 seconds left to give the New Orleans Saints a 43-38 victory over the San Francisco 49ers in a National Football league game Sunday.

A 12-yard run by the reserve back on the previous play set up the touchdown run as the Saints overcame a 21-0 San Francisco lead to win their second straight game.

The Saints marched 72 yards in seven plays for the winning touchdown after San Francisco had taken a 38-36 lead on a field goal by Momcilo Gavric, soccer-style kicker from Belgrade, Yugoslavia.

San Francisco completely dominated the first half, running 40 offensive plays to the Saints' 14, and went into the dressing room with a 21-7 cushion.

EXCITEMENT, HAPPINESS PREVAIL—Steel goal posts on the University of Michigan football field prove no challenge for the deliriously happy Wolverine fans following Michigan's upset victory over Ohio State Saturday afternoon. Shown is just a fraction of the 103,588 fans an all-time college attendance record, that turned out to watch Michigan snap OSU's winning streak at 22.

Ranger Skates for All Flags

By the Associated Press

Juha Widing, born in Finland, raised in Sweden and imported to Canada is, believe it or not, a Yankee Doodle Dandy. Or, at the very least, a Ranger Doodle Dandy.

Widing scored a pair of goals Sunday night—each saluted on the Madison Square Garden organ by a rendition of the Stars and Strips Forever—as New York stretched its National Hockey League unbeaten string to eight games with a 5-2 victory over the Oakland Seals.

* * *

Why the Stars and Stripes? "It just seemed to fit in well," explained organist Eddie Layton. Actually, it fit in better than Layton realized because Widing was born 22 years ago on—of all dates—july 4.

Elewhere in the NHL Sunday night, Montreal and Boston battled to a 2-2 tie, Toronto nipped Philadelphia 3-2 and Chicago edged Pittsburgh 3-2.

In Saturday's games, New York blanked St. Louis 5-0, Montreal took Oakland 4-2, Toronto shut out Detroit 4-0, Pittsburgh downed Philadelphia 5-3 and Minnesota stopped Los Angeles 4-1.

THIRD LINE

Widing, centering the Rangers' third line, had managed only one goal in the first 19 games this season. He did much better than that in the second period against the Seals Sunday.

First came the game-tying goal three minutes into the period, wiping out a 1-0 Oakland edge. Then came a power play backhander—New York's fourth goal of the period. In between were goals by Rod Gilbert and Vic Hadfield and afterwards came one by Dave Balon as New York opened its NHL East Division lead over Montreal to two points.

* * *

The Rangers first spotted Widing playing in Sweden. He had been born in Finland but moved to Sweden when he was 18 months old. Six years ago, he was brought to Canada to refine his hockey.

Big news too around the NHL was Bobby Hull's first goal of the season helping Chicago stretch its unbeaten string to nine games.

Hull's 35-footer tied the score in the third period against the Penguins and then Stan Mikita won it for the Black Hawks.

* * *

Goalie Rogatien Vachon of Montreal and Gerry Cheevers of Boston preserved the deadlock between the Canadiens and Bruins with a series of standout saves late in the game.

Cheevers stopped Yvan Cournoyer in the final minutes on a breakaway. It was Cournoyer's second period goal that tied the game for Montreal.

* * *

Bob Pulford scored two Toronto goals and assisted on the third, leading the Maple Leafs past Philadelphia. The Flyers had a spotential tying goal in the third period nullified by an offsides penalty.

Bullets Strike Cage Bull's-Eye Against L. A.

Baltimore Records 10th Victory in Last 11 Contests

By the Associated Pres

The streaking Bullets gunned down Los Angeles. . . adding another bit of misfortune to the ailing Lakers' bid for prosperity in the National Basketball Association's Western Division.

Earl Monroe was the deadliest Bullet of them all with 31 points as Baltimore knocked off the Lakers 129-97 Sunday night for its seventh straight victory.

* * *

The setback dropped Los Angeles two games back of leader Atlanta in the West chase, while second-place Baltimore moved to within 5½ of idle New York in the East.

Cincinnati rolled past Phoenix 137-123 and Boston topped Seattle 125-116 in the night's only other activity.

Baltimore victory—its 10th in 11 starts—snapped the Lakers' five-game winning streak.

* * *

Only the brilliant plant of Jerry West, who scored 38 points, kept the Lakers, who played most of the way with only six healthy players, in the game at all.

Monroe received 19-point support from Jack Marin and Gus Johnson added 18. Mel Counts had 23 points and 22 rebounds for Los Angeles.

HOT GAME

Oscar Robertson drilled in 39 points and Tom Van Arsdale had 29 in guiding the Royals past Phoenix.

The Suns grabbed an early lead, but Fred Foster's basket gave the Royals a 33-31 edge at the end of the first quarter and Cincinnati maintained a narrow lead until the Suns went on top briefly at the start of the second half.

The Royals led by only 114-113 with five minutes to go, but Robertson and Van Arsdale then combined for nine points to put it out of reach.

* * *

Jerry Chambers scored 31 points for Phoenix.

Larry Siegfried scored 26 points and John Havlicek 23—Including eight in a fourth quarter rally—as Boston topped the SuperSonics.

The Celtics led 96-91 at the start of the final session, but Seattle rallied and Lenny Wilkens jumper from the free throw line gave the Sonics a 99-98 lead with 10:13 left.

But a few seconds later, Havlicek converted a three-point play and Boston never trailed after that.

Bob Rule was high scorer for Seattle with 33 points.

ROUGH TIME — UCLA quarterback Dennis Dummit is pinned to the ground as the football squirts from his grasp after being hit by Southern California defenders Greg Slough (53) and Jim Gunn (33) in the second quarter of the showdown game between the two West Coast schools. USC won the game 14-12 and earned its fourth straight berth in the Rose Bowl game New Year's Day.

Woody Makes It Fast, Snappy

ANN ARBOR — The AP man (Associated Press) had come all the way from Columbus. His singular assignment: Win or lose, interview Woody Hayes.

Woody wasn't talking. The legendary leader of the Ohio State Buckeyes muttered a few terse words into the front of his shirt and retreated to the visitors' locker room under the Wolverine stadium.

* * *

Hayes' relative silence was a smart move. A gleeful group of Michigan sportswriters were prepared to grill the Ohio State coach on Saturday's happening.

The Wolverines turned the juice off on Woody's fabled football machine 24-12 before 103,588 person witnesses.

Overjoyed and suddenly warm despite the cold, the middle-aged and young alike crowded onto the Wolverine carpet. Earlier they sang "Goodby Woody" and they swayed to the Michigan battle cry "Hail to the Victors".

DARK MEETING

The writers waited for Woody in the dark tunnel underneath the stands.

* * *

Hayes emerged hatless in his traditional white short-sleeve shirt. Moving a few paces away from the locker room door, he said it quick:

"We were outcoached and outplayed. Our defense didn't do well in the first half but it did well in the second . . ."

Then he was gone, slipping quickly back into the Buckeye dressing room. The questions went unasked and unanswered.

'M' Names Top Players

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Three players who were named to the nation's all-time great football team head the list of 12 players on the all-time Michigan football team.

The 12 were chosen in a vote by Wolverine fans in conjunction with college football's 100th anniversary. The names were announced at halftime of the Ohio State U-M game Saturday.

* * *

End Bennie Oosterbaan, who was recently named to the modern era all-time team, was chosen along with center Adolph "Germany" Schulz and halfback Willie Heston, who were named to the early era all-time squad.

Oosterbaan played from 1925 through 1927, Schulz 1904-05 and 1907-08, and Heston 1901-04.

Others selected were: End Ron Kramer, 1954-56; lineman Julius Franks, 1941-42, Francis Wistert, 1931-33, Alvin Wistert, 1947-49, Mervin Pregulman, 1941-43, Bill Yearby, 1963-65; backs Tom Harmon, 1938-40, Ron Johnson, 1966-68, Benny Friedman, 1924-26.

Japan Driver Fuji Winner

GOTEMBA, Japan (AP) — Japan's Minoru Kawai won the second annual 200-mile Fuji World Challenge Cup auto race Sunday driving the 75-laps in one hour, 41 minutes, 57.9 seconds.

Kawai, driving a Toyota-7, beat John Cannon of Britain, driving a Ford G7A. His time for the 75 laps was 1:42:10.43.

Seattle Pondering Choice of Manager

SEATTLE AP — General Manager Marvin Milkes has "some thoughts" on the Seattle's managerial choice of Billy Martin or Dave Bristol, and a final decision may be forthcoming in meeting Monday with Fred Danz.

* * *

Dana is the head of the local group that is taking over control of the American League club.

Milkes declined to say if he had made up his mind about his choice.

In ABA Race

1-2 Punch Helps Colonels

By the Associated Press

Louie Dampier and Darel Carrier, Kentucky's one-two punch, teamed for a 51-point explosion Sunday night that helped the Colonels climb back to within 2½ games of leading Indiana in the American Basketball Association's Eastern Division chase.

Dampier dumped in 27 points and Carrier 24 as the Colonels turned back Los Angeles 121-115. New York stopped Pittsburgh 120-106 and Dallas whipped Washington 121-117 in the night's only other activity.

* * *

Los Angeles trimmed Carolina 120-117 in Saturday night's only ABA game.

Kentucky leaped to an early lead and had a 101-79 advantage late in the third quarter before the Stars started catching up. However, Los Angeles never could get closer than five points.

Bill McGill led Los Angeles with 24 points and Merv Jackson added 19.

RALLY STOPPED

Ed Johnson and Lavern Tart teamed for 14 points in the last five minutes to turn off a Pittsburgh rally and send New York to its third straight victory.

The Nets had a 97-86 lead with 8:09 left, but went scoreless for more than three minutes as the Pipers cut the gap to 99-92. But then Tart, who finished with 33 points, came up with eight points and Johnson added six to put it out of doubt.

* * *

Charlie Williams scored 29 points and Mike Lewis 18 for Pittsburgh.

Gene Barry May Run for Office

Another Actor Is Eying Political Role

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The name of Gene Barry's favorite game is politics, and he may be the next actor to campaign for elective office.

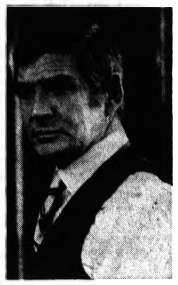
Not right away, perhaps the probably will sit out the 1970 California election in which two of his former colleagues, Ronald Reagan and George Murphy, are expected to run for governor and senator again.

★ ★ ★

"I would like to run for office, but as to whether I can soon — who knows?" says Barry, who already has perfected the political comment.

What looks likely to hold him back in 1970 is his television series, "The Name of the Game." He is committed through the 1969-70 season and longer, provided the show continues to get a good rating. If he did choose to run, there is the problem of equal time. Wouldn't his opponent demand the same exposure on NBC?

THOMAS



GENE BARRY

Barry is the first Democratic actor to indicate a yen for public office; Reagan and Murphy, as well as unsuccessful congressional candidates Shirley Temple and the late Wendell Corey, came from the Republican side.

Barry analyzes the phenomenon thusly: "Until a few years ago, the Republicans were the underdog party in this state. They widely used the attractiveness of prominent actors to gain attention and achieve election victories. They went for any candidate with charisma.

★ ★ ★

"The Democratic party by its nature doesn't nurture that kind of candidate; the leaders don't seem to be interested in doing so. On the party level, no, on the people level, there is a great deal of interest.

★ ★ ★

"I think the party thinking had better start to change. Because if the Democrats are going to win the governorship and the Senate seat next year, they're going to have to outcharisma the Republicans."

DEM ALL HIS LIFE

Barry says he has been a Democrat all his life, but it was during the John F. Kennedy era that he started becoming active in the party. He campaigned for Presidents Kennedy and Johnson, as well as state candidates such as former Gov. Edmund G. Brown. Last year Barry was on the bandwagon for Robert F. Kennedy. He was present at the Hotel Ambassador the night Kennedy was shot. He switched his advocacy to Hubert H. Humphrey, and was with the Democratic candidate in Minneapolis on election night. After the defeat, Barry was asked by reporters if he would consider running for office. "Yes, I would," he replied.

★ ★ ★

"I never realized what a reaction that would bring," he said. "I had calls from Australia, from the New York Times, from the Washington Post, all over. I began thinking seriously about running, and I'm still thinking about it. As much as I wanted to be an actor — and the desire was very strong — I would like to serve in public office."

Uniform Monday holiday legislation has been enacted in 32 states thus far.

Some Football Stars Defeat Curfew With 'Sleep-Ins'

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Joey Heatherton confided that some pro football stars (supposed to be in bed at 11 Saturday nights) have been known to pay fellows who resemble them to "sleep" for them, so they can be out with their wives or girlfriends the night before the Sunday game.

"My husband"—Lance Rentzel of the Dallas Cowboys—"has to be in bed in his room with Ralph Neely the linebacker . . ."

"He used to hire a blond fellow as a 'sleep-in' for him but if the coach finds out, it's a $500 fine. "Oh," Joey said, with a toss of her head, "he's paid a few!"

Joey made clear that she wouldn't let her husband violate training since their marriage a few months ago. She also claims that frequently injured, often-broken-nosed Lance is very tough, and that to hit him with an ashtray or something would hardly matter. "The first time he picked me up and tried to kiss me tenderly," she recalled, "he almost broke my ribs."

★ ★ ★

"Remember the good old days," said Playwright Henry Ephron, "what a wonderful time it was when you said 'Spiro' and everybody thought you meant Skouras?"

WILSON

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Gov. Rockefeller slapped his knee and his wife Happy beamed as Lionel Hampton (opening at the Plaza 9) sang, "I'm gonna rock, rock, rock for Rockefeller" and "Who else but Nels?" An encore was "When Rocky Goes Marchin' In" . . . Truman Capote invited Lee Radziwill to a screening of "Happy Ending," but she was called to the Kennedy compound in Hyannisport by Jackie Onassis . . . Paula Wayne's birthday gift from producer Bob Shelley: A white mink coat. (She'll star in his show, "Cherry") . . . A famed entertainer describes his marriage as a "horror" and he's glad it's over.

★

Mayor Lindsay'll be asked to play a cameo role in Barbra Streisand's "Owl & Pussycat," shooting in Fun City . . . Roger Vadim is here to discuss a film career with young model Bari Gunderson . . . Mrs. Jerry Orbach saw fashion photos of her husband (star of "Promises, Promises") in a magazine and said, "If I weren't married to him I'd send him a mash note" . . . Movies Are More Permissive Than Ever: In "The Happy Ending" Tina Louise uses the four-letter word that Eva Marie Saint got famous for uttering once at a banquet.

★ ★ ★

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Rodney Dangerfield talked about his tough neighborhood: "I called the police emergency number—and there was a three-year waiting list."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: If beer cans were any easier to open, some men wouldn't get any exercise at all.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "There are two kinds of public officials—those who do all they can for the office, and those who do the office for all they can."

★ ★ ★

EARL'S PEARLS: Remember when you could buy a nickel bar of candy, and pass it around?

Alan Drake says his wife's not much of a cook: "She made toast for my breakfast every day for a month—but then she lost the recipe." That's earl, brother.

Tax Overhaul Prompts Ulcers

Legislature Ponders Educational Reform

LANSING (UPI) — One of the eternal ulcer producers in legislative bodies, the necessity of raising taxes, is weighing heavily on the minds of members of both houses of the Michigan Legislature these days.

The lawmakers are in the midst of a series of negotiations with Gov. William G. Milliken over the governor's education reform proposals.

* * *

If they buy the program or any part of it, and the chances for that continue to brighten, they are going to have to raise taxes somewhere along the line to pay for it.

Senate Democratic leader Sander M. Levin of Berkley said recently it all boils down to a "dollar search." In a dollar search, the ultimate decision is who pays and how much.

SENATE OK'D

The Senate already has passed the $1-billion state school aid bill for fiscal 1970-71 proposed by Milliken, including $25 million for parochiaid.

At the same time the upper chamber approved the removal of $116 million worth of property tax credits from the state income tax. It also approved three other bills knocking out $30-$40 million worth of exemptions in the sales and use tax.

* * *

Milliken had proposed removal of the property tax credit and a raise in the cigarette tax to finance the increases in the $1-billion aid bill.

But Senate Taxation Committee Chairman Harry De Maso, R-Battle Creek, has resisted all efforts by the administration to get the bill out of his committee and it appears to be withering away.

BIGGEST IMPACT

The Senate still has not considered the biggest proposal in the education reform package in terms of impact — the statewide property tax.

Milliken asked the Legislature to set up a statewide tax of 16 mills to finance part of the bill for operating schools. He said this would cost the state an extra $300-$400 million to make up what the local districts lose by cutting their property tax take, which now averages 24 mills.

* * *

But the Senate has amended the bill to cut the ceiling to 12 mills, a move which would cost an extra $160 million.

Milliken said his property tax relief proposal could be paid for by raising the personal income tax from 2.6 to 4.1 per cent and the corporate income tax from 5.6 to 7.7 per cent.

SHIFTING BURDEN

Dropping the proposed state property tax to 12 mills would mean a higher income tax, if that is the means used to make it up.

De Maso has contended all along the governor and the Legislature should "admit we're talking about raising the income tax, rather than sliding around it all the time."

* * *

But with every legislator up for reelection in 1970, talk of income tax raises, even if they would not have to be voted on until after the election, brings fear of voter reprisals at the ballot box.

The income tax hikes would not be needed until after 1971 because the statewide property tax would not go into effect until it is approved by voters in the 1970 general election.

MILLIKEN'S AWARE

Milliken is well aware of the financial facts of life and this, he says, is one of the reasons for his educational reform proposals.

When he spoke to the Legislature last April, he said the skyrocketing cost of education is providing a great deal of the state's money-raising problems.

* * *

In the past six years, he said, elementary-secondary school enrollments rose 21 per cent while the total amount spent to finance these schools more than doubled from $760 million to $1.8 billion.

Christmas Season the Time to Be Wary

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK — For most people the Christmas season is a time to be cheery, but to the Better Business Bureau it's the season to be wary of unscrupulous operators, swindles and gyps.

CUNNIFF

Money is plentiful during the season, and spirits are high. Inspiration flows and guards are down. People are in a hurry and they don't count their change. And the swindlers are well aware of it.

One of the most successful gyps—and its continuing popularity attests to the gullibility of men—involves a vial of prefume being sold by a street vendor.

Any woman would recognize that perfume couldn't be sold at such an absurdly low price. But to a fellow who has just left an office party and is heading home very late, the stuff looks like the magic that will ease his way into the house.

'A REAL BUY'

Something about the merchandising method also indicates a real buy: A cardboard carton is spread out on the sidewalk; a hurried, harried vendor stands behind it furtively trying to spot an oncoming policeman.

The gullible husband bites, ignoring his wonderment that such fancy perfume could be spirited from Paris through the customs men to be sold at a fraction of its costs from a carton on a city street. It is, of course, nothing more than cheap cologne rebottled.

* * *

Another racket is perpetrated by sending a claim stub to an individual stating that the sender is holding a package that will be sent on return of the stub and a small amount of money.

Seldom is the amount sought very large, because that might arouse the suspicions. The sum might be only $2, the very amount that forgetful Aunt Sally spends on gifts she sends to the children.

CHEAP GIFT

Anxious to find what gift is to arrive on return of the stub and the money, the housewife succumbs. In return she receives a gift of almost no value. The package isn't from Aunt Sally. In fact, it has no return address.

Another swindle capitalizes on concern for your neighbor, which often is warmer during the cold holidays than it was back on those summer mornings when he started his power mower at 6:30.

"Would you please accept a package for Mr. Jones next door?" the messenger asks Mr. Smith, adding innocently, "It's C.O.D."

The magnanimous man of the house, anxious to get back to his television set, hands over the money and receives a strangely light package. By the time his suspicions are aroused the young messenger has scooted away.

CHARITIES

What is Mr. Smith to do but wait for Mr. Jones to come home and then walk over with the package? Mr. Smith opens it and they both have a laugh. Mr. Smith's laugh is as hollow as the box though, because he pays.

Then there are the charities. In many cities young men and women have made comfortable livings in recent months merely by sticking out their hands and asking for cash. And cash has been pressed into their hands.

* * *

With this knowledge of just how easy it is to beg effectively, many of these same people will be holding out something that holds more money than a palm. It will be a cup, and the inference will be that the money is for charity.

The customary warnings, from the Better Business Bureau and others, state that any charity should be investigated before a donation is made. But on a snowy, windy, dark night, how is one to investigate? It's impossible.

* * *

The biggest surprise of all, however, may not involve gyps. It does involve forgetfulness, and since the effect can be the same, the BBB reminds you this holiday season:

If you're buying a battery-operated toy, check before Christmas to see if it needs batteries.

Low Interest Rates Far Off---Nixon Aide

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy predicts it will be a long time before interest rates fall back to the preinflation levels of three or four years ago.

But it will not take a recession, Kennedy said, to produce lower interest rates or a lessening of any of the other inflationary ailments.

* * *

Kennedy, in a UPI "Washington Window" interview, said he could not offer a date when the Nixon administration's battle against inflation will be won. But when that time finally does come, he said, interest rates should begin to fall.

He was asked if the day of the 5½ per cent mortgage was gone forever.

"Forever is a long time," he said, "and I would say that it would not be gone forever. I think it will be a long time before they are back in that range."

Kennedy said he did not foresee a recession because, "Our program is a gradual program of control of inflation which will bring an orderly adjustment in conditions, and we have so much basic strength in our economy.

"I don't look for any real downturn," he added. "We may have a temporary period of adjustment."

"In any period of control or in any period where you're reducing demand you have adjustments and I think that there will be some adjustments necessary and will take place," he said. "I don't think there'll be serious unemployment. I think it can be done without that."

"I think that a good case could be made for standby power in the federal reserve to regulate consumer credit," he said. "This would require time and effort and I don't think, in the current situation, it could be achieved in time to do much good."

Kennedy also said some congressional spending plans are threatening to disturb the administration's fight against inflation.

"Many items that are already in the Congress, some already have passed the House, some have passed the Senate, which in total would increase government expenditures by $5 billion," Kennedy said. "Well, that we cannot tolerate. That's too large in amount and it would upset our whole inflation program."

GM Boosting Hourly Wage Rates Today

DETROIT — The wage rate of General Motors hourly employes is being increased today in amounts ranging from nine to 18 cents per hour under existing agreements signed with the UAW, IUE and other unions in 1967 and early 1968.

* * *

The increases will amount to an estimated $130 million per year and will go to about 465,000 GM hourly employes in the United States.

* * *

For the typical automobile production worker such as an assembler the increase is 10 cents per hour, bringing his wage rate to $3.59 per hour, plus the current 21 cents an hour in cost-of-living allowance for a total of $3.80. (This compares with a wage rate of $3.24 per hour which was paid prior to the 1967 contract.)

* * *

Among the skilled trades employes, a die maker, for example, receives an increase of 14 cents an hour, bringing his rate to $4.93 per hour, or $5.14 including the current 21-cent cost-of-living allowance. (This compares with $4.20 an hour in 1967 prior to the current agreement.)

* * *

The wage increases effective tomorrow will bring the total increase in income from wages and cost-of-living allowances during the life of the contract to nearly $1½ billion. This estimated increase in wages does not include the cost to GM of the improvements in benefit plans which also were a significant part of the 1967 settlement.

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I would like to sell some stock but am not certain of the proper procedure for signing. Should the stock certificates be sent by regular mail— A.G.

A. There are two commonly used methods of endorsing and mailing stock certificates. Perhaps the safest way is to use a form called a stock power which your broker will be glad to furnish. The stock power is endorsed exactly as your name appears on the stock certificate. This is then mailed to your broker. Your stock certificate remains unsigned and is mailed in a separate envelope. In this case regular mail suffices.

If you endorse the back of the stock certificate then you should use registered mail. Remember your signature should match your name as it appears on the face of the certificate. You must sign on the line below the date line. Your broker's firm name should be entered between the words "appoint" and "attorney to." If you carefully follow either of these methods the transaction should be completed without problems.

Q. Twenty-five years ago I bought shares of Standard Sanitray at $13. Should I continue to hold these shares? — F.O.

A. Now trading as American Standard, this company has changed quite substantially since your purchase. In 1966 new management instituted a program of diversification, which resulted in several major acquisitions. In a parallel move several marginal divisions were disposed of.

Investor reappraisal was reflected in the upgraded level of the earnings multiple which still holds. Through the first nine months of 1969 earnings gained 19 per cent on a 13 per cent increase in sales. For the full year net of $1.95 a share is anticipated.

The intermediate prospect for these shares is clouded by the building slowdown. A higher level of construction activity in response to pent-up demand is looked for in the latter part of 1970 if the financial climate eases. Since you are obviously a long-term investor I see no reason to distrub this holding for what should be a setback of limited duration.

Waterford Taxpayers...

Protect Your Investment

By Supporting the Vital

School System Operating Millage Proposal

VOTE YES

NOVEMBER 25th

As property owners in Waterford Township, the Realtors sponsoring this advertisement will be faced with a greater tax obligation if the millage is approved. BUT THEY WHOLEHEARTEDLY ENDORSE THE MILLAGE INCREASE. They support the proposal because they know that a good school system benefits the entire community and that a poor school system has the opposite effect – DOWNGRADING OF PROPERTY VALUATION.

This advertisement was inspired by the CODE OF ETHICS of the NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF REAL ESTATE BOARDS which encourages Realtors to keep informed on movements affecting real estate in the community so that they may be able to contribute to public thinking on matters affecting property interests!

- The election issue is a 9-mill operating tax increase for a period of ONE YEAR.
- The operating millage is needed to restore critical cutbacks imposed over the last two years due to financial limitations. These cutbacks include half-day education for one semester for all elementary children as well as a continuation of seriously reduced programs for all secondary students.
- The millage proposal was considered necessary by a Citizens Committee in Waterford which made a thorough study of the school situation. The school board concurred and authorized the November 25th election.
- Passage of the millage proposal would increase taxes $9.00 for each $1,000 of state equalized valuation—a token increase for the assurance of a good school program for our children. This millage will restore full day classes for both elementary and secondary schools for the balance of the year plus insure a full school program for 1970.
- The present program cutback in secondary schools stands in the way of official accreditation for Mott High School and poses a threat to continuation of accreditation for Waterford Township and Waterford Kettering High Schools.
- A one year period was set for the millage proposal because, hopefully, tax reform that is now in the Legislature will become effective by 1971.
- Waterford is a "growth" school district. Five years ago the school population was 14,196. Now it is 18,502. Curriculum needs of our students must be met.
- Over 2,000 Waterford Citizens are involved in the campaign for passage of the vital millage proposal November 25th and will continue to strive for true tax reform within the next two years.

IF YOU DO NOT VOTE YES FOR THIS MILLAGE AND IT FAILS . . . HALF DAYS WILL CONTINUE AND THE ENTIRE SCHOOL PROGRAM WILL FURTHER DETERIORATE.

LESSON FROM AN EXPERT — Chef Jim Guerbe of the Kingsley Inn poses with the traditional Thanksgiving turkey before giving a lesson on how to carve the bird. He is resplendent in his whites, complete with gloves.

Follow Precise Rules to Carve Turkey

By JANET ODELL
Food Editor, The Pontiac Press

Who carves the turkey at your house? Does your husband attack the job happily and capably, or does he mutter every time you set the bird in front of him?

We went straight to an expert to get the correct procedure. Jim Guerbe, chef at the Kingsley Inn, has been carving turkeys there for over 15 years.

On Thursday he will carve about 60 birds of 30 pounds each. Then he'll tackle 80 ducks and 25 geese. The carving method is the same for all.

* * *

Chef Guerbe uses a long thin, very sharp knife. He was a bit unhappy during his demonstration because he had forgotten to bring his own knives from home.

A set of knives all his own is as essential to a chef as is the equipment in his little black bag to a doctor.

The turkey, a 25-pound bird, was beautifully browned. It was decorated with waxed paper frills on the drumsticks. These make them easier to handle.

Although Chef Guerbe donned white cotton gloves for the job, he doesn't suggest them for the average homemaker. But he does say, "Don't be afraid to use your hands when necessary."

The turkey must be placed on its back for proper carving. This one was garnished with orange halves, spiced crabapples and lots of parsley.

Even a professional chef couldn't cope with all that garnish and kocked some of it onto the floor as he carved. So, garnish your turkey platter, if you like, but instruct your carver to remove same before slicing.

Turkeys are admirably made for easy carving. You take advantage of joint separation and follow the line of the bone as you remove the breast.

It's a wonder Chef Guerbe kept his cool during his demonstration. Everyone was giving him suggestions, including the maitre d', Peter Hoffmann, Nick Takis, owner of the Kingsley, the waitress and assorted bystanders.

The drumstick comes off first, then the thigh. After that, you remove the wing. These parts are all put aside to slice later. If the bird is small, you save the drumstick for a child; otherwise you slice off the meat.

ON OR OFF

Breast meat can be cut in two ways. You can cut thin slices right off the whole bird, or you can remove the breast and slice it on a platter. If you know the meat will not all be needed, leave it on the bird.

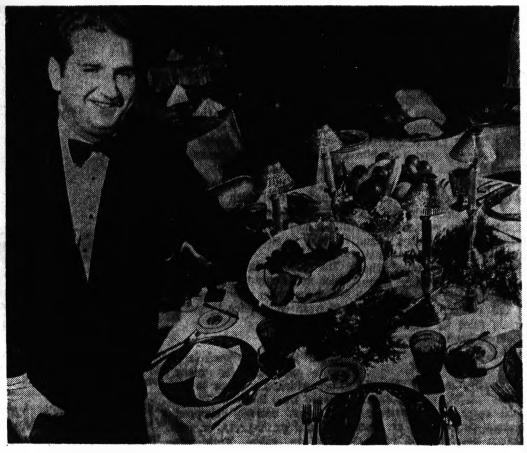
Unless you know the preferences of your guests, serve everyone both light and dark meat and dressing.

* * *

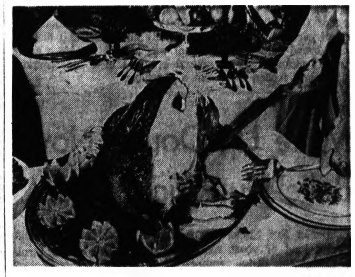
The Kingsley cooks its dressing separately. The turkeys will go into 14 ovens at midnight or shortly after. The dressing cooks a shorter time.

First you remove re drumstick. It separates easily between the joints. You will have to cut the tendons. Remove to a separate plate.

The thigh separation is next. This also is easily cut off and put on a separate plate for later slicing.



Peter Hoffman, maitre d' at The Kingsley, shows a plate of turkey ready for serving. There is both light and dark meat and some garnish included. Eye appeal is important to the diner.



Now you're ready to slice the breast meat. Cut diagonally to get large thin slices. To remove the breast, follow the line of the bone. Repeat the procedure for the other side.

In Leftover Dishes

Chicken Broth Helps Flavor

That plump, beautifully cooked turkey you carried so proudly to your holiday dining table is certainly not much to look at on the morning after your festive dinner. Yet, a large bird is a more economical buy, pound for pound, than a small one.

* * *

As a result, many women often find themselves confronting an unappetizing turkey carcass in the refrigerator day after day, as family members pick off meat for a between-meal-snack or sandwich.

* * *

Don't face your half-eaten turkey with dismay this year. With a little ingenuity and some help from shelf-handy canned chicken broth, it can be the basis of some easy, attractive and nourishing new dishes.

* * *

The convenient canned chicken broth will revitalize the turkey by restoring the succulent moistness so often lost as the bird sits out in the air during the long holiday meal. The broth also adds savory flavor and richness to the new dishes, giving them a fresh-made taste.

TO STORE

When your holiday dinner is over, cut the remaining meat from the turkey bones and wrap it well. This will help save room in the refrigerator and will prevent further moisture loss.

If you plan to use the meat within a few days, simply store it in the refrigerator. If you prefer to save your turkey eating for later, foil-wrapped turkey pieces can be frozen until your family is ready to enjoy turkey again.

* * *

A one-pot dish, Turkey Skillet Stew, combines the turkey and two 13¾ ounce cans of undiluted broth with celery, onions, rice and bright bits of pimiento. If a heat-and-serve skillet is used, you'll have very few dishes to wash.

TURKLY SKILLET STEW

1½ tablespoons butter
½ cup thinly sliced celery
¾ cup coarsely chopped onions
1 small green bell pepper, chopped
2 cans (13¾ fl. ozs. each) chicken broth
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon ground black pepper
½ cup regular rice
1 jar (4 oz.) pimiento, drained and chopped
2½ cups leftover turkey, cut into chunks
1 tablespoon cornstarch

Melt butter in large skillet. Add celery, onions, and green pepper. Saute about 1 minute. Add chicken broth, salt, and black pepper. Bring mixture to a boil; add rice, cover and simmer for 10 minutes. Stir in pimiento and turkey; simmer 15 minutes longer.

Mix cornstarch with 1 tablespoon water; add to stew. Bring to a boil again and serve hot. Makes 6 one-cup servings.

TURKEY SKILLET STEW — "Morning after" turkey, usually a depressing sight, can be the basis of delicious and nourishing new main course dishes such as this Turkey Skillet Stew. The use of convenient canned chicken broth restores moistness and fresh-made flavor to the meat.

Diced Almonds Top Rich Pie

For fancy flair, a delicious, crunchy topping of diced roasted almonds surmounts the tender caramel custard filling of this elegant and easily prepared "Caramel Custard Pie."

* * *

Your family and friends will especially enjoy this superb dessert when you serve it with dollops of whipped cream or a la mode with scoops of vanilla ice cream. However, the mingling of caramel, rum and almond flavors of "Caramel Almond Pie" is in itself a delight to the taste — irresistable, in fact.

CARAMEL ALMOND PIE

¾ cup sugar
2 cups milk
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
3 eggs
½ teaspoon salt
¾ teaspoon vanilla
½ teaspoon rum extract
Unbaked 9-inch pastry shell, with built-up edge
1 cup diced almonds, roasted

Heat ¾ cup sugar in saucepan over medium heat, stirring constantly until it melts and turns caramel colored. Add milk all at once (it will foam up.) Add butter and cook, stirring often, over medium heat until caramelized sugar is dissolved.

* * *

Meanwhile, beat eggs with ½ cup sugar, salt, vanilla and rum extract until mixed. Gradually stir hot mixture into egg combination, stirring vigorously; turn into pastry shell. Sprinkle almonds on top.

* * *

Bake at 350 degrees for 40 minutes or until knife inserted 1 inch from edge comes out dry. Serve slightly warm or chill. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Vary Seasoning

Ever add a little chili powder to canned baked beans in tomato sauce? You can add a dash of cumin, too, if you like that seasoning.

Steep a few pinches of oregano in a few tablespoons of olive oil; brush the mixture over lamb chops before broiling.

Raisin Layer Hidden Under Pumpkin Filling

Did you ever think pumpkin pie could be something unique and in fact, surprising, at the holiday table? It can be in a taste-surprising way with California seedless raisins and cream cheese. There is practically nothing to it, and with this busy season, every little convenience helps.

* * *

The filling combines cooked pumpkin with cream cheese, sugar and spice in splendid balance of sweetness and smoothness.

The raisins on the bottom make a perfect layer of texture and flavor that will delight all who taste. A garnish of whipped cream or cream cheese is the finishing touch.

RAISIN PUMPKIN CHEESE PIE

2 (3-ounce) packages cream cheese
¼ cup granulated sugar
3 large eggs
½ cup brown sugar (packed)
1 cup canned pumpkin
1¾ teaspoons pumpkin pie spice
¼ teaspoon salt
1 (5½-ounce) can undiluted evaporated milk
¼ cup milk
¾ cup chopped California seedless raisins
1 (9-inch) unbaked pastry shell with high fluted rim

Beat softened cream cheese with granulated sugar. Add eggs, one at a time, beating until smooth. Mix in brown sugar, pumpkin pie spice, salt and milk until smooth.

* * *

Sprinkle raisins over bottom of pastry shell. Carefully ladle pumpkin mixture over raisins.

Bake on lowest shelf of hot oven (425 degrees F.) 15 minutes. Reduce oven to moderate (350 degrees F.) and bake about 30 to 40 minutes longer, until set in center.

* * *

Cool, then garnish with whipped cream or cream cheese as desired. (Makes 1 (9-inch) pie.

Apples in Sauce

Peel and core apples and cut into eighths. Cook in sugar syrup until tender. Add vanilla. Chill and serve over vanilla ice cream.

Potatoes Aid to Moistness

Chocolate-Spice birthday cake is a crowd pleaser. Delicately flavored, the cake is made especially moist and firm textured by the addition of instant masked potato granules. If it's not devoured immediately, this cake stays fresh for several days.

CHOCOLATE-SPICE CAKE

⅔ cup shortening
2 cups sugar
3 eggs
1¾ cups sifted all-purpose flour
½ cup cocoa
¼ cup (½ of 5-serving envelope) instant masked potato granules
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon nutmeg
1½ cups milk

Cream shortening and sugar. Add eggs one at a time, beating well after each addition. Sift together flour, cocoa, instant potato granules, baking powder, salt and spices; add alternately with milk to egg mixture.

Pour into a greased 9x13-inch loaf cake pan. (Or use two 9-inch layer pans.) Bake in 350 degree oven about 45 minutes or until done. Cool on wire rack; frost and decorate.

Golden Rutabagas Are Good in Many Ways

Here's a tip to those who would like to add extra warmth of color to the Thanksgiving table. Serve delicious golden rutabagas as the main vegetable with your Thanksgiving turkey and cranberry sauce.

The rich, golden color of the Canadian rutabaga (known to many as "yellow table turnip") adds a really festive touch to the vegetable portion of the menu.

* * *

Many people, too, do not realize how many delightful ways there are to prepare rutabaga for the table. This versatile vegetable can be served diced, mashed, baked, glazed, creamed, scalloped, duchesse style — in fact there seems to be no end to the many different ways of dishing it up.

* * *

Rutabagas can also be combined very successfully with other vegetables and fruits to add variety.

LOW CALORIED

An important point to be remembered, too, at Thanksgiving time, is that rutabagas are definitely non-fattening. A half cup of diced rutabaga has only 25 calories. So weight watchers can safely dig in with relish and ask for extra helpings. Not a thing to worry about!

DUCHESSE RUTABAGAS

Use a combination of 2 pounds rutabas (1 medium) yellow table turnip and 1 pound potatoes. Cook both vegetables until very tender, then drain. Dry well by shaking over low to medium heat, with cover off, until moisture evaporates.

* * *

Mash well and beat with 2 eggs, salt, pepper, sugar and a pinch of nutmeg. Then swirl in a greased bake dish and bake at 350 degrees, until lightly set.

Top with swirled sour cream, sprinkle with Parmesan cheese and broil quickly. Brown sugar may be used in place of Parmesan. Serves 6 to 8.

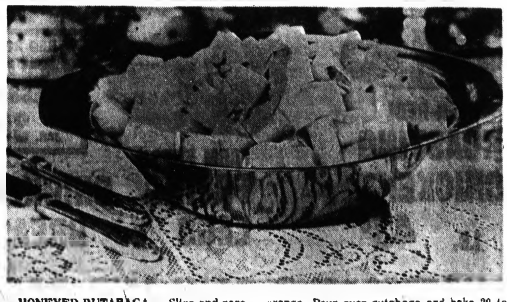
SPICY RUTABAGA PIE

1½ cups cooked sieved rutabaga
1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
2 tablespoons table molasses
2 eggs, beaten slightly
1¼ cups undiluted evaporated milk OR light cream
½ teaspoon ground ginger
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg or mace
¼ teaspoon cloves
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 unbaked deep 9-inch pie shell

Wash, pare and dice rutabaga, cook in boiling lightly salted water to cover, until very soft. Drain well. Press the cooked rutabaga through a sieve (or in a blender) and measure.

Beat all ingredients together until throughly blended. Pour into unbaked pastry shell and bake at 450 degrees for 15 minutes. Reduce heat to 350 degrees and continue baking until thoroughly blended. Pour 40 minutes). Do not overbake. Cool. Top with whipped cream and sliced filberts.

Note: If you wish, use whole milk and 2 tablespoons melted butter in place of evaporated milk or cream.



HONEYED RUTABAGA — Slice and pare a rutabaga. Dice. Cook in boiling salted water until tender. Drain and place in shallow, greased baking dish. Mix 1 cup honey with ½ cup melted butter and grated rind of an orange. Pour over rutabaga and bake 20 to 30 minutes at 350 degrees. Turn rutabaga once and baste several times. Serve sprinkled with slivered almonds.

Best to Simmer

Poaching eggs? drop them into simmering rather than boiling water and cover the pan for the brief period it takes the eggs to set.

An average serving of creamed cottage cheese (½ cup) contains only 120 calories, but has nearly the same amount of protein as a medium serving of fish, poultry, lean meat, 2 eggs, or 3 slices of Cheddar cheese.

Nostalgia Plays Large Role in Cookie Choice

NEW YORK (NEA) — Emotional hangups about food drives experts up walls.

Ingenious men and women in labs can whip up all sorts of cookies and crackers for a growing and hungry population. Selling these concoctions to the public is another side of the cookie sheet, so to speak.

What looks to be an obvious money-maker can prove a resounding failure. And how does one explain a loss on a stuffed cookie to the board of directors?

Cookie and cracker manufacturers through the years learned that "you can do a lot with redesigning a package but beware tampering with the food product". The reasons for this wariness: Emotion and nostalgia play major roles in what a person will eat . . . more than once.

* * *

For example, one chap refuses to eat swordfish because it was a horribly prepared "regular" on Friday nights in college. An otherwise sensible woman can't stand the sight of peas. As a child she endured the "eat-peas-or-nothing" treatment.

Another can't eat a famous gelatin dessert because her father told her it was "santa's belly . . . shaking like jelly."

Scads of World War II veterans shudder at the sight of canned meats. And there is the stereotype husband who pushes his wife's baking efforts around his plate because, "It's just not like mother used to make."

Despite these finicky approaches to daily menus, the food industry manages to survive in a multibillion dollar way.

Take the $1½ billion biscuit field. This includes crackers and cookies, according to Harry Schroeter of National Biscuit Co., in the business more than 25 years.

"We get letters," he explains, "asking 'Do you still make such and such?' So many choices go back to childhood experiences. This is why the Oreo cream sandwich, introduced in 1918, is still big.

"Fig newtons came in at the end of the 19th century and we had a terrible time when we had to substitute California fig paste when our Mediterranean fig supply was cut off in the '40s.

Although the biscuit business is internationalized like most industry, Americans cling to taste habits learned from parents and grandparents.

Schroeter says U.S. snackers like blander flavors than foreign consumers. English biscuits are hard and sweet and Canadian jams tend to be sweeter than American jams.

Regional teastes continue to hold true in spite of families crisscrossing the continent to follow dad's job and in the face of fast shipping and new processing techniques.

Dark chocolate, for example, still finds a nostalgic haven in the Northeast, he points out, while Midwesterns cling to sweet chocolate.

New Englanders, he adds, are the most stubborn about their biscuits. They like their ship's biscuits, primarily made of flour and water, "but you can't give these away west of the Hudson."

Schroeter admits his own nostalgia enters business decisions but two of his favorites got lost in the sales shuffle.

"I especially remember a hard, sweet wine biscuit. Lost a baby tooth on one and hoped to get a gold tooth to replace it."

* * *

However, soda crackers continue to survive the decades of change even though the cracker barrel got lost as packaging became a merchandising art.

"The cracker barrel began to die in 1898 when the first national, standardized soda cracker appeared. There were approximately 114 bakeries making the same soda cracker until then," he relates. "It took years for the cracker barrel to die though. Poeple wanted it for displays."

* * *

With expensive researching to up sales, biscuit executives discovered a fact any mother knows. Put "kid stuffers" on lower store shelves where any 36-inch eater can reach them and more of these wind up in the shopping cart.

In fact, a rearrangement of stock on shelves to test this resulted in a 96 per cent sales increase of items placed on the lower two shelves.

KID STUFF — Who can resist plaintive look of a small child? Original Uneeda boy (left) symbolized the moisture-proof package of the first nationally advertised and distributed brand name cracker. That was in 1899. In 1968 a child (right) picks a box of animal crackers in a supermarket with plans to con mom into a purchase.

Liking for Onion Flavor Shared by Nearly All

"If honor be paid to the first pig that uprooted a truffle, what of the first man who boiled an onion?" demanded a very logical and fair-minded gastronomer. "And what of the still mightier genius who first used it as seasoning for his daily fare? Every gourmet should rise up and call him blessed."

The mighty genius probably lived a hundred or more centuries ago since the use of onions predates written history. In the meantime, onions — and a yes for onion aroma — have spread all over the world. They can be used in every course except dessert, but regardless of the concoction, there are certain rules for onions which should be known to every good cook.

* * *

Obviously, most of the 2.3 billion pounds of dry onions which reach our produce counters are more or less pungent, depending on variety and where grown. Some are predictably mild — the Bermuda-type, Sweet Spanish or Early Grano. These sweet-mild onions are at their best raw, in salads and sandwich mixtures.

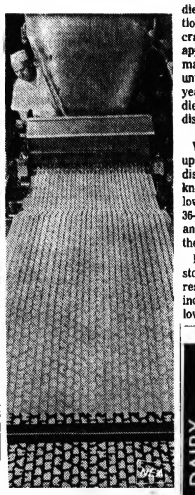
However, any onion is high in sugar, which is why onions burn so readily if sauteed over high heat. Cooking onions in butter briefly over low heat caramelizes them, drives off some of the volatile substance which gives them "nip."

So, if onions are to be added to another food which will cook at a low temperature — stuffings, custardy mixes, cheese dishes — do saute onions before adding them.

The same applies to a sauce which needs only brief cooking. Mince the onion very finely or add fresh onion juice to quick cookers.

TRY JUICE

Onion juice is a good last-minute seasoning for many dishes which are about to be removed from the heat. To get juice, put coarsely chopped onion in a garlic press, or, cut across an onion, hack cut surface lightly to release juice and pick it up by scraping across the cut surface with the edge of a spoon.



ANIMAL CRACKERS—Millions of animal crackers move on conveyor belt from high-speed cutter to 300-foot-long oven.

Make Up Dough Now, Bake Nut Sticks Later

Cinnamon Nut Sticks are a different kind of yeast recipe. The refrigerator dough requires neither kneading nor rising, and makes a crispy, flaky treat with little work.

Serve them for breakfast and snacktime with milk or coffee, or as accompaniment for a fruit tray.

CINNAMON NUT STICKS

⅓ cup heavy cream
⅔ cup margarine
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup warm water
1 package or cake yeast, active dry or compressed
1 egg (separated)
¾ teaspoon vanilla extract

Stir in egg yolk, lukewarm cream mixture, vanilla, flour and nutmeg. Mix well. Cover tightly; refrigerate 4 hours or overnight.

* * *

Combine sugar, cinnamon and chopped nuts. Sprinkle some of sugar mixture on board and continue to do so through whole rolling process to prevent sticking.

Roll out chilled dough into a rectangle, 20 x 8 inches.

FOLD AND ROLL

Sprinkle lightly with sugar mixture. Fold short sides over to make 3 layers. Give dough quarter turn; repeat rolling, sprinkling, folding and turning two more times.

Roll out to rectangel 20 x 8 inches. Brush with lightly beaten egg white; sprinkle with remaining sugar mixture. Cut into ½-inch strips; place 1 inch apart on greased baking sheets.

Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 15 minutes or until browned. Remove with wide spatula to a wire rack. Serve warm. Makes 2½ dozen.

Bridge Tricks From Jacobys

By OSWALD & JAMES JACOBY

Oswald: "Here's a hand that should be a cinch for our readers and yet it is the sort of hand that may well lead a beginner to give up the game of bridge."

Jim: "It is easy enough at the table also. South plays dummy's king of spades at trick one. This is one time where second-hand high is a must."

Oswald: "The King holds and it is now a matter of keeping the dangerous hand out of the lead. South does this by leading dummy's 10 of clubs and letting it ride."

★ ★ ★

Jim: "The finesse loses but South is sure of his contract. If West shifts to a diamond South must refuse the diamond finesse and cash out four clubs and three hearts to get his nine tricks in before anything bad can happen to him."

Oswald: "Let's take a columnist's privilege and trade off the eight and ace of spades. Now East plunks the ace down on dummy's king and returns the 10-spot."

Jim: "South must duck this. The space will be continued and South will be in with his queen. Now West has become the dangerous hand and South must keep him out of the lead by taking the diamond finesse. East will take his king and return a club whereupon South must raise with his ace and settle for his nine tricks this other way."

★ ★ ★

Oswald: "This is where some beginners may leave us. One time they are told to finesse clubs and refuse to finesse diamonds. Next time they are told to do just the opposite. And lots of other times they will be told to take both finesses."

Jim: "When they see the reason for all this, they are no longer beginners."

Junior Editors Quiz on HAIR

QUESTION: Why don't my father's whiskers grow on his scalp as well as on his chin?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: In these articles we take great pride in going through all kinds of textbooks, just like a bookworm. We want to get the exact answers to your questions. It's frustrating to dig to the bottom of something and find that there isn't any answer at all, at least as far as any one knows.

This is the situation about the condition called baldness, where the hair on the scalp drops out, chiefly in older men. The best authorities are able to tell us is that baldness is often connected with old age and is sometimes hereditary. If you are bald, your son may become bald and so on.

We hoped to give you an answer so you could rush into your dad's room and yell ,"Hey, Pa, I found it! Junior Editors has found out how to have a crop of hair within three weeks!" But we haven't got any formula.

One thing we did find, however: the bald-headed men we interviewed were a singularly cheerful lot of gentlemen. They didn't seem to mind their baldness a bit.

(P.S. Maybe you could find a cure for baldness and make your fortune. But it would be difficult; you'd probably tear out all the hair in your head trying.)

(You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)

Astrological Forecast

By SYDNEY OMARR
For Tuesday

Excellent for getting ideas on the market place. GEMINI individuals are most likely to succeed in this area today.

★ ★ ★

ARIES (March 21 - April 19): Take initiative. Utilize innate sense of originality. Many will make numerous requests. Don't panic. Take one thing at a time. And do things your way. Put your foot down.

TAURUS (April 20 - May 20): Money factor continues to be important. But you are able to add finishing touches on project which enhances prestige. Now you will be in a better position to get back one.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20): Continue to take initiative. But listen to suggestions concerning mode of dress, presentation. Highlight personality. Show that you know where you want to go — and why.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22): Your intuition appears to work overtime. You seem able today to sense why people act the way they do. This can be a tremendous advantage. Use it.

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22): Accent continues on how you relate to friends. Know that mixing business with pleasure today may not be wise. There are details which you tend to overlook. Find out the why of events.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22): You can break through red tape for today is progress. There is room at the top. Make your way. You are given favorable notice. Deal with matters which advance career.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22): Creative desires come to fore. You can create favorable changes. Accent on what you write, say and distribute. People want to communicate with you. Be open and available.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 - Nov. 21): Money for household items can be obtained. But your approach should be mature and diplomatic. You get very little if you attempt to force your views. Explain in reasonable manner.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21): See persons, situations as they actually exist. Realize that today your role should be that of observer. Absorb knowledge. Detect subtle nuances. Play waiting game.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19): Some chores may seem unpleasant. But if you dig in, they are out of the way before you know it. You will gain co-operation from associates, neighbors. Avoid needless delay.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18): Make decision involving opposite sex. Find out where you stand on important issues. Be analytical. Personal magnetism rating is strong. You get what you go after — take it from there.

PISCES (Feb. 19 - March 20): New approach is best today — applies to care of home, property. Stress is on building toward security position. Don't be sidetracked by individual with little or no imagination.

★ ★ ★

IF TUESDAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you tend to be introspective. Your feelings are real and strong but you are reflective. You don't reveal your true self to all persons. Those who know you value that knowledge. Try to be more open. Shutting your emotions could create inner turmoil. Conditions are due to improve — especially in financial affairs.

Gribbs Ads Gone

DETROIT (AP) — The campaign volunteers who helped elect Wayne County Sheriff Roman Gribbs mayor of Detroit have been busy since the election too. Robert Tripp, a Wayne County supervisor who was in charge of outdoor advertising in the Gribbs campaign, says all campaign signs have been removed from the city by a force of 15 volunteers.

GM Resumes Talks to End UAW Strike

FLINT (AP) — Negotiators from General Motors Corp. and the United Auto Workers union returned to the bargaining table today in an attempt to resolve a two-month-old strike which has idled 3,900 workers.

Production standards are at issue.

* * *

On Sept. 24 a work force of 2,300 walked out at Flint's Fisher Body No. 2 plant, contending employes were being told to work too fast and too few people made available to meet company-set standards.

GM subsequently was forced to shut down a companion Chevrolet assembly plant, idling an additional 1,600, because of a lack of bodies from Fisher No. 2.

TRIGGERED DISPUTE

GM's decision to turn out a different mix of bodies at Fisher No. 2 triggered the dispute.

In the 1969 model run, the plant assembled 17 different full-size car bodies at a line speed of 43½ hourly. Four-door models accounted for 54 per cent; station wagons for 12 per cent.

* * *

Spending $2.3 million for conversion and modernization, GM decided to limit Fisher No. 1's 1970 models to four and increased the assembly line speed to 55 hourly — 52 two-doors and and three four-doors.

* * *

GM insists the smaller Chevelle and Monte Carlo bodies being turned out at Fisher No. 2 this year require less labor input than larger cars built there during the 1969 model run and point out that the need for changing from one style to another about every minute has been eliminated.

UNIONS SIDE

Sam Duncan, president of striking UAW Local 598, says GM wants a 25 per cent increase in production with a 15 per cent reduction in manpower.

"They laid off 473 workers when the 1970 model run started and, at the same time, they increased the line speed," said Ken McArdle, a member of Local 598's bargaining committee.

* * *

GM says the union is demanding it hire 699 additional workers and says it has agreed to reemploy 130 of those laid off in the cutback, but the union is insisting on adding 699. The union says it is asking 615, not 699.

* * *

McArdle said the union is willing to submit the various jobs to a time-study decision if GM will return the work force to the size of that which turned out 1969 models.

'WORK EASIER'

A GM spokesman was quoted as saying, "The union is asking us to compare a 1969 apple with a 1970 orange" and that the union refuses to admit that changes "have made their work easier."

GM has lost an estimated production of 40,000 passenger cars and its workers have foregone paychecks estimated to total $5.7 million in the last month.

50-150 Years, Says General

'Viet Strife to Linger'

LONG BINH, Vietnam (AP) — A U.S. Army general expressed the view today there will be war situations in Vietnam or in Southeast Asia for the next 50 to 150 years.

But Lt. Gen. Julian J. Ewell, who commands forces operating around Saigon, said the war now is being managed in a favorable direction for the United States and South Vietnam.

* * *

He contended that a sudden U.S. withdrawal without some "reasonable arrangement" will make things much more difficult in the future.

Ewell, commander of the U.S. 2nd Field Force, made his comments at a news conference in response to a question after he had given a highly optimistic assessment of the general situation in his tactical zone.

"Are you saying the war has been won today in the 3rd Corps (Saigon region)?" a reporter asked.

The three-star general replied:

"No, I don't think so. In Southeast Asia or in Vietnam in a long-term historical sense they probably will have a war around here somewhere for the next 50 to 150 years.

"I do think the war here is under control and it is being managed in a direction that is favorable to the United States and the government of Vietnam.

* * *

"In fact, I think, some people in the United States, they feel the withdrawal from Vietnam, well that's that, and we're all finished. Well, I think they'll be wrestling with the situation in Southeast Asia for several hundred years and really it's just a question of how you're going about it.

"In my personal opinion, if you have a cut and run in Vietnam, it's going to be awfully tough sledding for the next 150 to 200 years. Whereas if you can manage your way out of it with some reasonable arrangement, your future problems may be much less."

Planners Get Several Items in Waterford

Five public hearings on rezoning and special approval requests will be held by the Waterford Township Planning Commission tomorrow. The rezonings and granting of special approvals would permit:

- An auto repair shop on seven lots at Dixie Highway and Culver in Silver City Subdivision. The request is to change the zone designation from local business to extensive business.
- Construction of a hand tool warehouse on four lots on Cass Lake Road near Cass-Elizabeth Lake Road in Lambert's Shore Acres Subdivision. The area is now zoned for single-family housing.
- Construction of Calvary Church of God in a single-family zone on 2.85 acres on Crescent Lake Road near the Clinton River.
- Construction of 270 apartment units on 21 acres in a single-family zone off North Lake Angelus Road on Morgan Lake.
- Installation of a billiard parlor in a former drug store in the Drayton Plains Shopping Center, Dixie Highway and Midland.

* * *

The hearings are scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. in the cafeteria of Waterford Township High School, 1415 Crescent Lake.

Grandmother Dies in White Cloud Fire

WHITE CLOUD (UPI) — Mrs. Pearl Baessler died of asphyxiation in a fire that destroyed her home in White Cloud Saturday, but her daughter and seven grandchildren escaped without harm.

* * *

Mrs. Baessler was overcome when she returned into the smoke-filled house after the fire had started. The blaze started while she was cooking, firemen said.

* * *

Police Chief Al Mendam said the victim and her daughter, Mrs. Olive Wolters, and the seven children fled the building after first attempting to put out the fire but for some reason Mrs. Baessler returned and was overcome by smoke.

DR. MARY SOULE

Health Unit Has Woman as Deputy

The Oakland County Health Department has employed a woman as the county's deputy director of health.

Dr. Mary Soule, a native of Ann Arbor who for 14 years had her own obstetric and gynecology practice in Omaha, Neb., has been hired to fill the $30,000-a-year position. For the past year she has been connected with the Michigan Public Health Service program at the University of Michigan.

* * *

Dr. Soule will assist Dr. Bernard Berman, the county health director, in the planning, administration and evaluation of the county's public health program. She will be based at the North Telegraph Service Center.

A graduate of Vassar who obtained her M.D. degree from Yale, Dr. Soule and her 14-year-old son live at 166 N. Glenhurst Birmingham.

* * *

Dr. Soule is complimentary in her evaluation of the county department. "The work going on is really all-encompassing for the community and the individual," she said.

She is an advocate of the comprehensive care — "planning for health rather than illness" — in which the department is engaged through the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments.

U.P. Choice Is Urged for the Ed Board

LANSING (AP) — An Upper Peninsula lawmaker is asking Gov. William Milliken to name someone from above the straits to the current vacancy on the State Board of Education.

"We are making strides in gaining more representation for the Upper Peninsula, and I feel that here is an excellent opportunity to continue this trend," Rep. John Payant, R-Kingsford, told Milliken in a letter.

* * *

"The U.P. is, after all, a part of Michigan and we do have very complex problems in education. I feel that a member on the State Board of Education is not only right, but necessary in the best interest of our school children," he said.

The board vacancy was created by the recent death of member Leroy Augenstein.

Card of Thanks 1

WE WISH TO thank every one for the kindness extended to us and the many floral offerings during our recent bereavement in the loss of our son. From Mr. & Mrs. Willie Cross and family.

In Memoriam 2

BRANCHEAU JR.
In loving memory of our dear son, Ray Brancheau Jr., who was killed November 24, 1962.
We do not need a special day
To bring you to our minds.
For the day we do not think of you
Is very hard to find.
If all this world were ours to give,
We'd give it.
Yes, and more, to see
The face of our dear son,
Coming smiling through the door.
No one knows the silent heartache
Only those who lose can tell.
The grief we bear in silence,
For the one we loved so well.
Someday, sometime our eyes shall see
The face we keep in memory
And God will link the broken chain;
Still closer when we meet again.
Sadly missed by Mother and Dad.

IN LOVING MEMORY of James F. Jarrett, who met his end in an automobile accident, Nov. 24, 1968.
If all the world were ours to give we would give it all and more just to see his smiling face enter through the door. The years may wipe out many things, but this they'll wipe out never. The memories of our dear son when we were all together. We think of him in silence, his name we do recall, but there is nothing left to engrave except his picture on the wall. We cannot bring the old days back, his hand we cannot touch, but we will have such loving memories of our son, the love we have is so much. It broke our hearts to lose him, but the old must go alone, for a part of us went with him, the night God called him home. God gave us strength to bear, the courage to take the blow. Oh, what it meant to lose him, no one will ever know. Sadly missed by Mother and Dad.

N. Y. Teens Work to Save Program for Senior Citizens

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP) — The senior citizens of this Long Island community have something extra to give thanks for this Thursday—the efforts of hundreds of teen-agers who have worekd to save a recreational and educational program for the elderly.

Thomas A. Harris, an insurance man who is helping in the drive to save the Westbury Senior Citizens' program, said Sunday almost 80 per cent of the money needed to keep the project going had been raised.

"I feel that at this point we have realized about $4,000 of the $5,500 needed," said Harris, adding that he was "taking a conservative approach." The next fund-raising event will be a Dec. 3 sale of crafts made by senior citizens.

Harris' estimate followed one of the drive's major fund-raising events—a concert at the high school that drew about 1,000 persons.

FUNDS CUT

The 13-year-old program provides education, artistic and social programs for about 170 persons who participate regularly. It faced extinction because its funds were cut from the city budget in an economy move.

Learning of the problem, the Westbury High School class of 1970 started a drive to make up the deficit. The student council and junior high school pupils joined in the effort. Newspaper reports of the project drew a letter of encouragement from Mrs. Richard M. Nixon.

* * *

Harris said he did not know exactly how much money had been raised by the concerts because tickets—$2 for adults, $1 for students—had been sold through school music teachers and the funds would not be counted until Tuesday.

He estimated the net would be around $600, however.

CANDY SALE

Harris said other funds on hand included about $400 from a pre-Halloween candy sale, $1,200 from the raffle of a color television set and $875 in general donations from local residents and people elsewhere who read about the program.

"We feel confident we will be able to continue the full scope of the program through June," said Harris. As for next year, he said he had been assured the program would be included in the budget.

* * *

Discussing the reaction of the senior citizens, Harris said, "They're just so elated over the thing . . . to think we're keeping going."

Spiro Explains His Blast at Viet Critics

NEW YORK (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew says he was critical of antiwar protesters not at the behest of President Nixon but because "I had had enough."

Agnew, in the current issue of Life magazine, wrote a guest editorial called "I did it on my own."

"The reason I spoke out was because, like the great silent majority, I had had enough," Agnew said. "I had endured the didactic inadequacies of the garrulous in silence, hoping for the best but witnessing the worst for many months. And because I am an elected official, I felt I owed it to those I serve to speak the truth."

Agnew used the article to defend his Oct. 19 speech attacking the Vietnam Moratorium protest. He made no mention of his speech, in Des Moines, Iowa, attacking television networks or his Montgomery, Ala., attack on the Press.

"I did not make my speech at New Orleans to accommodate the President or even the American people," Agnew said. "I made it to fulfill my own conviction that a political leader should lead, should point out problems where problems exist and dangers where dangers exist."

REPLIES TO AGNEW—Willard E. Walbridge, board chairman of the National Association of Broadcasters, denies statements made by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew as to the control of broadcasting news. Walbridge appeared yesterday on CBS' "Face the Nation" from Washington.

A Look at TV

Space Interview Is First

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK—There is something new under the sun: the cosmic press conference. The homeward-bound astronauts huddled in front of the Yankee Clipper's television camera Sunday night and answered newsmen's questions from a point 97,000 miles in space.

MISS LOWRY

Only ABC among the three major networks chose to carry the space program live. It preempted the second half of "Land of Giants" while CBS and NBC continued on with regular programming, "To Rome, With Love" and the Disney Hour.

* * *

The gum-chewing astronauts answered about a dozen questions submitted by reporters during a half-hour. They described their emotions during the moon-landing—"I was having a ball," said Commander Charles Conrad Jr.—and told in detail some of their experiences.

* * *

The program was not an unqualified success since the transmission of their voices occasionally was mushy and their words indistinct.

SLEPT POORLY

Conrad confessed that because of a tight-fitting spacesuit he slept poorly on the Intrepid, and Alan Bean said he didn't sleep so well either. Neither man had any dreams they could remember.

* * *

Conrad seemed restless during the interview, occasionally moving up and floating past the camera and then resuming his seat. A camera seemed suspended in front of him. Once something resembling a notebook floated into view and was pulled down by Bean.

* * *

There probably was more ABC's science reporter Jules Bergman broke into the interview to say the program would be "back after this message." But after some commercials and a station break, ABC, too, returned to regular programming.

George Lazenby says that, like Sean Connery, he has had enough of the James Bond role. It took Connery five films, Lazenby only one.

* * *

Lazenby, a 29-year-old Australian, declared yesterday in London he would make no more 007 movies after his first, "On Her Majesty's Secret Service," due for release next month.

* * *

Best known previously for a British chocolate commercial on television, Lazenby was picked from a field of 500 hopefuls to play Bond. He said makers of the film "made me feel like I was mindless."

* * *

Connery abandoned Bond films because, he said, "what started as a pleasant part became a Frenkenstein's monster."

Sukarno's Wife Is Seeking Divorce

The Japanese wife of former Indonesian president Sukarno says she has asked him for a divorce so that he will not be blamed for articles she plans to write criticizing President Suharto.

* * *

Her lawyer, Hiroya Hirai, said today in Tokyo, Madame Ratna Sari Dewi Sukarno's articles will deny reports that she and her husband embezzled more than $65 million, mostly from Japanese reparations funds to Indonesia.

* * *

Instead, the lawyer said, she would accuse Suharto of using this charge as a smoke screen to cover up corruption in in his own government.

* * *

Suharto succeeded Sukarno as president in 1965 and has since held his predecesor, now 68, under house captivity in Jakarta.

Prince to Join Royal Air Force?

Is Prince Charles going to join the Royal Air Force when he completes his courses at Cambridge next summer?

The London Daily Mirror says he is.

The Ministry of Defense declines to comment. A Buckingham Palace spokesman professed no knowledge that such a decision had been made and added:

"There will be no announcement before Christmas."

The 21-year-old heir to Queen Elizabeth II is, like his father Prince Phillip, a flying enthusiast. He has logged 89 hours of flying with a Royal Air Force instructor.

Police in Rome Evict Squatters

Families Routed From Apartments, Opera

ROME (AP) — Police forcibly evicted scores of squatters this weekend from two vacant apartment buildings in downtown Rome. Some of the squatter families spent Sunday night at the Opera instead.

The eviction came just four days after a nationwide general strike against Italy's housing shortage. One policeman was killed and 56 were injured in riots touched off by the strike.

* * *

Police drove 165 squatters from an apartment building condemned to be torn down and evicted 150 others from another building under repair.

The families had moved into the apartments two days earlier from shantytowns and urban slums where 70,000 of Rome's 2.6 million inhabitants live in substandard housing.

TRUCKS SUPPLIED

Police supplied trucks to take them and their meager belongings back to the shacks they had left. Those who refused were taken to public dormitories.

But on Sunday evening the shanty-dwellers struck back. More than 60 persons stretched out on military cots in front of the Rome Opera to prevent spectators from attending Verdi's "I Lombardi."

* * *

They failed. Police arrived in strength, removed the cots and drove the squatters across the street.

"House, yes! Shanty no!" they shouted at elegantly dressed spectators arriving for the opera.

JUMPING FOR JOY—C. B. Anagnostis floats to earth near Dickinson, Tex., during an unusual birthday celebration. Anagnostis, a sky diver, turned 51, so he decided he would make one jump for each year of his life yesterday. It took him 8 hours, 11 minutes.

U. N. Likely to Bar N-Arms From Ocean Floor

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Prospects are considered better than even that a treaty to keep nuclear weapons off the ocean floor will be finished and approved during the current U.N. General Assembly.

A Western disarmament expert said today he believes there is a "slightly better than 50 per cent chance of getting it through" before the 126-nation assembly adjourns before Christmas.

* * *

The Soviet Union and the United States have a joint draft of the treaty before the assembly's main political committee.

Canada is consulting other countries about amendments to remove objections.

Under the treaty the big powers proposed, signers would pledge not to plant nuclear weapons, launching installations or storage facilities on or under the ocean floor outside a nation's territorial limits.

Missile-carrying submarines would not be affected.

The draft provides that any signatory nation, by itself or with the help of any other nation, "shall have the right to verify the activities" of others if those activities raise doubts about fulfillment of the ban. But some nations contend that this does not clearly provide for close inspection against violations.

Another objection is that the draft does not specifically protect the rights of coastal states to the resources of the continental shelf when it says verification shall not infringe upon "rights recognized under international law, including the freedoms of the high seas."

HELP AUTHORIZATION

One prospective Canadian amendment would say clearly that inspection of any suspect area shall be facilitated and that any signer of the treaty may ask U. N. Secretary General U Thant to get the help of a "technically competent" nation for the inspection.

* * *

Another possible amendment calls for notification of the coastal state concerned before any verification procedures could be carried out on the continental shelf.

A Canadian source said the Americans had given the impression that "they now can live with" the amendments and the Russians were still waiting for Moscow's decision on them. He said amendments might be submitted to the committee this week.

The 1967 assembly adopted a resolution dedicating the ocean floor to "the interest of maintaining international peace," and the Soviet Union and the United States proposed the next year that proposals to demilitarize the seabed be referred to the Geneva Disarmament Committee. That committee took up the matter this year, and the result was the joint Soviet-U.S. draft.

Big Cut in January Draft; 'Vietnamization' Cited

WASHINGTON (AP) — January's draft quota has been cut by two-thirds, bringing a drop in manpower needs credited by defense officials to "Vietnamization" of the war to more than 72,000 for a four-month period which began in October.

* * *

Announcing the cutback in January's draft call from 35,000 to 12,500 men, Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said Saturday he would act speedily to put into effect the draft lottery system enacted last week by Congress.

* * *

Laird said the 12,500 men called into the service in January would be chosen by the new random selection procedure from all qualified men between the ages of 19 and 26. After a transitional year, only 19-year-olds will be drafted.

* * *

The reduction in projected military manpower needs for January is the second to be announced by the Nixon administration this fall. President Nixon earlier canceled November and December draft calls totaling 50,000 men. October's draft quota of 29,000 men was spread over the three-month October-November-December period.

* * *

With the January reduction of 22,500 men, the total drop in projected manpower requirements through the end of January will have been 72,500.

Virginia Is Laying Claim to Nation's 1st Bourbon

BERKELEY PLANTATION, Va. (AP) — The state of Virginia, apparently satisfied it has put Massachusetts to rout in the debate over which had the first Thanksgiving, now has flung down the gauntlet to Kentucky.

The same hardy English settlers who held the "first Thanksgiving" at this historic James River landing in 1619 also, according to a pageant that unfolded here Sunday, distilled the New World's first bourbon whisky.

Kentuckians surely will prick up their ears at this bit of news. For until now, anyway, the first bourbon whisky was held to have been made in Kentucky.

Sunday's pageant, a 35-minute costume drama by Civil War historian Clifford Dowdey and Dr. Wolford D. Taylor, was the centerpiece for an observance that attracted 3,500 persons to Berkeley's grounds.

THERE IT WAS

Among them were Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, who spoke briefly but didn't mention bourbon whisky, and Virginia Gov. Mills E. Godwin Jr., who spoke a little longer but didn't mention it, either.

But there it was, unmistakably, about midway in the Dowdey-Taylor drama, which otherwise was all about the few weals and many woes of the 38 settlers who put ashore at Berkeley's Landing Dec. 4, 1619.

Almost immediately after landing, the settlers held a worship service of Thanksgiving. And as Virginia keeps telling Massachusetts, this was two years before the Pilgrims' Thanksgiving feast at Plymouth Mass.

Waterford Heads List of Area School Votes

By DICK ROBINSON

Some 10,000 to 12,000 Waterford Township School District voters are expected to go to the polls between 7 a.m. and 8 p.m. tomorrow to decide on a one-year, 9-mill school property tax increase.

Meantime, Utica, Imlay City and Lapeer school district voters will decide on bond issue elections today and tomorrow.

* * *

The Utica District will ask voter approval tomorrow on a $29.6-million bond issue. The largest figure ever asked by the district, if approved, will be used for new building construction and additions and renovations to existing buildings.

The Imlay City District today is seeking $2,535,000 for site purchase and construction of a new middle school, additions to the high school and elementary school and construction of new administrative offices.

LAPEER BOND

The Lapeer District is asking voters today to approve a $6-million bond issue to provide 85 new classrooms throughout the district. Officials said, if approved, the expansion should suffice until 1975.

Passage of the Waterford tax increase —$9 per $1,000 of state equalized property valuation — would assure enough additional school income to put students back on full-day schedules for all of 1970 and half of 1971, school officials say.

* * *

The problem, points out acting Supt. Dr. John Pagen, is that the school district — third largest in Oakland County with 18,502 students — is simply not taking in enough revenue to support a full academic program.

The 42-square-mile Waterford district is made up of nearly all of Waterford Township and portions of Independence, West Bloomfield and White Lake townships.

CUTS MADE

Since last year, the board of education has cut $1.48 million from its budget, eliminated 127 teaching positions and put 8,496 junior and senior high school students on shortened days and 4,257 elementary pupils on half days.

Another 5,749 elementary pupils are scheduled to go on half days in January when the 4,257 return to full days.

* * *

Pagen says if the millage hike is defeated Waterford Township and Kettering High Schools will lose their accreditation, posing some problem for graduates hoping to get into college.

Also, a defeat means full-day class schedules won't be restored this school year, according to Pagen.

The 9-mill hike will produce $1,905,330.30 in income, Pagen said.

It will cost the average Waterford Township homeowner $90 to restore full-day school classes for 1½ years, starting in January, school officials say.

* * *

Total taxes for Waterford residents are up 25 per cent this year, residents will discover when they get their tax bills next month. But the school tax increase will be put on next year's bill.

Indiana Man Held

Kidnaped Boy Pulled From Lake

From Our News Wires

A suspect has been arrested in the kidnaping of a 6-year-old Chicago boy whose abductor tried to drown him in Lake Michigan near Hart, according to the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

The FBI office in Indianapolis said John E. Walrath, 30, of Hammond, Ind., was arrested in Gary early this morning, about 12 hours after a group of hunters came upon a man trying to drown Timothy Martin in chilly Lake Michigan yesterday afternoon. The man escaped.

Walrath was to be arraigned today before the U.S. commissioner in Chicago, the FBI said.

They would release no further details of Walrath's arrest.

The boy was rescued by deer hunters who said they encountered a man pulling "a half-drowned kid" through icy watesr of Lake Michigan off Little Point Sable some 10 miles north of Hart.

* * *

Timmy Martin, a brown-haired, brown-eyed youngster who was the object of a large scale search in Chicago, was tearfully reunitel today with his mother, Mrs. Kathy Bryant, at the Hart State Police post.

For more than 30 hours, Timmy and the stranger were together on the drive from Chicago up the Lake Michigan shore.

* * *

"He told me to take off my shoes and roll up my pants because we were going in the water," the lad told police.

'PRETENDED I WAS DEAD'

"He picked me up and threw me in and tried to drown me, but I pretended I was dead already," Timmy said haltingly from his mother's arms.

"And then he dragged me, but the hunting men came along and he let me go," the small boy said.

The man fled as the hunters arrived, police said.

"It was a one-in-a-million chance that the hunters were there," said Steve Juterbock, 19, one of those who took part in the rescue. "The hunters were going back to get a jeep that was stuck. It was a good mile from anywhere that you could drive with a normal vehicle."

THOUGHT IT WAS RESCUE

"They (the hunters) thought they were witnessing a rescue," a State Police officer said. "But when they drove up on their dune buggy the boy sprang up, crying, and saying that the man had been trying to kill him. The boy clung to one of the hunters and wouldn't let go."

Timmy told police the stranger picked him up Saturday while he was playing in the street with other kids in the neighborhood.

* * *

After Timothy failed to come home, Mrs. Bryant said she called neighbors and police to report him missing. One boy, Steven Walker, 9, told police that a man had offered the two of them $1 each To go with him. Steven said Timmy accepted the money, but he (Steven) returned home.

Timmy said the man didn't harm him, but gave him only a bag of potato chips to eat. They stopped twice at gas stations where he was warned to keep quiet and overnight when Timmy slept in the front seat and the man in the back seat, the boy said.

$100-Million Tax Dodge Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — A loophole in federal law is letting oil and mining companies avoid $100 million yearly in taxes by funneling income through shadow foundations.

The transactions are legal under present law, but the tax reform bill on which the Senate opens debate today would shut the loophole.

* * *

Foundations involved in the deals are granted tax exempt status on grounds they are nonprofit charitable corporations. However, it is found they give little or no money to charity.

An Associated Press study shows the main purpose of the foundations is to serve as middlemen in multimillion-dollar deals involving banks and mineral producers.

PRODUCTION PAYMENTS

Involved in the transactions are sales of carved-out production payments — in essence the right to future profits from mineral deposits.

A check of foundation records for Louisiana and Texas turned up more than 30 foundations whose only assets were production payments.

These foundations handled $118,500,000 in production payments last year and gave $145,835 to charity.

A study by the Treasury Department shows that production payment transactions totaled $750 million in 1967 and $703 million last year.

Treasury officials said one tax dollar is lost for every seven dollars involved in the deals. Therefore, they said, carved-out production sales cost the government over $100 million.

Brunettes Are Junior Misses in Pontiac and Waterford

Gentlemen may prefer blondes, but judges for the Junior Miss Pageants in Pontiac and Waterford Township prefer brunettes.

Two pretty dark-haired girls began a year's reign Saturday night, the result of their winning performances in the annual Jaycee-sponsored contests.

The "fairest of the fair" are Jan Felt, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Felt of 2150 Ostrum, Waterford Township, a senior at Pontiac Northern High School, and Connie Crawford, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray D. Apollo 12 Nears Splashdown

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 12's moon men neared the end of their voyage of discovery today, guiding their Yankee Clipper toward a blazing dash through the atmosphere and back to their home planet.

Charles (Pete) Conrad Jr., Richard F. Gordon Jr. and Alan L. Bean were on a near-perfect course that would slam them into the atmosphere 76 miles above the Pacific Ocean at 24,600 miles an hour. Splash-down was set for 3:58 p.m. EST about 400 miles southwest of American Samoa.

* * *

They planned a short burst of their jet thrusters at 12:44 p.m. to zero in on the area where the aircraft carrier Hornet waited. If they come close, the landing will be televised live.

As the 10-day million-mile journey neared an end, Conrad, Gordon and Bean held the world's first news conference from space during a final telecast last night.

HARD TO LAND

Answering questions prepared by newsmen, they reported it took great skill to land on the moon, rocks are hard to identify because the color changes in different sun angles, sleeping on the moon was difficult and they'd launch again in a thunderstorm — as they did Nov. 14 — if necessary.

* * *

The astronauts hoped to match in the Pacific the pinpoint landing Conrad and Bean achieved last Wednesday when the lunar module Intrepid touched down only 600 feet from an unmanned Surveyor spacecraft that landed on the Ocean of Storms 2½ years ago.

The landing in warm Polynesian waters climaxes a lunar expedition which should vastly enrich man's knowledge of the moon and perhaps his own earth and universe.

Coming home with Yankee Clipper are 80 to 90 pounds of moon rock gathered by Conrad and Bean, film recording nearly eight hours of moonwalk, and parts of Surveyor 3.

PINPOINT LANDING

They also demonstrated on man's second visit to the moon that astronauts can land at a percise point on the surface, valuable knowledge for future Apollo crews who will fly into mountains and craters.

Conrad told the televised news conference last night that it was no easy task to land Intrepid on the moon.

* * *

"It took every bit of knowledge I had to get that baby down there in the right place. That was no piece of cake. That's my profession. And it took everything I had to get that LM down in one piece. I think we got some things to work out on that."

The reply was in response to a question on whether geologists should go to the moon soon.

TRANSPORTATION FIRST

"I think that the idea is to get the transportation system worked out and then take the necessary people," the Apollo 12 commander said. "There's no doubt a geologist can do a better job than I can."

* * *

The astronauts face quarantine until Dec. 11 as a precaution against the remote chance they brought alien germs back from the moon. The Apollo 11 pilots contracted no bugs, but Apollo 12 went to a different lunar area and an international contamination committee recommended a full quarantine.

But landing restrictions were relaxed. Instead of donning head-to-toe biological isolation suits, the plan was to wear face masks to trap germs the astronauts might exhale.

* * *

Conrad, Gordon and Bean will be locked in a mobile quarantine van aboard the Hornet for almost five days while the ship cruises toward Hawaii, some 2,600 miles from the intended landing area.

Clouds Just Teasing Ski Buffs

If your skis are all polished and ready to go, you'll have to wait a bit longer for the weatherman to cooperate. The clouds due on the horizons for the next few days are not scheduled to drop any snowflakes. But they are expected to stay and look gloomy just to tease a little.

* * *

Temperatures are expeced to dip tomorrow, however, with the highs in the low 40s and the lows in the 20s. Wednesday's forecast contains more of the same, cloudy skies and cool temperatures.

* * *

Light variable winds this morning will swing southwest to south at 5 to 10 miles per hour by tonight, steadying out of the southwest tomorrow morning at 10 to 20 m.p.h. and swinging to the northwest by tomorrow night.

Precipitation probabilities in per cent are today 5, tonight 10 and tomorrow 20.

U.S., Reds Keeping Mum

3rd Arms Huddle Ends

HELSINKI, Finland (AP) — U.S. and Soviet negotiators met for two hours today, their longest secret session since starting their strategic arms limitation talks a week ago.

In advance of today's private parley at the U.S. Embassy, U.S. envoys had hoped for clues from the Russians on what nuclear arms the Kremlin might consider negotiable in future full-scale discussions on curbing the superpuower missile race.

★ ★ ★

As usual, spokesmen for both sides refused after the business session—third since the talks began—to disclose anything except the length of the meeting and when the next one will be held: Wednesday at the Soviet Embassy.

As the delegations were meeting, the Soviet news agency Tass sounded its first criticism of the United States in the arms talks.

FIGURES CITED

Tass said "imperialist states"—obviously meaning the United States—were to blame for the arms race. It cited rising U.S. military expenditures and figures on U.S. strategic arms strength.

Tass, in a dispatch from Helsinki, praised the Soviet government for seeking an end to the arms race but gave no credit on this score to the United States.

★ ★ ★

A U.S. delegation spokesman denied a published report that the Russians last week had been told the details of the United States' nuclear force.

Newsmen previously had been advised by U.S. sources that the delegation here did not intend to reveal secret material in the talks.

The two teams traded general statements in two 90-minute secret sessions last week, then recessed for a three-day weekend at Soviet request after each side sought more explanation of the other's position. The long weekend gave the Kremlin plenty of time to study the conference exchanges and to formulate instructions for its men in Helsinki.

The current preliminary talks, expected to last into December, are a diplomatic probing operation to find out what might be dealt with in substantive negotiations later.

Lodge Calls 'Untrue' Charge He Balked in Private Talks

PARIS (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge branded as "untrue" today a statement by North Vietnam's negotiator that Lodge had been unwilling to hold private meetings with Hanoi's representatives on "general problems" concerning South Vietnam.

Xuan Thuy, Hanoi's chief envoy to the Paris peace talks, had made the allegation in an interview with the New York Times. Thuy said Lodge was prepared to discuss only mutual troop withdrawals.

★ ★ ★

Lodge, chief of the U.S. negotiating team, replied in a formal statement issued today.

"First," Lodge said, "it is not true that I have not been willing to meet privately or otherwise with Mr. Thuy to discuss general problems concerning Vietnam. And he knows it very well.

WILLING TO TALK

"Second, it is also not true that in the private meetings which have been held, I have only been willing to talk on only one question, that of mutual troop withdrawal. He knows that, too.

"Third, it is not true, as alleged, that the U.S. wishes to continue the war in Vietnam and is therefore inflexible."

★ ★ ★

Lodge, who has announced his resignation effective Dec. 8, continued:

"The facts are that Mr. Thuy has been as intransigent in private meetings as he hs been in public meetings. He has avoided engaging in any give-and-take. Instead, his position has been to insist on the U.S. withdrawing completely from South Vietnam without any indication of what the North Vietnamese would do. He has also demanded that the U.S. overthrow the present government in South Vietnam as we leave.

★

"For our part, we have made it clear that—far from rejecting —we are willing to discuss all questions relevant to peace."

Senate Takes Up Tax Reform Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hoping to wrap up the tax reform package by Christmas, the Senate will be debating during the next several weeks just how far it can go to play Santa Claus for individual U.S. taxpayers.

The issues of personal income tax exemptions and oil and gas depletion allowances are expected to highlight the lengthy debate which begins today.

★ ★ ★

Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., says he will press his proposal to raise the personal income tax exemptions.

Gore's proposal, defeated when the Senate Finance Committee worked over the House-passed reform bill, appears to be gaining support in the Senate. Behind it are, among others, Sens. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., the Democratic whip, and James O. Eastland, D-Miss.

★ ★ ★

The Gore plan would substitute larger deductions for an over-all reduction in income tax rates passed Aug. 7 by the House and approved Oct. 31 by the finance committee.

The oil and gas depletion allowance, now 27½ per cent, was lowered to 20 per cent by the House but raised to 23 per cent by the Senate Finance Committee.

President, Smarting From Defeat of Haynsworth, Mulls Next Step

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the second time this century, a president is trying to decide what to do next after the Senate voted down his nominee to the Supreme Court.

President Nixon said Friday, after the Senate rejected 55-45 his nomination of Clement F. Haynsworth, that he would wait until Congress returns in January for its second term before submitting another nomination.

Nixon also said he would stick with his campaign pledge to pick a nominee who believes in "a strict interpretation of the Supreme Court's role."

While smarting from his worst congressional defeat since taking office, Nixon must try a second time to find such a man who will be agreeable to the Senate.

BARELY WON

The last president to face this dilemma was Herbert Hoover.

Hoover barely won confirmation of his first Supreme Court nominee, Charles Evans Hughes, and lost his second, John J. Parker of North Carolina, by a 41-39 vote on May 7, 1930.

★ ★ ★

Parker, like Haynsworth, was opposed by labor and civil rights groups.

Hoover came up with Owen J. Roberts, who was confirmed unanimously by the Senate.

A strict constructionist on the bench, Roberts was strictly middle-of-the-road politically.

Parker, too, fared well after the bitter court fight. He remained on the U.S. 4th Circuit Court of Appeals, became chief judge and in time even won the respect of labor.

Hughes, whom Hoover made chief justice, was confirmed 56 to 26 despite complaints that his recent work as a lawyer had been largely for great corporations.

Education Unit Taps Seaholm as a Member

BIRMINGHAM — Seaholm High School has been elected to a three-year membership in the College Scholarship Service Assembly (CSSA) of the College Entrance Examination Board.

Seaholm is one of 66 secondary schools in the United States elected to membership at the organization's recent meeting in New York.

★ ★ ★

CSSA is a membership organization of colleges, universities, secondary schools, large urban area school systems and other educational organizations.

Membership in the organization entitles Seaholm to participate in the deliberations of the assembly at both the national and regional levels, to interpret the needs and interests of secondary schools in the affairs of the Assembly, and to assume and carry out the responsibility for informing local secondary schools on the problems and activities of the assembly.

★ ★ ★

CSSA, an Education Testing Service, program conducted for the board, offers a number of services to help colleges and other donors administer scholarship programs.

These include a central transcript and computation service that collects and evaluates financial information about students applying for scholarships. Colleges and other scholarship sponsors both use this service.

Library Error Rectified; Assets, Dispute Fade

By TIM McNULTY

ROCHESTER — Controversy over the Avon Township Library subsided last week when it was discovered the library's assets were $900,000 less than previously reported.

According to a letter from State Att. Gen. Frank J. Kelley to Township Attorney Lewis R. Bebout, a typographical error was made in the attorney general's first report, estimating library assets at $991,000.

* * *

The figure should be $99,100, Kelley wrote. Originally the money was left to the library in the estate of Eva Woodward Parker. Out of that money the library building at 210 W. University was constructed and furnished.

Recent questions raised by the Friends of the Avon Township Free Public Library and the city and township's request for a division of assets prompted the attorney general's reports.

AUDIT UNDER WAY

The Friends challenged the library board to show the library's financial holdings and stock interests in its annual report. An audit to determine the library's holdings is now under way by the accounting firm of Harris, Reames and Ambrose of Rochester.

Kelley's letter also said joint ownership of the library by the city and township was "not possible" under the present state statute concerning libraries.

"The library is a distnct and separate entity," said Kelley, "with segragated control and funds of the library in the library board.

"I do not suggest that city residents have lost all interest in the library," Kelley said, "but joint operation is not permitted."

Residents of the city may not sit on the library board, and all funds for the library are channeled through the township's general funds on an as-needed basis.

Aside from the monies left by the Parker estate, the township supports the operating costs of the library through the return of a sales tax percentage from the state.

"Failure to levy a special tax does not alter the status of the public library as independent," Kelley said.

The township is authorized to levy "up to one mill," said Bebout. "However it has not levied that tax since sometime in the 1940s."

Bebout also said the attorney general's letter merely "continues the status quo" on the library situation. "Before I recommend anything on it (to the township)," he said, "I'm waiting for more information from the attorney general's office."

Bebout said the present library board will continue to function and operate, the city still cannot have representation, the township will continue to pay and the library will probably enter into another contract with the city and Oakland Township for services in the coming year.

Although no date was set, Kelley also recommended that a meeting be held with members of his office and Oakland County Prosecutor Thomas J. Plunkett, city and township officials and the library board to decide on any future action involving the library's legal status.

Smoke damage was reported in the house which adjoins the gaarge and the outside of Sampson's car was charred. Fifteen men from the township's volunteer fire department extinguished the flames witin a half-hour.

Novi City Manager Dallas Zonkers Makes A Point

'City Has Few Hangovers'

New Novi Exec Is Optimistic

By LOIS FRIEDLAND

NOVI — "This is a city which can and will be developed strictly according to wishes of its citizens — through controlled development," explains Novi's new city manager.

Settling into the new job, Dallas C. Zonkers, a dapper man with a salt-and-pepper mustache, tells why he came to Novi.

"This city can be developed like a new city. The area is not crowded and not full of old hangover problems," said Zonkers.

He explains that going into an old town with old estates, buildings and public utilities is difficult since expensive improvements in water and sewer lines may be necessary. Furthermore, it becomes to difficult to zone land and plan proper land use if buildings are already scattered around, he says.

Novi's land is largely vacant. The southwest part of the city is connected to the Detroit water sewer network.

The Village of Novi and 98 per cent of the township were incorporated as a city in May 1968. Incorporation left eight small and separate township "islands" within the new city. The division of assets is still being argued.

* * *

Zonkers, former city manager of Flushing (near Flint), which became a city five months before he took office in 1965, is skilled in administering a community's transition from village to city status.

He declined to discuss specifics on the current negotiations for assets explaining that he is not directly involved. (The mayor is handling negotiations), but he is willing to play the role of a hitherto-uninvolved middleman if needed.

"Unhappiness is always caused because townships do not like to be diminished," he said. The township will receive less than 3 per cent of the assets.

He noted that special problems have come up because the township islands within the city are so isolated it will be difficult to provide adequate services, especially fire and police protection.

* * *

A fluent talker and apparent doer, Zonkers already has visions of helping organize area municipalities with mutual problems.

* * *

"Federal government programs are geared to areas — by mutual planning you can accomplish a lot more faster. By presenting united efforts to solve problems from the state on up you get better consideration," he explained.

Phone Firm Answers Attack by Bloomfield Twp. Official

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The Michigan Bell Telephone Co. has come to its own defense here following a verbal attack by Township Supervisor Homer Case.

Case had some terse words for the telephone company last Thursday when the telephone lines servicing the township's police and fire departments failed for the fourth time in a year.

* * *

Case had some terse words for the telephone company last Thursday when the and the others by a truck accident and a broken underground cable, the telephone company had promised to stay on the problem until it is solved.

The supervisor maintains that in time of a line failure the township should be served with emergency equipment so that residents can maintain contact with the police and fire departments if needed.

IMMEDIATE ACTION?

Chuck Woodhead, public relations manager for Pontiac Division, stated that in every instance emergency crews have been sent to the scene almost immediately to repair the problem.

"In this last instance it was arranged to have all calls to the Bloomfield fire and police departments switched to the Birmingham station. The Birmingham station then radioed all calls over to Bloomfield.

* * *

"We fully realize the importance of keeping police and fire lines open and I believe that we reacted immediately to every situation that has developed involving the Bloomfield police and fire departments," the official said.

He added that last week's problem was caused when a crack developed in the lead splice of cable located in a manhole at the Long Lake-Woodward intersection. The crack permitted moisture to form on the cable, causing a short.

3-Hour Blaze Damages Barn; Landmark in Bloomfield Twp.

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Firemen from four area departments fought a blaze at the famous landmark barn on the Wabeek Farms property on Long Lake Road near Middle Belt for nearly three hours yesterday before bringing it under control.

The fire reportedly broke out in the hayloft of the barn which was part of the former country estate of the late U. S. Sen. James Couzzens.

* * *

Chrysler Corp. owns the property which includes a large complex of dairy buildings.

An attendant who lives on the property was able to free more than 100 head of cattle quartered in the barn before the blaze got out of control. Firemen who arrived at the scene shortly after the alarm was turned in at 4:38 p.m. carried several calves to safety.

PARTICIPATING FIREMEN

About 35 firemen from departments in West Bloomfield Township, Franklin and Bloomfield Township plus personnel from the Tri City Department (Keego Harbor, Orchard Lake and Sylvan Lake) fought the fire with nine pieces of equipment. The blaze was brought under control at about 7:15 p.m.

The only nearby dwelling, a house located on the same property about 20 feet from the barn was saved.

* * *

The cause of the fire and total damages remain undetermined, according to bloomfield Township Fire Department officials.

Election Tomorrow

Utica School Bonds Gain Fans

UTICA — Individual and organizational support for the school bond issue election tomorrow continues to increase, according to school officials.

Nearly 2,000 persons and 24 community organizations have officially endorsed the election proposals to finance the $29.3-million construction program.

* * *

"We are encouraged at this display of grass-roots backing for our attempt to keep pace with expanding enrollment," said Phillip Runkel, superintendent of schools.

The ballot proposals seek financing for eight new schools, several building additions and an extensive remodeling program throughout the 65-square-mile district.

The bond issue will not require a tax increase until the 1972-73 school year, according to the Board of Education. After 1972-73 the most that will be levied in additional taxes is one mill ($1.00 per $1,000 of assessed valuation), a board spokesman said. He said it would be approximately $11.50 a year for the average home owner.

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Name Change to Canaveral Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — Florida's two senators, noting that space shots are no longer made from Cape Kennedy, said today the name of the historic spot should be changed back to Cape Canaveral.

Democratic Sen. Spessard L. Holland and Republican Sen. Edward J. Gurney made their plea as the latest moon-walking astronauts—who took off from Merritt Island near Cape Kennedy in Florida—headed for a splashdown in the Pacific Ocean.

In testimony prepared for the Senate Interior Committee, the two said their resolution to redesignate Cape Kennedy as Cape Canaveral would in no way disturb the name of the space facility on Merritt Island, known as John F. Kennedy Space Center.

Earlier space shots were made from pads at the Cape, but the current moon shots are launched from Merritt Island.

The senators said their proposal was designed to restore the cape's historic name, which showed on maps as far back as 1530.

"This may well be the oldest geographic point in the United States, certainly on the East Coast," Gurney said. "It was recorded before the names of Cape Cod and Jamestown."

He said he doesn't believe that the late President Kennedy, "with his appreciation for American heritage, would want any action which would deprive us of such a historic name."

Gurney said newspaper polls in Florida show that 92.8 per cent of the residents of that state favor the redesignation.

The name change from Cape Canaveral to Cape Kennedy came shortly after President Kennedy's assassination in 1963.

Gurney said there had been no hearings on the proposal, and no meeting of the Interior Department's board of geographic names to act on it. And, he added, the change brought heavy protests from Florida.

Moon Touchdown 'No Piece of Cake'

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — "I'll tell you one thing," Pete Conrad was saying. "It took every bit of knowledge I had to get that baby down there in the right place. That was no piece of cake."

Conrad, Alan L. Bean and Richard F. Gordon Jr. were holding the first news conference from space Sunday and he was recalling how he brought the lunar lander Intrepid in.

* * *

"It took everything I had to get that LM down in one piece," Conrad said. "I think we got somethings to work out on that."

Apollo 12 was on the last leg of its voyage of 953,000 miles when the space agency passed up questions submitted by newsmen.

STORM NO WORRY

The astronauts said they would be willing to launch again in the kind of thunderstorm that marred their blastoff Nov. 14, recommended improvements in tools and carrier bags and reported difficulty in sleeping on the moon.

* * *

Newsmen asked whether Conrad's exhilaration on the moon might have been caused by an "oxygen high," a state of euphoria that sometimes occurs when an astronaut breathes pure oxygen.

* * *

"I was very happy," said Conrad, "but I wasn't on an oxygen high."

In the first 10 minutes of a moon walk, Bean said, "You find that it is not as hard as you think it is going to be to move around, and you are pretty happy about that . . . I was in a good humor to start with, seeing we had landed next to the Surveyor. That started the thing off right."

TOLD DIFFICULTIES

Bean described difficulties in identifying rocks and soil this way:

* * *

"This second day we went out, the same thing that looked gray to us the first day started looking—at least to me—a sort of brown, dark brown or a tannish brown, and it was really one of the most interesting things of the lunar surface operations . . . how much that color can change just with a 71 degree or so sun angle change."

* * *

The derelict Surveyor spacecraft they inspected and removed pieces from looked brown, Bean said, but "I wouldn't be a bit surprised that when we get all those parts back to Houston, they don't turn out to be—under the earth light and light of the laboratory—kind of dark gray again."

Hornet Crew Will Unfurl Its Welcome

ABOARD USS HORNET (AP) — When the Apollo 12 crew boards their prime recovery ship after splashdown today they will be greeted by a big banner reading: "Three More Like Before."

* * *

And many of the 2,200 crewmen of the Carrier Hornet are wearing buttons bearing the same slogan.

* * *

The apollo 12 slogan is a follow-up to the Hornet's recovery of the Apollo 11 crew last July 24 and their return to Honolulu with the ship proudly wearing a big banner: "Hornet Plus Three."

* * *

This apparently will be the last Apollo recovery for the Hornet since the craft is destined to be pulled out of active duty next March and placed in the mothball fleet.

CARRIER REFUELS

The Hornet rendezvoused with the fleet oiler Hassayampa Sunday and refueled with 900,000 gallons of oil, then returned to the splashdown area, 405 miles southeast of Pago Pago.

* * *

"We're home free now," the Hornet's weatherman, Lt. Cmdr. William G. Tasker, reported Sunday in a special splashdown weather report. He said there would be partly cloudy skies, widely scattered rain showers, south-southeast winds of 10 to 18 knots and moderate seas. He predicted air temperature of about 84 degrees at splashdown time and water temperature about the same.

Wives' Tension Near End

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Apollo 12 streaked today toward a Pacific splashdown, ending 10 tense days for the wives of the moon adventurers.

"I was thinking how thankful I'll be when Al gets home again," Sue Bean, the pert blonde wife of moon walker Alan Bean, said after church Sunday.

* * *

For Mrs. Bean, Barbara Gordon and Jane Conrad, the flight of Apollo 12 has been a mixture of apprehension, exhilaration and sleepless nights.

The worrying began during the first moments of launch, when commander Charles Conrad Jr. reported the spaceship had suffered an electrical power failure attributed to lightning.

DRAMATIC MOMENTS

Then came the perilous descent to the moon, the moon walks, the broken television camera, the drama of liftoff from the lunar surface.

The wives followed the high adventure via television and squawkbox, flanked by children, friends and relatives.

Barbara Gordon attended Mass daily. All three families tried to ease the tension with picnics and other group activities.

Mrs. Conrad and her two youngest boys went flying in a glider Sunday, and afterwards she visited Mission Control to view the last telecast from space.

Told by ground controllers his family was there, Conrad exclaimed:

"Hey, great, tell them we'll be home in about a week!"

Actually, the astronauts will be back in Houston Saturday, but it will be Dec. 11 before they leave quarantine to rejoin their kin.

"I can hardly wait," said Sue Bean.

Parolees Given Help

An innovative program for rehabilitation of prison inmates has been announced by Pontiac Motor Division.

Under the plan, soon-to-be-paroled prisoners are provided work passes that enable them to perform standard work assignments at the local auto plant.

Once established in jobs, parole status of former prisoners will in no manner affect continuance of their employment.

★ ★ ★

Eligibility of those to be thus employed is determined by joint screening action by the Michigan Department of Corrections and the local employer. An initial group of eight has been approved and hired.

Work-pass employes draw comparable wages with other workers and share fully in all fringe benefits. The only exception is that the bulk of their earnings is retained by a State agency pending their release from prison.

★ ★ ★

Commenting on the plan, Department of Corrections Director Gus Harrison says, "All too often a man in prison has a family on relief and debts pile up while he serves his sentence. When he returns home, he has financial, employment and personal adjustment problems. The work-pass program is aimed at helping him overcome these problems and at keeping him from becoming a repeater."

★ ★ ★

The Pontiac Motor Division is to be commended on its enlightened human-relations program as another indication of the social responsibility that General Motors Corp. is increasingly assuming.

Pontiac Man in Vietnam Disturbed by Home Scene

Lately, we here in Vietnam are dismayed and irritated to hear of civil disorders and other senseless acts committed by Americans against fellow Americans for the purpose of demonstrating against our involvement in the war.

★ ★ ★

We believe in what we are doing and feel President Nixon is proceeding properly to obtain a just peace. Have these self-proclaimed intellectuals no patriotism or national pride? Dissent is healthy but many of these acts border on insurrection which is intolerable.

None of us truly wishes to be here and perhaps we do not fully agree with the method of handling the war, but we do have purpose and are determined to carry it out. We love our country.

Jeers for Hubert Humphrey for twisting Agnew's words to seem like suppression of the right to dissent; to the National Board of the YWCA for its support of (1) the black manifesto; (2) abolition of the Un-American Activities Committee; for the clergy who lead young protesters to believe they are following Jesus; for the government which allows desecration of the flag with the broken cross, the so-called peace symbol.

Draws Comparison With Earlier March

The veterans marched on Washington after WW I and had the waterhoses and tear gas put on them and were threatened with machine guns. Why did not the Poor People's march and the so-called Peace March (which were Communist-backed) get the same reception?

★ ★ ★

If President Nixon would do away with Communists in America, we would have no more trouble.

★ ★ ★

Why not march for victory in Vietnam and Korea? In these wars victory has been denied us by the traitors in our own administration. According to our commanders, we could have won these wars in a weekend, but that would not have brought the National debt up sky high.

I participated in the peace march because I felt the need to go. It was good to see a half-million people united in the cause of stopping the war.

New 'Ticket' Nips Nipponese

Japan, which hardly has enough room for all its people, is experiencing an automobile population explosion. The result has been some monumental, Roman-style traffic tie-ups in its major cities. One of the major contributors to the hardening of the vehicular arteries is illegal parking.

To counter this, as well as a scofflaw attitude on the part of too many Japanese drivers, police in Yokohama are experimenting with a new device, reports Highway User magazine. It's a "lockable traffic ticket" that stays with a car as long as its owner refuses to pay his fine.

Where the conventional ticket can simply be removed from under the wiper blades and thrown away or put in the glove compartment with its predecessors, the new waterproof ticket is locked to the fender mirror or door handle of an illegally parked vehicle.

Unless the motorist goes to the police to have it unlocked and removed, he has to drive around with this evidence of his violation—waving a red flag at the bulls, as it were.

In the past, more than 70 per cent of Yokohama motorists have ignored traffic summonses. The new lockable ticket has reduced this to 10 per cent.

Jailed Negro Needs Your Help

WASHINGTON—Dr. Thomas W. Matthew, a Negro, is in prison today for what is technically a misdemeanor, and he will remain there for six months.

He pleaded guilty to one of three counts charged against him—in fact, he had made them public himself before he was arrested and tried. Under any other circumstances, Dr. Matthew would have been given a suspended sentence.

De TOLEDANO

A few years ago, Dr. Matthew was making $100,000 as a neurosurgeon. He had his own hospital. He gave it up to try to bring psychological and economic independence to his people.

★ ★ ★

He didn't pass the cup among the multimillion-dollar foundations. Instead he set up a project —NEGRO (National Economic Growth & Reconstruction Organization) — that created industries which paid $11 million in wages to people who had been on relief. That $11 million eased the welfare problems of cities, states and the federal government.

What was Dr. Matthew's "crime"? In the early days of his project he poured his personal earnings, including income taxes not yet paid, into the work.

He frankly stated that this was extra-legal, adding that holding back his taxes provided funds for NEGRO.

This year, the success of NEGRO enabled Dr. Matthew to file and pay his income taxes.

The normal procedure under the circumstances would have been to impose a fine on him and let the matter go.

The head of what is the country's largest black self-help project, however, is sentenced to six months in prison.

BOOK THROWN AT HIM

Since he refused to plead "not guilty," the court was bound to give him some sort of sentence. But it could have been a light one and should have been suspended.

Instead the federal court threw the book at him. "It hurts me more than it hurts you," the judge who read the sentence said in effect.

A group of citizens headed by John Chamberlain, the columnist and critic, has been organized to try to win President Nixon's intercession. It is in Mr. Nixon's power to pardon Dr. Matthew or to effect his release from prison.

Senators and representatives are being asked to plead Dr. Matthew's case with the White House and the Justice Department.

OTHER FISH TO FRY

But Congress has, and will continue to have, other fish to fry. It will not move unless the voters stir it up with letters, telegrams and phone calls.

And send encouragement to the imprisoned man via Citizens for Dr. Matthew, 890 West End Ave., New York City — or Suite 1052, National Press Building, Washington, D. C.

★ ★ ★

In his plea for Dr. Matthew, Chamberlain wrote: "We urge all Americans to join us in our declaration that the national interest demands that Dr. Matthew be allowed to continue his work for an America in which all people are equal in responsibility as well as opportunity . . . for the union of the haves with the have-nots through growth not force . . ."

Defines Ideal Newspaper

"A newspaper is the greatest single happening in the history of free men. A newspaper is the voice of sorrow, war and death. It is also the voice of liberty, integrity, democracy and life. More people are affected directly by its news than by any other source in existence. The printed word lives on forever because it is imprinted, not just on paper, but on human lives. A newspaper is man's personal handshake with immortality."

We're not blowing our own horn. The above definition of a newspaper was written by a student reporter for the "Pioneer," school newspaper of Southwest High School in St. Louis, Mo.

★ ★ ★

We plead guilty to partiality in this instance, however, and happen to believe that, while it may not be an accurate definition of every newspaper everywhere, no higher ideal could be aimed at by any newspaper anywhere.

Christmas Hard to Fight, but Spiro-Hero Can Do It

Faster than a Senate confirmation, more powerful than an inflationary curb, able to straddle tall issues in a single straddle, it's . . . MEDIOCREMAN!

As we join Mediocreman today, kids, he's in his stuffy Oval Office disguised as the mild-mannered President. His pretty secretary, Lotus Lane (who doesn't know his true identity) enters, looking worried.

HOPPE

Lotus: Terrible news, Mr. President. Inflation's running away. And with holiday shoppers on the loose, prices will go out of sight. Christmas this year will ruin the country.

The President: Well, Lotus, perhaps if I issued a strongly-worded attack against Christmas . . .

JOB FOR MEDIOCREMAN

Lotus (angrily): You'd be crucified! What good would that do? (stomping out) Oh, I wish Mediocreman were here.

The President: Hmmm, I think Lotus is right. This sounds like a job for Mediocreman. (He quickly whips off old blue suit to reveal underneath a stuffy old gray suit, the uniform of . . . MEDIOCREMAN! He pushes a secret button under his desk and up through a trap door pops his trusty sidekick . . . Spiro-Hero!)

Spiro-Hero (saluting): You called, Chief?

Mediocreman: Right, Spiro. I wanted to tell you what good jobs you've been doing for me lately.

Spiro-Hero (glowing): You mean my statesmanlike appraisal of those effete, intellectual, impudent, snobbish, ideological eunuchs who are parasites of passion?

'SACRED DUTY'

Mediocreman: I couldn't have put it better myself, Spiro, if I weren't trying to lower my voice and bring the people together.

Spiro-Hero (modestly): I consider it my sacred duty, Chief, to stand up before the people, come what may, and speak your mind.

Mediocreman (frowning): I'm against it. I admire your courage in taking on the television networks, the most powerful opinion-molding force in history.

Spiro-Hero (stoutly): I sure showed that tiny, closed fraternity of privileged men that their querulous criticism can't scare us—without involving you in any way, sir.

ANOTHER JOB

Mediocreman: Right, Spiro. And now I've got another job for you—Christmas.

Spiro-Hero (beaming): Oh, good, Chief. I'm all for Christmas.

Mediocreman (frowning): I'm against it.

Spiro-Hero (still beaming): I'm against it. Oh, I'll rip cheap, tawdry, maudlin Christmas up one side and down the other. I'll tell the kids there's no Santa Claus and I'll . . .

Mediocreman (clapping him on the back): That's the ticket, Spiro. And when they attack and revile and castigate you, take heart in the knowledge that you are keeping my sacred promise—namely that they won't have me to kick around any more.

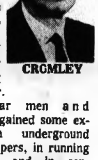
Effort to Sow Dissent in Army Seen

WASHINGTON (NEA) — There is talk that some anti-Vietnam groups will now put a heavier priority on promoting dissidence among men in the Army.



CROMLEY

An infrastructure has been built up in and around a number of major Army posts during the past year.

The antiwar men and women have gained some experience in underground Army newspapers, in running coffee shops and in conducting off-post "parties" for enlisted men.

They now think they know what techniques appeal to recruits and which don't. They think they know where to concentrate their efforts (among new recruits during training, when the shock of Army life is the greatest; men are harder to reach once they've been assigned to a unit).

★ ★ ★

They also know now some of the things they can do legally — how far they can go safely.

They've learned that if they find the right men they can get fast results if they concentrate on "technical aid" — coaching prospects in how to organize, how to put out an underground paper, how to win other recruits, then leaving much of the job to these men.

ISOLATED SUCCESS

Some anti-Vietnam groups are rumored to be getting more of their own people into the Army.

This has been accomplished successfully in a few cases. But there's no evidence yet the movement has infiltrated to any appreciable depth.

★ ★ ★

It is known that a number of the protest men and women believe conditions are good for effective work among Army recruits:

AWOL (absent without leave) rates for the Army as a whole have jumped from 60 per thousand men in fiscal 1965, to 78 in 1967, to 90 in 1968, to 112 per thousand in 1969.

Desertion rates have shown a similar trend — 15 per thousand in fiscal 1966, 21 in 1967, 29 in 1968 and 42 per thousand in 1969. A man is listed as a deserter currently if he is missing for more than 30 days.

CONCENTRATIONS

What makes the situation ripe for the anti-Vietnam movement, some of its leaders are understood to believe, is that the most susceptible young men are concentrated for the most part in a relatively few places, all in the United States — that is, in the major training centers for new recruits.

Military men this reporter has talked to, while having no data to prove their point, believe the rapid increase in AWOL and desertion rates these past few years is partly a result of increasing permissiveness in American society and the step-up in anti-Vietnam talk in their home communities.

★ ★ ★

This would seem to indicate the strategy of the anti-Vietnam activists could be quite effective.

EXCITEMENT, HAPPINESS PREVAIL—Steel goal posts on the University of Michigan football field prove no challenge for the deliriously happy Wolverine fans following Michigan's upset victory over Ohio State Saturday afternoon. Shown is just a fraction of the 103,588 fans an all-time college attendance record, that turned out to watch Michigan snap OSU's winning streak at 22.

Ranger Skates for All Flags

By the Associated Press

Juha Widing, born in Finland, raised in Sweden and imported to Canada is, believe it or not, a Yankee Doodle Dandy. Or, at the very least, a Ranger Doodle Dandy.

Widing scored a pair of goals Sunday night—each saluted on the Madison Square Garden organ by a rendition of the Stars and Stripes Forever—as New York stretched its National Hockey League unbeaten string to eight games with a 5-2 victory over the Oakland Seals.

* * *

Why the Stars and Stripes? "It just seemed to fit in well," explained organist Eddie Layton. Actually, it fit in better than Layton realized because Widing was born 22 years ago on—of all dates—July 4.

Elewhere in the NHL Sunday night, Montreal and Boston battled to a 2-2 tie, Toronto nipped Philadelphia 3-2 and Chicago edged Pittsburgh 3-2.

In Saturday's games, New York blanked St. Louis 5-0, Montreal took Oakland 4-2, Toronto shut out Detroit 4-0, Pittsburgh downed Philadelphia 5-3 and Minnesota stopped Los Angeles 4-1.

THIRD LINE

Widing, centering the Rangers' third line, had managed only one goal in the first 19 games this season. He did much better than that in the second period against the Seals Sunday.

First came the game-tying goal three minutes into the period, wiping out a 1-0 Oakland edge. Then came a power play backhander—New York's fourth goal of the period. In between were goals by Rod Gilbert and Vic Hadfield and afterwards came one by Dave Balon as New York opened its NHL East Division lead over Montreal to two points.

* * *

The Rangers first spotted Widing playing in Sweden. He had been born in Finland but moved to Sweden when he was 18 months old. Six years ago, he was brought to Canada to refine his hockey.

Big news too around the NHL was Bobby Hull's first goal of the season helping Chicago stretch its unbeaten string to nine games.

Hull's 35-footer tied the score in the third period against the Penguins and then Stan Mikita won it for the Black Hawks.

* * *

Goalie Rogatien Vachon of Montreal and Gerry Cheevers of Boston preserved the deadlock between the Canadiens and Bruins with a series of standout saves late in the game.

Cheevers stopped Yvan Cournoyer in the final minutes on a breakaway. It was Cournoyer's second period goal that tied the game for Montreal.

* * *

Bob Pulford scored two Toronto goals and assisted on the third, leading the Maple Leafs past Philadelphia. The Flyers had a apotential tying goal in the third period nullified by an offsides penalty.

Bullets Strike Cage Bull's-Eye Against L. A.

Baltimore Records 10th Victory in Last 11 Contests

By the Associated Pres

The streaking Bullets gunned down Los Angeles . . . adding another bit of misfortune to the ailing Lakers' bid for prosperity in the National Basketball Association's Western Division.

Earl Monroe was the deadliest Bullet of them all with 31 points as Baltimore knocked off the Lakers 129-97 Sunday night for its seventh straight victory.

* * *

The setback dropped Los Angeles two games back of leader Atlanta in the West chase, while second-place Baltimore moved to within 5½ of idle New York in the East.

Cincinnati rolled past Phoenix 137-123 and Boston topped Seattle 125-116 in the night's only other activity.

Baltimore victory—its 10th in 11 starts—snapped the Lakers' five-game winning streak.

* * *

Only the brilliant plant of Jerry West, who scored 38 points, kept the Lakers, who played most of the way with only six healthy players, in the game at all.

Monroe received 19-point support from Jack Marin and Gus Johnson added 18. Mel Counts had 23 points and 22 rebounds for Los Angeles.

HOT GAME

Oscar Robertson drilled in 39 points and Tom Van Arsdale had 29 in guiding the Royals past Phoenix.

The Suns grabbed an early lead, but Fred Foster's basket gave the Royals a 33-31 edge at the end of the first quarter and Cincinnati maintained a narrow lead until the Suns went on top briefly at the start of the second half.

The Royals led by only 114-113 with five minutes to go, but Robertson and Van Arsdale then combined for nine points to put it out of reach.

* * *

Jerry Chambers scored 31 points for Phoenix.

Larry Siegfried scored 26 points and John Havlicek 23—including eight in a fourth quarter rally—as Boston topped the SuperSonics.

The Celtics led 96-91 at the start of the final session, but Seattle rallied and Lenny Wilkens jumper from the free throw line gave the Sonics a 99-98 lead with 10:13 left.

But a few seconds later, Havlicek converted a three-point play and Boston never trailed after that.

Bob Rule was high scorer for Seattle with 33 points.

ROUGH TIME — UCLA quarterback Dennis Dummit is pinned to the ground as the football squirts from his grasp after being hit by Southern California defenders Greg Slough (53) and Jim Gunn (33) in the second quarter of the showdown game between the two West Coast schools. USC won the game 14-12 and earned its fourth straight berth in the Rose Bowl game New Year's Day.

Woody Makes It Fast, Snappy

ANN ARBOR — The AP man (Associated Press) had come all the way from Columbus. His singular assignment: Win or lose, interview Woody Hayes.

Woody wasn't talking. The legendary leader of the Ohio State Buckeyes muttered a few terse words into the front of his shirt and retreated to the visitors' locker room under the Wolverine stadium.

* * *

Hayes' relative silence was a smart move. A gleeful group of Michigan sportswriters were prepared to grill the Ohio State coach on Saturday's happening.

The Wolverines turned the juice off on Woody's fabled football machine 24-12 before 103,588 person witnesses.

Overjoyed and suddenly warm despite the cold, the middle-aged and young alike crowded onto the Wolverine carpet. Earlier they sang "Goodby Woody" and they swayed to the Michigan battle cry "Hail to the Victors".

DARK MEETING

The writers waited for Woody in the dark tunnel underneath the stands.

* * *

Hayes emerged hatless in his traditional white short-sleeve shirt. Moving a few paces away from the locker room door, he said it quick:

"We were outcoached and outplayed. Our defense didn't do well in the first half but it did well in the second . . ."

Then he was gone, slipping quickly back into the Buckeye dressing room. The questions went unasked and unanswered.

1-2 Punch Helps Colonels

By the Associated Press

Louie Dampier and Darel Carrier, Kentucky's one-two punch, teamed for a 51-point explosion Sunday night that helped the Colonels climb back to within 2½ games of leading Indiana in the American Basketball Association's Eastern Division chase.

Dampier dumped in 27 points and Carrier 24 as the Colonels turned back Los Angeles 121-115. New York stopped Pittsburgh 120-106 and Dallas whipped Washington 121-117 in the night's only other activity.

* * *

Los Angeles trimmed Carolina 120-117 in Saturday night's only ABA game.

Kentucky leaped to an early lead and had a 101-79 advantage late in the third quarter before the Stars started catching up. However, Los Angeles never could get closer than five points.

Bill McGill led Los Angeles with 24 points and Merv Jackson added 19.

RALLY STOPPED

Ed Johnson and Lavern Tart teamed for 14 points in the last five minutes to turn off a Pittsburgh rally and send New York to its third straight victory.

The Nets had a 97-86 lead with 8:09 left, but went scoreless for more than three minutes as the Pipers cut the gap to 98-92. But then Tart, who finished with 33 points, came up with eight points and Johnson added six to put it out of doubt.

* * *

Charlie Williams scored 29 points and Mike Lewis 18 for Pittsburgh.

Dow-Jones Average Drops

Moderately Active Mart Slips

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market slipped in moderately active trading early today.

At 10:30 a.m. the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials had fallen 2.97 to 820.16.

Declines of individual issues held an edge of nearly 2 to 1 over advances on the New York Stock Exchange.

The action was a continuation of Friday's slump, which capped a week of steep setback.

Opening blocks included 6,400 to 75; 5,300 shares of General Electric, unchanged at 80⅞; 7,300 shares of Litton Industries, unchanged at 51⅜; 5,000 shares of International Nickel, up ⅝ to 40½; and 7,900 shares of American Telephone, off ⅛ to 52¾.

* * *

Early prices included U.S. Steel, off ⅜ to 36; Transamerica, off ⅝ to 26⅛; Texaco, up ¼ to 29⅝; Sterling Drug, up 1 to 43½; Crown Cork, up ⅜ to 17¼; Du Pont, off 1 to 111⅝; IBM, off 1 to 350; Kennecott, off ⅝ to 43; and Raytheon, off ½ to 35¾.

* * *

The market's sharp loss Friday was again due, according to analysts, to indications that the tight money policy would be maintained for some time to come, and a lack of progress in Vietnam peace talks.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials fell 8.05 to 823.13 Friday, pushing its loss for the week to 26.13.

Drug Display Thief Is in for a Surprise

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Department of Public Safety says the persons who stole a narcotics display at a youth conference on drugs here may be in for a bad trip.

A department spokesman says the drugs were treated by the DPS narcotics section to either cause sickness or to neutralize their effects.

Among the items stolen were treated amphetamines and roll-your-own cigarettes labeled "marijuana."

Tax Overhaul Prompts Ulcers

Legislature Ponders Educational Reform

LANSING (UPI) — One of the eternal ulcer producers in legislative bodies, the necessity of raising taxes, is weighing heavily on the minds of members of both houses of the Michigan Legislature these days.

The lawmakers are in the midst of a series of negotiations with Gov. William G. Milliken over the governor's education reform proposals.

* * *

If they buy the program or any part of it, and the chances for that continue to brighten, they are going to have to raise taxes somewhere along the line to pay for it.

Senate Democratic leader Sander M. Levin of Berkley said recently it all boils down to a "dollar search." In a dollar search, the ultimate decision is who pays and how much.

SENATE OK'D

The Senate already has passed the $1-billion state school aid bill for fiscal 1970-71 proposed by Milliken, including $25 million for parochiaid.

At the same time the upper chamber approved the removal of $116 million worth of property tax credits from the state income tax. It also approved three other bills knocking out $30-$40 million worth of exemptions in the sales and use tax.

* * *

Milliken had proposed removal of the property tax credit and a raise in the cigarette tax to finance the increases in the $1-billion aid bill.

But Senate Taxation Committee Chairman Harry De Maso, R-Battle Creek, has resisted all efforts by the administration to get the bill out of his committee and it appears to be withering away.

BIGGEST IMPACT

The Senate still has not considered the biggest proposal in the education reform package in terms of impact — the statewide property tax.

Milliken asked the Legislature to set up a statewide tax of 16 mills to finance part of the bill for operating schools. He said this would cost the state an extra $300-$400 million to make up what the local districts lose by cutting their property tax take, which now averages 24 mills.

* * *

But the Senate has amended the bill to cut the ceiling to 12 mills, a move which would cost an extra $160 million.

Milliken said his property tax relief proposal could be paid for by raising the personal income tax from 2.6 to 4.1 per cent and the corporate income tax from 5.6 to 7.7 per cent.

SHIFTING BURDEN

Dropping the proposed state property tax to 12 mills would mean a higher income tax, if that is the means used to make it up.

De Maso has contended all along the governor and the Legislature should "admit we're talking about raising the income tax, rather than sliding around it all the time."

* * *

But with every legislator up for reelection in 1970, talk of income tax raises, even if they would not have to be voted on until after the election, brings fear of voter reprisals at the ballot box.

The income tax hikes would not be needed until after 1971 because the statewide property tax would not go into effect until it is approved by voters in the 1970 general election.

MILLIKEN'S AWARE

Milliken is well aware of the financial facts of life and this, he says, is one of the reasons for his educational reform prosals.

When he spoke to the Legislature last April, he said the skyrocketing cost of education is providing a great deal of the state's money-raising problems.

* * *

In the past six years, he said, elementary-secondary school enrollments rose 21 per cent while the total amount spent to finance these schools more than doubled from $760 million to $1.8 billion.

Christmas Season the Time to Be Wary

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK — For most people the Christmas season is a time to be cheery, but to the Better Business Bureau it's the season to be wary of unscrupulous operators, swindles and gyps.

CUNNIFF

Money is plentiful during the season, and spirits are high. Inspiration flows and guards are down. People are in a hurry and they don't count their change. And the swindlers are well aware of it.

One of the most successful gyps—and its continuing popularity attests to the gullibility of men—involves a vial of prefume being sold by a street vendor.

Any woman would recognize that perfume couldn't be sold at such an absurdly low price. But to a fellow who has just left an office party and is heading home very late, the stuff looks like the magic that will ease his way into the house.

'A REAL BUY'

Something about the merchandising method also indicates a real buy: A cardboard carton is spread out on the sidewalk; a hurried, harried vendor stands behind it furtively trying to spot an oncoming policeman.

The gullible husband bites, ignoring his wonderment that such fancy perfume could be spirited from Paris through the customs men to be sold at a fraction of its costs from a carton on a city street. It is, of course, nothing more than cheap cologne rebottled.

* * *

Another racket is perpetrated by sending a claim stub to an individual stating that the sender is holding a package that will be sent on return of the stub and a small amount of money.

Seldom is the amount sought very large, because that might arouse the suspicions. The sum might be only $2, the very amount that forgetful Aunt Sally spends on gifts she sends to the children.

CHEAP GIFT

Anxious to find what gift is to arrive on return of the stub and the money, the housewife succumbs. In return she receives a gift of almost no value. The package isn't from Aunt Sally. In fact, it has no return address.

Another swindle capitalizes on concern for your neighbor, which often is warmer during the cold holidays than it was back on those summer mornings when he started his power mower at 6:30.

"Would you please accept a package for Mr. Jones next door?" the messenger asks Mr. Smith, adding innocently, "It's C.O.D."

The magnanimous man of the house, anxious to get back to his television set, hands over the money and receives a strangely light package. By the time his suspicions are aroused the young messenger has scooted away.

CHARITIES

What is Mr. Smith to do but wait for Mr. Jones to come home and then walk over with the package? Mr. Smith opens it and they both have a laugh. Mr. Smith's laugh is as hollow as the box though, because he pays.

Then there are the charities. In many cities young men and women have made comfortable livings in recent months merely by sticking out their hands and asking for cash. And cash has been pressed into their hands.

* * *

With this knowledge of just how easy it is to beg effectively, many of these same people will be holding out something that holds more money than a palm. It will be a cup, and the inference will be that the money is for charity.

The customary warnings, from the Better Business Bureau and others, state that any charity should be investigated before a donation is made. But on a snowy, windy, dark night, how is one to investigate? It's impossible.

* * *

The biggest surprise of all, however, may not involve gyps. It does involve forgetfulness, and since the effect can be the same, the BBB reminds you this holiday season:

If you're buying a battery-operated toy, check before Christmas to see if it needs batteries.

Low Interest Rates Far Off—Nixon Aide

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy predicts it will be a long time before interest rates fall back to the preinflation levels of three or four years ago.

But it will not take a recession, Kennedy said, to produce lower interest rates or a lessening of any of the other inflationary ailments.

* * *

Kennedy, in a UPI "Washington Window" interview, said he could not offer a date when the Nixon administration's battle against inflation will be won. But when that time finally does come, he said, interest rates should begin to fall.

He was asked if the day of the 5½ per cent mortgage was gone forever.

"Forever is a long time," he said, "and I would say that it would not be gone forever. I think it will be a long time before they are back in that range."

Kennedy said he did not foresee a recession because, "Our program is a gradual program of control of inflation which will bring an orderly adjustment in conditions, and we have so much basic strength in our economy.

"I don't look for any real downturn," he added. "We may have a temporary period of adjustment."

"In any period of control or in any period where you're reducing demand you have adjustments and I think that there will be some adjustments necessary and will take place," he said. "I don't think there'll be serious unemployment. I think it can be done without that."

"I think that a good case could be made for standby power in the federal reserve to regulate consumer credit," he said. "This would require time and effort and I don't think, in the current situation, it could be achieved in time to do much good."

Kennedy also said some congressional spending plans are threatening to disturb the administration's fight against inflation.

"Many items that are already in the Congress, some already have passed the House, some have passed the Senate, which in total would increase government expenditures by $5 billion," Kennedy said. "Well, that we cannot tolerate. That's too large in amount and it would upset our whole inflation program."

GM Boosting Hourly Wage Rates Today

DETROIT — The wage rate of General Motors hourly employes is being increased today in amounts ranging from nine to 18 cents per hour under existing agreements signed with the UAW, IUE and other unions in 1967 and early 1968.

* * *

The increases will amount to an estimated $130 million per year and will go to about 465,000 GM hourly employes in the United States.

* * *

For the typical automobile production worker such as an assembler the increase is 10 cents per hour, bringing his wage rate to $3.59 per hour, plus the current 21 cents an hour in cost-of-living allowance for a total of $3.80. (This compares with a wage rate of $3.24 per hour which was paid prior to the 1967 contract.)

* * *

Among the skilled trades employes, a die maker, for example, receives an increase of 14 cents an hour, bringing his rate to $4.93 per hour, or $5.14 including the current 21-cent cost-of-living allowance. (This compares with $4.20 an hour in 1967 prior to the current agreement.)

* * *

The wage increases effective tomorrow will bring the total increase in income from wages and cost-of-living allowances during the life of the contract to nearly $1½ billion. This estimated increase in wages does not include the cost to GM of the improvements in benefit plans which also were a significant part of the 1967 settlement.

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I would like to sell some stock but am not certain of the proper procedure for signing. Should the stock certificates be sent by regular mail— A.G.

A. There are two commonly used methods of endorsing and mailing stock certificates. Perhaps the safest way is to use a form called a stock power which your broker will be glad to furnish. The stock power is endorsed exactly as your name appears on the stock certificate. This is then mailed to your broker. Your stock certificate remains unsigned and is mailed in a separate envelope. In this case regular mail suffices.

If you endorse the back of the stock certificate then you should use registered mail. Remember your signature should match your name as it appears on the face of the certificate. You must sign on the line below the date line. Your broker's firm name should be entered between the words "appoint" and "attorney to." If you carefully follow either of these methods the transaction should be completed without problems

Q. Twenty-five years ago I bought shares of Standard Sanitray at $13. Should I continue to hold these shares? — F.O.

A. Now trading as American Standard, this company has changed quite substantially since your purchase. In 1966 new management instituted a program of diversification, which resulted in several major acquisitions. In a parallel move several marginal divisions were disposed of.

Investor reappraisal was reflected in the upgraded level of the earnings multiple which still holds. Through the first nine months of 1969 earnings gained 19 per cent on a 13 per cent increase in sales. For the full year net of $1.95 a share is anticipated.

The intermediate prospect for these shares is clouded by the building slowdown. A higher level of construction activity in response to pent-up demand is looked for in the latter part of 1970 if the financial climate eases. Since you are obviously a long-term investor I see no reason to distrub this holding for what should be a setback of limited duration.

News in Brief

Laboratory equipment was smashed and the lab ransacked at Rochester High School, Walton and Livernois, Avon Township, according to Oakland County sheriff's deputies. The vandals entered the building sometime during the weekend by breaking lab windows on the west side of the building, deputies reported.
