

$90-Million Dope Ring Smashed

State Budget Draws Political Criticism

By DICK BARNES

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney's record $788.5 million general fund budget started the rocky legislative committee road today, seemingly drawing more criticism for its political implications than its dollar allotments.

State Controller Glenn Allen Jr., Romney's man behind the budget, was scheduled to explain the document today to the Senate Appropriations Committee.

The committee, said chairman Garland Lane, D-Flint, will open its formal budgetary work next week.

So, too, will the House Ways and Means Committee, indicated chairman Elmer Eerlandson, D-Escanaba.

Lane was among Democrats who chided Romney for what they said was presenting new or improved programs in his name while throwing the less politically welcome ball of tax reform to the legislature.

NEW TAXES

Some legislators said the spending program — $93 million higher than this year's appropriations — would require new taxes. Others said it would not.

But, when the explanations were done, it seemed all sides agreed the budget did not require new taxes this year or possibly next.

But they indicated development of its programs would hike carry-over costs enough to necessitate new revenue sources by 1967.

Democrats say that since Romney is proposing programs that eventually will require new funds he should initiate tax reform.

63 FAILURE

The governor, mindful of his tax reform failure in 1963, says he's willing to launch into the subject as soon as legislative leaders come tell him they're ready to talk.

This Alphonse - and - Gaston procedure in getting into a subject that could lose votes in 1966 seemingly is keeping the budget.

One Democratic leader said if the Democrats significantly raise Romney's recommendations, then they're stuck with taking the initiative on tax reform — which in most eyes means an income tax.

Most Republicans say the budget is good, though GOP Sens. Emil Lockwood, St. Louis, and Thomas Schweigert, Petoskey, thought school aid should have climbed higher.

SURPLUS

House Speaker pro tem Albert Horrigan, D-Flint, said the surplus will more likely be $10 million than the $105 million Romney pegged for this coming June 30.

Feelings Vary on Proposals

OU, Hospital Chiefs

Cite Both Good, Bad

Announcement of Gov. George Romney's proposed capital outlay budget today brought mixed reactions from the heads of two local institutions — Oakland University and Pontiac State Hospital.

Included in the governor's proposals were:

• $1.75 million for construction of Matilda R. Wilson Hall, a classroom - office building at OU.

• $252,000 to finish the third floor of the OU library and renovate the basement for a computer center.

• $1,082,500 for construction of a children's unit at the hospital.

• $400,000 for rehabilitation of the hospital power plant.

OU Chancellor D. E. Varner said he was pleased with the governor's recommendations, but puzzled and disappointed that the budget did not include planning money for a projected $2.5 million engineering building.

"It has been the custom," said Varner, "for the legislature to award planning money for one year and construction monies the next."

"This delay will substantially reduce Oakland University's growth," he stated.

ABSOLUTE NECESSITY

"We can't take the students if we have no place to put them. And that extra building is an absolute necessity for the fall of 1967."

The budget also ignored OU's request for $150,000 to complete the main campus road, Dr. Varner said.

Dr. Donald W. Martin, medical superintendent of Pontiac State Hospital, was also pleased by the governor's budget proposal.

"These are the exact amounts we requested," (for the power plant and children's unit) he said, "and will be a great help in our expansion and improvement plans."

Dr. Martin was also disappointed, however, that no money was allocated for the hospital's expansion and improvement plans.

Wintry Weather to Hold Tight Grip

Wintry weather will hold a tight grip on the Pontiac area tonight with lows dipping from 3 below to 4 above.

But the weatherman promises tomorrow will be a little warmer. Friday's forecast is partly sunny and warmer.

Temperatures for the next five days are expected to average about 8 degrees below the normal high of 29 to 34 and normal low of 13 to 19.

Not much change in temperature is predicted for the weekend, but warmer is the forecast for early next week.

A low of 1 below was the low reading in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. The mercury had slowly moved up to 14 at 2 p.m.

In Renewal Costs

Ruling Saves City $500,000

Pontiac has saved an estimated half-million dollars in additional urban renewal costs as a result of a Michigan Supreme Court ruling yesterday.

In a major test case the high court ruled that the City of Detroit did not have to reimburse utility companies that were required to relocate their facilities because of urban renewal.

While not directly involved, Pontiac would have ultimately been affected financially if the court had not reversed an earlier decision of the Wayne County Circuit Court which held that the city was liable.

"We can breathe easier," said James Bates, Pontiac urban renewal director, upon learning of the Supreme Court ruling. "If the low court decision had been upheld it could have meant a sizable figure in additional costs."

He estimated that the city may have had to compensate utility companies as much as $500,000 before urban renewal programs in Pontiac were completed.

PROJECT CITED

Bates cited one project that still has to be completed by Consumers Power Co., at a cost of approximately $200,000, because of urban renewal. It is the relocation of a major feeder line which serves the downtown area, he said.

"The decision saves a lot of headaches," said Bates. "It means we will not have to re-submit budgets to the urban renewal office in Chicago to offset part of the costs."

In overruling the lower court, Supreme Court Justices voted 4-3 that the utilities must pay for the relocation of the facilities if the city lacks the ability to do so.

The particular case involved Michigan Bell Telephone Co. and the Detroit Edison Co., and amounted to about $13,000 in costs.

In 1962, Circuit Judge Edward Piggins held that require-ing the utilities to move poles, wires and other equipment amounted "to the actual taking of private property for which just compensation must be paid."

The Supreme Court opinion, written by Chief Justice Thomas Kavanagh, stated that because rehabilitation of blighted areas is involved and federal urban renewal procedures do not allow for the compensation to the firms "the city is not required to pay under stipulation with the companies."

The three opposing justices held that a 1929 Plat act requiring assessments reserved for such situations be upheld.

January Sales High at Pontiac

Retail deliveries by Pontiac dealers during the past month reached an all-time high for any January with the sale of 65,495 new cars, E. M. Estes, General Motors vice president and general manager of Pontiac Motor Division, announced today.

This, he pointed out, was a 15 per cent increase over a year ago when 52,517 Pontiacs and Tempests were sold.

Sales for the final 10-day period totaled 24,440, surpassing the previous record of 22,321 set in the same period a year ago.

On a daily-rate basis, Pontiac showed a 23 per cent gain January 20-31 over the same sales period last year.

It also marked the seventh consecutive 10-day record for the division.

"The overwhelming public acceptance of the 1965 Pontiac and Tempest has created an unprecedented market for our cars, with unfilled orders continuing at record levels," Estes said.

15 Are Arrested in NY Raids; 4 Being Sought

May Be Top Echelon of Large Network in New York Area

NEW YORK (AP) — Brooklyn Dist. Atty. Aaron Koota announced the smashing of a $90-million narcotics ring in a series of raids beginning at 1 a.m. almost throughout the city today.

Ninety city and federal officers struck in four boroughs and arrested 15 men, named in a sealed indictment in Brooklyn Supreme Court yesterday.

Four other men, their identities withheld, are being sought.

Koota said, "The ring has been in operation at least since November of 1963."

Koota declined to discuss any of the defendants' possible ties with the Cosa Nostra, or Mafia, underworld syndicate.

ANNOUNCED ARRESTS

The district attorney announced the arrests at a news conference, saying:

"We believe we have smashed the top echelon of one of the largest rings of wholesalers and distributors of narcotics in the New York area."

"We have estimated that this group under indictment would turn over $50 million worth of narcotics into the retail market every four months."

Report Says Laotians Downed Four Aircraft

TOKYO (AP) — Hanoi Radio today claimed Communist Pathet Lao forces shot down three pro-Laoer-driven T28's and a jet plane over Muong Phin in Central Laos last Monday.

The broadcast, monitored in Tokyo, quoted Pathet Lao Radio as saying Pathet Lao forces "valiantly fought off many groups of T28 fighters, and F100 and F101 jet planes of the U.S. and the Right-wing party (Laotian government forces)."

PAGEANT PLANNING—Members of the Jaycee pageant planning committee this week began work on final arrangements for the State Junior Miss Pageant to be held at Pontiac Northern High School this weekend. Preparing a large part for the crowning ceremony are (from left, top) Clyde Haskill, Roger Upham and Joel Goldberg, and (bottom) Mrs. Roger Upham, Mrs. Clyde Haskill and Mrs. Richard Jorgensen.

JCs' Junior Miss Pageant Starts Tomorrow at PNH

The Pontiac Area Junior Chamber of Commerce will host Michigan's Junior Miss Pageant tomorrow through Saturday at Pontiac Northern High School.

Twenty-five junior misses, chosen at local pageants throughout Michigan, will compete for the state honor, prizes, and an all-expense paid trip to Mobile, Ala., to compete in America's Junior Miss Pageant.

Michigan's Junior Miss will receive a $1,000 scholarship, a 16-piece wardrobe, a Zenith stereo photograph, a camera, a watch and a $25 U.S. Savings Bond.

There are six Pontiac area girls among the 25 state contestants.

Judging in the contest will be based on character, scholarship, citizenship, leadership qualities, talent, poise, personality, charm and bearing.

PARTY AT BANK

The girls will begin arriving in Pontiac tomorrow. First official function is a party that night at Club Overdraft in the Community National Bank Building.

Friday, judges will begin interviewing each girl. Rehearsals will also start in preparation for the talent presentations.

At noon Friday, a luncheon will be held at the Holiday Inn, 1801 S. Telegraph, Bloomfield Township, to honor the 25 contestants.

Interviews and rehearsals will continue Saturday until 7 p.m. when the final phase of the pageant starts at Pontiac Northern.

EACH TO PERFORM

Each of the 25 contestants will give a talent presentation. Following these four-minute acts, each girl will appear in an evening gown.

The two runners-up will be crowned as the new Junior Miss will be crowned as the climax to the three-day event.

During the contest, out-of-town girls will stay in the homes of 12 host Pontiac families.

The Saturday night phases of the pageant will be open to the public. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

SAME EFFECT

When the satellite is properly pointed, the disc produces much the same effect as the moon does during an eclipse, blinding out most of the sun to two of the measuring instruments.

The instruments then observe the sun's corona — the outermost layer which normally can be observed only during the infrequent natural eclipses of the sun.

During an eclipse, the main illumination of the sun is blotted out and the activity in the corona can be observed.

Citizens Unit Hits Income Tax

Opposition to Pontiac's proposed income tax was announced last night at the Citizens Commission meeting.

Charles Nasstrom, chairman of a self-appointed Citizens Committee on Taxation, declared that his group would oppose the measure.

The taxation committee petitioned for the referendum on March 18 on the income tax question.

Nasstrom claimed last night that the city income tax was unfair to local residents. He said his group favored a state tax.

The committee chairman said the income tax gave a "tax break" to corporations and consequently "was not fair to residents."

INCONSISTENT

City Commissioners disputed Nasstrom's arguments and logic.

"You are inconsistent," said Mayor Pro Tem Leslie H. Hudson. "You say you are against a city income tax, but for a state income tax."

Nasstrom claimed that residents pay only 25 per cent of the current property tax bill, while corporations pay 60 per cent.

He said 42 per cent of the income tax monies would come from residents, while corporations would pay only 19 per cent.

PROPERTY TAX

Nasstrom said his committee favored a 2 to 3 mill increase in property taxes instead of a city income tax.

He also said that the city should sell bonds to finance needed facilities and services.

City Manager Joseph A. Warren said that such services as more police and fire protection, shorter library hours and more street lighting could not be bonded.

Nasstrom said his committee opposed the tax because the city had a balanced budget in 1964 that was $687,000 higher than in 1964.

Hudson discounted chances for a state income tax. He pointed out that the State Legislature had pondered the matter for the past 16 years.

Saginaw OKs City Income Tax

In a light voter turnout yesterday in Saginaw, a city income tax proposal was approved by a margin of 2,111 votes. The tally was 9,818 to 7,707.

The proposal takes effect July 1. It imposes a one per cent tax on the income of resident corporations, businesses and individuals and one-half per cent tax on nonresidents who work in Saginaw.

The referendum was coupled with a four-mill reduction in property taxes.

Despite the millage cutback, city revenues are expected to increase $300,000 with most of it earmarked for capital improvements and pay raises for city police.

Election officials cited cold weather as the reason less than half the 40,000 registered voters went to the polls.

THIRD VOTE

It was the third tax vote in Saginaw. An income tax proposal without the millage cutback was approved by voters in 1961 but declared void by a State Supreme Court decision, while a second proposal, also without the property tax reduction, was defeated by voters in 1962.

Pontiac voters will decide a city income tax question March 18.

The proposal will be identical to those presented in Muskegon Heights and Saginaw.

Labor Party Turns Back Ouster Bid

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson's Labor government survived a move by the Conservatives to overthrow it last night, but created another crisis by announcing plans to buy American aircraft.

The Conservatives tried to bring down the government with a censure motion that said Wilson's first 100 days in office were filled with "hasty and ill-considered" decisions.

During the rowdy debate, Conservative leader Sir Alec Douglas-Home declared: "The honeymoon is over. If the government had a shred of political integrity they ought to resign."

During the session, Wilson announced Britain would scrap two partially developed military planes and buy similar aircraft from the United States.

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson has decided to postpone his visit to Washington for talks with President Johnson until later this spring, it was announced today.

The Laborites, which have a majority of only three in the House, defeated the censure motion by 17 votes. Nine Liberals abstained and five Conservative seats are vacant.

The scrapped planes are the Jumbie P1154, a versatile take-off fighter capable of supersonic speed, and the H.S. 681, a short American military transport. The P1154 will be replaced by the American F4H Phantom II and the H.S. 681 by the Lockheed C130 Hercules.

SCRAPPED PLANES

Wilson said the Phantoms would have British engines and some British parts.

He said the P1154 was rejected because "there is a time gap of some years which no government can ask either service chief or servicemen to accept."

The H.S. 681 could have been developed at very high cost and he was canceling it with "very great regret," Wilson said.

Plans to scrap the two projects have been criticized on grounds that this would create serious unemployment and whittle down one of Britain's most important technological resources.

The Commons session was the most tumultuous since Labor took office last October. The political fighting marked an end to a truce made on the death of Sir Winston Churchill Jan. 24.

Negroes March in Selma Again

Voter Registration Demands Renewed

SELMA, Ala. (AP) — A group of about 200 Negroes marched on the Dallas County Courthouse again today to renew their voter registration demands and were taken immediately before a state court judge who ordered them brought into his courtroom.

What action was taken by the court was not immediately made known. During the past two days other Negro demonstrators protesting at the courthouse have been charged with contempt of court on orders of Circuit Judge James A. Hare.

Sheriff James G. Clark was waiting for the Negroes when they arrived. Acting on orders of the judge, Clark took the Negroes to the courtroom on the second floor of the courthouse.

The Negroes had walked to the courthouse in small groups to avoid being stopped by police for parading without a permit. The group—some adults and the others students—started from a church where the civil rights movement is centered.

Wilson Baker, city public safety director, made no attempt to halt them. Two days ago he arrested a larger group including Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. for marching in a large formation.

Meanwhile, the civil rights forces asked a federal judge to order Baker not to interfere with their activities.

PETITION JUDGE

Attorneys for King and others also petitioned U.S. District Judge Daniel E. Thomas of Mobile to order Dallas County voter registrars to keep their office open eight hours a day, six days a week throughout the year.

King remained in jail, vowing to stay there as long as he felt it necessary to dramatize the civil rights struggle.

City police and sheriff's deputies arrested 505 Negroes Tuesday, most of them teenagers, who stayed out of school to join the growing protest. It brought to almost 1,300 the number taken into custody this week and to more than 1,600 the total since the campaign started 16 days ago.

Negro attorneys said they would ask a federal judge today to order the Dallas County Board of Registrars to meet more often and stay in session longer each day to give prospective Negro voters more time to apply for registration.

The lawyers said they also would petition U.S. Dist. Judge Daniel H. Thomas in Mobile for an injunction to prohibit city police from arresting Negroes participating in a right-to-vote marches.

U.S. Barracks Hit

Heavy Fighting in Laos

Heavy fighting broke out today in Vientiane as troops of today's Communist North Vietnamese army moved into the city.

Artillery shells crashed around the American, British and Thai embassies and hit the U.S. Embassy's Marine guard barracks. Thai Second Secretary Chote Pornsom was killed when a stray artillery round burst in the embassy compound.

No Americans were reported injured but by noon casualties were reported to be at least 30 killed and wounded. Indiscriminate artillery fire exploded throughout the city, adding to the toll and sending thousands of Laotians fleeing across the river to Thailand.

The armed forces in Thailand were placed on an alert status following reports the pro-Communist Pathet Lao forces were taking advantage of the fighting to attack Laotian border villages.

The fighting broke out in this dusty capital at 10:30 a.m. when artillery of Gen. Kouprasith Abbay, Vientiane governor heading the forces of the army high command, opened fire on troops brought up by Gen. Khann Kong, rebellious commander of the 2nd Military District.

CONTROLS CAPITAL

Diplomatic dispatches reaching Washington said Kouprasith, who commands the 5th Military Region including Vientiane, was in control of the capital city at nightfall. The reports said it remained to be seen whether daylight tomorrow would bring resumed fighting.)

The fighting reached a peak near noon in the second battle of Vientiane—the city also was a battleground in December 1961. Recorders ransomed machine gun and tank fire inflicted heavy damage throughout the city.

Bodies of civilians caught in the battle lay strewn in the streets as long as five hours after the fighting died down.

The situation appeared dim for the outnumbered forces of General Phoumi but the former right-wing strongman and vice premier told UPI: "I shall personally lead a counterattack."

Third Death in Tennessee Attributed to Snow Fight

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — A third death was attributed yesterday to a "snowball war" by students on motorists on a highway cutting through the University of Tennessee campus.

A truck driver, suffering from a fractured skull after being struck by a hard snowball during the student frolic Monday afternoon, collapsed and died in a doctor's office yesterday.

Earlier, a freshman student had been shot to death by a truck driver angered by a deluge of snowballs, and a motorist had a fatal heart attack and wrecked his car after the vehicle was pelted with snowballs.

The most violent incident happened when William Douglas Willett, 27, of Greenville, Tenn., drove his truck down Cumberland Avenue, a principal east-west highway route cutting through the U. of T. campus.

Willett, taking a load of produce to Cincinnati, Ohio, was struck in the face when snowballs slammed through his open window. His mouth bloody, the angry Willett jerked a 22-caliber pistol from an overnight bag and fired into a crowd of students.

An 18-year-old freshman, Marcell J. Goodman of Swampscott, Mass., was fatally struck over the right eye. Enraged students pulled Willett from the truck, struck him down, beat and stamped him. Willett was found with murder.

He estimated that the company's net income for the year was reduced about 10 per cent because of the strikes.

The bright spot in Ford's future as of 1964 was the cut in income taxes. For calendar 1964, the company paid some $482 million in U.S. and foreign income taxes compared with $529.7 million in 1963.

Police said that Yow claimed he was hit on the head by a snowball thrown by a U. of T. student when he got out of the truck to assist Willett.

Yow died in the office of Dr. H. E. Christenberry Jr. who quoted Yow as saying he had been hit in the left ear by a snowball.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A high-ranking civilian U.S. aid mission official is missing and feared kidnaped by the Viet Cong.

He is Gustav C. Hertz, 46, of Leesburg, Va., chief of the mission's public administration division since June 1963.

He reportedly left his home in Saigon's suburban Gia Dinh Tuesday afternoon. When he did not return two hours later, his wife notified the U.S. military officials and a search was started.

Ford Sets New Profit, Sales Marks

DETROIT (AP)—Ford Motor Co. reported yesterday its sales and profits hit new highs in 1964.

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The little boy "who used to wander through the halls of the Cranbrook Institute of Science Museum has grown up to become a globe-trotter."

He's returned bearing a treasure for the museum which once inspired his dreaming.

GONE THREE YEARS

— He was gone three years, spending a year each in Europe, Australia and the Pacific. Right now he is in the process of assembling and cataloging the Erickson, now a 24-year-old world traveler.

Featured on the 17-foot canoe is an elaborate work of inlaid mother-of-pearl forming a shark-like mouth.

It was secured after extensive negotiations with the elder of the village of Vola in 1962.

USED BY HEADHUNTERS

This and similar canoes had been used by headhunters and fishermen of the area, located across the bay from renowned Tulagi.

Erickson said he had read about the canoes and had determined he must get one for Cranbrook.

The canoe was dismantled, each piece marked, shipped back to the States by freighter and reassembled in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Burton C. Erickson of 283 Berwyn, Birmingham.

As a youngster, Erickson decided he wanted to go around the world making films. He solved his central problem — lack of money — by working much of his way as a dishwasher and cook, among other things.

In accepting the canoe, Dr. Warren L. Wittry, assistant director of the institute, noted that the museum's prime purpose is to spark interest in scientific pursuits among youngsters in elementary and junior high schools.

Erickson's gift, he said, proved that the goal was reached with at least one lad.

The canoe is prominently displayed in the museum, open from 1 to 5 p.m. every day except major holidays.

Cold Spreads Across Nation

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Zero weather spread across the nation today from New England south to Tennessee and west to Montana.

And, in Florida, crop warnings were in effect as much of the state shivered in winter's latest cold wave.

In northern and central Florida temperatures tumbled two degrees an hour late yesterday. Many sections braced for an expected wave of freezing temperatures.

However, officials in Florida said the crops will benefit — not suffer — from the night's bracing temperatures. A spokesman at the federal-state crop warning service in Lakeland said:

"It was real good for citrus. The dry air actually was good for some vegetables."

Subzero temperatures were common today in western Pennsylvania, Bradford, Pa., recorded -6 and DuBois, Pa.

Seeks to End Postal Banking

WASHINGTON (AP) — Postmaster Gen. John A. Gronouski said today he will ask Congress to take the postmen out of the banking business. He is convinced it is a losing proposition after 54 years.

Since its peak year in 1947, Gronouski said, the number of depositors who save through their post offices has plunged from 4.2 million to just over 1 million.

Total deposits have dwindled from nearly $3.4 billion to $16 million. The average individual account has dropped from $88 to $387.

The interest rate is 2 per cent, compared to the 3 or 4 per cent offered by commercial, federally insured banks.

"If I don't think there were good reasons to eliminate the Postal Savings System," Gronouski said, "I'd feel obliged to ask Congress for a higher interest rate. I think 2 per cent is intolerably small, and we're doing people a disservice when they can go across the street to a bank and earn more."

He said the situation was not clear.

Housing and Home Finance Agency (HFA) officials refused to recertify Pontiac's annual workable program because of a lack of systematic housing code enforcement.

Warren said a letter last night from John P. McCollum, HFA regional administrator.

McCollum said that HFA policy required local communities to have systematic code en-

Caution Urged on Bank Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman A. Willis Robertson halted a go-down signal today on a proposed broad-scale investigation of the national banking system by his Senate Banking Committee.

The Virginia Democrat said in an interview he intends to wait on reports from the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation and the comptroller of the currency on the failure of the San Francisco National Bank before acting further.

He said he had received reports of "irregularities" and "wasn't to know the facts."

Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, proposed in the Senate Tuesday a sweeping inquiry into banking practices as a result of the closing of the San Francisco bank.

CAREFUL LOOK

Sen. Wallace Bennett, R-Utah, followed this with a statement predicting that the banking committee will call Comptroller of the Currency James J. Sexton as a witness.

"We should take a careful look at charges being made in some quarters that bank charters throughout the country lately have been handed out as Democratic administration favors," he said.

But Bennett said any investigation ought to be delayed "to give federal regulatory agencies and the Justice Department time to complete their looks at the bank failures."

"This also will give time for the dust to settle and to insure that the committee's efforts will not shake public confidence in banks."

HESITATED

Lausche told his colleagues he had hesitated to raise the issue publicly but he feared that "the bankers of today, in this period of abundance, have forgotten all they ought to have learned out of the debacle of 1932."

He said he had been told in a conference with Joseph W. Barr, chairman of the FDIC board, that the 14,000 national and state banks covered by government insurance on deposits were carrying only 32 per cent of their assets in cash and gov-

He said this was only 7 per cent more than they held in such liquid securities in 1932 and contrasted with 52.8 per cent in 1954.

Lausche said he asked Barr why the FDIC wasn't aware of the "weakness" of the San Francisco National.

BANK REPORTS

He said Barr had replied that he had asked Saxton to see bank examination reports but the comptroller had replied he could not turn these over without payment of $100 each for the transcripts of the reports.

"The result is," Lausche said, "that the FDIC, with 14,000 banks covered by insurance, has no knowledge of what is going on in these banks."

Key Bills Passed

Congress Picking Up Speed

By GEOFFREY GOULD

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress never moves with the speed of a gazelle. But it's making a pretty fair stab at it so far this year.

Item: The Senate with the new session of Congress just a month-old has passed three major bills — the $1.09 billion Appalachia aid bill, an antipollution water program and a measure to implement the international coffee agreement.

Item: House committees have been burning up the track, comparatively speaking, to crank out important legislation on federal aid to education, medical care for the aged, the Appalachia bill and other major parts of President Johnson's Great Society program.

"One of the things responsible for the speed," House Democratic Leader Carl Albert of Oklahoma said in an interview, "is that the administration has done the best job in many years in getting the President's messages and bills up here to us."

KEY TO SITUATION

"The President's understanding of the importance of this" is a key to the situation, Albert said, and his own long service in the Senate "has been a help."

"You've got to make your presentations early, or Congress is on dead center until you do," Albert said.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said Tuesday as he left a White House meeting that the Senate "is further ahead in its work today than it has been for many years."

Is it because of President Johnson putting on the pressure of twisting arms on Capitol Hill?

JOHNSON MUM

"The President hasn't said a word," Albert said. "We've only had one meeting with him so far this year." Albert said just having the programs ready to roll is what is doing the trick.

He added: "We've got some tough ones ahead. The toughest I see is extension or modification of the farm program, or whatever the executive department decides to do."

He said he also expected a "hard go" on efforts to repeal a provision of the Taft-Hartley Act that allows states to enact so-called "right to work" laws, which labor spokesmen say are antiunion.

"We may have a lot of scrap over the minimum wage, too," Albert said. "It depends on how far they go."

The President is expected to ask extension of minimum wage coverage to additional workers.

BIG MAJORITY

Albert has a massive majority to work with—294 Democrats to 140 Republicans.

But he said an early vote on a rules change in the House, which carried 224-201, "showed we do not have a runaway Congress." The change gave Speaker John W. McCormack authority to bypass the sometimes balky rules committee to bring legislation to the floor.

There has been only one other significant vote in the house so far, and on that the administration lost — big majority or no big majority.

This was on a Republican rider to an appropriations bill that would prevent shipments of surplus food to Nasser's United Arab Republic. Albert said it was not a fair test of administration strength because big city Democrats with large Jewish constituencies wanted to "give Nasser a poke in the eye" and dashed the administration's position.

For Farmington Library

To Await Vote Outcome

FARMINGTON — City councilmen have adopted a wait-and-see attitude toward the proposed library-millage increase.

They're going to wait until the April 5 special election at which township voters will consider adding another mill to the tax levy to expand the joint city-township facility.

Also on the ballot will be extension of the present half-mill library levy for 20 years. If the propositions are approved, city officials will be faced with the task of devising a method to match the levy.

Meanwhile, they will consider alternatives available to them.

NEW LIBRARY

Featured in the plans of the Farmington City and Township District Library Board is construction of a new library on the south side of 12 Mile east of Farmington Road.

The expansion would make library services more convenient to patrons in the northern part of the district.

It also would move headquarters for the library from the city to the township.

However, board plans include the improvement of the facility in the city, now located in the old post office on Farmington Road south of Grand River.

PRESENT SUPPORT

In operation for six years, the library now is supported through a half-mill tax levied for it in the township and budgeted from the general fund in the city.

The tax provides about $80,000 in the district.

The proposition in the township calls for the capital improvement levy to be spread over 10 years.

Among methods of financing being considered by the City Council is a half-mill levy for 20 years.

BURDEN TO FUND

"It would throw quite a burden on the general fund to increase the library millage 200 per cent," City Manager John Dinn said.

City taxes now total 11.5 mills, although the council could levy up to 29 mills under the charter.

It could finance the expansion program as it now is doing or ask city voters to approve a general obligation bond issue.

The latter move would require acceptance by three-fifths of the city electors who cast their vote on the matter.

OTHER POSSIBILITY

Another possibility was suggested by bonding attorney Stratton S. Brown of Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone, Detroit.

He noted that a change could be sought in the state's building authority act to allow the township and township to enter a joint agreement to back building bonds.

Councilmen have time ahead of them to study the alternatives.

They have referred the matter back to the library board and asked it to come up with more concrete plans.

Plan Offered in Uniform Riff

LAPEER (AP)—An apparent compromise was offered Tuesday in the issue of requiring certain employees at the Lapeer State Home and Training School to wear colored uniforms.

Some 170 workers, the Michigan State Employees Union contended, had objected to the expense of the uniforms.

Dr. A. M. Abruzzo, medical superintendent, said employees in the housekeeping, laundry and dietary departments hired since the policy was set last March 1 would be required to wear the new uniforms, while those hired earlier will be allowed to wear a white uniform with an identifying patch.

Robert Grosvenor, director of the union, said he still was not satisfied with the decision because it would set up different factions of uniform-wearers. The union local will meet on the issue Wednesday night, Grosvenor said.

To Honor MCC Board

College Plans Fete

AVON TOWNSHIP — The administration, faculty, staff and friends of Michigan Christian College will honor the MCC Board of Directors with a Founders Day Banquet, Feb. 12 at 7 p.m. in the college cafeteria.

Dr. Don Morris, president of Abilene Christian College, Abilene, Texas, will be the guest speaker.

Lucien Palmer, MCC president, said that such an occasion in honor of the board has been planned for some time.

"This banquet," Palmer said, "will celebrate the 10th anniversary of the formation of the board of directors, giving due recognition to these men for their fidelity and untiring effort in behalf of Michigan Christian College."

Palmer noted that nine of the 14 present board members were members of the original board which met for the first time in 1954 to establish North Central Christian College, since known as Michigan Christian College.

SAME COMMITTEE

"The same executive committee has served faithfully these 10 years," said Palmer, "and these facts are indicative of the stability which MCC has enjoyed from the beginning."

Original board members still serving are: G. Wheeler Utley, Birmingham, chairman; James E. Thomas, Toledo, Ohio, vice chairman; Dr. George M. Ford, Berkeley, secretary; Paul Lutz, Detroit, treasurer; Harold E. Hawley, South Lyon; O. A. Johnson, Detroit; Gerald Montgomery, Southfield; Hubert V. Nave, Dearborn; and Dr. Ralph Ritchey, Lansing.

Other board members are Howard Dilgard, Fort Wayne, Ind.; Charles Fisher, Wall Lake; Dolan Ledford, Dearborn; Dr. Joe R. Lloyd, Noblesville, Ind.; and Woody Stogsdill, Bloomington, Ind.

The dinner will also serve as a "victory dinner" in celebration of the successful acquisition of the 54-acre Gierck Estate which joins the present MCC campus.

Reservations for the dinner should be sent to President Lucien Palmer, Michigan Christian College, 800 West Avon, Rochester, No charge is being made for the dinner. However, a collection will be taken.

Exec Cited for Service to Farming

Warren H. Smith, 68, president of Smith Silo Co., Oxford, was cited last night for "outstanding service to agriculture" by the Michigan sector of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers.

The honor was awarded at a special program of the 50th Anniversary Farmers Week at Michigan State University.

Guest speaker last night was D. B. Varner, chancellor of Oakland University, who spoke on the general theme of 50 years of progress.

Smith's contributions to agricultural engineering include work on the development of forage preservations.

He will participate in the video taping of a television program tomorrow at MSU, which will be available for showing throughout the state.

Smith lives at 1062 Abbequami Trail, Orion Township.

Woman Enters Race for Lake Orion Council

LAKE ORION—Mrs. Juanita M. Robbins of 822 Detroit has announced her sticker candidacy for the village council in the March 8 general election.

Mrs. Robbins, who will run on the Citizens Party ticket, is president of the Lake Orion Homeowners Association and past president of the Lake Orion Women's League for Better Government.

Brandon Women in Library Drive

BRANDON TOWNSHIP — A handful of women — members of the Brandon Township Library Board — have embarked on the Herculean task of raising $10,000 for a new library.

All by themselves, they are canvassing the entire township in an effort to meet their goal in cash and pledges to assure construction of a new $20,000 building.

Actually, they must raise $8,000 to qualify for federal matching funds needed to build the one-story structure on Mill Street, next door to the post office.

The township property was the site for the old library building, which was torn down about a year ago.

Since that time, the library has been housed in the Township Hall, but with the many activities — elections, meetings and hearings — that are held there this has not proved a very feasible solution to the problem.

EMBARKED ON DRIVE Prompted by a directive from township officials to find a new location, the library board embarked on its drive for raising money for a building of its own.

To be Colonial in design, the proposed structure will contain 2,000 square feet of floor space. It will be of cement block construction with the front facade to be of face brick.

Book shelves will be used as dividers between the main reading room and the meeting room, which will also double as a work area.

So far the drive has netted a total of about $5,000 in pledges and cash toward the building.

MEET SOON One of the stipulations of the grant is that the $8,000 goal be met soon in order to assure start of construction this summer.

The application for the federal funds must be in by Feb. 26.

At the outset the canvassers said they needed 65 people to contribute a dollar a week for three years for a total of $195 apiece. A number of donors have done this, but others are contributing the full amount outright.

Those who want to add cash or pledges to the drive can mail their contributions to the Brandon Township Library Building Fund, Orionville.

NEWS OF THE AREA

Farmington OKs Extension of Industrial Park Services

FARMINGTON — The way is being opened for Mechanical Manufacturing Inc. and other firms to locate in the Alta Berger Industrial Park.

The City Council has authorized City Manager John Dinn to seek bids for the extension of water and sewer lines along the new industrial drive.

Expected to cost about $13,000, the project will take the lines 1,000 feet to serve the potential sites of seven or eight new industries.

Mechanical Manufacturing Inc. of Southfield has indicated it will be the first to locate there. Its 12,000-square-foot building will cost about $100,000 and contain more than $100,000 worth of equipment, according to Dinn.

The company, employing about 30 persons, produces small hydraulic machine and aircraft parts.

INDUSTRIAL PARK The industrial park north of Eight Mile and east of Farmington Road now contains 20 firms.

About 25 per cent of the cost of extending sewer and water lines to the undeveloped portion will be paid by the city, which is assessed for intersections and sidings.

Property owners will pay the rest, amounting to $10 a front foot.

In other action, the City Council authorized the Oakland County Road Commission to proceed with engineering for the widening of Farmington Road between Eight and Nine Mile.

URGE COMMISSION City officials are urging the county commission to incorporate the project in its 1966 road program.

The commission had turned down an earlier request to tackle the widening in 1965 because its budget for this year had already been prepared.

A bottleneck will be created this year when Wayne County widens the road to five lanes from Plymouth Road to Eight Mile.

Already four lanes from Nine to 10 Mile, the road is just two lanes wide between Eight and Nine Mile.

ESTIMATE COST Cost of adding 30 feet of pavement to the roadway has been estimated at $204,000. If the entire road were replaced and expanded, the cost would be about $229,000.

The city's share, 25 per cent, would be paid through 15-year bonds backed with motor vehicle highway fund receipts.

STARTING SALARY Under the new schedule, the beginning salary for the holders of bachelor degrees will be jumped from $4,900 to $5,100.

With $200 annual increases for 11 years, the maximum in that category will be $7,300, compared to the current $6,000.

Teachers with master's degrees and no experience will start at $5,400, which marks a $200 increase over the present rate.

"We anticipate that for the Detroit area we'll probably be in about the middle of the pile. For the state, we'll be better than average for districts of our size and wealth," Garver said.

More than 30 schools in the county will display special posters and distribute dental kits of toothpaste and brushes, according to society officials.

At the same time, special presentations will be made at service club meetings.

Dr. Edwin W. Deer of 467 Bonnie Briar, Birmingham, is in charge of the special talks and presentations.

Mrs. Ronald J. Jenkins, 1145 S. Bates, Birmingham, president of the Oakland County Dental Auxiliary, will distribute the school posters.

All Avondale PTA units will join with the local PTA Council for a Founders Day observance tomorrow night at Avondale Junior High School.

Featured speaker at the 7:30 p.m. session will be Dr. D. L. McKinney, principal of the Youth Home School of Wayne County and consultant with President Kennedy's Committee on Nationwide Juvenile Delinquency.

Prior to the program a dinner will be served at 6 p.m. with a demonstration for parents of a Type A school lunch.

Holly School Board OKs Teacher Salary Schedule

HOLLY — A 1965-66 teachers' salary schedule with raises ranging from $200 to $500 has been approved by the Holly Board of Education.

The move will not be accompanied by a tax increase request.

The Holly Education Association endorsed the schedule, which provides salaries some $100 above those the group requested in November.

In a joint meeting Monday night, the school board offered its proposal to the teachers' organization and noted changes it had made in the original request.

The program for next year does not include a health insurance plan which the HEA had suggested be partially paid by the board.

$100 PER TEACHER The plan would have cost the board about $100 per teacher.

"The board took that amount and added it to the salaries," Schools Supt. George Garver said. "It was the board's feeling that fringe benefits should not be extended until salaries are competitive."

Because the Holly board was one of the first to set its salary schedule this year, its comparison with other districts involves speculation at this point.

"We anticipate that for the Detroit area we'll probably be in about the middle of the pile. For the state, we'll be better than average for districts of our size and wealth," Garver said.

Top Adviser to Review Viet Policy

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — McGeorge Bundy, top White House adviser of foreign policy, is due in Saigon Thursday for a fresh appraisal of the situation in South Viet Nam.

The nation is enjoying a week's respite from political upheavals and the war against Communist guerrillas during lunar New Year celebrations.

Bundy heads a team of advisers who are to report to President Johnson on developments here, particularly the ouster of the civilian government by Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh. They left Washington Tuesday night.

White House aides in Washington said Bundy is to consult with Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor because Johnson didn't want Taylor to leave Viet Nam while the political situation remained unstable.

NOT RECOGNIZED

Khanh ousted Premier Tran Van Huong two weeks ago while Taylor was out of the country. The United States has not formally recognized Khanh's regime.

Khanh was reported considering establishing a military-civilian council which would take the place of the High National Council dissolved by the military last December despite U.S. displeasure.

Taylor and Khanh have had sharp differences.

Bundy, 47, a former dean of arts and science at Harvard University, served as a foreign policy adviser to President John F. Kennedy. This is his first trip to Viet Nam.

Traveling with Bundy were Lt. Gen. Andrew Goodpastor, representing the Joint Chiefs of Staff; Chester Cooper, White House adviser on Far Eastern affairs; Asst. Secretary of Defense John McNaughton, in charge of international security affairs, and Leonard Unger, former ambassador to Laos and now deputy assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk went to Viet Nam on fact-finding trips twice and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara five times, the last time in May 1964.

Russian Premier to Head for Hanoi

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Alexei N. Kosygin will leave Thursday for Communist North Viet Nam, official Soviet sources said today.

The Soviets announced Sunday that Kosygin would visit Hanoi soon, but did not say when he would leave or what route he would take.

Scientists at Jet Propulsion Laboratory, which built and is tracking all three vehicles for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, believe they have scheduled the flights so there will be little conflict in communicating with them.

They will lose, however, up to 15 hours of radioed data from Mariner 4 during each of the Ranger flights.

Both flights are scheduled to take place while the 575-pound Mariner 4 is still millions of miles from Mars, sending back new data about radiation, magnetic fields and dust in interplanetary space.

THIRD ON WAY

Last midnight Mariner 4 was more than a third of the way along its curving 325-million-mile flight path. Although only 13,333,331 miles from earth on a straight line, it had traveled more than 112,239,618 miles since being launched Nov. 28.

If all goes well, the spacecraft will snap 21 pictures as it streaks within 5,000 miles of Mars July 14. Scientists hope these may help determine whether life could exist on the mysterious red planet.

Soviets Say 'Nyet' to German Unity Talks

LONDON (UPI) — The Soviet Union is opposed to new suggestions for a "Big Four" conference to settle the thorny problem of German reunification, diplomatic sources said today.

The Russians have indicated a meeting to solve the deadlock at this time would be pointless because new "elements" to warrant fresh discussions have not been developed.

German reunification, according to the Communists, is a problem for the two Germans.

Word of the adamant Soviet stand was disclosed by qualified Communist diplomats who said they foresaw no solution for a long time to come.

The Communist "nyet" to fresh four-power talks apparently was prompted by recent West German suggestions for a new attempt to settle the reunification question.

DIVIDING LINES

It was 20 years ago this month that dividing lines for the East-West occupation zones were drawn up at the Yalta Conference.

The Russian stand conflicts with the Potsdam agreement of 1945, which made the conquering powers responsible for a German settlement.

The Communists, who have blocked German reunification ever since, do not want to relinquish their hold on the eastern sector of the divided country.

The Communist diplomats claimed that since the end of the war the eastern and western zones of Germany have consolidated into independent countries.

'UP TO THEM'

Further, they claim, it is "up to them" to work out reunification or some alternate solution.

The Western allies and West Germany do not recognize the Communist regime in East Germany and insist it cannot negotiate Germany's future.

German reunification, the Western democracies contend, remains the responsibility of the United States, Britain, France and the Soviet Union.

The Western powers soon will review their position on reunification at the insistence of the government in Bonn, authoritative Western sources said.

NO PROPOSALS

But so far apparently no one has come up with any concrete proposals for a new approach to Russia.

The United States, backed by Britain, says any proposal should be made on the basis of "an overall plan" linking reunification with an agreement on Germany's eastern border and arrangements for the security of central Europe.

Basically, however, this amounts to the West's peace plan for Europe turned down by the Russians at Geneva in 1959.

The forthcoming gathering of the Big Four foreign ministers in Vienna on May 15 has aroused speculation that informal talks with the Russians on reunification may be held.

But diplomatic sources here said there was no sign to signify that the meeting will be anything but a ceremonial one commemorating the 10th anniversary of the Austrian treaty.

Pontiac Sales Drive Shifts to New Hands

Rarely does a sales executive set a record before assuming office, but Pontiac Motor Division's newly appointed general sales manager

ELMER R. (PAT) PETTENGILL has managed it.

His is not a sales record — yet — but one of continuity and progression. His connection with the Pontiac product predated its introduction by two years when he joined the Oakland Motor Car Co. in 1923 as an inspector. With the added weight of himself being a Pontiac "product," we don't know of any other top-rank industry executive who can match this double-barreled distinction.

PETTENGILL

Pat's rise over 40-plus years to his new post covered a wide spectrum of service at the home plant and in the field under eight general managers. He has been assistant general sales manager since 1958, based in New York for five years and in Pontiac for the last two.

His popularity at home, matched only by that within the dealer organization, and his outstanding executive talents are a combination that played no small part in racking up Pontiac's peak 693,673-unit sales last year. The division is shooting for 800,000 in 1965.

"We warmly salute PAT PETTENGILL — the hometown boy who made good at home" — and wish him many happy returns on today's observance of his 61st birthday.

Sorting of Knowledge, Trait Common to Many

There is considerable evidence that evaluators of public opinion fail to differentiate between qualities of "interest" and "understanding" on the part of those interviewed.

For instance, a poll recently conducted by the Council on Foreign Relations disclosed that more than a fourth of the public was unaware that mainland China is Communist-ruled and that about the same percentage had not heard about the fighting in Viet Nam.

From this, you might conclude that the "understanding" of an alarmingly large segment of Americans was deficient and a significant commentary on the level of intelligence in our democracy.

Any such conclusion would be erroneous. All the quiz showed was the extent of "interest" in the two matters. The sufficiency of that quality, or lack of it, is something else.

Americans characteristically show capacity for marked understanding of whatever arouses their interest or foreshadows personal impingement.

Thus, a nationally known pollster found that city dwellers are almost totally ignorant regarding the intricacies of the Federal Farm Program.

But farmers, because they are importantly affected, have become experts on it. Here again, however, "interest" makes itself felt, since what farmers are vague about provisions applying to tobacco, cotton or corn products, and growers of those know little about regulations governing wheat.

The same division and lack of interest is seen in the outlook of men and women in the purchase of automobiles.

Men react more to engineering and mechanical appeal, women to styling.

There is, however, one area of our culture that transcends all others and should command the unremitting and probing interest of every American.

It is government — or in its more personalized sense, politics. It is with us day and night from cradle to grave, regulating, controlling and to some extent shaping our lives.

But it is subject to your will — yours and the millions of your countrymen. What it is and what it becomes is up to you. As a starter, you can make it an infallible practice to vote at EVERY election — not only those on the national level but, perhaps even more importantly, the ones dealing with state and local candidates and issues.

U.N. Not Cozy, but Still Afloat

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — The United Nations organization, 20 years old this year, remains a kind of international life raft for 115 nations. It had only 51 starting out in 1945.

The closest thing to the parliament of man ever established, it is still far from a cozy family of nations. The most populous nation of all, Red China, can't get in.

In the beginning years after the war, when the membership was far smaller and this country was regarded as a kind of international big daddy, American influence was more intense than now with the membership more than doubled.

Nothing shows better than the size of this growing family the vast change in the world since the organization was patched together in San Francisco two decades ago.

In that time the great colonial powers became second-rate powers, losing or yielding colonies which became new states with new interests, new allegiances and new discords.

BIG POWERS UNWILLING
But the discord, or the seeds of it, were there from the start when the big powers were unwilling to trust their futures and their fortunes to the good judgment or good intentions of their fellows under all circumstances.

Each held out some skeptical insurance before the U.N. charter was ever signed.

This was the power each of the five insisted it must have to veto what the others might agree to in the Security Council.

The Soviet Union alone has used the veto more than 100 times.

MANY HAD DOUBTS
Anyone alive these past 20 years must have had doubts about that determination at times, but at least there has been no major war although the United Nations claim total credit for the avoidance of it.

No one can plausibly argue that without the United Nations there might not have been many more minor wars, mushrooming perhaps into titanic ones.

But historians may decide the absence of major wars was due more to fear than fraternity.

In the past 20 years the United States and the Soviet Union have accumulated enough nuclear weapons to scare each other into tranquility of a kind.

The United Nations cannot hope to stop a war among the nuclear powers, if any of them reaches the point of wanting it.

But it can turn a spray on smaller fires and, by providing a meeting place and forum, perhaps prevent the big ones.

David Lawrence Says:

Soviet Double Standard Evident

WASHINGTON — A "sleeper" crisis is developing in world affairs. The fact that it is evolving gradually and without threatening words being spoken does not make it any less serious.

For the Soviet Union has announced that it is sending Premier Kossygin LAWRENCE and an official delegation to North Viet Nam.

Military as well as economic assistance will be furnished by the Soviets to the very government which, in violation of international agreements, has been carrying on a war against South Viet Nam.

Since military aid and economic assistance have been given by the United States to the South Viet Nam government, at its request, the Soviet action means a direct intervention in Southeast Asia by Russia in an open challenge to the policies of the American government.

Wishful thinkers are saying that the Soviets are peacefully inclined and are only helping North Viet Nam so as not to let Red China get all the credit in the Communist world.

Coincidentally, the Moscow government expressed itself in favor of further interchanges of visits between high officials of this country and the Soviet Union and suggested an exchange of television programs.

FRIENDLY GESTURE
This was doubtless intended as a friendly gesture to offset any feeling in the United States of dismay over the Soviet move in Viet Nam.

But the double standard is also evident, and it is possible that Moscow decided to intervene in Viet Nam largely because of a mistaken belief that President Johnson is going "isolationist" and is too preoccupied with domestic affairs to want to take risks overseas.

Indeed, some of the men closest to the Johnson administration have been so consistently preaching isolationist doctrines of late that it is quite natural, though tragically mistaken, for the Soviets to assume that President Johnson is a pussyfoot of an appeaser.

It may, unfortunately, require a confrontation such as the late President Kennedy risked during the Cuban missile crisis in order to convince the Moscow government that the United States isn't being taken in by the tactics of the Soviets.

The Soviets surely must have misconstrued the mandate of the last presidential election and evidently believe that Sen. Goldwater's views on firmness and resoluteness in foreign policy were repudiated by the American people.

It is to be hoped that President Johnson now will make it so clear to Moscow what the consequences of its ill-advised policies may be that there will be no further meddling by the Soviets in the Viet Nam situation. For resoluteness at the opportune moment can save the world from a "limited war" of dangerous proportions.

It is time to call a halt to the preachments of isolationism which have recently emerged on the American scene.

Republicans Predicting Strong '66 Comeback

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — Chinese celebrants ushered in the ominous-sounding "Year of the Snake" this week, but Republicans predict that Democrats will have more to fear from the "Year of the Horse" which follows.

With their representation in Congress already about as low as a snake can crawl, some GOP legislators profess to believe they will come prancing back strong in the '66 horse-year elections, and cite historical precedence for their optimism.

Republicans reached their lowest political ebb in the Roosevelt landslide of 1936 when they elected only 81 House members, compared with 331 Democrats. In that same election the GOP Senate membership slipped to 16, not one of whom survives today.

President Roosevelt, then at the peak of his popularity, mistakenly assumed that such an overwhelming Democratic majority would provide him with a rubber-stamp Congress. He therefore tried to jam through his Supreme Court-packing bill, and suffered ignominious defeat.

The lesson was not lost on an up-and-coming politician named Lyndon Baines Johnson, who won a House seat in that fateful 75th Congress.

He well remembers that after Republicans scraped bottom in the '36 election, they scored their greatest gains exactly two years later, increasing their Senate membership by nearly 50 per cent, and more than doubling their House seats.

SECOND LOWEST

The second lowest Republican ebb occurred last fall, when the Johnson landslide helped to produce a better than two-to-one Democratic majority in both houses.

Unlike FDR, who relished his battles with Congress, LBJ is a "consensus" man who prefers to use his considerable powers of persuasion, but he has sent Congress the most far-reaching welfare program in American history.

Some of it is sufficiently controversial to open new splits in the only recently reunited Democratic party, and tempt a revival of the Republican-Southern Democratic coalition.

Campus Struggle

Life Magazine
The disruptions at the University of California are likely to recur on other campuses. The student leaders have not only kept escalating their demands but promised more strikes and sit-ins. They have agitated at other universities, and they speak defiantly of "anticipated Red-baiting."

It is natural to look for Communists. Yet students have long been a prime and fruitful target of Communist agitprop elsewhere in the world: in universities in Caracas, Venezuela, or Saigon. They have been active fronts in the Cold War. Are U.S. campuses now to become part of this pattern?

J. Edgar Hoover said that the Communist Party is launching a special drive on the American campus, its "newest facade" being a "national Marxist youth organization — the W.E.B. Du Bois Clubs at America." Their ostensible appeal is to the most powerful political sympathy of the brighter college students, the civil rights movement.

The City budget for 1965 lists one item which is discriminating: Operation of Hayes Jones Community Center, up $24,000. An increase such as this while there is nothing done in this respect for the East, West and North sides?

'Fire Protection Is Important for School'

Fire Chief White's statement regarding the service station fire at Joslyn and Walton was a simple explanation of facts and did not merit public criticism from Mr. Warren.

A part of Malkin School is an old, two-story structure and there is no readily available water supply. I realize the perimeter road, the new library and other civic improvements are an investment in the future, but aren't the lives of some four hundred school children, teachers and personnel important to our city's future? Would it be possible to run a water main to Walton and give our school the fire protection it needs?

A Junior Editors Quiz About MIDNIGHT SUN

QUESTION: Where is the midnight sun seen and what causes it?

ANSWER: Look at the upper left diagram and notice how the tilt of the earth's axis inclines it toward the sun. This is the season when it is summer in the northern hemisphere.

On the opposite side, the earth's tilt tips the northern hemisphere away from the sun, this giving the winter season, six months later.

Notice, in the left globe, that the line of the Arctic circle is entirely within the sunlit part of the earth.

This means, that as the earth rotates, the sun will shine on places within this circle all day and all night, even at midnight, when it will appear just above the horizon.

Parts of a number of countries, such as Russia and our state of Alaska, lie within the Arctic circle, but it is the country of Norway which is generally spoken of as the "Land of the Midnight Sun."

The Arctic Circle laps over Norway for 300 miles, and many visitors journey up to the far northern city of Hammerfest to see the sun still shining on a summer night, between May and July.

Of course in winter, it is just the reverse (right globe) and these very northern places have to put up with night right around the clock, for over two months, with only twilight at noon.

FOR YOU TO DO: In an atlas, find a map looking directly down on the north pole and locate the Arctic circle, generally shown in a dotted line. Locate the North Cape and the city of Hammerfest, as well as the other countries in which it is possible to see a midnight sun.

Requirements for enlistment in the Air Force by non-high school graduates have changed, according to Staff Sgt. William H. Hines, local Air Force recruiter.

A non-high school graduate need make only minimum qualifying scores in either the mechanical, administrative or electronic aptitude area, he said.

Sgt. Hines also said the waiting period for non-high school graduates has been eliminated and if they qualify they can start their processing immediately.

The recruiter said, however, young men will be discouraged from quitting high school to enlist.

Philippine Capital Recaptured 20 Years Ago

Retired Army Nurse Recalls Day Manila Was Freed

TUCSON GREEN VALLEY, Ariz. (NEA) — It was 20 years ago that General Douglas MacArthur and his troops recaptured the Philippine capital of Manila during the last bloody days of the South Pacific campaign of World War II.

On liberation day Miss Madeline Ullom, now resident of Tucson Green Valley, looked through the barbed wire of an internment camp outside Manila and saw—literally—"through the rocks' red glare"—the tanks of the U.S. First Cavalry Division roar into view.

Miss Ullom was a second lieutenant in the Army Nurse Corps. She had been captured by the Japanese and had been imprisoned at Camp Santo Tomas for 30 months.

Last year she retired from the corps as a lieutenant colonel—and as one of the most highly decorated U.S. Army nurses in history—after 25 years of service.

The quiet of her present home in a resortlike retirement community with peaceful parks in the Santa Cruz Valley, and with views of the nearby Santa Rita Mountains, is in sharp contrast to those terrifying days of two decades past.

CITY IN FLAMES
"The city was in flames and was a battleground, bombed by both sides. The camp was under attack, too, because the Japanese did not have it lighted in accordance with the rules of the Geneva Convention."

Where groups have been able to get out, team reports indicate donations are being increased generally, according to Mrs. Cameron Clark, 65 Summit, Pontiac, area chairman for the Mothers' March.

Monroe M. Osman, 100 Ogden, is general chairman of the Oakland County Chapter drive in Pontiac.

"But I recall that, through the flames, we could make out that one of the American tanks had the name 'Georgia Peach' painted on it. That was enough to make us all cry."

"At first, we couldn't tell to whom the tanks belonged. Then a soldier with a southern accent hollered 'What the hell's the matter with you Americans?'—and we knew our boys had arrived."

"The battle for Manila was terrible... there was slaughter... and finally there was liberation."

FIRST REACTION

One of Madeline Ullom's first reactions to the American troops, she recalls, was astonishment to their size.

"We prisoners had shrunk from starvation and the troops seemed so big by comparison."

"In three years we had forgotten what a normal-size American looked like. When the wounded soldiers were brought into the hospital, all the nurses commented on how much bandage it took to wrap their wounds."

Miss Ullom, now, 54, was one of the 66 Army nurses captured by the Japanese on May 6, 1942, on the island fortress of Corregidor in Manila Bay.

RETURN TO MANILA

The group was returned to Manila and interned at Santo Tomas, where upwards of 5,000 civilians and military personnel were imprisoned during the war. Civilians were termed "internees."

When the Japanese refused to let the nurses look after the wounded soldiers, the nurses set up civilian hospitals.

Miss Ullom says she was never mistreated while a prisoner, though some of the nurses did become targets of Japanese. Sixty-five of the 66 nurses imprisoned survived the ordeal.

Trade, Foreign Affairs Pull Australia Closer to Asia

SYDNEY (UPI)—Australia is being drawn steadily closer to Asia.

Never before have Australians been so conscious of the vast lands to the North, and only part of this new awareness is of their own choice. For business there is the inviting prospect of increased trade with Indonesia, Japan, Malaysia, and even Communist China.

But the outlook is accompanied by a growing sense of uneasiness over the ambitions of some of Australia's neighbors.

This turning toward Asia is a land that stubbornly sticks to a "white Australia" immigration policy was apparent immediately upon my first visit here as a guest of Qantas Airlines on the second inaugural flight over the new "fiesta" route from London to Sydney by way of Mexico City, Tahiti, and the Fiji Islands.

"We have to face it," said a newspaper publisher, "Australia is a part of Asia. What happens there is big news here."

EARLY SETTLERS

Concern over the expansionist policies of Indonesia and the growing influence of Communist China is heard, too.

"Sure we have a good life here now, but how long will we be able to keep it with things going on in Asia like they are," said a taxi driver.

An airline steward expressed the feeling of tension this way: "There are too many people in Indonesia looking hungrily at our great open spaces."

But despite foreboding of possible military entanglement, business leaders and government officials look toward Asia for increased trade opportunities.

EARLY SETTLERS

"The dreams of some of our early settlers of prosperity and riches through trade with Asia could be coming to fruition," said Neville M. Blayton, president of the Australian Chambers of Commerce Export Council.

Since 1958, sales to Asia, particularly of wool and wheat, have almost doubled, accounting now for a large part of Australia's trade surplus.

At the end of the 1963-64 financial year, Japan was just a step behind the United Kingdom as Australia's largest customer. In the same period, Red China became Australia's fourth biggest customer, behind the United States, because of emergency purchases of wheat.

Although tourism here is relatively light because of great distances from Britain, Europe and the United States, the Australian National Travel Association is seeking to encourage visits from Southeast Asia.

TOURIST ATTRACTIONS

For the last three years, Australia has been promoting its tourist attractions in Singapore, Kuala Lumpur, Manila, Bangkok, Hong Kong and Tokyo—despite a policy that excludes Asiatics as immigrants.

The present policy is based on the maintenance of a "predominantly homogeneous population," and many Australians feel that changes may be forthcoming.

The increasing trade flow bringing Asian businessmen into the country and the presence of up to 12,000 Asian students each year may lead to a lowering of barriers.

Of more immediate concern than the immigration trend of Indonesia, which is Australia's closest neighbor to the North, and the attempts to spread the Chinese brand of communism throughout Southeast Asia.

TROOPS COMMITTED

Australian troops are committed to the defense of Malaysia which Indonesian President Sukarno has vowed to "crush."

Australians also must be prepared to defend the frontier between Indonesian West Irian and Papua on New Guinea, and Prime Minister Sir Robert Gordon Menzies openly recognizes the Communist threat to Southeast Asia.

As a result, conscription will be reintroduced in the army during the second half of this year, and for the first time Australia's conscripts will be liable for overseas service in peacetime.

Serious visual handicaps are often exaggerated conditions of normal eye characteristics.

Symphony Orchestra Art Exhibit Combine

By JOHN C. TOUSLEY
Pontiac Schools Music Dep't.
The usual attractive blending of art and music occurred Tuesday evening at Pontiac Northern High School.

Pontiac Symphony concertgoers viewed an exhibit of oil and water color paintings by Kenneth Bristol and Maxwell Wright of the Pontiac Artists' Society.

The opening orchestral selection was the Overture "Roman Carnival," by Hector Berlioz. The overall effect was one of brilliance.

PIANO SOLOIST

The Concerto for Piano and Orchestra, E Flat Major, by Liszt, was performed by the orchestra with guest soloist, Julius Chajes.

After a tense beginning, the soloist and orchestra succeeded in blending their talents to an increasing degree, concluding the selection with a most inspiring finale.

The orchestra concluded the regular program with Dvorak's Symphony No. 5 in E Minor (from the New World).

While some of the faster passages in the symphony lacked precision, the second and fourth movements were satisfying and the tone quality during the second movement was undoubtedly the best of the evening.

Again, the English horn solos were outstanding.

One disturbing element that marred an otherwise enjoyable concert was the restlessness of the children whose parents allowed them to sit unattended in the front row.

Members of the orchestra were noticeably distracted by them.

FOLK TUNE

The audience was treated to an encore, "Greensleeves." The tone quality of the selection was excellent and the soloists are to be commended.

The fine ability of conductor Felix Renick was apparent throughout the entire performance.

Is the Past Buried?

She Needs to Know Facts

DEAR ABBY: A woman with a nice-sounding voice telephoned me and asked if I had a daughter by the name of—let's call her "Marcia." I said yes I had.

Then she said that if Marcia did not leave her son alone there was going to be trouble. She said her son is a married man with a family, and Marcia is running after him.

The two work together, it seems, and this woman said everyone at work is talking and it could cost her son his job. I asked my daughter about it and she said the man was 42 years old, had been divorced for two years, and that his mother had been dead a long time.

She told me not to pay any attention to the telephone call, but I can't help worrying about it.

My daughter is 33 (divorced) and has her own apartment.

A WORRIED MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: You warned your daughter, which is all you can do. If anything is to be done, your daughter must do it.

She would be wise to check further on the man to find out if his marriage is "dead" and his mother is living.

DEAR ABBY: What makes people who can ill afford to spend the money, pick up a telephone and make a long-distance call that comes to 15 or 20 dollars, when they can write a letter for only a few cents?

We know many people like that.

IRRITATED:
DEAR IRRITATED: And so does everyone else. Some folks, of course, are just too lazy to write. But I suspect that the majority of the "I'd-rather-call-than-write" breed are unable to write an adequate letter.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles N. Hoyt of Grosse Pointe Woods, announce the engagement of their daughter, Julia Clare to Douglas John Read, son of the John D. Reads of Franklin.

She attends Mercy College. Her fiancé is an alumnus of a University of Detroit. August vows are planned.

JULIA CLARE HOYT

I am not knocking the long-distance telephone, but more people had better learn to spell and write correctly, and attempt to express themselves with the written word, or the art of letter writing will eventually be lost.

DEAR ABBY: My niece is planning a wedding in the near future. She wants to be married in white with all the trimmings. Now it is no secret that she has already had her honeymoon.

Last summer she and her fiancé spent their vacation together. This is a small town, Abby, and I'm afraid if she insists on going through with a wedding like that, our whole family will get the horse laugh.

What do you suggest?

AFRAID:
DEAR AFRAID: I suggest you leave your niece's wedding plans to her. And don't advertise your "fears" too broadly, or YOU might get the horse laugh.

Linda Hope Talks About Her Dad

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK—Like any dutiful daughter, Linda Hope springs eternally to the defense of her globe-girdling, golf-addicted father, Bob Hope.

But in true Hope tradition, she never lets sentiment stand in the way of a quip.

For instance: "He's now very busy working on a TV show and trying to give time to his true profession, golf. He hates to let work interfere with golf, you know."

STAND-IN

Not long ago, she accepted for her father, a Foreign Press Association comedy series, and said:

"I'm one of dad's biggest fans—especially on TV. It's one of the few times I get to see him in the house."

And "this is one father-daughter can really look up to. He's always flying."

Tall and slim, with hazel eyes and short, dark blonde hair she combs back severely, Linda looks like a clean-cut, well-scrubbed, tweedy English girl.

LINDA HOPE

She is the oldest of the four Hope children—all adopted when they were a few weeks old.

"If I had any trouble adjusting, I was too young to know," she said in an interview.

"Life with father, she explains, is never dull.

CLOSENESS

"It's not necessarily the amount of time spent with you that matters, but the quality. When he is with you, he is interested in you every minute."

"When we were younger we used to go out with mother,

Widow Should Cultivate Her Talents

(Second of Four Articles.)
By MRS. DONN SUTTON
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

As a widow, try to face your problems squarely. It is imperative to fill in your life.

Idleness gives you too much time to think.

Whatever skill you have, develop it and make it marketable.

There are businesswomen's homes or motherless households which require a woman with housekeeping skills.

If you are a good cook and homemaker, these positions provide comfortable quarters, pay well, are dignified and responsible.

Here you are very much needed. These positions are in no way menial.

KEEP BUSY

Should you be fortunate enough to be well provided for and to live comfortably after your husband's death, it is just as important to keep busy.

Your church, for example, needs you—get in there and serve coffee and work on bazaars.

Give of yourself and enlarge your circle of friends. Do volunteer work in the hospitals, help on charities.

With all this, be sure to proportion your time in an orderly manner and you will be delighted by your accomplishments and interesting contacts.

You are starting this new life of yours in a constructive way.

I have one friend who took lessons and learned to play bridge because she had met a man who enjoyed it very much and she enjoyed him.

He moved away.

The next one she met was a keen golfer. She took up the sport, opening up a whole new association with both women and men.

She went to Arizona for a holiday and first thing you know she was playing a guitar and had learned some ballads.

LANDED A JOB

She was enjoying all her new experiences so much that instead of landing another husband, she was offered a position as hostess and head of entertainment at a plush resort hotel.

Here her new-found skills are put to use. She says she has never enjoyed anything more. Besides, she gets paid for it!

Another friend is a little lady who had always taken an interest in church work in which her husband had encouraged her.

When he passed away she found her church a great solace, spent more and more time making herself useful there.

Now she has the highest position given a woman, that of president of the women's federation in one of the great churches in a large metropolitan area.

It is inspiring to see how much outgoing warmth she and her volunteer workers are bringing to this huge church, making all who cross their paths feel welcome and appreciated.

She always has time, busy as she is, to think of others and to sit down at her desk and dash off a note to a friend.

USED ART ABILITY

Another friend enjoyed painting.

She started by painting the faces on rag dolls for the church bazaar in Los Angeles where she lives. The dolls had the winning, appealing, round-eyed look of a very small girl.

When she was left alone and had to support herself and daughter, she started making these engaging dolls for the gift shop in one of the big department stores. They buy as many as she can make.

Now she is extending her growing business into other cities and has added some helpers.

Grace Chapman was left alone with 40 acres and a sprawling, white frame house.

To children in the area, she was like an extra grandmother whom they loved for her warmth and kindness.

One of her frequent callers was 12-year-old Luther, who got in the habit of helping her with the work.

These two struck up a partnership. With the consent of his impoverished parents, who had many children to feed and clothe, he came to live in the white house, and work on the farm.

With Luther's help, her farm prospered and they were both happy. He lived there through grade school and then on to high school for four years. Then he joined the Army.

After he left, she decided to sell the farm and build a house with a flower garden near her daughters so that she could now entertain her grandchildren.

Among her frequent Sunday visitors is Luther—who now has a wife and two small children of his own.

INNER STRENGTH

There are countless experiences which women have and which, when compelled by necessity to draw upon their inner resources, will lead them to full, rich, rewarding lives, will dispel loneliness and make them self-sufficient.

You are never too old to find a position where your own skills and talents are needed and recognized!

Missionaires Hope Party Will Help Scholarship

The Pontiac Missionaires, Inc. is sponsoring a card party Feb. 10 at 8 p. m. in the First Federal Savings of Oakland Building.

Proceeds will be used for the scholarship program.

At present, the organization is sponsoring Greta Branker of Trinidad. Upon graduation from Marygrove College, she will return to her people as a teacher.

Mrs. Allen Neville of Boston Avenue provided a home for Greta while she was still a student at Dominican Academy.

In addition to the scholarship program, the Missionaires support orphanage and hospital in Ongole, India for young Indian boys.

Mrs. Samuel Lerner is president of the group; Mrs. John Paul Shaughnessy, vice president; Mrs. Basil Martus, second vice president; Mrs. William Bridge, secretary; Mrs. Herman Kline, treasurer; and Mrs. Gertrude Anderson, executive secretary.

She lives at the Missionaire house on Myrtle Street.

Brave Girl Likes Yellow

NEW YORK (UPI) — The girl who likes yellow is no coward, despite the old saw, says a manufacturer of hair coloring products here.

In a study to determine whether color preferences revealed personality types, the manufacturer says it found that the girl who likes yellow has a "zeal for novelty."

"Strong-minded and willful, she wins every argument," the manufacturer says.

"A man interested in a girl who likes yellow will earn her admiration on one condition—that he agrees with her."

"She's always a perpetual optimist. Take her to a sad movie and she'll find the silver lining."

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

Never underestimate the ingenuity of a man! On a recent weekend vacation, one of the men in our party discovered a loose button on his suit coat.

Of course, everyone expected me to be equipped with a sewing kit, but all I could offer was a needle and a spool of orange thread.

Our friend proceeded to sew his own button on with confidence, orange thread and all (good job too!).

When he was finished, he calmly took out his pen and covered the thread with black ink. He claims this "ink trick" has helped him out more than once.

Dear Eunice Farmer:

I like the blouse type overblouse. Will you please send me instructions on how to put the two slots or cuts at the hem like the blouses you buy?

Dear Mrs. G. E.:

Before you finish the hem of the overblouse, which will form a casing for the tie on the overblouse, you must make two buttonholes near the center front, just above the finished hem line.

The buttonhole will be made through a single layer of fabric, not through the hem allowance.

Proceed with the hem and thread the tie through the hem and bring the ends through the buttonholes so the tie can be tied from the right side.

If you are using elastic at the lower edge of the blouse, make a narrow hem for the elastic casing and eliminate the buttonhole slits.

Make the overblouse wider than usual at the lower edge for fullness that is needed.

UNDERSHIRT STRETCHER

Mrs. A. B. Kaylor, Winter Haven, Fla., wins this week's Tailor Tris pressing board and the thanks of many large husbands.

When I found I couldn't get my husband's large size undershirts at our local stores, I had to find a way to enlarge them. I cut the shirt under the arm all the way through, staying on one rib section of the knit.

I took some old undershirts and took the desired width from the front section, including the ribbing.

I sewed the extra strip in place on the wrong side, matching the ribbing at the underarm of sleeve. After it was stitched, I turned it right side out and stitched again. It is almost invisible because the stitching is exactly on the ribbing. He is so much more comfortable because they fit.

Sew Simple is for YOU. Let me know what your problems are and we will try to answer the most common questions in the column.

Also, please send me the little short cut ideas you use. You may win a Tailor Tris pressing board, too! Address Sew Simple, in care of this newspaper.

Heat Process for Canning

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. Department of Agriculture recommends the "heat-process" in the home preservation of pickles and relishes.

To maintain the texture, color and flavor of pickled fruits and vegetables, food specialists of the USDA's Agricultural Research Service advise processing these products in a boiling water bath — Rather than cold-pack or open-kettle canning.

They Trade on Their Own Terms

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI) — Trading stamps in West Germany are good only for money, but just before each payday a lot of them are redeemed in corner grocery stores.

The idea of giving trading stamps which can be exchanged for merchandise hasn't caught on in this country.

But Germans do hold to the idea that they ought to get a discount for paying cash.

About 25,000 grocery stores have formed a "Discount Savings Association," and grant three per cent discounts in trading stamps on cash sales.

Last year, the discounts amounted to 110 million marks ($27.5 million).

Skiing Honeymoon for College Pair

The Walter Johnsons (Norlan Tavi Layton) left for a northern ski resort after their recent wedding reception in the Kalamazoo Inn.

Yows were exchanged in Kanley Chapel, Western Michigan University, where the daughter of the Norris Laytons of Reed City is a junior.

A circular veil of French tulle complemented her gown of white Chantilly lace styled with bell skirt and tiered back. She held a colonial bouquet of white roses and Fuji chrysanthemums.

Jan and Ann Layton attended their sister as maid of honor and junior bridesmaid, respectively.

Their gowns of winter rose satin brocade were worn with matching shoes with white pouff veils. A pink Sensation rose in her bouquet of daisy pompons designated the honor maid.

George Johnson of Andara, Ohio, stood as best man for his brother. They are the sons of the Lyle Johnsons of Elm Street. Another brother, Rick Johnson, ushered with Richard Meyers.

The bridesroom is a recent graduate of WMU.

Pink Sweetheart Roses Center Brides Bouquet

Vows were exchanged recently by Ruth Ellen Hinojosa and Domingo Gonzales of Cottage Street, in St. Vincent de Paul Catholic Church.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hinojosa of Raeburn Street, the bride chose a gown of white Chantilly lace over tulle. A matching lace head piece framed her fingertip illusion veil.

Centering her cascade of white carnations and pinks in a corsage of pink Sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Felicie Corpus attended as honor matron, along with bridesmaids, Mrs. Michael Yapo, Mrs. Samuel Murray and Corina Garcia.

WRIST CORSAGES

Wrist corsages of green-tipped carnations complemented their gowns of emerald green tulle worn with Dior bow headpieces.

Felicie Corpus was best man with Michael Yapo, Samuel

Murray and Joe Mojica seating the guests at the ceremony performed by Rev. Daniel Murphy.

Joining the newlyweds and her parents at the reception in the Annets Hall, Oakland Avenue were the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Guillermo Gonzales of Weston, Ohio.

YW Plans Luncheon in New Home

A luncheon meeting is scheduled for members of the YWCA of Pontiac on Feb. 13 at their hoped-for new home, the former O. L. Beaudette house on West Huron Street, at 1 p.m.

Guest speaker will be Miss Alice Papes, a member of the international division of the national staff of the YWCA. Her topic will be "The 'Y' Encircles the World."

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Lindquist will be guest vocalists.

Mrs. William Emerson, president of the association, will conduct the business meeting and building campaign chairman, Miss Alice Serrell, will give a progress report.

Results of the election of one-third of the board of directors will be announced as will the nominating committee. Mrs. Hiram H. Smith is annual meeting chairman.

A tour of the new facilities will conclude the program. The meeting is open to members and friends of the association.

She Folds Her Money

DEAR POLLY — Several years ago I gave a clerk a $5 bill instead of a dollar and he made the same error in accepting it. Since then I have always folded any bill larger than a one in half, lengthwise, before putting it in my billfold.

This automatically alerts me when paying for anything. — ETHEL

DEAR POLLY — To add variety to housework, do jobs at different times than you do them in your regular routine.

If you always vacuum in the morning, do it in the afternoon every so often.

If your daily routine is to wash diapers just after breakfast, occasionally do them after lunch. It is surprising how change makes jobs seem easier.

A schedule is good for efficiency but altering it once in a while adds spark.

To keep a bread board clean sprinkle it with salt after use and wash with a damp cloth. — MRS. D. M.

DEAR POLLY — It always seems to take my mother a long time to do her shopping so my father and I play a little game as we wait in the car.

We take the name of the store she is in and try to make as many words as possible from the letters in the name. We keep a tiny dictionary in the glove compartment to make sure we make real words.

This game makes the time pass more quickly and increases our vocabularies. — ELAINE

DEAR POLLY — I solved the "Hair Roller Problem" by buying my daughter a plastic twin laundry pail with a handle.

In this there is room for all those big rollers, spray, comb and brush so she does not need two or three things to hold them. Her dresser is neater and no rollers all over the house. — SUE

Elastic Thread Aid to Loose Ribbing

When the neckband and waistband of your sweaters have stretched out of shape, don't throw them away. Buy the elastic type thread and hand sew it on the wrong side of the ribbing.

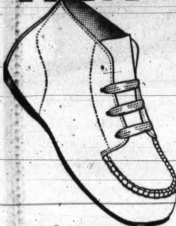

This is done with a small running stitch, holding the band in slightly as you stitch. Place the rows about 1/2-inch apart. You'll be thrilled with the way the sweater will hold its shape.

Anyone Can Crochet Elegant Fashions

With crocheting the newest fashion craze, nimble fingers on the crochet hook can create a custom look for any hour of the day. Here, designed for a big evening, is the floor-length sheath entirely made of one-size crocheted medallions, worked in a simple crochet stitch using fingering yarn. The medallions are put together and overlaid on a fabric of the crocheter's choice or the dress is worn over a full-length slip or shell. Instructions for all models is available by writing to the National Hand Knitting Yarn Association, 15 East 26th Street, N.Y.C., Room 1806NC and enclosing stamped self-addressed envelope.

From the fingers of any girl who has a knack with a crochet hook can come this handsome hip-length shell made of medallions, all the same size and put together. Wear this peek-a-boo topping over a simple under-cover agent or, if you prefer, line it with a fabric and color of your choice. Worked in an easy-to-do crochet stitch the medallions are made of fingering yarn which comes in a rainbow of colors.

The Robert Morris of Anders Drive announce the engagement of their daughter, Arlyce Jeanne of Berkeley, to Douglas James Vernier, son of the Basil C. Verniers of Beach Street. June 19 wedding vows are planned.

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Dear Miss Feeley: We have been married one year and we can't come to any financial agreement.

My husband earns $8,000 a year. We pay $147 for rent including utilities. His contention is that since he is paying the rent, telephone, insurance, etc., he has no money left to give me an allowance so that I can stop working. Nor can he put any money into our joint bank account.

In your opinion, how could he budget his $8,000 salary so that he could take care of me and also put some money in the bank?

Thank you for your help.
Mrs. B. B., New York

Dear Mrs. B.: What I'm going to say may not be your idea of "help" so maybe you'd better thank me in advance!

I'm not surprised that the two of you can't come to any financial agreement. Apparently you haven't even come to an agreement as to what marriage is.

Generally speaking, it's two people with the same aim in life, the same way of living, sharing the same income. Just what do you mean by the statement that he has no money

Before it can receive the coveted rating of "chronometer" every Omega Constellation must undergo 15 days of rigid testing by an official testing bureau. This is in addition to the 1497 quality-control checks which all Omega watches receive during manufacture. The Constellation requires no hand-winding or power-cell to keep it running. It's gravity-powered by a pendulum-like rotor, which continuously winds the movement while you wear it. All Constellations are water and shock-resistant. ## Russian Ship Acts Strangely

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A Russian seagoing tug is under surveillance by two American naval ships in the Pacific Ocean 200 miles west of Portland, Ore.

A navy spokesman at Western Sea Frontier in San Francisco said last night that the tug had stopped dead. Earlier the navy said the tug had appeared to be traveling in huge circles.

"We just don't know what it's up to," the Navy said.

The tug is 225-feet long and carries only enough radar to navigate by. The Navy described its surveillance of the tug by the destroyer Hanson and destroyer escort Brannon as routine.

The tug was first spotted by three Canadian naval vessels Monday as it headed southward.

Ride in Jet From Carrier Over China Sea Rugged Experience

By T. JEFF WILLIAMS
ABOARD USS Hancock, South China Sea (AP) — I sat sweating in the cockpit of an attack jet on the flight deck of this aircraft carrier off South Viet Nam. Radio voices crackled in my ear, the pilot waved, and suddenly a giant fist seemed to smash my body.

We were being catapulted off the carrier. The force of the launch flattened me against the seat. My eyeballs pressed back into my head. In just three seconds our 35-ton jet went from zero to more than 150 miles an hour in 160 feet.

Then we were arching away from the water and into the sky. At the controls was Lt. Cmdr. Norris Anderson, 37, of Omaha, Neb. Behind him was Aviation Electronicsman 1-C, James J. Dowaliby, 24, of Oxnard, Calif.

The two are part of Heavy Photographic Squadron 61, based in Guam. They are flying reconnaissance missions from this carrier for the U.S. 7th Fleet.

VIET CONG SITES

Although the two won't talk about it, other sources here said Anderson's crew is photographing Viet Cong sites all over South Viet Nam, particularly in the delta region south of Saigon. They also fly over Laos, the source said.

The third man usually is Lt. jg. David R. Smith, 24, of Tacoma, Wash. On this particular flight he gave his seat to me.

BACKGROUND OF THE NEWS SPECIAL REPORT

a Cadillac over the Empire State Building — we shot north to where a destroyer was stationed to watch for submarines or enemy planes. After a low-level pass, Anderson banked sharply for another swing. The gravity-force was not noticeable until I attempted to lift my camera. Each seemed to weigh 20 pounds.

Sitting in the nose of this jet is an unforgettable experience. There is little sound. The horizon tilts and in an instant clouds envelop the plane. Just as suddenly it is blue again.

WARNS OF TANKERS

A mechanical voice buzzed in our ears again, warning of an approaching jet tanker for a refueling maneuver.

The single-seat A4 jet, with jet fuel pods slung below it, eased up beside us then pulled ahead and unreels its fuel hose.

As we slipped in behind the jet its slipstream began rocking our jet. We eased toward the flared end of the fuel line. With a slip bump we made the connection.

Voices crackled again and then we were free, curving away from the tanker at 25,000 feet. Far below, a nearly invisible speck on the water, plowed the USS Hancock.

Anderson tilted the nose over and below us, making their final approach.

With flaps down, we screamed toward the carrier at 150 miles an hour while the ship continued to move away from under us at 30 miles an hour.

I slammed forward against the heavy seat and shoulder harness. Despite my attempt, I could not hold my head up against the force and my chin was jammed down onto my chest. We were down.

DECK LOOMS

The Hancock's deck, so small a few seconds ago, loomed menacing before us now. The edge of the deck rose to meet us, arresting cables flashed below, men and planes were a blur — then the tall hook grabbed. The heavy seat and shoulder harness. Despite my attempt, I could not hold my head up against the force and my chin was jammed down onto my chest. We were down.

Deck hands guided us out of the landing area. More jets were waiting to get down. Thirty seconds behind us another jet screeched to a bone-jarring halt.

It was an easy, routine flight for Anderson and Dowaliby. Their flights have taken them into range of the Viet Cong's antiaircraft weapons.

Along with Smith, the three have been flying together for 13 months and they work as a closely coordinated team. All the men are married. Their families lived in Guam, where they are normally stationed.

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officials said today they see no possibility of Indonesia producing an atomic bomb in the near future.

However, there is little doubt that with the proper kind of help Indonesia eventually will be able to detonate a rudimentary atomic device.

***

The director of Indonesia's army arsenal, Brig. Gen. Hartono, said Tuesday in Jakarta that about 200 scientists are working to make the Asian nation's first atom bomb. He promised a "surprise" at the Armed Forces Day celebration in October.

NO INFORMATION

At the State Department, officials said they had no information to indicate Indonesia has the capacity to make an atom bomb or is engaged in serious atomic weapons research.

Other government sources said there is no evidence Indonesia is at a point where she can fabricate an atomic device for test very soon.

These sources did not elaborate. However, the presence or absence of large intricate metallurgical and chemical plants necessary for processing nuclear explosive material usually is taken as a sign of atomic capability or lack of it.

Indonesia has an atomic reactor in Bandung, West Java, built with American help. Another reactor is being built with Soviet aid at Sekeloa, 44 miles southwest of Jakarta.

The United States has the right to inspect the reactor it helped build. Last November the State Department said it was "incapable of producing materials for weapons and also of generating power for commercial purposes."

If Jakarta could procure processed nuclear explosive material from outside sources, such as Communist China, a major hurdle would be surmounted.

While the general tendency in Washington is to discount Indonesia's promise of a "surprise" for October, there is an air of caution. The Soviet Union's first atomic success came almost a decade before Western scientists expected it; China's first test last fall was far earlier than originally predicted by most Western physicalists.

Russian Ship in Trouble Stops at NY

NEW YORK (AP)—This city was host to unexpected Russian visitors today, for the second time in three weeks.

The Soviet tanker Lyepaya, needing provisions and water for its 45-man crew, was given emergency clearance to drop anchor in New York harbor Tuesday night.

It had radioed that it had run short of provisions while fighting Atlantic storms. Officials didn't say where it came from or where it was bound.

The Coast Guard escorted the ship in, and the crew will not be allowed ashore. There hadn't been a Soviet ship in port since 1961, when one brought then Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to the United Nations.

Payoff Quiz Adjourned

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman B. Everett Jordan has adjourned Senate Rules Committee hearings on allegations that Bobby Baker and contractor Matthew H. McCloskey engineered a $25,000 political payoff.

The next step in the committee's inquiry into Baker's affairs is a closed session tomorrow at which Walter Jenkins, former top assistant to President Johnson, has been subpoenaed to testify.

Jordan, a North Carolina Democrat, adjourned the hearings yesterday after Edward T. Hugler, an investigator loaned to the committee by the Government Accounting Office, testified.

Hugler said he had made a detailed examination of local insurance man Don B. Reynolds' bank accounts from March 7, 1960, through June 29, 1961—the period during which Reynolds said he made five $5,000 cash payments to Baker—and found only $10,500 in cash withdrawals that could not be accounted for. L. F. McLendon, the committee's special counsel, said that, as far as he knows, no additional witnesses will be called on the payoff allegation. And Jordan told a reporter: "This clears this up as far as I can see now."

Earlier in the day, Donald R. Connelly, an Internal Revenue Service agent assigned to examining Reynolds' tax situation, testified that the Silver Spring, Md., insurance man told him last October he would turn over his records when he had proof Jenkins' and President Johnson's records were being examined or when Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., told him. Connelly was not asked and did not say whether Johnson's or Jenkins' records were being investigated.

Williams' private inquiry into Baker's business pursuits preceded and impelled the Senate's investigation.

Charge Ex-Gl Sold Passports

U. S. Claims Man
Dealt With Soviets

CHICAGO (AP) — A former Army private has been charged with delivering 15 United States passports to Soviet agents in East Berlin.

Paul Carl Meyer, 25, was arrested Tuesday by federal marshals in the 485-a-month apartment he and his wife, Yolanda, had rented Monday.

A federal grand jury indictment charged him with four counts of violating the federal passport law.

If convicted, Meyer could be imprisoned a maximum of 20 years and fined $8,000. Meyer, employed by a news distributing company, was jailed on $2,500 bond. No date was set for his arraignment.

SECURED PASSPORTS

U. S. Atty. Edward V. Hanrahan said that Meyer induced 15 persons into securing the passports from the State Department's Chicago office in November 1962.

Hanrahan said the tall, mustachioed Meyer talked the 15 into joining a prospecting venture in South America. They obtained passports which Meyer convinced them would be safer in his possession, Hanrahan said. Then, Hanrahan added, Meyer turned the passports over to Russians in East Berlin in February 1963.

Hanrahan said Meyer, father of a seven-month-old daughter, taught English and prospected in Ecuador in 1961 and 1962, sometimes under the assumed names of R. McGinn and James Springer. He was a private in the Army from July 1963 to July 1964.

DROPPED OUT

Meyer dropped out of high school in suburban Park Ridge in 1957 after three years.

Top Ratings Removed by Motorist Groups

Stars Falling From Great Britain's Luxury Hotels

LONDON (NEA) — If it had happened in France, hotelkeepers would be jumping out of windows at regular intervals. But the British being who they are, hardly an upper lip has quivered at the news that seven of Britain's top 10 provincial hotels have lost their five-star ratings.

After a long survey by motoring organizations, the majority of Britain's luxury hotels outside of London have been told that they are failing to keep pace with international standards and to meet motorists' needs.

The survey was made jointly by the Automobile Association, the Royal Automobile Club and the Royal Scottish Automobile Club.

In the massacre of stars, two deluxe hotels lost their ratings altogether, while five of the swanky hostels were downgraded from five stars to four.

"The standards of five-star hotels were last reviewed in 1955, when this top classification was reintroduced in Britain after the war," a motoring club spokesman explains.

'STANDARDS HIGHER'

"Since then international standards are much higher, and the motoring public has grown more exacting. That is why we felt it necessary to make this survey."

It is no secret here that the main reason why seven out of 10 of the top hotels have been demoted is that they don't have enough rooms with private baths.

The motoring organizations now require that at least 75 per cent of a hotel's rooms must have private baths for the hotel to qualify for five stars.

Other requirements for a five-star rating include central heating throughout, 24-hour laundry and dry cleaning service, hair-dressing salons for men and women, newsstands, flower shops and theater ticket bureaus.

LUNCH UNTIL 2:30

In addition to high quality meals and service, the five-star

Squeeze On British Hotels

hotel should provide lunch until 2:30 p. m. at least and dinner until 10 p. m.

The motoring organizations are being criticized for the secretive manner in which their survey was conducted.

The inspectors move in on a seaside resort like Eastbourne, it is argued, and before one can say Union Jack, the Grand and Cavendish Hotels have each had a star lopped from their ratings.

The same is true of the Majestic at Harrogate, and of the Royal Bath at Bournemouth, both of which were likewise downgraded. None of these hotels was given sufficient warning of the new requirements expected of them, they claim.

DENY SECRECY

The motoring organizations deny that there is anything secret about their survey.

"The inspector, when he arrives at a hotel, is incognito," Gordon Allison, the Touring Manager of the Automobile Association, explains.

"He has a meal, stays the night and breakfasts. Then he discloses his identity and asks to inspect the hotel, which he does from chimneytops to basement."

Inspectors must not only be diplomatic in dealing with hotel managers, but they must know something about hotel management and food, as well.

BLAST FROM COUNCIL

Another blast at British hotel standards has come from the Council of British Sanitary Pottery Manufacturers.

Waving a decorated chamber pot at his audience, Ernest Batchelor, council chairman, told newsmen that there is only one bath for every seven guests in Britain's medium to better-class hotels.

The sanitary potters have just completed a survey of 200 British hotels, and found that 192 of them had no private bathrooms or lavatories.

MOVE TO FRANCE

Fifteen per cent of the hotels had only one private bathroom; 37 per cent had no more than three each.

The sanitary potters, who make it a point of honor to demand private bathrooms with their rooms, were forced to hold their last annual conference in the south of France because they couldn't find a single better-class British hotel that could offer them a bloc of 35 rooms with baths.

The hotel situation here has begun to alarm Treasury officials who are alive to the fact that Britain now has a favorable balance of tourists trade amounting to $226 million a year.

Unless hotel standards improve, visitors, and Americans foremost among them, will go directly to the Continent with-

Self-Help Principle Applied to Housing Blight

In an era of big government and bigger problems, a group of Pontiac residents have organized to help combat one of the biggest problems — substandard housing.

On the northwest side of town, the local group has uncovered some likely rat nests.

Substandard housing, while obvious to the eye, sometimes goes unnoticed if it is not concentrated. Only the next-door neighbors seem to notice.

This appears true of the dilapidated structures on a list recently compiled by the Neighborhood Improvement Committee, subcommittee of the Baldwin-Walton Community Club.

Headed by Jack Emerson, retired city electrical superintendent, the committee has taken inventory of the run-down houses in its area.

37 ADDRESSES

A list of some 37 addresses were turned over to City Manager Joseph A. Warren for official review and scrutiny.

"This is a start to have the neighborhood help itself," said Emerson, who left the city's payroll in 1960.

Emerson's committee, a portion of the 100-member Baldwin-Walton Community Club, surveyed the area north of Montcalm and east to the railroad tracks.

Mrs. Arnold Simson, 140 W. Brooklyn, club president, said the group acts as liaison between the community and city hall.

CLEANUP DRIVES

In addition to efforts to speed the removal of substandard housing in its area, the club in the past has sponsored neighborhood cleanup drives. Such an antilitter campaign was conducted last spring.

Emerson hopes the neighborhood approach to substandard housing removal will spread to other parts of the city.

City Manager Warren first declared war on run-down buildings last August. He has organized a committee of city administrators to work on the problem.

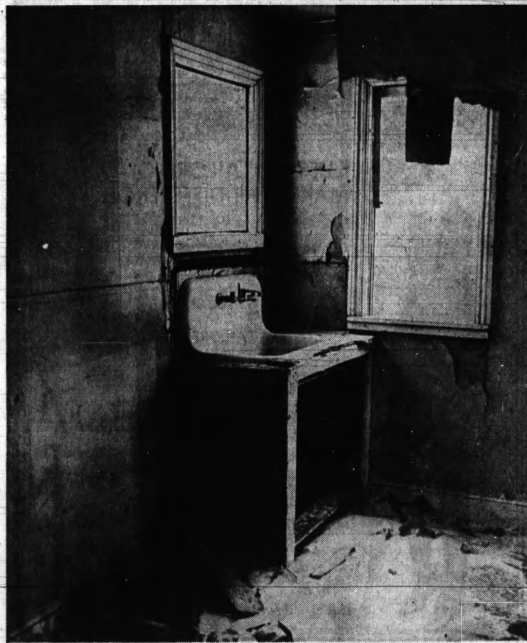

Many of the structures discovered by the Neighborhood Improvement Committee in District 4 are surrounded by well-kept homes.

Some are located at the end of dead-end streets. These are unnoticed by the stranger to the neighborhood.

However, the neighborhood group proposes to "weed" them out.

SCARRED REMAINS — Only a sink remains in the dilapidated house at 113 E. Ypsilanti. Rubbish is scattered on the floor, which is snow-covered because of knocked-out

SHATTERED WALLS — A leaning television antenna, half-made porch and indoor icicles mark the former home at 113 E. Ypsilanti. Shattered walls in this house give the building the appearance of having been gutted by fire. A brick chimney appears ready to fall. The structure is located at the end of the street.

CONDEMNED — Snow covers the rubbish and debris in the yard around this back-lot house at 113 W. Colgate. A "condemned" notice has already been posted on this vacant structure on Pontiac's northwest side.

OPEN WINDOWS — Located at 122 E. Princeton, this vacant house appears to be losing a battle with the elements. The door stands open at this back-lot building, but anyone could enter through one of the broken windows. This house stands next to one just recently constructed, but remains hidden because of well-kept homes nearby.

Pontiac City Affairs

Public Hearing Set on Hospital Budget

A public hearing — the first — on Pontiac General Hospital's 1965 budget was set for Feb. 10 last night by the City Commission.

The hearing, required by provisions of Michigan's new State Constitution, is the first ever held on a hospital budget.

The hospital's board of trustees have already okayed the record $7,354,168 budget. The commission must now give its okay.

A Pontiac Motor Division official, John Blamy, discussed soot and dust problems emanating from the auto plant's foundry at last night's commission session.

Blamy reported testing had gone on all last year on the dust problem. He said some 53 dust collectors are to be installed by January 1966.

SEVERAL MEETINGS

The auto firm has held several meetings with city officials and neighborhood groups on the dust problem.

Acting by formal resolution, the commission last night took over the maintenance of the recently completed Clinton River drain No. 1, which was constructed by the county drain commissioner.

Funds to maintain the drain will come from the department of public works' budget.

City Commissioners also approved land appraisals for properties to be added to the R20 urban renewal project.

Some 4½ acres are to be added to the R20 project under a boundary change, submitted to federal urban renewal officials.

Pending federal okay and financial participation, the commission ordered the appraisals in order to speed up the acquisition of the land once the okay is given.

The $2,500 cost of the appraisals will then become part of the R20 project costs.

License Statistics Tell a Big Story

There are few human endeavors not governed by a license or permit issued through the office of City Clerk Olga Barkeley.

The city has a license for just about any activity involving the public, ranging from the licensing of auctioneers to underground vaults.

Two aims are accomplished by the city's licensing process: (1) The public is protected, and (2) the city receives fee revenue.

Hardly anything is left untouched by the proverbial long arm of the city license. Even, it should be noted, if it lives and breathes.

CITY COFFERS

This brought in $6,516 to the city coffers.

However, there were less poach permits issued in 1964 than in 1963 when 3,683 licenses were issued. Revenue dropped $1,788.

Total revenue from licenses and permits in 1964 was $38,564, down from 1963's $43,075.

While the biggest single drop was in the number of dog licenses, no individual category reflected the total drop in revenue.

LARGE CHUNK

Food outlets and delivery vehicles accounted for a large chunk ($10,120) of the licensing revenue, while the inspection of outdoor signs brought in $3,445.

Little changes in the city are sometimes reflected in the permits issued.

There were only 137 barber chairs inspected in 1964 compared to the 141 in 1963.

FEWER PUMPS

For the second straight year, it got harder in 1964 to get gassed. There were 176 gas pumps licensed last year to 251 in 1963 and 342 in 1962.

Taxicabs and taxicab drivers dropped in 1964. The city licensed 50 cabs and 197 drivers.

This compared to 92 cabs and 241 drivers in 1963.

However, the number of courtesy benches doubled in 1964, jumping from 40 to 80.

Time to Sign for Adult Term

Classes Begin Soon in Waterford Schools

Registration for the new adult education noncredit term in Waterford Township is scheduled tomorrow, Feb. 9 and Feb. 10 from 7 to 8 p.m. at Waterford Township High School.

Classes will begin next week and continue for 10 weeks. The fee is $7 per course.

Classes in advanced typing, office machines, business English, furniture construction and refinishing, conversational French and conversational Spanish will be offered at Waterford Township High School.

Also scheduled for WTHS are courses in beginning typing, shorthand and bookkeeping.

Classes in knitting and beginning and advanced sewing are slated for Pierce Junior High School and a course in gas and welding is scheduled for Waterford — Kettering High School.

CLASS TIMES

All classes are scheduled from 7 to 9:30 p.m.

A total of 203 persons were enrolled in the noncredit adult education program last term, according to Byron Merritt, adult education director for Waterford Township Schools.

Area Project Hope Chairman Named

Benson Ford, vice president in charge of dealer policy of Ford Motor Co., has been named general campaign chairman of Project Hope for 1965 for the Greater Metropolitan Detroit Area.

Ford's appointment was announced yesterday by William Gershenson, chairman of the five-county Project Hope board of directors.

The 1965 campaign goal is $350,000.

The S. S. Hope is a hospital ship devoted to healing and teaching programs for indigent countries.

It is presently anchored off the west coast of Africa, where its volunteer staff of American physicians, dentists, nurses and other medical personnel are serving the people of newly emerging African nations.

In accepting the appointment, Ford urged everyone to support the work of the white hospital ship.

"Additional ships and personnel are available," Ford said, "but there is an urgent need for funds to equip and supply them."

Waterford Board to View School Attendance Areas

A proposed revision in junior high school attendance areas will be considered tomorrow night by the Waterford Township Board of Education.

The opening of Mason Junior High School next fall will alleviate present crowded conditions at Pierce and Cray Junior high schools, which now have respective enrollments of 1,676 and 1,546.

Roy Alexander, secondary coordinator for the school system, anticipates fall enrollment of 1,130 at Cray, 1,250 at Pierce and 1,050 at Mason as a result of the proposed attendance area revisions.

In other business the board will review final plans and specifications for a proposed bus garage building just north of the present garage on Pontiac Lake Road.

The proposed building will have three maintenance stalls, a wash stall, office area and a war room for drivers.

SCIENCE PROGRAM

Also scheduled for the meeting is a report by the school system's science consultant, Donald E. Maxwell, on the science program in the secondary schools.

Assisting in the presentation to the board will be Sandy Malone and Kenneth Main, students at Waterford Township High School, and Sandy Johnson and Cindy Newman, Waterford-Kettering students.

'Ice and Snow on Walks Shall Stay Mailman'

Pontiac Post Office mail patrons had better clean the snow and ice off their walks—or be prepared to pick up their mail at the post office.

Postmaster William Donaldson said yesterday that mailmen have been told to stop delivering mail to homes or buildings where snow and ice are a hazard.

"We are running out of mailmen," Donaldson said.

Falls on icy pavement and a run of the flu have put the post office in the precarious position of being short of help.

"We can't do much about the flu, but we can eliminate the hazards of icy pavements by simply not delivering mail to those buildings, the postmaster said.

Domestic Workers Sought

Labor Cutoff Hurts 2 California Crops

LOS ANGELES (U-P) — Growers say the cutoff of Mexican farm help has produced a sweet-and-sour problem that could cost them millions.

The sweet ingredient is dates. Four thousand acres of Coachella Valley palms could bear an $8 million loss—in the form of no crop — if not pollinated soon by skilled workmen, a farmer spokesman says.

The sour element is lemons — 24,000 acres in Ventura County whose harvest is lagging for lack of skilled, industrious help.

"The way we're going now, we'll have so much fruit on the tree that's unmarketable we'll never sell most of it," says William H. Tolbert, manager of the Ventura County Citrus Growers Committee.

BIG PROBLEM

The two tasty crops blend into the growers' biggest present problem resulting from the Dec. 31 end to the importation of Mexican farmhands, the so-called braceros.

The California Department of Labor is conducting a crash program to find domestic replacements.

"We're continuing to recruit all over the state and getting many good workers," says Jack Ward, assistant chief of farm placement for the department's southern area. "However, on dates and citrus, lemons in particular, we're not getting them fast enough."

Lemons left on the tree keep on growing. Rinds thicken, insides get pithy. Experts say housewives won't buy these whoppers; they want neat, average-size wedges for fish plates. A recipe that calls for the juice of one lemon doesn't mean a lemon as big as a grapefruit.

PICK FRUIT

"I should have 2,200 to 2,400 men who will get out and pick fruit, who will average 3 1/2 to 4 1/2 boxes an hour," says Tolbert.

"As of last Thursday, the latest payroll figure available, we had 1,151. Most pick about 1.4 boxes an hour."

"A week ago Friday, I asked the State Department of Employment for 1,350. They delivered 243. Our order for this week is 1,550."

"We'll lose three to four hundred this week. A mighty big percentage are skid row characters. They don't stay."

MERCHANTS SCREAMING

"The merchants are screaming. 'When are you going to get people back on the payroll?' Fifty to 55 per cent of the packing houses' workers are off the job because these guys are not picking enough fruit to keep them busy. Oil companies are hoarding because they can't sell gas and oil for the fruit trucks that are sitting around."

Ventura County's 1964 citrus crop, including oranges and grapefruit, grossed $59.5 million.

Domestics now in the groves say they average about $12 a day. One fast worker said he was getting about $18. Most draw the hourly minimum of $1.25 — or $10 per eight-hour day — specified by Secretary of Agriculture Willard Wirtz for growers who want to show good faith in recruiting domestics.

From these wages there are daily deductions of $1.75 to $2.25 for food.

Elton G. Gebhardt, president of the Coachella Valley Farmers Association, says harvest of the present date crop will be completed. Pollination must start almost immediately, however, or there'll be no crop next year. Needed are 400 to 500 skilled workers; on hand are 30 domestics.

Gebhardt says it's too late to start the mechanics of reimporting experienced braceros. But he says Secretary Wirtz could release 1,100 Japanese nationals here for training in U.S. methods but mostly sitting in camps while California tries to recruit domestics.

Expect Romney to Continue Guard Quiz

LANSING (UPI) — Gov. Romney is expected to keep a firm hand on the Michigan National Guard situation by refusing to drop a dismissal hearing for two suspended National Guard generals.

It was learned today that Russell A. Searl, assistant attorney general assigned to the case, has recommended to the governor he go on as planned with the Feb. 15 administrative hearing of Maj. Gen. Ronald D. McDonald and Brig. Gen. Carson Nelfert.

The request for dismissal and a companion plea for a prehearing was made last week by Thomas R. McAllister of Bad Axe, McDonald's attorney.

The motion for dismissal contained 20 reasons to support the demand, including the contention that Romney had prejudged the generals and that Maj. Gen. Cecil Simmons, chief of the Michigan military establishment, "does not come into the matter with clean hands."

McDonald and McAllister said the prehearing would "avoid some of the national publicity that would mar the Michigan National Guard if the Feb. 15 hearing takes place."

Searl advised the governor that Simmons' position in the case doesn't apply and for a majority of charges the only way to clear the air was to hold the hearing.

The charges against McDonald, the state adjutant general, and Nelfert, quartermaster general, were lodged after a year-long investigation by the auditor general's office that broke last Oct. 8.

The original list of 11 counts, on which Romney based his original dismissal of the generals, was cut to three — headed by the alleged illegal sale of state property at the Guard's summer camp at Grayling.

McDonald and Nelfert were alleged to have been misfeasant and malfeasant while performing their duties.

REVERSES ROUND

Romney fired the two in October but reversed his course of action when Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley told him two weeks later he was constitutionally bound to provide McDonald and Nelfert with either an administrative hearing or military court-martial.

Romney reinstated them but Simmons immediately suspended the officers.

McDonald said Searl's recommendation "doesn't mean the governor will react that way."

"I think there's still the chance for the prehearing. He (the governor) has been badly misled and misinformed."

Even if the governor denies both requests, McDonald said, "the protest is still registered that the governor has already been judge and jury and we have a new avenue and approach to appeal."

Serve Spuds. in 300 Ways All Day Long

What could be more satisfying than a bowl of creamy potato soup after a day of shopping?

Mrs. Josephine Lawler, Marketing Agent reports that potatoes are the most important vegetable crop in terms of quantity produced and consumed value of the crop, and frequency of use in most households.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture lists 300 different ways to serve potatoes which may explain why Americans never seem to tire of them for breakfast, lunch, dinner or between meals.

When you buy fresh potatoes choose firm, well shaped tubers with shallow eyes.

Avoid green potatoes; they have been exposed to light, and will taste bitter.

Grade U.S. No. 1 on the package means that all the potatoes are 1 1/2 inches in diameter or larger.

You can expect that 1 1/4 pounds of raw potatoes will give about one pound of ready-to-cook or three to four servings.

Add a gourmet touch to mashed potatoes with a little basil, chopped chives or minced onions. Try dehydrated potato flakes or granules to thicken gravies or sauces — they will not lump.

FOR COATING

Coat chicken or fish with dehydrated potato flakes or granules for a crisp brown crust. Make a quick main dish casserole with scalloped potatoes and ham or cheese and franks.

Frozen potato patties are a good addition to breakfast, especially when served with a poached or fried egg. Frozen potato patties make an excellent appetizer served on sticks and dipped in a tangy sauce. Frozen French fries are quick and easy with chops or steaks.

Instead of frying frozen hash browned potatoes, you might add milk or cream for a variation of scalloped potatoes.

Bony Oxtails Make Tasty Rich Stew

Cook this main dish ahead; it reheats well.

Oxtail Stew

1/2 to 4 pounds disjointed oxtails
1/4 cup flour mixed with 1 teaspoon salt and 1/4 teaspoon pepper
2 medium onions, pared and quartered
4 large carrots, pared and quartered
1/4 cup minced parsley
2 cans (8 ounces each) tomato sauce
Water (about 1 quart)

Coat the oxtails with the seasoned flour; brown them in a heavy kettle with a little fat if necessary. Add the onions, carrots, parsley, tomato sauce and 2 cups water.

Bring to a boil; simmer until oxtail meat is very tender, about 3 hours, adding more water (1/2 cup at a time) during or toward end of cooking period.

With a slotted spoon, remove oxtails and vegetables; cover and refrigerate. Cover and refrigerate gravy.

At serving time, remove fat from top of gravy; reheat with oxtails and vegetables; add salt and pepper if needed. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Peanut Sauce Adds Crunch to Cabbage

Have you ever thought of adding chopped peanuts to cooked cabbage? Try this sometime for an interesting taste treat.

Cabbage With Peanut Sauce
1 head (3 lbs.) cabbage
1-inch boiling water
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/4 cup chopped roasted peanuts
1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper

Trim cabbage, wash and cut into 8 wedges. Place in a saucepan with 1-inch boiling water and salt. Bring to boiling point, uncovered, and boil 5 minutes. Cover and cook only until crisp-tender, 10 to 12 minutes. Drain.

Melt butter or margarine, add peanuts and cook until butter has lightly browned. Add fresh lemon juice and ground black pepper.

Pour over cooked cabbage wedges. Serve at once. Yield: 6 servings.

FLORIDA FESTIVE LOAF — Even though you aren't going South for the winter, you can console yourself with such treats as Florida Festive Loaf — so easily stirred up with nut bread mix.

Juice Used as Liquid in Bread

No winter vacation on your schedule? Then, make sure Florida Festive Loaf is.

There's the bright taste of sunny climes in this brunch, lunch or snack-time loaf. And there's a bit of the lazy living for which those climes are famous in the making of the loaf — simple as can be.

Add a corn syrup glaze and a kumquat and pineapple garnish to make it look as festive as it tastes. Serve it — almost any hour — with Orange Cream Cheese Spread.

Florida Festive Loaf

1 package nut bread mix
1 cup cranberry juice cocktail
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
Prepare nut bread mix as directed on package substituting cranberry juice cocktail for water and stirring in lemon rind with dry mix. Bake as directed. Glaze warm bread with corn syrup. Garnish with preserved kumquats and candied pineapple. Cool.

Slice and serve with Orange Cream Cheese Spread. Makes an 8x4 or 9x5-inch loaf.

Orange Cream Cheese Spread
2 packages (3 oz. each) cream cheese, softened
1/4 cup confectioners' sugar
2 tablespoons orange juice
2 teaspoons grated orange rind

Combine softened cream cheese, confectioners' sugar, orange juice and orange rind. Beat until light and fluffy.

If you want a snappy tasting cheese sauce, use 1/4 pound of sharp cheddar cheese for two cups of white sauce.

For Tasty Casserole

Depend on Frozen Foods

"We're a casserole family," says one cook. "So I'm always on the lookout for new ideas. The only trouble is, some of the combinations are too unusual for my brood. It's a problem finding new ways to do the same thing."

"Well, we've solved her problem with one of the freshest, brightest, 'new' casserole ideas to come along in quite a while.

This meal-in-one includes only the most popular food combinations; it looks handsome; tastes even better — and takes only 30 minutes to make.

How can you manage to turn out a meal with tender carrots, whole potatoes, crunchy onions and celery, delicate oysters, chunky tuna and peas — all melded together with a deliciously seasoned sauce — in so short a time?

The secret is amazingly simple. You turn to the frozen food cabinets for the major ingredients.

Quick Seasoning

for Baked Beans

Baked Beans are a great American Saturday night favorite. You can make canned beans taste like the homemade variety by adding seasonings you probably already have on your pantry shelf.

Combine in a skillet 2 cans (1 pound each) baked beans with 1/4 teaspoon Tabasco, 2 teaspoons prepared mustard, 1/4 cup brown sugar, and 1/4 teaspoon salt; stir well, and heat for 15 minutes.

ents. Then you blend them together with artistry and skill to create a truly classic one-dish meal.

Here, indeed, is a recipe any woman will be glad to add to her repertoire. It will probably come to the table more often than she figures. Even for company, once her guests get a taste of it.

Tuna-Oyster Casserole

2 cans frozen condensed oyster stew
1 package (1 1/2 lbs.) frozen stew vegetables
2 tablespoons flour
1/2 cup water
2 6-oz. cans chunky tuna
1 package (10-oz.) frozen peas
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1/4 cup sour cream

Empty cans of frozen oyster stew into 2-quart saucepan and heat over low flame, stirring occasionally, until completely thawed. In another pan, simmer frozen stew vegetables for about 15 minutes or until tender. Remove oysters from stew and set aside.

Blend flour with water until smooth and add. Cook, stirring constantly, until smooth and thickened. Drain stew vegetables and add.

Drain tuna and rinse off oil; add. Add block of frozen peas and heat together gently for about 5 minutes or until peas are tender-crisp. Stir in Worcestershire sauce, sour cream and the reserved oysters.

Heat just to the boiling point but do not boil. Serve immediately. Yield: 6-8 servings.

Fill Biscuit Circles With Tuna Salad

Seafood dishes, always delicious, are especially popular during Lent. Here's an idea you'll want to try.

Prepare a basic biscuit dough based on 1 1/2 cups sifted enriched flour. Divide the dough in half and roll each half to an 8-inch circle.

Place one circle in an ungreased 8-inch pan. Spread with a favorite, simple tuna salad mixture. Place second circle of dough over tuna.

Open-Face Snack

Here's a hearty hot snack for winter appetites — spread toast with lively-flavored deviled ham, top with apple and cheese slices. Broil until bubbly and "dust" with nutmeg.

Cookbook Raises Health Funds

The Mackinac Island (Mich.) Medical Center is undoubtedly the world's only health facility supported by a cookbook.

Oddly still, the recipe collection was compiled and edited by a University of Michigan dentist.

It all began after World War II, when, according to Dr. Ralph Sommer of the U-M School of Dentistry, several of the island's folk organized a bake sale to raise funds for a medical center. Seven heaping banquet tables netted a profit of $126 — and thus the medical building got its start.

Subsequently, bake sales gave way to community suppers, and eventually a white frame, fully-equipped medical clinic was erected to house a year-round physician, a part-time dentist, their assistants, and a public health nurse.

The idea to maintain the center through funds from an "Historical Mackinac Island Cookbook" came from Miss Stella King, the community's public health nurse.

Dr. Sommer, who practices dentistry in the clinic from June to September each year, and his wife, who assists in the office, were largely responsible for assembling the 226-page recipe collection.

In addition to a section of favorite recipes of President and Mrs. Johnson, the late President and Mrs. Kennedy, Governor and Mrs. Romney and former Governor and Mrs. Williams, the book contains hundreds of old family recipes from the island's permanent and summer residents.

Photos of key-spots of interest, as one would view them on a carriage tour of the historic island, and advertisements for local shopkeepers, are intermingled among the recipes, many of which were prepared for that original, fund-raising bake sale.

Proceeds from the sale of the book have provided "a steady source of income" to support the center's clinical and public health programs, Dr. Sommer says.

The cookbook, which will soon be in its third edition, is available for $2.50, plus 25 cents mailing charge, from the Mackinac Island Medical Center, Mackinac Island, Michigan.

Prune Biscuits

Next time you are whisking up a batch of biscuits, add some chopped prunes (cut from pits with scissors). Add them before the liquid, and proceed as usual. Then serve the biscuits hot out of the oven, with butter. Wonderful with salads. Nice, too, with broiled sausages and green beans for an easy holiday season supper.

Peanut Butter Bars Are Child's Treat

For a lunch box treat or an after-school snack, make easy peanut butter bars.

In a double boiler, melt together 1/2 cup of butter, 1/2 cup of chunk-style peanut butter and 32 large marshmallows. Stir occasionally until blended.

Meantime, heat 5 cups of puffed rice in a shallow baking pan for 10 minutes in preheated

350-degree oven. Pour hot sauce over hot cereal, stirring to coat evenly.

Pack into greased 7 by 11-inch pan. Cool. Cut into 2 dozen bars.

You may want to try some of the butterscotch cake recipes using sour cream because the cream usually adds a rich, moist quality.

Bit of Chicken Enough to Fill Green Peppers

The days when chicken was a special occasion meal or, at best, the featured Sunday dinner, are gone forever (thank goodness) and today economical chicken has become a mainstay of perhaps most American family diets.

As a result of the ready availability of chicken, many and varied recipes have introduced scores of new ways to prepare and serve the fowl.

Here's one of the best — one of the best because of the several delicious ingredients it includes as well as because you need just two cups of left-over chicken in order to serve your family this delightful and nourishing meal!

Chicken Stuffed Peppers

6 medium-sized green peppers
2 cups water
1 teaspoon salt
1 package chicken gravy mix
1 cup whole kernel corn
2 cups dried cooked chicken
1/2 teaspoon black pepper
1/2 teaspoon poultry seasoning
1/2 cup buttered bread crumbs
Paprika
Cut tops from peppers, remove seeds and membranes, and wash. Place peppers, 1 cup water, and salt in a saucepan and cook, covered, for about 8 to 10 minutes. Drain well.

Add sauce mix to 1 cup water, and bring to a boil. Add corn, chicken, black pepper, and poultry seasoning. Pile mixture loosely in peppers.

Sprinkle with bread crumbs and paprika. Place in shallow baking dish, and add water to cover the bottom of the dish. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes. Serves six.

Ripe Olives Give Carrots Character

Carrots benefit from a sauce with lots of flavor.

Saucy Carrots
1/2 cup ripe olives
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 tablespoon finely-chopped onion
1 tablespoon flour
1/2 cup water
1 vegetable bouillon cube
1/2 teaspoon minced parsley
1/2 teaspoon each dry crushed basil and thyme
6 servings hot cooked carrots
Dice olives. In a saucepan melt the butter and gently cook onion until soft. Stir in flour, water, bouillon cube and herbs. Cook and stir constantly until bouillon cube dissolves and mixture thickens. Add olives. Makes 1 1/2 cups. Serve over carrots.

Raspberry Jam Flavors a Cake That's Superb

This southern cake is popular wherever it is served.

Raspberry Jam Cake

1 1/2 cups sifted cake flour
1/2 teaspoon each baking soda and salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
1/2 cup buttermilk
1/2 cup seedless black raspberry jam

1/2 cup each fine-cut dates, raisins and cinnamon. Cream butter and sugar; thoroughly beat in eggs, one at a time.

Stir in sifted dry ingredients alternately with buttermilk and jam; fold in dates, coconut and walnuts with last of flour.

Turn into two round 8-inch layer cake pans whose bottoms have been greased and lined with wax paper.

Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven for 35 to 40 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean.

Turn out on wire racks; remove paper; cool; fill and cover with white frosting.

White and Green

Over slice cooked cauliflower to add to cut green beans? Nice dressed with butter or a cream sauce.

New Boys' Club Unit—Symbol of People Who Care

By DON PEMBER

This is a story about people—people who needed something, were aware of it and willing to do something about it.

It's also the story of a swamp, a $1,000 house moving job and kids.

Recently the Columbia Avenue Extension of the Pontiac Boys' Club was officially opened with a community open house.

A lot of people came to that open house. A lot of people were proud that day. The three-level brick building was their product—it was what they had built.

"Almost 10 years ago we realized we needed a community base of some kind on the north side of town," said Cressy Larson, director of the Pontiac Boys' Club.

OUT OF CONTROL

The kids in the area were starting to get out of control, he said.

Police were having difficulties, parents were having difficulties, the Boys' Club staff was constantly on call to assist on problems in that area.

Youths on the north side were beginning to make their own excitement—wild parties, dragging on the streets, fights and serious criminal offenses were taking place.

"We found that the majority of the Pontiac kids in the juvenile home were from the north side," Larson said.

CITY RIVALRIES

North side-south side rivalries were beginning to build up. Boys would want to fight other boys just because they were from another part of town, he added.

"It was then we realized something had to be done."

The first step was organization. Thirty-five men from the north side (who now make up the Northside Civitan Club) joined club officials and began to answer some of the needs of the youth of the community.

Clubs for hunting and fishing, for car enthusiasts, for camping, for sports and games—clubs of all kinds were formed.

Boys were transported from the north side to the East Pike Street Boys' Club. Youths in trouble began to get help; they found a strong shoulder to lean on.

The community began to be concerned, Larson said.

At about this time, the Boys' Club began work to make use of four acres of Columbia Avenue swampland which it had owned for seven years.

For two years, Larson said, every load of landfill in Pontiac was directed toward the property. In some places the property was "dredged" 10 feet and refilled.

NO COST

The project cost was estimated at $17,000, but the Boys' Club didn't spend one nickel. The labor and material was contributed by the community.

"We also began to talk to people in the area. Service clubs, PTA's, church groups, even individuals, were contacted," Larson said.

"We didn't ask for money—we merely pointed out the need for a youth club of some sort for the boys of the community."

In early 1962 Fisher Body UAW Local 596 decided to build a new building and offered their old structure to the club.

With much ado, the two-story building was moved from its site on Baldwin to the Columbia Avenue plot.

"This was a real beginning. It was a base—something the community could put their hands on," Larson said.

As if responding on cue, the community did put their hands on it.

During the past three years the entire building has been remodeled—almost rebuilt—from the foundation up.

COMPLETELY FURNISHED

It was completely furnished, and stocked with supplies.

The people did the work, after they had put in eight hours at another job, or on weekends or holidays.

The people contributed materials and supplies.

There were delays, snafus, starts and restarts. Slowly but surely, the new building emerged.

CONCERNED PEOPLE

"It was all done by people who were concerned about the future. It was a wonderful thing to see," said Larson.

The United Fund, which supports the Boys' Club, was not asked for one cent of financial aid, he added.

Today or any day, a visitor can stop by 124 W. Columbia and see several hundred kids benefiting from the effort.

Spilling out over all three floors, these kids are having fun—"fun with a purpose," the Boys' Club calls it.

"But the building isn't just a boys' club. It's a community building. Community groups will use the facilities for their needs, too," Larson said.

There are great plans for the new community center.

Lighted fields, ice rinks, family programs for parents as well as the youngsters, and many other bold ideas are planned.

But these will come with ease in time. The big job is done.

The people on the north side found out that with planning and work, they could help themselves and their children.

Dillon Quizzed on Reports That LBJ Is Eying Tax on Tourists

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon was asked yesterday by Sen. Edward V. Long, D-Mo., about reports the administration is considering taxing U.S. tourists who go abroad $50 or $100.

He replied that all aspects of the U.S. balance of payments deficit are being studied but that no decision has been made on possible remedies. Dillon said President Johnson would send Congress a special message when a decision is reached.

The matter came up during a Senate Banking Committee hearing on an administration bill to remove the 25 per cent gold backing on Federal Reserve bank deposits. Long was seeking assurance that passage of the measure would make unnecessary any tourist tax.

Dillon said tourism is an important factor in the payments problem because it accounts for a $1.75-billion annual deficit.

Meanwhile, President Stuart G. Tipton of the Air Transport Association said the air transport industry opposed any "proposal that would tax, penalize, discriminate against or in any way restrict the right of U.S. citizens to travel to foreign countries."

Former Mayor Charles P. Taft of Cincinnati is chairman of the group, whose members include Henry Cabot Lodge, port Moderate Republicans established during the 1964 campaign, is changing its name to Republicans for Progress and is opening a Washington office this week.

The group said in a statement today that it "is establishing itself in the capital in order to assist creative and constructive Republicans, strengthening not just the party's 'image' with the American people, but its record of achievement."

Of 36 incumbent senators and representatives endorsed by the committee in last November's election, only four were defeated.

1960 GOP vice presidential nominee; former Gov. Elmer Anderson of Minnesota; former Sen. Ralph Flanders of Vermont; and Malcolm Moos, former assistant to President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The group also announced that Albert E. Abrahams, a former newspaperman and for 10 years executive secretary to Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., had been named executive director.

Of 36 incumbent senators and representatives endorsed by the committee in last November's election, only four were defeated.

HUMPHREY: Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey said yesterday that the advertising industry brings "to democracy the freedom of choice — and without freedom of choice there is no democracy."

Speaking to members of the Advertising Federation of America and the Advertising Association of the West, Humphrey called advertising the "essential link between manufacturer and consumer."

"You help manufacturers develop new markets and promote new products, and that is the only way to create new jobs, payrolls and higher gross national products," he said.

The vice president assured the advertising men that the administration seeks a relationship with advertising and other industry of mutual cooperation and communication, "not harassment, suspicion or doubt."

Philadelphia Negotiations Hold Key to Dock Accord

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Settlement of the Maine-to-Texas longshoremen's strike, entering its 24th day, depended mainly on negotiations in Philadelphia, where union and dock officials recessed talks early today after a 13-hour session.

Importance of the talks was emphasized by the participation of James J. Reynolds, assistant secretary of labor, who sat in on negotiations between Local 1292, International Longshoremen's Association, and the Philadelphia Marine Trade Association.

The top labor mediator for the Johnson Administration met privately with federal mediator John R. Murray, then attended separate sessions of the longshoremen and the shippers.

The two mediators announced the recess at 3 a.m. and said talks would resume later today.

NO REPORT — Murray said he had "nothing to report" on the progress of the talks.

Reynolds had come from New York where he met with ILA President Thomas Gleason and Alexander Chopin, head of the New York Shipping Association, in an unsuccessful effort to reopen that port.

The ILA insists that all ports remain closed until contract agreements are reached in all local situations.

Aside from Philadelphia, the principal unsettled areas are Miami, Fla., Galveston, Tex., and Hampton Roads, Va.

REFUSE TO ACT

Union officials have refused to act immediately on a request by President Johnson that dockers return to work at ports where contract agreements already have been reached.

White House press secretary George E. Reedy said this was a deferment rather than a rejection of Johnson's request. He said the President is awaiting further word from Reynolds. James T. Mock, international vice president of the ILA, said the major obstacle in Philadelphia is the union's demand for a 1,600-hour annual work guarantee. Ship owners reportedly want to guarantee 1,300 hours.

The dock strike of 60,000 employees has set the national economy back by well over a billion dollars, according to the U.S. Maritime Administration.

$600,000 A DAY

Philadelphia is losing $600,000 a day, a PMTA spokesman said. The Pennsylvania Railroad says it is losing $500,000 a week in revenue from shipments normally carried to East Coast ports.

Spicy Prunes Improve Chicken

Here's a dish that will delight you as hostess because it has a dramatic look on the table, easy to achieve. And it will delight your guests because it represents good honest fare, tempting and good.

Tender, golden chicken drumsticks perched on pineapple and avocado slices are reared up on a great fluffy mound of hot rice—but not just plain rice!

This rice has mingled all through it plump prune pieces, and is seasoned with herbs and onions.

The soft meatiness of the prunes gives extra heartiness, and their rich tart-fruitlest bestows a winery flavor to the whole dish, distinctive and most appealing.

Then as a flourish, garnish the platter with Spiced Pickled Prunes.

This is a dish to serve as a savory main dish for a supper party or for a luncheon group.

Drumstick Prune Crown

8 chicken drumsticks
Seasoned flour
¼ cup butter or margarine
2 tablespoons shortening
1 No. 1 can pineapple slices
¼ cup chopped onion
¼ cup butter or margarine
2 cups cooked rice
1 cup chopped plumped prunes
1 teaspoon poultry seasoning
¼ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
8 avocado slices
Spiced Pickled Prunes

Select drumsticks of uniform size. Roll in seasoned flour.

Fry in ¼ cup butter or margarine and shortening until golden brown.

Simmer Fruit With Spices for a Chutney

Hot and Spicy Peach Chutney

2 cans (each 1 pound, 13 ounces) cling peach slices
¼ cup diced onion
½ cup currants, rinsed in hot water
¼ cup slivered candied ginger
1 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
¼ cup distilled white vinegar
½ cup Worcestershire sauce
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon each cloves and nutmeg

Drain peaches and turn into a heavy kettle with the remaining ingredients. (Use peach syrup in some other recipe.)

Bring to a boil; let bubble gently about 1 hour; stir occasionally during first of cooking period and often toward end, but try not to break up peach slices.

Makes a generous quartful. Cool, cover and store in refrigerator.

20 to 30 minutes or until tender. Sauté onion in ¼ cup butter or margarine until lightly browned. Add rice, prunes, poultry seasoning, salt and pepper. Keep hot.

To serve, arrange pineapple slices in circle on chop plate. Place an avocado slice on each. Mound prune rice in center.

Place a drumstick on the fruit, standing it up against the rice. Garnish with Spiced Pickled Prunes. Makes 8 servings.

Spiced Pickled Prunes

1 pound prunes
½ cup sugar
½ cup cider vinegar
1 cup water
2 teaspoons whole cloves
3 3-inch stick cinnamon, broken into small pieces
1 teaspoon allspice

Place prunes in a wide bottom pan. Add sugar, vinegar, water, cloves, cinnamon and allspice. Bring to boiling. Cover and simmer about 10 to 20 minutes. Stir several times so prunes will be thoroughly covered with syrup. Makes 4 cups.

Barbecue Franks

Next time you are serving franks, you might like to cut them in wedges and heat them in a barbecue sauce. Allow the franks to stand in boiling-hot water (off heat) for 10 minutes before slicing and adding to the sauce. Use a barbecue sauce with a tomato base.

A super dish is "Eggs Supreme," and a perfect choice for brunch or lunch. English muffins, thin slices of cooked ham, poached eggs and a vegetable sauce made with one of the new frozen vegetables with cream sauce make up this delightful version of eggs Benedict.

Eggs Supreme

1 package (8-oz.) frozen green peas and potatoes with cream sauce
6 eggs, poached
6 English muffin halves, toasted and buttered
6 English muffin halves, toasted and buttered
Meanwhile, top each muffin half with a slice of ham and a poached egg. Pour prepared vegetable over all; garnish with parsley, if desired. Makes 6 servings.

Browned Sausages

Make Soup Hearty

When toes are cold and noses nipped, warm up with this hearty soup combo.

Cut ½ pound link sausage into 1-inch pieces; cook slowly over low heat until brown; pour off drippings. Add an 11½-ounce can condensed bean with bacon soup, a 10½-ounce can condensed tomato soup, 2 soup cans water, and ½ cup chopped celery; cover and continue to cook until celery is soft—about 15 minutes. Makes 5 servings.

Ever serve appetizer kabobs made with marinated cooked shrimp and chunks of fresh or drained canned pineapple?

Something New in Lunchbox

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

We've all survived January, even the students who took exams.

It may be a new month and the beginning of a new semester, but mother still has lunch boxes to fill daily. We think she needs a few different ideas.

Do you put soup in the vacuum bottle that accompanies your child to school? It's a good way of providing nourishing and interesting food.

South of the Border Chili Soup

¼ cup chopped onion
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 can (11 ounces) condensed chili beef soup
1 soup can water
½ cup cooked whole kernel corn

In saucepan, cook onion in butter until tender. Add soup; gradually stir in water. Add corn. Heat; stir now and then. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

One cup of ground ham is enough for four sandwiches— if you use it in a spicy ham spread. If you don't have any ham, try the recipe with bologna.

Spicy Ham Spread

½ pound cooked ham
¼ cup crisp pickle slices
6 large pimiento stuffed green olives
2 sprigs parsley—1 slice onion
2 teaspoons brown sugar
2 teaspoons mustard with horseradish
½ cup real mayonnaise

Grind ham in food chopper; then grind ham, pickles, olives, parsley and onion together. Mix in brown sugar, mustard with horseradish, and mayonnaise. Makes about 1½ cups.

SWEET ENDING

A sweet surprise for the end of the meal is always welcomed, whether the lunch box carrier is a child or the man of the house.

This fudge has an unusual flavor combination.

Surprise Fudge

2 cups granulated sugar
1 cup brown sugar

Toasted Walnuts

Drop California walnut kernels into rapidly boiling water; boil three minutes. Drain well. Spread evenly in shallow pan and bake at 350 degrees, stirring often, 15 to 20 minutes, until golden.

While hot, brush lightly with butter and sprinkle generously with salt or seasoned salt.

2 tablespoons instant coffee
1½ cups milk
2 tablespoons corn syrup
¼ cup butter
1 teaspoon vanilla
¼ cup chopped dried figs
¼ cup chopped walnuts

Mix sugars with coffee, milk and corn syrup. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly until sugar dissolves. Cook to 236 degrees F. or soft ball stage.

Remove from heat; add 4 d butter. Cool to take away without stirring. Add vanilla, dried figs and nuts, beating until candy holds its shape.

Drop from teaspoon or spread in greased pan. Makes about 3 pounds.

Biscuit Mix in Cookies

* Cookie making is done in a different way when you start with biscuit mix. This recipe will give you nearly five dozen refrigerator cookies.

Spicy Refrigerator Cookies

¾ cups biscuit mix
1 cup granulated sugar
¼ cup salad oil
¼ teaspoon salt
1 egg
3 tablespoons grated orange peel
¼ cup fresh orange juice
¼ cup chopped nuts
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon

Combine biscuit mix, 1 cup sugar, salad oil, salt, egg, grated orange peel and orange juice in mixing bowl; beat vigorously by hand for 1 minute, or with electric mixer at medium speed for 30 seconds. Stir in chopped nuts.

Turn cookie dough out on waxed paper dusted with a little biscuit mix. Shape dough into rolls 1½ to 2 inches in diameter.

Wrap in waxed paper and refrigerate several hours or until ready to bake. Will keep in refrigerator for a week.

To bake, cut dough into ¾ inch 'slices'; place on greased cookie sheet. Mix ¼ cup granulated sugar and ground cinnamon; sprinkle each cookie with sugar mixture. Bake at 425 degrees, 8 to 10 minutes. Makes 4½ to 5 dozen cookies.

Labels and Pictures Tell Olive Story

An olive, just like the oft-quoted rose, by any other name still will be the same. But how can a housewife tell what size and style of olive is inside a can?

The label will tell a lot about the fine fruit inside. First, check to see whether they are ripe or green olives.

Ripe olives, the dark brown to black-colored beauties, are in especially plentiful supply currently, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The illustration on the label should show the actual size of the olives contained. It also should tell how many olives are in the can.

Word descriptions, such as Select, Mammoth or Colossal, are still another clue to the size and number of olives contained.

These terms are standardized for canned ripe olives by USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service, so all brands use the same terms.

The smallest olives available will be called one of three names: Small, Select or Standard.

Continuing from this to the very large sizes, are: Medium, Large, Extra Large, Mammoth, Giant, Jumbo, Colossal and Super Colossal.

All sizes are available with pits or pitted, as desired. Ripe olives also are available chopped or sliced ready for use in salad dressings, hors d'oeuvres and casserole dishes.

Life Changes, but Not Medalist McDermott

By MIKE STURM
Sports Editor

The Bay City Times

BAV CITY (In—) Skating for a hobby and bartering for a living Terry McDermott still is pretty much the Terry McDermott he was on Feb. 3, 1964.

That was the day before he broke a world record to win the United States' only gold medal in the 1964 Winter Olympics at Innsbruck, Austria, flashing twice around the track to clock 40.1 seconds in the 500-meter race.

Has the glare of klieg lights and demands as a public speaker changed Terry much? "Some," he said while snipping away at a fellow softball player's crew cut. "I was pretty well known around Michigan before the Olympics, but now they recognize me in New York and San Francisco."

These have been just two of the more than 100 places Terry has visited in the past year, which according to his own way of thinking, hasn't helped his image as a family man.

CHECKS FIRST

And with Terry, the family comes first. Married in September, 1963, the newlyweds became proud parents of Joyce Michelle in August of last year.

Now, before he replies to any invitation for a guest appearance, the 26-year-old sprint skater checks with wife, Virginia, who still is a year behind getting scrapbooks and other prized mementos in order at their modest bungalow in nearby Essexville, Mich.

But then, Terry always did check home first. Even before he went to the 1960 Winter Olympics at Squaw Valley, Calif., he made sure mother and dad would be okay with him gone for about six weeks.

The U.S. Olympic Committee solved the problem here when they named his dad, Joe, a retired field representative of the East Michigan Tourist Association, to serve as a timer and judge. Mother went along, too, to tell the "girls' back at the church circle she'd been to California."

For months now, the gold medal has been safely tucked away in a top dresser drawer and Terry has been concentrating on the barber business at Bunny's Shop in Bay City.

His proudest possession at the moment is a journeyman's license, obtained in Detroit Jan. 26 at "graduation exercises" after serving two years as an apprentice. As Terry said between creak cuts, "It's the barbering business that is keeping Joyce Michelle in new booties."

After the original training of February and March of last year died down, most of the demands for personal appearances came from banquet sponsors who needed a "message" about physical fitness, or to promote skating around the Midwest. These, Terry hardly ever says no.

SEEKS RINK

His own personal experience this winter has put further desire in a drive to see an Olympic type, 400-meter artificial skating rink constructed somewhere in mid-Michigan.

Terry has a lot of convincing ideas about a regular training program that could be put into practice as much as four months out of the year.

Until this past weekend, he hasn't skated more than a dozen times in and around Bay City as natural ice rinks have twice been washed out by unseasonable thaws. The line competition before last weekend's Olympic-style meet at Oconomowoc, Wis., was an indoor affair in Detroit in early December. With two days practice, he won the 440-yard race.

The Oconomowoc meet was something special, however, as it brought together some 80 skaters, including several of Terry's Olympic teammates, in two-man competition at distances from 500 through 3,000 meters.

As to his future in skating, Terry said he has sifted over dozens of fast-talking promotional deals and advice from well-meaning friends that he should "cash in" now on his Olympic medal. A few have been tempting, but for the most part, as he put it, "just fast talk."

A life on the road has meant a change for Terry, but not around home. He arranges his speaking and winter queen crowning schedule for Wednesdays, the day the barber shop is closed.

Nationals Top Chicago Five

SPECIAL TO THE PRESS

HOLLAND—The Pontiac Nationals had a long pre-warmup, then took most of the first quarter to warm to their task last night against the Chicago Brwn Bombers.

The Nationals came on strong in the latter stages of the game, though, to take a 111-105 victory over the Chicago Bombers.

The Bombers were an hour late in arriving at the Holland Civic Center, and the Nationals after a 45-minute warmup period while waiting could only make 19 points in the first quarter, their lowest one-period this season.

Although Pontiac outscored Chicago the remainder of the game, the Nationals still trailed, 79-75 in the third quarter.

GIVE-AND-GO

Then the give-and-go combination of Ken Nevels-Dick Dziko-Nevels carried Pontiac to a 103-88 lead in the final session. The winners were up 111-99 when Chicago's Porter Merriweather pumped in three three-point goals to trim the final deficit.

Cocaptains Willie Merriweather and Henry Hughes paced the Nationals' win. Merriweather had 10 of 20 from the floor and 26 points, while Hughes—in another hot streak—hit 9 of 13 and 19 markers.

Porter Merriweather had 16 of 38—including three three-pointers—for a game high of 34 points.

Lions; that for the first time the upper deck bleacher seats would go on sale on a season ticket basis and that he had received an encouraging letter from Governor George Romney in regard to the proposed stadium at the State Fair Grounds.

Questioned as to why the Lions can't build the stadium themselves, Ford answered, "We are not in the stadium business. We would have to spend all 12 months of the year supervising the stadium and its uses at the probable expense of neglecting our primary business—pro football."

RUSH MENTIONED

Ford made special mention of Pontiac's Jerry Rush, second round draft choice from Michigan State, along with the No. 1 choice Tom Nowatske, Indiana fullback.

On a huge screen he showed and explained the Lions' method of rating drafted players. "AA" was the top rating given various players such as Nowatske and Bielekoff and others who were picked high on the list.

Rush, a two way tackle at MSU was marked "A," but when he was asked what the Lions hoped for from the Huskies drafted, Ford commented, "We are expecting a strong lineman in Rush and we are hoping he will do the job for us."

Speaking in similar tones that owner Ralph Wilson of the Buffalo Bills did a couple weeks ago in Pontiac, Ford agreed that for a common draft to eliminate problems between the leagues and with the NCAA and with respect to excessive bonuses.

"No," he would never pay $4,000 for Joe Namath. He immediately corrected himself saying, "I guess I missed a couple zeroes, I mean $40,000 and this is very realistic."

Next week, coach Gilmer and several of the Lions' players will conclude the lecture series at Grosse Pointe.

Conservation Gets Boost From Governor

Romney Seeks Higher Appropriation; Cites Use of Facilities

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney saluted the State Conservation Department as being "reorganized and more efficient" in recommending a $7,030,646 general fund budget for the department to the legislature.

This compared with a more than $9.24 million request by the department and a legislative appropriation of $5.99 million for the current fiscal year.

As a major item, Romney proposed $3 million in state matching funds to meet federal grants for the new land and water conservation program for state and local park development and for park improvements.

"In recent years," Romney said in his budget message, "recreation has become an increasing responsibility of state government."

NOT SERVED

Last year, he noted, more than 13.9 million people visited the 64 state parks and recreation areas. In addition, thousands more used the 118 state forest campgrounds, 650 public access water sites and numerous hunting and fishing areas.

In spite of this, Romney said, many people were not served.

"Unless action is taken immediately," Romney said, "the 'turn-away' rate for state park and recreational facilities can be expected to increase."

A 50 per cent increase is proposed in geologic mapping and iron ore investigation.

Forestry inventory work and water resources investigation budgets also are stepped up.

Included in the budget is $100,000 for land acquisition by the fish division.

A new program in the fisheries division is the development of recreational lakes, mainly in the southern, heavily-populated areas of the state, for fishing and general recreational use.

The long-range program calls for the development of 50 such lakes.

STATE CARS

Also provided for in the governor's budget are funds to furnish uniforms for department field personnel, take up the slack if the bounty payment system is continued and to put law enforcement officers in state-owned cars.

The department would receive $2,339,000 under the capital outlay program, including the $2 million for parks land acquisition and development and the $100,000 for land acquisition by the fish division.

Other department capital outlay items include:

- $22,000 for a Sturgeon River watershed project; $55,000 for Muskellunge rearing ponds; $25,000 for land acquisition by the game division; $4,500 to start building a forest fire division equipment station and field office at Big Bay; $55,000 for campground expansion and $15,000 for trial sites for the forestry division; $10,000 for a Camp Grayling building for the conservation-corrections camp program and $42,500 for a district headquarters at Gaylord.

The parks division tentatively has planned to spend a good share of any new land acquisition money available -- up to half--for development in south-eastern Michigan where there is the greatest demand and heaviest population crush.

Harney Money Leader

DUNEDIN, Fla. (UPI)—Paul Harney remains golf's top money winner with $12,000, according to Professional Golfers Association statistics released Tuesday. Bob Charles is second with $9,125 and George Knudson is third with $8,750.

Dexter Needs Tutor to Become Hunter

By JOHN ALDEN KNIGHT

The day he arrived, he was all feet, skin and appetite. At one year, he was a stocky, well-set 15-inch beagle. His name, Dexter, was the first time Dexter opened his mouth and the bell tone of a hound bay came out, it scared him out of a full year's growth. What Dexter lacks in size he makes up in vocal ability. He has a voice that roars!

Dexter's first outings were disastrous. Everyone in the world knew he was a rabbit dog—that is, everyone but Dexter. His lineage is better than any family tree I have ever seen. Yet, over those trying days of early exposure to field tactics, Dexter came in a poor second. A bunny smelled lovely; this he vouchsafed by extensive tail wagging. But where the bunny went from where he smelled so pretty was something else entirely. In short, Dexter would have had trouble finding his collar in a telephone booth.

Twice in those early months, Dexter romped right smack over top of pheasants. Literally had them flying into flight from almost under him. After a scared yip and a rueful, almost accusatory look at me, he would resume his morning trot on the basis that if things like this kept happening he would rather go back to the pen. I was at the end of my rope.

GAINS ANOTHER DOG

One day I was driving along a back road not far from my home when I saw a man coming off a wooded hillside with two beagles at heel. Desperate, I stopped to talk, hoping to gain some point of information that I might have overlooked in Dexter's education.

I gained more than a point. I wound up with the loan of a 7-year-old female.

Nellie, approaching her elderly position a bit portly and far from fast, demanded attention in the field. She was the diagnostician of the pair, rummaging out the sign and proceeding along it at a pace that approached a slow walk. From time to time, she would let go with a short bogle, but she saved her efforts mainly for the "chase."

Dexter swarmed all around her, asking questions and taking notes. He would leap over her back on the trail only to be shouldered aside by the slower dog. After being exposed to many completed chases and not a few properly-flushed ringneck, I felt that it was time to make or break him.

Opening weekend of the small game season in Pennsylvania is a picnic, a carnival, a time of mass participation. Dexter and I went to the high country, leaving Nellie to bark on the porch of the barrel unannoyed by the younger dog. Dexter romped around me as I loaded my gun, took him to heel, and started down through an old apple orchard flanking the foundation of an abandoned farm.

He stayed at heel for about six steps and then let out one of his roaring bays and took off to the right on the dead run. Once around the foundation he pounded, screaming every step of the way. Then, at a hard run, came a cottontail rabbit from the other side, Dexter close on his heels. I rolled the bunny with my 20-gauge and let Dexter play with it for a while.

Inside of an hour, we had a limit of rabbits. Dexter failed to understand why I insisted we return to the car, yanking back on the leash until I unsnapped it and put him at heel again. That was a mistake!

After a full half mile of steep-pitched fields to within 100 yards of the car, Dexter once again broke from my heels and screamed off to my left. Out from under a pile of sapling whips came a lop-eared old grandfather snowshoe rabbit, seemingly bent on business in the next county.

Down the hill once again streamed the procession. The big rabbit, out of season and indignant at this interruption, belted away from us at a full gallop. Dexter came in a tardy, but determined, second with him bringing up the rear, bellowing irately.

BRIAR PATCH BARRIER

We cleared the field area in near-record time, plowed down into and through a briar patch that threatened to undress me, and half-way up the other mountain before Dexter became aware that I was with him. Turning, he trotted back to me and stood in front of me wagging his tail.

I snapped on the leash, patted him and started the long road back up that blasted hill, this time walking around the briar patch.

I had a rabbit dog and I was at peace with the world!

Large Muskie, Pike Taken With Spears

The new snow has fox and rabbit hunters chortling, but area fishermen are still grumbling about the inconsistent weather.

The four to eight inches of snow that fell Monday covered the frozen crust that had hampered good hound work for over a week. Fox hunters already report good success.

Rabbit hunters are few and far between, but those who ventured out Monday and yesterday reported plenty signs and fair success.

Hoyle Speed, 9225 Southeastern, Union Lake, is one fisherman who doesn't care about the weather.

He finished the muskie spearfishing season on Lake St. Clair Sunday with a bang. Speed, 32, nailed a 32 1/2-pound muskie with a spear. The fish measured 54 inches.

28-POUNDER

A 20-pound pike was speared last week at Cedar Island Lake by Chet Breit, 780 Farmworth. The northern came into view just before it was too dark to see the lake's bottom.

Fred Kisely, 4856 Sherwood, speared a seven-pound pike Sunday morning at Elizabeth Lake. He reported that the fish was the largest he has taken from the lake in 11 years.

Otherwise—the fishing has been poor.

Bluegills continue to be uncooperative and perch are hitting only occasionally on area lakes. Fair catches of catfish are being taken at Lakeville.

Trout fishing has picked up after a slow start. Limit catches are reported from Maceday, Osborn, Orchard and Union. Wigglers are proving the best bait.

Gun Safety Class Asked for Hunters

LANSING (AP)—Safety training for hunters under 17 years of age would be required under a bill introduced by Rep. Robert Mahoney, D-Detroit.

"The bill says no such youth could hunt or carry a firearm in a wildlife area after Oct. 1, 1967 unless he was carrying a Department of Conservation certificate of competency."

The department would establish a statewide program of hunter safety embodying the cooperation of any private organization which cares to help.

The required course would last at least four hours and include principles of safety in hunting, handling of common hunting firearms and hunter survival in the woods.

The course fee would be $1. Violation of the act—which also specifies parental responsibility—would be a misdemeanor.

A convicted youth could be banned from hunting for three years.

The measure includes a $75,000 appropriation through June 30, 1968, to establish the program. Thereafter it would be self-supporting.

Man's 'Best Friend' Wins Confidence Vote

Man's best friend still will be allowed park privileges.

Hounded by dog-lovers, the State Conservation Department has decided it was barking up the wrong tree in suggesting a dog ban.

Conservation director Ralph MacMullen has recommended keeping the park gates open to canines.

An informal poll of commissioners showed they were ready to go along with the director's recommendation.

"You don't overrule the director. We've had a lot of hot mail and protest on this one and the legislature has gotten into the act," explained one commissioner.

A department advocate of the dog ban said this was a typical case of "the heart ruling over the head."

HOWLS HEARD

"Many reasons were logically explained for the ban," he said, "but dog-lovers howled so much we had to back down."

The dog ban argument was hurt, department officials admitted, when a friendly-looking dog showed up at the hearing held recently at Lansing.

parks department director Art Elmer, wooed into a nice phone and posed on the table in the hearing room for photographers.

In making his recommendation, MacMullen urged that parks personnel be told "to give greater attention to the enforcement of the present dog rule and see that every case of observed or reported violation is properly handled."

Existing regulations ban dogs from park beaches. They are permitted in park areas only if kept under immediate control on a six-foot leash.

The ban would have kept dogs out of parks from May 1 through Sept. 30.

'Bonanza' Star Perplexed

Hit Disc Elates Lorne Greene

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD—How could a 46-year-old actor manage to produce a hit record in the teen-age jungle of today's pop music world?

Lorne Greene isn't questioning it; he's just banking the money and enjoying the whole thing.

The amazing success of the record "Ringo" is one of the most pleasant happenstances that have occurred to Greene in recent years.

"Don't ask me about 'Ringo' because I can't figure it out," said the star of television's top-rated hour, "Bonanza." "All I know is that it has already sold over 800,000 copies and that's merely in this country. It's apparently going wild in Australia. There seems to be no doubt that it will sell over a million before it's through."

EXPERIENCE NIL

Like many television stars Greene found himself recording some numbers last year, even though his experience as a professional singer was nil.

"Once in high school in Ottawa I was pushed before the curtain and told to stall for 15 minutes," he recalled. "I sang 'Brother, Can You Spare a Dime,' which dates the era, and the students threw pennies instead. Then at Queen's University in Kingston, Ont., I sang in the campus frolics. I was equally successful."

PEARL BAILEY

Famed Singer Is Hospitalized

Suffering From Heart Strain, Doctor Says

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Pearl Bailey, famed alike for her casual comedy and her husky blues voice, is in Mount Sinai Hospital suffering from "heart strain as a result of overwork," says her doctor.

The physician said the 46-year-old singer is undergoing tests in the hospital's intensive care unit. He said her condition is good and she probably will be transferred to a regular hospital room.

Miss Bailey will remain in the hospital for about 10 days, the doctor said, adding that she'll have to take it easy for some time.

The singer, who recently completed a nightclub engagement in Las Vegas, entered the hospital Tuesday night.

For several years Miss Bailey has been a regular star on the swank supper club circuit from New York to the West Coast, with an occasional television guest shot.

But "Pearlie Mae" has been an established performer since she was 15. That's when she left public school in Philadelphia to take the first of a long line of jobs with various popular bands.

Broadway beckoned in 1946, when Miss Bailey made her stage debut in "St. Louis Woman." Another play, "House of Flowers," sent her winging to Hollywood and featured movie roles, most notably "Carmen Jones."

Fourteen years ago, Miss Bailey, a Negro, married jazz drummer Louis Bellson, white. They have successfully challenged the show business tradition that marriages between people of separate careers consists largely of separations. The formula: their agent books them in the same town as often as possible.

Miss Bailey, although a singer of considerable talent, is perhaps best known as the master of the throwaway comedy line — inimitable off-hand remarks which dot the lyrics of her songs.

Her act hasn't changed in 15 years, except for details, but the ad lib, which decorates "Tired" or "Legalize My Name" seem ever fresh and spontaneous.

and later had to shoot him dead. The recitation, nestled among other singing and talking numbers on the album until a Lubbock, Tex., disc jockey plucked it out for a go-around. The response was enormous.

A Dallas jockey heard about the fuss and gave "Ringo" a big play with identical results. RCA-Victor released the number as a single and away it went.

DON'T TOUCH—GRAB

Greene now finds that when he appears among teen-agers they no longer touch him as before. They grab.

"On the whole I think it's a good thing that an older person can succeed in the pop music field," he said. "Maybe it will convince the teen-agers that their papas and mamas might have something after all."

For Greene, records are another element of his ever-growing career. As a result of "Ringo" he has received night club offers — he opens in Reno April 29. He is preparing a five-times-a-week radio show and two television productions. "I want to taste everything in the entertainment world," he said.

The taste has been sweet already. Greehe figures he has earned a million from the six years of "Bonanza."

How much longer with "Bonanza"? He said he'll stay with it as long as it runs, but he doesn't think that will be five years. "I'm not getting any younger," he remarked, "and I want to taste other honeys."

School Bill Gets Bumpy Treatment

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House Education subcommittee, with a whirlwind round of hearings behind it, gets down to work today on President Johnson's $1.25-billion school bill.

Chairman Carl D. Perkins, D-Ky., hopes to have a bill ready for the full education committee within two weeks, but the way no longer looks as smooth as it once did.

The bill, a centerpiece of Johnson's Great Society program, came under increasing attack on constitutional grounds as the hearings went on, and early hopes of avoiding a clash over the church-state issue appear to be waning.

At the final round of hearings Tuesday a constitutional lawyer declared key parts of the bill flatly unconstitutional and the American Civil Liberties Union said it constituted the most dangerous attack on the principle of separation of church and state since the Constitution was adopted.

GOOD SHAPE

The major part of the bill came through the 10 days of hearings in pretty good shape. Its aim of helping impoverished children by providing $1 billion to improve their educational opportunities was universally praised and no major changes were suggested by the stream of witnesses.

The rest of the measure came under increasingly heavy attack, particularly a proposal to make $100 million available to both public and private schools for the purchase of library books and textbooks.

That was the provision labeled "clearly unconstitutional" by Leo Pfeffer, a noted constitutional lawyer, and the American Civil Liberties Union.

VA'S DRIVER — William J. Driver, the new administrator of the Veterans Administration, sits in his office in Washington after the Senate confirmed his nomination by a 75-7 vote yesterday. Confirmation came despite protests over his role in plans to close 11 VA hospitals and four rest homes.

Senate Confirms VA Head After '1st Hectic 30 Days'

WASHINGTON (AP) — "This has been a very hectic first 30 days," William J. Driver said after the Senate confirmed him as administrator of veterans affairs.

Driver was confirmed, 75 to 7, Tuesday. Debate was brief, but the vote did not come until Driver had been exposed to three weeks of congressional fire generated by government plans to close 11 VA hospitals.

Driver told an interviewer he is "pleased that the Senate moved right in with an inquiry into the hospital closings and other announced consolidations." "Now there has been a full airing on the record. This was needed."

4 COMMANDERS

He also is pleased that the national commanders of four of the nation's largest veterans organizations — the American Legion, Disabled American Veterans, Veterans of Foreign Wars and Amvets — urged his confirmation though they all are on record in opposition to the hospital closings.

Driver, 46, is the first career federal employee to head the VA. He took his oath as administrator under a recess appointment Jan. 2, succeeding John S. Gleason Jr., who returned to private banking in Chicago.

Among major immediate problems to be dealt with, Driver mentioned implementation of the liberalized pension law enacted last year, reopening on May 1 of the National Service Life Insurance program to veterans having disabilities, and carrying through consolidations and reorganizations already announced.

"We have a very busy time ahead of us — we will be busy for quite a while with a terrific work load," he said.

DOMICILIARY PROGRAM

One of the things that will keep him busy is trying to make the domiciliary program "more dynamic." He explained he wants a program directed toward rehabilitation and return to community living of every possible veteran who enters a soldier's home.

"There will always be a hard core of several thousand undoubtedly who are suited only to remain as members of a domiciliary," Driver said.

U.S. Will Uplift Harlem Section

NEW YORK (AP) — "This gives us some hope," says Frances Jenkins of the federal government's $4.5-million anti-poverty program to renovate dilapidated tenements on both sides of a block in Harlem.

The news that brought cheer to Mrs. Jenkins and the 300 families of 1,000 persons on West 114th Street came out of Washington Tuesday.

Sargent Shriver, director of the Office of Economic Opportunity, announced plans for the massive experimental program to uplift the property and its people over an 18-month period. A $300,000 grant will provide social services from cooperating New York City agencies. It will include day-care centers for children of working mothers, adult education classes, health clinics and vocational training programs.

WELCOME SIGHT

Grass, trees, park benches and play equipment will be a welcome sight for the Negro slum block between Seventh and Eighth Avenues.

The Housing and Home Finance Agency will insure a $4.5-million mortgage to rehabilitate the shabby, five-story buildings, now more than 60 years old.

Mrs. Jenkins, who has lived in a four-room, $40-a-month apartment at 226 W. 114th St. for 23 years, said today:

"I think this project is going to improve the whole environment here and I'm feeling pretty good about it. So are most of the neighbors I've talked with, especially the ones with young kids. Maybe the kids can grow up and be something now. They need a good life."

557 CHILDREN

There are 557 children under 18 living on the block. It is a street often frequented by dope addicts and drunks. Grime and littered garbage are common sights.

The 450 dwelling units are to be cleaned, painted and plastered. All will be given modern plumbing and kitchen facilities.

8 shedules are expected to hold monthly rents to $50 to $87, compared to the current $38 to $180.

Mrs. Jenkins, who came north from Fayette, N.C., more than 75 years ago, is optimistic about Harlem's future. But her only child, William, 75, is disenchanted. He ran away from the neighborhood and went into the Army for five years but has returned.

NO AMBITION

"I have no ambition," William said. "Being born in this kind of neighborhood kind of pulls you down with it. I mean, nobody here likes to see you get anyplace."

His father is a dishwasher and his mother does sewing at home to add to the meager income.

William dropped out of high school in his senior year. He said he was never arrested because he was "lucky and I could run faster than the others."

He is going back to school at night and will start in two weeks a job at Bellevue Hospital that pays $62 for 10 days of work.

"I hope my son can better himself," said Mrs. Jenkins. He learned some accounting in the Army and now he plans to get married to a nurse he knows at one of the hospitals."

State Taxpayers' Share of Budget Said $4.5 Billion

LANSING (AP) — Michigan taxpayers would be required to pay out approximately $4.5 billion dollars in federal taxes as their share of the $99.7 billion spending program proposed by President Johnson, estimated the Michigan State Chamber of Commerce.

Harry Hall, chamber executive vice president, said the estimate is based on the chamber calculation that Michigan taxpayers bear 4.54 per cent of all federal taxes.

The state chamber report says Michigan's share of the proposed federal budget for the next fiscal year is 3.3 times the amount of taxes collected last year to finance all of Michigan's 1963-64 expenses and is 6.5 times the 1964-65 state general fund-general purpose budget appropriations.

Subway, Bus Fares May Be Hiked in NY

NEW YORK (AP) — New York City's 15-cent municipal transit fare, the lowest in the nation, soon may be only a memory.

Joseph E. O'Grady, chairman of the City Transit Authority, announced Tuesday that a $20-million deficit is expected by June 30 on subway and bus lines. A subsequent rise in the 15-cent fare is inevitable, he indicated.

Burton May Become 'Sir'—
A Knight in Shining Armour

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — The gossip in London are conjecturing that Richard Burton will eventually get a knighthood, thus becoming "Sir Richard the Lion-Hearted," making Elizabeth Taylor "Her Ladyship," or "The Lady That's Known as Liz."

Lady Liz and Princess Grace could, if they set their minds to it, give European royalty some zip.

The Beatles, invading the U.S. in August, will appear in NY at Shea Stadium. (They couldn't find any place big!)

Jimmy Durante, Eddie Jackson, Sonny King and Jack Roth and two clever girls — Diane Hall and Annita Ray — opened at the Capobianca in the greatest show there in months. Jimmy played a lot of his show toward his best audience, Peter Lawford, who kept saying from the ringside, "I love you, I love him."

Jimmy still plays nosey with the chorus girls, saying, "I want you to open a charge account at Klein's," and telling his oldies such as "I put a lead dollar in the slot machine and whatta' you think come out — THE MANAGU!" Such exultation is made of the exquisitely beautiful chorus girls that is his perhaps the best Durante show we'll ever see.

Facts is, a lot of beautiful customers were there, like gorgeous blonde German model actress Louise Meyer, who's trying to write a play, and will do so just as soon as she can find where to get one of those poetic licenses that every playwright seems to use.

I went to Miami Beach to see Frank Sinatra and Joe E. Lewis open at the Eden Roc. A pal sent them a wire, "You're the greatest team since Haig & Haig." During Frank's NY visit, he ate a couple of times at Al Green's, 56th & 6th, which boasts, "Every movie a little bit of Heaven."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Frank Sinatra sent $1,000 in tips around to the help at Jilly's before flying to Miami Beach. . . . Robert Merrill recalls that an elevator boy at the London Ritz introduced him to Winston Churchill, saying Merrill was a great singer, whereupon Sir Winston said, "In that case, have a cigar." . . . George Jessel's this year's March of Dimes Man of the Year.

Duo at Gallagher's: Peggy Cass and British actor Thomas Wilson. . . . Barondot may make a TV appearance modeling Pierre Cardin designs on an International Fashion Festival show; Jerry Berger's en route to Mexico City to negotiate. . . . Barbara Streisand confuses interviewers who ask about her early childhood. She tells 'em, "I didn't have any — I was born at the age of six."

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "The use of a university is to make young gentlemen as unlike their fathers as possible." — Woodrow Wilson.

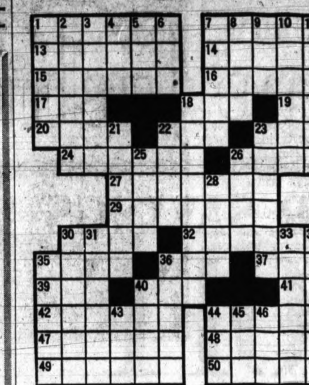

EARL'S PEARLS: Jack Minster, director of "Boeing, Boeing," says too many unattractive people want to get into the theater: "Many of them wouldn't even make a good audience."

"LBJ's throat ailment had many people worried," reports Ray Rieves. "In fact, I haven't seen so much concern since Ringo had his tonsils removed." . . . That's earl, brother.

Cold Spreads Across Nation
Give Crop Warnings in Many Florida Areas

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Zero weather spread across the nation today from New England south to Tennessee and west to Montana.

And, in Florida, crop warnings were in effect as much of the state shivered in winter's latest cold wave.

In northern and central Florida temperatures tumbled two degrees an hour late yesterday. Many sections braced for an expected wave of freezing temperatures.

However, officials in Florida said the crops will benefit not suffer — from the night's bracing temperatures. A spokesman at the federal-state crop warning service in Lakeland said:

"It was real good for citrus. The dry air actually was good for some vegetables."

Subzero temperatures were common today in western Pennsylvania, Bradford, Pa., recorded -4 and DuBois, a.

VERMONT CAPITAL
It was 6 below zero in Montpelier, Vt., and below zero in several sections of New Hampshire and Maine.

It was 24 below in Aberdeen, S.D., and -20 in International Falls and Hibbing, Minn., and Fargo, N.D.

As the cold front moved southward, locally heavy thunderstorms hit some areas.

Vero Beach, Fla., recorded 1.3 inches of rain within six hours, and more than 1 inch fell in West Palm Beach, a winter playground.

Only the far reaches of southern Florida escaped the cold, which stretched from the Great Plains to the Atlantic with below and near-zero temperatures.

CNB Seeks to Buy Renewal Property

Community National Bank of Pontiac presented a proposal last night to purchase $65,000 worth of urban renewal land.

The bank seeks property on the east side of West Wide Track between West Lawrence and West Pike. CNB plans a drive-in facility at the location.

The City Commission could not act on the bank's proposal last night because an urban renewal plan change must first be okayed by federal officials.

FAVOR PROPOSAL
However, the commission favored the proposal.

Panama May Build New Canal Alone

PANAMA (AP) — Panama may go it alone and build a sea-level isthmian canal by borrowing from institutions such as the World Bank, Foreign Minister Fernando Eleta said.

The possibility of such an undertaking would be contingent, he said, on determination that excavation by nuclear methods would be feasible. Even so, the cost would be $600 million to $700 million.

Eleta discussed with newsmen Tuesday his talks this week with Thomas C. Mann. Mann has been visiting the four countries under consideration by the United States as sites for a sea-level waterway replacing the Panama Canal.

The foreign minister did not rule out U.S. construction of the new canal in Panama.

It was considered possible Eleta made the go-it-alone suggestion to strengthen Panama's hand in negotiations with the United States to revise the 1903 Panama Canal treaty. Similarly, many Panamanians feel the most feasible route for a new canal is across Panama and that Washington has proposed the other routes to bolster its position in the treaty talks.

Eleta said he was sure private financing could be obtained and that a sea-level canal would be self-financing through tonnage revenues.

Eleta said one of Panama's major immediate concerns, however, is arriving at a formula which provides not only for considerable fiscal revenue, but also for sources of employment for the 14,000 Panamanians who would lose work through closure of the present Panama Canal.

Eleta said in a sea-level waterway a maximum of only 500 highly specialized technical personnel would be employed.

One possibility under consideration is transformation of the Canal Zone into an industrial complex utilizing existing power and port installations.

TECHNICAL EXPERTS
Eleta said agreement was reached with Mann for Panamanian technical experts to accompany Americans on field survey studies for a canal route.

U.S. Is Urged by Sukarno to Get Out of Viet Nam

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Indonesian President Sukarno today urged the United States to withdraw from South Viet Nam. He added, if the South Vietnamese "want to be Communist, let them be so."

Sukarno, addressing worshipers gathered at the presidential palace mosque for prayers ending the Moslem fast month of Ramadan, said:

"We Asians were never given the opportunity to have freedom — to be free. That is why the best way is for the United States to get out of South Viet Nam and let Asians solve their problems the Asian way. The Asian way means consultations."

"The South Viet Nam crisis is the result of American intervention. This is what the Sukarno-Macapagal doctrine called for: Let Asians solve Asian problems."

SELF-RESPONSIBILITY
Sukarno was referring to Philippine President Diosdado Macapagal, who has said Asians demand self-responsibility for their own destiny.

Last October Macapagal told the National Press Club in Washington that free Asian nations should help South Viet Nam defend itself against Communist aggression.

He also said two months earlier "it is heartening that the United States, under President Lyndon B. Johnson, has shown its determination to resist Communist aggression in our region."

The Communist Viet Cong already had launched its guerrilla war against South Viet Nam when the United States first sent military aid to the Saigon government. In early 1963 the number of U.S. troops in South Viet Nam was increased from a handful to 4,000. The number now is 23,000.

OUR AFFAIRS
Sukarno said, referring to the United States, "You are the one who make trouble. We want to be left alone. Never interfere in our own affairs. Only through this way can we achieve peace throughout the world."

The Indonesian president, who last month led his country out of the United Nations, said the Indonesian and Communist Chinese revolutions have similar goals: "to drive away imperialism from this world."

"The integration of the Indonesian and Chinese revolutions will bring prosperity in Asia and peace in the world," he declared.

Sukarno recalled that Indonesia has staged a confrontation against the Dutch — Indonesia's colonizers — and then against the British-backed Malaysia.

"Now I call on you to stage a confrontation against our weakness. Now that we have quit the United Nations, we should be able to stand on our own feet, never be dependent on others' aid."

And that extra building is an absolute necessity for the fall of 1967.

The budget also ignored OU's request for $150,000 to complete the main campus road, Dr. Varner said.

Dr. Donald W. Martin, medical superintendent of Pontiac State Hospital, was also pleased by the governor's budget proposal.

"These are the exact amounts we requested," (for the power plant and children's unit) he said, "and will be a great help in our expansion and improvement plans."

Dr. Martin was also disappointed, however, that no mention was made of one of the hospital's major needs — a new service building and dining room.

The hospital's budget request had included $700,000 for the project, which has been needed for many years.

The governor's budget proposal also included $1 million for an adolescent children's facility at Lapeer State Home.

tutoring each girl. Rehearsals will also start in preparation for the talent presentations.

At noon Friday, a luncheon will be held at the Holiday Inn, 51 S. Telegraph, Bloomfield Township, to honor the 25 contestants.

Interviews and rehearsals will continue Saturday until 7 p.m. when the final phase of the pageant starts at Pontiac Northern.

EACH TO PERFORM
Each of the 25 contestants will give a talent presentation. Following these four-minute acts, each girl will appear in an evening gown.

The 25 runners-up will be named and the new Junior Miss will be crowned as a climax to the three-day event.

During the contest, out-of-town girls will stay in the homes of the Saturday night phases of the pageant will be open to the public. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Canoe Gift Represents 'Thanks for Inspiration'

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The little boy who used to wander through the halls of the Cranbrook Institute of Science Museum has grown up to become a globe-trotter.

He's returned bearing a treasure for the museum which once inspired his dreaming.

The institute now has in its collection a new canoe from the Florida Islands in the Solomons, thanks to Arthur Erickson, now a 24-year-old world traveler.

Featured on the 17-foot canoe is an elaborate work of inlaid mother-of-pearl forming a shark-like mouth.

It was secured after extensive negotiations with the elder of the village of Volia in 1962.

USED BY HEADHUNTERS
This and similar canoes had been used by headhunters and fishermen of the area, located across the bay from renowned Tulagi.

Erickson said he had read about the canoes and had decided he must get one for Cranbrook.

The canoe was dismantled, each piece marked, shipped back to the States by freighter and reassembled in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Burton C. Erickson of 293 Berwyn, Birmingham.

As a youngster, Erickson decided he wanted to go around examining new revenue sources by 1967.

Democrats say that since Romney is proposing programs that eventually will require new funds he should initiate tax reform.

'63 FAILURE
The governor, mindful of his tax reform failure in 1963, says he's willing to launch into the subject as soon as legislative leaders come tell him they're ready to talk.

This Alphonse - and Gaston procedure in getting into a subject that could lose votes in 1968 seemingly is keeping the budget.

One Democratic leader said if the Democrats significantly raise Romney's recommendations, then they're stuck with taking the initiative on tax reform — which in most eyes means an income tax.

Most Republicans say the budget is good, though GOP Sen. Emil Lockwood, St. Louis, and Thomas Schweigert, Petoskey, thought school aid should have climbed higher.

SURPLUS
House Speaker pro tem Albert Harrison, D-Flint, said the surplus will more likely be $110 million than the $105 million Romney pegged for this coming June 30.

Erlandsen said "submerged deficits in the state's financial picture can soon negate this surplus."

He said $40 million is owed to the veterans' trust fund, raided during the 1959 cash crisis, and that the teachers' retirement fund is being whittled away at the rate of $25 million a year.

In his length message, Romney proposed using $32.4 million of the anticipated surplus to help meet 1965-66 needs. This would leave $76.6 million for use in 1966-67.

He divided the sizeable jump over this year's appropriations into two categories: "Built-in" increases caused by population growth, and new programs and major improvements.

FORMER ACCOUNT
The former account for $56 million of the boost, the latter for $38 million, he said.

U.S. Civilian Missing in Viet

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A high-ranking civilian U.S. aid mission official is missing and feared kidnapped by the Viet Cong.

He is Gustav C. Hertz, 46, of Leesburg, Va., chief of the mission's public administration division since June 1963.

He reportedly left his home in Saigon's suburban Gia Dinh Tuesday afternoon. When he did not return two hours later, his wife notified the U.S. military officials and a search was started.

No trace of him has been found.

Hertz lived here with his wife and three children. Officials speculated he might have gone out to watch strollers on the first day of the junior New Year.

PLAN PETITION
The lawyers said they also would petition U.S. Dist. Judge Daniel H. Thomas in Mobile for an injunction to prohibit city police from arresting Negroes participating in right-to-vote marches.

Thomas has issued a similar restraining order against Sheriff James G. Clark and his deputies.

The Negro attorneys said they would ask Judge Thomas to order the voter registration board to open eight hours a day, six days a week.

Thomas already has said, in his injunction against the sheriff, that the pace of registration in Selma is much too slow.

STATE LAW
State law requires the registrars to meet on the first and third Mondays in each month, but provides additional time if needed, with the approval of state authorities who pay the cost.

Yesterday afternoon another trucker, Walter Lee Yow, 55, of Albemarle, N.C. dropped dead in the office of a local doctor.

Earlier, Roland F. Lawson, 58, of Knoxville was found dead in his wrecked car near the entrance to a university dormitory. Physicians said he died of a heart attack. His widow claimed the death was caused by students pelting his car with snowballs.

Federal Aid to Pontiac Cut Off

Each year the city submits a progress report on selected community improvements. Annual certification of its report qualifies the city for continued federal aid to local projects.

TO ARRIVE HERE
City Manager Joseph A. Warren told the commission last night that two HIFA officials would be here tomorrow to discuss the workable program.

Although the workable program takes in other facets of community development, Warren previously warned that the HIFA was particularly interested in housing code enforcement.

Symphony Orchestra Art Exhibit Combine

By JOHN C. TOUSLEY
Pontiac Schools Music Dep't.

The usual attractive blending of art and music occurred Tuesday evening at Pontiac Northern High School.

Pontiac Symphony concertgoers viewed an exhibit of oil and water, color paintings by Kenneth Bristol and Maxwell Wright of the Pontiac Artists' Society.

The opening orchestral selection was the Overture "Roman Carnival," by Hector Berlioz. The overall effect was one of brilliance.

PIANO SOLOIST
The Concerto for Piano and Orchestra, E Flat Major, by Liszt, was performed by the orchestra with guest soloist, Julius Chajes.

After a tense beginning, the soloist and orchestra succeeded in blending their talents to an increasing degree, concluding the selection with a most inspiring finale.

The orchestra concluded the regular program with Dvorak's Symphony No. 5 in E Minor (from the New World).

While some of the faster passages in the symphony lacked precision, the second and fourth movements were satisfying and the tone quality during the second movement was undoubtedly the best of the evening.

Again, the English horn solos were outstanding.

One disturbing element that marred an otherwise enjoyable concert was the restlessness of the children whose parents allowed them to sit unsupervised in the front row.

Members of the orchestra were noticeably distracted by them.

FOLK TUNE
The audience was treated to an encore, "Greensleeves." The tone quality of the selection was excellent and the soloists are to be commended.

The fine ability of conductor Felix Resnick was apparent throughout the entire performance.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles N. Hoyt of Grosse Pointe Woods, announce the engagement of their daughter, Julia Clare to Douglas John Read, son of the John D. Reads of Franklin. She attends Mercy College. Her fiancé is an alumnus of a University of Detroit. August vows are planned.

Is the Past Buried?

She Needs to Know Facts

DEAR ABBY: A woman with a nice-sounding voice telephoned me and asked if I had a daughter by the name of — let's call her "Marcia." I said yes I had.

Then she said that if Marcia did not leave her son alone, there was going to be trouble. She said her son is a married man with a family, and Marcia is running after him.

The two work together, it seems, and this woman said everyone at work is talking and it could cost her son his job.

I asked my daughter about it and she said the man was 42 years old, had been divorced for two years, and that his mother had been dead a long time.

She told me not to pay any attention to the telephone call, but I can't help worrying about it.

My daughter is 33 (divorced) and has her own apartment. What would you do in my place?

A WORRIED MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: You warned your daughter, which is all you can do. If anything is to be done, your daughter must do it.

She would be wise to check further on the man to find out if his marriage is "dead" and his mother is living.

DEAR ABBY: What makes people, who can ill afford to spend the money, pick up a telephone and make a long-distance call that comes to 15 or 20 dollars, when they can write a letter for only a few cents?

We know many people like that.

IRRITATED
DEAR IRRITATED: And so does everyone else. Some folks, of course, are just too lazy to write. But I suspect that the majority of the "I'd-rather-call-than-write" breed are unable to write an adequate letter.

I am not knocking the long-distance telephone, but more people had better learn to spell and write correctly, and attempt to express themselves with the written word, or the art of letter writing will eventually be lost.

LEGION UNIT
Plans Party

Plans were made at a recent meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary, Cook Nelson Unit 20, for the birthday party of the American Legion.

On Feb. 18 a card party will be held by the Past President's Club at 8 p.m., at the post. There will be refreshments and table and door prizes.

The 18th district meeting will be held at Southfield Post on Twelve Mile and Southfield Roads.

DEAR ABBY: My niece is planning a wedding in the near future. She wants to be married in white with all the trimmings. Now it is no secret that she has already had her honeymoon.

Last summer she and her fiancé spent their vacation together. This is a small town, Abby, and I'm afraid if she insists on going through with a wedding like that, our whole family will get the horse laugh.

What do you suggest?

AFRAID
DEAR AFRAID: If you leave your niece's wedding plans to her. And don't advertise your "fears" too broadly, or YOU might get the horse laugh.

Linda Hope Talks About Her Dad

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK—Like any dutiful daughter, Linda Hope springs eternally to the defense of her globe-girdling, golf-addicted father, Bob Hope.

But in true Hope tradition, she never lets sentiment stand in the way of a quip.

For instance: "He's now very busy working on a TV show and trying to give time to his true profession, golf. He hates to let work interfere with golf, you know."

STAND-IN
Not long ago, she accepted for her father, a Foreign Press Association scroll for the best television comedy series, and said:

"I'm one of dad's biggest fans—especially on TV. It's one of the few times I get to see him in the house."

And "this is one father a daughter can really look up to. He's always flying."

Tall and slim, with hazel eyes and short, dark blonde hair she comb back severely, Linda looks like a clean-cut, well-scrubbed, twenty English girl.

LINDA HOPE

She is the oldest of the four Hope children—all adopted when they were a few weeks old.

"If I had any trouble adjusting, I was too young to know," she said in an interview.

Life with father, she explains, is never dull.

CLOSENESS
"It's not necessarily the amount of time spent with you that matters, but the quality. When he is with you, he is interested in you every minute."

"When we were younger we used to go out with mother

Widow Should Cultivate Her Talents

By MRS. DONN SUTTON
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

As a widow, try to face your problems squarely. It is imperative to fill in your life.

Idleness gives you too much time to think.

Whatever skill you have, develop it and make it marketable.

There are businesswomen's homes or motherless households which require a woman with housekeeping skills. If you are a good cook and homemaker, these positions provide comfortable quarters, pay well, are dignified and responsible.

Here you are very much needed. These positions are in no way menial.

KEEP BUSY
Should you be fortunate enough to be well provided for and to live comfortably after your husband's death, it is just as important to keep busy.

She went to Arizona for a holiday and first thing you know she was playing a guitar and had learned some ballads.

LANDED A JOB
She was enjoying all her new experiences so much that instead of landing another husband, as she originally intended, she was offered a position as hostess and head of entertainment at a plush resort hotel.

Here her new-found skills are put to use. She says she has never enjoyed anything more. Besides, she gets paid for it!

Another friend is a little lady who had always taken an interest in church work in which her husband had encouraged her.

When he passed away she found her church a great solace, spent more and more time making herself useful there.

Now she has the highest position given a woman, that of president of the women's federation in one of the great churches in a large metropolitan area.

Your church, for example, needs your help. Get in there and serve coffee and work on bazaars.

Give of yourself and enlarge your circle of friends. Do volunteer work in the hospitals, help on charities.

With all this, be sure to proportion your time in an orderly manner and you will be delighted by your accomplishments and interesting contacts.

You are starting this new life of yours in a constructive way.

I have one friend who took lessons and learned to play bridge because she had met a man who enjoyed it very much and she enjoyed him.

He moved away.

The next one she met was a keen golfer. She took up the sport, opening up a whole new association with both women and men.

It is inspiring to see how much outgoing warmth she and her volunteer workers are bringing to this huge church, making all who cross their paths feel welcome and appreciated.

She always has time, busy as she is, to think of others and to sit down at her desk and dash off a note to a friend.

USED ART ABILITY
Another friend enjoyed painting.

She started by painting the faces on rag dolls for the church bazaar in Los Angeles.

Where she lives. The dolls had the wisest, appealing, round-eyed look of a very small girl.

When she was left alone and had to support herself and daughter, she started making these engaging dolls for the gift shop in one of the big department stores. They buy as many as she can make.

Now she is extending her growing business into other cities and has added some helpers.

Grace Chapman was left alone with 40 acres and a sprawling, white frame house.

To children in the area, she was like an extra grandmother whom they loved for her warmth and kindness.

One of her frequent callers was 12-year-old Luther, who got in the habit of helping her with the work.

These two struck up a partnership. With the consent of his impoverished parents, who had many children to feed and clothe, he came to live in the white house, and work on the farm.

With Luther's help, her farm prospered and they were both happy. He lived there through grade school and then on to high school for four years. Then he joined the Army.

After he left, she decided to sell the farm and build a house with a flower garden near her daughters so that she could now entertain her grandchildren.

Among her frequent Sunday visitors is Luther—who now has a wife and two small children of his own.

INNER STRENGTH
There are countless experiences which women have and which, when compelled by necessity to draw upon their inner resources, will lead them to full, rich, rewarding lives. They dispel loneliness and make them self-sufficient.

You are never too old to find a position where your own skills and talents are needed and recognized!

Missionaries Hope Party Will Help Scholarship

The Pontiac Missionaries, Inc. is sponsoring a card party Feb. 10 at 8 p.m., in the First Federal Savings of Oakland Building.

Proceeds will be used for the scholarship program.

At present, the organization is sponsoring Greta Branker of Trinidad. Upon graduation from Marygrove College, she will return to her people as a teacher.

Mrs. Allen Neville of Boston Avenue provided a home for Greta while she was still a student at Dominican Academy.

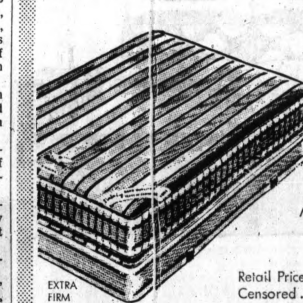

In addition to the scholarship program, the Missionaries support an orphanage and hospital in Ongole, India for young Indian boys.

Mrs. Samuel Lerner is president of the group; Mrs. John Paul Shumness, vice president; Mrs. Basil Martus, second vice president; Mrs. William Bridge, secretary; Mrs. Herman Kline, treasurer, and Mrs. Gertrude Anderson, executive secretary.

She lives at the Missionaries house on Myrtle Street.

Tickets for the party may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Anderson or Mrs. Neville at the door.

Labor Cutoff Hurts 2 California Crops

HARVEST THREATENED — William H. Tolbert (left), manager of the Ventura County Citrus Growers Committee, talks with a fruit picker in a California lemon field where the fruit may become unmarketable because of a shortage of pickers.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Growers say the cutoff of Mexican farm help has produced a sweet-and-sour problem that could cost them millions.

The sweet ingredient is dates. Four thousand acres of Coachella Valley palms could bear an $8 million loss—in the form of no crop — if not pollinated soon by skilled workmen, a farmer spokesman says.

The sour element is lemons—24,000 acres in Ventura County whose harvest is lagging for lack of skilled, industrious help.

"The way we're going now, we'll have so much fruit on the tree that's unmarketable we'll never sell most of it," says William H. Tolbert, manager of the Ventura County Citrus Growers Committee.

BIG PROBLEM

The two tasty crops blend into the growers' biggest present problem resulting from the Dec. 31 end to the importation of Mexican farmhands, the so-called braceros.

The California Department of Labor is conducting a crash

Australia Will Send Troops Into Borneo

CANBERRA, Australia (AP)—Acting Australian Prime Minister John McEwen announced today, after a day-long Cabinet meeting, Australia will send combat troops into Malaysian Borneo.

He said the 3rd Battalion of the Royal Australian Regiment of about 1,000 men, now stationed in Malacca, would move to Borneo and a crack paratroop command of an army special air service unit would fly from Australia to Borneo.

on growing. Rinds thicken, insides get pithy. Experts say housewives won't buy these whoppers; they want neat, average-size wedges for fish plates. A recipe that calls for the juice of one lemon doesn't mean a lemon as big as a grapefruit.

PICK FRUIT

"I should have 2,300 to 2,400 men who will get out and pick fruit, who will average 3½ to 4½ boxes an hour," says Tolbert.

"As of last Thursday, the latest payroll figure available, we had 1,151. Most pick about 14 boxes an hour."

"A week ago Friday, I asked the State Department of Employment for 1,350. They delivered 243. Our order for this week is 1,550."

"We'll lose three to four hundred this week. A mighty big percentage are skid row characters. They don't stay."

MERCHANTS SCREAMING

"The merchants are screaming, 'When are you going to get people back on the payroll?'" Fifty to 55 per cent of the packing houses' workers are off the job because these guys are not picking enough fruit to keep them busy. Oil companies are hoarding because they can't sell gas and oil for the fruit trucks that are sitting around."

Ventura County's 1964 citrus crop, including oranges and grapefruit, grossed $50.5 million.

Domestics now in the groves say they average about $12 a day. One fast worker said he was getting about $18. Most draw the hourly minimum of $1.25 — or $10 per eight-hour day — specified by Secretary of Agriculture Willard Wirtz for growers who want to show good faith in recruiting domestics.

From these wages there are daily deductions of $1.75 to $2.25 for food.

Elton G. Gebhardt, president of the Coachella Valley Farm Association, says harvest of the present date crop will be completed. Pollination must start almost immediately, however, or there'll be no crop next year. Needed are 400 to 500 skilled workers; on hand are 30 domestics.

Gebhardt says it's too late to start the mechanics of reimporting experienced braceros. But he says Secretary Wirtz could release 1,100 Japanese nationals here for training in U.S. methods but mostly sitting in camps while California tries to recruit domestics.

Expect Romney to Continue Guard Quiz

LANSING (UPI) — Gov. Romney is expected to keep a firm hand on the Michigan National Guard situation by refusing to drop a dismissal hearing for two suspended National Guard generals.

It was learned today that Russell A. Searl, assistant attorney general assigned to the case, has recommended to the governor he go on as planned with the Feb. 15 administrative hearing of Maj. Gen. Ronald D. McDonald and Brig. Gen. Carson Neifert.

The request for dismissal and a companion plea for a prehearing was made last week by Thomas R. McAllister of Bad Axe, McDonald's attorney.

The motion for dismissal contained 20 reasons to support the demand, including the contention that Romney had prejudged the generals and that Maj. Gen. Cecil Simmons, chief of the Michigan military establishment, "does not come into the matter with clean hands."

McDonald and McAllister said the prehearing would "avoid some of the national publicity that would mar the Michigan National Guard if the Feb. 15 hearing takes place."

DOESN'T APPLY

Searl advised the governor that Simmons' position in the case doesn't apply and for a majority of charges the only way to clear the air was to hold the hearing.

The charges against McDonald, the state adjutant general, and Neifert, quartermaster general, were lodged after a year-long investigation by the auditor general's office that broke last Oct. 8.

The original list of 11 counts, on which Romney based his original dismissal of the generals, was cut to three — headed by the alleged illegal sale of state property at the Guard's summer camp at Grayling.

McDonald and Neifert were alleged to have been misspent and misfeasant while performing their duties.

REVERSES GROUND

Romney fired the two in October but reversed his course of action when Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley told him two weeks later he was constitutionally bound to provide McDonald and Neifert with either an administrative hearing or military court-martial.

Romney reinstated them but Simmons immediately suspended the officers.

McDonald said Searl's recommendation "doesn't mean the governor will react that way."

"I think there's still the chance for the prehearing. He (the governor) has been badly misled and misinformed."

Even if the governor denies both requests, McDonald said, "the protest is still registered that the governor has already been judge and jury and we have a new avenue and approach to appeal."

Jenkins Resigns AF Commission

Walter Jenkins, former White House aide and long-time friend of President Johnson, has resigned his commission as a colonel in the Air Force Reserve.

An Air Force spokesman said yesterday the resignation was dated Jan. 28 and was accepted by the Air Force Monday. Jenkins left his White House post last fall after disclosure that he had been arrested twice on morals charges.
