Homers Keep Dodgers in Fourth Game

Erskine Bumped Early; Mantle Plays Today as Leg Improves

NEW YORK—Homers by Gil Hodges and Roy Campanella kept the fighting Brooklyn Dodgers in the fourth game of the World Series today, as they blasted homers in the Ebbets Field contest.

Their long drives pulled the Brooks ahead 4-3, after the Yankees got into the scoring column early with a round tripper by Gill McDougald.

Starting Brooklyn pitcher Carl Erskine was bumped in the fourth as the Yankees got over their early "strike-outis" and began hitting his pitches readily.

Rain which threatened the third game yesterday, finally fell just as the game ended.

Thus far this has been a series dominated by left handers. Whitey Ford and Tom Byrne won the first two games for the Yanks, Young Johnny Podres won for the Dodgers yesterday.

Erskine, although a veteran of World Series play, is a gamble on the part of Manager Walter Alston for he has been troubled with a sore arm most of the past season.

Today's starting lineups:

NEW YORK	BROOKLYN
Noren, cf	Gilliam, 2b
McDougald, 3b	Reese, ss
Mantle, rf	Snider, cf
Berra, c	Campanella, c
Collins, 1b	Furillo, rf
Howard, lf	Hodges, 1b
Martin, 2b	Robinson, 3b
Rizzuto, ss	Amoros, lf
Larsen, p	Erskine, p. 11-8

Umpires: Dascoli (N) plate; Summers (A) first base; Ballanfant (N) second base; Honochick (A) third base; Donatelli (N) left field foul line; Flaherty (A) right field foul line.

First Inning

Second Inning

Yankees—Collins walked. Howard sacrificed Collins to second. Gilliam threw out Martin. Collins taking third. Ruzzuto singled, scoring Collins. Rizzuto stole second base. Larsen flied to Snider.

Dodgers—Campanella flied to center. Furillo struck out. Hodges singled for the Dodgers first hit. Robinson flied to Mantle.

Third Inning

Yankees—Noren flied to Amoros. Reese threw out McDougald. Mantle was called out on strikes for the second straight time.

Dodgers — Amoros walked. Erskine fouled to Rizzuto. Gilliam doubled to left on a hit-and-run play, scoring Amoros. Reese flied to Mantle. Martin threw out Snider.

Fourth Inning

Yankees—Berra singled to center and Collins walked. Erskine departed, Don Bessent taking over on the mound for Brooklyn. Howard forced Berra at third. Collins stole third. Martin singled to right, scoring Collins with Howard going to third. Rizzuto hit into a double play, started by Jackie Robinson.

Dodgers—Campanella blasted a home run. Furillo beat out an infield hit and Hodges slammed a home run to score behind Furillo and put Brooklyn ahead, 4-3. McDougald threw out Robinson and Larsen threw out Amoros. Bessent took a called third strike.

Cranbrook Planetarium Dedicated in Ceremonies

In an impressive ceremony and demonstration, Michigan's first public planetarium was dedicated last night at Cranbrook Institute of Science, Bloomfield Hills.

Although it will not open to the public until sometime in November, the Robert R. McMath Planetarium will give adults and school children an opportunity to "watch the stars" projected on its 30-foot domed ceiling, and to learn the wonders of the universe.

DR. ROBERT McMATH

Present at the dedication was Dr. Robert McMath, distinguished solar astronomer, for whom the planetarium was named. Director of the University of Michigan's McMath Hulbert Observatory at Lake Angelus, he is one of the four living charter members of Cranbrook's Institute of Science.

Noticeably moved at the honor accorded him, Dr. McMath said, "I am deeply honored—I am emotionally upset. God bless you, my dear friends—and thank you."

L. James Bulkley, chairman of the Institute's board of trustees, officiated at the ceremony, and Dr. Alexander G. Ruthven, president emeritus of the University of Michigan and a member of the Institute board of trustees, gave the dedication address.

"The human species cannot be confined in a limited territory—man's habitat is not only the world, but the universe," Dr. Ruthven said.

"I dedicate this planetarium to the increase of knowledge, to the enrichment of man's experience, to the culture of the human soul."

In the demonstration which followed, Armand Spitz, inventor of the planetarium and director of the Spitz Laboratories, Elkton, Md., showed his audience the sky as it appears at different times and in different parts of the globe.

It was built at a cost of $55,000 as an addition to the Institute of

Davisburg Man Killed by Train

Semi-Truck Is Struck Friday Afternoon at Clark Road Crossing

William M. Arnold, 21-year-old father of two, was killed instantly yesterday afternoon when a southbound Grand Trunk Western passenger train struck his semi-truck at a crossing two miles southeast of Davisburg.

The train, carrying Holly school students to a football game at Brighton, was damaged but no one was injured, according to Trooper Henry DeLoof, of the Pontiac State Police Post. DeLoof said some 58 youngsters on an excursion from Webster School also were on the train.

He was on his way to a nearby construction job at 4:50 p.m. to pick up an earth mover for return to the F. E. Thompson Co., in Pontiac.

Wreckage was scattered along the tracks for 190 feet. Front and drive wheels of the steam locomotive were damaged and a rail was bent. Engineer Ludwig Carlson, of Detroit, said he was unable to stop.

Rail traffic was held up for more than two hours until railway crewmen cleared wreckage and repaired the rail.

Services will be held in Cleveland.

Dictator Peron Kept Full Harem

BUENOS AIRES (INS)—Argentine police compiled with adding machine monotony today the sordid story of Juan D. Peron's lovenest liaisons with a throng of teenaged girls.

The police have established that the ousted dictator wants to take into exile with him his 15-year-old mistress, Nelly Rivas, a janitor's daughter on whom he showered jewels, a plush apartment and a new Cadillac.

The question of whether sloe-eyed Nelly was only one of many bobby-soxers intimately involved with strong-man Peron appeared to be answered by the girl herself who said, "No, I wasn't the only one."

Police said they had received information that Peron also had married Isabel del Solar Guille, the young and pretty daughter of the major domo at his executive mansion.

VIRTUAL HAREM

Isabel, who reportedly is pregnant, was said to have gone to Switzerland four months ago to have her baby.

Police, virtually buried by the mounting evidence of Peron's lust for wealth and women, said the ex-dictator kept a virtual harem unlike anything this side of the Persian Gulf in addition to 14 love nests in and around Buenos Aires.

Peron still awaited his exile permit aboard a Paraguayan gunboat near Buenos Aires. He reportedly was seeking exile in Switzerland where he was said to have banked millions of dollars during his decade of rule.

Spain also was reported ready to accept the ousted dictator, reportedly on the initiative of Generalissimo Francisco Franco.

A note written by Peron on the gunboat which fell into police hands revealed that he wanted Nelly to come into exile with him along with his six dogs and four motor scooters.

President Back at Helm; Signs Two Documents

Ike's Aide Sets Up Shop in Denver White House; Family, Staff Heartened

DENVER (AP) — President Eisenhower's physicians reported early today that he enjoyed "a good night's sleep" and was "relaxed and comfortable" after signing two federal documents which put him back in business at the helm of his administration.

As Eisenhower's top aide, Sherman Adams, set up shop at the Denver White House to lay the groundwork for the President's gradual return to greater personal activity, the doctors issued this 7 a.m. Denver time bulletin on his condition:

"The President had a good night's sleep. He slept continuously from 10 p.m. to 6:20 a.m.

"He feels relaxed and comfortable this morning.

"His temperature is normal. His pulse and blood pressure continue to be stable and satisfactory.

"The President's breakfast this morning consisted of apple sauce, oatmeal with skim milk, poached egg, a strip of beef bacon, a slice of whole wheat toast and a glass of skim milk."

Adams came in by plane last night to open his office on the second floor of the Lowry Air Force Base administration building, across the corridor from Eisenhower's executive office.

The first week passed since the President, who will be 65 on Oct. 14, suffered an early morning attack of coronary thrombosis last Saturday at the home of his mother-in-law, Mrs. John S. Doud.

While doctors will keep their fingers crossed for a second, potentially dangerous week, the absence of any complications cheered his family and staff.

The President took the first small but significant step toward return to active command last night. He approved two lists of State Department foreign service appointments in his room on the eighth floor of Fitzsimons Army Hospital.

The appointments themselves were routine enough, cleared by Secretary of State Dulles and checked by Adams, but the action assumed significance as the first business transacted by the Chief Executive since he was stricken.

Pleasant Weather for Area Weekend

Pleasant weather will continue throughout the weekend. According to the U.S. Weather Bureau, it will be partly cloudy and continued cool tonight and tomorrow.

The expected high for today is between 58 and 62, and the thermometer registered 58 by 11 a.m. The low tonight will drop to 42-46 degrees and the high tomorrow will be between 60 and 64.

Downtown today's low before 8 a.m. was 42 degrees. The thermometer registered 64 at 2 p.m.

Dying Fish Clutter Galloway Lake

FISH MYSTERY — Some of the thousands of dead and dying fish discovered at Galloway Lake are shown floating on the water. One property owner said it appeared the fish had been poisoned. Health officials have promised an investigation.

Dying Fish Fill Galloway Lake

Residents Complaining Starts Investigation by Health Officials

Property owners at Galloway Lake complained today that thousands of dead or dying fish were washing ashore and floating on the small lake, which lies partly in Pontiac and partly in Pontiac Township.

One owner, Glenn L. Knapp, of 136 Mt. Clemens, said he first noticed the fish Wednesday when he went fishing near his property at the lake. When he returned Thursday evening, he said, "the situation was even worse."

Knapp said the fish "seemed to be poisoned."

Don Hubbard, of 1497 Opdyke Rd., said his father, Olin L., saw dead fish on the lake last Sunday. He said smaller fish were affected first, then larger ones.

Alvis Alstat, of 2221 Cole Ct., reported he found a white heron dead. He said the bird had been feeding on the dead fish.

Dr. Charles A. Neafie, deputy Oakland County health director and Pontiac Health Dept. consultant, said he had heard nothing of the reports. He said he would begin an investigation.

Pontiac Motor Pays Utica's Water Costs

To cover expenses created when chromium solution accidentally released from its plant by outside workmen reached Utica's water supply through the Clinton River last month, Pontiac Motor Division yesterday paid $1,481 to the Macomb County city.

R. M. Critchfield, division general manager, said the payment was based on a desire to be helpful "and was not reached through any consideration of legal rights or obligations."

"We regret that the citizens of Utica were inconvenienced," he added.

At the division's request, the city had prepared bills for extra costs incurred during the four-day emergency, during which water was hauled in by tank trucks. Utica ordinarily draws its municipal water supply from the Clinton River.

'East of Eden' Star

Actor James Dean Killed in Crackup of Sports Car

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actor James Dean, the surly, brooding Caleb of the movie "East of Eden," was killed last night in the headon highway crash of his German sports car near Paso Robles, Calif.

JAMES DEAN

Ambulance driver Paul Moreno said the Indiana-born actor was still alive when taken from the wreckage but died en route to the War Memorial Hospital in Paso Robles. Dean suffered multiple fractures of both arms and internal injuries.

Warner Brothers had forbidden their young star to drive the car while working on a movie. He had finished "Giant," the movie version of Edna Ferber's novel only this week.

Dean went from the debating team at Fairmount (Ind.) high school to UCLA and then the New York stage. He appeared on television in Studio One, You Are There and Television Playhouse.

He hit the jackpot when Elia Kazan signed him for John Steinbeck's "East of Eden" after seeing him in the Broadway play, "The Immoralist." The latter role won him the David Blum award for the most promising stage newcomer.

Phone Strike Called for 6 A. M. Monday

DETROIT (AP)—Mediators called another bargaining session today in an effort to head off a strike of 16,500 Michigan Bell Telephone Co. employes.

* * *

The union has announced it will strike at 6 a.m. Monday unless agreement is reached on a new contract.

Neither side had any comment following a bargaining session last night that was recessed at 12:20 a.m. today.

* * *

The union is seeking a 35-hour work week, a general wage increase, the union shop, elimination of area wage differentials and other benefits.

Angry Walkout Follows Debate on North Africa

Paris Asserts Algeria Discussion Interferes in Internal Affairs

PARIS (AP)—Premier Edgar Faure and Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay have decided to recall the entire French delegation from the United Nations meeting in New York, the premier's office announced today.

The decision followed yesterday's United Nations Assembly vote to debate France's actions in rebel-torn Algeria.

The recall mentioned only the French delegation sitting in the Assembly. It did not cite France's representation in the Security Council nor French members of the U.N. Secretariat. It was not immediately clear whether the government's action was permanent or merely temporary.

The announcement said the decision to recall the French delegation to Paris was made in a telephone conversation between Premier Faure and Pinay, who is to leave New York tonight for home.

The French delegation walked out of the Assembly last night after the 60-nation group voted 28 to 27, with 5 abstentions, to upset a steering committee decision and put the issue of Algerian independence on the agenda. Asked then whether France would go so far as to quit the U. N. altogether, one high French delegate grimly replied: "We might."

There was no immediate hint whether today's action meant a permanent withdrawal, or was intended only to enforce French protests against the Assembly action.

Britain and the United States voted against the debate on the ground that Algeria is a part of France and hence the United Nations would be butting into France's internal affairs.

Pinay immediately told the Assembly he would consider any action taken by the chamber on Algeria null and void. Then he led his delegation out of the auditorium.

Meanwhile, at least a dozen French soldiers and nationalists were killed in Algeria yesterday in scattered clashes.

There was no immediate indication here whether the U. N. vote would help bring a temporary quiet to the rebel-infested areas of Algeria or whether the vote and France's action would spark new disorders.

Algeria is ruled as a part of Metropolitan France and the French government leaders have said they will maintain the present control over the area at all costs.

Champ Ready for All Comers in Press Contest

Chess and checkers champions of the Pontiac area have been invited to test their ability against a champion, at the Pontiac Press-sponsored Chess and Checkers Exhibition scheduled for Tuesday.

Newell W. Banks, holder of the world's speed record at mixed chess and checkers, will take on all comers simultaneously in the event, to be held at 7:30 p. m. in Stevens Hall, Pike street just east of Williams.

And just to make sure of a chance of defeat, Banks will play three of the checkers players blindfolded. There will be no admittance charge for this event.

Higgins Plans to Proceed With Turnpike Bond Issue

"We intend to try for a bond issue to finance the north-south toll road with or without cooperation of the State Highway Department."

Chairman of the Michigan Turnpike Authority George N. Higgins made the above statement yesterday in a speech before the Pontiac Exchange Club in Hotel Waldron.

He summed up progress toward realization of the 113-mile pay-highway from Rockwood to Saginaw.

The former Ferndale Senator said he has completed a foot-by-foot inspection of the route "and am ready to talk to communities affected and know what I'm talking about."

The route past Pontiac is now practically set with MTA agreement to make two changes suggested by city officials, he stated.

"We have agreed to move the line slightly westward to avoid disrupting a planned 388-home subdivision between Featherstone and Auburn roads."

A change in the location of the interchange slated for Pontiac's northeast corner also seems advantageous, Higgins explained.

Higgins criticized State Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler for "failure" to find time to help with the authority's work "although the commissioner is an authority member.

"Without Ziegler's aid I had no one to give engineering assistance in ironing out community and individual problems along the line."

The former Republican lawmaker said, "I could not depend on a man (Ziegler) in my own party for assistance.

"But I got a tip from an editorial in the Pontiac Press suggesting former governor and highway commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner be named consulting engineer for the toll road.

"This was done and Van Wagoner has already made one suggestion which will save us one to one-and-a-half million dollars."

Speaking of Ziegler's announced intention to build a freeway paralleling the proposed turnpike route which many say would make the pay road impractical, Higgins said, "In other states highway commissioners have cooperated 100 per cent and the toll roads have been built."

Higgins stressed that the toll road has been endorsed by the Oakland County Road Commission.

Turning to necessity of removing buildings for turnpike right-of-way, Higgins said, "Wherever a road is built, it will affect somebody. I'm satisfied our route, with a few minor changes, will cause the least disruption possible."

Higgins was asked if there was any chance of Ziegler changing his anti-turnpike stand. "If the State Supreme Court rules the turnpike act constitutional this month or next, as expected, Ziegler would have an out, and might reverse his stand."

Toll roads don't depreciate value of abutting property, he declared. "Contrary to some opinion, truckers favor turnpikes," Higgins added.

County Seeking Legal Opinion

Cut in Attorney's Pay, Three Year Contract Factors in Dispute

Oakland County is planning to hire a "disinterested" attorney to help settle an argument over how much its own attorney should be paid in 1956.

The Supervisors' Salaries Committee ruled that County Corporation Counsel Harry J. Merrit's pay should be cut from $11,000 this year to $10,010 next—a $990 reduction.

The counsel signed a three-year contract in 1953 which expires Dec. 31, 1956, said Committee Chairman Willis M. Brewer.

Merritt claims the contract does not bind him to the lesser amount.

Brewer said his committee plans to hire an impartial attorney next week to examine the contract in an effort to settle the matter.

U. S. Envoy Closeted With Egypt's Nasser

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—Special American Envoy George Allen talked nearly two hours with Premier Gamel Abdel Nasser today. He later denied possible withdrawal of U. S. economic aid to Egypt was discussed.

* * *

High Egyptian circles were angered at press reports the U.S. assistant secretary of state might threaten to cut off U. S. aid if Egypt goes through with a deal to swap rice and cotton for Communist arms from Czechoslovakia.

* * *

Allen told reporters his talk with Nasser was very pleasant. Asked if he offered arms or other inducement to Egypt, Allen said, "I can not say anything about that." He said he had no information about the reported American intention to cancel economic aid to Egypt.

Nasser met with British Ambassador Humphrey Trevelyan and French Ambassador Comte Armand du Chayla before seeing Allen. Then he received Soviet Ambassador Daniel Solod.

Civilians Tour Local Nike Base for First Time

The first civilians to set foot inside the Army's new guided missile base near Auburn Heights since it was manned three months ago toured the base yesterday.

Occasion for the visit was the 12th birthday of the 516th Anti-Aircraft Battalion, to which the unit is attached.

The visitors were the wives and children of 18 of the 108 officers and men who make up the unit's compliment.

Police Chase Ends as Driver Quits Car

A short but erratic police chase ended yesterday when the fugitive Amel Foucart, 30, of Birmingham, fell from his car into the street, leaving the auto to shift for itself until it rammed another in a driveway.

Officer Harold Hayden, who charged Foucart with driving under the influence of liquor, said it happened this way:

Foucart's car rammed the rear of another at Glendale street and Telegraph Road at about 9:30 p.m. Foucart fled the scene, heading south on Telegraph. He crossed the center island into the northbound lane, and fell from his car. The driverless auto continued on through a vacant lot and struck a parked car in a driveway at 893 Glendale.

Morocco Sultan Flees Into Exile

Chieftain Succumbs to Paris Pressure, Wills Dynasty to Cousin

RABAT, French Morocco (AP) — Sultan Mohammed Ben Moulay Arafa left his palace today and flew into exile at Tangier, naming a cousin to "look after affairs relative to the crown."

The Sultan quit after holding out for weeks against French pressure to remove him as a preliminary condition to bringing peace and a measure of self-government to this troubled North African protectorate.

* * *

Moulay Arafa made a two-hour flight from the capital airport to Tangier in a French military plane. Technically, Tangier is part of the Sultan's domain. Actually, it is under international administration, and neither the Sultan nor the French have any direct authority there. Reports from Tangier said the Sultan was expected to go directly to a villa there.

As expected, the Sultan did not abdicate. Instead, in a vaguely worked statement broadcast by Moroccan radio stations, he said he was leaving his capital for an unlimited period in the interest of peace and unity for the Moroccans.

* * *

He declared "we have delegated in a faultless manner, and in writing, our cousin Moulay Abdallah Ben Moulay Abdel Hafid to take up the affairs relative to the crown, conforming to the royal dynastic traditions and in respect for our Moslem religion." Hafid, about 50, is a son of the Sultan who originally signed a treaty with France setting up the Moroccan protectorate.

Beauchamp Picked as Panel Member

Robert Beauchamp, chairman of English department of Pontiac High School and faculty adviser for the Pontiac high school paper, the Tomahawk, has been named as one of the panel speakers who will appear at the High School Journalism conference in Petoskey on Oct. 22.

The conference is sponsored by the Michigan Interscholastic Press Association of the Department of Journalism at the University of Michigan.

John V. Field, U-M assistant professor of journalism and MIPA director, said that the conference will include discussions on many phases of journalism in high schools with the general theme "Improving School Publications."

Salk Tells Plan to Test More Powerful Vaccine

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Dr. Jonas E. Salk, discoverer of the polio vaccine, disclosed today plans for testing a more potent vaccine within the next few weeks.

The young University of Pittsburgh bacteriologist said the tests will be made in certain selected Pittsburgh schools on children enrolled in kindergarten or the first three grades.

A reproduction of America's Liberty Bell, presented to Israel, will hang in Jerusalem's Kiryah (government) garden until transferred to the Knesset (Parliament) building.

Maid's Room

Newsmen Given Quarters in Vice President's Home

WASHINGTON (INS)—The capital's newest and most sedate press room is operating smoothly in the home of Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Nixon turned his maid's room over to newsmen and photographers with the explanation that she would be absent temporarily.

"I think you'll be more comfortable there than outside," he told newsmen who have been keeping a 24-hour vigil on his activities since President Eisenhower suffered a heart attack Saturday.

PRESS INVITED IN

Last night, shortly after he arrived at his home in Washington's fashionable Spring Valley, he sent a Secret Servcie man outside to advise newsmen that the new press room was ready for occupancy.

* * *

The Secret Service operator led the way across the lawn and behind the house, shepherding three newsmen and five photographers with his flashlight.

The eight members of the Fourth Estate were soon joined by two playful kittens who enlivened what is undoubtedly a most unusual press room — no typewriters and no telephones.

The tastefully furnished basement room, about 22 by 12 feet in size, is pine-paneled and contains a studio couch, several soft chairs, a few dressers, and a wardrobe. On one side is a fireplace.

PHONE—LAMP

The green-tiled floor has a small rug in the center. On one end table is a gold-plated telephone fashioned into a lamp, the gift of Optimist International. When you lift the receiver the light goes on.

In one corner of the room is a 24-inch color television set, which Nixon said had been installed three months ago.

"I haven't had a chance to look at it," he remarked and added: "If you see a good program, call me." So far the newsmen have had to satisfy themselves with the normal black and white picture.

* * *

Under an end table reposed the maid's bedroom slippers, a reminder that she would be back and that the newsmen would eventually return to the sidewalks and their cars.

John W. Dearing, 75, Rural Press Carrier

John W. Dearing, 75, of 9 Exchange St. died yesterday morning at Pontiac General Hospital after several months illness.

* * *

Born in Thompsonville, Ill. March 7, 1880, he was the son of Sidney and Mary Dearing and married Minnie Morris in Illinois April 8, 1900.

Mr. Dearing had lived in Pontiac 26 years coming here from Illinois. He was a member of the First Church of the Nazarene and was employed by the Pontiac Press as a rural route carrier.

Surviving besides his wife are six children, Buster of North Branch, Jay of Snoyer, Dewey W., Mrs. Ward E. Partridge, Mrs. Bernard Adams, Mrs. Russell Rollinson, all of Pontiac, 16 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Other survivors, all living in Illinois, are brothers, Walter, Charles and Will Dearing; four sisters, Mrs. Bessie Clark, Mrs. Ora Heflin, Mrs. Ray Harvey and Mrs. Sarah Doty.

The funeral will be held at 2 p.m. Monday from the Sparks-Griffin Chapel. The Rev. Kenneth Hutchinson of the First Nazarene Church will officiate with burial in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery.

Carleton M. Kendall

Carleton M. Kendall, 53 died suddenly at his home 252 E. Rundell St. early this morning from a heart complication.

He was born in Farmer City, Ill. March 23, 1902, the son of Joseph M. and Arbanie Hall Kendall.

On Nov. 8, 1918 in Fort Dodge, Iowa, he married Laura Shaw. Coming here from Iowa in 1927, Mr Kendall was a member of the Methodist Church and had worked as a welder at Fisher Body Division.

Besides his wife, he is survived by his mother, and daughter, Mrs. Zelda Parmelee of Drayton Plains and one grandchild.

Also surviving are a brother, Marion of Homboldt, Iowa; four sisters, Mrs. Fern De Smidth of Missouri, Mrs. Madge Peterson, Mrs. Blanch Peterson and Mrs. Ruth Whennel, all of Iowa.

Service will be held at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Huntoon Funeral Home with the Rev. Walter Teeuwissen Jr. of the United Presbyterian Church of Drayton Plains officiating. Burial will follow in East Lawn Cemetery at Lake Orion.

Fire Devastates Japanese City

Typhoon Louise Spreads Flames Through Nigata; 100 Acres Razed

TOKYO — Dying typhoon Louise struck Japan a final staggering blow today with a wind-whipped fire that burned the heart out of Nigata City, 270 miles north of Tokyo.

* * *

A small fire that began with a short circuit at 3:10 a.m. was turned into a raging inferno within minutes as 45 m.p.h. winds from Louise's outriding gusts drove the flames through downtown buildings and houses.

It was Japan's worst fire since the World War II air raids.

Before it was brought under control seven hours later, the fire had devoured 1,200 buildings and devastated an area totaling almost 100 acres.

Fire-wise Japanese fled quickly and although scores of injuries were reported, only one person was listed as seriously hurt in sketchy reports from the stricken.

Police said nearly 5,000 were homeless. They were getting help from the government and also some from the U.S. Air Force's nearby Niagata Air Base.

The typhoon, dropping to storm force, raced over Hokkaido, Japan's northern island, at 45 m.p.h. with winds falling to about 75 m.p.h.

But even as Louise faded out, a new typhoon—Marge—was expanding southwest of Iwo Jima with winds already mounting to 115 m.p.h.

Ohio Eyes 2nd Road as Turnpike Opens

CLEVELAND — Gov. Frank J. Lausche opened Ohio's first turnpike last midnight, and within 8 hours after the ceremony nearly 9,000 vehicles had tested the 241-mile super highway.

The governor, in opening the entire length of the 326-million-dollar toll road, which took three years to fling across the state, called for quick construction of a second pay turnpike—from Cincinnati to Conneaut.

Cars started lining up at Westgate Terminal at 4:30 p.m. When the ceremonies began the line extended past the Indiana border one-half mile west.

There were cars and trucks waiting at the traffic interchanges along the route between Pennsylvania and Indiana in northern Ohio.

Pep Rally Turns Into Panty Raid on Eve of Game

ANN ARBOR (AP)—More than 1,000 University of Michigan students, whooping it up on the eve of the Michigan-Michigan State football game, broke from a campus pep rally last night and overran three girls' dormitories in a panty raid.

* * *

The yelping raiders spread havoc along a campus area business district en route to their goal on Dormitory Hill. Theater marquees were torn down and cars pushed up on sidewalks.

Walter B. Rea, dean of men, said the raiders spent most of their steam in making the quarter mile march from Ferry Hill to the girls building, but were whipped into a new frenzy by the girls who tossed panties and bras from the dormitory windows down to the howling gang.

Some 150 broke into Mosher-Jordan Hall and began ransacking bureau drawers and clothes closets for the girls' underclothing. Others forced their way into Stockwell and Alice Lloyd Halls. In one dorm raiders took the elevator up to the girls' rooms.

A detachment of 10 Ann Arbor police stood by outside the buildings while the raiders broke into showers and bedrooms sending the girls screaming through dormitory halls. No arrests were made.

First Methodist to Hold Banquet

Dr. C. A. McPheeters to Speak at 65th Annual Harvest Homecoming

Dr. Chester A. McPheeters, minister of the Metropolitan Methodist Church, Detroit, will be the speaker at the 65th annual Harvest Homecoming Banquet in the First Methodist Church Friday.

A graduate of A. B. Asbury College, Wilmore, Ky. and S. T. B. Boston University School of Theology, Dr. McPheeters also has an honorary degree, Doctor of Divinity from Union College, Barbourville, Ky. He was ordained to the ministry in 1921.

In 1950, he was an alternate member of the Central Governing Body of the National Council of Churches.

As a member of a Seminar Tour in 1949, he traveled during the summer to England, Scotland, Holland, Belgium, Germany, France and Switzerland.

Dr. McPheeters is a member of Theta Phi, an honorary Ministerial Fraternity, and was a member of the Inter-Faith Mission Team commissioned by the United States Navy to hold Spiritual Retreats for Chaplains in the Hawaiian Area.

He has contributed many articles to: Upper Room, Christian Advocate, Christian Century and The Pastor.

Dr. McPheeters has just returned from spending the summer in Europe and the Holy Land.

Jeannette Church is general chairman of the affair with the Woman's Society of Christian Service in charge of the banquet.

Philip Hart Speaker for Local Banquet

Lt.-Gov. Philip A. Hart will be guest speaker at the fifth annual UAW-CIO banquet commemorating initiation of the pension plan for General Motors workers.

The affair will begin with a family-style turkey dinner at 5 p.m. Monday at the CAI Building, in Waterford Township. More than 600 persons are expected.

Guests of honor will be retired members and their wives from the three city GM locals—Pontiac Motor Local 653, GMC Truck & Coach Local 594 and Fisher Body Local 596.

Ernest Moran, assistant director of the UAW's GM department, will also speak. In charge of the affair are Nap Raymond, Homer Moran and William H. Hall.

Increase in School Tax Due to New Valuations

BIRMINGHAM — "Although this is a hard thing to explain, I hope people will understand when they receive their higher school taxes this year, that this is due to new property valuations determined by the state and something over which we have no control," said Supt. of Schools Dwight B. Ireland recently.

"Equalization coefficients were changed last year, rasing the tax valuations for cities and lowering them for townships, in most cases," explained Ireland.

Despite the increased tax levy, Ireland said the millage rate has been lowered here. The operating levy has been reduced to 11.36, with the debt levy dropped from 11 to 8.5 mills. This puts total millage at 19.86 for 1955-56.

"I have tried to hold the line on the debt levy," Ireland said. "We would have levied 11 mills on the county valuation of about $142,000,000, but by using the state equalized valuation figure of some 148,000,000 as the equalizing factor, we dropped the millage to 8.5."

City Manager Donald C. Egbert said yesterday that necessary legal steps are being processed to finally accomplish a five-year-old project, that of extending Oak street to U.S. 10, eliminating the traffic safety hazard at Woodward and U.S. 10.

At a meeting held Thursday, Egbert said all representatives involved, were in agreement. The move means an exchange of property with Socony-Vacuum Oil Co., which this fall plans to construct a service station on property between Woodward and U.S. 10, north of the extension, said Egbert.

Clyde P. Craine, University of Detroit English professor, will be the guest speaker when Holy Name Church Altar Society begins its season with a 1 p.m. meeting Monday at the Community House. The Merry Christmas Market will be discussed, as will plans for an all-parish affair.

Religious instruction for all high school students, regardless of whether they attend a catholic school, will also begin Monday at 7 p.m. at the church.

Regular class sessions will start the following week on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights, with Father Edmund Schwager, assistant at Holy Name, instructing.

Demands Examination on Charge of Robbery

An 18-year-old Detroit youth will be examined Oct. 14 in Royal Oak Municipal Court on an armed robbery charge.

The suspect, Rolland T. Thomas, demanded examination when he was arraigned yesterday before Judge Fletcher Renton. Thomas was being held in Oakland County Jail under $2,000 bond.

He is accused of holding up a Royal Oak filling station late last month. He was arrested yesterday.

Real Soldier of Fortune Finds Home in the Army

A check-up was ordered when the soldier deposited $8,000 in a service savings plan.

That was eight years ago. Today, the 36-year-old sergeant figures he is worth $25,000. And the Army has discovered one of its prime examples of how to stay in the service and make it pay.

In 1941, when the Bradfordsville, Ky., farm boy joined the Army, he had only 37 cents in his pocket.

He began by saving $5 out of every pay check, upped this as he rose to sergeant, and put aside mustering-out and re-enlistment bonuses plus whatever he could earn on off hours.

BONUS YEAR

One of his biggest windfalls was a bonus this year when he was mustered out and re-enlisted for the fifth time.

It was a check for $1,000—the fattest he will get under a new law passed by Congress. It gave Smothers a month's pay for each year of re-enlistment but is scaled downward on subsequent re-enlistments.

The $8,000 deposit to the Soldier's Deposit—an Army savings plan that pays 4 per cent interest—was made after Smothers left Aberdeen, Md., on leave to rejoin the Army at Camp Atterbury, Ind.

The lean, 6 foot 1 soldier, who is never without his pipe but doesn't drink, says the only thing the Army could find out was "I don't owe anybody a nickel."

Most of his money is invested in two automobiles, his own dog kennel business which nets a few hundred dollars a year and a six-room house where he lives with his wife, Frances, a school teacher.

He gives 10 per cent of everything he makes to his Methodist Church and charitable organizations and believes his own faith in God and his many friends have been a great help to him.

At this Armored Center, Smothers is the savings and recruiting non-commissioned officer for his Army equipment testing unit and gives frequent pep talks to hundreds of soldiers.

* * *

"The saving soldier is a good soldier.

"I have never been to see a company commander. If I can't fight it out with the first sergeant, I forget it."

Navy Overrules Commission Ban

Secretary Orders Landy Receive Ensign Rating in Merchant Marine

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Navy Thomas says it is "common sense" that Eugene Landy not be denied a Navy commission purely because his mother was once a Communist.

* * *

Thomas yesterday ordered that Landy be commissioned an ensign in the U. S. Naval Reserve, thus overruling a special review board set up to consider the case of the 21-year-old honor graduate of the Merchant Marine Academy.

Landy stood second in his graduating class at the Kings Point, N. Y., Academy last August, when the Navy denied him the commission normally granted academy graduates.

MOM WAS RED

Landy's mother, Mrs. Deborah Landy of Bradley Beach, N. J., said she had been a Communist for 10 years but left the party in 1947 at her son's urging. Landy's personal loyalty to the United States was not questioned.

Landy, now a law student at Yale, said at New Haven, Conn., that he was "very happy" with Thomas' decision. "Now I can start on a normal life again," he said.

* * *

Mrs. Landy said she too was "very, very happy . . . this suspense was getting us down a little."

Thomas issued his ruling after a personal talk with Landy in New York on Thursday and after checking with Secretary of Defense Wilson, the Army and Air Force secretaries and Vice President Nixon.

Rattler Bites Teacher From 'Loaded End'

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP)—Cecil McGirr, 45-year-old high school biology teacher, suffered two bites on the left index finger yesterday while teaching his class how to handle a rattlesnake.

"I don't know about my students, but I learned a good lesson," the teacher said. "When you are handling a poisonous reptile, always keep your attention on the loaded end."

Pre-Draft Training Plan Begins at 6 Army Bases

During this weekend the Army is welcoming the first recruits for its pre-draft age military training program.

It will be interesting to note how many youths ultimately volunteer for it. Under present plans it will be carried out at six Army bases—Fort Knox, Ky.; Camp Chaffee, Ark.; Fort Ord, Calif.; Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.; Fort Jackson, S. C. and Fort Bliss, Tex. Up to last week the response, with only 676 volunteers, was very disappointing to the Army.

The program itself disappointed Army leaders. It is a part of the military reserve legislation enacted last Summer by Congress. The lawmakers refused to put it on a compulsory basis and compromised with foes of conscription and UMT by making it voluntary.

Under this section of the Reserve Forces Act youths of 17 to 18½ may enlist for six months' active duty to be followed by 7½ years in the ready reserve. Young men who receive pre-draft age training and faithfully discharge their subsequent military obligations—48 weekly drills a year, 17 days of field training—are exempt from the draft.

Military authorities believe that as youths of pre-draft age learn more about this program, the number of volunteers will increase. This result also is expected when draft calls rise in November, as they are scheduled to do.

The same can be said when and if draft boards begin taking from the bottom instead of from the top age group, as proposed in a new policy now under consideration at Washington. If this does not happen, drafting for this much needed reserve program again will be recommended to Congress.

Cost of Cars in Work

In a recent issue the London Economist reported that it took a British industrial worker 36 weeks of work to buy a British Ford. This is appreciably less than the 49 weeks the German worker has to labor to earn his Volkswagen.

★ ★ ★

Our own National Industrial Conference Board also has been doing some figuring along this line. The result is proof that the average American worker can buy a standard four-door sedan, without extras, on a much more favorable basis than his overseas counterpart—for 28 weeks work.

When the British work week of 46 hours and the German work week of 48 hours are adjusted to the American 40-hour week, the price of the British Ford rises to 42 weeks and the Volkswagen to 61.

★ ★ ★

The Americans' advantage is further increased by the superiority of our three low priced lines in size, power and comfort. In addition, whatever advantages stems from small cars' lower gasoline consumption is more than offset by the higher fuel cost in Britain and on the Continent.

Argentina's New Chief Hedging on La Prensa

This announcement that there is no intention of undoing the wrong done when that once great newspaper was confiscated by Peron, is more than disappointing and disturbing. It is almost unbelievable in view of the fact that La Prensa had become the symbol of Peron's rape of press freedom.

★ ★ ★

Certainly it is no overstatement to say that it would have been difficult for the new regime to have made a worse mistake than failure to restore La Prensa to its rightful owner, Dr. Gainza Paz. However, final judgment should be delayed because of the possibility that the new regime hasn't gotten round to dealing with this all important matter.

Famed for its political independence and liberalism and undoubtedly the most valuable newspaper property in Argentina, La Prensa was confiscated by Peron on March 20, 1951. Later the dictator turned the property over to the General Confederation of Labor (CGT), the source of his strongest political support. Since then it has been published by CGT as a labor paper.

It is to be hoped that the disturbing news from Buenos Aires is the result of President Lonardi's preoccupation with other matters. Also to be hoped is that his advisers will make him understand that the world will judge his regime on how the case of La Prensa is settled.

The People's Business

Williams Hurt?

Ike's Illness May Dampen Governor's '56 Hopes

By JACK I. GREEN

LANSING—Many of Gov. Williams' friends think that President Eisenhower's illness is wrecking the governor's hopes for the presidency.

This belief is based on the assumption, well circulated among Washington commentators, that the President's heart attack has raised the stock of Adlai Stevenson and also Adlai's desire to get into the battle.

No one is so foolish as to think right now that Stevenson has the nomination in a walk-away, although, of course, it could turn out that way. The professionals think Stevenson is going to have to work hard to be the party's standard bearer for the second time.

But Democratic gossip around the Capitol among men who would be in the fighting for Williams if he gave the signal seems to center around the suspicion that Williams has fallen behind.

* * *

At the best, probably, Williams' ambition was bottlenecked behind the greater national stature of Gov. Averill Harriman of New York or U. S. Sen. Estes Kefauver, to mention only the front runners.

100-to-1 SHOT

At the worst, Williams' chances were a 100-to-1 shot, based largely on the hope that the strong labor segments of the Northern industrial states and the sensitive minority groups would spearhead his attack.

* * *

In a stormy convention, these groups might have pulled him through if the remainder of the country was not too opposed to the Michigan governor.

The governor has been assiduously working this year to present a good front throughout the nation and thus keep himself in position for a convention blitzkrieg.

But two pieces of national publicity have put Williams in a peculiar position among the Democratic presidential aspirants and probably hurt him some even before the President's illness revived Democratic hopes of a 1956 victory.

* * *

The first bad break the governor got was his ill-considered comment at Chicago in August that Eisenhower was too old to run again.

Leaving the truth or falsity of the statement aside, the governor's headline comments at least gave his opponents the chance to say again that he is a brash young man without the restraint necessary for the presidency.

RACIAL PROBLEM

The second incident put the governor in the middle of a touchy Alabama racial row.

The governor accepted an invitation to be the main speaker at a Democratic Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner from which, it later appeared, Negroes were barred.

The governor tried to get the dinner moved to a town where there would be no segregation and, when that failed, he had to back out of the engagement.

Now the political effect of this is hard to assess. The governor can probably take comfort out of reading the Negro population figures of key Northern states and figure that he made a lot of friends who might be on his side come nomination time.

* * *

At the same time, he probably revived Southern memories of his part in the 1952 convention's "loyalty" fight at a time when the racial issue is particularly hot in the South.

HARD TO SWALLOW

Thus, politicians assume that he has won few friends among the Southern Democratic leaders who, no matter what their personal feelings may be toward Williams, may find it hard to swallow him as a national candidate next year. And these men must hold more convention power than the Northern Negroes.

So it would seem that Williams' flaming liberalism and bluntness may have hurt him nationally and that this hurt has been aggrevated by a sudden revival of Stevenson's position.

Christian Brotherhood Demonstrated by World-Wide Communion Sunday

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

Sunday, October 2, under the sponsorship of national councils of Protestant churches in nearly every country where such a council exists, is the 16th annual observance of World Wide Communion Sunday.

Starting as the day begins in New Zealand, which is near the international dateline, Protestants in every time zone will gather in their churches as the day proceeds around the earth, receiving the sacrament of Holy Communion, each according to the forms of his own denomination. The first purpose of the day is to assert to the participants and to the world the unity of all Christians.

In presenting this universal front the Protestants are realistic about a profound point that is often missed. They do not talk about the need to create the brotherhood of man—they declare that it already exists, the inescapable corollary of the Fatherhood of God.

LITTLE FLOWER

Even when it comes to saints mankind is likely to be impressed by the spectacular—the visionaries, the martyrs, the dragon-slayers. But St. Therese of the child Jesus, the world's beloved "Little Flower," was exactly the opposite kind of saint. Her sainthood was in the holiness she brought into the little obscure things of everyday life.

Most people live little lives, and therefore the "Little Way" of St. Therese makes its appeal to the millions of average folks who form the majority of the human race. Therese, a French girl who died at the age of 24, only 58 years ago Monday, wanted only obscurity.

LITTLE THINGS IMPORTANT

Her central idea was that one should use the small events and situations of routine daily life as the material out of which holiness is developed. Everyone has his chance to do this—in childlike trust and in obsecurity. Therese once said "To pick up a pin for love can convert a soul."

Another famous Christian, Brother Lawrence, had found the same secret some centuries before, when he learned that in his simple monastic cell he could "pick up pieces of string to the glory of God."

The Lord Himself made it the heart of the matter—"He who is least among you is the one who is great." (Luke, chapter 9, verse 48). But it takes a Brother Lawrence or a St. Therese to see clearly what this means and to translate it into living terms for the countless anonymous Christians who tend to think small things are necessarily insignificant things, and that their little lives therefore could not matter much.

END OF SUKKOTH

The Sukkoth festival, last of the three great autumn observances, is now drawing to a close. Saturday, the eighth day of the feast, is called Shemini Atzereth. Prayers for the dead will be said at the morning synagogue service, and prayers for rain.

The prayer for rain is of special interest. This is the dry season in Palestine and this prayer has always been a part of their harvest festival, in which Jews of old not only thanked God for the crops of the past season but also asked for weather that would be favorable for the next.

Now, with many Jews again in Israel the ancient prayer has a renewed significance.

Legend tells that back in Temple times in Jerusalem this was the day on which the weather for the coming year could be predicted by watching the smoke from the evening sacrifice. If the smoke blew to the north, the poor people were happy and the rich were disappointed, for the rain would be plentiful, crops would be good and food cheap. The wealthy people, who were mostly of the merchant class, would find their profits small.

If the smoke moved southward, the rich could expect a dry year that would send prices up. The poor would suffer. It would be a sellers' market.

If the smoke blew east, everyone was pleased, for this was the best of all possible omens.

But if it blew west, that meant a year of famine and all were sad.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Girl Whose Father Died Insane Fears Offspring Will Inherit His Mental Illness

Theresa was scared almost to death. In fact, she was wasting away toward death. But she refused to give her doctors the secret of her trouble. So they could only combat symptoms. Cooperate with your doctors and give them the full facts. The sooner you face the facts, the sooner you can get well.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

"We were engaged to be married," her fiance told me. "Then out of a clear sky, Theresa suddenly told me to go away and forget her.

* * *

"I thought maybe she was in love with somebody else, but she denied that, saying she loved me more than anybody in this world.

"So I tried to get her to tell me why she insisted we break our engagement, but all she'd say was 'just because'.

"Well, she went on into a nervous breakdown. She spent months in a sanitarium. They gave her shock treatments.

"But that didn't seem to do much good. And for the past year they have been giving her shots to combat anemia. As you can see, Dr. Crane, she weighs only 85 lbs. though she weighed 118 when we were first engaged.

"I want to marry her, but she still insists I go away. So will you try to find out what is wrong with Theresa? I think it is in her mind."

THERESA'S SECRET

Her fiance was correct. I sat down privately with Theresa and told her she might as well confess frankly what caused her to tell him to go away.

* * *

"It was because my father died when I was a little girl," she added, but this was obviously an "excuse" instead of a "reason", as I explained to her, for many girls lose their fathers, yet don't break their engagements afterwards.

So I talked some more and gradually I elicited the additional fact that Theresa's father had died in a mental institution.

Theresa had visted him and the barred windows of the institution had shocked her impressionable childish mind.

Furthermore, Theresa believed 100 per cent in the doctrine that insanity is inherited.

Theresa, was a devout Roman Catholic and figured if she married, she'd probably have a large family of children.

ADMITS DILEMMA

After three years of strain, shock treatment, liver and iron therapy, all of which were good but only palliative, she finally admitted the secret core of her dilemma.

"If I married Paul," she sobbed, "I knew I'd have a big family and some of our children would inherit my father's insanity.

"Dr. Crane, I couldn't stand that. But I loved Paul with all my heart. So I just told him to go away and leave me. In that man-her, I could still go on loving him, without suffering any of those dire consequences.

FACE THE FACTS

"Let's face the facts," I gently advised Theresa. "We psychiatrists are very dubious about the inheritance of any type of insanity.

"And mental breakdowns due to germs, such as syphilis, or to poisoning due to lead or alcohol, are obviously not inheritable."

Then I checked into the background of her father. I learned that he had contracted syphilis in his youth and had died of paresis or syphilitic insanity.

Theresa's mother didn't have that disease, and it can not be inherited, so I relieved Theresa's mind entirely by these scientific facts.

She still weighed only 85 lbs. when she left my office, but her eyes glowed with love and relief from a 3-year anxiety, and she soon was back to 115 lbs. and happily married.

Send for my booklet, "How to Prevent Nervous Breakdowns," enclosing a stamped, return envelope, plus a dime. It gives you further facts. Face them!

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Dr. Crane's Psychology Fails to Help 'Concerned'

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature

Through six and a half years of wedded bliss I have followed Dr. Crane's psychology. However, unlike Milton in his case history, he is still the same "bearcat" with his night crew at the plant. He still enjoys drinking beer, and he is the same pinch penny at 31 as he was at 23.

How did Martha ever do it? She got a whole new outfit plus $350 per month for expenses. And to think she was 42 while I am slender and only 29. Milton surely must have been a mess when Dr. Crane came to Martha's rescue with his divorce in the bedroom theme: "Be sure to feign ardor."

Seriously, after a long day of caring for five little angels plus the household chores, I look forward to the Press as a sort of reward. However, I find Dr. Crane's column so nauseous that I can't help but express a hope that it will soon be removed.

Such truck doesn't look good in a good newspaper like the Press, nor should our young teenagers be exposed to it. How about an extra editorial; press interviews which most of us enjoy, or articles by Bishop Sheen to replace it?

'Even Know-It-Alls Fail to Find Many Answers'

Peoples, constitutions, wars and nationalities have in the past resolved to peace for a time. How far, now, has democracy advanced toward security for the Four Freedoms?

Read the Constitution of the United States carefully. Then you will discover that you are not in a valley of answers, but rather in a whirlwind of questions.

If it were not so, and if citizens were educated to have all the answers, there would be no need for freedom of press, church, assembly, or to fear for individual God-given rights of people of all colors and creeds.

There are those in high places who strut as if they knew all answers, as well as those in low places who also think they know it all. Read the Book of Job, chapter 38, and then give me the answers to what I term a world constitution of questions.

The masters of Russia cannot answer them, so they educate their young ones to believe there is no God. However, strut as they may upon the world's stage, they also will pass away. Then and then only will the young realize the selfishness of communism.

William Reid

'Protecting Liberty Takes More Than Just Thanks'

We go around praising heaven that America is still free from the rule of a dictator, that it is not cursed by the power of liberty-destroying isms.

But it takes something more than being thankful to preserve the freedom of a people. And if ever our economic light flashed its danger signal, it is doing it now.

Abraham Lincoln said that this country could not endure half slave and half free. Neither can it continue to exist half rags and half riches. Our national problems must be solved and you cannot solve them by imagining that everything is all right and feeling good about it.

Learn the truth and think. That is the only way the people of the United States of America can save their country.

"Nothing can ruin a country if the people themselves will undertake its safety. Nothing can save it if they leave their safety in any hands but their own . . ." Daniel Webster.

Reader Says She Feels More Alive, Thanks to Pamphlet on the Iodin Ration

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS
By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

About a year ago, when I asked for the iodin ration pamphlet, I was as tired when I arose in the morning as when I retired at night. But now—the iodin ration really did the trick, I'll always be grateful . . . (S. G.)

Answer—Entre nous? But not grateful enough to speak out if or when I get into hot water for trying to tell you grateful ones the truth. For the pamphlet The Iodin Ration send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope and no clipping.

I have learned a good deal from your fine column in the three years I have been reading it—and not only about health. Especially grateful that you taught me painlessly how to avoid some common grammatical errors . . . My husband has a lot of trouble with his elbows and knees aching . . . (Mrs. P. D. A.)

Answer — Thank you, M'am. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask in writing for the pamphlet Calcium and Rheumatiz.

For six weeks I have taken CA and D as you suggest in your pamplet. Now have no sign of rheumatiz since the first two weeks and it has helped me so much in another way — no more hot flashes and the accompaning nervousness almost gone . . . (Mrs. A. L. O.)

Answer—Thank you. For pamphlet Calcium and Rheumatiz, send stamped self-addressed envelope. If you want also the pamphlet on The Menopause, ask for it in writing and enclose ten cents with the stamped, self-addressed envelope. A clipping will not suffice.

My husband has received much benefit from following your advice to supplement his diet with Ca and D. He used to suffer intensely with cramps in his legs, but now seldom has more than a twinge . . . (Mrs. E. B.)

Answer — Anyone subject to painful cramps in legs or feet, generally nocturnal, should ask in writing for the pamphlet on Adult Tetany, and inclose stamped, self-addressed envelope Tetany is not tetanus (lockjaw) and one who ventures to use the word adult should be careful to accent the ult, not the ad.

As soon as we knew there was a lil stranger in the offing, my husband, who says your health teachare great, sent 50 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope for Preparing for Maternity and the Brady Baby Book. Now we're beginning to know what's what. Says Jack "Dr. Brady's Little Lessons at 25 cents each give more practical advice than an armful of ordinary doctor books," and now I think so too. (Mrs. C. R. W.)

Answer—You're lucky to have a man as husband. Too many husbands play the boobie role, shift preparation for and care of the baby to the wife's shoulders.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 150 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to the Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Mich.

Liquor Rationing Ends in Sweden – After 36 Years

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—After 36 long and frustrating years, beer and liquor rationing ended today in Sweden.

But observers in a position to know say it will be just another Saturday night. Thirsts for any big celebration were quenched some months ago, they claim, by the government's gradual easing of rationing.

And if it's just a run-of-the-mill Saturday night, a great many Swedes will be hoisting one or two or more as usual. That's why rationing was called off. It didn't help.

Last year 43,600,000 quarts of liquor were consumed in this country of slightly more than seven million population. Alcohol consumption per capita has dropped 50 per cent, however, in the last

* * *

The only public places where liquor can be sold by the drink are restaurants. There still will be no bars or saloons with the end of rationing.

HASTINGS (AP) — Officials of the coming celebration Oct. 14 and 15 have named Mrs. Ida Palmatier, 99, as Centennial Queen. Mrs. Palmatier will be 100 Dec. 2. The October celebration marks the centennial of Hastings' incorporation as a village.

FIRE! FIRE!

Fire can be avoided. Look in the attic! Boxes with Christmas paper is a BIG RED DANGER SIGNAL. A grease spot, can of naphtha, on the service porch, a pilot light is a sure way to visit a hospital. Matches, curious child is an irresistible combination — a fire is certain. An auto, dry grass or timber; throw a burning cigarette out the window; it never fails. You're going to redecorate the inside trim of your walls; wipe off excess stain or paint with rags, wad them up stuff them in a box; firemen will pay you a visit. Milk cartons are impregnated with parafin; throw one away behind a shed, in the sun. It'll cause the nicest fire you ever saw.

If She Can Break Spell
$100,000 for the Taking

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A University of Southern California freshman coed will get $100,000 from the National Broadcasting Co. next Friday IF she can break out of a hypnosis induced by Arthur Allen.

Pat Morris, 19-year-old daughter of an aircraft executive, will be under escort until next Friday, when she will appear on Jack Bailey's "Truth or Consequences" show as a subject for hypnotist Allen.

* * *

He will suggest to her subconscious mind that she cannot rise from a chair. There will be $100,000 in cash before her. All she has to do is get up and take the money.

Said Bailey: "If she gets it you can write me at Santa Fe, N. M., care of General Delivery."

The program is NBC's answer to Columbia Broadcasting System's "The $64,000 Question."

For the next week Miss Morris will be required to live at the Statler Hotel in downtown Los Angeles. Her constant companion will be Miss Betty Goody, president of the Hollywood Women's Press Club. Miss Morris will not receive any telephone calls or talk with anyone until she goes to the studio in Hollywood next Friday.

On the TV program, $100,000 in large denomination bills will be placed on a table before her. She will be instructed by the hypnotist NOT to pick up the money as she is placed in a sleep.

On a trial run of the program last night Miss Morris was given a demonstration of Allen's powers of hypnosis. She was informed of the nature of the test and the prize to be won if she can overthrow the hypnosis.

U. S. Gives Up Effort to Deport Bridges

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The U.S. government, which failed to prove that Harry Bridges was ever a Communist, has given up its 10-year effort to deport the labor leader.

Lynn Gillard, Asst. U.S. Attorney, said yesterday that the Justice Department had told him not to appeal a federal court decision that favored Bridges.

The government had charged Bridges, an Australian, obtained citizenship fraudulently when he swore in 1945 that he was not and had never been a Communist party member.

Bridges, 54, is president of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union.

Westinghouse Union Rejects 5-Year Pact

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The CIO International Union of Electrical Workers, representing some 44,000 employes of Westinghouse Electric Corp., has turned down a proposed 5-year wage contract which the company says provides pay hikes totaling 16 per cent.

* * *

James B. Carey, CIO-IUE president, said his union will press its demand for a 15-cent across the board hourly pay hike, and contract provisions defining the company's right to make time studies.

* * *

The CIO-IUE will be free to strike Oct. 15 if agreement has not been reached on both issues. The current negotiations are being held under a reopening clause of the present 2-year contract.

Home Demonstration Groups Meet at Dublin Center

Officers' School for Pontiac Area Held at Annual Session

The annual Pontiac District Officers' Training School and Rally Day Program for members of Home Demonstration groups cooperating with Home Economics Extension Department of Michigan State University was held Thursday.

* * *

Approximately 130 members of Home Extension groups from Clarkston, Drayton Plains, Waterford and Pontiac attended the all day affair held at the Dublin Community Center Thursday.

The day's schedule included an officers' training school during the morning conducted by Mrs. Frieda Bennett and Mrs. Mary Hixon, Oakland County Home Demonstration agents.

Following a cooperative luncheon, Mr. James Hunt, director of Children's Service for Oakland County spoke on juvenile delinquency, concentrating on the situation in this particular area. He stated that juvenile delinquents are very much in the minority here and stressed the importance of religion in the home.

GIVES REPORT

Mrs. Walter Brown, past chairman of the Oakland County Home Demonstration Council, gave a report on the annual National Home Demonstration Council meeting held recently in Chicago.

* * *

The afternoon was devoted to a display of crafts taught through the Home Extension service. Among the crafts exhibited by individual members were needlework, hand-painted trays, enameling on copper, refinished furniture and flower arrangements.

Mrs. Arthur O'Hara and Mrs. Daniel Peterson, Pontiac District chairmen of Oakland County Home Demonstration Council, were in charge of the program.

Assisting committees were Mrs. A. A. Solomon of the Drayton Plains group, registration; Mrs. Glenn Arthur of the Chetolah Shore group, music; Mrs. Stig Danielson of the Modern Homemakers, craft displays; and Mrs. Harold Grogg, West side group, recreation and prizes.

Mrs. Joseph Todd of the West Farmington group was in charge of table settings. Mrs. Pearl Strebe of the Promising Few group handled refreshments, and Mrs. Roger Richmond and Mrs. Cecil Abbott of the Dublin Group arranged for hostesses for the event.

Alicia H. Cummiskey Wed in St. Hugo

BIRMINGHAM — At 12 o'clock today in St. Hugo of the Hills Church, Alicia Hayes Commiskey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Peter Cummiskey of Oakland avenue became the bride of Jeremiah Black Gillette. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Westfield Gillette Jr. of Wing Lake road.

* * *

Mimi Cummiskey was her sister's maid of honor. She wore a full skirted dress of deep emerald velvet and wore a cap of the same lovely green with a circular veil. Her flowers were white amazon lilies with gardenia leaves.

Constance Cummiskey, another sister was a bridesmaid and was dressed like the honor maid, as were Joan Baldwin, Joanne Cote, Doreen Fante, Patricia Spence of New York, a cousin of the bride and Mrs. Leo Rengers of Dearborn.

BEST MAN

Louis C. Gillette was his brother's best man. Ushers were Philip B. VanDusen, Edward Gushee Jr., Richard Lander, Edward A. Proctor Jr., Stephen Miller, Crosby Buell Perry, William Windle and F. Jerome Tone.

Mrs. Cummiskey wore antique amber peau de soie with a flaring skirt. Her flowers were brown orchids.

Mrs. Gillette's gown was of Tourmaline green taffeta with a blending head piece. She wore green orchids.

The newlyweds will live in Birmingham.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Spence of New York, uncle and aunt of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Clay Johnson of Rye, N. Y.; Mrs. M. B. Barker of La Jolla, Calif., and Mrs. H. J. Douglas of Lake Forest, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Burroughs of Richmond, Va. Mr. and Mrs. Arden Yinkey Jr. of Wilton, Conn., Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reutter of Rye, N. Y., Mr. and Mrs. John W. Cummiskey of Grand Rapids and Mrs. Howze Haskell of Richmond, Va. also will be in attendance.

Married in St. Hugo of the Hills Church today were Alicia Hayes Cummiskey and Jeremiah Black Gillette. She is the daughter of the James P. Cummiskeys of Birmingham, and his parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Westfield Gillette Jr. of Wing Lake road.

Must In-Law of Friend Be Invited?

By EMILY POST

A reader asks this question: "Very shortly I will have a friend visit me for a few days. During her visit I plan on asking several women friends in to lunch, to meet her.

"One friend whom I would particularly like to ask has her mother-in-law visiting her. Would it be rude to invite my friend and not her mother-in-law? She is more than 20 years older than the rest of us."

Answer: Ordinarily you would not ask the mother-in-law unless you were also asking other older people. But the real answer is this: If the mother-in-law is paying a very short visit, then you must either include her or else leave your friend out.

On the other hand, if she is paying a long visit of several weeks or a month, you could ask your friend alone—especially if you invite her mother-in-law another time.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Is it ever customary to give someone who is moving away (not a bride) a surprise shower? My friend and her husband are moving to another city shortly and I would like to do this for her if you say it would be proper."

Answer: I think if you called it a going-away party instead of a shower, it would meet with more enthusiasm. And then if any of her friends wish to bring her presents that would be very nice, but at the same time they would not feel obliged to.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When giving a dinner in a restaurant, how much should be allowed for service, and should anything be given to the head waiter for himself?"

Answer: Fifteen per cent would be quite enough divided between the waiters who serve you, and perhaps as much again to the headwaiter if he has taken pains to help you choose an especially good menu, or to see that you had especially prompt service. On the other hand, if he does nothing for you, you need give him nothing.

DIXIE MARIE KEPPEL

Mr. and Mrs. Donald B. Keppel of North Telegraph road announce the engagement of their daughter, Dixie Marie Keppel, to William J. Hessler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hessler of Detroit. Dixie received her bachelor's degree from Michigan State University this June. William will be graduated this year. A Dec. 17 wedding is planned.

NCCW Deanery Holds Meeting

The Northwestern Deanery of the National Council of Catholic Women held their second quarterly meeting recently at St. Patrick Parish Hall in White Lake Township.

Mrs. John Doyle of Berkley, president of the 41 parishes and seven organizations in the council conducted the meeting. The Rev. Thomas A. Edison of St. Patricks opened the meeting with a prayer. Reports were given by representatives from 27 parishes, members of the council.

Chairmen giving accounts of their groups activity in the council program were Mrs. Henry M. Simpson, cancer group; Mrs. Jerome Sowul, discussion group; Mrs. William L. Goodwin, family life; Mrs. Myrtle Pratt, Cana Days; Mrs. Thomas Gleason, child care; Mrs. Henry Foley, international relations; Mrs. Paul Parker, library and literature; Mrs. John Wyllie, motion pictures; Mrs. John H. Klein, National Catholic Community Service; Mrs. R. E. Olsen, Red Cross Blood Bank; Mrs. R. J. O'Leary, Red Cross Home Nursing and Mrs. Joseph R. Smith, social action and legislature.

OTHER REPORTS

Others giving reports were Mrs. Henry Banas, spiritual development; Mrs. Deanne, chaplains aid; Mrs. Alfred Martinez, relief; and Mrs. John H. Smith, volunteer service.

* * *

The Rev. Laval Landry of Our Lady of LaSalette parish in Berkley spoke on the history of the order of the La Salette priests. The Rev. H. K. Weber of St. Vincent de Paul Church was also a guest of the council.

Mrs. John Brady and her committee from St. Patrick Church group served refreshments to council members.

Be More Considerate of Your Mom

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

Some mothers are so attractive, they completely outdazzle their daughters. Others are so dominating, they quite suppress their daughters' flair. Others refuse to recognize the passing of the time since their daughters' first appearance. Such mothers can gum up the works for their offspring.

But there's the mother who is doing her righteous best to bring up her daughter carefully and well. She tactfully supervises her comings and goings, her choice of activities and friends.

She cooperates whole-heartedly when cooperation is reasonable. She puts her foot down firmly when necessary. Such a mother is a big help to a girl.

This girl is quite sure that her troubles are all because her mother doesn't trust her. But this is what she writes:

"Dear Miss Woodward: My mother is constantly harping at me about how good she is to me. She works, and she does buy a lot for me. But when I ask to go somewhere she says I go too much.

"She always says I talk back to her when all I try to do is talk to her.

"I can't even spend the night with a girl friend or go to a slumber party without having her call up to find out if I'm really there or not. (It's terribly embarrassing to me to have the other girls know that my own mother doesn't trust me.)

"I only go out about three times a week, and if I'm even 10 minutes late she throws a fit about me not minding. I just can't figure her out!"

Answer: It sounds very much as though your mother alone is responsible for your care, your upbringing and your physical needs. In which case she does a lot for you. And she counts on you to cooperate by obeying, by being responsible, and by keeping her company. It's little enough to ask of you.

* * *

And it's not that she doesn't trust you, really. It's that she feels the responsiblity for your welfare so keenly. She's afraid that something might happen to you.

Consequently, she balks at your nights out, and she checks up on your safe arrival at where you're going. She throws a fit when you talk back and overstay your time.

You two girls could work up a good act, if you'd put your mind to it. Realize in the first place that your mother can't get too excited over your evenings with the girls, since you see them all day long. (Your mother would enjoy a bit more of your companionship.)

* * *

Realize, too, that her phone calls to be sure you are safe need not be embarrassing, if you'd work up a set of signals. "Yes, Mother, I put it in your bottom drawer, sorry I forgot to tell you" would take all the sting out of a checkup. And, of course, insisting on having the last word is a childish trick that drives all mothers wild.

Your biggest problem, as I see it, is to be a touch more considerate of your mother. Fine thing, you're probably saying to yourself. You wish she'd be more considerate of you. Well, that's exactly what she's doing. Though you interpret it differently.

If you want her to think of you as grown up, try to use some grown-up thinking and approaches to getting along with your mother. She's only trying to do her job, you know.

WILMA V. STRINGFELLOW

BETSY BYRAM

2 on National YWCA Staff Schedule Visits to Pontiac

Two national staff members of the YWCA of the United States will visit the Pontiac YWCA during the next two weeks. First to come, Betsy Byram, Central Region Secretary for the Department of National Support, will make a one day visit Oct. 6, coming from Detroit where she is spending a week in the various YWCAs, and leaving Pontiac for New York.

The second visitor, Wilma V. Stringfellow, of the Community Division field staff, Central Region, will visit the Pontiac association Oct. 12, 13 and 14.

Due to the shortness of Miss Byram's stay, Kay Vedder, president of the Pontiac YWCA, has asked members of the board of directors, members of committees, representatives of allied agencies and interested persons, to attend a covered dish luncheon at noon Oct. 6 at the YWCA.

Miss Stringfellow will be the featured speaker at a membership meeting Wednesday evening Oct. 12 at 8 p.m. Her topic, "Our Task for the Triennium," will outline in detail the objectives adopted at the 20th national YWCA convention, held last spring, and which will serve as guide lines for the next three years.

SPEAKER NAMED

She will also be honored guest at the first of the monthly Members Series luncheon meetings to be held at noon Oct. 13. Judith Clemence, women's editor of the Pontiac Press, is to be guest speaker at the luncheon. Mrs. Myron L. Buck and her membership committee are in charge of arrangements for both the evening membership meeting and the noontime Members Series.

* * *

The monthly meeting of the board of directors will be held preceding the membership meeting Oct. 12, and an informal reception will follow, giving the members and friends an opportunity to meet Miss Stringfellow, Mrs. Reba Ross Netzler, the new executive director of YWCA, and Dorothy Spann Redmond, the new director of teenage program.

Mrs. William Issacson and Sue Houghton will be in charge of refreshments. Mrs. Floyd Blakeslee will serve as receptionist and Mrs. B. B. Kimball will lead group singing accompanied by Mrs. John Thors. Miss Vedder will preside and Mrs. Fred Haushalter, immediate past president of the Pontiac association, will introduce Miss Stringfellow.

Both Miss Byram and Miss Stringfellow have an interesting background of foreign service. Miss Stringfellow was sent to Egypt by the Foreign Division of the YWCA in 1949 as advisory secretary to the Egyptian YWCA. She worked with associations in Cairo, Assuit and Alexandria and helped start a new association in Minia.

* * *

Miss Byram served with the United States government for seven years, completing a two-year tour of duty with the Foreign Service of the Department of State as assistant attache and political analyst at the U.S. Embassy in the Hague, Netherlands, prior to her appointment to the YWCA national staff.

Clothing Designer to Test Her Theories

Jeri Holmes, that captivating creator of the "expandable wardrobe" is going to put her designing theories to the acid test. She and husband Bill will take off in November for a round-the-world trip by air, won't be back until June, 1956.

The expandable wardrobe works this way—start with a basic sheath in jersey, tweed, or cotton; add a separate matching or contrasting jacket, have a separate skirt as a "plus," and a topper to wear over-all. This, according to Jeri, takes you from dawn to dusk, with minimum weight when air-borne.

Stock Up Your Fall Lipsticks Right Now

With fall in the offing, the time to stock up on those autumn lipstick shades is now. And make-up experts report that three lipstick shades—red, rose and coral—fit perfectly into the fall fashion picture.

Beltless Dress Displays Designer's Showmanship

Mollie Parnis approaches the fashion business with the sure knowledge of a great showman. She knows what her public wants, and she delivers it with her own particular brand of artistry.

With this model she throws away the belt in the currently accepted manner, but maintains waistline moulding with a cleverly darted bodice. The peaked gores of the skirt are precisely fitted into the bodice, and are cut so that the hemline will never sag.

For the double collar, use a contrasting texture, satin on wool for example, and repeat it for the cuff trim. Mrs. Parnis used leather buttons on the original and a ribbon tie, two very noteworthy touches.

Choose wool crepe, faille, alpaca, silk and wool mixtures or even winter cottons. For contrast — pique, linen or taffeta are suggested.

She Finds Pleasure in Babysitting

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Many an activity which is started just for money, grows so absorbing and pleasant that it is kept up, even after the financial hurdle is past.

* * *

Mrs. E. P., who writes me from a small town in Indiana, has such a project. Here is her letter:

"I am happy to expound on my pet project—babysitting.

"Ours is a growing community of approximately 25,000 people. There is much civic interest here and about everything possible is being done for the youth of our town. There are new industries and construction work on all sides, it seems.

* * *

"'Welcome Wagon,' a courtesy of the local merchants to newcomers, lists 10 or 12 new families twice a month in our paper. Another sitter, a personal friend of the lady in charge of this service, is given a personal recommendation to them.

"My husband has had two serious sick spells within the past two years.

GRACIOUS NEIGHBOR

"Although I've attended college and had a business education, I was only able to get a clerking job, because of my age, 43. I kept it for six months, until my husband was on his feet again.

"A full-time job plus homemaking was just too much to continue after the emergency was past.

"That's when I got the idea of babysitting.

"My husband was stricken the second time, 10 months ago. After I had confided my plight to my neighbor, who is a babysitting window, she graciously turned over her extra sitting to me.

* * *

"I had only one idea in mind—Extra Money. But that idea vanished in a hurry, because I found the children completely fascinating. I loved it. Even after my husband returned to work I continued to babysit. He didn't mind, because I enjoyed it so much.

RENEWED PLEASURE

"It seemed like having the pleasure of my own baby over again. My 'baby' is now 17, 6 feet 4, a high-school athlete, happy and well-adjusted.

* * *

"Right now, most of my babysitting is done over weekends, plus a few part-time jobs. But when my boy goes to college, I intend to get a daily job with one of the many working mothers our town now has.

"It's funny, but while the money was what first attracted me to babysitting, I would do it now if I never made a penny!"

You don't have to wear full skirts when narrow ones are newer. Add panel or sash ends to hide your proportions.

Slim, straight skirts enriched by graceful panels created a general feeling of billowing shapes throughout the Paris showings. Manguin featured featherweight wool costumes for the "Amazon woman who feels nervously nude in a silk gown."

Always mend any rips or tears in sheets before washing. A tiny rip may become a much bigger one in the washing machine.

What Happened to Individuals?

What's happened to the individual in this country? After reviewing the men's wear field over the past few seasons, it's a hard one to suppress. From New York to San Francisco, the man with padded shoulders is fast becoming an outcast.

Pleated pants are a sure sign of antiquity. Anything but a chartone suit is simply not worn in many circles. Did any man reading this try shopping for a suit last fall, one without a single back vent, or one in any other shade but charcoal? It's a fair bet that such an adventurous soul met with very little success.

Vital Point to Recall Is Posture

All Truly Beautiful Women Know Value of Carriage

Evidently most women continue to forget what an easy, quickly rewarding and completely costless enhancement good posture is.

* * *

A woman will labor for hours to perfect her looks for a party, then go to it and wonder why some other women, not so stylishly dressed, is the center of attention.

Women peer curiously at a woman who gets admiring glances on the street without seeing a thing about her clothes, make-up or hair that's a bit out of the ordinary.

Carriage is the secret. A dancer or someone trained in stage presence will unfailingly attract attention, even when dressed in blue jeans.

It's because her manner of bearing herself in so distinguished and fine that people react to it immediatelly.

Walk tall. Get the feeling that every inch of the spine is stretched out toward the ceiling. Don't walk by bobbing forward and resting heavily on each foot as you go.

Carry the body as though it were weightless and suspended from the top of the head. The legs and feet should then glide along.

Avoid mincing and jerky steps. Keep the feet along an imaginary line as you go. Don't, whatever you do, allow the hip socket to settle toward the waistline as you walk. This produces a heavy look, however little you weigh.

Time and Place Important

Fashion is only as good as the life it leads. Worn at the wrong time or to the wrong place, clothes lose their fashion integrity.

* * *

Bettina Ballard, top fashion authority says, that to keep you and your clothes happily adjusted to the life you lead means giving thought and time to planning your wardrobe in harmony with your life before you buy. It means not being carried away by whims and not shopping with friends who confuse these plans.

A well-organized wardrobe frees you from the insecurity of never having the right thing to wear. If your clothes are in the general fashion trend, if they are right for you and for your particular way of life, they carry their fair share of your social responsibility. Most important, they make you feel more relaxed and attractive.

A simple way to plan is to figure out your probable social, travel, work, or play life from September to January before you buy one piece of clothing. Then shop for the right costumes for that life at whatever price level your purse can afford.

For your new autumn fashions, you might consider the browns. Any tone oshrdluetaoundhsrlishr nut to dark raisin is a top fashion color around which to build a wardrobe, unless all shades of brown are color enemies to you.

Evangelist to Speak at Closing Meeting

Revival meetings which have been held at the Light of the World Church, 280 Harrison Ave., will close tonight with Evangelist Raymond Hernandy of Santa Paula, Calif. bringing the message.

At the 7:30 service, he will speak in both English and Spanish. Special music will be featured with Mrs. Hernandy playing the banjo and Mrs. Martine, wife of the pastor, playing the piano.

The Rev. Raymond Martine is minister of the church.

New Indian Policy Limits Missionaries

NEW DELHI (RNS) — India's new policy restricting foreign missionaries is set forth in the latest issue of the government yearbook published here.

The yearbook states that the issuance of visas to foreign missionaries will be governed by two considerations:

1. No new missionaries will be permitted to enter India, either as replacements or additional members of missions, unless Indian missionaries are not available to fill the positions.

2. While foreign missionaries already in India will be allowed to carry on their present activity, new missionaries will not be welcome if they plan to devote themselves entirely to the propagation of the gospel. They should, in addition, have suitable qualifications as educators or social workers.

Confident Living

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Dr. Karl B. Pace of Greenville, North Carolina, has been practicing medicine since the horse-and-buggy days. He was recently asked what he thought was the greatest cause of sickness. What do you think he said? Nerves and tension!

Then he went on to give some advice which I feel is worth quoting:

DR. PEALE

"Live each day as it comes; don't worry about next week. Learn to live instead of trying to get rich. Never remain angry. Begin each day by liking everyone you meet. Take a siesta after lunch, to help you relax.

"If marital troubles are causing your ulcer, headache, or other pains, if either the husband or the wife would try one-twentieth as hard to make a go of marriage as finding fault with each other, you would probably have no problem. And never go to bed angry with each other."

GO TO CHURCH

Dr. Pace ends his advice with these wise words: "Go to church, practice your religion and live a quiet and serene life."

A recent article calls attention to the work of another doctor, Hans Selye, head of the University of Montreal's Institute of Experimental Medicine and Surgery. Dr. Selye believes that all disease is caused by chemical imbalance in the body resulting from stress! So great is the interest aroused by his theory that more than 5,000 research papers are being published on it each year and research organizations all over the world are looking into it.

Dr. Selye's research confirms what Dr. Pace learned from his long experience. Stress is the greatest killer of them all. And, if you look through the professional magazines your doctor reads, you will find advertisement after advertisement for new sedatives, new hypnotics, new cures for hypertension—all indications of the growing volume of disease the nerve tension under which so many of us live imposes on us.

HEALTH WITHIN US

Now, everyone wants to feel alive and well. No one wants to be ill or tense. It is my increasing conviction that we can achieve these goals. This longing for health is within us and it is met by a glorious promise in the Bible: "I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly."

Yet, why have so many of us missed this secret? Why can't we be filled with power and strength all our lives?

A famous Oriental philosopher once said that a man is alive in proportion to the number of points at which he touches life. When a human being is ingrown, stress, tension and illness develop in him. A person with a hundred interests is twice as alive as one with only fifty and four times as alive a the man who has only twenty-five.

WIDEN YOUR INTEREST

What are you interested in? Are your interests confined to your food, your home, your business, your clothes, your immediate family? Are you apathetic about everything else? Are you encased in a prison of yourself?

If you would be free from nervous tension and live a healthier life, widen your interests, broaden yourself. There is a rich world around you of books, paintings, music, sports and, most important, other people. There is another rich world inside you—not that of the parts of your body and your aches and pains, but that of the spirit, the immortal part.

Find these worlds—they are those God has given you—and you will find health and peace.

REV. T. WALTER HARRIS

7th Anniversary to Be Observed

Providence Missionary Baptist Church to Hold Evening Meetings

The seventh anniversary of the organization of Providence Missionary Baptist Church will be observed Oct. 2 through Oct. 9.

On Oct. 2, 1948 in the home of the Rev. T. Walter Harris on Crystal Lake Dr., 35 men and women gathered to form a church group. The membership has gown to 300. The Rev. Mr. Harris has served as pastor during the entire seven years.

Besides the regular services on Sunday, meetings will be held each night next week except Saturday at 8 p.m.

Monday, the Rev. William H. Bell with the deacons and deaconesses of New Bethel Baptist Church will conduct the service.

The Rev. William Floyd and the Beulah Grove Baptist Church of Detroit will be here Tuesday evening and members of the Liberty Baptist Church with their pastor, the Rev. S. M. Edwards, are scheduled to be in charge on Wednesday.

The Rev. J. Allen Parker and the Usher Board of the Newman A. M. E. Church are planning the Thursday evening service.

Friday night service will have the Rev. Paul C. Cooley of the Lake Street Church of God as special speaker with women of his church assisting.

At the morning worship hour Oct. 9, the Rev. Claude Goodwin will preach and Richard Reese and Mrs. Louise Richardson will speak on the anniversary.

Closing service will be held at 3 p.m. with the Rev. L. R. Miner and men of the Macedonia Baptist Church in charge.

A Fellowship Tea will follow with Mrs. Sarah Williams, general chairman.

A service of prayer will be at 7 p.m. and the Rev. T. Walter Harris will preach at the regular service at 8 p.m.

At the close of the anniversary meetings the pastor will leave for Winston-Salem, N. C., his home town, to conduct revival meetings.

Fall Meeting Slated Sunday

Speakers, Workshops to Be Featured in Detroit Afternoon and Evening

The Rev. Lawrence D. Graves and several members of the First Congregational Church will attend the fall meeting of the Congregational Association to be held at the Grosse Pointe Congregational Church from 4 p.m. through 7:45 p.m. Sunday.

The afternoon address will be "The Church and the Inner City" by Dr. Samuel Kincheloe of the Chicago Theological Seminary.

Workshops will be led by Dr. Gordon Phillips of the Methodist Union, Dr. Harold Fredsell of the Detroit Presbytery and Dr. Edward W. Wilcox of the Congregational Association.

Following the dinner the president of Olivet College, Raymond D. Blakney, will speak. "City Planning" will be explained by Merle Henrickson of the Detroit City Plan Commission with maps and picture.

"The Ideal Central Church" will be the subject of a talk by Dr. Walton E. Cole of the First Congregational Church, Detroit and the Rev. Raleigh H. Sain of the department of Research and Church Planning, Detroit, will speak on "Detroit's City Church Problem."

The local church voted recently to continue with the building plans. A permanent roof will be put on the new building, the exterior will be finished, and the tower and gable pointed. Plans are made to complete this part of the building program within the next two years.

Lutheran Churches Mark Finland Anniversary

WASHINGTON, D. C. (RNS) — Lutheran churches in the capital area will join in a service at the Washington Episcopal Cathedral Sept. 18 to mark the 800th anniversary of the State Lutheran Church of Finland.

Johan Nykopp, Finnish Ambassador to the United States, will read a Scripture lesson at the service. The preacher will be Dr. T. A. Kantonen, professor of systematic theology at Hamma Divinity School, Springfield, O.

A procession to the cathedral will precede the service, which is sponsored by the Lutheran Ministerial Association of Washington.

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Eugene J. Kempf Jr., of Ferndale, is the lone male in the 700-member Michigan State Medical Assistants Society, convening this week with the 90th annual MSMS sessions.

* * *

Kempf is surgical assistant at the Industrial Medical Clinic in Ferndale. The clinic provides medical service for Ferndale-Hazel Park industrial plants.

Altar Gift Will Be Dedicated Sunday

A new custom built Communion table with matching altar chairs will be dedicated Sunday morning at Bethany Baptist Church. The complete altar gift was given the church by Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Royal of Motorway Dr.

* * *

The Rev. Fred R. Tiffany will conduct the dedication service assisted by the board of deacons with Maynard Johnson, chairman. Elda Sutter will lead the senior choir in the consecration program.

* * *

The regular Sunday church school sessions will be held between the two morning worship services. The Youth Center will be open at 5 p. m. as usual, directed by Reita Smith.

Nashville Pastors Plan Interracial Association

Plans for the merger were confirmed by the Rev. Harold Gregory, acting president of the Nashville Pastors Assn., and the Rev. J. Lewis Powell, vice-president of the Interdenominational Ministerial Alliance, a Negro body.

Mr. Gregory said the association had authorized him to meet with the ministerial alliance leader and make final arrangements for the union. He said the two groups agreed on the merger last spring.

Hope for Peace Is Cited in Message to Jewry

NEW YORK (RNS)—People today feel a new stirring of hope for world peace based on brotherhood, Dr. Everett R. Clinchy, president of the National Conference of Christians and Jews declared in a New Year message to American Jewry.

Bible School Class to Conduct Service

Dr. Myron Cederholm, general director of the Conservative Baptist Association of America, will speak to the combined adult Sunday School classes in Marimont Baptist Church at 10 o'clock Sunday morning. He will also bring the sermon message at 11.

The "All for Christ" Sunday School class will be in charge of the 7:30 evening service.

* * *

During the month of October, the adult and young people's classes will present the music and speaker at the Sunday evening meetings. Tomorrow night, Percy Walton, Charles Plumb and Leroy Clower will speak on "The Privileges of the Believer."

Dr. Cederholm will address the annual meeting of the Baptist Association Monday and Tuesday at the Gratiot Ave. Baptist Church, Detroit.

Mission School to Begin Oct. 5

Central Methodists Plan Four Wednesday Dinner Meetings

Dr. Milton H. Bank will speak on "Why I Come to the Communion," at the morning worship hour tomorrow in Central Methodist Church in observance of the 16th year of World Wide Communion Sunday.

The Commission on Education is paying a group registration fee so that all members of Central Church may attend the Pontiac School of Religion to be held at the First Congregational Church for six weeks beginning Monday night at 7:30.

The School of Missions will begin Wednesday with a dinner, and be held each week through October.

Dr. D. Dennis Murphy, who spent five years in Chile, will show colored slides and speak on "Your Church Is There," for this week's program.

On Oct. 12, David Hills will use for his topic "Youth in India."

"As I Saw It," will be the subject chosen by the Rev. Richard H. Dixon of Trinity Baptist Church when he speaks Oct. 19. The Rev. Mr. Dixon has just returned from a trip to Europe and the Holy Land.

The Rev. Karl W. Patow is scheduled to be at the Oct. 26 dinner. His subject is "Germany Today."

The Rev. Orville Dunkeld, a missionary to Africa, will be the speaker and show colored slides at the W. S. C. S. General Business Meeting Thursday at 11:30 a.m. Mrs. Percy Jones will have charge of the devotions and luncheon will be served by the Susannah Wesley Unit with Mrs. Cecil Choate, chairman.

Revival Meetings to Begin Sunday

Evangelist Harold Harrison of Chicago will conduct revival meetings Oct. 2 through Oct. 10 at the Lake Street Church of God.

Mr. Harrison is a student at the Church of God College in Anderson, Ind. The Rev. Paul Cooley, pastor of the church states that Evangelist Harrison is a dynamic speaker. Special music will be provided by the choir each evening at the 7:30 service.

We brought nothing into this world and it is certain we can carry nothing out.

FALL FESTIVAL — Commemorating the ingathering of the Harvest, a suko or hut was constructed adjacent to Congregation B'nai Israel. The suko is a reminder of nature's bounty and is designed to prompt a feeling of gratitude to God. Standing within the hut, behind the table laden with fruits and vegetables, are Mrs. Harry Neufeld of Bloomfield Terrace, Mrs. Henry Hoschander, wife of Rabbi Hoschander and Mrs. John Rothchild of Dwight street. Assisting in decorating the hut were Mrs. Edward Blumeno of Ward Rd. and Mrs. Irving Gordon of Rosshire Ct. The holiday began last night and will be celebrated seven days.

Film 'City Story' to Be Shown at First Family Night Dinner

Young people of the First Presbyterian Church will consider the relationship of science and religion tomorrow evening. Following the Moody Institute of Science film, "God of Creation," Ruth Hedeman of the McMath-Hulbert Observatory will speak to the Tuxis Society, the high school age youngpeople.

The first Family Night of the season is scheduled for Wednesday with a cooperative dinner at 6:30 p.m. A program is planned based on the film "City Story" which presents the problem and challenge of the inner city church in this generation.

Dr. William H. Marbach, the Rev. Edward D. Auchard and lay representatives of the church will attend the meeting of the Presbytery of Detroit Tuesday at the Presbyterian Church of the Covenant in Detroit

20 Priests, Three Nuns Will Get Jump Training

Jews Celebrate Sukos With Hut Hung With Fruit

Succos, known as the Feast of the Tabernacles, is the annual Jewish fall festival of Thanksgiving. It commemorates the ingathering of the fruit harvest.

As part of the festival observance the Bible commands the Jew to forsake the comforts of his yearround home and dwell in a small rectangular-shaped hut constructed of wood or canvas. The thatched roof is of tree branches, corn stalks and vegetative growth. Partially covered, the roof allows for a clear view of the sky above.

Rabbi Henry Hoschander states the purpose of this commandment is manifold:

The Jew is reminded of the time his ancestors were divinely freed from their land of bondage and lived in similar huts during their desert travel on the way to Palestine. It teaches the present Jew that any worthwhile goal is worth sacrifices.

It furthermore stands as a reminder to one that the luxuries of Life as well as material posessions are God's, that at any moment those who dwell in great mansions might be reduced to living in little huts. It is incumbent upon man to utilize his divine gifts for meritorius purposes.

Living in small sparsely furnished hut gives the wealthy individual an opportunity to comprehend how a poor person lives. With understanding comes increased interest.

The thatched roof through which the sky is visible is man's way of affirming the fact that though he is on earth, his faith is ever in God above who watches over him whatever the undertaking.

The small booth also stands as a reminder that God visits those who sincerely seek Him, whether they abide in small hovels or luxurious homes.

World Wide Communion Sunday

World-Wide Communion Sunday will be observed for the 16th year tomorrow. As the day unfolds, followers of the Christian Faith from the remote places of the earth and those near home, from sparsely populated regions and the teeming cities will be joining in singing "Holy, Holy, Holy, Lord God Almighty."

The forms which this celebration will take are endeared to a particular people through years of worship, sometimes decades, sometimes centuries, but always meaningful.

Bells in tall spires will ring out over cities, and tom-toms will resound in jungles, calling together all who would remember the life and death of Jesus.

Some will receive the Sacrament standing, some sitting in the pews and others will be kneeling in deep humility at the altar rail. Some will drink wine mixed with water from a chalice some will drink grape juice from a cup. All will be seeking forgiveness for their sins.

In whatever way a Christian celebrates his covenant with Christ, he will go out strengthened according to the purposes of his own heart to follow Him with renewed devotion.

Pontiac churches will join the thousands around the globe in offering Communion to the many followers of Christ as they rededicate their lives to Him.

Assembly of God Plans $3 Million Home Office

OKLAHOMA CITY (RNS) — Plans for a $3,000,000 Assemblies of God headquarters building at Springfield, Mo., were unveiled at the denomination's 26th biennial convention here.

The Rev. Bert Webb, assistant general superintendent, said the structure would be five stories high, contemporary in design and built of glass and aluminum.

Arabian King Grants Permission to Priests

CAIRO (RNS)—Special permission for a Roman Catholic priest to locate permanently and carry on a Christian ministry in Saudi Arabia has been granted by King Saud, it was reported here.

Some 5,000 Americans alone are in the area, either as workers at the Arabian American Oil Company installations there or servicemen at the nearby U. S. air base.

Christian communities in the country previously had not been allowed to have their own places of worship or maintain priests or ministers.

Anglican Groups Growing Closer, Bishop Reports

SYDNEY, Australia (RNS) — The Anglican communion is growing closer together all over the world, Presiding Bishop Henry Knox Sherrill of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States, said on his arrival here.

* * *

Bishop Sherrill said the World Council of Churches, of which he is a president, was likely to send a delegation to the Soviet Union in about six months.

* * *

He said the United States welcomes friendly overtures from Russia but was not inclined to lessen its defenses.

"The United States is a peace-loving nation but believes she must be strong to maintain the peace," the bishop added.

Scholarships Total 474

WASHINGTON, D.C. (RNS) — The Order of the Eastern Star made 474 scholarship awards totaling $255,564.20 in the last three years to Protestant students preparing for religious service.

43 AF Chaplains Receive Diplomas

LACKLAND AIR FORCE BASE, Tex. (RNS) — The largest class of chaplains in the history of the United States Air Force received their diplomas here from the Air Force chaplain school.

The 43 clergymen who are to be commissioned first lieutenants, will bring the number of chaplains serving the Air Force to more than 300 for the first time.

Chaplain (Lt. Col.) Silas A. Meckel, who was pastor of Mayflower Congregational Christian Church, Minneapolis, Minn., is director of the school. Chaplain (Major) John M. Walsh, formerly a faculty member and dean at Catholic University of America, Washington, D.C., is deputy director.

Polish Composer on Critical List

Former Consul's Petition for Citizenship Denied; He Takes Pill Overdose

NEW YORK (AP) — Tadeusz Kassern, former Polish consul here and the first Polish representative in this country to break with Poland's Communist government, was in critical condition today, apparently from an overdose of sleeping pills.

* * *

Kassern's wife, Longina, discovered him unconscious in their Manhattan apartment yesterday. Police reported finding a note in the apartment addressed to his wife saying he had decided to take his life in despair over difficulties in obtaining American citizenship.

At Bellevue Hospital, Kassern was reported in critical condition. Later doctors said he was expected to recover.

Kassern was first assigned to the consulate here in 1945. Just before he was to be transferred in 1948 he asked for political asylum in the United States.

Under the present immigration laws any person not entering the country under a quota can reside here and become eligible for citizenship only by a special act of Congress.

* * *

In 1953 the Justice Department announced it found Kassern a "man of highest integrity" and would enact a special bill. But Congress did not act and early this week Kassern was notified by the Immigration Service that in absence of congressional action the "application to adjust your immigration status" has been rejected.

Canadian Nuclear Expert Now Railroad Official

Solandt will become an official of the Canadian National Railways. This is a publicly owned company but pays salaries comparable to those in private industry. Solandt thus stands to get considerably more than the $17,500 he receives as chairman of the defense research board.

Police Chief Straley Attending Conference

Pontiac Police Chief Herbert W. Straley left here today for Philadelphia, Pa., where he will join 1,500 other law enforcement executives at the 62nd annual conference for the International Association of Police Chiefs.

While attending the 5-day affair, Chief Straley will take part in general discussions on administrative problems, crime prevention, traffic supervision and accident prevention.

Seek More Industries

PETOSKEY (AP) — An 11-member committee has been named to meet Oct. 10 at Grayling to plan for securing more industry in a 29-county northern Michigan area.

The appointments were announced by Arthur E. Steinbrecher of Petoskey, manager of the Northern Michigan Electric Cooperative and head of the nominating committee.

College Orders Pop Served in Paper Cups

* * *

Howard Ector, Tech athletic business manager, announced that starting with today's game with Southern Methodist University, soft drinks will be sold only in paper cups.

Col. Blake R. Van Leer, president of Georgia Tech, was struck on the head by a soft drink bottle as he was leaving the stadium Sept. 17, but Ector denied the elimination of pop bottles had any connection with the incident.

Hope Held Out for 11 on Plane

Navy Continues Search in Caribbean for Men Who Flew Into Storm

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) —Faint hope that 11 men who vanished on a hurricane hunter plane may still be alive spurred the navy today to continue its air and surface search of the Caribbean.

An Air Force plane reported that it had sighted what appeared to be two life rafts in the Caribbean. The plane was flying at 8,000 feet and said it could not make a search because it didn't have sufficient fuel.

Navy authorities directing the search said they were "not too enthusiastic" because the area where the life rafts were reported was "not too close" to the area where the missing plane was last reported.

The plane was last heard from at 8:33 a.m. (EST) Monday. It reported then that it was entering the wall of winds surrounding the center of hurricane Janet, the season's most vicious storm that swept through the Caribbean and into Mexico, leaving a trail of about 400 dead and thousand homeless.

Aboard the Navy hurricane hunter, a Lockheed Neptune, were nine Navy crewmen and two Canadian newsmen.

Search for the missing plane has centered in an area midway between Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, and Panama. The plane, first to vanish while probing a hurricane, was based at Jacksonville but was flying out of Guantanamo Bay.

2 Brothers Meet in Spain; Reunited After 21 Years

BARCELONA (INS) — Lorenzo Hernandez Martinez, 24, a New Yorker serving with the U.S. Sixth Fleet, couldn't get over the resemblance between himself and the boot-black who was shining his shoes here.

* * *

He asked the book-black his name. It was Francisco Hernandez Martinez and he was 23. After talking things over, Lorenzo and Francisco discovered they were brothers.

At the age of three, Lorenzo had been taken to live with relatives in New York.

Istanbul Blocks 'Time'

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP)—Time magazine's current issue has failed to appear on Istanbul newsstands. A distributor said today the issue was held up by military cenisors. It contains a story on the Cyprus issue, an issue which fired anti-Greek riots in Istanbul and Izmir Sept. 6.

Arab Gals Swoon to Cairo Radio's 'Sheikh Marlon'

CAIRO (AP)—A sheikh who chants the Koran services over Cairo radio is drawing female sighs from all over the Arab countries—so much so that he has become known as "Sheikh Marlon Brando."

His real name is Sheikh Abdel Basset. He gets almost daily phone calls and love letters from women admirer who chased him around ing Arab states.

* * *

A woman from Aleppo, Syria, divorced her husband, abandoned her three children and flew to Cairo with the hope of marrying the sheikh.

The sheikh, a small rather fat man, sent her home with a sermon she is unlikely to forget.

* * *

He asked police to put an end to the harassment of a wealthy admirer whh chased him around Cairo in an American car. He received incessant phone calls and offers of marriage from her.

Sheikh Abdel Basset is married and has five children.

Jackie Narrows Field to Ralph Cramden Role

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—It was a Sunday morning, and I found Jackie Gleason sitting at a table on his sunny penthouse terrace which overlooks 5th Ave., reading a weighty volume titled "Textbook of Endocrinology."

"Are you interested in endocrinology?" I asked the No. 1 comedian, trying to remember what endocrinology is. I always get it mixed up with 4 or 5 other ologies.

"I'm interested in psychology and endocrinology's relationship to it," replied the famous comedian, who was in a handsome dark slacks outfit with a yellow scarf tucked neatly, Hollywoodishly in.

"I see," I stalled, still trying to remember what endocrinology is.

"I also want to see," said TV's most famous bus driver, "what it has to do with animals."

JACKIE GLEASON
. . . Now It's Endocrinology . . .

"Are you referring to some of our saloon friends?" I asked.

Jackie laughed and looked away from the book. You will see that with the start of his biggest year on TV, he is a very serious young tycoon.

"All of them," nodded Jackie. "That's what we mean by 'live-on-film'."

"What about the laughs?" I asked.

"Glad you asked that," said Jackie. "We're not using some dubbed-in old laughs Fred Allen got eight years ago.

Jackie'll make very few appearances on "Stage Show" (which he produces and which is just ahead of his own show. With the Gleason show confined only to "The Honeymooners," Jackie thinks it's unwise for him to be seen in anything except the Ralph Cramden bus driver role except for a few guest appearances.

Jackie's filming two shows a week and, by late January, should have this season's programs done, which'll give him time to start a movie. He's looking far ahead—he sees pay TV a reality.

"I imagine MGM will have its own network," he said. "If they can make a picture for $5,000,000 and get all their money back in one night, they're going to do it. And what sponsors can stand up against that? There aren't that many toothbrushes."

Texas Cowboy Tells Tale of Cowpuncher

DALLAS (INS) — Know the difference between a cowboy and a cowpuncher?

Let G. F. Barry, chief brand inspector at Kansas City for the Texas Cattle Raisers Association, who knew the West when it was young, tell you. Barry, who says he started trail herding cattle in Texas before he could reach both saddle stirrups on a small horse, explains the difference this way:

* * *

Back in the old days men rode in cattle cars with stock en route to market by rail. They carried poles which they used to prod cattle back to their feet when they laid down or fell. They thus were known as cowpunchers, a term which cowboys often are erroneously called.

Barry, who plans to retire soon, was born in the sandhills of Grayson County, Tex. He won't tell his age but his cowmen friends wager he is about as old as the Texas Cattle Raisers Association, which is 78 years.

Garbage Costs Money

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — L. M. Greenwood, a plumber, filed a $2.95 claim against the city. That, he charged, is what it cost his business in loss of time when one of his trucks was held up for 30 minutes by a city refuse truck. "The (city) truck," he complained, "was parked squarely in the center of the street while the driver read comic books."

Grappling Tax Downed

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The city is easing up on the tax levied against one profession here. The City Council has reduced the occupational license fee from 5 to 3 dollars for professional wrestlers.

Terrifying Tomb Gives Up Miners

2 Rescued From 20-Hour Burial 1,300 Ft. Beneath Minnesota Iron Mine

ELY, Minn. (AP)—The sound of cracking timbers and sliding rock, terrifying to an iron miner, tortured the memory today of two men rescued after a 20-hour entombment 1,300 feet underground.

* * *

Albert Marolt, 41, and Toyvo Hill, 55, offered humble thanks to God and to a desperate team of rescuers who pulled them to safety last night after a cave-in sealed them in one of the deepest underground iron mines in the world.

Still imprisoned somewhere near the 15th level of the Oliver Mining Company's Pioneer Mine was a fellow worker, Joe Glinsek. Workers said there was virtually no chance that he was still alive. But fresh crews were sent into the mine today to probe the debris for Glinsek, or his body.

Helpless in a space 40 feet by 8, unaware of what happened to their friend, Glinsek, Marolt and Hill waited as rescuers tunneled up from the 16th level.

* * *

The lead pipe shoved through the pile of ore, dirt and mud gave them speaking contact. They knew help was on the way, but they couldn't tell when it would get there.

Hill and Marolt were buoyed by the voice of Johnny Muhvitch, a fellow miner who was involved in a similar accident years ago.

"Thank God you're alive," Muhvich told them through the pipe. "We'll get you out. Just sit tight."

* * *

Brought to the surface, Hill and Marolt paused only to thank fellow workers and then were taken to their homes. They were weary, they said, but all right.

Wrong Number Turns Woman Into Film Guide

LONDON (AP)—Mrs. Constance Cooper finds it's easier to pretend that her home is a movie theater than to try to explain it isn't.

The trouble began a year ago when the telephone directory listed a theater's number as Wan 0256—which is Mrs. Cooper's number.

Mrs. Cooper appealed to Britain's state-owned telephone system. Officials were sorry, but nothing could be done for at least a year and a half. A new directory will be published then.

* * *

"I've been summoned from my bed, from my bath, from my garden and my TV set," said Mrs. Cooper. "I've been called from my kitchen and meals have been ruined. Then I gave up."

Each week Mrs. Cooper looks up the titles of the films the theater will be showing, jots down the starting times and other pertinent information.

"I find it much easier to recite the information than to try to explain the situation," she sighed, "but it does get tiresome."

Last week she answered 200 wrong numbers.

Hollywood Headlines

Son to Be Regular Player in Burns and Allen Show

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — This week George Burns and Gracie Allen provided a new note for the bustling social season—a coming out party for their son, Ronnie.

The comedy pair tossed a supper dance in honor of their debutant, a handsome, husky six-footer of 19 years. He'll now be a regular cast member in his parents' popular TV show.

* * *

Ronnie greeted all the guests in a personable manner and appeared capable of handling his acting chores with assurance. This was confirmed by a preview of the first Burns and Allen show of the season, which will be on CBS Oct. 10.

You might ask how the Burnses can introduce a son to the show after years of playing a childless couple. It's typical of George's logic that there is no explanation. Ronnie just appears, as if he had been a member of the cast before.

* * *

The Burns and Allen show is noted for its lack of logic, and not merely in Gracie's inanities. Remember when the program started? The neighbor, Harry Morton, was played by Hal March, a fellow who has been appearing on some quiz shows recently.

Then one year Harry Morton turned out to be Fred Clark. Now he's Larry Keating. All of which must be confusing to the audience, not to mention Bea Benaderet, who plays Mrs. Morton.

* * *

Ronnie's appearance on the show is a bit of a surprise to his parents as well as the audience. For a while they expected him to be a lawyer, then an architect.

"But when I was going to U.S.C., I decided I wanted to act," he explains. "So I enrolled at the Pasadena Playhouse."

* * *

And so Ronnie was enlisted to provide the romantic interest on the program. On the first show he does a love scene from "Picnic" that should impress viewers almost as much as it did his parents.

* * *

'Deb Stars of 1955' Named in Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Ten Hollywood starlets have been named the most promising young actresses in movies and television. They were crowned "Deb Stars of 1955" before a crowd of 2,000 last night at a ball sponsored by makeup artists and hair stylists.

* * *

Cathy Crosby, daughter of Bob Crosby and singer on his TV show; Anita Ekberg, former Miss Sweden; Lilian Montevecchi, Paris dancer; Kip Hamilton; Mara Corday; Jody Lawrence; Lori Nelson; Tracey Morgan; Marissa Pavan, sister of actress Pier Angeli; and Gloria Thomas.

Hospital Fund Raising Campaign Will Start in November

Name Members for Committee

Total Cost of Proposed Medical Center Will Be $350,000

ROMEO—A campaign executive committee of eleven members has been named to steer fund-raising operations for the new $350,000 area hospital, according to an announcement made this week by David M. Ross, president of the Community Hospital Foundation, Inc.

The new medical center will be constructed on a 10-acre site located on M53 between the villages of Romeo and Almont. The total area to be served by this 30-bed hospital includes portions of Lapeer, St. Clair, Macomb and Oakland counties.

The executive committee, Ross stated today, will function as the coordinating head of the drive. Committee members hold equal status and "will serve collectively as chairman of the committee." They will represent the total area to be served.

Members of the committee include: John L. Berk, Capac; Leon T. Bishop, Almont; Peter T. Brewer, Lakeville; the Rev. Bruno Brueckner, Capac; Harold C. Hough, Almont; Dr. O. C. Krause, D.V.M., Armada; James D. Ligon, Allenton; Grant Muir, Imlay City; Dr. L. R. Newlin, D.V.M., Romeo; Dr. J. C. Nott, D.D.S., Romeo; and Thomas K. Richards, Almont.

A meeting of the campaign executive committee is planned for Monday evening at which time the educational co-chairmen will be announced. The informational phase of the campaign is scheduled to begin immediately.

An effort will be made, through the educational committee, to thoroughly acquaint the public with the facts concerning the need for the proposed hospital and the tentative plans for construction before the solicitation drive begins about Nov. 1.

In launching the drive the committee said, "We realize the task of raising $350,000 for the new area hospital is a tremendous one. The success of the drive will depend on everyone understanding the urgency of the situation, therefore making sacrificial gifts."

Columbia Township Man Farms, Supervises, Sells

GRAND RAPIDS —A one-time Chicago meat wholesaler believes in a neighborly approach to his double life as farmer and Columbia Township Supervisor in Van Buren County, near Paw Paw.

A. J. Kane left his big city business in Chicago in 1938 to try his had at farming.

In the following 17 years, the past nine as township supervisor, Kane says he has learned a great deal concerning farming and the problems of his neighbors.

REXELLA VAN IMPE

Mrs. Van Impe is featured at the evenings services of the special Evangelistic series now going on at the Waterford Community Church. The Rev. Jack Van Impe is conducting the program. Mrs. Van Impe sings to her husband's accordion accompaniment. The series closes Sunday.

He credits the county agricultural office and Michigan State University with providing much of the knowledge he utilized to build up his farms and make a success of raising corn.

Two farms, totaling 100 acres, now are operated by Kane and his son, Richard. They specialize in grain and dairy production.

Kane said his corn yield increasd from 21 bushels per acre in his first year to slightly more than 75 bushels per acre last year.

* * *

Besides farming, Kane also sold seed corn from 1942 to 1948 and maintained a test plot of 12 seed varieties one year to learn which was best for the locality. He said he also made a study of fertilizers to use with the seed and passed the information on to other farmers.

Kane says 75 per cent of the hybrid corn in Arlington, Columbia and Geneva now is Dekalb corn.

Another of his current sideline ventures is the sale of farm machinery — in addition to farming and his duties as township supervisor. Kane says, however, he spends little time at the sales job because of the press of supervisor's duty.

MAKES ASSESSMENTS

He is responsible for making assessments in the county's second largest tax roll. Property transfers, often as many as 24 in a month, each require a revision of descriptions in the tax records, he relates.

Other problems, he adds, bring township requests for assistance.

"It's surprising how many different problems people have," he notes. "They range from lost deeds to inquiries about naturalization and calls for help in applying for old age assistance.

"I even had a request to look up a marriage license recently," he says, "and one woman wanted to know how to kill poison ivy. When I don't know the answers, I look them up."

Apparently Kane's post as the only Democrat on the township board creates no friction. He attributes the harmony to the fact that the officers all are efficient and none tries to be dominering.

Meanwhile, he says all the problems he meets in his line of duty present a kind of challenge that makes the job worth while.

State Man Finds 'Beggie' Thrives

Rutabaga Appears in Southern Part of State

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Rutabagas, that strange looking vegetable that's even more ugly than a turnip, may soon become an important agricultural industry in Southern Michigan.

It all started when R. H. Stringer of Durand, began his experiment on a "back 40" this summer with the help of a Flint broker and a Michigan State University expert.

The broker, William Goldstein, got in on the act when he contracted to buy all the "beggies" Stringer could grow. The Michigan State University Agricultural Agent, Blair Woodman, was consulted when Stinger realized he had never tried raising "beggies" before.

Just like they were supposed to grow there, the rutabagas yealded 400 bushels to an acre—both on high and low ground.

"I want to see 500 acres planted in Shiawassee County next year," said Goldstein, who runs Bill's Produce Co. "In fact, I'd like to build a processing and storage plant in the county," he says.

A "beggy" is a relatively cheap vegetable and are eaten in quantities among southern laborers, where Stinger's crop now is headed.

Stinger's crop is believed to be the first grown commercially in Shiawassee County and possibly the first in the state.

The plant has no so-called "critical" time in its growth and matures in 75 days.

State Expects Fruit Crop Low

August Rains Helped to Improve Size and Quality

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's fruit crop is expected to be 25 per cent below the 1949-53 average, the federal-state crop reporting service said today.

Based on a Sept. 1 estimate, fruit production should total 326,000 tons—a three per cent drop from last year.

However, late August rains and the cooler weather that followed improved size and quality of the fruit, the agency said.

The Aug. 1 estimate of an apple crop totaling 6,200,009 bushels remained unchanged. Drop was less than expected, while coloring was retarded by high temperatures last month. Quality, however, is better than anticipated after the May freeze.

The service said the peach crop is estimated at 2,100,000 bushels—one-sixth less than last year's and nearly one-third under the 1949-53 average.

The agency predicted the grape crop would be 22,000 tons, less than one-half of last year's and about five-eighths of the five-year average. Prospects in the Lawton-Mattawan area are good to excellent, but growers will harvest little crop at all around Paw Paw.

Background for LIVING

Your Neighbor's House

Wilson Harbages Enjoy Larger Home

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

"We simply had to do something to get the television out of the living room." Building a new house in order to solve this problem seems a little drastic. It's what Bonnie and Wilson Harbage of Birmingham did.

There were, of course, other reasons for building the red brick and ledge rock home in West Beverly Hills. There was the desire, so common, to build a house exactly to family specifications. Then too, the Harbages have frequent overnight guests and need an extra room.

In May they had decided to build and bought their lot. In early September they moved in, on the very day the house was scheduled to be finished. Luckily for them it was done, for they had to get out of their old house.

Their next step was agreeing to plans; but not the plans Mr. and Mrs. Harbage drew up for themselves. Like so many other people, when they learned just how expensive their ideal house would be, they settled for a stock plan, changing minor details.

They had a wonderful summer watching their house take form. "There were lots of decisions to make every day," Mrs. Harbage reminisces, "but it's been fun." However, she doesn't think much of her husband's talking about the next house he's going to build.

The large irregular tiles on the floor of the vestibule make a pleasing pattern and are easy to clean. To the left is a half wall of glass brick, closing off the living room. Up a step and to the right is the double-doored coat closet.

The huge mirror over the ledge rock fireplace at the far end of the living room mirrors both the peaceful interior scene and the outside, as seen through the window wall.

This mirror has an interesting history. Some years ago Mrs. Harbage's father, now dead, was an automobile sales representative in Africa. Buying a house on the island of St. Helena, he found it contained a number of interesting antiques. Among them was this mirror which he shipped to his daughter. She removed the ugly Victorian decorations on the top, had it re-gilded and gave it the place of honor on the mantelpiece of her new home.

Throughout the house there is evidence of the Harbages' love of fine old furniture. Two other excellent antiques in the delphinium blue and brown living room are the Boston rocker next to the hearth and the handsome cherry drop leaf table.

ANTIQUE BANQUET TABLE

The cherry table is a Harbage family heirloom. It is one end of a banquet table in perfect condition; the other two parts are owned by relatives. The lamp standing on it is made from a large blue and white pitcher wired for electricity.

* * *

The rugs are all new, but are copies of ones used in an earlier day. For the living room and dining room Mrs. Harbage chose large braided rugs with tones of brown and blue predominating. In the study and down the hall floor coverings are rag carpets.

This young family has discovered the joys of a family room already. Theirs goes by various names, depending on its current use—the TV room, the guest room, the study, the family room. High windows on two sides can be covered with rosy rayon faille curtains to make TV viewing easier. Here also, the children's parakeets chirp contentedly. A fine collection of old auto prints is framed above the comfortable sofa.

TWO COOKS IN FAMILY

For two adults, both of whom like to cook, the kitchen is all they could desire. Knotty pine cabinets with wrought iron hardware completely fill one wall, cross above the stove, and form a peninsula separating the work space from the eating area.

If he can use the grill, Mr. Harbage thoroughly enjoys cooking. His wife says they have lots of grilled meals. The stove is built in and has the grill unit incorporated in the top. Above the stove Mrs. Harbage has used her cherished butter pats for an original decoration.

The blue breakfast set blends well with the cheery colonial type wallpaper and the linoleum which looks like a rag rug. Both wallpaper and linoleum are red and blue.

Two bathrooms are placed back to back. Done in gray tile and pink and plum wallpaper, the inside one has a tub. A ventilating fan provides the necessary ventilation. The second bath with shower opens off the master bedroom and also off the back hall. This allows the children, when playing outside, to use it without going through the rest of the house. Wonderful idea, their mother says.

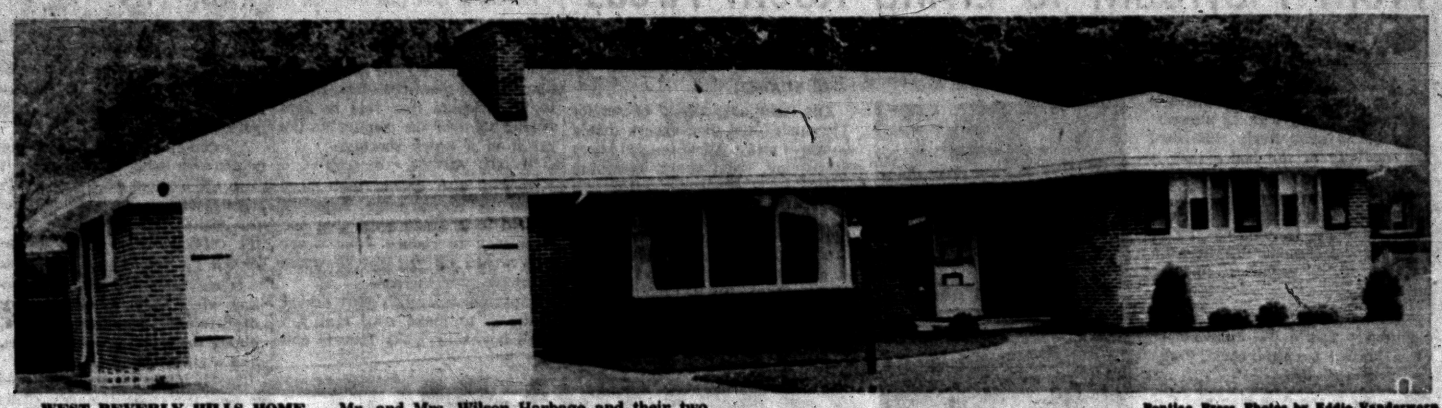

Having always wanted a room painted persimmon, Mrs. Harbage took her courage in both hands and used this color for the master bedroom. She was wise enough to use only white for her curtains and the bedspread so that the walls provide the sole touch of color.

Another product of Africa is used as a door stop here. It's a carved wooden elephant with real ivory tusks. Mrs. H. doesn't know for sure whether it's teak or mahogany. She's removed the tusks which stuck out at a dangerous angle.

Greg who was celebrating his sixth birthday the day we took the pictures, has a room with sand-colored walls and sunny yellow curtains. He has twin beds which give him space for overnight guests. The window sills here, as in every other room, are made of marble and provide an excellent place to set plants.

Bonnie Jean's room is yellow with black and white checked curtains and bedspread. There are dolls everywhere. She collects them and is fortunate enough to have all of her foreign dolls come directly from the countries of their origin. Thanks to her traveling grandfather and an uncle in the Navy, her collection is an extensive one. Currently a gay Spanish boy doll stands on her dressing table.

The lot on which the Harbages built is nearly square, measuring 105½x120. There are only four houses on this quiet street which is a few blocks west of Southfield and just below 13½ Mile road. The house was built by Miller Homes.

WEST BEVERLY HILLS HOME — Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Harbage and their two children have just moved into this new red brick home on Sylvan Lane in Birmingham. Seven rooms and an attached garage find ample space on a wide lot. Pontiac Press Photos by Eddie Vanderwerp

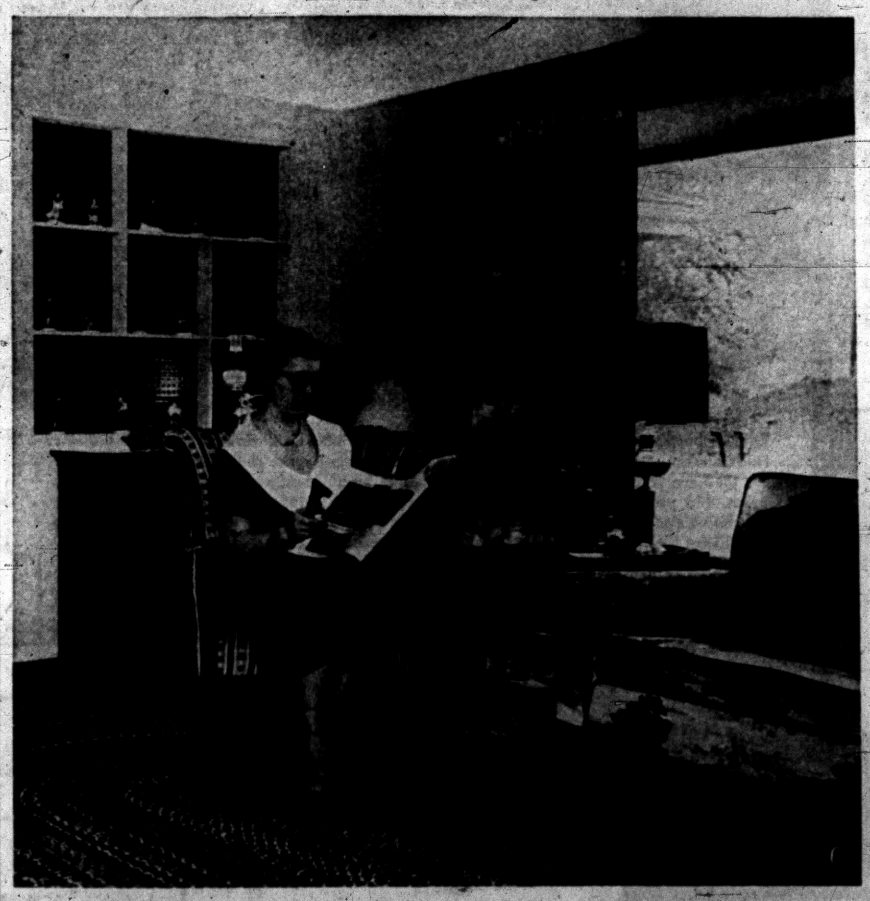

THE OLD AND THE NEW — Shades of blue and brown are combined in a room where antique and modern furniture join forces. The scenic drapery material is repeated on the sofa. The mantel holds an interesting collection of clear glass decanters.

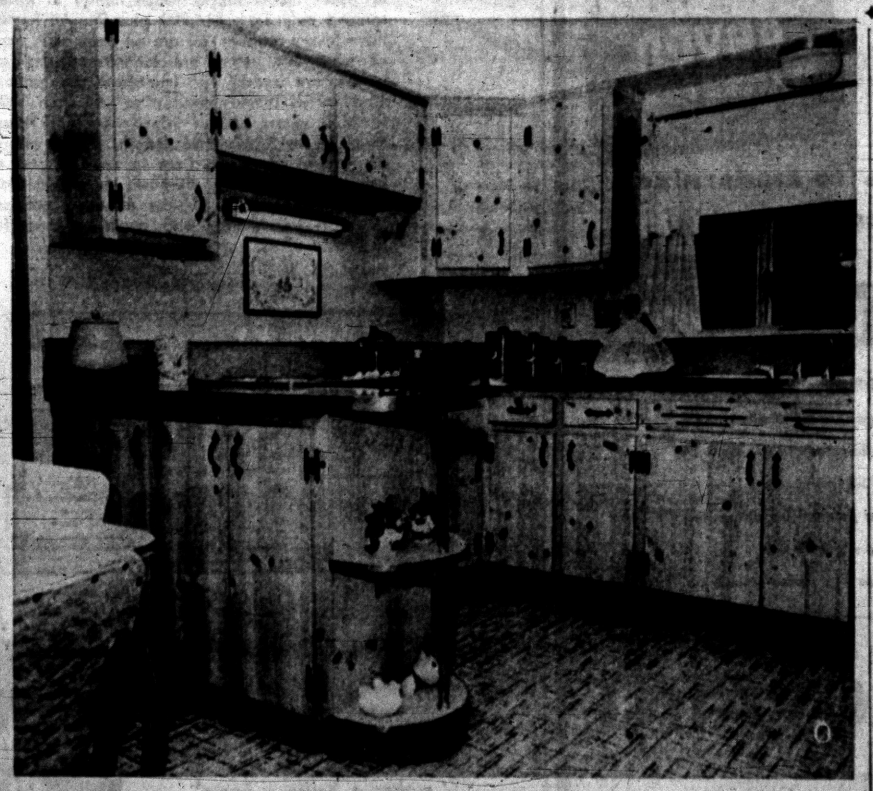

MIRROR FROM AFAR — All the way from the island of St. Helena this mirror traveled to become the focus of attention in a new home. Mrs. Harbage says it weighs a ton at least!

FAMILY ROOM — A 12x20 rag carpet sets the note of informality for this family room. The wrought iron lamp on the end table has a shade which depicts the history of glass. Though set high on the walls, the windows are numerous enough to give plenty of light.

LADY OF THE HOUSE — Mrs. Wilson Harbage takes time to sit down and enjoy her brand new home. Behind her may be seen her collection of Berta Hummel figurines. They show up well against the glass wall.

COLONIAL CHARM — Knotty pine cabinets, wrought iron hardware, linoleum that takes its pattern from a rag rug — all add to the theme of a colonial kitchen. The quaint sampler above the stove reads, "No matter where I serve my guests, It seems they like my kitchen best." Below it Mrs. Harbage has placed her antique butter pats.

Insulation Gaps Up Fuel Costs

Many home-owners will pay unnecessarily high fuel bills this winter because gaps in the insulation barrier protecting their homes will allow heat to escape like air from a punctured tire.

A continuous blanket of insulation must be tucked in all around.

* * *

Sometimes an out-of-the-way place such as the floor above an unheated garage, the wall separating the garage from the house itself, or the roof over an exposed porch may be overlooked when a house is insulated.

If so, an insulation contractor can blow mineral wool into these areas without damaging the home.

* * *

Mineral wool batts or blankets are stapled between roof rafters and collar joists, but the result won't be completely satisfactory if knee walls, gable-end walls, the cheeks and ceilings of dormer windows, or other areas are left bare of insulation.

* * *

Wall-to-Wall Carpet Question Answered

Frequently asked question about wall-to-wall carpet and the answer:

Q. I am living in a rented house, and know that in a few years, my husband may advance in his job and we will move to a new city. I like carpet wall-to-wall, but is it worthwhile if we have to move?

A. Enjoy living with your carpet as you like it. A wall-to-wall carpet can always travel with you. New tackless installations make removal easier. Or you can choose a "conformed" carpet, tailored to the shape of the room, but not fixed down. Remember that wall-to-wall material can be adapted to new floor areas much more easily than a rug of a fixed size and shape.

Hunting Gear Usable in Hurricane Crisis

The lighting and heating equipment used outdoors on family picnics and fishing trips can be pressed into emergency service inside the house during hurricanes, tornadoes, and other storms.

A gasoline - pressure lantern of the Coleman type is the same sort of equipment that was widely used as regular home lighting on farms before rural areas were electrified.

Power Saw Becomes Basic Workshop Tool

With any sizeable pattern building project goes the need for using a power saw. In fact, the portable electric saw has become basic equipment for home handymen, since it cuts from 10 to 28 times faster than hand sawing—depending upon the type and thickness of the material. Its hum is a harmonious song in large percentage of America's 11,000,000 workshops.

Unpainted Furniture Seen Emerging From Playroom to Living Room Areas

You can furnish a home on a shoething now that Mom's on the do-it-yourself beam.

Unpainted furniture, formerly relegated to playroom or nursery, may be so attractively refinished by the lady of the house that it will find its way into living room or master bedroom.

The craftsman, man or woman, employes just a few easy steps to achieve a beautiful chest, desk or dressing table.

Sanding is the first step and the experienced do-it-yourselfer knows that good sanding is essential to the beauty of a finished piece of wood.

FIRST SAND

The first sanding is done with a fine sandpaper. A convenient holder may be obtained so that the area may be covered quickly. New sandpaper may be slipped into the holder each time one becomes worn.

Wood particles must be dusted off after each sanding with a clean, dry brush. If particles are left behind they'll interfere with the flow of liquids and leave imperfection on the surface when it has dried. A clean lint-free cloth may be used, but be sure it is lint-free.

A clear sealer and primer should be used next. This equalizes hard and soft areas of the wood so that the entire surface will absorb color applications evenly. If the sealer is not used the natural beauty of the grain might be distorted. Then too the sealing action protects the wood against damaging moisture which causes swelling and warping.

USE SEALER

The clear coat should be set for 15 minutes and then excess should be wiped away. Allow several hours for drying. Sand again, removing dust.

Basic color stains or intermixes can provide mahogany, cedar, maple or walnut effects. Sanding is a vital step. Or perhaps you'd prefer driftwood, sage, redwood. A blond effect may be achieved by wiping a white resin over the wood. Sage, a soft-green hue, blends with many decorating schemes.

Application of this color stain is pretty much the same as for the first clear coat. Simply mix well and brush to the desired depth of color.

When the color coat is dry, sand with a very fine paper. Then apply your final coat which should give the wood a nice satin sheen.

Man's Personality Seen in Home Wall Trophies

He'll keel over, no doubt, when you do. You might even be shocked at your own generosity. But you may find that his trout or salmon makes a real decorative addition to your abode. (Think it over if it's a marlin or sailfish he's caught, however.)

* * *

Such is the psychology employed by Helen Ives, wife of Burl Ives, the ballad singer. She says:

"A man's home should reflect his personality. Burl is away from home a good deal and I like him to think of it as a place that houses his little treasures and trophies. It gives him a sense of roots, and he is always anxious to get home again."

Burl doesn't have the "little collector's" taste. He goes in for massive specimens. He prefers antiques and art involving goats, in memory of a goat ranch he once operated in California; boats, tribal drums and weapons and ships figureheads.

NO COMPLAINTS

Two large bronze plaques on his living room wall, one of a troubadour and a lute, the other a buxom beauty and a goat were hideous eyesores when he bought them in a junk shop. Did Helen complain? Nope. She had the plaques cleaned, polished, the frames smoothed and antiqued, and today these are charming additions to their New York living room.

* * *

Burl has on his South Pacific travels acquired the contents of a Maori museum including a frightening collection of spears, shields and other lethal weapons, but that didn't challenge Mrs. Ives as much as his model of the British royal yacht Enchantress. Says she:

"I must admit that really posed a problem. I try to integrate Burl's collection so that things are not pomposely displayed or look like eyesores. But what do you do with a 5-foot boat? I tried it on the living room table, on the fireplace, but it looked wrong. Finally we had a shelf made for it in the foyer and put an old sea chest under it. That way we got it out of the way but still keep it on view."

Other cherished possessions include a large cast bronze figure of the devil that Burl picked up in Ireland. It stands in the fireplace during the summer.

THREE DRUMS

Three Haitian drums add a colorful note to a corner of the living room. Spears and shields are mounted on the walls in the foyer and hallway. A ship's figurehead of Pocahontas is in one corner of the living room. Next to the fireplace is another figurehead that Burl thinks must be Vasco de Gama.

Burl, who is appearing in "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof," hasn't collected very much lately. But now it's happened again. Says Helen Ives:

"He's just found a wonderful war surplus store that has remarkable Civil War weapons—swords. We are trying to fit some of these into our decor now."

You can usually estimate that a single roll of figured wallpaper will cover 30 square feet.

Don't Waste Water—Repair Leaks, Drips

Friends of ours who lives out in the suburbs tells us the sad news that last month his water bill amounted to $28.57 which was about $28.00 more than he'd like it to be. Seems that this is happening all over the country as the result of a water shortage.

* * *

Now it also seems that more water in the average home is wasted so it would seem that one easy way to reduce your water bills would be just not to waste as much as in the past.

An excellent way to start saving water is to make sure that you don't have any leaky faucets and if you do, to replace the washers at once. The average dripping water can waste hundreds of gallons of water in a relatively short time.

The same thing goes for leaky flush tanks—fix 'em up and adjust the water level in the tank so that it contains only enough water for adequate flushing. This can be done simply by bending down the float attached by means of a metal rod to the inlet valve.

Few people, when they take a shower, wash their hands or work over the kitchen sink, adjust the faucet to provide just the amount of water required.

We all like to turn things on full blast and down the drain goes a lot of water. It's pretty hard to break this habit but what you can do is to install or have installed in the pipes something called a flow control valve.

This little gadget is an inexpensive type regulator which once installed, delivers to the faucet or fixture just the prescribed amount of flow regardless of pressure. If, for example, you install one on a line to the shower that will deliver 3 gallons per minute—that's all the water that's going to reach the shower regardless of water pressure.

Wet Down Before Use

Cement paint may be applied to damp masonry. Surfaces, in fact, should be moistened before it is applied and the film should be kept moist for a few hours after it is applied, so that the chemical reaction between the cement and the water becomes complete.

Ted's Readies Huge Expansion

When remodeling is completed and the new additions are done, Ted's will have 6000 square feet more of space than it does at present, L. M. Little has announced.

A second and larger dining room is planned, with sliding doors to close off portions of the room for private parties. The building will also include a new kitchen which will cater only to curb service trade.

Other rooms in the construction stage are a dishwashing department, employes lounge, dining room and dressing rooms, and a new bakery.

The old kitchen is being remodeled for increased efficiency. Tele-Tray service, an electronic system, will allow customers in the parking lot to call in their orders directly to the clerk.

Matching the motif of the present structure, the new building will be done in Crab Orchard stone and California redwood. A. N. Hickson is the contractor and Bradford Edwards the architectural engineer.

India's Union Health Ministry plans to establish 10 public health laboratories in different states under the country's second five year plan, New Delhi reports.

Private firms in Egypt are looking for a market for 26,000 tons of potatoes.

Four Times an Hour

The chimney-like action of convection heating is a natural process. It is continuous. In fact, all the air within a room passes through a convector, it is estimated, an average of four times per hour.

Mortgage debt now represents only a little more than half the proportion of the national income that it accounted for in 1930.

Far Eastern Romanticism Keynotes Purity of Line in the Modern Home

Romanticism coupled with practicality keynotes many of the modern homes, by borrowing from the Far East some of the genius and purity of line found in Japanese furnishings and art objects so popular in the contemporary interior.

Homeowners are multiplying floor area in their homes by adding outdoor living space so cleverly that more months each year may be spent on the patio, pavilion or lanai. Builders have discovered that native woods, available in all sections of the country, adapt themselves readily to a cosmopolitan design.

For an Oriental touch to your sky-roofed summer living room, Douglas fir 3x12" beams may be extended beyond the roof overhang of the house, and supported by 3x3" posts set into cement. These beams are spaced as far apart as the individual prefers and continue on several feet beyond support standards to impart a pagoda expression to the patio.

If built on a side of the house away from the street where the home forms an L or U, and planned to avoid hot afternoon sun pockets, the lanai serves as an entertaining spot, a refuge for relaxation, breezeway from garage to house or an ideal play spot for the kiddies. Floor may be of cement, flagstones, or any desired textural paving. This expansion of floor may be interrupted by planting areas and dotted with potted shrubs for decorating interest.

BATTEN BACKGROUND

With siding of board and batten as a background for your pagoda patio, maintenance is nil, and the rich natural texture of western red cedar may be stained or left to weather to a soft gray. Such environment is conducive to gracious, yet casual, entertaining.

For complete protection from the sun, a fabric of your choice may be attached to the top of the fir beams next to the roof of the house, and rolled down across the patio roof by means of pull cords. Gay striped - canvas awning gives a party look and furnishes an excellent refreshing-looking ceiling.

Such a shade will also keep the sun from shining directly into the windows, and cool the interior of the home as well.

This dramatic lanai may be integrated into new house plans, but is just as easy to add after the house has been built. It may be adapted to any purpose, placed on any logical side of the house, for the flexibility of fir or cedar permits your imagination to have its way in almost any construction design.

To carry out the wood theme, furniture of weather - resistant cedar will be charming on your patio and may be built on wheels for quick and easy winter storage.

Poor Quality Paint Causes Cracks, Peeling

If you are real unfortunate, you may find painted areas on the outside of your house where the paint film has cracked. When the cracks only go through the first coat this condition is known as "checking." When they go deeper and are wider it's called "alligatoring" because the man who discovered it thought it looked like the hide of an alligator.

* * *

Checking is not too serious—you simply have to sand down the top coat 'til it's free from cracks and then repaint. Alligatoring is not so easy. You have to sand or scrape off all the paint and then start off fresh.

These two conditions are caused by the same general conditions. Prfobably the most frequent cause is applying a finish coat of paint before the undercoat is really hard and dry.

When this occurs, the top coat—which is exposed to the air—dries hard but the undercoat does not because it can't get air. It moves around a little and the next thing you know the top coat has cracked.

* * *

The other major cause is applying different paints over one another. Some paints are a good deal more elastic than others. They actually have the ability to stretch as the wood under them expands and contracts due to changes in temperature or absorption of moisture.

Textile Coatings Join Research Campaigns

The formulation of protective and decorative coatings for textiles calls for great skill. For many years, members of the paint, varnish and lacquer industry have manufactured industrial chemical coatings for factory application to awnings, tents, canvas lawn furniture and other textiles.

These coatings, which have the dual properties of imparting color and water-resistance, must combine a high degree of color fastness, weather resistance and flexibility.

Chemical research goes on continuously to develop colorful protective and decorative finishes for many household fabrics. These coatings will enable certain fabrics to be fire-resistant, stain-proof and even impervious to dirt—all without sacrificing the softness and beauty of the uncoated material.

Bathtubs Are Versatile

Many bathtubs today actually are 3 in 1 fixtures, permitting the user a choice of taking a standing shower, a sitting shower, or a sitting bath, with plenty of room lengthwise to lie back and soak the kinks out of tired muscles.

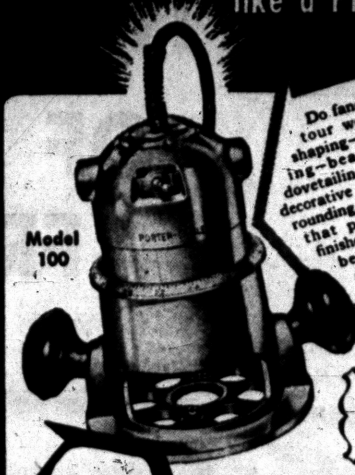

Plastic Duct Sealer

A tape made of plastic coated cotton cloth 14 thousandths of an inch thick with permanent color and adhesion is being used to seal duct work in heating, ventilating, and exhausting systems. The tape is desicribed as highly water and moisture resistant.

Two film theaters in Athens now offer wide - screen projection movies.

There is no redecoration problem with wood paneling and it requires little maintenance. It may be left in its natural color, or stained or painted—depending on the decorative effect desired.

Mortise Lock Repairing Requires Some Know-How

DO . . . remember that a mortise lock, even when still mechanically perfect, may fail to work because it is clogged with dust, paint or oil.

DO . . . blow powdered graphite into the keyhole and into the front of the lock where the latch retracts.

DO . . . if the graphite fails to produce results, remove the lock from the door recess after first taking off the knobs and the shaft to which they are attached.

DO . . . soak the lock in turpentine for several hours, allow it to dry and then repeat the graphite treatment.

DO . . . as a last resort, open the lock itself to see if a spring is broken; handle it with care, as the inside parts are loose and may be difficult to replace in the correct positions.

* * *

DON'T . . . remove the lock from the door recess by force

—forget that repositioning the strike plate will solve some door lock problems.

DON'T . . . forget that if a broken key cannot be jiggled or poked out of place, it can be removed by opening the lock just as you look for a broken spring.

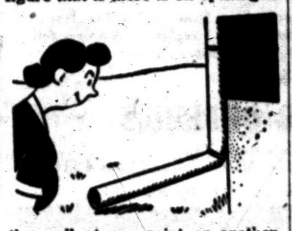

DON'T . . . overlook resetting the strike plate if the bolt fails to enter it; if the bolt is only slightly off, filing the plate opening may correct the condition.

Common Sense Can Often Cure Leaky Basement

There are some leaky basements that are almost impossible to cure and some which are just as difficult to cure but there are a lot that can be cured just with a little common sense.

The common sense involved in these cases is that if there isn't any water around the basement wall, it can't get into the basement no matter how leaky the walls might be.

An example of uncommon sense is the leader or downspout from a gutter which discharges all the water the guter collects right into the ground next to the basement wall. It doesn't take an expert to figure that if there is an opening in the wall at one point or another, some of this water will find it.

The cure here is easy — just run a line from the end of the leader or downspout to carry the water away from the house. Carry it as far as is practical.

Another thing that produces leaky basements is improper grading around the house. If there are low spots in the ground close to the basement walls, water will drain off the adjoining ground into this low spot and then seep down around the wall.

The cure here is to grade around the house so that the earth slopes down and away from the wall at all points. And, of course be sure that there are no low points.

Lots of homes have concrete walks that run along the side of the house. Many of these have settled so that they are pitched toward the basement wall. When it rains these walks work just like an apron and direct a concentrated stream of water to the small strip of soil between the walk and the basement wall.

These walks should be pitched so that they deflect the water away from the house and the joint between the walk and the basement wall should be filled with a waterproof compound—tar or caulking compound.

Paint Discolered Tile

The appearance of old and discolored tile walls can be improved with paint. First of all, remove any dirt or soap scum that may be present by washing the tile with a detergent. Then roughen the surface with garnet paper of 3-0 or 4-0 grade. With a small striping brush, apply enamel to the mortar joints.

After allowing this coating to dry for 24 hours, apply two coats of enamel to the entire wall. Light sanding between these coats will aid adhesion.

Don't Fear Your Tastes in Color

"Go ahead and use colors you like when color-styling the exterior of your home, but be practical about it, too," advises John Abbate, New York color stylist and interior decorator.

Abbate illustrates his thinking with a color scheme using complimentary colors to contrast against an urban background where there are no trees, shrubs, or natural beauty.

"A colorful scheme is needed in the city," he says. "Suppose you choose a medium - gray asphalt shingle roof for a start. It's practical, long - wearing, and won't show soot and dirt. It's smart, too.

"Gay French blue siding would be a good complement, with white for window surrounds, shutters, and eves trim. Then use bold and bright Chinese red to accent the front door.

"But while this might be smart in the city, it would probably look like a 'carnival poster' in the country. Country color schemes are better if subdued, allowing the house to merge with its background.

"You might begin with a deep green asphalt roof, move to pale green for siding, continue with pale citron yellow window and eves trim, white shutters and flower boxes, and then use an apple green front door.

Of course," he cautions, "factors like architectural style, climate, and the materials selected for the exterior should be considered, but reflect your own tastes as much as other factors will allow."

Sliding Door Provides Privacy for Youngsters

When two youngsters occupy the same room, ordinarily they have little privacy. However, by using a bit of imagination and ingenuity, the fix-it-themselves family can create a room that has two of everything, plus built-in privacy.

* * *

First, the room is divided by means of an extra-wide divider desk and closets. This way, there'll be a separate study and clothes storage area for each child. The separation of the space is completed by a sliding door.

* * *

Use of hardboards for the closet walls, desks, soffit and as underlayment for the flexible floor covering makes such a room improvement both economical and easy.

New Plumbing Fixtures

Glass-hard surfaces which are stain-proof and fade-proof and easy to clean are characteristics of modern plumbing fixtures. These factors as well as better appearance and glamorous colors and matching designs have given impetus to the modernization of bathrooms and powder rooms.

SIDE OPENING—About the only respect in which windows haven't changed is that they're still made of glass framed in wood. Typical of modern improvements are the new-style hinges used on the ponderosa pine casement window above. The hinges swing the sash clear of the frame, leaving an opening at the side through which the outer surface of the glass can easily be reached and washed. The sash fits tightly when it's closed, and weatherstripping keeps air from forcing its way through the crack.

When moving furniture around, slide it on the smooth surface side of masonite. Save rugs and floor.

Regular Inspection Insures Full Value of Home

A house ages constantly in small ways. A shingle is loosened by a high wind, a wood or masonry joint is opened to moisture by a sudden weather change, natural settling crumbles small pieces of foundation mortar, cracks cement and causes floor sills to sag. These and other tiny defects weaken the wear-resistance of the structure and help hasten its deterioration.

* * *

The home owner can maintain the full value and comfort of his house, and lengthen its life expectancy, only by regular inspection and prudent care. Here is a home repair guide, suggested by the Construction Research Bureau, national clearing house for building information:

MASONRY

Regularly inspect brickwork, foundation walls, chimneys, cement floor and stone steps for loose, crumbling mortar or cracks. Remove loose mortar, and press fresh mortar firmly into place, refinishing to match existing joints. Calk any cracks to seal out moisture.

EXTERIOR WALLS

Repair any cracks that have opened around window and door frames with calking gun and compound. Replace crumbling or missing putty around glass. Refasten any loose siding or curled shingles. If house has not been painted within three years, repaint before too greatly deteriorated.

INTERIOR

An inexpensive level quickly will show if sagging sills and floors need rebracing. Check structural beams for indication of dry rot or termites. If strip or parquet flooring is loose, renail thoroughly until solid and smooth. Then install a resilient tile flooring, such as Kentile, to insure floor protection and underfoot ease.

* * *

Examine ceilings and walls for dampness. If you discover any damp spot which fails to dry when windows are opened and cross-ventilation established, this may mean condensation has resulted from dampness which has gotten into the house through a leaking roof or walls. If your house is new call its builder, if it is an older house, consult your contractor immediately

ROOF

Check ridges, valleys and flashings for warping, looseness, corrosion and need of paint. Examine underside of roof and rafters from interior, if attic is unfinished. Look for any signs of rot, wrap or loosenes in roof, rafters and beams.

* * *

PLUMBING

Examine walls and ceilings near all pipes for water stains. If water does not drain freely in any pipe, it usually can be cleared with a strong chemical made for this purpose; if not, it may be necessary to have a plumber take the pipes apart.

Census Bureau Reports

Cost of Urban Housing Up 20 Per Cent in Five Years

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Census Bureau has reported that the cost of urban houses has gone up 20 per cent in the past five years.

On the other hand, the agency said, rents on non-farm units have gone from a median of $43 to $44 in five years.

The median sale price was $8,500 in 1950 compared to $10,200 this year.

The bureau said that 2.3 per cent of the nation's housing units were available for rent early this summer, an increase over the available vacancy rate of 1.6 per cent in five years.

There are approximately 48 million housing units in the United States, 5,545,000 of them on farms and 42,243,000 non-farm.

QUARTERLY REPORT

The figures were contained in the first of a series of quarterly reports to be made by the bureau. It covers the second quarter of April, May and June.

The number of units for rent increased from 1.1 to 1.8 per cent in the past five years. The for-sale portion was the same as in 1950, about one-half of one per cent, despite the record volume of new construction in recent years.

In addition to the units generally available for rent or sale, there were an additional 2.2 per cent unoccupied but not available since they were reserved for farm workers, dilapidated, or for seasonal use only.

* * *

By geographical regions, the available vacancy rates deviated substantially from the national average, ranging from 1.2 per cent in the northeast to 3.9 per cent in the West.

LIVING ROOM — This outdoor living room set has features which do not appear in the sketch such as the extreme simplicity of construction. This appeals to the week-end furniture builder who may have only hand tools to work with. The legs and other members of this set are so designed that an ordinary hand saw is all that is needed to cut the pieces to size from stock sizes of lumber. When it is time to store them for the winter just remove the pegs. Actual-size cutting diagrams and assembling directions are on each pattern. Single patterns are 25 cents or all five numbers will be mailed to one address for $1 postpaid. Write to Workshop, Pontiac Press, Bedford Hills, N. Y.

Attach Insulation to Furring in Barn

Barns and other farm buildings lacking inside wall studs can be insulated without difficulty. The mineral wool blankets are fastened to flat walls by nailing the insulation to furring strips, or the blankets may be attached with nails and washers, or nail clips.

* * *

Several common types of metal clips which stick to walls with the help of adhesive will hold the insulation blankets in place.

* * *

A vapor barrier of waterproof paper then should be nailed or clip-fastened over the mineral wool to prevent moisture condensation within the wall. Lower sections of walls can be protected by a wainscoting of wood or metal.

Not for Sports Cars

General Tire & Rubber Co. of Akron, Ohio, is making a tire that weighs nearly a ton and stands 7½ feet high. It is a 27.00x33 size and costs $3,500.

CHEST OF DRAWERS — This storage chest is used as a head piece for a box spring with legs and may be made to fit any bed of this general type. It takes up less than twelve inches at the head of the bed yet the space inside is so skillfully arranged with removable linen trays and two big blanket bins, lots of storage space is provided. The front drops down to allow access to the inside without disturbing things on top. A real time and labor saver. Thee two chests of drawers are easy weekend furniture builder projects as all pieces are square cuts made with a hand saw. The patterns are 25 cents each. All patterns mailed within 24 hours. Add 2 cents per pattern for first class mail delivery. Write to Workshop, Pontiac Press, Bedford Hills, N. Y.

Warm Windows Help to Keep Winter Outside

The secret of keeping warm is to shut out the cold exactly what convector heating units do. There is still time to have convectors installed and functioning before cold weather sets in.

* * *

A room is comfortable when outside walls and windows are kept warm. If these surfaces are cold, the room will be chilly and occupants will feel annoying drafts along the floor.

The heating element of a convector consists of a finned hot water tube, concealed behind a smooth furniture steel enclosure. An arched opening at the bottom permits cold air along the floor to be drawn into the convector.

As the air passes through the fins it is warmed, leaving the convector through a grille opening at the top and rising to the ceiling. As it cools, it gradually settles to the floor to begin the process all over again.

Let Junior Fix His Own Room

Back-to-school may mean there is suddenly a young adult in the house. The step into junior or senior high school is more than a summer's lapse of time. It can suddenly create a new individual with a mind of his own and the need for a place at home to call his own, too.

* * *

The best rule for furnishing a room for a teenager is to supply basic carpet and simple furniture, and let him or her add the overlay of decorative—or non-decorative! —enthusiasms that are current. These whims will change constantly, but they are expendable. The basics can live on.

Start with a simple textured carpet that has enough color in it to suggest a decorating scheme. Then let the child choose lamps and pillows, draperies and bedspreads to blend. Use furniture that is combinable and re-combinable.

The carpet selected should be pretty, if teenage boys will excuse the expression, but it should be rugged, too. There are many versions of textures in varied levels, of multi-color combination of yarns, of tweeds and tweed patterns that are designed to take rough treatment and stay handsome.

YOUNG GUESTS

Their pattern is modest enough to blend with any change in decorating plan, but there is enough interest underfoot to disguise signs of daily activity.

A young adult with a room of his own will undoubtedly have guests. Usually these friends are not fussy. They will sleep in bunks, on cots, four cross-wise on a double bed or just roll up in a blanket on the floor. In such situations, there are two good reasons for a carpet in the room. Its softness and warmth permits expansion of informal hospitality for the extra guest.

And the acoustic effect of a carpet muffles the sounds of the inevitable past-midnight conversations —not to mention the radio that so often accompanies concentration on homework!

* * *

If the parents give the teenager a head start with basic furnishings he can be proud of, and let him express individuality with "little touches" in his own room, the general feeling will persist that home is a pretty nice place to grow up in. No parents could make a better investment.

Rayon's Synthetic Latex Helps Colors, Durability

A very thin coating of synthetic latex on the back of rayon cloth makes it wear four times longer.

The individual fibers are thus locked together in a cloth that retains its bright colors and also can breathe.

The cloth is being used for auto seat covers, and tests are being made in the home furnishings field.

DUPONT PAINTS for every purpose

Aluminum Paint Retards Creosote Wood Bleeding

Not so very long ago if you didn't want to paint exterior woodwork you gave it a coat or two of creosote and let it go at that. In those days creosote was about the only wood preservative available and while it did do a fair job of protecting the wood from decay and insects it had certain disadvantages.

* * *

One was that it gave the wood a dark appearance and the other was that it has a tendency to bleed through paint. This means that if you apply paint directly over wood that has been treated with creosote, the creosote will soften up the paint and make quite a mess of things.

If you have woodwork that may be treated with creosote, the first thing is to make sure. You can make sure by applying paint the woodwork. Just do small samples and be sure to hit the protected spots where the wood has had the least exposure to the sun and weather. Give the paint about ten days.

If the wood has been treated with creosote, it should bleed through the paint in this time. If nothing happens chances are that either creosote wasn't used or has lost its effectiveness because of exposure to sun and weather. Should the paint begin to bleed then you have a creosote base and before you can apply paint the creosote must be sealed off. This can be done by applying a coat of aluminum paint to the wood.

* * *

The aluminum paint will act as a seal and also serve as a prime coat. When it is dry you can go ahead and safely apply two coats of finish exterior house paint.

Roofing Weight Differs

Asphalt roofing is available in weights from 45 pounds to 325 pounds per square. A square is the amount of roofing needed to cover 100 square feet of roof area. The wide ranges of weights, patterns, textures, and colors in asphalt roofing make it suitable for every kind of building.

Use Chalk Line Guide

Chalk lines are useful guides when laying tile floors and hanging wallpaper. A chalk line is made by stretching a length of string between two nails, rubbing chalk over the string, then lifting the string slightly and allowing it to snap back.

Heed These Basic Rules for Ceramic Tiles Care

Do . . . remember that applying ceramic tiles to walls can now be done by the family handyman because of new special adhesives.

* * *

Do . . . prime the walls, whether plaster, wood or wallboard, with a mixture of shellac and denatured alcohol, mixed half and half.

Do . . . press the tiles in place with a slight twisting motion, but not so vigorously that the adhesive is pressed upward.

Do . . . know whether the tiles you bought are self-spacing; if they aren't, place toothpicks between the rows to allow room for filling the joints.

* * *

Do . . . fill the joints with ready-mixed tile grout, applying it according to directions 24 hours after the tiles have been installed.

* * *

Don't . . . apply ceramic tiles over a rough wall until all irregularities have been smoothed.

Don't . . . spread the adhesive over too large an area, as it begins to dry fairly rapidly.

* * *

Don't . . . forget that the easiest and quickest way to cut tiles is with a tile cutter, which can be rented inexpensively.

Radiating Looks Seen in Clocks

NEW YORK (INS) — Time was when clocks were round objects with numbers on them—today the newest models have a "radiating" look and no numbers.

Designer George Nelson has created some new electric wall clocks to bear this out. One has 12 tapered, four-sided spokes radiating 15 inches from a central disc.

* * *

The modern Mr. Nelson made one concession to convention—he fashioned a set of three round leather-bound units.

Framed in a wire brass stand, the triple-duty item includes an electric clock, thermometer and barometer. Dials of the leather-encased trio are black, with a red second hand for the clock and red indicator on the barometer.

Bird cages, perches and swings should be scrubbed with hot soapsuds at least once a week.

Repairing Creaky Stairs Demands Investigation

Do determine first, by a close examination, whether the treads and risers are held together with nails or a groove arrangement, as the method of repair differs in each case.

Do when the tread-riser joint is fastened by nails, stand on the tread (or have someone else do it) while you drive new finishing nails through the top of the tread into the riser.

Do drive in the nails in pairs, slanted toward each other so the ends almost meet inside the riser.

Do when the tread-riser has a groove arrangement, remove the strip of moulding under the tread overhang and drive a wedge upward into the groove joint.

Do finish the job properly on either type of tread-riser joint by setting the nails and filling holes with wood putty or by cutting off the ends of the wedges neatly and replacing the moulding strip.

* * *

Don't make the mistake of driving nails into a groove joint or split wood will be the almost inevitable result.

Don't forget that if the nails do not resist the hammering all the way down, you will know that the nails have missed the riser and your work will have been in vain.

Don't use the original nail holes when replacing the moulding or the nails will not hold tightly.

Don't attempt to rebuild the stair frame unless you know exactly what you are doing, since there is always a danger of weakening the house framing.

Modern Bathtub Features Built-In Seat Addition

The built-in seat has become as characteristic a feature of the modern bathtub as the overhead shower.

Some bathtubs have corner seats, some end seats, while practically all have a flat front bench rim.

The built-in end seat of a rectangular bathtub or the corner seat of a square bath is a blessing to elderly members of the family who use it for taking a sitting shower.

For many of these, stiffened with arthritis, a bath in the conventional manner stretched out at length would be out of the question. And a standing shower would involve too much risk of a fall.

* * *

Some square bathtubs have two seats in opposite corners, the bathing area being on the diagonal. Other types have a single seat.

Asphalt Best Method for Waterproofing

The waterproofing quality which keeps roofs water-tight also can be used to keep dampness from rotting the base of wood posts.

When a post is to rest on concrete, masonry, or other wood, a piece of asphalt roofing can be cemented to the bottom of the post before putting the post in place.

The same waterproofing quality explains why asphalt roll roofing is often laid on the ground beneath crawl spaces.

Appliances See Hard Progress

WASHINGTON, D.C. — What is an ideal finish for such home appliances as ranges, washing machines and refrigerators?

* * *

If an appliance manufacturer were to state his specifications, he would probably say: "It must be flexible and tough enough to take a lot of punishment. It must be able to withstand impact from all kinds of mishandled objects—including everything from pots and pans to Junior's toy hammer—without chipping or marring.

It must be easy to clean and should retain its gloss for the lifetime of the appliance. It should be resistant to food acids, hot grease, caustic or abrasive cleaners and alkalies.

Not many years ago, such a blanket requirement for a finish would have been considered a challenge practically impossible to meet. The assignment of providing a finish with good chemical and heat resistance was in opposition to that of providing resistance to chipping. Coatings which fulfilled the former requirement were brittle and unrepairable.

Not until the chemists of the paint, varnish and lacquer industry developed the modern synthetic resins did the appliance manufacturer's—and the housewife's—dream come true. The necessity for compromising desirable features has been reduced to such a degree that it is hardly a factor in many cases.

These resins, used as a raw material in the manufacture of these specific industrial chemical coatings, combine qualities which cannot be obtained by many other types of finishes.

Furniture Designers Use Materials, Both Old and New, to Achieve Effect

NEW YORK — Though no more materialistic than the rest of us, today's designers have turned material-minded. This mental affinity for beautiful and attractive materials and substances, has provided new interest for case and occasional pieces.

* * *

The list of new materials — some combined with old for startling and fresh results—is endless. Paraquetry has been added to plastics; marble chips have likewise been combined with plastics; drawier pulls o ropen galleries on canse pieces; while the silvery metals — pewter, chrome and aluminum—are important as ferrules, as hardware—or even to accent the outline of an oddly shaped table.

Brass, for some time an important accent metal, is seen in new versions ranging from moldings outlining drawers and doors to decorative joints for a sleep sofa. Slate has moved from the schoolroom blackboard to provide tops for tables; while leather is no longer used just for its serviceability, but also because it is outstandingly decorative.

An oriental flavor is apparent in living rooms but all of them employ a combination of materials and finishes certainly not known in the Orient of old. Favored wood is cherry in a variety of light-toned and dark finishes—even lacquer, —with table tops utilizing pressed Kappa shells, white crackle leather, granite, marble — and even a figured tortoise-shell leather. All anklets on the case pieces were in pewter, as were drawer pulls. On still other pieces, two woods—cherry and teak—gave surface interest.

Another concern concentrated on copper as an accent material. A complete line of cocktail tables featured copper tops, lacquered to eliminate polishing chores for the housewife. Another concern featured slate tops on cocktail tables, with interest - catching brass x-stretchers.

Leather, long a material in both traditional and contemporary pieces, achieves a decorative look. Leather sling backs for rattan-framed dining chairs, and in tile-sized squarex for the front of a buffet lend sophistication to the dining pieces of this walnut and rattan group.

Kitchen Ventilating Fan Reduces Vapor Damage

Many houses are inadequately ventilated by natural means. As a result, structural damage may result from excessive moisture trapped indoors. In designing all houses, adequate ventilation should be considered. Kitchen ventilating fans are an excellent means of removing excessive water vapor that results from cooking. The same type of fan can aid with the removal of excessive moisture from the parts of the house where bathing and laundering create vapor.

Highly desirable, of course, is a ventilating system which would begin to operate automatically as soon as the relative humidity in a house reached the safe maximum. Such a system would relieve the home owner of the responsibility for constantly watching relative humidity to avoid excess.

A sealer is usually applied as the first coat on the surface to be painted.

Natural Interiors Need Compensating Warmth

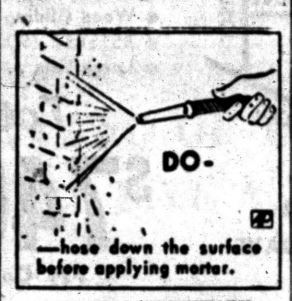

The use of natural building materials for the interior—masonry, wood, expanses of glass — is a characteristic of contemporary architecture, as is the open plan. But these call for some area of compensating warmth, annd design interest.

Carpet provides this through interesting texture or color combinations or gentle pattern. And accoustically, it is vital to balance the over-use of hard-surface materials.

Carpet literally swallows up the reverberations set up by air-born noises or sounds of household machinery. A quieter house is more pleasant to live in.

Vacuum the Screens

When taking screens in for the winter, first vacuum-clean them thoroughly and then see that they are well covered to prevent dust and dirt from accumulating. Newspapers will do.

PATCHING BRICKWORK

Do . . . avoid damaging the solid mortar by taking out only that material which gives easily.

* * *

Don't . . . forget to keep a wet rag or scrub brush handy to wipe off immediately any mortar that falls on the face of the bricks, as it may be difficult to remove later.

Don't . . . neglect to use the end of the trowel to indent the mortar in the joints slightly so that rain water will shed quickly.

Don't . . . consider the repair job finished until the patched mortar joints have been wet down at least once a day for several days.

Don't . . . overlook the possibility of doing an overall first-class job and preventing future trouble by spraying or brushing the entire wall with a colorless waterproof compound.

WHAT PRICE A HOME? — Map shows typical costs of building a Federal Housing Administration "standard home" in key areas throughout the country, as disclosed in a report following a 52-city survey by the FHA. Cleveland is the highest-cost city in the nation. It costs $9,157 to build the same house there that would cost $6,224 in Phoenix, Ariz., the lowest-cost city. FHA defines its "standard home" as a one-story frame building with 897 square feet. Heating and cost of lot are not included in the price tags. Nor were basement, garage, landscaping, porch and similar improvements. Figures on map indicate cost on July 1 and amount of increase, if any, since Jan. 1.

Sealer Halts Mottling Appearance of Paints

Sealer for plaster walls is usually an alkali-resistant varnish which is used either clear or lightly pigmented. Sealer for wallboard or other highly porous surfaces is a very highly pigmented finish designed to fill the pores and present a non-porous surface for subsequent coats.

What-Not Shelves Answer Figurine Protection Woes

By STEVE ELLINGSON

VAN NUYS, Calif. — It's either a feast or a famine in this life, and sometimes it's both. It wasn't many years ago, before the war, when a person was lucky to earn $50 a month. In those days people couldn't even afford to buy castor oil for the kids. But times have changed, now most people are long on money, but it doesn't buy much.

* * *

There's one consolation about life in the fretful '50s however, nobody has to bear the financial burdens all by himself. If you are short of money, the tax collector too will be disappointed. In the old days you could study the price cycles and know pretty well which end of the hawg you'd be eating off of the following winter.

But those price cycles don't seem to mean much anymore. The only way we can predict conditions today is to guess what Congress is going to do, or how much food the foreign countries are going to demand to keep from getting into the Communist camp.

Now we have to guess how much the bureaucrats are going to waste and how many airplanes the generals are going to want. Then too, there's the question of whether the war to end civilization is going to start in March or wait until after the next presidential election.

PREDICTIONS DIFFICULT

Frankly speaking, things have gotten so complicated that it's pretty hard to predict anything. But that's all right, after all we brought nothing into this world and we're not going to take anything out of it. The only thing we need to worry about is what to do with the things we accumulate while we're here.

* * *

For example, this seems to be a knicknack and gimcrack era. No matter whose home you go to, you have to be pretty careful or you're sure to knock over a ceramic horse or a plastic pig. That happened to me last week — I knocked over a statue of Confucius that was standing in a little pot of ivy. It was embarrassing.

Of course, these little figurines are mighty pretty and add tone to a living room so we don't want to do without them. The only problem is to find a safe place to put them. All of which brings us up to the Hollywood What-not shelf pictured here with NBC's television actress Marley Sanderson.

This is a very easy article to build and is designed to hold tall figurines as well as small things. We completed the shelf pictured in a couple of hours so you see it's an easy project. Wall shelves are becoming very popular because they can be rearranged frequently and different things can be placed on them, whereas a picture looks the same month after month.

So folks, if you have some knicknacks, dishes, or things of that kind that you want to show off, all you need is the full size pattern, a few simple hand tools and a little determination. Anyone can build this shelf. The pattern lists the required materials along with simple step-by-step directions.

* * *

To obtain the full size Hollywood What-not Shelf pattern No. 58 send 35 cents in coin to Steve Ellingson, the Pontiac Press, Van Nuys, California.

Other patterns you will enjoy:

Building Readied for Michigan Life

Michigan Life Insurance Co.'s $1,250,000 new building on Woodward avenue near Thirteen Mile road is 90 per cent completed, according to Scott E. Lamb, firm president.

He said plans are on schedule for moving into the four-story landmark by Nov. 1. Landscaping of the grounds, driveways and parking area, along with installation of a lawn sprinkling system, are under way.

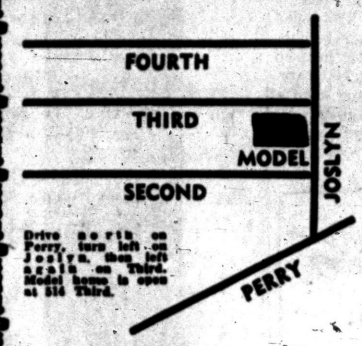

Some offices of the building will be a drive-in bank branch, a national sales office and a firm which will have the only Oakland County direct wire to the New York Stock Exchange.

WASHDAY HELP—Washday no longer need be blue Monday with these three gadgets to hasten the job of hanging out the clothes. Everything is taken to the drying yard on one trip. The canvas hopper for the wet wash is removable for washing and drying along with the clothes. Use it as a laundry bag between washdays. The pattern shows the quick and easy way to cut and stitch the hopper from three yards of material. The portable reel holds lots of line. The fancy box for pins slides along where needed. The parts for all three pieces are traced from the pattern directly to the wood and are then ready to saw out and assemble. A copy of pattern 441 will be mailed for 25 cents. Government Requires Windows Be Treated

A treatment that for practical purposes eliminates sticking and rattling of standard double-hung wood windows is required by "Commercial Standard CS190-53" of the U. S. Department of Commerce.

Windows that meet the requirements of this "voluntary standard of the trade" must be treated with a chemical that repels water and acts as a preservative. It minimizes shrinking, swelling, and warping.

Builders Offer Lots on Water

One thousand acres of land are being developed into Oakland County's newest lake subdivision, Lakewood Village. Located just south of M59 in White Lake Township, this subdivision already has more than five miles of county approved and maintained roads.

* * *

The several spring-fed lakes, among them Brendel Lake and the new Lake Neva, are joined together by a series of canals. Ninety per cent of the lots offered are waterfront lots. The 65-acre man-made lake, as well as the several miles of winding streams, has a natural sand bottom.

There are no lots narrower than 80 feet at the building line; depth. Four hundred feet of sand beach has been reserved for a community beach, and footings are already in for a community house.

At the present time there are eleven homes under construction, with two of them scheduled for completion within the next two weeks. Four builders offer some eighty-five stock plans to the prospective buyer. Each builder has a model open daily. If minimum building requirements are met, individuals may plan and build a home of their own planning. This is not a project community. A minimum of 1050 square feet in each house is required. There will be no summer cottages in the area.

ROAD EXTENSION

It is expected that the proposed extension of Northwestern Highway will be accessible within one mile of the village. It can be entered now from either Bogie Lake road or from Highland road.

* * *

Clarence Schuett Realty Co. is handling the sale of all lots and houses. Lots may be had for as low as $1850, while completed homes (including the lot) range from $15,000 to $35,000.

Zip-On Covers Feature Quick Change Qualities

Quick change is a feature of two new offerings. A wastebasket has a zip-on cover of moire protected by a layer of transparent krene plastic. It affords easy cleaning.

From San Bernadino, Calif., comes the idea for zip-on seat sections for automobile seat covers. When the much-used seat sections wear, they can quickly be replaced with new ones without disturbing the rest of the cover.

Peppermint Stick School

In Stamford, Conn., a new school building has chimneys painted to resemble peppermint candy sticks. To celebrate the opening of the school, a party was held for all the incoming students. In addition to the ice cream and cake that were served, there were peppermint candy sticks that looked like the school's chimneys.

Indiana Limestone Ideal Material for Constructing Outdoor Projects

Will Hattendorf of the Cut Stone Contractors Assn., Chicago, says Indiana limestone is an ideal material. It not only is easy to handle but it creates a handsome job after it is finished.

* * *

For permanence, a "below frostline" foundation should be installed as a base for the stone work to rest upon, although it can be placed on merely a 5-inch slab. But in the long run it is best to have a foundation go 3 to 4 feet deep.

PLAN THE PATTERN

After you have laid out the project and have the foundation set, you then decide on the pattern you are going to set the stone. You can get cut stone in short and long lengths.

If you are adept with the mason's hammer you can cut them further to fit. Patience works best here. Even pros boo boo occasionally, breaking the stone, where they hadn't ought to. With a little experimenting you can do it, and—who says a do-it-yourselfer can't?

You can achieve various patterns by using stone heights of these standard-cut proportions: 15 per cent of 2¼-inch, 45 per cent of 5-inch and 40 per cent of 7⅝-inch.

DON'T SPARE MORTAR

With level and trowel, you can begin the job of laying the stone. Slap the mortar on heavily and make a ditch in it the length of the section of stone to be set.

Be sure each of the stone sections is set true vertically and horizontally. The level is the tool for this. Then scrape off excess mortar with trowel.

* * *

The joints should be ½-inch wide to give an effective shadow line which will be obtained by raking out the joints to a depth of ⅜ to ½ inch after mortar has set but not hardened.

The stone can be cleaned with a stiff bristle brush which will take off most mortar deposits if used before the mortar completely dries.

* * *

A later scrubbing with pure soap suds and rinsing with clear water is recommended. But don't make the mistake of cleaning limestone with acid. It won't take it.

Stools Enhance Home Utility

NEW YORK (INS) — Stools can be very handy objects to have around—particularly at parties.

They add to the seating capacity of a room without taking up too much space, can easily be moved around to give the party mobility and if they are pretty, they aid the decor.

For a luxury look, you might like a stool with a black or white wrought iron frame that is the latest look. The rectangular seat has curved "X" legs and tassles hang down from each corner.

The cushion that gives a touch of comfort to the backless item is in gold, tufted velvet.

ROUND SEAT

Another little bench with the same idea has a round seat and stands on either black or white wrought iron legs and again, the cushion is gold tufted velvet.

A snack tray is another important item for contented parties, like a new three-tiered item with a brass-plated tube frame that folds up for easy storage.

The top tier is brass plated, the middle shelf is wood, particularly appropriate for cheeses, and the bottom tier consists of two glass dishes, handy for pretzels, olives and pickles and the like.

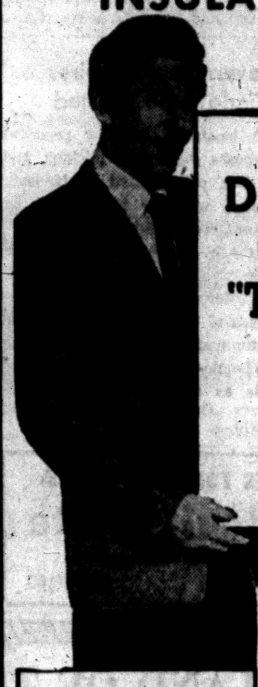

A HAMMER can be used as a mallet by slipping a rubber crutch tip over the hammerhead to prevent bruises.

Several Ways to Keep Posts From Breaking

Our research institute reports that there are two things that can happen to fence posts—they can break or they can lean. They break either because someone breaks them or because the wood has been damaged by decay.

* * *

Breaks usually occur just about level with the earth. Fence posts lean because they have not been set far enough into the soil or because the soil is not firm enough to hold them. Both breaks and leans can be cured in the same manner. We herewith present two such manners.

Holes should be drilled into the angle iron and when it is set far enough into the soil so that it's perfectly solid, it can be fastened to the post with lag screws.

It's best if it can be fastened to the lower portion of the post as well as the upper for this produces a more rugged job.

The other method is to take a couple of pieces of 2" x 4" stock, sharpen one end and then drive them into the ground on each side of the post.

* * *

These should go down far enough so they are solid. Holes are then drilled right through the 2" x 4", through the fence post and through the 2" x 4" on the other side. Then long carriage bolts can be run through these holes and fastened tight with a washer and nut. The exposed ends of the 2" x 4" should be cut off at an angle after they are installed so they will shed water and the wood should be treated with a preservative before it is installed.

In the case of the angle iron, this should be cleaned with a solvent such as benzine before it is set into the ground and given a prime coat of red lead. After it's installed, it can be given a coat of paint to match the post.

New Homes Replace Lost

One third of all new non-farm dwellings built each year go to replace homes that have become obsolete, burned, destroyed by hurricanes, tornadoes and weather, or are torn down to make way for new developments. In 1955, 400,000 housing units disappeared in this fashion, according to the West Coast Lumbermen's Association.

Try not to use a good saw to cut through a glued wood joint

New Electric Ranges Get Disposable Foil

Four new, 30-inch electric range models, one with disposable aluminum foil oven linings, today were announced by a famous appliance manufacturer for 1956.

For the first time, disposable aluminum foil linings have been adapted for 30-inch ranges. One model has disposable foil linings in the oven bottom as well as both sides to completely end oven-cleaning drudgery.

To changethe linings, the homemaker removes the two side racks and the bottom rack, throws the used linings away, and replaces them with fresh new, aluminum foil.

The messy, grease - spattered oven is whisked clean with this simple procedure in a matter of minutes, a sharp departure from the old way of bending down to scrape and scrub the oven interior. An extra supply of foil is included free.

How Many Windows? Measure Floor Areas

The answer given is to provide glass area in excess of 20 per cent of the floor area of each room.

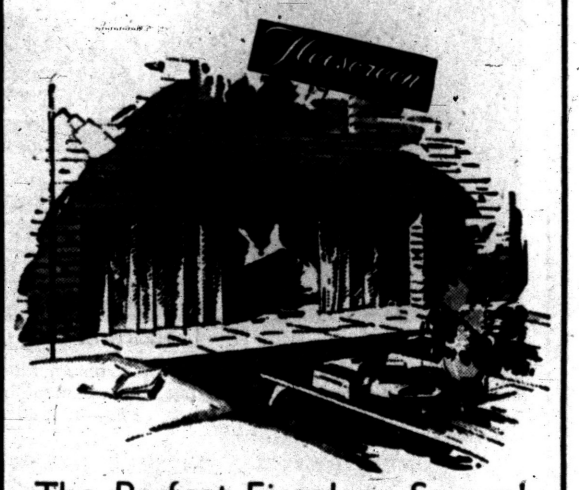

One way to have the desired number of windows without reducing wall area for furniture placement is to use a horizontal strip of windows high in the wall.

Dodgers Check Yanks, Send Erskine After 2nd Win Today

BROOKLYN (AP)—Sparked by the running of Jackie Robinson, the clouting of Roy Campanella and the pitching of Johnny Podres, the Dodgers were back in high spirits today confident they have a real chance to overtake the New York Yankees and become the first Brooklyn club to win a World Series.

* * *

Yesterday's convincing 8-3 triumph over their arch tormentors roused the previously dormant Dodgers and proved a tonic to their sagging spirits. For the first time in this series, they actually showed no awe of the club which whipped them in five other series.

* * *

"We showed we can beat them," he said. "And there's no reason why we can't beat them in Yankee Stadium, too."

"Anyone who says we're afraid of the Yankees just doesn't know what he's talking about," he said. "They beat us the first two games simply because they played better baseball. Their uniforms mean nothing to us."

* * *

This "must" victory, loudly acclaimed by the majority of the 34,209 spectators, saved the National League champions from almost certain extinction and reduced the Yankees' lead to one game.

Another capacity crowd of some 34,000 was expected to view the fourth game today with Brooklyn's Carl Erskine, a World Series veteran, opposing Don Larsen, a rookie in the classic. Both are righthanders. Erskine, with a sore elbow most of the time posted an 11-8 season record. In series play, he had a 2-1 slate. One of his victories, a 3-2 decision over the Yankees, in 1953 during which he struck out a record 14 batters.

* * *

Larsen, a righthander who relies on fine control, had a 9-2 season record. Bothered with a sore arm early in the season, he won eight games after his recall from Denver of the American Assn. at the end of July.

The Dodgers' new-born confidence has rubbed off on the oddsmakers who have installed them 7-5 favorites to win today's game and deadlock the series. In the three previous contests, the individual game selection has justified the odds. The Yankees, however, remain favored to win the series, but the odds dropped from 17 to 10.

Back at Ebbets Field where they hit 119 home runs in 77 games during the regular season, the Dodgers, for the first time showed the power that crushed National League opposition.

The sight of the friendly fences undoubtedly sharpened the batting eye of Campanella, heretofore the hitting "goat" of the series. The robust catcher hit a first-inning two-run homer. From there on, the aroused National League champions, behind the steady hurling Podres, went on to gain their first triumph.

Campanella, who had gone 0 for 8 in the first two games, snapped out of his batting slump with a bang. He added a double and single to his four-bagger to pace the Dodgers' 11-hit attack against four Yankee pitchers.

* * *

Podres celebrated his 23rd birthday working hard to achieve his first World Series triumph with a sparkling seven-hitter. The lefthander from Witherbee, N.Y., had one anxious moment. That was in the second inning when the Yankees scored twice to tie the score at 2-2. He was brilliant after that to become the third straight lefthander to come through with a victory.

"It was the happiest birthday I ever had," beamed Podres as he was congratulated by his teammates in the winners' dressing room. "Now you have become a man," Reese shouted to the youngster. "Long live Podres!"

For the first time in the series a Yankee starter went sour early when the Brooks banged Turley for two runs in the first and, after the Yankees had tied the score in the top of the second, the Dodgers roared back to get two more and chase Bullet Bob to the showers before he had completed two innings.

Two "incidents" highlighted the third game. First was Bill Skowron's knocking the ball out of Campanella's hand in a play at the plate in the second inning. Skowron had doubled in the second following Mickey Mantle's home run and was attempting to score on a single by Phil Rizzuto. He appeared out by 10 feet on Sandy Amoros' good throw but ran full tilt into Campanella's outstretched arm and knocked the ball out of the catcher's hand.

"I did not run into Campanella," Skowron said later. "In fact, I'm not sure exactly where Roy tried to tag me."

The other "incident" was Robinson's ruse in the seventh inning. Jackie doubled into the left field corner, tricked left fielder Elston Howard into throwing to second by rounding that bag, and steamed into third on the "wrong base" throw. Amoros' single scored him.

"He sure fooled me," said Howard sheepishly. "I saw him go halfway to third and I thought I could get him. I got a couple of guys that way during the season. But he made me look silly out there."

Robinson was magnificent. He proved to be just the spark the Dodgers needed. Besides his brilliant base running, he smacked a single and a double, handled seven grounders, several of them toughies, in a busy day at third base, badgered Turley into wildness when he got on base in the second inning, and chattered encouragement to young Podres on the mound all afternoon.

Chiefs Tumble Ferndale 33-0

By H. GUY MOATS

A hard-running, tough-checking Pontiac High School football team Friday night blanked Ferndale's Railsplitters 33-0, at Wisner Stadium. The victory amply avenged a 7-6 defeat pinned on the Chiefs a year ago in the mud and rain. A last minute fumble recovery and a 90 yard TD run beat the Chiefs.

Last night it was different.

Coach Ed Graybiel's club turned in a well-nigh perfect performance to dominate the play at almost every stage of the game. There were a few lapses, but Ferndale mistakes more than evened the situations.

After three plays of the first period Chiefs got the ball on their own 45, following a Ferndale punt. Freeman Watkins, Charley Spann and Jimmy (Red) Taylor, drove to the 6 marker. Spann rammed over. The drive covered 55 yards. That was the winner, for the Railsplitters never remotely got within striking distance of the Pontiac goal lines. It required 5 minutes to get the tally.

The 2nd counter came swiftly. Watkins chalked up the TD on the resumption of play in the 2nd period. Aided by some fine downfield blocking, Watkins sped all the way from the 20.

Watkins went over again near the end of the period. This time he galloped through the entire Ferndale club for 19 yards. Bob Holloway again threw a key block, and Watkins got additional downfield help from his mates. Casteel booted the conversion for a 19-0 halftime score.

Chiefs accumulated better than 165 yards rushing about twice the yardage gained by Ferndale in the 1st half.

Graybiel fired in his subs in droves during the 3rd period. Chiefs did not score in that frame, and the closest to paydirt either team got was when Pontiac drove to Ferndale's 42 late in the period.

But after two minutes in the finale, Chiefs struck for the 4th time. Watkins collected his 3rd touchdown on another fine run through a broken field, covering 65 yards after a pitchout from Bob Casteel. Once more timely blocking broke Freeman loose.

Late in the 4th period, Art Poe fired a hard pass to Frank Whitlock on the Ferndale 40. Frank gathered in the leather and outran the opposition for the counter. It was a spectacular pass and a fine run.

Graybiel was delighted with the improved all-around play. He commented on the fact that all backs ran hard, handled the ball well, and his linemen were effective all the way—a satisfying team performance.

Scoring:

SCORING RUN — Here's the way to score a touchdown — just run away from the opposition, as halfback Freeman Watkins of PHS was doing on this shot made in Friday's 33-0 win over Ferndale here. Watkins was well on his way to the Chiefs' 2nd tally in the 2nd period when the camera caught the action. He covered 20 yards on the jaunt, 1st play of the period. Watkins later scored 2 more TDs on similar runs.

Bums Full of Confidence After Win, Pee Wee Says

By PEE WEE REESE
(Special to the Pontiac Press)

EBBETS FIELD—Happy birthday, Johnny Podres. This was more like what I expected from the beginning. We got wonderful pitching and we're hitting. Everybody hit except Gil Hodges, and Campy really got started with his big two. Gil will be back in stride from here out—better watch out for all of us. But the big thing was Johnny's pitching.

In '53 he was scared stiff, but not Friday. Robby kept telling him "teach 'em respect. Show 'em that change-up." And, boy, did he. He was on top of the hitters all the way: his fast ball had a real hop on it; and his change-up and big curve went just where he wanted them. Only Scooter Rizzuto was able to get a walk.

Jackie was hot at third all the way and his base-running was something to see.

In the seventh he fooled Howard into throwing to the wrong base and then scored from third. But in the second, he put the icing on Johnny's cake when he got Turley so upset that he walked in the then-leading run.

* * *

That second inning was the turning point—maybe of the whole series. We jumped off to a two-run lead and the Yankees came right back to tie. Anything could have happened, but those two singles, Sandy's getting hit by the pitch, and those two walks really set us up there. From there, we knew we were going to win.

* * *

Believe it or not, there's real confidence in our gang. You never heard more of the old-time pepper than there was on the field yesterday, and we have that feeling we'll win. We've got what we need.

UM Given Edge of 14 Points Over Spartans

1st Time in 5 Years MSU Rated Underdog in Traditional Clash

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Michigan was a two-touchdown favorite to defeat Michigan State in their intra-state Big Ten football game here today.

A sellout crowd of 97,239 was expected to attend.

Michigan has won 34 of 47 previous games. Spartans were victors 10 times and three times the meeting ended in a tie. MSU won four straight before losing, 33-7, last year.

Michigan, with All-America prospect Ron Kramer at end, has made no secret of fashioning its offense to utilize the 6-foot-3, 220-pounder's talents. Kramer scored 23 points in Michigan's 42-7 victory over Missouri last week.

Michigan State, with a 20-13 Big Ten victory over Indiana under its belt, is counting heavily on backs Clarence Peaks, Earl Morrall and Walt Kowalczyk.

NHL Red Wings Big and Plenty for 1955 Season

DETROIT (AP)—Jack Adams, a large man himself, likes big hockey players. That's why he's so happy with the current National Hockey League edition of Detroit Red Wings.

"This is the biggest team we've ever had at Detroit," the Wings general manager said. "I can't recall ever seeing one as large."

Statistics bear out his statement, made as the Wings trained for the 1955-56 season. Detroit's 12 regular forwards average 183 pounds and the six defensemen three pounds more. Only two of the 19 men—leftwinger Ted Lindsay and center Dutch Reibel—are under five feet, 10 inches.

Clasby Holds Ivy Mark

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Dick Clasby of Harvard still holds the Ivy League ground gaining record for one season. He gained 950 yards during the 1952 campaign.

Brooklyn's Sharp Playing Finally Trips Up Yankees

A pair of aging veterans, Jackie Robinson and Roy Campanella, teamed with John Podres on his 23rd birthday to knock down the Yankees in Ebbets Field in the third series contest, 8-3, and cut the Yankee lead to one game.

Robinson in particular stood out. If he continues at his present pace he could well be a decisive factor in the series, which may be his last. There have been hints he will retire, as he is 36.

In the field Robinson had seven assists, only two short of the series record, and one of these was a superb back-handed stop of Billy Martin's hot smash in the fifth. At bat he had a single and a double, and stretched the double into three bases by tricking Elston Howard to throw to second as he rumbled into third — not as fast as he was once, but fast enough.

Wolverine-Spartan Battle Rated High on Busy Weekend Gridiron Schedule

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Brooklyn Dodgers can't afford to letdown against the New York Yankees today, neither can Maryland against Baylor or Michigan against Michigan State as college football puts on an attractive program of important conference and intersectional games.

Maryland, the No. 1-ranked team of the country by the Associated Press, risks its lofty perch against Baylor's ambitious Bears in a night game down in Texas at Waco before an expected 50,000 sellout.

Michigan, ranked 2nd nationally and favored to succeed Ohio State as Big Ten champs, opens its conference season against its bitter rival, Michigan State. A sellout 97,239 was assured for this struggle in which Michigan's heralded end, Ron Kramer, was one of the attractions.

Both Maryland and Michigan were favored, but Baylor and MSU were in a mood to surprise. In much the same manner Stanford's Indians are determined to bounce back from their Oregon State defeat and upset Ohio State in the national television game of the week.

All-America Howard (Hopalong) Cassady is the main reason why 8th-ranked Ohio State is favored, but Chuck Taylor, Stanford Coach, believes his team can stop the 180-pound OSU star. TV-viewers can watch the game from California starting at 4 p.m. (EST) over NBC.

The Texas Longhorns tried for an upset over 9th-ranked Southern California last night at Los Angeles before 61,996, but the Trojans won 19-7.

In other Friday encounters Detroit surprised Wichita 41-0, Miami (Fla.) warmed up for Notre Dame by crushing Florida State 34-0; Chattanooga downed Mississippi Southern 10-0 and Washburn snapped Omaha's 16-game winning streak 19-13.

Big games will be played in every section of the country today. Georgia Tech, ranked 3rd nationally, tangles with Southern Methodist. Notre Dame, No. 4, takes on Indiana; Oklahoma, No. 5, meets a strong Pitt club; Army, No. 6, goes against Penn State; UCLA, No. 7, encounters Washington State, and Texas Christian, No. 10, battles Arkansas in an important Southwest Conference struggle.

Titans Trample Wichita Eleven

DETROIT (AP) — University of Detroit, which looked so terrible in losing its opening game to Toledo last week, was a team of near-perfect precision last night in crushing Wichita, 41-0.

* * *

Little Billy Russell, a nephew of fullback Deacon Dan Towler of the Los Angeles Rams, scored three touchdowns. The 5-foot-8, 160-pound Negro sprinted 6 and 13 yards and took a 41-yard pass from quarterback Jim Lobkovich, whose signal calling was almost without a flaw.

Detroit twice turned Wichita fumbles into touchdowns. On the visitors' 1st play from scrimmage, quarterback Jack Conway fumbled and guard Stan Bartnicki fell on it for a TD. Then, in the 3rd quarter, end Dick Chapman recovered halfback Ray Vogl's bobble for the Titans' final tally.

* * *

Other touchdown came on an eight-yard cross buck by Jim Lynch, who also converted four times.

Skippers Trip Walled Lake, Clarkston, Madison, Rochester Also Among Area's Friday Winners

Fumbles proved to be the turning point for the Waterford Skippers last night when they knocked the Walled Lake Vikings from the undefeated prep ranks, 26-18.

* * *

Action in the 3rd quarter saw Waterford left half Bill Clark break off right tackle and scamper 61 yards for pay-dirt. Clark also shared on the last Skipper touchdown when he lateraled to Bryce. Bryce went the last 51 yards on the play that covered 55 yards.

Norman Dierkes and Dick Woodworth scored two counters for the losers and in the 4th frame Dick Segnitz passed for 25 yards to Joe Barnes for the final Viking TD.

Clarkston gained its 2nd W-O league victory when the Wolves blanked West Bloomfield, 13-0 for the President's third scoreless loss. Clarkston right end Kent See recovered two Keego fumbles to set up both markers. Clyde Kizer and George Lang did the scoring.

Don Scott's Madison eleven moved along in the Oakland-B loop, downing defending champion Avondale, 13-7 at the Jackets' home field, lighted for the 1st time. End Jim Simer scored the decisive marker for Madison when an Avondale pitchout backfired. He galloped 60 yards for the big one.

Southfield Bluejays blasted defending champ Berkley of Inter-Lakes, 32-0 in an afternoon contest. Bear left half Sam Manderiscik scored three touchdowns and passed for a 4th to pace the Jays to their 2nd win against one defeat.

Fitzgerald handed Lake Orion its 2nd Oakland-B league loss last night as the Spartans drove for their 1st league win, 13-6. Jack Malinao and Bill Bizovi did the scoring for the victors while Tom Beaudoin ran 30 yards for the Dragon counter.

In an afternoon contest, Dan Barnabo's Romeo Bulldogs captured their 3rd win by trouncing Oakland-B Troy, 38-0, at home.

Spieser Moves Forward After TKO Over Troy

Spieser, former NCAA lightweight king at Michigan State, slugged Willie Troy all over the place last night to win by a technical knockout at 2:52 of the 5th round of their scheduled 10-round nationally televised bout.

Shamrocks Face Eaglet 11 Sans Regular Quarterback

St. Michael's football team faces Orchard Lake St. Mary Sunday afternoon at Wisner Stadium with its chances for victory in the important Suburban Catholic League struggle somewhat dimmed by the loss of quarterback Bob Mineweaser.

Mineweaser suffered a contused kidney in scrimmage and will be out of action for at least two weeks. Dan Dropps will take over the signal-calling post tomorrow with Mike Clever filling Dropps' halfback spot.

Larry Maison and Paul Amman are also nursing injuries and may not see action in tomorrow's game, which starts at 3 p.m. The Shamrocks will be seeking revenge for last year's 8-0 loss to the Eaglets.

St. Frederick's Rams will go after their 1st triumph in 19 contests when they meet St. Mary of Royal Oak in Wisner Stadium tonight at 7:30 o'clock. Royal Oak 11 defeated the Rams a year ago, 19-13.

Birmingham Blanks Mt. Clemens, 21-0

Birmingham High School's football team racked up its 3rd victory of the season Friday night at Mt. Clemens and its 1st win in the Eastern Michigan League with a 21-0 decision over the Bathers.

Maples posted their final TD in the 4th period when quarterback Bill Swaney tallied on a two-yard sneak. Tackle George Huffman converted after each touchdown.

Mother Becomes a Doctor After 17 Years of Work

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Dr. Hazel Morse, a mother of five children, is nearing her goal in the medical field — a drive she started 17 years ago.

During those years, she has become a registered nurse, an anesthesiologist, an army nurse, an exchange student in Copenhagen, and now an intern in a San Diego hospital.

"At first I was afraid that being a Negro would be detrimental to my goal, but it has been remarkable the way people have treated me," she said. "I haven't encountered any difficulties, either here or in New York, where I once studied.

Her career began in 1938 when the doctor, then Mrs. Hazel Reid, entered Meherry Medical College in Nashville, Tenn. She was a widow and mother of two children.

"In 1939, studies were beginning to become more difficult and time consuming, so I decided to come to San Diego where my mother was living and study at State College," she said. "After two years here, I returned to Meharry to finish my degree in nursing."

She also completed a course in anesthesiology. She returned to San Diego and worked two years at Mercy Hospital.

ARMY DUTY

She joined the Army Nurse Corps and was discharged in 1946 after two years of service. Using the benefits from the GI Bill, she returned to Meharry and entered medical school. She supplemented her GI benefits by serving as an instructor in anesthesiology at Meharry.

"It was at the medical school that she met and married her present husband, who was also there studying medicine.

In 1949, she and her husband, W. C. Morse, studied medicine as exchange students in foreign countries. The next year, both returned to Meharry to continue studied. She worked as night supervisor there, studying in the daytime.

In the summer of 1950, Mrs. Morse was back at Mercy Hospital. While there the Morses became parents of their first son, William Jr.

After her husband received his degree in medicine and was appointed an intern in the U. S. Naval Hospital at Albans, N. Y., Mrs. Morse returned to Meharry.

She was graduated in 1953 and started interning at Queens Hospital, New York. In the meantime, another son, Louis, had arrived.

Mexico Shocked by Janet's Fury

300 Die, 1,000 Injured, Thousands Homeless; Floods, Ruin Remain

MEXICO CITY —The Mexican government and private relief agencies rushed aid today to three storm-stricken areas as Hurricane Janet blew herself out in the Sierra Madre mountains.

In its wake the hurricane, deadliest of 10 that roared out of the Caribbean waters this season, left floods and ruined crops along the Mexican coast and inland for 200 miles.

Major concern still centered on what damage Janet had done to the Yucatan Peninsula, the Tampico area, and the stretch of coast where the high winds cut inland.

Janet's known death toll for Mexico was about 300. It killed 200 in Caribbean areas before reaching this country. More than 1,000 were reported injured. Thousands were left homeless.

Military, commercial, and private planes have been flying the injured out of the Yucatan area and delivering food, medicine and clothing. Refugees also are being airlifted.

About 200 persons were believed killed around Chetumal, in Yucatan state. No late word has been received from two other badly battered towns — Bacalar and Xcalax.

In Chetumal bodies were piled in the streets, where relatives of the victims tried to establish identifications. The dazed residents were caring for the injured and trying to bury the dead while seeking food and medicine for themselves.

Labor, Management Asked to Aid Future

ANN ARBOR (AP)— Charles R. Sligh Jr., past president of the National Assn. of Manufacturers (NAM), has called on labor and management alike to stop thinking of themselves now and start thinking of the business and workers of the future.

Sligh, speaking at the University of Michigan Press Club's dinner meeting last night, said both labor and management were guilty of selfishness.

Sligh said he was against the guaranteed annual wage because "I am for individual freedom."

He said the nation was plagued by a "something-for-nothing disease" that endangered the country by making the economy too rigid, putting a premium on idleness, slowing production and making it too costly.

More than 100 newspaper editors and publishers attended the meeting which ends today with a luncheon address by University President Harlan Hatcher and the Michigan-Michigan State football game.

$100 Bill Shown in Lansing Court in Alleged Bribe

LANSING (AP) —A crisp, new, $100 bill was the No. 1 exhibit yesterday in the preliminary examination of the wealthy head of a Chicago optical firm charged with attempting to bribe three state officials.

The $100 bill passed from hand to hand in Lansing Municipal Court and then was sealed in an envelope as evidence.

Dr. C. J. Howe of Hillsdale, secretary-treasurer of the State Board of Optometry, testified that Benjamin Ritholz, president of the King Optical Co. gave him and two other board members $100 each as a down payment on a $2,000 bribe offer.

Howe said that he was asked by State Police and the attorney general's office to go to the meeting with Ritholz, accept the money, and turn it over as evidence.

He identified the bill by his initials on the corner.

Howe said that Ritholz first offered the bribe to the three board members to quash charges against a Lansing optometrist accused of unprofessional conduct.

Death Car Driver Draws Two Years

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) —Emil A. Decina, whose automobile jumped a curb and killed four school girls last March 14, was sentenced yesterday to serve one to two years in Attica state prison.

The four girls ranged from 6 to 11 years. They had just left school and were walking along the sidewalk when Decina's car jumped the curb. A fifth girl was injured. Decina was not hurt.

Penniless Mother Omitted From 5 Previous Wills

NEW YORK (AP)—Attorneys have disclosed that a penniless 102-year-old mother, left out of her daughter's three million dollar final will, also had been omitted from five previous wills.

The mother, Mrs. Wilhelmina Van Etten of 6105 Larkin Ave., Detroit, brought suit in Manhattan Surrogate's Court Thursday against the estate of her daughter, the late Mrs. Agnes Barringere Momand.

Mrs. Van Etten's suit contends her daughter was not of sound mind when the final will was executed last Jan. 22, and further contends she was deprived of a share through fraud and other improper practices.

In court yesterday, attorneys for Mrs. Momand's estate said she made five other wills between January 1942 and January, 1950 — with no provisions in any of them for the mother.

Surrogate William T. Collins reserved decision on a motion to dismiss the mother's contest. Mrs. Momand, who resided on Park avenue and reportedly was a shrewd investor, died last May 25 at the age of 65.

U. of M. Regents OK Flint College Budget

ANN ARBOR (AP)—The Board of Regents of the University of Michigan approved a special legislative request for an operating budget at the university's Flint college which begins operation next fall.

The regents yesterday approved an operating budget of $318,200 for the school year beginning fall of 1956.

The university said $41,250 would come from student fees and the legislature would be asked to appropriate the balance, $276,950.

The semester fee will probably be established at $90 for each full time student. This is below the $100 semester fee at the mother school because there will currently be no provision for special student services or athletic contests.

May Block Testimony in Newsman Probe

DETROIT (AP) — Chief Federal Judge Arthur F. Lederle says he may bar the testimony of two government witnesses in the denaturalization hearing against Michigan Communist newsman William (Billy) Allan.

Judge Lederle said yesterday the witnesses, Mrs. Berneice Baldwin and John Lautner, former Communists who have served as consultants with the Department of Justice, did not know Allan in the early years of his admitted membership in the Communist Party.

The British-born Allan, Detroit correspondent for the communist newspaper, The Daily Worker, is accused of lying in 1935 when he applied for citizenship. The government seeks to revoke his citizenship to open the way for deportation.

Detroit Councilman Throws Hat Into Ring

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit Common Councilman Eugene Van Antwerp says he will seek the vacant congressional seat of the late Rep. Dingell (D-Mich).

Other Democrats who have announced for the vacancy are state Rep. Joseph G. O'Connor; Ernest J. Lacey, Democratic national committeeman; John Dingell Jr., son of the late congressman, and Helen McKay Jamieson, an unsuccessful candidate in the primary last year.

U. S. Rubber Says Tire Helps Prevent Accidents

LANCASTER, Calif. (INS)—The U. S. Rubber Co. demonstrated for automotive writers from all parts of the country yesterday a new safety tire "designed to prevent accidents before they happen."

The newsmen saw the new tire subjected to gruelling punishment at the company's testing grounds on the edge of the Mojave Desert but details of its construction were withheld for an announcement Oct. 6.

Sympathy Letter Ends in Wedding for Father of 12

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP)—A letter of sympathy from Mary N. McIsaac to widower Frank Hudak has culminated in their marriage and a new home for 10 of Hudak's children who had been living in an orphanage.

* * *

Hudak's first wife, Sue, died May 20, 1954, leaving him to care for their 12 children.

Hudak, a $56-a-week laborer said he "couldn't be a mother, father and provider" for his brood and tearfully placed 10 of them in an orphanage. His youngest, now a year and a half old, went to live with his first wife's sister in Brooklyn. The eldest, 17, no longer lives at home

When Miss McIsaac, a Boston, Mass., housekeeper read of the 44-year-old widower's futile efforts to keep his family together, she wrote him. He answered and a regular correspondence started.

In July, Miss McIsaac visited Hudak's home.

They were married Sept. 11.

UM Costs Next Year Will Be $28 Million

ANN ARBOR (AP)—The University of Michigan, with enrollments booming to 20,861, needs nearly 28 million dollars from the state for the next school year—four million more than they needed to operate this year.

The University's board of regents yesterday accepted a report that set the estimated operating budget for the school year beginning in the fall of 1956 at $35,033,420.

The rise was due, University President Harlan Hatcher said, to an increase of 2,000 students this year—1,000 more than expected—an expected increase of 1,500 students next year, and salary improvements.

The University explained that that student fees would total $7,302,700 and leave $27,730,720 to be provided by the state.

State Sales Tax Funds Up Over August 1954

LANSING (AP) — September sales and use tax collections on August business totaled $27,445,424, the State Revenue Department said today.

Sales tax collections for the month were $26,157,528, compared with $22,109,202 for September, 1954.

The U. S. Marine Corps has announced reopening of 3-year enlistments for recruit M. Sgt. Ishmeal Powers, chief of the Pontiac recruiting substation, said today.

Men joining before Oct. 7 will be guaranteed Christmas leave, he stated. Recruits are flown by commercial air lines to San Diego, Calif. for basic training.

Chrysler Denies Report of Stamping Plant Site

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Chrysler Corp. plans to build a giant $100,000,000 auto body stamping plant somewhere in the northeastern Ohio triangle lying between Cleveland, Akron and Youngstown. But the firm denied published reports that suburban Brooklyn was the plant's probable site.

A Chrysler spokesman said Brooklyn had been given "serious consideration" as a site for the proposed 1,500,000-square foot installation but was disqualified because of "local complications." The spokesman would not elaborate.

Forrestal Ready for Fleet Duty

Shakedown Cruises Set for Largest Warship Ever Built

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (AP) — The carrier Forrestal, mighty sea-roaming airdrome for atom-bomb warplanes, was ready today to join the fleet.

* * *

Only an afternoon commissioning ceremony—with speeches and flag raising and the captain's command to "set the watch"—was needed before the largest warship ever built became a unit of the operating Navy.

She is the first of five big carriers on the way, marking a new era in the Navy's air power role.

The Forrestal's testing days, including an embarrassing time when shaft bearing trouble sent her limping back to port, were behind her. Ahead are weeks of "shakedown" cruises, to familiarize the 3,500 men and officers of her crew with the intricacies of handling a ship displacing about 76,000 tons when fully fueled, equipped and armed with a hundred planes.

Estimates of the Forrestal's cost have varied since the Navy announced on July 12, 1951, the award of a contract to the Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock Co. to construct the first supercarrier.

Currently, the Navy is using a figure of about two hundred million dollars. Costs of subsequent Forrestal class ships will be less, the Navy say, estimating that the price tag for the fourth shop, the Independence, will be about $189,311,000.

The keel of the Forrestal was laid on July 14, 1952—marking a Navy victory in a long and bitter feud with the Air Force over the relative merits of big carriers vs. long range strategic bombers.

Card of Thanks 1

WE WISH TO EXPRESS APPRECIATION to Rev. Milton Bank, Donelson-Johns, Milford Masonic Lodge, our friends and neighbors for many acts of kindness and sympathy show us during our time of sorrow at the passing of our loved one, Mrs. Earl D. Clark. Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Fraser and children Rev. and Mrs. Orland Battishill and family, Mr. and Mrs. Don M. Clark and family.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF LAWrence Jon who died Oct. 1st, 1948.
Beloved son and brother.
Nothing but memories as we journey on
Longing for a smile from a loved one gone;
None know the depths of our deep regret,
but we remember when others forget.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF MARgaret C. Dingel who passed away October 2, 1953
It is lonesome here without you,
And sad and weary the way;
Life has not been the same
Since you were called away
Sadly missed by husband, father, brothers, sisters-in-law, nieces and nephews.

Now He Won't Complain When She Neglects Gas

He isn't complaining any more. Car thieves didn't even make it to Riverton's city limits before Geraud's auto ran out of gas.

'Preston of Yukon' Rated as a Horseback 'Dragnet'

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS) — "Sgt. Preston of the Yukon" has just about evrything you could think of in juvenile fiction, both character and plot.

* * *

There are the fine upstanding representatives of law and order, outdoor division, a Canadian Mountie; his dog, smarter than the villian and a joy forever; a handsome horse to ride through some lovely mountain scenery.

Its plot and dialogue struck us as approximately the style we worshipped when Richard Talmadge was leaping from plane to train and conquering dastardly plots back in our own youth.

CBS-TV has scheduled this one just before junior's bedtime on Thursday and it should prove fascinating for youngsters with its simple and basic outdoor adventure plot and characters stamped out of tried and trite materials traditional where fresh imagination fails.

* * *

Richard Simmons plays the fine, kind, fearless, honest, perceptive Mountie with either restraint or woodenness; we couldn't say for certain which. A sort of Sgt. Friday on a horse.

"Yukon King" is the dog, a fox-eyed and lovely speciman; Rex, the horse, seemed quite too beautiful a nag to be dashing over all those rocks and rills with such splendid spindly legs.

LET PUBLIC LOOK

Why not let the public decide it it wants subscription TV—simply give it an honest test for a proper period in a large city; New York for instance.

But both sides are using the heaviest cross-propaganda aimed at deadening arguments of the opposition . . .

Small talk—The four daughters of Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson will make like the McGuire sisters on Oct. 16's College Press Conference (ABC-TV) . . .

"The Big Suprise" says it will give away $100,000 (it's owned by the $64,000 management) but it won't be easy . . .

The star of "The Big Surprise" will be an IBM magic brain, supported by Jack Barry.

Pays Penalty in Change and Gets Back Change

DENVER (AP)—Ronald W. Murray, 23, insisted on paying his traffic court fines with $50 in change.

They will be returned.

Hold Rites for Inventor of Wheel-Flint Lighter

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP)—Funeral service was held Friday for Joseph J. Kupke, 60, who turned an idea for a wheel-ignited cigarette lighter into an annual two million dollar business.

Owner of the Kem Lighter Manufacturing Co. of Algonac, Kupke developed his lighter in 1933. It was based on a small wheel with a ridged edge that would rub against a small piece of flint and ignite a fuel-soaked wick. He patented the idea and all lighter makers who use the wheel for ignition paid him royalties.

Reborn Japan Shows Might

Soldiers, Tanks, Guns Parade Past Watchful Eyes of Hatoyama

TOKYO (AP)—A resurgent Japan sent wave after wave of troops, tanks and big guns surging across tree-bordered Meiji Plaza today in a proud first anniversary display of its reborn armed strength.

The slowly growing self defence forces, officially created year ago today, marched solid, undulating ranks of sturdy foot soldiers before the watchful eyes of Prime Minister Ichiro Hatoyama, Diet leaders and U.N. military observers.

The troops snapped to attention as partially paralyzed Premier Hatoyama slowly mounted the reviewing stand. A bugle pierced the fresh rain-washed air. Then, to the slow, soaring notes of "Kimigayo"—Japan's national anthem—the flag was raised.

Ships of the fledgling navy were on display in Tokyo Bay. The air force planned to fly 111 of its planes over the city, but the flights were called off.

Carrickfergus Castle in Northern Ireland is expected to be selected for appearance on a new British postage stamp.

Man Killed, 8 Hurt in Nike Explosion

WHITE SANDS PROVING GROUND, N.M. (AP)—One man was killed and eight injured Friday when a Nike engine exploded, blowing the roof off the building where it was being tested.

Clyde F. Wooford, Las Cruces, died of injuries about two hours after the explosion. None of the injured was in serious condition. Most suffered acid burns.

The engine for the guided missile was being tested when, a spokesman said, "something went wrong."
