By ROBERT STODDARD
Athletic Director and Football Coach
Carmel, New York, High School

In the summer of 1956 Jim Mackey brilliantly pitched his Patterson (New York) Little League baseball team to the championship.

We coaches at Carmel High School looked forward to his entrance into our school, not only for baseball, but for football as well. Jim was big for 14; nearly six feet and 180 pounds, he could move with the speed of a young colt.

Then, the following year, "Big Jim" began to limp. An examination showed cancer. An operation removing his right leg was performed. In September 1957, Jim appeared in school on his crutches, a little awkward, but with a big smile on his face.

"I'll have to wait a while for my new leg," he said.

If he saw anyone feeling sorry for him, he would start kidding around about how he soon would be able to keep up one of his socks with a thumb tack, and "none of you guys can do that," he would finish.

When the first call went out for football candidates Jim asked if he could be one of the team managers.

"Sure Jim," I said, "but you have to be with the team every night."

ON THE JOB

And he was, hobbling on his crutches to fetch the sheets of plays, a roll of tape from the first-aid kit or a chin strap for someone's helmet. And soon his spirit and enthusiasm began to permeate the whole team.

Typical was the night that Big Jim fell down. The coaches and team were on the field warming up. Jim appeared near one end zone on his crutches, juggling the first-aid kit and my set of plays. All of a sudden one crutch slipped on the turf. Jim went down in a heap.

My first instinct was to run and help him, but quickly I restrained myself and the other boys. "Come on Jim," I shouted, "hurry up with those plays. You're holding up practice." I knew that was the way he would want it.

Jim struggled to his feet and came puffing up to us. Depositing the kit on the ground," he said, "Coach, it's a good thing you didn't have me carrying the ball for a touchdown then, cause I'd have fumbled it sure as anything."

Jim didn't miss a practice for four weeks. Then one night

Pay for Repairs, Hospital Asked

City Willing to Advance
Funds Only if Repaid,
Commission Says

Pontiac General Hospital was asked officially last night to pay for extra repairs that have halted the expansion program.

City commissioners went on record saying they would advance needed funds out of tax monies only if the hospital promises to reimburse the city later out of hospital revenues.

Although it's still unsettled how much public funds will be needed, commissioners committed themselves to meeting the bill out of 1961 capital improvement funds.

City Manager Walter K. Willman gave assurances such a commitment would not jeopardize the city's chances of getting a $300,000 grant from the Detroit Area Hospital Council.

"The council people know that if they don't pay for the repairs, we will have to," Willman said.

With the grant, only $50,000-$100,000 in local funds would have to be raised, Willman believed. Without it, the city would have to pay the whole bill estimated at $350,000-$400,000.

A resolution adopted last night asked the hospital Board of Trustees to agree to repay the city "when operating conditions permit."

British-Russian Talks Resume Despite Setback

Khrushchev Opposition
on German Issue Hits
Macmillan Hard

From Our News Wire

MOSCOW — Premier Nikita Khrushchev's speech apparently rejecting a foreign ministers' conference on Germany cast doubt today on the success of Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's visit to Moscow.

The surprise speech to a political rally dumfounded the British mission here, but Macmillan went ahead with plans to resume his talks with Khrushchev today at the Soviet Premier's villa 60 miles outside Moscow.

The Khrushchev speech yesterday struck like a bombshell and Macmillan did not learn of it until he returned to Moscow for a reception at the British Embassy.

Macmillan, reported "somewhat tired" after his Dubna trip, retired from the reception for 20 minutes to rest up. He was obviously suffering from a heavy head cold.

Observers noted the atmosphere of the reception was not so cordial as other meetings between the British and the Russians, but a British spokesman said he did not feel Khrushchev's speech was a rebuff to Macmillan.

The feeling grew that Russia would demand another summit conference to discuss the German situation. Mikoyan told reporters the Khrushchev speech "amounts to an affirmation of the need for a summit conference."

TALKS TO CONTINUE

Over lunch and into the afternoon, the two delegations were to continue the discussions which they last held at the Kremlin Monday.

The earlier atmosphere of great friendliness had been largely dispelled, and there was every indication Macmillan would press hard to determine whether his mission to Moscow had any chance of success.

Another formal session was planned at the Kremlin Thursday before Macmillan and Lloyd leave for visits to Kiev and Leningrad. They return to Moscow Monday.

Arrives in Station Wagon

NEW-BORN WASHINGTON KIN — Mrs. Eleanor Munson holds her son John Parke Curtis Munson at Mountain View Hospital, Palo Alto, Calif. The baby, a descendant of George Washington's wife, Martha, was born in a station wagon while his father was speeding Mrs. Munson from their home to the hospital. The tot is a seventh generation descendant, traced through Martha's son, Col. John Parke Curtis.

At a meeting last Friday of the two supervisors committees, Clarence K. Patterson, chairman of the Bar committee, said the earliest a new judge could take office would be January 1961.

2nd Probate Judge Issue Sets Supervisors at Odds

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

A cry of "politics" greeted the Oakland County Board of Supervisors yesterday when the question of a second probate judge came up for discussion.

Mrs. Harriett Phillips, Huntington Woods supervisor who last Friday was re-elected to her third term on the Democratic State Central Committee, sharply criticized a recommendation of two board committees not to try for a second judge at this time.

She called the postponing attempt a "subtle scheme" to keep Gov. Williams from making the appointment of the second judge should one be approved by the voters.

Sensing that there was a difference of opinion whether Oakland County needed a second judge, Ferndale Supervisor Clayton G. Lilly moved for a public vote to settle the question.

RULED OUT OF ORDER

Lilly's motion was ruled out of order as the Ways and Means and Juvenile Committees of the Board previously had moved that the heavy case load now facing Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore, a Republican, be handled by employing a referee or clerk, who would be an attorney.

Fred W. Smith, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, said this conclusion had been reached after conferring with a committee of the County Bar Assn. Representatives of the Bar association — although they agreed "a second probate judge will be needed in the future" — concurred with this interim suggestion, Smith told fellow supervisors.

This brought criticism from a member of the association itself, Carl F. Ingraham, Birmingham mayor, supervisor and attorney, said the particular association committee expressed its opinion on a second probate judge without polling all members of the association.

"I have no concern about the

Supervisors Not Ready to Rule on Hospital Use

A suggestion that the vacant Oakland County Contagious Hospital not be used exclusively for the mentally ill was turned down by the Board of Supervisors yesterday.

"This resolution appears to do nothing and I urge everyone to vote against it," declared Carl F. Ingraham, Birmingham supervisor.

A special study committee looking into future uses of the 80-bed facility on Telegraph road had recommended "that the use of the entire facility for the exclusive treatment and hospitalization of mentally ill patients not be considered."

The committee, directed by Royal Oak Supervisor Fred W. Smith, has been studying possible uses since Pontiac General Hospital relinquished its lease on the hospital last August.

Sole use of the hospital for the mentally ill had been urged by Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore, the Oakland County Chapter of the Mental Health Society and more than 30 municipalities and civic organizations.

But Smith's committee advised against it, saying that "the diagnosis and treatment of the mentally ill is solely the responsibility of the state," that it should be made a part of a general hospital and that it would be too costly.

The committee said that an offer of the Elizabeth Kenny Foundation to convert the hospital into a rehabilitation and treatment center for polio and other allied diseases "would provide the best use of this facility."

Supervisors refused, however, to rule out entirely use of the hospital for the mentally ill until Smith's committee received a definite commitment from the Kenny Foundation.

Only members of Smith's committee voted against referring his

Dulles Marks 71st Birthday in X-Ray Room

WASHINGTON (AP) — John Foster Dulles, one of the world's most traveled men, celebrates his 71st birthday today with only a short trip scheduled.

That trip: about 300 feet in a wheel chair from his room in Walter Reed Army Hospital to an X-ray room to receive radiation treatment for cancer.

President Eisenhower may visit his ailing secretary of state during the day and members of the Dulles family were sure to drop in.

But the kind of family celebration which has marked most of his birth anniversaries will be missing.

Dulles began the radiation treatments last Friday after a hernia operation a week earlier had shown a recurrence of cancer. The X-ray treatments will go on for another three weeks or so.

Lincoln White, State Department press officer, said Tuesday "there are no signs of adverse reaction at this stage" to the increasingly heavy doses of X-ray which Dulles has been given.

Eastman to Tell His Side Tonight

Commission to Resume
Hearing of Charges Against Straley

Public Safety Director George D. Eastman will testify tonight when the Civil Service Commission resumes hearing charges against suspended Police Chief Herbert W. Straley.

Eastman, whose charges form the basis of the hearing, is expected to explain them in detail at the 7:30 p.m. session in the City Commission Chambers.

Suspended Feb. 8, Straley is accused of incompetency, inefficiency, insubordination, neglect of duty and failure to maintain good behavior. He has denied all charges.

Eastman will be the second witness to testify against Straley. The other was Samuel G. Chapman of the Public Administration Service firm of Chicago, whose report on the department in 1958 was highly critical of Straley's seven-year reign.

Flint Bus Fares Upped in Face of Strike Threat

FLINT (AP) — A fare increase for the Flint City Coach Lines was approved last night, forestalling a strike Friday by bus drivers and maintenance men.

The city commission approved a straight 25-cent cash fare for adults with a five-cent transfer fee. Transfers were free and tickets were four for 90 cents under old schedules.

The commission also approved a company proposal to discontinue Sunday and holiday bus service.

The company estimated the increase would result in an additional $63,000 in revenue annually.

Organizer Says Aim in Puerto Rico Is to Oppose Hoffa

From Our Wire Service

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico — The AFL-CIO announced today a new drive to organize six million industrial workers in the South and 14 million white collar workers throughout the United States.

Organizing director John Livingston said the new drive would be in addition to plans to charter a new Puerto Rican truckdrivers' union to oppose efforts by James R. Hoffa's Teamsters Union to gain a foothold in the island commonwealth.

Livingston and President George Meany, who presided at the nine-day executive council meeting which ended here last night, battled the Teamsters drive to gain 12,000 Puerto Rican members, saying the Teamsters had signed up only about 200 members since their Puerto Rican campaign opened here six weeks ago.

Meany has informed fellow AFL-CIO chiefs, it was learned today, that although he will soon become 65, he has no intention of retiring as federation president.

Meany let this drop at Tuesday's closing session of the winter meeting.

The biggest story of the council session came on closing day with the disclosure that Reuther prevailed to a major extent in a hot internal AFL-CIO fight over federation policies.

"The feud established on a stronger basis than ever that Reuther, who was head of the old CIO before it was merged with the AFL, is clearly No. 2 man to Meany in the 14,000,000-member federation."

Reuther threatened to resign as chairman of the AFL-CIO Economic Committee. Part of the argument concerned Reuther's plan for the AFL-CIO to sponsor a mass march of unemployed on Washington to spur job aid action by Congress and the administration.

Meany reportedly felt this was too drastic. One word led to another. There was a good deal of cursing. Reuther and Carey charged Meany was trying to dictate AFL-CIO policies.

The upshot is that Meany and other federation leaders agreed to beef up their forthcoming Washington unemployment demonstration.

It won't be the mass march on the capital Reuther had in mind. But it is now planned to fill the capital's big armory with 3,000 to 4,000 idle workers and union officials and possibly stage a parade down Pennsylvania Avenue.

Reuther will head a special committee to work out details. He is staying on as head of the federation's economic committee.

Council members said Meany wound up the final meeting by apologizing to one and all for his opening day flare-up with Reuther.

Car Kills Woman on Berkley Street

Attempting to cross Woodward at Harvard avenue in Berkley, a woman pedestrian was fatally injured when struck by a car yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Alphonsine Parks, 48, of 1307 Eaton Ave., Berkley, died two hours later in William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak.

Driver of the car, John S. Ballard, 23, of 3520 Linwood Ave., Royal Oak, suffered a fractured hip when he crashed his car into a tree in trying to avoid hitting Mrs. Parks, police said. His condition was reported "fair" at William Beaumont Hospital today.

An eye-witness, John Kronenberg, manager of the Secretary of State's Branch Office near where the fatal mishap occurred, told police Ballard swerved his car in a futile effort to avoid hitting Mrs. Parks.

MAKE OVER JIM

he didn't appear. I checked and found that Jim was back in the hospital for examination. The result was a shocker. Jim had cancer of the lungs. They gave him six weeks to live.

It was decided not to tell Jim but to allow him to return to school and live as normally as he could. He soon reappeared on the football field with his usual smile and an apology for being absent for the few days.

It is the habit of our football team to say a prayer before each game, asking for guidance and the will to play in true fellowship. The boys also included in their prayer a word for "Big Jim." Then we closed with the Lord's Prayer.

With Jim's inspiration with us, the boys swept through an undefeated season and won the county championship. It was decided to give Jim the football, symbolic of this championship, at the annual football banquet. But Jim was too weak to attend.

Several weeks later, however, Jim appeared at a basketball game, the same big smile on his face, but more pale than any of us had ever seen him. We asked him to stop in the athletic office after the game.

STILL JOKING
He came in, leaning on his crutches, beads of sweat standing out all over his face and that big smile covering the pain that lay behind it. I scolded him a bit for missing the banquet. "I'm on a diet, Coach," he said with a grin.

Then I picked up the championship football, which all the players and coaches had signed, and gave it to Jim. "We all feel you worked as hard for this as any player or coach," I told him.

He took it in his hands and as the tears filled his eyes, he said, "Coach, I really didn't earn it this year, but if they ever fit me with that wooden leg, I'll more than make it up to you and the team."

He started to leave, then turned and gave me a long penetrating look which I'll never forget. "Good-bye coach," he said.

"Jim, you mean 'so-long,' don't you?"

Another slow smile wrinkled the corners of his mouth. "Don't worry, coach, I'm all set." With that he was gone.

Two days later Jim was dead. He knew he was doomed all the time.

But Jim Mackey left a heritage of faith and courage that none of us who knew him will ever forget.

New Mormon Church in Open House This Week

The new Mormon Church in Bloomfield Hills, known as the Detroit Stake Center of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, is holding open house all this week.

Public programs are scheduled from 7 to 9 p.m. Thursday and Friday, and at 3 p.m. Sunday. Brief lectures explaining the church's locally unique structure are given, along with an explanation of the Mormon history and the sect's basic tenets.

Speakers include George Romney, president of the State and of American Motors Corp.; Bishop Ralph M. Johnson of the Pontiac Ward, and Jonathan W. Snow, building chairman.

The $700,000 building is the first structure to be erected in Michigan for State activities of the Mormon Church, Bishop Johnson explained.

It is to be used regularly by the Pontiac Ward and periodically by 11 other ward congregations from as far as Sarnia, Ont., and Toledo, Ohio.

It serves as a religious, cultural and recreational center of the church, and contains a full-size basketball floor and a fully-equipped theater stage.

Recitals on the 18-rank Estey pipe organ by Kenneth Parry or Ann Arbor and Illa May Richardson of Detroit are part of the open house.

The church will be formally dedicated later this year, Bishop Johnson announced, "after it has been fully paid for." A general authority from Salt Lake City, Utah, will be present for the occasion, he said.

Macmillan, a noted Khramchev's boyar manner at a British Embassy cocktail party only a few hours after his ouster, muttered: "This is an extraordinary method of diplomacy."

In his speech, the Soviet premier brushed aside as obsolete the Western proposal for a foreign ministers conference on Germany. Instead, he plumped again for summit talks and sprang a surprise by offering Britain a nonaggression pact.

Once more he insisted that German reunification was a matter for the East and West German governments, not the Big Four.

Macmillan was clearly placed in an embarrassing position.

School to Use Room in Church

Jayno Adams to Hold One Kindergarten Class at Atonement

Due to crowded conditions in the Jayno Adams Kindergarten class, the Waterford Township Board of Education last night authorized rental of one room in the new Presbyterian Church of the Atonement on Clintonville road.

At present there are more than 90 children enrolled in two daily sessions at the school. With the extra room classes will be reduced to 30 pupils each, according to Supt. William Shuck.

Rental is $135 a month, and it will not be necessary to increase teaching personnel, Shuck told the board.

Dedication of the new John D. Pierce Junior High School has been set for 8 p.m. April 14. The planning committee includes board member Lester Carlson and school Principal Paul O'Neill.

Also assisting in arrangements will be PTA President Donald Redmond, Student Council President Jerry Goff, and Supt. Shuck.

A special board meeting will be held March 5 to canvass the March 5 special election results.

Another special board meeting date will be set in the near future to review the Board of Education Policy Booklet compiled during the past five years.

The board also authorized re-investment of funds totaling $1,134,000 in U.S. Treasury bills at maturity value.

MRS. JANE E. HOERATH

Oakland County's 4-H program has been curtailed due to the lack of state funds to pay for the replacement of Mrs. Jane Hoerath, 4-H Club agent who resigned this month, according to Lytle Abel, Oakland County extension director. Leader of 4-H girls' work since January 1958, Mrs. Hoerath left her position to join her husband in Denver, Colo. The 4-H Advisory Council said it is considering a request for a grant from the county funds to hire another agent.

ELIZABETH, N.J. (UPI)—Dr. Charles Axinn, 51, of Linden, N.J., was arrested yesterday for driving with one hand. Police said he was using his other hand to shave himself with an electric razor.

Vote Check Changes Nominations Little

Nominations for Circuit Court judgeships were altered only slightly by the canvass of the Feb. 16 non-partisan judicial primary results.

Figures released yesterday by the Oakland County Board of Canvassers reveal that the 10 nominees who will vie for the five Circuit Court seats April 6 didn't change by name. However, the 9th and 10th positions were switched.

Unofficial tallies last week had placed Milton F. Cooney in 10th spot with 6,378 votes and Wendell Brown in 9th spot with 6,713 votes. Official totals gave Cooney 6,390 (12 more) and Brown 6,257 (456 less).

Here are the official returns for the judicial balloting with the former figures in parentheses, as released by the three-member Board of Canvassers:

2 State Dem Candidates to Start Campaigns Here
Two Democratic candidates for state educational offices—Lynn M. Bartlett, incumbent superintendent of public instruction, and William K. McNally, University of Michigan regent nominee from Jackson—will be in Pontiac tomorrow night to kick off their campaigns for the April 6 election.

Bartlett and McNally will be guests of the Oakland County Democratic Committee at an informal gathering from 7-10 p.m. at the Roosevelt Hotel ballroom. The public is invited, the committee said.

Pontiac's Two Municipal Judges Praised, Raised

Pontiac's two municipal judges won praise and a raise from the City Commission last night.

The salaries of Judge Maurice E. Finnegan and Cecil McClellan were boosted from $10,700 a year to $12,000, retroactive to Jan. 1.

Commissioner Floyd P. Miles cited the organization of the new Traffic Violations Bureau by the two judges.

"The judges did a fine job in setting up the new bureau and it seems to be running very smoothly," Miles said.

He also cited the heavy case load carried by the Pontiac Court. The two judges last year handled around 14,000 cases, or about as many as handled in Flint by four judges.

"I am convinced our judges are doing more work and doing it very well," said Miles, who won unanimous approval of the raises.

The new salaries will remain in effect next year when the six-year terms on the Pontiac bench will be filled again by voters.

Urban League to Hold Concert for Scholarship

The Urban League Guild of Pontiac will sponsor a concert Tuesday at Lincoln Junior High School to raise funds for a $500 student scholarship.

The concert, beginning at 8:30 p.m., will feature two "chamber jazz" artists, Dwike Mitchell and Willie Ruff who will offer both classical and popular music.

Mrs. William Essey of Birmingham is general chairman of the affair and Mrs. Ruth Spurlock of Pontiac is chairman of the scholarship fund.

For the past five years, the Urban League Guild has given a $500 scholarship to a student to cover the first year tuition at Michigan State University or the University of Michigan.

Other chairmen of the event are Mrs. J. A. Rammes, co-chairman; Mrs. Anna E. Williams and Mrs. Wilbur Johnston, promotion; Mrs. Harry L. Riggs, advertising; Mrs. Jimmie Taylor and Mrs. Barbour Williams, arrangements; and Ann Gilles, ushers.

Return of Polio Feared

NEW YORK (AP)—Polio may make an even stronger comeback this summer than last because four of every seven Americans have not had any Salk vaccine.

Oakland County's 4-H program has been curtailed due to the lack of state funds to pay for the replacement of Mrs. Jane Hoerath, 4-H Club agent who resigned this month, according to Lytle Abel, Oakland County extension director. Leader of 4-H girls' work since January 1958, Mrs. Hoerath left her position to join her husband in Denver, Colo. The 4-H Advisory Council said it is considering a request for a grant from the county funds to hire another agent.

The majority vote gave David Levinson's Special Courthouse Committee authority to sit down with architects today "to proceed immediately to expedite the necessary procedure to obtain construction bids" on the new courthouse.

Independence Township Supervisor Duane Hursfall and Farmington Township Supervisor Frank J. Stephenson attempted to block this immediate action, claiming newer members of the Board of Supervisors needed more information on county plans for the building.

"This has the atmosphere of a railroad job," said Stephenson. The way was cleared last Thursday to proceed with courthouse planning—after a three-year lapse—when the Supreme Court ruled that Oakland County had not acted illegally in accumulating non-tax or miscellaneous funds to finance the $4,500,000 courthouse.

Yesterday's vote was to give Levinson's committee and the Board of Auditors permission to once again proceed with plans.

Levinson, hoping to make it clear that plans call for the new building in the County Service Center on Telegraph road, and not in downtown Pontiac, inserted an amendment spelling this out.

This parliamentary maneuver caught some Pontiac supervisors by surprise. In past votes, they had fought hard to get a new courthouse—but on its present downtown site.

Maurice J. Croteau said he had voted "yes" for the motion believing the amendment pinpointing the location was not included.

Croteau and other Pontiac supervisors at first abstained from voting on the issue. After they listened to how the vote was going, they one by one stood to cast their affirmative votes. Two Pontiac supervisors were absent.

"I know my city doesn't want it this way, but I want to vote yes," declared Mrs. Margaret E. Hill, one of the city's seven supervisors.

Casting the five "no" votes along with Hursfall and Stephenson were Howard H. Crenshaw (Berkeley), Sidney Frid (Northville), and Leroy Davis (Pontiac Township). Sitting in the balcony listening attentively to how the vote went

WILLIAM P. WHITFIELD

Appoint Chairman of Easter Seal Drive

William P. Whitfield of 286 Cherokee Rd. has been named area chairman for the 1959 Easter Seal Campaign which opens Friday.

The appointment was announced today by Richard C. Poole, president of the Oakland County Society for Crippled Children.

Whitfield, a member of the Pontiac Rotary Club and the society's Board of Directors, will lead the drive which has made possible the purchase of wheel chairs, braces and crutches, and paid doctor's examinations, X-rays and dental care for the county's physically handicapped children.

William V. Vau of Royal Oak is the general chairman of the 1959 county campaign, which ends March 29.

New Mexico Police Return Local Girl

Lucille Haglund, 16-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Haglund of 2505 Lakeside Dr. Highland Township, has been returned to her Oakland County home by New Mexico authorities.

Horry R. Payne, probation officer for San Juan County in New Mexico, reports the girl was not directly involved in any burglaries or other thefts in San Juan County or the area within the court's jurisdiction.

The girl and two male companions had been picked up Jan. 30 by Oklahoma authorities and held for New Mexico police. The two youths admitted burglaries which netted them about $3,000, police said.

4 Admit Guilt in Theft-Beating

Waterford Township Youths Face Sentences for Gang Mugging

Four Waterford Township youths yesterday pleaded guilty to the unarmed robbery-beating of a 52-year-old man last month.

They were Dale Owens, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence W. Owens, 2558 Clinton River Dr.; Glenn H. Hadden, 15, son of Mrs. Ellen Acord, 4704 Riverview Dr.; Robert Willey, 17, son of Walter P. Willey, 2068 Denby Dr., and Wendell Trager, 17, son of Mrs. Dorothy Trager, 7220 Ida Ter.

A 16-year-old township tough, who police say was the fifth participant in what they describe as the "first case of gang mugging in northern Oakland County," was scheduled for a hearing this morning on a request from the Prosecutor's Office that he, too, stand trial as an adult.

The juvenile, Gregory Clover, of 415 Manning St., is accused by Herman Westphal of 5901 Cooley Lake Rd., White Lake Township, of luring him to a house and beating him. Westphal said the four others later drove up and joined in the beating.

Clover is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Clover. Oakland County Circuit Judge H. Russell Holland set sentencing of Owens, Rabdeau, Willey and Trager for March 16.

The four admitted to Judge Holland yesterday that they took and split up among them $55 they had robbed Westphal of Jan. 31. The money was taken from Westphal after he was beaten unconscious by the five youths.

He remained in Pontiac General Hospital for six days with a broken nose, cuts to the face and head and some internal injuries.

Owens, Rabdeau, Willey and Trager were returned to the county jail to await sentencing. Clover is being held in the juvenile home.

County Dem Election Workers to Meet

Oakland County Democratic election workers and officials will meet in Pontiac at the Roosevelt Hotel ballroom at 8 Friday night to participate in a symposium dealing with county election results.

The meeting, called by the Oakland County Democratic Committee, is the premier of a proposed series of election analysis programs to be held after each election for the purpose of determining voter responses.

Friday night's program will be led by August Schille, president of the Michigan AFL-CIO, William Hart, deputy auditor general, and Billie S. Farnum, deputy secretary of state.

Annett is a member of the Oakland County Taxpayers' League which in 1958 filed suit to block construction of the new courthouse. The league contended the supervisors had gathered building funds in violation of the law.

The law says that counties in any one year cannot levy more than one-tenth of one mill to be used for the construction of public buildings or the purchase of land for them.

Annett was angry when he left yesterday's meeting.

"The League spent plenty of money to hire competent architects and accountants to look into future building plans, but the supervisors never once gave us an opportunity to be heard," Annett charged.

Hirlinger declined to comment. What the League still might have up its sleeve to stymie plans was not disclosed by Annett.

However, Charles A. Davis, deputy corporation counsel for the county, said law permits 29 days in which a re-hearing request of the high court's ruling can be requested.

Croteau said he didn't plan any further action "unless instructed by the Pontiac City Commission." Levinson's committee was scheduled to be re-activated at 10 a.m. today, meeting in Birmingham with officials of the courthouse designing firm of O'Dell Hewlett & Luckenbach Associates.

Many supervisors sided with the majority to proceed with plans when Howard K. Kelley, of Royal Oak, pointed out that the resolution being adopted said Levinson's committee must report back to the Board "for final consideration and approval."

Stephenson had urged that plans be held in abeyance for 30 days to allow the new members to have questions answered.

This plan was somewhat sidetracked after Levinson offered to answer any questions the new supervisors might have at the meeting. There were few.

Harry W. Horton, Royal Oak builder and supervisor, urged the Board to move ahead now to give the county an estimated quarter of a million dollars extra in costs due to lumber and labor costs which are expected to increase this spring.

The Day in Birmingham Sees Contest Developing for Municipal Judge Post

BIRMINGHAM — A contest is developing here for the post of municipal judge, according to City Clerk Irene Hanley. It will be decided at the polls April 6 in the spring elections.

Walter R. Denton, 28, of 615 Oakland Ave. took out a petition for the office yesterday afternoon. A member of the City Planning Board since last summer, Denton has been on the staff of the Oakland County Prosecutors' Office for about three and a half years.

Judge John E. Emery Jr., who was appointed last June when Judge John J. Gaffill retired, has already filed his petition with the city clerk.

Associate Judge Edward B. Emery, a younger brother, has a petition out but has not yet filed, Miss Hanley said.

All of the commission incumbents have already filed. Mayor Carl Ingraham and Charles Renfrew are seeking to return to the commission for three-year terms. William Bur gum, named to replace William Hutchinson last June, seeks the post for another year.

The deadline for filing petitions is 4 p.m. Saturday. Each must have from 25 to 50 signatures of registered voters in the city.

"Oh, you said the fountain," a customer commented at the McClellan-Ball Co. at 850 S. Woodward ave. yesterday thus triggering another call to the police.

Earlier the firm had reported 35 cents taken from a desk drawer all that was missing after the store was broken into Monday night.

The fountain, a French dolphin design, had hung on the wall. A wall-type flower pot holder had been hung in its place so that the fountain was not immediately missed.

Police said the fountain was priced at $270.

Dog owners have until Monday to license their pets at the regular fees — $1 for males and $2 for females, the city clerk announced today.

A certificate from a veterinary showing that the dog has been inoculated against rabies must be presented before the new tags can be obtained.

A bowling party and supper is planned by the Birmingham YMCA Young Adults Club for Sunday. The group will meet at the "Y" at 2 p.m. to begin the program.

Reservations must be made with Adele Youel, 345 Woodbridge Rd., by Friday.

Single persons between 18 and 42 are welcome to join club activities, Marion Cannon, president, announced today.

Residents of Birmingham may still obtain free sand by going to the DPW Yards on Eton road.

Repairs involve replacement of defective heating, electrical and plumbing installations in the hospital's old east wing. To keep costs down, the city has decided to make the repairs on a time-and-material basis replacing what is defective and saving what is salvageable.

See Trouble for Farmers in Midwest's Ice

ANN ARBOR (AP)—The Midwest's ice crust may cause trouble for farmers this year if there is a warm, dry spring, meteorologists of the University of Michigan said today.

The university's meteorological laboratories reported the ice may prevent necessary moisture from rains and snow from reaching the subsoil.

The laboratories said the situation could be harmful particularly in view of last summer's dry spells.

"With the ice crust now present, almost all precipitation runs off and is lost," the report said.

However, the laboratories also said recent thaw has been helpful and if it continues along with a "good spring soaking season" the ground water levels will be closer to normal.

The report pointed up the difference between the moisture equivalents of snow and ice.

One inch of snow equals about one-tenth inch of rain while an inch of ice is the equivalent of nine-tenths of an inch of rain.

"So we have a lot of rain on the ground right now but it's not helping much," the report said.

Hold Son in Murder of Mother, Slashing

BOSTON (AP)—A woman was hacked to death and her brother was seriously slashed early today. Police accused the woman's son of cutting the throats of his mother and uncle.

The body of Gertrude McCarthy, 51, a widow, was found in her blood-spattered apartment on Nonquit Street, Dorchester.

A witness said he saw Mrs. McCarthy's brother, Edmund P. Walsh, 49, stabbed in two separate attacks on the street outside the apartment.

Walsh's condition at City Hospital was described as critical. Robert McCarthy, 30, was captured trying to enter the home of a relative in Roxbury.

Police said McCarthy had a blood-stained knife in his possession. They said McCarthy, a Navy veteran, is a "former mental patient and for some time has been considered a recluse. He was booked on suspicion of murder.

Snuff Is Not to Be Sniffed at, Milady Advised

By PHYLLIS BATTLE
NEW YORK—This is the era of the "taste treat" and of the "new oral sensation." You put down your money and you take your cherries. Frozen bistic delicious, powdered wiener guggelhupf, ready-mix rib roast.

For before dinner there soon will be capuled martins, and for after dinner, sponge cake made from real sponges to cut costs and calories. The American public will try anything, long as it's new and well advertised.

The greatest headway currently is in the field of tars and nicotine. Having been advised by some people to cut down on the smoking we are, naturally, smoking more than ever before. And, in the search for more "taste thrills" for the smoker a number of tobacco merchants are coming out daily with titillating new products to puff on.

There are delightful little cigarillos, frequently known as "whiffs," and intended to be savored like cigars rather than inhaled—but who tends toward intentions these days?

At the flouziest night clubs in New York, we now see women puffing on cheroots that are slimmer and shorter than queen-size cigarettes. They taste like hubby's Havanas and smell like the blackest tobacco in the back rooms of Paris bistros, and the ladies are delighted with them.

Not only are they discovering a new sensation for the taste buds—they are attracting attention again, for the first time since they shocked the matrons de with a chemise. That was in 1937. It's been a long time between sensations.

We returned from one of these supper clubs the other night, reeking of Turkish and musing wistfully on the old days when ladies chewed gum to be daring, and discovered a special delivery letter. It came from a friend of long standing who said he has just been appointed an executive of the "snuff information center," which is kicking off the first active campaign (since George III's reign) to push snuff.

He said that in these days of hot interest in cool smoking, snuff is not to be sniffed at. And he meant it literally.

"More than six million American men and women use snuff today at the rate of 36 million pounds a year," he wrote. "But the reason who wouldn't know snuff from powdered bananas, it is a preparation of pulverized, flavored tobacco. It acquired a bad reputation in the days of the American Revolution, when the rugged colonials began associating it with the lace-trilled dandies who hung around Elizabethan courts, sniffing at snuff—and our forefathers.

It continued to have its adherents, however, and today is growing in popularity (according to the "snuff information" people). Chief users of no-sniff snuff are farmers, who haven't time to smoke cigarettes, and industrial workers, who operate in plants where smoking's taboo.

But they hope to appeal, of course, to a broader section of society, including women in search of the new taste thrill and attention-getter. And from what I've seen of ladies lately, they can't miss.

Wait'll Marcia gets a load of that new pink snuff . . . she'll flip.

"Maybe," I can hear her giggling to Myrtle, "they'll even think it's marijuana. . ."

Another taste treat, obviously, For 20th Century-type people

'Give Michigan Back to the Indians'

Chippewas, Ottawas Out to Prove Claim

ESCANABA (U) — How many times this icy winter have you suggested that the State of Michigan ought to be given back to the Indians?

If the thought occurred to you, you weren't alone in your thinking—the Indians were with you. They want the Wolverine state back—but some of them are more interested right now in proving that they once owned Michigan, or at least a part of it.

Descendants of the Chippewa and Ottawa tribes are trying to establish claim to nearly half the Upper Peninsula and a good chunk of the Lower Peninsula. The area involved is the entire peninsula east of here plus that part of Lower Michigan north of the Grand River and west of a line from Lansing to Alpena.

The Indian Claims Commission in Washington began hearing oral arguments in the matter last week.

The claim is the first of two steps in the Indians' efforts to get from Uncle Sam the difference in value of the 16 million acres which they ceded to him in the territory of Michigan in 1836—the year before Michigan entered the union. The Indians were paid 16 cents an acre for the land.

The second step in the claim for treaty payment re-adjustments is the fixing of the difference between the fair value of the land ceded at the time of acquisition and the amount of the original award.

Among other things, the plaintiffs say Indian agent Henry R. Schoolcraft delayed the treaty making in Washington in 1836 for several months until more Indians could be taken there from Michigan to assure proper representation of the tribes in the dealings.

The government denied that any underhanded dealings went on during the negotiations. It held that the petitioners had no capacity to institute the claim, had no interest in the actions and that neither the Ottawas or the Chippewas had a compensable interest in the ceded lands in 1820 or 1836.

Only last year, the three-member commission found that the two tribes—along with the Potawatomi Indians—had title under a treaty of 1821 to the southwest quarter of the Lower Peninsula.

The Chippewa and Ottawa claim is only one of hundreds presently before the commission.

The largest Indian settlement in the Upper Peninsula affected by the claim is Bay Mills in Chippewa County.

Two Escanaba attorneys—Dennis McGinn and James R. Fitzharris—are representing the tribes in their claim.

Florida Tourists Flock to Cuba's Cut-Rate Tour

HAVANA (UPI) — About 1,000 Florida tourists poured into Havana earlier this week to open the city's bargain-rate "welcome tour." Authorities here hope at least four times that number will be on hand by today.

Hotels here are holding 2,000 double rooms open for tourists who take advantage of the offer of three days' free lodging and entertainment, designed to revive the stalled tourist trade.

The $55.50 cost of the three-day tour, open to any traveler from the Florida area, covers the round-trip air fare, hotel accommodations, a sightseeing tour of Havana, a street carnival, a parachute drop and water show, night club performances and open-air concerts.

Officials of the tourist bureau and the hotel association predict a "sellout" by the time the celebration ends today.

The tour is officially described as an observance of the 64th anniversary of the Cuban uprising against Spain which led eventually to this country's independence.

Villagers May Return Soon

Swiss Landslide Seems to Have Stopped Moving

HERRBRIGGEN, Switzerland (UPI)—A Swiss official said a gigantic landslide of ice and rocks that has threatened to crash down on Herbruggen the last two weeks apparently "has stopped moving." Ernest Von Rothen, chief of the Valais Canton Public Works Department, said he would hold a conference with responsible officials today to decide if the 215 villagers could return to their abandoned homes.

Rothen's comments were the first ray of hope held out to the homeless villagers since Feb. 8 when the avalanche began sliding down toward a sharp cliff that hangs over Herbruggen.

Rothen made the comment after a two-hour close inspection of the landslide.

"I had already flown over the landslide on Mt. Nadelhorn, but today after being able to stand on my own feet on the mountain, I have the impression that the slide has stopped moving," Rothen said.

The official said in his opinion the ice that melted and started the landslide moving downward at a snail's pace would also "aid it in settling down."

Rothen said decayed rocks permitted water to seep through and form patches of ice which lifted the ground and set the landslide into motion.

"I do not want to make the decision to let the people of Herbruggen return to their homes without consulting the opinion of the experts who will visit the slide area today," he said.

"I will then hold a conference with the responsible officials to see if it is possible to make Herbruggen habitable again."

A small observation hut at the edge of the landslide was completed yesterday, and a four-man patrol kept a vigil on the avalanche.

U.S.-Buenos Aires Jet Flights in April

NEW YORK (UPI)—Pan American World Airways plans to inaugurate jet service between the United States and Latin America that would cut flying time between New York and Buenos Aires in half.

The airline announced it hopes to begin the service late in April. The Boeing 707 jets to be used would make the trip in 12 hours — exactly half the present flying time from New York to the Argentinian capital. Both tourist and first class service will be offered.

The route also would include stops at Caracas, Venezuela, and possibly Asuncion, Paraguay.

Possible Successor to Ailing Dulles

Dillon Is Competent, Wealthy, Colorful but Solemn

WASHINGTON (NEA)—The new acting second in command at the U.S. State Department, C. Douglas Dillon, is one of the most competent and one of the most colorful big shots in Washington.

Under Secretary Dillon—who is a possible successor to John Foster Dulles—is pleasant—but solemn. He seems to be thinking all the time. When he's relaxed, he laughs like a child. But he's not a story-teller or a bon vivant.

He plays a little golf when he can find the time—which is rarely. Democratic Sen. J. William Fulbright, new chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, is a frequent partner.

They live across the street from each other, in what is sometimes called the "Snob Hill" section of Washington.

HOME COST $150,000
Dillon's five bedroom home is the more pretentious of the two, however. It's a big white brick mansion reported to have cost $150,000. It houses a few of the Dillon collection of French impressionist paintings, which is just about the only Dillon hobby. The paintings are mostly Monets and Vlamincks.

One other thing that distinguishes Dillon is that he owns the Chateau Haut Brion vineyard, inherited from his father. It is famous for one of the best Bordeaux red wines, usually selling here for $5 a bottle.

If these little sidelights indicate that Doug Dillon is an unusual character, that is correct. He has been unusual since he was graduated from Harvard in 1931.

That was the year he bought a seat on the New York Stock Exchange for $185,000. He was a floor trader for five years.

Then he joined the U.S. and Foreign Securities Corp., becoming its president in 1946. That same year he became chairman of Dillon Read & Co., which his father had founded. The son continued its growth as one of the big international investment houses in the country.

He became head of these family companies, incidentally, the year after he completed his Navy service in World War II. With naval aviation in the Southwest Pacific, he won the Legion of Merit, Air Medal and Navy commendation ribbon.

Dillon resigned his positions with Dillon Read and U.S. and Foreign Securities when President Eisenhower named him Ambassador to France in 1953. Dillon had been one of the original Republicans for Ike in 1952.

He had been active in Republican politics in New Jersey, where he maintained his home at Far Hills. In 1956 he considered resigning his ambassadorship and running for governor against Robert Meyner, but thought better of it.

These rapid promotions indicate better than anything else the importance of the job that Dillon has done.

He has made the Foreign Service professionals realize that economic policy can't be separated from straight political diplomacy in carrying out American international relations.

Dillon puts in full work days from before 9 in the morning to nearly 8 at night. Then he takes home big piles of paper for night work and for weekends.

The fact that he does his homework has been increasingly apparent to Congressional committees on Capitol Hill. He has impressed them.

'Tightwad' Benny Perfect for 'The Billionaire' Role

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
HOLLYWOOD — It isn't often casting news hands me a laugh—but I just can't keep it secret any longer that Jack Benny has the inside track for the title role in "The Billionaire."

In view of Jack's professional reputation as a penny-pincher and a tightwad—it's really a stroke of imagination on Jerry Wald's part to want "Jackson" for "The Billionaire."

Jack Lemmon probably will live a long time but he'll never have a compliment like the one Producer-Director Billy Wilder gave him after "Some Like It Hot." Said Billy, "Jack is the greatest comedy talent in the entire industry."

American citizen Mike Romanoff (used to be "Prince") gets a real acting role in "Five Fingers" when he reports this morning to Martin Manulis for the 20th TV series. Mike should feel at home in his role. He plays Mons. Blanc, proprietor of a swank Paris restaurant—but his chief pursuit is spying, not food.

So many of Tony Bartley's advisers and friends begged him not to make a big scandal out of his separation from Deborah Kerr that he has consented to let her have a quiet divorce.

I had hoped in some way that Tony and Debbie would get together again, but apparently that was impossible, since she completely lost her heart to Peter Viertel. Those things happen, but somehow it didn't seem that it could possibly happen to Debbie.

The Frank Sinatra-Sammy Davis, Jr., friendship is as cold as the icebergs of Greenland. Sammy made a speech in which he said a few things about his close friend, Sinatra, that didn't set well with Frankie. When it was repeated to the thin one, he asked that a tape of the show

Pair Arraigned on Armed Robbery

Oakland County Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland yesterday entered pleas of not guilty for two Pontiac men who stood mute when arraigned on charges of armed robbery of a Waterford Township tavern.

Judge Holland entered the pleas for Richard K. Allen, 25, of 7 Short St., and Robert L. Tate, 26, of 450 Irwin Ave.

Both were returned to the county jail to await trial. No date has been set.

The two are accused of holding up the bartender and patrons of Mike's Bar, 4800 Dixie Hwy., Jan. 18 and taking $180.

PONCA CITY, Okla. (AP)—Harold Kanady has solved his grass cutting problem. He has rigged up his power mower to a rope that is tied to an upright pipe. The mower cuts in circles and as it revolves around the pipe the rope shortens, leaving him only four small corners to cut in the usual way.

which had been made, be read to him.

The result is that Sammy won't be in "Never So Few" nor "Oceans 11" with Sinatra. I can only feel that Sammy didn't realize what he was saying, or that he meant his remarks as a joke, because Frankie has been his idol for years.

ENVOY TO FRANCE

Dillon served as ambassador to France for four years. He was generally credited with doing a good job and supporting the U.S. Embassy with his own funds in a style that reflected credit on the country.

Dillon was called home in February 1957 to become Deputy Under Secretary of State for Economic Affairs. That November he was put in charge of all foreign aid programs. A year later he was made Under Secretary and designated third in command.

These rapid promotions indicate better than anything else the importance of the job that Dillon has done.

He has made the Foreign Service professionals realize that economic policy can't be separated from straight political diplomacy in carrying out American international relations.

Dillon puts in full work days from before 9 in the morning to nearly 8 at night. Then he takes home big piles of paper for night work and for weekends.

Sentences Due for Local Youths

3 to Get Jail Terms
March 16 in Waterford Gas Station Break-In

Three 17-year-old youths, two from the Pontiac area and one from Detroit, will be sentenced March 16 after pleading guilty yesterday to breaking and entering when arraigned before Oakland County Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland.

Timothy A. Pettingill, of 296 Leota St., Waterford Township, James C. Jenkins, of 8882 Arlington St., White Lake Township, and Armand L. Inkel, formerly of Waterford Township but late of Detroit, each pleaded guilty to breaking into a gas station at the corner of Andersonville and Airport roads.

Police believe the arrest of the three cleared up a series of recent burglaries in Waterford Township. Police said the youths admitted 21 break-ins during the past two weeks.

Pettingill, Jenkins, and Inkel were returned to the county jail to await sentencing.

Pettingill, who was on bond prior to today's arraignment, was ordered held when he pleaded guilty and told Judge Holland he was not in school or holding a job.

Bill Would Halt Tie-Ins on Cemetery Services

LANSING (AP)—Seven Senators are moving to put the clamps on cemetery operators who use economic pressure to push the sale of monuments and grave markers. "It's strictly a racket," said Sen. Perry W. Green (R-Grand Rapids). "Unless you buy the monument from them, they stick you good on the installation. It's a $5 or $10 job and they'll charge you $20." A bill filed in the Senate yesterday would prohibit any requirement for purchase of a monument or marker from a particular person or firm and outlaw discrimination by price, fees or otherwise on any purchase from an outsider.

Deer antlers are shed each year, usually in January, but are seldom found because rodents gnaw at them for their salt content.

Possible Successor to Ailing Dulles

Dillon Is Competent, Wealthy, Colorful but Solemn

WASHINGTON (NEA)—The new acting second in command at the U.S. State Department, C. Douglas Dillon, is one of the most colorful and one of the most competent and one of the most colorful big shots in Washington.

Under Secretary Dillon—who is a possible successor to John Foster Dulles—is pleasant—but solemn. He seems to be thinking all the time. When he's relaxed, he laughs like a child. But he's not a story-teller or a bon vivant.

He plays a little golf when he can find the time—which is rarely. Democratic Sen. J. William Fulbright, new chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, is a frequent partner.

They live across the street from each other, in what is sometimes called the "Snob Hill" section of Washington.

HOME COST $150,000
Dillon's five bedroom home is the most pretentious of the two, however. It's a big white brick mansion reported to have cost $150,000. It houses a few of the Dillon collection of French impressionist paintings, which is just about the only Dillon hobby. The paintings are mostly Monets and Vlaminks.

One other thing that distinguishes Dillon is that he owns the Chateau Haut Brion vineyard, inherited from his father. It is famous for one of the best Bordeaux red wines, usually selling here for $5 a bottle.

If these little sidelights indicate that Doug Dillon is an unusual character, that is correct. He has been unusual since he was graduated from Harvard in 1931.

That was the year he bought a seat on the New York Stock Exchange for $185,000. He was a floor trader for five years.

Then he joined the U.S. and Foreign Securities Corp., becoming its president in 1946. That same year he became chairman of Dillon Read & Co., which his father had founded. The son continued its growth as one of the big international investment houses in the country.

He became head of these family companies, incidentally, the year after he completed his Navy service in World War II. With naval aviation in the Southwest Pacific, he won the Legion of Merit, Air Medal and Navy commendation ribbon.

Dillon resigned his positions with Dillon Read and U.S. and Foreign Securities when President Eisenhower named him Ambassador to France in 1953. Dillon had been one of the original Republicans for like in 1952.

He had been active in Republican politics in New Jersey, where he maintained his home at Far Hills. In 1956 he considered resigning his ambassadorship and running for governor against Robert Meyner, but thought better of it.

He has made the Foreign Service professionals realize that economic policy can't be separated from straight political diplomacy in carrying out American international relations.

Dillon puts in full work days from before 9 in the morning to nearly 8 at night. Then he takes home big piles of paper for night work and for weekends.

The fact that he does his homework has been increasingly apparent to Congressional committees on Capitol Hill. He has impressed them. When a mistake has been made he admits it and says simply, "We'll try to do better next time."

'Tightwad' Benny Perfect for 'The Billionaire' Role

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
HOLLYWOOD — It isn't often casting news hands me a laugh — but I just can't keep it secret any longer. Jack Benny has the inside track for the title role in "The Billionaire."

In view of Jack's professional reputation as a penny-pincher and a tightwad — it's really a stroke of imagination on Jerry Wald's part to want "Jackson" for "The Billionaire."

Jack Lemmon probably will live a long time but he'll never have a compliment like the one Producer-Director Billy Wilder gave him after "Some Like It Hot." Said Billy, "Jack is the greatest comedy talent in the entire industry."

American citizen Mike Romanoff (used to be "Prince") gets a real acting role in "Five Fingers" when he reports this morning to Martin Manulis for the 20th TV series. Mike should feel at home in his role. He plays Mons. Blanc, proprietor of a swank Paris restaurant — but his chief pursuit is spying, not food.

So many of Tony Bartley's advisers and friends begged him not to make a big scandal out of his separation from Deborah Kerr that he has consented to let her have a quiet divorce.

I had hoped in some way that Tony and Debbie would get together again, but apparently that was impossible, since she completely lost her heart to Peter Viertel. Those things happen, but somehow it didn't seem that it could possibly happen to Debbie.

The Frank Sinatra-Sammy Davis, Jr., friendship is as cold as the icebergs of Greenland. Sammy made a speech in which he said a few things about his close friend, Sinatra, that didn't set well with Frankie. When it was repeated to the thin one, he asked that a tape of the show which had been made, be read to him.

The result is that Sammy won't be in "Never So Few" nor "Oceans 11" with Sinatra. I can only feel that Sammy didn't realize what he was saying, or that he meant his remarks as a joke, because Frankie has been his idol for years.

As the "Last of the Movie Moguls," my friend Sam Goldwyn has been getting more national publicity this month than most movie stars. Sam's latest honor is from the Hollywood Foreign Press Association, who will present a plaque annually to be known as the Samuel Goldwyn International Film Award.

3 to Get Jail Terms March 16 in Waterford Gas Station Break-In

Three 17-year-old youths, two from the Pontiac area and one from Detroit, will be sentenced March 16 after pleading guilty yesterday to breaking and entering when arraigned before Oakland County Circuit Judge H. Russell Holland.

Quick Relief from Pile Irritation
40 years ago a Buffalo druggist created an ointment to relieve itching and smarting of piles. It brought such quick, cooling, soothing, astringent relief that its fame spread across the land making Peterson's Ointment a favorite in thousands of homes. Ask your druggist today for 50c box or 7c applicator tube. Peterson's Ointment delights or money back.

These days, no woman need settle for fabrics that she can't launder herself with the least possible time and trouble.

Need Regular Care

Teeth Affect Beauty and Health

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
Care of the teeth is extremely important not only for beauty reasons but for reasons of health. Diseased teeth can poison us and can lead to serious conditions. Such focal points of infection long have been suspected as factors in arthritis, for instance. Also many older people who have lost teeth and have not had them replaced are unable to chew their food properly and therefore may not eat as they should. This may lead to malnutrition or at least to some dietary deficiencies.

But, for the moment, let us consider teeth from the viewpoint of good looks and feminine allure. You may not have been born with pretty teeth but you can keep them clean and white. If you can afford the money, much can be done to improve homely teeth. If gotten early enough, protruding teeth, crooked teeth and poorly spaced teeth can be corrected. In some instances capping a few teeth can make a great difference in appearance.

Naturally regular brushing is the first rule. Teeth should be carefully brushed after EVERY meal whenever this is possible. We also should visit our dentist periodically just as we have physical check-ups with our doctor. Give yourself this break at least once a year. It may save your teeth and save you untold discomfort and expense. Actually, I think that every six months is better, and for those who have problem teeth every three months is indicated.

Halitosis or unpleasant breath is a real problem for those who have it. There is no sense in pretending that it is not. It is a real hazard in the romantic chapter of your life, and it can be damaging in business. I once had a dentist who had it, and I must admit that regardless of his splendid qualifications, I could not take it! I changed dentists.

Whether he could do nothing about it or whether one ever told him, I do not know. All I know is that I did not tell him. I think that would be most embarrassing for a dentist!

Sometimes the facts of life are not too pleasant. It is certainly true that teeth which are not properly cleaned have food materials left in between the teeth and these ferment. For this reason dental floss is a great help.

Bad breath can come from many conditions. If you have this problem, first eliminate the possibility of neglect so far as tooth cleanliness is concerned. Also an antiseptic mouth wash may help.

Of course if you have decayed teeth this may be the reason. Too much smoking sometimes leads to this condition. Indigestion may be the cause. Infected tonsils or sinuses may be the culprit.

Sunglasses, especially the jeweled variety, collect their share of dirt. Swish them in cold water 'n' suds and they'll shine like new.

Regular brushing of your teeth is good for the teeth—and good for your beauty, too.

Memory of Cooking Is Lifetime Gift

By RUTH MILLETT
"I bake bread every week," says a busy mother, "because I want my children to remember the fragrance of loaves of bread browning in the oven and the wonderful treat of homemade bread sliced when it is still warm enough to melt butter."

I don't think she is wasting her time. All of us who are old enough to remember the days before ready-mixes and frozen foods can close our eyes and recall certain scenes vividly.

We can recall the delicious aroma of vegetable soup that had been simmering on the back of the stove half a cold winter's day; the fun of watching a three-layer cake, started from scratch and finished off with thick icing; the companionship of helping shell peas or snap beans; the fragrance of doughnuts browning in deep, bubbling fat; the anticipation that came from turning a freezer filled with homemade strawberry ice cream.

Today's easy cooking makes life simple for Mama. She can, if she hurries, leave the supermarket at 5:30 and have a meal on the table a little after 6. And the food is good and nourishing to the body. But there's nothing that comes out of a frozen food package, a can or a box of ready-mix to stir a child's imagination. There's nothing to whet his anticipation in food that is labeled "heat and serve" or "brown and serve."

So unless a mother realizes this fact and takes the trouble to do a little old-fashioned cooking for her family, her children are missing a lot.

Jealous Child Must Learn to Trust Love

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
She writes, "Now that our baby girl is walking, our three-year-old is showing violent jealousy. If I carry the baby upstairs, he wants to be carried, too. I can't hold her on my lap without his trying to push her off and climb up, too. As you've advised, I'm accepting his jealousy but I can't seem to get him over it..."

How long has this little brother been sharing your attention with his sister—12 months, 15? That's not much time to accumulate the day-in day-out experience he needs to trust your unswerving affection. Time is what works out children's jealousy, not you.

If you'll pass this responsibility the guilty anxiety we are bound to feel when we fail to manage something we think we ought to be able to manage.

When we are struggling with a little child's jealousy, it's helpful to understand his suspicion of time.

Musical Has Workshop at Eliason Home

Mrs. Paul Eliason was hostess at her home in Clarkston on Tuesday for the meeting of Tuesday Musicales workshop. Plans were discussed for the workshop program to be given at the annual May meeting of Tuesday Musicales. The program will feature original works by Mrs. M. J. Wager and Mrs. J. K. Rosenthal. Mrs. Donald Bergeron was accepted as a new member. Assisting the hostess were Mrs. H. G. Woolcock and Mrs. O. L. Smith.

Mrs. Wager Hosts PEO Chapter CL

Chapter CL of PEO Sisterhood met Monday afternoon for a dessert luncheon at the home of Mrs. M. J. Wager on Dixie highway. Mrs. W. Henry Sink assisted the hostess. Mrs. C. W. Buck had charge of the program. Those taking part were Mrs. Sink, Mrs. M. K. Fell, Mrs. H. W. Chapman and Mrs. Buck.

Club Hears Exchange Student

Three high school students who received American Field Service Scholarships spoke at the Tuesday afternoon meeting of Child Study Club Group III held at the Edgefield drive home of Mrs. Oliver G. Flier.

Sally Waddell, a student at Kingswood School Cranbrook, told about her six-week stay last summer with a Swiss family living in Bern. She stressed the closely knit family relationship of the Swiss people.

Another Kingswood student, Rosa Olascoga from Mendoza, Argentina, compared the educational and family life of the United States, as she had observed it with that of her native country.

Jaqueline Baron, Pontiac Central High School student from Rouen, France, commented on her life in France as compared with her life in this country.

Mrs. Walter Godsell was welcomed as a new member. Guests were Mrs. William Burder and Mrs. Wendell Doolin.

Assisting the hostess were Mrs. John Ritchie, Mrs. Robert Rogers, Mrs. Maynard Raye and Mrs. M. C. Worster. Mrs. Paul Gorman presided at the tea table. Program chairman for the day was Mrs. L. Jerome Fink.

Bridge Club Holds Masterpoint Game

Pontiac Duplicate Bridge Club held its monthly masterpoint game at Elks Temple Monday evening. Twenty-two tables were in play. Winners were Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Cress, Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Kushner, Dr. and Mrs. Herbert Bronson and Dr. and Mrs. Robert Segula. Other winners were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Waterman, James White and Julius Young, Dr. and Mrs. M. B.

Delores West Feted

Delores West, bride-elect of Donald Robert Friebe was honored at a linen shower Sunday given at the home of Mrs. George Duchaine of Essexville. Cohostess was Mrs. Jack Friebe. Miss West is the daughter of Mrs. Lafayette West of Oliver street and the late Mr. West. Her fiancé is the son of Elmer Friebe of Bay City. Kessler and Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Thomas.

It doesn't cost a great deal of money to have beautiful hands. Nor does it require a great deal of time. All it takes is a little bit of attention everyday!

1. Apply lotion every time you put your hands in water.
2. Use hand cream at night and work as well.
3. Work cleansing cream in with a handbrush if hands are very soiled.
4. Push cuticle back as you towel dry and reach for the hand lotion.
5. Wear gloves every time you step out of doors.

BARGAIN buys from the SALVATION ARMY?

In many cases, the answer is yes. There are 500 such stores throughout the country offering a variety of used articles at remarkably low prices. These stores aid who repair articles donated for sale and supplement the regular sales staff.

What's for sale in a particular store varies with the area, since all items are donated by the community. In a big-city store, you can usually find men's, women's, and children's clothing, furniture of all types, pots and pans, dishes, bric-a-brac, costume jewelry, books and records, electrical appliances, toys, rugs, draperies, and many other items. In a small town, the range may be more limited.

Prices, too, vary regionally and with the quality and condition of the goods offered. In most cases, they are lower than those to commercial secondhand stores. Examples: men's suits, $5 to $10; women's dresses, $1 to $5 (occasionally an exceptionally good one may be priced at $5 to $10); television sets, $5 to $100. (The cheaper TV sets are old models with 10 or 12-inch screens and have not been serviced (very worn but still usable) to $100 (for a Farson in good condition), baby's crib, $7.50 to $15; toys, 5 to 50 cents, books, 5 cents to 25 cents, bicycles, $5 to $15; pots and pans, 10 to 25 cents, armoires, $10 to $15.

Stores are alerted to watch for antiques that may have unusual value. In some cases, these are not sold, but rather are given away as a token of appreciation. The stores may also pay for them. Very occasionally, a badly tarnished silver service, priced at $20, when you find it to be a silvermaster's masterpiece, he offered them $200 for it. This sort of thing doesn't happen often, but it does add to the fun of browsing.

You will find these stores listed in your phone city. They are usually open all day during the week and half a day on Saturday. A good time to visit them is shortly after a Salvation Army collection in your community, when the stock is usually at its highest. Community stores are rarely given. But the goods are all out there, so you can inspect them, and you are free to buy them at any time, as you choose.

THERE ARE FIVE RED SHIELD STORES OPERATED BY THE SALVATION ARMY IN PONTIAC AND OAKLAND COUNTY, AT THE FOLLOWING LOCATIONS:

STORE NO. 1 118 W. Lawrence St. Pontiac	STORE NO. 2 48 W. Pike Street Pontiac
STORE NO. 3 925 N. Main St. Royal Oak	STORE NO. 4 21819 John R. Hazel Park

Tell a three-year-old, "No more candy until tomorrow!"—and he'll either fight our decision or accept it. But whether he fights or accepts, he doesn't expect tomorrow to produce the candy. There isn't any tomorrow for him. There's only right now—and if it won't produce his candy, no future will. He hasn't lived through enough tomorrows to trust them to deliver. He feels the same way about attention he doesn't get right now.

Well, that's his problem. It would be nice if we could solve it for him; but we can't. We can't wave a magic wand over him and turn him into a nine-year-old who has lived through enough tomorrows to know our love as a continuing, trustworthy thing. We can understand his fear—but we can't get him over it.

Sometimes we take on time's job. We resort to all kinds of tricks to convince little children that we love them as much as the baby. We fall at it, of course. One day the jealousy explodes again and we think, "Oh, what a bad parent I am!"

That's not good for anyone. Because it's then that we begin to resent the jealous child who makes us feel inadequate and reproached.

Fake pearl bibs, some with rhinestone pendants, are a nice way to pick up winter-weary clothes.

Those Unmarked Cars!

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—The number of highway traffic arrests is doubled when violators are unaware of the presence of police, according to the State Traffic Parol. L. E. Beier, enforcement director of Wisconsin's Motor Vehicle Department, says patrolmen in unmarked cars have stopped twice as many drivers for hazardous driving as patrolmen in marked cars.

Trouble Is Brewing in Little Haiti

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY
AP Foreign News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—The Negro republic of Haiti may become the next major trouble spot in the Caribbean.

Daniel Fignole, radical leader of the impoverished masses of the Haitian capital Port au Prince, has ordered his followers in a broadcast from Cuba to get ready for a general strike aimed at overthrowing the government of President Francois Duvalier.

Another exiled opposition leader, Louis Dejele, who has strong influence in the upper class and among women and shopkeepers, has been broadcasting the same message in recent weeks.

Haitians listen to these broadcasts and there is an air of anxiety and expectancy. Haiti is the ham in the Caribbean sandwich — stuck between two blood enemies, Fidel Castro's new Cuba and Rafael Trujillo's tough dictatorship in the Dominican Republic.

This uncomfortable position combines with a desperate economic crisis, with continuing hatreds among Haitian political factions and with the absence of an efficient government based on popular support, to add up to an unstable situation which could explode at any time.

President Duvalier was voted into office in an army-run election in September 1957 after 10 months of political turmoil following the ouster of strongman President Paul Magloire. Duvalier has virtual dictatorial powers. He gives the impression now of a man of arbitrary temperament with jittery nerves.

In January Duvalier, under the shock of Castro's success in Cuba, attempted to remove the stigma of dictatorship from his regime by freeing all political opponents whom he had jailed, including some sentenced to death. A liberalization of his rule was proclaimed.

But now, in fear of an invasion by his Haitian opponents from Cuba, Duvalier is clamping down hard and uttering dire threats. He has banned all exit visas for Haitians—presumably to hold within the country any who would like to join anti-Duvalier forces. In firebrand declarations during impromptu speeches he has declared that should his enemies seek to overthrow him he would unleash a total revolution and not leave one stone on another in Port au Prince.

Duvalier now has the active backing of the Dominican dictator, Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo, another Latin American ruler marked by Fidel Castro for overthrow, Haiti and the Dominican Republic divide the island of Hispaniola. To the west of Haiti, only 50 miles across the Windward Passage, is the easternmost point of Cuba.

Frigates of the Dominican navy now apparently are patrolling the entire Haitian coastline and frequently put in at Haitian ports. Duvalier fears an invasion by Haitian exiles on the pattern of Castro's invasion of Cuba in late 1956.

This Is Where, Darn It

WALKERS DAM, Va. (AP)—Ed Allen, who operates a boat renting service on Chickahominy Lake, got tired of customers asking where the big fish were. He and his wife went out for four hours and returned with 10 bass weighing a total of 54½ pounds, ranging from 3 to 8½ pounds. They put the bass on exhibit at their dock.

Any woman will tell that her house is too small when it comes to finding a place for everything, it's probably better than a lot of and too big when it comes to just deserve. —Earl Wilson.
