Hanoi: Ready to Talk Peace if Bombing Halts

at last night's Pontiac Area Junior Chamber of Commerce annual Bosses' Night Banquet. J. L. Hudson Jr., president of the J. L. Hudson Co., and guest speaker, looks on.

TOKYO (AP) — Hanoi indicated today it is still ready to talk peace with the United States but demanded the Americans first "put an immediate end" to their bombing of North Vietnam.

An article in the North Vietnamese official newspaper Nhan Dan also hinted that Hanoi might have gone to the peace table if the United States had not resumed bombing after the lunar new year.

Nhan Dan said the United States "immediately changed its language" about peace talks "as soon as the government of (North) Vietnam declared that the two sides could have a talk after the U. S. had stopped its bombings of North Vietnam."

But Nhan Dan made clear Hanoi considers the door still open, saying: "We demand that before any talk could be started the U.S. government must put an immediate end to this act (the bombing)."

The article spoke only of ending the bombing and did not use the usual North Vietnamese formula of ending "the bombing raids and all other acts of war" against the North. But this phraseology was used earlier today in a statement by the North Vietnamese Foreign Ministry and Nhan Dan also said: "No body can sit at the conference table with the U.S. aggressors when they continue their acts of war against the country."

'STEPPED UP'

The United States said it resumed bombing after the lunar new year pause because the North Vietnamese during the truce had stepped up their supply convoys to the south.

It extended the bombing pause 40 hours after ground operations resumed in hopes British Prime Minister Harold Wilson's talks in London with Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin would produce some response to the American demand that the North Vietnamese reduce their participation in the war.

The Japanese government called on the Soviet Union today to take "more constructive actions" toward a peaceful settlement in Vietnam and expressed hope that the Soviet and Japanese governments would "actively" cooperate in search of peace.

A foreign ministry statement challenged the Soviet charge Jan. 27 that Japan was acting against a peaceful settlement of the Vietnam conflict.

PUBLIC OPINION

The statement from North Vietnam's foreign ministry said public opinion demands that the United States respond to the Vietcong's proclamation of a seven-day lunar new year truce and that the United States "definitively and unconditionally" end its bombing of North Vietnam.

The ministry said it regarded the brief U.S. pause in the bombing as "a U.S. ultimatum insolently requiring the Vietnamese people to accept negotiations under U.S. terms."

Future OU Growth Told in Master Plan

By PAT MCCARTY

Development of campus clusters is proposed as the future growth pattern of Oakland University in a master plan unveiled today.

A master site plan for the 1,600-acre campus was presented this morning to the university's governing body, the Michigan State University Board of Trustees.

Not one sprawling "multiversity"—but a grouping of smaller, compact units—is envisioned for OU as it grows beyond 15,000 students within the next decade.

Of more immediate importance is a proposed system of ring roads, one circling the campus and two others designed for internal traffic movement.

PARALLEL BOULEVARD

A two-lane road roughly would parallel the boulevard within the campus. Other roads connecting segments of the campus would include a major divided boulevard winding from midway between Squirrel and Adams to Crooks on the east.

In Gov. Romney's budget recommendations now before the Legislature is a $300,000 appropriation to build one lane of one leg of this boulevard and another artery running west to Squirrel.

OU Chancellor D. B. Varner noted the Oakland County Road Commission currently has no plans to improve the roads on the periphery of the campus.

He said the number of cars traveling to and from OU daily now is approximately as large as the student enrollment of 2,971 and is expected to increase on the same ratio.

'A MONSTER'

"Traffic is going to be a monster that will devour us one of these days soon," he said.

Parking is another consideration. Among the lots proposed is a 5,000-space area just south of the present campus.

The projected enrollment for OU's 20th year of operation, 1979, is 20,090.

The present campus on the northwest quadrant of the OU site rapidly is being built up to accommodate 15,000 students. When this capacity is reached, planning recommendations creating of a second academic and housing area on the south end of the site.

Near-Tornadoic Winds Cause Damage in Area

Wind gusts ranging upwards to an estimated 65 miles per hour last night and early today caused considerable damage and inconvenience in the Pontiac area.

Power lines were reported down in several communities, including Pontiac and Waterford Township; trees tumbled to the ground blocking traffic in some instances; and windows in business establishments and homes were broken.

The almost-tornadoic winds took the roof off of one Pontiac business. Crescent U.S. Royal Distributors office at 529 S. Saginaw.

The six-inch accumulation of snow forecast for the Pontiac vicinity never materialized yesterday, but temperatures dropped lower than expected.

The thermometer plummeted from a high of 46 at 9 last night to only 6 above zero at 5 this morning.

NEAR ZERO AGAIN

Tonight, the mercury is expected to plunge to a numbing 3 to 9 below, but winds will diminish to 5 to 15 miles per hour.

Consumers Power Co., the Detroit Edison Co. and the Michigan Bell Telephone Co. all reported downed wires.

About 7,000 Detroit-Edison customers from the townships of Pontiac, Waterford and Farmington Hills were without power.

3 Honored on Bosses' Night

Pontiac attorney George A. Googasian was named outstanding man of the year at last night's Pontiac Area Junior Chamber of Commerce annual Bosses' Night banquet.

Robert R. Eldred, executive vice president of Community National Bank, was named boss of the year. John J. Rhoades, owner of Rhoades Machine Works Inc., Berkley, received the Jaycees' key man award.

A record crowd of 161 Jaycees, their bosses and guests heard J. L. Hudson Jr., president of the J. L. Hudson Co. discuss "Planning at Hudson's" after the dinner at Devon Gables.

Googasian, winner of the distinguished service award, has been active in community affairs.

DEM CHAIRMAN

Googasian, 30, is chairman of the Democratic party of Oakland County and a Big Brothers of Oakland County board member. He is an assistant U.S. attorney and served as a member of the 19th Congressional District's executive committee.

Eldred is chairman of the Pontiac Financial Study Committee. He is also president of the lay advisory board of St. Joseph Mercy Hospital and chairman of the public phase of the hospital's building fund campaign.

He is a past Chamber of Commerce president and a former United Fund general campaign chairman.

Rhoades, named key man of the Jaycees, has been a club member for three years. He is program director and a board member.

DISCUSSES STORE

Hudson discussed the new Pontiac Mall full-line store to be opened next summer.

Growth of the area has been planned for in the form of a third floor which only needs a roof, Hudson explained.

Merit awards for supporting Jaycee activities during the year were received by The Pontiac Press, Coca-Cola Bottling Co., Chevrolet Motor Division, and the Community National Bank. The City Commission received a certificate indicating the Jaycee's support of its work.

Hearing Slated in Killing of Boy

David Johnson, charged with the fatal shooting yesterday of a 14-year-old schoolmate, is in custody at the Oakland County juvenile detention center pending a hearing March 2 before Juvenile Court Judge Norman Barnard.

Johnson, 14, surrendered after the Pontiac police station minutes after Robert Barker was fatally shot about 8:15 a.m. in the front yard of the Barker home at 93 N. Shirley.

Police said they took a four-barrel, 22-caliber derringer from Johnson.

The gun reportedly was taken from Johnson's father's gun collection.

TOLD TO STAY HOME

She had instructed him to stay home from school, investigators said.

Both youths were reportedly scheduled

Romney City Talk Urges Tax Aid, Unity

By JIM LONG

Gov. George Romney, speaking at a Lincoln Day dinner in Pontiac last night, urged Republicans to support his program for tax reform and to promote party unity.

The governor outlined his proposals for new sources of income to more than 800 persons attending the annual event at the Elks Temple.

Michigan faces a financial crisis, said Romney, unless his program, which he termed "sound, reasonable and fair," is carried out.

He emphasized, however, that it is not a "sacred program."

"As your governor, I am willing to change details of the plan," he said.

TAX PACKAGE

The tax package would bring in $235 million in new revenue annually, and is based on a 2½ per cent income tax to individuals, 5 per cent on business, and 8 per cent on financial institutions, all coupled with tax relief to property owners and the repeal of business activities tax.

While open to any suggestions, Romney said there were two things he would not do.

"First, I will not sign any budget measure for next year until I am certain that revenues will cover expenditures.

"We are not going to spend more in Michigan than we are willing to pay for.

"Second: I will not settle for tax action that does not produce tax reform."

Romney said there are alternatives to tax reform, but these would involve "slashing state aid to education and other essential services that people need."

News Briefs

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — Enemy and allied troops continue to mount in the Vietnam War's bloodiest week with 13 U.S. helicopters reported downed yesterday and 385 more Communists reported killed today.

Four American crewmen were killed and eight wounded in the downing of the U.S. helicopters.

Three battalions of American infantrymen were reported under heavy enemy attack tonight in the central highlands near the Cambodian border about 330 miles north of Saigon.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Adam Clayton Powell's estranged third wife told House investigators today she received only two pay checks—for last November and December—during the last five years while on her husband's congressional payroll.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson sent Congress today a 12-point program which he said would "protect the American consumer." It calls for stiffer regulation of consumer loans, mail order land sales, mutual funds, welfare and pension plans, some medical laboratories, and natural gas pipelines.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The blaze that killed three astronauts in their Apollo spacecraft Jan. 27 may have started as a much smaller fire. This theory was advanced yesterday by NASA Deputy Administrator Robert C. Seamans Jr. in a report on the progress of the disaster investigation.

LONDON (AP) — The British government today recommended a balanced East-West reduction of military forces in Europe, saying "there is little danger of aggression" on the Continent because of the changing Soviet society and Red China's anti-Soviet trend.

Charges Made by Firemen Fail to Upset Board

By JANICE KLOUSER

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — For the second time the Township Board has refused to become excited over charges of "dictatorship" leveled against it.

A letter from members of the volunteer fire department asking for a general "housecleaning" was not discussed at last night's meeting, but Supervisor John Warren said later that the letter had been turned over to the fire committee for study.

Township 4th to Okay Sewer Pact

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The township last night became the fourth Oakland County community to sign a revised agreement for the Clinton-Oakland sewer interceptor.

Waterford and Independence townships have yet to sign the contract which has already been agreed to by Orion, Avon and Pontiac townships.

The revision became necessary after the city of Pontiac withdrew from the agreement.

West Bloomfield's main concern was the route of the proposed interceptor.

Supervisor John Warren said the route at this stage is very general and that he has been told it will be laid out to provide the greatest service to township residents and the most economically.

TO STUDY AREA

Township engineer Nerec Alix was instructed to study the area and make recommendations on the best route.

In other action last night the board agreed to look into the possibility of a post office for the township.

The Nash Acres Homeowners Association in a letter to the board, pointed out the need for a post office "to take care of the needs of a growing community and to help eliminate confusion."

Warren said the allocation of post offices for the area is controlled by the Chicago office but that inquiries would be made.

Assist Eyed in Grant Bid

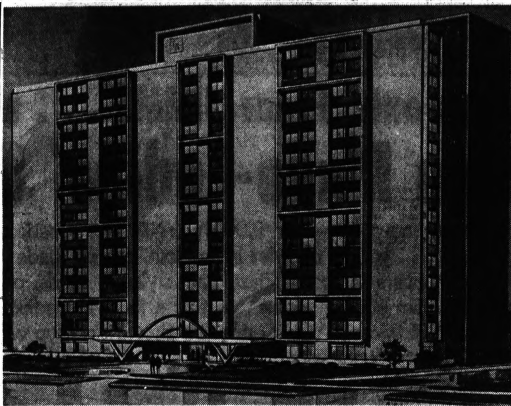

LAKE ORION — The hiring of the University of Detroit School of Architecture to push application for a federal planning grant was discussed by the village's new planning commission last night.

Official action will wait on council approval for the costs involved, according to commission member James Norton.

Bruno Leon, U. of D. dean of architecture, told planners the school would charge $8,500 a year on a two-year contract to prepare a master plan for the village.

He said an additional $300 would be needed to pay for annual state inspections.

If the grant is received Bruno related, the federal government would pay two-thirds of the cost involved.

MAY RISE SOON — This proposed 14-story, $3-million building is expected to be constructed soon on Maple near Livernois in Troy. It is to be a nonprofit apartment building for retired persons, jointly sponsored by the Free Methodist Church and the Christian Foundation for Emotional Health of Huntington Woods.

Three Resign School Posts

WALLED LAKE VETERANS Will Leave This Year

WALLED LAKE — Three long-time employees of the school district are resigning their positions effective end of the school year.

Floyd Chown, principal of Walled Lake Elementary School will retire after 29 years with the district.

Mrs. Margaret Geiger, director of cafeteria, will resign her position for health reasons, but will remain as an employee of the district in another capacity.

Miss Nina Kropidloski, elementary consultant, is also resigning after 15 years with the district.

The board is accepting applications for two elementary principal positions for 1967-68. The vacancies will be created through transferring of principals.

OPTION APPROVED

In other recent business, the board approved the final stages of an option on 40 acres of land at Halstead near the intersection of Pontiac Trail in West Bloomfield Township and authorized the administration to proceed with notification of intent to purchase.

Site for a future junior high school, the parcel is the second large secondary school site in West Bloomfield Township.

The board had also purchased 75 acres on Maple to be used for both an elementary school and a senior high school.

Farmington High to Host Concert

FARMINGTON — The Franklin Village Band and the Farmington High School Band will present a Brass Band Concert at 8 p.m. Friday at the high school for the benefit of the school's music camp fund.

The Franklin Village Band, sponsored by the Franklin Community Association, is conducted by Dr. Conrad R. Lamm. Director of the high school band is Robert Zimmerman.

Apartment for Aged Is Planned in Troy

TROY — A $3-million, 14-story bedroom units for $100 per month. The retired elderly is planned by a church-related group for a site here.

Sponsoring the proposed housing is the East Michigan Conference of the Free Methodist Church and the Christian Foundation for Emotional Health, Huntington Woods.

The building would go up on five acres of land on Maple near Livernois.

According to Troy building authorities, that land was rezoned about a year ago for a previous high-rise development project that fell through.

According to the joint sponsors of the present venture, the structure would provide 78 efficiency apartments to rent for about $72 per month and 160 one-bedroom units.

Charges would include all utilities and some furnishings.

Rev. Dale Woods of East Lansing, superintendent of the Lansing and Pontiac districts of the Free Methodist Church, has stated "we have long sought a means of becoming more directly involved with the people of our area."

"Now we have launched this venture on behalf of the elderly people in southeastern Michigan. We are glad for the privilege of lending our support and leadership."

It is indicated that government financing is possible and being sought by the group.

The building is to be run by Newlife, Inc., PO Box 839, Royal Oak, on a nonprofit basis. The firm claims construction is expected to start within four months.

Orion Township — The township's application for a 701 federal planning grant has been turned down — at least until July, the township was recently informed.

Orion Supervisor John Leslitter and Planning Commission Chairman Richard Beer will go to Washington, D.C. next week in an attempt to revive its chances for the grant.

Beer said the grant — for approximately $29,500 — had been turned down because of the lack of federal funds to meet all requests.

The township was informed its request would be reconsidered at the start of the new fiscal year in July.

"We plan to see Senators Hart and Griffin and Rep. Jack McDonald in an attempt to show them why Orion Township needs a planning grant and to get in on the ground floor when the appropriations are reopened," Beer said.

The grant would pay for the compiling of a master plan for the township.

Dryden Council Opens Door to Mobile Homes

DRYDEN — The village council has officially opened the door to use of mobile homes within the village.

Mrs. Mildred Gray, clerk, said the minimum on ceiling heights for residential usage had been lowered from 7.5 feet to 7 feet to accommodate the trailers.

"Champion Home Builders make trailers here in Dryden," said Mrs. Gray, "and we've had several inquiries about their use in the village."

Dryden has no zoning ordinance.

Mrs. Gray and Raymond Stevens were appointed with the assessor to the village Tax Board of Review, due to meet "probably March 14."

Sewer Study Grant Given White Lake

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — A $51,750 Public Works Planning grant has been given to the township to help finance a study of a $5.3-million sanitary sewer project.

Announced today by Congressman Jack H. McDonald R-19th District, the grant from the Department of Housing and Urban Development will be used to finance planning for sewer collection facilities for the developed areas of the township.

The system will be designed to cut potential contamination of private water wells and adjoining lakes, according to Township Supervisor Edward Cheyz.

He said officials are anxious to get started on the project to prevent possible pollution.

"We have 27 lakes in the township," he said, "and we don't want them polluted."

FIRST PROJECT

The sewer will be located in the southeast corner of the township, the most densely populated area, according to Cheyz.

He said that after the study, officials will be in a better position to know what interceptor the sewer will tie into.

It will be the first sewer project in the township.

The study will be undertaken by Johnson and Anderson, Inc., Waterford Township.

Wolverine Lake Clerk Appointed

WOLVERINE LAKE — Mrs. Irene Savich, 2669 Tampa, has been appointed village clerk, replacing Mrs. Carol Chiesa who resigned two weeks ago.

Mrs. Savich formerly served as village treasurer for about two months.

Holly Bridge Construction Stirs Call for New Survey

HOLLY — Now that construction of town in the Academy Bridge has begun, a resident has pointed out the village does not know exactly where the street or lots in that section of town belong.

At the Village Council meeting, a resident asked that an assessor's plat be prepared and a survey be taken of the old Morrison neighborhood.

Clarence Lester, village president, pointed out that since the town was originally laid out, the Shiawassee River bed has changed its course several times.

He said owners of lots in that section are no longer sure where property lines belong. The village will seek legal aid on the matter, Lester said.

Construction of the bridge began Saturday. It will be completed at a cost less than expected — $11,500 — due to a prefabricated "tube-type" construction.

The contractors will also provide sidewalks and railings across the bridge, a considerable improvement over the old one-lane construction, said Lester.

The village received an order from the State Department of Health to put additional chlorine in the affluent from the sewage treatment plant.

Treated water from the plant goes into the Shiawassee River, which flows northward toward Saginaw and Saginaw Bay.

An engineer's report on complaints of "rusty" water resulted in the village calling for firms to install water softening techniques.

Some of the village well water has above-average amounts of iron, Lester said.

Fund Rochester Goal

ROCHESTER — The establishment of a savings fund for the purpose of opening a temporary teen center by summer has become the goal of area teen-agers.

Long-range plans hope for the establishment of a permanent center, according to a committee composed of representatives from the senior and junior high schools and the two parochial schools.

Christine Corbin, 622 S. Fieldstone, Avon Township, senior high representative, said her student council is presently planning a "Benefit Ball" to help raise money for the center.

Junior high representatives Gene Rupp and Laurie Shankin of St. John's Lutheran School, Dean Wright of Central, Jean Olsen of St. Andrew's Catholic School, and Peggy Beagle of West reported junior high plans would soon be forthcoming.

The teens are working in cooperation with a group of adults of whom Sidney L. Baker, 833 Ludlow, Rochester, is general chairman. Carl Johnson, Rochester YMCA director, has accepted the job as liaison between the teen center groups and area service clubs.

Mrs. William Beardmore, 213 Neshit, Avon Township, has been named chairman of the building and finance committee and Mrs. Walter Kowalczyk, 144 W. Maryknoll, Avon Township, is recording secretary.

From County

Oxford to Seek OK of Annexation

OXFORD — A bid to annex 125 vacant acres of township property to the village is expected to go before the Oakland County Board of Supervisors boundaries committee later this month.

The land involved is known as the Davis Lake Highlands and is located on Seymour Lake Road, west of the Oxford Cemetery.

In a previous meeting with the Village Council, two of the owners, Gerald Olrich and Dr. Donald Davidson, asked that the village agree to a nine-point program freeing the owners from certain restrictions.

The council agreed to waive the need for concrete curb and gutters along the majority of streets and to allow a two-year wait on blacktopping.

Though storm drains have already been installed, the council freed the developers from the necessity of installing water mains and sanitary sewers.

WAIVE REQUIREMENT

Permission was granted to use waterfront property on the land for building and to waive the requirement that such land be condemned for use as a public park.

Requirements for street lighting, except at the entrance to the subdivision, and the installation of sidewalks were also waived.

One-Man Grand Jury Gets New Life

The Oakland County Circuit Court judiciary acted wisely in extending by six months the one-man grand jury being conducted by Circuit Judge PHILIP PRATT.

It was initiated last August on petition of the State Attorney General's Office to investigate allegations of illegal activities involving the Hazel Park Race Track.

PRATT

The scope, however, was subsequently broadened to cover all of Oakland County, with the investigative spotlight focused on Madison Heights.

Investigations of this sort inevitably move slowly, and to have terminated the grand jury at the expiration of the six-month period initially authorized would undoubtedly have left indicated areas unexplored.

To date, nine indictments have been issued on charges variously related to gambling, extortion, and perjury and obstruction of justice. The latest development is the filing of contempt of court charges against three former Madison Heights councilmen who declined to answer questions put by the jurist.

We think that Judge PRATT is ideally qualified for the trust imposed in him by the county bench and commend him for the conscientious aptitude he has shown.

Car Makers, Safety Council Seen Living Together

Although automobile manufacturers are not jubilant over the safety requirements for 1968-model cars imposed by the National Safety Council, there seems to be a reassuring attitude on the part of the new Federal agency.

The image of Dr. WILLIAM HADRON, its director, does not reflect that of a shaggy-haired ogre. On the contrary, he seems inclined to use with discretion his supreme authority over the industry.

Following earlier protests by car builders that the Council's original 23 requirements for 1968 cars were too arbitrary and the time interval for compliance too short, they were reduced to 20, and those toned down in many particulars.

Significantly, Hadron turned a deaf ear to the protests of Council consultant Dr. WILLIAM I. STIEGLITZ that too much consideration had been shown automobile manufacturers. The consultant resigned as a consequence.

The fact that RALPH NADER, the noisy, self-anointed oracle of auto safety, is screaming that the safety council dealt too gently with the auto industry is further evidence of the conciliatory climate in which regulator and regulated live.

Autos for the next model year will have many safety innovations — some visible, others built in. More important, however, a spokesman for the National Safety Council has said that more general use of seat belts and a successful campaign to promote more careful driving could save 10,000 lives annually.

Inflation Seen Nibbling Away Our Substance

The results of many years of a "little bit of inflation" are beginning to be felt, and the public is apparently becoming aware to some degree that government fiscal policies can breed inflation.

Findings of a recent survey conducted by the Opinion Research Corporation show that 8 out of 10 people surveyed are concerned about inflation. Seventy-one per cent feel that the best way to curb it is through reduction of Federal spending.

The grimmest findings of the survey dealt with inflation's impact on people. It revealed that the effects of inflation are being felt more seriously by the elderly and those with little education.

More than 4 in 10 persons, 60 years and older, report that they are "worse off today" than a year ago. These are the very people who are supposed to be helped the most by Medicare, Medicaid, Social Security and all the other programs of the expanding welfare state.

No matter how worthy the goals of Government programs, unless they are within the means of taxpayers to support, they will end in the spreading of impoverishment as inflation saps the strength and character of our people.

Could it be that the voters' voice heard at the polls last November was another indication of public awakening to Federal fiscal facts of life?

Too Many Friends Mix Up War

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — It's a war where everybody has too many friends to make peace easy, which makes it one of the most

The Communist North

Vietnamese have to worry about their allies in South

Vietnam, the Vietcong, because they start talking peace with the United States.

They couldn't just walk out on their Vietcong

friends, even if they wanted to, and they have shown no sign of wanting to. The war is watching.

That kind of sellout would put too much of a dent in the prestige and reliability of Communists everywhere.

And the Vietcong, even if they wanted to, couldn't think of quitting without some understanding with North/Vietnam. They are deeply obligated now.

Then there are the Soviets and the Red Chinese for North Vietnam to worry about. Both have backed North Vietnam with words and supplies.

Not only now, but after the war, North Vietnam will need help from one or both. So it must think twice before doing anything, like making peace, which might mean a break with its two big friends.

At the same time North Vietnam can't afford to be too much the toady of the Soviet Union and China if it wishes to retain some independence of its own.

The United States is in even worse shape with friends and foes. It says it is fighting this war to preserve the independence of South Vietnam.

COULDN'T AFFORD IT

Therefore, with the world watching, even if it wanted to, the United States couldn't afford a peace which left South Vietnam at the mercy of its enemies, now or in the future.

The United States couldn't think of a walkout or a sell-out on South Vietnam and still retain the trust of the other Southeast Asian nations which may look on this country as its protector against Communist take-overs.

And, since the United States also says it is fighting this war in the interest of national security, it can hardly set the bar for a poor peace.

The United States is truly in a box. It could wipe out North Vietnam in nothing flat if it wanted to go all-out with traditional or nuclear bombing.

BACKWARD COUNTRY

But such treatment of a small, backward country like North Vietnam would horrify the world, including American friends and allies.

The United States would pay a deadly price in lost respect. Yet, it is paying a deadly price in lost American lives for showing such restraint.

It is fighting a land war, which is the only kind the Vietcong and North Vietnam can fight. They'd be no contest in an all-out air war.

David Lawrence Says:

CIA Student Group Role Proper

WASHINGTON—The United States is today at war with Communist enemies. The gathering of intelligence is an important factor in the conflicts that are arising throughout the world.

Yet when the Central Intelligence Agency en- LAWRENCE deavors to collect information by enlisting the cooperation of American student organizations, a hullabaloo is raised and members of Congress start talking about derogatory investigations that could frustrate America's information-gathering in foreign countries.

Both the Soviets and the Red Chinese have infiltrated student organizations in the United States which are fomenting discord and starting demonstrations to help turn public opinion against the American government.

The CIA drew the line — it did not ask any student to participate in subversive activities of any sort abroad, but merely to let the United States government know what was happening in student circles which could affect the United States.

This is important because of the international scope of the student associations which reach into virtually every part of Europe, Asia, Africa and Latin America.

Again and again, the United States has been confronted by "Student demonstrations" that have been hostile to American officials, including ambassadors and ministers.

IT'S IMPORTANT

To find out how these activities are organized is important to the government here so that steps can be taken to anticipate and to thwart such moves if possible.

If there are to be investigations in Congress of what the CIA has done to gather information, it would be logical to expect a thoroughgoing inquiry also into the leadership and financing of certain student groups within the United States.

Some of them have been in contact with members of Congress and have submitted demands that are really in the interest of Communist governments abroad.

The CIA has had nothing to do with the operations of student organizations within the United States itself.

TRIPS ABROAD

Whatever financial help it has given has been to officers of student associations who have been in charge of matters related to trips of American students abroad, particularly to Communist countries.

It is amazing to find that some members of Congress are so unfamiliar with the perplexing problems of gathering intelligence in other countries that they are preparing unwittingly to handicap the United States government in its efforts to learn what is being done to damage American interests throughout the world.

Harrison Salisbury told a capacity crowd at the Overseas Press Club how to get to North Vietnam. The International Control Commission, composed of Canadian, Indian and Polish representatives (who are charged with keeping the peace in Vietnam) run an airline back and forth between Hanoi and Saigon.

One round trip a week, generally, but sometimes two a week. Probably during The Season.

The first-class fare to Hanoi from the point where Salisbury picked up his ticket, Phnom Penh, Cambodia, is $200 American.

The flight to Hanoi is made at night, spookily enough, to protect the peace plane from being shot down by anti-aircraft fire.

Cong Infiltrates U.S. Agencies

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) — An American official writes from South Vietnam:

"You will be surprised to hear that I have discovered a (Vietcong) cell operating right within our USAID office."

"Yesterday, I fired all the (Vietnamese who work in the office) who were members of the cell."

"As a result, I have only Mr. D. and Miss B. left. Neither of these was willing to co-operate with Mr. L. — the cell-leader."

"I am confident that this situation is present in many offices here — but we Americans are up to discover it."

"I got my tip from a Saigon part-Chinese girl who is a secretary (in one of the other USAID offices). The information cost me 2,000 piasters (only $17 but equivalent to more than a month's wages for many officials) and promises of family assistance."

"One cell member had confided in the girl on a trip... and described some of their activities."

'City, State, County Cars Have 1966 License Plates'

While the people in the Secretary of State's office are worried about the public vehicles with 1966 license plates, why don't they start counting the City, County and State cars driving the streets with their 1966 plates.

This is not a very good example for what they are trying to get across to the public. They need 1967 plates as well as the privately owned cars. Our 1967 license plates are on our car and have been.

'Tips on Starting Cold Car May Save Money'

Mr. Smith, manager of road service for AAA, didn't mention the most important thing for balky motors—the automatic choke. New points and plugs would have little effect in cold starting if the choke isn't functioning properly. Many motorists are charged for parts they don't really need. An automatic choke adjustment and cleaning of the linkage shouldn't cost more than $3 or $4.

Pumping the accelerator three or four times when the motor is shut off is a waste of energy and parts, as no gas is sucked into the chambers unless the motor is running. If the choke is working properly, gas will enter the chambers at the first movement of the pistons.

I hope this little message will save many people a lot of money. Who knows? Maybe even the editor.

Discusses Charge for Students' Lunches

The Pontiac school district needs $15,000 to give a shot in the arm to the lunch program. Thus, lunches for students must be raised another nickel to gather the funds. The funds could be found if each department would cut expenses or if the district doesn't hire another administrator.

The parents pay taxes to the district through each year and then are asked to pay another nickel per day to keep the program running. Let's pull the financial belt a little and I'm sure the $15,000 would suddenly come up.

Question and Answer

Where does the Conservation Department expect to get its revenue once the deer herd has been depleted, which many hunters contend has already happened?

UNHAPPY DEER HUNTER

REPLY

We asked Raymond Schofield, Federal Aid Supervisor with the Michigan Department of Conservation. He says most people asking that question oppose antlerless hunting and reason, incorrectly, that killing does and fawns ruins deer hunting and license sales will slump "after the herd is depleted." He says facts don't support this reasoning. Overcrowding the deer range results in starvation and damage to food supply in the long run depleting the herd more than an antlerless harvest. In 1965 after 11 seasons of antlerless deer harvest, Michigan still had a large herd and a record number of licenses were sold. Mr. Schofield agrees deer license revenue represents major income to the State, and says "We would be stupid, indeed, if we based deer management policies on anything, but the best scientifically collected information available."

CROMLEY

"When I found documents missing from my desk I should have known what was happening."

"A major reason for Ho Chi Minh's victory over the French lay in his ability to infiltrate French military, political and economic bureaus, departments and headquarters."

One former Ho general told me some years ago, "Our information did not come from the shoeless boys, those who did the laundry or cleaned the rooms. We had men in high places in the French establishment, both French and Vietnamese. We exploited the rivalries between different factions. Each was eager to give us information to get back at the others."

There is considerable evidence that the Vietcong have penetrated the Vietnamese staffs of a good many — perhaps most — of the American offices in South Vietnam and most army and air force.

These infiltrators collect intelligence for the Communists, enable the VC to counter U.S. and Vietnamese economic and political programs in the hamlets, and they enable the VC to stir up factional fights in the offices, weakening the programs and the government in the provinces.

The military information they collect accounts for the ease with which Vietcong units frequently evade U.S. Vietnamese forces which have them "surrounded."

But this war against Communists and the cells they form is difficult for most Americans to fight. We are naturally trusting. We take what people say at face value. We find it difficult to realize this is a major part of a guerrilla war.

Eating Habits Have Heart Attack Role

By DICK SAUNDERS

While dramatic advances in heart surgery have dominated most of the cardiovascular headlines in recent years, another vastly important and exciting war is being waged on the battlefield of medical research.

It is a battle to unlock the secrets of atherosclerosis.

Don't be frightened away by that word.

Atherosclerosis of the coronary arteries brings on 95 percent of all heart attacks.

To understand what atherosclerosis means, you must know a little about coronary arteries.

MUST BE FED

First, your body is fed by oxygen-carrying blood pumped through your circulatory system by your heart. But the heart also must be fed.

Thus, you have coronary circulation — a small circuit molded largely after the circulatory system feeding your whole body.

The inner walls of arteries in this coronary system are unbelievably smooth.

However, in many people, small deposits build up in the linings of arteries over a period of time.

INTERIOR LINING

This buildup of bumps and deposits on the interior lining of arteries is atherosclerosis.

It impedes the flow of blood. It gives blood a little nook in which to linger.

This is dangerous. Given a place to linger, blood tends to form a clot.

When a clot catches on a rough spot or deposit, it may cut off the supply of oxygen and other nutrients transported by the blood to a portion of the heart muscle.

STOPS WORKING

When this happens, that portion stops working. The victim suffers a heart attack.

It was long believed that atherosclerosis was merely the inevitable result of growing older.

Recent medical research has proven this false. Atherosclerosis affects all age groups.

CHOLESTEROL BLAMED

Research has shown that the majority of people with high levels of cholesterol and other fatty substances in their bloodstream also exhibit a higher degree of deposits or rough spots on the lining of their arteries.

These substances come from food.

Thus, all one has to do to avoid this risk factor is to avoid foods which are high in cholesterol and animal fats.

Your doctor can provide you with a list of such foods or you can obtain one from the Michigan Heart Association.

And don't think it means you must go hungry.

EAST WISELY

I ate like a horse before I had my heart attack last September. Now I eat like a wise horse.

Sure, I've cut out some things I like. I don't eat eggs because they're very high in cholesterol. I don't eat pork, sausage, pastries and rich dairy products.

But I'm never hungry.

I eat three meals a day and I substitute foods low in cholesterol and animal fat for the fatty foods I used to eat.

STARVING MY HEART

Before my heart attack, I was slowly starving my heart.

I ate foods designed to put deposits on the lining of my arteries.

But that wasn't all. I compounded the danger by smoking cigarettes excessively.

Still a third campus, and a fourth, could follow these in the southeast and southwest corners of the property.

"This not only would keep units at a manageable size, but would provide a sense of identification for students with something less than a multiversity," Varner said.

The segmentation, he said, is "reinforced by the peculiar contours of the land."

NOT SUITABLE

Low areas not suitable for construction without considerable expense would be reserved for athletic fields and recreational purposes.

These lie to the east and south of the present campus development.

The northeast quadrant, surrounding Meadow Brook Hall, would be reserved for cultural facilities, joining the Howard C. Baldwin Memorial Pavilion. South of this is a 150- to 200-acre segment which could be developed for recreational use—perhaps a lake.

A faculty housing complex is proposed for the west side of Adams, across from the present faculty subdivision.

The fundamental concept

County Health Needs Heard

The Oakland County Health Department will request 43 new employees when preliminary 1968 departmental budget proposals are presented to county officials later this month.

County Health Director Dr. Bernard D. Berman told members of the health committee of the County Board of Supervisors yesterday that some services will have to be trimmed next year if needed personnel isn't provided.

A year ago, Dr. Berman asked for 40 new people in his 1967 budget proposal.

After consideration by the County Board of Auditors and the supervisors' personnel policies and ways and means committee, only two new health department employees were allowed.

Dr. Berman noted yesterday that only a small percentage of requested personnel has been permitted by the county in the past several years.

DIFFICULT JOB

"In view of the county's population growth, it will be difficult to meet our commitments unless sufficient staff additions are allowed for 1968," Dr. Berman said.

The health committee approved the preliminary budget proposal calling for $23,385 in operating expenditures plus the addition of 43 employees that would cost about $200,000.

Total salaries budget in 1967 for the health department is $1,332,700.

In his negotiations with county officials for more personnel, Dr. Berman will cite the increase in state aid to the health department of $125,000 this year over what was received in 1964.

The cooperative extension service committee of the board of supervisors also met yesterday and approved a 1968 budget request of $42,800. This compares to a total departmental 1967 budget of $41,267.

proposed for the cluster development would be that of compactness — "a tightening-up of the area," Varner said.

Buildings would be much closer to each other than those which now comprise the campus, creating an "urban feeling."

"This would reduce the amount of space a student has to travel, the area that must be maintained and the distance utility lines must run," the chancellor noted. "Still, the buildings would have sweeping vistas out across Meadow Brook."

FLEXIBLE PLAN

He emphasized the flexibility of the plan, with actual development depending on variables which cannot yet be determined.

With compact development, the 1,600-acre site could accommodate students beyond current projections.

"There's no doubt that we have enough land to go to a 50,000 enrollment — but we're not looking that far ahead now," Varner said.

Ultimately, a campus master plan must be approved by the Legislature's joint capital outlay committee. With adoption by that group, it would serve as a guideline for future construction.

The planning consultants spent more than a year preparing the plan.

In the introduction to their report, planning consultants described the Oakland University of 1984 in these terms:

"Oakland University will be a study in contrasts from rolling hills to deep ravines; from wooded plateaus to grass covered low lands; from urban-like academic centers to informal student housing areas."

SERVE NEEDS

"It will serve the needs of both the commuting student, constantly confronted with a demanding drive from home to classes, and the resident student, in need of a home away from home to balance the daily discipline of learning."

"It will entice the theatergoer, the concert lover and the sports fan."

"Its very existence will draw commerce and housing to its edges, creating a community of thousands on what now is rolling farmland."

R. I. Governor State School Board Dems Talks in State. Beat GOP Spending Plan

Performance Record of Romney Praised

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Rhode Island Gov. John H. Chafee won't discount any possible candidate for the 1968 GOP presidential nomination, but it is easily one of the most enthusiastic backers of Gov. George Romney.

Chafee was in Grand Rapids Wednesday to speak at a Lincoln Day dinner. In a press conference prior to his address, the third-term Republican repeatedly praised Romney's performance record.

"In soundings I have taken in New England, Gov. Romney is easily the most desirable Republican candidate for president in 1968," Chafee said.

"I am certain he would run ahead of President Johnson in my home state of Rhode Island. He made a tremendous impression when he was with us last April," he added.

REFLECTION

Chafee cited Romney's record in being reelected governor in 1966 and his influence in the successful campaigns of Sen. Robert Griffin, several state legislators and five U.S. representatives.

"Nobody would dispute the fact that Romney has great leadership potential," Chafee said.

He answered critics of Romney, some of whom have said Romney has waited too long to take a stand on many major national and international issues, by saying Romney has "plenty of time to come forward with opinions."

"I have no doubt that his critics will be satisfied," he predicted.

LANSING TALK

Chafee met with Romney for about 45 minutes Wednesday afternoon in Lansing, but refused to comment on the discussion except to say it was "of a general nature."

In remarks prepared for delivery at the dinner, Chafee called on Republicans to open the doors of the party to all who are interested.

LANSING (UPI)—An attempt by the only two Republican members of the State Board of Education to establish spending priorities for schools was rejected yesterday by the board's Democratic majority.

Leroy Augenstein of East Lansing and James O'Neil of Livonia — both of whom unseated Democrats in the last election — tried unsuccessfully to force the board to reassess its budget request to match Gov. George Romney's austerity budget.

Augenstein and O'Neil wanted the board to set spending priorities at its next meeting on March 1.

Democratic board members argued that it would be foolish to pull in the horns until they see what the detailed budget allocation for education is and how the public and the Legislature responds to Romney's income tax proposals.

Romney sliced some $275 million from the board's general fund spending request of $487 million for school aid and administration.

Ira Polley, state superintendent of schools, said neither the department nor the board will be able to pinpoint what programs Romney pruned until his detailed budget is released.

Rev. Charles Morton of Detroit, a Democrat, said Romney's budget is unique in that it also encompasses a tax program.

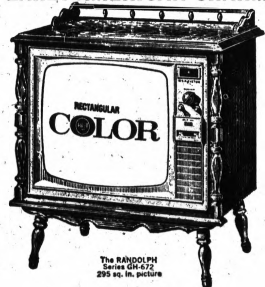

The public and the Legislature, he said, should be allowed to react to the governor's program before the board takes action. "Otherwise, we may preempt, inadvertently, this public sentiment."

In other action, the board planned a study of the educational needs in Michigan's poverty-stricken areas. The board tentatively scheduled a special meeting for March 7 to discuss how school districts can evaluate the quality of their education, why some schools do well and others poorly, and how the teacher-pupil ratio can be reduced.

Wilson Aide Opposes Joining Mart

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson's trade chief warned Wednesday night of adverse economic effects if Britain enters the European Common Market, causing a stir during Wilson's visit to Bonn to seek more West German support for Britain's candidacy.

One member of Wilson's Labor party said Douglas Jay, president of the government Board of Trade, "completely demolished the case for going into the Common Market" in a talk to a closed meeting of Laborite members of the House of Commons.

Wilson seemed certain to react angrily to the content and timing of Jay's speech. One of the prime minister's biggest problems in his current visits to the six Common Market capitals has been to convince the Europeans that Britain sincerely wants to join.

Wilson completed two days of discussions in Bonn today, apparently without much, or any, progress toward getting in. Increased backing from Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger's government, Kiesinger indicated he wants Britain in the Common Market but not enough to get rules in width.

Chile, which stretches 2,650 miles along the Pacific Coast, never exceeds more than 250 Market but not enough to get rules in width.

A Rock(et) in His Pocket?

What Makes Dick West Run?

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (AP) — The medical profession, or portions thereof, has undertaken a campaign to convince people that running is good for them.

Some doctors say that running at least 15 minutes a day is the best way to prevent hardening of the arteries and heart diseases.

They say that, from a health standpoint, running is far more beneficial than push-ups, weight lifting, isometrics and eating apples.

This may be true, but there are also a couple of handicaps, the first of which is finding a place to run. Particularly in the city.

It has been reported that Sen. William E. Proxmire, D-Wis., runs to and from work every day. But senators are a breed apart.

CONSPICUOUS EXERCISE

Galloping along the sidewalks of downtown Washington in a business suit in broad daylight would make the average man feel rather conspicuous.

Even sprinting down the street in any suburban neighborhood would make me feel self-conscious.

This brings us to the second handicap, which is that middle-aged parties like myself who haven't done any running in several years may find they have lost the hang of it.

The other day during my lunch hour I drove out to a little park where I could run in seclusion. I got out of the car, looked around to make certain nobody was watching, took a deep breath, lurched forward three strides and fell on my face.

CALLED DOCTOR

I went back and called my doctor.

"I seem to have forgotten how to run," I said. "Could you give me some instructions?"

"It's simple," he said reassuringly. "You keep putting one foot in front of the other like you're walking, only do it faster."

"How do you keep from getting overbalanced?" I asked. "Try carrying a rock in your hip pocket for ballast," he advised.

RUNNING REGULARLY

Once you do start running regularly, it's amazing how rapidly you can build up your endurance.

I've only tried it about a half-dozen times, and already I can run almost 40 feet in 15 minutes. As soon as I feel confident enough to throw away that rock, I may start running in public.

Belgian Archaeological Find Shows Secrets of 12,000 Years

By Science Service

BRUSSELS, Belgium — While archaeologists search remote areas of the world for clues that will show what life was like centuries ago, one Belgian group has found, right at home, an underwater treasure which provides a cross section of life of the past 12,000 years.

The Ardennes region of southern Belgium has been a battleground for warring armies since history began, and in recent years has become an important tourist attraction.

Here are located the Han grottoes on the Lesse River, which have been a refuge since 10,000 B.C. for people living in the surrounding valleys. The Han grottoes are underground regions of magnificent stalactites and stalagmites that were carved from the limestone Ardennes hills.

Under deep green water of the river, in silt eroded from the camping grounds, there is a wealth of artifacts, ranging from primitive flint-tipped arrows to axes to World War II rifles.

The first discoveries at Han date back to 1902, when workmen preparing a boat jetty at the grotto mouth found some stag horns.

Ex-Commander of 'Big Red One' Tells Tactics: Scorch Earth

By PETER ARNETT
JAI KHE, South Vietnam (AP)—There are two main schools of thought on how to win the war in Vietnam.

One is that you have to win the hearts and minds of the people with good works and fine example, the dorelike approach. This is difficult in Vietnam, where the enemy is highly motivated, inherently cunning and deeply entrenched.

The other way to win is to blast the enemy into surrender or into eternity with the biggest barrage of explosives possible, the hawklike approach.

Of the two, Maj. Gen. William E. DePuy prefers the second. He is the fighter who guided the U.S. 1st Infantry Division, the "Big Red One," with dynamic drive for a long year.

WATCH 'EM RUN

"Just unload the biggest, the loudest poundage of bombs and artillery on a given area. De-

Puy would say, "Then watch them (the Vietcong) run out into your arms."

The two-star general, from Jamestown, N.D., completed his Vietnam tour of duty last week but left his mark on the countryside.

The landscape north of Saigon is slashed and scarred where Army bulldozers carved away mile after mile of Vietcong forest hideouts and base camps.

Blackened patches indicate where suspect enemy villages once stood. The people were resettled in government-held areas, their former homes burned.

SHELL CRATERS

Thousands of bomb and artillery shell craters pit paddy fields and jungles as though smallpox had raged across the face of the earth.

The single-mindedness with which DePuy pursued his scorched-earth solution might have made him something of a legend in other wars, where victory and defeat were more easily discernible.

DePuy's dash on the battlefield and his hair-raising flights into fire fights by helicopter gave him the image of something like a latter-day Gen. George S. Patton of World War II fame.

But Vietnam is not World War II. Generals come and go.

LIGHT REGARD

DePuy drew criticism in U.S. civilian agencies in Vietnam. They considered he had a light regard for the concepts of pacification. High civilian officials professed to be appalled at his demands for more and more artillery and faster fighter-bomber response.

They characterized the slim, 47-year-old general, a veteran of the Normandy invasion, as a man seeking a purely military end to what they viewed as an essentially political struggle.

DePuy shrugged off the civilian complaints.

He ruthlessly pruned his division of officers he felt lacking in his requirements. He wanted youth, above-average ability, stamina, audacity.

HATCHET MAN

His hatchet man was Brig. Gen. James F. Hollingsworth, a colorful armored officer of World War II fame. Together they reshaped the division, supervising every action, investigating every fire fight. DePuy spent most of his time at forward command posts.

DePuy says he became convinced of his military theories Aug. 25, 1966, when his troops engaged the Vietcong's entrenched Phu Loi Battalion. The Americans tried to overrun the enemy positions. Solid concrete held them up.

DePuy's orders from then on were for his troops to pull back when they made contact with the enemy and let air and artillery do the rest.

He perfected a cloverleaf technique of patrolling. A unit moves forward as a whole, then establishes a base and searches out the enemy to the right and left before moving forward deep.

again. This considerably limits the chances of significant ambush.

BU SHARE

His division has used a big share of the million artillery shells expended each month by allied forces in Vietnam.

He advocates the use of more 750-pound bombs. These, he said, when fitted for a delayed explosion, will penetrate into the lower levels of Vietcong tunnels, gouging craters 20 feet

"Some of my ideas have changed," he said in a recent interview. "But I feel I have succeeded."

DePuy was not happy to leave Vietnam.

"My heart is here," he said.

He asked to stay on, but many U.S. major generals are looking for divisions to command in Vietnam, and DePuy had had his turn. He has returned to the office of the Joint Chiefs of Staff in Washington as a specialist in counterinsurgency.

Young Cuban Is a Veteran of Fighting on 3 Continents

DAU TIENG, South Vietnam (AP) — Jose Gonzales is soft-spoken, with twinkling eyes and a ready grin. He looks as fresh and green as a brand-new lieutenant should.

But at 25, Gonzales has fought on three continents. He has been a secret agent and a revolutionary. He has survived torture, faced a firing squad and escaped from prison.

In Vietnam, he stalks the Vietcong with a cold professionalism and personal intensity that even some of his soldier comrades find unsettling. The son of a well-to-do landowner in Cuba, Gonzales left school to join Fidel Castro's guerrillas. When the Batista dictatorship fell, Gonzales was among the revolutionaries who paraded through Havana streets.

DRIFT 6 DAYS

Within a year a disillusioned

Gonzales and five comrades fled Cuba in a small boat. When the engine failed, they drifted for six days before the U. S. Coast Guard towed them to Miami.

Within 10 days Gonzales had volunteered for the American-backed invasion force then being formed in Guatemala.

"I went back to Cuba on the last day of February 1961, as leader of an infiltration team," Gonzales says. But in the Bay of Pigs invasion there was no contact with the infiltrator teams. Gonzales was 30 miles away and helpless to do anything when his comrades landed.

FACES FIRING SQUAD

For the next 10 months Gonzales "went underground" before being captured by Castro's police. He was beaten, questioned for hours and dragged before a firing squad.

"I heard the shots and knew that I was dead," he said.

The firing squad was using blanks. The shaken youth was taken back for more questioning.

With seven cellmates, Gonzales finally escaped. Five of his companions were shot down, Gonzales and another man got away.

GOES TO CONGO

"I made three more trips into Cuba for short periods in the next several months," he said. He only smiles when asked if he was working for the U. S. Central Intelligence Agency.

Gonzales says he was then asked if he would go to the Congo. Gonzales says he was fighting "Communist rebels" in an eight-month job, and lets it go at that.

He decided to take advantage of an Army program that allows veterans of the Bay of Pigs force to apply for direct commissions as officers.

Snow: Skier's Delight

PHOTOS, STORY
By EDWARD R. NOBLE

As the weatherman announces four more inches of snow, over two million faces light up across the country. No, it's not Joe Deakes who has to shovel his way to work, not the mailman with snow already up to the top of his boots — but it's the ski bums and snow bunnies who dash frantically to their favorite ski slopes before the precious powder fades away in the afternoon sun.

Strange how the snow can bring so much hardship to so many "people," and can also bring squeals of glee to the winter-starved skier.

As cities spend a king's ransom to remove the hated white stuff, ski resort owners climb to the top of their man-made "mountain."

While the wonderful snow flakes pelt them in the face, they say "pennies from heaven."

Jack Frost has a tight grip on the operator's handbook. Lots of snow will mean a profitable year, which will allow him to build higher mountains in the summer.

Skiing is the kind of sport that can create an unquenchable appetite for the hard-core outdoor-

ast. The freedom of movement, the always-bigger challenges, a little danger for those who go beyond their skills — these only serve to make the sport bigger each year.

WARMING HOUSE

The lodge or warming house with its welcoming log fires is the greatest way to spend an evening after an exhausting day on the slopes.

Warm friendships are easily found around the fire, when everyone has something in common.

With tales of their great skiing skills falling on unimpressed ears, ski bums (mostly men who practically live on the slopes) tell rosy-checked snow bunnies (pretty ski - garbed girls) how they took the most fearsome mogul hill (a steep hill with many bumps), or single-handedly cut a new "trail" through unexplored forest.

Of course there are always some skiers who draw considerable attention as one fellow laid his skis across the picnic table in the main lodge, then carefully began to file the metal edges of the skis to a knife-like edge.

Of course there are always some skiers who draw considerable attention as one fellow laid his skis across the picnic table in the main lodge, then carefully began to file the metal edges of the skis to a knife-like edge.

operation until all thought he was the biggest show-off ever.

You guessed it — he went to the main hill, and the faces of his onlookers lit up as he strapped on his skis, and fell over before even getting a ride up the tow, no malice intended — just more fun.

There's one thing that will usually make the heart of a 10-year veteran sink. Just as he is mastering a fairly good technique, along comes one of the hundreds of youngsters who have been skiing all of two years. After all he's only about 8 years old.

These little rascals will delightfully show their lack of respect for their elders, skiing by with great speed and displaying almost Olympic form.

UTMOST AGILITY

To end this spectacular run the youngster will show the utmost agility by sliding to a stop at the front of the line for a ride back to the top. But the schussboomers (reckless), we-selmers (very skilled technique), farmers, and overweight executives will all return if they truly have snow in their blood.

The next time you read, "More snow due this weekend," remember someone is waxing his skis with a smile on his face.

He Wants to Stage Audition for 'New Talent' in Florida

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: My husband's business associate (Mr. G.) recently lost his wife after a marriage of nearly 40 years, so we telephoned him (he lives in Indiana) and invited him to our little winter home in Florida to rest up and get over his grief. Mr. G. said he would love to come for a few weeks.

About 10 minutes later he called us back asking if he could bring his "girlfriend"! Abby, we were shocked.

My husband said, "But we have only one guest room." Mr. G. said, "That's all right. I want to see how this gal looks in the morning before she puts her face on."

With that he hung up, so now we are trapped. We certainly don't want that kind of setup here, but what can we do?

DEAR TRAPPED: If you can catch Mr. G. before he heads south, call him and tell him that the invitation was for him, alone. And if he has in mind auditioning "new talent" while he recovers from his grief, he'll have to find friends with a larger home.

DEAR ABBY: We belong to a women's church group. One of the older members happens to be a very nice lady who is well-liked by everyone and for many years has been a devoted worker in the church.

But Abby, she keeps cats, and lets them climb all over her sink, her table, and even her stove when it's not on. The problem is when she entertains at home no one wants to eat her food. We realize she goes to a lot of trouble and expense preparing refreshments, but when she serves it, we all look at each other and our stomachs turn.

She is the kind of hostess who watches to see that everyone eats, but how can we, knowing that the food is probably full of cat hair? We hate to hurt her feelings.

CHURCH LADIES
DEAR LADIES: If you "hate to hurt her feelings," — eat what you can and leave the rest. And if you forget about the "cat hair" you'll be bothered less about it.

DEAR ABBY: I sure wish I knew what to do about my husband. He is so jealous if someone looks at me he thinks they are going to grab me and run. He has lots of friends and he thinks all of them are (or at one time have been) in love with me.

I have to think over every statement 10 times before I say it to be sure I don't mention some man's name, because if I do, I will have a fight on my hands.

I am no raving beauty and I am not forward or overly friendly to men. I am a good woman, Abby, and I was when he married me. He knows that for certain, but he's still jealous.

He is making a nervous wreck of me. I am 25 and he is 29 and if I have to put up with this the rest of my life I will crack up.

A WRECK
DEAR WRECK: It's your husband who has the problem. He is tormented by fantasies, self-doubts and insecurity. Insist that he get some professional help (and I do mean a doctor) or your marriage is headed for the rocks.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "CINDY LOU": All of us have been taken advantage of in our lives. But the man who is ALWAYS complaining about how everyone has "done him wrong," could be the wrong number. Steer clear of him, unless you want to be a lifetime walling wall.

activities of the Pontiac Area United Fund.

The new structure places emphasis on supplementing the educational and promotional work of the Pontiac Area United Fund. It also coordinates the activities of women interested in the work of the division, according to Mrs. Merrell Petrie, women's division chairman.

BETTER UNDERSTANDING

"We are confident that the new concept of our volunteer division will bring about a better understanding of the vital role the United Fund and agency services play in the community," Mrs. Petrie stated.

Future activities will include public forums on health, family and social concerns, agency tours, exhibits, speaker's bureau and volunteer opportunity and awards programs in cooperation with agency services.

Recognizing the changing times and the need for a change of emphasis, committee members have made by-law changes, formed new committees and prepared job descriptions during the past several months.

Basic changes include provision for a broader base of volunteer representation from townships and agencies affiliated with the Pontiac Area United Fund, the formation of a community services committee and provision for a rotating board. Gone is the campaign committee, formerly a service committee of the division, which will be placed directly under the P.A.U.F. campaign division structure.

CHANGES

Upon recommendation of the P.A.U.F. board of trustees and recent survey director, Russell W. Leedy, direct service committees such as Friendly Visitors and Motor Aid services have been transferred to other agency services or disbanded.

International Night

International Night is scheduled at Daniel Whitfield School for this evening. South America will be featured in the program with an emphasis on Brazil. Mrs. Stella P. Fiazzi, administrative assistant to the Citizens Committee for Equal Opportunity, will be the main speaker.

Officers elected to the governing board for the 1967-68 year are: Mrs. Petrie, chairman, Mrs. William G. Wright, vice-chairman, Mrs. Maxwell Shadley, recording secretary, and Mrs. William Freyermuth, corresponding secretary.

Baby Sitting Game

DEAR POLLY—I am a 16-year-old baby sitter. My Pointer is for others who baby-sit with children from the ages of 4 to 12. I found that a game keeps them well-occupied so find it worth-while to buy two games, one for girls and one for boys. Playing a new game keeps the children right in sight rather than in 20 different directions.

Since those white specks have been tinted blue and brown, rose and green applied to other worn places, the rugs look almost new again. Six months have passed and these colored threads remain the same.

DEAR POLLY — When I could not find my suede shoe brush I discovered that one of my teen-age daughter's sponge hair curlers was a wonderful substitute. Just remove the plastic center, rub the sponge curler over the soiled areas of the shoes and the nap comes up beautifully.

Why Grow Old?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Q. My friends and I were having a discussion the other day about whether or not it is all right to 'cut' the cuticle around your fingernails. I have always been told that I should never do this, or allow it to be done, but my friends say that it is necessary when the cuticle is rough, or your manicure will look awful.

A. The correct procedure is not to cut. However, in order for this to be possible, you will have to give your cuticle regular care. When giving yourself a manicure, put a little cotton on the end of an orange stick and dip it in cuticle oil or cuticle remover. Gently push the cuticle back. Also, massage the cuticle before going to sleep with cuticle oil. Soon it will become much softer.

When cutting cuticle there is always danger of cutting a bit too much and causing a sore. If this should happen, apply an antiseptic. If you have a hangnail you will have to snip it off, but these will not develop if you indulge in the care I have outlined.

However, there are times when cutting is necessary in order to have good looking results from a manicure, when your nails have been neglected and your cuticle is very rough and dry. Remove all the dead skin once and then carry on from there. It is much better to have this done professionally because you may end up with sore, frayed frames for your nails.

Q. I am pregnant for the first time and am scared to death I will get what they call pregnancy mask. I am quite young and haven't had many friends who have babies, but I have one who has this and it is so awful looking. Do most women have this when they are pregnant or just a few?

A. Most women do not have what is called the pregnancy mask, and in almost all cases it disappears, although this may take a little time.

Standing Up to Bullies Pays Dividends

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: For eight years we've had to sit back and watch our daughter cracking up under her parents of marriage's cruelty. Because she says that he makes her pay for any objections to his behavior by us, my husband has swallowed his sneers, his corrections of the way he speaks English. Now we wonder if minding our own business is going to result in our girl's breakdown...

ANSWER: Oh, come on. You two people haven't been "minding your own business" at all! You've been minding your daughter's business. You've been most carefully tending her not-so-bright solution of the problem of survival with a bully. You couldn't have minded her business more carefully if you were your child. You've swallowed outrage when she did. You've pussyfooted around cruelty because she has. And if you call that "minding your own business"—well, I do not.

I think that neither you nor your husband have been visible in relationship to this man man at all. Instead, you have chosen to submissively disappear into your child's relationship to him as though you possessed no different existence from hers, no different business.

My goodness, "minding our own business" in these situations isn't turning ourselves into the beleaguered child! It's holding on more firmly to our different selves than we've ever held on before.

The truth is, it's the firmness of our hold on our own identities that encourages the limply submissive child to try to recover her own.

How in heaven's name can you ever expect this girl to question her solution to life with this man if you adopt it, too? How can you possibly expect her to learn to respect her own resisting feelings toward him if you also turn into mush at his abuse?

Good Lord, what is "minding our business" in this world of most unreliable "dos" and "don'ts" if it isn't attending to who we are, to what we feel—and letting other people in on this reality of our moral existence?

The engagement of Nancy Louise Jack to Dean Souden is being announced by her parents, the Robert B. Jacks of Marie Circle, Bloomfield Township. She is a junior at Michigan State University and he is a junior at Olivet College. His parents are the Edward L. Soudens of Robinwood Street. August vows are planned.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Weting of North Rochester Road, Oakland Township, announce the engagement of their daughter, Claudia Jean, to Scott Spence Adams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Adams of Detroit. A June ceremony is being planned by the pair who are juniors at Wayne State University and Detroit Institute of Technology, respectively.

AIDS FOR FAULTY HEARTS — Dr. C. Walton Lillehei of the University of Minnesota yesterday in Washington reported development of two devices for assisting diseased or weakened hearts. The doctor said the device at right is an artificial heart-lung mechanism to be used outside the body to assist an intact but laboring heart. The other device is a collar-like plastic "envelope" to be wrapped around the heart after the chest is opened surgically.

GOP Senators Hit Troop Plan

Six Suggest Possible NATO Redeployment

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Six Republican senators today challenged the Democratic leadership's "troops from Europe" proposal with a counterdeclaration urging a cautious consideration of some "redeployment" of American forces in NATO.

They claimed a U. S. pull-back could lead to a "European panic and disarray."

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield, Mont., chief author of the original call for a "substantial reduction" in the six U. S. divisions now in Western Europe, said he was "delighted" by the GOP move.

He claimed the Republicans echoed much of his own concern.

But he said in an interview that his Senate resolution, now backed by 44 senators, should be considered "on its own merits" and will be.

"I know when I'm right," he declared.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N. Y., prime mover in the GOP effort, said in a speech prepared for Senate delivery he wanted to provoke another "great debate" like that which marked adoption of the 1951 Senate resolution endorsing dispatch of four additional U. S. divisions to Europe.

OTHER REPUBLICANS
Joining Javits initially were Sens. Thurston B. Morton, Ky.; Edward W. Brooke, Mass.; Robert P. Griffin, Mich.; Hugh Scott, Pa., and John G. Tower, Tex.

Senate GOP leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., was expected to take a neutral position between the Mansfield-Javits forces for the present.

Javits' declaration recognized the points raised by the Democrats' resolution but emphasized that:

"The security of the United States requires that we continue to maintain substantial and effective combat forces in Europe to meet any continuing military threat."

Considering political, economic and military changes, "redeployment of some of the U. S. forces now in Western Europe is properly an item for determination in consultation with our NATO allies, without adversely affecting the political situation in Western Europe or the security of the NATO area."

Highlights of Rights Message

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are text highlights from President Johnson's civil rights message sent to Congress Wednesday:

The bullets at the battlefield do not discriminate — but the landlords at home do. The pack of the Negro soldier is as heavy as the white soldier's — but the burden his family at home bears is far heavier. In war, the Negro American has given this nation his best — but this nation has not given him equal justice.

It is time that the Negro be given equal justice. In America, the rights of citizenship are conferred by birth — not by death in battle.

It is our duty — as well as our privilege — to stand before the world as a nation dedicated to equal justice. There may be doubts about some policies or programs, but there can be no doubt about the rights of each man to stand on equal ground before his government and with his fellow man.

FAIR HOUSING

Today the subject of fair housing is engulfed in a cloud of misinformation and unarticulated fear. Some believe the value of their homes must decline if their neighborhoods are integrated.

They fear the conversion of their communities into unsightly slums, if a family of a different color moves into a house across the street.

Neither of these events need occur. In an atmosphere of reason and justice, they would not occur. In the scores of cities and states that have such laws, these events have not occurred. There should be no need for laws to require men to deal fairly and decently with their fellow man. There should be no need to enact a law prohibiting discrimination in housing — just as there should have been no need to send registrars to enforce voting rights, to issue guidelines to require desegregation of our schools, to bring suits in federal courts to insure equal access to public accommodations and to outlaw discrimination in employment.

INFERIOR FACILITIES

The environment of most urban ghettos is the same: inferior public facilities and services — streets, lighting, parks, sanitation and police protection, inferior schools and isolation from job opportunities. In every sphere of urban life the ghetto dweller is shortchanged.

A child growing up in such an environment must overcome tremendous man-made obstacles to become a useful citizen. The misery we tolerate today multiplies the misery of tomorrow.

If Negroes today had the same skills as other Americans, and if they were free from discrimination in employment, our gross national product could become $30 billion higher.

The struggle against today's discrimination is only part of the nation's commitment to equal justice for all Americans. The bigotry of the past has its effects in broken families, men without skills, children without learning, poor housing and neighborhoods dominated by the fear of crime.

Because these effects are entrenched by generations of inferior opportunities and shattered hopes, they will not yield to laws against discrimination alone. Indeed there is no swift medicine, no matter how potent or massively applied, that can heal them at once.

Senator Sees Big Brotherism in CIA Episode

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield, warning against Uncle Sam becoming big brother, urged today that the Senate as well as the White House look into the Central Intelligence Agency's cloak and gown operations among students.

"It's a move toward big brotherism if we get the government into everything," said Mansfield, a former Montana professor. He called the CIA's secret subsidy of the National Student Association "most unfortunate."

As signs of congressional concern increased, President Johnson stepped directly into the CIA-student controversy, ordering a careful review of any government activities that might endanger integrity of U.S. educational groups.

He gave the mission to Undersecretary of State Nicholas Katzenbach, former law professor and ex-attorney general.

GUIDELINES ASKED

Katzenbach announced Wednesday that the President also directed key officials — including CIA Director Richard Helms — to spell out a policy to guide federal agencies "in their relationship to the international activities of American education organizations."

Johnson acted one day after the administration acknowledged the 15-year financial link between the nation's biggest spy agency and biggest college student organization. Meanwhile, rumors, reports, charges and denials followed heel on toe.

One charge, denied by NSA, was that its officers automatically received draft deferments. Another: that the CIA channeled funds to three other student groups.

Some congressional sources familiar with CIA activities confided they had known about the knowledge no one was aware of subsidy. But Mansfield said in an interview he hadn't known of it and, speaking of other senators added, "To the best of my

NO COMMENT

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the senate CIA panel, has declined comment.

But Mansfield made clear he intended to learn more. Although the administration had ordered its inquiry, Mansfield said, "I would hope the appropriate Senate committee would look into this thoroughly" to learn all the facts "so incidents of this nature should not arise in the future."

Mansfield voiced belief the newly expanded Senate CIA watchdog committee — which now includes Mansfield as well as foreign relations committee Chairman J. W. Fulbright — would be sufficient to investigate the matter "to assure more responsibility than has been the case to date."

Administration officials argue the subsidy was needed so the NSA could afford to present the American view to counter Communist-financed youth groups abroad.

WHISKED OUT

In the case's backlash, NSA official Robert Cutner reported an NSA exchange student was whisked out of Poland just before the group's financial link with the CIA was exposed.

Roger Pulver, 22, of Culver City, Calif., was attending the University of Krakow when NSA cabled him to fly to London immediately, related Cutner.

He added, "If they had learned we were backed by the CIA, they would have put Roger in jail and thrown away the key."

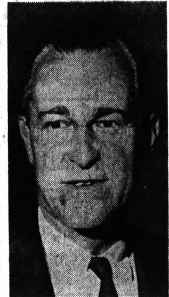

NSA leaders met in an atmosphere of gloom to decide what the organization could do to regain its standing in the academic world. Some board members saw little alternative but to shut the doors and go out of business. The chairman of NSA's supervisory board, Samuel Brown, 23, a Harvard divinity student, charged it was "morally reprehensible" for the intelligence agency to have involved the student group in the dark side of world politics.

"It also appears to be a clear violation of the intent of Congress that the CIA should function in international affairs, not through a domestic, private organization," he added.

This also worried Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn. He told a news conference he would introduce a resolution calling for a select Senate committee to prove the CIA's involvement "in domestic affairs and institutions."

Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., former ambassador to India, called it "a bad practice to engage students in these activities." He said it tended to make exchange students and Peace Corps volunteers suspect in foreign eyes.

Sing Their Tributes

Pals of Cole Porter Remember Songs

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — "Only Cole could write a passionate song," said Alan Jay Lerner. "And he never wrote with self-pity." For illustration, longtime friends of the late Cole Porter sang a few of his passionate, nonpitying songs. Fred Astaire intoned "Night and Day," Ethel Merman belted out "Make It Another Old-Fashioned Love," and Frank Sinatra delivered "I've Got You Under My Skin."

These figures, along with Gene Kelly and Garson Kanin, saluted Porter this week at a dinner given by the Friends of the Libraries of the University of Southern California. The panelists sang their tributes and talked about their association with the Indiana-born songwriter.

a striping of a singer appearing at a roadhouse in Englewood, N.J. To his astonishment, Cole Porter came in the place one night with friends, Sinatra, who doubled as head waiter, gave Porter "the greatest buildup since Charles Lindbergh," much to the songwriter's displeasure.

'FORGOT WORDS'
"I dedicated one of his songs to him — and then I forgot all the words," Sinatra recalled. Kanin asked Astaire if he knew "Night and Day" would be such a success when he first sang it in "The Gay Divorcee."

"I didn't recognize it as a great hit," the dancer admitted. "I was more concerned with whether I could sing it, with all those high notes."

Porter had given up songwriting after supplying a couple of tunes for Kelly in "Les Girls." Sinatra recalled when he was broken legs, had undergone an amputation.

WHY HE DIDN'T WRITE

"Once I asked him why he didn't write some more," said Astaire. "He said, 'I can't pedal the piano, and I can't think without that.'" He died at his Brentwood home Oct. 16, 1964, at the age of 71.

Toward the end of the program, Kanin announced, "Cole Porter will now play and sing for you." Over the loudspeaker came the facile piano style and brittle voice of Porter singing, "Thank You So Much, Lowsborough." The audience laughed at his account of a miserable weekend spent in the country with an utter bore.

There were tears as well, just as there were when Merman, Sinatra, Astaire, Kelly, Lerner and Kanin joined in a rousing finale of "Friendship," another of Porter's rich legacy over 750 highly individual songs.

Oral Disease Is in the Spotlight

By Science Service
NEW YORK — As medical science has progressively improved man's chances of surviving serious injury or acute infections, public attention turns increasingly toward chronic and debilitating ailments — and "in this new atmosphere... dental caries and periodontal disease are being more widely recognized as a major health problem."

This fact, stated here by Dr. John W. Hein of Forsyth Dental Center, Boston, was echoed by a consensus of delegates to a three-day conference on evaluation of agents used in the prevention of oral diseases at the Waldorf-Astoria.

Conference cochairman Dr. Hein decried the fact that "we (have) given our colleagues in practice very few weapons for their preventive dentistry armamentarium" and "that which we have offered has frequently been clouded by scientific confusion and doubt."

Dental research is the "key to ultimate success of programs growing out of the new national concern over oral health," he declared.

Psychological Test Format Hit State Curbs Due After
'Disturbing' Report

LANSING (UP) — The State Board of Education yesterday took steps toward control of psychological testing in Michigan's public schools after hearing a "disturbing" report on the nature of the questions and the competence of test administrators.

The board said board-administered guidelines would be "more appropriate" than the passage of specific controlling legislation.

Rep. Clifford G. Sharpe, R-Howell, is expected to present a report of the findings of a committee which investigated psychological testing in the public schools. A second study has been requested.

Dr. Ferris N. Crawford, associate superintendent for educational services for the Department of Education, told the board there is evidence indicating some of the tests are an invasion of privacy.

There also is evidence, he said, "that some individuals with inadequate training, experience, and ability are administering and interpreting... personality tests in the public schools," he said.

SEX IN JUNIOR HIGH
Junior high school students are being asked "Is your sex life satisfactory?" in the Minnesota Multi-phasic Test," Crawford said.

"It had been a long time since I last read that test; but when I read it this time again, I was amazed," he said.

Crawford said "more than a majority" of schools administer this type of test.

"There is no evidence to indicate that the test results are being used to the detriment of the student's welfare in the respective schools, but such evidence would be most difficult to obtain," Crawford said.

How to Avoid Internal Revenue Service Problems—4

Do You Know All the Exemptions You Can Rightfully Claim?

(EDITOR'S NOTE — For income tax purposes, a wife is not considered a dependent, but some relative, or even a friend, might be. This is the fourth of five articles on income tax returns.)

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Claim every exemption you rightfully can in filing your 1966 income tax return since each one means $600 knocked off your taxable income.

This is true for yourself, your wife, and your dependents. But the rules on exemptions vary, particularly the rules on dependents. A wife is not considered a dependent for income tax purposes.

Everyone filing a return gets a $600 exemption for himself if he is under 65, $1,200 if he is 65 or older, and an extra $600 if he is blind. He gets the same for his wife but only up to a point.

He gets a $600 exemption for his wife only if she files a joint return with him, whether or not she had income or, if she had no income, she files to file jointly with him and she is not a dependent of another taxpayer.

WIFE'S INCOME

If she had $600 or more income, she must file a return, either separately or jointly with her husband. If she files separately, she takes her $600 exemption on her return; he takes his on his return.

If a wife had any income at all — say it was less than $600 and therefore didn't require a return from her — her husband can claim no exemption for her unless she files jointly with him. Failure to file jointly in a case like that is throwing away all or a part of a $600 exemption.

If the wife died any time in 1966 and the husband did not remarry in that year, he can claim a $600 exemption for her and file a joint return. So much on married couples.

Now for dependents. A dependent could be your child, stepchild, adopted child, parent, or some other relative, or even a friend. But you get no extra exemption for a dependent because he is over 65 or blind.

SUPPORT TEST

There is one well-known test — called the support test — on whether you can claim a person as a dependent: Did you contribute more than half his support in 1966?

For instance: You can claim as a dependent your child who was born or died in 1966, if you met the test for that part of the year in which he lived, even if a new-born child lived only a minute. But you cannot claim as a dependent a stillborn child, which means dead when born.

Age 19 is important in deciding whether you can claim a child, adopted child or stepchild as a dependent.

Remember: Anyone under or over 19 who had $600 or more income of his own in 1966 must file his own return and take his own exemption on that return. But —

UNDER-19

Suppose you had an under-19 child for whom you met the support test. You could claim him as a dependent, take a $600 exemption for him on your return — even though he may have had $600 or more income and taken his own $600 exemption on his return — and you wouldn't have to report his income on your return. The test there is whether you contributed more than half the support of this under-19 child.

But the rule is different if he was 19 or over and had $600 or more income, even though in his case you also met the support test here.

In his case you couldn't claim him as a dependent — even though you contributed to more than half his support — unless he was a full-time student. And he couldn't be considered one if he had a full-time job during the day and went to school at night or took correspondence courses.

But you could claim a $600 exemption for him if he qualified as a full-time student — no matter how much his income — and got more than half his support from you.

SCHOLARSHIP

Suppose your dependent child was a scholarship. You can ignore its value in figuring whether you paid more than half your child's support.

You could claim a friend as a dependent if he lived in your home the full year and you met the support test. But you couldn't make the claim, even though he got more than half his support from you, if he had taxable income of $600 or more.

Following is a list of other relatives whom you could claim as a dependent but only if he provided more than half the support for that relative and he did not have as much as $600 in taxable income in 1966.

Your grandchild, great-grandchild, and so on; your legally adopted child or stepchild, but not the latter's descendants; your brother or sister; your parents, grandparent, or other direct ancestors, but not a foster parent; your stepfather or stepmother; your niece or nephew, meaning a son or daughter of your brother or sister; and such in-laws as your father-in-law, daughter-in-law, or sister-in-law.

DOMICILE

Generally, you could not claim them as dependents if they lived overseas, unless they were U.S. citizens.

Death or divorce does not end any of the above relationships. For example: Suppose your wife is dead or divorced. You can continue to claim her father — your father-in-law — as a dependent if he fits the rules given above.

A relative doesn't have to live with you for you to claim him or her as a dependent. For instance: You may have been paying more than half the support of your father who is living with your brother.

But if any of these relatives had taxable income of $600 or more you could not claim him as a dependent, even though you did contribute more than half his support.

INCOME TEST

If he had $600 or more taxable income, he would have to file his own return and take his own $600 exemption there.

That raises some other questions.

If one of the relatives listed above had nontaxable income — say $700 in Social Security payments — could you claim him as a dependent?

Suppose that relative with $700 in social security payments banked the money and did not use it to live on. You could claim him as a dependent if you met the support test.

But if he spent some or all of it to support himself, then you'd have to decide whether your support was more than half the support he got from that nontaxable $700. For example:

Say it was your father who got the $700 in Social Security payments and spent it all on his support but you contributed more than that to his support, say $800. There'd be no question. You could claim him as a dependent.

Then there's a case like this: Your married child filed a joint return with his or her spouse although that child of yours got more than half his or her support from you. Could you claim that child as a dependent? No. If a dependent died in 1966 but you paid more than half his support during the part of the year in which he lived, you could claim him as a dependent and take a $600 exemption for him if he did not have $600 or more in taxable income of his own.

Panel Formed on Jury Reform

PORT HURON (AP)—In the wake of a State Court of Appeals ruling, St. Clair County jurors are being selected in a new way.

A three-member board of jury commissioners was established Tuesday to select at random a jury list for the entire county.

The only excuse for avoiding jury duty is illness, under the new system.

In January, the Appeals Court upheld the position taken by a Port Huron attorney, Peter E. Bradt, who had challenged the

RETIREE'S WIVES

Bradt said the jury was not chosen at random, as the law requires, and that it was made up mostly of retired persons and housewives—people without business obligations.

The attorney was representing John A. Roby, who had filed a suit seeking $150,000 damages for an injury he said he suffered while working for the Grand Trunk & Western Railroad.

Junior Editors Quiz on BELLS

QUESTION: How did bells come into use?

ANSWER: When pieces of certain metals are suspended so the main mass is free to vibrate, and are then struck, they will produce a ringing sound which can be heard for a long way.

Metal bronze, a combination of copper and tin, makes a particularly musical sound which is stronger if the bronze is cast into the familiar bell shape.

It is this ability of the bell sound to be heard at a distance which led to men investing and using bells in times past.

The earliest bells were Eastern and were used in temple ceremonies. The Athenian Greeks used them to tell people when fresh fish had arrived at the markets. In Rome, they summoned worshippers to the temples. Christian countries carried on this idea.

In 400 A.D., the Italian bishop Paulinus is said to have hung a large kettle upside down which was then rung to summon the faithful. The use of church bells continued thereafter.

We illustrate the famous Liberty Bell, rung on July 8, 1876, to call people together in Philadelphia so they would know that the Declaration of Independence had been adopted.

Weed Killer Enriches Protein in Food Crops

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tiny doses of chemical weed killer can make some food crops up to 80 per cent richer in protein and may help enrich diets in the world's poor nations, a scientist reported today.

Dr. S. K. Ries of Michigan State University told the Weed Society of America that the weed killer Simazine increased protein content in rye, peas, corn, lettuce, cucumber, squash and rye grass plants.

He said he is anxious to test it in the field on such crops as wheat, rice and other forage crops.

"Just think what it would mean if we were able to increase the protein content of these crops 25 per cent," he said. "We could then get the same amount of protein from four acres that we are now getting from five."

ENZYME ACTIVITY

Simazine, he explained, increases enzyme activity and thus makes the plant a more efficient producer of protein. He said it allows the plant to thrive with lower amounts of nitrogen available.

In laboratory and greenhouse experiments, he said, Simazine increased protein content by more than 50 per cent at high temperatures and 80 per cent at lower temperatures.

"If Simazine proves successful in increasing the protein level of some of the important

These frigid nights have given our stay-at-home readers a chance to warm up their writing hands with some pretty cold letters.

This has been a big week for the mailbag, maybe because the bad weather is forcing the frustrations out of our sports page readers.

There was one lone letter with a kind paragraph among the stack of gripes we have received. But we welcome your opinions and hope that one day soon something we write on our sports pages will make our readers happy.

Let's start with the nice letter first:

Dear Bruno,
This is to tell you how much we enjoyed your fine personality feature on our "Andy" Anderson. It was richly deserving. Dr. and Mrs. Richard Thompson
(Dr. Thompson is the team doctor of the Detroit Lions).

Dear Sir:

Wrestling should get more publicity and pictures. Basketball gets large writeups and pictures and when wrestling teams rated third and fourth in the state meet each other they should get more attention. The boys and their coaches work hard and deserve more recognition.

Mrs. W. A. G.

Wrestling Fan

Dear Mrs. W. A. G.,

The day prior to the PNH-Walled Lake meet you refer to the Press sports page carried a top of the page headline with pictures. There were nearly 2,000 people to watch the matches, largest prep wrestling crowd in the state for a dual meet. We gave it a big story the next day. The Press has pioneered the use of prep wrestling and swimming summaries and we feel no paper gives prep activities the attention that the Press does.

Dear Sportswriters:

It's about time there was a bit more fairness in your coverage of Clarkson sports. It seems that Bloomfield Hills, a fourth place team gets twice as much coverage as first place Clarkson or second place Northville. Let's be fair.

J. S. Clarkson

Dear J. S.,

It's difficult to figure what you mean by fair. The Press has had a staff writer at 11 of 14 Clarkson basketball games, because of Clarkson's top position in the league. In the printed results Clarkson has been either in the headline or in the top of league roundup in almost every instance. Would you ask Dan Fife or Bud McGrath if they feel we've been unfair?

Dear Mr. Kearns,

How generous you must feel in your writeups of Waterford Township basketball. Once in a while you put them as high as the third paragraph of a story. Most of the time the Skippers are down around the 14th paragraph somewhere in a line or two.

Was a Waterford Fan

Dear Guess You'd Say I Was a Waterford Fan:

(After this salutation, we think you're right—you "was" a Waterford fan). Anyway, in league roundup stories, it's logical that the team or teams at the top get the lead of the story. It's not a matter of generosity but just the way sports stories are weighed and handled.

Dear Sir:

Why don't you go put your head in a bucket of sand. That's the way you treat the Kettering basketball team—like dirt. For your information Kettering is rated No. 5. I don't see PCH or PNH in the top ratings.

JJJ Kettering

Dear JJJ,

As a point of information, we vote in the AP poll and we list Kettering and Groves in the top five each week. Knock PCH or PNH off in the tournaments and Kettering will get our No. 1 vote.

(There are a few letters we really can't print. Not only are they cold, but they have some of the dirt that JJJ accuses us of in treatment of Kettering.)

Student Suspensions Bring Blast by NCAA

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association added fuel to its jurisdiction trial and field feud with the Amateur Athletic Union by condemning the AAU's suspension of nine foreign student athletes for competing in an NCAA-sanctioned meet.

Walter Byers' NCAA executive director, retaliated Wednesday with a broad declaration that all foreign athletes on student exchange in this country are ineligible by the AAU who will be eligible for NCAA meets.

"AAU competition represents less than 10 per cent of the track competition in America," Byers told a news conference. The remaining 90 per cent is controlled by the NCAA he indicated.

DIT's Quintet Empties Bench for 81-50 Win

DETROIT (AP) — Even the student manager scored Wednesday night as Detroit Tech routed Western Ontario Tech 81-50 in basketball.

Detroit's student manager, Bob Franklin, scored four points in his first—and probably last—action. "They let me play because I'm a graduating senior," Franklin said.

Detroit Tech is 8-2. Western Ontario Tech is 0-2.

NCAA Official in Grid Inquiry

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Walter Byers, executive director of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, said Wednesday his office has contacted the district attorney's office in Nassau County, N.Y., about a statement that a leading football coach placed a bet on his team.

The district attorney, William Cahn, said last week that the coach had placed a bet with a bookmaker.

"We have been in contact with Mr. Cahn's office," Byers said. "The matter is under active inquiry."

"Of course, we have no knowledge at this time as to what the circumstances are. The principles of ethical conduct, which all NCAA member institutions are obliged to enforce upon all athletic staff members prohibit the type of activity which Mr. Cahn has stated."

AFL Pension Plan Matches Senior Loop's

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The pension plan for American Football League players goes on a par, effective at once, with that of the National League.

AFL owners took the step Wednesday, paving the way for interleague trades. Disparity of pension plans had been viewed as the biggest obstacle to such deals.

The action at the AFL meeting here boosts its players' benefits more than fourfold. It was made retroactive to 1960, the year the junior circuit was organized — and to 1955 in cases of players who had served in the NFL which introduced its pension plan that year.

Under the new plan, based on conservative growth projections and subject to revision, a five-year veteran would receive $477 monthly at age 65. A 10-year veteran would get $656 and a 15-year veteran would draw $821.

Under the old plan, a five-year AFL man received less than $100.

DIES — Baltimore Colts' youth general manager Joe Campanella, 36, collapsed and died yesterday of an apparent heart seizure. He was playing handball with coach Don Shula when he collapsed. He was named general manager and vice president of the NFL team only last November.

Pontiac Central's Chiefs at Flint Central, Alpena at Bay City Handy, Saginaw Arthur Hill rival Northern Tuesday, now at Flint Southwestern and Flint Northern at Saginaw.

The triumph over Northern Tuesday revealed that the Chiefs' bench is stronger than observers thought.

It was two reserves — guard Jewell Stephens, a 5-7 speedster, and forward Frank Russell (6-0) — who provided the spark in the win over Northern.

Russell came on in the fourth quarter to hit six of seven shots while Stephens played a superb floor game with his ball handling and shooting.

The Chiefs are in good shape with starters and the latest performance of the reserves has added to the overall strength of the squad.

Coach Fred Zittel is expected to go with Walter Causey (6-3), Gordon Hamilton (6-3) and Alton Wilson (6-1) in the forward and center spots, with Prentice Hill and John Childs at the guard slots.

Wilson turned in a sharp game against Northern as he collected 23 points and teamed with Causey and Hamilton to control the backboards.

VICTIM OF 'THE BARON' — Coach Adolph Rupp (The Baron) of Kentucky recently had wounds during a game with junior guard Bob Tallent, the Wildcats' third leading scorer. Wednesday the mentor dismissed Tallent from the team and requested the school to cancel his athletic grant-in-aid. Tallent's family is considering legal action against the university. Rupp reportedly said "Nobody talks back to me."

NY Giants Hire Defensive Aide

NEW YORK (AP) — The New draft first or let New Orleans go York Giants think they have solved some of their problems by hiring Harland Sware as an assistant coach in charge of defense but they still are not ready to make the big announcement about a quarterback.

Despite strong reports that either John Brodie of the San Francisco 49ers or Francis Tarkenton, late of the Minnesota Vikings, are headed toward Yankee Stadium, the Giants insist no decision has been reached.

The club gets the No. 1 college quarterback if it wants it. Allie Sherman, the head coach, said Wednesday he understood the Giants could take their pick and

Former Mentor Now Assistant With Cardinals

Will Handle Passers, Help Plot Offense; Teams List Benefit

The Detroit Lions will have a first-hand opportunity to check former coach Harry Gilmer's work in his new job as assistant coach with the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Lions and Cardinals will conclude their exhibition seasons in a benefit game for the St. Louis Symphony Sept. 8 at the new Memorial Stadium.

Gilmer, who will work with the Cardinals' quarterbacks as the seventh member of coach Charley Winner's staff, directed the Lions last August when they dropped a 28-14 exhibition decision to St. Louis at Tiger Stadium.

"Harry will be our quarterback coach and will aid in the offensive coaching," Cardinal president Charles W. (Stromy) Bidwell, Jr., revealed in announcing Gilmer's appointment Wednesday.

Gilmer was head coach of the Detroit Lions from 1954 to the end of the 1956 season, when he was replaced by Joe Schmidt, one-time Detroit linebacker star.

CRITICIZED

The past two seasons, Gilmer had come under heavy criticism for trading away quarterback Earl Morrall to the New York Giants at the beginning of the 1965 season.

Milt Plum, Detroit's first string quarterback, was ineffective and was lost because of injury during the 1966 season.

The Lions, who finished last in the Western Division last season, were reduced to using Karl Sweetan, a rookie, as the first string quarterback.

In St. Louis, Gilmer will work with a quarterback corps that includes starter Charlie Johnson, but little else. The Cardinals were 7-4-1 and at the top of the Eastern Division last season when Johnson was injured. The team limped home to an 8-5-1 mark.

Gilmer was an assistant coach for four years with the Pittsburgh Steelers and spent four more years on the staff of the Minnesota Vikings, before taking the job as Lions' head coach.

Junior Guard Ousted at Ky.

LEXINGTON, Ky. (U) — Coach Adolph Rupp, after cutting Bob Tallent from his basketball team, asked the University of Kentucky Wednesday to cancel the junior guard's grant-in-aid.

The request went to the committee on student financial aid and Rupp said he assumed it will be taken up at the next called meeting.

"Under the newest interpretation of the National Collegiate Athletic Association rule, there are several reasons a boy's scholarship can be taken away and this is one of them," he added.

Asked what Tallent had said to bring on the punishment, the coach replied: "That's not important. Nobody talks back to me."

Overlooked Player Surprises for PNH

By FLETCHER SPEARS

Among the pleasant surprises for coach Dick Hall of Pontiac Northern this season has been the play of junior guard Craig Deaton.

"Before the season started we had counted him (Deaton) out," said Hall, who is preparing the Huskies for Port Huron Central's invasion tomorrow night. "But what we didn't know was that he had counted himself in."

The coach was discussing his starting five while talking about young Deaton. In assessing strength of individual players before the first game, Hall and his aides felt there were a couple others who would play ahead of Deaton.

Deaton was a good ball player, they felt, one who would make a welcome addition to the list of substitutes.

But the 5-10 speedster had other ideas. What the coaches didn't know before the season was that Deaton's determination ran deep.

EFFORT SHOWS

He worked on his game and it began to show. "I think he gained a lot of confidence during football season," offered PNH football coach Dave Schmidt. "That has helped him on the basketball court."

But hard work and a determined attitude paid off and no one is more pleased than Hall.

Deaton has been a valuable part of the team's success this season.

With Deaton at the starting guard post is another junior, Mike Clancy, giving Hall one of the best combinations at that position in the area.

Both are fast and good shooters.

MONTREAL (AP) — Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey League, suspended Montreal left wing John Ferguson for three games Wednesday night for allegedly striking an official last week.

The incident occurred Feb. 8 in a game at Chicago which the Black Hawks won 5-0. Linesman Brent Casselman jumped to avoid jostling along the boards and Ferguson, leaning over the boards in front of the official, allegedly punched Casselman in the face with his free gloved hand.

Ferguson, according to the NHL, admitted striking Casselman but said it was not "a hard blow." He said someone was holding his other arm and that he was just trying to free himself.

Campbell made his decision at a hearing attended by Ferguson, Jean Guy Talbot of the Canadiens, Frank Udvari, supervisor of NHL officials and Casselman.

It was the second suspension in as many days handed down by Campbell. On Tuesday, he barred Bernie Boom Boom Geoffrion of the New York Rangers for three games following an incident in New York the same night as the Ferguson affair.

NEW YORK (AP) — For a guy who's 6-foot-1, Mal Graham can jump pretty high. But he has never jumped as high before as he did the past week in the nation's major college basketball scoring race.

Georgia Passer Switches to Tulsa

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Rick Arrington, sophomore quarterback on Georgia University's 1966 football team, has enrolled at the University of Tulsa, coach Glenn Dobbs said Wednesday. Arrington was reported dissatisfied at Georgia because he is a passer and the Bulldogs' offense is geared to a running attack. He will have to redshirt next year to establish residence, then he will have two years of eligibility.

Pitcher Barber, Orioles at Odds

By United Press International
The Baltimore Orioles are having trouble with their pitchers again even though the first ball of spring training has yet to be thrown.

With only six days left before the start of the Orioles' spring camp for pitchers and catchers, no fewer than nine Baltimore hurlers are unsigned. And at least one — Steve Barber — indicates he and the club may be in for a long salary argument.

"I'm asking for what I'd call a moderate raise," said Barber Wednesday. "The ball club hasn't changed its position except to offer me a contingency contract based on my performance."

"I don't want to have to worry about clauses in my contract every time I walk on the field," he added. "There are enough things to worry about without that."

Barber had a 10-2 record in July but then developed tendonitis and finished the season with a 10-5 mark.

Pitcher Wade Blasingame, who slipped from 16 victories in 1965 to three in 1966, signed with the Atlanta Braves to bring their contented list to 29, and $70,000, respectively.

Both Handed Cage Defeats

Highland, A. Hills Await Each Other

Oakland Community College's two basketball squads, both nearing the end of a dismal season, look horrid tomorrow night for the third time this season in a battle that carries nothing more than prestige.

Both were knocked off last night, Highland Lakes dropping a 94-85 decision to Kellogg Community College, and Auburn Hills taking a 133-57 pasting from powerful Port Huron Junior College.

Their meeting tomorrow night is slated for the Avondale High School court and it'll be the final game of the season for the Auburn Hills five. The two divided those first two meetings.

Kellogg fired away at a 51 per cent pace in turning back the small Highland Lakes squad. Jim Kerr led the winners with 23 points while teammate Fred Gibby contributed 22.

Ed Pruitt collected 27 to pace the Highland Lakes attack and Bob Adin tossed in 12. The latter left the Highlanders with a 5-12 mark.

Port Huron, running its record to 22-0, placed six players in double figures in trimming Auburn Hills. Dan McLemore led the way with 28 and Bob Agbay picked up 25.

Cedrick Patterson paced Auburn (4-15) with 20 markers and Tom Cox contributed 16.

W. Michigan Drops Thriller

Loyola of Chicago Posts 85-84 Win

KALAMAZOO (AP) — Jerry Baumgartner closing in a jump shot in the closing seconds of overtime, lifting Loyola of Chicago to an 85-84 basketball victory over Western Michigan Wednesday night.

The 6-foot-2 Chicago ace had hit another jumper from the top of the circle with 1:03 left in overtime to put Loyola within a point of Western Michigan. Then he stole the ball and hit the clinching jumper.

With seven seconds left, he stole the ball again, shutting off Western's desperate effort to go for a game-winning shot.

Baumgartner, a flashy sophomore guard, had paved the way to the victory in the last seven seconds of the second half, firing in a shot that tied the score 77-77 at the end of regulation play.

Western jumped to an 83-77 lead in the first two minutes of the overtime. Ron Kidney led the losers with 24 points.

Unbeaten Amigos Top 11th Rec Challenger

Apparently no one is going to halt the Amigos' Club drive toward the regular-season top spot in the National League of the city recreation department's men's basketball program.

The unbeaten clubmen were slowed down by the Packers last night but still posted a 61-54 spot in the National League of victory, their 11th in a row. The city recreation department's All Stars topped Highland Lakes, 70-51, in the other game.

The Amigos held a 26-25 lead at halftime, then widened the gap in the final two quarters. Bob Rehban had 10 points in each half for the winners.

Jeff Meyer notched 19 points for the Packers (7-4) who fell into a tie for second place with the All Stars. Sammy Cole's 18 and Collis Russell's 15 paced their win over Highland Lakes.

Six others scored for the All Stars while the losers had a two-man attack. Gary Pachal hit 21 and Dave Fagerlie 20.

Bowlers After Title in Buckeye Open

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Gary Martineau of Nashville, Tenn., averaging better than 221, held the lead in the Professional Bowlers Association's $40,000 Buckeye Open after Wednesday's opening 12 games.

But stars like Jim St. John and Dave Davis, tied for second place after big second six-game blocks, were only 18 plus behind. And young Tim Harahan, the 20-year-old Encino, Calif., lad who scored his first PBA victory at Kansas City last week, was beginning to find the groove.

Martineau's total was 2659 on blocks of 318-341. St. John and Steve Buell, Salt Lake City, hung up the top six-game blocks with 1374s and Curt Schmidt, Fort Wayne, Ind., the high single of 298.

Regional Ski Meet Saturday

Local teams and individuals are expected to reap a harvest of medals in the state regional ski meet at Mt. Holly.

Walled Lake High is playing the role of host for the event and the school's Dave Smith is serving as meet manager.

West Bloomfield and Rochester are expected to battle for team honors in the boys division among the 16 schools entered, while Bloomfield Hills, Walled Lake, Waterford and West Bloomfield are rated the top contenders in the girls division.

Along with those teams mentioned in the regional are Kettering, St. Clair Shores Lakeview, Southfield, Utica, Berkeley, East Lansing, Jackson Parkside, Caro, Cass City, Huron and Vassar.

The slalom for both girls and boys is slated for 9 a.m. with the giant slalom set for the afternoon.

Among the contenders in the boys division are Tom Carter and Tim Brennan of West Bloomfield; Dick Krantz of Bloomfield Hills; Glenn Pataja and Don Willis of Rochester; Hal Schreiner of Waterford; Ted Carver of Southfield; Bill Hedgecock of Parkside; and George Foster of East Lansing.

Lynn Jarosz and Karen East of Bloomfield Hills head the list of favorites in the girls division. Others include Penny Fulton of Walled Lake; Julie Crary of Waterford; Lynn Atwell of Cass City; and Betsy Shuler of West Bloomfield.

Individual medals will be presented to the top 10 places in each slalom for both boys and girls. The winning team will receive a trophy and medals will be given to members of the winning squad.

Smith said he expected to wind up competition about 3 p.m. An awards ceremony will follow immediately, he said.

Slope Snow Conditions Cold but Still Good

By the Associated Press

Michigan skiers face the prospect of cold weather this weekend, but the slopes are in good to excellent condition in much of the state.

Recent warm spells have made skiing conditions in southeastern Michigan fair to good, but ski areas over the rest of the state remained mostly excellent.

The U.S. Weather Bureau at Detroit predicts some snow flurries throughout the state Friday night, and says temperatures will be lower than normal.

The ski conditions:

PONTIAC AREA

ALPINE VALLEY, Pontiac — 18 inch base, excellent.

MT. CHRISTIE, Oxford — 12 base, good.

MT. GRAMPIAN, Oxford — 18 base, good.

MT. HOLLY, Holly — 31 base, good.

PINE KNOB, Clarkston — 15 base, good.

SOUTHEASTERN MICHIGAN

IRISH HILLS, Clinton — 15 base, good.

MT. BRIGHTON, Brighton — 30 base, fair.

'Walk-ons' Often Play Major Role

'Walk-ons' often play a major role in high school and college competition.

The 'walk-on' is a youngster who wasn't recruited by the coach, just one who shows up uninvited and proceeds to earn a spot for himself on the team.

Most often, the 'walk-on' is associated with football and it occurs primarily at the college level.

Occasionally, it happens at the high school level.

CATCHING ON

Skiing is catching on as an interscholastic sport and Rochester has one of the best squads in the area.

The two newcomers who have sparked Rochester to a 4-1 record in dual competition are brothers Dave and Don Willis, who moved to Rochester from Traverse City last summer.

Both have been pleasant surprises for coaches Carl Pasberg and Cliff Lilly.

Dave, 16, is a junior. Don, 17, is a senior. Their father, Charles is an electric distribution superintendent for Consumers Power Co.

The Willis brothers, along with teammates Glen Pataja and Wayne Wilson, have given Rochester a formidable team.

The foursome placed second in West Bloomfield in the recent Southeastern Michigan Ski Meet.

NEW AND OLD — A double-exposure of two scale models shows comparative sizes of the Boeing 707-320B Intercontinental jetliner in service, will be dwarfed by the 747. The

Boeing's 'Flying Whale' Will Carry 362

By CORKY LAMM

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — This isn't really an airplane. It's a flying version of Mammoth Cave.

Yet within four years this whale-like flying machine will be hurtling from Los Angeles to New York in four hours carrying 362 passengers — and their luggage — in its cavernous belly.

It could carry as many as 490 passengers in economy-class seats, but nobody seems to want that at present.

The plane is the 625 mile-per-hour Boeing 747 and the first models are scheduled for delivery to Pan American World Airways for international runs in just two years.

NEVER THE SAME

Whatever flying was like before, it will never be the same again.

Picture this: A spiral staircase leads from the main cabin to a luxury lounge on the second deck. The seats — perhaps nine abreast — are divided by two separate aisles. Windows are bigger than present jet passenger plane windows, easily big enough to step through. There are as many as 11 lavatories. The ceiling is comfortably above, present heights.

And heaven knows how many stewardesses it will take — but it ought to be enough for a chorus line at the Latin Quarter, if not the Radio City Music Hall.

It is so big that the wings and tail assembly for the mockup model could not be attached to the fuselage. The tail — ye feet high — would have gone through the roof of the plant, and the wings — almost 196 feet in span — through the walls. It might have been simpler just to put the tail and wings on the building itself.

SAWING FUSELAGE

"They're sawing it (the fuselage) up in sections now," explained a spokesman for Boeing. "And then they'll truck it over to the new Everett, Wash., plant, where the 747 will be made."

It will double or triple almost anything today's big jets can do, except speed. Compared with its older, but smaller brother, the Boeing 707, the new plane stacks up this way:

Passengers — In mixed first- and economy-class seating, it will handle 362 to the 707's 139. Baggage — It has 6,100 cubic feet of baggage space to 1,770 cubic feet on the 707.

It will take off with a weight of 680,000 pounds, compared to about 333,500 pounds for most modern jets.

110 TONS OF PAYLOAD

The freighter model will carry 110 tons of payload. The passenger model will have a payload of 71 tons.

The 747's four jet engines will produce 41,000 to 44,000 pounds of thrust each — against 18,000 pounds of thrust from today's jet engines.

Yet this airliner — 231 feet long — will be able to land at any airport that can now accept international-type jets. It is not the supersonic transport or SST, which Boeing is also developing.

The bulk-meet 747 is, after all, just an ordinary jet airplane, unlike the needle-nosed SST. The 747's only singular feature is that it's so big.

REVENUE TO TRIPLE

Boeing market analysts expect revenue passenger miles to triple by 1975 and the revenue cargo ton miles to multiply 10 times.

Anyone who has seen the traffic at Washington's National Airport, where something hurtles into the air every two minutes, is conscious too that somewhere along the line there is a saturation point.

Thinkers at Boeing believe therefore, the answer is fewer planes but bigger ones.

Pan American has ordered 25 of the 747s, and 88 more have been ordered by 11 other airlines.

$20 MILLION EACH

The 747s might cost $20 million each. Boeing, which has already invested something less than $750 million in design, expects to sell 200 of them by December of 1972.

Six months after the first 747 is delivered to Pan American, Boeing will be turning out its giant flying machines at the rate of one every three days.

Not that the 747 will make its debut without problems. They think that any modifications needed at airports are compatible with plans the airports already have.

Boeing specialists are working on these problems, and they think that any modifications needed at airports are compatible with plans the airports already have.

Baggage will be mechanized if possible, and passengers might be loaded and unloaded on moving ramps.

The 747 has some other advantages too. It will climb 1,200 feet faster than today's jets. When it lands, it will roll down the runway on 16 wheels in the main landing gear and two in the nose gear.

2nd Comet Found in '67

By Science Service
CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — The second new comet of 1967, a very fast-moving object too faint to be seen without a large telescope, has been discovered in the northern sky not far from Polaris, the North Star.

The twelfth magnitude comet was detected by Dr. Paul Wild of the Astronomical Institute of the University of Berne, Switzerland, on Feb. 11.

Its discovery was confirmed at the Naval Observatory in Washington, on the morning of Feb. 13.

The comet's position was then six hours, seven minutes in right ascension and 77 degrees, 25 minutes in declination, putting it in the circumpolar constellation of Camelopardalis.

The object is moving about 37 minutes a day in right ascension and 128 minutes in declination, according to preliminary estimates.

Drinking Driver Bill to Be Aired

LANSING (UPI) — A public hearing on this year's version of implied-consent legislation to combat the problem of drinking drivers has been called for next Tuesday in Lansing.

Rep. Quincy Hoffman, R-Applegate, chairman of the House Committee on Public Safety, said he hoped for "extensive comment" from those representing both sides of the controversial issue.

The bill, one of four before the Legislature, is based on the theory that every driver has consented to chemical tests of his blood, breath, or urine to determine the level of alcohol in his blood if he is involved in an accident or is stopped for a traffic offense.

Under the bill's provisions, a driver could refuse to allow the tests to be made—but if he does, his refusal could be admitted as evidence in court and his operator's license could be suspended or revoked—for a minimum of three months and possibly up to two years.

The tests would be administered even if the driver was dead, unconscious, or unable to consent or refuse.

More than 6 million square miles, or about 10 percent of the earth's land surface, is permanently covered by ice or glaciers.

McConnell Talks to Eye Inner-City Role

McConnell Community School aims to do something about the communications breakdown between inner-city families and the rest of the community.

Scheduled there next week is an intensive five-session workshop designed to acquaint people with the tools available to them for community and self-improvement.

Speakers will include representatives of agencies involved in programs to improve the lot of inner-city residents and others who will address themselves to interpersonal relationships.

Cosponsoring the workshop with the community school are members of the Rochester Area Human Relations Council and the Birmingham Unitarian Church.

FRED M. CARTER

Economic Opportunity staff members will give information on establishing block club improvement projects Thursday night.

Topic for the 1:30 p.m. program Feb. 26 is "How the Civil Rights Commission Can Help You Gain Human Dignity and Constitutional Rights."

Speakers will be Wilma Ray, director of the Pontiac regional office of the State Civil Rights Commission; Clarence Barnes, executive director of the Pontiac Urban League; and James McNeely, executive director for the Oakland County Commission on Economic Opportunity.

200 EXPECTED

Fred M. Carter, McConnell Community School director, said that some 200 persons are expected to attend the first program.

The education-oriented workshop, he said, is designed for all residents of the eastern section of Pontiac.

The central question to be considered at all of the meetings is "Are Your Power Structures Giving You The Most for Your Tax Dollars?"

"People here are afraid," Carter said. "They don't know how to express themselves and they don't know where to go for help."

ACTION ORGANIZATION

"People should realize the power structure—if they know how to organize, how to articulate their problems."

Idea for the workshop was prompted by the need to think positively about the community—to have an action orientation rather than a reactionary group formed at a time of crisis, Carter said.

With the motivation provided by the workshop, Carter hopes to generate the kind of community participation which ultimately will take maximum advantages of the human resources center proposed for the southeast quadrant of the city.

The center, now being planned jointly by the city and school district, eventually would replace McConnell, Wilson and Central elementary schools and would provide space for the services of many agencies.

TWO-FOLD PURPOSE

McConnell Principal Howard Caldwell sees a two-fold purpose in next week's workshop—to get information to the people and to define the role they're supposed to play and the influence they should assert.

Carter noted those attending the workshops would not just passively listen to a speech—they will discuss the ideas presented in light of their own frustrations and alternatives available to them.

Citizen participation will be emphasized.

"We want people who are genuinely concerned with active participation in their community," Carter said.

Jobs Up in Greater Grand Rapids Area

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI)

There were 6,400 persons unemployed in the greater Grand Rapids area in January, an increase of 700 compared with December, Frank Christensen, manager of the Michigan Employment security office, reported today.

The jobless roll represented a 3.1 percent of the labor force as compared with 2.7 percent employed in December. Last January there were 5,400, or 2.7 percent of the work force unemployed, Christensen said.

The market area includes the Kent and Ottawa Counties.

NEW MACHINE — Medical technologist Robert Adams (foreground) starts a blood chemistry test on new automated equipment installed at Pontiac General Hospital. Reading a portion of the results is Dr. William Dito (standing), director of laboratories.

Speeds Blood Testing

'Revolutionary' Machine at City Hospital

Twelve tests in 12 minutes is the advantage offered by the new automated blood chemistry machine recently installed at Pontiac General Hospital.

Harold B. Euler, hospital administrator, announced that a $32,000 12-channel sequential multiple analyzer (SMA 12) has been in operation for about a month.

Only one of two in south-eastern Michigan, the SMA gives readings on 12 chemical components, including cholesterol, uric acid, calcium, phosphorus, total protein, albumin, alkaline phosphatase, bilirubin, blood urea nitrogen, glucose, lactic acid dehydrogenase and transaminase. The total results are indicative of the conditions of the patients' heart, liver, kidneys and other systems in contact with the blood.

Described by Euler as revolutionary, the SMA enables the Pontiac General laboratory to move with greater speed and accuracy.

AUTOMATION NECESSARY This is necessary with the increasing number and varieties of tests needed by today's physicians in diagnosis and treatment.

Automation in the hospital laboratory is also necessary because of the shortage of technical manpower.

The only hand operation in using the SMA is to place the blood serum in a vial, which is then set in a rotating wheel. The machine takes over, even drawing the serum from the vial.

The serum is divided into the different tests with the machine adding the reagent for each test and recording the results.

2,500 TESTS A DAY

The SMA can complete more than 2,500 tests a day under the supervision of one technician. It would take one technician two months to complete the same amount of work by hand, according to Euler.

The new machine, while providing speed in blood analysis, is also labeled a valuable aid to diagnosis and useful as a research tool.

Hospital officials said that some day complete blood profiles may become a routine procedure with each admission as well as part of an annual physical checkup at the physician's office.

British Plan to Withdraw Malta Troops Stirs Howl

LONDON (AP) — During World War II, Winston Churchill valued the island of Malta as his "unsinkable aircraft carrier." Now the British are, in effect, sending it to the scrap yard and the Maltese feel they are being left high and dry.

What the islanders see as Malta's doublecross is something of a dress rehearsal for what may happen in Singapore and possibly Aden as the British retire from the role of world power.

Britain's spending accounts for about one-fifth of Singapore's income, and a precipitate pullout could be a disaster. In Aden, the danger is political. British forces, pledged to leave soon, are the main support of the local sheiks in South Arabia. In Malta, the budgetary knife, wielded in London to protect the pound sterling, cuts even more deeply because of emotional loyalties to Britain.

GEORGE CROSS The Mediterranean island was awarded a George Cross for collective heroism under a rain of wartime German and Italian bombs aimed at the very shipyard the British are shutting down. The Maltese workers organized their own anti-aircraft batteries to protect it.

Britain has 4,300 sailors, soldiers and airmen stationed in Malta. Plans for withdrawing them are being renegotiated because of an outcry in both Malta and Britain, but Britain wants only 3,000 men on the island until 1970 and half that number thereafter.

Britain would thus save about $50 million in four years.

The problem is that British forces are the island's largest single employer. Most people working for the British are middle-aged or older. They are guards, drivers, clerks and others lacking skills marketable in other channels.

Wily Chinese Premier Plays Mediator

Chou on Tightrope in Rift

By JOHN RODERICK

TOKYO (AP) — As agile as a cat, Premier Chou En-lai picks his way cautiously through the rusted cans and broken glass of Red China's great proletarian revolution.

Today the wily Communist rubs his back against Chairman Mao Tse-tung; he emits a steady snarl in the direction of Mao's chief opponent, President Liu Shao-chi.

But occasionally he purrs. The way he jumps tomorrow may indicate who is to be the victor on the tortured mainland. The winner could be neither Mao nor Liu but Chou himself.

MODERATE

"Moderate" is the word used by outsiders to describe him at this stage of the bitter quarrel between Mao and Liu. In a voice as loud as anyone else's, he demands that the "counter-revolutionaries" be brought to heel. But he adds softly that the struggle against Liu and party general secretary Teng Hsiao-ping should be waged with kid gloves; words should replace blows, reason supplant ridicule.

He swears undying devotion to Mao, 73, leads Maoist fanatics in singing the new Mao anthem, "The East Is Red." But at another moment, he sharply warns the Maoists against excesses, tells them they mustn't parade their pro-Liu victims through the streets in dunce caps, expose them to public humiliation and kangaroo courts. Let up on old revolutionaries, he cries.

As one crisis succeeds the other, he seems to be everywhere. Nanking erupts in bloodshed; he seeks to mediate with irate workers. The army turns against Mao in remote Sinkiang Province; he offers to meet dissident commander Wang En-mao to work out a compromise. Red Guards criticize the top army commissar, Hsiao Hua; he averts a military showdown by implicitly rebuking Mao's own wife, Chang Ching, who is believed behind the criticism.

The workers pour into Peking, bent on trouble; the railways become paralyzed following Liu's resistance; fights break out in Peking between police and Red Guards; the Maoists begin bickering among themselves — Chinese communism's most avid fire-engine follower is soon on the scene to help pour water on the flames.

A great mediator? The voice of moderation? Perhaps. But some observers here see in Chou's actions something closer to human exasperation and an opportunism for which he has been famous since the 1920s.

Mao and Liu sit on opposing mountain peaks — one admittedly lower than the other — watching the tigers fight it out below. But Chou is up to his neck in the multifarious troubles of trying to keep a harassed nation of 750 million afloat without much help.

As the Mao-Liu fight intensifies, and more of Liu's followers are subjected to the verbal rack and mental isolation of Chou, 68, sees his trained staff of ministers breaking up. On two occasions — the latest on Feb. 11 — he has been quoted as complaining that he can't carry on the toll continues. Only seven of his original 15 vice premiers remain, he says.

What he — and they — have to cope with would daunt any ordinary man; an economy tumbling downhill after being pushed by Liu's followers; who after workers and peasants higher wages and greater social benefits for their allegiance, and threatened with disruption by Mao's purge and his Red Guards.

HOUSE OF CARDS

If the economic house of cards falls down, Chou realizes, Mao's struggle to regain power would be doomed. As Mao's present ally, he is struggling manfully to keep it propped up.

That is one of the explanations for his warnings to the Maoists to take it easy. Another could be that, with feline shrewdness, while he turns his head toward Mao, he dips a tentative paw into the milk on Liu's side.

Suave, handsome Chou — son of a mandarin — is a great opportunist.

Since the 1920s, by leaping nimbly and in time, by beating his breast in self-criticism, he has survived many a party purge.

ALLEGIANCE

In the 1920s he opposed Wang Ming, head of the party's "Russian faction," as well as Mao's "Chinese faction." He went along with Li Li-san, later denounced and disgraced as an adventurist. But at one time or another he faithfully served all three. When Wang and Li fell, he landed in Mao's lap.

Chou has no love for Liu Shao-chi; he reportedly has questioned the white-haired president's long-time orientation toward Moscow. But if the past holds true today, Chou's loyalties will go to the side of the biggest battalions.

Did the Kwangming daily, the Mao intellectual organ, have Chou in mind Feb. 9 when it warned against those whose "eyes are focused on themselves or on their own small group?" What did it mean when it raised the specter of a "palace coup" and said some comrades are suspect who shout "be gentle, be tactful," and "let's stop here?"

No one can give an answer now to what all this portends.

But one thing is certain: Tomorrow's China, after all the bitterness, the bloodshed and the hatred, will not be the same. Exhausted, disillusioned with both the extreme right and the extreme left, the Chinese masses may turn to someone closer to the middle.

Pontiac Has Bus Service to July 1—but What Then?

One week away from formal delivery of a record $35,000 subsidy to the Pontiac Transit Corp. (PTC), the City Commission is doggedly persisting in its efforts to maintain bus service in Pontiac.

The annual operations subsidy—which has increased sevenfold since its initiation in 1963—will provide for service through July 1 of this year.

On that date, PTC will implement an automatic employee pay adjustment which will boost its wage costs by about $5,000 a month.

Simultaneously the company's contract with the city will expire, with all indications being that PTC officials will then solicit an even greater subsidy.

For Kenneth Totten, Pontiac regional manager of American Transit Corp. (ATC), appearances before the commission to negotiate the tender subject of a city subsidy are becoming routine.

2-YEAR DECLINE

Only through city assistance has his company been able to fight a steady two-year decline in passengers and revenue.

Discussions of bus operations in Pontiac have been marked by disagreement among commissioners and some sharp criticism of the PTC.

In response to attacks, Totten recently assigned an additional manager to assist in Pontiac operations and also agreed to restore previous bus runs.

Scheduled for resumption are the Huron-Sanford and Baldwin-St. Joseph routes.

SHOOPER SERVICE

In addition, Totten has conferred with Howard Nelson, president of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce and manager of Sears Roebuck & Co., as to feasibility of restoring nighttime shopper service.

The company formerly made nightly runs downtown, but discontinued them because of a low patronage.

Proposed adjustments in the bus operations come at a time when the company is experiencing a steady downward trend.

Revenues last year dropped over $18,000 from the $188,100 intake of 1965. Number of passengers in the same period fell more than 32,000.

MILEAGE DROP

PTC's cutback in service was reflected in the mileage figure, which showed a drop of some 79,000 miles from 1966 to 1966.

At an appearance before the commission on Tuesday, however, Totten was able to cite some encouraging signs for local transit service.

PTC, he said, completed negotiations with the recently burned-out Bee Line Co. in Keego Harbor for purchase of badly needed engines and transmissions and for lease of several busses.

A repeatedly emphasized problem for the bus company has been maintenance of equipment and replacement of damaged vehicles.

PARTS PROBLEMS

The busses used in Pontiac, while not described by Totten as obsolete, are no longer in production, resulting in a critical spare parts situation.

Totten conceded that parts alone will not pump revenue into the transit company by themselves.

Passengers are needed, a fact which has led city officials on more than one occasion to encourage further PTC efforts in marketing bus service.

The FBI located more than 21,000 stolen autos last year.

War Casualties About Same

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP)—The number of allied casualties in South Vietnam showed little change last week and enemy casualties were still above 1,000 although nearly four days of the week were covered by the lunar new year truce, the weekly casualty report showed today.

The U.S. command said 107 Americans were killed in combat and 1,015 were wounded, compared with 117 dead and 920 wounded the previous week.

South Vietnamese casualties were 193 killed and 53 missing or captured, the Vietnamese command reported, an increase from the 170 killed and 36 missing or captured a week earlier. The Vietnamese do not report the number of their wounded.

Enemy losses for the week were put at 1,085 killed by the U.S. command. The week before they were 1,309.

Busy Convention Weekend Ahead for State Dems

LANSING (AP) — Tax reform, Vietnam and possibly the election of a new vice chairman are expected to occupy Michigan's Democrats at their convention this weekend in Grand Rapids.

County and district conventions met around the state last week and many passed resolutions on state fiscal policy and the war in Vietnam. Each thorny issue drew a number of different approaches. Delegates could end up in floor fights to reconcile those differences.

State Democrats, meanwhile, were surprised Wednesday by the announcement of Adelaide Hart, the party's vice chairman since the days of Gov. G. Mennen Williams, that she would not be available for another term.

Party Chairman Zolton Ferenzy, who is expected to encounter trouble in winning another two-year term, said Wednesday that although he had not talked with Miss Hart since her announcement, he thought "she may not be able to make her resignation stick at the convention."

But Miss Hart repeated

Wednesday night she would not run again and added, "I'm a very determined person."

"I have a great affection for the Democratic party," the retired Detroit schoolteacher said, "so it was quite a break for me to make. But I've given it a lot of thought, and I didn't make this announcement until I firmly made up my mind."

The first public building to be built in Washington, D.C., was the executive mansion. The cornerstone was laid by George Washington in 1792.

BIG BLOW — A pedestrian in downtown Minneapolis holds down his hat as he braves heavy wind gusts and steps over drifts yesterday afternoon in the Twin City area. Wind gusts reached 32 miles an hour with a snow accumulation of six inches.

Ironical Twist to Lithuania Freedom Day

(EDITOR'S NOTE — A Lithuanian-born member of the Associated Press staff in Detroit talked with leading Lithuanian figures in America on the eve of Lithuania's independence day. This is his report.)

By JUSTINAS BAVARSKIS
Associated Press Writer
DETROIT (AP) — All over the world today, Lithuanians are celebrating their independence. All over the world, that is, except in Lithuania.

And while the unfamiliar yellow-green-red Lithuanian flag flutters beneath the American flag atop government buildings in Washington, New York, Detroit, and Chicago, Lithuanians in Kaunas, the nation's capital, look up and see the hammer and sickle of the Soviet Union.

For Lithuanians in Soviet-occupied Lithuania are not encouraged to celebrate their independence. Instead, they are "advised" to celebrate July 14, the date in 1940 when the Soviets occupied the country.

Lithuania is a tiny nation on the Baltic Sea, squeezed between Poland and Russia. Its population is three million, but another one-and-a-half million Lithuanians are scattered through the free world, with about half a million in the United States.

MANY LEFT IN 1940
"Most of us left after the Soviet occupation in 1940," said the Rev. Juozas Prunskis, editor of the Chicago based Lithuanian newspaper Draugas.

"They came to protect us then from the Germans," he added. "They're still protecting us."

"I escaped in 1940," said Kazys Karvelis, president of Detroit's Lithuanian organizations.

"First, the Soviets took away my farm. Then they started deporting anyone who said anything against the Soviet government. About 45,000 of us were deported to Siberia."

'LAND OF OPPORTUNITY'
"Most of us came to the United States," said Juozas Audena, once Lithuania's minister of agriculture, but now a foreman in a New York factory.

"We came here," he went on, "because we knew America was a land of opportunity."

STATEMENT OF POLICY

There are jewelers who say that they will never reduce the price of their diamonds.

That's fine!!! For them! We have a Different Policy.

Connolly's at all times, give you the best possible values. As a result of them, our diamond business has grown to such an extent in the past years, we are now one of the largest diamond merchants in the State of Michigan.

It is true that every diamond has a definite value. Just because we elect to give you an extra value does not mean the original value is any less. We will always allow full market price on not only our diamond but any diamond in trade on a larger stone.

The result is that when a diamond is purchased from Connolly's at a sale price, our customer actually receives a bonus or an extra dividend on an exchange.

It may even seem odd that we are willing to dispose of Diamonds and jewelry in face of rising market but it is our belief that the market is stabilizing and if we are wrong you have gained and we have to pay more to replace it.

In any way you look at it you can't go wrong at Connolly's.

I CAN'T BELIEVE IT!—Master of ceremonies, Art Linkletter, tells Mrs. Carlos D. Bullock of Topeka, Kan., that she has won the $25,000 grand prize in the 18th annual Pillsbury Bake-Off contest in Los Angeles. Her entry was a muffin mix bread.

Muffin Mix Bread Wins $25,000 in 18th Bake-Off

Corn muffin mix and a can of vegetable soup made a winning combination at the 18th annual Pillsbury Bake-Off this week.

Mrs. Carlos D. Bullock, young homemaker from Topeka, Kan., won $25,000 for her "Muffin Mix Buffet Bread."

Course Offered on Entertaining

There is a real sense of pride and satisfaction when your guest asks, "how did you learn to entertain so graciously and to be so relaxed?" The secret is in knowing that you are serving correctly whether it is a coffee hour for four or a buffet for twenty.

You too, can acquire the confidence one has with a properly set table and flawless serving methods by studying a home study course offered from The Pennsylvania State University. Besides showing correct ways to set a table and serve a meal, the course describes the selection and care of table linens, silver, glass, and china. It includes information on the latest methods for removing stains and gives table decoration ideas.

A section on buffet service explains how to manage this popular style of entertaining for large or small groups of people. There are common-sense answers to table etiquette questions and suggestions for successful coffee hours and afternoon teas.

Material in the course is carefully planned and clearly stated. It includes pictures and diagrams.

For your copy of "Table Service" send $1.50 to Correspondence Courses, 202 Agricultural Education Building, University Park, Pennsylvania 16802. The course will be sent promptly.

Grocery stores can expect a run on the above two ingredients as local women try out Mrs. Bullock's recipe.

MUFFIN MIX BUFFET BREAD

2 packages dry yeast
¾ cup warm water
4 to 4½ cups flour
1 package (9½ oz.) corn muffin mix
Can condensed cream of vegetable soup ¾ cup butter, melted corn meal

Soften yeast in warm water in large mixing bowl. Stir in two cups flour, muffin mix, soup and one-fourth cup melted butter.

Gradually stir in remaining flour to form a stiff dough. Knead on floured board until smooth and elastic, about five minutes. Cover and let rest 15-20 minutes.

Divide dough into three equal parts; roll each portion on floured board to a 10x6-inch rectangle; cut each portion crosswise into 10 strips one inch wide.

Roll strips in rest of melted butter, then in corn meal. Place side by side in three well greased 11x7-inch pans.

Makes three break-away loaves.

They're in the Bag

After french-frying potatoes, slide them into a brown paper bag. Salt, shake and keep them warm until the batch is ready to be poured into a serving dish. The paper bag absorbs excess grease.

Canned Salmon Made Into Tasty Dishes

DEVILED SALMON ROLL-UPS

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

For some unknown reason, fishermen caught a great deal more salmon last year than ever before.

There are nearly 200 million one-pound cans of pink and red salmon ready for the American housewife. The USDA has named canned salmon a plentiful food for February.

If the price of canned salmon seems high to you, remember that you can serve six people with one pound, if you combine the fish with other foods.

If the children come home for lunch, or if you are entertaining before an afternoon of cards, Deviled Salmon Roll-ups are just the thing to serve. Add soup for part of the main course and dessert if desired.

Several varieties of pickles on a relish plate would go well with the salmon rolls.

DEVILED SALMON ROLL-UPS

1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 teaspoon parsley flakes
1/2 teaspoon instant onion flakes
7/8 ounce can salmon, drained and flaked
12 Parker House refrigerated dinner rolls

2 tablespoons soft butter
Beat egg lightly and set aside 1 tablespoon for later use. Combine remaining beaten egg with mustard, parsley flakes, onion flakes and salmon.

With rolling pin roll out each dinner roll into a thin rectangle about 2 x 5 inches. Spread each roll lightly with butter, then the salmon mixture. Roll up like fat jelly rolls and arrange on baking sheet.

Brush rolls with reserved beaten egg. Bake in a pre-heated 375 degree oven for 10 to 12 minutes. Serve hot. Makes 12 roll-ups.

This next recipe has been in my files for some time. It was too interesting to throw away, but the right time never seemed to present itself for printing it. It's for a fancy salmon salad that would be ideal on a buffet table. Keep the recipe in your files for use this coming summer too.

SALMON CHEESE "CAKE"
1 1/4 cups unsweetened zwiebach crumbs
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
6 tablespoons melted butter
2 envelopes plain gelatin
1/2 cup cold water

Add Ginger Ale to Fresh Fruit for New Taste

Add a sparkling note to a festive dinner by serving ice-cold ginger ale over a fruit cup dessert. The ginger ale provides a zestful tang to this flavorful, light dessert.

Let your imagination be your guide in combining various fresh, frozen, or canned fruits with the ginger ale. Here's one particularly tempting combination:

Ginger Ale Fruit Cup
1 cup pitted cherries
1 cup orange segments
1 cup grapefruit segments
1 cup sliced peaches
dry ginger ale

Drain the syrup or juice from well-chilled fruit. Then arrange the fruit in dessert dishes or sherbet glasses. Pour ice-cold ginger ale over fruit in dishes just to cover fruit. Serves six.

If you prefer, this fruit cup is equally delicious when served with an appetizer.

1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup milk
2 cups cream-style cottage cheese
2 tablespoons lemon juice
Grated rind of 1 lemon
1 7/8-ounce can salmon, flaked
2 cups whipping cream

Combine crumbs, nutmeg and melted butter. Line bottom and sides of a buttered 7 1/2-inch springform pan with 3/4 of the crumb mixture and chill. Reserve remaining crumbs to sprinkle on top.

Soften gelatin in cold water. In small saucepan combine egg yolks, salt and milk. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until egg mixture coats the spoon.

Remove from heat, add gelatin and stir until gelatin is thoroughly dissolved. Set aside. Press cheese through a sieve, or beat thoroughly in electric mixer. Beat in lemon juice and rind and the egg mixture. Fold in salmon.

Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry, and fold into salmon-cheese mixture. Whip cream and fold in.

Spoon mixture into crumbed pan and sprinkle with reserved crumbs. Chill for several hours, or until set.

The U.S. Department of the Interior puts out excellent cook-books about fish.

Tropical Creme De Menthe Mold

2 cups hot water or hot water and pineapple syrup, mixed
Juice of 1 lemon
1/4 cup green creme de menthe
1/2 cup cold pineapple syrup
1/2 cup whipping cream
1/2 cup crumbled macaroons
1 No. 2 can pineapple slices
Red and green cherries

Bachelor's Lament: Bigger Tax Burden

Housing Plan Faces Battle

President's Proposal Fully Effective in 1969

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's open housing bill, which would ban discrimination in the sale and rental of housing, will become fully effective in 1969.

Message Highlights, Page B-6

House leaders indicated they would like to wait for the Senate to act first on the legislation this year. But the chances of any early Senate action appeared nil.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., chairman of the Senate Constitutional Rights subcommittee, said the proposal would "do away with the old installment plan."

But Johnson told Congress he was "proposing fair housing legislation again this year because it is decent and right."

"Injustice must be opposed, however difficult or unpopular the issue," he said.

As he did a year ago, the President also called for a ban on discrimination in the selection of federal and state judges and a strengthening of federal criminal law against the use of violence, threats or other interference with the exercise of constitutional rights.

ENFORCEABLE ORDERS

He further proposed that the Equal Opportunity Commission be empowered to issue enforceable orders against discrimination in employment, that the U.S. Civil Rights Commission be expanded for five years, and that funds for the Community Relations Service be increased from $1.4 million to $2.7 million.

Industrialist Leaves Estate of $21 Million

The estate of the late Royal Oak industrialist, Jim Robbins, is worth over $21 million, according to an inventory of his holdings filed yesterday with the Oakland County Probate Court.

The assets included $11 million in cash and $10 million in listed securities.

There are still some assets yet to be appraised, according to Probate Registrar James R. Stelt.

Robbins was killed Sept. 26, 1966, in a plane crash in South Dakota.

His will, filed 10 days after his death, set up a trust fund for his heirs.

Early Clues to Intelligence

ANN ARBOR — A child's earliest hand, leg and body movements are clues to his intelligence, reported Dr. Ralph M. Gibson, a pediatric psychologist at the University of Michigan.

Charting such movements — such as a child's ability to retrieve hidden objects at 12 months or scribble with a pencil six months later — may also help predict the type of intelligence, said Dr. Gibson.

AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK — A single person with a taxable income of $6,000 will pay $130 more in federal income tax this April than a married couple will pay on the same amount.

This situation has persisted since the late 1940s despite the inability of anyone to convince the single taxpayer that it is fair. To him, it amounts to a subsidy of marriages and babies.

Moreover, some single persons are finding the situation becoming more burdensome. The higher the income, the wider is the payment disparity. And more Americans are working up into these higher income brackets.

A married taxpayer with $8,000 taxable income is scheduled to pay, according to the official charts, a tax of $1,280. On this same income the single taxpayer will pay $1,410, or $630 more.

GM Enjoyed Second Best Year in 1966

General Motors enjoyed a year of accomplishment in 1966, second only to 1965, Chairman Frederic G. Donner and President James M. Roche said today in the corporation's 1966 annual report.

The report, with final figures for 1966 operations, showed that sales, dollar sales, net income, earnings per share and dividends paid to the owners of the business exceeded every year but 1965 — a year in which sales in the early months were stimulated beyond normal demand as a result of strikes in the latter months of 1964.

Dollar sales overseas and dollar volume of General Motors commercial nonautomotive products were in all-time record levels in 1966. Worldwide employment and payrolls also set new GM records.

The annual report presented the following final data on 1966 operations:

Net sales in 1966 of $20,200,000 were the second highest in GM's history and were 3 percent below sales in 1965. Automotive products accounted for about 90 percent of the corporation's sales with the remainder being in nonautomotive and defense and space products.

Net income totaled $1,793,000 in 1966, or 16 percent per share in the record year 1965 but higher than in any other year. Earnings on the common stock amounted to $6.24 per share in 1966, compared with $7.41 per share in 1965 and $6.62 per share in 1964.

Dividends paid on the common stock in 1966 totaled $4.55 per share, with $1.69 per share or 27 percent of earnings retained in the business. In 1965, dividends per share compared with $4.55 and $1.69 per share in 1964.

Total 1966 dividends of $1,298 million paid on the common stock were second only to the $1,497 million paid in 1965 and more than the total net income of the Corporation in any year prior to 1962.

GM's worldwide factory sales of cars and trucks during 1966 totaled 6,717,000 vehicles, 8 percent below the record year 1965 and 10 percent above 1964.

Factory sales of GM cars and trucks produced in the United States totaled 5,195,000 units, compared with 5,699,000 units in 1965 and 4,598,000 in 1964.

Business Notes

Jotie Peyton of 483 B Ave. (Q) "Recently, I inherited 300 shares of General Telephone & Electric Co. of New York. I am a widow and have savings and only a small mortgage on my home. I need all the income I can get. Please advise me."

Raymond E. Hoffman was recently appointed director of sales manager of Aetna Bear Insurance Co. (A) The yield on a stock is usually in inverse ratio to its growth prospects. General Telephone has a stronger outlook than General Standard, but you can get twice the return from the latter issue with no sacrifice in security.

If the stock you inherited represents your sole investment, I funds which you have in certificate would hold at least 100 shares of deposit.

In the 1940s nine states had laws upheld later in the courts, that such earned income property income belonged equally to the husband and the wife. More states made plans to copy these laws.

What did this mean? Well, look at your income tax schedule of rates. It is progressive. More, proportionately, is taken from an $8,000 income — a bit more than 20 percent — than from a $6,000 income — about 19 percent. The tax take escalates.

So, the single taxpayer with $8,000 taxable income must pay $1,630.

Senate Okays Later Primary

Michigan Legislators Fight Over Romney

LANSING (AP) — Republican challenger Sen. George Romney's travels Wednesday, but got together long enough to pass a bill changing primary elections from August to September.

Chances of future fireworks were insured with the introduction of bill packages to tighten state laws governing strikes by government employees and strengthen law enforcement — including enactment of a stop and risk law.

The partisan squabble broke out over a resolution by Sen. Robert Vander Laan, R-Grand Rapids, to amend the standing rules of the Senate.

The resolution requires the presence in the Senate of a quorum of attendance records of regularly scheduled committee meetings, along with the time the committee convenes and the times senators arrive and depart.

RESOLUTION APPROVED

The resolution was approved on a 20-18 party line vote, but an amendment proposed by Sen. Basil Brown, D-Highland Park, to record also absences of Gov. George Romney, the lieutenant governor, the secretary of state and attorney general failed to pass on an 18-20 vote.

"Gov. Romney was absent from the state 54 days last year," Brown said. "Those absences cost the people of the state $1,949.50 in additional compensation paid to the lieutenant governor."

"This year," Brown added, "Gov. Romney has seldom been in attendance, and I think the people of Michigan have the right to know where he is and how much it is costing the taxpayers to have him here."

Romney, considered a top candidate for the 1968 presidential nomination, has made several trips to New York and Washington in recent months, leaving Friday on a seven-day tour of the western United States.

Brown said a Republican controlled Legislature had attacked former Democratic Gov. G. William Williams for leaving the state "even a single day."

He said he was chief executive of the state.

Cautious Is Increased

Irregular Stock Market Softens

NEW YORK (AP) — An irregular stock market softened somewhat early this afternoon. Trading was fairly active.

The caution in Wall Street was increased by the usual tendency to even-up gains and losses on a Thursday. The exchange community seemed little affected by favorable business news, which included a strong start in January housing starts and a number of good reports of fourth quarter earnings which were expected to be sub par.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon showed a loss of 1.45 at 854.31.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 3, 1.1 at 2 and utilities up .3, rails up 2 and utilities up .3.

The New York Stock Exchange index, however, was off a little, apparently confirming the drift of the market to the downside.

IBM fell 7 points while Xerox and Polaroid lost nearly 2 each.

Prices were irregular on the American Stock Exchange. Great American Industries and Sperry Rand warrants were active fractional gainers. Dome Petroleum sank more than a point. Toll Research and New Altria Mining lost fractions in active dealings.

Losses of a point or so were shown by a number of prominent issues, including Republic Steel, Sears, Roebuck, Boeing, Zodge, Alcoa and Phelps Dodge.

Beaten Youth Partly Blinded

Three Men Sought by Sheriff's Deputies

A Rochester youth is in satisfactory condition at Pontiac General Hospital after losing the sight of his left eye after he reportedly was beaten by three men Monday.

John Kinzie, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Kinzie of 601 Quarter, Rochester, was allegedly struck with a beer bottle by one of three men with whom he hitched a ride.

He told Oakland County sheriff's detectives he was walking home on Rochester Road from a bowling alley about 11:30 p.m. when he decided to seek a ride.

He said the three men, still sought by sheriff's deputies, were in their 20s, and driving a late-model Pontiac.

The three were reportedly drinking in the car and refused to drop him at his destination. Kinzie said he became frightened when they threatened to kill him and he grabbed the steering wheel.

At that point, he said, one of the men hit him with the bottle. He managed to open a window and leap out while the car was turning onto Walton from Rochester.

Car Hits Boy in Waterford

A 10-year-old Waterford Township boy was injured yesterday afternoon when struck by a car on Cass-Elizabeth near Parkway in Waterford Township.

Listed in satisfactory condition in Pontiac General Hospital with a fractured leg and an internal injury is Jacky W. Davidson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Davidson of 3808 Hazellet.

The boy was hit by a car driven by Gloria J. Himefeld, 25, of 666 S. Winding, Waterford Township, shortly before 5 p.m. The driver told police she saw three boys standing on the road shoulder when, suddenly one of them darted in front of her car.

Surprise Party for Police Chief

More than 100 friends of Pontiac Police Chief William Hanger honored him yesterday with a surprise party as a send-off for his upcoming course at the Federal Bureau of Investigation training school.

He was presented with a movie camera and projector at the event, held at Fortino's Steak House, 15 Wide Track.

Naming Area Police Chief to OCC Post Likely Tonight

Veteran Birmingham Police Chief Ralph W. Moxley is expected to be appointed tonight to head the Oakland Police Academy at Oakland Community College (OCC).

George Mosher, president of the OCC Board of Trustees, said Moxley's appointment would be considered at tonight's board meeting.

He anticipated appointment of the long-time Birmingham chief would be approved.

Salary for the academy post is $11,760, according to a college spokesman.

If approved, Moxley's new title would be "coordinator in law enforcement" and he would work with Eugene M. Freeman, OCC associate professor who heads up the college's law enforcement department.

BEGINS MARCH 6
The police training program is slated to begin March 6 with some 55 participants. Classes are to be held in a temporary building on the Auburn Hills Campus in Pontiac Township.

N-Defense Half Eyed by Reds?

Desire to Hold Talks Indicated by Kremlin

MOSCOW (AP) — Pravda, the Soviet Communist party newspaper, indicated today: the Kremlin is ready to hold talks on halting the development of atomic weapons as well as offensive arms.

The paper said Premier Alexei N. Kosygin told a news conference in London last Thursday that "the Soviet government is ready to discuss the question on preventing a further arms race both in the field of offensive and the field of defensive weapons."

The official Soviet text of the news conference had carried no such statement by Kosygin. Tass, the official Soviet news agency, said that Kosygin gave this reply when asked in London if he believed the antimissile defense system planned by the Soviets is a new step in the arms race.

"I believe that defensive systems, which prevent attacks, are not the cause of the arms race, but constitute a factor preventing the death of people."

"Some argue like this: What is cheaper, to have offensive weapons which can destroy towns and whole states or to have defensive weapons which can prevent this destruction? At present, the theory is current somewhere that the system which is cheaper should be developed."

Kosygin's remarks were seen as a criticism of U.S. plans to develop stronger offensive weapons to counter improved Soviet defenses against missile attack and a rebuttal to President Johnson's overtures for U.S.-Soviet negotiations to prevent a new arms race between the two major nuclear powers.

County Dems Say Zolton's a Shoo-In

Oakland County delegates to the Democratic State Convention in Grand Rapids this weekend have no doubts that Zolton Ferency will be reelected state party chairman.

"He's a cinch to win," said Philip Mastin, deputy chairman of the Oakland County Democratic Committee.

A week ago this same optimism was expressed by 18th and 19th Congressional District Democrats when they endorsed Ferency before he changed his mind and announced he would be in the race.

Presently, Ferency, the party leader for four years, has only one challenger for the post, Richard Slout, a state agricultural commissioner from Marshall.

But votes of confidences received by Ferency, such as those from the 18th and 19th Districts, has however, insured his victory.

MAJORITY SUPPORT

Of the 2,200 delegates expected to attend the convention Saturday and Sunday, almost 1,700, including the 203 from Oakland County, have announced their support of the two-term leader.

A total of 1,117 votes are needed for election.

In January, Ferency, bowing to the wishes of some party leaders, announced that he had decided not to seek another term.

It was explained that it would be best for the party if new faces were introduced so that the organization could be built over the Democratic defeat in November.

DEFEATED

Ferency himself was badly defeated in his bid for the governor's office.

This loss may have placed Ferency in the position of being a "martyr for the party," and deserving of reelection as state chairman, said one Democrat.

"Maybe we feel we owe him something," said one Democrat explaining the movement to draft Ferency after he had withdrawn from the race.

Some observers say that if Ferency is reelected, he may not stay in office for the full two years, but only until the reorganization is completed and the party is out of debt.

An attorney, Ferency then would probably return to his private law practice.

Union Pickets the Elks Temple

Local 794 of the Hotel, Restaurant and Bartenders International Union had about 15 pickets at the Pontiac Elks Temple last night where Gov. Romney spoke at the Lincoln Day dinner.

Robert W. Teays, financial secretary of the local, said the picketing was a protest demonstration of employment policies at the Temple and had nothing to do with the governor's appearance.

According to Teays, the Temple hires seasonal moonlighters as bartenders, waitresses and kitchen help to do with the governor's appearance.

This practice of paying low wages and not having enough help is unfair to competition, Teays said.

Picketing will continue today, according to Teays.

Bird-Ringing Big in Britain

Total Identified Tops the Half-Million Mark

By Science Service
OXFORD, England—For the first time the annual total of birds ringed for identification by British ornithologists has passed the half-million mark. The number ringed since the scheme started in 1909 is now 4,674,997. These facts are given by Robert Spencer, ringing officer of the British Trust for Ornithology, in his report on ringing for 1965.

Spencer says 1965 was "in every way a vintage year." The report indicates an encouraging increase in the number of sparrows, kestrels and some owls. The figure of 35 nestling sparrows ringed was the highest for any year since 1950.

Spencer writes: "One dares to hope that these are early indications of a reduced contamination of the food-chain by toxic chemicals." LARGEST NUMBER The year's figures for trappings are dominated by 66,811 sand martins, the largest number of any one species to be caught in one year. The catching of 19 collared doves, which have made a spectacular spread across Europe to Britain in the last generation, is more than double the previous total. If the rate of expansion continues, this species will become a pest within a decade.

Kosher Hotelman Found Innocent

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—After a two-year fight to prove that he was serving kosher food to his guests, Miami Beach hotelman Terry Spender won vindication in City Court. Judge Eugene Weiss declared Spender innocent of a charge that he kept nonkosher products on the premises of the Granada Hotel.

Sinatra Go Separate Ways —But Only on Show Biz Trips

By EARL WILSON
NEW YORK — Mia Farrow, who wasn't antipathetic despite all those printed rumors, is in London to begin her first starring movie, "A Dandy in Aspic"—just as Frank Sinatra's opening two-week engagement at the Miami Beach Fontainebleau. It'll be the first real separation since their marriage. But Frank'll join her in England when able to do so. All is happiness. When Mia arrived here from Hollywood en route to London, she went to Arthur and, during the next few hours, phoned Frank in Palm Springs several times.

I hate to be a blabbermouth but I must report that socialite Spencer Martin, the fiancé of Buff Cobb, questioned a $300 tab he got at El Morocco, the other night after entertaining several friends... and got clipped by a man who objected to his comments. They'd come from an Orrin Lehman party, and they were mostly VIPs.

The dispute, which concerned cover charges and liquor-by-the-bottle charges, erupted while Martin was sitting down, he told friends later. He said he was cut in the mouth by a ring, and he appeared to be bleeding. As he did not hit back, it ended there. It's the first fistfight in El Morocco in years. Errol Flynn and Humphrey Bogart used to say they wouldn't think of having a fight anywhere else.

P.S.: The captain who threw the punch isn't there any more.

"Black Comedy," Alexander Cohen's farce about people stumbling and bumping into each other when a fuse blows, is a big hit. I think: Bravo to Geraldine Page, Lynn Redgrave and Michael Crawford, a young man who takes such falls he may not live through the show.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL
Alan Alda's being summoned to Hollywood to do a movie—and Hal Holbrook will replace him in "The Apple Tree" for four months... Florence Henderson makes her New York cab debut (as a single) at the Waldorf Empire Room Feb. 28.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: George Schindler says he hates it when the waiter brings his dessert: "It's always so close to the check."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Things are moving so fast that people are starting to look back on 1966 as the good old days.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "Peace is like a beautiful woman—wonderful, but bears watching."—Will Rogers

EARL'S PEARLS: Have you noticed that doctors scribble prescriptions—but type out your bills very neatly? Lynn Lichy of "Sick" magazine tells of the guy who crossed a railroad sign with a topless bathing suit: "I don't know what he got—but everybody stops and looks." That's earl, brother. Mao Trying to Provoke Russia Into Break--Pravda

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda accused Mho Tse-tung today of planning new attempts to provide a break in Soviet-Chinese relations, while more a n t i - Soviet pronouncements were reported from Peking.

On Formosa, Nationalist China's official Central News Agency said armed clashes between forces for and against Mao have spread from Tibet throughout the adjoining province of Szechwan, in southwest China. It said that the fighting had prevented supplies from reaching Maoists in Tibet and that clashes in Lhasa, the capital previously reported under anti-Maoist control, were nearing a climax.

A pro-Nationalist Chinese newspaper in Hong Kong said part of Kwangsi Province bordering on North Vietnam has been taken over by anti-Maoists but Mao's supporters have the upper hand in some big cities. Clashes were reported in Wuchow, a Kwangsi city of more than 200,000.

Except during actual war, the Soviet Communist newspaper said in a 4,000-word article, U.S. imperialism.

"never before has such a fierce campaign been conducted" against the Soviet Union. It said relations with China were likely to get worse.

APPEAL TO FOES

In an implied appeal to Mao's Chinese opponents, Pravda said Peking still had the chance to restore friendly ties with Moscow and rejoin "the ranks of the Socialist community." The Soviet people "want precisely this prospect to emerge victorious and want the Chinese People's Republic to advance along this correct road," the newspaper said.

On the national level, he served as chairman of the highway task force for President Johnson's natural beauty program, has been a conservation consultant to Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall, and was chairman of a panel on scenic roads and parkways at the May 1965 White House Conference on Natural Beauty.

The panel suggested that after 1972, when the national system of interstate highways is completed, "a major portion of the highway trust fund should be used to fund scenic highways, parkways and recreation roads."

Californian to Seek Beautiful Highways

WASHINGTON (AP) — beautification laws, including establishment of California's first scenic highway system and the Big Surf highway that stretches 80 miles south along the Pacific Coast from Carmel to the San Luis Obispo County line.

The appointment is expected to be announced this afternoon at a White House gathering of 300 leaders of conservation organizations.

It is the first time there has been such a full-time post in the highway administration.

Farr, 56, will serve as adviser to the federal highway administrator, Lowell K. Bridwell, under the new Department of Transportation.

EYE FOR BEAUTY

It will be Farr's job to keep an eye for beauty on far-flung federal highway operations, ranging from right-of-way acquisition and road engineering to maintenance and legislation.

Burly, graying and soft-spoken, Farr built a statewide reputation with his conservation legislation. He has been a leader and promoter of preserving the redwood forests of north California and promoted federal legislation to create a national redwood park.

Now a resident of Carmel, Calif., and a widower with two children, Farr plans to live in Washington.

The appointment indicates new emphasis on highway beautification by the administration. A Democrat who served 12 years in the California Legislature, Farr was defeated in 1966 after reapportionment of the Senate.

During his legislative career, Farr authored a number of

Hanoi: Talks Hinge on Bombing Halt

TOKYO (AP) — Hanoi indicated today it is still ready to talk peace with the United States "as soon as the government of (North) Vietnam declared that the two sides could have a talk after the U.S. had stopped its bombings of North Vietnam."

An article in the North Vietnamese official newspaper Nhan Dan also hinted that Hanoi might have gone to the peace table if the United States had not resumed bombing after the lunar new year.

Nhan Dan said the United States "immediately changed its language" about peace talks "as soon as the government of (North) Vietnam declared that the two sides could have a talk after the U.S. had stopped its bombings of North Vietnam."

But Nhan Dan made clear Hanoi considers the door still open, saying: "We demand that before any talk could be started the U.S. government must put an immediate end to this act (the bombing)."

The article spoke only of ending the bombing and did not use the usual North Vietnamese formula of ending "the bombing raids and all other acts of war" against the North. But this phraseology was used earlier today in a statement by the North Vietnamese Foreign Ministry and Nhan Dan also said: "Nobody can sit at the conference table with the U.S. aggressors when they continue their acts of war against the country."

'STEPPED UP'

The United States said it resumed bombing after the lunar new year pause because the North Vietnamese during the truce had stepped up their supply convoys to the south.

It extended the bombing pause 40 hours after ground operations resumed in hopes British Prime Minister Harold Wilson's talks in London with Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin would produce some response to the American demand that the North Vietnamese reduce their participation in the war.

The Japanese government called on the Soviet Union today to take "more constructive actions" toward a peaceful settlement in Vietnam and expressed hope that the Soviet and Japanese governments would "actively" cooperate in search of peace.

A foreign ministry statement challenged the Soviet charge Jan. 27 that Japan was acting against a peaceful settlement of the Vietnam conflict.

PUBLIC OPINION

The statement from North Vietnam's foreign ministry said public opinion demands that the United States respond to the Vietcong's proclamation of a seven-day lunar new year truce and that the United States "definitively and unconditionally" end its bombing of North Vietnam.

The ministry said it regarded the brief U.S. pause in the bombing as "a U.S. ultimatum insolently requiring the Vietnamese people to accept negotiations under U.S. terms."

Romney's Talk in City Urges Tax Reform Support, Unity

By JIM LONG
Gov. George Romney, speaking at a Lincoln Day dinner in Pontiac last night, urged Republicans to support his program for tax reform and to promote party unity.

The governor outlined his proposals for new sources of income to more than 800 persons attending the annual event at the Elks Temple.

Michigan faces a financial crisis, said Romney, unless his program, which he termed "sound, reasonable and fair," is carried out.

He emphasized, however, that it is not a "sacred program."

"As your governor, I am willing to talk, I am willing to amend, I am willing change details of the plan."

TAX PACKAGE

The tax package would bring in $235 million in new revenue annually, and is based on a 2½ per cent income tax to individuals, 5 per cent on business, and 8 per cent on financial institutions, all coupled with tax relief to property owners and the repeal of business activities tax.

While open to any suggestions, Romney said there were two things he would not do.

"First, I will not sign any budget measure for next year until I am certain that revenues will cover expenditures."

"We are not going to spend more in Michigan than we are willing to pay for."

"Second: I will not settle for tax action that does not produce tax reform."

Romney said there are alternatives to tax reform, but these would involve "slashing state aid to education and other essential services that people need."

13 U.S. Copters, 385 Cong Dead Hike Toll in War's Bloodiest Week

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — Enemy allied tolls continue to mount in the Vietnam War's bloodiest week with 13 U.S. helicopters reported downed yesterday and 385 more Communists reported killed today.

Four American crewmen were killed and eight wounded in the downing of the U.S. helicopters.

Ten of the UH1 helicopters were shot down as they shuttled more than 3,000 South Vietnamese troops in to reinforce two ranger companies in a raging Mekong Delta battle 110 miles southwest of Saigon.

The spokesman said nine of the helicopters were downed by enemy automatic weapons as they sailed into the landing zone.

The 10th chopper was evacuating wounded. Two American crewmen were killed and seven were wounded.

FIVE REPAIRED

A U.S. spokesman said only one of the 10 choppers was destroyed. Five were repaired and flown out and the other four were recovered.

Two more helicopters were lost near the Cambodian border in fighting which saw two companies of the U.S. 4th Division take the lives of 74 enemy soldiers while suffering light casualties in return.

One crewman was killed and a second was wounded when a UH1B crashed. The craft was severely damaged.

At the same time and in the same area an OH23G chopper on its way to evacuate wounded was shot down but there were no casualties.

The 13th chopper was a Marine H34 which was hit by enemy bullets while on a supply mission 14 miles south of Da Nang. One crewman was killed.

Man of Year Choice Is Pontiac Attorney

Pontiac attorney George A. Googasan was named outstanding man of the year at last night's Pontiac Area Junior Chamber of Commerce annual Bosses' Night banquet.

Robert R. Eldred, executive vice president of Community National Bank was named boss of the year. John J. Rhoades, owner of Rhoades Machine Works Inc., Berkley, received the Jaycees' key man award.

A record crowd of 161 Jaycees, their bosses and guests heard J. L. Hudson Jr., president of the J. L. Hudson Co. discuss "Planning at Hudson's" after the dinner at Devon Gables.

Googasan, winner of the distinguished service award, has been active in community affairs.

James H. Gallagher Jr., Jaycee internal vice president who presented the award, described Googasan as "one who tries to get all involved in the community."

DEM CHAIRMAN

Googasan, 30, is chairman of the Democratic party of Oakland County and a Big Brothers of Oakland County board member. He was an assistant U.S. attorney and served as a member of the 19th Congressional District's executive committee.

Eldred is chairman of the Pontiac Financial Study Committee. He is also president of the lay advisory board of St. Joseph Mercy Hospital and co-chairman of the public phase of the hospital's building fund campaign.

He is a past Chamber of Commerce president and a former United Fund general campaign chairman.

John J. Rhoades, named key man of the Jaycees, has been a club member for three years. He is a program director and a board member.

DISCUSSES STORE

Hudson discussed the new Pontiac Mall full-line store to be opened next summer.

Growth of the area has been planned for in the form of a third floor which only needs a roof, Hudson explained. Merit awards for supporting Jaycee activities during the year were received by The Pontiac Press, Coca-Cola Bottling Co., Chevrolet Motor Division, and the Community National Bank. The City Commission received a certificate indicating the Jaycee's support of its work.

Hearing Slated in Killing of Boy

David Johnson, charged with the fatal shooting yesterday of a 14-year-old schoolmate, is in custody at the Oakland County juvenile detention center pending a hearing March 2 before Juvenile Court Judge Norman Barnard.

Johnson, 14, surrendered at the Pontiac police station minutes after Robert Barker was fatally shot about 8:15 a.m. in the front yard of the Barker home at 93 N. Shirley.

Police said they took a four-barrel, 2-caliber derringer from Johnson. The gun reportedly was taken from Johnson's father's gun collection.

TOLD TO STAY HOME

She had instructed him to stay home from school, investigators said.

Master Plan Tells Future Growth of OU

By PAT McCARTY
Development of campus clusters is proposed as the future growth pattern of Oakland University in a master plan unveiled today.

A master site plan for the 1,600-acre campus was to be presented this morning to the university's governing body, the Michigan State University Board of Trustees.

Not one sprawling "multiversity"—but a grouping of smaller, compact units—is envisioned for OU as it grows beyond 15,000 students with the next decade.

Of more immediate importance is a proposed system of ring roads, one circling the campus and two others designed for internal traffic movement.

PARALLEL BOULEVARD

A two-lane road roughly would parallel the boulevard within the campus. Other roads connecting segments of the campus would include a major divided boulevard winding from midway between Squirrel and Adams to Crooks on the east.

In Gov. Romney's budget recommendations now before the Legislature is a $300,000 appropriation to build one lane of one leg of this boulevard and another artery running west to Squirrel.

OU Chancellor D. B. Varner noted the Oakland County Road Commission currently has no plans to improve the roads on the perimeter of the campus.

He said the number of cars traveling to and from OU daily now is approximately as large as the student enrollment of 2,971 and is expected to increase on the same ratio.

'A MONSTER'

"Traffic is going to be a monster that will devour us one of these days soon," he said.

Parking is another consideration. Among the lots proposed is a 5,000-space area just south of the present campus.

The projected enrollment for OU's 20th year of operation, 1979, is 20,000.

The present campus on the northwest quadrant of the OU site rapidly is being built up to accommodate 15,000 students. When this capacity is reached, planners recommend creation of a second academic and housing area on the south end of the site.

Baby Sitting Game

DEAR POLLY—I am a 16-year-old baby sitter. My Pointer is for others who baby-sit with children from the ages of 4 to 12. I found that a game keeps them well-occupied so find it worth-while to buy two games, one for girls and one for boys. Playing a new game keeps the children right in sight rather than in 20 different directions.

Since those white specks have been tinted blue and brown, rose and green applied to other worn places, the rugs look almost new again. Six months have passed and these colored threads remain the same.

DEAR POLLY—My large mirror with a gold-finished frame has become quite old and dull-looking. I am wondering if someone can tell me how to restore this frame so it will be bright and new-looking again.—MRS. R. T.

DEAR POLLY—When I could not find my suede shoe brush I discovered that one of my teen-age daughter's sponge hair curlers was a wonderful substitute. Just remove the plastic center, rub the sponge curler over the soiled areas of the shoes and the nap comes up beautifully.

DEAR POLLY—Do tell Mrs. E. H. to rub the bottom and top edges of her "sticky" desk drawers with an old candle and they will slide in and out with in the deep blue background ease. Use plenty.—ANNA

And they probably all act the same, right?
So how in the world do we get off telling you you'll know which one is Soft Whiskey?
Well, it just so happens they don't all taste the same going down. And that's where Soft Whiskey is soft.
Down the old hatch.
But remember, we said soft. Not weak.

And although Soft Whiskey may mix up into one delightfully smooth Manhattan, Whiskey Sour, Highball or what-have-you, that's still whiskey you're pouring.
It's 86 proof. And it does what any other 86 proof whiskey can do.
