Senate Racket Group Won't Call Governor as Witness

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Mennen Company, from whose products Michigan Gov. G. Mennen Williams got his nickname "Soapy," comes up for quizzing today before the Senate Rackets Committee.

But Gov. Williams, a director and stockholder of the firm, will not be called as a witness in the checkup on Mennen's relationship with big-time labor consultant Nathan Shefferman.

Committee Counsel Robert Kennedy said: "There is no reason to call Gov. Williams any more than there is to call in all of the stockholders."

The committee will question instead President George Mennen.

The Senate investigators have been hearing testimony on anti-union activities by concerns which bought advice from Shefferman's labor relations associates organization.

LANSING (U) — Gov. Williams planned to leave by airplane late today for formal opening of the Mackinac Straits Bridge.

New Pontiacs, GMC Trucks Highlight 'Salute to Industry'

A long 29-car-truck caravan of new Pontiacs and GMC trucks will be a highlight of the Nov. 9 introduction of the new model when the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce gives its "Salute to Industry."

Persons will get an on-the-scenes peek at the all-new Pontiacs and General Motors trucks during displays in downtown Pontiac, at the Michigan Miracle Mile Shopping Center, and at Tel-Huron Shopping Center.

Included on six of the 12 trucks will be displays of local industries. They will be Universal Oil Seal, American Forge & Socket, Dostal Foundry, Baldwin Rubber Co., Superior Metal Products Manufacturing Co. and the Jig Bushing Co.

During shows at all three areas, a special Dixieland combo will tout its introduction to the new car and trucks. Local singers Pat Morris and Gunnar Ryden will sing with the group.

Included in the caravan will be 16 new Pontiacs, representing all styles; 12 new GMC trucks, including two with the air suspension system; and a new house trailer from the Hutchinson Trailer Sales, 4301 Dixie Hwy.

The new cars will be driven by members of the General Motors Girls Club.

The displays will be on West Huron between Saginaw and Wayne from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. Then the caravan will move to the Miracle Mile, where it will be from noon until 1:30 p.m. From there it will go to Tel-Huron, staying there from 2 to 3 p.m.

The caravan will highlight the introduction of the new cars and trucks and honor the part that this industry and all other similar industries play in the growth of the Pontiac area," said John W. Hirlinger, manager of the Chamber.

The activities are being arranged by the Industrial Affairs Committee of the Chamber. Chairman is L. Clare Uley.

LONDON (INS) — Russia reportedly will launch a second and larger earth satellite on Nov. 7 to mark the 40th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution.

Prizes will be given based on drawings from tickets submitted by some 24,000 students in the city public school system. Prizes for staying home range from a bicycle to silver dollars.

UF Drive Off to Good Start

Special Gifts Division Reports Early Calls Hit 67 Per Cent

Advance reports from the Special Gifts solicitors indicate this year's Pontiac Area United Fund drive is off to a promising start.

Already $50,614 or 67.7 per cent of the Special Gift Division's goal of $74,724 has been collected. The Advance torchlighters, under the chairmanship of Howard Huttenlocher, have been calling on over 300 firms and individuals in the Pontiac and Waterford Township area since Sept. 26.

"We hope to surpass our division quota by next Monday's kick-off breakfast," stated Huttenlocher.

He added that the torchlighter group captained by Ray Storm, manager of the local Michigan Bell Telephone office, was the first of his division's 11 groups to go over the top with 102.2 per cent of its quota already in. Storm's group is closely followed by Berkeley Voss' which has collected 93.7 per cent of its quota.

Poet Sandburg Thinks 'Sputnik' Is a Good Word

CHICAGO (INS) — Poet Carl Sandburg says "Sputnik" is a good word.

Sandburg, speaking before the Headline Club, Chicago professional chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, journalism fraternity, said: "Outside of all the military and war implications of Sputnik, there is something else about it—the fact that it has captured man's desire to know."

"We are just beginning to know space. There's something healthy about Sputnik—it has shown us that we don't have a heaven-chosen aristocracy of scientists over here."

Sandburg called television announcers who deliver commercials "lice—the plural of louse." He said pay-TV might be beneficial because it would eliminate commercials.

16 Models Available in Division's 4 Lines

New Air Ride Suspension, Fuel Injection Optional for Entire Series

By JOHN W. FITZGERALD
Editor, Pontiac Press

Pontiac's exciting new lines of 1958 cars offer completely revamped styling, plus many additional engineering features. The cars will go on display to the public Nov. 9.

In the words of S. E. Knudsen, GM vice president and general manager of Pontiac Motor Division, the cars are "the boldest advance in 50 years."

The 16 all-new models in four series will be headed by the "dream car" known as the Bonneville. This sports type car will be offered in both the convertible and the sport coupe.

Since the first Oakland in 1908, Pontiac has made tremendous strides. "Outside of wheels and an engine, there is no resemblance to the sleek '58 Pontiacs which will be lower, longer, wider and combine high performance with comfort and luxurious interiors," Knudsen said.

Three innovations with Pontiac this year are:
1.—A convertible in the lowest priced Chief line;
2.—Air ride suspension optional on all cars.
3.—Fuel injection available on all cars.

In addition to the five-passenger Bonneville convertible and the sport Coupe, Pontiac has for 1958 the Star Chief series consisting of two and four-door Catalinas, a four-door sedan with slim center pillars, and a custom Safari station wagon.

The Super Chief line includes a two and four-door Catalina and a slim pillar, four-door sedan. The Chief line series is led by the convertible, new in this line; two and four-door Catalinas, two and four-door slim pillar sedans and a two-seat and a three-seat, four-door station wagon.

Engineering-wise, Pontiac has come up with one of the hottest engines in the industry. The new "Tempest 395" V-8 engine is bigger than ever, with displacement increased from 347 to 370 cubic inches, and designed to deliver power where most needed—in the traffic range.

Pontiac engineers list 88 new features in the 1958 models and 135 separate safety features.

Striking "New Director" styling accentuates the car's longer, lower, wider look. The low, horizontal grille is topped by dual twin head lamps and rises above the heavy bumper, which incorporates massive parking and signal lamps. A new gold, rectangular crest featuring a ride atop each front fender with twin wind-splitters continuing along the fender.

The missile-type side mouldings sweep back to concave flares in the rear fender and frame distinctive series markings. The Bonneville has, in addition, four simulated front fender louvers.

Man May Begin to Answer This Question Soon

Are There People Like Us in Outer Space?

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

NEW YORK (U) — Are we the only humans living in this incomprehensibly vast universe of ours?

Or are there people like us, or even superior, on other planets near or far away?

Only by exploring space can man begin to answer this question nagging him nearly since his time began.

"We are not alone," declares Dr. Harlow Shapley, famous Harvard astronomer.

He estimates there could be 100 million planets capable of supporting life as we know it.

There are billions upon billions of stars or suns in the universe. Even supposing that most have no planets at all, there still could be 100 million planets situated at the right distance from a sun, possessing oxygen and all other conditions for our kind of life, Dr. Shapley reasons.

Very likely, human astronauts will never be able to visit much more than the other planets of our Sun—Mars, Venus, Jupiter, Saturn and others.

These could be reached in days, weeks or years, depending on top speeds which space cruisers traveled.

By picking up enough speed once they were in outer space, cruisers might reach any of our planets within days.

Then men could learn whether there is life, even fantastically different forms of life, on these planets—some arid, some terribly hot or cold, some bathed in poisonous fumes.

What is the meaning of Mars' "canals," of Jupiter's strange markings? Are the asteroids, the belt of flying chunks of matter between Jupiter and Mars, really the remains of an exploded planet?

But reaching even the nearest star, to see if it has planets at all seems impossible beyond man's dreams. (Continued on Page 22, Col. 1)

Japan Rests in Girard Case

Asks 5 Years in Prison; Defense to Make Final Plea November 5

MAEBAASHI, Japan — The prosecution rested its case against GI William S. Girard today and asked a Japanese court to sentence him to prison for five years. The 22-year-old Illinois soldier's lawyers will make their final plea Nov. 5. A verdict is expected by Nov. 20.

Girard is on trial for the fatal shooting of Mrs. Naka Sakai, a Japanese scavenger for scrap brass, on a military firing range last Jan. 30. He is charged with inflicting "bodily injury resulting in death," the equivalent of manslaughter. The maximum penalty is 15 years.

There has been considerable speculation that presiding Judge Yuzo Kawachi, if he convicted the soldier, would suspend sentence and allow him to return to the United States with the Japanese girl he married last summer.

Suspension of sentences of up to three years are usual in Japan for first offenders or where the prosecution case is weak.

Summing up, Associate Prosecutor Kakuchi Sugimoto conceded that Girard did not intend to kill Mrs. Sakai when he fired a blank shell from his grenade launcher while guarding equipment on the firing range.

But Sugimoto asserted Girard "had at least the intention to hit a part of her body, half for a joke," and therefore he should bear the responsibility of her death.

Sugimoto also claimed the GI has never reported the killing, an important factor in Oriental justice regardless of blame.

GM Adds 10 Big Stars to Anniversary Show

DETROIT (INS) — General Motors said today 10 additional stars of stage, screen and television have been added to the cast of its two-hour "Golden Milestone" television show Nov. 17.

GM said the newest stars in the cast of over 100 are June Allyson, Doretha Morrow, Dean Martin, Chita Rivera, Bambi Lynn, Howard Keel, Hans Conrard, Peg Lynch, Carol Burnett and Steve Lawrence.

The colorcast will launch the company's observance of its 50th anniversary.

What are the official flag and pennant warnings for threatening weather used by the Weather Bureau?

A red pennant means moderately strong winds expected. A red pennant above a square red flag with black center means storm expected from the northeast. A red pennant below the same square flag means southeast storm expected.

A white pennant below the same square flag indicates imminence of a storm with initial winds from the southwest. The white pennant above the same flag means northwest storm is expected.

The most ominous of all the warnings is the two square flags, red with black centers, which indicate the approach of a hurricane. At night the warning is two red lanterns with a white lantern in between.

Supervisors to Send Table Election Until Court Rules

Supervisors Put Off Proposed Vote to Free Courthouse Funds

A proposal that a special election be called to free funds for a new courthouse was tabled by Oakland County Supervisors yesterday until a decision by the State Supreme Court.

The funds, amounting now to a little over $1,000,000, were tied up by a circuit court decision this summer. Under a decree issued by Circuit Judge Herman DeMeke, the county must put the $1,000,000 back into the general fund and apply it towards the 1938 budget.

The county's appeal of this decision may be heard by the State Supreme Court in early spring.

Supervisors yesterday approved final plans for the first $2,500,000 to $3,000,000 portion of the proposed $5,000,000 courthouse. The plans were placed on file with the board of auditors.

The election was proposed recently by the Oakland County Taxpayers League, which brought the suit that led to this summer's legal ruling against the county.

The League also wants the site of the future courthouse voted on. The county wants the building in the Telegraph road service center.

The League has opposed this, preferring the downtown Pontiac site of the present courthouse.

Supervisors yesterday approved plans submitted by the Oakland County Society for Crippled Children for an administration building on a service center site located near the county. The present headquarters is at 132 W. Lawrence St.

A proposal that space in the Tuberculosis Sanatorium be made available for care of the mentally ill was referred to the Welfare Committee. The county has been studying how to use an empty 100-bed wing at the sanatorium.

Madison Heights asked for possible legislative changes that would allow the city to receive some of the moneys from the Hazel Park Race Track. Hazel Park is compensated financially for the track, but Madison Heights, which also suffers from traffic and drain problems due to the track, is not compensated, the city pointed out.

tices will be immediately recognizable by dual twin tail lamps above oval, chromed, back-up lamp ports, and the simply styled trunk lid bears chrome handles on each side of the superbly fashioned name plate.

A striking array of brand new color schemes will be available for all models. All told, there will be 21 solid colors and 56 recommended two-tone paint combinations. Some will be in the new acrylic lacquers, while interiors are color matched in fabric and leather.

In order to achieve this year's new modern look, the overall dimensions have been vastly changed. On the 132-inch and 134-inch wheel bases, the cars this year are as much as 4.5 inches wider and as much as 3.7 inches longer.

The passenger leg room has been increased by 4.5 inches with ample head room being retained. Also, enlarged this year is the luggage space.

A new sculptured instrument panel has key instruments grouped before the driver for quick, safe reading through the deeply recessed, two spoke steering wheel. A non-glare instrument panel paint protects against glare.

Pontiac's fuel injection, introduced last year, has been improved and tailored for the new, bigger engine. Super Hydra-Matic transmission, power brakes, power steering, power-operated windows, four-way power seat with a new "memo-matic" control device, which returns it to a pre-selected setting, are other extras.

Others are a new "safeguard" speedometer, which buzzes when a set speed is exceeded; a new "safe-T-track" differential, which eliminates rear wheel slip; a new split front seat back lock to prevent seat tilt on sudden stops; a new door lock-warning lamp, and a new combination car and portable transistorized radio.

Notable, too, is the availability of radio rear seat speakers on convertibles as well as station wagons, a special decor option on Chieftain models and a new adjustable inside sun visor.

Clearly identified accessory controls are conveniently arranged on the instrument panel within easy reach.

This smart new design, plus the engineering advances, represents Mr. Knudsen's first full year as General Manager of the Pontiac Motor Division.

In Mr. Knudsen's own words, this is the product with which he is shooting for fifth place in the automotive industry.

Treasury Officials View Future Plan to Obey Debt Limit

WASHINGTON (AP)—Treasury officials said today that, barring some unforeseen emergency—national or international—they have every hope and intention of staying within the 275-billion dollar limit on the national debt.

And they emphasized they don't expect any congressional drive for increased defense spending to alter that plan.

The Treasury's problem is seeing that the spending doesn't dig too deeply into its four-billion-dollar cash reserve, require more borrowing, and force the debt up to the limit.

Martin, named in the June 1 stabbing of a West Bloomfield Township man, Joseph Compeau, 27, in Waterford Township's Cooley Lake road dump, pleaded self-defense during his trial before Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty.

Martin claimed the victim lunged at him with a lead pipe when they quarreled while searching the dump for scrap.

Fleeing Bookkeeper Grounded by Boss

NEW YORK (AP)—A bus line executive met his bookkeeper at Newark, N. J., airport yesterday, with both holding tickets for the same flight to Miami. The chance meeting resulted in the bookkeeper being arrested on a grand larceny charge.

Police gave this account: Sidney Engelhardt, president of Gray Line Bus Tours, Inc., discovered a $6,000 shortage when his bookkeeper for three years, Raymond Farrell, 33, of Brooklyn, failed to report to work last Monday.

Engelhardt notified police but went ahead with plans for a Florida vacation.

When he met Farrell boarding a plane Engelhardt called airport police.

Ghana Expects Outlet for Leopard Skin in U.S.

ACCRA, Ghana — A lively export trade in leopard skins is visualized in Ghana as a result of an initial order from United States fashion designer, Adele Simpson.

One hundred skins were shipped to Mrs. Simpson for use in her collection this year. The leopard species native to Ghana is slightly smaller than the Somali leopard and with rounder, more closely spaced markings.

The order was one of the first of the new democracy's trade enterprises and the first to the United States. They are being used for cardigan sweaters, jackets, travel coats and fur collars.

Sentenced to 3 Years for Shoplifting Stove

MANCHESTER, England — Mrs. Della Savage, 58, was sentenced to three years yesterday for shoplifting a stove.

A store detective said he arrested her as she staggered out the door with a stove, a large electrical model, in her arms.

Surplus of Hotel Beds

SALZBURG — The tourist trade of Salzburg, Austria, has been growing in recent years but hotel accommodations are growing faster and some hotels now are operating at a loss.

This unusual situation has been brought about, civic leaders say, by the release of three hotels and part of a fourth by the United States occupation forces and the construction of three new first-class hotels.

The problem will become more acute within the next few months, when the new 300-bed Europa is completed.

To cope with this condition, Salzburg hopes to expand its tourist season by promoting the "Musical Spring" concerts and booking more conventions.

Predict Big Year

NEW YORK — Sales of photocopy and dye chemical copy machines are expected to exceed $150,000,000 this year compared with $133,000,000 in 1956 and $80,000,000 in 1952.

Don't Plan on Traveling to Stars in Near Future

Sputnik's international spotlight and private hall of fame have raised other interesting questions.

Many people have wondered and even asked how long before we can dispatch something that will reach the moon?

How about Venus and Mars?
Are they fair targets?

Our scientists say that if the Reds could aim Sputnik at the moon and hold him on his dazling course, he'd reach his target in 13 hours. That's a short space of time.

In fact, several have forecast that someone will reach the moon within two years and possibly in one. This doesn't presuppose a return trip, but the incredible men of today may find a way to broadcast back to this planet through some inter-stellar system of communications. And even if our projectile couldn't interview those theoretical "little brown men," it might pass back some startling findings.

Venus and Mars are different.

If you're speculating on capturing the pancake market on Mars or the driving range concessions on Venus, just forget it.

There are two reasons for believing that the atmosphere and living conditions on these two planets are more closely allied with ours than any other terrestrial body.

However, consider further.

If faithful and dependable old "Sputny" were aimed at Venus or Mars, when they reach their closest point to this mundane sphere of ours, and the Russian ball of fire maintained his current rate of speed, he couldn't reach either in less than two years.

It isn't quite like borrowing a cup of sugar from the Joneses next door. And to continue, the next nearest star could only be reached by that laggard Sputnik in 140,000 years. (Yes, 140,000 years.)

Furthermore, these last two inter-planetary "dolls" are traveling so fast that if old Sputny missed them, he'd be a gone goose. They travel four or five times faster than he does and he could never "catch up." How would you like to be aboard "Sputny" when this happened?

Give up?

Allen Replaces Larson as USIA Office Head

A career diplomat, GEORGE V. ALLEN, will replace ARTHUR LARSON as director of the United States Information Agency.

Prior to his appointment a year ago Mr. LARSON, dean of a law school and former Undersecretary of Labor, had written President EISENHOWER's nomination acceptance speech and some of his campaign speeches. He also is the author of a book called "A Republican Looks at His Party" which praised "modern" and "new Republicanism."

However, when it came to what his job demanded — strict non-partisanship — Mr. Larson was not so successful. In far off Hawaii he made a political talk charging that the Democratic party had been "in the grip of an alien ideology."

So when it was time for Mr. LARSON to go before the Democratic controlled Congress for USIA funds, his proposed budget was slashed 33 per cent, giving the agency $13 million less than last year. The Democratic reprisal was unwise but to be expected.

Nonetheless Mr. LARSON did a creditable job in his post. He now has been made a special White House aide in charge of projects relating to U. S. information programs and Soviet propaganda efforts and will collaborate with Mr. ALLEN.

The new director, GEORGE V. ALLEN is not likely to make any political mistakes. At the present time he is Ambassador to Greece and has long been a diplomatic trouble shooter. At one time he was assistant to the Secretary of State in charge of the Voice of America. All this valuable experience makes him admirably suited for his new post. Then, too, he has the reputation of being able to get along with Congressmen.

The Man About Town Getting Together Oxford Appears to Have a Good Solution to Problem

Spook: What's in good form tonight.

An invitation drifts in for that rural town biggest get together event of the year in Oakland County. It's the annual Farmers-Rotary Banquet at Oxford. I have word direct from

Ralph Curtis,

its secretary, that it will be held at seven o'clock on Nov. 5 at the Daniel Oxford school. Oxford has formed a habit of maintaining cordial relations between the town and rural people of its area that other villages and cities might do well to emulate.

Incidentally, Oxford's main street has undergone a face lifting among its business fronts the past year that bears definite evidence of plenty of good will, good business and pull-together. They know how to engender it and make it bring lasting and extremely satisfactory results.

The local army draft boards are asked to send only 15 men as their November quota. The city board sends eight and the out-county board sends seven. The induction date for both is Nov. 5.

Since Sputnik has been blamed for most everything else,

Terry Smithfield of Waterford phones to ask if it cannot be accused of the unusual fogs on high ground, rather than in the low places.

With an estimated pie content nearing the hundred mark,

Arnold Boothby of Auburn Heights has raised a pumpkin that weighs 55 pounds. He has a Halloween guard on it.

Modern merchandising finds some of our local markets selling jugs of sweet cider with a bag of doughnuts attached.

With double out-of-season blessings, Mrs. Scott E. Douglas of 429 Alberta Ave., has both forsythia and crocus in bloom.

Muskies around the shore of Pontiac Lake, according to Jerry Fellows, are quite careless in building their houses, which he says indicates a mild winter.

This column is one hundred per cent plus behind the suggestion of

Harold Orton of Drayton Plains that it never have any other name than "Mackinac Bridge."

Since he's had his day (perhaps too many of them) and now nobody laughs at his jokes but himself,

Charles (Chuck) Zelaney says that the outmoded humorist, Bing Crosby, finds it necessary to pull a new one—an elopement.

"Tighten My Belt? — What Belt?"

David Lawrence Says:

Dulles - British Relations Excellent

WASHINGTON — John Foster Dulles, secretary of state, is getting along very well with the British. This is meaningful news.

For whenever he doesn't get along very well with any foreign government, the number of inspired criticisms on this side of the water, implying that the secretary of state ought to resign, begins to multiply.

There are, of course, Democratic Party politicians who keep issuing statements for partisan reasons in the hope of bringing about the elimination of Secretary Dulles from the scene.

But actually this unwittingly serves the purposes of the Kremlin very well. For it keeps the free world leaders apart and exaggerates their normal differences of opinion in handling complex questions of world policy.

They reason abroad that, if the secretary of state is to be changed, it may be better to wait and see what his successor may propose.

Two weeks ago Secretary Dulles and British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd had a long conference here that lasted most of the day. The two men made such excellent progress that they decided perhaps the time was ripe for a meeting between Prime Minister Macmillan and President Eisenhower. This was the way the meeting of the two heads of government arose.

The conference between Selwyn Lloyd and Secretary Dulles was an unspectacular affair and the kind of thing that doesn't get much publicity. But word came afterwards from British sources that the two men had gotten along very well indeed.

Yet not so long ago there was a barrage of dispatches and comments from Americans abroad that the British "don't trust Dulles."

Some of this, of course, is an overhang from hurt pride in the Suez crisis. Some of it stems from the so-called "internationalist" crowd which has been steadily striving to get more money out of the U.S. treasury for foreign-aid programs.

It is curious that to no small extent the opposition to Mr. Dulles emanates from certain quarters in Wall Street with ties abroad.

Basically, the present secretary of state is an American first, last and all the time. He has sternly refused to forget that his main job is to protect the interests of the United States and that the Congress consists of men in both parties who are American before they are international.

The Country Parson

"You never go wrong asking a man for advice—he might have some—and if he doesn't, he'll feel good about your having asked."

No leader in the Western world, moreover, has labored as conscientiously as Secretary Dulles to bring about an effective alliance of free countries or to forge special bilateral treaties with governments around the globe that are truly friendly to this country.

The fact is that British-American relations are taking a new turn and the alliance between the two countries will provide inside NATO more effective leadership in the world hereafter precisely because Mr. Dulles has been able to define the proper limits of collaboration. It is a partnership of equals with a dedication to the same ideals.

President Eisenhower has never fallen for the bunkum that John Foster Dulles has "reduced American prestige abroad" or that "our allies don't trust him."

Mr. Eisenhower knows the sources of such irresponsible comments and has himself been familiar with every step taken in American foreign policy so that it is as much his as it is that of Secretary Dulles.

The partisan critics keep pounding away, however, to such an extent that the propaganda sinks in and makes even some Eisenhower supporters wonder if something is wrong. There is, for instance, a constant and purposeful reiteration of the rumor that Mr. Dulles will resign. Certainly if he does, it will only be because of ill health. Just now he is in excellent physical condition.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

Let us come before his presence with thanksgiving and make a joyful noise unto him with psalms. — Psalm 100:2.

The worship most acceptable to God comes from a thankful and cheerful heart. — Plutarch.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Chief Value of Gargling Is to Comfort the Patient

In medical school and in hospital, it seemed that we had paid little attention to gargling. But in practice, I learned the hard way that the people get great store by it.

So I fell in line and approved whatever gargling my patients preferred. I believed it could do no particular harm even if it did no good, and it gave 'em something to do so they'd realize they were getting treatment.

I wouldn't do so today.

An investigation of gargling, made by a physician some years ago, disclosed some interesting facts, chief of which was the fact that liquids used for gargling do not get beyond the oral cavity, that is, do not enter the throat at all.

The boundary between the oral cavity and the pharynx or throat is the anterior pillar, a fold of mucous membrane which arches down on either side of the uvula in front of the tonsil. Another fold arches down on either side behind the tonsil — posterior pillar.

RINSING JUST AS GOOD

It follows that quiet rinsing of the mouth gives the same effect, antiseptic or otherwise, as the most impressive gargling.

Mind, this is not to imply that gargling never does any good. I just said I believe it can do no harm even though it may do no good. There is no inconsistency in this teaching, as you will see if you stick around.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

"Why don't you call the leaflet on breathing 'Brady Breathing' or 'Diaphragmatic Breathing'?" Too many people are vulgar. . . (M. E. A.)

Answer — Billy is good enough for the Bible, so is sweat. Instructions for the Brady Breathing exercise are given in booklet How to Breathe, for which send 35c and stamped, self-addressed envelope.

"I am cold most of the time. I'm not anemic and I perspire very little. Even in warm weather or where every one else is comfortable. . . (Mrs. C. R.)"

Answer—Probably inactive thyroid. Iodin deficiency. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for instructions how to get an adequate Iodin Ration.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady. If a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Advises Childless Couple to Adopt

Jackie disappeared the first night he was adopted. Notice the interesting explanation he offered. It shows that his foster parents had really won his love. And all love must be won, for babies do not inherit fondness for their mothers. Family affection must be learned, just like piano playing.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case W-334: Jackie, aged 7, is an orphan boy. He lost his parents recently.

But a childless couple—heard about Jackie and gladly adopted him.

Jackie had lived in the slums all his life, so their new home was a paradise to him.

His foster mother gently tucked Jackie into bed the first night he was in his new home.

Later, before she and her husband retired, she tiptoed into the room to make sure that Jackie was snugly covered.

But Jackie wasn't there. So she looked in the bathroom. Still no Jackie. She then called her husband and they searched the house.

Curled up in a corner of the kitchen, Jackie was sound asleep on the linoleum floor.

His new mother woke him and asked why he had left his nice warm bed.

"Why, you've been so swell to me, I just thought I'd help you," Jackie replied sleepily.

"My mother always used to put me in her bed to start with. When I was sound asleep, she'd

Three Write About Results of Vote on Hospital Issue

I wonder if the 3,530 that voted NO on the hospital issue will give a dime to the United Fund. I'll bet not.

Taxpayer

I would gladly give a couple of bucks at the door for a hospital drive rather than have my taxes go up, never to go down again. Why not take it easy on already overtaxed people and give it a try. There's nothing to lose and everything to gain.

Satisfied

We hope those who masterminded the hospital bond issue will begin to realize there is an absolute end to these tax increases as far as taxpayers are concerned. We wives have to budget our money. Certainly we don't spend many times our income. Why can't the City use the same principle?

Three NO Voters

Warns You Against 'Free' Appliances

When some man comes to your house to offer you a household appliance on the enrollment plan, watch out. This plan would give you the very machine he was demonstrating, free, if you get eight other couples to watch his demonstration and enroll in this plan. After he sells you on the idea, you sign a chattel mortgage saying you'll pay for it if eight other couples don't enroll within three years. This happened to friends of ours.

Well, the price you might pay is much more than the same thing in a store. Another thing my friend didn't know is that these companies sell the mortgages to finance firms which collect even if the appliance company goes out of business before she gets eight enrollments. Carrying charges can be added by the finance company, too.

My friend got a 10-year guarantee, but the factory to which she must send it is on the West Coast and it would cost her more to send it there than to have repairs made here. That is, if repairs were made here. That is, if repairs were made here. That is, if repairs were made here.

What happens when eight people keep getting eight more people? They're bound to run out of people and houses. Someone will have to pay for all these machines they're so generously giving away. Will it be you or a friend of yours? Just remember, don't try to get something for nothing. It can't be done. If you want something, go to a respectable store and buy it. If you're ever in doubt about a similar deal, call your Chamber of Commerce, Better Business Bureau or someone, who might know.

A Friend

Gives His Thoughts on Crime Causes

Today we have the most heinous of crimes, some so cruel, and sadistic they're beyond thoughts of a human being, yet they go on and are increasing. The reason lies in the lewd, murderous, filthy movies and TV films that are being produced and shown nowadays. People have turned to read sex and murder stories so much it's almost impossible to sell a decent, moral book.

Why don't the churches do something? Sex crimes, gang fights and other acts of violence go on only because Christians tolerate them. Are you as a Christian going to let such things continue? They will unless adults become interested enough to do something.

'It Sounds Simple but I've Tried It'

The person who criticized teachers for not correcting grammatical errors in children's speech doesn't seem to realize that the grammar pattern is pretty much set by the time the child gets to school. It's almost impossible to change it in the daily five hours at our disposal. I have conscientiously tried.

Wants Architect to Pipe Down

I wish Frank Lloyd Wright would pipe down. I get very tired of his criticism of most modern American architecture. He recently called Detroit's new multi-million-dollar City-County building a "squirrel cage on steel frames." If other architects weren't so afraid of his vinegary tongue, they might say plenty about his own screwy buildings.

'New Plan Works Without Complex'

A national magazine has a recent article on a plan in Joplin, Mo., schools which might well be adopted here. Children are divided into reading classes according to their reading ability, not their age or grade. This has developed greatly improved reading skills and established a genuine love of reading. And there is not an inferiority complex in a carload.

Magazine Editor Condemns Nudes

The editor of national photographic magazine takes full swing at nude photos that pass under the guise of "art." He says the offending magazines are jeopardizing their own futures.

We can have real and beautiful art without resorting to undressed girls. A lovely girl is lovely in a normal bathing suit, or even in a full-length coat. This protest is a healthy sign.

The editor opposed censorship but asks the magazine sellers to refuse to handle the marginal group.

National Manpower Unit Worrying About Women

By ARTHUR EDSON
AP Feature Writer

WASHINGTON (U)—Adam quickly worried about Eve, so it's only natural that the National Manpower Council soon would get around to fretting about womanpower.

The council's new study of the working woman fills a book, and for those who think they're experts on women, working and otherwise, here are three questions:

(1) Which group has the larger percentage working—the 20-year-old group of girls or the 50-year-old group of women?

(2) What is the median age at which a woman has her last baby?

(3) How many women in the labor force are married?

Take a moment to think, and let's go to the answers, and maybe a few surprises.

(A) The proportion of working women of 20 and 50 is exactly the same—45 per cent.

(B) Half the women of America have had their last baby, and have completed their families, at the age of 26.

(C) Six of every 10 women who work are married.

The National Manpower Council was set up in 1951, under a Ford Foundation grant, to study how better to use this nation's resources. Its executive director, Henry David, was in town today, discussing some of its findings.

"Do you realize we produce 50 per cent of the world's goods with only 6 per cent of the population?" he said. "We found during the war that our real limiting factor was our manpower resources."

Which fetches us around to that wonderful resource, women.

In 1950, four million women worked and made up about a sixth of the working population. Generally speaking, a girl, quite probably a daughter of immigrants, worked out of sheer necessity—and dreamed of a husband and a day when she would work no longer.

In 1956 about 22 million women worked, made up almost a third of the civilian labor force, and picked up more than 42 billion dollars in wages and salaries.

Generally speaking, David believes, a woman now works when she first gets out of school, drops out to have babies, and then, when her last youngster heads for kindergarten or the first grade, gets herself a job again.

Whether this is good or bad, it's happening, and David says employers should understand what's going on and provide more opportunities for advancement for the woman who comes back.

Our whole attitude toward the working woman—and the job she should hold—is mysterious.

Why is the teaching profession here filled with women whereas men still do the teaching in most of Western Europe? Why are doors closed to women in some businesses whereas something like retailing gives women excellent opportunities?

David is sure we need to revise our thinking if we're to use womanpower to our greatest advantage. Certainly we may need to think differently about women in other respects, too.

Mother, for example, may be a slick chick, off to make her way, successfully, in the business world. Like it or not, she's a long way from Mother Machree.

Doctor Reports Way to Reduce Malaria Severity

PHILADELPHIA (U)—Tests on 16 volunteer federal prisoners from the U. S. Penitentiary in Atlanta, Ga., indicate that certain drugs mixed with ordinary salt can lessen the severity of malaria attacks.

Dr. G. Robert Coatsney of the National Institute of Health, Bethesda, Md., told a meeting of the American Society of Tropical Medicine and Hygiene yesterday the drugs used were pyrimethamine and chloroquine.

Volunteers took the drugs mixed with salt and then were bitten by malaria-infected mosquitoes. They suffered much less severe attacks than did untreated volunteers, Dr. Coatsney said.

He added that the method may be of great use in under developed areas where spraying against malaria is impractical.

Pooling and Exchange of Scientists Proposed

SEATTLE (U)—The time has come, Navy Secretary Gates believes, to pool the Western world's scientific brains and exchange its researchers.

This, he told a Navy League meeting here yesterday, is a necessary part of providing a "military force adequate to insure, working with our allies, the peace and security of the free world."

Over 90 Per Cent Report Some Contact Finds Alcohol No Stranger to Students in High School

BERKELEY, Calif. (U)—A study of six Michigan high schools revealed that one-third of the students drink occasionally.

At least nine out of the 10 students have "tasted" alcohol at some time.

These findings were reported to a meeting of the North American Association of Alcoholism programs by Dr. Christopher Sower, Michigan State University sociology professor.

Dr. Sower directed a three-year study of the role of social relationships in teenage drinking. The research included sending questionnaires to 2,247 students and interviewing a cross section of those filling out the forms.

Those questioned were juniors and seniors of five public high schools in two cities over 50,000 population and one suburban high school.

DEGREE OF REGULARITY

"More than nine out of every 10 students surveyed have drunk or 'tasted' alcohol at some time," Dr. Sower reported. "About one-third indicated they drink with degree of regularity, though not necessarily frequently or heavily."

Dr. Sower said there was considerable variation in the proportion of students who classified themselves as "drinkers."

For male students, he said, this ranged from as low as eight per cent in one school to as high as 48 per cent in another. For females, the range was from three to 15 per cent.

"Most student drinking is of beer and wine with little use of drinks with a higher alcohol content," Dr. Sower said. "There is little heavy drinking, with only 13 per cent of the male drinkers and two per cent of the female drinkers reporting that they drink more than six bottles of beer in one week."

"While about half the students report having participated in drinking with their parents, most of them define this as 'tasting' and not drinking," he said.

"Much student drinking is done surreptitiously in youth groups at places removed from adult supervision. The party is the most commonly designated place of drinking," he added.

PERCEIVE SELVES ADULTS

One of the most significant findings of the research, Dr. Sower said, is that students who view themselves as drinkers are more likely than other students to perceive themselves as adults.

"Adults should use influence and not authority in helping young people to make decisions about drinking which will be consistent with their beliefs and associations," Dr. Sower said. "That adult influence should help teenagers plan their actions to avoid detrimental consequences."

Cry for Economy Sifts Down to Lower Level

DAYTON, Ohio (U)—The cry for economy in government seems to have sifted down to the local level.

When Dayton Traffic Engineer J. Anthony Carothers and his assistant Charles Dearmon attended a two-day conference of traffic engineers in Indiana, the city allocated them $5 each for their hotel and food bills.

New Car Unexciting

WINDSOR, Ont. (U)—A gleaming 1937 car, first prize in the Windsor firefighters' Benefit Fund raffle, didn't excite winner Ed Dudley. President of the Windsor Antique Car Club, he drove a 1904 model to pick up his prize and said he would sell the new one.

Say Consulting Room Secrets Sacred

LONDON—In a London medical journal, a Lancashire family doctor answers the question of how much a doctor should tell when a bride-to-be asks details of her bridegroom's health record.

Dr. David Brown, writing for "The Practitioner," says the right course for the doctor is "not to tell." Without the written consent of the patient all efforts to gain information about him should be resisted, Dr. Brown believes.

"But refusal should be made as tactful as possible. Far too often, the doctor says, a physician spends sleepless nights worrying about this, although his Hippocratic oath makes consulting room secrets 'sacred.'"

Cities Spending More on Police Departments

CHICAGO — According to the International City Managers' Assn. the nation's municipalities are hiring more policemen and firemen and paying them more money. New firemen in these cities now are being paid an average of from $40 to $261 a year more than in 1936, depending on the city's size. Police recruits earned an average of $51 to $326 more yearly.

123 Make One Bifocal

SOUTHBRIDGE, Mass. (U)—It's a far cry from the day when Benjamin Franklin took two pieces of glass and fitted them together to make the first bifocal lens ever used in eye glasses. Now, according to the American Optical Co., to produce one bifocal spectacle lens requires 123 workers performing 137 different operations.

China, disputing Russian claims, says it is the first nation to build a man-carrying flying machine. Ancient court records reveal that in 228 B.C. a Chinese youth named Shun flew a glider consisting of two large reed hats.

Hungry Heron Eats Tender Tropic Fish

OPUNAKE, New Zealand—Bird watchers in New Zealand this year have been rewarded by many glimpses of the rare and graceful white heron—kotuku the Maoris euphoniously called it.

At Opunake one family watched a heron—protected by law—as it enjoyed an exclusive meal of goldfish from a pond in their garden. The first 20 fish were little more than hors d'oeuvres, apparently, for the bird flew to neighboring ponds, and like one of the nouveau riche, disregarded the expense and completed its al-fresco meal with many courses of rare tropical fish. "This is a particularly good year for white herons," wrote the editor of the Ornithological Society's Journal.

President Takes Political Gamble

Seeks 'Shot in the Arm' for Republican Party in New Jersey Election

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower may be risking a political black eye in his enthusiastic endorsement of Republican Malcolm Forbes in the New Jersey governorship race.

On the other hand, Eisenhower's plug for Forbes in a contest some Republicans regard as a long-shot gamble may be of more significance to the GOP in the 1958 battle for control of Congress than what happens at the polls in New Jersey.

Forbes is running against Democratic Gov. Robert B. Meyner. If Forbes wins next Tuesday, it would provide — as Eisenhower told his news conference yesterday — "a great big shot in the arm" for Republicans.

If Forbes loses, Eisenhower will have put himself into a situation many will regard as confirmation of reports his own political popularity is slipping noticeably.

At his news conference, Eisenhower was asked only about the Forbes-Meyner race. But press secretary James C. Hagerty said later the President hopes for a victory by Republican Ted Dalton over Democrat J. Lindsay Almond for governor of Virginia. Politicians here read the President's action as indicating he intends to make a stiff fight for the kind of candidates he likes, even if he has to take some political bumps in the process.

Louis Armstrong Opens in Argentina Capital

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Jazzman Louis Armstrong and his band opened a 10-day engagement last night to ovations inside and outside the crowded opera theater.

The grinning trumpeter and his wife were almost bowled over by a surging mass of admirers outside the hall and had some difficulty getting into the theater.

Inside, the audience applauded most his old Dixieland and blues numbers.

Hospital Meals Sent In

PETOSKEY (AP) — Patients at Little Traverse Hospital aren't likely to miss any meals although the present kitchen will operate from a restaurant a mile away and the food will be hauled to the hospital in pre-heated carts by a private moving company.

The U.S. Air Force estimates it has about 1,000 planes in the air every minute of day and night.

2 Scientists Win Nobel Prize

Nuclear Experts Born in China Give America
Its 18th Physics Award

By GUSTAV SVENSSON
STOCKHOLM (AP) — Two young Chinese-born nuclear scientists working in America won the 1957 Nobel prize in physics today for removing important obstacles to the understanding of the functions of the atom and the universe.

The joint winners of the $42,000 award are Dr. Chen Ning Yang, 34-year old professor of physics at the Institute for Advanced Study, Princeton, N. J., and Dr. Tsiung Dao Lee, 30, Columbia University professor of physics who is on leave — and also at the Princeton Institute.

The two first met at a university in Kunning, China, in the early 1940s but did not begin working together until 1948, after both had come to the United States to study.

Completing the 1957 Nobel choices, the chemistry prize was awarded today to Sir Alexander Todd of Cambridge University, 50-year-old Scotland-born biologist, for fundamental research on matter inside the simplest of cells. The Nobel Foundation also cited his investigation of vitamin B12, the substance found in the human liver which is active against pernicious anemia, and experiments he now is making with the poison contained in hashish, the basis of opium.

The award to Drs. Lee and Yang is the 18th physics prize won by America. Britain runs second with 16.

The citation of the Swedish Academy of Science said the pair were honored "for their profound investigations of the so-called laws of parity, which have led to sub-atomic particles."

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Officers checked a looted vending machine yesterday to see how it had been opened. A note left on the machine gave them a clue. It said "Guess what? Somebody goofed." The police found the machine could be opened without a key.

The Proxy Murder

By ERLE STANLEY GARDNER

Copyright 1937

THE STORY SO FAR: Jerry Conway is alarmed by an advertising campaign Gifford Farrell, a discharged detective, is conducting to obtain proxies and cast Conway at a stockholders' meeting. In a mysterious telephone call the woman calling herself Rosalind offers to supply Conway with a list of the proxies Farrell has acquired. Though he suspects a trap, Conway agrees to follow directions. Asking the hotel clerk for a message for Gerald Roswell, he obtains a key to a hotel suite for the meeting, but instead of finding Rosalind there a young woman scantily attired with a mud pack on her face, she points a gun at Conway, which he takes away from her. Since the gun has been fired recently Conway suspects a frame-up and calls Perry Mason, attorney, Mason and Paul Drake, detective, go to the hotel room and find a woman murdered. Mason traps Rosalind into admitting she is Rosalind, she is divorcing Gifford and wants to help Conway, to protect her own investment in the company. Farrell must have given Conway the telephone directions that trapped him. Farrell is having an affair with Rose Calvert, a secretary. Mrs. Farrell obtains carbons of the proxy list from Rose's wastebasket. Mason calls on Rose Calvert's husband.

Chapter 16

"This is a hell of a time to get a man out of bed to ask for information," Calvert said.

"I'm Perry Mason," the lawyer told him, shaking hands. "I'm an attorney and I'm working on a case in which it has become necessary to get some information about your wife."

"We're all split up," Calvert said shortly. "Maybe you came to the wrong place."

Mason said, "I want to talk with you."

"There's not much I can tell about her, except that she wants a divorce."

"There are no children?"

The man shook his head. "How long have you been married?"

"Two and a half years.—Can you tell me what this is all about?—I'm sorry. I may have been a little bit short with you. I wake up kinda jumpy some-times."

Mason said, "I have something to tell you, but I want to be pretty certain I'm right before I tell you.—This may take a little time. Fifteen or twenty minutes. Do you want to get some clothes on?"

"I'll get a blanket to wrap around me," the man said. He vanished into the bedroom, came back with a blanket and wrapped it around him.

"Sit down there in that chair by the table," he told Mason. Mason seated himself, said, "This is a nice little bungalow you have here."

"I RENT IT FURNISHED"

The man made a little gesture of dismissal. "I rent it furnished. After we broke up, I thought for a while Rose would come back to me, but now I've about given up."

"Were you living together down here?"

"No. I moved down here about three months ago—that was right after we split up."

"What's your occupation?"

"Running a service station."

"Would you think me terribly presumptuous if I asked you to tell me about what happened in your marriage, how it happened you broke up, and . . . ?"

"I guess it's all right," Calvert said. "We got off to a good start. We had been going together a couple of months. She was in a brokerage office. I was a salesman. We sort of clicked and we got married."

"She didn't want children right at first. We decided we'd wait on that and that we'd both keep on working."

"Then an uncle of mine died and left me quite a nestegg.—Not too much. It figured about sixty thousand, by the time taxes were taken out of it. So then I felt we could start having a family."

"How much of that nestegg do you have left?" Mason asked. Calvert's lips tightened. "I've got all of it left."

"Good boy!" Mason told him.

"And if I'd listened to her I wouldn't have had any of it left," Calvert went on. "That was one of the things that started the trouble. She wanted to live it up, to travel, to get clothes, to do all the things that take money."

"I wanted to save this money to invest in something. I wanted a business of my own. I didn't want her to keep on working. I wanted children."

"Did she want children?"

"She couldn't be bothered."

"All right, what happened?"

"Well, we got along all right, but I could see the novelty of marriage was wearing off and . . . Rose is a woman that men notice. She has a figure and she's proud of it. She likes people to notice it."

"And they do?" Mason asked.

"They do."

"Precisely what caused the final split-up?"

"HE KNOWS YOUR WIFE?"

"A man by the name of Gifford Farrell."

"With Texas Global?"

"That's right. He's fighting a proxy battle. There are ads in the Los Angeles newspapers. He's trying to get enough proxies to take over."

"How long has he known your wife?"

"I don't know. I don't think it was entirely his fault, but he certainly was on the make and she fell for him."

"How long had it been going on?" Mason asked.

"I tell you I don't know. I guess quite awhile.—I wanted to get ahead by plugging along and keeping my eye on the main chance."

"This Farrell is just like Rose. He's a gambler, a guy who shoots the works, rides around in high-powered automobiles, spends three and four hundred dollars on a suit of clothes, wouldn't think of looking at a pair of shoes that didn't cost over twenty dollars.—He's a showman, likes to go out to night clubs and all of that."

"And now your wife wants a divorce?"

"That's right."

"HAVE A CIGARETTE?"

Mason took his cigarette case from his pocket. "Mind if I smoke?"

"Not at all. I'll join you. I smoke a good deal myself.—Here."

The man passed over an ash-tray which was pretty well filled with cigarette stubs, said, "Wait a minute! I'll empty that."

He went out into the kitchen, dumped the ashes into a wood stove, came back with the ash-tray, inspected the cigarettes in Mason's cigarette case, said, "Thanks, I have my own brand."

He brought a package of cigarettes from his coat pocket, extracted one, and leaned forward to accept the light which Mason held out as he snapped his lighter into flame.

The lawyer lit his own cigarette, said, "Do you have any pictures of your wife?"

"Pictures? Sure."

"May I see them?"

"Why?"

"I want to be absolutely certain that you and I are talking about the same woman," Mason said.

Calvert looked at him for a moment, took a deep drag on the cigarette, exhaled twin streams of smoke from his nostrils, got up, walked into the other room and came back with two framed pictures and an album.

"These are pictures she had taken," he said.

Mason studied the framed, retouched photographs.

The man opened the album, said, "This goes back to when we first met. She gave me a camera for my birthday. Here are some of the more recent pictures."

Mason thumbed through the album. Within a half dozen pictures he was virtually certain of his identification.

He closed the album and said, "I'm sorry to have to bring you the news, Calvert. I can't be absolutely certain, but I'm practically certain that your wife was involved in a tragedy which took place a few hours ago."

Calvert jerked bolt upright. "An automobile accident?"

Education of All Our Youth Chief Interest of Harlan

By TOM SHAWVER
LANSING (P) — A native Tennessean with a northern integrationist's viewpoint toward education...

A wealthy Detroit businessman who says he has helped put thousands of young men and women through college...

Father of seven children, self-described "shirt-tail" cousin of Associate Justice John Marshall Harlan of the U. S. Supreme Court, and "the first man in the family to leave the farm since 1668..."

That is C. Allen Harlan, newly appointed member of the State Board of Agriculture, governing body of Michigan State University.

Harlan, 50-year-old president of the Harlan Electric Co. and director of half a dozen other firms, was sworn in by Gov. Williams yesterday to replace William E. Baker, who resigned to accept a position with the State Highway Department.

Speaking with the soft drawl of a "border state" southerner, Harlan told newsmen:

"I am a Democrat but I have never run for public office. I was born near Columbia, Tenn., where my family have farmed for many years."

"We have a loving cup down home, in fact, that was given to one of my great aunts for operating the best farm in the state. I am the first man in the family to leave the farm since 1668."

Forced to quit his studies at the University of Tennessee to help pay his mother's medical bills, Harlan came north to Detroit in 1928. He got a job with the Turner Engineering Co., became its manager six years later and five years after that organized his own electrical contracting company. The firm now does a multi-million dollar business.

Part of the wealth Harlan has reaped goes to support his conviction that "education offers the solution to our problems."

"It is impossible for people to adjust to the problems of this life without the benefits of education," he said. "The Thomas"

Edisons of yesterday would be misfits in today's world without formal education in college."

Toward that end, Harlan says he and his company give about $100,000 a year in scholarships, without regard to race, creed or color. The number of students who have thus benefited he estimates in the thousands.

He also is trustee of Fisk University, Negro school in Knoxville, Tenn.; Brandeis University, Jewish-operated school in Waltham, Mass.; and Bethany College, operated by the Disciples of Christ, Harlan's religious denomination, in Bethany, W. Va.

To express his views on racial integration in the schools, Harlan quotes a Supreme Court opinion handed down by Justice John Marshall Harlan, grandfather of the present member of the court. "The constitution," Harlan wrote, "is color blind, and neither knows nor tolerates classes among its citizens."

Ex-Nazi Dictator Jailed in Athens for War Murders

ATHENS—When Max Merten, a German lawyer from Berlin, went to Athens to assist a man wanted as a war criminal, he may have put a noose around his own neck. "Our most amazing arrest," Greek officials said after locking up Merten, former chief of staff to the Nazi Commandant in Salonika.

Merten was charged with murdering 682 Greeks. "But surely," he protested, "offenses committed 15 years ago have long been canceled." "Not yours," he was told. Many of his victims belonged to resistance groups. Some were Jews who died of maltreatment while working by force for German military outfits.

From 1941 to 1944, Captain Merten of the Wehrmacht was Salonika's loathed dictator. He was held responsible for deporting 49,000 Jews of whom 47,000 perished in the gas chambers of Nazi concentration camps.

Turncoat Planning to Enter Ministry

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Edward Dickenson, Korean War turncoat who is scheduled for release Nov. 23 from the U. S. Disciplinary Barracks at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., plans to enter the Ministry.

The Rev. W. S. Mooneyham of Nashville, executive secretary of the National Assn. of Free Will Baptists, said last night Dickenson plans to apply for admission to the Free Will Baptist Bible College here.

Dickenson, 27, was convicted in 1954 of collaborating with the enemy and for informing on a fellow American who planned escape. His 10-year sentence subsequently was reduced on appeal and further reduced by good conduct at the disciplinary barracks.

Philippine Film Star Throws Hat Into Ring

MANILA (AP)—If you can picture Robert Mitchum or Cary Grant running for the U. S. Senate, you'll get an idea of what's going on in the Philippine election campaign.

Rogelio de la Rosa is a Filipino movie star who looks like a Latinized Mitchum, excites fans as Elvis Presley does, and has the suave durability of Grant. And the 6 feet 2 actor is rated a good prospect for the Philippine Senate. The election is Nov. 12.

Sputnik Reason to Build Road?

Mackinac-Duluth Route Possible After Change in Defense Spending

ST. IGNACE (AP) — Sen. Potter (R-Mich.) said today that a "change in mood" regarding federal defense spending may be a factor in getting the government to provide funds for a limited access highway connecting the Mackinac Straits region with Duluth, Minn.

The lawmaker told the 47th annual meeting of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau that the launching of an earth satellite by the Russians has made the American people more willing to spend money on defense.

He said this change in attitude may make it possible to have the proposed thoroughfare declared a defense necessity in the next session of Congress.

Potter cited the St. Lawrence Seaway, the new Mackinac Straits Bridge and an international bridge spanning the St. Mary's River between Michigan and Ontario at Sault Ste. Marie as vital to the upper peninsula's economy.

The senator said completion of the Seaway will directly affect 56 million persons living in the eight bordering states and another 13 million in the nine tributary states. He termed it "the culmination of a dream four centuries old."

Portugal has maintained a republican form of government since 1911.

Junior Editors Quiz on HALLOWEEN

QUESTION: Do witches really exist?

ANSWER: You see so many pictures of witches this time of year, and so many kids dress up as witches, that you might be inclined to think they do. Once upon a time people everywhere were convinced of the existence of witches, and millions of people still are. Such superstitions date back thousands of years to pagan times. In England 2,000 years ago, the Druids believed that ghosts, witches, fairies and elves appeared at this season, and built bonfires to frighten them away. Christians took over this belief and declared war on the witches. At one time many innocent people were killed in the belief they were witches. Today, hardly any educated people believe in witches.

FOR YOU TO DO: To add to your Halloween decorations, color this picture of a Druid era witch, shown with her black cat and broom against the background of Stonehenge, which are Druid ruins in Britain.

(If you have a good question, send it in on a postcard to Violet Moore Higgins, care of The Pontiac Press. Any used will win $10.)

U.S., Poland Begin New Money Talks

BOSTON (AP)—Another big pay night loomed for welterweights Virgil Akins and Tony DeMarco today with agreement for a 15-round return bout either Jan. 21 or 22 at the Boston Garden.

Handlers of the two battlers got together and agreed on the rematch yesterday, some 12 hours after Akins knocked out DeMarco in the 14th round for the Massachusetts version of the world's welter title.

Only division of the net gate receipts and the exact date for the rematch remained unsettled.

The possibility of television, with Boston blacked out, left the date undetermined. If national TV can be arranged, the bout will be held on Wednesday, Jan. 22, otherwise the day before. There was no TV or radio of the first bout.

Old Invitations Cost $10

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Those fancy invitations to the 1936 wedding of Philadelphia's Grace Kelly and Prince Rainier of Monaco reportedly are bringing $10 each from collectors here now.

Here Are Pontiac's All-New Models for 1958

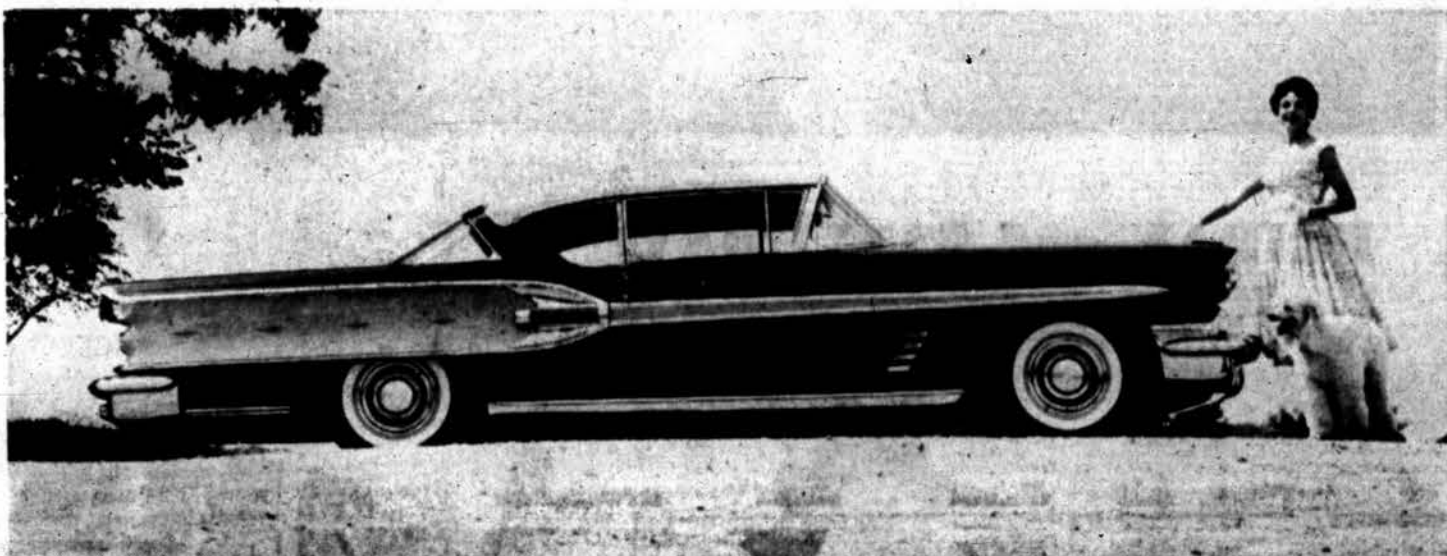

PERENNIAL FAVORITE — Pontiac's perennial favorite is this big, luxurious and exquisitely styled Star Chief four-door Catalina designed to make the heart of every motorist beat faster. Solidly built on a 124-inch wheelbase, the Star Chief Catalina is synonymous with big car styling and comfort, and is available in four models; two and four-door Catalinas, a four-door, slim pillar sedan and a four-door Custom Safari station wagon. Among the fine features of this series is the big "Tempest 395" V-8 engine and "prestige" interior of glamorous leather and fabric.

SUPER CHIEF 4-DOOR CATALINA—Big car at an economy price sums up the 1958 Pontiac Super Chief four-door Catalina built on the longer 124-inch wheelbase. Available in a wide, wide range of exterior and interior color combos, the Super Chief comes in two and four-door Catalinas and a slim pillar four-door sedan that approaches hardtop styling. Synchronesh transmission and two-barrel carburetion are standard with this series, although it carries a full selection of optional equipment that will add to the pleasure of driving Pontiacs.

BONNEVILLE SPORTS COUPE—Hading Pontiac's four series of superbly styled cars for 1957 are the five passenger Bonneville sport coupe (above) and the Bonneville convertible. These two family size "dream cars" mark what the division calls "the boldest advance in 50 years." The big, new "Tempest 395" V-8 power plant in these two family sports-type cars gives the instant acceleration and road performance desired by the enthusiast. Both have a 122-inch wheelbase.

VOLUME SELLER — The 1958 volume seller will be the Pontiac Chieftain series, shown here in the slim pillar, four-door sedan model, which gives the appearance of hardtop styling. New in 1958, and heading the list in this series, is the distinctive Chieftain convertible. Other Chieftains are the two and four-door Catalinas, a two-door slim pillar sedan and two, four-door Safaris; a two-seater and a three seater. With a 122-inch wheelbase, the Chieftain remains the "big car" with the "little price."

DISTINCTIVE — Coming or going the 1958 Pontiac is distinctive and strikingly beautiful. Its futuristic front styling, combined with the car's longer, lower, wider look is accentuated by a horizontal grille topped by twin safety head lamps. Tastefully styled front bumper incorporates massive parking and signal lamps, while delta wing ornaments enhance the crown of each front fender.

Twin tail lamps above oval, chromed back-up lamp ports set off the simply styled trunk lid with chrome handles on either side of the bold name plate. Missile-type side mouldings sweep back to concave flairs in the rear quarter panels to frame unmistakable series markings.

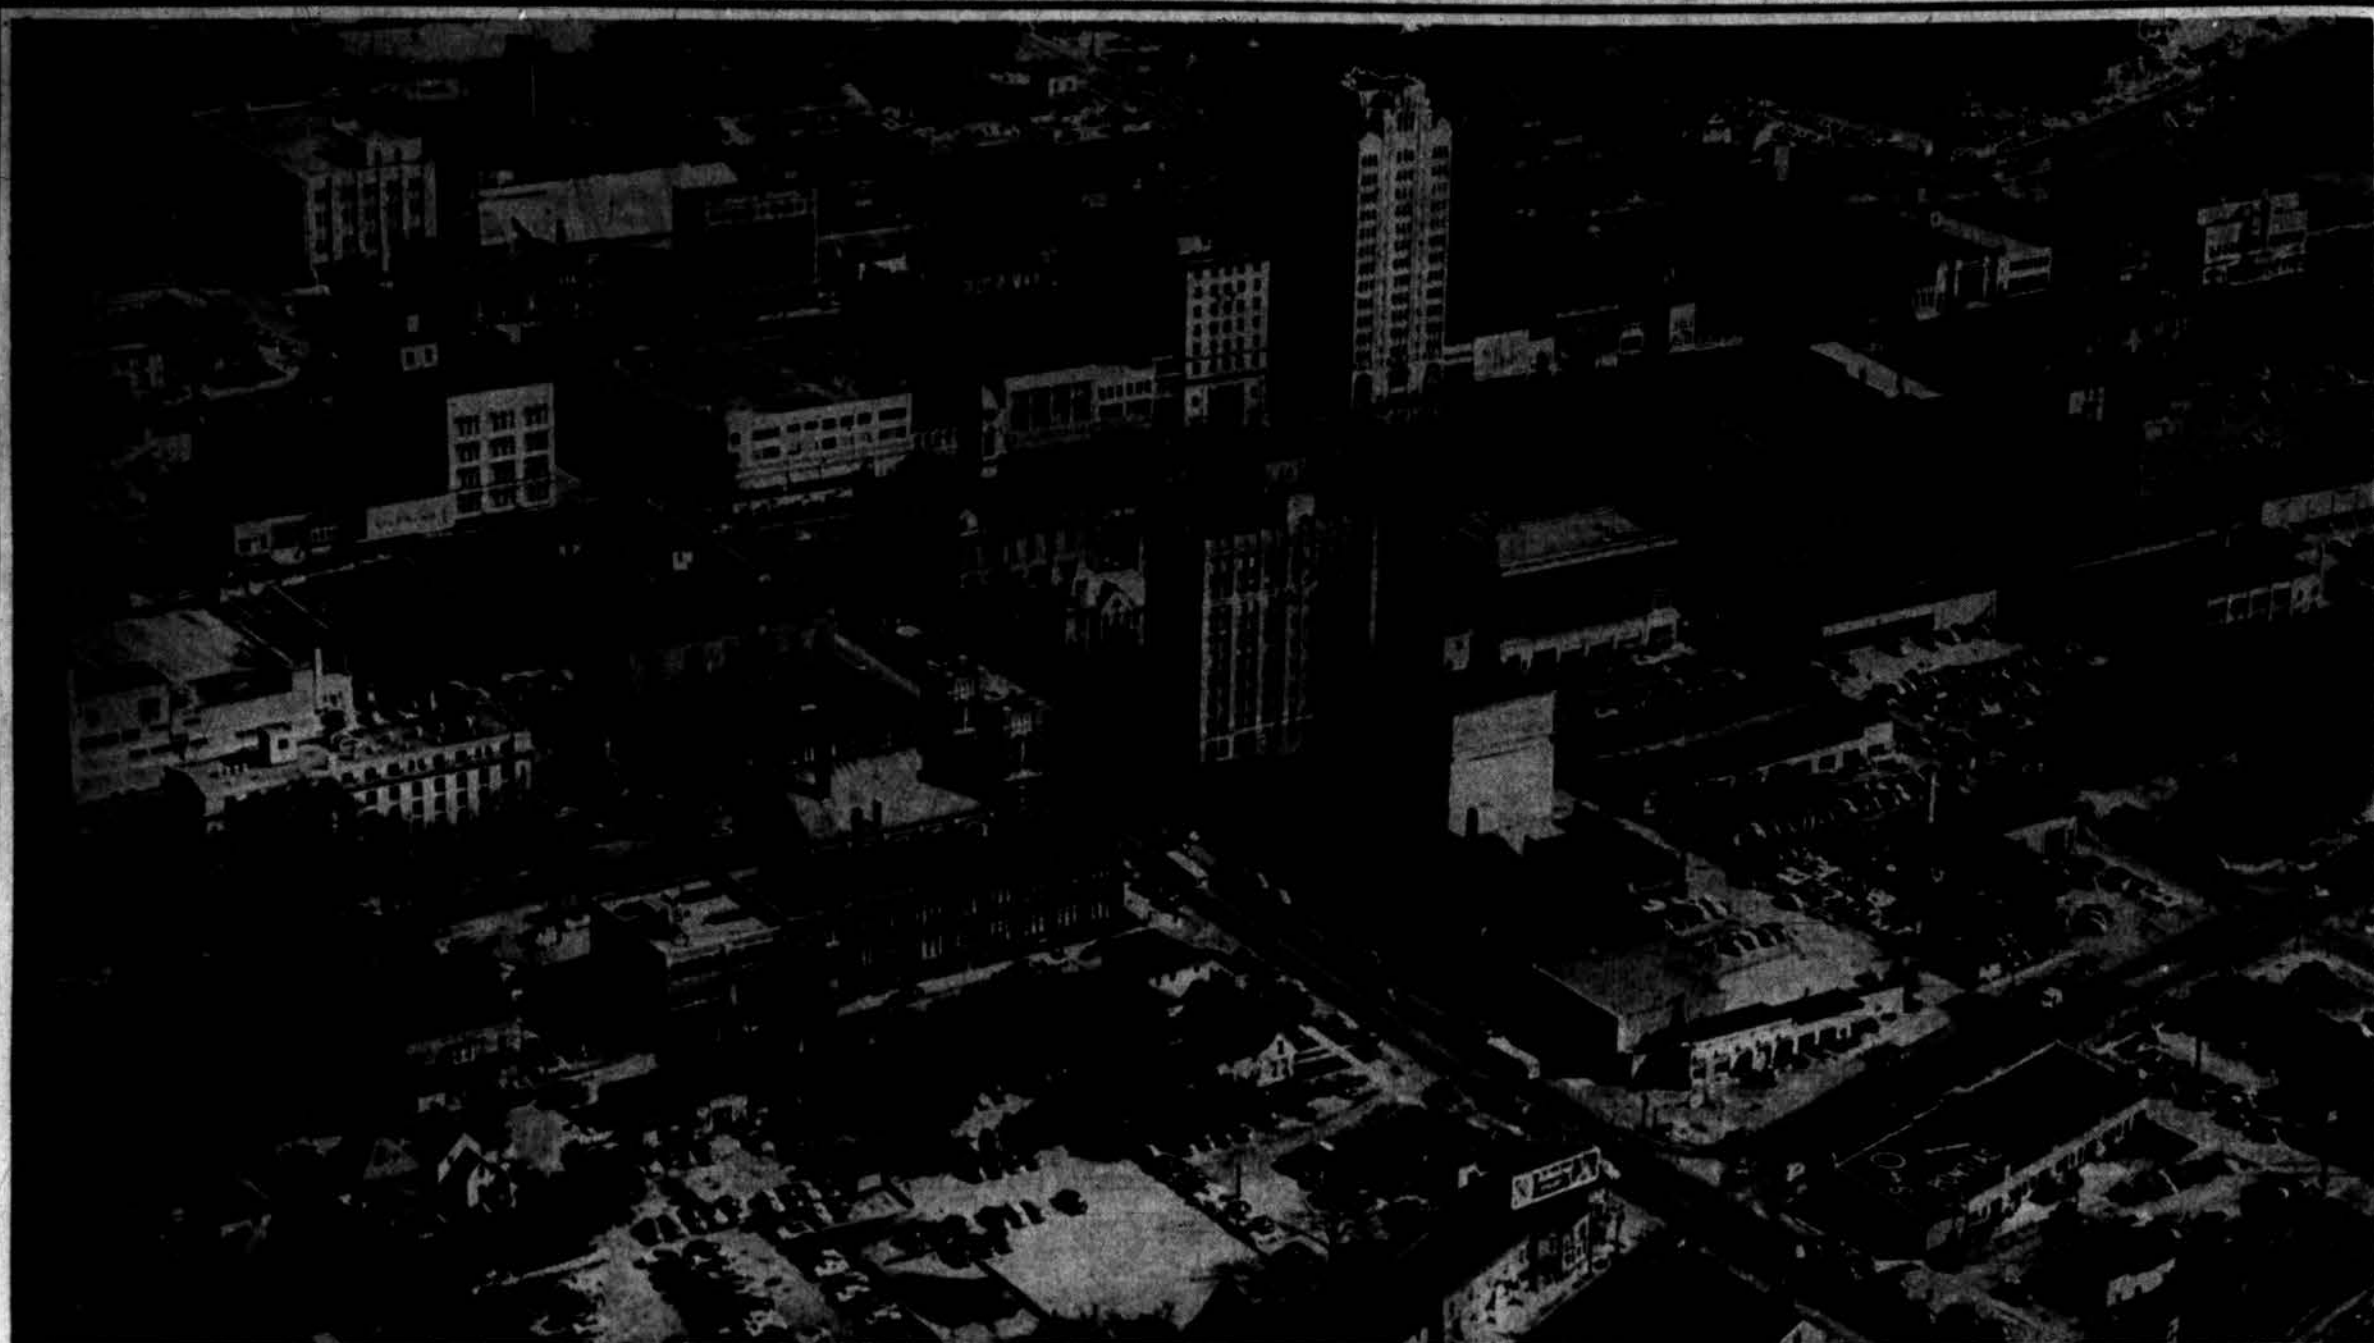

BONNEVILLE CONVERTIBLE — Distinctive profile of the new 1958 Pontiac Bonneville convertible is high-lighted by a long, low silhouette. Built on a 122-inch wheelbase and measuring 211.7 inches in length and only 55.7 inches high, this futuristic convertible is custom designed from the gold Bonneville name plate on the front fenders to the four stars on the rear quarter. Bucket-type seats, four simulated horizontal louvers on the front fenders and series markings on the rear quarter panels are some of the prominent features which distinguish this sports-type model from the Chieftain convertible.

STATION WAGONS — Station wagon pleasure and utility at its best is found in this 1958 Pontiac Star Chief Custom four-door Safari, designed especially to give the most in comfort, performance and dependability to the highway traveler. The two-seat Safari on a 122-inch wheelbase, boasts all the desirable Star Chief features and has luxurious interiors of Saran and coated fabrics, while exteriors of brilliant acrylic lacquer and interiors of genuine leather and custom fabrics are optional. The new cars go on public display Nov. 9 and will be shown here at the Pontiac Retail Store, 63 Mt. Clemens St., at Mill.

Hal Boyle Says:

New York Now Mecca of Culture, Finance

NEW YORK (U.S.)—The question, a New Yorker gets asked most often is, "Why, in heaven's name, do you want to live here?" Since most New Yorkers seem to come from out of town, they sometimes ask themselves the same question.

They have to agree that most of the stock criticisms made by visitors are true.

"It's just too crowded, noisy and dirty. Everybody is in a hurry to get nowhere. It makes me tired just to watch the pace at which people go here. They don't even have time to be polite."

Yet few visitors, if truthful, can deny they have a wonderful time while they are here. A British visitor, Patrick M'Roberts summed up the city generously in 1775: "The inhabitants are in general brisk and lively, kind to strangers, dress very gay; the fair sex are in general handsome, and said to be very obliging."

Ralph Waldo Emerson, down on a slumming trip from cultured New England, described New York crisply as "a sucked orange." Thomas Jefferson in 1823 wrote that "New York, like London, seems to be a cloaca (or sewer) of all the depravities of human nature."

In 1872 the English novelist Anthony Trollope wrote, "Speaking of New York as a traveler, I have two faults to find with it. In the first place, there is nothing to see; and, in the second place, there is no mode of getting about to see anything."

It is still true that traffic in Manhattan is so bad it is impossible to get anywhere in a hurry. But it is no longer true there is nothing to see here.

There is everything to see here now. In the mid-20th century New York City reigns as the earth's greatest metropolis, a cultural and financial mecca for all the world. If you have a talent of any kind, a product of almost any kind, here is your greatest show window and market place.

The reason most people come to live in New York is in the hope of making a bigger buck. And they generally do make a bigger buck here. Even the smallest talent is rewarded higher here than in most other cities. This is a big-spending town, and it attracts free-wheelers.

But there are other things that make New York attractive. It is a city where people will let you alone, and the neighbors aren't nosy. You can live as you want to in peace—that is, if you can afford to.

There is a pulse to life here you don't find elsewhere—an excitement that comes with living in a city of constant change, where an old building is always coming down and a new skyscraper going up. Whatever you want to eat you can find here, whatever you want to see is here. Like a perpetual circus there is always something going on. As Christopher Morley said, this is "the nation's thyroid gland."

Chicago, the nation's second city, is notoriously jealous of New York. But a New Yorker doesn't feel that way about Chicago. He just doesn't think of any other city being in the same league. To him, as Bugs Baer so aptly put it, any other place "is Bridgeport."

Although this attitude is maddening to citizens from other cities, the typical New Yorker is actually neither smug nor sophisticated. He is an easy victim for all kinds of con men, and seems to enjoy being conned.

"If there ever was an aviary overstocked with jays," wrote O. Henry, a Texan who made this town his own, "it is that Yaptown-on-the-Hudson called New York."

Those who see the manifold faults of Manhattan and are blind to its many charms might, however, learn the tolerance O. Henry expressed in another of his tales:

"What else can you expect from a town that's shut off from the world by the ocean on one side and New Jersey on the other?"

Milk Proves Suitable Substitute for Water

CUSHING, Okla. (U.S.)—A Cushing milkman can prove that milk is a good substitute for water in more ways than one.

His delivery truck caught fire recently but before firemen arrived he put out the blaze with his milk.

In Manizales, Colombia, is the Mt. Nevada del Ruiz, 17,000 feet high and one of the finest ski centers in the world. But, 10,000 feet is a lush tropical area where choice coffee and tropical fruits are grown.

People Like Us in Outer Space?

This star is Alpha Centauri. It is so far away that it takes four years and four months for its light to reach us, and light travels 186,000 miles per second. Physical laws say it is impossible for anything to travel faster than light—science as yet has no inkling even how to approach that fabulous speed.

Yet the chances of learning about life elsewhere are not entirely hopeless.

Men in space could build giant telescopes, far more powerful than any on earth. Our earth's air distorts starlight, makes clear seeing difficult.

Giant observatories on space platforms, or on the moon, could look clearly and accurately vast distances into space. Some astronomers believe such seeing could help learn secrets of the birth of the universe, or whether life exists on other planets.

Both American and Russian scientists are talking of putting telescopes in the sky. They would take pictures, or use TV eyes.

Space opens vast new frontiers for good or bad, depending on how nations use the new potentials and powers.

A space station hung some 23,000 miles above the earth could provide instantaneous television for half the world at a time.

It could circle at such a speed, relative to the earth's own rotation, that it would appear to stay always at the same point above the earth. TV signals could be reflected from it into homes over the same program to everyone around the world at the same moment.

Other satellites at chosen heights could survey the earth with telescopic and TV eyes, or radar, prying into any country's secrets. Military men see them also as potential bases for launching guided missiles with atomic warheads to impose the will of the sky-master nation.

Rocket and space control, though, is not likely to become one nation's monopoly, many scientists believe. Checkmating is more likely. War in space, aimed at destroying an unfriendly space station, is mentioned as a possibility.

Prof. Hermann Oberth of Germany, a famous space pioneer, proposes a giant mirror, composed of many facets, above the earth. It might be 60 miles in diameter, focusing the sun's rays upon the earth, as you might do with a magnifying glass.

For bad, it could be aimed to burn an enemy's country, Dr. Oberth says.

For good, part of the mirror could be used safely to light large towns at night, or to melt dangerous Atlantic icebergs, open up winter frozen sea lanes, counteract night frosts threatening fruit crops, even perhaps alter temperatures and cloud movements to bring rain where needed.

Far more immediately, new knowledge is promised for accurate weather forecasts, for preventing hurricanes and even tornadoes. This can come from Sputnik or U. S. baby moons using TV eyes and other instruments to track the motions of clouds, gain understanding of the mechanics of weather, measure the total radiation coming to and from the earth.

Such new information is one goal of baby U. S. moons to be launched during the International Geophysical Year.

Baby moons are just a beginning.

Who knows but one day, with the earth exhausting its own natural resources under hungers of growing population, men may go mining materials from other planets? Or start human colonies there if disaster overtakes our own earth?

Next: Some practicalities and expectations.

Wet, Cloudy Day
Is Outlook for Most of Country

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Showery, cloudy and generally mild weather was the outlook for most of the country today.

Warming occurred in most of the nation the past 24 hours, with biggest temperature rises in New England and in parts of the Northern and Central Plains. Temperatures were mostly in the 50s along the Eastern seaboard and in the states bordering the Gulf. They were in the 30s or higher in the Southwest desert region and in most of California.

Coolest region was the Upper Mississippi Valley and the Lake Superior district, with temperatures in the 30s and low 40s. Slight cooling was reported along the North Pacific Coast, with readings in the 40s, about 10 degrees lower than yesterday morning. Showers accompanied the cooler air into the area. Skies were cloudy in the desert region and southern California, with widely scattered showers.

Skies were generally cloudy, with many areas of precipitation, east of the Mississippi River. The major wet belt extended over the eastern Great Lakes region and southward through northern Georgia. However, rainfall amounts were mostly light. Little change was indicated during the day.

Topeka, Kan., welfare officials have shut off aid to relief clients who have television sets and air conditioners.

Pal Cost Him Job,
Wife and 20 Pounds

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — As it turned out, Jack R. Hall's friendship with Robert R. Smith was something less than perfect.

Hall, 25, sued Smith, 20, for $35,000 damages yesterday, asserting his erstwhile pal caused Hall to spend five weeks in jail undeservedly, thereby losing his wife, his job and 20 pounds in weight.

Hall's complaint said he was vacationing in Little Rock, Ark., when Smith named him as a confederate in a liquor store holdup here. Little Rock authorities clapped Hall in jail to await extradition. When he got back to California Hall was exonerated by Smith, who is now serving a year for robbery.

Hall's suit said he lost the 20 pounds because "all they fed us in the Little Rock jail was sauerkraut."

Message on Car Fails to Impress Patrolman

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Tucson patrolman William Anderson started to write a ticket for overtime parking when he spotted a note on the car's windshield. It said: "I am in court."

Anderson finished writing the ticket and attached it to the windshield, along with a note of his own, which read: "I am in the street."

Palm Springs, Calif. was known as Agua Caliente in 1774. It has hot springs.

Flu Cases Still Climb In New Mexico Outbreak

SANTA FE, N. M., Oct. 30.—The incidence of influenza continued to spiral upward in New Mexico as the State Health Dept. reported that the week ended Oct. 26 was the worst on record. A department spokesman said 5,003 cases were reported during the week. The previous record was 3,978 cases during the week ended Oct. 12. Department figures show 22,929 cases reported so far this year, compared with 3,293 cases a year ago at this time.

15 Children Escape Injury in Bus Crash

ROCKFORD (U) — State Police said 15 school children escaped injury yesterday when their home-bound school bus was struck by an auto on M44 about 10 miles east of Rockford.

Officers reported motorist Martha Myers, 44, of Belding, in good condition at Blodgett Hospital in Grand Rapids where she was admitted for a fractured right leg suffered in the crash.

Police said her car apparently skidded on rain-slicked pavement and struck the rear of the bus, which had stopped to unload Belding school pupils.

Sputnik's Shadow Hovers Over Ike's News Meeting

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (U)—No one mentioned Sputnik by name but the shadow of the Russian satellite across President Eisenhower's news conference yesterday was just as real as if it had been revolving around his head.

The questions and answers reflected the shock of Sputnik on both the American people and the Eisenhower administration — a shock into an acute realization of Russian progress in missiles, science and scientific brains.

Nothing showed better the kind of silly paradise in which this country has been living than Eisenhower's own words in explaining his desire to promote American-British cooperation in nuclear development.

Under laws now on the books — they've been there for years — this country can't share its nuclear secrets with its allies although cooperation with them might have put the allies ahead of Russia.

These laws apparently were meant to prevent the secrets from falling into Russian hands. The Russians have been doing all right by themselves, Eisenhower pointed out.

"Most of our security laws... were written at a time when we thought we had a monopoly. Now we are getting to the point where we know that a great many of our secrets are known to the enemy, but they are still secret from our friends, which seems rather an anomalous situation."

As a result of Sputnik, Eisenhower will go to Paris in December for an Allied summit meeting to talk more cooperation on defense among the Allies. The British spurred him into that idea.

They had a real shock from Sputnik. Since the Russians were able to build a missile to shoot Sputnik into outer space, they should be able to build missiles that could be showered on Britain from Moscow.

That this country needs more scientists is hardly a new idea, since it's been talked about for years. But it was emphasized anew by Eisenhower who said his scientific advisers want the schools to produce more scientists.

U.S. Missile Gains Satisfy K. T. Keller

DETROIT (U) — K. T. Keller, retired board chairman of the Chrysler Corp., said yesterday that he is satisfied with the progress this country is making in its guided missile program.

Keller, former U. S. director of guided missiles, said scientific advances have tended to keep the missile program in a turmoil because as fast as one is completed it becomes obsolete.

The retired industrialist commented: "Missiles are like women's dresses. They're out of style the second they are seen."

Keller said Americans like to feel "complacent." He added that "when we got the A-bomb a lot of people said there would never be another war. They forgot the bomb had to be delivered."

"Then when we developed a way to deliver it they said again that there would never be another war."

"Now," Keller observed, "we have the Russian satellite. Politically, we have rested so much on our superiority that we are greatly chagrined."

Bob Considine Says:

Ex-Envoy to China Now Piling Up Millions

NEW YORK (INS) — If you've been wondering what became of Pat Hurley, our colorful former ambassador to China, special emissary to the Kremlin, secretary of war and dealer in the folklore of the old Red River Valley, we can tell you.

Ran into my old friend at the Waldorf the other day and found him sore as a boil at a newspaperman. Me.

HELD BACK

Seems that a few weeks ago I wrote a piece saying that while in Chungking Pat kept a reporter from going up north to write some pieces about that simple agrarian Mao Tse-Tung. Pat says this isn't true, really; that the fellow was really a propagandist, had revealed important military information to communists, who in turn leaked it to the Japanese, and was, as Pat put it, "a seditious S.O.B."

That much taken care of, Pat relaxed and filled me in on what he has been doing of late.

"I found me some uranium," he said. "Found it in three places—Ambrosia Lake, New Mexico, Gas Hills, Wyoming, and in the Wet Mountains of Colorado. Nice little discoveries, I'd say. Even with the market acting up, I'd say I've got four-five million dollars worth of the stuff."

I told him I was going to Russia.

"Now, there's a place," Pat said with emphasis. "I'll tell you the hardest job you'll have. It will be the job of separating the Russian people from your pre-set feelings about communism."

"The old Russky himself is a dam' fine fellow, good-natured, good-humored, and a fine soldier. I was in the field with him at Stalingrad, the only American of my rank — brigadier general, then — permitted to move with the Red Army. I was with Gen. Vatutin's Army 108 kilometers down the basin of the Don when the final push began. We closed in from one side, Zhukov from the other. I went right through the snows with those boys."

SENT TO MOSCOW

I asked him why he had been sent to Moscow in the first place.

"Well, it was Roosevelt's idea, of course," Pat recalled in his expansive way. "You see, I had been in Australia in the days right after the fall of Corregidor, and part of the job was to explain to those people down there, and the New Zealanders, just why Washington figured that the big war was in Europe, not Asia. It wasn't easy, with the Japanese coming closer every day."

"Now, Roosevelt just didn't knew how Stalin felt about the war in Asia, so he sent me over to find out. Stalin would keep you up half the night, gabbing away."

"He didn't think much of the Japanese military might. He told me, 'Even if they overrun a number of countries they can't exploit them except for food. They can't get any war industry production out of them. Let them keep going. Pretty soon they'll run out of the stuff they made from the scrap you sold them.'"

SHOOK HEAD

Pat shook his head. "The Germans were nine hundred miles inside Russia at that time," he continued. "Stalin seemed very calm about that, too. But it was plain that he wanted the bulk of our material to be used against Hitler, not Hirohito. In fact he told me, 'If Hitler takes Russia, you'll lose this war.'"

"I saw a lot of Stalin," Pat said. "He and Molotov were ritualistic communists. They'd just liquidate anybody who got in their way. He was as curious about meeting Roosevelt and Churchill as they were about meeting him. I told him that Roosevelt couldn't be expected to stand when Stalin entered a room, on account of his legs, and I also suggested that the best way to open a meeting was to come in late and yell, 'What the hell's going on here?'"

The matter of Pat's war with former President Truman came up.

"Ol' Harry says in his book I told Charlie Egan (former White House press secretary) to tell Harry he could trust Stalin," Pat complained.

"That's a lie. He was with Stalin long enough at Potsdam to size him up for what he was. But what we fell out over was the secret Yalta papers. The Yalta agreement was the worst mistake this country ever made.

"We, who had tried to tell Asia we were opposed to colonialism and imperialism, okayed a phrase which gave Russia the Asiatic foothold it had lost in 1904. I wired old Harry that this would mean the fall of China and the communist conquest of much of Asia; that it was a violation of the American heritage; that it was lead wrong not to tell the people because the people are the governors of our system. I was terribly right, I'm sorry to say."

Gromyko Cancels Scheduled Sailing

NEW YORK (INS) — Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko who canceled a scheduled sailing yesterday aboard the liner Queen Mary declined to discuss the reason for the change in his "going home" plans.

A Soviet delegation source said

Gromyko would fly back to Moscow instead of going by ship, but declined to say when.

Gromyko said that "in a few days" he would make up his mind as to "when and how" he will leave.

He had no comment on the current world speculation over the fate of Marshal Georgi Zhukov, nor on published reports that he planned a speedy return to Russia to sit in on top-level discussions involving the dismissed defense minister.

Rep. Anderson Keeps State Job

Narrowly Loses Bid to Get Higher Paying County Post

Rep. Lloyd L. Anderson of Waterford Township held onto his state legislative post today after offering to resign yesterday in order to gain a higher-paying county job.

Anderson, a Republican and former township supervisor, narrowly lost out on his bid to capture a vacant seat on the three-member Social Welfare Board.

The $7,500-a-year job for a three-year term, went instead to Thomas W. Leonard, assistant manager of the Oakland County Convalescent Home who has been acting manager since the death of manager Howard R. Estes in July.

Anderson, who is serving his first term as representative from the county's first legislative district, would have had a chance of earning up to $12,000-a-year by combining the welfare board position with that of manager of the convalescent home.

The Board of Supervisors recently authorized the welfare board to select one of its own members as manager of the home at an additional salary of $4,000 a year, as an alternative to hiring an outside director at $8,000 a year.

Leonard, who replaces retiring Charles W. Hamilton on the board, seemed likely to get this combined job when the welfare board next meets. Leonard has been with the convalescent home 23 years.

Other county officials re-appointed yesterday and their terms in office:

Robert Y. Moore, chairman of the board of auditors, three years; Harry J. Merritt, corporation counsel, one year; Lewis C. Jarrendt, civil defense director, one year; Dr. Frank R. Bates, dog warden, one year; George Scott, member of the tuberculosis sanatorium board of trustees, three years; Hugh Dean, member of the board of health, five years; John K. Irwin, member of the department of veteran affairs, three years; R. Clare Cummings, Ernest Seabolt, Howard Warner and David Gerhard, members of the planning commission, three years; and Lyle Baker, citizen member of the employees' retirement board, four years.

Howard K. Kelley, of Royal Oak was appointed to fill an unexpired term on the department of veteran affairs. The term expires at the end of next year.

Doctor Predicts Control of Adult Heart Diseases

ST. LOUIS — The president of the American Heart Assn., Dr. R. W. Wilkins of Boston, said yesterday research will turn up the answers to hardening of the arteries, coronary diseases and high blood pressure within the next 10 years.

Dr. Wilkins spoke before a meeting of the St. Louis Heart Assn.

"We can pretty well prevent the less common heart diseases — rheumatic fever, congenital heart disease — but the big problem is the adult diseases," he said.

"We're going to lick them, too."

Early Tricksters Run Into Beer Treat—for Dad

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — A father complained to police that his child came home with three bottles of beer in his trick-or-treat bag.

Police found the beer donor, a man who explained: "I ran out of cookies and candy so I gave the kids some beer, and told them to take it home to their fathers."

PEQUANNOCK, N.J. (AP) — Two teenage boys inadvertently turned a trick into a treat yesterday when their plan for Halloween mischief ended up all wet.

Julia Lyons, principal of the Pompton Plains Grammar School, spotted the boys soaping 10 cars belonging to teachers. Miss Lyons called the boys' mothers.

As a result, the boys had to add water and elbow grease to the soap and do a thorough job of washing the cars.

Collision on North Perry Injures Both Drivers

The drivers disagreed as to whether Melick halted for a stop sign at the intersection, according to Pontiac police.

Broomfield Returns to Pontiac Vicinity

Rep. William S. Broomfield (R-Royal Oak) and his mobile trailer office will return to the Pontiac area tomorrow for a four-hour stand, from 2-6 p.m., on the grounds of the Trade Fair Market, 332 W. Huron St., west of Telegraph road.

During his two-months swing through Oakland County with the trailer, Broomfield has been visited by more than 2,000 persons, he said.

"The results of the trip have been very gratifying," he said. "The problems discussed on the trailer trip will help me formulate a legislative program for the next year's session of Congress."

Broomfield stopped in downtown Pontiac Sept. 27. He expects to complete the county tour in mid-November.

Farmington Interceptor Project Progresses

Sewer District Allots Shares

Oakland County and the four communities in the proposed Farmington Interceptor Sewer district have agreed on apportioned shares of the total estimated $4,378,000 cost.

Under the agreement approved yesterday by the Board of Supervisors: Farmington Township will pay $2,860,000; West Bloomfield Township, $1,289,000; Keego Harbor, $123,000 and Southfield Township, $105,000.

Charge Pontiac Man Deserted Air Force

Charles W. Brown, special agent in charge of the Detroit office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, today announced the arrest of Robert L. Wilkinson, 30, of 212 Sanderson Ave., on a charge of desertion from the U.S. Air Force. Wilkinson reportedly left the James Connally Air Force Base at Waco, Texas, Aug. 21. Captured in Rochester, he was turned over to military authorities at Fort Wayne, Detroit.

The project is being coordinated by the county's new Department of Public Works, whose director, Harold K. Schone, said he will seek to contract with Detroit for an outlet for the sewer.

When final plans are off the drawing boards, Schone said, this will be the procedure for financing:

The Board of Supervisors will be asked to approve a bond issue to finance the entire project and to be retired through annual payments to the county by each of the communities involved.

The county will be asked to place its full faith and credit behind the bonds, as a means of assuring saleability and a low interest rate.

Each community in turn will place its full faith and credit behind the project and agree that if an annual payment is not met, the county will meet it and later withhold the amount from the community's gasoline or sales tax distribution.

This latter measure will prevent the county from losing money on the venture, Schone pointed out.

The county itself is not sharing in the cost of the project, other than the expense of coordination.

It will be up to each community how to raise its money to pay for the sewer, Schone said.

The agreement sets the date for the first payment on April 1, 1960. Construction should have begun before then, Schone said, but the actual date still has not been set.

Lightning Gives Encore on Farm 43 Years Later

GILLETTE, Wyo. (AP) — You'll have a hard time convincing Henry Edwards, 62, that lightning doesn't strike the same place twice.

Edwards lost his hearing after being struck by lightning while herding sheep near Gillette in 1914.

This summer he was struck by lightning again — within two miles of the first incident.

He was knocked unconscious by the lightning bolt, but regained his senses in time to extinguish a fire in his sheep wagon.

One Year After Suez War

New Sore Spot in Mideast

By TOM HEENSHAW
AP Feature Writer

Nearly a year has gone by since the brief but frightening Suez War. And now, the Middle East is choosing up sides to face what could be a similar shooting war. The shooting, however, would be the only similarity. In the 12 months since Suez, one critical event after another has twisted the Arab political world out of shape.

Arab hatred of Israel is about the only alignment of significance that wasn't moved down by the Suez fighting. Even that has been shoved into the background. Before Suez:

1. Britain and France, although their powers were on the wane, were top dogs in exerting outside influence. The United States and Russia clucked and encouraged from the sidelines.

2. Egyptian President Nasser was the kingpin of an Arab military alliance, professing neutrality between East and West, that included Egypt, Jordan, Syria and Saudi Arabia.

3. Turkey was an unknown quantity, quietly building its armed forces with an eye to traditional enemy, Russia, and concerned with internal political and economic problems.

After Suez:

1. The Middle East has become a major battlefield in the Cold War with the United States and Russia openly contesting for influence. Britain and France have secondary roles.

2. The Nasser-built alliance has broken up, with Egypt and Communist-dominated Syria on one side, and the "Three Kings Bloc" of Iraq, Jordan and Saudi Arabia on the other.

3. Turkey has become deeply involved in Middle East power politics, with a large part of its army deployed in defensive positions along its border with pro-Red Syria.

The Suez War started last Oct. 29 when Israel invaded Egypt's Sinai Peninsula. Two days later, France and Britain entered the fighting. The world hovered on the brink of general war.

But the United Nations, with strong American backing, obtained a cease fire. Israeli, British and French troops withdrew and U.N. patrols were instituted to keep the peace in the Gaza Strip and the Gulf of Aqaba.

After the Suez Canal was cleared of Egyptian-scuttled ships and bridges, it appeared that the Middle East was right back where it started. But time has made it apparent that the Suez War was a major turning point.

It reduced British and French influence to a low ebb. The defeat of his armies dealt a stunning blow to Nasser's prestige. The war left a power vacuum in the area.

The United States plunged headlong into the breach with the Eisenhower Doctrine authorizing immediate American military aid at the request of a victim of Middle East aggression.

Russia moved more quietly. Soviet arms shipments to Egypt and Syria were stepped up and more and more Russian technicians were dispatched to the two countries.

A leftist attempt to oust Jordan's young King Hussein was nipped in April with the result that a worried King Saud of Saudi Arabia buried at least temporarily his feud with the Hashemite kings, Hussein and

Soviets Claim Asian Flu Cure

Horse Serum Powder
Inhaled in Nostrils Is Supposed to Kill Virus

By EDWIN DIAMOND
INS Science Writer
WASHINGTON (INS)—A Soviet woman doctor today claimed Russia has developed a quick acting, cheap and highly effective "cure" for the Asian flu.

Dr. A. K. Shubladze, of the Ivanov Institute of Virology in Moscow, said the cure is a powder made from horse serum and inhaled in the nostrils, like snuff.

Dr. Shubladze said drug stores in the Soviet Union have ample stocks of the powder right now to take care of the needs of Russia's 205 million citizens.

She said the powder is sold without a prescription and costs one ruble (25 cents) for three doses. If sniffed in sufficient quantities when the flu is just getting started, she said, the virus is quickly and effectively knocked out.

The doctor made her claims at a news conference at the National Academy of Sciences in Washington. The conference was held for a delegation of six Russian women scientists visiting U. S. medical institutions under a State Department exchange arrangement.

A vivacious, dark-eyed and matronly woman, Dr. Shubladze was described as the leading Soviet virus expert and the developer of a vaccine that has achieved modest results against the ravages of multiple sclerosis.

She, like each of the other Soviet women scientists, was dressed in a modestly cut but conservative dark blue suit with a contrasting white blouse.

Dr. Shubladze made these points about the Soviet Union's experience with Asian flu:

—The Russians expect the Asian Flu to "flare up" across the Soviet Union this year.

—Soviet scientists have developed a live-virus vaccine to prevent Asian flu, but it is not now available in sufficient quantities to give the public protection against the new virus.

Retirement Is Boring Without Activities

By RAY HENRY

One thing is sure about retirement: You're not going to find it pleasant if you're bored. You're going to be bored if you don't have things to occupy your mind and hands.

This was reconfirmed for me recently on a trip to Chicago, Detroit and Cleveland to interview a number of older people who've made a success of retirement.

Take the 75-year-old former psychology teacher in Detroit. She didn't really quit working until about a year ago when she had a mild heart attack and later broke her hip in a fall.

Because she no longer had the physical stamina to be as active as she'd like, she turned to writing fiction — something she'd never tried before.

Now, she's as happy as any budding author, looking forward to selling her work and has 18,000 words toward a book-length mystery.

Another Detroitier I talked to was a purchasing director for a large manufacturer. When he was forced to retire at 70, he turned to a Lutheran charity organization since he'd been active in his own Lutheran church for years.

Now, at 72, he's the administrative assistant to the director of the organization and says he "wouldn't last six months if I didn't have this work."

In Chicago, a former president of a large perfume company has found an outlet for keeping busy by running the financial end of a non-profit business called Senior Achievement, Inc., set up to give hundreds of people 65 or over a little extra money and a sense of accomplishment.

RETIREMENT BORING

At 63, he tried doing nothing in retirement for about a year.

This was after he'd sold his perfume company to another firm because he felt the pressure was too great. He found quiet retirement so boring that he started hunting for some sort of worthwhile activity. Being treasurer of Senior Achievement turned out to be it.

Now, at 67, he's got almost as many pressures and worries as he ever had. And, he loves it.

Nearly all the older people doing the assembling and packaging done for Chicago firms by Senior Achievement are good examples of why a person should plan on being active in retirement.

The man in charge of keeping it going, Dr. David Sonquist, is one.

He'd probably never admit it, but his work is really a retirement project for him.

He's 67 and, until 1935, when Senior Achievement went into operation, he'd been a professor of sociology at a number of colleges around the country.

Now, as a labor of love, he's the plant manager of a going business — something he never thought he'd be involved in, let alone running.

In Cleveland, I talked with a 78-year-old man who'd been a maintenance man for a large manufacturer until 1950 when Buergher's disease forced the amputation of his left leg and shriveled up the other.

Now, with his wife, he spends his time writing, reading and attending poetry classes at the Cleveland Golden Age Center. Navigating

'Whatnik' With Russian Letters?—Fakenik, Friend

LOS ANGELES (U)—Now about that "whatnik" with the Russian lettering:
It's a fakenik, comrade—a good old American practical joke.

The whatnik, three feet long with fins and a spinner, was found Monday alongside a mountain highway by a motorist. He turned the gadget over to authorities.

Lettering on the whatnik's side was translated as Russian words for "Russian government." However, the Air Force checked the object and reported yesterday that the whatnik's parts were as American as the corner war surplus store. In fact, that's where most of them probably came from, a spokesman said.

He added that the whatnik apparently was planted by a practical joker who had read too many space satellite stories.

By JOHN H. MARTIN
INS Foreign Director

The grenade action which wounded Premier David Ben-Gurion and other Israeli leaders raises this question: Was this an isolated incident or part of a calculated Red plot?

On the Soviet propaganda calendar this was supposed to be the "war week," precipitated by an American-backed Turkish attack on Syria after last Sunday's Turkish elections.

HURLED GRENADE

The man who hurled the grenade in the Jerusalem Parliament is described as an Iraqi "religious crank," a mental case who was arrested a year ago for trying to set fire to a hospital.

Israeli police still are investigating the ramifications of this act, however, because of the dangerous Arab-Israeli situation abetted by Soviet maneuverings in the Middle East.

It was recalled that when Jordanian King Abdullah was assassinated in 1951 in Jerusalem an original belief was that the assassin was a religious fanatic. But it turned out to be political. The assassin was killed and four other Arab nationalists were hanged later for complicity.

PLOT REVEALED

Events could reveal an organized plot of some kind since the Middle East seethes with intrigue, not only Arab-Israeli, but also Arab versus Arab. Such a development would not necessarily mean that Communists hoped to spark a new war, but it could mean Red distraction of attention from Russian internal troubles.

Western observers branded it propaganda when Soviet party boss Nikita Khrushchev, Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and the Syrian-Egyptian bloc weeks ago began warning of the danger of a Turkish attack on Syria.

This was qualified only by a failure to know just what the Soviets were trying to do. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles made it very clear that any Communist-inspired attack on Turkey would not allow the Soviet Union to become a "privileged sanctuary" as was Red China when it intervened in the Korean War.

Dulles in his Oct. 16 warning to Russia also cautioned that the war of nerves against Turkey might be a "smokescreen" behind which "something more serious... may be taking place."

It now develops in this half-dozen week of gobs that something serious is taking place inside the Soviet Union, in the upsurge that began with the firing of Soviet Marshal Georgi Zhukov from his defense ministry post.

Khrushchev, who engineered this act while Zhukov was abroad and while Russia was hammering away at the danger of a so-called Turkish attack on Syria, now blandly says Zhukov will get another job of some kind, that tension has eased and there will be no war.

His Moscow remarks made his U.N. mechanic Gromyko look pretty foolish. Gromyko at about the same time again was sounding off on the Turkish-Syrian war scare theme in the U.N., unaware his boss had reversed his field.

Swing King VIBRATOR PLUS SPEED CONTROL

Nerves," says Doctor

Want to enjoy a new "wake-up" feeling? Here's what a physician has to say about his Swing King Vibrator Chair: "It massages the entire body and tones the muscles and tissues. The action vitalizes and invigorates and thus it renews physical vigor."

Vibration-Massage Helps
Relieve Nervous Tensions

Clinics and hospitals have long used massage and vibration for physical therapy and easing of tensions. With a Kenmar Swing King Vibrator Chair you can have the advantages of massage and vibration right in your own home, while you read, relax or enjoy TV. Just settle back, flip the switch, and instantly you feel soothing vibration flow through your entire body, quickly relaxing tense muscles and nerves.

Stimulates Circulation

It is generally recognized that vibration and massage stimulate circulation—which in turn tends to vitalize and invigorate the entire body. This new chair stimulates circulation with penetrating vibration that flows through shoulders, back, arms and legs, producing a grand feeling of well-being.

Helps Relieve Neuritic Pains
Gentle massage is often prescribed by doctors for relief of so-called neuritic pains in the extremities. This new chair does the massaging for you, with soothing vibration.

Overweight? Massage
May Help You Reduce!

Vibration or massage by itself cannot counteract overweight. But overeating is often a compulsive reaction of nervous tension. Relaxing in the Swing King Vibrator Massage Chair can help reduce these tensions, and so aid in the natural loss of weight.

Mideast Crisis Solution Sought

Rival Proposals Before
U.N. General Assembly
Doomed to Failure

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—A move grew in the United Nations today to seek some compromise approach to dissipate the tension between Turkey and Syria. Rival resolutions already submitted to the Assembly appeared doomed to failure.

Statements by Russian and Syrian spokesmen abroad meanwhile indicated that the crisis over Russian military aid to Syria and along the Turkish-Syrian border was simmering down. The United States and Turkey have contended all along that Russia whipped up the tension to win the Arabs to the Soviet side.

Many U. N. delegates believe the only plan likely to get Assembly approval would be a watered-down proposal citing Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld as a possible go-between and promising some kind of investigation. Hammarskjöld told reporters he might issue a statement today, depending on the "state of developments."

An Assembly session scheduled for today was postponed until 10:30 a.m. tomorrow.

It seemed unlikely that the 82-nation Assembly would give the needed two-thirds majority to Syria's proposal to send a fact-finding commission to investigate the border situation, or to the seven-nation Western resolution expressing confidence that Hammarskjöld would mediate the dispute.

Western diplomats expressed the view that the Russian-Syrian warnings that the United States and Turkey are about to touch off a war are so phony that to appoint an inquiry commission would give them unwarranted dignity.

Syria, on the other hand, was reported to have told Hammarskjöld she would not approve his appointment as mediator on grounds it would mean the Assembly was shirking its duty in favor of the secretary general.

The Kremlin was originally built as a walled fortress and contained all of the city of Moscow.

Red Penetration Result of Pact

Agreement Viewed as Open Door in Area

WASHINGTON (AP)—Top officials today forecast that vastly increased Soviet penetration of Syria would result from a newly concluded Soviet-Syrian economic aid agreement.

Russia will be in a position under terms of the accord, they said, to triple or quadruple the number of Soviet technicians in Syria with the excuse it is helping build up Syria's economy. An estimated 250 Russian technicians are there now.

The Soviet-Syrian agreement, announced Monday, promises about 200 million dollars in aid, including technical assistance.

Authorities who have studied the terms said that Russia has effectively hitched Syria's economy to that of the Soviet bloc. If the agreement is carried out, they said, Syria will be totally dependent on Russia and its satellites. Syria's exports of cotton, tobacco and wheat will go to the Communist countries for an indefinite period.

These officials expressed belief that Syria would find repayment of the promised Soviet favors far more difficult than it would seem on paper. The 2½ per cent interest rate Russia is charging for aid, they said, may turn out to be a mirage once the fine print which allows for readjustments is consulted.

The aid agreement follows up but is separate from the secret military aid pact Russia already has signed with the Damascus regime. Under this, large quantities of military equipment have been delivered to Syria during the past 18 months.

Some officials feel that the action of the Syrian government in agreeing to such vast Soviet assistance shows that Syrian leaders seem anxious to become part of the Soviet bloc instead of sticking to their pledges to remain independent.

Syria has consistently rejected American aid with the explanation that the "conditions" attached to it would interfere with its sovereignty as an independent Mideast country.

Some Beach Cards Called Obscene by Jury

FOLKSTONE, England — Nine postcards out of 32 seized at Folkstone, English seaside city, were obscene, according to a jury of 12 men who studied them. The cards were the saucy variety with joke lines running under flamboyant pictures of shapely young girls or obese women.

They showed, according to the prosecutor, Malcolm Morris, what is generally termed "the worm's eye view of life." Peter Rawlinson, attorney defending Herbert Reid, director of the card publishing firm, said the cards showed "red-bloodedness, robustness and perhaps vulgarity."

"If your primary reaction is to laugh," the prosecutor admitted, "the likelihood of a postcard depraving or corrupting is generally less." "How many sins can be laid at the feet of fat women in these cards?" asked Rawlinson.

Fall Vacation Not on Calendar

Critical National Tasks, World Crises Keep Ike
From August Rest

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON (INS)—President Eisenhower—planning a vacation—said yesterday he can recall no single day since the Egyptians seized the Suez Canal 15 months ago that a critical problem has not been laid on his desk.

Asked whether this situation has been sapping his physical and mental strength, Ike replied that it is a bit wearing, but endurable if you have his faith in America.

Looking fit and full of vigor, the President reminded the newsmen that he has usually managed a week's respite on the Augusta, Ga. golf links in November.

This year, he added, he is afraid he will have to forego that pleasure, despite the fact that his Newport vacation was frequently interrupted by business trips to the White House and world-shaking decisions of state.

A bit sadly, he said this seems to be "one of those falls" when he has a lot of things on his slate.

Two of them are an all-important meeting early in December of bipartisan Congressional leaders from both houses, and a personal trip to the Paris NATO conference later that month.

Between times, he is faced with the continuing Little Rock integration crisis, the mounting cost of living, and the task of winning Congressional support for relaxation of our security laws governing atomic information.

On the latter count, Ike said that we are in the curious position of keeping secret from our friends (allies) information that is already known to our enemies.

Several members of the Joint Congressional Atomic Energy Committee have already indicated that they will oppose any easing of the atomic McMahon act because they do not trust Britain's security measures.

Graceful Grapes Give Glamor

Graceful grapes are in favor for more than their flavor today. In many a florist's window, or on the home table, symmetrical bunches of grapes join flowers or fruits for a vivid arrangement.

Small clusters of grapes also are making their bow as a glamorous garnish with baked chicken or capon, with creamed fish in patty shells and with molded salads.

A group of food editors recently taste-tested Salmon Veronique, in which a cup seeded green grapes were added to the sauce in the final minute of cooking. When used in a sauce, merely heat grapes, never cook.

Gilded Grapes

Moist grapes are easily "frosted" in powdered sugar. However, they are still more appealing in salad or dessert when gilded.

Cut grapes into small bunches; wash and drain well. Whip 1 egg white to a froth. Dip each small cluster of grapes in egg; drain off excess. Have ready a small bowl of granulated sugar.

Dip grapes carefully in sugar, turning to coat evenly. Place grapes in a single layer on waxed paper; let dry several hours at room temperature.

OATMEAL YEAST BREAD — For delicious eating at breakfast or for tea this cinnamon swirl loaf is perfect. The loaf may also be made plain or formed into dinner rolls. In any form it will become a family favorite.

Basic Oatmeal Bread Takes Several Forms

Never let it be said that the art of bread baking belongs in the era of high button shoes! While commercial bakeries today supply most of the bread for our diets, it still is a joy to be able to set a basket of fresh-from-the-oven rolls or slices of a crusty loaf of bread on the table. Those people who have not felt the thrill of molding springy yeast dough into attractive shapes do not know the full joy of baking.

This recipe for a basic Oatmeal Yeast Bread in your file of favorites will find uses over and over again.

OATMEAL YEAST BREAD Dough
3 packages or 3 cakes compressed or dry yeast
1 1/2 cups lukewarm water
1 1/2 cups scalded milk
1/2 cup melted shortening
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
8 1/2 to 9 cups sifted enriched flour
2 eggs, beaten
1 1/2 cups oats (quick or old-fashioned, uncooked)

Filling for 1 Loaf
1 tablespoon melted butter
1/2 cup sugar
2 teaspoons cinnamon
Soften yeast in lukewarm water. (Use warm water for dry yeast.) Pour scalded milk and melted shortening over sugar and salt, stirring lightly. Cool to lukewarm. Stir in 1 cup flour and eggs; add softened yeast and oats. Stir in enough more flour to make a soft dough.

Turn out on lightly floured board or canvas; knead until satiny, about 10 minutes. Round dough into ball; place in greased bowl; brush lightly with melted shortening. Cover and let rise in warm place until double in size, about 1 hour.

Punch dough down; cover and let rest 10 minutes. Divide dough into 3 parts. Roll out one part of dough to form a rectangle 8 x 24 inches. Brush with melted butter; sprinkle sugar and cinnamon mixture over butter. Roll up dough, starting at short end; place in well-greased bread pan (1 lb. size). Grease top of loaf lightly.

Shape remaining two pieces of dough into 2 dozen rolls of desired shape; place on greased cookie sheets or in pans; lightly brush tops of rolls with melted shortening. Let loaf and rolls rise until nearly double in size, about 45 minutes.

Tapoca cream, garnished with a little whipped cream and a glistering small square of red jelly, will intrigue your family and guests.

Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 45 minutes for loaf and about 15 minutes for rolls. Remove from pan and cook sheets; brush with melted butter or margarine. Cool thoroughly. Makes 1 loaf and 2 dozen rolls.

Pumpkin or Squash? Who Knows

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (INS) — The best pumpkin pies aren't made out of pumpkin at all—they are made from squash.

Or so say the garden experts at Indiana's big agricultural school—Purdue University.

To those who wonder about the difference, the experts offer this rule: A true squash has a rounded stem and a protruding blossom end. A pumpkin may have one or the other, but never both.

Variety names are a help, too. If the homemaker is buying her pumpkin and squash at the farm level, and not already cooked and canned.

Hubbard, Buttercup, Delicious, Banana, Mammoth and Chili all are squashes.

Table Queen, Acorn, Butternut, Cushaw, Cocozell, Zucchini and Yellow Straight or Crook Neck, are pumpkins, even though they more often are called squash.

It's all very confusing and even state fair and show exhibitors who should know, often identify squash as pumpkin and pumpkin as squash.

Brown Rice in Oil Before Adding Water

In Spain, where rice is served at nearly every meal, they have a trick for keeping each grain fluffy and separate in cooking. The raw rice is first browned in hot Spanish olive oil, 2 or 3 tablespoons of oil for each cup of rice.

Then water and salt are added: 2 cups of water for each cup of rice is plenty. Bring to a boil, covered, lower heat and cook just 20 minutes, then turn off heat and let rice stand covered in the pan another 5 minutes.

The same trick can be used with packaged pre-cooked rice, too. Brown the rice in olive oil, then add the amount of water called for on the package and simmer over low heat about 10 minutes. Let stand covered 2 minutes. This will please the most discriminating rice-lovers.

New Meat Laws in Effect Make Grading Uniform

Meat advertising means more to consumers than it did before September 27, 1957, states the MSU Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawler. Legislation passed at the last session of Michigan lawmakers included new rules concerning meat which went into effect September 27.

Any meat described by the use of the words "prime," "choice," or "good" must bear the "USDA" federal stamp designating these grades or the meat must be of equal quality as the federal grade would designate. Now these descriptive words must relate to quality, and this in turn is your guide to tenderness and flavor.

Your Sunday morning brunch specialty could be hot buttered walleyes topped with bubbly hot canned apple sauce that has been blended to taste with honey, powdered cloves, cinnamon and nutmeg.

Learn Art of Making Good Split-Pea Soup

For all of its mouth-watering, hearty goodness, pea soup is extremely inexpensive. It is also loaded with nutritive value, being an important source of natural protein, vitamins and minerals.

Want to delight your family and yourself? Brew up a luscious, old-fashioned pot of home-made split pea soup tonight, using dried split peas and fresh vegetables. It's easy to create split pea soup that's so good that famous restaurants have built their reputations on it!

Tip On Making Split-Pea Soup

It may surprise you to learn that dry split peas do not require soaking. In fact, soaking results in a loss of natural flavor and color. When whole peas are split, the hard, water-resistant covering (which protects the porous, absorbent inside kernel) is removed. For this reason, too, you'll need to puree split pea soup only when you especially want a very smooth soup.

To retain the subtle flavor of split peas, start your soup with water that is already boiling, and cook it in a tightly covered pan.

Split-Pea Soup (Meatless)

1 cup (7 ounces) split peas
4 cups boiling water
2 tablespoons finely diced carrot
1 tablespoon finely diced onion
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon black pepper

Combine all ingredients in heavy cooking pot; cover. Bring to boil; let boil gently for 1 1/2 hours, stirring occasionally. Puree. Measure. If necessary, add enough hot water to make 1 quart.

Split-Pea Soup

1 small ham shank
Cold water to cover
1 cup coarsely chopped onion
1 cup (7 ounces) split peas
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon black pepper
Wash ham shank; place in deep, heavy cooking pot; add cold water to cover shank; cover pot; simmer gently until meat is tender. Strain broth, cool, then skim off fat. Measure skimmed broth; if necessary, add enough hot water to make 1 quart of liquid. Heat broth to boiling point; add onion. Add peas with salt and pepper to broth. Cover pot; bring to boil, reduce heat and let simmer gently for 1 to 1 1/2 hours; stir occasionally. Puree; measure; if necessary add hot water to make 1 quart. Reheat to serve.

Grind Cooked Liver to Use in Tomatoes

Tomatoes Stuffed With Liver
3 large or 4 small tomatoes (about 1 pound)
1 cup cooked ground liver
Grated onion
Mayonnaise or commercially prepared salad dressing
Salt, pepper
Thinly sliced cucumber
1/2 cup green French dressing

If large tomatoes are used, cut in half; cut thin slices from bottoms if necessary to have stand straight. Cut out insides in a plug shape; scoop out seeds from inside and from plug and discard; dice scooped-out pulp. If small tomatoes are used, hollow out and dice pulp (discarding seeds) the same way, but leave whole.

Mix diced tomato pulp and ground liver with onion, mayonnaise, salt and pepper to taste. Spoon into tomato shells; garnish tops with sliced cucumbers; serve on salad greens with French dressing if desired.

Old World Flavor

An unmistakable touch of old world flavor in baking is found in caraway seed bread sticks. Trim crusts from enriched bread slices and brush with melted butter or margarine. Cut into inch-wide strips and roll in caraway seeds. Toast on a cookie sheet in a moderate oven.

Beet Flowers Are So Pretty

Crisp greens form a frilly collar for red and white petals... that's today's canned sliced beet and egg salad with a tangy dressing. It not only looks pretty on your table, but wins votes of approval for being just as good as it is pretty. The lightness and tanginess of the salad make it a wonderful accompaniment for hearty main dishes on these cool days.

Canned beets are convenient to have on hand... a can in the refrigerator for salads or pickled beets, and a can on the shelf for hot dishes. Sweet-sour beets or horseradish buttered beets make pork roast sparkle; spicy buttered beets with apple slices are excellent with lamb chops.

Beet Petal Salad

1/2 cup mayonnaise
1 teaspoon prepared horseradish
1/2 cup sliced green peas
2 tablespoons sliced sweet pickles
1 tablespoon grated onion
1 can (10 oz.) sliced beets
1/2 cup green French dressing
3 hard cooked eggs
Mix mayonnaise, horseradish, mustard, pickles and onion; chill. Put drained chilled beets on salad greens in a flower-like arrangement. Sprinkle the outside petals with finely chopped egg white and the center with sieved egg yolk. Pass the dressing. Four servings.

Heartier Kind of Sandwich Appeals Now

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE

With the coming of crisp, fall days, sandwich makers find light, summer-type sandwiches are not sufficient to satisfy hungry guests or member of the family.

Here's what many Portland, Oregon people are planning for Halloween and Thanksgiving parties: Eight slices of bread, softened butter or margarine, two teaspoons chopped onion, two eggs, beaten; one-fourth cup cubed canned luncheon meat, one tablespoon mayonnaise or salad dressing, one tablespoon chopped green pepper.

Melt two teaspoons butter or margarine in skillet and add onion. Cook until golden. Blend mayonnaise or salad dressing with beaten eggs and stir in green pepper and meat. Add egg mixture to onion mixture in skillet and cook gently—as if for scrambled eggs—until mixture sets.

Spoon mixture on four slices bread which have been spread with butter or margarine. Cover with remaining four slices of bread to make four sandwiches.

A can of minced clams (about 7 ounces) plus garlic and olive oil makes a wonderful sauce for a half pound of spaghetti.

Fryers and Mich. Apples Lead Food Bargains Now

Although a few snow flurries may have convinced you that the season for stews and roasts is here again, the wise shopper will not overlook what is happening to the supply and price situation. Less consumer demand for fryers at this time of year and large supplies in the market mean budget prices reports the MSU Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawyer.

A look at red meats shows pork supplies still fluctuating and cuts about the same prices as last week. Wholesale beef costs are up slightly, but this is not noticeable at retail level. Some beef cuts are featured at ten cents less per pound. In the produce department, apples continue to be the appealing fruit choice. Grapefruit is improving in flavor. Vegetable choices to keep on the market list include potatoes, onions, carrots and cabbage.

MEATS

The U.S.D.A. reports a percent more fryers are expected this November than last. Price-wise they represent a wise meat choice.

At home, unwrap fryers and re-wrap them in wax paper or cover loosely with foil. Keep in the meat compartment of the refrigerator and use within one to two days if cut ready for frying. If fryers are whole they will keep 2 to 3 days. However, for best flavor, it is always wise to use fryers the day they are bought.

This is the time of year when forequarter cuts of beef are more in demand. This encourages "features" on some hindquarter cuts. It might be the time to freeze include lemons, limes, Florida oranges as well as those from California, and Florida grapefruit. Next month's Florida oranges and grapefruit should be juicier and tastier, but already flavor has improved since the beginning of the citrus season.

Most Michigan potatoes range from 3 to 6 cents per pound depending upon size of the unit. Potatoes can be cooked many ways, but those cooked in a small amount of boiling water with their jackets on are the ones with the best nutrition.

Cabbage served raw is an easy way to add Vitamin C in the day's meals. Although supplies are not quite as large as last year, no noticeable price differences are expected. At 5 to 10 cents a pound in most stores it becomes a must for the market list.

Apple Cranberry Salad

1 cup ground raw cranberries
1 cup hot water
1 cup ground or chopped unpared apples

1 cup sugar
1 package lemon gelatin
1 cup pineapple juice
1/2 cup seeded grape halves
1/4 cup walnut meats

Simple China Nest Egg
Fools Cobra's Mate

HOPEFIELD, S. Africa—An egg-stealing cobra died from eating a china nest egg on the farm of W. Visser, near Hopefield in South Africa's Cape district. Two snakes had been getting fat on the eggs of hundreds of hens but the native farm hand, Jacob, would not let them.

He had been told the legend that "If you kill a snake its mate will follow you right to your bed and there do you in."

So farmer Visser sat in his poultry runs with his gun, until he was able to kill one of the yellow cobras. The other escaped but was found sometime later, dead and swollen in the middle. A post-mortem showed it had died of indigestion.

Age limits were set at between 19 and 25 and the Michigan representatives must be available for employment at the fair between April and October of 1958.

The state will pay $2,000 of the expenses but contributions from groups interested in sponsoring a young Michigan delegate were asked.

Only when they got to the checkout stand did he raise a question. He pointed to a can and asked, "Can't we get along without this?"

In her eagerness Carol had bought a can of cat food for John.

Apple Pies Win Prizes in Contest

"YOURS LOOKS GOOD"—Marilyn Matthews (left) of West Thirteen Mile, Walled Lake, admires the apple pie made by Mrs. Everett Sherrick (right) of Pine Tree road, Orchard Lake.

Both were winners in Saturday's contest, sponsored by the West Bloomfield Kiwanis Club, in celebration of local Apple Week.

Pontiac Press Home Editor

In connection with the celebration of Apple Week the county's first apple pie contest was held Saturday at West Bloomfield High School. Winners from preliminary contests competed in two divisions—experienced homemakers and school girls.

Bridegrooms of the future need not worry about getting pies like mother used to make. They may get better ones! The pies submitted by the junior cooks were every bit as good as the ones baked by their older competitors. No one used any mixer; the art of pastry making has not been lost.

All kinds of apples were used. The two winners used Jonathans and Northern Spies, while a runner-up used Baldwins. If your apples are not tart enough, they say, put a little lemon juice with them.

For the crust most of the contestants used homogenized vegetable shortening. Few young cooks seem to know what good pie crust can be made from lard.

Although you may have your own special recipe for apple pie, we think you will be interested in these prize-winning ones.

Mrs. Everett Sherrick of Orchard Lake has never entered a pie contest before. But she said people are always telling her what good pie she makes and she wanted to find out if they were right. Her two sons like her pies. The judges did too.

APPLE PIE

By Mrs. Everett Sherrick

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup vegetable shortening
1/4 cup water

Sift flour and salt into a bowl. Take out 1-3 cup of this and mix with the water to form a paste. Cut shortening into remaining flour until it is fine and crumbly.

Add flour-paste mixture to the crumbly mixture. Mix thoroughly until the dough comes together and can be shaped into a ball. Roll out for two 10-inch crusts.

Filling
8-10 Jonathan apples
1/2 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg

Peel and slice apples (not too thin). Mix other ingredients together and put half over bottom crust. Add apples, sprinkle with remaining dry ingredients.

Dot with bits of butter (1 teaspoon). Put on top crust. Bake at 425 degrees for 10 minutes. Reduce heat to 350 degrees and bake for 35 minutes or until juice begins to bubble.

Eighty-grader Marilyn Matthews of Walled Lake made four pies the night before the contest so that she could enter the best one. The week before the contest she made six pies. Although Marilyn has been cooking since she was seven years old, pie making is a new accomplishment.

Here is Marilyn's recipe, with which she scored 91 out of a possible 100 points.

APPLE PIE

By Marilyn Matthews

2 1/2 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup vegetable shortening
1/4 cup water

Sift flour and salt into bowl. Cut shortening into flour until pieces are about the size of small peas. Blend in water until pastry is ready to roll. Line a 10-inch pan with pastry.

Filling
6 large-tart apples (Northern Spies)
1/2 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon lemon juice
1/4 teaspoon flour
1/4 teaspoon butter

Pare and slice apples. Combine other ingredients in small bowl. Mix with apples and pour into pastry-lined pan. Add top crust. Bake at 425 degrees for 10 minutes. Reduce heat to 350 degrees and bake for another 25-30 minutes.

Stuff Prune as Surprise in Lamb Patty

Fruited Lamb Patties take just minutes to put together... then broil for 10 minutes and dinner is ready.

What is the fruit? Each lamb patty is shaped around a prune which has been pitted and stuffed with crisp chopped bacon.

Fresh fried potatoes, creamed peas, tomato and cottage cheese salad plus your favorite type loaf cake, and the menu is complete.

Fruited Lamb Patties

1 pound ground lamb
2 slices bacon
4 cooked prunes, pitted
1/2 cup crushed corn flakes
1 egg
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup milk

Chop bacon, cook until crisp and fill center of prunes. Combine lamb, corn flakes, egg, salt and milk; mix well. Divide mixture into four parts and shape each around a stuffed prune to form a patty.

Place patties on broiler rack. Insert broiler pan and rack allowing 2 inches between heat and surface of meat. Broil patties on one side until they are brown, 8 to 10 minutes. Turn and brown.

If you want crusty potatoes around your roast beef, do not par on second side. Yield: 4 servings.

You can substitute maple syrup for the water or milk called for in a regular confectioners' sugar frosting.

Figs Add Taste of West to Meat

Serve a luscious, hot, fresh hamburger on the usual hot bun with the usual fixings. Be sure you serve it on a hot plate. Beside it place warm, crisp potato chips. Then—and best of all place 3 or 4 Lemon and Spice Figs, carefully drained of syrup, beside the hamburger. Marvelous.

Lemon and Spice Figs

About 30 dried figs
3 cups water
1 large lemon, sliced
1/2 cup sugar
2 tablespoons cider vinegar
1 teaspoon cloves
3 teaspoons more or nutmeg

Place figs and other ingredients in a saucepan. Cook slowly, covered, for about 45 minutes or until the figs are rather glassy looking. Add more water if needed, but see that the syrup is cooked down and rich. Drain the figs, carefully. Serve warm with any meat or fowl.

The One Flour for All Your Baking!

BEUF STEW — Beef stew is a family favorite with young and old. It's delicious aroma welcomes the family to the dinner table on a cool autumn evening. Beef stew can be enjoyed in many ways with changes of herbs and fresh vegetables.

Beef Stew Will Furnish Oldsters With Protein

Meat is an excellent food for our senior citizens. Many of us are cherishing these older folks in our homes, so let's help keep them well and happy with a properly balanced diet. A yardstick of protein foods, meat is very important to older people.

No longer is a "tea and toast" diet endorsed for people in the autumn of life. And here's a perfect nutritious main dish meal with a "stick to the ribs" feeling of satisfaction. It's good old fashioned Family Beef Stew accompanied by a trio of root vegetables, fresh carrots, onions and potatoes.

Choose beef stew meat cut from lean, grass-fed beef which has the complete high quality protein, B vitamins and essential minerals found in all meat. Grass-fed beef, brought to market directly from the grassy plains, makes ideal stew meat and gives you a great deal of flavor.

Beef stew can be enjoyed often. It can be altered with happy results. Vary your selection of herbs, choose your fresh vegetables according to the season, stew your meat without browning, or liven up the cooking liquid with tomato juice or wine. Any one of these changes will give you a new and different beef stew. It's an easy way to give your family a nutritious meat-and-vegetable dish.

Family Beef Stew

1 1/2 pounds of beef stew meat, cut in 1 1/2-inch pieces
1 1/2 teaspoons salt, divided
1/2 teaspoon pepper
3 tablespoons flour
3 tablespoons fat
3 cup water
1/4 teaspoon each marjoram, savory, thyme
12 small white onions, peeled
6 medium carrots, scraped and halved
3 cups hot seasoned mashed potatoes
8 tablespoons finely chopped parsley

Blend together 1/2 teaspoon of the salt, pepper and flour; roll pieces of meat in blended mixture; reserve left-over flour. Heat fat in a heavy kettle; add beef and brown on all sides. Add water, 1/2 teaspoon of the salt, and herbs. Cover; simmer 2 to 2 1/2 hours, or until meat is almost tender. Add remaining 1/2 teaspoon salt, onions and carrots; cover and cook until vegetables are tender.

Measure reserved flour. If necessary, add enough additional flour to make 2 tablespoons. Add 3 tablespoons cold water; stir to a smooth paste. Gradually add to stew, stirring constantly, until thickened. Turn into serving dish or serve in Dutch oven; spoon potatoes in border around edge. Sprinkle parsley over top. Yield: 6 servings.

Serve a Hearty Soup as One Dish Meal

There seems to be a general revival of the happy custom of getting a meal off to a good start with a bowl of appetite-tempting soup. In most European countries and in certain sections of the United States, the tradition of soup as an integral part of dinner, or even lunch, was never abandoned. For many of us, the memories of childhood are interwoven with the good smells from a bubbling pot in the kitchen and the welcome of a big bowl of soup at the table.

Today's cooks can make soups that rival and surpass those of the good old days with ease, and have time to spare. Here are 2 unusual soup recipes both with a vitamin-packed navy bean base. Easy to prepare, each is guaranteed to invite seconds.

Hot and Hearty

2 cups dry navy beans
1 smoked ham hock (about 1/2 lb.)
1 bay leaf
1/4 teaspoon thyme
2 whole cloves
1 large onion, chopped
1 1/2 cups "iced" carrots
1/2 cup chopped celery and leaves
Salt and pepper to taste
Chopped parsley

Boil beans with ham in 2 quarts of boiling water till beans are partly tender. Add remaining ingredients except salt, pepper and parsley. Simmer until beans are soft, adding more water if necessary. Remove ham hock and cut meat into medium-sized pieces and return to soup. Add salt and pepper and garnish each serving with parsley. Serves 6 to 8.

Rich with vegetables, this meatless soup makes an appetizing Friday dinner beginner or can be a satisfying luncheon all by itself.

with chunks of crusty French bread.

1 cup dry navy beans
4 quarts water
2 small onions
4 potatoes
8 stalks celery with leaves
1/2 head white cabbage
2 onions
1 turnip
1 spring parsley
1 clove garlic, minced
2 tablespoons butter
Finely grated cheese (sharp American or Parmesan)
Salt and pepper to taste

Boil beans till partly tender. Medium dice vegetables and add to beans with the garlic. Allow to simmer about 2 hours. Mix in butter. Sprinkle each portion with grated cheese. Serves 6 to 8.

Ideal party fare, this veal dish is made with a rich sauce, adroitly seasoned with curry, almonds, garlic and pimento. After a brief cooking, arrange in the serving dish around a mound of oven-toasted rice cereal which has been mixed with melted butter. Serve with a colorful fruit salad, hot rolls and a beverage.

Serve Good Appetizers to Save on Food Costs

SALZBURG, Austria (INS) — Appetizers sound fancy and expensive but they can spell variety and economy in a family food budget. Cooks in Salzburg and surrounding resort areas use the first course strategically—to cut down on high meat costs and to dress up routine meals.

Appetizers are always brought to the table with fanfare—much in the same way that an American cook presents her family with a steak broiled to perfection. Usually, cooks serve up a light soup for luncheon and a toothier first course for dinner.

The heartier appetizer for dinner can be a rich concoction of hard-boiled egg, laced with mayonnaise and made richer with chopped pickles, pimientos and cold, cooked peas.

But the apparent favorite is an open-faced sandwich. This is always on thick French bread, which has been buttered and topped with smoked salmon, salami or ham. It is decorated with a wedge of tomato and mayonnaise.

After the sandwich, few persons can finish the next course of paper-thin meat, one green or yellow vegetable and one starchy vegetable like potatoes—let alone go on to a fancy, whipped cream dessert.

Canned Soup Dresses Fowl

Every homemaker is eager for new recipes to add to her collection. They provide variety in meals and turn complaints of "we just had this a week ago" into eager anticipation. Any night of the week why not try this recipe for a sure-fire hit with the family. Here's how to do it . . .

Chicken Espagnole

2 packages (1-pound each) frozen chicken thighs, breasts, drumsticks or wings
3 slices bacon
1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed tomato soup
1/2 cup sliced stuffed olives
1/4 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Thaw chicken as directed on package. Cook bacon in large skillet until crisp; remove and drain. Brown chicken in bacon drippings. Crumble bacon; combine with soup, olives and Worcestershire sauce; pour over chicken. Cover and cook over low heat about 45 minutes or until chicken is tender; stir occasionally. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

SWEET POTATO PUDDING — One of grandmother's standbys — Sweet Potato Pudding — goes modern in this recipe made with instant nonfat dry milk, and it will be in fashionable menu collections year after year.

Beets Serve Double Duty

You get two vegetables in one, plus brave display of autumn coloring, when you serve dual purpose beets. With their deep red roots and rich green tops, beets can help to make your meals both colorful and tasty.

As for the tops, there's nothing simpler to cook. Boil 'em. If you like, add a little salt or vinegar for flavor. Cook them just long enough to make them tender.

In order to retain the color and flavor of the beets, Department of Agriculture home economists suggest leaving about an inch of the stem and the entire root, and adding a little vinegar or lemon juice to the water in which you boil the beets. After 30 to 45 minutes, pop them into cold water and chill until firm.

the skin will come off readily. Cut off the stub of the stem.

Serve beets with butter, or sweet-sour sauce, or make jellied beet salad:

Four 1/2 cup vinegar over 1 cup sliced cucumber. Sprinkle 1 envelope unflavored gelatin over 2 1/2 cup cold water in bowl. Let stand 5 minutes. Drain liquid from 2 cups of beets, julienne style (cut into strips). Heat liquid to boiling, pour over gelatin, and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Add vinegar drained from cucumber, plus tablespoon sugar and 1 1/2 teaspoons salt.

Cool until partly firm; fold in cucumber, beets and 1/4 cup finely cut celery. Pour into mold and chill until firm.

Revise Recipes for Puddings

Two of grandmother's standbys — the old-fashioned rice pudding and sweet potato pudding — have been given a new look this season in streamlined recipes featuring the modern miracle milk, instant nonfat dry milk.

Today's recipes are as up-to-date as fashion's new "sack" dress and yet will be in fashionable menu collections year after year. A test panel reports that the modern version of these two old-fashioned puddings tastes just as good as ever, if not better. Homemakers who keep up with the latest in food are aware of the versatility of instant nonfat dry milk, not only in puddings but in all made-with-milk recipes and for drinking.

Sweet Potato Pudding

3 pounds sweet potatoes, cooked and peeled
1 1/2 cups liquefied instant nonfat dry milk
1/4 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
2 eggs
1 tablespoon butter
1/4 cup flaked coconut

Mash sweet potatoes; add liquefied instant nonfat dry milk, brown sugar and eggs; beat until well blended. Pour into buttered 3-quart casserole. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees) 15 minutes. Melt the butter in a skillet; saute coconut in butter until lightly browned. Sprinkle over sweet potatoes. Serve hot or cold. Serves 6-8.

Nut Rice Pudding

1 quart liquefied instant nonfat dry milk
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup sugar
2 cups packaged pre-cooked rice
1/4 cup chopped almonds
3 tablespoons chopped coconut
1/2 cup raisins

Combine liquefied instant nonfat dry milk, salt and sugar in large saucepan; cook over low heat stirring occasionally, until scalded. Stir in remaining ingredients. Remove from heat. Cover; let stand at least 20 minutes. Serve hot. Serves 6-8.

Crisp Bacon Bits Garnish Frozen Chicken Pies

Your key to hospitality when out-of-town guests drop in, lies in your freezer. Frozen individual times" talk with your friends. For a colorful garnish... one which they'll appreciate too, try a few slices of bacon until crisp; drain; crumble. Sprinkle bacon on top of each baked pie. Pretty!

Canned apple sauce flavored with rum extract makes a tasty top for devil's food cake.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT:

For those who want the fun of feeling good!

You've known families who have it...

boundless energy, the zip and enthusiasm that makes them "lots of fun." Heredity undoubtedly is important—so is the ability not to worry.

But what you eat and drink is important, too...

36.5% PROTEIN—and guaranteed less than 1% fat. New PET Instant is rich in the things that help give you and your family extra sparkle and vitality... that supply energy with "staying power."

NEW, EXCLUSIVE INSTANTIZING carries instant mixing a big step forward. The nonfat milk crystals are "popped" so they dissolve the instant they touch water—mix almost faster than you can stir!

FLAVOR MORE REFRESHING than fresh whole milk! No clinging "lumpy" aftertaste—none of the "powdery" taste of earlier dry milks—but a rich, fresh flavor your family will enjoy!

Look for it in its brand-new, bright-blue FLAVOR-SAVER PACKAGE. Double-sealed in foil—handy pouring spout! Two sizes: 4-qt., 12-qt.

FOR OVERSEAS — A special treat for your holiday gift packages are these brownies. They can be "custom-made" for mailing by cooking them in rigid aluminum foil pie plates. The brownies can be sliced and individually wrapped in foil for long distance shipment or the whole pan might just be foil wrapped. (The recipe for Maggie's Brownies will fill three 9-in. foil pie pans.)

Follow Proven Procedure to Ship Food Overseas

As the holiday season approaches, many families are planning to send gifts of their favorite home-made foods to relatives and friends outside the United States.

To encourage this gracious act of international food friendship, makers of aluminum foil for food packaging, suggest some precautions to help your gift arrive in time and in good condition.

1. Pack your food gift solidly and securely. A tight seal of aluminum foil will guard the food against air, dampness, and insects, all hazards of a long journey. Wrap cookies, dried fruits, and candies in foil packets, edges sealed airtight with a double fold.

Place packets in rigid foil pie pan, with second pan inverted over the top. The pans can be fastened together with mastic tape or cellophane tape to make a sturdy container. Place pie pans in shipping carton and pack solidly with shredded paper or tissue paper.

2. Since you are furnishing the food gratis, your package qualifies as a U.S.A. Gift, providing the domestic retail value does not exceed $50.00. Above the name of the addressee, the following should be marked, "U.S.A. Gift — No Export Declaration Required." In the lower left hand corner must go the notice, "Unsolicited Gift — Not for Resale."

3. Letters should not be enclosed in the packages.

4. Overseas packages should not be deposited in a letter box or a mail package box; they must be taken into the post office station and presented to the clerk. An International Parcel

Post Sticker form will be filled out at the Post Office for each package.

5. Parcels should be wrapped and sealed in such a way that the ends can be opened for custom inspection without damaging the shipping carton. Tape or sealing wax can be used. Wire should be avoided.

For a very special treat, Maggie's Chocolate Brownies might add a festive touch to the Christmas food box. This rich and delicious treat can be both baked and shipped in rigid foil pie plates saving pan washing.

Maggie's Chocolate Brownies
1 cup plus 2 tablespoons butter
4 squares unsweetened chocolate
2 1/2 cups sugar
3 eggs
2 teaspoons vanilla
1 1/2 cups sifted cake flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 cups walnuts or pecans, chopped
Melt butter, chocolate together. Add sugar, eggs, vanilla; beat thoroughly.

Sift flour, salt together; add; beat until smooth. Fold in nuts. Four into ungreased 15"x10"x1" pan; spread evenly.

Bake 20-25 minutes at 350 degrees F. Cool slightly; cut into 2-inch squares. Yield: 3 dozen squares.

Call Molasses Liquid Spice

Wise homemakers know how to beat the clock yet make an ordinary meal with an "air" — an "air" so simple to create if you consider the liquid spiciness of molasses. Real New Orleans molasses, with a built-in supply of rich, usable iron, the kind that puts sure-fire punch in energy needs, adds flavor-fun to foods, too.

At breakfast, try drizzling New Orleans molasses over grapefruit in place of sugar. Eat plain, or broil the grapefruit for extra flair.

Leftover lamb for lunch? Combine canned creamed soup and cut-up lamb, add seasonings to taste, and a large dollop of molasses as the liquid spice. Leftovers? Who would ever guess that this dish wasn't planned from the start!

Budget low for your meat course? Butter up the family with a fancy dessert. So easy to beat the clock with that old favorite, Brown Betty. The simple addition of liquid spice (molasses) makes it not only more flavorful, but makes for a prettier, richer color.

New Orleans Brown Betty
1 can (1 lb. 4 oz.) applesauce or 1/2 cup graham cracker crumbs
1/2 cup chopped nuts
1 teaspoon cinnamon
5 tablespoons real New Orleans molasses

Butter
Spread canned applesauce or sweetened apple slices in a greased flame-proof dish. Top with mixture of graham cracker crumbs, nuts and cinnamon. Drizzle molasses all over. Dot with butter and broil until crisp and browned.

Ginger and Nuts Pep Up Vegetables

Serve this different vegetable combination.

Carrots-Peas in Ginger Sauce
3-ounce can chopped broiled mushrooms
1/2 cup water
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon ginger
12-ounce package quick-frozen peas and carrots
1 teaspoon cornstarch
1 tablespoon cold water
2 tablespoons chopped salted peanuts
Place contents of can of mushrooms, water, salt and ginger in saucepan. Bring to boil. Add frozen peas and carrots which have been broken apart. Cover and bring to boil. Cook over moderate heat until vegetables are barely tender, about 5 minutes.

Blend together and stir in cornstarch and cold water. Cook until liquid thickens and turns transparent. Garnish with chopped nuts and serve immediately.

Lettuce Isn't Necessary

If unexpected company finds you without lettuce in the refrigerator, sliced tomatoes and cucumbers in an oil-vinegar dressing will do fine by themselves for a salad.

Learn All About Meat at 'School' November 4

Readers are invited to attend a Meat School on Monday, November 4 at the Madison Junior High School. One of two such meetings in the eastern part of the state, it is being sponsored by the Extension Department of MSU. Speakers from the University and from the National Livestock and Meat Board will discuss various aspects of meat buying and cooking.

The program starts at 1:30 and runs until 9:00 p.m. Guests may come in anytime and stay as long as they like. Sessions will start at 1:30, 3:20 and 6:30. There is no charge.

If your yeast bread does not have as good a texture as you would like, it may be that you are not kneading the dough enough.

Watch Husband's Diet: Serve Low-Fat Muffins

Men past 40 who lead a sedentary, non-physical, business life are warned not to put on weight if they want to avoid middle age degenerative diseases, particularly coronary and hypertensive diseases. One effective approach to preventing obesity is to improve the breakfast pattern.

That is the warning of Dr. Jeremiah Stamler, assistant director of the Cardiovascular Department of the Medical Research Institute of Michael Reese Hospital, Chicago. Dr. Stamler warns against the "coffee and run" breakfast or the breakfast too heavy in fats.

A proper first meal should provide at least one quarter of the man's daily nutritional requirements, he points out, and suggests that it include fruit, cereal and bread (whole grain, enriched or restored), honey, marmalade or jam for spread, and nonfat milk.

Such a low-fat basic breakfast maintains efficiency in the late morning hours and will help him keep his correct weight.

Sift together flour, baking powder, and salt; stir in bran and orange rind. Combine egg, honey, milk, and oil and add to first mixture. Stir only enough to moisten dry ingredients. Batter should not be smooth. Fill greased muffin pans 2/3 full and bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) until done, about 20 minutes.

Watch Temperature for Frozen Foods

Proper handling of frozen foods is the responsibility of the food handler and the food shopper reminds the MSU Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawyer.

Keep at zero degrees is the important rule for keeping frozen foods at top quality. Letting a package of frozen food get up to 25 degrees F. for just one day is worse than using a package that has been kept at zero for more than a year.

If you have no freezer and must keep frozen foods in the ice cube compartment of the refrigerator, use them as soon as possible. The ice cube compartment is usually between 12 to 15 degrees above zero, and won't keep frozen food at its best quality for more than 3 or 4 days.

Monotony Can Be Avoided in Leftovers

By International News Service
One thing is as sure as death and taxes—and that is leftover turkey, even though the whole family has stuffed itself to the point of popping.

In order to avoid boredom with later meals you can do two things—vary your leftover recipes and freeze some of that extra turkey so you spread the "using up" period over several weeks.

Foods such as almonds, water chestnuts, walnuts, olives, pimiento, capers and scallions offer color and texture contrasts for poultry dishes.

Watercress, cinnamon and mini-flavored pears, cranberries, watermelon pickles, broiled cling peaches and slices of orange make attractive garnishes.

SPICY CRANBERRIES — Full of flavor and tangy goodness, this new relish is made with fresh cranberries. Good with duckling or any other meat, this recipe is here just in time for cranberry season.

Crimson Cranberries Make Super Relishes

The cranberry bogs are now a deep red in color from the thousands of berries hiding in the vines. And this month it's Cranberry Festival Time . . . a time to celebrate the harvest season.

Here's a super cranberry relish made with the fresh cranberries just in time to celebrate the harvest. It's full of flavor and complements any meal with the tang of cranberries and spice and its delightful color. Serve Spicy Cranberries with duckling, chicken or turkey. It's just as delicious with ham or pork, lamb or beef.

Spicy Cranberries
4 cups (1-lb.) fresh cranberries ground
1 tablespoon grated lemon rind
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1/2 cup orange juice

1 cup raisins
2 cups brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon allspice
1/2 teaspoon cloves
1/2 cup black walnuts, chopped

Mix all ingredients except black walnuts. Place in refrigerator an hour or more for flavors to blend. Add black walnuts to relish just before serving. Makes 3 cups.

For variety all season long try these cranberry relishes . . .

Cranberry Chutney
2 cups fresh cranberries, ground
1 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup white grapes ON seedless raisins
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon salt
Mix thoroughly. Place in refrigerator an hour or more for flavors to blend. Makes 1 1/2 cups.

Cranberry Sauce Delight

1 cup water
1 1/2 cups brown sugar
1/2 cup granulated sugar
1/2 cup vinegar
2 teaspoons whole cloves
2 sticks cinnamon
4 cups (1-lb.) fresh cranberries

Bring water, sugar, vinegar, cloves, and cinnamon to a boil in a medium sized saucepan. Boil rapidly 5 minutes; strain. Add the cranberries and cook slowly 5 minutes, or until cranberry skins pop open. Remove from heat; cool thoroughly before serving.

Never Mind Blanching

It's not necessary to go through the tedious process of blanching almonds. Just put the shelled almonds with their skins on in hot olive oil, saute a few moments until lightly browned, then remove from the oil and sprinkle with salt. These make good nibble-food with drinks.

Plentiful Foods Blend Together in Casserole

Of the many different ways in which you can serve different cuts of pork, one of the thriftiest and tastiest is to combine pork hocks with sauerkraut, potatoes and cheese in a casserole. This unites three foods which the Department of Agriculture describes as plentiful this month.

You'll want to start with four pork hocks, a No. 2 1/2 can of sauerkraut, and about 5 medium size potatoes, grated.

Brown the hocks and then simmer for 2 hours and remove meat from bones and cut into pieces. Beat two eggs and mix with the grated potatoes.

Place half the sauerkraut in the bottom of a greased casserole, put on a layer of meat and then a layer of potato; then the rest of the sauerkraut, the rest of the meat, topped by the rest of the potato.

Cover and bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, for an hour. Remove the cover, and top with a half cup of grated cheddar cheese. Bake uncovered for another 15 minutes or until cheese melts.

Plentiful Food Menu Reasonably Priced

WASHINGTON — The Agriculture Department today suggested a menu for November designed to help increase consumption of goods available in plentiful supplies.

The menu included: citrus fruit cup; butter-baked turkey with savory mushroom - filbert stuffing; giblet gravy; green peas with almond slivers; potatoes du jour; diced winter pears and apples in lime gelatin salad; hot rolls with butter or margarine and grape jelly or jam, and cranberry whip.

"Turkeys top the plentiful foods list for November, with a particularly large supply of the larger institutional sizes, just the thing for good service use," the department said.

No Orange Juice Today?

You probably would not think of substituting broccoli, Brussels sprouts or cabbage for your breakfast orange juice. But if by chance you do not manage to get vitamin C at breakfast, one serving of either of these vegetables will give the vitamin C needed for the day, relates the MSU Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawyer.

Two Favorites Flavor Soup

This chowder has both turkey and oysters! The two foods complement each other deliciously. You'll like the celery flavor and the hearty, creaminess the milk gives the chowder. Add more turkey if you wish, but the chowder is a meal in itself as it is.

Turkey Oyster Chowder

Turkey or chicken bones, if available
1 small onion
5 cups chicken broth or use chicken bouillon cubes
2-3 cup uncooked white rice
1 cup finely diced celery
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon black pepper
1 1/2 cups milk
2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
1 1/2 cups diced cooked turkey (more if desired)
1/2 pint oysters
1/4 cup butter or margarine
Salt and pepper to taste
Paprika or parsley for garnish

Make turkey stock or broth by packing bones in a large kettle and covering with cold water. Add the onion. Cover. Simmer for about 3 hours. Strain. Cool. Remove any remaining meat from the bones. Refrigerate.

About an hour before serving the chowder, place 5 cups of the broth in a large soup kettle. Add the rice, celery, salt and pepper. Cover and simmer thirty minutes. Stir the milk into the flour. Stir into the hot mixture. Add the turkey, oysters, butter or margarine and salt and pepper to taste. Heat. Thin with additional stock if desired.

Serve hot, sprinkled with paprika or chopped parsley. This recipe makes about 2 1/4 quarts of chowder.

Frying Pan Cookies Made With Cereal

No oven needed for these cookies at all. They can be made in a hurry and served at once.

Frying Pan Cereal Cookies

2 eggs, beaten
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup chopped dates
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cups oven-toasted rice, cereal or slightly crushed corn flakes or whole wheat flakes
Shredded or flaked coconut

Mix together eggs, sugar, and dates and put into a cold lightly buttered frying pan. Cook over low heat for 10 minutes, stirring constantly. Add vanilla and mix. Blend in cereal. Drop half teaspoonfuls into coconut, shape into balls, and coat with coconut. Yield: About 3 dozen cookies.

Department of Agriculture estimates last year's crop of nuts, almonds, walnuts, filberts and pecans, totaled 220,000 tons, worth about $111 million.

Make Thick, Rich Sauce

You can make a ligitime chocolate sauce by melting half a pound of chocolate caramels with half a cup of milk over very low heat, stirring occasionally.

Cabbage and onions are not, as a rule, steamed because this cooking process brings out their strong flavor.

Parties Tonight in Rochester

Kiwanis Club Provides Entertainment for 3,000 Area Children

ROCHESTER — Some three thousand children from this area will participate in the annual Halloween parties here tonight.

The Rochester Kiwanis Club flare sale over the weekend netted $1,541. The fund will provide parties, dances, refreshments for all school children in the Rochester Community School district. Refreshments will be furnished outlying schools, but parties will be in their own school buildings with hosts and hostesses from the district.

Milton Weaver, flare chairman, said today that at 7 p.m. when the siren sounds every house in this area will light flares, heralding the parties.

Pres. Edwin Forbush is chairman of arrangements.

Pre-school children and those through the third grade will go to the Harrison Junior High for their party from 4:30 to 6 p.m. Ruth and Ray Rammiller will be co-chairmen there, and with 11 other couples will give prizes for costumes, show moving pictures and serve refreshments.

Also at the Harrison Central School the fourth, fifth and sixth graders will gather for their party at 6:30 to 8 p.m. with Mr. and Mrs. Paul Williams, as hosts.

All ninth graders will go to Harrison Central for their dance, 9 p.m. to 11 p.m. Kean and Erma Farlin will be in charge.

At the new high school student center, there will be dancing, with a five-piece orchestra for tenth, eleventh and twelfth graders.

Special entertainment is provided and refreshments planned for between 400 and 500 students. Mr. and Mrs. Milton Weaver, with 10 other Kiwanians and their wives will be hosts.

Over a period of years this annual Halloween party has taken the majority of area children off the streets and provided supervised fun in the various schools under the sponsorship of the Kiwanis Club.

Homecoming Features Parade, Game, Dance

Romeo to Crown Connie Lintean Queen

ROMEO—Preparations for what may be the biggest Romeo High School Homecoming celebration in the history of the school opened with a gala pep rally around a bonfire here in Memorial Stadium.

During the first day, Monday, high school students voted for Homecoming Queen—naming the winner from five attractive candidates who had staged active campaigns throughout the previous week.

Top vote-getter was Connie Lintean, 17. Her competitors for the coveted title were Seniors Alice Anderson and GeeGee Garrison and Juniors Toby Zimonick and Linda Fetter.

Also on Monday members of student groups began work on their outdoor homecoming displays on lawns of homes on West St. Clair and Morton streets. They will be competing for prizes to be awarded by the Romeo Merchants' Assn.

The local businessmen's organization will also present cash awards for the most outstanding window displays painted on downtown store windows by other student groups.

Beginning at 6:30 p.m. Friday, the big Homecoming Parade will form at the Romeo Theater. Its route will cover Main St. to Church St., from Church to Rawley, south to West St. Clair.

west to Chandler St. and then north to the stadium. Paraders will include the Romeo High School band, floats, cheerleaders, individual entries and the Homecoming Queen and her court.

Top parade entries will receive an engraved plaque donated by the Merchants' Assn. Winners of this and all other awards will be announced between halves of the traditionally hard-fought Romeo vs. Rochester football game. The dance and coronation will follow the annual tilt.

All downtown stores will be decorated with Romeo's red and white and Rochester's blue and white color schemes in honor of the big event. Tuesday, the Merchants' Assn. played host to many student leaders and teachers at a special breakfast at the Peerless Cafe.

Fellowship to Meet

Scholarship in Cytology Award to Judy Bradley

ROCHESTER — Announcement has been made here by Chairman Mrs. Willard Dickerson that the American Cancer Society Scholarship Fund in Cytology has been completed and granted to Judy Bradley, medical technician at Pontiac General Hospital.

Miss Bradley, native of Pontiac, will begin her four-month course in cytology at Wayne State University in January, 1958.

The outstanding recipient was queen of the harvest ball at MSU in 1954; "Miss Michigan State" in 1955 and the first "Miss Page One of the Pontiac Press" in 1957.

Mrs. Dickerson said the scholarship was made possible because of generous contributions by the following groups:

The Rochester Junior Women's Club; The Rochester Women's Club; East Orion Farm Bureau; Tuesday Musicals; Rochester Business and Professional Women's Club; East Orion Extension Club and an anonymous contributor.

Prayer Day at Elmwood

AVON TOWNSHIP — Elmwood Methodist Church here has set aside the hours from 6 to 10 p.m. Friday as a time of special prayer for evangelistic services which will be held the following week Sunday, Nov. 3-10.

ON PARADE — One of the features of the gigantic parade this Saturday which will be a highlight of Milford's 125th anniversary celebration. This weekend will be the Junior Roman Riders. The riders, who have made appearances in other Pontiac area parades, are skilled in riding astride two ponies — their skill representing months of practice. This type of riding dates back to the era of the Roman Empire. Above is Joanne Lucyson, 8, of 543 Washington St., Milford, who will ride Trigger and Dreamboat.

Utica Jury Told Larson Rammed Car Deliberately

MT. CLEMENS — A Circuit Court jury here was told that a 19-year-old defendant deliberately rammed a Utica police car during a high-speed chase. Two policemen were seriously hurt.

The trial of Larry Larson of Utica continued today before Macomb County Circuit Judge Alton H. Noe. Larson is charged with assault with intent to murder.

Robert Dart, 19, of Utica, testified yesterday for the prosecution that Larson deliberately wrecked the police car last March 23 near Utica. Dart was a passenger in Larson's car.

"The cops were catching up to us," Dart said. "Larson pulled the car into a whipping motion, cut sharply to the left and pulled close to them. Then we crashed into the police car."

He quoted Larson as saying just before the crash: "I've got to get them. I'm going to let them pull alongside and then run them off the road."

Patrolmen Lawrence Giacobozzi and Wesley Love were seriously hurt in the 90-mile-an-hour crash. Love was unconscious for six weeks.

Church Bringing Refugee Family From France

MARLETTE — Members of Marlette Methodist Church, having negotiated for some years—since 1946—to bring a refugee family here, have received word that the family is sailing from France this week.

There are four in the family, including the parents, Michel and Victorine Stupitski; a girl Champal, 6, and one boy, Pierre, 4.

The Rev. J. Paul Pumphrey, pastor at Marlette, said the church will secure a house and the necessary furniture, plus employment for the father. A committee is working on the project, he added.

Personal News of Interest

"What have we here?" asks Mrs. Merle McManus of West Pike street. Little does she know that this "tree" is her grandson, Jack Wilson, of Lake Orion, trying out the costume he plans to use tonight for Halloween trick-or-treating. Jack spent many hours putting this outfit together.

Well, here comes the "groom" with the jack-o-lantern "she" grew just for Halloween. The part of the bride-groom is played by Carolyn Crawford, and her sister, Laurie, is the bride.

The girls are proud of the pumpkins, as well they should be. We are willing to wager that not many young people in Pontiac did the same.

Now, the Ghosts and Goblins Have Taken Over Halloween Began as Holy Eve

By GRETTA PORTER

The goblins will get you, if you don't watch out! Yes, and the witches, skeletons and robots, too—for tonight is the night when all scary creatures come out for some fun. This is their night to howl.

All the rest of the year these characters must stay hidden but tonight when the moon is high (but if it should rain, all the better—these creatures are so happy to have one night a year that they "haunt" come rain or come moon) they'll pop out from behind bushes, cornstalks and spooky old barns.

ly known. Unfortunately, because the beginning of the festive event is most colorful.

Way back some 13 centuries, Nov. 1 was celebrated as All Saints Day. On this day spirits, both good and bad, were believed to be on earth.

About that time the Druids also celebrated harvest time and many strange ceremonies were preferred. Even after the pagan people accepted Christianity, they still observed many of their old customs, some of which have survived until today.

Halloween customs such as bobbing for apples in tubs of water, cutting pumpkins into jack-o-lanterns, and telling ghost stories all stem from these pagan rituals.

Now Oct. 31 is considered a night to play at being witches, ghosts, goblins, skeletons and other weird creatures. It is also the Christian All Saints Eve, and the name Halloween means Holy Eve. This time was originally set apart to honor the memory of all saints.

According to old beliefs, children born on Halloween will be invested with unusual powers to converse with supernatural beings.

So when you are out on the street tonight don't forget that the witches you meet may not have another chance to haunt until next Halloween—for at dawn they will have to return to their barn, bush or cornstalk until next year!

That Oversized Goblin Is Just Someone's Dad

By JOHN BARROW

INS Staff Writer

When the Halloween tricks-or-treats squads begin ringing door bells tonight, don't be alarmed if one hobgoblin appears grotesquely oversized.

He's probably somebody's daddy.

Widows Learn to Earn Living

You may have heard of the Hannah Harrison School, Washington, D.C., but you may not know that without charge it trains women to become self-supporting—women whose only previous job experience has been as housewives and mothers.

Since 1950 the school, which specializes in three major fields—institutional housekeeping, business and practical nursing, has accepted about 400 women, two-thirds of them untrained widows.

In the seven years of its operation, the school has placed more than 95 per cent of its graduates in jobs. The school was made possible by funds bequeathed by the late Julius Garfinckel, founder of one of the leading women's specialty stores in Washington. It is administered by the Young Women's Christian Association of that city.

The school term begins in September and courses run from nine months to a year in length. During training, about 50 students who are accepted live at the school.

Instruction, room and meals are all free. In return, students share light household duties, such as waiting on tables or running the telephone switchboard.

The school is not all work and no play. Sightseeing tours of Washington are scheduled regularly, and they include visits to museums, galleries and other cultural attractions. In the evening, discussion groups and music sessions are held.

Steven Eagle, 18 months old (center) appears to be doing a double take as his brother, 7-year-old Richard (left) models the eerie skeleton outfit he'll wear in the beggars' brigade tonight. Four-year-old Dennis (far right) seems less concerned about his costume effect and more anxious to begin the trick-or-treat campaign.

Paris Coaxes Customers Into Sacks

Modified Designs Accustom Patrons to Newest Look

PARIS (INS) — Are you "sack resistant?" French designers have a way of coaxing their Parisian anti-sack customers into wearing waistless and new looking clothes.

At Patou there isn't a single real sack in sight. But this boutique collection shows several costumes composed of an overblouse—loose around the waist but fitted at the hips—worn with pencil-skirt for a waistless look.

The smartest "pseudo sack" style is of camel-colored wool. The high-necked but collarless overblouse is notched at the hip-high edge for a bib effect. A similar style comes in red lace for cocktail wear.

Henry la Pensee offers chemise dresses which can be worn with or without a belt. A very pretty one is in pale blue jersey, frilled out of a shoulder yoke and with three-quarter-length sleeves. It can be worn either firmly belted or falling loose and sack-like.

Another straight-out chemise dress at Henry la Pensee is of cashmere printed wool. It has a separate tunic skirt in matching wool. Until you get used to the sack-like chemise dress, you can wear it with the overskirt for a waisted and fuller look.

Plaids Popular

Plaids of all sizes, colors and descriptions are prominent in the lineup of youthful fashions. Some are horse-blanket plaids in bold colors, some are small and muted. They are seen in skirts, coats, suits, dresses, shorts and slacks, with many new variations added to the classic and always popular tartans.

New York Smart Set Shuns Sack

By JOAN HANAUER

NEW YORK (INS) — New York's smart set has turned its elegant thumbs down on the sack dress.

Just visit their dress-up haunts—the Broadway openings and this week's opening of the Metropolitan Opera—and you won't see more than one shapeless, waistless creation in a thousand.

New Yorkers, who usually are the first Americans to adopt extreme Paris styles, have shunned the figure-hiding chemise outfits in favor of tight-waisted, wide-skirted outfits.

SATIN PREFERRED

The top fabric is satin, and the colors are jewel shades of ruby, emerald and other gems. Chiffon, which waisted its way into style news with the "Fair Lady" look, is still around.

When it comes to furs, white is by far the favorite color. It can be the old standby, ermine, the new white mink, or the long-haired, luxurious looking white fox.

Women with budgets equal to the national debt are going in for expensive, impractical chinchilla. Coats are seldom seen, with big and small stoles and shaped but armless "struggles" predominating.

Diamonds, or a reasonable facsimile thereof, are still a girl's best friend in the jewelry department.

Buffet Type of Service Suggested

Best Way to Take Care of 40 Guests Without Servants

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: How can I serve approximately 40 guests at a wedding reception which I am giving in my house for a young relative. We have no servants and will probably not be able to engage any for this occasion. Also, what is the typical decoration of the table?"

Answer: You should not find it at all necessary to have anyone help you at a simple buffet. Put cakes and sandwiches and punch on the dining table with glasses grouped around the punch bowl, and the guests will very readily help themselves. They would do this even if you had half a dozen caterer's men.

For typical table decorations — as much white as possible. White flowers, white wedding cake, white ice cakes, white and green, or white and gold china on a white damask tablecloth.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My son will graduate from Officers' Training School soon and plans to be married shortly afterwards. He and his bride-to-be would like to have a military wedding. My son has asked six of his fellow officers to be ushers. All will be in formal uniform.

"My son would like very much to have his brother as best man. He is a civilian. Would it be proper for him to take part since he will be the only one in civilian dress, or should my son choose someone in service to fill this position? Your advice will be appreciated."

Answer: As the best man is only seen standing with the bridegroom, waiting for the bride to come up the aisle and during the ceremony, his civilian clothes will not spoil the picture of the wedding procession. On the other hand, a lone civilian usher would look very strange.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I have been asked to be the godfather for a friend's baby two weeks from this coming Sunday. I am told that I am supposed to send a corsage to the godmother the day of the christening. Will you please tell me if this is true?"

Answer: There is no such requirement. You are, however, expected to give the baby a present which, if you can afford it, might be a silver mug or porringer.

A coat means more than warmth to a woman with fashion on her mind. Often she picks a tweed ensemble that offers suit and coat possibilities. This costume suit by Brigance features a three-quarter-length black and white British woolen nubby tweed coat, with contrasting black slim skirt.

Relax, Fellows, and Enjoy Your Equality With Gals

Why Struggle to Prove Superiority That Women Won't Acknowledge?

By RUTH MILLETT

The latest reason being advanced to explain why American women are now outliving men by more than six years is that men's sense of security has been undermined by women's equality.

Since Mama now regards Papa as her partner, rather than her lord and master, Papa feels frustrated. With his ego crying out for reassurance, he works harder and harder in his struggle for recognition outside the home.

If there's any truth to that explanation, it would seem that it is high time men faced up to the fact that maybe they aren't the superior sex, that maybe there isn't one.

Equality is all most women want. Few women want to prove themselves superior to men. Equality would be enough for men, too, if they could just rid themselves of the old notion that they must be superior and must try to prove it to themselves.

Really, men, there's nothing wrong with equality. It's a nice comfortable feeling to think you are as good as — but no better — than the other sex.

JUST ACCEPT IT

You don't have to continually struggle to prove equality. You just accept it, as a fact. But superiority, once it isn't granted as a matter of right, has to be constantly proved.

Is it really worth trying to prove? Women like you as equals. You don't have to strain and struggle to convince us that you're superior in order to have our love and respect and admiration.

So why not relax? You might as well. It isn't likely anything you can do is going to convince women that because you are a man you are a superior human being.

We've tasted equality and found it pleasant. We won't give up our feeling of equality no matter how you men struggle to prove it isn't so. So why not relax and enjoy being our equals, the way we enjoy being yours?

If a person is truly satisfied he doesn't have to announce it every hour.

But Stimulation May Speed Growth

Hair Length Seems Predecided

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

I receive so many letters asking about hair and its care that I think I will use today to review some of these questions and the problems concerned with topknots.

First, women want to know what will make their hair grow longer or faster. The length of our hair seems to be predetermined, just as the length of our nose is. In other words, there is a limit to how long your hair will grow.

I know of no way to speed up the process unless it would be with the stimulation which scalp massage and hair brushing provide, and fine nutrition, good health and hygienic living.

Hair sometimes falls out following an illness or after taking an anesthetic. Falling hair may be a symptom of some malady or physical condition. The glandular setup may affect it. Thinning hair may also be due to local conditions such as a skin disease of the scalp.

If you are losing your hair at an abnormal rate, have a physical examination. If you find no cause this way, see a hair specialist. If there is any sign of skin trouble, consult a dermatologist.

GRAYING TRESSES

Naturally some of the most usual questions concern graying hair. No one knows just what causes hair to turn gray. There has been evidence that tensions and strains may have some effect and that diet may play a part. So far as diet is concerned, the vitamin B family seems especially important.

There has been a difference of opinion as to which member of the vitamin B family is helpful. It is generally considered that we should take the vitamin Bs together, or in vitamin B complex. Brewer's yeast is one of the best and cheapest sources.

I do not mean to indicate that the vitamin B family will prevent or correct gray hair, but it is the closest anyone has come to an answer, and anyway it is a great health booster.

I do not imagine that your physician will object to your reinforcing your diet with brewer's yeast. Ask him how much.

Only dry hair also are problems. There are splendid tonics on the market for both of these conditions. If your hair is oily, shampoo it every four or five days and do not use a cream shampoo.

If it is dry, shampoo it once every 10 or 12 days and use a cream shampoo. There are creams especially planned to tame the brittle ends of dry hair.

Remember that your hair is a living, growing part of your body and reflects the state of your health and your habits of life.

Tomorrow: Vitamins Lost When We Pour Water Off Vegetables.

Bejeweled, Befurred Household Articles Ease Pangs of Guilt

By PHYLLIS BATTLE

NEW YORK (INS)—Guilt is the curse of the wealthy classes. Otherwise, why should they buy so many mink feather-dusters and jeweled dust pans for those people who have everything?

"To absolve their consciences of course," says Mr. Tro Harper, novelist and critic.

"The woman who buys a mink feather-duster can say to herself, 'Now here's a useful little item.' The man who receives a mink feather-duster can say to himself, 'Peachy! I can use this to polish the caddy.'"

You see, the fact that it is an allegedly-practical item, instead of just a hunk of fur folderol, takes the onus of extravagance off it. And people simply won't be extravagant these days. Out-and-out luxury is in bad repute.

Mr. Harper owns two book-and-boutique shops in San Francisco, and this year in preparation for Christmas he has stocked more "functionally elegant" items than ever before—the theory being that more men have more of everything than in 1956, which was a peak year for jewel-studded fishnets, ermine-tailed can openers, liquor-flavored toothpastes, fur bathroom fixtures, and so on.

"One of the newest mementos for millionaires," he reveals, "is a mink shoe horn—for rich heels."

"Another item which should go big is a charm bracelet dangling with the innards of good wristwatches. Comes with message, 'I couldn't think what to buy you, dear, so I'm giving you the works.'"

You'll also see a lot of egg cups shaped like the heads of people, with accompanying stocking caps to keep the eggs warm. And oh, this is the greatest—an old ironstone basin and pitcher, real antique stuff, labeled 'Martini' and 'ice.'

A man can't truthfully be said to "have everything" until he is the recipient of a Jayne Mansfield hot water bottle, in full life contours; or the new fur-trimmed back-scratcher with a chrome hook on the handle for pulling up back zippers.

There is also, Mr. Harper advises, "a new hubcap for limousines and sports cars, done in mink, of course. At first this seemed to me the height of decadence, but it's consoling to look at it this way — it's for people who can't afford those fancy wire spokes."

The delightful visitor from California claims that "ant villages," which are small transparent plastic houses containing ants at work in the sand, are coming back strong for 1958.

"This is sort of reverse psychology, but the idea is that when you watch these small, live things doing something purposeful, it's almost as guilt-cleansing as if you were out doing something worthwhile yourself."

"In observing ants, you are learning. And society always says that is useful."

It is predicted here that by Christmas, '58, there will be "moth houses," so society can look in on that side of life, too. Most educational.

Everyone Has One Pet Subject

By ANNE HEYWOOD

When my son was 5, he went to a birthday party for a little friend whose daddy was a big theatrical celebrity.

All kinds of famous entertainers were to be there, putting on shows for the kids, and the press was covering it with stories and photographs.

MOTHER EXCITED

I was pretty excited and could hardly wait until John came home to ask what this one did and what that one had done and what various others looked like.

But John didn't know anything about that.

"Those photographers," he told me excitedly, "they have the longest extension cords you ever saw. And flash bulbs—look! — they gave me flash bulbs."

Whereupon, with a beatific smile, he emptied his pockets of burnt-out bulbs—and I never heard a single detail about the fabulous celebrities!

My son was born an engineer and will doubtless die one. He has what Emerson calls "that excess of enthusiasm amounting to madness," which most specialists have and without which, no doubt, nothing important in the world would get done.

ONE BIG SUBJECT

Actually, each of us has, buried deep down, an excess of enthusiasm for one subject which really absorbs us beyond all else. If we're to be happy, we must be working along the lines of that subject.

For example, I know I irritate my friends when I come home from a party, because I can't tell them a thing about the decor, the food or the clothes that were worn, but I know exactly what everybody in the room does for a living! The person who started me thinking in this vein is Adele Davis, a well-known nutritionist whom I've been hearing about for ages.

I had heard of the "rave" notices about her books, especially one called, "Let's Eat Right to Keep Fit." I was told she not only makes sense and is enthusiastic, but is also witty.

COOL REACTION

Frankly, I stayed away from her books because my personal reaction to nutrition was always one of mixed boredom and skepticism.

I have too many friends who are daffy on the subject. They dwell on the chemical composition of the food they serve you at dinner, until you never want to eat at their homes again.

Finally I gave in, however, and read Mrs. Davis' book—and found it fascinating.

She has that same "excess of enthusiasm," that same capacity for making you think that the world is well lost for her subject, that I've encountered in successful people in every field.

BETTER BREAKFAST

I won't say that after reading her book, I've gone as far as to buy cold pressed soy oil, but I'm eating a high-protein breakfast (excellent for one's looks, among other things) after years of orange-juice-plus-coffee!

If you'd like further details of Mrs. Davis' books — after all, good nutrition can help you vocationally—send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope, care of The Pontiac Press.

Change Your Pace at Work or Play

Variety is the spice of life and it pays to change pace, at work or play. Follow mental work with some physical exercise or vice versa.

If you are becoming bored with life each day, chances are you need to break the routine you've set for yourself. Do something different for once and you will find it refreshing.

Even Temperature Lessens Wrinkling

A home economics expert on laundering explains that a rapid change of temperature helps to set or "freeze" wrinkles and creases in fabrics.

That's why it's best not to subject clothes to cool rinses after washing in warm or hot soap or detergent suds.

Eye Muscles Strong

If you spent days in reading the latest historical novel, you will have moved your eye muscles about one million times. These muscles can absorb an enormous amount of punishment. They are about 100 times as strong as they need to be and are the most exercised muscles in the body.

In rehearsal for the Pontiac High School Vocal Department Concert Monday is a section of one of the glee clubs

Music Will Fill the Air

ing) will also accompany at the Pontiac High School Vocal Department concert Monday.

Concert at Pontiac High Will Feature 700 Voices

Pontiac High School Vocal Department will feature some 700 voices in the Monday vocal clinic concert. This massed choir will have William L. Dawson as guest conductor.

Special guest artist will be Harold Hall who will play the oboe obligato for Johann Sebastian Bach's "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desire." Mr. Hall has been a member of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra since 1946 and was a student of Richard Van Emeric.

Accompanists for the evening will be Santha Annas for Senior Girls' Ensemble, Pat Watson for Junior Girls' Ensemble, Margaret Kubiak and Claudia Williams for Selective Girls' Glee Club, Phyllis Peters for choir and Sandra Sommerville for the Boys' Glee Clubs.

Miss Sommerville, and Marcia Galbraith will play organ accompaniments. Pat Brown, Terri Fortino and Gary Relyea are also scheduled to play. Additional department accompanists are Annie Dyer, Judy Haroutunian, Karen Oxley, Carol Stacey, Susan Sommerville and Lynne Thompson.

This informal fall festival has become an important event in the musical life of the school. The clinic combines the talents of high school vocalists with the conduct of one of America's foremost choir directors.

The 700 voices comprise the A Cappella Choir, nine Girls' Glee Clubs, five Boys' Glee Clubs, two music fundamental classes and four small ensembles.

Sudsing Advised for Plastic Covers

There seem to be plastic covers for almost everything these days — except, perhaps, the planet Earth.

You'll find plastic luggage bags, bridge table stowaway bags, bouffant skirt bags, lampshade covers, comforter bags — to name just a few of the assortment which help keep your household effects clean.

It's important, in turn, to keep these covers clean with a sudsy sponge or cloth. The smaller items can be immersed in soap or detergent suds. Either way, rinse well and let them air dry inside out.

Repay Hospitality

The Browns always seem pleased to accept invitations but they rarely repay hospitality. That gets to be a little too one-sided for most hostesses, so the Browns are invited out less and less.

There's Gold in Those Walls

PORTLAND, Ore. (INS)—There is gold in the walls instead of the hills these days.

Portland decorator Harold Stroeberger is responsible for the new white and gold bedroom walls developed by experiments with white pocket paneling lumber.

Stroeberger starts with ordinary panel grades of commercial white pocket Douglas fir. He brushes white paint on random width panels and rubs it off immediately.

This leaves a subtle cast of white, which is allowed to dry thoroughly. Then a sealer is applied.

After it dries, Stroeberger rubs gold paint into the pores of the wood, then rubs it off. Gold flakes fill every tiny pocket of the wood. Another coat of sealer and waxing complete the job.

The resulting wall has a delicate shading of white and the sparkle of gold everywhere in the tiny pockets.

Outstanding FBI Agent to Retire

Louis B. Nichols Ends Dedicated Service of 23 Years on Friday

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—This country loses one of its best and most dedicated public servants Nov. 1 when Louis B. Nichols retires. He has been the No. 3 man in the FBI for years.

He joined the FBI 23 years ago. In that time very few people outside Washington ever heard of the husky, six-foot, dark-haired Nichols who at 41 is a man with an astonishing memory and endurance and a burning conscience.

He played the FBI up and himself down. But the FBI can thank him for much of the enormous goodwill it enjoys. In 15 years in Washington this writer has never known a government employee who worked so hard.

His routine, day in and day out, year after year, has been from 8:30 in the morning till 11 or 12 o'clock at night in the office, with usually 10 or 11 hours on Saturday and a shorter stint on Sunday.

Most of the time he ate lunch and dinner at his desk. His going is tough on the FBI. But I think it's a lifesaver for Nichols. Men around him worried constantly about his long hours. Now he is going into private business to make some money for his family.

A few years ago, during a vacation which was never spent far from a telephone, he built a cabin near the water about 100 miles from Washington so he and his two sons could fish. Since then he probably hasn't been there four times a year.

The three top men in the FBI are J. Edgar Hoover, director; Clyde Tolson, associate director; and Nichols, assistant to Hoover. When Hoover and Tolson were out of town, Nichols ran the FBI. He was up to his neck in everything the FBI did. Besides being in charge of its records and communications, he was the man who, since the late 1930s, has handled its public relations.

Through those years, which covered World War II and the Korean War and the great public agitation over communism at home and abroad, Nichols was the one through whom the agency's work was made known to the press and the world.

But he never let himself figure in any of the stories. Invariably Nichols reported to newsmen something like this: "J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, today announced so and so." It was that way, day by day, that the FBI story was unfolded.

Although Nichols was not called the FBI's public relations man, there is no such designation in the agency — he was, in this writer's opinion, the best public relations man any government agency has had in our time.

His technique was simple: You could call him with a question. If he could answer, he would immediately; if he couldn't, he'd say so. He was utterly reliable. If it was possible, without revealing FBI secrets, to talk off the record for background, he'd do that, too.

Through all these years the public has had a picture — justly deserved — of the FBI as an extraordinary government agency. It was Nichols who for years presented that picture.

Napoleon Bonaparte was promoted to general in the French Army when he was 21 years old.

Obey All Safe-Driving Laws

By BURTON W. MARSH
Director Traffic Engineering & Safety Dept.,
American Automobile Association

How ridiculous the term "a nation of drivers" would have seemed only a few short years ago! Yet we are rapidly becoming just that — A NATION OF DRIVERS.

While the number of motor vehicles zooms rapidly upwards, the rate of increase in drivers is even greater. A short decade from now we can anticipate upwards of 100 million drivers compared to some 70 million now. And these folk are going to DRIVE — so we must anticipate large increases in vehicle-miles of traffic.

CHANGES

The American way of life is undergoing very great changes—highway transportation is playing a mighty important role in the changing scene. There is a sharp trend toward urban and suburban living.

The consolidated school supplants the one-room rural school and requires the largest bus fleet in the world. Work-weeks are shortening, and folks are going places and doing things with new leisure.

We are great travelers—mostly by automobile—eager to see new sights, meet people of other sections, enjoy changed horizons. Family earnings are increasing, as is our standard of living.

Cities are changing—with more and more people seeking suburban homesites, gigantic outlying shopping centers with their thousands of parking spaces, drive-in theaters, restaurants, banks, and what not. Because of such changes, many more families are becoming owners of more than one car.

These are but some of the changes already going on — and many more are to come!

From the traffic and safety viewpoint — what? Well, it may surprise you, but we're doing rather well — all things considered. Do you know what several recent European visitors, studying traffic here, have said? "One of the most outstanding features which we note is the orderliness of your USA traffic!" We do not deserve too much credit — the very growth of traffic has forced greater orderliness.

Accidents? Well, from one viewpoint, the record is really not so terrible. One fatal accident for every 18,000,000 vehicle-miles of highway travel. One injury accident for every 670,000 vehicle-miles. A study of accidents at 420 non-urban intersections in Los Angeles County showed one accident for every 2,000,000 vehicles passing through.

Furthermore, consider the VERY large number of POSSIBILITIES for a crash per vehicle-mile—the number of cars met and passed, the other cars at intersections, crowding on narrow roads, too short sight-distances, etc. The conclusion is inescapable that we drive — and walk — well enough so that there is only one serious accident to many million POSSIBILITIES.

However, these figures do not mean that our accident toll is unimportant, or that we can be complacent about it. NOT AT ALL!

They do show that we are dealing with a problem gigantic in totals but considered so unlikely to occur, to an individual this week or next that it is not easy to get him personally aroused as to the great need for more effective action.

Yet the huge tolls, the human suffering, the billions of dollars of annual waste through traffic accidents demand more effective action. And we are especially challenged by the experience-records in many place proving that the serious accident toll can be cut in half — or better!

Our needs are critical! What we must have is a greatly-improved attack all-across-the-board. We must build better and inherently safer roads, better protective features such as islands, barriers, grade separations and cars in which likelihood of injury is greatly reduced.

We shall probably come to the

OBEDIENT TRAFFIC LAWS — This is the best way to keep the highway death toll from mounting. The United States is a nation of drivers — it must yet become a nation of safe drivers.

day when electronic devices will do much toward preventing vehicles from crashing. Yes, much must be done by engineering to produce improved physical features. However, we cannot realistically hope to bring accidents down to the irreducible minimum by physical features or devices alone.

For we are also dealing with a huge SOCIAL PROBLEM—and the main need is to CHANGE PEOPLE and to bring up new generations of properly TRAFFIC-CONDITIONED folk. This is an educational problem of the greatest importance.

These are not easy tasks, but THEY ARE ATTAINABLE. We need better and more uniform traffic laws, uniform signs, signals and markings; better and more thorough driver licensing; re-examination programs designed to maintain good driving among licensed drivers; improved enforcement; greatly extended and improved TRAFFIC EDUCATION for both youth and adults; driver education, pedestrian education, citizen and voter education.

Cars must be kept in better condition. There must be VERY greatly stepped-up and improved research into fundamentals, such as basic causes of accidents.

There simply must be developed much-improved ATTITUDES about one's traffic responsibilities, courtesy in traffic, duties one accepts as foot or wheel, keeping one's vehicle in a safe condition, and the sound activities of our police and other public servants dealing with traffic.

In the increasingly motorized civilization which we face, every citizen needs to have a driver's point of view whether or not he is, at the moment, driving a motor vehicle.

So, especially as we think of the future, with huge growths in traffic, we must realize that it is essential that we become a nation of MUCH better drivers — and better walkers too!

This we must do — can do — WILL DO — our way of meeting and solving problems.

Coast-to-Coast in 10 Years

Expect Airliners to Fly 1,000 M.P.H.

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
FORT WORTH, Tex. (NEA) — Coast-to-coast commercial passenger flights in two and one-half hours at 1,000 miles per hour are now on the horizon for sometime in the next 10 years.

The development by Convair for the Air Force of the new B-36 supersonic bomber capable of delivering hydrogen bombs at top speeds near 2,000 m.p.h. breaks all barriers for supersonic passenger flight.

NEW FEATURE

"The revolutionary features of the B-36 Hustler which permit carrying such a huge load at speeds faster than sound make supersonic passenger flying an engineering certainty in the foreseeable future," says a Convair official.

This was the unanimous opinion of Air Force experts and engineers from firms supplying parts and materials for the B-36 who were here to watch the first public demonstration of the plane.

Up until now only fighter planes, able to carry limited bomb loads short distance, have been able to fly faster than sound. They have been built with costly machined metal sections, not adaptable to construction of large bombers or commercial planes.

SANDWICH PANEL

Development by Convair of a "sandwich panel" for the B-36 is one of the biggest contributions to supersonic commercial flight. A sandwich panel consists of honey-combed sections of fibreglass or stainless steel bonded between thin sheets of aluminum or steel, an inch or less thick.

It provides an insulating skin for the plane which resists the terrific temperatures of supersonic flight. At the same time it gives the necessary structural strength to withstand the severe stresses of flight faster than sound.

Fabrication of these panels lends itself to automation and mass production far more readily than the machining of plane sections from solid hunks of metal, which is necessary for the supersonic.

Convair has developed machines and techniques which produce these panels rapidly and efficiently.

There are several relatively simple methods for converting the basic design features of the B-36 into a passenger plane. The bomb load is carried in a huge detachable pod slung under the fuselage. This pod could be converted into a passenger compartment.

Electronic flying aids in the B-36 are so elaborate only a three-man crew is needed to fly it on its long bombing missions. But the plane is jammed with bulk, complex bombing, navigation and armament systems which would not be needed in a commercial plane.

With this gear out of the B-36 it would be possible to make passenger space inside the slender streamlined fuselage.

Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

When the Lions got rid of Marvin Brown we were somewhat disgusted with the move, not because he was any kind of a sensation, but for the reason that there were a few other players on the squad who seemed of less worth than Brown, one being Leon Hart.

Now there is trouble brewing within the squad and Hart is the key to the controversy.

This situation of how the players and the coaches felt about Hart was obvious a long time ago. But nothing was done to alleviate it.

Hart was re-signed to a contract by President Edwin J. Anderson with whom, for some reason, Hart has been on solid ground.

DO COACHES HAVE FREE HAND?

It is apparent that Anderson is the reason why Hart is still on the club.

Anderson has made the claim that the coaching has a free hand in deciding the fate of the personnel on the squad.

We can hardly believe that. If it was fact, George Wilson would hardly continue to hold on to the big fullback. The feeling of the coaches was clearly unfolded right here in Pontiac earlier in the season at the football kickoff attended by some 70 Oakland County coaches at which the Lions' coaches were guests.

We dare not repeat the comment made about Hart by one of his coaches, but it wasn't even subtle. Every coach in attendance realized what kind of relationship existed between the player and the staff.

You can feel it amidst the Lions. Hardly a player would turn his head if Hart yelled for attention.

We have nothing personal against Hart. In fact when he plays we like to watch him and hope he does well. The crowd has always given him support at Briggs Stadium.

HART NOT GOOD FOR MORALE

One thing, however, which cannot be ignored is the morale of any athletic team. There is no harmony with Hart and the Lions, therefore for the good of the team we think the big fullback should have been the one to go instead of Brown.

We must remember that in professional sports, they play for pay, and this becomes a very touchy situation when a player works in eight plays in five games and is one of the top salaried men in comparison with those who play at an average of 40 minutes every game.

Even in a pre-season game we chatted with one of the top players on the team and he made the remark, "the best thing that could happen to this team would be if it got rid of Hart."

Hart said the stories about the attitude of the players toward him came as a surprise. He should have taken off the sun glasses.

Dales Have Best Scoring

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It probably surprises no one that Hillsdale's high-flying Dales are the state's leading offensive football club.

Coach Muddy Waters' club has averaged 39 points in banking over six opponents, and ranks fourth in defense. The Dales, riding a 31-game winning streak, have restricted foes to an average of 9.6 points per contest.

Hope College is the leader on defense, having limited six opponents to 40 points for a 6.6 average. Michigan State's Spartans are second with an average yield of eight points in five games.

Wayne State is third with a 9.5 mark, Hillsdale fourth with a 9.6 showing and Eastern Michigan fifth with 9.8.

Michigan State ranks second in offense with 28 points per game against five foes.

Olivet has the least defense, having allowed 215 points in six games while scoring only 13.

Halfback Red Terwilliger, a 165-pound senior from Farwell, Mich.,

scored three touchdowns against Wisconsin State (Superior) last Friday night and the fleet Northern Michigan back moved into a tie for the individual scoring leadership.

Terwilliger is deadlocked with halfbacks Lovell Coleman of Western Michigan and Kerry Keating of Eastern Michigan. Each back has 48 points.

Al Korpak of Detroit has 37 points while Jim Pace of Michigan and Earl O'Shaughnessy of Hillsdale are tied with 36 apiece.

Pistons Score First Victory

Yardley Takes Scoring Honors With 28 Points at Minneapolis

MINNEAPOLIS (U)—The Detroit Pistons snapped a two-game losing streak last night and spoiled the Minneapolis Lakers' homecoming with a 115-96 victory in a National Basketball Assn. contest.

The Pistons, who made their debut as Detroit's home club this season, led all the way as George Yardley looped in 28 points to take high-scoring honors for the evening.

Detroit jumped off to an 8-7 lead on Walter Duke's jump shot and extended it in every period. The only time the Lakers came close was in the last part of the third period when they had 57 points to 66 for the Pistons.

The Pistons out-rebounded the Lakers, 35-44, and hit 42 of 107 field goal attempts while dropping in 31 of 38 free throws. Bob Houbregts was runnerup in scoring honors with 16 points, followed by Dukes with 14.

Kansas Football Coach Will Quit

Mather and His Entire Staff Plan to Depart After Season

LAWRENCE, Kan. (U)—Chuck Mather has thrown in the towel on four dismal years as football coach at the University of Kansas.

"The pressure is simply too great," he said last night in announcing he and his staff will withdraw at the end of the season. "We have no apologies for the time we've been at Kansas." Mather didn't amplify his reference to pressure.

He brought a brilliant high school coaching record to Lawrence in 1934 but his Jayhawk teams have won only seven games, lost 26 and tied three. This season's record is 1-4-1.

It was Mather's first venture into college coaching. From 1937 to 1934 his high school teams in Ohio won 111, lost 18 and tied 5.

Speculation about a successor centered on Jack Mitchell, head football man at the University of Arkansas. A Kansas spokesman pointed out the director of athletics, the athletic board and the board of regents all have a say on the hiring of a new coach. He indicated no immediate action will be taken.

Adams Pleads for Patience With Wings

Meet 5th Ranked Northern Friday

Chiefs Have Upset Dreams

Dreams of upsetting the state's 5th ranked Class A football team, Flint Northern, aren't far-fetched for Pontiac High Friday night.

The Chiefs, if they show the determination seen in the Arthur Hill game and the fight as shown in the second half against Saginaw in the last game, could do it. But they will have to be at their best from start to finish.

Northern, with a 3-1 mark, could very easily be 4-0. The lone loss was a 13-6 decision to Muskegon even though the Vikings held the upper hand most of the game.

Two sophomore quarterbacks will face each other Friday at Flint, Fred Staley for Pontiac and Vic Urlick for Northern. Physically both are about the same, Staley going 5-feet-8, 145 and Urlick going 5-10 and 150.

Urlick has started the last two games for Northern just as Staley has done and neither has been really effective passing.

"We haven't concentrated on our passing game too much, but we are due to start throwing a little more," said Northern coach Andy MacDonald. "I think Vic is improving."

Navy Coach High on Fifth-Ranked Notre Dame 11

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (U)—The relative rankings of Navy and Notre Dame and the odds on their football game Saturday are bothering Coach Eddie Erdelatz of the Mid-dies today.

"I don't want to talk about Navy, let's talk about that great Notre Dame team," he told his weekly news conference.

"They're ranked fifth and we're nowhere. They ought to be 14 point favorites and they're only three."

Coach Erdelatz appeared nettled by recent press conjecture that Navy may be overrated as a topflight football team despite winning five of its six games. The caliber of its victims—Boston College, William & Mary, California, Georgia and Penn.—has been questioned.

Anderson Comes to Fullback's Defense

Lions' Prexy Defends Hart

DETROIT (U)—Reports that big Leon Hart has been giving less than his best efforts to the Detroit Lions brought club president Edwin J. Anderson to the fullback's defense yesterday.

In a telephone interview from Palm Springs, Calif., Anderson said the Lions coaching staff is free to make any decision it wants to about the 6-5, 250-pound back.

He added, however, that when he talked with the coaches about Hart "they said they're going to go along with Leon and hope he can come through for us."

Some Lion coaches and players, who asked that their names not be used, had suggested earlier that Hart has been "dogging it." One veteran Lions linebacker commented: "Why should we knock ourselves out 12 games a season when this guy loafs around for all but two or three games a year and gets a lot of money?"

Hart, a veteran of eight seasons with the Lions, said he has always tried to play the game to the best of his ability. He called attention to a hamstring muscle which was torn two days after the club's exhibition opener with Cleveland.

"Anyone who knows anything at all about a hamstring muscle knows it takes time for it to heal," said the former Notre Dame All-

Pontiac will counter with more power at fullback in 190 pound Dick Whitmer and match Northern's speed at the halves in Bob Manning and Jim Keller.

Two sophomore guards, George Graves and Charley Brown, get the starting nod for the Chiefs, but coach Jesse MacLeay indicated that juniors Herman Spicer and Doug Voydanoff will see action at the guard posts.

Big loss as a result of a knee injury is regular guard Willie Duncan who may be out for the season.

Brown, who took over the guard spot in the second game, has improved immensely, and MacLeay feels the speedy 175 pounder could be one of the league's best linemen in another season.

George Prell and George Palalian will be back at tackles and with Tom Whitehead on the injury list, sophomore 200-pounder Jerry Rush is slated for more tackle duties.

Both teams have had one game called off because of the flu, but the "bug" seems to have moved on and therefore all players should be cured of influenza.

Game time in Flint is 8:00 p.m.

TRouble! — Big Detroit Lion, Leon Hart (right) and his coach, George Wilson, talked things over yesterday at Pasadena, Calif., un-mindful, on the surface at least, of stories that the Lions are having trouble, and that most of it originates with the former All-America end from Notre Dame. Stories said that resentment against Hart broke open after last Sunday's 35-17 loss to the Rams. Hart was quoted today as saying he's ready to go against the 49ers Sunday, at San Francisco.

Detroit Whips New York, 4-0, for 4th Triumph

Club General Manager Tells Fans to Jeer Him Instead of Team

DETROIT (U)—Jack Adams, whose Detroit Red Wings have been lustily booed almost ever since the National Hockey League season started, pleaded with the home fans today to "save your catcalls for me—don't take it out on a bunch of nice kids."

The veteran general manager, now in his 31st year with the Wings, said he is "disillusioned" at the reaction of the Detroit fans and said he would even wear a red hat "so they can give the hell to me."

Adams' comments were made prior to the Wings' 4-0 shutout of the second-place New York Rangers at Madison Square Garden last night. Detroit scored its 4th victory of the season, while a close NHL cellar rival, last-place Toronto, was falling before league-leading Montreal 6-2.

The slashing stick of rookie Don Poole brought the 5th-place Wings out of their slump and helped them to move to victory after caging two goals in the 1st period. Poole made the 1st goal and was followed by Gordie Howe a minute later. Alex Delvecchio added another in the 2nd stanza and new defenseman Bucky Hodlingsworth made the last in the 3rd period.

The brothers Richard teamed to score three goals as the Montreal Canadiens took the measure of the Toronto Maple Leafs. The trouncing was a triumph for rookie goalie Len Broderick who was playing his 1st game in the Major Leagues after filling in for ailing Jacques Plante.

Chicago, tied with New York for 2nd place, and Boston, in 4th, were idle.

The Red Wings have dropped five of their first nine games—two of them to the Chicago Black Hawks—and most of the spectators are blaming Adams for trading away all-stars Ted Lindsay and goalie Glenn Hall. The loudest jeering came Sunday night when the fans got their first look at Lindsay and Hall in Chicago uniforms.

"We're off to a lousy start, there's no denying it," said Adams. "But I've been prouder of this team than I have of any of our championship outfits. This is a good bunch of youngsters and they don't deserve all this riding."

The Red Wings have been particularly ineffective at home. Adams believes the vocal disapproval on home ice was "organized."

"I've been in hockey a long time and I've never used an alibi," he said. "But everyone should understand that the Red Wings haven't had a full team since 10 minutes of the opening game. We've had four players hurt and another fellow didn't work out like we thought he would."

"I'm pleading for allegiance and patience. People can't forget our successes over the past nine years in a few short games. No one person can destroy the Red Wing dynasty but a vocal minority of fans can. They can boo me all they want, and they can tear the roof off with cheers for Lindsay and Hall and the other guys I've traded off. But they have to leave the kids alone."

49ers Attend Funeral Service for Owner

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (U)—The San Francisco 49ers return to full time workouts today after attending funeral services for their owner, Anthony J. Morabito.

The 49ers, leading the National Football League's Western Division, play Detroit here Sunday. A light workout was held yesterday after the last rites for Morabito. The entire team acted as honorary pallbearers. Morabito's brother Victor succeeds him as the club's principal owner.

If there ever was any doubt as to the best juvenile filly in the land it was erased yesterday when Idun won the $39,650 Frizette Stakes at Belmont Park for her eighth triumph in as many starts. And there are many who claim she is the best of the 2-year olds, regardless of sex.

The $38,475 she earned in the Frizette boosted her total earnings to $229,955—a new financial mark for 2-year old fillies. Top Flight held the old mark of $219,000, established in 1931 when she went through a seven-race season without a setback. Idun cost a record $83,000 at the yearling auction last year.
There is another $50,000 to be awaited Idun should trainer Sherill Ward decide to send his brilliant performer in the mile and one-sixteenth of the Selma at Laurel, Md., Nov. 9.

Juveniles Feature Laurel Racing Card

LAUREL, Md. (U)—Fall racing in Maryland starts off today with a rush at Laurel where 19 juveniles will make a charge in the feature.

The field of 3-year-olds in the Maryland Futurity is a record for the track. The race for three-quarters of a mile will be worth $9,516.50 to the winner out of total awards of $14,525.50.

Laurel will be the racing scene for only 11 days with Pimlico to follow with 28.

Injuries Hindering Cox

MINNEAPOLIS (U)—The busi-ness of being a football hero is a risky trade. Minnesota's bruised Bobby Cox admitted as much today.

The player once boomed as a surefire All-America was struggling today to hold onto his starting quarterback job on a team that has tobogganed from No. 3 national ranking into football's limbo.

Bad ankles have robbed him of his 1956 flamboyance. Ganging-up enemy defenses have choked his favorite plays and as a result have left Minnesota's offense, during the last two games, in a trance.

How did it happen?

"We sneaked up on a lot of teams last year," Cox said. "In my case I had a lot of things going for me. I felt free and loose running the pass option play."

'M' May Use Aerial Weapon

Beefy Hawkeye Line to Force Use of Passes

Wolverines Have Found
Success Via Airlines
With 2 Throwers

ANN ARBOR (U)—Michigan's best bet for unbeaten Iowa Saturday seems to rest on the strong passing game of Jim Van Pelt and Stan Noskin.

The beefy Hawkeye line has been the stingiest in the big 10 this season. It has allowed rival ball carriers a meager 79 yards per game in three league contests.

Iowa has been slightly more vulnerable to enemy passes, granting 82.1 yards a game. Defensively, the Hawkeyes rank first in the conference.

Quarterback Van Pelt and Noskin have completed 39 of 77 passes between them. These have been good for four touchdowns.

"Passing is our best weapon," said coach Bennie Oosterbaan, a former disciple of the running offense. "Actually this is a surprise from pre-season estimates, but once I saw Noskin pass I knew our passing attack would be more potent. Van Pelt too, has improved tremendously."

Van Pelt, a senior signal caller, was an erratic passer prior to this season. Basically a single wing blocking back, he has developed into one of the top T-formation quarterbacks in the Big Ten.

Of the 34 passes he has thrown this season, 22 have been complete, a 64.7 percentage.

His outstanding record, perhaps ironically, has been created a year after the graduation of Ron Kramer and Tom Maentz, called the best end tandem in college football last season.

Injuries have made Michigan weak at left end, the Wolverines' top passing target.

AERIAL ARTIST—Romeo quarterback Butch Dallwitz, who has passed for several touchdowns and set up many others with his long flips, will face a stern test tomorrow night when the Bulldogs host Rochester at their Homecoming game. The battle may decide the Tri-County League title.

Wisconsin Aims to Stop MSU's Walt Kowalczyk

Badgers Remember Big
Spartan Back From '56
Rout at State

EAST LANSING (U)—They remember Walt Kowalczyk over at Wisconsin.

The name is hard to spell but the big fellow is harder to forget once you've seen him barreling for a touchdown.

When the Michigan State football team travels to Madison, Wis., this weekend for the Friday meeting with the Badgers, the Spartan sprinting blacksmith will be a marked man.

Even though bothered by a leg injury last year, big Walt was the big man and top yardage-gainer in the 33-0 defeat of Wisconsin.

They'll be waiting for him on the theory: stop Kowalczyk and you've stopped state.

Illinois played the game the same way last Saturday and Walt for a while was kept to a minimum yardage by the nine man stunting defense—five men in the line and four linebackers anticipating the play to plug any holes.

But Kowalczyk broke through on a trap play for the winning touchdown.

A few surprises are planned for Wisconsin.

Could be, while Wisconsin is busy watching Kowalczyk somebody else will be making a touchdown.

But you never can afford to look away from Kowalczyk.

Jim Ninowski is back at quarterback and has been clicking with his practice passes now that he has recovered from the thumb injury that limited his action against Illinois.

On the doubtful list today as coaches prepared their 35-man traveling squad were halfbacks Art Johnson and Don Zysk and fullback Don Arend.

Johnson and Zysk are still bothered by bad colds and complications. Arend has been limping because of a knee twist suffered in the midweek scrimmage.

After a final home workout late this afternoon, the squad is scheduled to plane for Madison at noon Friday.

Reds Sign Collegian

CINCINNATI (U)—The Cincinnati Redlegs today signed Herb Kosten, 21-year old third baseman and captain of the University of Alabama baseball team.

Kosten, who hails from Memphis, Tenn., was signed to a contract with the Redlegs' farm club at Wenatchee, Wash., of the Class B Northwest League.

Quarterbacks Added to ACC Checking List

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (U)—A pair of quarterbacks, Clemson's sterling sophomore Harvey White and unbeaten Duke's Bob Brodhead, were added today to the backfield check list of Associated Press Atlantic Coast Conference regional All America football board.

Six other backs tabbed in last week's first listing won "emphatic renomination" for additional fine efforts.

DU PONT ZEREX® ANTI-FREEZE PERMANENT TYPE WITH MR-8 KEEPS YOU GUARANTEED* SAFE

...AND IT WON'T ROT HOSE

HOW MR-8 PROTECTS YOUR CAR

Here's the complete all-around cooling system protection you get with "Zerex," the only permanent type anti-freeze containing MR-8, Du Pont's special chemical rust inhibitor.

1. Works in all waters

Du Pont "Zerex" anti-freeze with MR-8 is compatible with all types of water. Even in hard water the inhibitor stays in perfect solution. Hard water makes the inhibitors used in many anti-freezes precipitate out, materially reducing their protective qualities.

2. Will not rot rubber hose

"Zerex" with MR-8 will not rot or soften rubber hose because it contains no oil. Oil is extremely harmful to some radiator hose, softening or rotting it sometimes in one season. Then the hose may collapse or burst, causing overheating and engine damage.

So don't take chances this winter. See your dealer now and get the complete winter-long protection only "Zerex" with MR-8 gives. It's the premium, permanent type anti-freeze made and guaranteed by Du Pont... your best assurance of quality and satisfaction.

3. Neutralizes all acids

The seven different metals used in modern cooling systems can become corroded when a permanent anti-freeze solution turns acid. However, "Zerex" with MR-8 has extra "reserve alkalinity" that gives winter-long protection from the corrosive action of cooling system acids.

4. Keeps rust in suspension

"Zerex" with MR-8 keeps the cooling systems of today's complex engines clean and free-flowing. Because "Zerex" contains no oil, it does not cause rust to stick to cooling system surfaces and clog radiator passages, which can cause overheating and engine damage.

*DU PONT GUARANTEE

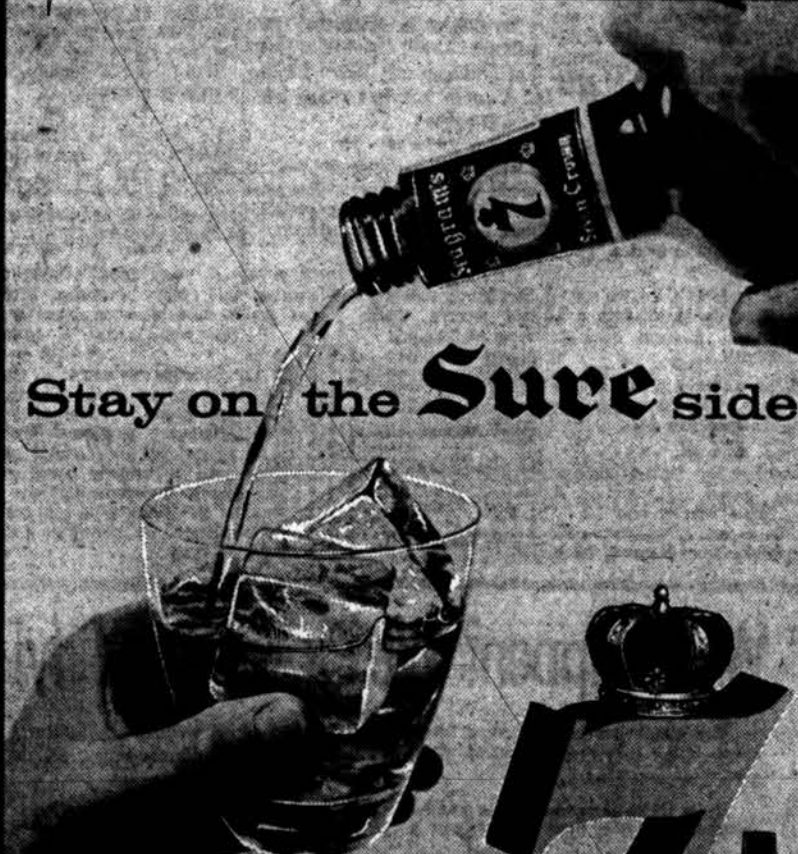

"Zerex" anti-freeze will protect the cooling system of your car from freezing, rust or corrosion for one full winter—and will not leak out if used in a properly operating, watertight cooling system and if used according to Du Pont directions printed on the "Zerex" container.

Du Pont guarantees, too, that "Zerex" will not boil away and can be used with either high- or low-opening thermostats, at high or low altitudes in extreme driving or weather conditions. "Zerex" will not harm rubber hoses, gaskets, pump packing, metal parts of the cooling system or car finish. "Zerex" mixes perfectly with water, flows freely and transfers heat efficiently.

Romeo-Rochester Clash in Key Tilt

By CHUCK ABRAHAM

Something will have to give in the brand new Tri-County League tomorrow night when the 1st place Rochester Falcons and once-beaten Romeo tangle in the Bulldog Homecoming game.

Rochester can become the loop's 1st champion by winning and is a slight favorite to do so. Romeo would virtually be assured of a tie for the top slot by upsetting the dope.

As a matter of fact, the league would likely end up in a three-way deadlock with Lapeer, the other team involved if Romeo won, Rochester and Lapeer still have games remaining with weak L'Anse au Loup after tomorrow.

The surprising Falcons, who were expected to have a lean season after losing several veterans through graduation and transfers, are rated the favorite because of their impressive 19-6 triumph over Class A Lapeer. Romeo bowed to the northern school by one touchdown.

Other factors in Rochester's favor will be a definite weight advantage and a revenge motive.

Champs Fight Nov. 12

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—World light-weight champion Joe Brown will meet Kid Centella of Nicaragua here Nov. 12 in a 10-round, non-title bout.

WEDNESDAY'S FIGHTS
CHICAGO — Kenny Lane, 120, Munksgaard, Mich., outpointed Orlando Zubizarreta, 124, Havana, 10.
HEAUMONT, Tex. — Baltasar "Junior" Flores, 124, Fort Arthur, Tex., outpointed Henry Ouellet, 122, Sparrowsburg, S. C., 10.
SAO PAULO, Brazil — Paulo de Jesus, 122½, Brazil, knocked out Perico Garcia, 120½, Peru, 3.

Ebersole, the Oakland County school will have an edge of at least six pounds per man although Romeo also has a big tackle in 240-pound John Lomaskoski.

Rochester was sailing a long a year ago before bowing to Romeo and would like to even the score and become the 1st team ever to conquer the Bulldogs at their Homecoming.

"Everyone is in good shape and we'll be ready for them. Our boys have a lot of desire," said Falcon skipper Gene Konley today. Rival mentor Ted Engdahl said his boys will be going all out to keep the Homecoming record going.

A big question mark for Romeo is starting halfback Ray Rinke. The speedy senior had two teeth knocked out when he accidentally ran into a blocking dummy while going for a pass in practice yesterday and may be sidelined.

He has played a key role in the Romeo attack all season with 30 points. Sophomore Tom Muir is his understudy. Passing ace Butch Dallwitz, Dave Proper, who has scored in every game, and Angus Stirling will round out the backfield. Romeo has averaged 28.3 points per game while winning five of six.

Rochester has only played four times due to a flu postponement. The Konleymen have won three straight since dropping the opener.

It wasn't supposed to be this way when the season started, but the fact remains that Southfield and Farmington will fight for the Inter-Lakes Conference football championship Friday afternoon at Southfield.

The crystal ball gazers predicted that the Jays and the Falcons would wind up in the league's 2nd division this year. They said the two teams were too inexperienced to make a serious run for the crown.

STRIKES AND SPARES

By JOE WILMAN

A point many of us forget in our spare-shooting is the distance between pins. When you're shooting at either the 7, 8, 9 or 10-pins, for example, remember that they're about three feet further away from you than the head pin. Naturally, a ball hooking to the left will have about three feet more to hook, in shooting for the 7-pin than in shooting for the head pin.

Another mistake is overlooking a "sleeper pin" — one directly behind another. We show correct angles for shooting such spares today. They include the 2-8, 3-9 and 1-5 spares. The important thing to remember at such times is that your ball will deflect after striking the front pin, and that you must have it strike the front pin solidly enough to allow it to roll on and into the "sleeper pin."

(Copyright 1957, John F. Dille Co.)

But Monte Charles' Bluejays and Jack Hayes' Farmington team refused to follow the form chart. They assembled surprisingly strong outfits and now find themselves coming right down to the wire.

Southfield, a slight favorite to tomorrow, has the inside track on the title. The Jays are undefeated in four league outings compared to three wins and a tie for Farmington, which means that they need only tie the Falcons to take the crown.

A powerful ground attack gives Southfield the edge. Farmington will have to halt the bull-like rush of fullback Jim Zurcher and the outside sweeps of Tom Ridley and Joe Moore.

The Jays have been successful enough through the air, however, to keep the defense honest. Quarterback Bob Flar does most of the passing, with ends Tom Dob-

Grid Attendance Off

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
College football attendance decreased in virtually every part of the country except the South and Southwest during the first half of the 1957 season.

But the over-all change was so small it probably could be explained by a few schedules that put the more attractive games later in the season this year—or by uncertain alumni who tossed a coin to decide whether or not they should go to the game on a threatening day.

An Associated Press survey of September and October major college games showed today that 303 played this year drew 350,380 fewer spectators than 313 games by the same teams last season.

On the basis of average attendance per game, that shows a decrease of 1.26 percent—about 300 persons a game.

The Atlantic Coast, Southeastern, Big Eight, Southwest and Border Conferences all marked up gains, ranging from 8.2 percent in the Southwest to 17.3 percent in the Atlantic Coast. The major Eastern independent colleges also showed a slight gain—1.2 percent—due principally to the Army-Notre Dame game, which pulled some 96,000 spectators into the Philadelphia Municipal Stadium.

The larger independents scattered through other sections, whose totals are influenced by two big drawing cards — Notre Dame and Miami of Florida — experienced an over-all decline of 10.4 percent.

The mighty Big Ten, where Michigan can play before 100,000 spectators and Ohio State regularly draws around 80,000 for its home games, wound up with a 6.6 percent decline during the first half of the season. Attendance in the troubled Pacific Coast Conference dropped 6.1 percent and in the Skyline Conference 6.9 per-

Gromek to Manage Tigers' Farm Club

DETROIT (U. P.) — Steve Gromek, veteran American League pitcher, yesterday was signed to manage the Detroit Tigers class D farm club at Erie, Penn.

The 37-year-old hurler, who retired last August after 17 years of active baseball, replaces Charlie Kress who will be assigned to other duties in the Tiger organization.

Gromek joined the Tigers in 1933 after a trade with the Cleveland Indians and compiled a 45-41 mound record before retiring.

Ella Fitzgerald Reports Decline of Rock 'n' Roll

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (U-P) — Heartening news of a decline in rock 'n' roll is reported by Ella Fitzgerald, considered by many pros to be the greatest of the pop songstress.

"I think it's losing popularity," she observed. "The kids seem to be going for a nicer kind of music."

"When I used to sing a ballad at a jazz concert, the audience would start getting restless, waiting for me to get going on a jump tune. But now I can sing three ballads in a row and they'll listen quietly."

Though she sings jazz, Ella mixes it with rock.

"I just don't like it," she said. "Not for me at any rate. At first, I think, the songs were too suggestive. The kids got too wild when they heard them. It was a natural reaction—one girl starts yelling when she hears Elvis and another one thinks she should, too. Pretty soon it's a riot."

"But I think the kids are getting so they want to understand jazz. They listen now and appreciate when they hear something good."

The same is true in Europe, she said. She tours there four months a year, singing before packed audiences. They're quiet and attentive, she said, listening carefully for the nuances of jazz.

Ella is back home to do a movie, the W. C. Handy film, "The St. Louis Blues." She plays herself in this one, singing "The Beale Street Blues." A couple of years ago, she played a dramatic role for Jack Webb in "Pete Kelly's Blues."

"I'd like to do more acting. I think it's good to be able to do different things," she said. "The only trouble is that I'm shy. I can dance and do comedy at home, but when it comes to doing it in front of an audience, I get nervous. I'm not sure people are going to like me."

Her latest release is a "Porgy and Bess" album with Louis Armstrong, and she handles the Gershwin arias with great skill.

City Barracks Removal Eyed

Supervisors Told Units Will Be Razed When Desired by Tenants

Oakland County's substandard housing for indigent families in Pontiac will be eliminated if and when it becomes possible and "is socially desirable to the tenants," the Oakland County Board of Supervisors heard yesterday.

Mrs. Hope F. Lewis, Birmingham supervisor and chairman of the welfare committee made that statement in a report on the housing program of the county's social welfare department.

Of the total 63 housing units owned by the county, only 30 are classified as substandard and only six of these are occupied, Mrs. Lewis pointed out.

Of these six, all former CCC barracks purchased by the county during World War II, four are located in Pontiac on West Kennett road, across from the city dump.

Plans for the removal of these six families are under study," said Mrs. Lewis.

Mrs. Lewis did not detail what problems are faced in the evacuation of the four Pontiac units, but did indicate that it was difficult for the welfare department to find other quarters or large families.

"The Pontiac families are of more than nine persons," she said. "When adequate housing is located, these families can be moved."

Scott Murder Trial Memo Contended

LOS ANGELES (U-P) — A memorandum prepared by a bank official now dead is the latest subject of contention in the murder trial of L. Ewing Scott, accused of slaying his wife.

The document, offered by the prosecution yesterday, is an inter-departmental memo from Robert Robinson, then a branch office manager of the Security-First National Bank, to the bank's chief auditor.

The memo quoted Scott as saying six months after Mrs. Scott disappeared that he was having marital difficulty and was contemplating divorce.

Mrs. Scott, wealthy socialite, vanished in May of 1955. Robinson's memo was dated No. 14, 1955.

Scott's three attorneys argued the memo is inadmissible because Robinson is dead.

The state contends Scott, who is 61, killed his wife so he could take over her $600,000 fortune. Scott contends his wife merely ran off from him and probably is still alive.

A donnybrook gets its name from the unrestrained free-for-all fights that used to happen continually at the county fairs in Donnybrook, Ireland.

County Health Department Cooperates 12 From U. of M. Eye Program

Twelve University of Michigan graduate students studying public health administration are traveling around the county with Oakland County health department officials this week, to study the department's program.

Dr. John D. Monroe, director of the health department, reports this is the first time his department has co-operated with the university in the joint program conducted to aid students in the field and give Michigan county health department ideas on ways to improve their program.

Throughout the week, the students will observe the department's sanitation, nutrition, dental, records, nursing and immunization programs.

They will then return to Ann Arbor and in written reports, compare the operation of the Oakland County Health Department and its application to the county.

Many Greek Villagers Fleeing 3-Day Floods

ATHENS, Greece (U-P) — Floods following three days of rain have forced evacuation of many central Greek villages.

Thousands of acres of farmland were ravaged and all railroads and highways linking Athens with northern Greece were blocked.

WEYMOUTH, England (U-P) — Miss Gladys Oakford has bought a season ticket on the Weymouth-Dorchester commuters' train for her dog, Sally.

Billy Graham's Crusade Man Struck by Ball Forgets His A, B, Cs

"Miracle in Manhattan," the documentary film account of Billy Graham's New York Crusade, will be shown at 7:30 p.m. Friday in Marimont Baptist Church.

Jim Falkenberg and Tex McCrary report the 15 week coverage of Dr. Graham's largest Crusade for Christianity.

They set the stage with a photographic tour of Manhattan, followed by the Crusade's Opening Night in Madison Square Garden.

Successive meetings in Brooklyn, Central Park, Forest Hills, Harlem and Wall Street emphasize New York's interest in the Crusade.

The sports arena becomes a cathedral and the preaching by the evangelist is augmented by the music of the massive choir.

High moments in the picture include the overflow crowd that jammed Yankee Stadium, breaking every attendance record in 34 years.

The appearance of Vice President Richard M. Nixon, a glimpse of Ethel Waters singing and the final service at 42nd and Broadway, Time Square are also shown.

The Rev. David Mortensen stated the doors will be open at 6:45 p.m. with no admission charge.

The temperature at which glasses melt to a smooth coating on pottery or other ceramic ware ranges from 1,600 to 3,000 degree Fahrenheit.

LAGOS, Nigeria — A 32-year-old director of a trading firm in Lagos, Nigeria, has gone back to Britain to learn how to read and write all over again.

He is Julian Wilson, who "forgot" his A,B,Cs after being hit on the head by a ball while umpiring a cricket match in Lagos. His friends hear that he now goes three times a week to a woman therapeutic specialist for "lesion." Slowly and with concentration he has begun to read newspapers and write letters.

Doctors who examined him cannot explain why the ability to read and write deserted him while he remained normal in other ways, apart from some difficulty in describing events which were close in his mind.

New Cathedral Rises in Britain

To Replace 15th Century Church in Bomb-Torn City of Coventry

WASHINGTON—A new cathedral called "a prayer in stone" by its designer is rising in Coventry, England, beside the 15th Century Church of St. Michael bombed out in World War II.

The edifice differs radically from its predecessor, but will harmonize with the adjacent tower and walls of the old church which survived saturation bombing by the German Luftwaffe in mid-November, 1940, the National Geographic Society says.

Fulfilling his desire that the "new cathedral should grow from the old," architect Basil Spence provided a lofty porch leading from the scarred walls of the old edifice to the new. The old shell is being purposely preserved as a memorial.

STONE FROM STAFFORDSHIRE
Pink-gray stone from Staffordshire quarries will form the cathedral's clifflike walls, recalling at least one outward appearance of the old church.

The 70-foot-high stained glass windows will diffuse colorings of green, red, purple, and gold in symbolic themes of the life of man from birth until after death. A massive tapestry approximately 70 feet high, said to be the world's largest, will adorn one of the walls.

The foundation stone was laid in March, 1956, by the Queen, while bells pealed in the old cathedral tower and distant chimneys streamed smoke across industrialized Coventry. Princess Margaret made an official tour of inspection of the structure this summer, and of the general progress in rebuilding the devastated city.

War production throbbed there during 1914-18 and 1939-45. World War II damage was perhaps worse there than in any English city other than London. Falling bombs blasted more than 67,000 houses. Destruction of the cathedral was called "probably the greatest single casualty among the buildings of Britain during the war."

SCENE OF HORROR BACK RIDE
But the city had known other exciting if less hazardous hours. There Lady Godiva, a modest 11th-century gentlewoman, rode naked through the streets to ransom the citizens from cruel taxation—and through the legend linked her name inseparably with Coventry. A "Peeping Tom" who violated the pledge not to look, also tied his name to the town's.

The expression "send to Coventry," meaning to shun or isolate, probably sprang from England's civil war of the 1600's when Royalist prisoners were sent to Coventry for safekeeping. The city also gave birth to a new verb, "coventrize," as a result of its severe bombing.

Though war bequeathed some remaining scars, Coventry now presents a brisk appearance. To the population of some 261,000, the ruins of their old cathedral are a daily reminder of their ordeals and endurance.

Postman Achieves British Hit Parade

COOTEHILL, Eire — It was a great day for 45-year-old Jack Norry, postman of Cootehill, Eire, when he got a long-distance call from London. It told him he had written a "smash-hit" song.

"Always I have longed and dreamed of the day I would write a great song about the wonderful childhood I spent in my native town of Ramelton, along the shores of Lough Swilly," said Norry.

Recently, in his County Cavan home, and helped by his wife and seven children, he wrote words and music to "Beautiful Lake of Shadows"—the name given to Lough Swilly in Donegal. It is being recorded in Britain by a leading singer for early release, Norry was told.

Planning Alterations on Napoleon's Cottage

PARIS — Some concern is being expressed in France at plans to modernize a historic building. The plans involve alterations at The Briars, the cottage where Napoleon stayed at the beginning of his six-year exile on St. Helena, lonely isle in the South Atlantic.

The cottage is about to be reconstructed to make it more comfortable for its present occupant, the local manager of Cable & Wireless, the British company to which the property now belongs. Napoleon spent only a few weeks at The Briars immediately after his arrival in 1815 until his official residence, Longwood, was ready.

Paper Output Gains

RIO DE JANEIRO — There are 15 plants manufacturing paper in Brazil, which still imports many grades of paper. Present production is less than 100,000 tons a year, but the 1960 output is expected to reach 317,000 tons.

Non-Strikers Armed in Lone Star Steel Co. Strike

By JERRY MARTIN

DAINGERFIELD, Tex. (AP)—Non-strikers carried arms to and from the Lone Star Steel Co. plant near here today after an explosion shook a nearby area last night. The blast was the latest incident in a series of outbreaks of violence.

The 40-day-old strike has left the area jittery and a small army of peace officers is keeping a tenuous peace.

"I'm totin' a pistol," said James Landers, 24, a 127-pound machine operator savagely beaten yesterday by six burly men he identified as strikers. Arrests were expected momentarily.

"We never had a gun checked before this started," said L. D.

Webster of Dallas, vice president of Lone Star Steel, as he admired an ancient cap and ball pistol bearing five notches. The 14-inch weapon was checked at the gate by a plant worker.

Gatehouse guards displayed an arsenal they were keeping for workers who carried them in their cars.

Texas law is a bit ambiguous about carrying weapons and officers here have not argued the matter.

Morris County Dist. Atty. Harry Williams said "authorities must presume that violence stems from the strike. I am going to prosecute anyone who violates the law, whether he is a striker or not."

Officers fanned out around Lone

Star Lake, just west of the huge steel plant, but couldn't pinpoint the blast site. Most reports indicated the blast occurred somewhere in that vicinity.

Daingerfield is a small town about 160 miles east of Dallas in east Texas.

A cadre of Texas Rangers were directing highway patrol troops drawn from throughout north Texas. Local authorities pitched in to help investigate each new incident.

Authorities said order could be maintained with the officers on the job now. Estimates of total police strength watching the situation ranged from 40 to 70 men.

In the past week, there have been four bombings, four incidents in which rifles or shotguns were fired into homes and uncounted telephone threats against non-strikers.

The plant employed some 3,600 persons before the walkout started Sept. 21. The union says 2,300 men still are out.

The dispute centers over the company's policy of filling job vacancies, a topic company officials said is not covered by the contract.

Two Records Broken by Ocean Pipeline

LOS ANGELES — The speedy laying of a 7-mile-long ocean pipeline off Los Angeles has broken two records. It is the longest and deepest major outfall ever laid.

In 7 days and 11 hours the contractor pulled a 22-inch, air-filled steel pipe into the Pacific and left it on the sandy floor 300 feet below the surface.

Asian Flu Victim Dies

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit's 27th death from the current Asian flu outbreak was reported Wednesday. The victim was Mrs. Lillie Merril, 90. Physicians said she also had a heart ailment. Detroit has had 33 influenza deaths so far this year compared with seven for all of 1956.

The U.S. armed services buy 3,567,000 different items.

No Tax-Free Ball

WASHINGTON — The Internal Revenue Service has ruled that admissions to a historical pageant are exempt from federal excise taxes, but the exemption does not apply to a costume ball attended by a number of guests in colonial attire.
