Wants Berlin Safety Pledge

Wins Time to Appeal

LEASE ON LIFE — Scheduled to die this morning in the electric chair, convicted killer Charles Starkweather gained a two-week lease on life when he received a stay of execution for a further appeal. Eleven knife and gun slayings were blamed on and admitted by the killer.

Killer of 11, Doomed Today, Given Two-Week Reprieve

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—Charles Starkweather, 20, slayer of 11, won a two-week stay of execution today a little more than an hour before he was to go to the electric chair.

Chief U.S. Dist. Judge Richard Robinson of Omaha stayed the execution until June 4. He said that would give Starkweather time to appeal a District Court denial of a writ of habeas corpus.

Starkweather was scheduled for execution about 6 a.m. for one of the slayings during a murder rampage 16 months ago. The stubby red-haired youth admitted 11 gun and knife killings.

Official witnesses and newsmen were already gathering in a predawn thunderstorm when the acting state penitentiary warden, John Greenholtz, notified them the execution had been stayed.

Protestant Chaplain Robert Klein had relayed the word of a possible stay to Starkweather. Half an hour later Starkweather learned the reprieve actually had been granted.

★ ★ ★

"He was pretty shaky," said Greenholtz. "He was all prepared to go."

Before the execution was called off, Starkweather had spent a nervous night drinking a good bit of coffee, the warden said.

At the Women's State Reformatory in York, where Caril Fugate, Starkweather's murder tour companion, is serving a life sentence, Supt. Hattie Bowley said the girl had not been told of the stay of execution, and probably won't learn of it from reformatory officials.

★ ★ ★

What Caril has learned of the case in the past has come from her attorneys, Mrs. Bowley said.

The 11th hour effort to save Starkweather from death was conducted by his father, Guy.

The elder Starkweather first phoned Judge Archibald K. Gardner of the U.S. 8th Circuit Court of Appeals in Huron, S.D.

Judge Gardner referred Stark-

Woman Knifed to Death in Car

Screams Alert Others in Detroit, but Try to Save Life Fails

DETROIT (AP)—A 24-year-old woman who was stabbed to death on a midtown street last night was identified today as Mrs. Patricia Cioffri, a record company clerk.

DETROIT (AP)— An unidentified young woman was stabbed to death, apparently in a car in a midtown residential street last night.

★ ★ ★

Police were summoned by neighbors who heard her screams as she staggered 75 feet from a curb before collapsing on a lawn.

Doctors at Receiving Hospital opened her chest and massaged her heart in a vain attempt to keep her alive.

The woman, about 25 years old and dark-haired, was wearing striped slacks and a turtle-neck sweatshirt marked "made in Canada."

★ ★ ★

A trail of blood led from a curb in the Second boulevard and Taylor district. Police said the woman either was stabbed and thrown from a car or stabbed as she left the car.

★ ★ ★

The fatal wound was a deep gssh in her left chest.

Residents attracted by her screams said they saw a man skulking between trees and later a car drive away with its headlights out.

House Dems Pass Beefed-Up Building Aid Bill

Lusty Victory Defies Ike's Economy Plea and GOP Efforts

WASHINGTON (AP) — A walk-away victory by House Democrats in their battle for large-scale federal housing aids enhanced prospects today for other Democratic programs.

By a lusty 261-160 vote Thursday, the House passed a Democratic-backed $2,100,000,000 housing bill after upsetting every Republican effort to whittle it down to administration size.

★ ★ ★

The result put Congress squarely at odds with President Eisenhower in the politically tinged hassle over spending versus the balanced budget.

A more immediate result was to generate new steam behind proposals for a billion dollars of federal aid for local public works projects, and a quarter billion dollars of government loans and grants to assist depressed areas.

House passage of the housing bill now sends it to conference with the Senate to compromise differences. The Senate earlier this session voted a $2,690,000,000 program.

★ ★ ★

Republicans were counting on a presidential veto if the bill sticks to present lines. None of Thursday's major votes gave the Democrats the two-thirds majority they would need to override a veto.

Presidential displeasure appears certain to be centered on authority for continuing government-subsidized low-rent public housing.

President Eisenhower in his January message to Congress asked for an end to public housing. But the Senate voted to subsidize 45,000 new units, the House 140,000 new units over four years at the rate of 35,000 a year.

★ ★ ★

The House ignored cries of "galloping socialism," budget busting and spending sprees in approving the bill without major change.

A coalition of Republicans and Southern Democratic conservatives was outnumbered by the disciplined Democratic majority on every key vote.

Cool Weekend Due Along With More Showers

Considerably cooler temperatures and more rain is forecast for the weekend in the Pontiac area. The low tonight will dip to 52 degrees.

A few showers are likely Saturday with the high near 65. Today's 12-18 mile an hour northwest winds will become north at 10-15 miles tonight.

Temperatures Sunday through Wednesday will average about five degrees below the normal high of 72 and normal low of 51 degrees.

Precipitation will total one-half inch to one inch with showers Sunday or thunderstorms Tuesday and Wednesday.

In downtown Pontiac the lowest recording preceding 8 a.m. was 66 degrees. The reading at 1 p.m. was 60.

Sister Missing After Cruiser Goes Down When Valve Sticks

Forty-nine-year-old Mrs. Marian Pryomski, formerly of Waterford Township, was drowned and her sister reported missing after a 22-foot cabin cruiser sank last night in Burt Lake, about 15 miles southwest of Cheboygan.

Cheboygan County sheriff's deputies and conservation officers still were searching early this morning for Mrs. Helen Cameron, of Alanson.

Thomas McDonald, of Detroit, owner of the boat, told police the craft began to founder when water came rushing in after a flush trap in the lavatory failed to close.

He ordered the women to cling to a life jacket, police said, but Mrs. Pryomski panicked and disappeared beneath the water. McDonald said she could not swim.

Mrs. Cameron turned and swam toward the center of the lake, the man said, apparently thinking she was headed for shore.

Mrs. Pryomski had been living with her sister in Alanson for the last eight months while separated from her husband, Walter Pryomski, owner of Walt's Boat Livery, 8226 Highland Rd. They had been married 10 months before the separation.

Pryomski said a divorce was pending. They had no children.

AFTER NUCLEAR TALK — U. S. Secretary of State Christian Herter, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and Britain's Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd (l-r) chat on the porch of Gromyko's villa at Geneva. After two weeks of formal sessions, the conference is now expected to get down to hard bargaining.

West Germany Pushes Issue at Geneva Talks

Would Bind Russia to Let Allied Troops Stay in City, Get Supplies

GENEVA (AP)—West Germany pressed the Big Three Western powers today to get a permanent hands-off-Berlin pledge from Russia before agreeing to a summit conference.

Foreign Minister Henrich von Brentano told a news conference he believes the United States, Britain and France must obtain Soviet "confirmation of the existing rights of the West in Berlin as a precondition for a summit meeting."

If that commitment could be secured informally from Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko here, he said, it could be made the basis for a formal agreement at the summit.

It would bind Russia to accept the right of the Western powers to keep troops in Berlin and to supply them across east Germany.

After nearly two weeks of formal sessions, the Big Four ministers are now moving into a new phase in which they expect shortly to get down to hard-boiled bargaining in secret over the Berlin and summit issues.

U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, and British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd, Maurice Couve de Murville of France and

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Daily News put this headline today on its Geneva conference story:

"Herter roasts Gromy, has him for dinner."

Von Brentano decided today the bargaining will have to go on in small secret gatherings over lunch and dinner tables.

These will parallel the big semipublic meetings at the Palace of Nations—making this a split-level conference partly in the open and partly in secret.

So, barring an unexpected change of signals, the formal Big Four session in the Palace of Nations later today is slated to bring another spate of speeches on details of the contradictory Western and Soviet proposals for Germany.

Mrs. Lawrence Declared Insane

Won't Stand Trial for Slaying

Mrs. Sue Lawrence today was judged criminally insane and unable to stand trial in the April slaying of the woman who married her former boy friend.

★ ★ ★

Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams ordered the distraught, 32-year-old Berkley woman committed to Ionia State Hospital for life or until cured.

Sobbing and near collapse, Mrs. Lawrence had to be hoped out of the courtroom by her husband and a matron from Oakland County Jail.

"I won't go," she cried, "I want to stay in jail. You told me I could stay there always, and now you won't let me."

3 PSYCHIATRISTS AGREE

A commission of three psychiatrists unanimously agreed on Mrs. Lawrence's mental condition.

They were Dr. Ivan LaCore and Dr. A. Tauber of Pontiac and Dr. Robert C. Behan of Detroit. The three had examined Mrs. Lawrence in Oakland County Jail where she was being held prior to preliminary examination on charges of shooting Mrs. Wyvona Crenshaw, 33, of 6250 Snow Apple Ln., Independence Township, to death April 18.

Besides agreeing that Mrs. Lawrence was insane at the time of their examination, Dr. Tauber and Dr. Behan testified the woman probably was insane at the time of the killing, too.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Behan had examined Mrs. Lawrence after an auto accident 28 months ago and came to the conclusion then that her mental condition had been affected by head injuries.

He testified to that affect when Mrs. Lawrence later collected a $17,000 Circuit Court judgement stemming from the accident.

A part-time beauty operator and the mother of one son, Mrs. Lawrence was charged with committing the murder in a fit of jealousy.

She had dated the victim's husband, Donald, 26, before his marriage in January.

But Mrs. Lawrence claimed in a formal statement after the shooting that Crenshaw and his wife had been blackmailing her with threats that might lead to her loss of custody of her son, Wayne Lawrence Jr., 9.

She said the fatal shot was fired while she and Mrs. Crenshaw struggled over possesson of a .25 caliber pistol. Mrs. Lawrence was wounded in the leg, not seriously, but was held in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in a state of nervous collapse, unable to speak to authorities for 48 hours.

★ ★ ★

On a lie-detector test, Crenshaw denied any blackmail plot and said Mrs. Lawrence was making the story up.

Estranged from her husband, Mrs. Lawrence lived at 2652 Oxford Rd., Berkley. In answer to her suit for divorce, Lawrence charged his wife was keeping company with other men and demanded custody of their son.

Today's sanity hearing was requested by Mrs. Lawrence's legal counsel. When arraigned on a charge of murder April 23, Mrs. Lawrence collapsed and was unable to leave a Sheriff's Department patrol car and enter the courtroom of Independence Township Justice William H. Stamp.

★ ★ ★

The arraignment took place while Mrs. Lawrence sat in the car, and later she had to be helped back up the steps of Oakland County Jail by two deputies.

Spring Brings Strange Doings by Animals, Too

NEW YORK (AP)—Spring does things to animals as well as people. They get crazy mixed-up ideas.

★ ★ ★

Witness a few happenings this week:

In Detroit a mother rabbit built a nest for her five babies smack on top of a target mound at the city police firing range. A "cease-fire" was called pending removal of the brood from pot-shot distance.

At Cranston, R.I., a pair of starlings set up housekeeping in a mail box. The residents tried three times to evict the birds and finally gave up. It's now a case of early birds and late mail.

At Hurman, Iowa, a hen took a look at four kittens and decided to evict the mother cat and take over the maternal chores. It did too. The rightful mama has been getting no closer than peeking distance.

★ ★ ★

At the Bronx Zoo only motherhood calmed down an agitated lady robin with a multiple-dwelling complex. The bird built nine nests before deciding on which one to sit and hatch.

He said they made one sale of the rough marijuana to a source known to police.

Grant said the sale and the raid took place off campus.

Reward Offered in Milk War

Food Dealer Group Will Pay $100 for Capture of Window Smashers

A $100 reward for the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who smashed windows in four Pontiac and Waterford Township stores yesterday was offered today by the Michigan Food Dealers Assn. with offices in Lansing.

★ ★ ★

Four independent grocery stores bearing signs advertising milk for 34 to 37 cents a half-gallon, had full quart bottles of milk thrown through their display windows early yesterday, causing some $1,000 damage.

The store owners blamed the attacks on independent milk dealers.

Targets were Gilmer's Market, 326 S. East Blvd.; Frank's Market, 2710 Elizabeth Lake Rd.; DeMino's Food Store, 2970 Pontiac Lake Rd.; and E & D Market, 3468 Pontiac Lake Rd.

★ ★ ★

W. K. Keasey, secretary - treasurer of the Michigan Food Dealers Assn., who announced the reward offer, said "It is our contention that this is a definite move to intimidate the independent grocery retailer from getting his share against the chain-store competitor."

Waterford Township Police Chief Millard Pender said he has had no calls from grocery store owners complaining of threats from independent milkmen.

Curriculum Accents Intellect, Skips Physical Education

MSUO Cuts ROTC in Blueprint of Courses

There will be no ROTC at MSUO.

Students will be encouraged to learn Russian.

Physical education courses will be neither required nor offered.

Students will study the phenomenon of the growing dominance of the large corporation in America.

These were some of the points announced today in a blueprint for a curriculum at the Michigan State University Oakland.

The curricula was described as the product of more than a year's study by some of America's outstanding educational leaders, a community citizens group, MSU staff members and a group of honor students.

First classes will open this fall on the 1,400-acre Meadow Brook farms estate near Pontiac donated by Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson. An enrollment of about 550 is expected the first year.

The banning of reserve officer training and the dropping of physical education courses were sharp breaks from present practices at Michigan State.

Students at the mother university have been agitating against compulsory ROTC.

★ ★ ★

Michigan State also has been proud of its vast physical education plant and big-time football teams.

A summary of the study declared its purpose was to develop a curriculum incorporating the newest and most promising ideas in American higher education.

"The purpose has not been one of revolution, although there has been a willingness to revolt if by doing so there was a possibility of 'capturing a quality of freshness,'" the report stated.

"The intent was not to be experimental, but a willingness to experiment if in the trial there was a promise of greater effectiveness in the learning process," it said.

Five major conclusions were reached:

1. Modern universities are entirely too complex and specialized.

2. There is an excessive emphasis on vocational training as opposed to liberal education.

3. University faculties have too often forgotten their purpose is not necessarily to teach, but to help students learn.

4. This new university, if true to its commitment of education for tomorrow's leadership, must concern itself with helping students learn more about the world community, with particular emphasis on non-Western cultures.

5. A careful and continuous review of traditional course content and arrangement is warranted.

Specific points made for courses of study included:

★ ★ ★

Approximately 50 per cent of the curriculum will be devoted to liberal arts and liberal studies regardless of the student's professional interest.

LANGUAGE REQUIRED

All students, except engineering and science majors, will be required to develop a thorough knowledge and skill in at least one foreign language, with the emphasis on Russian.

Emphasis will be on written work for the development of clear and effective writing.

Experimentation with such techniques as closed-circuit television, tape recordings, film clips and movies will be encouraged.

Small discussion groups, personal consultation between student and teacher, and independent study will be advocated.

All students will be required to participate in a course on great issues, dealing with such themes as religion and man, peace and war, and liberty and freedom.

A program of on-the-job training will begin as early as the sophomore year in the teacher training program.

There will be a definite move away from vocational training in business administration.

The engineering training will be geared for the space age.

★ ★ ★

Traditional fields of engineering such as civil, automotive, chemical and mechanical will be abandoned for a fresh concept of engineering science.

Only one engineering degree, bachelor of engineering science, will be offered.

Robinson called U.S. Dist. Judge Robert Van Pelt in Lincoln. Van Pelt was the judge who rejected the habeas corpus application.

★ ★ ★

Judge Robinson observed that Starkweather had been without help of an attorney in seeking the habeas corpus writ and that he contends his constitutional rights are being violated.

SIGNED ORDER

At 4:22 a.m. Robinson signed the order staying the execution.

Word was phoned to Greenholtz and a U.S. marshal arrived at the prison with the signed order at 6:10 a.m.

In denying Starkweather's writ, Judge Van Pelt noted the question of the youth's innocence was not raised in his application.

★ ★ ★

Starkweather had said previously he thought he should have received no more than a life sentence.

A bespectacled, bowlegged youth who stood 5 feet 5, Starkweather vaulted into notoriety in January of 1958.

Accompanied by his 14-year-old sweetheart Caril Ann Fugate, he set out on a killing spree. Nine victims in and around Lincoln were counted in three days, among them Caril's mother, stepfather and baby sister.

ADMITTED 11TH SLAYING

The trail ended with capture of the pair near Douglas, Wyo., Jan. 29 after a parting-shot killing of a shoe salesman on a Wyoming quently admitted the previously highway. Starkweather subseunsolved slaying of a Lincoln filling station attendant, to bring his string to 11.

★ ★ ★

Starkweather was tried specifically in the Jan. 27 shooting of a Bennet, Neb., high school junior, Robert Jensen, whose body was found in a storm cave with that of his girl friend Carol King.

Jurors spurned the insanity plea which Starkweather's court-appointed attorneys had entered over the youth's objections, and recommended death.

Caril, now 15, was tried six months later, was convicted of murder on grounds she aided and abetted Starkweather in the Jensen killing. She drew a life sentence. Her appeal to the State Supreme Court is pending.

One criminologist, Dr. James Reinhardt of the University of Nebraska, who studied the Starkweather case intensively, concluded that the boy killed for the sense of power it gave him.

Starkweather, bland and unemotional as ever, told the State Board of Pardons he was sorry he had killed. But he spent the bulk of his time complaining about his attorneys, whom he earlier had dismissed. He insisted that with better counsel, he would have gotten off with a life sentence.

★ ★ ★

During his long prison wait, he put on more than 15 pounds. He spent his time writing his autobiography, drawing pictures and reading — the Bible and Western fiction mostly.

Most of Nation Still Held in Muggy Grip

It was more showers and thunderstorms across the major part of the country with the possibility of stormy weather in some areas.

Some relief from the hot and humid weather appeared in sight for most of the Great Lakes region and middle Mississippi Valley in the next 24 hours. But the muggy weather held a clammy grip on wide areas from the southern Plains east and northeastward into the Eastern states.

MacManus, John, Adams Observes 25th Anniversary

This month marks the 25th anniversary of MacManus, John & Adams, Inc., national advertising agency, with headquarters in Bloomfield Hills.

It was just over 25 years ago that two executive members of a prominent advertising agency decided to strike out on their own.

They were W. A. P. John and James R. Adams. Both had occupied highly responsible positions with one of America's leading advertising agencies. Both had worked on a wide variety of accounts with particular success in automotive advertising.

The two of them had an abundance of courage, strong convictions, abiding faith in their combined talents—and little else. They formed a short-lived agency (John-Adams, Inc.), rented an office, hired a secretary and went out after business.

The two soon found, however, that they needed an organization back of them to obtain the accounts they were after.

★ ★ ★

Several large national agencies, knowing of their ability and wide acquaintance in automotive advertising, made many interesting offers of mergers and buy-outs. Each offer contained a flaw of some kind, but it began to look as though they would have to accept something.

One drab spring day when the two were about to go to New York to discuss the possibility of becoming a branch of a large New York agency, Tom Wade, then manager of the Detroit office of the Curtis Publishing Co., suggested that they talk with Theodore R. MacManus. Strangely, the three men had never met, although their names, particularly in automotive advertising circles, were almost legendary.

MEET MacMANUS

Theodore F. MacManus, who had started his own agency around 1910, had handled several different automotive accounts, many of them at the same time, although they were competitive.

★ ★ ★

The young hopefuls met with him. The upshot was an agreement that MacManus would furnish the capital, the national reputation and acceptance, as well as the backing of his small organization. The ambitious John and Adams agreed to produce $500,000 in new billings within one year or the arrangement would be terminated. The company was to be known as MacManus, John & Adams, Inc. and incorporation was completed in May 1934.

It was on Sept. 22, 1934 that the new organization struck its first "pay dirt." While they were waiting their turn to make a presentation for the Pontiac Motor Division account, they received a call from Midland, from the late Dr. Willard H. Dow, president of the Dow Chemical Company. Dr. Dow wanted to know if they were interested in handling the advertising for a new but small Dow Division with a total billing of $18,000. They were!

Thus, Dow came in before lunch—and before dinner that evening the new organization also had won the account of the Pontiac Motor Division of General Motors Corp.

By the end of the calendar year 1934, total billings combining the old MacManus, Inc. accounts and those newly acquired Dow, Pontiac, and other accounts amounted to $481,000.

★ ★ ★

One year later, MacManus, John & Adams, Inc. had chalked a gross of $3,888,000 in billings. The new agency was on its way.

In 1935, the three men, now supported by a talented and growing staff, solicited and won the Cadillac Motor Division account.

It is noteworthy that through the 25 years of its existence, MacManus, John & Adams, Inc. has had only four presidents—the first three in that order and the present president, Ernest A. Jones, a protege of W. A. P. John.

★ ★ ★

This is a significant year for E. A. Jones, who is celebrating 20 years with the organization.

GROOMED FOR POST

Jones attracted the attention of John while manager of the Michigan Band and Michigan Daily at the University of Michigan.

His work at the agency following graduation convinced the founders that he was potential material for heading the agency, and he was groomed for that position long before he became president in December, 1955.

★ ★ ★

In 1950 the agency occupied three different floors of the Fisher Building and needed even more space, which could not be provided. The two surviving founders, John and Adams, purchased seven acres at the corner of Woodward avenue and West Long Lake road and began planning what was probably the first building designed for a major advertising agency.

After discussion with clients and suppliers, the agency went ahead with the plans and in December, 1952 moved into the attractive hillside site it occupies today.

Presently, with some 300 employes at the Bloomfield Hills offices, fewer than a dozen still reside in Detroit.

Through the years MacManus, John & Adams, Inc. has continued to grow in stature and service. At the present time the agency serves 58 clients through offices in New York, Toronto and Los Angeles in addition to Bloomfield Hills.

★ ★ ★

A completely staffed International Division in New York has been recently working with affiliate agencies in 24 different countries.

Now rated 26th among the American advertising agencies in dollar volume, MacManus, John & Adams will bill in excess of $40,000,000 the current year.

It still handles Pontiac and Cadillac Motor Divisions of General Motors in addition to Dow Chemical Company, which has grown to include 27 different divisions.

Once considered a predominantly automotive agency, MacManus, John & Adams has been successful in diversifying its accounts to include such items as food wraps, gloves, shoes, adhesives, building products, beverages, publications, public utilities, packaging material and numerous others.

In addition, it handles many consumer products.

John, the only surviving member of MacManus, John & Adams, Inc., reminisce over one of the firm's first advertising layouts which appeared in The Pontiac Press in 1934. The national agency is celebrating its 25th anniversary. This year is particularly significant for Jones, who now marks his 20th year with the organization. Jones is the fourth president in the history of the agency, succeeding MacManus, John and Adams, in that order.

Shopper's Mall to Boost Downtown Kalamazoo

The Kalamazoo Gazette
(Special to The Pontiac Press)
(This is the second of two articles on how Kalamazoo is seeking to revitalize its downtown shopping area by creating a pedestrian mall.)

By HAYDEN BRADFORD

KALAMAZOO—A drastic dose of medicine will be administered this summer in an attempt to revitalize downtown Kalamazoo.

The prescription ordered is a pedestrian shopper's mall.

It is designed to reverse the trend of economic decline which has afflicted the downtown business district of Kalamazoo and also thousands of other cities across the nation since the end of World War II.

It call for closing off the two busiest downtown blocks to automobile traffic, ripping up the pavement, and installing a permanent concrete block and grass mall featuring reflector pools, tot lots, trees, shrubs, benches and a revolving stage.

★ ★ ★

It's the first such program to be attempted in the heart of an existing central business district, although other cities have tested the mall idea on a temporary basis and permanent malls have succeeded in new outlying shopping centers.

How it will work out remains to be seen. Even some of the revolutionary plan's most enthusiastic supporters admit that it involves a considerable element of chance. No one can guarantee that it will bring a permanent upsurge in downtown business.

The program, however, has been launched without any significant opposition arising. Virtually every downtown businessman and property owner, in fact, has already contributed both moral and financial support.

Originally, moreover, the effective impetus for the downtown mall idea sprang from this group's leaders.

SET UP PLAN

There had been discussion by city officials and others in July of 1956 about doing something to help the downtown area. That summer the Victor Gruen & Associates' Ft. Worth Central Business District plan had received widespread national publicity.

But it wasn't until 1957 that mere talking about it ended and action began. In February of that year a small group of local business leaders set up a non-profit corporation.

This was the Downtown Kalamazoo Planning Committee, Inc. Its core leadership consisted of one member from each of four leading financial institutions, the presidents of one large and one small downtown retail store, a utility executive, and a Chamber of Commerce executive.

Its stated purpose was to raise funds with which to hire an expert to develop a long-range master plan for the revitalization of downtown Kalamazoo.

In outlining this goal, its chairman cited concern among merchants over recent vacancies in what were formerly choice downtown locations, and the springing up of outlying shopping centers.

The committee members, he reported, "decided not to wait until this (downtown) area deteriorates further, but to go out and meet the competition now."

The committee then asked every business and property owner in the downtown area to contribute a fraction of one per cent of assessed downtown property valuations. Total assessed value of the area was listed at some $15 million.

Response to the challenge was immediate and favorable. Within less than two months more than $40,000 had been raised and the committee was able to announce the hiring of Victor Gruen and Associates to draw up Kalamazoo's master plan.

In the next 11 months planning consultants and architects from the Gruen firm worked closely with the committee and with city officials in drawing up the long-range plan.

Finally, in March 1958, the result of this concerted effort—"Kalamazoo's Central Business District—1980"—was ready for unveiling. Committee members and city officials got a special preview in the afternoon, and a public presentation was made the same evening.

Detailed articles on the plan were carried in the Kalamazoo Gazette, and thousands of copies of the spiral-bound, colorfully-illustrated 80-page booklet describing it in full were made available for widespread distribution.

This brought to a close the primary need for the Downtown Kalamazoo Planning Committee, Inc., although its corporate structure continues in force on a standby basis.

Less than a month after the plan's unveiling, the City Commission endorsed it "in principle," and the mayor appointed a citizens advisory committee to work closely with city departments involved in creating a feasible program for the first phase.

This committee's work in the following months revealed a number of minor flaws in the master plan, but none which it did not believe could be corrected by minor adjustments.

By March of this year it had developed a modified pedestrian mall proposal for launching the long-range downtown revitalization program, and the City Commission called a public hearing to consider it.

(Monday: Objections, doubts and problems fail to prevent decision to go ahead this summer with permanent downtown mall project.)

West Germany Asks Berlin Safety Pledge

to sign an immediate peace treaty with East and West Germany while the Western powers insist Germany must be unified first.

The Big Four foreign ministers dined in style last night, admired Mont Blanc by moonlight and chatted from facing loveseats. But they failed to get anywhere on a solution to the Berlin crisis.

Herter invited the ministers to dinner at his villa in hopes Gromyko would take advantage of the privacy to break the deadlock at the East-West conference. Gromyko nibbled but did not bite.

★ ★ ★

The dinner began with cocktails. Then Herter, Gromyko, De Murville and Lloyd sat down to a dinner of fish, chicken and strawberries with appropriate wines. Each minister was accompanied by two delegates.

The dinner conversation was "small talk," according to a Western source. Then the ministers strolled into the garden, admired the breath-taking view of the Alps, returned inside and sat in front of an unlighted fireplace.

Herter and Gromyko sat on one loveseat, Couve de Murville and Lloyd on a facing loveseat.

WAIT FOR HINT

The Allies waited for Gromyko to hint he was ready to try to blast the logjam in secret meetings and prepare the way for the summit conference for which Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev is so eager.

The dinner was billed as an informal, stag get together. Herter, Gromyko and Couve de Murville did change into dark business suits, but Lloyd showed up in the same gray flannel suit he had worn all day.

The dinner was far more amiable than yesterday's session when an American spokesman said Herter got "fed up" with Gromyko's innuendoes and insinuations and told him off.

Gromyko had been accusing West Germany of rearming to war against Russia. Herter said:

★ ★ ★

"I hope that in the course of the discussions, as they will proceed in the future, this type of accusation and innuendo will cease, and that it will not, if repeated, lead to a type of discussion which can become a very great irritant, and more than that, might well lead to very serious tensions."

Prize Pig Bites Hand

EXETER, England (UPI) — At the Devon County pig show yesterday: Two Bishops showed up to hold a special communion service for herdsmen. No herdsmen came. The pig that won a blue ribbon for Mrs. Diana Suthrell bit her on the hand as she waited to collect his prize.

Jobless Pay Bill Back in State Senate

LANSING (UPI) — A controversial jobless pay bill was back before the Senate today after being lodged a month in the Senate Labor Committee.

The bill, passed by the House April 22, was amended and reported out of the Senate Labor Committee by a 4-1 vote late yesterday, with Sen. Garland Lane (D-Flint) objecting.

The Senate amendments amounted to an outright substitution of a version that was killed earlier in the session.

Both the Senate and House versions call for extension of jobless pay to about 28,000 workers who have exhausted their temporary unemployment compensation benefits.

★ ★ ★

But the Senate version has a series of provisions called "fishhooks" by Democrats, including a section to upset the effect of a Supreme Court ruling that gave jobless benefits to Michigan Ford workers idled by a Ford strike in Canton, Ohio.

Red Glad to Hear of Russian Studies

GENEVA (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko learned at an American dinner party that the sons of a couple of his hosts are learing Russian.

★ ★ ★

Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy told Gromyko that his son, Malcolm McElroy, is studying Russian. Livingston T. Merchant, assistant secretary of state for European affairs, said his son, Livingston T. Jr., also has taken up that language.

★ ★ ★

Gromyko, who speaks English fluently, expressed pleasure at this.

Newsmen were filled in on the exchange by Andrew H. Berding, assistant secretary of state for public affairs.

Democratic Club in Pontiac Invites Mackie to Dance

Guest of honor at tomorrow night's ninth annual spring dance to be put on by the Pontiac Democratic Club will be State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie.

★ ★ ★

Allen Pilkinton, club president, said the dance will be held at the Roosevelt Hotel ballroom beginning at 9 p.m.

★ ★ ★

On Sunday the club will hold its regular meeting at the UAW Hall, 821 Balwdin Ave.

Members of the club will gather to hear Allan D. Chisholm, chairman of the State Labor Mediation Board. This meeting is scheduled for 2:30 p.m.

Michigan Starts Tourist Push in Midwest Area

LANSING (AP) — "Cool off your cares in Michigan."

"Michigan brings out the beachcomber in you."

"Let yourself go in Michigan."

These are some of the themes of newspaper, radio and magazine advertising the Michigan Tourist Council hopes will bring more tourist dollars to the state this year.

The council announced it is spending $64,665 on magazine advertising, $18,718 on newspaper advertising and $12,338 on radio plugs during the spring-summer season.

Newspaper advertising within the state, mostly in southern Michigan, will be spread among 22 dailies and 175 weeklies and will amount to about $5,000.

★ ★ ★

Detroit radio stations will be the only ones sharing in the radio advertising budget.

The advertising is concentrated in the Midwest market area.

BIRMINGHAM — Lovers of the fine arts are looking forward to "The Birmingham Arts Festival," June 6 through June 14, plans for which were announced today by the general chairman, Harvey A. Kresge.

★ ★ ★

The festival is being sponsored by The Bloomfield Art Assn. in cooperation with civic and cultural organizations of Birmingham and Bloomfield Township.

A variety of activities, to be presented in the Birmingham and Bloomfield area, is being headlined by James Melton, internationally known concert artist, The Detroit City Ballet, William Dollar, director, and members of The Windsor Light Opera Company.

An outstanding art show, entitled "The New Landscape in Art and Science" will be on display at The Bloomfield Art Assn Galleries, 361 N. Woodward, Birmingham, June 6 through June 14, 2 p.m. to 9 p.m. daily. Admission is free.

★ ★ ★

Representative artists to be found in the collection include such names as Jose de Rivera, Gyorgy Kepes, Jose Guerrero and Piet Mondrian.

★ ★ ★

Other attractions of the festival are satire of suburban living, presented by St. Dunstan's Guild; the Clawson Playhouse Children's Cinema; a sidewalk cafe reminiscent of Montmartre and music in the air piped from Grinnell's window where locally-known artists will be performing.

A Birmingham woman, Mrs. Howard Estes of 492 Rivenoak St. was named president of the National Board of MOMS of America yesterday at the National Convention in Washington, D.C.

The wife of the late Howard Estes, former state representative, Mrs. Estes has been a member of the National Board the past three years.

A past president of the Birmingham MOMS unit, she also has served on the State Board.

The Birmingham Junior Chamber of Commerce last night named Robert Wilson president for the coming year. Other officers are: John Slocum, Jim Willoughby and Bob Reason, all vice presidents; Fred Dardin, treasurer; and John Iuppenlatz, secretary.

Several members of the local Jaycees have been nominated for the Spoke Award which will be presented at the State Convention in Jackson this weekend.

The award is made to first-year members who have accomplished "outstanding" works in their local units.

Torry Elementary School playground will be the scene of the annual spring carnival from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. tomorrow.

★ ★ ★

Ricky the Clown will give special shows for the youngsters at noon, 1 and 2 p.m.

Rides on the American Legion 40 et 8 train, ponies and planes will be among the features for children.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. George Cooper, general chairman, said 18 gift and refreshment booths will be under the direction of the Torry School Mothers Group.

The Bloomfield Hills High School Student Council will sponsor a workday tomorrow to raise funds for the school's first exchange student next fall.

★ ★ ★

Larry Erdman, president of the Council, is in charge of the project.

Area residents interested in obtaining help for the day such as raking and mowing lawns or putting up screens as well as housecleaning should call the high school for further information.

The Council will also sponsor a car wash at the school.

★ ★ ★

The group needs $650 to sponsor an exchange student through American Field Service. Thus far, it has earned $150 of the June goal.

Letter on Taxes Angers County School Officials

A veteran member of the Oakland County Tax Allocation Board yesterday was sharply criticized for distributing a letter which one school official said "prejudiced" the Board into believing only the county and not schools have money problems.

Robert Y. Moore, Board member and chairman of the Board of Auditors, was the target of the barbs as superintendents of the county's 31 school districts appeared before the Tax Allocation Board to plead for "no further cuts" in tax allocations.

Pontiac Mayor Philip E. Rowston, chairman of the Allocation Board, said he and other members did not authorize Moore to write the letter, which was handed to the superintendents as they appeared, nor had members been consulted about it.

Treasurer of the Oakland County School Board Members Assn., Ben S. Jones of Troy, said Moore's letter reminded him of the quip, "Don't confuse me with facts, my mind is made up already."

In his letter Moore said:

"The schools have been very fortunate in being able to get the lion's share of the 15 mills, while the schools in other counties have had to get along on much less millage."

From what the many superintendents said yesterday, it appeared, however, that the schools aren't satisfied with this "lion's share."

The first to quesiton Moore's letter was Abraham Brickner, secretary of the Oak Park Board of Education.

"Isn't this prejudicing the Board into asking it to support the county's problem?" Bricker asked after he appeared before the Board with James Pepper, superintendent of the Oak Park board.

Moore asked a question himself of Brickner, "Who else would have written it?"

"If it had to be written it should have been done possibly by the chairman of the Board of Supervisors," Brickner replied.

Moore, a member of the Tax Allocation Board since its inception and chief auditor for more than 30 years, said he wrote the letter "for information."

★ ★ ★

Charles Coggins, superintendent of Holly schools, queried whether it was proper for the Board to hand out what he called "propaganda." He got no answer as he shoved Moore's letter and other handouts aside.

Moores' one page letter went on: "According to the Board of Auditors, they cite the generous share of the millage which has been given the schools in the past, and they have full understanding of the schools' needs in the 1959-60 allocation."

City Hospital to Get Intensive Care Unit

An intensive care unit will be incorporated in the remodeled east wing of Pontiac General Hospital.

New to the hospital's expansion plan, the unit is designed to provide minute-by-minute nursing care around the clock, said Harold B. Euler, hospital administrator.

Critical patients in the intensive care unit will have all the advantages of special nurses at far less extra cost, said Euler, describing the plan last night to the Board of Trustees.

Patients would be charged extra to offset the added expense to the hospital fully staffing the intensive care unit with nurses at all times, Euler said.

★ ★ ★

But it is expected the cost would be far below the average $54 a day it now costs patients to hire special nursing care, said Dr. C. G. Burke, chief of staff.

"Many hospitals are now developing intensive care facilities because special nurses have become so costly and hard to obtain," Euler said.

Euler said that present plans call for a 12-bed unit located in the old, fifth floor surgical wing of the east wing.

In the first two months since the remodeling program has been under way again, the hospital has spent $72,129 to replace worn out utilities, said Euler, including $38,743 for plumbing and heating; $7,456 for electrical installations; and $21,846 for general contracting.

★ ★ ★

Euler expected local contractors would have two second floor nurseries completed by the end of June and third and fourth floor patient areas finished by September.

He reported that the demand for hospital beds has reached a new high, with average occupancy this month at 96.8 per cent, or 7 per cent above the budget estimate.

Judgment of Dulles' Stewardship Now Up to History

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—John Foster Dulles, from the moment he resigned as secretary of state because of his spreading cancer, belonged to history. What will history say of him?

It can never deny that this 71-year-old man gave to the service and welfare of his country tremendous and tireless dedication. He quit only because of the illness which incapacitated him.

★ ★ ★

But only unfolding events—history itself—can ever give a final answer to the central question of his stewardship: Was he a good secretary of state in the sense that the policy he pursued was wise?

His great task was dealing with communism. If his whole policy toward the world of the Soviets and Red Chinese were to be summed up in a single sentence, this could be it: "Hold tight and don't let them budge an inch."

★ ★ ★

This was exactly the "containment" policy of his predecessor, former Secretary of State Dean Acheson. It called for military alliances all around the Communist perimeter and economic help to friends and neutrals.

The purpose was direct, obvious and simple: to keep communism from gaining any more ground, militarily, economically or politically. It was essentially a defensive policy, not an aggressive one.

DULLES DISAGREES

Dulles disagreed with it thoroughly in the 1952 presidential campaign before he became secretary. He called it "negative, futile and immoral." He said it was limited to reacting to Soviet actions. In short, he said the United States should create crises for the Soviet Union instead of letting the Soviet Union create crises for us.

But when he became secretary he took over the Acheson policy, made it his own, even expanded on it with new military alliances.

★ ★ ★

Yet Dulles had hardly taken office before Soviet policy changed, at least outwardly. Forty-four days after Dulles was sworn in, the old dictator, Joseph Stalin, died, and with him went the needlessly savage Soviet foreign policy.

His successors took a softer line although their purpose, and they made no bones about it, was the same: Communist expansion. They managed to increase their influence beyond their borders but American military alliances and power remained firm and the Soviets didn't gain an extra foot of real estate.

★ ★ ★

Yet, the Soviets and Red Chinese went ahead by leapsintheir nese went ahead by leaps in their own internal development, particularly the Soviet Union in the field of weapons which put added pressure on the West to stand back. The cold war between East and West was just as intense when Dulles went to the hospital as when he took office six years ago.

VERDICT MUST WAIT

This is why many years must pass before history can give a final verdict on the policy and wisdom of Dulles, for it will take many years and many events as they unfold to show:

1. Whether his policy led, or helped lead, to the ultimate ruination or triumph of communism or to a peaceful understanding between East and West.

★ ★ ★

2. Whether, by the time he took office and Stalin died, the Acheson policy was outmoded and Dulles should have sought and pursued a different one of his own making, with more aggressiveness and, less defensiveness, or with more friendliness and less hostility.

3. Whether the forces already let loose before he became secretary in 1953—ultimately favorable or unfavorable to the West—were already too powerful to be affected in their direction or destination by him or any one man.

4. Whether he was wise in depending so much on his own thinking or whether he should have made far greater use of the minds of the men around him in the State Department.

★ ★ ★

In the years ahead he may prove to have been a hero of American history, or a very minor figure, or even an unfortunate one.

No one now—and certainly not Dulles, whose sense of history was too sharp for that—can claim to know positively the answers to the questions just raised. But no one can challenge this about him: he did his best as he saw it.

The tolls for the St. Lawrence Seaway are scaled to pay for the project in 50 years, says the National Geographic Society.

Arrest 300 in Strike Battle

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Some 300 strikers were arrested Thursday night after thousands of rioters and police had turned downtown Buenos Aires into a battlefield.

A visiting dignitary, President Sukarno of Indonesia, was caught in the melee when strikers shouting antigovernment slogans pressed around the open car carrying him to Government House for a call on President Arturo Frondizi.

Police finally detached the car from the mob, and Sukarno reached Government House safely.

Two persons were killed when a fourth-story balcony crammed with battle viewers crashed to the street. Another 25 persons were injured in the street fighting, in which streetcars and buses were overturned and burned.

★ ★ ★

Violence erupted when bank clerks striking for higher wages demonstrated one day before a government deadline for a return to work.

The clerks presented Congress two petitions and began marching toward Government House when heavily reinforced police units attempted to head them off.

Other workers joined the clerks in the battle. Police made liberal use of tear gas, fire hoses and clubs. The strike has been in progress for six weeks.

Era of Courage in Home Decor Predicted

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK—"I'm not a homemaker at all. But still I know women pretty well," said Beryl Austrian, interior decorator. "And I tell you they want to conform.

"They want to conform, but be just an eeeensy bit better than the woman they're conforming with. That's why we've gone through all those Cape Cod saltboxes, and why all those picture windows look out on all that nothing."

Beryl paused, and thoughtfully stroked her red fox boa as if it were spaniel. "Then Frank Lloyd Wright came along, and if you had any money your bathroom had to puzzle into a hill.

"But I have great hopes today that American women are getting much more fearless than they've been in years when it comes to planning their houses and apartments. They're having the guts to hire decorators, even, without being afraid the neighbors will think they haven't enough taste to decorate a house themselves."

She smiled. "And I do believe that we will see some good, solid taste in home and apartments now that women are beginning to speak up with courage."

★ ★ ★

Miss Austrian is the outspoken founder and president of Intramural, Inc. Her specialty, these past 20 years, has been decorating the lobbies of New York's swankiest apartment and office buildings.

"My forte, you might say, is creating a welcome impression upon people who walk into a home or a building for the first time. Actually, it IS like the front porch of a house—remember the front porch, before they put it in the rear and called it a piazza? I dare say it is coming back, but in the meantime . . ."

Meantime, American families must make their first impression upon guests with a foyer. And the same principles can be applied to decorating a foyer as to "doing," as Beryl does, a lobby.

"First of all," she says, "my advice for women decorating a foyer is, don't go dreamy-weamy. This is an expression which describes things like pink bedrooms—the kind of place a guest walks into and screams 'Eeeeyow, what a room!'

"This is not right for a foyer.

"A foyer should be cheerful but should never bowl one over. People should feel immediately at home in it, rather than startled.

"It should have at least these three pieces of furniture—a stiff chair to sit down on for putting on galoshes, a table on which to put the mail, and a mirror for correcting last-minute errors before going out or in.

"It should never be too comfortable, or goodbyes will be interminable. There should not be excess furniture to stumble over.

"Since it is the room that gets the most wear and tear outside the kitchen, it should have resilient floor coverings and cleanable wallpapers or paints. It should never have wall-to-wall carpeting, unless you are permanently rich. It should be as uncluttered as possible."

On the subject of the rest of the house, Miss Austrian has this to say. "I believe that the 'elegant look' is really coming back, to replace, or at least blend with, the metal chairs

"Which reminds me of a friend of mine, a housewife — real practical type, with the built-in ovens, vinyl floors, paper napkins at every meal. Her four-year-old daughter went to a little girls' party last week and was overcome by something the hostess served with the ice cream. She told her mommy — 'we had the funniest little pieces of rag with lace around them, instead of napkins!'

"Ah, it's an oversimplified world," said Beryl.

Seaway Causes New Problem

Young Girls Swarm Foreign Ships in Ports

DULUTH, Minn. (UPI)—Juvenile and port authorities are seeking to end international relations between foreign sailors and teenage girls from this Lake Superior port.

The girls have been swarming all over Greek and French ships docked here and at Superior, Wis., and are causing a brand new juvenile delinquency headache for authorities in the twin ports.

As Tom O'Heir, head of the Duluth Crime Prevention Bureau, put it, "They're just romantic kids who want some foreign lovin'."

The problem, which threatened to sprout into an international incident, began with the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway and the introduction of foreign ocean-going ships into the Great Lakes.

American crewmen of Great Lakes freighters are considered commonplace and unromantic by the cities' bobby-soxers.

But the swashbuckling young French and Greek sailors are something else again, O'Heir said.

Last week police chased a gang of teenagers, mostly girls, from a Greek ship, he said, and the incident was repeated on a French ship this week.

An 18-year-old Superior girl was arrested for contributing to the delinquency of a minor following a foray aboard a ship.

"These sailors can't even speak English, but these girls seem to go for it," said Superior Police Chief A. E. Buchanan.

Buchanan said he was "surprised at the age of these sailors . . . they're so young.

"They're giving the girls drinks and you know what that leads to," he said. "First thing you know they're in trouble and gone over the pond."

O'Heir said the "romantic kids" who board the ships have no records of juvenile delinquency.

Today's meeting between port and juvenile authorities was to persuade dock and grain elevator companies to post "no trespassing" signs on the ships and to keep off all persons without a pass.

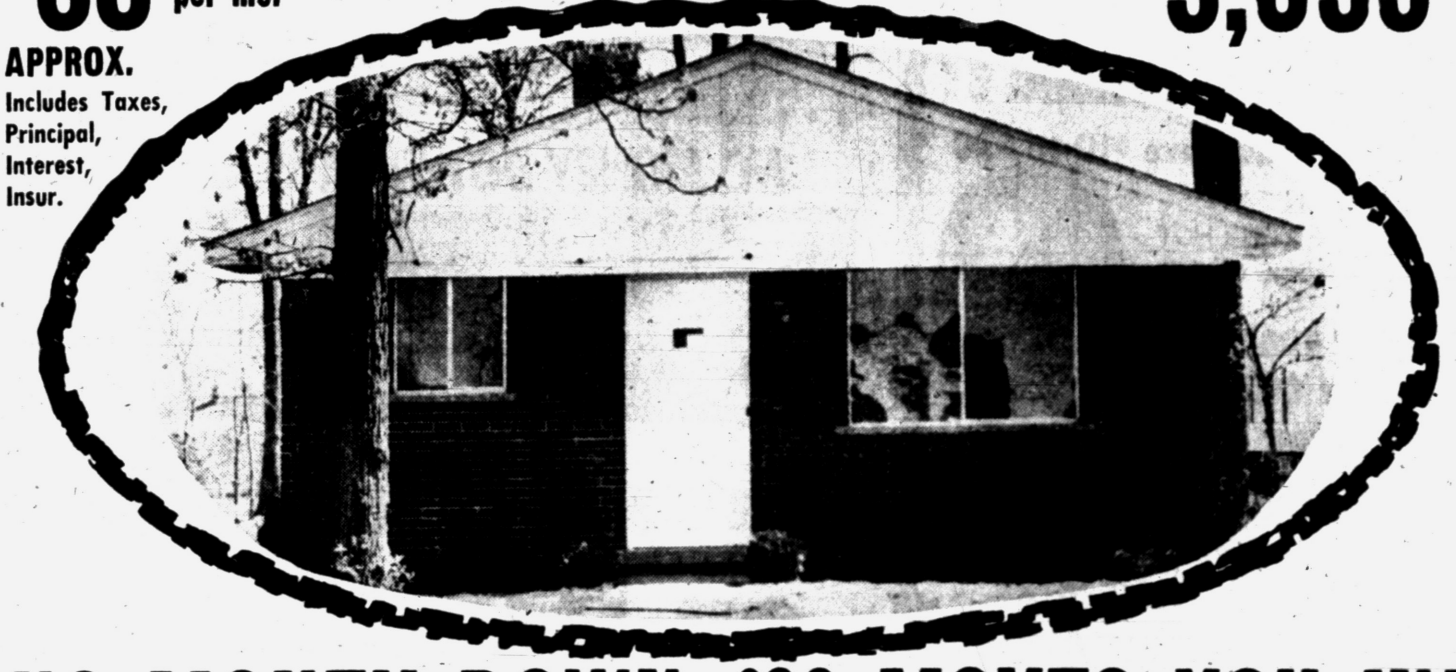

"There have been no regulations as far as visitors on these ships are concerned," O'Heir said. "The ships have deck watches, but they haven't been doing anything about it."

Arthur Conan Doyle a Favorite

Claim Ike Authority on Author

By EDDY GILMORE

GENEVA (AP)—The son of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle said that President Eisenhower is one of the greatest livnig authorities on the creator of Sherlock Holmes, born 100 years ago today.

"After the president had his heart attack," said Adrian Conan Doyle, "the doctors for a certain period wouldn't let him reda.

"Then, when they told him he could, he said 'please bring me Sir Nigel'. This was the first book he read after his illness."

Sir Nigel is Arthur Conan Doyle's historical novel of the 14th century.

Adrian Conan Doyle is the administrator of his famous father's estate and curator of his archives.

★ ★ ★

He was in Geneva in connection with the 100th anniversary of his father's birth, May 22, 1859. He will ask Secretary of State Christian A. Herter to take a special Doyle book back to the White House.

It's a beautifully bound collection of Sir Arthur's documents, comments and photographs—many never published before.

Queen Elizabeth II, Prince Philip and Gen. De Gaulle are also receiving special copies.

The privately printed book is not for sale.

Although it contains many interesting things about the author, it does not cnotain two stories that his son thinks are the best.

★ ★ ★

"My father once arrived in Paris," said his son, "and was amazed when a hack driver addressed him as, 'Monsieur Sir Arthur Conan Doyle.' "

The author complimented the Frenchman on his powers of deduction and asked, "but how did you know who I was?"

TRUNK TATTLES

"Your name," replied the Frenchman, "is on your trunk."

On the occasion of the premiere of Doyle's "The Speckled Band" in London, a small stagehand askde Sir Arthur if he thought the play would survive.

★ ★ ★

"We think so—but in show business one never knows," he replied.

The stagehand then said:

"I'll make you a proposition. From this point on, you take half of my earnings and I'll take half of yours."

Doyle gently refused.

"It was the greatest business mistake of my father's life," said his son, "for that little stagehand was Charlie Chaplin.

There have been endless arguments over the real identity of Sherlock Holmes.

★ ★ ★

"That's one of the easiest questions you can ask me," said his son. "There's no mystery about it. Sherlock Holmes was my father. He dropped at least 50 clues in his writings to prove it."

HOLMES WAS DOYLE

But Doyle didn't like the Holmes of his stories, the son said.

"He had a grudge against Sherlock," he expalined. "My father liked to work, but Holmes gave him no trouble. He just wrote himself."

The son said one of his present projects is to maek the Soviet Union pay for publishing 10 millino copies of his father's works.

"Even at a modest 10 per cent royalty that amounts to about $800,000."

Told hte Russians might do as they did with author John Steinbeck—invite him to Moscow and pay him in rubles and caviar—Conan Doyle replied:

"Well, I'm prepared to go to Moscow at their expense and eat five tons of caviar if necessary."

See No Settlement in Canaveral Strike

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A strike of union carpenters at the missile test center has entered its second week with no settlement in sight.

★ ★ ★

Federal mediator John A. Kenney of Tampa scheduled separate meetings today with carpenters and contractors in an effort to bring both sides together. Similar meetings Thursday produced no significant results.

The 115 carpenters struck last Friday in a wage dispute with contractors working on projects at the launching area and nearby Patrick Air Force Base.

Missile launchings have not been affected.

Baptists Cite Perils, Hope

Southern Home Mission Board Dramatizes U.S. in Report to 15,000

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A bell tolled somberly, and a voice sounded through the darkened hall:

". . . crime . . . gambling . . . alcoholism . . ."

". . . materialism . . atheistic and Communist philosophies . . . obscene literature . . . indifference to spiritual values . . . disintegration of American home life . . ."

★ ★ ★

In such terms, Southern Baptists traced the perils of the world Thursday night. But their big convention also saw a bright side.

"This is truly a year of revival," the voice flooded over the massed thousands, and chimes rang. "We thank God for the victories . . . We thank God for the working of his spirit . . ."

It was a broad-gauged presentation, in stark and dramatic mood, as the denominations Home Mission Board staged its version of the trials and hopes of America. 1959.

★ ★ ★

"Southern Baptists . . . This Is Your Life," the graphic report was titled.

It ranged from Cuba to Alaska, and to churches and mission stations across the continent as it portrayed the efforts of Christians and the challenges they face. Missionaries, hospital workers, teachers and others took turns telling of their work.

About 15,000 Baptists, most of them "messengers" from home churches in 45 states, witnessed the presentation staged at the huge Fairgrounds Coliseum with theatrical lighting and sound effects.

They heard a report that Southern Baptists, who now number nine million in 31,000 churches, expect to more than double the number — to 70,000 — by 1975.

Dr. Courts Redford of Atlanta, Ga., executive secretary of the board, prayed: "Let our hearts never be at rest until we have completely claimed our land for Christ." The organ rolled and the lights came on.

The U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service reports Michigan led the nation in hunting and fishing license sales in the 1957-58 fiscal year with 2,264,285 licenses issued.

Divorce Snags Boat Trip to South America

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — The South America-bound See Scout, Charlie Poliquin's 33-ton ark, was held fast on a legal snag today after slowly but successfully maneuvering sandbars, shallow water, rapids and sharp bends of the Minnesota River in the first five miles of his projected voyage.

★ ★ ★

"Guess I'll just have to sell, or start dismantling it," said the man who sold his farm last year to finance the trip. "That divorce action just knocks the bottom out of things."

★ ★ ★

Poliquin's pregnant 22-year-old wife, who filed the complaint, won custody Thursday of their 2-year-old daughter and $20 per week support money.

★ ★ ★

"You put this idea of a South American trip ahead of your marriage," Judge Theodore Knudson told Poliquin, who appeared without an attorney.

"Can you imagine — he wanted me and the baby to go along and that just didn't make any sense," said the brunette Mrs. Poliquin. She left her husband in March and got a secretarial job in Minneapolis. That was shortly before Charlie started edging the 70-foot, aluminum-sheathed houseboat down the winding Minnesota from his Mankato home.

Fire Kills Father, 4 Children at Home

ONTARIO, Calif. (AP) — A father and his four young children died Thursday night in a fire which destroyed their home.

★ ★ ★

Robert Burk, 29, a dairy worker, and his youngest son Bobby, 2, died in the flame-swept home.

Firemen pulled Tony, 7, Barbara, 6, and Terry, 4, from the burning building and attempted to resuscitate them, but failed.

Fire Chief Lloyd Hopkins said he believed a cigarette started the fire in a living room couch in the house the family had rented since coming from Joplin, Mo., last February.

Burk was baby-sitting with the children while his wife Joan, 26, was working as a waitress in a coffee shop. She is two months pregnant.

You'll know when you see it that this is authentic design. Every beautiful line is pure. Not an unnecessary frill in the group. And every detail is honest. Like the rich panels of woven wood that are really woven . . . not just a woven effect. And that's not all!

Come see the fine craftsmanship . . . exquisite matching, sculpturing they'd envy in Stockholm. See how Lane's gone back to the Vikings, borrowed their tough construction . . . yet given Perception a light and airy look: there's not a hard line anywhere!

Expensive? Perception looks it and should be. But it isn't! Come see for yourself. Take your pick of two fine woods: burnished walnut or beeswax oak. Take one piece or all. Either way, you'll love the wonderful things that start happening to your home.

Bob Considine Says:

Sept. 8, 1956—Just One Day in Life of Dulles

NEW YORK—This was one day in the life of John Foster Dulles as secretary of state. The day was Saturday, Sept. 8, 1956. Nasser had nationalized the Suez Canal Company. The British and French were about to pounce on Egypt.

The cables from the U. S. embassies in London, Paris and Cairo were depressing. He read them at 7:30 that morning as he mechanically ate the breakfast that was placed before him.

He had anticipated the pessimism, and before retiring the night before had mapped out a plan by which he hoped to achieve a neat compromise: The United States would try to get Anthony Eden off his untenable spot but at the same time not permit Nasser to gain 100 per cent of his objective.

Eden's "out" would be the notice by the United States that Britain could expect no help from us in this crisis: that U. S. ships under no circumstances would shoot their way through the canal. He knew Eden had to face parliament the following Wednesday.

He must warn Eden that it was our position that any shooting war would make a hero of Nasser, and, as he told us a few days later, "the flames would break out all through the Middle East, offering an unprecedented opportunity for the Soviet Union to move in and make mischief."

PRESSURE ON NASSER

He had pressure notes intended for Nasser, too, including the threat of clamp-downs on Egypt's cotton sales in this country. Dulles finished his breakfast and went into his study to talk with Emmett Hughes, the President's speech writer, on the wording of the notes to Eden and Nasser. The words had to be "firm but not patronizing."

★ ★ ★

The messages were sent, and Dulles turned to other pressing work, including completion of a speech he was to make on the centenary of the man who had taught him at Princeton and assigned him to the Versailles Treaty talks—Woodrow Wilson.

Sen. Knowland came for lunch, was briefed by Dulles, and told the secretary, "Perhaps we were oversold on the U. N. setup, but our people now firmly believe that its sole purpose is to stop war. They believe more than that. They believe you will have to go in there and stop Great Britain and France."

While the men talked, President Eisenhower called Dulles on his private phone. He wanted to see him at 6:30. "Avoid the White House correspondents, if you can," the President asked.

Dulles worked through the afternoon while storm clouds gathered over Suez. At 6:15 he entered the mansion entrance of the White House unnoticed and was taken up the elevator to the President's study.

CONFERS WITH IKE

The President and he sat down and began rewriting Hughes' notes. Eisenhower's private secretary, Ann Whitman, was called at home and asked to come back to work, to retype the corrected documents.

At 8 o'clock, Mrs. Eisenhower peeked in and suggested dinner. Eisenhower asked Dulles to have a drink. He took a rye on the rocks. The work was done. Dulles went home to dine with Mrs. Dulles.

He had barely finished eating when Sir Roger Makins, the British ambassador, arrived. Dulles handed him the note to Eden and suggested to Makins that Britain "calm down."

Sir Roger read the statement, asked pertinent questions whose answers he needed in his own dispatch to Eden. Dulles outlined the policy we'd express in subsequent notes to Eden, knowing that Sir Roger would dutifully report these matters to his chief.

At 11:30 p.m., Dulles showed Sir Roger to his car. "The important thing," he said to his British friend, "is to stop any suggestion of a war which can only embroil great racial and religious masses."

★ ★ ★

Sir Roger went his way. Day would just be beginning at 10 Downing street. There was much for him to transmit; much that would affect his country and his prime minister. But there was no way he could foretell the enormous effects Sir Anthony's subsequent actions would have on the prime minister politically.

Dulles yawned and climbed the stairs to the second floor of his home. Mrs. Dulles was still awake, and reading.

As he wearily undressed he said to her, "The work we did today will be decisive on whether Great Britain and France go to war. I don't know what the answer will be. But what we did had to be done, and we were the only ones who would do it."

He yawned, prepared for bed, punched a pillow under his head and returned to the British mystery novel he was reading. It was "Death to Slow Music," by Beverly Nichols.

The magazine says the object of the program is to provide much of the flight data necessary for engineering study.

★ ★ ★

Joke's on Him, So He's Wearing Skunk Toupee

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — Salesman Paul Bishop's new toupee gives him that "distinguished" look, with the white streaks in the dark hair adding just the right touch.

★ ★ ★

It all started when Bishop kidded coworker Pearl Thompson about her new fur jacket.

Bishop remarked that the jacket looked like skunk fur, and he needed a toupee of the same material to keep his bald head warm.

Miss Thompson spoke to a furrier, who agreed to make the headpiece. Then she measured Bishop's head. He, of course, thought she was joking.

★ ★ ★

But when she brought the new skunk-fur toupee to the office and put it on Bishop's head, the joke was on him.

Chinese astronomers in 1054 recorded the appearance of a star so bright that it shone by day. It blazed for a few months, then disappeared. What the Chinese saw was nature's rarest and most awesome fireworks, a supernova. Erupting with the brightness of a hundred million suns, the star ejected a cloud of gas which has been expanding 70 million miles a day ever since.

Veterans Fight Preference Cuts

Oppose State Proposal to Reduce Civil Service Job Test Allowance

LANSING (AP)—A proposed cut in the preference given veterans applying for state jobs has run into opposition from organized veterans groups.

Leaders of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Disabled American Veterans, Marine Corps League, Spanish-American War Veterans, Amvets and Military Order of the Purple Heart were among those offering objections at a meeting with civil service heads yesterday.

All veterans receive 10 points extra on their civil service tests, and disabled veterans get 15 points.

A commission staff study recommended a cutback to 5 points and 10 points. The study group also proposed limiting the preference to three years after discharge.

Spokesmen for the organized veterans said they were especially concerned with protecting disabled veterans.

They also disagreed with the time limitation on veterans preference.

Arthur G. Rasch, state civil service director, said commission members would continue meeting with veterans' spokesmen to try and arrive at a mutually agreeable formula.

Traffic Signs Moralized

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) 8 traffic officers erected a new sign at a busy street intersection on the North Carolina State College campus this week. It said: "Yield." It bears a new message now. Someone appended: "Not to temptation.'

As Reconciliation Calms One

Another Rush-Around Romance Repo

LONDON (AP) — One runaway romance was fading from British headlines today with a peaceful reconciliation, but another one was on hand to take its place.

Shipbuilder Harry Dowsett finally caught up with his 20-year-old daughter Katherine and the playboy she eloped to Scotland with. The suitor, Edward Langley, 27, accepted Dowsett's invitation to come for the weekend and talk things out.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile, from London a rich silversmith's wife dashed off to Gretna Green in pursuit of her 19-year-old son and the family's pretty Swiss maid.

Dowsett ran his daughter and Langley to earth at a friend's tiny apartment over a stable in Cambridge.

Because the family forbade the underage girl to marry, she ran off to Scotland with Langley and refused to come home with her father when he followed them.

Dowsett got a high court order prohibiting the marriage. It was doubtful it could be enforced in Scotland, where teen-agers can marry without parental consent. But Langley would have been subject to arrest if he flouted the order and then returned to England.

HIRES DETECTIVES

The couple drove 320 miles from Edinburgh and arrived exhausted and penniless in Cambridge. A posse of newsmen and private detectives hired by Dowsett soon traced them.

★ ★ ★

The father arrived and hammered on the orange-painted door, shouting, "Katherine, let me in. It's your father."

"Are you going to be nice, Daddy?" Katherine cried tearfully from the other side of the locked door.

★ ★ ★

"Of course, my dear," Dowsett replied softly. "Let me in and let's sort this thing out.'

Katherine opened the door and hugged her father. He slipped inside quickly.

★ ★ ★

Thirty-five minutes later Dowsett stomped out of his car, reporting, "I agreed to compromise."

Then Katherine and Langley came out hand in hand. "We are going to the Dowsett home to talk things over," he said.

The new pair of romantic headliners were 19-year-old Jeffrey Herscheson and blue-eyed Sylvia Polentarutti, 20, from Zurich. They disappeared from Jeffrey's home 11 days ago and were found in Gretna Green, England's traditional haven for elopers.

★ ★ ★

Jeffrey said his father had offered him 20 pounds ($56) a week pocket money and a car if he'd give up Sylvia and come home.

"But I love her too much," he asserted.

"Love?" snapped Israel Herscheson back in London. "My boy's been in love five times before already."

Asks Safeguards for Probe Witnesses

WASHINTON (AP)—Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-NY) has urged the Senate to write strict rules protecting the rights of witnesses summoned before its investigating committees.

★ ★ ★

"In the past decade," Javits told the Senate, "there have been repeated instances in which the reputations of individual witnesses and the progress of committee investigations have been jeopardized because of insufficient safeguards of fair procedures."

★ ★ ★

He said these have covered a range from the Senate Internal Security's subcommittee's Red-hunting hearings down to criticism of the committee now investigating wrongdoing in the labor-management field. He said the rackets group has done "a distinguished job," however.

Old Ft. Bliss, built near El Paso, Tex. in 1849 to protect gold seekers, is now an Army guided missiles center.

Oldster at 84 Ignores Iron Curtain Fuss

BAD HERSFELD, Germany (AP)—"I'm too old to understand this fuss about an Iron Curtain," said 84-year-old Grandma Elise Becker. And off she walked across the 10-yard "death strip," to have a birthday coffee with her nephew in Communist East Germany.

★ ★ ★

She lives in Kleinensee, West Germany, while Wilhelm Stein, 74, her nephew, is a resident of Grossensee, just 200 yards across the border cutting Germany in two.

Because there is no authorized border crossing in the vicinity, she was told she'd have to travel roundabout 100 miles to reach her nephew.

★ ★ ★

"This sounds like utter nonsense," Grandma Becker said.

She took her walking stick and reached her nephew's home in a quarter of an hour.

After an hour's chat, she started back. She walked smack into a Communist patrol.

"At my age, you can't expect a woman to make a 160-kilometer detour just for a cup of coffee," she told the East German officer.

★ ★ ★

The officer escorted her to the border with a polite farewell and no fine.

British Diplomat Wants to Ban Cocktail Parties

LONDON (UPI) — Sir Gladwyn Jebb, British ambassador to France, said recently that cocktail parties are "torture for the modern diplomat" and should be banned by international agreement.

John Rolls, columnist for the London Daily Mirror, asked some other diplomats in London what they thought and got these answers:

Dr. Lues Thomen, Dominican Republic: "They're invaluable. Real diplomacy is done at these parties."

Jean Chauvel, France: "They shorten the life of a diplomat."

Vincens de Steensen-Leth, Denmark: "The parties are excellent for meeting people who don't normally meet."

Rene Van Meerbeke, Belgium: "A diplomat needs legs of steel and an indestructible liver to resist the onslaught of cocktail parties."

LA Eviction Hassle Taken to 2nd Court

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Arechiga family is back in court—this time Superior Court—to protest condemnation proceedings which resulted in their eviction from Chavez Ravine.

★ ★ ★

A similar suit was dismissed in federal court because no federal question was involved.

★ ★ ★

The family charges the City Housing Authority's condemnation of their property was a fraud because the agency had no intention of using the property for public housing. After a housing project plan was shelved, the acreage was sold to the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Chavez Ravine is being cleared now for a new Dodger ballpark.

Fernando Must Pay

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Fernando Lamas, 43, husband of actress Arlene Dahl, must pay $1,500 a year for support of his 12-year-old daughter by a previous marriage. The Argentine-born actor agreed to that amount after conferring in court with his ex-wife, Lidia, 34. Their daughter, Alexandra, lives in Buenos Aires.

Former City Girl Sings Tonight

Lucine Amara Is Met Star

LUCINE AMARA

By LYDIA ROTHMAN

A former Pontiac girl is singing the lead role in this evening's production of the Metropolitan Opera of New York appearing in Detroit

Lucy Armaganian, known professionally as Lucine Amara, is singing the role of Nedda in "Pagliacci." The opera is the second in the Metropolitan's series of four performances in Detroit this week.

STUDIED VIOLIN

Miss Amara began her musical career as a violinist to please her father. Bertha Marie Roth of Pontiac was her first music teacher.

★ ★ ★

In 1937, Miss Amara moved to San Francisco with her family, where she continued her music lessons and played with a civic orchestra.

It was Mrs. Stella Eisner-Eyn of San Francisco, who, as one admirer put it, "discovered a something in Miss Amara's throat that was better than her violin playing."

Mrs. Eisner-Eyn encouraged Miss Amara and gave her singing lessons, insisting that she work hard at them. Miss Amara took part time jobs to finance her studies.

★ ★ ★

In 1950, she made her debut with the New York Metropolitan Opera, singing an offstage role in "Don Carlo." It is said that she might be considered Rudolf Bing's first American "discovery," as "Don Carlo" opened his first Metropolitan season.

Since that time, Miss Amara has had leading soprano roles in many important and difficult operas, and is now heard only in leading roles. She has made guest appearances in Berlin, Stockholm and Rome.

GLAD TO BE BACK

Miss Amara sounds as happy to be in Detroit as Detroit is to have her, and she plans to see her many relatives in the Pontiac area whom she has not seen for many years.

When she heard that Pontiac now has its own symphony orchestra, she said, "Fabulous—more power to them." She does hope that the orchestra will give young local artists a chance to perform.

★ ★ ★

Recalling her own struggle to become established, she remarked, "It's so hard for young artists to get started on a career and if the smaller organizations won't help them, they haven't a chance."

She is "mad about small cars and sports cars."

"Every time I see a Mercedes or Jaguar, I have to stop and look at them," she said.

Opening Night for Met One to Long Remember

By LYDIA ROTHMAN

The Metropolitan Opera opened in Detroit Thursday evening for its first appearance in the city in 49 years.

★ ★ ★

It was a night to be long remembered for those who were fortunate enough to attend and for those who merely stood on the sidelines to watch Detroit at its most glamourous and stately best.

The Masonic Temple overflowed with glamor and formality last night as many of the opera goers donned top hats and tails and long evening gowns.

★ ★ ★

Perhaps the evening clothes were a little foreign to their wearers and perhaps there was an impatient driver in the long line of traffic, but generally, opera enthusiasts didn't seem to mind a bit and really enjoyed the polite crush of some 4,600 ticket holders.

Amid flash bulbs and press photographers, Detroit's society leaders and those who weren't joined in the stately parade up the red-carpeted steps to take their seats in the capacity-filled auditorium.

★ ★ ★

Although many were late, the lights dimmed and the curtain rose promptly at 8:30 p.m. to the first thrilling notes of "Carmen."

Some students of the opera say the Metropolitan is only presenting "popular" opera during its three-day appearance in Detroit.

★ ★ ★

But the most critical opera goers and music lovers were completely enthralled last night by magnificent Rise Stevens as Carmen and the tender, beautiful voice of Heidi Krall who sang the role of Micaela.

When the opera was over, the audience remained spellbound in its seats and applauded like a Detroit audience has probably never done before.

★ ★ ★

As the audience left the Masonic Temple, it did so quietly and without the usual frantic rush, completely touched by the magnificent performance just witnessed.

Shrunken Heads, Children Found

Strangest Things Forgot

By MARY PRIME

NEW YORK (UPI) — Women travelers put the absent-minded professor to shame. They forget everything from children to shrunken heads, says a motel executive.

"You name it and it's probably been left. We find an average of 250,000 items a year in our motels," said John Lacock, of Washington, Pa., president of a nonprofit motel association, Quality Courts United, Inc. The organization sets standards for its 500 independently-owned motels, handles reservations, and does central purchasing.

"Women generally forget lingerie, which we find rolled up in sheets. Cosmetics and slippers run a close second," Lacock said during a trip to New York.

If an article has some value, the motel manager drops the guest a card, he said.

Travelers have left behind false teeth, automobile hub caps, a cotton quilt, toys, tricycles and typewriters. One person left 25 bars of soap, another a trunk in a driveway.

The shrunken head was found in Lacock's Motel last year. A woman had brought the head as a souvenir from South America. A day after checking out, she frantically called Lacock, and the head was mailed to her.

Another woman left a gold inlaid hanger in a southern hotel. In tears, she called the manager, explained that the hanger was a family heirloom, and got it back.

At another motel, a mother was so busy herding six of her children into a station wagon that she overlooked the seventh child, a two-year-old. She was on the road before she realized she was short one child.

But women aren't the only ones to leave possessions behind, Lacock said. Men are prone to forget pajamas, hairbrushes, and razors.

"One man," he added, "took off without his suitcase containing an important speech. He called several hours later, and I read the speech over the phone, while he copied it down in longhand."

Another man stopped at the motel en route to Mexico and left his dinner clothes in the closet. He called the owner, who took the tuxedo to the local airport and gave it to a pilot heading across the border. The pilot delivered the suit.

Then there was the motel maid who opened a suitcase, found a skeleton, and collapsed. But no foul play was involved. A tag on the skeleton's wrist showed it belonged to a medical student.

Dear Abby . . .

Wife of the Nice Young Man Knows Darn Well What to Do

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I recently bought a home and furnished it in Early American. For a housegift his sister gave us a Chinese Modern lamp. It stands three feet high, has a bright red base with a black lacquered shade and has gold dragons all over it. It looks terrible and I don't want to put it where it can be seen.

ABBY

I know his sister from way back and she did it just to be mean. You'd never see such a cheap piece of junk in her house. My husband says I should use it anyway so her feelings won't be hurt. I don't want to ruin the looks of my house. How can we settle this peacefully?

PUZZLED

DEAR PUZZLED: Ask your sister-in-law if she has any objections to your exchanging the lamp for something that would fit into your decorating scheme a little better. She could hardly refuse; if she does, put the lamp away. At least, you'll have thrown a little light on the subject.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: In a recent column, a young girl tells of a quick wedding at the city hall over her lunch because she couldn't afford a "fancy church wedding". This woman and countless others have the wrong conception of a church wedding. Anyone who wants a church wedding can have one. It need not be expensive or fancy.

Any clergyman will unite a couple in holy matrimony in front of the altar with only attendants and parents. It is still a Service, and has the blessing of God. I have nothing against city hall weddings, but but "I now-pronounce-you-man and-wife-$10.00-please" type of ceremony is not nearly so memorable. Sincerely,

REV. L. A. MEYER

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: In our office there is a nice young man. He is very sweet and we wouldn't hurt him for the world, but he comes to work with holes in his socks. He is married. This makes a bad impression on all who see him and some folks snicker behind his back. Should we tell him it looks bad, or should we write his wife an anonymous note telling her to do something about it?

OFFICE GANG

DEAR GANG: If the man consistently comes to work with holes in his socks, he knows they are there and doesn't care. Leave his wife alone. She darn well knows what to do.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I am asking advice for a helpless little child of four. She has a very poor appetite. Her mother tries to force food down her by holding her nose until she swallows the food. I hate to see this child screaming and putting up a big fight. The child becomes nervous and throws up the food afterwards. I was told to mind my own business when I suggested they take her to a doctor. I work here so I hesitate to make any more suggestions. Maybe you can help.

DAY HELP

DEAR HELP: Food forced down a child does more harm than good. I hope they consult a doctor about the child's poor appetite before they are forced to see one about a much more serious problem later.

Rubber Spatula Scrapes Mixer

When you use an electric mixer, it's handy to rely on a rubber spatula to scrape batter from the sides of the bowl. You won't run the risk of bending the beater blades as with a wooden spoon.

Of course, it's easy to wash the rubber spatula in hot soap or detergent suds along with the bowl and beaters.

Save time sprinkling clothes by spraying water on with a windex spray bottle as you iron.

Beets will be easier to peel if you douse them in cold water a second after boiling.

Skin Stretched

Exercise Firms Chinline

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
(The Friday Question Box)

Q. "I have been about 50 pounds overweight for years. I finally started counting calories and have lost 25 pounds in the last six months. I am 38 years old and have lost this weight slowly. However, my chinline is saggy where the double chin used to be. Is there a good exercise for this condition?"

A. That is one of the bad things about remaining overweight for many years. The skin does become stretched and does not always shrink enough to match the new proportions. However, I think you can do much to diminish the defect by doing some exercises and lubricating your skin carefully.

Unless there is some individual reason for not doing so, I believe the use of one of the hormone creams would be an aid. Here is an exercise. Lie on your bed on your back with your head and shoulders hanging off the bed. Slowly raise your head and touch your chin to your chest, or come as near as you can. Lower head back again and continue. When you apply cream to your neck, pat it into the skin gently.

Q. "Would you please tell me what causes hair to grow on the face? Do you inherit it from your mother? Also do irregular menstrual periods have anything to do with it? Please answer in your column."

A. This is really a medical question which I am not qualified to answer. In general, I can say that the distribution of hair is affected by the glands. When you say that you have irregular menstrual periods and have hairs on your face, I guess that you are middle aged. This is the time when the glandular setup changes and when hairs often appear on the face for the first time. I think you should talk with your family physician.

Q. "Small lines are beginning to radiate outward from my lips. Lipstick sometimes gets into these and this looks unattractive. Is there any special cream or exercise for them? I have used a facial depilatory for several years. Could this be breaking down the skin around the lips and cause these lines. I whistle a lot. Could this cause them?"

A. You should give up whistling and take up whittling instead! I hate to ask you to do this since you sound like a gay soul, but I do think that whistling would cause lines just as do any facial expressions, such as squinting or brow lifting. Use any good lubricating cream.

Q. "What is a safe and easy way to bleach the skin if one has too much suntan?"

A. The easiest and safest way is just to let it fade with time. Actually, I do not think there is any very effective method or product.

You can buy commercial bleaching creams which help you some or you can use lemon juice. If this is too strong, even when diluted, add it to buttermilk which is also supposed to be a mild bleacher.

Newlyweds Don't Need to Entertain

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: A nephew of mine was married several months ago. Our family all went to showers for his bride and to the wedding and gave lovely presents. After they returned from their wedding trip, the family expected to be invited to their house but so far not one of us has been asked. We know that their house is completely furnished and that they are settled.

"A close family friend, who lives near them, has told us that they have entertained several of their friends. We all feel quite hurt over this. Don't you think this is a slight to his family and that we are justified in feeling hurt?"

Answer: A young bride and groom in their new house are very rarely able, or expected, to entertain more than a very few of their own friends, and you should not feel slighted because you have not been invited. You can telephone your nephew and show your interest in their house by asking when you can come to see it.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My invitation to my niece's wedding included a card reading, "In front of the ribbons." My fiance's invitation did not include this card. I asked my sister about it and she said that only the nearest family was seated in these front seats. Shouldn't he have been asked to sit there with me?"

Answer: Since your fiance is the very nearest thing to being in the family, correctly he should have been asked to sit with you.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When a man and woman are dining in a restaurant, is the woman to give her order first to the waiter or should the man order for both?"

Answer: She tells her host what she would like, and he gives the order for both.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Our two children, five and seven years old, have their dinners with the family in the dining room. Ordinarily their plates are served first because they are slow in eating. Should this same practice be followed even when we have guests, or could that possibly be considered rude to put the children of the family before guests?"

Answer: I think that if you explain the reason, no guest, informal enough to be at table with children as young as yours, will feel slighted when you serve them first.

A graceful touch of the Orient prevails in the Roy J. Alexander home on Schoolhouse drive. Mrs. Alexander decided to make her memento of several years' residence in Okinawa a delicate collection of almond-eyed dolls. The array of figures on the table includes dolls from Japan, China, India, Siam and Indochina.

Roy Alexanders' Home Filled With Mementos of the Orient

By MARGARET BROWN

You've read about Roy J. Alexander often on our pages in connection with the new Michigan State University Oakland. The school's recently named director of student services has a very colorful background, having spent several years in Okinawa where he headed the MSU mission at the University of Ryukyus.

He also has a petite wife who is the epitome of "charm" and two fine youngsters.

★ ★ ★

The family's cheery brick home on Schoolhouse drive is filled with lovely and authentic Oriental furnishings accumulated during their stay in the Far East. Outstanding are several intricately carved teakwood tables finished in blonde tones for more modern tastes.

Perhaps the biggest attraction, however, is Mrs. Alexander's intriguing collection of dolls. The fragile array of both tiny and large handmade figures was carefully arranged and the story behind each doll was very graciously explained during our interview.

Some of the dolls have bodies made of natural tinted pure silk and strikingly life-like complexions. Each were a lustrous wig of fine black silk.

★ ★ ★

Others, molded of ceramic clay, look as if they might suddenly converse with their admirers, so realistic are their hand-painted features.

The dolls often are representative of special days, historical events, or characters of the drama. It's difficult to believe such delicate, laboriously fashioned "toys" are used by children everyday, but Mrs. Alexander says that Oriental youngsters generally are very gentle and "pliable."

★ ★ ★

The Alexanders, who returned from Okinawa in May 1958 with their children, John, 13, and Karen, 9, lived near the island's capital city of Naha where some 100,000 people dwell.

"Okinawans are a shy, sensitive people," she comments. Although their disciplinary measures are very mild, the children are remarkably well-behaved.

American ladies, by the way, don't work very hard in Okinawa. They are expected to employ domestics. "It helps the economy," she explains.

The family sailed to Japan while in Okinawa and visited such exciting cities as Hong Kong, Bangkok, Singapore and Saigon.

Simplicity Key to Top Fashion

The clue to looking well-dressed lies in one word: simplicity. If you like color, wear it. But wear it subtly.

Don't mix colors unless you've a real flair. Wear black if you like but highlight it with accessories that have a gleam. And never wear too many ornaments at once.

Sit down to work in the kitchen when you can. It's a good way to save energy. Use a chair which lets you sit with good posture and allows you to place both feet flat on the floor.

Set Play on Mental Health

An educational play, "Which Way Out?" will highlight the first annual meeting of the Oakland Chapter of the Michigan Society for Mental Health to be held 8 p. m. June 4 at Pontiac Northern High School.

The American Theater Wing Community Play by Lee Gilmore will be presented by students of Waterford Township High School. Patricia Looman, of the speech department, is the director.

"The play has been instrumental in teaching teenagers something about emotional disturbance and its effect upon a whole family," says Mrs. Jerome Fink, president of the society.

The teenage cast includes Marcia Cameron, 301 N. Hospital Rd.; Tom Goff, 130 S. Tilden St.; Sara Barningham, 2856 W. Huron St.; Carol Merz, 3845 Dorothy Lane, W.; and Bill Verhey, 4232 Lamont St., Drayton Plains.

★ ★ ★

Members of the panel to discuss the play are William Robertson, Pontiac Public Schools Psychologist; James Hunt, director of Children's Division of Juvenile Court, Frieda Huggett, visiting teacher, Waterford, Public Schools; and Madeleine Half director of Oakland County Child Guidance Clinic.

Also on the meeting's agenda is report from Elmer Hartwig, legislation committee chairman, on the study and work toward emergency care for the mentally ill in Oakland County; a report on new state legislation regarding admitting procedures; and nominations for two year terms for the board of directors.

State to Let Road Bids

LANSING (AP)—The second highway department bid-letting ever to be held outside of Lansing will be conducted June 17 at Sault Ste. Marie. Bids will be asked on a road job of more than nine miles of M67 in Alger County and county road projects in Barga and Marquette Counties.

Jobless Areas Still Troubling

Cloud on Otherwise Brightening Picture of Employment in U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department said today that although the economy is making a vigorous recovery, there still are bad areas of unemployment requiring federal and state attention.

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell urged Congress to enact an assistance program to encourage new industries to locate in hard-hit areas. He called on governors to have legislatures follow President Eisenhower's advice in improving state unemployment compensation laws.

★ ★ ★

"The economy in general is making a sustained and vigorous recovery," Mitchell said, "but there still are people and places which are not sharing that prosperity."

He said the localized character of unemployment, even though there was springtime improvement in more than 90 per cent of the 149 major labor market areas, "demonstrates the need for a federal areas assistance program."

★ ★ ★

Mitchell's study of the unemployment problem — with 65 million workers at jobs and 3,627,000 still idle in April—showed the greatest number of unemployed concentrated in five states—New York, Pennsylvania, California, Michigan and Illinois.

It showed unemployment particularly high among the youngest members of the work force, among the unskilled laboring men, and among Negroes.

★ ★ ★

An upward trend in employer hiring plans reportedly will continue at least to midsummer.

Spring hiring dropped 14 major labor market areas from the list of those classed as having substantial labor surplus, or idleness of 6 per cent or more. Sixty cities remain on that list, compared with 86 a year ago and only 21 two years ago.

State Meets Start; PCH After 5th Track Title

Chiefs Facing Hot Challenges in Test at MSU

Indians, Vikings, Ann Arbor, Farmington in List of Top Threats

An underdog Pontiac Central High track squad of 14 young hopeful athletes tomorrow heads into the annual Michigan schoolboy Class A championships at Ralph Young Field, at Michigan State University.

★ ★ ★

The Chiefs are defending champions. They have won the big honors four times in a row, face a difficult challenge in their try for a fifth title.

Observers rate a half-dozen other squads as leading threats for the big one, but there was hope among the 14 PCH qualifiers making up the defending titlists" attack force, that there would be enough balance to once more emerge at the top.

Pontiac Central has strength in several directions, particularly in the shotput, the medley relay, high jump, and perhaps in the dashes and hurdles. However, there was indication that this would be the toughest competition the Chiefs have faced.

Rated highly were the two Flint squads, with Central probably the biggest threat. There was an Ann Arbor powerhouse, strong Farmington, Grosse Pte. and Monroe from the eastern part of the state. Kalamazoo Central was another possible threat.

The Pontiac area will be well represented, with Birmingham, Waterford, Pontiac Northern High, and the two Royal Oak schools among Class A entries. Cranbrook, Bloomfield Hills, West Bloomfield, Clawson, Troy all have strong squads and could make this division a very warm fight. Defending champion is E. Grand Rapids.

Not since the days of Chiefs' fabulous Hayes Jones (current Olympic prospect at EMU), has the state seen a triple winner. There was the possibility, Saturday, that this situation might be changed with Farmington's sensational Warren Cawley running the hurdles and trying the broad jump, all events in which Jones set records while at PCH.

Cawley has hit 13.9 to equal the national prep mark for the highs. He turned 18.6 this year for the lows, and jumped better than 22 feet. He could win all three, Saturday, giving his team a hefty boost.

The record assault will include probably the hottest mile battle of years between defending titlist Rem Purdy of the Pointe and Jerry Bashaw of Lincoln Park who have been pretty close this spring to the state mark mark of 4:21.8 set last year by Purdy. Bill Milum of Flint Central is not far behind.

Maples' Bill Alcorn is regarded as a sure bet to boost the pole vault mark beyond the 13-foot mark for the first time. He is the current champion.

Saturday's preliminaries start at 10:30 a.m. the finals at 1:30 p.m.

Pontiac Central's quilifiers are:

Prentis (hurdles), Ratcliff (dashes) Howze (hurdles), Johnson, Jefferson (half mile), Brooks, Kimbrell (high jump), Bill Pritchett, Brown, Rush (shot), LaCore, Brooks, Jim Pritchett, Richards (med. relay), Brooks, Richardson, Ratcliff, Pritchett (880-relay), Joe Anderson (mile).

Birmingham — Reid (mile), Green (440), Reilly (880), Cocks (880), Alcorn, Ritter (vault), Jacobson (broad jump), medley relay team.

Pontiac Northern — Ed Montgomery (880).

Farmington — Cawley (hurdles, broad jump), Peckman, Grimshaw (hurdles), Agee (100-200), Martin (440).

Waterford — Bill Kaines (mile), Mike Ewer (880).

In Class C — OL St. Mary, Bill Krull (880, relay), relay team, Krull, Stan Kucia, Glen Hass, Felix Blaszczak, St. Michael — Bill Flanagan (dashes).

Cranbrook-Class B — Medley relay team (Seyfarth, Prey, Cameron, Canfield), Hubbard (vault), Crouse (dashes), 880-relay (Crouse, Hoffman, DeWitt, Seyfarth), Butzel (hurdles), DeWitt (broad jump, 440), Callogly (880).

Nine Area Golf Teams Compete at Port Huron

County Prep Linkers Expected to Make Bid for Titles

Nine Oakland County area high schools representing three classes, headed by defending Class A champion Birmingham, go to Port Huron tomorrow to compete in the annual Michigan prep golf tournament.

The area delegation will be joined by 33 other schoolboy teams for the 18-hole medal play tourney with the winner in each class decided by the combined stroke total of four players.

Competition is scheduled in three divisions—Class A, Class B and Class C-D. The "A" and "C-D" golfers will do their firing at Black River Country Club while the "B" squads play at Port Huron Golf Club. Starting time on both layouts is 8:30 a.m.

Joining Birmingham from this sector are Pontiac Central, Farmington and Southfield in the "A" ranks; West Bloomfield, Brighton and Shrine in Class B, and St. Frederick and Royal Oak St. Mary in the "C-D" division.

★ ★ ★

Birmingham, last year's state champ, and PCH, Farmington, W. Bloomfield and St. Fred look like the county area's strongest representatives.

Farmington was a surprise winner in last week's regional action at Farmington CC, beating Birmingham by three strokes for the Class A crown. The Keego team won the "B" title on the same course and was three shots better than Farmington.

The Chiefs placed 3rd in their regional at Flint and took 2nd Monday in the Saginaw Valley meet at Owosso. St. Fred finished 2nd in the Flint regional.

All of the Oakland area teams going to Port Huron except Farmington, Southfield, Brighton and St. Mary will cross paths again Monday when they play in The Pontiac Press Prep Invitational at Pontiac Country Club.

★ ★ ★

Ann Arbor, Dearborn and Valley champion Flint Central are the favorites in Class A tomorrow while Jackson St. John gets the nod in the "B" ranks. Another Jackson parochial school, St. Mary, will be shooting for its 6th consecutive state championship in Class C-D.

Saturday's tournament field:

8th Annual Golf Invitational at PCC on Monday

10 Class A Challengers With 7 in B-C Teams Complete Field

Entries have been locked up and the field is complete for Monday's 8th annual running of The Pontiac Press Prep Invitational golf tournament at Pontiac Country Club.

Seventeen Oakland County area high school teams, the largest entry list since 1952 when the same number registered for the 1st Press event, are in the fold and ready to start gunning for the title and the giant perpetual trophy that goes with it.

★ ★ ★

Entries closed Wednesday at midnight and until late yesterday morning it appeared that there would be 18 schools in the competition, which would have set a new record.

But a Thursday telephone call from Southfield reduced the figure to 17. The Jays were forced to withdraw their entry after failing to gain administrative clearance.

So Monday's starting field shapes up like this:

Class A — Birmingham, Pontiac Central, Waterford, Pontiac Northern, Rochester, Walled Lake, Royal Oak Dondero, Oak Park, Royal Oak Kimball and Lapeer.

Class B-C — West Bloomfield, Bloomfield Hills, Clawson, Royal Oak Shrine, South Lyon, Pontiac St. Frederick and Pontiac St. Michael.

It goes without saying that Birmingham will be everybody's target when the tourney begins its 18-hole run at 8:24 in the morning.

★ ★ ★

The Maples have won five of the seven previous tournaments with only Waterford and Pontiac Central able to make a dent in their domination. PCH won the inaugural event and the Skippers broke through in 1956.

There are indications, however, that Birmingham's path to another Press crown will be infested with thorns. Half a dozen other squads look thoroughly capable of giving the Maples a close race for the championship.

Pontiac Central, which snapped Birmingham's 36-dual-meet victory string Wednesday on a hole-in-one by Mike Samardzija, is a worthy challenger. So is West Bloomfield with pint-sized Jon Shaw leading the way.

Other strong title contenders are St. Fred, which has shown excellent team balance; Bloomfield Hills, still to be respected even though Bud Badger is gone, and Waterford, weak at times this season but not helpless.

Each school will send five players into the battle and tee-offs will begin from both nines simultaneously. Pairings and starting times are announced today.

The huge perpetual tournament trophy will go to the overall winner regardless of class with trophies for the class A champ and the B-C champ.

There are also awards for medalists in both classes and medals for members of the championship team.

UP FOR GRABS—This huge perpetual trophy, standing 3-feet, is up for grabs in the 8th annual Pontiac Press Invitational Golf Tournament Monday at Pontiac Country Club. Birmingham has held it five times, with Pontiac Central and Waterford as the other winners.

Gate Opens for 3rd Major League

COLUMBUS (AP) — Baseball's major leagues have opened the gate for the formation of a third loop with major league status.

Operating heads of the 16 National and American League clubs agreed here unanimously yesterday "to favorably consider" applications for major league status by "an acceptable group of eight clubs which could qualify."

Baseball commissioner Ford Frick says his personal belief is that such a league is "inevitable" and that it certainly will come within five years.

An even more optimistic report came from William Shea of New York's major's committee on baseball. He said:

"We ought to be ready in four or five weeks to do something. The third major league should be in the formative stage by that time."

Frick's statement came at the windup of a hastily called meeting of the major league club bosses.

Frick's said "there is no existing plan to expand the present major leagues." By that he meant expansion of the National and American loops to 10 or 12 club organizations.

"The approach is to a third league," he said.

The statement from the club owners loosed a flood of speculation.

One was — how about ball players?

A third major league would need 200 players under the present player limit rule.

To that, Frick said, "The players will develop if you have the jobs for them."

Another question was — how about the cost and the effect on the minors?

One of the qualifications set up in the meeting yesterday was that the new league would be responsible for all territorial provisions and financial obligations necessary to set it up.

There was no immediate comment from George Trautman, head of the minor leagues, on what would happen if a third major league is organized.

Among the cities which have been suggested as possible members of a new major league are New York, Buffalo, New Orleans, Dallas-Ft. Worth, Minneapolis-St. Paul, Montreal, Seattle, Mexico City and Toronto.

The club owners set up 10 qualifications members of a new league would have to meet in order to "go major."

Series Against Indians to Test Tiger Fortunes

CLEVELAND (AP) — It's well for the Detroit Tigers that their fortunes seem to have turned, for now a really rough deal is on the way.

Tonight's opener of a four-game series here with the league leading Cleveland Indians finds manager Jimmy Dykes' team setting out on one of the rockiest playing schedules of record.

The situation also is likely to serve as a test of Dykes' ability to handle pitching assignments.

Detroit, fighting to avoid a return to the American League cellar, is playing 11 games in nine days — five of which are at night — and from now until June 22 the Tigers will be playing every day.

The June 22 date is the first day off in a playing span starting with tonight's battle with the Indians.

The team will be playing 34 games without a day off unless the weather interferes with the schedule. A postponed game with the Chicago White Sox has been rescheduled for May 28, previously open.

The fact that Dykes' first string of pitchers has not been too reliable, plus the weakness of his bull pen group, makes the problem severe.

Detroit will be trying to snap the Indians' five-game winning streak over the Tigers tonight. The Tigers have yet to top Cleveland this season.

Paul Foytack (1-5), who has failed to finish a game in eight tries, will start for the Tigers. If he fails this time, Foytack may be sent to the bull pen. Manager Dykes has indicated that's to be the fate of the right-hander once counted on as a regular front liner.

Cleveland is expected to use pitcher Gary Bell (3-2), sophomore righthander who spent his first year in the Big Leagues in 1958 after being impressive in the Pacific Coast League.

Doctoring Your Golf

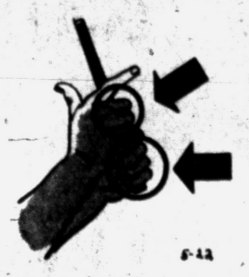

By DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF

PATIENT'S COMPLAINT: Trouble getting the grip right.

DIAGNOSIS: Pressure in the wrong places.

TREATMENT: As any golf professional will tell you, getting your grip set right is Step A toward acquiring a good swing. If the grip is wrong, you are pretty much doomed to failure from the start.

One thing you should understand about the grip is that the main pressure in the right hand should be applied with the middle two fingers. Gripping too hard with the index finger will set up tension in one of the major muscles in the forearm, which will cause a tense and jerky swing.

In the left hand, the main pressure should be applied with the last three fingers — again avoiding too hard of a grip with the index finger. The main idea here is to have the club firmly in control with the left hand throughout the swing.

Many golfers tend to loosen the grip with the left hand at the top of the swing. Doing this will have you spraying your shots all over the course. Avoid this grip fault at all costs.

Rochester Tri-County Track Champs

Romeo had the standout individual on the field but Rochester used balance to take the Tri-County League track championship at Romeo yesterday.

Orchard Lake St. Mary clinched the Suburban Catholic crown by beating St. Fred 3-1 and Clarkston's Dick Caverly hurled a no-hitter at Holly highlighting a busy baseball slate.

Bill Benson won the high jump and placed 4th in the broad jump to pace Rochester with 7 points. The Falcons also took the shot put and 440 and tied in the pole vault in compiling 58½ points.

Romeo also had four winners but was far back otherwise in totaling 49. Lapeer had 39, new loop entry Roseville 23 and L'Anse Creuse 14½.

★ ★ ★

Bulldog Charley Peterson scored 14¼ poonts for Romeo by winning 100 and low hurdles, gaining a 3rd in the broad jump and taking part in the 880 relay.

The latter event was a record for two meets held thus far. Others were set in the shot, 880, broad jump and mile.

Ted Baraczewski won the OLSM baseball clincher with relief help. Ken Kowalski stole home for one Eaglet run and homered for another. Ten walks greatly aided the victors.

★ ★ ★

Caverly lost a shutout in the 7th in downing Holly 9-2. Clarkston broke up a scorless duel in the 5th with 7 runs featuring a grand slam by John Parks.

Milford wrapped up the Wayne-Oakland Championship, West Bloomfield outscored Blomfield Hills 11-9, Avondale downed Oakland B champion Madison 11-8, and Hamtramck walloped Cranbrook 11-0 in other baseball.

Milford nipped Brighton 10-9 after blooing an 8-0 lead. Down 9-8, Terry Hoy tied it for the Redskins with a homer and Larry Chaple cleared the fence in the 8th. Jim Paddock and Earl Clark had Brighton home runs. Terry Anderson won in relief.

★ ★ ★

West Bloomfield had only two earned runs but led all the way as the Barons made eight errors. A homer by Otto Jancik brought Avon from behind as Darryl Thorpe earned another triumph. Cranbrook was held to four safeties.

OL St. Mary and Clarkston also won in other sports. The Eaglet tracksmen edged Bloomfield Hills 56 2/5 to 55 3/5 while Clarenceville had 21. Frank Prelewicz turned the tide by winning the pole vault. Clarkston whipped St. Fred 170-176 in golf sparked by Jim Cunter's 38. Mike Reed fired a 40 for the Rams.

In a track triangular for sophomores and juniors not in the state finals, Pontiac Central scored 79 points, Birmingham 31 and Waterford 29. The Chiefs missed only one 1st with three double victors.

TRICOUNTY WINNERS

Indiana Golfers Are Figured as Purdue Threats

Track Marks May Fall in Distance Events of Conference Meet

ANN ARBOR (UPI)—Indiana, which never has won a Big Ten golf tournament, has its best chance yet to dethrone arch-rival Purdue when medal play started today on the University of Michigan course.

The Hoosiers had a dual meet record of 14-1-1. Altogether, Purdue and Indiana met four times during the season in all types of meets with Purdue handing Indiana defeats by seven and eight point margins while the Hoosiers clipped Purdue on the Boilermaker course for a two-point victory plus the tie.

Indiana doesn't have any par busters like Purdue's defending champion John Konsek but only 3.1 strokes separate the Hoosiers's top and bottom men led by Jon Sommer's 75.6 up to Dave Pelz' 78.7.

Purdue has won the conference crown five of the last nine years and with a near all-veteran team returning, was expected to win again.

The dark horses are Michigan, and Michigan State.

Two Big Ten track records appeared in danger today with half-miler George Kerr of Illinois and miler Bob Lake of Michigan State rated top challengers in the 59th annual conference meet.

Kerr, a Jamaica star on the Illini team, already has been clocked at 1:49.4 for the 880, best time ever by a Big Ten athlete, and he could be pressed all the way or even beaten, by Michigan's Tony Seth, another Caribbean runner who has a best time of 1:50.7 this year.

The record for the event is 1:50.5 by Dave Lean of Michigan State last year, another importee.

★ ★ ★

Lake has a time of 4:04.9, far better than the record of 4:09.0 by Don McEwen of Michigan eight years ago, and was rated capable of whipping the record if he gets any competition.

Foreign stars were expected to stand out. Michigan's Tom Robinson, from Nassau, Bahamas, was favored in both the 100 and 220-yard dashes; Les Bird of Michigan, from Antigua, was the choice in the broad jump and Finland's Eeles Landstrom, also competing for the Wolverines, was classed as most likely to win the pole vault.

Michigan, which won the indoor track championship in March, was a heavy favorite to add the outdoor title for the 23rd time on the basis of its superior strength as well as individual stars plus injuries which could hamper defending champion Illinois.

Jeanne Stunyo, who finished second in diving to the now retired Pat McCormack in the 1956 Olympics swimming competition, is a senior at the University of Detroit.

Big Ten Votes on Bowl Today

5-5 Deadlock Is Expected to End Rose Pact

'Yes' Schools Hoping to Convert 'No' Vote for Passage

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — The Big Ten votes today whether it should continue playing annually in the Rose Bowl, but even the expected vote of rejection won't wind up the issue.

Five of the 10 members—Northwestern, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Ohio State—are committed to oppose another contract providing for the bowl competition and a five-five deadlock in the balloting, regarded as a certainty, would kill the agreement after the 14th game next Jan. 1.

★ ★ ★

But there is solid support for continuation of the bowl agreement among its five proponents and even among individuals who represent schools opposed to the pact, and today they will try every strategy in an attempt to keep the post-season participation alive.

One effort will be to try to table the motion to stall a final vote until the December meeting thus giving supporters another six-month period to attempt to convert one of the opponents. The motion to table was expected to fail quickly.

★ ★ ★

Another strategy will be to call for a secret ballot in the forlorn hope that one of the "no" schools will abstain from voting or on the initiative of the representative, will vote "yes."

However, this is extremely unlikely since such a switch would contradict explicit instructions to each faculty member casting a vote.

Should the final vote of rejection be taken today, there will be nothing to prevent introduction of new legislation calling for Rose Bowl participation at the next conference meeting. Thus, the same issue probably will come up again prior to the first game for which the Big Ten isn't committed—Jan. 1, 1961.

★ ★ ★

Supporters of the bowl contend that the Big Ten must remain as a participant, otherwise, independent schools competing for the bowl berth and its lucrative cash rewards would cause increased problems in recruiting and would put pressure on conference coaches to skirt regulations in an effort to obtain players to maintain prestige.

Because the conference splits its Rose Bowl share into 12 portions, no Big Ten member receives a significant amount because of the game. But the entire share to a single school would be a tremendous inducement to go all-out to make certain of frequent participation.

The conference cleaned up "housekeeping" matters yesterday prior to heading into the taut bowl discussion.

★ ★ ★

Meets for next year were assigned to Michigan for wrestling, March 4-5 and for swimming, March 3-5; to Iowa for fencing, March 5; and to Minnesota for gymnastics, March 4-5.

MAKE OVER 7 PACES

THE 'MAVERICK SPECIAL' — This is the new two-wheel drive Willys station wagon now being offered by the Oliver Motor Sales, 210 Orchard Lake Ave. The new vehicle is designed for standard six-passenger family service and as a versatile carry-all with 100 cubic feet of cargo space with the rear seats folded forward. Oliver Motor Sales has just acquired the Oakland County franchise for Willys.

County Dealer Acquires Willys' Oakland Franchise

Oliver Motor Sales, 210 Orchard Lake Ave., a Buick and Opel dealership, has just acquired the Oakland County franchise for Willys.

The immediate introductory response to the rugged "jeep" station wagon, "maverick," has been "terrific," according to Bob Oliver. "The idea of a small wagon has captured the imagination of people intrigued by the small car craze."

The "Maverick" employs two-wheel drive, accomodates six passengers and can carry a half-ton load within 100 cubic feet of cargo space with the rear seats folded forward.

Dual chamber "captive air" white wall tires are standard equipment and eliminate the need for carrying a spare, says Oliver.

A one-piece windshield and lower, ribbed roof panel are among new design features.

But, the biggest attraction is the economy feature," explains the dealer.

"'Maverick' is several hundred dollars lower than any other full-sized American-made station wagon."

Aside from its four-cylinder F-head engine, which provides a high level of fuel economy, the new model maintains the maximum degree of maneuverability characterisitic of all "jeep" vehicles.

A selection of eight two-tone paint combinations with harmonizing interiors of breathable vinyl coated fabrics and Pompano carpeting are standard.

15-Second Quake Hits New Zealand Town

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (AP) — A 15-second earthquake rocked Wellington tonight, causing some damage and plunging a third of the city into darkness.

Windows were broken, chimneys fell and articles were thrown off shelves.

Department store shoppers screamed as the floors trembled, walls cracked and the lights went out.

The quake centered about 50 miles from Wellington.

Damage was also reported in Picton and Blenheim.

Doesn't Care What It Is, He'll Vote 'Yes' Anyway

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Rep. Charles E. Hoffman of Cincinnati got lost in a tangle of amendments and questions about a measure being voted on in the Ohio Legislature. When polled on a roll call, he responded.

"Yes—on whatever we are voting on."

Hoffa Denies Strike Threat

Says His Union Would Keep Any New Laws Imposed by Congress

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP)—Although he said he favors system and industry bargaining, Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa says his union never would call a national walkout.

He denied making the threat of such a strike in a talk at Brownsville, Tex. and reiterated an earlier claim that he had been misquoted.

But, Hoffa added, he does not feel to have been "victimized" by the press because "I can handle myself."

★ ★ ★

Hoffa, here to talk with Minneapolis and St. Paul Teamsters, said his union would abide by any restrictions Congress imposes in new laws. "But," he added, "we reserve the right to have the advantages as well as the disadvantages of any new legislation."

★ ★ ★

Told that Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) had made a speech Thursday night in which he accused Hoffa of a "public-be-damned" attitude, he said Kennedy would "do well to examine his own remarks to see whether he is talking in the best interests of the working man."

Broke Safety Rule on Lake Jaunt

Rescued 13 Face New Hazard

DETROIT (AP) — Coast Guard action for violation of marine safety rules was indicated today following the rescue yesterday of 13 young people stranded overnight on Lake St. Clair.

The young people from Grosse Pointe, all unharmed, were brought to shore following a night-long search by Air Force, Coast Guard and Navy planes and ships. Private search craft also took part.

The group's 26-foot sailboat, the Hobo, had run aground in two feet of water off Strawberry Island late Wednesday. It was found early yesterday.

Coast Guard Warrant Officer Everett M. Marshall, commander at Detroit, noted there were no lifejackets aboard the boat.

He said each of the 13 persons aboard could be fined $50 for the violation.

First to reach the Hobo was a chartered 23-foot boat of the Detroit Times with a reporter on board.

★ ★ ★

Apparently the youngsters' danger was much less than what at first had been feared.

Where the Hobo went aground, the water was less than two feet deep, according to the Coast Guard. The Coast Guard also took a dim view of any tendency of the participants to regard the incident as a lark.

Chief Bosun Andrew Pietrykowski of the Coast Guard cutter Maple said federal law was violated by the absence of lifejackets.

The Hobo, powered by a small auxiliary engine, was without sails or a radio.

Protocol of the seas figured in the rescue.

The Times' boat found the Hobo and pulled her free. But afterwards the Maple, insisting on following marine rules, took custody as The Hobo was being towed to shore.

A line was thrown to the Hobo and on the 10th try the Times boat pulled her free of the sandbar and began the tow for home.

The boys aboard the Hobo were less than fully skilled and experienced.

★ ★ ★

"In their excitement, the boys forgot to have anyone man the tiller," Simonson said, "and the Hobo was yawing all over the lake until we yelled for someone to steer."

★ ★ ★

The stranded group spent the time overnight singing school songs and listening to a portable radio's reports of the search for them.

The Hobo, owned by W. C. Flaherty, a Chrysler Corp. executive, was taken from its winter dock by Flaherty's son, Paul, 19.

When he landed, young Flaherty dodged reporters with the comment "I don't want to talk about it."

SELLS MAYOR A POPPY — It isn't every day that Pontiac Mayor Philip E. Rowston has the opportunity of buying flowers from pretty little girls, but yesterday was different. The cute smile of three-year-old Kathy George completely charmed His Honor into buying one of the poppies being sold to aid disabled veterans. She is the daughter of Karl E. George, past commander of VFW Post 1370 in Pontiac, chairman of the drive which began at noon Thursday and ends at noon tomorrow. All proceeds will be distributed to the disabled veterans and their families.

U.S. Truck Output Hitting New High

DETROIT (AP)—U. S. truck output will hit a 1959 high of 27,223 and automobile production will total 133,619 this week, Automotive News reported.

The truck output compares with 27,011 last week and 17,903 in the corresponding 1958 week.

Record-breaking operations by Rambler and continued heavy overtime scheduling by Ford Division, the trade publication said, will offset decline in General Motors and Chrysler production this week.

This week's car output will miss last week's 133,856 by only 235 units and compares with 86,589 units in the similar 1958 week.

Canadian car and truck production this week was chopped to 8,162 units by observance of the Victoria Day holiday Monday. Canadian plants built 9,506 cars and trucks last week and 8,319 in the corresponding week a year ago.

Living Cost Returns to Record High

WASHINGTON (AP)— Living costs rose in April, climbing back to the record high reached in July and November of last year.

The government index went up two-tenths of one per cent from March to 123.9 per cent of the 1947-49 base. This matched the peak recorded in two months last year.

★ ★ ★

Announcing the figure today, the Labor Department said that rising state and local taxes helped shove up the living-cost level. Costs of transportation, medical care, recreation and personal care items all were up also.

★ ★ ★

Food, however, declined one-tenth of one per cent continuing a nine-months drop interrupted only in January.

The new living cost rise was accompanied by a Labor Department report showing the purchasing power of factory worker earnings also rose to a record level in April. The previous record was in December 1956.

Spendable earnings of factory workers—their pay less federal tax deductions—also set a record in April.

★ ★ ★

Factory worker take-home pay averaged $80.68 per week for the worker with three dependents and $73.14 for the single worker. This reflected both increased wages and premium overtime rates for extra work hours.

Spendable earnings of factory workers are now up about 10 per cent over the level last year.

★ ★ ★

Most of 1½ million workers whose pay rates are geared for a quarterly living cost adjustment based on the government index will receive no change in pay because the change for the three-month period was too small. This includes nearly a million workers in the auto and auto parts industry.

★ ★ ★

But about 160,000 workers will get a raise based on the new living cost figures. This includes one cent for 120,000 workers in Westinghouse Electric Co.; and one cent for employes of the Caterpillar Tractor Co. Chicago Transit employes will get a half a cent an hour pay increase.

The one-cent raise for the Westinghouse workers restores a one-cent cut they took in their last quarterly adjustment.

★ ★ ★

Sharp reductions in egg prices and poultry and seasonally lower prices for milk brought about the food price decline. Costs of fresh fruits and vegetables were up. Eggs in April sold at their lowest rate since April, 1946 due to abundant supplies.

It was dated, and gave the exact location. Firemen rushed from class and put out the blaze.

Hammarskjold Confers With Ike at Breakfast

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower conferred at breakfast today with Dag Hammarskjold, secretary general of the United Nations.

Hammarskjold declined to tell newsmen what he and Eisenhower discussed.

"Private talks are private talks, whether at breakfast or at dinner," the U.N. official said with a smile.

A reporter asked whether Hammarskjold feels there is any chance the U.N. will be injected into the Berlin crisis in any way. He replied that situation "is very wait-and-seeish."

With Eisenhower and Hammarskjold at breakfast were Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. ambassador to the U.N.; and Undersecretary of State C. Douglas Dillon.

Police Chief Disappears

Missing From County Seat Where Gangland Parley Probe Goes On

OWEGO, N.Y. (AP) — Police Chief Howard Branning, his wife and their young son are missing from this Tioga County seat, a center for much of the investigation of the notorious Apalachin gangland conclave.

Branning, 39, has not been seen since Monday. His wife and son John left their home by automobile Thursday.

★ ★ ★

"I don't know where the chief is," Mayor John Day said. "He certainly is missing."

On Monday, two auditors from the state comptroller's office began checking records of the Owego Police Department. The auditors would tell newsmen only that they had been ordered to examine village records.

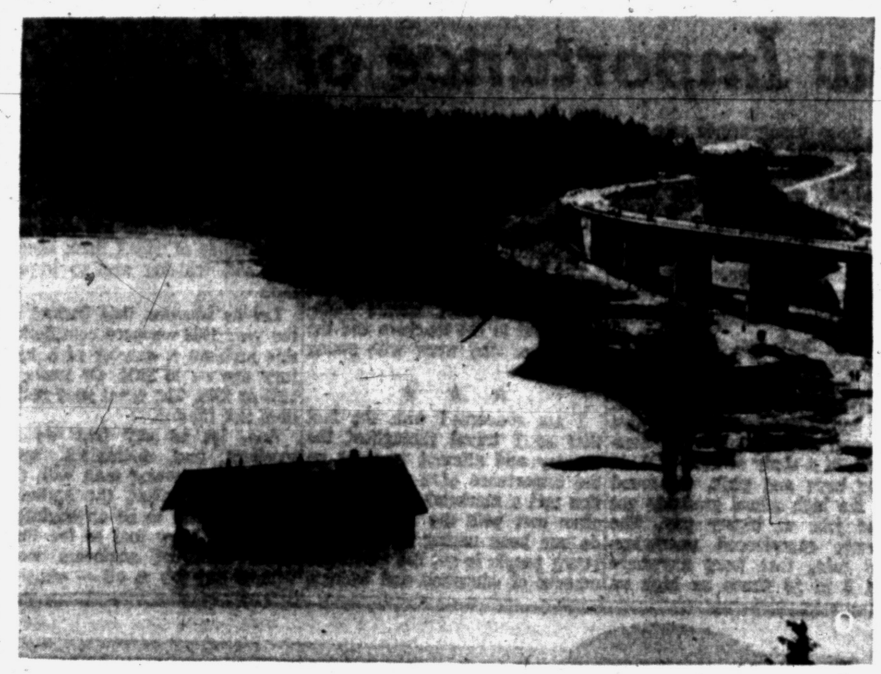

Police said Branning and a patrolman left here Monday morning to drive a new police patrol car to an Endicott garage for a checkup. The patrolman reported that the chief left the garage and said he would get another ride back to Owego. The distance is 13 miles.

★ ★ ★

His wife told a reporter she had no idea where he was.

Neighbors said Mrs. Branning, her son and a woman whom they did not know left the Branning home about midmorning. They took luggage with them, the neighbors said.

SINKING SENSATION — Slowly being swallowed up in a man-made flood, the last house in the Bavarian village of Fall, West Germany, stands in the middle of a lake that has changed the entire landscape. The villagers were moved to a new location, about a half-mile away, when their town was inundated by the new Sylvenstein reservoir, Europe's largest for the collection of melted Alpine snow. At right, a new bridge spans a narrow part of the lake.

Rainmakers to Try Experiment on Soil

EAST LANSING (AP) — Artificial rainmakers will set up shop in Michigan in July.

★ ★ ★

Headquarters will be a cornfield on the Warren Huff farm northeast of Ann Arbor.

A crew from the Agricultural Research Station at Purdue University will bring rainfall simulator equipment to cooperate with a research project being carried on by the Soil Science department at Michigan State University.

MSU researchers want to find out if their theory of minimum tillage is practical. Under the minimum tillage plan, the soil is worked just enough to permit soil germination.

★ ★ ★

This differs from conventional tillage where the soil is plowed, harrowdd and disked

The Purdue equipment will supply simulated rains of up to five inches an hour on test plots to allow scientific comparison of water runoff and soil erosion.

ADA Opposes Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Spokesmen for Americans for Democratic Action oppose extension of the government's security program to civilian employes in nonsensitive jobs. Edward Hollander, national director of ADA, told the House Civil Service Committee Thursday the security program should be confined to sensitive positions.

Why Did Playhouse 90 Have to Try a Western?

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UPI)— If there was one thing I didn't need from Playhouse 90 this season, it was 90 minutes of cows and horses and human passion in the sagebrush.

★ ★ ★

However, last night the CBS-TV showshop went thataway like everybody else this semester and whipped out a western, "Out of Dust."

I found it sluggish, strained, obvious and except for a couple of its performances, lusterless.

★ ★ ★

Uta Hage, a very solid mummer, held its creaky parts together with a hard and chunky piece of playing. She received some able support from Dick York.

★ ★ ★

Fritz Weaver, one of the larger young talents in our theater, was thrown away in a role that was so demoniac it bordered on the ludicrous.

ABC-TV's Pat Boone took a different tack last night and built his half hour around taped segments recorded at the Naval Academy at Annapolis.

★ ★ ★

Some of the early musical portions of the show—set in the yacht basin with the Annapolis Glee Club joining Boone in sea chanties — were diverting: handsomely staged and semi-rousingly sung.

It was all quite obviously pre-recorded and lip-synched, but then, this seems to be the standard practice nowadays in TV.

The rest of the show was standard inspirational type muck, but it struck me as relatively painless, perhaps because the heat has finally gotten to me and I'm too beat to complain.

THE CHANNEL SWIM: NBC-TV's Dave King pulled a 15.1 Trendex in his debut Wednesday night while CBS-TV's The Millionaire racked up an 18.6 and ABC-TV's Donna Reed a 12.0 . . . CBS-TV's Desilu Playhouse will offer two new plays this summer among its reruns — "Perilous," with Max Schell and Joan Fontaine on June 22 and "The Killer Instinct" with Rory Calhoun and Janice Rule on July 13.

"To Have and Have Not" is among the properties being considered by an automaker (Buick) for the four Ernest Hemingway dramas it'll present on CBS-TV next season . . . Bob Hope will do six one-hour shows for NBC-TV next season — among them, an overseas Christmas show if he feels well enough.

Sophia, Spouse to Test Italy's Divorce Laws

By EARL WILSON

PARIS — They met face to face in a Paris elevator: former King Umberto of Italy and Sophia Loren's husband Carlo Ponti.

"Ah, we're both exiles!" exclaimed the ex-monarch, to the film producer.

He referred to the fact that he can't go back, nor can Ponti (because of the anti-divorce laws). However, Ponti and Sophia will test the law within the next few weeks when Sophia undertakes to film "Bay of Naples" with Clark Gable right in Naples.

Ponti attorneys have prophesied that because Sophia's international stature as an actress neither she nor Ponti will be arrested.

They're still hoping in Rome that Frank Sinatra can be persuaded to play a priest in "The Fair Bride" — in which Ava Gardner is also to be starred. One producer understands that Frank will agree if Ava will personally phone him and ask him to do the picture. But so far nobody's had the courage to ask Ava to ask Frank!

An enormous convention of gypsies is held held near Marseilles. The gypsies, once famous as horse-traders, now trade Cadillacs and Rolls-Royces.

Lady Beatty, Frank Sinatra's great friend is again being romanced by handsome Jerry Herzfeld, the Miami and New York racetrack millionaire . . . Alec Guinness flew to London from Havana to discuss playing Christ in "Son of Man," which Samuel Bronston (producer of "John Paul Jones") will film in Spain. 'I handed him a blank check and told him to write in his own salary," Bronston said.

From London, where "Soloman and Sheba" is being edited, I hear that the Yul Brynner-Gina Lollobrigida movie is in the greatest DeMille tradition. Director King Vidor's reportedly combined the best in mass audience entertainment with master showmanship. It looks like the boys at U.A. will have the biggest show in town at Christmastime.

EARL'S PEARLS: If you think children don't know the value of money nowadays, try giving one of 'em a penny.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Being a husband is just like any other job—it's easier if you like your boss.

A man sighed, "Tell my wife her hair looks like a mop and she won't mind a bit—she doesn't know what a mop is." . . . That's earl, brother.

Say Activities Divide Families

Presbyterians Report Youth-Serving Agencies Crowd Out Home Life

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Many parents belonging to the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. feel that the demands of church and community tend to separate family members too much.

This was brought out in a preliminary report on a survey conducted by the Board of Christian Education of the church, issued Thursday at the 171st General Assembly of United Presbyterians.

★ ★ ★

To accomplish this, 845 parents of children under 18, in 63 congregations in cities of various sizes and rural areas, were interviewed. Questionnaires were filled out by another 1,000 parents and a like number of ministers, and the analysis of the data included consultations with theologians, psychologists and sociologists.

The report stressed that further research remains to be done, but some of its preliminary conclusions included:

Families in rural, urban and suburban areas alike complained that community and church activities scatter family members too much. Mentioned were baseball leagues for youngsters, church choirs, school clubs, PTAs, scouts, 4-H clubs and other "youth-serving agencies . . . which contribute to the rush and confusion that aroused our parents."

"Their resentment grows because in the face of these many demands on family time and energy," the report stated, "they find that tensions mount, communication deteriorates, and family freedom is crowded aside in a seemingly relentless schedule."

It added that "awkward scheduling . . . makes Sunday for some families the busiest and tensest day of all the week," and concluded that "the church itself needs to re-examine what it expects of families."

Coming Week Offers Variety

TV Shows Originating in New York Attract Springtime Visitors

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—What sounds interesting to me on network television in the coming week may not in every instance interest you.

So let's remember the shows originating in New York which seemingly thousands of springtime visitors to the city want to see.

It appears that just about every teen-ager in the country wants to see the Dick Clark Show on ABC Saturday evenings. Tomorrow guest Frankie Avalon will sing "Venus."

★ ★ ★

Equally popular with visitors of all ages is the Perry Como Show on NBC at Saturday night. Appearing with Como are Gisele MacKenzie, Dorothy Fields, Carol Hughes and ventriloquist Bob Williams.

Jack Benny offers a special hour of Comedy on CBS Saturday night, aided and abetted by Phil Silvers and Julie Andrews.

On Sunday over ABC David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers, and R. Conrad Cooper, executive vice president of U.S. Steel, will appear together on television for the first time to discuss their positions in the steel industry wage-contract negotiations.

A special hour examination of "Space—Man's Last Frontier" is visible on NBC Sunday, with leading pioneers of the space age participating.

Jack Paar returns from vacation Monday and will be visible and audible again on NBC.

Du Pont Show of the Month presents "Billy Budd" over CBS Monday night as its closing show of the season. Don Murray and Jason Robards Jr. star in this dramatization of Herman Melville's story about a young sailor on an 18th century British warship who kills a seaman who is persecuting him and then stands trial for his life.

Wednesday night on NBC is a new variety show awkwardly titled "The Kraft Music Hall Presents Dave King. King, the British comedian, is filling this spot for the summer.

Married or Not? Big Question for 105 Couples

BELVIDERE, Ill. (AP)—Are we married or not?

That's the question many of 105 couples coule be asking themselves today after it was disclosed that the man who performed their marriage ceremony was not, as they believed, a justice of the peace.

The former JP is William Freek, elected to the job hr April 2. He's held both positions since.

The attorney general handed down a ruling two weeks ago saying the jobs were incompatible and that Freek ceased being a mabistrate when he took the counsel post.

In Chicago, Ben Schwartz, first assistant attorney general, said he believed a court test on the marriages' validity would bring a ruling they were legal.

"That's a common sense opinion," he said.

State to Auction Land

LANSING (AP) — The State Highway Department auction 11 parcels of surplus land at the Redford office June 8. Most of the land consists of leftovers from purchases for John C. Lodge expressway construction.
