Batista Gives Up Fight Against Rebels, Flees Cuba

Thousands Stranded as Glaze Stops Traffic on County Roads

Mystery, Violence, Conflict Make City 'Top News' in 1958

By PETE LOCHBILER

Conflict, violence, a sensational legal fight and a super mystery combined to make Pontiac one of the nation's top news centers during 1958.

Even as the year began, the entire medical world was anxiously watching the battle between Dr. Neil H. Sullenberger and Pontiac General Hospital.

And as the year ended, there were still ominous reverberations of that day in August when Teamster leader Frank H. Kierdorf startled Pontiac and the nation with his dramatic appearance as a "human torch" victim.

The Police Department, long suffering from internal friction, received scathing criticism and there were cries that Pontiac was "a sin city," without adequate vice protection.

Strikes compounded the business recession, the fortunes of Pontiac General Hospital dipped, and Oakland County's fledgling agency — the Department of Public Works—wondered whether it could survive its first legal tests.

In capsule form, here is a review of the major news events that occurred in Pontiac during the past year:

Jan. 1 — Tragedy strikes a few hours after 1957 is over as Victoria Winfield, 2, and her infant sister, Nicholette, suffocate to death when fire hits their home, 430 Highland Ave.

—— As the year gets under way, the sensational charges against Dr. Neil H. Sullenberger are a matter of public record. Hospital director Carl I. Flath accuses the surgeon of violating professional standards in 25 cases, in six of which the patient died.

Jan. 6 — Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem and the Attorney General's office begin an investigation of the Sullenberger case, looking for possible criminal negligence.

Jan. 21 — George Wooter, 40, confesses the hit-and-run death of Mrs. Anne Gilmore, 456 Harvey Ave. Tracked down by police, Wooter is charged with leaving the scene of an accident.

Jan. 22 — Police use tear gas to flush a berserk 16-year-old boy from his home, where he had terrorized his family and held officers at bay with a shotgun.

Jan. 24 — The year's most sensational killing. The mutilated body of Mrs. Hazel Murdock, 39, is found on the kitchen floor of her home, 127 N. Josephine St., Waterford Township. She had been criminally attacked, beaten, stabbed and strangled.

Jan. 25 —Billy Ray Van Horn, 24, an alcoholic whom the Murdocks had befriended to help curb his drinking, confesses slaying Mrs. Murdock in a drunken rage.

Feb. 11 — James R. Hoffa decides to end his 3½-year trusteeship over Pontiac Teamsters Local 614.

Feb. 12 — A Pontiac postal employe 30 years, Leslie H. Dean Sr., decides to resign as acting postmaster. Robert C. Miller replaces him.

Feb. 14 — After an all-night search, the body of Gerald Thacker, 6, is found in the icy waters of the Clinton River near Utica.

Feb. 16 — A Circuit Court jury convicts Terrence McGowan, 58, of trying to dynamite his estranged wife, Mae, to death in her home, 370 S. Edith St., Nov. 15.

Feb. 20 — As a result of the recession, there are predictions Oakland County's welfare budget will go at least $1 million in the red in 1958.

Feb. 27 — The Pontiac Area United Fund announces plans to build a community services building on Franklin boulevard.

March 3 — City Commission incumbents lead challengers in primary elections in five Pontiac districts.

March 4 — The Caribou Inn, a century-old landmark in Clarkston, is gutted by fire. Police say it was arson.

—— A hung jury is unable to decide the fate of Ray Goff, released from a state mental hospital to stand trial for the 1955 Holly Township slaying of his girl friend, Mrs. Rita M. Cummings. Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty eventually dismissed the charge, freeing Goff.

March 19 — Pontiac's first urban renewal plans get tentative approval in Washington. The city gets a $90,112 federal grant for a year-long study.

March 24 — Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland upholds Oakland County in its long fight to push through the controversial Twelve Town Drain. Troy and Southfield, two communities fighting the drain, take their legal battle to the State Supreme Court.

—— After 12 months of effort by Oakland County legislators, a bill creating a fifth judgeship in Oakland County is finally approved in Lansing.

—— A rare helicopter accident claims the lives of two Bloomfield Hills men. Contractors Louis A. Garavaglia Jr., 40, and his brother, Jule, 28, die when their helicopter crashes in Center Line.

March 26 — The Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce salutes General Motors Corp. on its 50th anniversary year.

April 1 — It's no joke, the City Commission trims 43 cents off the city property tax rate, putting the 1958 rate at 13.27 mills.

April 10 — Officials acclaim the proposed downtown Pontiac loop highway, main feature of the $17,000 Barton Transportation Study, financed by downtown businessmen.

April 11 — Circuit Judge Timothy C. Quinn, of Caro, dismisses the Sullenberger suit. Judge Quinn says he is sparing Pontiac "the humiliation and degradation of open trial."

April 21 — Two incumbent Pontiac commissioners, John E. Carry and Gilbert W. Long, are defeated. Three newcomers elected to Commission.

April 26 — A ruling by Circuit Judge George B. Hartrick supports the fledgling Oakland County Department of Public Works' plans for inter-community sewer projects.

May 3 — Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson assists at groundbreaking ceremonies for the first $2 million classroom building at Michigan State University Oakland. She and her husband donated the land and money.

May 6 — The Public Administration Service (PAS) report contains blistering criticism of the Pontiac Police Department and Police Chief Herbert W. Straley.

May 7 — Van Horn is sentenced to life imprisonment. Judge Doty calls the Murdock murder "the most brutal crime in Oakland County history."

May 10 — Dr. Sullenberger appeals to the State Supreme Court and asks for a hearing by the Pontiac General Hospital Board of Trustees.

May 11 — Officials dedicate the $4,500,000 Pontiac General Hospital expansion program with the belief that it will be completed in 1958.

May 12 — With mellow spring weather drawing heavy traffic to the Oakland County countryside, five persons die in traffic accidents over the weekend.

May 18 — Pro-Hoffa forces sweep the first election held at Teamsters Local 614 in 10 years.

May 21 — Pontiac General trustees fire Flath for mismanage-

Cuban President Gives Up Fight

By LARRY ALLEN

HAVANA (AP)—President Fulgencio Batista gave up the fight against Fidel Castro's rebels today and fled to the Dominican Republic.

Batista turned over his powers to a military junta headed by Gen. Eulogio Cantillo.

The junta immediately announced to Cuba's armed forces that the oldest member of the Supreme Court had been appointed provisional president. He is Carlos Piedra.

FULGENCIO BATISTA

Cantillo said he would be in full command of the armed forces.

Batista announced that he was giving up the presidency "to save the country from further bloodshed." Castro has been fighting for 25 months to oust him.

There was no immediate comment from Castro.

Men who Batista had placed in key posts around him began resigning. Rafael Guas Inclan, Cuban vice president, quit and so did Senate President Anselmo Alliegro.

The man Batista had picked to succeed him on Feb. 24, President-elect Andres Rivero Aguero, flew off with Batista to Ciudad Trujillo, capital of the Dominican Republic. That nation is run by Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo, one of the few remaining dictators in Latin America.

★ ★ ★

They made the flight in a small plane of Aerovias Airlines. Accompanying Batista were his wife and family. He has eight children. Two sons had been in New York City but checked out of their hotel Wednesday.

Rebel supporters in Havana had circulated reports Wednesday that Batista had a plane standing by to flee.

After battling unsuccessfully to suppress Castro's rebellion for the last 25 months, Batista apparently gave up finally because of a savage battle that has been raging for four days at Santa Clara in central Cuba.

Casualties in Santa Clara have been estimated at more than 4,000. Batista reportedly was deeply concerned about these losses.

Batista had spent Wednesday evening conferring with top advisers and military leaders.

Shortly before New Year's celebrations began at midnight, Batista addressed leaders of the Cuban House and Senate at Camp Columbia, the military headquarters near Havana. He told them he felt his departure would be "for the good of everybody in the country" since it would avoid further bloodshed.

There was no immediate indication whether the rebellion would continue. Castro's forces have been fighting their first pitched battle against the government for four days at Santa Clara in central Cuba. The number of dead and wounded has been estimated at more than 4,000.

Driver Believed Cardiac Victim

Witness Saw Area Man Slump at Wheel Before Fatal Accident

A heart attack may have contributed yesterday to the Baldwin avenue crackup that took the life of an Independence Township man.

The victim was Howard D. Vanaman, 35, of 7520 Pine Knob Rd., whose car went out of control at Walton boulevard, jumping the curb and smashing into four street signs and a street light.

Oakland Highway Toll in '58 94

Vanaman, a Pontiac Motor Division employe, was pronounced dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital. He suffered head and neck injuries.

A 14-year-old boy, Robert L. Haines, of 49 E. Sheffield Ave. told police Vanaman's southbound car narrowly missed hitting him at the southwest corner of Baldwin and Walton.

Robert said he noticed the victim suddenly slump over the steering wheel of his car as he passed through the Walton boulevard intersection.

"Then the car swerved and suddenly headed right towards me," the boy said.

Police Capt. Oliver Lemeaux said that, according to friends of Vanaman, the victim suffered a heart condition.

Cars Abandoned by Hundreds; No Area Deaths

Celebrators Wait It Out in Council Rooms, Jails as Ice Fouls Driving

Freezing rain and sleet turned Oakland County roads into shambles within a few hours after the beginning of 1959.

Literally thousands of New Year's celebrators were stranded and hundreds of cars abandoned as traffic was virtually halted on side roads and slowed to a tortuous crawl on main highways.

★ ★ ★

The freeze began shortly after midnight and by late this morning was showing signs of relaxing. It might disappear with rain and above-freezing temperatures this afternoon, the weatherman said.

At least four persons died in ice snarled traffic throughout the state, but no deaths or serious accidents were reported in Pontiac or Oakland County.

Untold scores of minor collisions took place as homeward-bound autos slithered and twisted inch by inch along traffic-clogged roads.

Many persons never got home at all, chosing to wait out the night in their ice-bound cars.

Hundreds of cars were left stranded in ditches, weary Oakland County sheriff's deputies said.

There were more than 100 motorists stalled at the bottom of a hill on 14-Mile road at Halstead road. Deputies said that the line of trapped cars there stretched out to between two and three miles at 3 a.m.

Thirty cars were counted in the ditch on Wixom road from Wixom south to Charms road, a four-mile stretch.

One driver reported so many cars abandoned by the side of Telegraph road that the scene resembled "a gigantic junkyard."

Oakland County and Pontiac road crews had salted and sanded major thoroughfares such as Dixie Highway and Telegraph in the wee hours of the morning, making these arteries passable at an extremely slow pace, deputies said.

At 3:30 a.m., before M 24 was sanded, it took an hour to drive between Pontiac and Lake Orion, normally a 15-minute trip, said Deputy Raymond Pilon.

Some stranded motorists in Bloomfield Hills spent the night in the police station as guests of the city.

In Rochester, police let other drivers stay in the Village Council Hall all night.

Thousand Flee, 80 Homes Destroyed

Brush Fires Surround Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two devastating brush fires ran wild in the hills ringing Los Angeles today, forcing thousands to flee and sending scores of homes up in flames.

One fire laid waste to a 9-mile stretch of Topanga Canyon, destroying 80 homes in a terrifying surge to the sea. The other raced through the Hollywood hills to the outskirts of the rich residential community of Beverly Hills.

Both fires are believed to have been touched off by a firebug.

The leaping flames, flying embers and blinding smoke provided a nightmarish background to New Year's Eve celebrations in homes close to the fire front. Christmas lights still gleamed from expensive homes from which the occupants had fled.

City and county fire officials rushed nearly 2,000 men to the blazing areas, about 12 miles apart. The size of the battle was summed up by a smoke-grimed fire captain surveying the Topanga Canyon scene, who said, "We can't stop it. Too much wind, too low humidity, too much fire."

The Topanga Canyon blaze was the first to break out, flaring up Wednesday morning in the home-studded canyon running from the San Fernando Valley to the ocean, about 20 miles northwest of Los Angeles.

Urged on by strong, dry winds from the desert the flames raced at incredible speed. Residents barely had time to throw a few belongings in their cars and join the confused, jumbled stream of evacuees.

An estimated 4,000 people were evacuated from the canyon.

An evacuation center set up at Topanga Canyon Elementary School was quickly jammed.

After its first rush to the ocean the fire turned west and moved toward another thickly populated canyon.

Baby Checks In at 1:41; Is First Reported in '59

With a vigorous cry, Patrick Francis Baldwin today made his bid to be Pontiac's first baby of 1959.

The seven-pound, 12-ounce boy was born to Mrs. James M. Baldwin at 1:41 a.m. in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Both baby and mother are doing fine, the hospital said.

Mrs. Baldwin, 28, has four other children. The Baldwins live at 467 N. Perry St.

Business Looks Good for Pontiac in New Year

(Editor's Note: Below is the business and financial forecast for 1959 for Pontiac area and the country, written by Roger W. Babson, business writer, economist, and statistician.)

By ROGER W. BABSON

Business in Pontiac, during 1958 was, of course, adversely affected by the recession, especially as it applied to the automotive industry.

Looking ahead into 1959, however, I am quite optimistic about business for your locality.

It would not surprise me at all, in fact, if general activity during the new year were to average as much as 10% above the levels of 1958.

This would mean a considerably greater recovery in Pontiac than I expect for business throughout the nation.

The chief reason for my favorable prediction is my expectation of a far better year for automobile and truck production in 1959.

★ ★ ★

While my sentiment concerning the automobile outlook is less glowing than that of some of the automotive officials, I do feel that approximately 1,000,000 more cars may be turned out in the new year than in 1958.

As for trucks, their production should be upped by as much as 20-25 per cent, reflecting both increased farm income and a mounting expansion of extensive roadbuilding programs.

Some of your other enterprises may well surpass 1958 in the new year: Rubber products, dairy products, iron products, electric power, and retail sales (including groceries, variety marts, and department stores).

A few other items should just about match 1958 totals: Trailers, paint, varnish, lacquer, resort business, commercial building, public construction, and home building. Wage rates will edge somewhat higher as a result of productivity raises in the automobile field and union pressure in other lines.

Local living costs will move mostly sidewise in 1959, with most gains in certain categories being offset by declines in others.

Employment, generally, will be more stable in the new year than it was in 1958, although it will take quite a surge of recovery to cut back unemployment to pre-recession levels.

Here is my forecast for 1959:

1. Not too good and not too bad. Both the boom and the recent recession will be awaiting developments following the recent November elections.

2. 1959 will be a "do nothing" year for Congress. Both parties will hold their cards close to their chests until 1960—when the Republicans will want good business. Most Democrats will vote for most of the inflationary legislation; but only a few of these Congressmen will vote for such legislation over the President's veto.

The Democrats will be in a dilemma. In their hearts they will not want good business in 1960; but they must be very careful not to do anything which could be held against them in 1960.

Every act of Rockefeller's and other leading presidential candidates of both parties will be carefully scrutinized to analyze their vote-getting possibilities for 1960. We will comment on these possibilities in our Forecast for 1960 a year from now.

3. So long as Russia is fearful of China's loyalty, she will not intentionally start a shooting war. I hope that Chiang Kai-shek will come to his senses so that China will become an ally of the United States. Marshall surely bet on the "wrong horse" when he made his report to Truman.

4. Our national budget will show a heavy deficit in 1959. This and other factors should cause a continued gradual, although not dangerous, inflation.

5. Serious competition will continue at all levels in 1959. Manufacturers, merchants, and others who reduce advertising and other selling appropriations will surely suffer.

6. Despite competition, the profits squeeze will be eased for many concerns by strenuous cost-cutting programs and improving business.

7. More foreign goods will enter the United States during 1959. This especially applies to German, Italian, Japanese, and Russian goods.

8. New cargo ships, built in Japan, England, Germany, Norway, Sweden, and Italy, will be launched in 1959. This should result in most American-built and American-registered ships operating at a loss.

9. Failures may not increase during 1959. Some big corporation, now listed in the Dow-Jones Averages, may get in financial difficulties.

10. Federal cost-of-living figures will be disputed in 1959. Labor rates and wages which have been tied to the Federal Tables will be disputed by both Labor and Management.

11. On the basis of the above statements, I forecast, on the average, no wide change in 1959 for commodity prices. The recent recession is not over. Russia is still fighting us with an economic war.

12. There will be more strikes and labor troubles in 1959 than in 1958. Due to fear of unfavorable labor legislation and poor business conditions, labor leaders were on their good behavior in 1958.

13. It is now difficult to forecast the unemployment situation for 1959. Owing to the increase of automation, working forces will continue to be cut. Looking ahead to the elections of 1960, manufacturers, who are mostly Republicans, will want no more serious unemployment to occur.

14. Many plans for expansion of plants were postponed during 1958 for fear of a real depression. Some of these plans will be executed in 1959, although on a more moderate scale.

There will be a need for continued economic readjustment in 1959; but the playing of politics by both parties may temporarily postpone it.

15. 1959 will not see any marked change in money rates. However, borrowers who have not established good credit will continue to find it difficult to get new funds in 1959.

16. This means that it should be more difficult, on average, to sell long-term bonds in 1959 than in 1958. Buy only non-callable serial bonds or bonds of reasonably short maturities.

17. The supply of non-taxable state, municipal, and revenue bonds will increase during 1959. This will be due both to less readily available credit and to rising needs of municipalities.

18. The "fly in the ointment" will be the uncertainty of the Federal policy regarding the new $30,000,000,000 roadbuilding program. Will it compete with or protect toll roads recently built? I believe this program will not harm outstanding turnpike bonds.

19. Many investors will switch from stocks into bonds in 1959, thus obtaining both higher income and better security.

20. As inflation becomes more serious, only short-term bonds issues—other than convertible bonds—should be held to maturity. Bonds should no longer be considered good "permanent" investments unless they are non-taxable or convertible on a reasonable basis.

21. The best investment policy during 1959 will continue to be a well-diversified portfolio — of stocks, short-term bonds, and cash. Every conservative investor will keep one-third of his portfolio liquid, to have funds available in case of a sudden very severe drop in the stock market. This will come some day.

22. As the 1958 Congress has not accomplished more in correcting abuses in the Teamsters Union, the 1959 Congress will do little to improve the labor situation. Therefore, invest in companies which will not be subject to strikes. Banks and utilities probably are the most nearly immune.

23. The Taft-Hartley Act will not be amended nor will labor's exemption from anti-monopoly laws be removed until after the 1960 election. Labor leaders will get more and more power until with Russia's help—they bring on a real depression.

24. Due to unemployment and the difficulty of borrowing funds for installing automation (automatic factories), the machinery industry will continue quiet during 1959.

25. I now see no probability that either wages or retail prices will be "fixed" during 1959 unless Russia threatens World War III.

26. Most wageworkers will be more efficient during 1959, which should enable some managements to increase their productivity and profits.

27. Executives will attend more strictly to business during 1959, reducing time spent on luncheon clubs, golf, etc.

28. Good building land on the proper side of growing cities will continue to increase in price notwithstanding a decline in suburban building. Small farmers holding such land should not now sell.

29. Small farms without any suburban possibilities may well consider selling to adjoining farmers if offered a fair price in 1959.

30. Large commercial farms with latest machinery should prosper during 1959; but small farmers may not do so well.

31. Pending a serious war, there will be no radical change in the Government's farm policy during 1959.

32. With less fear of serious war, the real estate situation in the larger cities may improve; but municipal taxes will increase.

33. Some suburban houses now owned by well-paid executives will come on the market in 1959, due to loss of positions or moves to other sections of the country.

34. Real estate mortgage money will be tighter in 1959 than in 1958. Furthermore, due to inflation, it will be worth less when due.

35. The demand for motels is largely satisfied; but there will be an increasing demand for very modern apartment houses—especially of the cooperative type. Old houses of all kinds will depreciate during 1959.

36. Woodland will continue to be in demand during 1959. This especially applies now to pine, which is used for the best lumber, and to spruce, which is used for pulp. Hold woodland in 1959.

37. More Russian imports of pulpwood may be expected in 1959; but this should largely be offset by the increased domestic demand for cartons and packages for shipping and displaying merchandise.

38. Both timber and oil reserves of Canada will gradually increase in value. I am bullish on many Canadian and African investments.

39. The greatest factor in determining the price of city land and businesses in general is the automobile and availability of parking space. This is responsible for both the boom in suburban real estate and the decline of city property. Buying city real estate without nearby parking facilities is a great mistake.

40. I was wrong in my forecast a year ago as to the Dow-Jones Averages. Although many stocks sell lower today than a year ago, the Dow-Jones Averages—especially the Industrials—sell higher. However, I will again run the risk and forecast that they will sell lower sometime in 1959 than they do today.

41. My forecast of the bond market for 1958 was correct. I am inclined now to reverse that forecast in the case of long-term non-convertible corporate bonds—that is, they should sell for less sometime in 1959 than they are selling for today.

42. I continue to forecast that high-grade, cumulative, non-callable first preferred stocks will sell higher sometime during 1959 than they do today.

43. I repeat what I said last year regarding "cheap" stocks: "The large fortunes made in the stock market have come from buying non-dividend paying common stocks at $5.00 a share or under. There will be the first to reach a buying level." If you are to buy these low priced common stocks, you should seek companies without too much prior debt or cumulative preferred stock outstanding. They are the best common stocks for "capital gains."

44. Convertible bonds should hold up fairly well during 1959.

45. The best investment policy for 1959 is for one now to have a good bank account so funds will be available to buy bargains when a sufficient break comes in stocks, bonds, real estate, and commodities.

46. There will be many failures in hastily organized electronics, nuclear, and similar companies during 1959.

47. With two or three exceptions, railroad stocks should be avoided during 1959 and until a definite long-range program of government aid is assured.

48. For steady income and fair marketability, well-established utility stocks should be the best for conservative investors not looking for profit. This especially applies to cumulative first preferred non-callable utility stocks.

49. The three handicaps to American business are the fear of inflation, the fear of union labor leaders, and the fear of President Eisenhower's physical collapse.

50. The three hopes for America are our churches, our schools, and a desire to "pay as you go!" For these to function properly we must depend upon the parents of our nation.

Thousands Stranded as Ice Glazes Roads

Slick sidewalks proved another danger. Pontiac hospitals reported scores of persons injured in falls.

Dozens of persons had been treated for falls at Pontiac General Hospital by 9 a.m. and four others were admitted with broken legs or arms.

Deputies, receiving hundreds of minor accident calls last night, put three telephone operators onto a shift that normally needs but one.

Deputies' cars had to be hauled out of ditches at least three times, and wreckers themselves were reported stalled.

"It was absolutely the worst night for traffic I have experienced," said veteran Sheriff's Dept. Sgt. Herbert Dolby.

Pontiac police reported at least 40 accident calls between midnight and 8 a.m. "We simply couldn't handle them all. We were flooded," Sgt. Carl Colando said.

Two of the traffic deaths occurred in Detroit. Dorothy Meyer, 49, of Detroit, was killed by a hit-run driver on Grand River avenue. Patricia Rahim, 14, of Detroit, became the New Year's first fatality when she was thrown out of a skidding car into the path of an oncoming vehicle.

William L. Miracle, 28, of Rockwood, died in a truck-car collision on U. 24 in Monroe County. Dolores J. Nelson, 16, of Grand Blanc, was killed when hit by a car while walking along Center road in Grand Blanc.

Offering only a little hope of thaw, the Weather Bureau warned of hazardous driving conditions during the day throughout the Lower Peninsula. Ice covered roads south of a line between Bay City and Ludington. Snow clogged roads north of that.

Rain this afternoon and temperatures between 32 and 38 degrees may be followed by snow or snow flurries, the Weather Bureau said.

Friday will be mostly cloudy with scattered snow flurries, it was predicted. Tonight's low was forecast at 25-30 degrees and tomorrow's high at 28-35.

The Day in Birmingham

Local YMCA Sets Sights on 1,250 Members in '59

BIRMINGHAM—A goal of 1,250 members has been set for the 1959 membership drive of the Birmingham YMCA.

★ ★ ★

Olin Lanchester, 'Y' secretary, said that the month of January will be devoted to recruiting volunteers for the drive. The drive itself will open in February under the chairmanship of Harold Kalbfleisch.

Manchester also announced the start of a new Fun Club for boys and girls, 7 and 8 years old, beginning Jan. 10. There are openings for a few more members, he said.

Groups will be of 10 to 15 each, and activities will include games, crafts, a meeting period and some special events such as movies. The clubs will meet each Saturday.

★ ★ ★

A special training period for expectant parents will open at the local office of the Oakland County Health Dept. shortly.

Registration for the classes will be held Monday from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. at the office, 151 W. Martin St. Classes are limited to 26 persons.

★ ★ ★

Women's Fellowship of the Congregational Church of Birmingham will have its annual meeting, election and installation of officers at 12:30 p.m. Tuesday at the church. Reservations must be made by Monday noon for the luncheon.

Marie Crosby, a missionary from Angola, Africa, will speak and show slides on her work there.

Mrs. Stanley Todd

Service for Mrs. Stanley (Grace Ford) Todd, 71, of 884 Pierce St., will be held at 1 p.m. Saturday from the Manley Bailey Funeral Home. Burial will be in Roseland Park Cemetery, Royal Oak.

Mrs. Todd died yesterday at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac, after a long illness.

A native of Birmingham and former teacher at Poppleton Elementary School in Troy, she was born in her family home, situated in what is now Shain Park.

Surviving are a son, James F. of Bloomfield Hills; two brothers, Gerald and Elmer Ford of Troy, and five grndchildren.

Mrs. Carl F. Sitta

Service for Mrs. Carl F. (Alma Harger) Sitta of 1888 Oak Dr. will be held at 4 p.m. tomorrow in the Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co. Burial will be in Evergreen Cemetery, Detroit.

Mrs. Sitta died yesterday in Raeburn Nursing Home, Bloomfield Hills.

She was a member of St. James Episcopal Church in Birmingham.

Surviving are her husband, a son, Charles J.; and four grandchildren, all of Birmingham.

Connecticut are the smallest states in the Union.

All Gummed Up

ATLANTA, Ga. (UPI)—Things were pretty messy yesterday after a fire at a vending machine supply house. The blaze melted 200,000 balls of bubble gum.

Armament Instructor Turns to Violin Making

DENVER (AP) — M. Sgt. Lester L. James, an armament instructor at the Air Force Academy, turns from weapons to music in his off-duty hours.

He makes violins, some of which have sold for as much as $500. James said it takes two months to make a fiddle, but the varnishing is the tedious part. It takes eight more months for the many coats of varnish to dry.

The 195 census showed California then had 4,922,000 more residents than counted in the 1940 census.

2 Groups Work Together on Car Exhaust Problem

WASHINGTON (AP) — The automobile industry and the public health service have agreed to work closely on research aimed at reducing air pollution by auto exhaust gases.

Secretary of Welfare Arthur S. Flemming said yesterday an agreement reached about 10 days ago provides for the health service to concentrate on the effects.

The industry will concentrate on development engineering looking toward effective devices to reduce auto exhausts.

It was also agreed there will be close liaison between the public health service and the industry, so the industry will be in position to direct its efforts toward such specific problems as a public service may develop in the course of its research," Flemming said.

The secretary issued a statement saying: "The ordeals to which the people of Los Angeles have been subjected during recent smog episodes are matters of deep concern to the department.

* * *

In reply to questions he told a news conference he issued the statement because of editorial comment and comment by Los Angeles civic leaders that we were not pressing as vigorously as we should in this field."

He said he had been very much impressed with what he called the vigorous way in which the public health service was pushing air pollution control within the limits of its resources and authority.

The secretary said the service under an agreement worked out last June with California and Los Angeles officials is expending more than $250,000 for a variety of studies. These are being conducted by the Los Angeles air pollution control district and investigators at the University of Southern California and the College of Medical Evangelists.

* * *

Also highly trained personnel have been assigned to assist in the studies and to help the district develop a series of technical manual and reports, he said.

Pond Is Expensive Job With Gas Line Broken

MAYSVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Thomas Rudy was blown off his bulldozer while constructing a pond.

It wasn't the wind, but a gush of natural gas caused when Rudy's dozer broke a 6-inch high pressure gas line.

The gas continued to roar for three hours before workmen shut it off.

Judge Refuses Favors While Grand Jury Sits

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Pleased at his treatment on a minor traffic charge, motorist O. Elmer Dieson told Traffic Judge Tom Bergin:

"I'd like to give you a nice dish of strawberries from my garden, or some sweet corn when it's ripe."

"Heavens no," declined his honor, "the grand jury might get after me."

More Demand for Oil Seen

Experts Predict 4 Pct. Rise for '59; Optimistic About Foreign Demand

NEW YORK (UPI) — Oil men expect the demand for petroleum in the U. S., which burns roughly half the oil consumed in the Free World, to rise four to five per cent during 1959.

★ ★ ★

After that, they look for demand increases to level of at about three per cent annually to meet anticipated rises in industrial activity, population and the number of cars and trucks on the road.

During 1958, domestic demand continued to go up—as it has in every post-war year—but by only two per cent, against the four to five per cent annual rate of increase in the post-war decade.

Oil men were most optimistic in discussing foreign demand prospects. There they foresee growth at three times the U. S. rate.

Where they are least optimistic is in the field of public relations. Frank M. Porter, president of the American Petroleum Institute, says here the outlook is "the worst I have seen in 42 years of association" with the industry.

Only a solid front of opinion and action, he says, can save the 27½ per cent depletion allowance, stop the "twisting of anti-trust laws against the industry and prevent increased Federal gasoline taxes as a means of shoring up the highway trust fund."

The depletion allowance is a tax concession enacted in 1926 to stimulate the search for oil. It permits an oil and gas producer to deduct 27½ per cent of his gross income from a producing property with the restriction that it may not amount to more than half the net income from the property.

In an attempt to counter a possible anti-business trend, the Gulf Oil Corp. announced plans last September to take an increasingly active role in practical politics.

Price prospects for petroleum products started improving in mid-1958 as inventories came more into balance and demand swung upward.

★ ★ ★

However, J. C. Donnell II, president of Ohio Oil Co., says domestic crude oil prices in 1959 will continue to come under pressure from great supplies of petroleum being developed overseas.

The average U. S. crude oil price already has been shaved from $3.10 in October, 1957, to around $3 currently.

To help out domestic producers the government has been imposing voluntary import quotas. However, despite these quotas, imports in 1958 amounted to roughly 10 per cent of domestic production, against about six per cent 10 years ago.

Many oil men believe that because of prospective increases in petroleum demand both in the U. S. and abroad, present import restrictions may be unnecessary later than 1965.

Army Band Serenades Marshall

PINEHURST, N. C. (AP)—They sang "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia" Wednesday for this resort community's most famous citizen.

Gen. George C. Marshall, ill and abed, listened intently as a military band from nearby Ft. Bragg and relatives and friends played and sang the old ballad outside Marshall's window.

★ ★ ★

Marshall celebrated his 78th birthday. Several dropped by to visit, including his step-daughter and her husband, their three children, and other close friends.

★ ★ ★

The former Army chief of staff, secretary of state and secretary of defense, who has spent much of his time abed in recent months, was in good spirits.

Mrs. Marshall relayed the song request to the band. It is one of the general's favorites.

Las Vegas Gambler Has Tongue Severed

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Police say that a Las Vegas, Nev., gambling dealer whose tongue is severed may have information about the slaying of San Diego tavern owner Tony Mirabile.

★ ★ ★

Officers say that Robert L. Womach, 25, was brought to a hospital Wednesday by a friend, Joseph Paul Alcorn of Reno. Alcorn said Womach stumbled into a Tijuana, Mexico, bar early Wednesday bleeding from the mouth.

★ ★ ★

Alcorn was booked on suspicion of mayhem but he denied he had anything to do with Womach's injury. A physician said about 1½ inches of Womach's tongue was cut off. Womach was under heavy sedation and police said he has not been able to give them written answers to questions.

3 Children Killed as Home Burns

Father's Rescue Try in Vain in Washington State Fire

QUILCENE, Wash. (AP)—Fire roared explosively through a one-story frame house here Wednesday night, burning to death three children, two girls and a boy.

The three victims, children of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Smith, were Jacqueline, 7; Gordon, 5, and Billie, 4.

Smith, 33, a logger, suffered first degree burns attempting to rescue his children from the blazing home.

★ ★ ★

Another Smith child, Bennie, 10, was awakened by the flames and was able to fight his way out of the small house.

Smith and his wife, Ella, were visiting neighbors about half a block away when the fire broke out.

Car, Bus Collide, 2 Die, 13 Hurt

Indiana Head-On Crash Kills Pair in Auto, Bus Driver Injured

SHOALS, Ind. (AP)—An automobile and a Greyhound bus collided head-on on U. S. 50 east of Loogootee Wednesday night, killing two occupants of the car and injuring the bus driver, 11 of the 36 bus passengers and a third occupant of the car.

All of the bus passengers were dismissed after treatment.

Dead were Eugene W. Freedman, 23, who was decapitated, and Charles E. Sehr, 18, whose neck was broken. Both lived at nearby Dubois.

The third occupant of the car, James L. Freedman, 22, Dubois, was reported in serious condition in Daviess County Hospital at Washington, Ind.

The bus driver, William A Chaddok, 46, Cincinnati, suffered scalp lacerations and other injuries and was taken to the hospital.

1959 Prospects Look Bright After Three Declining Years

Let's pause on the newest day of the newest year and appraise the situation in the Pontiac area.

Going back to 1955, we saw the greatest automotive year of all time and most businesses in this area went along accordingly. Then 1956 dropped a shade behind; and 1957 slipped a bit rearward in relation to 1956. Finally, we just closed 1958 and most business firms in this general area ran behind 1957.

That gave most of us three declining years in a row.

★ ★ ★

Now as we get our first glimpse of 1959, we're inclined to believe that this year will see the downward slide definitely checked and a leisurely movement the other way. We base that largely on the optimistic predictions at the GMC Truck and Coach Division and on current sales of Pontiac automobiles. They're running nicely ahead of last year. Things aren't as clearly defined at Fisher Body, but most of us are hopeful.

★ ★ ★

For some inexplicable reason, lots of people feel the nation's economic picture should always move in one direction. This has never been true in the past and we doubt whether it will be in the future.

★ ★ ★

Still, the local prospects for 1959 are definitely on the upward side. We don't base these thoughts on hopes, but upon the current performance of our largest industries.

★ ★ ★

Then too, we should see Michigan State University Oakland open in September. "Our college with an enrollment of 750 is worth about an even million dollars a year to the community," stated a banker in another Michigan city. And MSUO should pass that figure in the fall of 1960. The predicted opening in September of 1959 is around 600.

★ ★ ★

There will be a lot of money in circulation in 1959. But no one guarantees you a single cent and you will have to dig in personally and make the grade on your own initiative. The competition is tremendous — not only in your own line but from everyone else as well. Remember, the man to whom you plan to sell a new suit of clothes may find a new set of golf clubs that take the cake — and your suit money. This idea can be multiplied indefinitely as the world's offerings today are so complex. This is a tremendous competitive era.

★ ★ ★

This promises to be an interesting and exciting year. It ought to produce a barrel of thrills in a dozen ways. Look at science. Look at travel. Look at the inventions. Look at all the grand people there are for you to know and enjoy.

Expect the unexpected.

Three cheers for 1959.

Indonesia Drifts Along While Sukarno Orates

"We do not want to discuss compensation for the properties seized from the Dutch unless The Netherlands Government starts negotiations for the return of Western Guinea," President SUKARNO said recently.

On the heels of this comes word that the Indonesian parliament has adopted a bill to nationalize Dutch holdings taken over in December, 1957. Parliament defeated an amendment by the opposition Catholic and Masjuni Moslem parties to restrict the nationalization to enterprises classed as vital to the country's economy.

★ ★ ★

A year ago the Indonesians took over control of Dutch plantations, banks and other firms valued at $1.5 billion. The new nationalization law makes no provision for compensation, in effect it is confiscation.

★ ★ ★

President SUKARNO is doing nothing to provide representative and progressive government. General elections scheduled for next year have been postponed until 1960. No effort has been made to remove legitimate causes of the civil war. These stem from the feeling of the people of the other islands that they produce the wealth of Indonesia and Java spends it.

★ ★ ★

Ignoring these complaints SUKARNO tours the country hailing the successful revolt against the Dutch and demanding that Irian (West New Guinea) be handed over to Indonesia.

Ever since Indonesia became free after World War II, Sukarno has been its leader. He has had every opportunity to help his country economically and politically. Instead he is wasting his time around the islands shouting about Irian while Indonesia flounders along ignoring International law and mismanaging its economy.

★ ★ ★

Like many others SUKARNO talks eloquently of democracy but he is doing nothing to implement it in his country. The people claim, and with justification, that they have been ignored politically and economically.

The Man About Town

Extends Greetings

Man About Town Wishes All Happiness During '59

1959: What you've already written 1958.

As 1959 begins I extend thanks to all who have helped make this column interesting during the closing year. They have made it readable.

It was their items that kept it going. I simply put them together. A long suffering and charitable employer of mine also has put up with a lot from me. If it wasn't for my contributors, I wouldn't have the job.

During the year 3,500 qualified for my verbal orchids, 5,500 entered my baseball and football contests, my freckle contest at the 4-H fair had 34 entries, and a few thousand more entered the column in other ways.

Keep up the good work and you'll keep up my job. Anything in the unusual makes good reading. The humbler the home, the more I want the item. Theirs is the only language I know.

One year hence the person whom I consider has been my best helper gets a complimentary dinner, for the whole family at our favorite dining place. So keep the pithy items coming, and sharpen your appetite.

We made this same offer one year ago today, and it has been an extreme pleasure to dine with

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Heintzelman,

she being in charge of The Pontiac Press office at Drayton Plains, and with that rare ability to recognize news when she sees it.

The 22nd birthday of a shepherd dog of

"Oh, Come On — I Made It"

But U.S. to Lose $42 Million Revenue

Sales Tax Changes Benefit Many

WASHINGTON (AP) — In 1959, about 200 changes in federal excise taxes go into effect. The government figures to lose 42 million dollars a year in revenue as a result.

The average American won't notice much difference since 42 million is a fraction of the 8½ billion dollars which Uncle Sam expects to collect this year in excises, or sales taxes as they are sometimes called.

★ ★ ★

Here is a summary of some of the more important revisions:

Admissions taxes—The first $1 charged for admission to theaters, ball parks, lectures, etc., will be tax exempt. The 10 per cent admissions tax will apply only to any amount above $1. Formerly tickets costing 90 cents or less were tax exempt, but the full price of more expensive tickets was taxed.

★ ★ ★

Luggage and jewelry taxes — Congress has eliminated broad definitions of items taxable at 10 per cent and substituted lists of specific articles subject to tax. This levy is assessed at the retail level.

★ ★ ★

Cabaret tax—Milk bars of the sort frequented by teenagers are now exempt. Formerly the 20 per cent tax applied to all establishments serving food or drink and providing entertainment or dancing.

Documentary stamp taxes—The basis for taxing securities and other documents and stock transfers has been revised. In the case of securities, the tax formerly was based on the par value. Henceforth it will be based on their market value.

Amusement and gambling devices tax — The revision extends the assessment to all such devices, no matter how they are operated.

Wagering tax—the 10 per cent excise on wagers will also apply to runners who merely act as couriers.

★ ★ ★

Club dues—Special assessments levied against members of country clubs and similar organizations to finance capital improvements have been exempted from the 20 per cent tax.

★ ★ ★

Broad exemptions — Privately operated swimming pools, bathing beaches, skating rinks, and other places for physical exercise will hereafter be exempt from federal admission taxes.

Exemption from federal excises, such as those on telephone bills, is extended to all nonprofit schools and universities.

The Country Parson

"Juvenile delinquency seems to stick with people right on into their second childhood."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Try Breathing Exercise, Walk to Aid Circulation

It is fine for the traffic cop on fixed post, the machine tender, the salesclerk or other person who has to stand for hours at his job to take the load off his feet for a minute every hour, provided he doesn't merely shift the load to his ischial tuberosities.

DR. BRADY

Sitting down or even lying down is not the best antidote for the stasis or passive congestion or stangnation of circulation produced by prolonged standing. Much better stand on your head or ride an imaginary bicycle upside down.

One who knows how to breathe (if you don't it will cost you 35c and a stamped, returned envelope for Little Lesson 21, How to Breathe) and practices the natural or belly breathing exercise regularly upon retiring and just before rising is bound to acquire better posture and better circulation too.

If you feel that the price of Little Lesson 21 is pretty steep, I'll tell you what I'll do: Just send me a stamped envelope bearing your address and ask for special booklet No. 17, which tells you how to use nature's own tranquilizer, belly breathing.

In order to cultivate, judge or criticize posture, you must have a practical conception of what constitutes good posture. I'm afraid ninnyhammers generally believe it means pull in your "stomach" and push out your chest. The tin soldier caricature of ham actors.

IT'S EASY!

Never mind your "stomach." Never mind your chest expansion, if any. To cultivate good posture all you need to remember is to keep your chin tucked inside of your imaginary high collar and keep trying to touch an imaginary high ceiling with the crown, not the top of your head. Try this and you'll find your whole body automatically assumes a position of vigor and alertness.

People who stand for hours at work need to get the load off their feet by sitting or lying down for a while after they have finished a stint of work.

But even more they need to get the load off their veins, especially those veins which often dilate or bulge under the sheer weight of the column of blood they have to support, and this weakening, stretching and enlargement, or swelling of veins is (1) in the legs varicose veins; (2) in the scrotum, varicocele; and (3) in the lining of the last two inches of the intestine, hemorrhoids or piles.

To prevent development of any of these three vein conditions a brisk walk of one to three miles morning and evening is always better than just flopping into chair or bed for a rest after the day's work.

CASE A-416: Jennifer J., aged 16, is writing a school essay.

"Dr. Crane, I have some questions for you," she began, "and I need the answers to help me with my term paper.

DR. CRANE

"For example, just what is the difference between a psychiatrist and a psychologist?

"And what is a psychoanalyst? Are they all different or could one man be all three?"

★ ★ ★

A psychiatrist is the most obvious of the three for he is automatically a physician, holding the M. D. degree.

But instead of specializing in surgery or children's diseases or obstetrics, he focuses on diseases of the nervous system and brain.

The other two classifications are not as easy to define precisely in our modern society.

You can be a psychologist without ever having gone to college. And the same thing is equally true regarding the psychoanalyst.

A star salesman is a good example of an accomplished practical psychologist.

An understanding mother who probes the motives of her children and uncovers their secret phobias, is likewise a good psychoanalyst.

But in general, we mean that a psychologist is a trained person who earns his living by the practice of psychology.

This includes the psychology teachers, usually holding an M. A. or a Ph. D. degree, plus the Clinical and Consulting Psychologists who develop tests and training programs for industry.

Out in California I have seen neon signs advertising their owner as Psychoanalyst.

There was no indication that such a person had attained a doctor's degree, either in medicine or any other scientific field.

On the other hand, a psychoanalyst may be a highly trained scientist who holds an M. D. degree or a Ph. D. degree.

TRIPLET DOCTORS

On the surface, therefore, you cannot be sure how much official college education any one of the three possesses with the exception of the psychiatrist.

He MUST hold an M. D. degree. The others may or may not have a comparable type of college degree.

And the same man can occasionally hold two or even three of those titles.

★ ★ ★

For example, I started out as an official, teaching psychologist with a Ph.D. degree and five years' work as Research Psychologist for the National Research Council and the Carnegie Institution of Washington, D. C.

Then I decided to earn my M. D. degree to help add authority to my newspaper writing and counselling.

So I exchanged my teaching load at Evanston with some of my professorial colleagues on our night campus in downtown Chicago.

Thus, I attended Medical School all day and taught as much as four hours per night in our evening school.

And I employ psychoanalysis in my work, so I could likewise be called a Psychoanalyst.

★ ★ ★

But most specialists in the realm of the mind or brain are either psychiatrists or psychologists.

Never let such high sounding titles prevent you from employing your own keen observation and your "horse sense," for you can be an expert at getting along with people without ever holding any college degree.

Post Office Personnel Say Thanks for Cooperation

All Pontiac postal personnel wish to acknowledge the excellent cooperation of the public throughout the recent Christmas rush, and for the year of 1958.

★ ★ ★

Because our patrons mailed early, separating local mail from that for out of town, and their use of pressure sensitive tape to make bundles, a great many man hours were saved. With our Santa Claus Station in front of the Courthouse, the Miracle Mile parcel post station and the new facilities on West Huron Street, we were able to serve the public faster and more efficiently than ever before.

★ ★ ★

But there were times when patience was required of our patrons and they gave us every possible consideration. So we say thanks a million and a Happy New Year to all.

Notre Dame Topic Brings Responses

Under the new setup, Notre Dame can probably buy and sell players to the pro teams.

Just Curious

I agree with the editorial in Saturday's Press about Notre Dame. One writer said winning wouldn't be enough but they'd have to win 40 to 0 to satisfy the bloodthirsty group that kicked Brennan out. Why don't they put Notre Dame in the pro football league in place of Green Bay? Then the rich alumni could trade and buy nothing but league All Stars.

Whoopee

In a few years they'll have so many costly football players at Notre Dame they can put one team in the Big Ten, one in the West Coast League, one in the Southern Conference and then let the ones that are left in the eastern Ivy League.

Welland

Notre Dame's new professional coach said Notre Dame would "have a professional offense." Also a professional defense, professional kicking team, professional receiving team, professional scouts and union contracts.

Chiang Calls Commune Nothing but Slave Camp

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — The Chinese Communists by means of communes have created an unprecedented slave system, President Chiang Kai-shek said tonight. His New Year's message described life on the mainland as "nothing short of hell itself," and called for sabotage of the communes.

Chiang said his Nationalist government in 1959 will do its utmost to take over the mainland. He expressed confidence in "a supreme effort against the despotic reign of slavery."

★ ★ ★

Under the commune system, mainland peasants are being regimented into communities where their working, eating and general living conditions are under central control.

Chiang described the Communists' effort as a means of "continuing their tyrannical control by starvation, collective imprisonment and ruthless regimentation."

The life of the mainland people "has become so degraded that it can hardly be described by the term 'concentration camps'; in fact it is nothing short of hell itself," he said.

★ ★ ★

"We have reason to believe that if the Chinese Communists cannot enlarge their war of aggression and break the stalemate in the Taiwan (Formosa) strait they will not be able to increase pressure on the people and push through the commune system.

"Conversely if they fail to carry out the commune system the Communists will not be able to augment their war potential for the purpose of invading Taiwan and averting the ultimate defeat that is in store for them."

★ ★ ★

He said mainland Chinese "either in active revolts or in passive resistance will sabotage the 'people's commune' movement, destroy puppet organizations and engage the Chinese Communists in a war of attrition."

Feud Reported Within NLRB

Internal Dispute Over Policies, Personnel Not Confirmed or Denied

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON (AP)—An internal row over policies and handling of personnel is reported to have broken out between the five-man National Labor Relations Board and the board's general counsel, Jerome D. Fenton.

The principals declined either to confirm or to deny the reports, but other sources said a feud has reached such proportions that board members have detailed their complaints to the White House.

★ ★ ★

They reportedly have said in effect that they cannot further get along with Fenton.

There have been reports in recent weeks that Fenton may resign and take a position in the Defense Department where he was security director in 1955-57.

Fenton formerly was associated with the Detroit law firm of Secretary of the Army Wilber Brucker and for more than a decade was assistant vice president for personnel for Pan American World Airways.

Board members declined to comment on the reported feud. Chairman Boyd Leedom, asked if there were such a rift and whether complaints had been lodged at the White House, told a reporter "I really haven't anything to say on this subject."

Fenton has been spending the holidays at Westport, Conn. His office contacted him there about the reports and reported back he had nothing to say either. Fenton and all five NLRB members are appointees of President Eisenhower.

★ ★ ★

At least two sources, however, said there is no question that bad feelings exist between board members and Fenton, and that the board has taken up the situation with the White House.

Swedish Sailors Safe in San Francisco Now

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —Seamen of the Swedish training ship Alvsnabben went ashore Wednesday with no fear of suffering the fate of several earlier visiting countrymen.

The last time a Swedish naval ship came here — in 1852 — two of the crewmen were "shanghaied" for forced work aboard another vessel.

Most of the residents of Panama live either in Panama City or Colon.

Bob Considine Asks:

What Coach Would Want Notre Dame Job?

NEW YORK—If one were asked to choose the prime bit of bad public relations for 1958 the leather medal would have to be awarded Notre Dame University.

For years this fine South Bend, Ind. school has made an up-hill fight to gain the recognition it deserves as an institution of learning. It required its athletes to maintain a 77 average while the rest of its scholars could get by with 70.

★ ★ ★

It made notable strides in research in germ-free biology and other worthy fields. It seemed embarrassed at times by the skill of its football team; fearful that it would attract more attention for that phase of student life than for more esteemed facets.

Then, virtually on the eve of Christmas, it fired Terry Brennan, who made the mistake of taking the new look, educationally, for granted. His team this season won just over half of its games, playing the toughest schedule in the land.

Brennan has four children, had been hailed not long ago by the enterprising, scholarly president of the university, Father Ted Hesburgh, and epitomized the type of young man and leader you'd want your son to play for. So he was bounced.

★ ★ ★

It seems to me it's just as well for the affection in which Notre Dame is held in New York by the subway alumni that the announcement came during the New York newspaper strike.

The alienation of affections would have taken colossal proportions. We suggest that the fans here who fondly remember the Notre Dame-Army games at Yankee Stadium would have then had as little interest in seeing them resumed as they have in seeing the Brooklyn Dodgers come back.

★ ★ ★

Notre Dame alumni here in town were, by and large, shocked by the preemptory action. True, there is always a knot of old grads who won't be pacified unless the coach wins every game handily (and then attends all their pet charity benefits gratis).

Notre Dame has its share of these incorrigible birdbrains, compounded by a long-time scattering of priests and professors who honestly believe they know as much about football as they do about their own chosen professions.

★ ★ ★

The firing of Brennan has made the once great Notre Dame coaching job a post which any top man would shun like a plague. It must have made many sincere rooters wonder about the sincerity of the determined drive by school authorities to highlight the academic standing of the old school.

Universities who are frankly in the football business could have fired a Brennan without a pause and there would have been lively anticipation among their fans as to which guy was the next to step to the guillotine.

But Notre Dame! It was founded for nobler reasons, as its name indicates.

Thomas Alva Edison invented the phonograph in 1877. Edison was a dreamer, but his wildest dream in Technicolor could not have taken in the scope of today's record industry.

More than a quarter of a billion dollars worth of records will be bought this year, plus half a billion dollars worth of machines to play them.

If you bought every record which appears you'd be buying them at the rate of 200 single song sides a week and 400 long playing sides with six tunes on each side.

Millions of dollars are lost in addition to fortunes made. More than 800 companies operated last year, some of them making only a single record before going bust. It cost a new company as much as $4,000 to put on a record. Only 39 out of every 1,000 discs make money.

Fifteen of the 1,000 will sell 100,000; three will sell half a million. One in one thousand will hit the million mark.

Most companies figure that only after selling 27,000 discs are they "off the nut" on that particular job.

No man can plot a winner in advance, nor is there any true way of divining the best kind of background a record tycoon should have. Morty Craft of MGM-Metro records, one of the bigger firms, made the selection of "Purple People Eater," by Sheb Wooley.

Remember that name — Morty Craft. That boy's going far. I've submitted his name to the Air Force as the passenger on the first rocket to Pluto.

Clairvoyant Witch Reigns in Stockings

British Brunette Reaches Top Echelon

LONDON (UPI) — Mrs. Ann Ford's competitors call her a witch. Spelled just that way.

A flashing brunette, she is one of the first British women to break through to the top echelon of big business. Millions of dollars ride on her decisions on stocking fashions. So far she has been right.

But that isn't the only reason this handsome, thirtyish executive with the model's figure is suspected of witchcraft.

She lives in "the most haunted house in England" — Bodwenni Hall, which has five separate ghosts, one of them a dog.

She has a second town home in London which also has a ghost—just one.

She picks her assistants and makes her business decisions with the liberal use of mysterious (and scientifically contrversial) faculty called extra-sensory perception.

★ ★ ★

The first time we met, a friend introduced us by last names. There was a glimmer of white teeth and Mrs. Ford fixed me with two of the darkest and most disturbing eyes ever to adorn a big business executive.

"Your first name, I feel, must be Robert," she said.

The friend gasped, but then said:

"She does it all the time."

An interview with Mrs. Ford is quite an experience. As we spoke, her shoulder seemed to twitch rhythmically.

"Muscle control," she explained when she caught my curious eye. "I can isolate any muscle in my body, even the abdominal. It keeps my figuure in perfect shape and I don't have to diet."

CATCHES EVERY EYE

Having proved this by polishing off a solid English lunch, she tripped out of the restaurant with every male eye on her.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Ford says she got into the stocking business as she has gotten into most things in her career, because of a clairvoyant vision of herself behind a big desk with "Fashion Directress" on the door.

★ ★ ★

There was much more to the vision, which involved marriage to a stocking executive named Philip Ford. On the lookout only for a wife, Ford found himself instead with a tornado of ideas on his hands.

He talked about it to his board of directors and they were so impressed they paid one official of the company 20,000 pounds sterling ($56,000) to resign so a place could be made for her.

And Mrs. Ford duly became fashion directress.

Since she has already "seen" in her mind the things she wants done, Mrs. Ford is a hard woman to shake from a decision.

★ ★ ★

For example, she scoured warehouses full of teddy bears until she found a certain one she had visioned as the television trademark of her stockings.

"There was a look I had seen in this one's eye that I had to have," she explained.

Connecticut claims it was the first state to license automobile drivers, beginning the practice in 1907.

Ford Mails Out Pension Checks

$178,000 in Retroactive Payments Included in January Figures

DETROIT (UPI) — Ford Motor Co. says January pension checks being mailed out to retired workers include $178,000 in retroactive payments as a result of pension increases negotiated with the United Auto Workers Union this year.

★ ★ ★

John S. Bugas, Ford vice president-industrial relatins, said checks totaling $1,038,099 are being sent out to retired workers.

He said pension increases for retired salaried workers will be included in February checks.

The U.S. Internal Revenue Service approved increased benefits for retired salaried employes Tuesday but the company was unable to complete calculations fast enough to include the increase in February checks.

Ken Bannon, director of the UAW's Ford department, said retired union workers will find benefits increased by $45,000 a month under the new pension scale.

For the past 10 years the death rate in the U.S. has fallen below the mark of 10 per 1,000 population.

Lost and Found Column Produces Quick Results

DANVILLE, Va. (AP)—E. L. Smart 72, and retired, advertised in the lost and found column for a $100 bill lost on the street. Immediately below it in the column was an ad for one found, and which the owner could get by paying for the ad. Smart got his bill back from Howard Wooding.

Reforestation Starts Big Revival

Timbering Days Gone; Forest Industry Gains

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's lumbering boom ended years ago, but the forest products industry is still alive and kicking and growing stronger every year.

The Michigan forest industries committee made that fact clear in its latest tabulation of the industry's output and potential.

Many said Michigan forest industry was doomed when 19th century lumber barons stripped the land of its most valuable trees and left nothing in return. Lumber production mounted to a peak of 5½ billion board feet in 1889, then dwindled to 160 million in 1929.

In more recent years, however, widespread reforestation, some astute land management by government and private sources and utilization of all kinds of wood for all kinds of purposes have started a big revival.

Each year, forests in the state now grow enough saw timber to make lumber which would fill a train of box cars 142 miles long.

Forests cover 19,682,000 acres, more than half of the state's land area. The Upper Peninsula, with 29 per cent of the total land area, boasts nearly half of the forest acreage.

About two-thirds of the forest area is owned by private individuals — 174,000 of them. The state owns 20 per cent and the federal government 13 per cent.

Nearly 66,000 workers are employed full time in Michigan forest industries and thousands of others work part time. There are 1,890 forest industry plants.

Payrolls of wood-using industries in the state total more than 309 million dollars anually, five per cent of the entire industrial payroll.

Michigan leads all states in acreage of forest plantations — about 1,200,000 acres.

Michigan ranks seventh in production of paper and paperboard, turning out 1,703,681 tons in 1956, the last year for which figures are available.

In woodpulp production, steadily growing, it stands 18th with an annual output of 306,335 tons. The state supports 189 pulp, paper and paper products mills, which furnish full-time jobs for about 30,000 workers who collect 154 million dollars in wages.

Production of pulpwood, the raw material of pulp, paper and paperboard, rose to a record 980,172 cords last year.

Furniture manufacture, the second ranking forest industry in the state, employs 21,000 persons at 410 plants. Their payroll totals 88 million dollars; their products are valued at more than 80 million.

Electric Industry Rises

PARIS — France's electrical-construction industry had a banner year in 1957 with production up 18 per cent over 1956, gross income—about 780 billion francs (two billion dollars)—up 17 per cent, and exports—worth 65 billion francs (about $170,000) —up 30 per cent.

To Give Away Teamster Fee

Ex-Antiracket Head Has Plan to Share Union Salary With 22 Groups

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former Sen. George H. Bender (R-Ohio) says he is giving away all the money he received for running the Teamster Union's Anti-Racketeering Commission.

In an effort to disprove what he termed "Graceless Insinuations" about his charitable intentions, Bender also made public the names of 22 institutions which will share the first $15,000 of such earnings.

Bender's services and salary as a union clean-up chief have been the source of some controversy since he was appointed to the job earlier this year by Teamster President James R. Hoffa.

In a statement yesterday, Bender reported he had received a total of $19,250 from the Teamsters. He said about $4,250 had been set aside for taxes and the rest was earmarked for donations to churches, hospitals, schools and charitable institutions in Ohio.

Failure at Profession, Maybe He'll Reform

YUBA CITY, Calif. (UPI) — A would-be burglar who at first didn't succeed doesn't plan to try and try again.

He left a note by an unopened safe in the office of Yuba City Attorney James Changaris, saying:

"I give up. I'll never be a successful burglar."

At Least He's Honest About His Signature

NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE, ENGLAND (UPI) — Henry Holland, 38, was sentenced to four months in jail Tuesday after he told a court he had lived at 31 hotels without paying a bill and had stolen from five of them.

Holland said he usually registered as "Mr. Crook."

Trivia Sabotage Court Verdicts

Frivolous Arguments, Clerical Errors Make Mockery of Justice

NEW YORK, N. Y. —Legal loopholes are sabotaging the scales of justice. Guilty criminals go free.

Former Executive Director of the New York Division of Parole, David Dressler, writing in a recent issue of a national magazine, presents startling instances where justice didn't triumph; it fell flat on its nose.

★ ★ ★

Stacking case upon case in evidence to point out the need for modernization within our legal appeals machinery, Dressler reveals the fact that such frivolous arguments as a misplaced semi-colon on an indictment can turn a guilty man free.

"It's happened before, and it will continue to happen," says Dressler, "unless something is done."

For instance, in the case of a Texan convicted of drowning his wife, a higher court reversed the verdict, ruling that the court record failed to specify in what fluid the drowning had taken place: "water, coffee, tea, or what."

FAVOR CRIMINAL

Selection of unsuitable jurors, continual re-trials, and clerical errors are only a few of the technicalities that frequently give a criminal a lion's share of justice. There are others. Under current statutes, a clever lawyer can often convert judicial proceedings into a night-club act.

★ ★ ★

What can be done to prevent this tampering of justice?

Dressler suggests stonewall action:

1 — Eliminate obsolete laws, court decisions and conflicting rulings.

2 — Discourage frivolous appeals.

3 — Allow the prosecution to appeal, as well as the defense.

4 — Simplify indictment forms to minimize sources of error.

5 — Let the trial judge sit in with the appeals courts when a case he handled is under consideration.

6 — Review the facts as well as the law.

★ ★ ★

A prodigious task lies ahead for appeals system reformers, admits Dressler, but it must be accomplished before a cleancut system of justice can be insured.

London's Trafalgar Square, which corresponds to New York's Times Square, was begun in 1829. But it was not completed until 1867.

London Field Historic

Famed Croydon Airport Too Tiny; Lights Go Out

LONDON (AP)—The wonderful world of aviation outgrew London's Croydon Airport last night.

The founding field of airline flying was taken from the list of airports as the clock struck for 1959.

★ ★ ★

Rows of nondescript houses skirting the old airfield will lengthen and grow until the runways and boundary lights are covered over.

Croydon in its day ranked with or ahead of New York's Floyd Bennett Field and Le Bourget in Paris.

★ ★ ★

The 400-acre field, too small for four-engine transports — let alone jet comets and Boeings — goes back to the days of Zeppelins, pilot goggles and planes with two wings.

★ ★ ★

The world's first great airplane robbery was there.

A flight to Paris which some historians says was the first airline trip in history took off from Croydon.

The first horse ever to fly landed there.

Imperial Airways, forerunner of half a dozen lines, was born at the field in South London.

Bert Hinkler flew 650 miles nonstop from Croydon to Turin, Italy.

There's always an argument handy on the world's first airline flight, but Croydon's first was certainly one of the very first. Two passengers were flown, along with a box of sandwiches, to Paris Aug. 25, 1919.

★ ★ ★

The "Gold Bullion Room" at the cradle of British aviation was once the scene of a 21,000-pound (then worth about $85,000) robbery. Later a whole plane was stolen at Croydon and more recently thieves picked up an entire jet engine and hauled it away.

Croydon was too hemmed in by houses and people to catch up with progress after World War II. In 1947 the airlines began moving to the bigger London Airport.

Only a few small planes and charter flights have been operating at the old field recently.

Going to Berlin? Stay Out of Jail

State Department Has Book of Warnings for Prospective Tourists

BERLIN (UPI) — Try to stay out of jail when you come to Berlin.

That's the advice given American tourists by the U.S. State Department in a sort of cold war guide book.

The U.S. Mission here has drawn up a list of instructions for tourists who visit this isolated western outpost 110 miles behind the Iron Curtain.

The 2,000-word mimeographed leaflet is called "Information for Visitors to Berlin," but it might well be named "See Berlin Without Getting Arrested."

The warnings contained in the leaflet are based upon the fact that Berlin not only is surrounded by Communist territory but is split into two separate cities, one Western and one Communist.

* * *

In other words, if an American tourist gets into trouble or is arrested on an East German railway or highway, there is little the U. S. can do to get him released or give him aid.

The easiest way for a Western national to get arrested in East Berlin is to take photographs of anything the Communists do not want photographed. That covers a lot of ground. It can range from a neighborhood police station to a pile of rubble.

Although Western nationals may cross into East Berlin they may not leave the city limits and enter the surrounding Soviet Zone of Germany without special hard-to-get permission.

The guide book uses capital letters to stress this point:

"DO NOT ENTER OR ATTEMPT TO ENTER THE SOVIET ZONE WITHOUT A VALID PERMIT. TO DO SO CAN RESULT IN YOUR IMMEDIATE ARREST AND IMPRISONMENT . . . FREQUENT CASES OF ARRESTS HAVE OCCURRED WHEN PERSONS WERE ONLY ONE OR TWO FEET INSIDE THE SOVIET ZONE."

For this reason travel on the city's elevated railway poses a danger.

Before you get on the "el," the tourist is advised, make sure it is scheduled to stop at the station you want in West Berlin—and isn't an express to the Soviet Zone.

The song "Dixie" was composed by Dan Emmett, a Yankee from Ohio.

$10,000 Girl 'Sees' Temperatures

Little Eva Works in Dark

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Here's one lady who knows what's going on in the dark.

She's little Eva, as cunning a bundle of lens, diaphragm, oils, cranks, wires and gauges as you're likely to meet anywhere.

With utter aplomb and a little squirt of oil Eva can tell in pitch blackness how much coffee is in the pot, the kind of suit you're wearing and the temperature of a girl's lips.

But these are merely party tricks, done to dramatize her ability. Eva's main work is more serious.

Eva, whose full name is Evaporograph, is the dream girl of Baird-Atomic, Inc., of Cambridge, Mass.

Dr. David Z. Robinson, who created her, disclosed at a recent Infrared Spectroscopy Institute here what unique and valuable work she's doing.

Eva turns infrared — or heat — rays emitted by all matter into a kind of photograph that is both a picture and temperature chart.

In absolute darkness hot lense can focus rays from objects up to 500 feet away on a special, darkened diaphragm.

Oils squirted on the diaphragm are condensed by the rays and take on the objects' shapes and approximate colors.

The oils turn blue for low temperatures, yellow for high and different shades for temperatures in between.

On Eva's diaphragm, for example, a blonde in a sweater turns up in warm, flesh-colored tints with the lips, which are relatively cool, a shade bluer than the rest of the body.

In industry, Dr. Robinson explained, Eva can do such jobs as locate breaks in the internal insulation of giant steel furnaces.

The temperature of the break is different from that of the rest of the furnace and Eva, by taking a quick look from the outside, can tell worried steelmen just where and how big the trouble is.

One of Eva's functions in medicine is to report how well and fast surface wounds heal.

Injured areas are warmer than the rest of the body and cool off as they heal. With Eva taking the temperatures doctors can check precisely on patients' progress.

Dr. Robinson says there are 15 evaporographs in use by industry and medicine.

The Defense Department has some, but how many and for what uses is a secret.

Domestic jobs for Eva also are under study but there's little chance she'll be invited into homes in the near future despite her talents.

She costs about $10,000.

INFRARED GENIUS "Little Eva" can detect temperature differences in objects up to 500 feet away.

Pensioners Ask Relief

PENTICTON, B. C. (AP)—The B. C. Old Age Pensioners' Assn. voted to ask the federal government to end the "unjust discrimination" which does not permit pensioners to collect their checks while outside Canada. The annual convention asked that checks be forwarded.

An American dies in the United States on an average of every 21 seconds, according to mortality tables.

At Proclamation of Alaska's Statehood:

Nation Gets New Flag Saturday

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation gets a new state and a new flag Saturday.

President Eisenhower will sign the proclamation making Alaska the 49th state at a formal ceremony in the White House Saturday at noon. He will fly to Washington for signing and return later to his Gettysburg, Pa., farm for the remainder of the weekend.

★ ★ ★

The new state enters the union immediately. The new flag will become official next July 4, but flag makers said they would have a few of the 49-star flags available as early as next week.

The flag design will not be announced until Saturday. There was speculation it would consist of the present 13 stripes, with seven rows of seven stars each in the blue field.

Some flag makers have sought a staggered design, with five rows of five stars and four with six stars. Then if Hawaii gets statehood later, they contended, another star could be added easily by having five rows of six stars each and four with five stars.

★ ★ ★

The still unannounced design was picked from nearly 2,000 suggestions received by a screening committee. Eisenhower will proclaim the official design as part of the statehood ceremony.

Whatever the design, the flag makers are eager to begin production of the new version.

Sidney Liberman, president of Valley Forge Flag Co., says his company will have flags ready Monday.

Valley Forge, one of the largest flag producers, sews flags.

M. Lowenstein & Sons, Inc., one of the largest textile firms, has two printing rollers poised—one for each likely design.

"We're ready to roll the minute we hear," a company spokesman said. "Assuming the new flag will be one of these designs, we'll have them ready for shipment in about three weeks."

The new design will not affect the proportions of the flag. Manufacturers can tear out the blue field on present inventory stocks, burn it, and substitute the new blue background.

Digby Chandler of Annin & Co. said flag makers will see if they can get a tax reduction on the grounds of obsolescence of their old flags.

The Annin firm, which claims to be the oldest and largest flag maker in the country, has a backlog of over $100,000 in orders, Chandler said.

Manufacturers haven't been selling many flags since last summer, he said, but they've been taking orders at a banner volume.

Wets Score New Gain

NEW YORK — A total of 443 local-option elections involving the sale of distilled spirits were held in 1957 in 23 of the 39 states which provide for such referendums. The elections involved a population of 1,549,128 and resulted for the second straight year in a gain for the wets in both population and legal sales areas. Eight additional legal sales areas and a population increase of 21,175 were the actual net pickup of the wets.

Year of Vanguard I, Hula Hoop Had U.S. Consumer as Its Hero

By WILLIAM FERRIS
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—It was the year of Vanguard I and the hula hoop. These were the highlights of business in 1958:

★ ★ ★

The recession reached its low in April. It never hurt soft goods industries very much, did hurt the hards goods business. The rebound was very sharp.

Hero of the recession: The consumer. He kept right on buying even after business leaders and economists headed for the cellar, fearing the worst.

Speculators found a new and what looked like a wonderful playground: Government bonds. Bonds could be bought on a 5 per cent or less margin (down payment). Prices boomed early, then collapsed. Some folks felt the pain.

The irrepressible stock market rolled to an all-time record high. Prices were higher than business seemed to warrant. That, said the bulls, was because prices were discounting the future. Some skeptics said prices also seemed to be discounting the hereafter.

★ ★ ★

Americans made an average of 245,875,000 telephone calls a day.

★ ★ ★

Symbol of the disappearing passenger train: The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway stopped running passenger trains into the Kansas town which is part of the corporate name: Atchison.

Uncle Sam's budget went deeper into the red than ever before in peace time. The Federal Government is spending 80 billion dollars this year.

The steel industry used only a little more than half its capacity. The machine tool industry had its worst year since 1930. Coal production was way down. Railroads were hit hard.

But people kept right on eating. Sales of retail food stores rose about 10 per cent over 1957.

★ ★ ★

Maybe there was some connection with the recession: Regardless of reason, Americans consumed more alcohol than in any year since 1946.

Americans also smoked more cigarettes than ever before. But the tobacco-cancer publicity had one effect. The switch to filters continued.

The Senate Rackets Investigating Committee turned up scandals in labor unions but election results raised a question as to whether anyone was listening. One union newspaper's complete editorial on the election "Wow!"

It was a bountiful year down on the farm. Production set a new record. Farm income was up 20 per cent from the relatively low level of 1957.

Outstanding event of the automobile year: Popularity of American Motors' "Rambler," which filled the void in the medium sized car field deserted by Chevrolet, Ford and Plymouth.

Consumers spent 200 billion dollars during the year, and not all on hula hoops.

The jet age arrived. It was accompanied by a series of strikes on airlines. Missiles, satellites and moon rockets made a once obscure Florida town, Cape Canaveral, a familiar date line around the world.

There were 5,427,000 unemployed in June—most since 1941. By year end the figure was 3,800,000. Increased productivity kept unemployment higher than the business expansion warranted.

Housing and the construction industry claimed a major role in reversing the recession, not without reason. That hammering noise in the suburbs came from builders throwing up new homes, which totaled about 1,100,000 to 1,200,000.

Gross national product was at an annual rate of 450 billion dollars as the year ended.

Lad, 12, Desires to Aid Teachers

Reports Social Status, Relative Pay, Pensions, Better in Other Lands

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A precocious 12-year-old boy, who doesn't hesitate to go to the top when he wants information, has completed an international survey of teachers' pay.

He says teachers in many other countries get much better treatment than in the United States. They have a higher social status, better comparative salaries and more liberal pension plans.

Claremont F. Carter, an honor roll eighth grader who speaks Spanish and German, said he decided to make his study after the Russians fired their first Sputnik.

He wrote 100 letters to foreign countries, got replies in a number of languages quoting wage scales in a bewildering variety of currencies.

Why did he tackle the massive job?

★ ★ ★

"Teachers have been good to me all during my studies," he said. "All that I know, I owe to them and their skills. I believe this report will be helpful to them and so I'd like to repay them and to show them that I have greatly appreciated their efforts."

★ ★ ★

The youngster hasn't let his report lie idle in his files. He sent copies to the White House, to Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and to Gov. LeRoy Collins of Florida.

"I received the most wonderful letters," he said.

★ ★ ★

Some of the information he gathered:

The average U.S. teacher is paid $4,660 a year in comparison with $12,000 earned by physicians, $10,400 by lawyers, $8,000 by engineers, $5,000 to $7,000 by skilled craftsmen and $4,580 by factory workers.

German teachers can get as much as 3,264 yearly against $720 for unskilled laborers. A French teacher can earn $5,280 in comparison with $996 for street cleaners. In England, a teacher can earn $2,810 against a typical laborer's wage of $1,072. A Russian professor gets an average of eight times as much as a factory worker.

★ ★ ★

The cost of living in most of the countries Claremont cited is less than in the United States.

Man Chased by His Own Car Gets Ticket

LANSING (UP)—A bottle started all the trouble between Chester Olmstead and his car—but it wasn't what you think.

Here's what happened, as attested by a Lansing police accident report.

Chester was making a left turn when an empty pop bottle rolled under the brake pedal of his car and he wasn't able to stop. His car struck another, so Chester got out to inspect the damage.

The car somehow slipped into gear and started off with Chester in pursuit. The car turned a complete circle and started chasing Chester. The car caught up and he was knocked down by a fender and run over by the left front wheel.

The car ended up against a tree. Chester ended up in the hospital, where he was treated for minor bruises, released, then handed a ticket for driving in an unsafe manner.

2 Big Nations Building Up for Military Crises

U.S. Fires Missiles, Refines More Bases

By ELTON C. FAY
AP Military Affairs Writer

WASHINGTON — The United States in 1959 will increase its ability to fight a big missile war.

Whether it also will be prepared equally for coping with actual or threatened little wars — like 1958's Middle East and Formosa Strait crises — continue a subject of debate in the Pentagon and in Congress.

As 1958 approached its end, the military succeeded in firing an Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile over the full 6,000-mile distance.

Before 1959 is over, the Air Force expects to have at least two ICBM launching bases ready for use and technically trained units to fire the long range missiles.

There is hope but not certainty that the weapons themselves will be "operational" during 1959. But the fact that an ICBM has been sent the full distance does not mean the Atlas can now be delivered to troops.

MUCH MORE WORK

Much more work remains to be done in refining the guidance system to a point of complete reliability — to the state of perfection where the missile will take off at the press of a button, fly 6,000 miles and hit within a 30-mile circle.

Defense Secretary Neil McElroy said recently that "we are coming closer to the time of operational capability for the Atlas," but he didn't specify the time.

In the field of intermediate range ballistic missiles, the new year will find the American military much further along. The first Thor IRBM has been set in position in England, others are following.

The bright prospects in the missile field does not mean that the manned bomber will disappear from the American arsenal in 1959 or even for years after that. Bombers like the B52 heavy and the B47 medium will continue to be the backbone of the Strategic Air Command next year.

★ ★ ★

But the B52s will begin to get a new lethal punch during the year. Into them will go equipment for launching the "Hound Dog" missile. That new missile totes a nuclear warhead, and can be launched from a bomber flying as much as 400 miles outside a heavily defended target zone.

★ ★ ★

This spring the first nuclear-powered Polaris missile firing submarine will be launched. It is one of nine planned. The goal is to have the first submarine and the first missiles ready for trials, as a complete unit, in 1960.

There appears to be a chance that the Air Force will start preliminary flight testing of an atomic powered plane—a feat which some recent reports say Russia already has accomplished.

What might the military do in 1959 about augmenting its capabilities for fighting smaller localized conflicts?

FEWER MEN

One immediate answer seems to be there will be fewer fighting men for heading off or winning little wars. By next June 30 the manpower strength of the armed forces will be about 70,000 less than now. The heavier part of the cut will be in Army strength.

★ ★ ★

The Army brass contends this reduces the capability for limited war action, but indicates it will not make an issue of the matter. However, some Congress members may challenge the administration decision when the lawmakers meet again in January.

MORE MISSILES — American ability to retaliate in an all-out war took a giant stride forward late in November when an Atlas intercontinental missile was successfully fired from Cape Canaveral to a target area 6,300 miles away. It's the biggest in a fantastically expensive family of ballistic weapons.

LESS MANPOWER — Efforts to hold down defense spending mean cuts in conventional forces. Some claim this will seriously affect U. S. ability to handle "brushfire" emergencies, such as last summer's crisis in Lebanon, settled only after battle-ready U. S. Marines swept ashore in force.

Reds Push Cold War, Probe for Weakness

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The next two years threaten to build up the most dangerous period of crises the world has known in a decade.

Soviet Primer Nikita Khrushchev, having finally achieved total power in Moscow, is clearly determined to expand the frontiers of Communist authority.

Probing pressures against the defensive system held by the United States and its Allies are his major tactic for seeking a weak spot through which Soviet power may spread.

The successive emergencies of 1958 dramatized the pattern. They provide, as the new year begins, a basis of forecast for things to come.

Several reasons bearing directly upon the nature and conduct of the East-West conflict have persuaded high officials in Washington that the next two years may be of crucial importance.

BALANCE SHIFTING

Foremost among these is the shifting balance of military power between the Communist bloc and the West. The balance was badly upset on Oct. 4, 1957, when Russia launched man's first earth satellite and thus demonstrated its ability to fire an intercontinental ballistic missile.

The United States did not catch up, with Explorer I, until Jan. 31, 1958. Khrushchev is now working on a long range campaign to make the Soviet Union industrially and militarily superior to the United States.

Secretary of State Dulles told associates after Sputnik I soared into the heavens that Khrushchev could be expected to embark on a diplomacy of probing for weakness, division and lack of resolution in the West. His forecast was grimly borne out by the 1958 crises in the Middle East, the Far East and Germany.

★ ★ ★

What makes the next two years particularly risky, however, is the fact that the United States and therefore the whole system of anti-Communist alliances it leads will be under the direction of a lame duck administration.

One of the certainties of international life now is that the Eisenhower-Dulles direction of U.S. foreign policy will come to an end on or before Jan. 21, 1961.

This is a circumstance which contributes to political weakness and, given the Democratic majority in Congress, puts extraordinary importance upon maintaining a bipartisan base for the conduct of foreign affairs.

While the aggressive nature of Khrushchev's policies and the defensive wait-and-see attitude of the West are unquestioned in high quarters here, the exact form by which the Soviet chief will seek to profit from his initiative is less predictable.

If it follows the 1958 pattern he will combine the skillful use of war threat and peace hope, sometimes threatening a conflict over Berlin or Formosa or some Middle Eastern hot spot and at other times urging international conference and feeding hopes of compromise for peace.

★ ★ ★

Khrushchev has shown he is capable of very rapid change of pace. Early in 1958 he was bombarding President Eisenhower with letters pressing or a summit conference. By mid-year however, after a sudden and mysterious journey to Peiping during the Middle East crisis, Khrushchev scuttled all summit prospects and concentrated on threatening Sputnik diplomacy.

The Quemoy-Formosa crisis Khrushchev scuttled all summit prospects and concentrated on threatening Sputnik diplomacy.

The Quemoy-Formosa crisis followed the Middle East uproar, beginning on Aug. 23. As the United States and Nationalist China refused to give way under pressure, there were widespread fears of at least a limited war over Quemoy.

It was the second time in a short space that Khrushchev had whipped up troubled waters with the evident purpose of spreading fear. Then from the Far East the center of international tensions suddenly shifted on Nov. 10 to Berlin which, 10 years earlier, had been the scene of the first great test of strength between Russia and the Western Allies.

Khrushchev announced that the time had come to end the occupation of Berlin and that he intended to turn over occupation functions to the East German Communist government.

WEST ADAMANT

London, Washington and Paris, as well as the West German government at Bonn, were immediately alarmed by fears of a new Berlin blockade. They declared their determination not to be driven out of Berlin.

Khrushchev, who never seems to lose the advantages which come with maintaining the initiative in international relations, then suddenly granted a six-month breathing spell by announcing that he was willing to wait that long while negotiating to make West Berlin a "free city."

As 1958 drew to an end there seemed to be no doubt that Khrushchev had once more returned to the tactic of high level negotiations with the Western powers. The chances of a foreign ministers' meeting or an eventual summit conference appeared to be increasing though they were not so great as they had been just a year earlier.

Nevertheless there was pressure from America's allies in Europe on the theory that talk at least stalls off the crisis and minimizes the danger of military conflict.

★ ★ ★

Two other lines of development also pointed toward the possibility of high level political meetings.

Russia and the Western powers surprisingly succeeded in agreeing last summer on the scientific requirements for an inspection system which could effectively police a prohibition of nuclear test explosions.

This agreement among scientists was followed Oct. 31 by the opening of negotiations at Geneva for a political accord.

The Soviets also entered into negotiation — in response to an early intiiative by President Eisenhower — to see whether they could work out methods by which the dangers of a surprise attack by any of the great powers could be prevented. As in the case of a nuclear test ban, the central issue was an inspection system. This negotiation also was paralyzed by wrangling.

The fact that East-West disarmament talks continued despite disagreements seemed to contradict the danger signals which appeared during the year in the Far East and Germany. But Washington officials said the appearance of contradiction was misleading.

The evidence simply proved that Khrushchev was capable of running several operations simultaneously and of using peace talk and peaceful gestures as well as war talk, threats and calculated violence to try to advance the Soviet goal of expanding communism.

The judgement of top U.S. officials was that Khrushchev did not want and would not knowingly risk World War III. But there was danger nevertheless that having once inflamed Western fears and passions he might miscalculate the peril and set of a conflict.

Pin, Hook, Eye and Snap Are Bristling in Britain

"The Pin, Hook and Eye, and Snap Fastener Wages Council (Great Britain) hereby gives notice of its intention to submit to the Minister of Labor and National Service proposals for increasing the statutory minimum remuneration set out in the wages regulations (Pin, Hook and Eye, and Snap fastener) order, 1958.

Once a month and oftener, U. S. satellites weighing up to 1,300 pounds or more are scheduled to zoom into space carrying mice, monkeys and instruments to pave the way for man.

★ ★ ★

These launchings will show how to protect man in orbit, and how to recover safely the satellite capsule in which he rides.

Some experts predict the Soviets will actually send a man up and bring him home within the year.

In 1958, the Soviets announced two main achievements, both pointing toward early human space flight. In May they launched Sputnik III, weighing 3,000 pounds, a veritable cosmic laboratory equipped with a variety of instruments to measure conditions in space. In August, they lofted two dogs 283 miles high inside a rocket, and parachuted them safely back.

Characteristically, the Soviets tell nothing about advance plans. But surely they have high adventures and surprises in mind.

Making up some lost ground in the space age, U. S. rocket men in 1958 successfully launched three Explorer satellites and one tiny Vanguard.

The Air Force tried three shots at the moon, one wheeling 79,000 miles from earth, and the Army launched one which climbed 66,654 miles into space before falling victim to the earth's gravity and plummeting back.

Russia also is expected to try to hit or orbit the moon, and perhaps tried to do so without success in 1958.

Both countries hint at space probes aimed at Venus or Mars, or racing out at such high speed that they become little man-made planets circling the sun.

★ ★ ★

Planned are satellites equipped with TV systems to see weather in the making on the earth below, or to engage in military surveillance — the beginnings of space stations and satellites serving as global communications networks.

Special, sensitive instruments aboard satellites will extend the rich new knowledge being won concerning space.

The prime discovery by satellites in 1958 was the curious band of unsuspected radiation ballooning like a doughnut high above the earth. It appears lethal to man, unless he is given protection by shielding. Coming satellites will learn its extent, and more about its meaning.

NEW FACTOR

This radiation band is a new factor in gaining a clearer understanding of the electromagnetic forces in space and on the sun. Such forces certainly have effects upon the earth, probably in influencing our weather.

Part of this new understanding was won through the massive scientific study known as the International Geophysical Year. Major aspects of this will continue as the International Geophysical Cooperation — 1959.

Our sun, kept under almost continuous surveillance, yielded secrets about its X-ray emissions, new concepts of magnetic triggers in storms on the sun's face, of solar effects on earth. Scientists gained new evidence that the sun's outer tenuous envelope seemingly embraces the earth itself, and that the earth's blanket of air extends to higher altitudes than suspected.

A new kind of astronomy — ultraviolet astronomy — appeared in 1958, to gaze revealingly at the sun and stars with ultraviolet-sensitive eyes. And rockets soared up above obscuring clouds to see the sun during an eclipse.

Coming in 1959 are balloon flights, equipped with telescopes, rising above much of the earth's atmosphere for clearer photographs of the sun and Mars. These pictures could resolve the mystery of Martian "canals."

The United States took initial steps toward using atomic energy for space rockets, and Russia was reported already flying an atom-powered airplane. Nuclear scientists cleared up a puzzle about the makeup of the nucleus or heart of atoms.

Medically 1958 brought new drugs to succor sick human minds, and more evidence that at least some mental illness is due to faulty chemistry rather than worried thinking. A few more fragments were added in the jig-saw puzzle of causes of cancers and heart diseases, with this research continuing into 1959 at increased tempo and greater promise.

Dem Congress on Trial

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats take over top-heavy command of Congress in January for a year of decision likely to have heavy bearing on their chances for regaining the White House in 1960.

Disorganized Republicans squeezed into their smallest minority corner since the days of the New Deal, face a sharp uphill climb.

The sweeping Democratic election victories presented the party with some new responsibilities and accented some old problems.

With majorities approaching 2-1 in both houses, the Democrats are likely to find the average voter is going to hold them much more responsible than in the past for the condition in which the country finds itself in 1960.

The Democrats will be writing their record for 1960 at a time when their serious party division over civil rights has been spotlighted by the election of liberals likely to be much more demanding of action than some of those they defeated.

This adds up to additional difficulties for Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, who is among those being mentioned as a possible candidate for the party's presidential nomination two years hence. Johnson has said he doesn't see any need for new civil rights measures now.

Other Democratic senators who are viewed as potential presidential or vice presidential timber: Kennedy of Massachusetts, Symington of Missouri, Humphrey of Minnesota, and Gore and Kefauver of Tennessee.

★ ★ ★

Lacking a congressional forum, Govs. Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey and G. Mennen Williams of Michigan and Gov.-elect Edmund G. (Pat) Brown of California can be expected to find plenty of opportunities on the job and elsewhere to advance their possible candidacies.

Business Prediction:

'59 Looks Good; '60 Even Better

By WALTER BREEDE JR.

Good business in 1959. Possibly a boom in 1960.

That's the business picture at the end of 1958 — the year that saw the third post World War II recession breathe its dying gasp.

★ ★ ★

Bankers, merchants, manufacturers and economists expect the recovery from recession which started last April to continue in the new year — but not at a whirlwind pace.

Some see 1959 as a transition or bridge to a new boom in 1960. But forecasts of a 1960 boom are hedged with an impressive array of "if's," "but's," and "may-be's."

Based on the predictions of those who usually make good guesses, here's what you can look for in the year ahead:

Business generally will rise to new peaks. Gross national product — the total output of goods and services — may reach an annual pace of 460 to 470 billion dollars vs. 450 billions at the end of 1958.

★ ★ ★

Living costs will hold steady for a few months, then resume their upward climb. The government may find it difficult to hold inflationary forces in check. By the end of 1959 your dollar will have lost a little more of its buying power.

Don't count on any major tax reduction.

Industrial production will get back into high gear, unless a steel strike upsets the apple cart. Autos will set the pace. U.S. factories should roll out more than 5½ million new cars in 1959. That's far short of the nearly 8 million produced in 1955 but a kingsized gain over the 4½ million built in 1958.

Jobs won't keep up with the rise in production—in today's modernized, highly efficient, automated factories fewer people turn out more work. Unemployment will continue to be a problem. There may be nearly five million Americans on the jobless rolls in January and February.

Things will get better as warmer weather permits more outdoor work, but not as fast as many economists would like.

It will be a big year for construction. Housing starts will probably match the 1958 total of about 1,100,00 — unless home buyers are frightened off by tight mortage credit and high interest rates. Building costs will keep on going up.

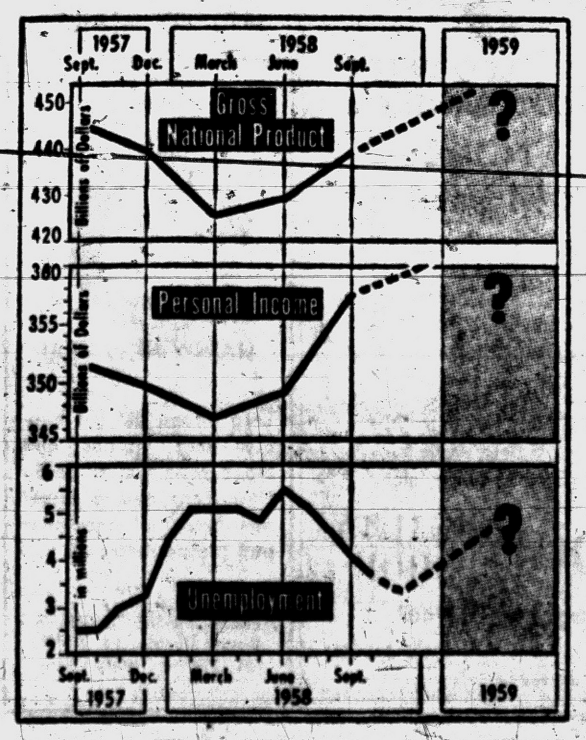

Retailers are betting on a slow but steady rise in consumer buying. Department store sales in the next six months are expected to top the first half of 1958 by 4 or 5 per cent. Even during the recession months of early 1958, store sales held at a high level.

Consumers have not been panicked by recession talk. Chances are they'll loosen up when they're convinced good times are here to stay.

★ ★ ★

Farmers — just winding up a boom year — may find their incomes down a bit in 1959. Prices of crops and livestock are heading lower and costs of running a farm are up. The U.S. Department of Agriculture says the "realized net income" of farmers — what's left after expenses — will be down 5 per cent on average from 1958.

On balance it looks like a good year, but not an easy year. Rather, 1959 shapes up as a year of challenge.

South to Have New Pressures

'59 Will Rap Segregation

By BEM PRICE

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the South's pro-segregationists, 1959 may well be the toughest year since the U.S. Supreme Court outlawed school segregation on May 17, 1954.

A series of broad attacks against segregation in the South both in the courts and in the forthcoming Congress appears to be in the offing.

Further, even in the Deep South there appears to be some internal dissension over the school issue.

With the opening of the 86th Congress, the South's ancient weapon against passage of meaningful civil rights legislation, the filibuster, will be under powerful attack.

★ ★ ★

Then there is the abiding suspicion in certain Democratic circles here that the Justice Department intends to become more active in prosecuting charges of civil rights violations in the South.

The object? To split the conservative, pro-segregation Southern wing of the party from the more liberal-Northern wing prior to the 1960 presidential campaign.

At year's end 16,400 high school students in Virginia and Arkansas were without public school facilities. The schools had been closed rather than permit any degree of racial integration.

★ ★ ★

Unless there is some retreat by Southern political leaders determined to maintain all-white public schools, the prospect of adding thousands of additional students to the list of those without public schools is good.

Arlington County, Va., which has 23,000 students in its school system, is under federal court order to begin desegregation in January.

The public schools of Atlanta, Ga., are confronted with a federal court suit to bring about integration.

Georgia led the way in the South in declaring opposition to any form of public school integration.

Georgia has assorted laws designed to block any integration including a school closing law.

★ ★ ★

In the face of the possible closing of its excellent public school system, Atlanta's Mayor William B. Hartsfield has demanded that the people of Atlanta be permitted to determine whether they want public schools or no schools at all.

Further, members of the county's state legislative delegation have been stumping the area — civic metings, garden clubs and parent-teacher gatherings— asking that people demand local option.

Publicity-wise 1958 was a bad year for the South. The new year may be no better.

Time to Slim Down

Let's Face Reality After Gay Spree

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: I really get mad when I think how many guys write you and say they can't find a decent girl. I AM a decent girl and that's my problem. Nobody wants a decent girl any more. I am 19, have a good personality, good figure and a good reputation but when a fellow takes me out and discovers that I'm decent, I never see him again. It looks like all the fast girls who smoke and swear are popular, while the decent girls sit home. How come?"

ABBY

TOO DECENT

DEAR DECENT: You are confusing "availability" with popularity. Please read on:

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: I read your column every day and am always glad to see you encourage nice girls to stay that way. I'm an 18-year-old boy and have been around a lot and I want to tell you this: When a boy gets 'fresh' with a girl he really likes, deep down he is hoping she will slap his face so he can keep his respect for her."

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: The letter from the poor upset mother who had children who didn't eat enough to keep them alive reminded me of my own dear mother, may she rest in peace. My sister and I were the pickiest, fussiest eaters in the world when we were small. Do you know how she cured us? She sat us down at the table and told us we could have all the bread and milk we wanted—but nothing else! After three days of bread and milk for breakfast, lunch and supper we were glad to eat anything she set before us. From that day on we ate everything she served and we never complained again."

HEARTY EATERS

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: Quite frequently my husband will have business friends in from out of town. Usually their wives accompany them. I don't mind so much when my husband calls me at the last minute to tell me he's bringing home a man and his wife for dinner. But when he, without asking me, issues an invitation to one of these wives to 'spend the day with Marion' I am ready to blow my stack. Any practical solution?"

MARION

DEAR MARION: A woman who's "ready to blow her stack" is pretty poor company. You and your husband are on the same team, so simmer down and do your best to entertain the "visiting wives" graciously.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: I am a grown man and my problem may seem childish to you, but I hope you will give it some consideration. I found a lady's handkerchief (a lovely one) in a taxi. It smelled of a fragrance that is too heavenly for words. I have never in all my life smelled anything to compare with it. How can I find out what kind of perfume it is without making a complete fool of myself?"

J. P.

DEAR J.P.: Go to a shop that carries a complete line of perfumes. Ask to "sniff" their samples. If you can't identify it yourself—bring out the hankie and I'll oet someone in the shop can name it! Good luck!

"DEAR ABBY: Will you help an 83-yeaf-old widow? I have no children, and only one nephew and several cousins but none of them have bothered to visit me in years. I have a neighbor who comes in to see me every day and I feel free to call on her any hour of the day or night.

"She's always bringing me goodies she has made and I don't know what I'd do without her. So what little money I have I would like to leave to my neighbor, but friends tell me that anyone over 80 is not of sound mind, according to the law, and kinfolks automatically come first. Is this correct, Dear Abby?"

OVER 80 BUT SOUND MIND

DEAR OVER: "Soundness of mind" is not determined by age. Ask a lawyer or call your local Legal Aid Society.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: I have mother-in-law trouble! My husband and I have been married for 13 years. We have three lovely children. After she visits us (which is often) I find clippings from newspapers and magazines on how to raise children and how to work out marriage problems. I find these clippings in my drawers and on top of the refrigerator. She doesn't hand them to me, she just puts them around my house. I found one yesterday that just burned me up. I was going to mail it back to her, but thought I would ask for your advice first."

FED-UP

DEAR FED: Say nothing and ignore the clippings. When she finds that she is getting no reaction whatever from you, she'll give up.

Note Is Never Wrong

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: We've had a new baby and received many gifts for him. One of the loveliest came from the men who work with my husband in the office. I'm wondering whether I should write a thank-you note.

"Since I know none of these men beyond casual introduction at the office, there is no question that they sent the gift because of my husband. I think perhaps this is one gift he should be allowed to handle by himself, simply telling the men that I thank them, too. What is your opinion?"

Answer: The gift was, as you say, undoubtedly sent because of your husband. However, I can't imagine that he, or the men in the office, would feel that you were forcing yourself into the picture if you wrote a note to whomever was the probable originator of the idea and say, "It was so kind of you to send the baby such a lovely present, that I am asking John to let me add my thanks to his." While this is not really necessary in your particular case, it would be appreciative and polite.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My eighteen-year-old son and I are going to motor to the coast this spring. We will be stopping in motels on the way. I would like to know if my son and I could share one room or must we get separate rooms? Many of the rooms have a bed and a sofa that opens up into a bed. We would like to avoid the double expense of two rooms if possible. I am anxiously awaiting your reply."

Answer: I am sorry but I think you will have to take two rooms.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Sometime ago I was the guest of a girl at a big dance at which I was a total stranger. Stags cut in on us frequently and I stood out most of the evening. Could I have cut in on other girls whom I had not met?"

Answer: No, you must not ask a girl you have not met to dance. The girl who was your hostess should have introduced you to at least a few of her friends.

Planetarium to Feature 'Sky Time'

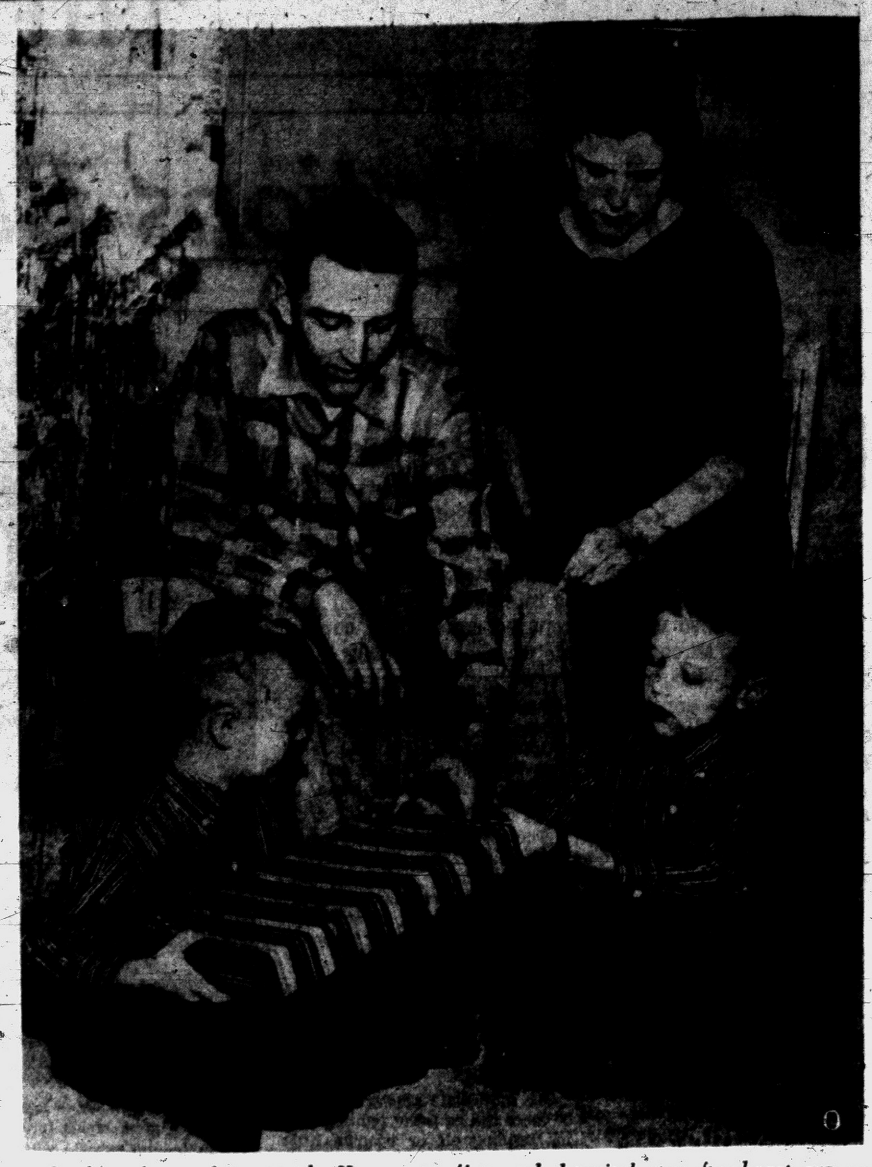

"Telling Time by the Sky" will be the topic featured at Cranbrook Institute of Science Planetarium during the month of January.

How the earth's rotation serves as a master clock will be discussed.

The planetarium is open to the public Wednesday at 4 p.m. and Saturdays and Sundays at 2:30 and 3:30 p.m. Arrangements can be made for demonstrations for large groups.

A lapidary class will start Jan. 13 at 7 p.m., with James Garlick Jr. as instructor.

Two expert shoemakers from England, Thomas Beard and Isaac Rickerman, began the manufacture of leather shoes in America at Salem, Mass., in 1629.

Spring's Dresses Flowery

NEW YORK (NEA) — A whole world of dazzling flower prints burts forth to lend drama to evening dresses for spring.

Many of these are warp-printed silk taffetas so crisp and rustly that they billow-out without need f help from a petticoat. The flowers depicted on them bloom big, bold and beautiful in a melange of colors that never blossomed in any garden.

★ ★ ★

The Empire line is fully represented for evening. Often, the high-waisted evening gown is teamed with matching coat. The evening coat has, in fact, come back into favor for spring wear.

The high waistline appears above very full skirts for evening. And for cocktails and dinner, the shirtwaist dress in sheer fabrics gets a new treatment: the Empire line above a wide skirt.

Special mention should go to pretty chiffon dresses molded closely to the torso from neckline to below the waist where they break into a series of fluttering flounces.

★ ★ ★

Even chiffons take to prints this spring as well as to vivids solid colors. Lace and silk organdie are used for the traditionally formal and floating ball gowns.

Polka dot and coiln dot chiffons appear in several collections; brown-and-white is a favorite color combination for these. Emerald green is used for some paisley-rpinted chiffons but the misty greens, blues and violets are favored, too.

What Young People Think

Teen Wishes for '59: Peace, Health, Faith

By EUGENE GILBERT
Gilbert Youth Research Co.

When the clock strikes midnight on New Year's Eve teenagers across the country will follow the age-old custom of making a wish for the new year.

What do they want most out of 1959?

An assured peace.
Better health for the families.
Better grades for themselves.

These three things, in the minds of most teenagers, would make 1959 the happiest of years.

Where the shape of the world is concerned, peace led all other teenager hopes by a wide margin.

"If the whole world were assured of peace," said 18-year-old Ann Decherd of Meriden, Conn., "what a wonderful world this would be."

HOPE OF 3 IN 4

And 76 per cent of the teenagers contacted in our nationwide survey agreed most fervently with her.

"With peace," said 14-year-old Mary McQuiddy of St. Louis, Mo., "the world could look forward to a future of accomplishments."

And, added 17-year-old Milan Stitt of Detroit, "religion and civilization could grow unhampered."

Next after peace in teenager hopes for what 1959 will bring to their country and the world came the overthrow of Communism, with a 14 per cent vote.

This did not mean however that these youngsters wanted peace at any price.

Many equated world peace with the overthrow of Communism, agreeing with Mickey Guthrie of Atlanta, Ga., that the downfall of Communism would "insure and assured peace." Others, like 19-year-old Joan Miller of Ann Arbor, Mich., felt that it "couldn't be done without another world war."

★ ★ ★

And some, like David Thornton, 19, of Williamstown, Mass., hoped against hope for the downfall of Communism but doubted it would come to pass in 1959. "Although virtually impossible," he conceded, "it would free many people."

Compared with peace and the overthrow of Communism, all other teenage wishes for their country and the world in 1959 finished far down in the wishing well.

Settlement of the segregation issue and a decrease in class and religious hatreds each drew a 2.2 per cent tally. Greater prosperity for America and more adequate schools tied at 1.8 per cent.

Steve Gossett, 17, of St. Louis, Mo., lumped the worlds of science, sports and international relations into one giant New Year's wish: "United States to conquer space, Cardinals to win the World Series, and revolution in China and Russia."

Sylvia Kruebbe, 17-year-old New Orleans wish-maker, hoped 1959 would bring "a good clean state and city government in Louisiana."

MORE FAITH NEEDED

For their family and their friends in 1959, 51.4 per cent of the teenagers chose better health as the leading wish for the new year. Next, with a 31 per cent vote, came the wish for increased religious faith in the family, followed by a 9.4 per cent vote for a better family income.

★ ★ ★

In family wishes, teenagers gave more harmony among children in the family a 4.6 per cent wishful vote, compared with only 1.8 per cent vote for more harmony between parents.

The fact that health scored far ahead of family income among wishful thinking teenagers was heavily underscored in their answers.

"Health is worth more than money," declared 17-year-old Carolyn Faller of New Orleans.

"No amount of money," seconded Gail Leith, 18, of Exeter, N. H., "can buy perfect health."

Putting the feelings of the majority into one succinct phrase, 14-year-old Merle Scopel of Clayton, Mo., answered: "I want healthy parents, not wealthy parents."

Most of those wishing for increased religious faith in the family in 1959 saw it as an important way of bringing the family closer together.

★ ★ ★

Increased family faith, said 17-year-old Sara Hogue of New Orleans "would bring us closer together and closer to God."

"We need something to hold to," answered 16-year-old Dianne Burdick of Oklahoma City.

"There's always room in a family," philosophized 16-year-old Sue Kingsley of Detroit, "for more trust in God."

Where they themselves were concerned, teenaged wishers turned to the world they know best, the world of school and church and their own friends.

THEY'LL TAKE 'As'

Better grades were uppermost in the thoughts of 47.2 per cent of those interviewed, who probably were combining a New Lear's wish with a New Year's resolution.

"I'd like to have all A's," said 17-year-old Anne Raymond of Dayton, Ohio, setting her sights on academic perfection. Similarly, 19-year-old Martin Schneider wanted A's on his report card, "because you need them to get into college and you need them to stay in college."

Other teenagers were more modest in their wishes. Some wanted to do well enough to reach the upper third of their class or to win acceptance at a private college or simply "to get out of high school."

★ ★ ★

Next on the wishing list for 1959 was more attention to religious duties, with 15 per cent of the teenagers choosing it as the leading hope for the new year.

"With this," said 19-year-old Paula Pokrandt of LaCrosse, Wis., "all other things will fall into place."

Significantly, teenagers hoped for more in religion and education than they did for material gains in 1959.

Only 5 per cent wanted a more active social life, less than 4 per cent wanted to lose or gain weight in the coming year, only 2 per cent wanted better health for themselves (compared with 51.4 per cent for their families). And less than 2 per cent wanted a steady boy or girl friend, better clothes or better food in 1959.

Have You Tried This?

Cocoa Sponge Cake Roll Cream Filled, Frosted

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Surely, you haven't done all the entertaining you intend to for the winter. We know you'll like to serve Mrs. Albert Riley's Chocolate Roll for a party soon.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Riley does some church work and enjoys playing bridge. She has a small son.

CHOCOLATE ROLL
By Mrs. Albert Riley

6 eggs
1 cup sugar
⅓ cup sifted flour
6 tablespoons cocoa
½ teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 pint whipping cream

Beat egg yolks thoroughly. Slowly add sugar mixed with cocoa. Add vanilla, then flour mixed with baking powder. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites.

Spread out in greased cookie sheet. Bake 20-25 minutes at 350 degrees.

Have a wet towel ready on the table. Turn cake pan upside down onto damp towel. Place another wet towel on pan. Let cool, then loosen cake with spatula.

Whip one-half pint cream, sweeten to taste, add a little vanilla. Spread evenly over cake and roll up. Whip second half pint of cream and frost entire roll. Garnish with nuts and cherries.

★ ★ ★

This may be made the day before serving if you frost the roll with whipped cream just before serving.

With Spices

'Thyme' to Experiment

Necessity may be the mother of invention, but in food it is the mother of ingenuity, too!

A quick glance at the shelf in your local store will tell you that meats, poultry, fish and vegetables can get the glamour treatment with the subtle use of such spices as tarragon, marjoram, rosemary and thyme, not to mention a happy host of others.

So it is with diet restrictions, too. A low-fat diet, for instance, will be easier to follow if you learn to be creative with foods that are permissible.

Experiment with herbs and seasonings. Learn which seasonings are most suitable for the variety of foods you can eat. Thyme, for example, enhances the flavor of meats, especially veal, and is a happy addition to sauces, soups and salads, as well. Take your "thyme" while you discover other delightful combinations.

★ ★ ★

No matter what your diet problems may be, imagination is the most valuable ingredient you can use, in order to insure more appetizing, eye-appealing meals.

Household Hint

Antiques collectors suggest using old quilts to give dramatic effects when upholstering. The quilts are especially effective when used to cover country-type settees.

★ ★ ★

Add a spicy flavor to pie crust by blending ground ginger into the dough. Use ¼ teaspoon for a two-crust pie.

The bulky look in this sweater is created with combed mohair and curled wool. The long-lined sweater features a boat neckline with a wide cuff, and the short sleeves also are accented by a wide cuff.

Junior Must Realize We Have Own Lives

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

The Wilsons had planned an evening on the town to celebrate their 10th wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Wilson's mother came early to feed supper to the children so that her daughter could get ready.

She was spooning apricots into young Betsy when Mrs. Wilson came downstairs in her new ruby-colored taffeta dress. Betsy stared.

Mr. Wilson, startled out of his impatient waiting, gave his wife a whistle of admiration. Feeling suddenly young, gay and irresponsible, she swayed into a rumba step, broke off and cried to her assembled family, "I think I look nice, too."

Annoyed, her 8-year-old son said, "You look stupid. You look dopey in that rotten dress."

This attack destroyed much of her joy.

Yet it is not a rare form of attack by children. They are apt to resent any exhilaration we feel that doesn't concern them, and will smack us down out of jealous fear that we may get so carried away by our private happiness that we'll forget to come back to earth and see to providing their breakfasts, clean underwear and other survival needs.

They get frightened that the familiar, reliable Mommy who's always so interested in them may get interested in herself.

Understanding this, we may be led to say to our young attacker: "I am happy to be your Mommy, but I'm also happy to be going on this party with Daddy."

★ ★ ★

In these situations, we should certainly reassure them, but at the same time assert our right to private pleasure.

If we don't assert it, we behave apologetically as though we were criminals.

We give the young the idea that there's something bad about wanting private pleasure. This is not a very healthy impression to grow up with.

Say Ladies

Fit Chairs to Husbands

"If you're going to buy your husband a new chair buy one that looks like him" . . . so said several delegates to a recent convention for better living.

The ladies had solved the problem, at least for themselves, of how to choose the just-right comfortable chair for papa and still make it fit into a decorating scheme.

Thinking of her tall Texan, one rancher's wife commented, "it's the inside of the chair that has to fit . . . it's not how wide the arms are, or how extra thick the back is, or whether the upholstery comes down to the floor or the chair has feet . . . that makes it comfortable for a man.

★ ★ ★

"It's whether the seat is long enough from back to front for his legs from the hip to the knee, and whether the back is slanted for resting and is high enough for his shoulders and neck."

You Can Be Bored if You Really Try

By RUTH MILLETT

A woman is bound to be boring if she—

Works harder at staying thin than at anything else.

Takes greatest pride in being a "perfect housekeeper."

Assumes that everyone else is as interested in her health as she is.

Quotes her husband whenever she is expected to give an opinion of her own.

Is still trying to be "cute" at forty or fifty.

Consistently does more than her share of talking and less than her share of listening.

Talks about her children all the time.

Wants everyone to know how rushed she is and how hectic her life is.

Never reads anything—but depends on TV to keep her both amused and informed.

Never really listens to any voice but her own, and will even break into the middle of someone else's sentence to have her say.

Is sure that nothing is as good as it used to be, and is always saying so in a petulant voice.

Is easily hurt, so that you have to watch what you say for fear of hurting her tender feelings.

Has no sympathy for others and isn't really touched by any tragedy or any bad luck that doesn't directly affect her.

"Hasn't changed a bit" in the last 10 years.

Mix Corn Starch and Baby Powder

If you have asthma or sinus trouble and bath powder irritates your nose, cornstarch is an excellent substitute.

It doesn't make a cloud, is smooth on the skin. To add a sweet smell, mix it half and half with baby powder.

Drilling costs account for 47 per cent of the expense of finding and producing oil.

Hair Needs More Care in Winter

With the coming of cold weather, women who had no hair problems before suddenly find that their hair refuses to curl, develops stick-like ends and flattens out to the head.

It is, in short, stubborn and hard to handle. A permanent helps even if you don't have one at any other time of year. But it also adds to the problem in a sense. It further dries out the hair and that is exactly what was wrong with it to start.

Just as your skin needs creaming in order not to be dry and crackly, so does your hair need creaming all winter long. But it doesn't need gooey lotions. It needs the precious oils restored gently.

A conditioner and a hairdressing will give best results if you brush it in thoroughly.

Dozens of wild ponies are driven from a nearby island and sold at an annual auction each summer at Chicoteague, Va.

New Year...Like New Hat... Should Bring You a Lift!

By LYDIA ROTHMAN

Now that the New Year's Eve celebrations are all over, it's time to get down to the serious business of New Year's Resolution Making.

Naturally — we know that some of those eleborate and elegant resolutions will be broken within the next 24 hours or so—"human frailty," you know!

But now that the New Year is here—it's like a new hat or hairdo and can give you a wonderful lift to start afresh.

For instance, how about that diet you've been about to start (me too) . . . no more holiday goodies around the house, and that fresh air is great to exercise in, and keeps you busy and away from the icebox too.

★ ★ ★

Some of us have a habit—not being on time to work . . . Well once in awhile the alarm clock doesn't go off. But getting to work on time is just a habit . . . so try it for the next week while th einspiration of the New Year is still with you . . . who knows you might even get a raise for it.

A PENNY SAVED

And of course there's always the problem of money. We see something that we've just got to have . . . well curb that desire and save those pennies . . . and after awhile it seems like the thing to do . . .

For our younger friends. . . if you have a pet . . . he likes to get outside for his exercise too, and its more fun with you along. So why not make a resolution to take care of the pets yourself?

★ ★ ★

Resolutions don't have to be for just now either . . . For instance come spring . . . and the house needs new paint . . . why not resolve right here and not to paint that house?

★ ★ ★

We wish you the best of luck on whatever your resolutions are, and also—Happy New Year.

Don't Hibernate All Winter; Go Out for Walks

In the winter, it's a lot easier to sit hunched over a TV set in an overheated room than it is to get out and walk in weather that may be unpleasant.

But sitting will get you pasty skin, dry hair and added poundage, whereas a walk every single day, in good weather and in bad, will get you a trim figure, a glowing skin and glossy hair.

If you are to maintain both health and good looks, you must depend on your legs to get you about. It pays far greater dividends than you'll ever get by simply transferring yourself from living room to car for an errand.

Prized by the 14½-to-26½ figure — the shirtdress success that's proportioned to fit and flatter with no alteration worries. Sew it now for '59. Tomorrow's pattern: Smart apron.

Printed Pattern 4848: Half sizes 14½, 16½, 18½, 20½, 22½, 24½, 26½. Size 16½ takes 3 yards 45-inch fabric.

Printed directions on each pattern part. Easier, accurate.

Send fifty cents in coins for this pattern — add 10 cents for each pattern for 1st-class mailing. Send to Anne Adams, care of The Pontiac Press, 137 Pattern Dept., 243 West 17th St., New York 11, N. Y. Print plainly name, address with zone, size and style number.

The Green Empress

(Copyright 1958) . . . by Elizabeth Cadell

THE STORY: Angus Graham, invalided out of the Navy, is amused at being hired as a "liaison officer" for the simple job of courier on a superlative luxury bus tour in Europe. He's filling in for a friend. Wax Sealing. The passenger list sounds impressive — Lord Lorrimer, father of a Navy friend; with his lovely daughter Angela Clunes, and his secretary, Lionel Yule; obviously in love with Angela; Mr. Zoller, philanthropist, and his wife; Admiral Peterson and his psychic sister, Mrs. Denby-Warre; the irrepressible young Sir Maurice Tarrant; Stanton Holt, an American, and Miss Seton, with the warm, humorous, intelligent eyes. Miss Seton is half-sister to Rosamund Blake who has just recently completed a film in Italy and is sailing to South America. She plans to surprise Rosamund by meeting her boat in Lisbon. In the middle of the night Miss Seton receives a mysterious telephone call with bad news. Prowlers try to get at the Green Empress. Angus and Angela are in love and Lord Lorrimer tells them they must grasp happiness when it's offered. A second attempt is made to enter the garage. Tarrant admits his guilty saying it was just a boyish prank. A stricter watch will have to be kept on the bus at night. Holt, a thought reader, asks Miss Seton if she had bad news, and offers to help her.

CHAPTER XV

"Now, Miss Seton," Mr. Holt said, "I think you've taken a knock and I like the way you've taken it, and all I'm saying is that perhaps I could help you.

"I'm forty-three years old and I've led a busy life and I've moved around and I guess that a lot of the things that have hit other people have hit me too — so how do you know that I haven't had this trouble that you've got now?

"Everybody has the same troubles. Your parents die, so do mine. Other people lose money, I lose money. Other people make fools of themselves, I do it all the time. So you see? Your troubles are my troubles."

There was a pause. Miss Seton seemed about to speak, and changed her mind.

"One of the first things you said to me," Mr. Holt reminded her, "was that I had a lot of courage. Well, I think you've got a lot of courage, too. That makes two of us, and the more I think of the two of us . . . . What's your first name?"

"Caroline."

"Caroline." He sounded pleased. "That's a nice name, and it suits you. Could I use it?"

Angus moved out of earshot, wondering whether the cool, self-possessed Miss Seton would find herself having to deal with more than one problem on the journey.

HE'D WORK HARD

He felt that Mr. Holt was a man who, once embarked upon a project, would work hard to bring it to a successful conclusion.

One by one, the passengers rose and strolled back to the waiting coach. The rain had stopped and a fitful sun was shining.

Mrs. Denby-Warre distributed small change to a group of brown-faced children who had gathered at the side of the road, and remarked that she would give a lot to see a plump, clear-skinned English child.

"Stronger than they look, these children," her brother told her. "They're tough."

"They may be tough—" began Mrs. Denby-Warre, and stopped. Lionel Yule, who had entered the coach behind Angela, was now standing on the step looking pale and almost panic-stricken.

His eyes sought out Angus, and he spoke in an agitated voice.

"My . . . my dispatch case. It's gone."

"Gone?"

"I left it on the seat when I got out of the coach. It's — it's gone."

Without a answering, Angus walked forward and boarded the coach.

"It was there, on my seat, and it isn't there now."

"Is it in your locker?" asked Angus.

"No, I looked."

Ferdy's form appeared in the doorway.

"Anything wrong, sir?"

"Mr. Yule has mislaid his dispatch case."

"In which," added Lionel, "there are a number of very important documents." He glanced across at Lord Lorrimer, and the latter spoke quietly.

"Papers which wouldn't," he said, "be of much use or interest — and certainly no value — to thieves. I think they must merely be mislaid."

"I was working on them an hour ago," said Lionel; "and I intended to take them up to my room tonight and finish off a few notes. When I got up to leave the coach, I put the case on my seat."

PROBABLY SLIPPED

"If that's so" — it was Miss Seton's voice. She had stepped into the coach and Angus was grateful for the coolness of her words and manner — "it probably slipped down somewhere and somebody may have picked it up and put it in another place — or in one of the lockers for safety."

She began to move from one locker to the next, beginning at the admiral's and moving up the aisle, opening the doors and peering inside.

Mr. Holt, who had followed her into the coach, conducted a search on the opposite side.

"Not a sign of it," he reported at the end.

"Nor this side," said Miss Seton.

Angus was turning out the contents of the cupboard. Ferdy was on his knees searching the floor and thrusting his hand deep into the space behind the cushions of the seats.

* * *

At the end of the search, there was nothing to report but failure.

"It isn't here, sir," said Ferdy, getting to his feet and brushing his trousers.

"Could it have dropped off the coach?" suggested Miss Seton.

They were all waiting uneasily, some in, some out of the coach. The group of children drew near and the admiral waved them away, shooing them before him like a flock of geese.

"Are you sure you didn't take it in with you when you went into the farmhouse?" he returned to ask Lionel.

"I left it on my seat," reiterated Lionel firmly. "I put it down, draped my coat round me to keep off the rain, and walked out of the coach."

"Who came out after you?" asked Angus.

"I did, for one," said Mr. Holt.

MAURICE OUT LAST

"Did you see the case?"

"No, I didn't — but I don't think I happened to look over to that side of the coach. Come to think of it, I threw my coat over my head, kind of like an umbrella, and made a dash for it."

"I came out after Mr. Holt," said Miss Seton. "I was the last but one."

"And I was the last," said Maurice. "Did you see the case?"

"Yes, I did," he answered without hesitation. "It was lying on the seat. I saw it as I left my own seat, which is almost opposite Yule's. Are you sure," he asked Lionel, "that you didn't have a feeling you oughtn't to have left it there, and went back to fetch it?"

"I didn't go back to the coach," said Lionel.

Mental Hospital Fire Checked in Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP) — A two-alarm fire swept through a storage building at a state mental hospital early today but was checked before it could spread to patients' quarters.

Hospital officials said there were no injuries and that patients were in no danger.

A spokesman for Spring Grove State Hospital said 35 patients had been moved out of the building only three weeks ago because the structure was considered a fire-trap.

Khrushchev Says '58 Good Year

Tells Guests at Party at Kremlin He Hates to See It End

MOSCOW (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev told Kremlin guests at a New Year's party early today that "I hate to see 1958 end" because it had been such a good year.

During the old year Khrushchev took over as Soviet premier, launched a plan to make Russian living standards the world's highest, watched a U. S. recession, sat by while the West struggled with crises in the Middle East and the Formosa Strait, and demanded that the West get out of West Berlin—among other things.

* * *

Khrushchev did not mention these things to his 700 guests.

In an obvious effort not to ruffle anyone's feathers, he didn't even bring up Berlin. He had received U. S., British and French rejections of his Berlin proposals Wednesday.

Diplomats attending the ball said the atmosphere this year was more pleasant and relaxed than last year's party. Khrushchev proposed many toasts, but avoided offending Western diplomats joining in.

* * *

There was no individual toast to President Eisenhower as there had been last year.

Khrushchev toasted Communist youth, representatives of all friendly countries represented in Moscow, the Soviet people, the Red army, Soviet women, the common people and other Communist countries.

'58 Traffic Toll in State 1,338

State Police Say Total Not Final Until Late Reports Come In

By The Associated Press

State Police ended a grim countdown at midnight last night.

The count was 1,338 highway deaths recorded for Michigan in 1958.

Even as the stroke of 12 stopped tolling, the count started again—recording the toll traffic will take in 1959.

Police emphasize that the figures for 1958 are not final.

The estimate is that the final count will show 1,375 persons killed on Michigan highways in the past year.

Late reports will swell the figure. Added to the count will be those among the some 56,000 injured who died days or weeks later.

Grim as these figures are, police and safety officials are encouraged.

If the projected final total is accurate, the death rate last year will be a 10.5 per cent reduction from the 1,537 killed in 1957.

A lighter December fatality count helped safety officials reach the goal of at least a 10 per cent cut in traffic deaths. Preliminary figures showed 115 dead in December, down 39 from last year.

Joseph A. Childs, State Police Commissioner, said he was hopeful that last year's low death incident over the New Year would be repeated. Only three persons were killed over the holiday period last year.

New Stamp for Alaska Out Jan. 3

WASHINGTON (AP)—The new Alaska statehood commemorative airmail stamp will go on sale at Juneau, Alaska, on Saturday Jan. 3. This is the date for Alaska's entry into the union.

The announcement yesterday by Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield said the stamps will be available in all the nation's post offices as rapidly as distribution can be completed after the initial sale at Juneau.

The stamp, executed by designer Richard C. Lockwood, is in special-delivery size, arranged horizontally. Printed in blue, it features the big dipper and the North Star of the Alaskan Flag, superimposed on a map of Alaska. The central design is flanked by wooded hills and snow-topped mountains symbolic of the resources, scenic wonders and vacation opportunities of the new 49th state.

The Alaska statehood stamp will be the first ever issued on the actual date of admission of a territory. The initial order for the stamp calls for a printing of 90 million.

Changes in Social Security

Check Higher in February

By RAY HENRY
Associated Press Writer

If you're now collecting Social Security payments, your February check will be higher. You don't have to ask for the increase, it'll come to you automatically.

The raise is due to a change in the scale of payments which goes into effect today (Jan. 1). The higher payments won't show up until your February check because Social Security payments received at the beginning of a month are always for the previous month.

How much the increase will mean to you in dollars and cents depends on how much you're getting now. Most of the increases will be about 7 per cent. So, you can get a rough idea of the raise by adding 7 per cent to your check.

Below are actual comparisons of the old and new scale of payments:

Retired Worker and Wife (A)		Retired or Disabled Worker Alone (B)
Present check	Feb. check	Present check	Feb. check
$ 45	$ 49.50	$ 30	$ 33
60	64.50	40	43
75	79.50	50	53
82.50	88.50	55	59.
90	96.00	60	64
97.50	105.00	65	70
105.00	112.50	70	75
112.50	120.00	75	80
120.00	129.00	80	86
127.50	136.50	85	91
142.50	153.00	95	102
157.50	168.00	105	112
162.80	174.00	108.50	116

(A) The scale shown here applies only if the wife started receiving Social Security after reaching 65. Because of the wide variation in payments to wives if they start collecting payments between 62 and 65, the scale for such payments can't be listed here.

(B) Only applies to workers who retired after 65, not women workers who retired between 62 and 65. The scale not included for such women for same reason as mentioned above.

Freighter Blaze Under Control

Fire Spreads to Oil Barges; Blasts Rock New Orleans Harbor

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Fire-fighting tugs swiftly controlled roaring flames on a Japanese freighter and two barges, touched off Wednesday night when the freighter Asia Maru collided with a string of oil barges in the Mississippi River.

Explosions rocked the area south of downtown New Orleans about 8:50 p.m.

★ ★ ★

Two men were injured, both on the Asia Maru. One was identified only as Singahara. No identification was available immediately on the second injured man.

Both were taken to the U.S. Public Health Service Hospital here for treatment. The extent of their injuries was not known immediately.

The Asia Maru, a Liberty ship, owned by First Shipping Co. Limited of Japan, was headed downstream from Baton Rouge, loaded with 10,600 tons of soybeans. It was bound for Yokahoma, Japan.

★ ★ ★

The ship collided with three oil barges pushed by the tug E. B. Ingram. The Coast Guard said two of the barges caught fire, the third drifted harmlessly until taken in tow.

Harbor patrol reported the entire forward section of the Asia Maru was ablaze.

The tugs reached the two burning oil barges and the Harbor Patrol said the fire quickly was brought under control.

Officers to Be Elected at Rochester Church

ROCHESTER — Election of officers and board members will highlight the annual meeting of the First Congregational Church here on Thursday evening, Jan. 8.

Dinner will be served by the Women's Fellowship at 6:30 p.m. Following the business meeting, a devotional service dedicating the annual reports and a memorial service for deceased members will be held in the church sanctuary.

Township Tax Penalty Starts After January 20

OAKLAND TOWNSHIP — The deadline for payment of township taxes without a four per cent penalty is Jan. 20, Walter T. Barkham, treasurer, announced today.

Barkham said the township office at 4393 Collins Rd., Rochester will be open from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. every Friday and Saturday for the convenience of taxpayers.

Franchise to Go on Ballot

Special Vote Out

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP—There will be no special election granting a renewal of a 30-year franchise for Consumers Power Company, because of the interpretation of a state law by the attorney general.

At a special meeting at the township hall this week, board members rescinded the approved special-election resolution and registered voters will decide the issue at the primary election Feb. 16.

The state law prohibits any election, 60 days prior to a regular election.

The township board approved an ordinance granting the company the rights "to maintain and operate gas pipes along, across, and under highways, streets, alleys bridges and other public places."

Also at the township board meeting, Robert Anglemier, representing residents of the Pelton Hills subdivision, presented objections to the newly installed 1½-mile race track at the Oakland County Sportsmen's club.

He told board members that the speeding cars were creating a disturbance, and area residents were alarmed as to the safety angles, at the sharp turns.

The race track has been leased to the Oakland County Racing Club, and encircles some 80 acres in the Waterford area.

According to Harold Doebler, township clerk, there is no ordinance controlling race track activities in Independence Township.

Guatemala Attacks Boats; May Spur Mexican Break

GUATEMALA (AP) — A diplomatic break between Guatemala and neighboring Mexico loomed today because Guatemalan planes shot up three boats charged with fishing illegally in territorial waters.

Mexico said two of the boats were hers. The owner of one was killed and a sailor and a cook were wounded while shrimping legally in Mexican waters, reports from Mexico City contended.

A Mexican senator said diplomatic relations probably would be broken if Guatemala didn't apologize.

The press office of Guatemalan President Miguel Ydigoras Fuentes announced the machinegunning attack by air force planes Wednesday without specifying the boats' nationalities.

The announcement said two of the boats followed signals from the planes and ran aground at Tilapa, more than 100 miles down the Pacific coast from the Mexican border. Authorities later disclosed that five wounded crewmen had been interned in the military hospital in this capital, 60 miles inland from Tilapa.

The authorities refused to identify the five but said two were in serious condition.

The third boat was reported sailing in difficulty for Champerico, about 30 miles inside Guatemala. There was no indication of its nationality.

Gen. Ydigoras Fuentes had said Monday that U.S. and Mexican boats were fishing illegally in the nation's Pacific waters. These "bandits and pirates" would be fired upon beginning Wednesday, the president warned. The Mexican government said such attacks would violate international law.

After the attack, Ydigoras Fuentes told reporters the air force had acted "in defense of our territorial waters and coasts." He added a hint that fishermen might be engaged in arms smuggling.

The Mexican Foreign Ministry called the situation "undeniably grave" and said it would take proper measures when official reports had been received.

Rodolfo Brena Torres, chairman of the Mexican Senate steering committee, said diplomatic relations probably would be broken today if Guatemala did not present diplomatic excuses.

Auto Magazine Reports Industry's Output Is Lowest in Ten Years

DETROIT (AP) — The trade paper Automotive News estimates 1958 car production at 4,241,300 units, a dip of 30.6 per cent from 1957 and the lowest figure for the industry since 1948.

Truck output was similarly down with an estimated 867,000 units, lowest since 1946.

The trade paper estimated December auto production at 591,264 units with 93,704 trucks. November production totals were 514,099 cars and 94,414 trucks.

Figures for the current week were estimated at 95,249 total cars with 65,347 of them built through today. Last week, despite the Christmas holiday, the industry turned out 104,907 cars. In the week ended Jan. 4, 1958 the industry built 77,677 cars.

Truck production for this week is estimated at 13,711 units compared with 15,198 last week and 12,614 in the similar week a year ago.

Canadian estimates for the week are 6,534 cars and trucks compared 6,360 last week and 3,978 a year ago.

Township Has Class for Auxiliary Police

PONTIAC TOWNSHIP — Residents in Pontiac Township are urged to enroll in a class and become auxiliary police. Fire Chief Carl Schingeck, director of the township's civil defense operations, has announced.

A ten week course of traffic and police procedures will begin under the instruction of a state trooper or deputy sheriff as soon as 20 to 25 men sign up.

The township's first class was graduated in the summer.

Interested residents are to contact Schingeck or any Pontiac Township fireman.

Lyon Township Forms Its First Dem Party

LYON TOWNSHIP — The first Democrat Party in the history of the township has been formed with an eye on the upcoming spring elections, it was announced today by Daniel Foley Jr., precinct delegate.

The committee is composed of Foley, Carl N. Nystie and Alfred Travis. Foley has filed a petition for township clerk. He will oppose the incumbent Kirk Joslin, Republican, in the election Feb. 16.

Consumers Franchise to Be Placed on Ballot

OAKLAND TOWNSHIP — The township board met in special session yesterday to pass the resolution necessary to set up an ordinance and election at the time of the February primary to vote on a 30-year franchise sought by the Consumers Power Co.

The ordinance, if adopted, would allow the utility company to install mains and pipes in the township and maintain them during the term the franchise is in force, Frank J. Voll Sr., township supervisor, said today.

Officers to Be Elected at Rochester Church

ROCHESTER — Election of officers and board members will highlight the annual meeting of the First Congregational Church here on Thursday evening, Jan. 8.

Dinner will be served by the Women's Fellowship at 6:30 p.m. Following the business meeting, a devotional service dedicating the annual reports and a memorial service for deceased members will be held in the church sanctuary.

2 Candidates Omitted on Independence List

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP—Two candidates for nomination in the February 16 Primary election were inadvertently omitted from the list printed in the Pontiac Press Tuesday.

Republican Howard Altman has filed his petition for treasurer, and Harold Bauer, also a Republican, is a candidate for nomination as trustee to the township board.

1958 Worst Year in Recent Auto History for All but One Company

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT (AP)—For all but one of the nation's auto makers 1958 was the worst year in recent automotive industry history.

It was a year that saw a decline of more than 1¾ million car assemblies and a retail sales drop of nearly 1¼ million units from the preceding year's volume. The year brought losses of profit cuts for all makers except American Motors.

American Motors, riding high on a bulging demand for smaller, lower priced cars, built and sold nearly twice as many vehicles in 1958 as it did in the preceding year. For American Motors it was the best year since that company was formed by the merger of Nash-Kelvinator Corp. and Hudson Motor Car Co. in 1954.

When the 1958 production and sales are finally tabulated they probably will come to nearly 4¼ million domestic car assemblies and about 4,780,000 retail deliveries.

The latter figure would include about 300,000 imported car sales. In 1957 production of U. S. made cars totaled approximately 6,115,000 units. Sales were nearly six million, including 206,000 imports.

For the year ahead, sales are expected to total 5½ million U. S. cars, plus up to 400,000 imported cars. Some economists, however, see a sharp increase in disposable income and put the figure at more than 6,300,000 plus the indicated 400,000 imported car sales.

★ ★ ★

Outstanding events of 1958 included:

Expiration of union labor contracts and months-long negotiations leading to new agreements.

Top-heavy inventories that brought sharp production cutbacks and were further leveled off by work stoppages that followed the new labor agreements.

Sharp criticism of car styling that brought some hurried last minute changes for 1959.

Continuing rise in the demand for smaller, lower priced cars.

Studebaker-Packard's entry into the smaller car field in an effort to survive in the automotive industry.

American Motors' move into the profit column with its small car and its decision to drop production of Nash and Hudson models.

Studebaker-Packard's discontinuance of the Packard line.

Advent of the Federal Price Labeling Law requiring attachment of stickers on all new cars giving factory suggested list prices for car and all accessories.

Chrysler's purchase of a sizeable interest in Simca, French auto company, getting it into the smaller car field.

Election of Frederic G. Donner as chairman and chief executive officer, and John F. Gordon as president and chief operations officer, of General Motors. They took over the duties of Harlow H. Curtice, who retired on Oct. 1.

★ ★ ★

A drab January-June sales record influenced many car makers to wind up their production of 1958 models weeks earlier than usual.

This was part of the program adopted to reduce dealer inventories that reached near record proportions at 865,506 cars on March 1. By the start of the new model year they were estimated to have been reduced to 200,000 units.

Ford especially was heavily hit by the cut in retail demand for 1958 cars. As reflected in its production report, the sales lag cut Ford's January-October output.

Chrysler's volume for the January-October period was down to 478,908 cars from 1,056,442 in the like 1957 period. General Motors got 1,579,701 car assemblies in the 1958 period against 2,228,115 in the same 1957 period.

In their financial reports for the first nine months of 1958 Ford and Chrysler reported losses of $16,209,000 and $42,500,000 respectively, against income of $229,500,000 and $103,575,486 respectively in the like 1957 period.

General Motors' January-September income dropped to $390,147,515 from $803,412,329 in the same 1957 period.

In the first nine months of its fiscal year American Motors had a net income of $14,583,416 against a loss of $6,467,926 in the like previous period.

Studebaker-Packard had a $22,532,511 loss for the January-September period of 1958 compared with a $12,365,689 in the same 1957 period.

Initial reports on the reception accorded the industry's 1959 model cars generally have been encouraging. Most companies put assembly operations on an overtime basis, saying it was needed to build up depleted inventories.

Ahead for 1959 undoubtedly is a better year for the car makers. The predictions of a sales volume in excess of 6½ million cars come from nonautomotive economists who sprinkle a liberal number of "ifs" in their appraisals.

Major stipulation, of course, is the availability of expendable income. Another is the appeal of substantially altered styling.

The cars that were criticized as too gaudy in 1958 are making less lavish use of bright trim generally. But already there has been some criticism of cars too long and too wide among 1959 models.

More smaller, lower priced American-built cars undoubtedly are coming. Aside from increased volume by American Motors and Studebaker-Packard's entry into that market, General Motors, Ford and Chrysler are expected to put their own smaller units into production in time for the 1960 model year.

But, rather than "small" cars, these will be "smaller" cars. And their sponsors will call them economy cars rather than small vehicles. They will be on 108-inch wheelbases against the 100-inch and less of the very popular imported models.

MSU Gets Loan in Fast Action

Able to Meet Payroll After 11th-Hour Ruling, Bankers Cooperate

EAST LANSING (AP) — Like the Marines riding to the rescue, the attorney general's office and some fast-on-the-feet bankers helped Michigan State University meet its payroll today.

It was a cliff-hanger type of operation.

A late afternoon opinion yesterday by the attorney general's office affirmed MSU's legal right to borrow. University comptroller Philip J. May did some frantic phoning to the bankers.

The result was a loan of $1,400,000.

★ ★ ★

May said the fast action saved Michigan State from having to sell some bonds "probably at a loss" to meet the payroll due today.

The crisis came about because the state, in rocky financial shape itself, has withheld two monthly payments due the three major universities.

Michigan State is owed $4,400,000; the University of Michigan, $5,200,000; and Wayne State University, $1,600.00.

The State Board of Agriculture, MSU governing board, had authorized a borrowing of $2,550,000. However, bankers raised the question of the legal right of the universities to borrow and the attorney general's opinion was sought.

The opinion held the agriculture board "has the implied right to borrow money and issue notes pledging revenues to be collected from student fees."

There was no ruling on whether MSU could borrow against funds appropriated by the legislature but not yet received, a second part of the question.

★ ★ ★

A spokesman for the attorney general's office said this ruling probably would not be issued for several weeks.

Raising Reward Check Brings Larceny Charge

NEW YORK (UPI)—Because it contained her driver's license and passport and even though there was no money in it, marine stewardess Evelyn Casper was so grateful to Leopold Goetz for returning the wallet she had lost that she gave him a check for $75.

But police charged that Goetz raised the amount on the check to $175 before cashing it. He was charged with petit larceny.

Nobu McCarthy . . . Yes, That's It

Japanese Actress Likes Husband's Irish Name

By JAMES BACON
AP Motion Picture Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Nobu McCarthy is a fetching Japanese actress with an Irish name — and what better way to start the new year than with an Oriental paradox?

★ ★ ★

Nobu is Jerry Lewis' love interest in "Geisha Boy," a part she almost didn't get because she looked too Japanese on her first audition.

She showed up wearing a Japanese kimono, the costume that she wears in the picture. Lewis and director Frank Tashlin turned her down.

★ ★ ★

"I can see why," says Nobu, "because I never wore kimonos much until I came to America. We only wore them on New Year's in Tokyo. They are much more popular here."

Two weeks later, Nobu showed up at Lewis' office in sleek American clothes. He and Tashlin took one look and signed her.

"They wanted to change my name to Nobu Atsumi, my maiden name, but I refused. Then I asked Jerry if he could remember the name of the Japanese girl who played Marlon Brando's love in 'Sayonara.' He couldn't, so I said: 'There, that proves it. All Japanese names sound alike to Americans. But Nobu McCarthy, that's a name you can remember.'"

★ ★ ★

She is married to David McCarthy, an American GI whom she met when she was one of Tokyo's top fashion models.

★ ★ ★

Nobu is full of paradoxes. Although reared in Japan, she was born in Ottawa, Canada, and her parents and four brothers now live in Sao Paulo, Brazil.

"Our family is a traveling United Nations," she observes.

Another paradox:

Recently, Ward Bond, the wagonmaster of NBC-TV's Wagon Train, tossed a Japanese party in honor of Sessue Hayakawa's debut on the show. Nobu was invited, with other Japanese actresses, to lend atmosphere.

★ ★ ★

A CBS official spotted her. He told her to call on him the next day. She did and got herself signed for a new private eye TV series.

★ ★ ★

"I don't know how a CBS man got into an NBC party," says Nobu, "but my husband says, 'Don't ask questions. Just show up for the audition.'"

She's only been here two years but has become thoroughly Americanized. She thinks women get a better break here than in Japan — although the status of women has improved greatly since the war.

"In Japan," says Nobu, "the woman must always walk behind the man. The first thing I noticed here, especially in the department stores, was the man walking behind the woman."

That's the Way It Goes When You Play Chess

DETROIT (AP)—For the last 18 months, Ray Pearson has been playing a game of chess by mail with Wallis A. Cady of Clearwater, Fla.

Cady wrote to remind Pearson he hadn't made a move in seven months.

"I thought it was his move," Pearson explained.

Morocco's current population is about eight million.

Westerns Go On and On

By JACK GAVER

NEW YORK (UPI) — As the year ends and the TV season nears its halfway mark, what is the status of the predictions (wishful thinking?) made by the critics when the season started that the westerns had reached the saturation point and simply had to start downhill soon?

Frankly, the predictions don't look too good at this point. Maybe by next fall and a new season . . .

★ ★ ★

Anyway, right now these three things have to be acknowledged:

1. The established westerns such as "Gunsmoke," "Maverick," "Wyatt Earp," "Restless Gun," "Wells Fargo," "Have Gun, Will Travel," "Cheyenne," "Wagon Train" and so on are still mighty strong in the ratings.

2. Such new ones as "Bat Masterson," "Rifleman," "Lawman," "The Texan" and "Cimarron City" have been catching on. To say nothing of the fact that ABC's "Walt Disney Presents" on Fridays has devoted most of its time since the fall to hour-long adventures of two western heroes.

3. And certain programming adjustments going on right now will add at least two new westerns to the networks, with a third a possibility.

★ ★ ★

Involved under point No. 3 is a western entitled "Rawhide" at CBS. It is weekly, one hour and on film, and when a network commits itself in that fashion, it isn't kidding. A weekly, one-hour filmed show runs into heavy money.

"Rawhide," which CBS has had in reserve since last summer, will make its bow Jan. 9 in the 8-to-9 p.m. time Friday to fill the breach created by Jackie Gleason's decision that 13 weeks were enough to prove that his "comeback" as a weekly comic didn't take. He asked out, as of Jan. 3.

The second definite new western belongs to NBC. It is a weekly half-hour series called "Black Saddle" which will make its bow Jan. 10 in the 9-9:30 p.m. slot made vacant by the transfer of "Steve Canyon" to 8 p.m. Thursday on Jan 9. Any resemblance in the "Black Saddle" theme of gun-fighter-turned lawyer to Disney's "Elfego Baca" series is purely coincidental.

★ ★ ★

As further evidence in the case for the westerns, ABS's "Colt .45" and NBC's "Buckskin" might be cited. The former was new last season but appeared to have been abandoned last fall when the schedule was made out. But the season was only a few weeks old, when the network put it back on the air — and repeats at that.

★ ★ ★

"Buckskin" was a new show used as a summer replacement by NBC six months ago. It appeared to be doomed last fall, but it managed to survive some juggling as to time slots during the early part of the season. And it persists through another juggling next week when it is shifted from 7:30 p.m. Fridays to 7:30 p.m. Mondays.

So, if you're an anti-western viewer, about the only worthwhile advice at this point seems to be —pray.

Post for Clotheslines Bears Limbs, Leaves

CARROLLTON, Ky. (UPI) — Mrs. W. E. Rassman gets a little shade with her clothesline pole.

Two years ago she set the sycamore post in the ground and tied her clothesline to it. This spring the post sprouted limbs and leaves.

Pride Ruins Paint

MORRISTOWN, Ind. (UPI) — An insurance company paid off without protest when Curtis Smith sent in a claim for new paint job on his car. Smith reported a prideful peacock had spotted its own reflection on the auto's polished surface and proceeded to peck and claw the paint off in an effort to get at its nonexistent rival.

Leap Into the Potomac Wins Bet, Draws Fine

ARLINGTON, Va. (UPI) — Richard E. Zimmerman won his bet but the District of Columbia collected.

Zimmerman, 19, leaped from the Key Bridge over the Potomac River to win a $20 bet. But he forfeited a $20 deposit the Washington police department asked on a disorderly conduct charge.

Hitchhiker With Ideas

MUSKEGON (UPI) — Deputy sheriff Wesley Schoonfield investigated a report of a "dead man" on the road and found the body was that of a 16-year-old hitchhiker who thought it would be a good way to catch a ride.

In Alaska about three people live in the country to every one city dweller.

Of the total area of the U. S., about one-third is arid or semi-arid.

WATCHING MISSILES — This tracking station on the island of Oahu in the Hawaiian Islands is one of three installations being used by the military for keeping tabs on space probes and guided missiles. Automobiles in 1925 averaged only about 22,000 miles before they were scrapped. Now the age at which motor vehicles are deemed useless has risen to an average of 85,000 miles.

Temperatures as high as 189 degrees Fahrenheit have been recorded in Iraq.

Georgia has yielded to California in peach production but this state still leads the nation in other crops, among which are peanuts, watermelons, pimentoes and pecans.

Will Store Clerks Be Obsolete?

Robots Dispense Smokes, Food, Drinks and Change!

NEW YORK (UPI) — A retailing revolution now under way threatens to make store clerks as rare as dodo birds.

Today, vending machines are gulping down more than two billion dollars a year and dispensing tons of peanuts, cigarettes, soup, stockings, books, soft drinks, fishing tackle and even breast of pheasant.

A quarter-century ago, vending machines accounted for only 30 million dollars in sales.

Machines have changed radically over the years. Now it's possible to get change of a dollar from these robot salesmen.

Vending machines are found almost everywhere — theaters, transportation terminals, store fronts, gas stations, recreation areas and even along highways. Factories have completey automatic cafeterias and business offices have silent salesmen dispensing coffee, cake and ice cream.

A spokesman for the National Automatic Merchandising Association estimated that more than 80 per cent of the nation's factories use vending machines in some form to help feed workers. More than 20 per cent use machines exclusively.

"The future will see more and more industrial plants going in for automatic cafeterias — with no food touched by human hands."

The NAMA official said a new machine soon to be in wide use serves a complete hot meal in one package. The buyer has his choice of spaghetti and meatballs, hot dogs and beans, roast beef and brussel sprouts, or even filet of flounder with potatoes and vegetable.

The menu also can include such delicacies as breast of pheasant or curried shrimp. All meals are served in aluminum plates.

This fancy robot combines in one unit a stove and a refrigerator. At lunch time, the food which has been kept refrigerated is heated to a pre-set temperature. After lunch it is re-cooled.

S. W. (Bill) Cobourn, institutional sales manager for the Campbell Soup Co., said hot food vending is the infant of the vending machine industry, "but it is about as robust and fast-growing an infant as any businessman can hope to see."

Title Chase Resumes Next Tuesday

Rams Eye Unbeaten Season in SCL

By H. GUY MOATS

With the mid-year holiday respite at an end, Suburban Catholic basketball loop is just about ready to resume its title chase. All but two of the 8-teams of the parochial circuit will be in action next Tuesday night. One of the idle clubs is St. Mary's of Orchard Lake, which shares the top spot with St. Frederick. Both have won all three pre-1959 tests, and are rated "teams to beat" down the stretch.

★ ★ ★

Gene Wright's Rams will have the first opportunity to bolster their leading margin, traveling to Ferndale St. James on Tuesday. Orchard Lake will not resume until Jan. 9, and when the Eaglets go again they run smack into the St. Frederick club. This could be the deciding encounter of the championship race.

Rams are favored over the Ferndale club, and are mentioned as a possible unbeaten season winner. They'll be eying that possibility in both next week's games.

Next Friday's test here will be in the big Pontiac Central gymnasium. Should the Rams trip St. James next Tuesday they will hold a 4-3 edge in victories. Then, if Rev. John Rakoczy's club is to remain a contender it will have to upset the St. Frederick five.

★ ★ ★

This big test will pit the league's leading scorers in what could be a high-scoring battle. Eaglets' captain, Chet Wlodkowski, paces the SCL with 56 for three games, a 19-point per game average. Ploymaker and accurate, all range shooter Tom Derocher has hit for 44 points (15 average) in three league encounters. Both clubs have other consistent point-makers.

Few, if any lineup changes are contemplated, and all squads have held workouts during the holidays to keep in shape.

Jim Niebauer's Shamrocks are pointing for victory at Centerline, Tuesday, against St. Clement, an improving club. The Mikemen need this victory to square their season's record at 2-2.

In the other Tuesday contest, St. Benedict will seek to hold its 2-1 status against a tough Royal Oak St. Mary club. Rated one of the top title threats early in the season, Ravens were shoved out of the picture, at least temporarily, by the Rams, 26-24, in a unprecedented (in SCL) defensive scrap on Dec. 19.

Next Tuesday's SCL schedule: St. Frederick at Ferndale St. James

St. Michael at St. Clement (Centerline HS)

St. Mary (RO) at St. Benedict (Highland Park)

League standings

	W	L		W	L
St. Frederick	1	0	St. Michael	1	2
St. Mary (OL)	3	0	St. Clement	1	2

Lindsay Leads Black Hawks to Win at Olympia

Chicago Now 1 Point Back of Detroit in NHL Race

DETROIT (UPI) — The "old grads" of the Detroit Red Wings, led by battle-scarred Ted Lindsay, gave their ex-teammates a hangover even before the stroke of midnight last night.

Castoffs Lindsay, Lorne Ferguson and Goalie Glenn Hall sparked the Chicago Black Hawks to a 4-2 victory over the Red Wings.

It resulted in Detroit being tied for second place by the New York Rangers who nipped Boston 4-3 and brought the Black Hawks into third place, just one point behind the Wings and Rangers.

Revenge was a long time in coming for Lindsay, highest scoring left winger in National Hockey League history. Traded to the Hawks in bitterness prior to the start of the 1957-58 season, Lindsay hadn't scored against the Wings since the swap.

★ ★ ★

He was deprived of the added pleasure of seeing his goal count as the eventual winner when Gordie Howe clicked on a screen shot that was hotly protested by Hall just 23 seconds before the end of the game.

But Lindsay's marker, his sixth of the season, was the go-ahead goal for the Hawks. Ferguson, a disappointment while with Detroit, broke the scoring deadlock at 5:10 of the second period when he outraced Forbes Kennedy for a long pass and flicked in a sharply-angled shot. It was Ferguson's fourth of the campaign—all against Detroit.

Ferguson's lead lasted just over three minutes. Len Lunde turned in Marcel Pronovost's soft pass to tie the game at 8:45 but Lindsay got it back at 11:51, one minute after Billy McNeill drew the only penalty of the middle period. He scored from a scramble.

★ ★ ★

Bobby Hull and Eddie Litzenberger broke open the game for Chicago with goals just over two minutes apart midway in the third period. Hull capped a two-one-one rush with a point-blank blast that slipped between Terry Sawchuck's legs as he fell backward into the net.

Litzenberger intercepted a Pronovost shot in the Chicago end and dashed all the way alone for an unassisted marker, his 16th of the season.

Again Detroit dominated the shots on goal statistics but Hall was too much for the Wings. Traded before last season because of a poor showing in the playoffs, he came up with his second straight sparkling effort on Detroit ice. He kicked out 32 Red Wing shots while Sawchuk had only 13 saves—just two in the first period.

★ ★ ★

The victory gave the surging Black Hawks a three-game edge over the Wings in the season series—they've won five and tied one in eight meetings and haven't lost on Detroit ice.

The only thing the Wings had to be thankful for was that a year ago today they were tied for fourth with Toronto.

Burns U-D Grid Coach?

Jerry Burns, former Detroit St. Mary Redford prep coach, who went to Iowa as assistant to Forest Evashevski, was the top candidate in line for the University of Detroit coaching job, The Pontiac Press learned from a close source today.

★ ★ ★

University officials recently reported that there were three remaining candidates and a decision was due by January 10th.

The decision favored Burns because U. of D. had gone into the Iowa-Delaware winged-T offense a year ago and the Iowa aide could take over without having to make any big changes in the offense.

Burns has been a big recruiting factor in getting Michigan prep stars to Iowa.

Early TDs Win for Wyoming 11

Miscues Prove Costly in Hardin-Simmons 14 to 6 Sun Bowl Loss

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—Sammy Baugh, Hardin-Simmons' head coach, had no excuses to make for his team's 14-6 loss to Wyoming in the Sun Bowl football game.

"The breaks didn't beat us," the former Washington Redskin quarterback said after the game yesterday. "They were about even. But Wyoming took advantage of its scoring chances and we didn't."

★ ★ ★

And that about sums up the 24th annual game.

Wyoming turned two Hardin-Simmons miscues into touchdowns, then spent the better part of the afternoon turning back Hardin-Simmons threats.

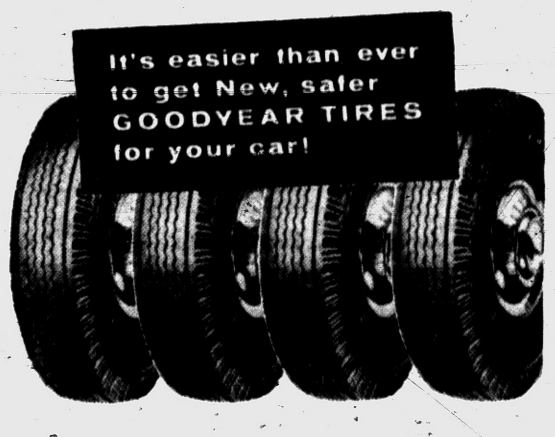

Hardin-Simmons missed two scoring opportunities in the third quarter when Wyoming stopped thrusts on the 10 and 1. It was in the middle of this quarter that Harold Stephens hit Benji Lipsey with a 22-yard pass for the Border Conference champions' only touchdown.

★ ★ ★

Hardin-Simmons dominated the second half, but just couldn't overcome Wyoming's 14-0 halftime lead.

"You don't mind losing too much when you play ball like our men did out there," Baugh said.

The game was billed as a high-scoring battle, but the 13,000 fans sitting in bright, nippy weather saw it turn into a defensive battle, in which Wyoming had a net yardage of only 188 yards.

Big Ten, PCC Hope to Continue Relations

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The future of the Rose Bowl is set for 1960, and hope was expressed informally Wednesday that relations will continue for years between the Big Ten and the Pacific Coast Conference.

The sentiments were expressed at the annual Kiwanis Kickoff Luncheon attended by administrative and athletic heads of Iowa and California, along with Chief Justice Warren, Gov. Herschel Loveless of Iowa and other dignitaries.

President Virgil M. Hancher of Iowa led off with the remark:

"We cherish our relations with the Pacific Coast Conference, or whatever they call it, and we hope we'll be back in 1961."

The PCC is folding up next June but both the Big Ten and the Western schools have agreed to work out actual details for the game itself.

Chancellor Glenn Seaborg of the University of California added:

"The Athletic Association of Western Universities hopes that something can be worked out to continue relations with the Big Ten."

Dr. Seaborg referred to the AAWU, newly formed organization composed of California, UCLA, Southern California and Washington. It was formed with the collapse of the PCC.

Commissioner Tug Wilson of the Big Ten told the 3,000 guests the Big Ten has enjoyed the Rose Bowl experience over the years and said he hopes negotiations will be consummated in the future to keep the series going.

Jockeys Innocent of Narcotics Charge

BALTIMORE (AP)—Three jockeys were found innocent Wednesday of having anything to do with a jug of dried marihuana.

Judge Anselm Sodaro acquitted Donald H. Crosser, 25, of Manitoba, Canada, Lyman S. Richards Jr., 26, of Boston and Louis N. Sawyer, 29, of Camden, N. J.

They had been arrested Dec. 4 after police found enough marihuana to make 1,200 cigarettes in a hotel room.

★ ★ ★

Arrested along with them were Vincent Carver, 36, of Newport, Ky., and Robert F. Heath, 26, of New Orleans. Carver, who was said to have driven the jockeys to Baltimore from the race track at Wheeling, W. Va., was granted a trial postponement.

Heath did not contest the charge of possessing narcotics and was found guilty. Sentence was postponed until after Carver's trial.

Cincinnati Loses 2nd Straight Night

St. Francis Carrousel King

United Press International

North Carolina State and St. Francis (Pa.) greeted the new year as champions of two major college basketball tournaments, while the top-ranked Cincinnati Bearcats nursed a double-loss "hangover" that they may have trouble curing.

★ ★ ★

Paced by little Lou Pucillo's 22 points, North Carolina State won its seventh Dixie Classic in 10 years last night by downing Michigan State, 70-61, and St. Francis turned back Fordham, 74-71, in the final of the Carrousel tournament.

Cincinnati, knocked out of the championship bracket of the Dixie Classic by N. C. State the previous night, suffered its second straight defeat in the consolation round when North Carolina edged the Bearcats, 90-88.

Oscar Robertson, Cincinnati's All-America, scored 29 points for the third straight game but it wasn't enough. The Tarheels wiped out a seven-point deficit to go ahead, 87-86, on a pair of free throws by York Larese with 1:20 left. Lee Shaffer then added the Tarheels' final three points on a tip-in and a free throw to sink Cincinnati.

★ ★ ★

Duke edged Louisville, 57-54, and Wake Forest rolled to an 85-76 victory over Yale in the Dixie Classic's other consolation games.

Unbeaten St. Francis won the Carrousel tournament at Charlotte, N. C., behind the tireless rebounding and scoring of Wilbur Trosch, who totaled 26 points. Ed Degroat paced the losers with 23.

Third place in the Carrousel tournament went to George Washington, which ripped Davidson, 72-49. Bucknell whipped Pittsburgh, 95-76, and Clemson scored a 55-49 victory over South Carolina in the tournament's other consolation games.

★ ★ ★

Louisiana Tech won the Gulf-South tournament at Shreveport, La., by defeating Virginia Tech, 71-66, while Centenary turned back Northwestern Louisiana, 81-72. North Texas State posted an 87-79 triumph over Spring Hill, and William & Mary edged Virginia Tech, 64-62, in consolation games.

★ ★ ★

Bob Ferry led St. Louis to a 60-42 triumph over invading San Francisco, and Northwestern tied a school scoring record in wrecking Notre Dame, 102-67, in other major games.

Iowa, LSU Among Bowl Choices

By The Associated Press

The football bowl season reached its climax today with Iowa, Louisiana State, Oklahoma and Texas Christian favored to walk off four widely separated gridirons with victories.

Iowa, beaten only by Ohio State and tied by the Air Force Academy in a nine-game schedule, was the outstanding favorite to measure California (7-3) in the Rose Bowl—the daddy of all the post season football classics—at Pasadena, Calif.

Unbeaten Louisiana State, winner of 10 and the nation's No. 1 ranked team, also was the strong choice to turn back Clemson (8-2) in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans. The same went for Oklahoma's once-beaten Sooners (9-1) in their Orange Bowl battle with Syracuse (8-1) at Miami, Fla.

Texas Christian, (8-2) champion of the Southwest Conference, likewise was favored, but by no such big margin, over outweighed Air Force Academy (9-0-1), playing in its first bowl after only three years of varsity competition. They tangled in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas.

★ ★ ★

With available seats as extinct as the dodo bird, some 333,000 persons were slated to sit in on the four major bowls with the largest crowd of 100,000 at the Rose Bowl. Capacity of the Sugar Bowl is 82,000, the Orange 76,000 and the Cotton 75,000.

For those fans, who by choice or otherwise, elected to stay at home, there was a choice of all four games via television.

The Orange Bowl, with a 1 p.m. EST, kickoff, and the Cotton Bowl, starting 3:30 p.m. EST, were to be televised by CBS. NBC televised the Sugar Bowl, 2 p.m. EST, and the Rose Bowl, 5 p.m. EST.

★ ★ ★

For Oklahoma, appearance in a bowl game was nothing new. The Sooners have been in eight previous post-season games in 20 years for a 6-2 record. They haven't lost in three Orange Bowl visits, beating Duke 48-21 last year.

Iowa, headed by All - America Randy Duncan, also was after its second straight bowl triumph in three years. The Hawkeyes turned back Oregon State 35-19 in 1957. The Iowa-California game is the last Rose Bowl contest between representatives of the Big Ten and the Pacific Coast Conference. The PCC goes out of existence next spring.

★ ★ ★

Although the prospect of wet underfooting raised the hopes of Clemson supporters, there weren't many who could forsee the Atlantic Coast Conference champions derailing the fast LSU express spearheaded by All-America Billy Cannon. Clemson's chief hope was the passing of Harvey White.

The Cotton Bowl had all he setup for a Goliath and David battle. The Horned Frogs mustered a squad three-deep against the lightly manned but extremely fast Falcons from the Air Force Academy.

Also on today's schedule was the Prairie View Bowl at Houston, Tex., matching Prairie View (8-0-1) and Langston, Okla. (4-3).

Oldtime Star Doyle Dies

HOLYOKE, Mass. (AP)—Jack Doyle, 88, a fiery major league baseball player and manager before the turn of the century, died at Providence Hospital Wednesday night several hours after suffering heart attack.

Doyle had been in organized baseball—as a player, manager, umpire and scout—for more than 70 years. He had worked the past 37 years as a scout for the Chicago Cubs of the National League.

★ ★ ★

A native of Killorglin, Ireland, Doyle started out as a pitcher, but quickly switched to other positions as a player. He performed at first, second and third base and the outfield after breaking in with Columbus of the old American Assn. and before winding up his active playing career in 1905.

Because of his tremendous drive Doyle picked up the name of "Dirty Jack." His best season was in 1894 when he hit .369 with the New York Giants of the National League. His other top marks were .345 and .356 with Baltimore in the old National League in the 1896-97 seasons, respectively.

He also played for Cleveland, Washington, Chicago, Brooklyn and Philadelphia in the National League and later with Washington then in the American League. He made a token appearance with New York in the American League in his final season of playing.

In the old National League, he managed New York in 1895 and Washington in 1898.

All-Americas Duel Saturday

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Coach Milt Bruhn of Wisconsin said Wednesday he tentatively plans to start Leon Burton of Arizona State at left halfback in Saturday's first All-America Bowl football game.

★ ★ ★

Bruhn said Billy Austin, All - America left halfback from Rutgers, is tentatively expected to start on defense for the team from major colleges which clashes with a small college squad in the game.

"We'll use Austin plenty on offense," Bruhn said. "It is just that someone has to start on offense and someone on defense."

★ ★ ★

Burton is the fastest man on either squad but would not be far ahead of either Austin or Art Johnson of Michigan State, the third candidate for left halfback, in any race.

Bruhn says he will use his version of the slot and double slot T offense.

New Giant Stadium Brings Court Suit

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A bespectacled, gray-haired man who doesn't like the deal made by the city for its new major league baseball stadium filed a $1,300,000 defamation suit Wednesday against Mayor George Christopher.

The suit of Henry North, an insurance executive, climaxed a long running feud between the two over a grand jury investigation of the stadium setup.

Lane Improves Chance at Title

Decision Over Ortiz Puts State Fighter in Favorable Position

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Kenny Lane today was next in line behind Johnny Busso for a shot at lightweight champion Joe Brown's title.

The Muskegon, Mich., southpaw, rallying strongly in the last two rounds took a majority decision over Carlos Ortiz of New York last night in a 10-round bout at the Miami Beach Auditorium.

Lane weighed 137, Ortiz 137¾. There were no knockdowns.

The Michigan boxing master won largely by steady punching, particularly late in the fight. When he eased up and daneed and jabbed, Ortiz made the most of it. The New Yorker appeared to be the stronger inside.

★ ★ ★

With Busso slated to fight Brown for the title in Houston in February, promoter Chris Dundee said he hoped to get Lane a title fight with the winner here in April.

Lane suffered a cut over his left eye in the sixth round, but it failed to bother him. Four stitches were taken in the wound.

Aerial Battle for Hula Bowl

HONOLULU (AP)—A wide-open passing duel between some of the nation's top collegians and pro gridmen was promised Wednesday as coaches stepped up aerial practice for the annual Hula Bowl game.

★ ★ ★

The game starts at 2 p.m. Hawaiian time (7 p.m., EST) Sunday at Honolulu Stadium with an expected attendance of around 25,000.

Elroy Hirsch, told newsmen his pro team planned plenty of passing—and expected the same treatment from Duffy Daugherty's College All-Stars.

Hirsch said he probably will use the following on the starting offensive line-up: Bobby Layne, Pittsburgh Steelers, quarterback; Ollie Matson, San Francisco 49ers, right half; Ron Waller, Los Angeles Rams, left half; Joe Perry, 49ers, fullback; Art Hunter, Cleveland Browns, center; Jim Martin, Detroit Lions, and Charles Kaaihue, Hawaiian Rams, guards; John Simerson, Steelers, and Curtis Laukea Vancouver Lions, tackles and Clyde Conner, 49ers, and Billy Howton, Green Bay Packers, at ends.

★ ★ ★

Daugherty, still awaiting the arrival of some of his players who are in New Year's games, was not ready to announce his starting line-up.

LSU Receives AP Grid Award

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Louisiana State Coach Paul Dietzel said he couldn't express "how much this means to me" when he accepted The Associated Press trophy, symbolic of the national football championship.

★ ★ ★

Dietzel, whose Bayou Bengals met Clemson in the Sugar Bowl today, accepted the trophy last night from Ted Smits, general sports editor of The Associated Press. The award was made at the annual press party given by the Sugar Bowl at Antoine's French Quarter Restaurant.

★ ★ ★

The presentation was one of the evening's highlights. Smits, introduced by Sugar Bowl President Claude (Monk) Simons as "Mr. A.P." told the 34-year-old Dietzel he didn't want to put him on the spot with an award before the battle with Clemson.

"This is one of the most marvelous things that has ever happened to me, and I can't tell you how much it means to me. It is a great honor and I hope we continue to live up to this trophy."

Fred Kipp, rookie southpaw with the Los Angeles Dodgers, won 20 games for Montreal in 1956.

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI) — The tightening of eligibility rules and possible curtailment of expenses to prospective athletes in prep schools are two of the major proposals the National Collegiate Athletic Association will consider at its meeting beginning here Sunday.

More than 2,200 representatives from colleges and universities throughout the nation are expected to attend the 53rd annual meeting, which will last a week.

Seven other national athletic groups also will hold their meet-

Battle on With Internal Revenue

Big Eight in Court Fight

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The Big Eight Conference went to court Wednesday to fight against withholding income tax and social security payments for officials in athletic contests.

★ ★ ★

The conference under its official name of Missouri Valley Intercollegiate Athletic Assn. filed a complaint for abatement of the tax withholding, naming E. O. Bookwalter, district director of the Internal Revenue Service, as defendant.

★ ★ ★

The complaint said a notice and a statement of income tax due, issued by IRS Dec. 12, indicated the conference owed $5,580.75 in back taxes for the years 1953 through 1957. The notice said if the amount was not paid within 10 days, interest would accrue at the rate of 6 per cent of the unpaid tax to the date of payment.

★ ★ ★

The government, the complaint said, claims the money is due because of fees paid to football referees, umpires and other officials; basketball referees and starters in Big Eight Conference indoor and outdoor track and events.

But the conference contends the officials are paid by the individual schools at whose events they officiate and are not employed by the Big Eight.

The conference asked that the statement of the tax due be invalidated.

Irish Get 3 Starters in Senior Bowl Lineup

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Three Notre Dame players apparently have won starting posts on the North's offensive team for Saturday's Senior Bowl football classic.

Yankee Coach Joe Kuharich, who has just accepted the head coaching job at the South Bend, Ind., school, has been working Notre Dame end Bob Wetoska, tackle Frank Geremia and fullback Norm Odyniec with the No. 1 line-up in practice this week.

★ ★ ★

Wetoska and Geremia are 6-3, 225-pound huskies while Odyniec is 5-11 and 180.

★ ★ ★

Also on the starting team on offense are 2 from Ohio State, 2 from Boston College and 1 each from Michigan and Indiana. One of the Ohio State starters will be center Dan James, biggest man on the field at 258 pounds.

Penn State contributes two to the North defensive line-up as the only school with more than one starter on defense.

★ ★ ★

Don Allard, Boston College's fine quarterback, apparently has been tabbed for North starting duties, with Lee Grosscup of Utah, leading passer in the nation a year ago, backing him up. Also in the starting backfield are Joe Morrison of Cincinnati and Alan Miller of Boston College.

The probable 11 starters for Coach Paul Brown's South offensive team come from 11 schools. Texas A&M and Vanderbilt each will supply two on defense.

★ ★ ★

Key man in Brown's offensive plans is Baylor quarterback Buddy Humphrey, top passer in the nation this season with 112 completions of 195 attempts for 1,316 yards.

MSU Cagers Lose in Dixie

Pro Golf Swing Starts at L.A.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Leading professional golfers of the nation hit the money-laden winter tournament trial tomorrow, opening the swing in the $35,000 Los Angeles Open.

This is the 33rd annual Los Angeles event, the traditional kick-off contest for the ensuing swing through California, Arizona, Texas and on to the south.

Play for the local attraction again is over the Rancho Municipal Course in West Los Angeles, where a year ago Frank Stranahan toured the par 71, 7,130-yard layout for four rounds and victory.

Stranahan finished the 72-hole grind with a 275, nine blows under par, which is about par over the years for scoring at this course.

Stranahan is back, and with him are all the name players of tournament golf with only a few exceptions. That would include Ben Hogan and Sam Snead, who haven't played here in years.

Record 73,600 Attended Dixie Hoop Tourney

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—A record throng of 73,600 persons turned out to see the Dixie Basketball Classic which included four of the nations top cage powerhouses. The 3-day affair ended Wednesday night.

★ ★ ★

Capacity crowds of 12,400 packed Raleigh's Reynolds Coliseum for five of the tourney's six sessions. Some 11600 showed up for a con-Thursday afternoon.

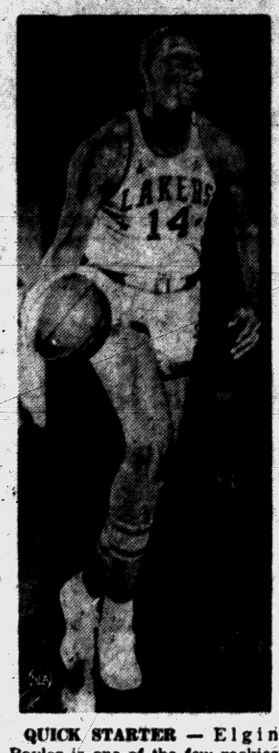

Ech of the eight tourney teams will get $9,000.

★ ★ ★

The tournament field included four of The Associated Press' top 10—Cincinnati, No. 3; North Carolina, No. 4; North Carolina State, No. 5; and Michigan State, No. 7. Other entries were Louisville, Duke, Wake Forest and Yale.

The previous attendance record was 71,200 set in 1956.

Golfer Gene Sarazen has played in the Masters tournament 20 times.

QUICK STARTER — Elgin Baylor is one of the few rookies who has been able to step into the National Basketball Association and become a big gun from the start. The 6-5 Baylor, up from Seattle, has given the Minneapolis Lakers badly-needed help in both the scoring and box office.

Spartans Drop First Contest After 6 Wins

North Carolina State Takes 70-61 Decision in Tourney

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP) — North Carolina State repelled a furious invasion from the hinterlands, defeating Cincinnati and Michigan State in successive days, to cop the 10th annual Dixie basketball classic.

The big holiday show, which ended with the wolfpack's 70-61 victory over undefeated Michigan State last night, featured four of the Associated Press' top 10 cage teams.

Veteran coach Everett Cass of the victorious wolfpack called the MSU defeat the "greatest tournament triumph" of his career.

N. C. State, which has won eight of nine contests, was faced last night with a high jumping, aggressive Michigan State team which had won six in a row and was rated seventh in this week's AP poll.

★ ★ ★

Defending champion North Carolina, rated No. 4, handed Cincinnati its second straight classic defeat in a third place consolation game, 90-88.

Duke beat Louisville 57-54 for fifth place and Wake Forest outgunned Yale 85-76 for seventh spot.

The Wolfpack, led by the tournament's most outstanding player John Richter, and George Stepanovich, grabbed 43 rebounds, tying the Michigan State Spartans in that department.

Michigan State coach Fordy Anderson said it was the first time his team had ever been equalled under the boards. "We weren't getting the follow-up offensive rebounds we're accustomed to," he explained.

All America candidate Johnny Green, pressed under the boards constantly by Dan Englehardt, was able to post only four points for MSU.

Little Lou Pucillo, the Wofpack's floor general accounted for 22 points. Richter added 16.

The host team, playing before a wildly cheering capacity crowd of 12,400 at Reynolds coliseum, held the lead throughout the last three fourths of the contest, hitting on 45.8 per cent of its field goal attempts.

The Wolfpack copped its seventh of 10 Dixie classics. Never in the history of the event has a team outside of North Carolina been champion.

Quadruple Win Gives 'Shoe' His 300th for Year

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — Willie Shoemaker closed out the 1958 racing season by getting his 300th winner but he had to score a quadruple at Santa Anita to reach the even figure.

Silent Shoe booted home Royal Orbit in the $17,650 Los Feliz Stakes for his 300th victory of the year, which he ended as national riding champion for the fourth time in his 10-year career as a jockey.

★ ★ ★

No other jockey in the history of racing has been U.S. riding champ more than three times.

Shoemaker's four wins yesterday brought his lifetime total to 3,274 and boosted him into fourth position behind the champion of them all, Johnny Longden, who has 5,238. Longden has been riding 21 years, however.

★ ★ ★

Eddie Arcaro with 4,190 and Ted Atkinson with 3,794 are in second and third place, respectively, in the all time standing.

Cup Defense May Be on Hard Courts

BRISBANE (AP)—The surprising victory of the United States over Australia in the Davis Cup may pave the way for adoption of uniform surfaces in tennis matches of the near future.

Perry T. Jones, the American captain from Los Angeles whose influence has been strengthened in American tennis circles, has suggested the defense of the Cup be held on the Pacific Coast, possibly in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena.

★ ★ ★

Today promoter Jack Kramer added it might be best to play on concrete courts.

On the assumption that Australia, if the challenging nation, may not be ready to relinquish playing on grass courts, Jones said it is possible to grow the finest grass in the world in California and a special court could be set up in the Rose Bowl.

"That may be true," said Kramer who served as Jones' chief counsel in the Davis Cup campaign. "But we would need more than one or two courts. There would have to be courts for practice the 10 days before the match.

★ ★ ★

"I think Australia would be happy to play on concrete. It's a good surface with much the same conditions as grass except it is far more accurate and Australians have done well on hard courts in the past."

The United States, Great Britain and Australia are the only countries now playing tennis on grass. Other countries play on clay, hard wood or hard surface.

There has been strong agitation, particularly among European countries, for adoption of some uniform court, but the strength of the "Big Three" has been too heavy to swing it.

The argument among Europeans is that countries with grass court experience have a big edge over those who play on turf only on selected occasions. A uniform surface, they contend, would help equalize competition which in recent years has been monopolized by Australia and the United States.

Meanwhile, Australians bemoaned their chances of winning back the Davis Cup any time in the next few years.

★ ★ ★

With Ashley Cooper and Mal Anderson expected to turn pro this tennis mad nation is left with only secondary personnel in Neale Fraser, Bob Mark, Roy Emerson and Rod Laver. America, on the other hand, has a strong trump card in Alex Olmedo, the Peruvian who won the Davis Cup almost singlehandedly, and has a brilliant prospect in Earl Buchholz Jr., of St. Louis.

Members of the U.S. team let down their hair at a big New Year's party in their hotel last night and were sleepy-eyed when they went to the Milton Courts for International Day exhibitions.

It Is Official Today, Elliott Takes Over

ANN ARBOR (AP) — BUMP Elliott became Michigan's football coach officially today and celebrated the New Year by watching a very special television program.

On the screen, his brother was matching wits with one of his closest friend in the Rose Bowl.

Elliott, with mixed emotions, watched Iowa, coached by his old crony and former boss, Forest Evashevski, battle his brother Pete Elliott's California team.

Rio Netter Victor in Orange Bowl Test

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Ronnie Barnes of Rio de Janeiro is new Orange Bowl tennis champ in the 18-and-under division but today was no tennis holiday for him.

Barnes and his fellow countrymen in the Orange Bowl juniors tournament are Brazil's strength in another event that picks right up on the other; the Orange Bowl International Cup matches involving athletes of 13 nations.

Beats His Own Record

FORT LAUDERDALE (AP) — Sid Street, 45, Kansas City finance man, bettered his own 1956 266-cubic-inch hydroplane world mark of 132.6 miles an hour by driving a mile in 146.915 m.p.h. Monday in the Orange Bowl Regatta speed run.

Aussie Tennis Ace Signs Pro 2-Year Contract

BRISBANE, Australia (AP) — Mel Anderson of Australia tonight signed a professional tennis contract guaranteeing him $22,500 a year for the next two years.

Promoter Jack Kramer and Anderson made the announcement simultaneously after the Davis Cup dinner honoring the U. S. players who defeated Australia in the challenge round.

At the same time Kramer said he expects to sign Ashley Cooper, the other member of the Australian Davis Cup tandem, Saturday to a 3-year contract calling for a minimum of $100,000.

THE TRUTH ABOUT PAUL BUNYAN

In our great north woods era that wonderful Michigan hero Paul Bunyan could do anything needed around the logging camps, anything at all. That's legend.

Today the people of any Michigan community, planning and working together, can do and can achieve anything their community needs for its sound development and the greater prosperity of its citizens. That's fact.

Like Paul Bunyan when he had Babe the Blue Ox at his command and every logger in the camp behind him, the people of a community can do anything when they work together.

And that's the truth about Paul Bunyan.

Things are really starting to pop these days around the Pontiac area bowling circuit. It looks like the sport may hit its all-time peak here during the next few weeks.

Last week we reported Bill Kuklinski's plan to run a program of "name" bowlers at Lakewood Lanes during the coming months as a big boost to the game. He got it rolling very successfully with the appearance of Steve Nagy Friday. There will be more big news coming out of Lakewood soon.

Clark Balch, one of this sector's outstanding keglers and one of the leading boosters of the game here in many years, has come up with another idea to help put Pontiac on the map in bowling.

He hopes to organize a local chapter of bowlers who have rolled one or more 700 sanctioned series in their career. Three fellows turned the trick in the Huron Classic last week.

Residents of this city have had non-chapter memberships but Pontiac has never been officially part of the 700 Bowling Club of America. It certainly will be another aid to the sport here if Clark is successful in his venture.

An organizational meeting has been set for Jan. 11 at the 300 Lounge downstairs from Huron Bowl. Anyone who has rolled a 700 at any time may attend and become a charter member.

Circulars with attached application forms are available at local alleys. All proprietors are also asked to attend.

★ ★ ★

National secretary Ferd L. Lipovetz has already sent an application form for a possible Pontiac entry along with his best wishes. Secretaries of chapters at Flint and Ann Arbor have been invited to the affair.

Many national and local contests will be open to charter members. Further information can be obtained by contacting Balch at FE 2-0833.

Land-O-Lakes is another local "house" which has reported some impressive scores. They include: Marshall Rose 268 and 633, Paul Lampkin 692, Jack Cholder 267, Joe Lewis 265 . . . F. Pretznow totaled 633 and Poole Lumber 2935 . . . GMC will hold its annual doubles tournament on the 1st two weekends in February at Motor Inn . . . Huron team in two of Chicago tourneys this weekend.

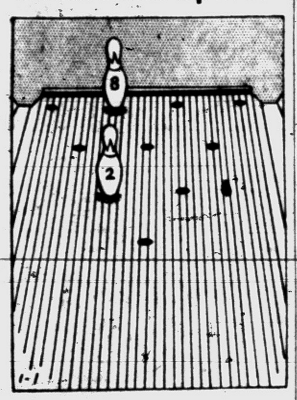

Add scores: Green Lake 3117 in Motor Inn "B," C. Berden 608 and J. Englund 233 in Elks House, Ira Griffin 153 triplicate in "750" Men's league at B & M in Walled Lake, and Jim Mitchell 658 in Farmington Lanes Men's House. Mitchell's team totaled 1085 for a new game mark there.

The Jimmie Harris keg team of Lapeer rolled a 3033. A 1073 game was featured . . . Eileen Kerber of Royal Oak hit a double pinochle at Birmingham by sliding the 6-pin over to take out the 4 and 7 . . . Well known former city keg ace Dick Carmichael is now in the Army at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo. He had averaged over 206 in two leagues.

★ ★ ★

The Presbtyerian and the Our Lady of Sorrows loops at Farmington had triplicates. Lucy Vinson matched her average in the former with 102. W. Christensen strung together 146s in the latter . . . A HAPPY AND PROSPEROUS NEW YEAR TO EVERYONE.

Strikes and Spares

By JOE WILMAN

Here are some bowling terms you may have heard and wondered about.

Bowling in a "graveyard" can be a pretty frightening thing, but not because of the dead. A "graveyard" means a bowling lane on which it's very difficult to score well.

Many bowlers "steal" from time to time. When you get a strike on a very poor hit, you're guilty of "stealing," but there is no penalty involved.

"Home alleys" are bowling lanes on which high scores come easily.

"Striking out" in bowling makes you a hero instead of a bum. "Striking out" means finishing your game with nothing but strikes. For instance, "striking out" in the 10th frame means getting three straight strikes in that frame.

A "sleeper spare" is a leave of one pin directly behind another pin, difficult to see from the bowler's end of the alley. Today's sketch shows the 2-8 leave — the 8-pin is a "sleeper."

Archery League at Waterford Starts Jan. 8

The annual winter indoor archery league, sponsored by the Waterford Township Recreation Department, begins Thursday, Jan. 8, at the Community Center on Williams Lake Road.

The 14-week program is restricted to adults living in Waterford Township and teenage participation must receive special approval. Shooting will be held from 7 to 10 p. m. The team limit is 10 with five archers per team.

The handicap system will allow the beginner to compete with the advanced archer. Deadline for team entries is Jan. 8. For additional information, call the recreation department, OR 3-9152.

Former PCH Cagers Play Royals Friday

The Lakeside Royals, Pontiac's Class A City League basketball champions for the past two years, will meet a college all-star team composed of local players in an exhibition game Friday night at Jefferson Junior High.

Among the all-stars will be all-stater Willie DeWalt of Florida A&M, Larry Peet of North Carolina A&T, Dave Simmons of Hillsdale and Freshman Watkins of Michigan, all Pontiac Central alumni.

The Lakeside Royals of the Class C City League will clash with another "C" squad in tomorrow night's preliminary game at 7 o'clock. A small admission fee will be charged.

Boost Proposed for Parks Camping Fees

LANSING (AP) — A 25-cent boost in state park camping fees and changes in the beaver season will be recommended to the state conservation commission when it meet here Jan. 8-9.

Arthur C. Elmer, chief of the state conservation department's parks division, called on the commission to raise the daily camping fee from 75 cents to $1 starting April 1. Electricity rates would stay at 25 cents a day.

Elmer estimated the increase would boost the annual take from camping fees to $425,000.

Never rust or corrode! Metal manifolds will!
Positive Float Control
Compare! If other make has a foot valve, don't buy it! It will clog!
All the Soft Water you'll ever need!
Don't let "grains capacity" ratings confuse you! Only 100% Soft Water ALL the time—the MIRACLE way—is good enough!
CYCLE #1 Miracle Softening Cycle
Exclusive Miracle Engineering Design directs the flow of water down thru MIRACLE High Capacity Softening Resin and the tightly packed bed of Resin acts as a filter. It traps tiny particles of rust, iron and other impurities, while it softens the water.
In "up-flow" type softeners, resin floats loosely—cannot filter!
CYCLE #2 Miracle Backwash Cycle
During backwash, water flows up thru the MIRACLE High Capacity Resin to loosen it and carry away trapped particles of rust, iron and other impurities. MIRACLE Design accurately controls flow rate of water during backwash.
Most softeners cannot properly control flow rate—and therefore backwash at a flow rate too low to flush away impurities.
CYCLE #3 Miracle Brining Cycle
All softeners require regeneration with salt brine to give back to the Resin its capacity to remove hardness. For greatest efficiency and savings, MIRACLE has a separately controlled brine flow rate.
Many softeners combine backwash and brining cycles into one. Result: they backwash too slow, brine too fast, wasting a lot of salt—and money!
CYCLE #4 Miracle Slow-Rinse Cycle
All softeners require rinsing of the Resin bed after brining to flush out the remaining salt. Once again, Exclusive MIRACLE Design guarantees that this is done at its own proper flow rate.
Softeners lacking the MIRACLE brining control, shown in Cycle #3, need tremendous quantities of water to flush away the vast amounts of salt used.
CYCLE #5 Miracle Fast-Rinse Cycle
The MIRACLE Bonus Cycle!
In all softeners small salt pockets remain at the bottom of the softener tank after the slow rinse, as salt is heavier than water.
Exclusive!
Only MIRACLE Engineering Design provides a Final Fast Rinse to guarantee that these salt pockets are flushed out—never a salty taste in your water after the MIRACLE regeneration.

AF Missiles Chief Rockets Across 2 Continents

Newsmen Chase General 12,000 Miles

NEW YORK—If the busy schedule of Major General Bernard S. Schriever is any indication, our ballistic missile program is rocketing along at full speed.

That's the conclusion reached by weary reporters who chased the general, commander of the Air Force Ballistic Missile Division, some 12,000 miles over two continents just to complete one interview.

It's not unusual, in any special television report, for a multitude of interviews to originate in many places. For instance, in the "Where We Stand II" program, on which the General Schriever interview will be seen, on the CBS television network Sunday, interviews were conducted in the war room of a nuclear submarine (Rear Admiral John T. Hayward aboard the Sea Wolf), with professors in university classrooms, kids on high school football fields, ordinary citizens on Main Street, and scientists in the weather shelter of a ballistics missile station.

But the 12,000-mile General Schriever report may well be a long-distance record for one interview.

The peripatetic general was, at once, the most cooperative and the most evasive subject ever tackled by CBS newsmen. Because of the press of military business, he led half-a-dozen interviewers a merry chase to as many different locations.

The installment interview began at General Schriever's Los Angeles headquarters. The next time the reporters caught up with the missiles chief, it was days later, at his office in Washington, D. C.

This talk was cut short, too, being continued later in the week in New York. Then the busy general had to curtail this one to make a sudden transatlantic trip, on urgent business for NATO.

★ ★ ★

This was a good opportunity to get a firsthand rundown on NATO's situation with regard to missiles, and so the "Where We Stand" staff passed the buck to their overseas personnel.

The new relay caught up with the fast-moving general in Paris. After the reporters got part of what they wanted, they had to watch the general slip out of focus to London.

London reinforcements just about finished the long-distance interview, but producer Leslie Midgley was not satisfied. By this time the flying general had flown again.

★ ★ ★

Europe tossed the ball back to New York, which flipped it on to the West Coast. The final portion of the record-breaking interview was filmed with General Schriever on a catwalk high up in the Douglas plant for the assembly of Thor missiles, near Santa Monica, Calif.

Incidentally, this will be the first time the public will be allowed to see the inside of a Thor assembly plant. The footage shows the big and deadly missile stockpiled like loaves of bread.

During the interview, General Schriever described the prformance, characteristics and reliability of the Thor missile, and talked about the next generation of missiles—the ICBM missiles—the Atlas, Titan and Minuteman.

"The Schriever interview was by far the toughest to get," says producer Midgley. "But we had to have him, and we'd have followed him to the moon. Maybe next time we'll have to do just that."

Jersey Law Revokes Licenses for Speeding

TRENTON, N. J. (AP)—"Speeders lose licenses."

Starting today, those words, posted on signs every five miles on every New Jersey state highway, will warn motorists of a drastic new weapon being used on speeders—mandatory license revocation.

It will be used on anyone caught going 60 miles an hour or more on any road or street in the state, where speed limits range from 25 to 50.

★ ★ ★

On the N.J. Turnpike and the Garden State Parkway, where the legal limit is 60 m.p.h., revocation will be applied to anyone going 70 or more.

State officials expect 50,000 drivers a year to lose their licenses for 30 days or more under the new system.

New Jersey officials, impressed by Connecticut's mandatory revocation plan, hope the new system will cut deaths on the state's roads, the most heavily traveled in the world. So far this year, New Jersey ranks as the third safest state in the nation in traffic deaths per mile traveled. Connecticut is first.

Licenses will be revoked for 30 days on the first offense. There will be no exceptions or extenuating circumstances considered. A second offense will bring a 60-day revocation and a third an indefinite suspension.

★ ★ ★

An added feature of the New Jersey system is a requirement that a motorist prove he has liability insurance before he can get his license back. No insurance, no license.

Out-of-state drivers caught under the mandatory plan will lose their privilege of driving in New Jersey, but will probably not lose their home state licenses.

H-Power Offers Uses for Peace

October Blasts Clean, Cheap; Produce Many Radioactive Isotopes

NEW YORK, N.Y. — Although atomic bomb experiments were discontinued in the United States for one year as of October 31st, experimental tests to date promise unlimited new peacetime uses for the H-blast.

According to an article in a recent issue of a national magazine, underground reservoirs of water for rain thirsty areas, man-made harbors and channels and enormous oil reserves hitherto locked in shale and tars are only a few of the pending H-blast possibilities uncovered by the underground hydrogen explosions which were conducted by the Atomic Energy Commission in California.

They call their program "Project Plowshare," a reference to the Bible quotation: "They shall beat their swords into plowshares."

What these men hope for is a literal translation of these words: to make the H-blast serve us instead of destroy us.

CHEAP, CLEAN

Underground explosions are relatively cheap and can be made almost "clean" — comparatively free of radioactivity. Yet they produce enough heat and power to run machinery, cause oil to flow, bring about desired chemical reactions inside the earth, and manufacture enormous quantities of radioactive isotopes — the life-saving 'tracers' now used by physicians for diagnostic purposes. Such isotopes are also a boon to plant growth studies and the analysis of complicated industrial processes.

For oil production, a hydrogen explosion under an area known to contain tar sands would generate such terrific heat that the oil trapped there, normally too viscous to be worked, would flow freely. This has enormous potential.

Monitors Opposing Hoffa Police Drive

NEW YORK (AP)—The court-appointed monitors of the Teamsters Union are reported opposed to President James R. Hoffa's efforts to organize this city's police force.

The drive also drew heated opposition Wednesday from Mayor Robert F. Wagner.

★ ★ ★

"I want to make it clear to the people of New York that we will not countenance any attempts at unionization by the Teamsters or any one else," the mayor said.

★ ★ ★

The New York Times, quoting authoritative sources, said two of the monitors agreed that the attempted unionization is "shocking." They are Martin F. O'Donoghue of Washington and Godfrey P. Schmidt of New York.

★ ★ ★

The third monitor, L. N. D. Wells of Detroit, who sits on the panel as the Teamsters' own representative, was reported as indicating privately he considered the attempted unionization "poor judgment."

U. S. Dist. Judge F. Dickinson Letts has warned that disregard of recommendations by the monitors could result in the removal of Hoffa and his entire executive board.

★ ★ ★

He named the monitors to eradicate gangster influence and establish democratic practices within the much-investigated union. It has been expelled from the AFL-CIO on corruption charges.

Atlas Has Lost Voice Because of Overwork

WASHINGTON (AP) — Like many a New Year's celebrator hoarse from shouting, the Atlas satellite may have lost its voice, and for the same reason—overwork.

The Army said it appears that communications tests with the satellite have ended. The announcement followed a 24-hour period during which the talking satellite gave no response.

Officials said the batteries may have been exhausted by the extent of communications since the Dec. 18 launching.

53 Fly Plane From Cuba, Seek Asylum in U.S.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — A Cuban C54 airplane carrying 53 civilians and Cuban army officers landed here today. Those aboard asked for political asylum.

Sixteen army officers, including two generals, were on the plane, which bore the insignia of Aerovias Airline. Civilian technicians, women and children also were aboard.

Eastern Settles 38-Day Strike

North-South Service to Resume Friday, Tieup of American Goes On

By The Associated Press

Eastern Air Lines and the carrier's flight engineers have settled a 38-day-old strike, easing conditions for post-holiday travelers.

The line announced in Miami, Fla., shortly after the New Year's Eve accord was reached, that service would resume Friday on North-south routes.

★ ★ ★

Eastern said other routes on its 124-city system will be in operation as quickly as equipment can be made ready and personnel is back to adequate strength. The line normally carries about 25,000 passengers a day.

Meanwhile, the situation remains static at American Airlines, struck by 1,500 pilots and co-pilots Dec. 20. No negotiations are in progress and none are scheduled.

Eastern has recalled 16,000 employes, furloughed after the line was struck Nov. 24.

A major factor in the Eastern dispute was pilot training for engineers.

Company officials said in New York that the agreement allows a National Mediation Board recommendation that the company withhold pilot training for its 78 engineers who will fly in jet aircraft. The training agreement covers the period of the new contract —to April 1, 1960—or until the government orders new crew qualifications.

★ ★ ★

An Eastern spokesman said that the carrier expects to have enough planes in the air by the weekend to take care of a New York-Florida crush.

In Chicago, an Eastern spokesman said the line expects to have half its usual number of flights into and out of the city resumed within 24 hours. He said this would "certainly alleviate the travel situation with thousands of college students returning to schools this weekend."

Traffic Deaths Relatively Low

Nation's Toll Only 27 at Start of New Year; Fatal Fires Swell Total

Holiday Deaths at a Glance

Traffic	27

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The four-day New Year's celebration moved off to a relatively safe start on the nation's highways today, but a rash of fires took a heavy early toll.

★ ★ ★

Despite miserable driving conditions in wide sections of the nation's midlands, traffic deaths on New Year's Eve and the first few hours of the new year mounted at about half the rate clocked during the start of last week's Christmas holiday.

★ ★ ★

A storm moving eastward from the Southwest spread snow or sleet over highways and streets in numerous Midwestern cities.

But slippery road conditions apparently prompted extra caution. The New Year's Eve toll from 6 p.m. local time to midnight was less than half the number killed on Christmas Eve.

Americans used 29 pounds of soap per capita in 1957 compared with 27 pounds the year before and 23 pounds in 1946.

Reds' '59 Plans Include Rocket Around Moon

LONDON (AP)—The Russians will be able to send a rocket around the moon and fly a nuclear - powered civilian plane during 1959, Moscow radio said today.

A French - language broadcast entitled "Soviet Science in 1959" said the new year "will se still greater development in the field of interplanetary rockets and Sputniks.

"Here progress of technology and automation will without doubt make it possible to send an interplanetary rocket around the moon in 1959," the broadcast said. By using the word "possible," Moscow avoided saying flatly that the Russians would try.

Public Figures in Area Express Hopes for '59

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

Just ripped off the 365th page of my desk calendar and said goodbye to 1958.

Recalling the immortal words of my great-great granddaddy Titus, "Don't look back son, always look forward," I left it to many personalities you and I have seen or heard from during the last 365 days to reply to the question:

"What do you hope for in the year 1959?"

★ ★ ★

Here is a sample of some of the replies:

Delos Hamlin, chairman of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors — "That our wonderful county will continue to progress, as it has in the past, always for the betterment of its citizens."

Harold B. Euler, Pontiac General Hospital administrator "Acceptance from the community of the operation of the hospital."

State Sen. L. Harvey Lodge — "Faith by the people in the future, and an honest, intelligent direction of government."

George Atchison, maintenance superintendent for Oakland County buildings — "Cleaner pigons."

Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams — "The hope we won't be involved in a world war in the coming year or years."

Carlos G. Richardson, chairman of the Oakland County Democratic Committee— "Hope it's better."

Sheriff Frank W. Irons: "That we can cut down to zero the number of drownings in our lakes in the summer months, and that drivers heed the laws of the road."

★ ★ ★

Pontiac Mayor Phillip E. Rowston — "The economy of our fine city will prosper and prosper in order to give full employment to all our residents."

Pontiac Teamsters Local 614 — "No comment."

Pontiac City Attorney William A. Ewart — "Peace and harmony."

Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem— "I'm hoping for the impossible, that Michigan Wolverines go through the season unbeaten."

Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty— "Not looking forward to the year with too much joy because it means the end of my judgeship and all the fine associations that have come from it."

Willis M. Brewer, life-long Democrat — "A superb record of service to the citizens of Michigan by U.S. Senator Philip A. Hart."

George D. Eastman, public safety director for Pontiac — "A happy, efficient police division."

Circuit Judge William J. Beer: "Justice and peace for everyone."

An unidentified circuit judge's clerk — "I hope I won't be silly enough to say something so you can misquote me."

Fred V. Haggard, president of the Oakland County CIO Council— "That 1959 produces a better economical situation than we had in 1958."

Outgoing County Clerk Mrs. Florence J. Allen — "Votes in my bid for Waterford Township treasurer, and that the world settles down to a world free of wars."

Chief Deputy County Treasurer Lloyd Sibley — "That bucks grow bigger horns." (EDITOR'S NOTE: He missed his buck last season.)

Resolutions?

We all make 'em
As we should.
And try our best to keep 'em,
That's understood.

Here's one you should make,
And try not to break
'Cause your hard-earned dollars,
Will be at stake.

If in the future
A used car is your plan
Kick up your heels,
And follow the band.

It'll lead you straight,
As a hunter can shoot,
To the value-packed bargains,
On the big lot at

CHOOSE JAIL — Marie Torre, radio and television critic of the New York Herald Tribune, has chosen to serve 10 days in jail rather than divulge the source of a news item concerning Judy Garland which brought on a libel suit. Miss Torre's case was a test of a newsman right to protect his sources.

The Little League (teen-age baseball players) was first organized in Williamport, Pa., in 1939.

Shares His Collection of Outstanding Leads

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — I'm going to start New Year's right by saying something good about a class of people that is cruelly maligned:

Newspaper people!

WILSON

I refer to those guys and those girls who write that wonderful prose you eventually wrap the fish or your lunch in.

My hobby is collecting "leads"—the opening paragraph of their stories that is supposed to hook you into reading the rest of it.

Funny, sad or "deadpan," theyre generally whacked out on a typewriter by a guy with a cigarette burning anywhere but in an ashtray while some editor somewhere is yowling, "Well, come on, let's have it!"

Ben Hecht, covering a Chicago hanging, began: "Outside, the pizzicato of the rain."

★ ★ ★

Quent Reynolds, covering the most celebrated electrocution in many years, wrote: "Bruno Richard Hauptmann walked into the Trenton State Prison death house and sat down in the only unoccupied chair in the room."

The "good leads" are the ones that other newspaper people talk about—and quote—years later. Recently, newspaper men have been remembering the good leads, and sending them to Ray Erwin's column in "Editor & Publisher."

One headline is famous: over the story by Will Irwin of the San Francisco earthquake and fire: "THE CITY THAT WAS."

Sports writers seem to lead with the leads. Jack Miley, reporting on Max Schmeling knocking out Joe Louis, wrote: "The cow killed the butcher." Not in a lead, but in a story, Jimmy Cannon said of Joe Louis: "He's a credit to his race, I mean, of course, the human race."

★ ★ ★

Grantland Rice had one about the Notre Dame football team that started the whole country talking—and also coined a national expression. Approximately like this:

"Against the gray October sky, the Four Horsemen rode again in legendary lore. Their names are Death, Pestilence, Hunger and Fire. These are only aliases. Their real names are Stuhldreyer, Crowley, Miller and Layden."

Damon Runyon had one about Harry Thaw returning from a mental institution "as brown as a nut."

"Earl Carroll came back from prison today to the Broadway that sent him there," wrote Talcott Powell once.

★ ★ ★

Billie Holliday's book, "Lady Sings the Blues," co-authored by William Dufty had a startler:

"Mom and Pop were just a couple of kids when they got married. He was 18, she was 16 and I was three."

But, day in and day out, the best stuff is created by "rewrite men" sitting with headsets, listening to reporters, then writing their literature under the gun. I'm proud to have been one once, even if only rather mediocre.

Did I ever write any good leads? How nice of you to ask!

Well, once when the late Jim Tully, of St. Mary's O., and later of Hollywood, was a literary god, I wrote: "Jim Tully gave an interview today about and mostly in four-letter words."

I though it was rather good until Jim tried to get me fired.

★ ★ ★

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Actor Mitch Kowal, who's appeared in "Maverick" and "Have Gun, Will Travel," explains the real reason for the Los Angeles smog: "That's the smoke from all the guns fired on those darn TV westerns." . . . That's earl, brother.

Murrow Quotes Poet to Sum Up Wishes for '59

NEW YORK—Many "Person to Person's" guests over the past five years have had occasion to discuss life and the people who have influenced their way of living.

Edward R. Murrow, who visits with former catcher Roy Campanella and his family tomorrow, has frequently been asked questions about his own personal beliefs in this area. He says they can best be summed up with these lines—his favorites—by the German poet, Heinrich Heine:

"The New Year is at the door. I wish for the stupid a little understanding, and, for the understanding, a little poetry. I wish a heart for the rich, and a little bread for the poor. But above all, I wish that we may blackguard each other as little as possible during the New Year."

This brings to mind other expressions of past "Person to Person" guests:

★ ★ ★

Singer Frankie Laine—"Just do your best and go along."

Sen. John L. McClellan: "Know yourself, control yourself, deny yourself."

Mrs. Wendell Willkie: "We must adapt ourselves to the life we know and learn to live in the circumstances into which we are thrown."

Singer Julie London: "There's one word in the dictionary that's the biggest word you can possibly find, and that's tolerance."

Latin America's largest steel mill is Volta Redona, 60 miles from here. Its capacity is 600,000 tons a year.

QUIZ GIRL — Judy Bamber is one of the prettier sights as an assistant to George Fenneman on his "Anybody Can Play" series on ABC-TV Monday nights at 9:30 p.m.

'Right Girl' Aim of Hugh O'Brian

The Nelsons, Pat Boone, Dick Clark Make Vows for 1959

NEW YORK — Like everyone else in the country, television stars are turning new pages and new leaves for the New Year.

Hugh O'Brian, star of "The Life and Legend of Wyatt Earp," has a 1959 target. "I hope," says Hugh, "to find the right girl and to marry during the new year."

★ ★ ★

Harriet Nelson, of "The Adventures of Ozzie and Harriet," says she will start toward all appointments 15 minutes earlier than necessary in order to arrive on time. Ozzie says nothing. Rick Nelson will try to arise earlier without so much strain in the mornings. David Nelson will answer telephone calls; he thinks he may have avoided such responsibility too often in 1958.

★ ★ ★

Pat Boone, of "The Pat Boone Chevy Showroom": "I'm not making any resolutions along this line, but I'm still looking for that boy."

Dick Clark, busy young emcee of "American Bandstand" and "The Dick Clark Show": "I'll try to read more books and write to my friends more often."

Lawrence Welk, of "The Plymouth Show": "I'll put even greater energy and time into writing articles based on questions from viewers."

The Lennon Sisters: "We will make things easier for 'Mom' by doubling our household chores when a new baby brother or sister arrives in February."

Clarinetist Pete Fountain: "I'm gonna swing easier."

Donna Reed ("The Donna Reed Show"): "I'll spend more time on my special hobby, photography."

Frank Lovejoy (McGraw of "Meet McGraw"): "I'll read twice as many books in 1959 as I did in 1958."

Barbara Billingsley (Mrs. Cleaver of "Leave It to Beaver"): "I'll try on my real-life sons some of the things I use on my two television boys, Jerry Mathers and Tony Dow. I like June Cleaver's calm approach to the problems of child-raising.

Walter Brennan (Grandpa Amos of "The Real McCoys"): "I celebrated my 64th birthday last summer. When a man's done that, he no longer worries about New Year's resolutions."

George Washington met and married Martha Custis near West Point. But, this West Point isn't the military academy. It's a town in Virginia.

Fire Fails to Disperse Bee Swarm in School

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — It just didn't work.

Two helpful but unidentified boys tried to get rid of a swarm of bees in the East San Jose School in Albuquerque by burning them out.

Result: Part of one wall and the interior of the building badly damaged; three firemen stung by the irate bees still firmly entrenched.

Elks Arrive Properly

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Last year Mrs. Mildred Lainey Elks presented her husband, John, with a son on Father's Day. This year she presented him with a daughter on Mother's Day.

2nd Graders Compile Scrapbook About Ike

FREMONT, Ohio (AP) — President Eisenhower has expressed his appreciation for being remembered by the second grade at Lutz School here.

Mrs. Ann Hull's 32 second graders received a note from Anne Whitman, the President's personal secretary, after they compiled a scrapbook from clippings of magazine and newspaper articles about the President and his family. It was sent to the President with a letter from the class.

Pledge Is Mere Words

CORONADO, Calif. (AP)—The state convention of the Junior Women's Clubs opened 20 minutes late with the reciting of the club pledge which opens: "I will be prompt . . ."

Beach Loud-Speaker Helps Find Lost Tots

ASBURY PARK, N.J. (AP)—Beach Director Sherman Mischler says the newly installed loudspeakers that carry piped music over this Atlantic Ocean bathing beach are also handy for finding lost children.

"That job used to take a full day sometimes," he comments, "but now we can do it in 10 minutes and even provide background music for the reunion."

Courts Danger Young

STAMFORD, Conn. (AP) — Among the patients given emergency treatment at Stamford Hospital recently was a 19-month-old boy who had cut his hand while playing with a knife.

No Laughing Matter to Face Actual Agents

BALTIMORE (AP) — A man with connections asked two other patrons why they were wearing hats inside a West Baltimore bar — were they federal agents?

Yes, the men replied as a joke. They stopped laughing when the man telephoned Washington and 20 minutes later a platoon of real agents moved in and asked some very serious questions.

Coming, Going—Hit, Hurt

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — A bar and grill here was sued for $25,000 by a patron who said he was hit on his way into the place by a customer being bounced out of it.
