Michigan Loses Fight to Beef Up Civil Rights

Oakland GOP Behind Nixon, VanDusen

By LAWRENCE S. MARTZ JR.

In two resolutions unanimously passed last night, convening Oakland County Republicans endorsed the candidacy of Richard C. Van Dusen of Birmingham for state attorney general and went on record favoring renomination of Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

The strongly worded Nixon resolution praised him for "dedicated and energetic performance of his duties."

It noted Nixon "has been the target of unwarranted and unreasonable attacks . . . by those who represent interests at odds with the administration."

These attacks, the resolution said, "have caused some other Republicans to doubt the value of the contributions Vice President Nixon has made."

COUNTY BEHIND HIM

The resolution expressed "complete confidence" in Nixon, urged his renomination, and pledged him the "wholehearted support" of Oakland County.

Copies of the document are to be sent to Nixon and Republican National Chairman Leonard Hall.

Van Dusen's endorsement came after Chief Assistant Prosecutor George F. Taylor, who had announced his candidacy for the same post, withdrew in Van Dusen's favor.

Lashing out at the Democratic party and its Chicago convention, Taylor compared Tennessee Gov. Frank Clement, Democratic keynoter, to an evangelist.

"My father used to say, where there's an evangelist there's likely to be sinners," Taylor said.

Thanking delegates for their support, Van Dusen, retiring state representative from the county's third district, said there will be "a tough fight in Grand Rapids to secure this nomination for Oakland County."

If Van Dusen is nominated, he will be the first county candidate on the Republican state ticket in 21 years, Taylor said.

Judge Resumes Dope Hearings

Expect Defense to Ask Dismissal of Charges Against 15 Suspects

The pre-trial examination of 15 suspects in an alleged dope conspiracy in the southwest Pontiac area re-opened this morning with the possibility that Defense Attorney Milton R. Henry will ask for a dismissal of charges.

The examination has been conducted before Pontiac Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum in a half-dozen sessions since the arrests in mid-May.

Chief Assistant Prosecutor George F. Taylor has attempted to show evidence of the conspiracy since Sept. 1, 1955, to violate state narcotics laws. The conspiracy involves sale, possession and use of narcotics.

Two of the suspects had been expected to testify against the others. They are Eddie May Yates, 28, and Paul Baity, 27, both described as "pushers" of heroin. The pair refused to testify at the last session, Aug. 3.

Without their testimony, evidence of a conspiracy remains scanty, according to authorities.

Baity and Miss Yates face more serious charges of sale and possession of heroin if the conspiracy case falls through.

All of the suspects, including two other women, have been free under bonds.

School Room Addition Bids OK'd by Board of Education

Bids to build multi-purpose room additions at four more elementary schools were accepted this morning by the Pontiac Board of Education.

The construction, figured at $621,438, nearly winds up plans to provide adequate facilities for children attending eight of the city's older schools.

Contracts were approved this morning for additions at Central, Emerson, Hawthorne and Willis Schools. The price includes tie-in of corridors, electrical systems, plumbing and heating.

The Board plans to contract for a multi-purpose addition at Malkim School within a few months, according to Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, Superintendent of Schools.

Construction at Malkim is held up, he said, until plans are ready for an additional six classrooms and a kindergarten there.

Bids accepted this morning were of $413,083 for general construction by Schurrer Construction Company; $157,220 for mechanical work by Eames and Brown, Inc., and of $51,135 for electrical work by Schultz Electric Service.

The buildings may be in full

Hot Civil Rights Plank Cools and Cools . . . and Finally Passes

'Coy' Stevenson Waits Results

However, He Asserts Paralysis of Progress Hampers Republicans

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY

CHICAGO (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson, looking beyond his nomination, said today there is a "virtual paralysis" of progress under the Eisenhower Administration. He added that it is "not due alone to the President's infirmity."

Stevenson eased off his pace as he approached a second Democratic presidential nomination at tonight's session of the party's convention.

He predicted a Democratic triumph in the fall election.

Stevenson also was reported to have expressed approval of the party platform, with specific endorsement of "a grand farm program."

Stevenson also said, in a statement, he would have "preferred a specific endorsement" of the Supreme Court's decision against segregation, but said that the civil rights plank provides a firm base toward solution of the problem.

While Stevenson's nomination seemed to lack only an official stamp, he himself was a bit coy about pronouncing himself the winner.

Clement Says No, but—

CHICAGO (INS)—Another Tennesseean is also in the vice presidential race, along with Estes. Gov. Frank Clement, the Democratic keynoter, said today he is "not running for it and not running away from it," but it is an open secret that he would like to do Kefauver out of the No. 2 spot.

Harry All the Way

CHICAGO (INS)—Averell Harriman announced today that former President Harry S. Truman will make a seconding speech for his nomination this afternoon.

Dems Finally Cool Off Persistent Hot Potato, but Not Before Some Long Hours of Hassling

By JOE HAAS

CHICAGO—The hot potato in the platform of the National Democratic Convention long has been known to be the civil rights plank.

In fact it has been the hot potato for many political platforms since the earliest recollections of most of us.

JOE

It is so hot this year it was allowed to cool until the early hours this morning before they dared present it.

They hoped a lot of listless oratory, more than an hour of music by the orchestra, and a couple of hours of sneaking in other planks might so tire out delegates and audience they wouldn't notice it.

FORCED THROUGH

But they were waiting for it, and such a fuss was riled up that reinforcements were necessary in the shape of a shot in the arm and kick lower down by Dr. Harry Truman in order to have it adopted, and by a vote requiring the unmatchable technique of Chairman Sam Rayburn to detect which way it went. And everybody knows which way Sam wanted it to go.

Building up for the platform vote, Sen. Robert Kerr of Oklahoma, told delegates and audience Secretary of State John Dulles is an old tanglefoot, that the Democrats won World War II, that FDR and Harry were the greatest presidents in 100 years, and that the Republicans had substituted the Democrats' rendezvous with destiny with a rendezvous with deception. He said the world's biggest circus hadn't closed — only moved to Washington.

One of Nixon's severest critics, Kerr let him down easy. But he so tired out the audience many of them went home. The only exciting thing in connection with Kerr's speech was when Rayburn stooped him to chase a Stevenson boosting party off the floor, then remarking, "There has been confusion here all the evening and it isn't doing us any good. Not many people here know what's going on."

BEST YET

Its chairman, John W. McCormack, said it was the greatest Platform Committee of all time, that it was not made up of political amateurs and that it had discovered Republican prosperity is a delusion.

The biggest crowd of the first three days of the convention was on hand. They knew the civil rights question could not be put off any longer, and they soon sensed that the tiresome preliminaries were like being at a movie and waiting for the feature.

It was nearly five hours after the show opened that it finally had to be dragged out, and fully one half of the early audience then were at home and asleep—or should have been.

More than a dozen lesser planks preceded it, all with an extended vocabulary. One was the "magna charta" for labor, the promised repeal of the Taft-Hartley Law. Most of the others were what must be expected if any political party expects to garner any votes.

The afternoon session today is only a preliminary leading up to nominating speeches for candidates for President this evening.

International Control Emphasized

Dulles Presents 4-Point Plan for Suez

LONDON (AP)—The Western Big Three proposed today that the operation of the Suez Canal be made the responsibility of an international board, including Egypt linked to the United Nations.

U. S. Secretary of State Dulles, on behalf of the United States, France and Britain, presented a four-point plan for solving the international crisis blown up by Egyptian President Nasser's nationalization of the vital waterway.

Dulles told the 22-nation Suez conference the board proposed by the West would be established by treaty and would provide for operation of the canal in accordance with the 1888 Constantinople convention.

The plan would insure that the board could not be dominated by any single power or group of powers and would open the canal to all powers.

Dulles spoke to the conference's afternoon session. A source close to the conference said he put forward these points:

1. Operation of the Suez Canal shall be in accordance with the 1888 Constantinople convention, a nine-nation agreement which provided the canal would be open to all shipping in peace and in war. The operation should be the responsibility of an international board, to be established by treaty and linked with the U.N. Egypt should be on it and it should not be dominated by any single power or group of powers. Its functioning should not prejudice the use of the canal by any power.

2. The new arrangement must recognize Egypt's right to an equitable return, presumably from any profits from use of the canal.

3. Fair compensation should be paid to the stockholders of the nationalized Suez Canal Co.

4. Arbitration machinery should be agreed upon to settle any disputes that might arise out of these principles.

It's Official: Adlai's In

CHICAGO (INS)—Adlai Stevenson's solid possession of 781 first-ballot votes, nearly 100 more than the 686½ needed to give him a second crack at President Eisenhower, made the nominating speech spectacle something of a hollow show.

Babs Sideswipes Japanese Island

Kyushu Catches Fringe of 110 M.P.H. Typhoon; Okinawa Pilot Missing

TOKYO (AP) — Typhoon Babs, with winds of 110 miles an hour in its center, struck a glancing blow tonight at Japan's main southern island of Kyushu. No reports of casualties or damage were immediately available.

One U. S. Navy airman was missing in the wake of the storm's fringe on Okinawa to the south. Four others with him were rescued when their amphibious plane sank.

Predictions that the typhoon would hit Kyushu full force were not borne out. High winds on the fringe were expected to hit the Pusan area in Korea.

The pilot of the sunken Navy plane, whose name was withheld, was the object of search by Army, Air Force, Navy and Marines.

'Don't Do It!' Herter Orders in Statement

BOSTON (INS) — Gov. Christian A. Herter of Massachusetts, today definitely killed all chances of Harold E. Stassen to nominate him for vice presidency at the Republican National Convention Monday in San Francisco.

Governor Herter in a "final statement," said he wanted "to make it clear" that if his name is used against his wishes, "I shall ask Joe Martin, permanent chairman of the convention, to have my name withdrawn.

Thus, this killed all chances of Stassen in his "Dump Nixon" drive to have the two-time governor of Massachusetts nominated in place of Nixon.

Herter said he was compelled to make "this final statement on the subject because of the continued use of his name. At no time in the statement did he mention the name of Stassen who has been the leader in a drive to have the Bay State governor replace Richard M. Nixon as the GOP candidate for vice president.

State Gives Up but It Fights, Says Governor

Williams Calls Platform 'Good and Strong' One, Says He'll Back It

Michigan delegates are pledged to vote unanimously for Kefauver for vice president on their first ballot tomorrow night, reported Pontiac Press correspondent Joe Haas by telephone today.

By ROGER LANE

CHICAGO (AP)—Michigan lost the battle for a stronger civil rights plank but Gov. G. Mennen Williams said today the Democrats still put together a "good and strong" platform to run on in November.

"We did everything we could honestly and honorably do," said Williams, apparently undaunted after the defeat.

"We lost on a fair vote. We are going to do everything we can to support the Democratic candidates and the Democratic platform," he said.

Adlai E. Stevenson was soaring on the wings of the civil rights "moderation" victory today toward the Democratic presidential nomination which will be his tonight. He designated Sen. John F. Kennedy to place his name before the convention.

With other Northern liberal elements, Michigan was shouted down at 1:20 a.m. today on its demand for wording that would have pledged the party to "carry out" Supreme Court decisions in the civil rights area.

* * *

The rejected minority report of the Platform Committee also called for insertion in the civil rights plank of a paragraph of the 1952 Democratic platform.

The paragraph promised an effort for federal legislation to secure, among other things, "the right to equal opportunity for employment."

Michigan already has a Fair Employment Practices Law, passed by the 1955 Legislature after years of prodding by Williams.

NOT PUT OUT

The governor seemed not at all dejected afterward by the rebuff he suffered in company with Governors Leader of Pennsylvania, Ribicoff of Connecticut, Meynar of New Jersey, and Freeman of Minnesota, along with Sens. Lehman of New York, and Douglas of Illinois.

"The party is stronger for what we did," he told newsmen.

"I think the platform is pretty good. We just felt it should be a little better," he explained.

He said he felt no "rancor" at the voice votes that rejected the minority language and upheld the majority civil rights proposal offered by Rep. John W. McCormack, Platform Committee chairman.

* * *

Williams was one of five Northerners including Lehman and Douglas, who spoke for the losing cause, pitting their oratory against that of former President Truman, former Gov. Dever of Massachusetts, McCormack and Sen. Joseph O'Mahoney of Wyoming.

Supporters of the majority recommendation called it the best civil rights plank ever adopted by a major political party.

They pointed to two mentions of the Supreme Court, something the liberals wanted, its explicit recognition of the problem of segregation and the broader language employed in some places.

In his brief speech, Williams said the Michigan delegation came to the convention "with high aspirations to write a platform exemplifying the great traditions of the

HAS NO INTENTION OF QUITTING — New York's Gov. Averell Harriman struck this serious pose as he told newsmen at a downtown hotel in Chicago yesterday he was not withdrawing from the race for the Democratic presidential nomination. "I'm going to stick with this thing to the end," he said. The statement came in the face of growing support for Adlai Stevenson.

His Battle Had Been Lost

Stooped More Than Usual, Harriman Watches the End

By JACK LOTTO

CHICAGO (INS) — At 1:25 a.m. this morning Averell Harriman knew his fondest dream could never be.

* * *

Slowly, wearily, he walked to his television set and blacked out the scene which meant his battle for the presidential nomination was lost.

With the banging of a gavel sounding the death knell of his cherished hope, Harriman — stooped even more than usual— grimly, silently turned and sat down on the edge of his bed.

He knew the loss of his battle for a strong civil rights plank was the handwrighting on the wall—but still wouldn't admit it.

Aides tried to cheer him but departed quickly when the New York governor said he was tired and wanted sleep.

All night Harriman had personally plotted the strategy he felt would turn the tide from moderate-minded Adlai Stevenson to him.

He was in constant telephone contact with aides and backers of a tougher civil rights platform on the convention floor for the make or break pre-ballot test of strength.

But even after the civil rights defeat was inflicted on him, Harriman stubbornly refused to drop out of the contest or concede the nomination to the former Illinois governor.

A thick pall of gloom descended over Harriman's headquarters' but his supporters tried to maintain a brave front.

The first job on their hands was an almost continuous chanting that rumors that Harriman was throwing in the towel were "untrue."

"No top supporters has remotely indicated that Harriman should withdraw, Lloyd Benefield, his national campaign director asserted.

To underscore the Harriman declaration earlier that "I am in this fight to the end—win, lose or draw," he announced his nomination tonight will be seconded by Montana's attorney general, Arnold Olsen.

* * *

His headquarters went through the routine of announcing their candidate still has "400" delegate votes—but this figure was widely discounted.

Where to Obtain CD Data Topic for Hot Discussion

Where to get civil defense information sparked a hot discussion last night at a joint meeting of the Ground Observer Corps, city and county Civil Defense officials, and representatives of the county American Red Cross chapter.

* * *

Under discussion was civil defense, and natural disaster preparedness.

* * *

Speaking for the city, David R. Ewald said that City Manager Walter K. Willman's office was the place to seek information on civil defense plans or natural disaster preparedness.

* * *

Several GOC members claimed they had received no such information from the city.

In addition to the discussions on preparedness, awards were presented to GOC members having the most hours of observation for the past three months. An American Flag was given by the Elks Chapter No. 723 to the GOC.

Methods of mass feeding and first aid in emergencies were aired, and the group heard County GOC Coordinator Mrs Melvina Eberle describe tornado symptoms and their reporting.

* * *

A tornado warning system was also discussed.

Seventeen GOC members received hourly awards from the United States Air Force. Sgt. Sam Beronja made the presentation.

The Pontiac Press presented John Fromm, 17, 942 Wagner Ave., with a $25 bond for accumulating the most observation hours during April, May and June.

Fromm also won first prize for the monthly awards. This was presented by Baldwin Service, with the second prize from Christian Literature going to Dan Turnage, 60 Washington St. Ronald Contor, 643 E. Madison Ave., received third prize from Clothier Standard Service.

Democratic party, and to fire the hopes of the American people."

PRAISES COMMITTEE

He complimented the Platform Committee on a "generally excellent job" but said his delegation "felt the civil rights section fell somewhat short of our ideal."

He told the convention:

"We joined with like-minded Democrats from many other states and cities from coast to coast to present our views to the committees preparing recommendations to this body so that we might all unite behind a unanimous platform.

"Despite our best efforts to reach a harmonious conclusion, we were unsuccessful.

"So in all humility and good faith, we submit this civil rights amendment.

"It proposes no more, or proposes no less, than Thomas Jefferson in the Declaration of Independence, or Adlai Stevenson or Averell Harriman in their recent public utterances."

Williams showed no bitterness over settlement of the issue by a voice vote.

* * *

The governor had worked tirelessly through the day, starting at 3 a.m., for the Northern objective. To a great extent, it was an effort led by Michigan, even though New York, California, Pennsylvania and more than a dozen other states joined forces, in whole or in part.

* * *

One of the platform sentences that particularly disturbed the Michigan delegation read:

"We reject all proposals for the use of force to interfere with the orderly determination of these matters by the courts."

This was construed in some quarters to express the idea that under no circumstances, even in conditions of riot occurring in defiance to federal court orders, should force be contemplated.

6 in Contention as Adlai's Mate

Democratic Nominee Refrains From Giving Any Hint of Preference

CHICAGO (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson, coasting confidently toward his second Democratic presidential nomination, today kept the field for a running mate wide open.

Roger Tubby, Stevenson's press secretary, said at least six names are "on the list."

* * *

Tubby identified the six as Senators Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota and Albert Gore of Tennessee, Mayor Robert Wagner of New York and Gov. Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey.

Stevenson has refrained pointedly from giving any hint of his preference, insisting he has made no deals.

* * *

Humphrey is the only one of the six who has campaigned actively, although several of the others have let it be known they are available.

* * *

Stevenson has had words of praise for every man mentioned on the list—and for Gov. Frank J. Clement of Tennessee, who dropped around last night to Stevenson's suite in the Sheraton-Blackstone Hotel.

Finder Asked to Return Wallet of Dead Roofer

Friends of the David Jerry Smith family of Pontiac Township today issued a plea for the return of Smith's wallet. It was lost at the scene of an explosion Monday night in which he was killed.

The billfold reportedly contained an unknown amount of money and papers important in settling his estate.

Smith, a roofer, died of burns received when hot tar exploded as he was drawing it from his truck. His helper, Frank Hill, of 916 Fremont St., also was burned in the accident.

Both men lost their wallets, friends said, when they rolled on the ground trying to put out the flames. Onlookers apparently took the wallets, they said.

Board of Education Accepts Room Bids

use by late spring, Whitmer said.

Multi-purpose rooms have been under construction since June at Crofoot, LeBaron and McCarroll Schools, where classroom additions also are under way. The additions will be ready Feb. 1.

The multi-purpose units provide facilities for gym, auditorium, lunch and other school and community activities.

PLANNED CIRCULAR ROOMS

Whitmer believed that the price of a multi-purpose room at Malkim would be about $150,000, the average cost at the other schools.

It would bring the total cost of the eight multi-purpose rooms, plus classroom additions, to about $1,513,000.

The Board originally planned to build circular, domed structures to hold the multi-purpose facilities. These plans were scrapped after original bids placed the total price — without classroom additions — at about $2,069,000.

Plans to build the all-purpose rooms have been in the making for several years. The structure finally settled on its rectangular in shape and of standard gymnasium height.

It contains about 7,000 square feet, is of brick and has an asbestos cement roof. In size, it is about 700 square feet smaller than the circular buildings.

The buildings were designed by H. E. Beyster and Associates of Detroit, the company which "dreamed up" the circular buildings.

Indiana Toll Road Open to South Bend

ANGOLA, Ind. (AP)—Members of the Indiana Toll Road Commission and the Ohio Turnpike Commission opened the eastern half of the Northern Indiana toll road at one minute after midnight today.

The opening means that motorists may now drive from New York City to South Bend without stops except at filling stations and state-line toll plazas.

BIRMINGHAM — Opening of two new stores on Pierce Street is completing that street's colonial front, but providing modern merchandising approaches within the white wood-worked buildings.

Business began today for the New Doubleday Book Shop, where Mrs. Dorothy Baker has come to be manager. She comes from the chain's Livernois store and moved last month to 227 Frank.

Employes who live in Birmingham but till now have worked in others of the now-six-store-chain in the Detroit area will be working here.

"Our flat displays of books is the most easily accessible of all our area stores," says District Manager Horace Gordon, here for the opening.

He says the Detroit area stores are on a plane with other metropolitan areas, and with New York's for cultural choices in reading. The Doubleday business in this area is the largest in units outside of New York.

Next door, the Princeton Prep Shop will open Monday, with a Thunderbird Junior being offered as prize for one of the early store visitors.

Later, in September, the store plans a theater party to create interest.

Robert Girardin, recreation director, says he will suggest that the excess of funds left from last year's budget be used partially for a ski and sled area opposite the high school when the recreation board meets tonight.

The city commission has asked an explanation of the budget surplus so that future allowances may be made. Girardin says he will discuss the cause tonight, which he says was partially due to the changes last year in supervision of the recreation activities.

The Saturday night teen - age dance at Eton Park was a success and bears repeating, he says.

Teenagers are hoping for a mid-September repeat, he says. About 100 attended Saturday, although rain kept many away.

Hills Schools Ask Bond Issue

Seek $2,765,000 for Sites, 2 Schools for 1100 Students

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The Board of Education here is asking voters to approve a bond issue for $2,765,000 to acquire four school sites, construct a 600-student junior high school and a 500-student elementary school, and to complete roads, parking lots and playgrounds at present schools.

Rapidly growing school population is cited as reason for the expansion problems. Vote will be Sept. 10.

Three years ago the district had 600 and now has 1800 students. Present buildings are filled and the high school, built for 600 to 700 pupils, will have over 700 in September.

Vaughan School will have over 600 pupils, Wing Lake, 370 pupils, and Eastover, 170, school officials say.

The new bond proposal would make new buildings possible in 1958.

Supt. Eugene L. Johnson, says that the present school tax of 17.13 mills is low as compared with other districts in the county. The bond issue would mean an increase of three mills.

Thieves Loot $225 From 2 Drive-ins

Thieves looted two Avon Township drive-ins last night, Oakland County Sheriff's deputies said.

* * *

About $200 was stolen from a cigar box in the office of one of the drive-ins at 19 E. Auburn Ave., according to the owner, Laverne Vradenburgh. He said the cigarette machine and juke box were rifled of change.

* * *

The cash register in the other establishment, 4364 E. Auburn Ave., was looted of $25, according to the co-owners, Mrs. Dorothy Dunn and Mrs. Jane Camp also told deputies that vending machines were pried open and change taken.

Both buildings were entered through rear windows, deputies said.

Parents of Retarded Youth Also Need Close Attention

ANN ARBOR (AP) — "In so many of the cases of mentally disturbed children that we see, the parents need attention almost as much as the child."

This, says Dr. Stuart M. Finch, new chief of the children's psychiatric unit at the University of Michigan, will guide the expansion of the unit's activities.

"What value is there," he asks, "in successfully treating a child then having him return to the same environment that bred his trouble in the first place?"

Dr. Finch was recently named by the Regents of the University to succeed Dr. Ralph D. Rabinovitch, nationally known child psychiatrist, who resigned in an argument over administrative problems. Dr. Rabinovitch became head of the children's unit at Northville.

To counsel parents of disturbed children, Dr. Finch and his assistant Dr. Saul I. Harrison, intend to increase the number of psychiatric social workers from three to 17.

In addition, Dr. Finch said, efforts will be made to fill staff requirements with capable persons so that the unit can operate at full strength.

"So far," he said, "occupancy has been no more than two-thirds of capacity. The chief reason has been shortage of staff."

Drs. Finch and Harrison come to the University from Philadelphia's Temple University. They will be joined in November by associate chief of service, Dr. William R. Keeler, now research associate at the research institute of the hospital for sick children, Toronto.

Dr. Finch said that parents of outpatient children, should also be patients of the clinic. In this manner, he said, it will be possible to treat many more disturbed children than if we limit service to inpatients.

Bock Beer Gets Name From German Town

MILWAUKEE—Bock beer, now regarded as a kind of lager, was originally made in winter for spring consumption. Composed of two-thirds barley malt and one-third wheat malt, it was both darker and sweeter than regular beer.

It was first brewed about 1200 A.D. in Einbeck, Germany, and took its name from that town. Gradually the name was corrupted into ein bock, which means a goat. The goat still appears in bock-beer ads.

Only Men Used in Casts

TOKYO—Japan has three special forms of theater art: Noh, Kabuki, and puppet drama. The Noh originated in the 14th Century as a religious dance. The Kabuki uses only men in its casts.

An all-puppet theater, the Bunrakuza, is at Osaka. Japanese theater entertainment also includes modern revues, light opera all-girl dance troupes, and symphony orchestras.

Swiss Camp Out

BERN, Switzerland—More than 100 tent camps have sprung up in recent years in Switzerland as the result of a sudden growth of popularity in camping out. A Swiss Bureau of Statistics report shows that 174,872 persons stayed a total of 304,388 nights at Swiss Touring Club camps during 1955.

Watching Politics Tonight?

Here's a Convention Guide

CHICAGO (INS)—The big moment has arrived. Tonight the nation's TV viewers will watch the Democratic Party pick its presidential candidate.

* * *

The session will be confined solely to the business of voting on a nominee. After he is selected and the demonstrations have subsided, the convention will adjourn until tomorrow when the vice presidential candidate will be picked.

While there are several aspirants for the nomination in the field, the race boils down to a two-way contest between Adlai Stevenson and Averell Harriman with Stevenson as odds-on favorite to win.

If the Stevenson bandwagon rolls as fast as is expected, many states will try to climb aboard on the first ballot so the official record will show their backing.

METHOD STREAMLINED

After the invocation and the singing of the Star Spangled Banner, Convention Chairman Sam Rayburn will order the roll call of states. And Alabama will be the first on the list.

The chairman of each delegation will grab the microphone at his section of the floor and announce how his state casts its votes. If there is a dispute among members of the delegation, they can be polled individually, but under new rules this will be done off-camera while the next state goes ahead with the announcement of its decision.

States are not required to cast their votes the first time around. They can "pass" and then be called at the end of the roll call.

* * *

States which cast their votes for one candidate also may demand recognition at the end of the roll call and change their ballot before the official tally is announced.

WHY STATES 'PASS'

A state may decide to "pass" for two reasons. One, it is having difficulty making up its mind, or it just wants to wait and see which way the ball is rolling and then go with the probable winner.

Some states have "favorite son" candidates to whom they throw their votes on the first ballot. This is merely an honor accorded a native son but sometimes is used as a "holding" action.

If a victor is in sight on the first roll call, states with "favorite sons" often demand recognition at the end of the roll call and change their votes to the front-runner.

* * *

You won't see the final victor—at least in convention hall. It is traditional that he doesn't show up before the delegates until he makes his acceptance speech which is scheduled for tomorrow night.

President Again Vetoes Water Grab at Chicago

Thanks to President EISENHOWER'S good sense and executive veto, Chicago has been blocked for the second time in two years in its effort to grab more Great Lakes water.

A bill authorizing the Windy City to increase its diversion from Lake Michigan from 1,500 to 2,500 cubic feet per second was passed by the 84th Congress. As was the case with a similar measure vetoed by Mr. EISENHOWER in 1954, this year's bill raised a storm of protest.

Michigan's Senator Potter fought the bill in the upper chamber's Public Works Committee. He said that it would damage the prospects of the entire area for increased economic growth built around the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Marine experts pointed out that the additional water asked by Chicago would amount to 31,536,000,000 cubic feet per year. They also say that the loss of only one inch of draft would deprive the Great Lakes of 2,000,000 tons of shipping capacity in one year. The Illinois metropolis sought the additional water to help flush sewage disposal works effluent through its Drainage Canal.

★ ★ ★

In vetoing the bill, President EISENHOWER not only was protecting area and national rights, but those of Canada which has a half interest in Great Lakes water.

Red China Continuing Pressure on Far East

One of the grim facts of international life is that Red China is continuing to be a threat in Southeast Asia.

A glaring example is Viet Nam. The projected plebiscite there hasn't been held. While there has been no Communist invasion from North Viet Nam, the threat to the South Vietnamese persists and the country has not been reunited.

★ ★ ★

This unhappy land is only one of the many that make up Southeast Asia. Little Laos has had to make peace with the Communists by agreeing to take them into the government. Cambodia already has declared itself neutral.

While Red terrorism has subsided somewhat in Malaya, political activity there has been stepped up by the Communists. Burma actually has been invaded by troops as well as Red agents.

★ ★ ★

The pressure is even felt in the Philippines. Latest reports say that President MAGSAYSAY is openly fearful of a revival of the Communist Huk movement. What is so sinister about the whole situation is that Red China's CHOU EN-LAI continues to prate about "peaceful coexistence."

The lesson in all this is that Communist objectives haven't changed. World conquest is their aim. The need which the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization was created to meet still exists.

Ghana, Newest Nation

If Ghana means nothing to you, don't be surprised. It's just the new name for Africa's Gold Coast.

Both the name and the territory in the bulge of West Africa date back to an ancient kingdom.

As a result of native acceptance of Britain's offer of self government, Ghana now is in the progress of becoming the world's newest nation and the first black dominion in the British Commonwealth.

Britain had promised the natives full independence if their Prime Minister NKRUMAH were given a reasonable mandate at the polls. In the recent election the Prime Minister and his Centralists captured 70 of the 104 seats in parliament, while the opposition Federalist Party won only 34.

★ ★ ★

With the exception of Malaya, this new nation is the richest of all British dependencies. It's the world's largest producer of cocoa and manganese. It has great wealth in timber, gold and diamonds. Completion of a vast development on the Volta River also will make it one of the world's greatest sources of bauxite and aluminum. Ghana's population is 4,500,000, of which 6,700 are non-African.

★ ★ ★

It is interesting to note that Prime Minister NKRUMAH was educated at Lincoln University in Pennsylvania. He is credited with being largely responsible for the success of the independence movement.

The Man About Town

Orion Was First

That Township Led Our Other 25 in Many Ways

Silence: What is golden—also cannot be gossiped.

Among Oakland County's 25 townships, Orion claims several "firsts." It had the first real estate boom 125 years ago, when an eastern promoter laid out a city in the wilderness, called it New Canandaigua and sold building lots to New Yorkers at fancy prices—but the bubble burst.

It pioneered in lake homes, many being erected there before those around any other lake in the county. It had the finest stand of primeval white pine timber in Southern Michigan.

It had the first man made lake in the county, and developed the water power on its creeks to a greater degree than any other township in the county. It was the first to accept the Chautauqua summer entertainment idea, so prevalent in the last century, and presented nationally famous features.

A letter and a French newspaper bob in from my old friend,

Meyer says he hopes we are enjoying the summer. Apparently no one has told him that it rains every day.

I just bumped into a couple of the

Barnett Brothers

and they tell me that their last Friday sale was super terrific. "There's plenty of business in this area," said Archie, "and plenty of money, too. Most of the sales were cash. We were literally swamped all day and couldn't keep up with the traffic."

Business hasn't been too rapid in the automobile cities the last few months but you can't set a new record every month and every year.

Do They Believe in Signs?

David Lawrence Says:

Adlai's In; Troubles Still Ahead

CHICAGO—Adlai Stevenson is assured of the Democratic party's nomination for the presidency more because of the work done by his managers many weeks before this convention assembled than by reason of what has occurred here this week.

As happens often with national conventions, there is uncertainty until noses are counted in the three days before the voting starts. This means first-ballot promises as well as second-ballot pledges. It's the latter which tell the tale. Stevenson's managers had accumulated before the convention assembled on Monday an impressive lineup of votes for the first ballot—close to 600. But in the last two days it became evident that at least 100 more would surely come over on the second ballot from the "favorite son" delegations, thus insuring the nomination of the former Illinois governor. The stampede or "band wagon" could get under way before the results of the first ballot are announced Thursday night.

Gov. Harriman was never a formidable contender here. He is supposed to represent the "extreme" wing of his party, though many observers will be hard put to it to find any real differences in underlying philosophy between him and Stevenson. Harry Truman tried to introduce the same bugbear that was heard in the 1952 Republican convention, when it was being freely predicted that, if Taft were nominated, he couldn't win. As it happened, Taft wasn't nominated and so the Republican's didn't have to settle that question. Today Harry Truman is on record as having said Stevenson can't win if nominated. The former president hedged a bit and later said "not without help." Everyone, of course, knew this meant Harry's help which will be forthcoming in due time, and Stevenson will accept it gleefully. One can almost hear him preaching harmony in his acceptance speech and paying tribute to the "achievements of the Truman administration."

TROUBLES AHEAD

All the troubles of the Democratic party, however, will not be over after they proclaim themselves here to be "harmonious." The "civil rights" issue can cause real friction inside the South. The wording of the plank will produce plenty of debate, irrespective of the ambiguities of phraseology written in the platform. The South believes in educational opportunities for everybody and it will agree that the Constitution should be upheld, but it will reserve the right to argue what the Constitution really is—or was. When a decision which says that segregation is within the Constitution stands from 1849 to 1896 and then is reaffirmed and remains "the law of the land" until 1954, it will be hard to convince everybody in the South that the Supreme Court—maybe in another few years — cannot find a loophole in the segregation controversy and open the door to some new compromise in accord with the Constitution. Hope springs eternal, and platform planks are not the last word.

Certainly, if the South furnishes public funds to citizens to pay for their children's education in schools of the parents' own choosing, the Supreme Court may have to uphold the plan. Then the civil rights plank of today may have to be revived to support a Supreme Court decision. So it's academic to argue that any profound principles of enduring purpose are being upheld here in the platform plank on civil rights. The civil rights controversy will go on, irrespective of the phrases put into the platform by the 1956 convention.

This is a week of rather conspicuous hyprocisy and inconsistency. The Democratic party in recent years has boasted about its low-tariff policies but now points in its platform to the failure of the Republican regime to protect certain industries with a tariff wall.

LOT OF VERBIAGE

Likewise, there is a lot of verbiage in the speeches and platform about the need for "a new and imaginative" foreign policy. But nobody has spelled out how you make the Communists behave without having a war with them. The Moscow regime knows there isn't going to be any military pressure applied, so they do about as they please.

Speaker Rayburn, in his speech as permanent chairman of the convention, argues that the Eisenhower administration "failed to crack the Russian monolith upon the death of Stalin." One wonders how the American government was supposed to accomplish this without engaging in a war.

The theory that America actually controls the destiny of the whole world and that, by some magic expression from a secretary of state, Democrat or Republican, the Communists can be "put in their place" and made to behave is a strange mixture of wishful thinking and political bunkum—of which there seems to be an abundance in and around this convention.

Smiles

There's only one thing certain about the weather—its uncertainty.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Doctor Cannot Give Advice Unless He Knows Ailment

"At least three weeks ago I sent you a card asking whether it is safe to apply iodine to the gums. So far I have received no reply and have seen no answer to my question in the paper . . ." (T. M. E.)

Even if a whole column of space were available, I couldn't answer one per cent of the mail in the paper.

Even if a correspondent encloses a stamped, self-addressed envelope there may be no answer—I try to reply if I think I can do any good.

In this instance, an intelligent answer would depend on what's wrong with the gums. T. M. B. didn't say.

In Volumette 1 of the Pocket Cyclopedia of Health the author tells not only how to use iodine for what condition of the gums but gives the recipe for the weaker Talbot's solution and instructions for applying it.

The original Talbot's solution was a good deal stronger than the diluted solution described in the National Formulary as Glyceritum Iodi et Zinci Iodidi. Eugene Talbot, M.D., D.D.S., (both physician and dentist—as I think every dentist should be) called his original strong solution "Iodoglycerol" and recommended (JA MA, 4-2-10) monthly application of the solution to children's gums, to prevent tooth decay, and application to gums and lining of cheeks immediately before tonsil or mouth operation.

Careful application to the gums only, once a week, in the way described in Save Your Teeth, is good home treatment for chronic gingivitis (inflammation of gums), redness, soreness and tenderness of gums or early stage "pyorrhea." But this is not all the treatment such conditions of the gums call for. As important, or more important, is correction of nutritional deficiencies, particularly high calcium diet and supplementation of the diet with adequate daily rations of Ca, D, I and B-complex.

Actual cure of pyorrhea alveolaris (literally, flow of pus from sockets) or Rigg's disease is possible, but I don't believe any medical, surgical, dental or topical treatment is curative. Such treatment is merely incidental. In any stage of pyorrhea, the only treatment which may possibly prevent, improve, arrest or cure the trouble is nutritional—the correction of nutritional deficiencies which have brought about physical degeneration of all the tissues of mouth, gums, jaws. The same deficiences are those responsible for insidiously developing rheumatiz (not "arthritis"), in my opinion. In other words, I believe phorrhea and rheumatiz are just different manifestations of physical degeneration due to malnutrition, nutritional deficiencies, through the years.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Retired Non-Com Decries Sgt. McKeon's Conviction

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

When they convicted Sergeant McKeon, they busted and ruined the Marine Corps. From that day hence every non-commissioned officer in the Corps will be afraid to give an order.

Sgt. McKeon was convicted of doing the very same thing I've done many times, except he did it in the swamps amid mud, muck, mire and high tides, while I did it in the desert amid the rattle snakes.

The Marines have been training men for both day and night combat for the last 180 years and Sgt. McKeon is the goat for all the mistakes made during that time. Without such training they would never have been able to stand up under the tremendous pressure which has been brought to bear on them in battle.

I don't think there has ever been a time in the history of the Corps that the Marines have outnumbered the enemy, yet they have always come through with the highest honors and have never disgraced this great nation. Such was made possible by the rigorous training they had.

I believe Sgt. McKeon should have been tried for involuntary manslaughter for his own protection and found not guilty. It could have happened to anyone. It was an unscheduled march. What would have happened had it been scheduled by the battalion commander, for instance? Absolutely nothing.

Speaking as a private citizen, I will say that it is the greatest miscarriage of justice since the court-martial of Billy Mitchell. I have a grandson. I had thought it would be nice for him to grow up and enlist in the Corps. Now I'm not so sure.

I'm a veteran of World War II and Korea and if I ever return to the service and go into action again, I sure hope my flanks are covered by a couple divisions of Sgt. McKeons.

Hal Boyle Says:

Now Baldies Can Sneer at Non-Thinking Fatheads

NEW YORK (AP) — Curbstone comments of a pavement Plato:

For years bald men have had to put up with such snickering greetings from their mattress-headed friends as, "Hi, cueball."

The baldy—thanks to science—now can give this crushing rejoinder: "Hi yourself, you fathead."

MORE INTELLECTUAL

For the evidence is growing that bald-headed men are, on the whole, more intellectually gifted than the ordinary race of man—something we have suspected ourselves for a long time—and therefore more to be envied than pitied.

* * *

The latest benefactor of the bald is Dr. M. Wharton Young, a professor of anatomy at Howard University.

After 20 years of research Dr. Young has announced that a leading cause of baldness is simply an expanding brain.

It works this way, he says. The blood vessels that feed the hair flow through a layer of scalp fat. As you grow older your brain expands. This presses the layer of fat thinner, squeezes the blood vessels. They fail to bring enough nourishment to the hair growing cells, and your hair falls out.

Simple, isn't it?

WOMEN FATTER

This does leave the problem of why more men than women grow bald. Dr. Young has an answer for this, too. He explains that women generally have a thicker layer of fat in most areas of their body, including the scalp.

* * *

The more fat a man or woman has in that overhead arch between his ears, therefore, the less likely he is to grow bald — particularly if his brain doesn't grow much as he matures.

Dr. Young didn't dwell on what causes our brains to expand as we grow older.

Perhaps he simply wanted to spare the feelings of those who brag about their thick crop of hair.

But the blunt truth is that, generally speaking, the thing that makes the brain grow is thinking. The cerebrum, or forepart of the brain, where the intellectual capacity centers, is in one way like a muscle. It grows with use.

A happy-go-lucky laborer may wear the same hat size all his life. A lawyer, whose brains earn him his living, is likely to need a larger hat at 50 than he did at 20. He is more likely to be bald also.

The conclusion seems inescapable—at least it does to us baldies—that any man of middle age he meets with a full crop of hair either has ducked his fair share of thinking, or is carrying an extraordinary load of blubber under his thatch.

* * *

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Dr. Crane Urges Logic Classes

Do you let radio and TV announcers tell you what to believe? Do advertisers control your thinking? Be on guard, for a logical mind is the best proof that you are a child of God Almighty. Urge teenagers to debate, and promote a unit of study in high school on the subject of logic. It is the best antidote for mobs and lynching bees.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case S-340: Harold G., aged 41, is a school superintendent.

"Dr Crane, why don't you expose some of the common fallacies in human thinking," he suggested one day after I had addressed his convention of school teachers.

"I have even seriously considered offering a course in simple logic at the high school level, just to combat the mob hysteria which you have mentioned about fluoridation of water."

FALLACIES

A recent health fanatic has decided that our heavy eating of sugar in America causes cancer. As proof, he cites the fact that the American Indians rarely had cancer, and they were not sugar eaters.

Do you readers see the fallacy in that comparison? Well here are a few things to consider before you accept that glib charge.

First, American Indians didn't live long enough, as an average, to reach the cancer age.

Cancer is an ailment chiefly of people past 45 or 50. But the average age of American Indians was only about 25 to 30, so that itself would help explain the lack of many cases of cancer.

Now this doesn't mean the sugar argument might not be true. But it is only a hypothesis, with no evidence to back it up.

"But the natives of Africa have almost perfect teeth," said a recent missionary on her return to America, "and they seldom get sugar."

True enough, but the natives of Deaf Smith County, Texas, have almost perfect teeth, too, yet they gobble candy and ice cream like the rest of us.

Again, the sugar foes might be right, in part at least, but in Deaf Smith County, the fluorides in the water seem superior even to any decaying effect of sugary foods.

"In Africa, the natives seldom need to wear false teeth," this missionary affirmed.

DENTAL MISTAKES

But that may also be due to the fact their average lifespan is so short they don't get into the false teeth age!

A lot of things, like false teeth, bifocals, hearing aids and cancer, typify us Americans because we live so long that we reach the age when such defects begin to show up.

If we died at 25, as in India, or even at 42, as was true in this country even when George Washington was President, naturally we'd not see as much need for bifocals. And cancer would be comparatively rare.

* * *

"Yes, but don't dentists indict sugar as a cause of decayed teeth?" you may protest.

Some do, true enough, but that sugar is not the only factor to consider, if you wish to be logical and scientific.

For example, a few years ago I read the report on dental conditions in England which stated that the average Briton was in need of false teeth by the age of only 22, whereas at that time the corresponding false teeth age in America was 42.

Now we eat far more sugar than the British, so if sugar itself is the primary cause of decaying teeth, why should our people retain their teeth almost twice as long as similar racial groups in England.

"Maybe we brush our teeth more often, drink more milk and patronize our dentists more regularly," you may wisely argue.

* * *

So it requires much scientific evidence and analysis to bring out the truth.

Meanwhile, encourage your children to engage in high school and college debate, therefore, since it teaches logical thinking.

And install a high school unit on "Logic," even if for only a few weeks.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 30c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Japan's 'New' Soldiers Regaining Old Prestige

TOKYO (INS)—Until a few short years ago, Japan's men in uniform were outcasts hounded by the stigma of World War II defeat. Today they have found popularity and respect.

* * *

But the members of Japan's self-defense forces are a far cry from the bombastic, sabre-toting soldiers of wartime Japan whose rough manners and self-exalted attitudes instilled more terror than awe wherever they went.

The officers and men of the postwar army, navy and air force carry no swords, they do not consider themselves a breed apart, they are polite and courteous — and popular with the women.

This change, however, did not come about overnight. And among some segments of the public the transition in attitude has been slower than others.

FIGHT AHEAD

Officials of the defense board are confident the "new look" of today's man in uniform is a valuable asset and one to be encouraged. But they do not underestimate the fight they are up against in keeping the Japanese soldier popular with the public.

In prewar and wartime Japan, the Japanese soldier was a man to be feared. Under ultra-nationalistic indoctrination he was taught that his sole mission in life was to die for the glory of the emperor. And countless thousands, including kamikaze pilots, did.

The daily physical punishments that men were subjected to for "discipline" during basic training was legendary.

* * *

Officials point out these memories die hard in the public mind.

Another big obstacle has been the sharp public distaste for anything to do with the military since Japan's supposedly invincible armed forces took such a bad beating from the allies.

But by words and deeds, Japan's postwar soldier has slowly succeeded in helping convince the man in the street that he is different.

Take the case of the Japanese air force base at Hamamatsu, central Japan.

When a group of air force men were sent there a few years ago to set up the base townsfolk jeered them as they rode through the streets. Some even threw stones. A group of Hamamatsu citizens set fire to four wartime hangars the air force was planning to use.

Then, according to one report from Hamamatsu air force officials, the base commander, sizing up the situation, sent his men out to help repair the town's damaged roads.

"By the time they had done this for the third time, the airmen were being served tea and cigarettes by the local townspeople.

"Now they receive even a special discount at local barber shops."

* * *

The local folk were invited to the air base on tours, and last year some 100,000 citizens visited the base—a public relations move unheard of in wartime Japan.

In Tagajo, northern Japan, some 90 per cent of the 2,000 officers and men of the Japanese army unit there are married—and most of them to local girls.

And it's not an uncommon sight any more to see a Japanese man in uniform walking arm-in-arm with his date. In prewar and wartime Japan, this would have resulted in a severe reprimand at best and a court martial at worst.

SAME IN THE SOUTH

The same trend is reported from Sasebo, southern Japan, which was one of the world's largest naval bases before the war.

Members of Japanese naval defense units in Sasebo today get discounts at theaters and public bath houses. The city even formed an association to promote relations between the navy men and local citizens.

Another postwar phenomenon is the 450-member women's defense corps.

Recently an officer of the corps called on a lower-ranking male NCO to give him an assignment. She was so impressed with his efficiency that she proposed marriage—and he accepted.

The total number of married people in the U.S. reached 81 million in 1956. There were only 60 million in 1940.

New Electric Line

STAVANGER, Norway — Crown Prince Olav recently opened the 45-mile Egersund-Stavanger stretch of railway line, the last lap of the Southern Railway to be converted to electric operation. This railway between Oslo and Stavanger is the first all-electric trunk line in Norway. Norway's State Railways now has 813 miles of electrified track, about 60 per cent of its total mileage.

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR:

JUNIOR EDITORS

AT CAMP—4
"Come and Get It"

Every camper likes the moment when the bugler steps out on the porch of the big mess hall and sounds "Come and Get It."

Each camper leaves whatever he is doing and rushes to wash up. Outdoor sports such as swimming, canoeing, fishing, hiking and games give everyone an appetite. When the meal is finished each camper stacks his dishes and carries them to the kitchen.

Here is John, the bugler, just about to call the campers to supper.

Color this picture with your crayons, and then paste it down on cardboard. Cut out the parts carefully.

Attach the bugler's arm to his shoulder with a brass fastener or a pin through the indicated holes and then John can lift the bugle to his lips and blow it, or lower it to his side.

Fold the picture forward on the dotted line and it will stand up.

(Philip and David Kesler, Champaign, Ill., first sent in this idea. Junior Editors award $10 for each useable idea, so send in your suggestions care of this newspaper. Violet Moore Higgins; AP Newsfeatures).

Animal Kingdom Sounds Are Strange, Varied Babel

WASHINGTON — Man speaks in many tongues and accents, but his sound-making has nothing on the babel of the animal kingdom.

Beasts, birds, fish and insects fill nature with an amazing medley of noises, the National Geographic Society points out. Some are so familiar as to go almost unheard. Others are outlandish and rare.

A rooster's crowing is a far cry from the melancholy bray of the jackass penguin. A whale surfacing on a still night exhales with an eerie whoosh, whereas a lady moose sometimes mistakes a diesel locomotive's air horn for the love bellow of her swain.

LISTENING TO NATURE

Naturalists equipped with modern recording apparatus have turned increasing attention in recent years to the sounds made by earth's creatures.

Capturing the songs and calls of wild birds was begun by Cornell University in 1930. Since then, led by Dr. Arthur A. Allen and Dr. Paul Kellogg, Cornell expeditions have roamed most of the United States and across Latin America to record voices of as many species of birds as possible. Amphibians, insects, and mammals have been added more recently to the unique "Cornell Library of Natural Sounds."

Other scientists have joined the work, discovering among other things the complexity of a songbird's song. A wood thrush, for example, can emit four notes at once, and a blue jay almost a major cord.

From the frontier between land and water, frogs produce a chorus that often approaches the fantastic — peeping, chirping, trilling, barking, braying, booming.

Frogs can grunt like pigs, quack like ducks or sound like small boys beating on tin pans.

Bats, which are flying mammals, not only emit sounds extending far beyond the range of human hearing, but also navigate by them, as if by radar.

Fish, seemingly the most silent of creatures, actually fill their waters with submarine sound. Some fish cackle, others yowl, moan, whistle, bleat or buzz.

Conventions Becoming Rather Unconventional

By EARL WILSON

CRAZY, MIXED-UP CHICAGO—I think television has made political conventions very unconventional—screwier than ever.

A foul rumor that the Democrats would prolong the convention to Saturday and even Sunday, to capture the valuable time on the Jackie Gleason, Ed Sullivan and "What's My Line" shows, reached NBC.

Nobody would admit to such a villainous thought lest he get belted by reporters anxious to move to nice cool San Francisco.

★ ★ ★

Lee Meriwether, ex-"Miss America," is also mixed up.

She had dinner with friends—including a guy (not Joe DiMaggio) who hoped to see her later.

At 7:30 p. m. Lee said, "Good night. I have to go to bed. "I have to be up at 4 for the Dave Garroway show," she added. Everybody twittered "Sleep tight." She wandered off through the sunset to bed. It'll be worse in San Francisco. Because of the time difference, she'll get up about midnight.

LEE

A crazy new badge put out by E. Ress of New York City, reads: "Truman for Ex-President."

A certain southerner announced he's "A Favorite Son."

One of his enemies roared: "That's the greatest unfinished sentence in the history of the Southland."

I dropped around to thank Perle Mesta for inviting me to her party. She answered the door personally—very personally (she was in her slip). To another friend, Madame Mesta said, "Now don't bring anybody with you." . . . "How many are coming?" I asked . . . She whispered, "Ssh. Five hundred."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL IN N.Y. .

Frank Sinatra, who once battled bitterly with Ed Sullivan about appearing on the Sullivan TV'er, will be on the rival Steve Allen show Sunday. Pudgy John Javob Astor's doctors ordered him to lop off 40 pounds . . . Billy Eckstine returns from Europe this week to see his newest son—his fifth . . . Tony Curtis' film price is up to 200G's a picture.

Princess Margaret may attend Lionel Hampton's London concert Sept. 30 . . . Zany Ernie Kovacs cooks breakfast for the cab driver who takes him to his 6 a. m. radio show . . . Skippy Joy Kolby won the "Miss Figure" title at the Griswold Hotel.

Whether or not the laughter is healthful depends on the size of the guy you're laughing at.—Tom Waterson.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "These days people give farewell parties for friends going to Europe, South America or crosstown."—Frank (Dunhall's) Malester.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Chick Muroff tells of the hammy hypochrondriac who ordered a dozen X-rays of his profile.

Even Sewers Cost!

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Mayor Paul G. Gobel reported that modernization of the city's sewers may cost up to $7,000,000, about double the estimate when he took office May 7. Goebel warned that some sewers 70 and 80 years old may collapse before the city can accumulate enough money to replace them.

The new Argentine Government's announced aim is to make the country self-sufficient in petroleum by 1960-61, Buenos Aires reports.

Adlai Supporter Hisses After Ex-President HST

CHICAGO (INS)—Former President Harry S. Truman was hissed and booed yesterday by at least one supporter of Adlai E. Stevenson in the lobby of his Chicago hotel.

The incident occurred as Truman was leaving an elevator shortly after his news conference at which he reasserted he did not think Stevenson would be a "fighting candidate" who could win.

The ex-president paid no attention when a hiss and several boos were heard and a shout of "We Want Stevenson" followed him across the street.

The name Tennessee is derived from the Cherokee Indian village of Tanasi.

Sun May Heat Home

NEW YORK—By 1975 some 13,000,000 homes in the United States will be heated by the sun, Electrical World magazine estimates. Many others, it says, will supplement this heat with such electrical units as the heat pump, which may utilize not only hot air from the roof; but also waste heat in the septic tank and from wash water heated by the household heater.

The population of Argentina grew from 9,996,467 in 1914 to 18,928,536 in 1954.

4th of Rural Roads in U.S. Hard-Surfaced

CHICAGO — Some 708,000 miles of hard-surfaced rural roads and another 1,200,000 miles with stone, slag, or gravel surfaces are in use in the United States.

But even so, the hard-surface roads make up less than a fourth of the nation's rural roads. And there are still 1,124,000 miles of rural roads, or 37 per cent of the total, that have no surfacing at all.

The Paris area of France will shortly have two new power plants costing $114,300,000.

Stack Could Contain Washington Shaft

ANACONDA, Mont.—A smokestack at the reduction department of a copper-mining company here is 585 feet high and contains 7,000,000 bricks. The inside diameter at the top is 60 feet and at the bottom is 67. The walls are 67 inches thick at the bottom and 22½ at the top.

Total weight above the foundation is 23,700 tons. A few stacks are taller, but none can compare wit hthis one for massiveness. It could completely contain the Washington Monument.

Many, Many Shoes

WASHINGTON — World production of leather footwear last year totaled about at 1,487,158,000 pairs. This includes all varieties of footwear made partly or entirely of leather. World per capita output of leather footwear was .47 pair in 1930, .48 in 1940, .50 in 1949, .60 in 1954, and .68 in 1955.

Tower Is Popular

PARIS—Among Paris' pay-to-enter tourist attractions—Notre Dame Cathedral's tower, the Louvre and Guimet Museums, the Arch of Triumph, the Pantheon, etc.—the favorite by far is the Eiffel Tower. The number of visitors who looked out over Paris in 1955 from the vantage point of the colossal erector set was 1,435,192, an increase of more than 130,000 over the 1954 record.

Morocco to Ask U. S. for Money

American Air Bases Appear to Be Source of Ready Cash

PARIS (AP)—Newly sovereign Morocco, noting Egypt's apparent success over the Suez Canal, may soon look to the United States' air bases on her territory as a source of ready cash.

• • •

Already the Istiqlal Nationalist party is clamoring for rent on the bases for the next 10 years. Then, it says, the five bases and all their equipment should be turned over to the Moroccans.

Al Alam, the party newspaper published in Rabat, has demanded immediate government action.

The bases, it claimed, were installed on Moroccan soil "at the expense of Moroccan sovereignty" by a French-American agreement about which Morocco was never informed.

• • •

"We demand," said Al Alam, "that the government should proclaim in the name of the people and its King (Sultan Mohammed V) that we do not accept the establishment of war bases on Moroccan soil . . .

"In case of world war the government should impose special conditions compatible with the interest of Morocco alone."

France expropriated the land for bases but paid for it. The French then leased the land rent-free to the Americans, just as it did certain bases in France. Both the French and the Americans expected the agreement would continue in force after Morocco acquired sovereignty.

• • •

However, when Morocco agreed to honor diplomatic accords signed on her behalf during the years France held a protectorate over Morocco, the question of the future of the bases was expressly left aside.

Various Moroccans have mentioned rent of about 400 million dollars a year, although there has been nothing official. That is nearly as much as the bases cost to build — and much valuable equipment has been added since.

• • •

The United States does not pay rent for bases elsewhere. Some officials say payment of large sums to Morocco might start a chain reaction at a "bankrupting rate."

Freighting Record Set on the Tennessee River

KNOXVILLE — Freighting of goods on the Tennessee River in 1955 reached an all-time high of 9,500,000 tons or 1½ billion ton-miles.

The comparable figures for 1954 were 8,415,769 tons or 1,236,547,906 ton-miles. Tonnage increased 13 per cent and ton-miles 21 per cent. Barges carried 26 different commodities on the river 16 in larger quantities than in 1954.

Bob Considine Says:

Mother Gives Clement 'Heavenly' Advice

CHICAGO (INS) — Tennessee Gov. Frank Clement, the well-scrubbed William Jennings Bryan of 20th Century oratory, gave the newsreel boys a preview of his fire-and-brimstone keynote speech last Sunday.

* * *

The session was attended only by cameramen, Clement's attractive wife and mother-in-law, and by several aides he calls his security officers.

"I want you to listen to me carefully," he said to the latter, "and let me know how I can best do this."

Then Clement launched into his now famous revivalist performance, which later met with mixed notices. Some thought it obscene. Others, notably members of the Tennessee delegation, decided to vote for him for president on the first ballot.

* * *

Near the end of the preview for the newsreels, Clement, sweat streaming down his face, held up his hands and cried, "And as we look up at the great blue bowl of sky . . ."

SKY OR HEAVEN

"Mother, should I say 'sky' or 'heaven?' " he asked.

* * *

"Heaven," mother ruled.

Clement turned the sweat back on and concluded with a flourish, mentioning heaven unequivocally.

"Those Stevenson guys," swore a lieutenant from the camp of candidate Happy Chandler, "they're giving away money as if it was Coca Cola!"

"The convention's a flop," one old reporter muttered in the lobby of the Conrad Hilton today. "You can get an elevator."

With the Lyndon Johnson boom gaining momentum, the prospects of an Eisenhower vs. Johnson race this fall has revived a campaign slogan credited to the Texan whose heart attack preceded that of the President.

Johnson was alleged to be ready to run on an "I'm sicker than Ike" platform.

Tom Dewey is back in the race for high office, he will be surprised to learn. There was a fellow around the press room today giving out publicity stamped "Lar Daly for president—Tom Dewey for vice president.

It's the ticket (?) of the America First Republican Committee, which has headquarters in Daly's parlor here in Chicago.

Lar, who calls himself "Mr. America First," makes stools and chairs. He says of Dewey, "As vice president, his amazing ability and tremendous courage would make him the best man to assist and advise the president of the United States." (Lar.)

Paul Butler by inference condemned CBS for not showing a documentary film whose script writer suggested that the Democratic Party has a monopoly on divine guidance.

But the national chairman's efforts to applaud NBC and ABC for screening the film, though it attracted a few boos against CBS on the part of the conventioneers, backfired resoundingly.

NBC and ABC quickly came to CBS' support, with the perfectly understandable statement that a network has just as much right to ignore any phase of a convention as does a newspaper—or a voter.

Sugar, regarded as a necessity in every household today, was so rare before the 16th century that only the extremely wealthy could afford it.

Most Expensive Room: The Bathroom Naturally

The most expensive room to build is the bathroom, says the Review of the Society of Residential Appraisers. To build a bathroom measuring 7 by 8 feet including foundations, walls, roof, tiling and fixtures, the cost runs to $2,000, or about $35 per square foot.

A kitchen is second in costliness. A 9 by 10-foot, fully equipped kitchen costs about $1,750, bringing the total cost of those two rooms to $3,750, or $25 per square foot.

Watchdog Aids Bandit

DECATUR, Ill. (AP) — A small, brown dog barked loudly at officers investigating a robbery at Mrs. Loena Sherian's home but raised no alarm during the theft. She said she heard a noise at the back door and then heard a gate close. She discovered two $5 bills missing from her purse.

Can You Beat That!

DALLAS (AP) — Mae Vestal, 34, wanted a nice new dress to wear to her trial on theft and narcotics charges. So she stole one. The judge assessed her four years for stealing the dress. But it cost her no time. The sentence runs concurrently with two other four-year terms she received on the original theft and narcotics charges.

THE DWARF — Constructed in Stuttgard, the Zwerg has a plastic body, a Fichtel-Sachs motor, and reportedly reaches 60 mph.

War Plane Builders Now Making Germany's Autos

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — With all the midget cars appearing in Germany nowadays, driving a big American automobile makes you feel like a motorized Gulliver.

* * *

Steep automobile taxes, high insurance fees and expensive gas (60 cents a gallon) are largely responsible for the thriving new market in three—and four-wheeled babies on the road.

One advertising slogan claims the new cars "cost less taxes than a dachshund."

The number of small cars—below 700 cc cylindrical contents—registered last year showed an increase of 76 per cent over 1954.

Some of the midgets are only three feet high. But they make up in economy what they lack in size.

1 GALLON—100 MILES

One reportedly will travel 100 miles on less than a gallon of gasoline.

The midgets cost between $426 and $714. Some of these glass-doomed cars make you think of cockpits.

In fact, three of the midget cars are produced by former Luftwaffe aircraft designers.

Willy Messerschmitt, whose plants turned out the dreaded ME-109 fighter plane in World War II, manufactures a three-wheeled model called a Kabinenroller. Messerschmitt claims his midget cars are faster than any others.

Ernst Heinkel, whose bombers helped blitz London, has hit the market with a three-wheeled Kabine and Claude Dornier, designer of light bombers and reconnaissance planes, has come out with a trapezoid prototype of his earlier four-wheeled Delta.

* * *

Other tiny cars popular in Germany are the BMW-Isetta, built under an Italian license, the Goggomobile and the Kleinschnittger, which looks like an expensive toy and the 200-pound Zwerg (dwarf), which is less than three feet tall.

Pesky Pack Rat Almost Causes Double Killing

HAILEY, Idaho (AP)—Arne Friestad didn't like the way that pack rat was chewing up a saddle he kept at the Grover Crocker Ranch near Hailey.

* * *

So when he spotted the rat on a platform in the barn he fired at it with a .410-gauge shotgun—not noticing there was a box of dynamite on the same platform.

The explosion blew the roof and sides from the barn and hurled Friestad outside, knocking him unconscious.

* * *

At the Hailey Clinical Hospital, where he was treated for cuts and bruises, Friestad said he was sure he got the rat.

Mark Twain Tales Preserved

WASHINGTON—Beside the Mississippi River, in northeast Missouri, is a Main Street home town that attracted more American visitors last year than Hawaii, and a fourth as many as saw Europe.

The town is Hannibal, Mark Twain's boyhood home and scene of the adventures of Tom Sawyer, Huckleberry Finn, and other youngsters of fiction who are better known to millions today than many real-life persons in their daily newspapers.

Jerry Allen—author of a recent biography on the writer-humorist who is seldom remembered by his actual name, Samuel Clemens—tells in the July issue of the National Geographic Magazine how Hannibal lives its literary legend.

NAME IS EVERYWHERE

Many of the buildings Mark Twain knew are still in use, Miss Allen points out. The city shows its pride in its famous citizen of a century ago by restorations, monuments, and landmarks. His name is everywhere, in shop signs for Mark Twain printers, jewelers, cleaning company, confectionery; at hotel, taxi office, movie house and rest home.

Hannibal's best known address is 208 Hill St. Out of his upstairs bedroom window, young Sam Clemens climbed to join his friend, Tom Blankenship (Huck Finn) for the moonlight deeds he later immortalized in the Adventures of Tom Sawyer. Against the Clemens' modest clapboard house leans a high, white board fence, copy of the one Tom graciously permitted his pals to whitewash for him.

Next door to the old homestead is the Mark Twain Museum. Opened in 1937, it exhibits the author's early typewriter, the scarred cherry desk at which he wrote, and a huge pilot's wheel from a Mississippi steamboat.

Behind such a wheel Mark Twain learned to steer his craft so as to "shave steamships as close as you'd peel an apple." His pen name came from the river term "Mark Twain," for a safe depth of two fathoms (12 feet).

CAREFREE YOUTH

Hannibal treasures the law office of Mark Twain's father, and the home of his first girl, Laura Hawkins, immortalized as Tom Sawyer's Becky Thatcher.

At the foot of Cardiff Hill the city has set up a bronze monument showing young Tom and Huck marching along barefoot and carefree. In a riverside park stands a giant statue of Mark Twain in late years, looking out on his beloved Mississippi. Farther along is the white Mark Twain Memorial Lighthouse, and nearby the Mark Twain Memorial Bridge.

So closely is Hannibal linked with the author, says Miss Allen, that its history is usually ignored before 1839, when a 4-year-old redheaded boy came there to live and stayed until he was 17. Actually the town, older than the Oregon Trail, was settled in 1819. When the Clemenses lived there, it was an important steamboat center of some 1,000 people.

Today, Hannibal has more than 21,000 residents. Watching the Mississippi traffic flow by, it looks for livelihood to factories, business, and trade with a prosperous farming countryside.

Yet the river is still a living force in the community and a molder of young. Fishing is an industry as well as pastime for every man and boy. On hot summer days Jackson's Island (where Huck and Jim set out on their famous raft) is a happy haunt for kids to camp, fish and swim.

With a mile-wide river as back yard, growing up is still as much fun in Hannibal as in the days of its famous pair of boys.

Dems Patch Family Brawl

AP Wirephoto

THEY ALL HAVE A HAND-IN — A four-way handshake is engaged in by two governors and two senators yesterday after attending a nationalities division meeting of the Democratic party in Chicago. From the left are: Gov. Robert Meyner of New Jersey; Sen. Theodore Green, of Rhode Island; Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee; and Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan. Williams and Meyner earlier had announced their delegations were for Stevenson.

AP Wirephoto

AT CIVIL RIGHTS MEETING — Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York City stands to address a civil rights meeting called yesterday in Chicago by groups favoring a strong civil rights plank in the Democratic convention platform. At the right is union leader Walter Reuther; center man is unidentified. The plank approved by the convention platform committee has drawn fire from both sides in the north-south civil rights row.

AP Wirephoto

POURING IT ON THE DELEGATES — Hand extended, Rep. John McCormack of Massachusetts dramatically pleaded with delegates at the Democratic National Convention in Chicago last night to adopt the platform drawn by the platform committee which he headed. The platform, including the disputed civil rights plank, was adopted by the convention without the expected floor fight.

Peace Reached on Civil Rights

After 6-Hour Melee, Party Back Where It Started Plus 'Bruises'

By SAUL PETT

CHICAGO (AP)—They tried to shut the windows and pull the blinds down tight. But somehow the whole neighborhood heard it.

It was a real exciting family brawl.

When it was all over, after almost six long hours they were back where they started, except for assorted cuts and bruises.

* * *

The fifth session of the Democratic National Convention began quietly in the packed blue-trimmed livestock amphitheater. Everyone there knew it wouldn't last because this was the night to tackle the platform with its civil rights plank.

ORDER AT FIRST

It began with the invocation, the presentation of the colors and the "Star Spangled Banner"—all noncontroversial, even among Democrats.

* * *

A few minutes later, a boy orator, Jan S. Hogendorn of Oskaloosa, Iowa, stepped up to the podium. His subject: "I Speak for Democracy." And he did, earnestly, with studied modulation. But, unless his parents were present, the cruel fact is nobody there heard him.

For the assembled delegates had other things on their minds. They milled in the aisles, talked, coalesced around familiar faces—Douglas of Illinois, Lehman of New York, Kennedy of Massachusetts, Williams of Michigan.

* * *

Dour, red-faced Sam Rayburn intoned, "Those who desire to walk and talk will cease walking and talking or retire from the chamber."

THEN SPEECH

Big hand. But a few minutes after Sen. Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma was introduced to the accompaniment of "Oklahoma" and bobbing hats of Indian feathers, the noisy indifference continued on the floor.

Off to the right, at the wall of his mezzanine box, a technician was arranging a microphone near Harry S. Truman.

Suddenly, boos from somewhere near the New York delegation. Then a sign popped up: "New York delegates for Stevenson." Cheers.

Rayburn angrily interrupted the speaker to thunder:

"The man who did that will be removed from the chamber. No banner not justified will be allowed in this hall as long as I am chairman."

About 9:20, Kerr finished talking. Rayburn threw the convention into a monumental stall. For almost an hour, singers sang and the band played and everyone wondered what was cooking on the back range.

SUDDENLY, A FIGHT

Suddenly, in the cross-aisle below the speakers' platform, the cops were rushed in to break up a fight. Identity of the fighters unknown.

And then at 12:50 a.m. E. Robert Short of Minnesota threw in the minority report aimed at a toughening up the wording of the civil rights plank. Cheers and jeers and, in the Georgia delegation, a waving of Confederate flags.

One by one the speakers appear and have their say. Finally, at 1:20, the main event. It is Rayburn saying, "I now yield to the most distinguished man in this hall—former President Truman."

ROAR FOR HARRY

A huge roar. All heads turn to the right side of the arena. And there he was, hands stuck out like twin saws chopping the air in front of him, saying:

"I want to contribute to the harmony of this convention . . . This is the best platform the convention ever had put before it . . . I've done more to implement civil rights than any other president . . ."

1:25, Rayburn: " . . . Those in favor of the minority report?"

A roared "Yes!"

Rayburn: "Those opposed?"

A roared "No!"

Rayburn gavels. Shouts from floor: "Roll call! Roll call!"

Rayburn only glares and growls: "I've taken the ayes and nays many times and I think I can tell who has the most. In the opinion of the chair, the minority report is rejected."

That did it. The fight was over.

Now all the Democrats have to do is nominate men for president and vice president.

Special to Pontiac Press by AP Wirephoto

LONG SESSION — Delegates to the Democratic National Convention in Chicago worked long, late and hard last night smoothing out the wrinkles in their platform. This was the scene as they labored into the wee hours. In the foreground is a portion of the Michigan delegation.

Harry's Barbs Aimed at Adlai Sting Harriman

By WALTER KIERNAN

CHICAGO (INS)—We shall know soon whether or not Harry's hornets bit the wrong man. Ave was moving along at a swift snail's pace when Harry threw the 50 pounds of lead to speed him up.

* * *

When Truman said in effect, "I will not stand with a man who can't win" he meant Adlai but some of the delegates were sure he must have meant Averell.

All I know is that some of Ave's own people sagged off their own arch supporters immediately thereafter. And Averell's folks gained an inch without stepping on the automatic uplift which is featured on the platform.

* * *

Speaking of the written platform . . . Vaughn Monroe set the scene for it. He did a verse and two choruses of "My Blue Heaven" and if the sky fell in after that you can't say he hadn't pointed toward it . . .

HOME STATE STRETCH

Before they read the platform the band played a song for every state. This gave everyone a chance to stand up and stick their necks out.

But the delegates are still shaking their heads over Harry. It's the first time in man's memory that he ever suggested there was any Democrat who couldn't win an election.

And if Adlai nimbles off with this nomination I want to be in the hall when Truman follows with his speech.

* * *

What can he say: "Don't miss this if you can."

Don't go away anybody. This is getting exciting.

Humphrey or Kefauver?--State Ponders

CHICAGO (AP) — Michigan's delegation appeared today to favor either Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, or Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee for the Democratic vice presidential nomination.

* * *

As yet, no caucus soundings have been taken.

However, delegates gave Humphrey a rousing welcome when he appeared at the initial caucus Sunday night to appeal for vice presidential support.

Some delegates said he outshone Adlai Stevenson and Averell Harriman, who were sandwiched around him on the caucus program.

In his brief talk, Humphrey said he "yearned" to take the hustings and swat at the Republicans, particularly on their handling of farm problems.

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson long has ben one of Humphrey's favorite targets. Friends say his attacks on Benson have struck a responsive chord in the corn and wheat belt since 1952 or before.

Kefauver also has enjoyed considerable popularity in Michigan. He got the Michigan delegation's allegiance for President on two ballots four years ago before the swing to Stevenson.

From the political realism standpoint, one delegate observed, the convention would do well to recognize that of all prominent veep possibilities Kefauver certainly is the most familiar to rank and file voters, and popular with large numbers of them.

* * *

Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York, also mentioned for vice president, made a hit when he appeared at a Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner in Michigan a year ago, but is not as widely known in the state.

Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, because of his conservatism and Southern origin, probably would find little if any support.

Truman Unity Plea Paves Way for Adlai

CONVENTION HALL, Chicago (INS)—Ex-President Harry S. Truman made a surprise plea for harmony early today to haul the Democrats over a civil rights roadblock and clear the way for Adlai Stevenson's presidential nomination tonight.

Truman's suddenly harmonious Missouri twang rang through the convention hall at 1:20 a.m. (CDT), in an unprecedented appeal for moderation on the racial segregation issue. This, with chairman Sam Rayburn's aid shut off a rancourous squabble, ignored by the South.

Shortly afterwards, one of Truman-backed Averell Harriman's top strategists, former national committee chairman Frank McKinney, declared the New York governor's "cause is hopeless," although Harriman himself flatly refused to concede defeat.

Thus Truman—who for the past five days had sought desperately to bring about Stevenson's downfall — actually shut off the last threat to renomination of the Democrats' 1952 standard bearer.

Addresses — Former President Harry S. Truman, the vice presidential nominee and the presidential nominee.

Benediction and adjournment.

Dewey Praises Nixon for 'Job Well Done'

NEW YORK (AP)—Former Gov Thomas E. Dewey said today he is "very happy" that Vice President Nixon is available for renomination "because he has made the finest record of any vice president in history."

* * *

Dewey made the comment as he left by plane for San Francisco to attend the Republican National Convention.

* * *

"I think we are going to have a great convention," Dewey said. "The Republican party has never been so united. I am also very happy about President Eisenhower's decision to run."

* * *

Asked to comment on the Democratic National Convention, Dewey declined, saying "I never try to give the other side any advice."

Cobo to Pass Up Parley

DETROIT (AP) — Mayor Albert Cobo of Detroit, Republican nominee for governor, said he won't attend his party's national convention in San Francisco next week. Cobo, only a primary candidate when delegates were chosen, wasn't named as an official member of the delegation. He decided he would not attend as an observer.

AP Wirephoto

THEY'RE NEVER TOO YOUNG TO GREET — Voters or potential voters, a candidate shakes hands with everyone plus saying a few words. In this case, the scared looking little fellow is Leonard Austin, 11, of Chicago shaking hands with Adlai Stevenson as the former Illinois governor leaves the Florida caucus yesterday in Chicago.

Potter Wants H.S.T. 'on the Payroll'

Truman Gives Ammunition to the GOP

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republicans are going to thank former President Truman for some unexpected campaign ammunition if Adlai Stevenson is renominated by the Democrats.

Sen. Potter (R-Mich) summed up today the idea expressed by several recent White House callers and GOP legislators still in Washington when he said in an interview, "We should put Harry Truman on our (party) payroll."

Others have said the Republicans expect to make the fullest use in the campaign of Truman's implication that Stevenson lacked experience and might require a "costly and dangerous trial and error" period to break him in if elected.

Truman made the statement last Saturday — without naming Stevenson specifically — in calling Gov. Averell Harriman of New York the best qualified man for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Truman also said last Tuesday that Stevenson could not win if nominated, but he modified this a bit at a news conference yesterday by saying Stevenson "cannot win the election himself without a lot of help." He added Stevenson could win with the help of "the old man from Missouri"—Truman himself.

Potter, who is leaving tomorrow for the GOP convention in San Francisco, commented:

* * *

"Certainly if the man who considers himself the sage of the Democratic party is apprehensive about the ability of Stevenson, I think the American people should be apprehensive."

Who Sleeps in Chicago?

Chicagoans must do all of their sleeping between conventions. Its downtown streets now are more deserted at 6 a.m. than at 2 a.m., says Joe Haas.

Not That He's Confident —It's Just an Opinion

WASHINGTON (INS) — As Democrats battled for first-ballot votes in Chicago today, White House News Secretary James C. Hagerty was asked how many votes he expected President Eisenhower would have on the first ballot at the Republican convention in San Francisco.

Grinning broadly, he asked:

"How many delegates are there?"

Cass Was State's Last

Joe Haas writes that a little historical study shows Michigan hasn't had a major party nominee for president in 108 years. In 1848 Lewis Cass, the Democrat nominee, was defeated. Cass did a lot for the Pontiac area. Cass Lake was named in his honor, and Elizabeth Lake in honor of his wife.

Williams in 1960?

CHICAGO — When asked what Phil Hart will do now with his prepared speech in which he was to present the name of Gov. Williams to the convention, the governor smiled a broad grin and said, "He can save it until 1960," writes correspondent Joe Haas.

Search for Wood to Feed Dormant Industrial Giant

CHEBOYGAN (AP) — Farmers and landowners in a radius up to 80 miles are combing their acreage to uncover food for an industrial giant stirring in Cheboygan after an idleness of three years.

* * *

A mill, formerly operated by the Paper Corp. of America, needs aspen logs which it will turn into tissue for household and facial use.

The mill has been taken over by the Charmin Corp., of Green Bay, Wis., and expects to employ up to 150 workers when it begins operations late this year or early in 1957.

Manager Rolland Lahaie is cruising the northern lower peninsula's "back country" lining up wood pulp suppliers and inspecting stumpage on which the firm is advancing cash payments for future deliveries.

"Surveys of the acreage and growth rates have assured us a sustained yield for several years. We've got the big problem of getting landowners conscious of the cash crops growing on their lands," he says.

MUST MOVE FAST

A degree of urgency marks the search for aspen, since the peeling season—when the sap dries between the bark and the tree-terminates about the end of August.

About 4,000 cords still must be added to the huge stockpile of logs already outside the mill.

The plant's history dates back to 1903, when it was constructed by the Frambeau Paper Co. It was sold to Cheboygan Paper Co., and in 1929 was purchased by Union Bag & Paper Co., which operated it until 1935.

North American Pulp & Paper Co., bought the mill next and operated until 1944 when it was purchased by Paper Corp., of America, which was declared bankrupt on June 3, 1953.

* * *

Community interest has been rekindled, however, as payroll checks and pulpwood checks have returned to the Cheboygan business scene.

She's the Gay One

CHICAGO—Usually it is the male bird that wears the bright colors, while the female's coat is more subdued. But this does not hold true in the case of the phalarope, a little wading bird.

Here it's the female that wears the bright colors and also takes on responsibilities ordinarily accepted by males of other species. She selects the nesting site and finds a male. He builds a nest, she lays the eggs, and then she flies off, leaving the household chores to papa. He hatches the eggs and raises the young.

Miss Swanson, 19, is the first Muskegon girl to be selected as Miss Michigan.

Merrymakers Receive Sympathy

Chicago Police Overlook Convention Antics

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

CHICAGO (INS) — The Chicago Police Department is claiming proudly, without so much as a shy flick of the badge, that it has made only two arrests of Democratic conventioneers during this rowdy-dow conclave.

And those were only for mild misdemeanors, observed by Jack Mueller, famed throughout town as the cop least likely to sympathize with a potential jail customer.

Except for Mueller's brief run-in with a martini-drinking Maryland delegate and his wife, all of the gala misconduct hereabouts has been overlooked.

This would seem to indicate: (1) The local police are kindly Democrats who smile at the sound of screaming in the night, or (2) for the sake of future conventions in the old hometown, the cops have been advised to spare the rod and spoil the wild.

"Now, I admit there's a little noise in the evening and a lot of strange goings-on during the day—like when those horses walked into the lobby and posed for pictures," said Sgt. John Aldworth of the Sentinel Squad.

"But this is a big convention to nominate a man for the presidency of the United States and there's bound to be unusual activity."

LENIENT ATTITUDE

Sgt. Aldworth removed his hat and wiped his forehead. "The pressure of national business is on these people, so we just try to be lenient and not put them out with any arrests."

Aldworth is one of 1,500 police and detectives assigned to keep order during the convention without harsh words, clubs or offense to anybody.

This is quite easy to do, actually, after the cop comes in contact with the culprit. He need only say "Welcome to Chicago, may I help you?" and the guilty party figures to be shocked into inaction.

The trouble at conventions is that the frivolity is so widespread that in one hotel alone there may be 1,000 devilish rascals separately and individually disturbing the peace, and you can't expect the amiable police of Chicago to bounce everywhere at once, like well-split atoms, can you?

* * *

Of course not. Especially on this, the 21st year in which national political conventions have made worthwhile the lives of the local hotelmen, restaurateurs, merchants and Chamber of Commerce employes.

But Sgt. Aldworth has been on the police staff for 11 years and he insists it's not exactly a "wide open town" at convention time (this has been morosely doubted by the more busy Democrats who need their sleep and haven't been getting it because of the nocturnal activities of less busy Democrats.)

"All we are told," he says, "is to extend the visitors every courtesy and give them a lot of understanding."

Aldworth adds the only persons he knows who were provided personal bodyguards, supplied by the Chicago department, were Adlai Stevenson, Averell Harriman, Mayor Richard Daley, Harry Truman and Eleanor Roosevelt.

"Don't ask me why these wheels were selected for protection," he says, "because I don't know how far the list of political wheels extends. All I know is the real big ones have the honor of uniformed guards."

At this point in his conversation, the sergeant was called on the hotel house phone. An emergency.

Probably, he predicted, another vagrant horse in the lobby.

Ah, the irony of it all. You can't arrest a horse, because what jail will take him? And you can't arrest the political rooter who brought in the horse because . . .

"You got to be real bad," Aldworth concluded, "to be arrested at a convention."

Bangtails at Ludington

LUDINGTON (AP)—Harness horse racing and other commercial enterprises joined regular exhibits at yesterdays opening of the Western Michigan Fair, two miles east of Ludington. The fair runs through Saturday with night racing scheduled tomorrow and Saturday. Purses totaling $3,600 are offered.

Coffee Drinker Hits Jackpot—of Chocolate

HOUSTON (AP) — The machine age was too much for one woman, obviously the good-housewife type. She put her coin in a drink dispensing machine and punched the button for coffee. Out came the cup, then the liquid. But the machine wouldn't stop. It popped out another cup and started pouring.

She couldn't bear the thought of all that liquid on a clean floor, and before someone pulled out the electric plug, she had 15 cups lined up on the floor.

The woman, whose name no one obtained, then decided to have her drink.

It wasn't coffee. It was chocolate.

Right in the Stomach

DETROIT (INS) — The high-cost of living has hit Detroit schools in the bread basket. The Board of Education increased the cost of school lunches by 8 per cent for elementary pupils and slightly less for secondary students.

Will Michigan Stampede-to-Stevenson Bring Needed Nominating Votes?

By WILLIAM T. PEACOCK AND JACK BELL

CHICAGO (AP)—Adlai Stevenson, picking up important support from New Jersey, Arkansas and Michigan, today all but clinched the Democratic presidential nomination. A remaining hazard was a possible battle over a suggested civil rights platform plank saying the Supreme Court's segregation decisions against racial segregation had "brought consequences of vast importance" to the nation.

• • •

Stevenson scored his gains despite a bitter 11th hour battle that former President Harry S. Truman was waging for Averell Harriman. Truman called a news conference and characterized Stevenson as a candidate who "lacks the kind of fighting spirit we need to win." He said he would stick with Harriman "until the last dog dies."

But even as Truman was punching away, the New Jersey delegation caucused and voted to give all its 36 votes to Stevenson on the first ballot tomorrow night.

Earlier, Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan had thrown his support to the 1956 nominee, and a poll of the 44-vote Michigan delegation produced 31½ votes for Stevenson.

• • •

The net effect of the Jersey and Michigan actions was to add 60½ votes for Stevenson in the Associated Press tabulation of public expressed preferences by delegates. Earlier tabulations had taken account of some Stevenson support in the delegations.

With these gains, Stevenson's indicated strength, based on the poll, shot to 633½ votes. This is just 53 short of the 686½ needed to nominate.

• • •

Tentative Michigan plans were to give all of its 44 votes to Williams on the first ballot with a shift to other candidates on the second. But Williams said a shift might be made on the first.

With Stevenson's campaign again rolling, it appeared probable there would be only one roll call when the convention gets down to picking its nominee tomorrow night.

• • •

Tonight, the delegates will look over and pass on the platform proposed by a committee which has been sweating over it for two weeks.

The big battle in the committee has been over the question of what to say about civil rights and race segregation; more particularly, whether to say anything specific about the Supreme Court's decision that race segregation in public schools is unconstitutional.

Southerners fought against any mention of the Supreme Court.

The drafting subcommittee finally came through today with a plank it hoped would be acceptable all around. This said:

"Recent decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States relating to segregation in public supported schools and elsewhere have brought consequences of vast importance to our nation as a whole and especially to communities directly affected. We reject all proposals for the use of force to interfere with the orderly determination of these matters by the courts.

"The Democratic party emphatically reaffirms its support of the historic principle that ours is a government of laws and not of men; it recognizes the Supreme Court of the United States as one of the three constitutional and coordinated branches of the federal government, superior to and separate from any political party, the decisions of which are part of the law of the land. We condemn the efforts of the Republican party to make it appear that this tribunal is a part of the Republican party."

This last sentence was an obvious oblique reference to a statement Vice President Nixon made several months ago to the effect that the court's unanimous public school desegregation decision had been rendered under "a great Republican chief justice"—Earl Warren. Democrats have hit at this as an attempt to inject the court into politics.

Whether the committee's plank would stand — and whether it would be acceptable to a majority of Southerners—was the big question for tonight's convention session.

There has been talk among some Northern Democrats of trying for a direct pronouncement of approval of the court's action. But party leaders who have been sounding the unity theme have sought to dissuade them.

• • •

If the platform as finally adopted is acceptable to the South, a big block of uncommitted delegates from that section is ready to go for Stevenson, making a landslide first ballot nomination highly probable.

One of the Southern delegations is Tennessee's with 32 votes pledged for Gov. Frank G. Clement, convention keynoter who is angling for second place on the ticket.

A pail of water set in a freshly painted room will help remove the odor.

FINAL SALUTE FOR "BABE" — Eight elephants at the Paul Kelly animal farm near Peru, Ind., give "Old Babe" a final salute before she is buried on farm grounds. One of the oldest elephants in the circus world, Babe had outlived a host of circuses and trainers. Always at the head of the herd, she had spent the last years of her life "on pasture." Babe was buried among abandoned wagons of the Cole Brothers Circus, which she worked during 70 years of captivity.

Professor's Miniature Smoke Stacks Help Keep Clean the Air You Breathe

ANN ARBOR (AP)— Miniature factories with smoke stacks less than eight inches high line the workroom of Prof. Robert H. Sherlock. They help keep clean the air you breathe.

The veteran University of Michigan civil engineer has been working with models of plants since 1935. His primary object has been to combat air pollution.

Using a low speed wind tunnel, Prof. Sherlock and his assistants make the miniature smoke stacks belch smoke over the exact model of the terrain in which a proposed factory will be built.

An eight-bladed propeller recreates the winds that would blow the smoke over a neighboring city. Sherlock and his assistants take picture after picture to study the behavior of the stack and its long white plume.

BEGINS RETIREMENT

Sherlock, who begins his retirement furlough this summer, says that if the plume remains undisturbed for several thousand feet, chances are the smoke will be safely absorbed. He adds:

"The atmosphere has great capacity to disperse contaminants provided they are introduced properly. It is when the gases cannot be forced high enough to escape local turbulence caused by the tension, buildings or the stack itself that trouble arises in the form of downwash or smog."

Some cases, Sherlock says, can be helped by raising the height of the stack, or by pushing the smoke out of the stack with more force. More drastic corrections, like changing the shape of the plant or nearby objects is sometimes necessary. Some cases in point:

A plant where the stack could not be raised because it bordered an airport, streamlined a solid wall that created tricky wind currents.

At Clifty Creek, Ind., smoke stacks have been built 682 feet high, the tallest in the world, to help smoke over heavily populated hills on the Ohio River.

Most recent models built by Sherlock, on contract from industry, have been plants on the Mississippi River, Long Island Sound and Chicago.

* * *

It all started when a Chicago power plant asked his help in 1935. Sherlock decided it was easier to reproduce the plant in a wind tunnel than to spend the time in the field.

Detroit Tourist Crashes Suez Parley in London

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — An American tourist was mistaken for a delegate to the Suez conference today and almost had to fight his way out of the international meeting.

"It was the most surprising experience of my life," said Lewis C. Frank of Detroit, "and more than a little embarrassing."

Frank, visiting Europe with his wife, said he telephoned the American Embassy this morning and asked if there was any chance of getting near the conference to take some photographs.

"Not a chance, brother," said an embassy official, "but you might call the British. They're the hosts for the conference."

Frank said that after another 15 minutes of telephoning a Foreign Office official finally told him: "I'm sorry, sir, but this is an official conference. There are no facilities for tourists."

Frank said he then decided to get as near to Lancaster House—where the conference is being held — as possible.

"I took a taxi and told the driver Lancaster House," he said, "and the next thing I knew there I was."

His taxi was sandwiched in between the automobiles of French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau and Oesten Unden, foreign minister of Sweden.

"Some uniformed flunkey opened the door and said, 'Good morning, sir,' Frank continued, "and I told him 'Good morning.'"

With the flunkey holding the door open, the American got out and paid his fare.

"This way, sir," said the footman, leading him up a short flight of stairs into Lancaster House.

Frank said he got inside and the bright lights almost blinded him.

"A young man — and I guess he was from the British Foreign Office — guided me up to a big pair of steps, and suggested that I might like refreshments before the session started.

"'I'm sorry,' I told the young man, 'But I'm an American —'" a mistake. I'm an American —'"

The young man nodded politely — but kept guiding him towards the refreshment room.

"I pulled away from him," said Frank, "and said — 'I mean I'm an American tourist.' Then I got out."

Fisherman Drowns

HOUGHTON (AP) — Fisherman Ralph Carlson, 40, of Calumet, fell from a boat and drowned in Lake Superior off the Keweenaw Peninsula yesterday.

Sheriffs Okay Lucas for Secretary of State

FENNVILLE (AP) — Michigan sheriffs will back Ferris Lucas of Port Huron for the Republican nomination for secretary of state, the executive secretary of the Michigan Sheriffs' Assn. said today.

* * *

Lou Johnson confirmed an informal poll of sheriffs taken in central, southwestern and eastern Michigan. He said that "with one or two exceptions the Republican sheriffs are all for him, and some of the Democrats are, too."

Lucas has been sheriff of St. Clair for 18 years. He was defeated in the primary last week.

* * *

The Sheriffs Association has been at odds with the current secretary of state, Democrat James M. Hare. Hare temporarily suspended the powers of two sheriffs to license drivers.

USEFUL FUTURE — One-desk household makes it complex for Pa to balance the checkbook and junior to do his homework at the same time. But they'll manage for now. When the budget stretches, this matched, modular furniture set will be expanded to include desk for junior.

Wants Magazines to Pay More Postage

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield carried on his campaign for higher postal rates yesterday, putting the emphasis on magazine publishers.

* * *

Summerfield, who spoke to the National Rural Letter Carriers' Assn., has been trying to get Congress to raise postal rates "so that those who use the mails pay more of their way."

A bill to that effect was passed by the House in June, but died in the Senate.

Summerfield said magazine publishers are one class who should pay higher rates.

"We get slightly more than one cent on some magazines that it costs five cents to handle," he said. "The tab is picked up by the taxpayers."

Behind Convention Scenes

'Battle of the Giants' Ends With Adlai Victory

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
Chief, Washington Bureau, INS

CHICAGO (INS) — The battle of the giants at this Democratic convention ends tonight with Speaker Sam Rayburn imposing an unprecedented defeat on former President Harry S. Truman.

* * *

Rayburn's victory comes when Adlai Stevenson wins the Democratic presidential nomination over Averell Harriman. With Rayburn's help, Stevenson now has 100 more votes than are needed to win and may pass the fantastic total of 1,000 in a convention with only 1,372 votes.

This was not a head-to-head personal fight, but the speaker was Stevenson's chief second while the ex-president played that role to Harriman. Each candidate, of course, has solid teams of political strategists and experts in their camps.

It was a strange contest. Truman lashed out at Stevenson at a news conference Saturday in a bold and unusual effort to win the nomination for Harriman. It stunned the Stevenson forces and they were slightly confused for 48 hours.

SAM COUNSELS ADLAI

Then the Stevenson camp learned that the speaker, a reliable veteran of a dozen convention battles, was counseling and supporting their candidate. It gave Adlai's leaders fresh courage and drive. It also dismayed Averell's managers.

Yesterday Truman and the delegates learned of it through a news story by James Lee of INS. From that moment on, there was no power in this convention to block the nomination of Adlai — not even the vaunted prestige of the former president of the United States.

There was a curious metamorphosis in the mind of Harry S. Truman as to their roles in this convention as time passed.

On Saturday, Truman "sent for" Rayburn to visit him in the ex-president's hotel suite. Rayburn went in friendly spirits, although the ex-president holds no office while Sam holds the highest elective office of any Democrat in the land.

Yesterday, Truman telephoned Rayburn asking permission to visit him in the speaker's hotel suite. Sam replied: "Come over Mr. President."

FRIENDLY TALK

This talk was friendly. Sam proved there was nothing personal in this battle of the giants by inviting the ex-president to address the convention last night on the party platform. It was an extraordinary gesture, since Truman is not a delegate.

Truman accepted. Last night he endorsed the party platform before the convention.

It was just before Rayburn complied with that "come-over" call Saturday that he heard Truman's blast at Adlai over an auto radio. Afterwards, a friend asked him whether he had heard it and Sam replied abruptly: "Yes, I heard him." Then he blew a puff of cigarette smoke into the air — as though that was the weight he gave to Harry's blast.

At their conference afterward, they talked politics in a general way and Rayburn indicated to Truman that he favored Stevenson. Rayburn has kept Truman's reply a secret.

* * *

Rayburn's support of Adlai became known to Stevenson and Harriman leaders over the weekend. It was Monday when Stevenson went to Rayburn's suite and paid his respects to the speaker. Adlai thanked Sam for being in his corner and Sam said he was giving that support because he thought "Adlai was the best qualified man for president."

Meanwhile Truman kept hammering at Stevenson, with public attacks, one of which was that Adlai could not win against Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Rayburn moved too, but quietly. It may never be known how many doubtful votes he talked into Stevenson's camp.

The facts are the former president took on the role of a party boss in an effort to stop Stevenson, only to find himself opposed by age-wise and cagy Sam Rayburn.

Headquarters for visiting guests will be in the Veterans' Memorial Building. In the main lobby there also will be on display the exhibit and model of "The City of Detroit of Tomorrow."

'We Like Nixon' Letters Arrive

'More Than 5,000' Send Endorsements; 30 Back Stassen Argument

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Aides to Vice President Nixon said today he has received "more than 5,000" letters and telegrams opposing Harold E. Stassen's ditch-Nixon drive.

* * *

Exactly 30 messages have been received saying that Stassen is right, they added.

The communications ranged in tone from "to hell with Stassen" to a Kentuckian's advice to Nixon to "please take the hint that you are unpopular—retire."

Staff members said the letters started arriving in large quantities after Stassen launched his campaign to replace Nixon with Massachusetts Gov. Christian A. Herter. They said the volume has dwindled to "maybe a few hundred" a day this week.

* * *

Nixon authorized reporters to examine the letters and to quote from them. But he insisted that none of the writers' names be published because he has had no chance to ask them to permit the use of their names.

The stacks of letters, telegrams and post cards littered a big table in Nixon's Senate Office Building suite. A secretary said all of the messages agreeing with Stassen were in a single pile. Reporters counted 30 in this pile.

Some of them were copies of letters to Stassen. Others addressed to Nixon urged him to withdraw, contending he would cost President Eisenhower votes if he remained on the ticket. One woman wrote, "Do you think you are big enough for the job of president, in case?"

* * *

In one stack of 100 pro-Nixon letters were some from writers who identified themselves as delegates to the forthcoming national convention. Others endorsed Nixon in behalf of state and local Republican organizations and Young Republican groups.

One writer identifying himself as "one of your Democratic supporters" told Nixon to "keep your chin up." A Republican state chairman wrote that "we are for you."

But many of the letters were phrased in less temperate tones. A housewife sent Nixon a copy of a letter to Eisenhower urging the President to "fire Stassen." Another wrote that "I wish Mr. Stassen would jump in the lake." A man said he would organize Pennsylvania Republicans into a stay-away-from-the-polls movement if Nixon isn't renominated.

Turkish Bill Plans Teachers' Home Loans

ANKARA—The Turkish Ministry of Education has drawn up legislation to extend to members of the nation's teaching profession low-interest home-building loans repayable over 20 years.

The bill would set up a "teachers bank" for this purpose chartered for 99 years and capitalized initially for $10,710,000. It would issue shares at a par of $36 each and would engage in other operations and services of commercial banks.

DALLAS (AP) — The VFW military band, Post 701, Lansing, Mich., placed second last night in competition in the senior band division of drum and bugle corps contests held in connection with the national encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Says Creameries Run Milk Union

'Fair Share' President Claims Producers' Unit in Cahoots With Dairies

BAD AXE (AP) — Rolland Brengle, president of the Fair Share Bargaining Assn., charged in a speech last night that the Michigan Milk Producers Assn. "is a huge company union" and is demanding a milk price Sept. 1 that it already has "in its pocket."

* * *

Brengle's Fair Share group is made up of dissident members of the producers' association. It struck last year in support of demands for higher milk prices, which were upped to $5 per hundred pounds until Aug. 31.

The MMPA Sales Committee recommended yesterday that dairy farmers strike again, if necessary, to gain another milk price increase in the Detroit Milk Shed. MMPA opposed Fair Share's strike.

The MMPA committee recommended a price of $5.25 per hundredweight, effective Sept. 1. It termed as "unsatisfactory" a minimum price of about $4.80 set by federal agencies. Ernest Miller of Bad Axe, committee chairman, said dairies have indicated they intend to drop to federal minimums.

SEWED UP

Brengle told some 50 Huron County dairymen MMPA has an increase to $5.25 "in its pocket" and said creameries will agree to the price "a day or two before Sept. 1."

Brengle charged "The MMPA is a huge company union that tries to represent creamery interests and the dairy farmers, and that can't be done."

He urged legislation to establish a Michigan Milk Commission to set the price to farmers, control the price to consumers and "establish the right of farmers to bargain." But he didn't elaborate on its setting prices and also establishing bargaining rights.

* * *

Brengle's Fair Share Assn. is recruiting membership in its locals to campaign for higher prices when the contract with creameries runs out the last of the month.

* * *

MMPA, which bargains with creameries on prices to farmers, also operates creameries of its own.

County Republicans Call for Unity

Oakland County Republicans, convening last night to choose 124 delegates to the state nominating convention Sept. 1 in Grand Rapids, issued strong pleas for unity in the party after the "bitterness" of the primary election campaign.

An estimated 200 delegates and onlookers turned out for the convention, filling the Board of Supervisors' room of the County Office Building.

County chairman Chad M. Ritchie, in a brief keynote address, asked party unity and commented the Republican ticket is "the proper detergent to wash the Soapy froth right out of Lansing."

The party's candidate for Oakland County State Senator, L. Harvey Lodge, in a fiery "indictment" of "all those in the party who have let the party down," said more youthful participation is needed to win the November 6 election.

"If we're going to win, we've got to go into the fringe areas and fight tooth and nail," Lodge told the delegates.

Convention and delegation officers elected were Chairman Arthur G. Elliott Jr., of Pleasant Ridge; vice chairman William A. Garling, of Pontiac; secretary Dorothy Rowley, of Hazel Park; assistant secretary Phyllis E. Roberts, of Bloomfield Township; parliamentarian Howard K. Kelley, of Royal Oak; and sergeants at arms J. J. Levy of Royal Oak, Gordon D. Haupt of Ferndale, George W. Scott of Royal Oak, and Richard Guilford of Southfield Township.

In a series of resolutions, delegates unanimously lauded President Dwight D. Eisenhower, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, retiring Congressman George A. Dondero, Senator Charles E. Potter, Richard C. Van Dusen of Birmingham as the county's candidate for attorney general, Albert E. Cobo and Clarence Reid as candidates for governor and lieutenant governor, county office holders, Republican representatives in the Legislature, and Ritchie.

Delegates listened to a message from Dondero, asking party unity and praising both victorious candidate William S. Broomfield and loser George N. Higgins in the primary race to succeed him.

County candidates were introduced and the Grand Rapids delegation was filled after 2½ hours of deliberation by the nominating committee.

Delegates to the Republican state nominating convention in the County Office Building include:

Raymond E. Addis, Hugh G. Allerton Jr., Gerald J. Ashley, Elise P. Avery, Bruce J. Annett, Cash C. Bates, John W. Bell, Richard P. Blake, Wendell Brown, William S. Broomfield, Irving G. FACING OPPOSITE DIRECTIONS — Averell Harriman continued his campaign role yesterday in Chicago, addressing the nationalities division of the Democratic party, even though some delegations are swinging to Stevenson. Gov. G. Mennen Williams, who announced early yesterday that Michigan would support Stevenson, is at the right.

For Good Grades Provide Child With Proper Tools

Parents who want to see a lot of "A's" on Junior report card should make sure that he has a quiet, well-lighted, uncluttered place to study.

It is also important to give Junior and his brothers and sisters the right "tools" to work with.

First of all, your child should have a desk large enough to store all of the school items that he will need to have on hand.

The study area should also be a place where your boy or girl can have fun as well as "hit the books."

Provisions should be made for letter-writing, and for keeping football schedules, autograph books, club mementos and scrapbooks.

GOOD DESK

The desk lamp should be chosen with care. There are good lamps of many types which will diffuse the light evenly and adequately, preventing eye strain.

The straight, standard lamp should be at least one and half feet high and should be placed on the left of the reader.

A swivel-type lamp or the standard lamp with a light-colored shade are excellent for desk reading.

A plentiful supply of paper, pencils, ink and erasers should be kept within easy reach. And don't forget the dictionary.

A thesaurus,or book of synonyms, will be helpful in increasing your child's vocabulary, providing he can keep it away from mother and dad long enough to use it himself.

* * *

A student old enough to handle and care for a typewriter properly will find that themes are neater and more acceptable when they are typed, and handling a typewriter can be good practice for a future journalist or secretary.

A typewriter is not essential, of course, but it can be an asset to any student.

A desk stapler can be mighty handy to have around, too. It beats paper clips any day for keeping papers neatly and securely in place.

For example, Bostitch makes an inexpensive stapler with an attached remover that whisks out the staples as easily as they are inserted.

* * *

This is another item that the children will have a hard time keeping away from their parents.

The final and perhaps most important "tool" of all—one that makes all the others tick—is a spirit of interest and helpfulness toward Junior's efforts on the part of the mother and dad.

Everybody Too Busy to Ring the Ding Dong

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — Who turned in the alarm when fire broke out in a cafe here?

Well, everybody in the place was busy helyping carry out the cash register and other articles.

Fire Chief Ellis Bauer happened to be driving by. He saw the commotion and rang the alarm. Damage? $1,500 worth.

Free school books are provided on the Magdalen Islands, in the Gulf of St. Lawrence. Parents say it's still expensive as they are assessed for damaged or lost books.

Ike's Cabinet to Address GOP at Convention

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cabinet officers of the Eisenhower administration will speak before the Republican National Convention as part of an unusual plan to give maximum publicity to the party's achievements.

* * *

Each Cabinet member, it is understood, will read the section of the Republican party platform which deals with his responsibility, and perhaps elaborate briefly before the delegates on the points mentioned.

The plan reportedly was ready for announcement in San Francisco later today, when details of the program for the convention opening Monday will be disclosed.

Each of the 10 Cabinet officials will appear with the exception of Secretary of State Dulles, who is in London for an international conference on the Suez Canal situation.

Substituting for Dulles will be Undersecretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr., or, if diplomatic developments keep Hoover in Washington, Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., U. S. ambassador to the United Nations.

Aden: Stopover for Suez Ships

Home of Noah's Ark Lies Along Trade Route Between East, West

WASHINGTON — Hot, dusty and camelodorous, the British Colony of Aden is one of the world's busiest seaports.

* * *

With little to offer except its strategic position and harbor, Aden has been important since—according to folklore—Noah built his ark there. The ships that carried the queen of Sheba to meet King Solomon were also built in Aden, legend has it. Little different, even today, are the hand-hewn, triangular-sailed Arab dhows that swarthy shipwrights still construct there.

More important to modern Aden and to the world, however, is its status as a refueling station on the vital Suez sea lane.

Aden lies near the southwest tip of the Arabian Peninsula, on the chief trade route between Europe and Asia. A hundred miles to the west, the Red Sea meets the Gulf of Aden, an arm of the Arabian Sea.

SCORCHING SUN

Under a burning sun that seems to leach the moisture and life from human bodies, the colony clings to two barren volcanic promontories connected by a strip of sandy desert.

Aden has been troubled recently by political demonstrations. Various powers, including the Romans, Turks and Arabs, held it in the past. It was conquered in 1839 by the British, to put down Adenese pirates who plundered their ships.

At that time Aden had a population of only 500, its value having decreased with the discovery and use of the all-ocean route to India around the Cape of Good Hope.

* * *

As steamers replaced sailing ships, however, Aden became useful as a fueling station. Then, in 1869, the Suez Canal was opened, putting the port again in a strong position. Today, 140,000 persons live in Aden's 75 square miles. Fourteen ships enter the harbor in an average day. They represent all maritime nations.

Though some take on coal, most of the ships come for oil, provided by a large refinery completed in 1954. Aden's position close to the rich oil fields of Arabia and Iran makes it possible to sell fuel cheaply.

As a free port—without customs duties—Aden does a large business in importing and re-exporting such items as coffee, hides and cotton. Aden itself produces little for export except salt and a few fish.

WOMEN STILL VEILED

Amid the bustle of a modern port, evidence of an older culture lingers in a small trade in frankincense and myrrh, use of the streets by camels and goats, and the veiled seclusion of Arab women.

The residents of Aden — Europeans, Arabs, Jews, Indians, Parsees, Somalis and Greeks—swelter in a climate that provides 75 degrees Fahrenheit in the shade on a "cool" day, and up to 105 degrees at other times. The average annual rainfall is only three inches. Recurring sandstorms bring a constant haze of reddish brown dust that settles alike on food and drink, on men, camels and wandering cats.

Hair Style for Boys: The Flat Top Boogie

New note in hair styles for boys: The "flat top boogie." The "flat top" makes the head look like an inverted pie plate — broad of beam and narrow below—and the "boogie" adds a fringed appearance to the sides, considered in many quarters as the last word in sizzle.

* * *

The "butch" is often referred to as an "apple pie" style of haircutting but nothing could be further from the truth. The barber trade's official journal, issued monthly, explains injuredly that this is a really professional hair style and a thing of beauty when performed by an expert.

* * *

The first time you do it yourself with a home hair cut set you'll probably have a few thin spots and some out-size hairs standing up on one end. But junior will have a haircut that will grow out anyway, and you'll be in the money.

Big Mattresses Boom

NEW YORK — Bedding manufacturers report that Americans are not only buying better mattresses for their homes, but much bigger ones. A year ago six firms made large-size mattresses; today the demand for oversize mattresses is so great that more than 500 manufacturers are producing them.

25 Million in School

On an average day there are about 25 million students attending U.S. public schools. They are taught by approximately a million teachers.

AP Wirephoto

DEPARTMENT OF POSING ON RUMORS — With rumors flying thick and fast around the convention city of Chicago, three Ohioans put their heads together in a pose to show how they get started. "This is the rumor department," said Gov. Frank Lausche, right. His companions in the gag are Michael DiSalle, left, former mayor of Toledo, and Thomas Burke, former U. S. Senator.

Watch Gives Students Conception of Time

Most school kids don't pay much attention to time, except when it suits them. Getting home late—they had NO idea it was that time. Three minutes late to class—the locker door got stuck. But when it comes to meeting the gang at 28½ minutes past the hour, they're on the split second.

The fact remains that school kids like to have watches, if only just for those times that demand prompt arrival—like missing the newsreel but catching the cartoon on the button.

A watch is a good gift for students. As they emerge from adolescence, when time drags for class minutes and then leaps and bounds for telephone hours, they will learn some regularity through finding out that a shower actually takes 12 minutes rather than the three they suspected. They will gradually learn that the distance to school can be walked in 10 minutes if the feet are actually used.

* * *

It gives a parent a good reason to expect promptness for meals.

Olympic Games' Visitor Promised Tropical Interlude on the Fiji Islands

SUVA — Hundreds of Americans winging southward to Australia and the Olympic Games will have an unusual opportunity for a tropic interlude this year on the Fiji islands.

Located 1,980 miles southwest of Hawaii, Fiji is distinctly different —a fact which impresses the traveler the moment he steps from the plane at Nandi Airport.

Standing at attention at the foot of the ramp or manning a desk in the customs office will be a stately Fijian with an immense mop of curly hair wearing the black tunic, red belt and white, skirt-like "sulu" of the Crown Colony's police force.

Cars with reliable Indian drivers can be rented at the airport. The car winds for miles through sugar cane fields on the "dry" side of the island. Tiny, narrow-gauge locomotives can be seen hauling long strings of cars carrying cut cane to the mills. There are distant views of the Pacific fringed by coral reefs and mangrove swamps and of lovely interior valleys traversed by winding streams.

The road then drops down to the sea and for miles skirts a series of golden beaches with palms waving in the trade winds. Every few miles the route crosses tropic rivers, and here one finds villages of thatch-roofed huts populated by smiling Fijians.

Most of the work is done on a communal basis and it is not uncommon to see a dozen men erecting the posts and roof beams of a new hut or pounding out cocoanut husks for the fibre ropes used to bind the beams together. If you have a camera, don't hesitate to photograph the Fijians. They love it!

SUVA IS INTERESTING

One of the most spectacular portions of the trip comes when the Queen's Road climbs into the mountains on the "wet" side of the island. Here the visitor finds himself in a true tropic rain forest, with vine-covered trees reaching a hundred feet toward the sun and an undergrowth of giant ferns and creepers so dense it seems impossible to penetrate. And as the car climbs, always in the background are the jagged, mist-draped peaks of the island's backbone.

Suva itself is an interesting city that combines broad avenues and stately British Colonial architecture with narrow side streets packed with tiny shops operated by Indians and Chinese. If you reach the capital around noon, an overnight stop is recommended for there is plenty to see and do in the capital of the islands.

One of the first suggestions is a visit with the friendly staff of the Fiji Visitors Bureau for advice on available tours and a drink of kava which is served ceremoniously from a carved bowl to the accompaniment of clapped hands.

* * *

The Bureau will also advise you on such activities as bus or taxi trips around the city, up the heights for a panoramic view of the magnificent harbor, and out into the countryside.

* * *

A "must" is a visit to the gates of the Government House to watch and photograph the changing of the guard, a colorful ceremony performed by perfectly-drilled, sulu-clad native police armed with bayoneted-rifles and accompanied by a bugler.

* * *

The traveler shouldn't miss the teeming public markets, where everything is for sale from carved war clubs to hand-woven baskets full of clams and where bushy-haired Fijians, turbaned Sikhs, Chinese and Europeans buy and sell pineapples, yams, taro root, paw paws, brightly-colored fish and native tobacco by the yard. Go on Saturday, it's the busiest day.

OUT OF THE ASHES OF WAR — Poland's greatest church, St. Mary's in Gdansk, has finally been rebuilt. The top picture shows the edifice as it looked in 1946, contrasted with the restoration, below. The whole roof, the belfry, arches and pillars had to be rebuilt. The great inside hall can seat 25,000 people.

Says Child Doomed Even With Treatment

DETROIT (AP) — The death of a 15-month-old child who died while awaiting treatment at Detroit Children's Hospital has been blamed by a Wayne County medical examiner on acute inflammation of the heart and lungs and meningitis.

Dr. Robert J. Sillery, the examiner, also said the child "would have died whether or not it had received medical attention and the time of death would have been about the same."

Mrs. Caroline McAbee, 27, said her son, James, died in her arms after she had waited in vain for more than two hours for attention at the hospital.

The hospital originally blamed the child's death on meningitis. Hospital authorities maintain Mrs. McAbee must have gone into the wrong room with her child and because of this he did not receive emergency treatment.

The hospital yesterday started a personal escort service for children needing immediate care.

Find Possible Cause in Utah Gas Disaster

SALT LAKE CITY (UP)—A state official says someone turned on a vas valve late Sunday or sometime Monday, unwittingly dooming 15 persons who died when the Lariat Cafe blew up Monday evening at Monticello, Utah.

* * *

Chairman Otto A. Wiesley of Utah's State Industrial Commission said a workman who helped change the restaurant over to natural gas Sunday testified he shut off the main valve on top of a propane gas tank. Another witness said he shut off the same valve when he found it open after the blast had leveled the cafe.

What nobody apparently knew, Wiesley said, was that the line from the propane tank branched and served a nearby apartment house as well as the cafe.

"Someone from the apartment house may—I'm not saying they did, but they may—have gone over and opened the valve," Wiesley said.

* * *

He said leaking as apparently filled the cellar of the restaurant and the open flame in an oven touched it off.

Pontiac Knights Slated to Attend Annual Parley

Two members of the Pontiac Council of Knights of Columbus and their wives will take part in the annual Supreme K. of C. Convention to be held in Detroit Aug. 18-22.

* * *

Pontiac Grand Knight Diamond Wright and Fred Huot, district deputy grand knight, will represent the local Council at the national event's social affairs slated for early next week, but will not be voting delegates at the convention. No actual delegates were picked from Pontiac this year. Ten such delegates will be on hand from the state.

* * *

The local Knight leaders will attend the Supreme States Dinner Tuesday night at the University of Detroit Memorial Building and also the Michigan Dinner Wednesday night at the Fort Shelby Hotel. A Grand Ball is also slated for Wednesday at the Sheraton Cadillac Hotel.

Officials' Children Involved

Russian Teenagers Raked for 'Bacchanalian Orgies'

MOSCOW (UP)—Another vivid account of flaming Soviet youth at high levels has been unfolded in the Communist youth newspaper Komsomol Pravda.

* * *

Emphasizing such terms as "orgies" and "Bacchanalia," the newspaper accused sons of two Soviet Cabinet ministers of drunken escapades with daughters of high army, air force and secret police officers.

The kids whooped it up in luxurious city apartments, Komsomol Pravda said, while their prominent parents vacationed at plush country homes. It charged the girls turned to burglary to keep the party going.

The youths were identified as Eugene and Mikhail Kabanov, sons of "Minister Kabanov"; Sergei Petukhov, son of "a minister"; Erlena Kuznetsova, daughter of a Red army major general; Alla Maximova, stepdaughter of a secret police lieutenant colonel, and Tanya Andreyeva, daughter of an air force colonel.

Ivan G. Kabanov is minister of foreign trade. Konstantin D. Petukhov is minister of the heavy engineering industry. Both are members of the Soviet Communist Party Central Committee.

Komsomol Pravda gave this account:

The "Bacchanalian orgies" were uncovered when the wealthy parents of another young man, Boris Varlamov, found their apartment had been burglarized. They called in the cops. Teenage Boris spilled the works about the apartment partying and involved the three girls.

Erlena, Alla and Tanya were indignant at first, but later named the three other youths as sometime party companions. The Kabanov boys told of drinking bouts in the country and an auto jaunt with the girls to Leningrad, Smolensk and Pskov financed by apartment loot.

Komsomol Pravda didn't disclose the outcome of the affair, but it asserted the youngsters were influenced by American movies and represented a survival of prerevolutionary life. However, no postwar U.S. films have been shown here.

Tourists Still Coming Despite California Smog

LOS ANGELES, (UP) — The All-Year Club says smog isn't harming the southern California tourist trade as much as had been feared.

Don Thomas, managing director, said that 16 out of every 1,000 visitors polled by mail indicated local smog conditions would keep them from revisiting this area.

He added that some visitors didn't mind the smog because their home towns had worse smog conditions.

Now They're Everywhere

LELAND (UP) — The Leelanau County sheriff's department has placed a special boat and water deputy in operation throughout August to promote boating safety on county lakes. The deputy makes a spot patrol check on boat operations and registrations.

Francis X. Bushman Ties Knot With Fourth Wife

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UP)—Francis X. Bushman, the great lover of the silent screen, has taken his fourth wife, whom he describes as "a gorgeous little Irishman."

Bushman, still romantic despite his 73 years, was married here yesterday to Mrs. Iva Richardson, 53, a neighbor of his in Pacific Palisades, Calif.

He said he met Mrs. Richardson four years ago in Columbus, Ohio, and again a few months ago when she moved into a house two doors from his own.

The game of jai - alai, which means "merry festival," originated in Spain and is popular in Cuba, Florida, and Mexico.

THAT'S HOLLYWOOD—Ava Gardner needed a grass skirt for her new picture, "Little Hut," in which she is stranded on a desert isle. Would a little old Hawaiian skirt do? Not for the movie moguls. So they had no one less than famed Parisian designer Christian Dior whip up the skirt and bra outfit that Ava models above.

Safe Driving Proves Easy

Prize - Winning Cabbie Says Just Watch Car Ahead of You

Safe driving is easy. All you have to do is personality-analysis-while-you-drive.

* * *

So says Oswald Frey, prize-winning cab driver. Frey has driven a half-million accident-free miles through New Orleans' congested French Quarter.

His secret for success: Keep watching the car ahead of you.

"When you see an old beat-up car with the fenders dinged in, you know that the driver hasn't much at stake.

* * *

He probably won't be careful; he hasn't been careful in the past.

Frey lists three pet peeves: (1) Diaper drivers; (2) Young lovers; and (3) Ornament collectors.

"Watch out for the kid who's driving his dad's big job. He wants to lead the pack away from every light. And he'll cut in and out of lanes to get ahead.

"Whenever you see a young guy and his girl sitting kind of close in the front seat, give them plenty of room. He's clearly thinking of something else—not driving.

WATCH THOSE GUYS

"And you might as well get off the street when you see a car with baby booties hanging from the rear-view mirror.

The same goes with squirrel-tail fanciers. There's something peculiar about the way these people drive. I can never figure out what they'll do."

* * *

Frey's observations have paid off. He was selected by a committee from the taxicab industry to be one of the 25 drivers to receive the Plymouth Four-Star award.

Tourists Impose On Friendly Gas Station

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Johnny Stuart prides himself on friendly service at his filling station but he thought the six tourists went too far.

Four men and two women pulled into his station to get a new fan belt. When Stuart went to wait on another car, they left without paying for the belt—and helped themselves to a box of tools, two tires and a wheel, all valued at $168.

Watermelon Grower Says It Pays to Pray

ORLO VISTA, Fla. (AP) — Mrs. Myra Bean, who has a 12-acre watermelon patch here, believes in praying for rain when her crop needs water.

She said a shower watered her patch while not a drop fell on a 1,000-acre melon field surrounding her property but owned by another grower.

"It pays to pray," says Mrs. Bean.

Civil Service Okays Jackson Dismissals

LANSING (AP) — The State Civil Service Commission has upheld the firing of two near top level state employes, a division head and a prison psychologist.

* * *

The commission affirmed the dismissals of Leo Lonsberry, supervisor of the Federal Surplus Property Division of the State Department of Administration, and Dr. Murray R. Kovnar, a psychologist at the State Prison of Southern Michigan.

* * *

Lonsberry was charged with permitting misuse of federal surplus property stored under his care at the old state prison at Jackson.

Dr. Kovnar was dismissed because superiors said he had an unsatisfactory service rating and couldn't get along with others in his department.

Newport Girl Victim of Lake Erie Drowning

MONROE (AP) — Judy Spinoza, 12, of Newport, drowned yesterday at a swimming party at Stony Point in Lake Erie, seven miles north of Monroe.

Judy disappeared from a raft a short distance from shore where she and some companions had been playing.

Her mother, Mrs. Verlend Vick, found the child's body when it washed ashore.

Detroit Man Drowns Near Mount Clemens

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP) — Ollie Vincent, 45, of Detroit, drowned in the Clinton River yesterday when he apparently fell from his 30-foot cabin cruiser while trying to moor her.

William Poirier, also of Detroit, a passenger, said he heard a splash, dived in the water but could not rescue his friend.

Proper Shoes Necessary for Child's School Wear

If you want your child to stand at the head of his class better make sure that he stands in well-fitting leather shoes.

* * *

Shoes are all-important to growing bodies but children don't really know when their feet hurt—any more than they know when they're suffering from eyestrain.

That puts it up to the parents, who will do well to follow these rules for the shoes he wears back to school and throughout the school year:

1. Patronize a reputable shoe retailer who wants the child as a steady customer.

* * *

2. Check the construction of the shoes you buy. Foot doctors recommend a shoe with leather soles as well as leather uppers.

* * *

Leather, being firm yet resilient, provides support with flexibility. It also allows air to circulate freely inside the shoe through its tiny invisible pores. Run your hand inside the shoe and make sure the sole feels smooth all the way to the toe.

CHECK FREQUENTLY

3. Check frequently to see that shoes still fit. There is no set rule, of course, but on the average, children need shoes every two months up to the age of 10; after that every two or three months.

* * *

See that there is still plenty of room for all the toes both in length and width.

* * *

4. Don't let your son wear sneakers except for brief periods on grassy play areas or gym floors.

On the concrete playgrounds of city schools, or on the unyielding streets and sidewalks, young feet need the solid foundation that sturdy leather shoes provide.

Once you've checked the construction and fit, you can give your youngsters their head when it comes to style.

For both girls and boys, you'll find all the new leather textures—crushed leather, grained leather, matte leather and aniline-dyed leather, to name but a few—in styles as new as today's lesson.

The most popular numbers in the casual line for both sexes are a slip-on shoe or a low-cut oxford with a moc toe. They are longer and slimmer than before and have a neatly-tailored leather sole.

For girls, they will also boast many decorative details such as narrow buckled straps around the back, crossed-over straps at the instep and elaborate perforations.

Leading colors besides the perennial black, brown and wine will include the pale beige to bright tan for both girls and boys, while girls will also wear more off-beat shades such as moonstone, white sand, and avocado.

Many young men will favor three to five-eyelet blucher. Monk straps are popular for dress-up.

* * *

Girls, on the other hand, will vary the traditional shell pump and Mary Jane with high-fashion numbers including floral-printed leathers and those of vivid oriental oranges and blues with gold kid underlays and appliques.

Surgery Patient Dies From Other Causes

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — A Grand Rapids man who three months ago had seven inches of his arterial system replaced by plastic tubing in a unique emergency operation, died yesterday.

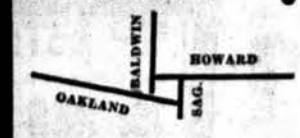

An autopsy report said Cornelius A. Troost, 55, died of "vascular abnormalities and hemorrhaging of the stomach." Doctors said the autopsy showed the plastic graft was working satisfactorily.

Troost first was striken with an artery ailment last May at Manistee. A two-plane air-lift flew him from the Upper Peninsula to Blodgett Hospital in Grand Rapids — one of the few hospitals in Michigan equipped to perform the plastic graft operation.

AUGUST IS SANDWICH MONTH — Millions of sandwiches are eaten every year. Once a year the food industry concentrates on new recipes for this convenient way of eating bread and a filling. In this picture we have the makings of a sandwich meal which guests may assemble for themselves. Served inside or out, you're bound to please everyone with this kind of a meal.

Hot Shrimp Soup Complements Meal

Good idea to serve a hot soup with a cold main course.

Savory Shrimp Soup

1 can (10 ounces) condensed frozen cream of shrimp soup
2 tablespoons tomato paste
¼ teaspoon sugar
¼ teaspoon curry powder
Minced chives or parsley (if desired)

Place unopened can of soup in hot water for 2 to 3 minutes before opening for easy removal. Turn soup into saucepan; fill soup can with water and add.

Heat slowly, stirring often, until melted; don't worry if soup looks curdly. Bring to a boil.

Add tomato paste, sugar and curry powder. Stir well and allow to stand over low heat a few minutes. Serve sprinkled with chives or parsley if desired. Makes two servings.

Mayonnaise Topping Delicious on Fish

Add a little finely grated onion to a quarter cup of mayonnaise or mayonnaise-type salad dressing, then beat a leaftover egg white stiff and fold into the mayonnaise. Spread the topping over four servings of broiled fish and return to the broiler for a minute or two—just long enough to puff and brown the mayonnaise mixture.

Cream a quarter cup of butter or margarine with an equal amount of strained honey and use as a spread for toast.

Vegetable Relish Needs No Cooking

Easy eat-now vegetable relish.

Tomato Relish

1 pound tomatoes
½ cup finely diced celery
1 small onion (peeled and minced)
½ cup drained finely chopped sweet pickles
1½ teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon sugar
2 tablespoons vinegar from pickles

Peel tomatoes; remove stem ends; chop. Add celery, onion, pickles, salt, pepper, sugar and pickle vinegar.

Refrigerate for several hours. Drain well.

The first law making pasteurization of milk compulsory was enacted in Chicago 47 years ago.

Earl of Sandwich Created Food Most Appreciated!

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Sandwiches take on an extra importance in the summer. If an impromptu picnic comes up, it is easy to put sandwich fixin's in a basket and take off.

Sandwiches are good for patio and porch meals.

Let's all hail the late Earl of Sandwich
Who liked to eat out of his hand whilst Established a style
We've used a long while
To fill up our tummies, poor and rich.

The Earl of Sandwich may get the credit for inventing the first sandwich, but food specialists everywhere keep on inventing new kinds of sandwiches. Take, for instance, this Cranberry - Cheese Toastwich.

Cranberry-Cheese Toastwich

12 slices enriched bread
½ cup soft butter or margarine
12 slices process American cheese
¾ cup canned (whole berry) cranberry sauce
2 eggs, beaten slightly
½ cup milk
¼ cup shortening

Butter bread. On each of 6 bread slices, lay a slice of cheese and top it with 2 tablespoons of cranberry sauce. Place a second slice of cheese over the sauce and finish sandwich with a slice of bread.

Combine beaten eggs and milk and dip each sandwich into it on both sides. Brown sandwich, on both sides, in small amount of hot shortening in a skillet. Serve immediately. Yield: Six Cranberry-Cheese Toastwiches.

Another hot sandwich is this one made with ham and peaches. Surprise your family with it on a lazy Sunday morning.

Baked Ham and Peach Sandwich

4 slices enriched bread
Butter or margarine, softened
4 slices boiled ham
4 peach halves (use either well-drained canned peach halves or fresh peach halves)
Melted butter or margarine
1 tablespoon brown sugar
2 eggs, beaten
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup milk

Spread bread with butter or margarine and place in bottom of greased 8-inch square baking dish. Place 1 ham slice on each bread slice and top with a peach half.

Brush peach halves generously with butter or margarine and sprinkle with brown sugar. Add salt and milk to eggs and mix well. Pour egg mixture into center of baking dish. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) about 35 minutes. Makes four servings.

Fridays come regularly once a week, 52 times a year. If you're tired of fish or egg fillings for meatless sandwiches, use this one next time.

Vegetable Sandwich Filling

¼ cup finely diced, cooked asparagus
¼ cup finely diced, cooked carrots
¼ cup cooked peas
¼ cup finely chopped celery
1 tablespoon chopped green onion
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon prepared mustard
¼ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing

Drain the cooked vegetables very well, using absorbent paper. Add celery, green onion, salt, mustard and mayonnaise. Yield: 1 cup, or filling for five sandwiches.

"The Most" refers to a sandwich here. Teenagers will love this four-layer concoction after a rock 'n roll session.

"The Most" Sandwich

Egg Salad Filling
Peanut Butter Filling
1 2-pound loaf Jewish rye bread (round)
Butter or margarine, softened
4 lettuce leaves

Arrange lettuce leaves and chipped beef on fourth slice. Top with third bread slice and spread with Peanut Butter Filling. Top with second slice, spread with mustard and cover with cheese slices.

Cover cheese with top slice. Place 3 skewers into each sandwich half and arrange halves to form whole round loaf.

To serve, cut each half, between skewers, into 3 equal portions. Remove skewers.

Makes six servings.

Egg Salad Filling

Tips to Save Mess in Melting Paraffin

Many housewives today are busy putting up jelly. One of the unpleasant parts of this operation is melting paraffin, which makes for messy pots.

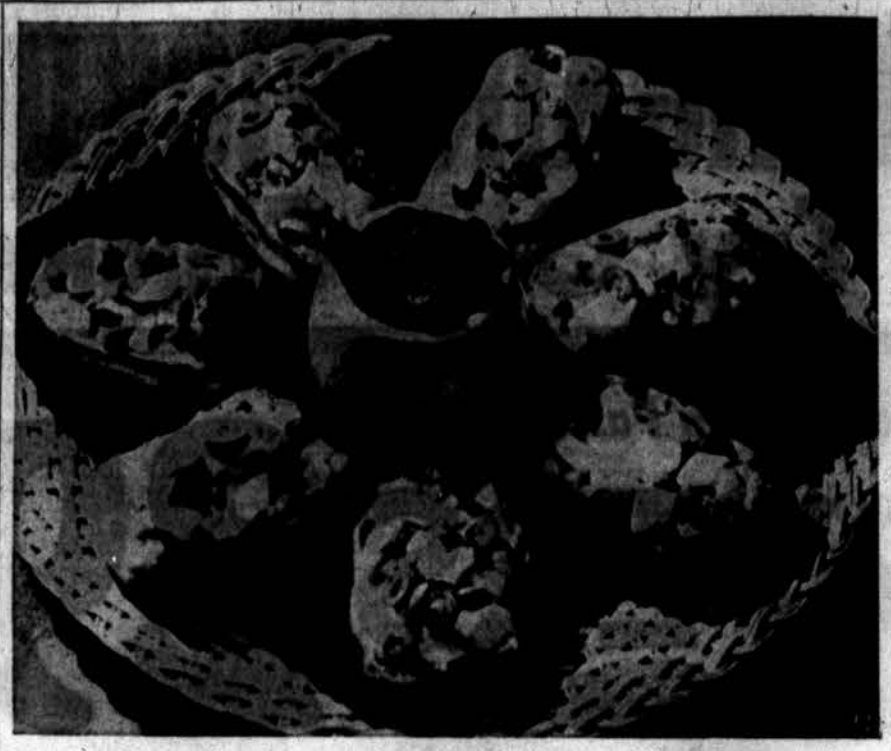

Mrs. Homemaker's Forum advises breaking the paraffin into small bits which can be put into an empty milk carton. Place carton in boiling water until paraffin melts.

It is easy to pour the melted paraffin from the carton, which can be thrown away after use.

Another way to avoid heating paraffin in a pot is to shave it fine and drop it into the bottom of the jelly glass. Pour the hot jelly over it. When the paraffin melts, it will rise to the top.

Use for Leftovers

A bit of ham or chicken left over? Dice fine and add it to the filling for stuffed eggs.

EGG SANDWICH MEXICANA — Egg salad goes into a sandwich that can be hot or cold. It's ideal for a picnic. There is no mayonnaise in this filling so you need not worry about carrying it in warm weather. Any kind of roll may be used as a base.

Egg Sandwich Mexicana Has Spicy Patio-Appeal

The egg goes to a picnic in Egg Sandwich Mexicana as an easy-to-pack glamour bun or as a toasted open-face sandwich with patio appeal. Served either way—cold or hot — the "Mexican" seasonings mean zippy eating of an old picnic favorite—egg salad.

Hamburger buns or hot dog rolls, split and scooped out to hold the egg filling, make a good, sturdy platform for the sandwich—very easy to handle even by small children.

When the picnic is away from the backyard and the oven needed to serve hot sandwiches, omit the baking and wrap the sandwiches in aluminum foil. The versatility of eggs makes them delicious, served hot or cold.

Egg Sandwich Mexicana

6 hard-cooked eggs, chopped coarsely
½ cup mixed chopped green pepper, stuffed olives and onion
½ cup (½ pound) sharp Cheddar cheese, grated
¼ cup chili sauce
½ teaspoon salt, scant
¼ teaspoon chili powder
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ cup melted butter or margarine
4 large rolls or hamburger buns, split in half

Combine all ingredients except butter or margarine and rolls. Hollow out the inside of the split rolls, leaving about a ¼-inch shell.

* * *

Spread with melted butter and heap egg mixture into hollows. Place shells on baking sheet. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees) until cheese starts to melt and edges are delicately browned, about 20 minutes.

Serve with pickles and olives. Makes eight sandwiches.

Jellied Salad Chock Full of Pineapple

This jellied salad is chock full of pineapple.

Jellied Pineapple Salad

¾ cup cold water
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1 cup very hot water
¾ cup sugar
¼ cup lemon juice
½ teaspoon salt
¾ cup thinly sliced well-drained canned pineapple chunks
¼ cup finely grated carrot
¼ cup finely diced green pepper
Lettuce
Mayonnaise

Put cold water in a medium-sized mixing bowl; sprinkle gelatin over surface of water and allow to soften.

* * *

Add very hot water; stir until gelatin dissolves. Add sugar; stir in lemon juice and salt.

Chill, stirring occasionally until mixture begins to thicken. Fold in pineapple, carrot and green pepper until well distributed.

Turn into individual molds or into a 7-inch square cake pan. Chill until set.

Turn out of molds; if square pan is used, cut into portions and remove with wide spatula.

Serve on lettuce with mayonnaise. Makes six servings.

Oliveburger Is New

Turn a beefburger into an oliveburger—serve it with a topping of chopped stuffed olives on a mayonnaise-spread roll.

Cornstarch Pudding Needs Two Heatings

Cornstarch puddings and pie fillings often call for two heating periods. Know why? In these mixtures eggs are often added to aid in the thickening as well as for flavor.

* * *

Cornstarch or flour does not reach a full degree of thickening until it is heated to the boiling point. If eggs are heated to this temperature they often will curdle and clump in the mixtures.

* * *

So the safest practice, say Michigan state food specialists, is to cook the cornstarch or flour until it has completed its thickening; cool for 4 or 5 minutes; add the eggs and reheat until egg has thickened.

Ginger; Orange Syrup on French Toast Dessert

For a wonderful last-minute dessert, pile slices of French toast one on the other until you have a cake the right size—then serve it warm with a delicate ginger or orange syrup.

If you don't have candied ginger or orange on hand to make a syrup, you can put jelly or marmalade between the slices and top off with powdered sugar.

Go Italian! Add thinly sliced zucchini squash (cooked first in a little butter) to an omelet.

Have you tried frozen kale? It's delicious seasoned with onion and teamed with a cream sauce.

Dairy products supply 30 per cent of all animal proteins in our national diet.

The SKILLET CLUB FOR MEN

By Frank Kohler

TURKEY BARBECUED ON A SPIT — from Bill Swain of Fairbault, Minn. He says you may precook the turkey for 10 to 15 minutes in the oven and finish over charcoal fire if you wish, or else proceed as follows.

1 cup peanut oil
¼ cup soy sauce
1 tablespoon celery seed
2 tablespoon paprika
1 teaspoon thyme
1 teaspoon marjoram
1 clove garlic, crushed

Combine all ingredients and brush on the fowl several hours before cooking. Leave fowl at room temperature and repeat brushing several times.

Place fowl on spit, and wrap carefully in heavyweight aluminum foil, crimping so he is tightly sealed and wire him once each way. Cook over open charcoal about 25 minutes per pound —30 minutes for a large bird.

Remove foil and rewire the bird to the spit, brush with sauce, and finish over open fire, turning and brushing frequently until he is nicely browned all over.

PICKLE BRAISED FRANKFURTERS — Bill Moore, of Batavia, Ill., likes to do these for a crowd, using a big kettle outdoors. The recipe here will serve four.

1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce
¼ cup finely chopped onion
¼ cup vinegar
¼ cup sweet pickle liquid
1 teaspoon sugar
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
2 tablespoons chili sauce
1 small clove garlic, minced
½ cup chopped sweet mixed pickles
1 pound frankfurters
Frankfurter rolls (optional)

Combine everything except the franks and rolls—mix well, and cook over medium heat for 10 minutes. Check seasoning, adding additional hot items if desired, such as chili powder.

Add franks and simmer 20 minutes. Serve on plates, and if desired, on the split and toasted buns, with the sauce ladled over.

THREE TO ONE PUNCH. Having a clam bake outdoors? Nothing could be more appropriate than this, which came to us from E. A. Myers, in Maine, via Nelson Thomasson III, Chicago Daily News Chapter.

It seems that Great - grandfather Myers put this together on Sept. 5, 1813, to celebrate the victory of U.S.S. Enterprise I over the British ship Boxer off Pemaquid Point, Maine, on that day.

Some of those who fish professionally off Pemaquid keep a bottle of this in the icebox at all times. It is a great conversation piece, and a fine way to start off a shore dinner.

* * *

Just mix one quart medium New England rum with one-half pint strong tea, a half bottle of white wine, and the juice of half a lemon. Components may be varied to suit your own taste.

* * *

It may be served, well chilled, from a punch bowl in which you have floated a large chunk of ice, or in a sour or bowl champagne glass over one ice cube.

Easy Luncheon Dish

Add diced ham to a cheese sauce and serve over green asparagus stalks arranged on buttered toast. Nice for a women's group lunch!

Cook That Eggplant Mediterranean Style

Different and delicous vegetable dish that is especially good served with lamb.

Mediterranean Eggplant

1 eggplant (¾ pound)
1 medium-sized onion
2 large (1 pound) tomatoes
½ of a large green pepper
2 tablespoons olive oil
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon sugar
1 can (8 ounces) Italian-type tomato sauce

Pare eggplant and cut into ¼-inch cubes. Peel onion and chop fairly fine.

Plunge tomatoes into boiling water or rotate over a gas flame; remove skin and slice; remove as many seeds as possible with fingers, then dice. Cut pepper into thin strips.

Heat oil in 10-inch skillet; add eggplant and onion; cook gently until eggplant is soft and light brown, stirring often—5 to 10 minutes.

Add tomatoes, green pepper, salt, pepper, sugar and tomato sauce. Simmer until thoroughly hot, stirring several times. Makes six servings.

Serve in Pineapple Shell

Into a pretty bowl of about 1 pint capacity, pour 1 cup of chilled canned lemon-lime soft drink and 2 tablespoons of light cream. Add a color bouquet of two scoops of ice cream, one strawberry and one pistachio. Very slowly fill with more chilled soda. You will need two 10-ounce cans of lemon-lime soft drink.

Picnic 'Fixings' Soon Will Come in Handy Tubes

That favorite summer pastime, the picnic, soon will offer something new for outdoor eating — spread-type foods in fold-up metal tubes.

Jelly in metal tubes is now available in some sections of the country and the packaging of peanut butter in these unique air-tight squeeze containers is expected to make an appearance this year.

And under test in the laboratories of food processing firms are such other foods as fish and meat pastes, cheese spreads, mustard, catsup and mayonnaise —all readily adaptable to packaging in collapsible metal tubes.

Tubed foods long have been popular in Europe. Cream cheese, butter, condensed milk, caviar, chocolate syrup, tomato paste and a variety of other spread - type products are to be found on most store shelves. In Switzerland, 90 per cent of all mustard is packaged in metal tubes.

* * *

The obvious advantage for picnickers of food in tubes is in the matter of convenience. They're lightweight, sanitary and easy to handle.

Tubed foods also are said to be ideal for school and work lunch boxes and for hiking and camping trips.

Kitchen arithmetic: a tall can of evaporated milk holds 1 2-3 cups.

LADIES' AID LUNCHEON — Here's the perfect luncheon for a warm day. It's not necessarily for a ladies' aid group, but the simplicity aids the hostess. Pass the dressing and be sure in include low-calorie rye wafers with the rolls and muffins for your weight-watching friends. Swiss cheese gives "body" to the salad.

Potato Mounds Popular

Potato mounds are always popular. To make them beat an egg into two cups of seasoned mashed potatoes. Drop a couple of heaping tablespoons of the potato mixture onto a buttered baking sheet to form a mound, swirling top; repeat with rest of potatoes. Bake in hot oven about 10 minutes, remove with a wide spatula and serve at once.

Serve Coffee Ice Cream With Minted Demitasse

In the cool of a summer's evening, let's take dessert and coffee outdoors after dinner and enjoy them on the porch or patio.

A last course that is ideal for summer-time dining is homemade coffee ice cream, served with minted Coffee Mist and perhaps a bowlful of crumbly butter mints for nibbling. Sound cool?

Coffee Mist is a midsummer version of demitasse. It couldn't be simpler to prepare. Just heap old-fashion glasses with crushed ice and then fill them with hot, strong demitasse coffee.

You serve Coffee Mist with sugar and a twist of lemon peel. Sometimes you might like to add a topknot of fresh mint for both flavor and color.

Homemade coffee ice cream is a real joy any time of year, but it is never more appreciated than at the end of a long, hot day. And here's a serving suggestion for coffee ice cream: Crumble a few butter mints over the top for a cool, delicious combination of flavors.

This is a recipe for coffee ice cream which you will want to keep:

Coffee Ice Cream

½ cup granulated sugar
1 tablespoon flour
Pinch of salt
1 cup hot, double-strength coffee
1 egg yolk, beaten
1 teaspoon unflavored gelatine
2 tablespoons cold coffee
1½ cups heavy cream
2 teaspoons vanilla

Mix ¼ cup sugar with flour and salt. Add to hot coffee. Cook over hot water 15 minutes stirring constantly until thickened, then occasionally. Pour over egg yolk which has been mixed with remaining ¼ cup sugar.

Return to heat. Cook 2 minutes or until mixture coats spoon. Sprinkle gelatine on 2 tablespoons cold coffee. Add hot mixture and stir until gelatine dissolves. Chill thoroughly.

Whip cream stiff. Fold into chilled mixture. Add vanilla and pour into refrigerator tray. Freeze at coldest setting, stirring every 30 minutes, until mixture holds shape. Finish freezing. Makes 6 servings.

Kent GOP Suggests State Primary Change

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Kent County Republicans last night endorsed President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon for renomination at the party's national convention next week in San Francisco.

The county convention also:

Pledged support for Gerald R. Ford Jr. in his bid for re-election from the 5th congressional district (Kent and Ottawa Counties).

Endorsed John B. Martin Jr., former state auditor general, as a candidate for secretary of state at the GOP state convention next month.

And proposed state primaries be moved back to September.

A second glass factory is scheduled to be built in La Paz, Bolivia.

PIG WHO CAME TO DINNER—A 100-pound pig has no qualms about showing up for chow when a cow feeds her calf in Bassett, Va. Somewhere along the line, the little runt got confused and every time the cow comes on the scene, the free-loading pig is right on hand. The farmer has tried to discourage the little thief, but both cow and calf have resigned themselves to his presence.

The food and clothing industries represent 50 to 60 per cent of the business of the United States, and 70 to 80 per cent in the world.

Preparing Platform

Republican Target for '56: Strong Civil Rights Plank

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Republicans expect to work out in closed session tonight their first rough draft of their 1956 platform.

Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois said it will have a strong civil rights statement. It may urge the arming of Israel to help preserve Middle East peace, reported New York Atty. Gen. Jacob K. Javits.

* * *

Other developments towards Monday's opening of the national convention in the Cow Palace:

Party stalwarts reiterated at every opportunity that Vice President Nixon would be renominated. But Governors Theodore McKeldin of Maryland and Goodwin Knight of California reiterated equally frequently "I'm available." And headquarters for Gov. Christian Herter of Massachusetts was opened next door to the downtown office of Citizens for Eisenhower. The Citizens support Nixon.

* * *

The national committee approved the seating of a South Carolina delegation headed by David Dows of Bradley. It thus denied an appeal from National Committeewoman Mrs. John E. Messervy, National Committeeman J. Bates Gerald and State Chairman Oscar W. Pitts, old-line party regulars.

The committee also divided Mississippi's 15 votes by approving a Contest Committee report alotting eight votes to a group headed by Perry W. Howard, Negro attorney and national committeeman for 32 years, and seven to a group led by Wirt Yerger Jr., Young Republican from Jackson, Miss.

* * *

The platform draft will be hammered out by the Resolutions Committee headed by Sen. Prescott Bush of Connecticut. His group will continue taking testimony from representatives of special groups.

The draft will go Saturday to the full national committee, which will reword it on Sunday for expected adoption by the Republican National Convention Tuesday.

* * *

Bush said the platform framers are mindful of President Eisenhower's request that it be kept short and free "of denunciation and bombast."

Dirksen, of the Civil Rights subcommittee, scoffed at the civil rights plank the Democrats adopted in Chicago and said, "There will be no such serpentine weaseling on our part. The Supreme Court has interpreted the Constitution and that's the law of the land."

* * *

Dirksen promised that his group would write a strong plank on civil rights. Not a single Southern delegate disagreed.

Dirksen said the plank will call upon Congress to take up President Eisenhower's civil rights program as a first order of business in January.

Thurston B. Morton, former assistant secretary of state who heads the Foreign Policy subcommittee, said the platform should call for a program of loans to foreign nations rather than direct grants and that the loans should go for specific projects rather than be turned over to sagging treasuries abroad.

* * *

The New York delegation, led by Javits and Oswald D. Heck, speaker of the New York State Assembly, made public a plank they proposed to insure arms for Israel. It would commit the Republicans to "continue to urge our government, in cooperation with other free nations, to supply sufficient arms for legitimate self-defense to Israel, or any other nation whose freedom and independence may be jeopardized by aggression and to encourage organization for mutual security in the Middle East."

Youth Prevails Again Over Adults Naturally

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—Two motorists who jumped out of their cars after an intersection collision and started a loud argument were quickly cut down to size by a School Safety patrolman.

The patrol boy left a score of youngsters at the curb, marched out into the street and confronted the angry motorists: "Say, you guys, cut out the cussing and get the heck out of here. I've got to get these kids to school before they're tardy."

They got!

What a Hog's Life!

OKARCHE, Okla. (AP)—A hog's life on Lawrence Wittrock's farm is mighty tempting.

Wittrock bought an air conditioner to put in the hog barn. Some of his sows were about to give birth and he wanted them to be comfortable.

The U.S. chemical industry is the nation's biggest salt customer, consuming about 68 per cent of the 20,000,000 tons produced annually. As a seasoning, people consume only 3 per cent of the output.

Wednesday's Party to Follow Pattern of Hawaiian Feast

By RUTH SAUNDERS

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Correct in every detail will be the Hawaiian "Luau" which John Hart and Jerady Carter will give next Wednesday at the Truman S. Hart home in Guildford road.

The idea originated in the spring when the young people were in Honolulu with both the Hart and Stanley Carter families. Inquiries were made then how to cook such delicacies as steaks soaked in spices and pineapple juice.

The Hart's lovely swimming pool will be afloat with orchids flown over for the occasion, with swimming both before and after supper. There will be dancing on the lawn in the evening.

Among those who have been invited and who will bring their own "dates" are Jane McKensie, Gigi Underhill, Gail McKinley, Sylvia Trythall, Judy Frost, John Hogshead, Karl Larkstrom, Don Young, Marc Cunningham, Tom Young, Dave Ward, George Fett and John MacManus.

'Buffie' Will Act as Adlai's Hostess

CHICAGO (AP)—The women close to Adlai Stevenson are two—a dignified, graying sister called "Buffie" and a 21-year-old daughter-in-law, Nancy.

Nancy, short-haired blonde wife of Adlai Stevenson Jr., expects a baby in early November. It will be the former Illinois governor's first grandchild.

Both Nancy and Mrs. Elizabeth "Buffie" Ives are here, ready, they said, to do anything they could to help the booming Stevenson campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Should the man she calls "Guy" get to the White House, Nancy said in an interview she and young "Ad," 24, wouldn't move in with him—"We want our own house, even if it's a tiny apartment."

Mrs. Ives, 59, said she would serve as official hostess at the White House if her brother asked her, but the decision was up to him.

WAS HIS HOSTESS

Mrs. Ives was Stevenson's official hostess when he was governor of Illinois and after he and Mrs. Ellen Borden Stevenson were divorced in 1949.

Mrs. Ives is the wife of a retired career diplomat, Ernest Ives, and has had extensive experience in entertaining. Before her husband retired in 1939, the two lived in Copenhagen, Stockholm, Belfast and Pretoria, South Africa.

Mrs. Ives knows Washington, too. She made her debut there when her father was special assistant to Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels.

The young Adlai Stevensons are staying this summer at Stevenson's farm home at Libertyville, Ill., 40 miles from Chicago.

In the fall, young Adlai will return to his last year of studies at the Harvard Law School in Cambridge, Mass. There, the young Stevensons have an apartment where the dining room is going to be the nursery, too.

Nancy told reporters a story of a young couple having fun painting their apartment, building shelves and eating hamburger meat "because it's cheap."

"You've heard of the book, 'A 1,001 Ways to Cook Hamburger'," she said. "Well, I think we've tried it 1,004."

• • •

The young Stevensons were married in Louisville, Ky., Nancy's home, three weeks after she was graduated from Smith College in 1955. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warwick Anderson of Louisville.

Caught by the photographer as they arrived at Oakland Hills Country Club Wednesday were (left to right) Mrs. Neil Dostal, Mrs. John Mathews and Mrs. Wayne Wilson, all of Birmingham.

Splits, Then Unites Democrats

Harry Excels in Peacemaker Role

CHICAGO (INS) — The dapper, scrappy gentleman who split the Democratic party wide open five days ago arose from his box seat at convention hall early this morning, delivered a fervent pitch for party harmony, and then beamed like a proud mother as delegates uproariously shouted down the liberalized civil rights plank that he had opposed.

It was a great five minutes for Harry S. Truman! The independent man from Independence had watched his personal stock nosediving disastrously since his precedent-shattering public endorsement of presidential hopeful Averell Harriman last Saturday. Today he was the man of the hour—the peacemaker, for a change.

With his usual talent for headline grabbing, Truman staged his sensational move in the most dramatic manner possible. Instead of striding to the platform podium like the lesser known figures who had preceded him, the former president—to the surprise of most delegates—suddenly spoke directly into a microphone that had been slipped earlier into his private box.

QUICK INTRODUCTION

His introduction came abruptly. At the close of a five-minute plea by committee chairman John McCormack for adoption of the party platform without the proposed amendment which was anathema to the South, permanent chairman Sam Rayburn suddenly announced: "Without objection, Mr. McCormack will now yield to the most distinguished man in this hall."

It was the neatest trick of the week! Without unanimous consent, non-delegate Truman had no right to address the assemblage. But speaker Rayburn, an old hand at getting his way with the gavel and the mumbled word gave no hot-headed northerner an opportunity to raise an objection.

There was a burst of applause and then Truman, sporting a dark bow-tie and a light gray double-breasted suit, began: "This is a very great consideration which you have given me, and I want to contribute to harmony, so that you can go out against the Republicans in full force and give them the licking they have coming to them."

CROWD APPROVES

The crowd roared its approval—whether at Truman's belated bid for harmony, or at the chance to "lick" the Republicans was hard to tell.

Truman, after sternly reminding that he has had a hand in writing every Democratic platform since 1936, emphasized with familiar meat-chopper gesture that "this is the best one this convention has ever had put before it."

Former first lady Bess Truman, sporting blue-tinted hair, a gray polka-dot dress and dark glasses, sat impassively beside her peppery spouse as he boasted: "I've done more to improve civil rights than any other president of the United States."

With a bit of a father-knows-best air, he then added that the platform as submitted was just the ticket with which to "lick" the Republicans, and no offending amendments were needed.

SAM TAKES OVER

Enthusiastic whistling and cheers wrote finis to the ex-president's remarks. Then Rayburn called for the ayes and nays on the civil rights amendment which—if adopted—might have thrown a galaxy of Dixie Democrats into the Eisenhower fold.

"In the opinion of the chair," Rayburn announced firmly, a moment later, "the nays have it."

So boisterous were the losers that the great hall reverberated with their outraged protests. Pretending neither to see nor to hear a New York delegate who was demanding a roll call vote, the terrible-tempered "Mr. Sam" chided irately: "I've been takin' these aye and nay votes for a long time, and I think I can tell which side has the majority."

Truman, who until that moment had seemed unusually tense, suddenly shook with laughter. So did most of the delegates, who realized that the crisis of the convention had now been safely passed.

The South was firmly in the fold—at least on the civil rights issue. The northern liberals had made their grandstand play for home state consumption and obviously intended no further fight on the issue.

Truman had made an ingratiating gesture to the conservatives he has bitterly offended with his espousal of new dealer Harriman, and for the moment, at least, the Democrats were one big, boisterous, happy family again.

Tattling May Be Cry for Help

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

After George's parents got their parlor sofa reupholstered they forbade him and Brother, their younger son, to jump on it.

One afternoon, Brother had a guest. While his mother was down in the cellar using the washing machine, they started wrestling on the sofa.

Brother found its new, sponge-rubber cushions so deliciously resilient that he shut his five-year-old mind against the ban—and challenged his guest to see who could jump harder and higher.

Watching their irresponsible rapture from the dining room, George felt a sudden passonate temptation to jump on the sofa himself.

He became frightened that it might overwhelm him, betraying him into risking his mother's displeasure. So he ran to the head of the kitchen stairs to yell, "Ma, Brother and Sam are jumping up and down on the new sofa!"

APPEAL FOR SUPPORT

If you want to call George names, label him "tattletale." But I think his tattling was simply an appeal for support of his weakening resistance to forbidden behavior.

As a matter of fact, tattling by older children is often just that. And when we imagine it to be only malicious desire to get younger ones in trouble, our judgment of it is superficial and stereotyped.

To judge it properly, we always have to take into account the older child's basic problem—his fear of displeasing us.

From his point of view, we've had our second child for only one reason — the first one somehow displeased us. Made uncertain of our affection by this belief, he fears losing it more than the younger child who has not experienced displacement.

HAS MORE FEAR

So he therefore fears indulging himself in displeasing behavior more than Brother does. When tempted to join in it with the younger boy, he runs to "tattle" on him.

* * *

By getting us to end the sofa-jumping, he hopes to get us to end a dangerous temptation he can't resist.

If we can see this, we won't condemn his tattling as contemptible, making him still more uncertain of our love. Instead, we give him the affection he has indirectly asked for, saying, "How good you didn't jump on the sofa, too!"

Gradually, he discovers that he can resist impulses to displeasing behavior and outgrows his tattling appeals for help in resisting them.

* * *

His motivation is exactly that of adult tattlers who deny other people pleasure lest they desire the pleasure too ardently themselves.

Smart Gal Fits Dress to Occasion

The gal who wore a silor hat that must have been three feet across, to the airport, deserved what she got, which was a lost hat.

The woman who wore her best chiffon when she had a mother and three children to tea also deserved what she got, which was a big spot on the lap.

A wife who wore white shorts and a white middy blouse while dyeing her husband's corduroy shirt now wears navy blue shorts and shirt and she, too, deserved her fate.

Each garment in a woman's wardrobe should serve specific purposes and the owner should know what they are in advance.

* * *

Once an event is arranged, a woman ought to know almost automatically which of her garments will be suitable to it.

LINT-CATCHER OUT

A wool jersey dress should be eliminated in advance for wear to a home where there is a long-haired white dog that sheds.

* * *

A dress with a full skirt will surely be awkward to handle while meeting friends at the airport. A dress with a tight skirt will be difficult while running for a close train connection.

The clothes in her closet should be as known to a woman as the food tastes of her family.

She should know without thinking their strong point s(needs no pressing, won't hike up, comfortable for driving, has good pockets for marketing) and their weak points (too sheer to go without a strapless bra, spots easily).

And if there is no garment for some occasion that arises frequently, she ought to buy one.

Trim Upper Arms

Sleeveless dresses call for pretty upper arms. If yours aren't, exercise will get them into shape. Meanwhile, choose dresses with sleeves.

Lovely crocheted spider-web motifs and embroidered daisy sprays combine to create exquisite linens. Start now to make a set for yourself and another for Christmas giving.

Pattern No. 5226 contains hot-iron transfer for five designs; stitch illustrations; color chart, crocheting and finishing directions.

Summer Makeup Tip

Perspiration can cause the best makeup to streak and change color. Be sure to build your makeup on a clean and dry skin—the pores closed by a mild astringent. Chilled, good quality witch hazel makes an ideal powder base for summertime.

How Should Woman Pay Man's Way?

By Securing Tickets in Advance; Never Hand Him Money

By EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: "I have been dating a young man on and off for several months. We are good friends, but due to financial conditions, we don't see too much of each other. What I would like to know is this: Would it be proper for me occasionally to say that the evening is on me and pay all expenses.

"I wouldn't want to embarrass or hurt his feelings as he is a very nice person. If it is possible to do this, just how do I go about taking care of paying. Could I hand him a sum of money before we go out to take care of the evening's expenses?"

Answer: You can take him to anything that has tickets which you can buy in advance. But you cannot hand him money with which to pay for your evening.

Dear Mrs. Post: "I have been writing to a young man in the service for almost a year now. I have always closed my letters to him with 'Sincerely'.

"However, this is becoming monotonous and I wonder if you can suggest a closing that would be more friendly and yet not too personal?"

Answer: You could close your letters with, "With all best wishes," "As always," "Good-bye for now," etc.

Dear Mrs. Post: "I plan on going away shortly and I would like to know when I arrive at the hotel at which I am going to stay, if it is necessary to tip the doorman who takes my suitcase from the taxi to the desk, or just the bellboy who carries my bags to the room? (2) What is the customary tip given to a bellboy?"

Answer: Very definitely you tip the bellboy, and probably the doorman too if he carries your bags any distance. Nothing is given to him if he just puts your bags on the sidewalk. (2) If your bags are many or very heavy, the bellboy is given 50 cents, otherwise 25 cents is sufficient.

Appliances Get Glamor Appeal

From red and gold can openers to black and green mixers, small appliance manufacturers have answered the demand to glamorize their products with color.

The impetus behind this change of color is a combination of consumer demand and creative design engineering on the manufacturing level.

The well-known and proven qualities of such materials as aluminum, porcelain enamel and stainless steel have been brought together to produce new eye-appealing appliances and utensils for Mrs. American Housewife.

Vanessa Brown Planning to 'Louse Up' GOP Parley

CHICAGO (INS) — Vanessa Brown, Adlai Stevenson's pink-haired rooter from Hollywood, warned today she is "evolving a plan to louse up the Republican Convention."

Her eyes innocent, but her film contacts intact, the actress hinted she may "break up" the planned smoothness of the San Francisco meeting with a little anti-Ike shenanigans.

"I can't tell you what I'm planning," Vanessa said in the child-like voice that is her trademark. "But you wait and see, it'll be a surprise."

She predicted, then, that Stevenson will win the notnination on the first ballot and will win the November election by a considerable majority.

NOT AS PRESIDENT

"I like Ike, but not as a president," she cooed. "Politically, he's illiterate."

Nothing illiterate about Vanessa though, Vanessa said. Asked if she is as smart as she was when she got her start as a brainy "quiz kid" in Chicago many years ago, she replied: "I'm smarter."

Wearing a clinging white knit frock and carrying copies of the "Stevenson Bandwagon," a daily publicity paper for which she claims to be an "un-objective correspondent," Miss Brown said she is devoting most of her life to politics these days.

"I am working on a series of documentary films that will make people more aware of politics. It's to be called the 'Institute of Thought and Talk' and will be televised soon after Stevenson wins the election," she said.

Kitchen Place to Be Practical

With much of the emphasis today on beauty and design in kitchens and appliances, it must not be forgotten that the practical advantages of kitchen equipment are still important.

The modern housewife wants a heat resistant, stain and odor proof finish on her sink, range and counter top working surfaces.

Above all she wants a surface that is impervious to dirt and is easily cleaned with soap and water, retaining its gleaming finish for a lifetime.

Ice cream contains all of the important nutrients of milk in different proportions.

'Jolly Parson' New Suitor for Princess Margaret?

NEW YORK, N. Y.—The newly recognized contender for the hand of England's Princess Margaret is a fun-loving parson.

A profile-story on the Rev. Simon Wilton Phipps, affectionately called "England's Jolly Parson," appears in a current magazine.

According to the article, it was Phipps that the Princess turned to for advice in the duty versus love controversy over her romantic attachment to Capt. Peter Townsend.

The merry young cleric has been squiring Princess Margaret to the theater, parties and balls for several years, but only recently have his frequent excursions to London been noted in the newspapers.

OTHER TALENTS

Talented as both an actor and a lyric-writer, it seemed at one time that Phipps might make the stage his career. Although he decided to take the holy orders, he did not lose his lightheartedness, and has brought the same approach to his job as chaplain of Trinity College.

Phipp's range in friends, states the article, is as wide as his taste in music (which ranges from the classics to boogie-woogie). They include debutantes, priests, actors, socialites and students.

The article points out that the young chaplain was not always a man of peace. When World War II broke out he gave up his studies to enlist.

He was wounded twice during the war, and awarded the Military Cross for outstanding devotion to duty.

Dem 'Circus' Sight to See

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

CONVENTION HALL, CHICAGO (INS)—And so it came to pass, as the great arena filled and the hot breath of Democrats rent the TV-blue smoke screen, a miracle occurred.

In all its childish fun and fearsomeness, the circus was born again.

It was sober business for most of the delegates in the blue draped hall with the big problem of civil rights to be solved, but they made it into a Barnum & Bailey extravaganza.

There were the skillfully-thrown darts, the lions' roars, the tight-rope walking and the unhampered freedom of assault which small boys are given when somebody tries to swipe their marbles.

* * *

The fights started early, in small clumps on the jammed convention floor, and even the TV cameras could not break through the human fence that guarded the fat red face and the long gray face of two Illinois delegates who were arguing.

In the peanut galleries, high above the scene, the visitors looked on with the awed embarrassment of parents of misbehaviors, and screamed indignantly—"What's going on?"

* * *

Much went on that even those crushed in the swelling heat of the confusion could not see.

A woman in the Georgia delegation spent 12 minutes talking viciously to herself, while the civil rights minority report was being expounded on the podium. The man beside her leaned away in embarrassment.

A newspaperman collapsed on the main floor, but scarcely anyone noticed. An attractive gray goat had just been ushered into the hall under a standard reading "This Goat is Sanitary," and stole the show from the casualty.

* * *

A delegate cried in anger, when he lost a fight with his delegation. A woman with her arm in a sling forgot her ailment and cheered, screaming first in exultation and then in pain.

MRS. HARRIMAN LAUGHS

While the eyes of 12,000 were focused on Harry Truman's arrival, a 14-year-old boy named Billy whispered something to his grandmother and both laughed. The grandmother was Mrs. Averell Harriman who found nothing else to laugh at all night.

* * *

Vaughn Monroe sang a medley of songs, including Bess Truman's favorite, "If You Were the Only Girl in the World," but he couldn't catch her eye.

By the time she realized she was being serenaded, pursed her lips, blushed and looked toward the crooner, he had turned away in disappointment.

When Harry Truman rose in his $1,000 box to speak out for acceptance of the proposed party platform, the entire assembly rose. But when the former President was through, one man in the balcony continued to stand, grim and stiff. Suddenly he shook his fist at the still applauding men around him and stalked out.

* * *

It was exciting except for the bruised feelings and lost agates; and if Sam Rayburn's ear accurately recorded the "ayes" and "noes," the majority went to bed feeling younger than yesterday.

Relaxing Day Starts With Bath

For gals who can't rush to a cool bathtub or a frigid movie during the day, the time to prepare for staying cool is in the early morning.

* * *

The morning shower or bath ought to be followed by a ritual of fragrance, designed to keep a body cool and smelling sweet.

One set of after-bath preparations for summer coolness comes from the maker of a fabulous fragrance, styled the world's most expensive.

In the same scent, the bath powder is extra-fine milled to feel smooth. Also, as always, a scented powder does the same thing for the perfume concentrate that make-up base does for rouge and eye shadow.

It provides a sound background and helps make it last.

The toilet water in the same scent starts the dressing routine. It should be sprayed on in plenty, since toilet water cools as it evaporates.

* * *

Last, of course, comes the perfume. This is a route to feeling cool and giving off a collected, bandbox aroma.

Spoils Picture

Nothing imparts an impoverished look to an otherwise well-dressed woman like a hole in the finger of a glove. If you really can't replace the glove, do a neat darning job.

For the great outdoors and rough and tumble sports these warm flannel-lined sateen suburbanites will prove the solution. The convoy jacket has a black knit collar and overshoe buckle closings and it is lined throughout with a quilted ombre stripe flannel. The matching tapered slacks have the overshoe buckle trim.

Summer Romance Poses Big Question of Real Love

Are you too young to marry?

Before that summer romance sweeps you off your feet, ask yourself, "Is it really love?" Or perhaps you weep that it fizzled out before you had a chance to count the stars.

Too many young people confuse love with "emotional elation," Lester Kirkendall who teaches courses in marriage and family relations at Oregon State College, writes in a current pamphlet.

Sometimes it's really only fun, he says. Just because you have a rollicking good time on a nuber of dates, it doesn't mean you are in love. Two partners who are good at play or recreation aren't necessarily suited to sharing financial responsibilities together. The fact that he is a good dancer won't insure a good marriage if he is a skinflint and you are a spendthrift. A married couple occupied with making a living and rearing children will lack time, desire and money for recreation activities that kept them happy before marriage.

You may confuse love with glamor. If you marry a football hero, just because that's his role or if someone chooses you because you've won a popularity contest, there is no insurance for a happy marriage. The qualities of the individual are more important than the glamor connected with the idea.

THE PHYSICAL ASPECTS

Physical aspects of your relationship may indicate love. Necking and petting parties confuse the issue and one may not be able to tell whether they are entranced with that emotion or the individual.

Love and misery may be confused. Two miserable people, especially those from unhappy homes, are likely to form a union believing their happiness lies in being together.

The desire to escape from family supervision or school work is likely to make love a confusing issue. Parents are likely to forbid marriage or disapprove strongly of it, making a young person want it all the more, moving more rapidly in that direction.

CONFUSED?

Jealousy and possessiveness may be confused as evidence of love. These are never sound emotions upon which marriage may be built because they are signs of insecurity and a desire to control and dominate. Jealousy may be an imprisonment where one partner is cut off completely from others.

Love may be confused with the challenge of competition as in instances where a young man may pursue a girl just because he wants to cut four other fellows out, and then find out after marriage that he really isn't interested.

The desire to hurt someone else by marrying "on the rebound" is another instance of confused love. It is a way of saying to the one who has jilted "you see I don't care for you. I'm marrying someone else."

Material gifts may be a genuine expression of love, but on the other hand they may obligate the receiver or insure the outcome of a relationship that is not based on genuine respect, friendship and love.

Kirkendall also advises going slow when you contemplate marriage if there is a feeling that you must "get married now or never," when the feeling for the marriage is one-sided, when your intention is to reform your partner or when there are strong parental objections.

Walk in Beauty, Stand With Grace

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

We take walking for granted but it is really a most complicated operation. Few women give serious thought to the way they walk although how they walk and stand makes such a great difference in even in their energy.

A beautiful walk is like a song and good posture improves the figure tremendously. No matter how slim you are, if your abdomen protrudes, your bust rests on your ribs, your shoulders are rounded and your neck sticks out forward, your silhouette is not going to be attractive.

You can actually decrease your waist measurement and increase your bust measurement simply by improving your posture.

Now let us think of the manner in which we weave our way along. Do not throw your weight from side to side. Keep your abdomen pulled in and your hips pointing straight ahead.

* * *

The reach should come from the hips and should be forward, not from side to side. Practice this in front of a mirror. Notice how different you look when you reach forward rather than from side to side!

STRAINS MUSCLES

Poor posture and incorrect walking place a strain on the muscles and ligaments and cause us to become tired. Sway back makes the hips appear out of proportion. Rigid knees make the walk jerky.

Reach forward, placing one foot in front of the other. Keep the knees relaxed. Do not overextend them. Your heel strikes the floor first. After that the weight should move along the outer sides of the feet and onto the toe. Give yourself a gentle pushoff from your toes.

Here's a lesson in walking. Try to touch as much of your back to the wall as possible. In order to do this pull your abdomen in and tuck your hips under. Bend knees slightly and push away from the wall.

Practice this: Stand with your back toward the wall and your heels and the back of your head touching the wall. Now try to touch as much of your back to the wall possible. In order to do this you will have to pull your abdomen in and tuck your hips under. Bend the knees very slightly.

Now push away from the wall. This will seem queer at first and will be a bit exaggerated but it will give you the general idea.

If you would like to have my leaflet No. 57 "Grace and Charm," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Plaintive TV Viewer Lists a Few Wistful 'If Only's'

Unexpected Never Happens, Is Plaint; Why Can't Guest Tell Off Smug Emcee?

By RUTH MILLETT

The things I wish would happen on TV never come about.

The guest on the quiz show being talked down to in a patronizing way by a smug master of ceremonies never gets riled up enough to tell the quizmaster off. Wouldn't it be fun if just one contestant let fly with a verbal right to the jaw?

* * *

If only that movie star making a guest appearance would fail to mention his latest picture. Wouldn't that be a welcome change?

Or think what a surprise it would be if the guest from the studio audience who has been asked to tell which side of a model's hair was washed with the sponsor's shampoo and which with some unnamed, inferior brand would only choose the wrong side of the scalp.

It would even be a pleasant change if just once on one of the cops and robber programs the cops were outsmarted by the bad men. (Though, of course, this might not be good for the kiddies who, according to TV people, can see all kinds of violent crimes enacted on the home screen if only the wrongdoers are caught at the end of the 15-minute program.)

EVEN THE GIRLS

Since the older the TV comedian is, the more beautiful are the girls he usually surrounds himself with, wouldn't it be a relief to see just one of them look pained instead of ecstatic when the old boy nuzzles up to her?

Of course, she'd lose her job but what a small price to pay to give the "vast television audience" such a priceless treat.

I've even waited a long time to hear the wife of a husband answering quiz questions say "you dope" to her marital partner instead of smiling sweetly when he misses the question that would have given her a mink coat.

But the unexpected never happens on TV. Even the country's four and five-year-olds can predict with certainty just what is going to occur next.

Life Can't Lick Cheerful Outlook

By ANNE HEYWOOD

La Rochefoucauld says, "Philosophy triumphs easily over past evils and future evils, but present evils triumph over it."

All too often, of course, that is true. We're going along all right, with a pretty good, workable philosophy.

Then something catastrophic happens and our philosophy flies out the window.

But the truly wise—and the truly successful—do manage somehow to hold on to the basic philosophy even when the going gets rough. And if they do, they find that the rough periods pass faster and come less frequently.

ILLUSTRATES POINT

I remember a woman I knew years ago who illustrated this perfectly. She was a young woman, serene and contented with her good life.

All of a sudden, everything went wrong.

Her husband died after a long illness. Her daughter got rheumatic fever and had to be hospitalized. Her little house, which was her pride and joy, mostly because she loved the garden, had to be sold to pay debts.

She found a small apartment in the city and got a job.

REAL SERENITY

I used to see her, from time to time, and I'd marvel at her serenity. To look at her, you'd think she hadn't a trouble in the world. Yet she had plenty.

There was the uncertainty of whether her daughter would ever really get well; her great loneliness for her husband, whom she had adored; and her penny-pinching dreary way of life.

I asked her what was her secret and she said, "I keep too busy to be lonely and too busy to think. This isn't the time for me to think. If I did, I'd get bitter and that would accomplish nothing.

"I have a real routine, which fills every minute of the day.

WALKS TO WORK

"I do all the housework in the early morning. Then I walk to work and work as hard as I can.

"After a quick sandwich, I spend lunchtime at the florist shop near our office. I love all growing things and I miss my garden fiercely. But the florist and I have become friends and he lets me browse around his shop.

"Just to smell the plants, and see them growing, reminds me that Nature is a pretty efficient operator. It also makes me feel that little Nancy will probably get well.

"Then," she went on, "I work at the office all afternoon. In the evening, I go to the hospital and stay with Nancy until her bedtime. When I get home, I have a bite to eat and, by that time, I'm so tired I really sleep."

I saw this same woman several months ago. Her Nancy did indeed get well and is in college now.

My friend's job developed into something pretty big and interesting. And, the day after her 40th birthday, she married a wonderful man.

In short, the reason for sticking with your philosophy and refusing to let life get you down is not because it's the noble thing to do, but because it's the sure road to real happiness.

For fall, the look for junior figures avoids waistline definition. High-waisted dresses give young figures a supple, casual grace.

The 1912 look for juniors is a far cry from the tiny waisted, bouffant skirted silhouette. The high-waisted dresses give a supple, casual grace on young figures and certainly conceal any lumps and bumps around the waist and hips.

Planning Big Party?

In preparing meals for large crowds you can plan on 10 quarts of ice cream serving 100 portions of pie ala mode, if a small dipper is used. Two quarts of heavy whipping cream, whipped, will top 100 desserts.

Here's a smart pencil-slim skirt to wear all winter with blouses and sweaters. And it requires just a yard of 54-inch in the smaller sizes!

Prime 'Ribs' A La Jessel

George Jessel, famed master of ceremonies and unofficial "toastmaster general of the United States," is writing on the lighter side of events at the Democratic National Convention.

By GEORGE JESSEL

CHICAGO (INS) — Things have progressed to the point where I am not certain who will win the nomination but I do know each of the losers will write a book.

* * *

The fireworks are now on. The civil rights plank in the party platform was the fuse. Georgia and South Carolina and Alabama have stopped talking to New York and Michigan and all of the good-time-Charlie-mood that prevailed at Perle's picnic vanished like the bubbles of her pink champagne.

But, after all the speeches about how great every Democrat was and is that I've listened for hours these past days, it was a pleasure to hear someone get panned a bit—that is, someone besides a member of the opposite party. Speeches of nothing but compliments can get very boring . . . I know because I've made too many.

Which reminds me of a story . . . and why not. Seeing the ace of hearts in a deck of cards would remind me of a story. This literary laughter has to do with an elderly congressman who took his grandson to the art institute the other day and they were looking at a painting of Daniel in the lion's den.

WHY THE SMILE?

The congressman related to junior the significance of the painting and, when he finished, the lad inquired why Daniel was smiling in the face of all that danger. The patriarch acknowledged that Daniel was smiling and it was due to the fact that he knew that, after the dinner, there would be no speeches.

Up to now at the convention, all the activity has been in the caucus rooms. Which caucus will 'walk-us' or will there be unity, is the question of the moment. My theory is that before you should assign seats in the automobile to your children, it's wiser if you first buy the auto.

In other words, try to win the election to which you have pointed your nominee. Then do the best you may with hard work, platforms, planks and nails. Don't do the nailing now, for if you find it necessary to pull the nail out later, a big hole will remain.

MRS. H. S. HOLESWORTH

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Bennett of Oster road announce the marriage of their daughter, Sharon Elaine, to Herbert Steven Holesworth. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Claude Holesworth of Lake Orion. They were married Aug. 6 at Covington, Ky. and are making their home on Norton street.

Which brings me to the confession that I wouldn't dare predict who will be elected in November. I'm still looking for that Chinaman who could have beaten Truman in a walk in 1948.

Worth While Keeping Rules for Safe Driving

CHICAGO (INS) — Brush up on how to enjoy your vacation, but also brush up on how to come back safely.

Statistics compiled by the National Safety Council show that 9,870 persons died in highway accidents during June, July and August last year.

* * *

Since these are the best weather months of the year, most Americans drive to their vacations and, traffic experts estimate, the average round trip for such excrusions is 1,000 miles.

Many families drive at night to avoid traffic and to have more time at vacation sites. Night driving is hazardous, especially in areas where roads are not yet marked by reflectorized signs, warnings and center lines.

Here are some rules to follow in driving as compiled by traffic experts:

1. Plan your trip to allow for frequent rest periods, meals and adequate rest on overnight trips.
2. Check your car in advance, with special attention to lights, windshield wipers, tires and brakes.

* * *

3. Observe traffic laws and speed limits—but adjust your speed downward from the limits if fog, rain or other adverse conditions prevail.
4. Don't drive if you're tired, irritated or nervous—and, of course, if you've had anything alcoholic to drink.

Make Party Treat

For a party treat, garnish ice cream with candies, toasted coconut, chocolate shavings or fruit. A variety of flavor and color combinations may be served in one dish.

Delegates Keep Fast Pace

CHICAGO (INS) — The women delegates at the Democratic National Convention don't walk—they run. They are on that kind of split-second schedule.

Women romped spiritedly from hotel to hotel at a faster pace than if they were headed for super-duper sales. It was a round of meeting after meeting with their own state delegations and with orders to talk over politics, strategy, candidates and rumors.

"Come upstairs in five minutes, I'll ride down the elevator with you and we'll grab a taxi across the loop," said pert blonde Liz Snyder of Montebello, Calif.

The only woman state chairman of the Democratic Party, Mrs. Snyder was rushing from a meeting with her California group to a windup session of the party's platform committee.

Keeping up with Mrs. Snyder is like chasing after a track star.

ON THE RUN

The second the taxi stopped, she leaped out—on the run — calling back that, "It was nice talking to you."

* * *

In the taxi, Mrs. Synder said that she has been averaging five hours of sleep a night and has had only "two full meals." With a wry smile, she said:

"My husband has been here since Sunday and we have yet to find time to have even one meal together."

Mrs. Snyder's husband, Nathan, is a lawyer and is in Chicago only as a spectator.

He well might have stayed in California. Mrs. Snyder said: "I left my nine-year-old daughter home and she is getting to see me just as much as her father — on television."

Investigate Blaze in Southfield School

SOUTHFIELD TOWNSHIP — Fire Chief Alfred Kruck today was investigating the scene of a fire that heavily damaged the auditorium of a nearly-complete addition to McKinley Elementary School at Ten Mile and Southfield Roads last night.

Meanwhile Supt. of Schools Glenn Schoenhals faced the problems of re-construction of the room, which would have been opened, along with five new classrooms, on Sept. 4.

The blaze did heavy damage, according to Kruck, and he gave a preliminary estimate of $5,000 before his daylight investigation this morning.

He was charged with careless use of firearms and transferred to Oakland County Jail.

Officers said Hollowell admitted firing a 30-30 rifle which struck Charles E. McWright, 30, of the same address in the right leg.

Hollowell said he was practicing loading when the gun went off, injuring McWright who was standing outside the front door.

Ousted Churchgoer Presses Assault Suit

Chester A. Waugh, 36, of 55 Newberry St., "disfellowshiped" member of Jehovah's Witnesses Church brought to court Austin J. Kizer, of 733 E. Pike St., this morning on assault and battery charges.

Kizer pleaded not guilty. The charges accuse him of kicking Waugh while "forcibly evicting" him from services at the Witnesses Church, 600 E. Pike St., last Thursday night.

Trial for Kizer was set by Judge Cecil McCallum for Aug. 30.

Waugh claims the Witnesses "disfellowshiped" him in 1954. He charges church members have conspired to prevent his worshiping in the church after he wrote a letter charging a Pontiac elder with usurping the authority of the church's governing body.

Southfield Plans Another School

Schedule Lists Opening of 4 Additions; Board Buys 4 Sites

SOUTHFIELD — Construction bids on a new 13-classroom elementary school will be considered by the school board here Sept. 17.

The school, to be built on Twelve Mile road at an estimated cost of $300,000, will use the last of the three and a half million bond issue approved by voters last year.

Supt. Glenn Schoenhals said that the projects proposed by the board when the money was first received are either completed or well on the way.

Schoenhals said that the new Lederly school, Nine Mile and Evergreen, has been completed. Additions to McKinley and Brace schools are scheduled to be completed by September. The Anglin school addition will be completed by the end of the year, and the swimming pool addition to the high school is now under construction.

Effect of a fire last night on the McKinley completion date was not available this morning, Schoenhals said.

Four new school sites have been purchased and if the construction bids are not more than the anticipated $400,000, some money will be available for additional sites, he said.

The board named Alfred Chambers as acting assistant principal at Southfield No. 10 to replace William Addock who is new principal at the Lederle School.

110 Church Youngsters Try Out Building

Open Dorm to Proud Lake Campers

By REBA HEINTZELMAN
Milford Correspondent

MILFORD—Another dormitory to accommodate 66 more youngsters, was opened this week, at the 400-acre Proud Lake Recreation camp near Milford.

The first group to use the new building includes 110 children from eight different church organizations in the lower Michigan area. They will live in the fabulous day-camp for three weeks and be under the direction of R. Jack Wennell, pastor of Grace Bible School at Owosso.

The new dorm is the second one to be completed in an overall master plan, which will take approximately five years to complete, according to park manager, Al Masini. Besides the two dormitories, there is a huge activities building and mess hall.

Built entirely by local State Conservation personnel, the three buildings are situated a mile and a half from the main highway in a landscaped area close to the Huron River.

Cost of the newly completed building was $30,000—only because conservation men constructed it. Masini said that the lowest original building costs submitted by professional contractors were $60,000 for each building.

Along with the present group there are four adult staff members, plus two cooks. Conservation instructors are on hand at all times to show the children handicraft, care of trees and various other outdoor activities.

AT PROUD LAKE—Youngsters at Proud Lake Recreation Camp are using the new building just opened. Beside its fireplace, the Rev. R. Jack Wennell gives last minute instructions to Dick Gothe of Plymouth, Glen Primrose of Detroit, and Sherry Mull of Ypsilanti for activities there.

3 Fail to Fire City Manager

Madison Heights Unit Retains Smith in Battle Over Appointment

MADISON HEIGHTS — City Manager Donald Smith's job survived an onslaught last night by two council members.

Councilman Darrel Davis moved at the regular council meeting last night to fire the manager. Seconded by Councilwoman Virginia M. Solberg, the motion was defeated four to three.

Smith is under fire by Council members Davis and Solberg and Mayor Lloyd H. Ferguson for the swearing in of James L. Kealing as a civil service commissioner.

A special meeting on Tuesday on the subject was called by Mayor Ferguson but was held over until next week.

Kealing, of 519 Belaire, won an appointment on the civil service commission Aug. 1 by a four-three vote of the council.

The mayor and Councilmembers Davis and Solberg opposed the appointment, asking more time to consider it.

Ferguson contends that Kealing fails to conform to a state law which requires three year's residence before being able to be a commissioner. Kealing has lived in there about a year and a half.

Ferguson said this morning that he had asked city Clerk Myrtle Chamberlain Aug. 2 not to swear in Kealing. However Mrs. Chamberlain swore him in Aug. 7, claiming she could not recall Ferguson's request.

Offering Site for Two Schools

Walled Lake Unit Eyes Housing Group's Offer of 27 Acres

WALLED LAKE — At a meeting of the Walled Lake Board of Education this week, a representative of the Oakland Housing planning board was present to offer the board an opportunity to purchase a site for a future junior high school and an elementary school.

* * *

Walter Horstman and Superintendent Clifford H. Smart were named to negotiate for the purchase of 27 acres for a future junior high school and another eight acres for an elementary school.

The Oakland Housing property is located on Commerce road both east and west of Union Lake road.

In other business the board discussed St. William's school transportation problems. The board was asked to transport some of the students living in certain areas. However since school starting times do not coincide, the board asked a transportation map using the St. William's equipment and promised further discussion.

Approval of a custodial and maintenance salary schedule was given as well as that for cooks.

Teaching contracts were signed for six teachers. Superintendent Smart still has several lower elementary vacancies, including one in kindergarten, to fill and would like to have applicants who are qualified for these positions contact him.

Duane Fisher was named principal of Glengary and Wixom schools. New attendance officer Donald Milligan replaces the late Frank Wigent.

The board announced that children living in certain areas of the new Decker road school would walk to school. These include those residing on both sides of Decker road from the railroad to South Commerce, those on Pontiac trail from Welch to South Commerce, and those in the Quinif subdivision.

The board will ask the city of Walled Lake to open Bolton street, at least to pedestrian traffic, so that children need not cross Pontiac trail to get to the Decker school.

Despite Brewing Suez Crisis

Cairo Quietest Spot in Middle East

By CHARLES P. ARNOT

CAIRO (INS) — An international storm is roaring today on its Suez doorstep, but Cairo—scorched city of a thousand minarets—has never been quieter or more polite.

Tomorrow?

High Egyptians say frankly and crisply it all depends on the West—on the London canal conference — on whatever orders London and Paris might flash to their troop-laden warships in the eastern Mediterranean.

Any attempt to wrest Egypt's hold on the Suez by force could unleash the full fury of nationalistic frenzy against 20,000 British, American and French nationals living in the country.

They know it and so do the Egyptians.

CALMNESS IN CAIRO

But for the moment, western residents of Cairo probably are safer than thousands who daily challenge the surging traffic of Los Angeles or New York.

It is an unwritten law in the awakening Middle East that no major demonstration — certainly outbreaks against foreigners—are ever spontaneous.

They just don't happen without the specific approval, open or otherwise, of high authority.

The last thing Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser wants, and probably the thing he fears most, is some incident along the canal that could give the West fresh fuel for its demand that the Suez be internationalized because of Nasser's irresponsibility.

TROUBLE AVOIDED

"Do you notice how polite everyone in Cairo is these days to foreigners?" an Egyptian official asked correspondents. "That's because the word has spread to keep out of trouble and to keep things quiet."

He added:

"Nasser wouldn't hesitate to chop off the head of anyone who tried to stir up trouble right now."

The only outward noise across dusty Cairo today is the usual din of camel bells and the agonizing horn tooting in teeming traffic.

But behind the scenes, there is a burst of activity on three fronts to counter possible new Big Three strategy at the London conference.

CRITICAL PLEDGE

The most critical — and mostly officially hushed — problem centers around Nasser's pledge to keep the canal operating despite what the Egyptians call "foreign intrigue interference." To keep this pledge, Cairo has flashed an "SOS" for more canal pilots.

Meanwhile, the Arab world is bristling with preparations for a general strike tomorrow that may idle 10 to 15 million workers. The strike was called to protest the London meeting.

Also, the Egyptian foreign ministry has plunged ahead with a second round of sales talks in an effort to convince envoys of nations invited to London that the only solution to the Suez crisis is the one Nasser outlined last Sunday.

The new nationalized canal authority dropped its first public hint of serious operating trouble by announcing that convoys through the waterway were being reduced from four to three.

Authorities were secretive about where they were looking for pilots, but reportedly they were turning to the Soviet bloc.

Dewey Backs Nixon After Talk With Ike

WASHINGTON (INS) — Thomas E. Dewey declared after talking with President Eisenhower yesterday he is "quite confident" that Richard M. Nixon will be renominated as the GOP candidate for vice president.

* * *

The former New York governor, a staunch Nixon supporter, declined to say whether he and Eisenhower discussed the vice presidential situation during their 45-minute talk at the White House.

But he scoffed at a statement by Harold E. Stassen, chief sponsor of the "Dump Nixon" move, that Dewey and other Republican leaders will come around to Stassen's views on the need for a stronger vice presidential candidate.

* * *

Dewey said of Stassen's remark at a news conference:

"That would require a radical and unforeseeable change in my thinking."

John McCormack: 'The Man in the Middle'

By JAMES LEE

CHICAGO (INS)—The "Man in the Middle" of the Democrats' civil rights drama is a deceptively mild-mannered Boston Irishman who likes a fight better than Mrs. Murphy liked chowder.

He is John W. McCormack, Democratic floor leader of the House of Representatives, sometimes called Speaker Sam Rayburn's "crown prince," a congressman for 30 years, a fellow who lives, breathes, eats and drinks politics.

McCormack belongs to the hard-bitten "Last Hurrah" school and thrives on savage battles between strong-minded men.

But, as chairman of the platform committee which labored mightily and brought forth what it hoped would be a mousy enough civil rights declaration to frighten no one, he wanted peace, not war.

John McCormack, his customarily neatly-slicked gray hair tousled, his eyes bloodshot from weariness undisguised by his glasses, his pockets crammed with top party secrets, pleaded all day yesterday, as he had done for the last 10 days, for "Harmony, Boys, Harmony."

AN EXPLOSION?

The 65-year-old Bostonian's own future was at stake. If he brought the platform home without a wild fight, he could be sure of high-level status for years to come. If an explosion occurred, it could prove disastrously damaging to one of his most cherished dreams.

Some day, when his—and the Democrats'—beloved "Mr. Sam" decides he wants to join old Jack Garner in cracker-barrel retirement down in Texas, McCormack wants to be Speaker of the House.

In his book, there is no better job for a Catholic lad who grew up amid the bruising struggles of Boston politics.

BARBS ARE FAMOUS

This has been one of the toughest weeks McCormack has ever spent in a political career that began when he started "ward heeling" in Boston in 1913 as a fledgling lawyer with his eye on the congressional seat he won after apprenticeship in the Massachusetts legislature.

His tongue is one of the sharpest in Congress. His barbs are famous. His needle has punctured the egos of some of the most flamboyant windbags in Washington. But all week long, McCormack has restrained himself, counseling "Harmony, Boys, Harmony."

He has sweet-talked the Southerners, he has argued himself hoarse trying to convince his fellow Northern Liberals that they must give as well as take, and he has kept his Irish temper corked.

Between his toilsome platform duties and his other chores, McCormack, favorite son of the Massachusetts delegation, found time to whisper a word here and a word there to counter Harry Truman's attempt to sabotage Adlai Stevenson.

McCormack's moves, never made without shrewdness, are aimed toward a day when, he hopes, Sam Rayburn will drape an arm around his well-tailored shoulders and say to him, "John, I'm moving out and you're moving in—you're my choice as the new speaker of the House."

Forest Fires Down

LANSING (AP)—Only three forest fires damaging a total of slightly more than five acres were reported during the past week by the state Conservation Department. The season's total to date is 429 fires damaging 2,281 acres.

BY BRUNO KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

You can't blame Ronnie Knox, All-America prospect from UCLA for quitting the Uclan campus in favor of the Canadian pros.

It's a wonder all of the other football players who have been discredited in the Pacific Coast Conference don't pick up their bags and leave.

There's nothing democratic about the PCC policy which labels the individual guilty until he proves himself innocent.

That's what the Pacific league has done. It has penalized all of the players who supposedly received excessive subsidization from alumni until each of the players can prove he did not receive slush fund gifts from loyal men of their alma mater.

★ ★ ★

To top off the ridiculous method of approach, the PCC has now actually gone sublime.

Latest ruling of the conference will permit players, who were previously penalized by being ruled ineligible for one year, to play in five games next season.

These five games must be participation in five consecutive games and not a choice of five separate games.

Sounds a bit juvenile for a group of educators to come out with such a rule.

They are asking a player to lose an entire season of eligibility for playing a half a season.

Besides this, why should they penalize the players? Why don't they make the schools responsible?

★ ★ ★

Players like Ronnie Knox won't hurt the status of the Pacific Coast Conference. It's no wonder Knox is leaving. He can play a full season for a handsome check rather than five games in which he will be pointed to as being one of the blacklisted.

U OF D SPOKE TOO SOON

University of Detroit may now have realized it spoke prematurely about leaving the Missouri Valley Conference. The Titan bosses figured Cincinnati and Marquette and possibly a few other schools would go along in forming a new conference.

★ ★ ★

But now Cincinnati is about ready to enter the Missouri Valley and Marquette is also in line.

The vote on Cincinnati should take place within three weeks.

Now the objective seems to be a two division conference. In football it would be Detroit, Cincinnati, Marquette and Bradley in the Northern Division and Tulsa, Oklahoma A&M, Wichita and Houston in the Southern Division. This is a similarity to the Pacific Coast Conference.

With Houston aiming at an exit, add Drake as the Southern replacement and with the addition of St. Louis in basketball, this will give you the roughest basketball circuit in the country.

Many claim it is the toughest cage loop right now.

THE BIG IF — Holding the great part of the Detroit Lions' future in balance is Texan Bobby Layne who for two seasons was hampered with an ailing arm. Layne will be at quarterback against the Steelers in Toledo with an arm which he says is "in pretty good shape."

Lions Ready for 1st Dress Rehearsal

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

YPSILANTI—The curtain for the dress rehearsal part of the football season goes up for the fastest turnabout team in National Football League history.

Conference champions in 1952, '53, '54 and cellar dwellers in 1955, the Detroit Lions open the 1956 pre-season schedule tomorrow in Toledo's Glass Bowl against the Pittsburgh Steelers of the Eastern Division.

* * *

Coach Buddy Parker said he plans to take the entire 48-man squad to Toledo and throughout the entire pre-season calender he will give all the rookies every opportunity to push any of the veterans out of positions.

"Of course we will play all of the rookies to a point where we don't hand the game away on a silver platter," said Parker, "as we still want to win."

Missing from the squad will be end Jimmy Cain, a six-year veteran of the National Football League, who was released yesterday on waivers. He came to the Lions in 1950 after a year with the Chicago Cardinals.

Parker isn't too worried about his defensive setup, but the makeshift backfield has created a problem.

* * *

Big Leon Hart will start at fullback with Bobby Layne and Harry Gilmer sharing equally the quarterback duties. Defensive back Bill Stits will take one of the halfback posts but with Gene Gedman hampered with a leg injury, Parker plans on using Jim Doran as a slot back.

This is a flanker spot in the backfield, inside a flanked end and outside the offensive tackle.

The offensive line will have the familiar faces of Dorne Dibble and Jug Girard at ends, Lou Creekmur and Jim Salsbury at tackle, Charlie Ane at center, Harley Sewell at left guard and Oliver Spencer, a service returnee, the lone newcomer at right guard.

Limited action is slated for the three All-Star game performers, Hopalong Cassady, Don McIlhenny and Jerry Riechow. Cassady's entry is somewhat doubtful due to a heel injury sustained in the All-Star training camp.

The Steelers, who have only been in training for the last week, will have former U of D ace Teddy Marchibroda at the quarterback slot.

Newly acquired Jack Scarbath from Maryland is expected to follow Marchibroda with the signals.

* * *

Ex-MSU star Lynn Chandnois will be on the sidelines with an injury and Lou Baldacci from rival Michigan will be in the right half post for the Steelers.

Game time tomorrow is 8:30 p.m. It is a charity contest being sponsored by the Toledo BPOE No. 53, and it will mark the Lions first pre-season game in the Ohio city.

Left to right: Gene Cronin, highly praised rookie from the College of Pacific; Bob Miller, veteran from the University of Virginia; Ray Krouse, former Maryland star obtained recently in a trade from the New York Giants and Darris McCord, a second year holdover from the University of Tennessee. Tomorrow night's game in the Toledo Glass Bowl is the first pre-season encounter for both teams.

Jewelers Win 1-Run Shutout

McConner Stops Foes in Roseville Battle With Single Hit

Perc McConner bore down last night at Roseville, in the state MSA Class AA softball tourney and as a result Shaw's Jewelers came home with a neat 1-0 victory over Detroit Reisterers. Reisterers dumped the city champs in a previous game and the one-hitter Perc tossed at them last night was sweet revenge. It also kept alive the Jewelers' chances for the title.

Len Martz' single in the 1st frame was all the Detroiters got. After that McConner, backed by good fielding, made it a 3-up-3-down parade rest of the way.

Not a single ball was hit to the outfield by Reisterers. On the other hand, Shaw's touched Dan Citrone for three safeties, two by the runner who scored the winning (and only) run of the contest. Louie Seay went home on an error and infield play in the 4th, after hitting safely. He got another in the 6th. Mullin got a 1st inning single.

Perc struck out seven, Citrone two.

Ex-Tiger's Dad Dies

CHICAGO (AP)—William Kolloway, 88, father of former Chicago White Sox infielder Don Kolloway, died yesterday. He was a retired steel worker.

In addition to his son, Don, who also once played for the Detroit Tigers, Kolloway is survived by his widow, two sons and five daughters.

Miss Woodford was the first American thoroughbred to win $100,000. She won 37 of her 48 races from 1822 to 1886.

Both Teams Get 6 Hits

Lary Holds Tribe, 1-0

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Detroit Tigers won their 4th game in a row last night, taking a 1-0 decision from the Cleveland Indians on Frank Lary's six-hit pitching and Harvey Kuenn's 8th inning double.

The loss dropped the 2nd place Indians 10½ games back of the league-leading New York Yankees, and the victory moved the Tigers near the .500 mark—54-58—in 5th place.

It was the second tight squeeze past Cleveland in as many nights for Detroit. The Tigers, who swept the last two games of a home stand against the Chicago White Sox, beat the Indians 6-4 in 15 innings Tuesday.

They switched to a daytime contest today, with Billy Hoeft (14-9) scheduled to oppose Cleveland's strikeout ace, Herb Score (12-7).

* * *

Detroit's winning run last night came on Bill Tuttle's single through short, Frank Bolling's infield out that advanced Tuttle to second and Kuenn's double to left. Kuenn's blow was the only extra base one of the night.

The 25-year-old Lary evened his season's record at 12-12, but four walks and three Detroit errors got him into trouble several times. He was, however, able to wiggle out every time without a score and posted his first 1956 shutout.

Bob Lemon, who opposed Lary, also gave up only six hits, two of them to Bolling. Had he won, the 35-year-old righthander would have registered his 197th major league victory. As it was, he ended up 15-10 for the season.

* * *

Tuttle's single led off the 8th. But Lemon struck out Lary after Bolling bobbled out. It was then Kuenn doubled. Earl Torgeson rolled out to end the inning, and the night's scoring was done.

Cleveland threatened seriously in the seventh, when two walks and an error by Bob Kennedy loaded the bases, but Lary got the side out by whiffing Al Smith.

In all, the Indians left 10 men stranded; the Tigers five.

Charley Maxwell, suffering from a boil on his face, and Ray Boone, whose bum knee was acting up again, missed last night's game.

Vic Wertz, Cleveland first baseman and a one-time Tiger, missed the game because of an attack of indigestion. He was replaced by Preston Ward.

Marlene Bauer Is Top Threat

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Marlene Bauer Hagge, winner of the recent "World" tournament at Tam O'Shanter, is one of the top threats to defending champion Louise Suggs in the $5,000 Norwood Hills Women's Invitational Open which starts today.

* * *

The field includes 10 of the 11 top finishers in the women pro's division of the world tourney. Miss Suggs won the All-American at Tam O'Shanter a week earlier.

Mrs. Hagge is the leading money winer this year among the women pros.

Among the late entries for the 72-hole Norwood tournament were five standouts: Jackie Yates of Honolulu, second among women amateurs at the world tourney; Jean Hopkins of Cleveland; Carole Jo Kabler of Sutherlin, Ore.; Wanda Sanches of Baton Rouge, La.; and Mrs. Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, wife of the former amateur champion.

Acceptance of bids by Alice Bauer, Peggy Kirk Bell, Jo Ann Prentice and Betty Bush increased the field to 20.

Griff's Meets Local 594

City Finals Friday

By BILL CORNWELL

The CIO Local 594 fought its way into the finals of the Class A City Baseball League playoffs Wednesday night by taking a 4-1 overtime decision from Oliver Buick at Wisner Field.

The Union team earned its place in the final round on the strength of a 3-run uprising in the top half of the 8th inning. Griff's Grill and the CIO will clash on the Wisner diamond Friday at 5:30 p.m. to determine the playoff winner.

Don Ernst, who relieved starting pitcher Ken Campbell after the latter was removed for a pinch-hitter in the 7th, was the victim of the 8th-inning explosion.

* * *

Back-to-back singles by pitcher Jim Wagner and Kim Conroy, two damaging errors, a wild pitch by Ernst and another single by Bill Taylor resulted in three tallies to wrap up the verdict.

* * *

Singles by Wagner and Conroy, along with another error, gave the CIO its 1st run in the opening stanza. The Buick club knotted the count in the bottom of the 7th to force the contest into extra innings.

Pinch-batter Brent Falbo singled, Ted Carlson was hit by a pitched ball and Jim Berg walked to load the bases. Wagner relieved starting pitcher Jerry Kruskie at that point and DeWayne Sheffer, sticking for Campbell, scored Falbo with the tying run on a fly ball to left field.

Wagner, who was credited with the win, and Kruskie limited Oliver to four hits. The CIO made eight safeties off Campbell and Ernst. Wagner and Conroy each collecting three. Ernst was the losing pitcher.

CIO 594	100 000 03—4 8 2
Oliver	000 000 10—1 4 4

Kruskie, Wagner and Sebring; Campbell, Ernst and Berg.

Baptists Enter Softball Final

It was Glenn (Wimpy) Johnson night Wednesday at Drayton Plains as the star right-hander pitched and batted Emmanuel Baptist to a 4-0 victory over Drayton Drug in the semifinal round of the Waterford League softball playoffs.

Johnson not only hurled a masterful two-hit shutout, but he drove in three of his team's four runs as well. His single in the 3rd inning accounted for two. Then, in the 5th, he knocked in the last run with a single after an error had tallied another.

The setback eliminated Drayton and pushed the Baptist club into the finals against Lakeland Pharmacy. The playoff finals will now recess until next Tuesday to make room for the Class C district tournament, which starts tonight in the Drayton Plains ball park.

Drayton	000 000 0—0 2 3

Johnson and Keith; Nelson, Goulet and Shell.

Drayton Drug Wins in Junior Softball

Drayton Drug won the Waterford Junior League softball playoffs last night with a 3-2 extra-inning verdict over Associates Discount at Drayton Plains.

Pitcher Jim Preston's lead-off single, a sacrifice, and a single by Willie Wilton scored the winning run in the 10th inning. Dick Shell was the loser while Preston hurled the distance for Drayton.

Rogers Electric erupted with four runs in the 7th stanza to nose out Jack's Service, 4-3, in a Little League playoff game at Williams Lake School. A single by Bill Fleming tallied the tying and winning runs.

Two members of the New York Football Giants this year will mark their ninth season in pro football. They are Charley Conerly and Emlen Tunnell.

Miranda's Luck Still All Bad at the Plate

BALTIMORE (AP) — Baltimore Oriole shortstop Willie Miranda's luck at the plate continued all bad last night as he went hitless in his 10th straight game.

* * *

Miranda, who is batting .218, hasn't had a hit since Aug. 4, when he went 1-4 against the White Sox.

* * *

Since then he's been at bat 32 times with nary a bingle. Last night against Washington it was the same old story: 0 for 4.

He's the only Oriole who has played in all 112 of the club's games. He has 81 hits in 371 at bats and has driven in 31 runs.

Boys' Club Within 1 Tilt of Junior Legion's Title

Boys' Club of Pontiac won its 8th Junior American Legion Baseball league contest yesterday and is now within one game of the district title. And this is the club's 1st year in the circuit.

Bill Coulacos' outfit stopped the good Rochester club 6-3 at Washington Junior High's field after blowing the game wide open in the 5th. PBC was trailing at the time 3-2, but never was caught afterwards.

Birmingham and Berkley engaged in an exciting 7-inning 4-4 tie, at Birmingham. Game was called in the 7th account of darkness. It may be replayed as part of a double bill for Birmingham on Sunday, at Berkley where Pontiac is slated to meet Berkley in a 1 p.m. tilt. A win for Pontiac would clinch the district title.

Milford's Huron Valley club won its game with Clawson in the 1st inning with a 3-run blast. Final count, in the game at Milford, was 8-2. Dave Gaddis gave up only three hits to eight for Milford. Milford plays Clawson again tonight, at Clawson in a rained-out makeup.

Rochester got three fast runs in the 1st inning last night to give PBC a rough time. Pitching wildness and an error accounted for the tallies. Boy's Club got two back in the 2nd on Chuck Graves' single, a stolen base, walk, infield play and run-producing infield out. Three consecutive hits in the 4th went for naught.

* * *

Tying run in the 5th was walked. Then with the bags still filled, Graves hit one to center, scoring Ken McLintock and Chuck McIlreth. PBC added one more in the 6th. Jim Skinner pitched fine ball after the shaky 1st frame, retiring 15 batters in a row up to the 7th. Game was his 4th straight win.

Good pitching also marked the Birmingham-Berkley game. Both Dick Cloonan for Birmingham and Bernard did fine jobs. Score was tied twice, at 2-2 in the 3rd, and 3-3 in the 5th before the final 4-4 knot at the end of the 7th.

* * *

Birmingham went ahead 4-3 at top of the 7th, but with two out Berkley's Neubrecht drove in the tying run. Tom Roper struck out with the winning tally on the bags. Each club got six hits.

Low Against Yanks

BOSTON (AP)—Although he's batting a nifty .350 for the year, Ted Williams has compiled an unimpressive .179 average against the New York Yankees. The Boston Red Sox slugger has managed only five hits in 28 at bats versus the Bombers' pitching. He went hitless in three official trips yesterday.

NUMBER'S UP — Bert Rechichar of the Baltimore Colts wears the jersey with a shoulder number that will more easily identify National Football League players.

DDGA Program Makes Record Caddie Awards

A record total of 66 caddies from golf clubs in the Detroit area will enroll in various colleges next month under the Detroit District Golf Association's expanding Standish-Evans Scholarship program administered by the Western Golf Association.

Thirty-seven of the boys will be returning upperclassmen and 29 are newly appointed scholars.

The applicants were interviewed by the DDGA Scholarship Committee of which C. L. Miller, Orchard Lake Country Club, is chairman.

The 29 new scholarships were taken from a total of 50 nominated by Detroit area country clubs.

Sixteen were awarded scholarships to the University of Michigan, 11 to Michigan State University and two to Marquette University.

The UM award winners will live in the DDGA's Evans Scholars' Standish House in Ann Arbor, and the MSU recipients will reside in the Evans quarters in Spartan Hall.

Western Golf Association's new Evans chapter house at Marquette University will house two of the winners.

Each scholarship covers full tuition and room-rent costs at each of the universities.

Season Long Rivals at Detroit Course

DETROIT—The flames of a season-long rivalry will be fanned hotter Saturday as the Detroit Race Course features the $10,000 added Bull Dog Stakes, an allowance race for three-year-olds.

Heading the list of likely starters are Detroit T. A. Grissom's Crown Marble, and Even Stroke, owned by Mrs. George C. White, of Nashville, Tennessee. There's always plenty of added interest each time these two meet in the same race.

The two finished in a dead heat on May 24, after bumping each other around in the homestretch. Crown Marble was disqualified and placed second in that race.

Spahn Card Nemesis

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Cards probably haven't seen the last of Warren Spahn for the season. The veteran Milwaukee lefthander, who beat the Redbirds 4-1 last night, now has a 43-23 lifetime record against them. With eight games left to play between the clubs, Spahn should get the call at least twice.

Beat East Stars, 23-7

West Prep Gridders Win

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—It was just too much Texas for the East in the "All-American" High School football game last night.

The West—playing as if it had practiced together for a season instead of three days—powered and passed its way to an easy 23-7 victory over the East for its first victory since the game was inaugurated in 1949.

Outstanding players were plentiful on the West squad but most credit goes to four tall citizens of Texas—two quarterbacks and two coaches.

The quarterbacks were Charles Milstead of Tyler and Larry Dueitt of Corpus Christi, who ordered up a dazzling display of wide-open, Texas style offense that left the East befuddled and 9,162 fans roaring approval.

$7,500 Feature Tonight

DETROIT (AP)—The $7,500 Grahagan Pace features a nine-race harness program tonight at Hazel Park.

Sharon Wayne won the feature pace in 2:07 2-5 last night, while Argo Volo won the feature trot in 2:07 3-5. A crowd of 5,576 wagered $294,883.

Watrous Combination Wins Pro-Member Test

Combining with three partners in a "metro" best-ball, pro-members golf tourney at Red Run yesterday, Joe Watrous sparked the quartet to a winning count of 59, a 13-under par effort (28-31).

Playing with Watrous (Franklin Hills assistant pro) were Don Dawson, Fred Wirth and John Parker.

Ben Lula teamed with George Wilson, Hank Willey and Don Wolcott for 2nd place with a 30-30—60 card. Day's best individual round was Bob Inman's (Red Run assistant) 67, while Buddy Badger of Bloomfield Hills, playing with Ray Maguire (Birmingham CC pro), Al Badger and Watson Brown carded the best amateur round, 71.

Jimmy Piersall Admits Acting Like Bush Leaguer

NEW YORK (AP)—Jimmy Piersall admitted today he acted like a bush leaguer when an official scorer ruled he was not entitled to a base hit during yesterday's game between Boston and New York at Yankee Stadium. The Yankees won 6-4 for their second straight over Boston.

The brilliant but temperamental Red Sox outfielder insisted, however, he had a right to be peeved over the second-inning decision which he claimed was so raw that even the Yankee players felt inclined to commiserate with him.

Piersall demonstrated his displeasure by looking angrily up into the press box and shaking his head, aiming several furious kicks at first base and, finally, by tearing up the turf at his position in center field. He had to be restrained by one of the umpires.

"Sure I acted bush," Piersall acknowledged later, "and I guess I was wrong in doing it, but I was mad clean through. Everybody in the park, including the Yankees and all the umpires, knew it was a base hit except the official scorer.

* * *

"What's one base hit, you may ask? Well, it could mean a difference of several thousand dollars to me. When I talk contract with Joe Cronin (Red Sox general manager), all he wants to know is whether I hit .300 or not. Right now, I'm hitting just below that and need all the base hits I can get."

* * *

Piersall's ire was aroused when the official scorer, veteran baseball writer Daniel M. Daniel of the New York World Telegram and Sun, ruled a ground ball hit to deep short and bobbled by Jerry Coleman as an error for the Yankee shortstop. Even if fielded cleanly, it would have taken a perfect throw to get the speedy runner.

* * *

Piersall laughed when he related what happened in center field.

"Umpire Ed Rommel came running out to tell me Casey Stengel was complaining that I was tearing up his grass," Jimmy said. "I knew Casey was rich with all those oil wells, but I didn't know he owned Yankee Stadium, too."

HAD A KICK—Boston Red Sox centerfielder Jimmy Piersall kicks the top of the turf in Yankee Stadium in anger after the official scorer ruled his grounder to deep short was bobbled for an error and not a base hit. The Bosox lost, 6-4.

Awesome Slugging

NEW YORK (AP)—With 300 total bases in 396 times at bat the Yankees' Mickey Mantle has put together an awesome-looking .758 slugging percentage. The switcher, however, will fall far short of the major league record of .847 set by Babe Ruth in 1920. Mantle has hit 17 doubles, 4 triples and 86 singles in addition to his 42 homers.

Middlecoff Defends Title

Hefty Field in Milwaukee Open

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A hefty field of about 135 golfers, including defending champion Dr. Cary Middlecoff, open fire today in the 72-hole $35,000 Milwaukee Open Golf Tournament.

The field includes 55 players who qualified with 76s or under Tuesday and 80 exempt pros and amateurs who will get the "feel" of the Tripoli Golf Club layout today for the first time under competitive conditions.

* * *

Par at 6,380-yard Tripoli, a hilly, wind-swept not too difficult course under pro standards, is 35-35—70.

Middlecoff, who had been toying with the idea of passing up this tournament because of a tendonitis condition in his left forearm, shot a 15-under-par 265 at Blue Mound to win the Milwaukee event last year.

The slender, steady-shooting dentist from Memphis, Tenn., took the U.S. Open championship with a 281 at Rochester, N.Y., on June 17.

* * *

Among the "older" hands seeking to keep Middlecoff from repeating and bagging the $6,000 top prize include Sam Snead, who hasn't cut much of a swath in tournament play this year; 46-year-old E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, who won the Tam All-American; Jimmy Demaret, Lloyd Mangrum and Tommy Bolt.

* * *

Tam "World" titlist Ted Kroll is among the missing. He decided to take a week off after pocketing $50,000 for winning the "World."

The "youngsters" include Gene Littler, who won the National Amateur and just missed a tie for the National Open three years ago at the age of 23; Mike Souchak, second in last year's Milwaukee Open, and Arnold Palmer, 26-year-old Latrobe, Pa., pro who has been having a good year at the pay window.

* * *

The medal play tourament calls for 18 holes a day, with a playoff on Monday if necessary. The field will be trimmed to the low 60 scorers plus ties at the end of the second round Friday.

Pulver Girls Annex City Softball Title

Behind the blazing fast ball of Claudia Wasik, the Pulver Tire girls annexed the city softball championship Wednesday night with a 4-2 victory over North Side Auto Parts.

Wasik's speedy deliveries were too much for the North Side bats to handle in the league showdown between the two squads at North Side Park. She mowed down the opposition on three singles.

A walk and an error gave Pulver its 1st run in the 1st inning. Two walks, a hit batsman and singles by Sue Johnson and Joanne Tibbitts accounted for three runs in the 4th inning and iced the decision for Pulver.

* * *

The two safeties in the 4th off Gerry Bender were the only hits made by the winners. Katy Boykins relieved Bender in the 5th stanza, with Bender suffering the loss.

The triumph entitled Pulver to enter the Class A state tournament Aug. 31-Sept. 3 at Port Huron. The Auto Parts team will enter the B state tourney on the same dates in Battle Creek.

Freshman Ambition

Aaron Aims for NL's Title

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Hank Aaron, Milwaukee's 22-year-old right fielder, is making a determined bid for the National League batting championship in only his fifth year of pro ball.

* * *

"I've got as good a chance as anybody else," he said last night.

Aaron has batted under .300 only once in his professional career and currently leads the pack with a .340 average. He has 145 hits in 426 times at bat.

* * *

His closest competitor is Wally Moon of the St. Louis Cardinals, 13 points back at .327.

"I'm not getting many walks this year," Aaron said, "but I usually get one or two hits a game."

Hank finished sixth in the batting race last season when he posted a .314 average while playing in all but one game for the Braves. He slammed 27 homers then and drove home 106 runs.

Aaron also feels the Braves have a "better chance than anybody else" to walk off with the National League flag.

State Coaches Draft Four Point Code

MOUNT PLEASANT (AP) — The state's high school coaches are out of the darkness and insecurity that threatened to stop their organization even before it got a good start.

More than half of the eligible coaches in Michigan have joined the Michigan High School Coaches Assn., with more than 90 per cent of Lower Peninsula schools represented in the powerful and still expanding group.

Just a year ago, about 90 coaches formed the association and elected as their president Paul Smarks, athletic director at Fitzgerald High School. Now the group, meeting in annual session last night at Central Michigan College, boasts nearly 1,400 members.

Charles Forsythe, head of the State High School Athletic Assn., hailed the infant group as a "collection of dedicated men with whom we are happy to work."

Forsythe and his aide, Dave Arnold, attended yesterday's sessions along with more than 150 association members.

Other high school coaches and some college coaches have been in and out of this college town all week during the annual all-sports clinic at Central Michigan College, highlighted by basketball coach Bucky O'Connor, and football coach Forest Evashevski of Iowa.

The association has drafted a 4-point code of ethics for its members. The group calls it a "guide to good conduct" and its "dos and don'ts" are listed under these four categories:

Responsibility to school and community, responsibility to the players, responsibility to the profession and responsibility toward officials.

The code says Michigan high school mentors must support policies, rules and regulations adopted by school administrations; discourage the "win at all cost" stand; support the coaches association and respect officials.

However, one of the main issues at stake in the association's first year battle is to improve the quality of officiating. Coaches say Michigan officiating is at sub-par standard due to the lack of requirements.

"Anyone who can pay the fee can be an official in this state," said one of the coaches.

The coaches also seek two more basketball &ames. The state athletic board says this will be decided by joint vote of school administrators and athletic directors before long.

Smarks cited the progress of the group in its first year, but warned:

"We are pioneering a great cause. But we can't relax now and say merely that we did a fine job in our first year. We can crumble just as quickly as we grew."

The code of ethics, drawn up by Dick Hoffheins of Wyandotte and Jim Manilla of Royal Oak, is certain to be adopted later after a study by association members.

California Airman Scores Upset in Tennis Tourney

NEWPORT, R. I. (AP) — Airman 2c Whitney Reed of Alameda, Calif., gets another chance today to upset the seedings in the Newport Tennis Tournament.

* * *

The young airman, on temporary duty, bounced eighth seeded Al Morris of Atlanta, Ga., out of the tournament 11-9, 9-7 and today gets a crack at third-seeded Ashley Cooper of Australia.

* * *

Two weeks ago at Southampton, N. Y., Reed defeated the young Aussie, who moved into the quarter-finals yesterday with a 6-3, 1-6 6-3 decision over Sam Giammalva of Houston, Tex.

* * *

The only other quarter-final match in the singles today sends defending champion Ham Richardson of Westfield, N. J., seeded No. 2, against youthful unseeded Mike Green of Miami Beach, Fla. Richardson earned his quarter-final bracket with a 6-4, 7-5 decision over Mike Davies of Britain while Green moved up by ousting Bill Quillian of Seattle 6-3, 6-4.

* * *

The two other quarter-finals will be played Friday with Australia's top-seeded Ken Rosewall meeting Grant Golden of Willmette, Ill., and fourth-seeded Neale Fraser tackling Mal Anderson in an all-Australian affair.

* * *

Fifth-seeded Golden picked up some encouragement yesterday from the resistance given Rosewall by young Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio. MacKay won the first set 6-1 but the Aussie Davis Cup ace struck back to win the next two, 6-2, 6-3.

U. S. Wrestling Captain Probed

AAU Checks Alleged Charges Made Against Bill Smith

CHICAGO (AP)—The Central AAU is investigating alleged charges of professionalism against Bill Smith captain of the 1956 U.S. Olympic wrestling team.

Marvin Thomas Registration Committee head, said Smith appeared before the AAU group last night, but he did not disclose specific committee action. However, Thomas added that Smith would return to appear before the AAU next week pending further evidence about the alleged charges.

Smith, America's only Olympic wrestling champ in 1952, recently resigned a $4,500 a year job as teacher of an auto-driving course at the Rock Island, Ill., school system to enter the insurance business in Chicago.

Trotter Renaming Refused

USTA Prexy Spurns HTA

HANOVER, Pa. (AP)—The president of the U.S. Trotters Assn. (USTA) has refused bluntly to accede to a demand by the Harness Tracks of America (HTA) that he drop the name "Hanover" from the names of harness race horses.

* * *

The HTA had demanded in Detroit that the USTA drop the name Hanover from the horses bred on Lawrence Sheppard's Hanover Shoe Farms here. It charged that use of the name Hanover for standardbred horses was tied in with advertising for Hanover Shoe, Inc., a shoe firm owned by Sheppard, president of the USTA.

* * *

Sheppard replied yesterday to the HTA, an association of 18 of the leading parimutuel tracks, that use of the name Hanover for standardbred horses is not a violation of the rules.

While the HTA demanded that the change in name be made in 30 days, Sheppard said he would present the demand to the USTA at its December meeting.

Federal Jury Sought for Ring, Hood Probe

CHICAGO (AP)—The Tribune said today a federal grand jury is to be impaneled in Chicago to investigate links between professional boxing and hoodlums and the alleged doping of fighters.

The Tribune, which said it learned of the investigation from reliable government sources, reported that some of the biggest "names" in boxing — managers, fighters, and trainers— will be called before the grand jury to testify. They will include, the newspaper said, James D. Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, and Arthur M. Wirtz, owner of the Chicago Stadium.

Olympic Outburst

Russian Coach Sees Many New Track, Field Records

MOSCOW (AP)—The greatest outbreak of world and Olympic track and field records ever seen in one meet will come in November during the Olympic Games at Melbourne, the Soviet national team coach predicted today.

* * *

Gavriel Korobkov, who is in the final stages of picking the Russian team, said in men's track and field alone eight world marks are almost certain to be broken and 12 Olympic records are due to go. Only the marathon, broad jump and 20 and 50 kilometer walks should fail to produce records of some sort.

* * *

Korobkov gave his estimates during the closing hours of the huge Soviet Spartakiad sports festival, during which three world track and field records were broken and others were threatened.

* * *

"If the track in Melbourne is fast and the weather warm and dry, with not much wind, then the games will be very very fast," he said. If his forecasts are correct, many of the oldest Olympic standards in the books are due to disappear.

* * *

"World records will be necessary to win several events at Melbourne," Korobkov said. "In the hammer, a throw of about 220 feet will be necessary. Now the record is over 217 feet. This is true in other events also."

* * *

The Russian coach listed Americans as likely winners of all the races up to 800 meters, both relays and of most of the field events.

* * *

"Russia should win both walks and Leonid Shcherbakov should set an Olympic record of about 54 feet in the hop,step and jump. Of course, I think Mikhail Krivonosov is a big favorite for the hammer," he said.

Good Season for Waterfowl Expected

Few Changes Made in Duck Hunting Rules

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Interior Fred Seaton said today hunters of migratory waterfowl can look forward to fall flights of ducks "as good as last year" — which was described as a good duck hunting year.

* * *

Seaton made the comment in announcing waterfowl hunting regulations for the 1956-57 season which contained few major changes from last year's rules.

Principal changes will allow an increase from 80 to 105 days in the season on coots in Pacific Flyway states; permit Minnesota, and possibly North Dakota, to experiment with a shorter duck season and a larger bag limit; and close the season on wood ducks in the Mississippi Flyway.

* * *

A spokesman for the Fish and Wildlife Service said the ban on baiting continues. The service prepared the regulations based on cooperative surveys of the wintering and breeding grounds of the birds, with advice from the Waterfowl Advisory Committee.

The new regulations specify that the states may select the dates for their waterfowl hunting seasons within a general framework of Oct. 1, 1956, to Jan. 15, 1957, the same "outside dates" as for the 1955-56 season. Exceptions are made for brant and coots in the Pacific Flyway, where the brant season may go as late as Feb. 10 and that for coots until March 10.

* * *

The framework within which the states will recommend open season dates on ducks and geese and other provisions of the regulations are:

Atlantic Flyway — Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Vermont, Virginia and West Virginia.

* * *

There may be concurrent open seasons in each state on waterfowl and coots of 70 consecutive full days, or two seasons aggregating 63 full days.

The daily bag and possession limits on ducks remain at 4 and 8, respectively, and on geese at 2 and 4, except that there is a closed season on snow geese.

Mississippi Flyway

Alabama, Arkansas, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Louisiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Ohio, Tennessee and Wisconsin.

Each state except Minnesota may have concurrent open seasons on waterfowl and coots of 70 consecutive full days, or two seasons aggregating 63 full days.

* * *

Daily bag and possession limits on ducks will remain at 4 and 8, respectively, in all states except Minnesota, with a daily bag and possession limit of 5 on geese for all the states. The limits on geese may not include more than 2 Canada geese, or 2 white-fronted geese, or 1 Canada goose or its subspecies and 1 white - fronted gobse.

Minnesota will experiment with a 55-day season on ducks beginning Oct. 6, and allowing daily bag and possession limits on ducks of 5 and 10 respectively.

Seeks Army's Help

Grid Star's Wife Asks for Murphy's Transfer

LANSING (AP) — Mrs. Morley Murphy, wife of the former 1st string Michigan State football tackle, believes that the Army has an understanding heart.

Mrs. Murphy, the former Ruth Anderson of Lansing, is living here with a son, Bobby, 21 months, and a daughter, Ann Marie, born a month ago.

Morley is a Second Lieutenant with the Army in Korea and his service hitch won't end until September, 1957.

Bobby is the victim of a comparatively rare disease—thromboplastic component deficiency. His blood lacks thromboplastin—an element which aids blood in clotting.

When Bobby has a cut it will just keep on bleeding, even a bruise can be serious as it will bleed internally. On five occasions, Bobby has received blood plasma transfusions.

So he'll probably never be able to rock 'em and sock 'em as his daddy did for Michigan State with the 1st Rose Bowl team.

It's too early to tell now, but there's a possibility Ann Marie may have the same affliction.

Mrs. Murphy, through the local chapter of the Red Cross, has asked the Army to grant her husband a "compassionate transfer."

If it goes through, Morley could be transferred to some post where he could be near his wife and help give the children the special care they need.

Murphy, from Detroit Chadsey High, was the biggest man in the MSU line at 6-3 and 210 pounds when he played on the Rose Bowl team that defeated U.C.L.A. 28-20 on Jan. 1, 1954.

Football kept him from his wife's side when Bobby came into the world. The youngster was born just at half time while Murphy was leading the line to a 21-14 edging of Indiana at Bloomington on Oct. 9, 1954.

Doug Ford won the 1955 All-American golf championship on his sixth attempt.

Doctoring Your Golf Game

By DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF

By DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF

PATIENT'S COMPLAINT: Wasted strokes

DIAGNOSIS: Haphazard thinking

TREATMENT: It is one thing to attain a certain degree of mastery over the clubs in your bag. It is quite another, and equally as important, to make your shots count by proper planning.

Learn to concentrate on each and every shot. Take into consideration all the factors involved—lie, angle of the shot, distance, wind and other special conditions. Then—choose the right club. Thinking pays off, even if it takes a little extra time to do it.

As I've mentioned before, and it bears repeating, don't waste strokes by trying for distance with a wooden club out of the rough. Except, of course, in the case of a calculated risk dictated by a desperate situation.

Allow for drift in a strong cross wind. Take advantage of a following wind. Keep your shots low into the wind, and use a more powerful club. Make the percentage work for you by shooting for the green rather than for the pin on angle shots over a treacherous bunker. Don't let your pride or your partner influence you to spurn the club that will get you the required distance in favor of the club a pro might use for the same shot.

Give ample time and thought to the choice between a high pitch and a chip-and-run shot to the pin. Relax between shots, and concentrate while making them. After a round, subtract the strokes that were wasted and you'll be surprised what you might have shot with better planning.

Class F Last Hope in Junior Tourney

There is only one Pontiac hopeful remaining in the state Junior baseball tournament today after two city champions were casualties Wednesday in regional action at Dearborn.

The Pontiac Police, Class D champion, and the Boys Club in Class E bowed out of tourney play yesterday on Levagood Field, leaving the Class F Boys Club as the city's sole representative in the post-season competition.

The Boys Club Midget team fell by the wayside Monday at Pontiac's Jaycee Park to account for the 3rd tournament victim.

* * *

Dearborn eliminated the Policemen, 2-0, behind the three-hit shutout pitching of Brown. A triple and two singles plus a pair of sacrifices handed Dearborn its two runs in the 5th inning.

Singles by Bob Reeves, Gil Trevino and John Lucadam were all the Policemen could muster against Brown and no base runner reached 3rd. Dearborn made five hits off losing hurler Jerry Pointer and Chuck Gillis, who relieved in the 6th stanza.

Aided by fielding bobbles, Saginaw sidelined the Class E Boys Club, 5-2. Joe Tinson pitched well enough to win, but could not overcome the errors committed by his teammates.

The Class F Boys Club, Pontiac's last hope for state championship honors, wades into tourney activity Monday at Jackson. Their opening test is scheduled at 12 noon.

Score at Speedway

Howell, Brown Win Races

Benny Howell of Pontiac and Jim Brown were feature winners and Pontiac's Rusty Kelly also grabbed his share of the spotlight in Wednesday night's modified hardtop-old model program at Pontiac Speedway.

Howell captured the 25-lap hardtop feature, with Mickey Katlin finishing 2nd and Kelly 3rd. Kelly won the dash and pursuit races in addition to posting the top qualifying time. Heat winners were Howell and Brown.

Brown piloted his old model car to victory in the 12-lap feature, followed across the finish line by Don Irish and Chuck Allen. Irish drove home 1st in the pursuit as well as recording the fastest time in the qualifiers. Heat winners were Bob Gatton and Randy Janes.

Modified hardtops will run again Sunday on the M59 track. Time trials begin at 5:30, with the 1st race at 7 p.m.

An old model-hardtop twin bill returns to the Pontiac oval next Wednesday, with a "greased pig" providing an added feature. Anyone who can collar the pig in the infield and hold it for 10 seconds will receive $25 plus the porker.

Tough Grid Foes on MSU Schedule

EAST LANSING — Michigan State's nine football foes this fall are—on the face of their 1955 records—a bunch of real gridiron toughies.

They compiled a total mark last year of 45 wins, 36 losses and three ties. Three—Michigan, Notre Dame and Stanford—ranked with the national leaders according to various polls.

The teams, in the order the Spartans meet them this fall, and their 1955 records are: Stanford, won 6, lost 3, tied 1; Michigan, 7-2; Indiana, 3-6; Notre Dame, 8-2; Illinois, 5-3-1; Wisconsin, 4-5; Purdue, 5-3-1; Minnesota, 3-6, and Kansas State, 4-6.

Antonelli Allows 2 Hits

Giants Stall Dodgers Drive

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

They're in last place; all right, but, for the moment at least, they've shaken off that cellar pallor—reviving the somewhat tarnished world championship combination of Johnny Antonelli and Willie Mays to rock the Brooklyn Dodgers out of second place in the tingling National League race.

The Brooks, who usually swallow southpaws whole like hors d'ouevres, were standing on their heads when Antonelli got through with them last night. He struck 11 while giving just two hits to beat the Brooks and big Don Newcombe 1-0 on Mays' 21st home run.

Anty hadn't beaten the Brooks since June 30, 1954 — and no southpaw had blanked 'em since Harvey Haddix, then with St. Louis, did it on June 9, 1954.

It also was the second upset in two nights against the world champs by the New Yorkers and skidded the Dodgers 2 percentage points behind Cincinnati. The Redlegs took two from the Chicago Cubs, 4-3 in 15 innings and 7-3 in a six-inning nightcap (called because of darkness in lightless Wrigley Field.)

* * *

Milwaukee upped its lead a bit, going 2½ games up with a 4-1 decision over St. Louis. Pittsburgh slowed down the Philadelphia Phillies 5-1.

In the American League, Dick Donovan threw a two-hitter as the Chicago White Sox walloped Kansas City 10-0. The first-place New York Yankees moved into a 10½-game bulge again by defeating Boston 6-4 while Detroit knocked off second-place Cleveland 1-0. Baltimore beat Washington 3-2 in 12 innings.

Three in the seventh broke a 3-all tie for the Yanks, who had taken a 3-1 lead on Yogi Berra's 21st homer in the sixth. Hank Bauer's single scored the tie-breaker. Tom Byrne won it in relief of Whitey Ford, who left with an ailing shoulder. Tom Brewer lost his fifth against 16 successes. Jim Piersall's home run was the only earned run the Bostons scored.

EAGLE POLICE — Hugh DeVore (center) head coach of the Philadelphia Eagles, has his own police protection in training camp at Hershey, Pa. Two of his players, Billy Conn (left) and Bobby Walston are members of the law. Conn is a member of the Newark, N. J. police force, and Walston is a deputy sheriff of Tatnall County, Georgia.

BLOND BULLET—Pfc. Gloria Griffin of the United States Marine Corps sharpens her spikes before a workout in San Francisco. Pacific Amateur Athletic Union 50-yard champion and record holder, 6.4 seconds, the San Antonio 22-year-old will compete for a place on the United States Olympic team.

District Softball Tourney Opens Tonight at Drayton

The Class C district softball tournament, sponsored by the Michigan Softball Association, gets under way tonight at the Drayton Plains ball park.

Two area squads, Walled Lake Market from the Pontiac City League and Drayton Drug of the Waterford League, are included in the six-team field.

The Class B district tourney, featuring five clubs, opens Friday night at Pontiac's Beaudette and North Side parks. Royal Bar of Pontiac and Lakeland Pharmacy from Waterford are the two local squads competing in this division.

Walled Lake will see action in tonight's opening round at Drayton while the Drug nine drew a bye. Walled Lake faces Roseville at 9 o'clock and Drayton Drug will meet the winner tomorrow night at 7:30.

Mt. Clemens tangles with Southfield in tonight's 7:30 curtain-raiser and the winner will clash with Howell Friday at 9 p.m. both the Waterford and Pontiac tournament are double-elimination playoffs.

GMC, Pontiac's Class A entry, begins its tourney campaign Friday night at Mt. Clemens against Southfield. Game time is 8:15.

Grand Rapids Youth Trapped in Cave-in

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — A cave-in of a four-by-six-foot hole he had dug buried 12-year-old Fred Page up to his chin in wet sand for an hour yesterday.

* * *

The Grand Rapids boy said he spent almost four hours digging the pit while his family went swimming at Long Lake in northern Kent County.

Fred climbed into the hole after it was dug and the wet sand collapsed after him. He was discovered some 10 minutes later by his 10-year-old sister Catherine who summoned his brother Lauren, 14.

Lauren started the digging and was joined in the rescue by the children's father, Charles Pafe, and police.

* * *

Fred was pulled uninjured from the hole, suffering from shock.

Wonder Drugs Retard Decay in Rats' Teeth

EAST LANSING (AP) — Penicillin and other antibiotics have been found to prevent tooth decay in rats, a Michigan State University research team reported today.

* * *

Researchers said this finding may have important implications for control of tooth decay in humans.

In the research program were Drs. Harrison R. Hunt, geneticist; Carl A. Hoppert, chemist, and Samuel Rosen, bacteriologist.

"Penicillin is extremely effective in retarding development of tooth decay in our specially developed strain of rats that are susceptible to tooth decay," Rosen said.

BUILD RESISTANCE

Hunt said, however, penicillin can not be used as a decay preventive in toothpaste because humans build up an immunity to it.

But the effect of penicillin on rats may yield important clues for dental research, he said.

"In finding exactly why penicillin prevents tooth decay, we hope to discover what the 'X' factors are that cause decay," he said.

Land, Waterfall May Go to State

Official to Recommend That Firm Donate UP Natural Wonder

CHICAGO (AP) — O. S. Mansell, president of the Celotex Corp., says he will recommend to the firm's directors that Laughing Whitefish Falls and 100 surrounding acres be given to Michigan for a state park.

Laughing Whitefish Falls, a natural wonder, is located in Alger County in the Upper Peninsula. Celotex recently acquired 240,000 acres, including the falls site, from the Ford Foundation.

Mansell disclosed his intentions to recommend that the falls and 100 surrounding acres be given the state in a meeting with Gov. G. Mennen Williams yesterday.

Williams broached the subject of preserving the falls for the public a couple of weeks ago. After his meeting with Mansell he praised the latter's "generous attitude," and said "it is evident that Michigan has acquired a good and useful new citizen."

Also attending the meeting were Charles Miller, state lands division chief; Henry W. Collins, executive vice president of Celotex, and Paul J. Dumas, manager of Celotex's new L'Anse wallboard plant.

The Michigan Conservation Department had plans to eventually acquire the falls and 800 surrounding acres for recreation and park purposes.

SWAPPING SEEN

Williams and Mansell said following their meeting that negotiations will be conducted on the possibility of Celotex swapping 700 additional acres around the falls for 700 state-owned acres adjoining the Celotex lands.

The Ford Foundation, from which Celotex acquired the vast Upper Peninsula timberlands, had no plans to exploit the falls or timber assets.

Celotex plans to harvest the timber, but Mansell said timbering would be conducted on a sustained yield basis through selective cutting and the planting of new trees to replace those cut out.

Cobo Agrees Senate Should Approve Lee

DETROIT (AP) — James H. Lee, former assistant corporation counsel for Detroit, appears likely to remain a member of the Michigan Public Service Commission.

Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams appointed him recently. Mayor Albert E. Cobo of Detroit, Republican nominee to oppose Williams in November, said yesterday: "If I were governor I would also appoint him to the position."

The State Senate failed to vote approval of 69-year-old Lee and has put the matter over to Sept. 19. It also is withholding approval of several other Williams appointees.

"If I am asked by the Senate what I would do," Cobo told newsmen, "I will tell 'hem that I positively think Lee should be approved."

Lee, an expert in utility matters, retired as corporation counsel after two extensions beyond the retirement age limit.

Boy Kills Neighbor Playing With Shotgun

DETROIT (AP) — Six - year - old Charles R. Townley of Brownstown Township was killed last night by a shotgun in the hands of an 8-year-old playmate. State Police said the shooting was accidental.

* * *

The victim, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Townley, was playing with Kenneth Tittle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmon H. Tittle Sr., also of Brownstown Township, when the accident happened.

Kenneth found a loaded shotgun which his father kept in a shed because he had been bothered with skunks. Police said the weapon somehow was discharged, wounding Charles in the left side and shoulder.

The Tittles have seven other children; the Townleys six.

Two Birthdays Now

HAMILTON, Mont. (AP) — The twins of Mr. and Mrs. David Huls will have different birthdays although they were born only 32 minutes apart. Movie Scene Introduces Vera Miles to Ballroom

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—In this rock 'n' roll age it's downright amazing to find a young movie star who is luscious enough to be a "Miss America" finalist but never learned to dance.

* * *

Vera Miles, touted as one of the hottest screen properties in months, never was on a ballroom floor until this week. Even then it took an important movie scene to get her there.

She is playing Betty Compton, second wife of the late Jimmy Walker, in "Beau James."

* * *

Bob Hope plays Walker. In one key scene the dapper New York mayor takes Miss Compton dancing in the Central Park Casino while still married to his first wife. At the time, the incident amounted to political suicide for Walker, who had been a favorite among Catholic voters.

Vera said she dreaded the scene for weeks but finally broke the news to director Mel Shavelson, producer Jack Rose and Hope.

* * *

When she told them she couldn't dance, they chorused as one: "You're kidding!"

Not in the memory of Paramount studio's oldest timer had such a problem arisen there before. After a hurried conference, choreographer Jack Baker was called in and Vera now knows how to dance.

* * *

Asked how such a pretty girl ever escaped dancing, Vera said, "I've just been too busy working all these years. When the kids in my high school class were out dancing, I had to work nights to keep in school."

The onetime "Miss Kansas" of 1948 (she placed third at Atlantic City) worked as a telephone operator, cafe cashier and waitress during her high school days.

* * *

RKO signed Vera at the Miss America Pageant and brought her to Hollywood. After no pictures, she was dropped and 20th Century-Fox signed her. No pictures there either. Warners signed her next but put her only in one picture—as an Indian squaw. Soon she was dropped there too. Next she tried television—and started working regularly.

She played a cancer victim on the first Medic show and Director Alfred Hitchcock saw her: "He called me and said he would like to talk to me but he left the next day for France to make a picture with Grace Kelly. I was forgotten again—and discouraged."

* * *

Then, almost a year later, Hitchcock chanced to see a rerun of the same "Medic" show. This time the famed director did something he has never done, with another star—put her under personal contract. She just finished "The Wrong Man" for him opposite Henry Fonda.

Any Hitchcock feminine discovery is sure to be a top star. It was he who gave Ingrid Bergman and Grace Kelly their big boosts to stardom.

Brazil Eases Rules

RIO DE JANEIRO — Brazil has simplified entry procedure for visitors from the United States and Canada. Visa and consular papers no longer are needed by these travelers. Documentation has been cut to a valid passport, vaccination certificate, tourist form with two photos attached, and transportation ticket for return or onward destination.

Canada Car Record

OTTAWA — The Dominion Bureau of Statistics reports that long-stay automobile entries into Canada reached an all-time high in 1955 with 2,524,993 cars crossing into Canada on travelers' vehicle permits, issued for stays of 48 hours or more or to motorists planning to leave by a port other than the one they entered by. This was a gain of 18,872 over the previous record, set in 1953.

Bird Sings to Himself

CHICAGO — Among birds the male often takes his turn sitting on the eggs. One of these devoted fathers is the rose-breasted grosbeak, who sings softly to himself while keeping the eggs warm in the nest.

New Maine Ferry

BAR HARBOR, Me.—Motorists now can cross the Bay of Fundy from Bar Harbor to the Nova Scotia port of Yarmouth in less than 8 hours aboard the Bluenose, a large new ferry that carries 150 automobiles and 400 passengers. Last year Yarmouth was without direct service and motorists had to take the long way round.

West German firms sold 304,063 still-picture cameras in the United States in 1955.

Marriage Used as Tool in Red War on Religion

VIENNA (INS) — Marriage is being used by the Hungarian communist party in its struggle against religion.

* * *

This was made evident in "Szabad Ifjusag," organ of the party in Disz, Hungary.

The party answered a letter from a 21-year-old Hungarian who questioned if it was right for him to marry the girl he was engaged to because she believed in God and was religiously inclined.

The young man had just completed a strict communist education to be a teacher. He was a convinced party member. The girl also had completed a teaching course, but still held to religious beliefs.

"Should we advise the young man to leave the girl? By no means. It is perfectly obvious that he must stand the test."

The party said the young man must be aware of the two forces supporting him: the truth of his ideology, and his love for the girl. It asked:

* * *

"Can there be a more beautiful task than to convince someone we love of the truth?"

The party declared the young man is bound to know better than all others which sources nourish his fiancee's religious feelings and which are "the bad influence that must be eliminated." It noted he was better suited to convince her that the "truth of life and scientific discoveries run counter to the idealistic world view."

* * *

The final word was this:

"The young man is therefore not only suited to re-educate the girl; it is his duty to do. It is his duty to convince the girl of our truth."

World's Longest Boat Race on Mississippi

ST. LOUIS, Mo., (INS) — The world's longest boat race, 1,058 miles from New Orleans to St. Louis, will be staged August 3 and contestants will steer the same memorable Mississippi river course traced by the famous steamboats Natchez and Robert E. Lee.

The finish of the contest in St. Louis will serve as a salute to the city's Mid-America Jubilee which opens in September for one month.

Frank Doyle, publicity director for the exposition, said that the winner's awards will include a cash prize and a trophy donated by a St. Louis Brewery.

The trophy will be held by the winner until next year's race.

The race, for outboard motorboats using standard equipment only, is to be held under the auspices of the Mississippi River Marathon Racing Association.

Price Boosts in Consumer Items in Effect

NEW YORK (AP)—Price increases for a group of consumer items, ranging from steel pails to mattresses, are in effect today and still more are seen coming.

Inland Steel Co. announced a 10 per cent boost on steel drums and pails. Firth Sterling Inc. raised its prices for high speed steels eight cents a pound and increased special processing charges eight per cent.

• • •

The Simmons Co., one of the largest bedding manufacturers, added $10 to the price of three mattresses and said other increases are coming. The B. F. Goodrich Co. announced a three per cent hike in the price of rubber soles and heels and other shoe products.

A major television manufacturer predicted yesterday that sets will cost more this fall.

• • •

Other brewers are expected to follow the pattern of two big midwest beer companies which have raised prices 12 cents a case for beer in cans and non-returnable bottles.

Prices for rubber conveyor belts used in factory assembly lines were boosted 3 per cent by Hewitt-Robins Inc.

Two-fifths of the U.S. milk supply is used to make butter.

Grains Advance; Trading Active

CHICAGO (AP) — Most grains moved higher after a barely steady opening on the Board of Trade today. Dealings became moderately active on the advance.

New crop corn futures led the upturn with wheat, oats and rye following. Soybeans again lagged, particularly the deferred futures.

Buying in new crop corn apparently was based on the belief soil bank payments in kind will not be sufficiently attractive to make farmers take corn rather than cash from the government.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ½ to ⅞ higher, September $2.20½; corn ⅜ to 1¼ higher, September $1.52½; oats ¼ to ⅝ higher, September 75½; rye 1¼ to 1⅜ higher, September $1.45¼; soybeans ¼ lower to 1 cent higher, September $2.49½; and lard 10 cents a hundred pounds higher, September $12.47.

Bus Firm Increases Pontiac-Detroit Fares

A five-cent increase in bus fares between Pontiac and Detroit went into effect yesterday, according to officials of the Great Lakes Greyhound Lines.

The boost brought one-way rates to 72 cents with tax for the Pontiac-Detroit trip and to 50 cents for the run from Birmingham to Detroit. A similar hike was added to fares from Detroit to Mt. Clemens.

Ten commuter tickets from Pontiac to Detroit will cost $5.85 under terms of the raise. Cost of the 10 tickets is figured at the rate of nine times the one-way fare, less tax, according to Peter Waidelich, Pontiac terminal manager.

The rate increase was brought about by higher operational costs, company spokesmen said.

Lakeland, Inter-Lake Papers Are United

Purchase of the Lakeland Tribune by Kenneth and Irene Treacy, owners of the Interlake News was announced today.

The Lakeland Tribune, published at Drayton Plains, has been owned and edited by Ray E. Harrington, who will remain its managing editor.

The modern facilities of the Inter-Lake plant at Keego Harbor will be used by both papers.

The average U.S. farm worker can produce for himself and 18 others today. In 1860 he could produce for only 3½ others.

DETROIT EGGS

DETROIT, Aug. 16 (AP)—Eggs, f.o.b. Detroit, cases included, federal-state grades:

Whites: Grade A jumbo 52-57 weighted average 54½; large 50-51 wtd avg 51; medium 38-41 wtd avg 39½; small 28. Grade B large 45; peewees 24.

Browns: Grade A jumbo 51; large 49-50 wtd avg 49½; medium 41; small 28. Grade B large 45. Grade C large 33-34 wtd avg 33½. Peewees 24. Checks 25.

Whites: Grade A extra large 45-47; large 41½-43; medium 39; small 24.

Browns: Grade A extra large 44-45; large 42-43½; medium 36-38; small 26. Grade B large 39.

Comment: Market fully steady on large, steady on medium, about steady on small. Arrivals of top quality large eggs in light supply and available offerings barely ample for present good demand. Supplies of mediums ample for fair demand although in some instances supplies short of requirements. Increased arrivals of smalls in excess of fair distributive demand.

CHICAGO BUTTER AND EGGS

CHICAGO, Aug. 16 (AP)—Chicago Mercantile Exchange: Butter irregular; wholesale buying prices ¼ lower to ½ higher; receipts 535,000; 92 AA 59½; 92 A 58; 90 B 57; 89 C 55¾; cars 90 57½; 89 C 56½.

Eggs steady, receipts 7,800; wholesale buying prices unchanged; 60-69.9 per cent A 36; mixed 35; mediums 33; standards 30; dirties 25½; checks 25½; current receipts 26½.

CHICAGO POTATOES

CHICAGO, Aug 16 (AP)—Potatoes: New stock arrivals 80; on track 219; total U.S. shipment 336; supplies moderate; demand fair; market firm to slightly stronger; carlot track sales Idaho-Oregon long whites 3.24-3.30.

Poultry

CHICAGO POULTRY

CHICAGO, Aug. 16 (AP)—Live poultry: Weak on hens, about steady on balance; receipts 978 coops (Wednesday 126 coops, 141,000 lbs); f.o.b. paying prices unchanged to ½ lower; heavy hens 18-18½; light hens 17-17½; old roosters 15-16; caponettes over 4½ 27-28, under 4½ 24-25; broilers or fryers not being quoted.

DETROIT POULTRY

DETROIT, Aug. 16 (AP)—Prices paid per pound f.o.b. Detroit for No 1 quality poultry up to 10 a.m.

Heavy type hens 21-22; light type 15-16; heavy type broilers and fryers 2-3½ lb 23, cray crosses 26, Barred Rocks 27-28; caponettes 5-6 lb 27-30.

Comment: Market weak on hens, about steady on fryers, steady on caponettes. Arrivals today were light to moderate. Demand for hens not active and available supplies more than adequate for needs of trade. Receipts of fryers were light as dealers curtailed arrivals in effort to clear as distributive demand only fair. Caponettes in good movement with fancy quality birds clearing readily.

Mixed Pattern Marks Stocks

NEW YORK (AP)—The Stock Market developed a mixed pattern as prices shifted narrowly in early trading today.

Changes ranged around a point, although losses were mostly confined to small fractions. Trading slowed to a quiet pace after overnight orders were transacted in a busy opening.

International oils were early favorites. Gulf Oil gained 1⅝ and Royal Dutch picked up 1⅜. Sinclair and Standard Oil (New Jersey) were small losers.

Steels were also in some demand. U.S. Steel and Republic rose by a minor fraction. Bethlehem was up at the opening but then eased back to its starting point.

Curtiss-Wright, a loser in heavy opening trading, recovered lost ground and went ahead for narrow gain. Chrysler and Ford declined slightly.

Coppers were mixed, with Kennecott up and Anaconda down. International Nickel advanced slightly.

Yesterday stocks closed with mixed prices after a late selling wave hit a rising market. Gains very narrowly outnumbered losses. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined 10 cents, with industrials up 30 cents, rails down 70 cents and utilities up 10 cents.

THE ENVY OF

THE NEIGHBORHOOD

DESIGN R234 — Here is another large brick veneer ranch home. It has an exceptionally nice living-dining area with an L-shaped arrangement, which takes in the entire end of the house; For convenient traffic circulation, the angular front entrance hall will lead you into either the living area or directly to the kitchen or bedroom area. An enchanting fireplace, open on 2 sides, serves both the dining and living areas; if you will closely inspect our plan, you will notice how this arrangement lends itself to good furniture placement. You will also observe the 2 entrances from the terrace, you will be able to visualize the beauty of your lawn and garden area as seen through the rear windows of this spacious living area; or a look through the front picture windows will show you a unique ledge-rock planter with its vertical trellis arrangement extending to the roof. All this, built on your lot or ours, for the low price of $15,500.

National Bonded ONE FULL YEAR GUARANTEE

Consider these advantages of the NATIONAL BONDED guarantee. A dealer can garantee his cars only in his dealership. NATIONAL BONDED GUARANTEES THE CAR ANYWHERE IN THE U.S. AT THE REPAIR SHOP OF THE OWNER'S CHOOSING . . . The dealer's guarantee is actually a personal guarantee. If bad health or business failure should visit the dealer, the guarantee is void. NATIONAL BONDED is backed by $120,000,000 in assets. Regardless what happens to the individual, the owner's protection continues for the full year . . . The dealer's guarantee is on a percentage basis. The dealer pays a share of the repair costs and the owner pays a share. NATIONAL BONDED pays the repair bill in full; the owner pays nothing.

Hall Claims Ike for All the People

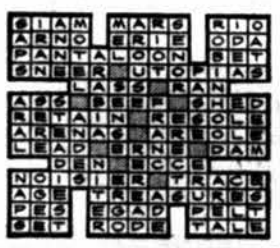

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Leonard Hall, chairman of the Republican National Committee, told a mass meeting of San Francisco Young Republicans last night that Dwight D. Eisenhower is the first man in American history who is "a president of all the people."

* * *

"When you take a proposal to the President, the first thing he asks is: 'Is that a good thing for 160 million Americans?'" Hall reported.

"This is the first time in our history we have a president who is president of all the American people."

Stanton's Stand Wins Approval

President of Network Insists on Freedom in Presenting News

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Television fever soared high at the opening of the Democratic National Convention when CBS failed to join NBC and ABC in using all of "Pursuit of Happiness."

* * *

The 45-minute film was a frankly partisan view of American history through Democratic eyes.

In passing up the movie the CBS news staff showed journalistic enterprise, but they failed to bring new information or generate much interest. Lowell Thomas reminisced about by-gone conventions with Walter Cronkite. There were cut-in interviews with candidates. Ed Murrow and Eric Sevareid held a small colloquy at a small table.

* * *

At any rate, one viewer was as stunned as CBS must have been when National Chairman Paul M. Butler castigated the network for failing to present the entire movie. Did this mean that cameras must be trained on the platform for the duration of the convention for every word of some of the dry speeches to come?

* * *

Butler claimed CBS had committed itself to carry the movie and he said he would demand that the network carry it later. CBS President Frank Stanton denied that anyone in the network had made such an agreement. In one viewer's opinion he went to the heart of the matter when he told Butler:

* * *

"Far more important is the vital issue of freedom of the press which you raise. Those who make the news cannot, in a free society, dictate to broadcasters, as part of the free press, to what extent, where, and how they shall cover the news. Television and radio, in covering the conventions as well as all other news events, are not mere conduits which must carry everything which the news maker demands. On the contrary, we insist most vigorously that we are, and must remain, free to exercise our news judgment . . .

* * *

"You may disagree with how we exercise our news judgment in this instance. But we, in turn, must retain that basic right which is guaranteed by the Constitution."

Ex-Senator Leads in Primary by a Hair

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—Former Sen. Glen Taylor held the lead by an eyelash today—more than 36 hours after the polls had closed in Idaho's Democratic Senator primary—but was far from a sure victor in his second try for a political comeback.

* * *

Only nine of the state's 893 precincts are uncounted. They are small and isolated, and it is uncertain whether they could change Taylor's 36-vote lead over his closest opponent, Frank Church, a Boise lawyer and political newcomer.

Recounts and legal challenges could make it weeks before the final results are in and voters will know who is running against the Republican incumbent, Sen. Herman Welker.

Welker won handily Tuesday over four opponents.

* * *

Taylor, who won the nomination in 1954 but lost to Sen. Dworshak (R-Idaho), has 27,908 votes to 27,872 for Church.

Tavern Held Up for $200 —All Because of a Nickel

YAKIMA, Wash. (AP) — A thug stuck up DeLorme's Tavern last night. As he was concentrating on the bartender, one of the patrons —now happily annoymous—ducked down behind the bar and inched his way toward a pay telephone.

Unnoticed by the thug, the patrol fished in his pocket for a coin to phone police. He only had a nickel. Pay phones require a dime.

The holdup man got $200.

Please! No Mistakes

MISSOULA, Mont. (AP) — A Missoula man had a tough time convincing his suspicious spouse that he had never been to New York after that city sent him a summons to appear in police court to pay a $15 fine on a traffic charge. He was exonerated, however. Examination of the legal paper showed two transposed figures in a license plate number from which the name and address were obtained.

Doomed Dogs Win Reprieves Easily

LIVERPOOL (INS) — It was a matter of life or death as 47 fur-coated mannequins paraded across a flood-lit stage in a Liverpool factory canteen.

Displeasure of the 1,000 onlookers meant the gas chamber; approval meant life and a good home.

The models were unclaimed stray puppies condemned to death in city dog-pound, but all were granted a stay of execution.

A kindly factory owner, hearing that 150 stray dogs and puppies were put to death every month in Liverpool, suggested a monthly parade in his canteen in the hope that his girl workers would fall in love with some of them.

The first parade was a complete success. All but one of the puppies were claimed by the girls.

A spokesman for the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, claimed the last dog, a fine Alsatian puppy, for the factory manager, and explained to the disappointed girls:

"He's a man's dog."

ROCKETEER — The Army will test a six-foot-six-inch rocket built in the cellar of his Charlotte, N. C., home by 17-year-old James Blackmon, above. A dabbler in science "as long as I can remember," Jimmy says, "I didn't go by any specific plans. It's a sort of conglomeration of a lot of different rockets."

Prison Workers to Get Training

Classroom, Field Work to Prepare Men to Staff Michigan's Institutions

LANSING (AP) — The State Corrections Department has launched a new program for training men to staff Michigan's prisons and work camps.

• • •

The program, a combination of classroom training and field work, will get under way this fall at the University of Michigan and Wayne State University. Michigan State University will join the program later.

"We think it's only practical that educators and prison people help each other and, ultimately, help society," said Gus Harrison, director of the State Corrections Department.

Harrison named Robert A. Berles to head the program.

Berles said the three universities have been asked to enroll at least one graduate student in the program. They will attend classes two days a week and work at the prison three days.

Students from Wayne and the University of Michigan will work from the Washtenaw County probation office. MSU students will be assigned to the Lansing probation office.

The students will be paid $3,445 a year for two years. In their second year, they will work at the State Prison of Southern Michigan in Jackson, the Marquette Branch Prison or the Ionia Reformatory.

• • •

Berles said the department plans to keep the students as prison executive trainees when they complete the course.

Quick Thinking Job

MUNCIE, Ind. (AP)—Officials of nearby Yorktown did some quick thinking when the dump mechanism on a truck carrying hot asphalt through the town tripped accidentally. They did a fast job of spreading the spilled asphalt over the street. It was intended for a job out of town.
