Dead on Arrival at Hospital After Gun Discharges

Accidental Blast Hits Sandra Whitehead in Kitchen of Home

A 12-year-old girl was shot to death at 11:30 a.m. today by a blast apparently fired accidentally from a .22 rifle held by her brother, 13, police said.

Dead on arrival in Pontiac General Hospital was Sandra Whitehead, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Avery H. Whitehead, 28 Astor St.

According to police, Richard said he was showing his sister how to work the gun when it went off, striking the girl in the left breast. The shooting occurred at home.

Richard and another brother, Thomas, 15, who summoned police, were brought to police headquarters to make statements to Oakland County Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem at 1 u.m., Det. Insp. Clark M. Wheaton said.

The father, an employe at Baldwin Rubber Company, apparently was at work, and the mother was out of the house, according to the boys.

Richard said he didn't know "how the shell got in the gun", police said. The boy told them he and his sister were standing in the combination kitchen-dinette, where he was explaining how to load the gun.

Thomas told police that the gun was borrowed from a neighbor. It was used, Thomas said, to shoot rats which had been preying on ducklings which the family is raising in the back yard.

34 Saved as Plane Crashes Into Water

SEATTLE (AP) — A New York-bound Stratocruiser crash-landed in Puget Sound after its takeoff here today and the Coast Guard reported half an hour later that 34 of the 37 persons aboard had been picked up.

The Northwest Orient Airlines luxury liner went into the water after taking off from the Seattle-International Airport. The crash scene was between the two cities.

The Coast Guard listed three persons as missing. The 34 known survivors were picked up in two Air Force amphibian planes. They were to be transferred to other craft because the two planes were unable to take off with such heavy loads.

The survivors were picked up after they had been able to clamber to the wings of the double-deck plane in the several minutes it remained afloat.

Milk Shipments Increase, Ease Local Shortage

Supplies Almost Normal as MMPA Stops Threat to Join Pickets

A farmers' strike which paralyzed milk shipments to the region and brought supplies to critical levels over the weekend appeared to be crumbling today, although most consumers are expected to pay for peace in price-per-quart increases ranging up to 1½ cents.

Deliveries by Pontiac-area creameries are reportedly back to nearly normal, prompting Health Director Dr. John D. Monroe to abandon immediate plans for adopting emergency distribution measures.

Despite several incidents of violence by pickets along the highways, police officers and deputies were able to escort most milk tanker convoys to communities lying within the Detroit area.

Picketing at several Pontiac dairies is still being maintained on a round-the-clock basis, but is reportedly peaceful. Supplies were reported "good" by officials of all local cereameries.

The general boost in milk prices was brought about by settlements between the Michigan Milk Producers Assn. and major dairies in the Detroit area. The powerful MMPA group called off its plans to strike today when its demands for a 59-cent hike in raw milk prices were met.

Before the strike, milk generally retailed for 22 cents a quart in stores and 23 cents delivered. The MMPA settlement boosted the price to farmers to $5 a hundred pounds compared with the original price of $4.41.

Officials of the Fair Share Barganing Assn. stated yesterday that several creameries had signed pacts agreeing to a $1.59 increase per hundredweight, although spokesmen for the insurgent group

Ike, Kefauver in Wisconsin Go

Results May Indicate Political Farm Feeling in Presidential Primary

MILWAUKEE (AP) —Wisconsin's presidential primary tomorrow may indicate whether President Eisenhower or Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) is more popular with the farm voters. The primary also may show whether there is political unrest among the farmers.

The primary, designed to pick 30 delegates to the Republican National Convention and 56 to the Democratic National Convention, shapes up as a popularity contest between Kefauver, seeking the Democratic presidential nomination, and the President.

Kefauver's slate of delegate candidates is the only one on the Democratic ballot. President Eisenhower's slate is opposed only by a group headed by John Chapple, Ashland publisher, as a favorite son.

Wisconsin's election law permits no write-in votes for president or vice president or for any delegate candidates other than those who have filed and are named on the ballot.

The fact that neither President Eisenhower nor Kefauver has any intraparty opposition contributes to the lack of interest.

end of a runway. Within minutes it was reduced to a mass of burned debris.

Lynn De Smyter, 26, of Detroit, was listed among the dead in the crash. Another Michigan man was injured in the crash. He is Dale Grossman, 46, of Centerville, who suffered fractures of both legs.

De Smyter, a graduate student at the University of Michigan, was on his way to Allentown, Pa., for a job interview with an engineering firm. Grossman, a consulting engineer for a Chicago firm, was on a business trip to Harrisburg, Pa.

Two of those who escaped were the pilot and copilot. The stewardess, Mary Jane Fanning, 21, Elmhurst, Long Island, was listed among the tentatively identified bodies at the morgue.

The office of Coroner William D. McClellan said four female bodies had been received at the morgue, and a check of the plane roster showed four women who were not among the known survivors.

Miss Fanning was on her second flight since graduating from the TWA school at Kansas City last Wednesday. She was a native of North Bergen, N.J.

Copilot Harlan Jesserson, Morristown, N.J., was hurt critically.

Cyprus Students Attack British

Bombs, Stones Bombard Security Police, Troops; Teacher Slightly Hurt

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Students carrying Greek flags threw bombs and stones at British security police and troops in the port city of Paphos today. Bomb fragments wounded a schoolteacher and stones slightly injured several of the British.

Three bombs were hurled also in Limassol, another port of this British Mediterranean island colony. One injured an elderly couple and another a child. A curfew was ordered in the center of that south coast city, where a Briton was shot to death yesterday.

Yesterday was the first anniversary of the Greek Cypriot underground, EOKA, which seeks to drive out the British and unite Cyprus with Greece. Nicosia, the island's capital, was quiet under a 34-hour Easter curfew. But elsewhere one man was slain and six persons wounded.

Several hundred pupils were involved in the clash today in Paphos. They had set out with two Greek flags to march to the local bishopric of the Greek Orthodox Church. Police said two or three priests were seen in the group.

Seven Seeking 2 Year Terms on Commission

Charter Amendment Would Change Dates of Future Voting

Threatening skies are doing their part in cutting down on an already expected light voter turnout for today's city election.

A random survey of 15 of the city's 44 precincts which opened at 7 a.m. showed that only 209 Pontiac voters had cast their ballots in the first two hours this morning.

Polls remain open until 8 p.m.

City Clerk Ada R. Evans predicted last week that 7,000 voters would cast ballots for seven city commissioners and a charter amendment.

Since the March primary, precinct 30 has been temporarily relocated to the Casa Del Rey Apts. at 111 Oneida Rd. instead of at the Congregation B'nai Israel.

Voters in six of the seven districts will choose between an incumbent and six candidates, two of whom are former commissioners. In District 7 another former commissioner, Benjamin M. Gates will be vying with Gilbert W. Long for this post.

The Pontiac Press will give telephone returns on city election results, beginning at 9 p.m.

The post was left vacant when Commissioner Harry W. Lutz declined another bid for a two-year term.

All voters will be contronted with a charter amendment to change the date of future city general election to the third Monday in April instead of the present first Monday.

The change was recommended by the city clerk to allow sufficient time for voter registration between the March primary and the following April election.

If adopted, the amendment would take effect in the 1958 general election and would allow registrants to have several days between the future elections in which to register.

Those seeking City Commission seats are:

District 1—Dr. Roy V. Cooley and Samuel J. Whiters.

District 2—Philip E. Rowston and Frank O'Brien.

District 3—William W. Donaldson and Earl J. Smith.

District 4—Floyd P. Miles and Norman R. Bolton.

District 5—John A. Dugan and Pat Stoglin.

District 6—John E. Carry and J. H. Patrick Glynn.

District 7—Benjamin M. Gates and Gilbert W. Long.

A simple majority of those voting today will decide the fate of the amendment as well as the election of the commissioners.

Mrs. Evans said she expect voter participation to pick up in the afternoon hours, especially around 3:30, until the polls close.

Predict Showers, Warmer Tonight

There will be showers and thunder showers beginning early tonight and continuing through tomorrow. However, it will be warmer tonight and mild tomorrow.

Will Today's Voting End Paper Ballots?

An era in Pontiac's history dating back to 1837 may come to an end tonight when the last paper ballot drops through the slot of the voting box.

Two months after the state legislators and governor approved Pontiac's incorporation as a village, the town's people "duly elected" seven trustees in the first use of paper ballots.

Millions of ballots and 119 years later, Pontiac voters go to the polls today to elect seven commissioners and decide a charter amendment on what could possibly be the last use of paper ballots in the city.

On Feb. 8, the City Commission approved the rental of 80 voting machines on a one-year trial basis.

City Clerk Ada R. Evans expects the machines to be available for the August primary.

After a one year rental, it will be up to the commission to decide whether to purchase the machines for permanent use or revert back to paper ballots for future elections.

Hundreds of hopeful city leaders have had their names appear on these ballots. Some have appeared but once, while others have been listed many times.

A variety of charter amendments and referenda have been placed under the pencils of Pontiac voters, for the traditional "X" signifying approval or disapproval.

In March voters took up their pencils to cast ballots approving a $600,000 municipal parking lot program.

And after 8 p.m. today, the paper ballot era closes in Pontiac.

At least for a year, and possibly for the remainder of the city's history, machines will record the public's decisions.

Beginning — The Truth About Cancer

One in Every Two Can Be Cured if Treated in Time

By DR. CHARLES S. CAMERON
Medical and Scientific Director of the American Cancer Society

There are men and women living today who were born into a world where cancer was, with few exceptions, the equivalent of a sentence of death.

Except for small surface cancers—mostly those on the skin—cancer was rarely cured.

That is no longer true. Over the last two generations medical science has made it possible to transfer one kind of cancer after another from the category of "incurable disease" to that of "curable."

Today, one-half of all cancer patients can be saved—IF

That IF explains why about only half of those who could be cured are actually cured. It is the reason for 80,000 needless deaths from cancer every year in the United States.

The big IF is nothing more than this: One in every two cancer patients can be cured IF treated in time.

Cancer is unique for other reasons: In no other disease of comparable seriousness do the first warning signs seem so trivial. Early symptoms are indistinguishable from a host of minor complaints which we have all safely ignored or regarded lightly.

WHAT ARE THE CHANCES?

Many cancers are incurable from the beginning. Generally there is no way of establishing the presence of cancer until it has grown large enough to be felt as a lump, or seen — sometimes by X-ray pictures.

All too often, by the time this is possible, the disease has already passed into the incurable stage.

Why? Simply because some cancers spread, not only by direct extension, but by loosening cells from the original cancer and setting them adrift in the body to be carried to some distant location.

There they lodge and set up a new focus of cancer with all the capacity for unrestrained growth.

The spread of cancer by the transplanting of colonies is responsible for most deaths from cancer. Even early diagnosis is not always enough.

WHAT IS CANCER?

Cancer is an abnormality of cell reproduction. A normal growth is an overproduction of cells without apparent purpose. Sooner or later, this relatively rapid reproduction of cells comes to form a cell mass known as a tumor.

There are two kinds of tumors, benign and malignant. Benign tumors do not as a rule, endanger life. Cells comprising such a tumor differ little from normal cells.

Malignant tumors "tending to go from bad to worse — tending to kill," differ in structure and behavior from the benign.

Generally, the more abnormal the cells, the more malignant the cancer. The greater the difference in the microscopic appearance of cancer from normal tissue, the more active or "virulent" it is likely to be and the more uncontrollable its course.

NO RACE FREE

Today, no race of man nor any national or ethnic group appears to be free from cancer. But the number of cancer deaths is clearly not an accurate index of how many people get cancer.

For instance, the commonest cancer of all—cancer of the skin—takes relatively few lives, because

City Election Polls Remain Open Until 8 o'Clock Tonight

Postal Rate Hike Still Undecided

Slate More Witnesses on Issue Aired Before House for 3 Weeks

WASHINGTON (AP)—Possibility of postal rate increases — aired for three weeks before a House committee—still was anybody's guess today.

The House Post Office Committee has more witnesses to hear when Congressmen return from the Easter recess next week. They are expected to include post office representatives recalled to explain their cost accounting figures again.

The crux of the testimony so far is a question — should the post office be a public service or should it be a business paying its own way? And if it should pay its own way, how do you figure how much it costs?

"We believe the American people want their post office department to operate on a self-sustaining basis," Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield told the committee at the outset of the hearings.

He has won support for that theory from some witnesses, but others have contended the postal service should be considered more a service benefiting everyone, and therefore should be subsidized by the government.

Summerfield asked for the rate increases to help erase the postal deficit which has averaged 450 million dollars a year during the last 10 years and achieve financial stability in the department.

The increases would be one cent an ounce additional on first class and air mail and generally about 30 per cent raises on second and third class mail, principally newspapers, magazines and advertising.

Pittsburgh Air Crash Snuffs Out 22 Lives

Capt. Raymond F. McQuade, the 33-year-old pilot from Red Bank, N.J., is in fair condition.

The plane was scheduled to fly to Newark, N.J., with stops at Harrisburg, Allentown and Reading, Pa.

CLEAR NIGHT

It was a bright and clear Easter Sunday evening as the plane lifted from the runway. Thousands at the airport were watching a colored fountain illuminated as climax of the city's Easter celebration.

Witnesses saw the plane's lights shining as it roared down the runway. Then came a rumble, a flash, a brilliant column of flame.

Clayton Hill, a civilian asistant fire chief for an Air Force squadron stationed at the airport, said he and other firemen reached the ship within three or four minutes. They helped a dozen people crawling from the burning wreckage.

ESCAPE THROUGH HOLE

"We couldn't do anything for those left inside," Hill said. Several survivors told how they and others escaped through a hole ripped in the fuselage.

John E. McCarthy, 32, of nearby Castle Shannon, said:

"If there were any screams from those trapped inside they were drowned out by the roar of the flames. The plane was destroyed within five minutes."

It was TWA's first accident in 13 months in which the airline has flown more than four million passengers more than four billion miles.

Identification was proceeding slowly at the morgue. The coroner's office reported it had established final identification of five bodies. Other identifications were listed as tentative pending arrival of relatives.

Most of the 21 bodies in the morgue were burned beyond recognition. Identification may involve detailed checking, including dental work.

Survivor 'Walked on Bodies'

Tells of Grisly Escape From Blazing Plane Crash

By WILLIAM TROUT
As Told to INS

SEWICKLEY, Pa.—God, help me, but I know I stepped on people getting out of there.

I've been flying for 40 years . . . first time in Baltimore in 1914 . . . but never anything like this.

We left on time. I was sitting on the right side, just by the motor. I sat back, started reading a magazine. I was waiting for my supper. I didn't hear anything wrong with the engines. It didn't seem we were even off the ground. Then she hit.

The lights went out. I heard moaning and groaning.

Look . . . man's only object is to get out. I lost my glasses and my eyes were covered with blood, I got out. I don't know whether it was through an emergency door or a hole in the side.

There was no fire when I staggered out, but when I looked back, there were flames inside. I could see a boy embracing his mother.

The first outside help came from the national guardsmen stationed at the airbase. They put me in the front seat of the ambulance, but we were in an abandoned strip mine and the ambulance got stuck.

When they finally got it out, everybody for miles around seemed to have driven to the place, and we couldn't get through. The fire trucks couldn't get in either.

Police eventually guided us out.

And here I am (hospitalized with a deep cut on the forehead, possible skull fracture and internal injuries.) I lost 95 cents on the deal, out of my pocket . . . and the dinner.

By JOHN ALEXANDROWICZ

PITTSBURGE (INS)—I started out for Greater Pittsburgh Airport last night to get some sparkling pictures of beauty and joy. I came back with sickening scenes of horror, heartbreak and death.

On my way back to the office from a routine assignment of photographing the spring turn-on of the airport's color-drenched fountain, I heard the wail of sirens and braked to a stop. I called my office, found out about the crash and headed to the scene.

I saw a bright orange glow across the field long before I found the plane. A quarter-mile trek through mud and trees brought me to the horrifying scene. The plane was ripped, torn apart and flaming. The heat was intense.

The passengers still in the plane were beyond help. The interior of the cabin was filled with blackened bodies, still smoking—some in sitting positions in their seats. Others were twisted in grostesque poses.

Over the whole tragic scene lingered the stomach-turning smell of burning flesh. On the far side of the plane a head was jammed through the side of the cabin.

The most pitiful and heartbreaking sight was the removal of the bodies after the wreckage cooled.

I was so shaken that I couldn't remember where I had parked my car.

Cabinet Calling Ike's Brother

President May Decide to Ask Milton; Depends on Second Term

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON (INS) — President Eisenhower is thinking of bringing his brother, Dr. Milton Eisenhower, into the administration—probably as a member of the Cabinet—if the chief executive is re-elected this fall.

The move would be without historical precedent, since no other president has had a member of his immediate family in his official cabinet.

A close associate of the President told this correspondent today that Ike would have given Milton a top post long before now, except for the family relationship.

RESPECTS JUDGMENT

Pointing out that Eisenhower is turing "more and more" to the president of Pennsylvania State University for advice and counsel, he declared: "The President leans more heavily on Milton than anyone else. He has great respect for his brother's judgment and governmental know-how. He would like to have him down here permanently."

Dr. Eisenhower, frequently in Washington to consult with the President, accompanied him last week on the "new style diplomacy" mission to White Sulphur Springs, where Ike met with the heads of the Canadian and Mexican governments. Early in the Eisenhower administration, Milton also represented his brother as special ambassador on a good-will trip through Latin America.

Milton, the youngest Eisenhower brother, will be 57 in August. Before becoming a college president, he had a long governmental career dating from 1926 in the Agriculture Department and the Office of War Information. Ike has relied heavily on Milton in mapping his controversial farm program which is now having rough sledding in Congress.

Treated and released from St. Joseph Mercy Hospital were: Mrs. Lucille Ross, 25, of 605 S. Paddock St. and her daughter, Merra; as well as the other driver, Marvin D. Wilson, 32, of 5128 Pontiac Lake Rd. and his wife, Mary S., 30, and mother, Mary B., 65, of 11 Hazel Bend.

2 Area Men Injured When Autos Collide

Two men were admitted to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital this morning after an accident at South Boulevard and Livernois road.

Donald Howland, 28, of Leonard, suffered a fractured leg and ribs when his car collided with one driven by R. D. Clifford, 32, of Clawson, who suffered a fractured leg and lacerations.

Both are in "fair" condition. No details of the accident were immediately available to Oakland County Sheriff's deputies.

Three Persons Injured in Rear-End Collision

Three persons were treated for minor injuries at Pontiac General Hospital Saturday morning after an accident on M24 near Indianwood Road, Orion Township.

Thomas J. Deegan, 47, of Lake Orion, told Sheriff's deputies a car driven by Charles P. Nasca, 56, of Detroit, hit him from the rear as he was preparing to make a right turn.

Deegan, Nasca, and 44-year-old Jim Bartlay of Lake Orion, a passenger with Deegan, were injured.

Killer Suspects Hinted Captured

Alleged Murderers of Detroit Couple Nabbed Near Guatemala

MEXICO CITY (INS) — The alleged murderers of Detroit industrialist Everett Kennison and his wife, Pauline, were reported today to have been arrested near the Guatemalan border.

Police sources said William Shelton and Joseph O'Brien were arrested in the town of Punta Paloma in the state Chiapas.

Police said the arrest was made by Major Estanislao Altamirano with a group of federal agents.

Shelton was armed with a .45 calibre gun and O'Brien had a .38.

According to reports, they were taken by surprise while eating in a small restaurant and they put up no resistance.

BOTH DENY SLAYINGS

Both reportedly denied having anything to do with the murders of the Kennisons, whose nude and mutilated bodies were found near Victoria in northern Mexico.

The two men said they fled because they read in the newspapers that they were being sought in connection with the murders and feared arrest.

Police sources said the men admitted they knew the Kennisons were carrying a large sum of money and jewelry but claimed they did not know what became of the valuables.

The two men crossed practically all of Mexico and were ready to enter Guatemala when they were arrested.

Federal police are bringing them back to Mexico City.

U.S. Millionaire Dies at French Riviera

JUAN-LES-PINS, France (AP) — Frank Jay Gould, 78, millionaire American railroad heir who created the gay Riviera resort of Juan-les-Pins and who was the youngest son of railroad magnate Jay Gould died yesterday.

His third wife, Florence Lacaze, a former Parisian actress, was at his bedside when he died of uremia after being confined 13 years at his palatial villa, "Soleil d'Or" (Golden Sun).

Gould's career was a milder echo of the drama staring his buccaneering father, who battled Cornelius Vanderbilt for the Erie Railroad and almost cornered the gold market in a bold maneuver that brought on the "Black Friday" crash of 1869.

He came into his share of the $83 million fortune at 19 and promptly began building it up in railroads. At the time of his death, his holdings stretched into United States bank and oil firms, French restaurants and interests in Switzerland and Tangiers.

Funeral service will be conducted Wednesday at his widow's villa here.

Baby Critically Hurt as 2 Autos Collide

A baby girl, 3 months, is in critical condition today because of injuries suffered in a two-car collision last night in which her mother and sister, 1½, also were injured.

The girl, Theresa Shuler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Perry B. Shuler, 211 W. Strathmore Ave., suffered a fractured skull, according to authorities in Pontiac General Hospital.

The accident occurred, according to Shuler, 32, when his car, going east on Kennett Rd. was struck while making a left turn onto N. Stanley Ave. The other driver, Edgar J. Carter, 25, of 451 S. Telegraph Rd., told Pontiac police he was going west on Kennett and did not see the Shuler car in time to stop.

Mrs. Lorena Shuler, 22, her other daughter, Janet, were both released after treatment for cuts and bruises.

Early Voting Light Today at Bloomfield Hills

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Voting was exceptionally light during the morning hours as this city voted for two commissioners today. Unopposed for reelection to the governing board were Mayor James A. Beresford and Carlton G. Eden.

COAL MAN DIES — Harry M. Moses, industry spokesman and president of the Bituminous Coal Operators Assn. in contract dealings with the United Mine Workers Union, died in Washington, D.C. yesterday at the age of 59.

Plan Price Increase to Milk Consumers

did not indicate that pickets would be called away from beseiged processing plants.

Oakland County deputies yesterday escorted three convoys to the Wayne County line and experienced no trouble along the way, according to Sheriff Frank W. Irons.

The law officers were called out later, however, to quell violence at the Lapeer County boundary after three cars of pickets swarmed over the line of trucks, smashing windows and hurling verbal abuse at the drivers.

BLOCKADE STATION

The MMPA station at Ortonville is still blockaded by pickets of the Fair Share group who reportedly are still keeping several trucks from moving toward Detroit with their milk.

The Borden Co. depot at Romeo is reported surrounded by some 50 pickets in a 24-hour daily vigil, but the besiegers are said to be peaceful. No milk was received at the plant yesterday and only 2,000 pounds Saturday.

Two women pickets were slightly injured Saturday when a gravel truck carrying milk allegedly swerved suddenly into the strikers in an effort to reach the plant's loading dock.

PLAN ARRAIGNMENT

The driver, Robert Curry of Almont, is scheduled to be arraigned today on investigation of assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than murder.

According to Romeo state police, a number of farmers have complained that cars, apparently carrying Fair Share strikers, have driven back and forth in front of their farms. Each of the beleaguered farmers had earlier attempted to deliver their milk to Romeo.

Despite isolated violence by members, Fair Share Chairman Rolland Brengle indicated to newsmen yesterday that the strike might end this week.

Earlier in the day, police were rushed to Elsie and Ovid, 100 miles northwest of Detroit, where striking dairy farmers attacked milk carriers.

SMASH WINDSHIELDS

Angry pickets smashed windshields of two tankers pulling out of the Elsie depot for Detroit.

One tanker ran out of control, sideswiped two cars and narrowly missed several pickets before gaining the highway and police protection.

An open-bodied truck also was attacked by the stone-throwing strikers. Its windshields were smashed but none of the 14 nonstrikers guarding the milk was injured.

At Ovid, 10 miles south, six big milk trucks were ringed by 100 pickets at a collecting station and for a time were halted.

Donald S. Leonard, a candidate for the Republican nomination as governor, sided today with the Fair Share Bargaining Assn. in its milk price fight.

The former state police commissioner, who was defeated as the GOP nominee two years ago, visited Fair Share headquarters in Detroit last night and told leaders of the insurgent group:

"Unless this fight is won it will mean that the small dairy farmer will be forced out of business by the big producers. The situation will get out of hand with a few controlling production. Then the consumer will really suffer."

Leonard was state milk administrator during World War II.

Commissioners Will Hear City Bus Service Plan

BIRMINGHAM — A bus service that would cover the northeast sector of the city and later the entire city is planned by two men, who have incorporated under the name of Suburban Shopper, Inc.

Plans for the service go before the City Commission tonight. J. L. Ward Jr. and John E. Trainor in their communication to city officials say they would operate three Volkswagen buses. The buses, which the men want to order as soon as they gain city approval, would hold 10 passengers plus the driver.

Local merchants are favorable to the service, Ward and Trainor say. They also quote the Greyhound manager here as expressing no objections to their plan. He indicates that it would help contribute to Greyhound's service and help those beyond Greyhound routes, they say.

The men have set May 1 as date for starting operations.

Other considerations before commissioners tonight are condemnation of properties for Parking Lot HH at Hunter and Hamilton, a report suggesting waiving the residential requirement for policemen and firemen, and a revision of cost estimate for the Eton road pavement project.

Litigation involving the city and two groups wishing to change zoning on Southfield is explained in a city manager's communication to the Commission. He describes sewer and other improvements needed for home development there and asks city approval.

The city clerk indicated this morning that voting so far had been light in the city's 11 precincts. There were 41 absentee ballots issued, and 11,963 voters registered, she says. Balloting is on two commission posts, charter amendments, and two proposals.

Holy Name Men's Club will elect officers at an 8:30 p.m. meeting tonight in St. Anne's Hall.

Car Kills Troy Boy on Visit to Saginaw

A three-year-old Troy boy, Richard Hollingsworth Jr. of 690 Sylvanwood, was killed Easter Sunday when he ran into the path of a station wagon on the Saginaw city limits near the home of his grandparents.

Richard Hollingsworth Sr., 41, his wife, 29 and their four young children had spent the Easter holiday at the grandparents' home on S. Center road. Richard and his sister, Karen, 8, were playing beside the road watching the water race through a drainage ditch when the tot suddenly pulled away from his sister and ran into the road, police said there. The driver of the station wagon was not held.

Richard has two other sisters, Judy 4, and Peggy, 2. The father is a millwright foreman with Thomas Goodfellow, Inc., Detroit.

Funeral service will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday from J. J. Wessels Funeral Home, Pleasant Ridge with burial in White Chapel Cemetery, Troy.

Leads Officials to Halt Woodward Excavating

HUNTINGTON WOODS — City Manager Fred L. Yockey here led several city officials to a busy scene where ditch-digging machines and a dozen workmen dug trenches Saturday on West Woodward south of 11 Mile road. The digging stopped almost immediately and workmen shoveled the dirt back into excavations.

Digging followed the turn-down of nine property owners who had applied for permits to build businesses in the section. The property in question was formerly zoned residential, and a state supreme court decision a month ago held such zoning "unreasonable."

Following the decision Huntington Woods officials rezoned the area for multiple-family residential or office building use.

Motorcyclist Caught After Wild Chase

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — When three warning shots above a Pontiac motorcyclist's head failed to stop him, a Bloomfield Hills police officer swung his car against the motorcycle, knocking its driver to the ground.

The motorcyclist, who police say went from 110-115 m.p.h. up Opdyke road Saturday is Paul Green Jr. of 626 Tennyson, Pontiac. Green, 28, a truck driver, is a member of a motorcycle club in Pontiac. He is married, with several children.

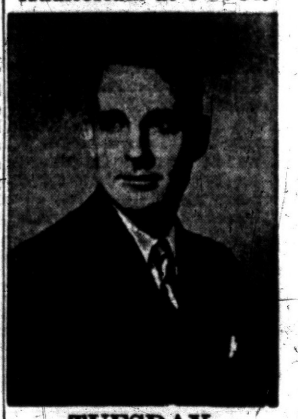

Chief of Police Stanley Kevern is recommending that Green be restrained from riding the motorcycle, although he says he may not advise license revoking, because it would prevent the man from driving his truck as well.

Green was sentenced to 30 days in jail aind given a $100 fine plus $15 costs this morning when he appeared before Bloomfield Hills Justice Alva Richardson on the reckless driving charge.

Junior Doesn't Remember Those Days

BVD Joke Draws Blank With Young Set

By RELMAN MORIN
(For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP)—In a Broadway show of recent date, there was a joke that sometimes drew a laugh, and sometimes a ghastly blank, depending on the average age of the audience. It was built around a reference to B.V.D.s.

Does that take you back, brother?

Does it carry you back to the Stutz Bearcat and the Stanley steamer? Can you still see Wallace Reid and Mary Miles Minter and Baby Peggy and Charles Ray? Does it remind you of meatless and wheatless days, a song called "The Rose of No Man's Land," a place called Chateau Thierry, "Over the Top," Woodrow Wilson's 14 points, and Charles G. Dawes' upside - down pipe?

It did me.

Somehow though, while we weren't looking, a whole new generation has come along and these youngsters find nothing automatically funny about B. V. D.'s. To them this could mean any number of articles of apparel, for the firm has branched out considerably.

But in my day, sonny, it meant underwear, a one - piece suit of underwear.

You kind of backed into it, as I remember, stepping first into the legs which were knee-length, and then fighting your way through the arms. Then it buttoned down the front, and there you were.

Well, the firm is celebrating its 80th anniversary this year, and the officers are having a lot of fun looking back.

FOUNDERS' INITIALS

The trademark came from the initials of the founders, Bradley, Voorhees and Day.

A big seller in the early days, however, was not men's underwear. It was the "spiral bustle."

A fetching advertisement from a spiral bustle with demure approval. It resembles the skeleton of a small mountain lion. The text says it is "the coolest and most durable bustle made."

Then the famous men's underwear began to catch on. Somebody coined the slogan, "Next to myself, I like B. V. D. best." an old magazine shows a lady with an hour-glass figure (and not bad, sport, not bad!) examining

The late William Allen White in one of his brochures on American business, credited this with making the product "familiar to the natives along the Gold Coast and to the wild man from Borneo."

The ads were illustrated with long, lean gentlemen, telephoning, reading letters, chatting or just looking pleased, all in underwear. I believe Howard Chandler Christy drew them, and they were beautiful guys with profiles and crisp, curly hair. Wow!

Then, the present-day shirt-and-shorts began to move in on the orthodox B. V. D.'s. Nobody is quite sure why.

Some of the officers believe it was just the public being fickle, as usual. Others think it may have had some connection with World War I and the talk about "cooties."

JUST A LOUSE

A "cootie," junior, was a louse that infested the trenches, and made his home in the seams of the soldiers' uniforms.

In due course, the one - piece suit was definitely passed in popularity. I was surprised, however, to hear that about a million of these are still sold every year.

Guess who buys them. Lumberjacks, and north woodsmen, mainly, the firm says.

There was an interesting milestone in 1934, too. That was the year when Clark Gable took off his shirt in "It Happened One Night." He was wearing no undershirt! Sales fell off 40 per cent the BVD executives say.

They don't even like to think about it.

Mail transportation in the United States varies from ocean and helicopters to the prime dog teams and mail carriers on skis.

Negro Leaders Ask Vote Action

Urge Steps to Increase Registration; Call for Civil Rights Measure

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Negro leaders urged steps be taken to increase voting registration among their race and called for prompt congressional action on civil rights legislation as a means of lessening Southern resistance to racial integration yesterday.

Rep. Diggs (D-Mich) told a membership rally of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People at Montgomery, Ala., that Negro registration should be stepped up "so that when our children go to bed at night they can dream realistically that someone like the Rev. King can be a congressman from the state of Alabama."

Diggs referred to the Rev. M.L. King, Negro Baptist minister, who recently was convicted of violating Alabama's antiboycott law in connection with the prolonged Montgomery bus boycott. King has appealed a $500 fine.

The Negro congressman warned that the boycott method of protest should not be used "indiscriminately" unless "a carefully drawn set of circumstances makes this a reasonable method of retaliation."

He was the featured speaker at a rally at which NAACP officials reported they had signed up 1,583 new members. The NAACP said Saturday that there were fewer than 1,000 members in the city.

'A' Peace Prize Plans Revealed

Announce Final Details for Awards to Total Up to $75,000

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., (INS) — Dr. James R. Killian, Jr. president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, today announced final details of the organization of the Atoms for Peace Awards, Inc.

Killian, chairman of the organization, said the corporation is the first set up to make international awards for outstanding contributions to the peaceful uses of atomic energy.

The organization's first awards were announced in Geneva, Switzerland, during last summer's international atomic energy conference.

FORD DONATES FUNDS

Killian said the atoms for peace awards were made possible by an appropriation of the Ford Motor Company fund, as a memorial to Henry Ford and his son, Edsel.

The award will consist of a medal, accompanied by a cash "honorarium" of up to $75,000. It will be given by the corporation trustees "solely on the basis of the merit of the contributions, wherever found in the world."

Killian said the medal and the cash award may be withheld in any year during which the trustees of the fund fail to discover a candidate "pre-eminently meriting."

Trustees invited to serve the corporation are: Dr. Killian, Dr. Detlev W. Bronk, Dr. Ralph J. Bunch, Dr. Arthur H. Compton, Mildred McAfee Horton, Dr. Mervin J. Kelly, and Dr. Alan T. Waterman.

MEMBER OF AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS

MONDAY, APRIL 2, 1956

Trustees Wisely Drop Costly School Design

For the very sensible reason that they cost too much, Pontiac's Board of Education has abandoned the idea of building circular domed multi-purpose additions to eight elementary schools.

When the idea of these novel structures first was advanced, it was greeted with enthusiasm. School officials and board members alike voiced great interest and it was estimated that all could be built at a total cost of $1,300,000.

This enthusiasm cooled suddenly, however, when the low bids received by the board showed the buildings would cost at least $2,000,000 or $700,000 more than the estimate.

A revision of the bids resulted in a new and lower figure of $781,000 being presented to the board for three of the multipurpose rooms and already planned classrooms. Of that sum $421,000 was accounted for by the proposed domed ceiling unit.

After considering the matter in a special session, the board decided the idea was too expensive and dropped it. President Schimmel said the bid of $781,000 for the three schools was $81,000 more than the district could afford.

Taxpayers indeed are fortunate that their school affairs are in the hands of such level headed members. Decisions like this call not only for sound business judgment but financial realism.

Lecture Pleases Ike

When Professor Massimo Salvadori of Smith College set about chiding misinformed foreign critics of the United States, he won President Eisenhower's interest.

The Chief Executive's reaction was that he would like to bring the lecture to the country's attention. In it, as a foreigner, the professor refuted point by point false notions about the U. S. which are widespread among educated foreigners.

For example, he informed the critics that more books per capita are read here than anywhere else in the world. Next, he emphasizd that differences in wealth between economic groups are less in the United States than in any other country.

Besides pointing out that U. S. business interests are opposed to war, the lecturer corrected the impression abroad that our prosperity is merely the result of great natural resources. Finally, he dismissed fears that American technological methods would increase unemployment, by asserting that mechanization soon creates more employment than it displaces.

Professor Salvadori has won acclaim with what reviewers have called a remarkable 100 page book, "The Rise of Modern Communism." In one of its passages appears a statement that should hearten all anti-Communists.

"If non-Communist states can —and there is no reason why they should not—. . . hold their own for a generation or so," he wrote, "they are likely to be faced at the end of that period by a Communism that has lost most of its present dynamic energy."

50 Years of Boys' Clubs

This first week of April stands out for Pontiac Boys' Club as one of the most important of the year.

The reason is that the 1,717 members and their Executive Director, William V. Coulacos, have made elaborate plans for celebrating the Golden Anniversary of the Boys' Club movement.

The first clubs were organized nearly a hundred years ago in the textile towns of New England. But it was not until 1906 that the movement became nationwide with 53 clubs. Today there are 425 in the United States with a total membership of 400,000.

The Pontiac Boys' Club launched in 1944 has grown surprisingly and now occupies a well equipped club house on East Pike Street. From the outset it has had the unfailing interest and generous support of many of the City's most prominent and civic leaders.

Every day hundreds of boys take advantage of the club's excellent facilities for healthful recreation and instruction in useful arts and crafts.

The people of Pontiac owe the club congratulations on this memorable anniversary. Since it was launched 12 years ago, juvenile delinquency has decreased considerably in the club neighborhood. In our view its organization is one of the finest things that ever happened to this community.

The Man About Town

$250 Is the Prize

Annual Baseball Contest Is Now Open for Your Entries

Baseball: An infectious disease that becomes extra contagious about this time of the year.

Today the MAT Baseball Contest for 1956 starts. The prize is $250 in U.S. Savings Bonds. It costs nothing to be a contestant. Do you want that prize?

It goes to the person who submits the nearest correct answer to:

What player who has been at bat at least 25 times will be leading the American League on the night of Friday, April 27, and what will be his batting average?

Every member of your family is eligible to compete, but each entry must be on a separate piece of paper. Pontiac Press employes and members of their immediate families are barred from competing.

You do not have to fill out a coupon, write an essay, complete a jingle, or do anything else except to write out your prediction, and see that it arrives in the Press office by Saturday noon, April 14.

Every entrant agrees to abide by the decision of the judges, which will be final.

In the $2,000 in bonds that have been awarded in this annual contest since 1948, the ladies have won $1,625, placing them very much in the majority. We wonder if this year they will continue to be better fans than the men.

Last year the $250 prize went to

of 224 West Longfellow Ave. In 1954 it was divided between

Robert I. McCormick

of 76½ Newberry St., and

Mrs. Bernice G. Jozwik

of Drayton Plains. In 1953 it went to

Miss Betty Whitson

of 495 Harper Ave. The 1952 winner was

Miss Joyce McQuaid

of 129 Osceola Drive. In 1951

Mrs. Loretta Stricklin

of 2500 Silver Drive, got the bonds, and

Mrs. E. J. Peterman

of 38 Murphy Ave., won in 1950. In 1949

Donald Jo Lovse

of 142 Cadillac Ave., was the winner, and in 1948

Mrs. Marie Eggert

of 437 North Saginaw St., got the $250.

Always the Same Guy Playing Post Office

David Lawrence Says:

Sensible, Individual Study May Solve Plight of Small Business Outfits in U. S.

WASHINGTON—Lately there has developed in Congress an understandable concern for the "small" businesses of America, and legislation has been proposed to help them.

But the more such proposals are studied the more they appear to be methods of impairing and retarding larger businesses —the companies which employ the largest number of employes.

The sensible approach — to study the weaknesses of small businesses and enable them to grow stronger by the very methods used by the larger concerns—has not seeped in yet. This is largely because those members of Congress who usually attempt to discuss these problems are themselves not familiar by personal experience with the fundamental questions that plague small business in America.

First of all, there is little understanding of just what is meant by a "small" business. Sen. Fulbright of Arkansas, Democrat, who is rightly concerned about the tax question as it affects smaller companies, offered an amendment last month which would give companies with incomes of less than $225,000 a slightly lower corporation tax to pay while those with incomes in excess of that sum would be required to pay more taxes than under present law.

'WHAT IS SMALL?'

But the question is "what is small?" One steel business with a volume of sales annually of $300,000,000 considers itself a "small steel company" when it views its larger competitor like the U. S. Steel Corp. with a volume of sales running close to two billion dollars.

Too often it is forgotten that a company in some industries which makes even $10,000,000 a year in profits before taxes is unable to build up quickly the plant and equipment necessary to compete with the larger companies in its field because the tax laws take 52 per cent a year out of these earnings and leave little for future development after setting aside reserves and paying the wages of invested capital.

This means little is available for new plant and machinery to bring costs down. The tax deduction permitted through "depreciation" of equipment bought helps to some extent but not enough.

The statistics of income really afford no answer. Size is relative. The hazards of small business are great. Hence investors hesitate to buy stock in them. Worst of all is the way the big labor unions have been frustrating the growth of small businesses.

Harold Ruttenberg, who used to be a CIO leader alongside the late Phil Murray and now is the president of a small steel manufacturing company, gave an interview to U. S. News & World Report a few weeks ago outlining the damage done by labor-union leaders nowadays to small businesses in the manufacturing industries.

WAGES NOT THE ANSWER

He didn't advocate differentials in pay as between employes in large and small businesses. He said this wouldn't solve anything. But he did say labor-union leaders could modernize their thinking and help to get larger productivity and more efficiency into the small plants. It's an area that hasn't been explored at all by Congress and affords more opportunity for improving the health of small businesses than any tax favors.

It is true that small businesses have trouble raising equity capital and need to be able to keep more out of their earnings. But soundly managed businesses of all sizes can get working capital at least from banks today. There has been tremendous progress in that line through three- and five-year loans. These were unheard of twenty-five years ago. Likewise, plant and machinery can be bought on equipment mortgages.

Sen. Fulbright in a recent Senate speech said frankly he didn't have any solution to the problem but he helped the cause by drawing attention to the nature of some of the things that plague small businesses.

The answer will be found only after a continuous study of individual cases—for there is much to be learned about the handicaps of small business and these cannot all be blamed on the large competitor. There are many persons in small businesses who lack the training and experience and even when they have it and build up their own companies, the inheritance tax laws often force them into mergers with large competitors. It's a subject that deserves more attention from Congress than it has been given.

Arthritis, Though Rare, Does Occur in Few Cases

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

In 20 months' experience as an intern in a 400-bed hospital in Buffalo, N. Y., as nearly as I can recall, there were not more than four or five cases of gonorrheal arthritis, among perhaps 200 or more cases of tuberculosis arthritis, pneumococcal arthritis, streptococcal arthritis, and other chronic or long lasting joint inflammations which were undiagnosed. Perhaps some of the undiagnosed cases were Brucellosis arthritis.

Of the 10,904,000 persons with chronic joint disability, 2,500,000 need bed or hospital care, according to The Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundaion.

While the Foundation makes no clear distinction between arthritis and rheumatism, I, Brady, submit that when we label chronic joint disability either "arthritis" (unqualified) or "rheumatism," we deceive ourselves and our patients. For when you think of it, you must admit that neither name conveys a hint as to the cause or nature of the joint trouble.

Here again I quote from the bulletin of the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation (May 11, 54):

"The principal shortcoming of modern drug therapy is that while the results are more dramatic and immediate, they disappear when medication is discontinued. Besides, the various drugs in use today have not shown conclusively that they can alter the natural course of the disease or prevent crippling."

Let me once again remind you poor souls who suffer with chronic joint disability merely calling it "arthritis" (Greek for joint inflammation) is not a diagnosis of the trouble, but rather a convenient way to evade a diagnosis—fashionably, as the "clinic" racketeers do it.

Well, then, what would I call it, if I'm so smart? I'm not smart enough to tell, without having examined the patient. However, since 99 out of a hundred cases of joint disability of insidious development and long standing (a year or more) are rheumatiz, that's what I'd call it.

Rheumatiz, I say, not "rheumatism." And I'll resume this article tomorrow, space permitting.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Lake Residents Request Better Motorboat Laws

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

A great many Michigan residents are much concerned about some of the statements made at a recent water safey clinic sponsored by the State Waterways Commission.

Education is not sufficient. It works too slowly. Present boating regulatoins are not adequate and stern laws are needed now. Motor boats should be registered and have proper identification marks.

If the Senate-approved bill is not reported out by your committee,, it is the duty of the Legislature to enact a bill that will suffice.

We voice the sentiments of a great many people, who not only have motor boats, but also enjoy canoeing, boating, fishing and swimming.

If Michigan is to measure up to being the "Water Wonderland," protect us from the reckless boat operators and the many speed demons, so many of whom are juveniles. Let us retain the wholesome recreation and diversion we get from our lakes and streams.

'Hanging Hilde' Tumbles From Favor in Germany

By JOHN H. MARTIN
INS Foreign Director

"Hanging Hilde" now is under attack by East German Red leaders in the loud flip-flopping done in the wake of Kremlin assaults on dead dictator Stalin.

Premier Otto Grotewohl in an address to the East German party congress aecused the justice ministry headed by Dr. Hilde Benjamin of making many illegal arrests.

Grotewohl not only picked a scapegoat but a woman in switching his views to the latest party line in Moscow.

Frau Benjamin first was nicknamed "Red Hilde" when she helped Stalinist officials establish the puppet regime in East Germany after World War II. She later became known as "Hanging Hilde" after promotions to the supreme court bench and in 1953 to the justice ministry.

In one three-month period in the enforced Sovietization of East Germany the 54-year-old woman's squeaky girlish voice sent two East Germans to the gallows, eight to life imprisonment, and 17 others to a total of 190 years at hard labor.

HUMORLESS GIRL

Hilde Langue grew up in Berlin and early acquaintances remember her as a humorless schoolgirl fired with energy and ambition.

Her respectable middle class family sent her to several universities. She became a doctor of law shortly after World War I and celebrated by joining the Communist Party.

She married Dr. Wilhelm Benjamin, a poor Jewish physician known for his frequent refusal to accept fees, in the early 1930s. He eventually perished in a Nazi concentration camp, and some attribute her bitter fanaticism to that tragedy.

She was banned from the courts after the Nazis obtained power in 1933. She worked for a pastry cook and as a garment worker and got her big break when the Red army marched in.

The Russians made her a state prosecutor and by 1950 she was vice president of the supreme court and its real head.

Frau Benjamin is mannish in appearance and likes Paris-fashioned tailored suits. She wears her hair drawn back severely into a bun.

Her courtroom approach was cold. Often she addressed her remarks not to the body of the court but to the Communists in the public gallery, evoking cheers which she smilingly acknowledged.

East German refugees who have felt her wrath have reported they never knew the charges against them until shortly before the trial and that she refused to allow testimony in their favor.

She has admitted that she modeled herself on another former state prosecutor, Russia's late Andrei Vishinsky, who carried out the famous Stalinist purge trials in the 1930s, trials that the Kremlin leaders now denounce as "monstrous."

Proud Introvert Less Likely to Be Chronic Borrower Than Extrovert

Lois is an "ape" girl, but you will find several of them in every high school. They tend to be extroverts. And they are imitating the early savage tribes that used to eat the hearts of their brave foes. So study Lois carefully and avoid her bad habits.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case R-319: Lois L., aged 17, is a vivacious high school senior.

"Dr. Crane, Lois is fairly popular," her father informed me, "but she has a bad habit that occasionally gets her into trouble.

"Lois chronically borrows clothes from other girls and then forgets to return them.

"She doesn't need those clothes, for her mother outfits her very generously and much beyond the average girl's wardrobe.

"But whenever Lois sees anything attractive on any of her girl friends, she wants to wear it. What is wrong with her, anyway?

EXTROVERTS BORROW

Lois, being the younger daughter is inclined to be the extrovert. And extroverts have little aversion to borrowing. Remember the Prodigal Son? He was a typical extrovert.

The oldest child is more shy and reticent. He hoards his possessions. He is usually squeamish about wearing the clothing of other people and doesn't like for them to borrow his things.

But the extrovert is casual, carefree and careless about meticulous details such as repayment dates and interest rates.

"Creditors," said Benjamin Franklin, "have better memories than debtors; they are a superstitious sect, great observers of set days and times."

Franklin was being humorous in thus describing the introvert (creditor) vs. the extrovert (debtor). But his observations are very true.

UNDULY PROUD

The introvert also tends to be extra proud. He doesn't like to feel under obligations to others. He wishes to win by his own unaided merit.

Thus, he may resent following in his father's footsteps, so he launches into a different trade or profession.

The extrovert sees that it is much easier to capitalize on his dad's pioneering, so he takes advantage of the chance to go into partnership with his father under a "Father and Son" label.

Even quiet, introvertive Abraham in Biblical times showed the typical independence and extra pride of the introvert.

For when four kings attacked Sodom, they captured Abraham's nephew Lot, plus all the city, and routed Sodom's king, plus several other monarchs leagued with him.

Abraham then armed his servants and vanquished the four invading kings, recovering Lot and all the other booty.

When the King of Sodom later asked Abraham to take all the spoils, except for the women and children, Abraham replied (Genesis 14:23)

". . . I will not take from a thread to a shoelatchet, and I will not take any thing that is thine, lest thou shouldest say, I have made Abraham rich."

Any Prodigal Son would have taken the loot gleefully! But that is a vital difference between introverts vs. extroverts.

APE GIRLS

Some girls who feel socially inferior, eagerly wish to "ape" or imitate their more popular classmates, which also explains the desire to wear the latter's clothes, necklaces and other jewelry.

Even early savage tribes did likewise. In fact, they'd eat the heart of brave foes, thinking this would then make them brave, too.

For an interesting "Test of Introverts vs. Extroverts," send for my "Vocational Guidance Kit," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents.

It contains several other tests that are fun for party games, as well as helpful yardsticks for building successful personalities.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Argentina Today Envisions an Era of Austerity

BUENOS AIRES (INS) — Juan Peron fled Argentina six months ago today, but the post-revolution regime still sturggles under the wreckage he left behind.

The reconstruction of the nation's finances, economy and government organization is a slow and agonizing job for the men who took over from the deposed dictator.

Impartial observers in Argentina believe, however, that the regime of provisional President Pedro Aramburu is doing well, despite some terrific handicaps.

Recent reports abroad that the government is "shaky" apparently have been based on still unconfirmed rumors that there will be a cabinet reshuffling this week.

Opinions outside the country that Aramburu is not doing so well apparently overlook the magnitude of the problems left by more than a decade of "Peronism."

AT THE BRINK

In brief, a once-prosperous nation was brought to the brink of financial and economic collapse.

Peron's much-vaunted "social policy" amounted to catering to the masses by increasing wages without regard to the inflationary effect. In a decade, salaries and wages rose ten-fold, but the cost of living reached a figure 20 times that of pre-Peron days.

Among the "legacies" of the dictatorship are some 3,000,000 youths who were indoctrinated in Peronism from their realiest and most impressionable years. To them, Peronism is "normal."

The re-education of this group can be accomplished only over a space of years and will be a problem for future administrations as well.

ERA OF AUSTERITY

Economic and financial problems are being tackled by the Aramburu administration with the aid of such top-flight economists as Raul Prebisch of the U.N. Economic Commission for Latin America.

An era of austerity has been decreed which experts feel will restore the nation's finances in four years.

Of course, austerity has not proved popular and many of Aramburu's advisers reportedly are urging that some measures directly affecting the consumer be softened.

Above all, Argentina is striving to obtain a stable purchasing power for her currency. To this end, the peso must be devalued further.

SKILLFUL JUGGLING

But the higher cost of living resulting from devaluation must be offset by wage and salary increases, but without provoking further price increases.

It takes skillful financial juggling to achieve all of these objectives.

The political opposition to the Aramburu government is madeup of three groups:

1. The Peronistas—The strongest. These are the million or more who benefited directly or indirectly under Peron. Now deprived of influence and privilege, they have provoked sporadic outbursts of violence and sabotage.

2. The Ultra-Nationalist Roman Catholics—They are the men who supported Peron until he began his attack on the church in 1954. They supported the late Gen. Eduardo Lonardi, who took over immediately following Peron's ouster last September.

3. The Communists—They are using the class hatred engendered by Peron for their own purposes. In effect, they are now allied to the Peronistas in fostering subversion.

Among the positive gains under the Aramburu government have been the restoration of press freedom, the re-establishment of university and judicial autonomy, the removal of many restrictions on business and the barring from elective office of the officials of the present government.

He Done Her Wrong

Pianist Debunks Romance of Chopin, Sand

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS)—Ever since Merle Oberon and Cornel Wilde made ecstatic love on a piano bench in Hollywood's version of the romance of Frederic Chopin and George Sand, I have figured the 19th Century couple for the greatest thing since Romeo and Juliet.

"Ah, he was dying in her arms as he wrote this," I have thought as I muddled moodily through Chopin's Etude No. 97.

Or, struggling to dissect Valse No. 32, I would visualize the composer surging with the thrill of creation — while Mme. Sand swung joyously and gently from the chandelier.

"It was a good romance for a short time, but it was not quite everything we may have thought it to be," a young expert told me today.

"Largely because of Chopin's impossible egotism, the couple split apart two years before his death. And he never even had the decency to get in touch with George Sand again."

VISITED CHATEAU

This disillusioning news comes from Byron Janis, one of America's most brilliant pianists, who has just returned from Nohant, France. This is the chateau where the frail Chopin and his sparkling novel-writing enamorata conducted their now-famous idyll.

Since Janis numbers more than 100 Chopin selections in his repertoire, he wanted to "gather inspiration" by visiting the site where some of the world's finest piano music was composed.

Once there, in the modest chateau the "lovers" shared, he met Mme. Aurora Sand, the 92-year-old granddaughter of George. Mme. Aurora uses the name "Sand" as a penname; she, like her literary predecessor, is a gifted writer.

"Mme. Sand told me that Chopin had a terrible ego," Janis said. "He was vain and almost impossible to get along with, although George Sand put her own highly successful career in the background so nothing would interfere with his music. She gave him everything—money, love, peace—to make him great," recalls the pianist sadly.

Finally, after seven years of accepting the lady's kindnesses, Chopin just walked out. "Mme. Sand says he never made one overture to come back, though George would have welcomed him with open arms."

CALLED "INGRATE"

As a result of this temperamental gesture, Janis says, the 20th Century Mme. Sand referred to Chopin as "an ingrate."

* * *

But, Byron Janis went on, what a talented ingrate he was!

While he was visiting Nohant, Janis played a Chopin selection for Mme. Sand on the master's own small pianoforte.

"It was a great inspiration for me," he remembers, "and it also softened her." She conceded that the physically and emotionally ill Chopin was a fine artist — even though he done her grandma wrong.

Though this knowledge of the latter-day personality of Frederic Chopin may be distressing to the romantic soul, it is not the least disillusioning to an artist like Janis.

Still only 27, he was playing on radio in Pittsburgh at age 5, gave his first concert at 9, and was a symphony soloist at 15.

After all that experience, you don't get to distrust a composer; you only get to love him more and more.

"Chopin may have had personal faults," Janis says lovingly, "but they come out on the keyboard sounding like heaven."

Railroad Pays Man;; It Took 58 Years

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—It took 58 years, but the railroad has finally paid the Rev. S. E. Gregg the $5.30 it owed him. The company wasn't holding out. He just never asked for the money before.

In 1898 before becoming a minister he got a job as a brakeman. After making one run of 265 miles he became ill and never went back.

When the Rev. Mr. Gregg, a Baptist minister, told Harvey Hartsell, a retired railroad man, about his 1-day railroading career, Hartsell suggested he write the company and ask for his pay. It amounted to $5.30, figured at the brakeman's scale in those days of 2 cents a mile.

74 Years of Military Rule Comes to End

Last British Fighting Force Withdraws From Suez

CAIRO (INS)—The last British fighting forces left the Suez Canal zone this past weekend, thus ending 74 years of British military power in Egypt.

By this morning the British army no longer will be able to exert a direct restraining influence on Egypt and Israel. The entire canal zone will be under Egyptian army control.

Without ceremony or fanfare, the last 1,500 British soldiers filed aboard the troopship Devonshire bound for Britain.

Their departure from Port Said early today carries vast strategic implications for the whole turbulent area.

So long as even a token fighting force remained in Suez the British were able to cut the only line of communication between Egyptian military headquarters in Cairo, and the Israeli frontier.

But starting now, the only purely British armed forces on the eastern shores of the Mediterrean will be modest air and armored units based in Jordan.

The biggest remaining British troop concentration in this area will be the embattled soldiers on Cyprus.

There are smaller units in stations on the Libyan and Persian gulf coats and some air units in Iraq.

Not even a full-scale Arab-Israeli war would authorize Britain to reoccupy Suez.

Under the terms of the Anglo-Egyptian agreement signed in October, 1954, Cairo guaranteed Britain's right to reactivate its Suez base only in the event of an armed "attack by an outside power" on any Arab league state or Turkey.

British Minister of War Antony Head recently told a news conference that Israel was not considered an "outside power."

The British are withdrawing their last fighting men 2½ months ahead of the June 18 deadline.

Then the only British remaining will be 600 civilians who have contracts to maintain the big British storehouses and workshops.

The floor space used to build one of the latest air transports by one American aircraft company would accommodate 20 battleships, 69 submarines, and 24 torpedo boats.

Surfacing M181 Cause of Hassle

METAMORA — The Michigan State Highway Department and the Lapeer County Road Commission are presently at odds over who will complete M181, the highway which runs from Metamora to Dryden and M53.

The debate is over the complete blacktopping of the road, which the county commission says was to have been done by the state, according to an earlier oral agreement.

State officials say they were to put the prime or sealer coat over the 13½-mile distance, and that the second coat or mat was to be done by the county.

This, says Don Witham, clerk of the county road commission, would cost $85,000, and the county commission does not have that amount of money.

The commissioners, in Lansing last week to reach an agreement on the road, did get a promise from the state to fix the numerous chuck holes on M181.

Worry of FALSE TEETH Slipping or Irritating?

Don't be embarrassed by loose false teeth slipping, dropping or wobbling when you eat, talk or laugh. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH on your plates. This pleasant powder gives a remarkable sense of added comfort and security by holding plates more firmly. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. It's alkaline (non-acid). Bob Considine Says:

'Two Rubles to Times Square'—Great Stuff

NEW YORK (INS)—Guy Richards, one of the top reporters on the New York Journal-American, has come up with one of the year's more provocative books — a thing of keen imagination and insight into fellow Americans entitled "Two Rubles to Times Square."

It would make exciting film fare. A brilliant Russian general, Alexis Mikhilovich Ketov, assigned by his government to carry out certain maneuvers in the Arctic, decides instead to land on U. S. soil. He chooses the southern tip of Manhattan. His ships sail placidly past our defenses and tie up at unused piers near the financial section, and without firing a shot Ketov blocks off the area and has 70,000 hostages.

"Their lives depend on your remaining calm," he announced in a communique to the rest of the U. S. "The penalty for not doing so will be heavy. Any person entering the Soviet perimeter without authority will be shot. And for every violation of this sort, ten additional hostages will be executed.

"Barring the above stipulations, it is emphasized that this situation is not a state of war. Life in the city, its regular business — its water supply and utility services—will continue, subject only to limited regulation, until such time as the aims of our mission are made known."

Great stuff.

REPLACE WITH DIVOTS

Four out of five adult men are either bald or getting that way fast, swears Louis Feder. Feder makes "divots," "doilies," "rugs" and whatever other names hairpieces are known under. It's the only solution to baldness, he says with pardonable prejudice. Feder's been wig conscious since he was a schoolboy in France. His teacher wore one that didn't fit and would bang down over his eyes—or fly off into space—every time he sneezed.

Crew cuts are going big, followed by "tousled" looks. Some men order partly bald wigs. Others take into account the mounting years and order ever-graying rugs.

It costs between $83 and $110 to cover a back bald spot with M. Feder's fine vegetation, and from $250 up for a full job, including temples and back.

ATTACKS HIS CRITIC

Ralph De Toledano is one book-writer who doesn't take a bad review lying down. Enraged by the way the "Saturday Review" took apart his most recent book, "Nixon," Toledano has issued a vigorous counter-rebuttal to the press.

Senses of Taste, Smell Appraised at $150,000

NEW YORK (INS) — The cash value of the senses of taste and smell has been placed at $150,000 by a New York court.

An award for that sum was granted yesterday to Robert Enroth, 38, of New York, for the loss of those senses as the result of a blow on the head by a falling iron bar. The judgment was against the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad.

South Africa's chemical output now exceeds $224,000,000 annually.

Reviewer Jack Steele's article on "Nixon" was "an unabashed attempt at character assassination," Toledano fumes. "Steele's primary objection to me and all my works is stated when he says: 'For want of a better word he might be classified as a doctrinaire and professional anti-Communist. Last year he accused some bookstores of refusing to sell his anti-Communist novel.'

"To dispose of that dead cat first," Toledano states, "I did not merely accuse but thoroughly documented with names, dates, witnesses, and places that certain stores were refusing to handle or sell my novel, in continuation of the anti-anti-Communist book-burning which has never seemed to concern the 'civil liberatarian' Saturday Review."

HACKIE TALKS BACK

New York cab driver Gerald Schumann is upset over the recent publication here of a letter from a Jersey motorist named Robert B. Griffin which recommended that New York cops give tickets each hour to our cabbies—to keep them in line.

"I don't recall running down a Mr. Griffin of late," Schumann writes. He adds a cryptic description of a wreck in which he was involved not long ago, and a patrolman's report: "The driver of the private car, while driving under the influence of liquor and without lights did speed through a red traffic signal and crash into the taxi.

Injuries as follows: Driver of the private car, none; driver of the taxi, fractured skull and chest injuries." Schumann concludes: "Jersey license."

'Dream Girl' Upsets Crashing Driver, 83

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)— Art Cartier, 83, drove his brand new car slowly down the sloping, spacious University of Utah lawn yesterday. The front wheels went off a four-foot concrete embankment at the sidewalk, and the car skidded to a halt on its frame.

"I was thinking at the time of a very beautiful lady friend of mine," he said.

Cadillac

A Little Vacation In Every Day!

What's it like to take the wheel of a 1956 Cadillac?

If you don't already know, then we hope you'll come with us now on a little imaginary journey in the "car of cars".

Suppose, if you will, that you're in the driver's seat. The hour is early morning as you turn from the driveway and sweep out into the broad, inviting boulevard.

How wonderful you feel. Those deep, luxurious cushions hold you in perfect comfort—your hands rest naturally on the slender wheel—and all about you are vision . . . and beauty . . . and luxury.

It's an inspiration just to watch the miles go by.

And how quiet and restful it is. The car is so smooth and silent in operation that your only sense of motion comes from the sound of the wind and from the passing landscape.

Driving? Well, what could be more relaxing! Starting . . . stopping . . . turning—all are regulated with the lightest touch of toe and hand. You simply lean back and enjoy the ride . . . and the car does all the rest.

What's it like at the wheel of a 1956 Cadillac?

Well, we've heard it said that a drive in a new Cadillac isn't really a drive at all, in the normal sense of the word. It's a time for rest and pleasure and relaxation . . . an interlude that refreshes a man and enriches his spirit.

As one of our friends put it—"It's like having a little vacation every day!"

Better come in for a visit some day soon.

If you should decide to move up to a Cadillac, it will be our purpose to make you as pleased with your relationship with us, as your dealer, as you are certain to be with the car itself.

The Cadillac name has long been a symbol of automotive integrity and honesty of purpose—and we make every effort to have our own business reflect the same ideals in our dealings with owners.

Helping the Michigan State Dental Assn., celebrate its 100th anniversary will be some 150 members of the Oakland County Dental Society who are expected to attend the association's centennial convention in Detroit April 15-19.

Dr. Ozman J. Fusilier, of Clarkston and general chairman of the convention, said the Oakland County dentists will be part of an expected total attendance of 5,000 dentists from the nation and several from Canada and South America.

Speakers at the convention, to be held at the Statler Hotel, will include Dr. John W. Knutson, chief dental officer of the U. S. Public Health Service and assistant surgeon general, Dr. B. C. Kingsbury, president of the American Dental Assn., and Dr. Harold Hillenbrand, secretary of the association.

During the five-day meeting, a luncheon will be held April 17 to honor the association's past presidents and life members, and a banquet April 18 at which awards will be presented to prominent individuals and institutions.

Fox Bites 5 in Family; Is Examined for Rabies

CONOWINGO, Md. (AP)—A gray fox, believed to be rabid, invaded a home yesterday and bit five members of a family before it was shot while perched defiantly on a bookcase.

The animal is being examined before antirabies shots are given to the family of 48-year-old Bert Craft.

Craft, his 34-year-old wife Mary Ann, and three children, Thomas, 12, Minnie, 9, and Virginia, 7, were bitten.

German Car Export

COLOGNE, Germany (AP)—West Germany exported $43,700,000 worth of cars to the United States last year. Exports in 1954 totaled $12,200,000.

Bonn Booming in Auto Industry

West Germany Now 2nd Only to England in European Production

BONN, Germany (AP)—West Germany's booming automobile industry expects to roll out over 1,100,000 vehicles this year for a new production record.

Output is running 32 per cent ahead of 1955 when the Germans turned out 908,000 cars and commercial vehicles.

They are bidding to become West Europe's largest vehicle producing nation and to win first place among the world's car exporting nations. Britain is now first in both fields.

The Germans took a long step toward this goal last year by boosting vehicle production 33 per cent. By 1957, they plan to push their annual production to 1,250,000 vehicles or more a year.

PLANT EXPANSIONS

Four of the biggest manufacturers are now rushing plant expansion programs that will be completed by the end of this year.

German motor manufacturers are confident that both the home and foreign markets for their products are growing. West Germans, enjoying unprecedented prosperity, are absorbing over half of new car production.

About 45 per cent of the industry's production is exported. In the first two months of this year, foreign sales totaled 74,779 units or 14 per cent more than in the same period of 1955. Exports jumped to 403,000 units last year compared with 298,000 in 1954.

West Europe is the biggest foreign market, taking more than two-thirds of all German vehicles exports. The leading German export markets in Europe are Switzerland, Sweden, Belgium, Netherlands, Austria and Denmark.

HOW MUCH FOR THIS BUICK?

Better find out before you buy a "small" car

THERE ARE good reasons why Buick outsells every other car in America except two of the well-known smaller ones.

For this Buick—this big and strapping Buick SPECIAL Sedan—this broad and brawny beauty with its record-high power and record-high compression—is a buy in any man's language.

It is priced within a few dollars of the well-known smaller cars. It actually costs less than some models of these very same cars—and the price we'll show you proves it.

But low price is just one reason for Buick's soaring success today.

Bigger reason is this: more and more people are finding in these Buick beauties a lot more automobile for the money.

They find here more styling boldness and freshness—more power thrill and instant response—more comfort and roominess and luxury—more ride steadiness and stability—more solidity of structure and more road-worthy automobile than the same money buys elsewhere.

And they find they can get here—and nowhere else—the sizzling performance and the extra gas savings and the switch-pitch safety-surge of Variable Pitch Dynaflow†—the world's only airplane-principled transmission.

So if you want the lift and life of Buick travel—if you want the pride and prestige and deep satisfaction of Buick ownership—what's keeping you from it all?

The simple fact is—if you can afford any new car, you can afford a Buick. Just you drop in on us and see what solid truth that is. Can you make it today—tomorrow at the latest?

†New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow is the only Dynaflow Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

Dallas Fashion Center Spotlights Children's Wear

Tots' Clothes Feature Dip, Dry Fabrics

Cottons in Clever Designs, Ideal for Summer Wear

By JUDITH L. CLEMENCE

Dallas is important as a children's fashion center just as it has made itself felt in the adult fashion world.

The Dallas Fashion Center has made good use of the cotton that grows everywhere in Texas. Most important they make work easy for Mom with the new dip and dry fabrics.

And now that you mothers have settled back after the spring shopping spree, it's time to look at summer fashions for your tiny tots.

You'll like Dallas fashions not only for their really clever design for the young fry, but they're so inexpensive. We've never seen children's clothes so beautifully done.

One of the manufacturers, Ed Green of Green Brothers of Dallas, promises even more than good styling and wearability.. He says that his company's little fancy pants help mothers train their tots—for what child would ruin such glamour?, asks he.

Tots to teenagers copy adult fashions in Dallas. The one-piece dress with the two-piece look is something new in children's wear.

DETACHABLE SARONGS

There are sunsuits with detachable sarong skirts in toddler sizes, and older girls wearing these fashions will appreciate "Calipso Jo" shorts.

Colors for youngsters are so pretty. There are sunny yellows, lettuce greens, pinks and of course, navy. Brother and sister playclothes were done to perfection. One by Johnton, Inc. was in bright yellow Fullerset with a matching checked pique shirt (for boy) and blouse (for girl).

The shorts in the Srader Sportswear collection do what shorts ought to do. They fit snugly around the legs and yet are built for comfort. Another feature of the shorts and skirts in the collection is its easy altering feature. This enables the youngster to wear the garment more than just one season.

Little girls in Dallas will look as feminine as mother, while their brothers are all set to look just like Pop this season.

A natural "vote-getter" for summer's "dog days" is this one-piece dress with gay rickrack by Prissy Missy of Dallas. The sleeveless top has a scooped neck and the gathered, seersucker skirt is trimmed in a blue strip of the solid with rickrack banding.

A very carefree cotton — like that used in this playsuit by Green Brothers of Dallas — will mean plenty to Mom. The fabric is a no-iron, combed batiste. The detachable skirt is trimmed with self-ruffles while the bloomer pants and bib are edged in contrasting frills.

A completely washable jacket dress that needs no ironing is big news for little girls from Johnston of Dallas. It is made in one of the new "dip and dry" fabrics while the jacket, which is lined in the dress fabric, is orlon and wool. The tucked bodice and bouffant skirt of the dress are printed with tiny rosebuds.

Use Strong Lighting at Make-up Table

You can't be well-dressed if your make-up's overdone.

Put a good, strong light in your bathroom or at your make-up table and don't coddle yourself with frilly shades or pink lights. You want the truth when you reach for the powder box.

Good Grooming Hint

Whether a girl is a beauty or not, she'll find most men rate good grooming high. So keep those shoes polished, hemlines even, stocking seams straight and gloves immaculate.

Set Spring Music Meeting

The Michigan Music Teachers Association will hold its spring meeting in Battle Creek, Wednesday. The Battle Creek Music Teachers Club will serve as host for the occasion. More than 150 college, high school and private teachers are expected to attend.

Dr. Allen C. Britton, of the University of Michigan School of Music, will address the group on aspects of coordinating the activities of private and public school teachers.

Julius Stulberg, of Western Michigan College, will coach a demonstration on ensemble playing and Dr. Cameron McLean, of Detroit, will speak at the voice forum. A piano forum will also be held.

Dr. Lester Anderson is a faculty member of the University School of Education and chairman of the Michigan State Committee of the North Central Association.

Best to Buy Quality Rather than Quantity

Best fabric, best line, best leather. It's better to have fewer things but to feel proud when you wear them.

And once you have them, take care of them. Hang up clothes to air at the end of the day, keep shoe trees in your shoes, use saddle soap and polish for leather.

To Appear With MacDowell Male Chorus

Spring Concert Features 2 Artists

Hildred Kronlakken and Thomas Tipton will be guest artists for the annual Spring Concert presented by the MacDowell Male Chorus. The concert, April 21, will be held at the Pontiac High School auditorium.

* * *

Mr. Tipton has appeared in Pontiac for previous concerts and has delighted his audience with his artistic singing. Miss Kronlakken and Mr. Tipton will each present a group of songs, and by special request will sing a group of duets from light opera and musical comedy.

There are five pages in today's Women's Section

The annual musical event marks the climax of the chorus's season activities. It is also the second major appearance of the group. The previous program was the Inter-City Sing held in February.

This year's concert will feature three groups of songs. The first, a group of love songs, serenades, and songs about women. The second group will include songs of the church, spirituals, anthems and settings of versions from the Bible. The final group on the program will be American folk songs, European folk songs and classical favorites.

Tickets may be obtained from members of the chorus or at Robinson's Studio and Calbi Music Store.

Sunset Club Group Meets for Luncheon

Members of the Sunset Club, sponsored by the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department, met Thursday afternoon at Wilson School for a cooperative luncheon and social afternoon. William Youngs was a guest.

The group will meet Thursday at 1 p.m. at Wilsn school.

Stresses Tube, Bell, Ball Gown Effects

For spring, Jacques Griffe, noted Paris designer, stresses three themes in his collection—the tube, the bell and the ball. Tubular effect is seen in simple sheath dresses.

Full cocktail and dinner dresses achieve the bell motif by deep ruffled hems or box-pleated features.

The ball silhouette features full skirts pulled into a two-inch band at the hem, like a harem skirt with a cuff.

Chill Easter Temperatures Kept Spring Under Wraps

NEW YORK (AP)—Gay spring colors peeped out only now and then from under furs and overcoats in Fifth Avenue's chilly Easter parade.

Police estimated 1½ million paraders packed 11 blocks of the breeze-swept avenue at noon yesterday. A bright sun was shining but the temperature was only 49.

Last year's crowd was estimated at about two million.

Few exhibitionists popped up in the throngs, perhaps because the Police Department had announced "No advertising or exhibition . . . derogatory to the religious solemnity of the occasion will be permitted."

Before strolling up the avenue, thousands of New Yorkers and visitors jammed flower-decked churches for Easter services.

Francis Cardinal Spellman celebrated Mass before an overflow group of worshipers at St. Patrick's Cathedral.

More than 6,000 persons filled Radio City Music Hall, a movie palace, for early morning services conducted by the Rev. Dr. Ralph W. Sockman, minister of Christ Methodist Church.

Women's hats, as usual, attracted the most glances in the Fifth Avenue parade. Most of them were small flower-trimmed models in yellow or white.

One woman wore a bushy creation of ostrich feathers that looked like a duster and had a toy chicken nesting in it.

Wisteria Violet Makes Spring Fashion Debut

NEW YORK (INS) — A new flower color has joined the bouquet of shades prescribed for 1956 spring evenings.

It's wisteria violet, the clear-toned violet that's as flattering as pink.

Wisteria and white is the newest combination for spring evening dresses, and it puts a romantic, ingenue effect even into sophisticated gowns.

Custom designer Leslie Morris of Bergdorf Goodman, for instance, shows two versions

One is a short dance dress of white chiffon with a strapless bodice trimmed in white satin ribbon.

The other is a full ball gown, also with strapless bodice, displaying a voluminous gathered skirt of wisteria nylon net.

AP Wirephoto

The waistline moves around in spring fashions. High and low seem to be the bywords—depending on whose word you take in these spring fashions from Paris collections. Designer Balenciaga presents the dress at left. It is of Havana shantung with a pleated front and a belt placed on the hips to give a low-waisted effect. Belt ends in bow on the full-length back buttoning. Hat is gray straw. At right is designer Givenchy's straight-skirted ensemble of coral shantung. White belt above waist gives high-waisted look to three-pocketed tunic. Helmet hat is of white felt.

Two Become Honorary Members

At the recent Majority Degree meeting of Order of Job's Daughters held at the Masonic Temple Mrs. Walter Wisehart and Delores Carter became honorary members.

Committees were announced for the card party to be held Wednesday evening at Pontiac Federal Savings and Loan Building at 8 p.m. Mrs. Ernest Lendler is serving as chairman of the contacts committee assisted by Janet Wilson, Shelby Murphy, Shielah Kinder, Aleen Farner, Sharon Ramsay and Mary Weakley.

Mrs. J. Harry Stuart is ticket chairman. Serving on her committee are Janet Kneale, Kiki Sekles, Jolene Hudnell, Sara Stuart, Loretta Young, Sharon Bulow, Susanne Field, Carolyn Mills and Janet Reed.

Members of the publicity committe include Barbara Lecornu, Janet Eddy, Janet Kneale, Kate Reeves, Gracie Latherow, Sharon Clark and Marilyn Siegwart.

Virginia Sheehan, Carolyn Mills, Jolene Hudnell, Karen Denham and Carol Wesness will arrange refreshments for the affair.

Wood Durability

Durability of wood kitchen countertops depends on the seal, finish and care they are given. Unless well treated, wood will stain, absorb moisture readily and roughen.

Members of Job's Daughters Bethel Five are busying themselves with their first activity following the Lenten Season. Sarah Stuart of Euclid avenue and Sharon Ramsey of James K boulevard (left to right) display the poster they prepared telling of the Wednesday evening card party to be held at Pontiac Federal Savings and Loan Building, beginning at 8 p.m.

Long, Slim Lines Spark Spring Shoes

Spring shoes are featuring more long, slim lines, with highcut sides, elongated toes.

Lots of exotic colors reflect the Oriental influence: more medium and low heels spell good news for the comfort-minded.

You've never worn slacks before? This is the era in which to try them. Exercise helps to keep the hipline smooth.

Men Turning to Colors

Fashions for men, during the past few years, have begun to incorporate color, variety and even whimsy, creating a whole new realm of good taste. Where once it was mandatory to dress as conservatively as possible, the male of the species may deck himself out in colorful plumage.

Though quiet conservatism is far from out of style, it has its bright counterpart, reports the Jewelry Industry Council. A handsome sampling of both is readily seen in men's new jewelry collections. There are jewelry designs a-plenty for every man—simple and neatly tailored cuff links, for instance, in proportions that range from medium to small.

* * *

There are gay and conversational pieces, too, in medium to large sizes, in such variety of motif, material and color that a mere glance at the highlights would do no justice to the tremendous choice available this spring. Pricewise, the picture is also a pleasant one, for men's jewelry is available in a wide range.

Take Special Care of Winter Suedes

During spring house cleaning, when you store away your winter sudes and satin shoes, brush them off and place them in a plastic bag.

Then, to keep them clean and dust-proof, just fold over the top of the bag and staple together.

Spring Exercises

Now that spring is here, get outdoors frequently — walking, golfing, or even driving with the windows wide open. There's nothing like fresh air to put a sparkle in the eyes. It purifies the lungs and blood stream making dull eyes alive and shining.

Success Habit Will Rout Failure

BY ANNE HEYWOOD

We forget, sometimes, that success is just as much a matter of habit as failure is.

In fact, it seems to me that we credit bad habits with much more strength than good ones, when actually the good habit is more powerful and more apt to get entrenched.

Often, when a person has an unhappy and pointless life and feels like an utter failure, the answer is to get him embarked on a campaign of little successes.

After the success habit is well entrenched, his troubles are usually over.

I thought of this the other day, when I got a letter from Mrs. R.

Mrs. R. was a young mother in her late 20's when she first wrote me, some 2½ years ago. She had what she referred to as "the pale gray blues," and I knew exactly what she meant.

DRAGS ALONG

"My life isn't horrible," she wrote, "but neither is it happy. I drag through the day's chores and somehow manage to stay a little ahead of them. But I never manage to really accomplish anything.

"I don't make a better mousetrap or even a decent casserole. I'm not a conversational genius and I can't dress like a fashion plate on a dime, which is about the kind of money I have for clothes.

"It seems to me that my life is going to go on and on like this, until they put me in my grave."

It was a perfect example of the failure point of view. Not a thing that she did really well; just a long list of failures.

She also mentioned that she wanted to start some kind of home product, to give her a real interest and some income, but she was sure she'd only fail at it, so why bother?

WANTED DATA

I know that she probably wanted me to give her specific instructions on how to make and market a home product, but I didn't. Instead, I suggested ways in which she could begin a success habit.

* * *

First, she was to make a list of the things in her life—no matter how unimpressive—that she had ever really succeeded at.

It was a scrawny list and two of the four items dated back to her high school days. But at least it was a beginning.

Next, I made her resolve, each day, to do one thing well, if it was only waxing the floor or writing a thank-you note to Great Aunt Mattie.

This would give her an ever-increasing list of successes and help her build up the habit of success.

Recently, I received a wonderful letter from her. The list is now miles long, and she feels much more effective and successful.

She is also about to embark on a project of candy-making.

"I feel quite sure that it'll be successful," she writes. And so, of course, it's bound to!

Actress OKs 'Whoppers'--Sometimes

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Actress Greer Garson claimed today that it is perfectly okay—even wise—for a husband to tell his wife a whopper under certain circumstances.

The beautiful red-head pointed out:

"Sometimes a lie will save a marriage when the truth would send both parties to the divorce courts.

"For instance, when your wife complains about that Powers model you hired as a secretary, don't tell her the truth—that she's the best secretary you ever had. Tell the spouse that the secretary just isn't your type!"

Greer added:

"And if your wife puts on a few pounds, tell her you like her that way and go out and buy her a stunning dress in the size she used to be."

The well known movie queen, who has been the ideal wife in the minds of millions ever since she portrayed the title role in "Mrs. Miniver," was bubbling over with "Confucious say" tips to the man of the house.

"There are many touchy domestic situations," she explained, "that really require a clever lie from a clever mate.

"For example, if your wife's clothes are slightly corny, tell her you like them any way, especially if she makes them herself. If they're too bad, start a small bonfire in the closet. But don't knock her glad rags."

BOB HOPE'S WIFE

The trim actress, whose most recent appearance was as Bob Hope's wife in a TV comedy, further advised that you should swallow your bicarbonate and praise your wife's cooking, even if it sticks in your throat.

"And," she said, "when you're due at an important function at a certain hour, by all means tell the little woman it's an hour earlier—so you'll be on time."

On the touchy subject of going out of town to business conventions, Greer laughed, "That's easy, just tell her not many wives are going and she'd only be bored."

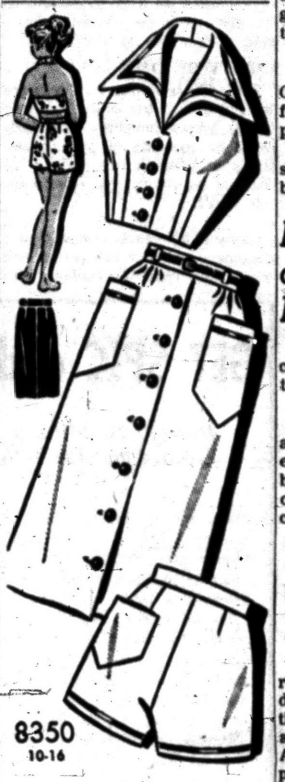

The trim former Britisher added:

"When she presents you with your sixth daughter, be sure to say you always wanted six little gals and that you really don't like boys at all. Anyway, they say great lovers always have daughters!"

The only items that stumped Greer were lipsticked shirts, perfumed letters and mysterious telephone calls.

"Just do some fast ad-libbing," she suggested, "and be a better boy in the future."

Ideal Rainwear of Airy Plastic Popular Today

Gone are the days of heavy, cumbersome raincoats and boots that weighed down the feet.

Both big and little moderns have adopted the new fashion of featherweight plastic raincoats and boots that can be folded up and carried in a pocket when the sun comes out.

This inexpensive, lightweight gear gives complete protection against rain, may be worn over coats or summer dresses, can be kept in a school or office desk for emergencies.

Grownup girls like transparent raincoats, hoods and boots these days, that can be taken out of their envelope and slipped on in a jiffy at the first sign of rain. Also popular are light water-repellent cloth boots that can be folded in a small space.

For children there are new plastic slickers complete with corduroy lined collars and brass fasteners that look like the old-fashioned oilskins but are far less bulky and can be folded into an envelope.

Plastic puddle-jumpers also have taken the place, in many instances, of the heavy rubber boots. Coats have matching hats or caps.

It's an age when both children and grownups demand comfort and convenience — and those are the words for the new rainwear.

When making gelatin salads, rub a little salad oil in the molds. This makes getting it out much easier.

To keep the cap of a glue or ing, coat the screw threads with nail polish container from stick soap.

Sister Gets Invitations Indirectly

She Doesn't Feel Right About Taking These Bids

By EMILY POST

A reader writes me as follows: "I am a young single woman in the late 20s and live with my sister and brother-in-law. My sister is not too many years older than I am.

"Recently we had a discussion in regard to accepting invitations extended to me through my sister. Very often when she and her husband are invited to the houses of friends, the hostess will say, 'Bring your sister along.'

"I feel that this invitation is merely extended in courtesy to my sister and do not feel right in accepting. I think in order to feel welcome an invitation should be given to me direct. What is your opinion of such an invitation?"

Answer: Of course you are asked because of your sister. This is in no possible way belittling to you and there is no reason why you should not accept these invitations if you want to.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me the proper way to eat peas? As you know they slide all over one's plate and can be very difficult to eat. Would it be proper to mash them between the tines of the fork and eat them that way, or should they be speared?"

Answer: Correctly, you push the ends of the tines of the fork under the peas and lift a not-too-big mouthful onto the fork. If you find this difficult to do it would be permissible to mash a few with the tines of the fork and eat as you would mashed potatoes.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I'm giving a luncheon for a bride-to-be. It is to be a fairly large party, but I'd like it to sound informal. What kind of invitations would be best to do this?"

Anser: Second-person invitations: "Will you come to a luncheon I am giving for Mary next Wednesday, at half past 1 o'clock," or else telephone and say the same thing.

New Daylight Time

The longer and brighter daylight hours that come with spring and summer necessitate checking on your lighting for TV viewing. A soft light is easiest on your eyes, according to a recent study.

Avoid intense darkness or bright light. The study shows that bad lighting causes squints and frowns that not only mar eye beauty but can cause permanent changes of facial features as well.

Cocktail time or any time, spanking-clean gloves are a "must" item if you're to look your best.

Good Nutrition Results in Bubbling Spirits

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

An optimum diet, nutrition-wise, builds and is reflected in mental and physical energy and just plain bubbling spirits. It is also a well known fact that poor nutrition has just the opposite effect. Malnourished children make poor grades in school and mama and papa may not be so bright as they should be in some circumstances.

Iron is one of the minerals essential to our well being. About 70 per cent of the iron in our body is in our blood. Iron also forms the nucleus of every single cell in our body. When we are low on red blood corpuscles we are chronically tired and have little resistance. We are poorly nourished and easy prey for any germ which comes along.

An iron-poor diet is one of the main causes of anemia. Some of the best sources of iron are: Liver, beef, egg yolk, oysters, split peas, spinach, veal, ham and whole wheat. If you eat a well-balanced diet with enough meat, greens, eggs and whole wheat your iron intake will be adequate.

Studies have demonstrated that calcium is the most usual deficiency in minerals. In the vitamin family people are more likely to be deficient in vitamins C and the B family. Vitamin C is widely scattered through the foods we eat but in very small amounts. It is also lost easily in cooking. The citrus fruits are our only reliable and practical source.

If, as a regular habit, you eat a variety of fruits and vegetables, meat or fish or fowl at least once a day, whole grain products and eggs, eat citrus fruit or drink citrus fruit juice, drink two glasses of milk daily and reinforce your diet with some vitamin B complex, you will have a right to feel that you are giving yourself a break so far as your mineral, vitamin and protein intake are concerned.

* * *

Our bodies are determined and gallant and keep trying for us even when we abuse them, but they cannot do a good job unless we give them the essential materials with which to work.

ODDITY OF TIME

It's odd about time! If you try to hold onto it too avidly you lose it. If joyous moments are shadowed by thoughts of parting and times of triumph are stalked by fears of the future, you have nothing at all!

Many of life's most precious gifts disappear as snow before the sun when they come in contact with possessiveness. If we make happiness our one aim in life it somehow becomes elusive.

We seldom find it where we look for it anyway. It seems to appear, uncalled for, as a by-product of constructive and enthusiastic living. Make it your goal and you may travel the whole world over and never find it!

Love is the same way. No emotion so rapidly withers at the poisonous touch of possessiveness. One cannot demand love or hold it by sheer wishing. It is free, spontaneous emotion. We may earn it by qualities which endear us to others but we do not receive it simply because we want it and ask for it!

It is impossibly shortsighted to live for the moment alone, to make short-range choices which will lead to future frustration and unhappinesss.

The realization, however, that life is uncertain and tenuous and that it owes us nothing at all, the understanding that every year we have, every month, every hour, is so much concession and so much velvet, will make us live more vibrantly during the time which is ours.

HAVE NO LEASE

During difficult times it might be especially helpful to look at life in this way. We have no lease on it. We cannot demand so much time or so much happiness. Even our children are only loaned to us for a lovely short period. We do not own them.

Why then, beat our heads against the unchangeable? Why not take life as it comes, piece by piece, hour by hour, moment by moment?

If we put as much verve and enthusiasm as possible into each bit of time we have we will have lived more than many persons who live to be 100.

Anyway, if we hold onto time and love and happiness too tightly we have nothing because each moment, as it passes, is spoiled by the over-all apprehensive picture.

Tomorrow: "Housewife Should Allot Some Time for Herself."

Realizing that life is uncertain, and that every year, month and hour is precious, will make us live more vibrantly during the time which is ours.

Airy 'n' Light It's Right for Spring

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

A light dessert is just the thing for light-hearted spring days—if they ever come! Mrs. Harold Wagg suggests serving Lemon Sponge Custard. She gives amounts in her recipe for both a large amount and one for a smaller family.

Mrs. Wagg does a good deal of church work. She belongs to the Happy Wanderers Extension group. Three small sons keep her more than busy at home. Sewing is a favorite pastime.

LEMON SPONGE CUSTARD
By Mrs. Harold Wagg

¾ cup sugar (⅔ cup)
3 tablespoons flour (2 tablespoons)
¾ teaspoon salt (few grains)
3 egg yolks (2)
1½ cups milk (1 cup)
3 tablespoons lemon juice (2)
1 tablespoon grated lemon rind
3 egg whites (2)

Mix dry ingredients. Beat egg yolks lightly, add with milk. Add lemon juice and rind. Beat egg whites until stiff. Fold into first mixture. Pour into greased casserole. Bake in shallow pan of hot water in 350-degree oven for 45 minutes. Larger amount serves 6-8.

Moral Loyalties Won't Hurt Child

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

In the seven years of Fred B.'s life, many people have called him a "chip off the old block." And uncounted times his father has beamed to hear it.

His pride in Fred makes him generous. Never do they drop in at the corner newsstand for papers and magazines without Mr. B.'s asking, "What a comic, son?" Usually he buys the candy or cone or novelty Fred chooses. And always, instead of paying money for this bounty, all Mr. B. does is pronounce the magic words, "Charge it!"

This month Mr. B. got a bill that included $5.65 worth of comics, confections and toys for which Fred, like the "old block" had said "Charge it!"

But instead of beaming upon the chip for resmembling him, Mr. B. glared upon him in outraged indignation.

TOLD TO CONFESS

He said that if he had taken similar advantage of his parents' kindness as a child his hide would have been tanned within an inch of his life. And finally in a climax of self-righteous enthusiasm, he drove Fred down to the newsstand. And before several fascinated customers, he bade him confess his sin.

The violence and inconsistency of this reaction were severe shocks to Fred. They shook his trust in his father. Though he's not experienced enough to say so in words, he feels as abandoned and confused as the bear cub who has ambled happily over leaves that covered a trap.

Any such intense response to a child's "dishonesty" tells us that we know nothing about our own childhoods. Because we still imagine it was the bad thing our parents said it was, we can not credit Fred with the innocence that actually belonged to us, but have to see his motives through the murk of inherited misjudgment.

The moral training of children has been outrageously confused for us by superficial parent education. It's made us feel that moral loyalties are somehow "unprogressive"—fit only for yokels incapable of its sophisticated "insights."

But no child is ever hurt by his parent's moral loyalties. What hurts him is always his parent's distrust of those loyalties and the violence with which we defend values we fear instead of love.

Shoe Styles Now Feature High Vamp

The spring shoe styles feature a higher-riding vamp, often squared at the top. The toe is longer and pointed but conforms to the shape of the foot.

Delicacy is also apparent in the trim which may consist of nothing more than an unusual placement of narrow straps or an all-over design, as intricate as fine lace, imprinted on the leather.

Other decorative touches will take the form of asymmetrical overlays in different colored leather bows and flowers. You'll also see stitching in contrasting colors and contrasting leather textures. Perforations appear in new and more complicated designs—and on heel and instep as well as the toe.

And, speaking of showers, you don't have to worry about April's girlish tears with many of these new leathers because they can take it and come out shining clean with the swipe of a damp cloth or an ordinary kneaded eraser.

Altogether it may not be a bad idea to relax, let your chin droop, and cast your eyes downward!

Need Towel Supply

PANELS 9 X 12 INCHES

Youngsters will love these embroidered panels and easily learn the lovely morning and evening prayers. Make this handsome set for your own tot, godchild, nephew or niece.

Pattern No. 5107 contains hot-iron transfer for two designs—each 9" x 12"; material needs, color chart, stitch illustrations.

Send 25c in coins, your name, address and the pattern number to Anne Cabot, Pontiac Press, 372 W. Quincy St., Chicago 6, Ill.

Now available—the colorful 1956 Needlework Album containing dozens of lovely designs from which to choose more patterns in crochet, embroidery and knit—plus three gift patterns, directions printed in book. Only 25c a copy!

Panels centered at the back or side provide excellent camouflage for the larger figure.

The severity of narrow lines is softened by panels at side or back in tailored daytime suits as well as dressy evening dresses to make the slim silhouette wearable for almost all figure types.

Storage Hint: Dry Clean Togs

For storage have your suits and overcoats cleaned and pressed by a reputable dry cleaner. Storing soiled clothes is an invitation to danger.

Doubtless the garments will be returned from the cleaner on light wire hangers. These are anything but satisfactory for long periods of storage—they tend to sag and will not let your coat or jacket hang in the right "shape." So it's always a wise precaution to use well-shaped wooden hangers. Paper or cloth garment bags eliminate collections of dust on your clothes.

Boil dried beans for two minutes before soaking to save time. After boiling, beans require only one hour soaking time.

A Hawaiian style sandwich spread can be made by combining ground ham, drained crushed pineapple, brown sugar and cloves.

A surprising new flavor can be added to iced coffee by using maple blended syrup instead of sugar to sweeten it.

Elegant Summer Fabrics Often Fool Buyer's Eye

This summer's fabrics fool the eye.

What you think is a wool suit turns out to be cotton. What you think is silk may be a nylon blend. What appears to be tweed may well be linen. And what looks like linen probably will be anything from dacron to wool.

High in the popularity poll for summer wear are new cotton suits as carefully tailored and highly styled as the gems of the spring and fall collections, but having cotton's special assets of coolness, easy cleanability and comfort—to say nothing of thrifty prices.

Arthur Jablow has turned out a group of cotton summer suits that are well-bred enough for a board of directors' meeting, look for all the world like wool, and come in the newest silhouettes of 1956.

There is, for instance, a gray slub-weave cotton tweed suit with slim skirt and flattering fitted jacket with a black velvet yoke and a couple of rhinestone buttons that could go to lunch with assurance at the Colony or Twenty-One.

There is a gray checked cotton tweed with slightly longer fitted jacket, a crisp collar line, slim skirt and an air of confidence.

And there's a distinguished suit in his new demidetached silhouette, with semifitted jacket and back interest, that is done in a light-weight fabric blending rayon, mohair and wool. It has the easy, unaccented look of some of the newest Parisian styles, would be perfect for town or travel wear practically the year round.

There's news and excitement in the fabrics you'll be seeing in summer's favorite fashions, so if you haven't brushed up on recent developments in the textile world, go out and have a look. You'll be happily surprised.

EXHAUSTIVE CLINICAL TESTS PROVE DR. EDWARDS' OLIVE TABLETS 58% MORE EFFECTIVE THAN OTHER LAXATIVES!

261 constipation cases tested prove OLIVE TABLETS give you Nature's ideal regularity!

Medical evidence finally promises you thorough, safe, natural relief from that miserable, sickening feeling of irregularity! Leading doctors in a prominent medical center have just finished testing 7 popular, well-known laxatives. These are the facts based on clinical records of 261 patients, from 11 to 87 years old, suffering from acute and chronic constipation:

DR. EDWARDS' OLIVE TABLETS, made from pure-vegetable drugs and plant herbs, gave thorough, gentle, effective results in 9 out of 10 cases! OLIVE TABLETS were 58% more effective—with less unpleasant effects—than all the other laxatives tested!

The doctors found, too, that OLIVE TABLETS function naturally, work only on digested food in the lower bowel, without causing undue weakness or removing nourishment that your body needs. They're unsurpassed as a laxative for temporary constipation. Sold by all druggists.

Beginning—The Truth About Cancer: One in Every Two Now Can Be Saved

it is highly curable. But cancer of the liver and of the pancreas are practically incurable, so that incidence is about equivalent to mortality.

In certain countries — especially the United States—cancer seems to be getting more prevalent, but the amount of its increase approximately parallels the lengthening span of life in those countries.

In 1900, the death rate from cancer in our own country was 64 per 100,000; a baby boy could expect to live to forty-eight years and a baby girl to fifty-one. Today the life expectancy of males is sixty-eight and of women seventy-two. But we have not won these added years without paying a price—for the cancer death rate is now 147 per 100,000.

This lengthening of life, plus the increase in total population, is mainly responsible for the recorded increase in cancer.

Fifty years ago there were 13.5 million people in the United States who were over forty-five years. Today there are nearly 43 million—more than three times as many as in 1900. Since cancer is predominantly a disease of persons beyond forty-five or fifty, there should be about three times as many people dying of it each year as there were at the turn of the century. And so there are: 245,000 against 78,000. (see footnote)

More and better medical care, improved nutrition, good public health practices and widespread disease-preventive measures like vaccination and other forms of immunization mean that we are lucky enough to live on into old age.

And in old age there just isn't much left to die from except cancer and heart disease. By reducing deaths from other causes we have actually increased the amount of cancer among us!

Added years of life are not an unmixed blessing, yet few would argue that a greater chance of getting cancer at sixty-five is too much to pay for deliverance from death at ten from meningitis, at twenty from typhoid at thirty from tuberculosis or at forty from pneumonia.

Glossary of Terms in Cancer Articles

Here is a brief glossary of some of the terms used in Dr. Cameron's book. They occur throughout this series of articles.

BENIGN—Tumors that do not endanger life.

BIOPSY—Removal of a tumor sample for microscopic examination.

CARCINOGENS — A cancer-inciting substance.

CARCINOMA—Cancer arising in the epithelial (covering or lining) tissue, such as the lip or the breast.

MALIGNANT—Growths that are dangerous, tending to be fatal.

METASTASIS — The spread of cancer by transplanting of colonies of cancer cells from the original caner to other parts of the body.

MILK FACTOR — Cancers have been bred in selected strains of mice, in which the young were nursed by cancer-susceptible mothers. Thus the importance of mother's milk in propagating cancer among mice. There is little evidence that the milk factor operates in human beings.

PAPANICOLAOU SMEAR — Fluid obtained from certain organs and microscopically examined. Its formal name is "cytologic method." Because of its wide use among women it is better known as the "vaginal smear."

PRECANCEROUS — A condition not dangerous in itself but having possibility of developing into cancer. Certain skin growths are considered precancers as is leukoplakia of the mouth.

SARCOMA — Cancer in bones, muscles and other connective tissue.

Greater frequency of cancer in "civilized" countries and its increase in recent years have led to the opinion that cancer is "a disease of civilization." The implication is that the complexities of modern life are in some way responsible for cancer.

There may be certain aspects of modern life that favor development of certain kinds of cancer. But most of the claims that civilization in some way causes cancer are based on non-critical observation and the guilt-by-association method of reasoning—which is no reasoning at all.

There are interesting and significant differences in the amount of cancer that develops in specific organs from place to place and from race to race. We know the reasons for some of these differences, but for others we have no valid explanation.

Only recently have we begun to study these variations systematically. Studies should point the way to laboratory research which may bring us closer to understanding fundamental causes of cancer.

*Although it may appear that cancer death rates per person over 45 have not changed appreciably in 50 years, it is probable that cancer was not diagnosed nearly as accurately 50 years ago as it is today. Consequently, lower rates were recorded at that time than were actually the case.

In the next article Dr. Cameron discusses "Causes of Cancer."

Airlines Debate Using Code Plan

Consider New System for Service of Liquor on Planes

WASHINGTON (AP)—The airlines are contemplating a "code" for service of liquor on planes.

The Air Transport Assn. said that its directors have ordered the drafting of a code of standard practices.

The code will be submitted, ATA said, to the six airlines which serve "hard liquor" aloft. They are American, Eastern, National, Northwest, TWA and United. It would not apply to other airlines, such as Western, which serve champagne, wine or beer.

An ATA spokesman said the six airlines already have fairly uniform practices in regard to liquor service. All exercise control over the amount served, he said.

Some church officials and representatives of temperance groups have complained to the Civil Aeronautics Board against the serving of alcoholic drinks aboard planes.

Members of the pilots and stewardesses unions also have objected to the practice as a nuisance, extra work and a potential hazard because of drunkenness among passengers.

Plan Institute at MSU Campus

Expect Tourist, Resort Affair to Attract 200 Business People

LANSING—Tourist Council officials are looking forward to a record attendance when Michigan's nationally recognized Tourist and Resort Institute opens on the Michigan State University campus Wednesday.

Approximately 200 business people are expected to attend the 3-day affair to discuss current problems and learn of the latest tourist-servicing techniques.

"This is an indication of the healthy interest Michigan's motel, restaurant, hotel and resort operators have in keeping Michigan among the top four vacation states," says Robert J. Furlong, tourist council executive secretary.

"The business of housing, feeding and entertaining the host of vacationers and travelers in Michigan is becoming extremely complex. Michigan operators are fortunate to be able to meet and discuss their mutual problems as they do each year in the institute sessions," he added.

Last year the National Association of Travel Organizations awarded Michigan State University a special award of merit for the Tourist and Resort Institute and the university's year round education effort to assist tourist and resort businesses.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams will give the major address at the institute's opening luncheon.

"Ben-Gay gave me a new lease on life—relief from pain!"

Says Mrs. Louise Pirz of Lynbrook, Long Island.

"I had tried many other products before I discovered Ben-Gay", writes Mrs. Pirz, "but they didn't give me the real relief I wanted from the pains in my shoulder and arm. To tell the truth, I felt as though I were only half alive. The pain bothered me that much!

"What a difference with Ben-Gay! The pain eased up in no time. I wouldn't be without it!"

Yes, there's nothing like BEN-GAY! Its world-famous scientific formula contains up to two and a half times more of two famous pain-relieving agents than any of five other widely offered rub-ins. BEN-GAY's exclusive medication works two ways: First, it stimulates the blood supply to the painful area. Second, its pain-deadening action goes to work instantly to bring warm, soothing relief.

If you suffer the distress of muscular or rheumatic pains see what welcome relief Ben-Gay can bring. Ben-Gay acts fast where you hurt!

Record Crowds Attend Services

Spring Weather Smiles As Worshipers Swell Attendance Here

"Alleluia, Alleluia" sang choirs and congregations all over the city as they proclaimed in music the Empty Tomb and the Resurrection of Christ Easter morning.

Record breaking crowds filled the churches from early dawn all through the day, closing with sermons, cantatas, playlets and pageants of the Easter story.

Easter morning dawned bright and clear for worshipers as they attended early sunrise services. Breakfast followed in most churches.

Children's, junior and senior choirs and organists have been practicing for weeks for this joyous day.

Before altars banked with white Easter lilies, there were baptisms and receptions of new members.

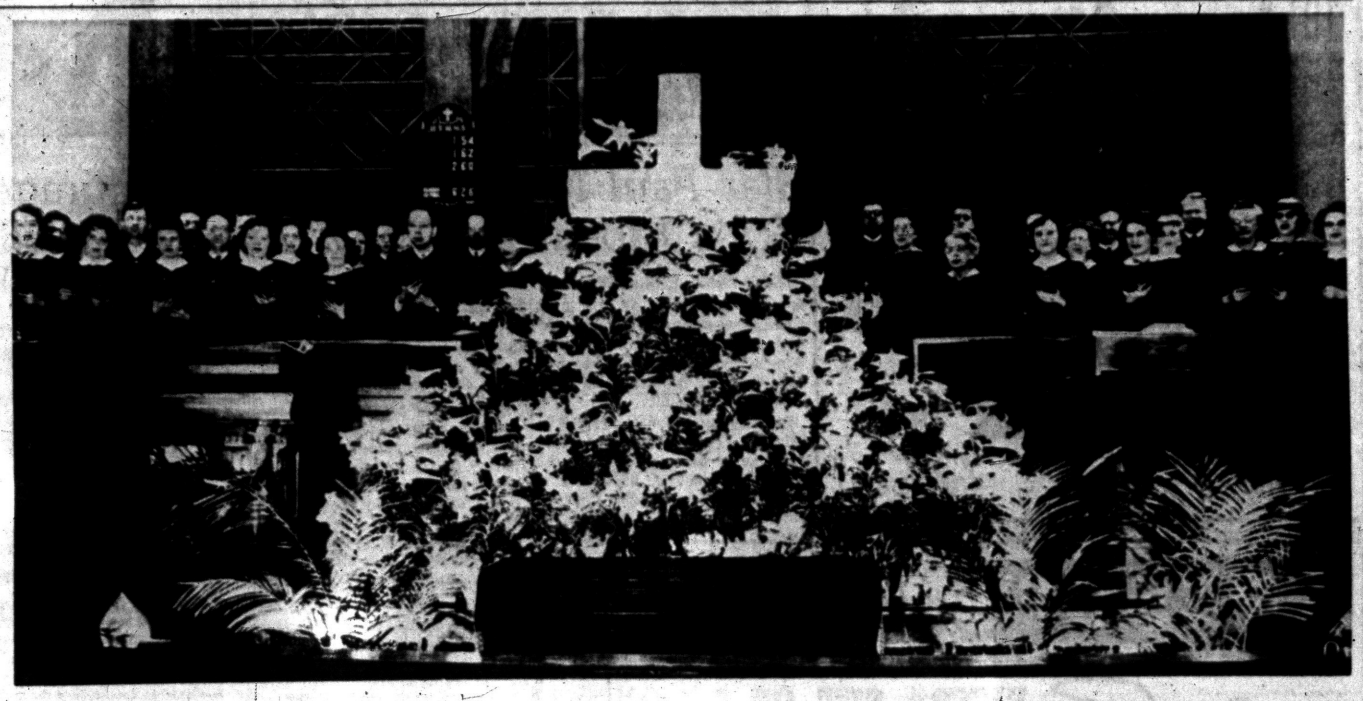

In some churches, there was a celebration of Holy Communion.

Parishioners filled Catholic churches from early morning until noon.

Those attending Emmanuel Baptist Church heard Dr. Tom Malone describe the Holy Land as it is today. Dr. and Mrs. Malone have just returned from a trip abroad where they visited the scenes of Jesus' Ministry, Death and Ressurrection.

Pope Appeals to World

VATICAN CITY (INS) — Pope Pius XII, in his Easter "message of peace and faith to all men," appealed to world leaders to stop short of the "homicidal, suicidal folly" of nuclear war.

"HALLELUJAH, CHRIST IS RISEN" — The choir of Central Methodist Church was heard in the anthem "Hallelujah, Christ Is Risen," at the Sunrise Service at 7 o'clock, Easter morning. The Rev. John W. Mulder, associate pastor, preached at this early service. At 10:45, Dr. Milton H. Bank, pastor, spoke on "Christ Is Risen." At this service the choir presented "Unfold Ye Portals," "Ye Sons and Daughters of the King" and "The Hallelujah Chorus" by Handel. Breakfast followed the early service. Before the altar, with its bright white lilies and palms, parents brought their children at 9:30 to be baptized.

Detroiter Confesses to Hit-and-Run Death

Detroit (AP) — A bad conscience kept Albert Henley, 34, from joining the choir in singing Easter hymns at the Tennessee Mission Baptist Church in Detroit.

Before the services, Henley told the Rev. Harry Napoleon, "Reverend, I have killed a woman. I ran away. I can't have this hurt in me on Easter. I want to give myself up."

Accompanied by his pastor, the 34-year-old cement worker went to police headquarters and told investigators he was the driver sought in the traffic death of Mrs. Tobitha Nichols, 68. She was struck and killed by a car Saturday.

Police held Henley for investigation of leaving the scene of an accident.

SINGING HYMNS OF JOY — Hundreds flocked to Emmanuel Baptist Church on S. Telegraph to worship and welcome home their pastor, Dr. Tom Malone. Dr. and Mrs. Malone have just returned from the Holy Land where they visited the scenes of the life and death of Christ. Shown is a portion of the congregation as they sang the Easter "Allelulia" hymn. "The Cross of Light," a pageant depicting the Easter story was given last night with a cast of 150. The program consisted of recitations, solos and choral arrangements.

MORNING WORSHIP — Children and adults filled Central Christian for the Easter morning service. The congregation and choir sang "All Glory, Laud and Honor," "He Is Risen" and other hymns of praise and joy. Members are pictured as they are leaving. Sunday evening the choir presented the cantata, "The Song of Easter" under the direction of Stait Lloyd. The Rev. Charles D. Race is pastor.

Chest X-Rays Now Available at Two Sites

Free chest X-rays are available for the second week in Pontiac. The mobile units covering the county are posted at the County Court House, Saginaw at Huron Streets and another unit is stationed at the Oakland County Road Commission, 550 S. Telegraph through Wednesday of this week.

From Wednesday on the Telegraph unit will go to Lakeside Housing.

A. R. Mussen, executive secretary of the Oakland County Tuberculosis Association, in urging Pontiac residents to obtain these free X-rays, said, "Doing a section of Ferndale and taking approximately 1,500 X-rays, we discovered 21 suspected cases of TB. Of course a few of these will prove to be old cases healed over, but nevertheless, the number is still high."

Next week the mobile units will be stationed at Wessen and Bagley and Tel-Huron Shopping Center. One unit will continue at the Court House through April 11.

Pope Warns Against Communist Lures

ROME (INS)—Speaking from a balcony overlooking St. Peter's Square, Pope Pius XII warned against the flashy lures of Communism and called for "coexistence in truth, justice and love."

Some 250,000 persons crowding the square cheered his words loudly.

The Pope gave his blessing to the peaceful applications of atomic energy but he added:

"However, no one ignores that other uses are being sought and found to procure instead, death and destruction.

"And what death! Every day is sorrowful progress in this tragic path. The human race almost loses hope that it is possible to halt this homicidal, suicidal folly.

"To increase the scare have come modern guided missiles capable of reaching enormous distances to bring via atomic weapons total destruction of men and things . . .

"So that people may stop in this race to the abyss we again raise our voice, invoking light and strength from Christ reborn for those managing the destinies of men."

NO PROPOSALS MENTIONED

The Pope did not advance any specific atomic disarmament proposals such as he had at Christmas when he called for a ban on nuclear weapons experiments and endorsed such disarmanent proposals as President Eisenhower's "open skies" aerial inspection plan.

But the Pope was specific about the dangers of Communism although he did not mention the ideology by name.

He said the "enemy of peace" sought to achieve its goal by working on the "weak sides of man" with "pessimism, cupidity, envy and unfounded criticism."

The pope added:

"He uses now one, now the other; menacing and enticing; discussing here, striking there; today exalting its myths, tomorrow condemning them; today abandoning others with harsh methods, tomorrow coming near; today announcing a new system, tomorrow returning to the old."

The reference to myths was seen as an allusion to the recent Kremlin switch in which Stalin, the former idol, has been denounced.

The Pope, in his radio address which was relayed around the world, also declared:

"Firm faith in ourselves is an indispensable premise for the triumph of peace . . . those who bow to pessimism spread artfully and those who shut their eyes to economic and social reforms which they enjoy and see only what is lacking are not peace champions but rather lend ear to the suggestions of the sowers of malcontent."

British Teenagers Cut Rug to Commemorate Easter

LONDON (INS)—A British newspaper has described what it called the "maddest Easter parade Britain has ever seen."

The Sunday publication, The People, said 600 teenagers, some of them girls of 16, took part in an all-night jazz session at a London club which lasted until 7 a.m. Saturday.

Several dancers collapsed before the session ended.

Star Paul Muni, Lauded for Courage, Wins Broadway 'Tony' Award for '56

NEW YORK (INS)—Paul Muni, admired by many as the most courageous actor of the year, today won the American Theater Wing's Tony Award for his performance in the dramatic play, "Iherit the Wind."

Last August Muni was forced to leave the cast of the play about the Scopes monkey trial for an operation removing his left eye, and when Melvin Douglas replaced him as the Clarence Darrow-type lead, rumors flew that Muni was through.

He returned after three months, however, to continue wowing audiences six nights and two afternoons each week.

Broadway's Joan of Arc, boyish Julie Harris, took top honors for dramatic actress in "The Lark," Lillian Hellman's adpatation of the Jean Anouilh interpretation of the Maid of Orleans. This is her second Tony — her first was collected as the neurotic feminine lead in 1952 for "I Am a Camera."

Gold statuettes were handed out to Gwen Verdon and Ray Walston for distinguished musical performances in "Damn Yankees," and the top dramatic and musical show awards went to "The Dairy of Anne Frank" and "Damn Yankees."

Miss Verdon had previously won a featured player for "Can Can" 1954. "The Diary of Anne Frank" proved something of a sleeper. No one suspected the dramatic version of a real-life girl hiding out from the Nazis would prove one of the season's topshows.

BROADWAY JINX

"Damn Yankees" is responsible for breaking a Broadway jinx. Until this dramatization of Douglas Wallop's "The Year the Yankees Lost the Pennant," it was a main stem superstition that no play about baseball could succeed.

Other acting awards were given to Ed Begley of "Inherit the Wind" and Una Merkel of "The Ponder Heart" for distinguished feature actor and actress in dramatic plays. Russ Brown of "Damn Yankees" and Lotte Lenya of the off-Broadway "Three Penny Opera" took honors in the musical field.

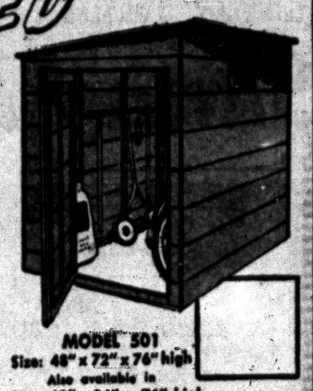

Off-stage work was rewarded by Tonys to scenic designer Peter Larkin for "No Time for Sergeants," costume designer Alvin Colt for "Pipe Dream," director Tyrone Gurhrie for "The Matchmaker," choreographer Robert Fosse for "Damn Yankees," stage technician Harry Green for "Middle of the Night," and musical director Hal Hastings for "Damn Yankees."

Special awards were accorded "Three Penny Opera" for a distinguished off-Broadway production and the New York Public Library on the 25th anniversary of its theater collection.

Jack Mulhall, Silent Film Star, Hired for Smiles

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The Versailles, a swank Sunset Strip restaurant, hired a new host over the weekend.

His smile was familiar to many of the patrons. But that's as it should be, said Jack Mulhall, handsome matinee idol of the silent screen.

"I've been here since 1914 and I know everybody in town. It's nice to greet them," he said.

The pay, he admits, is a long way from the $3,250-a-week contract he had in the '20s when he was a favorite leading man for Coleen Moore, Corinne Griffith, Billie Dove and Dorothy MacKaill.

Mulhall—who had a million dollars in 1928—said he lost his money in real estate. "Once the toboggan starts, you can't even save a stick of furniture," he said.

* * *

Arthur Lyons, owner of the Versailles, is an old friend of Mulhall. He said he hired the actor mainly because everybody in town likes him and:

"You don't have to tell him to smile at the customers."

Patronage Jobs Hit in New House Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Reuss (D-Wis) said today appointment of postmasters, collectors of customs and U. S. marshals should be taken out of politics.

He has proposed legislation to abolish political patronage in filling those three types of federal positions. It would provide they be filled under the Civil Service merit system.

"Our Federal Civil Service System today embraces 93 per cent of all federal position," Reuss said. "Yet there are over 23,000 postmasters, 94 U. S. marshals and 51 collectors of customs who are still appointed by the president with the consent of the Senate."

Presidential appointment of postmasters is virtually unchanged since 1836 and marshals and collectors are appointed just as they were when the first Congress met in 1789, Reuss said.

Aesop's Fables — 1

THE FOX AND THE GRAPES

Aesop, a Greek slave who lived about 600 B. C., had a knack of telling amusing fables or stories about animals and birds that pointed out a moral or lesson. Children and grownups, too, still enjoy them. This week we are going to re-tell some of the old stories and give new versions of some of the morals.

One day a hungry fox saw a bunch of grapes hanging high on a trellis. These grapes, he thought, would be a tasty dish so he jumped high in the air to get them. But the grapes were just out of his reach.

After failing many times the disappointed fox said "I thought at first those grapes were ripe but now I can tell they're sour."

That's why we say "sour grapes" about people who pretend they don't want something they can't have.

Color the picture and paste down on cardboard. Cut out the sky inside the trellis. Then cut out around the heavy dark lines surrounding the fox. Slit the heavy line that shows on the ground area.

Now slip the bottom of the fox's tab through the slot. Reach behind the picture, take hold of the tab, and make the fox jump upwards towards the grapes. He won't quite make it.

(Kate Long of Oak Hill, W. Va., made this suggestion first. Do you have an idea for Junior Editors? Send it in care of this newspaper and you'll have a chance to win $10. Violet Moore Higgins, AP Newsfeatures.)

Mother Kills Child in Truck Accident

BOURBON, Mo. (AP)—Three-year old Beverly Reeves was killed by a pickup truck driven by her mother.

Mrs. Alva Reeves took Beverly to the home of the youngster's grandparents and stopped to let her out to play with other children in the yard.

The youngsters ran to the rear of the truck. Mrs. Reeves eased the truck forward. She felt a bump and found Beverly apparently had fallen under a wheel.

Pilot of the Brick Shaft Gets His Flying Wings

CHICAGO (INS)—Charles Oldytwski, Chicago elevator operator who is returning after 39 years of ups and downs, has been awarded a set of airline pilot wings.

Employes of United Air Lines were among Oldytwski passengers as he piloted his elevator in a 156-foot shaft of the Goddard Building day after day presented the wings to him.

They figured he had logged more than 100,000 miles "in the air."

Kefauver Optimistic of Capturing Florida

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) believes a majority of the people of Florida will accept his segregation stand as "sound, right and just."

Opening a three-day swing in his bid for Florida's 28 votes at the Democratic National convention, he said he realized that "some people feel I go too far in my stand that the decision of the U.S. Supreme Court is the law of the land.

"And some people feel I do not go far enough. But I believe a great majority of the people of Florida believe my approach is sound, right and just."

Kefauver repeated what he had said on an earlier visit to Florida in mid-February: that desegregation is the law of the land. He said the Supreme Court had recognized that local conditions must be taken into account in ordering actual time for integration in various communities.

Matador Bette Ford Gets Ovation for Kill

Colored Movie to Be Shown Tuesday Night

World traveler Karl Robinson will show his colored motion picture, "Adriatic Holiday" Tuesday as final lecturer for a series of Kiwanis programs at 8 p.m. in the High School auditorium.

It has been home to such diverse personalities as Marco Polo, who was born there, and Emperor Maxmilian and the Empress Charlotte of Mexico, who made their home there.

Proceeds from this Kiwanis sponsored lecture series will go to youth organizations which are aided by the club.

It Can Happen Again!

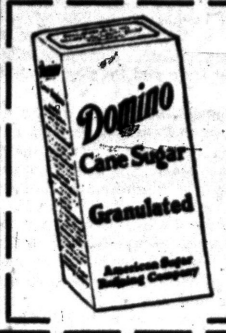

TOKYO (AP)—Eager young men sprang up and offered old men their seats on Tokyo's street cars and buses this week. The reason: a newspaper had printed stories about a youth who got a good job because he politely offered an elderly factory president his seat.

Tigers Beat Bosox Second Time, 6-3

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Have the Detroit Tigers found the answer to their second base problem? And has he been around all the time?

That's what Tiger brass was asking itself today, following bonus baby Reno Bertoia's performance against the Boston Red Sox yesterday.

Reno got no hits, but he had four putouts and five assists in a flawless day afield, handling the pivot on one double play and starting another.

He went to bat four times in all, three officially. On one occasion he laid down a sacrifice.

Bertoia became 21 only last January and was signed off Windsor, Ont., sandlots across the Detroit river from the Motor City. He got into only 39 Tiger games last year and had a batting average of only .206, but he hit one homer and drove in 10 runs.

Wayne Belardi, a first baseman by trade, played his second game in a row in left field—a spot where the Tigers are looking for a long-ball hitting lefthander. Belardi didn't get any hits, either, but he came up with four good catches to offset a throwing error. Besides, he normally hits a long ball.

Nobody, however, was conceding the second base job to Bertoia off yesterday's performance afield. Certainly they weren't on his efforts at the plate.

The Tigers were here today to take on the Cincinnati Redlegs of the National League before going over to Clearwater tomorrow to engage the Philadilphia Phillies again.

Detroit's 6-3 triumph over the Boston Red Sox yesterday at Sarasota was their second in a row and lifted their Grapefruit League record to 7-14.

Frank Lary, who worked six innings on the mound, got credit for his 2nd consecutive victory. He gave up only five hits and a lone run.

Duke Maas was touched for five hits and two runs in the last three innings.

Ted Williams, sidelined by a pulled groin muscle, appeared in the Boston lineup for the first time since March 13 but managed only a single in four times at bat.

Detroit belted Frank Sullivan, Boston's ace moundsman, for eight of its hits and all of its runs.

Detroit got three runs in the 4th on Harvey Kuenn's single, Earl Torgeson's triple and doubles by Al Kaline and Ray Boone.

The Tigers picked three more in the 7th as J. W. Porter was hit by a pitched ball, Jim Delsing hit a pinch double and Kuenn scored both with a double. The 3rd tally followed an infield out and an error.

Michigan Nine at Georgetown

Score First Victory Sunday by Downing Marines, 5-1

WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP)—Michigan's touring baseball team, which won its first game in a spring training swing yesterday, came to Washington today to take on Georgetown University.

The Wolverines, with a 9-hit attack coupled with Don Poloskey's 5-hit pitching, whipped the Quantico Marines, 5-1, yesterday. They had lost Saturday to the Marines on a grand-slam home run in the 9th and previously had been beaten by Delaware.

Poloskey struck out 11 and walked only four batsmen in going the route.

Quantico's only run came in the 2nd when the Marines worked a double steal with two out.

ABC Moves to 5th Week With Little Changes

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — The American Bowling Congress headed into its fifth week today, practically unchanged after a slow Easter weekend of bowling.

Tony Sparando of Rego Park, N.Y., maintained his first-place hold as no one topped his singles total of 719.

Bill Lillard and Stan Gifford of Chicago kept their doubles spot as their 1,331 total went unchallenged. Lillard was in first place in the all-event's class with 2,018.

The regular team standings were unchanged.

Nats Given Herzog to Complete Trade

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — The New York Yankees today sent Whitey Herzog, a 25-year-old outfielder, to the Washington Senators in the windup of the February deal in which they obtained pitcher Mickey McDermott.

That makes it a five-for-one deal. Earlier, the Yankees had sent catcher Lou Berberet, pitcher Bob Wiesler, outfielder Dick Tettelbach and infielder Herbie Plews to the Senators.

Herzog batted .289 with Denver of the American Assn. last season, driving in 98 runs and hitting 21 homers. He is left-handed.

Fort Wayne Wins, 84-83 to Knot Best of Seven Playoff Series

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP)—Fort Wayne and Philadelphia, thanking rookies for their one notch each on the victory stick, had the day off today from their best-of-7 championship series for the National Basketball Assn. title.

They meet again at Philadelphia tomorrow night.

The Warriors, playing for a closing second shot in last night's tilt at Fort Wayne, had the ball stolen by rookie Corky Devlin and lost the game 84-83.

In their first meeting at Philadelphia Friday, it was Ernie Beck, a second-season lad from Pennsylvania, who sparked the Warriors to a 98-94 victory with his fine second-half play and 23 points.

His teammate, Paul Arizin, a jump shot artist, scored 28 points in that first game to pace both clubs. Although he got 27 at Fort Wayne, he yielded top place in the series scoring race to big George Yardley, Fort Wayne forward, who added 30 points to the 27 he had collected in the previous encounter.

THE POWERHOUSE

By Jimmy Powers

MIAMI—At the age of 21, Ralph Branca was a 21-game winner for the Dodgers. Nine years later, at what many of us consider the prime of life, Ralph Branca is through with baseball—a distinguished but all-too-short career behind him.

A handsome, popular athlete who brought fame to his home town of Mount Vernon, Ralph today shows not a single trace of bitterness over his fate.

"Baseball was good to me," he explained with his typical easy way of speaking. "I was lucky to be a major leaguer, especially a Dodger. I enjoyed every minute of my nine years and 150 days as a big league ballplayer. I lacked just 21 days of being a 10-year man.

"But there was no use fooling myself when I found I couldn't do the job. I decided that, as far as baseball was concerned, I had had it.

★ ★ ★ ★

"Even though I pitched well for Detroit and later for a brief spell with the Yankees, I never was able to regain the form I had during most of the eight years I was with Brooklyn.

HE GOT THE OPPORTUNITY

"Last season with Minneapolis, Bill Rigney gave me every opportunity to get back in the groove. I will always be most appreciative to Bill for the chance. But I just didn't have it any more and what was the use of kidding myself?

"Sure, I could have stayed around the minors and maybe develop a freak pitch in a couple of years and a chance to return to the big leagues. But I feel that I'd only be stalling the inevitable.

"Therefore, I feel that while I'm still young I can adapt myself more easily to a new profession. Funny, though, but I'm still pitching. Only now I'm pitching a full-grown horse instead of a mere horsehide. I've gone into public relations work with an old friend of mine, Ted Worner. And my first client, believe it or not, is a handsome chestnut thoroughbred two-year-old.

YOU PICK THE NAME, WIN THE HORSE

"His name is—well, to tell you the truth, he has no name. He's a son of the famous Devil Diver and his ma was Sickleup, a daughter of Sickle.

"This colt, which was bred, by the way, at Larry MacPhail's Glen Angus Farm in Maryland, is the first prize in the annual Kentucky Club Derby Day Contest. All anyone has to do to win is to come up with a suitable name in 14 letters or less."

"The Machine" Gets Attention

OSU Tankers Win NCAA

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—New world, American and meet records came out of the 33rd NCAA swimming meet, but the item that got most attention was The Machine.

The machine was a device set up to record the finishes in Yale's Payne Whitney Gym and it nearly caused the judges to quit.

The machine got the heave-ho just before the final two races Saturday night-dubbed "a flop."

An electronic device developed at the University of Michigan, the machine was used with success in the Big 10 championships during the past year.

And it was doing okay here until Friday night when it called a tie — a rarity in this event — between Yale's Rex Aubrey and Stanford's Robin Moore in the 50-yard sprint.

Chief Judge Bob Muir said the three first-place judges picked Aubrey as the winner, "but we had decided in advance to go along with the machine, and in this case, the machine showed a dead heat."

Muir said the machine "definitely goofed" later that night in the butterfly stroke race, but he added "the mistake was obvious since Dick Fadgen won by a clean margin."

The machine found itself in real trouble with the judges after the 100-yard sprint Saturday night. The machine picked Al Kuhn of Northwestern; the judges Aubrey.

The judges threatened to quit then but were placated when Muir announced, "We're tossing the machine out from now on."

Even so, one Yale official was upset.

"Aubrey was picked by six place-judges for first in two events," he said, "and wound up credited with only a tie for one."

The machine notwithstanding, these were the highlights of the three-day event:

George Breen of Cortland, N.Y. State Teachers set a new world record in the 1,500-meter swim 18:05.8 on Thursday, opening night.

Ohio State's Al Wiggins did the 200-yard individual medley in 2:07.5—announced as a new American record.

Ohio State, aided by its brilliant divers and Wiggins, won the team title for the 10th time in 14 meets.

And there were those who scored doubles:

Iowa's Lincoln Hurring, 100 and 200-yard backstroke; Indiana's Bill Woolsey, 220 and 440-yard freestyle, and North Carolina State's Fadgen, 200- yard butterfly and 200-yard breaststroke.

Other winners included Frank Fraunfelter, Ohio State, one-meter dive; his teammate, Don Harper, three-meter dive, and Yale's 400-yard freestyle relay and the 300-yard medley relay teams.

Former Skipper Athletes Show Promise for Hurons

Two Waterford High School products, Kerry Keating and Ray Campbell, are making impressive athletic inroads at Michigan State Normal College in Ypsilanti.

Kerry, son of Mr. and Mrs. John I. Keating of 4083 Motorway, is termed by track coach George Marshall "one of the most improved members of the team."

Keating has three times placed 2nd in the 440-yard dash, failing to win by inches in one instance. He is also a member of the mile relay team which has chalked up four victories during the indoor season.

In addition to his track prowess, Keating blossomed into a hard-running halfback last fall for Normal's football co-champions.

While attending Waterford High, Keating was named to the Inter-Lakes All-League football team two years in a row and twice received honorable mention on the all-state 11. He also set a new 100-yard dash record in the Inter-Lakes.

Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Campbell of 111 Waterly, was ineligible last year and has been a trifle slow rounding into shape this season. Ray is presently running in the 60-yard dash against rugged opposition.

Marshall reports that Campbell is improving and may be of great value to the Hurons in the rapidly-approaching outdoor season.

During his prep days Campbell set an Inter-Lakes League record in the 220, which still stands, and he holds the school mark in the 100-yard dash. Ray won three varsity track letters and two in football at Waterford.

Trotters Down All-Stars; McCoy in College Lineup

NEW YORK (AP) — The famed Harlem Globetrotters and the College All-Stars moved on to Boston today with the Globetrotters holding a two-game margin after starting their cross-country tour with afternoon and night victories at Madison Square Garden.

The Globetrotters won the afternoon game yesterday 61-52 before 12,135 fans and made it two straight at night, winning 72-64 with 10,085 spectators on hand.

Ron Sobieszczyk of DePaul, Joe Holup of George Washington and All-American Robin Freeman of Ohio State paced the collegians in the matinee contest. Sobieszczyk had 10 points and Holup and Freeman, nine each.

Tom Heinsohn, Holy Cross' All-America, was the All-Stars big gun at night, scoring 16 points. Holup had 10.

Duquesne's Si Green, another All-America, had to be content with five points in the first game and nine in the nightcap.

One of the big surprises was the appearance of Michigan State's Julius McCoy in the All-Stars lineup. Originally, McCoy, along with Green, Heinsohn and Sobieszczyk had been declared ineligible by the AAU for Saturday's East-West game sponsored by the New York Herald Tribune's Fresh Air Fund. The AAU claimed their announced intention of playing against the Globetrotters made them professionals.

* * *

Later, however, McCoy convinced the AAU he had no pro tieups and was permitted to play in the benefit game. Dan Ferris, secretary-treasurer of the AAU, said McCoy's signing of an affidavit that he wouldn't play Sunday cleared the Olympic hopefuls who played with him in the East-West contest. No explanation was given of McCoy's switch in plans.

The Michigan State star scored six points in the two games yesterday.

Mike, a five-year-old Brittany Spaniel owned by Ralph Gardner, 1091 Voorheis Road, Pontiac, won the open all-age stake Sunday in the Michigan Saginaw Valley Brittany Club field trials at Millington. It was Mike's first victory in open competition and the feat was accomplished against 25 other dogs.

San Diego General Manager

Kiner Now Giving Dough Not Asking

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP) — Not so many years ago a fellow in Pittsburgh, name of Kiner, developed a serious habit of hitting 40-50 home runs every season.

This led to some interesting conversations in the Pittsburgh front office.

"Rather than perish of slow starvation on the paltry $70,000 you offer," Mr. Kiner used to say, "let's make it $85,000 for this season."

Kiner would then lean back and watch the blood drain from his victim's face—the victim being the general manager, Mr. Roy Hamey. Later the victim became Mr. Branch Rickey, to whom the thought of paying that kind of money was so repulsive he traded Ralph to Chicago, where Mr. Jim Gallagher took up the horrendous burden.

The truth, of course, is that Mr. Kiner was worth every farthing Pittsburgh paid him—and more—since the Pittsburgh baseball team then consisted of Ralph Kiner and eight spear carriers.

Pittsburgh hasn't changed much but Mr. Kiner has. He is now sitting on the other side of the desk as general manager of San Diego where, presumably, there are ball players asking for as much as $800 a month—while the blood drains from Kiner's face.

So, no matter how you slice it, this represents an enormous change in a man's viewpoint.

At one time in his life he was prying loose such gusty sums as 70, 80 and 90 grand from a general manager. In a few short years he is trying to persuade a second-string Coast League catcher to accept $50 a month less than the catcher is asking.

"Actually," Kiner was saying the other day, "I haven't found the change too tough. As for signing players, I've only had one holdout this spring.

"I just haven't got it in me to quibble over 50 bucks. If that's what it takes to make a ball player happy, I usually give it to him."

Nevertheless, some strange thought processes must go through the mind of a guy who knows he is arguing for only one-twentieth the salary Kiner used to draw as a player.

Spartans Seek Third Victory of Tour

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — Michigan State's touring baseball team met Duke today in search of its 3rd victory in eight games.

The Spartans dropped a 6-5 slugging match Saturday to Wake Forest, the NCAA baseball champs.

Michigan State pounded Deacon pitchers for 11 hits, including a 500-foot home run by shortstop Earl Morrall. But the Deacons combed two MSU hurlers for 12 hits, including three triples and two doubles.

Sime Outstanding

Honor Duke Track Star

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP)—For the third staight year an athlete from Duke University won the Kearney-Raybun Trophy as the outstanding individual among several hundred competing in the Florida Relays Saturday.

Dave Sime earned the trophy this year with a record smashing 9.5-second 100-yard dash, victory in the broad jump and sprints in two relay events.

Sime is aiming at the Olympic games in Australia later in the year. He ran a 9.4-second 100 yards at Ft. Jackson, S.C., a week ago—then the 9.5 dash here that smashed the Florida Relays record of 9.7 held by Bill Adams of Florida and Jackie Creel of Auburn.

There is no doubt in the minds of many who saw the long-legged, 19-year-old Sime stride to easy victory Saturday that he not only is likely to compete in the Olympics for the United States but that he is a threat to the world record of 9.3 seconds for the 100-yard dash.

'Watch Charm' Guard Is Among Air Casualties

PITTSBURGH (AP)—One of the casualties in last night's TWA airliner crash near the Greater Pittsburgh Airport was Alexander (Alec) Fox, once famed as the "watch charm" guard of powerful University of Pittsburgh football teams. His body was the last removed from the plane wreckage, and was identified immediately by an old friend, Coroner William D. McClelland.

Fox captained the 1928 Pitt team under the late Coach Jock Sutherland; and played in the East-West Shrine game in his senior year. He weighed only about 155 pounds, then, and was called the "watch charm" because of his size.

If many more injuries pop up among the Brooklyn Dodgers they may have to defend their National League pennant and world championship by proxy.

The latest casualties are two—righthander Billy Loes, so depressed by a chronic arm condition he says he may "go home and quit baseball," and outfielder-infielder Sandy Amoros, laid up for a week or so with a badly twisted right ankle.

Loes, a 26-year-old with a shoulder that swells, probably won't make the trip north with the club from Florida, taking hospital treatment instead. But Billy adds "They've been taking X-rays of my arm for two years and haven't found a thing."

Amoros was injured in yesterday's 4-3, 11-inning victory over the Chicago White Sox. He twisted the ankle sliding into second base.

It was Sandy who made that "quarter-mile" sprint to snag Yogi Berra's fly and start a rally-killing double play in the payoff seventh game of last fall's World Series.

Loes and Amoros now are on the shelf along with Don Bessent, the 25-year-old right-handed reliefer sidelined for two or three weeks (the campaign starts in two) after removal of a blood clot from his stomach wall.

The walking wounded include Capt. Pee Wee Reese, the 36-year-old kid shortstop, who has an aching back, Duke Snider, with muscular pains in stomach and back, and sore-arm pitchers Karl Spooner and Carl Erskine.

Mickey McDermott, the hoped-for starter the New York Yankees acquired from Washington, went a full nine innings for the first time this spring and set down the St. Louis Cardinals 5-2 on six hits. The Yanks had lost five straight.

Herb Score, the southpaw swifty and strikeout king of the Cleveland Indians, breezed through five innings to beat Baltimore 5-3. Score, tabbed as the most improved non-rookie in the Tribe camp, gave just one hit and upped his strikeouts to 13 for 17 innings. The Injuns took the Cactus League crown(vs. the Giants, Cubs and Orioles) with a 14-8 mark.

New York's Giants, 13-9 for the Arizona doings, thumped the Chicago Cubs 7-2 with Dusty Rhodes, Daryl Spencer and Gail Harris smacking homers in a five-run first inning. Johnny Antonelli three-hit the Cubs in his seven innings. One was a homer by Pete Whisenant, traded Friday to the Cubs by the Cardinals for Hank Sauer.

Bob Friend became the first Pittsburgh pitcher to go nine innings and let the Kansas City Athletics have just four hits for an 8-1 victory. He retired the side in order in five frames.

Rookie catcher Joe Lonnett delivered a bases-loaded single in the ninth to give the Philadelphia Phils a 6-5 decision over Cincinnati. Earlier, Stan Lopata had walloped a 400-foot homer with two men on base for the Phils.

Jim Pendleton hit a three-run homer for Milwaukee as the Braves beat Atlanta of the Southern Assn. 10-2—with eight runs unearned.

Souchak Putts Way to Win at Azalea

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — Mike Souchak has regained his putting touch—just in time for the Masters Golf Tournament opening Thursday at Augusta, Ga.

The 210-pound, 28-year-old former Duke University football end putted his way to victory by a single stroke over Dick Mayer of St. Petersburg, Fla., in a rousing finish to the $12,500 Azalea Open here yesterday.

Mike came to the final green three under par, knowing he needed to sink a five-foot putt for a birdie and a 68 to match Mayer's closing round and stay one shot ahead of him.

The broad-shouldered, curly-haired Souchak, who plays out of Grossinger's, N.Y., stroked the ball and turned his back on it. The crowd's whoop told him what he said later he had known as soon as he hit the ball—it was in the hole.

He flung his cap high in the air and a broad grin lit up his face as he began the struggle through the milling thousands to the scorer's table.

Mike's 273 total was 15 under par for the 6,795-yard Cape Fear Country Club course and meant $2,220. It reversed last year's finish when Mike's 271 was good enough only for second place a stroke behind Billy Maxwell.

Mike said earlier in the tournament that his putting was better than it had been in six weeks, and the trusty putter came to his rescue before that final hole birdie. On 14 he rolled one in from 50 feet for an eagle 2 after a mighty drive reached to the fringe on the 310-yard hole. He also dropped a 10-footer on the ninth for a birdie to keep ahead of Mayer as each turned in 33.

Souchak finished in a tie for fourth last year in the Masters in his first try at the big one as a professional. If his putter stays hot to go along with the rest of his fine game, he should be heard from at Augusta.

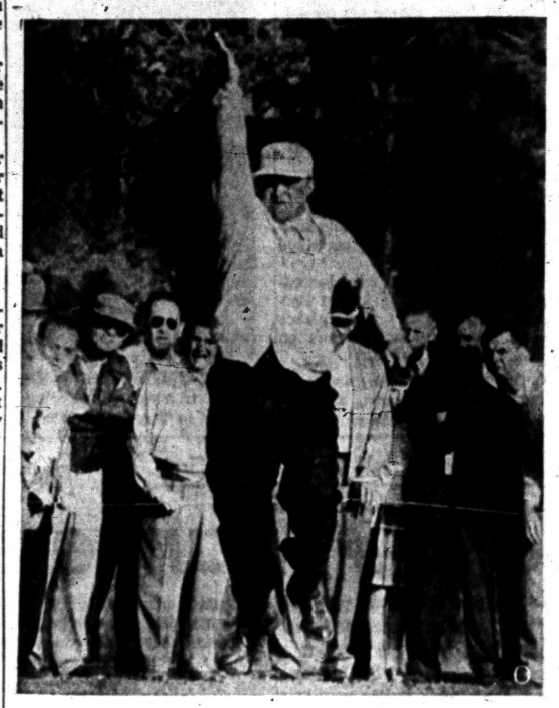

Mayer, who rested until the touring golfers hit Florida last month, won $1,500 second money. Gene Littler of Palm Springs, Calif., leader through the first two rounds and in a three-way tie for the lead at the start of the last 18, had his poorest round, 71, to finish third at 276, good for $1,170.

Doug Ford, Mahopac, N.Y., was fourth with 277 for $980, ahead of George Bayer, Cincinnati, and Art Doering, Cedarhurst, N.Y., who tied at 278, each winning $790. Stan Leonard of LeChute, Canada, was seventh at 279 for $640.

Claude King, Virginia Beach, Va., was low amateur at 301, one stroke ahead of Larry Beck of Kingston, N.C.

SOUCHAK EAGLES — Mike Souchak of Grossinger's, N. Y. jumps with glee after a 70 foot putt from off the green rolled into the cup for an eagle on the 14th hole yesterday. Souchak, playing four under par, won the Azalea Open Golf Tournament with a 273 total at Wilmington, N.C.

Wings Ignore Forum Workout for Extra Rest

Second Game of Cup Series Played Tuesday on Montreal Ice

MONTREAL (AP)—Most of the Detroit Red Wings ignored the Forum rink today on orders from Coach Jimmy Skinner to rest up for tomorrow night's second set-to in the final Stanley Cup hockey series.

Skinner explained Detroit's opening defeat in the best-of-7 series to Montreal's Canadiens Saturday by saying "We ran out of gas, that's all. The Canadiens had an extra rest after their semifinal, while we had to come back just two days after that tough series with Toronto."

The Canadiens, who breezed through the regular season for the National Hockey League championship, got the jump on the Red Wings in this third straight meeting between the two powers, 6-4.

Both wrapped up their semifinal cup series in five games. But the Canadiens finished the New York Rangers last Tuesday while the Detroit-Toronto playoff wasn't completed until Thursday.

Only the Wings, who saw limited action in Saturday's opener here, were scheduled to work out on the ice at the Forum today. The others will rest, said Skinner, "and I hope by tomorrow night we will be caught up more on conditioning."

The Canadiens, determined to explode Detroit's bid for an unprecedented third straight Stanley Cup success, blasted the Wings with a power-packed 5-minute spree in which they scored four goals in the third period Saturday. For the opening 45 minutes, however, Montreal was sluggish and its attack was haphazard.

Oddly enough, the winning rally was triggered by the so-called checking line of Jackie LeClair, Floyd Curry and Claude Provost. Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion and Jean Beliveau joined LeClair and Provost in the late assault that erased Detroit's 4-2 edge.

After tomorrow night's game, the series shifts to Detroit for the third and fourth games in the final playoff Thursday and Saturday nights.

LOOKOUT BELOW — Bill Martin, New York Yankee infielder is forced at second base as St. Louis Cardinals' Red Schoendienst goes up and over Martin in throwing the ball to first to complete the double play. The Yanks won 5-2 at St. Petersburg, Fla.

Olympic Playoff Begins Tonight

Four Cage Teams Start Round Robin to Decide American Personnel

KANSAS CITY, APRIL 2 (AP)—Four teams of the finest amateur basketball players in the nation tonight begin a round-robin playoff to determine personel of the United States' entry in the coming world Olympic games.

The playoffs run for three nights.

The Phillips 66ers, runners-up in the national AAU tournament at Denver a week ago, and the Armed Forces team start the action at 8:30 p.m. (EST). Following two hours later will be the AAU champion, Seattle Buchan Bakers, and the college all-stars.

From the talent array will come the 12-man team that represents this country in the world game at Melbourne, Australia, beginning next November.

Two California Girls Are Tops at Miami Swims

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—California mermaids, paced by a 13-year-old Olympic hopeful, turned the first Miami International swims into a West Coast frolic.

Blonde Sylvia Ruuska, 13, of Berkeley, snipped two seconds off Ann Curtis' 1947 national record of 4 minutes, 44.9 seconds in the 400-yard women's freestyle. The 5-foot, 7-inch, Sylvia also broke Shelly Mann's 1954 national women's 400-yard individual medley mark of 5:18.6. The youngster made it in 5:16.8.

Last night Miss Ruuska won the women's 200-yard backstroke in 2:29.2. Barbara Mohr of Los Angeles took the women's 200-yard freestyle in 2:18.7 and Mary Lou Elfsenius of Berkeley won the 200-yard breaststroke in 2:44.

Jamaica Opens

Derby Eligibles on Display

NEW YORK (AP) — Seven Kentuckey Derby eligibles go on display today as New York's 1956 horse racing season opens on two fronts.

* * *

Mrs. Anson A. Bigelow's Nail, 1955 champion 2-year-old; C. V. Whitney's highly rated Head Man and the speedy Polly's Jet from John McShain's Barclay stable head a field of 10 3-year-olds in the 6 furlongs of the $20,000 Experimental, which has replaced the Paumonok as Jamaica's opening feature.

* * *

And then a few hours later, after the runners have been bedded down, the lights will be turned on at Roosevelt Raceway in Westbury, N.Y. for the opening of the trotting and pacing season. A field of six, including three two-minute performers, tangle in the $7,500 Inaugural Pace.

Today's programs initiate 196-day seasons for both types of racing.

Nail is the top weight of the field in the Experimental with 125 pounds but Head Man is the probable favorite with 119 pounds in the saddle. The fact that Head Man's jockey is Eddie Arcaro isn't likely to hinder him either on the track or at the pari-mutuel betting windows.

Nail, known best for mud-running ability, won $239,930 in 1955. That was the second highest amount ever banked by a 2-year-old. By comparison Head Man was nothing. But the Whitney colt won his first start as a 3-year-old handily and trainer Syl Veitch considers the son of Eight Thirty a real Derby candidate.

Polly's Jet, also in with 119 pounds, won five stakes last year, most of them in the early part of the season with Arcaro aboard. Willie Hartack, leading rider last year, will be up on the Barclay colt this time, Hedley Woodhouse rides Nail.

Detroit Bowler First at State Tourney

PORT HURON (AP)—Detroit ace Doris Knechtges, competing for Pepsi Cola, turned in a flash 1808 series to take over 1st place in actual-all-events in State Women's Bowling Championships weekend competition.

Anita Cantaline, world's women's match game champion appearing with the Colonial Broach team of Detroit, bowled a surprisingly poor 1692 handicap series in the all-events competition and failed to gain a ranking among the leaders.

All other leaders retained their positions.

Ortega Given Edge in TV Go Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gaspar Ortega, a 20-year-old Mexican middleweight prospect who throws his right hard and often, is a slight 6-5 favorite over 23-year-old Hardy (Bazooka) Smallwood of Brooklyn in a television 10-rounder (DuMont-TV) at New York's St. Nicholas Arena tonight.

Recently promoted from the semifinal ranks for his scrapping fighting style, Ortega has compiled a good 32-7 record with 14 knockouts. Smallwood, another busy puncher, has a 17-4-2 record with four kayos.

Invitation List for Masters Completed

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Two young professionals who made top showings on golf's winter circuit will complete the U.S. invitation list for the blue-ribbon Masters tournament opening here Thursday.

Invitations have been issued to Dow Finsterwald of Bedford Heights, Ohio, and Lionel Hebert of Erie, Pa. They were named by the Professional Golfers Assn. under a rule which provides berths for two pros not otherwise eligible who have outstanding records on the winter tour.

Finsterwald, in rankings through the Miami Open, was placed sixth among winter money winners, taking $5,601.84. Hebert was seventh, with $5,186.25.

Hebert will make his first Masters appearance, while Finsterwald, who played here as an amateure in 1951 when he was an alternate Walker Cup team member.

Device Keeps Wrist Rigid When Bowling

SPECIAL ASSIST — Leather and light metal fits like an ordinary wristband and extends over the back of the hand.

CANTON, Ohio (NEA)—A new device of leather and light metal that straps on the wrist is getting enthusiastic praise from men and women bowlers in northeasern Ohio.

It keeps the wrist rigid, prevents flexing.

It fits the wrist like an ordinary wristband and extends over the back of the hand with a strap across the palm. An aluminum insert in the back cushioned in foam rubber provides the stiffening.

Users reporting upped averages, say the device gives them a stronger ball, helps maintain a more consistent delivery with a special assist in the follow through.

Johnny Risher and Sam Martin, the inventors, point out that the positioner, as they call it, provides rigid support at the time of delivery regardless of individual style or form.

A natural follow through permits the thumb to come out first, assuring the proper lift with the fingers and importing correct top spin. The result is a very effective hook.

Risher wore the device rolling a 300 game, jumped to first place with 785 in the City Tournament. Martin fired 696 in tournament

Veteran National League umpire Ralph Pinelli has not missed an arbiting assignment since he joined the league in 1935.

Hollywood Headlines:

Beautiful Greek Actress, Irene Papas in Plum Role

By LOUELLO O. PARSONS
INS Motion Picture Editor

HOLLYWOOD — Stately Irene Papas, the Greek beauty, is just about the hottest actress on the MGM lot at this writing. She will get the co-starring lead with Robert Taylor in "The Power and the Prize," his next picture.

In the same film, Nicola Michaels, attractive, ambitious daughter of Nicholas Schenck, gets her first job as a motion picture actress in a featured role. Looks like type casting, as she plays the niece of Taylor's boss.

Let me hasten to add that Nicola did not get her job because she is the boss' daughter: She has real talent, and Henry Koster, who will direct her in this Nicky Nayfack production, will have an able young actress to guide.

If Tennessee Williams is the "richest" writer, Irwin Shaw must be crowding him for honors and royalties. Don Hartman has signed Shaw, via cable, to script "Desire Under the Elms," his first as an independent after pulling out of his job as production boss of Paramount.

Shaw, currently in Paris, meets Don in London to discuss the picture before he (Irwin) heads for Hollywood, his first trip in four years.

He scripted "War and Peace" for King Vidor and, in addition, has a best seller on the market, the controversial "Lucy Crown" which Hecht-Lancaster have brought for a movie.

There have been discussions between Joe Pasternak and Sam Katz about moving to Columbia, and when Joe's contract is up in a very short time, he and Katz will make pictures together on an independent basis.

As I understand it, the contracts with Harry Cohn are all ready for the signing, and all the most important details of the deal have been worked out. Pasternak has made some of MGM's top musicals.

Academy awards do unusual things. Ernest Borgnine, who originally was set to sing "Button Up Your Overcoat" in his role of Lew Brown in "The Best Things in Life Are Free," the story of Da Sylva, Brown and Henderson, has been given two more songs to sing.

Ernie will sing "Lucky in Love" and "Here I Am Broken Hearted," and, of all things, will sing a duet with Gordon MacRae! I couldn't believe it, but producer Henry Ephron says it's true.

Snapshots of Hollywood Collected at Random: Peggy Lee's romance with Dewey Martin is hotter than the sunshine.

Terry Moore and her bridegroom were late in getting home for Easter. They received a traffic ticket in New York on the way to the airport and missed their plane.

One of the cutest babies in town, Bob Taylor's nine-month-old son, Terrence has never been photographed for the public. The fans are dying to see a picture of him.

A rose pink and orchid silk gown embroidered with amethysts and topazes, with matching stole was created by Marusia for Grace Kelly's ma to wear at the opera gala in Monte Carlo.

The baby expected by Marge and Gower Champion will cost them a minimum of $200,000 because Marge will be inactive for some months—but she feels it's worth it.

All accounts of the Ida Lupino dinner given by the Masquers are that it was a fine tribute paid to a fine person.

Easter Sunday was the birthday of Jane Powell, Debbie Reynolds, Mrs. Robert Young and Mrs. Walter Lang—and because it was Easter nobody said "April Fool!"

John Wayne Is Father of New Baby Daughter

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor John Wayne is passing out cigars after the birth of a daughter.

Adlai Takes Respite; Travels With Son

CHICAGO (AP)—Adlai Stevenson will take a brief rest this week from his campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination to travel with his son John Fell, 19, for a visit with friends in southern Georgia.

Caution Evident in Grain Mart

CHICAGO (AP)— Soybeans led an uncertain market on the Board of Trade today as politics and weather urged cautious trading.

In early dealings, wheat showed none of its strength of the past three weeks. Easing trade in wheat futures was attributed largely to reports of thundershowers in the dry Southwest wheat raising areas.

Other cereals were easy with corn and oats making slight gains in nearby contracts.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was unchanged to ¼ lower, May $2.26½-⅝; corn unchanged to ⅝ higher, May $1.42¼; oats up ¼ to ⅜, May 65¼, rye unchanged to ¼ higher, May $1.30¾; soybeans unchanged to 2½ higher, May $2.71, and lard 20 to 25 cents a hundred pounds higher, May $12.60.

Brokerage houses urged caution in grain trading in view of uncertainties as to the final makeup of the package farm bill before Congress and its fate.

Boy Injured in Dash From Side of Father

A three-year-old boy who suddenly ran from his father's side, escaped serious injury when he dashed out into Auburn avenue Saturday afternoon.

Ronald F. Smith, son of Claude L. Smith, 271 S. Edith St., bumped into the side of a car and suffered a bruised lip, authorities in Pontiac General Hospital said.

The driver, William A. Collins, 41, of Utica, told Pontiac police he saw the running boy and jammed on his brakes.

Built by U.S. Army engineers, the Panama Canal opened on Jan. 1, 1915.

Billy Rose Home Razed by Fire; Servants Escape

MOUNT KISCO, N.Y. (AP)—Fire blazed through showman Billy Rose's three-story country home on his estate two miles south of here early today.

Police said Rose was at the house yesterday afternoon but left later. All the servants escaped from the blazing house, they said.

Just yesterday Billy announced he and blonde Joyce Mathews will be married the first week in June.

THIRD ATTEMPT

Rose, in making the wedding announcement, said he was denying an earlier report that the wedding would be today.

The marriage will be the third for both Rose and Miss Mathews, who once slashed her wrists and tried to jump out a window in his New York City apartment.

Rose, 56, was previously married to the late Fanny Brice and to swimmer Eleanor Holm.

Miss Mathews, 36, was once married to Venezuelan Col. Conzalo Gomez and to comedian Milton Berle.

Seven-Year-Old Hurt While Crossing Road

A boy, 7, who reportedly darted out into Baldwin avenue Saturday afternoon, was slightly injured when struck by a car, Pontiac police said.

Joseph Ashley, 62 W. Mansfield, was released after treatment in Pontiac General Hospital for cuts and bruises.

The driver, Stephen E. Bernier, 52, of 620 Auburn Ave., told police the boy ran out from between parked cars south of Kennett road.

The American flag has 13 horizontal stripes, six white and seven red.

Suffers Leg Fracture as Car Leaves Highway

A Southfield Township woman was admitted to Pontiac General Hospital with a leg fracture and lacerations after an accident Saturday morning on Union Lake Road, near Wise Road, Commerce Township.

Antoinette Marie McGuire, 47, told Sheriff's deputies she struck a roadside bank while trying to avoid hitting a dog which ran in front of her car.

Her husband, William McGuire, 49, a passenger in the car, was treated for minor injuries.

Burglar Takes Rosary, Cash During Breakin

A gold rosary, compact and cigarette lighter, along with $35 cash, were reported stolen Saturday night from a home at 491 Central St., according to Pontiac police.

Mrs. Robert Gardner, of that address, told police she believed a burglar entered through an unlocked back door.

Market Shows Slight Headway

NEW YORK (AP)—Slight headway was made by the Stock Market today in early dealings.

Most major divisions were quite mixed, but plus signs held the edge.

Both gains and losses usually were small. The outside range of the rise went to between 2 and 3 points while the bottom side of the market went to between 1 and 2 points.

Motors and railroads had enough plus signs to put them in the advancing column.

Pennsylvania Railroad, Thursday's most active issue up 3¼ at 27⅝, opened today on a huge block of 25,000 shares up ⅜ at 28. The strength of the stock is ascribed to a buying recommendation given by a large brokerage house.

There were a lot of blocks on the tape as orders poured into the market over the three-day Easter recess. The tape was late briefly at the start when the wave of orders proved to be too much foir the tape to handle.

Anxious Fathers-to-Be Upset by Meow of Cat

NEW YORK (INS) — Anxiously pacing back and forth in the maternity ward waiting room of a Bronx hospital Easter Sunday, two fathers-to-be nervously awaited the word.

The word they got first was a long suffering "meow!"

Both looked under a sofa and into the eyes of a gray, purring cat and her newly born offspring.

In Memoriam 2

IN BELOVED MEMORY OF MY husband, Phillip Worth, who passed away one year ago March 31, 1955.
His path he walked with truth and grace,
Ever gentle, good and kind:
And his certainty of heaven
Comforted those he left behind.
Sadly missed by his wife, Mae Ann Werth.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF JOseph G. Shaefer who passed away 1 year ago April 2, 1955.
We who knew him and loved him miss him.
Sadly missed by Mrs. Blanche Shaefer and Family.

IN MEMORY OF MY SON, REED Strevel, who passed away 4 years ago March 29
No finer son this world could hold,
Nor ever shall there be.
His smiling face I'll always see,
To keep his memory.
Sadly missed by his mother, Mrs. Walter Tominski.

In Memoriam 2

IN MEMORY OF MY WIFE, Gldays Ellen Skarritt, who passed away April 1, 1953.
There is a husband who missed you sadly,
And finds the time long since you went,
And I think of you daily and hourly.
And I try to be brave and content.
But the tears I shed in silence,
And I breathe a sigh of regret.
For you were mie and I remember,
Though all the world forget.
Kim Skarritt.

IN LOVING MEMORY OUR OUR dear dad, Walter P. Gay, who passed away one year ago, April 2
Also a true unselfish and kind,
Few in the world his equal you'll find.
A beautiful life that comes to an end,
He died as he lived—everyone's friend.

Video Spotlights Many Vocalists

Gorme, Kirby, Corey and Page Receive Nod From Columnist

BY JACK O'BRAIN

NEW YORK (INS)—Best singer on TV? Now there is a fine crowded category.

Do we mean best singer, or best performer, meaning one who sells with poise, aplomb and polish? Or just the best voice? Both?

Probably Dinah Shore is the best all-purpose TV singer, female division. She sings in a lovely, intimate, small, personal fashion. She seems the friendliest, nicest, most cheerful, happy-faced gal in the whole tuneful universe when she plays her chords right.

Even when she's intentionally sounding off in torchy vein, you can't quite believe the sadness.

Oaky—Dinah Shore is this column's selection of the best female popular singer in TV.

We add the "popular" classification so that no intellectual wisenheimer with hit us over the head with the names of Rise Stevens, Renata Tebaldi, Zinka Milanov or Bidu Sayao: and what Bidu sings is pure cream, rich and perfect.

JUNIOR DINAHS

There are lots of junior Dinah's ready to invade our shore. Eydie Gorme is getting to be more of a pro every day. Pat Kirby has that indefinable something called class; she also has a voice with a neatly identifiable sound in it.

Jo Stafford, our own favorite singing sound, presently is taking a bassient leave from TV and so temporarily is out of this contest.

There are lots of girl singers, eagerly on the way up. Jill Corey, the cutiepie, has a very good voice, a terribly sweet and poignant smile, a face to launch 1,000,000 ahs and a face to launch launch 1,000,000 leers; or, all the physical perquisites for TV stardom.

Only a few girl singers can balance the stature of a solo showlady. Patti Page is in this high class, through not quite effective enough to unseat Dinah.

Janette Davis' singing puzzles us; it could be described as pleasant, but hardly more, so everyone must congratulate her for earing $3,000 a week with such meager musicianship.

NOW THE MEN

So much for the gals. The best male singer?

Easy? Perry Como.

Perry delivers a consistent brand of rich, creamy baritone pleasure that soothes the gals and oddly, does not anger the men, as has been crooners' fate since times, or Rudy Vallee, began.

Frank Sinatra used to drive girls crazy and boys nuts. Eddie Fisher catnips the girl kids but boy kids generally rate him about 2½ shrugs.

Gordon MacRae has a great big sound of pliable leather in his voice, but he's not long enough on TV yet to see if he'll nudge into the top-raters.

Tony Martin, whose spot on TV Gordon inherited, is safer in his natural habitat, the nightclubs. He's a more flambuoyant song salesman, in the Harry Richman manner.

ALSO CROSBY

Bing Crosby, who invented Perry Como, as Perry not only freely but proudly admits, has been on TV sporadically (that means on films) and doesn't really need to be nominated.

He still pours a fine helping of rich-sweet chocolate in his lower timber, though the strain of all those years at the top sounds through in reaching for high ones.

Michigan Dem Raps Embezzler's Charge

DETROIT (AP) — Neil Staebler, chairman of the Democratic state central committee, declared yesterday that "the Democratic party does not require contributions as a condition for getting or holding a state job."

Staebler said a missing branch manager for the Secretary of State was making "an attempt to equate a $400 contribution with a $74,841 embezzlement."

The chairman's accusation was leevled at Mrs. Anne Thorpe, 42, of St. Clair Shores, who disappeared March 2 along with $74,841 in auto license fees.

Mrs. Thorpe wrote a son in suburban Van Dyke that "forced" contributions, including one of 10 per cent of her salary, to the Democratic party resulted in the discrepancies.

White House Egg Roll

WASHINGTON (INS) — Children will frolic on the White House grounds today as the gates are thrown open for the traditional Easter egg roll.

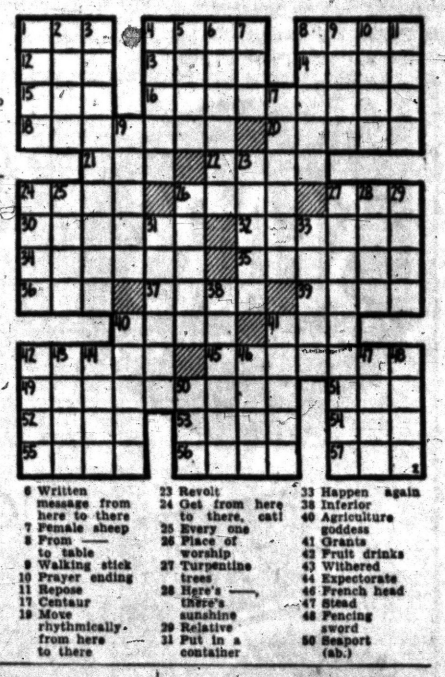

60 Fishermen Saved

FAIR HAVEN (AP) — Sixty ice fishermen were rescued from an ice fleo yesterday that broke loose and carried them 40 feet into Anchor Bay near Fair Haven.

Safety Patrol Boys to Go to Washington

Central and McCarroll Schools in Pontiac and Waterford Village School will send a safety patrol member to Washington, D.C., May 3-6.

The Pontiac and Waterford boys, to be selected from safety patrol ranks in the next two weeks, will receive the 4-day all expense trip to the Capital City as the guests of the Automobile Club of Michigan.

They will join 140 Michigan patrolers in Detroit, May 3, to entrain for Washington. Their arrival in the capital will set off two full days of meeting government officials and seeing famous and historic sights, climaxed by a march down Constitution avenue with over 30,000 other patrol members from all over the United States and Canada.

The boys will return by train May 6.

The rate of increase of the number of people in the United States is somewhat higher than the rate in India.

Nehru Admits Asking Soviet for Arms Aid

NEW DELHI (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru confirmed today that India has ordered military supplies — apparently planes and tanks — from Britain but denied a report he had rejected a cut-price offer of Soviet arms.

Nehru did not specify exactly what India is buying in Britain except to say, "We have discussed buying tanks and aircraft in the last two years, and it is true we recently finalized details of an order."

Russia, he told a news conference, "has made no offer to us, but we made inquiries in Russia. The inquiries did not concern arms as such but military and civil aircraft."
