County Supervisors Approve $9 Million Budget

Member Balks at Contagious Hospital Fund

Unused Cash to Revert to General Fund, Help Future Building

Oakland County Supervisors today passed a $9,199,561.20 budget for 1957, over the lone abstention of Huntington Woods Supervisor Mrs. Harriett Phillips.

Mrs. Phillips questioned the $189,663 for the Contagious Hospital. She said she sees no reason to continue large allocations to the hospital, where operations have been reduced because the number of patients has declined.

Fred W. Smith, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, told Mrs. Phillips the money budgeted is necessary to meet "emergencies." If there is any left at the end of the year, he said, it will revert to the County General Fund.

Ten minutes after passing the budget, supervisors authorized a committee to offer the hospital for lease to Pontiac General Hospital, for use while the Pontiac addition is being built.

Under the proposed arrangement, Pontiac General would pay an undetermined rent and operating expenses of the Contagious Hospital.

The county would pay Pontiac General a per diem rate for any county patients treated in the Contagious Hospital.

Under this arrangement, the entire $189,663 and much of the proposed rent for the building would revert to the General Fund?

Under legislation passed this year, the county may use budget surpluses in its building fund.

* * *

Last year's surplus was $312,000.

Mrs. Phillips said today she does not question the integrity of the Ways and Means Committee, and is sure "they have the interests of the County at heart."

But she said she does not agree that a government may ethically build surplus funds for future projects.

In 1954, County voters twice rejected a bond issue to pay for the proposed courthouse.

By a 59-14 vote, supervisors rejected an amendment to the controversial Salaries Committee report which would have provided 1957 raises for the register of deeds and drain commissioner.

The salaries report, returned to committee after a lengthy debate at the Sept. 17 meeting, was passed with only two changes.

County Clerk Lynn D. Allen was granted an additional raise of $250, making his 1957 salary $500 more than he receives this year.

A minor amendment was made in the section dealing with office hours for all county offices.

Truman Whistlestops in Brooklyn, Queens

NEW YORK (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman makes a one-day whistlestop campaign tour by automobile through Manhattan Brooklyn and Queens today.

"The Democrats are winning," Truman said on his arrival from Boston yesterday. "We have them (the Republicans) worried. They must be desperate if all they do is attack me."

Opening Day's Prizes

Grand Rapids Hears Nixon Air Discrimination Views

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Vice President Nixon said today he has "a standard rule" against quartering his campaign entourage in hotels which have a racial discrimination policy.

Nixon gave his views at a news conference here prior to a noon hour rally.

He was asked why his party made a sudden change in hotel plans during the weekend at St. Petersburg, Fla.

"I have a standard rule," he said, "that we are always to stay at what we call unrestricted hotels." In some states, he explained, that might not be possible, but to the extent that it was possible he would adhere strictly to it.

The advance staff which made the original St. Petersburg arrangements, he said, presumably was not aware of his policy.

He noted that wherever possible, he holds his rallies in public squares or buildings where no discrimination is practiced.

To the extent possible, Nixon said, in his campaign schedule "we encourage the breaking down of racial discrimination."

"It is tremendously important," he added, "that we who are public officials take the lead in these matters."

He spoke in Campau Square in Grand Rapids' downtown business section and will return later this month for speeches in the Detroit area. Nixon says he believes President Eisenhower will also be on hand for the final drive before the election.

Nixon announced plans for a new airborne jaunt starting Oct. 9 to take him into 14 states, including 11 on his current itinerary. He also will make a "report to the public" on TV next Thursday night.

15 Nations Sign as 'Canal Users'

Suez Association Sets Inauguration for Today; 3 Fail to Join

LONDON (AP) — British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd formally declared the Suez Canal Users' Assn. inaugurated today after 15 nations announced their decision to join it.

Lloyd was presiding over a conference of 18 nations which have pronounced themselves in favor of international control of the Suez Canal, placed under state ownership by Egypt on July 26.

Japan, Ethiopia and Pakistan have not yet decided whether to become members.

The 90-minute opening session of the envoys wound up with appointment of three expert committees, which will consider:

1. Organization of the association; the powers and relationships of a council comprising a delegate from each member country, an executive group and an administrator, who probably will be a Scandinavian.

2. Operations; the practical questions concerning relationship with Egyptian authorities, payment and collection of canal use and the possible by-passing of Suez.

3. Financial matters; creation of a common working fund to pay for a secretariat and an operational headquarters which may be set up in Rome or Lisbon.

Ike Lashes at Democrats in New Attack

Accuses Opposition of Tolerating 'Thievery of Inflation'

CLEVELAND (AP)—President Eisenhower accused the Democrats today of having tolerated "the thievery of inflation" and of talking "wicked nonsense" and "political bunk" in the campaign.

Without ever mentioning his Democratic opponent Adlai E. Stevenson by name, Eisenhower fired back at Stevenson criticism in the strongest terms he has used so far in an address prepared for delivery in Cleveland's Public Square.

Eisenhower hit at Stevenson on the farm issue, the cost of living, labor and wages, and on several other points.

He said that on the other hand his administration has adopted policies "that have created a tremendous confidence in 'America's future."

Eisenhower referred to the Democrats as "these men of fretting fear and worried doubt." Then, turning again to his own Republican administration, Eisenhower added:

"We have given to our nation the kind of government that is a living witness to a basic virtue in a democracy — public morality, public service and public trust.

"In this administration you cannot find those ugly marks of the past, special favoritism, cronyism and laxity in administration."

Eisenhower traveled here by special 12-car campaign train on an overnight run from Washington. He arranged to go on by plane from Cleveland to Lexington, Ky., for a nationwide telvision-radio address tonight at a GOP rally at the University of Kentucky coliseum.

Eisenhower's bid for Ohio's 25 electoral votes and Kentucky's 10 came as his campaign pace quickened.

The White House announced yesterday Eisenhower will make a 5,500-mile, 48-hour flying trip in mid-October to Minnesota, Wash-

Pact Heralds New Tiger Era

NEW TIGER BOSSES — The Detroit Tigers officially changed hands today as a syndicate headed by Fred Knorr (right) and John E. Fetzer (left) took over the reins from former club president Walter O. (Spike) Briggs (center). The meeting completed all work on the $5,500,000 sale. Briggs will serve the new owners as vice president.

Complete Sale of Tigers

DETROIT—A historical moment in Detroit Tiger baseball took place this morning in a 6th floor office of the National Bank of Detroit building.

It was the end of 21 years of Tiger control by the Briggs family and the start of an era which Detroit fans hope will move the Bengals out of the six-year draught in the second division.

Nearly 150 official and legal documents were passed from hand to hand for the some 1,000 necessary signatures which climaxed perhaps the greatest financial transaction in sports history.

Walter (Spike) O. Briggs Jr., and his sisters then put the franchise up for bids and Knorr and syndicate were the successful buyers.

Briggs, however, will not leave the Tigers scene. He was named this morning as executive vice president in charge of all operations of baseball activities of the club.

All of the new stockholders except Hollywood's Bing Crosby were present. Crosby wired his regrets for not attending, because he was in the process of making a movie.

Fred A. Knorr will become the new president of the Tigers while John E. Fetzer will become chairman of the board under the new setup. (Continued on Sports page 22.)

Williams Says Telegraph Underpass Delay 'Absurd'

Commenting on the delays in construction of the Orchard Lake-Telegraph Road underpass, Gov. G. Mennen Williams Saturday lashed out at Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler.

"This thing has happened over and over and over again," Williams said. "Ziegler's road policy is absolutely absurd. He tried to sluff this delay off by saying there wasn't any steel available, because of a strike.

"But I sat with the State Administrative Board once when they arranged to buy steel in advance, so there couldn't be any delays.

"If that can be done once, why couldn't Ziegler do it here?"

In his tour of the northern part of the county Saturday, Williams spoke at a breakfast meeting in Holly and stopped in Davisburg and Clarkston for handshaking tours before a luncheon speech in Pontiac's Elks Temple.

After more handshaking and a 30-minute caravan tour in the city's south end, Williams moved to Keego Harbor where an estimated 200 residents gathered to hear him speak briefly.

At a 5 p.m. open-air meeting of candidates and precinct delegates at the Sylvan Lake home of former Democratic county chairman Willis M. Brewer, Williams told an audience of 150 that with the party's "enthusiasm and organization" it could swing Oakland County to the Democratic side Nov. 6.

The governor's tour, originally planned for last Wednesday, was postponed to Saturday only a week before Williams came to the county.

County Man Dies in Crash

Car Strikes Tree in Novi Township Early Sunday

A Farmington Township man was killed early Sunday when his car went off the road and struck a tree on US 16 near Beck Road in Novi Township.

* * *

Ballard Sexton, 33, died shortly after the crash, according to investigating officers of the Novi Township department.

"The only thing we can figure is that he must have fallen asleep at the wheel," said a police spokesman in explanation of the fatal accident.

The Sexton car reportedly went out of control and swerved across the highway before hitting the tree on the left side. Police said the man had apparently been alone in the car at the time of the crash.

Seven Days Left to Make Your Nov. 6 Vote Count

What's your choice? Stevenson or Eisenhower?

Regardless of your preference, you have only seven days left to register or your presidential pick will not count. The deadline for registration is 8 p.m. Oct. 8.

The Pontiac city clerk's office in the City Hall will be open tonight until 9 p.m. along with the voting registration booth in front of the courthouse.

The booth has proved to be the popular and convenient center for registering as 2,535 voters have used this service since Sept. 4, officials say. The clerk's office has recorded 721 new registrations since the August primary.

There is a total of 42,171 Pontiac voters qualified to vote Nov. 6 to date. There were 43,000 in the 1952 balloting.

Join Tito, Nikita in Bid to Quell Power Struggle

Rumor Kremlin Chiefs Enlisting New Backing Against Bolsheviks

LONDON (AP) — The premiers of Russia and Hungary joined President Tito and Nikita Khrushchev in mystery-shrouded talks believed aimed at ironing out conflicts in the Soviet circle.

Premier Bulganin and Hungary's Erno Geroe appeared yesterday at the Yalta meeting billed by Moscow radio as a vacation gathering but seen by the west as a crucial phase in a Kremlin power struggle.

Diplomats in London believe Khrushchev has enlisted Tito's support for his campaign downgrading Stalin. Informed sources say the campaign has embroiled the Soviet Communist party boss in a bitter struggle with old Bolsheviks in the Kremlin.

Two veteran Stalinists—former Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov and Deputy Premier Lazar Kaganovich — are said to feel Khrushchev's switch to a more liberal brand of communism has weakened Moscow's control of the satellites.

Tito himself was reported disturbed over a letter Soviet leaders sent the satellites warning them against espousing too heartily Tito's avowed independence from Moscow.

* * *

Should Soviet-Yugoslav relations go sour again, Tito's government stands to lose more than half a billion dollars in Communist credits and grants. Since relations with Tito began improving three years ago, the Soviet bloc has showered the Yugoslavs with economic benefits to compensate for the 1948 Stalin-inspected boycott.

The uncertain status of Soviet-Yugoslav relations has caused intense interest in Washington. James W. Riddleberger, U. S. ambassador to Belgrade, returned to the Yugoslav capital yesterday after a three-month vacation.

He is expected to ask Tito for a fill-in on the Yalta talks when the president gets back from the Crimea.

The whole question of continued U.S. aid to Yugoslavia is under review in Washington. Secretary of State Dulles reportedly has messaged the Yugoslav government that a full return to the Soviet camp would cut off American help to Belgrade.

* * *

Western informants believe Khrushchev invited Geroe to the Yalta talks to try to erase old friction between Yugoslavia and Hungary. Geroe became first secretary of the Hungarian Communist party last July as a sop to Tito. He replaced Matyas Rakosi, grim old Stalinist who played a key role in drumming Tito out of the Cominform in 1948.

Hunters Swamp Upper Peninsula

Bird Season Opens With Perfect Weather

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article is the first of a six-part series by Jack Patterson, Pontiac Press outdoors writer, on the opening week of Michigan's small game season.

By JACK PATTERSON

PATTERSON

UPPER PENINSULA—Oct. 1 although it falls on a Monday finds many thousands of eager shotgunners afield for the opening of the small game season and additional thousands of bow hunters on the prowl for deer.

From Lake Erie to Lake Superior, and on countless waters large, small and in-between, duck hunters crouch in blinds or sneak along streams and through marshes in small boats in pursuit of ducks.

Field conditions and prospects on this opening day are generally good. Moderate, seasonal temperatures throughout the state make a perfect background for field exertions.

Recent rains throughout much of the north country have quieted the woods and accelerated, to a slight degree, the "thinning" of the cover.

GROUSE SCARCE

Perhaps the grouse hunter has elected the toughest row to hoe. Discounting heavy foliage, which is the grouse shooter's traditional opening-day curse (and one, incidentally, he might as well learn to cope with and stop using it to excuse deplorable aim) grouse ranges are in good condition for both dog work and the dogless hunter.

The hitch is that in many parts of the northern lower peninsula birds are very scarce again this year. In other areas birds are relatively plentiful. UP hunters will find more birds to work on than they did last year.

A redeeming feature for the grouse hunter who finds slim pickings will be the presence of a good many of the grouse's little side kick, the woodcock. As so often happens when the grouse cycle is down, woodcock populations seem to be up.

The shooter who goes after woodcock tramps the alder swales in company with the shades of hunters of yesteryear who held woodcock shooting to be the king of field sports.

The bow hunter should find relatively quiet woods a great advantage. Cooler weather than on some recent openings should be in his favor, too.

The heavy cover that plagues the grouse hunter will be to his disadvantage when it comes to shooting but will aid in stalking.

The well-situated waterfowler will find the easiest going today. Many local ducks augmented by advance guard of flight ducks make this an opening many hunters will long remember.

Opening few hours on the big marshes, throughout the day on smaller waters, legions of puddlers—mallards, blacks, ringnecks, pintails are wondering what happened to their quiet, well-ordered world.

On the big marshes a handful of knowing hunters switch to small shot sizes, after the morning flight of fowl has slowed, and search the reedy flats for the fast, tricky jacksnipe.

Wherever he is, whatever he is after, whether he finds game scarce or plentiful and whether he shoots well or badly, the opening day gunner is sure of one thing. He's sure to have a whale of a good time. That sums up the situation on this first day of hunting.

Adlai Prepares Intensive Week

To Cover Six Cities in California in Bid for 32 Electoral Votes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson disclosed today plans for an intensive campaign next week in California, with speeches in half a dozen cities, and in other far Western states.

* * *

In a bid for California's 32 electoral votes — exceeded only by New York's 45 and tied by Pennsylvania's quota — Stevenson plans speeches in Oakland, Richmond, Berkeley, Fresno, Long Beach and San Diego. Earlier that week he will speak in Great Falls, Mont., Boise, Idaho, Seattle, Wash., and Portland, Ore.

The Democratic presidential candidate, who returned to his campaign headquarters here early yesterday, attended Unitarian church services and then spent the day working on speeches he will make on an eastern swing starting tomorrow and conferring with aides.

In a speech at Minneapolis Saturday night, Stevenson said he was shocked that President Eisenhower had "brushed off" his earlier suggestions for ending the military draft and limiting H-bomb tests.

* * *

"What I am suggesting," he said, "is that we ought to take a fresh and open-minded look at the weapons revolution and the whole problem of recruiting and training military manpower.

"We may very well find that in the not distant future we can abolish the draft and at the same time have a stronger defense and at lower costs."

Ike Charges Dems Talk 'Political Bunk'

ington and Oregon. All are key states in the GOP drive to re-elect Eisenhower and recapture control of Congress.

* * *

In today's speech, Eisenhower swatted at Stevenson's statements last week that the cost of living is at an all-time high and that the President has done nothing about it. Without disputing the government index showing living costs at a record high point, Eisenhower directed his emphasis to saying "the cost of living has been remarkably stabilized—only about 2½ per cent increase in 3½ years." Then he added "during the previous (Democratic) administration the cost of living increase was 20 times as great."

"Today we have a stable dollar . . . we have balanced the federal budget, and have started making some payment on our huge national debt," he said.

The glass front door of the cleaners was broken, police said.

A Detroit man is in good condition at Pontiac General Hospital today with a possible concussion and multiple cuts and bruises received in a Sunday accident in West Bloomfield Township.

Alexander S. Monie, 46, was hurt when he drove his panel truck off the right side of Middlebelt road and into some trees south of 15 Mile Rd.

Group Plans Tribute to Theodore Roosevelt

NEW YORK (AP)—Three hundred national organizations have been invited by the Theodore Roosevelt Centennial Commission to join in dedicating 1958 to "the ideals of American citizenship" of the nation's 26th president.

The commission was set up by Congress to plan and direct a 100-year observance of the birth of Roosevelt in New York City Oct. 27, 1858.

The Day in Birmingham

Masons Seek Rezoning for Site for New Temple

BIRMINGHAM — Plans to sell the present Masonic Temple and establish a new one on land at the corner of Arlington road and West Maple avenue, have been revealed by Raymond F. Cecil of the Birmingham Masonic Temple Assn.

His application for rezoning, going before city commissioners this evening, is accompanied by his request for expediting the rezoning. "Birmingham needs a new temple," he says, "so perhaps as a civic duty everybody will cooperate."

The land is owned by Ralph I. and Grace G. Coryell of 26544 Orchard Lake Rd., and covers 300 feet on Maple and about 195 on Arlington.

Plans for an H-shaped building 25 feet back from Maple are shown, with parking space slated for the rear space, opening off Arlington.

Painting of the 19th-century building on Maple Avenue, with its cupolos and many Victorian ledges, that presently houses the Masonic organization, was going on Saturday, with an eye to securing a purchaser.

Also before commissioners tonight is a request from Gordon Willett and Peter Jackson to form a Junior Civil Defense group, a thank-you from Adams school for patrolling of the Hunter Boulevard under-pass, and an amendment of the building code in reference to moving of homes.

Priorities on city projects will be discussed, with a new list by L. R. Gare, director of public works, being studied.

For top priority listing, he suggests relief sewers on seven streets, widening of East Maple to Adams, paving of eight streets and two alleys, alterations to the municipal building and building of the North Evergreen Interceptor.

Other pavements and landscaping of Shain Park are among the No. 2 priority suggestions.

William Saunders, Detroit Edison's public information speaker, will talk to Exchange Club men tomorrow noon, showing slides of Detroit's new waterfront and Civic Center.

A worried father called Birmingham police yesterday, reporting his son, Bradley W. Corregan, 724 Graefield Rd., recently released from service, as missing. The police reported the youth was in county jail, having been arrested here on a drunk driving charge at 2:35 a.m. Sunday.

He and Charles S. Miles, 292 Daines, also arrested on a DUIL charge, were held over last night pending processing of records this morning.

A minor arrested for possession of alcoholic beverages was released on bond yesterday.

LYLE B. ABEL

Local County Agent Receives Award

Lyle B. Abel, Oakland County agricultural agent, will receive a distinguished service award Oct. 25 from the National Assn. of County Agricultural Agents at the organization's annual meeting in Houston, Tex.

* * *

The group said Abel's award is based on his "unusual ability as an organizer and administrator" throughout 15 years in the extension service.

The most effective demonstration of his ability, organization officials said, was in 1954, when he was transferred to a highly urbanized Oakland County after serving 13 years as agent for Chippewa County.

After moving to Pontiac, Abel was faced with the problem of giving administrative leadership to a wide variety of programs carried on by six or more coworkers, the organization pointed out.

Bloomfield Educators Seek to Buy Lands

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The Board of Education here will meet in special session tonight to decide whether four school sites can be secured without condemnation and to decide procedure of applying for bonds recently approved by voters. Possible sites will be studied.

Families Dragged Into Campaign

Who Called Names First? Williams, Cobo Disagree

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Mayor Albert E. Cobo, Republican nominee for governor, and Gov. G. Mennen Williams, seeking a fifth term on the Democratic ticket, are arguing over who started talking about whose family first.

* * *

Cobo charged in a statement yesterday both Williams and Lt. Gov. Philip Hart "have attacked my family" and denied that he brought the name of Williams' mother into the campaign.

Williams angrily accused Cobo at Pontiac Saturday of injecting the governor's 73-year-old mother into the campaign, and said "This is a little too much."

Cobo told a Mount Clemens audience Thursday Williams is a director of the Mennen Co., a New Jersey toiletries firm, that doesn't pay taxes in Michigan, and added:

"Don't let him tell you he doesn't have anything to do with it, because his ma is a vice president."

CHEAP VOTES

"I don't like to see her name dragged through my opponent's cheap political speeches to serve the ambitions of a man who thinks that's the way to get votes," Williams said in Pontiac, adding:

"Anyone who can't campaign for public office in this state without dragging in his opponent's mother is obviously unsuited for high office."

Cobo retorted yesterday:

"I don't know how he could construe anything I have said as having injected his mother into the campaign. Both the governor and his lieutenant governor have attacked my family by criticizing our taking vacations in Arizona."

PTA Workshop Set for Tuesday

The annual fall workshop of the Pontiac Council of PTA is scheduled for Tuesday at James Madison Junior High School. Registration will begin at 7:15 p.m. with the general conference slated for 7:30 p.m.

Workshops for each chairmanship have been arranged. Local PTA presidents are urged to have their officers and committee chairmen present, especially incoming chairmen, as the workshops are offering constructive material of particular interest to all PTA members.

Mrs. Seeley Peck

Mrs. Seeley (Arvilla Frances) Peck, 66, whose husband's family operated the Peck Hotel that formerly stood at the SE Maple and Woodward corner,, died yesterday after a long illness. The Pecks' home is at 602 Meadowbrook, Detroit.

She belonged to St. Mark's Methodist Church, Detroit, and the OES Lodge in Flint, where she lived until eight years ago. Besides her husband, she leaves three daughters, a son and a sister. Mr. Peck has several cousins here.

Service will be at 10 a.m. Wednesday at Manley Bailey Funeral Home with a graveside service at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday at Watertown Cemetery, Sandusky, Mich.

Mrs. Alexander Millar

Service for Mrs. Alexander (Paula A) Millar, 47, 1392 Cedar Dr., who has taught in local schools since she came here from Mt. Clemens seven years ago, will be at 3 p.m. tomorrow at Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co., with burial in White Chapel Cemetery.

She received her certificate from Michigan State Normal, and taught in Utica two years, several years at City and Country School and this year at Adams Elementary School.

Surviving are her husband, a daughter, Myrna at home, four sisters, Mrs. Clara Tellis, Mrs. K. D. Newton and Mrs. O. A. Tellis, all of Detroit, and Mrs. Howard Stephens of Boyne City, and a brother, Hugh Allen, of San Antonio, Texas.

Area Driver Cleared of Accident Blame

Joseph Preston, 27, of Waterford Township, has been exonerated of any blame in the Sept. 25 auto accident in which Pontiac fireman Hal O. Lloyd, 30, of Drayton Plains was killed, it was announced today by the Oakland County Prosecutor's office.

"There will be no prosecution against Preston," Prosecutor Fred Ziem stated this morning concerning the accident which happened on Elizabeth Lake Rd. in Waterford Township.

Lloyd died at Pontiac General Hospital shortly after the head-on collision. Preston received a fractured left knee and multiple cuts.

Dewey to Make TV Address Wednesday

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Republican National Committee announced today that former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York will deliver a major television speech to the nation Wednesday night.

Dewey will speak on the American Broadcasting company network immediately after the regular Wednesday night fights, probably about 9:40 p.m. He is expected to speak from a studio in New York City.

Keego Harbor Pair Suffers Cuts in Collision

A Keego Harbor couple suffered minor face cuts in an auto accident in Waterford Township Saturday.

Louis E. Haines, 23, one of the drivers, and his passenger, Bessie M. Haines, 18, were treated at Pontiac General Hospital.

The other car was driven by Howard T. Ross, 59, of 369 Roslyn St. Ross told police his car was struck from behind as he tried to turn left. Haines said Ross failed to signal and stopped suddenly in front of him.

Kefauver Rests Before 2nd Tour

Leaves for 13-State Coast-to-Coast Swing for Two Weeks

WASHINGTON (AP)—After a day of rest with his family, Sen. Estes Kefauver takes off again today for his second big tour of the 1956 campaign — a 13-state coast-to-coast swing to last two weeks.

The Democratic vice-presidential nominee flies first to Dallas, Tex., then goes for a handshaking and speaking tour through 100 miles of central Texas between Dallas and Waco.

After a news conference at Dallas, he will make stops at Waxahachie, Italy, Milford, Hillsboro and West before arriving at Waco for a night speech at the Heart of Texas Fair.

The lanky Tennessean yesterday came back to Washington proclaiming "we're on our way to victory."

And, after a brief strategy session here yesterday with his running mate, Adlai E. Stevenson, the senator said the two agreed "we are making very good progress."

Man Dies From Sting

HARLAN, Ky. (AP)—Elmo Robinette, 30, died here when he was stung in the mouth by a yellow jacket. He had been killing yellow jackets—a form of wasp—with a flyswatter on the porch of his home when one of the insects flew into his mouth and stung him under the tongue. He walked into the house, lay down on a bed and when he attempted to rise later, collapsed and died.

Hal Boyle Says:

3 Minutes of Reading May Save Some Life

NEW YORK (AP)—Can you spare three minutes which might help you and your family to live longer?

* * *

Yes? Then read on:

If this is a normally safe week, 1,788 Americans alive this morning will be dead seven days from today. Needlessly dead.

They will die in accidents, most of them avoidable. Another 173,071 will hurt themselves in accidents, most of them avoidable.

* * *

Wouldn't you think a country odd if it were safer to fight for on a foreign battlefield in wartime than to dwell in during peace?

Well, fellow Americans, that's our happy, prosperous country—the land of the home-hurt free and the car-crippled brave.

During bloody World War II the United States suffered an average 65,330 combat dead and 149,000 combat wounded each year. But during peaceful but even more bloody 1955 its accident toll was 93,000 dead and 9,000,000 injured. What other nation in history has managed to be more deadly at work and play than it has been at war?

"The number of Americans killed accidentally last year was nearly triple the number of GI deaths during the entire Korean War," pointed out Kenneth Hawthorne, director of a safety organization called the "Emergencies-Don't-Wait-Week Institute."

* * *

The financial cost of these accidents came to 10 billion dollars—enough to run the New York State government for the next eight years.

The seventh annual Emergencies-Don't-Wait Week, proclaimed this year by 34 governors and 300 mayors, starts today.

And what will happen during the next seven days, even as safer patterns of living are being emphasized by a nationwide educational program?

* * *

Hawthorne predicts 1,788 violent accidental deaths, and gives this partial breakdown of causes:

Eleven hunters will either kill themselves by careless handling of their own guns or be shot to death by companions who mistake them for four-footed game.

Among 31 other firearm deaths most of the victims wille be children between 5 and 14.

* * *

Eighteen do-it-yourself handymen will be electrocuted doing home repair jobs because they forgot to turn off the current.

Approximately 381 persons will suffer fatal falls on slipper pavements, in bathtubs, and on highly polished floors.

Fires will take another 121 lives, and many will be smokers who lit their last cigarets in bed just before falling asleep.

* * *

Some 47 will die of leaking gas or poisons taken by mistake, and many will be small children.

And about 731 will be killed in traffic mishaps of all kinds.

* * *

What is the best way to keep members of your own household off the obituary list? Hawthorne offered these suggestions:

1. Keep poisonous household cleaners out of the reach of children.

2. Make sure floors are not slippery or cluttered, and that stairways are well lighted.

3. Don't overload wiring, and don't store oily rags.

4. Lock up firearms, and don't assume they are unloaded.

5. Keep a first aid kit in your house and car, and learn how to use it.

6. Drive your own car the way you believe the other fellow ought to drive his.

October is the most wonderful month of the year to be alive. But you can't enjoy it lying in a hospital—or a morgue.

Daytime Speed Limit Upped to 60 in Ohio

DETROIT (INS) — The Automobile Club of Michigan reports that Ohio's legal speed limit will be boosted from 50 to 60 M.P.H. today on highways outside municipalities.

Commercial vehicles heavier than two tons will have to abide by the 50-mile law at all times. Passenger cars must keep to the lower speed at night.

Newsboys King for a Day

DETROIT (AP) — Detroiters have been asked to pay tribute to the kids that deliver their papers. Mayor Albert E. Cobo proclaimed next Saturday National Newspaper Boys Day in Detroit.

Oakland County Should Aid Pontiac Airport

Pontiac Municipal Airport is in the midst of an improvement program which is bringing big changes to its facilities. The new paved 4,000 foot runway will make use of the airport possible for twin engined DC3 planes and much larger cargo carriers than have been able to handle freight there up to this time.

Funds for this development program have come from the federal government, the state and the city. But the needs are great. Among them are an administration building, a control tower, many more hangars, and ultimately additional land and more runways.

Already the airport brings in as much money each year as it costs to operate it. As its business increases, its balance sheet should take on a steadily larger balance on the profit side of the ledger.

But expansion is needed and it is needed now. That is where Oakland County comes in. Oakland County has as big a stake in the airport as has the city.

Homer Hoskins, airport manager, reports that a large part of the people using the airport today live outside the city. They are residents of Oakland County.

Many small manufacturing plants, and some not so small, in Ferndale, Royal Oak, Rochester, Oxford and other county communities already use the port for freight shipments. More will use it each year as its facilities are improved and expanded.

Thus Oakland County has a real stake in the airport. A better airport will mean money in the pockets of many Oakland County residents. It will mean better airline passenger service for other Oakland County residents.

★ ★ ★

The county resident gets exactly the same treatment as does the Pontiac City resident at the airport. There is no discrimination in any way. It would seem to be fair play and good business, too, for Oakland County to contribute to the funds which Pontiac uses to match federal and state money in the acquisition of land and in capital improvements at the airport.

Automation Problems Are Being Solved

Progress in automation continues steadily on its way. It provides the only hope that industry can continue to increase the pay of its workers without increasing the cost of its product to such an extent that it is priced right out of its markets.

Automation makes it possible to produce a given product more efficiently, hence economically. But automation, which means the automatic handling of production processes, naturally brings problems.

One of these has been the situation which arises when one machine in a long line of machines has to be shut down temporarily, yet the shutting down of the whole line would mean a serious delay. Tool builders have now produced a system in which output stabilizing units are placed between one machine and the next.

This makes it possible to establish what amounts to a bank of excess parts to meet any such temporary shutting down of that particular machine. So the whole line can continue to move and the material from the machine's excess bank are used until it can resume operation again.

This solution is not possible in every situation, but it has been found workable in the case of all round parts, such as gears, and screw machine blanks. Thus another step has been taken in the remarkable progress that has been made in automatic production methods.

Only About One Week More to Register!

Pontiac and Oakland County voters have only about one more week to register. The deadline for those who wish to vote in November is October 8.

City Clerk Mrs. Ada Evans and County Clerk Lynn D. Allen both report an increase in registrations and they anticipate a rush just before the deadline.

City registrations are expected to top the 43,000 mark set four years ago, while the county will go about two per cent over figures of two years ago, according to Allen.

As election nears, interest will grow. But many residents of Pontiac and Oakland County are going to find it impossible to cast a vote if they do not get busy during the next few days and get their names on the registration books.

A depression would quickly ensue if people were to stop spending money they haven't got.

3,678 in Contest

More Entries Than Ever Before Try for the Prize

Paint: Great preservative — women live longer than men.

Good sports to the number of 3,678 qualified in our 1956 football contest which closed Saturday noon. This is by far the most entries in the many years the contest has been conducted, and over 400 more than last year.

Here's the heartiest thanks from MAT to all of them. The contest was obliged to battle for interest with a hot presidential campaign, torrid finish in one of the major baseball leagues, sensational late-season spurt by the Detroit Tigers, and weather that hardly fostered thoughts of football.

In the opening contest game, which took place Saturday evening, Mississippi defeated Kentucky, 37-7. On this the contestants were divided, 1,920 for Mississippi and 1,676 for Kentucky, while 82 predicted a tie game. Thus, 1,758 were eliminated in the first round.

To those who failed to predict correctly on the first game, and to others who later are eliminated, we wish to say that we hope they will try again in the spirit of good sportsmanship, and in keeping with the true American tradition that everybody who plays the game gets ample reward out of it, even if they don't win.

The 1,920 remaining contestants divide their predictions on next Saturday's game as follows: Michigan State, 1,241; Michigan, 625; tie, 54.

David Lawrence Says:

Religion a Factor on High Court

WASHINGTON—When President Eisenhower appointed Judge William Joseph Brennan of the New Jersey Supreme Court—a Roman Catholic—to the Supreme Court he renewed a tradition which has been maintained for the greater part of American history.

★ ★ ★

The Constitution says there must be no religious test as a qualification for high office. But the fact remains that in practical politics there is much consideration given to religious affiliations and it has always been so.

From the day in 1836 when President Andrew Jackson appointed as chief justice, Roger Taney, a Roman Catholic, down to the death of Justice Frank Murphy seven years ago, there have been very few years when a Catholic has not sat on the highest bench of the land.

During the administration of President Grover Cleveland in 1894, Edward Douglass White—a Catholic—was appointed to the Supreme Court. It was President William Howard Taft, a Republican, and himself a Unitarian, who in December, 1910, promoted White to be chief justice.

MICHIGAN'S MURPHY

Shortly after White died, Justice Butler of Minnesota, a Catholic, was appointed by President Harding and he served until 1939. It was in 1940 that President Roosevelt appointed another Catholic—former Gov. Murphy of Michigan—to the bench. He served until his death in 1949.

Later the same year Justice Rutledge died and hence President Truman had two chances to appoint a Catholic to maintain the tradition. His refusal to do so—when he appointed Senator Minton and Attorney General Tom Clark—and his reported comment he would not seek out someone for the bench just because of Catholic religious affiliation made quite a stir in political circles.

In fact it was assumed that when he later appointed Sen. Howard McGrath of Rhode Island, a Catholic, to be attorney general this was an answer to criticism especially since it was rumored the next vacancy on the high court would go to McGrath. But Truman had no further opportunity to make another Supreme Court appointment.

There is, of course, no deliberate grouping of a Catholic vote or a Protestant vote or a Jewish vote as such in America. But when politicians refer to this they mean there are nevertheless many voters from each denomination who are influenced by appointments of co-religionists to high office.

The problem isn't a simple one for presidents. Thus when President Hoover was confronted with a vacancy almost everybody in the field of law felt Judge Cardozo of New York should be appointed. But there already was one man of the Jewish religion on the bench—Justice Brandeis—and it was argued that to put two on would result in a demand that there be two Catholics and so on. Also there was already a justice on the bench—Harlan Stone—who hailed from New York State.

CARDOZO ANYWAY

Hoover met the issue simply by ignoring talk about religion and geography and appointing the man he thought best qualified. As it turned out, Cardozo came to be regarded as one of the great jurists of all times.

It is interesting to note most presidents have not looked either to religious or political affiliations in selecting justices for the Supreme Court. In this instance, the new justice happens to be a Democrat. But he happens also to have been recommended by Chief Justice Arthur Vanderbilt of the New Jersey Supreme Court, formerly president of the American Bar Assn., and one of the outstanding lawyers in America.

There is no doubt Brennan is an able judge. He owes both of his appointments as judge to a Republican governor in New Jersey. The fact he is a Democrat and a Catholic merely adds food for political conversation among those who believe Eisenhower likes to feel he is President of all the people and is not concerned with religious affiliations in his appointments.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Two Quarts of Wine a Day Too Much for Any Man

"Will you please answer a question and settle an argument?" asks a Wisconsin reader.

Well, as long as I am at a safe distance from the arena, I'll take a chance. What's the trouble?

"Is the consumption of two quarts of wine a day excessive . . . ?"

Yes. The consumption of two spoonfuls a day is excessive, in my opinion. But then, I'm a rabid teetotaler, I regard alcohol in any concentration or dilution as a narcotic; and if I were king, the use of alcohol would be as severely restricted as is the use of morphine. Now perhaps you won't consider my view of your problem reasonable or fair, or the individual who consumes half a gallon of wine daily won't.

". . . excessive for a man fifty years of age? He says wine is a necessary stimulant for a man of his age and is a good food.

"I feel that two quarts of wine a day is excessive drinking and could become a harmful habit, turning a wonderful person into an alcoholic." (Signed) C. B. W.

In the first place, alcohol, whether in wine, beer or liquor is a narcotic and not a stimulant. The poor deluded tippler imagines he is "stimulated" when he is under the influence of alcohol, but authorities agree that the effect of any quantity of alcohol, from that in a glass of wine to that in a pint of gin or vodka, is depressant—it weakens the drinker's judgment, dulls his consciousness of what he is doing, impairs his capacity to think, slows his reaction time, makes him propose or agree to things which he will regret or maybe deny when he is not under the influence of the narcotic.

An absurdity of the law that encourages alcohol addicts to believe a few drinks stimulate without inebriating is that a concentration of alcohol in the blood indicates intoxication only when it is more than a certain arbitrary level. As long as this perversion prevails, some persons will exercise the right to drink and drive, maim and kill.

If a man is really a man, he doesn't mind being himself. He doesn't feel the need of a "stimulant" to enable him to carry on. He has enough sense to realize drinking costs a lot of money a husband or father can hardly afford to squander on his favorite narcotic at the expense of his wife or children.

Perhaps this wine bibber is finding an excuse for his selfishness when he argues that wine is a good food. The food value of wine is far inferior to the food value of milk, bread, or meat.

Anyone who consumes half a gallon of wine a day is very likely to become, if he is not already, a sot and make his wife and children unhappy. If he depends on wine so much as "food" in all likelihood the man suffers from nutritional deficiency, malnutrition, and correction of this by supplementing his diet with optimal daily ratons of calcium, vitamin D, and vitamin B would probably improve his health and vitality.

The Wisconsin reader should try to persuade her husband to visit a Alcoholics Anonymous group in his community. Look for A. A. in the telephone directory.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Praises Pontiac Response to Kiwanis Peanut Sale

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

Friday and Saturday, Sept. 21 and 22, the Kiwanis Club held their annual peanut sale, a fund-raising project to help under-privileged children. Being a relatively new member of the Club, it was my first opportunity to actively participate.

The way in which the people of Pontiac and outlying areas responded to this sale was both stimulating and soul-satisfying; they once again exhibited "The Great American Heart" by their willingness to share with others less fortunate than they.

It made me prouder than ever that, not only am I an American, but a citizen of Pontiac.

Troubles in Middle East Test Unity of Arab Lands

By JOSEPH L. PEARLMAN
INS Staff Writer

Arab unity is being put to the test not only by Suez but also by the serious new border fighting between Jordan and Israel. Especially the new look in relations among Arab states which have not always seen eye to eye.

★ ★ ★

If ever Egyptian President Abdel Gamal Nasser needed the complete support of his Arab neighbors, it is now, in his bold stand against the West on Suez.

According to Arab reports, Jordan's young King Hussein has asked his cousin, King Feisal of Iraq, for military aid in the border crisis.

The way Iraq responds—5,000 of its troops were said to be ready on the Jordanian border — and Egypt's reaction may be the tipoff to what to expect next in the dangerous military situation.

★ ★ ★

Iraq's position as an ally of Britain in the Baghdad Pact has annoyed Nasser for some time, notwithstanding Iraq's announced support of Egypt in the Suez controversy.

RIVALRY FACTOR

The rivalry between Nasser and Iraqi leaders was a contributing factor to formation of the Egyptian-Saudi Arabian-Syrian alliance announced more than a year ago.

★ ★ ★

It was understandable that the Egyptians were concerned over reports of Iraqi troop concentrations on Jordan's frontier and kept a close watch on them.

Two weeks ago, the Arab world was treated to a strange sight. Iraq's King Feisal and Saudi Arabia King Saud, whose families have been on the outs, met in Dammam and aboard Saud's yacht.

Apparently, they started to patch up the feud which has separated their dynasties for a generation.

Feisal and Hussein belong to the Hashemite dynasty. For years this dynasty supported British policy in the Middle East, but Egypt has always been suspicious about its real aspirations.

ANOTHER MEETING

After the meeting of the two kings, Nasser flew to Saudi Arabia for another conference — this one with Saud and Syrian President Shukry El-Kuwatly.

★ ★ ★

Nasser got those Arab leaders to back up his Suez policy fully and also discussed the Arab-Israeli situation, including, it is presumed, aid to be extended to Jordan if needed.

★ ★ ★

If the Hashemite reconciliation has been effected, even temporarily, and Egypt is left free to concentrate on Suez, it would mean that Nasser's position has been strenthened for a showdown on control of his coveted canal.

New Grade System Like Russia

When American students and workers are robbed of incentive, our civilization is on the skids. That is the Russian plan and in direct opposition to our American policy of paying more to the better producer. Even Jesus approved of awarding numerical grades. A lot of educators will howl in rage at my defense of the American system for they've been sold a Russian grading method.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case S-379: Grant L., aged 13, is in the eighth grade.

"Dr. Crane, I have a bone to pick with teachers nowadays," Grant's mother began.

★ ★ ★

"For Grant is a brilliant boy and he works hard in his lessons. But he doesn't get paid off with superior marks.

"For our local schools no longer believe in giving specific numerical grades.

"When Grant got every math problem correct in a recent quiz, he was graded 'E.' But some of the duller pupils received that same grade of 'E,' though they missed several problems.

"Does that seem fair to you, Dr Crane? When I complained, the teacher said it is now the custom in America to award an 'E' to indicate the pupil is working 'Efficiently' according to his I.Q.

"She said it hurts the feelings of the duller pupils to get low grades, so now everybody gets the same 'E' if he is working up to par.

★ ★ ★

"Do you approve of this system? It sounds to me like communism has invaded our classrooms."

CLASSROOM COMMUNISM

Russia's doctrine is expressed by this example. For Communism believes in giving equal pay, regardless of variations in merit.

Carried to its logical, though ridiculous, conclusion, Communism should also insist that all sports contests end in tie scores!

If a football team fought harder, played better and scored three touchdowns against just one for the opposition, the Russian system should demand that those four scores be averaged and each team receive 14 points or an "E" grade apiece! Silly, isn't it?

And wouldn't it kill the interest, as well as the incentive, of the harder workers?

AMERICA'S SYSTEM

Since Colonial Days we have tried to reward the better worker by giving him a superior grade or a higher wage. And that is inherent in our "free enterprise" system which has made us the envy of all other nations.

In the classroom, too, until recently a star speller might rate a grade of 99 while a poor speller on the same test received only 69.

But now that a lot of sob sisters with Russian inclinations have begun to shed crocodile tears for the dull pupils in our schools, they have changed that eminently fair American plan of scoring.

Now they become so obsessed with solicitude to protect the ego of the dull pupil that they injure the ego of bright boys and girls.

In either method, somebody will get his feelings hurt. But who will be harmed more—the dullard or the shy, sensitive pupil with the high I.Q.?

Moreover, to whom do we owe the progress of religion and art and science—to the dullards or to the brilliant Einsteins, Pasteurs, Ford and Wright brothers?

★ ★ ★

Society should nurture the workers who produce the best, for they are the hope of the future.

Don't rob bright children of incentive just to mollify the sluggards.

JESUS GRADES

If you think I am unduly harsh, please consult your Bibles (Luke 19:16) and you will find that Christ believed in numerical scores to fit the output of workers.

When the man with one pound used it to produce 10 pounds, he was scored 10, for he was made ruler over 10 cities.

The man who increased his single pound to five pounds, was scored five, for he was rewarded by being made ruler of five cities. They were not both given an "E" for working "Efficiently."

Many educators in past years have indicted me bitterly for thus arguing in defense of the American plan of rewarding merit.

But challenge them to cite one logical argument that I haven't demolished in today's column.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Educator Gives Russian Report

UM Professor Says Engineering in Soviet May Be Slipping

ANN ARBOR (AP) — A University of Michigan mathematics professor recently returned here from a visit to Moscow reveals Russia might be lowering the quality of its engineers in the race to speed up their training.

The Russian desire for more engineering quantity than quality is the impression gained by Asst. Prof. Arthur J. Lohwater. He visited the Soviet Union during the summer and addressed a scientific meeting in Moscow.

"I was able to talk quite freely with Russian mathematicians and found among them a fear that educational standards in their country were being sacrificed in order to turn out more engineers than we do," he said.

This does not infer that all their engineering graduates are poor, he declared, but it means they are trying to make engineers out of students who are not fully qualified.

OH—MY NO!

"I asked one teacher if he would walk across a bridge that has been built by one of his students," Lohwater said. "He shrugged and said, 'Oh my, no.'"

The Michigan professor spent the last academic year in Finland at the University of Helsinki as a visiting scholar under both Guggenheim and Fulbright scholarships. Later he was one of the first Americans invited to speak to a Russian scientific convention since before World War II.

* * *

"Not one person I talked with expects the United States to attack Russia," he commented. "On the other hand, I found many worried about Red China. They feel that when China industrializes to the extent that Russia has, there may be a clash on the eastern border."

He noted a distrust and dislike among the Soviets for foreign Communists and said the attempt to broaden the cultural exchange between Russia and the U. S. appears to be genuine.

$1,053,986 Given to UM in Gifts, Grants

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Acceptance of gifts, grants and bequests totaling $1,053,986 has been announced by the University of Michigan Board of Regents.

Largest donor was the National Science Foundation, which gave $801,500 under six different grants, including $545,000 for support of studies leading to establishment of an American Astronomical Observatory.

* * *

The regents also announced plans to seek about $2,700,000 in matching funds from the federal government for improvement and expansion of health research facilities at the university. In effect, the funds would double a sum already provided by the state and private foundations for research in the fields of mental health, pediatrics and public health.

In a report on financial aid to U. of M. students, regents were told $1,448,843 in scholarships and fellowships was distributed during the 1955-56 academic year to 4,640 students.

Glass, finance officer; Victor Malden, adjutant and three trustees, Norman Windiate, Leon Sirlis and Daniel T. Murphy Jr.

Appointive offices will be made after the installation service Oct. 9, in the American Legion Hall.

Just Sand and Water

Passengers Won't Collect Any Thrills From Sailing Through the Suez Canal

By LYNN HEITZERLING

SUEZ, Egypt (AP)—Sailing through the Suez Canal is about as exhilarating as a ride on a New York subway.

For long stretches the view from a ship, except for the narrow strip of water ahead and behind, is just sand.

The canal, conceived and built by a Frenchman who is still honored here—Ferdinand de Lesseps—is roughly between 240 and 300 feet from bank to bank except where it passes through Lake Timsah at Ismailia and farther south through the Bitter Lakes, one of the saltiest bodies of water in the world.

* * *

The main channel, marked by buoys, is 180 to 240 feet wide. This doesn't give a big ship much room for maneuver. And the tankers which are the main customers are getting bigger and bigger.

This correspondent went with a convoy of nine ships, formed in Port Said harbor. Each ship had a weary Egyptian pilot on the bridge. Most of them had piloted ships up from Suez in an earlier convoy. They had slept about four hours between convoys.

* * *

Between Port Said harbor and the canal, ships are permitted a maximum speed of eight knots so they can reach their proper position behind the ship ahead. After that, the top speed in the canal is 7½ knots.

For some distance outside Port Said, the canal passes through the shallow waters of Lake Menzaleh. Then for miles there is nothing but desert.

About 12 miles north of Ismailia a cutoff provides two separate channels so northbound and southbound convoys can pass.

The main channel is 42 feet deep and big ships sometimes have only four feet of water under their hulls.

* * *

The convoy passed a half dozen dredges at work in the canal. For every 600 supertankers which pass a given spot, it is estimated the mud and sand bottom of the canal rises two feet due to the general stirring up it gets.

Other problems arise in the final 15-mile stretch of the canal. The Red Sea tides alter the currents in the canal every six hours.

At the end of the run the tankers keep on through the Red Sea, making for the oil ports of the Middle East.

Experiences Confidence in His Own Powers

Diver Finds Security in the Ocean Depths

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS)—This is the age of insecurity, and the human mind is forever seeking something solid to cling to—a person, a place, a religion that will make him less afraid of known and unknown dangers.

* * *

Ministers will often say the complete security rests in God. Poets make an impassioned case for security lying in the arms of a lover. Psychiatrists often hint bleakly that there's no real security beyond the mother's womb.

But a free ocean diver holds the strongest, strangest view . . .

"If you find yourself in mid-ocean, 150 feet down, where you can see neither surface nor land, and where you can be approached from any plane by elements you don't know or understand, you are in the most unfriendly and insecure realm available to man.

"If, then, you are suddenly swept with a feeling of confidence within yourself in the midst of this vast insecurity—for one divine moment you feel the essence of security.

* * *

"You know you can never be really afraid of anything again."

BENIGN AFTER-EFFECTS

The diver who speaks is a young man of 28 who has experienced this wonderful, paradoxical sensation frequently, and whose face reflects the benign after-effects of it.

He is cool, self-contained, obviously inspired Peter Gimbel, a Wall street investment banker who was shoved into the limelight when he made several exploratory dives down to the wreckage of the sunken Andrea Doria.

"There's nothing heroic about it, and nothing new," Gimbel went on. "Have you ever been almost scared to death, and then come out of the shock to know you're all right? For days afterward, you feel there's no problem on earth you can't solve.

"A bullfighter feels it, I'm sure, when the bull's horns brush past his body. Race car drivers and mountain climbers must surely know it too."

It's in a world of danger, in the moment that he is eluding death itself, that a climactic confidence can come to a man.

DUE TO CURIOSITY

It's not for this reason, of course, that Peter Gimbel took up diving—a sport that is growing greater every year throughout the world. It was because he always was curious.

As a kid, he had to find out what mysteries hid in the trunks of trees, and whether it was a snake or a chipmunk dwelling in that hole in the earth.

Then finally it struck him, as it is striking hundreds of others these days: "That in fact there are two worlds on the earth, the land and the sea, and most people have only seen one."

On a vacation from Yale, at the age of 21, Gimbel took his first skin-diving plunge off the coast of Kenya, British East Africa, and once he had seen "the magnificent reef, the colors, the exotic fish, the whole new world"—he never was to be wholly content to remain with his feet on the ground.

* * *

The first time he dived into the hull of a wrecked ship in the Virgin Islands, "I felt like I was diving into the lion's jaws. But once down (that wreck was 120 feet below the surface; the Doria is 220), he was no longer afraid.

OWNED THE SEA

"For the first time, in a very small and temporary way, I had a feeling that I owned the sea."

* * *

Gimbel shrugs off questions about the "dangers" of diving. And insists that if he's ever come close to being done in, he couldn't say.

A man who despises heroics, the most he'd admit was that "I had a shark get curious about me one day, but after swimming around me for awhile he went away. Who am I to say I was in grave danger?

"Nobody knows whether that shark was considering attacking me—except he himself."

Old Irish Newspaper Found in Capital Attic

WASHINGTON (AP) — A copy of "The Shamrock, or Hibernian Chronicle," published in the early 1800s in New York, turned up in a Washington attic recently cleaned out.

The tabloid was published by Edward Gillespy at 24 Williams St. Addressed primarily to Irishmen newly arrived in the United States, its columns were replete with advice as to how the Muldoons, Gilhooleys and the Brennans should conduct themselves once here.

Could Cut Vital Water to Virtual Trickle

Britain Holds Key to Nile River--Egypt's Lifestream

LONDON (AP) — "Egypt is the Nile and the Nile is Egypt."

* * *

So said Napoleon, and it's a point that Britain, locked in conflict with the rulers of Egypt, has in mind these days. For Britain could switch off the flow of the Nile which rises in British territory — and so deny life-giving water to 19 million Egyptians.

Colonial Secretary Alan Lennox-Boyd in a speech the other day posed this question:

If worst comes to worst, if President Nasser refuses to surrender sole control of the Suez Canal, would the British shut off the Nile?

* * *

Authorized spokesman of the Eden government — and indeed Lennox-Boyd himself — emphasized he was not threatening anyone. And government sources say Britain actually has no intention of switching off the Nile.

Lennox-Boyd said:

"The White Nile rises in Uganda — British-protected territory. We have an agreement with Egypt under which their engineers, stationed at our dam, can within certain limits decide the volume of water which reaches Egypt through our Owen Falls. What would happen to Egypt's vital interests if we were now to tear up this agreement on the grounds that it infringed our sovereignty?"

* * *

The water that flows to Egypt comes from the White Nile and the Blue Nile. The two rivers meet at Khartoum, capital of Sudan.

The White Nile comes from Lake Victoria in Uganda. From November to June it is the main stream that feeds both Sudan and Egypt. From July to October the Blue Nile, rising in the highlands of Ethiopia, is in flood. Shutting of the sluice gates at Owen Falls, outside Jinja in Uganda, could reduce Egypt's lifestream to a virtual trickle much of the year.

* * *

In Egypt, 1,500 miles away, peasants could not produce the cotton Nasser is trading for Communist arms. Egypt's entire food-producing program would be endangered.

But the British would be cutting off their noses. Such a shut-down would create havoc in their own territories.

* * *

Water going through Owen Falls produces power for Uganda's main industries — sugar milling, cement-making, ginning cotton, cigarettes, coffee curing.

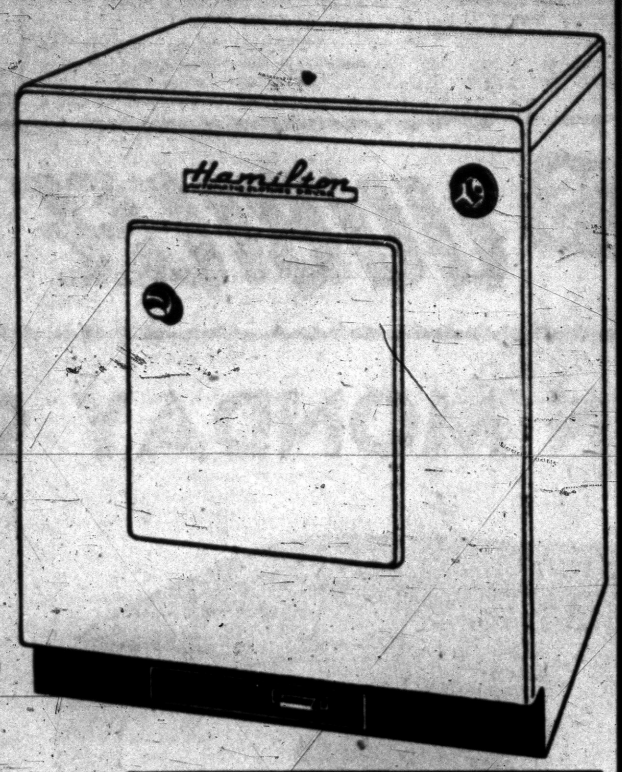

Areas of neighboring Kenya also would be deprived of electric power. River navigation would suffer in Ugdana as well as in Sudan.

Thousands Pass Somoza Casket

Pontifical Mass Will Be Held Today at the Cathedral

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP)—The body of President Anastasio Somoza lay in state today in the country he ruled with a firm hand for 20 years.

Through the night, ordinary citizens filed at the rate of 50 a minute past the glass-covered bronze casket in the National Palace to see the Central American strong man, dead of an assassin's bullets.

* * *

Occasionally a man wiped his eyes or a woman sobbed.

A pontifical funeral Mass was to be held today at the Cathedral. Then the body was to be taken to the City Hall, the presidential palace, the army enlisted men's club and back to the National Palace.

Burial will be in the officers' crypt of the National Guard Cemetery Tuesday.

* * *

Somoza, 60, was shot down Sept. 21. His guards killed the assassin on the spot. Somoza died Saturday in the Panama Canal Zone, where he had been taken for treatment.

Arrival of the body yesterday in a U.S. Air Force transport sparked the first display of public emotion. Thousands lined the route from the airport.

Two of Somoza's three sons—Luis, 34, who took his father's place as president, and Jose, 40—wept at the airport.

* * *

The third son, Col. Anastasio Somoza, Jr., 32, did not go to the airport but joined in a tribute staged by Nicaragua's National Guard. Friends said it was the policy of Luis and young Anastasio to avoid appearing in public together.

The Nicaraguan Congress named Luis Saturday to finish out his father's term which ends May 1. Anastasio heads the National Guard.

Talk That Nixon Is Anti-Semitic Declared False

NEW YORK (AP)—The Anti-Defamation League of B'Nai B'Rith says "peddlers of religious bigotry" have made Vice President Nixon the target of false rumors that he is anti-Semitic.

"There is nothing in the record of Mr. Nixon to indicate in any way that he is anti-Semitic," said Henry E. Schultz, national chairman of the Jewish fraternal order's league.

Schultz said the league is "an educational organization" and is "completely nonpolitical." He said the league's statement yesterday was "not an endorsement of Mr. Nixon."

"Indeed," he said, "we believe the American people fortunate in that all four major candidates—Dwight D. Eisenhower, Adlai E. Stevenson, Mr. Nixon and Estes Kefauver—are completely free of religious bias."

1,000 Left Homeless After Formosa Fire

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—A fire in Taipei yesterday destroyed property estimated at $300,000 in value. More than 1,000 persons, most of them squatters, were left homeless.

The blaze destroyed a whole blocks of shacks and three three-story buildings. Police held two squatters for questioning.

Bob Considine Says:

20 Million Murders--That's China's Score

NEW YORK (INS) — Some of our best friends overseas, including Britain, rushed to recognize Red China diplomatically when the Communists took over.

* * *

Other good friends, notably West Germany and Japan, are engaged in lively trade relations with the Chinese Red government.

This nation is providing a moral lesson for history by keeping Red China out of the U. N., as well as off the list of countries with which we have relations and understandings.

Nobody has summed up our reasons better than former U. S. Ambassador to Tokyo Joseph C. Grew. In a booklet he called "Invasion Alert!", published by the Maran Co., and backed by the influential "Committee of One Million Against the Admission of Communist China Into the United Nations," he makes some astonishing revelations and charges:

"In 1938, Josef Stalin outlined his 'formula for dictators' to the Chinese ambassador in Moscow, Yang Chieh, for relay to Nationalist Chinese President Chiang Kai-shek.

* * *

"'The fundamental principle of gaining and maintaining control,' he told Yang Chieh in effect, 'is to completely eliminate opposition — all of it, down to and including all of its branches and roots.

NO MORE ALIVE

"'Keep on eliminating until there is no more opposition alive. The example set will prevent new opposition from arising. If you hear that a man is not loyal, if you have any uncertainties at all about his loyalty, kill the man. Kill his family, and his friends who might agree with him politically or be angry at his death.

"'You can't afford the time to investigate. But you can't take chances. You will make some mistakes, of course. But you will eliminate opposition'." Then Stalin continued:

"If President Chiang wants to establish firm control in China, tell him to kill four million people. Kill them as a matter of policy. He'll have no more trouble after that."

Chiang was horrified at this suggestion when it was relayed to him.

"But," continues Grew, "the Communists, plotting Chiang's downfall and enslavement of China, took it to heart. They found only one flaw in the Soviet master's strategy: He didn't think big enough.

20 MILLION INSTEAD

"So when Gen. Mao Tse-tung and Foreign Minister Chou En-lai and police boss Lo Jui-chiang came to power in Peiping they set to work killing — only, they multiplied Stalin's figures by five.

* * *

"Since 1948 the Chinese Reds, like animals who devour their young, have killed 20,000,000 Chinese — their own people . . . No war casualty total in history approaches this. No purge, no pogrom, no revolution, no earthquake or flood or famine holocaust compares.

"A murder list like that of the Peiping masters would wipe Argentina or Burma completely from the face of the earth. It would eliminate all the people of Canada and Belgium. It would cut Britain's population in half."

Grew's book carries figures given in reports to Peiping. For example, "Vice Chairman Teng Tze-hual of the South Central Military Commission proudly reported that during the same period (first year of Communist domination) his commission killed 611,000 persons. . ."

* * *

In labor, Grew continues, the U. N. has documented data on file to attest that 22,000,000 Chinese are today at work in slave labor camps, undergoing "reform through labor."

SOLD INTO SLAVERY

Flood and famine disaster victims numbering 3,000,000 also are in forced labor camps. Some 1,500,000 have been sold in human slavery to Russia and other satellites.

* * *

Living conditions described in Grew's pamphlet cannot very well be described in a family newspaper. Suffice it to say that they are next to incredible, and completely unforgettable.

* * *

Anybody who reads this pamphlet and still thinks we ought to make room for Mao's representatives — on the ground that, after all, they are in possession of China — ought to have his head examined.

Coed Invasion of Yale's Halls Called 'Remote'

NEW HAVEN (INS)—President A. Whitney Griswold has soothed indignant traditionalists with firm insistence that coeducation at Yale University is "remote" despite strong backing by two deans.

* * *

Old Blues across the nation saw red earlier when Dean William C. Devane was reported to have agreed that "the time is right" for admitting women to the ivied halls of Yale's stern puritan founders.

Griswold promptly cautioned that speculation on the subject, first started by Admissions Dean Arthur Howe at a faculty meeting, was on a "purely theoretical basis."

"There are sound educational reasons for keeping this discussion up to date," Griswold said, "but we are nowhere near deciding the question in principle. And in the light of our present obligations and needs, the possibility of putting such policy into practice is even more remote."

* * *

The Yale Daily News, the undergraduate newspaper, reported that How waas boosting the fair sex as a deterrent to the "unhealthy academic situation" which results when the "Yale community disintegrates on weekends" in a mass emigration to nearby women's colleges.

Sea Lamprey Hits Northern Pike

HOUGHTON (AP)—Use of electric wires to kill the sea lamprey has not halted spread of the parasitic eel to northern pike in this area.

* * *

Fred Grandchamp of Hancock recently caught a 22-pound pike in the Portage Canal, off Lake Superior, and found seven lamprey scars on the body.

Pike are the last game fish in this area to be attacked by the lamprey, which is blamed for the decline of lake trout and white fish in Lake Superior and other waters.

Commercial fishermen recently came in with a catch of only 150 pounds of lake trout after a two-day trip. Before widespread depradations of the lamprey, 800-pound catches were considered poor.

Slayer, Forger Have Published Stories

Prison Convicts Write Children's Books

JACKSON (AP)—A convicted slayer and a forger are writing tales of the outdoors and children's stories behind the bleak walls of Southern Michigan Prison.

The inmates are 22-year-old William Morey, serving life from Ann Arbor, and Robert Dale, serving 5 to 14 years from Detroit for forgery.

The team, which writes and illustrates under the pen name of Dale Morey, started submitting outdoor and feature articles to various magazines in 1954.

Now, after a hard struggle with rejection slips, the successful team is delving into the lucrative world of children's books.

ELEVEN FLOP

The team's first 11 stories were flops. As rejection slips began to pile up, the 12th story was bought by a magazine. A dozen more rejection slips later, the second article was accepted. That's when things began happening.

* * *

The second accepted story appeared in a juvenile magazine, "Young Catholic Messenger," but it was completely rewritten. Dorothy Andrews of Dayton, Ohio, the magazine editor who rewrote the story, did the unexpected.

She wrote Morey and Dale analyzing the story, pointing up its weakness and showing how it could be improved.

"That letter was our turning point," said Morey. "We got the hang of doing things for magazines and acceptances became numerous."

Morey estimates that about 40 per cent of the stories submitted are accepted for publication. He says their last five stories to men's magazines have been accepted.

Now a children's book, "Timothy, The Timid Tiger," aimed at 5 to 7-year-olds, is almost completed.

"There's a dearth of books for children," said Morey. "So we thought we'd try to write one."

Both Morey and Dale work in the prison library. Most of their research and writing is done in off-hours and in their cells. Money made from previous articles pays for art supplies for the illustration which will accompany the new book.

"Writing for children is much more difficult than writing for adults," says Morey. "We've read children's books until they are coming out of our ears."

U. S. Educators Shy Away From UNESCO Job

WASHINGTON (AP)—A chance for an American educator to head up the UNESCO education program apparently is going begging.

* * *

UNESCO stands for United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organizations. For a year almost, its education department has been looking for a director to succeed Lionel Elvin of Great Britain.

First crack at the job, which carries a tax free salary of $12,000 a year, was offered to an American by UNESCO Director General Luther Evans.

* * *

The names of 80 American educators were discussed, 20 of them getting serious consideration. But no qualified taker was found. Unless someone steps forward by Nov. 1, some other nationality probably will be selected.

There are about 7,000 varieties of apples, according to the Department of Agriculture, but only about 12 of these are widely marketed in America.

Claims Having Found Oldest Living Things

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—A University of Arizona professor says he has found the world's oldest living things — three small bristlecone pines high in the mountains 20 miles northeast of Bishop, Calif.

Dr. Edmund Schulman estimated they are 4,000 years old. The giant sequoias of California, current record-holders for old age, are about 3,000 years old.

* * *

The scientist bases his estimates on detailed countings of the pine trees' rings under the microscope. He said the trees grow to a maximum height of only 30 feet, with trunks from 25 to 50 inches across, and that the trunks grow just an inch across in 150 to 200 years.

Tourists Rue Meeting With Airborne Moose

FUNDY NATIONAL PARK, N. B. (AP) — Neil D. Soper of Bonita Springs, Fla., and his wife regretted their encounter with a new attraction of this tourist center—flying moose.

They were driving through the park when a moose soared from a wayside hill, and landed on the roof of their car. The animal limped away into the woods. Soper had to pay $150 for repairs to his car.

Half-Size for Midgets

GREENVILLE, S.C. (AP) — Billy Williams, reporter for the Greenville News, interviewed three midgets at the Greenville County American Legion Fair. In deference to the size of the midgets, the paper ran the story printed in agate type—about half the size of normal newspaper type—and illustrated it with a half-column picture.

Benny Says It's on Lease

'Love in Bloom' Maestro to Invade Carnegie Hall

BY EMILY BELSER

NEW YORK (INS)—Jack Benny, the poor man's Jascha Heifitz, will make his "debut" at Carnegie Hall Tuesday, but he won't be playing any rock 'n' roll.

* * *

"If there weren't any ladies present," said the movietown maestro, "I'd tell you what I really think about that kinda music!"

Jack twirled his $8,000 fiddle and played a few scratchy tunes today for the benefit of a group of newsmen and photographers who gathered to get the lowdown on his upcoming classical concert.

"It's on the level," Benny insisted. "I'm gonna play Mendelssohn's Concerto in E Minor, Sarasate's "Gypsy Airs" and that famous classic, "Love in Bloom."

SLIP IN 'LOVE IN BLOOM'

He said "Love in Bloom" wasn't really on the bill, but added:

"I'll slip it in somewhere along the line."

Jack admitted he "plays awful," but "the worse I play the funnier it is. I practice all the time. It just doesn't help much."

* * *

Not only will Mr. "Jascha" Benny scratch out three classical numbers, he'll also take over the concertmaster's job near the end of the performance.

"What's that thing — 'Cappricio Espagnol?' "

Benny said, "Well . . . the orchestra will be playing that. But they'll be playing so loud it won't make any difference what I do in there."

Benny's all-out musical effort will be for benefit of the National Assn. for Retarded Children and the committee to save Carnegie Hall. (There's a movement afoot to tear down the hallowed building to make way for a new hotel).

"So there you are," Paul Sutton, candidate for U. S. Congress, tells his supporting audience (left to right), Mrs. Louis Golden of Lake Angelus, Mrs. Willis Brewer and Mr. Golden. The group was caught by the photographer at the Saturday afternoon gathering of Democratic Party candidates and precinct leaders of Oakland County, held at the Sylvan Lake home of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Brewer.

Candidates Introduced

County Dems Meet

Mr. and Mrs. Willis M. Brewer were hosts to members of the Oakland County Democratic Party and candidates for county and state offices at their home on Sylvan Lake Saturday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Donald Johnson were cohosts for the affair, attended by approximately 250 people.

Carlos Richardson, county chairman, introduced the candidates for office: Paul Sutton, Leslie Hudson, Odin Johnson, David Utley, George Hicks and B. Jack Habel.

Also introduced were Fred Haggard, president of Oakland County CIO Council; Philip Rowston, Stephen Kohlar, P. T. Smith, James Clarkson, and Mrs. Clyde Nelsey, vice chairman of Oakland County Democratic Committee.

Mrs. Nelsey informed the group of plans for Nancy Williams Day Oct. 12. Activities will begin at 7 a.m. when the group gathers at Richardson Dairy. Breakfast is being served at Keego Harbor at 7:30 a.m., and a brunch is scheduled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Golden at Lake Angelus.

PLAN TEA, DANCE

Waterford Township Democratic Committee members, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Clark Adams, will be hosts at a tea that afternoon at the CAI Building, and dinner is scheduled at the Rochester home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Markle.

Climaxing the Nancy Williams Day activities will be an evening meeting in Pontiac with District One as hosts, at the Local Hall.

Mrs. Nelsey also told of plans for the Porch Light Campaign being held Oct. 16 for the National Democratic Party.

* * *

Keynote speaker at Saturday's gathering was Gov. G. Mennen Williams, who gave a brief resume of his day's activities in Oakland County and urged members to concentrate on the job of registration until Oct. 8.

A buffet supper was served outdoors, with Mrs. Dorothy Olson as chairman.

Exchanging ideas at the Saturday afternoon meeting of Oakland County Democrats were Mrs. Norman Lee of Farmington, past vice chairman of Oakland County Democratic Committee, and Leslie Hudson, state representative of the second district. Keynote speaker at the gathering was Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

Fiance Dies; What to Do With Ring?

Puzzled Girl Told Engagement Symbol Is Rightfully Hers

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: Have I been wrong in not returning an engagement ring to the family of the man to whom I was engaged, who was killed in a plane crash a month before our marriage? It never occurred to me that it was not mine to keep under such circumstances.

"I have been wearing it on my left hand as before. Something my fiances mother said to me the other day set me to wondering whether I was right in keeping it. Will you please advise me?"

Answer: Definitely you were right. No one else has a right to it but yourself. It is your ring and not his mother's.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be married soon but will not wear bridal clothes. Instead I have chosen a lilac velvet dress and a small velvet hat to match.

"Several members of my family are trying to discourage me from wearing this color, saying that lilac or purple are mourning colors and not appropriate for a bride. will you please give me your opinion?"

Answer: There is nothing wrong in the color lilac, if it is becoming to you.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I am secretary to an executive who sends out holiday greeting cards to many professional women who are married, but known as Miss in business. Should I address them as Mrs. or how?"

Answer: If the cards are sent to their offices, address them as Miss; if they are sent to their homes, address them Mr. and Mrs.

Dear Mrs. Post: "When a guest remains overnight, is the hostess in a house where there is no maid expected to turn back the bed covers in the spare room?"

Answer: No.

Long Hemline Appears to Be Definite Trend

NEW YORK (INS) — The new long hemlines seem to be heading for your wardrobe, like them or not.

Most dress manufacturers in New York have lowered hemlines an inch in their new cruise collections. This means 12 or 13 inches from the floor—and still a couple of inches above Christian Dior's ankle-brushing eight-inch hemline.

But many manufacturers are promising longer hems next spring, and on Fifth avenue, three major department stores are already displaying very long hemlines in their windows.

A few hold-outs, like skirt maker Charles Evans, claim the new lengths simply won't sell because they don't permit the easy movement American women love. As Evans points out:

"How can you drive the car in a sheath with an eight-inch hemline

But other fashion experts recall that only a few years ago people were saying the "new look" and the flattened "A" silhuette wouldn't sell either.

Only one thing is for sure: When making or buying a new dress this season, check to see that it has plenty of hem. You may have to drop the hemline in a hurry.

Sad-Eyed Clown Has Reason to Be Unhappy

HILLSDALE (AP)—Sad-eyed circus clown Hal (Happy) Kellems wishes his audiences would quit throwing things at him.

* * *

"I can't understand it," said Happy, in town for an engagement at the Hillsdale County Fair. "It's getting so we hate to go on."

"Children used to laugh and applaud when we put on our acts," Kellems said. "But now the kids—and some grownups are just as bad—think it's funny to throw peanut shells or shoot iron staples at the performers."

Happy recalled the tragic case of Ed Raymond, a Pollack Brothers circus clown, who was blinded a year ago when children threw colored sawdust into his eyes.

"Clowns love children," Kellems said. "The whole idea is built around entertaining kids. Yet they turn on us. Why?"

* * *

Happy smeared on the grease paint that gave his face a wide-lipped grin and added, sadly, "It never used to be like this. And I've worked everything from river boats to Broadway."

Popularity at Cost of Ideals Not Worth Price

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

How many people are you? Each person you know and associate with is familiar with a different aspect of your personality. Conversely, the Jane Brown you know is not necessarily the same Jane Brown that Mary Jones knows.

A woman is one kind of mother to her son and a different kind of mother to her daughter. She is wife to her husband, daughter to her mother and friend to her friend. She may seem quite different in personality and interests from these varying vantage points.

Today is our society a great premium is placed on popularity. We see this concern to belong, to be liked, reflected in old familiar questions such as "What shall I wear tonight?" "I wonder if I said the right thing to Mrs. Peabody?", "Do you think he liked me?" and so on.

Such questions arise from partial fears, some of which are justified. We find ourselves looking over a new situation and being somewhat cautious when meeting new people until we feel we know what we must do in order to associate comfortably and pleasantly with them.

We may ask ourselves, "Just what am I expected to do and how am I expected to behave with these people or in this group?"

* * *

If the individual is at all insecure this attitude can be carried too far and can create conflicts in him. He may lose his own identity in an effort to find a place for himself in society.

He may be so anxious to "belong" that his own values and personality are thrust aside in order to win his place in a group he likes and admires. Thus, his insecurity increases because of the conflict between those values he holds as an individual, and those he has adopted in order to be a member of a group.

A child must reach adulthood through a long obscure process of finding out how people want him to behave, but the healthy adult does not modify his values to such an extent that his own individuality is violated. This would be a real threat to his personal dignity, integrity and self-confidence.

No man or woman is more respected and liked than the one who makes a conscious effort to understand others while enthusiastically investing in his individual approach to life.

If you would like our leaflet "Individual Happiness," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 65 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

There are three things we all take for granted—relatives, taxes and colds! They always are with us. We find many of our relatives delightful. We have become accustomed to our taxes. But every time we develop a bad cold we wonder how it could happen to us. In between times we forget what a completely miserable experience it is.

Yet the average person has three colds a year. The cost and the time lost because of this unhappy condition, which we more or less take for granted, runs into staggering totals every year.

Colds are more prevalent in certain seasons. We are in one of them right now; early fall. The next bad time is in the middle of the winter. February is a particularly hazardous month so far as the cold is concerned. The time to be especially careful is early spring when temperatures change rapidly.

WORKING ON VACCINE

There is every reason to believe that the day will soon come when there will be an effective vaccine for all types and the cold will be a thing of the past. Under the direction of Doctor Robert J. Huebner, of the National Institute of Health of the United States Public Health Service, more than 10 different viruses which cause cold symptoms have been identified. Doctor Huebner's team already has developed a vaccine which is about 70 per cent effective in defeating several viruses which cause feverish colds.

There are many factors which combine to give you a miserable cold. In the first place you must come in contact with the virus. You also are probably in a run-down condition so that your resistance is low.

Fatigue is a great ally for the virus. Many women have noticed that they practically never take cold except during the time just before their menstrual periods. Then the body is under strain because of the change in hormone balance. Loss of sleep and overeating also are factors.

There is definite evidence that psychology enters into the picture. You no doubt have had the experience of catching a cold during times of strain and emotional stress.

Maybe you can miss your quota of colds this year IF you follow a splendid health routine with enough sleep and relaxation, good eating habits and have happy thoughts.

Topknots Peak Style for Parisians

PARIS (INS) — Top Paris fashion designers are going to a woman's head to make her look more feminine and fascinating.

Several of the glamorous and sophisticated Paris mannequins now wear their hair combed up and turned into a small chignon, pertly sitting on the top of the head.

Genevieve Fath beautifies one of her models with a veil and rose ornament in the style of "Gay Paree." The fine black veil clouds over the face including chin and is fixed by a red rose beside the chignon on the peak of the head.

Christian Dior gives his youngest mannequin the authentic "ingenue" type. He winds a regular "little-girl-crown" of nine pale pink roses and some rose leaves and places it dead-straight on the blonde, smooth head of a petite model. The style of this evening head ornament is that of naive sophistication.

Castillo at Lanvin has the fancy idea of combining a hat with a necklace.

He shows a black velvet skullcap with a flat bow standing up on top of it. For a new effect he fixes a diamond — it can also be a rhinestone — necklace to the cap above the ears so it dangles down like a loose chin-strap.

Lanvin-Castillo also shows a charming evening ornament. It is a ring-stole made of about one foot wide parma violet colored net, studded alternatingly with artificial parma violets and small violet colored satin-ribbon bows. It is worn either draped over the shoulders or pulled up over the head to become a hood.

Check Medicines for Useless Items

After vacation we are likely to put back into the medicine chest emergency items that served us when we were away from home.

It's a good idea to make sure that gauze and cotton are still clean, not soiled and dusty when put away. Check the thermometer by shaking it down to norm, wash it in lukewarm water and soap before putting it away.

If new medicines have been purchased make sure they are labeled before storing.

The addition of a small percentage of tellurium doubles the strength of lead and also increases its resistance to heat, corrosion and vibration.

Small Fry Learning a Lot in 'Telling Time' Classes

(How can the five or six year old in your home learn to organize his thoughts and express them? Every parent watches the process with interest, occasionally with concern. One novel approach to this problem is explained in this feature. John Barrow is the father of four young children.)

By JOHN BARROW
INS Staff Writer

Barbara, like many a talky lass of six, leans toward "telling tales out of school," but she's earning acclaim by telling 'em IN school.

Educators call it oral composition. She and the other first graders of Chicago's Bret Harte School call it "telling time."

Their teacher, Mrs. Elizabeth Davey says:

"We treat it as play—just for fun. If they thought they were learning something, they might lose their spontaneity."

Yet she witnesses some amazing strides taken by six-year-old children in organizing their thoughts and expressing them. A child brings a toy, book or other treasure to school and informally relates everything he can think of about it.

SHOW PROGRESS

At first, girls generally bring dolls, and boys bring guns. As the several-times-a-week telling time moves along, the youngster develops. He can deliver a talk without anything to exhibit. Often he gives an account of a weekend trip to Grandma's or a tour of a zoo.

Mrs. Davey says Barbara astounded the class by holding up fragments of surgical stitching and relating "How I cut myself on the forehead because I was playing with something I shouldn't have . . . ."

The teacher sees to it that telling time helps kiddies to learn to listen, too. If a child asks a question which already has been answered, the classrom chants: "Billy didn't listen. Billy didn't listen."

* * *

Surprisingly, Mrs. Davey can recall no embarrassing subjects arising. Enthusiasm sometimes needs restraining. Our Barbara wanted to bring in her newlyborn baby brother—and tell all about him.

DETROIT (AP) — Mrs. A. C. Stander of Saginaw will serve as president of the Women's Auxiliary of the Michigan State Medical Society for the next year.

Handmade Items Still 'Top Style'

Modern homemakers sing the praises of mechanical gadgets that lighten the labor of housekeeping. But when it comes to decorating their homes, they have the same personal pride in handmade cottons that their grandmothers had.

* * *

You see the proof in the return of hand-made bedspreads and crocheted rugs, ball-fringed muslin curtains, and "chair sets" that used to be called antimacassars.

The return of handmades is largely due to the fact that cottons today are so washable, colorfast and so easy to keep fresh and lovely.

Eisenhower Sets Example for Conduct of Husbands

Draws Mamie in to Share Limelight, Shows Unfailing Thought, Pride in Wife

BY RUTH MILLETT

In living rooms all over America one evening recently middle-aged wives must have sighed with envy as they saw on their TV screens a perfect demonstration of how a gentleman treats his lady in public.

The proud, gentle way he looked at his wife and looked after her comfort set the women to weighing their own husbands.

No, it wasn't some slick character actor. It was none other than the first gentleman of the land, President Eisenhower.

From the moment their car arrived at the Cow Palace, viewers saw a man who by every proud grin and thoughtful gesture seemed to be saying to the crowd, "Don't look at me. Look at her. Isn't she a darling?"

THOUGHTFUL ESCORT

As he started to help her from the car he reached back to get her wrap and asked if she thought she would need it.

Then, as he helped her through the crowds, he kept turning to talk to her, to grin at her remarks, to bend over to listen to any word she had for him.

On the platform he gently drew her to his side and didn't begin his speech until he turned from the audience to hand her over to someone else.

By every look and every gesture this husband was plainly and proudly making sure that in his big moment his wife was never to be even a step behind him.

It was something for the women of the country to see and something husbands of all ages might well have noted.

For it showed plainly that no light can be turned on a woman that will be as flattering as her own husband's pride, respect and galantry toward her as a woman.

Ingrid Bergman of Today

Tells of 7 Years Since Story Shocked World

(Seven year ago Ingrid Bergman startled and shocked Hollywood in a headlined affair with Italian Film Director Roberto Rossellini. The world first learned of it from Louella O. Parsons, filmdom's top reporter. What has happened to Ingrid Bergman in these past seven years? Is she bitter? Is she happy with Rossellini? Louella Parsons now tells this remarkable personal story after talking with Ingrid Bergman in London. This is the first of four articles.)

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
INS Motion Picture Editor

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — In starting this series on Ingrid Bergman, who seven years ago threw everything out of the window for the love of Roberto Rossellini, leaving her 12-year-old daughter Pia and her husband, Dr. Peter Lindstrom, I'd like to say I am not going to moralize. I am acting solely as a reporter.

Who can say what motivates a dignified, beautiful, fine and famous woman to destroy everything she built with hard work and years of struggle?

I saw Ingrid in London and I am writing this, let me say again, not as a critic of her unorthodox behavior, but as a newspaper woman. I had many interviews with the Swedish actress when she was Hollywood's favorite woman star, even more beloved than Grace Kelly.

It seemed very strange meeting Ingrid for the first time this summer since I broke the exclusive story Dec. 12, 1949, for International News Service that she and Rosselini were expecting a baby in three months—a child to be born out of wedlock.

DENIED BY MANY

The story was vigorously denied by every news syndicate, many other columnists, in fact by everyone but Ingrid and Rossellini — who kept sient.

* * *

I have never been happy about that exclusive, although it was called the scoop of the year. I disliked hurting Ingrid, whom I met first in 1939 when she was brought to Hollywood by David Selznick after her success in "Intermezzo."

But I am a reporter and I had reason to know the story of the expected baby was true. I have never told who gave me the story and as long as I live I shall never reveal the source of my information.

Seven years is not really a very long time, but obviously it is long enough for Ingrid Bergman to get much of the bitterness and heartache out of her soul.

Although she was staying at the Savoy hotel in London while I was there, I had no intention of seeking her out. I thought seeing me might bring up unpleasant memories.

To my surprise, she sent word that she would like to see me, not at the Elstree Studio where she is starring in "Anastasia" for 20th Century-Fox, but in her own sitting room at the Savoy.

I dreaded this interview as I had never dreaded one in my life. What would she say? Would she denounce me for having broken the story? Would she tell me of her humiliation and years of unhappiness?

I had heard that she hated the very word "Hollywood" and I remembered as if it were yesterday Rossellini giving out an interview six years ago to a reported, saying that Ingrid was so ashamed of having a baby before they were able to marry that she wouldn't leave their apartment in Rome.

So it was with embarrassment and considerable nervousness that I went to her suite on the sixth floor of the Savoy.

She opened the door herself —a slim, beautiful Ingrid dressed in black slacks and a white blouse. There was a big smile on her face as she embraced me and kissed me twice, saying over and over again how glad she was to see me after all these years.

Noting my confusion, she said, taking my arm, "come in and have a cocktail, a glass of sherry, or a cup of tea." We compromised on sherry.

This new Ingrid seemed much less restrained, much happier and certainly she showed more real emotion and less coolness than I remembered when she was the toast of the film world.

"Have you forgiven me for being the first to tell the world you were expecting a baby?" I blurted out as self conscious as if I were an amateur reporter on my first assignment.

"Of course I have forgiven you. The story was true, you are a reporter and I would much rather have you break it because you have always been most kind to me," she said.

"I won't deny I had some very unhappy years but that's in the past. I have three wonderful children and I hope to see Pia, pardon me," she laughed, "I mean Jenny Ann, which is really a better name."

I asked her these questions:

"Are you happy?"

"Would you go against public opinion if you had it to do over?"

"Do you miss your daughter Pia and have you forgiven Dr. Peter Lindstrom for refusing to free you so you could marry Rossellini?"

"Are you ever coming to America?"

"Will you make any more pictures with Rossellini?"

All of Ingrid's answers, as well as her feelings today, will be given in other chapters on the story of "Ingrid Bergman of Today."

(Tomorrow: When Ingrid met the Fiery Rossellini.)

MRS. R. HEATH REEVES

Married Saturday at All Saints Episcopal Church were Charlotte Stark and R. Heath Reeves. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Stark of South Marshall street and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond H. Reeves of Thorpe street.

Charlotte Stark Is Wed to R. Heath Reeves

Charlotte Virginia Stark became the bride of R. Heath Reeves in a candlelight ceremony Saturday at All Saints Episcopal Church.

The Rev. George Widdifield performed the 8 o'clock service in the presence of 250 guests.

For her wedding, Charlotte, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Stark of South Marshall street, chose a gown of Italian silk with Alencon lace accenting the Sabrina neckline and the hipline.

The bouffant skirt extended to a full chapel train and the long sleeves of the fitted bodice were tapered over the wrists. A matching crown trimmed with seed pearls and sequins held her three tiered veil of illusion.

* * *

She carried a bouquet of white roses.

Janet Zatik served as maid of honor wearing a gold dress of crystalette with a boat neckline and vertical pleats on the bodice front. She carried bronze Fugi chrysanthemums.

Mary Witherspoon of Albany, N. Y. and Carol Bolton wore similar dresses in a green color and carried yellow chrysanthemums.

Shelly Humbaugh served as flower girl wearing a dress of white crystalette trimmed with yellow roses. She carried a basket of yellow roses and wore a crown headpiece of yellow roses.

R. Heath Reeves, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond H. Reeves of Thorpe street asked William Fairse of Clarkston to serve as best man. Ushers were Richard Robichaud and Fred Stark.

For the reception held in the Rose Kneale room, Mrs. Stark chose a gown of soldier blue Chantilly lace over sky blue taffeta. Her flowers were pink sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Reeves wore a dress of pink crystalette trimmed in white and wore a corsage of white rosebuds and carnations.

When the couple left for their honeymoon in the East, the bride changed to a two-piece brown wool jersey dress trimmed in beige. Her accessories were beige and brown. The corsage from her bridal bouquet completed her ensemble.

They will make their home on East Pike street when they return.

This Peach Chutney Is Delicious

By JANET ODELL

Isn't it nice when friends remember to get interesting recipes for you on their trips? Mrs. Jack Garrett discovered this recipe for Peach Chutney in Vancouver and sent it to us.

An active senior citizen, Mrs. Garrett loves to travel. She lives in Detroit, but spends as much time as possible with her Pontiac son and three granddaughters.

Mrs. Garrett says this chutney was "on the table for all our cold meats and fowl; it was delicious."

CANADIAN PEACH CHUTNEY

By Mrs. Jack Garrett

6 medium onions (2 cups)
2 large tomatoes (2 cups)
4 cups peaches
4 cups pears
1 bunch celery
3 ounces mixed pickling spice, tied in cheesecloth bag
1 pint vinegar
4 cups white sugar
2 teaspoons salt
2 hot red peppers

Chop all ingredients fine, mix in large pan and simmer for two hours. Add the red peppers only toward the end of the cooking period.

This recipe is from a Canadian cookbook of 1910.

Only the statuesque, well-proportioned figure can carry the mammoth collar and blouse sleeves. Luxury personified in any fur!

Such lavishness as Paris showed in floor-sweeping fur evening coats leaves one speechless and the same goes for the full-length coat with luxurious collar and sleeves, really superb whether in mink or muskrat.

Crates Fine to Store Children's Toys

Train children to be neat by providing them with the facilities of storing away their toys, picture and story books, and phonograph records.

Empty, upturned orange crates are ideal for this purpose, as they can be grouped together in a row or in a corner arrangement, to save space. They're low enough for the children to reach easily, and can be attractive additions to a room if painted in bright colors or covered with wallpaper to match or contrast with the decor of the room.

Let Child Unwind Before Bedtime

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Once as a baby Ken was quite ill. After 48 hours of nursing him, his mother was so tired that his father sent her to bed.

But though she lay down, she could not fall asleep. All the excited feelings aroused in her by her sick baby still connected her to him so that she couldn't separate herself from him—and withdraw into the privacy of sleep.

She has also remained wakeful after arguments, gossiping about family matters, on the eves of trips—all occasions when intense interest in other people and events made it hard to retreat from them into sleep.

Yet tonight at Ken's bedtime, though she'd just put an abrupt end to his "Bus Conductor" game, she demanded that he accept the immediate idea of sleep.

* * *

He fought it. His feelings were still too closely attached to his imaginary bus passengers to stand the sudden removal from them. He refused to leave them. His mother lost her temper—and she and Ken played out an angry scene.

TIME TO UNWIND

Experienced parents never try to transfer a child too rapidly from intense activity to the quiet kind. Around his bedtime, they either see that he involves himself in the quiet kind; or if he's got mixed up in the intense kind, give him time to unwind.

* * *

Before presenting him with the idea of sleep, they reduce the excitement of his Bus Conductor emotions by sharing them with him. They might say, "Can you go a little slower, conductor? What is your next stop? I want to talk to you . . ."

To make this patient approach work, we need no training in child psychology. All we need is to remember our own experience with overstimulation at bedtime.

Ken will not grow quiet because we've read some child guidance book on how to treat "overstimulation in the pre-bedtime child." The development will occur only as he feels himself in the quiet, understanding presence of a person who also knows what excited feelings are.

My chief criticism of parent education is the educator's habit of suggesting that children's problems are different from other human problems.

* * *

By implying that Ken's pre-bedtime "overstimulation" is unlike what his mother feels when she's overexcited at her bedtime, the experts make us feel it's a mysterious malady for which they only possess the cure.

Actually bedtime overstimulation is a serious adult problem in our country—as our sales of sleeping pills well testify.

Well suited to practically every occasion until spring is this feminine suit-dress that is tailored so neatly.

No. 8440 with Pat-O-Rama included is in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20; 40, 42. Size 14, 4⅝ yards of 39-inch.

A revolutionary new kind of life insurance comes to Pontiac

one policy, one low premium

provides life insurance for your whole family and automatically includes every new arrival . . . at no increase in premium

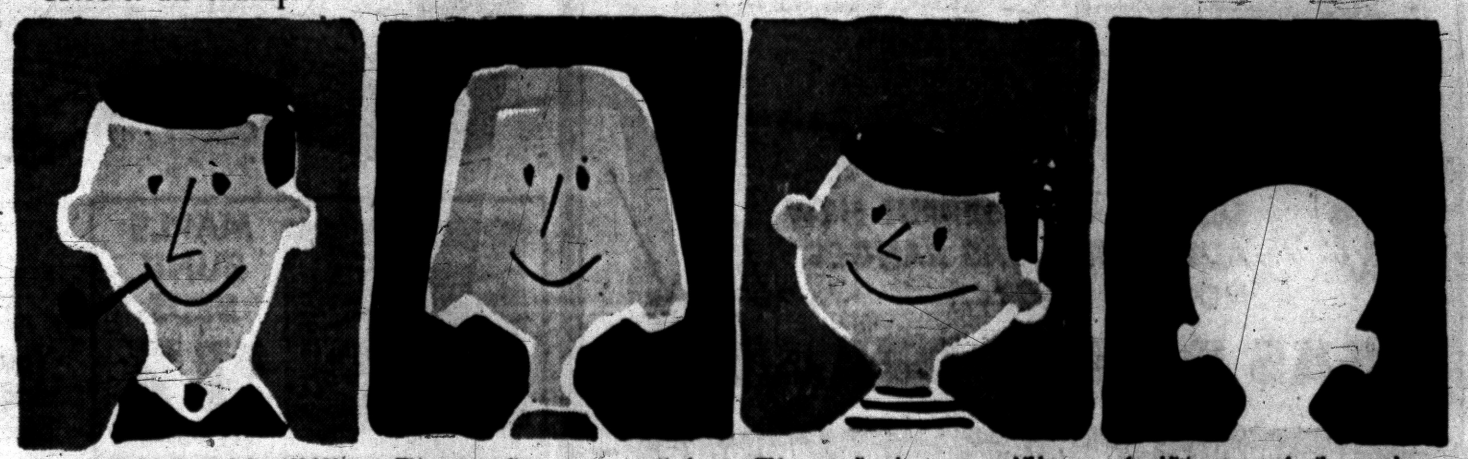

Prudential has good news for your family . . . for with the Family Policy you can own a new kind of life insurance that insures Dad, Mom and all the kids—including those born in the future—for one monthly premium that never increases.

Of course, the Family Policy covers Dad primarily, for he is the bread-winner. But it also gives substantial coverage to Mom, the children and every new addition to your family. No matter how big your family grows you never pay an extra penny of premium.

The Prudential
INSURANCE COMPANY OF AMERICA

Here is an example:

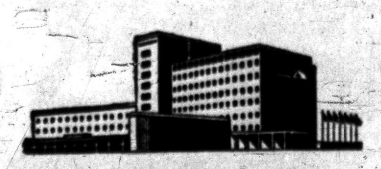

Suppose Dad is insured for $10,000. This insurance protects your family throughout your life. If you are disabled as provided by the policy, you don't have to pay any more premiums.

This same policy covers your wife for $2,000 if she is your age. If she is younger, the amount of insurance on her life is more than $2,000. If she is older, the amount is less.

This same policy also covers your children for $2,000 each ($500 from age 15 days to the first birthday). All are insured under only one policy with only one premium to pay.

As additions to your family come along, they are automatically covered after age 15 days, as provided in the same policy—yet the premium you pay never increases above the original low level.

Ike Asks Support of UF Campaigns

WASHINGTON (INS) — President Eisenhower is asking all Americans, regardless of party, to express a "genuine and heartfelt concern for our fellow man" by contributing to the United Community campaigns.

The President issued his appeal in a radio and television speech opening the nationwide charity drive last night.

He said: "in a political campaign, people in the community divide up into sides and they cast their votes on issues. But in the United Community campaigns there is only one big issue, and that is: Are we interested in our fellow man?"

Full Docket Includes Racial, Communist Issues

High Court Gathers for New Session, Focuses on Enforcing Integration Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court reassembles today to begin a new term with a heavy quota of pending cases besides the problem of deciding what steps to take in overseeing racial integration in public schools.

* * *

Three appeals concerned with immediate admission of pupils to white schools in Texas and South Carolina were filed during the summer recess. More are expected during the new term.

In addition, a long list of cases raising a variety of issues affecting Communists and subversive activities awaits consideration.

By long tradition, term-opening day is devoted to brief formalities. The heavy work on a docket of close to 800 cases gets under way next Monday.

* * *

For Justice Sherman Minton this week and next will be devoted to winding up his work on the high bench. His retirement, because of ill health, becomes effective Oct. 15. Minton plans to return to his home in New Albany, Ind., where on Oct. 20 he will observe his 66th birthday anniversary.

President Eisenhower announced Saturday he will appoint a New Jersey Supreme Court justice, William Joseph Brennan Jr., as Minton's successor. The White House said a recess appointment will be made formally in about 10 days. The appointment will be subject to Senate confirmation when Congress reconvenes next year.

Brennan, like Minton, is a Democrat. He will be the first Roman Catholic to serve on the court since Justice Frank Murphy died in 1949. A native of Newark, he now lives in Rumson, N. J.

* * *

Court observers await with interest the justices' next steps in school segregation cases. The court in 1955 ordered compulsory segregation ended "with all deliberate speed." At the same time it said U.S. District Courts with their knowledge of local circumstances could best see to it that school boards "make a prompt and reasonable start."

In handling the segregation appeals now pending, and others certain to be filed, the high court will show whether it intends to supervise closely what the district courts have done or will give them a free hand in working out integration.

* * *

Three other racial appeals also pending are expected to be acted on early this fall. In two of them the Supreme Court is asked to overturn a lower court decision holding unconstitutional Alabama state and Montgomery (Ala.) city laws requiring segregation of Negroes and whites on buses. (Last term the high court dismissed an appeal from a similar decision which declared unconstitutional a South Carolina bus segregation law.

* * *

In the third appeal, the high tribunal is asked to reverse a lower court decision that Virginia may not lease a state park under any plan that might result in discrimination against Negroes.

Other pending appeals will result in Supreme Court rulings on validity of a section of the Smith Act which makes it a crime to be a member of an organization with knowledge that it teaches violent overthrow of government. The appeals were filed by Claude M. Lightfoot, Chicago Negro who was an official of the Illinois Communist party, and by Junius I. Scales, a Communist party leader in the Carolinas and Tennessee.

In deciding several other appeals, the justices will take another look at a section of the Smith Act which makes it a criminal offense to teach and advocate violent overthrow of the government. These appeals were filed by 14 California Communist leaders.

* * *

Scheduled for argument early in November is a major government antitrust case appeal. In it the Justice Department seeks to compel the Du Pont Co. and the Du Pont family to dispose of their stock interests in General Motors. The case was appealed to the high court after U.S. District Judge Walter J. Labuy in Chicago threw out the government's complaint.

The holes found in Swiss cheese are produced by the liberation of the gases which are generated during the process of fermentation.

Army Orders GIs to Dye Shoes Black

CHICAGO (INS) — America's soldiers are "dyeing" for their country.

An officer at the Chicago Quartermaster Office says soldiers have been dyeing their brown GI shoes black to conform with Pentagon orders to standardize footwear color with the Navy and Air Force.

From Banking to Art

NEW YORK (AP)—A group of men and women who handle banking matters by day and turn to painting at night will hold their annual art show this week. They are members of the art class of the First National City Bank of New York. Their exhibit will include 164 oils and water colors.

Entertainment Is Big Business in Soviet Russia

The Reds Call It 'Culture' and Showman Soaks It Up

By BILLY ROSE

EDITOR'S NOTE: Moscow calls it "culture," but to Master Showman Billy Rose it's just plain entertainment in his new account of show business behind the Iron Curtain, the first installment of which begins below. Watch The Press for four more articles by Rose on his recent tour of Russia.

A joker once remarked that there are no experts on Russia—only varying degrees of ignorance. Well, I have no quarrel with that quip, and so I'm going to try not to play pundit about a chunk of the world where even the contrasts have contrasts. In this and the pieces to come, I'm going to sound off about the one thing I figure to know something about—entertainment.

For openers, let me point out that entertainment isn't referred to as "entertainment" in polite communist circles; it's called "culture."

BILLY ROSE

Furthermore, fun is serious business in the U.S.S.R. In addition, it's big business, and I mean "big" in the sense that U.S. Steel is big.

Here are some carefully checked statistics . . .

The U.S.S.R. operates nearly 40,000 movie theatres. The U.S. has 18,000, including drive-ins. The Sotvets operate and produce shows for approximately 5,000 legitimate theatres and opera houses.

* * *

The Soviet Ministry of Culture supervises the production of all films, drama, musicals, circuses, operas and ballets which appear in its playhouses, tents and arenas. What's more it runs 130 radio stations and 10 television outlets.

By this far down in the column, it figures that someone is phoning the chairman of the Un-American Activities Committee. "Congressman Walter," I can hear him screeching, "that Rose guy says that Russian show business is bigger than ours. Let's slap him with a subpoena." Well, maybe I ought to tell my well-meaning friend why he shouldn't get himself all in a tizzy . . .

On July 4, my new missus and I boarded a plane at Idlewild Airport, New York. In my pocket were visas for Russia, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia and Roumania. My purpose in making the trip was to explore the possibility of an even-Steven exchange of artists and entertainers between the U.S. and five of the communist countries.

Though I had discussed the notion with the State Department, I had no official status. I was traveling as a private citizen under my own steam and at my own expense. The only document I carried was a letter from Congressman Francis E. Walter, Chairman of the Un-American Activities Committee.

The following week we checked in at the Hotel Kempinski in Berlin where the Nazis used to tell each other, "Enjoy the war, the peace will be horrible."

The 64 state-controlled theatres of East Germany are still throwing spitballs at the U.S. Each year their Ministry of Culture formulates a "purpose," and this year the "purpose" is to "mobilize the public for the triumphant battle against America's war economy.

* * *

"Hand-picked classics are distorted to hammer home this theme, and sleazy-written-to-order plays make up the rest of the repertoire.

RUBBLE ON RUBBLE

East Berlin, for the most part, is so much rubble piled on rubble. Nevertheless, the playhouses which peddle propaganda sport marble corridors, damask drapes, cheery red rugs and crystal-happy chandeliers. All pretty as a Christmas package until you lift the tissue and look at what's inside — tired-eyed audiences in clothes which we wouldn't use for dust rags.

At 6 a.m. on July 11, my missus and I climbed into a two-motor plane at Schoenfeld Airport, 20 miles out of East Berlin. Destination, Moscow. Our aircraft looked like something made out of an old Brownie camera tied up with chicken wire. When Joyce asked the Aeroflot hostess for a seat belt, she quipped, "What's that?"

At 9 o'clock, we set down in Vilna for lunch and gas. We couldn't help notice the large economy-size bust of Stalin which dominated the waiting room of the terminal. A couple of weeks later, on the way back from Moscow, we again found ourselves in this waiting room. Joe Stalin wasn't living there any more . . .

* * *

Six hundred bumpy miles out of Vilna, we landed at Moscow's Vnukovo airport. After the usual passport rigamarole, we were driven to the National Hotel, right across the street from the Kremlin.

A friendly-enough girl at the desk assigned us an oversize suite, the decor of which was early Balaban and Katz. I had been warned that my rooms were a cinch to be microphoned, so as soon as I stashed away our bags I said in my best pear-shaped tones, "Put on your earphones, fellas, I'm going to give you a voice level. Testing: one! two! three! four!" etc.

As a first step, I phoned our Ambassador, Charles E. Bohlen. He told me he had been briefed about my visit, and to come right over.

Chip talks Russian without an accent, and can spot a wooden nickel a block away. His wife, Avis, is a ringer for Irene Dunn, and when this pair get dolled up, they're a pretty good advertisement for the United States.

Next morning, through an Intourist official, I set up an appointment with Edward Ivanian, deputy chief of the Anglo-American Department in the Ministry of Culture. The first time we met, Ivanian, who speaks English, was courteous but noncommittal.

* * *

After a spot of tea, he asked me to leave a copy of my proposed deal so it could be translated and evaluated by his associates. As we walked down the hall, I told him it was my impression that Oistrakh, the Soviet violinist, had created more good will in the U. S. in a few brief weeks than their late Foreign Minister, Vischinsky, had in several long years.

REACH AGREEMENT

A few days later, he phoned me and this time we met in a somewhat more imposing office with Georgi Orvid, Deputy Minister of Culture, behind the desk.

Orvid opened the meeting by saying that the Ministry of Culture was interested in my proposal, an then, as might be expected, brought up the question of finger-printing. I told him there was nothing I could do about it; that it was a law passed by Congress, and applied equally to all nations.

* * *

We then reviewed the agreement, item by item, and when it was announced to the press the following day, an old-line correspondent was good enough to describe it as the best example of down-the-middle trading with the Soviets he had ever seen.

In a nutshell, it provided for the exchange of up to 500 artists during 1957. If feasible, the first of the shows were to open simultaneously in New York and Moscow on New Year's Eve.

HAMS TAKE OVER

Why did the Soviets okay this agreement? Darned if I know, any more than I know why they have issued 2,500 visas to Americans in recent months, and permitted them access, with cameras, to eight of their cities. I do know, however, that even on a governmental level, everybody connected with show business is a ham. It's one thing for an artist to make good in Kiev; it's another to knock 'em a-twister at Carnegie Hall.

This theory, I grant you, is a bit on the pat side, and it may be that the willingness of the Soviets to exchange balalaikas for buck-and-wingers is part of an overall Communist plot. I have no way of knowing.

Next: The lowdown on Soviet entertainment.

I do know, however, that there's a certain amount of horse sense in the old line: "It's hard for a fellow to keep a chip on his shoulder if you allow him to take a bow."

You Just Don't Land Airplanes on City Streets

NEW YORK (AP) — A strapping young mechanic with an "urge to fly" and a desire for a nightcap dropped in by plane at his favorite tavern in crowded Manhattan early Sunday.

* * *

Thomas Fitzpatrick, 26, skillfully piloted a small plane down between rows of apartment houses and made a perfect landing on St. Nicholas Ave. at 191st St. Then he taxied up the darkened street to the tavern.

Police said he reached the bar in time for a short beer before the 3 a.m. closing.

Officers marveled at the flying mechanic's feat. One said the landing was a 100,000-to-1 shot — "almost impossible."

Police said the odds were also against Fitzpatrick's story that engine trouble forced him down in his "borrowed" plane. They suspected a wager was behind the landing.

* * *

So Fitzpatrick was arraigned in felony court on a charge of suspicion of grand larceny. Magistrate Edward J. Chapman set $5,000 bail "as a deterrent to other foolish young men who get drunk and fly a plane."

Police said Fitzpatrick had a license to fly.

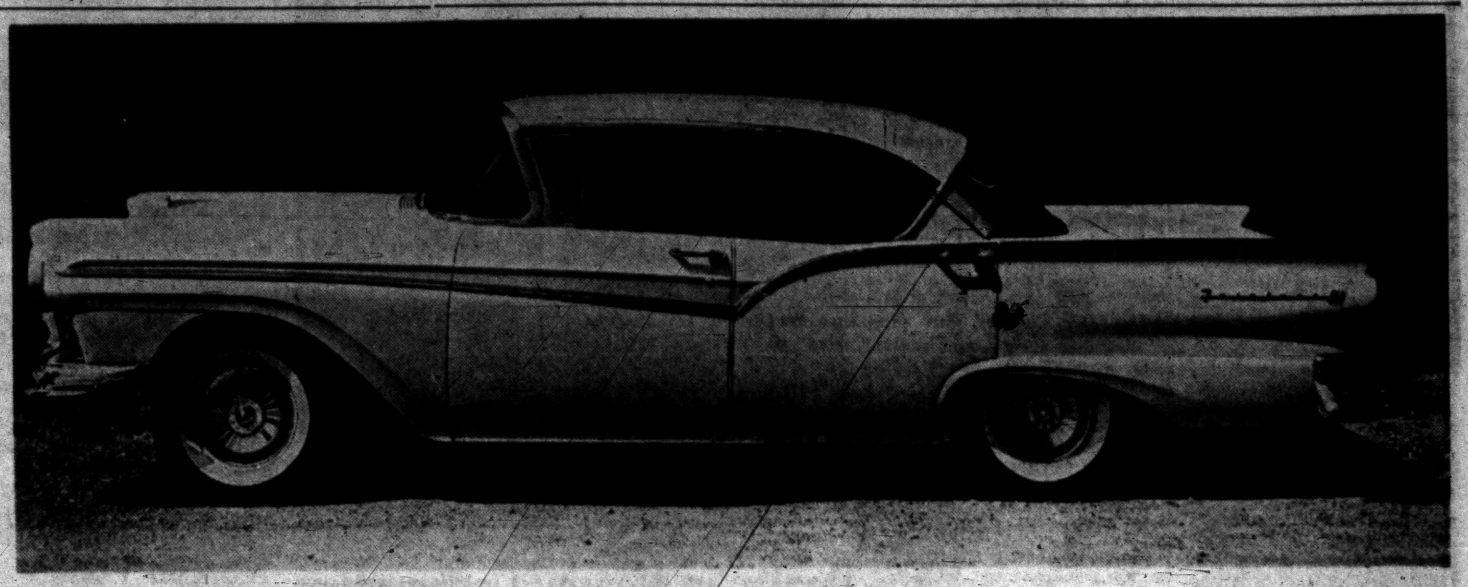

France Protesting U.N. Talk on Algeria

UNITE NATIONS, N. Y. (INS) — France, already busily engaged in the Suez Canal dispute, began its fight against U. N. General Assembly debate on the Algerian crisis today.

The majority of the Afro-Asian bloc voted last week to request assembly action on warfare in Algeria. Acceptance of the item for discussion by the 76-nation body next month could result in another French boycott of the world forum.

France, insisting its battle to put down the Algerian rebellion is strictly a domestic matter, walked out of the assembly last year when the Afro-Asian bloc, with Communist support, succeeded in winning debate on the item.

U. N. observers pointed out a French decision to boycott the assembly this year would be complicated by the fact that the Suez question is almost certain to come up for debate in some form in that body.

LONGER AND LOWER — Ford's four-door Victoria, a member of the new "Fairlane 500" series, is an example of the kind of styling that will be seen in the Ford line Wednesday when 1957 models will be unveiled in dealer showrooms. The new cars are nine inches longer and four inches lower than their 1956 counterparts. They will be on display locally at Cy Owens Inc., 147 S. Saginaw St. The new models are said to have as much interior headroom as last year, despite being lower.

Religion Issue in Nixon Trip

Shifts Hotels as Jews Protest 'Restrictions' at Campaign Stop

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — A sudden switch in hotel arrangements here for Vice President Richard Nixon was made after Jewish leaders complained the hotel where the party was to stay was "restricted."

* * *

David J. Wolper, a former president of the B'nai B'rith in Florida, and Phil Dross, manager of the Tides Hotel, said the change was ordered by Republican national headquarters.

Nixon and his party spent the weekend at the Edward James Hotel and left this morning.

Wolper said he protested use of the Tides "because it is restricted against the Jewish people. He (Nixon) was going to greet voters there and Jewish voters would have been there."

* * *

Dross said he was disappointed Nixon did not stay at the Tides Hotel but said the vice president didn't have anything to do with the switch."

NEAR BULLSEYES — It's been a long time since either of the gentlemen above handled a youngster's BB-gun, but both show pretty good scores. Rev. Edward Auchard, left, and Dr. Ralph D. Wigent both helped in setting up the YMCA's new rifle range for aspiring marksmen. Rev. Auchard is on the Y Boys and Girls Committee and Dr. Wigent is a Kiwanis Club member, which provided funds for the new program.

Girls Can Join, Too!

Air Rifle Club to Open at Pontiac YMCA Range

Even little sister can become a "Calamity Jane" in a new program underway at the Pontiac YMCA.

* * *

Both boys and girls age nine to 15 can join the air rifle club and become marksmen at the new range in the YMCA headquarters, 131 Mt. Clemens St.

The Y and Pontiac Kiwanis clubs are cooperating to train youngsters under adult supervision.

"Kids are always interested in guns," observed Morris Tubergeon, Y youth director. "We think our program will give them the fun of handling a gun while emphasizing the care and responsibility involved."

Sharpshooters will be eligible for National Rifle Association junior awards and for competition in a tournament at the end of the season, Tubergeon said.

The Y will supply BB's and spring-type rifles to youngsters who do not bring their own, Tubergeon said. Firing will be on the new 15-foot range with an approved back-stop.

Youngsters can sign up at the Y, Tubergeon said. There is a $1 fee.

Longer, Lower, $209 Million to Develop

All-New Ford Bows In Wednesday

A completely restyled Ford will make its debut in dealer showrooms across the United States Wednesday. Lower and longer, the new models cost $209 million to develop, according to Ford officials.

* * *

Styling changes include wide hooded headlights, forward slanting grille, windshield wrapping farther around the sides and distinctive rear fender fins slanting slightly outward to emphasize the contoured sides.

Introduction of the cars will mark the first time in Ford's 53-year history two sizes of cars have been produced. There will be 19 different models. The Fairlane series has been expanded to include the "Fairlane 500" models with extraluxury features.

With an over-all length of 207.7 inches and a height of 56.2 inches, the Fairlane and Fairlane 500 sedans are nine inches longer and four inches lower than the comparable 1956 models. Custom and Custom 300 sedans have an overall length of 201.6 inches and a height of 57.1 inches, making them more than three inches longer and nearly 3½ inches lower than the 1956 models.

WAGONS TOO

Station wagons at 203.5 inches long and 58.6 inches high are nearly six inches longer and 3½ inches lower.

The frames have been extended to the sides of the car, permitting the floor to be lowered inside the frame rails. Thus, Ford says, there is no sacrifice of headroom inside the car.

An innovation for 1957 is availability at extra-cost of a high performance V-8, 245-horsepower engine. The engine called the Thunderbird Special, is equipped with a four-barrel carburetor and has a 9.7 to 1 compression ratio.

* * *

Standard engine for the Fairlane and Station Wagon series is the 212-horsepower Thunderbird V-8. It has 9.1 to 1 compression ratio. A 190-horsepower V-8 is standard for the Custom and Custom 300 series. It has 8.6 to 1 compression ratio. Both the 212 and the 190-horsepower units have two-barrel carburetors.

The 144-horsepower, six-cylin- engine also will be available on all models. Compression is 8.6 to 1.

All models have independent ball-joint front suspension, longitudinal semi-elliptical rear springs, 12-volt ignition, 20-gallon fuel tank and 11-inch brake diameter. Wheels are 14 inches in diameter, one inch smaller than in 1956.

DISTINCTIVE TRIM

Special side mouldings and ornamentation ace used to distinguish each of the 1957 series. Safety features, introduced in 1956 have been improved. A safety instrument panel has recessed control knobs clustered under a redesigned deep center steering wheel.

Instrumnt panel and sun visor crash cushions are available. Safety door latches have been reinforced to withstand greater impacts.

Hoods are hinged at the front. The hood release has been moved to the instrument panel, and the fresh air intake has been moved to the cowling in front of the windshield. Ford engineers say this prevents exhaust fumes from being drawn into the car.

Optional features include power steering, brakes, seats and windows, air conditioning, tinted glass, six and eight-tube radios, and heaters.

Boys' Club Rangers Don Their Spurs

There'll be no rustlers or "bad men" among 300 youngsters expected to show up in cowboy garb at the Pontiac Boys' Club this week.

* * *

All will be prospective Junior Texas Rangers with a tough set of tests to pass before winning a ranger badge Friday, according to William V. Coulacos, executive director.

Ranger week is one way the club varies its year-long program for the younger club members.

"The Rangers have an appeal which makes this kind of activity a natural for young adventure seekers," he said, "and encourages them to join in a variety of wholesome activities under adult supervision."

During the week, members, age 7 to 13, will continue to work at athletics, shop and other regular Boys' Club projects.

But at the same time they'll be racking up points leading to the badge.

"The kids get very enthusiastic about special programs like this," Coulacos said, "and we expect to have several of them this year."

Ranger week is headed by Joseph Chevalier, program chairman. The club at 530 E. Pike St. is a United Fund sponsored agency.

Allen Park Hunter Shot in Drinking Row

IOSCO COUNTY (INS) — Iosco County authorities were holding Mrs. Josie Ellis, 32-year-old mother of three, today for the murder of an Allen Park man who was shot last night en route to a duck hunt.

Officials say Buster L. Shellenberger, an auto plant machinist, was shot to death with a 12-gauge shotgun by Mrs. Ellis when he and Jack Ellis, her husband, became involved in an argument.

Sheriff's deputies reported Shellenberger and a hunter companion, Alvin Whitehouse, 40, also of Allen Park, were en route to Londo Lake when they met the Ellises in a bar.

When the bar closed, the party went to the Ellis' home where the shooting occurred.

Sheriff Ivan O'Ferrall said Ellis held a rifle on Whitehouse and Shellenberger knocked it down. Mrs. Ellis reportedly then picked up the shotgun and fired from five feet away.

Adlai's Paper Backs Him for President This Time

BLOOMINGTON, Ill. (INS) — The Bloomington Pantagraph, Adlai Stevensons family newspaper which refused to support him in 1952, has endorsed him for President in the coming election.

The paper said yesterday Stevenson now is "a fre man" and explained it could not back him in 1952 because he was sponsored by the Truman administration. The publication, in which Stevenson and his sister, Mrs. Ernest Ives, hold a minority of stock, added:

"He has earned the nomination through his own efforts and his still growing ability. He is in no way obligated to the New Deal, the Fair Deal, or any other deal."

Conservatives Meet to Form Political Party

INIANAPOLIS (AP) — A meeting of conservatives from 15 states turned into the founding convention for a new political party last night, but it was decided to delay giving the party a name.

The action culminated a long fight in conservative ranks over whether they should continue to work within the Democratic and Republican parties to form their own group.

Kent Courtney of New Orleans, who publishes a political newsletter, said it was too late this year to find a name for the party. Courtney was named executive secretary.

The convention was recessed until early in 1957 when, said Courtney, they will try to find a "name that could be used by all right wing political groups that believe in strict adherence to the Constitution and the Bill of Rights."

The new party agreed to work for a ticket nominated at the States Rights convention in Memphis.

Virus Hits Huron Valley

Doctors Say Infection in Epidemic Stage; Note 60 Per Cent Average

MILFORD — An epidemic of virus infection has hit the Huron Valley Area, according to doctors here.

While a certain increase in colds is always anticipated at this time of year, Dr. Wellington Gibson, Oakland County cornorner, says the big increase now brings it to epidemic proportions, he said.

The sudden change in weather conditions is partly to blame, Dr. Earl Book said.

"Sixty per cent of patients coming to my office for other ailments have the virus infection. Ordinarily only about 10 per cent have colds at this time of year, he added.

At Milford High School, a box of tissues is as much a part of students gear as his text books, and almost every member of the faculty has been affected within the last two weeks, according to Principal Gerald Rasmussen.

A Milford doctor for 20 years, Dr. Ben Bragg said, "There is definitely an epidemic respiratory infection in the Huron Valley Area. One member of the family contacts it and it seems to spread through the whole group."

The doctors agree that the disease has reached its peak and during the last two days has remained at one level. Dr. Gibson said that when people, realizing the danger, take precautionary measures, the spread of the infection begins to subside.

Vitamins, good diet and plenty of rest is the best cure for this type of virus and only when the disease reaches the sore throat—fever stage are anti-biotics prescribed, Gibson said.

Nazi Fuehrer Doenitz Freed

Serves 10-Year Term in War Crimes Prison, Leaves Weak, Ailing

BERLIN (INS) — Former Nazi Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz, who was briefly Germany's Fuehrer after Adolf Hitler, was released from Spandau Military Prison today after serving a 10-year sentence for war crimes.

Doenitz, whose unconditional surrender to the Allied armies ended World War II on the European front, was greeted by a small crowd when he appeared outside the prison gates shortly after midnight.

Doenitz, 65, one-time commander-in-chief of the German Navy was sentenced Oct. 1, 1946, by the International Military Tribunal at Neurnberg. He received the lightest sentence of any former German officials convicted at the war crimes trials.

Doenitz stepped out from behind the red brick walls of Spandau a shriveled, rheumatic man, weak from a serious prostate operation performed last year and a recurring heart ailment.

POLICE ESCORT

He and his wife left prison in a chauffeur-driven car. British military police cleared the road and German police flashed spotlights into the lenses of news photographers' cameras to prevent them from snapping Doenitz' picture.

Doenitz reached his highest military post under Hitler after Grand-Admiral Erie Raeder, then navy chief, refused Hitler's order to withdraw the German Navy's surface fleet from the war and rely solely on submarines.

Under Doenitz, who once was chief of the navy's submarine fleet, Nazi submarines achieved important results in the war. At one point they seriously threatened to strangle the life out of England.

Return of Saar Is Hailed by All

French - German Pact to Give Latter Valley Next Jan. 1

BONN, Germany (AP)—Conclusion of the French-German agreement to return the rich Saar Valley to Germany has been hailed by both governments and Saarlanders themselves as the first step toward real European union.

* * *

The agreement was hammered out Saturday after 12 hours hard bargaining between West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and French Premier Guy Mollet. It sets next Jan. 1 as target date for shifting back the 991-square-mile industrial basin taken by the French as war booty in 1945.

Kurt Conrad, Saar labor minister who sat in on the talks, said that final agreement brought realization of the Saarlanders' dream —reunion with the fatherland.

The agreement was expected to bolster Adenauer's sagging prestige in Germany on the eve of next year's national elections.

* * *

The agreement also spelled good news for the French. It called for converting the Moselle River into an international canal — provide French steelmakers with cheap barge transport for coal and coke from the German Ruhr and for finished products for export.

Plane Crashes at Celebration

4 Killed in A-Bomber at End of Historic Hop to London

LONDON (AP)—A huge delta-wing plane, one of Britain's secret atom bomb carriers, crashed and exploded in fog and rain at London Airport today before horrified dignitaries welcoming the plane home from New Zealand.

* * *

Hair-triggered ejector seats, touched off just before the four-jet Vulcan crashed, saved the lives of Air Chief Marshal Sir Harry Broadhurst and Squadron Leader D. R. Howard, captain of the plane.

Four bodies were recovered from the smoking, flaming wreckage which littered the airport's "Lucky No. 7" runway for 300 yards. Broadhurst and Howard received minor injuries in their fall of about 300 feet. Parachutes eased them to the ground.

Eyewitnesses and a spokesman for the builders of the Vulcan, the A. V. Roe Co., said the canopy mysteriously came off the plane as it swept in for a landing after its 26,000 - mile testing - proving flight to New Zealand and Australia. The nose sagged. Two loud "bangs" signaled the ejector seats sending out the only survivors. And then the big plane whomped down.

A group of Russians, at the airport to welcome Bolshoi Ballet arriving from Moscow in Soviet jetliners, saw the crash. Nearby was a welcoming delegation from the Royal Air Force, the British government and families of the crew members.

The occasion was scheduled to be a big one for the RAF and for British aviation, already plagued by the failure of the Comet jet airliners, serious delays in deliveries of fighters and by the setting back of service for the Britannia airliners.

Aged Couple Lost Overnight

Find Way to Cottage After Sun Comes Up, Big Search Ends

GRAYLING (INS)—Dr. Warren B. Cooksey, a member of the Detroit Board of Education and his wife, Susan, told an adventure story today of being lost in the woods near their cottage last night on the Au Sable River, 25 miles east of Grayling.

Some 25 State Policemen, sheriff's deputies and other seachers had scoured the woods for hours when, shortly after dawn, the couple found their way back unaided.

Cooksey, 60, and his wife, 58, set out for a short hike Sunday evening, leaving their daughter, Barbara, 17, at the cottage.

When they failed to show up later, Barbara informed police who quickly organized a search.

TELLS STORY

Cooksey said:

"We were lost. We wandered around until midnight, trying to find our way out of the forest. Then we decided we might as well wait until it got light."

Cooksey, an experienced woodsman, built a lean-to shelter of branches and leaves where they spent the night with their dog which had accompanied them. Rain fell during the night.

At dawn they began walking again and quickly found a road which led to their cottage four or five miles away. They walked back just in time to meet a large group of officers who were making plans to extend the search.

They suffered no ill effects except that they were tired and hungry.

Get Rich Quick With Answers for Pot-O-Gold

You say you can't get rich quick, and perhaps that's true most of the time, but here's your chance to do just that. A few minutes of your time spent on Pot-O-Gold can bring you as much as $1200. It can't get much quicker than that.

And if it turns out there's a winner to puzzle No. 17 and you don't quite get rich, that few minutes can bring in a little "pocket money," like about $125 for the winning entry from a Press subscriber. Surely it's worth the effort.

The puzzle consists of (1) a number of circles which contain a few scrambled letters, and (2) a corresponding list of clues to these words printed below. The object is to arrange each group of circled letters into a word that best fits its clue. The word which you select for Circle No. 1, then would be the one which you would print in the space to the right of (1) below

You'll notice that some circles contain $ signs in pots of gold. You may use such a symbol as any letter you wish. However, it and all letters in that circle must be used. The $ sign, of course, can represent ANY letter in the word.

Do the same in all the other circles. Study the clues carefully and arrange all the letters into words that you believe best conforms to these clues. Use your $ signs to help you spell out the right words.

OFFICIAL CONTEST RULES

1. Anyone is eligible to enter the POT-O-GOLD contest with the exception of Pontiac Press employes or their immediate families.

2. A contestant may submit as many entries as he or she wishes but they must be on official entry blanks printed in this newspaper.

3. To submit an entry the contestant must print his answer words in the proper spaces, cut out the area enclosed by dotted lines and attach it securely to a 2-cent postcard. No entries will be accepted if they are in envelopes. Entries for Puzzle No. 18 must bear a Tuesday, Oct. 9, postmark (or before). No entries received after that time, whether mailed or delivered by hand, will be declared eligible. The Press is not responsible for entries lost or delayed in the mail.

4. Sorry, telephone calls or mail concerning details of the contest cannot be answered or acknowledged.

5. The Pontiac Press will award a cash prize of $100 a week to the winner of each weekly POT-O-GOLD contest. If more than one winning answer is received the prize will be divided equally among the winners. If any week or weeks should pass without any winners, the prize will be added weekly until a winning solution is submitted.

6. Winners will be awarded an extra cash bonus of $25 each if they are Pontiac Press subscribers of record on the day winners are announced. Only one such bonus can be awarded to each prize-winner, no matter how many weekly prizes may accumulate.

7. Each week's puzzle will be published Monday, Wednesday and Friday until the contest's end. Either or all will be considered as official entry blanks.

8. Winners and correct solutions will be announced each Friday of the week following individual contests. Official keeper of answers will be Frederick C. Ziem, prosecutor for Oakland County. Only the General Features Corp., originators of the puzzles, will know the solutions until after each contest is over. Answers will be delivered to the Press judges by Mr. Ziem after the final deadline.

9. There is only one correct solution to the POT-O-GOLD puzzle, and only that correct answer can win. The decision of the judges is final and all contestants agree to abide by the judges' decision. All entries become the property of The Pontiac Press and none can be returned.

10. Completed puzzles must be addressed to POT-O-GOLD, POST OFFICE BOX 58, Pontiac, Michigan. Winners will be notified either by telephone or in the mails.

ACROSS THE PACIFIC—1

Luana the Hawaiian Girl

First stop on a voyage across the Pacific is Hawaii.

Here is Luana, a little girl who lives there. She is learning to do the famous dance of her people, the hula.

To get her ready for the dance, make a small grass skirt, like the one shown, by using raffia or colored strings, or strips of crepe paper. Use a piece of red tape or ribbon for a belt. Double each strip of skirt material into a loop behind the belt, as shown in the small diagram above. Bring the ends A and B over the belt and through the loop C, as in lower sketch.

When you have completed the skirt tie it on Luana by slipping one end of the belt through a small hole at her waistline and tie it behind her. If you want to make a similar skirt for yourself, you can use strips of doubled newspaper or wrapping paper on a belt of strong tape.

Tomorrow you will learn how to make bracelets, anklets, and a lei, pronounced lay-ee, which is the Hawaiian word for the garlands of flowers they wear.

Color this picture with your crayons and paste it down on cardboard. Cut it out around the heavy outline, and fold back the end panels at the dotted line so Luana will stand.

(This idea was first submitted by Shellamae Fox, Honolulu, Hawaii, T. H. Junior Editors awards $10 for a usable idea, so send in your suggestions care of this newspaper. Violet Moore Higgins; AP Newsfeatures.)

Tomorrow: A Lei for Luana

Hollywood Headlines

Judy Garland Overjoyed by Her Opening at Palace

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Great to hear Judy Garland's voice over the telephone. She was still bubbling over her opening night at the Palace Theater in New York.

She says she's had an offer to make a picture for J. Arthur Rank, and what she would like to do is a story Sid Luft owns called "A Babe in the Woods."

The title may have to be changed since "Babes in the Woods" was a successful musical comedy a few years ago and the two stories bear no relation.

I also talked with Liza Minnelli, Judy's 10-year-old daughter who is going to school in New York. Judy told me that she has rented Miriam Hopkins' home there and that Lorna and little Joe are with her.

Ever since Howard Keel had gusty role in "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers," Dore Schary has been looking for another role for Howard with similar appeal.

So Dore has bought "Sheepman," by James E. Grant, in which Keel will do lots of singing but at the same time will have a role with plenty of he-man strength.

Grant wrote "Boom Town" for Clark Gable and Spencer Tracy and it was one of the all-time money-makers.

Howard has not been at MGM for some time. He was at the London Palladium, then toured England and Scotland and returned to Las Vegas for an engagement.

FINE PORTRAYAL

No matter how you wish Elizabeth Taylor would grow up romantically, she is sure to get an academy award nomination for best actress for her fine portrayal in "Giant."

If I hadn't seen Liz with my own two eyes, I would never have believed she could have played the heroine from bride to grandmother with such understanding.

I can pay no greater tribute to George Stevens' art than to say, although the picture is long (over three hours), you are hardly conscious of the time. It is another "Gone With the Wind," one of the all-time great motion pictures.

I know why Rock Hudson told me he thought this was his best picture. He is excellent.

I had a real tug at my heart when I saw James Dean, but you completely forget he is James Dean in the role of the unhappy Jet Rink. Jane Withers' comedy is as great as ever, and Carroll Baker is a newcomer to watch.

DATE WITH STORK

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Youthful Peggy Ann Garner, who is Mrs. Al Salmus, has a date with the stork — her first baby.

So many things Friday night—the George and Arthur Cameron cocktail party, which brought out socialites and theatrical people.

Many of the guests went on to the Mocambo. Walter Winchell flew in to see his protege, Roberta Sherwood, of whom he can well be proud. In his party were his daughter Walda, Joe DiMaggio and the Mike St. Angels. In a ringside seat Rocky Marciano attracted attention.

Among those who applauded Roberta were Frankie and Nan Laine, Jackie Barnett, Jimmy Durante and Marge Little, Kim Novak with her mother and Mack Krim, Jack Entratter, Jimmy McHugh and the Mervyn LeRoys.

Ciro's got its share of patronage for Cab Calloway and the Cotton Club show, which brings back memories to many people.

Also on Friday night was the Deb Ball, given by the Hollywood makeup artists and hair stylists. The Paladium was crowded to the rafters for this event.

The Ray Millands, happier than they have ever been, celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary Saturday with their families and a few close friends.

Canal Crisis Inspires New Name for Hashish

CAIRO (AP) — Egyptian addicts have had a number of code names for hashish, a narcotic forbidden here. They have called it "Roosevelt" and "Churchill" in past years.

For a long time they asked the illicit dealers for "Marilyn Monroe." The Suez Canal crisis, according to police, has inspired a new name for hashish in underworld circles: "Users' Association."

Dulles, Iceland's Minister Meet

Talks May Determine If U.S. Will Pull Out All Military Forces

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles begins today a round of talks which may largely determine whether the United States will have to pull all its military forces out of Iceland.

Iceland's Foreign Minister, Emil Jonsson, arrived yesterday with words which indicated the possibility of a compromise between his government's demands for withdrawal of U.S. troops and America's efforts to keep them there as a link in the North Atlantic defense system.

* * *

Dulles and Jonsson arranged to meet this afternoon for the first Cabinet level talks on the problem which has worried American officials and North Atlantic Alliance military leaders since last March.

The demand for ouster of the troops was supported by Communists in Iceland. Although Icelanders generally would like to have their island to themselves again, the U.S. view is that only the Reds will gain in the long run if the big military base at Keflavik must be given up.

* * *

The problem is one of three major issues with which Dulles is concerned this week. The other two:

1. Restoration of United States-British-French cooperation in dealing with the Suez Canal issue as it moves into United Nations debate. Dulles is to confer with British Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd, who is coming to the United States in advance of the first U.N. meeting on Suez Friday.

2. Development of tentative conclusions on what Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito is up to in his conference with the Russians and, consequently, what President Eisenhower should do about continuing aid to Communist Yugoslavia. Congress has ordered the aid program halted unless Eisenhower determines by Oct. 16 that it should be continued.

Press Costs Depend Which End You're On

PARIS (AP) — A U. N. Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization study of international rates for news messages shows the press rate from Spain to New York is 13.3 cents, while from New York to Spain it is only 6.5.

A press message from Britain to Hong Kong costs 1.2 cents per word, while the same message transmitted from Paris to Hong Kong costs 11.5 cents a word.

UM Appoints Director of Industrial Health

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Dr. Seward E. Miller has been appointed director of the University of Michigan's Institute of Industrial Health by the University's Board of Regents.

He succeeds Dr. O. T. Mallery who resigned to return to clinical activities. Miller has been associated with the U. S. Public Health Service. He is a graduate of both the university and its medical school.

Happy Days in Flatbush as Brooks Win NL Flag

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A year older, a lot wearier, but still with the knack of winning the big ones, the Brooklyn Dodgers are champions of the National League today.

* * *

It took them right up until the last day to prove it, though. Until two days ago before the wind-up, they had been counted out.

Last Friday, they were a game behind the Milwaukee Braves. Each had three to go. The Brooks no longer were masters of their own destiny. They needed help from the St. Louis Cardinals, who were playing Milwaukee in the final three-game set.

* * *

They also had to win their last three against Pittsburgh. The Cards came through, winning two out of three from the Braves. That was all the Brooks needed. They clubbed the Pirates three times, including yesterday's 8-6 conquest, for a one-game advantage at the end.

So these are happy days in Flatbush, although reports say the fans aren't as excited as they were a year ago.

Pittsburgh Manager Bobby Bragan made, perhaps, the most illuminating comment on the Dodger victory.

"Brooklyn won it the hard way," he said. "They deserved to win. Milwaukee had it and gave it up. They didn't deserve the pennant."

The Braves, who finally licked the Cardinals, 4-2, when it was too late knew it, too. There will be no cries of "foul" this time.

The pressure actually was off the Dodgers yesterday because they could do no worse than tie if they lost and Milwaukee won. But the victory didn't come easy. Ace pitcher Don Newcombe couldn't protect a five-run lead and had to be taken out in the eighth inning.

But little Don Bessent saved the game. The Brooks hit five home runs—two each by Duke Snider and Sandy Amoros and one by Jackie Robinson — and needed them all. Snider's second was his 43rd of the season and set a record for Dodger players.

All the home runs except Amoros' second propelled the Brooks into a 7-2 lead going into the seventh. Then Newcombe loaded the bases and Bill Virdon cleared them with a double. In the next inning, Lee Walls clubbed a home run into the left field stands to pull the Pirates within one run and that was all for Newcombe.

The Pirates didn't get any further.

* * *

Lew Burdette and Ray Crone pitched the Braves to victory over the Cardinals. But halfway through the game, the Brooklyn score was posted and that took all the meaning out of it. Eddie Mathews hit a home run for the Braves, and Hank Aaron got his 200th hit of the season.

Other noteworthy developments of the final day of the season:

1. Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees became the first player since Ted Williams turned the trick in 1947 to win the coveted triple crown—batting, runs-batted-in and home runs.

2. Robin Roberts failed in his quest for his seventh consecutive 20-game winning season.

3. Red Schoendienst of the New York Giants got the 2,000th hit of his career.

4. The Washington Senators set a record in reverse, finishing the season with 877 strikeouts, breaking a 42-year-old mark.

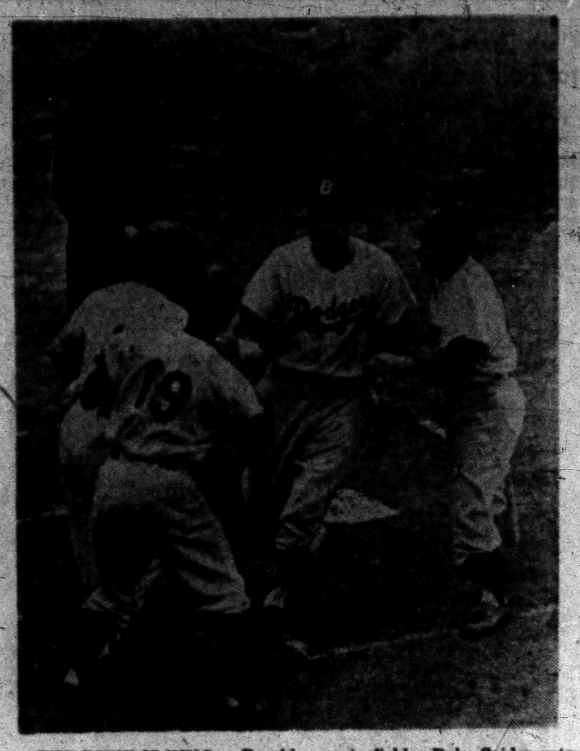

* * *

Mantle batted only once in the Yanks' 10-inning, 7-4 loss to the Boston Red Sox, but he knocked in a run. That gave him a batting average of .353, 130 runs batted in and 52 homers.

The Giants licked Roberts, taking the first game of a doubleheader from Philadelphia, 8-3. The Phillies won the nightcap, 5-2, and in that one Schoendienst collected hit No. 2,000.

Baltimore won a doubleheader from the Senators 4-2 and 6-3. Thirteen Nats fanned in the second game to bring their season total to 877. The previous mark was 863 set by the St. Louis Browns.

In other games, the Cincinnati Redlegs, who finished two games off the NL pace, turned back the Chicago Cubs, 4-2, while in the American League, the Detroit Tigers stopped the Cleveland Indians, 8-4, and the Kansas City A's whipped the Chicago White Sox, 7-6.

THE DUKE IS KING — Brooklyn centerfielder Duke Snider gets a royal welcome at home plate after hitting a three-run homer against the Pittsburgh Pirates at Ebbets Field where the Dodgers clinched the National League Pennant yesterday. Snider won the NL home run title with 43.

Tiger Sale Official

The Detroit franchise which had its origin long before the turn of the century, entered the American League in 1901.

Owner and president of the Detroit club at that time was James D. Burns, a Detroit hotel man and Sheriff of Wayne County, who had a partner in the venture, George T. Stallings, the team manager.

★ ★ ★

The two had a disagreement and following the 1901 season American League president Ban Johnson forded the sale of the entire stock to Samuel F. Angus, a Detroit insurance man.

Frank J. Navin came into the picture as an employe of Angus, and later took over the ownership of the club in 1907.

Throughout his years as head of the Tigers, Navin was totally wrapped up in the Tigers and he became one of the most influential men in the game.

For Navin the club was actually something of a civic enterprise. He was the city's name to hold a top spot in Major League baseball.

Because his interests were move civic than they were profiting, Navin's capital began to dwindle and in 1920 William C. Yawkey's share of the club was bought by Walter O. Briggs Sr. and John Kelsey. Each bought 25 per cent while Navin retained 50 per cent.

Briggs got an equal partnership in the club when Kelsey died in 1927, and upon Navin's death in 1935, Brigg's became the sole owner as he bought up the rest of the stock.

★ ★ ★

Briggs was wealthy and therefore never worried over the profits and losses. The gate did not dictate his salary scales.

Under Briggs' direction, the Tigers finished in the 1st division 1 n11 of 16 seasons and were never below 5th place. Detroit won the pennant in 1940 and 1945.

When Briggs died at 74 in Miami, Jan. 17, 1952, the stock of the Detroit Baseball Company was in hands of his heirs through the Briggs Commercial and Development Company.

★ ★ ★

Spike Briggs, Jr., has guided the team as its president since 1952 and when his offer to purchase the club from his sisters failed the stock was sold to the Knorr syndicate.

Under the new ownership, Knorr is the president with John Fetzer, a radio mogul from Kalamazoo as chairman of the board.

Besides Knorr and Fetzer the syndicate is made up of Harvey R. Hansen of Bloomfield Hills, William McCoy of Detroit, Carl E. Lee of Kalamazoo, Paul A. O'Bryan of Washington, D.C., Joseph A. Thomas and Robert Woolworth of New York City, Kenyon Brown of Wichita Falls, Tex., George L. Coleman of Miami, Okla. and Bing Crosby the Hollywood star.

U.S. Clinches Inter-Zone Title

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.S. Davis Cup Committee could begin checking plane schedules for Australia today—but it faced an old headache.

What about the players' wives?

It's understood that Hamilton Richardson, who may be America's top player at the moment, won't make the trip without his bride of two months.

If Richardson's wife goes, Vic Seixas' wife is certain to demand that she be allowed to go along, too.

So the American tennis brass finds itself in a familiar and uncomfortable fix.

Richardson and Seixas clinched the inter-zone title for the United States yesterday by beating the Italian doubles team of Nicola Pietrangeli and Orlando Sirola, 1-6, 6-3, 6-4, 6-2. They previously had won the two opening singles.

Crusaders Win 2nd Pee-Wee Decision

In Saturday's remaining Pee-Wee contest, Bagley and the Rams battled to a 13-13 draw, the 2nd tie of the season.

Eaglet Ground, Air Power Turn Back St. James 11

Orchard Lake St. Mary's defending Suburban Catholic League football champions struck three times on the ground and twice through the air to wallop Ferndale St. James, 33-6, at Ferndale Sunday.

Quarterback Larry Charkowski heaved two touchdown aerials and Paul Franckowiak rammed across from the one-yard line to give the Eaglets a 19-6 lead at halftime.

Franckowiak's one-yard plunge opened the scoring in the 1st quarter. Charkowski hit Pete Madelans with a 60-yard pass and John Daniel grabbed a 10-yarder from the Eaglet quarterback both in the 2nd quarter.

A 10-yard sprint by Chet Wajda in the 3rd period and Terry Raymond's four-yard run in the 4th stanza completed the Eaglets' scoring. St. James tallied its lone TD in the 2nd quarter on a 60-yard dash by Bill Tunnicliff.

In other SCL games yesterday, St. Benedict of Highland Park whipped Royal Oak St. Mary, 28-7, and Hazel Park St. Rita defeated St. Clement of Center Line, 19-7. Shrine was beaten by Lourdes, 19-12.

Mantle Moves to Three-Way Hitting Title

NEW YORK (AP)—Mickey Mantle, the Oklahoma Kid who didn't quite reach Babe Ruth's home run record, has moved into an exclusive hitting group by leading the majors in batting, homers and runs batted in for one season. Only Rogers Hornsby, Lou Gehrig and Ted Williams ever had done it before.

* * *

It was Williams, with two previous batting titles for Boston, who Mantle beat for the 1956 American League crown. The 24-year-old New York Yankee centerfielder finished at .353 compared with .345 for Williams, who made the necessary 400 at-bats right on the head.

* * *

Mantle, the first switch-hitter ever to win a major league batting championship, also tagged 52 home runs—eight short of Ruth's 1927 record—and drove in 130 runs while posting the league's highest batting average since 1950, when Boston's Billy Goodman hit .354.

Jockey Sam Boulmetis rode 81 victories during the 50-day 1955 Monmouth Park meeting.

Busso, Salem Clash in St. Nick's Show

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A couple of promising lightweights, 21-year-old Johnny Busso of New York, and 23-year-old Tommy Salem of Cleveland, clash tonight in what figures to be a close and spirited 10-rounder at New York's St. Nicholas Arena.

* * *

Conqueror of veteran Orlando Zulueta and free-swinging Johnny Digilio in his last two starts, Busso had accumulated a 27-3-1 record, including 13 kayos. The East Sider has developed a strong following.

* * *

Salem impressed in his first appearance in New York July 30 although he dropped a split, 10-round decision to undefeated Carlos Ortiz. Tommy's record is 22-6-1 with 4 kayos.

Beats Tribe in Relief

Hoeft Gets 20th Win

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers of 1956 won more baseball games than any Tiger outfit since 1950, when Detroit won 95 and finished 2nd in the American League.

The 1956 Tigers finished 5th and won 82, despite:

1. Having two 20-game winners on their pitching staff, one of them the league's winningest.

2. Having three of the league's 10 top batters; another regular hitting over .300, and a catcher with a .295 average.

3. Having the runnerup for the runs-batted-in title.

4. Having a slugger who finished 5th in the home run race.

5. Leading the league in team batting and finishing 5th in fielding.

6. Having an outfielder with the best throwing arm in baseball.

The Tigers got their 82nd victory, against 72 setbacks, and their 2nd 20-game winner at Cleveland yesterday as they wound up the season with an 8-4 decision over the Indians.

Billy Hoeft, who came on in the 4th and gave up all of Cleveland's runs over his four-innig stint, got credit for the win and ended up with a 20-14 record.

Detroit's other 20-game winner was Frank Lary, who posted a 21-13 record and won more games than any other American leaguer. The last time Detroit had two 20 game winners was in 1944, when Hal Newhouser won 29 and Paul Trout, 27. They hadn't had a single 20 game winner since Newhouser got 21 in 1948.

* * *

In their season-ending triumph they beat one of the winningest pitchers in baseball history, Bob Feller, who likely was making his last start for Cleveland. Feller had won 266 and lost 162 since joining the Indians 18 years ago as a 19-year-old.

Bucky Harris, managing his last game for Detroit, worked his pitchers on a pre-arranged schedule. He started the veteran Ned Garver, sidelined by arm trouble since July 26, brought Hoeft on in the 4th and called in Paul Foytack to pitch the 8th and 9th. Garver gave up two hits, Hoeft 5 and Foytack 3.

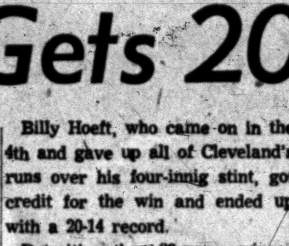

Meanwhile, Tiger batsmen were raking Feller, whose blazing fast ball is no more, for 14 hits, including a home run by Wayne Belardi and a triple by Al Kaline that drove in two runs.

Busiest 2 Weeks Ahead of Titans

Fromhart Says Much Improvement Needed After Sunday Loss

DETROIT (AP) — The Titans of Detroit are idle until Oct. 13 but coach Wally Fromhart promises his squad the busiest two weeks of the football season.

"We have a lot of work to do," said Fromhart after his club's 8-7 loss to Villanova yesterday. "It seems like one part of our game needs sharpening as much as the other."

Outplayed in every key department, Titans never got started as the Wildcats from the Philadelphia school raced to their 1st victory in four years in the series dating back to 1931.

The Titan passing game—expected to be the key to victory over a club that opened a week ago with a 19-0 loss to Texas A & M—was jolted rudely by the heavier and hard-charging Villanova line.

As it turned out, Detroit completed only two of 10 heaves and gained only 23 yards passing. The Titan running game, which had to go without injured halfback Billy Russell, picked up only 77 yards.

GOING NO WHERE — Fullback John Herrnstein (36), University of Michigan's sparkling sophomore, makes a flying tackle on halfback Doug Bradley (12) of UCLA, in their game Saturday at Ann Arbor. The Pacific Coast school showed little match for the Wolverines, who waltzed to a 42-13 victory in their season opener. Herrnstein scored two TD's in the game.

Hapless Uclans Clobbered, 42-13

Hardly a Sweat in Wolverine Win

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

ANN ARBOR — If any member of the University of Michigan football team even showed signs of perspiration Saturday afternoon, it might have been from the high 70-degree temperatures and not from any workout UCLA could provide.

In pasting the Pacific Coast school 42-13, the Wolverines had to exert themselves more running on and off the field than from the line of scrimmage.

The Uclans, hit by a list of ineligibilities as ruled by the Pacific Coast Conference because of accepting financial aid, were supposed to be a strong opening day test for Michigan. Instead the game was hardly a warmup for the Wolverines in preparation for this week's big clash with Michigan State.

The game did enable Coach Benny Oosterbaan to clean the bench as even 4th stringers got into the scoring act.

A pair of untested sophomores, Bob Ptacek and John Herrnstein, made their debuts in sparkling fashion as the Wolverines hit pay dirt four times in the first half.

Herrnstein, a powerful 212-pound fullback, scored twice, with Ptacek passing to Van Pelt for another and Ed Shannon going over from the three to make up the four first half TD's.

In the second half, the highlight scoring play was a 70-yard pass play from Jim Maddock to Ron Kramer just after UCLA recovered a fumble on the Michigan one-yard line from where fullback Barry Billington cracked over.

* * *

It was 35-7 after six minutes of the third period and from here on the substitutes entered the game in countless numbers.

Halfback Jimmy Pace, forced into an understudy role to Ptacek, and right half Terry Barr powered the "M" running attack as Jim Dickey went over from the three after a 43-yard march in the 4th stanza. Kramer and Maddock each converted three placements for Michigan.

UCLA coach Red Sanders refused to play six seniors because of the Pacific Conference rules which stipulate they can play in only five consecutive games.

Sanders thus decided to hold out the seniors until next week for the opening of league competition against Oregon.

Pin Stars Mark Opening

Formal opening of the new installation of automatic pin-spotting machines at the Huron Bowl was marked Saturday by the appearance of two of the country's leading bowlers. Dick Hoover and Marion Ladewig, both national champions rolled against Les Rothbarth and Genevieve Bradley in exhibition matches.

First installation of this particular machine in the Midwest brought some 200 BPA members from Michigan, Indiana and Ohio to Pontiac. Prominent figures in the metropolitan area were also present.

Guests included Lillian Jacobs, Pete Carter, Joe Paulus, Marc Baldwin (MC), all of Detroit, and Peg Bender, Pontiac Women's Bowling Association official.

Results of exhibition matches:

Ladewig def. Bradley 206-246-194—646 to 173-202-156—535; Rothbarth def. Hoover, 195-190-223—608 to 202-203-185—594. Bradley, Hoover def. Ladewig, Rothbarth 577-714—1291 to 543-539—1121.

26-Point Spree in 2nd Quarter

Mikes Roll in High Gear to Rout Rams

By BILL CORNWELL

St. Michael's offensive might, which sputtered through two previous games, exploded with suddeny fury Sunday afternoon at Wisner Stadium as the Shamrocks routed St. Frederick, 32-7.

Shackled for one quarter yesterday, the Mikes broke loose with a 26-point spree in the 2nd period to settle the argument early. They scored on the 1st play of the stanza, chalked up another touchdown on the last play of the half, and between times punched across two more.

It was St. Mike's 7th consecutive victory over St. Fred in the 32nd renewal of their cross-town rivalry. The triumph was an important one in the Suburban Catholic League and sets the stage for this Sunday's crucial battle at Orchard Lake St. Mary.

Victory also enabled the Mikes to carve a 2nd notch on the Steve Griffin Memorial Trophy. Three wins are required to retire the traveling award.

About the only consolation St. Fred received was a touchdown in the 4th quarter, the Rams' 1st venture into pay-dirt this season.

Halfback Dan Dropps personally accounted for three touchdowns and quarterback Bob Mineweaser scored the other two.

Mineweaser started the Shamrocks' touchdown parade in the 2nd quarter with a sneak from the one-yard line. Dick Plourde's recovery of a fumble on the St. Fred 25 set up the scoring drive.

Before the cheering crowd barely got itself settled, Dropps burst through tackle and rambled 46 yards for a touchdown. Dropps passed to halfback Chuck Brown for the extra point.

St. Mike's next touchdown march ate up 56 yards in four plays with Dropps passing to Mineweaser for the final 20. Dropps converted from placement. On the last play of the 1st half, Dropps gathered in Mineweaser's aerial and galloped 37 yards to score.

The Mikes tallied their final touchdown late in the 3rd period. End Ron Call returned a wind-blown St. Fred punt to the Ram 19. After one play lost a yard, Dropps swept 20 yards around right end for the six-pointer.

Quarterback Tom Derocher's 38-yard broken-field run and a penalty against the Shamrocks, which put the ball on the St. Mike one-yard line, set up the Rams' TD in the 4th quarter. Derocher sneaked over for the score and placekicked the extra point.

Maglie to Face Ford in Opener

BROOKLYN (AP) — Sal (the barber) Maglie, Brooklyn's bearded cinderella man, and Whitey Ford, New York's brilliant southpaw ace, were regarded today as almost certain starters for the opening game of the 1956 world series as the champion Dodgers and Yankees renew their fall rivalry at Ebbets Field Wednesday.

The Yankees also were a 6 to 5 choice to knock off the Dodgers in the opener in the Brooks' own back yard.

A sellout for the game was virtually assured with the balance of the 34,000 tickets gobbled up only a couple of hours after they were put on sale. Millions more were expected to watch and listen to the games, which will be telecast and broadcast nationally over NBC. Game time will be 12 p.m. (EST).

Lions Outlast Packers, 20-16

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Wisecrackers often have suggested that Detroit's National Football League entry should be known as the "Laynes," not Lions.

Even coach Bully Parker said before the season opened that "If Layne is O.K., we'll be O.K."

And quarterback Bobby Layne seldom was more O.K. as a performer or more of a Detroit showpiece than against the Green Bay Packers in a NFL season-opener yesterday. Injured in the first period, Layne came off the bench in the third and engineered a 20-16 Detroit victory.

The 29-year-old Layne, in his ninth NFL season, booted a 12-yard field goal and scored the deciding touchdown in the final period. He also kicked two conversions.

* * *

The score was almost the exact reverse of Green Bay's 20-17 triumph in the 1955 opener, and this year's Packers are rated considerably stronger than those of last year. So are the Lions, who finished in the Western Division cellar with a 3-9 record in 1955.

Detroit led all the way yesterday, big Jim Martin booting a 48-yard field goal to give them a 3-0 lead in the first period.

Rookie Don McIlhenny from Southern Methodist made his pro debut a scoring as well as impressive one. He blasted a yard for a Detroit second-period touchdown.

Green Bay's three first-half points came off the toe of Fred Cone, who kicked a field goal from the 45.

* * *

The Packers chopped Detroit's lead to 10-9 in the third period as Tobin Rote capped a long drive with a five-yard pass to end Gary Knafelc. Cone's try for the extra point hit the goal post and was no good.

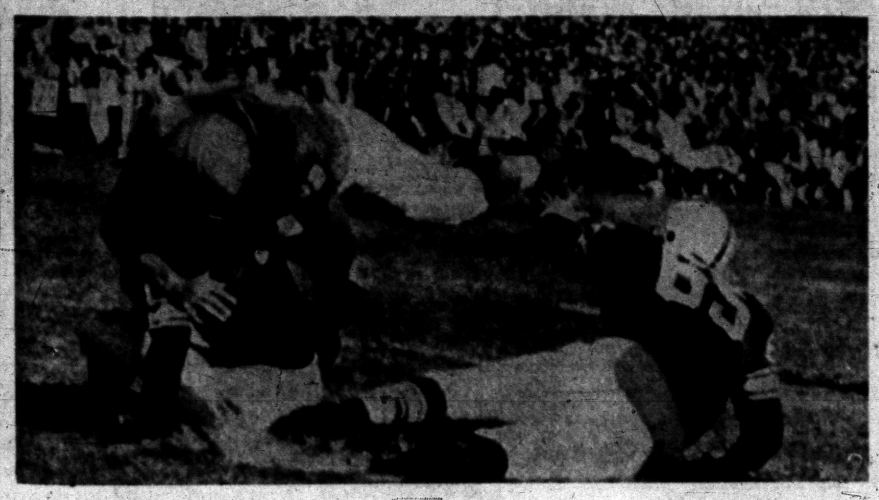

It was shortly thereafter that Layne took charge of the game, engineering a 92-yard drive which he climaxed with a 12-yard field goal. Moments later, after a Packer punt, Layne hit end Dave Middleton with a 33-yard pass that carried to within a foot of the Packers' goal. Layne sneaked over and made it 20-9 for the Lions with his conversion.

Green Bay fought back, but Layne had proved too much. Rote capped an 80-yard drive that included a 42-yard pass to Billy Howton with an 8-yard touchdown aerial to Howton. Cone's conversion was good this time.

LION STOPPED — Detroit's Leon Hart (82) gets to the Green Bay one yard line but is jolted by a pair of Packers. Chandnois Shines in Steeler's Win

The Associated Press

The Cleveland Browns are in trouble; the Chicago Bears may be a disappointment, and the traditional powerhouses can forget about the usual patsies.

These are the indications after the first weekend of action in the National Football League.

* * *

Cleveland, defending league champion, was upended Sunday by the Chicago Cardinals, fourth-place Eastern Conference finisher last season, 9-7 on three field goals by Pat Summerall. The Bears, off a successful 5-1 exhibition season and tabbed by many to go all the way this year, bowed to the Baltimore Colts 28-21 under the pin-point passing of sophomore quarterback George Shaw.

* * *

In other action, the New York Giants, with Mel Triplett scoring three times, led all the way to beat the San Francisco 49ers 38-21. The resurgent Detroit Lions downed the Green Bay Packers 20-16. The Los Angeles Rams romped over the Philadelphia Eagles 27-7, and Lynn Chandnois, with three touchdowns and a 91-yard kickoff return, led the Pittsburgh Steelers to a 30-13 victory over the Washington Redskins.

* * *

The Browns, always a good defensive club, prevented the Cardinals from scoring a touchdown but could not stop Summerall's accurate toe as he booted 3-pointers from 12, 16 and 9 yards out. Paul Brown's charges, who scored an average of 29.8 points a game last year under the quarterbacking of the retired Otto Graham, managed only one score, a 48-yard touchdown pass play from George Ratterman to halfback Ray Renfro.

Shaw, completing 12 straight passes, two for touchdowns, proved too much for the Bears. He completed 19 in 25 attempts for 253 yards. The other two Colt touchdowns, set up by Shaw passes, were the result of two 1-foot plunges by Alan "The Horse" Ameche, bruising fullback.

The Giants jumped to a 24-0 lead, and the 49ers never recovered. A 44-yard Don Heinrich-to-Alex Webster scoring pass play, a 59-yard paydirt scramble by Frank Gifford, a 17-yard field goal by Gifford and a 35-yard Heinrich pass for Triplett's first touchdown, all in the first half, were enough for the victory.

* * *

Chandnois, out with injuries the entire exhibition season, appeared more than fully recovered as he scored on 2 and 5 yard runs and a 17-yard pass from Ted Marchibroda.

British Drop Wardrop From Olympic Squad

LONDON (AP) — Jack Wardrop, American-trained holder of three world swimming records, was taken off the British team for the Melbourne Olympics last night.

Wardrop refused to swim for Britain in a weekend match against Hungary, saying he was not yet fit for international competition.

So the Olympic selectors announced he was eliminated from the Olympic list.

Wardrop returned this month from the United States. He went there four years ago with his twin brother, Bert, another ace swimmer, to study at the University of Michigan. He reportedly intends to seek American citizenship.

Dodgers Show Quiet Brand of Confidence

BROOKLYN (AP) — "Maglie can beat 'em, but we're gonna have to stop that Mantle and Berra."

That's the way Brooklyn's Dodgers, stamping themselves forever as the "Old Pros", looked ahead to the New York Yankees and the World Series today after their fantastic finish in the National League pennant race.

* * *

There wasn't any rah-rah stuff about making quick work of the American League champs. Nor was their any reference to last year's series, in which the Brooks won the world championship in seven games.

In fact, it was a pretty quiet brand of confidence, if that's what it was, the Dodgers showed today.

Costly Europium Is Radioactive Cancer Weapon

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Europium, a substance derived from a rare earth, is being developed as a radioactive weapon against cancer.

The substance is sealed into a brass capsule and made radioactive by baking in an atomic oven, according to Dr. Paul M. St. Aubin of Harvard Medical School.

The capsules are allowed to cool for several months to allow the brass to lose its radioactivity, he said, but the Europium retains its radiation qualities up to 11 years.

Dr. St. Aubin said the new capsules are being used in Little Rock, Ark., on cases of cancer of the nasal sinuses, and will soon be in use at Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston.

The capsules emit intense Xrays, said Dr. St. Aubin, but the $20,000-a-milligram cost of Europium makes their use almost prohibitive.

Inexpensive Rocket Zooms in Test Runs

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new cheap and lightweight rocket has reached an altitude of 80 miles and a speed of 3,800 miles an hour in its first test off Wallops Island, Va.

Dr. S. Fred Singer of the University of Maryland, administering the project for the Defense Department, said its chief value is simplicity of launching and its cost of around $2,000 about a tenth that of comparable rockets now in use.

The rocket was built by the guided missiles division of Republic Aviation Corp., Mineola, Long Island, N. Y.

Market Shows General Decline

NEW YORK (AP) — Losses by tobacco and aluminum stocks deepened early this afternoon as the stock market declined generally.

* * *

Key stocks dipped from fractions to around 4 points but trading volume was below average.

The market opened on an irrgular note in fairly active turnover then slowly showed more of a trend to the downside. The tobaccos and aluminums were the weakest groups from the start. As they continued to lose ground most major divisions followed suit gradually.

* * *

The fall in tobacco stocks was a continuation of Friday's performance when they lost ground despite encouraging reports of greater cigarette and cigar consumption. A news item Friday predicting that the final survey of the American Cancer Society would definitely link cigarettes with lung cancer depressed the stocks.

The aluminums also continued their downtrend of last week when their fall was accompanied by news of a big reduction of primary aluminum output during August because of strikes.

* * *

Other losers around the 1-point zone included American Telephone, Goodyear, General Motors, Boeing, United Aircraft and Johns-Manville.

Du Pont took a 2-point loss, Allied Chemical and Union Carbide more than a point, Chrysler and Ford eased slightly. Zenith erased a 2-point gain.

* * *

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was down $1.30 to $173.40, with the industrials down $2.40, the rails down 80 cents and the utilities down 10 cents.

Woman Found After Search

Discovered Missing at Daughter's Home in West Bloomfield

A missing 67-year-old West Bloomfield Township woman turned up at a home one-half mile away from her residence this morning after a two-hour search of the area by local police authorities.

Mrs. Jessie McIntyre, of 6474 Greer Rd., was found to be suffering from exposure and taken to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital from where she was released after examination and treatment.

Mrs. McIntyre, who lives with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frank McIntyre, was discovered missing at 4:30 a.m. by a grandchild.

This touched off a search by members of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, Pontiac State Police, Wolverine Lake and Walled Lake police.

She was found after Mrs. Lloyd Winston of 2028 Henbert Lane stopped a patroling Sheriff's car saying she had an elderly woman at her home.

* * *

"We don't know what she was doing up until the time she rang the Winston's doorbell at 6:30. She must have gone for a walk and got confused. It gets awfully dark out here," said Mrs. McIntyre's daughter after the incident was all over.

The population has increased so rapidly in America that there are now about seven times as many Americans as there were a century ago.

Police Chase Ends in Crash on Front Porch

VENICE, Calif. (AP)—Mrs. Susan Rowe has lived through five wars in her 104 years but nothing—"no, nothing"—like this ever happened to her:

* * *

A speeding automobile, pursued by police, crashed through the porch of her home shortly after midnight.

"I had just dozed off when it happened," she said. "It nearly knocked me out of bed. When the officers came, I thought they were going to arrest me, but I guess they took in the young fellah instead."

* * *

Gerald A. Mapes, 25, was booked on suspicion of drunk driving. Officers said he had just been released after serving a year for forgery.

Negro Asks Support for Eisenhower

DETROIT (INS) — E. Frederick Morrow, the nation's first Negro presidential aide, made a plea for Negro support for President Eisenhower last night in Detroit, on the basis of Ike's civil rights policies.

Morrow spoke at St. John's Presbyterian church.

He told the audience that "other presidents have given greater lip service to the Negro's struggle for status in this country, but none has used his high office to greater advantage than the President to actually advance the cause."

The freshmen told Detterman they might send him bus fare home.

Radar Guarding Wild Seacoast

Replaces Nags Head Century-Old Lifeboat Station on Atlantic

WASHINGTON — Nags Head, North Carolina, proud of a long history of guarding a wild seacoast, is turning to meet a new era. Its century-old lifeboat station is giving way to a radar listening post.

The Outer Banks where Nags Head is enclosed between towering dunes and the sea—50 miles north of the Cape Hatteras "graveyard of ships"—can call a grim roll of sea disasters. But with the advent of better ships and warning devices only the older generations of "Bankers," as the inhabitants are called, remember the loaded surfboats lunging shoreward with storm or reef-wrecked victims, says the National Geographic Society.

Nags Head sea lore is especially darkened by several tragedies. On one hangs the mystery: what became of Theodosia Burr Alston, the beautiful daughter of Aaron Burr?

Theodosia, wife of the governor of South Carolina, sailed aboard the small pilot boat "Patriot" from Georgetown, S. C., on December 30, 1812, to visit her father in New York. No one aboard the ship was ever heard from again. Legend persists, however, that the deserted vessel drifted ashore at Nags Head in January, 1813. Bankers have speculated that pirates killed everyone on the ship.

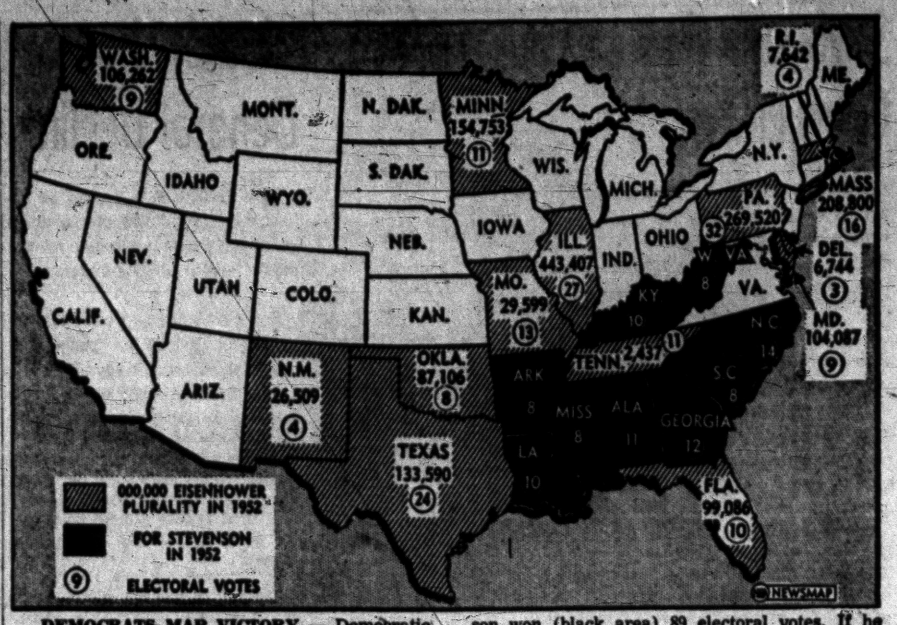

Equally harrowing tragedy befell the U. S? man-of-war steamer "Huron" off the Nags Head sands.

* * *

The 541-ton barkentine-rigged vessel left Hampton Roads in November, 1877, on a survey expedition to Key West and the Caribbean. Two years old and built of ⅝-inch iron, she was called "the strongest hull in the Atlantic waters." But she grounded and was wrecked under the winds and high seas off Nags Head — with a toll of over 100 dead, including five rescuers. Some victims were washed ashore 40 miles away.

Ships, a dune, an old horse and piracy combined to give Nags Head its name, so an old legend goes. Beach buccaneers, hoping to lure treasure ashore, tied a lantern around an old horse's neck and led him slowly along a high dune. Sea captains mistook the bobbing light for a vessel anchored in harbor, swung toward it and wrecked on the shoals.

More prosaic historians, however, say that Nags Head was named for one of the highest points on the Scilly Islands off England, land of many Nags Headers' forebears.

DEMOCRATS MAP VICTORY — Democratic campaign strategists will aim their biggest guns at 14 states (diagonal shading) carried by President Eisenhower in 1952. If they can switch 851,000 votes in those states to the Democratic column, they figure Adlai Stevenson and Estes Kefauver are in. The reasoning: In 1952, Stevenson won (black area) 89 electoral votes. If he holds those this year (they're all in normally Democratic "solid South," and adds the 181 electoral votes of the 14-state area, he will have a total of 270. The minimum number of electoral votes needed to win the election is 266.

Gas Well Gushes on Jonesville Farm

JACKSON (INS) — A former Detroit businessman who now owns a farm near Jonesville, 26 miles southwest of Jackson, today is the owner of the first successful gas well in Hillsdale County.

The gas well blew freely for four hourse before it could be capped. Drillers say the well may produce two million cubic feet of gas and possibly oil.

Fern Houseknecht, who bought the farm six years ago, said they started drilling for the well in April of 1955.

Nothing Found Missing

Nothing was reported missing from two gas stations where there were apparent breakin attempts last night, Pontiac police said. Panes of glass were broken, they said, at 392 W. Huron St. and at 411 W. Huron.

President Cited for Attendance at Church Ritual

WASHINGTON (AP) — From the Archbishop of a Greek Orthodox Cathedral, President Eisenhower has received both a medal and praise for his church attendance.

Both the President and Mrs. Eisenhower received the church's highest ecclesiastical honor, the Golden Medal of St. Andrews, as they joined in dedication yesterday of the new 1½-million-dollar cathedral in northwest Washington.

* * *

Archbishop Michael, Primate of the church in the Western Hemisphere, said before presenting the medals that "Your attendance of church service, Mr. President, has given the greatest example to all of us, expecially to our youth."

BLODGETT — IN MEMORY OF Lawrence Jon, who passed away Oct. 1st, 1949.

Shall claim of death cause us to grieve,
And make our courage faint or fail?
Let us faith and hope receive,
Our boy still grows beyond the wall.

Sadly missed by Mother, Sisters & Brothers.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF OUR beloved son and brother, George Earl, who passed away one year ago Sept. 28, 1955.

Treasured memories no one can steal,
Death is a heartache no one can heal,
The shock sudden, the pain severe
Little we thought that death was near
Our hearts still ache with sadness
Our eyes shed many tears
God only knows, son, ow we miss you dear
As time rends the first sad year.
Sadly missed by your loving mother, father brother, and sister.

REED — In loving memory of Grandmother Reed who passed away Sept. 27th, 1951.

Safe in the arms of Jesus.
Safe in His gentle breast.
There by His love o'ershadowed,
Sweetly her soul does rest.
We shall meet and know each other.
When the trials of life are o'er.
We shall meet and know each other,
As we did in days of Yore.
Sadly missed by Jim and Peggy Dickerson and daughters.

DETROIT (AP) — "Ike birthday cakes' will grace the children's ward of every hospital in Michigan Oct. 13, President Eisenhower's birthday, under plans now being prepared.

Leaves Cars Alone

WESTERLY, R.I. (AP)—Mrs. Cedonia Mowrey, 52, injured five times in separate auto accidents, keeps good her vow not to ride in an automobile again. On her discharge from Westerly Hospital after her most recent injury, she went home in a pony cart drawn by a Shetland pony. Her husband, Rochester, even borrowed a black silk top hat, to drive his wife home in the cart.

Who Needs a Doctor!

DENVER (AP) — While her husband, two neighbors and a passerby ran inside the police building to call for an ambulance, Mrs. Marie Guttlein gave birth unassisted to a 6-pound daughter in the rear seat of the neighbors' car. Mother and child were reported doing fine at Denver General Hospital.

Henny Waiting for Liz to Marry Mike Todd

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Out in Pilitown, U.S.A. (Hollywood), many of the stars now have pool-shaped kidneys, Herb Polesie flashes me . . . Henny Youngman, who has a yen for Liz Taylor, wishes she'd hurry up and marry Mike Todd, so he could have some dates with her.

Down in St. Pete, the Haughton Co., which makes power motors, has the slogan, "When ya gotta mow, ya gotta mow"—and adds: "This is a non-profit organization . . . we didn't plan it that way, it just happened." W. Bruce Haughton found humor has paid in business. When he started he had no credit. So in trying to buy products on time, he P.S.'ed. "If you look us up in Bradstreet's . . . we're 'Done'." He's had good credit since. Guess the suppliers got a charge (account) out of it.

LIZ TAYLOR

George Jessel maintains that even a 25,000-mile-an-hour plane'd take 3 hours to make a round-the-world trip 'cause you'd have to wait 2 hours for your luggage . . . Goodman Ace, Perry Como's $7,500-a-wk. writer, once wrote to Leo Durocher when he was managing the Giants. "The public address announcer at the Polo Grounds warns patrons they must not touch a batted ball while it's in play. Please notify your first baseman that this does not apply to him."

Add "How to get killed": "Inviting Toscanini to join an Elvis Presley Fan Club"; "Trying to buy a Daily Worker at the Waldorf"; "Demanding that musicians at Birdland follow the notes;" "Accidentally revealing your wife's age to the Bridge Club."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

The Faye Emerson-Skitch Henderson divorce papers are being drawn up . . . Sammy Davis Jr. interrupted "Mr. Wonderful" to announce Sal Maglie's no-hitter, adding, "You don't get this kind of service at 'My Fair Lady'."

Frank Sinatra grabbed a drink from a table during his Las Vegas show, saying, "Just brushing up for the Joe E. Lewis film". . . Barbara Hutton's lad, Lance Reventlow, is building a small home with a big pool in H'wood . . . A TV series is being readied for actor Jesse White of Akron.

Comic George DeWitt (of the "Name That Tune" TVer) bought his first apt. house . . . Actress Jo Van Patten is stage-door-Johnnying at "Middle of the Night" for Martin Balsam . . . Nicky Hilton and Barbara "Wiggles" Nichols have found each other . . . Christine Jorgensen is buying a batch of new gowns and will do another cafe act.

Earl's Pearls . . .

Many a wife has turned an old rake into a lawn-mower.—Quote.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "In a small town," says Frances Rodman, "women don't have to indulge in idle gossip—they know."

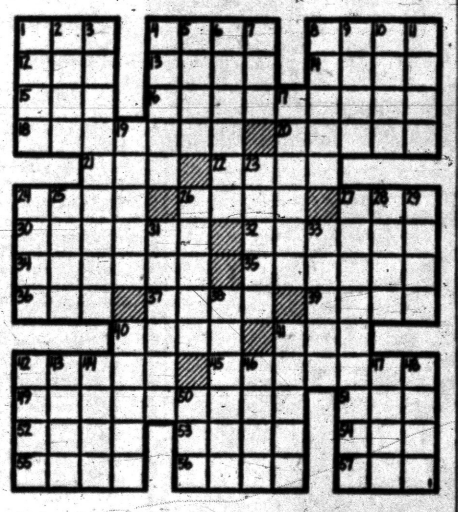

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Al Newman heard two women in a trailer camp discussing a third: "Calls herself a housewife! Look at the rust on that axle!"

An Eskimo, being tried for robbery in Alaska, was asked by the judge, "Where were you on the night of Oct. 11 to April 3?" . . . That's earl, brother.

Four Programs Are Scheduled

Opening Show Oct. 16 Will Tell the Story of First World War

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Good television programming news is here with word that "Project 20" will present four productions on NBC-TV this season.

* * *

Project 20," guided by Henry Salomon, last season proved that the history of our times — vividly told on film — attracts audiences as large as those of popular entertainment programs. "It was quite a struggle," Salomon recalls, "but I think we finally made our point when our 'Nightmare in Red' show equalled the rating of the $64,000 Question which was opposite it."

On Oct. 16 "Project 20" will present "The Great War," a history of World War I on film — much of it never seen by the public previously. In December comes "Call to Freedom," a 90-minute filmed production which uses the pageantry of Austrian history and the music of Beethoven's "Fidelio" to tell the exciting story of a people's march to liberty.

* * *

In February "Project 20" will present "The Jazz Age," the story on film of the fabulous 20's, which was narrated by Fred Allen shortly before his death. Tentatively scheduled for April is a history of the 1930's.

Salomon, 39, the historian who produced the award-winning "Victory at Sea," visualizes "The Great War" as one of the most interesting "Project 20" series to date.

* * *

"From hundreds of sources," he says, "including forgotten archives behind the Iron Curtain, we've acquired exciting films of the tremendous events that rocked the world from 1914 to 1918. We'll show such memorable scenes as Germany's surge through France and Belgium, the taxicab army that saved Paris, the sinking of the Lusitania, the slaughter of the Somme where 60,000 British died in a single day, the horror of gas warfare, and the first aerial battles between the Lafayette Escadrille and Richtofen's Flying Circus."

* * *

"The Great War" will show such well-known persons as Kaiser Wilhelm, Marshal Foch, Gen. Pershing, President Woodrow Wilson, Douglas Fairbanks, Mary Pickford, Charlie Chaplin and Marie Dressler.

Mickey Mouse Descends From Proper Briton

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (INS) — Mickey Mouse had an English grandfather—a bush-tailed rodent who wore a stiff collar and preferred to be properly addressed as "Michael."

Scholarly foraging in comic-strip geneaology at Yale University uncovered a privately owned 18th Century manuscript entitled: "Mr. Michael Mouse Unfolds His Tale."

Proper Michael was created by famed English illustrator walter Crane for the personal entertainment of his three children.

Draft Boards Request Probe

Seek Investigation of Induction Delay for Negro Attorney

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Resentment among Alabama draft boards over an order from Washington postponing induction of a Montgomery Negro attorney has steamed into a request for a congressional investigation.

* * *

The Autauga County draft board yesterday said it asked for the investigation and notified the State Selective Service director it would not draft any more men "until this matter is settled."

Two weeks ago the Bullock County draft board refused to draft any more men until Atty. Fred D. Gray is drafted.

The investigation request was addressed to Senators Lister Hill and John Sparkman of Alabama and Fourth District Rep. Kenneth Roberts.

* * *

Three members of Gray's Montgomery draft board resigned Sept. 17 in protest to the postponement of his induction. The delay was ordered by Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national Selective Service director.

Eleven other members of boards over the state protested the handling of the case and also resigned.

Hershey said he had information Gray had recently become a full-time pastor, with ministers being draft exempt. Gray, legal spokesman for Montgomery's bus boycotting Negroes and participant in legal actions of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, had been classified 1-A earlier while a part-time minister.

Tokyo Sees Forces on Military Parade

TOKYO (AP)—Tokyo reverberated to the sound of marching feet and rumbling tanks today as Japan's reborn military forces staged their second anniversary parade.

Adm. Felix B. Stump, U.S. Pacific commander in chief visiting here, joined other American and foreign military and diplomatic officials on the reviewing stand.

* * *

Emperor Hirohito was conspicuously absent, emphasizing the government makes a distinction between the present "defense" forces and the prewar imperial troops.

Nearly 4,000 troops of the 140,000-man defense forced marched in the parade. Afterward the public looked over the fighting equipment put on display as part of a campaign to popularize the new forces.

Employment on U.S. railways in 1956 averaged 1,058,216 persons. This is about 500,000 less than in 1926.

Pots and Pans Serve as Foghorn Substitute

NEW CASTLE, Del. (AP) — State Police received several calls early today that two boats had probably collided in the Delaware River during dense fog.

* * *

The Coast Guard dispatched a rescue boat.

Meanwhile, two volunteers from a fire company ventured onto the river to see what had happened. Charles Pote and Tom Richardson found three small pleasure craft at anchor.

The occupants explained they had no fog horns and were yelling and banging on pots and pans to warn any approaching ships.

* * *

More Comfort Wearing FALSE TEETH

Here is a pleasant way to overcome loose plate discomfort. FASTEETH, an improved powder, sprinkled on upper and lower plates holds them firmer so that they feel more comfortable. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. It's alkaline (non-acid). Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH today at any drug counter.

Free 6 War Criminals

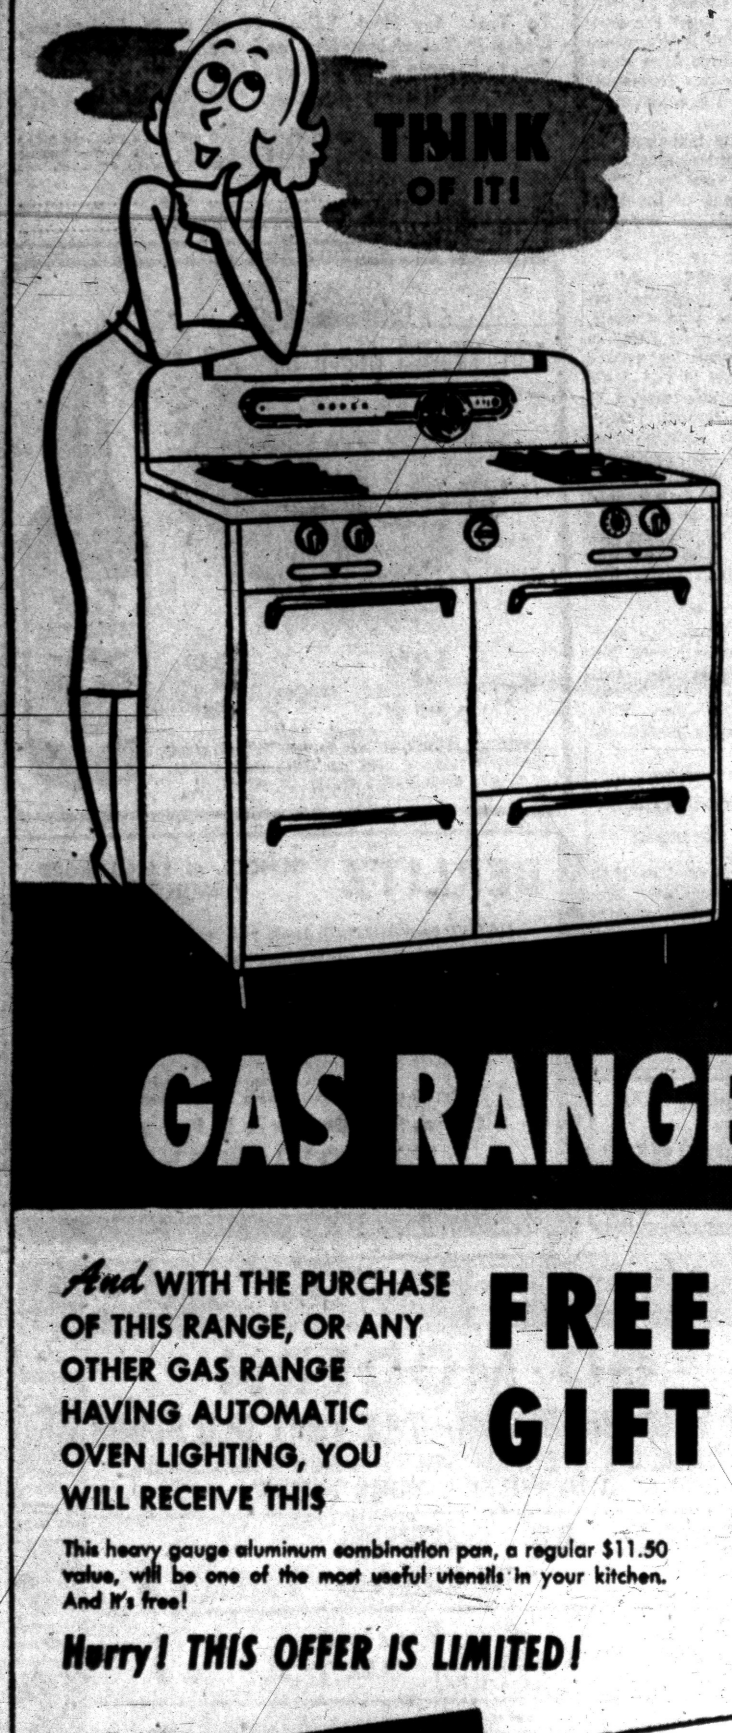

TOKYO (AP) — Six Japanese war criminals have been paroled by Australia. This reduces the number of war criminals held in Tokyo's Sugamo Prison to 162. Of these, 102 were sentenced after World War II by the United States, 56 by Australia and 4 by Britain.

More than 200 new virus diseases that affect American crops on farms have been discovered and identified within the past 40 years.

And That's Unusual!

MEMPHIS (AP)— Today's long-term payments give a sharper point to this sign on the rear of a 1930 auto seen puttering down the street: "Out of date . . . But out of debt."
