

LONG AND SHORT OF IT — Richard C. Marshall, 19, of New Bedford, Mass., has tresses he cultivated as a hand drummer shorn by barber Stanley Brown (top). Marshall's decision to change from "shaggy" to "clean cut" wasn't difficult. You see — it was his girl's idea. After being shorn he collects the clippings for her as a souvenir (bottom).

Mayor Vows Thoroughness

Long Housing Debate Seen

City Commission debate on a proposed open-occupancy ordinance will take thorough consideration and time, Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. said last night.

Taylor declined to give any date when the commission would be able to produce an ordinance, but said the issue would be given top consideration at informal commission meetings in forthcoming weeks.

He said the commissioners would make extensive use of materials collected by the city law office in attempting to produce an ordinance which could work in the city of Pontiac.

The material, basically a compilation of ordinances which have been passed by other municipalities and recommendations of officials in some of these cities, was presented to the commission last night.

pushing for an ordinance during the past four weeks seemed ready to give the commission ample opportunity to effect an ordinance.

In outlining steps the commission expects to take, Taylor said an ordinance will depend on the respective attitudes of all seven commissioners.

"Whenever four commissioners (out of seven) are willing to bring a drafted ordinance before this body, then it will be brought before the table," he said.

The mayor emphasized that nothing in the way of an ordinance could be rushed and implied that citywide acceptance of an open-housing ordinance would be necessary before the commission would adopt one.

Highland Voters OK Fire Dept. Levy

Highland Township voters yesterday approved renewal of a 1-mill tax levy by 295 to 77. The 10-year levy will be used to support the township's fire department.

"The turnout was small," said Louis F. Oldenburg, township supervisor. The township has 2,233 registered voters.

The levy will bring in $20,000 over a three-year period, said Oldenburg. It is a continuation of a 1-mill levy approved by voters 10 years ago which expires at the end of this year.

The funds are earmarked for a new No. 1 fire station and an addition to the No. 2 station.

The millage also can be used for fire equipment and firemen's pay.

State's Top Court to Rule on Teacher Work Orders

DETROIT (AP) — The State Supreme Court has agreed to rule whether striking Michigan school teachers may be forced back into classrooms through lower-court injunctions.

The court may not decide until October or later, and meanwhile it left standing back-to-work orders handed down by lower courts in Holland, Bay City and Saginaw.

In a 5-3 decision the Supreme Court last night told Holland school teachers, in effect, to stay in their classrooms pending its ruling on legality of an injunction by Circuit Judge Raymond L. Smith ordering them back to work.

The justices said they would hear an appeal from the Ottawa County circuit judge's ruling at its October term. The case is, similar to those in which Saginaw and Bay City teachers also have been ordered back to work.

The Supreme Court's ruling, which came yesterday at Boyne Mountain where the justices are attending a judicial conference, presumably opened the way for school boards in 19 other strike-beset districts to seek similar lower-court orders.

400,000 SCHOOLLESS
Almost 400,000 Michigan school children have been unable to return to schools this fall because of teacher strikes.

Teachers are demanding contracts that would give them more money, smaller classes and other things, including in Oak Park the right to fire principals, if they choose.

Within hours of the court's ruling striking teachers in Flint's Beecher district placed a box on a table at a meeting of their school board, announcing: "This is for you."

Board members made no move to look into the box, which teachers told newsmen afterward contained resignations from 220 of the district's 260 teachers.

COULD BE CONFETTI

The box disappeared later, without having been opened, and A. George Dixon, board president, told newsmen: "For all I know the box contains confetti."

Presumably the reported resignation movement was aimed at nullifying the board's plan to seek a back-to-work injunction. The board announced, meanwhile, it had asked its attorney to hold up until tomorrow at least any request for an injunction.

Teachers Reject Board's Offer

Birmingham teachers today rejected the board of education's "final" offer to resolve a contract dispute which has prevented the opening of school for five days.

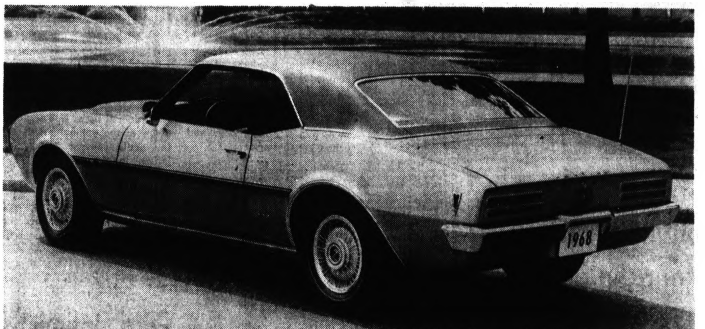

Walter Piel, administrative assistant at the Birmingham schools office, said the school attorney will now be authorized to go to court to require the teachers to perform under their contract.

"We feel we have exhausted all possible resources during a week of fact-finding and negotiation," Piel said.

The board's final offer had included, besides salary adjustments, full paid individual coverage on health and hospitalization and a plan for making up school days lost by the strike.

A Birmingham beginning teacher with a bachelor's degree last year made $5,800. The maximum for the master's degree wage scale was $11,000.

In Bloomfield Hills, Supt. Eugene Johnson said negotiations remained at a stalemate. The dispute was still in the hands of mediators this morning.

SPORTY FIREBIRD — Bucket seats are standard on the 1968 Pontiac Firebird which goes on sale Sept. 21. Firebird offers a choice of five engines ranging from the overhead-

camshaft six cylinder as standard up to a 400-cubic-inch V-8. New multi-leaf rear springs give the car a smoother, softer ride.

Fernald Also Eying Tours

Summer Plays Slated for OU

Plans to expand the season of the Meadow Brook Theatre, adding summer performances, were announced yesterday.

John Fernald, director of the Meadow Brook Theatre at Oakland University, said the repertory group will stay on campus next summer.

During the eight weeks of the Meadow Brook Music Festival, the John Fernald Company will perform in their playhouse.

Some plays will be new productions; others will be those given during the first two seasons.

Fernald made his announcement at a press conference in Detroit, at which time he introduced actors and staff members.

NEGOTIATIONS IN PROGRESS

Fernald also announced that negotiations are in progress to take his company on tour to both Durham, N.H. and Oakland, Calif.

"Very serious negotiations are now in progress," he said.

"Though many details remain to be worked out, I can tell you at this time that these are serious offers and that we are prepared to make commitments as quickly as details can be settled to take the company on tour to both the Atlantic and the Pacific without prejudice to the fact that Oakland University is our permanent home."

The decision on which shows might be going on tour has not been made, but the offers involve productions of the 1967-68 and the 1968-69 seasons.

The John Fernald Company is not yet a year old.

Its premiere production, "The Caucasian Chalk Circle," was given Jan. 4, 1967.

Four more plays, each running a month, and a children's play at Easter made up the first season.

The 1967-68 season has been expanded from five to seven plays and from 20 to 35 weeks. It opens Oct. 6 with "The Importance of Being Earnest."

In addition, three school matinees (closed to the public) will be presented each week.

Fernald's 10 years as principal of the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art in London prepared him for an added role this fall.

The Academy of Dramatic Art at Oakland University opens Sept. 29 with 14 students. A like number will be added in January and April.

Auditions will be held in October. The actors arrived Monday and were flown from Metropolitan Airport to Robbins Field in Royal Oak in two Aero Commanders.

They took a flight over Detroit and over OU campus before touching down and completing their trip by car.

Ford Optimistic Despite Strike

By JERRY ROBBINS
City Editor, The Pontiac Press

LA COSTA, Calif. — Optimism continues to prevail at Ford Motor Co. despite the current strike and an anticipated price increase on 1968 cars.

"It's still business as usual at Ford dealerships all across the country," M. S. McLaughlin, Ford Division general manager, told more than 100 newsmen here yesterday in discussing the strike.

McLaughlin was the main speaker at the opening of Ford's three-day national press preview at the fashionable La Costa resort, a scenic three-acre facility 30 miles north of San Diego, near the Pacific Coast at Carlsbad.

"When the strike stopped production, Ford dealers had about 150,000 new 1967 model cars on hand and approximately 67,000 1968 cars will become available for sale Sept. 22," McLaughlin said. "That will give dealers a total of 225,000 new cars to weather the production gap."

"Currently, our dealers are selling about 4,600 new cars per selling day,"

Fun-Loving Montana Man Is Unconventional Dynamo

By WICK TEMPLE

HELENA, Mont. (AP) — Every city in America should have a man like Walter Marshall. You know, the kind of guy who forgets about accumulating money and turns to the thankless jobs that put a city on wheels; the guy whose personality gets into the foundations of a town.

Walter Marshall is a chunky, zesty little man more than 24 hours in a day. He isn't a mayor or a civic club president, although he could be, and he could be well-to-do from his livelihood, which is selling advertising in Helena.

But many years ago, Walter decided how much time he would give to making money, and how much to nonpaying work. The nonpaying variety turned out to be more fun.

EFFICIENT CHARACTER

He wears a half-tie that looks like it was dunked in soup and had to be cut off. He has a gravelly voice, and, yes, sometimes he bugs people. But he gets the job done, any job, wherever the town can use him.

Walter took charge of a decaying old brewery on Helena's Last Chance Gulch and, with the help of his teacher wife, Doris, turned it into one of the finest summer theaters in the Northwest.

He built a stage, an auditorium and dormitories for the actors. Then he stumped the city for support and signed college talent from all over the country. The result is standing room only virtually every night of the summer. Walter and Doris are always in the wings, though there is no cash in it for them.

CHAUFFEURED JFK

When John F. Kennedy came to Helena campaigning in 1960, Walter had the job of driving him back to the airport. "You've got to see our theater, Jack," he said, and promptly drove there.

Kennedy enjoyed the tour, glancing impatiently at his watch, but what he didn't enjoy were Walter's two large dogs which rode with them in the station wagon.

Seems the dogs liked the senator and spent most of the trip licking the back of his neck.

A couple of years later, Kennedy came back as president. When he stepped off the plane he spotted Walter in the welcoming committee and said, "Hello, Walter. I see you still have those damned dogs."

SPURRED PROMOTION

The Montana Centennial Commission sent a special train around the country to promote the state. Walter went, of course. They wound up in Washington, needing a big splash to get the promotion going. Everyone else was trying to figure an angle when up to the depot drove Walter with a fleet of black limousines hauling two cases of champagne and virtually every secretary in the White House.

Walter can pull off anything from a local Voice of Democracy contest to a state dinner with the same sandpaper and crowbar technique.

An appreciation dinner was scheduled in Washington for Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana. Walter was on the committee.

They needed a good toastmaster. "I'll call it duty and Brinkley," said Walter.

As reconstructed many times on long Montana winter evenings, the convention went like this: "Hello, Chet? This is Walter Marshall in Helena. We're giving a dinner for Mike Mansfield in Washington and you're the toastmaster. You can't make it? What time can you make it? Okay, that's only an hour late. I'll get Brinkley to sub for you until you get there. Hello, David? This is Walter Marshall in Helena. Chet wants to know if you can sub for him? Walter Marshall?"

Oxford Citizen Unit Plans to Support Vote for Bond Issue

OXFORD — A citizen's committee is to be activated Tuesday night to assist the Oxford School District's push for a $2.5-million bond issue set for a vote Oct. 23.

The money, to be obtained by the sale of qualified unlimited bonds, is expected to raise the district's current bonding millage to 8. Residents presently pay 3.3 mills on a 1956 bond issue which saw construction of the senior high school, the Clear Lake Elementary School and additions at Lakeville, Leonard and Thomas.

Schools Supt. Roger Oberg reported that after the first year he expects that raising valuation of the district will reduce the bonding total to 7 mills.

By selling the qualified unlimited bonds, the millage can be altered to meet the principal and interest payments of the current year.

Oberg said it is the district's intention to avoid borrowing from the state school loan fund, even though by boosting the total bonding millage over the 7-mill limitation, it would thereby become eligible for partial help.

The bond issue, if approved, would provide a new junior high school for 700 students on a site yet to be located and also the district's first bus garage.

It would provide an addition to Clear Lake Elementary School, located in a fast developing area, which would boost its capacity from the present 255 to 450 students.

Additions at Lakeville and Leonard would boost capacities in those two schools from 136 to 180 and from 157 to 240, respectively, Oberg said.

Clear Lake would gain six classrooms, plus kindergarten and special education rooms, a kitchen and library. A kindergarten room would be added at Lakeville and two classrooms at Leonard.

The development of an athletic field behind the senior high school is also contemplated.

Meantime, the board of education was informed last night that three temporary classrooms are presently being installed at Clear Lake, two temporaries at Daniel Oxford school, and one temporary room at Lakeville.

Enrollment, said Oberg, is up 210 students over last year for a total of more than 2,500 in the district. Two church classrooms have also been pressed into service, he said.

The citizen's committee, which will meet at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the junior high school, is expected to back the proposed expansion.

Under the new plan the present junior high school would be for board of education offices and as an emergency source of additional classroom space.

Sand, Gravel Removal OK'd

AVON TOWNSHIP — Permission to take out sand and gravel in an effort to even the land on 15 acres at Sheldon and Tienken roads was given Sidney Weinberger by the Township Zoning Board of Appeals Monday night.

Development of the balance of Weinberger's 38 acres hinges on adherence of restrictions set up for the first parcel.

Weinberger will use a Tienken Road access to the land. The operation will be conducted only in daylight hours and complete plans for the development of the first parcel for residential purposes must be submitted before he is allowed to extend the operation.

Only five people were present at Monday night's meeting despite record crowds who attended earlier hearings.

The board also made plans to stop excessive water drain-off from one of three sand-and-gravel operations in the section bounded by Hamlin, John R School and Desquindre roads.

An effort is being made to preserve the shallow water table which provides water for the 10 homes in the area.

Troy Planners Get Revised Rezoning Bid

TROY — The Biltmore Development Corp., operators of the Somerset Park apartment community, resubmitted a rezoning bid to build a huge $125-million multimill complex east of Coolidge and north of 18 Mile to the City Commission Monday night.

An earlier bid was scuttled by the City Commission last March after vigorous opposition by home owners who did not want the area rezoned from single-family residences to low-rise apartments, business offices and shopping center.

At that time City Planner George Peck said that he would favor rezoning if the commercial space were reduced. The new plan apparently does this.

The new request asks for 101 acres for multiple apartment dwellings, 20 for business, 13 for high-rise buildings, and 51 acres for a golf course.

Peck said that the planning commission will make its recommendation at its October meeting.

SEWER PROJECT

In other action the City Commission approved a $60,000 sewer project to serve Donaldson Street and the new Smith Junior High School. Bids will be let with construction to begin this fall.

A water rate adjustment that passed on an increase by Detroit was also approved.

City Manager Paul York said that the bulk of the increase will fall on those who use more than 4,000 cubic feet of water.

The decreasing rate scale — in four steps — will remain unchanged except that the fourth step has been eliminated. The bottom limit is now $2.39; it was $1.95.

Troy Principal Is Resigning to Take Post in Cleveland

TROY — A bit frustrated over the recent past but confident in the future of modern educational techniques, Troy High School Principal Joseph Bechard is leaving for greener pastures.

The 38-year-old educator who has guided the high school through its first two years of "flexible scheduling" will take a job Oct. 1 with the Educational Research Council of Greater Cleveland.

As assistant director of staff utilization and training, he will be aiding some 36 schools there in just such a venture as he leaves behind in Troy.

"This job offers me a tremendous challenge, and I'll be able to work confidently with educators who are as enthusiastic about flexible scheduling as I am," said Bechard. "In Troy I was on a one-year probation and my job security appeared low."

school coaching to principal four years ago.

Last July he was almost ousted from his job along with his "modular" system. The board of education saved both by a close 4-3 decision.

The system came under fire when several parents objected to the apparent lack of discipline among the students. The flexible scheduling idea allows for classes of varied lengths, times and sizes and is often ungraded. Until this fall, students could decide whether to attend some or all of the classes.

JOSEPH BECHARD

STUDENTS' OPINIONS

Students, themselves, in a meeting last Christmas said they felt the system had helped them to adjust better to college life and to their studies.

The height of the controversy was reached in July when the board turned down $40,000 a year in federal grants for three years' expansion of the "modular" system.

"I feel that the board and many parents need to have more patience with this system. Anything new will have problems."

"In my opinion great strides in education have been made over the past two years, here at Troy."

"It was a hard decision to step down because I hate to leave the community and all my friends. Most of all, though, I think I'll miss the students."

Board to Withhold Road Funds for Lake Angelus

PONTIAC TOWNSHIP — A decision to withhold matching road funds for six months in order to give the Village of Lake Angelus time to come up with one-fourth the cost of blacktopping Lake Angelus Road within its limits was reached by the Township Board this week.

Estimated cost of the project, which includes ditching, is $152,000. The township would pay a fourth, and the county the remaining half of the cost.

A formal budget of $767,736 ending in March 1968 was approved by the board. The budget reflects an increase over last year and is set up according to a new bookkeeping system, and outgrowth of a recent audit of township books.

Troy Schools to Reassess Priorities After Levy Defeat

TROY — Repercussions of Monday's millage defeat echoed loudly at the Troy Board of Education's meeting last night.

The vote — the largest school turnout ever (over 50 per cent of the district's 6,000 voters) — was certified by election canvassers.

Following a lengthy floor discussion on election results which offered no quick solution to the problem, the board decided to ask all school administrators to submit new lists of priority restoration for study.

"After we look at these we may restore some of the programs — maybe not," said Supt. Dr. Rex Smith.

Now with the millage defeat there will be no junior high or elementary art

TRANSPORTATION COSTS

A study of the present transportation costs of students against the opening of the new Smith Junior High will be looked into by the board, but indications don't look favorable.

"The defeat of the 7-mill increase (for per $1,000 equalized valuation) will force us $200,000 to $400,000 deeper in debt to pay for the increased teacher pay raises and operational expenses," said Dr. Smith. The system is already $275,000 in debt.

Cityhood Plan Arouses Area Officials

By BETTY ANN SCHULTZ

The proposal of Wolverine Lake Village Citizens' Committee to incorporate the village and part of Commerce Township as a home rule city is opposed by top officials in the other areas involved.

At Monday night's Village Council meeting, Village Manager, Clifford Cottrell, head of the Citizens' Committee, announced the plan as a counter-proposal to Walled Lake's plans to annex the village.

Walled Lake is responding by forming a fact-finding committee of about 100 persons from the township, village and city, reported Walled Lake City Manager Royce Downey.

The village's plan includes about three square miles of the Commerce Township to the north, west and southwest of the village.

Walled Lake's petitions, to be considered by the County Boundaries Committee Friday, call for annexation of the same southwest part of Commerce Township.

ship, all of the village, as well as two other sections of the township east of Walled Lake.

VILLAGE PETITIONS

Petitions for Wolverine Lake's proposal are still being circulated, reported Cottrell.

If the Citizens' Committee can obtain on its petitions 50 per cent of those who signed the annexation petitions, the incorporation vote will take precedence over the annexation vote, said Village Attorney Gene Schmelz. He is basing his opinion on Section 5.2067 (1) of Michigan Statutes Annotated.

Commerce Township Supervisor Robert H. Long does not favor either proposal to alter the boundaries of the Township.

DISSENTING VOICE

Township Trustee Thomas C. Tiley, former township supervisor, is also against the village's proposal.

"Incorporation won't do the township or its residents any good," he said. He claimed that township residents may have to pay more taxes if they become part of the proposed city.

Walled Lake City Manager Downey emphasized "exploring all possibilities" for the future of the areas. "Let the citizens decide," he said.

He announced that the city has already enlisted 40 persons to serve on the proposed 100-member fact-finding committee to consider the future of the areas.

CROSSROADS OF GROWTH

He pointed out that the Walled Lake area is at the crossroads of future growth, with the nearby I-75 still being planned and I-96 almost completed.

Walled Lake Supervisor Marshall Taylor said, "The issue will be decided at the public hearing." The boundaries Committee has set Oct. 12 for a hearing on the annexation proposal.

In a report last night, the Michigan Education Association team, which has been investigating the Troy teachers' dissension since late August, called for better cooperation and communication between the board, teachers and administrators.

In this investigation it also appeared that the faculty was still in favor of the controversial "modular scheduling" system which has been in effect for two years.

PRINCIPAL RESIGNS

Dissension began this summer when 37 teachers asked for the firing of the Troy High School principal, Joseph Bechard. He resigned Monday to take a job in Cleveland.

The school census report released last night listed a record increase in students aged 5-19 of 540 for a total of 6,048. This is the biggest increase since the system began in 1948.

Preschool registration added 90 for the first increase since 1961 — previously every year was a decrease.

Dinner, Open House to Highlight Opening

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — The new home office of the Alexander Hamilton Life Insurance Co., at 33045 Hamilton will hold a formal opening this week with a dinner for businessmen and an open house for the public. The businessmen's dinner is this evening. The open house is Saturday and Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m.

Attendance Dips for Summer

OAKLAND TOWNSHIP — Stony Creek Metropolitan Park has recorded its highest August attendance since the park opened in 1964, but total attendance for the three summer months was down 30,000 from last year.

Top August at Stony Creek

Kenneth L. Hallenbeck, director of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority serving the counties of Oakland, Macomb, Livingston, Washtenaw and Wayne, announced Stony Point's August attendance was 186,000 as compared to 157,000 for the same month last year.

Total attendance at Stony Creek Park passed the million mark again this year, but the cooler-than-normal summer brought only 724,800 visitors in June, July and August compared to 782,200 for 1966.

Metropolitan Beach (near Mount Clemens) and Lower Huron Metropolitan Park (near Belleville) both recorded increased attendance over last August. Metropolitan had 238,600 visitors and Huron had 222,700.

Only at Kensington Metropolitan Park, near Milford, was attendance down from last August with 252,000 versus 253,000. The August record was set in 1959 with over 350,000 visitors.

In addition, Kensington Park's mark was way below last year's summer attendance with only 802,000 this year — well under last year's 1,067,000 for the same period.

Leonard Tot Found Safe in Cornfield

LEONARD — After a six-hour search involving about 175 persons, a 14-year-old tot was found around midnight a half-mile from home, sleeping in his parents' cornfield.

Franklin Moon, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Moon, Sr., 1981 Mack, was unharmed, reported State Police, Romeo Branch.

The parents reported that their son was lost about 6:30 p.m. yesterday. State Police sent out four men and then secured a tracking dog.

Later in the night, the searchers increased to about 150 local residents, 12 Romeo State Police Post troopers, sheriff's deputies and the Addison Township Fire Department.

Orion Twp. Researcher Shuns Retirement

By JEAN SAILE

ORION TOWNSHIP — Happiness is a blockhouse, sophisticated machinery, and progress towards a goal.

Ask Dr. Sidney Cadwell, former director of research and development for Unirloy Co., now a Wayne State University research associate.

"They tried to retire me," said the 74-year-old Grosse Pointe with the dancing eyes and the shock of snowy white hair.

Obviously "they" didn't succeed.

Dr. Cadwell spends much of his time at the end of remote Ridge Road in Orion Township in a $20,000 blockhouse called the Edwin A. Hannum laboratory. Few people know it is there.

The tree-lined rough road leading to the research center would alone be too much of a challenge for most 74-year-old retirees.

But Dr. Cadwell traverses it regularly, and in company with Wesley Staples, 1381 Harwood, Oxford Township, an electronics engineer, has made significant progress towards the development of a new shock-resistant insulation.

One of its most practical uses could be for the protection of missile silos, but Dr. Cadwell says, "Let's not talk about the military aspects. Cars need shock protection too, you know."

The project is sponsored by Dr. Cadwell's old company, Unirloy.

CLOSE TO SUCCESS

He feels he's on the threshold of success.

An ingenious shock-making device has been used to test material used in making footballs, basketballs and the plain ordinary bouncing ball, plus other commercially manufactured rubbers.

"We built the pressure up to 2,500 pounds per square inch last week," reported Dr. Cadwell, "and our material stood up well."

Last week for the first time in three and a half years the researching duo belittled themselves far enough along to test their material against dynamite shock waves.

MACHINERY LINES WALL

zoelectric gauge, charge amplifiers and pie meters line the wall of the blockhouse.

Wires connect them to a long shock tube in the shed next door, where nitrogen is used under pressure to create the explosion they measure.

The piezoelectric gauge (really "a quartz pressure transducer — that simplifies it, doesn't it?") is a mighty mile. Cadwell reveals one costs $300.

Since the end of the project seems in sight — despite a blast yesterday that failed to live up to expectations — Dr. Cadwell thinks he's soon going to have to look for some other work to do.

With his penchant for finding the unknown, there's no doubt but what he'll find it.

Youth Guidance Unit Coffee Hour Tuesday

CLARKSTON — A 10 a.m. coffee hour to introduce local residents to the work of the Clarkston Area Youth Guidance Assistance Committee will be Tuesday at 82 Robertson Court.

Mrs. Henry Brendle and Mrs. Robert Phillips will be co-hostesses.

Will 'One of These Days' Be Too Late?

(Editor's Note: This editorial commented so forthrightly and with such sound judgment on so many segments of our life today that we thought it worth reprinting for everyone to read. It appeared recently in the San Diego Union newspaper, San Diego, California.)

One of these days the good people of the United States of America will be heard and heeded.

One of these days, not too distant, they will show in unmistakable terms that they are fed up with the slurs at home and abroad which question our honorable national intentions and goals.

One of these days they will tire of supporting petty tyrants who insult our nation, our flag and our honor with impunity — indeed are often rewarded for their attacks.

One of these days Americans will tire of the sedition that too often passes for free speech in our nation, especially on our campuses.

One of these days the point of tolerance will be passed on the street where criminality and anarchy too often erupt in the name of freedom of assembly.

One of these days no self respecting American, and he is in the majority, will stand for the insults to God through the attacks on religion that occur daily, or through the emergence of cults of pseudo religion that need the crutch of dope.

One of these days good Americans will scorn the thought that there is virtue in radical behavior for the sake of being an oddball, or that there is virtue in ordinary dirt.

One of these days good Americans will show segments of the publishing industry that filthy treatises and smut have no place in the American way of life.

One of these days Americans will stand up in favor of capitalism which has given them individually and collectively the best life that any human has known since life began.

One of these days Americans will insist that national resources be husbanded and meted out efficiently, not soundered on unmitigated futile sociological slop and sentimental hogwash.

One of these days Americans will tire of the fact they cannot even believe what their top officials in Washington say.

One of these days they will insist that crime be punished as crime should be, so it is safe to walk the streets anywhere at any time of day or night.

One of these days Americans will insist that our defenses be so strong that no possible question can be raised about their adequacy.

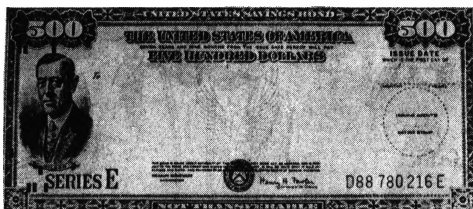

One of these days Americans will insist that while American men are dying in Vietnam, the nation should follow a policy of winning that war as rapidly as possible.

One of these days Americans will demand that if they are paying the piper they also shall call the tune; that their hard-earned dollars should not support generations of welfare or people who can work and will not.

One of these days, in short, Americans will insist that we stop drifting mentally and morally and that we return to the principles that have made the United States of America strong. It will not be an uncertain trumpet.

One of these days had better come soon because any one of these days may be much later than we believe for preserving the America we love.

Last Call for the Press Grid Contest

Someone, probably Jayne Mansfield, once said: "One picture is worth a thousand words."

We agree. And to prove it, we're sneaking you a preview of the Press Annual Football Contest winner's award.

Unless allergic to money — and who is? — we can't think of any man, woman or child who wouldn't be enchanted to become the sole owner and proprietor of the original of the item shown. So, if you haven't already added your entry to the thousands piling up in the contest hopper, get yourself in contention before the sun sets or rises — whichever is more convenient.

But you can't wait much longer. Friday noon is the deadline, and this is our last exhortation to spur you to action and set you on the road to riches.

As rule 5 specifies, entries must be in our hands by the deadline. Even though postmarked prior, they can't be considered if they come trailing in after the whistle blows — as each year a goodly number do.

At this late date, stick to orthodox modes of dispatching — Uncle Sam's postal service or by depositing in The Press' Huron Street drop box. Don't try anything fancy like delivery by bottle cast into the sea. True, the bottle might make it, but suppose it got stuck on a bar — then where'd you be?

All that remains now is for contestants to stock up on sedatives and try to keep cool, calm and collected as the contest schedule progressively cuts the starting field until a triumphant survivor stands alone in the winner's circle.

It could be you.

CONTEST RULES

1. Every man, woman and child is eligible to enter contest (except Press employees and close relatives) but are limited to one entry each. All members of families may participate, subject to the same limitation.

2. To enter, you simply check your prediction of the winner of each of the 16 games below (to indicate a tie, leave both boxes blank), sign entry form or facsimile, and dispatch.

3. Entries may be deposited in The Press' Huron Street drop box or mailed. If mailed, they must be enclosed in envelopes (THE POST OFFICE WILL NOT ACCEPT POSTAL CARDS WITH ATTACHED ENTRIES) and addressed to: THE PONTIAC PRESS FOOTBALL CONTEST, P.O. Box 777, Pontiac, Michigan.

4. The contestant who, starting with the first game, correctly predicts the consecutive outcome of the most games will be awarded a $500 U.S. Savings Bond.

5. Contest deadline is Friday noon, Sept. 15, and entries must be on hand at The Press by that time. Those arriving later, even though postmarked prior, will not be considered.

6. Judges' decisions on all questions relating to contest will be final.

Are Military or Civilians Right?

LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Someday, when the story is written telling what really went on behind the scenes in Washington during the Vietnam war, there may be a clearer idea of the current differences between civilian control and military authority than is discernible today.

It's an open secret that the military chiefs believe that lives have been wasted and that in the future there will be more casualties than are necessary if the supercautions and procrastinating policies of civilian officials keep on frustrating the American military effort in Vietnam.

This is not to say, of course, that those inside our government who believe in the supremacy of the civilian authority are failing to render a conscientious judgment.

It does mean that misconceptions of military strategy are all too prevalent.

Thus, McGeorge Bundy — formerly special assistant to President Johnson, and now chairman of the President's Advisory Commission on the Middle East — wrote a letter to the Washington Post the other day criticizing the summary report of the Senate Preparedness subcommittee of which Sen. John Stennis, Democrat, is chairman.

He concedes the patriotism and dedication of the senators, and says their "unanimous recommendation of wider air action seems impressive." But he disagrees with the argument they have made in support of it.

Mr. Bundy's chief point is that military men are merely "urging the value of their own chosen instrument — in this case military force."

But he thinks that, in reaching its conclusions, the subcommittee "pushes aside all political and diplomatic considerations — and all risks of wider conflict."

He adds:

"The subcommittee tells us simply to take the risks that have to be taken and apply the force that is required." It thus neglects to examine what its own report calls the "serious and legitimate question" of policy "over and above purely military considerations."

This is an age-old controversy. It has brought many a tragedy in the history of the world.

Meanwhile, the United States has suffered tremendous losses while following a policy of delay and caution in the bombing of North Vietnam.

The public generally knows little about the meaning of the debates that go on inside Washington between the military and civilians.

The concept of "civilian control" is often overemphasized. (Copyright, 1967, Publishers-Hall Syndicate)

Bob Considine Says:

Pentagon East--U.S. Puts All Its Brass in 1 Basket

Considine

SAIGON — Fence-building is nothing new in this war. There's a fence around everything here, from chicken coops to the newest and biggest target in all South Vietnam — P e n t a g o n East.

Pentagon East is the CONSIDINE inevitable nickname given to the huge and costly headquarters of our military and aide staffs.

We have put most of our brass in one basket. And as an afterthought we are now building bunkers for them to dive into when and if.

Somewhere, will probably put a fence around the bunkers, too.

The new headquarters of Gen. Westmoreland, two dozen additional generals, a flock of admirals and assorted ambassadors sit on the edge of Tan Son Nhut Airport the world's busiest and least protected airfield.

Tan Son Nhut has been hit by the VC's more often than we've hit Ho Chi Minh's jet bases in the north.

"We're sure making it easier for Charlie, building a place like this," a wry old colonel told me.

"If he misses the airfield with one of his mortar lobes, the chances are good that he'll hit us."

"If he misses us, he'll probably hit the airfield."

"Maybe we ought to paint a big bull's-eye on our roof. We've done everything else to make it soft for him."

The fence that will stretch across the neck of South Vietnam just below the DMZ will not dam the flow southward of North Vietnamese troops and their supplies.

They'll simply filter and seep around it, through the countless passes and trails of a tolerant neutral Laos, and enter South Vietnam farther south than usual.

We will not build a fence along the border of Laos. We don't have that much wire.

What the fence will do, however, is rule out any further possibility that the North Vietnamese army will stream across the DMZ in force.

The Marines have collapsed several such dangerous build-ups by attacks inside the DMZ.

The fence will save Marine lives and limb, which automatically makes it a fine investment no matter how much scorn is heaped upon it by its critics.

Reforms . . .

The New York Times

With the House of Representatives returning to work today, Speaker McCormack and his aides might well turn their attention to the long-stalled Congressional reorganization bill.

This measure, piloted through the Senate by Senator Monroney of Oklahoma and sponsored in the House by Representative Madden of Indiana, is becalmed in the House Rules Committee.

The covert opposition of powerful committee chairmen is responsible. The Appropriations Committee wants to keep its hearings and key votes closed to the press and public, not open them as the bill would require.

The Education and Labor Committee is opposed to being divided into two committees.

The Government Operations Committee does not like the bill's provision for adding a special staff member to each standing committee to carry out a continuing review of Federal grant-in-aid programs; Government Operations wants to reserve that authority for itself.

In an effort to bring about some movement, Representative Bolling of Missouri has offered a substitute reorganization bill that omits these three controversial features. However, Mr. Bolling proposes other small but useful reforms.

Reader Submits Views on Teachers' Demands

It's time teachers look at their own record before asking for more money. Teachers are not starving but some people are going to be on the verge of starvation if they have to pay more taxes.

Teachers have an over-inflated idea of their own importance. Let's have stricter laws for teachers and stricter teachers with some control who know how to teach a subject.

They only work nine months of the year. What other group has it so good? Let's have good, honest-to-goodness schools instead of showplaces, and teachers who don't demand the world with a fence around it. The public is going to rise up and demand a housecleaning of school boards and teachers. Their demands are becoming way out of line.

'Labor Day Walk Caused Traffic Problems'

I am sick from the cry of politicians and police officials about the highway fatalities. Labor Day it took me one hour and eight minutes to cross the Mackinac Bridge. Three lanes were closed off so George Romney could make his annual walk. Traffic was piled up bumper to bumper for 200 miles.

Why should people suffer because of one show-off? I suggest if Romney wants to get attention he should paddle a kayak across the channel or water ski to Mackinac Island. This way he could show off his nerve and physical strength at the same time, without interfering with thousands of motorists.

Suggests City Tax for Non-Property Owners

Concerning the vote on whether to have a city income tax or raise the property tax, why should non-property owners be allowed to vote on something that will raise the tax on the property owners? Why doesn't the City put a once-a-year tax on the non-property owners? Their children go to school, their cars use city streets, and they have use of everything the property owners are taxed for. Some of them are more able to pay tax than the property owners.

Question and Answer

In the past when I've called the City Library for information, they've always looked it up and given the answer over the phone. Not long ago I asked for something out of Consumers Guide, and the girl said because of a new policy I'd have to go in and look it up myself. What's the reason for this change?

REPLY

No change. That rule applies only to information that might be construed as medical or legal advice, recommendation of one product over another, etc. To avoid any possible misunderstanding that the library itself is giving such advice, those interested are asked to look up that type of information themselves. The reference librarian still gives general information over the phone providing she has the time and the request is not for lengthy, detailed answers.

Reforms . . .

The New York Times

With the House of Representatives returning to work today, Speaker McCormack and his aides might well turn their attention to the long-stalled Congressional reorganization bill.

This measure, piloted through the Senate by Senator Monroney of Oklahoma and sponsored in the House by Representative Madden of Indiana, is becalmed in the House Rules Committee.

The covert opposition of powerful committee chairmen is responsible. The Appropriations Committee wants to keep its hearings and key votes closed to the press and public, not open them as the bill would require.

The Education and Labor Committee is opposed to being divided into two committees.

The Government Operations Committee does not like the bill's provision for adding a special staff member to each standing committee to carry out a continuing review of Federal grant-in-aid programs; Government Operations wants to reserve that authority for itself.

In an effort to bring about some movement, Representative Bolling of Missouri has offered a substitute reorganization bill that omits these three controversial features. However, Mr. Bolling proposes other small but useful reforms.

The additional changes suggested by Representative Bolling are all desirable. Of the three controversial sections that he would drop, only the opening up of the processes of the Appropriations Committee is important enough to risk making a fight for.

Neither bill would make the really far-reaching reforms required in the public interest, but the Bolling substitute is clearly better than nothing.

Despite the concessions it makes to the committee chairmen, however, it will get nowhere unless the Speaker bestirs himself.

Further, he implied that France and Poland should have key roles in bringing peace to Vietnam.

Not content with antagonizing Washington, the general later hinted that Poland and other "Central" European countries ought to take the lead in solving the "German problem."

We wonder how the suggestion — implying an independent stance by the Eastern satellites from that of the Soviet Union — sits in Moscow?

And further, de Gaulle contended that West Germany must recognize the "realities" of today's Europe, notably on boundary problems. This opinion was hardly cheered in Bonn.

We are certain there is a temptation in Washington and other capitals to tell the general where to get off, or even to retaliate by offering suggestions that amount to meddling in French internal affairs.

But the prudent approach — and fortunately one taken by the White House — ought to remain that of biding time until the aging French leader's days at the helm are over.

City to Borrow to Meet Costs

Commissioners Okay
Yearly Note Issue

City Commissioners last night authorized taking steps to issue $2,725,000 in tax anticipation notes to meet expected expenses at the beginning of next year.

Finance Director Edward Gallagher said the borrowing, a yearly procedure, is necessary because of the fiscal year followed by the city.

The fiscal year —from Jan. 1 to Dec. 31 — is set by charter. Most cities follow a fiscal year beginning the middle of the year when tax bills are mailed.

Property taxes are not levied until July 1, but expenses are incurred from Jan. 1, Gallagher said.

State statutes allow borrowing a maximum of 50 per cent of the 1967 operating levy.

NOMINAL INTEREST

The city issued $2.25 million in notes for 1967. Gallagher said interest charges proved to be nominal.

Borrowing of the $2.25 million, the finance director said, entailed paying $36,612 to banks for interest charges; but, because of investments in certificates of deposit of money not needed immediately, the city gained about $32,000.

Actual cost to the city was $4,425 for the use of the money in 1967, he said.

Griffin Votes for Election Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert Griffin, R-Mich., voted Tuesday for an election reform law designed to bring full disclosure of all campaign contributions and spending in presidential and congressional elections. The bill was approved by the Senate 97-0.

Sen. Philip Hart, D-Mich., did not vote, but was listed as being in favor of the bill.

State to License City Drivers

A proposal to have drivers' licensing services transferred from city control to the Michigan Department of State met with city commission favor last night.

City Manager Joseph A. Warren said the administration would be meeting with the state officials to effect the transfer.

Warren recommended the move citing a savings to the city's operational budget.

He said the service would cost the city about $23,000 this fiscal year.

The city receives rebates from the state for providing the service and a new formula passed recently by the legislature would return more money next year. Even then, Warren said, it would cost about $13,000 per year.

Warren said the function can

now be handled by state employees. State officials have indicated the state could take over the service in about 90 days.

In other action last night, the commission

• Agreed to table for two weeks consideration of bids for new equipment at the sewage treatment plant to allow for analysis of the bids.

• Received and took no action on a recommendation of the Planning Commission to amend the zoning ordinance to provide that in rezoning for multiple dwelling units right-of-ways and easements for streets and utilities would have to be provided before site plan approval.

• Set a public hearing Oct. 3 for a board of education request to vacate parts of Hillside and an alley south of Montclair for construction of a new elementary school.

• Set a public hearing for a request to rezone a small area behind 831 W. Huron for parking.

Joseph E. Neippling, director of public works and service said the bids received were higher than anticipated.

City Commissioners heard a plea from a resident of the city to take steps to ensure that the neighborhood would be completely residential.

The city planning commission had recommended denial of the petition.

District 2 Commissioner Robert C. Irwin, speaking on the need for parking behind commercial buildings on Huron, asked the administration to investigate the possibility of the city taking steps to provide such parking.

METHOD CITED

He said one method might be for the city to contact owners of land behind the stores, then provide parking and assessing the commercial frontage for the costs.

'Air Raids Fail to Upset Reds'

Filipino Reports on Haiphong Bombing

MANILA (AP) — A Filipino correspondent in Haiphong Monday during the closest raids U.S. planes have made to the center of the city indicated that the North Vietnamese considered the raids nothing unusual.

"After the clear siren, people were back in the streets as though nothing had happened," Amanda Doronilla reported to the Manila Times.

The U.S. Command reported that Navy pilots bombed a main highway bridge within four-fifths of a mile of Haiphong's center Monday. Other Navy jets struck a railway bridge, a rail yard and a 13-building warehouse complex within two miles of the port city's heart.

Doronilla said he was told "the raiders bombed the Route 5 approaches to Haiphong," and a dead "Route 5, a 105-kilometer (65-mile) highway linking Hanoi and Haiphong, has been bombed and repaired countless times."

GLANCING BLOWS

This was Doronilla's report from Haiphong, which the Manila Times made available to The Associated Press:

This industrial and port city, through which funneled substantial aid from Communist countries to North Vietnam, has received only glancing blows from the United States after two years of escalated bombing. Hanoi and Haiphong, North Vietnam's second largest city, remain on Washington's diminishing list of restricted targets. For destroying Haiphong harbor alone would be a major escalation step with grave military and political risks.

This explains the fact that, although Greater Haiphong proper has been raided 300 times since 1965, much of the city remains intact.

LBJ Told: Make Cuts or Face Tax Delay

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson was on notice today to cut federal spending or face a long delay in congressional action on his proposed 10 per cent income tax increase.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways & Means Committee, the most powerful tax-writer in Congress, acknowledged yesterday that he could not now win approval of the measure because a majority of his 25-man panel is not convinced the administration has made a case for it.

Called to testify on the bill today were former Treasury Secretary C. Douglas Dillon, now a New York stockbroker; Stuart T. Saunders, chairman of the Pennsylvania Railroad; Walter B. Wriston, president of New York's First National City Bank, and former Treasury Undersecretary Robert V. Roosa, now with Brown Bros., Harriman & Co.

During an all-day session with eight economists yesterday, Mills hinted strongly that only big cuts in federal spending would convince the public—and Congress — that higher taxes are necessary.

The President hopes to raise $7.4 billion in new revenue through the proposed surcharge on personal and corporate income tax payments.

SUPPORT FOR PLAN

A small army of economists, both in and out of government, have backed his plan for a variety of reasons: as a means of helping pay for the Vietnam war, fighting the threat of inflation, holding down interest rates, and cutting down an anticipated federal budget deficit that could go as high as $29 billion.

Through yesterday's hearing, Mills expressed his displeasure at the expected high deficit. He said he anticipated a trend to even higher deficits and to more tax increase.

The cautious chairman, who has not publicly stated his position on the tax increase, appeared to be putting pressure on the administration to take some action on cutting spending to reduce the deficit.

At one point he asked: "Don't you think it's better to just hold this matter until there is some action downtown (the executive branch) and in the Congress?"

WOULD SERVE NOTICE

Later, he said "maybe it would be better for us to have a $29-billion deficit . . . with all the problems it will generate." That would serve notice, he added, that future big deficits would not be tolerated.

He agreed, however, with Dr. Raymond J. Saulnier, a former chairman of President Eisenhower's Council of Economic Advisers, that this approach, while "very educational," would be "a grave risk."

Some believe that despite the grumbling in Congress, there will be a tax bill of some kind before the end of the session, though probably not the whole 10 per cent.

The inscrutable Mills seemed to give some support to this probability when he said, apropos of deficit reduction, that a tax increase of 6 to 8 per cent would be only a "drop in the bucket."

And the biggest brakes.
And the biggest trunk.
It's also the heaviest. And the most solid.
And the beat goes on.

This is the 1968 Plymouth Fury.
Building it wasn't easy.
After all, how do you change the most successful car you've ever had?
You build it so it still looks long and low and wide. Only richer.
And much more beautiful.
And the beat goes on.

This is the 1968 GTX.
One in a whole new line of mid-size cars for '68: GTX, Sport Satellite, Satellite, Belvedere, Road Runner.
They're sized right between our big Fury and our compact Valiant.
And the beat goes on.

We gave our Supercar, the GTX, a special new hood with side-facing hood scoops.
And we created a new low-cost, high-performance coupe called the Road Runner.
And the beat goes on.

Engines range all the way from a standard 225 Six and a V-8 that won its class in the Mobil Economy Run—all the way up to a 383, a 440, and Chrysler's famed 426 Hemi.
And the beat goes on.

There are 64 new Plymouths for '68.
Full-size, mid-size, sports cars, wagons and compacts.
We could build a car a minute for an entire year. And never build two exactly alike.

Two States in Legal Battle 'for 'Chattanooga Choo Choo'

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) Brock's order, headed off the Chattanooga raiders have succeeded, at least for a time, in saving their famous "choo-choo" by repeating a raid that was a hanging offense the first time it was tried.

Federal guerrillas were hanged during the Civil War for trying to abscond with the locomotive "general" but the Chattanooga mayor, City Commission and a host of pistol-packing policemen had better luck Tuesday in blocking the engine's return to Georgia.

A court hearing today will determine the permanence of their victory. Chancellor Ray Brock will consider a motion by the Louisville & Nashville Railroad asking him to rescind his injunction which sidetracked the contested engine.

"GENERAL" RETAKEN — Chattanooga city officials, armed with a court order yesterday, seized the Civil War locomotive, "The General." The engine, object of the 1862 Andrews Raid and subject of a Walt Disney movie, was destined for Kennesaw, Ga., but Chattanooga blocked the move.

WHITTIER, Calif. (AP) — Former Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., calls the Vietnam war "a turning point in history." "If we abandon South Vietnam, it will fall... then Laos," Douglas told newsmen while in Whittier for freshman orientation week ceremonies at Whittier College.

"I doubt if we could defend Thailand, and Indonesia would also go to the Communists."

Douglas, 75, said he believes it natural for people to have doubts about the Vietnam war, as many did the Civil War, but he said a majority of Americans seem to support U.S. involvement.

7 Little Boats' Stall Defense Money Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — And, despite strong White House pressures, went on record and insisted by a vote of 233 to 144 that the provision stay in the bill.

MULTIBILLION-DOLLAR
Rep. Robert L. F. Sikes, D-Fla., who had introduced the motion to eliminate the amendment, said it jeopardized a multibillion-dollar deal under which the British would buy eight times as much in military equipment from the United States as the United States would from Britain.

At issue was an amendment the House locked on to the huge bill requiring that all U.S. Naval vessels be built in American shipyards.

The Senate was expected to vote today on whether to leave the clause in the measure.

The amendment is aimed at a Johnson administration decision that would permit British shipyards to bid on construction of seven wooden-hulled minesweepers. Estimated cost of the vessels was $60 million.

The House originally took the action last June 13, and yesterday.

fact the current bill contains about $20 billion for Vietnam alone.

LARGEST EVER
The measure, swollen by Vietnam war requirements, is the largest single appropriation bill ever brought before congress.

A compromise between separate bills passed earlier by the Senate and House, the legislation would finance the nation's armed forces for the 18-month period that began July 1.

But the military tab confronting the taxpayer is expected to be even bigger before the fiscal year is over.

Key members have predicted that President Johnson will ask congress in January for several billions more to pay for the war in Vietnam, despite the

Junior Editors Quiz on FOSSILS

QUESTION: When and how were fossils formed?

ANSWER: Fossils are impressions or traces of animal or plant life from ancient periods which have been preserved, usually in rocks. Since it is possible to determine the date of the different kinds of rock, it is also possible to date the fossils whose imprints are found in them.

Such imprints were made by plants or creatures which died and were covered with mud or other material, which later turned to stone. The creatures and plants rotted away, but their imprints on the rocks remain.

Scientists think the first animals and plants (as at upper left) were probably soft-bodied, but few prints could be made in this way. But in the Cambrian period of about 500 million years ago, animals and plants had body parts hard enough so that many very clear imprints could be made.

Below, Joel and Margie have identified an imprint they have found as that of a trilobite, a swimming creature of the Cambrian period.

Besides such prints of whole animals, many shells, bones, teeth and other hard parts of ancient animals have been found. It is from these that we have our knowledge of the dinosaurs, huge reptiles which lived between about 200 and 600 million years ago.

Make Words a Hobby

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D.
University of Southern California

Don't be one of the typical average students, who sits half-way through a course before he understands thoroughly what the teacher is talking about.

Put a new interest in school this year by making words a hobby! It's fun and will pay big dividends.

Words are the tools for thought and understanding.

Each school subject has a vocabulary of its own which the student must master, both for efficient reading and for listening and learning in class.

***

One of the best ways to speed up learning, both in reading and classwork, is to make a hobby of learning the necessary words.

PRECISE DEFINITIONS

For example: The introductory chapters in a life science book introduce dozens of words, which describe the parts of plants and animal bodies and their uses.

Think about each word until the picture of its meaning appears automatically in your mind as you see the word or hear it. Say it until it rolls comfortably off your tongue.

If you can find no listener try talking to yourself in the mirror or to a chair. Only then can you read the text easily and follow the classwork right from the first day.

***

In science, mathematics and law, words are given precise meanings. General vague ideas of a word's definition are worthless.

STUDY TECHNIQUES DIFFER

For example: In physics, viscosity is the word for resistance to flow. A student must study the word and idea until he understands that 20 weight motor oil has exactly twenty times the resistance to flow that water has.

Chemistry must be studied in a different manner than history.

John diligently studied both his chemistry and history, using identical study procedures.

Although he earned a B grade in history, the same effort only netted him a C in chemistry. John had about come to the conclusion that he lacked the mental capacity for the study of chemistry and mathematics.

I suggested that he spend a few extra minutes making sure that he understood precisely each new word used in the chemistry assignment.

He was also to look ahead and master the upcoming vocabulary in order to understand the new principles and ideas the first time they were discussed in class.

Understanding the current work gave him both confidence and a new drive. He decided to review the course from the beginning with emphasis on the precise meaning of words.

John's understanding of chemistry improved immediately. By the end of the year he had lost his fear of all math and science courses.

Riot 'Ritual' Could Lead to Bargaining Table

By Science Service
CHICAGO—Racial violence in U.S. cities could develop its own ritual — something like labor negotiations — by next summer, a psychologist who has studied the problem predicts. He says that might help reduce the amount of damage done.

Dr. John P. Spiegel of Brandeis University told a panel at the American Political Science Association convention here that civil rights leaders should soon be able to "issue a strike call" threatening demonstrations and violence if specific demands aren't met.

He said that such a ritual pattern of demands, backed up by wide support in the ghetto, would give city administrators more time to cool a threatened riot.

Dr. Spiegel said studies of six American cities, using hour-long questionnaires and face-to-face interviews with rioters, policemen and mayors indicate that riots, take place in four stages. He said the response of the police and administration should vary depending on the stage the riot is in.

The first stage is an incident that can set off the violence, such as the killing of a fugitive or an unpopular arrest. This is followed by a "confrontation period," during which city officials could act by promising a quick investigation or making other calming moves.

"ROMAN HOLIDAY"

If the confrontation period passes without action, there follows what Dr. Spiegel calls a "Roman holiday" phase in which looting and burning take place, mostly carried out by children, with people being hurt.

In this phase, he says, police often either take no action at all, or over-react. If they start shooting, innocent suspects, the riot moves into its fourth stage which he calls simply war.

ALS Serum Brings Greatest Success With Liver Transplants

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — Liver transplants rarely succeed very long unless kidney transplants have been fairly successful. Researchers point out that there is only one liver, whereas there are two kidneys.

The greatest success with liver transplants has come in Denver, Colo., where the longest-lasting transplants have been reported in year-old babies.

The first two infants, surviving longer than any human of any age, have maintained the grafts more than 51 days and 42 days respectively. A third baby, aged 18 months, has received a transplant, too recently to know how it will last.

Credited partly with the recent success is a serum called ALS, or antilymphocyte serum, which was reported about a year ago from the Colorado General Hospital.

The serum is used to reduce the proportion of white blood cells, called lymphocytes, which are involved in the body's rejection of foreign tissue.

TRIED ON DOGS

It was first tried out on dogs, several of which survived more than a year.

The serum is prepared from the blood of horses. ALS was used in conjunction with the drug Imuran.

The liver is the body's biggest and bloodiest gland, and very few transplants have been attempted in humans.

Dr. Thomas E. Starzl of the Veterans Administration Hospital in Denver began transplanting dogs' livers with some success, but the first "initially successful" human liver transplant on record was performed in Denver four years ago on a former Merchant Marine named William Grigsby.

COLLABORATION
Dr. Starzl collaborated with

Dr. William R. Waddell, surgical chief of the Colorado General Hospital, in transplanting the healthy liver of a patient who had died from an inoperable brain tumor in 1963.

The transplant secreted bile and took on other complex liver functions.

At that time, the drug Imuran alone was used to overcome the immune reaction to foreign tissue, and this anticancer therapy, which retards the formation of antibodies, was given to Grigsby each day for three weeks until he died of pneumonia.

The technical part of the operation was a success, and one doctor said it was like surviving a trip in a barrel over Niagara Falls only to be killed by a car the next day.

TRANSPLANTS CONTINUE

But other transplants have continued, not only in Denver but in Boston and elsewhere. Surgeon-in-Chief Francis D.

Moore at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, Boston, transplanted a liver from a patrolman who was shot and killed, but the patient who got it lived only 11 days after his own cancerous liver was replaced.

It is possible to live without a liver functioning for only about 36 hours. In the case of the Brigham patient, the transplanted liver had been cooled for 40 hours before it was transplanted, and the operation was technically successful.

Injuries Delay Missionary's Trip

ANTONIA (AP) — An Oct. 11 trip to Tanzania, East Africa, where he founded a mission hospital, may be delayed for Dr. Joseph Foust, 42, because of injuries.

Dr. Foust mangled the fingers of his right hand when it was caught in the whirling blades of a gyrocopter. He was injured in good condition in Antia County Memorial Hospital.

The physician-surgeon had assembled the gyrocopter for his missionary medical work in Tanzania.

Glass is being used in research to develop vehicles to help men and machinery for deep-sea exploration.

Will Lollipop Lick Shirley Temple?

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—I was talking the other day with a worried Democrat, which, the way things have been going lately, could be almost any Democrat.

This particular Democrat was worried about Shirley Temple, who is running for Congress as a Republican in California.

"How are we going to get people to vote against Shirley Temple?" he asked mournfully.

"It's like getting people to vote against the flag or indoor plumbing or mom's apple pie."

Although I try to maintain a nonpartisan viewpoint, I can't stand to see grown men cry. So I sought to comfort him.

"There, there, old fellow," I said, patting his head. "It may not be as bad as all that. You Democrats may be able to capitalize on the lollipop backlash."

"The lollipop backlash?" he queried, spirits brightening.

"What's that?"

I explained to him that, back in the 1930s, all of the little girls who took dancing lessons were forever being compared, favorably or unfavorably, to Shirley Temple.

"My wife, for instance, can't tell her left foot from her right unless she's wearing different colored shoes. Yet her mother used to say she was 'a regular Shirley Temple.'" In fact, her mother still says that.

Because of Shirley Temple, thousands of ungainly grade schoolers were forced to practice tap steps when they would rather have been skipping rope, playing post office or engaging in other girlish pursuits.

And once a year, at the spring recital, they had to get

FEMALE OPPOSITION

As a result, thousands of little girls grew up hating Shirley Temple. To this very day, they cringe at the mention of her name.

"That is what I mean by the lollipop backlash," I said. My Democratic friend, however, was not entirely reassured.

"A backlash is always a negative thing," he said. "We need a positive factor, a candidate who can out-Shirley Shirley."

"Ideally, we should have an actress who would stir up nostalgia among older voters, and is known to the younger generation through television.

WARM GLOW

"She should have a wholesome image, having played in family pictures that tugged the heartstrings and left the audience with a warm glow. In private life, she should be untouched by Hollywood scandals," he said.

"The only actress I know who meets all of those qualifications is Lassie," I replied.

"You know," he said, snapping his fingers. "I never thought of that."

NY Woman Charged in Child's Death

NEW YORK (UPI) — An attractive, strawberry blonde housewife, Mrs. Alice Crimmins, was free on $25,000 bond today, charged with strangling her four-year-old daughter 28 months ago.

The 28-year-old woman was dragged from her auto by police yesterday in the parking lot of her apartment house. She resisted them, held tightly to the steering wheel, and screamed, "I can't believe it. Is this an indictment? Drop Dead!"

On July 14, 1965, Mrs. Crimmins notified police her daughter and her five-year-old son Edmund were missing from their cribs. The girl was found in high grass near her mother's apartment later that day, the boy's body was discovered, wrapped in a blanket, five days later on an embankment near a superhighway.

Mrs. Crimmins was indicted Monday. The grand jury did not mention her son's death. Officials indicated the investigation would continue, and that the arrest of a man in connection with the slaying was imminent.

Mrs. Crimmins, sobbing and trembling, pleaded innocent to murder. The case was continued until Sept. 24.

HUSBAND COMFORTS SUSPECT — Edmund Crimmins puts a comforting arm around his wife, Alice, after she tripped and fell on stairs while leaving Queens Supreme Court yesterday. She was arraigned on a charge of first-degree murder in the 1965 death of her four-year-old daughter. The district attorney's office did not announce any possible motive in the slaying, which had been under intensive investigation for two years.

Hippie Life 'Love'ly, but Not Healthy

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Whatever the hippie life does for its believers, it is not healthy.

Dr. David Smith, who operates a free medical clinic in the Haight-Ashbury district, said today that upper respiratory infection is almost universal among the "sandal set" "and there's an awful lot of hepatitis and venereal disease."

Smith, who also heads the drug abuse screening unit at San Francisco General Hospital and teaches at the University of California Medical Center, also talked about the drug use incidence.

"Here the figure is 100 per cent," he said. "I haven't seen a kid in the clinic who hasn't used drugs, and most are using them right now."

TOXIC PSYCHOSES

"We are seeing an awful lot of Meth (methamphetamine, a stimulant) problems now," he continued, noting the clinic has been seeing 10 to 20 Meth cases daily, "mostly young kids who are hallucinating, very paranoid and suffering from malnutrition and sleep deprivation." Of 20 Meth patients, the physician estimates that five are suffering toxic psychoses, so disturbed that they should commit themselves to a mental hospital for long-term therapy, "but usually don't."

Smith, a city employee, said:

"We've never received a penny from the city (for the clinic). The work is all volunteer and unpaid. Support comes from donations, mostly raised by rock 'n' roll concerts put on by hippie bands."

Part of the upper respiratory infection problems undoubtedly result from San Francisco's chilly summer weather and the fog, which also must have contributed towards keeping the hippie population down.

"The cold climate (in Haight-Ashbury), particularly during July and August, discourage the hippies from remaining," says Police Chief Thomas Cahill who had worried publicly over a prediction that some 100,000 hippies would invade the city for a summer of love.

"We never had an influx in keeping with the rumors," the chief said. "Discouragement of street from the park—and find the restroom door locked."

Both the chief and Mayor John F. Shelley appealed publicly to parents to keep their kids home and the Board of Supervisors passed a resolution yanking the welcome mat and pointing out San Francisco doesn't have the facilities for such an influx.

Despite city protests, some hippies did sleep in Golden Gate Park, as well as in the streets and in crowded communal pads.

The newly arrived hippie who crawled behind a clump of rhododendron bushes for some post-midnight shut-eye learned that the park's hidden sprinkler system was turned on at day-break.

RESTROOM LOCKED

Wet and cold, he would head for a gasoline station across the

Just how many hippies came and how many are here now may never be known since they wander and are not easily counted. However, city officials and resident hippies agree that about as many have moved out as arrived each week during the summer. With schools reopening, the population is dropping now.

Some estimate the population at any one time at about 2,000, while others say it reached 30,000. Jay Thelin, co-proprietor of the Psychedelic Book Shop, asserts, "There were easily 200,000 in the course of the summer."

What is certain is that the hippies cause police problems. Cahill said 847 runaway juveniles were picked up in the Haight-Ashbury area in the first six months of 1967, more than double the number of the same period in 1966.

Juvenile narcotics arrests rose from 41 to 193 in the 1967 six-month period. Cahill said various felony crimes rose sharply but he did not have a breakdown for hippeland.

Enrollment in Colleges to Top Mark

LANSING (AP) — Enrollment in Michigan public and private colleges and universities will top the 300,000 mark this fall for the first time, says the state superintendent of public instruction, Dr. Ira Polley.

Dr. Polley predicted Tuesday that total part-time and full-time students may hit 315,000 this year compared with a total of about 295,000 in the 1966 - 67 school year.

However, he said such predictions are risky, pointing out that tuition increases at some schools this year "introduce an impossible element into the picture."

Glen Oaks Community College, the newest of the state's community colleges, opens this fall at Centreville, south of Kalamazoo. Four more such colleges are expected to be in operation within the next two years.

STATE AID

State aid to students in the form of scholarships, grants and guaranteed loans will total a new high of almost $10 million this year, Dr. Polley said.

Approximately 13,000 students attending 88 institutions of higher learning will be backed by about $5.2 million in state competitive scholarships.

At the same time, some 6,300 students at 34 private institutions will receive a total of $2.6 million in tuition grants in a two-year - old program serving freshmen and sophomores.

A third state program will account for $2 million in guaranteed state - backed loans to some 2,500 students.

Baby's Heart Is Redesigned

Vessels Are Reversed to Permit Circulation

DETROIT (AP) — Matthew Dean Jones frolics like any other two-year-old, but it's only because of a redesigned heart.

At birth, two important blood vessels were connected to his heart in reverse.

Blood used by his body was being recirculated instead of going to the lungs for new oxygen. And oxygen - rich blood from the lungs, which the normal heart pumps out the body, was being sent right back to the lungs.

Had it not been for a small hole between the sides of Matthew's heart that allowed some of the oxygenated blood to leak into body circulation, doctors say, the boy probably would have died soon after birth.

A 'BLUE BABY'

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dean W. Jones of Clinton, say Matthew was a "blue baby" at birth but otherwise seemed normal. But 11 days later he began failing and was taken to University Medical Center in Ann Arbor for tests.

There his condition was discovered. But doctors judged the boy was too young for an operation, so they temporarily enlarged the hole between the walls of his heart, which was beginning to close.

Then in July they redesigned his heart, switching the paths of the blood entering both sides of his heart by removing the wall that separates the upper chambers and building a new one of a different shape.

"There is every reason to believe that the child will be able to lead a normal life," said Matthew's surgeon.

Since the operation, Matthew is pink-cheeked, the picture of health. He has gained six pounds since July and is catching up rapidly on growth he missed.

YOUR CHILD MAY HAVE PIN-WORMS

Pinworms are a common intestinal parasite that causes itching around the rectum. They are often found in the stool. The only way to get rid of pinworms is by taking a medicine called mebendazole. This medicine is available in a liquid form for children and in a tablet form for adults. It is important to take the medicine exactly as directed. If you are unsure, ask your pharmacist. Don't take medicine with dangerous side effects. Pinworms which infect many families. Get general information on P. W. Testes by mail, map-to-tablet and extra. Special name for children and adults.

Half Comply With Air Pollution Rules

LANSING (AP) — Lt. Gov. William Milliken said Tuesday about half of Michigan's industries are meeting the state's new air pollution standards but emphasized pollution still is a threat in the Detroit area and across the state.

Milliken told a statewide conference sponsored by the chamber of commerce that progress has been made toward curbing dirty air, but added:

"Such cities as Muskegon, Grand Rapids, Kalamazoo, Flint, Saginaw, Bay City and Port Huron all have significant problems. Indeed, fumes, dust, gasses or a combination of these contaminants can be found in almost any Michigan city."

On a recent flight from Detroit to Manistee, he said, "smoke was visible from cities near and far to the north and south, and I am sorry to say that even at 6,000 feet we could smell Manistee before we could see its airport."

RULES IN EFFECT

Milliken noted that new rules regulating density of emission from smokestacks went into effect Aug. 15.

"Michigan has thus placed itself in the forefront of all states in putting air pollution controls into effect," he said.

He added the state's new Air Pollution Control Commission has already received 209 applications from industry for $165 million worth of tax exemptions on antipollution devices.

The commission has processed 177 of the applications and the State Health Department has recommended exemptions totaling $95 million, Milliken said.

Harry R. Hall, president of the State Chamber of Commerce, said industry "has recognized its responsibility by voluntarily spending many millions of dollars to curb pollution at the local level."

Hall said regulations governing air pollution should be made at the state and local levels, rather than by the federal government.

John C. Soet, director of occupational health for the State Health Department, credited an aroused and worried public with passage of the new pollution rules.

People complain about the effects of polluted air on their houses, cars and noses, Soet said, but interviews indicate they are most worried about its effects on their health.

HEALTH CONCERN

"They ask, 'if it does this to the paint on my house, what's it doing to my lungs,'" he said.

The average citizen thinks he can avoid polluted water by not drinking it or swimming in it, Soet said, "but the problem of air pollution is with him every day, every hour, every second."

More than 15 million Americans went abroad in 1966.

Tuesday's News From the Capitol in Capsule Form

By The Associated Press
THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES passed a bill today that would allow air pollution standards while the others are moving to the Senate.

THE SUPREME COURT announced today that it would hear arguments on whether teachers can be required to work although they are not certified by the state. The court also heard arguments on whether the state can require teachers to work although they are not certified by the state.

THE CONGRESSIONAL COMMISSION on the Vietnam War was set up today. The commission will study the war and make recommendations to Congress.

A pain-killing needle that, when inserted in the spinal cord, produces selective arm, trunk and leg pain relief, is described by a neurologist.

White House Fair Fun, Fun, Fun

WASHINGTON (AP)—Everyone had fun at the White House Country Fair.

The President, smiling broadly, introduced his dog, "Yuki," to the kids who swarmed around him as he toured the first carnival ever set up on the grounds of the executive mansion.

The First Lady rode sidesaddle on a palomino carousel horse, soared 42 feet high on a ferris wheel and handed out autographs.

600 YOUNGSTERS

In just two hours, about 600 youngsters aged 6 to 18—children and grandchildren of top Washington officials—gobbled up several hundred hot dogs, 950 boxes of popcorn, 820 frozen custards, 700 pink and purple cones of cotton candy, 600 jelly apples and gallons of soft drinks.

They rode in six antique cars and a miniature plane around the driveways and rode eight ponies around the petunia and geranium-lined fountain.

The White House South Lawn took on the atmosphere of a carnival midway, with striped tents, fortune tellers, games of skill, bingo, sack races and dance contests.

White House staff, wives of officials and husbands pressed into service to cater to the crowd wore carnival style red and white striped vests and red straw hats.

MARINE BAND

They doled out prizes of records, toys and stuffed animals.

The 50-member Marine Band blared music from a stage, with competition from across the lawn where the nine-member "Nightcaps," a group of college students from Maryland appealed to the teen-age dance crowd.

Lynda Johnson turned out in a caramel-colored cowgirl coulotte outfit in midcalf mini length, with matching cowgirl hat. She tried out all the rides and games of skill.

* * *

Robb, her fiancé of three days, was surrounded by reporters and photographers when he appeared in semiofficial daytime military uniform as a White House social aide.

RUNS FOR HELP

The handsome, 28-year-old Marine took flight under the attack, pleading "I'm working — I'm really supposed to be with Mrs. Johnson."

He finally fled for help to Mrs. Johnson's press secretary, Mrs. Elizabeth Carpenter, who took his hand and told the newspaper representatives "He's working — why don't you all get lost."

Robb finally took up his post, escorting his future mother-in-law as she gaily toured the fair, eating popcorn as she took the Ferris wheel ride with Robb at her side.

Mrs. Johnson said she went to country fairs in Texas every year from the time she was 10 to 17. Eying the lofty Ferris wheel apprehensively at first, she said "I guess it's no more dangerous than when I was 11 years old."

PRESIDENT STROLLS

The President strolled out of his office with his little white, brown-eared dog Yuki bounding at his feet.

The President spent about 10 minutes looking over the gay scenes and Yuki had a hard time in the crowds, letting out a yelp once when someone stepped on him.

When Robb finally got off duty, he and Lynda, hand in hand, headed for a Ferris wheel ride, sneaking a kiss or two with the Washington Monument framed in the blue sky behind them.

* * *

Lynda had her fortune told by "Gypsy Rose Jane Freeman" wife of the secretary of agriculture. When she told Robb Mrs. Freeman had predicted a "great future" for her, Robb laughingly replied, "I could have told you that."

ALONE IN THE CROWD—Lynda Bird Johnson, in western hat, and her fiancé, Marine Corps Capt. Charles Robb, who is a White House aide, find time for a few words in the crowd at the outdoor carnival on the White House grounds yesterday. The event resembled a fair with Ferris wheel, carousel, pony rides and other carnival-type attractions. Nearly 600 youngsters joined in the fun. The fair was hosted by President and Mrs. Johnson.

REAL SWINGER—Lynda Johnson, daughter of President and Mrs. Johnson, swings a hefty mallet yesterday on the south lawn at the White House as she participates in the fun at the White House Country Fair. Lynda and her fiancé of three days, Marine Capt. Charles S. Robb, attracted a great deal of attention from reporters and photographers.

How To Hold FALSE TEETH More Firmly In Place

Do your false teeth slip, wiggle, or wobble when you eat, laugh, or talk? Then sprinkle a little FALSETEETH on your plates. FALSETEETH holds denture firmer and more comfortably. Makes eating easier. It's alkaline — doesn't sour. No gummy, goopy, sticky taste or feel. Helps check bad odor. Denture that fit are essential to health. See your dentist regularly. Get FALSETEETH at all drug counters.

Actor LBJ's Guest

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President and Mrs. Johnson entertained actor Hugh O'Brian at a coffee hour at the White House Tuesday in apparent appreciation for his action in taking a road show of "Guys and Dolls" to Vietnam to entertain U.S. servicemen.

WOMEN'S SECTION

So She Claims

A Simple 'Thanks' Is Enough

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a girl in my early twenties who works in an office with several older women.

ABBY

The other women carry their lunches and eat them at their desks. I prefer to go out for lunch every day to get away from the office for a change of scenery. I don't do anything special. I just walk around for the exercise and window shop.

My problem is that several of the women in the office ask me to stop at the department store, which is just around the corner, or the drug store, next door, to pick up something for them. It's no trouble for me, and I enjoy doing these errands as it gives me something to do.

When I get back to the office I always find money on my desk for having done these errands. Abby, I do not like taking their money, but they insist. How can I have my way about this? I have even gone so far as to say that in the future I will not do their errands for them if they insist on paying me, but when I come back, there is always money on my desk. What should I do? Sign me.

"ERRAND GIRL"

DEAR GIRL: If you continue to accept the money — though under the strongest verbal protest — they have a right to assume that you don't really mind taking it — no matter what you say.

DEAR ABBY: I wonder just how many people wrote in to tell you that your Spanish was beautiful. But why did you reply in Spanish to a reader who wrote to you from Brazil?

In Brazil they speak Portuguese, not Spanish. If it makes you feel any better, 99 out of 100 Americans make the same mistake.

BORN IN BRAZIL

DEAR BORN: I quit coming after 1,000. Believe it or not, I actually knew better. I just goofed. Color me pink.

DEAR ABBY: We live in a very "good" neighborhood, and our problem is an extremely well-to-do and influential family who, on very warm days, permits their two pre-school children to play in their backyard absolutely nude and in full view of the public.

What should we do? They are not the kind of neighbors who would accept criticism kindly. We are . . .

CONCERNED AND DISGUSTED

DEAR C AND D: Advise your local police department of your concern — not your disgust. They should in turn apprise the parents of the risks involved when young children are exposed in this manner.

Troubled? Write to Abby, care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056. For a personal reply, inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

New MSU Students

EAST LANSING (AP) — About 7,000 new students are expected to check into Michigan State University as MSU's dormitories open their doors and the school's Welcome Week begins.

Theatre Cast Presented for Opening Production

Two actresses new to the John Fernald Company of Oakland University's Meadow Brook Theatre were among the group introduced Tuesday at a press party in Detroit.

Leora Dana and Bonnie Hurren will play in the first production opening Oct. 6, "The Importance of Being Earnest."

Herbert Foster is another new member of the cast, along with veterans of the first season: Curt Dawson, George Guidall, John Cameron, Barbara Caruso and Betty Sinclair.

George Guidall returns to his home on the Scripps estate with his bride of two weeks.

He will have a hand in directing one of the plays this season, "And People All Around." John Broome will share directing chores.

FAMILIAR FACE

Miss Dana should be familiar to players because of her frequent appearances on many of the major dramatic television shows and in motion pictures.

A native New Yorker, she did her most recent work with the National Repertory Theatre on Broadway, costarring with Eva Le Gallienne and Sylvia Sidney.

Bonnie Hurren is also a native of the United States, but her professional career has all been in England and other parts of Europe.

Her role as Cecily in "The Importance of Being Earnest" is one she created at the Harrogate Opera House.

Herbert Foster, a Canadian, toured this summer with Eric Berry who is directing the first play and Joan Fontaine. He has played professionally in Canada and England as well.

Oakland County cochairmen are the Howard H. Fitzgeralds and the James L. Howletts.

Season tickets are now on sale at the box office in Wilson Hall.

AAUW Book Sale Set for Next Week

This will be the 49th year of the Birmingham branch, American Association of University Women's (AAUW) book sale.

The YMCA on West Lincoln Road will again be the scene of the annual event proceeds of which are used for summer grants to local women teachers and added to the national AAUW fellowship fund for advanced study.

The sale takes place from Monday through Thursday from 9 a.m. until 9 p.m. and on Friday from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m.

"Well, all right, I'll go along with this 40th annual Birmingham American Association of University Women's book sale," says adorable little Pamela Sichler. Her mother, Mrs. Edward Sichler of Birmingham is a cochairman of the event.

Can Only Stretch Food Dollar So Far

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Dear Mary Feeley:

We're becoming the hamburger family of the century! I have to limit myself to $40 a week to feed the 10 of us—eight children, ranging from age 18 down to one year. Close to $5 a week goes to the corner grocer for bread and last minute needs, and the milkman get around $10 a week.

My husband says I am slightly money hungry. And I am—to pay bills, and clothe our children and give them a few pennies allowance and stop praying that no one gets sick or that nothing in the house will need repairs.

Would you tell me what we should be paying for food and milk, at the minimum level, for a family this size?

My husband brings home approximately $135 a week. We sold our car so there's no expense there. But I can't whittle down our doctor and dentist bills. Grandparents meet at least half of our clothing needs, thank heaven.

In your opinion, does my husband have a moral obligation to look for a higher paying job, even though he likes his present one, or ask for a raise? Or do I have the obligation to be content with what he provides? There are many jobs that he could look into that might pay more, if he'd only inquire. Mrs. L. E., Madison, Wis.

Dear Mrs. E.: Seems to me that the sight of eight faces around the dinner table would send him scurrying after a bigger paycheck. But you're treading on delicate ground when you try to interfere with a man and his job.

Changing from a job he's used to and likes to one that's uncertain or less congenial involves an emotional risk for him—and consequently for you.

As for asking the boss for a raise—can he justify it with anything more persuasive than the fact that he has eight children to support? Some employers would tend to point out he should have thought of that ahead of time. However, I do think your husband has no moral right to expect you to work financial miracles.

He could at least look into other job opportunities—he does owe his family that much before he makes up his mind there isn't a higher-paying job in existence which would suit him.

You, of course, in the role of a good wife, must feel obligated to make do with what your husband provides. It's a fact that some men just aren't go-getters and you can't convert them into dynamo no matter what. But frankly, I'd keep on encouraging him, with sympathy and no fireworks, to try and better himself financially. What have you got to lose?

And how about taking the older children into the family financial discussions, so they will feel a responsibility to contribute what they can through part-time jobs? It wouldn't be necessary to belittle their father's earning capacity in order to get your point across.

Now for food costs—you're operating below the minimum level now. Department of Agriculture estimates of national spending put the Low Cost food plan at $56.34 a week for your size family, with corresponding ages. This is after subtracting 10 per cent for a family of more than six members, since cost per person is less the larger the family.

You might be interested in writing to the head of Big Families of America, Stanley W. Bomer, P.O. Box 885, Norwalk, Conn.

Dear Mary Feeley:

An inheritance of $5,000 in June 1942 has been drawing interest beginning at three and 3/4 per cent, then four per cent and in the last two years four and 1/2 per cent. A safe norm would be four per cent. I think compounded annually.

Could you give me the approximate amount of dividends this inheritance has paid in the 25 intervening years? I'd be most grateful. M.E.F., Burnham, Ill.

Dear M.E.F.: Figuring interest at four per cent compounded annually, your $5,000 would have grown to $15,794 by now. So your dividends would be $10,494—before taxes.

You can write Mary Feeley in care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P.O. Box 8, Pontiac, Mich. 48056.

MRS. HERBERT MUSSEN

MRS. DAVID COLEMAN

Evening Rite Unites Pair on Saturday

In a double ring ceremony Saturday eve at the First Methodist Church in Birmingham, Nancy Jane Muelenhagen became the bride of Herbert Thomas Mussen.

She is the daughter of the Hugh W. Muelenhagens of Waddington Road. Her parents are the Harry L. Mussen of Milford.

The bride wore a white satin gown with a bouffant skirt, high rise w-lst, and long pointed sleeves. She carried a bouquet of white sweethearts with Stephanotis.

Shirley Muelenhagen was maid of honor for her sister. Kathleen Booth, Margaret Peck, Mrs. Rudy Mancini, and Mrs. Edwin Sparkman were bridesmaids.

Edwin Sparkman was best man with ushers Larry Hoy, Hugh Muelenhagen, Steven Lowe, Donald Mussen, and Charles McDowell.

Following the wedding a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. From there the couple left for a honeymoon in New York.

They will live in Ypsilanti where the bridegroom attends Eastern Michigan University.

Name Omitted

The name of the former Paula Elaine Dalby, now Mrs. William Bigler, was omitted from the wedding story in Monday's Pontiac Press.

Hostess Sets Pace

A hostess takes the first mouthful of food at a dinner party. Once all the guests have been served, she should begin eating immediately.

Linda Berry Is Bride of R. E. Johnson

Linda Jean Berry and Roger Edward Johnson exchanged vows Saturday evening in Sunnyside Chapel. The bride is the daughter of the Robert E. Berrys of Riviera Terrace.

Parents of the bridegroom are the Russell C. Johnsons of Savoy Street.

The former Miss Berry carried a bouquet of white roses with blue Stephanotis and ivy. Her floor length gown of silk organza and Chantilly lace featured an Empire bodice with a bateau neckline.

A shoulder length silk illusion veil was secured with a Swedish tiara.

Claudia Helm of Indiana was maid of honor and Linda Matteson and Judy Farand were bridesmaids. Steve Nelson was best man and Daniel Schweigert, David Galloway, Terry Coasta, and the bride's brother, Randy were ushers.

A reception was held in the church parlors.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Johnson are honeymooning in northern Michigan.

MRS. ROGER JOHNSON

A floral gift from members of the Pilot Club of Pontiac, Inc. is given to Seminole Hills Nursing Home director of nursing, Mrs. Susan McCarthy. Presenting it are (from center) Mrs. Glen Dolan of Menominee Road and Mrs. Edgar Arnold of North Cass Lake Road.

Pilot Club Has Plans to Use Party Proceeds

Mrs. Glen Dolan and Betty Jane Arnold are cochairmen of this year's annual benefit card party being sponsored Monday by the Pilot Club of Pontiac, Inc.

Working with them on other committees are Mrs. Edgar Arnold and Mary Elizabeth Marcero. Proceeds will be used to benefit the community service projects selected by group.

Tickets may be purchased in advance from any member or at the door Monday in First Federal Savings of Oakland.

Colemans Are Married

Wedding vows were exchanged in the Kingdom Hall of Jehovah's Witnesses Saturday morning between Sharon Lee Agee and David G. Coleman.

Parents of the bride are the Felton R. Ages of Porter Road in White Lake Township. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Coleman of West Iroquois Road.

The former Miss Agee wore a Dior head piece with lace and seed pearl appliques and shoulder length veil. The bodice of her gown was Chantilly lace with seed pearls and her skirt was peau de sole.

Maid of honor was Sandra Eddy. The bridegroom's brother, Bruce Coleman, was best man. Attendants were Denita Burns, Richards Moats and Steven Clark.

A reception at Bedells followed.

Satin Gown for Bride of Mr. Benson

Afternoon vows in the First Free Methodist Church of Pontiac were repeated by Elizabeth Morris and Duane Benson.

The bride wore a gown of satin peas in A-line styling with seed pearl trim for the ceremony Saturday. Her ensemble featured a chapel train with matching appliques on the skirt.

Her shoulder length veil was held in place by a double crown of pearls and crystal. Peach and white gladioli were carried in a cascade, featuring coral roses as accent.

Cheryl Leatherman of Racine, Wis. was maid of honor and Karl Benson of Wilmore, Ky. was best man.

Others in attendance were Mrs. Larry Stoner and sisters of the bride, Mrs. Terry Dickinson and Mrs. George Holsworth Jr.

Ushers were Neil Benson, Charles Morris, Gary West and James Klein.

Gail Marie and George T. Holsworth III were flower girl and ring bearer.

Parents of the bridal couple are Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Morris of Oakhill Street and Mrs. Edythe Benson of Charlotte.

MRS. DUANE BENSON

Talk Is Open to the Public

The public is invited to hear Dr. Milton Covinsky, professor of history at Wayne State University, speak on Tuesday at Temple Beth Jacob.

Mrs. Henry Winkelmah, program chairman of the Sisterhood, announces that Dr. Covinsky's subject will be "Conflict of Values in Today's Culture."

The provocative title "YOU" will be used as a theme for the opening meeting and throughout the year by the Sisterhood.

Luncheon chairman, Mrs. Ben Swimmer, will be assisted by Mesdames: Robert Gash, Robert Chinman and Nat Morrison.

Working on arrangements are Mesdames: Sidney Barnett, Herman Stenbuck, Michael Nosanchuk, Herbert Bisger, Jerome Fanger, Lee Fisher, Sanford Greenspan, Malcolm Kahn, Paul Mandel and Kenneth Dickstein.

The meeting begins with dessert at 12:30 p.m.

The vanilla bean comes from a species of orchid.

Localites to Sponsor 'GWTW' for School

A special committee of Northwood Institute supporters headed by the Frederick K. Cady and the Paul M. McKenney has planned the Oct. 18 gala to raise funds for a new advertising-marketing building on the Midland campus.

Sights and sounds of the Civil War will be highlighted at a Detroit premiere of "Gone With the Wind" as the film returns in a new wide-screen version to the Madison Theatre, Detroit.

The film classic's opening night kick-off is the start of a campaign drive by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Vanderliot.

Other couples involved in the event include Mr. and Mrs. James M. Roche, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil E. Boyd, the Herbert Fishers, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest A. Jones, the Kenneth G. Manuels, the Robert S. Markers, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Adams.

More are Mr. and Mrs. David J. Gillespie, Mr. and Mrs. Roy D. Chapin Jr., Mr. and Mrs. William D. Laurie Jr., the Arjay R. Millers, the Oscar L. Olsons, the John S.

Pingels, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph G. Standart, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Wilson Jr. and John A. Adams.

Greeting arrivals in a splash of Klieg lights and red carpet will be a modern day Scarlett to add to the evening's glamour.

Limit Water for Cabbage

To help cabbage retain its green color while cooking, cook it in a small amount of water. Steam the shredded cabbage with just enough water to keep it from sticking. And there should be scarcely any water left in the pan when the cabbage is tender, crisp, and done. Keep the saucepan covered while it is cooking, but occasionally lift the lid to see how it is getting along, and to prevent sticking.

White Flatters

SEW SIMPLE By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice Farmer, Please tell me if it is necessary to line a dress when the material has a bonded backing. Mary K.

Dear Mary K.: It depends on the reason the fabric has been bonded. Some of your very fine woolens which are loosely woven are bonded with a cheesecloth fabric just to keep the yarn on grain. In this case, you may line or underline depending on the style of garment.

In your less expensive ready-to-wear you will find a great many garments made of bonded fabrics where no lining or underlining is used. For quick sewing and for children's clothes, it would be all right not to line. The bonding of fabrics has not been entirely successful; you may find it has separated. This usually will not happen in dry cleaning but when fabric is laundered.

TAILOR TRIX WINNER

Mrs. E. G. Brady, Harrisburg, Ky., is this week's Tailor Trix pressing board winner for her suggestion on pressing napped fabrics.

If you don't have the proper equipment available for pressing velvets or napped fabrics, try the following method: Stand your iron on the end and cover it with a damp cloth. Then hold the fabric lightly and run the wrong side of the fabric across the iron. This will steam out wrinkles or press seams without harming the nap.

Dear Eunice Farmer, In reading fashion news, I notice that they always refer to the size of the buttons by calling them "X" number of lines. How large a button would a 36 line button be? Mrs. D. F.

Dear Mrs. D. F.: There are so very many sizes in buttons that a basic type measurement was necessary and is used throughout the industry as a uniform guide. The standard set up is 40 lines equal one inch. A size 36 is the size of a dime, a 36 the size of a nickel, size 45 the size of a quarter.

Try to keep this part of my column in your reference file, and you will understand the sizing. Remember to make buttonholes 1/8 to 1/4 inches longer than the button. If you are using a large dome or round button, the buttonhole will have to be larger than this.

Now that we're all back at the sewing machine again with summer over, you will be faced with the necessity of setting in sleeves. This is one of the most troublesome of all techniques if you don't know what you are doing. You will find my leaflet, "All About Sleeves" most helpful because of the easy to follow, step by step instructions.

Send a self-addressed, stamped envelope plus 10 cents to Eunice Farmer, in care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48066, with your request.

Viet Victors Squabble Over Spoils

N. Viet to Switch to Solar Calendar

Relocation Aid Is OK'd

SAIGON (AP) — Chief of best known member of the ruling State Nguyen Van Thieu and his junta, is reported to have in Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, the minister of economy, the presidential election, are and the pacification minister. quabbling over which victor President-elect Thieu told Ky gets which spoils, informed he could hand out any jobs but sources said today.

The Armed Forces Council SOFTEN ANTAGONISM which has ruled South Vietnam U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth by decree for the past two years Bunker has been in touch with is holding meetings to decide both men in an attempt to soften who will make up the new government.

Vice President-elect Ky, the The first open rift between the winners in the Sept. 3 presidential election came last Friday when Thieu refused to appear with Ky on a U.S. television program. Ky was forced off the program.

A meeting of the Armed Forces Council last Saturday broke up after 15 minutes when Thieu and Ky became embroiled in a bitter argument, informants said. They said Ky threatened to resign the vice presidency but friends talked him out of it.

Ky gave a reception as premier Monday for his Cabinet. One guest said the affair was like a funeral and that Thieu and Ky avoided each other throughout the party.

SENATE TICKET

Although the flamboyant Ky for many months was the front man for the military regime, he is at a disadvantage since the tickets he supported for the Senate Foreign Minister Tran Van Do or Nguyen Lau Vien, the pre-elect. The winners are expected to back Thieu rather than Ky in any showdown.

A major issue between the two men at the moment is who will be the new premier. Ky is reported to favor Nguyen Van Loc, a lawyer who represented the Thieu-Ky ticket at the all-candidate campaign rallies which the two military leaders boycotted. Thieu is said to want Foreign Minister Tran Van Do or Nguyen Lau Vien, the pre-

TOKYO (AP) — North Vietnam announced Tuesday it will replace the lunar calendar with the solar one as its official calendar effective Jan. 1.

Hanoi's official Vietnam News Agency said the North Vietnamese government, in announcing the action, said the lunar calendar will continue to serve only as basis to fix the date of popular and other traditional festivals and historic anniversaries.

LANSHING (AP) — Relocation officials and representatives of assistance plans for Flint, Jack, Saginaw Valley College over son, Lansing, Saginaw and Ypsilanti were approved Tuesday by the State Highway Commission.

College officials had been concerned about how the new highway will affect access routes to the college.

The commission was told the highway projects must be approved by the commission and State Administrative Board before highway jobs can be placed under contract.

The commission agreed to a meeting between highway officials and the sun, 93 million miles away.

Navy Still Searching for 'Embarrassing' Shipful of Explosives

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — The hulk of a World War II Liberty ship, laden with 2,000 tons of old bombs, has been lost somewhere on the ocean floor near the Aleutian Islands.

It has been there, embarrassing the Navy, for four weeks, despite the Navy's best efforts to find it.

If it goes off, it will have about 10 per cent of the force of the atomic blast that leveled Hiroshima in World War II. But the Navy, which sunk it deliberately and then lost it, says there is no danger.

The ship, the Robert Louis Stevenson, was deliberately scuttled near Amchitka Island on Aug. 15. Its cargo was supposed to explode automatically when the hulk reached a depth of 4,000 feet as a test of earth-quake and blast detection.

But the Stevenson sank more slowly than expected and drifted away to sink in only 3,500 feet of water, some 17 miles southwest of the island. The big bang was designed to test the Defense Department's Advanced Research Projects Agency's worldwide seismic nuclear test detection network.

Seismograph records from the blast were to have been compared with those from an earlier earthquake at the same site.

An attempt to set off the explosion by bombing it from the air on Aug. 25 failed. Three 2,000-pound bombs armed with pressure fuses were dropped in the area where Stevenson was thought to lie. But none of them exploded either.

Since then the Navy has concentrated on accurately locating the hulk with the help of sound echo gear such as is used to search for enemy submarines.

SEARCH HAMPERED

The search for the sunken ship has been hampered by the fact that its cargo is fused with pressure-sensitive bombs set to explode at 4,000 feet. At 3,500 feet it should be poised on the knife-edge of detonation.

Navy scientists have been afraid to sail too near the presumed location of the sunken hulk for fear that passage of a ship would provide the remaining pressure needed to detonate the explosion.

Since they have no way of telling just how sensitive the bomb mechanism is, they have been keeping all ships at least two miles away.

Exactly where the ship is a mystery, since it drifted some 15 miles through the fog at night while slowly sinking. Though Navy technicians followed it on radar until it disappeared from their screens, that did not give them a good enough fix to pinpoint the hulk on the bottom.

TO SET CARGO OFF

Once the Stevenson is located, they plan to attempt to set its deadly cargo off by exploding a depth charge nearby. That, Navy engineers hope, will provide enough extra pressure to detonate the small bombs that, in turn, will set off the entire two-kiloton blast.

Latest plans for the search involves sending the Silas Bent, a Navy oceanographic research ship, into the area.

The Bent will trail behind it a magnetometer — an instrument that, hopefully, will pick up disturbances in the Earth's magnetic field caused by the large iron hulk.

This admittedly dangerous scheme will be tried since all attempts to locate the hulk from a distance using sonar have failed. Once the Bent thinks it has lost the Stevenson, it will open a TV camera on a cable ship to confirm the identification. In the event that all attempts customer to a post in the base-

Navy says it will simply abandon the hulk where it is. But first, Navy officials say, every effort will be made to ascertain that it will not be a hazard.

Gunmen Get $250

DETROIT (AP) — Two gun-toting men escaped with $250 from the cash register of a Detroit bar Tuesday after ordering the Stevenson, it will open a TV camera on a cable ship to confirm the identification. In the event that all attempts customer to a post in the base-

Use an Electric Skillet to Bake English Muffins

Set a British table some special morning. Serve homemade English muffins with marmalade and let your family enjoy a traditional English tea break with its most traditional topping.

Serve Edwardian English Muffins with eggs, sausage and grilled tomatoes or tomato juice and you'll set the table for a culinary history lesson. The children will love hearing why you call them "Edwardian" muffins and why you call their favorite orange jam "Oxford Marmalade." And you'll have fun telling them the story of what they're eating.

The marmalade and the muffin grew up separately, you might say, and became a team at the English tea table.

Marmalade came from Scotland and, as one history puts it, "conquered the rest of the British Isles." It took hold in England and enjoyed particular popularity among Oxford undergraduates; hence, Oxford Marmalade.

The English muffin is a native Briton — and one of the most vivid domestic memories of Edwardian England.

The strolling muffin man was a common sight (and sound) on early twentieth century English streets, calling gaily to English householders as he sold his famous, fresh-baked muffins door-to-door.

We've Americanized the muffin a bit by adding a corn meal crunch — but we think you'll love this new version.

Edwardian English Muffins
1 cake compressed or 1 pkg. dry yeast
¾ cup lukewarm water
1½ cups milk, scalded
3 tablespoons sugar
1½ teaspoons salt
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 egg, slightly beaten
¾ to 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
¾ cup enriched corn meal

Soften yeast in lukewarm water. (Use warm water for dry yeast.) Pour scalded milk over sugar, salt and butter. Cool to lukewarm. Beat in egg and 1 cup flour. Add softened yeast and corn meal. Stir in enough more flour to make a soft dough.

Turn out on lightly floured board or canvas; knead until smooth and satiny, about 10 minutes. Round dough into ball; place in greased bowl. Cover and let rise in warm place until double in size, about 1 hour.

Punch dough down. Roll out to ¼-inch thickness on board or canvas heavily sprinkled with corn meal. Cut with 3-inch round cutter.

Place on waxed paper sprinkled with corn meal. Cover and let rise until nearly double in size, about 45 minutes.

Heat lightly greased griddle to medium-hot (325 degrees F.). Place muffins, corn meal side down, on grid. Bake about 8 minutes on each side or until golden brown.

Split horizontally; toast. Serve with butter and orange marmalade. Makes 2 dozen.

Two Creams Are Topping on Fruit

Serve Chantilly Cream over fresh fruit of the season either for salad or dessert.

In a chilled bowl whip ¼ cup whipping cream until stiff; fold in ¼ cup dairy sour cream, then add 3 tablespoons sifted confectioners sugar and ½ teaspoon vanilla. Yields 1½ cups. Chantilly Cream will keep a day in the refrigerator.

Child's Lunch Box Should Hold Third of Day's Food

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

The lunch box brigade has gone back to school. Mothers are faced with the task of making thousands of sandwiches in the coming months.

While we believe in variety in planning meals, we say if a youngster is happy day after day with a peanut butter sandwich, don't fight it! He's getting good nourishment from the peanut butter and it's cheaper than luncheon meat.

Maybe you can ring in a few changes with the bread you use.

If he's a hot dog fan too, he'll enjoy one in his lunch. Suspend said hot dog by a thread in a thermos of hot water or hot soup.

Incidentally, "thermos" is now considered a word in common use and no longer a brand name, so we no longer need to capitalize it or use the term "vacuum bottle."

For the child who is willing to try something different, here are some new sandwich suggestions:

CORNED BEEF-CHEESE SANDWICHES

4 green onions, sliced
1/2 teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
2 tablespoons vinegar
1 tablespoon water
2 tablespoons soft butter or margarine
12 slices enriched bread
8-12 thin slices corned beef
4 (1 ounce) slices Cheddar cheese

Combine sliced onions, salt, pepper, vinegar and water; let stand about 15 minutes, then drain liquid off. To assemble sandwiches: Spread 1/2 teaspoon butter over bread slices.

Place 2 to 3 slices corned beef on 4 buttered bread slices, cover with another bread slice and top with a slice of cheese.

HAM 'N EGG SANDWICHES

1/2 cup ham salad or deviled ham
2 hard-cooked eggs, sliced
8 slices wheat bread

Spread 3 tablespoons ham salad over each of 4 bread slices; top each with 1/2 a sliced egg and another slice of bread.

LITTLE RED INDIAN SANDWICHES

1 cup drained, cooked or canned kidney beans
1 tablespoon slaw dressing

2 tablespoons chopped celery
2 teaspoons chopped onion
1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
4 sliced sandwich buns
4 strips crisp, cooked bacon

Mash or sieve beans; add slaw dressing, celery, onion and

CRANBERRY-CHEESE SHARPIES

1/2 cup sharp cheese spread
1/4 cup whole cranberry sauce
4 sliced frankfurter buns

Spread 1 tablespoon cheese spread over cut side of each bun half. Place matching bun halves together with 1 tablespoon cranberry sauce in between. Yield: 4 Cranberry Cheese Sharpies.

A completely new twist is a Mexican style sandwich. This used toasted tortilla instead of bread.

LUNCH BOX TACOS

12 tortillas
Shortening
Canned refried beans (unheated)
1 cup grated cheese

Remove tortillas from freezer and place in refrigerator overnight to thaw. Fry in deep fat until crisp. (Fold the tortillas while frying by holding edges together loosely with tongs. They should be open enough to fill without breaking.)

Drain on paper towels and salt lightly. Spoon beans from can into taco shell and sprinkle generously with grated cheese.

Every lunch needs some kind of vegetable, whether it's lettuce in the sandwich, a tomato to eat whole or carrot and celery sticks.

Every lunch needs fruit of some kind. The squatty little thermos jars that keep food cold are excellent for the more soupy fruits. But the big apple is always welcome.

Then there should be a surprise, usually on the sweet side. Active youngsters can take more desserts than sedentary grownups.

A popcorn confection is one they should like.

CHOCOLATE CANDY CORN

6 quarts unsalted, popped popcorn
3 cups sugar
1 cup light corn syrup
1/2 cup water
1/2 cup butter
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1 cup chocolate-covered raisins (about 1/2 lb.)
1 cup chocolate-covered raisins (about 1/2 lb.)

Put popcorn in a large, well-buttered bowl. Combine sugar, syrup, water, butter and salt in saucepan. Heat slowly to boiling, stirring until sugar dissolves. Cook to 280 degrees (soft crack).

Pear syrup is fine stream over popcorn; mix until evenly coated with syrup. Sprinkle peanuts and raisins over mixture; stir quickly. Spread out on large buttered surface or waxed paper.

Separate into bite-sized pieces with forks. Cool. Makes about six quarts.

2 Seafoods Make Elegant Fondue

Serve Lobster Fondue as exciting party refreshment or an elegant lunch or supper entree.

In a chafing dish or saucepan, combine 1 can (10 ounces) frozen condensed cream of shrimp soup and 1/2 soup can milk; heat slowly until soup thaws. Add 1/2 cup shredded sharp cheese, 1/2 cup chopped cooked lobster, dash each paprika and cayenne pepper. Heat; melts.

If you wish, add 2 tablespoons sherry. Use as dunk with chunks of French bread spread with dill butter or pour over toast slices spread with dill butter. Makes 3 to 4 servings.

MARKET BASKET

Orange Chiffon Pie Is Both Tart and Sweet

Attention lassies! Here's a sensational new pie flavor to serve your favorite laddies — butterscotch-orange.

Imagine all the old-fashioned mellowness of butterscotch combined with the fresh snap of orange. Fold whipped egg whites into this luscious mixture and you have a light, golden Butterscotch-Orange Chiffon Pie.

Whoever coined the phrase "easy as pie" might well have had Butterscotch-Orange Chiffon Pie in mind.

The filling features butterscotch flavored morsels which melt smoothly and blend easily with the other ingredients. The technique is simplicity itself.

No good luck charms needed, not even for beginners!

What a dessert to impress company! Serve it the next time you entertain or surprise your family with this beautiful pie.

Butterscotch-Orange Chiffon Pie

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1 1/4 cups orange juice
1 1/2-ounce package (1 cup) butterscotch flavored morsels
1/4 teaspoon salt
4 eggs, separated
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
1/2 cup sugar
1 9-inch baked pastry shell or crumb crust

Sprinkle gelatin over orange juice in saucepan. Add butter-

Sugar Plays Role Beyond Sweetness

Not for sweetness alone is sugar so essential to many different foods. Sugar also provides blending, and intensifies the flavor taste of other ingredients. Adds texture and mouthfeel along with body or viscosity to foods. Aids in color maintenance — or produces browning by caramelization.

Sugar feeds yeast, strengthens gluten, and tenderizes flour in mixtures; stabilizes e.g. foams; and in jams and jellies (and other foods too) sugar is a preservative.

Doughnut Half Was Proposal

NEW YORK (UPI) — A jelly doughnut once was a coffee-house token of betrothal. The Pan-American Coffee Bureau says Viennese men proposed to their sweethearts by inviting the ladies to a cafe.

The proposal came when the swain offered his sweetheart half of his fashingskräpen, or jelly-filled doughnut.

Lesser Plaudits for O'Neill

Bergman's Return Is Cheered

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A star-filled audience cheered Ingrid Bergman's return to the American stage Tuesday night and gave lesser plaudits to her vehicle, Eugene O'Neill's "More Sincerely Mansions."

The Swedish actress drew immense applause upon her entrance in the tragedy and received a roar of approval at her curtain calls. Among the first-nighters were Rosalind Russell, Gregory Peck, Alfred Hitchcock, Donna Reed, Art Linkletter, Eva Marie Saint, Jim Nabors and Jack Oakie.

"More Sincerely Mansions" is the last O'Neill play to premiere in America. Begun in 1938 as part of an 11-play cycle it has been produced only in Sweden, where O'Neill has long been a favorite playwright. There are minor figures, but the play is essentially a triangle, depicting the struggle of a mother, her son and his wife for possession of each other.

With Deborah Harford, O'Neill has created a possessive mother as forbidding as any presented by his successors Tennessee Williams and Edward Albee. The wife of an insensitive New England businessman of the early 1800s, she turns her affections toward her son and tries to regain her hold on him after his marriage.

DESTROYS REASON

Although she seems to subordinate herself to the married couple, she in reality takes possession of them and in the process destroys her reason.

All this is heavy stuff, lightened rarely with a touch of Irish humor. For much of the two acts—the huge manuscript was edited to normal play length by director Jose Quintero—O'Neill's poetry and incisive characterizations sustain interest. But the relentless tragedy becomes numbing toward the end.

As the grasping matriarch, Miss Bergman makes use of all the extraordinary talents that won her Academy Awards for "Gaslight," 1944 and "Anastasia," 1955; an Emmy for "The Turn of the Screw," 1960; and other honors.

Her softly accented voice is always clear, and her laughter, even when mocking, is warmly musical. The only drawback to the portrayal is one which should please her as a woman: at 52, she still seems too glowingly youthful to enact an embittered grandmother.

Dearborn Says 'Frisk 'Em'

DEARBORN (UPI) — Voters in this all-white Detroit suburb Tuesday approved a proposal calling for creation of a stop-and-frisk law.

The vote was 17,238 to 3,100. The law, if enacted by the city council or some higher legislative body, would allow police to stop and search any person the police believe might be carrying a concealed weapon.

Civil rights groups have traditionally fought such laws, claiming they were discriminatory against Negroes.

The other ends of the triangle offer sturdy supports: Arthur Hill as the bedeviled son and Colleen Dewhurst as his shanty- Irish wife. Quintero, directing his eighth O'Neill play, treats the master with his usual dignity and respect. Miss Bergman has agreed to appear six weeks at the Ahmanson Theater of the Music Center here and three months at New York's Broadhurst Theater.

21 YEARS TOO LONG — Actress Ingrid Bergman and her daughter, Pia Lindstrom, are a happy pair in the dressing room in Los Angeles last night following the opening night performance of Eugene O'Neill's play, "More Sincerely Mansions." Miss Bergman starred in the play, her first performance on the American stage after a 21-year absence.

2nd Fire Hits Wasp in 3 Days

BOSTON (AP) — Fire caused minor damage Tuesday night to the aircraft carrier USS Wasp for the second time in three days.

The fire apparently started in electrical equipment in a working compartment, a Navy spokesman said. It was quickly extinguished with no injuries.

'68 CHARGER

Like no other Charger you've ever seen. Brand, spanking new from road to roof. Complete with disappearing headlights. Foam-padded bucket seats up front. And eager, economical power from a standard V8 engine. One new touch is handy pockets in the doors for the things that get in your way when you travel. Here's a Dodge that's even a joy to think about.

'68 MONACO

The super-plush Dodge every year, and especially for 1968. Here's a car that'll spoil you for everything else. With V8 power—the slickest, smoothest automatic transmission you've ever said "go" to—and every luxury touch a car this big and this good-looking should have. And yet, its price is a pleasant surprise.

'68 POLARA

A whole lot of car for a lot less money than you'd think. It's big, it's powerful, it's luxurious. And it's priced in the same league with Impala and Galaxie 500. Hard to believe? Well, then. Come in, and let's talk figures. Proving what a wonderful bargain Polara offers you is one of the things we like to do best.

'68 DART

The compact that doesn't look like a compact. Or ride like one. Or act like one. Or cramp your style like one. Here's a compact that's all car. With lots of go and lots of room. With a V8 under the hood if that's what you'd like. And Dart comes in a wide range of body styles. So no matter what style is your style, we have it. Come in and take a look.

'68 CORONET

Another all-new one from Dodge for '68. Coronet, featuring a full lineup of freshly styled models, including an addition to the line, a sharp new coupe. Like all other Dodges for '68, Coronet is sure to give you a good case of Dodge Fever. The only place to cure it is at your nearby Dodge Boys. Come on in.

Rich Chocolate Cake Topped With Glaze

Milk Chocolate Cake is a true County Fair cake winner tested by home economists. It's a big beautiful rich cake with a mild chocolate flavor that's perfectly delicious served plain with just a sprinkling of confectioners sugar or with a thin chocolate glaze.

Light Chocolate Cake
4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
3 cups sugar
1 tablespoon baking powder
2 teaspoons salt
1 1/3 cups solid all-vegetable shortening
2 cups milk

6 eggs
2 teaspoons vanilla
4 squares (4 ounces) unsweetened chocolate, melted
1 cup finely chopped walnuts
In large bowl of electric mixer combine flour, sugar, baking powder, salt, shortening and 1 1/2 cups milk. Beat at medium speed on electric mixer 2 minutes, or beat by hand for 300 vigorous strokes.

Add remaining 1/2 cup milk, the eggs, vanilla and melted chocolate. Beat 2 minutes or solid all-vegetable shortening 300 strokes. Stir in nuts. Pour batter into a greased and floured 10-inch tube pan. Bake in 325 degree (slow) oven 1 hour and 50 minutes, or until cake tests done.

Cool in pan 20 minutes, remove from pan and cool thoroughly on cake rack. Sprinkle with confectioners sugar or spread with Chocolate Glaze.

Chocolate Glaze: In small saucepan, combine 2 tablespoons unsweetened cocoa, 2 tablespoons water, 1 tablespoon solid all-vegetable shortening and 1 tablespoon corn syrup. Stir over low heat until shortening melts and mixture is smooth.

Beat in 1 cup confectioners sugar. A little more confectioners sugar may be added if glaze is too thin. Makes about 1/2 cup.

Won't Be Sweet

Mix poultry seasoning powder with an equal amount of granulated sugar to keep it from lumping when you add it to hot chicken consommé. The sugar will intensify the chicken flavor without making the soup sweet.

Grape Preserves Turned Into Sundae Sauces

Warm weather and ice cream go together! It's the anytime refreshment that appeals to all. But when ice cream is served on special occasions, then it's time to go fancy in the Welch style.

This means concocting some very special sauce recipes to use as topping over ordinary scoops of ice cream placed on a slice of cake.

One exciting example is "Vintage Concord 'n' Cream Sauce." Whole Concord grape preserves, combined with other ingredients including sherry, is used to produce an enticing taste experience.

Another palate fancy is "Grape Strawberry Cream Sauce"! Strawberries and Whole Concord grape preserves are wonderful together and when you add kirsch, you've got a festive topping indeed!

Not to be overlooked is "Grape Macadamia Sauce," so quickly prepared and yummy good.

Vintage Concord 'n' Cream Sauce

1/2 cup whole Concord grape preserves
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
2 tablespoons sherry
1 cup heavy whipping cream
2 tablespoons confectioners' sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla

Combine grape preserves, orange rind and sherry in small saucepan. Bring just to a simmer over low heat, stirring constantly. Let cool.

Whip cream until fluffy; beat in confectioners' sugar and vanilla. Place whipped cream in bowl; pour grape mixture over cream and ripple slightly by running fork through mixture. Chill until ready to use. Makes about 2 1/2 cups.

Suitable ice cream and cake combinations:
Vanilla Ice Cream on Orange Chiffon Cake
Banana Ice Cream on Angel Food Cake

Grape Strawberry Cream Sauce

1/2 cup whole strawberries
1 tablespoon confectioners' sugar
1 tablespoon kirsch
1 cup whole Concord grape preserves
1/2 cup sour cream

Note to new cooks: before removing a butter-tye cake from its pan, loosen the edges with a small spatula. Invert the pan on a wire rack; remove pan; with another rack, turn the cake right side up.

ONE COLOR Campers Ignore Dangers to Feed Begging Yellowstone Bears

By BOB LEERIGHT
YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARK, Wyo. (AP) — The beggar beside the road in Yellowstone National Park may have a blue ribbon in one ear, a pink ribbon in the other, and a bleached spot on his rump. He may look cuddly, adorable and fun-loving.

But he isn't. He's a wild animal—capable of chewing off a chunk of arm or taking a swipe at a face with his long, sharp claws.

But thousands of tourists each year ignore warnings and feed and tease the bears which line the park highways seeking handouts. And each year about 50 to 100 tourists wind up with bear claw scratches or bear teeth marks on their face and hands.

CASUALTIES

It's been several years since any tourist has been mauled sufficiently to require hospitalization, but just south of the park near Ashton, Idaho, a man was severely mauled last spring. Two girl employees were attacked and killed by grizzly bears in Glacier National Park in Montana this summer. But Yellowstone rangers said the tourists still aren't heeding their constant warning to stay away from the 400 to 450 black bears which roam the park.

Through Aug. 1 of this year, 23 park visitors had been injured by the bears, compared with 28 for the same period a year ago. A total of 53 incidents of bear damage had been reported this year compared with 133 during the same period of 1966.

Most of the damage incidents occurred at the camp grounds where bears scrounge for food left open by campers. If the food is left uncovered at night the bears go right through convertible tops, car windows or tents to reach it.

Park rangers said most of the personal injuries occur along side the park highways where bears beg for food and block traffic on the narrow two-lane roads. Tourists are given written warnings about the bears when they enter the park, and it is a federal crime to feed them. But you can rarely drive through Yellowstone when traffic isn't backed up while motorists feed the bears cookies, crackers or poppies while another member of the family snaps a picture.

CHILDREN ENDANGERED

Despite warnings that the bears are wild, some tourists try to get pictures of their youngsters sitting astraddle one of the bears. Park rangers said they can't verify the truth of the story, but there is a rumor among park employees that one tourist even spread honey over his small son's face so he could get a photograph of a bear licking it off.

What generally happens is that Daddy gives Junior a cracker to feed the bear while he takes a picture. Junior holds out the food and the bear ambles toward him. Junior gets frightened and instinctively pulls his arm back. The bear thinks the food is being taken away so he makes a lunge for the cracker—Junior's arm.

A recent survey by the Colorado Cooperative Wildlife Research Unit at Colorado State University shows that the black bears spend from 14 to 210 minutes a day parked along the highways begging for food. Most of the begging is done by Mama bears with a cub or two at her side. The study showed that the male bears beg very little.

Maybe you've wondered about the blue and pink ribbons and the bleached spot. Park rangers receiving reports that a bear has clawed or bitten a tourist or raided a compound brand the bear with a bleached spot and move it to another location within the park. They shoot tranquilizing darts into the bear to temporarily immobilize him while they bleach the bear—with the black bears—most of which are either brown or cinnamon in color despite their name—spend most of the summer around the highways and camp grounds.

EAR RIBBONS

The ribbons in the ear designate that the bear is being studied by the Colorado Cooperative Wildlife Research unit. The color of the ribbon in his right ear indicates the bear's age and the ribbon in the left ear indicates the general area of the park in which he was first observed so his migration habits can be studied.

There's not much association between Yellowstone's 175 to 225 grizzlies and the black bear population, estimated at 400 to 450. The grizzlies have a few camp grounds staked out which they periodically raid, but generally stay in the back country. The

WSU Staffer Dies

CHICAGO (AP)—Dr. Albert J. Boyle, a Wayne State University professor of biochemistry, died Tuesday of an apparent heart attack while attending the American Chemistry Society convention in Chicago. He was 56. Funeral arrangements were pending.

But the bear-proof garbage Thwarted in their garbage can campers may have stored their food. One swipe of a bear's huge claws can rip a convertible top.

William Barnmore, wildlife biologist for the U.S. Park Service, said there is no apparent truth to rumors that the bear's summer diet of crackers, cookies and bread from the rule-breaking tourists is harmful.

VARIED DIET

Barnmore explained that bears—like humans—eat a variety of food and that their natural diet in the fall "builds up their weight to withstand the rigorous winter."

Yellowstone bears used to have two major sources of food in the summer—begging from tourists along the roadside and raiding camp grounds. But development of bear-proof garbage cans at the camp grounds in recent years has largely shut off one source of supply. The new-type garbage cans are quite similar to mailboxes—you can put the garbage in, but it shuts up in such a manner that the bear can't get his paw in.

Harrier Win for Skippers; Captains Lose

The cross country opens for Waterford and Kettering weren't big successes Tuesday as only the WTHS varsity could win.

The Skippers brightened the debut of coach Larry Timm with a 20-38 conquest of North Farmington's varsity, but dropped the 15-50 lopsided reverse meet.

Kettering, meanwhile, was trimmed 20-37 at Clarkston and lost the Jayvee run, 17-45.

Dave Galloway and Butch Penlon finished one-two as WTHS grabbed all but third place among the top five. Galloway was timed in 10:47 and Penlon finished seven seconds behind. Rich Randall of the Raiders nipped Waterford's Dewayne Russell by one second for third place.

At Clarkston, sophomores Bud Mumbower and Mike Ehrkirtz sped the host Wolves past WTHS. Mumbower won easily in 11:28. Kettering's Ron Hall was second, then came Ehrkirtz as the winners capped 3-4-5 and 7th places.

A's, Finley Resuming 'Peaceful' Relations

NEW YORK (AP) — Charles O. Finley and his Kansas City Athletics players have buried the hatchet and restored, at least temporarily, the serenity of baseball's player-owner relationship.

The feud ended Tuesday after 20 hours of unprecedented meetings with Commissioner William D. Eckert when the Major League Player's Association dropped its unfair labor practices charges filed against the controversial Finley.

In return, Finley, owner of the A's agreed not to interfere with the right of his players to air grievances in an orderly manner.

Thus, what started as a test case of the labor-management relationship in baseball, with Finley indirectly representing the major league owners has long antagonized, ended quietly in compromise.

In a prepared statement, Commissioner Eckert said the parties agreed to settle future differences "by mutual discussion rather than by resorting to news media."

Fear of retaliation had led the A's to request the meeting with Eckert, who adjourned the gathering Monday with the atoned purpose of bringing peace before the situation reached the National Labor Relations Board.

CHARGE MADE. The Players Association, represented by its director, attorney Marvin Miller, had accused

Fill-In Coaches Help Birmingham's Gridmen

served as an assistant coach back in the early 1950's, is sending the Falcons through their paces with help from Ron Ralph, principal at Berkshire Junior High. Head coach Jim Kinnison would be in the same boat as McInnes unless the teachers return.

"It's sad," Whitney was saying, adding, "we have such a large district and the only thing going at the moment is the athletic program."

A point Whitney raised and one that, conceivably, Seaholm opponents might be interested in, is the practice schedule the school has been maintaining.

There were no classes at the schools last week, so coach McInnes used the time by holding two a day practice sessions. Normally, he would hold one, but with the students out of school he used some of the time for practice.

Whitney's point was — he was not criticizing just taking a look 'cago.

Salmon Epidemic Continues to Spread

Peak of Run First Week in October

The coho salmon fever is raging across Michigan. And the epidemic is expected to spread. Ten to 18-pounders are being boated daily from Lake Michigan off the mouth of the Manistee and Platte rivers. Traffic jams continue near launching ramps and on the water.

But the best is yet to come, according to Conservation Department fish experts. The big spawners, those in the 20-pound class, have not moved in yet.

A few of the experts are hinting that the world record of 31 pounds for a coho may be broken by one taken in Michigan waters. The existing standard bearer was caught in the Pacific off British Columbia.

Only jacks (this year's stockings) have moved up the Platte Manistee. A few mature males are in the mouth of the Manistee and in Manistee Lake.

The run isn't expected to peak until the first week in October. Big females will continue entering the rivers until early November.

The salmon have completely stolen the spotlight from lake run rainbows and the opening of special hunting season.

A near-record rainbow (steelhead) was caught Sunday from the Manistee. It tipped the scales at 21 pounds, only seven ounces off the record.

WILL IMPROVE
Several large steelhead have been caught in Western Michigan streams and this fishing will continue through November with increasing results.

Steelheads and coho salmon look very much alike before spawning. The big difference is in the tails as the pictures on this page show. The coho has a slight fork while the rainbow is almost square.

Spawning salmon also have a more pronounced hook in the lower jaw and may start to turn red as spawning time, and death, near rainbows do not die after spawning, but return to the Great Lakes.

Flatfish, spoons and spinners — all in silver patterns — are being used with success. Flatfish are favored by the fishermen.

The Coast Guard is checking all boats putting out of Manistee and has written numerous violations for lack of registration numbers, failure to have a registration card on board and insufficient safety equipment.

Fishermen who make their first trips to the salmon areas in general are finding they have tackle to light. Muskie rods mounted with star drag-type reels carrying 20-40 pound test line are the best medicine for cohos while trolling.

Rod manufacturers have come out with spin-cast gear designed for salmon. Pike and bass tackle used on inland lakes is too weak for the big salmon and steelheads.

NEAR RECORD — Robert Martell of Benton Harbor still manages a smile although he's just found out that the 21-pound steelhead (rainbow) he is holding falls seven ounces short of the Michigan record. Caught on an artificial lure Sunday at the Big Manistee River, the trout was not weighed for two hours and may have dehydrated enough for Martell to lose the record.

Commercial Hunt Areas Open Friday

Hunters will get another early crack at such targets as pheasants and mallard ducks, starting Friday when about 65 private and public shooting preserves in the state open for business.

A few of the pay-to-hunt areas will also offer action on chukar partridge and "fancy" pheasants during the preserve season which has just been lengthened one month to run through April 30.

Southern Michigan will again boast the largest number of special shooting areas.

Hunters can obtain a list of preserves by writing to the Conservation Department's Game Division in Lansing for a directory, now in preparation.

Hunters need 1967 small game licenses or special preserve licenses to hunt in these areas.

Pontiac Begins Thursday

Boating Classes Set by Auxiliary

An eight-lesson course in seamanship and piloting will start Thursday at the Naval Reserve Center in Pontiac.

Directed by the Coast Guard Auxiliary, this course, now offered annually, will be held at three Oakland County sites this fall.

Thursday's session at the Reserve Center, 469 E. Blvd. South will start at 7 p.m. The same beginning time will apply to the Sept. 28 opening at Royal Oak Kimball High School.

The classes at Birmingham Seaholm high school, starting Sept. 26, will get under way at 7:30.

The once a week classes will cover rules of the road, aids to navigation, federal and state legal requirements and boating regulations, plotting (charts and compass), weather, knots and splices and other general points on safety.

At the conclusion of the eight weeks of lessons, a review night will be held and then, on the 10th week, a final examination. Those successfully completing the course will receive a basic seamanship certificate from the Coast Guard Auxiliary.

A small fee will be charged for textbook and supplies. The classes are open to novice and experienced boaters and family groups.

The U.S. Power Squadron's advanced seamanship program starts tonight at 7:30 at East Hills Junior High in Bloomfield Hills.

Field Trip Slated

The Pontiac Audubon Club has scheduled a field trip Sept. 23 to Pointe Pelee, near Kingsville, Ont. The regular club meeting will be tonight at 7:30 at the All Saints Episcopal Church.

Duplicate Teal Permits Ready for Over 100

More than 100 Michigan hunters who should have received permits for the Sept. 15-23 teal, rail and snipe season — but didn't — are urged to contact the Conservation Department's Game Division in Lansing or its regional headquarters at Marquette, Roscommon and Lansing.

They can obtain free duplicate permits from these offices if their names are on lists of successful permit applicants which are available there.

Mailings of original permits to these hunters have been returned to the department's Lansing office because of improper addresses given by their applicants.

Unhappy Boxer Angry at Critics

BAD SODEN, Germany (AP) — Oscar Bonavena of Argentina lashed out at the critics Tuesday who have accused him of a half-hearted approach to his training for Saturday's world bout against Karl Mildenberger of West Germany.

Some unfavorable press reviews from the West German press corps sent Oscar storming into his training camp here in a most unfriendly mood.

Special Hunting Seasons Open for Teal, Woodcock

Several special hunting seasons get under way in Michigan Friday.

Nearly 8,000 hunters have received permits for the Sept. 15-23 teal, snipe and rail season at eight areas. The heaviest activity this weekend will be at the St. Clair Flats and Saginaw Bay.

An experimental archery deer season opens Friday on Garden and Beaver islands. It also is the day when ruffed grouse, squirrels and snowshoe hares become legal targets on High and Garden islands under another test hunt.

Both experimental seasons are aimed at measuring how wild-life populations stand up to increased gun pressure and to hunting where there are different habitat conditions.

As a bonus to the special seasons, woodcock will also be fair game on these islands Sept. 18 as they will throughout the Upper and northern Lower Peninsula.

Hunters taking part in the islands' test seasons will be required to pick up special permits at the Conservation Department's field office on Beaver Island. The permits are free and there is no limit on the number that will be issued, but sportsmen will need regular 1967 hunting licenses.

The experimental archery season on Garden and Beaver islands will carry the regular bag limit of one deer per hunter. It will close Nov. 5.

Woodcock hunting will also come under standard bag and possession limits but there will be no quota on the number of ruffed grouse, squirrels and snowshoe hares that may be taken on High and Garden islands.

Garden and High islands, which are almost completely state-owned, are not easy to hunt. The undergrowth on these islands is heavy and both hunters and their dogs must bust through thicker cover and shin-tangle than they are accustomed to in most mainland areas of the state.

Exam for Youth Will Continue

Area Teen Charged in Traffic Death

The preliminary examination of a Commerce Township youth, charged with involuntary manslaughter in connection with a traffic death, is expected to be completed Friday afternoon.

The hearing for the suspect, David G. Smaltz, 17, of 8604 Palomino was continued yesterday in the court of Waterford Township Justice Kenneth Hempstead.

The charge against Smaltz stems from a multiple crash last April 22 which claimed the life of Mrs. David Sonnenberg, 17, of 23 W. Kennebec.

Police allege Smaltz's car crossed the center line on Dixie Highway and hit the victim's automobile head-on near Watkins Lake Road in Waterford Township. A third car also was involved.

City Woman Claims Escort Took $1,000

Dorothy Matthews of 67 Gage told officers she returned to her apartment with her companion about 4 a.m.

She said the man, whom police did not identify, suddenly struck her in the face and removed the money, which was planned to her clothing.

Tools, Equipment Stolen From Car Parked in City

Tools and equipment belonging to a Lam construction company were stolen from a car parked at a building site at 1030 Featherstone, Pontiac police were told yesterday.

Robert Nichols, 43, of 1406 Grobeck, Lapeer, a foreman for the Barrett Construction Co., told officers someone smashed out the vent window on the driver's side of his car, then tore out the back seat for access to the trunk.

He said the lock, which included special clothing, was valued at more than $450.

Man Injured in Truck Crash

A 23-year-old man was injured early today in a traffic accident on Williams Lake Road at Maceday Drive in Waterford Township.

Scheduled to be admitted at Pontiac General Hospital was James T. Whittaker of 6452 Briarcliff, Waterford Township. His condition was not immediately known.

Whittaker was injured when his pickup truck rammed into a utility pole and guard posts about 3:15 a.m., township police said.

JUMPED TRACK — A "piggy back" rail car, part of a Grand Trunk Railroad freight train, sits by the tracks at the Johnson crossing after being derailed yesterday. The derailment occurred about 9:45 a.m. yesterday and caused traffic problems in the area until the car was rerailed late yesterday. Cause of the mishap was not immediately determined.

Deaths in Pontiac, Nearby Areas

Rolph Bobbington

Service for former Pontiac resident Rolph Bobbington, 73, a of Lakeland, Fla., was to be today at the Thornton Funeral Home.

A retired printer at The Pontiac Press, Mr. Bobbington was a member of the International Typographical Union and the Masonic Lodge and prior to his retirement was active in Canadian veterans' clubs.

Mr. and Mrs. Abe Jackson

Oxford Fund Is Divided by 6 Groups

A recent decision to dissolve the Oxford Community Church and to affiliate with the Pontiac Area United Fund has provided a windfall for six area organizations.

Harry Hall, president of the Oxford group, said a balance of local money has been divided as follows: Oxford Baseball League, $200; Oxford Area Youth Guidance Committee, $400; and $750 each to the Oxford Public Library, Oxford Village, Oxford Township and Oxford Township Park Committee.

The group a year ago gave $8,000 to the library to aid it in providing new quarters in the civic center, soon to open on East Burdick.

When a mosquito bites, it shoots a poison into the person to dilate the capillaries. It is the poison, not the bite, that is painful.

Marvin A. Andrews

Surviving are three daughters, Ina Diener and Helen Jencks of Orionville and Edith Pagel of Oxford; two sons, Donald of Indio, Calif., and Nelson of Orionville; 11 grandchildren; and four great-grandchildren.

Sex and Smoking 5th Grade Topics

CLINTON, Iowa (AP) — The Clinton Parent-Teacher Association plans a series of panel discussions for fifth-graders on sex, smoking, drinking and other topics.

Mrs. Elaine Lass, president of the PTA City Council, said most schools offer sex education courses only to high school students, but this "is too late to be effective."

Panel participants will be school guidance counselors, parents, students and physicians.

Probe of Campus Red Tape Asked

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Three educators want a campus ombudsman because of "the stifling bureaucracy which characterizes today's major state colleges and universities."

The recommendation was made Tuesday in a report by Edmund C. Hallberg, dean of students at California State College in Los Angeles; Henry Clark, assistant to the dean, and Prof. A. Sandler. An ombudsman investigates citizens' complaints about failures and wrongdoing in governmental bureaucracy. The three educators said specialization on campus has created red tape.

Vandalism Cures Are Suggested

The Greater Waterford Community Council (GWCC) last night recommended that the Waterford Township Board, in cooperation with the board of education, hire police counselors for the district's secondary schools.

The action followed a two-hour discussion on vandalism and what to do to combat it before approximately 50 persons at Pierce Junior High School.

Among those participating in the discussion were Supt. of Schools Dr. Don O. Tatroe, School Board President, Eldon C. Rosegart, School Board Secretary Mrs. Virginia Ross and L. David Putnam of the Township Police Department.

The counselors would be specially trained in working with youth. One of their goals would be to detect and prevent trouble before it starts. A GWCC spokesman said the program has produced favorable results in Flint and Pontiac.

Two of the more popular ideas presented last night for combating vandalism were parental concern and neighborhood observation and assistance.

Putnam urges anyone seeing anything suspicious near school grounds to contact police immediately.

Duel Raging Across DMZ

6 U.S. Marines Die, 109 Are Wounded

SAIGON (AP) — Thunderous artillery and mortar duels between U.S. Marine and Communist gunners raged today across the demilitarized line dividing Vietnam.

Military reports said six Marines were killed and 109 wounded in the steady gunfire and Communist probes during the past 24 hours. Some South Vietnamese troops were also casualties but their number was not announced.

The bunkered fortress of Con Thien, the key to Marine defenses below the demilitarized zone, threw back an attack by 150 North Vietnamese regulars just before dawn.

The mounting Communist fire and thunderous response from American guns and bombers shook the scarred battle zone around the clock.

AREA MAJOR CONCERN

With ground fighting light elsewhere and heavy weather curtailing air strikes against North Vietnam, the area around the demilitarized zone was the major concern.

Eight-engine B52s made two more heavy raids on suspected North Vietnamese hideouts in the zone today. In the past 24 hours the big bombers have dropped about 750,000 pounds of bombs in the area.

Smaller jet fighter-bombers also roared over to blast Red gun positions in the zone and to the north where Soviet-made artillery with a range of 15 miles is dotted Air Force officers said the Communists are also making another effort to bring their Soviet surface-to-air missiles over to use against the B52s but so far haven't been able to get them into firing positions.

North Vietnamese gunners in the area brought down one Air Force Phantom jet on a photo mission Tuesday. The plane limped out to sea, the crewmen parachuted into the Tonkin Gulf, and both were rescued.

Rights Panel Sets Hearing for Facility

The Michigan Civil Rights Commission will conduct a hearing tomorrow on charges that the Bloomfield Beach and Boat Facility, 4300 Cass-Elizabeth, discriminates against Negroes and Orientals.

The hearing was originally scheduled to be held in July but was delayed because of commission investigation of Detroit riots.

Testimony will be heard by three commissioners who will present findings to the full commission at a later date.

New Hurricane Building

Beulah Slips to Storm

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Tamed by a fearsome hurricane to a simmering tropical storm, Beulah edged her 50-mile-an-hour gales away from land in the Caribbean today while Hurricane Chloe built up steam far out in the Atlantic Ocean.

Beulah left 18 dead and 100,000 homeless in the Dominican Republic and Haiti before committing suicide on Haiti's 8,000-foot mountains. Fading to a minimal hurricane Tuesday, Beulah dealt the resorts of Jamaica a glancing blow with gales and tides five feet above normal before veering to the southwest at 8 m.p.h.

The storm was kicking up seas in the Caribbean 150 miles south of Kingston, Jamaica. Top winds were 50 m.p.h. in a few squalls. The U.S. Weather Bureau in Miami said conditions were not favorable for intensification.

Chloe brewed her strength to 110 m.p.h. Tuesday about 850 miles east southeast of Bermuda. Arnold Sugg, forecaster at the National Hurricane Center in Miami, said, however, "Chloe's no threat to Bermuda at all and is not expected to threaten any land area for at least two days."

Sugg said Chloe, the only hurricane now thrashing the Atlantic, was expected to turn more to the north today. A northward course would steer the storm toward the area of the North Atlantic.

Sugg said Chloe could survive at sea until steering currents changed and declined to speculate on her fate. Tropical storm Doria continued to weaken and drift slowly to the east.

She was 850 miles east of Norfolk, Va., and highest winds were estimated at 65 m.p.h. over a small area near the center.

Group to Ask Ban on Strikes

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — The Michigan State Employees Association (MESA), which opens its 17th annual general assembly Friday, is expected to ask for definitive legislation making it illegal for public employees, including teachers, to strike.

"With the present chaotic situation existing in Michigan concerning strikes or withholding of services by public employees, it is certain the association will recommend legislation preventing such irresponsible acts on the part of public employees," said MESA President Larry Hildore of Rockford.

An estimated 350 delegates have registered for the three-day event. Television newsmen David Brinkley is scheduled to address the conference Saturday evening.

One company executive said subcontracting "would take away our right to manage" and cause chaos at model change-over time when new machinery and tools are being installed by experts provided by the manufacturer.

Company officials object to drawing lines of demarcation for skilled tradesmen and prohibit use of a worker outside his job classification because they say, it would make it necessary to provide two or three men to perform the work now done by one man.

The companies say these are issues of principle and they would rather take a strike than give in on them. On the other hand, the UAW insists that the demand on each must be met.

Other tough hurdles in the negotiations involve the union's economic demands and local at-large pay.

All three auto companies have made practically identical economic offers to the UAW on the Aug. 28, more than seven weeks after the negotiations on new contracts began on July 10.

Lottery to Get Miniskirted Aid

NEW YORK (AP)—Can a miniskirted miss help maximize the sale of New York State lottery tickets?

Apparently a private publicity company thinks they can because the firm has hired a number of pretty girls for the purpose.

The campaign is to get under way at City Hall Thursday with a mayoral proclamation declaring the day Official Lottery Day.

Then the girls will hop into convertibles and tour parts of the city extolling the benefits of the lottery.

Revenues from the lottery have not come up to expectations. The money is used to aid education.

Earl Gives With Lightness to Brighten the Day's Gloom

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—A little laugh is needed now and then to bring a sliver of light into our day's darkness.

Bushy-maned comedian Marty Allen was saying: "LBJ is moving his poverty program forward. He gave me another tax hike."

"The President," Marty said, "was out in the garden at the White House saying 'Up, boy! Down, boy. Fetch me the stick!' And Humphrey did everything he said."

"De Gaulle," they're saying now, "won't be happy unless he dies in his own arms."

Frank Sinatra asks, "You see the new Egyptian salute?" Then he groans, cries, "Oy-yay!" and hits himself on the head with his open palms.

The Broadway season opens soon reminding us of the observation that "First-nighters are theater habitués and sons of habitues." I must be an old timer. I can remember when a joint was a saloon or part of the anatomy. (It's not now, man.)

Hiddergerde noticed that Texas oil millionaires fall into two classes: "refined" and "crude." "Texans can't handle their liquor—they're too busy drinking it" (Joe E. Lewis) . . . Ex-heavyweight Joey Maxim (now casino host at the Bonanza in Las Vegas) noticed that some guys were saying that he beat Sugar Ray Robinson because Sugar Ray was exhausted from the heat, snapped: "Do you think my part of the ring was air-conditioned?"

The expression, "I need you like I need another head," has become such a cliché, we tried to vary it, like this: "I need you like Marty Allen needs dandruff, like Nasser needs another Gen. Dayan, like LBJ needs two more Kennedys in the Senate, like the publishers need another union, like General Motors needs another Ralph Nader and Ford needs another Edsel."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "I never drink before noon," Joe E. Lewis said. "Fortunately, it is now noon in Thailand."

OVEN-BARBECUED CHICKEN

Another all-time FAVORITE RECIPE from

Family Circle

2 broiler-fryers (about 2 pounds each), quartered
1 large onion, cut into thick slices
2/3 cup catsup
1/3 cup vinegar
4 tablespoons (1/2 stick) butter or margarine
1 clove of garlic, minced
1 teaspoon rosemary, crushed
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon dry mustard

- Place chicken, skin side down, in a single layer in a buttered shallow baking pan; top with onion slices.
- Mix remaining ingredients in a small saucepan; heat to boiling; pour over chicken.
- Bake in hot oven (400°) 30 minutes. Turn chicken, skin side up; baste with sauce in pan. Continue baking, basting once or twice, 30 minutes longer, or until tender and richly glazed. Serves 4.

Flint Teachers Avert Order by Resigning

DETROIT — Teachers in three disputing Michigan school districts taught under court injunctions today as 228 teachers in the Flint-Beecher district apparently sidestepped a similar order by resigning.

The State Supreme Court agreed yesterday to review a precedent-setting case which could determine whether striking teachers in 19 unsettled districts can be ordered back to work without contracts.

The high court ruling was not expected until October, however, and justices refused to stay the back-to-work orders in effect in Holland, Bay City and Saginaw.

Within hours of the Supreme Court announcement, 220 of the Beecher district's 260 teachers resigned.

Birmingham school teachers were expected to decide by noon today on whether to accept the board of education's latest offer.

Supt. John Blackhall Smith said the offer included salary proposals as well as full individual coverage on health and hospitalization and a plan for making up school days lost by the strike.

Should a favorable decision be reached, Smith said schools could not open before Friday. Six class days would be lost, he said.

Bloomfield Hills spokesmen said the dispute between teachers and the board there is still in the hands of mediators.

In other teacher contract development yesterday:

• Tentative agreement was reached in Southgate after 19 hours of continuous negotiations. Teachers and school board members were to vote on ratification today.

• School boards in Crestwood, Bridgeport, Inkster and North Dearborn Heights reportedly were considering seeking injunctions to get their teachers back on the job.

SPORTY FIREBIRD — Bucket seats are standard on the 1968 Pontiac Firebird which goes on sale Sept. 21. Firebird offers a choice of five engines ranging from the overhead-

camshaft six cylinder as standard up to a 400-cubic-inch V-8. New multi-leaf rear springs give the car a smoother, softer ride.

Ford Optimistic UF Advance Gifts Goal Despite Strike of $108,134 Is Announced

By JERRY ROBBINS
CITY EDITOR

LA COSTA, Calif. — Optimism continues to prevail at Ford Motor Co. despite the current strike and an anticipated price increase on 1968 cars.

"It's still business as usual at Ford dealerships all across the country," M. S. McLaughlin, Ford Division general manager, told more than 100 newsmen here yesterday in discussing the strike.

McLaughlin was the main speaker at the opening of Ford's three-day national press preview at the fashionable La Costa resort, a scenic three-acre facility 30 miles north of San Diego, near the Pacific Coast at Carlsbad.

"When the strike stopped production, Ford dealers had about 158,000 new 1967 model cars on hand and approximately 67,000 1968 cars will become available for sale Sept. 22," McLaughlin said. "That will give dealers a total of 225,000 new cars to weather the production gap."

"Currently, our dealers are selling about 4,500 new cars per selling day." (Continued on Page A-2, Col. 8)

An advance gifts goal of $108,134 was announced this morning by Warren H. Eiernan, chairman of the advance gifts division of the Pontiac Area United Fund.

Eiernan, a senior vice president of the Community National Bank, made the kickoff breakfast in the Club Overdrift

Highland Voters OK Fire Dept. Levy

Highland Township voters yesterday approved renewal of a 1-mill tax levy by 285 to 77. The 10-year levy will be used to support the township's fire department.

"The turnout was small," said Louis F. Oldenburg, township supervisor. The township has 2,233 registered voters.

The levy will bring in $20,000 over a three-year period, said Oldenburg. It is a continuation of a 1-mill levy approved by voters 10 years ago which expires at the end of this year.

The funds are earmarked for a new No. 1 fire station and an addition to the No. 2 station.

The millage also can be used for fire equipment and firemen's pay.

Cloudy and Warmer Seen Through Tonight

Variable cloudiness and warmer is the forecast for the Pontiac area through tonight.

Temperatures are expected to fall into the low 50s tonight, then rise to near 60 tomorrow.

Partly sunny and warmer is the prediction for tomorrow and increasing cloudiness with a chance of showers is the outlook for Friday.

Morning southeasterly winds at 10 to 20 miles per hour will continue.

• The percentage change of showers today through tomorrow is 10.
• The low recording in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 54. The 1 p.m. reading registered 74.

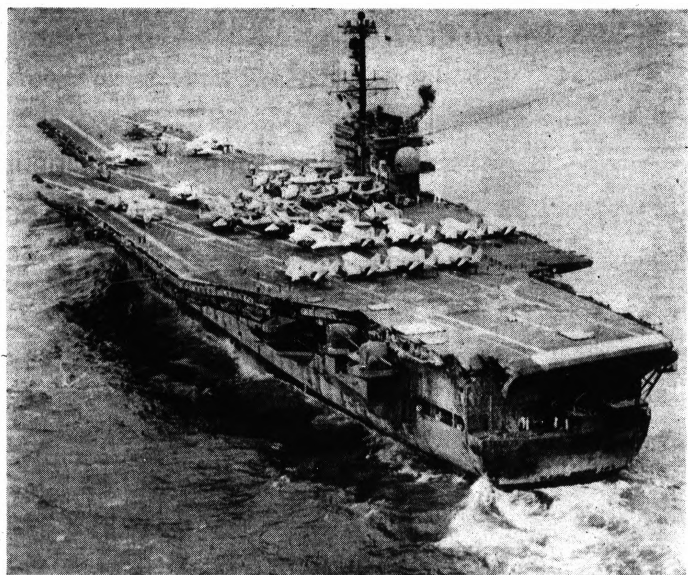

of the Community National Bank. He asked that the goal be met by Oct. 16, the day before the general United Fund campaign kickoff.

The first advance gift was presented by Gordon M. McLeod, a general vice president of the Community National Bank, who presented a donation of $13,400.

Bruce J. Annett, president of the Pontiac Area United Fund, spoke briefly on the vital work being done in the community by the UF agencies. He explained that UF money goes toward the operations, not the capital funds at the 55 local and state agencies.

Frederick J. Poole, president of the F. J. Poole Co. and General chairman of this year's campaign, spoke of this year's campaign and stressed the importance of a dynamic Advance Gifts Division. The 90 volunteer workers were advised to begin contacting advance gift prospects immediately.

Fernald Also Eying Tours

Summer Plays Slated for OU

Plans to expand the season of the Meadow Brook Theatre, adding summer performances, were announced yesterday.

John Fernald, director of the Meadow Brook Theatre at Oakland University, said the repertory group will stay on campus next summer.

During the eight weeks of the Meadow Brook Music Festival, the John Fernald Company will perform in their playhouse.

Some plays will be new productions; others will be those given during the first two seasons.

Fernald made his announcement at a press conference in Detroit, at which time he introduced actors and staff members.

NEGOTIATIONS IN PROGRESS

Fernald also announced that negotiations are in progress to take his company on tour to both Durham, N.H. and Oakland, Calif.

"Very serious negotiations are now in progress," he said.

"Though many details remain to be worked out, I can tell you at this time that these are serious offers and that we are prepared to make commitments as quickly as details can be settled to take the company on tour to both the Atlantic and the Pacific without prejudice to the fact that Oakland University is our permanent home."

The decision on which shows might be going on tour has not been made, but the offers involve productions of the 1967-68 and the 1968-69 seasons.

The John Fernald Company is not yet a year old.

Its premiere performance, "The Caucasian Chalk Circle," was given Jan. 4, 1967.

Four more plays, each running a month, and a children's play at Easter made up the first season.

The 1967-68 season has been expanded from five to seven plays and from 20 to 25 weeks. It opens Oct. 6 with "The Importance of Being Earnest."

In addition, three school matinees (closed to the public) will be presented each week.

Fernald's 10 years as principal of the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art in London prepared him for an added role this fall.

The Academy of Dramatic Art at Oakland University opens Sept. 29 with 14 students. A like number will be added in January and April.

Auditions will be held in October. The actors arrived Monday and were flown from Metropolitan Airport to Robbins Field in Royal Oak in two Aero Commanders.

Debate on Open Housing Will Take Time---Taylor

City Commission debate on a proposed open-occupancy ordinance will take thorough consideration and time, Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. said last night.

Taylor declined to give any date when the commission would be able to produce an ordinance, but said the issue would be given top consideration at informal commission meetings in forthcoming weeks.

He said the commissioners would make extensive use of materials collected by the city law office in attempting to produce an ordinance which could work in the city of Pontiac.

The material, basically a compilation of ordinances which have been passed by other municipalities and recommendations of officials in some of these cities, was presented to the commission last night.

Taylor spoke at length against being "too hasty" in adopting an ordinance. Negroes in the audience who have been pushing for an ordinance during the past four weeks seemed ready to give the commission ample opportunity to effect an ordinance.

In outlining steps the commission expects to take, Taylor said an ordinance will depend on the respective attitudes of all seven commissioners.

"Whenever four commissioners (out of seven) are willing to bring a drafted ordinance before this table, then it will be brought before the table," he said.

The mayor emphasized that nothing in the way of an ordinance could be rushed and implied that citywide acceptance of an open-housing ordinance would be necessary before the commission would adopt one.

Will 'One of These Days' Be Too Late?

(Editor's Note: This editorial commented so forthrightly and with such sound judgment on so many segments of our life today that we thought it worth reprinting for everyone to read. It appeared recently in the San Diego Union newspaper, San Diego, California.)

One of these days the good people of the United States of America will be heard and heeded.

One of these days, not too distant, they will show in unmistakable terms that they are fed up with the slurs at home and abroad which question our honorable national intentions and goals.

One of these days they will tire of supporting petty tyrants who insult our nation, our flag and our honor with impunity — indeed are often rewarded for their attacks.

One of these days Americans will tire of the sedition that too often passes for free speech in our nation, especially on our campuses.

One of these days the point of tolerance will be passed on the street where criminality and anarchy too often erupt in the name of freedom of assembly.

One of these days no self respecting American, and he is in the majority, will stand for the insults to God through the attacks on religion that occur daily, or through the emergence of cults of pseudo religion that need the crutch of dope.

One of these days good Americans will scorn the thought that there is virtue in radical behavior for the sake of being an oddball, or that there is virtue in ordinary dirt.

One of these days good Americans will show segments of the publishing industry that filthy treatises and smut have no place in the American way of life.

One of these days Americans will stand up in favor of capitalism which has given them individually and collectively the best life that any human has known since life began.

One of these days Americans will insist that national resources be husbanded and meted out efficiently, not squandered on unmitigated futile sociological slop and sentimental hogwash.

One of these days Americans will tire of the fact they cannot even believe what their top officials in Washington say.

One of these days they will insist that crime be punished as crime should be, so it is safe to walk the streets anywhere at any time of day or night.

One of these days Americans will insist that our defenses be so strong that no possible question can be raised about their adequacy.

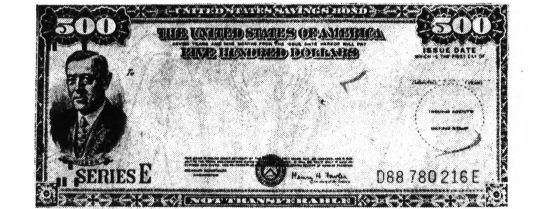

One of these days Americans will insist that while American men are dying in Vietnam, the nation should follow a policy of winning that war as rapidly as possible.

One of these days Americans will demand that if they are paying the piper they also shall call the tune; that their hard-earned dollars should not support generations of welfare or people who can work and will not.

One of these days, in short, Americans will insist that we stop drifting mentally and morally and that we return to the principles that have made the United States of America strong. It will not be an uncertain trumpet.

One of these days had better come soon because any one of these days much later than we believe in America we love.

Last Call for the Press Grid Contest

Someone, probably Jayne Mansfield, once said: "One picture is worth a thousand words."

We agree. And to prove it, we're sneaking you a preview of the Press Annual Football Contest winner's award.

Unless allergic to money — and who is? — we can't think of any man, woman or child who wouldn't be enchanted to become the sole owner and proprietor of the original of the item shown. So, if you haven't already added your entry to the thousands piling up in the contest hopper, get yourself in contention before the sun sets or rises — whichever is more convenient.

But you can't wait much longer. Friday noon is the deadline, and this is our last exhortation to spur you to action and set you on the road to riches.

As rule 5 specifies, entries must be in our hands by the deadline. Even though postmarked prior, they can't be considered if they come trailing in after the whistle blows — as each year a goodly number do.

At this late date, stick to orthodox modes of dispatching — Uncle Sam's postal service or by depositing in The Press' Huron Street drop box. Don't try anything fancy like delivery by bottle cast into the sea. True, the bottle might make it, but suppose it got stuck on a bar — then where'd you be?

All that remains now is for contestants to stock up on sedatives and try to keep cool, calm and collected as the contest schedule progressively cuts the starting field until a triumphant survivor stands alone in the winner's circle.

It could be you.

CONTEST RULES

1. Every man, woman and child is eligible to enter contest (except Press employees and close relatives) but are limited to one entry each. All members of families may participate, subject to the same limitation.

2. To enter, you simply check your prediction of the winner of each of the 16 games below (to indicate a tie, leave both boxes blank), sign entry form or facsimile, and dispatch.

3. Entries may be deposited in The Press' Huron Street drop box or mailed. If mailed, they must be enclosed in envelopes (THE POST OFFICE WILL NOT ACCEPT POSTAL CARDS WITH ATTACHED ENTRIES) and addressed to: THE PONTIAC PRESS FOOTBALL CONTEST, P.O. Box 777, Pontiac, Michigan.

4. The contestant who, starting with the first game, correctly predicts the consecutive outcome of the most games will be awarded a $500 U.S. Savings Bond.

5. Contest deadline is Friday noon, Sept. 15, and entries must be on hand at The Press by that time. Those arriving later, even though postmarked prior, will not be considered.

6. Judges' decisions on all questions relating to contest will be final.

David Lawrence Asks:

Are Military or Civilians Right?

WASHINGTON — Someday, when the story is written telling what really went on behind the scenes in Washington during the Vietnam war, there may be a clearer idea of the current difference between civilian control and military authority than is discernible today.

It's an open secret that the military chiefs believe that lives have been wasted and that in the future there will be more casualties than are necessary if the supercautious and procrastinating policies of civilian officials keep on frustrating the American military effort in Vietnam.

This is not to say, of course, that those inside our government who believe in the supremacy of the civilian authority are failing to render a conscientious judgment.

It does mean that misconceptions of military strategy are all too prevalent.

Thus, McGeorge Bundy — formerly special assistant to President Johnson, and now chairman of the President's Advisory Commission on the Middle East — wrote a letter to the Washington Post the other day criticizing the summary report of the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee of which Sen. John Stennis, Democrat, is chairman.

He concedes the patriotism and dedication of the senators, and says their "unanimous recommendation of wider air action seems impressive." But he disagrees with the argument they have made in support of it.

Mr. Bundy's chief point is that military men are merely "arguing the value of their own chosen instrument — in this case military force."

But he thinks that, in reaching its conclusions, the subcommittee "pushes aside all political and diplomatic considerations — and all risks of wider conflict."

He adds: "The subcommittee tells us simply to 'take the risks that have to be taken and apply the force that is required.' It thus neglects to examine what its own report calls the 'serious and legitimate question' of policy 'over and above purely military considerations.'"

This is an age-old controversy. It has brought many a tragedy in the history of the world.

Meanwhile, the United States has suffered tremendous losses while following a policy of delay and caution in the bombing of North Vietnam.

The public generally knows little about the meaning of the debates that go on inside Washington between the military and civilians.

The concept of "civilian control" is often overemphasized. (Copyright, 1967, Publishers Mail Syndicate)

Bob Considine Says:

Pentagon East--U.S. Puts All Its Brass in 1 Basket

SAIGON — Fence-building is nothing new in this war. There's a fence around everything here, from chicken coops to the newest and biggest target in all South Vietnam.

Pentagon East.

Pentagon East is the inevitable nickname given to the huge and costly headquarters of our military and aide staffs.

We have put most of our brass in one basket. And as an afterthought we are now building bunkers for them to dive into when and if.

Somebody will probably put a fence around the bunkers, too.

The new headquarters of Gen. Westmoreland, two dozen additional generals, a flock of admirals and assorted ambassadors sit on the edge of Tan Son Nhut Airport (the world's busiest and least protected airfield).

Tan Son Nhut has been hit by the VC's more often than we've hit Ho Chi Minh's jet bases in the North.

"We're sure making it easier for Charlie, building a place like this," a weary old colonel told me.

"If he misses the airfield with one of his mortar lobes, the chances are good that he'll hit us."

"If he misses us, he'll probably hit the airfield."

"Maybe we ought to paint a big bull's-eye on our roof. We've done everything else to make it soft for him."

The fence that will stretch across the neck of South Vietnam just below the DMZ will not dam the flow southward of North Vietnamese troops and their supplies.

They'll simply filter and seep around it, through the countless passes and trails of a tolerant North Laos, and enter South Vietnam farther south than usual.

We will not build a fence along the border of Laos. We don't have that much wire.

Reader Submits Views on Teachers' Demands

It's time teachers look at their own record before asking for more money. Teachers are not starving but some people are going to be on the verge of starvation if they have to pay more taxes.

Teachers have an over-inflated idea of their own importance. Let's have stricter laws for teachers and stricter teachers with some control who know how to teach a subject.

They only work nine months of the year. What other group has it so good? Let's have good, honest-to-goodness schools instead of showplaces, and teachers who don't demand the world with a fence around it. The public is going to rise up and demand a housecleaning of school boards and teachers. Their demands are becoming way out of line.

'Labor Day Walk Caused Traffic Problems'

I am sick from the cry of politicians and police officials about the highway fatalities. Labor Day it took me one hour and eight minutes to cross the Mackinac Bridge. Three lanes were closed so George Romney could make his annual walk. Traffic was piled up bumper to bumper for 200 miles.

Why should people suffer because of one show-off? I suggest if Romney wants to get attention he should paddle a kayak across the channel or water ski to Mackinac Island. This way he could show off his nerve and physical strength at the same time, without interfering with thousands of motorists.

If he really wants to show off his muscles, I will let him fire ten shots rapid fire from my 300 Weatherby Magnum and see how he feels without causing a traffic jam.

Suggests City Tax for Non-Property Owners

Concerning the vote on whether to have a city income tax or raise the property tax, why should non-property owners be allowed to vote on something that will raise the tax on the property owners? Why doesn't the City put a one-a-year tax on the non-property owners? Their children go to school, their cars use city streets, and they have use of everything the property owners are taxed for. Some of them are more able to pay tax than the property owners.

Question and Answer

In the past when I've called the City library for information, they've always looked it up and given the answer over the phone. Not long ago I asked for something out of Consumers Guide, and the girl said because of a new policy I'd have to go in and look it up myself. What's the reason for this change?

REGULAR CUSTOMER
REPLY

No change. That rule applies only to information that might be construed as medical or legal advice, recommendation of one product over another, etc. To avoid any possible misunderstanding that the library itself is giving such advice, those interested are asked to look up that type of information themselves. The reference librarian still gives general information over the phone providing she has the time and the request is not for lengthy, detailed answers.

Reviewing Other Editorial Pages

The additional changes suggested by Representative Bolling are all desirable. Of the three controversial sections that he would drop, only the opening up of the processes of the Appropriations Committee is important enough to risk making a fight for.

Neither bill would make the really far-reaching reforms required in the public interest, but the Bolling substitute is clearly better than nothing.

Despite the concessions it makes to the committee oligarchs, however, it will get nowhere unless the Speaker bestirs himself.

Master of Strife

The Denver Post

Despite the recent political furor he created in Canada and elsewhere over his "Vive Quebec Libre," French President Charles de Gaulle is still as determined as ever to stir up controversy.

Thus far in his current state visit to Poland he hasn't antagonized the Poles by proclaiming anything like "Vive Pologne Libre," but he has done his share to see that there will be plenty of muttering about him in Washington, Moscow and Bonn, as well as in Paris.

Shortly after his arrival in Warsaw he called for an end of the U.S. bombing in Vietnam, a halt in the fighting and a complete withdrawal of American troops there.

Further, he implied that France and Poland should have key roles in bringing peace to Vietnam.

Not content with antagonizing Washington, the general later hinted that Poland and other "Central" European countries ought to take the lead in solving the "German problem."

We wonder how the suggestion — implying an independent stance by the Eastern satellites from that of the Soviet Union — sits in Moscow?

And further, de Gaulle contended that West Germany must recognize the "realities" of today's Europe, notably on boundary problems. This is opinion was hardly cheered in Bonn.

We are certain there is a temptation in Washington and other capitals to tell the general where to get off, or even to retaliate by offering suggestions that amount to meddling in French internal affairs.

But the prudent approach — and fortunately one taken by the White House — ought to remain that of biding time until the aging French leader's days at the helm are over.

Child's Lunch Box Should Hold Third of Day's Food

Pontiac Press Food Editor

The lunch box brigade has gone back to school. Mothers are faced with the task of making thousands of sandwiches in the coming months.

While we believe in variety in planning meals, we say if a youngster is happy day after day with a peanut butter sandwich, don't fight it! He's getting good nourishment from the peanut butter and it's cheaper than luncheon meat.

Maybe you can ring in a few changes with the bread you use.

If he's a hot dog fan too, he'll enjoy one in his lunch. Suspend said hot dog by a thread in a thermos of hot water or hot soup.

Incidentally, "thermos" is now considered a word in common use and no longer a brand name; so we no longer need to capitalize it or use the term "vacuum bottle."

CORNEB BEEF-CHEESE SANDWICHES

4 green onions, sliced
1/2 teaspoon salt
Dash, pepper
2 tablespoons vinegar
1 tablespoon water
2 tablespoons soft butter or margarine
12 slices enriched bread
8-12 thin slices corned beef
4 (1 ounce) slices Cheddar cheese

Combine sliced onions, salt, pepper, vinegar and water; let stand about 15 minutes, then drain liquid off. To assemble sandwiches: Spread 1/2 teaspoon butter over bread slices.

Place 2 to 3 slices corned beef on 4 buttered bread slices, cover with another bread slice and top with a slice of cheese.

HAM 'N EGG SANDWICHES

1/2 cup ham salad or deviled ham

2 hard-cooked eggs, sliced

8 slices wheat bread

Spread 3 tablespoons ham salad over each of 4 bread slices; top each with 1/2 a sliced egg and another slice of bread.

LITTLE RED INDIAN SANDWICHES

1 cup drained, cooked or canned kidney beans

1 tablespoon slaw dressing

2 tablespoons chopped celery

2 teaspoons chopped onion

1/4 teaspoon dry mustard

4 sliced sandwich buns

4 strips crisp, cooked bacon

Mash or sieve beans; add slaw dressing, celery, onion and

CRANBERRY-CHEESE SHARPIES

1/2 cup sharp cheese spread

1/4 cup whole cranberry sauce

4 sliced frankfurter buns

Spread 1 tablespoon cheese spread over cut side of each bun half. Place matching bun halves together with 1 tablespoon cranberry sauce in between. Yield: 4 Cranberry-Cheese Sharpies.

A completely new twist is a Mexican style sandwich. This used toasted tortilla instead of bread.

LUNCH BOX TACOS

12 tortillas
Shortening
Canned refried beans (unheated)
1 cup grated cheese

Remove tortillas from freezer and place in refrigerator overnight to thaw. Fry in deep fat until crisp. (Fold the tortillas while frying by holding edges together loosely with long sticks. They should be open enough to fill without breaking.)

Drain on paper towels and salt lightly. Spoon beans from can into taco shell and sprinkle generously with grated cheese.

Every lunch needs some kind of vegetable, whether it's lettuce in the sandwich, a tomato to eat whole or carrot and celery sticks.

Some lunch needs fruit of some kind. The squat little thermos jars that keep food cold are excellent for the more soupy fruits. But the big apple is always welcome.

Then there should be a surprise, usually on the sweet side. Active youngsters can take more desserts than sedentary grownups.

A popcorn confection is one they should like.

CHOCOLATE CANDY CORN

6 quarts unsalted, popped popcorn

3 cups sugar

1 cup light corn syrup

1/4 cup water

1/4 cup butter

1 1/2 teaspoons salt

1 cup chocolate-covered peanuts (1 about 1/2 lb.)

1 cup chocolate-covered raisins (about 1/2 lb.)

Put popcorn in a large, well-buttered bowl. Combine sugar, syrup, water, butter and salt in

ing, stirring until sugar dissolves. Cook to 280 degrees (soft crack).

Pour syrup in fine stream over popcorn; mix until evenly coated with syrup. Sprinkle peanuts and raisins over mixture; stir quickly. Spread out on large buttered surface or waxed paper.

Separate into bite-sized pieces with forks. Cool. Makes about six quarts.

2 Seafoods Make Elegant Fondue

Serve Lobster Fondue as exciting party refreshment or an elegant lunch or supper entree:

In a chafing dish or saucepan, combine 1 can (10 ounces) frozen condensed cream of shrimp soup and 1/2 soup can milk; heat slowly until soup thaws. Add 1/2 cup shredded sharp cheese, 1/2 cup chopped cooked lobster, dash each paprika and cayenne pepper. Heat.

If you wish, add 2 tablespoons sherry. Use as dunk with chunks of French bread spread with diil butter or pour over toast slices spread with diil butter. Makes 3 to 4 servings.

Many Excellent Ways to Use Slices of Ham

Attention lassies! Here's a scotch flavored morsels and sensational new pie flavor (to salt). Place over low heat; stir serve your favorite laddies— constantly until gelatine dissolves and morsels are melted. Imagine all the old-fashioned about 10 minutes. Gradually stir in slightly mellowness of butterscotch. Combine with the fresh snap-beaten egg yolks. Cook over of orange. Fold whipped egg low heat until mixture becomes whites into this luscious mixture slightly thickened and you have a light, golden Remove from heat; stir in Butterscotch-Orange Chiffon orange rind. Chill, stirring occasionally, until mixture mounts slightly when dropped from a spoon.

Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Gradually add sugar and beat until very stiff. Fold in butterscotch mixture. Turn into pastry shell or crumb crust. Chill until firm. If desired, garnish with whipped cream. Yield: One 9-inch pie.

The filling features butterscotch flavored morsels which melt smoothly and blend easily with the other ingredients. The technique is simplicity itself.

No good luck charms needed, not even for beginners!

What a dessert to impress company! Serve it the next time you entertain or surprise your family with this beautiful pie.

Butterscotch-Orange Chiffon Pie

1 envelope unflavored gelatine

1 1/4 cups orange juice

1 6-ounce package (1 cup) butterscotch flavored morsels

1/4 teaspoon salt

4 eggs, separated

1 tablespoon grated orange rind

1/2 cup sugar

1 9-inch baked pastry shell or crumb crust

Sprinkle gelatine over orange juice in saucepan. Add butter-

Sugar Plays Role Beyond Sweetness

Not for sweetness alone is sugar so essential to many different foods. Sugar also provides blending, and intensifies the flavor taste of other ingredients. Adds texture and mouthfeel along with body or viscosity to foods. Adds in color maintenance — or produces browning by caramelization.

Sugar feeds yeast, strengthens gluten, and tenderizes flour in mixtures; stabilizes egg foams; and in jams and jellies (and other foods too) sugar is a preservative.

Doughnut Half Was Proposal

NEW YORK (UPI) — A jelly doughnut once was a coffee-house token of betrothal. The Pan-American Coffee Bureau says Viennese men proposed to their sweethearts by inviting the ladies to a cafe.

The proposal came when the swain offered his sweetheart half of his fashingskrapple, or jelly-filled doughnut.
