Williams Asks Tax Hike in Budget; Large Sums Allotted to Education

Potentate Arrives

KING SAUD OF SAUDI ARABIA

U. S. Cheers King Saud, New York Snubs Visitor

NEW YORK (AP)—King Saud of Saudi Arabia got an allout welcome from the U. S. government as he arrived today on a state visit. New York City, however, gave him only a cold stare.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner had vetoed any official city ceremony such as is usually given visiting dignitaries. Wagner said it was because the King is anti-Jewish, anti-Catholic and upholds slavery.

As a result, the robe-clad monarch was treated to a one-sided reception — bleaker in many ways than the cold, raw weather — on his arrival aboard the liner Constitution.

Although a U.S. destroyer squadron passed in review and fired a 21-gun salute as the Constitution reached the harbor entrance, the customary cacaphony of toots from other harbor craft was missing. No city fireboats showed up to spew water.

And when the King finally reached Manhattan, he got only a sedate police escort of 10 cars —no fleet of motorcycles with sirens screaming.

Moreover, the police had been directed to halt the motorcade whenever it encountered a red light at an intersection on its way to the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, where the King is staying tonight.

Citizens themselves paid little heed to the potentate's arrival.

At the pier on the Hudson River, where the King had been brought by the Navy frigate Willis A. Lee, there were only an estimated 350 to 500 spectators. Many were attracted solely by the commotion and had to ask what was taking place.

When the King arrived at the Waldorf-Astoria there were only some 50 persons standing by to see him.

Nowhere did a single person picket his arrival, as had been expected.

Birmingham Youth Hit, Killed by Car

An off-duty Birmingham safety patrol boy was killed last night after darting into the path of a car on Hunter Boulevard, just south of Maple Road, police say.

Lewis Niewerth, 12, was struck by a car driven by Eugene C. Quick, 18, of 1018 E. Woodruff St., Hazel Park. Taken to William Beaumont Hospital in Royal Oak, the youth died 10 minutes after arrival.

A sixth-grade safety patrol boy at Pembroke school, he was returning about 7 p.m. to his 2051 E. Maple Rd. residence after bowling. Quick is scheduled to make a statement today to Oakland County Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem.

A witness backed up Quick's story that he was unable to avoid striking the boy, who was thrown over the hood of the car by the impact.

Large Figure Tabbed for Use in Universities

$112 Million Assigned to State Institutions of Higher Learning

LANSING (AP) — Higher education stands to get a whacking $112 million in state appropriations during the coming fiscal year if the legislature puts its okay on Gov. Williams' spending recommendations.

State supported colleges and universities, as well as junior and community colleges, all come under the governor's proposed budget, and most would get substantial increases over their allotments for the current year.

Of the $120,200,000 Williams recommended for state educational activities, which excludes the 17 million proposed for local school districts, 27 million would go for capital outlay and $93,200,000 for operations.

Of this total, $88,300,000 is earmarked for operations at colleges and universities, an increase of 18 million over 1956-57. More than $24 million is recommended for building purposes, compared with this year's 19½ million.

The University of Michigan and Michigan State University, the state's two biggest universities with enrollments totaling more than 40,000, would draw more than $71 million from the state treasury, roughly 58 per cent of the total.

Biggest increase in operational expenses—$4,430,680—would go to Michigan State, which is anticipating a 3,000 enrollment increase next year. Michigan expects about 1,200 additional students and would come in for a $4,146,795 revenue boost for operations.

College scholarships worth $250,000 also were urged by Gov. Williams in his state spending program recommended for 1957-58.

Under the proposal, the scholarships would go to top students for use at either public or private schools.

Seeks to Indict Bomber

NEW YORK (AP) — The district attorney's office has asked a grand jury to indict "Mad Bomber" George Metesky on charges of attempted murder, it was learned yesterday.

Expect Zero to 6 Above

Cold Wave Due Tonight

The U. S. Weather Bureau has issued a cold wave warning for Pontiac and vicinity, with a low of zero to 6 above tonight.

Temperatures were expected to fall this afternoon, after reaching a high of 28, with snow flurries accompanying the mercury drop tonight.

Tomorrow will be mostly cloudy and quite cold with a few snow flurries and temperatures no higher than ten above.

Occasional snow began falling about 7:30 p. m. last night, resulting in slippery highways in the Pontiac area, as fresh snow piled on top of previous snows.

On the national scene freezing rain extended from northern Missouri northeastward into New England. Frigid winds, snow flurries and heavy rains continued in once-sunny southern California.

Preceding 8 a. m. the lowest temperature recorded in downtown Pontiac was 21 degrees. At 2 p. m. the mercury read 25.

Steady Business Growth Ahead, Banker Tells Local Realtors

The nation faces a long, steady business growth.

Recessions are likely to be moderate, and short-lived.

The current year will be a "favorable" business year, but constant reappraisal to meet changing conditions may be necessary.

The automotive industry should enjoy a "satisfactory volume" in sales.

These were highlights of an address made last night by Economist Fred T. Greene before nearly 500 Pontiac business and governmental leaders.

Speaking at the 41st Annual Banquet of the Pontiac Real Estate Board, the president of the Federal Home Loan Bank of Indianapolis expressed confidence that 1957 will be a "favorable business year," but one calling for "constant reappraisal."

Greene cited the ever-changing international picture and long range postwar adjustments in cautioning that "we should be prepared to

Full Agenda Set for County GOP

Republicans to Pick Delegates Wednesday for Feb. 9 State Parley

A full agenda is set for Oakland County Republicans meeting at their convention Wednesday night in the county office building, 1 Lafayette St. county chairman Chad Ritchie said.

In addition to 76 elected delegates, 65 delegates-at-large will be appointed to attend the state convention Feb. 9 in Detroit.

A convention chairman will be elected who will head the delegation during nominations for 10 state offices and posts.

Several candidates, Ritchie said, have asked to appear Wednesday night. The convention starts at 8 p.m. in the Board of Supervisors fourth floor meeting room.

The Detroit convention will adopt a platform and nominate candidates for the April 1 election.

Ritchie said county Republicans will make known their favorite candidates after the Wednesday convention.

Beck Blasts Council Rule

AFL-CIO Policy All 'Wrong' Says Teamsters President

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The giant teamsters union stood defiant today of a new AFL-CIO policy against union leaders invoking the the Fifth Amendment to avoid testifying in labor rackets probes.

The AFL-CIO policy, written by Federation President George Meany and endorsed by the AFL-CIO Executive Council, orders affiliated unions to oust any union official taking the Fifth Amendment "for his personal protection" in investigations.

"The policy is 100 per cent wrong," said Teamsters Union President Dave Beck. "It will come back to haunt the labor movement."

Beck issued a statement saying the teamsters will continue letting their officials "invoke the privileges of the Bill of Rights, without, by such act alone, subjecting themselves to trial or disciplinary action by our union.

"The action taken by the Executive Council of the AFL-CIO does not in any way alter our position."

This appeared to toss the matter back to Meany and the AFL-CIO council.

But council members said regardless of Beck's position the council would make no move until some teamsters' union official invokes the Fifth Amendment without his union acting to remove him—as required by the new policy adopted here yesterday.

Meany made it clear to newsmen that any breach of the new policy would subject the non-complying union to possible expulsion from the AFL-CIO. The teamsters are the biggest AFL-CIO affiliate, claiming 1½ million of the total 15 million AFL-CIO members.

Refusal of some AFL-CIO union officials to give testimony by invoking the Fifth Amendment at recent preliminary Senate hearings into alleged labor racketeering is what prompted the new AFL-CIO stand.

In Washington Sen. McClellan (D-Ark), whose Senate investigations of alleged racketeering in labor unions brought the issues to a head, told newsmen: "I applaud and congratulate the council for the action it has taken."

The Fifth Amendment contained in the Bill of Rights section of the U. S. Constitution says a person may refuse testimony if giving it would tend to incriminate him.

The executive council of the AFL-CIO, now meeting at Miami Beach, will blast the Eisenhower administration's "tight money" policy within the next few days.

This was disclosed today by a top union figure, who said the council would charge the program has hurt the "little man" while failing to control prices and moderate the boom—the purposes for which it was intended.

A brother of Fitzgerald, Howard H. Fitzgerald, former publisher of the Pontiac Press, was admitted to the Hall of Fame last year.

Would Increase Present Burden by $75 Million

Governor Wants Boost in Fiscal Expenditure to $411 Million

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Williams today submitted to the legislature a record high general-purpose budget calling for 1957-58 spending of $411 million and new or higher taxes totaling $75,215,076.

The proposed expenditures top legislative appropriations for the fiscal year ending next June 30 by $80,600,000.

In summary, the Democratic governor said the bulky document "represents a determined effort to meet the greatly increased needs of the people, without imposing an unreasonable tax burden upon them."

"In due course," he told the Republican-controlled legislature, "I shall present my recommendations as to how the added costs can be met, and the budget brought into balance."

Williams gave not the slightest hint on what his tax suggestions might include. But lawmakers recalled that for many years now he has plugged unsuccessfully for a corporation profits tax, and frequently has talked against so-called consumers taxes.

EDUCATION BENEFITS

As he had indicated he would, the governor urged the biggest appropriation increases in the fields of education and mental health.

He budgeted an overall figure of $137,300,000 for education, or $40,700,000 over the current level of spending. This item thus accounted for almost half of the entire total recommended budget increase.

He urged appropriations totaling $79,400,000 in the area of mental health, up $14,500,000; $16,800,000 for conservation, recreation and agriculture, up $4,700,000; $24,200,-

Wilson Stands on Guard Quote

Refuses to Back Down, Says He's Trying to Improve Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Wilson said today he sees no reason why he should apologize for his assertion that "a sort of scandal," "a draft-dodging business" developed in National Guard enlistments during the Korean War.

Talking with newsmen at the White House after a conference with President Eisenhower, Wilson refused to back down on his statement of yesterday. In effect, he repeated the charge.

The cabinet officer went on to say that he is trying to step up the military quality of the national Guard.

Wilson said he has been "told that more than 80 per cent of the National Guard today has had no prior military training," which means the National Guard is "not a well-trained outfit that could be depended upon."

"We are spending a good many hundreds of millions of dollars on the Guard," he said. "If it can't be depended upon the expense isn't justified."

URGES TRAINING

Wilson is urging six months of active duty training for National Guard enlistees. It was in connection with this that he told a congressional committee yesterday that it was "a sort of scandal" during the Korean War that youths under 18½ could enlist in the Guard "and not be drafted to fight in Korea."

Told today there had been resentment of his remarks, Wilson said:

"Perhaps that was a little tough language, but that is exactly what it amounted to."

Legal Action Threatened Against County Justices

Legal action has been hinted as a possibility in the auditor general's quarrel with the court cost system generally practiced by Oakland County Justices of the Peace.

Alfred H. Lawrence, deputy auditor general, threatened citations against justices who charge what are considered excessive costs. He said violators are in effect paying to support the county.

The justices' spokesman, Allen C. Ingle, Farmington Township Justice and head of the Oakland County Judicial Assn., doubted the citations would hold up in court.

The latest development centers around a practice the state says has spread to Macomb and Oakland Counties.

In assessing a violator, the justice can charge a fine or costs.

COUNTY FUND

The fine goes to the county's library fund, according to state law. The costs go to the county's general fund, to defray prosecution expenses.

Aud. Gen. Frank Szymanski says Oakland County costs are too high. An audit reveals that in 1955 a surplus of $53,665.55 was built up, which was made available to the county generally.

This was after deduction of such expenses as justice fees; fees for witnesses, jurors and constables; supplies, refund and county administrative expenses.

QUESTIONS LEGALITY

Szymanski questions whether all these expenses legally can be considered costs of prosecution. Last week he gave the opinion that court costs must be charged at the "statutory amounts as are specifically authorized by law."

However, the law does not specifically fix the amount of costs which may be legally charged, making it difficult to convict a justice as a violator of the statute.

Ingle said the justices are following State Supreme Court rulings. The system, he said, saves the taxpayers money. "If the violators didn't pay for it the taxpayers would have to," he said.

NOT A SURPLUS

The surplus, he said, is not a surplus at all, considering the money the county spends for assistant prosecutors and other workers employed, at least some of the time, on justice court cases.

"The auditor general is able to put his finger on what he criticizes as a 'surplus' merely because we keep accurate books," Ingle said.

The practice, he said, is to determine what the violator should pay, considering the offense. Then it is decided whether this should be in fines or in costs. "Costs don't run the violator any more money than fines," he explained. "It's all the same to him and this way the system pays for itself."

Szymanski, however, said he is convinced the practice is illegal. But so far grounds on which his office can take action have been thinly defined.

Coroner's Jury Calls Bedwell

Grimes Girls' Inquest Continued as Alleged Co-Killer Questioned

CHICAGO (AP)—Edward (Bennie) Bedwell, young skid row drifter who confessed he and another man killed the Grimes sisters, was summoned before a coroner's jury today at the resumption of the inquest into the girls' deaths.

Bedwell, in a confession reported by Sheriff Joseph Lohman, said he and a companion he knew as "Frank" beat and stripped the girls and tossed them into a snowbank on the night of Jan. 13.

The 21-year-old dishwasher related in his confession he and his companion had been living and carousing with the Grimes girls for a week in skid row hotels and bars.

The Grimes sisters, Barbara, 15, and Patricia, 13, disappeared from their South Side home Dec. 28. Their naked and frozen bodies were found Jan. 22 in a ditch near suburban Willow Springs.

Bedwell met last night with an attorney, David E. Bradshaw, named by Bedwell's mother Mrs. Ethel Bradberry to represent him.

"It is apparent to me after talking with Bedwell that the law enforcement agencies of Cook County have in their possession a young man who is wholly illiterate," Bradshaw told reporters. "He cannot read or write, except his own name, and that only recently.

"They have a purported confession. In reading over newspaper accounts of this purported confession, it is apparent to me that there are many discrepancies of major proportions."

Bradshaw declined to elaborate but said additional "discrepancies" will be brought out at the inquest.

The Grimes sisters, who lived with their mother Mrs. Loretta Grimes, a sister and two brothers, were buried yesterday.

To Consider Annexation of Church Site

City to Hold Public Hearing

The Pontiac City Commission will hold a public hearing tonight on the proposed annexation by the city of 32 acres south of Golf drive and presently part of Bloomfield Township.

The annexation was requested last October by officials of the Emmanuel Baptist Church who plan construction of a $12,000,000 church and school center on the site.

The township agreed to detach the parcel, which is west of the Municipal Golf Course, last December.

City Attorney William A. Ewart said if no objections were voiced at the hearing, a resolution by the commission approving the annexation, would be in order.

TONIGHT'S AGENDA

Tonight's weekly agenda contains 43 points, 33 of which involve public improvement projects in the city for the coming year.

Other points will include a recommendation from Ewart that fines for violation of city ordinances, with the emphasis on drunk and reckless driving offenses, be raised from the present $100 maximum to $500, as permissible under the State Home Rule Act.

He will also recommend the appointment of himself and the city's personnel director as a two-man committee to review all compensation cases brought against the city.

TO SUBMIT PLAN

City Manager Walter K. Willman will submit the partially formulated Civil Defense Disaster Control Plan to the commissioners for study.

Commissioners are expected to act on a request from the Marine Corps League to hold a carnival May 17-26 in an area off Franklin road.

A petition, more than 47 per cent signed, has been submitted protesting the planned street improvements on Colorado avenue between Franklin road and Motor street.

INTRODUCE ORDINANCE

An ordinance will be introduced which is proposed to amend the city's traffic ordinance to make drunk driving an offense not just on highways, but in "any other place open to the general public."

William B. Smith, 1250 Crooks Rd., has submitted a request for a 90-day extension to become a city resident in connection with the purchase of a beer, wine, and liquor license for 848 Woodward Ave.

Public hearings will be held tonight on intention to construct two-inch blacktop pavement on the following streets:

Del Ray drive from East boulevard to 94 feet west; Hollywood avenue from Kennett to Parkdale; Hopkins street from Baldwin to University; Howland avenue from California to Luther; James street from Johnson to Florence; Liberty street from Henderson to Johnson; Longfellow avenue from Baldwin to Carlisle; Luther street from Franklin to Howland; Maines avenue from Roselawn to Tasmania; and Nebraska avenue from Earlmoor to Howland.

Hearings will also be conducted on intention to construct a sanitary sewer in Russell street from Cottage to 160 feet north, and for grading, graveling and related work in Bay street from the north line of Herrington Hills Subdivision to Mt. Clemens street.

Another 11 hearings will be aired on special assessment rolls to finance two-inch blacktop paving projects for the following streets:

Alton street from Franklin to Motor; Astor street from Maines to Michigan, and from Auburn to Pike; Beverly avenue from Laurel to Highwood; Bondale and Cedardale avenues from Earlmoor to Howland; Clinton River drive from the east line of lot 65 of Robert Herndon's Pontiac Apartment Subdivision to the west line of lot 68 of the subdivision; First street from Joslyn to Highwood; Grandie avenue from Baldwin to Kingsball; Hazel avenue from Telegraph to Starr; and Herndon avenue from Clinton River drive to Orchard Lake avenue.

Report He Won't Resign

Dulles Rides Out Dem Fury

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles is reported to have no intention of resigning despite mounting attacks by some congressional foes on his handling of foreign policy.

Associates said today he has been somewhat surprised and stung by the sudden fury of Democratic assaults on him the past week during Senate hearings on President Eisenhower's Middle East resolution, but is nevertheless confident he can weather the storm.

He believes he has Eisenhower's continued backing and confidence, they said, as well as that of top Republican leaders in Congress. Some of these already have spoken up in his defense.

Leading in the criticism have been Senators Fulbright (D-Ark), Morse (D-Ore) and Humphrey (D-Minn).

Eisenhower's continued confidence in Dulles may rest heavily on the Secretary's ability to patch up strained relations with Senate Democrats who accused him of avoiding direct replies as they questioned him.

Waterford Township to Discuss Zoning

At a meeting of the Waterford Township Board last night, a Feb. 8 date was set for a hearing on the recodification of the township's zoning ordinance.

The present ordinance was passed in November, 1950, and since then the township has grown so fast that the ordinance needs revision, according to Township Supervisor Lloyd Anderson.

A poll of residents in Waterford Township is being asked by the township board on a law prohibiting hunting in the township.

The board requested that persons in favor of placing the question on the ballot are to write to the township board or Anderson so that he may present the recommendations to the legislature in Lansing.

REFERRED TO STATE

The question has been referred to the state legislature and turned down two different times and the Township Board would like to know if township residents want the question introduced once more, Anderson said.

Barry was also authorized by the board to purchase a new electric typewriter.

Mideast Policy Inquiry Ordered

Senate to Review Past 11 Years; Action Clears Way for Ike Resolution

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services committees voted unanimously today to conduct a complete review of U. S. foreign policy in the Middle East over the last 11 years.

The vote was 30-0.

Senate GOP Leader Knowland (Calif.) and Sen. Wiley (Wis.), ranking Republican member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said the White House and State Department had no objection to the inquiry.

The action apparently cleared the way for ultimate Senate adoption of a resolution giving President Eisenhower authority to use U. S. forces to combat any Communist aggression in the Middle East. The Eisenhower resolution would authorize 200 million dollars of aid to Middle East nations.

HOUSE DEBATES

The vote by the Senate committees came as the House began debate on the Eisenhower program with prospects of its approval in that body tomorrow.

Republican Leader Martin (Mass.) said he thought there was a chance, in fact, of a House vote late today.

Practically a Land Grab

CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP)—Back in 1837 you could locate on a 40-acre farm and build a cabin and rail fence for a total outlay of $250.

It says so in "Illinois in 1837," a book published by S. August Mitchell, which was presented to the Southern Illinois University library.

Budget Amount Tops Last by 80 Million

000 for public safety and defense, up $3,800,000; $56,100,000 for public welfare service, up $3,000,000, and $19,000,000 for adult corrections, up $2,300,000.

PAY RAISES

Another major increase would be $6,000,000 for raises in the pay of classified state employes already ordered, effective next July, by the state Civil Service Commission.

Under an ingenious plan to apply pressure in operating agencies to get along on minimum staff, he sought thereby to meet what has been estimated as an $8,500,000 general fund budget obligation by providing $2,500,000 less than that.

Of the $14,500,000 recommended boost in allotments for mental hygiene, $8,400,000 would be for operations and $6,100,000 for capital outlay.

OPERATING EXPENSE

The increase in operating expenditures would include two million dollars for state and community clinics, including Lafayette Clinic at Detroit and Hawthorn Center at Northville, two new showplace institutions accenting research.

On the operating side, a big slice of the increase would go for paying salaries of a recommended 612 new employes at the six institutions for the mentally ill and one for the criminally insane.

He said this would bring Michigan near leadership in the important matter of ratio of employes to patients.

NO NEW BEDS

The governor said he had urged no funds for any new beds for the mentally ill, indicating he was banking on a continued deceleration in the rate of population increase and a step up in the patient discharge rate.

However, he urged that construction in the mentally retarded children program be "pushed more vigorously."

On parks and recreation, Williams called for a $3,500,000 program of development and land acquisition, saying this should be jumped by two million dollars in the event the legislature approves admission fees for parks expected to yield that amount.

His recommendations compared with a Conservation Department budget request of $3,500,000 for park and recreation area development plus $3,000,000 for land acquisition, a total of $6,500,000.

As against an indicated need for eight million dollars to put the rundown Michigan State Fairground in first class shape, he budgeted $1,150,600 for a few vital projects.

Most of the proposed increase for public safety and defense was to add 132 state police positions, including 95 uniformed personnel and 37 civilian employes.

He put in $190,000 and $130,000 for two new state police posts, but did not say where they should be built.

PENAL INSTITUTIONS

Of the $2,300,000 recommended increase for adult corrections operations, he said most of it should go for salaries of 39 new probation and parole officers and for 60 new guards and other custodial employes at state penal institutions.

Williams said his budget was predicated on the expectation that the general economy will continue to go forward in 1957, including a decline in unemployment and a level of business activity that will swell general fund tax receipts from existing sources by $16,600,000.

He figured on a sales tax rise that would provide an overall increase of 20 million dollars, or 348 millions for 1957-58, including two thirds of this in earmarked monies for grade and high schools.

He said he had only tried to provide in the budget for the required staff and tools to do "the kind of job a dynamic, growing, wealthy state must have" in its schools, prisons, hospitals, clinics and sanatoria.

Williams asked pay raises for most key elective and appointive state officers, including a boost in the salary of governor from the $22,500 Williams gets to $30,000 for his successor.

He called for pegging state Supreme Court justices, now paid $18,500 a year, at $22,000 annually, and other administrative board members, now receiving $12,500 with one exception, at $20,000.

Retiring from Pontiac Motor after 41 years with the company, he had spent his entire career in automotive engineering. He joined the local organization in June 1912, when it was the Oakland Motor Car Co.

Christina Better but Still Critical

Enjoys First Time Out of Bed by Cart Ride in Hospital Halls

This was a big morning for four-year-old Christina Wilson. The child, whose condition when first reported last Thursday was extremely critical, from burns suffered in a home fire, left her Detroit Ford Hospital bed and took a short cart ride around the halls.

A hospital spokesman reports Christina has "somewhat improved" although her condition still remains critical. They are trying to balance the fluid in her system back to normal before starting to graft skin. The child was severely burned over 45 per cent of her body.

Mrs. Sally Wilson, mother of Christina, died in the blaze which spread throughout their Highland Township home Thursday.

★ ★ ★

John Wilson Sr., 26-year-old father, is still in Pontiac General Hospital in satisfactory condition. He suffered burns and deep gashes on his right wrist and shoulder while climbing through broken windows to rescue his children.

Three other Wilson children, Robin, 1, Dana Sue, 5, John Jr., 2, and their grandfather, Webb Wilson, 73, were released from Pontiac General Hospital Monday.

The Day in Birmingham

Island View Question Postponed Three Weeks

BIRMINGHAM — After lengthy discussion the question of the closing of Island View drive was postponed for another three weeks while facts presented are being reviewed by commissioners.

Area residents protest the closing saying that it will increase flood dangers, destroy property values and in some instances provide an unsightly outlook for Brookside drive residents.

They said also that the street had already been taken over as a parking area by shops and business places fronting on Woodward avenue.

Charles J. Van Horn, petitioner for the vacation, said this was true. He added that the surfacing of the street for parking purposes had been done at no cost to the city. In explaining his stand in the case, Van Horn pointed out that the city had formerly never used the street and that there is some question in his mind that it actually is a street. He said that his company had been unable to find any record of a street having been formally dedicated. "It may have been an intended street rather than a dedicated street," Van Horn said.

On the question of flood control in the Rouge Valley, commissioners asked L. R. Gare to attempt to get complete information from the conservation department as to what the moving of the street might do in the area. This along with the question of the legality of the street and several other factors brought up by both sides resulted in postponement of the hearing until Feb. 18.

Birmingham commissioners met last night for the first time in their "new" quarters on the second floor of the city hall. The room has been completely revised providing excellent lighting and accoustics, a raised platform which has been provided for the commissioners tables, will also serve as the judge's bench when the room is used for municipal court purposes. The new furnishings throughout include blue plastic covered theater type seats, arranged in two banks with a center aisle.

Several former commission members attending last night's session to see the new room, complimented the city on it, and said it would provide a very dignified and pleasing aspect, especially for courtroom cases.

The recommendation of T. C. Brien, DPW superintendent for the purchase of an Elgin Eductor with street flushing attachment mounted on a General Motors Truck was approved by commissioners last night. Purchase will be made from Higgins, Inc. of Ferndale for the price of $12,495 plus $70 for frame reinforcing.

Ace Wrecking Company of Detroit has been awarded a $389 contract for the removal of a house and garage at 212 Brownell St. This is one of the pieces of property purchased for the creation of Parking Lot No. 4.

★ ★ ★

Andrew Butt's appointment as deputy city clerk was approved by commissioners last night. He will supervise city clerks office duties while Irene Hanley is on vacation the first half of next month.

★ ★ ★

The body of Lewis Niewerth, 12, killed last night in an accident on Hunter boulevard and Maple road, will be taken from Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co. to Shirley Brothers Funeral Home in Indianapolis tonight. Service and burial will be there.

Lewis is survived only by his parents.

Steady Growth Seen for Nation's Economy

study new facts as they develop . . to take into account new information and readjust our plans as we go along."

★ ★ ★

Narrowing his scope to the business outlook in Michigan, the speaker was optimistic about future automobile sales:

"A new automobile is likely to remain one of the prime economic desires of the American people. In my opinion, the leaders of the great automobile industry will be successful in selling their products in satisfactory volume this year."

Greene, whose bank is the reserve for federal savings and loan institutions in Michigan and Indiana, sees little likelihood in the danger of another major depression.

He cited the current diversified state of American economy as a major safeguard against a collapse. "Diversification helps to limit the unfavorable effects of adverse developments in any one or two industries."

Long-range planning by U.S. business and the improved position of our economy over that of the 1930's were also mentioned as major deterrents to a severe economic collapse.

Prolonged prosperity, Greene pointed out, has helped to have a strong effect on the willingness of people to spend and invest. "In a sense," he said, "this is a strong factor in the economy of 1957 as contrasted to the 'burned finger' complex of the public in the late 30's."

ECONOMIC FACTORS

Factors which favor business expansion in 1957, the banker said, are high disposable income, higher government spending, moderate price rises and an expected increase in non-residential construction.

Negative factors he cited were tighter money policies, high inventories, lower profit margins in many industries and a predicted 10 per cent decrease in residential construction.

While regarding high employment as necessary to a healthy economy, Greene said the price the nation might have to pay could include a "perpetuation or gradual increase" of the national debt, slow price inflation and the acceptance of permanent government controls.

The outlook for a prolonged period of economic growth, the speaker stated, results mainly from "tremendous technological innovations —not only in atomic energy, electronics, chemicals and the dramatic new fields, but in almost every major industry . . ."

"In the final analysis," he observed, "what happens in 1957 and in the long-term future depends on the decisions of some 50 million families, more than 4 million individual businesses and some 4½ million farmers."

Your Income Tax

This is one of a series of articles prepared by the U. S. Internal Revenue Service to help you prepare your Income Tax Return.

THE STANDARD WAY

You, as a taxpayer, have the option of claiming the standard deduction or itemized deductions, whichever results in the least amount of tax. Usually, if your deductions as shown on page 2 of Form 1040 are not in excess of 10 per cent of your adjusted gross income, it is to your advantage to claim the standard deduction.

If your adjusted gross income is less than $5,000 and you elect the standard deduction — use the tax table — which automatically allows a 10 per cent deduction.

If your adjusted gross income is $5,000 or more you are allowed 10 per cent of your adjusted gross income as a deduction, but not to exceed $1,000.

If a husband and wife file separate returns, the standard deduction cannot exceed $500 for each. If separate returns are filed by husband and wife, and if one spouse elects to itemize the deductions, the other spouse must do the same.

Another reason you're better off with Blue Cross-Blue Shield.

You can take your protection with you anywhere you go

Maybe you aren't planning to move right now—but if you ever should, wouldn't it be a comfort to know you could go anywhere in the world without real worry about hospital or doctor bills?

That's another one of the fine things about Blue Cross • Blue Shield protection.

How good? Consider this:

Blue Cross provides benefits for hospital services themselves . . . and pays the hospital directly. There's no red tape, and in four out of five cases, no additional bill to pay for semi-private or ward hospital care.

Blue Cross, for hospital care—along with Blue Shield, for doctor care—is the most dependable protection you can get anywhere. Worth having? Just ask someone who has it!

Blue Cross. for hospital care
Blue Shield. for doctor care

Controls Releases of All Cabinet Departments

Hagerty Tops for Fairness, Efficiency; Frankness, Sincerity Build Authority

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
(Second of Three Dispatches)

WASHINGTON (NEA) — James C. Hagerty today is the most powerful press agent in history.

As President Eisenhower's press secretary Jim has amassed unique authority and influence. He advises on top White House policy decisions which affect the whole world. He gives orders to members of the Cabinet on administration announcements and the members consult him on top level public relations matters.

No important Department of Defense announcement is made before it crosses his desk.

At the same time Jim ranks at the top among the most fair, efficient and popular press agents in Washington history.

That's fortunate for the President, too. For during the next four years—mostly because Ike can't run again—he'll need all the public support which he can muster for his policies. The burden of his winning active public support will fall heavily on his press relations.

Jim's personality and abilities plus Ike's policy of giving full authority to his assistants account for Hagerty's successes.

Also, Jim more than makes up for the President's inclination to remain aloof from the White House correspondents and the details of his press relations. Hagerty's office is always open. He obviously enjoys talking and working with reporters.

Jim has a quick, fiery temper with reporters and officials like. Most of the time he'll apologize later. "I wish I didn't lose my temper but it just happens sometimes," he admits.

Most people working with him excuse it in light of the constant, heavy strain under which he works. His phone rings at all hours of the night. His days are a madhouse of activity from the moment he enters the executive office wing of the White House.

INSTINCT FOR NEWS

Jim's "feel" for news and the impact of announcements on the public is brilliant.

His handling of the press during both of Ike's illnesses is typical of his instincts during a crisis. By being completely frank and giving out every detail of Ike's troubles he actually paved the way for public acceptance of Ike's announcement that he was well enough to run again.

After being given full details of Ike's illnesses the public was apparently also willing to believe the statements of his full recovery.

Jim is also frank about his mistakes. "I made a mistake in announcing that there would be no coverage of the Sunday swearing in of Ike," he says. He has never considered himself infallible.

Jim's participation in policy-making covers the whole range of White House activity. For example, when the administration was under fire on charges of letting Russia catch up in the production of long-range bombers last year it was partly off Hagerty's advice that production of new U. S. B-52 bombers was stepped up.

★ ★ ★

This action pulled the rug from under the critics.

Last summer when farm troubles threatened the Republican chances in the election, Hagerty plunged himself into the situation. He worked closely with Agriculture Secretary Ezra Benson and his aides who were seeking some solutions.

Below this policy level Hagerty's activities are free-wheeling all-seeing and all-inclusive.

On presidential press conference mornings he's on the phone to every cabinet member or any other official for information on questions which the President might be asked.

It's uncanny how often Jim is 100 per cent right on guessing what the reporters will ask.

STERN ON ERRORS

When a department official or department head makes some press boo-boo, Hagerty is on the phone in a hurry in no uncertain terms. For example, when Ike's Mid-East policy was leaked to the New York Times prematurely, Hagerty blistered Carl McCardle, Assistant Secretary of State for public affairs, for what happened.

The leak apparently was traced to McCardle's office. Jim's irritation with what happened was conveyed to Secretary of State Dulles, too. Hagerty hasn't hesitated to speak frankly and promptly to several cabinet members and other top officials. Most press officers of the various departments have orders to check with Hagerty before releasing important statements.

During the first several years—less frequently recently—Hagerty held weekly meetings with the government department public relations heads. The net effect of these meetings was to coordinate all government public relations behind White House objectives.

These sessions are partly the cause of the paucity of press conferences by cabinet members, a subject of major administration criticism. During the discussions it develped that Hagerty and the department press agents decided more was to be lost than gained by regular cabinet-member press conferences.

An important facet to Hagerty's success is the ability of his assistant, Murray Snyder. Murray naturally does not have the same sweeping authority that Hagerty has won for himself and is a quieter, more reserved type. But he's a skilled craftsman in the public relations art and has the full confidence of the President and Hagerty when Hagerty is not around or busy with some other problem.

Next: The paradox of Ike's press relations.

HAGERTY MEETS PRESS — Unique authority and influence, a quick, fiery temper and a frankness about mistakes.

Bob Considine Says:

Kansas Reflects Spirit of Pioneers

TOPEKA, Kan. (INS)—You can learn a lot of things about America here in its innermost heartland that they don't teach you on Park Avenue or at the corner of Hollywood and Vine. And, generally, you'll be a lot better off.

★ ★ ★

These are some items that rubbed off my friend Jim Reed, executive editor of the Topeka Daily Capital, during an all-too-brief brush past him.

Jim is president of the Native Sons and Daughters of Kansas, group dedicated to the proposition that no matter how high, wide, handsome and prosperous Kansas grows it's got to build on the basic truths promulgated by its hardy founders a century ago.

The eight-page Constitution of Kansas, signed by masculine hands that broke the plains and paved ways farther West, is a document which can lay claim to such unrelated results as the morality and fairness of Dwight Eisenhower, who was reared at Abilene, and the presence of Phog Allen's Kansas basketball team of the incredible Negro skyscraper, Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlin.

Ike was exposed to the Kansas conscience from boyhood. Wilt, who could have played anywhere, chose Kansas' casteless culture.

John Brown's crusade against slavery began in Kansas. Many of the state's first homesteaders came not so much for the land but with the zeal to keep it a free state. Some were to die in "Bloody Kansas" to keep it free.

Reform, in Kansas, did not begin and end with Carrie Nation and her hatchet attacks on the jug and its users. "Sockless Jerry" Simpson, fierly leader of the Populist Party, hacked away successfully at corruption in government.

And Wild Bill Hickok, when made marshal of Abilene, reformed more than one rambunctious rustler before he abruptly met his Maker.

In a day when the nation's business motto was relentlessly becoming "Caveat Emptor"—let the buyer beware—Kansas introduced the "Blue Sky Law" which regulated and supervised investment companies and served as pilot legislation for the rest of the states.

With the entire East holding out, Kansas joined up with six other Western states to extend suffrage to women. Kansas farmers, toiling virtually 'round the clock, helped put through the nation's first eight-hour day legislation, because it was right.

In a day when public sanitation was almost unheard of, Kansas abolished the traditional and supremely contagious public drinking cup.

TAXPAYER'S ROLE

It was the first state to swat the fly, banish the roller towel. Its Legislative Council, established in 1933, sharply increases the taxpayer's direct role in the operation of his state government.

★ ★ ★

It's a place, as Jim Reed says of Topeka, "where few have too much, and fewer have too little . . . a place that's halfway to everywhere."

It's a place still "grateful to Almighty God for our civil and religious privileges," as its Constitution affirmed, and still of a mind to "insure the full enjoyment of our rights as American citizens."

Tidy Topeka gave birth to the longest railroad in the U. S., the Santa Fe. "In His Steps," the inspirational book by Dr. Charles Sheldon, was written in Topeka 60 years ago. It has sold more than 8,000,000 copies.

★ ★ ★

Here labored the legendary William Allen White, whose enormously poignant piece about the death of a beloved young daughter will live as long or longer than his model editorials.

PSYCHIATRY CENTER

The internationally famed Menningers, Dr. Karl and Dr. William, probe new frontiers in psychiatry from their hometown base, Topeka's pioneering Menninger Foundation.

Dr. Karl, the elder of these two remarkable sons of a Kansas horse and buggy doctor-teacher, sat at the feet of Harvard Medical School's great Dr. Ernest Southard, and also taught at Cambridge, before returning home to provide medicine with new concepts of the psychological aspects of disease.

In short, what a candidate for elective office once said of himself is doubly true of Topeka and the land around it. He said, "You can look farther and do a lot worse."

MSU Begins Flight Program

Student-Cadets to Take Pilot Training While Still in School

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan State University has launched its flight instruction program for Air Force ROTC cadets, the first school in the state to get such a program in operation.

Sixty-four seniors began studies and training that will qualify all or most of them for a private flying license prior to commencement in June.

Following graduation, the successful students will be commissioned and sent to an Air Force installation for primary training. They will be required to put in three years' active duty.

The MSU program is one of 43 in the country scheduled to start this year.

★ ★ ★

Col. Glendon V. Davis, professor of air science who is in charge at MSU, said a total of about 72 hours of instruction is involved, roughly half classroom work on the ground and half flying time.

The flying phase will be handled at Capitol Airport, northwest of Lansing.

Davis said as a result of the undergraduate instruction received the air cadets will be enabled to complete their primary training in shorter time, or get additional training that would not otherwise be possible.

★ ★ ★

He said the new arrangement has the further advantage of an early screening out cadets who sooner or later will be determined to lack the qualifications for a military pilot.

These cadets will be transferred to other categories, he said.

Davis said a similar program will be put into operation soon at the University of Michigan.

Two Area Coeds Compete With 60 in Queen Contest

Two Pontiac area coeds are among the nearly 60 candidates for the title "Miss Michigan State." They are Sheril G. Lyon, a junior, of 2350 W. Walton Blvd., Pontiac Township, and Janet K. Corbin, sophomore, of 6051 Andersonville Rd., Waterford.

The winner will be announced Feb. 8 during the 1957 J-Hop dance at the MSU auditorium. Six other finalists will form the queen's court.

The coeds are nominated for the contest by university residence halls, sororities and other campus organinzations.

To Show American Diversity of Culture

U.S. Entry in Brussels World's Fair Unique Circular Crystal, Gold Pavillion

NEW YORK (INS)—The United States will take its place in the world of free and "Iron Curtain" nations at the Brussels World's Fair in 1958 with a $5,000,000 "crystal and gold" circular exhibition pavilion, unparalleled in modern architecture.

The fair is to open in mid-April, 1958 and continue through October of the same year.

America's new circular palace has one rival in history, the coliseum in Rome, built A.D. 80.

The new exhibition building, featuring a 341 foot in diameter ceiling, the largest uninterrupted ceiling in the world, was unveiled in model form by Howard S. Cullman, United States Commissioner General to the fair, at a news conference at the Overseas Press club.

Edward D. Stone, the architect, was on hand to explain the special characteristics of the 95-foot high, two-story fair building. Also present was James S. Plant, deputy United States Commissioner General for the fair.

DISPLAY ALL FIELDS

The fair building, to be erected beginning in March, on a six and a half-acre site four miles out of Brussels, will offer viewers a comprehensive cross section of American contributions in the fields of art, science, engineering and humanities.

In addition to exhibits to be displayed on the ground and mezzanine floors, the United States will feature on its picturesque, wooded site, a theater large enough to seat 1,000 persons.

★ ★ ★

"We hope to get the best of America's performers to entertain in this theater," Cullman said. "We want to show the world the diversity of culture we have in America.

"In the matter of cuisine we are planning to offer visitors the most typical of American foods. We aren't going to compete with the French and Belgian chefs, but we are going to introduce to international palates the double-scoop ice cream cone, barbecued dishes and charcoal broiled delicacies."

FIRST FAIR SINCE WAR

The Brussels World's Fair, ranking in importance with the Paris exhibition of 1937 and the New York World's Fair of 1939-'40, is the first such all-inclusive international exhibition since World War II, Cullman pointed out.

Fifty countries and a number of international organizations will take part in the exhibition on a 500-acre ground.

Participating organizations include the United Nations, the Organization for European Economic Cooperation and the Council of Europe.

More than 35,000,000 are expected to attend. Shipping companies are planning stops at Antwerp to bring visitors closer to the fair grounds.

The U. S. pavilion, flanked by those of Russia and the Vatican, will feature a design of classical simplicity.

U.S. Posters Warn Against 'Treatment'

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Food and Drug Administration has sent out 46,000 posters warning the public against the Hoxsey cancer treatment.

The posters, for display in post offices, stated that the Hoxsey treatment "consists entirely of simple drugs which are worthless for treating cancer."

FDA officials said the poster is the "first such advertisement ever issued against a worthless remedy." They said the step was taken because federal court actions against Hoxsey treatment will not be settled for some time.

Meanwhile, said the officials, the "treatment is being vigorously promoted, and there are many persons who have not heard about our previous warning."

Cameramen Pick Nancy

DETROIT (AP) — Gov. Williams' Nancy, has been chosen "Woman of the Year" by the Detroit Press Photographers' Assn., a yearly award given for the woman considered most helpful to cameramen in aiding them in photographic assignments.

Chile's dried prune pack may be 4,400 tons this year, slightly off from 1955.

Wayne to Honor Five Detroiters

DETROIT (AP)—Five Detroit civic and business leaders will receive honorary degrees from Wayne State University at winter commencement exercises today.

They are Walker L. Cisler, president of the Detroit Edison Co.; William T. Gossett, vice president and general counsel of the Ford Motor Co.; Howard C. Baldwin, vice president of the Kresge Foundation; Mrs. James McEvoy, nurse and social worker; and Dr. Alfred H. Whittaker, surgeon.

Cisler has spearheaded Edison's participation in the atomic power development reactor project. He formerly was executive secretary of the Atomic Energy Commission's industrial advisory group.

Gossett, a graduate of Columbia University's law school, is a specialist in finance and litigation. He has been with Ford since 1947.

Baldwin was cited as layman of the year by the Detroit Council of Churches in 1953.

Mrs. McEvoy is the only woman on the Detroit House of Correction Commission and a leader in developing a program for volunteer social and civil services.

Dr. Whittaker has served on a number of civic projects, including the Detroit City Plan Commission and Future Detroit, Inc., and the Detroit Historical Society.

'The FBI Story': 20th in a Series

Agents Carry Spy Offensive Abroad

Editor's Note: The following article is the twentieth in a series of exciting episodes taken from "The FBI Story," by Pulitzer-Prizewinner Don Whitehead.

By DON WHITEHEAD

"You are a better judge than I as to whether the time has come to tell the story of the western hemisphere operation. Told or not, it is the story of a great piece of work.

"I do not think a similar operation has ever been carried on; and I can personally attest to the brilliance of its results." (From a 1946 letter written by former Asst. Secretary of State Adolf A. Berle Jr. to FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.)

For more than 15 years the FBI has remained silent about its amazing operation in which special agents often risked their lives in helping smash the Nazis' World War II spy networks in Central and South America.

Four agents were killed in carrying out their missions, all in airplane crashes.

The story began in 1940, when President Roosevelt and others in his administration realized with grave concern, from evidence obtained in spy cases, that Axis agents had established a string of espionage bases from Mexico City southward to the Strait of Magellan.

GERMAN MIGRATION

Actually, South America had become a staging ground for Nazi spies being slipped into the United States. Information on American defense and industrial efforts was being funneled through South America to Germany.

Clandestine radio stations beamed on Hamburg, Cologne and Brussels were pumping military, political and economic reports to the Nazis' spy headquarters.

Long before Hitler's star had begun to rise, Germans had migrated to South America and settled in the growing countries in colonies which, for the most part, clung to German customs, language and culture.

The Nazi movement took hold in these areas. Germans wore the uniforms of storm troopers and carried the Nazi flag on ceremonial occasions.

There were German youth movements, a German labor front, a German Workers' Party, and a German war veterans' organization.

FBI AGENTS GO SOUTH

FBI Director Hoover discussed the problem early in May with Asst. Secretary of State Berle, and again in early June with Berle, Gen. Sherman Miles, assistant chief of staff of Army G-2, and Admiral Walter S. Anderson, director of Naval Intelligence.

★ ★ ★

Out of these meetings came a proposal for the organization of a Special Intelligence Service (SIS) to operate in the foreign field.

FBI agents were soon drifting south. Most of them were men who had developed special skills in undercover work, and they went south secretly.

One undercover agent went to South America as a soap salesman for an American concern whose officials never suspected his role with the FBI.

He sold so much soap within a few months that the company had to expand its import and distribution operations. A local businessman who had been with a firm which had given up the franchise was howling to get it back.

Meantime the demon soap salesman had made valuable contacts in business and government circles.

In an Argentine city, a boyish-looking American arrived to work as a reporter. He joined local clubs and soon he was sending articles to the United States and receiving favorable comment from publications interested in Latin American affairs.

WAS FBI AGENT

This particular young reporter was an FBI agent whom we shall call George Stevens. A favorite hangout of his was a small hotel operated by a man whose parents still lived in a country overrun by the Nazis.

★ ★ ★

Somehow the innkeeper seemed to absorb all the talk that passed across his tables in the course of a day. Stevens decided to try to enlist his help.

Over a cup of coffee, Stevens said, "I would like to do a series of stories on the national groups in the city. I'd like your help in gathering the information." He watched closely to see what the man's reaction would be.

The man looked at the young American for a full minute. Then he said quietly, "If I give you this information, will it reach the right people?"

Stevens nodded. "Yes. And I promise you'll never be embarrassed." There was no other agreement or explanation. None was needed. They understood each other.

★ ★ ★

"I never knew anyone like this man," Stevens recalled later. "At least once a week the police would follow me. But I always knew in advance when I was to be followed — and that was always the day I worked hard at being a reporter.

★ ★ ★

That was always the day I would call on the chief of detectives, telling him I just happened to be passing by and would he have a cup of coffee with me.

TIPSTER IS SECRET

It must have driven the guy nuts — and the detectives who were trailing me, too. They never knew I was being tipped by the innkeeper, who had a well-placed friend at the police station.

"One day our people got word to me that two Germans suspected of espionage had driven by automobile into a neighboring country. I was supposed to find out who they were, where they had gone, whom they had seen, and if they were coming back.

That's a pretty tough assignment when you don't even know the names of the men.

"Well, I went to my friend. He said to come back in a few days. I went back. He said come back later. He shook his head. He said, 'Come back tomorrow.' I figured he was stalling.

"When I returned, he gave me a typewritten report identifying the Germans. He knew where they had gone and he even had the gist of their conversation as they drove as well as the fact they were to meet later in Argentina.

And instead of two Germans there had been three. It was one of the most detailed reports I ever saw and it helped uncover an espionage ring.

"'Would you mind telling me how you got it?' I asked him.

"He smiled and said: 'The man who drove their car was one of my men. When those people ask for a car in this city, the driver always is my man.'"

★ ★ ★

Stevens once almost wrecked his relationship with the innkeeper. "He did so much for us I offered to pay for the information. I thought he was going to throw me out of his place. But he cooled off and said: 'What I do for you, I do from my heart — not for money.' I finally got out of an awkward situation by saying I didn't mean he should take money personally but that I felt he should allow me to help pay the expense of gathering information for us."

Leadership Has Declined Steadily

Mendes Resigning Could Unite Strong Center Party

PARIS (INS) — Former Premier Pierre Mendes-France may soon again become France's political "lone wolf."

Sources close to the controversial, 50-year-old politician told International News Service that Mendes-France will give up the leadership of the Radical-Socialist party in February.

His resignation might open the way to a "grand reconciliation" that would restore unity to the once all-powerful, middle-of-the-road political party.

The Radical-Socialists are now deeply divided. They also have lost a large number of parliamentary members who have bolted the party rather than submit to what they called Mendes-France's "dictatorship." Others had been expelled from the party for alleged lack of discipline.

In addition, the Radical-Socialists suffered a stinging defeat in a vital by-election to the National Assembly last Jan. 13. Their standard-bearer, Dominique Stefanaggi, polled only 6.5 per cent of the total votes cast in the first electoral district of Paris. In the Jan. 2, 1956, general elections the Radical-Socialists obtained 17.5 per cent of the popular vote in the same district.

Mendes-France, who quit Premier Guy Mollet's cabinet last year because he disagreed with the government's policy in strife-torn Algeria, had backed Stefanaggi.

Stefanaggi's defeat came as a heavy blow to Mendes-France's flagging political fortunes.

The dynamic French politician, who was once dubbed "superman" by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, has consistently failed in his efforts at a political comeback since he was voted out of office Feb. 5, 1955.

In the campaign preceding the 1956 general elections, Mendes-France took the leadership of the left-of-center "Republican Front," a coalition of non-Communist parties.

★ ★ ★

The aggregation won some 160 out of 544 National Assembly seats. This was insufficient to restore Mendes-France to power.

Political isolation is not new to Mendes-France.

He stayed aloof from government posts for nine years after quitting Gen. Charles de Gaulle's cabinet in a huff following the rejection of his austerity plan for putting a war-weary France back on her economic feet.

He became premier June 18, 1954, in the midst of the crisis that followed the fall to the communists of the Indo-China fortress of Dien-Bien Phu. He stayed in power exactly 200 days.

A Doctor Shows How To

Bathe Away Rheumatic-Like Pains In Your Own Bathtub

By ANNE-MARIE FARROW, Science Feature Writer

A leading New York Physician has developed a way to turn an ordinary tub of hot water into a Mineral Bath.

Imagine what this may mean to millions who suffer from deep-seated bodily aches and pains like those of Arthritis, Neuritis, Rheumatism and Neuralgia!

Now, without pills or medicines, you may give yourself quick temporary relief from many agonizing aches and pains—and from nervous tension and fatigue.

Many who have tried this doctor's discovery can hardly contain their enthusiasm. In most glowing reports, they tell of how they now "wash away" much of the pain of knotted muscles and aching joints right in their own bathtubs—similar to bathing at one of the world's famous Mineral Springs. In fact, millions of people who have been travelling to distant Health Spas for pain relief — on the advice of their physicians — may soon be saved this bother and expense. Thanks to this new triumph in medicinal chemistry, they may soon be enjoying the often remarkable benefits of true mineral bathing in the snug comfort of their own homes.

Thanks To A Curious Doctor . . .

A doctor with an inquisitive mind was puzzled by the fact that Medical Science had never been able to tell why certain Natural Springs so often gave quick alleviation to physical suffering. He decided to analyze the waters of these springs and find out what Nature put in them to make them different.

He found that they were rich in certain carbonates, sulphates, iodides and chlorides of Lithium, Potassium, Magnesium, Iron and other medicinal minerals. Could it be, he asked himself, that the secret lies in these minerals? In order to find the answer, he had a chemist compound them into a water-soluble concentrate which patients suffering from various aches and pains could use in their baths.

I was one of many who tried it. For months I had been annoyed by nagging muscular aches and a twinging pain in my elbow. Even though skeptical, I was eager to test this doctor's new relief. I would have tried anything that offered any hope of easing my discomfort.

"It is called BATHERAPY," he told me. "You simply add a handful or more to a tub of moderately hot water, then let yourself soak in it for about 20 minutes. Mind you, this is not a cure for Arthritis or anything like that—but it may give you very welcome temporary relief from pain."

A Wonderful Experience

I'll always remember that first BATHERAPY bath! I had hardly let myself sink into the tub when something wonderful began to happen. A deep, penetrating warmth seemed to course through my body. It was as though the mineral bath heat were actually massaging away my aches and pains. In a few minutes an indescribable feeling of relaxation crept over me. It was as though my whole body were being caressed by the soaking sunshine of Spring. It was an experience I'll never forget—and one I often repeat!

To share my good fortune, I sent a package of BATHERAPY to a friend. He wrote me:

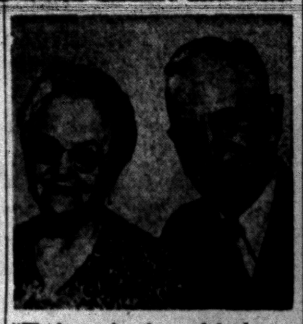

"I simply get in my tub and let a BATHERAPY bath soak my aches and pains away. It's like taking a Mineral Bath at one of those famous European Spas you read about — but I bet even they cannot match the blessed relief my own tub now gives me."

Available to Hospitals — and the Public

As this is being written, BATHERAPY is being made available to hospitals everywhere — and to the public as fast as possible, through at least one store in each city. Already thousands upon thousands are enjoying its benefits, some far more than others. If you are among the millions who suffer from painful aches in joints and muscles — or from the tensions and fatigues of modern living — ask your doctor about BATHERAPY. The chances are you'll find its soothing, cushioning, pain-softening action will give you a surprising freedom from minor discomforts and a feeling of well-being that may last for quite a little time. If, after BATHERAPY pain persists, see your doctor.

Sleep Like A Baby . . . Without Sleeping-Pill Hangover!

Even if you are fortunately free of any bodily discomforts, you'll find a bath with BATHERAPY is a delightful and rewarding experience . . . A wonderful sensation of physical freedom envelops you. Tensions unwind. Nerves are soothed. And you relax so blissfully, you sleep as though you hadn't a care in the world . . . What will Science think of next?

"We have already used it three times and feel wonderful, not achy as usual. Bless the Doctors who have worked hard to invent such a product."
—Mr. and Mrs. M. S., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"I'm 81½ years old and these baths are making me feel young again."
H. B. S.—Newark, N. J.

"I have used it in my baths . . . and feel fine the next morning."
S. K.—Newark, N. J.

"I am interested in purchasing a five lb. package of BATHERAPY. A friend gave my husband a pound to try and it was almost unbelievable the results he got from this product."
Mrs. J. McE.—Jamaica, N. Y.

"I feel I cannot be without it at any price. I found great relief in its use and have recommended it to many people."
L. D.—Brooklyn, N. Y.

"I am a dancing teacher, after teaching five or six hours a day I feel quite worn out, but after a hot bath using your BATHERAPY I feel like a new man."

Area Must Start Now to Meet Education Need

Detroit's Regional Planning Commission has just issued a new report, indicating that the growth in population in the area north of Detroit will be even greater than previously forecast.

By 1970, Detroit, Hamtramck and Highland Park will actually have shrunk by 18,000 persons who have moved to the suburbs along with hundreds of thousands already headed that way, Chairman Robert D. Carpenter estimates.

★ ★ ★

The new prognostication, plus the national estimates and surveys, indicate that the immediate Pontiac area is destined to face a tremendous growth in addition to the big general population advance which faces the nation as a whole.

American population is increasing swiftly.

The rate is an all time record.

It exceeds anything ever known.

★ ★ ★

Our own area will swing along with the national average as a base and then we will watch our gains pyramid beyond the national average because of the character of this sector and the acceptance of our manufactured products.

★ ★ ★

President John A. Hannah of Michigan State University asserts these huge population gains make the location of the project branch which MSU proposes to open on the Alfred G. Wilson property, a happy combination.

"The number of young people desiring to go to college in this area in 1970 will be so great," he declares, "that keeping pace with the demand will tax every resource all the colleges possess."

★ ★ ★

Our area must start now.

Schools are primary considerations.

Certainly, the United States of America stands ready to offer a college education to every young man or woman that seeks it. It would be unthinkable to consider any other attitude. However, FACING OUR NATIONAL EDUCATIONAL RESPONSIBILITIES WILL IMPOSE A REAL FINANCIAL BURDEN ON ALL PEOPLE EVERYWHERE.

We must face it squarely.

There is no other way.

★ ★ ★

When all is said and done, can you picture any better investment than money spent in broader, better and more widespread education?.

Along with spiritual enrichment, this is the basis of all progress.

★ ★ ★

All manner of schools—city, township, county and state—at the primary, secondary and tertiary levels must be increased, augmented and extended. The increasing number of children per family today poses a real problem, but it is a happy problem to face and solve. No one would prefer national retrogression in which we closed present schools and found ourselves with empty class rooms and deserted buildings.

★ ★ ★

Oakland County is no end fortunate in having 1,400 acres, a magnificent residence and two million dollars in cash presented to the taxpayers for collegiate expansion. We still face big costs, but we have a flying start through the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson. Oakland and Macomb Counties are again no end fortunate in having an institution of the caliber and achievement of Michigan State University which is ready to step in and administer the highly complex problems presented here.

★ ★ ★

President Eisenhower has sent Congress a special message asking for a four-year, $1.3 billion program of Federal aid to U.S. schools. According to the dispatch, the House Labor Committee is expected to start work on the request immediately. The Committee may recommend even more. The problem is that pressing and that important. The Democrats proposed a six year, $3.6 billion dollar Federal assistance.

Governor Williams is recognizing the big problem in his Michigan budget.

The school matter confronts all entities of government.

A French inventor claims he has made a typewriter that can be operated as fast as a person can think. With respect to an overwhelming majority of people, there have been such typewriters ever since there have been typewriters.

"The television industry finds that educational programs are not popular." That isn't surprising. There are few persons who wouldn't walk four miles to keep from learning something.

The Weather Bureau has a slight edge on the Old Farmer's Almanac in the first week of their comparative predictions. Day by day, the bureau has been about 50 per cent right. The almanac correctly predicted last week's thaw, also the mercury drop near the close of the week. For this week it says, "Blizzards now bombard the boulevard," while on Monday the bureau merely said, "Mostly cloudy with occasional light snow." We'll see who knows—if anybody.

They Just Don't Make Better Shots

David Lawrence Says:

Integrated North Not Yet Reality

WASHINGTON — News that seems on its face to be confined to a locality and hence gets little attention nationally can upon occasion be of far-reaching importance in the life of a nation. A good example is the failure as yet of New York City's Board of Education to obey the Supreme Court of the United States in what lately has been emphasized as "the law of the land."

It will be surprising to many people to learn that "integration" in the school system has not been solved in the metropolis of America where so-called "liberalism" is very vocal. There loud voices of accusation recently have been heard denouncing the South as "backward" or as "undermining respect for the Supreme Court" or as contemptuous of the Constitution.

One can hardly believe that it is in the northern citadel of "civil rights" where public attention is being vividly drawn to the tendency of human beings to segregate according to color. With a commendable sense of realism in assessing the weaknesses of human nature, the New York Times, in an editorial entitled "The Beam in Our Own Eye," a few days ago spoke out as follows:

"Ever since the Supreme Court in 1954 concluded that in the field of education the doctrine of 'separate but equal' had no place, and that racial segregation deprived children of a minority group of equal educational opportunities, New York City has been re-examining its conscience. A commission on integration, with various sub-commissions, has been at work for the Board of Education.

SUBTLE PROBLEMS

"The board did not, for the most part, have to deal with the problem found in parts of the South, where there is settled public opinion against integration. It had to cope with the more subtle forms of segregation that create, as if by accident; a school almost wholly white. Puerto Rican or Negro in its student body. The good intention to integrate is not enough.

Real physical difficulties exist, as in the case of a school drawing its student body from a residential area almost wholly of one race. Inertia, some prejudice that must be admitted, and other obstacles too numerous to recount stand in the way of instant solution, even granted the best of goodwill.

"Now the Board of Education stands at the critical point where mere paying of lip service to fine moral principles will not suffice to move us forward, and where the sacrifices by which high principles are translated into action must be assumed."

NEWS TO SOUTH

This will come as news to many people outside New York, especially in the South. For evidently there are no "citizens councils" in New York which have brought about this situation. It will be a comfort to the southerners to learn, however, that the problem cannot soon be solved "even granted the best of goodwill" because "obstacles too numerous to recount stand in the way of instant solution."

Maybe one of the circuit courts of appeals and one of the district courts which in recent rulings didn't allow time for "gradual" change will be conscience stricken to discover the court decisions based on "psychology" do not wipe out either prejudices or the characteristics commonly called "human nature." For even in New York City apparently it takes time to find ways to accomplish "integration."

But perhaps the real significance of the New York City episode is that the persons who are taking the Supreme Court decision literally do not really understand how much distance they have to go. For if the logic of the High Court's decision is really followed, it will become necessary for every school to admit at least a sprinkling of persons of another color in order to remove the "inferiority" complex which the pupils of one race are supposed to develop when there is any race discrimination in the schools.

The sympathy of the South doubtless will go out to the people of New York who are struggling so slowly "to obey the Constitution."

LI'L ONES

"... and then pop said, 'I'll do them when I'm good and ready!'"

Dr. William Brady Says:

Handy Flask of Liqueur Won't Aid Affair De Coeur

Montreal mother writes:

"Last year our son took us on a tour through the States. We visited only one home where drink was offered us. We were so proud when our son and his wife said, 'No, thank you. We do not have beer, wine or liquor at home—except brandy in the medicine cupboard in case of illness."

It sounds incredible. But then there's the instance of the fellow who always carried a flask—in case someone were bitten by a rattlesnake or came down with brain fever from unrequited love. These are conventional reasons for drowning your sorrow, dulling your conscience, or forgetting your shame for an hour.

Keeping liquor on hand for emergencies is as justifiable as making hootch in the bathtub or running a private still up the creek.

Just what emergency, if not snakebite?

DIG UP PROOF

Here again we must dig up Prof. Hare, Hobart Amory Hare, M. D., B. Sc., who, let me say for the benefit of any of his surviving kin, was and is, in my opinion, the greatest authority on therapeutics, that is, the science and art of treatment.

In the tenth edition of his famous textbook, Hare said:

"Careful scientific research has proved that alcohol is in no sense a true stimulant to the circulation . . . If the dose is large enough to cause any appreciable change in the circulation, it is in the nature of depression rather than stimulation."

This was O.K.

But on the next page the professor seems to take us up the creek, as he says with a wink:

"The chief uses of alcohol are as a rapidly acting stimulant in all forms of cardiac failure due to . . . fainting, snakebite, surgical shock, chronic pneumonia."

OTHER HALF

But you haven't heard the half of it yet. I had paid $3.75 for Hare's textbook, when we were deeply in debt and could scarcely afford a go-cart for the baby, so I felt pretty bad about it, and finally I wrote and asked Dr. Hare how come. I pasted his courtly answer in the book. For one thing he quibbled—and may I remind you that my high regard for Hare is unchanged — or that's the way it seems to me:

★ ★ ★

"It is quite conceivable that alcohol acts as a stimulant upon other functions of which, as yet, we know very little, as, for example, the ability of the body to resist infection.

As far as I have been able to learn from the study of the medical literature, we know little if anything more about the ability of the body to resist infection than we knew fifty years ago. But I suppose it is too late to file a claim against the estate for a refund of the royalty on my copy of the book—probably 37½c, with interest.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Voice of the People

Requests Public to Help Mental Patients Recover

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

It is surprising how little the general public knows of the illness which tops them all, mental illness.

If the true facts were known, they wouldn't be singled out. Over 30,000 people in the U.S. each year have nervous breakdowns, and if all the hospital beds in this country were put side by side, every other one would be a mental patient. The largest share of mental illness can be cured. Leaving the hospital is the first step. The treatment they receive from the public determines whether they'll be happy, useful citizens.

Let's help them instead of destroying them. Remember, it could happen to you.

Doesn't Want Tito to Visit America

I am protesting the proposal to bring Tito here as a guest of America. Maybe if Mr. Dulles hears dissent from more than what his state department airily dismisses as "a few Catholics" and "a few Congressmen" he'll decide to call off this game of footsy with the Marxist maestro of Yugoslavia.

No maybe about it, we must. And we must get millions of our fellow Americans who abominate Communism and cruelty and tyranny and Tito to back us up in our protest.

Write or wire your protest to Hon. John Foster Dulles, Secretary of State, State Department, Washington, D.C. Do that now. Later may be too late.

Minister Wants Wyatt Appeal

I would like to draw the attention of the people to the Wyatt case again. Mr. Wyatt was acquitted, but just last week his oil was turned off from the outside, allowing his pipes to freeze, and causing quite an expense. This is just one of the many hardships they have had to face.

Do two wrongs make a right? Is it not our duty to help?

Many feel that had the Wyatts had more money to pay for a more thorough investigation, the case would have been judged differently. There are many things about the case which were not brought out at the trial. Mrs. Wyatt took two lie detector tests which indicated that she was telling the truth.

An appeal would help clear up the case, and realizing the financial circumstances of the Wyatts, several persons have been sufficiently convinced to send money to help bring this about.

Whether or not she is guilty, an appeal which would result in a more thorough investigation of the circumstances is the only just answer.

Hawaii and Alaska Statehood Urged

In reply to "Ex-Korea," I submit these facts.

The traditional requirements for statehood are a population of over 60,000 and a constitution acceptable to Congress. Hawaii's population is over 500,000 and Alaska's is over 100,000. There is nothing wrong with their state constitutions. They both have been governing themselves quite well for a number of years. All they ask now is a chance to elect their own governor, Congressmen and to vote in presidential elections.

As to the danger of border incidents, perhaps it would interest you to know that right now we have many thousand military personnel in Alaska. Total border incidents: None.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Get Rid of 'First Name' Complex

Some people have a "first name" complex. This is a critical problem in office management and personnel administration. But it disrupts the morale when employes affect an undue intimacy with their employers. We don't permit it occur in civilian organizations.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case T-386: Oscar H., aged 33, is office manager in a Chicago firm.

★ ★ ★

"Dr. Crane, my problem concerns a man whom I hired a few weeks ago," he began. "He is a capable fellow, and quite intelligent.

"But he has already begun to call me by my first name. Now I don't want you to think I'm devoid of a sense of humor nor am I unduly stuck up, but I don't like to have comparative strangers yell 'Hi, Ossie' when they meet me.

"Besides, I have always felt it was not wise for employees to be too informal and intimate with their bosses.

★ ★ ★

"Dr. Crane, why will some people actually strain a point to use the first names of those with whom they come in contact?"

COAT TAIL RIDERS

People with an inferiority complex will occasionally try to lift themselves upward by intimating equality with their superiors through quickly using the latter's first names.

The vaguely sense that if they can thus suggest equality with superior people, they will then rise in the social scale.

Thus, the average person is really gratified to have his boss call him by his first name, for this intimacy tends to elevate the prestige of the lesser person.

By the same token, however, it usually irritates an executive to have the office boy call him by the first name, for again there is an intimation of equality between two workers on different planes and the boss loses.

★ ★ ★

For such an equality elevates the prestige of the office boy, of course, but tends to lower the standing of the higher ranking employer.

SOCIAL CLIMBERS

Social climbers are very quick to take advantage of any source of prestige available.

And by "Social climbers", we refer not alone to the newly rich who try to crash the parties of the old, aristocratic families, nor to adults like this employee.

Even in grammar and high school, you will observe certain youngsters who pathetically eager to be included in the "inner circle".

Perhaps they have little athletic prowess, but they literally beam with joy if they can say "Hi, Bill" when they pass the football captain.

★ ★ ★

And if he is tactful enough to wave his hand, or nod his head or verbally acknowledge the greeting, their shy hearts are warmed for the rest of the day.

In fact, if the prominent students in high school or even in college, just realized the ego-starvation of their less fortunate classmates, they would be much more generous with nods of greeting.

They should even go out of their way to say "Hello, Jack," or "Good Morning, Mary," to those timid souls who yearn for a little friendship with the "big shots" but whose wallflower personalities make them shrinking violets.

WAITER COMPLEX

Some people also pay the head waiter to nod and greet them by name when they bring a party of friends to a fashionable restaurant or night club.

★ ★ ★

For several years one of my wealthy students, who was socially shy, used to reserve a table at a fashionable hotel each Sunday night. He obtained his chief social delight from the fact that the head waiter, as well as the orchestra leader, always made much of him. In turn, he tipped them generously for this "purchased" popularity.

But in the usual office situation, it is not good psychology for the subordinates to call their superior by his first name.

He may use their first names, but they should always be sufficiently deferential to his higher rank, at least during working hours, that they address him as "Chief" or else as Mr. Blank.

Send for my "Tests for Employer and Employee", enclosing a 3 cent stamped envelope, plus 20 cents.

Use it to obtain a higher promotion and a salary increase.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Whirly-Birds Have Enthusiastic Following

Sky's the Limit in Helicopter Business

By LEE CARSON

NEW YORK (INS)—Looking for new horizons, wondering where to pioneer?

Drop everything and get a helicopter. In the years between 1947 and '57 the manufacturers and operators of helicopters have not only made themselves a sizeable fortune but also opened up unlimited opportunities for the fellow with a little money and a lot of derring-do.

In something under 10 years the makers and operators of the whirlybirds have grown from a handful of pilots and one manufacturer to an industry and business grossing more than a hundred million dollars a year They even have three trade associations.

"We've only just scratched the surface," state Carl Agar, president of the American Helicopter Association and his own two-million-dollar firm. "The sky's the limit and anyone who doesn't mind hard work and long hours is welcome."

★ ★ ★

Agar, who owns and operates the largest commercial helicopter company in the world, sees the day coming "and maybe tomorrow" when all commuting, travel and business operations such as oil and mineral mapping and researching will be done by the whirly-birds.

DIVERSE CHORES

Right now he owns and operates 35 of the flying mix-masters in Canada and the United States. They do everything from flying cornflakes to the bush country to tracking down ore streaks for the boys from Pittsburgh.

★ ★ ★

"There's no trick in getting into the helicopter business," Agar says. All you need is enough dough to buy one—and then beat your brains out on any job that comes along.

"I remember back in '47 my partner and I were running a two-bit flying school in Vancouver and we heard about these things and went down to Seattle to see them. One look and we were hooked."

Like the other hundred-odd members of the Helicopter Association Agar and partner saw that here was an aircraft with built-in money pockets.

"It is a piece of equipment that can do almost anything—like a tractor or bulldozer. And at the same time it is the safest, most versatile transportation in the world. You just can't beat it."

★ ★ ★

Starting out with one small Army surplus helicopter, Agar built up a business of bush-flying, crop-dusting and transportation that now nets him both millions and minks.

"We help out the trappers and oftimes get paid off in pelts," he explains, "and that's not bad."

AIR FORCE VETERAN

Another old helicopter hand, Carl Brady, got into the racket—as the saying goes—via the American Air Force. He was a fighter-bomber instructor in Texas throughout the late, unlamented hostilities and saw a few of the early whirly-bird models.

"The darn things fascinated me. I knew that here was something far more practical than the fixed-wing craft. Soon as I got out of the Air Force I got right into helicopters."

The infant industry even has a woman operator—Eleanor Rudnick of Bakersfield, Calif., who operates 'copters from Alaska to Central America. Miss Rudnick, an attractive 33-year-old with a flat-out way of talking, explained how she got into the helicopter business:

"First of all I've got rocks in my head. Then this friend of mine, Knute Flint, he's Brady's partner, came pulling this thing down the road one day and parked in the hangar of my little flying school. Well I stayed up all night looking at that goldarned thing and in the morning I went and borrowed some money to buy one."

★ ★ ★

"I was starving to death in the airplane business—then I found helicopters," said Eleanor. "Believe me—if you're willing to give up sleep, personal life, and your last buck—you have a future in helicopters."

Anyone like to trade in a tired typewriter on a helicopter?

Royal Dutch Airlines (KLM) has 33 planes — including jets — now on order.

The Unicorn

The unicorn is a strange looking animal first described in ancient Greek and Roman stories.

It had the head and body of a horse, the tail of a lion, the beard of a goat, and a golden curly mane.

Its outstanding feature, however, was a single straight horn on its forehead.

During the Middle Ages, drawings of the unicorn often were used on shields, flags and coat of arms. Even today it appears on the shield of Great Britain.

In a New York museum there is a famous set of tapestries picturing a unicorn hunt. Even a postage stamp from Newfoundland has a unicorn design.

Here is a unicorn for your collection. In coloring it, leave the body white and make the hoofs, beard, mane, tail and horn bright golden. Color the background brightly too if you like. Then paste the picture on cardboard and cut out along the heavy lines.

If you fold back the ends on the dotted lines the unicorn will stand.

Romeo Church 'Adopts' Pair

Polish Couple Attends First Services in New Homeland Sunday

By LEE WINBORN
Romeo Correspondent

ROMEO — Dr. and Mrs. Johann Freiderick Haessner dabbed their eyes with their handkerchiefs as they sat in a pew of the First Congregational church here Sunday morning. Their show of emotion was understandable — they had just arrived in town from Duisberg, Germany, on the final lap of their flight from Communist oppression in their native Poland.

Before the service, the familiar strains of the hymn, "I Would Be True," could be heard being played on the church carillon — moving the couple to tears.

Mrs. Haessner said, "I was so pleasantly surprised to hear the tune that was my favorite in Poland in this church. I felt quite at home — as if I belonged to the congregation."

"I feel we are one step closer to a Universal Church," she added wistfully.

The small, pale-faced woman of 51 was speaking through her interpreter, Mrs. Matthew Koth. Mr. and Mrs. Koth have opened their Camp Ground road home to Mrs. Haessner and her 59-year-old husband until permanent quarters are ready for them.

The Koths were instructed to meet the couple in Port Huron, but on the morning of the Haessners scheduled arrival, they heard that that particular train had not been running for two years. They were told that the two displaced persons they were expecting were waiting for them, alone and friendless, at a train station in Detroit.

Despite their inauspicious arrival, the Haessners have found parishioners of the local church which has "adopted" them are more than eager to welcome them into their hearts and homes.

Each group of the church's Women's Fellowship has undertaken a specific project to make the couple more comfortable in their new surroundings. One is collecting canned goods, another linen and bedding and others kitchen utensils, staples and necessary furniture to start light housekeeping.

Dr. Haessner is a chemical engineer by profession specializing in the use of coal tars and die stuffs. He is a graduate of the Technical University in Berlin. He speaks German, Polish and Russian fluently and has a usable command of English, French and Latin.

Both of the Haessners were born in Poland and are of German descent. With the overthrow of the Polish government before World War II, they began their flight westward. Dr. Haessner was drafted into the German Army as a private — later serving as an interpreter.

He spent three years as prisoner of war in Egypt, working in the dispensary of a British hospital. While her husband was a captive of the Allied Forces, Mrs. Haessner found herself forced to take refuge with the German underground fleeing from town to town with the "Bolsheviks" close at her heels.

The couple was reunited in autumn, 1947, and soon began dreaming of emigrating to America. Employment in Germany, Dr. Haessner found, was spasmodic, and he and his wife were forced to live in a damp, unheated one-room apartment. He added to their meager income by developing a formula for a hand cream, putting it in tubes and selling it to factories and individual buyers. He was unable, however, to find a backer and never produced the cream on a large scale.

Shortly before German and American members of the World Council of Churches found a church to sponsor the Haessner's trip to the United States, the doctor's luck changed — he found more regular employment — making his decision to leave Germany more difficult.

Being childless and somewhat older than most persons seeking sponsorship, the pair was almost thwarted in the fulfillment of their dream. They were scheduled to be "adopted" by another church in Michigan, but at the last moment lodging and employment presented too great a problem for that congregation.

The World Church Service in Lansing issued an emergency call, and the Rev. Peter Vos presented the idea of sponsoring the Haessners to his members. Approval was unanimous, and within 15 days the Polish couple was being welcomed in Romeo.

ATTEND FIRST CHURCH SERVICE — The Rev. Peter Vos of the First Congregational Church, Romeo, welcomes Dr. and Mrs. Johann Freiderick Haessner of Poland, displaced persons "adopted" by his church, Sunday morning. Parishioners are joining in making the couple feel wanted in the community by entertaining them and providing needed items for them when they are ready to set up housekeeping on their own.

Civil Defense Improving, Says Director

"We have a long way to go in rescue training and in Civil Defense preparedness, but we are in pretty good shape compared to other communities."

This was the observation of Robert A. Stierer, Pontiac's assistant Civil Defense director, who recently returned, along with William Aho, the city's rescue training director, from a two-day Rescue Training Institute in Battle Creek.

"Larger cities such as Detroit and Milwaukee are better prepared," Stierer said, "because they are top priority target areas."

Eighty persons representing more than 40 communities in Michigan, Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, and Wisconsin, attended the meeting which was sponsored by the Federal Civil Defense Administration.

Asked what was to be done this year to improve the city's Civil Defense preparedness, City Manager Walter K. Willman outlined a four-point plan.

First, the Pontiac Municipal Civil Defense and Disaster Control Plan will be completed. The plan will detail duties of city departments in case of enemy attack. A portion of the plan was to be presented to the City Commission for study tonight.

MORE TRAINING

Secondly, there would be an expansion of training in rescue techniques and other operations.

Willman, who doubles as Civil Defense director, said the third step would be to obtain more Civil Defense equipment. He said 12 additional mobile radios have been ordered for use in emergency vehicles.

These will be paid for out of the Civil Defense $10,000 appropriation in the 1957 budget. Stierer added that officials planned to apply for 50 per cent federal financial assistance.

* * *

Lastly, the city will follow closely developments in federal legislation and planning pertaining to Civil Defense.

"This will include watching Civil Defense on state and other governmental levels, such as the Oakland County Civil Defense Council," said Stierer.

"We're moving ahead and making progress," he added.

Rose Township Suit Asks Ban on Dump

Rose Township and 12 of its residents yesterday asked Oakland County Circuit Court to order the closing of a dump on South Holly road.

Township attorney Robert A. McKenney said the dump violates zoning and is a health menace. The suit asks $1,000 damages from the owners, George R. Robinson and his wife, and an injunction ordering the dump closed and filled in.

The dump was created last April 22, McKenney said. The Robinsons since "have ignored repeated warnings" by the township that the dump violates a township ordinance, he said.

Judge Clark J. Adams set a hearing for Monday at 9:30 a.m.

OXFORD — The Oxford School Board has withdrawn its permission for the high school chorus to attend the National Music Educators Assn. convention in Omaha this spring.

The chorus had been invited to demonstrate its rehearsal technique and present a program under a national conductor.

The school was notified by officials of the North Central Educators Assn. that the Music Educators had never applied for "approved activity" listing, and therefore students from the powerful North Central Assn. could not travel outstate to participate in its programs until formal accreditation has been established next summer.

Mrs. Dorothy Jean Valentine, director of music, announced, "Our 84 chorus members are very disappointed at this invoking of an infrequently - used restriction, but have resigned themselves to "make Michigan ring with their music." The group has been invited to appear as honor group at the State Class B vocal festival at Flint in May.

Brooklands Starts Drive to Aid Elder Littlefairs

BROOKLANDS—The community here is making plans to get a drive under way, for the aid of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Littlefair of Harrison road.

The Littlefairs are the parents of Thomas R. Littlefair, who with his wife and oldest son, was killed on M31 near Niles, last weekend. The trio, along with three other children, was en route from Milwaukee to Brooklands for a visit with the elder Littlefairs.

Police say they believe the car, which killed the father instantaneously, rammed into a bridge abutment about 4:30 p.m. Other accident details were unknown.

Mrs. Littlefair died two hours after the crash; James, 9, is still in critical condition; Joyce, 6, will require surgery and is suffering from shock; and Alice, 2, who received lacerations, was released to her grandparents. The Community of Brooklands is rallying to the aid of the grandparents of these children. They have taken on all responsibility and are trying to foot the expenses of the tragedy.

Harold Graves, fire chief here, told how the firemen responded two years ago when the Littlefairs were left homeless after a fire. The men of the department made a door-to-door canvass at that time, and will put forth similar efforts now, despite bad weather.

After the multiple services, which are being held in the Pixley Funeral Home, Rochester, today, many organizations will band together in an effort to defray the financial burden placed so unexpectedly on the Littlefairs.

Supervisor and Clerk in Commerce Township Each Chalk 28

By STANLEY BOK
Commerce Correspondent

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP—Now that it's general knowledge that James L. Gardner will retire from the position of Commerce Township supervisor come spring, interest in the Feb. 18 primary race here is running higher than ever.

* * *

Gardner is currently rounding out his 22nd year as township supervisor and his 28th year as a township official. He served two years as township treasurer and four years as a justice of peace prior to assuming the post of supervisor.

Another veteran township official, Earl N. Garner, intends to enter retirement on April 1, leaving the township clerk job wide open. Garner will vacate the position after 26 years of service in that capacity and a total of 28 years as a township official.

Announcement of the two retirements apparently has boosted enthusiasm among township residents since newcomers must be selected. In the past, township voters have indicated a strong tendency to re-elect township officials.

Three nominees are on the Republican ticket for the supervisory post. They are Thomas C. Tiley, now a member of the Commerce Township board; Marion L. (Duke) Johnson, well-known businessman, and Clifford K. Cottrell, member and former president of the Wolverine Lake Village Council. James P. Farley, also a member of the Wolverine Lake Council, is the lone Democrat seeking that office.

Nominess for township clerk are Harry H. Helvey, Republican, and Leonard H. Field, Democrat.

Other nominees are:

Township treasurer — Arthur F. Ward, Blanche H. Cummins and George T. Nash, Republican; Victoria M. Coleman, Democrat.

Group Has One Player Too Many

Substitute Member No Longer Needed by Card Club

By EMILY POST

Today's first letter tells me: "About six months ago a woman friend with whom we play cards each week had to drop out of the group temporarily. As we wanted to continue playing, we asked another friend to take her place. She has been playing with us every week since.

"I met this first friend on the street the other day and she said that she would like to resume playing cards. The question is, how can we tactfully tell the person who took her place that she cannot play with us any longer? We would appreciate your help in handling this situation."

Answer: If you told her in the beginning that she was filling a place then it is very simple to explain that Mrs. Jones is returning to the card club next week and that you regret very much that there will no longer be a place for her. Thank her for filling in and tell her that you enjoyed having her very much.

If she has no idea that she has been substituting for someone else, I'm afraid it will be impossible to tell her to leave. You will have to explain to the other person that she was out so long that you can't possibly ask Mrs. A. to leave.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I was a guest at dinner recently in a house where the host carved and served the plates. I was seated on the host's right and was handed the first plate, which I kept. I was told later that I was wrong to keep it and that I should have passed it on. Will you please tell me if I was wrong?"

Answer: Although you were right in keeping the first plate, your host should have said, "This is for you!" As he did not say this, it might have been better had you passed it on

"Dear Mrs. Post: I have just recently become engaged and would like to know if it is up to me to take my fiance to meet my relatives, or if it is up to them to invite us to their houses?"

Answer: It is up to you to take your fiance to meet your relatives. It is up to his relatives to invite you to their houses.

She Slows Down and Enjoys Life

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

This week I am letting you in on a few of my letters. The following one came from a reader recently.

"Dear Mrs. Lowman:

"The telephone rings. It is someone wanting me to be chairman of some committee, but the answer is, 'No, sorry but this year I am taking a rest from doing so many things.'

"That's the way it has been ever since January first a year ago. My husband does not make a large salary and I have always worked outside the home. I have a daughter in high school and a son in college, his first year. Not only this but I was mixed up in so many activities.

"I was approaching menopause age and decided that I would slow down for a while. First I had to get rid of so much cooking. It took a lot of time and when I had guests it exhausted me.

"I rented out our son's room and the rent money helps pay for the services of a cook from 3 until 6 every week day. If is such a treat to walk in, sit down and eat, get up and read the paper, chat with friends or my husband or look at TV. I seldom had time for any of this before.

"I feel like a different person since I have simplified my life. My work at the store seems so much easier and I sleep wonderfully. I am no longer nervous. My voice is softer. It used to be high-pitched because of nervousness.

"This is what I did besides getting the cook: I resigned from three or four clubs I belonged to. I also stopped teaching a Sunday School class so that I can sleep later on Sundays. I do go to church and my circle and to PTA once a month.

"My husband and I go out together several times a week to visit friends or go to a movie or the theater and then come home and eat sandwiches and drink coffee off the kitchen table or before the fire. I have time and energy now to enjoy life."

It takes nerve and determination to drop activities to which you are accustomed and which folks expect you to continue. But you can do it. Many women are too fatigued to enjoy life because they allow it to become so complex.

★ ★ ★

How often do you have time to sit in the sunshine, or rock in a chair or lie down to read or listen to music? If life has goaded you into ruts of activity which are robbing your existence of its charm why not do something about it?

Tomorrow: "He Can Do Women's Work Easily — Cites Organization."

Take time to enjoy life. If you would like to lie down and read, you CAN do it.

Wife Usually Responsible for Dullness in Marriage

Woman Must Bring Fresh Ideas and New Interests to Her Family

By RUTH MILLETT

If a marriage grows dull after 10 or 15 years, it is usually the woman's fault.

Hold your brickbats, ladies. Let me explain.

★ ★ ★

That statement doesn't mean that a woman doesn't work hard to make a comfortable home or do the best job she can to bring up the children. It doesn't even mean that she grows to love her husband less or quits yearning for the early days of marriage when they were close and life together was an adventure.

But a marriage is an ever-changing relationship. Being a good housekeeper, a good mother and a devoted wife aren't enough to keep a marriage growing—instead of growing stale.

Instead of yearning for the old days, blaming her husband for being disinterested or dull or pitying herself because her life seems to hold so little fun, a wife has to keep making things happen.

She has to keep goals in front of the family. She has to encourage hobbies and outside interests. She has to get away from home enough to be able to bring some fresh ideas into it.

She has to nourish friendships and create some kind of social life for the family.

ENLARGE INTERESTS

In short, she has to be the one who keeps enlarging the couple's circle of interests and enthusiasm and friends.

A couple can live to themselves during the early days of marriage and find nothing lacking to make them completely happy. But that idyllic state of affairs can't go on indefinitely.

★ ★ ★

The shut-inness grows stale. The wonder of being together becomes routine. And it is no use longing for the days when just being together was enough.

After a few years of marriage the relationship has to keep being enriched and enlivened by other people and other interests and new goals.

The woman who doesn't work to keep her marriage growing has only herself to blame if it grows dull.

Doorknob Covers Protective, Pretty

Among smart new "inventions" are doorknob covers made of vinyl plastic with foam padding. They add to home decor, and also protect walls and furniture against chipping or scratches.

These doorknob gaurds, available in prints or solid color covers, fit standard or smaller knobs and slip on or off easily. They're excellent for children's rooms because they can be washed in warm soap or detergent suds.

Persuade Sulker to Voice Protest

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Russ was excited when he burst into the kitchen. "Can I go over to Walt's for supper?" he asked his mother. "His TV can get a channel that shows cowboy movies every night! And his Mom said why don't I come for supper, too. She said to tell you she was having chocolate pie . . ."

★ ★ ★

His mother, preparing a pie of her own, said shortly, "No. I told you that Daddy was bringing Grandma home for dinner tonight. He'll expect you to be here—and so will she."

Russ said nothing but his face went sullen and set. After a moment, he turned and left the kitchen.

His mother waited to follow him until she'd got her pie in the oven. Then she went into the living room where Russ was slumped in a chair listlessly turning pages of a comic book.

She said, "If you want terribly to see a cowboy movie tonight, say so. Then I could help you. I could tell Daddy and Granma you have to leave after supper. They won't mind so long as you eat with them.

"You could phone Walt right now that you're coming over after supper. You might even ask him to save you a piece of chocolate pie. But if you can't tell me you want to see the movie very much, how can I know you'd like me to help you?"

She got up from her chair. "Think it over," she said—and left him.

It took him about four minutes to decide that he wanted to see the cowboy movie enough to put his wish into words instead of into sulking's silence.

★ ★ ★

Sulking is protest by silence. Our responsibility to the sulking child is to persuade him to put his protest into words. His problem is his lack of confidence in the effectiveness of protesting words.

Once he experiences our respect for his protesting words and good results from speaking them, he begins to reject sulking as an answer to his difficulties.

It's that simple.

What complicates it is our fear of his open protest. We don't want to listen to it lest we have to back down from our inflexible "No" — and arbitrate with the child's wish. . .

We want him muzzled and silent because this is what makes us feel safe and in control of him. We dare not compromise with him lest he get the top hand—and misuse us.

★ ★ ★

This self-distrust is what makes it impossible to treat the sulker as Russ's mother treated him.

Springtime With All Its Glory Comes to the World of Fashion

Mr. Mort's "caped caprice" is of nubbed, checkered silk and cotton shaped to flatter every figure. It's buttoned from stem to stern, caped for the newest look of the season and made all the more charming with its prim white linen collar and dashing silk shantung bow. The hat is by John Frederics.

Always a favorite comes the first crocus . . . crisp, cotton tweed! It's shaped on the straight and narrow with back interest in the full blouson and the shining patent leather half belt.

Sweetness is added to spring in a slim empire silhouetting of supple rayon crepe. Cream color spiked with matching grosgrain is freshened with a midriff bouquet. These fashions may be purchased locally.

Don't Give Wine to Bob—It Puts Him to Sleep

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — The captain buzzed around our table like a bee as Robert Cummings and I sat down to have lunch.

★ ★ ★

"Cocktail, gentlemen?" he asked us.

"All right, Dubonnet on the rocks," I said.

"Not for me," Bob, the boy from Joplin, Mo., who made it good in TV, said. "Wine makes me sleepy."

★ ★ ★

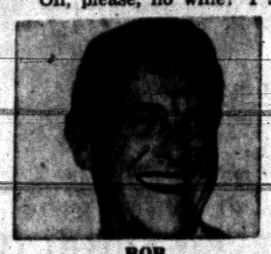

The tall, lean, good-looking TV star ordered a steak.

"The last time we were here I wanted to see a show. I hadn't seen one in years. Somebody got us tickets for 'My Fair Lady.' Probably paid $50 for them.

★ ★ ★

"Well, the next day we were leaving for Europe and so at dinner our hosts said, 'You've got to have some wine.'

"'Oh, please, no wine!' I said. They said, 'But this is an occasion. One glass of wine won't hurt anybody!'

BOB

"We went to the theater with Art Linkletter and as soon as we sat down, I dropped off to sleep. My wife was jabbing me in the ribs and everybody was whispering 'Hey, Bob, wake up, Bob, Bob!' Not me, all I saw was an occasional yellow haze up there when they got me awake for a second!'

★ ★ ★

"So when somebody asks whether I saw 'My Fair Lady,' I tell them, 'I went to it—but I didn't see it.'

Detroit Buses to Try Selling Gum to Riders

DETROIT (INS)—Some Detroit city buses, which already boast "passionate pink" ceilings, marble-tone walls and seats that "breathe," are now going to have gum machines for the benefit of passengers who like to chew.

The Detroit Street Railways Commission has authorized the installation of gum machines on 15 Woodward avenue buses for a 60-day trial period.

The machines, to be located near exits, will dispense gum at a penny a stick. The DSR will get 15 per cent of the gross.

★ ★ ★

Officials of the Amefour Corp., which received the trial concession, said that if the trial is successful they would like to install machines in all of the DSR's 250 new buses.

One dissenting cry was heard from Joe Caradonna, president of division 26, AFL-CIO, the driver's union. He said:

"What will this mean to our operators? Will they have to make change for everybody who wants a stick of gum? There is bound to be an argument some time, and one of our men will be up for dismissal."

DSR Commissioner Rodney Baxter promised Caradonna that no driver will be fired over chewing gum.

Borrow More Funds for Snow Removal

DETROIT (INS) — Detroit Common Council has authorized the Department of Public Works to borrow $300,000 for current snow removal costs against next year's budget.

The city has already used this year's $500,000 allocation for snow removal. DPW Commissioner Glenn C. Richards said the additional money should cover the remainder of the winter.

Richards said 23.1 inches of snow has fallen in the city so far this winter as compared to only 12.7 inches at the same time a year ago.

Champions Won't Dance Unless They're Together

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood (AP) —The Martins and Lewises may come and go, but there's one team that will never appear separately — Marge and Gower Champion.

★ ★ ★

The Champions are getting their career off the ground after a lapse due to the birth of their son, Gregg. During Marge's confinement, Gower stuck to his resolve not to appear without her.

"I directed the dances for 'The Girl Most Likely' at RKO," he remarked, "and they wanted me to play one of the male leads in it. I told them no. In the first place, it would be impossible to try to direct and dance at the same time and do a good job of both.

"Besides, if I dance, it will be with Marjorie."

This solidarity has existed throughout their marriage — with one exception, about 10 years ago.

The days of the Champion dancing team are numbered, they claim.

"One more baby and I'll be through," Marge declared.

This is in keeping with their longtime plan to quit as performers while they're still in peak condition. They recalled how they squirmed on seeing a once-top dance team perform after they were well past their prime.

★ ★ ★

"I'll be darned if we'll get up and try to dance when we're 45," Gower said.

He plans to go into directing fulltime while Marge takes care of the family.

But don't ring down the curtain on the Champions yet. They're still in top shape and may be starting the most successful phase of their career.

Koran said such offenders were violating both city and state laws.

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Jackie Robinson ended a brilliant baseball career with his retirement earlier this month, but he also made his exit on a sour note.

Ever since he ended his major league days three weeks ago, Robinson has done nothing but show ill will for the sport which gave him his bread and butter.

He started by flagrantly violating any bounds of ethics which existed between he and his employer.

When the Dodgers traded Robinson to the Giants with no more cause than just another trade between two major league teams, Jackie presented himself in a modest light.

He led both organizations to believe he was satisfied, and he even publicly commented that he was happy with the Giants.

When he made his announcement through a premature release of a national publication article, most of the public sympathy was not drawn toward the irate Brooklyn Dodger general manager Buzz Bavasi, but toward the stunned New York Giants.

Giant vice-president Chub Feeney and manager Bill Rigney were talking about putting Jackie at 1st base and what changes they were going to make around the infield without an inkling of what Robinson had on his mind. And Jackie let them do their day-dreaming before throwing in the hatchet.

ROBINSON RIDICULES OTHERS ALSO

Robinson didn't stop here. He must have taken a course of "ways to be undiplomatic" and "how to use the needle."

The red faces in the Giant organization were just getting back to their normal shade, when Robinson decided to wage a one-man war against the Milwaukee Braves.

He put a little more salt in the wounds of the Milwaukee fans, who are just getting over the fact that the Braves were beaten out of the pennant, by acting like a private eye disclosing the night life of his opponents.

★ ★ ★

His concern should have been why the Dodgers won and not why the Braves lost.

But Robinson stayed in rare form. He then took a verbal swing at Roy Campanella, his former Brooklyn teammate, with some personal appraisals about the Dodger catcher.

"He's been shooting off his mouth . . . and instead of leaving baseball with a lot of friends . . . and being grateful to baseball, he's leaving with a lot of enemies and criticizing it," Campanella was quoted.

A fabulous career of 10 years comes to an end with the friendship cup loaded Chock Full O'Nuts. (That's the name of the restaurant chain of which he is now vice-president.)

Durable Al Wins Senior Playoff

DUNEDIN, Fla. (INS) — They call Al Watrous, 58-year-old grandfather of ten, one of golf's greatest stylists, and he has his third PGA seniors' championship today to prove he's one of the game's most durable as well.

Watrous won an 18-hole playoff at Dunedin yesterday for the championship, shotting a par 72 under a hot sun to defeat 50-year-old Bob Stuppe of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, by three strokes.

It was, by his own calculation as well as the scorers', Watrous' worst round in four he played over the sandy PGA National Golf club course. He had a 71-68-71—210 for the regulation 54 tournament holes.

"I had one trouble shot the first three rounds," said the Birmingham, Mich., veteran today. "I was in a bunker on six and hooked a couple of tee shots when I got careless. But at my age I've got to be pleased with my play."

In addition to prize money of $1,000, the teacher trophy for the championship and the Bourne trophy for the best 36-hole score among pros 55 years and older, Watrous gained himself a trip to Britain to meet the British singles champion and to play in the British Open.

A member of the 1926, '27 and '29 ryder cup teams, Watrous, who actually will reach his 58th birthday on Feb. 1, is no stranger to international play. He was runner-up to Bobby Jones in the 1926 British Open, was tied for fifth three years later and placed in the money on his last try in 1954.

It was suggested that Watrous' seniors opponent might be Britain's famous Henry Cotton.

"Cotton beat me, 4 and 3, in the 1929 ryder cup," Watrous said. "But the match I recall most was the one with Fred Robson in '27. I had an infected thumb, and I hit about 500 balls before the match to make it numb.

"When we finally started, I was seven up on Robson through 11 holes. We had to wait for another twosome at the 12th, and my thumb began to pain me so that I didn't hit another decent shot the rest of the morning. Robson won six straight holes."

Instead of eating lunch, Al went to the practice tee and belted "about 500 more balls" to dull the pain again.

"I finally won the match," he said, "but I nearly lost my thumb.

One of the first to congratulate Watrous as he came off the 18th green was his longtime friend, Sam Rice, former outfield star of the Washington Senators.

"Come here, Joe and Sam," called ardent baseball fan Watrous to his sons—the elder a young pro, the other captain of the University of Detroit golf team. "I want you to meet the guy whose picture has been hanging in your room all these years."

Florida, Ohio Probing Phone Calls From Track

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Florida authorities, aided by those in Cleveland, Ohio, pursued today a probe into more than 100 toll telephone calls made from the office of Tropical Park's president during the Miami track's racing season.

★ ★ ★

State Atty. Richard E. Gerstein said Saul Silberman, president of Tropical, denied making any of the calls. The prosecutor said most of the calls were made to Phillip Gerson of Cleveland. Silberman said he did not know Gerson. He named the caller, but Gerstein declined to make it public.

★ ★ ★

The prosecutor said no charges were drawn or considered at the current stage of his probe, begun at the request of the Florida racing commission.

★ ★ ★

Gerstein said Gerson was known to Cleveland authorities whom his office consulted in its effort to learn whether there had been any violation of Florida's law banning relay of race information until 30 minutes after a race. The Ohio officials, Gerstein said, were cooperating in the investigation.

★ ★ ★

The state attorney said "Silberman vigorously denied any knowledge of long distance calls which might have carried racing information. He waived immunity during our discussions and questioning, claiming the only calls made from his private office were made as a courtesy to friends.

The Trojans rolled up a 28-18 victory over the Celtics as Don Langford tallied 12 points and Jim Joyce added 10. Jim Ray's nine topped the losers.

Deadlocked for the lead are the Trojans, Warriors and Jets. Play resumes today with Globetrotters vs. Royals and Rough Riders vs. Flying Aces.

Davis Machinery of Ortonville took over 1st place in the Waterford League basketball race Monday night with a 67-54 triumph over Louie's Tavern at the Isaac Crary gymnasium.

Bob Mills scored 25 points and Pete Palshan added 20 as the Davis quintet won its 7th game in nine starts. Don Scott tallied 12 for the losers.

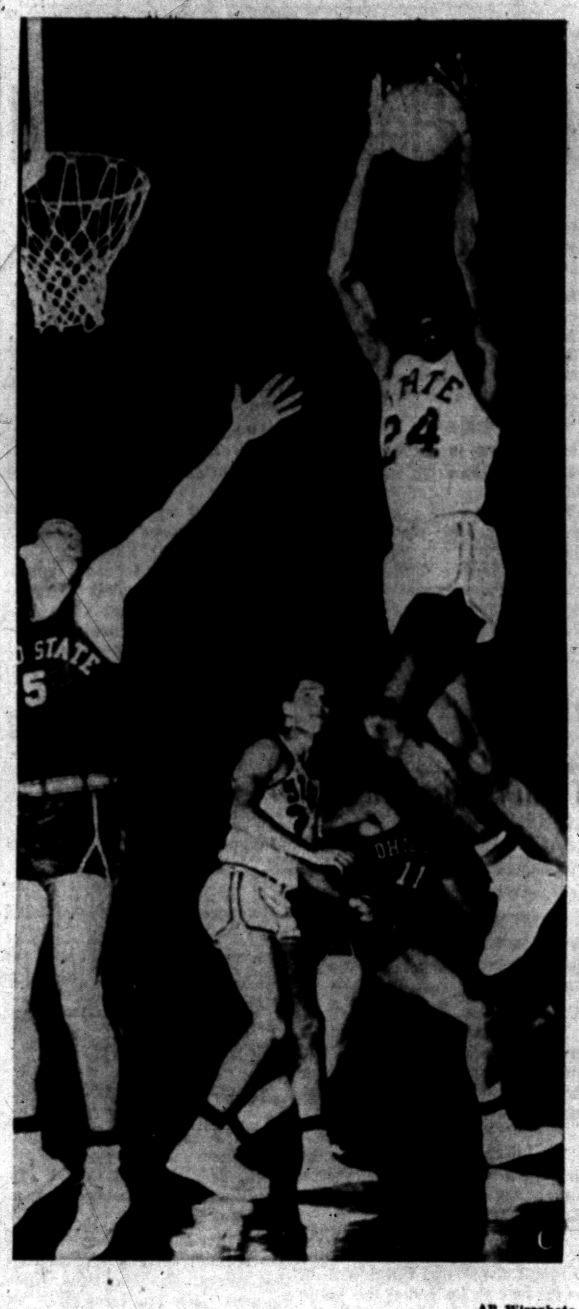

Jerry Bradley's 16 points paced Matthews-Hargreaves to a 68-50 verdict over Boyle-Stone Front of Milford in the 2nd contest. Tom Gould led Stone Front with 12.

Hazel Park's strong wrestling team goes after its 4th victory in six starts Wednesday in a match at Davison. The Parkers, led by 154-pound ace Jim Thompson, have bowed only to state powers Ann Arbor and Berkley. The wins were by wide margins over Cranbrook, Port Huron and Melvindale.

Robinson Would Return for Job Managing Team

Jackie Tells Writers He Could Play Part Time as Boss

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Jackie Robinson says he's through with baseball as a player but he might be interested in a manager's job.

He was here yesterday as chairman of the freedom fund of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People and was honored at a civic luncheon, but he still found time to chin with sports writers.

★ ★ ★

"While I'd never return to baseball strictly as a player," he said, "I'd certainly feel differently about an offer to manage. And as a manager, if the need arose, of course I'd be willing to play at least part time."

★ ★ ★

If any such development arose, he added, he would need approval of William Black, president of the New York restaurant chain by whom Robinson is now employed as personnel director.

Robinson, a four-sport UCLA athlete and former resident of nearby Pasadena, was the first Negro to play in the major leagues 10 years ago.

Robinson was honored by Mayor Norris Poulson of Los Angeles and was given a scroll by the county board of supervisors citing him as "a truly fine American."

New Pilot Wants Power Hitter

Lopez Calls Sox Sound Club

Another of a series of managerial views on the pennant races, written under the managers' own bylines — Chicago White Sox.

By AL LOPEZ

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — For the first time in seven years I'll be wearing a uniform other than that of the Cleveland Indians when I assume my duties as manager of the Chicago White Sox next month. But it seems to me the setting will be the same. Good pitching and uncertain hitting.

I don't mean to say that the White Sox will be a punchless outfit in 1957. Far from it. But the team right now lacks a power hitter, a real good No. 4 batter. That is our greatest need, as I see it. I don't know whether we can get one in a trade or develop one from among our youngsters, but I'd sure like to have one.

I've no worries about our pitching. I think we have one of the best staffs in the league. Of course, you never can have enough pitching but I'm satisfied with fellows like Billy Pierce, Jack Harshman, Dick Donovan, Jim Wilson, Bob Keegan, Dixie Howell, Paul LaPalme and Ellis Kinder. We're also bringing up several good looking youngsters, one or two of whom might possibly help us this year.

From what I saw of the White Sox last year, they were a sound ball club. I know they beat the Indians 12 times in 22 games. They would have beaten us out for second place if they had found some way to stall that mid-season slump that seems to plague them every year.

★ ★ ★

One of our chief objectives is to strengthen our bench. I think Walt Dropo can be used effectively at first base. I like the possibilities of Jim Marshall, a left-handed hitting rookie who was at Memphis last year.

Cleveland had good reports on him. Nellie Fox at second, and Luis Aparicio at short, are the best men at those positions. At third we have Fred Hatfield and Tom Brown to alternate against right and lefthanded pitching.

I like our catching although a lefthanded receiver would add maneuverability to our bench. We have Les Moss to help Sherm Lollar but we probably will carry a third catcher next season, rather than try to get by with just two of them.

I haven't seen many of our rookies play, but we may have a few surprises in camp. Norm Larker, a big first baseman whom we drafted from Brooklyn's St. Paul club, is a real battler and from reports I've gotten on him I want to give him a real look-over. He hit .309 last season. That big boy, Ron Jackson, has possibilities and could strengthen our first base situation.

DeWalt Leads 90-38 Win

With former PHS star Willie DeWalt leading the way, the Lakeside Royals crushed Stadium Inn under a 90-38 landslide Monday night in a City League American division basketball game at Pontiac High.

DeWalt poured in 28 points for the Royals, who scored at will in chalking up their 6th win against two losses. Maurice Stack tallied 18 for Stadium.

Bestway defeated the Pontiac Merchants, 50-42, in their battle to escape the National League cellar. John Bridgewater rang up 14 points for the winners while the Merchants' Jim Honchell made 12.

Perry Williams collected 26 points as Bussey's Whirlwinds downed the winless State Spartans, 46-37, and the unbeaten Boys Club downed Pietz Market, 45-33, despite a 15-point effort by the loser's Bill Hayward, in Class D League attractions at Lincoln Junior High.

Rudy Quince fired 15 points to spark the Wolverines to a 33-30 win over Booth Homes in another Class D contest.

Southern Thumb Tourney Opens Wednesday Night

The seven member schools of the Southern Thumb League will lay aside their conference basketball wars this week and engage in a three-night intra-league tournament.

League standings will not be affected by the tourney, which opens Wednesday night at Brown City and switches to two other locations before it's finished.

Friday's semifinals are scheduled in the New Haven gym with Saturday's finals moving to Armada. Each host school is blessed with a new gymnasium.

Tomorrow night's 1st round finds Armada meeting Capac in the 6 o'clock opener, followed by the Dryden-Almont clash at 7:30 and New Haven's battle with Brown City at 9 o'clock.

Memphis drew a 1st round bye and will meet the Armada-Capac winner on Friday. A consolation game will precede Saturday's championship final.

The possibility of a title game between Almont and New Haven, the league's top powers, is out because of an unfortunate draw. Both teams are in the same bracket.

Pace-setting Almont, unbeaten in eight conference starts, is favored to win.

Demaret Is Winner

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) —The winter golfing trail winds on to Arizona today with Jimmy Demaret, the hero of the moment, returning to Phoenix and the scene of two past triumphs.

★ ★ ★

The popular Demaret, who admits and insists he is only 44, demonstrated that whatever his age he can still teach the youngsters how to use a set of clubs.

★ ★ ★

Jimmy, resident professional at Kiamesha Lake, N. Y., when he isn't playing tournament golf, gave a couple of young men, Mike Souchak of Grossinger, N. Y., and Ken Venturi, 25-year-old neophyte pro from San Francisco, quite a lesson yesterday.

Playing off the tie of the $15,000 Thunderbird Invitational, Demaret merely defeated Mike by eight strokes and Venturi by nine as he toured Thunderbird's par 36-35—71 course in 32-35—67. And as the horse people say, he won easing up.

★ ★ ★

This made three times Demaret has won the Thunderbird Invitational and the win was worth $2,000. Souchak won $1,000 and Venturi $750.

★ ★ ★

Modestly, Demaret admitted this was one of his finest putting rounds. He led off with three straight birdies with putts of eight, 15 and 36 feet.

That was lesson enough for Mike and Venturi.

He had other birdie putts—four, 12 and 15-foot-and the gallery was actually groaning when he missed things that measured 25 feet and aren't generally made. Then they would laugh and Jimmy laughed with them.

The scoreboard for the four tournament rounds of an extra 18 read like this: Demaret 69-69-68-67—273-67; Souchak 67-69-70-67—273-75 and Venturi 66-68-70-69—273-76.

This was Jimmy's first tournament since September. He's been on the ailing side and underwent minor surgery.

Final Period Surge Overpowers Tech 5

A hefty 24-point 4th quarter enabled the Falcons to stay unbeaten Monday night in the YMCA Intramural Basketball League. GM Tech was the victim of the late surge, 43-25.

★ ★ ★

Tech trailed by only four points at the end of the 3rd period. Earl Kitchen led the Falcons with 16 points while teammate Gordon Montross was held to eight, his lowest single game total of the season. Montross has been averaging 20 per contest.

★ ★ ★

In other games at the 'Y' gym, Gerland Spangler notched 16 points to lead Seminary to a 27-24 win over the YMCA and the Gators walloped Seaman's, 53-17, behind a 14-point effort by Bruce Ross.

Shirley Fry Says No Title Defense Planned in 1957

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — U. S. women's tennis star Shirley Fry said today she will not defend her Wimbledon and American titles this year.

Miss Fry, who marries fellow American Karl Irvin in Sydney Feb. 16 will live in Sydney for the next three or four years and will not tour.

"After that I am not certain nor can I say definitely when we will return to the United States," Miss Fry said. "If we like living here we may settle for good."

Miss Fry added the Australian women's championship to her list of titles yesterday, defeating Althea Gibson of New York at Kooyong.

Last of Mooers' Horses Go Today

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The final big lot of horses owned by the late Clifford Mooers goes up at auction today here. The 35 head, all of racing age, include 'Nalue, whom Mooers bought for $86,000 as a yearling in 1954.

In two previous sales of horses from Mooers' estate, held in Lexington, Ky., and Pomona, Calif., 203 horses were sold for $959,000.

A total of $220,700 was realized in a Florida Breeders Assn. auction last night on 48 horses destined to show their bloodliness on the turf.

Spartans Snap Buckeye String

Tar Heels Stay on Top

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A week of idleness for both teams brought no change in the race between North Carolina and Kansas for top ranking in college basketball, but a single game was costly to Iowa State's hopes.

★ ★ ★

The eighth weekly Associated Press ranking poll of sports writers and broadcasters again found North Carolina's Tar Heels far out ahead of Kansas, which has held the lead up to last week. Unbeaten Carolina went to the front after Kansas dropped its first game of the season to Iowa State.

Iowa State's 69-66 loss to Missouri sent it tumbling from third place to eighth. Louisville's Cardinals, who edged out Dayton 57-56 in their only game of the week, moved up to third.

★ ★ ★

North Carolina got 62 of a possible 86 first-place votes and a total of 824 points on the basis of 10 for each first-place vote, 9 for second, etc. Kansas drew 8 firsts and 715 points.

Kentucky, a 91-83 winner over Vanderbilt, moved up to fourth; and Illinois, which whipped Notre Dame 99-81, went up from ninth to seventh. Seattle slid back one notch to ninth.

Southern Methodist stayed in sixth. UCLA took over fifth place by a margin of three points over the Mustangs.

Bradley barely held its 10th position by a two-point margin over Ohio State.

The top 10, with first-place votes in parentheses:

1.	North Carolina (62)	824
2.	Kansas (8)	715
3.	Louisville (1)	482
4.	Kentucky (2)	440
5.	UCLA (2)	321
6.	SMU (1)	318
7.	Illinois	265
8.	Iowa State	235
9.	Seattle (4)	210
10.	Bradley (3)	185

The second 10, in order: Ohio State, Canisius, Wake Forest, Tulane, California, Oklahoma City, Idaho State, West Virginia, Duke and Oklahoma A&M.

Whatever it was, it made a basketball team out of them.

★ ★ ★

Pushed around and trampled in the first half of the season, the Spartans have come back to spill two of the Big Ten's toughest. The coup de grace was a 73-64 decision over Ohio State last night, the Buckeyes' first conference defeat after six victories.

★ ★ ★

Only last Saturday, Michigan State surprised Minnesota 72-59. The Spartans had only four victories in 11 starts before midterms.

★ ★ ★

Two other nationally rated teams in action won handily on the road, fourth-ranked Kentucky 76-65 over Georgia Tech, and Iowa State (No. 8 in the new Associated Press poll out today) by a 67-56 count over Oklahoma.

★ ★ ★

In other major games, Purdue defeated Northwestern 81-77, Auburn kept pace with Kentucky in the Southeastern Conference by defeating Florida 76-61, Grady Wallace flipped in 45 points in South Carolina's 90-77 victory over The Citadel, Houston handed Drake its sixth straight Missouri Valley Conference loss 86-62, Seton Hall downed St. Francis of Brooklyn 80-71, and Evansville whipped Eastern Kentucky 95-80.

★ ★ ★

Georgia Tech stayed close to racehorse Kentucky for a half, trailing 38-35 at the intermission, but the Wildcats went on a 14-4 spurt at the start of the second half and Tech was through.

Quiggle Leads 73-64 Victory With 21 Total

Big Soph John Green Helps by Control of Backboards

EAST LANSING (AP) — Guard Jack Quiggle, a player just let out of the dog house, led underdog Michigan State to an hour of basketball glory with a 73-64 upset of Big Ten leader Ohio State here last night.

Ohio State was previously unbeaten in six Big Ten games and still is the conference leader. State lost its first three league games — two by one point each and another 70-51 to the Buckeyes, before finally beating Minnesota 72-59 last Saturday.

Quiggle, left behind on the Minnesota trip for breaking training was high for the Spartans with 21 points.

John Green, a 6-foot-6 sophomore center with a kangaroo leap, also was a key man for the Spartans with his domination of the backboards.

Forward Frank Howard who has averaged better than 21 points a game in Big Ten play was high for the Buckeyes with 19 points.

Lindsay, Howe in Big Three

MONTREAL (AP)—It's a case of "they went that-a-way" in the National Hockey League scoring race. The Rustlers in the thriller are the big three—Jean Beliveau of Montreal, Ted Lindsay and teammate Gordie Howe of Detroit.

The trio galloped away from the field in late November and now hold a wide lead over their nearest pursuers, according to league statistics released today.

With about 25 games remaining in the 70-game schedule, Beliveau and Lindsay are tied for first place with 59 points each. Howe is third wih 58. From there it's 14 points back to fourth-place Norm Ullman of Detroit.

Georgia Tech Gets Clemson Assistant

ATLANTA (AP) — The new offensive backfield football coach at Georgia Tech is Carl Wise, 41, for the past two seasons offensive backfield coach at Clemson College.

Bobby Dodd, Tech athletic director and head coach, announced his selection last night. Wise replaces Frank Broyles, who went to the University of Missouri as head coach.

Wayne Blasts Hunter for Ninth Triumph

DETROIT (AP) — Led by the 49-point production of George Brown and George Duncan, Wayne State took its ninth basketball victory in 11 starts last night, blasting Hunter College 83-50.

Brown had 25 points and Duncan had 24 as the Tarters hit 48 per cent of their shots to a dismal 27 per cent for the New York squad.

Avon-Troy Clash Heads Prep Card

Avondale's Oakland B League showdown with Troy on the Avon court headlines tonight's abbreviated high school basketball program in the Oakland County area.

The Avondale-Troy clash promises to be a dilly. Troy, setting the pace in the Oakland B loop with a 7-0 record and boasting an overall 8-1 mark, is one of the county's top cage powers.

Avondale, nestled in 2nd place in the conference standings with a 5-2 mark, still has hopes of confiscating the title.

An upset win over Troy won't guarantee any championship for the Jackets. But it would go a long way towards giving them a solid crack at it. On the other hand, defeat will virtually doom their chances.

Troy handed Avon a 53-38 beating at Troy in their 1st meeting. The picture has changed considerably since then, however. Vastly-improved Avondale, currently riding high on a four-game winning streak, seems to be gaining momentum with each game. After a slow start, the Jackets have progressed to an overall 5-3 record.

The two teams have one thing in common—balanced scoring. Both squads have revealed sound attacks, yet neither club lists a point-maker in the county area's elite group.

Wayne Figley, Sim Acton, Dick Booth and Milan Varajon have carried the brunt of the Colt offense. Avondale's scoring honors have been divided among Tim Mulholland, Dick Gronski, Jerry Hill and Steve Saunders.

In other Oakland B games, Lake Orion seeks to avenge a previous 82-63 loss and gain a 3rd place tie at the same time against Madison at Orion and Clawson meets Fitzgerald on the Clawson floor in a return match.

Three Suburban Catholic League contests are scheduled tonight—St. Frederick at St. Benedict, St. Michael at St. Rita and St. James at Royal Oak St. Mary.

St. Fred will try its luck without the services of Bill Mountain, who became ineligible when the 1st semester ended. The Rams were unable to stop the undefeated Ravens when Mountain was available and it's difficult to see them doing it now. St. Mike is a heavy favorite to turn back the weak Vikings.

Unbeaten Utica goes after its 8th victory in a Bi-County League engagement at Warren and powerful Rochester rules a strong choice over Oxford on the Oxford court. Cranbrook swings back into action against invading Flint Tech.

Flint Mandeville at Lapeer, Flint Dye at Ortonville, Berkley at Hazel Park, East Detroit at Hamtramck and Royal Oak at Ferndale also dot tonight's card.

"He isn't rough enough," replied Art Potter, coach of the game played with a racquet and a little ball bounced against a wall.

Fullmer Slugs Decision Against Tough Greaves

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Windmill-punching Gene Fullmer slugged out a unanimous decision over Walt Greaves last night in a 10-round, non-title bout, his first fight since becoming middleweight champion.

★ ★ ★

Fullmer was up against a tougher match than when he jolted the crown off the head of Sugar Ray Robinson less than four weeks ago.

★ ★ ★

The husky crown-holder was the first to admit it after the battle was over. "Greaves was tougher than Robinson," he said.

Greaves, a former Canadian amateur now fighting from Pittsburgh, brought the crowd of 3,500 to its feet as he ended the battle in a toe-to-toe flurry with the champ.

★ ★ ★

Fullmer weighed 160½, Greaves 162.

★ ★ ★

Both opened up hard and for a few rounds their styles matched. Both poured in volleys of lefts and rights to the ribs and an occasional slap at the head.

Brooklyn Signs Clown Kelly to Help 'Tension'

NEW YORK (INS) — The saddest Bum of all has been signed by "Dem Bums."

Brooklyn Dodger president Walter O'Malley announced yesterday that veteran Ringling Bros. clown Emmett Kelly has been hired "to relieve the tension" at games at Ebbets Field and Jersey City and on the Brooklyn farm club circuit.

Any similarity between the well-known tramp's antics and those of the Dodger players, a Brooklyn fan noted, would be purely coincidental.

Nose Out Aussie Team

Germans Win Cycle Race

CLEVELAND (AP) — The German team of Herber Weinrich and Heinz Zoll, after riding on the heels of the Australian team through most of the six-day bike race here, slipped ahead in the final minutes and won the gruelling race by a single lap last night.

★ ★ ★

The eight teams that finished the 2,083-mile race went around the temporary spruce track in Cleveland Arena 20,830 times in 146 hours. If they had been on the open road, they would have ended up somewhere west of Salt Lake City, Utah, when the race ended at 11 p.m.EST.

★ ★ ★

Four teams went into the last hour tied for the lead in laps, but the Australian team was well out in front in sprint points. If there had been a tie, sprint points would have determined the winner.

The Germans gained one lap with some 15 minutes left to go. It was Zoll who started the move when Aussie Alfred Strom was partially blocked. After five minutes of steady sprinting, the German team was in front.

★ ★ ★

John Tresidder, the speedy second member of the Australian team, made a desperation move to catch Zoll in the last lap, but a tire blew out on his bicycle, and Tresidder skidded across the track and into the infield.

Birdie Slaps at Critics

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Cincinnati's Birdie Tebbetts took critics of athletes to task last night, announcing, "I'm tired of people criticizing the life of baseball players."

Tebbetts, the 1956 "Manager of the Year" in the National League, addressed a capacity audience of 500 at the annual Milwaukee Baseball Writers' diamond dinner.

"I don't believe anyone, just on hearsay information, has the right to jeopardize the family life of a baseball player," the Redlegs' manager said.

★ ★ ★

He referred to remarks made recently by Jackie Robinson that the Milwaukee Braves' 1956 pennant hopes were harpooned by one or two key players who, according to Robinson, luxuriated in night clubs until "wee hours" while on the road. Robinson didn't name the players he said he had heard about.

Denouncing those who initiated the report, Tebbets asked, "How did they know these same ball players didn't go to Fred Haney (Braves manager) and ask him whether they could stay out a little later than usual? That happens quite often on all ball clubs.

Grains Rebound After Decline

CHICAGO (AP) — Grains dropped at the opening and then rebounded in active dealings on the board of trade today.

The opening bell brought out heavy selling in wheat, a continuation of yesterday's liquidation. Prices fell more than a cent in the bread grain before a rally recovered part of the loss. Corn also was quite weak.

Soybeans resisted selling. Even at the outset they had only small losses with a couple of futures higher. On the subsequent rally all soybean futures went above the previous close.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ¼ to ¾ lower, March $1.37¾, Corn ⅛ to ½ lower, March $1.37¾, Corn ⅛ to ½ lower, March $1.33⅛, Oats ¼ to ⅝ lower, March 78¼, Rye ¼ lower to ½ higher, March $1.43, Soybeans ¼ lower to 1 cent higher, March $2.48¾, and Lard 2 to 10 cents a hundred pounds higher, March $15.32.

Spurt in Buying Boosts Market

NEW YORK (AP)—A buying spurt kicked stock market prices higher early this afternoon.

Pivotal issues were up fractions to around 2 points.

But a number of losers remained from the irregular start. After a mixed and moderately active opening, the market lapsed into extreme sluggishness. The rise came with brisk turnover.

Trading quieted again, leaving prices at their best of the session.

Steels moved decisively to the upside after a ragged start. Leading aircrafts and motors firmed. Rails showed a stronger trend. But utilities about stood their ground.

Some selected issues took sharp losses.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 60 cents to $175.50 with the industrials up $1.00, the rails up 60 cents and the utilities unchanged.

Seek 2 in Robbery of Avondale School

Oakland County Sheriff Department detectives today are seeking two persons who broke into the Avondale High School, Auburn Rd., sometime after Monday midnight, ripped open the safe and walked off with approximately $1,000 in cash.

Detective Leo Hazen said entrance was gained after glass was broken out of the front west door. Footprints of two persons were found leading from the rear door of the boiler room to the football field.

Hazen said the burglars ripped off the back of the safe. The safe was located near the office of Supt. Raymond Baker, Avondale School. Detective Harry Maur is investigating.

The crime was reported by the janitor, Walter Mehlberg, 3146 Margarite Rd., about 6:50 a.m.

A 21 year old Pontiac man was arrested by Pontiac Police and turned over to the Oakland County Sheriff's Department for investigation of raping a 55 year old Pontiac woman late Monday.

She said she rode with the man after her car had stalled at Chase and S. Saginaw Sts., and he offered to drive her to work at Bloomfield Hospital.

Goal of $10,000 Set by Junior Achievement to Maintain Center

Junior Achievement of Pontiac began its fund-raising campaign yesterday at a luncheon at the Waldron Hotel when Robert S. Nelson, vice president and general manager of the Universal Oil Seal Co. in Pontiac and head of the local JA fund-raising unit, spoke to some 30 local businessmen.

A goal of $10,000 to maintain operation of Pontiac's JA Center, 375 Auburn Ave., has been set by the fund raisers.

Some 234 Pontiac teenagers are now operating 10 JA miniature corporations in the Pontiac JA Center. The achievers in connection with national Junior Achievement Week this week are holding open house nightly at their base of operations.

The "learn by doing" program of JA teaches teenagers the operation of big corporations. They sell stock, manufacture products, sell them, declare dividends and liquidate companies all on a miniature scale.

The whole southeastern Michigan fund-raising goal of which Pontiac is a part is $235,000, the highest JA dollar goal for the nation.

Saud: $200 Million Yearly; Subjects: $50

His name is Saud Ibn Abdul-Aziz Ibn Rashid.

He's an eastern potentate; absolute ruler of some seven million impoverished Saudi Arabian subjects in an 870,000 square mile kingdom often described as a desert of sand on a sea of oil.

From oil he gets his income, royalties estimated at 200 million dollars a year, which he spends with personal lavishness while his people live in squalor.

He's an Arab and a Moslem. Mecca and Medina, the holiest of Islam's holy places, lie within his realm. He has the Moslem's hatred of Israel. He thinks of the Jewish state as a "cancer" in the Arab world.

Physically, King Saud is an impressive figure. He stands a heavyset 6-foot-6. He wears flowing robes and a headcloth bound in gold. He also wears gold-rimmed glasses to overcome his nearsightedness.

Highpoint of his U. S. visit will be a chiefs-of-state discussion of Middle Eastern problems with President Eisenhower starting Jan. 30.

The trip marks his second visit to the United States; his first as King of Saudi Arabia.

The last time Saud, then crown prince, visited the United States was in January, 1947, when he and President Truman talked about "petroleum and Palestine." The same subjects are hot topics today.

ELDEST OF 40

Saud is the eldest survivor among the 40-odd sons of King Ibn Saud, who forged a single nation out of warring tribes and petty states with a flashing sword and native shrewdness.

The current Saud, so the story goes, was born in Kuwait sometime in January, 1902, on the very night his father and a small band of supporters stormed and captured Riyadh, which became Saud's capitol.

★ ★ ★

Saud was a trusted aide to his father during the campaigns that unified the Arabian peninsula but it was not until 1933 that Ibn Saud proclaimed him heir apparent.

He succeeded to the desert throne on the death of his father in 1953 after the 73-year-old, one-eyed Ibn Saud made him and his brother, Feisal, swear on the Koran, the Moslem Bible, never to oppose one another.

Brother Feisal is crown prince and heir apparent, chosen by the sons of Ibn Saud, who ignored King Saud's own sons. The kingdom is more a family corporation than a personal monarchy.

Saud maintains some 24 personal palaces and more than 300 princes of royal blood on an income derived chiefly from oil royalties paid by the Arabian American Oil Co. (Aramco).

★ ★ ★

He is generally believed to spend more than he receives and has never published a statement covering personal or state finances. It has been estimated the Arabian king has spent more than a billion dollars since World War II.

Saud once lavished nearly a million dollars worth of jewels on the queen of Iran and he tipped $400 for a cup of tea during a visit to Simla, India.

At the same time, the average income of the Arabian people is estimated to be less than $50 a year and the Anti-Slavery Society of London calculates a quarter of a million Arabs live in slavery.

Plan New Building for Glass Company

A new $60,000 warehouse and office will soon be built at 715 Auburn Ave. and will become the West Detroit Glass of Pontiac, Inc. headquarters after June 1.

The information was disclosed by Carl F. Alt, Pontiac building inspector, who approved a permit for the 80 by 140-foot structure.

It is being built by Floyd Holloway and Harold Cousins and will be leased to the glass firm. Contractors are A. N. Hickson, Inc. of Detroit.

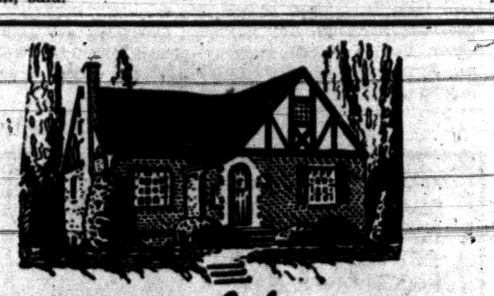

The glass firm will vacate their present building at 82 Myra Ave. after the new structure is completed, Nathan Bressler, president of the firm, said.

'The Comedian' to Be Telecast

Duchess Considering Interview Program on French TV

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS)—Peter Lind Hayes and Mary Healy are setting a CBS-TV deal for a filmed series, "Favorite Son."

Playhouse 90 will present "The Comedian," the Ernest Lehman script someone decided was too tough for a movie because Uncle Miltie might sue.

The Duchess of Windsor seriously is considering a French TV show in which she would "interview prominent personalities somewhat in the manner of Edward R. Murrow" . . . But she's definite that it will not be a "Mr. and Mrs." show . . . (Aw, let David play, too) . . .

The new national Neilsen ratings are out: Sullivan, Lucy, NBC spectacular, Disneyland, Perry Como, J. Benny, GE Theater, December Bride, $64,000 Question, Steve Allen.

Before Africa, Godfrey invades Lake Placid for a week Feb. 4 . . .

SERIES SCHEDULED

Walt Disney will announce a new ABC-TV series shortly: "Zorro." Part of a new nearly $10,000,000 ABC-Disney pact.

Rod Serling signed a new CBS-TV writing contract for three Playhouse 90 shows at $10,000 per script . . . Serling now is TV's top playwright, Chayevsky having disappeared into Hollywood and his bank . . .

Morgan, the old (11), rich but doleful basset hound Kyle McDonnell used to trot around the TV shows (her ex-husband Dick Gordon won custody in their splitup), is in Associated Animal Hospital with severe spinal arthritis.

"21" sliced some of Lucy's previously impregnable ratings . . .

Gloria De Haven isn't quitting show biz because her new bridegroom is rich—she's due on the George M. Cohan spectacular May 11 . . . with June Havoc and Mickey Rooney.

THE RUSH OF TIME

Time toddles on: Tommy Rettig of "Lassie" is shaving.

Nanette Fabray repeats her "Shower of Stars" fun March 2 . . .

Aren't "My Fair Lady" and "Most Happy Fella" making enough money without peddling their hit songs to radio-TV as commershills?

They're probably well paid for it but we prefer to remember Chico and Harpo Marx in their heyday instead of their paydays as stooges for brother Groucho's commercials . . .

We asked a clergyman if Bishop Sheen might envy the bigger ratings of entertainment telecasts and the reply was: "No—Cardinal Spellman doesn't worry because more people go to a Yankee Stadium doubleheader than crowd into St. Patrick Cathedral for High Mass."

Delightful news for the deejay shows: Ella Fitzgerald's lovely new Rodgers and Heart album is out (Verve label) which by itself almost makes up for rock 'n' roll.

Native Boycott in South Africa

Bus Fare Hike Brings Mass Negro Protest; They Walk 9 Miles

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—South Africa's white supremacy government is determined to smash a spreading bus and beer boycott by tens of thousands of Negroes in the restless slum towns that ring Johannesburg and Pretoria.

A trial of strength appears imminent between white authority and the Negro people in the industrial heartland of this British Commonwealth country.

The bus boycott is in its fourth week. It began as a protest against a penny increase in fares for the nine-mile ride from the Negro townships to the city. The buses, run by the Public Utility Transportation Corp., are segregated by races.

The protest seems aimed solely at the fare increase, not at segregation. Negroes who work in the city — laborers, housemaids and laundresses — are walking the long distance to their jobs rather than patronize the buses. The boycott has cut bus revenues.

Yesterday Negroes also began a boycott of the main municipal beer hall in downtown Johannesburg in sympathy with the bus boycott. The movement is expected to spread to other municipal beer halls, which earn for the city nearly three million dollars a year.

Just how the government intends to break the movement has not been made known.

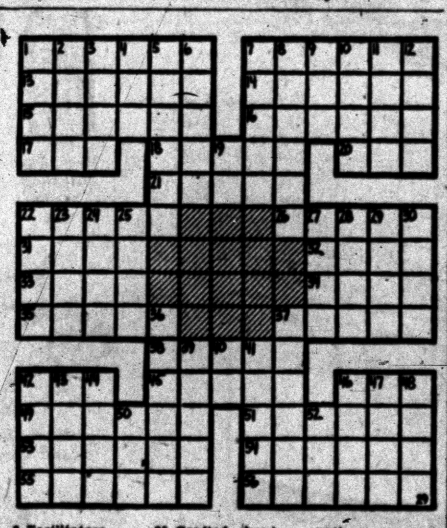

Driver Pleads Guilty

Pleading guilty yesterday to failure to comply with the state financial responsibility act, Edd Ray, 457 Montana Ave. will be sentenced Feb. 11 by Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams.

Ray pleaded guilty to driving without furnishing financial responsibility. He was arrested Jan. 18 in Bloomfield Township.

Voting at Allegan

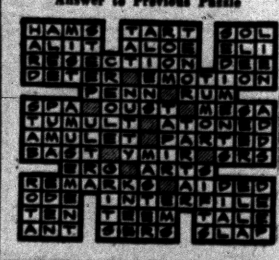

ALLEGAN (AP)—City property owners are scheduled to vote today on providing funds for a new city fire hall. The present fire hall has been declared unsafe by the state fire marshal. Voters who defeated a $60,000 proposal for the project Nov. 6 are asked to approve a $40,000 "bare necessity" fire hall to meet the state marshal's requirements.

Highway Deaths Drop in '56

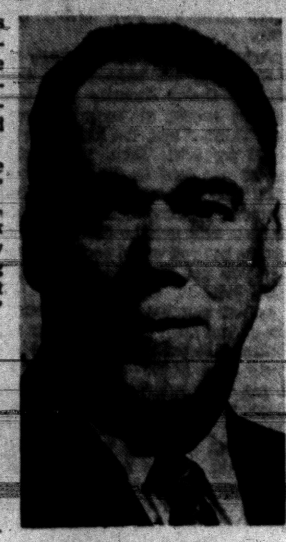

Safety Biggest Concern of Deputies

The Oakland County Sheriff's Department came up with a number of facts and figures for the year 1956, but none were so impressive as the number of accidents and persons injured and killed on the county's highways.

"Traffic safety is one of the department's biggest concerns," said Deputy Stephen Navarre, safety director. "Sheriff Frank Irons initiated a three-point safety program, and we are conducting lectures and contests in an effort to make people safety conscious."

There were 24 fatalities out of 1,300 accidents handled by the Sheriff's Department in 1956 as compared to 34 deaths resulting from 1,368 accidents in 1955. Included in the accidents in 1956 were 713 persons injured, as compared to 708 injured in the previous year's accidents.

The year was a "highly successful" one for the department's detective division. Detectives Leo Hazen, Harry Maur, Jack Davis and Donald Francis "closed," or solved, 135 cases of breaking and entering out of 180 reported.

SHERIFF IRONS

91 LARCENY CASES

Out of 91 larceny cases reported during the year, 26 were solved. All six of the stolen car cases were solved by the detective bureau. Deputies of the department made 468 felony arrests and 697 misemeanor arrests.

Detectives Roy Hartwick and Steve Hawlick, of the liquor division, investigated more than 20,000 liquor establishments in 1956. There were 2,865 civil cases processed by the Oakland County Sheriff's Civil Division.

Deputies Bruce Welsch and James Rohm of the identification bureau, took more than 467 photographs for department evidence at scenes of robberies, accidents and murder.

The Sheriff's Department's road patrol cars answered an untotaled number of calls and drove a total of 779,828 miles.

★ ★ ★

The license division reported that 56,058 persons applied for a driver's license in 1956 as compared to 42,766 applications received in 1955. Deputies conducted 2,406 road tests last year.

Also Sheriff Irons' responsibility, is the Oakland County Jail, home of the Sheriff's Department. Authorities consider the jail a "maximum security" institution. Irons reported that more than 150,078 meals were served to 7,630 prisoners lodged in the jail during 1956.

Make Headway on Power Plan

New York, Ontario See '59 Completion of Joint St. Lawrence Project

NEW YORK (AP)—Completion of heavy construction work on the St. Lawrence River Power Project by the end of 1957 is forecast by the New York State Power Authority.

Another goal cited was the opening of the St. Lawrence River between Montreal and Lake Ontario to 27-foot draft vessels at the start of the 1959 navigation season.

★ ★ ★

These and several other predictions were contained in an illustrated 52-page progress report prepared by the authority for Gov. Averell Harriman and the State Legislature.

In making the report public yesterday, Authority Chairman Robert Moses said progress on the vast project is proceeding on schedule. The report covered the authority's activities since June 1954 when the U. S. Supreme Court cleared the way for the joint project with Ontario.

"If progress in 1957 is at substantially the 1956 rate," Moses said, "we shall be able to report at the end of the 1957 that the bulk of the heavy construction has been completed."

COMPLETION IN 1959

Overall completion of the multi-million-dollar project is scheduled for 1959.

Various sections of the U. S. portion of the St. Lawrence Power Project are half completed as is the Canadian half, Moses reported.

★ ★ ★

Present plans call for the flooding of the power pool on July 1, 1958, he said, with the first power being produced by Sept. 1, 1958.

★ ★ ★

In addition, the report said the authority had assured a market for all St. Lawrence project power by working "diligently to market our power in accordance with our law, our license and our contract with our bondholders."

$100 Fine, Probation on Bad Check Charge

Pleading guilty to uttering and publishing a $10 check in Pontiac, John M. Carman, 40, of 220 N. Watkins St., Port Huron, yesterday was placed on probation two years and assessed $100 court costs.

Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams ordered Carman to spend the first 60 days in Oakland County Jail.

4 Seek Mayor's Post

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—The city has four candidates for mayor in the February primary elections. Mayor Claude VerDuin announced earlier he is retiring from the council after nine years, including five terms as mayor. Candidates include LeRoy Cox, factory estimator; former alderman Jacob Toxopeus; Alderman William Creason, a dentist, and Karel Feenstra, employed by a Muskegon manufacturing firm.

BOILING SPRINGS, N.C. (AP)—Polio victim Martha Mason, 19, studies at Garden-Webb College via two-way radio. She got her first-semester grades yesterday. She had a 97.2 average.

Accent on Missiles, Arms in Sandys, Wilson Parley

WASHINGTON (AP) — The accent appeared to be on missiles today as British Minister of Defense Duncan Sandys and Secretary of Defense Wilson continue a series of talks.

From the discussions could come the first substantial flow of American arms to the United Kingdom since World War II, as well as a sharing of American know-how in production and use of new weapons.

★ ★ ★

Most American military aid to Britain since World War II has been indirect rather than through direct shipments of arms.

Wilson and Sandys began their talks yesterday, along with their senior civilian experts in the fields of missiles, new weapons and research.

They said the three purposes of the talks were: (1) to exchange views on the military situation, (2) to compare strategic thinking and (3) to explore the possibility of further cooperation in military research and "in other ways."

The first two points apparently raised no difficulties during the six-hour conference yesterday.

The main area for discussion and possible agreement concerns weapons, particularly guided missiles and U.S. advances in military electronics.

Secretary Wilson, in addressing North Atlantic Treaty Alliance defense ministers in Paris Dec. 14, said the United States was prepared to assist allies "who are willing and able to develop their own modern weapons systems." He offered also to "make available promptly certain items of modern weapons and equipment along with appropriate technical data."

★ ★ ★

Great Britain, under economic and political pressure to reduce her defense spending and the size of her armed forces, was prompt to take advantage of this offer.

The fact that Sandys was accompanied by top scientific and weapons experts rather than by military commanders emphasized that Britain has the scientific and research brains and willingness to push ahead with further explorations in missiles and atomic weapons.

Society Butler Confesses Theft

Employer Assures Aid; Pal Serving Argentine Ministry Goes to Jail

LONDON (AP)—A thief who confessed helping to steal 53,000 pounds ($158,400) in cash and jewels disclosed today he is butler to Chancellor of the Exchequer Peter Thorneycroft.

An accomplice in the big theft landed a similar post with Dr. Carlos Echague, the Argentine minister in London. Dr. Echague is in the market for a replacement, though; his man is going to jail.

Donald MacLeod, 43, told reporters he confessed his part in the robbery of the Duke and Duchess of Sutherland's home in 1952 to Thorneycroft, who knew his family.

"He advised me to tell the police," MacLeod said. "I turned Queen's evidence because of Mr. Thorneycroft's advice. He told me then he would look after me if I were truthful. He has kept his word."

Suggest Prisoners' Life Is Too Comfortably Soft

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Inspectors for the state correction commission recommended that mattresses and pillows be taken away from some prisoners at Albany County jail.

They're not punishing anybody.

The inspectors said some prisoners were using two mattresses and two pillows. The commission agents said replacement costs were high and, in any event, one of each was enough.

Glass Railway Tunnel Reveals Scenic Views

TOKYO (INS)—Japan's national railways line is planning to build a 1,200 foot glass railway tunnel.

Railway officials said glass will be used for the tunnel, which will protect tracks from sea water, so that passengers will be able to enjoy the scenery without interruption.

Would Plan Future

FERRYSBURG (AP)—A public meeting has been scheduled Feb. 7 on proposed organization of a planning committee to consider this unincorporated Ottawa County village's primary needs. Ferrysburg, which celebrated its 100th anniversary Saturday, defeated incorporation as a fifth class city in a special election last month by 48 votes.

Security for You

Retirement Income Can Save on Taxes

The government may give you a break in paying your income tax if you've reached 65 and had taxable income in 1956 from a pension, an annuity, interest, dividends or rents.

The break comes in the form of what the Internal Revenue Service calls "Retirement Income Credit." Being entitled to the credit, may mean a tax saving to you of as much as $240.

To be eligible to claim it, you must meet certain requirements as to your prior earnings, present earnings and age.

★ ★ ★

Take the requirements in that order:

Prior earnings—You must have had earned income of more than $600 a year in any 10 years prior to 1957. The Internal Revenue Service will consider that you meet the requirement if you're the widow or widower of a deceased spouse who met the requirement before death.

Present earnings — You must have had income in 1956 from pensions, annuities, interest, dividends or rents which is taxable. This income is your "Retirement Income" upon which the credit is based.

Age—You must have been 65 by the end of 1956.

Now, assume that you meet the requirements. What does it mean?

It means that you may be eligible to cut your tax bill by 20 per cent of your 1956 "Retirement Income." But, the amount of retirement income to which the 20 per cent is applied can't be more than $1,200.

For example: Assume that your only income in 1956 is a taxable pension of $3,000 from your former employer. You "Retirement Income Credit" is 20 per cent of the first $1,200 of your $3,000 pension or $240. If you had no dependents, the income tax on your $3,000 pension would normally be $305. But, your "Retirement Income Credit" is $240. So, you subtract the $240 from the $305 and your actual income tax for 1956 is $65.

ANOTHER LIMITATION

In addition to the 20 per cent only applying to the first $1,200 of your retirement income, there's another limitation on the amount of "Retirement Income Credit" you can claim for 1956.

If you're between 65 and 72, you must reduce the $1,200—before you apply the 20 per cent—by any Social Security or Railroad Retirement payments you received and by any wages or salary you received in excess of $1,200.

For example: Assume that your 1956 income was a taxable pension of $3,000 from your former employer; $600 in Social Security and $1,500 from odd jobs during the year.

Your retirement income base of $1,200 must be reduced by the $600 in Social Security and the $300 in excess of your earnings over $1,200. Thus, the $1,200 is reduced by $900. Then, you apply the 20 per cent to the remaining $300. This means that your "Retirement Income Credit" is $60. So, you subtract the $60 from the income tax you would normally pay and you get the actual tax you must pay.

As you can see from this example, if you have Social Security or Railroad Retirement payments of more than $1,200 or you have wages and salaries of $2,400 or more, you're not eligible for "Retirement Income Credit."

And, as you can see, figuring the credit can be complicated. If you have any doubt as to how to figure the credit or whether you're eligible for it, you should get an official answer from the nearest Internal Revenue office.

(You may write Ray Henry in care of The Pontiac Press about your own Social Security or retirement problem. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 25 cents in coin.)

"Should I Wait 'til Morning?"

"Sue is about seven months pregnant and wanted to have a weekend of relaxation," Wright explained. "She was going to stay in a hotel, do some shopping and visit some of her girl friends.

"She was going to call us and tell us where she was staying. She didn't call but we weren't too worried. She was supposed to have returned to Lawrence Sunday night."

Macmillan, Ike May Hold Confab in Bermuda

LONDON (UP) — The Daily Telegraph today predicted Prime Minister Harold Macmillan will meet with President Eisenhower in Bermuda, probably in March. It said such a meeting might be followed by a Big Three session with French Premier Guy Mollet.

The newspaper, which supports and has close contacts with Macmillan's Conservative government, offered this reasoning for a meeting in Bermuda:

"There is at present a stream of visits to Washington by heads of governments, mainly from the Middle East. A meeting in Bermuda, which is British territory, would remove any suggestion that Mr. Macmillan was 'joining the queue.'"

GOP Strives to Win Control

But Pending Legislation May Retain Democrats' Edge in Senate

DALLAS (UP)—Republicans geared today for an all-out effort to win the special U.S. Senate election in Texas that could mean the GOP capturing control of the Senate from the Democrats.

But a bill that could help insure a Democratic victory has passed its first hurdle by a bare margin in the State House of Representatives.

President Eisenhower yesterday gave his official backing to Atty. Thad Hutcheson of Houston, the lone Republican candidate in the field. He is running for the seat vacated by Price Daniel when he assumed the governorship earlier this month.

The special election will be April 2.

Former Gov. Allan Shivers appointed William Blakley, an Eisenhower Democrat from Dallas, to serve as interim senator. Blakley is voting with the Democrats in the Senate.

Last night the Texas House State Affairs Committee voted 12-6 to recommend passage of a bill that would require a runoff between the two leaders in the special election. A two-thirds majority was required to send it to the House floor for immediate action.

Passage of such a measure is generally considered insurance for a Democratic victory.

Asks U.S. to Claim Area in Antarctica

WASHINGTON (UP) — Rep. Tollefson (R-Wash) is making another try to have Congress lay claim to portions of Antarctica.

He has reintroduced, for the fourth time, a resolution claiming U.S. sovereignity over that portion of the Antarctic continent between the 90th and 150 meridan of longitude West.

Tollefson said the United States has done more exploring of the south polar area than all other nations together but never has laid claim to any section of it.

Action should be taken, he said, in the interests of national defense to protect U.S. rights to share in mineral and oil believed to lie beneath the continent.

HOW MUCH IS A USED CAR WORTH?

Depends on the make, the model, and the year, of course. Every dealer tries to tell you his make is worth the most.

"I listened to rumor!"

Here are the facts! The resale value of every make, model, and year is listed in the NADA Used Car Guide, the official "bible" of the industry. And here's what the NADA Guide shows:

"I got the facts!"

A used Studebaker is worth more than other cars in the low price field, model for model, year for year. For example, the 1956 Studebaker 4-door President has the highest average resale value of all comparable V8's in its price class—both in percentage and in actual dollars and cents.
