House Votes 303-125 for Labor-Controls Bill

They're Building a Home

'Like Hungary in Little Rock,' Says Faubus

Blasts Police Handling of Segregationist Mob at Central High

From Our News Wires

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—Gov. Orval E. Faubus charged today that Little Rock police handled an anti-integration demonstration Wednesday at Central High School like the Russians handled the Hungarian revolt.

"Of course, it's quiet now," Faubus said. "It's quiet in Hungary . . . It is not likely to be peaceful here for a long, long time."

But Faubus, holding his first news conference since the "voluntary" and limited integration of two Little Rock high schools Wednesday, said he does not think that future demonstrations will do any good.

He said that if Little Rock police had failed to control anti-integration violence at Central Wednesday, he "was prepared" to take over with State Police and the National Guard.

Faubus' announcement came as three Negro pupils entered Hall High School peacefully for the third day of token integration in two of Little Rock's four public high schools.

Faubus, at the hastily-called news conference, did not say under what circumstances he would call on the police and guard.

The governor Thursday night was accused by Mrs. L. C. (Daisy) Bates, state president of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, with using the police to try to intimidate the NAACP forces.

HAPPY SPONSORS — Smiles come easily to Rep. Robert P. Griffin (right) and Rep. Phil M. Landrum, after the House cleared the way for final action on their labor-reform bill, supported by President Eisenhower but opposed by organized labor. Griffin, a Republican from Traverse City, is a former Pontiac factory worker whose parents live in Pontiac. Landrum is a Georgia Democrat.

Surprise Count Major Victory for Eisenhower

Senate Must Act Now on Measure to Curb Racketeering

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House today passed and sent to the Senate a bill to curb racketeering and abuses in labor-management relations.

The House action capped a major legislative victory for President Eisenhower, who made a personal appeal to the nation for strong labor controls legislation.

The House vote on passage swamped Northern and Eastern Democrats who had backed less-stringent labor curbs than the President asked.

The House-passed bill now goes back to the Senate for compromise with the differing version passed there last April.

Passage by a 303-125 vote came after a motion by Rep. Carroll D. Kearns (R-Pa) to recommit the bill.

★ ★ ★

This was a parliamentary maneuver designed to block efforts to revive a Democratic-sponsored bill. Had the bill been returned to committee, there would have been no labor control legislation before the House.

The vote against recommitting the bill was 279-19.

The House on a surprising 229-201 roll-call vote had given all but the final approval to the measure Thursday.

Labor and House supporters of a middle-of-the-road controls bill were stunned by the unexpected margin of their loss.

It gave President Eisenhower a smashing triumph in the bitter month-long struggle over the extent of curbs on racketeering and abuses of power in the labor-management field.

★ ★ ★

From his vacation headquarters at Gettysburg, Pa., Eisenhower hailed the House action as giving cause for "real hope that the Congress will ultimately pass a good labor reform bill."

He said the House-passed bill would "deal effectively with abuses disclosed" by the Senate Labor-Management committee headed by Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.)

★ ★ ★

But AFL-CIO President George Meany said in a statement, "It was not a vote on the issue of corruption. It was a vote to punish honest labor."

Meany called the House action "a victory for antilabor forces—the NAM (National Assn. of Manufacturers) and the Chamber of Commerce."

The administration-backed bill, sponsored by Representatives Phil M. Landrum (D-Ga), and Robert P. Griffin (R-Mich), meets most of the objectives set forth by Eisenhower in a nationwide radio-TV appeal last week for "tough" reforms.

SWEEPING BANS

Among other things, it provides sweeping bans on secondary boycotts and "hot cargo" agreements; prohibits "blackmail" picketing to force employes into labor unions, requires unions to report their finances to the secretary of labor, prescribes financial accountability for unions, and sets up new rules for handling "no man's land" labor disputes.

Confesses Senseless Slayings

From Our News Wires

ISLIP, N. Y. — Francis Henry Bloeth, 27, diagnosed in his teens as an incurable psychopath who strangled cats for fun, confessed last night that he had killed two men and a woman for no more reason.

"If I had had more bullets, I would have shot more people," Suffolk County District Attorney John

FRANCIS H. BLOETH

P. Cohalan Jr. quoted Bloeth as saying.

"These people were just like flies on Bloeth's hand," Cohalan said. "He just rapped them and killed them, just like that."

Bloeth's victims, all killed within an eight-day period, were all night workers on duty alone in eating places in three different eastern Long Island towns.

Bloeth was booked on three charges of first-degree murder.

A Former Pontiac Factory Worker

Rep. Griffin's Star Rises

A former Pontiac factory worker has been catapulted into the headlines by the success of the labor reform bill he sponsored.

There was little doubt that the personal prestige of Rep. Robert P. Griffin (R-Mich) would take a sharp upturn in Republican circles as a result of tentative passage yesterday by the House of the Landrum-Griffin bill.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Griffin, 987 Argyle St., the young congressman worked in Pontiac to put himself through college.

Just 35 and serving only his third year in Congress, the Traverse City Republican has already won close attention from bigwigs in his party.

The bill he cosponsored was personally backed by President Eisenhower and, reportedly, Griffin was handpicked to write it by House GOP leader Charles A. Halleck (R-Ind).

★ ★ ★

Griffin and Phil M. Landrum (D-Ga) are both lawyers who work hard behind the congressional scenes where important legislative decisions are made.

ELECTED IN 1956

First elected in the 1956 Eisenhower landslide, Griffin became a top GOP member of the labor subcommittee which held three months of hearings on reform bills.

A former infantryman who served overseas 14 months in World War II, Griffin is married and has three children.

Landrum, 49, of Jasper, Ga., is expected to be on the joint House-Senate committee on the final labor bill, but Griffin won't be. Landrum, serving his fourth term, is chairman of the House subcommittee on labor reform.

Griffin thought his bill would have a chance in the Senate if it is formally adopted today by the House in a roll-call cote.

"I think it would pass the Senate if we could get it out of the joint conference committee and put it up to a vote," he said.

The Landrum-Griffin measure is more stringent than another labor bill already approved by the Senate. It cracks the whip harder than the Democrat - backed middle-of-the-road legislation which the House turned down yesterday.

"I believed that if we didn't put anything more in our bill than President Eisenhower had asked for, we'd win," said Griffin.

Among those voting for the Landrum-Griffin bill was Rep. William S. Broomfield (R-Royal Oak). Voting against it was Rep. James G. O'Hara (D-Utica).

Broomfield hailed the bill as a weapon against corruption in unions, but O'Hara predicted a

Writes of Alaska Visit With Michigan's '59ers

(Editor's Note: This is the first of a two-part report to The Pontiac Press from Howard Shelley of Pontiac who visited Michigan's '59ers in the Susitna River Valley, Talkeetna, Alaska. Shelley, a former secretary of the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club, assists Mort Neff in his TV program, "Michigan Outdoors." He was accompanied to Alaska by his wife.)

By HOWARD SHELLEY

TALKEETNA, Alaska — Today we visited the '59ers.

From the tiny village of Talkeetna, an Alaska railroad whistle stop and former gold mining supply center, we ferried across the treacherous half-mile wide Susitna River.

We wore the Mae West-type life preservers, because the swirling undertow of the swift and onrushing water frequently meant a ducking.

However, the 22-foot outboard-driven freight canoe made the trip in fine style.

Cars and trucks taken across the river on the ice and left there last winter were used to haul us about.

★ ★ ★

First we called upon Mrs. Marino Sik and her one-year-old daughter, Linda. Marino, president of the '59ers, had departed with a group of men for Canada to purchase horses.

HAVE 160 ACRES

The Siks reside in their comfortable house trailer, with their 160 acres fronting on a reasonably good gravel road that leads to a distant gold mine—but nowhere else!

All of the homesteads, each a quarter-mile wide and a mile deep, adjoin each other and front on this gravel road.

Outside the trailer home, Mrs. Sik uses a wood-burning cook stove — come rain or shine—on which all their food is prepared. Once a week six huge loaves of bread are baked.

Considerable assistance in homestead living was obtained from the Alaska Extension Service in the way of first hand advice and brochures and pamphlets.

Supervised by his mother, a young pioneer, Junior Rubino, 10, will get next year's schooling from an accredited correspondence course.

The women have become expert berry pickers and each has already canned dozens and dozens of jars of jams and jellies for next winter. Wild strawberries, highbush cranberries, rose hips and currently an abundance of wild raspberries offer a wide variety of fruit. A luscious crop of blueberries will be harvested in the near future.

TO CAN SALMON

Alaska's huge salmon run occurs in July and August, and already, great quantities of the tasty red fish have been canned.

The impending big game season is near at hand (Aug. 20) and CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI)—The Air Force launched another camera-carrying Thor ballistic missile today to obtain more filmed evidence of how the weapon's nose cone behaves during flight.

Hoping to Catch Capsule in Air

Discoverer V Launched Yesterday, Will Eject Cone Today

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—A fantastic game of catch will be played thousands of feet above the Pacific today if all goes well with satellite Discoverer V.

The object: to snare the satellite's ejected 300-pound nose capsule.

Discoverer V blasted off its launching pad at noon Thursday. It is circling the earth every 94 minutes, sending back loud, clear signals.

Eight C119 Flying Boxcars are poised on Hawaii for the attempt to catch the instrument-packed capsule as it floats down under a parachute near the islands.

The Air Force says the chance of success is about 1 in 1,000.

Here is how it proposes to snatch the capsule out of the air:

As Discoverer V makes its 16th pass, a tracking station in Alaska will trigger the ejection mechanism. On the next pass, the satellite, repositioned by compressed gas jets, will tilt 60 degrees downward.

At the designated moment, explosive springs and bolts will separate the capsule from its vehicle, second stage of the rocket which bore it into space. The vehicle is expected to continue orbiting for about 10 days.

The capsule will be slowed down by a retro-rocket. A switch operated by forces of deceleration will release a parachute.

Guided by radio signals from the descending capsule, the Flying Boxcars will move in to try to grab the parachute with trapeze apparatus suspended from the planes.

They have about 10 minutes to make a catch.

Souchak Ties Meadowbrook Mark With 63

Burly Mike Souchak fired a combination of 30 and 33 today to tie the Meadowbrook Country Club course record at 63 and take over the 36-hole lead at the Motor City Open with 132. He garnered seven birdies and an eagle three on the round and had only 27 putts.

Among the early starters as today's second 18-hole round got under way over the par 35-36—71 course, seven pros had already broken 70 and many more were expected to follow suit before the day was over.

Second in the early attack on 1 r was Retief Waltman, a 20-year-old South African pro, who collected seven birdies while shooting 33-33—65. Today's 2nd place is shared by four players, including Bill Casper Jr., Ted Kroll, Don Fairfield and Max Evans, all at 138, four under par for 36 holes.

Evans picked up six birdies as he fired a 31-35—66. Casper came through with a 67. Fairfield shot a 68 and Kroll posted his second straight 69.

Mason Rudolph, the 1st round leader with a 67, was still on the course and had not yet reached the ninth green.

Beats Girls at Their Game

By HARVEY ZUCKERBERG

Seventeen - year - old Edward Nickel qualifies as a "thinking man."

He's not only sharp with sizzling wires, but with sizzling skillets, too, and he recommends it.

The girls will tell you.

Although Ed's specialty in 4-H Club endeavors are electrical projects, he beat the females at their own game in the Oakland County 4-H Club Fair baking competition.

The only male entry, Ed's pineapple upside down cake took a first place blue ribbon and a trophy from the Oakland County Farm Bureau.

A member of the West Bloomfield 4-H Club, Ed says, "I just follow the recipe.

The young chef says he does a lot of cooking at the Nickel home, 5965 Middle Belt Rd., Birmingham. He likes to bake mostly, but has prepared dinner for the whole family, his parents and a younger brother and sister.

ED NICKEL

"My parents really taught me how to cook," says Ed, "and I attended a weekly cooking class for a year as a 4-H Club project.

"But to tell the truth," he says laughingly, "I like to cook because I like to eat. I like to make cupcakes the best, also good German food, and I can eat rhubarb till I get a belly ache."

It took Ed an hour and a half to bake his prize winning pineapple upside down cake in his mother's electric kitchen.

"I do the dishes and I'm very neat in the kitchen," he says. "But you should see the mess my father makes."

Asked if the rest of the Nickel family enjoys his cooking, Ed replied, "They haven't complained yet."

The Birmingham youngster is a "State Show" winner this year with his electrical project. He likes to read and dance and does a soft shoe routine with another boy and two girls at the 4-H Fair. They will enter their act in "State Show" in September.

A graduate of Birmingham High School, Ed will enter the University of Michigan's college of engineering this fall.

'U. S. Sank Own Subs'

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—U. S. planes and ships sank two U. S. submarines and damaged 31 others in attacks resulting from false or uncertain identification during World War II.

★ ★ ★

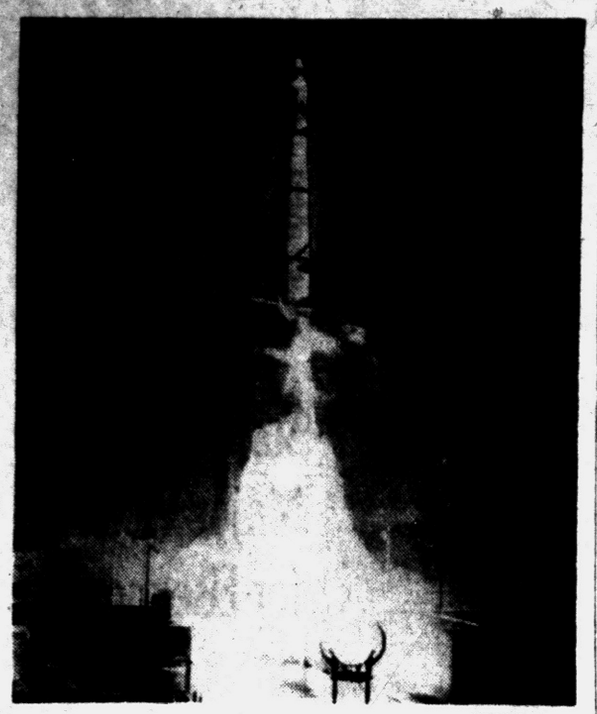

Vice Adm. Charles Lockwood (ret.), former chief of the Navy's Pacific submarine fleet, made the disclosure in an interview Thursday.

He said submarine identification is one of the navy's greatest problems, adding: "We are making great strides in this field, but we still have a long way to go."

Lockwood said the submarine Sea Wolf was destroyed by a U. S. plane and a destroyer north of New Guinea. The Dorado was sunk by a plane in the Caribbean.

There were no survivors in either sinking, he said.

Cuba Reports Capture of Arms-Laden Plane

HAVANA (AP) — Cuban Army headquarters today announced the capture of an arms-laden plane flown by the pilot who ferried ex-president Fulgencio Batista into exile.

The army said the plane was captured in a battle in which four persons were killed.

The announcement said the plane, carrying 10 persons and a cargo of arms for anti - Castro counterrevolutionaries, was ambushed as it landed from the Dominican Republic at Trinidad, a town on Cuba's south coast.

Two occupants of the plane and two soldiers of Prime Minister Fidel Castro's army were killed in the battle, the announcement said, and other occupants of the plane were captured.

The army communique was the first official announcement of the landing of any invasion force in Cuba since the government reported an anti - Castro conspiracy a week ago.

Unconfirmed reports had been current in Havana earlier that anti-Castro forces had seized Trinidad and its airfield. The town had been isolated for four days by a communication blackout.

The army said the captured plane was piloted by Lt. Col. Antonio Soto, who flew Batista to the Dominican Republic last New Year's Day.

The army announcement accused Generalissimo Rafael L. Trujillo, the Dominican dictator, of direct participation in the landing attempt.

★ ★ ★

The announcement ended with the statement that Castro would tell the nation about the conspiracy against his government by radio and television tonight. It did not give the time.

In Havana, the situation appeared quiet.

Castro was believed in the Trinidad area, where earlier reports had said groups of counterrevolutionary holdouts had taken to the hills after clashing with government forces Sunday.

East Is Cool; Rest of Nation Hot and Sticky

By The Associated Press

Hot, sticky midsummer weather clung to most of the nation today, but there was coon contrast in New England and the northern row of states from Minnesota to the Pacific.

The mercury dipped into the 40s and 50s along the Canadian border west of the Great Lakes and in the extreme Northeast during the night.

Around daybreak, Butte, Mont., had a freezing 29 degrees. Salmon, Idaho, recorded a low of 33. But sunshine quickly raised readings into the 70s and higher.

The cooler areas were fringed with showers and thunderstorms. Elsewhere, the temperature again went into the high 80s and the 90s.

The muggy weather baked and nettled the millions of persons in the region from the southern Plains into southern New England Thursday. The mercury climbed to 92 at Boston, edged near the 100-degree mark at Russell, Kan., and shot up to 106 at Presidio, Tex.

Requests Probe P.O. Politics

County Dems Charge GOP With Manipulation of Postmasterships

Sen. Patrick V. McNamara (D-Mich) is studying a request from the Oakland County Democratic Committee that he investigate "political manipulations" of postmasterships in the county.

The request comes on the heels of Republican charges that McNamara was holding up confirmation of GOP-nominated postmasters — including Pontiac's Robert C. Miller — hoping Democrats could make nominations of their own if they land in the White House next year.

The senator has been asked to look into appointment of the postmaster in Orchard Lake, the dedication of new post offices in Pontiac and Farmington, and the need for an office in Lathrup Village.

The committee charges the two dedications "were conducted and engineered as Republican campaign rallies."

"Announcement of these two dedications contained the names of the Republican candidates for Senator and Congressman. We strongly feel that investigation will show there has been a misuse of post office funds to advertise and promote the Republican candidates for public office," a three-page letter to McNamara from the committee said.

The new Pontiac post office was dedicated Sept. 27, 1958, several months before the November elections.

The letter contends former Orchard Lake Postmaster Mary L. Hawkes was "harassed by postal investigators for no apparent reason other than to force her resignation to create a vacancy for a Republican appointment." She later accepted a lower rank as postal clerk last year, the letter said.

★ ★ ★

Creation of a post office in the city of Lathrup Village is "a needless duplication of effort and unnecessary waste of the taxpayers money," the Oakland Democratic Committee charged.

Further, the committee letter said, "This smacks very much of a political pay-off to heavy-contributors to the Republican Party by the Republican Party."

Labor Bill Success Boosts Rep. Griffin

★ ★ ★

Other Michigan congressmen voted according to party affiliation also, with the exception of Rep. John B. Bennett, Upper Peninsula Republican who usually votes "for labor." Bennett opposed the bill.

Milton King, Michigan director of the National Small Businessmen's Assn., was "jubilant" over the victory.

He was especially enthusiastic over one particular provision, which would give the state jurisdiction to hear labor disputes that the Federal Mediation Board won't handle.

"We've been seeking to abolish this no-man's land in labor relations for several years," he said.

★ ★ ★

"It is hoped that small firms will win the right to take their labor troubles to local courts in instances where the federal government considers the problem too small for them to bother about."

King said more than 300 Oakland County members of the association sent telegrams to Broomfield, urging adoption of the Landrum-Griffin bill.

there is every likelihood that great quarters of moose meat will be prepared for the long cold winter ahead.

Their cooperative vegetable garden, of some three or four acres, should supply them with potatoes, parsnips, carrots, turnips and cabbages.

Presently they are enjoying such fresh vegetables as radishes, onions, lettuce and peas. Each family will construct an adequate root cellar, insulated with marsh grass, to protect the vegetables from the frigid winter.

We found Nick Rubino and 10-year-old Junior erecting their second-hand quonset hut, purchased and dismantled 50 miles south of Talkeetna. Seventeen freight boat trips across the river were made in transporting the hut to the homestead. The Rubinos lived in a tent at first, but now are living in a borrowed house trailer. Within two weeks the quonset hut will be ready for "moving in." Bill Orchowski is also assembling a quonset hut for his future home a mile west of the Rubinos.

DIG FOR WATER

Without a doubt, the most back-breaking job confronting the men so far is that of digging for water. Twenty to 30-foot holes, five-feet in diameter, had to be dug and cribbed with logs.

★ ★ ★

A log tripod was erected and rope used to lift a pail of the sand and gravel which was picked loose and shoveled from the bottom — then hauled to the top.

There a helper unloaded the bucket. Finally, a well point and casing was installed with a pitcher pump at ground level to obtain plenty of good fresh, ice-cold water.

Twentyfour-year-old Erik Eklund, a single man, was building a substantial log cabin for his homestead home. Trading labor with Ray Kula, a good supply of 20-foot logs had been cut, peeled and was ready for laying. Two weeks hence, they will work on the Kula cabin.

The Siks contemplate erecting a suitable lumber constructed room beside their house trailer, with their cabin home to be built on an improved clearing next year.

Hand washings — all old-fashioned washing board style — carry little appeal! They've all done their share. Recently, however, an electric washing machine was converted to gas engine use. What with diapers and baby clothes, this pleases Mrs. Sik no end.

Two milk cows, three calves (one to be butchered in November), a goose and gander, a flock of a dozen white leghorn hens and a rooster, two goats — "Billy" and "Nany" — pet rabbits and kittens comprise the list of livestock. Several dogs, including "Homer the Homesteader," bark their friendly greetings.

★ ★ ★

The livestock was transported across the river in the freight canoes. The two cows were blindfolded and hogtied, then wrapped in huge tarpaulins and rolled into the canoe and moved to the distant shore.

Horses will be brought in in the same manner — since the glacier-fed river is too cold and swift to permit the animals to swim across.

School Board Tables New Pool at Central

The Pontiac Board of Education tabled a proposal last night to erect an entirely new, regulation size boy's swimming pool at Pontiac Central High, but went ahead with plans to rehabilitate the present pool which has often been declared unsanitary by the State Health Department.

Deciding that new pool costs of $350,000 were prohibitive for the time being, the Board authorized the architect, William C. Zimmerman Associates, to complete plans providing for a minimum reconstruction of the 46-year-old pool at an estimated $160,000 expense.

Under this scheme, the existing tank will be leveled and waterproofed with the new tile installed. A complete new water filtration and circular system would be added and new plaster ceiling constructed.

Tentative completion date for the rehabilitation, if construction is authorized, is July, 1960. The pool would still not be fit for competition, but acting Board president Monroe M. Osmun indicated that a new pool will be constructed when the budget permits.

A third proposal designed to reconstruct the existing Central High structure into a modern, competitive size pool at a price of $477,500 was turned down by the Board. Osmun indicated that the advantages of a new pool would be far greater at far less cost.

The Board accepted the 1959-60 operating budget of $8,237,309 as submitted by Superintendent of Schools Dana P. Whitmer. Although based on the budget submitted Feb. 26, the revised allocation contains the new wage and salary adjustments adopted by the Board June 11.

The new budget is $306,141 higher than the one presented in February. According to Whitmer, the increase is almost exclusively the result of the pay hikes.

Under the new budget, the cost per pupil would be increased from $396 in 1958-59 to $406 in 1959-60. A few reductions were also made, including $32,000 less for maintenance, which will help relieve the impact of the new wage scale.

In other action, the Board appointed an administrative intern at Crofoot Elementary School and a new administrative assistant for Central High.

Lewis A. Crew, named Crofoot administrative intern, will work under a supervising principal for a year before taking over full duties as principal. Crew was a sixth grade teacher at Longfellow School last year.

The Board appointed Donald McMillen administrative assistant at Central High. McMillen, a Central High teacher last year, will take over immediately. He was selected from six local applications.

Finally the Board turned down a request from the Herrington Hills Homeowners Assn. to build a fence on the south border of the Herrington Elementary School. The homeowners association claimed that a large embankment and drainage ditch on that section of the school playground created a hazard for the school children.

According to Donald L. Hearn of 1149 Dudley St., association representative, children would also be stopped from playing in neighbors' yards by a fence.

The Board balked at Hearn's request because, "it is not only a matter of safety, but one of dollars and cents." Osmun said that the budget could not handle such a project.

Hearn contended that fences were erected needlessly at Longfellow School, and that due to the safety factor involved a fence was a must put up at the Herrington School. He called for more practical school construction to include fences.

Suspect Confesses to Three Slayings

of the peace, he muttered to newsmen: "I wonder what that fatso would have done if I pulled the gun on him."

Bloeth said he threw away both the .32 caliber guns used in the slayings. Police found one in Lake Ronkonkoma just after daylight today, 80 minutes after Bloeth stood on a road by the lake and showed how he had thrown it in the dark.

★ ★ ★

He was arrested Monday for a non-fatal "Russian roulette" holdup and as a "prime suspect" in the killings, but he insisted he was innocent until last night, when his wife and his attorney pleaded with him for more than an hour to tell the truth they suspected.

★ ★ ★

"I felt all along he had done it," Mrs. Jane Bloeth, 25, told newsmen as she and the attorney, Sidney R. Siben, made the first announcement of the confession.

"I pleaded with him to spare more innocent people from being killed," Mrs. Bloeth said.

Both Siben and Cohalan said Bloeth appeared without remorse.

Cohalan said he has asked Bloeth whether he had any feelings for his family and if he didn't feel sorry to have brought them this trouble. He said Bloeth replied:

"I wouldn't shoot my wife, my mother or my daughter."

★ ★ ★

Cohalan said: "I just couldn't believe what this man told me as he talked. It was an absolute nightmare."

★ ★ ★

The killings had proved a nightmare for the residents of this eastern Long Island county, an area of lonely farms, small towns and fashionable beach resorts. Many late-night eating places shuttered their doors at sundown after it became apparent that a "mad murderer" was at work. Other night workers traveled in pairs, or with guns.

Even after Bloeth's arrest and the announcement that police believed he was the killer, communities remained on guard against another strike from the senseless slayer until they were sure.

Bloeth's victims were: Late on the night of July 31, Hans Hachmann, 54, owner of an Islip delicatessen; early in the morning of Aug. 5, Lawrence Kircher, 53, lone counterman in a Smithtown diner; about midnight Aug. 7, Mrs. Irene Currier, 50, on duty alone in the Westhampton diner she owned with her husband.

The Day in Birmingham

Retired Farmer Claims 'Dousing' Powers Fame

BIRMINGHAM — William H. "Dad" Clemons, a retired farmer who lives at 24035 13 Mile Rd., Bingham Farms, is an unusual man on four counts.

A nonagenarian — he'll be 90 in December — he has lived in the Birmingham area for 60 years and may be the area's oldest long-time resident.

Although Clemons never met the famous writer, he's a cousin to Mark Twain.

In the 1870's, while still a teenager, Clemons was one of the lumberjacks who made the first inroads into the then-wild country in the Bay City area.

But "Dad's" chief claim to fame is as a "douser" or "water wizard". He's one of those persons who use a tree bough "divining rod" to located underground water.

"I've found over 300 wells in the last 40 years, probably more than that — I've never kept track", says Clemons.

He is well known in Beverly Hills and Bloomfield Township by people who have utilized his "dousing powers" after spending considerable sums digging dry wells.

Clemon's mode of operation looks simple enough. He grips the ends of a forked beech bough in both hands, with the sharp angle pointing up. When he passes over a vein of water, the bough twists and dips, and the angle points straight down.

Others might try it and fail. "Some people can do it and some can't. I can't explain it," Dad commented.

But whether or not he can explain it, he's had some grateful customers, including a man who spent $3,000 digging two dry wells over 300 feet deep before "Dad" found water running at 12 gallons a minute at 65 feet.

Installed recently as new officers of Birmingham Knights of Columbus No. 3869 were Chancellor, George Williams, 531 Kimberly Rd., Birmingham; Grand Knight, Edward Rollins, 16968 Beechwood Dr.; Deputy Grand Knight, Eddaar Rollins, 16968 Madoline Rd., and Warden, A. G. Fuhrman, 31065 Stafford Dr., all of Beverly Hills.

Robert C. Ellis, Texas-born artist who now lives and paints in Mexico, will exhibit a new group of paintings and drawings Aug. 18 through Sept. 19 at the Litte Gallery, 915 E. Maple Ave., in Birmingham.

Ellis, who has studied at the University of New Mexico and in New York City, will be in the Gallery during the first week of the exhibition. The Gallery is open from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday.

Spurned Teacher Hanged for Slaying

LEEDS, England (AP) — A polio-crippled university teacher was hanged today for slaying a girl student and her boy friend. The girl had laughed at the teacher's proposal of marriage.

Bernard Walden, a 33-year-old physics lecturer, shot and killed Joyce Moan, 21, and Neil Saxton, 20, last April. Walden told police Miss Moran spurned him several weeks before the shooting.

"That was the first nail in her coffin," the teacher said.

State Business at Crucial Point, Says Bagwell

IONIA (AP) — Paul Bagwell told fellow Republicans at the Ionia Free Fair Thursday that Michigan's business climate is a crucial political issue.

"The federal government has just reported the highest number of employed in all the nation's history," Bagwell said. "But the top problem in Michigan today is lack of jobs — Unemployment that now is growing chronic. Michigan leads the nation in unemployment."

Bagwell, whom Gov. Williams defeated in last year's gubernatorial election, asserted that the only way to create jobs is to establish "a favorable climate for business and industry in Michigan.

"People now know we told the truth last fall, he said.

Boat Permits on New Plan

Registration Bill Signed by Williams Yesterday; $2 for 3 Years

LANSING (AP)—The Secretary of State's office will begin today to implement a new registration system for the more than 300,000 privately owned motor boats in Michigan.

A registration bill signed into law yesterday by Gov. Williams also preserves the state's jurisdiction over Michigan watercraft.

Under the law, the secretary of state will issue new registration numbers — starting with the letters "MC" — to all inboard and outboard motorboats.

Boat owners will pay a $2 registration fee every three years. Those already signed up under the old system of permanent registration will not pay their next fee until 1962.

State control of watercraft will be extended to Great Lakes waters. Currently only inland boats are covered.

If Michigan had failed to revise its watercraft registration law, it would have had to surrender jurisdiction to the U.S. Coast Guard next spring under terms of the Bonner Act passed by Congress last year.

The measure had run into rough waters in the Senate because of a House-approved provision for deposit of registration fees in a special watercraft law enforcement fund.

But, it sailed smoothly into the governor's office after agreement on an amendment channeling the fees to the state's general fund for annual distribution.

Reveal New Wrinkle in Feminine Fisticuffs

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Tucson police found a new wrinkle in feminine fisticuffs when they broke up a fight between two junior high school girls.

Both girls, police said, had their hands tightly wrapped with adhesive tape, just like professional boxers.

The philosophy of this foreign car-turned-monster seems to be — if you can't beat 'em, eat 'em.

Bagwell Boosters Back for 2nd Try

HOWELL (AP)—A full turnout of persons backing Paul Bagwell for a second try at the Michigan governorship is expected here tomorrow for "Bagwell Boosters" day.

Louis E. May, temporary chairman of the group, said more than 6,000 persons around the state already have joined the organization and hundreds more are joining each week.

May said the organization seeks to persuade Bagwell, a former Michigan State University professor, to run again for governor. Bagwell lost to Governor Williams last November.

Tomorrow's convention will begin at 11 a.m. with a parade through the city.

State Firm Sets Record for Laying Concrete

LANSING (AP)—Michigan has claimed another national record for laying concrete on an express way.

The State Highway Department said the Pierson Construction Co. of Saginaw placed 6,242 feet of 24-foot wide, nine-inch thick concrete on the Detroit-Chicago expressway recently during a 12-hour working day. The pavement was laid near Watervliet, Berrien County.

The same contractor previously set a one-day record by laying 6,050 feet of concrete on the expressway last month.

Big Senate Vote Jumps Veterans' Pension Costs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rejecting committee cuts, the Senate has passed overwhelmingly a bill adding another 10 billion dollars to veterans pension costs over the next 40 years.

The size of the vote—86-6 in the Senate Thursday and 226-34 in the House last June—dampened today earlier speculation that the measure might be vetoed by President Eisenhower.

★ ★ ★

The Senate made only minor changes in the measure passed June 12 by the House, but the changes made further House action necessary.

★ ★ ★

The Senate voted 75-20 to strip from the bill Finance Committee amendments cutting the 40-year cost of the measure by 21 billion dollars.

Sen. Robert S. Kerr (D-Okla), who led the fight to knock out the committee cuts, discounted any idea Eisenhower would veto the bill.

But Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va), Finance Committee chairman, noted that strong administration opposition to the House version had been expressed before his committee.

★ ★ ★

The principal Senate change is a provision to give veterans who have served since 1940 another one-year chance to obtain National Service Life Insurance. This is heavily opposed by the administration.

The bill concerns only pensions for veterans with non-service-connected disabilities and their dependents. It would:

ON SLIDING SCALE

1. Put pensions for veterans and dependents going on the rolls in the future on a sliding-scale basis to be determined by need.

2. Make eligible for pensions the widows of World War II and Korean War veterans whose death had no connection with their military service. This eligibility now applies only to widows of World War I servicemen.

The bill would not cut the pension of anyone presently on the rolls. About two thirds of these would get increases.

★ ★ ★

Thus, the bill would cost about $1,200,000,000 more than present law over the first five years.

★ ★ ★

But, counting the full period between now and the year 2000, the Veterans Administration estimates the new sliding scale system would save about 12 billion dollars in payments to veterans themselves as compared with the present program.

However, bringing in the World War II and Korean War widows would cost about 22 billion. Thus the net cost of the bill would be 10 billion, added to an estimated 105 billion under present law for the pensions over the next 40 years.

PARIS (UPI) — Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty today plunged into a round of talks to lay plans for President Eisenhower's visit Sept. 2.

★ ★ ★ ★

Eisenhower will visit Europe in advance of meeting Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev in the United States and then later he will go to Moscow. Hagerty was asked about a report that Eisenhower would stop off in India and the Middle East on his way home from Moscow.

"It's news to me," said Hagerty. "I know nothing about it."

Hagerty spent most of yesterday in Bonn and then flew to Paris. He was scheduled to leave for London this evening.

In each city he must discuss details of Eisenhower's trip with U. S. Embassy personnel and national political and security officials.

★ ★ ★

When he arrived in Paris from West Germany yesterday, Hagerty said he had not heard of British press reports that President Charles de Gaulle would tell Eisenhower to keep hands off France during his talks with Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev next month.

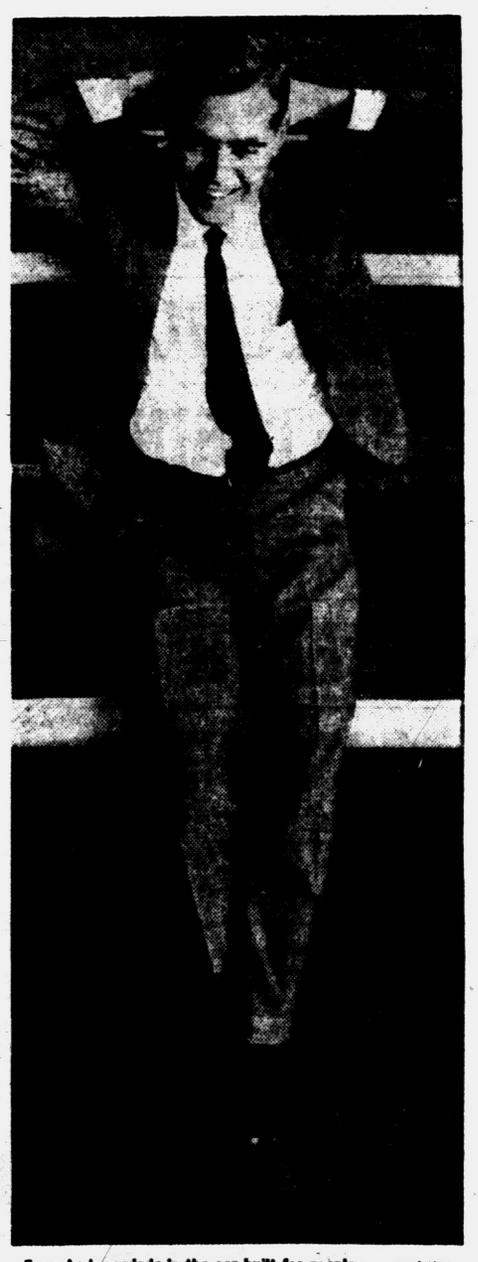

The reports were denied by French diplomatic sources and Hagerty said they were not in his province anyway.

Castro Has Tough Road Ahead

Revolution Means Hope to Cubans

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

HAVANA (AP) — The development of Fidel Castro's revolution in Cuba has its hopeful side.

The touching, unquestioning faith of the campesinos—the little people of the countryside — in their leader must be seen to be believed.

To them the revolution means only hope, and they—not Havana —represent Cuba. They are people who, like the vast majority of Cubans, depend on the land for a living.

★ ★ ★

Many now live in hovels, eking out an existence for their families. They have been told this is their revolution — a revolution of the farmers. If the promises are not fulfilled, their disillusion will be terrible.

The peasants place great hopes in the future of agrarian reform and cooperative farming. Competent economists say there is no reason why the program shouldn't succeed with careful, intelligent direction.

The National Institute of Agrarian Reform has outlawed the huge federal landholdings and is intent on chopping up the big farms into smallholders' plots for distribution among the landless tenants, sharecroppers and squatters.

★ ★ ★

The landholders, however, have given out with anguished protests coupled with dire predictions about the future of Cuba's economy, which depends mainly on sugar.

Proponents defend the law, pointing out that such measures have worked in other countries—including Japan under the U.S. occupation.

★ ★ ★

Agrarian reform undoubtedly has a tough, uphill path. So far the institute has equivalent of 20 million dollars recovered from associates of former President Fulgencio Batista and 13 million from voluntary contributions. Much more is still needed to pay for expropriated lands and finance prospective cooperatives.

The experiment is unquestionably a big job for the new, inexperienced regime. But if the enthusiasm of the peasants means anything its prospects are good.

Land redistribution is only one of the many enormous economic problems facing a nation pillaged by its former regime.

Uncertainty under Fidel Castro's revolutionary government has led to a sharp drop in private and foreign investment. This has led to a near standstill in the construction industry and to consequent unemployment. Roughly half a million Cubans are jobless out of a total work force of 2,400,000.

To take up the slack, the government has embarked on a public works program and deficit spending. This is a political necessity and probably will be difficult to stop when it becomes necessary for Castro to ask his people to tighten their belts in an austerity program later on. He is reported only recently aware of the dangers of inflation in the current situation.

★ ★ ★

The critical time for Castro is still months ahead — perhaps, in 1960. That's when his promises fall due.

As one habanero put it, "Fidel has shown us roses, but unless he waters the plants they'll die."

The people have been promised thousands of new housing units by the end of 1959. The peasants have been promised their first land before the end of the year. The government has promised jobs for all.

★ ★ ★

Cuba's present economic picture is spotty, but it is not yet frightening, and there is a more than even chance it will pull through despite gloomy predictions.

The road ahead, however, is not easy. If the Cuban revolution is going to succeed, Fidel Castro will have to climb down off that cloud and go to work in earnest.

CHIEF PLOTTER? — Heavily-armed guards of Fidel Castro march white-shirted Sen. Arturo Hernandez Tellaheche into Havana's Camp Libertad. Government sources have named the senator a presidential "candidate" of an anti-Castro conspiracy. Hundreds of other suspects are also held at the camp.

Magazine Explores Possibilities

If Japan Had Won the War . . .

TOKYO (AP)—Fourteen years ago tomorrow (Japanese time) World War II ended with the surrender of Japan. What would have happened to America if Japan had won?

The United States reduced to its original 13 states?

Alaska returned to Russia?

California taken over by Japan?

Compulsory Japanese education in American schools?

Execution of American war leaders?

These and other possibilities were explored in the Japanese magazine Shukan Bunshun this week in what it said was a reprint of an article that originally appeared in the magazine Senden three months before the fighting ended in 1945. Shukan Bunshun, one of Japan's most popular publications, with a circulation of 600,000 called the article "foolish writing."

The author of the 1945 article, whose identity was not disclosed, had titled his article, "A Proposal for the Punishment of America." It was written shortly after the death of President Roosevelt and during the great B29 fire bomb raids on Japanese cities.

★ ★ ★

"There isn't one among us who doesn't long for the day when Japanese planes too will be bombing the American mainland," the article said.

Japan should bring America to its knees and then impose numerous reforms, it continued, and predicted:

"U.S. presidents will not be allowed to remain in office more than two consecutive terms. Those like Roosevelt, who was elected four times, should be punished. But since Roosevelt is dead, his family will be punished instead . . .

"America will compensate for damage inflicted on Japan . . . iron, oil, flour, shrimp . . . lumber for homes in Tokyo to be rebuilt."

★ ★ ★

The author said Hollywood movies had poisoned Japan so Hollywood would have to be shut down. He called for the execution of Gen. Curtis Lemay, whose planes were bombing Japan, and the punishment of former U.S. Ambassador Joseph Grew, Adm. Chester Nimitz and Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

★ ★ ★

"America's greedy world ambitions were caused by inadequate education in the moral and spiritual fields," the artical continued. "Therefore Japanese educators must be sent to the United States to teach . . .

"Japanese language courses will be compulsory in all levels of education . . ."

The writer said all American territory taken from Mexico would be returned to that nation.

"But California and Hawaii will come under Japanese jurisdiction," he said. "This will prevent these people from reviving any ambitions in the Pacific."

The author concluded it would be best not to impose too harsh conditions.

"Americans have their vulgar and inferior points," he said. "But they, too, have the ability to contribute to the future welfare of mankind. One should not think of exterminating them."

Puerto Rican Economy Shows Vast Increase

Although no startling news has come from the Governors' Conference at San Juan, Puerto Rico, the fact that this was the first meeting outside continental United States shows the growing importance of the island.

★ ★ ★

Under the administration of Gov. Munoz-Marin since 1952 when Puerto Rica became a self-governing associated state, the annual family income has been brought up to $2,400. This buys nearly twice as much as it could 20 years ago. While income per capita is only half that of our poorest state, it is the highest in the Caribbean and second only to oil rich Venezuela in South America.

★ ★ ★

The value of all goods and services produced—that is, the gross national product—has increased by 300 per cent since 1940. Net income covering the same period is up 266 per cent.

As the economy grew so did the government's ability to promote health and education. Life expectancy rose from 46 years to 68 years and the death rate now is lower than in this country. Over one-quarter of the island's budget goes for education. In 1940 there were schools for only 50 per cent of the children. Today 84 per cent are served.

This 3,435 square mile island, little of it arable, and a population of 2.3 million is hard working. The so called "Operation Bootstrap" brought about the establishment of some 500 new manufacturing firms. While the government builds most of the industrial plants, they are sold or leased to private business.

Puerto Rico has come a long way in a short time and is a splendid example of what wise planning can do under the capitalistic system for an underdeveloped country.

1960 Census Will Show Shifting Population

Next year's Federal census is sure to show some marked changes in the population of Oakland County, as compared with that of 1950.

★ ★ ★

Besides an increase that will boost the 396,001 figure of that count to around the 750,000 mark, it also will indicate a pronounced shift in where they live.

★ ★ ★

Most of the gain will be in areas that in 1950 were regarded as rural, or in the platting stage.

It is hardly probable that many of our larger cities will participate in the gain to as great a percentage as the county at large.

In plain words, the bulk of the increase is going to the country.

★ ★ ★

The several cities and villages incorporated since the 1950 count have taken over a large area then regarded as rural.

Some of the older municipalities have given their figures more than the normal boost by extending their limits.

★ ★ ★

The 1960 census will show that our county's southeast portion no longer has a monopoly on its growth. Outlying areas are going through growing pains. Residences are succeeding and pushing back agriculture.

For example, a recent count at Milford, near the western border of the county, shows that the village has more than doubled in population since 1950.

Also getting away from that southeast section, substantial gains will be found in the areas of Lake Orion, Oxford, Farmington, Novi, South Lyon, Holly, Clarkston, Ortonville, and many other communities.

The county's center of population, in 1950 located just southeast of Pontiac, is sure to move somewhat to the west and north.

IN AN interview over TV the other evening, Sen. SYMINGTON (D-Mo) deplored what he considers our acute lack of military preparedness. It seems that the nearer 1960 approaches, the more he worries about this matter.

"MORE women than men are victims of mental deterioration," says a psychiatrist. This is probably due to women's wearing their minds out by changing them so often.

David Lawrence Says:

Labor Becomes Privileged Caste

WASHINGTON—Blazoned across the first pages of many newspapers in the last few days were the pictures of how demonstrators at Little Rock were handled by police, who wielded clubs and hustled participants off to jail.

"Law and order" presumably must be preserved even if it means quelling oral protests by citizens near a school building. In labor-union disputes, however, this form of protest would be called "peaceful picketing," and the police usually do not interfere.

LAWRENCE

There is, moreover, a certain hypocrisy revealed in the enthusiasm with which "token integration" is being hailed by those who say the Supreme Court of the United States laid down the "law of the land" in its 1954 desegregation decisions.

The highest court actually did not rule in favor of "token integration." It didn't call for special privilege to just a few Negroes. It spoke in behalf of all Negro children and said explicitly that unless every Negro child is given an opportunity to mingle in a classroom with white children, educational opportunities are not equal.

The argument for "token integration" is that "this makes a start." But what about the other Negro children? How can they be told convincingly that the "the law of the land" applies only to a few children in a community or state? The so-called "liberals" often give praise to North Carolina as having met the test. Yet less than 20 out of a total of 320,000 Negro children in that state have been admitted to "desegregated" public schools. Actually, five times more Negro children have been attending integrated schools in Arkansas during the last few years than in North Carolina.

ONE LOOKS IN VAIN

With the newspapers printing pictures of how law and order is being preserved in Little Rock, one looks in vain for similar pictures and news articles reporting how the police are dealing with local disturbances where labor unions and their "pickets" are involved.

There is one notable exception. In an editorial in "The Wall Street Journal" one finds a big news story on the subject. It comes in the very week when Congress is debating labor-reform legislation. The "Journal" prints a San Francisco edition, so the excerpt which follows is evidently based on accurate information obtained at first hand:

★ ★ ★

"Well, in San Francisco right now there is a Teamsters' strike. This strike was called last week against member companies of the California Trucking Association and the San Francisco Draymen's Association, which include a good many but by no means all of the companies that do trucking in the Bay area. Some 1,500 members of the Teamsters Union itself are not directly involved in this labor dispute and independent truckers, and their drivers, have nothing to do with the dispute at all.

"But no matter. The Teamsters who drive trucks for the non-involved companies aren't driving either. Nor are the independent trucks moving very far.

"'We've got 20 trucks loaded, ready to go, but we can't get them out,' reports a dispatcher for S&W fine foods. Drivers of trucks for Zellerbach Paper Company and several other firms started out both Monday and Tuesday but soon were back again, cargo undelivered.

"The reason is a familiar one. The striking Teamsters on Monday threw up a road block on the Bay Bridge and halted truck traffic. All over the city and on the access roads roving bands of Teamster 'pickets' were pulling 'uncooperative' drivers out of the trucks. One independent-minded driver reported that four carloads of roving goon squads tried to run him down.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Lack of Calcium Makes Convalescents Feeble

To a greater degree than people generally realize, the weakness or feebleness of convalescents is due to calcium deficiency.

DR. BRADY

Readers, medical or lay, who (think they) know more than I do about physiology, nutrition and pathology, will toss this aside as another of Brady's pipe dreams.

I won't get nasty about that, but I'm at a considerable disadvantage unless you consent to name one or two of my pipe dreams. That might enable me to understand why you're so blanked unteachable.

Physicians who are not utterly ignorant are aware that anyone confined to bed or chair for several weeks steadily loses calcium from the calcium storehouse, the skeleton. As a consequence, the bones become lighter in weight, porous, weaker and more likely to break from slight injury. This loss of calcium from the bones occurs regardless of the cause of confinement.

If a perfectly healthy person just lies abed or sits for several weeks, his or her bones will steadily lose calcium and become lighter in weight, more porous, weaker and more liable to break.

But the skeleton is not the only part of the body that loses calcium when one is inactive for weeks or months. Nearly all the other tissues lose calcium too, although not until the calcium reserve in the bones, upon which the other tissues draw their daily requirements, has been depleted.

Physiologists and nutritionists estimate that the minimum daily requirement of calcium for a sedentary adult is approximately a gram—15 grains. The minimum daily requirement — that is, the least that will maintain functional efficiency and well being — is more than a gram for growing children and youths, prospective mothers or adults who are physically active.

Wright's APPLIED PHYSIOLOGY summarizes the functions of calcium as follows:

(1) Essential for ossification of bone.

(2) Regulates excitability of nerve fibres and nerve centres.

(3) Necessary for adequate contraction of heart muscle.

(4) Necessary for clotting of blood.

(5) Diminishes permeability of capillary endothelium.

(Don't let the allusion to "capillary" throw you. Capillary vessels are purely hypothetical — no one has ever seen or microphotographed a capillary vessel.)

Consider the second and third functions of calcium and you'll understand why anyone becomes irritable and peevish from long confinement and why his circulation is poor.

The minimum daily requirement of calcium is not sufficient for a growing child, a normally active youth, a prospective or nursing mother or an adult who works or plays hard.

The lazy, sedentary, white collar or namby-pamby person may worry along for months or years on a minimum daily requirement of calcium (as represented by a pint or 1½ pints of whole milk, skim milk, buttermilk or the equivalent in dried or evaporated milk). That is, it may take months or years of calcium deficiency for signs of malnutrition to develop.

There are, I think, few remedies in medicine that give patient and physician so much satisfaction as an optimal daily ration of calcium (of course with vitamin D).

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Some people seem to be so eager to criticize the City of Pontiac, but I'd like to say a little something nice. Khrushchev Will Explore Post-Dulles Policies Here

BY PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Soviet Russia's Chairman Nikita S. Khrushchev will come to the United States in September believing that President Eisenhower is a very honest man who wants peace. He also believes that America's anti-Russian foreign policy was made by the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

This is revealed in the unpublished notes of Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) on his eight-hour talk with Chairman Khrushchev last December. Humphrey's raw notes, just made available to this correspondent, throw an interesting back-lighting on Khrushchev's thinking for his coming man-to-man talks with President Eisenhower.

The fact that the United States now has a new Secretary of State in Christian A. Herter may give Khrushchev hope he can make new agreements with the U.S.

This hope has not been bolstered by anything Secretary Herter did at the Geneva Foreign Ministers talks. Herter was frequently chief spokesman for the West. And he solidly opposed Russian demands that the West get out of Berlin.

For Secretary Dulles, however, Khrushchev seems to have reserved a special kind of blame for differences between the United States and Soviet Russia. To many Americans, this is a high tribute to the former Secretary.

★ ★ ★

But Khrushchev told Senator Humphrey that he was sorry U.S. policy had been made by Dulles.

Under the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, Khrushchev said there were good U.S.-U.S.S.R. relations. But under Presidents Truman and Eisenhower—and under Dulles policies—relations between the two countries worsened.

Khrushchev considers that the Truman and Eisenhower Doctrines—for aid to countries resisting communism—have been failures. He told Humphrey that the U.S. policy of creating military blocs to establish positions of strength had for its purpose liquidation of the socialist system. But the Soviet had been able to build up its arms and still raise the standards of living for its people.

Khrushchev references to Dulles are scattered all through Humphrey's notes. In one place the Russian chairman observed that the Dulles speeches did not change in the six years he was Secretary of State, though world conditions changed in that time. Khrushchev expressed pleasure that McCarthyism was now dead in the changed U.S.

Senator Humphrey, in replying, admitted that he himself did not always agree with Dulles, but that he was never a warmonger.

★ ★ ★

Khrushchev, however, blamed Dulles for Russia's inability to make trade agreements with the U.S. He said that possibly the secretary's brother, Allen Dulles, director of Central Intelligence, had helped in this.

Khrushchev told Senator Humphrey that he did not regard as final President Eisenhower's rejection of the Russian request for U.S. trade credits.

The Russian leader had been interested in getting consumer goods. But he said the President had "co-operated" by showing the Soviet people that the United States had no concern for their needs.

Khrushchev's comment on this was that, "the President helped me." The Russian went on to say that he thanked the Americans for compelling the Russians to depend on their own resources and rely on themselves.

The U.S. blockade, Khrushchev said, had led the Soviet to develop its own internal economy so that it was relatively self-sufficient. And the new seven-year plan did not depend on either foreign trade or credits.

Some people judge you not by words . . . You may sincerely mean . . . But only by the way in which . . . You keep your linen clean . . . They are not interested in what . . . Your soul may really be . . . Only the manner you appear . . . To others publicly . . . As long as you can hide behind . . . Some linen clean and white . . . You have a reputation and . . . Your name is quite all right . . . But if you let the slightest stain . . . Come into open view . . . They will desert your ship and have . . . No further use for you . . . Case Records of a Psychologist:

You Can Pick Career in College

Ned is like a million other teen-agers who are puzzled about what career to choose and if they should go to college while in that muddled state of mind. Scrapbook this case or mail it to your nieces and nephews who are in the same boat with Ned. And send for the "Vocational Guidance Kit" to help pick the right career.

★ ★ ★

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE C-417: Ned F., aged 17, finished high school last term.

★ ★ ★

"Dr. Crane," he asked in a church conference which I recently addressed, "how can a person decide what career he should pick for his life work?

DR. CRANE

"I don't know what I really would like to do. And my dad thinks it is silly for me to go to college since I have no fixed goal.

"Is he right? Should a high school graduate stay out of college till he makes up his mind exactly what he plans to do in life?

★ ★ ★

"Or should he go to college, anyway? And, if so, what college should he pick?"

GO TO COLLEGE

Dr. Paul C. Glick, of our Census Bureau, showed that each year of college adds $25,000 to your future earnings throughout life.

So go to college, at least for a year, especially if you made good enough grades in high school to think you can carry college work.

Most of our high school graduates also haven't decided on a lifetime career. That isn't too important at 18, so take some college work.

And if you have the money for only one year, a year at Business College will give you far more merchandise assets for a good position than will just one year of Liberal Arts courses.

★ ★ ★

If you prefer to go to the Liberal Arts campus, then remember that it makes little difference which college you pick.

College courses are standardized. You get English, Math, Psychology, History, etc., of about equal quality in all colleges.

Wouldn't it be silly to go 3,000 miles across this continent to buy a tube of toothpaste in a Boston drugstore when you could get the very same brand of toothpaste at home?

Well, that is no more silly than for students who can ill afford the extra costs, to travel from California to New England for college when their own state is full of colleges and universities with just as good teachers and the very same English, Math, Psychology, and other courses.

HORSE SENSE

When you graduate from college, people seldom ask where you attended.

★ ★ ★

In the insurance field, for example, the pay-off in life comes on how much insurance you can sell, and that doesn't depend on where you got your college degree.

In similar manner, your medical and dental skill, your engineering ability and success as a lawyers don't depend on distant campuses.

So don't waste vital money on a year at a swanky college when you could probably buy two years of college courses nearer home.

★ ★ ★

Oh, you will meet biased folks who think their college is superior to all others, just as some folks maintain their church is likewise the only avenue to heaven.

But such juvenile egotism is "rah-rah-rah" stuff.

In life, the final test is "What can you do?" and not "Where did you attend school?"

A lot of smart non-college men still can run circles around the average college graduates but they realize college would have zoomed their success much faster.

So attend Business College if you plan on only one year of higher education. Or pick a nearby Liberal Arts school where you can get the most for your money.

And to select a career wisely, send for my "Vocational Guidance Kit," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents.

It contains tests that will make it easier for you when you get into college.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

White-Hate School Ordered Closed by Detroit Officials

DETROIT (UPI) — City officials today ordered a Negro religious cult to close up its private school classroom in an old theatre building — but the question of whether the school would continue to operate remained unsolved.

Department of Buildings Supervisor Richard Sanderson issued orders against continued use of the building known as the "Temple of Islam" as a school room.

But H. Franklin Brown, attorney for the religious cult said the group is about to close a deal for another building to house the school.

Other authorities were uncertain whether the private school ever has been approved by the Department of Public Instruction in Lansing.

Deputy Supervisor of Instruction Edgar L. Grim said he could find no record that the school had met requirements of approved facilities and education program.

But H. D. Sullivan, attendance director of the Detroit Board of Education said he received a letter from the department in 1956 indicating the school was in proper order as a private school.

City health, fire and school officials said the classrooms at the "temple" were run down and unfit and unsafe for holding classes. They said the room where classes were held was poorly-lighted and poorly-ventilated. Officials said they would recommend that further elementary and high school classes be prohibited in the building.

It is not the first time the cult has been under pressure of city and state authorities. It dates back to the 1930's when school authorities attempted to force parents of students attending the "temple" to public schools. Later, the efforts were switched to getting the school to improve its standards and be qualified as a private school.

There is no record of any moves against the school since 1956.

At that time, it appeared, legal wrangles over the school were resolved in a get-together with cult representatives and Lansing education officials on having the school approved. Some child neglect cases were dropped.

★ ★ ★

But there is no record that the school got final approval. Education officials and others said they "assumed" the school had been approved.

Very Rude, Says Miss Universe to Bust Rumor

TOKYO (AP) — Miss Universe returned to her native Japan today on the tail of a typhoon and in the midst of another storm about her bust.

"Very rude," snapped Akiko Kojima in denying a report of a Tokyo surgeon that he had injected her with a cupful of plastic to enlarge her bust and help her to a 37-23-38 figure.

★ ★ ★

"I would like to confront that doctor in front of everyone in this room," declared the 22-year-old fashion model, the first Japanese to win the worldwide beauty contest at Long Beach, Calif.

Typhoon Georgia Rips Through Honshu

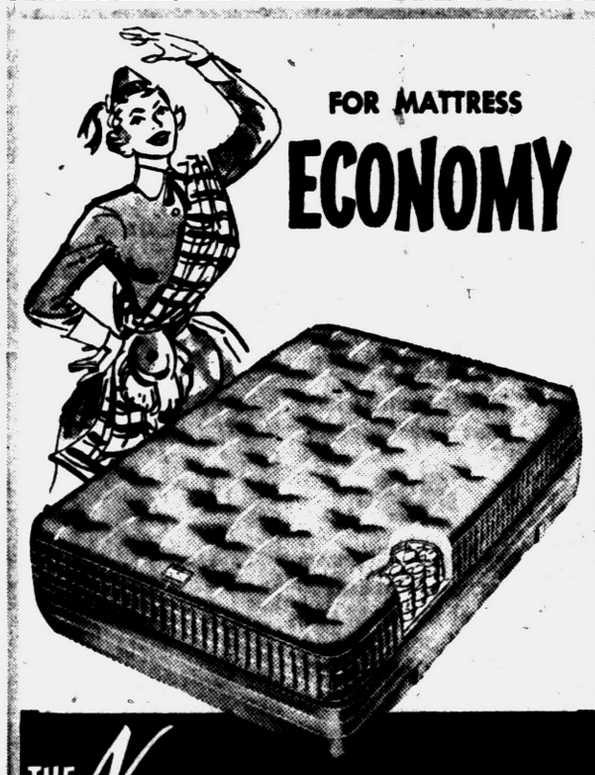

TOKYO (AP)—Typhoon Georgia ripped today through central Honshu, Japan's main island, leaving 102 persons dead, 112 missing, 618 injured and 177,104 driven from their homes.

National police said the storm flooded 95,000 acres of farmland, destroyed 1,814 homes, sank 11 ships and cast adrift or damaged 23 others. They added their figures were incomplete.

Georgia cut a 150-mile-wide path through central Honshu in about four hours. She roared out into the Sea of Japan but weathermen warned the typhoon could veer and strike northern Honshu and Hokkaido, Japan's northernmost main island.

House Vote Sets Record

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House vote on the labor bill Thursday was the largest in its history. The administration-backed bill was approved 229-201. Rep. Carl Albert (D-Okla) said he was informed the total of 430 votes was a record. The House has 436 members, counting one vacancy.

HEAVYWEIGHT LIFT — Under construction over the Portage ship canal between Hancock and Houghton is a vertical lift bridge, believed to be the world's heaviest. When completed the span will weigh 4½ million lbs. and be 100 feet tall to allow passage of Great Lakes ships. The old span at the left was built in 1895. The new bridge is scheduled to be completed by Dec. 15, 1959.

'Wanted to Get Away From It All'

'Dead' Husband Returns

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Husky L. E. Pettis, a friendly, red-headed, freckle-faced salesman, believes his wife will take him back.

Pettis, a machinery salesman from Asheboro, N.C., was believed drowned in a Georgia swamp. His family mourned his "death" at a memorial service. Then Thursday he turned up in nearby Irving, Tex.

Talking easily with newsmen and police, Pettis told how he:

1. Accidentally overturned his boat on a fishing trip June 6 near Dublin, Ga., and decided it would be a good excuse to "get away from it all."

★ ★ ★

2. Was the object of one of the Georgia area's biggest searches while his wife and four children mourned his apparent death.

3. Drove to West Palm Beach, Fla., where he and his mother joined his half-brother's family in a trip to Texas.

Pettis, 35, is held on a felony warrant charging abandonment of his wife and children. He said he would not fight extradition.

"I'm glad it's over with," he said. "It was hard on my conscience."

He said the most difficult part of his hoax came when his wife contacted his mother and asked her to come to his memorial services last Saturday in Dublin. He said he still loves his wife.

4 Negroes in Court After Police Fight

NEW YORK (AP) — Four Negroes were called into court today to plead to indictments charging they incited a riot.

★ ★ ★

The charges grew out of a disorder in the east Bronx in which two white policemen making a bootleg alcohol raid were beaten up by several persons in a crowd of 300 composed mostly of Negroes.

The two officers were rescued by 25 other policemen rushed to the scene.

The four indicted are Tyson King, 46; Lucy Quick, 36; Robert Edwards, 43; and William Golden, 44.

The woman was accused of trying to stab one of the raiding detectives with a pair of scissors when she was arrested in King's restaurant.

Waterford Has Record Season

Area Playgrounds Close

Playground programs conducted by the Waterford Township Recreation Dept. at 10 area schools came to a close last week after a record season.

Registration on the playgrounds reached a high of 1,537 children. The highest registration took place at Donelson School where 224 youngsters signed up.

A total attendance of over 11,000 youngsters was recorded with an average daily turnout at each playground of 44 children. Most frequently used playground was Waterford Village, with Schoolcraft and Leggett not far behind.

Thomas Belton, Recreation Department director, said: "The children this year had, for the first time, an opportunity to participate in a township-wide junior Olympics tournament and a full playground softball schedule.

★ ★ ★

"They also benefited by an increased emphasis on new and varied art projects such as pearl chip mosaics, coulages and wash drawing. Playground directors also emphasized chess in their programs.

"If they had never played such intriguing games as 'Cut Throat' and 'Round Robin Ping Pong,' the youngsters undoubtedly learned them this summer."

The season's offering included trips to Pontiac Lake, the Detroit Zoo, the Serpentarium and the Pontiac Motor plant.

Book Stirs Furor in Alabama

Lawmakers May Oust Library Director Over Integration Story

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Mention of an integrationist book in a state-distributed reading list has triggered an uproar among Alabama lawmakers.

★ ★ ★

The book is the Montgomery bus boycott story, "Stride Toward Freedom," included in a list of the public library service division.

The listing of the book, written by the boycott's Negro leader, the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., may mean trouble for Emily Reed, library service director.

She could lose her job through a proposed bill which a member of the Legislature's Racial Screening Committee said would be discussed Tuesday.

The bill would require the director to be a native Alabamian and a University of Alabama or Auburn graduate. Miss Reed is from North Carolina and Indiana.

Miss Reed said the list was compiled by committees of the American Library Assn. and that its circulation here didn't necessarily mean her office endorsed it.

Industrial Plant Guard Spends Earnings on Art

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Clarence Johnson, a bachelor who makes about $4,000 a year as an industrial guard, has an expensive hobby — collecting valuable paintings.

Johnson recently paid $2,000 for a painting by the noted British artist, Dame Laura Knight. He also owns two works by Jean Dufy, two by another noted French artist, D. Ezzard, and two by Italian artist Luigi Corbellini.

HE YIELDS — Steven Rockefeller wanted his wedding to Anne Marie Rasmussen to take place in the old church in Sorne, Norway, but his bride-to-be persuaded him to have the ceremony in the "new" church built in 1864 in which she was christened and confirmed. They will be married Aug. 22.

Cha, Cha, Cha and Lose That Weight

Although ordinary exercises are dull, a girl can go back to school with new bounce and a trimmer waistline. She merely flips on her Latin records and makes dancing her exercise.

Olga Ley explains, "For girls in their early teens who feel a bit self-conscious, gawky and graceless because of their new growth, Spanish dancing can be especially helpful."

Mrs. Ley as Capezio dance consultant has worked with many leading dancers. She notes that daily practice can show results in just a few weeks.

See Brother Briefly After 37-Year Search

BENNINGTON, Vt. (UPI)—For 37 years, Francis and James Pecoy of Oswego, N.Y., had been trying to find their brother, Howard, who had left home after a family argument in 1922.

Finally, the Pecoys learned that Howard, now 59, had been burned in a fire here. They rushed to the hospital, where there was a two-hour reunion before Howard died.

Plan 4-Day Celebration

Kalamazoo to Fete Mall Opening

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (UPI)—Between 15,000 and 20,000 visitors are expected every day to attend a four-day celebration following the opening of Kalamazoo's new shoppers' mall next week.

Municipal officials and merchants are expected from more than 100 cities which have sent delegations here, or inquired about the project—the first permanent shoppers' mall in the United States.

The mall is a two-block long stretch of Burdick street, in the heart of the downtown business area. It runs between two rows of buildings which include many of the major financial and commercial structures in the community.

The original pavement in the two blocks has been ripped up and replaced by a lawn, flowers, shrubs, trees, park benches, a revolving band stand, a display stand, a pool with two fountains and a waiting room with chairs, benches and a telephone booth.

The trees include a 25-foot wheatley elm, a 15-foot white birch, sycamores, flowering crab trees, purple plums and a Norway maple.

There will be no "keep off the grass" signs. Any worn spots will be replaced by re-sodding.

★ ★ ★

National intrest in the event is reflected by the announcement that a number of magazines and newspaper publications, together with radio and TV networks will be represented for coverage of the celebration.

Mayor Glenn S. Allen Jr., predicts that "within five years most American cities will put new life into their downtown shopping districts by adopting a shopping plaza program similar to ours."

The mall idea took root here and grew rapidly after the assessors reported three years ago that the valuation of commercial property in the downtown district had dropped by $1,400,000, a figure that represents an annual tax loss of $70,000 to the city treasury.

Vehicular traffic will be barred from the mall, but about 7,000 parking places, including 5,000 in private lots are available within easy walking distances of the stores in the mall.

Eventually, the entire downtown business district, now known as the "Loop Area," will be circled by a belt line route to be called the Purple Highway. It will bring additional parking spaces along the perimeter of the central business district.

An ingenious parking stamp plan has been devised to let customers park free with the merchants paying the fee.

The four-day program beginning Wednesday, Aug. 19, is filled with concerts, fashion shows, store displays, luncheons, a dance contest in the mall, selection of a Miss Downtown Kalamazoo and an antique auto show.

Mrs. Glenn S. Allen Jr., wife of the mayor, will cut the ribbon the morning of Aug. 19, signaling the opening of the Shop—A-Thon mall festival.

Thursday will be "Women's Day" and will be given over to fashion shows and a voterama, sponsored by the league of women voters. Mrs. Hazel Wirick, the only women member of the city commission, will preside at a luncheon as "Honorary Mayor of the Day."

Friday is "out-of-town day," and will see a display of goods made in Southwestern Michigan. Area municipal officials will be guests for the day. The antique auto show will be held in Bronson Park and the dance contest will be conducted in the mall.

★ ★ ★

"Kiddies day" on Saturday will see a children's fashion show, an army display, and exhibitions by "Lt. Rip Masters" television star.

Civic leaders and merchants believe Kalamazoo is pointing the way toward a solution of the national problem faced by downtown districts as they seek to retain something of the old time leadership of the central business area before the development of suburban shopping centers surrounded by ample parking facilities.

GETS BRIEFING—"No kiddin' dad?" seems to be the reaction of the English Bulldog pup, Burlington Bertie, as his father, Mr. Jeeves, gives him the facts of the dog's life. The pup, only two months old, was the only one in a litter born to his bulldog parents. The dogs are owned by a Vancouver, B. C., woman. UPI Telephoto

All Were Built in Same Place

Find 3rd Fort Site at Michilimackinac

MACKINAW CITY (UP)—Archaeologists probing the ruins of old Ft. Michilimackinac have made a discovery that amazes them: there were three forts, maybe more, on the site.

"And we're just beginning," says Dr. Moreau S. Maxwell, a Michigan State University archaeologist who is directing the project for the Mackinac Island State Park Commission.

The old fort is located only two city blocks from the Lower Peninsula approach to the Mackinac Bridge.

The discovery of a two-in-one fort was no great surprise. The site had been occupied by both French and British. But the third fort was completely unexpected.

Some time around 1715 the French built the original fort. The British took it over in 1761 after the French-Indian War. In 1763, Chief Pontiac's Indians massacred most of the English garrison, but the British took it back in 1765.

Ten years later, with the American Revolution under way, the British commander, Capt. Patrick Sinclair, pulled out and built a new fort on Mackinac Island.

For the next century and a half, the old stockade was allowed to fall apart.

An attempt at restoration by the Works Progress Administration (WPA) in the 1930s was hampered by lack of archaeological exploration and 18th century maps of doubtful accuracy.

Dr. Maxwell began his explorations this June. His crew quickly located the foundations of the old British barracks.

Later their shovels struck rock at a lower level than the foundations. This turned out to be the old French powder magazine. The evidence showed clearly that when the British built their barracks over the fill-in magazine about 1769 they were unaware of its existence beneath their feet.

Further probings uncovered that the British had constructed another "interior fort" around their key buildings. Thus, if the American "rebels" or the Indians came storming over the outer walls some night, the internal line of defense would serve as a fort within a fort.

"From what we're finding out about this fort," Dr. Maxwell says, "I'd say we stand an excellent chance of reconstructing it in a way to make it one of the nation's top historic and tourist attractions next year."

To Rule Tuesday on Ann Tregoff

She'll Learn Charge Against Her in Slaying of Lover's Wife

WEST COVINA, Calif. (AP)—Pretty Carole Ann Tregoff, accused of helping plot the murder of her lover's wife, will learn next Tuesday whether she must stand trial with him.

The 22-year-old former model and Dr. Bernard Finch, 41-year-old physician, are charged with slaying Mrs. Barbara Finch, 33, last July 18.

★ ★ ★

Municipal Judge William M. Martin said Thursday he wished to read a transcript of the preliminary hearing this weekend and to study authorities cited by opposing counsel before making his ruling.

★ ★ ★

The preliminary hearing continues today.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Fred Whichello said at Thursday's hearing that Miss Tregoff had been sharing a love nest with Finch for several months before Mrs. Finch was killed. He said Dr. Finch rented the apartment in Monterey Park under an assumed name and Miss Tregoff went there after separating from her husband, James Pappa, whom she divorced last January.

★ ★ ★

Witnesses Thursday included Marie Anne Lidholm, 19-year-old maid and governess in the Finch household, who said Mrs. Finch had inside bolts put on all doors of her $65,000 home so her husband couldn't enter.

To Sue Over Mattress

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Nora T. Foley, 47, alleges she suffered back injuries when she fell out of a fullsized bed in her apartment. She is suing her former landlord, A. Hartford, for $10,000, charging he was negligent in putting a three-quarter mattress on the bed.

Detroit Ordnance District to Give Tools to Schools

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit ordnance district says it is giving more than $100,000 in obsolescent machine tools and electronic equipment each month to Michigan schools and health institutions.

The surplus federal property includes testing machines, office equipment, production and precision machine tools. Recent recipients included Wayne and Michigan State universities and vocational high schools.

Close Solferino Bridge

PARIS (AP)—The century old Solferino Bridge spanning the Seine was closed Thursday to automobile traffic. The bridge, linking the Tuileries gardens with the D'Orsay railroad station, will be pulled down and another built in its place. Authorities said the ornate iron bridge was beyond repair.

FOUR IN ONE FAMILY GET POLIO — Four children of widowed Mrs. Marie Plante Majeau, 27, are in St. Vincent's Hospital with non-paralytic polio. David, 5, lying in crib, also had polio two years ago. None of the children had received Salk vaccine shots. Behind David are Donna, 6; Michael, 3, and Kenneth, 8. The family is from Uxbridge, Mass. Mrs. Majeau sadly said, "I'm a very unhappy and worried mother; it was just carelessness on my part." She urges all parents to have their children inoculated.

From Independence to Independence

Oregon Wagon Train Rolling Last Mile

INDEPENDENCE, Ore. (AP)— The Oregon wagon train will circle for its last bivouac in a field near this small western Oregon town tonight.

Saturday it will roll through Independence in a triumphal parade, but the end of the trip — the long road from Missouri — is now at hand. There is only a mile left for Saturday. Two thousand miles are behind.

★ ★ ★

"I'd go tomorrow for another trip just like this," said Roy Brabham, wagon builder and driver, his 60 years resting lightly.

But the man who rode horseback the whole way as security officer had another view. Said Gil Carnine, 61, 'Once in a lifetime is enough."

★ ★ ★

The party of nearly 30 rode out of Independence, Mo., on a chilly, misting day last April. Former President Harry S. Truman started the train with a slashing sweep of his hat that so startled a mule it tried to climb back into one of the wagons.

Mules and horses steadied down as day followed day on the road. The people had less chance for that. The party was scarcely across the line into Kansas before a mock Indian party swept over the hills and attacked. That sort of thing went on for four months.

PUBLICIZE OREGON

The trip was made to publicize Oregon's 100 years as a state. Seven covered wagons, herded along the highway by horsemen at front and rear, were served as well by motorized equipment. A truck became a mobile hay barn and there was a water tank and a kitchen unit. These solved a problem that might have been vexing: where to find feed and fuel beside a modern highway.

★ ★ ★

Despite the modern touch, the wagon train caught people's imagination. Thousands came to see it at overnight stops, motorists drove miles out of their way to catch a glimpse of this old way of travel.

Schools were dismissed along the early route.

Communities feted the travelers at barbecues. The curious probed for their stories.

'Talk?" said 57-year-old Ben Griffith. "It's like I'd been vaccinated with an Edison needle."

Ionia Fixes Up, Planning Ahead

Sets Example Trying to Make Town Attractive for New Industries

IONIA (AP)—An example of planing ahead in efforts to attract new industry was given by Ionia today in a report to the Michigan Economic Development Commission. The MEDC met at Ionia on matters of the Michigan Economic Development Department.

After surveying factors in February 1958, civic officials led a drive to make Ionia more attractive as a site for new industry.

The report by the IEDC cited as major steps the completion of a new water system and the annexation of a 320-acre site for industrial development. The water system, with a daily capacity of 40 million gallons, is considered ample for existing industry and future prospects.

The report also noted proposals now under study for a charter change to create a single tax assessing authority to replace the present ward system for uniform assessing.

Lincoln Camera-Shy, Only 102 Photos Known

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UPI)—Only 102 photographs of Abraham Lincoln are known to exist today.

Of these, 50 were taken in Washington, 25 in Springfield, Ill., six at the Civil War battlefield of Antietam, four in Chicago, two each in Philadelphia and New York and one each in Urbana, Beardstown, Macomb, Pittsfield, Monmouth, Danville, Decatur and at Gettysburg.

County Boating Families Enjoy Weekend Lake, River Cruises

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

Because a Waterford Township man has finally put a dream into operation, 23 Oakland County families now enjoy the luxury of weekend tours on Michigan lakes, in their own cabin cruisers.

Members of the Family Cruise Club are all people in the average-salary bracket who would rather have a little cabin cruiser than a second car, a swimming pool or any of the other extras possible under the American way of life.

Every weekend all summer long, the adventure-seeking group congregate at a designated area, launch their $3,000 boats and take off for some secluded island or scenic river cruise.

The foamy, white rooster-tails that churn the water from the 50-horsepower motors as they speed away from the dock spread out abreast of each other is a sight to behold, according to viewers.

Some 20 years ago when Richard Carlson bought a little 14-foot, 10-horsepower boat, he hit on the idea of getting families together and scheduling motor boat tours during the summer.

The dream lay dormant until three years ago, when Carlson sent out a request for organization of a club for family boating fun. Six people responded, bylaws were set up and a formal election of officers got the first Michigan club of ifs kind on its way.

MEMBERSHIP CLOSED

More and more people became interested, until the membership had to be closed with some 65 people participating in year-round activities.

"By keeping the club membership small, we can promote a closer family and friend relationship," Carlson said. "Many clubs in the state have folded because of a too-large membership, resulting in disorganization," he added.

At first, members joined with any length boats, with any type horsepowered motors, and camping along the river banks at night, was the way the group enjoyed their first family outings.

It wasn't long before the group found that safety rules, meticulous organization and being "real good sports" were the prime requisites for getting the most out of the club activities.

Maps from the State Conservation Department showed members where the finest waterways and uninhabited islands were located, and a special navigator was assigned to study various routes before presenting a scheduled cruise for the members' approval.

★ ★ ★

The Carlson family set the pattern for the club by saving every cent possible to acquire a real over-night cabin cruiser with a big motor. The fever for bigger boats began to spread until now every single family has its own deluxe cabin boat and necessary tandem-wheeled trailer for hauling.

AID EACH OTHER

A "buddy-system" was worked out while hauling the boats to the landing sites, Carlson explained. Members always travel in pairs to a specified area so that no one will be stranded along any-place, and this rule — like so many others — was established from hard-earned experience.

Although the cruisers sleep from four to six people and have high-powered engines, the problem of loading and unloading is surprisingly simple. Every boat owner helps every other member and usually all 23 boats are unloaded in the water within a half-hour Carlson said.

After the boats are launched they are spread out 100 feet apart in a straight line one mile long, with the cruise master and navigator in the lead. Many times members have no idea where the cruise master will lead them, but rely completely on his judgment.

There is a Red Cross boat ready for any emergency and the pilot at the helm of the mechanic's boat is always on the alert for possible trouble. Carlson explained that this boat is purposely lined up in the middle of the flotilla so that engine failure can be spotted from the beginning to the end of the procession.

★ ★ ★

From early spring until late November the club members eat, sleep and play on their floating summer homes, which have all the accommodations of a fine trailer or cottage. "We have fun as long as Mother Nature is good to us," Mrs. Carlson said.

STAYED AT PARK

One time this summer the family didn't quite reach their destination up north, and had to pull into a state park for the night. When the startled attendant asked them where they expected to sleep, the Carlson family, including sons Richard, 18, and Jack, 12, introduced him to the finest quarters in the park—their cozy Mi Ladi II cabin cruiser.

"We sure looked funny, all climbing up on that trailered-boat in the middle of a thick woods," Mrs. Carlson related.

During the winter months, the group gets together to plan 10 different cruises, look over pictures of the previous season and have monthly "boat-talk" parties. A $10 membership fee covers winter family holiday parties, cruise contest prizes, and boat launching expenses. Gasoline for a two-day trip comes to about $5, Carlson said.

Within the next two weeks, the entire group plan on cruising up a river in southern Ontario to the little town of Dresden near Wallaceburg.

Every single family member is anticipating this 110-mile two-day trip through jungle-like foliage, because of the enthusiastic reception the flotilla always receives upon arrival at the town.

PARADE PLANNED

Dresden citizens look forward to the annual event and have again planned a spectacular parade with police escorting the guests in open convertibles into the heart of town after embarkation.

With Oakland County rivers and lakes becoming more crowded each year, Carlson and club members realize the importance of safety and terrific need for small organized boating clubs.

The Family Cruise Club's by-laws, rules, regulations and experiences are available to anyone interested in starting another club of this type, Carlson said.

★ ★ ★

"If families like having fun together, there is nothing like going on a wonderful weekend cruise with people sharing the same exciting experiences," Carlson concluded.

TYPICAL EQUIPMENT — Vice-commodore Richard Carlson of Waterford Township adjusts the 50-horsepower motor on his 19-foot Thompson cruiser as his wife, Violet, and sons Richard and Jack watch. A Treasure Island Pirate cruise recently drew 58 members and friends of the unique cabin cruiser club.

CABIN-CRUISER LINEUP — When the 23 families of the Family Cruise Club of Oakland County reach their destination, they back their small cabin cruisers up onto shore, drop the big 50-horsepower motors in the sand, and secure the bow with an anchor. Ten such cruises are planned by the most unique boat club in Michigan.

Romeo Courts Fulfill Dream

ROMEO — Another one of the late Roy Holt's dreams will come true tomorrow night — just 10 days after his death.

The play courts built at the rear of the Romeo Community Youth and Civic Center will be dedicated and opened for public use.

Holt was a mechanical engineer who retired and moved to his farm near Romeo upon advice of his doctors. A man of great energy, despite a bad heart and other ailments, he directed construction of the Center, doing much of the actual work himself.

He then became the Center's first director, participating actively in all its functions until he became too ill to leave his home.

Holt still continued planning more facilities for the youth of Romeo — this time it was the play courts.

Now the courts, to be used for basketball, tennis and other sports, are ready for use.

Tomorrow night at 8:30 local dignitaries will take part in the hour of dancing for the junior high group.

Master of ceremonies will be George E. McKeough, chairman of the Center Board. Main speaker will be Village President Joseph E. Rymill.

Volunteers who helped build the courts then will be introduced. After the ribbon is cut Bruce Township Supervisor John Bailey, Washington Township Supervisor R. Eugene Inwood, Village Trustee David Pettibone and Center Board member Joseph Glisch will volley on the courts to inaugurate their use.

A program of dancing "under the stars" from 9 p.m. to midnight will climax the evening's entertainment.

The Romeo Village Council has voted to place a bronze plaque, suitably inscribed, in the center as a memorial to Holt — "the man with a mission — to serve the youth of his community."

New Clubhouse to Be Opened for Corn Roast

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP — Facilities of the new clubhouse under construction by the Crystal Echo Beach Improvement Assn. will be used for the first time Sunday when the members open the doors for their Annual Corn Roast celebration.

The festivities will start at noon and continue to 7 p. m. The midway, with its carnival atmosphere, will be under the direction of the Men's Club. An evening snack will be served by the Women's Club.

Oak Park Promotes 3 in Public Safety Dept.

OAK PARK — The announcement of three promotions in this city's Department of Public Safety has been made by its director, Glenford S. Leonard.

Sgt. Paul H. Jones, 36, is now a uniformed lieutenant. Officer Richard Howell, 32, has been named uniformed sergeant, and Officer Mathew C. Gubacz, 41, has been appointed staff aide.

All promotions become effective Monday.

Oak Park's Public Safety Department is the largest of its kind in the country. Its 63-man force combines both police and firemen.

MOMS of America Stage Annual Picnic

ROCHESTER—MOMS of America, Inc., Unit 21 of Galloway Lake, held their annual picnic Aug. 12 at Avon Park here. Thirteen members and five guests participated in games following the dinner.

Installation of officers for the coming year was conducted by Mrs. Frank Polasek of Auburn Heights.

Mrs. Leander Arnold of Opdyke road will be hostess to the group at its next meeting Sept. 9.

Park Ride Dean Succumbs at 74

WALLED LAKE — Fred W. Pearce, owner of the Walled Lake Amusement Co. and builder of Detroit's Jefferson Beach, died yesterday in Cottage Hospital, Grosse Point Farms. He was 74.

A resident of 15990 E. Jefferson, Gross Pointe Park, Mr. Pearce was recognized as the "dean" of the roller coaster business, having built them throughout the United States and Canada.

The one at old Riverview Park on Belle Isle was believed to be the largest ever built. He built others at Walled Lake and Sugar Island.

Mr. Pearce, born in Pennsylvania, entered the amusement business in 1902, after helping his father operate an excursion boat on Connaut Lake, there.

★ ★ ★

He was president of F. W. Pearce Corp. and also operated Excelsior Park, sister Park of Walled Lake, in Minneapolis, Minn., for 34 years. A member of Jerusalem Shrine Temple in New Orleans, Mr. Pearce was a 32nd degree Mason and Shriner. A Masonic graveside service will be held at the cemetery.

Surviving are his wife, Marian; five daughters, Mrs. Charles H. MacMahon Jr., and Elizabeth, Julie, Katheryn and Martha Pearce; one son, Fred W. Jr.; and a sister.

Service for Mr. Pearce will be held at 2 p.m. Monday at Verheyden Funeral Home, 16300 Mack Ave., Detroit. Burial will be in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery, Troy.

Floyd Upthegrove, 15, of the East Orion 4-H Club last night outscrambled approximately 200 other boys to pin down a very elusive and slippery pig. The greased porker led the youngsters a merry chase under a fire truck and over hill and dale before Floyd caught up with it.

Mary Frances Snow of the Bloomfield 4-H Club got a wrestling hold on the pig to win the girls' pig scramble.

Tena Bowes of the Pontiac Debs 4-H Club, Tommy Hall and Larry Wilson of the Pontiac Chiefs 4-H Club consumed an estimated month supply of berry pies to become champions in the pie-eating contest.

No Longer Crazy Dreams

'Autos of Future' Almost Here

BY BILL WILKS

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A car that uses no fuel but must be plugged into an electric outlet each night for recharging . . . Another car that zips from zero to 60 miles per hour in five seconds with a kerosene-burning engine . . . An "air car" that skims over land and water with equal ease and no danger of crashing.

Crazy dreams? By no means. They're ideas that manufacturers are testing even now to revolutionize private transportation.

Walt Woron, editor of Motor Trend magazine, has surveyed the field and come up with a time-table on when these vehicles may be ready for the public.

The first one is an electric car — an idea which goes back to grandpa's day. It got short-circuited early in life by the greater range of the gasoline engine which does not have to go home to roost beside its battery charger at night.

The Charles Motor Corp., of San Diego, Calif., plans to have its Charles Townabout, a full-sized car powered by four 12-volt batteries, on the market within a year. It has a light-weight moulded glass-resin body.

★ ★ ★

Hugh Waldman of the Charles outfit says the car is not intended to replace the gasoline auto. It's what it's name "Townabout" implies—a vehicle for gettting around in the city. As Waldman sees it, conditions which contributed to the demise of the electric car years ago—cheap gasoline and high-cost electricity — now have been reversed.

The "Townabout" resembles a big Karmann-Ghia, the Volkswagen with the sporty body. It has an 80-mile range, a top speed of 50 miles an hour and acceleration comparable to a Volkswagen. It has two direct-current motors on the rear axles and is supposed to require far less mechanical upkeep. It is priced, to start with, at $2,895, complete with charger and built-in cord for plugging into regular 110-volt outlet.

It'll take a little longer, 5 to 10 years, to get a turbine-driven auto, although major manufacturers have been working with them off and on for years. Engineers list many advantages over the piston engine, the main one being that a turbine which produces the same horsepower available in today's big piston engines weighs half as much.

Turbines can be made to operate on almost any combustible fuel and have only one-fifth as many parts. They have terrific acceleration, a standard 160-horsepower job being able to dust off a piston engine nearly twice as powerful.

Ford is testing turbines in a Thunderbird and a truck. The 1960 T-bird would accommodate Ford's new 704 turbine engine, and a few will be so outfitted, but only for road testing. General Motors and Chryselr also are testing turbines for passenger cars.

The air-car, or more properly "ground proximity vehicle," probably will take longer than 10 years beofre being marketed widely, although some experts think it may make a surprising spurt.

The vehicle is not an airplane or helicopter. It rides on a cushion of air but is designed to go no more than a foot off the ground, perhaps only inches. It will not hop fences or trees.

Its main advantage is that it can skim over both land and water, neeeding no roads. Models currently under development for military and research purposes would present a problem on city streets—they'd blow pebbles, old cigarette butts and other debris on innocent bystanders.

Chrysler is testing an aerial jeep for the military. It is about 23 feet long, 10 feet wide and is driven by a 250 horsepower engine that spins two 8.5-foot fans located horizontally fore and aft. It can do 50 miles an hour.

Curtiss-Wright is working on an air-car that looks like a flying saucer. It has a 65-horsepower aircraft engine which hurls a blast of air out its bottom and through side louvers.

Designers believe it could be big boon to farmers, hunters and even fishermen.

State Waterways Group to Get Fair Tax Share

LANSING (UPI)—A bill designed to insure that a share of the state gas tax will be used for marine improvements was signed into law by Gov. G. Mennen Williams Thursday.

The bill makes a "determination of fact" that one-half of 1 per cent of all gasoline sold in this state is for marine purposes and is to be credited to the Waterways Commission.

The commission complained it was not getting its fair share of revenue under the existing separate record system for reporting marine fuel sales. The system was repealed.

Channel Project Gets Offers to Provide Aid

BAY CITY (UPI) — The long-delayed Saginaw River channel deepening project may be underway by the opening of the navigation season next spring, according to Keith Wilson, director of the state waterways commission.

Wilson made his optimistic comment yesterday following a meeting of parties interested in the project.

He said offers were made by two major lake carriers serving the ports here and in Saginaw. He said the firms, Boland-Cornelius, and the Columbia Transportation Division of Oglebay Norton Co., offered to provide the necessary $218,000 to reinforce the foundations of two railroad bridges which have held up the project for more than a year.

Name Finally Settled, but Not Its Spelling

NEW YORK (UPI)—"The bridge by any other name will look as nice" is about the only consolation that could be offered today in a hassle over what to name a new bridge between Brooklyn and Staten Island.

One group wants to call the projected span the Narrows Bridge, another likes the sound of Staten Island Bridge, and a third originally plugged for Verrazano Bridge, in honor of an early Florentine explorer. City fathers thought they had it licked when they chose Narrows-Verrazano as the name; but then the Verrazano advocates got to arguing among themselves. They can't agree on whether to spell it with one "z" or two.

Put Your Foot in Your Mouth, Eh, Uncle Earl?

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) — Curt Siegelin, director of the Louisiana Department of Commerce and Industry, noted in a request for a tourist survey yesterday that the state doesn't advertise.

Gov. Earl K. Long interrupted: "I don't know whether you should say that. We seem to be getting a lot of advertising lately."

"But not for tourists," snapped Siegelin.

Tax Probers Doubtful of Booze Consumption

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—The employes of a firm here apparently are sold on their own product.

The firm—a liquor company — testified at a tax hearing that it sold whisky to its workers and sales representatives at retail prices. Revenue Commissioner Alfred MacFarland did some fast figuring and discovered that the sales came out to about a half-gallon a day for each employe.

Letters Protest Tax Hike

LANSING (UPI)—Sen. Clyde H. Geerlings (R-Holland) claimed today an "overwhelming majority" of Gov. G. Mennen Williams' industrial ambassadors disagree with the governor's tax policy.

Geerlings, chairman of the Senate Tax Committee, sent letters to the 200 ambassadors Monday asking whether 18 million dollars in new taxes should be assessed against business.

The Holland Republican said he had 16 replies within 48 hours.

"Of these," a prepared statement on the poll said, "13 deplored the present tax burden on corporations and protested Gov. Williams' proposed increase."

Williams said when the poll was taken he did not expect businessmen would say they wanted more taxes.

Geerlings said former Democratic State Treasurer Theodore I. Fry, Fremont banker, was among the three who said a corporation profits tax should be passed. Geerlings did not release the text of the letters from those favoring the business taxes.

Hoffa's Detroit Local Shifts Its Accounts

WASHINGTON, (UPI) — Teamster president James R. Hoffa's home local in Detroit has shifted $525,000 from bank accounts paying no interest to new, interest-bearing accounts.

The court-appointed "watchdog" board of monitors announced yesterday the transfer was ordered by Hoffa at their request.

★ ★ ★

Hoffa agreed to have Local 299 remove $400,000 from the Florida National Bank of Orlando, and $125,000 from the Fidelity Bank & Trust Co., Indianapolis. The funds were shifted to the Public Bank of Detroit.

Seaman's Third Love Makes Him Forget First

WHITLEY, England (UPI) — Sailor Jack Maley, whose first love is the sea, said yesterday his second love might have caused him trouble, but his third love made him forget it.

Maley—in court when two men were held for beating him up — said his second love is flowers. His third love, he said, is beer.

"I cannot remember the fight at all," he said. "I had been to a flower show and had about 18 pints."

Hoodlum Killed in Gang Slaying

Chicago Police Call It Act of Revenge; Victim Had Long Record

CHICAGO (UPI)—A crime-syndicate hoodlum was gunned down by two men today in what police theorized was a gangland revenge killing.

An hour later, another hoodlum was shot down only three miles away. Police were looking into the possibility the killings were connected.

★ ★ ★

The syndicate hoodlum, John Miraglia, 42, a well-known burglar and muscleman, was shot from behind five times as he sat in the Orange Lantern Tavern, a West Side bar owned by his brother, Rocco.

Detective Frank Kaske said he believed it was a gangland slaying. "It looks like another rub-out, a revenge killing," Kaske said.

Kaske said Miraglia was sitting near the front of the bar when two men quietly entered shortly before closing time.

"He was apparently taken by surprise," Kaske said.

The men, with blue masks over their faces and wearing work clothes, pulled pistols and opened fire. Miraglia slumped to the floor.

Witnesses said the men ran out the front door and disappeared around the corner.

TWO SHOTS IN HEAD

Miraglia was taken to St. Marys Hospital where he was pronounced dead. Two of the shots hit him in the head.

Miraglia had a police record dating back to the 1930s.

According to the Police Bureau of Identification, Miraglia was charged with murder on March 14, 1935, but the indictment was later dismissed. He was also arrested but not indicted for burglary in 1939. His record shows 25 other pickups, police said, and one 18-month sentence on a government charge.

Miraglia was an associate of Paul Labriola, another well-known muscleman, and Peanuts Panczko, recently sentenced for possession of burglary tools.

One Appalled at Reporting on Russia

Editors Urge Better Foreign Coverage

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Two editors called today for improved American press coverage of foreign affairs. One spoke specifically of reporting from the Soviet Union, the other of more remote sections of the globe.

The need for continued advancement in foreign news reporting was presented to 250 members of the Associated Press Managing Editors Assn., an organization that works year-round to improve services to the nation's newspaper readers.

J. Edward Murray of the Los Angeles Mirror-News told his fellow editorial executives "something has been wrong with much American press coverage of Russia."

★ ★ ★

"The Americans, who read our newspapers, go to Russia, and are extremely surprised at what they find—at how good things are for ordinary Russians," he said.

"I, as an American editor, went to Russia—and was equally surprised."

Coleman A. Harwell of the Nashville Tennessean commented: "I do not say there are too many places in the world in which America has vital interests, and on which we are not providing adequate information. That's our job. That's our role in Democracy."

★ ★ ★

The surprise for American tourists in the Soviet Union, Murray said, came as the result of personal discovery that Soviet citizens generally "seemed to be much better off than they, the Americans, expected to find them."

He added: "The Russians didn't seem enslaved or wanting to escape across the nearest border. They seemed well fed, adequately if not very stylishly dressed, and about as happy as people anywhere."

Murray, who has visited Leningrad, Kiev and Moscow, said with some exceptions the Russians "seemed to feel that they were as free as they wanted to be." In addition, they appeared to be "patriotic, to support their government, to feel that they were living under the best of all possible systems, and they were making good progress toward a better world."

★ ★ ★

But in reporting the story of Russia, Murray said, the American press was "so busy presenting every detail of the fierce and real cold war that we had too little time, or enthusiasm, or space left for presenting the good things to keep the picture balanced."

"Newspaper readers are more interested in people than anything else," said Harwell. "And they have a tremendous stake in the world."

The Tennessee editor said: "So it makes sense for us to cover the news of the people of the world — what they think and what they do. As we come to understand the people of other countries, we will be better prepared to deal with them and look out after our own interests."

★ ★ ★

The discussions by Murray and Harwell came during a session on humanizing foreign reporting, moderated by Robert Notson of the Portland (Ore.) Oregonian and including as panelists Wes Gallagher, assistant general manager of The Associated Press, and William Ryan, roving correspondent for the news cooperative.

Cow Rustlers Using Tranquilizer Guns

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ranchers used to holler for the marshal when their cows had been stolen.

Now they call for the Food and Drug Administration, the Department of Justice and Congress.

Sen. James E. Murray (D-Mont) said today the Food and Drug Administration had agreed to send a sleuth to Montana.

★ ★ ★

Murray has asked G-men to probe complaints that rubber-tired rustlers are using tranquilizer guns to keep cattle from bawling and mooing while they're being loaded into trucks.

★ ★ ★

The senator took action after getting this letter from Art Watson of Great Falls, president of the Montana Cattlemen's Assn.:

"The guns—rifles and pistols—shoot, with scarcely any noise, a pellet which contains any tranquilizer or other drug desired to be injected into an animal....

"The gun is a boon to the cattle industry when legitimately used. However, it also is a boon to rustlers and, since it can shoot any drug, might be used by criminals in crimes other than rustling livestock.

"We believe the guns already have been used by rustlers in Montana."

The association has called upon Congress for a law restricting sale and use of tranquilizer guns.

Stands Out on Summer TV

Andy Williams Is No Mirage

NEW YORK (AP) — Andy Williams has been such a standout in the desert of summer television that some people are convinced he must be a mirage.

★ ★ ★

Moguls from the networks, Broadway and Hollywood have been knocking on his door and crying, "Open in the name of opportunity."

BOYLE

But the pleasant voiced, finger snapping young baritone isn't a man to be rushed off his feet by love or money.

"You can't afford to make too many mistakes," he said. "But I think opportunity knocks more than once. You just have to have an ear for the right knock.

★ ★ ★

"Everything happens in due time. There's no hurry, and there's plenty of time for everything — if you don't get panicky."

Andy, at 28, already has had a long ride on the roller coaster of show business. He started singing at 8. In 1952, he was making only $175 a week at a night club here. Now his income is in the six-figure bracket. Eight of his 10 records have been smash hits.

★ ★ ★

He is considering two bids for an hour-long TV show, two movie offers, and a bid from Broadway.

"I'd like to try a Broadway show," he admitted. "But for me it's a completely different field. You have to sing bigger. You can't croon and get by on Broadway."

Andy, who hails from Wall Lake, Ia., looks and acts like just what he is — a boy from the Midwest who has made good in the big city, and still feels at home in either place.

"The biggest fear of anyone in show business today is not to wear out his welcome in a couple of years," he said.

"It's better not to get too big all of a sudden. I think it's better to build gradually — and hope to last longer."

His easy-going air is the fruit of endless painstaking. He rehearses 48 hours for a one-hour show.

★ ★ ★

Andy lives alone in a small East Side apartment, likes to collect modern art, and play golf. He is in no hurry to give up his bachelor freedom.

★ ★ ★

"Lately I've sorta had a feeling it might be nice to be married," he said, smiling. "But I still like to date around, and right now Im having a wonderful time."

Second String Meeting

Steel Talks Slow Down

NEW YORK (AP)—Negotiations in the month-old steel strike resume here today with no indication of progress toward breaking the deadlock.

Ranking representatives of the industry, the striking United Steelworkers and the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service were absent as second-string teams of bargainers met Thursday.

★ ★ ★

The strike by 500,000 members of the union has shut down almost 90 per cent of the nation's steel production and has idled more than 100,000 employes in allied industries.

★ ★ ★

The union wants a wage increase of 15 cents an hour in each year of a new contract, plus fringe benefits. The industry, seeking a one-year freeze on wages and benefits, contends that an increase in labor costs would force a rise in steel prices and spur inflation. Prestrike wages averaged $3.10 an hour.

Helicopter Pilot Dies After Crash

NEW YORK (AP)—A Texas pilot was fatally injured Thursday when his Army helicopter hit the top of an apartment building on Governor's Island while coming in for a landing.

The pilot, Warrant Officer Lester G. Bundrick, 30, Henderson, Tex., died at an Army hospital.

Governor's Island is headquarters for the 1st Army. No one in the apartment building was injured.

Ex-Convict Steals New Type Car; Has Wild Ride

CHICAGO (AP)—Police seized a man who piloted a stolen car on a brief and dizzy ride in the Loop Thursday.

During a five-minute chase, the man attempted to run down two policemen and damaged at least six cars. The stolen car—a 1959 model which sells for $4,500—also was damaged, by a bullet hole.

The man told police he was unfamiliar with automotive developments.

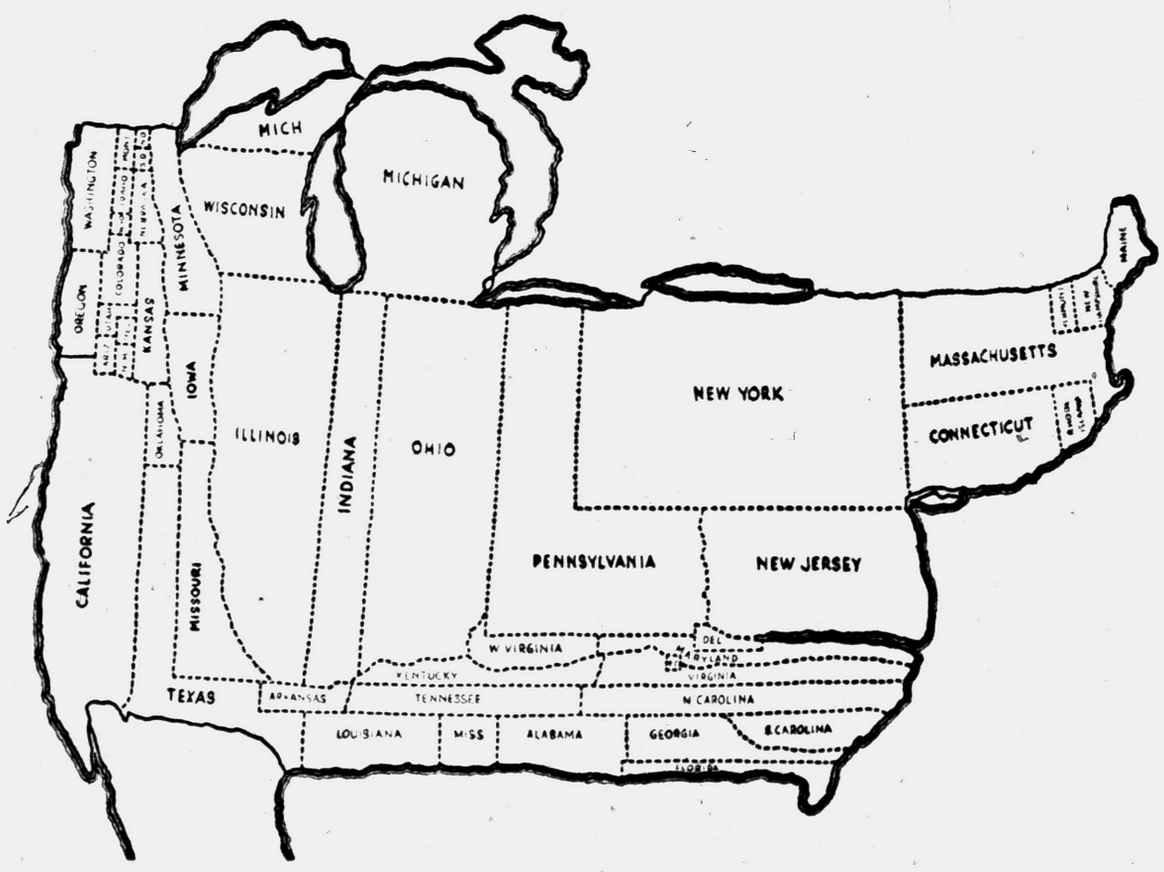

"This car has power steering and it was new to me," said the man, Henry Ford, 30, an ex-convict.

SHEFFIELD, England (UPI) — Taxicab operator James McNally, 54, began a year's term in jail today for setting fire to his rival's cabs.

OUR TOWN STANDS TALL ON THE MAP

They've mapped the anatomy of a nation.

This is the map.* It shows the exact proportions of 48 states according to the value of their manufactured products, as determined by the latest U. S. census of all manufacturing.

Michigan stands proudly fifth among the states in value of manufacturing . . . and our town is part of Michigan.

So our town stands tall on the map. Keeping it there is our problem. The surest way is to keep our town attractive to industry. The surest key to attraction of new industry is attention to the needs of present industry.

No town stands still. It goes ahead or it slips back. Let's keep our town standing tall.

All Have Fingers in Foreign Affairs Jungle

Ike's Policy Inherited From Truman

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower is putting himself in the position of having to share the credit — or the blame — for practically everything the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles did or said.

Through remarks at his news conferences and elsewhere, the President is painting a picture of his relationship with Dulles that shows the two men seeing eye to eye on everything before Dulles announced it.

But, as it turned out, Dulles became a kind of lightning rod and shield for the President since most of the criticism of American foreign policy during Dulles' years in office was directed at him, not at Eisenhower.

The following can be said confidently to represent the President's recollections of his secretary:

IKE GAVE OK

Dulles never made a pronouncement without Eisenhower's signature, initials or approval. Dulles was scrupulous in insisting the President approve every action taken. Eisenhower reacts strongly to any suggestion they were ever apart.

It was in the latter part of 1958—with East and West in a cold war growing colder—that Eisenhower and Dulles decided they needed something different, or as Eisenhower put it at his news conference this week:

"We began to feel that the methods we were pursuing had to be reinforced by something a little differently than we had been doing up to this moment."

★ ★ ★

That is the end—in this story—of Eisenhower's recollections.

There can be no doubt Dulles was far better informed on foreign affairs than the President. Eisenhower had spent a lifetime soldiering. Dulles had spent his life in diplomacy and law.

Eisenhower never pretended he did not depend on Dulles to handle details.

The President, besides repeatedly saying Dulles was the greatest secretary of state in his memory, once said he had "acquired a wisdom and experience and knowledge that I think is possessed by no man—no man in the world."

From this it seems safe to assume Dulles was Eisenhower's guide in the foreign affairs jungle, that he therefore greatly influenced the President, and that it was natural for Eisnhower, who so respected his wisdom, to accept his ideas.

There never seemed much question it was Dulles who dominated American foreign policy. But Eisenhower and Dulles were not innovators. Their foreign policy was not original with them. They inherited it from the Truman-Acheson administration.

★ ★ ★

Simply put, this was it: stiff-arm the Soviets and keep them surrounded with military bases and alliances to discourage Soviet aggression.

★ ★ ★

But, since Eisenhower depended so much on Dulles, it might seem that after Dulles' death in May Eisenhower was forced to rely more on himself, and as a result became much more free-wheeling.

His decision to invite Premier Nikita Khrushchev here might be taken as an example. This is not necessarily proof of a more free-wheeling attitude on Eisenhower's part.

Just remember that he said he and Dulles, in late 1958, decided they had better try something different. So this was a joint decision, not one by Eisenhower alone.

At most, inviting Khrushchev here — the evidence now known —is simply a switch in tactics in dealing with the Russians, not a change in strategy. Eisenhower simply said, he and Dulles wanted to try something a "little" different.

Eisenhower has not said whether inviting Khrushchev here was the kind of change Dulles and he had in mind in 1958. But he has indicated Dulles would have approved it.

So American foreign policy as of now, including the invitation to Khrushchev, is still the Eisenhower-Dulles policy, not something new by Eisenhower.

Costa Rica to Fight Nicaragua Invasion

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP)—Costa Rican troops spread out along their country's northwestern frontier to prevent another invasion of Nicaragua by opponents of President Luis Somoza.

Reinforcements were sent to Tortuguero region Thursday night after newspapers reported that National Assembly Deputies Frank Marshall and Mariano Aguiluz had tried to buy two fighter planes in Cuba to lead the invasion. The two men have been mentioned as leaders of past attempts to invade Nicaragua from Costa Rica.

The civil guard, which includes both army and police in Costa Rica, said its forces in the Guanacaste region had encountered rebel groups trying to cross into Nicaragua. The guard said 10 men were captured without resistance.

'Safe-Driver' Youth, 18, Gives Credit to His Dad

WASHINGTON (AP) — What makes you a safe driver, George L. Barrier III was asked Thursday night after winning second place in the teen-age safe driving Road-e-o.

"My dad," the 18-year-old Kannapolis, N. C., youth promptly replied with a grin.

The Hudson Bay region summer temperatures range from 90 above zero to those low enough to produce snowfall.

No Fowl Play; This Bird Really Chicken-Hearted

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—A Tampa housewife went to her freezer and pulled out a fouled-up fowl—the chicken had three hearts.

Mrs. Margaret MacKie said she cut into the chicken and discovered the hearts, each about the size of a quarter. They were connected by a thin membrane which was attached to the liver.

Dr. Wayne Neal, a genetics specialist, said the connecting membrane ruled out the possibility that the hearts were stuffed into the chicken after it was cleaned and dressed.

"It's one of those mutations that will happen once in a million years," Neal said.

Loss of Hair Early Problem

Use of False Pieces Gaining Acceptance by Today's Young Men

One problem of increasing concern to a young student is the gradual loss of his hair.

Try as he might with various lotions, scalp treatments and home remedies, he soon finds that there's no cure for baldness.

If it is at all consoling, many men show signs of losing their hair while in their late teens or early twenties.

What really happens when a young student starts to lose his hair?

It's a realizaation that's hard to accept. Although his loss may not be noticeable to anyone else, a young man worries that he looks older and experiments with remedies.

"Remedies" ranging from rubbing butter on the head daily to frequent massages with hot oil.

Since these don't work, many young men, are turning to hairpieces. Behind their acceptance a large part was the development of the crew cut hairpiece. Among other styles are the tousled Tony Curtis look, the Madison Avenue Cary Grant, the brushed cut or the pompadour.

THOMPSONVILLE, Conn. (AP)—What's the difference between ordinary parking and "convenient" parking? Five cents, according to the inscription on the town's new parking meters. It reads: "Twelve minutes for each penny; 60 minutes for one nickel. For convenience, 60 minutes for one dime."

Newsmen, Tourists Number More

80 Invited to Steven's Wedding

KRISTIANSAND, Norway (UPI) —Sheriff Einar Helle, Sogne's one-man police force, is all set for the major event of his career: The Aug. 22 wedding of Steven Rockefeller and Anne Marie Rasmussen. Helle scoured the countryside and came up with an extra 40 policemen to help keep order when hundreds of newsmen, photographers, tourists and just curious descend on Sogne and its 3,364 inhabitants.

Rockefeller, 23, son of the New York multi-millionaire governor, and Anne Marie, 21, daughter of a retired, well-to-do general store owner, still were in seclusion while plans went forward for the big day.

Eighty guests including the Rockefeller family have been invited to the wedding dinner, but only between 60 and 70 are expected to be able to attend.

TO EAT AT KLUBBEN

Mrs. Jjoerg Faerseth Nodeland, manager of the "Klubben," the exclusive clubhouse where the wedding dinner will be held, was excited but not worried about the dinner she will manage.

"Dear me—that's nothing," she said. "Next Saturday I'll arrange a banquet for 320 people."

★ ★ ★

No final word has been received from New York on which members of Steven's family would arrive, but Mrs. Nodeland said the governor and Mrs. Rockefeller certainly would come together with Steven's sisters and brothers and in-laws.

She said Steven and Anne Marie were actively participating in all the preparations and that Anne Marie's mother would meet them Monday to arrange the final details.

This means Mrs. Rockefeller would not be able to take part in the preparations as reported earlier since she will not have arrived by then.

EXPECTED THURSDAY

Friends of the Rasmussen family said the Rockefeller family was expected from New York next Thursday at the latest. The Rasmussens and the Rockefellers were expected to meet Thursday night when the young couple introduces them at a dinner at the Ernst Hotel here.

The actual wedding ceremony is to take place at the Sogne Church at 4 p.m. on Saturday Aug. 22 (10 A.M. EDT). No guest list has been published but the guests were reported to include:

—Joergen Lohne, mayor of Sogne.

—Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Kristiansen, the Rasmussens' closest neighbors, in whose house Anne Marie and Steven sought refuge last week when photographers stopped them on the road.

★ ★ ★

—Signe Reidun Helle, 21, a former classmate and one of Anne Marie's closest friends. She is generally believed to have been chosen as maid of honor.

—Carl Axelssen, an old man from the district whom Anne Marie took care of and helped before she left for the U.S. to study English and work as a maid in the Rockefeller home.

One Norwegian has been chosen by Anne Marie's father to act as interpreter at the dinner. His name was not disclosed.

TO PERFORM CEREMONY — The Rev. Olav Gautestad, above, will perform the marriage ceremony for Steven Rockefeller and Anne Marie Rasmussen Aug. 22. The wedding will take place in the Rev. Gautestad's church, the 'New Church,' in Anne Marie's hometown.

Ticket Row Stirs Butler

Dems Might Move Confab From LA

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler said today there will be no compromise in a row that threatens to pull the 1960 Democratic convention out of Los Angeles.

★ ★ ★

He arrived to meet with California Democratic leaders on the stormy issue of how many convention tickets the Los Angeles host committee will get.

Butler said that if the dispute isn't settled by the time the party's National Committee meets Sept. 16, steps will be taken to select another site for the convention.

★ ★ ★

Thursday night Mayor Norris Poulson said in a letter to Butler: "We most certainly want the convention but not at any price."

Poulson said, "Written records show conclusively that there was an agreement on 5,000 tickets for the host committee."

Butler is offering 1,500. The host committee's finance chairman oilman Edwin Pauley, has accepted the mayor's compromise proposal of 3,133 daily tickets but Butler is standing firm.

"The mayor is right in saying 5,000 tickets were discussed but no such commitment was made," Butler said.

"There just can't be any compromise, I'm sorry to say."

He said Chicago's host committee at the last Democratic National Convention got only 560 tickets, with 60 reserved seats each day.

Pauley says he wants the tickets to help pay off the $350,000 guarantee to get the convention for Los Angeles.

Pauley flew in from Mexico shortly after Butler's midnight arrival but had nothing to say.

Butler was asked if he would consider a new host committee that could raise $350,000 and would accept 1,500 tickets. He replied, "I am willing to cooperate with anyone."

She's One Fine Car If Pushed

SHELTON, Conn. (AP)—Everything was fine on Tuxedo avenue Thursday until a car went by.

★ ★ ★

It was a car like any other, except that the driver, John Fabozzi, was running after it instead of sitting behind the wheel.

After his runaway romped through a fence and knocked down some shrubbery and a coach lamp, Fabozzi told this story to police:

His car wouldn't start, so he came up from the rear with a truck and gave it a little push. He planned to jump out and catch the car while it was still rolling so he could start the motor by putting it in gear.

★ ★ ★

As it turned out, the car was pretty good at rolling. Better than Fabozzi was at running, anyway.

Little Rock School Head Barred at Door

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — School Board President Everett Tucker Jr. didn't get to visit Hall High School Thursday. He left his identification card at home and police wouldn't let him through.

★ ★ ★

Tucker said officers told him there were no exceptions to the no-card-no-admtitance rule.

Identification cards were issued to students and faculty members to allow them to pass through police lines set up around the schools to prevent disorder during integration of two high schools.

Meg Joins Liz, Family

BALMORAL, Scotland (AP)—Princess Margaret joined her sister, Queen Elizabeth II, and other members of the royal family on vacation at Balmoral Castle Thursday.

Architects Honor Nun

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Sister Mary Thomasita, director of the art department at Cardinal Stritch College here, has been elected to honorary membership in the Wisconsin chapter of the American Institute of Architects. She is the first woman ever so honored by the chapter.

New York World Fair Sponsors Choose Site

NEW YORK (AP)—Sponsors of a proposed New York World Fair in 1964 today chose Flushing Meadow in Queens as its site. New York's 1939 fair also was held there.

Newsmen asked Thomas J. Deegan, chairman of the sponsoring committee, whether plans to establish the fair were being laid five years ahead because Los Angeles is considering one for 1963 and Washington one for 1964.

Rejecting the suggestion, Deegan said an early start was necessary to have the fair ready by 1964.

The fair would commemorate New York City's 300th anniversary. The 1939 fair commemorated the 150th anniversary of the inauguration of George Washington as president in New York, and of the formation of the American government under the federal constitution.

Oval Toes New Style

Fashion, like the weather is constantly changing! For several years women have been enjoying the feel and flattery of pointed toes in shoes, but now there is an even newer toe — a flattened oval.

The new shape is called the Oval, the Moon, the Teaspoon, or the Halo. Women's shoes manufacturers report that this new toe is not just another fad but is becoming an accepted look for certain types of shoes. The current revival of the classic look in fashion suggests a move away from the flashy and dramatic toward a look that is feminine and elegant as well as charming.

★ ★ ★

The new flattened oval toe gives variance to a shoe wardrobe—it does not mean that women can or must throw away their pointed shoes. Manufacturers suggest that you wear pointed toe shoes for dressy occasions and wear the oval toe in its many forms for tailored daytime shoes.

The new oval toe has absolutely no relationship to the bulky, rounded baby doll toe of the past. It is a completely new type of design that continues the elongated look of the pointed toe, yet is ovalled and flattened at the tip.

Fashion experts believe that the relaxed shape of the oval is a perfect correlation for the lower stacked leather heel that is becoming so important for daytime wear. Combination of the two, they feel, forms excellent coordination for the return to the classic casual styling in ready-to-wear.

Boots are the newest addition for a fall wardrobe. The ones on the left, resembling high heeled motorcycle boots, are of an ultra soft black kid with a pointed toe and stiletto heel. On the right, is a soft unlined red deerskin boot with a side eyelet lacing.

Pants a Hit on Campus

Pants are the campus uniform at most women's colleges. In all varieties, from skinny pants to Bermuda shorts, they are the college girl's standby. Even at coed universities, where shorts and slacks usually are banned on campus and in classrooms, they are a must for off-campus sports and dormitory lounging.

This year cotton knits assume new importance, both in sweater tops and pants, in shirts and shorts. Tapered Slim Jim pants are a current favorite, in dark or neutral colors, teamed with boat-necked pullovers or classic shirts.

Set Bylaws, Plan Confab

Bylaws were adopted and plans made for the forthcoming national convention at the meeting of Dixie chapter of United Daughters of the Confederacy held Tuesday at the home of president Mrs. Joseph H. Shaffer of Birmingham.

Bruce Catton will be chief speaker at the convention to be held Nov. 7-12 at Hotel Statler, Detroit.

★ ★ ★

Meetings of the chapter will be held the third Friday of every month in members' homes.

Harassed by Hurried Hostesses

By EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: Isn't it improper for a hostess to begin removing the plates at the end of a course before all at table have finished eating? Several hostesses I know begin removing the plates as soon as two or three guests have finished eating. I think this is very rude to the guests who eat more slowly and that it either forces them to gulp their food or to leave it uneaten on the plate in order not to hold up the service. Will you please give me your opinion of this?

Answer: At a large formal dinner served by footmen, they remove the plates of the guests as soon as each guest has finished eating, and this is considered to be correct. I do, however, agree with you that it is more polite for a hostess who does her own serving to wait until all have finished eating before removing the plates.

Dear Mrs. Post: When a man and girl are leaving their seats in a theater, does it seem rude if the man goes out of the row ahead of the girl if he happens to be sitting nearest the aisle, or is he supposed to stand up and let her pass in front of him so that she may go out first?

Answer: They go out in the order in which they are seated. When he gets to the aisle he stands aside and lets her go first, or else they walk out together.

Dear Mrs. Post: Would it be proper to send a card reading "Just to say hello" to a young man with whom I went out two months ago and whom I haven't heard from since. He is very nice and I would like to encourage his friendship.

★ ★ ★

Answer: Instead of sending the card try to find a mutual friend who can invite you both to make a foursome some evening.

Pillow May Cause Dowager's Hump

Maturing women often discover a dowager's hump along with a double or triple chin.

Before getting up in the morning, toss away your pillow and lie flat. Then lift the head two inches, then down. Don't raise your shoulders while doing this. Repeat five times at first and work up to 10.

Vacuum Toaster

Is your toaster loaded with crumbs? Don't try to brush them out, thereby getting crumbs all over the kitchen. Use the crevice tool for your vacuum cleaner, advises a vacuum cleaner research division. This attachment is slender enough to reach to the bottom of the toaster, and will pick up every crumb.

Man With Warmth, Savings Really Doesn't Have Either

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: A year ago I met a man who made me feel warm, secure and loved. He appeared to be hard-working, loving and understanding. He told me he was a retired Army officer, drawing $400 a month pension, which he was saving.

ABBY

I married him. Now I find out that he is the biggest liar I ever met. He hasn't saved a dime. I had to sell my house, my car and my baby grand piano to help get him out of debt. I've never seen his pension check. He tells me he sends it all to the Orphanage that raised him.

You've got to give me some advice, Abby. He says if I leave him, he will kill me. Do I have to put up with this?

LIVING IN FEAR

DEAR LIVING: See a policeman, a clergyman and a lawyer — and in that order. A man who threatens to "kill" is not fit to live with. He married you under false pretenses. There are laws (civil and canon) to protect women from men like him.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I need this one question answered to be happy. How do you forget a boy when you know he is no good? My head tells me he is bad for me, but my heart tells me I still love him. Can you help me, Abby? I am 18 years old, and have no mother.

SAD GIRL

DEAR SAD: The saying "Out of sight — out of mind" is a good one. Avoid him. Keep very busy doing things that require your full attention. Throw out all the "things that remind you of him." See other people and pray for strength.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I have an old girlfriend and I am very fond of her. My problem is — my husband can't stand her. There is nothing wrong with this girl. He has seen her only a few times and he says she is a big phony. I have known her for years and I say there is nothing phony about her. I have never forced this girl's company on my husband, but he refuses to let me see her alone. I am 28 years old and shouldn't have to go behind my huband's back to see an old girlfriend. Is he unreasonable or am I? What would you do?

WANTING PEACE

DEAR WANTING: If you have known this girl for years and have found her to be true blue — it is safe to assume that your husband is slightly "green." (Many husbands are jealous of their wives' old friendships.) Go ahead and see her, and don't ASK your husband—TELL him.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Please settle a family fight? I was graduated from college in 1955 and an old girlfriend whom I loved at one time (but who means nothing to me now) gave me a cigarette lighter for graduation. I still carry it as it is a wonderful lighter and serves me well. My wife hates the sight of this lighter. We have had many a heated battle over it. I tell her that I have no love for the giver but I DO love the lighter. My wife wants me to get rid of it. Is she being childish or am I? I see no reason why I shouldn't continue to carry it.

NOT SENTIMENTAL

DEAR NOT: As far as your wife is concerned, the lighter is a "torch" you are carrying for your old flame. Quit burning her up with it and put it away.

Key to Soviet Women's Hearts

Cosmetics Could Aid Friendships

By DOROTHY ROE

If Soviet women could be supplied with American lipstick, cosmetics and girdles, international friendship would take a big jump.

Such is the opinion of Michael Daroff, men's clothing manufacturer of New York, just returned from a visit to the American Exhibition in Moscow. Daroff was a member of the committee of men's wear manufacturers who contributed to the U. S. fashion show at the fair, and was on hand for a week after the opening.

★ ★ ★

"We had an Intourist guide, a Russian girl named Nina, for the time we were in Moscow," he said. "The first day Nina was shy and seemed somewhat unfriendly. But before the week was over we were all fast friends. Mrs. Daroff gave her some lipstick and a compact, which at first she refused to take. Finally, however, we persuaded her, and the last few days of our stay she showed up wearing the lipstick, pleased as punch, and looking prettier than it had seemed possible.

"When we left she went with us to the airport, and really broke down and cried when it was time to say goodby. I know there is one Russian girl who has been converted to the idea of American friendship."

★ ★ ★

Russian women wear no cosmetics, says Daroff, who also observes that apparently foundation garments are unknown in the Soviet Union.

"Big hips seem to be a measure of feminine beauty in Russia. If a girl doesn't occupy two chairs when seated, Russian men say she is too skinny," he said.

If Soviet women are badly dressed, according to American standards, the men are in the same state, says this men's wear maker, naturally interested in men's styles abroad.

"Even in the best hotels and night clubs, the men wear sports shirts and pants—no ties or jackets, except among the official groups," he said. "Our American group was entertained by the Moscow Board of Trade at a luncheon, and there the men wore suits and ties. But almost everywhere else we went the standard dress for men seemed to be shirtsleeves—and sports shirts at that."

Mrs. Alvah Clark of Michigan avenue is all smiles as she boards the M. S. Berlin at New York Harbor bound for Weisbaden, Germany. There she will join her husband who is a private in the U. S. Army at Weisbaden.

Chocolate Cake Will Always Ring the Bell

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Surprisingly enough, cocoa makes a cake that tastes more chocolatey than one made with chocolate. This is a favorite cake recipe of Mrs. William Hibler of Waterford.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Hibler has a job nine months of the year and likes to go up north during the summer with the family trailer. She enjoys embroidery work.

CHOCOLATE CAKE
By Mrs. William Hibler

½ cup cocoa
½ cup water
2 scant teaspoons soda
1¾ cups sugar
½ cup shortening
2 eggs
2⅓ cups sifted flour
¾ cup sour milk
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla

Mix and let stand while mixing other ingredients.

Cream shortening and sugar. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each. Mix flour and salt and add alternately with vanilla and milk. Add cocoa mixture.

Bake in 2 layers, a loaf pan or 20 cupcake pans. Set the oven at 350 and bake the layers and cupcakes 20 minutes; the loaf 30 minutes. Frost with chocolate frosting.

Remember Your Elbows

Women seem sometimes to forget that they have elbows. They'll carefully cream faces and hands, then appear in public in a sleeveless dress that reveals rough, dry, darkened elbows.

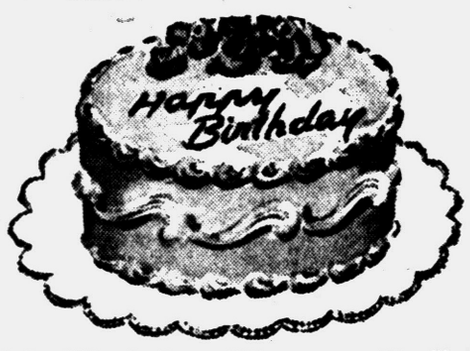

★ ★ ★

This is pure neglect. For elbows, like the rest of your skin, respond to care. They should have a light going over with a natural pumice stone each week, creaming with a moisturizer every night and a bit of oil in the bath water when you're soaking in the bath tub.

★ ★ ★

Try to remember not to lean on them while you work at your desk or kitchen counter. A good brushing with your hand brush and warm, soapy water is conducive to removing dead, dry skin and thus making your elbows more responsive to a creaming.

There is about 15 cents worth of nylon in a pair of stockings.

Nobody wants to have a sway back, so — while in this position try to touch your entire back to the floor.

Improved Looks

Get Rid of That Sway Back

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
(The Question Box)

Q. "I am 15 years old and have a swayback. Are there any exercises I can do to correct it or improve it? I am very embarrassed about this."

A. You can improve swayback by improving posture. In the first place think of it many times each day. Remember to pull your tummy in and tuck your hips under. Also do the following exercises 20 times each morning and 20 times each night!

Lie on the floor. Bend both knees and place your feet flat on the floor. Try to touch your entire back to the floor. If you cannot touch the middle of the back pull it down toward the floor as far as possible. Hold while you count to 10 slowly. Relax and continue.

Q. "My tummy looks as though I am pregnant but I am sure that I am not. I think I am overweight. I have gained through my middle and hips lately. Is it just the middle-age spread? I am 32 years old and have three children, the youngest one is 4½ years old. I am 5 feet 7 inches tall and weigh 142 pounds."

A. If you have a medium frame you are the correct weight. You are much too young to have a middle-aged spread. Anyway that does not have to happen to any woman unless she wants it to because it can be prevented by watching diet and exercising.

I think that you just have some stretched abdominal muscles because of your pregnancies. Snap them back into shape with abdominal exercises. If you or any of my readers would like to have my tested abdominal exercies, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 2 to me in care of this paper.

Q. "I read your column every day. I am 23 years old and have a large frame. I am 5 feet, 6½ inches tall and weigh 158 pounds. I think I am too fat but my husband doesn't think so. My bust measures 41 inches, waist 31½ and hips 42½. Please advise me."

A. Your measurements are in good proportion. According to Ideal Weight and Height charts you are just right for the age of 30. I do not know whether or not you have correctly determined whether you have a medium or large frame. This is difficult to do and it makes quite a difference in the weight you can carry attractively.

I am inclined to think that you are overweight, and should lose from 10 to 15 pounds.

Has Adventure Gone for Young Couples

By RUTH MILLETT

"Men aren't in style this season. What girls seem to want is a nice boy they can lead around by the nose," says a young man who reads this column.

I was intrigued by this young man's comment, because a noted anthropologist seems to agree with him.

Margaret Mead puts it this way: "Girls marry boys who will take the safe, easy job, with tenure and security and all the fringe benefits. In the world we're going to have to face for another 50 years, that's not enough. It doesn't leave room for people to make exciting advances in science, art or exploration."

Miss Mead bemoans the fact that "generally preferred in this space age is the homey type who will help with the children, go on picnics, and lend a hand with the family wash." Women, she says, no longer want to marry men with interesting — but possibly risky — jobs.

The young man and Miss Mead are both right, of course. You have only to listen to the talk of young girls to realize that they aren't looking for a hero, or a man who is determined to devote his life to an all-consuming interest, or for an adventurous man who is never going to find a ranch-style house in the suburbs the whole answer to life.

★ ★ ★

The girls of marrying age today aren't looking for a man they can look up to, and feel privileged to encourage, while they take whatever of his time is left over from his life's work.

They want a nice, safe husband who is content to earn a nice, safe pay check, and who will be happy to share in this "togetherness" way of living, dreamed up by the women's magazines.

It is a pity. Because the girl who wants a nice, safe husband, whose goal in life is one day to retire on a pension, is going to have a mighty dull life.

Hats Call for Extra Make-Up

Who's going to look like a man in her fall fedora, derby or padre-styed hat?

"The girl who forgets to put on makeup," says a famous makeup authority, "or skimps on the amount she wears."

Because no woman wants to chance that in her jaunty new topper, he comes forth with some timely tips on ways to avoid this risk; on ways to make every inch of femininity count.

Wear an abundance of makeup, he says.

Put all of your feminine prowess to work to apply a frankly beautiful foundation.

Wear cutvy lips, glossed brilliantly with frosty lipstick.

And make a thatch of your eyelashes (if nature won't help you turn this trick, artificial eyelashes will.)

★ ★ ★

His real warning to girls wearing masculine-styled toppers is to take a good hard look at their profiles under those hats. More than any other angle of your face, the profile suffers, he says.

That's why he urges you to wear more eye makeup: stroke on eye-shadow color-cued to hats of Renaissance-rich velvets and velours or to a brilliant feather tethered above a bowler's brim.

Carol Ann McCullough and Roger L. Carr were married Saturday. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Maynard McCullough of Waterford Township and Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Carr of Elizabeth Lake road.

MRS. ROGER L. CARR

Carol McCullough Wed at Faith Baptist Church

Carol Ann McCullough and Roger Leland Carr were married Saturday afternoon at Sunnyvale Chapel. The Rev. Alex Kasten of Faith Baptist Church officiated at the ceremony before 200 guests.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Maynard McCullough of Waterford Township and Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Carr of Elizabeth Lake road.

The bride wore a ballerina length dress of Chantilly type lace over satin with a scooped neckline edged with satin and three-quarter length sleeves. Her fingertip veil was held by a seed pearl crown and she carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, carnations and ivy.

★ ★ ★

Ila Jean McCullough was her sister's maid of honor and Joyce McCullough, another of the bride's sisters, was bridesmaid. They wore identical gowns of aqua green embroidered nylon over satin with scoop necklines and matching headbands. Their cascade bouquets were aqua lilies, white roses and ivy.

Richard Carr, the bridegroom's brother was best man. Ushers were John Whaley of Drayton Plains, William Saunders and Richard Gidcumb.

★ ★ ★

A reception was held in the church parlors. Before leaving for a honeymoon to Washington, D. C. and Virginia, the bride changed to a shadow print sheath of royal blue and black with royal blue accessories, and the corsage from her bridal bouquet.

The couple will live in Europe for the next two and a half years where the bridegroom is stationed with the U. S. Army.

The bride attended Michigan State University and the bridegroom attended Bob Jones University, Emmanual Baptist Seminary and Letourneau Technical Institute.

The bride's mother wore a dress of royal blue silk organza over satin with white accessories and a white rose corsage. The bridegroom's mother was dressed in pink lace over satin with white accessories and a pink rose corsage.

Good Old Cold Cream Is Best for Your Skin

Ladies, ordinary cold cream with its 1,000-year-old formula will do as much toward preserving the youthful properties of skin as any other cosmetic cream.

This tip comes from Dr. Veronica Conley of Chicago, secretary of the American Medical Assn.'s Committee on Cosmetics.

She warned that buyers should be wary of advertising for products claiming to erase wrinkles, rejuvenate the skin, eliminate enlarged pores and improve skin glow.

Her advice is cold cream, which has as its basic formula mineral oil, beeswax, borax, water and perfume.

Must Consider Punishment's Real Aim

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

He slapped his little sister and his mother punished him by sending him to his room. Later, hearing noises, she went upstairs to find him batting a ping-pong ball around. When she removed it, extending his punishment for "playing," her husband criticized her. She writes: "Shouldn't a child be forbidden any play during a punishment?"

Why should we forbid it to him? Because we want him to concentrate on repenting his sins instead of batting a ping-pong ball around?

If so, forbidding all activity to him may not be the way to get the repentance.

In prisons, adult offenders are not required to spend all their time on cell cots repenting their sins. They are not only given things to do but are required to do them.

We have learned that a punished person does not derive repentance from inactivity. On the contrary, we know that the inactivity promotes such resentment of punishment that the physically inactive prisoner starts brooding over our sins instead of his own.

Sometimes we deny a punished youngster any activity because, as punished children ourselves, we were denied it. We assume that our little boy is enjoying himself batting a ping-pong ball around because our parents, finding us dressing our doll, assumed we were enjoying ourselves.

But if we make a point of recalling what we actually felt in our lonely room, we'll question our parents' analysis of our emotional state. Despite our appearance of "playing," we were not enjoying ourselves at all.

That was because contact with our parents was much more important to us than contact with our doll. Our "playing" contained the same kind of pleasure prisoners get from watching TV in a penitentiary recreation room.

If we think that the punished child we find "playing" is enjoying himself, we have a pretty poor opinion of our value to him.

And that's bad. He has been removed from our society in order to discover its value to him. He's been punished to register his need of human contact.

If we honestly believe that batting a ball around his room is a satisfactory substitute for association with us, we are the people who need the correcting, not the child. We obviously believe that toys are more attractive than we are.

Resist It

Don't Defend 'Old Age'

Most of us associate two things with old age: overweight and gray hair. We may have other associations, of course, but these are immediately identifying.

And there's a lesson in this. A lesson for the mature woman who's a little careless about creeping poundage but defends it in the interests of being "comfortable." She buys a larger dress size, eats desserts daily and munches candy while she reads or watches TV. She feels somewhat guilty but tells herself she can take off weight anytime that she wants to.

She has noticed gray hairs threading her brown hair for some time but she hasn't done anything about that either. She has neither stepped up her vitamin intake nor considered a color tint. This is all part of "getting on," she tells herself.

Actually, this is an attitude as outdated as the Victorian passion for painting rosebuds on china cups. Developments in the allied fields of health and beauty make it possible for a woman to look younger many years longer than her grandmother could.

But it won't happen by magic. She must work to achieve results. And she must have an open mind about the new beauty helps that will aid her in avoiding an elderly look.

Know Your China

Fine china should be translucent, resonant when tapped with a pencil, lightweight and well-balanced, with even edges. Its color should not be streaked or mottled. A glaze adds a protective coating to the china and also is the most sanitary surface of all dinnerwares.

Bob Considine Says:

Time for a Relaxing (?) Vacation

NEW YORK—This is the last of these pieces, for a spell. I'm taking that long chance again of being picked up as a vagrant.

That's always a risk if you're a reporter on vacation. A plumber or a nuclear physicist on vacation makes sense. They get tired of wrenches and Roentgens and need a rest. But who can get tired of news and still call himself a newsman?

It's an admission of weakness, a failure of sorts. Brisbane would never take a vacation. Neither would E. V. Durling. Brisbane once was asked why he didn't knock it off for a while and he said, in effect, "they might not miss me." He apparently felt insecure on $250,000 a year. (No wonder!)

Durling finally was conned into taking a vacation after years and years, and promptly developed a brain tumor and died. He would have died anyway, of course. But it so happened that it hit him during a vacation he didn't want.

Lots of people who write columns ask various celebrities to do pieces for them while they're loafing. I've always been uneasy about that. I keep thinking of, let's say, a truck driver who has a two-week vacation coming up, so he goes to some fellow truckers —named Biff, Zeke, Knuckles, Muscles and Alfred—and says, "Chums, I'm knocking off for a couple weeks but I'd like to keep that there groove of mine open on Route 35, so how's about you guys driving my old hitch for me for free while I'm gone, hey?" Last truck driver said that got kilt.

The only thing worse than a chump writing a hail and farewell piece, while a lot of people didn't even know he was ever on stage, is the columnist who comes back from vacation and burbles, "Well, here I am back, all full of sun and vitamins and ready to give my millions of readers that same old charm, that same old penchant for exclusives about the latest stamps, and the low-down on what the prime minister confided to the chancellor of the exchequer at 10 Downing behind locked doors with no one present, including the principals."

"What does a guy who writes a lot do when he goes on a vacation?" asks H. K. of Des Moines.

Glad you asked that, H. K. If he writes a lot, and it gets printed, the thing he does on his vacation is write a lot more, in the hope of paying taxes on the income he made for writing a lot at his regular job. This, in turn, requires him to go back to his regular work in time, to make enough to pay the taxes on the income he made during his vacation writing enough to pay the taxes on things he had written while regularly employed earlier.

Eventually, he'll have to go on vacation again, to write enough to pay the taxes on the money he made from his regular job, to which he returned to write enough to pay taxes on what he made on his vacation trying to make enough to pay for what he wrote when he wasn't. That answer your question H. K.? (If that's your real name.)

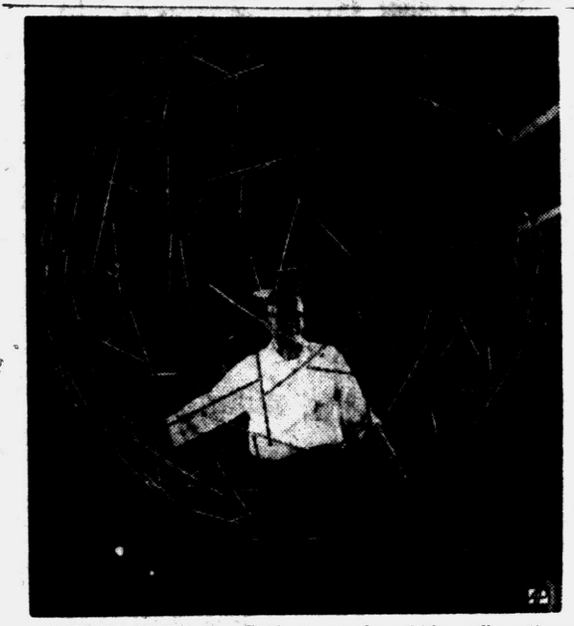

Ah, there'll be sports galore, of course. This year I hope to get things better organized. Last summer I was going to take off a lot of weight by playing tennis. Great workout, tennis. You can have your polo, eight-oared shells, hurling, sumo and other popular sports. Give me (I kept saying) the thrill of a smooth court, a tightly strung racquet, fresh tennis balls, a stiff wind at my back when I serve, and an opponent over 70. But alas, never played. A kid named Dennis had grown into my old tennis shoes and had gone off boating on the Bosphorus or someplace.

Golf? I've given that up. I played recently with Toots Shor and he hit 18 straight tee shots. The game must be crooked. I don't want to be caught in the police dragnet that is bound to follow such a performance.

★ ★ ★

Travel? Someone has suggested that I take a trip to Russia . . . Maybe even go out into the U.S.S.R. as far as Sverdlovsk and Novosibirsk, but, plainly, that's out of the question. Matter of fact, somebody said to Mel Block at the Hollywood Club in Deal, N. J., the other day, "What, you're not in Russia this season? Everybody chic has gone to Russia." Mel said, "Listen, my grandfather had a heluva time getting OUT of Russia. Why should I try to get back in?"

So it looks like a quiet week or two for me, with the writing interrupted only by occasional fittings for the suit of armor I've ordered to wear while covering the visit of Khrushchev to New York, Detroit and Chicago.

RESULT OF SEED DONATION — This formal English garden, equal in beauty to that of many great estates, was planted in London to set off a prefabricated house owned by a printer. The garden was made possible by flower seed donations from the U. S. The seed drive, started during World War II to help relieve the tremendous destruction of the conflict, now sends approximately one million packets of flower and vegetable seeds abroad each year to countries from Finland to Liberia as a person-to-person program for peace.

Divide Iris to Insure Blooms

By WAYNE B. SIEFERT
County Horticultural Agent

Two groups of Iris are known, one a florist crop known as Dutch Iris, the other a gardener's favorite known as Bearded Iris.

Bearded Iris seems like such an easy plant to grow and divide, few gardeners realize there are rules to follow to insure success.

After transplanting stops them from blooming, when we know the cause, we get a lot more flowers. These plants have two growth periods. The spring growth produces flowers and develops new rhizomes. But this growth doesn't regulate flowering. During late August a second growth of leaves develop, and at this time blossoms start to form in the rhizome. Here is one clue — divide and transplant before the fall growth starts.

How often? It seems to depend upon the plant, but a general rule is 3 to 4 years. When the clump gets rather thick, you must divide it, or it doesn't bloom well. Dividing consists of digging the clump up and removing most of the soil. Carefully search for soft or rotten rhizomes.

If rotten rhizomes are found, break out the rotten part. Do not use a knife, as a knife will spread the disease.

TWO SHOOTS

The new plants should have at least two shoots, though I like 3 or 4 because I get more blossoms in the clump. Plant the cluster in an open place, so the rhizomes are only slightly covered. Clip or pull off all dry or spotted foliage. Water occasionally until new leaves begin to appear.

Iris Borer is a grub which attacks bearded iris, causing whole clumps to go brown and turn to mush.

What is it? The borer is the grub stage of a moth which flies in late August. Occasional inspection of the iris clumps will quickly show the mysterious dying of plants and when the clump is lifted a huge white grub is found inside the rhizome.

When this happens, all your iris should be promptly dug and all the infested parts broken out and burned. Cutting and burning the fall foliage usually prevents further damage.

The moth lays eggs on the foliage in September. If the leaves are cut and burned in October, the insect is destroyed. Weekly sprays with Lindane or Malathion in the spring insures complete freedom from this pest.

It often seems a temptation to let raspberries go until winter, then trim them out and prune the young canes. But the real value of August pruning is to destroy weeds and grass which is just getting re-established. A thorough cleanup at this time prepares the patch for winter and gets rid of plenty of mites and borers, too.

All old fruiting canes should be cut out and promptly burned. These old branches are just setting with pests and diseases, all trying to get over on to the new shoots.

This pruning out should often include some of the new shoots also. If the new shoots are closer than 12 inches (and 18 inches is better), they are too crowded to have much fruit.

Have you noticed how most of the berries are on the outside or top? This is because the canes are too crowded. In September or October, prune the young canes back to the desired height, usually three feet. If mites or chewing insects are doing damage, a spray of Malathion and DDT will be useful.

Scapegoat Bushes Save Wives

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

CHAPPAQUA, N.Y.—There was a man in our town who, each time he had an argument with his wife, stormed out to the garage for his pruning shears, lopping shears and pruning saw.

His furious activity with these apparently kept him from belting his wife, but it sure raised hob with his rose of Sharon, spirea, forsytheic and other blooming shrubs.

This column is not designed to suggest ways and means of avoiding dissension in the household.

It would merely suggest that if sawing and cutting branches is an effective way of working out a fit of temper or an aid in thinking through a problem, the operator confine his activities to plant material which will benefit from his ministrations.

★ ★ ★

In other words, there are certain times of the year when pruning will benefit a shrub or tree and other times when it just makes things tough for the plant.

NO BLOOMS

And personal crises rarely coincide with a plant's timetable, which is the reason the battling householder of my acquaintance rarely had a bloom on his shrubs; he cut them off.

For reasons every woman gardener understands, some pruning is considered to be a creative task while other clipping is a burdensome chore.

Trimming the hedge, for instance, is a necessary nuisance, in the category of lawn mowing and spraying. But most males, even those who find groundskeeping a bore, leap with enthusiasm to such tasks as removing large limbs and even felling whole trees.

And important as it is to keep branches from rubbing on wires, roofs and gutters, and to remove broken or dead limbs, this type of work can be very dangerous for the amateur. It would be wise to turn the job over to the professionals.

Lighter pruning jobs may be safety and satisfactorily done by amateurs—provided, of course, we know what we're doing.

It's not enough to settle for the old formula that says that spring blooming plants should be pruned immediately after blooming and the later blooming materials cut in their dormant period.

Although many plants may be cut back severely in the late summer and fall months, sometimes the eager woodsman may be chopping off a plant's winter supply of food in his pruning and thus may be inadvertantly starving his tree to death.

PRUNING RULE

The only real rule of pruning I know is one that instructs us to check our reference book before picking up the shears and saw.

When a limb has been broken, however, timing is not important. Repairs should be made quickly. Injured limbs should be removed with clean cuts close to the trunks or stem and larger wounds treated with tree paint which repels insects, disinfects and stimulates healthy healing.

★ ★ ★

Equipment should be sharp and in good order. For light pruning, a medium heavy pair of pruning shears is fine even to cut through old rose canes and overage spirea stems.

In shrub pruning, the trick is to preserve the natural shape of the material, which means cutting out the stems from the base.

Saws and lopping shears are good for heavier materials. My own safety rules say that when anything more is needed it's time to call in the pros.

PH Number Shows Acid, Alkaline in Soil

This pH scale tells how acid or alkaline your soil is in much the same way numbers of a thermometer show heat or cold. For example, a pH of 7.0 is neutral.

Values downward from pH 7.0 show increasing acidity. Values upward from pH 7.0 show increasing alkalinity. A soil with a pH 4.5 is much more acid than one with pH 6.0.

The amount of clay and organic matter in your soil helps determine the lime need at a given pH — that is, a sandy loam soil testing pH 5.5 needs less lime than a clay loam soil testing pH 5.5. The testing lab takes that into consideration.

Fertilizer Facts for Your Lawns

When you start looking for fertilizer to boost your lawn this fall, will you know what you are looking for — that is, do you really know what a fertilizer is, what the figures on the bag mean, what's in it, how to use it

Fertilizer is a substance used to supply one or more of the chemical elements necessary for the soil to produce plant growth.

There are 16 of these elements. Three of them — carbon, hydrogen, and oxygen — occur in air or water for plant growth. The remaining 13 elements must be available in the soil or added to the soil for normal plant growth.

They include what are called the primary nutrients—nitrogen, phosphate, and potash; the secondary nutrients — calcium, magnesium, and sulfur; the trace elements — iron, zinc, copper, boron, manganese, molybdenum, and chlorine.

The meaning of fertilizer material, grade, and ratio — a 100-lb. bag marked 10-10-10 contains 10 per cent of each of nitrogen, phosphate, and potash (totaling 30 per cent).

Big State Peach Crop Arriving at Market

Some of Michigan's 3,200,000 bushel peach crop — the third largest in the nation—is beginning to arrive at markets, the State Agriculture Department reports.

The harvesting is a week to 10 days ahead of normal.

The department says the general earliness of the harvesting season this year for all fruits will make the peak of the peach season even earlier and harvesting may be concluded soon after mid-September.

Newer and better colored peach varieties, the department notes, have an earlier maturity date and have supplanted the time-honored Elberta peach which sometimes did not reach peak harvest until well into September.

Healthy Grass Leaves Are Proof of Good Lawn

The proof of any lawn is in the grass leaves.

And to get uniformly green leaves, you must apply plant food to promote the growth of new leaves and the healthy looks of existing leaves.

Research has shown that larger, greener grass blades are produced when nutrition is high and favorable. For example, a growing leaf will be cut each of three mowing periods.

Then if conditions are favorable, the leaf exists as a mature leaf just below chtting level for perhaps 6 weeks. Replacement of old and diseased leaves regularly is the one key to a dense, green, weed-free lawn.

Turf quickly thins and yellows when deficient in nutrients. Many soil types throughout the nation vary in their fertility, how grass requires a lot of nitrogen, how turf soils are usually much lower in potash than in phosphorus.

HIGH ANALYSIS

A good, simple one-package program is to select a fertilizer with high nitrogen analysis—for example a 12-6-6 or 12-12-12. Apply 10 to 20 lbs. per 1,000 sq. ft. and repeat 2 to 4 times a year for uniform growth throughout the season. Such a one package fertilizer may also be used on gardens, flowers, and trees.

Prop Stems With Foil

Prop up weak stemmed flowers, such as poppies, tulips and peonies within the vase by tucking crumpled foil in among the stems. If a vase is too deep for the flowers, fill the bottom with crumpled foil. Use this foil as a holder also, if needed.

Use Expert Advice and Avoid Lawn Troubles

Before starting fall treatment of their lawns, home owners who want a good lawn but don't know how to determine their lime and fertilizer needs can avoid trouble by (1) securing expert advice, (2) studying reliable circulars, (3) using soil tests.

Lawn growers should talk to or write to experts who have training and experience—specialists at their agricultural college, state experiment station, or agricultural extension service; their local county agent or vo-ag teacher; personnel at reputable nurseries or seed and garden shops — people who know how to identify trouble and what fertilizers and lime to add and when to add them.

Many experts have written leaflets and circulars featuring the latest facts on management and fertilization. These are usually free on request from your local agricultural advisors and reputable dealers.

In every state there are soil testing laboratories, both state and commercial labs that can determine your soil's lime needs and the levels of plant food and organic matter in your soil. In some states, these soil test services are free, in others they are conducted for a nominal fee.

RIGHT TOOLS

You can get good soil samples by using the right tools, a clean bucket, spade and knife or a soil probe or auger. Knowledge of what a sample consists of is essential. It is a composite of soil taken from 10 to 20 places well distributed over your lawn.

You should bore three to four inches deep into the soil for the sample, and this can be done with a spade. Take a half inch slice from the smooth side of a V-shaped hole four to six inches deep.

Iron Tonic Helps Restore Color in Fading Trees

Pallid trees with the equivalent of "tired sap" can now take handy doses of mineral medicine for their iron deficiency.

A mineral supplement called iron chelate or chelated iron is enabling home owners to treat their own woody pets for an ailment known as iron deficiency chlorosis. Classic symbol of the malady is a yellowing of the leaves with greenish areas along the veins. It causes a serious loss of tree vigor.

Chelated iron, applied with tree food in drill holes over the root area, frequently restores tree health and greenery. Experts have treated successfully hundreds of trees with chelated iron and recommend its use as a liquid tonic.

Up until recent years, injections of an inorganic salt into the tree trunk and limbs to curb the ill called for the skilled services of the tree doctor. If the liquid chelated iron procedure seems futile, chances are the tried-and-true injection method may still be the answer.

For liquid applications of chelated iron, dissolve the mineral in water and distribute evenly over the root area with a sprinkling can. Follow up with enough water to wash the material off the grass and to carry it down into the soil for six to eight inches.

CONTINUED FAILURE

Continued failure with chelated iron suggests calling the tree professional. If he agrees with your diagnosis about the "chlorotic" tree and iron deficiency, he'll probably start the injection treatments right away.

Magnolia Scale Is Vulnerable to Spray

A "cotton-picking, sap-plucking" insect is the magnolia scale. This largest of native scale insects is in its vulnerable crawler stage in late August and spraying's the thing to control it.

The application of malathion to curb this pest may save prized magnolias from glaring unsightliness. A heavily infested tree may seem covered with a solid mass of white cotton balls. To make matters worse, the scale is accompanied by a sooty mold which thrives upon the large amounts of sticky honeydew discharged by the feeding scales.

Entomologists say the best spray control is effected by two malathion applications at a ten day or two week interval.

Because the insects drain vitality along with the sap, the infested tree becomes sickly looking and shows undersized leaves. Left unmolsted, the scale can plummet trees into fatal declines. It is one of the few scale insects found in the immature stage in late Summer.

Eggs now are hatching and the crawlers are on the move to find new homes on this year's growth of succulent new wood. The female, which overwinters as a very young scale on the previous year's growth of wood, matures to a size about one-half inch across during the early Summer.

Eggs are laid during July. By August, the eggs hatch and the crawlers migrate to their permanent homes on tender twigs and branches.

Mums Good for Color

Hardy garden mums display abundant color in late summer and fall until hard killing frosts. This is when color is needed most, as most flowers begin to wane.

The two main types are the taller, usually larger flowered, decorative mums, about 20 to 30 inches tall, and the cushion mums in more rounded plant form of 10 to 20 inches.

Almost 10 million people belong to trade unions in Great Britain. There are nearly 650 of these unions in the country.

Auto Production Low in Closeout

Estimate Only 73,240 Cars Will Be Produced as GM Units Shut Down

DETROIT (UPI)—Car output in the United States will hit a low for the year at an estimated 73,240 units this week as Chevrolet, Oldsmobile and Pontiac close out 1959 model production, Automotive News said Thursday.

The trade paper said the week's output compared with 108,239 assemblies last week and 59,677 in the same week a year ago.

A highlight of the week's operations was the production of the four-millionth car of the calender year on Wednesday, the trade paper said. The four-millionth car was not assembled until Dec. 20 last year.

Truck output this week was estimated at 11,946 units, up slightly from the 10,680 turned out last week but below the 12,979 turned out in the same week a year ago.

Canadian output this week was estimated at 300 cars and trucks, compared with 240 assemblies last week and 3,070 in the same week a year ago.

Refuse to Close Famous Station of Casey Jones

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—The Mississippi Public Service Commission has turned down a railroad request to close the station where Casey Jones crashed into immortality 59 years ago.

The commission ruled against the Illinois Central's petition to discontinue service at Vaughn on the grounds that the station was losing money. The commission held the service was needed to attract industry.

Casey Jones made the Yazoo County town famous when he wrecked his train in trying to make up time on the run from Memphis, Tenn., to Jackson, Miss.

U.S. Must Stay Strong . . . Nixon

President Should Talk to Red Premier With Power Behind Him

SPRING LAKE, N.J. (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon says that a strong America is necessary before agreement can be reached at a summit conference table.

For this reason, he warned Thursday, the United States should not relax its defenses because of the forthcoming exchange visits between President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

★ ★ ★

"If we are to have a possibility of agreement at a (summit) conference, the President must be able to talk from a position of strength," Nixon declared.

★ ★ ★

The vice president came to this resort community to attend a U.S. Sayings Bond rally.

Nixon stressed the challenge that Khrushchev's policy of peaceful competition presents. He added he thought it important that Khrushchev see "the typical America" when he visits this country next month.

★ ★ ★

Newsmen questioned Nixon about his potential candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination in 1960.

"I have consistently maintained that it is too early to make a decision with regard to 1960," Nixon replied.

1959 Housing Conference Will Have Three Heads

WASHINGTON, D.C. — "We are consulting the oracle again," says Bernard Hartung, vice chairman of the Women's Housing Congress, Inc. and an official of the National Lumber Manufacturers Association. "This time the oracle has three heads."

"When the Family Confrence on Housing opens here during National Home Week this year, we will merely have added two more strong voices to the chorus of opinions. The husband and the teenager will give us answers as well as the housewives who have been consulted in Women's Housing Congresses of past years."

Delegates from forty to forty-five cities will be sent to Washington by local chapters of the National Associaltion of Home Builders for the conference Sept. 15-17 at the National Housing Center.

Their hosts in Washington will be the industry members of Women's Housing Congress, Inc., a nonprofit group set up by manufacturers and contractors to promote home ownership and quality construction.

"We've picked up valuable product information in the past conferences with women," says Hartung. "Now we are beginning to see a whole philosophy and sociological picture shape up in the answers housewives have given us in the past.

★ ★ ★

"I'd say we have become aware that people are getting off wheels and back into the home. Social life and recreation are built now at the home level. Perhaps TV can be given some of the credit. Perhaps it is the trend to attach status and meaning to home ownership and home management.

"In earlier meetings we had evidence that the home builders job now is to give the consumer a home satisfying his aesthetic as well as his basic needs. We're also more than ever confident that this can be done in a medium-priced home if the manufacturers, subcontractors, retailers, financial institutions and homebuilders work as a team."

Discussions of the use of lumber have at past Women's Hearing Congresses brought out the fact that "women like compatible materials . . . wood and brick, wood and stone, wood and cement. Accent walls, color, an air of serenity and permanence are important to them," Hartung points out.

"Now we're going to run this opinion and other ideas across the board, testing against the viewpoint of the husbands and teenagers. We are especially interested in a lead given us by a psychologist who is working at the Pentagon on problems of military housing.

★ ★ ★

He has run surveys all over, and his conclusion is that the home is more important as a status symbol in the eyes of teenagers than in any other group. Our Teen Table will tell us more about this.

"We hope to give the delegates an inside look at Washington and trends for many years to come. an entertaining stay here. What they give us can influence housing

Shannon Higdon, 11, tied her horse to a parking meter and deposited the necessary nickel. When she returned her horse was gone.

★ ★ ★

Lander police had confiscated the animal on two counts. Police Chief Eddie Griff said the horse was violating the law by walking on the sidewalk and it was taking up two parking places.

He let Shannon off with a warning.

Policeman Gives Chase; Car Runs Out of Gas

WASHBURN, Wis. (UPI)—Police Officer Charles Hudson surprised a gunman in an alley as he attempted to break into a drug store. The man fired, ran to his car and sped away.

Hudson followed. They exchanged a dozen shots during a three-mile chase. The chase ended and justice lost when the police car ran out of gas.

FOUR PIONEERS — Integration is being accomplished quietly in Little Rock with the admission of these four Negro students to two previously all-white high schools there. From left to right they are Elsie Robinson, 16; Estella Thompson, 16; Effie Jones, 17, and Jefferson Thomas, 16. The girls are attending Hall High School and Thomas is going to Central High School.

Maderia's famed embroidery is a home industry with careful government supervision. Children of five or six learn the art in a government school. A government agency imports the fabrics from Ireland and Switzerland, stamps them with designs, and sets standards of excellence for some 70,000 pieceworkers.

Hammarskjold Asks Record U.N. Budget

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — A record U.N. budget of $61,863,200 is being proposed by Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold. The 1959 budget is $60,802,120.

Hammarskjold said presently unforeseen costs might force the 1960 budget up another 1½ million dollars. But he said that stamp sales, tourist fees and similar revenue probably will bring in more than five million dollars to reduce the amount member countries will have to pay.

DETROIT (AP) — A distinguished veteran of World War II, the submarine USS Cero, has a permanent home.

The Cero, which sank or damaged 84,000 tons of Japanese shipping in the Pacific, will be based at Belle Isle's Brodhead Naval Armory as a training vessel for naval reservists.

The Cero, towed 3,000 miles from New London, Conn., replaces the submarine USS Tambor which is to be scrapped.

Bob Thomas Says:

Lance Reventlow to Wed 'Girl Next Door' Type

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—What kind of a girl is rich boy Lance Reventlow marrying?

Jill St. John is a girl-next-door rather than a glamorpuss kind of beauty, with big hazel eyes and brick-colored hair. "I always have wished I wasn't red-headed so I could wear wild colors," she said.

THOMAS

She has done a lot of living in her 18 years — radio actress at 6, high school graduate at 14, married at 16, divorced at 17.

She is bright, once discovered at UCLA that she has an I.Q. of 162. "But Lance is smarter than me. He's so smart it makes me sick."

She is a bright conversationalist, reads two or three books a week. "Best sellers, mostly. Lance and I read 'Dr. Zhivago' together and we both thought it was plodding and dull. Some people think you have to praise a book because it won prizes. I don't."

★ ★ ★

She digs classical music and she and Lance spend Tuesday and Thursday nights at the Hollywood Bowl symphonies. "We can seldom find friends to share the box with us; people in Hollywood don't go for the longhair music."

She shares Lance's love of the exciting life. "I want to break the women's underwater diving record. I think I could get down to 250 feet and I'm training for it now."

She is no longer concerned about her future husband's safety. "Lance does all the dangerous sports. He skin-dives, he flies, he skis on the water and snow, he rides a motorbike and he has raced cars all over the world. But he has never broken a bone. That proves that he understands the dangers he is up against."

She is not awed by his money. "He isn't as rich as people think he is. Besides, my parents are not exactly eating at the mission. I have always been well cared for."

She has one extravagance: shoes. "I'm crazy for shoes, and unfortunately, the store I like sells them for $37-45 apiece. I've 150 pairs. I can't help it; I just like high-heeled shoes."

Senators Okay Youth Job Plan

Ike Likely to Veto Idea Repeating Old Civilian Conservation Corps

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate ignored the threat of a presidential veto today and passed legislation to establish a youth conservation corps like the depression-born Civilian Conservation Corps.

★ ★ ★

It overrode Republican protests that youth corps amounted to "a deceptive boondoggle" and would cost a minimum of 4 billion dollars in ten years with "the sky as a limit."

Before the debate, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill), the minority floor leader, said he expects President Eisenhower to veto the measure if it reaches the White House. The House has yet to act on it.

★ ★ ★

The corps would provide outdoor old on conservation projects in the work for boys from 16 to 21 years nation's forests, parks and wildlife refuges, as well as on rivers and public lands.

CONGRATULATORY VISIT — British Queen Elizabeth II poses with Ghana's Premier Kwame Nkrumah and Princess Anne at Balmoral Castle, Scotland, yesterday. The queen expressed her regrets that, with her third child on the way, she would have to cancel a visit to Ghana.

Williams refused food Thursday after taking only a few drops of gelatin and milk the night before. His condition was described as very poor after a bout with pneumonia.

Dr. Russell Wolfe said again the old Confederate, who fought with Hood's Brigade, could live "only a matter of days."

Write Questions . . . Says Mackie

Highway Department to Be Target for Probe Headed by Sen. Stahlin

LANSING (AP) — State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie, whose department has been selected as the target of a Senate probe, had a suggestion for the investigators today.

Submit the questions in writing first to avoid time wasting, Mackie recommended to Sen. John H. Stahlin (R-Belding), who will head the Senate committee.

Stahlin has made the Highway Department his favorite target for criticisms from the Senate floor. He asked for an investigation of administrative practices and said he would concentrate on the land-buying department.

Stahlin claimed he had "hundreds" of letters tipping him on alleged abuses.

Mackie wrote Stahlin that a similar Senate committee in 1958 "made some melodramatic charges, held its hearing and no wrongdoing was found."

He said the probe cost the Highway Department some $4,000 in hourly wages lost and in research to dig up answers.

"The investigation was a waste, not only of the taxpayers money but of the committee's and my time," Mackie said.

Grace and Prince Can Relax; Yacht Arrives

MONTE CARLO (UPI)—Prince Rainier III and Princess Grace can relax now. Their new white 500-ton yacht has arrived safely and it's a beauty.

The Rainiers have been yachtless since the Prince sold their 350-ton Deo Juvente II several months ago and arrival of the Deo Juvente III filled a serious lack in this tiny land of yacht-owning millionaires.

The new yacht is 135 feet long and has an 800 horsepower auxiliary diesel engine. It is a three-master which has sailed under the name of "Costa Del Sol."

Rainier purchased it from the E.A.T.S. Shipping Company of Seville, Spain. The "Costa Del Sol" had plied the Mediterranean orange trade for its Spanish owners.

Everybody Looks Like Mommy but . . .

MILWAUKEE (UPI)—Mrs. Leroy Dailey took her two daughters, Kathy, 5, and Dianne, 4, to the doctor for a checkup.

The doctor asked Kathy. "Whom do you look like?" "Like Mommy," she said.

"And you Dianne?" the doctor said. "Like Mommy too," Dianne answered.

"Doesn't anybody look like daddy?" the doctor said.

"Oh yes," Dianne said. "Mommy does."

Bing Will See Sons' Act After Some Fishing

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Bing Crosby, getting in some salmon fishing in British Columbia waters, reported by radiotelephone Thursday he plans to see the night club act of his four older sons as soon as he returns.

Crosby, declining to comment on reports he and his oldest son Gary, 26, are estranged, said he was delighted over the favorable reviews the boys' act was getting.

"I'll probably catch their show in Las Vegas right after Phil Harris and I return in two or three days," Crosby said.

The crooner and Harris, band leade and entertainer, are guests of Max Bell, Calgary, Alta., publisher aboard his yacht Campana off Namu, B.C., about 450 miles north of here.

Driver Was Different

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Bernard Brown, 5, tried to cross Gibbard Ave. at St. Clair Ave. He was hit by a car and treated for minor cuts at Children's Hospital. Three weeks to the day later—and ditto. Same boy. Same intersection. Same injury. Same hospital. Different driver, though.

Baltimore Favored by 17 Points Over All-Stars Tonight

Graham Will Match Daring Against Savvy

Pros Have Won 15 of 25 Annual Games at Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — A daring, gambling strategy may be the College All Stars best bet tonight against the professional football savvy of the Baltimore Colts.

The oddsmakers believe the National Football League champions are in the proper frame of mind to hand the graduated heroes of the campus a licking.

Baltimore is favored by 17 points in the 26th annual game of the series, which will be presented before upwards of 70,000 fans in Soldier Field.

It will be televised and broadcast by ABC starting at 8 p.m. EST.

★ ★ ★

The pro champions have won 15 previous contests, lost 8 and tied 2. Last year, head coach Otto Graham's All Stars triumphed 35-19 in the best offensive display shown by the collegians.

But Graham had a wealth of deep manpower then that enabled him to substitute by units. He has been forced to spike this tactic this time, inserting players individually from his stockpile of 49 men.

Graham has admitted that hope of victory depends mainly on passing. Apparently, there is no great assurance of breakway speed such as keyed last year's All Star success.

The quarterbacks include Lee Grosscup of Utah, Buddy Humphrey of Baylor, Bob Newman of Washington State and Bob Ptacek of Michigan. Dick Petitbon of Tulane so far figures to be used only on defense.

These standout passers have fine receivers in such players as Buddy Dial, Rice; Rich Kreitling, Illinois; Dave Sherer, Southern Methodist, and Boyd Dowler, Colorado.

★ ★ ★

For heavy ball - lugging work Graham has fullback Larry Hickman of Baylor and Nick Petrosante of Notre Dame, and such classy halfbacks as Pittsburgh's Dick Haley and Houston's Don Brown.

Spot substitution will permit Graham probably to use his entire squad and give him more opportunity to gamble for the long play that may result in a touchdown.

It will take luck and daring to outscore such a dedicated group as the Colts, who last night were impressive in a short drill under the lights in Soldier Field.

The Philadelphia Eagles prepared in slam-bang style for their first NFL exhibition. They meet the New York Giants in Hershey, Pa., tomorrow night. Tackle Proverb Jacobs and end Ed Khayat, and linebacker Bob Pellegrini and end Harold Dukes mixed fisticuffs with a spirited scrimmage yesterday.

Commissioner Bert Bell cautioned the Eagles about their conduct on and off the field after watching the action.

The Giants said defensive tackle Dick Modzelewski suffered a knee bruise in a recent scrimmage and probably will miss the game. Linebacker Sam Huff, with an injured elbow, will see limited action.

WARMS BENCH — One of the Major League's greatest players, Stan "The Man" Musial, will sit on the bench for most of the remaining season according to an announcement made by the St. Louis Cardinal management. Musial's bench warming is for the purpose of giving younger players a chance. Here Musial is being interviewed by a sportcaster for comments on his bench warming.

Harshman Trips KC 7-5

By United Press International

Frank Lane may have struck it lucky again in obtaining Jack Harshman for a mere $20,000.

That's the amount the Cleveland general manager paid the Red Sox to acquire the 32-year old left-hander who came through Thursday night in his first start to go the distance in the Indians' 7-5 victory over the Kansas City Athletics.

The win enabled the second-place Indians to remain 2½ lengths behind the Chicago White Sox who clobbered the Detroit Tigers, 9-0, for the 265th win of Early Wynn's major league career. And it put them 9½ games ahead of the third-place New York Yankees who suffered a 5-2 loss to the Washington Senators.

Lane was merely trying to "catch lightning in a bottle" when he obtained Harshman.

★ ★ ★

The lean left-hander had a 2-9 record, hadn't won a game since June 24 and hadn't pitched a complete game all season.

All five Kansas City runs off Harshman resulted from homers by Bob Cerv, Zeke Bella and Dick Williams but the lean left-hander yielded a total of only seven hits and walked only one.

The Indians clinched the decision with a four-run rally in the eighth featured by doubles by Tito Francona, Jim Baxes and Woodie Held. Held also homered and drove in four runs to lead the Indians' 11-hit attack.

Harmon Killebrew hit two doubles and a single, drove in two runs and scored another as the Senators scored their second straight victory over the Yankees. Russ Kemmerer received credit for his sixth win although he needed help from Truman Clevenger in the eighth. Bob Turley suffered his 10th loss against eight triumphs.

Start Pee-Wee Clinics Tuesday

The West Side Boys Club's annual Pee-Wee football clinic will begin Tuesday at 3:30 p.m. at the Daniel Whitfield School on Orchard Lake Avenue.

Sessions will be held each Tuesday and Friday from 3:30 to 5:30 until Sept. 1.

Doctoring Your Golf

By DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF

PATIENT'S COMPLAINT: Sand finishes me!

DIAGNOSIS: New approach to the problem needed.

TREATMENT: Many golfers experience a sinking feeling when they see their ball plop into a sand trap. They feel that all is lost on this particular hole, and that they'll need to be pretty lucky to even get the ball out of the trap and onto some part of the green.

As I see it, there's no need to feel this way about a sand shot — provided you have a clear idea of how to handle it. I think the most important thing to keep in mind is that you want to hit the shot so as to make it rise out of the sand quickly and steeply.

To put it another way, think of trying to hit the ball as nearly straight up as possible.

This way of looking at the sand trap shot problem has always been helpful to me. I'm sure it'll help you, too.

When you take your stance for a trap shot, imagine that there's a little mound about a foot high and about a foot in front of your ball. Concentrate on getting the ball up quickly so as to clear this mound.

This little gimmick will help make you hit under and through the ball, as you should.

No Practice—Finsterwald Fires 68

Dow Is Unable to Take Tuneup for Motor City

Divides 2nd Place With Stranahan; Rudolph Is Leader at 67

By BILL CORNWELL

Maybe the old saying "practice makes perfect" is true, but you couldn't prove it by Dow Finsterwald.

Finsterwald was tied for 2nd place today, only one stroke out of the lead, as the Motor City Open golf tournament entered its 2nd round at Meadowbrook Country Club — and he never took a single practice shot.

Following his victory in the Cleveland Open last Sunday, Dow hopped a plane for home in Tequesta, Fla. He flew in to Detroit with his wife and three children Thursday morning and just arrived at Meadowbrook in time to start firing.

★ ★ ★

Without any chance for a tuneup, Finsterwald toured the par 35-36—71 course in 68 knocks to share the runnerup position with muscular Frank Stranahan, another Floridian from Crystal Falls.

The man at the head of the pack going into today's 18-hole session was bespectacled Mason Rudolph, who achieved national fame as an amateur golfer before turning pro a year ago.

Rudolph, a relaxed and unhurried player who hails from Clarksville, Tenn., collected five birdies and an eagle three on his way to a four-under-par 67, highlighted by a closing 32.

★ ★ ★

Rudolph's eagle, one of four made yesterday, came on the 507-yard 17th hole where he canned a 15 foot putt from four feet off the back of the green after overshooting with a 3-iron.

A double-bogey six on the 401-yard 7th hole and a bogey four on the 175-yard 13th were the only blemishes on Rudolph's scorecard.

Although a relative newcomer to the pro tour, Mason has landed in the money consistently. The Motor City is his 8th tourney start as a pro and he has yet to finish out of the money.

★ ★ ★

Stranahan, whose 1959 tournament performances have been predominately bad, played his best round of golf in three months while compiling a pair of 34's.

An eagle deuce on the 385-yard 14th hole was the feature of Stranahan's round as he knocked a 140-yard 7-iron shot into the cup. He also picked up four "birds."

Finsterwald's putter was his savior as he found himself in a good spot to take aim at his 2nd tourney victory in two weeks. Dow one-putted seven greens and had 28 putts altogether while notching three birdies. His scorecard read 33-35.

★ ★ ★

A veritable army was within easy striking distance of Rudolph when play began this morning over the 6,721-yard Meadowbrook layout.

Just two strokes behind at 69 were 11 pros, headed by PGA champ Bob Rosburg, Arnold Palmer, Mike Souchak and Australia's Bruce Crampton, who made the turn in 32 blows.

Nine others were deadlocked with 70's, including host pro Chick Harbert and Art Wall, the top money winner on the circuit. Another 13 were knotted at 71, making a total of 36 golfers even or below par.

Today's 148-man field will be cut to the low 70 pros and 10 amateurs for Saturday's 3rd round, then another 10 pros will get the ax for the 18-hole finale on Sunday.

The telecast will be carried over station WXYZ-TV, Channel 7. The tourney will be aired on Channel 7 from 5 to 6 p.m. tomorrow and from 4:30 until the completion of the event Sunday.

ALL WRAPPED UP — Doug Ford ducks the branches of a small tree as he takes his second shot on the 4th hole of the first round of the Motor City Open golf tournament which started yesterday at Meadowbrook Country Club. Ford finished the round with a 70 which is three strokes behind the leader Mason Rudolph who shot 35-32 for his 67. The tourney continues through Sunday.

The Tigers continue to draw despite their troubles. A crowd of 40,000 is expected tonight with Cleveland. This should move the attendance over 1,000,000 for tomorrow's game.

Marciano Admits Comeback Idea

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) —Rocky Marciano admitted Thursday he has been thinking about attempting a ring comeback.

"It's only an idea," the former heavyweight champion cautioned, "There isn't anything definite. However, I'm not saying I never think about it. If I do come back, it'll be a quick decision."

Marciano, who will be 35 on Sept. 1, says it would take about eight to 10 months of preparation, including about three good fights, to get him ready for a title bout.

Early Wynn's Greatness Overlooked

Chicago Hurler, Almost 40, Has Eye on 20 Wins

He Gains 16th Victory With 3-Hitter as Sox Blank Tigers, 9-0

By The Associated Press

Few realize just how great a pitcher Early Wynn really is.

Here's a fellow going on 40 en route to a 20-game winning season. How many pitchers do you suppose have won 20 at Wynn's age? Only two, and they rank among the four greatest pitchers ever. Cy Young won 20 when he was 41 and Grover Alexander won 21 at 40.

Wynn won his 16th yesterday in pitching the league-leading Chicago White Sox to a 9-0 victory over Detroit. He not only is the biggest winner in the league but he leads with five shutouts. The triumph was the 265th of his career, just 35 short of becoming the first pitcher since Lefty Grove to win 300 major league games.

The 39-year-old righthander limited the Tigers to three hits, all singles, while the Sox counted 14 safeties, including home runs by Jim Landis, Bubba Phillips, Earl Torgeson and Sherman Lollar.

And there was little relief in sight for the Tigers as the White Sox left town with two wins as against only one loss to Detroit in the series. Tonight the Tigers face the second-place Cleveland Indians and an old nemesis in Cal McLish who has a 14-5 record for the year.

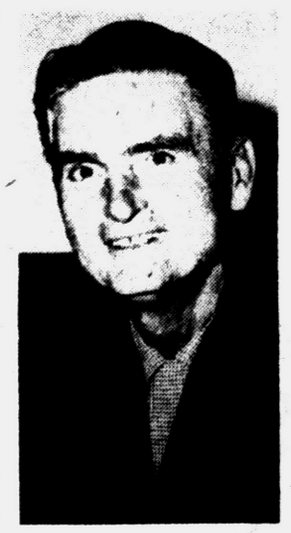

The Tigers will play the Indians in a three-game series here before meeting the New York Yankees next Tuesday. Frank Lary (14-7) will oppose McLish.

Don Mossi started Thursday's game against the White Sox, but lasted only two innings.

The first three White Sox batters to bat in the opening frame all scored. Hal Smith greeted Mossi with a single and Nelson Fox followed with a double. Both runners scored ahead of Landis as he belted a homer into the left field stands.

Phillips connected for his roundtripper before Mossi could retire the Sox in the first.

Torgeson added another run for the Sox when he cracked a bases empty homer off Ray Narleski in the fourth and Lollar connected for a solo blast in the eighth when Tom Morgan was on the mound for the Tigers.

ANOTHER CONTRACT—Paul Richards eliminated all doubts of his status with the Baltimore Orioles by signing another contract yesterday calling for $40,000 a year. His new contract is for two years.

20-9 Chicago Marathon Sets Record for Time

CHICAGO (AP) — Bill Rigney says he's glad it's all over but not glad about the way it turned out.

The manager of the National League-leading San Francisco Giants referred to yesterday's daffy game in Wrigley Field, won by the Chicago Cubs 20-9 in 3 hours and 50 minutes, the longest nine inning game in National League history.

From the fifth inning on the game was played under a protest lodged by Rigney, who was on the field about as much as the players themselves.

The protest came when the Cubs' Tony Taylor reached third base and then stepped from the bag to field a foul bouncer hit by teammate Ernie Banks.

It was just one of the crazy things that happened in the game. Rigney said:

"I strongly contend that Taylor violated the rule which specifically states: 'Interference by a batter or a runner intentionally deflecting the course of a foul ball in any manner is automatically out.'"

Taylor would have been the third out under Rigney's interpretation. If the protest, filed with the National League President Warren Giles, is upheld, the game will be replayed from the fifth inning on. The Cubs were leading 10-7 at the time.

"The ball bounced twice and Taylor caught it," said Rigney. "It seems clear to me the rule covers the situation. I know the same thing happened when I was managing Minneapolis. I protested but we won the game anyway and it never was followed through. But I was told by the American Assn. president then that if we had lost, the protest would have been allowed."

★ ★ ★

The Cub-Giant marathon had things really jumping. There was a total of 31 base hits, the Cubs getting 19 for 40 bases. Eight home runs were clouted, five by the Cubs. Thirteen passes were issued by seven Giant pitchers. In all 38 players were used, including 11 pitchers and 8 pinch hitters.

Jack Sanford, first of seven Giant pitchers, was ejected in the first inning along with teammate Daryl Spencer in a set-to with plate umpire Hal Dixon over a called ball.

★ ★ ★

Manager Bob Scheffing of the Cubs was given the heave-ho by umpire Vinny Smith in the third inning for protesting a play at first base.

Teeing Off

By BILL CORNWELL

You'd find it hard to believe that a golfer who plays the game for a living would be happy to be disqualified.

But John McMullin got the bounce yesterday in the first round of the Motor City Open golf tournament at Meadowbrook Country Club and he was the most delighted young man on the premises.

"I never was so glad to be disqualified from a tourney in my life," commented the slender 24-year-old touring professional who makes his home in Fair Oaks, Calif.

In view of all the things that happened to the sophomore pro yesterday, one can't bame him a bit. Everything went wrong for McMullin and here's the rundown of events that eventually led to his disqualification for attesting to an improper scorecard.

He took a practice swing in a trap at No. 7 and ticked the sand for a two-stroke penalty.

On the 13th hole he tried to chop his way out of the bushes and the ball struck his caddy on the leg for another two-stroke penalty.

At No. 14 McMullin overdrove the green, then drew another two-stroke fine for hitting the ball as it moved in the rough.

To top it all off, McMullin was disqualified for signing an erroneous scorecard after it was discovered that he had taken only a one-stroke penalty for the moving ball violation instead of two.

Every one of these violations was nothing more than a mental lapse by the good-natured youngster and all were of the unusual variety on the tour.

When the whole episode ended, McMullin laughed and announced that he was going to leave the tour for a spell and go home to his wife and daughter. "I think I need a rest," he quipped.

MOTOR CITY NOTES

Four other pros joined McMullin on the sidelines yesterday, but for physical reasons instead of the rule book.

J. C. Goosie quit on the 9th hole after he injured his left hand trying to make a southpaw 6-iron shot from behind a tree. An attack of hay fever forced Henry Ransom to withdraw. George Bernardin dropped out with a hand injury and an ailing back sent Jerry Magee to the sidelines.

Chuck Kocsis filed an entry for the Motor City event, but the Royal Oak amateur failed to show up.

Pete Cooper, former Knollwood pro who now plays out of Lakeland, Fla., whiffed a shot yesterday. The ball was against a tree and Cooper tried to hit it with the neck of the club. He fanned.

Amateurs Mike Conroy of Birmingham and Bud Stevens of Detroit posted eagle twos. Conroy sank a 50-yard chip shot on No. 9 and Stevens, State Amateur and Detroit District champion, canned a 75-yard wedge shot on the 10th hole.

An estimated 5,000 spectators attended Thursday's opening round. The thermometer hung around 90 degrees and the humidity was intense.

13th Bad Day for Birmingham

Ruth and LL Nines Lose Tourney Games by 1 Run

Two Birmingham junior baseball powers were eliminated in separate tournaments on Thursday the 13th.

The state champion Pioneers bowed to Harvey, Ill., 2-1 in the quarter-finals of the Ohio Valley Regional Babe Ruth meet at Ypsilanti.

Playing on its home grounds, Birmingham's defending state champion Little Leaguers bowed to Harper Woods 3-2 in the semi-finals.

An unearned run in the 3rd stood up until the 7th for the Pioneers but Carl Kalocsay gave up a single, double and single to lose it. Each team had muffed numerous scoring chances.

Host Ypsilanti bowed to Eau Claire, Wis., 5-2 and Anderson, Ind., blanked Tiffin, Ohio 9-0 in other games. Harvey plays the Kentucky team while Eau Claire and Anderson tangle today. The final is Saturday.

Birmingham's LL nine was down 3-0 before rallying for two in the 6th but that was all.

Harper vs. Hamtramck today at 5 p.m. at Eton Park for the Michblanked Kalamazoo 5-0 yesterday.

Pirates Advance in Baseball

Griff's 'B' Champions

There are no moans around Griff's Grill today about the 13th being unlucky. The restaurant's baseball and softball teams won playoff titles yesterday. The Pirates took 1st round Class A baseball honors.

★ ★ ★

Bruce Johnson's batting and the relief pitching of Jerry Pointer enabled the baseballers to nip Talbott Lumber 6-5 in a wild Class B final.

Johnson tripled a run across in the 5th and then homered with one on in the next frame to decide the issue. Talbott had led until the latter blast.

Pointer pitched his way out of jams in shutting out the Lumbermen in the last two innings.

Griff's will represent Pontiac in state play at Detroit during the Labor Day weekend. (The story on the softballers may be found elsewhere in this section).

The Pirates scored their runs in the 1st innings in beating the Jets 3-2. Winner Larry Demrick was replaced after giving up single runs in the 5th and 6th.

John Lucadam had two singles and one of the big rbi's for the Pirates. Ben Robinson smashed a double and two singles in defeat.

The Pirates and loop champions Knights of Columbus start of best-of-three series Monday to decide the city entry in the state tourney at Battle Creek over Labor Day.

Cards Sign Youngster

DEWITT, Iowa (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals Thursday signed pitcher Murray Vetter, 21, of Dewitt, to a contract with Winnipeg in the class C Northern League.

Richards Signs With Orioles Through 1961

BALTIMORE (AP)—Paul Richards, who describes his job as "one of the best in the majors," has signed to manage the Baltimore Orioles through the 1961 season.

★ ★ ★

The well-regarded manager reportedly has had offers from five other clubs and there was speculation earlier this year he would not remain with the Orioles when his three - year contract expired this season.

★ ★ ★

But at a press conference late yesterday, Richards said "I hope to remain in Baltimore until I'm through as a manager. I have no d sire to go anywhere else."

The 50-year-old native of Waxahachie, Texas, took over the hapless Orioles in 1955, serving in the unusual dual role of field manager and front office general manager.

Stan Musial Takes Place on Bench as Cards Lose

The End of a Baseball Era?

By The Associated Press

Two on and two out, St. Louis batting in the bottom of the ninth, trailing 7-6.

A perfect spot for Stan Musial. But that was yesteryear. Instead of Musial coming up to hit in that spot, the batter was rookie Gene Oliver, Stan's replacement. Musial? He was sitting on the bench. Stan the Man had become Stan the Old Man.

★ ★ ★

The fact that Oliver struck out ending the game is not important. The tragedy of it is that Musial, the greatest hitter in the National League in our time, was deemed too much of a risk to send up in that crucial spot.

In fairness, Solly Hemus, the aggressive Cardinal manager, probably was fearful of shattering Oliver's confidence. After all, it was Oliver who ignited the Cards' last ditch five-run rally with a homer in the ninth. Pinch hitter George Crowe followed a few moments later with a grand slam homer.

★ ★ ★

Just before the start of the game, General Manager Bing Devine of the Red Birds called a press conference and announced that the 38-year-old Musial would be benched for much of the rest of the season in favor of much younger Oliver. The 23-year-old freshman played in Musial's place at first base.

The Dodger victory lifted them into second place 2½ behind the San Francisco Giants who dropped a 20-9 slugfest to the Chicago Cubs, and a half game in front of the Milwaukee Braves who were beaten 9-8 by Cincinnati. Pittsburgh and Philadelphia were idle.

★ ★ ★

Los Angeles southpaw Sandy Koufax appeared certain to hurl his first complete game against St. Louis since coming to the National League in 1955, as he took a a 7-1 lead into the ninth. But the Cardinals sent him to the showers for the 12th time and it took two more pitchers to prevent the Cards from ending a losing streak that was extended to five games.

The Dodgers got half of their eight hits off starter and loser Bob Miller before knocking him out in the third. A two-run single by pinch hitter Carl Furillo in that inning proved to be the decisive bow.

Brooks Lawrence, third Cincinnati pitcher in the ninth, forced Eddie Mathews to foul out with the bases full to preserve the Reds' victory. The Braves, trailing 8-0 after four innings, battled back and were trailing 9-5 as they came to bat in the ninth. Singles by Henry Aaron, Joe Adcock, Johnny Logan and pinch hitter Stan Lopata, and a double by pinch hitter Andy Pafko, accounted for the three runs.

Frank Robinson hit a grand slam homer, the first of his major league career, and batted in a fifth run with a sacrifice fly, to lead the Reds attack against loser Bob Buhl and four relievers. Buhl has beaten the Reds only once in his career.

★ ★ ★

The Cubs pounded seven Giant pitchers for 19 hits, good for 40 total bases to set a season scoring high in a game that lasted 3 hours and 50 minutes, longest nine-inning game in league history. George Altman hit two homers for Chicago and drove in five runs. Alvin Dark helped with a grand slam homer.

Alaska Trek Fascinates 'Trippers'

By HOWARD SHELLEY

KING SALMON, ALASKA—Gallivanting about the "Big Land" of Alaska, one sees many fascinating things, meets highly interesting personalities.

The almost overpowering first glimpse of Mt. McKinley, North America's tallest peak at 20,300 feet, is an unforgettable thrill.

★ ★ ★

There are the glaciers of huge masses of snow and hard, blue ice, that become heavy from summer warmth and plow vast runways down the mountains to the valleys below.

An unforgettable character we met was a real Alaskan sourdough. "Old Sherman," 82-years-young, is still tending his big fish wheel on the swift, roily Susitna river.

"Old Sherman," gold miner, prospector, trapper, fisherman and dog-team driver, over more than a half century, is enjoying a "retired life." His cabin is surrounded by a potato patch, and points up the hardships of living off the land.

A pack of huskies barks a "hello, stranger" from a nearby shelter, while their owner works on drying salmon for winter food. He visits his wheel each day, removes the dog and red salmon, fillets them for drying on the racks over a slow wood fire for curing.

Yesterday "Old Sherman" discovered bear tracks along the path. Some of the fish racks were overturned.

★ ★ ★

Last night he slept on the grass beneath the rocks, with his .270 rifle close by. After a time he suddenly became aware of a huge shadow moving along the moon-lit path. "Old Sherman" poked his rifle through the tall grass and blasted the figure.

Townspeople gathered in the morning to view the hulking body of a big, dirty-yellow, fish-eating brown bear.

Truely "Old Sherman" was an unforgettable character.

From a low-flying bush plane one can often see giant bull moose, loitering by a marshy waterhole, or watch a frightened brownie bouncing toward the other side of the mountain.

Surrounded by three, five and as many as a dozen 1,000-pound brown bears, some as close as 50-60 yards near Kamishak Bay, was unquestionably the highlight of our wanderings in Alaska. Wildlife photographers do the darndest things!

★ ★ ★

There is so much to do and see that one never seems to have sufficient time to do them. We have enjoyed our visit with native Alaskans, and hope some of their easy-going manners rub off on the Shelleys.

We'll soon board a Northwest Airliner in Anchorage and head back to Michigan's Water Wonderland, via Seattle, Billings, Mont., Minneapolis and Detroit. We'll take with us the deep feeling that Alaska is really the "Big Land."

Softball Playoff Needs 2nd Game

Pharmacy Faces Dobski for NL Title; Sno-Bol Eliminates Nonne's

Lakeland Pharmacy extended the Waterford National League softball playoffs to the double elimination limit and Nonne's Restaurant was eliminated from the American League tourney in games last night at Drayton Plains.

A three-run uprising in the 5th inning on three errors and two hits brought the Pharmacy a 3-2 victory over previously unbeaten Dobski's Bar. A Dobski rally in the 7th died with the tying run on 3rd base.

Bill Pittman Jr. pitched hitless ball for six and two-thirds innings, then Dobski's Ken Morrow doubled and the Lakeland hurler had to settle for a one-hitter. Ralph Long was the loser on a three-hitter.

Sno-Bol tallied twice in the 6th stanza to gain a 4-2 triumph over Nonne's behind the five-hit hurling of Dale Badder. Sno-Bol made six hits off Norm Jennings, two each by Pat Brennen and Bob Deering.

Lakeland and Dobski battle for the National loop crown tonight at 8:30. Sno-Bol and Spencer Floor Covering square off in the opener at 7 o'clock with the winner meeting undefeated Drayton Drug for the American division title.

Promoter Ron Waller Wants Moore, Ingo

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Ron Waller, former Los Angeles Rams halfback, has entered the bidding for an Archie Moore-Ingemar Johansson fight in Los Angeles.

Waller's publicity man, Bill Miller, said Thursday night that Waller went to Montreal for the Moore-Yvon Durelle fight and is prepared to offer a huge guarantee.

Waller recently was licensed to promote boxing matches in Santa Monica.

Rademacher Winner of First Pro Fight

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — Pete Rademacher won his first professional fight Thursday night with a fifth round technical knockout over Tommy Thompson of Washington, D.C.

★ ★ ★

Circumstances were much different this time than in the Georgians heavyweight's two previous bouts. Rademacher, 1956 Olympic champion, launched his pro career two years ago in a much ballyhooed title fight against Floyd Patterson. Patterson knocked him out in the sixth round.

Last year, Pete met Zora Folley, a leading contender, in a nationally televised bout, and was kayoed in four rounds.

Lands Biggest Bass

Denny Shearer, 13, and his friend, Wally Nabozny, went fishing at Cedar Island lake, yesterday. Denny, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Shearer, 800 Ennest Rd., Rt. 5, Milford, hooked a fighting largemouth bass that gave him a hot battle. The boys were so excited at taking the fish they just quit then and there.

The bass was 14¾-inches long, weighed nearly two pounds and was Denny's biggest black bass. It wasn't quite big enough to qualify for The Press "big fish derby," in which the top bass is a 6-pounder.

Betsy Rawls Tops Western Open at 70

SEATTLE (AP) — Betsy Rawls carried a one-stroke lead into the second round of the $7,500 Women's Western Open golf championship today after a bit of delayed magic gave her a two-under-par 70 yesterday.

The Spartanburg, S. C., professional, leading money winner of the current season, carded an unimpressive 38 on the first nine holes of the Rainier Country Club layout, and then plucked out four birdies on the homecoming nine for a 32.

She needed every one to take the lead from Betty Jameson, San Antonio, Tex. Miss Jameson also turned in 38, then finished with a 33.

★ ★ ★

Louise Suggs of Sea Island, Ga., four-time winner of this tourney, was in third place with an even par 72. Marlene Hagge, Pittsburgh, finished with a 73.

Young Murle MacKenzie of St. Petersburg, Fla., held fourth place with a 74.

Van Pelt Starts Strong

VANCOUVER (AP) — Quarterback Jim Van Pelt former University of Michigan star, tossed three touchdown passes and scored one last night as the Grey Cup champion Winnipeg Blue Bombers whipped the British Columbia Lions 42-20. Cardinals Doormat of NFL but Not Easy for Lions

Expect 50,000 for Exhibition Football Clash

Cards Own 2 Victories in Previous Meeting With Detroit

The Chicago Cardinals have been the doormat of the Eastern Division in the National Football League, but they have not been easy meat for the Detroit Lions.

Saturday night's game in Norman, Okla., will be the first preseason game in three years between the two teams, but in two previous meetings the Cardinals won each time.

In 1956, in Mobile, Ala., the Cardinals won 20-17 and in 1955 they won 17-16 in St. Louis.

The game is sponsored by the Oklahoma City All-Sports Assn. and indications are that a crowd approaching 50,000 will be on hand for the clash. A block of 30,000 tickets, half of the seating capacity of Owen Stadium, are being distributed by the IGA stores of Oklahoma and the remainder are available to the public.

It will be a homecoming of sorts for Frank "Pop" Ivy, head coach of the Cardinals. Ivy played his college football at Oklahoma and received his early coaching experience there before moving into Canadian football, from whence he graduated into the National Football League coaching ranks.

The Cardinals opened their preseason campaign with an international victory over the Toronto Argonauts, 55-27, last week, while the Lions kicked off the 1959 campaign with a 20-20 tie against the Los Angeles Rams last Saturday at Boulder, Colo.

Coach George Wilson of the Lions will have the same personnel available against the Cardinals as carried the load against the Rams. Six members of the College All-Star squad, fullback Nick Pietrosante, guards Mike Rabold, Bob Grottkau, Phil Blazer, Harry Jacobs and tackle Ron Luciano, will be on hand but probably will not see much action.

Veteran end Jim Doran, tackle John Gordy and halfback Gene Gedman will definitely miss the game because of injuries. Defensive halfback Gary Lowe will see action for the first time after missing the opener because of National Guard training. Wilson has indicated that Earl Morrall will start at quarterback and probably will play the first half, with Tobin Rote and Jerry Reichow sharing the signal-calling duties in the second half.

Lucky Little Angler

Ten-year-old Martha Burkett and her mother, Mrs. Harry D. Burkett, 4390 Cass-Elizabeth rd., went fishing on Elizabeth Lake, off their home, yesterday. Martha hooked and landed a 14½-inch smallmouth bass, estimated at about two pounds in weight. It was her biggest fish of the summer.

A small minnow was the lure. Both mother and daughter are ardent anglers, according to Mr. Burkett.

Notes From Pro Training Camps:

NFL Teams Gear for Exhibitions

MORAGA, Calif. (AP) — Coach Red Hickey Thursday came up with only one rookie in his San Francisco 49ers starting line-up for Sunday's National Football League exhibition against Washington.

Monte Clark, Southern California tackle, was the lone freshman.

Backfield on offense is an all-veteran quartet — quarterback Y. A. Tittle, halfbacks Hugh McElhenny and R. C. Owens, and fullback Joe Perry.

In he defensive line were Bob St. Clair, 265, and Frank Morze, 275, switched from offensive posts. The other lineman is Leo Nomellini, 225.

★ ★ ★

Dennit Morris, Jerry Tubbs, and Mat Hazeltine, are the linebackers and the defensive backfield consists of Jerry Mertens, Abe Woodson, Bill Stits and Dick Moegle.

On offense, Clyde Conner and Billy Wilson start at ends, Clark and John Gonzaga at tackles, Bruce Bosley and Ted Connolly at guards and Karl Rubke at center.

WINOOSKI, Vt. (AP) — Coach Jim Lee Howell of the New York Giants reported Thursday night that defensive tackle Dick Modzelewski probably will miss the Giants' exhibition game with Philadelphia in Hershey, Pa., Saturday night.

Modzelewski suffered bruised knee in a recent intrasquad game. Sam Huff, linebacker, may see limited service. He has a bruised elbow.

Howell said four rookies who will play for the College All-Stars Friday against the Baltimore Colts in Chicago will fly to Hershey in time for Saturday's game.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Coach Mike Nixon of the Washington Redskins selected 44 players Thursday for the trip to San Francisco and Sunday's game with the 49ers.

CALIFORNIA, Pa. (AP) — Three rookies were dropped by the Pittsburgh Steelers Thursday, reducing the squad roster to 50.

The departing players are Bob Stark, fullback from Pitt; Clive Bullion, halfback from San Jose State; and Jack Klotz, center from West Chester, Pa. Teachers.

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP) — Tackle Proverb Jacobs is literally fighting to preserve his starting position with the Philadelphia Eagles.

For the second time in the Eagles training camp, Jacobs exchanged blows with a teammate, this time with end Ed Kayat. The fight came at the height of a scrimmage in which linebacker Bob Pelligrini and end Harold Dukes also squared off.

NFL Commissioner Bert Bell witnessed the scrimmage, which he described as spirited.

Every available spot where a spectator could sit, or stand, was taken up at Thursday's final swimming and diving contests in Pontiac Northern High School's fine pool. Thursday's event followed a round of preliminaries last weekend. The tourney was conducted by the Pontiac Recreation Department as a climax for its summer-long swim program.

Preceding the finals were a number of highly interesting demonstrations of beginning swimming teaching progression; intermediate swimming; elementary and advanced forms of rescue; scuba diving elements and synchronized swimming by a group which won first place at the MRA synchronized finals in Ferndale, a week ago.

Griff's Gains IL Playoff Title

Grill Nips Police, 2-1; Sno-Bol, Stadium Inn Exhibition Victors

Griff's Grill walked off with lower bracket honors in the International League softball playoffs by nipping the Pontiac Police 2-1 last night.

Algie Black hurled a five-hitter while his mates were taking advantage of five costly errors by the patrolmen to clinch the game early.

Sno-Bol and Stadium Inn took exhibition triumphs in preparing for the state tournaments.

Three pitchers combined for a three-hitter as Sno-Bol, the Class AA champion, blanked Class B Casa Mia, 3-0. Art Ruelle and Gene Shell had two hits apiece to pace the victors.

Stadium Inn, Class A, had an easy tuneup blasting "C" champion Harrison's Grill 10-2 on Jake Mazur's three-hit chucking. Homer Harrison got two of six hits.

Admits Parties for Military

Aircraft Firm Chief Tells of Gay Weekends for Officers in Bahamas

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A top official of the Martin Co. admitted to house investigators Thursday that his firm had flown highranking military officers to an exclusive country club in the Bahamas for gay weekend parties.

George M. Bunker, chairman of the board of the firm, was promtly told to supply a House armed forces investigating subcommittee with a complete list of the officers who made the trips. It was brought out that Martin deducts the cost of the junket in its tax payments.

The subcommittee is investigating possible influence peddling on defense contracts, especially by retired military brass and so-called "munitions lobby."

Martin, which produces the Titan and other missiles, has about 800 million dollars worth of defense work under contract.

Bunker said the purpose of the weekend pleasure trips was to bring about a "closer relationship" between Martin officials and those in the military, government and industry.

Rep. Porter Hardy Jr. (D-Va.) demanded to know if any of the officers who went had defense contract dealings with Martin.

"We make no distinction," Bunker said. "There is no limitation—we take them all."

He said the Martin Co., picks up the tab for the weekend entertainment at an exclusive country club called "eleutheria" on one of the Alantic ocean isles off the Florida coast.

Chairman F. Edward Hebert (D-La.) told reporters following the hearing that they could draw their conclusion as to why the parties were given. Asked how often the parties were given, Hebert replied: "frequently enough."

Press and public were barred from the hearing, but, undoubtedly, use or mususe of the famous flower fund of the Union figured in the questioning.

Archaeological Diggings at Fort Meeting Success

MACKINAW CITY (UP)—Archaeological diggings at the Fort Michilimackinac site are meeting success beyond expectations.

Dr. Moreau S. Maxwell of Michigan State University, one of the project's supervisors, said excavations already have uncovered stone foundations of a barracks building put up around 1770.

Several other structures in the forest have been unearthed, and the huge mass of artifacts uncovered in the few weeks work so far will make it one of the great research collections of Indian, French and British materials of the period, Maxwell said.

Dr. S. K. Stevens, director of the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Collection, had high praise for the work on a weekend visit.

"The most careful archaeological excavation of its kind that I ever have seen" commented Stevens.

Traverse City Canneries Finish '59 Cherry Crop

TRAVERSE CITY (UPI) — Traverse City's four canneries today shifted their attention from cherries to other fruits following completion of canning operations on the 1959 cherry crop.

F.&M. Packing Co. completed its cherry canning operations Wednesday and three other canners wound up the cherry pack two days ago. The cannery will now start processing plums, apples and crab apples.

The 1959 cherry pack was one of the best in the area's history.

Buy In When Stocks Drop

Mutual Funds Growth Fantastic

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Fast-growing mutual funds and the part they play in the stock market are one of the most talked about phenomena in the postwar financial world.

And today you may be wondering what part they are taking in this week's roller coaster market. Traders outside the funds themselves closely watch what stocks the funds buy and sell and how they change their portfolios, notably over the years, and how much total holdings have grown.

When traders rush to sell stocks, as they did Monday, who is it that buys them? Someone has to or there couldn't have been some four million shares sold.

In Wall Street the belief is that a sizable part of the buying was done by mutual funds, always on the search for bargains, and noticeably more active during previous market breaks.

The funds steadily get more money to invest. Some of this money comes from one-shot investments by the public.

★ ★ ★

But a lot of it comes from steady investment under accumulation plans calling for purchase of mutual fund shares at more or less regular periods.

TOTAL 1½ BILLION

The National Assn. of Investment Companies reports that its 150 member firms now have more than one million accumulation plans in force with an estimated value of 1½ billion dollars. Just five years ago there were only 190,000 of these steady purchase plans valued at less than 300 million dollars.

Not all purchases by the funds turn out to be profitable, any more than do those by individuals. And that old chant, "If I'd just bought General Motors stock in 1927 and held it, I'd be wealthy today" often overlooks an equal truism—"If I'd bought New York Central stock then and held it, today I'd be out some 81 per cent of what I put into it."

★ ★ ★

A peek at how one big mutual fund has changed its portfolio over the years—getting out of whole industries, and stocking up on others that have bloomed in recent years is afforded today by Dwight P. Robinson Jr., chairman of Massachusetts Investors Trust, Boston.

When the fund started in June 1924 it had $29,300 to invest and its common stock portfolio held shares of 45 companies, only 15 of them in the present portfolio of 121 common stocks.

Robinson notes what has happened to holdings of six prominent ones. Originally MIT had 10 shares of U.S. Steel valued at $971.50; 10 of GM at $670; 10 of Eastman Kodak at $1,077.75; 10 of Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe at $1,041.50; 20 of Texas Co. at $780.55, and 5 of National Lead at $729.13.

★ ★ ★

Eastman Kodak is the only one of the six that has been in the portfolio continuously over the 35 years. Through stock splits the original 10 shares by March 1959 had grown to 77, valued at about $11,802.

★ ★ ★

If MIT had kept the original 10 shares of National Lead they would have grown to 549, valued at about $62,791.

All six of the stocks named are again in MIT's portfolio today, but in much larger amounts: 560,000 shares of U.S. Steel valued at 55 million dollars; 721,000 of GM at 37 million; 222,000 shares of Eastman Kodak at 19 million; 775,000 of Santa Fe at 23½ milion; 527,100 of Texaco at $42½ million, and 128,112 of National Lead at nearly

Far Apart on Whether Court Rulings Weaken U.S. Security

CHICAGO (AP) — The security of the United States has not been endangered by any Supreme Court decision, says the American Bar Assn. Committee on the Bill of Rights in a report made public Wednesday.

★ ★ ★

The ABA's Committee on Communist Tactics, Strategy and Objectives had referred to the court decisions as "illustrative of how our security has been weakened." A resolution, based on the report and adopted by the ABA House of Delegates in February, did not contain that phrase.

★ ★ ★

In disagreeing with the Communist Tactics Committee viewpoint, the Bill of Rights Committee said:

"This committee is unable to see any indication that the security of the nation or of the states has been impaired by the Supreme Court. No matter what the sympathies of the bar may be in specific instances of litigation, there should be no question of their sympathy with and their regard for the institution of a courageous and independent judiciary, even though this necessarily means that from time to time decisions will be handed down disappointing to the interests of someone."

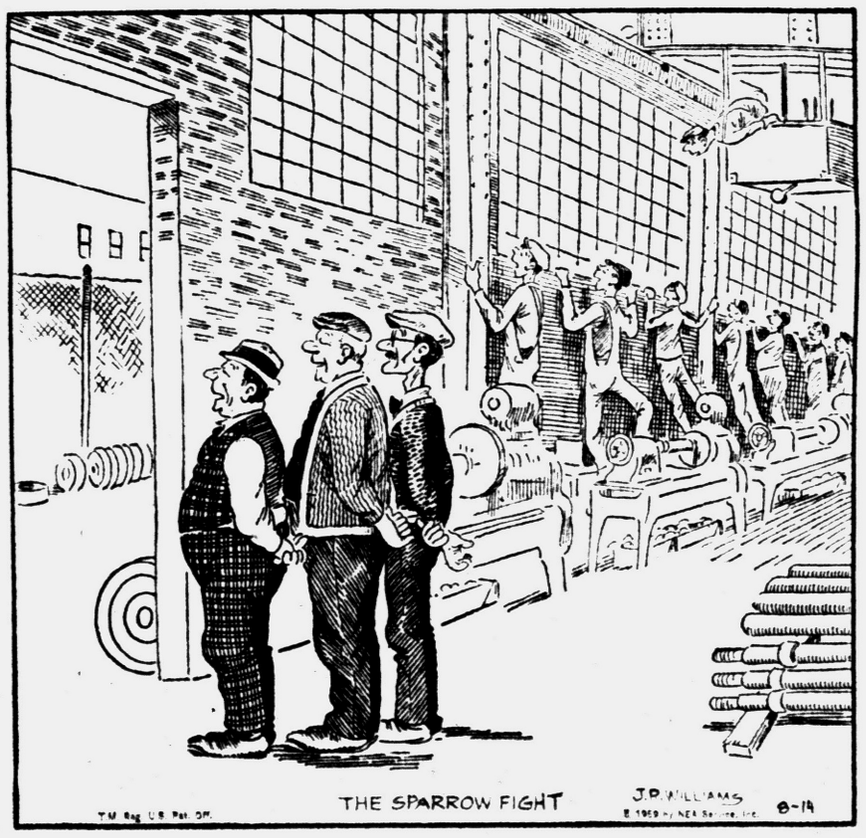

This advisory report will be submitted to the ABA House of Delegates meeting later this month in Miami, Fla.

The Bill of Rights Committee is headed by Joseph Harrison, Newark, N. J., attorney.

Grain Futures Stabilizing

CHICAGO (AP)—The grain futures market swung toward firmness today in early transactions on the Board of Trade for the first time since the government crop report was issued on Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

Most gains were in small fractions of a cent and appeared to reflect a feeling that adjustment to the report had been fairly well completed.

Soybeans, off sharply in the two previous sessions, were among the leaders in the advances.

Export business steadied wheat. Pakistan bought 783,000 bushels of hard and Poland 750,000 bushels.

★ ★ ★

After about an hour wheat was $^1/_8$ to $^5/_8$ cent a bushel higher. September $1.89; corn $^3/_8$ to $^5/_8$ higher, September $1.20; oats unchanged to $^1/_4$ higher, September new type contract 67$^5/_8$; rye unchanged to $^1/_2$ higher, September $1.32; soybeans $^5/_8$ to $^3/_4$ higher, September 2.11^1/_2$.

'Little Rock Like Hungary,'—Faubus friends who had guarded her had been arrested.

At Gettysburg, Pa., the temporary White House withheld comment on the telegram. Acting press secretary Wayne Hawks said it had not been seen by the President, Hawks said the telegram was addressed to the White House in Washington where it was not received until this morning.

If the usual procedure is followed, Hawks said, the telegram will be referred to Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers.

Faubus said it was the governor's duty to take control of any situation which local authorities could not handle.

Some 200 segregationists clashed with police near Central High School Wednesday. Police quelled the disturbance with clubs and later with help of fire hoses. Since then there have been only minor incidents, mostly involving juveniles.

★ ★ ★

The Little Rock School Board announced the high schools would continue on their half-day schedules for at least two more weeks. Hall is running from 9:30 a.m. to noon and Central from 1 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. this week, but next week all the high schools will operate only during morning hours.

Mrs. Bates asked the President for protection but did not say what type she wanted.

"I don't care how they do it," she said. "They can set up a machine gun in my front yard if they want to."

Mrs. Bates, a leader in the integration movement for the past three years, listed at a news conference incidents which she said occurred at her home—bombs thrown on the lawn, shots fired at the house and bricks hurled through windows.

★ ★ ★

Faubus caleld Mrs. Bates' appeal to President Eisenhower a "grandstand play." He said he had not heard about the arrest of her house guard and two other Negroes, one the father of an integrated pupil, until hours after it had happened.

Trading Stays Slow, Uneven

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market remained in a wait-and-see mood as prices moved unevenly in slow trading early today.

Gains and losses of fractions to about a point were scattered through the list of key stocks.

The electronics were mostly higher in a moderate recovery from recent wide losses. News of contracts and earnings helped some.

Most of the motor shares were steady. Ford, an exception, dropped a fraction.

★ ★ ★

Fairchild Engine was about unchanged following news it will build a new private airplane. Boeing eased. Other aircrafts showed little change.

Steels were narrowly mixed. Bethlehem was steady. U. S. Steel and Lukens dropped fractions.

Small gainers including Westinghouse Electric, Merck, Royal Dutch, International Telephone and American Motors, Allied Chemical and Goodyear rose about a point.

Sisters in 80s Found Helpless After 3 Days

PORT HURON (AP)—Two elderly spinsters were found lying helpless in a room when police broke into their home last night to investigate reports they had not been seen in days.

★ ★ ★

One woman, Bertha Way, a retired Port Huron school teacher, was pinned under a chest of drawers. Her sister, Jane, an invalid, was unable to leave her bed. Both women are in their 80s.

Police estimated they had been without aid for three days.

Slides Into Deputy's Arms

Capture 2 After Chase

A burglary suspect was apprehended this morning when he literally slid into the outstretched arms of a sheriff's deputy.

The capture followed a brief chase which took place in Avon Township when Oakland County sheriff's deputies spotted the car of two men wanted by Pontiac police in connection with a break-in.

One of the suspects, Donald T. Rains, 23, was chased around his home at 2341 Auburn Rd. Deputies fired several warning shots but Rains escaped through another yard, they said.

Unable to find Rains' partner, Darrell W. LaPoint, 21, address unknown, deputies said they left the Rains house. Deputy Donald J. Johnston stayed behind, at the rear of the home, in case either of the suspects returned.

Crouched behind bushes, Johnston heard a noise. LaPoint had been on the roof. He swung over the roof's edge and grabbed a railing running upstairs to a second floor apartment, officers said.

★ ★ ★

He slid silently down the railing — into the outstretched arms of Johnston. The surprised LaPoint surrendered meekly, according to the deputies.

Rains was apprehended moments later in a nearby vacant lot on Hartline street. Both were booked at the Oakland County Jail for investigation of breaking and entering in the nighttime.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac Police were to question the men today. Three sheriff's cars were assisted in the search by Rochester Police.

After 3-Month Ordeal

'Recluse' Readjusting

A 32-year-old ex-Marine who stumbled out of a wooded swamp area in Bloomfield Hills after living on wild berries, green apples and creek water for three months is now trying to re-adjust to society.

Recovering in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital from his self-imposed ordeal, Bernard J. Blechars of Detroit gratefully downed a meal of ham, potatoes, vegetables and milk yesterday.

"It tastes pretty good," he said.

Blechars said he went into the woods to get away from civilization and think over his problems. He was behind in alimony and support payments to his wife, Nancy, 25, and their four-year-old daughter, Jill.

He said he had other problems, too.

Asked what he did all that time in the woods, Blechars replied:

"I didn't do anything. I just thought."

★ ★ ★

Police found Blechars sitting alongside a curb on Woodward avenue south of Long Lake road. He was in rags and weighed only 80 pounds. He weighed 170 pounds when he began his life as a recluse.

His former wife visited him at the hospital yesterday. She said she'd take him back if he could overcome drinking and other problems. They were divorced last year after four years of marriage.

During World War II, Blechars spent 22 months on a Pacific island as a Marine.

Chaos Coming Over Use Tax

State Supreme Court 'Sure to Throw It Out' as Unconstitutional

LANSING (UPI) — State attorneys warned today of further fiscal chaos as they geared for a Supreme Court test of the expected boost in use (sales) tax.

Attorney General Paul L. Adams said there was a "serious question" about the constitutionality of the tax that is to help finance a record budget and whittle a record deficit.

★ ★ ★

"This appears to be sheer subterfuge to get around the constitutional prohibition," the Democratic officeholder said.

Adams referred to Section 23 of the Finance and Taxation Article of the State Constitution, which says ". . . at no time shall the legislature levy sales tax of more than 3 per cent."

Rep. Rollo C. Conlin (R-Tipton), chairman of the House Tax Committee and a champion of the income tax, predicted the high court would rule the use tax boost unconstitutional "because, among other things, the use tax is just an arm of the sales tax."

Conlin said the 1959 tax fight was far from over. He said he expected another round after the anticipated court test.

★ ★ ★

Alfred B. Fitt, Gov. G. Menen Williams' legal advisor, said "most lawyers" beleive the state court will throw out the use tax.

"Once the law is enacted, there will be a period of uncertainty," Adams said.

After seven months of wrangling, there appeared to be no doubt that the GOP plan for a penny boost in the use tax would be adopted — as soon as agreement is reached on a secondary source of revenue.

Adams, who said there was not complete agreement on the constitutional question within his own office, said he was studying means of getting a "speedy test" in the high court.

It was possible the court would be asked to issue an injunction to prevent collection of the tax.

2 Firemen Injured in Marshall Blaze

MARSHALL (AP) — Two firemen suffered injuries today in a battle against flames which swept a two-story frame building housing a Marshall appliance store and Michigan State Highway Department offices.

★ ★ ★

Four neighboring units aided the Marshall crew in battling the blaze at the (White House) appliance store operated by Bill Rodfield.

★ ★ ★

Marshall Fireman John Blodgett suffered shoulder and neck injuries when struck by a portion of the roof which collapsed in flames. Fellow crewmen James Beattie required medical attention for a sliver in an eye.

Fire Chief Bruce O'Leary was unable immediately to determine a cause of the fire or estimate financial loss.

Ike and Guests Get In Early Round of Golf

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UPI) — President Eisenhower and three house guests made up a foursome today for an early morning round of golf.

★ ★ ★

Joining the President at the Gettysburg Golf Course were business executives William E. Robinson, W. Alton Jones and Clifford Roberts. They teed off about 7:30 a.m. EST.

★ ★ ★

Acting presidential press secretary, Wayne Hawks, said Eisenhower had no scheduled callers today. The President, enjoying fine weather for his vacation here, was expected to cut his desk work to a minimum.

Defends Right to Drown Despite Guard's Order

PERRANPORTH, England (UPI)—Dr. Michael Gill-Carey today defended his right to drown.

The doctor and his wife were ordered out of the water by a lifeguard here because of a dangerous ebb tide. In a letter to the local council, Gill-Carey protested that the lifeguard "encroached upon my freedom as an individual to do what I pleased."

School Meetings Must Be Public

Williams Signs Bill Requiring Boards to Open All Sessions

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Williams yesterday signed into law a bill requiring school board meetings to be open to the public.

Under the new law, no person can be excluded from such meetings and school board records are public records.

★ ★ ★

Executive sessions are permitted, but no final action can be taken in such closed meetings.

The governor vetoed a bill that would have permitted the subpoenaing of a judgment debtor to a justice court without proof that he failed to respond to a request for payment.

"To require the debtor to answer such a subpoena under threat of a contempt citation, without any entitlement to witness fees or travel expenses, when the debtor might have paid voluntarily upon request, seems to me to be unfair and oppressive," Williams said.

★ ★ ★

Other bills of general interest signed would:

Permit state banks to invest in small business investment companies and to participate with such companies in making loans.

Permit school districts to borrow against anticipated primary school interest money for the current fiscal year.

News in Brief

An estimated $200 damage to a boat was caused last night by children who threw a burning sparkler on a tarpaulin covering the craft behind the home of its owner, Leo Angott, 59 W. Glass Rd., Brandon Township, setting fire to the canvas cover, sheriff's deputies said.

Thieves broke into the Oakley Park United Missionary Church, 2800 Fisher St., Commerce Township, last night and escaped with an estimated $10 from a piggy bank, according to sheriff's deputies.

12-Town Drain Makes Progress

Rerouting to Bypass New Xway Not Blocked by Communities

The long-delayed Twelve Town storm relief drain was a step nearer reality today.

Representatives from 11 south Oakland County communities raised no objections to rerouting portions of the drain around the upcoming Oakland County expressway between Pontiac and Detroit.

★ ★ ★

Drain officials held an open hearing on the changes today.

Drain Commissioner Daniel W. Barry said the way was paved for engineers to bring in final cost estimates soon.

He said that changes because of the expressway would up the total cost "a little."

In 1957, the cost of the drain was estimated at $44,092,000. Barry expected the cost would be higher now.

Still facing the drain Commission is agreement by the 14 participating communities on their apportioned shares of the total cost.

★ ★ ★

Legal action blocked establishment of apportioned costs three years ago and set off a long legal struggle which finally was resolved in favor of the county by the State Supreme Court.

In the planning stage since 1952, the drain is designed mainly to curb seasonal basement flooding.

Clear Pontiac Men in Death of Doctor

Two Pontiac brothers who matched the description of the gunman who shot Dr. W. Carleton Warrick were cleared of any complicity in the baffling murder after taking lie detector tests yesterday.

One took a lie detector test at the Redford State Police Post, the other at the East Lansing Post.

The 71-year-old physician was shot July 24 in his office at 24½ E. Huron St.

Police have not been able to determine the motive for the killing nor to find the murder weapon.

Money left on the floor and in the doctor's trousers lead police to believe that money was not the motive.

Local 351 Head to Stand Trial

Paul Silver in Court Sept. 18 Result of Bout at Cross in Fraser

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP) — Paul Silver, president of United Auto Workers Local 351, has been ordered to stand trial Sept. 18 as a result of a pushing match yesterday involving a policeman at the struck Cross Co. in nearby Fraser.

★ ★ ★

At the same time, the company lost a circuit court bid for reinstatement of an injunction restraining pickets in the 10-day strike.

Silver, who was accused of being a "guest picket" for striking Local 155, stood mute when arraigned in justice court before Judge Francis Castellucci on a charge of obstructing entrance to a place of employment.

He was released on $300 bond. Local 155 called the strike in a jurisdictional dispute with Cross management.

★ ★ ★

As nearly 100 cars belonging to office and engineering employes drove through the plant gates yesterday, Silver started slowing down as he marched across the driveway, police said.

Fraser Policeman Kenneth Riley, one of six officers on duty at the plant, said he put his hand on Silver to speed him up. Riley said Silver snapped "get your hands off me" and shoved the officer back.

★ ★ ★

Riley escorted Silver to a police car as other UAW members rushed to the gates.

The only other incident yesterday was an egg thrown at a car.

A company attorney, Robert C. Winter, asked Circuit Judge Alton H. Noe for an injunction against mass picketing. Winters said he has 25 affidavits from employes charging stoning, intimidation and threats of violence.

Judge Noe denied the company request nda ordered a show cause hearing today. A previous restraining order issued by the judge was lifted later after an informal set of rules was worked out for the pickets.

Ask Ex-Navy Official About Questionnaire

WASHINGTON (UPI) —House investigators today called former navy secretary Dn Kimball to quiz him on why 26 officials of the Aerojet General Corp. gave identically worded answers to a congressional questionnaire.

Kimball is president of the California firm, which did more than 162 million dollars worth of defense work for the government last year.

The executives involved are all retired high-ranking military officers and former government officials. They gave identical replies of more than 40 words to two key questions on the form.

Charge Pontiac Man With Burning His Car

Accused of setting his car afire, a 22-year-old Pontiac man will be arraigned in Oakland County Circuit Court Monday on a charge of arson of personal property.

Melvin Ray Williams was bound over for trial following examination before Municipal Judge Maurice E. Finnegan Wednesday.

Williams of 292 Howard McNeill St. is free under $100 bond pending his arraignment.

His 1959 auto was burned and totally destroyed July 22 at the rear of 115 Branch street, police officers said.

Blue Cross to Cover Youths, Old Dependents

DETROIT (AP) — Two new provisions which will extend health insurance coverage to dependents of employe group subscribers were announced today by Michigan Blue Cross-Blue Shield.

To be offered to groups coming under the firm's new M-75 program, the "special coverage riders" will permit subscribers to cover parents, children over 19 and other family members for whom they provide more than half-support.

Previously, children were taken off their parents' policy when they reached 19. Aged relatives or other dependents over 18 were ineligible for coverage.

Motorists Club Decides to Keep Errant Member

LONDON (UPI) — The Institute of Advanced Motorists yesterday decided to let bygones be bygones. It announced it probably would not drop the membership privileges of racing driver Stirling Moss, who was recently fined $28 for a traffic violation.

Teamster Subpoenas McClellan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Detroit Teamsters Union official William Bufalino had a subpoena served today on Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark), chairman of the Senate Rackets committee.

★ ★ ★

Bufalino has had some heated clashes with the committee in its investigations of the teamsters.

McClellan told a reporter he had been served with the subpoena this morning. It calls him to testify at a pre-trial hearing Sept. 15 in a $3½ million dollar federal court suit Bufalino and a group of relatives have filed here against Time, Inc., publishers of Time Magazine.

McClellan said the subpoena called for him to produce "all unprivileged books, records, documents, data and other tangible matter" relating to issues in the case.

★ ★ ★

"I don't have any unprivileged documents that I know of," McClellan said, but added that he would respond to thes ubpoena. He said he assumed that "unprivileged" meant documents and other tangible matter not surrounded with congressional immunity from being subpoenaed unless the Senate consents.

Lansing Auto Plants Make Changeovers

LANSING (UPI)—Lansing auto plants were making model changeovers this week in preparation for manufacture of 1960 cars.

Oldsmobile Division of General Motors planned to begin producing new models Aug. 31, while Fisher Body Division was expected to be producing bodies for next year's cars in about a week.

★ ★ ★

Olds closed down manufacture of 1959 models yesterday after building 382,865 of them.

All Seaway Ships Must Undergo Rigid Quarantine

Passengers and crewmen are given physical examinations, and the vessels and cargoes are checked for rodents, insects and other disease carriers.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF MARY Zarzorian, who pased away August 13, 1957.
Time speeds on two years have passed
Since death it's gloom, it's shadows cast
Within our home, where all seemed bright,
And took from us a shining light.
We miss that light, and ever will,
Her vacant place there's none to fill
Down here we mourn, but not in vain,
For up in heaven we will meet again.
Sadly missed by her Husband Garabed; daughters, Daisy Johnson, Virginia Owens; Sons, John & Mike.

IN MEMORY OF DENISE Majesk, Sorge
Sadly missed by her mother Norma McIntyre.

Three-Year-Old Makes Driving a Do-It-Yourself

WACO, Tex. (UPI)—Tommy Dale Palley decided to learn to drive without instruction and hopped into his parents' auto yesterday to do it.

He wheeled down Waco's 10th street for a while but lost control, smashed through a vacant lot and hit a pear tree.

The unscratched, inexperienced driver soon lost all interest in his accident and began to harvest the pears his battered car had knocked off the tree.

Three-year-olds get hungry sometimes.

Rita Hayworth's Girl Isn't Noticed at Beach

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Princess Yasmin, Rita Hayworth's 9-year-old daughter, went swimming at the exclusive Beach Point Club at Mamaroneck—but very few knew that this was the often-headlined little girl now en route to the Riviera to join her father, Aly Khan. Her hostess, Mrs. Bernard Kamber, introduced her to everybody at the club as simply, "Yasmin Khan."

Good Old Summer, Plain Old TV Shows

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—They call it the good old summer time, but network television has more that's old than good in the coming week. However, to be as optimistic about it as possible:

★ ★ ★

The Dodgers play the St. Louis Cardinals on NBC Saturday afternoon. Again on Sunday, same network, the same teams will play again.

★ ★ ★

Gov. David L. Lawrence of Pennsylvania will "Meet the Press" on NBC Sunday. Conquest rebroadcasts on CBS an open heart operation on an 8-year-old girl at the University of Minnesota hospital.

Later on NBC Chet Huntley Reporting makes some suggestions on what Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev should be shown on his visit to this country. Some of the items: food surpluses in the West, the building boom in New York, the "mile of brains" along the Charles River at Cambridge, Mass.

★ ★ ★

A new show and probably the best of the week will be the hour-length dramatization of O. Henry's "The Ransom of Red Chief" on NBC Sunday night. William Bendix and Hans Conried play two confidence men who kidnap the son of a local citizen, played by Mickey Rooney's 9-year-old son Teddy, in an effort to make money for one of their fraudulent schemes.

Bold Journey repeats a cold journey in hot weather on ABC Monday night when it climbs high into the Himalayas to observe the life and trading methods of Tibetan tribes.

★ ★ ★

Guests on the Andy Williams Show over CBS Tuesday night are singers Eydie Gorme and Mel Torme and comedy-magician Mr. Ballantine.

Wednesday night, on CBS, Armstrong Circle Theater repeats its documentary drama of the nuclear-powered submarine Nautilus on its crossing under the North Pole.

★ ★ ★

Playhouse 90 repeats "the Velvet Alley" on CBS Thursday night. Art Carney stars in this drama about a writer who loses his sense of values in Hollywood.

Car Crash Injures 2 State Officials

LANSING (AP)—Lt. Gov. John B. Swainson and state insurance commissioner Frank Blackford escaped with minor injuries last night in a two-car crash at a Lansing intersection. Both cars were towed away.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Stella Cichocki, 42, of rural Perry, also escaped serious injury when her car crashed into Swainson's, police said. She was ticketed for failing to yield the right-of-way.

★ ★ ★

Swainson, driving his personal car, and Blackford were returning from a visit to Detroit when the accident occurred about mid night.

All three were taken to Edward Sparrow Hospital.

Infectious Hepatitis Traced to Bad Water

LANSING (AP)—Contaminated drinking water has been blamed for a recent outbreak of infectious hepatitis in Presque Isle County.

★ ★ ★

The State Conservation Department said a check showed 40 per cent of the 72 wells tested in the area contained water unsafe for drinking.

Wastes from septic tanks, sink drains and other disposal facilities seeped into the wells through limestone formations department hydrologists explained.

Ship Services 'Pop-Up' Tests

USS Butternut Hauls Polaris Dummy Out to Sea, Recovers It

CHINA LAKE, Calif. (UPI)—Perhaps the unlikeliest candidate for seagoing honors in the Navy is the USS Butternut, a hard-working chunky little ship whose current mission is to service "pop-up" tests of the Polaris missile.

From the Long Beach Naval shipyard, the Butternut hauls a dummy of the Polaris out to sea in the San Clemente Island sea ranges, recovers it after the missile is launched and then returns it to shore for a checkup.

The Polaris, of course, is the Navy's 1,500-mile guided missile designed for firing from submerged submarines. In the current tests being serviced by the Butternut, a 41-foot million-dollar underwater launching tube is used to "pop up" the Polaris dummy.

The Butternut boasts a crew of 55 officers and men, including 12 divers, one of whom is her skipper, Lt. Mike Trens of Williamsburg, Va.

The ship operates on a schedule geared to accommodate the missile scientists, rather than the Navy. One result is that liberty for the crew is not routine.

★ ★ ★

Nevertheless, more than one man has "signed over" for Butternut duty rather than take a well-paying job in civilian life. The explanation for this is simple. Morale could hardly be higher.

Trens, who came up through the ranks from apprentice seaman, has contributed more to the project than just running his ship. He's an idea man, too.

It was Trens who suggested protecting the launching tube from the possibility that the dummy missile would fall back on it after the "pop up" by using a net that could be pulled back from the mouth of the launcher until firing and then immediately close over it.

The Butternut, incidentally, is the first ship to be "hit" by the Polaris. Once while the dummy missile was being placed aboard, the crane rigging slipped and the Polaris crashed to the deck.

How well is the Butternut doing her job?

D. J. Wilcox, head of the Underwater Ordnance Department which is supervising the Polaris tests, says flatly: "We couldn't get along without her."

Lifeboat Rescues Own Men

TENBY, England (UPI)—It was a difficult day yesterday for the men of the Tenby lifeboat, who found themselves at sea with orders to rescue themselves.

The lifeboat, one of the dozens which stand ready around the coast of Britain to go to the aid of ships in distress, was taken out yesterday for rescue exercises.

The crew neglected to notify anyone they would be sending up flares as part of the exercise. When the flares did go up Coastguardsmen on the shore sprang to action.

They radioed orders to the Tenby Lifeboat Station to investigate the distress flares. The station radioed the orders to the lifeboat.

The lifeboat stopped sending up the flares and started searching for the ship that was sending up the flares.

They finally found themselves and radioed to the Coastguard that they were not in distress.

Bad Floods Isolate Resorts in Austria

VIENNA (UPI)—The worst floods in 62 years drenched Austria today, isolating many of the country's famed resort towns and stranding hundreds of foreign tourists.

Seven Austrians were known to have drowned in the raging waters. Damage to homes, bridges, highways and railway lines was expected to run into the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

A state of emergency was proclaimed in the Salzkammergut region, where the floods had isolated the resort towns of Bad Ischl, St. Wolfgang and Ebensee. Emergency conditions also existed in the music center of Salzburg and some parts of Upper Austria.

Bill Ewald Sings Swan Song

If You Like TV Drivel . . . Better Look at Yourself

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UPI)—Dear Reader: This is my last gasp as a TV columnist.

I want to post goodbyes to all those who have written to me, most of whom seemed to be saddled with the same family name: irate reader, angry reader, enraged reader, displeased reader, indignant reader and ex-reader. (Isn't there anybody named Smith in this country anymore?)

EWALD

I want to say goodbye, too, to the lady who requested my picture for use as a dart board, the girl who accused me of jealousy because I couldn't shake like Elvis, the teenager who called me a squeep (part square, part creep, the gentleman who threatened to report me to Jack Paar, the numerous fans who suggested I was ripe material for a padded piazza in the laughing academy, the lady in Florida who threatened to punch me in the nose, the lady in California who threatened to punch me in the nose and the lady in Connecticut who threatened to punch me in the stomach (I assumed she was a midget).

Over the past 21 months, I have been called a blob, a sorehead, a cube, a sourball, a smoker of marijuana, pro-Elvis, anti-Elvis, beat, anti-beat, a lowbrow, middlebrow, highbrow and no brow, a young twerp, an old fogey, ulcer-ridden, flat-footed and flat-headed. It has been suggested that I:

Go soak my head, jump in the lake, fall in a snowdrift, consider sulphur and molasses, change my brand of dog biscuits, drop dead and be deported to the Soviet Union, although happily not all at the same time.

As a chronicler of the boob-tube, I have received hundreds of letters, but the bulk of them fall into predictable categories and can be answered rather simply. To wit:

OFFERS ADVICE

—To all those teenagers who asked me to try and understand them, I say nonsense. Why don't you try understanding adults for a change?

—To all those who say TV provides the sort of fare that they, ordinary people, like I say shame on you for revealing in your ordinariness.

—To all those who say there is room for all kinds of tastes, nonsense again. There is obviously a hierarchy of values in life—without it, we become vegetables. If you prefer to squander your free time on Lawrence Welk, The Price is Right and other drivel, it may be time for you to question your values.

—To all those who protest: "Say something nice or don't say anything at all," I say your sentiments are shabby. Television is an instrument with a tremendous potential for expanding the horizons of all of us. Unfortunately, it seems to exist primarily to sell goods, rather than nourish and giddy us with all of life.

★ ★ ★

It is falling down on the job badly, succumbing to the tyranny of majority tastelessness, landsliding us under with garbage. TV should be scolded constantly and severely. So should you who sit and accept.

Exit, pursued by a bear. Yours truly: The Blob, The Sorehead, The Cube.

HAIL THE HERO — "Lady" is a most heroic dog, say judges who awarded her a plaque for that distinction. Posing here with her owner, Tommy Abel, 3, of St. Louis, the honored canine ends a three-day tour of Chicago today as the guest of a dog food manufacturer.

Gets His Purple Heart After Long, Long Wait

VERMONTVILLE, Mich. (UPI) —Forty years passed before William Mossman, 69, Vermontville, received his World War One Purple Heart.

Mossman served with the 26th division in France. During the battle of St. Mihel shrapnel struck his left ear.

Mossman applied for the Purple Heart three years ago. It arrived recently.

Indiana has about twice the total land area of Denmark.

Beware les Pickpockets

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI)—Mayor W. Fred Duckworth says French pickpockets are pretty good at their trade. One removed his wallet containing $1,000 in travelers checks while the mayor was visiting the Eiffel tower in Paris. What's more C. A. Harrell, city manager of Cincinnati and former city manager here, lost a key case to the same set of nimble fingers.

Two-thirds of the world's whales are taken in Antarctic waters.

He's Not Own Grandpa

LYNCHBURG, Va. (UPI)—The Stone family reunion here brought some interesting comparisons. Patrick Edwin Stone, 8, of Sophie, W. Va., found himself with a 67-year-old half brother, Harvey Stone, of Lynchburg. There was also Jarleen Campbell, 19, Pat's great niece, and Eugene Stone, 33, of Brookneal, Va., Pat's nephew.

The Rio Grande supplies irrigation water for about two million acres.

U. N. Members Puzzled by Apparent U. S. Switch

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The United States has been put on the spot in the United Nations by reports that the Big Four foreign ministers have agreed the next committee to negotiate on disarmament should be divided equally between Communist and Western Nations.

Why, a number of members ask, has the United States agreed to East-West parity after vigorously opposing Soviet demands for it for several years?

Repercussions in the U.N. followed word from Geneva and Paris that the foreign ministers of the United States, Britain, France and the Soviet Union had agreed to set up a 10-nation group to resume disarmament negotiations deadlocked since 1957.

The proposed group would have the Western Big Three plus Italy and Canada on one side, and the Soviet Union, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Romania and Albania on the other.

U.S. nd British officials insist no final decision has been reached on makeup of the group.

Reliable sources say the Soviet Union at Geneva renewed its demand for parity and that the British readily agreed. They say the United States, despite some misgivings, was persuaded to go along.

The U.N. Disarmament Commission has been unable to do anything for two years, since the major Western powers rejected a Soviet demand for parity and the 12-nation commission was expanded to include all 82 U.N. members.

Garbage Collection Neat

Fredericksburg has a garbage collection system it believes unique. Paper bags large enough to fill a 10-gallon can are distributed and placed in the cans. Garbage collectors take the filled bags and leave new ones making it unnecessary to clean the cans, which was formerly a part of the service.
