JFK, Aides Hold Defense Rundown

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—a far-ranging discussion of defense strategy and military spending by President Kennedy and his top military advisers doffed their coats on a sunny patio today for Secretary of Defense Robert S.

McNamara, undersecretary Joseph L. Gilpatric and the Joint Chiefs of Staff met at the holiday White House.

Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, Air Force chief of staff, made an eleventh hour stand against cutting off development funds for the controversial Skybolt missile.

McNamara said in advance of the conference that it "certainly will be our recommendation" to scrap Skybolt, which Kennedy has pictured as obsolete, and perhaps unreliable, in an age of more powerful nuclear-tipped rockets.

The stated purpose of the military meeting was to provide Kennedy with a year-end review of the defense situation and to put finishing touches on the $51-billion defense budget.

DELAYED HALF HOUR

The session was delayed half an hour while Kennedy met with Israeli Foreign Minister Golda Meir, en route home after service at the United Nations.

The session lasted an hour, longer than had been expected. Mrs. Meir, smilingly diplomatic, said they discussed "world affairs."

Asked if they talked about Middle East problems, Mrs. Meir said: "That's also part of the world."

Rockets? Such unpleasant things were never mentioned," she said. After the defense conference, Kennedy was to cruise aboard the Honey Fitz. Then he planned to see five leaders of the Cuban prisoners released by the Castro

Romney Champions Minimum Wage Act

LANSING (UPI) — Labor, which has unsuccessfully sought enactment of a state minimum wage law for 25 years, had two unlikely champions today, Republican Gov.-elect George Romney and Rep. William Doorn, R, Grand Rapids.

Romney, whose election was bitterly fought by the state AFL-CIO, repeated yesterday a campaign state ment favoring a state minimum wage act. The disclosure

Five Ousted by Cavanagh

DETROIT (AP) — Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh today, in effect, fired the superintendent of the Detroit House of Correction and his entire commission.

The mayor's formal announcement said he asked the resignations of Superintendent Albert Shapiro and the four commissioners. At the same time, however, he named four new commissioners.

Cavanagh made his announcement simultaneously with release of a report of a study group which said a "strained relationship" between the commission and Shapiro was incapable of repair.

The group also urged the state take over control and management of the House of Correction. The report of the study group, composed of penal experts, said a "complete breakdown" in the relations between the commission and Shapiro has been "fatal to the morale of the employees" and threatens the morale of the House of Correction inmate body.

Neither Romney nor Doorn would say how high a minimum he would work for, but the representative and a spokesman for the governor-elect conceded it would have to be at least more than $1 an hour.

Doorn, elected in November to a second house term, said a letter and postcard campaign convinced him of the need for the minimum pay law.

"I received some 350 to 400 letters from different people last fall asking for a minimum wage law in Michigan," he said. "These came from people making from 85 cents to 90 cents to a dollar an hour."

Most of the people, Doorn said, were employed in hotels, laundries, restaurants and as sales clerks.

Sewage Help Asked of City

Pontiac Twp. Seeks Service for Pollution

The Pontiac Township Board has requested Pontiac sewage treatment service to alleviate conditions the Oakland County Health Department charges are "grossly polluting Galloway Lake."

A letter from the board was presented to the City Commission at its meeting last night.

The request was referred to City Manager Robert A. Stierer for staff study and discussion at a future informal commission meeting.

The township expressed interest in buying sewage treatment service "if and when a survey by the city shows this to be feasible."

The immediate area under consideration is along Opdyke Road from Mt. Clemens Street to Wadon Boulevard and west to Perry Street.

Township officials would like to build a trunk sewer down Opdyke to the new $3.2-million Pontiac sewage treatment plant, slated to start operating about February.

The request stems from a study by county sanitarians which shows that "with very few exceptions, every home and business establishment (in this area) is illegally running its sewage into a county drain."

The drain empties into Galloway Lake.

Health officers also reported that soil conditions in the area have made individual sewage disposal systems ineffective.

The city also has something at stake here. Commissioners recently okayed a $50,000 option to buy some 64½ acres on Galloway (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Legislature Adjourns

LANSING (AP) — With the fall of the gavel timed to the stroke of noon, Michigan lawmakers today delivered the 1962 legislature into the hands of history.

While many legislators immediately scattered homeward or ingenuously for talk, the spotlight turned to a Republican senate caucus at which some crucial organizational spadework for the next legislature will be performed.

Both the house and senate had a quorum for the brief but important business of formal adjournment, ending the five-month recess that began July 25.

There were 32 senators and 101 members of the house on hand to answer roll call and hear parting words from those who will not return in 1963.

Gov. Swainson, himself defeated for re-election by Republican George Romney, made an appearance before both houses to offer his own goodby and promise:

"I will not be far away." Each of the departing members of the legislature offered his thanks for the opportunity to have served. The governor echoed perhaps the thoughts of most when he said, "I think we have all learned something."

The governor also repeated the quentin, he has quoted frequently to listeners in recent weeks, an anonymous verse that goes:

"I am hurt, Sir Andrew Barton said, But I'm not slain. So I'll lay me down and bleed a while And rise to fight again."

Formal adjournment begins the 90-day period at the end of which some 194 laws passed during the year will become effective.

Among these is the controversial Sunday closing law under which certain merchants will be required to close their places of business at least one day per week.

The senate met for about 40 minutes, during which time it passed unanimously a bill to provide the widow of former Rep. William Sterling, D-Monroe, who died June 7, with the remainder of his salary—$2,708.37.

First Shipload of 921 Arrives in U.S. Today

Refugees Are Reunited at Auditorium on Dinner Key

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A shipload of relatives of the Bay of Pigs invasion prisoners reached Florida today.

Hopes were high that Fidel Castro would allow at least another 1,000 to escape from Communist-ruled Cuba.

The freighter African Pilot brought in 921 mothers, fathers, wives and other relatives of the prisoners. Also aboard was Guillermo Ara Alonzo, former Havana attorney who was freed without explanation from a Cuban prison.

Hundreds of Cuban refugees waited in Miami's Dinner Key auditorium to welcome the relatives after the three-hour job of checking them through immigration and public health.

At noon, the first busload of relatives reached the auditorium to receive a welcome which was warm but restrained, in vivid contrast to the wild reception that greeted the 1,113 prisoners who arrived earlier this week.

A few of the newcomers jumped over wooden barricades to greet their kinfolk, but most walked sedately up to those waiting to embrace them. Only about 300 persons were in the auditorium.

These probably were the best-dressed refugees in history. Many of them represented the once-wealthy Spanish families of Cuba.

One of those at dockside to meet the African Pilot was Mrs. Berta Barreto de los Heros of the Cuban Families Committee.

CASTRO PROMISE

Mrs. Barreto had returned to Miami on the last plane in the prisoner airlift Monday. She said Castro told her at the airport he would allow another 1,000 relatives of the prisoners to leave Cuba and that the committee could select them.

"We hope to send another ship in two or three weeks," she said.

JAMES E. SEETERLIN

Seeking Post of Supervisor for Waterford

James E. Seeterlin, Waterford Township clerk for the past six years, has announced his candidacy for township supervisor.

A life-long resident of the township, Seeterlin, 38, will seek the Democratic nomination for the office in the Feb. 18 primary.

Elmer R. Johnson, now serving his third two-year term as supervisor, is expected to seek re-election as a Republican.

In announcing his candidacy, Seeterlin said he felt he could guide the township in a more positive manner by applying his ideas as supervisor.

"As our local governmental problems become more complex, we must eliminate ambiguity and negativism and recognize the hard cold facts that face us," Seeterlin said.

A graduate of Pontiac High School and a World War II veteran, Seeterlin was employed by a trucking firm as dispatcher and owner-driver prior to becoming township clerk.

Cold Temperatures to End the Week

Partly cloudy skies with cold temperatures will end the week in the Pontiac area. There's also a chance for a few snow flurries tonight and Friday.

Little change in the weather is expected Saturday. Winds today are from the southwest at 10 to 20 miles per hour; they will become westerly to northwesterly tonight. The lowest temperature in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. was a c-cold 3. At 2 p.m. the thermometer registered 29.

Suspicion at Kashmir Talks

RAWALPINDI, Pakistan (AP)—An Indian and Pakistani ministers opened talks on Kashmir today under a cloud of suspicion.

An Indian government spokesman in New Delhi said an announcement by Pakistan and Red China that they had reached an agreement in principle on the pending accord with Peking in negotiations setting up the Rawalpindi conference.

Official Pakistani sources in Karachi insisted, however, that the accord reached with Peking would have no adverse effect on the Rawalpindi conference.

Subzero Belt Girds Nation

Snow, Drizzle Light as Compensation

By The Associated Press

Much of the nation was cold today but the weather rigors of recent days abated.

Subzero air lay over the Central Plateau, northern Rockies, upper Plains sections, Indiana and the Great Lakes states and in the East, in Pennsylvania's mountain valleys and in northern New England in early morning.

Caribou, Maine, reported 16 degrees below zero; Craig, Colo., and Delta, Utah, -13, and Bismarck, N. D., and Phillipsburg, Pa., -16. Indianapolis, Ind., had 1 below and Milwaukee 3 below.

Unofficial readings included such extremes as -22 at St. Mary's, Pa.

Precipitation was generally light, with snow flurries in the northern Great Lakes section, and drizzle in the southeast and Washington.

It was a little chilly in the Southeast, except in most of Florida. Freezing weather prevailed in Tennessee, with temperatures in the 20s in western sections and in the 30s in northern sections of Georgia and Alabama and western North Carolina.

Only sections out of the freezing belt were the Pacific Coast, the extreme Southwest, southern Texas, the southern tier of states from Louisiana eastward, the Carolinas and much of Virginia.

A fresh mass of arctic air headed into the northern Plains and upper Mississippi Valley and heavy snow temperatures were in prospect for much of the Midwest tonight.

Seaplane Missing With 13 on Board

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—A Martin P5M-1 seaplane with 13 officers and men aboard is missing from the North Island Naval Air Station, a Navy spokesman said.

The Navy and Coast Guard launched a search early today. The plane was scheduled to return to North Island shortly after midnight after departing on routine patrol at 7:30 p.m. (Pontiac time) yesterday.

British Trains Crash, 18 Dead

LONDON (AP)—Two British trains smashed together in a blizzard last night, killing at least 18 persons, and eight other deaths were reported from Europe as arctic winds pushed bitter winter southward across the continent.

Thirty-three persons were injured when the London-bound Scot Express crashed into the rear of a local train stopped at Cottenham Junction 25 miles southwest of Manchester.

One of the dead was believed to be an American serviceman. Six children were among the dead.

The local was filled with travelers on the traditional after-Christmas Boxing Day holiday. Broken dolls and toys were scattered among the wreckage.

A blizzard was blowing. "It was utter carnage," said Harold Shiff, a survivor, who told of trying to help a dying young woman whose mother had been tossed half way through a broken window.

Europe's piercing weather extended from the Far North to the Mediterranean, where it was an unwelcome surprise, and eastward to Siberia.

Two people were frozen to death in northern Portugal. It snowed in northern and central Spain, the Barcelona was almost isolated by the unusual whiteness. Valencia oranges froze on the trees.

Italy was wrapped in snow from the Alps to Sicily. In the Italian Alps, temperatures plunged to 31 degrees below zero at Trepalle, highest inhabited area in Europe. Italian newspapers reported the coldest Christmas of the century.

Romney Fete Sounds Like Circus Fun

LANSING (AP)—Come one, come all. Only $10 for a ticket and you can take the little lady too.

One qualification: You must look and act like a citizen who voted for George Romney for governor.

The program sounds like a pitch for a carnival or a circus. It is intended to include all ethnic groups.

THE SHOW

You will see Mexican folk dancers, bell ringers, Ukrainian folk dancers, Lithuanian folk singers and dancers.

Also several chorus groups and the first rendition of a new Romney song — "Let's Get Michigan Rolling."

The program was announced today by Romney headquarters.

The Stockbridge High School band will welcome you. The Everette High and 46th Infantry bands of Lansing will play for you.

If you want to dance, the orchestras of Wayne Ruhl and Jack Qualey, both of Detroit, will provide the music.

There will be the welcoming and the swearing-in, followed by a two-hour stage show and a grand march.

The march starts at 10 p.m. Gov. and Mrs. Romney will start the march and you may follow.

The affair is the celebration to welcome incoming Gov. George Romney, at the Lansing Civic Center, New Year's Eve.

Tickets are $10 a couple and some still are available.

JACK B. BALDWIN

Prosecutor Gets New Assistant

Oakland County Prosecutor George F. Taylor today announced the appointment of Jack B. Baldwin, 48, of 1750 Hillwood Drive, Bloomfield Hills, as assistant prosecuting attorney.

Baldwin, assistant defense contract administrator for Chrysler Corp. from 1954 to 1959, will join Taylor's staff Wednesday. He will fill a position to be added to the staff effective Tuesday.

A 1936 graduate of Wayne State University and a 1940 graduate of Wayne Law School, Baldwin served as law research clerk to Michigan Supreme Court Justice Emerson R. Boyles from 1940 to 1941.

He served in the U.S. Navy from 1943 to 1946.

Baldwin joined Chrysler Corp. in 1946.

Salary of the new assistant prosecutor, the 14th on Taylor's staff, will be $6,500.

The subject Wednesday was the 1963 tax cut proposals.

For more than two hours, the President met with Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon and other key financial advisers on the specifics of the tax package.

The broad outlines of the plan, envisioning lower tax rates for next year for both individuals and corporations, were approved several weeks ago. At Wednesday's session Kennedy got into many of the details and gave general approval to the Treasury's plans. However, several of the conferees reported that much work remains to be done.

K Assails Adenauer Sharply Over Berlin

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev has accused Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of increasing tension in Berlin, prodding the world toward war and endangering the lives of millions of people.

In a letter to Adenauer broadcast by Moscow radio, the Soviet premier reiterated his standard demand that Allied troops get out of Berlin. But he set no deadline.

He also repeated that United Nations forces should replace the U.S., British and French garrisons in Berlin.

ANSWERS ADENAUER

The letter, in reply to one from Adenauer complaining of border incidents in the divided city, assailed the West German chancellor sharply.

Khrushchev declared the West German government has no rights in Berlin and asserted: "By your policy, a policy of intensifying tension and prodding the world to new conflicts, you are endangering the lives of millions of people."

Saying he was concerned by the incidents in Berlin, Khrushchev accused West German lawmakers and officials of carrying on "vicious and dangerous provocations" in the old German capital.

"Obviously it is not the interests of the population of West Berlin that is of importance to you, but the use of this city for hostile activity against the Soviet Union, Communist East Germany and other Socialist countries," he said.

"Facts" show that the federal government is beginning to condition the Germans gradually to the thoughts of a possible fratricidal war among Germans.

Khrushchev said the best way to ease the situation in Berlin is to sign a peace treaty for all Germany. But he did not again threaten to sign a separate peace treaty with East Germany. If such a treaty were signed, it might give the East Germans a stranglehold on Allied access to West Berlin.

DETROIT (UPI)—Robert M. Thorson, 31, accused in the slaying of his mother-in-law last Dec. 4, faces preliminary examination in recorder's court today.

Thorson, of 2353 Buckingham Road, an employee of a Birmingham brokerage firm, was to have been examined yesterday but the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office asked for a one-day postponement.

Thorson is accused in the death of Mrs. Dorothy N. Thomas, 62, a widow. She was found beaten and strangled in the dining room of her home.

Two weeks later Detroit police arrested Thorson. He was arraigned and remanded to the jail without bond.

Recommend Building Three New Libraries

BIRMINGHAM—The construction of three new libraries in the area is recommended in a special report by a University of Minnesota library expert.

Frederick Wezeman, associate professor of library science at the university, also urged doubled expenditures for books and higher staff salaries at the Baldwin Public Library.

Wezeman was commissioned by the Baldwin Public Library Board and the Bloomfield Township Board last April to make an area-wide library study.

Copies of his report are available at the Baldwin library.

NONRESIDENT USE

The community's high educational level has created a heavy demand on Birmingham's library, said Wezeman. One of the problems, he explained, was that the library has a large amount of nonresident use unaccompanied by financial support.

He mentioned the three new libraries as a long-range goal. He said one should be built in the Long Lake Road-Woodward Avenue area, another in the Maple Telegraph roads area and the third in the vicinity of Evergreen and 213 Mile roads.

Wezeman estimated the cost for each at $300,000, including the price of building, furniture, equipment and an approximately two-acre site.

As an immediate goal, Wezeman said a permanent library authority should be established to govern a library district covering Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills, Beverly Hills, Bingham Farms and Franklin.

Beverly Hills, Bloomfield Hills and the Friends of the Baldwin Public Library helped finance the library study.

Alfred C. Girard of 2221 N. Woodward Ave., Bloomfield Hills, has been appointed 1963 crusade chairman for the North Oakland County unit of the Michigan Cancer Foundation.

Girard, president of the Community National Bank, also is secretary-treasurer of the Pontiac Area United Fund.

646 Traffic Deaths for Last Weekend

CHICAGO (AP)—The nation's traffic deaths during the four-day Christmas holiday totaled 646 and the National Safety Council estimates that 420 to 450 persons may be killed in motor vehicle accidents during the extended New Year's weekend.

Severe weather — cold, snow, sleet and rain — was blamed in large part for the Christmas holiday traffic toll by safety experts.

In addition to the traffic fatalities, 107 persons perished in fires and 85 others died in miscellaneous accidents for an over-all total of 838.

The council had estimated a traffic death toll of 650 to 750. The final count compared to the record of 706 set during a four-day Christmas observance in 1956.

Cold's Expected to Stick Around State for 4 Days

By The Associated Press

Michigan's cold blast held firm today and threatened to stay for a time.

With the mercury going as low as 10 below zero at Alpena, the U.S. Weather Bureau said the cold would continue for at least four more days.

For the most part the weather was clear, however, and the highway department said highways were in good shape. Light snow or flurries were forecast.

Low readings in the Lower Peninsula included zero at Jackson and Ypsilanti and above zero at Flint, Grand Rapids, Lansing and Bay City-Saginaw. The Up-Per Peninsula reported 1 at Escanaba and zero at Marquette and Houghton.

'Got to Watch Everybody' Drives Mail 30 Years Safely

"All you got to do is watch what the other guy is doing," said Manley R. Wainmeyer, "was with guys backing me."

"So you've got to watch all the other guys: the ones behind you, the ones at either side of you and the ones in front of you."

So saying, "Mike" Wainmeyer, 63, lightly stepped aboard his half-ton standup truck this morning. In the blink of an eye he wheeled the truck around the rear of the main Pontiac Post Office.

And off he went at a well-controlled clip on his second last trip to serve the City of Sylvan Lake. He has delivered mail in Sylvan Lake for 25 out of his 33 years in the Pontiac mail service.

RECALLS TRUCKS

Thousands of miles have melted under his mail truck's tires since "Mike" started driving a Model-T half-ton with a covered box in back holding the mail.

Since 1928 when he started his job, he's wheeled everything from a passenger car to a 2½-ton parcel post truck.

No bangs, no dings, no c-r-r-rash. Just the hum of the wheels, interrupted only by the soft flutter of a letter dropping into a mailbox.

This week, with Friday his last day before retirement, Mike clearly seemed sorry he had been so safe.

Safely carried with it such modest nuisances as being publicly cited for safe driving by the Sylvan Lake City Council, being given the first Safe Driving Award ever given by the Pontiac Post Office and being interviewed by the press.

Postmaster William W. Donaldson said, "His safe driving record should show a lot of what can be done with careful driving."

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Heywood Tipsey, 43, was arrested for the first time yesterday. The charge: drunken driving.

Bid for Dominance by Red China Seen

WASHINGTON (AP)—Assistant Secretary of State W. Averell Harriman says Communist China is bidding openly to take over the leadership of the world Communist movement from the Soviet Union.

Differences between the two will grow as the fight for leadership is waged, Harriman said Wednesday in an interview. "Which one will gain is anyone's guess," he added.

Harriman, a former ambassador to Moscow, is President Kennedy's top adviser on Far Eastern affairs.

Senator Finds It Rugged Keeping Date With JFK

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Keeping a business date with vacationing President Kennedy can get rugged.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana went through snow, fog and an unexpected two-mile speedboat dash Wednesday to talk over 1963 legislative plans with the President.

Mansfield's wife, who came along for what seemed like a pleasant trip from snowbound Washington to sunny Florida, found herself climbing up a steep yacht ladder in the middle of Lake Worth to keep a luncheon date aboard the presidential yacht Honey Fitz.

The President, comfortably clad in his yachting slacks and shirt, waved on his city-dressed visitors—Mansfield in dark business suit and his wife in sleeveless dress—as they made the boat-to-boat transfer.

Mansfield's plane had been delayed by heavy fog getting out of the snowy capital. Although Kennedy knew the majority leader was on the way, the Honey Fitz moved out of its dock about 1 p.m. with a party of family and friends and even two pet dogs—but without the Mansfields.

THEY CAUGHT UP

It was under way some 15 minutes, cruising in the intracoastal waterway, when the Mansfields sped up in a spray-churning black turbo jet speedboat used by the Secret Service as part of its sea-going protective detail.

They were escorted by the President's Air Force aide, Godfrey McHugh, doing sea duty in civilian clothes, with a Secret Service agent at the helm.

The Honey Fitz stopped at a channel marker, the speed boat pulled alongside and the transfer of his blue shirt and settled down on legislative matters for L. Cmdr. Walter Sigh personally aiding in the maneuver and Kennedy relaxing two-hour cruise in the rest of the party had lunch.

Throughout the sail, however, Kennedy sat in his comfortable black leather swivel chair on the after deck.

Four More Escape to W. Berlin

BERLIN (AP) — Four young men escaped from East Germany to West Berlin during the night, bringing to 14 the number of successful escapes reported during the Christmas holidays.

A 26-year-old man climbed unobserved across the 4-ft.-high wall on the border of the American sector borough of Neukölln. Three men, 19 to 22, forced their way through the barbed wire on the British sector border with East Germany. An East German border guard spotted them and set off a flare. But they had reached safety.

The biggest group to escape consisted of four adults and four children in a bus that rammed through the barriers at the autobahn checkpoint of Babelsberg, just on the outskirts of West Berlin. The owner of the bus, Hans Weidner, 40, a war cripple who walks painfully on crutches, had planned the escape for six months.

Today the group was resting in the West Berlin refugee reception center.

One of the other two holiday escapes was a border guard. He came over in uniform, carrying his Tommy gun, on Christmas afternoon.

Pair Pleads Guilty on Bad Cash Charge

DETROIT (AP) — Two Canadian truck drivers, arrested last Friday with bogus $20 bills in their possession, pleaded guilty in U.S. District Court yesterday to possession of counterfeit money.

The pair, Douglas R. Girardin, 28, of Leamington, Ont., and James Allison, 26, of Essex, Ont., were arrested after several bartenders complained that they had paid for drinks with the bogus money.

U. S. attorney Sanford Rosenthal said Girardin admitted helping a third man print $3,000 in phony bills in a cottage at Belle River, Ont.

The two men were ordered held without bail, pending a presentence probation report.

State Limits Members of Some School Boards

LANSING (AP) — An attorney general's ruling has held that a member of a second-class school district board of education may not serve as a director of a bank used for deposit of bond funds.

Rep. Thomas J. Whitney, R-Grand Rapids, asked for the opinion on behalf of the Grand Rapids School District. Whitney said his purpose was to clarify the present law.

Areas Face Cityhood Vote

More signs that Oakland County continues to expand are upcoming votes on city status for Rochester and Waterford Township.

Rochester residents will cast ballots on the change from village status on Feb. 18. No date has been set yet for Waterford's vote, following petitions submitted recently.

More and more, townships and villages find their growth stymied by limitations imposed by their governmental status. Faced with an expanding population calling for more sewers, water, police and fire protection and other governmental services, these units find the financial going rougher and rougher.

As the rush to the suburbs began after World War II, many townships were carved up into a number of diminutive cities, each striving to give its residents adequate facilities and protection. In many cases, these benefits could have been provided at greater efficiency and lower cost by larger cities.

Previous moves toward incorporation of Waterford met with little interest, but a recent abortive attempt to incorporate a portion of the township may have spurred the current development.

Moving to meet its growth problems, Waterford became a charter township in Sept. 1961, primarily to gain more liberal bonding requirements to finance the necessary water and sewer facilities.

Many area residents fail to realize just how much Waterford has grown and how many residents it has. The 1960 census showed a 47,107 population, which is greater than that of 71 per cent of Michigan's 85 counties. It contains more residents than Battle Creek or Muskegon and almost twice as many as Monroe or Birmingham.

On top of this, there is still plenty of room for future development in the township, while many cities its population size are almost full.

Incorporation is not a new subject in Rochester; it was under discussion in 1955 and defeated 3-1 at the polls in 1958.

Unity Urged by GOP on State Constitution

The Republican party in Michigan has announced it will not undertake any campaign to gain approval of the proposed state constitution.

At the same time, the GOP asked the Democratic party to abandon its opposition to the document written at the lengthy constitutional convention.

The Republicans are already organizing their drive to defeat the proposed constitution, having named a chairman of the derailing team. It would be distressing to see the State's voters split on the constitution along party lines, without reaching any conclusion of their own.

Much in the way of education on con-con must be done before the April election. A number of civic groups have been working since the final gavel sounded, trying to explain just what would be changed and what would remain.

These groups will be working right up to April 1 in their attempts to get across a fair and unbiased knowledge of the constitution.

Let's hope the Democratic leaders will give serious thought to this Republican proposal.

Present plans call for doubling the size of the village from just less than two square miles to slightly more than four square miles. Avon Township territory to be added would be to the north and east of the village, and includes the vast Parke, Davis & Co. facilities.

Population of the village was 5,431 in the 1960 census. Some 900 more people live in the Avon Township area which would be added.

There has been no formal opposition to the incorporation in Waterford, but the same is not true for Rochester. Avon Township officials have termed the move premature, and officials of the large pharmaceutical company have voiced displeasure at being included in the proposed expansion.

The firm is satisfied with township status.

Induction to State Bar Illuminated by Romney

By HOWARD HELDENBRAND
Appearing in Judge William J. Beer's Circuit Court on behalf of Keith L. Leak of Royal Oak, for admission to the Bar, was Gov.-Elect George Romney of Bloomfield Hills, soon of Lansing.

When asked if he had any comment on the worth of the inductee, who had served as the candidate's chauffeur during the gubernatorial campaign, Mr. Romney replied that he had the greatest faith in him, since, sleeping in the rear between stops, he had entrusted his life to him!

A heart-warming message comes from Mrs. William D. Gallant of Union Lake, which we'll let her tell in her own words . . . Anything a woman loves to do is to tell something in her own words.

"Special blessings on the young couple with the little girl who drove up to the Community National Bank, withdrew a substantial sum from a savings account, and deposited it in the container of a solicitor outside. Many needy people will benefit from this good will offering—including the donors themselves, who perhaps take to heart the saying from Luke 6:38 . . .

"Give, and it shall be given unto you; good measure, pressed down, and shaken together, and running over, shall men give into your bosom. For with the same measure that ye mete withal it shall be measured to you again."

"It would be interesting to know what prompted this young couple to give the unusual amount; a thanks offering, or a reciprocal gift — who knows but they? What a warm Christmas they'll have had this year."

The MAT's appreciation to the lady for passing on this fine exemplification of the true Christmas spirit, and a humble bow of praise to the unidentified couple.

All the world loves a lover—and 33-year-old

J. Hoggan for five years a GMC Truck & Coach Division dealership salesman in Providence, R.I., is reveling in such universal passion.

But along with his romantic involvement, he's still pretty practical—a good company man. Married Dec. 23, instead of taking his bride on the traditional honeymoon to Niagara Falls, where do you think he's taking her?

Yep. You're right . . . straight to Pontiac to see the Corporation's central plant!

Mrs. H. is going to cherish many sentimental recollections of the idyllic hours spent amidst the whirling machinery of the factory as she treats its rose-petaled aches.

Seriously, the MAT congratulates the fine couple, and extends best wishes for many, many joyous and rewarding years together.

How It Feels To Be In A Newspaperless City

David Lawrence Asks:

Who Won in Cuba: JFK or Castro?

WASHINGTON — Did Castro really come out on top? Now that the 1113 prisoners have been ransomed at a cost estimated at $70 million and President Kennedy has abandoned the idea of on-site inspection of missile bases in Cuba, the promise made by the President that Cuba will not be invaded takes on new significance.

If Castro is immune from invasion — and if LAWRENCE means, also, that the United States has obligated itself to prevent any expedition by Cuban exiles from landing in Cuba to liberate their countrymen — then the Communist ruler of Cuba has indeed achieved a substantial victory for himself.

All the documents on or reports of the official conversations that preceded the withdrawal of the missiles and IL28 bomber planes and the later release of the prisoners have not been made public.

But the published material is clear on one point — the United States is committed against any invasion of Cuba to liberate the oppressed people there.

An invasion by the United States Government is to be sanctioned only if the Castro regime launches a military attack against another country in its hemisphere.

Mr. Kennedy, in his reply to Soviet Premier Khrushchev on Oct. 27, stated that if the "offensive" weapons were withdrawn from Cuba by the Soviets, then the United States would agree "to remove the quarantine measures now in effect, and to give assurances against an invasion of Cuba."

Then on Nov. 20 in a prepared statement read at this news conference, the President said:

"As for our part, if all offensive weapons systems are removed from Cuba and kept out of the hemisphere in the future, under adequate verification and safeguards, and if Cuba is not used for the export of aggressive Communist purposes, there will be peace in the Caribbean. And, as I said in September, 'We shall neither initiate nor permit aggression in this hemisphere.'"

"We will not, of course, abandon the political, economic and other efforts of this hemisphere to halt subversion from Cuba, nor our purpose and hope that the Cuban people shall some day be truly free. But these policies are very different from any intent to launch a military invasion of the island."

JFK BACKED DOWN

It didn't take long for Anastas Mikoyan, first deputy premier of the Soviet Union, to convince Castro that Mr. Kennedy had really backed down and that there would be no further attempts through such a project as the Bay of Pigs expedition to invade Cuba again, with or without Cuban exile battalions.

Perhaps the strongest indication that the United States had backed down on its original demands came from President Kennedy himself on television Dec. 17.

He had been asked whether, if international inspection of missile sites in Cuba had been accomplished, it would have materially affected the chances of peace as between the Soviet Union and the United States. Mr. Kennedy replied:

"No, I don't think that would have materially affected it, because I don't think we would have gotten the kind of inspection which really is necessary, because a totalitarian system cannot accept the kind of inspection which really is desirable.

"What you are saying, really, is that Cuba be opened, the Soviet-Union be opened. They are not going to open it, because a totalitarian system must exist only in secrecy."

But the Soviets did propose an international inspection in Cuba under United Nations auspices.

Bob Considine Quotes:

'We Indians Fight to Live; Red Chinese Fight to Die'

NEW YORK — Fallout from a reporter's notebook:

Counting dependents, we have a million Americans in the NATO countries. NATO commanders figure that Red China will have a workable nuclear weapon in three years.

Indian Brigadier Considine der Chanam L. Bhaward, on the tactics of the Red Chinese in the border war:

"They came in waves, like ants. It didn't matter how many were killed. They had many things we did not have, but their main surplus was the human being. The reason we're going to win is because we fight to live, and they fight to die."

Room 409 in the world's most renowned hotel, Claridge's in London, has a surprise of the Moscow press corps in suddenly being given in mass to an East German diplomatic reception. Herr Ulbricht's emissaries to mother Russia had ignored Western correspondents for 18 months.

BEST WHISKY But now all was merry. The best wines and whiskies flowed. The food was splendid and the hospitality even better.

"What's gotten into you guys?" one of the boys asked a German Communist.

He looked around uneasily, saw that nobody was within earshot, and whispered, "since the Cuban thing came up, nobody here has noticed us. We've got to attract some attention again."

Russian Foreign Office official: "You must admit that we have been exceedingly honest about this entire withdrawal of weapons from Cuba. Did you notice that we had an uncrated bomber on the deck of one of our freighters, so that your planes could photograph it?"

"Yes, that's true," our guy said, "but when you sent that bomber to Cuba you sent it in the hold of the ship." End of dialogue.

HELLO, NIKITA?

If that proposed person-to-person telephone line between the White House and the Kremlin has to pass through a Moscow hotel switchboard, we're dead.

Red Bungling Helped U.S. in U.N.

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Achievements of the 17th United Nations General Assembly are considered "spectacular" in comparison with results of the two previous sessions. This is the opinion of Assistant Secretary of State Harlan Cleveland, in charge of international organization affairs.

He qualifies this with an admission that colonialism and the Congo are the most troublesome issues for the United States in the U.N. On these matters, results of the session just ended aren't all good, from the American point of view.

Cleveland also admits that the most important developments while the General Assembly was in session this year did not happen in the U.N., although they affected its proceedings.

Dismantling of the Russian missile bases in Cuba and Red China's attack on India threw the Communist bloc delegations at the U.N. into deep disarray. Repeatedly the Russian delegates under ambassador Valerian A. Zorin were caught unprepared and had to ask Moscow for new instructions to clarify Kremlin confusion.

Zorin's denial that there were Russian missiles in Cuba was masterfully exposed and denounced by U.S. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson. That threw doubt on the credibility of all Russian statements in assembly debate and committee deliberations.

At the beginning of the session Washington feared that the Latin

Gives List of Exorbitant Food Prices in Cuba

Cuba is facing a critical situation due to the diminishing food supply. It has been necessary to increase the prices by an exorbitant amount. The people are given ration books without which it is impossible to make purchases. Here are some of the prices: Beef meat, $2 per pound; pork, $3.50 per pound; lamb, $3 per pound; rice, $1 per pound; eggs, 30 cents each; chicken, $10 each; turkey, $35 each.

Another Comments on Bill of Rights

George Mason drafted the Virginia Declaration of Rights and the Virginia Constitution in 1776.

He was not the author of the Bill of Rights as we know it as a part of our Constitution. Most of the Bill of Rights was, as Mr. Hill says, lifted from Thomas Paine's "Rights of Man."

Paine has been maligned and was persecuted and dishonored because of his book "The Age of Reason," which condemned the mockery, bigotry and intolerance that had symbolized Christian churches and its hierarchy, not the pure Christian religion.

This is a note of admiration and respect of your humility, which I admire and especially when it is amusing.

You take all the stars, bars and arrows on various articles which annoy some people. The apology to Wichita Eagle's editor was one example and the one on acquitting the mother who killed her crippled child another. How can you win!

You must have stamina and courage to rise above what most of us like to do when we are criticized.

I am amused at some people's ideas of being offended but you print the things they say and dodge the poisoned arrows.

American cause would be split in pieces and scattered all over the floor. Cuba put it together again.

At the beginning of the session it was feared there would be trouble from the Russians over the issue of espionage from space vehicles. Disclosure of the Russian missile bases in Cuba made the case for the need of reconnaissance, however, and the expected big debate never came off. Similarly, the need for on-site inspection of nuclear test explosions was impressed on most of the U.N. delegates.

The Indian delegation which had caused the western powers considerable trouble at previous General Assemblies did a 180-degree turn this year after Red China attacked on India's northern frontiers. The about-face was not quite perfect, for the Indians still voted for admission of Red China to the U.N. But it was a spiritless presentation and the issue was defeated.

Tips on Offsetting New Postal Rates

STAMFORD, Conn. (UPI)—"What are you doing to offset the new postal rates?" Pitney-Bowes, Inc., manufacturers of a metered mail system, has printed some tips on a chart with this title.

Designed to help offset the effect of higher postage rates that go into effect Jan. 7, the chart advises:

—Use only the postal services you need. Sending a letter by air mail on Friday, for example, is usually unnecessary; first-class postage most likely will get it there by Monday morning, anyway.

—Pay the correct postage, and no more. Don't be out of 8-cent air mail stamps when you need one, and be tempted to put whatever is available on the envelope, such as two 5-cent stamps — an overpayment of 25 per cent.

—Get the maximum value out of the postage you use. In essence, put more contents into each envelope and get more value out of the envelope itself.

—Mark the letter or parcel properly. Label large first-class flats as "First Class" so they won't be mishandled as of a lower class.

—Mail at the best time for your purpose. Mail deposited at peak periods gets slower handling, so mail several times a day.

Adenauer Slow on Missile Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer has given cautious approval of the Anglo-American missile agreement.

But he wants to know more about the deal and would like to see it discussed by the council of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Adenauer's guarded endorsement, in the form of a letter replying to a Dec. 21 message by President Kennedy, was reported Wednesday by Washington sources.

The agreement, concluded in Nassau Friday by Kennedy and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, provides for British acquisition of Polaris rockets. They would arm submarines that would be integrated into a NATO nuclear force.

DETROIT (AP) — Police were summoned to the offices of Sheet Metal Workers Local 292 yesterday to settle an argument between Robert E. Barbour, "sit-in" president, and Edwin Walters, business agent.

Walters and Barbour, who was elected to the presidency last August, have been feuding over rights to the local's records.

Barbour has been standing guard in the local office, refusing to vacate the premises until Walters gives him access to the records. Barbour's round-the-clock "sit-in" now is in its 15th day.

Barbour, 38, succeeded in gaining entry to the business agent's office Monday with the aid of a crowbar.

He celebrated Christmas a day early when his grandchildren—four boys and a girl—brought Christmas to him, complete with presents and poster boards reading: "Daddy, Come Home for Christmas."

Banana Excellent for Babies, Adults

By DR. WILLIAM BRADY

In Little Lesson No. 7, "The Better Baby Book," for which send me 35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope, I urge feeding ripe banana to puny infants with so-called intestinal indigestion, failure to gain weight, celiac disease, marasmus, infantile atrophy. No one has ever given me a banana or treated me to a banana split for that.

In my book, "An 80 Year Old Doctor's Secrets of Positive Health," I carefully detail the scientific reasons why banana is such good food for persons with "acid stomach" or peptic or duodenal ulcer, and for so-called "mucous colitis" (which is not inflammation at all but merely colon derangement, mainly the consequence of crude interference with the physiology of digestion) and for chronic constipation.

The book was published nearly two years ago. No banana, to date, but somebody did send me a wee can of powder purporting to be banana especially prepared for infants and invalids with delicate . . . The sender hoped I would try it . . . But having no goldfish under my care at the moment, I never used it — tried to feed it to the birds but they didn't seem to care for it.

For the sickly infant or any body else, the ideal banana is soft, but not mushy, and the skin or peel is quite yellow, flecked with brown spots, not black bruise marks. Keep bananas in a dark place, but not in the refrigerator.

The skin or peel keeps the pulp sterile (germ-free) until it is opened or removed. I have suggested that mothers begin feeding the baby ripe banana, only a spoonful daily at first, at the age of three months, gradually increasing the daily amount week by week until at seven or eight months the baby eats half a banana or more daily.

BABIES THRIVE

Normal babies thrive on banana and, as already stated, sickly, puny, unhappy infants, accused of weak digestion or indigestion, generally take it, like it, and cry for more.

Banana is not only good in fant food. It is health food for adults who develop colon derangement (the poor souls call it "mucous colitis") by constantly interfering with the physiological regulation of digestion.

They are morbid and introspective — they watch bowel action constantly, as though they don't believe there could be any action if their attention was diverted from the function, for, say a week.

They follow all sorts of freak diet suggestions, such as imported bird seed, smooth diet or whatever some charlatan suggests. This foolish dieting inevitably produces or aggravates malnutrition and malnutrition is chiefly what ails these misguided people, just as it is what ails infants with celiac disease, intestinal indigestion.

Banana yields 447 calories to the pound, potato 378 per pound. Having a high proportion of easily assimilable sugars, it is excellent food for immediately available energy, to relieve fatigue.

Banana in the diet favors the growth of acidophilic bacilli in the intestine, which combat the growth of putrefactive bacteria.

Banana contains significant amounts of calcium, phosphorus, magnesium, sulphur, iron and copper.

The alkaline character of banana tends to prevent acidosis. Finally, banana is a fairly good source of vitamin A, vitamin B and even vitamin C. I believe it is chiefly its content of vitamin B that makes banana a health food.

Mixed letters not more than one size or 100 words long pertaining to diet, health, and medicine, no disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan. (Copyright, 1962)

'Polar Bear' Speeds Through Frigid Swim

General Strike Hits Argentina Travelers

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Transportation workers here walked out at midnight, starting a 24-hour "general strike" designed to stop everything that moves by land, sea or air.

The strike was expected to paralyze the nationalized railway system, but its effectiveness in other fields was expected to be spotty.

Private bus lines here planned to continue operation, although state-owned lines probably will be closed by the strike. Engineers and supervisors will maintain sketchy service on three of the five city subway lines.

Korea Junta Members to Run for Top Offices

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — Gen. Chung Hee Park announced today what everyone expected — that he and other members of his military junta will run for office in the elections scheduled next spring.

Park, 45-year-old chairman of the junta and South Korea's acting president, told a news conference the military rulers will shed their uniforms and form a political party early next year. He said he would be available for a presidential draft.

Denial of 2 Motions Prelude to Retrial

MUSKOGON (AP) — Two motions by Herman Barmore, convicted in the 1953 slaying of Boy Scout Peter Gorham, were denied yesterday by Muskegon County Circuit Judge Henry L. Beers.

Beers had asked that a change in circuit courts be made and a new trial judge preside in his retrial granted by the Michigan Supreme Court.

Beers, in ruling on the petition, said, "I find no reason whatever for granting either motion."

Barmore, serving a life sentence, was convicted by a jury with Judge Beers as the presiding judge in 1957.

Nehru Back From Bengal

NEW DELHI (UPI) — Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru returned to New Delhi yesterday from a three-day visit to West Bengal where he spoke at a university and conferred with Acharya Vinoba Bhave, spiritual heir to Mohandas K. Gandhi, of the Sino-Indian border dispute.

Prof Offers Solution to Digit Dialing

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A college professor thinks he has a solution to that bane of bad memories — all-digit dialing.

His remedy: put a new dial on the telephone.

Dr. Leslie K. Kaeburn, physicist-mathematician at the University of Southern California School of Medicine, says it would work this way: telephone companies say there aren't enough letter-number combinations on the present dial to take care of growing needs.

But the present dial has letters in only eight of the 10 numeral openings — three letters in each of eight openings.

A new dial with 10 numbers and 20 letters — two to each numeral — would provide a system capable of handling as much growth as the all-number system. Dr. Kaeburn testified yesterday at a State Public Utilities Commission hearing into protests against all-digit dialing.

The protests were lodged by rebelling subscribers headed by Edward L. Blincoe, president of the Utility Users League of California, and James J. Oppen, an attorney. Both live in the suburban San Fernando Valley.

They complain that not only is it difficult to remember all those numbers but that a subscriber can't tell the difference between a local and toll call.

A Pacific Telephone Company executive testified, however, that less than one-eighth of one percent of its subscribers have protested the new system.

Red China Observes Birthday of Rousseau

TOKYO (AP) — Red China commemorated the 250th anniversary of the birth of Jean Jacques Rousseau, French writer-philosopher, at a meeting in Peking yesterday the New China News Agency reported.

Society's Suffering Shows Strange Seasonal Symptoms

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Now cometh upon the spirit of man the time of the great letdown.
The lights still blink at night on the Christmas tree, but they lost a great deal of their joy.
The new bike already has its first scratch, there is a hole in the new drum—heaven be praised for that!—and the children are cranky and cross.
The good housewife sits down determinedly to make out a list of presents that be taken back and exchanged for more useful articles.
But the pencil BOYLE droops in her hand as she looks around her cluttered home and sighs: "What a mess. Will I ever get this place straightened up again?"

The man of the house secretly takes out two of the four neckties he received, and furtively throws them down the incinerator.
He worries about the unpaid bills. He rises late to go to work, and broods over the treadmill nature of his job. He entertains wild daydreams of running away from home and becoming a beachcomber on a far-away South Seas isle. He wonders idly whether the pretty girls there really do weave garlands of flowers to hang around a fellow's neck, or whether that's all just Hollywood poppycock.
There is no help in nature. The tired foot falls on snow or slush. The Weather Bureau and the almanac agree that more storms lie ahead. The first robin of spring is still getting a suntan down south.

ALL BOUNCED OUT
Everyone who felt so bouncy and happy and generous just a few days ago now feels worn out and self-pitying and suspicious of the character and intentions of his neighbors. Yes, there's something gone wrong with us all.

Writer's Daughter Found Dead in N. Y.
NEW YORK (AP)—Mary Sherwood Elms, 38, daughter of the late Pulitzer Prize-winning playwright Robert E. Sherwood, was found dead Wednesday in her Manhattan apartment. Police said her wrists had been slashed by a razor.

An autopsy was scheduled for today.
Authorities termed the death an apparent suicide, and quoted friends and the maid who found the body as saying Mrs. Elms had been despondent about a recent divorce.

Sherwood, an author of books as well as a playwright, died in 1965.

Winds Scatter Antarctic Ice
CHRISTCHURCH, New Zealand (AP)—Hurricane winds that sprang up Christmas eve broke up the Antarctic pack ice in McMurdo Sound. Four American ice-breakers had been constantly at work since early December keeping open the narrow 50-mile channel to the main U.S. base in the Antarctic.

The U.S. Navy said the winds from the south which cracked the ice and drove floes out to sea also assisted planes flying from McMurdo to New Zealand. But planes waiting to fly to Antarctica are being delayed by head winds.

The first scientific association formed in America was the American Philosophic Society founded in 1743 in Philadelphia.

The waiting rooms of doctors are suddenly thronged with patients afflicted with sniffles and symptoms of a vast emul.
The young physicians listen to descriptions of these ailments sympathetically, and worry perhaps whether the community is hopelessly.

the grip of some new contagious malady.
The old doctor is wiser. He looks out the window absent-mindedly as his middle-aged patient gives a catalog of his aches and pains and winds up by asking, "No, it isn't pneumonia, John."

"Do you think I've got walking pneumonia, doc?"

Actually the old doctor knows his patient is merely suffering from seasonal idiosyncrasy, but he can't put it to him in quite that way.

he tells him. "You're just a victim of post-Christmas letdown. There's nothing wrong with you that a couple of aspirin tablets, smaller meals, a little exercise and two hours more sleep a night won't cure."

And as his patient leaves, the old doctor comments silently, "That's what I ought to prescribe for myself, too."

NATIONAL MALADY
Yep, that's the national malady of the moment—post-Christmas letdown. But in the bottomless torpor of mind and body that grips us all now there is one consoling thought: The disease is temporary and almost never fatal. As the message on old sun dials says, "This, too, shall pass."

After the first of the year, the letdown feeling will go away and we'll return with a fresh enthusiasm to the usual business of living—loving ourselves for our fine though hidden nobilities and seeing our enemies as the pitiful schemers they are.

Meanwhile it's great to realize that it is still 365 wonderful days until next Christmas.

U.S. Continues to Stride Steadily Into Space

Leroy Gordon Cooper—America's Next Man in Space

By VERN HAUGLAND
WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. gained clear leadership in space in 1962—except in the all-important area of engine power and therefore manned flight capability. It planned additional major steps in 1963.

At the year's end at least 23 U.S. satellites launched during 1962 were still in orbit, against 3 for Russia.

Also still in orbit were two U.S. satellites launched in 1958, four in 1959, 10 in 1960 and 13 in 1961, compared with three Russian satellites, one each launched in 1959, 1960 and 1961.

The 1962 U.S. satellites, most of them openly launched and their space data distributed throughout the world, were Tiro satellites taking cloudy pictures to show weather trends around the globe, an orbiting solar observatory, the Telstar and less-familiar relay communication satellites, Explorer scientific satellites, the Anna geodetic flashing-light craft—and, of course, the sensationalist successful Mariner II Venus craft.

The Russians launched a probe toward Mars, without giving much information about it, but achieved little else in the unmanned scientific spacecraft field.

But in the attention-getting, prestige-making field, the Russians scored again with the double launch and near-rendezvous in space by cosmonauts Maj. Andrian Nikolayev and Lt. Col. Pavel Popovich on Aug. 11 and 12. They spent 84½ and 70 hours in orbit, respectively.

Their achievement took some of the gloss away from the six-orbit, 9½-hour Project Mercury flight of astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr. on Oct. 3.

Against two Russians in orbit in 1962, the U.S. launched three—John H. Glenn Jr. on a three-orbit mission of almost five hours Feb. 20; Malcolm Scott Carpenter on a similar mission May 24, and Schirra.

Although the U.S. missions were short even by comparison with that of Soviet cosmonaut Tsvetkov in August, 1961—a 17-orbit, 25-hour flight—they achieved a tremendous impact around the world because of the openness with which they were conducted.

In sharp contrast with the secrecy surrounding Soviet space missions, the American Mercury launchings were observed by millions watching on television. Minute-by-minute reports throughout the flights kept the world constantly informed.

As this year, manned flights again in 1963 will have the center of attention. Leroy Gordon Cooper is scheduled to make the last of the Mercury flights, a 24-hour mission of 18 orbits next spring.

After that the U.S. human research in space will move on into the two-man Gemini program, for practice in space docking and in astronaut movement outside a vehicle while it is in orbit, and for satellite-training flights of two weeks or more.

National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) officials were doubtful that the manned Gemini flights might begin before the end of 1963, however.

Gemini was designed to provide flight experience and technical knowledge to be applied to project Apollo, the moonship program scheduled to reach flight test by 1965.

Last July, space officials made a major shift in programs and dropped the plan of mating an Apollo craft with a fuel tank in orbit around the earth and then taking off for the moon.

Instead, the three-man Apollo will be modified to include a detachable "lunar excursion module" to be released during orbit around the moon.

Two of the Apollo crew members will descend to the moon, explore that body, and then return to the orbiting Apollo craft for the long flight back to earth.

NASA chiefs said this will get the United States to the moon sooner and more easily, at less cost. The change was ordered over strong opposition of some scientists who held that earth orbit would be less difficult than circling the moon.

NASA in September introduced the new astronaut who will work with the seven Mercury astronauts in the Gemini and Apollo programs.

The Air Force also increased its staff of space pilots, for eventual manning of the Dyna-Soar orbital glider and other advanced winged craft, to 23.

TELSTAR SUCCESS
One of the most celebrated satellite launchings of the year was that of Telstar. Almost the instant it went into orbit the vehicle was put to use in the relay of television broadcasts, still photographs, telephone messages and the like.

Telstar-type satellites orbit at relatively low altitudes and therefore have relatively short lives. A network of 30 to 40 is required to provide worldwide coverage.

A more advanced type is the so-called stationary or synchronous satellite, designed to orbit for long periods over a given spot on the earth at an altitude of 22,300 miles.

Global coverage can be provided with only three of these satellites equidistant from each other around the earth.

President Kennedy in October appointed a 13-man board to incorporate the company that will own and operate the U.S. portion of a global space communications system.

SPECTACULAR MARINER
One of the year's most spectacular launchings was that of Mariner 2, sent aloft Aug. 27 to take scientific samplings on the way to and near Venus.

The 47-pound craft obeyed long-range radio signals to correct its course and to turn its instruments on and off—and to turn temperature-measurement devices on as it raced past Venus Dec. 14.

Another spacecraft, Ranger 4, launched April 23, hit the Moon three days later.

Other launchings included the first Anna blinding-light geodetic measurement satellite and a number of unmanned, military satellites.

All this space activity was costing a great deal of money. NASA's annual budget is in the $1½ billion range, and project Apollo alone may cost as much as $20 billion before its lunar goal is achieved.

The aerospace industry estimated its sales in 1962 at about $4½ billion, somewhat higher than in 1961.

So What's Perfect?
LONDON (AP)—Complaints received by the automobile editor of the London Sunday Telegraph from new car owners in Britain itemize such things as door handles that fall off, "windscreen" wipers that either stop working or won't stop working when shut off and a "juggie boot" that won't open.

Dock Men Let Spuds Sprout

Top Union Pressures Charleston Stevedores

By The Associated Press
Stevedores in Charleston, S.C., have canceled plans to unload a cargo of seed potatoes today, as striking longshoremen shored up the single craft that had developed in their paralyzing work stoppage on East and Gulf Coast ports.

The Charleston local of the International Longshoremen's Association, AFL-CIO, broke the strike order Wednesday to unload bananas, and continued unloading them Wednesday night in defiance of orders from the union's national leadership to stop.

LET 'EM SPROUT
But the Charleston stevedores said they were canceling plans to unload the seed potatoes today—under pressure from top union officials. South Carolina farmers, hard-hit because of poor fall crops, had appealed to the union to unload the potatoes before they sprout.

The unloading of the bananas prompted Capt. William V. Bradley, ILA president, to assign a union vice president to the southern city to investigate. He said the Charleston local could lose its charter by the action.

In Galveston, Tex., about 100 dockworkers who belong to an organization not connected with the striking longshoremen crossed picket lines under police supervision to unload a Swedish banana boat. There was no violence.

Outside of these isolated instances, however, the strike has effectively closed all East and Gulf Coast ports to all but military, dangerous or emergency cargoes, which the ILA itself has exempted from the strike provisions.

Among the cargoes halted by the 5-day-old strike of 60,000 longshoremen are two shipsloads of wheat in New Orleans destined for East Pakistan. The Pakistan Embassy in Washington says the grain is urgently needed.

No bargaining sessions were scheduled for today.

Minuteman Missile Means More Defense for Less Cash

By CHARLES W. CORDROY
WASHINGTON (AP)—In a sprawling, forbidding country east and west of Great Falls, Mont., the Air Force has placed on the firing line a new missile that gives Americans the cheering promise of much more defense for much less money.

Taxpayers have heard that claim before and learned to distrust it. But the Minuteman, officially declared war ready by Malmstrom Air Force Base on Dec. 11, repeats the "less" which holds that each new strategic weapon must cost more than the last.

Unique in the world and the nearest thing yet to an automatic push-button weapon, the frisky Minuteman is so relatively inexpensive and so close to being invulnerable that present plans for producing it in greater numbers than any other strategic missile.

Ironically, its success has had a major part in edging aside another cherished Air Force weapon, the Skybolt rocket now threatened with cancellation.

Paradoxically, too, Minuteman's success is hastening the time when the Air Force will operate more from underground silos than from manned flying machines.

Comparative figures indicate what this three-stage, solid-fuel, fast-firing missile means in return on the defense dollar.

BIG AS MARYLAND
When fully operational in mid-1963, the Malmstrom complex will have 150 Minuteman missiles spread over a base as big as Maryland at a total cost of $600 million. By comparison, a complex around Denver, Colo., has but 18 liquid-fueled Titan missiles at a total cost of $400 million.

The first halt in the upward trend of missile costs came with development of the Navy Polaris, a submarine-borne rocket similar to Minuteman. But a Polaris submarine with 16 missiles costs $130 million, exclusive of associated support equipment.

Including the 20 Minuteman rockets now operational at Malmstrom, present Air Force plans call for 800 of them. Another 19 are expected to be included in the new defense budget going to Congress in January.

Malmstrom illustrates the problem Minuteman presents an enemy. It takes 24 hours of continuous helicopter flights to view the whole project which covers more than 15,000 square miles.

Each missile is embedded in an 80-foot deep silo, and can be fired in a few seconds. It is estimated that a Minuteman could rest in its silo for three years without requiring repairs.

operations has been deemed successful, but with the usual caution of medical men, Massachusetts General Hospital doctors refuse to say at this stage that the boy's arm will be restored to usefulness.

Dr. Malt said the operation he contemplates deals with the nerve fibres, which already have been connected at the point the arm was severed, about two inches below the armpit.

He refused to discuss the exact nature of the operation. Earlier Dr. Malt said that unless the nerve system is successfully joined, doctors may be forced to amputate the arm as useless.

NERVES CONNECTED
The nerves in the arm were connected last Sept. 11 after the bone, the arteries and veins, and the flesh and skin had been successfully reconnected.

Dr. Malt said then the surgical team of feel and pain would progress down the boy's arm of the bone, the arteries and veins, and the flesh and skin had been successfully reconnected.

But Where?

Land Those Moonmen!

By JOHN BARBOUR
WASHINGTON (AP)—It's a good thing there aren't American astronauts on the moon, waiting for instructions on where to land on earth.

There are a flock of imaginary landing fields abounding all over the U.S. South-west, constructed of political pressure, guesswork and a just plain wish.

You can picture the homeward bound astronauts OF THE NEWS now. Heading for New Mexico, a new rumor makes them change course for Texas, and finally they land in Washington because they overshot another field in California.

This, of course, is absurd. They could have landed in Australia all along.

The fact is, no one has selected a landing site yet for the Apollo moonship or for the Gemini two-man spacecraft.

For the men of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration there is more concern with getting most into space than with the frenetic rumors of where they will come down again.

Some things about the landing site for Gemini's two-man spacecraft, equipped with various landing devices, can be said with some certainty.

They mean city jitters. Human crowding into big cities and sprawling suburbs has changed the climate in which we live—into an artificial climate which is too much indoors, Dr. Igbo Hart Kornbluh of the University of Pennsylvania said today.

This fosters "a peculiar greenhouse existence" bringing on new and poorly-understood health problems, Dr. Kornbluh told a symposium on biometeorology of the American Association of the Advancement of Science, Biome-teology means the effect of weather and climate on life.

"The wearisome monotony of an immured existence within the confines of the residence and the place of employment" leaves its mark on the physical and mental capacity and productivity and creativity of humans, he said.

Dr. Kornbluh is medical director of the department of physical medicine at the university's graduate hospital.

People fail to seek the relaxation and physical activity to be found in outdoor recreation, or don't have a chance to do so, he said.

Such a "life-long, sheltered vegetation punctuated only by short periods of vacation may lead to urbrophrenia" result in physical, psychological and social disorders, he said.

At the same session, Dr. Joseph Lee Hollander of the University of Pennsylvania reported scientific evidence backing up arthritis victims who say they can often predict weather because their pains grow worse before a storm.

A combined change of falling barometric or air pressure and rising humidity does tend to make arthritic joints more stiff and swollen, he said.

This was shown with volunteers living for two to four weeks in a chamber, the climatron, in which climate could be controlled artificially in various respects—with-out knowledge of the inmates.

Modern Malady: City Jitters

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Looking at modern living, a physician says many of us may be falling victim to urbrophrenia.

Human crowding into big cities and sprawling suburbs has changed the climate in which we live—into an artificial climate which is too much indoors, Dr. Igbo Hart Kornbluh of the University of Pennsylvania said today.

LAND LIKE PLANE

The parawing will allow it to come in for an airplane-like landing on skids which will be extended from ports on its body, like an airplane's landing gear.

With a Titan rocket booster, Gemini will need all energy possible to get into its proper orbit. It will be shot from Cape Canaveral and, to get the added boost aimed eastward, but this will limit its possible landing areas.

This means it will ride in a space belt around the earth, never higher than 30 degrees above

$3 Million in Donations Saved Prisoner Deal

NEW YORK (AP)—A swift, spur-of-the-moment collection of nearly $3 million prevented a last-minute hitch in the operation to ransom Cuban prisoners, it was recounted yesterday.

The money was raised in 24 hectic hours, ending in mid-afternoon Monday, as the return of captives was in progress.

A New York Times news service dispatch from Washington told how the issuance to Fidel Castro of a $2.9-million check, drawn on the Royal Bank of Canada, kept the operation going until it was completed.

Castro had hinted, in the final hours, that he might not release 23 American and leading Cuban prisoners if the amount was not paid.

It had been promised him for the release last April of 60 badly wounded prisoners, and never had been paid. He insisted on the need for showing "good faith" as the first flights of newly released prisoners began Sunday.

At that time, the extraordinary money-raising effort also started, with private and government officials working against the clock to keep the flights from being halted.

The maneuver capped a complex three-week sequence of steps to bring about the huge exchange of $53 million worth of food and drugs for the 1,113 captives.

This had involved a mass of arrangements, by which American companies were providing goods and transportation, with market value or costs quickly ruled tax deductible.

The whole undertaking was carried out as a private citizens' committee affair, but it had active collaboration of government leaders, with control of the project centered in the Justice Department.

Then, in the last stages, the obstacle of the cash payment came up, with Castro indicating some prisoners would be held back unless the money was forthcoming. $1-MILLION OFFERED

Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy called a man he knew, the Times related, and explained the situation. The man offered $1 million on condition he remained an

At 5 a.m. Monday, a Washington attorney, John E. Nolan, working on the project in Miami, telephoned to say that it appeared Castro would have to have the $2.9-million by 3 p.m. Gen. Lucius D. Clay made some telephone calls from Washington in New York, another lawyer, Robert H. Knight and friends recruited by him began telephoning Castro by 3 p.m. The Royal Bank possible contributors, with promises of $50,000 and $100,000 obtained.

Junior Editors Quiz on PENCILS

QUESTION: Why do we say "lead pencil" if it isn't made of lead?

ANSWER: It is quite true that our modern lead pencils don't contain lead, and yet there was a time when there were such things as true lead pencils. The Romans and Egyptians used lead in writing. But the real ancestor of our modern pencil was the all-metal "stylus" used by artists and others during the times of the Italian Renaissance.

The finest drawing tool these artists had was the "silverpoint." However, this had to be used on a specially prepared surface, so the more practical lead stylus came into wide use, since one could draw with this directly on paper.

The idea of using lead with a wooden holder is mentioned in a writing of 1565; but about this time the mining of graphite started and it was realized this was a better substance than lead. In 1795 Conte first produced a pencil of modern type in which the graphite was mixed with clay, pressed into sticks and fired in a kiln.

These pencils made a line which looked very much like the one produced by the older lead stylus, and that is why people went on calling the filling of a pencil "lead." So fixed has this habit become that we still speak of the fillers for our modern self-sharpening pencils as "leads."

FOR YOU TO DO: Get acquainted with the various kinds of pencils. Try hard, medium and soft and see which you like best. These different grades are caused by mixing the clay with the graphite in different proportions.

State Road Toll Lower Than '61

LANSING (AP) — The comparatively low traffic death toll over the Christmas holidays makes it possible for Michigan to wind up the year with fewer highway fatalities than in 1961, reports State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs.

State police recorded 38 deaths over the 102-hour Christmas period. This was the lowest holiday toll since December of 1957, when 12 were killed. The rate of one death every five hours and 48 minutes was the best hourly mark for Christmas since 1951.

There were 30 persons killed in a 78-hour Christmas period last year, a rate of one death every 2.6 hours.

The traffic toll through Christmas Day stood at 1,515. This was $3 less than the 1,548 killed during the same period last year. Delayed deaths reports are expected to reduce the gain.

3 Children Plunge 500 Feet to Death

OGDEN, Utah (UPI) — Three children plunged 500 feet to their deaths last night when they slipped on icy rocks while trying to climb down off a "mountain" near their homes.

The boy and two girls fell down a sheer cliff in the Waterfall Canyon area about two miles from the base of the mountains east of here.

The Weber County sheriff's office identified them as Mark Way, 9, son of Dr. and Mrs. Grant Way; Shauna Southwick, 9, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Paul Southwick; and Bonnie Ross, 8, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Aaron Ross.

Russ Distill Instant Fire

MOSCOW (UPI) — The official Tass news agency said yesterday the Russians have been able to distill brandy in three months instead of three years. The product, called Pokushor—little fire, is called Pokushor—little fire.

Stork Makes Fire Station Just in Time

COLLEGE PARK, Ga. (AP) — College Park firemen heard an automobile horn blowing steadily yesterday.

They found Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Smith parked outside the fire station.

Smith said his wife was going to have a baby and he couldn't get her to a hospital in time.

Smith drove his car into the station, and Howard Kersey Smith was born before the arrival of a doctor and ambulance.

The incident was routine to fireman Hoyt Scarborough.

"This is the third one he's helped deliver," said Chief J. B. Ely.

Swedes, Danes Propose International Bridge

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Sweden and Denmark are considering a mammoth project to link the two countries by bridge.

Its completion would bring a new "city of two nations" with a population of four to five million people. As one of the world's largest cities it would have immense commercial and industrial importance.

The project has wide official and public support. A committee appointed by the two governments has recommended construction of a 3 1/3 mile bridge across the Oresund—the body of water that separates Sweden and the Danish island of Zealand. The bridge would cost 750 million Swedish kronor—$144.8 million—and would take 10 years to build, including preparatory work. The committee recommends that it run between the Swedish city of Helsingborg and the Danish city of Elsinore, at the narrowest point of the Oresund.

DOUBLE-DECKER
It would be of double-deck construction with a four-lane highway above for vehicles and rail lines underneath. Ships could pass beneath it.

The committee says this permanent link between Sweden and Denmark would so increase commercial and industrial activity that a population increase would naturally follow. It predicts that by the end of this century one fourth of the population of Sweden and Denmark will live along the Oresund.

Swedish and Danish proponents of the project visualize Copenhagen, Denmark's capital, city with a population of one million, and the south Swedish port city of Malmö, with 200,000 people, as basic components of this city spanning the Oresund.

Aside from these cities, there is plenty of space for development of a huge new community with industry, residential zones and recreation areas that would merge with the present cities.

The Danish Foreign Office Journal says: "An urban development such as this would be unique of its kind, even by international standards. Cities like New York, London, Moscow and Paris never had such initial facilities for first-rate harbor facilities capable of almost unlimited expansion. This would be one of the world's great port areas. Copenhagen has one of Europe's busiest airports at Kastrup, but this would not be large enough for a city of four or five million people. Planners want to build a new one on the flat island of Saltholm in the middle of the Oresund.

BACKGROUND OF THE NEWS SPECIAL REPORT

The joint Swedish-Danish committee submitted its report after an eight-year survey. It made no recommendation as to how the structure should be financed. Swedish and Danish governments may share the cost. Swedish and Danish private interests might finance it with the aid of foreign capital.

One question worrying the planners is whether it would be legal to construct a bridge across an international sea channel. Danish experts say international law does not lay down any definite policy on the question.

The decision to build or not to build may come in 1963.

Hospital, Union to Air Dispute

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Swainson yesterday named a special three-man governor's commission to hear a dispute between St. Mary's Hospital of Livonia and Local 547, International Union of Operating Engineers, AFL-CIO.

The governor said the commission was named at request of the State Labor Mediations Board, which has been unable to resolve the dispute through normal mediation.

Wages, hours and working conditions are at issue in the disagreement. Named to the commission were three attorneys: Thomas J. Foley of Plymouth, who will serve as chairman. The others are Charles Campbell of Highland Park and George Wicklund of Inkster. They will return a report to the governor in 30 days.

Two Tough Stands Win JFK 3rd Honor

President John F. Kennedy is Newsmaker of the Year for the third straight year, as selected by news editors of Associated Press member newspapers and radio and TV stations.

The President made the most news in 1962 on the two occasions he got tough—with Russia and with the steel industry.

Faced with evidence that Russia was building and equipping bases in Cuba which could handle nuclear missiles, Kennedy's reaction was: get them out or else.

In a grave TV talk to the nation Oct. 22, Kennedy outlined a seven-point program for fast military and diplomatic action to stop the Cuban buildup.

He also said, "Should these offensive military preparations continue, thus increasing the threat to the hemisphere, further action will be justified. I have directed the armed forces to prepare for any eventualities."

Russia backed down.

With steel, the President used his powers of persuasion to bring about a new contract which would hold down the inflationary spiral. The contract called for no pay increase, was reached without a strike.

But when the major steel companies raised prices only a few days later, Kennedy went beyond persuasion. Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy threatened antitrust suits and a grand jury investigation of price fixing.

Big steel packed down.

Kennedy's trade expansion bill got through Congress, with changes; his proposed Department of Urban Affairs and Housing and medical care for the aged under Social Security did not.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS

Premier Fidel Castro of Cuba, over whose island America and Russia had the year's biggest Cold War showdown, was the editor's choice as newsmaker of the year in foreign affairs.

The bearded Communist, no rose without thorns even for the Premier Anastas Mikoyan in Cuba 24 days, interpreting the Russian withdrawal of missile bases.

SCIENCE

Dr. Frances Kelsey, medical officer in the Food and Drug Administration, refused a U. S. license for the sleep-inducing drug thalidomide, insisting there was insufficient proof of its safety.

After thalidomide taken early in pregnancy was found to have caused thousands of babies to be born deformed, Dr. Kelsey was given a gold medal for distinguished civilian government service.

BUSINESS

Billie Sol Estes, who once said "to be successful you have to walk out on a limb . . . if it breaks, you learn how far to go next time," felt the limb break in 1962 under his vast financial empire.

Estes' questionable dealings in government grain storage and acreage allotments became the subject of myriad investigations.

RELIGION

Pope John XIII convened the 21st Ecumenical Council, first since 1870, at the Vatican on Oct. 11, his goal being internal church renewal.

Also in '62, he instituted the first change in the heart of the Mass in 1,300 years, made the first train trip by a Pope in 100 years, raised the College of Cardinals to an all-time high of 87.

A few days after his 81st birthday Nov. 25, he was taken ill with a gastric disorder.

SPORTS

Sonny Liston became heavyweight champion of the world in two minutes and six seconds Sept. 25, in a Chicago match with two-time champion Floyd Patterson.

The first-round knockout was the earliest in which the heavyweight title ever changed hands.

ENTERTAINMENT

Blonde, shapely Marilyn Monroe, movie star symbol of sex, was found dead in her bed Aug. 5, her hand holding a lifted telephone receiver, an empty bottle of sleeping pills nearby.

The coroner's report ruled it death by sedative drugs, "probable suicide," and noted she had had "severe fears and frequent depressions."

LITERATURE

John Steinbeck received the Nobel Prize for Literature in 1962, the sixth American to be so honored.

Dr. Anders Osterling of the prize committee termed Steinbeck's 1961 novel, "The Winter of Our Discontent," in "the towering standard" of his best-known novel from the depression, "The Grapes of Wrath."

WOMAN

Jacqueline Kennedy has been chosen woman newsmaker for the second straight year.

She showed how she's been re-decorating her home on TV's hour-long "A Tour of the White House with Mrs. John Kennedy," spent an August vacation on Italy's Amalfi coast.

Romney Tops State News

By A. F. MAHAN
Associated Press Staff Writer
A story that popped up day after day dominated Michigan front pages throughout 1962. The story needs only a two-word title: George Romney.

Not only was Romney's election as governor, ending 14 years of Democratic rule in Lansing, voted the No. 1 story of the year, but he also figured in No. 5, the Michigan Constitutional Convention's wind-up, and three other events that received votes in balloting on the "Ten Top Michigan stories of 1962."

The "Top Ten" were chosen by editors and newscasters of Associated Press member newspapers and radio and television stations—the men nearest the news.

Here are their picks and votes each received:

1. George Romney elected governor—334.
2. Constitutional Convention ends—222.
3. Wallenda Troupe Topples from wire—177.
4. Automobile sales boom—128.
5. Sault Ste. Marie bridge completion—92.
6. Legislature kills tax reform—91.
7. Supreme Court orders reapportionment—78.
8. Freighter Montrose sinks—72.
9. Consumers Power dedicates reactor—59.
10. Kennedy leads Democratic onslaught—37.

Already prominently in the news as a vice president of the Constitutional Convention, Romney jumped to page-one headlines on Feb. 10 and stayed there the rest of the year.

It was on Feb. 10 that Romney announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for governor and his decision to step down as chairman and president of American Motors Corp., which he had rescued from the brink of bankruptcy and converted into a multimillion-dollar profit-maker.

The event which editors and newscasters voted the No. 1 news story of the year didn't occur until Nov. 6—the day of the election in which Romney defeated Gov. John B. Swainson and ended 14 years of Democratic rule in Lansing.

Another event in which Romney figured in 1962 likely will wind up among the "Ten Top Michigan stories of 1963."

That was the Constitutional Convention's rewriting of Michigan's basic law. Voters will adopt or reject this first redraft of the state's Constitution in 54 years in the upcoming April election, and Romney is pledged to campaign for its acceptance.

The convention opened in October, 1961, and finished its work and went home.

The year's No. 3 story, and probably the most dramatic, was seen by horror-struck hundreds as it happened. It was the collapse of a human pyramid on a high wire at Detroit's Shrine Circus.

Two of the Wallenda Troupe of aerialists fell to their deaths. A third member was so crippled he'll never walk again. Only one of seven who started across the high wire that night escaped without a scratch.

This tragedy and the Sinking of the British freighter Montrose, after it collided with a barge in the Detroit River, produced some of the Associated Press' most spectacular pictures of the year. Luke Romney, the story voted No. 4, picked up steam as the year progressed. It was the "automobile sales boom," which kept the state's industry humming and had reduced unemployment in the automaking centers to its lowest point in half a dozen years.

Sales kept right on booming toward the new year, which automakers forecast likely will see another seven million built.

Katanga Man Ordered to Go

NEW YORK (AP)—Michel Struelens, controversial international chief in this country for the Congo secessionist province Katanga, has been ordered to leave the United States.

The ruling was made in a deportation proceeding Wednesday by the Immigration and Naturalization Service.

Struelens, 34, a Belgian national, has 10 days to appeal the ruling. Struelens was asked by the immigration service last Dec. 6 to leave the country voluntarily within 15 days. He had been turned down in his request for a change of status to allow permanent residence in the United States.

His case resulted in friction between the State Department and a Senate Internal Security subcommittee.

Struelens blamed the State Department for the initial action against him. He said the department had found his work "too successful" in presenting the case of Katanga President Moise Tshombe, who has been resisting efforts to incorporate Katanga Province into the republic of the Congo.

The Senate subcommittee accused the State Department of apparent political motivation in seeking the ouster of Struelens, who represented a government critical of U. S. policy in the Congo.

In any event, 1962 was the best year since record 1955.

The story voted fifth biggest was completion of the new International Bridge linking Michigan and Ontario at Sault Ste. Marie. This span blasted open the state's last big traffic bottleneck.

The legislature's killing of Gov. John B. Swainson's tax reform program, a part of which the senate battled over all night and then passed, only to reverse it self later, was voted No. 6.

The State Supreme Court's order for senate reapportionment, coupled with a subsequent U. S. Supreme Court stay pending appeal of the Michigan court's, finished 7th. Whatever finally happens, this, too, likely will be among 1963's top ten.

The spectacular sinking of the giant British freighter Montrose, after its collision with a cement-laden barge in the Detroit River, was ranked No. 8.

BI GROSS POINT

Dedication of Michigan's first atomic reactor for production of electric power was placed No. 9. It is that of Consumers Power Co., located at Big Rock Point on Lake Michigan.

A September onslaught of Democratic cabinet members and other party leaders, led by President Kennedy, was voted No. 10, nosing out the Ford Rotunda fire by six votes. The Democratic missions proved futile.

Other stories in which Romney figured and which got a scattering of "top ten" votes included Romney's crashing of Detroit's and Muskegon's Labor Day parades; his squabble with 14th District Republican Chief Richard Durant over the latter's John Birch Society membership, and the first-year report on the profit-sharing contract which Romney negotiated at American Motors with the United Auto Workers Union.

Other stories gathering votes in categories somewhere between No. 1 and No. 10 included:

Tigers flop in American League; Upper Peninsula economic development; Eastman helicopter crash at Menominee; Michigan highway construction; Freighter Makeffell goes aground at Muskegon; and convict dies in reformatory break.

OTHER STORIES

Albion oil well fire; Michigan reserve troops released; Neil Staebler elected congressman-at-large; Detroit named U. S. Olympic site; Michigan-Michigan State football; Red Wings retire Jack Adams; Sleeping Bear Dunes squabble; first cherries go to Europe via seaway; Shortages at grain elevators;

State finances and Detroit income tax; Detroit Lions make valiant fight in National Football League; antlerless deer squabble; Senate refuses to confirm Gus Scholle as convention commissioner; "Who will lead Democrats?";

Teamster James R. Hoffa's battles; scandal in Detroit's Public Works Department; Detroit-Puron battle over internal revenue service computer center; Detroit elects Jerome Cavanagh mayor; campus speaker ban.

JFK Eyes Medicare Aid to Education

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy may decide Friday on the 1963 decision for two of his most controversial proposals—aid to education and medical care for the aged.

Neither made the grade in the last session of Congress. The President will take up the legislative program for health, education and welfare at a vacation White House conference with Secretary of Welfare Anthony J. Celebrezze, Assistant Secretary Wilbur J. Cohen and the new commissioner of education, Francis Keppel.

The officials plan to leave late today for a morning session in Palm Beach, Fla., with Kennedy Friday.

Among other things, they will discuss alternative approaches for the promised programs of federal aid for public schools and for higher education. These possible alternatives have already been submitted to the White House for study.

EDUCATION EMPHASIS

Keppel's participation in the conference indicated there would be major emphasis on education proposals. But informed sources said the officials were prepared to give the President a review of the department's entire program.

This decisions may be reached on any new approach to the controversial program for financing medical care for the aged through Social Security and on a long-standing proposal to tighten regulations of the cosmetic industry.

Cohen, assistant welfare secretary in charge of legislation, had department task forces study all its proposals which failed in the last Congress. He also conferred with interested outsiders.

"We told the staff groups to re-examine the whole thing—every legislative program that was still pending when Congress adjourned," Cohen said in an interview. "We said we did not want a change made just for the sake of change but we wanted a new look if this was warranted on the basis of experience."

REAPPRAISE SITUATION

"Out of these series of meetings ideas were developed which have been presented to the staff of the President," Cohen said. "We have tried to reappraise the situation—look at it from a new point of view."

In addition to proposals for federal aid to elementary and secondary public schools and for higher education, other proposals which the administration is expected to offer again in the educational field include:

Expansion of the student loan provision and other changes in the National Defense Education Act; an adult education program aimed at virtual elimination of adult illiteracy; a program to improve the quality of education; some form of federal aid to schools in impacted areas but on a less costly basis than at present; a program to expand federal aid for library services; and federal aid for medical facilities and for students in the health professions.

New proposals expected to be offered include greatly expanded programs for aid to vocational education and for the mentally retarded which was recommended recently by presidential study groups.

Wants School to Teach Rod and Reel Technique

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—If Gordon Yetman has his way, students in Oklahoma's rural schools will be learning to fish. Yetman, factory representative for a Tulsa sporting goods manufacturer, is heading a campaign to introduce instruction in the use of a rod and reel into the physical education curriculum of Oklahoma's rural schools.

After all, we have junior baseball, golf, tennis and basketball," Yetman said.

"Why not junior fishermen who know the fundamentals of catching fish?"

English Actor Discovers 5 Months Means 2 Years

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD—It was the end of a long campaign for Peter O'Toole.

"Campaign is a good word for it," sighed the English actor who is starring in "Lawrence of Arabia." It had taken him from the searing sands of Jordan and Morocco to the rainless plains of Spain and finally to the watering places of remote Hollywood. He slipped his beer and sighed again.

"When I agreed to do this picture, they told me it would take five months," he said. "That was two years ago October."

He had reckoned without the wiles of his employer, producer Samuel Spiegel, a man bent on perfectionism ("On the Waterfront," "Bridge on the River Kwai").

With the successful launching of the Hollywood premiere of "Lawrence of Arabia," O'Toole's duties for Spiegel were finally ended except for one more picture the actor is contracted for. ("Sam keeps muttering something about my playing a Texan. Ridiculous.")

There was not an immediate attachment, O'Toole recalled.

UNIMPRESSED

"We met first in 1958, and Sam was unimpressed," he recalled.

"I didn't care much for Sam at first, either. But I must say I have grown to like him. Sam is a burglar, of course. But he has the face of a burglar, and that's his charm. Other producers can be burglars but they don't look like it."

It should be added that "burglar" is a show biz term of semi-endearment for a sharp operator who generally gets the best of a deal.

You may have gathered that O'Toole is an outspoken type. He is. He is a rangy fellow with sandy-colored hair and casual dress. He is also one of England's best young actors.

His new Lamplighter Room is available for banquets, receptions, or other large groups. Inquire of the manager.

Howard Johnson's

This was his first trip to Hollywood.

Would he be willing to work here?

"Yes. I have worked in other deserts. I have even worked in Stratford-on-Avon."

He made it plain that he considered the Bard's birthplace a cultural desert. "A terrible place," he commented. "I spent nine of the worst months of my life there."

A MONSTROSITY

"The plays are well done at the Stratford, but the theater is a monstrosity. George Bernard Shaw, who hated Shakespeare, sent the designer a one-word message: "Congratulations."

What was the lowest point in his 26-month journey with Lawrence?

"The worst point came in Spain. I hate Spain, and we were in the most backward part of it."

Would he do it all over again if he knew how arduous the campaign would be?

"The answer to that is yes-no."

Fleeing Driver Wrecks Home and Antiques

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Many antiques and mementos gathered by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Strong, both 62, were wrecked beyond repair by an automobile which smashed through their home Christmas day, Strong said Wednesday.

The car, driven by Raymond Arthur Wright, 20, plowed through the living room and a bedroom.

Mrs. Strong had just left the living room and was in the kitchen. She was treated for shock. Her husband had gone out a few minutes before to buy a newspaper.

Police said Wright was being chased by an officer for a traffic violation and was going 90 miles an hour. He was reported in satisfactory condition at County Hospital with a fractured wrist, facial cuts and possible internal injuries.

Fruit Embargo Ends

LAKELAND, Fla. (UP)—The 10-day embargo on all shipments of fresh citrus ends tonight. Officials said grove owners whose crop escaped damage from the recent freeze can expect premium prices.

An Inclement Bargain

HVAR, Yugoslavia (AP) — Trilingual posters in English, German and Serbian greet visitors to this island off the Yugoslav coast with an offer of "seasonally convenient winter accommodations at reduced tariffs." The offer is a 50 per cent reduction in rates if it rains more than three hours a day between 7 a.m. and 5 p.m. and no charge at all for each snowy, freezing or foggy day.

'Fightin' Whisky' Potent

Bourbon Gets 'Loving Care'

FRANKFORT, Ky. (UPI) — When distillers are told about it, they're ready to pull out all their corks.

Some whisky connoisseurs hereabout contend there are different kinds of bourbon.

They will take an oath there are such types as 'loughlin' whisky, cryin' whisky, fallin' down whisky, and the worst of all, fightin' whisky.

One story is that a Lexington barkeep once tried to sue a major distiller, claiming he was sold five cases of fightin' whisky. He said his customers became so bopped up on the stuff they tore up his bar.

The reason all this talk riles the distillers is that they go to great pains to produce uniformity.

In the heart of the bourbon-making country, the phrase "tender loving care" probably is used more often in reference to whisky than to babies.

METHOD DISPUTED

Some distillers feel they can best get the uniformity through modern electronic methods. At their distilleries, the warehouses where whisky is stored for years for proper aging, are temperature-controlled.

But others argue a better product can be attained through the so-called "old-time methods." At those distilleries, nature and muscle power alone are used in the aging process.

One of them is the "21 Brands" distillery located a few miles from Harbors of bourbon are stored in an all-wood building high on a hill.

The warehouse has 250 windows which are opened every morning and closed every night to provide the proper circulation. The muscle power comes into play in moving the barrels within the warehouse.

Walter Seid, vice president of "21 Brands," said the barrels are moved to provide uniformity in aging.

They may spend six months in the right corner of the first floor, three months in the middle of the second floor, six months on the left corner of the third.

JUST NEED SWITCH

In the temperature-controlled warehouses, all the moving is necessary. The various conditions can be created with the flick of a switch.

Most of the bourbon makers age their product from about four to six years. During that time, the whisky penetrates into the charred oak barrels and takes on its color. It's clear when it goes into the barrels.

The aging process is a matter of argument among producers. Most contend that, after six years, the whisky begins to taste more like the barrel than like whisky.

However, one distiller, Schenley, has taken the lead in aging whisky eight years or more. They say it means better whisky and they believe the public likes it.

All distilleries have a "master distiller."

These are the men who have the recipe for the mash needed to make the whisky and whose knowledge was gained from their grandfathers.

KNOW-HOW COUNTS

But the distillers say the recipe is probably the easiest part. It's the know-how during distilling that counts.

Whisky is susceptible to impurities during the manufacturing process and it's their job to see that it remains pure.

If it doesn't, a whole batch would have to be thrown out.

One thing the distilleries here are happiest about is that bourbon sales are increasing.

Town Has Old Grave

GREENUP, Ky. (AP) — The grave of the first settler born west of the Allegheny Mountains is at Old Town in Greenup County. Mrs. Lucy Virgin Downs was born near Uniontown, Pa., in 1768. She lived in Old Town for about 40 years before her death in 1847.

Do Hardboard Same as Wood

We used hardboard for finishing an attic room several months ago. We put no finish on it, depending to keep it in its natural brownish color.

But, due to a change in the color combinations in the room, we now wish to paint it. Is there any special technique for painting it?

Hardboard possesses many of the characteristics of natural wood and, in general, the usual practices in painting natural wood are applicable to hardboard.

It is best to use a sealer to prevent absorption of the top coat. The sealer can be shellac, most latex paints, enamel undercoaters, varnish or alkyd-base primers, and any of the various special sealers.

Be sure all dirt and grease are removed from the hardboard before applying the sealer, especially since the material was installed some time ago.

The top coat is a matter of choice, but the usual practice is to use flat paints for walls and ceilings, and semi-gloss or gloss enamels for surfaces where higher resistance to abrasion, washing or moisture penetration is required.

One more point: If there are nailheads showing, they should be covered with an anticorrosive primer. If brads were used, drive them a little below the surface and cover them with putty.

Smooth the putty and then seal and paint in the regular way.

Just as Simple as 1-2-3

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Big thing in the automobile industry for 1963, according to speakers at an industry convention here, is the trend to multiple-car ownership. More and more families own several cars.

Researchers Develop Freshener Formula

EAST LANSING (AP) — A pair of Michigan State University horticulturalists have developed a vegetable freshener.

They say a chemical compound will double the storage life of broccoli, asparagus and celery. Some cut flowers (carnations and chrysanthemums) and the green stems of sweet cherries reportedly act the same way when treated with the compound.

S. H. Witter and Richard R. DeDolph identify the compound as Na-Benzyladenine. It bears the trademark Verdan, and will be marketed next spring by Shell Development Co. of Shell Oil Co., according to reports.

The compound keeps vegetables fresh by inhibiting aging. It reduces respiration and retards the protein chlorophyll in leaf tissue.

Witter explains that the chemical "adds to the inherent properties of the product that would naturally tend to prolong its life."

The researchers explain the application of the compound this way:

Put ten parts of Verdan in one million parts of water. Then give the vegetable a quick dip into the solution, or spray the vegetable thoroughly.

The researchers add one note of caution: make the application shortly before or after harvest or it will be ineffective.

The compound was recently cleared for use on certain food crops by the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the Food and Drug Administration.

Curiously enough, Witter reports, the compound has been found to be effective only with certain vegetables.

He and DeDolph have not yet been able to preserve the freshness of lettuce or green beans with Verdan. Yet the compound works on cabbage.

Remarkings on the possibilities for the uses of Verdan, Witter says "we've only made a beginning."

Eventually, the researchers say, the compound will help to keep an even supply of fresh vegetables on the market throughout the year.

Mountains in Florida

MIAMI (AP) — When Mrs. Paul Oliver returned from Italy a year ago, she had the bright idea of building some artificial Alps in this region, which is a long, long way from mountains au naturel. Using potato sacks, cement, coral rocks, steel rods and steel mesh, she and her husband have created a landscape complete with waterfall that attracts the attention of passersby.

Does Wonders for Rugs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — You add life and beauty to your rugs and carpets if you follow three basic rules of cleaning.

They are: daily cleaning with a carpet sweeper, careful vacuuming once or twice a week depending on the traffic and soil and thorough professional cleaning once a year.

New Year's Food Should Be Exciting

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

With Christmas behind us, now we turn our thoughts to New Year's eve and day and the gala parties to be held.

Dips are always in order as you sit around and chat. In addition to the usual crackers, potato chips and pretzels, serve your guests a platter of raw vegetables with which to scoop up the dip mixtures. Weight watchers will love you and others will enjoy the fresh crisp taste of the vegetables.

Here are 3 new dip-spreads.

Russian Spread

5 hard cooked eggs, chopped
1/2 cup real mayonnaise
1/2 cup chili sauce
1/2 teaspoon vinegar
Combine all ingredients. Makes about 2 cups.

Smoky Pea Soup Dip

1 pound cottage cheese
1/2 cup milk
1 envelope Swiss recipe smoky pea soup mix
6 pimiento stuffed olives, cut up
Blend cottage cheese and milk. Fold in soup mix and olives. Chill at least 3 to 4 hours before serving.

Vegetable Dip

1 envelope Swiss recipe spring vegetable soup mix
1 pint dairy sour cream
Combine soup mix and sour cream. Let stand in refrigerator at least 2 hours before serving. Makes 2 cups.

Many times we are asked for a wine punch recipe. Here is one with an unusual and distinctive flavor.

New Year Punch

2 packages (10 ounces each) frozen sliced strawberries
1 bottle (4/5 of a quart) sauterne (chilled)
1 lemon and 1 orange (both thinly sliced)
Ice block (made in a 2- or 3-cup size mold)

Easy Toast-Egg Cups Satisfy Early Risers

Brisk winter days call for hearty breakfasts. Here's a toast and egg dish that's almost a breakfast-in-one!

For four servings, trim crusts from 4 slices enriched bread. Press slices gently into well-greased custard or muffin cups. Brush with 2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine. Break an egg into center of each slice. Season with salt and pepper. Sprinkle each with 1 teaspoon grated Parmesan cheese.

Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) about 15 minutes, or until eggs are set and bread lightly toasted.

6 ounces (1/2 cup) cognac
1 bottle (26 ounces) champagne (chilled)

Shortly before serving, turn the strawberries into a large punch bowl with the sauterne, lemon and orange slices; allow to thaw at room temperature just enough to separate the berries. Add the ice block, cognac and champagne; stir gently and serve. Makes 16 servings.

If you want to impress your guests, have a fondue party. It's a friendly idea with everyone sharing the fondue from a chafing dish or earthenware bowl that can be kept warm.

Each guest is provided with a long-handled fork and large cubes of toasted French bread. The trick is to spear the bread, dip it in the bubbling cheese and eat it with pleasure.

In Switzerland the fondue is so important that many restaurants have little rooms set aside for serving it.

The following recipe has an intriguing tang which comes from using lemon-lime carbonated beverage. This same beverage is used to make a cooling non-alcoholic punch to serve with or without the fondue.

Chalet Fondue

1 (7 ounce) bottle lemon-lime carbonated beverage
1/2 teaspoon garlic powder
1 pound Swiss cheese, cubed
1 1/2 tablespoons flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

1 loaf French bread, cut in 1 1/2-inch cubes

Pour all but about 1/4 cup lemon-lime carbonated beverage in a heavy saucepan. Add garlic and bring to a boil. Add cheese and stir vigorously until cheese is melted and the mixture bubbles. Reduce heat to very low or place pan over boiling water.

Combine flour and remaining 1/4 cup lemon-lime carbonated beverage and stir into the cheese mixture. Season with salt and Worcestershire sauce. Cook and stir until smooth and thickened. To serve, place in chafing dish or earthenware casserole over warmer. Toast bread cubes lightly. Serve with the fondue.

Blushing Cranberry Nog

2 eggs, separated
1 1/2 cups cranberry juice cocktail
2 tablespoons sugar
2 (7-ounce) bottles chilled lemon-lime carbonated beverage
Ice cubes

Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Beat in sugar a little at a time. Continue to beat until stiff peaks form when beater is raised. Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon-colored. Blend in cranberry juice. Fold in egg whites. Turn into punch bowl. Slowly pour in chilled lemon-lime carbonated beverage. Add ice cubes. Makes about 12 servings.

WITH POLISH HAM — Delectable and filling supper sandwiches are made with slices of canned Polish ham holding a potato salad filling. The dessert is a mixture of Mandarin oranges, frozen berries, grapes and peaches, all chilled in Chablis or Sauterne wine. The table setting includes art objects from Poland.

Distinctive Sandwiches

Isn't It Fun! To create, prepare and serve a wonderfully good and appetizing meal. That's a hobby today with many a host and hostess. But it wasn't always so. Not too many years ago, party preparations took a two-day kitchen safari, and it was a task, not a hobby.

But no more! Times are different. Today's hostess is free to roam happily from country to country via the cases and counters of her own supermarket to pick the special imports of her choice from the abundance of the civilized globe.

Polish Hams beckon to her as a mainstay for the beautiful sandwiches pictured in today's column. These imported canned hams offer the thrifty and imaginative hostess enticing ways to serve the tender succulent meat. It is lean, solid and completely free from waste.

In today's fast-moving world, scientific developments crowd in on us faster than we can absorb their impact. But the basic human needs are the same as always. The serving of a fine meal is still important to a hostess. But without days of preparation. Modern women demand convenience foods.

But she is also aware of the importance of nutrition, calories and a balanced diet. Too many calories are not for her, nor for her guests.

Hence the change-over to the hearty main course sandwich with two slices of ham, top and bottom, and the filling made of other foods. These sandwiches are "open-face" a direct steal from the Scandinavian countries and the fillings are "borrowed" from France and Italy.

And, finally, today's woman is an artist in setting her table. Each one must serve as an appropriate backdrop for the meal that is served.

WITH POTATO SALAD FILLING

1 (3 to 5 lb.) canned Polish Ham
8 slices ham
1 pint potato salad seasoned with
1 teaspoon finely cut fresh dill

Arrange four slices of ham on cutting board. Spread each slice with chilled potato salad. Cover salad with slice of ham. Wrap each sandwich in metal foil. Refrigerate until ready to serve. Garnish with fresh dill and olives. Serves 4.

WITH TEEN-AGE FILLING

8 slices Polish Ham
1 cup peanuts
1 cup golden raisins
1/2 cup boiled salad dressing

Combine last 3 ingredients. Spread four slices of ham with a thin coating of peanut butter. Proceed as in recipe above. Serves 4.

WITH LADIES' LUNCHEON FILLING

2 ripe avocados
1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
1 tablespoon lime or lemon juice
1/2 cup finely chopped toasted almonds (4 oz. can)

Peel, mash avocados. Mix all ingredients together lightly. Spread on four (4) slices of ham. Proceed as in previous recipes. Garnish with mandarin oranges. Serves 4.

WITH PARISIAN FILLING

1 pint cooked rice, drained, chilled
1/2 cup heavy cream, whipped
1 tablespoon mayonnaise
4 tablespoons crumbled Roquefort cheese

Combine ingredients lightly. Proceed as in previous recipes. Serves 4.

Hot Sandwiches Hit Spot on Cold Days

BARBECUED CORNED BEEF AND CHEESE SANDWICH

Cut 12 ounce can of corned beef into 8 slices. On a slice of toast place a slice of corned beef. Top with 1/2 slice of process pimiento cheese. Combine 1/4 cup catsup, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard, 1 teaspoon horseradish, and 1 tablespoon vinegar. Spread over surface of each sandwich. Broil to melt and brown the cheese.

SOUTHERN GRILLED PINEAPPLE SANDWICH

1 (9-ounce) can pineapple slices
French dressing
1 cup grated cheddar cheese
1/4 cup finely chopped green pepper
1/4 teaspoon chili powder
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
4 slices corn meal bread
Butter or margarine
4 slices baked or boiled ham

Drain pineapple; brush slices lightly with French dressing. Combine cheese, green pepper, chili powder and mayonnaise. Toast and butter bread, arrange on baking sheet. Top with ham, then pineapple slices. Spread cheese mixture over each sandwich. Broil until topping is melted and golden brown; be careful not to burn. Makes 4 servings.

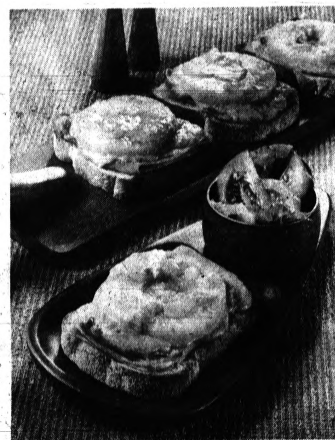

HOT ASPARAGUS HAM SANDWICHES

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
1/2 cup grated processed cheddar cheese
1/2 cup finely chopped water cress
1 No. 2 can California white asparagus
4 slices toast
2 slices boiled ham, cut in thin strips

Melt butter or margarine; add flour and salt and blend. Gradually add milk and cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add cheese and stir until cheese is melted; add water cress and mix well. Meanwhile, heat asparagus and drain; arrange on toast. Place ham on asparagus; top with sauce. Makes 4 sandwiches.

Hard Nut to Crack

The delectable Brazil nut has a hard protective shell. To simplify the cracking task, put Brazil nuts in the freezer or in the freezing compartment of the refrigerator for a few hours or overnight. Once brittle from cold, the shells crack easily.

GRILLED FRUIT — This delicious broiled pineapple sandwich is jiffy quick to prepare for hungry appetites. It's an imaginative new combination of ham, cheese and golden pineapple slices. You'll find this tastes extra good when put together on corn meal bread produced by many bakeries. If you can't find corn meal bread use rye or whole wheat.

CORNER BEEF — Try canned corn beef with mellow pimiento cheese for simple, but delicious service. Try this recipe combining canned corned beef

CHALET FONDUE — Easy elegance comes to New Year's Eve when you entertain at a heart-thumping fondue party. Here's a little Swiss Chalet way with toasty bread and melted cheese, along with a cranberry punch made with lemon-lime carbonated beverage to satisfy a thirst.

CAN YOU STOP IN TIME?

Here are National Safety Council Test Facts

These drivers see stop sign and cars crossing intersection. They apply brakes at same instant on glare ice at 30 miles per hour. What happens?

STOPS IN 173 FEET
WITH ROOM TO SPARE

THIS DRIVER HAS SNOW TIRES

STOPS IN 392 FEET
TOO LATE TO AVOID COLLISION

THIS DRIVER HAS REGULAR TIRES

STOPS IN 439 FEET
TOO LATE TO AVOID COLLISION

MORE FACTS FOR SAFER WINTER DRIVING

Always carry a pair of reinforced tire chains. In deep snow or on ice they enable you to go and stop more safely.

• Every winter the National Safety Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards studies the effects of snow and ice, and how to drive safely under the worst conditions. Figures above and below are based on results of their tests

• Packed snow also makes stopping difficult. Regular tires at 30 miles an hour will stop you in 135 feet, snow tires in 117, and reinforced tire chains in 86

• Reduced visibility is also a major winter driving hazard. Do your windshield wipers give clear, streak-free visibility? If rubber is dead, get live rubber refills. Also check wiper arm tension. It should exert one ounce of pressure for each inch of blade length. If arms are weak, blades smear around rain or road muck, and soon ride over snow or sleet—even with new blades. Make sure defroster works.

• Rising temperature makes ice more slippery. At 30 miles an hour on ice at 0° a car with regular tires requires 266 feet to stop. At 30° this distance increases to 530 feet

• Also significant is the great effect of speed on braking distances. At only ten miles slower, all of these figures are reduced more than half. At ten miles faster, look out! To cite one example, the average braking distance for regular tires on glare ice is 780 feet at 40 m.p.h.

ABOVE CHART, provided by the Safe Winter Driving League, illustrates test results by National Safety Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards. For each "braking distance" above you should add 33 feet, which is distance traveled during average "reaction time," needed to think and get your foot on brake after seeing a reason to stop. Skidding and reduced visibility are major added hazards of winter.

CAN YOU SEE AND STOP IN TIME?

Arrested on Charge of Embezzlement

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Mrs. Betty J. Davis was arrested yesterday in connection with the alleged embezzlement of $16,500 from a realty firm in which she was employed.

Deputy Prosecutor Louis J. Educato said he had authorized the warrant and claimed the woman admitted a portion of the loss.

Educato and detective Joseph Zemaitis said the Dutchess Realty Co. loss occurred over a four-year period from October 1956 to last October. Mrs. Davis was employed by the firm as chief cashier at $85 a week.

Cohen (in Prison) Sued for Taxes

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mickey Cohen has more troubles. The federal government still expects the former Los Angeles gambler to pay $374,476 in back taxes and interest.

U.S. Atty. Francis C. Whelan said Wednesday he has filed suit to recover the money due from uncollected taxes for the years 1945 to 1960.

Cohen entered Alcatraz last May 14 to begin a 15-year prison sentence for income tax evasion.

Yellowstone Bears Wired for Sound

WASHINGTON — Two grizzlies temporarily immobilizes them bears in Yellowstone National Park are now operating their own radio stations.

Miniature transmitters, attached to the roaming bears by a plastic collar, broadcast "beep" signals to scientists as many as five miles away. One bear was successfully followed night and day for a month despite several snowstorms.

Protection of bears in Yellowstone has stabilized its grizzly population at about 200.

Further research on the grizzlies' range and habits may aid survival of the threatened species in unprotected forestland. The National Geographic Society and the National Science Foundation are supporting the long-range study, led by Frank and John Craighead of the Montana Cooperative Wildlife Research Unit.

SWEET BAIT — Before the grizzlies are wired for sound, they are trapped in portable steel culverts baited with honey, bacon and pineapple juice. The big bears are then injected with a harmless drug that ties and small animals.

Adults weigh up to 750 pounds, stand 6 feet high, and can run 30 miles an hour. A grizzly's lifelong interest is in its stomach. It will eat almost anything, including any human food, including what tries to feed it. Staples include grass, roots, berries, and a harmless drug that ties and small animals.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mickey Cohen has more troubles. The federal government still expects the former Los Angeles gambler to pay $374,476 in back taxes and interest.

Afro-Asians Show Fear of China

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

In hot and steamy Colombo, Ceylon, representatives of six Afro-Asian countries were seeking a cooling solution to the Sino-Indian border war.

At the close of their three-day meeting early this month they issued a remarkable statement which could only lend comfort to the Red Chinese.

Represented at this meeting of self-appointed peacemakers were Ceylon, NEWSOM, Cambodia, Burma, Indonesia, Ghana and the United Arab Republic.

Nowhere in the closing statement was there a mention of Communist aggression. Rather, the six called upon the disputants to settle their quarrel and thus preserve the peace and nonalignment of Asia and Africa.

And they suggested negotiations be undertaken on a basis which would restore territory in India in the northeast but which would require India to agree to a demilitarized buffer zone in the west. Such an agreement would leave the Chinese in virtual control of the Ladakh area of Kashmir. Indian Prime Minister Nehru's reaction was understandably cool. Red China's massive attack against border areas traditionally claimed by India stirred fear throughout Southeast Asia.

Pay Attention to Bedroom Decoration

First seen in the morning and last seen at night, the bedroom has much to do with our peace of mind and our rest for living.

Primarily a sleeping space, the bedroom is still a show place in most homes because modern homemakers like to make it light, airy, colorful and alive with a personality all its own.

Now, there is a growing trend, rapidly gaining momentum, which recognizes this slumber area as all-purpose quarters where many leisure hours can be enjoyed. Reading, television watching and sewing are just as adaptable to the bedroom as to family rooms and the like. Whether your bedroom is confined to the sleeping one-third of your day or also used for general living activities, it still deserves good planning and execution.

Providing up-to-date ideas on budget, is the 32-page illustrated booklet, "Beautify Your Bedroom." This publication is available through The Seng Co., 1450 North Dayton Street, Chicago 22, Illinois. It sells at 10 cents per copy, postpaid.

Crammed with answers to common problems that arise when bedrooms are being decorated, this informative little booklet presents a step-by-step method to achieve an outstanding bedroom for every member of the family, from adults to adolescents to juveniles.

When President Kennedy described Red China as this decade's greatest threat to world peace, he voiced an opinion held by many.

In Colombo, the neutrals were expressing the fear that the present Chinese ceasefire along the disputed border merely is a breather, a waiting period for the time when weather and supplies are right for another lunge southward.

China, whether under the emperors or the Reds, never has recognized as permanently lost any territory it once held.

SAME ARGUMENT?

And just as the Reds have attempted to cloak in legality their border aggression against India, the same argument might be used for the whole of Ladakh, regardless of any ceasefire or a demilitarized zone.

Lahak once was part of Tibet, now incorporated into Red China. Chinese conquest of Ladakh would give them the Zoji La Pass where an all-weather road leads straight into India.

Chinese possibilities for mischief-making in Southeast Asia are almost limitless. Each Southeast Asia nation has a huge Chinese population, providing a perfect opportunity for Red infiltration.

Retirement Has Problem

To Live in Apartment or Have House, Yard

If you are thinking of moving to a leisure area when you retire, chances are you are facing a big decision whether to live in a house or an apartment.

Apartments are getting steadily more popular in the sunshine belt and apartment builders are snapping up the choicest land along the nation's waterways.

It's an axiom in Florida that if you want to retire gracefully you have to be on the water or have a swimming pool and the retirement "rule" in California is similar.

Florida's Gold Coast stretching 90 miles or so up the coast from Miami is a perfect example of how a select retirement area — complete with sunshine, waterway, and a supreme view of the Atlantic has been just about eaten up by multiple dwelling units.

You would have to be in the millionaire class to buy or build a private house on the ocean today and that is just an example of what will be happening to other areas in the years ahead.

ON WEST COAST

Huge apartment houses, tailored especially for retired people, are springing up along Florida's West Coast too, and the Pacific is dotted with them along the coast of Southern California.

On top of the fact that select sites for houses are becoming more and more rare and more expensive in these retirement lands there are good arguments in favor of retiring to an ocean view apartment, according to builders specializing in this type of building.

"When you're ready to retire you're ready to stop mowing the lawn," according to William A. Wood, president of a development company which built the sparkling new Pasadena Apartments overlooking the Gulf of Mexico in St. Petersburg.

One of the most telling is the appeal to people who want to travel after they have moved to their retirement haven.

"If you're living in an apartment and you want to make a trip all you do is turn the key in the door and tell the superintendent," he said.

"A house presents all kinds of problems when you are looking up for a four-week departure. You should arrange for police protection, and for someone to cut the grass, and you have to stop milk and newspaper deliveries. What kind of retirement is that?"

SOMETHING TO DO

These "carefree living" views are winning a lot of converts to retired living in apartments. But on the other side of the ledger outspoken home owners sometimes like the idea of cutting their own grass and planting flowers and tending the hedges around a house.

It gives them an interest and something to do after they retire.

There is one segment of the retired class which is almost unanimous in the preference of an apartment. That is the widow or widower who lives alone. The security and the closeness of neighbors almost always wins him or her to an apartment in preference to a house.

CAN YOU STOP IN TIME?

Here are National Safety Council Test Facts

These drivers see stop sign and cars crossing intersection. They apply brakes at same instant on glare ice at 30 miles per hour. What happens?

WITH ROOM TO SPARE

STOPS IN 192 FEET
TOO LATE TO AVOID COLLISION

STOPS IN 439 FEET
TOO LATE TO AVOID COLLISION

MORE FACTS FOR SAFER WINTER DRIVING

DON'T NEED CHAINS, EH?

Always carry a pair of reinforced tire chains. In deep snow or on ice they enable you to go and stop more safely.

• Every winter the National Safety Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards studies the effects of snow and ice, and how to drive safely under the worst conditions. Figures above and below are based on results of their tests

• Packed snow also makes stopping difficult. Regular tires at 30 miles an hour will stop you in 135 feet, snow tires in 117, and reinforced tire chains in 86.

• Reduced visibility is also a major winter driving hazard. Do your windshield wipers give clear, streak-free visibility? If rubber is dead, get live rubber refills. Also check wiper arm tension. It should exert one ounce of pressure for each inch of blade length. If arms are weak, blades smear around rain or road muck, and soon ride over snow or sleet—even with new blades. Make sure defroster works.

• Rising temperature makes ice more slippery. At 30 miles an hour on ice at 0° a car with regular tires requires 256 feet to stop. At 30° this distance increases to 530 feet.

• Also significant is the great effect of speed on braking distances. At only ten miles slower, all of these figures are reduced more than half. At 10 miles faster, look out! To cite one example, the average braking distance for regular tires on glare ice is 780 feet at 40 m.p.h.

ABOVE CHART, provided by the Safe Winter Driving League, illustrates test results by National Safety Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards. For each "braking distance" above you should add 33 feet, which is distance traveled during average "reaction time," needed to think and get your foot on brake after seeing a reason to stop. Skidding and reduced visibility are major added hazards of winter.

CAN YOU SEE AND STOP IN TIME?

Arrested on Charge of Embezzlement

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Mrs. Betty J. Davis was arrested yesterday in connection with the alleged embezzlement of $16,342 from a realty firm in which she was employed.

Deputy Prosecutor Louis J. Educato said he had authorized the warrant and claimed the woman admitted a portion of the loss.

Educato and detective Joseph Zemaitis said the Dutchess Realty Co. loss occurred over a four-year period from October 1958 to last October. Mrs. Davis was employed by the firm as chief cashier at $85 a week.

Cohen (in Prison) Sued for Taxes

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mickey Cohen has more troubles.

The federal government still expects the former Los Angeles gambler to pay $274,476 in back taxes and interest.

U.S. Atty. Francis C. Whelan said Wednesday he has filed suit to recover the money due from uncollected taxes for the years 1945 to 1960.

Cohen entered Alcatraz last May 14 to begin a 15-year prison sentence for income tax evasion.

Yellowstone Bears Wired for Sound

WASHINGTON — Two grizzly temporarily immobilizes them while the collar is attached. Park is now operating their own radio stations.

Miniature transmitters, attached to the roaming bears by a plastic collar, broadcast "beep" signals to scientists as many as five miles away. One bear was successfully followed night and day for a month despite several snowstorms.

Protection of bears in Yellowstone has stabilized its grizzly population at about 200.

Further research on the grizzlies' range and habits may assure survival of the threatened species in unprotected forestland. The National Geographic Society and the National Science Foundation are supporting the long-range study, led by Frank and John Craighead of the Montana Cooperative Wildlife Research Unit.

SWEET BAIT

Before the grizzlies are wired for sound, they are trapped in its stomach. It will eat almost anything, including any human honey, bacon and pineapple juice. The big bears are then injected with a harmless drug that Though fewer than 1,000 grizzlies survive south of Canada, these contemporaries of the mastodon and saber-toothed tiger have lumbered across North America for a million years.

Some Indians believed the animal had supernatural powers because arrows seldom felled it. One Sioux chief said he prize his grizzly-claw necklace more than his wife.

Lewis and Clark saw grizzlies in 1805; one chased Lewis right into the Missouri River. The explorers returned with the first grizzly hide and skeleton ever seen in the East, and their accounts so impressed naturalist George Ord that he named the species Ursus horribilis, or "horrible bear."

Adults weigh up to 750 pounds, stand 8 feet high, and can run 30 miles an hour.

A grizzly's lifelong interest is in its stomach. It will eat almost anything, including any human honey, bacon and pineapple juice. The big bears are then injected with a harmless drug that Heard That Song Before?

Lansing Is Liszt-ening

LANSING (AP) — Observers of the state political play are bothered by an uneasy feeling that the present scene was acted once before.

It is a half-remembered memory, as in an old song . . . "Where or When."

A governor-elect from one political party . . . all the State Administrative Board members from another . . . the planning of separate inaugural celebrations . . .

The where or when of that nagging memory haunts them.

It all did happen before — just 10 years ago.

But it was just the opposite of the present situation, where Republican Gov.-elect George Romney is faced with the challenge of getting along with an all-Democratic administrative board.

Former Gov. G. Mennen Williams, now assistant secretary of state for African affairs, was preparing 10 years ago to start the third of his six terms with a flourish.

Williams had won a third term by an 8,818 vote margin over Fred M. Alger Jr., the unsuccessful Republican candidate.

"Soapy," as he still is affectionately known to followers, was the only Democrat to win top state office. Republicans had won an all-GOP administrative board.

After the inaugural ceremony on the capitol steps, the rival parties went their separate ways.

Democrats held a dinner and dance to honor their one vote-getter. Republicans tossed their own victory celebration and also were hailing the election of Dwight D. Eisenhower as President.

So it will be again this year, with separate celebrations, the Democrats dining and dancing on New Year's Eve and the Republicans staging their affair New Year's night.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Barbara Lynn Teague to James Edward Morasky by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney H. Teague, 1420 Livernois Road, Avon Township. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Morasky of Dearborn. A June wedding is planned.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Spock, 3059 Martell Ave., Auburn Heights, announce the engagement of their daughter Patricia L. to Ralph W. Battishill. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Battishill of 2319 Island View Drive, West Bloomfield Township. A summer wedding is planned.

WED 50 YEARS — Mr. and Mrs. Claude Garvey of 2096 Benstein Road, Commerce Township, will observe their 50th wedding anniversary at an open house from 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday at the First Baptist Church Fellowship Hall in Walled Lake. The Garveys, married in Pontiac Dec. 28, 1912, have three sons, three daughters, 25 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Village Asks Engineers' Aid to Stop Paint Creek Pollution

LAKE ORION — In the face of state demands for action, the Village Council last night decided to seek the help of professional engineers in solving the problem of the pollution of Paint Creek.

A recent notice issued by the Michigan Water Resources Commission now gives the village less than a month to find the source of the pollution and to prepare a solution to the problem.

"We've got to do something and we're going to need professional help," said Village President Irving J. Unger.

A hearing is scheduled for Jan. 24 in Lansing, when representatives of the village and the State Water Commission will exchange views on the source of pollution and possible corrective action to be taken.

The commission has forwarded a schedule of necessary steps to be taken in solving the problem. Facilities for sewage treatment must be in operation by March 1, 1965, according to the state's timetable.

Quits Council in Rochester

Official Leaving Post Due to Recent Illness

ROCHESTER — Veteran Rochester official Roscoe R. Martin last night tendered his resignation from the Village Council.

Martin, who was elected to a two-year term on the council in March, said he was giving up his council post because of a recent illness.

In a letter to the council, he explained that the period of recuperation from the illness would make him unable to attend village meetings for some time.

EXPECT ACTION

The council did not accept Martin's resignation last night, but expected to take action at its Jan. 14 meeting.

Martin served as village attorney for 14 years until he failed to win reappointment to that position in April, 1961.

Martin, one of eight candidates in the March election, was the second highest vote getter among those seeking the four vacant council posts.

He defeated two incumbents who favored his dismissal as village attorney in 1961.

The University of Michigan law school is recognized as the world center in atomic law.

NEWS OF THE AREA

Oxford's Problem: Rehiring Manager

OXFORD — The Village Council's search for a village manager was complicated further last night when a group of 12 citizens presented petitions requesting reinstatement of former village manager, Robert W. Smalley.

The council has until Jan. 15 to obtain a new manager, according to the village charter. This will be 90 days after the resignation of Smalley.

"We'll have to re-evaluate the whole situation now," village President Allen E. Valentine commented today.

Smalley resigned from his position in October after he was charged with misusing $1,450 in public funds while serving as city manager of Riverview in 1961.

He is awaiting arraignment in Wayne County Circuit Court.

Ninety-five signatures were on the petitions presented last night, according to Valentine. "The council had not seriously considered him as an applicant," he said.

"For one thing he hasn't applied yet."

"We're going to make an appointment at the Jan. 8 meeting if it is at all possible," the village president added.

The council had discussed the possible rehiring of Smalley at its first meeting after his resignation, but decided against it at that time.

A review of last year's records and a complete audit from July 1 to Oct. 17 was completed in November and all records were found to be in order.

When presented with his resignation council members accepted it "with regret," according to Valentine.

"Everyone was sorry to see Bob go," he said at that time. "The people of the village and the Bob's employees thought he was doing a fine job."

Call of the Soil

NEW YORK (AP)—A survey quoted in The Wall Street Journal states that, for the second straight year, enrollment in agricultural colleges has risen and now totals 32,861. This follows what had been a steady decline for the previous 10 years. In one agricultural college, Pennsylvania State University, only 25 per cent of the students grew up on farms, as compared with 75 per cent a half century ago.

Amish End an Era

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP)—The Pennsylvania Amish people, famed for their plain living, now are required by law to install electric lights on their old-fashioned buggies. The Amish have long avoided the use of electricity, farm machinery and automobiles, but Pennsylvania authorities decided that highway safety required modern lights.

Cater to Light Needs of House Plants

Knowing the needs and responses of plant leaves and buds to varying sunlight periods throughout the year is important to the health and beauty of your indoor house plants.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture, top growers and state university floriculture departments, are agreed that growth of pot plants can be accelerated or retarded by exact control of natural sunlight by artificial light.

This precise control of light intervals has made it possible in recent years for professional growers to offer high quality year-round chrysanthemum plants and spring-time begonias. They "fool" plants with controlled alternating periods of light and darkness.

Northern growers can effectively climate-condition the most popular varieties of tropical foliage plants and provide them in porous clay pots to florist and house plant buyers in better health than those shipped direct from southern climates.

Recent scientific research gives both "pro" and amateur house plant gardeners a wealth of useful information.

At Beltsville, Maryland, where the U.S. Department of Agriculture employs porous clay pots to provide natural growing conditions, government horticulturists have classified plants, according to how they respond to both light and darkness.

One group of plants have been definitely classified as long-day plants, which usually flower in the long days of spring and summer.

A second major group consists of plants that flourish best during the shorter days of autumn and winter. Two other classified groups consist of plants that blossom under a wide scope of day-night intervals; and those that respond most to evenly divided 12-hour period of light or darkness.

Using Instant Grass

SALEM, Ore. (AP)—A popular exhibit at the Oregon State Fair was the hydroponics display, or the growing of plants in a solution containing mineral nutrients instead of soil. Hydroponics is not new, but many more dairy farmers and breeders throughout the country are using it today to insure a fresh feed supply throughout the year.

6-Day Week for Wives

MANCHESTER, England (AP)—A North Country doctor has stuck his neck out and suggested in the magazine, Family Doctor, that wives should be given a day off once a week and that either their husbands or someone else should look after the children, shop and clean house.

One of the happiest times in a parent's life is when your kid reaches the age when you no longer have to pretend you know everything. No matter how busy a man is, he's never too busy to stop and talk about how busy he is. . . . The true test of generosity is to buy your wife a fur coat without wondering whether a cloth coat would have been enough. — Earl Wilson

U. S. Defines a Farm

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Department of Commerce has officially defined a farm as a "residence having 10 acres or more with sales of farm products in the past year valued at $50 or more" or as a "residence under 10 acres with sales of farm products in the past year valued at $250 or more."

Thumbs Off, Shoppers

WASHINGTON (AP)—A mechanical thumb to test the firmness of ripe fruit has been developed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The thumb is so gentle that it leaves only a slight indentation on the fruit and is expected to be more objective than by appearance. It is being tested, humans since it is not influenced for several types of fruits and vegetables.

What Next, Henri?

ROANNE, France (AP)—Henri Rechatin, 31, a Frenchman, recently remained on a tightrope for 170 hours, to break the previous record of 161 hours and 45 minutes. Rechatin also had made a record 2,750-mile tour of France on stilts, and has juggled with scythes for a record 10 hours and 40 minutes without a break.

The first large vineyards in Canada were planted at Beamsville in Ontario's Niagara peninsula in 1859.

Counts Dog Population

CHICAGO (AP)—Dog lovers of the nation have extended the comfort of hearth and home to about 28.5-million canines, reports a producer of veterinary medical equipment. The firm also estimates there are about 30 million cats in the country, though stressing that the population figure for these more-inclined-to-beam animals is more difficult to establish.

Two Things at Once

BOSTON (AP)—The Harvard School of Medicine and Public Health are painfully aware of the time crisis that forever haunts doctors. Offering physicians a noon half-hour film showing different problems facing a family agency, the School of Public Health noted: "You may bring your lunch and eat it during the film."

GROSS NATIONAL PRODUCT CHART — The dollar value of all the goods and services produced rose during 1962 as shown by this chart. The increase was well below earlier expectations and below the total that would provide jobs for employable persons and put all the nation's production facilities to work. The slow but steady rise was continuing at the year's end.

Glamorous Gowns Enhance Holiday Festivities

Twenty yards of beige chiffon went into the skirt of this formal gown worn by Mrs. Edward E. Wilson of Birmingham. The bodice is made of leopard. With it Mrs. Wilson wears a matching leopard jacket.

Mrs. Adolph Magnus, Brookside Drive, wears a floor-length red faille embroidered in black.

Mrs. Normand E. Durocher of Eastways Road wears a burnt-copper silk-taffeta floor-length sheath. This holiday party dress features a draped front panel.

Women's Section

Mrs. Allen W. Hawke, Dixie Highway, comes down the stairs in a short beige chiffon full-skirted dress trimmed in deeper beige satin. Her stole is silver blue fox; her purse and shoes gold.

Mary Grace Ross, Westlawn Avenue, a student at Northern Michigan University, will wear this black taffeta ballerina gown to a New Year's Eve party. The dress is embellished with red velvet roses.

During Holidays

It's Travel Time

A happy mother, Mrs. John D. Richardson Jr., of Glen-garry Road and her daughter, Diane, waited anxiously for daughter Donna arriving at the Metro airport last week from Zurich to Idlewild, but because the weather was bad in Detroit, she had to spend the night in New York.

Donna is attending the Montezano school for girls in Gstaad, Switzerland, and she is spending the holidays with her parents. Donna said it took only nine hours to come from Zurich to Idlewild, but because the weather was bad in Detroit, she had to spend the night in New York.

FORTY AMERICANS

There are 90 girls at the school of which 40 are Americans.

Donna rushed to Bloomfield Country Day School to have lunch with her former schoolmates the very day she arrived home.

The Richardson family has headed for the Otsego Ski Club and a week of skiing.

VIRGINIA HOLIDAY

Marion E. Goodale, headmistress of Kingswood School is spending the holidays with her brother and his family in Virginia.

Julius Schmidt, head of Cranbrook Academy of Art sculpture department, will travel to Miami and Sarasota during the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. John Booth with daughters Ginger and Nancy and son Tom, will spend some time on the ski slopes at Otsego during the holidays.

Another group will head for Crystal Mountain during the holidays. Among them will be: Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Kasperzak; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Goodale, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Halsted and Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Wilson Jr. Some will take their very young children who have become ski enthusiasts.

With Christmas barely over, Mrs. Maynard R. Andree of Bloomfield Hills is squeezing in packing time for her annual jaunt to Bel Harbor, Fla. She and three friends from Grosse Pointe depart Jan. 4 for parts south. Mrs. Andree joins Mrs. Jack A. Tompkins, Mrs. Robert Lynch and Mrs. Ralph C. Wilson Jr. at Mrs. Wilson's Bel Harbor home for a few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Read of Cranbrook School will be at Cape Canaveral to visit Mrs. Read's parents.

Mrs. Edwin Ojay of Shawnee Lane plans to wear this black silk sheath to greet the New Year. It features black roses on an overlay of black chiffon over silk. Rhinestone trim highlights the neckline, which dips in back to the black satin cummerbund.

Long Hair Look Back

Watch for the "long hair" look in coats. The long hair—lynx, kit fox, spotted skunk, guano and raccoon—is in a selling sprint. One sample: A poplin Jacques Heim raincoat with long hair on the inside—spotted skunk or kit fox.

Make Setting for a Party

One of the easiest ways to make your living room "party-worthy" is to invest in an outside coffee table and ring it with foam rubber hassocks for two. Some manufacturers now sell hassocks curved to fit the circumference of large circular coffee tables which become the festive board for holiday parties.

Leaving Out Wife Not Wrong

By The Emily Post Institute

Dear Mrs. Post: The young man who was head of our department was recently promoted to a higher position. All men and women in the department gave a dinner party for him at one of the hotels after business hours.

We have heard since that his wife is very much put out because she was not invited. Did we commit a breach of etiquette?

Answer: It would have been much better to have given him a luncheon during business hours rather than a dinner in the evening when his time should be devoted to his family. Even so, if none of the other employees wives or husbands were invited, you were not wrong in leaving her out.

Dear Mrs. Post: I would like to give a shower for a friend of mine who is soon to be married but would prefer to get away from the usual "miscellaneous," "personal" or "kitchen" shower. I've heard of a "beauty" shower where the guests bring things to make the future bride-to-be more beautiful. Would such a shower be proper?

Answer: No it would not be proper and furthermore, the implication that the bride-to-be needs to be beautified would be an insult to her.

Dear Mrs. Post: Would it be proper for the mother of a girl who is planning to announce her engagement in the spring, to invite her daughter's boy friend's parents to her house so that both families can become acquainted, or must she wait until after the engagement is announced?

Answer: She should wait for his parents to make the first move before inviting them or risk their thinking her pushing.

The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest are answered in this column.

News of Personal Interest

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Wrenn of Niagara Avenue will entertain some 50 friends at a buffet supper this evening. The couple will show colored slides of their recent trip to Hawaii.

Todd Mack celebrated his 4th birthday Christmas Day with his parents, the Norman L. Macks and brother Michael of Woodbine Drive. Also arriving for the holiday dinner were his grandparents.

the Roy K. Macks who will spend the winter at Largo, Fla., and his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Heltsch. Cadet William Mack who attends Staunton Military Academy, Staunton, Va., and his younger brother Ritchie, came with their parents, the William Macks of Bloomfield Hills.

Home for the holidays is Jeanne Leland, daughter of the E. H. Lelands of Middle-belt Road. Since receiving her Master of Arts degree at the State University of Iowa, Iowa City, she has been case supervisor of Vocational Rehabilitation at the Milwaukee Sanatorium Hospital for Mental Diseases. She is also rehabilitation consultant for the Milwaukee Sanatorium Foundation.

Her house guest is Jeanne Smith of Milwaukee. Mr. and Mrs. Harley Levey of Illinois Avenue joined the Lelands for dinner Christmas Eve.

Heart Needs Oxygen

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case O-416: Abe J., aged 44, recently had a mild heart attack.

"Dr. Crane," he began at our luncheon, "I am scared to death lest lightning might strike a second time."

"And this very dread of a second heart attack keeps my blood pressure up a second time. But I can't forget, so tell me what to do?"

HEART FACTS
It is entirely possible to have many heart attacks and still recover.

When I was an intern at the hospital, I remember an autopsied patient whose heart showed 12 previous attacks

Big Meal Now to Be No Work

It wasn't long ago that cooking for the holidays started weeks before last.

Today, while traditional recipes appeal to many, there are shortcuts to their preparation which are well worth taking.

Delightful meals can be concocted with a can of tomato cocktail to coffee in available in such elegant patterns as Sheffield, a formal floral design of rich browns on white, and no further away than your local grocery or supermarket.

And before you become too involved in organizing every minute of the dinner, keep in mind that the best way to make people relax is to assign chores all around. Parties are less work for you, guests feel more at home.

Remember, before you embark on the holiday season, the hostess with the mostes is the one who is not too tired or tense to be fun!

No Washing Problem Here

Paisley lingerie fabrics are as safe in soap or detergent suds as are the whites and pastels. So if you plunge on printed gowns and slips, fear no laundry problems!

Bethel No. 5 to Install New Honored Queen

Eleanor Stuart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Stuart of Stout Street, will be installed Saturday as honored queen of Pontiac Bethel No. 5, International Order of Job's Daughters.

Installing officer at the 7:30 p.m. ceremony at the Masonic Temple will be honored queen Pamela Tibbets, who is completing her term in office.

Other installing officers include: Mrs. Stuart, Glosa, guide; Kay Lee, marshal; Pat Rahja, Kiki Sekles, David Wilson, Sandra Schmidt and Sally Ide.

Janet Kneale will read the Book of Gold with Renee Schuricht as angel. Stail Lloyd will be soloist, accompanied by Mr. Wilson.

Officers assisting the new honored queen include Donna Chambers, senior princess; Edna Isenberg, junior princess; Dale Ann Caswell, guide; and Linda Isenberg, marshal.

Also assisting will be Gail Caughill, Carol McFarland, Joy Carroll, Judy Almus, Cheryl Gay, Isabell Ratliff, Pamela Powers and Donna Wisniewski.

Others include Sandra Coombs, Pamela Stewart, Sharon Tilton, Susie Caswell, Janet DuVall, Wendy Bordeaux, Marlene Kibbie, Carol Lorenz and Mary Newton.

Keep Cat Busy

Feather from a child's Indian headdress may keep your cat occupied for hours—until she loses it under the stove or refrigerator.

ELEANOR STUART

Many People Are Confused by Proper Introduction Form

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Please don't think I'm stupid, but I would appreciate a simple rule for introducing people properly.

Whenever I have to introduce people to each other, I get all flustered and make a mess of it.

I've looked through etiquette books but it's so complicated I can't get it straight in my mind.

OLD ENOUGH TO KNOW BETTER
DEAR OLD ENOUGH: Don't feel stupid. Yours is a problem common to many who are old enough to know better. Just remember when introducing a lady to a gentleman to mention the lady's name first. ("Jane, may I present Bill?")

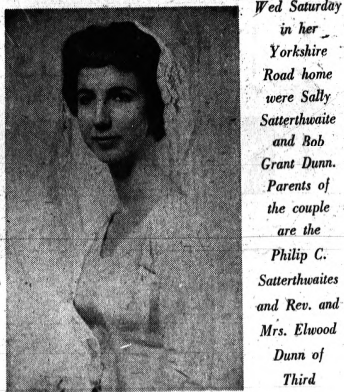

In introducing someone to an elderly person, mention the elderly person's name first. ("Grandma Jones, this is Peggy, my classmate.")

When introducing a very important person, use his name first. ("Bishop Pike, I'd like you to meet my father.")

DEAR ABBY: Our son married in a church wedding and all our friends and family sent very nice presents to the couple. Four years later they were divorced and now he is dating a girl who has never been married.

If he should marry her, and she wants a church wedding, what do we do about wedding invitations?

My husband and I feel that we should not do a repeat job on our family and friends. He thinks one wedding present a

MRS. BOB GRANT DUNN

Dunn-Satterthwaite Rite

Wed in Birmingham

The bridegroom's father, Rev. Elwood Dunn, performed the marriage ceremony Saturday for Sally Satterthwaite, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip C. Satterthwaite of Birmingham and Bob G. Dunn, son of Rev. and Mrs. Elwood Dunn of Third Avenue.

The wedding took place in the Yorkshire Road home of the bride.

Some 20 guests were present as the bride entered in a crystal white satin brocade dress with bracelet length sleeves and wateau short skirt.

Silk Chantilly lace in delicate rose motif formed her shoulder length mantilla veil. White roses topped her prayer book.

Della Patricia Gregory of Ferndale, maid of honor, wore a red silk sheath and carried red and white variegated carnations. William D. McCall of Mt. Clemens was best man.

The bride chose a champagne knit dress trimmed in satin with black accessories as her going away costume.

The bride's mother wore a beige wool sheath and rust carnations. Mother of the bride.

Cleans Easier
It's really no trouble to keep the household clean — if you select furniture and accessories for washability. Then follow directions!

Often there is enough good woolen cloth in a pair of dark worn pants to provide a skirt for small daughter or a jacket for son.

If the material is turned and well sewn and appropriate buttons and trimmings used, the garment can be as pretty as a new one.

Many People Are Confused by Proper Introduction Form

DEAR STUMPED: If your son marries a girl who has never been married and she wants a church wedding, invite your friends and family as though it were your son's first, too. The matter of the gifts is up to the guests. It's a ticklish business, but why should the bride be penalized?

DEAR ABBY: What do you do about guys who kiss and tell?

DEAR SYLVIA: Consider yourself lucky. Most guys kiss and exaggerate.

DEAR ABBY: We are two nurses who wish to comment on a common problem dealing with children. Why don't parents tell their children the truth regarding visits to the doctor?

When a child is brought in for a shot, if he is told in advance it will "hurt a little," he isn't half so hard to handle as the child who is told "it won't hurt a bit."

By knowing the truth the child is prepared. But when the child learns (as he surely will) that he has been lied to, he grows to hate doctors, nurses and to mistrust his parents.

But Vary Other Opinions

Students Agree on Young Man as Teacher

GILBERT YOUTH SERVICE

From the average teen-ager's point of view, the ideal teacher is a young man. But this is about all the young people seem able to agree upon.

In a recent national opinion survey, we asked if teachers should be married or unmarried; tough-taskmasters or easy-going ones; strict or lenient disciplinarians. The girls and boys give sharply differing answers.

Girls prefer married teachers, who are tough taskmasters and strict disciplinarians. Boys select unmarried teachers who have easy-going natures and display leniency in the classroom.

Despite their preferences, the prime yardsticks by which teen-agers judge their teachers is still the ability to teach and knowledge of the subject. These qualities do command respect.

As James Dmytrow, 17, of Rahway, N.J., says: "I have always found men teachers know their onions and are better and tougher teachers."

"It doesn't matter if the teacher is male or female, just so he has a good personality," says Margaret Edgar, 13, of Mason, Mich.

GIRLS LIKE 'EM STERN

The statistics show 69 per cent of boys and 61 per cent of girls prefer male teachers.

Four-fifths of the boys and three-quarters of the girls think young teachers are better, generally because they have new ideas.

Twenty-nine per cent of boys and 27 per cent of girls say it makes no difference whether or not the teacher is married or unmarried.

On the tough taskmaster vs. easy-going one, 54 per cent of girls prefer sternness, while 49 per cent of boys choose an easy-going nature.

While some teen-agers say older teachers with more experience are thus more sure of themselves in the classroom, the majority agree with Suzanne Senn, 15, of Columbus, Ohio.

"Young teachers have had their schooling more recently, seem fresh and interested in the subject."

Another point in favor of youthful teachers is reflected in the comment of 13-year-old Susan Matherly of Terre Haute, Ind.: "Young teachers see you more on their level rather than as children."

Rodin Imai, 17, of Honolulu, Hawaii, thinks "Married teachers are easier to get along with."

Unmarried teachers are the choice of Mona Bishop, 15, of Baltimore, who says "Married teachers may have problems at home and take it out on their pupils."

NONE OF THEIR BUSINESS?

But Jimmy Devlin, 17, of Brunswick, Ga., gives a level-headed view of this question when he says "It's none of my business if they are married or not as long as they are good teachers."

The general consensus of those who prefer a tough taskmaster is given by Henry Lyons, 16, of Kansas City, Mo.: "With a tough teacher, a student learns more."

"I'd rather learn from someone who wants me to learn rather than makes me learn," counters Howard Weiss, 16, of Cleveland Heights, Ohio.

Speaking up for strict teachers, Sue Orcutt, 16, of Pensacola, Fla., says "No matter how much we resent it at the time, strictness always helps us in the long run."

"Students will respect the confidence which the teacher has in him and will try to live up to the teacher's expectations," declares Fred Volk, 18, of Woodmont, Conn., who chooses lenient disciplinarians.

Sex Sets Style Trend

Believe it or not, women were not always interested in clothes!

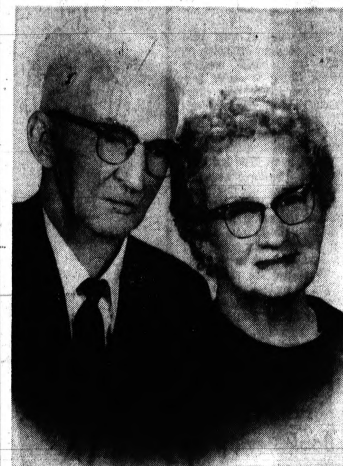

It took the troubador's invention of romantic love at the end of the 11th century to bring fashion to "respectable" women, reports the Encyclopedia Americana.

The "most important influence" on the design of clothes today? "The attempt to appeal to the basic desires of members of the opposite sex," says the Americana.

Rebel Against Slave-Driving Conscience

BY MURIEL LAWRENCE

Dear Mrs. Lawrence: I've told my college student daughter not to come home any more for weekends unless she cooperates with the housework.

Last Saturday after shopping with me, she flopped on the sofa, coat and all, while I had to get the groceries away and put supper. I have to make scenes over her laziness whenever she comes home.

Her father won't back me up but then he doesn't have to cook, clean and shop for four people the way I do.

Answer: You sound like a lady who is beginning to wonder: "What do I get in return for all I do for my family?"

For it is just at such wondering times that we blow up at a child who is taking things easy. We'll be exploded by what we think is the "laziness" of a daughter. But usually what has blown us up is envy of her light-hearted interest in personal comfort which our slave-driving conscience won't permit us to know we want for ourselves.

It is most important to respect such envious rebellions against the tyranny of our conscience; otherwise, it may succeed in keeping our poor noses to the work in the hope that other people will consider our comfort for us. They won't.

If we can't show consideration to ourselves, our families soon conclude that we don't need any. They will allow us to overwork and to feel increasingly abused by their disregard. In the end, our stupid conscience may betray us into real separation from our families.

To know that we want to consider our comfort is to lose anger at the daughter who has flopped on the sofa. It is to perceive that she is doing exactly what we want to do.

It is to be able to say with uncritical enthusiasm: "What a wonderful idea to flop down like that! I'm tired, too. So I am now going upstairs to lie down, and woe betide anyone who tries to get me up before I'm ready."

It is only parents' self-consideration that arouses children to the fact that we are human personalities instead of pieces of household equipment.

With self-consideration, we can expect the "lazy" child to rise from her sofa to put the groceries away and perhaps to begin preparations for supper.

We can count on a unity of action with her as a result of a unity of feeling with her. But we cannot count on these pleasant results so long as we run about the house overworking under the threats of a slave-driving conscience.

Or Obi Robes

Here's New Pajama Game—With Pillows

What has a natural shift shape, comes in prints pretty enough to wear to a pajama party or the beach and is the newest teen-age rage?

It's the "Pillowcase PJ"—an attractive cover-up that's made easily and quickly from a pillowcase no less! Teen-agers are turning pillowcases into dorm study outfits, pullover tops for swimsuits, and obi robes... and creating new designs every day.

Here are simple sewing instructions for two basic designs.

For a sleepshift that you can make in an hour or less, take one rose-printed cotton percale pillowcase in pink, blue, yellow, or lilac. Use the hemmed bottom of the pillowcase for the bottom of your sleep shift.

Slit a wide bateau neckline at the top of the pillowcase. Hem the neckline with cotton bias tape to match the print.

Next, cut out armholes, starting three inches from the seam end of the pillowcase, and hem. Then flat-ten corners under and stitch in place.

Turn back the peaks at the shoulders and fasten into fake puff sleeves for a fashionable sleep shift.

A slightly more elaborate design—worked out by a New York City ninth grader—is the obi robe with dropped sleeves and a box pleat in back.

The young designer points out that two pillowcases are needed to provide the extra width in this style. Her choice was striped percale cases.

To make the obi robe, first slit each pillowcase along the seamed side and bottom. (The pillowcase hem is the hem to your obi robe.)

Pillow fights have given way to pillowcase creations—the newest teen fad. The sturdy outfit at top was made from a cotton percale pillowcase in a rose design, while the obi robe was fashioned from two pillowcases in a stripe motif.

Now sew the cases together, end on end. This seam becomes the back seam of the robe. Put in a deep box pleat at the center back. Hem the free ends which will be the front opening.

Make slits at least nine inches deep for armholes. At this point, you'll need a quick fitting to decide how long you'd like your drop-shoulder sleeves to be. Ideally, they should fall just above the elbow. Hem sleeves to desired length.

Seam in neckline but keep it wide. Use three snap fasteners along opening from waist to neckline. For authentic touches, add a tucked obi sash (made from a sheet in a coordinating color) and a hunky pocket on shoulder.

These are the easiest designs to make... but each new designer will add the stamp of her own personality.

Teens Now

Have Printed Book Review

JAMAICA, N.Y. — A hundred and fifty teen-agers have taken on the job of producing a new book review magazine for the Nassau county library system.

It is now on the shelves of the 43 member libraries. In it, young people 13 to 19 years old have reviewed 135 books. The magazine is called Scrutinize and will be published three times a year. Most of the books reviewed in it are outstanding ones intended primarily for adults.

Lack of Work May Leave Void

Adapt to Leisure Time

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN himself successfully and creatively.

This fall at the annual meeting of The National Council on the Aging Dr. Alexander Field Martin, distinguished New York psychiatrist, gave a most inspiring address.

He was speaking about man's dramatic struggle to adapt to leisure or free, unstructured time and the fact that he is psychologically and emotionally unprepared for it.

He said, "The rapid advance of technology, together with increasing longevity, has given modern man a large measure of his latest and greatest freedom—free, unplanned time."

The drastic and sudden nature of this change has caught man psychologically, emotionally and spiritually unprepared to adapt

Dr. Martin feels that the most important thing is to discover the cause for this lack of adaptation. He says that we have been laboring under a dangerous misconception because of our immersion in the philosophy of the "world of work."

Early in life we hear such expressions as "Man was made to work." We are taught to think of relaxation as a reward for work, something which must be earned. Actually we have an innate capacity for relaxation as well as an innate capacity for work, and Dr. Martin believes that both must be exercised.

If we are to be able to enjoy more free time we must stop thinking of effort as work. Effort can be rewarding and not work at all. Dr. Martin gave the example of working in a garden and advised us to enjoy our gardening but said, "Don't worry if you do not get a prize at the flower show."

He warned against glorifying work, overorganization, and making an effort only for a reward and said, "External rewards are not basic needs."

Polly's Pointers

Socks for Sleepers

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — To prolong the life of the children's footed sleepers when the feet wear thin or the garment is too short in the legs, cut off the feet and sew on thick cotton socks a little larger than the child's regular foot size.

Mrs. H. Y.

DEAR POLLY — Don't throw away those flannel-backed plastic tablecloths when they become old and too washed out for table use. Here are my favorite ways to use them.

They are good to dry sweaters on. Put the flannel side up so it absorbs the moisture and the plastic keeps the floor from getting wet.

Another use is to line the bottom of cabinets, especially where pots and pans are stored. It keeps the surface from getting wet and deadens sound.

These who sew can pin the material to be cut to the old cloth with its plastic side up. The flannel protects the cutting surface and the plastic makes the scissors glide easily.

They make good drop cloths for cleaning and lining for drawers, too.

Mrs. J. M.

DEAR POLLY — You and the readers might be interested in this Christmas tip. I tape my Christmas card lists on the back of my new calendar every year. When December approaches, I never have to wonder where my list is.

Mrs. J. S.

DEAR POLLY — Will you or some of the girls please tell me home to remove old caked wax from a wood floor?

Mrs. R.

Mrs. R — Commercial wax removers eliminate the fire hazard present when turpentine is used. Do a small area of the floor at a time, wiping old wax off with a soft cloth as you go. When all the wax is off, scrub the floor with soapuds and clear water, being careful not to soak it. When completely dry, re wax.

Trojans Take Unfamiliar Role in Rose Bowl

No. 1 Ranked Southern Cal Is Underdog

Badgers Are Favored in Annual New Year's Grid Classic

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Hall the champs—now an underdog. That's the role of Southern California as it heads for a showdown with Wisconsin in the Rose Bowl Football Classic New Year's Day. Despite a record of 10 straight victories this season, the Trojans are in an unfamiliar spot. The odds makers figure Wisconsin is at least the margin of a field goal better.

AP TROPHY
Southern Cal Coach John McKay had a noon date to accept the Associated Press trophy in behalf of his national champions. He doesn't even think of game odds—but he's a little disturbed about facing Wisconsin's offense which averaged better than 31 points a game.

By The Associated Press
There's a good reason for Oklahoma's Bud Wilkinson to be walking around with a frown on his face today. The sooner the Sooners coach hears some good news about Monte Deere the better he'll feel.

Deere, who directed Oklahoma to victories in its last seven games and to seventh-place in the national rankings, remained in a hotel Wednesday fighting off an attack of flu and tonsillitis as his team held a secret practice for its Jan. 1 Orange Bowl meeting with Alabama in Miami, Fla. Oklahoma wound up the regular campaign with an 8-2 record while 'Bama was 9-1.

Wilkinson was concerned by Deere's absence because he wanted the quarterback to operate some new plays he intends to use against the Crimson Tide. The chances are, however, that Deere will be ready for the big game.

Meanwhile, the Tide flew into Miami and coach Bear Bryant reported his squad in top physical condition with the exception of tackle Butch Henry, who was limping with a pulled leg muscle.

The Orange Bowl tilt is one of eight BIG ones to be played with in the next week. On Saturday, Penn State, 9-1, goes against Florida, 6-4, in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla. The same day the East and West meet in the Shrine game in San Francisco and the North and South in the Blue Gray game in Montgomery, Ala.

West Texas State and Ohio University, each with an 8-2 record, clash in the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex. Monday.

On New Year's Day, it's South Carolina, 10-0, against Wisconsin, 8-1, in the Rose Bowl in Pasadena, Calif.; Texas, 9-4-1, vs. Louisiana State, 8-4-1, in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas, Tex.; and Mississippi, 9-0, against Arkansas, 9-1. placed John Drakslor of Pittsburgh, who was shifted to the defensive line.

Penn State went into final preparations for the Gator Bowl Wednesday night following a late arrival in St. Augustine, Fla. due to bad weather. Coach Rip Engle hustled his forces to a high school practice field and its first workout since breaking the temporary bowl camp in Annapolis, Md. last Saturday.

The Gators of Florida concentrated on passing in a damp, chilly practice session.

"I am very pleased with the way the boys have reacted to the work we have given them," said coach Ray Graves afterwards. "Passing has looked sharp all week."

The East team held a two-hour drill for the charity game with the West and Michigan State's 230-pound guard, Ed Budde, moved into a starting position. Budde re-

PATCHED UP — Conrad Hitchler, Missouri end, has his nose taped up after last week's Blue Bonnet Bowl game against Georgia Tech. Hitchler, who will play for the West team in Saturday's Shrine East-West game at San Francisco, talks with West coach Jim Sutherland and quarterback Sonny Gibbs. He is expected to play despite the broken nose.

'Oldtimer' Cousy Selected for All-Star Tilt Again

NEW YORK (AP)—Bob Cousy, champion Celtics, will handle the Boston Celtics' all-time great playermaker who is winding up his career this season, was picked for the National Basketball Association's All-Star game at the 15th time in as many years.

Selection of Cousy and seven other players for the East in the 13th annual All-Star game at Los Angeles Jan. 16, was announced today by NBA President Maurice Podoloff.

East—Forwards, Tom Heinsohn, Boston, Jack Twyman, Cincinnati, and Lee Shaffer, Syracuse; centers, Bill Russell, Boston and John Kerr, Syracuse; guards, Oscar Robertson, Cincinnati, Bob Cousy, Boston, and Richie Guerin, New York.

West—Forwards, Elgin Baylor, Los Angeles, Bob Pettit, St. Louis, and Bailey Howell, Detroit; centers, Walt Chamberlain, San Francisco, and Walt Bellamy, Chicago; guards, Jerry West, Los Angeles, Guy Rodgers, San Francisco, and Don Ohl, Detroit.

S. Cal., Stanford, Bowling Green Fall

College Tourney Upsets Spoiling Holidays

By The Associated Press
This is the season to be jolly, but it's all a folly to Southern California, Stanford and Bowling Green, who discovered rather quickly that the moment you set out on the court in one of the nation's holiday basketball tournaments the Yuletide spirit goes up the chimney.

The seventh-ranked Trojans, ninth-ranked Indians and highly touted Falcons still were trying to wipe the soot from their once-spoiled records today following their first defeat in the three major upsets of Wednesday's opening action in the annual tournament warfare.

DUMPED

Southern Cal, which had won all nine of its games, was unceremoniously dumped from the unbeaten ranks by Colorado State U., 72-54, while Stanford, winner of seven, dropped a 62-61 decision to Northwestern on Ken Latugens tip-in with 4 seconds to go. Both upsets came in the first round of the Los Angeles Classic.

Bowling Green, 4-0 and the tourney favorite, lost to St. Joseph's, Pa., 58-57 on a last second shot by Jim Boyle in the Quaker City Classic at Philadelphia.

In all, eight major tournaments opened as the holiday program began to build toward a Saturday park that will see 19 covered crowds up for grabs. With the three exceptions it was a formidable evening.

Here's a capsule rundown of the other results:
Los Angeles Classic—St. Louis walloped Washington 64-39 and UCLA belted Utah 89-75. In tonight's semifinals it'll be Northwestern vs. Colorado State and St. Louis vs. UCLA.

Quaker City—BYU defeated LaSalle 84-72, Villanova knocked off Manhattan 72-54 and Providence drubbed Delaware 76-57. Friday's semifinal pairings are Providence vs. Villanova-St. Joseph's. Holiday Festival at New York—Fourth-ranked and undefeated Illinois handed Penn its first loss 98-66, West Virginia squeezed by Boston College 65-64 in overtime, NYU beat Drexel 71-66 and St. Louis beat 14, Brian Ethridge 13 and Gary Anderson 12.

Big Eight at Kansas City—Kansas stopped Colorado 70-64 and Iowa State topped Nebraska 82-68. All-College at Oklahoma City—Wyoming downed Creighton 80-74.

and Oklahoma City thumped Baylor 76-60.

Fair West at Portland, Ore.—Iowa nipped Arizona 57-56 and Oregon overcame Washington State 67-57.

West Coast at San Francisco—San Jose defeated Pepperdine 64-54 and Santa Clara crushed University of Pacific 80-63. Gulf South at Shreveport, La.—Centenary beat George Washington 86-78 and Louisiana Tech took West Texas 81-77.

The Big Eight, All-College, Fair West, West Coast and Gulf South wind up the first round of their tournaments with doubleheaders to night.

Colorado State U. simply proved too much for Southern California, holding 20-point leads three times during the second half. Bill Green was the No. 1 man for the Rams with 21 points while Barry Wallace had 14, Brian Ethridge 13 and Gary Anderson 12.

A bad pass by Bowling Green's Wayne Junior set up the winning goal for St. Joseph's, scored by Boyle as the buzzer sounded. Steve Courtin was high for St. Joe's with 22 points. Nate Thurmond scored 23 and Howard Karmives 20 for the Falcons.

It was close all the way in the Stanford-Northwestern game. It tied 28-28 at halftime and the lead changed hands a dozen times in the last 20 minutes until the key tip-in by Lutgens, who hid only two other baskets. Rich Lopez passed northwestern with 13 points.

In the other close ones, West Virginia nipped Boston College on Mike Wolfe's basket with 13 seconds remaining in overtime, and Iowa stormed back after officials ejected Coach Sharm Scheuerman for his remarks and edged Arizona on Dave Roach's basket with 33 seconds left.

ONE UNBEATEN

Illinois was the only top ten member in action to come through unscathed. Bill Burwell scored 26 points and Dave Downey 22 as the Illinois hit 56 per cent of their shots against Penn and won easily.

The Holiday Festival and Quaker City take a day off today, but there'll be no slackening in the schedule as three additional major tournaments step front and center. Opening tonight are the Queen City at Buffalo, N.Y., matching Arizona State vs. Rhode Island

Aussies Retain Cup by Taking Doubles

BRISBANE, Australia (AP)—Fiery Rod Laver and steady Roy Emerson crushed Mexico's Rafael Osuna and Antonio Palafox in 70 minutes of slashing doubles today, 7-5, 6-2, 6-4 and clinched for Australia its 14th Davis Cup victory in the last 13 years.

The triumph also brought this tennis minded continent at the bottom of the world even with the United States in cup victories since the big international tennis competition was launched in 1900. Each now has won 18 times.

EASY SWEEP

A surprisingly easy straight-set sweep by the Australians following the opening singles conquest Wednesday gave the team a 3-0 lead in the best-of-five match series and turned Friday's final matches into a mere formality.

In those, Osuna is scheduled to face veteran Neale Fraser and Palafox is to play Laver, the grand slam champion of amateur tennis, who Saturday is expected to announce acceptance of a $110,000 professional contract.

Palafox, who played spectacular tennis against Fraser, obviously suffered a letdown from the first day tension. His racket, blast-hot Wednesday, was just a hold slab of hickory and catgut.

While Osuna fought hard and played brilliantly at times, Palafox never once recovered his marvellous touch. He couldn't return service with any consistency. He was erratic at the net and he missed overhead smashes which he is accustomed to putting away with killing finality.

DOUBLES MATCH

The doubles match was played before a meager crowd of 6,500 in blazing sunshine, in contrast to the opening day, when the singles were staged on a damp court under laden skies and with two interruptions by rain.

The Australians took charge immediately, with Laver and Emerson lashing across their services with such power that both were upset over the call, which came at such a critical stage in the match.

"Up to that point the match was even," the Mexican captain said. Both Palafox and Osuna were so upset by the call that they lost their concentration. I think it cost them the first two sets. It took them that long to get their minds back on their work."

The Australians pulled out the game when Palafox hit two loose shots, one a wild, swinging overhead on a ball obviously going out.

In the 11th game Laver lashed a volley between Osuna and Palafox for another and on the next point, sent a backhand shot zipping down the line. The ball appeared to be a couple of inches out. The linesman called it good and the Australians had their first service break.

Palafox stared at the linesman in disbelief, and Contreras came bounding out of the captain's chair. Even Laver and Hopman went to the umpire's chair to double-check the call.

Later Contreras said his boys

Actress, Producers in Contract Dispute

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Shirley MaLaure says her contract with producers Hal B. Wallis and Joseph Hazen is void.

The producers think otherwise. They filed a cross-complaint Wednesday to sue her to end the eight-year contract.

The actress says the agreement was signed in 1954 and amended in 1959. She says it is not binding because California law limits personal service contracts to seven years.

Wallis and Hazen insist the contract agreed upon in 1959 was a new contract, good until Dec. 31, 1963.

Basic cost of constructing the nuclear vessel Savannah was $35.6 million, with another $11.3 million added for other necessary appearances, training, administrative and construction support expenditures.

Vast Array of Celebrities Put on March of Dimes Show

By VERNON SCOTT

UPI Hollywood Correspondent

These stars and many others will be seen during the month of January on approximately 500 stations in the annual March of Dimes Show.

Called "Once Upon a Dime," this season's "special" cost the charity organization only $100,000.

If it had been produced by a commercial sponsor and beamed via network video the cost would have been among the highest in television history.

Because it is syndicated the show will be seen at different hours and on different days across the country.

It was filmed in advance over a three-week period in Hollywood with each star performing independently of the others, with a few exceptions. Only Bing, Chamberlain and Jane Wyatt plug the fund campaign.

Edward Franck, an executive with the March of Dimes said the hour-long film will be destroyed at the end of January in keeping with agreements signed with the guilds and unions involved.

"If we didn't destroy the film the stars would be overexposed and the show would be telecast over and over again," Franck explained.

"We feel that a show with a group of celebrities such as this helps the morale of the volunteers who raise money for the fund all year long."

"We checked the results one year in a West Virginia city the day after the television show was on the air, and found that contributions were so heavy we had to send in extra help."

According to Franck the show is not a "hard sell" but rather an integrated pitch based on entertainment.

"As in the past three years, the stars appear for union scale only," Franck went on.

"30th Century Fox studios provided the sets and stages free of charge, and the individual stations throughout the country are donating the air time to the project."

A thin plot holds the show together as a band of robbers knocks down a brick wall between the bank and the stage where the stars are performing. The heads are comedians Don Knotts, Frank Gorshin, Soupy Sales and Neville Brand.

This quartette of badmen forget their villainous plans when they become absorbed in the singing and dancing of the stars.

The program demonstrates once again how show business comes through for charity.

Viewer Asks Relief From Toothbrushers

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK — A television viewer, aware that various campaigns are currently under way to save programs canceled by networks, suggests another kind of effort.

"I wonder if you and some of your colleagues would undertake a crusade to stop the cleaning of teeth in the living rooms of the nation?" she writes.

I'd like to start the campaign on a slightly larger base. I'd welcome a crusade from toothbrushers—particularly that fellow who continues to scrub away at a restaurant table. But I would also like to abolish the shavers, the perspiration offenders, the respiratory sufferers, the draining sinuses, the churning stomachs, the germ-laden mouths and throats, showering and bathing men and women.

NO PRIVACY

In fact, any commercial which deals with functions normally performed in the privacy of one's bathroom or bedroom—and this also includes combing of hair—are likely to be offensive to a large and perhaps old-fashioned segment of the viewing audience.

However, if television were to ban the advertising of all of these articles, stations would probably wind up each year in the red. Perhaps viewers ought to ask only for higher standards.

Viewers have been complaining for years about the sound levels of some commercials—that they often come on much stronger than the surrounding entertainment programs. Thus, despite the evidence of many ears, was soundly denied—until one company made an actual test. Now the Federal Communications Commission is interested.

"Mr. Smith Goes to Washington," the situation comedy that got Fess Parker out of a conk skin cap and into the Senate, may not last a full season on ABC.

Perry Como's hour, also suffering from dropping ratings, is interested in big-name guest stars again.

The new Nielsen ratings confirm the continuing popularity of CBS shows—the network has eight of the top 10, with "Beverly Hills Cop" still far out in front.

"The Wizard of Oz," the Judy Garland classic, slipped into the number two spot, followed by "Candid Camera," "Bonanza," Red Skelton, "Gunsmoke," Danny Thomas, Lucille Ball, Dick Van Dyke and "Ben Casey."

Meanwhile, ABC, which has had a tough season as far as hit shows are concerned, is planning a major overhaul of its programs next season.

Billed for White Christmas

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — officer owed for car service expenses incurred by club members he brought central Arkansas its first white Christmas since 1928, Berry claimed he caused to fall got a bill for $336 — from the Arkansas Automobile Club.

Berry, who gained mild acclaim last summer by taking credit for how much the retired Air Force rains that ended a drought in the state, took the bill good naturedly, but he said he won't pay it. "Where could you find 12 jury-men who would agree that it's possible for a man to make it rain or snow?" he asked.

We Move to Adjourn, Heard in Legislature

LANSING (AP)—Michigan lawmakers, in recess since July 26, were to return here today to deliver the 1962 legislature into the hands of history and perform some crucial organizational spadework for its successor.

Legislative leaders said they were confident a quorum would be present in both houses for the brief but important business of formal adjournment—an act which would begin the 90-day period at the end of which some 194 laws passed during the year will become effective.

Sewage Help Asked of City

Pontiac Twp. Seeks Service for Pollution

The Pontiac Township Board has requested Pontiac sewage treatment service to alleviate conditions the Oakland County Health Department charges are "grossly polluting Galloway Lake."

A letter from the board was presented to the City Commission at its meeting last night.

The request was referred to City Manager Robert A. Stier for staff study and discussion at a future informal commission meeting.

WANTS TO BE INFORMED

The township said it would like to be "informed of the rates and terms of a lease."

The immediate area under consideration is along Opdyke Road from Mt. Clemens Street to Walton Boulevard and west to Perry Street.

Township officials would like to build a trunk sewer down Opdyke to the new $2.5-million Pontiac sewage treatment plant, slated to start operating about February.

5 Cuban Exiles to Confer Later With President

Morning Talk to Figure in Tax-Cut Proposal Aired With Dillon?

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The Pentagon's civilian and military leaders gave President Kennedy a rundown today on the nation's armed strength — and also got a chance to air conflicts over military projects and spending.

The President also arranged a late afternoon meeting with five high-ranking Cuban participants in the Bay of Pigs invasion — four of them just released from Cuban prisons.

For the President this is likely to be a bitter-sweet experience, with pleasure at their freedom mixed with the memories of the mistakes Kennedy acknowledges were responsible for their capture.

The morning meeting with the military chiefs — to be the backdrop for final presidential decisions on the $5-billion defense budget to go to Congress next month — is more of a post-Christmas regimen of decision-making that Wednesday found Kennedy considering details of his 1963 tax-cut proposal.

For more than two hours, the President met with Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon and other key financial advisers on the specifics of the tax package.

The broad outlines of the plan, envisioning lower tax rates early next year for both individuals and corporations, were approved several weeks ago. At Wednesday's session Kennedy got into many of the details and gave general approval to the Treasury's plans. However, several of the conferees reported that much work remains to be done.

FAR FROM CLINCHED

Undersecretary of the Treasury Henry Fowler said it "was a good meeting but the program is far from buttoned up." Assistant Secretary Stanley S. Surrey, another participant, agreed.

Just as Dillon interrupted a vacation at nearby Hobe Sound, Fla., to take part in the tax-cut talks, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara had to leave the ski slopes of Aspen, Colo., to participate in the military discussions.

British Trains Crash, 18 Dead

LONDON (AP)—Two British trains smashed together in a blizzard last night, killing at least 18 persons, and eight other deaths were reported from Europe as arctic winds pushed bitter winter southward across the continent.

Thirty-three persons were injured when the London-bound Scot Express crashed into the rear of a local train stopped at Cottenham Junction 25 miles southwest of Manchester.

One of the dead was believed to be an American serviceman. Six children were among the dead.

The local was filled with travelers on the traditional after-Christmas Boxing Day holiday. Broken dolls and toys were scattered among the wreckage.

A blizzard was blowing. "It was utter carnage," said Harold Shiff, a survivor, who told of trying to help a dying young woman whose mother had been tossed half way through a broken window.

Rescue squads, summoned from the surrounding areas of Cheshire over icy roads, worked by headlamps during the unusual whiteness. Valencia oranges froze on the trees.

Europe's piercing weather extended from the Far North to the Mediterranean, where it was an unwelcome surprise, and eastward to Siberia.

Two people were frozen to death in northern Portugal. It snowed in northern and central Spain, the Barcelona was almost isolated by the unusual whiteness. Valencia oranges froze on the trees.

Italy was wrapped in snow from the Alps to Sicily. In the Italian Alps, temperatures plunged to 31 degrees below zero at Turin. In Europe, Italian newspapers reported the coldest Christmas of the century.

Snowplows churned in Copenhagen, Denmark, where temperatures hovered around freezing.

Paris, dusted with snow, awoke to freezing weather. Germany was mostly free of fresh snow, but it was cold — 14 to 17 degrees.

The Dutch skated on their frozen canals, and in Oslo, Norway, the day was clear and freezing. But Hammerfest, which is farther north than Nome, Alaska, was having "mild" weather. It was 32 degrees above zero and most of the snow had been washed away by mild rain.

Romney Supports Minimum Wage

LANSING (UPI)—Labor, which has unsuccessfully sought enactment of a state minimum wage law for 25 years, had two unlikely champions today, Republican Gov.-elect George Romney

Romney Lauds New Lawyer

Attends Swearing-In for Keith (Lanny) Leak

Gov.-elect George W. Romney stepped forward and gripped the arm of 25-year-old Keith L. (Lanny) Leak.

Oakland County Circuit Judge William J. Beer was saying to Leak, "... on many occasions you had his life in your hands in recent weeks."

"I felt sufficiently safe in his hands," Romney said, "to go to sleep while he was in charge of my person."

The occasion was the admission of Leak, of two drivers for Romney during his campaign, to the practice of law.

The governor-elect paid a surprise visit to the county courthouse yesterday to speak on behalf of Leak at his swearing-in ceremony in Judge Beer's courtroom and to extend his personal congratulations.

A 1955 graduate of Clarkson High School and a 1959 graduate of Albion College, Leak recently passed the 1962 state bar examination after completing studies at Detroit College of Law.

Leak, 403 E. 12-Mile Road, Royal Oak, lived with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Keith L. Leak at 4185 Middle Lake Road, Clarkston, until his marriage last year.

Seeking Post of Supervisor for Waterford

James E. Seeterlin, Waterford Township clerk for the past six years, has announced his candidacy for township supervisor.

A life-long resident of the township, Seeterlin, 36, will seek the Democratic nomination for the office in the Feb. 18 primary.

Elmer R. Johnson, now serving his third two-year term as re-election, is expected to seek re-election as a Republican.

In announcing his candidacy, Seeterlin said he felt he could guide the township in a more positive manner by applying his ideas as supervisor.

"As our local governmental problems become more complex, we must eliminate ambiguity and negativism and recognize the hard cold facts that face us," Seeterlin said.

A graduate of Pontiac High School and a World War II veteran, Seeterlin was employed by a trucking firm as dispatcher and owner-driver prior to becoming township clerk.

Check Before Skating

Beware! Thin Ice!

Sheriff Frank Irons today reminded parents to continue to check the thickness of ice on county lakes before allowing their children to skate.

"Each lake differs in freezing," Irons said. "The right weather conditions for safe skating on one lake doesn't mean that its right for skating on all lakes."

"The best insurance against a serious accident is for a parent to test the ice by walking and jumping on the skating area," the sheriff said.

First Load of Cuban Kin Arrives

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The old freighter African Pilot brought 922 relatives of the Bay of Pigs invasion prisoners to Florida today and refugee officials declared: "This is only the first load."

Without prompting from Red Cross officials, they pitched in to clean up the five shelter deck areas below the main deck, which they had occupied during the voyage.

"There will be many more of us to come," said one refugee worker in her compartment. "We want to leave things okay for them."

The black freighter was strangely quiet and seemed almost deserted as it steamed into Port Everglades 25 miles northeast of here and docked at 9:01 a.m. Only a few crew members lined the rails. One waved a handkerchief.

All of the refugees were asked to remain below to prevent dangerous crowding of the rails.

Five children were isolated with probable cases of measles during the overnight voyage but medical authorities saw no reason to quarantine the ship.

One little Cuban boy roamed the ship, looking up at every American he met and calling out cheerily, "Hello, Kennedy."

A food was sent aboard so that

Red Flannels All Pressed? That's G-Good

Partly cloudy skies with cold temperatures will end the week in the Pontiac area. There's also a chance for a few snow flurries tonight and Friday.

Little change in the weather is expected Saturday.

Winds today are from the southwest at 10 to 20 miles per hour; they will become westerly to northwesterly tonight.

The lowest temperature in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. was a c-cold 3. At 1 p.m. the thermometer registered 14.

Begin Talks on Kashmir

RAWALPINDI, Pakistan (AP)—Red Chinese announcement said Indian and Pakistani ministers opened negotiations over Kashmir today under a new cloud of mis-trust blown up by announcement of a Pakistan-Red China agreement on their share of the border of the disputed state.

A vaguely worded Pakistani announcement aroused surprise that was certain to turn into anger. There was no immediate public reaction from the Indian negotiators here, however.

Pakistan President Mohammed Ayub Khan called in the Pakistani and Indian delegation leaders soon after they sat down at the conference table. A reliable source said Ayub wanted to clarify the agreement with Red China. MAKES APPEAL

It was understood he appealed for a settlement on Kashmir, over which India and Pakistan have feuded since 1947, "in the interest of friendly relations between the two countries and the security of the subcontinent."

It was because of Red China's thrust deep into India's Himalayan borderlands two months ago that India and Pakistan agreed, at the urging of Britain and the United States, to renew attempts to negotiate over Kashmir.

Britain and the United States wanted a settlement of the feud to ease themselves off a spot—a desire to meet unqualified India's requests for arms and at the same time to satisfy Pakistan's fears the arms would ultimately be turned against her, an ally of the West.

Ayub Khan and Indian Prime Minister Nehru have agreed to meet if their lower-level negotiators can make enough progress to promise a settlement.

CLAIMS AREA

Red China claims about 15,000 square miles of Kashmir and has taken practically all that she claims in the Ladakh part of the state on India's side of the U.N. cease-fire line.

Fighting has stopped under China's self-proclaimed cease-fire, but the Chinese are not pulling back as they are in India's northeastern border area. Nehru has declared he will never bow to the Red Chinese claim.

But Indian officials have feared ever since last May, when Pakistan announced she would negotiate an interim boundary agreement with Red China, that Pakistani officials would give way to Peking.

Major Portion of U.S. Is Cold

Sections of Midwest, Utah Fall Below Zero

By The Associated Press

Temperatures moderated in most sections of the West and Midwest today but fairly cold weather held a tight grip across the major part of the nation.

There were some sub-zero readings this morning, in Utah and in sections of the Midwest. However, marks were far higher than the record lows for the date Wednesday morning in many Western and Midwest cities, with readings as low as 31 below zero.

The icy air moved eastward from the north central region and temperatures during the night were a few degrees below zero in parts of Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and near zero in Ohio. Below zero marks also were reported across snow-covered areas in Utah, with a -7 in Delta.

CHILLY IN SOUTHEAST

It was a little chilly in the Southeast, except in most of Florida. Freezing weather prevailed in Tennessee, with temperatures in the 20s in western sections and in the 30s in northern sections of Georgia and Alabama and western North Carolina.

Only sections out of the freezing belt were in the Pacific Coast, the extreme Southwest, southern Texas, the southern tier of states from Louisiana eastward, the Carolinas and much of Virginia.

A fresh mass of arctic air headed into the northern Plains and upper Mississippi Valley and below zero temperatures were in prospect for much of the Midwest tonight.

Seaplane Missing With 13 on Board

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—A Martin P5M-1 seaplane with 13 officers and men aboard is missing from the North Island Naval Air Station, a Navy spokesman said.

The Navy and Coast Guard launched a search early today. The plane was scheduled to return to North Island shortly after midnight after departing on routine patrol at 7:30 p.m. (Pon-tiac time) yesterday.

Areas Face Cityhood Vote

More signs that Oakland County continues to expand are upcoming votes on city status for Rochester and Waterford Township.

Rochester residents will cast ballots on the change from village status on Feb. 18. No date has been set yet for Waterford's vote, following petitions submitted recently.

More and more, townships and villages find their growth stymied by limitations imposed by their governmental status. Faced with an expanding population calling for more sewers, water, police and fire protection and other governmental services, these units find the financial going rougher and rougher.

As the rush to the suburbs began after World War II, many townships were carved up into a number of diminutive cities, each striving to give its residents adequate facilities and protection. In many cases, these benefits could have been provided at greater efficiency and lower cost by larger cities.

Previous moves toward incorporation of Waterford met with little interest, but a recent abortive attempt to incorporate a portion of the township may have spurred the current development.

Moving to meet its growth problems, Waterford became a charter township in Sept. 1961, primarily to gain more liberal bonding requirements to finance the necessary water and sewer facilities.

Many area residents fail to realize just how much Waterford has grown and how many residents it has. The 1960 census showed a 47,107 population, which is greater than that of 71 per cent of Michigan's 85 counties. It contains more residents than Battle Creek or Muskegon and almost twice as many as Monroe or Birmingham.

On top of this, there is still plenty of room for future development in the township, while many cities its population size are almost full.

Incorporation is not a new subject in Rochester; it was under discussion in 1955 and defeated 3-1 at the polls in 1958.

Unity Urged by GOP on State Constitution

The Republican party in Michigan has announced it will not undertake any campaign to gain approval of the proposed state constitution.

At the same time, the GOP asked the Democratic party to abandon its opposition to the document written at the lengthy constitutional convention.

The Democrats are already organizing their drive to defeat the proposed constitution, having named a chairman of the derelict team. It would be distressing to see the State's voters split on the constitution along party lines, without reaching any conclusion of their own.

Much in the way of education on con-con must be done before the April election. A number of civic groups have been working since the final gavel sounded, trying to explain just what would be changed and what would remain.

These groups will be working right up to April 1 in their attempts to get across a fair and unbiased knowledge of the constitution.

Let's hope the Democratic leaders will give serious thought to this Republican proposal.

Present plans call for doubling the size of the village from just less than two square miles to slightly more than four square miles. Avon Township territory to be added would be to the north and east of the village, and includes the vast Parke, Davis & Co. facilities.

Population of the village was 5,431 in the 1960 census. Some 900 more people live in the Avon Township area which would be added.

There has been no formal opposition to the incorporation in Waterford, but the same is not true for Rochester. Avon Township officials have termed the move premature, and officials of the large pharmaceutical company have voiced displeasure at being included in the proposed expansion.

of Bloomfield Hills, soon of Lansing.

When asked if he had any comment on the work of the industry, who had served as the candidate's chauffeur during the gubernatorial campaign, Mr. Romney replied that he had the greatest faith in him, since, sleeping in the rear between them, he had entrusted his life to him!

A heart-warming message comes from Mrs. William D. Gallant of Union Lake, which we'll let her tell in her own words: "Anything a woman loves to do is something in her own words."

"Special blessings on the young couple with the little girl who drove up to the Community National Bank, withdrew a substantial sum from a savings account, and deposited it in the container of a solicitor outside. Many needy people will benefit from this good will offering—including the donors themselves, who perhaps take to heart the saying from Luke 6:38: . . .

"Give, and it shall be given unto you; good measure, pressed down, and shaken together, and running over, shall men give into your bosom. For with the same measure that ye mete withal it shall be measured to you again."

"It would be interesting to know what prompted this young couple to give the unusual amount; a thanks offering, or a reciprocal gift — who knows but they? What a warm Christmas they'll have had this year!"

The MAT's appreciation to the lady for passing on this fine exemplification of the true Christmas spirit, and a humble bow of praise to the unidentified couple.

All the world loves a lover—and 33-year-old

J. Hogan for five years a GMC Truck & Coach Division dealership salesman in Providence, R.I., is reveling in such universal passion.

But along with his romantic involvement, he's still pretty practical—a good company man. Married Dec. 23, instead of taking his bride on the traditional honeymoon to Niagara Falls, where you think he's taking her?

Yep. You're right . . . straight to Pontiac to see the Corporation's central plant!

Mrs. H. is going to cherish many sentimental recollections of the happy hours spent amidst the whirling machinery of the factory as she trends its rose-petaled aisles. Seriously, the MAT congratulates the fine couple, and extends best wishes for many, many joyous and rewarding years together.

How It Feels To Be In A Newspaperless City

David Lawrence Asks:

Who Won in Cuba: JFK or Castro?

WASHINGTON — Did Castro really come out on top? Now that the 1,113 prisoners have been ransomed at a cost estimated at $70 million and President Kennedy has abandoned the idea of on-site inspection of missile bases in Cuba, the promise made by the President that Cuba will not be invaded takes on new significance.

If Castro is immune from invasion — and if LAWRENCE means, also, that the United States has obligated itself to prevent any expedition by Cuban exiles from landing in Cuba to liberate their countrymen — then the Communist ruler of Cuba has indeed achieved a substantial victory for himself.

All the elements in reports of the official conversations that preceded the withdrawal of the missiles and the later release of the prisoners have not been made public. But the published material is clear on one point — the United States is committed against any invasion of Cuba to liberate the oppressed people there.

An invasion by the United States Government is to be sanctioned only if the Castro regime launches a military attack against another country in this hemisphere.

Mr. Kennedy, in his reply to Soviet Premier Khrushchev on Oct. 27, stated that if the "offensive" weapons were withdrawn from Cuba by the Soviets, then the United States would agree "to remove the quarantine measures now in effect, and (B) to give assurances against an invasion of Cuba."

Then on Nov. 20 in a prepared statement read at this news conference, the President said:

"As for our part, if all offensive weapons systems are removed from Cuba and left out of the hemisphere in the future, under adequate verification and safeguards, and if Cuba is not used for the export of aggressive Communist purposes, there will be peace in the Caribbean. And, as I said in September, 'We shall neither initiate nor permit aggression in this hemisphere.'"

"We will not, of course, abandon the political, economic and other efforts of this hemisphere to halt subversion from Cuba, nor our purpose and hope that the Cuban people shall some day be truly free. But these policies are very different from any intent to launch a military invasion of the island."

JFK BACKED DOWN

It didn't take long for Anastas Mikoyan, first deputy premier of the Soviet Union, to convince Castro that Mr. Kennedy had truly backed down, and that there would be no further attempts through such a project as the Bay of Pigs expedition to invade Cuba again, with or without Cuban exile backing.

Perhaps the strongest indication that the United States had backed down on its original demands came from President Kennedy himself on television Dec. 17.

He had been asked whether, if international inspection of missile sites in Cuba had been accomplished, it would have materially affected the chances of peace as between the Soviet Union and the United States, Mr. Kennedy replied:

"No, I don't think that would have materially affected it, because I don't think we would have gotten the kind of inspection which really is necessary, because a totalitarian system cannot accept the kind of inspection which really is desirable."

"What you are saying, really, is that Cuba be opened, the Soviet Union be opened. They are not going to open it, because a totalitarian system must exist only in secrecy."

But the Soviets did propose an international inspection in Cuba under United Nations auspices. (Copyright, 1962)

Bob Considine Quotes:

'We Indians Fight to Live; Red Chinese Fight to Die'

NEW YORK — Fallout from a reporter's notebook: Counting dependents, we have a million Americans in the NATO countries.

NATO commanders figure that Red China will have a workable nuclear weapon in three years.

Indian Brigadier Considine, chief of the Red Chinese in the border war: "They came in waves, like ants. It didn't matter how many were killed. They had many things we did not have, but their main surplus was the human being. The reason we're going to win is because we fight to live, and they fight to die."

Room 409 in the world's most renowned hotel, Claridge's in London, has ants.

The surprise of the Moscow press corps in suddenly being invited on masse to an East German diplomatic reception. This is the opinion of Assistant Secretary of State Harlan Cleveland, in charge of international organization affairs.

He qualifies this with an admission that colonialism and the Congo are the most troublesome issues for the United States in the U.N. On these matters, results of the session just ended aren't all good, from the American point of view.

Cleveland also admits that the most important developments while the General Assembly was in session this year did not happen at the U.N., although they affected its proceedings.

Dismantling of the Russian missile bases in Cuba and Red China's attack on India threw the Communist bloc delegations at the U.N. into deep disarray. Repeatedly the Russian delegates under ambassador Valerian A. Zorin were caught unprepared and had to ask Moscow for new instructions to clarify Kremlin confusion.

Zorin's denial that there were Russian missiles in Cuba was masterfully exposed and denounced by U.S. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson. That threw doubt on the credibility of all Russian statements in assembly debate and committee deliberations.

At the beginning of the session Washington feared that the Latin

Gives List of Exorbitant Food Prices in Cuba

Cuba is facing a critical situation due to the diminishing food supply. It has been necessary to increase the prices for an exorbitant amount. The people are given ration books without which it is impossible to make purchases. Here are some of the prices: Beef meat, $2 per pound; pork, $3.50 per pound; lamb, $3 per pound; rice, $1 per pound; eggs, 30 cents each; chicken, $10 each; turkey, $35 each.

Another Comments on Bill of Rights

George Mason drafted the Virginia Declaration of Rights and the Virginia Constitution in 1776.

He was not the author of the Bill of Rights as we know it as a part of our Constitution. The Bill of Rights was, as Mr. Hill says, lifted from Thomas Paine's "Rights of Man."

Paine has been maligned and persecuted and dishonored because of his book "The Age of Reason," which condemned the mockery, bigotry and intolerance that had symbolized Christian churches and its hierarchy, not the pure Christian religion.

Admires Humility Shown by Press

This is a note of admiration and respect of your humility, which I admire and especially when it is amusing.

You take all the darts, hurts and arrows on various articles which annoy some people. The apology to Wichita Eagle's editor was one example and the one on acquitting the mother who killed her crippled child another. How can you win!

You must have stamina and courage to rise above what most of us like to do when we are criticized.

I am amused at some people's ideas of being offended but you print the things they say and dodge the poisoned arrows.

Communist and neutral representatives was sacked, probably for good. A new U.N. training institute for international civil servants was authorized this year, but the new secretary general says he will not allow it to be stacked with Russians.

The disarmament issue was referred back to Geneva where for the U.S. wanted it, with a demand for a comprehensive treaty. The assembly's resolution on nuclear testing also called for an agreement under "enforceable controls." This was a victory, even though the Geneva conferences have adjourned without agreement.

A start was made on international cooperation in outer space with agreement to establish a first center on the geomagnetic equator, probably in India.

There was an overwhelming good General Assembly vote backing up the World Court opinion on the obligation of all members to pay all U.N. assessments. U. Thant now will be in a position to drum members who in arrears and keep the world organization solvent as well as going.

All the neutrals went through agonizing reappraisal of their policies after it was shown that Cuba was no liberal independent but a full-fledged Communist satellite. As a result, General Assembly votes on all the anti-Communist issues—Red China, Hungary, Korea—won record majorities in support of U.S. positions.

On substantive issues before the General Assembly this year, Cleveland believes results of the session were also good.

U. Thant was elected secretary general and the Russian proposal for a three-man "troika" secretariat of anti-Communist,

Society's Suffering Shows Strange Seasonal Symptoms

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Now comes upon the spirit of man the time of the great letdown.
The lights still blink at night on the Christmas tree, but they lose a great deal of their joy.
The new hike already has its first scratch, there is a hole in the new drum—heaven be praised for that!—and the children are cranky and cross.
The good housewife sits down determinedly to make out a list of presents that have to be taken back and exchanged for more useful articles.
But the pencil BOYLE droops in her hand as she looks around her cluttered home and says: "What a mess. Will I ever get this place straightened up again?"

The man of the house secretly takes out two of the four neckties he received, and furtively throws them down the incinerator.
He worries about the unpaid bills. He rises late to go to work, and broods over the treadmill nature of his job. He entertains wild daydreams of running away from home and becoming a beachcomber on a far-away South Seas isle. He wonders idly whether the pretty girls there really do weave garlands of flowers to hang around a fellow's neck, or whether that's all just Hollywood poppycock.
There is no help in nature. The tired foot falls on snow or slush. The Weather Bureau and the almanac agree that more storms lie ahead. The first robin of spring is still getting a suntan down south.
ALL BOUNCED OUT
Everyone who felt so bouncy and happy and generous just a few days ago now feels worn out and self-pitying and suspicious of his character and intentions of his neighbors. Yes, there's something gone wrong with us all.

Writer's Daughter Found Dead in N. Y.

NEW YORK (AP)—Mary Sherwood Elms, 39, daughter of the late Pulitzer Prize-winning playwright Robert E. Sherwood, was found dead Wednesday in her Manhattan apartment. Police said her wrists had been slashed by a razor.

An autopsy was scheduled for today.
Authorities termed the death an apparent suicide, and quoted friends and the maid who found her body as saying Mrs. Elms had been dependent about a recent divorce.

Sherwood, an author of books as well as a playwright, died in 1955.

Winds Scatter Antarctic Ice

CHRISTCHURCH, New Zealand (AP)—Hurricane winds that sprang up Christmas eve broke up the Antarctic pack ice in McMurdo Sound. Four American icebreakers had been constantly at work since early December keeping open the narrow 50-mile channel to the main U.S. base in the Antarctic.

The U.S. Navy said the winds from the south which cracked the ice and drove floes out to sea also assisted planes flying from McMurdo to New Zealand. Jet planes waiting to fly to Antarctica are being delayed by head winds.

The first scientific association formed in America was the American Philosophical Society founded in 1743 in Philadelphia.

The waiting rooms of doctors are suddenly thronged with patients afflicted with sniffles and symptoms of a vast ennui.
The young physicians listen to descriptions of these ailments sympathetically, and worry perhaps whether the community is in the grip of some new contagious malady.
The old doctor is wiser. He looks out the window absent-mindedly as his middle-aged patient gives a catalog of his aches and pains and winds up by asking hopefully:

"Do you think I've got walking pneumonia, doc?"
Actually the old doctor knows his patient is merely suffering from seasonal gloom, but he can't put it to him in quite that way. "No, it isn't pneumonia, John," he tells him. "You're just a victim of post-Christmas letdown. There's nothing wrong with you that a couple of aspirin tablets, smaller meals, a little exercise and two hours more sleep a night won't cure."
And as his patient leaves, the old doctor comments silently, "That's what I ought to prescribe for myself, too."

NATIONAL MALADY
Yep, that's the national malady of the moment—post-Christmas letdown. But in the bottomless torpor of mind and body that grips us all now there is one consoling thought: The disease is temporary and almost never fatal. As the message on old sun dials says, "This, too, shall pass."
After the first of the year, the letdown feeling will go away and we'll return with a fresh enthusiasm until next Christmas.

Afro-Asians Show Fear of China

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

In hot and steamy Colombo, Ceylon, representatives of six AFRO-Asian countries were seeking a cooling solution to the Sino-Indian border war.

At the close of their three-day meeting early this month they issued a remarkable statement which could only lend comfort to the Red Chinese.

Represented at this meeting of self-appointed peacemakers were Ceylon, NEWSOM, Cambodia, Burma, Indonesia, Ghana and the United Arab Republic.

Nowhere in the closing statement was there a mention of Communist aggression. Rather, the six called upon the disputants to settle their quarrel and thus preserve the peace and nonalignment of Asia and Africa.

And they suggested negotiations be undertaken on a basis which would restore territory in India in the northeast but which would require India to agree to a demilitarized buffer zone in the west.

Indian Prime Minister Nehru's reaction was understandably cool.

Red China's massive attack against border areas traditionally claimed by India stirred fear throughout Southeast Asia and the statement issued by the six was a reflection of that fear.

For if India could not defend herself, then how could she help others?

If the proposals put forward by the six neutrals were not an invitation to peace at any price, they were at least close to it.

When President Kennedy described Red China as this decade's greatest threat to world peace, he voiced an opinion held by many.

In Colombo, the neutrals were expressing the fear that the present Chinese ceasefire along the disputed border merely is a breather, a waiting period for the time when weather and supplies are right for another jungle southward.

China, whether under the emperors or the Reds, never has recognized as permanently lost any territory it once held.

SAME ARGUMENT?

And just as the Reds have attempted to cloak in legality their border aggression against India, the same argument might be used for the whole of Ladhak, regardless of any ceasefire or a demilitarized zone.

Ladhak once was part of Tibet, now incorporated into Red China. Chinese conquest of Ladhak would give them the Zoji La Pass where an all-weather road leads straight in to India.

Chinese possibilities for mischief-making in Southeast Asia are almost limitless. Each Southeast Asia nation has a huge Chinese population, providing a perfect opportunity for Red infiltration.

With her trade with the Soviet Union dwindling and relations between the two worsening steadily, Red China now is looking toward Japan for new commercial contacts and may be tempted to step up her timetable of conquest in the south.

Pay Attention to Bedroom Decoration

First seen in the morning and last seen at night, the bedroom has much to do with our peace of mind and our zest for living.

Primarily a sleeping space, the bedroom is still a show place in most homes because modern homemakers like to make it light, airy, colorful and alive with a personality all its own.

Now, there is a growing trend, rapidly gaining momentum, which recognizes this slumber area as all-purpose quarters where many leisure hours can be enjoyed. Reading, television watching and sewing are just as adaptable to the bedroom as to family rooms and the like.

Whether your bedroom is confined to the sleeping one-third of your day or also used for general living activities, it still deserves good planning and execution.

Providing up-to-date ideas on budget, is the 32-page illustrated booklet, "Beautify Your Bedroom." This publication is available through The Seng Co., 1450 North Dayton Street, Chicago 22, Illinois. It sells at 10 cents per copy, postpaid.

Crammed with answers to common problems that arise when bedrooms are being decorated, this informative little booklet presents a step-by-step method to achieve an outstanding bedroom for every member of the family, from adults to adolescents to juveniles.

Gets Collector's Record at White Elephant Sale

It was a recording made in 1903 by the famous operatic tenor, Enrico Caruso, and cost her only 10 cents.

The record sold for $2 when new, and is now worth considerably more, of course, as a collector's item.

Retirement Has Problem

To Live in Apartment or Have House, Yard

If you are thinking of moving to a leisure area when you retire, chances are you are facing a big decision whether to live in a house or an apartment.

Apartments are getting steadily more popular in the sunshine belt and apartment builders are snapping up the choicest land along the nation's waterways.

It's an axiom in Florida that if you want to retire gracefully you have to be on the water or have a swimming pool and the retirement "rule" in California is similar.

Florida's Gold Coast stretching 90 miles or so up the coast from Miami is a perfect example of how a select retirement area — complete with sunshine, waterway, and a supreme view of the Atlantic has been just about eaten up by multiple dwelling units.

You would have to be in the millionaire class to buy or build a private house on the ocean today and that is just an example of what will be happening to other areas in the years ahead.

ON WEST COAST:

Huge apartment houses, tailored especially for retired people, are springing up along Florida's West Coast too, and the Pacific is dotted with them along the coast of Southern California.

On top of the fact that select sites for houses are becoming more and more rare and more expensive in these retirement lands there are good arguments in favor of retiring to an ocean view apartment, according to builders specializing in this type of building.

"When you're ready to retire you're ready to stop mowing the lawn," according to William A. Wood, president of a development company which built the sparkling new Pasadena Apartments overlooking the Gulf of Mexico in St. Petersburg.

One of the most telling is the appeal to people who want to travel after they have moved to their retirement haven.

"If you're living in an apartment and you want to make a trip all you do is turn the key in the door and tell the superintendent," he said.

"A house presents all kinds of problems when you are looking up for a four-week departure. You should arrange for police protection, and for someone to cut the grass, and you have to stop milk and newspaper deliveries. What kind of retirement is that?"

SOMETHING TO DO

These "carefree living" views are winning a lot of converts to retired living in apartments. But on the other side of the ledger outspoken home owners sometimes like the idea of cutting their own grass and planting flowers and tending the hedges around a house.

It gives them an interest and something to do after they retire.

There is one segment of the retired class which is almost unanimous in the preference of an apartment. That is the widow or widower who lives alone. The security and the closeness of neighbors almost always wins him or her to an apartment in preference to a house.

LONDON (AP)—Winter-blooming daffodils will be marketed here this year by bulb specialists who have raised varieties acclimated to the early-flowering season of West Cornwall. The bulbs are given an "artificial winter" by pre-cooling to 48 degrees Fahrenheit for six to eight weeks in conditions of relatively low humidity.

Skiing Very Good at All Pontiac Area Slopes

State Ski Conditions

Holidays Lure Night Skiers to Local Runs

Snow Makers Cover Area Slopes With New Powder

Very good skiing conditions exist in all Pontiac area ski resorts with holiday crowds jamming the slopes during the day and under the lights.

Night crowds are on the increase at all local areas as skiers head for the slopes for several hours of after-dinner pleasure.

Teetle Hill ski area at Highland Recreation, joins the list of local areas with all facilities in operation this weekend.

All regular slopes are open, along with trails, two tow ropes and the warming shelter with light refreshments. The area is open from 10:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. daily.

MT. HOLLY — has solid base, new natural powder and fresh machine made powder. All slopes and chair lift are in operation and skiing is now very good and excellent.

DRYDEN SKI AREA — has all facilities in operation with good base and freshly made powder covering all slopes. Skiing is very good.

ALPINE VALLEY — has chair lift, T-bars and all tow lifts in operation with fresh powder covering solid base. New beginners area is open and skiing listed from very good to excellent.

GAMPIAN MT. — has fresh powder and solid base, all slopes and tow operating with ski jumping area ready for operation.

PINE KNOB — operating chair lift, all slopes and tow with new powder and good base. Skiing good to excellent.

MT. CHRISTIE — operating all tow and facilities under good conditions.

MT. BRIGHTON — has all tow and slopes open. Good skiing with freshly made powder.

PONTIAC LAKE — operating under Kandahar Ski Club, has good skiing with tow ropes working.

Skiing is available at all areas except Teetle and Pontiac Lake until 11:00 p.m. nightly.

Mt. Holly Ski Staff Has Touch of Alps

One of these cold, clear mornings a Swiss yodel will probably ring across the snowy southeastern Michigan countryside. Maybe it won't be heard in Pontiac or much of Oakland County, but the residents — and particularly the skiers — in the Mt. Holly area should experience such a peppy alpine sound.

Producing the yodel will be Maurice Schnyder of Zermatt, Switzerland — one of five European ski instructors brought to the Mt. Holly Ski Resort for four months through the combined efforts of Mort Graddis and Gerry Monod. Until now, Schnyder has limited his yodeling to the confines of the group.

The other four are Werner Frey, Fred Strobl, Hans Czappek and Marianne Erhardt who are top 10 in an Austrian ski jumping contest Wednesday. John Balfanz of Minneapolis leaped 170 feet, 7 inches and 183-9 and took fourth place with 213.7 points. Paul Johnson, of Iron Mountain, Mich., was 10th with leaps of 167-4 and 160-9 and 190.3 points.

They have brought a youthful zest and vitality to the resort that is uncommon for most U.S. winter sports areas. Unfortunately, there is a reliance on their part to mingle with the resort clientele due to a lack of English proficiency.

While five can converse sufficiently to give lessons, they have been in Michigan less than two weeks and, since this is their first trip to the U.S., they haven't completely adjusted to the new surroundings.

Ranging in age from 23 to 29, the new European instructors enjoyed Christmas dinner with Monod's family.

The five brought their own musical instruments and costumes with them which they made part of their holiday celebration.

With the addition of the five new instructors, Graddis (owner of the Mt. Holly Ski Resort) feels Monod's school gives his facilities one of the best teaching corps in the continental U.S.

Certainly, after seeing the attractive Miss Erhardt and hearing the laughing and joking within the group, it should be one of the happiest and better looking schools.

2 Americans Place in Meet

SALZBURG, Austria (AP)—Two Americans captured places in the world's highest ski jumping contest Wednesday.

John Balfanz of Minneapolis leaped 170 feet, 7 inches and 183-9 and took fourth place with 213.7 points. Paul Johnson, of Iron Mountain, Mich., was 10th with leaps of 167-4 and 160-9 and 190.3 points.

LOOKOUT BELOW — Michigan, the ski capital of the United States with 84 centers, also boasts the world's highest artificial slide at Iron Mountain for ski jumping. This is the slide at Pine Mountain where jumps from 300 to 400 feet will be made this season.

Ski Calendar of Events Crowded

Every since Ogg challenged one of his fellow caversmen to a foot race for a couple of bronzed rus steaks, man has found pleasure in competition.

Winter sports enthusiasts are no exception, and so it is that Michigan's winter calendar is crowded with competitive events. Skiers whose skills have been sharpened on the slopes of Michigan's more than 80 resorts can test their ability in downhill, slalom, nordic and jumping events.

A term commonly used by the thousands of ski buffs who flock to watch these competitions, is "Alpine." Alpine racing describes the various events that are held on the slopes; as opposed to nordic races which are cross-country events.

Actually, the term "alpine" is something of a misnomer, for these races really originated in Scandinavia about 100 years ago.

Scandinavian immigrant miners, out of work because of heavy snows, became bored and introduced their fellow workers to the sport of skiing.

CLUBS FORMED — Soon ski clubs were formed and races were being held on the slopes of mountains in Sierra and Plumas counties.

When the mining boom died, so did the racing, only to be reborn years later in the Alps. For the downhill racer, an objective prevails — to get from the top of the hill to the bottom by the most direct route, faster than anyone else. Form and style are important only in so much as they affect speed.

Slalom races are run through a succession of "gates" which are designated by brightly colored flags, affixed to poles.

These gates are placed in fairly standard combinations but just as golf courses can be "tricked up" for the tournaments — slalom gates can be placed in such a fashion that the course is made more difficult.

Technique becomes more important in slalom with its tricky turns and split-second timing.

The nordic events are cross country races which put a premium on stamina. The standard distances are 15, 30 and 50 kilometer races.

The most spectacular competitions are the jumping events.

Pro Ski Racers Vie Friday at Caberfae

Professional ski racing has will insure a competitive spirit come into its own this year with the race. The race will start a full schedule of pro races set at 11:00 a.m. and is open for start Friday, Dec. 28, at Caberfae Ski Area, in Cadillac.

Developed by one of Michigan's top ski professionals, Denny Johnson, the circuit will attract the best in professional racing stars. Among those top performers appearing at Caberfae this week will be Franz Gabl, former Olympic medal winner racing skier and head instructor at Caberfae for four years.

Hans Standleier, Olympic racer and head ski pro at Iron Mountain, Brimley, Mich., and Denny Johnson of Crystal Mountain, Thompsonville, Michigan.

It is expected that over 15 of the top professional skiers in the Michigan area will be on hand for the Caberfae race.
