Districting Decision Is Crisis for Florida

MIAMI, Fla.—Florida's political structure has been thrown into chaos by a U.S. Supreme Court decision striking down the state's legislative reapportionment just two months before the primaries.

Gov. Haydon Burns called it a crisis and set an emergency cabinet meeting for today in Tallahassee.

Venue Change Hearing Slated

Two Trials Pending in Hospital Deaths

A Circuit Court hearing has been scheduled for April 1 on changing the location of two pending trials involving accidental deaths at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital last year.

Two children and a 24-year-old mother of two died in November after being injected with ether rather than another anesthetic.

The woman's husband, Gerald M. Covington, 438 Roland, is seeking $125 million in damages from the hospital, while Mrs. Oscar Brunel, mother of another victim, Kimberly Ann, 8, is asking $500,000.

Attorneys for the hospital have requested that the cases be transferred out of Oakland County because of the widespread news coverage given to the deaths.

They contended that it would be impossible to get impartial trials in both cases.

Circuit Judge James S. Thorburn will consider the petitions for changes of venue.

Plan for Tighter Rules on Draft Exemption Hit

School Officials, Profs Threaten to Retaliate; Confusion Is Predicted

NEW YORK (AP) — U.S. college officials have disclosed serious misgivings over proposed tighter draft exemption rules for the nation's students. Some threatened refusal to cooperate with draft boards.

Seven professors have threatened to quit at Brandeis University in Massachusetts, and a Harvard dean said he would withhold academic data from the draft board if the student requests it.

College administrators who regarded the system as basically fair nevertheless predicted widespread confusion.

At present, draft boards grant student deferments on the basis of assurances from schools that students are enrolled full-time and are doing satisfactory work. About 1.5 million young men hold such deferments.

Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national Selective Service director, has announced that these deferments will be reexamined in the light of class standing, and scores of new college qualification tests.

TEST DATES
Selective Service announced in Washington yesterday that the tests will be given throughout the nation on May 14, May 21 and June 3.

High school seniors and college students who want to take the test must mail applications postmarked not later than April 23 to Science Research Associates of Chicago.

Students need not submit to the tests, but students who flunk or refuse to take it, or who do not stand high in their classes, may lose their deferments.

Commented Dr. Buell Gallagher, president of New York's City College: "A 'C' student at institution 'x' may be a better bet for college and university work than an 'A' student from institution 'y'."

"The overriding interest of the nation is better served by encouraging the best talent to (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

City's Not Going to the Dogs

The pulse of the city can be taken through the city clerk's office.

Similar to an annual census, the license records of the city clerk provide a nose count of sundry activities in the city.

The dog population, for example, can be determined somewhat from the 2,348 pooch permits issued last year.

Of course, the dog count won't be entirely accurate: a few pups will be underage and therefore unlicensed, and some dog owners forget to license their dog.

Based on the annual statistics compiled by the city clerk, the

Sukarno Under Heavy Guard

Jakarta Tense After Student Rally Ban

SINGAPORE (AP) — Indonesian tanks, armored cars and troops blocked all roads to President Sukarno's palace today and helicopters kept watch against student demonstrations, reliable sources said.

The atmosphere in Jakarta was "tense — almost explosive" in the wake of Sukarno's crackdown on student rallies, the sources said.

The anti-Communist, pro-army Indonesian Student Action Front — KAMI — banned by Sukarno yesterday, received a pledge of support from the 150,000-member Muslim Students Union, the informants added.

But it was not known if the army would continue to give tacit support for the students, who have demonstrated to protest Sukarno's ouster of Gen. Abdul Harris Nasution as defense minister.

Sukarno outlawed KAMI after three days of massive demonstrations, Radio Jakarta said yesterday.

BAN DEMONSTRATIONS
He banned all demonstrations and imposed a curfew on the capital, the radio added.

A broadcast today indicated that the curfew now extends 2 1/2 hours longer. Radio Jakarta said it would be in effect from 9:30 p.m. to 6 a.m.

KAMI led a five-mile-long funeral parade of 10,000 students through Jakarta yesterday in connection with protests over Sukarno's Cabinet shake-up.

Reds Step Up Offensive

Yanks Halt Savage VC Attack

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Marines fought off a determined Viet Cong attack near Chu Lai today and U.S. artillery duelled with enemy mortar fire as the Communists continued to step up their offensive.

Today's attack by about 100 Red troops on a 50-man Marine unit marked the second time in two days that the Viet Cong struck at U.S. emplacements.

A force of 100 Leathernecks hurled back a Viet Cong attack last night at Phu Bai, killing three Communists, spokesmen said. Marine losses were reported light.

Today's target for the Viet Cong was Phu Loi, an artillery base area 15 miles north of Saigon. U.S. spokesmen said the Reds fired 16 mortar rounds, but casualties were light.

The Viet Cong were also active in the northern part of the Mekong delta, attacking a government outpost Friday 60 miles southwest of Saigon.

HEAVY TOLL

A spokesman said the 60-man defense force suffered heavy casualties.

For the fourth straight day, air attacks over North Viet Nam were hampered by poor weather. An Air Force spokesman said all the bombing Friday was by radar.

Air Force pilots flying F105 Thunderchief jets smashed at an ammunition depot and storage area five miles from the city of Vinh.

Other Air Force targets included the Vinh Loc bridge and highway complex.

Navy Skyraiders and F4 Phantom II fighters from the carrier Ranger hit a mountain pass Friday 37 miles southwest of Vinh.

B52 bombers hit suspected Viet Cong targets in Zone D about 30 miles northeast of Saigon, a U.S. spokesman said. The guerrilla stronghold has been hit many times by previous B52 raids.

In the ground war, the Viet Cong attack on the U.S. Marine position began with a barrage of mortars and recoilless rifles.

The main attack came at dawn when Viet Cong fighters managed to cut their way through the outer triple apron of wire.

As they clawed through the single inner wire strand the assault was halted by concentrated small arms fire and artillery support from the embattled Marines.

The latest body count said that 18 Viet Cong bodies were found together with four sub-machine guns, four rifles and 50 hand grenades. Marine casualties were light.

One Viet Cong who said he was a stretcher bearer was captured.

An armored troop carrier patrol from the mechanized 8th Infantry, 25th Division, surprised a Viet Cong platoon attempting to mine a bridge near Cu Chi Friday, and killed 15 of the enemy, a U.S. spokesman said.

Senate Ends Session: Quorum Is Lacking

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration efforts to speed up and resolve the Senate's Viet Nam debate failed for lack of a quorum today.

After some 40 minutes of confusion, frustration, and roll calls, the Senate had to break off its Saturday session because only about a third of the 100 senators answered the roll. A majority is required.

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., tried to object to an adjournment motion, saying "there are no holidays in Viet Nam."

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., acting as majority leader, had called for a Saturday session and had sent telegrams to the senators that "if you have a speech to make, come make your speech."

But Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., who had just finished one-hour address attacking administration Viet Nam policy and planned another for Monday, said he knew of no one who planned to speak today.

The city clerk's record-keeping also extends to the City Commission. Here too activity was down last year over 1964.

Craft Rockets 5,300 Miles to Ocean Target

Unmanned Moonship Lands by Parachute in South Atlantic

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla.—The first unmanned Apollo moonship successfully rocketed over a blistering 5,300-mile ballistic course today and parachuted to a landing in the South Atlantic Ocean. Recovery craft raced to retrieve it.

The mission control center reported that the craft plunged into the sea near Ascension Island, only about 35 miles west of the main recovery ship, the aircraft carrier Boxer.

Helicopters with frogmen aboard were dispatched to the landing area.

A Saturn IB, most powerful rocket ever built by the United States, thundered away from Cape Kennedy at 11:11 a.m. and scored a resounding success on the maiden flight of a booster which will play a key role in America's manned lunar landing plans.

The mighty rocket got off the ground after officials once today postponed the shot because of fuel pressure problems with the first stage.

REVERSE DECISION

However, they reversed themselves 10 minutes later after taking another look at the data and resumed the countdown.

The 22-story rocket, which weighed 650 tons on liftoff, pushed the 45,000-pound Apollo 310 miles into space and then tipped its nose down and rammed it back through the atmosphere at more than 18,000 miles an hour.

Twenty-four minutes after blastoff, the 11,000-pound cabin section separated from the rest of the craft and turned around so its blunt heat shield warded off searing re-entry temperatures expected to reach nearly 50,000 degrees.

A major goal was to determine how well the heat shield protected the vehicle.

It apparently passed its trial by fire and 33 minutes after launching the 83-foot parachutes unfurled and gently lowered the cabin section into the South Atlantic Ocean.

Landing time was about

Proposals Flood Vicar Hunting for Dream Girl

AMBLECOTE, England (AP) — The handsome vicar who announced he was seeking a wife who resembles Ingrid Bergman has been driven into hiding by a flood of telephone calls from applicants.

A note pinned to the door of the Rev. John Hencher's Georgian vicarage said, "Vicar away ill."

But a relative of the 34-year-old churchman said, "He has gone into hiding. He is horrified at all the fuss."

The fuss arose after word began to circulate that the vicar was looking for a "cozy wife who adores Shakespeare and is prepared to share my four-poster bed."

The Rev. Mr. Hencher, who is six feet tall and weighs 185 pounds, told of his dream girl in an interview in a religious ards.

newspaper, the Worcester Diocesan Messenger.

"She must be a lot younger than I," he said, "about five feet six inches tall and preferably with fair hair."

The vicar received his first marriage proposal Thursday, shortly after his appeal for a wife was published. Since then his telephone has hardly stopped ringing.

He slipped away yesterday from the 15-room vicarage in his car.

His sister, Priscilla Harris, said: "John has had several girl-friends and was engaged for a short while some years ago. I don't know why he broke it off."

"The trouble is he is searching for the perfect girl and as he gets older the girls never seem to match up to his standards."

Junta Names Syria Leaders

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Syria's coup leaders named two civilians to head the new regime Friday night and relaxed curfew restrictions.

The left-wing military junta which seized power last week named Dr. Nouredin Atassi, 36, as chief of state, replacing deposed Gen. Amin Hafez.

ZAYYEN ATASSI

Dr. Youssef Zayyen, 35, was appointed prime minister in place of Salah Bitar. The announcement, made over Radio Damascus, did not identify the members of the junta, which calls itself the "Temporary Command."

Most of the troops, tanks and armored cars that moved into the center of the capital during the first two days of the coup have been withdrawn to the outskirts of Damascus.

The radio announced that starting today residents will be allowed into the streets from 5 a.m. to 9 p.m. Normal working hours will be resumed in government offices, institutions and schools, the radio said.

To Air Zoning for Bar on M59

Waterford Planners Recommend Change

Final action on a rezoning request for establishment of a bar and lounge on M59 at Tull is expected at Monday night's Waterford Township Board meeting.

The controversial proposal to rezone from local business (C-1) to general business (C-2) three lots at 7605 M59 — has been recommended for approval by the Township Planning Commission.

However, about 50 members of Tull Acres Subdivision Association have signed a petition objecting to the change.

The business was formerly located at the White Lake Inn.

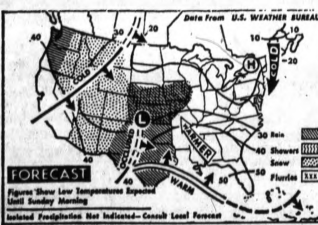

In other business, the board will consider final approval of Huntoon Shores No. 2 Subdivision, a proposed amendment to a township subdivision ordinance and the "701" planning program.

Cost of the proposed "701" program is $25,439. However, the federal government would be approached for a $16,958 grant if the board chooses to accept the program and subsequently file for application.

GRIM PROCESSION—Soldiers of a U.S. 1st Infantry Division unit carry the body of a dead comrade to a row of dead GIs, victims of fighting in the Boi Loi Woods today. These are the first casualties suffered by the reconnaissance platoon of the 18th Regiment's 2nd Battalion in its eight months of combat.

Marines Halt Cong Attack

The division-sized operation had discovered a claymore mine factory, Viet Cong hospitals containing antibiotics, and thousands of pounds of rice.

The division took light casualties when they attempted to dispose of a booby-trapped rice cache.

Elements of the 1st Brigade, 101st Airborne Division, ambushed a small Viet Cong patrol Friday north of Tuy Hoa and killed three of the enemy, the spokesman said.

BRIEF ENCOUNTER The 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division also had contact, tangling briefly with a Viet Cong company and killing three Reds before the Viet Cong broke contact and escaped.

Australian and 1st Cavalry troops continued finding bodies of Viet Cong apparently killed in the attack on Tan Binh.

Fifteen bodies were found today in a shallow, freshly dug grave.

A Vietnamese spokesman reported a "ferocious" battle between two Vietnamese jungle foot groups and a seaside Viet Cong combat hamlet at the mouth of the Ba Lai River about 70 miles southeast of Saigon.

continue in higher education as long as is possible under the manpower demands of the armed services."

Dr. John Weaver, vice president for instruction at Ohio State University, took a similar view.

He called the use of class ranking "a dangerous way to go about it" because a student low-ranked at a top school might stand far higher at one where the standards are less demanding.

"Students already are under great pressure for grades, and this certainly is going to intensify that," said Dr. Weaver.

STRESS ON GRADES "I feel there already are too many situations where the stress is on grades rather than learning."

Charles E. Liesenfeld of Minneapolis, who is both an educator and a draft board member, felt that the system would be "about as fair as you can possibly get."

Liesenfeld, assistant to the recorder of the University of Minnesota and chairman of his county draft board, said: "A student has two chances — on the basis of class rank and on the basis of a test."

"Say there was a class of geniuses. Some of course would have to be in the bottom portion of the class. But they still have a chance for deferment if they can pass the test."

Two Poverty Units to Open Formal opening of the two opportunity centers of the Oakland County Commission on Economic Opportunity (OEO) will be March 14.

A 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. open house is planned at the Pontiac center and one from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Royal Oak Township center.

Both centers actually opened two months ago to carry out the county's war on poverty.

Unmanned Apollo Shot Successful

The flight control center reported that during the plunge back to earth radio data indicated all spacecraft systems operated as intended, including two ignitions of a motor which one day will steer astronauts to and from the moon.

Signals from the craft were the first indication that it had parachuted safely and was floating.

HEADS FOR SCENE The Boxer headed for the scene after aircraft spotted the cabin section, the area in which future astronauts will ride.

Joseph Shea, Apollo program manager for NASA's Manned Spacecraft Center, said the flight was a critical test of the rocket, the spacecraft propulsion and control systems and recovery and launching techniques.

A key to the Saturn IB power is a second stage which produces 300,000 pounds of thrust from high-energy liquid hydrogen fuel.

This second stage gives Saturn IB the additional punch to place 37,000-pound payloads into earth orbit, compared to 21,000 pounds for the earlier Saturn I.

LARGEST PAYLOAD Largest payload ever launched was Russia's Proton 1, which weighed about 27,000 pounds in orbit.

The space agency has scheduled a minimum of eight Saturn IB and four Saturn S launches all aimed at perfecting procedures for landing men on the moon at the earliest possible time.

Three unmanned Saturn IB launches are planned in 1966, with three astronauts slated to ride an Apollo ship into earth orbit late in the year.

The Saturn S, with 7.5 million pounds of booster thrust, is to have its first test launching early in 1967, with additional IB and S flights planned during the year.

MANNED CAPABILITY If there are no serious troubles, NASA says the fourth Saturn S would have a "manned lunar landing capability."

That is presently scheduled for launching in January 1968, well before the end of the decade target set by the late President John F. Kennedy when he committed this nation to putting men on the moon.

Less optimistic officials believe there will be the usual development problems and that it will be at least the seventh or eighth Saturn S flight before men can be safely sent to the moon.

That would be in 1969, according to the present timetable.

Three men are to ride the Apollo to the lunar journey, with two of them dropping to the surface in a capsule while the third circles the moon in the main ship. After a period of exploration, the two will launch themselves and rejoin the mother ship for the return trip to earth.

Rumors Flying on Turbine Car

Word Likely Soon on Chrysler Auto's Future

By CHARLES C. CAIN DETROIT (AP) — Automobile circles buzzed this week with rumors that Chrysler Corp. would have an announcement soon about the future of its most discussed turbine car program.

One usually well-informed source said the turbine's status had been discussed by Chrysler's board of directors and the final decision left in the hands of Chrysler president Lynn A. Townsend.

Chrysler's official comment was, "No decision has been made regarding turbine production."

VOLUNTEER DRIVERS Over 200 volunteer motorists have driven more than 1.3 million miles since October 1963 in 50 experimental turbine cars which Chrysler built to get driver reaction to the new concept.

The drivers filled out detailed questionnaires as to how they liked the turbine and what they thought of its future.

The answers were kept secret but Townsend may announce them in March.

Chrysler has road tested various stages of its turbine cars for over a decade but it was not until 1963 that the public was included in the testing.

CORRECT LAG Engineering sources said Chrysler has corrected the acceleration lag which had been one of the weaknesses of the turbine car. The turbine capacity of 130 horsepower has been upped to near 275.

George J. Decker Jr., who has been in charge of the 250-man turbine project team, said this week that "We have had far less trouble with the turbine than we usually experience with prototype piston engines."

In general, the advantage of the turbine engine is that it is lighter and has only one-third the moving parts of a normal piston engine. It runs on about any fuel from butanol to gasoline but Chrysler engineers said while kerosene has proven to be the most economical fuel to date.

THUNDERBIRD STYLE The sleek experimental turbine's body style is much like that of the Thunderbird and its engine has the "whoosh" sound generally associated with aircraft engines.

The general belief was that Chrysler would not scrap the program into which it had put many years and millions of dollars.

Thus the choice appeared to be whether to make some of the turbines available for sale to the general public or to extend the experimental test drive program.

Only Townsend had the answer and he gave no indication of which way he would go.

O'Brien says the bill would put $10 in the pockets of more than 400,000 home owners.

All mortgages insured by the federal government require that escrow accounts be established. However, no interest is paid on the monies, and the lender is free to invest the funds.

Ky Promises to Crack Down to Halt Viet Nam Profiteers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Prime Minister Nguyen Cao Ky has predicted that 80 per cent of the promised crackdowns on black population would live in government-controlled areas by 1967, and contended that the military initiative is now with the allies. Ky stressed his government commitment to opening "a second front against injustice," as proposed at the recent Honolulu summit conference with President Johnson three weeks ago.

Ky declined to cite names or numbers but he promised executions next week, the Post said.

In a 30-minute interview with Ward Just, the prime minister also disclosed he is writing a personal letter to Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., "to give him a better understanding of the situation there."

The Post story said that in the interview: The prime minister brushed off Viet Nam's economic crisis as "not serious," asserted that the No. 1 priority of his administration is social revolution.

Ky's comments on military activities were muted.

"We need a new generation of cadres and we need to destroy the old corrupt people. On Monday I will receive my reports from the police."

"I don't want to do it, but it's necessary to set a good example," Ky told the Post reporter. Ky said he was speaking of black market dealers, profiteers and corrupt officials.

Senate Confirms Peace Corps Chief

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Wayne Morse was the lone dissenter when the Senate confirmed the nomination of Jack Gordon as director of the Peace Corps. The Oregon Democrat said Morse called Vaughn "grossly incompetent" as assistant secretary of state for Latin American affairs.

The Oregon Democrat said Morse called Vaughn "grossly incompetent" as assistant secretary of state for Latin American affairs. Morse's only senator to speak.

He said Gordon was "another junta man."

There are some secrets that the super-secret Central Intelligence Agency withholds even from senators, the legislators have been told.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., said CIA Director W. F. Raborn admitted withholding information from the senators. McCarthy commented after Raborn briefed the Senate Foreign Relations Committee Friday.

"There are things it (the CIA) tells the Armed Services Committee it doesn't report to us," McCarthy quoted Raborn as saying during the briefing. Committee Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., told newsmen after the briefing: "Not only did he not tell us anything, but if he had, I couldn't tell you."

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new Federal Trade Commission regulation is designed to prevent deceptive advertising of the size of television picture tubes.

Starting July 1 only the actual size of the picture measured on a single plane, not the size of the picture tube, may be used in advertising.

Advertising for a television set having a picture measuring 20 inches diagonally, 19 inches horizontally and 15 inches vertically and having an area of 262 square inches, might be advertised as:

20-inch picture measured diagonally; 19-inch by 15-inch picture; 19-inch picture; 19-inch; 262 square inches.

It would be illegal, the FTC said, to advertise this set as: "30" set; 21" diagonal set; 21" over-all diagonal; 262 square-inch picture; brand name 21."

Idaho Okays Amendment

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — Idaho Friday became the 21st state to ratify a proposed U. S. constitutional amendment on presidential succession and presidential inability.

Ratification by 38 states is necessary for it to become law. The amendment would allow the president, with the consent of Congress, to appoint a vice president when there is a vacancy in that office. It also would provide for the vice president to act as president if the president was disabled.

Faith Adds Beauty to a Beautiful Face

By VONDA KAY VAN DYKE
1965 Miss America

When I was visiting the New York World's Fair, a cute little girl of about 8 tugged at my skirt and asked:

"Do you wear glasses?"
"No, I don't," I told her. "Why?"

"Cause," she said "your eyes look like they hurt."

The truth of the matter was VONDA KAY that they did hurt. I had just flown back from appearances in Japan, Hawaii and California and the time changes made it almost impossible for me to get much sleep.

The little girl reminded me of a poem by Lottie Pratt Brown I have pasted on the inside cover of my Bible. It begins:

"You don't have to tell how you live each day,
"You don't have to say if you work or play,
"A tried and true barometer serves in the place,
"However you live, it will show in your face."

As I travel around the country, I know that people — especially young people — are watching me closely. I try to set a good example not only as Miss America, but for something more important: my Christian faith.

The first big opportunity came on the final night of the Miss America Pageant before an estimated television audience of 80 million, when Emcee Bert Parks asked me this question:

"I understand you always carry a Bible with you. Do you consider your Bible a good luck charm?"

I answered that I didn't consider it a good luck charm, but the most important Book I own. I went on to say that "I believe in God, trust in Him and seek His will."

THOUSANDS KNOW
Since that time I have had a point of identification with thousands of people, many of whom have told me what Christ has done in their lives.

Like the woman at an automobile show recently. The radiance on her face told me of her strong faith before she spoke.

Her warm smile supported the truth of that poem in my Bible. Though these are three stanzas, the very last couplet says it all:

"If you live close to God and His infinite grace,
"You don't have to tell, it shows on your face."

Next: Mary Jane Mitchell tells how when she was alone at 16 in a large city, a "touch of beauty" transformed her life. (From the magazine Guideposts and copyright, 1964, by Guideposts Associates, Inc. Carmel, N.Y. Distributed by The Register and Tribune Syndicate.)

Griffin Trying to Spend Time in State

By Esther Van Wagener Tufty
WASHINGTON... Can a congressman be in two places at the same time?

That's about what Robert Griffin, R-Traverse City, is trying to do in dividing his time between Washington and Michigan in his campaign for the seat of Sen. Pat McNamara, who is not seeking reelection.

His plan, he says, is to spend three days in Washington on his job representing the 9th Congressional District of Michigan and the rest of the week back home where the votes are.

He's aware this schedule of setting up his organization in every county may be abruptly broken by a rush back to the Capital to vote on some key issue it would not be good politics to skip.

As the underdog, he must put on an extensive campaign. Even before the Republican

VIPs picked him as the "preferred candidate" in Lansing, the 42-year-old Republican knew he "would have a tough fight" no matter which Democrat, no less mentioned, runs against him.

After Democrat McNamara bowed out, Griffin said: "In a way I am glad I will not be running against Pat McNamara... needless to say we have disagreed many times but through it all I have gained a great deal of respect for that hard-working Irishman who made it all the way to the most exclusive club in the world."

NO DECISION YET

As this is written former Gov. G. Mennen Williams has not made up his mind about running but he's making noises in conferences with leading Democrats like a candidate.

Don't Spin Wheels for Auto Plates

It seems as though we're continually facing deadlines — and Monday will do nothing to change the pattern.

It's the last day that you can legally drive your automobile with 1965 license plates.

Last year, 60,000 licenses are issued locally and the volume is running at a higher rate this year. So-o-o, if you're one of the laggards, be ready on the 28th to get yourself in good standing with the State of Michigan.

In applying for plates at the branch office of the Secretary of State on E. Huron or other temporary places of issuance, you'll need this:

- A filled-in application blank.
- Current car registration or title.
- Proof of auto liability insurance on your present car. This can be a certificate of proof from your insurance company or a valid policy.
- Cash or a certified check for license fee, plus $1 if you have liability insurance, $35 if you do not.

A word to the wise may be sufficient in many cases, but in this one even the wise must have new plates.

American Spirit Shown by Nazi's Defender

What could possibly move a New York Jewish lawyer to act as defense counsel for America's No. 1 neo-Nazi, GEORGE ROCKWELL?

To many of his fellow Jews, MARTIN BERGER's representing of ROCKWELL on a charge of inciting to violence is an outright betrayal of his religion.

But BERGER, who lost 30 relatives in the Nazi holocaust in Europe and would stand to lose those he has left should men like ROCKWELL ever come to power in America, simply points to ROCKWELL's constitutional right to express his views, however much BERGER or anyone else abhors them.

What else is this but a practical illustration of the real meaning of that much-misused word "Americanism" — a fresh application of the same ideals that moved John Adams to defend British soldiers involved in the "Boston Massacre" in 1770?

Ironically enough, ROCKWELL himself put his finger on another truth. "If there were more Jews like you," he told BERGER, "I'd be out of business."

Though he may not have intended it, what he really said was: Hate thrives only on hate.

March 31 Lowers Boom on Elders' Health Boon

Oldsters should be warned that time's a-wasting for enrollment in the voluntary medical insurance under Medicare. The deadline is March 31.

By last count, only 54 per cent of eligibles—10.1 million—had signed up for the $3-a-month program that pays 80 per cent of medical service wherever administered.

This program is, of course, in addition to the basic free Medicare which automatically covers those 65 or over, and is by any standard a bargain that none can afford to ignore.

It is estimated that the total Medicare package—hospitalization plus the voluntary medical coverage—would cost $18 a month from a private insurer.

But if you were 65 or over before Jan. 1 and do not sign up by March 31, you will be unable to do so until October of 1967 — 18 months later. For those reaching 65 on Jan. 1 or later the enrollment period runs from three months before the MONTH of your birthday until three months after.

Those to whom the March 31 deadline applies and delinquent because of failure to enroll by that date will not only pay the time penalty of the 18-month interim before the next enrollment opportunity. They will also pay a 10 per cent higher premium for each year in which they fail to enroll. After a lapse of three years they cannot enroll at all.

All in all, Uncle Sam is offering senior citizens a comprehensive hospital-medical package at a cost of 10 cents a day. For millions, it's the chance of a lifetime.

N. Viet Hard-Liners in Control

By SPENCER DAVIS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Communist North Viet Nam evidently has had its own closed-circuit version of the U.S. policy debate on the course of the Vietnamese war.

The hard-liners in Hanoi who refuse negotiations appear firmly in control.

Expert analysts say they cannot tell if there is any real split within the government of 76-year-old President Ho Chi Minh that goes beyond immediate tactics.

But there is no doubt of the stern public rebuke administered earlier this month by party theoretician Le Duc Tho to what he called "a number of comrades who have developed erroneous thoughts and views."

"They entertain subjectivism and pacifism," complained Tho. "They display pessimism and fail to realize clearly the deceptive peace negotiation plot of the enemy."

LACK OF NAMES

While striking out at the doubters and waverers, Le Duc Tho mentioned no names.

Experts believe there are at least three or four in the top ranks of Hanoi's hierarchy and assume that there may be 20 or 40 more scattered through the second echelon of leaders.

It is known here that Alexander Shelepin, the secretary of the powerful Soviet Central Committee, left Hanoi in mid-January after a visit without feeling there was any room for the moderates.

It is also known here that at no time during or since the 37-day pause in U.S. bombing of North Vietnamese targets has the North Vietnamese leadership shown any difference in approach that might encourage negotiations.

PRO-CHINESE

Inside Ho's politburo, the pro-Chinese element is believed led by Truong Chinh, 58. He is the militant chief ideologist of the Communist party.

He played a leading role in establishing the revolutionary government and was a member of the North Vietnamese delegation to the 1954 Geneva conference.

Ten years ago, he fell into disgrace for his handling of a land reform program but reappeared after a short eclipse of two years.

Ranking second to Ho in the party hierarchy is Le Duan, 58, the first secretary of the central committee.

PRO-SOVIET

He is said to be pro-Soviet rather than pro-Chinese. Nevertheless, he is one of the driving forces behind the Viet Cong in South Viet Nam.

Le Duan and Le Duc Tho have been bitter rivals for more than a decade.

They headed competing Communist groups in South Viet Nam during the war that preceded the 1954 Geneva agreement.

Also counted in the pro-Soviet team is Prime Minister Van Dong. He headed North Viet Nam's delegation to the Geneva conference in 1954 and 1962.

The POWER of FAITH By WOODIE ISHMAEL

The Rev. Henry A. Peck of the West Dover Congregational Church of West Dover, Vt., has taken his ministry to skiers. Each Sunday morning from Christmas to Easter he conducts a service at the Base Lodge, Mt. Snow Ski and vacation resort in Vermont.

Mr. Peck gives full credit for the idea to a small dedicated group of lay men who make up the permanent membership of his church. They felt that the church should "be taken to the people." Mr. Peck is assisted in the services by his wife, who plays the accordion for the hymns. The skiers also take active parts in leading the responsive readings and reading the Scripture lessons.

Mr. Peck says, "The response has been most gratifying. This is truly an inter-denominational service. We are always aware of the small group of people who had a vision of Christian service, and who did something about it."

Religion in America:

Books Offer Thoughts for Lent

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

One of the best ways to observe Lent is to read a book that will jar you into doing a little fresh thinking about God.

Of the hundreds of new books available for Lenten reading this year, the one I recommend most highly is a novel, "Tell No Man" by Adela Rogers St. John (Doubleday).

Miss St. John is a superb craftsman, as she proved during her long career as a newspaper reporter and magazine writer. In this, her first novel, she has focused her talent as a story-teller on a provocative question:

What would happen if a personable young man from a wealthy, socially-prominent Catholic family were to undergo a mystical experience as vivid and unmistakably real as St. Paul's vision of Christ on the road to Damascus?

In working out the answer, Miss St. John shows with merciless clarity how respectability has supplanted faith in many parts of America's religious establishment. But as soon as you begin feeling morally superior to clergymen who don't believe the gospel they're paid to proclaim, Miss St. John confronts you with disturbing questions about just how far you are prepared to trust the promises of Christ.

Aside from the fact that it deals intelligently and sensitively with religious questions, this is a highly entertaining novel with swift narrative pace, a good love story, and well-realized characters, including the most fascinating heroine I've encountered in recent fiction.

In the realm of non-fiction, my nominations for Lenten reading begin with "God Is Not Dead" by the noted Oxford theologian, Dr. Austin Farrer (Morehouse-Barlow). As the title indicates, this is an antidote to some of the nonsense which is being dished up these days in the name of theology.

Dr. Farrer has a rare ability to deal with theological questions on the highest intellectual level without confusing the ordinary lay reader. If you haven't already read it, I also commend his brief but brilliant discussion of essential Christian doctrines, "Saving Belief," which was published last year (Morehouse-Barlow).

Another book on Christian doctrine, which would be admirably suited for use by Lenten discussion groups, is "The Scandal of Christianity" by Emil Brunner. This classic work by one of the greatest theologians of the century is newly available in an inexpensive paperback (John Knox Press). It deals with five Christian doctrines which have become "stumbling blocks to modern man" — historical revelation, the concept of a triune God, original sin, mediation and the resurrection.

Of the many books of meditations and devotions that were timed for the Lenten season, two deserve particular notice.

"The Prison Meditations of Father Del" (MacMillan) is a paperback edition of a book which deserves a much wider audience than the hardcover version received three years ago. Fr. Alfred Delp, a Jesuit priest, was executed by the Nazis in early 1945 because of his opposition to Hitler.

He was a Catholic counterpart of the Protestant martyr Dietrich Bonhoeffer, and these meditations, written in the very shadow of the gallows, have the same spiritual intensity, the same uncompromising honesty, that characterizes Bonhoeffer's widely-admired "letters and papers from prison."

"The Magnificent Defeat" (Seabury) is a new book of meditations by Frederick Buechner, Presbyterian minister at Phillips Exeter Academy and author of several successful novels. This is prose so beautifully written that it verges on poetry. Yet it wrestles with sweaty contemporary problems, including the problem of those who want to believe and can't.

Dr. Henry P. Van Dusen, president emeritus of Union Theological Seminary, calls it "the most inspiring book which has come into my hands within recent memory."

The Associated Press is entitled exclusively to the first two paragraphs of this column as well as all AP news dispatches.

The Pontiac Press is delivered by carrier for 30 cents a week where mailed in Oakland, Geneva, Livonia, Warren, and Westland, Mich. All other places in the United States $3.00 a year. Voice of the People:
Reader Questions Laws on Ambulance Operation

Now that there has been a fatal accident here involving an ambulance, the question should arise "Is it necessary to break speed limits, run red lights and sound sirens to get an ill or injured person to the hospital?" Two well-qualified physicians have stated that it is not necessary.

What are the State laws and City ordinances governing these practices? Most drivers know they are supposed to pull over to the curb upon seeing or hearing an approaching ambulance, but it isn't always possible.

There are many dedicated men driving and riding local ambulances, but these questions should be discussed.

SAFETY FIRST

'We're Living in Age of Irresponsibility'

The letter "Emphasis is on Rights, Not on Responsibilities" clearly defined our situation. We are living in an age of irresponsibility, protection of the criminal, disregard of the victim, and a complete mockery of justice. This not a situation that just happened. It was made that way by people. We should remember this at election time.

NON-PARTISAN

'We Need Conservation Personnel Change'

The Conservation Department has used every excuse to get out of being blamed for the slaughter of deer. Now they are double-talking. At a meeting in Lapeer a member of the department made a statement on the conditions of the herd and said the opposite at a meeting in Romulus.

We need not only a stoppage of deer killing but also a change of personnel so that we can get back to conservation.

MATT C. MERSINO JR.

We hunters believe that the policies of the Conservation Commission should be modified. We want a moratorium on shooting of antlerless deer so that the herd has a chance to come back. Future antlerless kills should be permitted only when it is certain an area is overbowed.

The growing population and favorable economic conditions in our State have placed a heavy pressure on our deer herd and the herd may grow smaller due to these factors. This condition should eliminate the necessity of the Commission issuing antlerless kill permits.

Comments on Speakers Who Insult America

It was deplorable to have Communist Herbert Aptheker speaking at the universities and even a church in the area. Also, a left-wing college student was allowed to address Walled Lake High School students.

There are films and speakers available for our students without settling for people who insult us as Americans and our government. What are our children going to be taught patriotism and "old-fashioned" values associated with love of our country?

American parents should demand that speakers assailing our country be kept out of tax-supported institutions and ask for time to present the American viewpoint. A film such as "The Truth About Communism" should be required to be shown in all high schools. Can't we demand equal time to oppose these treasonous speakers?

'Families Have Difficulty Renting Houses'

How do landowners expect the middle class people to pay high rents? They say they can't get men to work in Pontiac area. There are many just like us who have to leave and find employment where we can find housing.

Most landlords won't rent if you have children but they should remember that a few parents who don't raise their children to respect the property of others make it hard for everyone.

What about all the empty government homes? Why can't we rent them? There would not be as much property damage.

Women Voters Favor 'One Man, One Vote'

The League of Women Voters of Pontiac have urged Senators Hart and McNamara to oppose the Dirksen amendment, the proposal which would allow state legislatures to be apportioned on factors other than population. The local group is joining with leagues all over the country to put into action recent nationwide league consensus favoring the population standards for apportioning both houses of state legislatures.

The League position on apportionment stresses the conviction that population is the "fairest and most equitable way of assuring that each man's vote is of equal value."

Agrees We Need State-Operated Lotteries

Mrs. Hampton has a good idea about state-operated lotteries, as people of all ages enjoy a game of bingo. Let those who enjoy other forms of gambling do so legally and let the State divide the revenue among the cities and towns in Michigan. This would give needed money to make communities beautiful and sanitary—such as Pontiac's needed storm sewers. How about it, Mr. Les Hudson?

Discusses Policy on Peaceful Coexistence

I was shocked by President Johnson's statement in his State of the Union message: "Your government is now exploring ways to increase peaceful trade with these countries (of eastern Europe) and with the Soviet Union." Did he forget that scrap iron sold to Japan in the 30s came back in the form of bullets and bombs on our boys at Pearl Harbor?

If you are concerned about our government's policy of "peaceful coexistence," write Mother's Crusade for Victory Over Communism, PO Box 943, Mesa, Arizona.

Junior Editors Quiz on MAGNETS

QUESTION: If mercury is a metal, why can't a magnet pick it up?

ANSWER: It's true that mercury is a metal even though we commonly see it in liquid form. But mercury does not belong to the ferro-magnetic group of metals.

Ferrous means pertaining to iron, and iron is the chief metal affected by magnetism, others being nickel and cobalt.

This is why the mercury in the thermometer is paying no attention to Jimmy's magnet, while the iron nails are hanging by their heads.

While iron is the chief metal used in making magnets, it is often combined with other ferromagnetic metals in what are called alloys.

There is still much to be learned about magnetism. Many scientists, however, explain it by the idea that the minute molecules in iron are all jumbled together, but when they are magnetized, they are then lined up in orderly rows.

Then, these scientists say, they can exert an attraction altogether, for each molecule attracts others.

This group attraction can reach out beyond the magnetized metal and do strange things, like picking up nails.

FOR YOU TO DO: Become familiar with magnets and magnetism. You'll be amazed to find the great extent to which magnets are used in our modern world.

Bids to Block Negro

ATLANTA (UPI) — State Rep. Jones Lane started a new fight Friday to keep Negro civil rights leader Julian Bond from taking a seat in the Georgia Legislature no matter how many times he may be elected to office.

"I haven't got a thing against Mr. Bond personally," Lane said. "It's just that his ideas are repugnant to the oath he is required to take to defend the constitutions of Georgia and the United States."

Lane's latest move was to file a petition contesting Bond's victory in a special election to fill his vacancy in the Georgia House.

The lawmaker led the fight on the opening day of the 1966 general assembly on Jan. 10 to oust Bond from his seat because of his strong views against the war in Viet Nam and his expressed admiration for draft card burners.

Bond contested that move before a special three-judge Federal panel and lost.

Detroit Brawl Hospitalizes 3

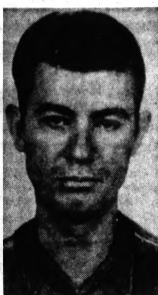

DETROIT (AP)—A policeman was knifed, a man was shot and a third person was beaten in a fight outside an east side Detroit bar early today.

Patrolman Donald Wandzell, 28, was admitted to General Hospital with a knife wound on his face. Also hospitalized were Willie Locklear, 24, of Hamtramck, with a grazing bullet wound, and his brother Welton, 26, who was beaten on the head.

The brothers were held on assault charges. Six other men were arrested.

Witnesses were quoted by police as saying Wandzell was wounded in a struggle with Willie Locklear and that Locklear in turn was shot by Wandzell's partner, Patrolman Rich Gatowski. None was in serious condition.

The fight reportedly started after the bar manager and police tried to persuade eight men to leave the establishment.

City Resident Sentenced for Stealing Car

A Pontiac man whose pregnant wife spent nearly four months in jail trying to protect him was sentenced yesterday to 2½-5 years in the state prison for stealing a car.

The sentence was imposed on Dallas Goff, 28, of 1248 Parkway by Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziern. Goff was convicted by a jury Feb. 3.

His wife, Diane, 21, was released last week from the Detroit House of Correction after it was learned during Goff's trial that she had not been involved in the theft.

Pontiac police said that Mrs. Goff apparently pleaded guilty to the crime to shift the blame from her husband.

Circuit Judge William J. Beer, who had sentenced Mrs. Goff in October, dismissed the case after police and an assistant prosecutor explained the circumstances.

Goff was found guilty of stealing the car from 82 Baldwin last September.

For years policemen have sought the leather jackets, with zip-in fleece linings. They say they're warmer, longer-wearing, and are better protection against blows or flying objects.

CURIOSITY

The absence of curiosity has killed the mentality of many, many men.

True, you can get at least your nose, if not your neck, trimmed by poking into other people's business indiscriminately. But if you control your curiosity with judgment, you will meet more people, find them interesting and friendly.

Controlled curiosity permits you to indicate interest in people. Look at a man's place of business, his home, the pictures on the wall, or the emblem on his lapel. All these things demonstrate his interest in something. People love to talk about themselves, give them the opportunity, as the result of your controlled curiosity, and you will find a friend.

Used-Brick Ranch Of The Louis H. Schimmels Jr. Found On Woodbine Drive, Waterford Township

Sleigh Bells Add to Home's Theme

By JODY HEADLEE
Home Editor, The Pontiac Press

The rhythmic repetition of a soft musical trill, interrupted by happy baby chuckles, means one thing at the home of the Louis H. Schimmels Jr.—year old Amy is enjoying her favorite sport, jiggling the family room coffee table.

The table, created from one half of a pine blacksmith's bellows, has on its top a set of antique sleigh bells that sings out its melody with the slightest movement.

Amy's also discovered that the bellows' air holes are perfect for tiny fingers to explore.

A shades-of-blue braided rug with highlights of red, green, gold brown and beige centers the paneled and beamed room.

The wing-back sofa is upholstered in a shades-of-blue on gray tapestry. A gold throw pillow introduces an interesting touch of color.

Before the used-brick fireplace is an antique ice cream bucket now serving as a wood box.

Louvered folding doors lead into the adjoining living room.

White walls, white antique satin draperies and scarlet carpeting set the background for the colonial furnished room.

Before the room's sofa, upholstered in an Early American print of blue on gray, stands a wagon wheel coffee table.

"My husband and I made it," said Mrs. Schimmel. "He did the work and I supervised."

"I'll have to confess though, I borrowed the idea from my twin sister, Martha."

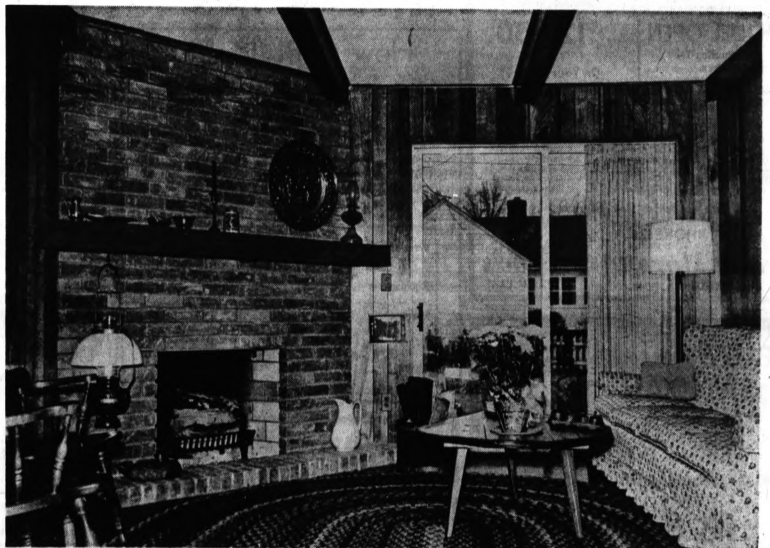

The wheel hub, painted a flat black, has been converted into a planter.

Plant specimens are flourishing in a German greenhouse, thanks to a unique "spin in the sun" tower.

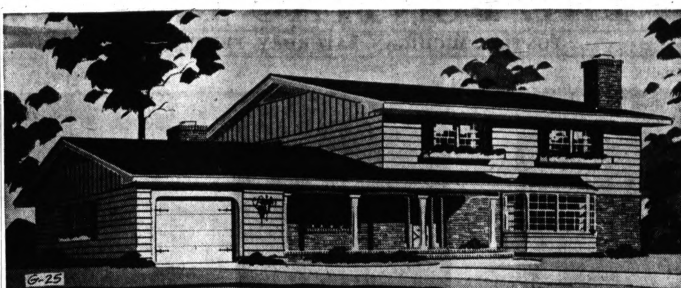

The seedlings are placed on a conveyor belt that moves continually along the inside walls of a 75-foot, plastic-skinned, circular tower.

The trip also takes them past a work station where attendants examine, treat and water them as necessary.

LOOK OF COMFORT — This three-bedroom, two-story house has a homey appearance that seems to place emphasis on comfort, time-tested structured features and no gimmicks; inside, it utilizes all the modern conveniences for easy living.

Family Room Gets 'Up-Front' Location

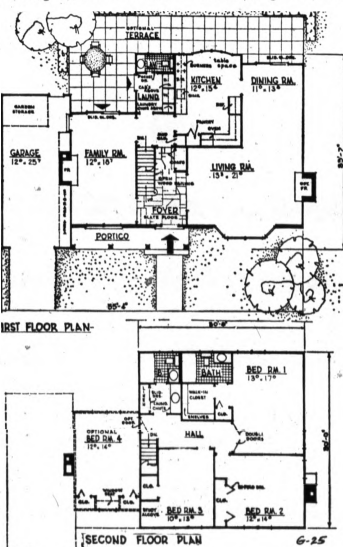

An interesting change appears to be developing in the location of the family room in the modern house.

The increased demand for this room — and the fact that it is used to a greater degree, not only by the immediate family but by guests — makes it desirable that it be placed near the front foyer.

It is still important, however, that it have direct access to the rear terrace or yard because of the family activity that takes place there.

A typical example of an excellent circulation plan involving the family room is seen in Design G-25, a two-story residence created by architect Herman H. York for House of the Week.

The family room is to the left of the entrance foyer, has sliding glass doors to the rear terrace and can be reached from the kitchen in a few steps without crossing any other rooms.

FLOOR PLANS: Excellent traffic circulation is quickly apparent, with entry to all sections of the first floor and to the bedrooms above from the large, slate-floored foyer.

Operation ClapboardOld Colonials Restored

A year ago the daughter of an English nobleman and her British husband became concerned that 18th century colonial houses were fast becoming degenerate slums.

The waterfront of old Newport was filthy. Children played in dirty streets and six and eight families crowded into gabled houses meant for one.

"Long ago we said to ourselves, 'Somebody has got to do something to save these historic houses,'" says Lt. Col. C. D. L. Pepps.

"But no one did. One day we couldn't stand it any longer. 'We got some of our friends together and decided to pool our money.'"

"The plan was to restore the 18th Century, forgotten Newport. Not a new idea by any means, but something people only talked about."

OPERATION CLAPBOARD
This was the beginning of Operation Clapboard.

Pepps is a soft-spoken Londoner, now a year-round resident of Newport, who runs a men's shop.

He and his wife, Nadine, daughter of Lord and Lady Camille of London, live in a stylish old home off fashionable Bellevue Avenue.

The purpose of Operation Clapboard, says Mrs. Pepps, is to encourage interested residents to buy the historic homes, renovate them, and live in them.

"We hope to make this a residential area," she says. "Progress is wonderful."

In a year, the Pepps and their friends have bought the owners on 32 clapboard houses and sold them to interested persons from New York to Detroit.

"We have a waiting list for houses," says Mrs. Pepps. "We can't buy them fast enough."

LAND VALUES UP
Land values in the waterfront area are going up. When Operation Clapboard started, the Pepps bought homes at $3,000 to $5,000.

Now, they say, homes in the area are going up to $7,000 and in another year, they predict it will go up to $10,000.

The area is beginning to resemble the well-kept colony known in the 1700s.

The home of Commodore Oliver Hazard Perry, War of 1812 naval hero, recently was bought to be renovated and given to the Newport Preservation Society for public viewing.

The Perry home has been used in recent years as a corner store and is deserted and broken down.

"One of the most delightful things that has happened," says Mrs. Pepps, "is that other residents in the area are prouder of their homes now."

"There's painting and fixing up being done, even on homes not under Operation Clapboard."

PETER SIMON'S HOUSE
Polly Foley and her husband Robert, consulting architect for Operation Clapboard, moved into a 1727 house called the Peter Simon's House a year ago.

Polly says they love it. "There's a great deal to do yet. One room is still shut off, but it's wonderful. I want my baby to grow up here."

Another Clapboard resident is John Benson, owner of an empty 1740 home. Benson's no gap where the tables join.

They have about 200 houses yet to go and aren't one bit dismayed.

"Nadine works on this every day and we have all sorts of letters and calls."

"Response is amazing. We might even live there ourselves," says Pepps.

Rugs Made to Look At
Not Step On

In the days of ancient castles and sprawling baronial palaces, carpets and rugs were made to look at, not to walk on.

Often they hung on walls, lending a warm touch to blocks of medieval stone.

Today carpets add warmth and beauty to the floor — and serve decoratively as wall hangings, too.

Homemakers are seeking new utility as well as good appearance for their homes. They have come up with some ingenious and imaginative uses.

Carpets, especially, seem to be taking off in new dimensions of use about the home.

NEW FIBER
A new fiber, Herculon olefin, has excited interest in the carpet world.

Made by Hercules Powder Co., fibers are better able to resist moisture, dirt and stains; soft floorcoverings are being used on kitchen floors, nurseries and even bathrooms.

Since fibers such as olefin do not absorb moisture, the carpeting can be laid wall-to-wall without worry.

Carpets are also blossoming forth as colorful wall hangings in elegant living rooms and dens.

When used in music rooms, wall-hung carpets help improve acoustics while providing an interesting focal point of color.

Today's soft-surface floorcoverings, especially in the new test-tube fibers, are virtually spreading through the house.

They answer the need for coverings that are tough yet beautiful.

Practical, fanciful, luxuriously-looking but not exorbitantly high-priced, homemakers are more and more often starting their decorating schemes from the floor up.

A final attention-getter for carpets is on the stairs.

Homemakers are dressing-up their stairs by alternating carpet corners on each step.

Tie Tables Together for Serving Facility

When you need a long serving table, tie together the neighboring legs of two card tables.

The tightly and well be chattering 1740 home. Benson's no gap where the tables join.

Make It Clean, Dry and Smooth

Ready Wall Surface Before Painting

Make it clean, make it smooth and make it dry. Before you paint indoor walls make certain the surfaces are properly prepared and neither labor nor materials will be wasted.

Surface preparation is as important indoors as out. Outdoors durability is the most important consideration.

Indoors, walls will not be subjected to wind and weather but they will be subjected to closer scrutiny and streaks and tiny cracks will mar appearance.

Therefore care and neatness are needed, as well as thoroughness.

The surface must be clean. Putting paint over a coating of dirt is useless. In a matter of time it will crack and peel.

Remember that in order for paint to adhere properly it must penetrate the surface.

SAVE STEPS—This open floor plan is designed for informal, modern living. The fireplace, card table and TV set make this living room a pleasant place to relax or entertain friends. A convenient pass-through to the kitchen contributes to the step-saving plan. Woodgrain paneling on the main walls harmonizes with the Early American decor and island fireplace.

Frozen Furniture; Decorator's Dread

A piece of furniture that fits a certain spot exactly can become an immovable object. If you are shopping for an entire room's furnishings, keep in mind that you will want to shift them around for different effects later on. Frozen furniture arrangements can become dull and boring.

Certain elements of any decorating scheme, however, are more permanent in arrangement and require as much attention from a prospective purchaser as does furniture. These are the coverings for the floor, walls and ceiling.

One long-standing philosophy on decorating the stationary objects is that they should all be neutral in color and design to accommodate the furnishings. More recently homeowners have begun to regard walls and floors, especially, as integral parts of the decorating scheme.

Start Planning Now for Swimming Pool

Now is the time to start making plans if yours is one of the 60,000 American families expected to build swimming pools this year.

Pool design normally is determined by the style of the home, contour of the yard, and the extent the pool is to be used. Equally important is the material used in a pool.

Most desirable, of course, are durable materials that require a minimum of upkeep. Ceramic tile is preferred around the water line because it's almost indestructible and easy to keep clean. It can't be harmed by water or sun. Just an occasional quick wipe with a damp cloth will keep it looking sparkling new.

At the end of 1965 there will be nearly 650,000 swimming pools in the U.S. Of these, 450,000 will be residential.

An occasional rub with glycerin will keep hot water bottles from cracking.

An ideal cleaning compound is trisodium phosphate. It cleans off dirt, cuts grease and does not leave a soapy film.

Paint stores carry it by its proper name but you can find it in grocery stores, under a variety of trade names, among cleaning compounds.

Just check the package for the list of ingredients.

Another advantage of this cleaner is that it will dull glossy paint, a necessary job to give the new paint a grip on the old.

Don't make the solution too strong or it will soften the paint. Be certain to rinse thoroughly.

Plastered surfaces should be inspected for cracks and chipped spots. Patch with spackling compound, sand smooth and spot prime.

NEW PLASTER
New plaster is alkaline due to the lime that is in it. If you plan to use an oil paint you must neutralize this alkaline condition first.

Brush on a solution of one pound of zinc sulphate to a gallon of water. Allow to dry for several days.

Should you, or should you not, paint over wallpaper? Conditions will differ. Generally, loose or heavy wallpaper should be removed.

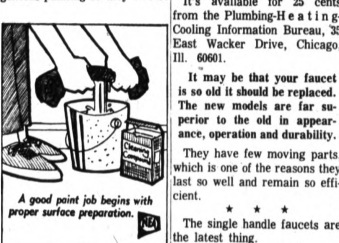

Wallpaper with lapped joints should be removed because the ridges will show. If the wallpaper is sound and there are no ridges then you may paint over it.

Before you paint over the paper, test it to make certain that the inks or dyes in it will not bleed through. Try a little of the paint in some inconspicuous corner.

If it bleeds but you still wish to paint over the wallpaper you will have to seal it with several thin coats of shellac.

Loose paint should be removed and the area sanded and primed. Sand the edges so they do not show through.

Apply several thin coats of paint to these spots before the general painting so they will be as high as the surrounding surface.

Glossy surfaces should be dulled with a strong cleaning solution or by sanding. Wipe thoroughly afterward to remove the dust.

If your walls are of wallboard, make sure that all joints are properly taped, filled and sanded.

Spackle over any nailheads that show, and sand.

Woodwork should be sanded smooth and clean. If the wood is new, seal knots with shellac before painting.

Paint in a well-ventilated room. Remove as much furniture as possible.

Cover everything with drop cloths and use plenty of masking tape to protect surrounding surfaces.

Faucet Drip Sleep Robber

A dripping faucet can rob you of sleep because it sounds so loud in the quiet hours of the night. But that isn't all you lose.

Even a pinhole-sized drip can waste over a gallon of water an hour. Multiply that by 24 hours a day, then 365 days a year, and you'll see how much water goes down the drain.

This means that you're also pouring money down the drain through increased water and fuel bills. If you live in a water-short community, you're also contributing to the water supply problems of your area.

A leaky faucet is usually easy to fix, because nine times out of 10 the trouble is a worn-out washer. How to replace a washer is just one of the dozens of tips contained in a booklet titled "Plumbing Care and Repair."

It's available for 25 cents from the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau, 35 East Wacker Drive, Chicago, Ill. 60601.

It may be that your faucet is so old it should be replaced. The new models are far superior to the old in appearance, operation and durability.

They have few moving parts, which is one of the reasons they last so well and remain so efficient.

The single handle faucets are the latest thing.

You can inspect a large variety of available types in the store of your local plumbing contractor.

Sew together three or four matching floral-patterned terry bath towels, solid colored ones or even striped ones, for a pretty, easy-to-wash, no-iron, long-wearing picnic table cover.

Planning Important to Women

What do women want in a home? A national survey brings out some mighty interesting facts which should be a guide line for house builders and architects.

First, they want homes with basements. You should hear the complaints of the ladies who cuss out the slab floors as hard on their feet.

They want good neighborhood planning with curved streets, distance between homes, better landscaping.

They want three entrances: front, back and from garage. They want a full garage with plenty of storage space, not a carport. They want a big kitchen, which is the most lived in room in the house.

ADDITIONAL STORAGE
They want a separate dining room which could seat 12 or more. And they want this room designed with concealed built-ins and wood paneled walls.

They want a pantry, showing the need for additional storage. They want bigger bedrooms with extra emphasis on size in the master bedroom. They want lots of windows all over the house.

High on the list of wants is outdoor living space, with a majority favoring decks. Wood decks seem to be the most popular because they are inexpensive, easy to keep clean, cool in the summer and a handsome addition to most homes. These are what the ladies are demanding and the little woman generally gets her way.

Heating System Needs Checking to Avoid Fires

Unfortunately, winter time is fire time. And homeowners with poor or badly maintained heating systems are prime targets for such sudden tragedy.

The chimney is a common source of potential home fires. If coal is the fuel burned, the chimney steadily builds up a layer of soot. When the chimney "burns out," the soot catches fire, sending out a shower of sparks to fall on the floor.

If the roof is not fireproof, it may ignite, especially during a dry period. The best way to guard against this type of flash fire is to have the chimney cleaned periodically to remove its accumulation of soot.

Adequate controls to prevent overheating are vital in preventing flash fires traceable to the chimney. Controls usually are thought of as a means to achieve uniform temperature for maximum comfort. In addition, however, they also serve to protect the house against excessively high temperatures due to prolonged combustion.

63% of American families are homeowners!

We Trade and Exchange!
This represents an increase of 20% since 1960! The reason for this rapid increase is quite simple. Real estate prices are stabilizing, buyers may choose from a wide selection of houses, and favorable terms are being offered by mortgage lenders with ample funds to loan. Perhaps it's time that you consider the advantages of home ownership! Chances are, your monthly payments might even be less than you are presently paying for rent. We have several very attractive listings... some with low down payments. Make it a point to show them to you.

I HAVE PLEDGED:

I pledged on February 10, 1966 in letters to my neighbors in District 1 when I announced my candidacy for the District 1 City Commission nomination, that my campaign will be clean and not based upon personalities, hate within our District or City, racial or otherwise.

We must all, regardless of race, creed or color, poor or rich, work together to provide "Progress for Pontiac" and all of her citizens. We owe this to our families, our City, but most important to our young people who one day will occupy the seats of leadership in our City.

Sincerely,

Without Proper Preparation

Ambitious Dream Can Fail

Impulsive handymen are likely to get rambunctious come spring and that first crocus. By golly, they are going to make a winter dream or two come true.

And those dreams are ambitious. It could take a house-wrecking crew, because what the do-it-yourselfer would like to do is reconstruct his castle.

Everywhere he may see room for improvement—terrace, deck, patio, remove porch, build porch, remove driveway, build new driveway.

One can put oneself back by going forward so fast. If the handyman is artistic and can visualize results of these improvements, there is no problem.

When he thinks about removing a porch, he should be able to visualize his plans for a new facade.

PLAN FIRST
A plan should be made before anything is done. One way is to make sketches, but these must be accurate, realistic sketches.

Another way is to use large prints of photographs of the house as a guide. Draw or paint the new look on it. If the plan is to develop that look in easy stages, use several photographs with each stage depicted.

An architect is the answer for people with very ambitious plans. But many people shy away from architects because they feel the fee will break the bank.

Actually, a good architect can save you money. He is well worth his fee if you have long-range plans.

And the way to find a good architect is to observe a job that he has done. It doesn't cost anything to ask an architect how much he will charge, what he will do for the specified sum and where you can see an example of his work.

Some architects work on an hourly basis. You pay for the time it takes him and his staff to draw up plans. The rest is up to you.

Other architects prefer the percentage fee based on the cost of the project. For that fee, they make a plan, give advice while the project is under way and see that the plan is carried out properly.

ARCHITECTS
Architects say they prefer this method because some builders, carpenters and do-it-yourselfers have difficulty following architectural plans, and the bad results may reflect on the architect's prestige.

The difference between a smooth or a hodgepodge job can be in insignificant things. A great workman may not be an esthetic. It takes a trained eye to round off difficult spots.

Some houses are natural for remodeling. You can't ruin their lines by putting up a simple addition. But many houses, built at the turn of the century, present problems that must be dealt with by experts.

At the turn of the century, a great era of the haunted house look, homes were built on high foundations.

It takes a great deal of imagination to visualize dwellings without their porches, one reason why so many of these houses are still around in all their gingerbread glory.

These Victorian-style houses are very popular now as is and bring high prices.

If one wants to maintain the value of a Victorian-style home, one must think of it as an antique, even if he thinks it is monstrous.

LOWER VALUE
Touch it, and you may lower its value.

Little houses dotted the country in the early twenties and these are the easiest to improve because there isn't much to harm.

Porches may be ripped off

She Gives Up Abby for Lent; Columnist Hits New High

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have never written to you with a problem and I probably never will because I take all my problems to the Lord. I just wanted you to know that I wouldn't miss reading your column for the world. In fact, I enjoy reading DEAR ABBY so much, I gave it up for Lent.

ABBY

Sincerely yours,
LAURA C. SVENDSEN

DEAR ABBY: So many lonely women write to you, asking how to get a man to marry them. They say that men don't have marriage in mind.

Well, I was a bachelor for 44 years. I invited many women out to dinner, movies, concerts and sports events, and they were always tickled to go. They would say goodnight at the door, and that was all right with me as I never was the kind of man who expected anything more than the pleasure of a lady's company.

I took one little widow to a movie, and afterward she invited me into her small apartment. She went into her tiny kitchenette and came out with some home-made apple strudel and a cup of hot cocoa. It was delicious!

You have my word for it,

Party Set March 23 by OCDHS

Proceeds of the evening will defray expenses for special dental health projects in the county.

Tickets may be obtained no later than March 8 from: Pat Moar, 12003 Memorial, Detroit 27, Mich. Checks should be written payable to the Oakland County Dental Hygienists' Society.

when I saw that little woman in an apron, I knew then and there that I wanted her in my kitchen for the rest of my life.

JESS
DEAR JESS: Please ask the lady to send me her recipe for apple strudel. Many of my readers would find it valuable.

DEAR ABBY: Just when I am telling my 14-year-old daughter she may not have boys in the house when I am not home, YOU tell "WORKING MOTHER" she should let her 16-year-old daughter use her own judgment and expect the best of her.

I expect the best of my daughter, too, but I feel it's unfair to make a girl decide what is good and bad behavior in her own living room. My neighbors are not gossiping, but they would have every right to talk if they say my daughter entertaining boys in my absence.

As for the one hour limit you set, I assure you that many a girl has gotten into trouble in less time. I also feel the age of the girl does not matter in this case.

KENTUCKY MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: I believe that if we are to teach teenagers responsible behavior, we must let them use their own judgments occasionally, so we can evaluate their maturity.

Parents who have given their children sound moral values by example and teaching, need not worry. And I disagree with you.

Age DOES matter. Would you set the same rules for a 13-year-old as you would for a 19-year-old?

Troubled? Write to ABBY, care of The Pontiac Press. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hudsons Have Girl

Mr. and Mrs. James Hudson (Julie Hutchins) of Randall Lane announce the birth of a daughter, Heather Carol, on Feb. 11. Grandparents are Mrs. Sanborn Hutchins, West Long Lake Road, and Dr. and Mrs. J. Stewart Hudson of Grosse Pointe.

Study Teen Girl Behavior

ANN ARBOR — Most likely candidates for unwed motherhood are girls who lack adequate sex information, have no clear-cut job goals, and tend to feel themselves incompetent and unwed, a pair of University of Michigan researchers report.

Jean W. Butman and Jane A. Kamm of the University's Institute for Social Research in a study of students in four different high school districts found that lack of information does not necessarily prevent premarital sexual behavior, but may in fact contribute to it.

SUGGEST CLASSES

They recommend thorough marriage training and sex education courses for high school students, in addition to courses in child development and human psychology — subjects not usually included in high school curriculums.

Researchers Butman and Kamm, members of the Institute's Center for Research on Utilization of Scientific Knowledge, were supported in part by a Social Security Administration grant from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, and by a McGregor Fund Grant for Research on Delinquency.

Their report on "The Social, Psychological and Behavioral World of the Teen-Age Girl" concludes that "Girls who leave school are oriented to marriage as an immediate goal, are alienated from the reward system, and inactive in the various socializing activities of the school.

Not only is the potential drop out, whether for reasons of pregnancy or not, doing poorly academically, she is also likely to see little relevance between the school — its offerings or its demands — and her own future.

"We find that girls whose mothers have low educational attainment and who have established dysfunctional relationships with them in terms of identification and acceptance of control are more likely to get into trouble."

The researchers point out that there is an almost universal assumption in our culture that all girls will get married, and should. Vocational opportunities — either real or imagined — tend to be more limited for girls.

"In the absence of clear-cut and definite goals of getting a job, going to college, or developing some occupational identity outside of (or at least prior to) marriage, we would expect girls to be more prone to seeing themselves as ready for marriage and desiring to marry as soon as possible," the U-M investigators explain.

"MATE-SEEKING"
"This orientation to marriage as an immediate goal can lead the girl into mate-seeking activities while still in her teens, and may play an important part in her susceptibility to engaging prematurely in adult sexual behavior."

The "male-oriented, achievement-bound" system of the school can be coped with by most girls but, the Michigan researchers report, "we find consistently about 20 per cent of the non-sexually involved, non-drop-out high school girl population reporting patterns much like those of girls who leave school."

More support at home along with lack of involvement in a relationship with a boy which could offer escape are probably the major factors preventing these girls from also leaving school.

REJECT CONTROL

"All of these girls, potential drop-outs, potentially illicitly pregnant girls, and girls who engage prematurely in adult sexual behavior, are likely to have rejected the female model presented by their mothers, and to be rejecting of control by either parent."

There is evidence also that these girls are less apt to be regular church attenders, although, the investigators emphasize, frequency of church attendance does not necessarily imply acceptance or rejection of the church's ethical and moral standards.

Researchers Butman and Kamm say their study results imply that:

- Acceptance of and training for marriage as a legitimate and important "vocational" role, especially for girls, whether now or in the future, should be an important aspect of the high school educational system.

- Courses in child development, training in human relations, and human psychology should be moved out of the college and into the early years of high school if they are to benefit the girls most in need of help in these areas.

- Sound sex education, accompanied by open and honest discussions of male-female relationships, emotions, and consequences should be available and even mandatory for girls especially. The single most important factor here is accurate information accompanied by the involvement of the girls in development of personal standards, a sense of responsibility for her behavior, and an understanding of the emotional and psychological as well as the physiological concomitants of cross-sex relationships.

- The formal educational system should be ample explicitly relevant to the role of the girl as wife and mother, especially for the marriage-oriented girl. English, math, social studies, history, and so forth are all resources that the girl can profit from and can use to her children's advantage. But the importance of these subjects and their relevance as resources is rarely understood or recognized.

A Diamond's Value is Not Determined by Size Alone

It is only a beginning. There are four simple words - all beginning with the letter "C" - that explain the difference in diamonds.

COLOR is very important. The standard is clear white - like a drop of water. Lay the gems on a white cloth and compare them in a north light.

CUT affects brilliance. A diamond cut in proper proportions shows an equal distribution of light at all distances from the eyes. It refracts the rays, which hit the diamond, back through the top.

CLARITY also helps to determine value. Few diamonds are perfect, but, if tiny feathers or carbon spots can be seen only when the gem is magnified, don't worry too much about them.

CARAT is the unit of weight of a diamond - but important only after Color, Cutting and Clarity.

THE VALUATION OF A DIAMOND IS A TASK ONLY FOR AN EXPERT. WE TAKE PRIDE IN OUR KNOWLEDGE AND INTEGRITY

Church Group Aids Refugees

Two thousand self-exiled Nigerian refugees returning from Dahomey, where they had fled during violence in the western region of Nigeria prior to the fall of the Balewa government, have been supplied with food provided through Church World Service.

Responding to an appeal by the Nigerian Red Cross, Church World Service rushed 10,368 pounds of dried milk and 7,500 pounds of bulgur wheat to the Nigerian border village of Idiroko for distribution as the first returning refugees started passing through a center established by the government.

In the absence of other facilities, CWS rented commercial trucks to speed the food to this destination. CWS staff members made a further distribution of food from Idiroko to various entry points along the Nigerian-Dahomey border through which returning refugees passed. Their federal government had appealed to them to return.

Competition Sharp in Fund Campaign

BOILING SPRINGS, N.C. (AP) — A financial campaign for Gardner-Webb College here, a Baptist institution, resulted in some competition between a Roman Catholic and a Presbyterian over who would give the most.

The area campaign chairman, Charles Mauney, approached Harold R. Donahoe, a Catholic, and Richard R. Hawkins, a Presbyterian, both management consultants with a New Jersey firm. Each agreed to give $150.

Then Domenico, realizing his Presbyterian colleagues gift was equal to his, upped his pledge to $500.

Hearing of this, the Presbyterian raised his to $501. Mauney, the man who started it all is a Lutheran.

King Running Slum Dwelling

May Become Legal
Receiver for Building

CHICAGO (UPI) — Dr. Martin Luther King, in the first Northern thrust of his civil rights movement, may become a Chicago slum landlord.

That prospect emerged as a distinct possibility today after King assumed "trusteeship" of a slum apartment building and the building's reclusive owner appeared willing to let him become its legal receiver.

An attorney for John B. Bender, 41, said yesterday Bender will request that the Municipal Court appoint a receiver for the property.

"Mr. Bender will have no objection if the court decides to appoint Dr. King as receiver," attorney Fred D. Raskin said.

Three civil rights groups led by King "assumed trusteeship" of the three-story building without official authorization.

WOULD COLLECT RENT

King said the groups would collect rents from the five families living in the structure and use the money for building repairs, already in progress under direction of a King aide.

The city has filed suit in Municipal Court asking $4,000 a day in fines against Bender for 23 alleged building code violations. Bender now pays $18 a month on an $8,500 mortgage on the building.

Raskin said the request that a receiver be appointed will come March 9 when the city's suit comes before the court.

Twenty-three violations of the Chicago building code have been ascribed to the six-flat building. Only four of the flats are occupied, two by welfare recipients.

JOINS CRITICS

Mayor Richard J. Daley joined critics of King's action yesterday. He called the unauthorized take-over "illegal."

Daley said, "We recognize that there are legal and illegal ways of obtaining improvement in housing and living conditions."

"I think none of us is in favor of an illegal way," he said.

U.S. District Court Judge James B. Parsons, a Negro, said the action was "theft."

NO QUARREL

"I have no quarrel with civil disobedience of laws which reasonably may be expected to be found by the courts to be unconstitutional because they are discriminatory," Parsons said. "The laws that are involved here are not discriminatory and are just as important to Negroes as they are to others."

State's Amish Likely to Reject Iowa Plan

JACKSON (AP) — Michigan's Amish community probably will reject the type of temporary settlement reached by Iowa's Amishmen in their dispute with state school officials, a spokesman said Friday.

The Iowa Amish agreed two weeks ago to lease two one-room school houses to the public schools and to have them staffed by state certified teachers. The salaries of the teachers would be paid by a private foundation.

SIMILAR PROPOSAL
Attorney Maxwell F. Badgley, who represents a small Amish community near Camden, said the Iowa plan is similar to a proposal submitted to Amish leaders last September by the Michigan Department of Education. The only difference, said Badgley, is that the state would pay the salary in the Michigan plan.

"I haven't heard from the Amish for months," said Badgley. "But they wouldn't buy the proposal when it was submitted."

The Iowa settlement is temporary and awaits a permanent solution to be worked out by the Iowa State Legislature.

Thousands Greet Inmates

450 Political Prisoners Freed in Ghana

ACCRA, Ghana (AP) — Relatives cheered as Ghana's new military leaders released 450 political prisoners from Kwame Nkrumah's jails.

Thousands crowded around the massive Ussher Fort and other jails Friday to greet those coming out with kisses and tears. Many of the detainees were feeble and ill after years in prison.

Even as special policy loyal to Nkrumah put up a last-ditch stand at Accra's radio station, Lt. Gen. J.A. Ankrah, chief of the new National Liberation Council, appointed a seven-man group of experts to get Ghana's economy moving again.

The group included officials whose carefully laid economic plans the new regime said had been distorted or ignored by Nkrumah. Among them were Albert Adomakoh, head of the Bank of Ghana, R. S. Amegashie, and B. K. Mensah. The latter two were educated in the United States.

POLICE KILLED

A number of special police were reported killed during the battle at Broadcast House which, informants said, erupted during a visit there by Col. E. K. Kotoka. Kotoka is believed to have led the revolt that overthrew Nkrumah Thursday while the ousted leader was on a visit to Peking.

Otherwise the country was calm, but army and police pressed their hunt for officials of Nkrumah's Convention People's party which was outlawed after the coup.

Among those sought was Geoffrey Bing, 56, a left-wing British lawyer who has been Nkrumah's close friend and adviser since before independence in 1947. Some called him the power behind the ousted president. Another of the hunted was Kofa Batsa, editor of the weekly newspaper Spark.

The Ghanaian Times, formerly a special organ of the Convention People's party, quickly fell into line with the coup.

HUGE EMPIRE

"Where are the Hitlers and Mussolinis of yesterday who used the name of the people to try to build huge empires for themselves and their families?" the newspaper said in an editorial.

The army raided the Kwame Nkrumah Ideological Institute 40 miles outside Accra Friday and arrested the faculty. The students had fled.

In Washington, the State Department said the new military government had approached the American ambassador in Accra on the question of recognition. Press officer Robert J. McCloskey said it is "too early" to speak about recognition, and "it about things."

is too early to say" whether the military-coup can be regarded as successfully concluded.

DISPATCH FROM CHINA

A dispatch from Peking by the Soviet news agency Tass, said Nkrumah declared, "I am returning to Ghana soon." He ordered any of the armed forces engaged in the uprising to return to their barracks. But a dispatch from Cairo said it was considered likely the fallen president would go there to join his wife and children.

His Egyptian-born wife, Fatima Halem Nkrumah, 35, arrived in Cairo Friday and told newsmen she was worried about her husband but she expressed confidence he will "act in the right way in the present circumstances."

She, and the three Nkrumah children, Gamal, 9, Samia, 5, and Joh, 4, were flown out of Accra in an Egyptian airliner.

Mrs. Nkrumah told newsmen she was not mistreated by the rebels who took her to the Egyptian Embassy.

A Ghana Airways plane which took Nkrumah as far as Rangoon, Burma, on his way to Peking, returned to Accra Friday. Four men identified as members of the president's personal bodyguard were taken away by soldiers.

Ghanaian exile sources in Lagos, Nigeria, said the coup which toppled Nkrumah had been masterminded by an organization called the Ghana All Forces Inner Council, comprising members of the armed forces and police and set up five years ago.

Russian Defector Kills Self

NEW YORK (AP) — Since he defected from the Soviet Union in World War II, Victor A. Kravchenko lived in fear of assassination by Soviet agents.

His vigil by the window of his apartment caused his neighbors to joke that "Peter Martin," as he was known, must be a Russian spy.

He died by his own hand Friday, police said, in a sense a victim of the cold war.

Kravchenko, 61, author of the best-selling "I Chose Freedom," left a rambling note indicating despondency.

A friend, Robert St. Clair, said Kravchenko had been depressed about the American government's failure to take his advice on how to improve U.S.-Soviet relations, the war in Viet Nam and his own financial problems.

Kravchenko was a captain in the Soviet army assigned to a Soviet purchasing mission in Washington when he defected in 1944. He said in his autobiography and in testimony before a congressional committee that all Russians abroad are required to act as spies.

He shot himself in the right temple with a .38-caliber pistol he kept to protect himself. St. Clair discovered the wounded Kravchenko in his apartment on East 69th Street Friday morning and rushed him to the Lenox Hill Hospital, where he died.

St. Clair said Kravchenko did not like being alone and had spent Thursday night at the home of St. Clair's mother-in-law. Fear of being alone, said St. Clair, "was part of his general depression and unhappiness about things."

Those Barons of Bloomfield Hills are still strutting along in the Wayne-Oakland League. Preseason estimates of the Barons' chances of retaining basketball championship were nil, and the way the team opened the season made the guessing look good.

Hills dropped three of its first five league contests, but then stormed back to win nine in a row, coupling its streak with a 41-48 decision over Brighton last night that enabled the Barons to share the title with Northville.

Northville, back in the championship circle for the first time since 1961-62, squeezed past West Bloomfield in a game that went down to the wire, 49-46.

For Hills' coach Hal Henderson, in his third year with the Barons, the title is his third and his W-O foes are trying to figure out today how to get the championship away from him.

Henderson and the Barons shared the crown with Clarkson two years ago. Last year they sat on top alone. And this year, they divide it with Northville.

Hills rolled to a 28-25 half-time lead in a loosely-played first half, but the team righted itself in the second half with the help of a couple of benchwarmers.

Ron McGreggan, who came on late in the second quarter, and Bob Calhoun gave the Barons the spark they needed to slow down the visiting Brighton five.

McGreggan collected only seven points and Calhoun eight, but Henderson praised their floor play in keeping the attack running smoothly.

Dave Robillard led the Barons scoring attack with 22 points and Bruce Hall contributed 13. Rick Musch added 13 for the losers.

West Bloomfield's upset plans went awry when the team went cold at the charity line.

The Lakers had numerous opportunities to move out in front of Northville, but they couldn't connect on the free throw, missing 12 of 20 attempts, many of them coming in a one-and-one situation where making the first lets the player try for a second.

Northville started strong in taking a 16-9 first quarter lead, but the Lakers tightened their defense and pulled within three at halftime, 24-21.

It was 40-36 after three quarters, but West Bloomfield faded back to tie the score at 44-44 with 3:47 remaining.

A couple of quick baskets gave Northville a 48-44 lead, and there were only 29 seconds left when the Lakers cut it to two, 46-46.

Scrambling for the ball, the Lakers found Northville's center Jerry Inland with 11 seconds left, and the senior sharpshooter pushed in one of two free throws to tie the game.

Northville's defense was sharp on offense. Led by Gregg Soltysik's 16 points, they gave Clarkson's defense plenty of problems.

Jack Ward and Paul Skinner each hit 15 for the losers.

HATCHET MAN-In basketball, a hatchet man is a defensive specialist assigned to stop the opposition's top scorer. Lee Saunders (left), Avondale sophomore, seems intent on lowering the ace on Rochester's Rod Kruskie using this drive last night. Actually, the Yellow Jacket is hoping back, trying to avoid a personal foul.

Two-Pronged Attack Gives Clarkson Win

By DON VOGEL
Milford's basketball team expected one problem, but found two, last night at Clarkson. The Redskins were prepared for a scoring assault by Clarkson ace Dan Fife. The junior forward tossed in 42 points to lead the Wolves to a 91-71 victory.

But it was the second problem that caused the Redskins to suffer.

They found out that Fife wasn't a one-man team after Feb. 48 - two other Wolves - Mike Madison and King Robinson - also took the measure of Milford's defense.

While Fife was ripping the cords inside, Robinson was pumping in long shots. He finished with 17 points. Madison came up with 12 and teamed with Fife and Rod Allen to give Clarkson an edge on the backboards.

The victory clinched third place for Clarkson. The Wolves finished regular season play with a 11-5 overall mark and will play Final Western Monday at Grand Blanc in the Class A district. The game will start at 7:30 p.m.

Milford finished in a last place tie and 2-14 for the season.

Holly locked up fourth place by using one big quarter to turn back Claremont, 70-53, and keep the Trojans tied with Milford.

Fife started out like he was going to blow Milford off the floor singlehanded. He scored 22 of Clarkson's 28 first period points and had 29 by halftime as the Wolves led, 53-38.

It wasn't that Milford was playing a poor game. The Redskins were sharp on offense. Led by Gregg Soltysik's 16 points, they gave Clarkson's defense plenty of problems.

Jack Ward and Paul Skinner each hit 15 for the losers.

EMU Quintet Rolls, 94-68

YPSILANTI (AP) - Eastern Michigan led all the way Friday night in defeating Western Reserve of Ohio 94-68 in a Presidents' Athletic Conference basketball game.

EMU's Jim Kurtz led all scorers with 22 points. Jeff Borsore collected 15 points for the losers.

The Hurons have won nine of their 10 PAC games and are 13-5 over-all. Western Reserve is 12-8 in the PAC and 3-11 overall.

Down St. Frederick Mikeman a Little Late

St. Michael last night accomplished what it wanted to do three weeks ago: defeat arch-rival St. Frederick.

The Mikemen nabbed a 53-47 decision in a ragged tournament warmup that gave them two wins in three meetings this season with the Rams.

However, the one St. Fred won - a one-point victory Feb. 48 - prevented St. Mike from taking the outright Macomb Catholic League championship and a berth in the Second Division playoffs.

The final period determined last night's winner. Three of the visiting Rams fouled out in the stanza and St. Mike managed a 15-8 scoring advantage to overcome St. Fred's 39-38 lead after three quarters.

Maurey Finnegan, whose only double-figure effort was 19 points in the loss to the Rams, tallied 18 last night for the Rams.

buzzer bucket by Don Golding.

Five times in the final quarter Avondale had the gap down to four points. Golding's 14 points in the last half kept the Falcons in the lead. Bob Mills added 10.

Bob Buttr's 33 points put spark in the losers' attack. He hit 20 in the closing half.

Lake Orion's 6-4 center Brophy dropped in his game-winning shot with four seconds to play after the Dragons had played for the final shot.

The driving of Dragon senior Dave Dewey enabled him to take scoring honors with 26 points. He made 14 of 18 free throws.

High - scoring Troy center Bruce Baas was limited to seven tallies. The close guarding of Roy Kibbe and personal foul trouble hampered Baas.

The loss kept Troy from tying Avondale for fifth place. Lake Orion ended an eight-game losing streak with the victory.

Girl, 15, Turns to God for Critical Operation

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (P)—Cheryl Darlene Lawrence relied on the 23rd Psalm to give her courage for her fourth major spinal operation in seven months. Now she's confident God will help her walk again.

It was the most critical of the four operations she has undergone in what doctors call a rare series. They hope it will be Cheryl's last.

"Cheryl was scared the morning of the operation," said her mother, Mrs. E. E. Lawrence. "But just before she went into the operating room Cheryl led the family in the 23rd Psalm."

"The Lord is my shepherd, I shall not want. He maketh me to lie down in green pastures. . . NOT AFRAID

"She wasn't afraid after that," Mrs. Lawrence said. "She told me she would be back."

Ten of Cheryl's 11 brothers and sisters were at Sts. Mary & Elizabeth Hospital for the operation. Cheryl is the baby of the Lawrence family.

The doctors agree with Cheryl. They believe she will walk again.

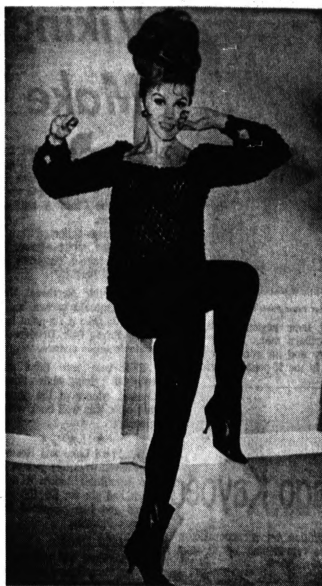

"She's amazing," said one of the doctors. "Her recovery has been remarkable."

FIRST OPERATION
Actually, Cheryl has spent more time in the hospital than out of it since her first operation in August.

Part of the medical costs will be paid with $2,100 contributed by the 4th Training Brigade at Ft. Knox, Ky.

Members of the brigade raised the money in appreciation of Mrs. Lawrence's sewing for them as a member of the American War Mothers.

Other donations have amounted to more than $100, Mrs. Lawrence said. Her husband is an employee of a farm implement company.

Housing Bias Ruling Is Issued

DETROIT (AP)—The Michigan Civil Rights Commission said Friday that public funds may not be used to "foster or perpetuate racial discrimination or segregation in housing."

The commission sent the guidelines to municipal officials, urban renewal and housing agencies.

The Michigan Constitution guarantees equal access to available housing without discrimination and the commission has the authority to enforce such rights, a spokesman said. Civil rights groups and neighborhood organizations in several communities have charged that minority groups suffer when housing urban renewal, is condemned for highway and other public projects.

The commission guidelines require that public officials must time such projects "to guarantee that suitable rehousing is available" and that "every displacement of minority group-families and individuals should be viewed as an opportunity to participate in better schools, finer libraries and more pleasant rights groups and neighborhood organizations."

Fencing Match With Network

Andy Williams Shows He Can Be Tough

By BOB THOMAS
AP Music-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD—Don't be deceived by that innocent air that Andy Williams exudes on his Monday night TV show. He can also be tough, as NBC is discovering.

Andy is engaged in the annual fencing match that most television stars face when they near the end of season.

The case of the Andy Williams show is reported by its owner-star thusly:

"Kraft (his sponsor) would like the show for another year, which I am under contract for. NBC tells me that I must sign for another two seasons after the next year—at the same price. I said forget it."

LOST $100,000
"Why, I lost $100,000 this year over last because production costs have gone up. Actually I lost $240,000, the reason being that Kraft doesn't want reruns. I figured to make $140,000 on reruns."

"I'm not saying that I've lost money over-all. Naturally I haven't done that. But I'd be silly to sign any deal without a 5 per cent annual increase; that's what the union raises are."

The singer declared he is willing to scrap the weekly show rather than sign on NBC terms. He'd prefer to limit himself to a few specials and develop his movie career; he's up for a role in "Any Wednesday" with Jason Robards and Jane Fonda.

Another NBC demand that rankles Williams is that he must do 32 shows instead of his regular 26. "I don't know how we're going to get enough ideas, enough guest stars for 32 shows; we have enough trouble with 26," he said.

HIGH AVERAGE
Yet the Andy Williams show manages a high average. It is doubtless the most tastefully produced weekly show and hence attracts rare guests such as Julie Andrews and David McCallum. The quality is no accident.

"We try harder," said Andy, Thompson and the Williams. "I try to have you here, in order to compete with the memories we could never be as good as people have of our best shows. For instance, people keep telling me I should bring back Kay Shaw."

And so the fencing continues between star and network. Probably both sides will give a little, and Andy Williams will be back next season, displaying his innocent ease in living color.

Real Wife of 'Jesse James' Says Fans Would Steal Him

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — "I think the mothers of America should know what their daughters are saying in the letters they write to my husband!" Susan Strasberg said, rather severely, for a girl of 27.

Chris Jones, the moody-looking, 5-foot-10 Tennessee, star of the ABC "Jesse James" show, who is her husband and soon to be the father of her child (due in April) indicated with a languid gesture that all the stacks of fan mail are not to be taken seriously.

"The letters — I read them and I know — suggest that these little girls are ready to meet him any time, any place," Susan said. "I never wrote letters like that."

Susan paused. "I've been talking so much today my tongue is tired," she said.

Due to his success on the Jesse James show, he's up for the part of Perry, one of the killers in the Truman Capote book, "In Cold Blood."

Chris had been looking down at the table and sort of humming a song. But he picked up interest when we discussed Perry.

"The kid is almost void of emotion," he said. "In the book, he says he even liked the guy he murdered while he was cutting his throat."

"Are you getting yourself typed as a killer?" somebody asked.

"Jesse James was pretty much the same type," Chris granted, "very void of emotion, though with a wild sense of humor. He robbed all the banks in Missouri for 15 years. He'd come to New York posing as a wealthy Texas cattle buyer, spend $100,000, and then go home and rob some more banks."

Chris said the tendency is to glorify Jesse James and make him a Robin Hood figure, he insisted, wasn't true.

THE WEDDING WINDUP

Buster Keaton, in his final film, "War, Italian Style," speaks one word: "Thanks!" Dan ("Bonanza") Blocker designed a sports car, will test-run it at the Sebring Grand Prix. (His partner's Vaughn Monroe). The singing McCoy's ("Hang On, Sloopy") will tour Japan — after two of them finish high school.

Joe Silver (of "Zula and the Zayda") has been the voice on more than 300 radio and TV commercials. — The Air Force Salute at the Americana drew 100 generals. "More brass," says a hotel exec, "than you'll find in a foundry."

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: "Some of us can remember when a singer used to spray his throat, not his hair," Pat Collins.

EARL'S PEARLS: A recent survey shows more people in the suburbs than in some large cities. And every morning you'll find them on the highways, trying to get back into the cities. — Peter.

A fellow confided to his bartender he's had nothing to live for, till a friend introduced him to the girl he eventually married. "And now I have something to live for — revenge!"

That's earl, brother.

U.S. Rejects Red Charges

Deny Violations of N-Test Ban Treaty

MOSCOW (AP) — The U.S. Embassy announced today that it has rejected as "without any foundation" Soviet charges of American violations of the partial nuclear test ban treaty.

The Soviet charges grew out of the crash in Spain last year of an American bomber carrying nuclear weapons.

The American Embassy also rejected a Soviet demand that the United States and flights over foreign territories by bombers carrying nuclear weapons. The embassy said these flights were made necessary by the Soviet nuclear threat to Western security.

DELIVERS REPLY
Davis E. Boster, counselor for political affairs, delivered the embassy reply Friday to the Soviet Foreign Ministry. The Russians accepted the reply but not its contents.

The Soviet charges were contained in a Feb. 16 memorandum to U.S. Ambassador Foy D. Kohler from Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

It said that as a result of the crash in Spain of a U.S. B52 bomber "four hydrogen bombs, each of which surpassed in power hundreds of times over the bombs dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki, fell on the territory of Spain and the coastal waters of the Mediterranean."

"At least in one of these bombs the detonator blew up and radioactive substances were released. There is risk of radioactive contamination also from the hydrogen bomb lying at the bottom of the Mediterranean."

The American reply termed this sheer propaganda.

It takes an acre of healthy forest 20 years to grow the lumber for a five — room frame house.

NBC Board Chairman to Step Down

NEW YORK (AP) — Robert E. Kintner, who has submitted his resignation as chairman of the board of the National Broadcasting Co. The resignation, effective March 31, had been widely expected.

Kintner's resignation was submitted Friday "with regret," it was accepted "with a deep sense of regret" by Robert W. Sarnoff, president of the Radio Corporation of America, parent company of the network.

Kintner, 56, has held the post of board chairman since Jan. 1 of this year, after resigning the presidency of NBC, an office he held since July 1964. Officially, he was replacing Sarnoff as board chairman.

But at the time, it was widely reported in newspaper columns that the chairmanship appointment was to be of only three months duration. It also was reported that the agreement covering his appointment also called for his complete withdrawal from the company by March 31.

Districting Decision Is Crisis for Florida

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Florida's political structure has been thrown into chaos by a U.S. Supreme Court decision striking down the state's legislative reapportionment just two months before the primaries.

Gov. Haydon Burns called it a crisis and set an emergency cabinet meeting for today in Tallahassee.

Venue Change Hearing Stated

Two trials pending in hospital deaths

A Circuit Court hearing has been scheduled for April 1 on changing the location of two pending trials involving accidental deaths at Pöhtiac Osteopathic Hospital last year.

Two children and a 24-year-old mother of two died in November after they were injured by either rather than another anesthetic.

The woman's husband, Gerald M. Covington, 48, of Tallahassee, is seeking $125 million in damages from the hospital, while Mrs. Oscar Brunel, mother of another victim, Kimberly Ann, 8, is asking $500,000.

Attorneys for the hospital have requested that the cases be transferred out of Oakland County because of the widespread news coverage given to the deaths.

They contend that it would be impossible to get impartial trials in both cases.

Circuit Judge James S. Thornburn will consider the petitions for the changes of venue.

Marines Stop Savage Attack by Viet Cong

Communists Continue to Step Up Offensive With New Assault

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. Marines fought off a determined Viet Cong attack near Chu Lai today and U.S. artillery duelled with enemy mortar fire as the Communists continued to step up their offensive.

Today's attack by about 100 Red troops on a 50-man Marine unit marked the second time in two days that the Viet Cong struck at U.S. emplacements.

A force of 100 Leathernecks hurled back a Viet Cong attack Friday night at Phu Bai, killing three Communists, spokesmen said. Marine losses were reported light.

Today's target for the Viet Cong was Phu Loi, an artillery base area 15 miles north of Saigon. U.S. spokesmen said the Reds fired 16 mortar rounds, but casualties were light.

The Viet Cong were also active in the northern part of the Mekong Delta, attacking a government outpost Friday 60 miles southwest of Saigon.

HEAVY TOLL

A spokesman said the 60-man defense force suffered heavy casualties.

For the fourth straight day, air attacks over North Viet Nam were hampered by poor weather. An Air Force spokesman said all the bombing Friday was by radar.

Air Force pilots flying F105 Thunderchiefs jets smashed at an ammunition depot and storage area five miles from the city of Vinh.

Other Air Force targets included the Vinh Loc bridge and highway complex.

Sukarno Under Heavy Guard

Jakarta Tense After Student Rally Ban

SINGAPORE (AP)—Indonesian tanks, armored cars and troops blocked all roads to President Sukarno's palace today and helicopters kept watch against student demonstrations, reliable sources said.

The atmosphere in Jakarta was "tense—almost explosive" in the wake of Sukarno's crackdown on student rallies, the sources said.

The anti-Communist, pro-army Indonesian Student Action Front — KAMI — banned by Sukarno yesterday, received a pledge of support from the 150,000-member Moslem Students Union, the informants added.

But it was not known if the army would continue to give tacit support for the students, who have demonstrated to protest Sukarno's ouster of Gen. Abdul Harris Nasution as defense minister.

Sukarno outlawed KAMI after three days of massive demonstrations. Radio Jakarta said yesterday.

BAN DEMONSTRATIONS

He, banned all demonstrations and imposed a curfew on the capital, the radio added.

A broadcast today indicated that the curfew now extends 2 1/2 hours longer. Radio Jakarta said it would be in effect from 9:30 p.m. to 6 a.m.

KAMI led a five-mile-long funeral parade of 10,000 students through Jakarta yesterday in connection with protests over Sukarno's Cabinet shake-up.

No Debaters in Sight Hold Special Session on Viet

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate meets today for a special Saturday session of the great Viet Nam debate — with no debaters in sight.

Acting Democratic Leader Russell B. Long said he sent letters to all senators — including himself — pleading "if you have a speech to make, come make your speech."

But Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., who had just finished one four-hour address attacking administration Viet Nam policy and planned another for Monday, said he knew of no one who planned to speak today.

"If no one shows up, I'll be here," promised Long, "and if the spirit moves me I may make a speech."

The Louisiana Democrat is a strong supporter of President Johnson's policies.

NEWS CONFERENCE

Johnson holds a news conference in his office today with Viet Nam to be the principal subject of discussion.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey all but sent his regrets yesterday in response to an invitation from Chairman J. W. Fulbright to discuss his Asian trip and foreign aid commitments with the Foreign Relations Committee.

With its well-publicized televised hearings, Fulbright's group has been at the center of the debate criticizing Johnson's Asian policy.

When the vice president was asked about Fulbright's invitation to appear at a closed hearing, he remarked:

Some Schools May Not Give Data to Boards

Professors Threaten to Quit; Widespread Confusion Predicted

NEW YORK (AP)—U.S. college officials have disclosed serious misgivings over proposed tighter draft exemption rules for the nation's students. Some threatened refusal to cooperate with draft boards.

Seven professors have threatened to quit at Brandeis University in Massachusetts, and a Harvard dean said he would withhold academic data from the draft board if the student requests it.

College administrators who regarded the system as basically fair nevertheless predicted widespread confusion.

At present, draft boards grant student deferments on the basis of assurances from schools that students are enrolled full-time and are doing satisfactory work. About 1.8 million young men hold such deferments.

Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national Selective Service director, has announced that these deferments will be reexamined in the light of class standing, and scores of new college qualification tests.

SELECTIVE DATES

Selective Service announced in Washington yesterday that the tests will be given throughout the nation on May 14, May 21 and June 3.

High school seniors and college students who want to take the tests will be given priority.

Students Set for Physicals

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Graduating college seniors and graduate students will be given pre-induction physical examinations this spring, the deputy state Selective Service director says.

Col. W.J. Myers said draft boards will send questionnaires to all undergraduates in the state asking about grades, when they expect to graduate and explanations for time spent away from school.

He indicated draft boards will start granting student deferments on a basis of class standing.

Proposals Flood Vicar Hunting for Dream Girl

AMBLEDOTE, England (AP)—The handsome vicar who announced he was seeking a wife "more like the girl in the picture" has been driven into hiding by a flood of telephone calls from applicants.

A note pinned to the door of the Rev. John Hencher's Georgian vicarage said, "Vicar away ill."

But a relative of the 34-year-old churchman said, "He has gone into hiding. He is horrified at all the fuss."

The fuss arose after word began to circulate that the vicar was looking for a "cozy wife who adores Shakespeare and is prepared to share my four-poster bed."

The Rev. Mr. Hencher, who is six feet tall and weighs 185 pounds, told of his dream girl in an interview in a religious newspaper, the Worcester Diocesan Messenger.

City's Not Going to the Dogs

The pulse of the city can be taken through the city clerk's office.

Similar to an annual census, the license records of the city clerk provide a nose count of sundry activities in the city.

The dog population, for example, can be determined somewhat from the 2,348 pooch permits issued last year.

Of course, the dog count won't be entirely accurate; a few pups will be underaged and therefore unlicensed, and some dog owners forget to license their dog.

Based on the annual statistics compiled by the city clerk, the Pontiac dog population must have dropped last year over 1964.

FEWER LICENSES

There were 522 fewer licenses issued in 1965 over the year before.

Revenue from dog licenses fell from $6,518 in 1964 to $5,467 last year.

The city's total revenue from licenses and permits totaled $36,599, down $2,368 from $38,964 collected in 1964.

City Clerk Mrs. Olga Barkeley attributed the drop in revenue to both a loss in the total number and particularly — due to urban renewal — of those businesses that pay the larger fees for city licenses.

LARGE SHARE

Food outlets and delivery vehicles accounted for a large share ($9,594) of the licensing revenue. This was down from $10,129 in 1964.

Inspection of outdoor signs brought in $5,538 last year, compared to $5,445 in 1964.

The number of gas pumps licensed by the city jumped from 176 in 1964, a three-year low, to 382 last year.

Mrs. Barkeley said this revenue suffered primarily from more enforcement.

The long arm of the city license touches nearly every facet of city living. For example, there were:

• 140 barber chairs inspected last year, up three chairs from 1964.

• The number of pinball machines (mechanical amusements) in operation jumped to 242 in 1965 from 199 in 1964.

• The 74 taxicabs and 142 taxicab drivers licensed last year were down from the 89 cabs and 187 drivers licensed in 1964.

The city clerk's record-keeping also extends to the City Commission. Here too activity was down last year over 1964.

Junta Names Syria Leaders

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Syria's coup leaders named two civilians to head the new regime Friday night and relaxed curfew restrictions.

The left-wing military junta which seized power last week named Dr. Nour-din Atassi, 36, as chief of state, replacing deposed Gen. Amin Hafez.

Dr. Youssef Zayzen, 35, was appointed prime minister in place of Salah Bitar. The announcements, made over Radio Damascus, did not identify the members of the junta, which calls itself the "Temporary Command" of the Arab Socialist Baath party.

Other civilian members of the government were expected to be chosen from former Cabinet members of a three-month government headed by Zayzen last year. That government fell in December when more moderate Baathists installed Bitar as premier.

REMAINS IN POWER

The "Temporary Command" announced that it would remain in power during an unspecified transition period and would retain the authority to fire the head of state and Cabinet members.

Observers said this indicated that Atassi and Zayzen, both physicians, were a front for the junta to reduce its military image.

To Air Zoning for Bar on M59

Waterford Planners Recommend Change

Final action on a rezoning request for establishment of a bar and lounge on M59 at Tull is expected at Monday night's Waterford Township Board meeting.

The controversial proposal — to rezone from local business (C-1) to general business (C-2) three lots at 7005 M59 — has been recommended for approval by the Township Planning Commission.

However, about 50 members of Tull Acres Subdivision Association have signed a petition objecting to the change.

The business was formerly located at the White Lake Inn.

In other business, the board will consider final approval of Huntoon Shores No. 2 Subdivision, a proposed amendment to a township subdivision ordinance and the "701" planning program.

Cost of the proposed "701" program is $25,439. However, the federal government would be approached for a $156,938 grant if the board chooses to accept the program and subsequently file an application.

GRIM PROCESSION—Soldiers of a U.S. 1st Infantry Division unit carry the body of a dead comrade to a row of dead GIs, victims of fighting in the Boi Loi Woods today. These are the first casualties suffered by the reconnaissance platoon of the 18th Regiment's 2nd Battalion in its eight months of combat.

Marines Beat Off Viet Cong Attack

In the ground war, the Viet Cong attack on the U.S. Marine position began with a barrage of mortars and rocket fire.

The main attack came at dawn when Viet Cong fighters managed to cut their way through the outer triple apron of wire.

ASSAULT HALTED

As they clawed through the single inner wire strand the assault was halted by concentrated small arms fire and artillery support from the embattled Marines.

The latest body count said that 18 Viet Cong bodies were found together with four sub-machine guns, four rifles and 50 hand grenades. Marine casualties were light.

One Viet Cong who said he was a stretcher bearer was captured.

An armored troop carrier patrol from the mechanized 5th Infantry, 25th Division, surprised a Viet Cong platoon attempting to mine a bridge near Cu Chi Friday, and killed 15 of the enemy, a U.S. spokesman said.

LIGHT CONTACT

U.S. 1st Infantry Division forces continued to make only light contact in Operational Massif in the Boi Loi Woods 35 miles northwest of Saigon.

The division-sized operation had discovered a claymore mine factory, Viet Cong hospitals containing antibiotics, and thousands of pounds of rice.

The division took light casualties when they attempted to dispose of a booby-trapped rice cache.

Elements of the 1st Brigade, 101st Airborne Division, ambushed a small Viet Cong patrol Friday north of Tuy Hoa and killed three of the enemy, the spokesman said.

Students already are under great pressure for grades, and this certainly is going to intensify that," said Dr. Weaver.

STRESS ON GRADES

"I feel there already are too many situations where the stress is on grades rather than learning."

Charles E. Liesenfelt of Minneapolis, who is both an educator and a draft board member, felt that the system would be "about as fair as you can possibly get."

Liesenfelt, assistant to the recorder of the University of Minnesota and chairman of his county draft board, said:

"A student has two chances — on the basis of class rank and on the basis of a test."

"Say there was a class of geniuses. Some of course would have to be in the bottom portion of the class. But they still have a chance for deferment if they can pass the test."

LUMP GRADES

He pointed out that one system might be to lump the grades of all members of a class, regardless of courses taken, and rank them accordingly.

An alternative system would be to rank law students, or college of commerce students, against each other instead of against all members of their class.

Dr. John Weaver, vice president for instruction at Ohio State University, took a similar view.

He called the use of class ranking "a dangerous way to go about it" because a student low-ranked at a top school might stand far higher at one where the standards are less demanding.

Students already are under great pressure for grades, and this certainly is going to intensify that," said Dr. Weaver.

Rumors Flying on Turbine Car

Word Likely Soon on Chrysler Auto's Future

BY CHARLES C. CAIN
DETROIT (AP) — Automotive circles buzzed this week with rumors that Chrysler Corp. would have an announcement soon about the future of its much discussed turbine car program.

One usually well-informed source said the turbine's status had been discussed by Chrysler's board of directors and the final decision left in the hands of Chrysler president Lynn A. Townsend.

Chrysler's official comment was, "No decision has been made regarding turbine production."

VOLUNTEER DRIVERS

Over 200 volunteer motorists have driven more than 1.3 million miles since October 1963 in 50 experimental turbine cars which Chrysler built to get driver reaction to the new concept.

The drivers filled out detailed questionnaires as to how they liked the turbine and what they thought of its future.

The answers were kept secret but Townsend may announce them in March.

Chrysler has road tested various stages of its turbine cars for over a decade but it was not until 1963 that the public was included in the testing.

CORRECT LAG

Engineering sources said Chrysler has corrected the acceleration lag which had been one of the weaknesses of the turbine car. The turbine capacity of 130 horsepower has been upped to near 275.

George J. Huebner Jr., who has been in charge of the 250-mph turbine project team, said this week that "We have had far less trouble with the turbine than we usually experience with prototype piston engines."

In general, the advantage of the turbine engine is that it is lighter and has only one-tenth the moving parts of a normal piston engine. It runs on about any fuel from kerosene to gasoline but Chrysler engineers said white kerosene has proven to be the most economical fuel to date.

THUNDERBOLT STYLE

The sleek experimental turbine's body style is much like that of the Thunderbolt and its engine has the "whoosh" sound generally associated with aircraft engines.

The general belief was that Chrysler would not scrap the program into which it had put many years and millions of dollars.

Thus the choice appeared to be whether to make some of the turbines available for sale to the general public or to extend the experimental test drive program.

Only Townsend had the answer and he gave no indication of which way he would go.

Order Cabs off Streets in Vegas Strike

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — You could get into a strip show today in Las Vegas. Or maybe a card game or a bar fight. But not a taxicab.

There weren't any.

County commissioners ordered the cabs off the streets Friday — the most recent move in a six-month, sometimes violent Teamsters Union strike.

Two cabs have been burned, two others overturned, drivers beaten and countless windows smashed.

ORDERED INTO GARAGES

Las Vegas and Clark County commissioners said the cabs were ordered into garages to preserve public safety.

They issued the order after telling the cab companies and the union to settle the strike by 5 p.m. No settlement meant no cabs.

The commissioners said all cabs found on the street would be impounded.

One company, the Whittlesea Blue Cab Co., said it would ignore the order, but later agreed to call in its cabs shortly before the deadline.

NO INCIDENTS

Cab dispatchers reported no incidents, but sheriff's deputies said one Whittlesea cab was impounded in front of a hotel-casino along the Strip.

The city bus line said it would add extra buses to carry tourists.

County Atty. John Porter was granted a District Court restraining order to back up the city-county resolution. A court hearing was set for March 11.

The Teamsters have signed contracts with three major companies calling for a $6 pay hike to $20 a day. With the same demand, the union remains on strike against Yellow and Checker cabs.

NUMBER OF CABS

The Teamsters also want to control the number of cabs competing for fares. Management wants to give less money and to control the firing of drivers it considers unacceptable.

Checker cabs have remained in the barn. Yellow Cab operated with nonunion drivers.

MUNICH, Germany (AP) — Franz Schnabel, 78, internationally known German historian, died in a Munich clinic Friday after suffering a stroke.

Formal opening of the two opportunity centers of the Oakland County Commission on Economic Opportunity (OEO) will be March 14.

A 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. open house is planned at the Pontiac center and one from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Royal Oak Township center.

Both centers actually opened two months ago to carry out the county's war on poverty.

O'Brien Bill Calls for Escrow Interest

State Sen. Carl O'Brien, D-Pontiac, has introduced a bill to require mortgage lending institutions to pay interest on money home owners deposit in escrow for future taxes and insurance.

Meet My Son - the Batman

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Yes, Virginia, there is a Batman... and he reigns over the University of Michigan's Winter Weekend, which started yesterday.

Batman's really the son of a rabbi, and Robin is a premed student who's entered in the Watasi dance contest.

It wasn't easy getting Batman to do his suit, furnished by a Hollywood movie studio.

The winner of the Batman competition ducked out when his girlfriend objected.

The runner-up went home for the weekend.

RECLASSIFIED

The third place man got reclassified 1A by his draft board and had to hit the books.

Things really looked bleak until contest chairman Danny Syme of Detroit stepped forward and announced, "I will be Batman!"

Syme, 20, is the son of a rabbi and a psychology major. Gordon Silson, 19, of Southfield was coaxed into Robin's green tights.

"How am I going to explain this to my mother?" Shlom said. "She wants me to be a doctor."

Area Artist Plans Show for March

A one-man show of paintings and etchings by Joan Brace, area artist, will be held from Tuesday through March 21 in the Oakland University Art Gallery.

A native of California, Mrs. Brace is a University of California graduate. She studied some five years in this country and abroad, including terms at the Academie de la Grande Chaumiere, Paris, and the Academie de Menton, both in France.

Her work has been exhibited in a number of group shows, including the Art Institute of Chicago, Art Club of Chicago, the University of Chicago's Renaissance Society, Pan-American and other group shows at Roosevelt University, Illinois Institute of Technology's Eye of Chicago Show and the National Show at Ringling Museum, Sarasota, Fla.

OU PROF'S WIFE

Mrs. Brace is the wife of Richard Brace who joined the OU faculty last fall as professor and chairman of the history department. They reside in Lake Orion.

The artist has many paintings in private and business collections, including those of Vincent Price and Mrs. Robert McNamara.

According to John C. Gallows, professor and chairman of the OU art department, gallery hours will be from 12:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Mondays, Fridays, and from 2 to 5 p.m. Sundays.

It will be closed Tuesdays and Saturdays and during the mid-winter recess March 3-6.

Look West, Come Spring

The Western look is going great guns in spring fashions, the National Cotton Council reports.

City girls who never saw a horse will be wearing saddle-stitched denim and snap-down shirts, fringed vests and cowgirl calicos.

Fabrics play an important role in the Western-look rage. Of course "blue jeans" denim is a favorite, but so is a relative newcomer to the fashion world: sturdy cotton canvas, now used for sporty slacks as well as ranch-style jackets and wrangler pants.

Cotton calico, worn by every covered-wagon belle, is a special favorite in the Western-roundup. Red and yellow calico prints show up everywhere, even on two unlikely fabrics: sturdy canvas and fragile cotton voile.

PTSA Changes Meeting Date

The March meeting of Pontiac Northern High School's PTSA will not be observed as scheduled this week.

The program has been changed to 7:30 p.m. March 9 in the school library. Stanley Rogell, speech instructor, will moderate a panel of students on the topic "Let's Talk It Over."

Drip-Drip-Drip

Hang permanently pleated wash-wear clothes sopping wet and allow to drip dry. Eash pleat may be held at the hem line with a clip-type clothespin. This helps the weight of the water to pull out wrinkles and keep pleats in place.

A Diamond's Value is Not Determined by Size Alone

It is only a beginning. There are four simple words — all beginning with the letter "C" — that explain the difference in diamonds:

COLOR is very important. The standard is clear white — like a drop of water. Lay the gems on a white cloth and compare them in a north light.

CUT affects brilliance. A diamond cut in proper proportions shows an equal distribution of light at all distances from the eyes. It refracts the rays, which hit the diamond, back through the top.

CLARITY also helps to determine value. Few diamonds are perfect, but, if tiny feathers or carbon spots can be seen only when the gem is magnified, don't worry too much about them.

CARAT is the unit of weight of a diamond — but important only after Color, Cutting and Clarity.

BLOOMFIELD MIRACLE MILE NEWSY NOTES

by Gay Edwards

The Wrinkle Is Dead!

The Big Story in men's and boys' fashion this year is the Built-in Press or Permanent Press... which means — throw away the iron, the wrinkle is dead!

Permanent Press is not to be confused with wash and wear nor drip-dry as most of these new garments may be dried right in the dryer. I don't go into the technical aspect of the process... let's just call it magic.

Permanent press is not just a process, it is a promise... a promise that a garment will resist heat ironing and will dry back to its crisp-as-new, just-pressed look. Is this promise kept... are these claims true? You may bet your iron they are!

The permanent press concept travels under many trade names and has a wide range of uses. Our J. C. Penney Co. uses their Penn-Press label on most of their permanent pressed garments. Van Heusen now makes their Van-O-Press dress shirts for little boys. It is available at Lion.

Here at the Center it may be found in dress shirts, casual slacks, jeans, work clothes, sport shirts and shorts, all-weather coats and pajamas... in men's and boys' wear. Capitol's Country Squire Shop, Monarch, Lion and Penney are the fine stores that carry this latest man-made miracle.

The most exciting, glorious thing about the permanent press garment, is not just no-ironing but the bond-box life it leads. No more five o'clock wilt... your man of distinction can look just as distinctive at the end of the day, as when he breezed away in the morning.

Fresh, neat, crisp, just-pressed, smooth are just a few of the words that describe Permanent Press. Shop is the word that describes the swingers who wear them... be they men or boys!

Next week children's wear.
