Jury Selection Going Ahead in Sheppard Trial

See Testimony Delayed
at Least Another Week
in Sex-Tinged Murder

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Sheppard murder trial appeared today to be picking up speed, but indications were it would be another week before testimony starts.

With seven jurors tentatively selected out of the necessary 13, including one alternate, the sex-tinged trial of Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard moved into its fourth day.

Defense Counsel William J. Corrigan and Fred W. Garmone probed the sex angle repeatedly in questioning prospective jurors yesterday.

They wanted to know if the veniremen would be prejudiced against a person who might have engaged in illicit love.

The name of curvaceous Susan Hayes, 24-year-old hospital technician, came up with increasing frequency.

The auburn-haired beauty, expected to be a main prosecution witness, admitted to police she had an intimate romance with 30-year-old Dr. Sheppard when he was in California last March.

Dr. Sheppard, a boyish-faced osteopath, is charged with first-degree murder in the bedroom slaying of his wife Marilyn, 31, on July 4. He says a mysterious intruder killed her.

Miss Hayes name came up at one point in questioning by Garmone of Mrs. Louise K. Feuchler, eventually seated as a fifth juror.

Garmone asked Mrs. Feuchler several questions about whether she had seen published pictures and stories about Miss Hayes, and for the first time was not met with objections from the prosecution and Judge Edward Rithlin.

One of Garmone's questions was: "Susan Hayes made a statement to a reporter during her travels here from California about the fact that she had been intimate with Sam Sheppard. If you read that quotation by Miss Hayes, would that cause you to become prejudiced?"

Mrs. Feuchler replied, "No."

Later, Corrigan tried the same line of questioning with another prospective juror and was halted by the judge.

Corrigan was outraged. He whirled to face the judge and shouted at the top of his voice: "I know they're going to bring Susan Hayes into this courtroom. I know what evidence they have. I know how Susan Hayes has been blasted in the papers."

The blowup came after Corrigan asked Melvin C. Holliday whether "the fact that he (Dr. Sheppard) had any affairs with another woman would bias or prejudice you in this case?"

Prosecutor John J. Mahon objected, and Judge Rithlin sustained him on grounds that Miss Hayes was not an issue at this time.

Corrigan refused to ask any more questions and Judge Rithlin seated Holliday as the sixth juror. A seventh, Mrs. Anna W. Foote, was also seated.

Record Horde of Hunters
Take Field for Pheasants

Partly cloudy skies and rising temperatures were expected to greet hunters today on the second day of Michigan's small game season.

A record number—estimated at 300,000—hunters flooded into fields Wednesday to open the hunting season in all areas of the state.

Only one fatality was reported. At least 10 persons suffered gunshot wounds.

Johnny Green, 16, of Bronson, was fatally wounded in Branch County. His shotgun was discharged accidentally while he was hunting squirrels.

Seven hunters were wounded by stray shotgun pellets in the Bad Axe area. They were part of a horde of hunters that descended on the thumb area seeking pheasants and rabbits.

Two Oakland County residents were among hunters suffering

New Postal Rules Help to Clear Up Regulations

WASHINGTON (UP)—Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield made public a streamlined set of postal regulations today and said they should make it more easier for folks to mail letters and packages.

The new regulations, which will take effect Nov. 24, bring together and modernize all existing postal rules, Summerfield said.

He said he expects the army Corps of Engineers to complete a survey on channel needs by Nov. 1, so that appropriations could be made at the next session of Congress.

Ferguson said he was sure the seaway would be open for traffic by the start of the 1959 navigation season.

He Buys Property Attorney's House Started on Wrong Lot by Mistake

It's customary to buy the lot before starting to build your home on it.

But through no fault of his own, attorney Shan Hagerty saw the foundation of his long-planned-for lakeside home constructed on property which didn't belong to him.

Before the matter was straightened out the trustees of John Brown University in Siloam Springs, Ark., had to hold a special meeting.

It started when Hagerty, an Oakland county Circuit Court clerk, bought a lot on Duck Lake in Highland Township.

The lot was on a slight slope, but a more desirable one next to it was not owned by the real estate firm.

Hagerty brought the construction firm, manager, hired to build the year-round home, out and spotted the site.

"The lot lines were only marked on trees and he misunderstood me," said Hagerty. "When I went out to inspect the work Sept. 30, the foundation was in, but on the better lot next to mine."

"It was a case of buying the lot or undoing what work had been done and doing it over again."

Matters were further complicated when it developed the lot had been willed to John Brown University, a small co-educational Bible School.

"I was a bit discouraged," Hagerty recalled, "but the University's telephone number was 77 and I thought I might be lucky."

Hagerty talked with the university president, John E. Brown, who graciously called a board of trustees' meeting and gained approval to sell the lot.

"So I got the best lot after all," said Hagerty. "I guess it was fate."

President Cites U.S. Progress in Blocking Reds

Ike Answers Criticism of GOP Foreign Policy
by Truman, Adlai

NEW YORK (AP) — President Eisenhower told the nation last night his administration has "come far" toward blocking Communist aggression and winning lasting world peace, but that Russia and Red China still are dangerous threats.

The White House called his major address here "nonpolitical," and the President termed it a reply to sharp criticism fired at Republican foreign policy by former President Harry S. Truman and Adlai E. Stevenson, the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee.

Today, the chief executive arranged two political meetings advertised as such, and New York and New Jersey GOP leaders were counting on the sessions to provide a boost for the party's congressional and state office candidates.

The President scheduled the first meeting with some 300 New York candidates at the party's state headquarters in the Roosevelt Hotel here. The group is headed by U.S. Sen. Irving M. Ives, GOP candidate for governor in a hard-fought race with Averell Harriman, Democratic-Liberal party nominee.

The other conference was arranged with former Rep. Clifford P. Case of New Jersey, also running for the Senate.

On the President's calendar is another major address here tonight and it-like last night's—is being tabbed "nonpolitical" by the White House.

He will speak at the annual Alfred E. Smith Memorial Dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

The address is scheduled for 10:30 p.m. EST.

The President spoke last night to 1,800 guests at a dinner marking the 30th anniversary of Jewish life in the United States.

Mentioning some obstacles still in the way of achievement of an enduring peace, he declared:

"The principal and continuing factor is the persistently aggressive design of Moscow and Peking, which shows no evidence of gen-

Electric Power Hits New Peak

St. Clair Plant Turbine
Pushes Nation's Output to Double 1945 Level

DETROIT (UP)—The generating capacity of the nation's electric industry passed the 100,000,000 kilowatt mark today when Detroit Edison started its number four turbine unit at the St. Clair power plant.

Detroit Edison said the figures were based on surveys conducted by Edison Electric Institute and checked by the Federal Power Commission staff.

"In achieving this record high, America's electric utility industry has doubled its generating capacity since the end of World War II," it said.

With the start of the new unit, Detroit Edison completed its $75,000,000 St. Clair plant. The plant, located on the St. Clair River halfway between St. Clair and Marine City, was dedicated at ceremonies which drew some 400 persons.

The new plant is the fifth and largest in the Detroit Edison system. It is capable of 625,000 kilowatts, enough to serve a city of 1,000,000.

The starting of the number four turbine was a special feature. It was the fourth of the plant's four 200,000-horsepower steam turbine generators.

Strike Talk Follows

Tugs Stay on Job to Assist Queen Mother's Departure

LONDON (AP)—Tugmen eased the liner Queen Elizabeth out of Southampton harbor in a loyal gesture to Britain's Queen Mother today—and then began debating whether to join the waterfront strike which has paralyzed Britain's major seaports.

Queen Mother Elizabeth, for whom the ship was named, sailed for New York and a month's visit to the United States and Canada.

It had been feared that the 18-day dock stoppage, now involving more than 43,000 men, might hamper her departure.

The walkout, loudly backed by British Communists, stems from a demand by dockers for the right to reject overtime work. Fewer than half the strikers have the backing of various unions involved.

Queen Elizabeth II, who began this morning a two-day tour of south Lancashire, made a pointed change in her schedule to avoid the picketed Liverpool dock area.

She and her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, had arranged to visit the Canada Dock Works at Liverpool but Buckingham Palace announced last night they would see the Liverpool School of Tropical Medicine instead.

The still-growing stoppage held 238 ships idle in London, Liverpool, Birkenhead, Hull, Southampton, Garston and Rochester.

Fewer than 33,000 of the nation's 70,000 cargo handlers were working.

Export shipments worth more than 80 million pounds (224 million dollars) were piled up on the wharves.

Food reserves, especially of imported eggs, butter and bacon, were dwindling.

Ministers Adopt Name for New Western Bloc

PARIS (AP)—An Italian suggestion to give the enlarged Brussels alliance a new name was formally adopted today by foreign ministers of the nine nations discussing the rearmament of West Germany.

The seven-nation defensive alliance—bringing West Germany and Italy into partnership with Britain, France, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg—is to be known as the "Western European Union."

Italy's representative at the conference, Ambassador Manlio Brosio, pointed out to his colleagues that Bruto in Italian means ugly.

Crew supervisor for 18 of Oakland County's 25 townships is Fred J. Beckman of Milford, whose territory includes all except the eastern tier of five townships and Southfield and Bloomfield. These seven townships are under the crew leadership of C. L. McBride of Utica.

The enumerators, mostly women, will each cover an area of

French Desire to Curb Arms Casts Shadow

Ministers Map Plans for German Inclusion in Brussels Organization

PARIS (INS) — The first session of the nine-power conference to rearm West Germany through the Brussels pact ended after two hours today with "good progress" reported.

Belgian Premier Paul Henri Spaak declared:

"It rolled on roller skates. We will certainly complete our work tonight."

The ministers will resume work at 4 p. m. (10 a. m. EST).

A Dutch source said the morning session, which ended shortly after 1 p. m., was devoted to discussion of reports from the London and Paris working parties on enlarging the Brussels Treaty Organization to include West Germany and Italy.

Rapid progress was made in the examination of those reports, but the conference have not yet discussed the French memorandum regarding the armament production pool which was expected to cause the first serious difficulties of the parley.

The ministers—with Britain's Sir Anthony Eden in the chair—made these decisions:

1. The headquarters of the Brussels Treaty Organization (BRUTO) will be London.

2. The headquarters of BRUTO's armaments control agency will be Paris.

3. A BRUTO assembly will be created composed of the members of the Council of Europe from the BRUTO nations.

This assembly will hear and discuss the annual report of the BRUTO Council of Ministers.

It was understood the scope of the subjects to be discussed in the assembly will go far beyond the BRUTO nations.

Tired of Waiting, Mom Tells Doc to Keep Newborn

CEDAR CITY, Utah (AP)—An Indian mother can only be so patient.

For a month she had been returning weekly to a local hospital to take home her baby daughter, born prematurely and kept since in the nursery.

Each time she was told by the attending physician: "Wait until next week."

Then a week ago the doctor said the tot could go home during the week. But before the baby could be picked up, the little girl caught cold. The order was changed.

"Don't let the baby go or it will likely die."

This was all the patient Plute mother could take, hospital officials said.

"You tell doctor he have baby," she was quoted as saying. "We moving, won't be back."

Attendants say the baby's doing fine now.

Federal Census of Farms Starts in County Friday

The farm census which is taken every five years under the direction of the U. S. Department of Commerce gets under way Friday in Oakland County. It is intended to complete it within a month.

The census is intended to cover every farm of three acres or more in the nation. Every enumerator is provided with proper credentials, and is sworn to secrecy on all data collected. The answers are held in absolute confidence under federal law.

The findings are used only to provide summary figures on farm production, such as totals, averages and percentages. They are not available to any other agency and hence cannot be used for investigation, taxation or regulation purposes.

Census questionnaires have been mailed to all farm operators, and will be collected by the enumerators who also are authorized to give any required assistance in making them out.

The 1954 census of agriculture is the sixteenth in a series of nation wide enumerations, the first of which was conducted in 1840. The enumerators are paid on a report basis, receiving from 50 to 70 cents for each report they turn in.

Celebrities to Attend Dance to Boost School Torch Fund

From Our Birmingham Bureau
BIRMINGHAM — Over at Birmingham High School this Friday night there'll be a dance after the football game—normally not too unusual a procedure.

Only this time the kids, on their own hook, have come up with a money-making scheme to benefit this area's Torch Drive goal of $186,338.

They've doubled the price of the usual 25 cents admission fee, with proceeds going into the school fund for the United Foundation.

Along with securing the dance band of Dave Farley, they've latched on to such celebrities as Helen Hartwick, Miss Photoflash of 1934; Wally Burkemo, the PGA golf champion; the local Arthur Murray dancers, who will perform; and Warren Michael Kelly, Detroit television personality.

These people along with some of the top UF workers, will be on hand at the dance immediately following the 8 p.m. game, when Birmingham takes on East Detroit.

All this the teenagers have arranged themselves. This spontaneous reaction seemed to filter through the school as soon as the dates of the Torch Drive were announced, according to Mrs. Montelle Clark, radio and dramatics teacher and advisor for the school's Pep Club.

Sparked by the Pep Club, the other social clubs soon joined forces in planning a dance that would attract the attention not only of the students, but adults as well.

News stories are constantly relating the misdeeds of "juvenile delinquents," a phrase more than distasteful to most of Birmingham's younger generation.

"There are always a few who spoil the reputation of others, but why is it that the good things we do go unmentioned?" is the cry of many of the youngsters.

"Now, here's a case in point to bear out their feelings. Only this time it isn't recognition that's wanted as much as help."

Wolcott Gibbs' sophisticated comedy, "Season in the Sun," has been selected by the Village Players as its first play of the season, with performances scheduled for 9 p.m. at the Village Playhouse tomorrow and Saturday night and the following weekend.

Spiced with a collection of odd characters whose antics add up to an evening of strictly adult entertainment, Gibbs' play has the unmistakable flavor of the sophisticated "New Yorker" magazine, for which he has long been drama critic.

Tickets may be obtained at the door.

Robert G. Hartwell, director of nuclear power development for the Detroit Edison Co., will be the guest speaker at the First Presbyterian Church Men's Club dinner at 6:45 tonight. Hartwell worked on the "Nautilus," only atomic submarine in the world.

The annual Pierce School PTA Fair, the PTA's only money-making venture of the year, will provide a full evening of entertainment for Pierce families from 4 to 9 p.m. tomorrow. Tickets will be available for dinner, which will be served in the cafeteria at 5, 6 and 7 p.m. In addition a snack bar will be open.

Highlight of the evening will be a comedy variety show, when a tramp clown, a pair of comic jugglers and an acrobatic team will entertain. A fortune teller and Bozo the Clown, a weight guesser, are to be among the occupants of the many booths.

Mrs. Joseph Hengelmann, mother vice-president is chairman of the event. Because paving on Pierce street has not yet been completed, parents will be notified where to park.

The Altar Society of Our Lady Queen of Martyrs Church, on Pierce street south of 14 Mile road, will sponsor a rummage sale in the social hall of the church from 8:30 a.m. to 8 p.m. tomorrow.

A Saturday morning program of crafts, group games and play groups for boys and girls from 8 to 14 years of age is again being offered by the YMCA. Youngsters may register for the classes, to be held on the hour from 9 a.m. to noon.

Groups will be out of doors when weather permits. Play groups will be conducted by Kingswood School students and Paul Heins and Edwin Kirbert of the Y staff.

The Treblaires, a girl's barber shop quartette from Royal Oak, will entertain at tonight's social meeting of the Business Women's Club. Dinner will be served at the Community House at 7, with the program to follow.

Co-chairmen of the October committee are Esther Mints and Helen Hawthorne. Co-workers are Mary Burnside, Louise Cobb, Marjorie Estes, Gertrude Fletcher, Ann Hoover and Laura Kurth.

une change despite their professed desire to relax tensions and to preserve peace.

But, he said, much progress has been made toward thwarting the spread of communism — through the new Western Europe defense alliance agreement and through the Southeast Asia pact recently signed at Manila, for example.

He also mentioned improvement of the situations in Suez, Trieste and Guatemala. He cited other areas and other fields too and added:

"In these many ways our nation will continue tirelessly in its quest for peace based on justice. In recent months we have come far — and yet we know that the road ahead is long and difficult."

Eisenhower's address was interrupted seven times by applause. He got a standing ovation when he started and another when he concluded.

He said this country has three avenues in its quest for peace. "First, we must tirelessly seek through the United Nations, through every other available means—to establish the conditions for honorable peace."

"Second, we must promote the unity and collective strength of other free peoples."

"Third, we must maintain enough military strength to deter aggression and promote peace."

In elaborating on the latter point, he said:

"Together with the armed strength of other free nations, our military power—the greatest in our peacetime history—is today a deterrent to war. This military power, for we must and shall maintain, for we are determined that at all times, in today's uncertain world, we shall be able to deal effectively and flexibly with whatever situations may arise."

He pledged that America's forces "will never be used to initiate war against any nation; they will be used only for the defense of the free world."

CORNELIA OTIS SKINNER

Famous Actress to Spark Opening of Lecture Series

BIRMINGHAM—A new culture will come to Birmingham with tomorrow's opening of Birmingham Tower Hall, a series of six lectures sponsored by St. Anne's Guild of St. James Episcopal Church.

In an original play, "Mansion on the Hudson," Cornelia Otis Skinner will portray six sharply contrasting roles as she initiates the series at 11 a.m. at the Birmingham Theater.

The meaning of a family and home, the lengths to which women have gone to preserve both, the beauty and vulgarity of American living over a period of 30 years, are vividly explored by Miss Skinner.

A capacity 1,400 tickets have been sold out for each performance in the series.

merely military questions and cover a wide scale of political, social, economic and cultural fields.

The ministers also discussed the methods of voting within the BRUTO Council of Ministers.

A spokesman for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization said the NATO secretary-general, Lord Ismay, attended the morning meeting as an observer. The informant said the session "made very good progress."

The only possible stumbling block appeared to be the French plan for the most rigid control of armaments production on the continent.

Reliable sources said that Premier Pierre Mendes-France made it clear to Secretary of State John Foster Dulles during a dinner conversation last night that he still feels it is of utmost importance to decentralize the production of armaments by the members of the Brussels pact as much as possible.

He wants the proposed agreement to control almost the entire conventional armament production of the pact nations of the continent of Europe. His demand is, of course, aimed at West Germany.

French sources said the Premier would make an extremely strong argument on behalf of his armaments plan.

He will warn the other foreign ministers that if they don't give him something substantial the French National Assembly is likely to attach a rider to the ratification of the London agreement.

American sources said Dulles emphasized to the French Premier that disagreement over the scope of the proposed agreement must not be allowed to endanger the quick implementation of the London accord.

The American diplomat urged Mendes-France to allow this question to be the subject of further study by the expanded Brussels Treaty Organization.

Conference sources generally were confident that a compromise on the issue would be achieved before Saturday.

'Socialism' Aim of Dems—Nixon

Truman Administration Wanted to Boost Debt Sky-High, Says Veep

CHICAGO — The Truman administration, says Vice President Nixon, had prepared "a virtual blueprint for socializing America" when the Eisenhower administration took office in 1953.

The blueprint, Nixon said in an address last night, would have added "40 billion dollars to the national debt between 1952 and 1956."

He said it called for socializing medicine, housing, agriculture, water and power, "but most disturbing of all, socializing of America's greatest source of power—atomic energy."

"We found the proof that this was the case when we came to Washington on Jan. 20, 1953," he said.

He said if the blueprint found "in the files" had been carried out it "would have led the nation straight down the road our British friends have taken—to socialism."

He said the Eisenhower philosophy "simply and bluntly... rejects socialism as an effective answer to our economic need."

It is a philosophy, he said, that believes that the government should promote "solid wealth-creating activities" and that "government activity should not be one of the leaf-raking, boondoggling, make-work type of the '30s."

He said the Eisenhower administration activities "not only stimulate greater production but avoid recession." He cited "the biggest highway program in history, the greatest housing program and the greatest public works program, including such projects as the St. Lawrence seaway."

army of nimrods was practically ideal. Conservation department officers reported hunters were taking pheasants in most areas and limit bags were the rule rather than the exception.

The record opening day participation was achieved despite a mid-week start of the season.

The estimated 300,000 hunters were almost all in place when the season opened at 10 a.m. Another wave of after-work hunters took to the fields around 5 p.m.

Conservation officers predicted up to half-a-million hunters will be stalking pheasants and other small game in the lower peninsula before the weekend is over.

Hunters reported cool temperatures, sunny skies and just enough moisture on the ground to permit dogs to work effectively.

A native of Shenandoah, Iowa, Arvidson was a veteran of both Army and Navy service in World War II and was a graduate of Coe College and the University of Iowa.

BIRMINGHAM—Pleading guilty to a charge of possession of an alcoholic beverage by a minor, Thomas L. Hartsock, 18, of Ferndale, paid $15 costs and was placed on six months probation by Justice John J. Gaffill yesterday.

Melvyn K. Zamba, 22, also of Ferndale, pleaded guilty to a charge of furnishing an alcoholic beverage to minors and paid a $15 fine plus $10 costs.

Railroad Curve Is Set Aglow by 6,000 Bulbs

ALTOONA, Pa. — The world-famed Horseshoe Curve of the Pennsylvania Railroad was lit up last night by 6,000 flash bulbs set off simultaneously in an experiment of photoflash picture taking.

The light was estimated to be greater than the power of 15 million ordinary household electric lamps.

The experiment highlighted two industry celebrations: the 100th anniversary of the Horseshoe Curve and the 75th anniversary of the modern incandescent lamp. The PRR and the Sylvania Electric Products Co. cooperated in the project.

Photographers took pictures from towers set up for the purpose. Three generators provided power to set off the flash bulbs, mounted on stakes around the curve.

Although most people picture jade as leafy green, it ranges from white to spinach. There is a white variety, chloromelanite, and occasionally yellow, blood red, or mauve pieces are found.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 21, 1954

Those New Pontiacs

Boys and girls, the new Pontiacs are terrific.

They're tremendous.

Pontiac should be the "hot" car of the year. In fact, General Manager ROBERT M. CRITCHFIELD is predicting sales of 450,000 of the 1955 model.

Thus far this year, approximately 290,000 cars have been produced with two and a fraction months yet to go. Thus it would appear that Pontiac is planning to produce approximately thirty per cent more automobiles in the year ahead.

THIS IS BIG NEWS.

Every man, woman and child in this city can rejoice. We can take up the small slack that we've experienced in industrial employment. A year ago, Pontiac had four defense, jobs and three of these have been completed or canceled. The resulting lack of work should be completely compensated by the automobile increase.

The new cars are marvelous. The straight eight motor has given way to a completely new V-eight. This is a tremendous step. According to plant officials, the new motor has had the most thorough and exhausting tests and they have no hesitation in pronouncing it one of the greatest motors in the industry. Some say it ranks first. All who have seen it perform are fired with enthusiasm. The horsepower is stepped by a substantial margin and when you tromp down on the accelerator, the thing jumps away like a frightened rabbit.

Mr. CRITCHFIELD and his associates are very optimistic over the prospects ahead. They are imbued with confidence as they never have been before. This is apparent from speaking with any of them.

Pontiac dealers from coast to coast have seen the new models.

THEY'RE REALLY STEAMED UP.

And remember, Pontiac has had many marvelous years and has built a steady line of wonderful automobiles. These dealers have been taught to expect something extraordinary.

Well, they have it.

These cars exceed all their expectations.

Even when the current defense contract ends, the motor division should go a long ways toward absorbing the employees involved. Only seven per cent of the total force is working on Government business now.

Pontiac—the city and the automobile—experienced a reasonably good year in 1954. It wasn't a record breaker, but you can't break records every year. At least no one has up to now.

But mark you, the 1955 Pontiac is a pretty wonderful thing. America will go for it. (We've ordered ours, already.)

Nehru the Inscrutable

India's Prime Minister NEHRU is a baffling personality.

Perhaps more than any other contemporary statesman, the motives and actions of GANDHI's successor as head of the Congress Party, puzzles Americans.

For that reason his latest pronouncement that he desires to retire temporarily from his high office to get a fresh viewpoint, isn't too surprising. Although he is only 64, NEHRU is being tired, but reportedly has made it clear he plans no permanent retirement.

This has led to the opinion in some quarters that the Prime Minister is sending up a trial balloon in the hope that there will be an overwhelming demand for him to seek re-election. Another version is that he really does desire to turn over his political burdens to younger, fresher men.

Whatever the case, there will be widespread agreement in this country about one thing. A rest for the leader who hasn't been able yet to take a firm stand against Communism would be good for India and the Western world.

Belgium Bets on Peace

The people of Belgium are laying a $200,000,000 wager that peace will continue for at least four years.

That certainly is the meaning of their decision to hold an international exposition at Brussels in 1958. Baron MOENS DE FERNIG, former minister of foreign trade, will direct all preparations for the fair.

The $200,000,000 will be used to erect exposition buildings, construct roads, parking areas, hotels, motels and trailer camps. All told 21,000,000 are expected to visit the fair grounds on the Heysel Plateau, four and one-half miles north of downtown Brussels.

Already advance notice of the project has gone out to the 56 countries with which Belgium maintains diplomatic relations. These Nations are invited to send exhibits. In addition several international organizations have been invited and special exhibits are planned for the Halls of World Co-operation, of Science and of Arts.

The Man About Town

Complaints Due Some Hunters Not Showing Respect for Property

Television: The juvenile delinquent of the arts.

The bird season had been open less than an hour Wednesday when reports were phoned in about hunters trespassing on private and posted grounds without permission, which is contrary to law. It appears that some hunters do not abide by the good sportsman's axiom.

"Ask the Farmer First," and thus get into trouble. In this connection, President of the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club, says our hunters would get a more cordial greeting from the farmers if they'd do things to cultivate a friendship at other times during the year than only when the hunting season arrives.

Within a few days after an item appeared in this column about political signs being nailed on trees within the highway limits in Oakland County, which is contrary to law, practically all of them were torn down. Thanks.

Supervisor Ransford Bromley Backs New Site; Says It Benefits the County

(Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.)

As Supervisor of Addison Township and one of the 25 members of the Board of Supervisors elected by the people, I wish to clarify any misunderstanding that may result from an Oct. 14 article in which W. S. Downes, discussing the courthouse question said, "Under this present system the following cities control the Board of Supervisors: Royal Oak, Ferndale, Hazel Park, Huntington Woods, Clawson and a few others in southern Oakland County."

During my seven years on the Board, I fail to remember one attempt by the so-called City Supervisors from southern Oakland County or elsewhere to use their large representation to force any issue which would not benefit the entire county.

Referring again to control of the Board by southern Oakland County Supervisors, Mr. Downes wrote, "These are the people who are fostering the new courthouse and who want to move it."

The County Clerk's official record of the Aug. 23 meeting reveals that 22 of the 23 "elected township supervisors" present voted to re-submit the 1/4 mill question to the voters Nov. 2.

I strongly favor building a new county building on the Service Center site and I believe my view is shared by thousands who have familiarized themselves with the many advantages this site offers.

Finds Trying to Lift Others' Spirits Gratifying

Some time ago, when I wasn't feeling well and just had a general case of plain laziness, I received a letter, well written but so depressing it cheered me up.

I got out of bed and answered the letter and I put all the cheerful good news in it that I could and mailed it. Result: I felt better than I had taken any other prescription by mouth.

Soon a few cheerful letters came from the same person before I even had a chance to answer them.

When I am depressed I find reading the Bible helps me and we should appreciate the articles in the Saturday issues of the Press written by our religious leaders and perhaps even more the cartoons on the editorial page.

I was glad to read in the Press that the comic book publishers are forming an organization. I have read many comics to my children that quieted them down when no other "pain killers" would, and believe me I have yet to discover any comic book or cartoon that glorifies a criminal. I still read good books to children and sometimes have to explain cartoons to them (especially the political one on the editorial page).

These boys, girls and adults, I hope will be looking forward to Walt Disney's cartoon programs beginning Oct. 27 on TV.

Husband Who Frets About His Health Loses Prestige in Wife's Estimation

Clarence is becoming sissy, for women don't like signs of fear in their men folk. A husband who frets unduly about his health thus loses prestige in his wife's estimation even though she may not be conscious of that fact. So live like a lion instead of a sheep.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
 Case M-346: Clarence T., aged 47, is a typical worrier about his health.

"Dr. Crane, I get so vexed at him," his wife informed me. "For he is always sprouting the symptoms of every disease described in the medical column of our newspaper."

"And Clarence keeps our medicine cabinet full of pills and tonics and vitamins and laxatives."

"If he doesn't have his bran for breakfast, he is sure he will be sick. It is getting on my nerves. Why should a grown man act so sissy and afraid of ill health?"

People who try to live without teaming up with God, get unduly scared. So they often try to substitute vitamin tablets and other tonics or laxatives as their medicinal delly.

Millions of Americans get their only morning exercise just jumping to erroneous conclusions about their health.

Aunt Het

Fa makes fun of me because I can't say no to borrowers, but I never saw a grocer or banker that didn't take friendship as collateral.

Mentally, they take a physical examination each morning and probe their hearts and lungs and gall bladder and stomach and liver and gizzard, etc.

Because of such preoccupation with their "innards" it is only natural that they will ultimately find some gas bubble or minor twinge which they immediately magnify into cancer or some other dire threat.

Then they become medical shoppers, for they go from one physician to another, determined to find a doctor who will agree with them in their negative attitude.

If a medic tells them they are OK, they consider him incompetent, and consult another and still another until some physician recognizes them as simply neurotic, and gives them a colored sugar pill to relieve their minds.

Millions of Americans now clutter medical offices and jam our hospitals to overflowing, needlessly.

We don't require more hospitals in America. We just need more horse sense and greater faith in God.

Too many people are subconsciously malingering or such negative thinkers that they drive themselves to hospitals to take advantage of their hospital insurance.

We modern human beings are the healthiest group in the entire history of mankind, yet we worry the most about our innards.

That's partly due to excessive advertising of patent medicines and vitamins.

It is partly an offshoot of this scientific age where people are acutely aware of heart ailments and cancer. But it is also an indication that people don't have enough wholesome outside interests.

And it generally means lack of partnership with God. So quit being a sissy male.

Men aren't supposed to fret unduly about health or pamper their colons and discuss their "operation." That is feminine stuff.

Get a medical check-up once per year. Then let your physician worry for you. That's why you pay him. Meanwhile, enjoy life. Live like a lion instead of a panicky sheep.

Common Respiratory Infections Supply Doctors With 75 Per Cent of Practice

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

I doubt that any physician of standing will assert over his or her signature that "exposure" to cold, wet, dampness, draft, change of weather or insufficient clothing is the cause of any specific disease or illness.

No, my dear knuckleheads, the doctors who use the "cold" hokum to string customers along without a diagnosis prefer to keep the nonsensical notion just so—vague and subject to change to suit the charlatans' requirements.

These doctors who call an illness "just a bad cold" until the nature of the illness becomes obvious feel perfectly secure because only a few "nuts" know better.

I have been engaged too long trying to teach you knuckleheads the nature and cause of three-fourths of your everyday ills, to expect to embarrass the busy practitioners who call em "colds." But I keep hammering away at it because, every once or twice in a while, I get letters from former knuckleheads who have learned to call it CRI. They thank me for the better health they have enjoyed

David Lawrence Says:

GOP Deserves to Win—It Prevented Depression

WASHINGTON—This is the election that the Republicans deserved to win. But, if the reports from far and wide are to be credited, this is the election they are going to lose.

A highly placed Republican in the Eisenhower administration said privately to this writer the other day: "If the Democrats get control of Congress, it will not be because they won the election but because the Republicans lost it."

The distinction goes to the heart of present-day political customs and practices.

For the American people have not yet been told why they should be grateful to the Republican administration at Washington, and it may be wondered whether down at the grass roots there will be adequate organization work done between now and election day to get the simple truth to the voters.

That truth is best expressed by this statement: The American people were saved from the worst economic crash in history when the ending of the Korean War forced a curtailment of government expenditures and started a downward spiral of unemployment.

Timely measures prevented the unemployment rolls from reaching more than about 5 per cent. This is a relatively low figure.

It is true that there are 3,100,000 unemployed in America now, but there were close to 9,000,000 in 1932 when the Roosevelt administration succeeded in winning the biggest majority in Congress that the Democratic Party ever had.

What the unemployed today may not realize is that their best chance for employment is in the steady building of a stable economy.

What the 60,000,000 who are employed do not realize is that the 3,100,000 figure of unemployed would have grown substantially larger if the Eisenhower administration had not taken prompt measures to steady the national economy and cushion the shock that came with the ending of the Korean War.

Never has so much been done in such a short time to avert a major depression. European statesmen who are detached from American politics privately sing the praises of the Eisenhower administration and say it has averted a worldwide economic disaster that could have given the Communists a bigger chance than ever before to penetrate the countries of the free world.

Take the highly emotional issue of peace or war. In 1932 the nation was troubled not so much by the number actually engaged in Korea but by the potential numbers about to be drafted for a prolonged war.

The Eisenhower administration has reduced the draft calls and has pledged that it will not go into more wars without the consent of the people's agents—the Congress of the United States.

An important campaign was won in 1936 by the Democrats on the issue of peace. Today peace is as deeply emotional an issue as it ever was, but one hears little about it on the stump and in the precincts where the voters are soon to be mobilized.

Take the question of Communism in government. Vice President Nixon has just expressed it effectively in saying: "We find that the issue in 1932 was not the issue of the relative loyalty of the Democrats and the Republicans. That was never the issue then—it is not the issue now. The issue was not the loyalty of those in high places. It was their blindness."

"There were a few men, unfortunately, in the previous administration who underestimated this Communist danger, and who covered it up when it was brought to their attention. They made the greatest error that an administration could make in this very important field. You know what it was. They failed to heed the warnings of J. Edgar Hoover and the FBI."

"Let me give you an example. Between 1939 and 1945, the FBI laid reports on the desks of top agencies in this government four different times regarding the members of the Hiss espionage ring. Four times those reports were pigeonholed. Four times the people that were named in them, instead of being fired, were promoted. No wonder the American people lost confidence in the Truman administration's ability or will to deal with this problem."

But Mr. Nixon's is a single voice. That's what all the Republican speakers should have been talking about for months. Apart from Korea and communism, the big issue in 1952 was corruption. The housing scandals since revealed are the most shocking in American history. But the Republicans have not put the responsibility for this where it belongs—on the Democratic Congress which passed the loose laws and the Truman regime which administered these laws even more loosely than they were written.

The Republicans have an excellent case, politically speaking, while the Democrats have defensively very little to offer. Then why aren't the Republicans winning? That's a good question and maybe in the next few days the Republicans will be posing it to themselves from the White House down to the precinct workers and perhaps they will be presenting their case more forcefully than they have in the past several months.

Baering Down

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

(International News Service)

We'll do all correct in international dib-dabs just as soon as we fit the action to the deed, the wish to the thought and the shoe to the bunion.

We have knocked off cups de grease and strokes of state in a monotonous string of victorious stalemates. But we never fit the label to the bottle.

We got a Mexican stand-off in Korea, made a Dutch buck in Indochina and took French leave in Italian Trieste.

We walked Spanish in Egypt, were Indian givers in Spain, talked Turkey in France and got in Baden-Baden in Worsen-Worsen.

Our long views never did see what was around the corner. Our snap judgment lacked a bite.

We used paper-backs in Morocco, whirled anti-clockwise with the stationary dervishes and milked sacred cows in India. But we managed to poke the sticks in the right gaps.

APPLES BAKED IN ORANGE JUICE—Plentiful fall apples, baked in fresh golden orange juice, make a delicious and nutritious dessert that the children will love. Use any good baking apple, serve hot or cold. Any leftovers may be served for breakfast.

Orange Juice Drenches Nutritious Baked Apples

"See the pretty apple, top of the crop..."
There's a musical from the mid-30s playing a return engagement on Broadway this fall that has a hitting song about apples. It says that if you want that pretty apple you'll have to be "up on your toes."

Right now, on these crisp fall days, you just have to be on your toes enough to remember to order fresh apples from your nearest foodstore. The crop is coming in, and it's a joy—to the eye, to the palate and, best of all, to your health.

Chief varieties on the market this fall are Delicious, Jonathan and McIntosh. The gay red Delicious, sweet and juicy, highly popular for eating out of hand and for salad, is in biggest supply.

The second of the Big Three apples of the fall is the Jonathan, a bright red, carmine-striped, tender and juicy fruit. It is good for all uses.

Then comes the bright red McIntosh, an excellent all-around apple, a little more on the tart side than the mild Delicious. It's delightful for out-of-hand eating, desserts, salads and cooking. Enjoy these and the many other local favorites that offer fall eating enjoyment.

During the apple season, make the most of this fragrant gift from nature.

Serve apples in some form every day and you will be rewarded with wide smiles of pleasure from your family and, best of all, you'll have the confident feeling that you are doing your very best to keep your loved ones hale, hearty and healthy.

Boil Dry Beans Gently to Keep Them Whole

To cook dry lima and navy beans so they will remain whole, boil them gently and avoid a lot of stirring. Rapid boiling and frequent stirring cause bean skins to break.

When cooking beans under pressure, allow time for a slow rise and fall of pressure so that the beans will cook evenly without breaking.

The amoeba is eyeless but its body is sensitive to light.

Offers to Clean Milford Alleys

Glen Tyler Will Give Service and Truck on Civic Project

MILFORD—A 28 year old Milford resident has offered his service and his truck as a one-man clean-up squad to clear the alleys behind the stores along Main street.

Glen Tyler, clerk in the business administration offices of the General Motors Proving Grounds, has made the "free-of-charge" offer to the village.

"After seeing the condition of the alleys in Milford, I figured it was high time somebody cleaned them up—they're a definite fire hazard," the Navy veteran stated.

"I hope that once the alleys are cleaned up, the village may take up the project and grade and recondition the alleys, making it accessible for fire equipment to operate," he added.

He voiced the hope that once the alleys are cleaned, perhaps the merchants would keep them in good condition.

Tyler, who lives with his wife Margaret and their three children, Sharon, 5, Carolyn, 4, and Glen, 2, is a lifelong resident of Milford.

Scribe Finds Pheasant Plentiful on 1st Day

By JACK PATTERSON

(Pontiac Press Outdoor Writer)

CASEVILLE — We officially opened the pheasant season yesterday morning in the area west of Pigeon, in the company of Bob and Ed Nelson and Ed's son Jack. Written histories of hunting lore probably fail to record a demonstration of atrocious marksmanship to equal the performance of this foursome. Bird after bird ballooned up at point-blank range, only to sail away to safety amidst a withering barrage of near (and not so near) misses.

Young Jack Nelson finally broke the spell by clobbering a handsome cock with that example to spur them on, the old fuddlers finally buckled down and collected a few more birds. But it was a pretty sad display, nonetheless.

We're seriously thinking of plugging our gun barrels with damp soil, planting them with ivy, or perhaps ferns, and donating them to the local branch of the Farm and Garden Club.

We did find plenty of birds, and other hunters interviewed backed us up on our guess that pheasants are about as plentiful as last year. At Bill Dorney's place in Caseville we ran into an Oxford delegation composed of Harold Pickford, Bob Brower, Dick Prince, Ralph Curtis, Ed Bassardet and Harold Parenti. The boys did very well on birds and fell a couple short of the limit only because of occasional indifferent marksmanship.

Only really easy limit we heard about was taken by Herman Cole of Pontiac, but Herman hunts in weird places where no one else would think of looking for birds. Places, incidentally, which we have been placed under oath not to divulge.

Ran into Gunnar George and found that he'd seen many birds but hadn't done them all the mischief the law allows. Roy Dorris reported good hunting which we took to mean a limit bag and the same dog bit Lou Cooper.

Hank Giroux and Harold Bessler of Cooley Lake burned a good deal of gunpowder in this area and brought back gaudy trophies to prove that they take their hunting seriously.

So the birds are here for the taking and it looks as though '54 will be one of the best pheasant seasons since the big decline of '47. But the hunting right now is anything but easy. Weeks of rain have left most of the farmland hereabouts in a semi-liquid condition. There's but one word for field conditions—rough.

One peculiarity of this year's birds, remarked upon by just about everyone hunting this area, was a marked refusal to fly, except in extreme emergency. Don't know, though, as it matters much to us. We even missed one running on the ground.

Joe Culmone won 69 races during the 45-day Atlantic City race-track meeting in 1950.

You Be the Quarterback

(Answer)

4. Dive play. That tackle is charging. Why dive into him?
3. Fullback slant. The offensive end takes care of the tackle on this one. But you're still not exploiting the real opportunity.
2. Pitchout and pass. With that end floating, you should have plenty of time to throw.
1. Quarterback keep. This is the play for this situation. When the end floats, the quarterback runs inside him.

Actor at Home

in 'Halls of Ivy'

High-Brow Attitude Characterizes Serial, Rare Amid Comics

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS)—The creamy organ tones of Ronald Colman made their TV debut Tuesday evening in Halls of Ivy, the TV version of his very good, exceptionally literate radio series of the same title.

It has Benita Hume (Mrs. C.) as his wife, and for the benefit of folks who have ignored radio entirely the last several seasons, it is set on a college campus where Colman plays William Tod, hunter Hall, its president.

The bubbling conflict at home stems from the fact that Mrs. Colman is a British musical comedy star before Cupid in the form of Colman swept her off to America and, as of now, to Ivy College.

Her lack of understanding of the stiffer protocol of a college campus gives some indication of hilarity to come, although this was only hinted at Tuesday evening. In fact, the whole premiere was notable mostly for its promise rather than its settled, permanent diversions.

It was an effective episode, however, to set the scene, establish that it is a script with ambitions far above and beyond customary TV dialogues, with gobs of deftly delivered and selected classical quotations, naturally from the handsome voice of Ronnie, and graceful, neatly flowery speeches by Colman on virtually any subject.

There are quite a few tiny pedantic jokes in the dialogue (such as Ronnie didn't wish to be a frog "and croak before my time") but there are more perceptively satisfying gambits, such as Pres. and Mrs. Hall's discussion of nursery rhymes and discovering them laden with bigamy (the man on the way to St. Ives who met a man with seven wives), larceny, murder, bad grammar, manners and even bad rhyming.

The script doesn't intend, clearly, to lower its semantic sights nor to shorten its syllables just because someone sometime said the TV audience may be wearing some sort of a collective duncecap.

It rides full gallop into such words as temerity, bellicose and further dictionary esoteria (he even has us doing it) with the plain implication that to do any less with a college president would be to patronize his audience.

There is little patronizing here, in, and even a helping of quotations from the dead ancients of Rome, Athens, and even, in one fairly courageous final fling, from the Sanskrit.

There's nothing snooty about the manner of its delivery; it's presented with the expectation that there is more mentality in the living room than meets the convictions of the typical TV gagman. There was a great deal in this opening episode to indicate respect not only for the television medium, but for the English language, the common decencies, and a great many of the virtues usually reserved for the more cheerful saints.

Ronald Colman is . . . well, Ronald Colman, whose handsome facade and surface formality seems to hide a constant private joke with glint in eye to match and he is just about as satisfying as his veteran admirers could wish.

He is urbane, about as handsome as any man of his years legally should be, and delivers his dialogues with just the properly tidy good humor which escapes the pretensions.

Benita Hume as his wife plays her role to its casually good natured hilt and projects a person of natural great-lady instincts while never forgetting her music hall background.

Insurance Firms Deny False Ads

8 Accused Companies Defend Practices Cited in U. S. Complaint

By UNITED PRESS

Spokesmen for eight accident and health insurance companies have defended their advertising practices against complaints filed by the Federal Trade Commission.

The eight were included in the 17 companies accused by the FTC Tuesday of making "false and misleading" advertising claims.

Philip E. Moran, general counsel for the Mutual Benefit Health and Accident Association of Omaha, Neb. (Mutual of Omaha) called the FTC's action "ill advised."

He said Mutual of Omaha was the only company on the list "which is licensed in every one of the 48 states."

"It appears to us," he said, "that a conflict has arisen as to whether we are to be supervised by the individual state insurance commissions . . . or by the Federal Trade Commission."

R. E. Pratt, treasurer of the Travelers Health Association of Omaha, said "we do not know what their objections are."

"We know of no false or misleading claims in any of our advertising," he said. "If, in the opinion of the (FTC), such exists, we would have been glad to amend our advertising accordingly."

In Chicago the Bankers Life and Casualty Co. said in a statement that it has tried to "serve and protect the public interest."

"There is a constant problem of getting the public to understand both the benefits and the limitations of all forms of insurance," it said.

At Hammond, Ind., the executive president of the Guarantee Reserve Life Insurance Co., Jerome Kutak, said he was shocked and surprised that the FTC released the story of its accusations before informing the companies involved.

Begging Still Not Legal Even if Business Good

CHICAGO (UP)—Business is so good, blind George Williams told the judge yesterday, that he spends only two hours a day strumming his guitar and singing hillbilly songs on Chicago streets.

He said $20 to $25 an hour is dropped into his tin cup. Judge Oscar S. Caplan warned Williams, however, that begging is illegal and put him on probation until Dec. 2.

Lansing Ex-Mayor Dies

Old Pals Battle for Speakership

Rayburn, Martin Stage Vigorous Election Fight Despite Their Ages

WASHINGTON (INS)—Two men whose tremendous vigor belies their years are fighting it out today for the third highest office in the land—speaker of the House of Representatives.

The rivals are Speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr. (R-Mass.), who will be 70 Nov. 3, the day after election day, and House Minority Leader Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.), who was 72 last Jan. 6.

Rayburn—the Democrats' beloved "Mr. Sam"—has served six terms as speaker since 1940 when he was first elected to that post, now next in succession to the White House after the vice president.

Martin is completing his second term as speaker. He filled the job in the GOP 80th Congress of 1947-48 and was the overwhelming choice when the Republicans returned to power with the Eisenhower sweep of 1952.

Each man, when his party was out of power, has served as minority leader in every Congress since the 76th, back in 1940.

Despite the political and geographical gulfs between them, there are curious parallels in the lives of Martin and Rayburn.

Both are bachelors. Both are wholeheartedly dedicated to the great game of politics. Both enjoy the respect and admiration of members of opposing parties. And the dark-haired New Englander and the bald-pated Texan are close personal friends.

Both men are assured of re-election to the House.

And it is as certain as it is that the sun will rise on election day that if the Democrats win control of the House, "Mr. Sam" again will be the speaker, and that if the Republicans prevail, Joe Martin will succeed himself.

Ten Counties to Plan Services for Disaster

LANSING (UP)—Ten Southeastern Michigan counties will consider ways of providing a mutual support area for welfare services in case Detroit is bombed.

At a meeting Oct. 27-28 in the offices of the Detroit Office of Civil Defense, officials will consider the creation of a program for welfare service aid.

The counties include Wayne, Macomb, Washtenaw, Monroe, Livingston, Lenawee, Oakland, Genesee, Lapeer and St. Clair.

Adds Insult to Injury

SALT LAKE CITY (UP)—Injury was added to insult here recently when postal officials reported the theft of two registered letters from the contract post office at the Utah capitol building.

The Salt Lake postmaster revealed that one letter contained reports on the day's business at the postoffice and the other contained $112 in cash, the day's receipts at the contract station.
