Making Jam Outdoors

Probate Judges Adopt Plan

Pledge Aid to Troubled Youth

County Jurists' Program Basis of New Attack

Emphasis Is Placed on Fortifying Family Welfare in State

MACKINAC ISLAND — Michigan's troubled youths were promised a helping hand in the form of a five-point program adopted by the Juvenile and Probate Judges Association meeting here today.

Unanimous approval of the plan marked another milestone for Oakland County Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore who formulated and proposed it.

For years he has worked to get help for troubled youths, the underprivileged, the mentally ill, those in scrapes with the law, and those who have never know the care of a mother and father.

The Association decreed a statewide program under its leadership and juvenile courts to fortify family and community child welfare and protect underprivileged children.

The program has five major objectives. They are:

1. Creation of youth assistance programs, such as is already under way in Pontiac and a dozen other Oakland County communities.

2. Intensive diagnostic programs, such as will soon be undertaken in Wayne County.

3. Judicial efficiency programs applicable to all courts including an educational program, to improve the courts' handling of problem youths.

4. An inter-county program in some portions of the state to group together the smaller counties and their juvenile court facilities.

5. Scientific measurement of the foregoing to make sure the program is not merely a "paper program."

Shoemaker Scores a Point

By MAX E. SIMON

A shoemaker's criticism of Michigan State University Oakland has helped a university dean drive home the need for classic studies in today's college curriculum.

Sixty-four-year-old John Panos of the Wayne Street Shoe Repair Shop thought he'd found a gaping hole in the MSUO academic program when the university's history faculty announced that the introductory Western civilization course would stress the late Middle Ages to the present.

Panos, a naturalized citizen who was born in Greece, stopped hammering nails into shoe heels long enough to hammer the new university.

He was distressed to learn that the philosophers of Greece and empire-builders of Rome would be played down.

Expressing sympathy with Panos' criticism, Dr. Robert G. Hoopes, dean of the faculty, assured the shoemaker today that both the Greeks and the Romans would get proper billing in the Space Age curriculum at MSUO.

"We are committed to the indispensable presence of Greek and Latin studies in our curriculum," Hoopes declared.

"Plato's voice—a voice that continues to speak—was as meaningful to me as any in the course of my formal education," said the former vice president of the American Council of Learned Societies.

"Discouraging students from listening to it would only be to further impoverish the poor."

Hoopes pointed out that the history faculty never intended to completely overlook the Greeks and Romans but would pick up "ancient strands when needed."

"No year's course can cover

2 Rockets Flop, Two in Space: Score for Day

On Plus Side at Cape, Polaris Missile Toting $3 Million Machine

By The Associated Press

The United States had its busiest day of rocketry Friday since it began reaching for space. But the main effort failed — an attempt to send a 12-foot inflatable balloon into orbit.

The Juno II rocket roared spaceward from Cape Canaveral, Fla., bearing the unusual balloon-moon.

Its three stages ignited successfully, but the last one apparently went in the wrong direction and carried the satelite back into the earth's atmosphere.

Another failure was a giant Titan missile that blew up on its launching pad at the Cape earlier in the day.

On the plus side at Cape Canaveral was a successful launching of a Polaris missile from a three-million dollar machine that simulates the motion of a submarine at sea. The weapon is designed to be fired from a sub anywhere in the world.

BRITISH IN ACT

At Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., a British Air Force training crew successfully launched a 1,500-mile Thor missile, the kind being set up at bases in England.

In Hawaii, Air Force planes equipped with dangling trapeze devices tried to snare a capsule returning to earth from the satellite Discoverer V, which was fired into orbit Thursday from the West Coast base. They failed to get any sight of the capsule.

Surface vessels also combed the

Read About Pat Nixon: Starts Monday in Press

Do you wonder sometimes how Pat Nixon does it? One of the world's most-traveled women, Mrs. Richard M. Nixon has sat with the mighty, been cheered and been booed. Ruth Montgomery, one of Washington's best-known writers, presents a candid and intimate picture of Pat Nixon, in a series of three stories starting Monday in The Pontiac Press. Watch for it!

Teeth Glue Reported for Future

WASHINGTON (AP) — Development of a "tooth glue" that might eventually eliminate the need for dental plates and bridges was reported today by Navy medical researchers.

Other possibilities:

Take a tooth out, fill it, glue it back in; extract teeth that need straightening, glue them back in neat order; perhaps repair broken bones.

Experiments with dogs indicate that after a tooth is pulled, the original tooth or an artificial substitute can be reinserted in the socket with the new cementing substance.

Capt. Thomas J. Canty described the development. He is director of the Prosthetics Research Laboratories of the Navy Hospital at Oakland, Calif., where the research is under way.

Canty said a dog now sports a tooth that was glued in about a year ago. The doctor said the pooch was able to eat the day after the dental glue job.

The researcher stressed that no dental glue studies have yet been made on humans, nor is the Navy making any claims that the technique will work on man. But he added "the animal work looks

Now That It's All Over, 'Hermit' Wants to Forget

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

The sun was his alarm clock and furnace, nature his home, apples and berries his sustenance, and his troubled mind his only companion.

Now, 32-year-old Bernard J. Blechars — his three months as a hermit in a Bloomfield Hills woods over — wants to forget it all.

Blechars says he will consult a psychiatrist Monday.

Yesterday, looking like the product of a Nazi concentration camp, Blechars consented to end his two days of silence and talk to newsmen at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital where he is being treated for malnutrition. He refused to be photographed because of the way he looked, he said.

He could give no other reason for his weird existence, which turned him into a medical phenomenon of a sort, other than: "I had no other place to go. I ran out of money."

Why did he select luxurious Bloomfield Hills as his refuge since May? "I always wanted to come out here for a vacation," the Ma-

'Grizzlies Visit Us Boldly in Alaska'

(Editor's Note: This is the last of a two-part special report to The Pontiac Press from Pontiac's Howard Shelley on his visit with Michigan's '59ers in Alaska's Susitna River Valley. By HOWARD SHELLEY

TALKEETNA, Alaska — Do bear and homesteaders get along? Frequently a black bear invades the area, the dogs put up a howl, and bear tracks lead into the bush.

Often times, they become uncommonly bold, however.

Last week Mrs. Marino Sik looked out the trailer window and there, standing on hind legs with forepaws against the window pane, was a large bear. A half-mile down the trail, a scrubby, 75-pound black bear cub was availing himself of food scraps at the Jerry Donaldson homestead—until Jerry made use of his 30.06 rifle.

While standing on the gravel road visiting with us, Mrs. Donaldson suddenly pointed down the trail. There, lumbering slowly along less than a hundred yards away, came a 300 or 400-pound "blackie" in our direction.

He scented us, stopped for a brief look, then bounded off into the bush. Seldom does the day go by that the dogs do not join in a "real" bear chase. Occasionally, a full-fledged "brownie" or a grizzle pays a visit.

What happens in case of an accident or illness? When an emergency occurs, a dynamite blast is set off, and from across the river four or five miles away, noted bush-pilot Don Sheldon quickly lands on a tiny landing-strip and rushes the patient to a hospital in Anchorage, 115 miles to the south.

THEY'RE HAPPY

By and large, the '59ers seem both contented and happy. They are fully aware of the long, rough road lying ahead. They'll improvise and tackle any problem confronting them. Of all things encountered so far, the rugged trip up the Alcan seemed to be the number one nightmare.

Perhaps this poem "Homesteading," composed by Mrs. Jerry Donaldson, pretty well sums up their feelings:

"There sits a box of high-heeled shoes,
But they don't give me the blues,
'Cause I've got no time to lose
While working on my homestead.

There hangs a dress of net so fine—
Reminds me of good times behind.
For them I do not pine,
While working on my homestead.

We came to Alaska to settle the land,
One hundred sixty acres for every man.
So there sits the high-heeled shoes.
They don't give me the blues,
'Cause I've got no time to lose,
While working on my homestead.

Maybe a generation from now, the pioneering exploits of these fearless, rugged-living '59ers — the Marino Siks, the Nick Rubinos, the Jerry Donaldsons, the Ray Kulas, Eric Eklund, Bill Orzechowski and Steve Panchowitz will have transformed the vast untamed wilderness of the Susitna River Valley into a thriving rural community in this fascinating frontier, "Land of the Midnight Sun."

Leader Mike Souchak Paired With Casper and Fairfield

Cooling breezes offered at least temporary relief to the hot, humid weather today as 75 pros and 12 amateurs started play in the third round of the $25,000 Motor City Open Golf Tournament at Meadowbrook Country Club.

Midway leader, Mike Souchak, and all his nearest rivals had late tee-off times and were barely starting their trek over the 6,721-yard, par 35-36—71 Meadowbrook course.

Souchak, whose course record 63 Friday gave him a three stroke edge over runnerup Arnold Palmer with a 36-hole total of 132, was in the last threesome leaving the first tee at 1:30 p.m.

Souchak was paired with Bill Casper and Don Fairfield. Among the best early nine-hole results, pros Ernie Boros and Brian Wilkes made the turn in 33 and Wally Burkemo of Franklin Hills posted 34.

Fiery Collision Kills Man, 70

Gas Tank Explodes, Setting 2 Cars Afire in Royal Oak

Thrown from his auto last night into a street covered with burning gasoline, a 70-year-old Royal Oak man died two hours later in William Beaumont Hospital

Stoffel's car was involved in a spectacular three-car collision and fire.

Stoffel was driving south on Woodward near Warwick street when his car was struck from behind by one driven by John F. Bulloch, 21, of 30445 Townley street, Madison Heights.

The impact exploded the gasoline tank of Stoffel's car, setting fire to both vehicles. Bulloch's car veered into the parked car and it, too, started to burn.

Unidentified passersby pulled Stoffel from the flames and beat out the burning clothing.

He died at 2 a.m. of first and second degree burns in William Beaumont Hospital.

Bulloch was also taken to Beaumont Hospital with an arm injury.

Truck Driver Dies in Plant Accident

Witnesses told police that a crane was hoisting steel beams from the truck when a chain snapped.

The dead man was identified as John J. Rockey, 21, of 7350 Wayne Rd.

FORWARD LOOKING COMMUNITY — One of Michigan's oldest settlements, Milford two years ago celebrated its 125th anniversary. The village doesn't look backward, however, but to the future. In the upper-right hand corner is the Jim Robbins Co. plant which turns out parts for highway trailers. Six new subdivisions are being built and the town is nearing the 3,000 mark in population. The village in the heart of the Huron Valley is surrounded by rolling hills and is close to Camp Dearborn and Kensington Park. Through the heart of the town runs "Main Street" — on which are most of the village's business establishments.

Says Officials Aided Enemies

Premier Reveals How Counter - Revolutionary Plot Was Crushed

The bearded Premier was in an alternating angry and laughing mood as he appeared before a nationwide television audience to tell how the counter-revolutionary plot was crushed.

Castro denounced Dominican Republic strongman Generalissimo Rafael L. Trujillo as "the financial boss of all those who are plotting against us."

He also sharply criticized the United States, charging Cuban war criminals who had taken refuge there were permitted to do as they like.

He declared airplanes based in Miami have made repeated flights to Cuba dropping antigovernment leaflets and picking up war criminals. Castro claimed American officials could have stopped such flights if they wanted to.

The revolutionary chieftain called the Inter-American Foreign Ministers Conference, being held in Santiago, Chile, to deal with the Caribbean crisis a "farce."

He ridiculed a program put before the conference by U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter for easing tensions.

Castro said Herter talks about "expeditions that come and go" instead of talking about Latin America's economic problems — "about the hunger of babies in our countries."

Herter had told the Santiago meeting that some of the recent invasions in the Caribbean area were "organized in other countries with the knowledge and consent of officials whose governments had promised to impede such action."

Herter did not mention Cuba or Castro by name. But Cubans took part in recent abortive invasions of Panama and the Dominican Republic.

Castro denounced Trujillo as the mastermind behind Caribbean tensions.

He told how an American, working as an undercover agent for him, lured Trujillo into thinking he was one of the anti-Castro conspirators and helped break the plot against his regime.

William Morgan of Toledo, Ohio, a major in the Cuban army, sat grinning in the TV audience as Castro explained how he had convinced Trujillo that he was an "adventurer who would do anything for money."

Castro described how Morgan brought a boatload of arms from the Dominican Republic and "lots of money too." The American was previously reported to have turned on the conspirators when the boat reached Cuban waters.

"If we could have kept our plans against the conspirators secret for another 15 days we could have captured not only all the war criminals but Trujillo and his army as well,' Castro said laughing heartily.

Toledo Man Pulls Cloak and Dagger Stuff

Castro's Morgan Daring at Age 3

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Maj. William Morgan, the adventurous American who has emerged as a key man for Fidel Castro in some cloak-and-dagger operations in Cuba, showed signs of his daring spirit when he was only three.

At that tender age, neighbors of his family in Toledo spotted little Billy Morgan toddling resolutely down his street with a handful of personal treasures wrapped in a handkerchief.

"I go to New York to see Major Bowes," the boy explained indignantly to his astounded mother, referring to the late star of a radio amateur show.

"That boy hasn't given me a moment's peace since then," says Mrs. A. W. Morgan, wife of a retired electric utility company executive. "That's why my hair is gray."

Latest exploits of the 30-year-old Morgan were discussed by Castro Friday night in a television appearance during which Castro attacked Rafael L. Trujillo, boss of the Dominican Republic.

PLAYS PART WELL

Morgan played his part so well, Trujillo believed he had "bought and paid for" Morgan's loyalty, Castro said. The Cuban leader said Trujillo went so far as to name Morgan head of a conspiracy against Castro, replacing Eleuterio Pedraza, a general under Batista who had been regarded abroad as the leader of the anti-Castro forces training in the Dominican Republic.

A Cuban military spokesman said Morgan had tricked an arms-laden plane from the Dominican Republic into landing Thursday night at Trinidad Airport where it was seized in a gunfight.

Morgan joined Castro in 1957 upon learning that a friend had been killed by Cuban secret police while smuggling arms to Castro's rebels.

He led guerrilla fighters known as the "Tigers of the Espesura" in 15 battles against Batista forces.

Morgan once said his force of 5,000 was reduced to 3,000 in the fighting.

Morgan's mother said Friday, he made a secret trip to Toledo by commercial plane a month ago.

WHAT TROUBLE NOW?

"I asked him what kind of trouble he was getting into now and he said there wasn't any more trouble," Mrs. Morgan recalled. "But a mother knows. I got a look at his clothing, and there wasn't a speck of identification. Why, he must have known even then he was going to pull that trick in the Dominican Republic."

That one-day trip to Toledo marked the first time Morgan's parents had seen him since he left here just before Christmas in 1957 to join Castro.

Since then his first wife, Theresa, mother of his two children, aged 3 and 1, has divorced him on grounds of desertion, and Morgan has married a Cuban school teacher.

Morgan, who didn't finish high school, read adventure stories while other boys were playing baseball in his native Cleveland. "He simply couldn't wait to get out in the world himself," his mother said.

Surrounding them are officers of the Castro forces. Morgan, a major in the Cuban army, was said by Castro to have lured Dominican Republic strongman Rafael L. Senate Likely to Get Busy Quickly on Labor Controls

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill) said today he was certain the labor regulation bill would be sent to conference by the Senate early next week.

Some Republican senators have urged that a move be made to accept the more stringent house bill, and send it directly to the White House.

But Dirksen told a reporter he did not think the votes were available for success in such an attempt. He said it might be a mistake in tactics in that it would be a challenge to the prerogatives of the Senate leadership, and thus might solidify all Democrats including the Southerners against the move to by-pass a conference.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Here's how Michigan Congressmen voted in the 303-125 roll call by which the House passed the Landrum-Griffin labor reform bill yesterday:

DEMOCRATS FOR: Martha W. Griffiths, John Lesinski.

REPUBLICANS AGAINST: John B. Bennett.

The Senate is expected to act on sending the bill to conference Monday or Tuesday.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr. (D-NC), coauthor of the original Senate bill, said he feared that sending the bill to conference might end any chance for legislation this session.

Ervin said he was willing to agree with other sponsors of the legislation that there were many areas in which the House bill and Senate bills are very similar.

These include the sections on public financial reporting, regulation of elections, control of trusteeships, bill of rights, and banning convicted criminals from serving as union officers.

Key differences are in the Taft-Hartley law sections. The House bill has much broader secondary boycott and organizational picketing sections than the Senate version. On the so-called no man's land problem, there is a wide divergence.

The Senate bill has more far-reaching provisions than the House version in some cases. For instance, the criminal penalties for violation of the bill of rights would be tougher.

Members of the Senate Labor subcommittee which originally worked on the legislation are expected to be named the Senate conferees.

sea north of the Hawaiian Islands looking for the floating capsule, but there was little hope of finding it. Its signal equipment apparently failed to work.

If the Cape Canaveral balloon had gone into orbit, it would have been the third successful U. S. satellite to circle the earth in a week. Last Friday a Thor-Able rocket shoved a 142-pound "paddlewheel" satellite into orbit which still is radioing back important space information.

The balloon-moon was designed to show just how much drag the super-thin atmosphere up to an altitude of 1,000 miles or so would have on such a large, light object.

If all had gone well, the last stage of the June would have kicked free the aluminum-foil package, and a nitrogen bottle would have blown it up to its 12-foot inflated size. After that it would have stayed in shape because of its rigid skin, even if it were punctured by tiny meters.

This moon would have been the first launched by the U.S. visible to the naked eye.

It was to be the forerunner of other balloon satellites as big as a house. These are to be used to set up a worldwide communications network, by bouncing radio signals off them.

And Carry an Umbrella

Hot? Then Eat Hearty

EAST LANSING (AP)—Heat been bothering you? Eat hearty and carry an umbrella, recommends a Michigan State University dietician.

"I am violently opposed to light eating in the summer," said Prof. Horace Cardinell. "Whoever started that line of thought, didn't know what he was talking about."

"The trouble is," he said, "we eat too lightly in the summer when we're exercising more, and load up in the winter when we're not getting much of a workout."

Prof. Cardinell also advised against cold drinks — whether iced coffee, tea or cocktails. Although they taste cool, he said, they actually promote perspiration. Hot drinks make you cooler, he said.

The MSU nutrition expert spent six years in the Amazon Valley in South America and had some tips from that tropical area.

"It's not considered sissified to carry umbrellas to ward off the sun," he said. "Also, walk on the shady side of the street. In the tropics, even the dogs do that."

"If the technique should prove successful in humans," he said, "you could have a full set of teeth extracted and then replace them with synthetic teeth, or teeth from a tissue bank, which could be secured in the jaw without need for the usual denture plate which is uncomfortable for some people. It also should be less expensive.

"A tooth requiring a filling could be taken out, filled, and then reinserted in the socket.

"Or, you might need to have youth teeth straightened. Such teeth could be extracted and realigned in their sockets."

He said the "glue" is actually made of materials that go to make up human bone—including calcium, phosphorus and glycogen. The basic material is in liquid form but a resinous "polyester" material is added to convert it to a solid. Certain catalysts are also added to make the material set quickly after the tooth is imbedded in it.

The glue serves to hold the tooth firmly until natural bone ultimately grows around the tooth and grasps it permanently.

Canty said the same material also shows experimental promise for the quick repair of bone fractures in man and animals.

Pontiac Motor's Dealer Show Opens August 19

Pontiac Motor Division's dealer announcement show heralding the introduction of the new 1960 models will open in Detroit on August 19 at the Masonic Temple prior to touring other major cities.

The musical extravaganza is composed of top talent from show business and will play engagements in San Francisco, Los Angeles, Dallas, Chicago, New York and Atlanta.

Preceding the public showing of Pontiac on Oct. 1, the musical will feature original and appropriate numbers such as "It's Only the Beginning" and "Dream Boat."

Attending Thursday's performance at the Masonic Temple will be more than 200 of the nation's top automobile editors, radio and television commentators.

MSUO Keeps Classics

all of history and the notion of 'coverage of the material' in American higher education has on the whole probably done more to exhaust than to educate students," Hoopes commented.

"The very nature of knowledge is its endlessness. And if at MSUO we try to make reading assignments compete with infinity we shall have a sorry race on our hands.

"If students are to learn, if they are to know what they have learned, the strategy of the Western civilization course — and of others in the humanities and social sciences — must be one of close, rigorous analysis of selected, formative elements and problems."

Hoopes said MSUO currently is attempting to hire one of the most brilliant classics professors in the country.

The dean assured the shoemaker that the classics would not be lost sight of in the Space Age curriculum.

"To foresake the classics for missiles is to throw out the baby with the bath water," Hoopes declared.

"Let us have both classics and missiles," he said. "To lose either is a loss."

OLD AND GOOD

Dr. Hoopes observed: "It is well to remember that some things—among them the classics—are not good because they are old. They are old because they are good.

The dean said the classics would be "one of the main nerves of the MSUO curriculum, informing it at all relevant centers."

Greek and Latin will be among the foreign languages and classics courses in translation offered, Hoopes said.

Whatever the content of the university's history course, Hoopes said, one thing is certain:

"The Greeks are going to be all around us and so are the Romans."

Driver 'Blacks Out'; Damage Is $5,000

A 30-year-old Royal Oak Township woman lost control of her car and cut a path of destruction in residential Ferndale yesterday, causing property damage amounting to about $5,000.

Ferndale Police said Mrs. Harold Hicks, of 10654 Halcott Lane, said she blacked out at the wheel after taking her husband to work.

Her car knocked down a 'no parking' sign, damaged the fronts of two houses, hit two trees and a car before winding up on top of another car parked in a driveway.

Mrs. Hicks, who is expecting a child in two months, escaped with only a cut lip. She was taken to William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak, where she was treated and released.

'Hermit' Wants to Forget It All

rine Corps veteran from Detroit answered.

It wasn't much of a vacation, however. He said he was nearly eaten alive by mosquitoes and other bugs. He said he shivered on his nature's bed of evergreen boughs during four days or nights it rained.

When asked if he would go through the same grueling, lonesome existence again, Blechars hurriedly said no. "There's no future in it," he added.

As boring and exhausting as his life was during his life as a hermit, he said not until last Tuesday night when he left the woods to be picked up three hours later by Bloomfield Hills Patrolman Harry Juntunen had he planned to call it quits.

His days in his hermit's shelter were spent thinking. He said he pondered being broke, being behind in his alimony payments, and the fact he was jobless of his own doing. He quit May 2.

Strange as the rest of his incredible story is, the hermit said he never saw anybody, except for people in cars traveling on Woodward avenue a half-mile away.

A frequent visitor was a small fox. Two dogs once came up to him while he was sleeping, sniffed and ran away. Once he could hear someone singing, possibly coming from the nearby Kingsley or Fox & Hounds Inns.

With only 30 cents with him, he said he never was tempted to walk down the road to a barbecue and buy a sandwich. "I don't think I could have bought much for 30 cents around there," he said.

Between the time the sun awoke him around 4:30 every morning and when he retired under his blanket of plywood at 6 p.m., Blechars said he lived on apples the "size of half dollars," blackberries and some raspberries. He said his daily diet usually consisted of about eight apples, a handful of berries, and water from a stream.

Attired in a hospital surgical gown and pajama bottoms, nervously puffing away at one cigarette after another, Blechars told of finding some apples the size of baseballs during his last week in seclusion. "They were delicious," he said.

As the days dragged on — "I was living from day to day" — Blechars said he could feel himself getting weaker and weaker. Although he never fainted or got sick, he said he would often fall down as he reached to pluck apples from trees.

He compared his life during the three months with what he went through while a Marine military policeman on Saipan during World War II.

He'd take water from a nearby tributary of the Rouge River, place it in discarded whiskey bottles found along Woodward, and keep it in the sun hoping to sterilize it.

Blechars declined to tell three newsmen what his mental soliloquy over his problems had taught him. "I'll tell a psychiatrist. That's the easy way out," he said.

His long flight out of civilization from his Detroit home nearly exhausted him but didn't change his mind. He said he never intended to become a hermit. He said he walked up Second avenue to Palmer Park, then alternated from the left to right side of Woodward avenue until he reached Bloomfield Hills.

Later in the woods as he sought out apples and berries he said he would walk but 20 steps and then have to sit down and rest because he was so weak. Often he would take naps during the day to pass the long hours.

As he prepared to be transferred to the Veterans Hospital in Dearborn to start his new life, Blechars looked back.

"I hurt a lot of people by doing this," said the divorced father of a four-year-old daughter.

The Day in Birmingham

Disabled Veterans Ask Date for Forget-Me-Nots

BIRMINGHAM — The City Commission will open its weekly meeting Monday night with petitions from the Disabled American Veterans' South Oakland Chapter and the Timely Real Estate Exchange.

The Disabled Veterans are requesting that permission be granted to sell forget-me-nots in Birmingham Sept. 18-19.

Milton Freedman, builder of a proposed professional building at the southeast corner of 14-Mile road and Pierce street, is requesting permission to connect temporarily his building with the Evergreen Sewage Disposal system.

In other action, the Commission will consider levying a 1¼ mill tax on the December tax roll for Birmingham's obligation to the proposed 12-Towns Drain project.

According to Birmingham City Manager L. R. Gare, a slight increase in the estimated cost of the project was announced at a drains hearing yesterday. He said, however, that the cost to Birmingham is not expected to be increased over estimates set up in 1957.

Gare said hat the increase would probably be offset by an increased allocation to the State Highway Department.

Extension of the Kresge parking lot lease will be considered by the Commission. The proposed extension agreement is for five years, similar to the length of the present arrangement.

In its final action of the night the Commission will review bids for construction of the proposed Springdale Service Building. If erected, the building will house men's and women's locker facilities, a kitchen and an all-purpose room.

The Birmingham YMCA has announced the addition of Conrad Ekkins, 28, to its staff as program secretary. Ekkins, who will make his home in Birmingham, is from Bay City and a graduate of Alma College.

He also attended McCormick Seminary in Chicago. He has done previous work with the YMCA and will handle the youth and adult programs in Birmingham.

Mrs. Wilbur (Gladys) M. Sears

Service for Mrs. Wilbur (Gladys) M. Sears, 54, of 17928 Buckingham Rd., will be held at 1 p.m. Monday at the Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co. of Birmingham. Burial will be in White Chapel Cemetery, Troy.

Mrs. Sears died Thursday at Mt. Carmel Hospital in Detroit after a prolonged illness. Any memorial tributes may be sent to the local cancer fund.

Program Will Help 'Troubled' Children

Moore told fellow jurists, was that a "changing world and progressive society have now far outdistanced the present needs for our unfortunate children."

"We need to catch up with other scientific and productive advancements," he said. "We must therefore plan for our underprivileged children."

Preamble of the plan contains a "Children's Bill of Rights" guaranteeing 11 rights, such as the fundamental but often lacking right to the affection and intelligent guidance of understanding parents, regardless of race, color or creed.

Judge Moore said: "These are the birth rights of all children. They are the rights of our children who are to become citizens and parents of tomorrow, and in whose hands will rest the future of our country and perhaps the very destiny of the world."

While Judge Moore's program is aimed at combating juvenile delinquency, it takes steps to help those boys and girls who have already fallen into this category.

Immediate screening of youths who come before Michigan's juvenile courts is a must under the plan. This would call for study and diagnosis of the children by skilled individuals operating in psychiatric treatment clinics.

"It is thought that Wayne County, being the center of congested population, could best accomplish a demonstrative pilot program to prove the value of this objective," Judge Moore said.

Equally important, he said, is how our courts take care of juvenile cases.

He said improvements could be made in the direction of:

1. In-training, legal-social education of both judges and court workers.
2. Administrative assistants to aid all juvenile courts at the direction of the presiding judge.
3. Improved procedure and care of adoptions, guardianships and children born out of wedlock.
4. And simplication and uniformity of juvenile court procedures.

1st 1960 Cars Roll Off Line

Overall Production Dips to Year's Low as Most Makers Changing Over

DETROIT (UPI)—The first trickle of 1960 model cars rolled off the assembly lines this week but it wasn't enough to keep production from dropping to its lowest point of the year, Ward's Automotive Reports said Friday.

The statistical agency said auto production dropped 32 per cent this week as most of the auto makers were readying their assembly lines for 1960 model production.

Ford and General Motors were the only manufacturers still engaged in 1959 model work, and for some of their plants this will be the final week of current-model activity.

Production dropped to 72,630 units from the previous low for the year of 108,240 recorded last week. The industry turned out 59,677 cars in the same week a year ago.

Volume truck production at the Dodge plant in Warren and Studebaker-Packard's South Bend, Ind., plant helped boosted truck production to 11,861 units, compared with last week's slim turnout of 11,200. In the same week a year ago the industry turned out 12,976 trucks.

So far this year the industry has turned out 4,023,211 cars and 791,260 trucks, a total of 4,814,471, compared with 2,700,966 cars and 544,299 trucks, a total of 3,245,265, at the same time last year.

Farmers Hoping to Start More Cooperatives

DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI)—The National Farmers Union says its immediate goal is to establish and expand cooperatives in Iowa, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Michigan.

The national development director of the group, Dwthe Wilson, made the policy known at a meeting of county farm union officials here.

He said the group believes it must give co-op service to its members as well as legislative service.

Patient, 50, Drowns in 15 Inches of Water

CHARLOTTE, (UPI) — A man drowned in 15 inches of water Friday.

The body of Asa B. G. Lightner, 50, a patient at the county infirmary here for seven years, was found this morning in a stock watering tank. The tank, 30 inches deep, was half full of water. Berl Fields, Diamondville, Eaton County coroner, said the cause of death was drowning. He said the body had been in the tank about two hours before being found.

432 Polio Cases Last Week's Toll

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Public Health Service reported today that 245 persons were stricken with paralytic polio last week.

Non-paralytic cases brought the total for the week ending Aug. 8 to 432.

The upsurge in paralytic polio over the previous week—which had a total of 183—represents a general increase in a number of cases rather than outbreaks of new major epidemics, the service said.

Of 21 paralytic cases reported in North Carolina, 15 were delayed reports. There also were delayed reports from other areas.

So far this year, 2,482 cases have been reported, 1,516 of them paralytic. During the same period last year there were 1,365 cases, 668 paralytic.

The service also noted that in 1955, the year Salk vaccine was first put on the market ,over 3,045 cases of crippling polio had been reported by this time of year.

Since 1953, the service said, the peak week for total cases has ranged from the 34th to the 38th week and for paralytic cases it has run from the 33rd to the 39th. The 33rd week is generally the second week of August and the 39th the last week of September.

In Lansing, eight cases of paralytic polio were reported in the week ended Friday in Michigan, the State Department of Health reports.

The number was the highest for any week so far in 1959, but was far under the 20 case high reported in the same week of last year.

Since Jan. 1, Michigan has recorded 30 cases of paralytic polio. In the same period last year, the total was 68.

Four of the cases reported this week were in Detroit, two in Genesee County and one each in Oakland and Osceola counties.

Ike Well Able to Convey Ideas to Nikita . . . Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon says the question of whether the United States can live with Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev depends on "whether we show the same dedication to our principles as he shows to his."

Nixon, back from Russia and Poland, said "the prospects for peace are good," because the people of the world — including those in Russia — "do not want war."

But he stressed that peace prospects would be endangered if anyone considered that Khrushchev's forthcoming U.S. visit provided reason to reduce American defenses.

The vice president gave his views in a televised interview with Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R-NY) carried over New York stations.

Keating's program was one of 10 the vice president has recently recorded with various members of Congress. In others, Nixon said he thought exchanges like the Khrushchev visit are "the hope of the future." He has also expressed the belief that on a major decision the Soviet leader would not act "impetuously."

U.S. NOT AFRAID

Nixon said the cause of peace can be advanced by Khrushchev's September U.S. visit. He said President Eisenhower would have a chance to "set him straight" on America's real intentions and desire for peace, while emphasizing that the United States is not "afraid to stand for our rights."

Nixon added: "I think Mr. Khrushchev appreciates this kind of approach, and it's one that the President will, I'm sure, convey to him with great effectiveness."

The vice president said Khrushchev is a "dedicated Communist and his trip to the United States isn't going to change that."

"But on the other hand," he added, "we have to recognize that in him we do have a very able world leader, whether we agree or disagree with him."

"Whether we live with him or not . . .," Nixon said, "depends upon whether we show the same dedication to our principles as he shows to his . . .

"Where there is mutual respect between him and the leaders of the West, I think this provides the best opportunity to settle our differences at the conference table and to avoid a conflict coming by miscalculation," he said.

An industry source estimates that the free world's nickel producing capacity will be about 650 million pounds annually in 1961 — about 235 million pounds more than its consumption in 1957.

Baby Sidetracks Talk of Nanette's TV Plans

By EARL WILSON

BEVERLY HILLS — I went down the street on Canon Drive to the Dinah Shore house and found Nanette Fabray living in it.

"I want you to see Fat Lips," Nanette said, less than a minute after she'd opened the front door herself, barefooted and in a playsuit.

WILSON

Naturally, I didn't know who Fat Lips was.

I was sort of hauled into the nursery, where Jamie MacDougall, 9 months old, grinned up at me from his crib.

"See his fat lips?" Nanette sang out. "He's walking at 9 months! But mentally he's not ready to walk yet. So he starts out walking and plop! Right on his little face. That's why his lips are swollen."

Sitting on the patio beside the pool having some scrambled eggs and cinnamon toast and jelly, just like I was rich folks, I told Nanette we had better get started talking about her re-entrance into TV. That was what this interview was about, I reminded her.

"Oh yes." Nanette nodded solemnly. "I've been married only two years and already I have four children," she said.

NANETTE

She explained that her husband, Ranald MacDougall, one of Hollywood's top writer-directors, has three children, ranging from 6 to 18, living with them in the house that George Montgomery and Dinah Shore built, and that this is after all quite a domestic neighborhood.

"Jamie," she said—and again she was talking about old Fat Lips in the crib in there—"is going to his first party today —given by Kirk Douglas' kids across the street."

About everybody around has a brood, some as many as six.

"That's pretty interesting television news," I reminded Nanette.

"Yes," nodded Nanette. I've worked for over 30 years—I started when I was 3½—and I couldn't possibly turn it off completely if I wanted to. But it's so wonderful having a home and family, I don't care about working too much."

But she had recently filmed an NBC Western, "Laramie," and she was going to do one of the Ford specials but they weren't going to get her into any weekly show.

"I want to be available to be with the family and with Randy," she said.

Anyway with NBC planning 150 specials, this was going to be a great year for performers.

"When I say I'm doing a special," Nanette said, "that means it's my own package, my unit, starring me, with my own writers, my own directors, and my own guest stars, in a spectacular.

"My husband says there are going to be 150 special shows around here all looking for their own directors and guest stars."

In fact, it appears that the only "different" kind of NBC shows next year will be those which are unspecial.

It Seems to Me....

Letters to the Pontiac Press Take Many Unusual Forms

The following letter comes in from Dr. LEONARD CAIN:

"Mr. FITZGERALD referred to the fact that ELIZABETH TAYLOR is being considered for the film lead in 'Requiem for a Nun.' He then writes: 'I gag and choke at the very idea.'

"It would seem that Mr. F. may possibly not know that 'nun' as used in the title of this play refers to its 17th century meaning of 'prostitute.' (Time Magazine Feb. 9th.)

"If he knew this would his reaction be the same?

(Signed)
Dr. LEONARD CAIN"

No, Doctor, it would not be the same. I've heard these ladies of the evening called many, many things but I never heard them called that. It just shows that I don't get around. Thanks, and a low bow from the waist.

Then a post card bobs in with a clipping from our columns in which a short news dispatch bears this head: "Must Yank King's Tonsils." Below is the query: "How would 'Must Yank Ike's Tonsils' sound?"

Answer: Entirely too informal.

I am always amused at the letters which practically command me to "kick the Sam Hill out of this-or-that" followed with the writer's especial reasons. Always these are unsigned or below the signature is this sharp command: "Do not use my name in any circumstances."

No, no. Of course not.

The plot is simple.

I'm supposed to swing a verbal shillelagh against the writer's particular aversion while he hides in cowardly anonymity behind a phony name or no name at all. In the course of any given year, this newspaper "speaks out in meetin'" more than any institution in the community. But we reserve the right to select our own subjects and you can select yours. But stand up on your two feet and face the people you attack.

Voice of The People letters can be anonymous within reason, but personal and underhand attacks are never published.

Another type of communication that brings a smile is the wrathy document instigated by the fact a son (daughter, mother, uncle, father, cousin, common-law-wife) has been incarcerated in the local bastile for some palpable malfeasance and now the writer wishes to wreak vengeance on the arresting officer or the court itself.

Often these communications start out with the bald announcement: "Willie is in jail because" and after a recital of the damaging facts they tee off on the law enforcing agencies.

They urge us to wash their dirty linen while they themselves hide behind a stout oak tree or a foot of concrete. Even when they sign their names, the things they say are often so libelous or untrue no newspaper would publish them anywhere.

Here's another letter:

"Why did you oppose the dollar a person for a city park? Was it because you are too tight to give a dollar for yourself and each member of your family? Loosen up and do a good deed."

I'm thus knocked for a loop and driven into fearful remorse over this shameful ignominy and lack of public spirit. Personally, I just don't think an illy advised campaign like that would raise enough to give us a good start.

But speaking of giving, I'll help a campaign to bond Pontiac for a million dollars to erect one of the many needed buildings at MSUO. The education of the young people in our locality is one of the most important problems we face.

And in Conclusion ...

Jottings from the well thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

Who was that Watkins Lake matron that received a letter from her mother starting: "Dear Walkie Talkie?".....The next decade will see a big burst of new apartment houses. Reason: the 20-to-24-year-olds and the over-65's will increase enormously and they're the apartment house dwellers.....A few years ago the French parliament had 143 Communist members. Today it has ten.....A tiny toddler handed his daddy a sheet of paper. "Here," he said gravely, "is a picture of God." His father patted a bobbing head and replied: "But no one quite knows what God looks like." The t.t. smiled. "They will now, won't they, daddy?"

The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

When Don Bosco was a farm boy in Italy, he learned to walk a tightrope stretched between two trees, and required that friends who wanted to watch him should say a prayer by way of a fee.

Wanting desperately to become a priest, he studied after doing farm chores and at the age of 16 managed to start to school with the help of neighbors who contributed shoes and sacks of produce to the project. These he sold in order to buy books.

Every two months, while working for his keep with a baker, a shoemaker and a tailor, he managed to make up a year's schooling. Finally he had his wish and became a priest. And always he was mindful of youth.

First he taught an orphan in Turin to read and write. The orphan brought six more street boys to him. They played, prayed and studied together. Soon there were 20 boys, then 100.

Finding no welcome in town, they met in the fields for sports, prayer and counsel. As the number grew to 400, Don Bosco bought a shed. The boys transformed it into a chapel. At night it became a classroom.

Jobs were found for the boys. Their moral vigor changed the community. Additional centers were formed in Italy, France and Spain. And thus Saint Don Bosco founded the Salesian Society, with centers, schools, missions and clubs in 73 countries.

Voice of the People

'Route Trucks Around City to Avoid Possible Tragedy'

Last Friday's paper carried a story of the terrible tragedy in Roseburg, Oregon. A dynamite truck blew up and wrecked the entire downtown area. Over ten people were killed and over 50 hospitalized. The cost of this tragedy that could have been avoided will probably mount into millions of dollars, untold agony and grief. Total cost in shattered lives and shattered buildings will probably never be fully accounted.

This same thing could happen in Pontiac any day of the week.

The same kind of truck that blew up in Roseburg goes right down Saginaw Street in Pontiac almost every day. In addition, we have trucks loaded with oil, gasoline, kerosene, acid, wood treating fluid, gravel, bricks, cement, liquid fertilizer and liquid bug killer. And there must be others equally as dangerous.

What would happen in downtown Pontiac if one of these trucks blew up or were involved in an accident downtown? We could have a tragedy right here that would point out how serious this problem really is. Why do we have to wait for 100 people to be killed before doing something?

Other cities have roads around the main business district or they have truck routes or alternate routes. Traffic, especially truck traffic that would be dangerous, is routed around the cities.

Why does this traffic have to come right down Saginaw Street in Pontiac? Why can't this traffic be routed away from the downtown congested area?

'Look About, Men in Wrong State'

Having read about alimony cases, it seems some people are concerned about the high divorce rates. Women don't have anything to worry about in the state of Michigan.

When I remarried I gave up my alimony, for my present husband won't accept it. It's a shame men who can't pay high alimony and doctor bills have to go to jail.

The state I'm from doesn't expect you to pay for the above expenses. Look around men— you are in the wrong state.

MOMS Voice Plea to Aid Children

The National Board of the MOMS of Amecica are making a plea for games and good books for the Oakland County Children's Home on Telegraph road. We feel that in order to make better citizens we should help these children.

Anyone having these items please take them to the home. We thank you.

Days of All Faiths

West Gives Day for Each Parent

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

In the Eastern churches one festival, held on Sept. 9, suffices for both parents of the Blessed Virgin, St. Anne and St. Joachim but the West sets aside a day for each, giving July 26 to Anne and Sunday (Aug. 16) to Joachim.

This is a fairly recent festival, considering how far back in Christian history St. Joachim goes. It was not heard of until the fifteenth century, and no universal date was set for it until 1913.

St. Peter Damian, who lived in the eleventh century, believed that if the New Testament did not provide any information about a person then it was just silly cufiosity to try to find out about that person from outside sources.

As an example, he condemned the efforts that were made to discover details about Mary's parents, who, of course, are not even mentioned in the Bible.

We know no more about Joachim than we do about Anne, and vice versa. In both cases we fall back, in spite of St. Peter Damian's advice, on the Protevangelium of James, a most untrustworthy book. The story given there is that Joachim was publicly reproached for not having any children, though at the time he was along in years and the situation should have been accepted by the community long before.

After this ungracious incident the old man, instead of going home, retired to the desert to spend 40 days in prayer and fasting.

At the same time his wife, Anne, feeling, as women are likely to do, that the fault was hers, was doing some praying of her own. The story tells that angels appeared to them simultaneously, to Anne at home and Joachim in the desert, assuring them that they would be given a child.

The church has not agreed with St. Peter Damian. On the strength of this entirely unprovable story it has accepted Anne and Joachim as definitely the parents of Mary and has included them both in the calendar of saints.

THE CONSUALIA

Even though this column is about days of "all" faiths, it must be admitted that there is little reason for including the ancient Roman Consualia—except for its historic interest. It never did have much to do with faith, even that of the old pagans.

Perhaps the oldest of all Roman festivals, the Consualia is said to have been started by Romulus himself, one of the twins who founded Rome. It honored the god Consus, but nobody now knows who he was among the gods and scholars think there is a good chance that nobody knew even in the days when the festival was flourishing.

The historic interest lies in the fact that the very first Consualia was the occasion of one of the worst double-crosses ever perpetrated.

In fact, Romulus may have invented Consus and set up the whole festival for just this dishonest purpose. Short on women for his new city, he invited the Sabine men, who were Rome's neighbors to come to the Consualia to see the fun and games, and while they were all engrossed in the entertainment he sent his own men to steal their wives and daughters. This was the incident so infamously renowned in literature and song as "The Rape of the Sabine Women."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Milk Deficiency Causes Acne; Not Sweets, Butter

Our doctor merely patted me on the head and told me to cut out candy and other sweets. . . (K. C.)

In my teens no pimples, but suddenly, at 30, I have greasy skin, blackheads and pimples . . . Mrs. F. W.)

DR. BRADY

She has eliminated chocolate almost entirely and rarely take candy — to no avail — (Mrs. E. J. M.)

I am fifteen and having trouble with my complexion. Father suggested I write to you — (Miss J. T.)

Daughter, 14, going through the embarrassing stage—(Mrs. R. G. E.)

I am thirteen. Acne is my biggest problem — (Miss L. B. M)

Answers — I don't believe sugar, candy, sweets, chocolate, pastry, fried foods, butter, cream etc. have anything to do with acne. It may be that insufficient daily intake of whole milk, skim milk, butter or evaporated or dried milk predisposes to the trouble. Send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask for the FREE pamphlet on ACNE.

Seems to be the philsophy of doctors in the area to circumcise every boy baby. Please give your advice about this. — (C. H. J.)

Answer — Circumcision is advisable, in my opinion, only when it is necessary for cleanliness or to prevent obstruction of flow of urine.

I'm sorry now that I wrote the letter calling you a quack and wondering how you got away with it. The super milk shake you suggested shortly afterward has worked both ways for us. That is, it has enabled my wife to reduce some fifteen pounds in six or eight weeks and me to put on about ten pounds in six or eight weeks of much needed flesh — (D. D. S.)

Answer — Your experience with the super milk shake is consistent — after all, obesity in most instances is a manifestation of nutritional deficiency, just as underweight is. Readers who are overweight or underweight may send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask for the pamphlet How to Gain Weight or the pamphlet How To Lose Weight.

I disagree with your theory of having babies at home. Maybe if you were an expectant mother you'd change your mind. In this day and age we have been taught that the place to have a baby is in the hospital. With the first child it is especially difficult — even in a hospital — (Mrs. A. D.)

Answer — If you should ever have a baby, Ma'am I hope childbirth will be normal, natural, uncomplicated wherever it may be. It will do you no harm to read the following books about childbirth:

CHILDBIRTH, YOUR QUESIONS ANSWERED, by Carl H. Davis, M. D., and Donita Ferguson, Harper and Bros., N. Y.

CHILDBIRTH WITHOUT FEAR, by Grantly Dick Read, M. A., M. D., Harper and Bros., N. Y.

NATURAL CHILDBIRTH, by Helen Heardman, the Williams and Wilkins Co., Baltimore, describes and illustrates exercises for expectant mothers, whether they plan to have natural, instrumental or surgical childbirth.

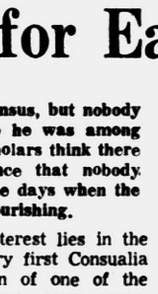
Case Records of a Psychologist:

Clerics Must Give Good Speeches

Joe is a smart preacher for he already realizes his shortcomings as a speaker. But a lot of older clerics still don't know they are a failure so they continue to drive teenagers away from church and put the older parishioners to sleep with dry, expositional sermons. A livewire MUST be a dramatic speaker, so send for the booklet below.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE C-418: Joe B., aged 26, is a seminary student.



DR. CRANE

"Dr. Crane," he began, "I attend theological school during the week but handle a small church over the weekends.

"One of my Deacons recently told me I was sociable and popular as a man but too dry as a speaker.

"He said I talked over the heads of the average folks in my congregation, and he may be right for I notice that several men usually doze before my sermon is finished.

"What's the best psychological formula for a good sermon?"

PLATFORM STRATEGY

Study the top orators of America and outline their speeches, if you wish to learn the best strategy for an interesting address or sermon.

Almost without exception, you will then find that they have hit upon Christ's "narrative" or "anecdotal" formula.

Jesus routinely started with a text, such as brotherhood. Then he illustrated it with dramatic stories (parables), as in the tale of the Good Samaritan.

And modern orators, both religious and political, have found that same recipe to be surefire.

But "exposition" is textbookish. It is teachy and usually dry. So children rarely pay attention when a preacher or priest indulges in exposition.

And within five minutes, their parents likewise are daydreaming or snoring in the pews, too, for it requires a great effort of willpower to force yourself to pay attention to exposition.

But we are all intrigued with dramatic story-telling. It catches and holds the interest of youngsters as well as adults.

USE SIMPLE WORDS

Young preachers, plus all those who have an educational inferiority complex, have a great desire to impress an audience with their big words (polysyllables).

You've doubtless heard semi-literate folks use 5-syllable terms which they didn't even understand, just to make it seem they were cultured folks.

Don't make this silly error! The Bible was written in 2-syllable words and Jesus seldom found it necessary to employ more than 2-syllable terms.

So don't try to ritz your parishioners with the long words some of your seminary profs still employ in the classroom.

A preacher is out on the "firing line" of life. He must persuade the folks who have a lot of gumption but not a lot of college degrees.

So pick your text a week ahead. Then dig up actual cases from within your parish to document and illustrate it in a narrative manner.

Mention at least 3 parishioners in every sermon, but do so in both a complimentary as well as relevant manner.

Fade out with a lofty idea and try to recite a bit of poetry which contains the kernel of this inspirational climax, for rhythm inspires listeners faster than prose.

And as a rule, limit your sermon to 20 minutes.

It takes a livewire in the pulpit to electrify a congregation and a livewire MUST be a dramatic speaker who keeps his audience awake.

For fuller details, send for my booklet "Surefire Public Platform Strategy," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit).

Hundreds of clergymen are using it to double church attendance.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Steel Settlement Prospects Bleak

USW President Tells Union Rally in Detroit Strike Won't Be Short

DETROIT (AP) — United Steelworkers President Davis J. McDonald says prospects are bleak for an early settlement of the nationwide steel strike.

McDonald, on a tour of Detroit area picket lines Friday, told newsmen the strike will end when Roger M. Blough, president of U.S. Steel Corp., "decides to end it."

Later he told a union rally, "This won't be a short strike."

At a news conference, McDonald was asked if he thought President Eisenhower might employ the Taft-Hartley Act and invoke an 80-day antistrike injunction, McDonald replied:

"I don't know what the President might do. He seems to have no immediate plans."

However, McDonald said an injunction would contribute nothing toward settlement. "In fact," he said, "it would simply delay settlement."

McDonald told newsmen, "The steel companies will terminate this shutdown when inventories are sufficiently low to enable them to put into effect another completely unwarranted and unjustified increase of three to six times what it should be.

"Mr. Blough started it and he can end it. He is the key man in the entire negotiations, but has shown no desire to negotiate."

Aid to Viet Nam 'Not Scandalous'

WASHINGTON (AP)—A newspaperman's charges that U.S. aid to Viet Nam is a fiasco are not borne out by the facts, a House committee chairman says.

The charges that the Viet Nam aid program has been scandalous were made in a series of articles by Scripps-Howard newspaper writer Albert M. Colegrove. "I believed what I saw and I still believe it," Colegrove told the committee.

"These accusations," said Rep. Clement J. Zablocki (D-Wis) "as well as specific charges of wrongdoing, have not been substantiated to date. Many of these charges have been traced to sources which I, for one, must regretfully consider to be less than reliable."

Mamie Visits Ailing Mother in Denver

Mrs. Eisenhower and her sister, Mrs. Gordon Moore, spent most of the day with Mrs. Doud. Mrs. Moore's daughter, Mamie, 17, accompanied them.

Mrs. Doud recently suffered a cerebral hemorrhage, and had not been in good health for the past two years. The First Lady has been to Denver three times in the past 18 months to see her mother.

Mrs. Eisenhower, her sister and niece are staying at the Brown Palace Hotel. She is expected to remain in Denver at least through the weekend.

Sen. Bridges Outraged Over Flying Red Flag

WASHINGTON (AP)—Any plan to fly Soviet and American flags side by side during Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's visit is not only distasteful, but sickening, says Sen. Styles Bridges (R-NH).

Bridges has strongly opposed the exchange of visits between Khrushchev and President Eisenhower. He reacted with outrage Friday to news stories pointing out it is customary to line the capital's streets with flags of foreign dignitaries during state visits.

Bridges said he had telephoned the protocol office of the State Department "to voice my violent opposition to such a proposal."

OTHER WOMAN CONFERS—Carole Tregoff, 22-year-old cocktail waitress accused of helping her doctor boy friend kill his wife, talks with her attorney after she arrived for her preliminary hearing. The victim was Mrs. Barbara Finch, 33, shot in the back as she ran from her home a month ago. At the present time, there is a question about the legality of Carole's early testimony being admitted.

Trial for Carole Hinging on Legal Quirk

WEST COVINA, Calif. (AP) — Whether red-haired Carole Tregoff will be tried with Dr. Bernard Finch for the slaying of the socialite surgeon's estranged wife hinges on this legal question:

Is testimony by the statuesque ex-model at Finch's court hearing two weeks ago admissable at her preliminary hearing?

The defense contends that it is not because Miss Tregoff, 22, was not advised that her testimony could be used against her. And the state admits that its case against Finch's sweetheart rests on having the transcript admitted into evidence.

Municipal Judge William Martin said Friday that, as far as he was concerned, the prosecution hasn't produced evidence that Miss Tregoff helped plan the slaying.

Finch, 41, has been ordered held for a murder trial in the slaying of his wife, Barbara Jean Finch, 33. She was shot in the back on the lawn of the couple's home last July 18.

In a surprise move, Prosecutor Fred Whichello took the stand as a witness Friday and told why he charged Miss Tregoff as an accomplice.

Miss Tregoff, seated at the counsel table, sobbed softly while Whichello recalled that she had admitted intimacies with Finch at the doctor's preliminary hearing.

The hearing will be resumed Tuesday.

Little Rock Integration Peaceful

First Week of Classes Closes Without Incident

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—At the end of the first week of integrated classes, only vague hints from Gov. Orval Faubus and segregationist leaders indicated the local school scene might erupt again.

Officials at Central High, where a Negro boy is enrolled, and Hall High, which has three Negro girls, said classroom activities were normal.

Jefferson Thomas, 16, said white students at Central had not been friendly but that none harrassed or intimidated him, as in 1957 when he and eight other Negroes were cursed and spat on by white classmates.

Effie Jones, 17, said "There's been no trouble" at Hall. She said she, Elsie Robinson, 16, and Estella Thompson, 16, were generally ignored by their white classmates.

"We're well satisfied with the way things are going," said Everett Tucker Jr., president of the Little Rock School Board.

Segregationists have done nothing since a protest march on Central High was broken up by club-swinging policemen Wednesday, when public high schools opened for the first time since 1957. But segregation leaders say they have not given up.

Faubus said Friday Little Rock had not seen its last integration trouble. He said he was ready to use state police and National Guards if "anything bad" broke out.

He said he was ready Wednesday to step in if police were unable to control the demonstrators but would not say whether his forces would have insured peaceful entry of the Negroes into the schools.

Faubus closed the schools in the 1957 integration battle but the law he used to do it has since been thrown out.

Meanwhile at Pine Bluff, Margaret Jackson, president of the Mothers League of Central High, urged members of the Dollarway District Citizens Council to "organize and pull together" to combat integration of Dollarway High, which is under federal order to admit three Negroes Sept. 8.

"We fought the battle of Little Rock, Mrs. Jackson said. "You can't afford to be caught napping."

Both Will Do Hitch in Army, Then Wed

ASHLAND, Ohio (AP)—Robert McBride II, 19, and Miss Sarah Cellar, 17, are engaged. But a couple of hitches will delay the wedding a bit.

They've decided on Army service first, marriage to follow a year later. Both enlisted at Cleveland and she went to Ft. McClellan, Ala.; he to Ft. Benning, Ga.

Need Budget Approval

OK Promotion of State

IONIA (AP)—A national advertising and publicity campaign designed to promote the state of Michigan has been approved by the state's economic development commission.

The commission's 1960-61 budget of $582,890, which was approved this week includes a $125,000 outlay to advertise Michigan outside of the state. The budget thus restores an item that was dropped last year for economy reasons.

Final approval of the commission's budget must come from the state budget commission.

About $15,000 of the advertising fund will be used to promote the St. Lawrence Seaway.

The budget also includes a recommendation for boosting the size of the commission's staff from 31 to 42.

The commission also gave a special citation to Ionia's economic development commission and Mayor C. Anthony Balice for city area development work.

'Hitler-Worshiper' Gets Prison Term

COLUMBUS, Ga. (UPI) — A judge sentenced a frail teenage "Hitler-worshiper" to a maximum six to 10 years prison term Friday for smearing swastikas on synagogues and starting a $30,000 museum fire.

Richard Vernon Smith Jr., who envisions himself as a Nazi "superman" and calls himself "Victor Schmidt," pleaded guilty to two charges of arson and two charges of malicious mischief.

It was disclosed, the 18-year-old youth had accepted $9 from an Atlanta "hate organization" for bundling and distributing literature which later was mailed to Little Rock, Ark., scene of school integration violence.

Police said the boy confessed smearing swastikas in yellow paint on two Jewish synagogues on two nights and, on the night of July 18, making a bonfire of 160 paintings on the second floor of the museum of arts and crafts here.

Nixon Reveals He'd Like to Be Sports Writer

CHICAGO (UPI)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon would like to be a sports writer, he told the annual meeting of the Football Writers Association, although he could be a lawyer if his present occupation should change.

Nixon said that his hobby was reading sports pages and watching sports competition, in person or on television, and listed numerous memories that he has. Among them was the recollection that he was not a sports star in college, although he went out for baseball, football, basketball and track.

"I did get a letter in football," he said, "the year Whittier College had only 11 eligible players and they had to play me at tackle."

Pineapple 'Squeezins' Make Record in Hawaii

HONOLULU (AP)—Hawaii's pineapple industry squeezed a record amount of juice out of its crop for the year ending May 31, 1959.

It reports a total of 38,396,300 cases of pineapple juice well above the 27 million cases reported for the previous year.

Mojave Desert Tourist Attraction

Sits on Rock at $2 Per

APPLE VALLEY, Calif. (AP)—Now it's rock-sitting.

He's getting $2 a day for it and he says he's going to stay up there three months.

"I've got tremendous will power," says the red-beared 33-year-old former Florida carpenter who came to California looking for a job.

What's he doing up there?

It was the idea of Mike Dressler, who runs a Western village at dead man's point. He wanted something different for tourists to look at.

Coble's "tremendous will power" has carried him through the searing desert heat, withering winds and the nuisances of rats and flying ants.

Most of the time he can't even talk to the sightseers at the base of the rock. The wind drowns their voices.

Coble's only contact with the ground is a cable on which he draws up food and other necessities in a bucket.

He has erected a pole on which he raises the American flag every day.

Florida Governor's Son Under Medical Watch

Young Collins suffered head injuries, lacerations of the face, loss of blood and fractures of both ankles. A companion, Coyles Moore Jr., 25, son of a former Florida State University president, was less seriously injured.

Hungarian Reds Plan Post-Revolution Confab

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Hungary's ruling Socialist Workers (Communist) Party will hold its first convention since the 1956 revolution on Nov. 30, Budapest Radio announced today.

The announcement came amid speculations about an amnesty for withdrawal of Soviet troops, and normal relations with the United States as a result of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's visit to the United States next month.

Take chewing gum for instance. They want to know what it is and what it's used for.

Russians, especially in rural areas, chew sunflower seeds. But they've heard about American chewing gum—mostly from the Soviet satire magazine Krokodil. The editors of that magazine don't like it. They think gum is uncultured.

Jack Blanshei of San Francisco, a Russian-speaking guide at the fair, says one of the Russians' first and most persistent requests at the food counter is to see a piece of gum and find out why it is such a favorite with Americans.

When Blanshei shows it to the visitors, he explains some American chew it to relieve nervous tension, some in the belief that it cleans their teeth, and some to break the smoking habit. The Russians seem happy to add this to their stock of information on America.

Visitors also are eager to buy canned food products on display at a counter simulating one section of an American supermarket. The exhibitors have posted a sign saying that under an agreement between the U.S. and Soviet governments nothing could be sold here or at the New York Soviet exhibition which closed recently.

Some visitors have taken this to mean there will be no trade at all between the two nations. Blanshei has to go to great pains to explain this is not so.

The young guide, a pharmacy student at the University of California, says the questions of the past few weeks represent a sincere attempt to find out about America and not just to needle the United States, as in the first few days.

For example, Russians are shocked to learn that Americans eat little bread by Soviet standards. They are also amazed to learn the price of a loaf of bread, and Blanshei is careful to point out how little this really is compared to an American's weekly pay.

The Russians also are worried about Americans eating out of cans. Blanshei said this attitude appears to change after he explains that, although American growers put up many products in cans, the U.S. distribution system also provides plenty of fresh fruits and vegetables for sale.

Like other guides, he has found a terrific interest in jazz. His music talks with young Russians reached a climax when one visitor in his 60s wandered up to the counter and asked: "Where is the rock 'n' roll?"

Blanshei told him where he could find it and the man wandered off beaming.

Say 'Brain' Too Efficient in Its Work

DETROIT (AP) — Technicians are studying a $25,000 electric brain machine at the Detroit Post Office that's too — that's right, too—efficient.

The machine is a high speed stamp cancelling device built by Pitney-Bowes, Inc., of Stamford, Conn.

It can handle 33,000 letters compared with the 20,000 average of current machines. But it's too eager.

Besides cancelling the stamp, the machine is likely to cancel almost anything that is a change in color from the envelope.

It might cancel an Easter seal, advertising message or air mail sticker—and in the process miss the stamp.

Alfred MacPhee, Pitney-Bowes service representative, said the machine will effectively handle about 97 per cent of the mail. Checkers can catch letters it misses.

Local engineers are taking the machine apart and will rebuild it, with help from company technicians, so they can learn how to maintain it. The device is in only two other cities—Philadelphia and Washington.

Only four Democrats have been elected governor of Illinois in the past century. The most recent was Adlai E. Stevenson, who served from 1949 to 1953.

Site of Dem Confab Still Undetermined

Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler and local party officials failed Friday to iron out a squabble over distribution of convention tickets.

Los Angeles County Supervisor Frank Bonelli said "The solution won't come until Monday." And Mayor Norris Poulson remarked "The score is nothing to nothing."

Butler said he hoped the convention would remain here.

Oilman Edwin Pauley's demand for 5,000 daily tickets for the host committee set off the dispute.

Butler has threatened to move the convention to another city if the host committee doesn't accept his offer of 1,500 daily tickets.

'Crazy Legs' Come to Fore

Campus Headlines Are Wild With Bright Color, Knitted Tights

It's legs to the fore this year. And the crazier the pattern coving them, the higher the fashion.

The bright multi-colored tweeds, stripes, argyles, and checks that are bringing underpinnings into campus fashion headlines may seem wild, but they add up to plenty of fashion, figure and weather sense.

Football queens will be warm, cozy and comfortable in knitted tights.

The new "crazy legs" look has been heralded in past seasons by the emphasis on color-tinted sheer hose and the growing popularity of solid-color tights. This year, a new development in yarn dyeing makes it possible to produce stretchy circular knit fabrics for tights and leotards in virtually any pattern a designer might dream up.

The color-focus on legs provides just the accent needed by the subdued neutral tones and grays featured in suits, coats and dresses for the fall-winter season.

For the perfect in figure, as well as young in heart, the patterned knits are being fashioned in form-hugging skinny pants (some with matching pullover socks for convertability to the leotard look) for lounging, entertaining and after-ski wear.

Washington to Fly Red Flag Next Month

WASHINGTON (AP) — The hammer and sickle flag of the U.S.S.R. will be flying all over Washington next month during Premier Nikita Khrushchev's visit, if normal procedure is followed.

A State Department source said it is customary to display hundreds of flags of the country of an official state visitor.

Flags, both large and small, are festooned along parade routes and sprout from lamp posts, along with American flags. Washingtonians are used to the sight. Each state visit costs from $1,000 to $3,000 for flags.

The reception committee, however, has not yet ordered Soviet flags. The group, which handles such arrangements, is awaiting official word from the State Department.

Hollywood Headlines:

Warner Anderson Gives His Side on 'The Lineup'

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The networks give equal time in controversies, so why shouldn't TV columns? Here's Warner Anderson's view of The Lineup changes.

Last week Tom Tully said he was quitting the San Francisco police series because after being a star for five years "I didn't want to carry papers in the background." He complained that two young actors had been brought in to help the show compete with the youthful 77 Sunset Strip.

Ex-partners Tully and Anderson are about as different as any two actors could be. Tully is tough and outspoken, Anderson talks quietly with well - chosen words. When told of Tom's comments, he thought long and hard and then replied: "Each man should choose the way he wants his career to go. I have decided to stay with the show . . . .

"CBS, which owns The Lineup, decided—and I think wisely—that it should have a change of format. It was decided to bring new blood in. But, in order to preserve continuity, one of the stars was to remain. CBS decided by themselves to choose me . . . .

"I am now working with three new boys and one girl and I think we are going to have an outstanding show when we go back on the air Sept. 30. We have nowhere to go but up."

What about Tully's claim that the newcomers are taking over the show?

"My duties will remain the same. I'll have star billing. My role is unchanged. I'll be running the department, as before."

New light gauge, high-strength steels now make it possible to airlift or parachute such war weapons as tanks and bulldozers.

Two Interests Share TV Station in State

Just Spot of Vanity Is Healthy

In the Victorian era, when a woman was considered old at 40, a concern with looks in any but the very young was thought pure vanity. Well, we've changed since then.

Today, we recognize the fact that a spot of vanity is a healthy thing. It can make us take care how we look to others.

So the girl who skins her hair into a pony tail, wears no makeup and dresses herself in black from head to toe may be following a fad but she's doing no one, herself or anyone else, a favor. She's returning to the drabness of the worst part of the 19th century, when women wore black and went without make-up because they had no alternative.

These days, it's feminine to exercise taste in appearance, to take some trouble with the way one looks. So try out the new mauve face powder, experiment with false eyelashes, consider a new lipstick shade and, above all, be a girl.

Origin of 'Big Wigs'

Curiously, there was even a "who's who" of hairstyles in as early a day as the 1600s in merry old England. An English man living in that era could recognize a man's social standing by the length of his hair. Noblemen were "longhairs" or "bigwigs." Tradesmen or farmers wore cropped heads.

German Fashions Slow

BERLIN (AP) — East Germany's top Communist complains that his experts on women's fashions never catch up with the West.

Party secretary Walter Ulbricht told a recent economic conference in Lepizig: "If pointed shoes are fashionable in Italy, one year later we make propaganda for pointed shoes. During the intervening time, wide shoes have once again become fashionable in Italy or France. We never catch up."

And one year after Paris pushed the sack dress into the background, Ulbricht told the conference, it's all right for Communist women to wear the sack—"we believe that every person should be allowed to dress as she pleases."

"But dear comrades," Ulbricht continued, "If a woman wants to wear a sack dress, she should pay higher prices for it. In that way, we the state-owned clothing factories make money and the others have their fun."

At this point there was "stormy applause," said the Communist party newspaper Neues Deutschland.

Every woman has time for exercise. There is real pleasure in movement which only the individual who has exercised regularly experiences.

Keep Exercising

Walk More and Ride Less

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

The number of fatalities due to traffic accidents is appalling, and we all should drive more carefully.

However, cars can be dangerous in more ways than one. We have become so lazy physically and feel so dependent on our cars that we do not walk as often as we should. Even if we are going only four or five blocks on an errand the tendency is to jump into the car.

Many distinguished medical authorities feel that the body must be exercised regularly if we are to enjoy truly vibrant health and have that magic, extra portion of energy. It should be a pleasure rather than a trial to move, to walk, to dance, to use our muscles. There is real pleasure in movement which only the individual who has exercised regularly experiences.

Yet so many folks go along day after day and month after month and even year after year without stirring up their circulation. What usually happens is that women, and more especially men, go in for sudden and violent spurts of exercise but neglect it as a usual routine.

This is supposed to be worse than none at all. In fact it actually can be dangerous. It is the daily habit of regular, mild exercise which is of such great benefit.

NO TIME?

Many women feel that they do not have time to exercise. This is a fallacy. We have time if we take time for it. The repercussions not only on health but on good looks is unbelievable to one who has not tried it. Your complexion as well as your figure will profit.

If you have not exercised for a long time and especially if you are middle aged or older, you must start in slowly and build up gradually. You also should have your heart and blood pressure checked first.

If you would like to have my short but well-balanced routine of exercise planned to take care of the most usual feminine figure faults, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for No. 19 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Don't Risk an Evening of Regret

By EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: I would very much like your opinion on the propriety of a young girl accepting a "blind date." A friend of my daughter's called and asked her if she would like to go out with a certain young man. Outside of seeing him in the neighborhood occasionally, he is a total stranger to my daughter; although the other girl knows him quite well. This friend of my daughter's has a date with a young man for Saturday night and she is going to ask this other young man for my daughter—making it a foursome. I think accepting an invitation of this kind places a girl in a very bad light and I do not think she should go. What do you think?

Answer: Even if your daughter has confidence in the judgment of her friend, she should meet the young man before accepting to go out on a foursome with him and risking a very unhappy evening.

Dear Mrs. Post: I would like to know if it is improper for a family in mourning to look at television? My mother died two weeks ago, and when a relative of ours came in to see us the other evening, she was shocked to find us watching television. In her opinion, this was the same as going to a movie. We felt terrible about this and never dreamed we were showing lack of respect.

Answer: By looking at television in the privacy of your own home you were showing no lack of respect to the memory of your mother.

Dear Mrs. Post: When passing a plate at the table for a second helping, shouldn't the knife and fork be removed and held in the hand? A friend of mine tells me that both implements should be left on the plate. Which one is right?

Answer: Your friend is right, but a note should be made that the implements should be placed well in toward the center of the plate close together to prevent their toppling off.

Dear Abby Says:

Tell Your First Aid Pal Not to Aid Quite So Much

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My friend took a first aid course 20 years ago and she thinks she's a doctor.

A woman fainted on the bus yesterday and my friend rushed in and took over. She loosened all the woman's undergarments and sent the bus driver for whisky. Then she applied artificial respiration as given to victims of drowning. When the fainter "came to" she was humiliated to find herself half-undressed on the floor of the bus. My friend thinks she saved a life. The woman said she faints all the time.

ABBY

I tried to tell my friend that she shouldn't give first aid when she doesn't know how. She laughed at me. Will you tell her how dangerous it is? She reads your column.

A FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: A person can "faint" (or lose consciousness) for one of many reasons. Heart failure, diabetic shock or heat prostration, to name a few. Since each condition requires its own emergency treatment, when in doubt, the victim should be given only fresh air and a doctor's care immediately. Clip this and show it to your friend. The life you save may be your own.

DEAR ABBY: I've been reading your arguments about which are cleaner, dogs or people. I prefer dogs to people because dogs wag their tails instead of their tongues. And they ARE cleaner than most people. Any vet can tell you that a healthy dog's mouth is antiseptic. Put me down as another human who'd rather be bitten by a dog than by some people.

DOG LOVER

DEAR ABBY: I am sick and tired of hearing about how clean dogs are! Why don't people ask a medical doctor instead of a vet? Have you ever watched a dog for five minutes as it goes down the street poking its nose into every bush and pile of garbage? All dogs investigate other dogs with their noses. Now what thinking person would want that dog's nose in his face?

THINKING MAN

DEAR ABBY: I broke a long engagement to marry another man. Unfortunately, I got pregnant right away. I know now that I should have married the first fellow.

My husband is overseas and won't return until January 1960. The baby is due in March. My ex-boy friend lives out of state but he visited here recently. We got together and realized we love each other. We both agreed to forgive and forget. He's coming back in the fall to work here.

My mother thinks I should wait until my husband comes home before I divorce him. My friends say I should divorce him right now before my old boy friend comes back to town, otherwise people will talk. What do you think??

TROUBLED MIND

DEAR TROUBLED: I think it's time you grew up! You took a sacred vow—"Until death do us part." You can make a success of your marriage if you try. Wait for your husband—and wait faithfully. The spiritual and moral strength you lack can be found in any church.

DEAR ABBY: You always stick up for women. This reminds me of a story to point up how all you women blame us men for everything:

Some women were playing bridge at the club when a man stopped by and said. "Have you heard, the Smiths have separated!"

In unison all the women said, "Is that so! What did HE do?"

The man said, "HE didn't do anything. It seems while Smith was playing cards at the club on Tuesday nights, SHE was seeing a salesman. She finally ran off with him."

Again the women said, "Oh, that's what HE did. He left her home all alone while HE played cards at the club. Serves him right!"

BILL

DEAR BILL: HOLD IT! Are you implying that it was all the woman's fault? Don't whitewash the entire male sex. Or wasn't the salesman she ran off with a man?

Mama's No a Must With Big Family

By RUTH MILLETT

Now that big families are once more in style and four, five or even six children aren't unusual, young mothers had better wake up to one important fact.

They can't rear large families and still feel obligated to do all the outside activities that have come to be expected of housewives.

You see them trying all the time to do just that. But something has to give. Either Mama looks worn and haggard, or the children look neglected.

Maybe Papa is in a financial rat race trying to pay for household help and baby sitters so that Mama doesn't have to say, "No, I can't," to outside demands on her time and energy.

But what's so shameful about a woman's admitting that there is a limit to what she can do? Why shouldn't a mother of four or more children feel completely free to say, "I have my hands full at home."

If they want to enjoy their children and make the best kind of home for them, if they want to keep from burdening their husbands with being Mama's helper as well as wage earner, if they want to be relaxed and cheerful, instead of tired out and frustrated, they'll have to learn to say, "no."

All these outside activities that women feel called on to participate in didn't get started when large families were the rule. They got started when families were small and women didn't have enough to do to keep busy at home.

But large families are once more the style and there just isn't time in any busy mother's day for keeping pace with the outside activities that have come to seem like "musts."

All these young mothers of large families need to learn is the word, "no."

Evangel Temple to Be Dedicated

The new chapel of Evangel Temple will be dedicated at 3 p.m. Sunday with Dr. Tom Malone, pastor and founder of Emmanuel Baptist Church, the speaker.

Special music will be provided by the Youth for Christ Chorus from Marlette assisted by two soloists of Evangel Temple. Special numbers will be "Bless This House" and "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross."

The $58,000 chapel at 1380 Mt. Clemens St. was built under the leadership of the Rev. Geoffrey Day.

Constructed of Roman brick, the church was completed in six months with landscaping recently finished.

The sancturary seating 260 has an open ceiling supported by laminated arches in natural finish. A distinctive feature of the auditorium is the divided chancel with its Communion table and four foot Cross.

Pews and furniture are of mahogany from Central America. Pew pads are also forest green.

A 28-foot planter divides the sanctuary from the narthex. Interior sidewalls are painted sandalwood while the end walls are of the brick.

The basement contains the kitchen, rest rooms, assembly and fellowship halls as well as 12 class rooms, and 10 partitioned rooms. The floor is tile and walls are painted light green.

FOUNDED IN 1955

The church was founded in 1955 by the present pastor, the Rev. Mr. Day, upon completion of his seminary work.

The first service was held on Christmas Day with 30 in attendance. Charter members were the Rev. and Mrs. Day, Mr. and Mrs. L.J. Negas, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cowan, and Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Gray.

After meeting for a year in the YMCA, the group purchased a building on East Wilson avenue.

A year later the decision was made to build a new church. Four and one-half acres of land was purchased on Mt. Clemens street and now the first of a three unit church and Christian educational center has been completed.

"Evangel Temple is an independent and fundamental interdenominational church working to meet the spiritual needs of the people of Pontiac in cooperation with churches of the area," the pastor said.

GREETINGS TO JAPAN — The Rev. Paul T. Hart of First Methodist Church (right) presented a model Pontiac car to Mayor Toshio Kawabe (left) of Shingu, Japan. Standing beside the pastor is Milio Matsumoto, an interpreter. The Rev. Mr. Hart is in Shingu this summer to establish a new Methodist Church.

Rev. P. T. Hart Speaks in Japan

The Rev. Paul T. Hart, pastor of First Methodist Church, is in Japan this summer with a group of mission workers to assist in establishing Christian churches.

In speaking to the people of Shingu where he was appointed, the Pontiac pastor gave the following greeting through his interpreter:

Mr. Mayor and friends of Shingu, I have come to work among you this summer under the United Church of Japan. Already I feel I have many friends.

"I bring greeting from the First Methodist Church of Pontiac, Mich. of which I am pastor. Many thousands of people know I am in Japan through the medium of The Pontiac Press and radio station. I have been asked by several to extend to the people of Japan their good wishes.

"The Board of Education of Pontiac has sent material which I have delivered to the head of your school system. Pontiac Motor and General Motor Truck & Coach plants have sent pictures of their automobiles, trucks, and coaches which they produce. These will be on display in your city.

"The mayor of Pontiac and the City Commission have sent their greetings. Mayor Toshio Kawabe, I would like to present to you at this time the letter of greeting from Mayor Philip Rowston of Pontiac.

"This folder also contains photographs of our City Hall, Pontiac General Hospital, Public Safety Building, Fire Station 5, a new city branch library and the new proposed city library.

PRESENTS GIFT

I present to you also as a gift and token of friendship, this authentic scale model of the Pontiac automobile which is produced in our city and was sent to Japan by the Pontiac Motor Division of the General Motors Corp.

"I must say one thing more. I have a firm belief and conviction that the Christian religion of which I am minister, holds within its message, the solution to the world's problems, as well as the problems of the individual.

"I trust that we shall have the opportunity to discuss some of these issues of the gospel with you people of Shingu and surrounding areas during my stay this summer."

With the temperature near 110 degrees, the pastor and his interpreter make calls on bicycle or on foot.

Shingu is a community of 16,000 people where there is no church. Under the Pontiac pastor, 11 people have joined as a beginning of a new congregation.

Cecil B. DeMille Tells Story of Change in Life

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Cecil B. DeMille, the famous motion picture producer, was a man of great talents and keen insights. I knew him fairly well and always found him most interesting.

He liked to get off by himself at times to think out a problem. One such time he went out in a canoe on a lake in Maine and spent a whole afternoon allowing the canoe to quietly drift along while he thought about his problem.

PEALE

The canoe drifted inshore to a place where the water was only a few inches deep. Looking down he saw that the bottom was crowded with water beetles. As he watched, one of the beetles came to the surface and slowly crawled up the side of the canoe. Finally reaching the top, it grasped fast to the wood and died.

About three hours later, he happened to notice the beetle again and saw that, in the hot sun, its shell had become very dry and brittle. As he watched, it slowly split open and there emerged from it a new form, a dragonfly, which took to the air out of the old husk, its scintillating colors flashing in the sunlight.

That winged insect flew farther in an instant than the water beetle had crawled in days. Then it circled back and swooped down to the suface of the water. DeMille noticed its shadow on the water. The water beetles below might have seen it, too, but now their erstwhile companion was in a world beyond their comprehension. They were still living in their limited beetle world while their winged cousin had gained for himself all the freedom between earth and sky.

When DeMille told me this experience, he concluded with a very penetrating question. "Would the great Creator of the universe," he asked, "do that for a water beetle and not for a human being?"

My answer was prompt. I said that anything else would not be reasonable, and, above all, God is reasonable. Doesn't the Bible tell us, in words of unsurpassed beauty, "For we know that if the earthly house of our tabernacle be dissolved, we have a building from God, a house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens."

DeMille's experience is thought-provoking when we consider, as everyone is bound to do now and then, the ultimate end of life on earth. No doubt, we too emerge from the mortal body into a higher form; and our loved ones who have gone on before us may often be near (like the dragonfly) in a form we now cannot comprehend.

To know the blessing of eternity and everlasting life, we must live with God so sincerely that we may have His spirit. Then we are at once in eternity and are even now living the immortal life, for that state of existence does not begin at death. Death is only a change into another phase of life.

When your day comes to die you need not be afraid. As an immortal being you simply enter into fuller life. You may be afraid of the dark, but that darkness called death is short and soon you will emerge into the glorious light of an eternal morning. And, in that moment, you will find waiting for you those you have loved long since and lost awhile, and others who developed the quality of immortality in themselves.

This is one of the highest truths of religion and the greatest truth ever revealed to man. Your life is designed with the eternal quality. If that quality is maintained throughout your earthly life there is no basis for being afraid of your life to come.

COMMON RELIGIOUS TEACHINGS NOT ENDORSED BY THE BIBLE

Last week, I made an appeal to the clear thinking Bible believers and readers of this reading public to either produce passages of scripture which state emphatically and conclusively that men today are saved by "Faith only" or GIVE UP the doctrine. In this article I want to further expose this unsupported, unscriptural doctrine. The expression "Faith only" appears in the Bible once and here it reads, "ye see then how that by works a man is justified and not by faith only" Jas. 2:24. The Bible says, "not by Faith only." What group of men will bring the curse of Heaven upon themselves by TAKING OUT the word NOT? Only the dishonest, rebellious child of the devil would also add the word ONLY to Rom. 5:1. The Bible says "Therefore being justified by faith" but does not say, "Therefore being justified by faith 'only'."

On the past Sunday evening a local preacher stated one of the prominent doctrines of his church was that of Salvation by Faith Alone, but allow me to inform him as well as the readers of this article that this may well be "one of the prominent doctrines of his church" but is not a prominent doctrine of the Bible. He labored long and hard to prove this false doctrine by the Bible, but he failed miserably. He also stated, and I quote, "Christ says, 'we are saved by mercy.' But friends, if we are saved by MERCY, then we are not saved by FAITH alone. This preacher also stated we are saved by Faith and even this Faith is a gift. So actually there is nothing to do. Such a statement is quite different from that of the Lord who said:

1. He that doeth the will of my Father. Matt. 7:21.
2. Why call ye me Lord, Lord and do not . . . . Lk. 6:46.
3. Blessed are they that do His commandments. Rev. 22:14.
4. He that doeth Righteousness is Righteous. I Jno. 3:7.

These passages are often cited to prove salvation by Faith Alone, Jno. 3:16, Jno. 3:36, Jno. 5:24, Eph. 2:8, 9, Acts. 16:31, but friends, these alone prove salvation by faith but they do not prove salvation by faith alone. The efforts of men to prove this false doctrine from such passages is an example of the sophistry employed to deceive the innocent and turn them from the word of God.

Friends salvation is attributed to a number of things: faith, grace, mercy, baptism, the blood of Christ and others and to take any one of these to the exclusion of all the others is to be guilty of failing to "Handle aright the word of truth."

We should remember that "a proposition setting forth a truth must not be supposed to exclude everything not contained in that truth as false; but only excludes everything that is opposed to that truth. A proposition setting forth the fact that "man lives by breathing does not exclude eating, sleeping or taking of exercise" (Estes). Yes, friends, the Bible endorses the doctrine of salvation by faith but it does not endorse the doctrine of salvation by faith 'alone.'

BELIEVETH THOU THIS?

Rearing Colts Run Over Collegian All-Stars 29-0

Unitas' 3 TD Passes Spark Pros' Victory

All Scoring Takes Place in 1st Half; Injury to Brown Unnerves Stars

CHICAGO (AP)—The powerful Baltimore Colts gave the College All-Stars a painful football lesson in Soldier Field last night and it took only 30 minutes to do it.

With sharpshooting Johnny Unitas hurling three touchdown passes, the National Football League champions banged to a 29-0 halftime lead over the outclassed collegians and that's the way the uneven match wound up in the big lake front stadium before 70,000 fans.

Unnerved by an injury to halfback Don Brown of Houston, who swallowed his tongue and appeared near death on the field, the All-Stars huffed and puffed in futile fashion against the bruising pros.

The scoreless second half did not mean improvement among the hard-trying college lads as much as it reflected the fact the Colts eased up in pursuit of the 16th pro victory against 8 defeats and 2 ties in the All-Star series.

In justice to the All-Stars, it should be stressed that their two offensive centers, both from Ohio State, Dan James and Dick Schafrath, were lost by injuries. Tackle Bob Reifsnyder of Navy took over the ball-snapping, but he, too, was injured, and 290-pound Mac Lewis of Iowa, also listed as a tackle, finished at center.

But the troubles that surrounded the All-Stars, in the main, involved what happened after the array of four different quarterbacks got hold of the ball.

The All-Stars had five passes intercepted and their passer was brutally rushed all night by such Baltimore behemoths as Gene (Big Daddy) Lipscomb, Art Donovan, Ordell Braase, Gino Marchetti and Don Joyce.

The All-Stars, whose deepest penetration was to the Baltimore 3-yard line late in the third quarter, were comforted after the game by the vice president, Richard Nixon.

Nixon, shaking hands with every All Star player, observed that the collegians looked so big in the dressing room, "but against the Colts they looked so little."

The collegians threw a record total of 41 passes, completing 15 for 188 yards. Unitas threw 24 and completed 14 for 211 yards and 3 touchdowns.

Notre Dame's Nick Pietrosante grabbed a screen pass from Buddy Humphrey of Baylor and scooted 51 yards to the Baltimore 29 in the third period and that was the only exciting All-Star play.

The Colts warmed up with 8 points in the first period. They scored a safety when James snapped the ball over the head of punter Dave Sherer of Southern Methodist.

Then pro lightning hit the All-Stars.

Carl Taseff returned a free kick 42 yards. Unitas pegged a 33-yard pass to Jim Mutscheller and two plays later, the Colt quarterback found Ray Berry with a 3-yard touchdown pass.

The Colts rammed across 21 points in the second period in easy fashion. A recovered fumble led to a 29-yard scoring pass from Unitas to Mutscheller.

Next, the Colts marched 81 yards in 11 plays, Unitas rifling a 13-yard scoring pass to L. G. Dupre. The fourth and last touchdown of the game came as Milt Davis intercepted a Humphrey pass and raced 36 yards.

The All-Stars failed to have a single penalty called against them, a virtue they found went completely unrewarded.

Michigan's Bob Ptacek, who completed 5 of 8 passes, came closest to building a fire under the All-Stars. Twice he began clicking with passes, one shot to Colorado's Boyd Dowler reaching the Baltimore 3. But twice the alert Colts intercepted his tosses to end the threats.

CHICAGO (AP)—Statistics of the All-Star Football Game:	ALL-STARS	COLTS
First downs	19	18
Rushing yardage	21	155
Passing yardage	186	211
Passes	15-41	14-28
Passes intercepted by	0	5
Punts	6-39.7	5-38
Fumbles lost	1	1
Yards penalized	0	127
All-Stars	0 0 0 0—0
Baltimore	8 21 0 0—29

Baltimore: TD, Berry (3 pass from Unitas), Mutscheller (29 pass from Unitas), Dupre (13 pass from Unitas), Davis (36, interception). PAT, Rechichar 3. Safety, Sherer (center snap out of end zone).

BAD SHAPE — College All-Star halfback Don Brown of Houston was in bad shape for a while last night after he was injured on a pass play in the 1st quarter. The team trainer worked on him as an official and ex-Michigan State great Sam Williams (88) looked on. He was later rushed to the hospital and showed improvement. Brown had swallowed his tongue and was in danger of suffocation and also had a concussion.

Brown's Fight for Life Jolts All-Star Mates

CHICAGO (AP) — Halfback Don Brown of Houston fought a life-death battle on the grass of Soldier Field and won.

From then on, his shaken All Star teammates fought in a psychological maze and lost—29-0 to the National Football League champion Baltimore Colts.

The depressive sight of Brown, injured in the first quarter, struggling for life on the gridiron before being hauled off to a hospital, was a jolt.

"Brown went out for a hook-pass," explained Lee Grosscup of Utah, the starting All Star quarterback. "He was supposed to swing tight. I think one of the Colts' pluggers clotheslined him (accidentally hit him across the throat.)

For 12 minutes, Brown lay silently on the ground while 70,000 fans stared downward at officials, trainers and coaches frantically working over him. A fire department ambulance drove onto the field, its red light flashing into the faces of the players standing solemnly in the background.

"When Brown got hurt, that was a big letdown," said head coach Otto Graham afterward. "He actually died on the field and stopped breathing. But they finally opened his mouth and brought him around again. I was scared to death."

Grosscup admitted he started shaking. Fullback Nick Pietrosante of Notre Dame said "I felt weak all over."

Brown, a Los Angeles Rams draft choice turned over to the Chicago Cardinals as part of a player package in the Ollie Matson deal, was one of the best-liked men in the All Star camp.

The impact on his throat caused Brown to swallow his tongue. He was choking to death. The situation was remedied during the frantic 12 minutes he lay on the ground. Hospital attendants later said he also suffered a slight concussion but his condition was good.

As for the game, Graham said: "We didn't have the horses and the Colts were a lot tougher than Detroit (his All-Stars trimmed the Lions last year 35-19).

Aussies Send Champs to Stop India's Threat

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — Their confidence shaken, the Australians sent Wimbledon Champions Neale Fraser and Roy Emerson against a pair of upset-minded Indians today in an effort to retain the initiative in the Davis Cup Inter-zone finals.

"We are naturally concerned," said the Australian captain, Harry Hopman. "We still believe we can win but it would be more comfortable if we were 2-0 instead of 1-1."

Even if they win in doubles, the Australians must score another point before they can qualify for the Challenge Round Aug. 28-30 against the United States.

Heat No Barrier to Yost and Lary

Frank Posts 15th Win of Year in 85 Degrees at Briggs Stadium

DETROIT (AP)—Eddie Yost has been branded a ballplayer whose age would make him wither in the heat. Frank Lary has been dubbed a cold weather pitcher.

It was 85 degrees in Briggs Stadium last night—steamy and humid.

But Yost and Lary turned statements about hot weather deadening their talents into so much hot air.

The veteran third baseman drilled five singles in the Detroit Tigers' 11-1 victory over Cleveland. Lary restricted the Indians to seven hits and had a shutout until the final inning.

It was the first time in Yost's 15-year Major League career he had gone 5-for-5.

"This heat doesn't bother me," said Yost, who scored twice and drove in two other runs. "I feel pretty good now."

"This weather shouldn't do anything to him," said manager Jimmie Dykes. "He's only 32 and that's still young for a player like Eddie who keeps himself in such good shape.

It was one of Lary's easier games. His teammates supported him with 14 hits. And he was as effective as he usually is against the New York Yankees.

The little righthander had a 7-0 lead after three innings.

Harvey Kuenn's seventh homer with Yost aboard sent the Tigers ahead 2-0 in the first inning. The Tigers routed Cleveland starter Cal McLish with a four-run third.

Kuenn ignited that rally with a double. Singles by Al Kaline, Gail Harris, Charlie Maxwell and Rocky Bridges figured in the scoring.

All was quiet until the eighth. Then the Tigers scored four more runs off reliever Bob (Riverboat) Smith.

The defeat dropped the second place Indians 3½ games behind Chicago.

Jim Bunning (10-10) faces the Indians today in the second of the three-game series. Herb Score (9-9), winless since July 3, goes for Cleveland.

OUT AT PLATE — Detroit shortstop Rocky Bridges, back in action after a long layoff, was foiled in attempt to score a run in the 2nd inning last night after a single by Eddie Yost. Minnie Minoso fired to Russ Nixon who made the tag. It mattered little anyway as the Tigers won, 11-1.

Bosox 8th-Frame Eruption Blasts Yankees

Lollar's Homers Trip A's

By The Associated Press

Don't tell Sherman Lollar that Chicago's American League leaders are a bunch of cream puff hitters. The White Sox catcher may hit you with that hot bat he's been swinging lately.

Sherm is a quiet, easy - going guy who rarely has much to say but oh, how his bat has been talking lately.

The reticent Arkansan walloped two home runs last night, each with a man on base, leading the White Sox to a 5-1 triumph over Kansas City. It was Lollar's fourth home run in three days during which he's driven in nine runs.

The triumph, together with Detroit's 11-1 shellacking of Cleveland, increased the White Sox' lead over the Indians to 3½ games, five in the important lost column.

Lollar leads the Sox with 17 home runs and 65 runs batted in for the season. He was the team leader last year, too, with 20 home runs and 84 RBI.

Boston's Red Sox erupted for nine runs in the enghth inning, overcoming a four-run deficit to defeat the New York Yankees 11-6. Washington won its third straight, topping Baltimore 7-3.

Bob Shaw pitched a five-hitter for the White Sox, losing his shutout in the eighth on singles by Kent Hadley and pinch hitter Preston Ward. It was the young right-hander's 12th victory of the season, his sixth in succession. He has lost three.

The Red Sox pounded three Yankee pitchers for nine hits in the big eighth, including a grand slam homer by pinch hitter Vic Wertz. Ryne Duren was the victim of Wertz' base - clearing wallop immediately after relieving starter Whitey Ford with the bases loaded, one out and the Yankees leading 6-2. After Gary Geiger's home run had given the Red Sox the lead, Boston scored four more before Bobby Shantz put out the fire.

It was Duren who threw a home run ball Wednesday night to pinch hitter Julio Becquer with two on that gave Washington a 3-2 victory.

Harmon Killebrew hit a home run, then doubled home the tie-breaking run in Washington's victory over Baltimore. It was homer No. 36 for the young third baseman, most in either league.

Lakeland Titlist, Spencer in Final

Lakeland Pharmacy won the Waterford National League softball crown and Spencer Floor Covering advanced to the finals of the American loop tourney in playoff games last night at Drayton Plains.

Spencer eliminated Sno-Bol in a dazzling nine-inning battle, 1-0 to move into the final round of the AL playoff against Drayton Drug. The Pharmacy team made four hits count for an 8-3 conquest of Dobski's Bar in the NL title game.

Ron Kind's double, a passed ball and pitcher Arlo Flesher's outfield fly delivered the winning run for Spencer in the 2nd extra inning. Flesher was the winning hurler in relief after starter Jack Nelson was ejected in the 7th frame. Dale Badder went the route in defeat. Sno-Bol was outhit, 7-4.

Dobski's outhit Lakeland, 7-4, but the Pharmacy made the most of every scoring opportunity. Lakeland wrapped up the decision with five runs in the 4th stanza. Roland Jakel was the winning pitcher while the loss went to Ralph Long.

Play Set to Start in 1961

New Pro Loop Organized

CHICAGO (AP)—Formation of a new professional football league, with six teams, was announced yesterday.

Representatives of Dallas, Denver, Houston, Los Angeles, Minneapolis-St. Paul and New York formally organized the American Football League and said play will begin in 1960.

Lamar Hunt, of Dallas, founder of the six-team circuit, had announced two weeks ago that the new loop would soon be a reality.

The representatives discussed such matters as league constitution, by-laws and working agreements, radio and television broadcasts and a player draft program. They want to have draft plans ready this fall to provide players for the league.

The group will meet again in Dallas next week. Hunt has said each team in the new league will play 14 league games and four exhibitions. Members of the National Football League play 12 league games and six exhibitions.

Friday Was Souchak's Day at Meadowbrook CC

Big Mike Ties Course Record With 63 Blows

By BILL CORNWELL

Powerful Mike Souchak has made a habit of shooting sensationally low scores and tying or breaking course records since he turned professional in 1951.

The former Duke University football star tied another course record Friday and his brilliant efforts vaulted him into a commanding lead in the Motor City Open golf tournament at Meadowbrook Country Club.

Husky Mike, who has been on a reducing campaign this year and is now scaling a solid 199 pounds, fired a magnificent eight-under-par 63 to steal the show on a day when 14 other pros also cracked the 70 barrier.

It was the 2nd straight below 70 round for Souchak. He shot an opening day 69, giving him a 36-hole total of 132, which is 10 strokes under par and three knocks better than his nearest rival, Arnold Palmer.

Palmer was one of three touring pros to shoot 66 yesterday with Max Evans of Glen Oaks Golf Club and circuit rider Doug Sanders completing the group.

Big George Bayer and 20-year-old Retief Waltman, a blonde South African pro playing his freshman year on the tour, joined in the sub-par barrage by firing 65's and National Open champion Bill Casper got into the act with 67.

Masters and Buick champ Art Wall, Don Fairfield, Bob Toski and Gardner Dickinson came through with 68's and Don Whitt, Ted Kroll, Milon Marusic and Bert Weaver each shot 69.

Palmer rifled a 69 Thursday and his 2nd consecutive sub-par round yesterday landed him in 2nd place at 135. Evans, the best Michigan pro in the field so far, shared 3rd spot at 138 with Fairfield, Casper, Kroll, Wall and Bayer.

It was strictly Souchak's day. His scorching 63 in steaming 90-degree heat equalled the Meadowbrook course mark first set by Byron Nelson and later matched by Bob Hamilton.

Souchak toured the par 35-36—71 layout in 30-33. He slipped to a bogey only once while collecting seven birdies and an eagle three. His lone bogey came on the par four 16th hole where his 5-iron approach skidded across the green, forcing him to chip back and putt twice for five blows.

Five of his birdies were scored on the front nine as he sank putts of 20 and 12 feet and three six-footers. He got home in two on the 507-yard 17th hole and canned a 10-foot putt for his eagle.

Mike felt that his greatest shot of the round came on the 211-yard 11th hole where he belted a 2-iron shot within 2½ feet of the cup and dropped the putt for a birdie deuce. His other birdie was an eight-footer at No. 12 for a four.

He missed a chance to set a new course mark on the short par four 18th by chipping too hard and needing two putts to hole out. Altogether, Souchak missed just three greens, one-putted 10 of them and had 26 putts.

Waltman picked up seven birdies on his jaunt over the 6,721-yard course and Bayer notched five "birds" and an eagle. Palmer one-putted the last five greens and made six birdies while Evans carded six "birds" and Sanders five.

The 75 best pros and the 12 low amateurs entered today's 3rd 18-hole session after surviving Friday's 1st cut. The field will be slashed to the low 60 pros plus ties and the same 12 amateurs for Sunday's finale.

Detroiters Gain Top Prizes at Speedway

Larry Hicks of Redford and Sid Keller of Detroit were the top money winners in a program of stock car races at the M59 Speedway last night.

Hicks won the main event beating out Pontiac's Don Baden and Al Carrier of Troy in a race halted twice by minor accidents.

Keller came from behind to take the Sportmen's modified main event involving 18 cars. There were a total of ten events.

CAMP PERRY, Ohio (AP) — Army Lt. Milton Friend of Malden, Mass., Friday won the international free rifle match with a score of 556 of a possible 600.

13 State Pros Stay in Field at Motor City

Thirteen Michigan pros survived Friday's first cut and entered the third round of the Motor City Open golf tournament today at Meadowbrook Country Club.

The state's remaining 13 pros include:

Max Evans, Glen Oaks; Reggie Myles Jr., Western Golf Club; host pro Chick Harbert; Gene Bone, Warwick Hills; Paul Segerlund, Country Club of Detroit; Ron Fox, Detroit; Mike Dietz, Paw Paw; Gerry Prieskorn, Pine Lake; George Spencer, Detroit; Wayne Henrickson, Atlas Valley; Wally Burkemo, Franklin Hills; Joe Zakarian, Detroit; Mac McElmurry, Tam O'Shanter.

Evans, tied with five other pros for 3rd place at 138, is the leading member of the delegation, followed by Myles at even par 142, Harbert with 144, and Bone, 145.

Mike Andonian of Pontiac is 6th among the 12 surviving amateurs who will complete the tourney with 152 on identical rounds of 76-76. Bob Zimmerman of Jackson heads the amateur crew at 146. Pete Green and Mike Conroy, Birmingham amateurs, were eliminated yesterday.

Skeeters Seek 2 Big Trophies

PMC Team Title, OCSC Over-All Award Targets in Chief Pontiac Test

Some four-score top Michigan skeet shooters this morning began banging away at flying clay "pigeons" over the Oakland County Sportsmen's club fields, to set off the 1959 Chief Pontiac championships. The tourney will run today and Sunday, and among the entries are many top guns that competed in the Nationals at Lynn Haven, Va., last week.

Today's shooting involved the so-called small shotguns, the little .410, the 20 and 28 gauges. Sunday's rounds will be shot with the 16 and 12 gauge weapons.

Two biggest targets for this annual shoot, one of the biggest skeet events of the season in Michigan, are the Oakland County Sportsmen's club perpetual trophy for winner of high-over-all, and the rotating championship team award given by Pontiac Motor Co. for high team.

Howard Confer, 1958 high-over-all king, and the Detroit Gun club team champions, with Confer, Chet Crites, Ains Borsum (Baldwin) Ken Sedlecky (Baldwin) and Paul Harvey, are back to defend their crowns, along with women's champion Mrs. Jean (Marion) Shields of Grand Rapids, and junior champ Bud Brown of Birmingham.

Earl Morrall Gets QB Call Tonight

Nick Pietrosante Joins Club for Grid Contest at Oklahoma Stadium

NORMAN, Okla. — Earl Morrall will start at quarterback and highly touted Nick Pietrosante will be in uniform for the Detroit Lions tonight when they take on the Chicago Cardinals in their second exhibition game.

Kick-off time here at the University of Oklahoma Stadium is 9 p.m. (EST).

Morrall, who is given a good chance to oust veteran Tobin Rote from the job of first string quarterback this season, will work the first half under coach George Wilson's pre-season rotation plan.

Rote and Jerry Reichow, the third candidate for the position, will split signal calling duties in the last two quarters.

Morrall has drawn praise from Lion coaches for the exceptional ability and poise he has shown in practice, and the former Michigan State All-America was one of the stars last week when the Lions came from behind to tie the Los Angeles Rams, 20-20.

He completed six passes in 12 attempts for 101 yards against the Rams. One of his passes was good for an important touchdown in the Lions' last-quarter surge.

Pietrosante, the Lions' No. 1 draft choice, was to arrive here today from Chicago where he was a member of the College All-Star squad which took a 29-0 shellacking from the professional champion Baltimore Colts last night.

Although Pietrosante will dress for tonight's game, it is doubtful that he will see little action, if any, against the Cardinals.

The hard-running fullback gained some distinction against the Colts, however, as he turned in the longest gain of the night for the All-Stars with a 55-yard run on a swing pass from Buddy Humphrey. Pietrosante also caught another pitch good for 11 yards.

Detroit's five other All-Star representatives will also be on hand for tonight's game, but they will not be in uniform.

The other All-Stars are Mike Rabold of Indiana, Bob Grottkou of Oregon, Phil Blazer of North Carolina, Harry Jacobs of Bradley and Ron Luciano of Syracuse. All are linemen.

Three other NFL exhibition games are scheduled for the weekend with most attention being focused on the New York-Philadelphia clash at Hershey, Pa.

Cubs Thrive on Flag Contenders

By The Associated Press

If the Chicago Cubs had only to play the National League's top three clubs, they'd probably win the pennant.

No fooling!

The fourth-place Cubs, playing only .478 against the second division teams, hold the season's edge on the first-place San Francisco Giants and third-place Milwaukee Braves while holding the runner-up Los Angeles Dodgers even.

Chicago's record against the Giants is 8-7; against the Dodgers 8-8; against the Braves 8-7.

The Cubs made it two in a row over the Giants yesterday, winning 7-5 on the strength of two-run homers by Walt Moryn, Dale Long and Ernie Banks. That gave the Cubs 15 homers in their last four games, all victories.

Despite the defeat, the Giants lost no ground to their closest pursuers as the Dodgers were beaten 2-1 in 11 innings by St. Louis and Pittsburgh defeated the Braves, also by a 2-1 score. Cincinnati swept a twi-night doubleheader from Philadelphia 15-13 and 5-4.

Trailing 3-1 in the sixth, the Cubs tied the score on Moryn's 16th home run with a man on base. Rookie Willie McCovey put the Giants in front 4-3 in the seventh with his third hit but the Cubs went ahead in their half on pinch hitter Dale Long's two-run homer. Banks followed with another two-run homer, his 35th of the year, to clinch the victory.

Pinch hitter Alex Grammas' bases-loaded single in the 11th won it for the Cards after they had tied the score 1-1 in the ninth on Joe Cunningham's home run. Don Drysdale gave up the homer, Danny McDevitt gave up the winning hit but Clem Labine, who put the winning run on base, was charged with the loss, his 10th Lindy McDaniel, in relief, won his 12th. Duke Snider accounted for the Dodger run with his 18th homer.

Vern Law pitched a five-hitter against the Braves for his 13th victory. Pittsburgh's two runs off Joey Jay came in the first on singles by Bob Skinner, Bob Clemente and Smokey Burgess and an error by outfielder Lee Maye. The Braves had beaten the Pirates six straight times.

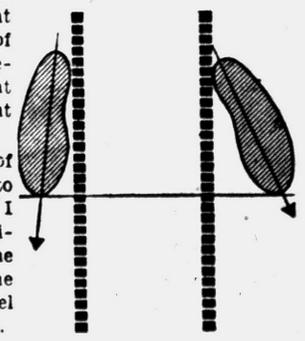
Doctoring Your Golf

By DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF

Patient's Complaint: Still wild on long shots.

Diagnosis: Splay-footed stance.

TREATMENT: I've never understood why so many golfers want to point both feet outward when they take their stance. The toes of the left foot should point outward, or in direction of the hole, by about 20 degrees or so. But the right foot should point straight ahead, or close to it.



I'm an advocate of standing naturally up to the ball, and therefore I don't prescribe exact positions and angles for the feet at address. I think the main thing is to feel natural and comfortable.

But turning the right toe way out is neither natural nor comfortable, for most people. It's also harmful to the chances of a good swing. This stance allows too much freedom of turn on the backswing, and restricts the turn on the downswing.

Let the right foot point as nearly straight ahead as you comfortably can. (See today's illustration.) If it feels more natural to turn it outward a little, do so. But turn it out only a little bit.

Sentiment to Be Tested at School

Bi-Racial Registration Continues in Virginia's Warren County

FRONT ROYA, Va. (AP) — A test of this northern Virginia community's sentiment on desegregation may come today as bi-racial registration continues at predominantly white Warren County High School.

Eleven Negroes and 65 white youngsters signed up for the 1959-60 session Friday as the two races appeared together on the school grounds for the first time since the segregation controversy began last September. The registration took place calmly.

While the number of white registrants seemed small in comparison to the 1,050 eligible to attend the school, County School Supt. Q. D. Gasque said he expected a larger turnout today when parents won't be working.

The 11 Negroes who registered were among the 21 who attended the high school last year, Gasque said. They were the only students who attended classes when the school was desegregated in February.

Warren County High was closed last September under now-defunct massive resistance laws struck down by federal and state courts. White students in February chose to remain in a private school set up by the Warren County Educational Foundation.

At a mass meeting here Thursday night, more than 1,500 county residents voted overwhelmingly to continue the private school this year. Registration for it is scheduled next week.

Several parents who asked to remain unidentified said Friday they were sending their children to register for the public school but would enter them in the private school if it opens again this fall.

Soviets to View Sherlock's Case

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle Estate Asks Royalties of Russian Publishers

MOSCOW (AP)—Sherlock Holmes' toughest case will come before supreme court of the Russian Soviet Republic. If he wins it could mean a windfall for Western authors whose books are published in the Soviet Union.

The case involves two million rubles in royalties which the estate of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, the fabled detective's creater, claims from Soviet state publishing houses.

The Moscow City Court ruled Friday that the case may be brought before the Soviet High Court.

The case is based on Article 399 of the Soviet Civil Code, a new approach in the long battle by Western authors for royalties from Soviet publishers. Not being a member of the International Copywright Convention, the Soviet Union refuses to pay for publication of foreign books.

Harold K. Berman, Harvard University professor of Soviet law, argued the case in fluent Russian before two lay assessors, one a foundry worker and the other a woman rubber shoe gluer. Presiding was Zoia N. Ilina, 36, a woman judge with wavy blonde hair.

The case was dismissed by the same court last Nov. 15 on ground that Article 399 did not apply.

Godfrey Says Stay in Hawaii Was Best Tonic

HONOLULU (UPI) — Arthur Godfrey, sun-tanned and strumming a ukulele, said today that his stay in Hawaii had been the "best tonic in the world."

"I feel very well," he said. Tapping his chest, he continued: "You know these things make you realize that you're not here forever. Life on this planet is not as permanent as it seems.

Stretched out on the lanai of the Kona Inn, Godfrey said that his future plans depended upon the reception accorded his new TV show next month. He said all the Hawaiian shots had been completed.

Godfrey said he wanted to show his audience that the true Hawaiian hula was the "most gracious dance" in the world.

Attempt to End Cross Co. Strike

Developments Spread in 3 Michigan Cities Late Yesterday

FRASER (UPI) — Latest developments in the Cross Manufacturing Co. strike were scattered in three southeast Michigan cities late yesterday.

In Detroit, Thomas Roumell, area director of the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) ordered a hearing Aug. 31 on charges by the United Auto Workers of unfair labor practices.

In Mount Clemens, a brief hearing on a company request for an injunction against picketing was adjourned until next Tuesday when only a few witnesses appeared.

Roumell announced he had issued a complaint alleging in part that the company had refused to bargain in good faith with the UAW.

Roumell said the complaint constituted a "finding of probable violation of the act on the charges which the union has filed. The company is entitled to a hearing to determine whether or not there has been a violation."

Are Burmese Rhinos Doomed to Extinction?

RANGOON, Burma (AP)—Burma's few remaining rhinoceroses are on their way to extinction, a Rangoon newspaper fears.

The Nation, in an editorial called "Farewell to Rhino," noted that in 1940, tracks of only 19 rhinos were found in an area once well-populated by the lumbering animals.

"Since then it is to be feared that in some areas these animals have been exterminated, or that only one single individual survives," it added.

The paper, one of Burma's most influential, blamed government officials responsible for game preservation for not being truly interested, and sportsmen, "some of them in responsible official positions," for shooting protected game. Burmese villagers also kill the beasts to get the blood and horn, which they believe has great medicinal value.

"There are no sancturies anywhere for our wild animals against the depradations of ignorant and ruthless human beings," the paper complained.

Predicted at United Nations

China Will Stay on Shelf

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — United Nations observers are unanimous in predicting that the issue of Communist China's right to sit in the United Nations will be put on the shelf next month, as it has been for the last nine years.

India has proposed that the U.N. General Assembly, meeting in September, take up the "question of the representation of China in the United Nations."

In other words, India has again called for a full-dress debate on whether the Nationalist Chinese government in Taipei or the Communist government in Peiping is entitled to hold China's seat in the U.N.

The Nationalist government, with Western support, has been able to hang onto the seat since the Communists took over on the mainland in 1949.

United States and other Western support for the Nationalists has not diminished in the past year.

GET LONG DEBATE

So, the observers conclude, India will not get a formal Assembly debate on the issue. But, as in past years, they will get a long procedural debate in the steering committee and on the Assembly floor on the question of putting it on the agenda.

This gives every country a chance to talk on the China issue. Last year the debate raged for three days.

The usual procedure, and the one almost certain to be followed this year, is for the West, behind U.S. leadership, to ask the Assembly to reject the Indian proposal and to decide not to consider seating Communist china for at least the remainder of the session.

The Western proposal was carried last September by a vote of 44 to 28, with nine abstentions.

Western sources expected that the vote will be about the same this year.

They said that Chinese Communist suppression of the rebellion in Tibet and the more recent communist attacks on loyal forces in Laos would hurt Red China's cause in the U.N.

Water Line Leak Ties Up Traffic on Huron Street

West Huron traffic was tied up most of yesterday at Cass avenue as workers attempted to find a troublesome leak in the city's water lines.

The leak was found at 3:30 p.m. in an abandoned service line, said Joseph W. Gable, water department superintendent.

Causing "no trouble" to utility lines or nearby buildings, the leak was first noticed Tuesday in the form of excessive ground waters, Jewell said.

The latest leak was not connected with the leak in the 12-inch line that developed July 4, he added.

Vet Insurance Years Culled Out by House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has accepted all but one Senate amedment to a veterans pension bill that will add 10 billion dollars to the cost of the program over the next 40 years.

The House, by a 226-34 vote, accepted Friday the Senate version of the bill with this exception: It threw out a provision that would have given veterans who served since 1940 another one-year chance to get in on national service life insurance.

The President is against the bill, but the House vote and the 86-6 Senate vote both are well over the two-third majority needed to pass it over his veto.

Way Clear for Actor Borgnine to Remarry

Superior Judge Edward R. Brand refused Friday to set aside the divorce Rhoda Borgnine obtained a year ago.

Mrs. Borgnine sought to have the decree ruled invalid on the grounds that her husband used fraud and undue influence to induce her to obtain the divorce.

She said that at the time she agreed to the divorce and property settlement she was under medication, pressure "and the threats made by my husband not to let me see our daughter unless I did sign."

Judge Brand said there were no legal grounds to challenge validity of the interlocutory decree.

Mrs. Borgnine, 37, had won a $2,000-a-month settlement from the husky, 44-year-old actor and custody of the couple's 10-year-old daughter, Nancy.

Foreign Ministers Consider Caribbean

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Foreign ministers of 22-Western Hemisphere nations today began putting into shape recommendations they hope will quiet the politically turbulent Caribbean area.

Despite public expressions of confidence that the conference will reach unanimous conclusions, there are strong differences to be ironed out.

Cuban Premier Fidel Castro — at bitter odds with the Dominican Republic's strongman Rafael Trujillo—spoke Friday night in Havana and called the conference a farce.

He criticized a suggestion made here by U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter that a temporary investigation committee be appointed to study the Caribbean situation and report back to the foreign ministers in February.

The Castro-Trujillo quarrel was one of the major reasons the conference was called. Attempted invasions by rebels of Nicaragua, the Dominican Republic and Panama were also under consideration.

Civil Rights Bill Facing Filibuster

Southern Senators Hint They Will Fight to Keep Measure Inactive

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP)— Southern Senators hinted today that any short-cut move to force a broad civil rights bill up for action in the Senate will run smack into a filibuster.

Plans to carry the fight to the Senate were made by civil rights advocates after futile efforts yesterday to jar a bill loose from the Senate Judiciary Committee at a five-hour meeting.

Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark), a committee member, declined to give any direct reply when asked how he and other Dixie foes of civil rights measures intended to counter this strategy.

But he told reporters that "I'm confident some of my colleagues might have something to say about that, and that might inspire me to express my views."

Both Sens. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill), Senate Republcan leader, and Thomas C. Hennngs Jr. (D-Mo) sad they would try to get a civil rights bill before the Senate by offering it as an amendment to some other measure called up for action.

"We are accomplishing exactly nothing," Dirksen told newsmen after Friday's committee session. Hennins also said civil rights legislation was "hopelessly stalemated" in the committee.

Soviets Gleeful Over Life Span

Sputnik III Still Orbiting

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Soviet Union's 1½ ton Sputnik III, a "quite fabulous" sattelite, begins its 16th month in orbit today, a span of life far longer than expected.

When Sputnik III was launched May 15, 1958, American scientists estimated that it would burn out sometime in February or early March of this year. They later revised this to Aug. 15, 1959.

Although Sputnik III's end is definitely approaching, it will not come today. American scientists now estimate that the the satellite—the third and to date the last Soviet artificial moon—will burn out around Dec. 3.

According to a space scientist here, the satellite and its 2,925 pounds of scientific instruments have produced "quite fabulous" scientific results.

It has added to the store of knowledge about radiation zones and micrometeors in nearby space and about variations in the earth's magnetic field.

It has proved the durability and effectiveness of solar energy batteries to produce power for instruments and radio transmitters.

But its most notable achievement, according to the scientist, has been to verify existence of electrojets—current systems in the upper atmosphere which had been predicted but not completely proved until Sputnik III observed and reported them.

Sputnik III is by far the most complicated of the three earth satellites put in orbit so far by Russia. It also has lived far longer. Scientifically, it is more elaborate even than the dog-carrying Sputnik II.

SAGINAW (AP) — A one-cent a quart increase in milk prices is expected in the Saginaw Valley area as a result of action by the Michigan Milk Producers Assn. Determined to Avoid Communism

India Celebrates Its 13th Year of Democratic Rule

NEW DELHI (AP) — India began today its 13th year of freedom with faith in democratic ideals strengthened by what happened under communism in Tibet and India's own Kerala state.

There is an apparent majority determination not to let communism encroach on the independence India — and Pakistan— were granted by the retiring British on Aug. 15, 1947.

Indian Communists boycotted the official independence day celebrations. Instead, they held their own observances in a protest against the neutralist policies of the Nehru government and the ouster of the Red regime in Kerala.

Prime Minister Nehru celebrated the day by visiting Gandhi's shrine. He then drove to the 300-year-old Sandstone fort, where he called on his countrymen to adhere to Gandhi's ideals of truth and nonviolence and face the future with heads held high.

Mentioning the United States, the Soviet Union, China and Japan, the Prime Minister said no country could advance by magic.

The sweat and labor of its people is the only thing that contributes to the progress of a country, he declared.

The year that has just ended gave a rude jolt to Indian attempts at peaceful coexistence with international communism across the Himalayas to the north and with national communism in the southern Indian state of Kerala.

Despite baffling problems of clothing, feeding and educating 400,000,000 people, India continues to be the most stable country in free Asia. Its chronic food shortage continues and its population increases by nearly 5,000,000 every year. But the overall economy is sound and India's currency is among the stablest in the world.

Reflections

MY TREE

Nature's manifestations are exemplified in a tree — blossoms fertilized by bees, ants, moths, and wind, a seed is carried by a bird, or wind, dropped, rain washed soil over it, bacteria feds it, minerals provide nutrients, sun coaxed it to sprout, a tiny leaf, roots spread out, go deep. My Tree rears its crown higher and higher, gravity keeps it in balance, a branch on oneside is balanced by one on the otherside. It bends in high winds, roots hold it firmly.

Just as this tree grew from a tiny seed into a living thing of grace and beauty friendship begins with a handclasp, a smile, word, and that indefinable something called mutual attraction, it too grew into an exquisitely rare and jealously guarded part of our heart. That tree, all of it, has our love just as we love the whole man. The term, "My Friend," or "My Tree" is one of the most lavish compliments we express.

Unordered Merchandise

The increasing number of inquiries and complaints being received by the National Better Business Bureau concerning unordered merchandise prompts this statement as to the responsibilities and liabilities of recipient.

If you receive unordered merchandise you are NOT obliged —to acknowledge its receipt

—to return it
—to pay for it, unless used
—to give it particular care
—to keep it beyond a reasonable period of time

If you receive unordered merchandise you ARE obliged to surrender it to the shipper, or his agent, if called for within a reasonable period of time—in which event you may demand payment for storage charges before relinquishing it.

The most practical way to curb the unordered merchandise nuisance is to make it unprofitable. This can be done effectively by holding such goods for a few months, at which time your liability ends.

Your Neighbor's House

Let's Pay a Visit to a Friendly Street

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

It must be a wonderful neighborhood when the residents would rather remodel their homes, build on or even tear them down and start over (honest, that's what one resident said), than to move away.

This love affair between the people who live on the street and their neighborhood occurs in Bloomfield Village. Amberly Road is just one block long; there are fewer than a score of homes on the street. All but two are fairly new. Most of the new ones were built by the Percy M. Nelson Company of Birmingham.

While this is no street of identical homes, theer is a similarity between the houses. Most of them combine brick and frame construction. They are large comfortable homes.

It is a neighborhood composed mainly of families with young children. When we visited the residents, one obligingly tried to count the offspring, She came up with "fifty-some" as a total. We know at least one more was expected in July.

Whenever new families move onto the street, there is a block party for them. Otherwise, there are three or four block parties a year; several of these, of course, are around the holidays.

We have pictures of six different homes for our story today. We tried to get a sampling of the kind of folks who live on Amberly road.

There are two exterior shots. The light colored house (it's gray, but looks white in the picture) is reminiscent of Southern Colonial architecture with its two-story pillars in front. The little hitching post in front adds to the southern flavor. The James Couzens live here with their seven children.

The red brick house belongs to the J. A. Frost Jr. family. Five years ago they built this house at the time of their marriage. With the birth of their fourth child this summer, the house was bulging at the seams.

Bob Nelson, the builder, put on an addition for them over the garage. A back stairway provides easy access to the two new bedrooms and a bath. Now the Frosts won't have to move away from their favorite neighborhood.

The one thing typical of the neighborhood—outside of children—is what the residents call the Lauderdale room. You could call it a family room or a recreation room just as well. But since it is characterized by lots of windows and informal furniture, the name it has serves very well. The Lauderdale room we photographed belongs to the Ralph Griersons.

It has walls paneled in oak and built-in shelves and cupboards of the same wood. Furniture is informal, designed for relaxed living.

LAUDERDALE ROOM — Oak block flooring and paneled oak walls make an attractive, yet sturdy room for a family that has four youngsters. This is the Lauderdale room in the Ralph Grierson home at 2715 Amerly road. Curtains are beige homespun type fabric. The sofa is covered in a small blue and white material. There's a hooked pad on the Governor Carver chair. On the lower shelf of the built-in unit a mass of plants adds a note of living color to the room, in contrast to the bright books above.

SOUTHERN COLONIAL — Two-story pillars across the front give this house a Southern Colonial air; so does the little hitching post near the driveway. Shutters are black. The James Couzens and their seven children live in this gray and white home at 2815 Amberly road.

NEW ADDITION — The J. A. Frosts Jr. needed more bedrooms, but didn't want to move away from Amberly road. Their builder put two bedrooms and a bath over the garage, adding a back stairway to reach them. If you look closely, you may be able to see the joining of the two roof lines. This house was originally built five years ago; the Frosts have just moved into the new addition. Bob Nelson did the building of the addition.

Little Electron Tubes Withstand Heat Changes

NEW YORK (AP) — The need for more compact and rugged electronic equipment has produced tiny electron tubes that can operate in a furnace at 660 degrees Fahrenheit as well as in liquid nitrogen at 320 degrees below zero Fahrenheit.

The thimble-size tubes called "Nuvistors" were developed by RCA to withstand shock and heat changes in space flight. They are expected to have extensive use in missiles, jets and military communications equipment.

PLASTIC GUTTERS — Molded-in flashing of new plastic gutter is nailed to the roof under shingles. This gutter, reinforced with fiberglas, will never rot, dent, corrode or rust.

Here's the Answer

QUESTION: I would like to lay a strip of concrete about two feet wide along one side of our house to prevent rain water from seeping into the dirt at that point and finding its way to the foundation. I want the rain to fall on the concrete strip and then flow on to the concrete driveway, where it will be carried away into the street. But it is important that the concrete be waterproof? How can I be sure of this?

ANSWER: I'll have to assume that your premise is correct: that you have determined that the foundation is being damaged — or will be damaged— by rain water seeping into the ground alongside it. If this is so, and it may very well be, then your plan is a good one.

With all concrete work, the waterproofing strength of the finished job is determined by many factors. You must use clean aggreate material, mix thoroughly, avoid using too much water in the mixture and cure properly. Entirely aside from that, you can add a waterproofing compound to the mixture. Or you can buy one of the special cements to which the waterproofing compound already has been added.

Question: What advice can you give me on building a chicken house

ANSWER: None that would help you, since there are many different types and sizes. Space will not permit the detailed instruction necessary to proceed with the construction.

However, you can obtain full information by writing to the United States Department of Agriculture in Washington, which has a special booklet on the subject. It is also possible that an agriculture experiment station in your area might have some printed material that would be of assistance to you.

QUESTION: Most of the time the handle on the cold water faucet in our kitchen works all right. But every once in a while, the handle goes around and around without turning on the water. After doing this several times, the handle then catches and it's okay again for a while. Can this be fixed?

ANSWER: It is likely that only a new handle will correct the trouble. But to be sure it is the handle that is causing the difficulty, take it off and switch it with the handle from the hot water faucet.

Forests on Increase

Don't worry about running out of wood in the next generation or so. Experts say there is enough living sawtimber in the tiny forest strip along the Pacific Coast, the Douglas fir region, to rebuild every dwelling in the nation. Forests are growing faster than people can use them up.

Automobiles Exerting Influence on Design

Householders looking for intriguing ideas for their home's entrance way should cock an ear towards some interesting observations made by DeWitt C. Robinson, AIA, well known architect of the Pacific Northwest.

"In this motor-borne age when walking shoes are almost as obsolete as the surrey," says Robinson, "a very logical way to enter the home is via the carport. This doesn't necessarily mean that the front door is located within the carport, but rather, that the approach is made in conjunction with it."

There are a number of advantages to having a carport "entrance" Robinson notes, and not the least of them is the overhead protection it offers to arriving guests and family.

Another is the chance it offers to add drama and dimension to a simple house design. "The wide-winged design of the contemporary carport has real aesthetic value," said Robinson. "With its roof usually floating on proudly exposed structural elements — often sweeping glue laminated beams of Douglas fir, backed with fir roof decking of panel-grade beauty, and clean-lined supporting columns — there can be excitingly dramatic impact.

"Modern carport walls are interesting, too. Oftentimes, they're made of highly decorative screens of vertical louvers or ornamental wood grillwork instead of the usual solid wall construction, and they can be extended to become valuable landscape design elements."

Robinson also pointed out that by locating the carport at the front of the home, it will act as a buffer zone between house and street, blocking out traffic noises and insuring more privacy within the home. Then, too, with a street-side carport, householders regain the full use of back and side yards, space which can be developed into living areas. This is no small item in today's outdoor-minded world said the architect.

Hardboard Best for Drawer Bottoms

Every dresser, whether it's made by a handyman or a professional, must have a bottom, and the best material you can use for drawer bottoms is smooth, splinter-free hardboard.

Hardboard bottoms should "float" in or on supports. You can dado the inside edges of the sides to accept the bottom, or set the bottom on cleats you nail to the sides. This trick allows for expansion and contraction which normally takes place in wood and wood products.

The easiest way to assemble the drawer is to fasten the back corners first, slip in the hardboard bottom, and then fasten on the front. Use waterproof glue and finishing nails. Countersink the nails and fill the holes with water putty or wood filler.

An estimated 700,000 families with incomes below $5,000 a year entered the ranks of home buyers last year, researchers report. Approximately 60 per cent of these bought "used" homes.

Expert Sees Suburbia Facing Ever Rising Costs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — America's suburbs, having become "the dominant characteristic of our civilization," must face up to absorbing "the full impact of our huge population growth," an expert predicts.

As they do so, they will become congested and costly, he expects.

Behind the trend toward the suburbs, William L. C. Wheaton finds, is that residence in suburbia "has become a symbol of middle-class status. It has become a way of life which best expresses our materialistic ideals, our frontier love of open space, and our new concern with leisure and the good life."

Wheaton is director of the Institute of Urban Studies of The University of Pennsylvania and President of the National Housing Conference. He discussed the future of the suburbs in "What Next for The Cities?" in the Conference's 1959 Yearbook, just published.

In the next 20 or 25 years, Wheaton forecast, the suburbs will expand from their present 50 million residents to perhaps 150 million.

Eventually, however, the shift away from the older, central cities to the outlying areas may be stopped, he said. The suburbs will become more costly places to live, which will reduce their relative attractiveness.

"The suburbs will lose the open space that now helps to make them attractive. As they become more densely developed their costs will rise, while amenities decline," Wheaton added.

"Transportation expense will increase steadily. Commuting costs are already rising sharply. They will continue to rise as further shifting from rail transit to the automobile increases the costs of highways, intensifies their congestion, and necessitates ever higher taxes to provide improved highway.

"These higher costs unfortunately will not be accompanied by less congestion or reduced travel time. Automobile manufacturers can make new cars faster than we can build highways."

Wheaton sees these rising costs coinciding with another kind of obstacle to residence in suburbia. "Presumably," he asserts, "that time will come when each metropolitan area is surrounded by solid suburban development for a distance of 10 to 20 miles, or even 30 to 40 miles. Suburban growth is now making a shambles of the countryside. Scattered development, sometimes called 'urban fallout,' has plastered former farm country with the saccharine architecture characteristic of suburban building."

With the suburbs "becoming an asphalt jungle laced with highways penetrating the forests of hot dog stands, and gas stations and the fields of lookalike homes," Wheaton continued, "our population may discover that the pursuit of open space by one hundred million people is costly, if not unobtainable. By then, perhaps, there will be some attraction holding people in the metropolis."

Unique Parquet Floor Features Added Bounce

CHICAGO — When guests dance in the famed Ambassador West hotel's new Guildhall they enjoy the foot comfort afforded by one of the nation's most unusual floors.

In glamorous French herringbone style, the 6,800 sq. ft. oak floor was laid over a resilient substructure of ¼ inch thick cork and ⅝ inch plywood. The base is concrete.

The installation is believed to be unique, says W. R. Morgan, president of the Austin Flooring Company, Chicago, which laid the floor. Many fine ballroom floors, he explains, have cork cushions beneath the hardwood. But the Guildhall installation gains added resiliency from the combination of cork and plywood.

Power nailing was employed throughout. Three-inch long pins which penetrated the concrete were shotthrough the cork-plywood sub-structure. Each piece of oak was fastened to the subfloor with three power cleats.

The tongued and grooved oak units, 25-32-inch thick and 18 inches long, were provided in a specially ordered width of three inches.

SALT SPRAY TEST — Laboratory technician examines hardware used on casement windows of ponderosa pine after it has been subjected to rigorous tests in a salt spray cabinet. The device, which gives the hardware years of rough weathering in a few hours, is used to determine if the mechanism and plating are up to the high standards required for windows of ponderosa pine.

Keep Dust Down

Dust can be quite a problem when you are painting articles indoors or out. For small objects, your best bet is to set up shop in a well-ventilated room where dust is at a minimum. Be sure to spread plenty of newspapers or protective floor coverings around—you'll save your floors and at the same time help to keep the dust flow down.

You Live in Suburbia

If you bought a new house recently, chances are one in two that you now live in the suburbs of a large city. Fifty per cent of all U.S. homes now being built are in suburbs of metropolitan areas.

library to photograph, we were told to visit the Elmer Bernitts. Everyone knows about the braided rug Mrs. Bernitt made for the library. It is mammoth and it's beautiful.

The day we saw Mrs. Bernitt she was sorting wool pieces, preparatory to making a new rug. The one she has is to go to the summer cottage and the new one will be made in colors that will go better in the town house.

The Bernitts have two older children, one a student at the University of Michigan. Mrs. Bernitt and your home editor even found a mutual friend.

We wanted one patio in our series of pictures, because it is rather typical of the street. The red and white one of the Thomas Restrick home appealed to us. Mrs. Restrick was most helpful all the way, answering our dozens of questions and suggesting other people to see.

New as this neighborhood is, there has been some remodeling done. Guess that's the great American pastime. The John Larkins did over their kitchen and family room, making them something special. The main feature is a waist-high indoor grill.

There are bound to be other neighborhoods with interesting homes and families. Tell us about them and perhaps we'll do more of this type of story.

FAMILY KITCHEN — The John Larkins at 2655 Amberly road have done a remodeling job on their kitchen, making it one to fit the needs of parents, two boys and a girl. Walls and cupboards are birch. Counter tops and splash backs are beige linen weave Formica. The built-in grill is beige brick with a stone top and copper hood. That's an ice cream freezer on it at the right. At the left, narrow folding louvered doors close off the little pass-through. The floor is creamy linoleum with brown flecks in it. A white paper with pink and brown design is used on the ceiling and the soffit. Nice place to work, isn't it?

MASTERPIECE — A masterpiece of patient work is this handsome braided rug in the Elmer W. Bernitt home at 2640 Amberly road. Mrs. Bernitt made it. She is now making a second one. Early American tables are used with comfortable upholstered furniture. The curtains have a pheasant print on them. This library is the favorite lounging spot for the family whose daughters are teenagers.

Panel Room Two Ways

While they say it's hard to fit a square peg in a round hole, modern architects have found a way to give a better rounded look to a square room. So says the Southern Pine Association, describing the use of horizontal wood paneling on two opposite walls, and vertical paneling on the other pair. The first emphasizes length; the second, height, and the total impact is one of varying wall dimensions, even though they are actually identical.

Good Enough for Noah, Best Waterproofing Now

In all the centuries since Noah caulked his ark with asphalt, science has been unable to produce a substance that waterproofs as well.

As a result, modern man continues to use asphalt as a waterproofing material. A good example is asphalt shingles, the most popular material for protecting homes from harsh weather.

Fence for Privacy

When you live too close to the street for comfort, try erecting a tall fence to regain your privacy. Two-by-ten inch boards of western red cedar spaced two inches apart and set diagonally within a heavy frame break vision from both directions, while creating an interesting pattern and allowing breezes to pass through. Lovely, intimate courtyard can be created between fence and house.

Space Frame Wins Plaudits

How would you like to have an exciting outdoor living space 16 by 32 feet for just $200 worth of materials and your own labor?

This roofless, sky-viewing living room is attracting the attention of tens of thousands of visitors to the forest products pavilion at the Oregon Centennial and world trade fair which will last until September 17.

The space frame is built on a series of eight - by - eight foot squares, some floored with 2x6 Douglas fir decking, some made into charming tiny garden spots. The height of the frame is eight feet, and the structure is framed in conventional fir 2x4s on which the various types of siding have been fastened.

Some eight - foot - square wall sections are enclosed and some left open. A variety of standard siding patterns have been used for the individual eight - foot-squares. Storrs used shingles for one wall and some simple, ornamental wood grillwork for another.

The space frame is large enough to accommodate a portable barbecue and a variety of outdoor furniture. Each wall has been stained a different color, but the shades used, though bright, are not gaudy.

Lots of Spray Paints

Now on the market are enamels, varnishes, and lacquers that have been packaged in self-spraying aerosol cans meant primarily for those touch-up jobs and for painting small hard-to-handle objects. Radiators, moldings, and wicker furniture can be coated in a matter of minutes.

About 340,000 square miles, or about 11 per cent of the total area of the U.S. is underlain with coal.

Be Choosy About Paints

Paints for basements come in a choice for the painter according to the dry or wet conditions of his basement. Dry walls can be painted with water thinned latex paints, or with solvent thinned masonry paints. For damp concrete walls, latex and Portland cement paints will do the job. For continually damp walls, Portland cement paint is the best.

Do-It-Yourselfer Builds House From Own Trees

Besides the lumber, shingles for the new house also are home-grown. Madison's father-in-law, Charles Williams, who lives with the family, is hand-splitting cedar bolts to create attractive rough-hewn roofing. Even the furniture going into the house is fresh off the farm via Madison's carpentry workbench.

Madison, an Army veteran of 26 months in the Pacific, was doing all right as an auto mechanic after World War II ended. But constant exposure to exhaust fumes began to give him trouble.

In 1947, he and his wife used all their savings to buy a timber tract in the shadow of Mt. Adams which, although it had been logged before they acquired it, was amply stocked with timber. About half the trees are ponderosa pine, the rest fir and larch.

Madison found he could harvest 50,000 board feet annually without exceeding the volume of timber grown each year, thus enabling his woodland management to achieve a sustained yield status.

In 1949, a forester for the Western Pine Assn. at Bend, Ore., inspected the land and certified it as a Western Pine tree farm. The Association sponsors the tree farm program to recognize outstanding forestry practices on privately-owned, tax-paying timberlands in pine areas of the Western states.

Maximum use is made of each tree that is harvested by Madison. Wood shavings from the planer go into the cow barn for use as bedding material. Other leftovers are used for firewood.

Madison, his wife, Veronica, and their 12-year-old daughter, Sheila, together with the wife's father, say the current project has brought the family closer together than ever.

Laying Floor Is Last Job Except Trim

Installation of the oak finish flooring should be the last construction operation in a house. All plumbing, electrical wiring, plastering and painting should be completed before the finish floor is begun. Only the final interior trim work should remain.

The purpose of this procedure is to avoid use of the finish flooring as a working surface by the building mechanics. That is an important point for you to check on during construction of your house.

Make certain the contractor does not lay your oak floors prematurely. When installed too soon, they are likely to receive scratches, dents and other marks of disfigurement.

The last operation before actual installation of the oak finish flooring should be the application of a good quality asphalt coated building paper over the subflooring. This will protect the finish floor and the interior of the home from dust, cold and moisture which might seep through the floor seams.

In the area directly over your heating plant it is advisable to use double weight building paper or standard insulating board. The purpose of this precaution is to protect the finish floor from excessive heat which might cause the boards to shrink.

Different Medicine Chest

Thin vertical file drawers, built of scraps of Douglas fir lumber with smooth finished face, make an ideal medicine cabinet. The files may contain as many as four narrow shelves, each containing certain types of medicines and toiletries. Each tall, narrow file drawer operates independently on simple sanded wooden guides.

A good putty knife and a liberal application of elbow grease will remove cement that has been spattered on a wood floor.

Metal Surfaces Require Special Type Primer

Metal surfaces, after being freed of dirt, oil and corrosion, require their own special type of anti-corrosive primer. Use zinc chromate, red lead, blue lead or a new primer that contains processed sardine oil. Galvanized metals should be primed with zinc dust-zinc oxide paint. All loose rust must be removed before painting no matter what kind of primer is used.

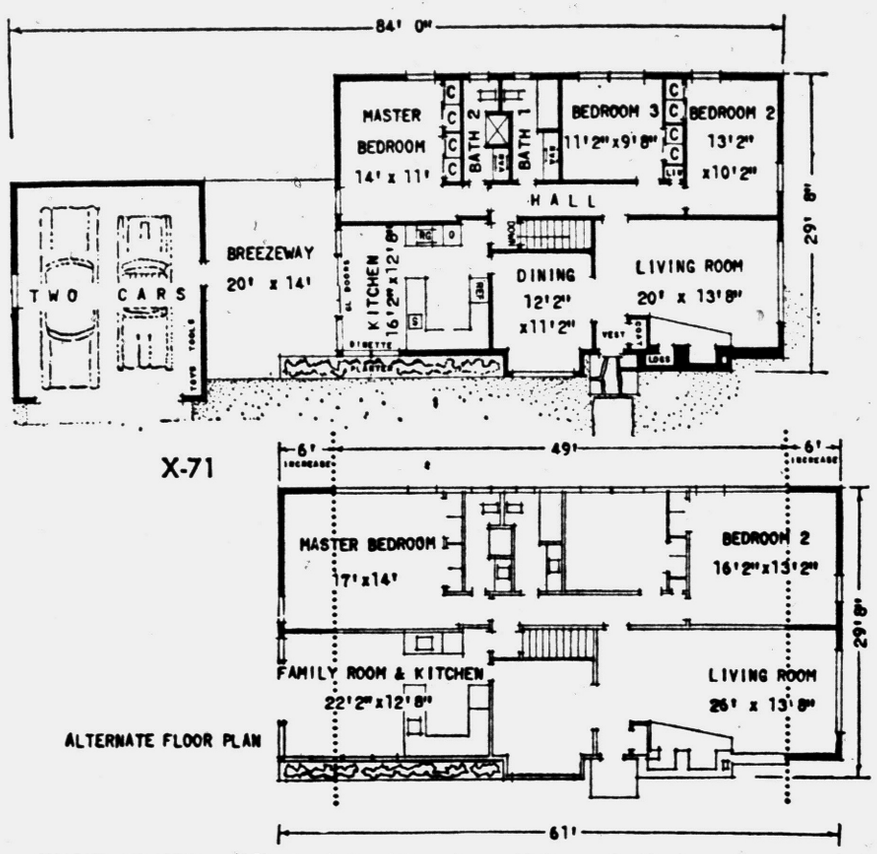
Woodgrain Paneling Adds Beauty to Wall

Woodgrained paneling, the aristocrat of interior decor, now through the magic of a manufacturing process can grace the homes of average-income families.

Faithful reproductions of beautiful woodgrains are made by a high fidelity printing process impressed on a special quality of hardboard made by Masonite Corporation. Especially produced for beautiful interior walls, these panels in the Royalcote line are warm in color and durable for long life.

Styled with random grooves or ungrooved, the panels following installation require only a coat of wax, clear shellac or varnish to preserve their beauty. Sizes are four by eight feet for easy handling and installation either over a stud wall or an existing finished surface.

DESIGNED TO STRETCH — Plans for this attractive three-bedroom ranch are engineered for easy enlargement. The home can be built, as shown here, at 1,390 square feet or at 1,726 square feet.



CHOICE OF SIZE — X-71 was designed to give the builder an option on size. At top is the minimum house, offering 1,390 square feet of habitable space. In alternate below, six feet have been added on each side, increasing square footage to 1,726. If desired, the increase could be made on one side and not the other, or changed to three feet on each side.

Water Leaks Up Your Bills

This leak check should include:

1. All faucets from attic to cellar. Watch hot water faucets particularly; the heat affects the washers and you lose both water and fuel used to heat the water. A slow drip wastes 15 gallons of water per day.

2. Check flush tanks of toilets by placing laundry bluing in tank and watching bowl to see if it leaks through.

3. Check outside faucets to see that they are turned off when not in use. Don't depend on the hose nozzle; use the faucet.

4. Turn off all faucets that are hooked up to washing machines and other water-using equipment when it is not in use, both to preserve equipment and prevent leaks.

After you have done this, check for invisible leaks. To do this, says the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau, turn off all water faucets and valves in the house and outdoors and watch the dial on your water meter.

Watch the "one cubic foot" or "ten gallon" indicator to see if it is moving. By timing the movement with your watch, you can determine how many cubic feet of gallons per minute are being wasted. One cubic foot equals 7½ gallons.

If there is substantial leakage, call your plumbing contractor for repairs.

Careful Brushing Enough When Surface Is Good

When repainting previously painted exterior surfaces in good condition the preparation consists only of brushing away dirt and any chalking paint. Loose, flaking or blistering paint should be wire-brushed and-or scraped. Exposed wood should then be primed as if it were a new surface.

Where the paint has blistered, cracked or alligatored very badly, the loose paint should be completely removed to the bare wood and the edges of the sound paint sandpapered smooth before priming and repainting.

Stone Ranch House Can Expand as Desired

By DAVID L. BOWEN

Here's a house that can be stretched to match your building budget.

At its minimum cost, the three-bedroom ranch design offers 1,390 square feet of habitable space. If more elbow-room is desired, the home can be stretched to as much as 1,726 square feet.

Happily, provision for expanding the plan is made in such a way, the architect figures, that the cost of the additional space should run only about half as much per square foot as space in the minimum design.

The reason is that kitchen and bathrooms are usually the most expensive areas of a home cost-estimated on a square foot basis. But once the kitchen and baths are taken care of, additional living areas in other zones can be relatively inexpensive.

This is especially true for additions such as the architect, Lester Cohen, engineered in this home, X-71 in the House of the Week series.

The total number of rooms is not changed by the enlargement. However if full expansion of six feet on each side of the plan is adopted, a kitchen and dinette turns into a kitchen and big family room, the living room swells to impressive length, and two bedrooms take on added luxury.

The size of the enlargement is optional. If desired, both sides could be expanded only three feet, instead of six. Or the plan could be expanded six feet on one side and not at all on the other. The design is such that the appearance of the house will remain balanced with any combination of size adjustments within the recommended range.

The architect adds this word of warning. The additional footage should be discussed with the contractor in the preliminary estimating stages. Economies go out the window when alterations are sprung on the contractor during construction.

Here's what the plan offers:

Breaking the usual ranch pattern, living and dining rooms in X-71 are on opposite sides of the entrance. Waste hall space is eliminated at the front of the house, but circulation from the front door is planned so that the living room is kept traffic-free. There is easy access to every area from the entry vestibule, which has a handy coat closet.

The big stone fireplace wall is at the front of the living room and a picture window at the side. If the full extra six feet are added on the right side of the house, the living room stretches from 20 feet in width to 26. There is no alteration of dining room, vestibule or fireplace.

The three bedrooms are at the back, the master bedroom on the left with a full wall of closets and its own bath. A second closet wall is shared by the other two bedrooms and the family bath is compartmentalized, with vanitory at the front and tub and toilet at the back.

Stretching the house on both sides can add up to six feet to the master bedroom and to bedroom No. 2. Bedroom No. 3, closets and bathrooms would remain unchanged.

In the economy version there is a compact kitchen, with space for a dinette at a corner window. Sliding glass doors lead out to the outdoor breezeway patio. In the expanded version, six feet added to the dinette makes this a family room, with space for TV, sofa, bookshelves in addition to the dinette.

Two closet walls provide nine clothes closets and a linen closet. An unusual feature of the fireplace is a storage compartment for firewood and logs, built right into the fireplace wall. Full basement is called for, but if the home were built without basement heating equipment could easily be installed in the space occupied by the basement stairwell.

X-71 combines stone and vertical siding with the accent of a handsome planter at the front. The roof is asphalt shingles and wood siding is used for the back of the house and the garage. Over-all dimensions for the unexpanded house, including breezeway and the garage, are 84' by 29' 8". Expansion six feet on both sides would increase over-all width to 96 feet.

Decorate Wall With Stippling

One of the tried-and-true methods of wall decoration is stippling. This might be defined as applying a textured appearance to a wall by dotted design rather than by strokes. Decorative, stippling also is tricky. It hides surface irregularities.

The pattern can be created by a sponge rubber roller that gives a fine orange-peel effect or by a rectangular bristle brush that is bounced against the surface. The stippling brush, or special rollers made of carpeting, can make fine, medium or coarse patterns as desired. The stippling tool can be as simple as crumpled paper, bunched-up cloth or a comb.

The stippling tool is used on a newly painted wet surface. While stippling may be done to regular flat paint, the best results are obtained when the flat paint used is the type especially designed for this process.

Stippler No. 1 can brush or roll on the paint very quickly without regard to irregularities of application. Stippler No. 2 then creates the textured effect on the still-wet paint.

Louver Doors Will Aid Central Air Conditioning

Central air conditioning works better in a house that has louver doors between rooms. The louvers permit free circulation of air throughout the house, even when doors are closed.

Louver doors of ponderosa pine are highly decorative, providing interesting textured patterns instead of flat, unintresting surfaces. They are available in stock from building material dealers.

Grade Markings Key Flush Doors

Hardwood veneered flush doors produced by members of the National Woodwork Manufacturers Association, for example, come in three grades—Premium, Good and Sound. For all practical purposes they differ only in the appearance of the face veneers. All grades must meet high performance standards.

Doors of Premium grade, the top classification, are the logical selection when appearance is an important consideration. They are beautiful when naturally finished. Their face veneers must be tight and smoothly cut. And when a face consists of more than one piece, the pieces must be matched at the joints for color and grain.

Good grade doors also are attractive, though perhaps a little less uniform in appearance. When a face veneer of this grade is composed of more than one piece, the pieces must be sufficiently well matched at the joints to prevent sharp contrasts in color and grain.

Doors of Sound grade, the most economical, are perfectly well suited to installations where they are to be painted.

Walnut Swings Out in Front for Furniture

CHICAGO — An upswing in the popularity of Early American styling and the continued dominance of walnut among cabinet woods highlighted the recent summer furniture markets in Chicago and Grand Rapids, according to a comprehensive survey of market exhibits.

Results of the survey were announced by the American Walnut Manufacturers' Association, which has been making similar analyses for more than twenty years. Here are some of the findings:

1. For the first time in many years, more suites were shown in June than at the January markets.

2. Walnut was the most widely shown wood. Cherry was next most in evidence.

3. Early American groupings rose substantially in number, the only major style category to record a gain.

4. Natural and lighter than natural tones continued to dominate among the finishes, with some increase in darker than natural effects.

While not officially in their records, the survey teams reported that oil and oil-type finishes remain in high favor, particularly in the medium and higher priced offerings.

Nail holes or other blemishes in Douglas fir finish lumber should be filled after the first coat of finishing material has been applied.

New Plumbing Has Advantages

Your present plumbing fixtures are probably doing an adequate job, since most fixtures are designed and made to last the life of the house. Why then new fixtures?

New fixtures are easier to maintain, and therefore, more sanitary. They are better looking, more smartly designed, and are available in a wide range of glamorous colors. Quiet operation is another good reason for replacing your old fixtures with modern equipment.

New advances in design and engineering go far toward eliminating noisy water closets, squeaking faucets, pounding kitchen sink pipes, gurgling drains, and many other bothersome noises familiar to people with out-dated or worn out plumbing fixtures.

If you plan any remodeling work which affect your plumbing system in any way, you would be wise to consult with a plumbing contractor before making any further plans, the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau advises.

Often the plumbing contractor can help you with your plans by suggesting slight changes that will save you money and also make the finished job more suitable for efficient, comfortable living.

Problem Lot a Challenge to Architect

Inexpensive real estate is an unusual combination of words these days, but such a thing exists if you look carefully enough for the so-called problem lot.

"Property that has been ignored," James Brett defines it in the August issue of a home magazine, "because it is either too small, too rugged, too steep, too barren, or without a view."

Imaginative design and building know-how can change a low-cost problem lot into a beautiful homesite, Brett points out. Most home buyers and builders do not have the training and insight to visualize a design that would overcome the faults of a problem lot and take advantage of its good points, but many architects will be anxious to handle such a challenge.

Money saved in buying a low-cost lot can be used for the architect's fee. Two good examples of architect's designs which have overcome the building problem on difficult lots make up Brett's illustrated story.

An excellent view was about all each problem lot had to offer. Both dropped away steeply; one down 130 feet from the street level to the backline of the plot. How homes were designed to use these problem lots makes interesting reading in the August issue of The American Home.

Noise of Water Hammer Calls for House Survey

While we don't believe in ghosts or haunted houses, many of us have experienced the spooky feeling that comes from mysterious thumps, whistles, and rattles in the walls and floors of our homes. If you hear these noises, you have a haunted house—haunted by defects in the plumbing system.

Plumbing noises are usually difficult to locate. They start in one spot and travel through the pipes. The ghostly sounds you hear in the living room may be caused by trouble in the kitchen or bathroom, says the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau.

One of the most common plumbing noises is "water hammer," which sounds as if somebody were pounding a pipe with a mallet. It results when the flow of water in a pipe is suddenly stopped by the rapid closing of a faucet or valve.

As the water stops suddenly, a pressure wave is set up which travels about ¾ of a mile a second back and fourth through the piping system, creating a thump or hammer with each surge.

Although it is annoying, the hammering noise is not the most serious result of water hammer. As a faucet is suddenly closed, it is not uncommon for the pressure in the water pipe to rise to several hundred pounds per square inch. Eventually this results in pipe rupture, loose pipes, and leaks at fittings and joints.

It is for this reason that water hammer should not be neglected. A plumbing contractor should be asked to make a survey of the plumbing system to locate the cause of the trouble. In most cases it can be cured by the simple insertion of an air chamber, that is, a short length of closed pipe which contains air and acts as a cushion to absorb the excessive pressure. Most plumbing codes require the installation of such air chambers.

Sometimes in older plumbing systems the air leaks out or is absorbed. To correct this, the plumbing contractor will drain the entire system and restore the air cushion.

If a properly functioning air chamber does not correct water hammer, then a special device, which acts as a shock absorber, will be recommended by plumbing contractors. This will cure even the most severe water hammer conditions.

It should be remembered that the low cost of stopping water hammer is good insurance against more costly repairs in the future.

New Features in Heat Unit

STAUNTON, Va. — A new line of baseboard electric heating units has been introduced by the Westinghouse Electric Corporation, it was announced today by Raymond K. Serfass, general manager of the company's air conditioning division here.

"With an enclosed heating element for maximum safety, the new line features a three-way flow design which carries air through the front and rear of the unit. This provides full heating efficiency and keeps the surface of the unit cool enough to touch," Mr. Serfass said.

"A control section containing a switch and thermostat for the electric heating units provides temperature control of individual rooms," he explained. "Kitchen, living room, bedroom, baby's room, and bathroom can all be maintained within two degrees of the temperature setting selected.

"We estimate that approximately six to eight feet of this baseboard is sufficient to heat an average-sized bedroom in a properly insulated home anywhere in the United States."

The units may be used as the sole heating source for a house or they may be applied as a supplementary source — for a porch area which has been enclosed or for an addition which has been built. They are also suitable for heating apartments, schools, churches and offices.

The Westinghouse heating units have a capacity of 250 watts per foot and are available in sections measuring two, four and six feet. Corner sections and "blank" sections which may be cut to any length are available for continuous assemblies. Seven inches high, and two and five-eighths inches deep, these sections are easily installed either surface mounted or recessed.

Suburbs Need Industry to Lighten Tax Load

This is the opinion of Louis Sachar, New York industrialist, economic adviser to New York City Mayor Robert F. Wagner and a member of the board of directors of the New York Regional Plan Association. Mr. Sachar heads Marshall Management Corporation which acts as a real estate investment firm for trust funds and pension funds.

Mr. Sachar has just completed a 15-state survey including 30 cities to help answer this question: "What is the state of urban and suburban planning?"

"Every suburban area, regardless of wealth, must have industry or face sky-high taxes."

"The time for suburban areas to prepare for industry is while unimproved land is still available."

"Open land is an open invitation to build more homes. When the homes are up it is too late to think about industry. My survey emphasizes my belief that pre-planning must precede suburban development."

According to Mr. Sachar, the suburban situations in New York, Detroit, Cleveland, Chicago and St. Louis are similar. Their residential development was spurred by families who wanted to get out into wide open spaces—away from urban congestion and industrialization.

"Homeowners in these suburbs find that their dream hasn't quite come true. People of medium income have been moving in droves to the suburbs. And they all want the necessities of good schools, sanitation, police and fire protection. When their tax bill arrives there is universal anguish," Mr. Sachar said.

Every home costs a suburban city a minimum of $500 for schools and services, the Sachar survey estimates, if there is no balancing tax revenue from industry.

Mr. Sachar believes that suburban homeowners should welcome industry into their areas rather than battle it.

"Factory is an obsolete word," Mr. Sachar says. "Today's industrial plants are blended into industrial parks that are both efficient and eye-pleasing."

Without industry, Mr. Sachar points out, thousands of suburbanites may eventually be taxed out of their homes.

Use Smooth Underlayment for Good Top

A smooth underlayment governs the top appearance! That's true of a suit lining, complexion, paint job on a wall or the surface under linoleum or other finish flooring material.

If the underneath surface isn't smooth, the trouble will be reflected through to where it shows.

This accounts for the ridged appearance of linoleum, rubber tile, asphalt tile and similar finish flooring materials when they are laid over rough sub-floors or wood flooring.

Needed here is a smooth-surfaced, grainless underlayment that comes in panels of identical thickness. Hardboard underlayment is widely used by applicators for this purpose.

Properly installed in 3 x 4-foot and 4 x 4-foot panels with ring grooved or drive screw underlay nails or cement coated sinker nails, this underlayment assures a good top appearance, longer wear for the finish floor, less noise transmission to areas below the floor, and a warmer, tighter floor, especially over crawl spaces in houses without basements.

Aluminum Use to Be Greater

(United Press International)

CHICAGO (UPI)—An aluminum manufacturer predicts the metal will be used to surround, support, protect, heat and illuminate tomorrow's homes.

Samuel L. Fahnestock, industrial designer (for Aluminum Company of America), said these possible uses are on the horizon:

—Interior wall surfaces of plain or textured aluminum. Wood, vinyl or cloth could be laminated to the metal, he said, or ribs could form visible, contrasting patterns with materials applied between ribs.

—Foil or thin sheets of aluminum, connected to an electrical source and applied directly under the wall surface, to heat the room.

—A wide, imaginative range of decorative aluminum for screens, room dividers, and enclosures for speakers and hi-fi components.

Fahnestock said aluminum's ability to reflect or diffuse light, while serving as a decoration, indicates "it will be perhaps the principal material in tomorrow's light sources."

If Dr. Tsiang Says It, Then U.N. Believes It

By J. M. ROBERTS
AP News Analyst

Dr. T. F. Tsiang, Nationalist China's ambassador to the United Nations, says the Chinese Reds are promoting current disorders in Northern Laos now because time is running out for them as political stability increases under the anti-Communist government.

"Dr. Tsiang says" has become a familiar remark in United Nations circles whenever Asian issues are being discussed. He is not only one of the senior members of the U.N diplomatic corps, but also one of the most experienced.

He has been the voice of Chiang Kai-shek abroad for so long that what he says has to be accepted as what Chiang would say.

That doesn't mean that everything he says is accepted, since there are many delegates who don't accept Chiang either.

Dr. Tsiang is a member of the only delegation which some other members would like to see ejected. In this, India speaks every year with the same voice as the Communist bloc.

PEIPING OVER FORMOSA

Britain, although she will not break openly with the United States over it, considers that reality demands membership for Peiping rather than Formosa.

Dr. Tsiang, secure in the support of the United States, isn't worried much about it, at least for this year and for some time.

Seventeen-year-old Tingfu Tsiang came to the United States in 1912, just at the time of he Sun Yat Sen revolution, to attend Park Academy, Oberlin College and Columbia University, where he received his doctorate in 1923.

He was professor of history at a Tientsin university, headed the history department at a Peiping university, was editor of the Chinese Social and Political Science Review and helped found a political journal which was influential before the war.

When Chiang became prime minister in 1935, Dr. Tsiang entered the cabinet as director of political affairs and in 1936 he became ambassador to Russia, returning to the wartime cabinet and later was director general of postwar relief measures. Since 1947 he has been a member of the U.N. Security Council.

His 23 years in the United States have made him one of the most Americanized of the delegates, yet he maintains an abiding loyalty to China, her people, her history and her future.

His son was graduated from Massachusetts Institute of Technology and is an engineer in Boston. His daughter married a Canadian of Chinese extraction and is about to make him a grandfather.

He is a golf bug in strictly amateur figures, frequently visible on any of the numerous courses within a few miles of his Inglewood, N.J. home. He even follows in the galleries of the big tournaments when he has time.

He is not a victim of the usual diplomatic reticence by any means, and has definite ideas based on his long studies of Asia which he is willing to impart when asked.

So, very frequently, it's "Dr. Tsiang says."

Steel Strike Report Gloomy Thus Far

By The Associated Press

Idle — 500,000 striking steelworkers and about 107,000 employes in allied industries. The strike is 32 days old.

Negotiations — Union and management representatives are adjourned for the weekend. They met in New York until mid-afternoon Friday. USW President David J. McDonald, who remained absent from the talks, has given no indication when he will return to New York.

Losses — Industry production losses have been estimated at 300 million dollars a week. Strikers lose about 70 million dollars each week.

Issues — The union wants a 15-cent-an-hour annual pay increase plus fringe benefits. Management says such an increase would jack up steel prices and cause inflation.

Strength Only Hope for Peace

Nixon Says U.S. Needs Might to Back Dealings With Soviet Union

CHICAGO (AP)—A position of strength offers America's greatest hope for reaching agreements with the Soviet Union, says Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

"Strength is the only thing the Russian leaders understand," Nixon said. "I mean military strength. When one side has more strength than the other, you get ultimatums that could lead to war."

The vice president said his recent tour of the Soviet Union and Poland has convinced him the only hope for progress toward world peace is for the United States to deal from a position of strength at any future summit conference.

Nixon, in a television program recorded in Washington for New York stations in advance of his trip to Chicago, said Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev believes the United States is weak, sinking economically and split over foreign policy.

He said Khrushchev's forthcoming visit to America will be worthwhile if it removes "his miscalculation" about U.S. strength and determination. The net effect, he added, could advance the cause of peace.

Huge Feluccas Near End of Their Days in Egypt

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—The huge sail boats called feluccas that have plied the waters of the Nile since the days of Cleopatra may now be moving toward the end of their days.

The Egyptian government is building a fleet of steel barges, at a cost of $3,300,000, to transport iron ore from Aswan in upper Egypt to an iron and steel factory on the banks of the Nile near Cairo.

Up to now, feluccas have been used to carry the ore along the 500-mile route in exactly the way ancient Egyptians transported granite blocks to build the pyramids 5,000 years ago. The ancient Egyptians got their granite from the Aswan region.

The iron and steel factory, the first established in an Arab country, consumes 700 thousand tons of iron ore a year. Faluccas transport half of this amount. The rest is carried by trains.

When the new steel fleet of 60 barges is completed all the iron ore will be moved along the waterway. The barges will be made in Egypt.

Feud Rages On Over Postal Jobs

Phony Says McNamara; Shameful Is Retort of Summerfield

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield and Sen. Pat McNamara (D-Mich) got into an old-fashioned political feud yesterday over Michigan postmasterships.

McNamara charged Summerfield with "shameful political tactics." He said there was "little chance" that he would clear any more postmaster nomiations for Michigan in "the foreseeable future."

Summerfield, replying in a letter, accused McNamara of "obstructionism," and said the senator's stand would hurt the postal service, postal workers' morale aid the public welfare.

The senator said Summerfield, a Michigan and national GOP leader before joining President Eisenhower's Cabinet in 1953, was trying to "ram through some highly questionable monimations under this phony political smokescreen."

He said Summerfield had "persistently injected his crude brand of partisan politics" into the situation.

Summerfield replied that McNamara's statement and "capricious procedure" were "incomprehensible to any good citizen."

"The important thing is not your personal attitude toward me nor the attacks you made upon me, but the damage your action is causing these fine nominees for postmasterships in Michigan," Summerfield said.

"Such obstructionism on your part strikes at the very heart of the civil service system and causes grave concern not only to our half-million postal employes but to all other government employes as well," he said.

Senate procedure provides that clearance from the senior senator of the state in which presidential nominees live precede Senate approval.

Can Outrun, Outfight Charles

Princess Anne 9 Years Old Today

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP)—Princess Anne, youngest member of Britain's royal family, is 9 years old today.

With her mother, Queen Elizabeth II, expecting a third child early next year, this was Anne's last birthday as the baby of the royal palaces.

The change of status is bound to make a difference to this lively, imaginative child.

She will see even less of her busy mother than she does now.

If the new baby is a girl, Anne's position in line of succession to the throne will not be affected. But if the baby is a boy, he will precede her.

Charles knows that one day he will be king, and Anne knows she is next in line.

Both have been told by their mother that a baby brother or baby sister is on the way.

She is vivacious, mercurial and interested in nearly everything that goes on around her. She has shown an unusual aptitude in learning French, can draw and paint well and has a sure musical ear.

Like Margaret, she is easily distracted.

Like Margaret, Anne is a mimic and can impersonate certain mannerisms of her teacher, her governess and several palace officials. She is impish, too.

Up until this birthday, her schooling has been private and in a classroom at the palace. Friends of the royal family say that Anne is now begging to be allowed to go to a day school. The Queen and Anne's father, Prince Philip, will probably give in.

She will spend her birthday at Balmoral Castle in Scotland where the royal family is now on summer vacation.

A palace spokesman said that if the weather is good Sunday the Queen will take Anne on a birthday picnic.

Nixon Denied View of Missile Line

WASHINGTON (UP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon disclosed today Soviet officials had denied his request to look at missile production facilities during his visit to the Soviet Union.

Nixon said he asked to see a missile assembly line in exchange for a similar inspection made by Andrei N. Tupolev, top Soviet aircraft designer of Thor missile production facilities in this country.

"Under the circumstances, it occurred to me that reciprocity demanded—and they believed in reciprocity quid pro quo up and down the line—that we have an opportunity to see a similar line when we were there," Nixon said.

"I didn't demand to see that. We requested the opportunity to do so, and it was not granted."

To Dedicate Shrine of Christ

Huge Crowd Expected at Indian River Rites for Frederick's Work

INDIAN RIVER (UPI) — Thousands of the religious and the curious began flocking into this tiny resort today for the blessing of the world's largest crucifix.

The 31-foot bronze statue of Christ on a 55-foot redwood cross will be blessed tomorrow afternoon at the Indian River Catholic shrine by Bishop Allen J. Babcock of Grand Rapids.

Most of those attending the blessing of the huge crucifix will have to stand during the ceremony.

Fr. Charles Decker, pastor of the shrine parish, estimated 12-15,000 persons will attend. The shrine amphitheater seats 1,000.

Father Decker said he has sent invitations to all 12,000 persons who contributed to the cost of the crucifix.

Indian River has a year-round population of less than 1,000.

The shrine has attracted thousands of tourists of all faiths since the towering cross was erected on a hill overlooking Burt Lake a few years ago.

The corpus, which was erected a few weeks ago, is the work of sculptor Marshall Fredericks of Royal Oak and was cast in Norway. The figure weighs four tons.

The shrine will be named for a Mohawk maiden who is to be canonized a saint by the Roman Catholic Church. The girl, Kateri Teckawitha, a convert to Catholicism, devoted her life to missionary work among tribes in the Midwest.

Deny Report Strike to End

Steelworkers Officials Say Detroit News Story Completely Unfounded

DETROIT (UP) — The Detroit News reported today—and union representatives quickly denied — that United Steelworkers are ready to end their month-old strike for a 12-cent hourly wage boost.

Labor writer Asher Lauren, quoting "top union sources" in the wake of a Detroit visit by steelworker president David J. McDonald, said the union was ready to "entertain" a 12-cent offer as a minimum settlement of contract differences.

Lauren said, however, neither McDonald nor Thomas Shane, Detroit district representative of the steelworkers, would confirm the 12-cent figure.

Shane told other newsmen today "there is no substance" to the News' report and termed it "completely unfounded."

At Pittsburgh, a spokesman for McDonald declared there was "absolutely no truth" to the 12-cent settlement report. McDonald emphasized yeserday there is no offer of any kind from either side on the bargaining table at present, adding: "The slate is clean as far as offers are concerned."

No White Ties at Steven's Wedding

He Follows Local Style

There will be no tails or dinner jackets at the wedding and reception when the 23-year-old son of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller marries Anne Marie Rasmussen next Saturday.

The invitations to 60 or 70 guests, mostly Norwegians except for Steven's family, specify dark suits and short dresses.

This is what the folk in this part of the world wear on such occasions.

Anne Marie's wedding gown is white and simple, made by a neighbor who does it as a hobby.

Since Steven came to Norway, he has been seen mostly in jeans and tennis shoes. Occasionally he has worn slacks and a brown tweed jacket.

But for the most part he has dressed to suit his mode of transportaion—a slightly damaged motorbike bought in Oslo at a bargain price. His blonde fiance wears skirts and blouses and sometimes slacks. She seems to feel at ease in almost any attire.

Steven, Marie, her parents and sister came back to the Rasmussen home in Sogne, a community in Kristiansand, shortly before Friday midnight after a week touring some of Norway's mountains by car.

Rival Matadors Kill Six Bulls Before 16,000

Between them, they killed six bulls, and between them they collected a record total of trophies—10 ears, four tails and three hoofs. Ordonez "won" on points, with two ears and a hoof more than Dominguin.

The 16,000 persons who paid premium prices to jam into the 12,000-seat arena were well satisfied.

"That was one of the greatest bullfights I have ever seen," said old Aficionado Ernest Hemingway, and there was little doubt that the crowd agreed with him.

One big test of a bullfighter's prowess is the number of passes he makes before killing the bull. The crowd went wild when Dominguin ran the total up to 51 passes—top for the afternoon—before his last kill of the day.

Detroit Youth Begins Life Jail Sentence

Teamsters Set to Buy Bank

Their Loan Enabled Director to Take Over Miami Institution

MIAMI (UPI)—The scandal-plagued Teamsters Union, which supplied the money for a shakeup in control of the Miami National Bank, is reported ready to buy all the bank's outstanding stock and name directors to its 15-man board.

The union loaned director Lou Poller $2,610,000 for Poller to buy enough stock to gain controlling interest in the bank.

Poller denied earlier that the Teamsters would have any voice in the bank's operation, but now says he will be "delighted" if the union bought up outstanding shares.

Union Attorney Stanford Clinton of Chicago yesterday confirmed reports that the Teamsters will buy stock and name "two or three" directors.

"If they want to nominate two or three to the board, that's fine," Poller said. "Actually, they're entitled to five or six. And as far as I'm concerned they can have all they want."

Poller announced that F. Joseph Donohue, who once served on Teamster President Jimmy Hoffa's committee to investigate the union, has been named a bank director.

Hoffa named Donohue, former U.S. Sen. George Bender and retired Judge Ira W. Jayne of Detroit to investigate reported corruption in the union. They later reported they found no evidence of misdealings or racket tie-ups.

A spokesman for the Senate Rackets Committee in Washington said it was "studying" Poller's purchase of controlling interest with Teamster funds.

Consumer Keeps Right on Buying

In the hot, humid days of midsummer the optimism of the consumer stood out this week as a major wonder of the business world.

Striking steelworkers may keep steel mills closed for a month and speculators may dump stocks in fear of cutbacks in government defense spending—but nothing worries the consumer.

Armed with the courage of his credit cards, the consumer in this summer week eagerly bought everything from furniture to school supplies.

Dun & Bradstreet, the business agency, put retail sales in the week ended Wednesday 4 to 8 per cent higher than a year ago, depending upon the section of the country.

There were reports of spotty sales in some categories in cities affected by the steel strike but the impact on retail trade has been mild thus far," the agency said.

The federal reserve board's weekly report on department store sales placed them nine per cent higher last week than in 1958. Sales in all 12 federal reserve districts were above last year.

Steel Strike Causing General Output Drop

WASHINGTON (UP) — The steel strike caused the output of the nation's factories and mines to decline in July for the first time in 15 months, the government reported Friday.

The Federal Reserve Board said its index of industrial production dropped two points to 153 per cent of the 1947-49 average. The two point decline meant that industrial output dropped about 1 per cent from June.

The index had not shown a month-to-month decline since April 1958. After reaching a recession low of 128 at that time, the index rose steadily until last month.

It reported that activity in most other durable goods industries actually increased and said the output of soft goods hit a new peak.

Teamsters Main Source of State Labor Appeals

ESCANABA (UPI)—Firms having contracts with the Teamsters Union were the major source of notices filed before the Michigan Labor Mediation Board, the board said yesterday.

The report was based on a 12-month period ending June 30.

Samuel J. Simmons, executive secretary of the board, said the notices were attributed to the large number of small diversified firms under Teamsters contract and the fact that the Teamsters are conducting extensive organizing campaigns.

5 Harness Drivers Injured at Detroit

DETROIT (UP)—Five drivers were injured in a spectacular pile-up before a crowd of more than 7,500 at Wolverine Harness Raceway last night.

On the first turn of the second race all eight horses were battling for positions and Sue Lomte, a three-year-old filly driven by Herman Hylkema, 28, of Adrian, was rolling into the lead. She suddenly stopped and went down, tossing Hylkema over her head onto the track.

Four others plowed into the sulky in succession. One driver was bounced over the rail into the infield, another flipped into the air and landed beside the rail, while two others were sent sprawling on the track.

Hylkema suffered a possible fractured nose. Another driver, William Jones, 49, also of Adrian, was believed to have a possible broken shoulder and back injuries. Gordon Fraser, 30, of Jackson, had a probable fracture of the right heel. Two other drivers, Irving Utter, 46, of Fowlerville, and Cliff Thomas, Troy, Ohio, sustained severe cuts and bruises.

Dow Chemical Earns $2.39 a Share Profit

NEW YORK (AP)—Dow Chemical Co. earned $62,916,016, equal to $2.39 a share, in the year ended May 31. The total is better than 35 per cent higher that the $46,059,181 or $1.78 cleared the previous year.

The company credited the higher profit to the upturn in the economy and added that it is reasonable to anticipate continued healthy growth in the current year.

Mother Attempts to Swim Around Manhattan Island

NEW YORK (UPI)—A 26-year-old mother of three plunged into the Hudson River early today in an attempt to become the first woman to swim around Manhattan Island — a distance of 30 miles

Diane Struble, a five-foot three-inch, 142-pound blonde from Lake George Village, N.Y., slipped into the murky waters of the Hudson at 3:30 a.m. EDT and began battling the currents at the Battery off lower Manhattan as she headed toward the East River.

Miss Struble, who last year became the first person to swim the 40-mile length of Lake George, then planned to swim up the East River to Hell Gate and the Triborough Bridge, through the Harlem River and back down the Hudson to her starting point.

The journey, if successful, was expected to take about 12 hours.

Miss Struble, who was escorted by a pilot boat carrying emergency equipment and supplies, got in shape for the Manhattan swim by negotiating the 30-mile distance across Lake Champlain from Burlington, Vt., to Plattsburgh, N.Y., earlier this summer.

While no woman has ever swum around Manhattan, several men have achieved the feat.

You live forever in our hearts.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF INA CELESTE MILLER, Whom God called away August 15, 1958.
You bade us not farwell,
Nor said goodbye to none:
Your loving heart has ceased to beat,
Before we knew you were gone.
God said that you were suffering,
and the hills were hard to climb;
So he closed your weary eyes,
and whispered, "Peace Be Thine."
Sadly missed by Husband, Sons & Daughter.

NICK OK — Nick Pietrosante will be wearing a Detroit Lion uniform and may see some action against the Chicago Cards following a good showing for the College All-Stars against Baltimore last night. His 51-yard scamper after taking a short pass was the losers' best gain of the night. The Notre Dame grad carried three straight times for a 1st down on one occasion.

Haitian Troops Repel Invasion of 30 Men

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (UPI) — The government rushed 150 troops to southwestern Haiti today to repel an invasion by 30 men who captured a Haitian town.

There were no immediate reports of fighting or casualties.

Government sources said the invaders wore Cuban revolutionary type uniforms and distributed Cuban cigarettes to townspeople in the invasion area.

State Senator to Wed Employe at Capital

Hutchinson, 45, an attorney, has been a Senate member since 1950 previously served two terms in the House. He is chairman of the Senate Business Affairs Committee and a major Republican policymaker.

Hutchinson said he did not plan to have his wife work after the fall wedding.

Negro Cult School Being Eyed by State

LANSING (AP—Agents of the State Deparment of Public Instruction are studying the curriculum, teacher qualifications and safety setup of the "University of Islam," a Detroit institution sponsored by a cult advocating Negro racial supremacy.

In announcing the study, Dr. Lynn M. Bartlett, superintendent of public instruction, noted that Michigan law requires that such private schools offering instruction in the first eight grades must meet certain standards.

Detroit safety engineers yesterday ordered the cult to abandon use of the old theater building it has been using as a school. The cult was given a permit in 1955 to use the building as a church.

Dear Fellow Citizen:

WE BELIEVE that do-it-yourself tube checkers MAY be designed to sell tubes. If you have used one of these do-it-yourself tube checkers, why not bring the tubes that tested bad to your nearest local TV shop and make sure.

Remember This:

★ The establishments that have do-it-yourself tube checkers are generally not in the TV repair business.

★ Some tubes even though they do not register in the green on do-it-yourself tube checkers could still outwear two television sets. So don't replace them at random.

★ We have found that some new tubes register WEAK on these do-it-yourself testers.

☆ These do-it-yourself tube checkers were offered to the television repairmen, but for your protection we rejected them.

★ In most cases a qualified technician is required to properly evaluate the check of a tube. So why not bring your television tubes to the man who knows his business.
