Radar Chain Guards Tip of Our Continent

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 3,000-mile radar chain across the upper rim of North America — designed to give warning of hostile aircraft — goes into full operation today.

The system of electronically connected detection and warning devices has been dubbed "Dew-line" — for distant early warning line. The installations cost more than 600 million dollars and required three years to build.

The warning system extends from western Alaska across through Canada to Baffin Island, and it is extended seaward by use of specially equipped planes and ships.

It is the northernmost of three across North America, and is expected to provide three to four hours' warning to cities in southern Canada and the northern part of the United States.

Information gathered by these devices is relayed through an elaborate chain of automatic and semi-automatic relay points to the Continental Air Defense Command in Colorado Springs, Colo., and to Canadian Air Defense Command headquarters at St. Hubert, Quebec (circled on accompanying map).

But Not in Oklahoma

Cool Weather Available

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP) — An American professor, Dr. Charles F. Reid of City College, New York, went to school in his pajamas in Auckland today in the coldest weather of the year, nine degrees. He had a suit over them.

"It's so cold I put on two pairs of socks, two sets of underclothes and left my pajamas on," he told children who swarmed around him at a city school.

Dr. Reid is here with a touring party of 10 women teachers.

TOKYO (INS) — "Come In," invites a sign on an air conditioned restaurant along muggy Tokyo's Ginza Street, "It's Freezing Inside."

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Porter Sam Barnes told police that Harris McCauley, 38, apparently irate because ice water was not delivered to his room at a hotel, backed up his last demand for service by brandishing a .38-caliber pistol. The temperature was 94.

Pontiac Motor's Birthday Celebration Set Aug. 19-21

The Downtown Pontiac Assn. will put the torch to Pontiac Motor Division's 50th birthday cake with a city-wide extravaganza planned for the city during Aug. 19-27.

The announcement of the affair was made this morning by Victor W. Hoerath, general chairman of the event, and a member of the Board of Directors of the DPA.

Topping off the eight-day celebration of the birthday of the Pontiac car, will be a musical show Aug. 27 at Wisner Stadium.

Headlining the entertainment will be Johnny Long's famous orchestra, the dancing of the Terry Sisters from Detroit and television's Step Brothers, the Petticoats, a New York singing trio, Bob Maxwell and his Swing Harp, and a harmonica group.

Beginning on Aug. 7 some 200,000 free tickets will be distributed to customers of downtown merchants. For the lucky person holding the winning ticket to be drawn during the show, will go a spanking new gold Pontiac automobile.

On the night of Aug. 19 the downtown section will echo the music and color of a parade of bands, floats, marching units of fraternal orders and other groups.

All the colorful festivities will be part of an "appreciation program" of what the Pontiac automobile industry has meant to this city, stressed Monroe M. Osmun, founder of the DPA and one of its directors. He is chairman of the show commitee.

This will be the first big promotion program staged by the infant association formed in January. Its aim is to "revitalize downtown Pontiac."

Other events during the August celebration will be the decoration of downtown store fronts. Lamp posts in the area will be decorated with huge plaques commemorating the division's growth in Pontiac.

Probe Sees Tie of Hoffa, Reds in Power Grab

Link Teamster Leader to Eastern Dock Strike, Gangster-Rule Plan

WASHINGTON (INS) — James R. Hoffa was named by Senate investigators today as an ally of gangsters who worked with Communists to grab control of union locals vital to New York's daily life and to national survival.

Rackets Committee Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark) charged that the Teamsters Union heir-apparent sought power which could give him "a stranglehold" over the port of New York and then "the entire Eastern seaboard and the St. Lawrence Seaway."

Sen. Karl E. Jundt (R-SD) warned that hoodlums in control of unions might sell out to the Communists who could "paralyze our defense establishments."

Chief committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy described racketeer John (Johnny Dio) Dioguardi as the key figure in a sequence of events going back to the setting up of a new AFL-United Auto Workers local in New York in 1950 by Sam Zakman, a former Communist.

Dioguardi, who served a prison term for extortion and strong-arming, was convicted last Thursday of conspiring to assure labor peace at two firms in return for $30,000. He still faces charges in the acid-blinding of labor columnist Victor Riesel.

Kennedy said that Zakman, a Red "commissar" in the Spanish Loyalist Army, decided to enter the union movement in 1950, and talked to Sam Berger, manager of local 102 of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union.

McClellan announced that ILGWU President David Dubinsky "will be given an opportunity to testify" about Berger.

Kennedy said Dubinsky was "very concerned" and suspended Berger after learning of his activities. Sen. Irving M. Ives (R-NY) stressed that Dubinsky is an honest and distinguished labor leader.

Berger, according to Kennedy, was a "friend of long standing" of

Today's Best News: Some Cooler Tonight

The U. S. Weather Bureau has predicted slightly cooler temperatures for Pontiac and vicinity.

Scattered showers are likely tomorrow. The high will be 86 to 90.

In downtown Pontiac the lowest temperature recorded preceding 8 a.m. was 66. At 2 p.m. the mercury registered 85.

Yesterday afternoon's brief showers brought a sharp temperature drop in downtown Pontiac.

During the drizzly half hour from 1:45 to 2:15 p.m., the mercury fell 15 degrees from 92 to 77. Temperatures zipped back up to a muggy 87 within an hour, however, and remained there throughout the afternoon.

Fan Ike Sees Chisox Clobber the Home Team

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower munched peanuts, sipped a soft drink and watched like any other fan last night as his home team, the Washington Senators, took a 7-1 clobbering from the Chicago White Sox.

The President, a summer bachelor this week while his wife is in Denver, took a party of friends and staff members with him to Griffith Stadium—his second visit to the ball park this year.

A declared rooter for the Senators, Eisenhower found little to cheer about, though he did raise both hands in excitement at Roy Sievers' fourth inning home run, which gave Washington its only score.

Ike Man Wins Wisconsin Vote

GOP Chooses Kohler to Face Dem Proxmire for McCarthy Seat

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Wisconsin Republicans nominated a firm friend of President Eisenhower's "Modern Republicanism" yesterday for the Senate seat previously held by Ike-baiting Joseph R. McCarthy, who died May 2.

Walter J. Kohler Jr., 53-year-old three-time governor of the state, edged out former Rep. Glenn R. Davis in a finish decided by the last vote counting in metropolitan Milwaukee precincts.

Kohler was alone in the seven-man GOP field in his full support of the President.

Davis is a 41-year-old veteran of five terms in the House, where he supported some of Eisenhower's domestic programs but — like most "regular" Wisconsin Republicans—opposed the administration on foreign aid and foreign policy in general.

None of the fireworks attendant on the career of Sen. McCarthy carried over into the campaign. Only State Sen. Gerald Lorge, who ran a poor sixth, called upon McCarthy's old supporters for help.

Kohler will be opposed in the general election Aug. 27 by William Proxmire, whom he beat twice previously in gubernatorial elections. Proxmire won the Democratic nomination by defeating Rep. Clement Zablocki of Milwaukee.

Spencer Decides to Go to Packers

After a meeting with Nick Kerbawy of the Detroit Lions and general manager Vern Lewellen of the Green Bay Packers, Ollie Spencer, 245-pound tackle decided this morning he would report to the Green Bay training camp.

Spencer was one of four players traded to the Packers for Tobin Rote and Val Joe Walker. He said at first he would not report to Green Bay.

Triplets Call for Bigger House

THREE ARRIVE TOGETHER — Nurse Martha O'Blak, of Pittsburgh Hospital, holds girl triplets born to Mrs. George C. Ainsworth, wife of a telephone company dispatcher. The couple, also parents of two boys, has been living in a 4-room house. Said Mrs. Ainsworth: "We didn't expect them until September. My husband went out and rented a 6-room house right away."

To Equip Hospital Addition

Board Seeks City's Aid

That hot potato of securing funds to complete the Pontiac General Hospital addition may be tossed in the laps of city commissioners at a meeting scheduled for Thursday night.

"It's the city's responsibility to build the hospital," said Willis M. Brewer, new head of the city hospital's Board of Trustees.

"It's got to be a meeting of the minds," he continued. "We (the trustees) have to cooperate all we can, but in the long run it will be up to commissioners to decide where this money is coming from."

Select committees of trustees and commissioners will huddle Thursday at the City Hall in a continued attempt to discover how to make up a deficit in hospital funds resulting from the bond issue defeat in May.

Brewer this week said this could be trimmed down to $850,000, which includes, he said, $436,000 worth of necessary equipment on order. Contracts for much of this equipment, like kitchen and X-ray units, are in danger of being canceled unless funds are produced.

The new chairman of the board said the $150,000 could be deleted from the list by eliminating orders for replacing present equipment on hand.

Trustee Harold B. Euler said a report might be presented Thursday as to the minimum required on a down-payment basis to secure this equipment, ordered prior to the unfavorable vote.

Meanwhile, work is progressing on the West Huron structure. Contracts totaling $3,573,554 were fulfilled by a three million dollar bond issue approved by voters in 1954, and an emergency appropriation of a half million dollars from the city last year. Federal aid covers the balance.

TO COMPLETE SHELL

Trustees say money now on hand will only pay for completion of the seven-story "shell," originally slated for final touches next summer.

Peace Restored to Prison

DEER LODGE, Mont. (AP)—An uneasy peace settled over Montana State Prison today after a day of rioting which saw eight guards seized as hostages by rebel convicts.

The riot collapsed after nearly nine hours when Atty. Gen. Forrest H. Anderson promised a full investigation of conditions at the 88-year-old prison and serious consideration of 20 demands made by the convicts.

The riot's end came only a few hours before some 200 Montana National Guardsmen and peace officers were poised to invade Cellblock 8, where the convicts held the guards hostage.

Eight guards were swept up by shouting convicts when the riot broke out in the exercise yard at 3:30 p.m.

Two were released shortly afterward, and a third went free minutes before the riot ended when Anderson made his pledge to the prisoners by loudspeaker.

The prisoners freed the five remaining guards, who said they had not been mistreated and had been locked in separate cells.

Then the convicts went into their cells voluntarily and the big mass of men in the exercise yard followed suit.

In all, about 380 prisoners—the entire inside-the-wall population

But Main Issue on Budgets' Use Not Yet Decided

Annexation Found Void; Decision Favorable for County on 2 of 3 Points

Oakland County officials today hailed as a preliminary victory a partial decision handed down by Circuit Judge Herman Dehnke, of Harrisville, in the suit delaying the building of a new courthouse.

Judge Dehnke's first installment of the courthouse opinion ruled in favor of the county on two out of three points.

Still to be decided, however, is the main issue in the suit—whether the Oakland County Board of Supervisors padded budgets and transferred resultant surpluses to a building fund for a new courthouse.

The Oakland County Taxpayers League has charged that the county raised money indirectly after voters refused extra millage to finance the proposed building.

It wants the present building fund equity returned to the people.

Judge Dehnke ruled that the Board of Supervisors can sell the present downtown courthouse site. He also ruled the county could move the courthouse site within the county seat.

ANNEXATION VOID

But the judge called the annexation of most of the service center area from Waterford Township to Pontiac two years ago illegal. Electors in the area should have voted on the question, he said.

The land on which the present courthouse is located was donated to the city in 1823. It was specified at that time that the lot be used expressly as a courthouse site. The taxpayers league had contended that sale of the land would be illegal.

Judge Dehnke noted as significant that no case had arisen previously in which the authority of county boards of supervisors to sell property "donated for special purposes" had been questioned.

It is altogether probable, he said, that there must have been many such donations of property which have since been sold.

Judge Dehnke also contended that upholding the argument of the taxpayers league would result in there being no available method by which such property might be legally conveyed.

From a practical standpoint, the judge stated, the illegality of the annexation proceedings would not constitute a serious obstacle to the county's plans for a new courthouse. But, he said, some other method would have to be devised to accomplish the annexation of the land from Waterford Township.

Plans for the courthouse might also be revised so as to place all offices required to be at the County seat on the Pontiac side of the line, Judge Dehnke suggested.

Under Michigan law, the offices of the sheriff, county clerk, county treasurer, judge of probate and register of deeds must be located at the County seats, not the circuit courts.

The rest of Judge Dehnke's decision is expected later this week.

"Illegal," Rules Attorney; "Ridiculous," Answers Principal

Grace Before Lunch Stirs New Jersey Schools

EDGEWATER PARK, N.J. (AP) —Controversy rages in this tiny town over whether elementary school children here can say grace before lunch.

The attorney general of New Jersey says it's illegal. The supervising principal says "ridiculous."

Edgewater Park has two elementary schools — Magowan and Farnum. Magowan teaches the first through the fourth grades; Farnum, grades five to eight. The town has only 350 residents but children come here to school from outlying districts. The combined attendance of Magowan and Farnum is close to 400.

About 350 of the pupils, those who come from some distance to school and lunch in the cafeterias, had been saying grace for some years in their classrooms just before leaving to eat.

This practice was abandoned in March after the school board received a protest. It was resumed in April when a petition bearing 603 names objected. Meanwhile, the school board asked the state attorney general, Grover C. Richman Jr., for a ruling.

Richman's decision was received here this week.

It read:

"Grace invokes the divine blessing before a meal. As a religious exercise, it is barred in the public schools of this state. There can be no legal or constitutional objection, however, to the reading of passages from the Old Testament or the repeating of the Lord's Prayer immediately prior to the noon meal."

New Jersey law requires the reading of at least five verses of the Old Testament, without comment, in each classroom to start the school day. The State Supreme Court has ruled that the Lord's Prayer and the Old Testament are nonsectarian.

Richman also held that an interval of silence understood by the children to be for grace would be a religious exercise and therefore illegal. He said the silence period could be observed without any understanding grace was to be repeated by the children to themselves.

To all this Mrs. Mildred Magowan, Riverton, N. J., supervising principal of the schools, objects. The Magowan school was named for her when it was opened a year ago as a tribute to her 29 years as a teacher and principal.

"I would say 98 per cent of our people are in favor of their children saying grace," Mrs. Magowan says. "Our legislators have incorporated 'one nation under God' in the salute to the flag but apparently we cannot mention God in a prayer."

Mrs. Magowan also took issue with Richman's ruling on the silence period.

"That, too, is ridiculous," she said. "How could you ask children for a moment of silence without telling them why you are asking for it?"

Mrs. Magowan commented that saying grace was not compulsory.

"If a child did not want to join in," Mrs. Magowan said, "He or she had that privilege."

"God is great, God is good

"And we thank Him for this food.

"By his hand we all are fed.

Ike Opposes Jury Amendment

Upholds Power of U.S. Judges

President Will Submit New School Aid Bill in Next Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today he is opposed to adding a jury trial amendment to the administration's civil rights bill now before the Senate.

Eisenhower told his news conference the power of federal judges to enforce court orders must be sustained. He added that was his last word on the subject.

In advance of the news conference, Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican leader, had denied any White House pressure was being applied to line up GOP senators against the jury trial amendment.

Eisenhower also said today he will submit a new school aid bill to the next session of Congress—a bill, he said, that won't put an albatross around the neck of the American taxpayer.

Eisenhower said too he is very hopeful that Congress will act soon to provide an adequate foreign aid bill. He said it was news to him that some Senate Democrats have been complaining they could not get White House help in getting the mutual security legislation through.

Eisenhower also denied with considerable heat that the $30,000 contributed by Maxwell Gluck to the Republican Party had anything to do with his nomination of Gluck to be ambassador to Ceylon.

Eisenhower's answers as he faced more than 200 newsmen ranged from world problems to his personal finances.

Referring to a recent published report in a newspaper series by Fletcher Knebel that Eisenhower's personal worth is in the neighborhood of a million dollars, the President provoked a roar of laughter by saying that if that writer offers him a million to sell out he's going to make a sale.

Eisenhower added that everything he owns is in the hands of trustees so he does not even know what his investments and similar properties are and thus could not possibly use his position for personal advantage.

On the school aid matter, Eisenhower defended his stand that the compromise 1½-billion-dollar bill that the House killed last week was not fully satisfactory to him although he would accept it in order to meet the emergency shortage of classrooms.

He said that giving funds to every state would foster the opinion that the states were getting something for nothing with the result, he said, that he doubted the flow of federal money could be shut off at the end of the five-year period covered in the aid bill.

Chalmers Roberts of the Washington Post and Times Herald asked whether Eisenhower was aware when he made the nomination of the extent of Gluck's contributions to the Republican treasury and, as the newsman phrased it, Gluck's ignorance of Asiatic affairs.

His anger growing as he spoke, Eisenhower said a man's political contributions would never be considered by him in the making of an appointmnt.

And, he said, his voice shaking with indignation, he didn't take it very kindly that someone should suggest he would be swayed by such a consideration.

Democratic and Republican leaders in the Senate have agreed on a one or two-day recess in the civil rights fight in order to pass the appropriations and some other measures but Sen. Morse (D-Ore) blocked such a recess yesterday.

Flint Officials Hastily Trim Plush Trip Fund

FLINT (AP) — Plush expense accounts described in a taxpayers suit as "paid vacations" for city commissioners, got trimmed down yesterday.

By a split vote the City Commission decided its members should attend meetings at New York and Mackinac Island on actual expenses.

Earlier the commission adopted a resolution authorizing each of the nine commissioners to attend the two September conferences with $800 spending money.

This led to a taxpayers suit by Mr. and Mrs. Guy Odle, seeking an injunction to halt the trips. A hearing on the suit is scheduled for Circuit Court Thursday.

State Body OKs Tests of Clinton

Determine if Pollution Sufficient to Enlarge City's Sewage Plant

The State Water Resources Commission yesterday gave the green light for tests of the Clinton River to determine if enough pollution exists to call for an expansion of Pontiac's sewage treatment plant facilities.

Milton P. Adams, executive secretary of the commission, said both the State Health Dept. and the commission would perform the tests "within the next two to three months." Results aren't expected until fall, he added.

The action resulted when the commission learned Pontiac voters rejected in May a bond vote to finance an auxiliary plant in the city. This had been ordered back in 1951 to stop the overflow of untreated sewage into the river.

"If there is an unlawful condition found," Adams said, "it will be up to the commission to determine what the city should do."

One factor entering into the tests, the official said, will be to show what effect a treatment plant at Pontiac Motor Division will have on pollution of the river.

Dulles Working Against Time

Eleventh Hour Nears in Race to Halt Arms Talk Collapse

LONDON (INS) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles began today the second full day of his desperate round-the-clock effort to get some kind of global arms agreement before it's too late.

Throughout all the conferences he is holding with the Western allies, Dulles has hammered home this theme:

The four Western powers — France, Britain, Canada and the U.S. — resumed discussions this morning on details of a disarmament plan to be presented to Russia.

Dulles met for the first time with Russian delegate Valerian Zorin today amid indications that the long search for a disarmament agreement may be at a critical point.

The Dulles-Zorin get-together was part of feverish diplomatic activity by the big three Western powers on this next to the last day of the period originally set for negotiations by the U. N. Disarmament subcommittee. The five power group has been meeting since March 18.

Dulles met with British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and other Western officials before sitting down at a full-scale "working luncheon" of all five delegations on the subcommittee, including Zorin.

Across the channel in Paris, the French cabinet met and Foreign Minister Christian Pineau announced he was flying to London tomorrow at Dulles' request for disarmament talks.

The British cabinet, too, was called into session to discuss disarmament.

Leopold Will Try Again to Earn His Freedom

JOLIET, Ill. (INS)—Nathan F. Leopold Jr., accomplice in the 1924 "thrill" slaying of 14-year-old Bobby Franks, said today he would "try until my dying breath to earn parole."

The 52-year-old convict, commenting on yesterday's rejection of his fourth bid for freedom, told a news conference at Stateville Penitentiary:

"I will begin preparing a petition (for the Pardon and Parole Board) tomorrow or the next day."

Leopold, visibly disappointed by Gov. William G. Stratton's denial of executive clemency, said:

"I am not crushed by the adverse action. I am grateful to the governor and the members of the Pardon and Parole Board for the very complete scrutiny they have given all the facts and the circumstances of the case.

"I will try until my dying breath to earn parole. I will never stop trying."

The news conference was held in the prison chapel. Leopold faced an estimated 50 newspaper, radio and television reporters and was flanked by warden Joseph E. Ragen as he answered questions.

Leopold has been in prison for 33 years.

GOP to Battle A-Plant Scheme

Dem's Bill Authorizes Federal Development of Power Projects

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans rallied today for a battle on the House floor against a Democratic maneuver to compel the administration to start developing atomic-fueled electric power plants.

A bill to authorize a 58-million-dollar beginning on such development came out of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Commission yesterday by a largely partisan vote.

Chairman Durham (D-NC) said he hopes to get the bill before the House next week.

Republicans said Rep. Cole (R-NY) was passing the word that "we're going to have a fight on the floor." Cole is the senior GOP House member on the committee.

Rep. Van Zandt (R-Pa) told a reporter the Republicans probably will center their attacks on provisions which would:

1. Authorize the spending of 40 millions for a gas-cooled power reactor patterned after one the British are developing. It probably would be located in Idaho, and turned out some 40,000 kilowatts of electric power for commercial use.

2. Authorize the government to put $129,915,000 into various kinds of nuclear reactors for five electric cooperative or municipal power systems, at Elk River, Minn.; Big Rapids, Mich; Chugash, Alaska; Piqua, Ohio; and a spot in Nebraska still to be chosen.

The authority was wrapped up in a bill to let the Atomic Energy Commission spend $259,230,000 for construction for its military program and the development of peaceful uses of atomic energy in the present fiscal year.

Pontiac Resident Confesses Mail Theft

Wayne E. Fischer, 37, of 138 Cottage, is free on $500 bond pending sentence.

He was arrested after his wife Isabell, 41, was caught last Saturday in Hudson's Eastland Center where she had made purchases totaling $126 on the charge plate of Allen S. Gray, of Birmingham.

Mrs. Fischer confessed her husband had stolen the plate from the mail last April. Police allegedly found merchandise worth $750 during a search of the Fischer home.

Hospital, City Plan Fund-Issue Meeting

since the bond issue three years ago makes it mandatory for more funds to furnish and equip the new wing, and tie this in with the present hospital, trustees say. The result will be a 400-bed hospital.

Where this money is to come from is not likely to be decided tomorrow night, according to Brewer and Euler.

Although both agreed to the urgency behind arriving at an answer to this question shortly, they felt several more meetings might be needed.

MAY RETURN TO VOTERS

Holding top priority as an answer is the possibility of returning to the voters in another bond issue. City Manager Walter K. Willman and Brewer disclosed that this loomed as the best solution.

The city currently is awaiting a report from its bond attorney, Claude Stevens, as to how a second issue might fit into Pontiac's financial status.

"From this report we hope to get a determination as to how much money we need to handle a general obligation bond issue, and also the possibility that we might finance the parking lot on a revenue basis," Willman said.

A 300-unit parking lot at the new hospital is required under the city's building zone ordinance, the manager explained. This accounted for $350,000 of the $1,850,000 May vote which was soundly trounced by voters.

Willman emphasized, like Brewer, that the final decision would be up to the City Commission.

Probe Links Hoffa to Gangsters, Reds

Then, Kennedy said, they obtained a charter from AFL-UAW leader Anthony (Tony) Doria to form Local 102 in New York "to organize the unorganized in any kind of shop." He said this was on Sept. 18, 1950, and "a week later Johnny Dio came on the scene."

Kennedy said Dio put up "at least $25,000" to finance a local headquarters, and then shoved Zakman out completely.

The committee counsel narrated with the aid of charts tracing Dio's labor movement rise and the later entry of his colleagues into the Teamsters through formation of "paper" locals in New York.

HOFFA MOVES IN

McClellan said that Hoffa "through the help of racketeers" got his man, John O'Rourke, in control of the council, and then sought an alliance with the International Longshoremen's Association, which was expelled from the AFL on grounds of underworld control.

McClellan charged that Hoffa, with his union's truckdrivers and the cargo-handling longshoremen under his sway, could control land and sea transportation in the nation's largest port.

The chairman said that certain "labor bosses" enlisted racketeers who in turn "used Communists because they were excellent trained organizers and knew all the tricks to get membership."

Mundt declared that for "30 dirty pieces of silver" there eventually could result "a quick transfer from the hands of a few hoodlums to the hands of a few Communists."

COULD PARALYZE DEFENSE

He said: "We shall be witnessing in the next few weeks a form of tyranny unfolding which in the long run offers to Communist conspirators an opportunity to paralyze our defense establishments and our offensive sriking power."

Mundt said that if this situation is permitted, "foreign agents or Communist saboteurs, by gaining control of this unchecked power to paralyze America, could go far toward destroying our war potential and our capacity of self-defense."

He charged that "thousands of honest, industrious working men and women in the New York area have . . . been subjected to dictatorial powers of a group of racketeers and unscrupulous labor leaders."

The South Dakota senator said that "today we have a dictatorship rivalling the ones," which oppressed immigrants fled to the U. S. to escape and added: "Such unbridled power coupled with irresponsibility can lead only to disaster."

The Day in Birmingham

Brush Collection Starts on Weekly Basis Again

BIRMINGHAM — Brush collection is being returned to a once a week basis on the recommendations of L. R. Gare, acting city manager, and Charles W. Gale, forestry and parks superintendent. In a recent report Gail showed commissioners that the monthly collection in effect since last November had been the object of much criticism.

He said most residents place brush at the curb before calling for the collection. They then face a wait of from one to four weeks. The brush must be carried back to the rear or remain an unsightly lawn killing pile in front of the home.

Gail said the department has adequate facilities to handle the weekly collections without additional purchases. He also pointed out that while collections will exceed the $960 allocated in the current budget savings in other operations will offset the additional cost.

In his recommendation Gare suggested further that the weekly plan go into effect immediately. Weekly collections had been tried two years ago but were discontinued because of expense.

Gare has been authorized to continue negotiations for the purchase of outlot B, Quarton Lake Estates.

He told commissioners Monday that although the owner Sten Jacobsson had rejected the city's last offer he felt the refusal might not be final.

Gare said that Jacobsson had suggested the possibility of a land exchange for some city owned parcel. Should the exchange or purchase be affected the city will own the Rouge Valley. This, Gare said, is desireable from a flood control standpoint.

In passing, he commended the forestry department for its excellent cleanup job along the river. He said this is the main factor in the prevention of serious flooding along the stream east of Woodward avenue during this years heavy rainstorms.

City assessor Clark H. Hagstrom, told commissioners Monday that an error had been made on the assessment roll for street oiling. He said the name of the Grand Trunk Railroad was mistakenly placed on the roll as responsible for property which should have been the city's own burden.

Prison Riot Ends With Probe Pledge

—took part in the rioting. Another 200 trusty prisoners live on the state prison farm.

There was little damage reported to prison installations. A small fire was set in the administration building but the rioters themselves put it out when cooler heads among them prevailed.

State officials, led by Gov. J. Hugo Aronson, went to the scene from the capital at Helena, 65 miles to the east. Aronson favored force but was opposed by Anderson.

After the riot ended Aronson issued a statement saying he was glad it had not resulted in violence but added that he himself had made no concessions to the rioters.

TO KEEP PLEDGE

Anderson, however, said he would do all in his power to alleviate prisoner complaints provided they were justified.

★ ★ ★

Demands ranged from more mail privileges to full meals — instead of bread and water — for men in prison solitary.

A spokesman from the rioters who talked with Anderson and Lt. Gov. Paul Cannon also charged that $30,000 in the prison library fund was "missing."

Bloomfield Woman's Death Said Accidental

The death Monday night of Mrs. Henry T. Schlachter, 46, of 920 Yarmouth Rd., Bloomfield Township, was caused by accidental drowning when she apparently slipped and struck her head falling into a bathtub, Oakland County Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem said.

Township police reported that a child of the Schlachters discovered her mother in the tub late Monday night. She summoned a neighbor who in turn called police. Mrs. Schlachter was dead on arrival at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

State Plans Milk Check as MMPA Strike Looms

DETROIT (AP) — Faced with a strike ultimatum, 25 Detroit area creameries agreed today to meet demands of the Michigan Milk Producers Assn. for $5 per hundredweight for drinking milk.

None of the city's so-called "Big Four," however, has agreed to MMPA demands for a 35 cents per hundredweight increase, said Jack W. Barnes, assistant general manager of MMPA. The "Big Four" are Detroit Creamery Co., Borden Co., Twin Pines Farm Dairy and Ira Wilson & Sons.

There are 63 creameries in the Detroit area, but these four handle more than half the drinking milk sold in the metropolitan district.

MMPA said it will go ahead with plans to withhold milk tomorrow from creameries which fail to meet its demands for an increase.

At the same time, the Dairy Farmers Cooperative Assn. of Michigan (DFC), a splinter group of the MMPA, threatened independent "economic action." It said it wouldn't go along with the $5 per hundredweight (46½ quarts) the MMPA is seeking. The DFC is asking $5.50 per hundredweight.

Leon Van Bonn, DFC general manager, added, however, "I don't foresee a strike this week because we are not ready for one."

Jack W. Barnes, assistant secretary-manager of the MMPA, said his organization had in hand about a dozen commitments from the 63 milk dealers the MMPA supplies in southeastern Michigan. Barnes said milk would be delivered only to those who had agreed to the price increase. He did not name the dealers who had agreed.

WOULD DELAY STRIKE

Van Bonn said he hoped action by the DFC will be delayed 30 or possibly 60 days and that it will be coordinated nationally.

Open Camp Minus Drinking Water

When the Waterford Township day camp program began this week at Highland Recreation area, the youngsters ran into a major problem—there was no drinking water available on one of the hottest days in five years.

Three generators used in pumping water had burned out, and the nearest public drinking water was at Teeple Lake beach, some four miles away.

The youngsters bravely participated in the first part of the day's planned activities, and their thirst increased—more by the very thought that the water was not available.

At 2 p.m. they were transported to the bathing area, and the minute the bus stopped, exaggerated cries of "water" filled the air. The beautiful sand beach and the sparkling lake were completely ignored by the youngsters as they swarmed to the nearest drinking fountain.

Appreciation of nature's natural resources is one of the main topics taught at the camp, and Waterford Township kids had a real "taste" of this on their very first day.

Sponsored by the township recreation department, the day camp has attracted some 200 children, according to director Tom Belton. They are picked up at 9:30 a.m. from various schools, and return home at 4:30 p.m.

Their 5,200-acre Highland Recreation area is typically upper-Michigan, and the children learn outdoor cooking, as well as many organized group games. The drinking water system was repaired today, and the day camp, under the supervision of Paul Atkins and Mrs. Warren Allen, is in full swing once again.

WATER! WATER! — This was the cry of 35 Waterford Township youngsters attending the first session of day camp at Highland Recreation area. The children swarmed to the fountain on the beach, after generators burned out at the camp, leaving the water system useless.

As Test for Earth Satellite

To Launch Tiny 'Moons'

WASHINGTON (AP) — U. S. scientists plan to fire some tiny earth satellites into outer space this fall in preparation for the subsequent launching of the larger 22-pound baby moon.

A source familiar with the program said yesterday the smaller moons, which will weigh four pounds, might orbit the earth for up to two weeks.

Launching of these tiny globes is scheduled for November, as part of preliminary tests of rocket types to be used later for the satellites.

Nasser Seeking Swing Back to West

Egypt-Red Honeymoon Near End?

This is the second of four articles on Egypt five years after its revolution by the chief I.N.S. correspondent in the Middle East.

By CHARLES P. ARNOT

CAIRO (INS) — Gamal Abdel Nasser's two-year romance with Moscow supplied Egypt with arms he couldn't get from the West, handed him a timely U.N. veto on Suez and gave him vital wheat and oil when his reserves dwindled to less than a month's supply, while the U. S. looked the other way.

Egyptian gratitude to the Soviet Union still flows in sentimental bucketfuls, but as a practical economic proposition, the honeymoon with the communist bloc has been a busy one.

The Russians and their hard-pressed satellites simply haven't got what Egypt needs, and Nasser knows it. He's now trying desperately to swing the pendulum back to the West.

With more than 50 per cent of Egypt's precious cotton exports now going to the communists (compared with only 14 per cent three years ago), the Egyptians are piling up more cotton credits with the East than they can find goods to buy.

Egyptian importers complain that most communist order books are marked "out of stock." Although the communists are paying about 30 per cent above the world market price for Egyptian cotton, the Reds in turn are charging the Egyptians about 30 to 40 per cent above world prices for what the Egyptians say is "obsolete industrial machinery and equipment." Deliveries, if they arrive at all, are months late.

NO CARS DELIVERED

Several hundred Egyptians placed orders for a small Russian car costing about $1,400 during the Soviet Industrial Exhibition in Cairo last January. So far, not one has been delivered.

Why are the Soviets and their satellites, who are almost self-sufficient in cotton production themselves, buying so much Egyptian cotton? Political leverage, of course.

And what's the Red "honeymoon" done to Egypt?

The cost of living in Egypt has jumped eight per cent during the past year. Retail merchants estimate business is off 50 per cent. Such items as automobile spare parts cannot be found.

The mass postwar exodus of more than 45,000 foreigners (about 15,000 of them Jews) and the thin trickle of tourism from what two years ago was a $60 million business have slashed restaurant and hotel business by almost two-thirds.

Yawning bartenders gape at empty bars. Taxi drivers grumble about the lack of foreigners.

DEBT SOARS

The government's debt to the National Bank of Egypt has soared to more than $462 million from a 1955 figure of some $44 million, and the government is now playing the old hocus-pocus game of printing 90-day treasury bills to keep the economic machine running.

There's more money in circulation than there are things to buy, since nearly all luxury imports and many essentials are on the forbidden list. That, in simple economic terms, means threatening inflation.

The Suez war, according to Egyption officials, cost the country 500 million Egyptian pounds (roughly $1.4 billion). And Egypt still is buying arms and submarines from the Soviets, paying in precious cotton (which is 80 per cent of everything exportable in the country).

The best estimates of Egypt's annual payments to the Soviet bloc for arms range from nearly $29 million to as high as $70 million — payments that are supposed to continue for the next 10 years.

All this in a country where the per capita average income is $112 a year, with agricultural workers (60 per cent of the population) earning only $64 annually.

Unlike many military revolutions, the Egyptian uprising has survived nearly five years without a hanging or an assassination among the top plotters who ran the country as the "Revolutionary Command Council" until the Egyptian Republic's new constitution put the officers into civilian clothes 18 months ago.

90 PER CENT REMAIN

Of the 400 young Egyptians originally in the "Free Officers Movement" which carried out the revolution, 90 per cent are still reported behind the Nasser regime, many of them now holding important "payoff" jobs.

Of those around Nasser, his closest friends and advisers are still three of the original 12: Minister of War Maj. Gen. Abdel Hakim Amer, 37; Minister of Interior Zakaria Mohieddin, 38; and Minister of Municipal and Rural Affairs and Planning Abdel Latif Boghdadi, 39.

These three are reported to urge Nasser to steer a careful course with the East. They are said to have "Western leanings."

This group — said to include publisher of the government newspaper "Goumhouria," Anwar El Sadat, 38, and a couple of pro-Eastern cabinet ministers — is bitterly anti-West, and thus preaches Moscow ties.

OVERALL VIEW — One way to get sidewalk superintendents out of the way in West Berlin is to provide them with a 35-foot high chair lift over northwest areas under reconstruction.

Restoration Project Seen in Mackinac Straits Area

MACKINAC ISLAND (AP) — The Straits of Machinac area, long a focal point of historical interest, may be in store for a restoration and development project that will rank it alongside the top few tourist attractions in America.

Already the object of heightened interest because of the giant Straits of Mackinac Bridge now nearing completition, the region now has been singled out for a new revival.

Gov. Williams, a frequent visitor to the governor's summer residence on Mackinac Island, this week gave enthusiastic approval to a master development plan drawn up for the Straits area by the State Historical Commission.

Now only the cooperation of the Legislature, state agencies, private organizations and area communities is needed to put the plan into action. Plus the primary catalyst —money.

If it meets hoped-for proportions, the undertaking will not come inexpensively. It calls for excavation and development of archaeological sites, restoration of historical buildings, marking of major historical sites and erection of new museums and improvement of old ones.

In the plan submitted to the governor by Dr. Lewis Beeson, director of the Historical Commission, possible excavations were recommended at Port Colyer on Drummond Island, Mackinac Island, Fort Michilimackinac and the surrounding area and Raber Point.

The St. Ignace area was also suggested, with the idea of uncovering sites which could illustrate the period during which the area was occupied by the French and the Indians.

"Mackinac Island is the focal point for the historical development of the entire Mackinac Straits area," the report declared.

Fort Mackinac and the Grand Hotel are the island's major attractions, it said, and they can be tied together by restoration of the Biddle House and the clerk's quarters.

MUSEUM FOR HISTORY

In the museum development program, the Commission suggested that each one be devoted to a special historical interest. The Fort Mackinac Museum, it said, might exhibit military and Indian materials and the Beaumont House items connected with the early fur trade.

It also suggested the mission church be set aside as a historical shrine and the Fort Mackinac Hospital be made into a hospital museum.

The Museum at St. Ignace operated by the Roman Catholic Diocese of Marquette would specialize in items connected with Father Marquette and other French missionaries and explorers.

Another building concentrating on Great Lake transportation also might be erected on Mackinac Island, the Commission said.

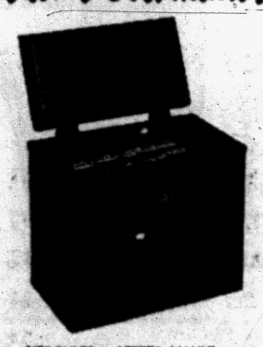

Other sites suggested for museums were the Astor Warehouse on Mackinac Island, the Fort Mackinac barracks and Fort Michilimackinac.

The historical marker program, Beeson pointed out, already is well under way.

Among groups suggested for cooperation in one or more phases of the project were the Mackinac Island State Park Commission, the State Highway and Conservation Departments, the Roman Catholic Dioceses of Marquette, the Michigan Medical Society, the Historical Society of Michigan and the Michigan Archaeological Society.

Mobile Movie Units Touring Norway

STAVANGER, Norway — Mobile units of Norsk Bygdekino gave about 1,100 more movie shows last year than in 1955. This nonprofit organization, founded in 1950 to show high-quality motion pictures in communities that lack movie houses, reports that attendance was up from an average of 60 to 62.7 per showing.

★ ★ ★

There were 1,210,000 paid admissions at the 19,300 shows. An additional 225 shows, free, were given at nursing homes and other institutions. Box-office receipts keep the project going. This year the organization hopes to reach 860 remote rural communities and give 21,000 shows.

Woodpecker Lends Aid to Feathered Friends

Spotting a hole beneath an eave of his Machiasport home, Miller replaced a board. Afterward, he saw—and heard—two obviously distressed starlings perched on a wire near the eave. Then a third bird appeared. It was a woodpecker. In jig-time the woodpecker drilled through the new board, enabling Mr. and Mrs. Starling to rejoin their babies under the eaves.

Our Lakes Have Low Casualty Reputation

With its 423 lakes, more than any other county in Michigan's Southern Peninsula, Oakland County does not have many of the drownings.

As a plain matter of fact, we have almost as many lakes as all of the other 67 counties below the Straits combined. Some have no lakes at all.

Also we are on the edge of a great metropolitan district, with its millions of population, and our lakes are the summer bathing points for untold thousands of its residents. They exceed our own people many fold.

Over a recent weekend it is conservatively estimated that over a quarter million people went bathing in Oakland County lakes. This included 200,000 at our three leading beaches, and 50,000 scattered among the other 420 lakes in the county.

Our Kent Lake beaches now rival the Lake St. Clair Metropolitan beach in attendance by Detroit people, and our Cass Lake State Park beach now is drawing the biggest crowds of any inland beach in Michigan. Pontiac Lake beach likewise is breaking all records in attendance.

Yet on this weekend of super heat, when our state numbered more than a score of drownings, Oakland County had only one. Our rate is by far the lowest in Michigan.

Several reasons for this good record are advanced.

Our large beaches are competently supervised. They have no deep water traps. The depth has a safe and gradual slope. Efficient lifeguards always are on duty. Dangerous dropoffs are securely fenced. The sand is not miry.

But perhaps there's another good reason for our excellent standing. Reared amid water surroundings, a greater proportion of our people can swim than is the case in areas where a lake is a rarity.

Over the whole nation, it is said that less than one-half the people can swim. In our area the percentage is much higher. This is especially true among our young folks.

However, if our good record is maintained it must be remembered that even in Oakland County not all of our lakes have safe beaches. Some of them are sandy for a short distance, and then drop off into deep water.

Others have no beach at all, and bathers in them depend upon hanging to a boat, with the risk always present that a mere slip of the hand means descent to a muddy bottom for the person who cannot swim. There miring in the silt makes it impossible to rise.

Anyway, swimming experts say that the old theory that a drowning person always comes up three times is a fallacy. So don't take a chance that you'll have to come up even once. The odds are heavily against you.

Let's keep good the drowning record of our lakes. They'll do their part if we do ours. They never reach out and grab a victim. He does it himself.

They're beautiful to look upon, to glide upon in a boat or skate upon, to supply a haven for our fisherman, to bathe in, to equalize our climate, to furnish hundreds of miles of superb residence frontage, to enhance the landscape, to ripple in the breezes, to supply a balance in the moisture content of our soil, to prevent floods and help out in drouths, to excite contemplative admiration and memories . . .

But in nature's plan, they'll snuff out your life in a twinkling if you transgress nature's ways—and in the eddies caused by your fatal plunge they'll ripple just as beautifully, while stealthily awaiting another victim.

Bonn Election Outlook

With the economy of West Germany booming the opposition Socialist party is worried over its chances in the September election.

As a result Chancellor Adenauer is in a strong position and the Socialists are having difficulty in finding an issue to capture voters. Industry is thriving and the Chancellor is being backed financially and otherwise by big companies.

It is believed that contributions to his campaign may total $15 million while the Socialists will be lucky to get $3 million. Observers are of the opinion that if the 81-year-old Adenauer is re-elected, a new chancellor probably may come into office sometime in the next four years because of limitations of age. The chancellor's campaign managers already are limiting the length and number of his speeches.

★ ★ ★

In any case Adenauer would have a strong voice in naming his successor and as the Chancellor is a bulwark of the West, there wouldn't seem to be much room for anxiety even if he did step down.

The Man About Town

A False Handicap

And a National Move Plans to Do Something About It

July: What dies today—of heat prostration.

A movement is on in Pontiac to organize a new public service organization,

Bald Heads Anonymous,

the purpose being to affiliate with the national body to promote the welfare, happiness and peace of mind of our nation's frustrated bald headed men.

BHA is proving that many of our greatest men are delinquent only on hirsute appendage, and seeks to prove that this usually enhances the functions of what's just under where their hair once was. Many great men of history also have lived down the alleged liability, and some of them have converted it into an asset.

Since Delilah got funny with Samson men have been bothered with hair problems. As the foliage has disappeared through the untold generations, numerous fallicies have grown up in this regard.

The new organization is waging a campaign to discourage people from referring to the front row in theaters as the "bald head row," calling bald heads "billiard balls," using the nickname "Baldy," talking about high foreheads, mentioning toupees, telling hair raising stories, saying "bald-er dash" instead of "nonsense," and refraining from the common expression "bald-faced lie."

Seeking to supplant the dying beauty contests, lately fraught with a smell of scandal, BHA proposes to have a national contest to select

David Lawrence Says:

No Proof Cigarettes Cause Cancer

WASHINGTON — Congress has been asked by some of its well-meaning members to take action to recognize the alleged hazards of cigarette smoking. But to date there is no proof that lung cancer is caused by tobacco in any form.

LAWRENCE

Coincidence is not proof. The fact that a large number of persons who smoke get lung cancer has not been proved to be a conclusive reason by itself to avoid the use of tobacco.

This writer had an unpublished experience some years ago with a case of coincidence in the field of statistics. It indicated vividly how figures seeming to prove a cause-and-effect relationship were not corroborated through any scientific investigation thereafter. A prominent physician with an investigative turn of mind organized a study of a big city where a polio epidemic occurred.

He and his assistants plotted every single case of polio on the city map and then undertook to find out if any common denominator existed. It was discovered that a certain kind of tree grew adjacent to 95 per cent of the homes where polio had occurred.

LED TO OTHER STUDIES

This information led to other studies as to the origin of the tree and as to which states had a considerable number of such trees. It turned out that the states which had the larger number did have more polio cases each year, whereas in the states with a small number of such trees there were very few persons afflicted with the disease. It was even discovered that certain countries in the world which had a relatively small number of such trees had little or no polio.

After years of study, experts came to the conclusion that there was no connection between the tree and polio.

Had these facts been published at the time the investigations were going on, and the name of the tree disclosed, it seems certain that throughout America people would have been cutting down that particular tree — indeed, they might do it today.

So it is with statistics with reference to tobacco and lung cancer. These may really turn out some day to prove a cause-and-effect relationship, but to date it is only fair to say that no such evidence has yet been produced.

Dr. Harry S. N. Greene, professor of pathology at Yale University, who has been concerned with cancer research in the teaching of medical students, told a subcommittee of the House Committee on Governmental Operations the other day:

METHODS RAISE DOUBTS

"In summary, the methods employed in the statistical inquiry under question, particularly the type of data used by analysis, raise doubts that the results obtained can be interpreted as conveying a causal relationship between tobacco smoking and lung cancer. However, the results have been accepted by some investigators as sufficiently suggestive to warrant a direct experimental approach.

The investigation has been reported as it progressed and, from my own point of view, has not succeeded in supplying confirmatory evidence."

Dr. Ian G. MacDonald, director of cancer research at the University of Southern California, chairman of a committee on cancer research for the American Medical Association and a director of the American Cancer Society, said to the same congressional committee:

"In summary, the total evidence here reviewed fails to establish any sound basis on which a causative influence may be assigned to cigarette smoking in the production of cancer of the lung."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Cod Liver Oil Remains Key Aid for Rheumatiz

A sovereign remedy for rheumatiz — chronic joint disability — back in the days when medicine was a profession, before the businessmen discovered how much more they could make out of "arthritis" was plain cod liver oil.

Not just a dainty teaspoonful after meals for a week or two, but a tablespoonful twice daily, or two tablespoonsful (a fluid ounce) every day the year around — with perhaps a month off each summer, for good behavior.

DR. BRADY

The individual with chronic joint disability (physical degeneration, not "arthritis") got about 18,000 units of vitamin A in the cod liver oil, and that, too, is an optimal daily ration, that is to say, the amount calculated to maintain the most healthful nutritional condition.

Now it is my belief — and remember I'm no authority about anything — that the cod liver oil treatment was as helpful as any other treatment for the rheumatiz (not "arthritis") then or now.

To the best of our present knowledge, the remedial effects of cod liver oil are entirely attributable to the vitamin A, vitamin D and iodine the oil contains.

TASTELESS FORM

Today any or all of these principles may be taken in virtually tasteless form, small tablets, and fish liver oils or so-called concentrates which still retain fishy odor or taste are as obsolete for preventive or remedial use as calomel and bleeding.

Provitamin A (carotene) is so abundantly available in fruits and vegetables and natural vitamin A in milk, cream, butter, cheese, egg yolk, liver, sardines, etc., that clear evidence of A deficiency is rare in America, except, perhaps, moderate "night blindness" (poor dark adaptation) and xeroderma (abnormal dryness of the skin). These manifestations of A deficiency seem unrelated to rheumatism.

But, as you will find explained in the pamphlet "Calcium and Rheumatiz" (for which send stamped, self-addressed envelope), there is a great deal of scientific, empirical, clinical and practical evidence that the modern ultra-refined American diet does not supply adequate daily amounts of certain essentials to maintain good nutrition, notably these: (1) vitamin B, (2) iodine, (3) sunshine vitamin D and (4) calcium.

It is my belief, theory, opinion, notion, whatever you please to call it, that in most instances the rheumatiz (not arthritis) is physical degeneration of joint tissues due to these nutritional deficiencies.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Gives 10 Reasons for Same Vacation

Here are 10 reasons why married couples don't have separate vacations:

Jealousy, lack of supervision of mate, convincing mate it would be no fun, bribery, prolonged argument when last two reasons fail, saying "where you go, I go, regardless," lower expenses together, refusing to care for children alone, lack of money, and failure to be able to go where one wishes to go.

Two Send Replies on 'Dirty Game'

In all fairness to the police department I'll have to say I saw the game with Franklin Products and saw no incident of "dirty play." The two teams played a fine game, the score being 2-0. The runner and the second baseman took a spill together but there certainly was no kneeing. I suggest spectators from the losing team read up on sportsmanship and not yell things like "dirty coppers" and let their small children mimic them, as I saw happen that night. Good luck to both teams.

I haven't seen the police play ball, but why can't women mind their own business and leave ball games to us men? They cut their hair like ours, wear our clothes and do our jobs. Now, they're trying to tell us how to play ball.

If the losing team has a gripe, let the players take it to someone who can solve the problem and get out from behind mama's apron. Chances are they don't know the ball from the bat, let alone a dirty ball game.

'Congressman Has Right Idea'

Congressman Gerald Ford had the right idea when he said, "We and our allies must stand up to the fact that while we must prevent a fighting war, we've still got a 'cold war' on our hands. It must be fought diligently, as though it were taking place on a battlefield. Our primary weapon therefore is a sound mutual security program."

Let's stop beefing at the cost of this program.

Teenagers Write About Ted Lindsay

For many years the Wings had the most powerful first string and now Jack Adams goes and trades one of a great team, Gordie Howe and Ted Lindsay, to Chicago. A few months ago he said he'd trade any player if he got a high enough price. Well, he did it.

He said that Ted didn't have many good hockey-playing years left, but I believe he has three and maybe five years of good hockey left. What I'd like to know is did Jack Adams trade Ted Lindsay because of money or a personal feud?

Seconds Letter About Principal

I, too, wish to pay tribute to a friend and co-worker, Mrs. Agnes L. Cox, an educator and fine person. During her years of service in the Pontiac Public Schools, as a teacher and principal, she has influenced countless children, teachers and parents.

Alert, undaunted, keeping pace with educational trends, she always stood for the best in education. Forthright, tolerant, of great understanding, she became the friend and counselor of many.

Upholds Court in Civil Rights

The standing monument of charity with justice to the name of Franklin D. Roosevelt is the U. S. Supreme Court. The addition of members to the Court is even far more important now than it was 20 years ago.

Circumstances arise to prove F.D.R. was right then, and civil rights by law will need 13 members for the cases to come before the bar, as well as other points of the U. S. Constitution.

The people as a whole cannot learn law from the Pentagon and atomic tests, if freedom is to be.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Single Word Makes the Difference

Carl recites a beautiful example of how a single word changed an irate prospect into a satisfied customer. For a few words can change the whole course of history, as was true when one of our presidential candidates lost a national election apparently for want of a simple cordial greeting to a California Senator.

BY DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case V-351: Carl M., aged 31, was manager of a shoe store in Chicago.

★ ★ ★

At the time of this episode, Carl was enrolled in my class in "Sales Psychology" at Northwestern University.

DR. CRANE

During my evening lecture I had stressed the value of using the proper word at the proper time.

So Carl put up his hand and when I called on him, he said he'd like to give the class a true case to corroborate the point I had just made.

Then he mentioned that a few days earlier, a plump lady had walked into his store for a pair of new shoes.

Carl's assistant had tried to wait on her. But though he opened dozens of boxes of shoes, he still couldn't get anything to suit her.

★ ★ ★

It was a warm day and the clerk finally grew irritated. At long last he sighed and said, perhaps a bit angrily:

"Madam, I can't fit you 'cause one of your feet is bigger 'n the other!"

Well, that infuriated the customer. So she chewed him out in no uncertain terms, and started to stomp out of the store.

But her ire wasn't fully expended by the time she reached the door, where Carl was standing, so she vented the rest of her spleen on Carl, telling him what an inefficient clerk he had.

PROPER WORDS SOOTHE

"Why, Madam," Carl spoke soothingly, "I'm sure that I can find exactly what you wish, so may I wait upon you myself?"

She realized that Carl was the boss man of the shop, so that mollified her a little.

Meanwhile, Carl smiled and gently led her to a seat. Then he found a pair of higher priced shoes and she beamed at the neat fit.

"There is no real difficulty here," Carl smiled. "One of your feet is just a wee bit smaller than the other."

So she glowed happily and paid for the higher priced shoes. As she marched triumphantly out of the shop, she showed her disdain for the former clerk.

But after she had departed, he turned to Carl and said:

"Boss, I told her the same thing you did, so how did you make the sale?"

But that first clerk was wrong. He hadn't said the same thing, nor in the same tone of voice.

For in a rather irritable manner he had deflated her ego by exclaiming:

"One of your feet's bigger'n the other!"

Whereas Carl had smiling and soothingly suggested to her:

"One of your feet is just a wee bit smaller than the other!"

WAS DEFEATED

Remember the famous story about the kingdom that was lost for want of a rider who lost his horse who lost its shoe for want of a nail?

Well, that is not an exaggeration. When Charles Evans Hughes ran for the presidency of the U.S.A., he went to bed on election night apparently a sure winner.

And Hughes is reported to have lost California because he failed to greet its famous Republican Senator when he was on a speaking tour out there.

★ ★ ★

So his omission of a simple "Howdy do, Senator. I'm happy to see you," cost Charles Evans Hughes the presidency of the United States.

DETROIT (AP) — U.S. customs officials tomorrow will quit issuing the State of Michigan reports on merchandise imported from Canada and other foreign countries.

Customs collector Frank Abelman said yesterday the practice of opening confidential records for the state to assess a three per cent use tax "is an unwarranted encroachment on Michigan residents."

Mayor Albert E. Cobo and City Planner Charles A. Blessing outlined a proposal to convert the 1,800 feet between Grand Circus Park and Campus Martius into a series of malls closed to traffic.

A majority of merchants indicated interest in the project, which would call for altering property in the area to fit into the mall.

AEC Report Sees Unlimited Energy From H-Bomb

WASHINGTON (INS) — The U.S. reported new highs in atomic production and defensive power today, and told how harnessing the H-bomb may solve man's energy problems for "millions of years."

The Atomic Energy Commission's 22nd semi-annual submission to Congress said output of all types of nuclear materials "equaled or exceeded" previous records in the first half of 1957.

America's nuclear arsenal was bolstered during the same period, the AEC said, by weapons incorporating "new design principles that can be used more effectively for defensive purposes" against enemy attack.

The omnibus report revealed without elaboration that "feasibility studies" have been initiated to apply nuclear power to rocket and ramjet engines.

The AEC said small atomic batteries, some of them no bigger than a dime, should improve guided missiles and should last for years in wrist watches, portable radios, hearing aids and "space craft" such as artificial earth satellites.

TO BOOST PEACE

The report showed that more than 44,000 pounds of nuclear fuel worth one-third of one billion dollars have been committed to atoms-for-peace projects abroad, compared to 37,500 pounds of the same material so far allocated to prospective users at home.

A large section of the 257-page document was devoted to "Project Sherwood" — the effort to harness H-bomb materials, forms of hydrogen, in "controlled fusion" for peacetime power.

The report said a temperature of 400 million degrees centigrade, 20 times hotter than the center of the sun, is necessary to fuse atoms of heavy or "double" hydrogen in the H-bomb reaction.

But it said "very high" temperatures, presumably in millions of degrees, have already been realized in devices resembling atom-smashers, in which hot gasses are chased around a donut-shaped course while being held in suspension by magnetic currents.

Officials said the first device of this kind built at Los Alamos, N.M., dubbed the "perhapsatron," already has become obsolete. Higher temperatures have been achieved in more advanced machines.

The detailed report showed a parallel between the atom-splitting of the present, which creates new atomic fuel in the process, and the fusion of the future, which will create new fusion materials while releasing vast energy in the form of heat.

★ ★ ★

The new fusion materials, however, will be chiefly "triple" hydrogen (tritium). This will release about four times as much energy per pound, and will fuse at a "somewhat lower ignition temperature."

UNLIMITED ENERGY

The report said: "If the fusion reaction can be achieved under control, the world will have an energy source virtually without limit. There is enough deuterium (heavy hydrogen) in ocean water . . . to provide mankind's power requirements for millions of years."

★ ★ ★

The commission also:

— Announced that contracts with foreign governments and domestic mining arrangements have been completed that will provide the United States with ample uranium for "the military and civil power development programs as projected for the next 10 years, and for U.S. international commitments.

— Said examination of children exposed to radioactive fallout in the Marshall Islands have shown "some preliminary evidence of slight impairment of their growth." The children were among 79 natives of Rongelap, who were repatriated to their home island on June 29, more than three years after their exposure on March 1, 1954.

— Reported that most of the 238 Marshallese who were exposed to radioactivity ranging from one-fourth to one-third of lethal amounts are now in "generally good health," and that no deaths or cases of cancer have been traced to the radiation.

For unexplained reasons, how-radioactivity have lingered in the ever, unusually large amounts of land crabs of the islands, and the Marshallese have been advised against including these in their diet.

Half the drownings in the U. S. occur in the months of June, July and August.

Union Group Renews Probe

Charges of Corruption in Bakers, Teamsters Heard by AFL-CIO

WASHINGTON (AP) — The AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee renews hearings today into charges the Bakers and Teamsters unions are corruptly dominated.

Ouster from the federation could result if the charges are sustained and the unions do not clean house.

The five-man practices group called in officials of the Bakers today and scheduled a similar closed door hearing tomorrow for officers of the truck union.

It was reported the committee also may look into the activities of a third union, the United Textile Workers.

The committee is charged with enforcing new AFL-CIO codes to rid organized labor of corrupt influences.

High officials of all three union groups — the Teamsters, Bakers and UTW — have been implicated in disclosures before the Senate Rackets Committee headed by Sen. McClellan (D-Ark).

The Ethical Practices Committee has drawn up a bill of particulars on officials of the 160,000-member Bakery Workers International Union, based on testimony before the Senate committee, but this report has not been yet made public.

James G. Cross, Bakers Union president, was the official of that union most under fire in the Senate hearings. Among other things, he was accused of beating up union political foes, borrowing some $100,000 from a baking industry employer, and keeping a convicted prostitute on the union payroll as an "organizer."

★ ★ ★

Dave Beck, Teamsters Union president, has announced he is relinquishing office in a few months. This followed Senate committee testimony he used some $300,000 to $400,000 of Teamsters funds. Beck invoked the Fifth Amendment in refusing to talk to senators about it.

Beck is under federal income tax evasion and state larceny charges.

Blames a Lack of Male Teachers for Boys' Trouble

ANN ARBOR (INS)—A University of Michigan education professor blames lack of male teachers for the large number of boys in trouble with the law.

Prof. Peter T. Hountras said there always have been more boys in trouble than girls.

"While the reasons for this are numerous, education has unfortunately contributed to the situation," he said. "The major burden of education in elementary and secondary schools has ordinarily been assumed by women."

He said the absence of men on teaching staffs has resulted in a lack of sufficient models with whom boys could readily identify.

"The absence of the 'father figure'," he contended, "is especially felt by boys who lack a desirable model in the home."

Will Refuel Once in 3 Years

1st Atomic Merchant Ship to Be Started This Fall

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government plans to let the contract for building the first atomic-powered merchant ship early this fall and have it at sea in 1960.

This was announced today at a meeting called by the Atomic Energy Commission, the Maritime Administration and the Commerce Department and attended by representatives of the maritime industry.

Clarence G. Morse, maritime administrator, said the timetable calls for laying the keel for the ship in the spring of 1958. Launching "should follow a year later," he said.

Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the AEC said the projected passenger-cago ship will "carry to all corners of the earth the idea of President Eisenhower for the peaceful use of atomic energy."

Details of the new ship were described by Douglas C. MacMillan of George G. Sharp, Inc., which has been designated to design the hull.

35,000-MILE RANGE

Among other features, the plans call for a 350,000-mile range with the first load of nuclear fuel. Refueling would be expected in about three years.

The artist's drawing of the ship shows a long, lean, yacht-like hull with the suuperstructure located well aft. Dimensions of the ship were given as 587 feet long, 78 foot beam and 29½ feet draft.

The propulsion plant will consist of a steam turbine unit driving a single propellor. The steam will come from two main generators, both heated from a single nuclear reactor. The ship also will have emergency diesel power to bring her into port in the event of trouble with the nuclear plant.

Officials emphasized that this ship will be purely experimental.

MacMillan said the ship will be equipped with a safety device for confining radioactivity in event of accident to the reactor.

Russia to Resume Aid to Yugoslavia

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Russia has finally agreed to give Yugoslavia a 250-million-dollar aid grant suspended after the Hungarian rebellion. But the Soviet got a three-year extension on the final payment deadline.

★ ★ ★

The pact calls for construction of big aluminum and fertilizer plants in Yugoslavia with technical assistance from East Germany and money from the Kremlin.

The compromise pact, signed in Moscow Monday, provides for the Soviet payments to end in 1964 instead of 1961 as originally planned.

Adenauer Showing Vigor in Hot Election Campaign

By JOHN H. MARTIN
INS Foreign Director

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, 81 years old and full of pep, is showing his customary vigor in the hot election campaign under way in West Germany.

The more the Kremlin rulers twist and turn in their internal struggle for power the more he hews rigidly to his demand that the Soviet Union allow free all-German elections to unite the artificially-divided nation and that Germany stand firmly allied with the West.

Although the Western Allies—the United States, Britain and France—will deny that was their purpose, their signing of the "Berlin Declaration" Monday calling for German reunification was an election assist to Adenauer and his Christian Democratic Party.

The declaration reiterated an old stand on the German question, but this was the first time there was a four-power declaration siged by the Western "Big Three" and West Germany.

Presumably, Soviet party boss Nikita Khrushchev's impending visit to Communist-ruled East Germany speeded the signing of the declaration, which said any disarmament move would not prejudice the reunification issue.

Yet, it is doubtful if this declaration will have much impact on the German voters. Reunification is a very hot issue naturally among Germans, but they all know Adenauer's stand through the years and that of his Socialist opponents.

The Social Democrats under Erich Ollenhauer are in a disadvantageous position. Domestic issues have lost their steam by the very fact that Germany is a powerful nation today in contrast the time eight years ago when Adenauer took over. The country then was occupied and broken financially.

Inevitably, many Socialists have turned to foreign affairs in their arguments to try to unseat the amazingly virile Adenauer. But this, too, is a pretty well-worn field.

The Socialists argue that Adenauer's close alliance with the Western nations has gotten Germany nowhere and that they themselves would be able to achieve reunification.

The Socialists assume that Germany cannot be both unified and a member of NATO. They suggest that East Germany pull out of the Warsaw Communist alliance and West Germany quit NATO. They say that a reunited Germany could be placed in a European Security Pact guaranteed by both United States and the Soviet

Have Hay Fever? Help on the Way

U. of M. Researchers Are Studying Problem at Ragweed Jungle

JACKSON (AP) — Miserable? Sneeze? Wheeze? Nose itch all summer long?

Don't despair. University of Michigan researchers say relief soon may be on the way for hay fever sufferers.

To check how far ragweed pollen floats and how much fills the air you breathe, the researchers have taken to gardening.

They've cultivated a forest of 3,150 ragweed plants here in a patch 25-feet in diameter. Surrounding their "garden" are devices to measure the amount of pollen per cubic meter of air, the distance the seed drifts and the time of day it is most likely to filter through the air. Other instruments record weather conditions—heat, wind, sun radiation, humidity.

ULTIMATE AIM

Gerald C. Gill, a research engineer working on the project, explained its ultimate aim.

"We want to determine the rate of pollen release and the time of day and in what weather release takes place," he said. "We believe we can develop relief for those with hay fever by eradicating pollen after we know enough about its tendencies."

Combined with the "gardening" is another U-M project in which newly developed medications are tried on hay-fevered inmates at Southern Michigan prison, a mile away from the ragweed jungle.

A multitude of sticky-surfaced microscope slides are located at strategic distances all around the "garden."

"The pollen drops on the slides and we can tell how far it flys and in what intensity it travels different distances," Gill explained.

TEST 2,000 SLIDES

He expects to test more than 2,000 slides when the project ends. Slides are changed at four-hour intervals throughout the day and night.

In the middle of the plot is an impinger, an apparatus with a whirling motor that draws pollen through a v-shaped mouth into a circular case.

A high-speed cellulose tape reaps the pollen and seals it for later inspection.

The third "harvesting" device is a portable volumetric sampler. Several are placed in the vicinity of the ragweed. Each is a six-pronged instrument that sucks pollen from the air and collects it on a wafer-thin filter.

"The samplers tell us the amount of pollen per cubic meter of air," Gill said.

Italy Chamber Okays Two European Treaties

ROME (AP)—Italy's Chamber of Deputies today approved 311-144 the treaties creating the six-nation European Common Market and the Euratom nuclear energy pool. Only the Communists voted no.

Naval Reserve to Hold Annual Blood Bank Drive

According to Gerald W. Perry, hospitalman 1.C. "We are expecting about 100 donors to add to our bank which already holds about 50 pints of blood."

He explained that the bank is maintained by the Red Cross which comes once a year with a bloodmobile to take donations.

"The blood given by reservists is placed in a bank to be used for the reservists or their relatives," he said.

"If a relative is in need of blood at a hospital, we need only call the Red Cross and they will rush as much blood as needed to the hospital. This blood, of course, doesn't cost the injured party a cent."

The bloodmobile is scheduled to arrive at about 7 p.m. and will take donations from approximately 8 to 10 p.m. All reservists are eligible to get blood from the bank whether they put it in or not.

Calling for Waves at Naval Reserve Unit

The Pontiac Naval Reserve announced today that a limited number of openings for WAVES (women reservists) as stenographers, clerk-typists and typists are now available with Naval Organized Surface Division 9-104, at the Pontiac Naval Armory.

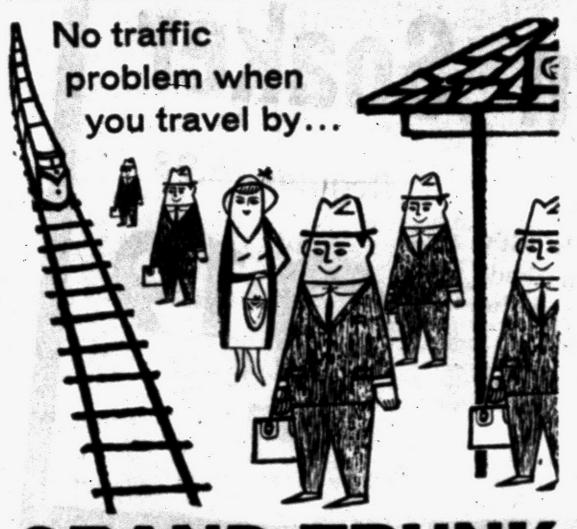

Women applicants must be high school graduautes between the ages of 18 and 44, unmarried, with no dependents under the age of 18, and be able to pass the required medical examination.

The reserve unit meets once a week and a reservist receives a full day's pay for attending each drill. In addition they are eligible for two weeks of training duty each year. Those interested are urged by the Naval Reserve to call FE 4-5173.

MOUNTAINHOME, Pa. (INS)—Sebastian Spering Kresge, a farm boy who harvested millions from nickels and dimes, celebrated his 90th year today as thriving as the variety store chain that made his name a household word.

Despite his years, the firm-voiced pioneer dime-store merchant whose life is cast in the best Horatio Alger formula, has nothing but derision for retirement.

"Being 90 doesn't bother me at all," he said at his home in the lush Poconos Mountains. "I expect to go ahead for a long time . . . just as long as God gives me strength. My mother lived to be over 100 and so did her mother."

Kresge's appearance supports the conviction that he'll be around to guide the huge business for a long time. Keen brown eyes gaze from a ruddy face fringed with silver hair. His 170 pounds are well distributed over a 5-5 frame.

This was just another day for him except for a birthday luncheon at the nearby Buck Hill Falls Inn. The guests included most of the empire's top executives headed by Kresge's eldest son, Stanley S., who is board vice chairman and the only one of his five offspring in the business.

FATHERLY FASHION

As chairman of the board, the elder Kresge guides in fatherly fashion a chain of 603 stores in the U.S. and 83 in Canada. Total sales volume for last year was $366,355,381.

"The head of such a business must travel a lot," Kresge said. "I don't mind it a bit, though. I like to see the key people and I like to visit the stores. Here and there I can make a suggestion to improve ourselves."

Other times Kresge is content to wander over his 26-acre estate and through its apple orchards. He also likes reading, television and puttering around the sprawling home.

Aside from business and his wife, Clara, whom he married in 1928, Kresge's prime interest is the Kresge Foundation which he set up with a gift of $1,300,000 when he was 55 and had all the money he felt he needed.

★ ★ ★

"For me, serving others is the greatest thrill in the world," he said. "I really want to leave the world better off than I found it, and I think most men and women feel that way. I want the results of my efforts to go to work for others.

GRANTS OF $40 MILLION

Total grants from the Kresge Foundation have reached more than 40 million dollars, mostly to churches, universities and medical research centers.

Kresge was born on a farm at Bald Mount, Pa. His early jobs included teaching country school for $22 monthly, grocery clerk, beekeeper, insurance agent, bookkeeper and traveling tinware salesman.

With his savings he opened a store in Memphis, Tenn., in 1897 with fellow-pioneer John McCrory. A second store followed in Detroit. Later he traded McCrory his interest in the Memphis enterprise for sole ownership of the Detroit outlet. That was the beginning of the fabulous chain.

"There was no secret about my success," Kresge said. "I was at the right place at the right time and people were ready for the five and ten. They liked the prices, the variety and the fact they could handle anything they had mind to."

★ ★ ★

Kresge feels there is no room for new dime store chains, but he figures opportunities for young people are the best ever. "Find out where you can render a service," he advised, "and then render it. The rest is up to the Lord."

Slew Man, 81, to Get Auto

Boy Admits Killing Uncle

OWOSSO (AP)—A 14-year-old boy was held today in the bludgeon slaying of his 81-year-old great-uncle. Prosecutor J. T. Erbush said the boy, Loren Joseph Fox, signed a statement admitting he hit his great-uncle with a hammer and with a wrecking bar.

The body of William Bentley, a retired farmer, was found by his nephew, Lester Bentley of Owosso, stepfather of the boy.

Erbush said the boy told him he hit his great-uncle because he wanted to use his car.

The boy was given a ticket for speeding and driving without a license in Bentley's car in Detroit Monday night, said Undersheriff Earl Johnson, and later was given a ticket in Ann Arbor for "excessive noise."

BROUGHT HOME

Johnson said Perry Police Chief Bill Fowler sent Bentley after the boy to bring him home.

★ ★ ★

Bentley returned to Perry with the car and the boy yesterday and found the old man's body when he returned the car, Johnson said.

Erbush said the boy's statement gave this account of the attack:

Bentley went out to get some water. When he returned, the boy hit him with a hammer. Bentley fell and got up to struggle with him. He got the hammer away from the boy and the two of them tussled until the boy picked up a wrecking bar and hit him on the head.

Fox, a slender boy who would be in the ninth grade this fall, played the drums in the school band.

Say Murderers Cause Least Trouble in Prison

Jack Heard, assistant general manager of the Texas prison system, said in a speech that most men sent to prison on murder convictions have no previous record and give less trouble than inmates convicted of petty crimes.

"We've had (some) boys sent up for something like stealing a cow and they're almost impossible to handle," he said.

Skelton, Family End Four-Day Tour of Paris

PARIS (INS)—Red Skelton and his family ended their four-day sightseeing tour of Paris and flew to London today.

Skelton explained that he had canceled plans for a visit to the shrine at Lourdes because his leukemia-stricken son, Richard, cannot stand long automobile drives.

Orchard Lake's New Mail Route Will Start Soon

ORCHARD LAKE — A new mail route from Orchard Lake post office has been announced by postmaster Jean Wahlberg. This has been necessary because of the addition of the Tripp subdivision and territory on the east side of Maple road to the Orchard Lake branch.

★ ★ ★

The route will be known as route No. 3, and will go into effect August 24. Mrs. Mark Hawkes, who has been substitute carrier on route No. 2, has received a temporary appointment and will service the new route. Mrs. Bessie Stephens will continue to service route No. 2 and Grammer L. Mann route No. 1. Patrons will be notified of any change in routes.

Michigan GOP Closes Ranks

New Accord Between Summerfield, Martin Heals Party Split

WASHINGTON (AP) — High-ranking Michigan Republicans are making all the motions of closing ranks and erasing factional lines.

One old quarrel among Michigan Republicans appeared settled today by the remarks of Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield and John B. Martin Jr., Michigan's new Republican national committeeman.

"I think the party needs Summerfield's help, assistance and advice," said Martin after a 30-minute meeting with Summerfield yesterday.

"The party as to stop factional politics in order to reverse the trend that has been so disasterous to Michigan," said Summerfield.

Summerfield reportedly blocked Martin's appointment as assistant secretary of the Navy.

"I told him I consider it a closed matter," said Martin.

Summerfield said he had not blocked Martin's appointment.

Aside from meeting with Summerfield yesterday, he attended the bi-monthly breakfast meeting of Michigan's Republican congressmen, met with Vice President Nixon, and talked with Republican National Chairman Meade Alcorn.

He was scheduled to meet today with Sherman Adams, President Eisenhower's chief aide, and then embark on a series of individual talks with Michigan's Republican congressmen.

Kavanagh to Confer in Mackie Dispute

LANSING (AP)—Atty. Gen. Thomas M. Kavanagh today said he has agreed to confer with spokesmen for the Michigan Society of Professional Engineers about their charge that John C. Mackie, state highway commissioner, is not legally entitled to hold office.

The engineers contend that because Mackie, successful Democratic candidate for the office in April, is not a registered engineer he is not qualified for the post under Michigan law.

Kavanagh had ruled that Mackie as a graduate engineer filled the statutory requirements for the job.

Kavanagh wrote Robert E. Childs of Detroit, attorney for the society asking Childs to set a date for a meeting in Lansing.

Kavanagh had refused to join with the society in "quo warranto"—by what right—proceedings to test Mackie's right to hold office.

The attorney general said he had not changed his mind about joining in a suit but added that a letter from Childs mentioned "an amended plea" for the suit.

"Maybe they have some new angles," Kavanagh said. "So I agreed to sit down and talk the thing over with them."

Dearborn Begins Work

DEARBORN (INS) — Mayor Orville Hubbard said today work on Dearborn's new quarter of a million dollar fire station will begin next week.

Hubbard said the ultra-modern, one-story building will be air-conditioned, have living quarters and enclosed patio and recreation area. It will be built at Haggerty and Schaefer.

Graham Crusade 'Decisions' Top 40,000 Mark

NEW YORK (AP)—"Decisions for Christ" during evangelist Billy Graham's New York crusade climbed past the 40,000 mark last night, his staff reported.

At Graham's behest, 409 persons stepped up to make "decisions" at the crusade meeting in Madison Square Garden. That brought the total to 40,046 since the start of the crusade May 15.

Seventeen thousand persons heard the evangelist last night. That raised total attendance for the crusade to 1,312,000.

In his sermon, Graham said there are many passages in the Bible pointing to a life after death. He took as his text II Kings 20:1—"Set thy house in order for thou shalt die and not live."

The evangelist said: "At the end of the life of every man and woman recorded in history there comes the phrase, 'He died.' God has an appointment made between you and death. Death is an enemy which must be faced with reality. . . .

★ ☆ ★

"The atheist says there is no hope beyond the grave, but Jesus Christ is the one supreme authority on the subject, for he alone of all history died and rose again from the dead. In his own words Jesus claimed 'I am the resurrection and the life. He that liveth die.' . . ."

Begin to Survey State's Tax Climate

LANSING (AP) — Senate investigators set out today to survey Michigan's industrial tax climate amid charges by Gov. Williams that their efforts are likely to bring little more than "political smear tactics."

Supervising the study is a Senate interim committee headed by Sen. Clyde H. Geerlings (R-Holland) and equipped with a $20,000 appropriation.

Meeting yesterday, the group appointed Dr. Dwight B. Yntema, head of the economics department at Hope College, to coordinate preparation of a questionnaire by an "advisory committee" of some 40 to 50 businessmen and industrialists.

The questionnaire, Geerlings said, would be sent to between 1,000 and 2,000 industrialists in Michigan and seven other states in an effort to make "a true comparison of Michigan business taxes with those of other states."

Membership in the advisory committee, Geerlings said, would be drawn from among citizens who have written to him in recent months to express concern over Michigan's industrial tax problems.

Man Seriously Burned

WHITMORE LAKE (INS) — A Whitmore Lake man was in serious condition with third degree burns over 50 per cent of his body today after his 18-foot inboard motor boat exploded and burned.

Dennis Binder, 55, was rushed to St. Joseph Hospital, Ann Arbor, after the accident. Three of the four children he was preparing to take for a ride were treated for burns by a physician then released.

State police said the craft burst into flames yesterday when fumes exploded while Binder was starting the motor.

Fire Costs Arsonists Equivalent of 30 Cents

TAIPEI (AP)—Police today said an arsonist was paid the equivalent of 30 American cents for setting a fire that destroyed $127,000 worth of bagasse.

The pressed sugar cane pulp was stockpiled at Hsyinying, in southern Formosa, and belonged to the Taiwan Pulp and Paper Corp.

Police said Lu sui-Hsu, 23, told them his uncle, Li wan-Shen, had paid him 10 Formosa dollars to fire the pile. The uncle wanted revenge, because the company fired him for inefficiency last May.

Fleet Admiral Halsey Reported Improving

A spokesman for the 74-year-old retired admiral's physicians said yesterday he was "quite improved" and should be out of the hospital in a few days.

The spokesman said the World War II naval hero might have suffered a "cerebral spasm," a reversible and probably temporary condition, rather than a cerebral hemorrhage as reported earlier by the Navy.

Detroit Council Bans Sale of Furs on Sunday

DETROIT (INS) — Detroit's Common Council, which last week adopted an ordinance prohibiting jewelry sales on Sunday, has voted for a similar ban on Sunday fur sales.

Junior Editors Quiz on STONE GIANTS

QUESTION: Where are these strange statues located?

ANSWER: They're to be found on Easter Island, a dot of land lying 2,200 miles west of Chile, and belonging to that South American nation.

The 45-square mile island was discovered on Easter day, 1772 by the Dutch Admiral Roggereen. On it was a small tribe of Polynesian natives — and many strange stone images that the natives knew nothing about.

There were more than 600 of these statues, hewn from volcanic stone, 12 to 33 feet high and facing the sea. Weighing from three to 30 tons, they had been moved to great stone platforms by the sea from quarries as much as 10 miles away. There is picture writing on some of these platforms but it has not been deciphered, so they give no clue to the unknown people who carved them centuries ago—or why they did it.

★ ★ ★

They Want to Look Alike, but Only Generally

Women Can't Take Duplicate Dress

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — With the possible exception of chameleons, which change color at the drop of a leaf, and oysters, which change sex according to convenience, there is nothing more baffling than a woman. Especially in matters of fashion.

★ ★ ★

They follow the "herd instinct"—most women do— because it is accepted female human nature to follow the leader and play it safe.

Thus, in a year when ladies are supposed to wear black, pad their hips and expose their legs to precisely one inch below the knob of the kneecap, this will ladies do obediently.

However, women are beset with another universal and apparently inherent urge which runs in direct opposition to the herd instinct.

★ ★ ★

This urge, which might be called the "anti-twin twinge," is the reason why a lady leaves a room in mortification when she discovers another member of the herd wearing a dress which is exactly like hers.

BUT NOT EXACTLY

The unreasonable attitude is similar to that of Mrs. Jones, whose son Johnny is starting school with the neighbor's son Billy. Billy got all A's last year. So Mrs. Jones' advice to Johnny is, "Now you do just like Billy does, except better."

Psychiatrists, fashion experts and an occasional misguided man have tried for years to discover why it is that virtually every female in the civilized world has this psychopathic phobia.

It has been observed, by those who've made an avocation of this study, that the "same-dress dilemma" affects various women in various ways, to wit:

The more costly the garments, the more infuriated the ladies.

The plumper of the two women wearing the same dress is usually the one to depart the scene first.

★ ★ ★

A floor-length gown in duplicate causes tantrums; a short dress in duplicate merely dismay and disgust.

HUBBIES, SHUT UP

So kindly should everybody else.

The affliction strikes poor and rich, stupid and smart alike. Only difference is the smart women, because they think more, suffer more.

Since it is not possible these days for designers of even the most high-priced dress lines to make a one-of-a-kind dress without its being copied to the last shirr, almost every woman at one time or another faces this eternal misery. Regardless of her poise and position, she can't seem to take it.

Last week, in St. Joseph, Mo., for example, an attorney requested continuance of her client's case when she walked into the courtroom and discovered the judge was wearing "her" dress.

The magistrate complied immediately, and went home to change.

In the centuries that this has been going on, only one woman is believed to have taken the tragedy in stride. She is the lady who showed up at a party in Washington wearing the same dress Mamie Eisenhower was sporting. She is rumored to have been secretly pleased.

Michigan Bell Pays Out Biggest School Amount

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan Bell Telephone Co. has turned over to the state what it said was the largest single payment ever made to the primary school fund—some five and a half million dollars.

The payment represented the company's state taxes for the first half of the year, paid in lieu of local property taxes. A company spokesman said the tax for the year will exceed 11 million dollars for the first time, an increase of more than $1,250,000 over 1956.

Michigan Bell is the largest single contributor to the school fund, which also is supported by taxes from railroads and other public utilities.

Red Germans Reject Reunification Bid

BERLIN (AP) — Communist-run East Germany yesterday rejected the West's latest call for German reunification.

Neues Deutschland, official newspaper of the ruling Communist party, said the declaration yesterday by the United States, Britain, France and West Germany was merely an effort to deepen the split of Germany and prevent global disarmament.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

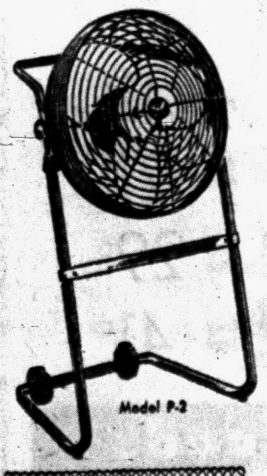

The newspaper also said free elections throughout Germany — again laid down by the West as a prerequisite to unification—are impossible in West Germany. The paper said the West German government has become too "militaristic" to ever permit free elections on its soil.

West Germany's Socialist newspapers also took a dim view of the Allied declaration but other West German and West Berlin papers reacted favorably.

Bob Considine Says:

Hurricane Needed Mother in Ring

NEW YORK (INS) — Aside from showing up, the worst break Hurricane Jackson got at the Polo Grounds the other night, when he challenged Floyd Patterson for the heavyweight title, came when a member of the Gestapo of the New York State Athletic Commission refused to let Hurricane's mother go in the ring with him.

The fine-looking woman followed Tommy up the aisle to the seven cherry-colored steps that led from the green of the made-over ballyard to the elevated ring in which there was to be a contest involving a successor, perhaps, to a treasured throne occupied in the past by the likes of Sullivan, Corbett, Fitz, Jeffreys, Johnson, Willard, Dempsey, Tunney, Louis, Marciano, etc.

"You can't go in the ring," the man thundered, putting a hand against the smiling mother's shoulder. She could have flattened him with one swipe but was too much of a lady. "I see," she murmured and took a discreet ringside seat.

Her boy could have used her, as it turned out. If all Hurricanes were as harmless as Hurricane Jackson, very little disaster insurance would be sold.

★ ★ ★

The boy is as bad a fighter as ever competed for this treasured title. He might have had trouble finding a job as a sparring partner for Johnny Paycheck. His presence in the title ring proves that we may be overdoing this caper about ours being a land of golden opportunity

SHOWED NO TALENT

Jackson didn't win a round, didn't land a punch that mattered, didn't show a smidgeon of talent. We think of some of the heavyweights of the past who didn't make it, much less the ones who did, and are forced to conclude that the fist-fighting business must be at its lowest ebb in history.

★ ★ ★

Some champs who are seldom mentioned among the great ones — Schmeling, Sharkey, Braddock, Walcott — would have slaughtered Jackson Monday night. Some who didn't make it, like Farr, Galento and Nova would have eaten him.

Patterson was kind enough simply to stop him. The decision, a wise enough one, was made by Ruby Goldstein at 1:52 of the 10th round. It might have been made the day they signed the papers. It came as a surprise to one and all when the ref jumped in and declared what Jackson would not — that he had had enough.

Among the mysteries in the wake of the fight, which included the number of people in attendance and the amount of money taken in, related to which man in the ring had really had enough, Jackson or Goldstein.

★ ★ ★

From the looks of things, it appeared that it wasn't Jackson. He uttered muffled protests through his mashed face, which by then resembled a plate of raw hamburger with Elvis Presley's sideburns.

NEEDLESS INVITATION

Several times during the fight, when he was making about as much progress as flotsam and jetsam floating from New Orleans to St. Louis, he grumbled, "Come on and fight, y' bum."

Patterson, a man of extraordinary good hearing, obliged. But the point is that he had been obliging before the invitation, too.

The bout had overtones. If Jackson had won, control of the heavyweight division would have reverted to Jim Norris. Now a man named Cus D'Amato, who owns Patterson's nose ring, is undisputed Svengali of the division, and Norris must be content with the leavings — which happen to be better.

This is no plea for monopoly, which is what Norris was found guilty of, but most of those in the press rows pined for the bad old days under Norris, during and after the Patterson-Jackson fight.

The new cartel seemed extremely reluctant to reveal the number of people and the dough involved, and then permitted a mob of hoodlums to plop down in seats next to working stiffs and bellow through the fight, sending the crowd home. Or was it the Patterson-Jackson fight that sent them home?

Waterford Man Given Sentence for Larceny

Douglas Tryon, 6143 Monrovia, of Waterford Township, was sentenced to from one and a half to four years in the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson on charge of larceny in a building. Tryon, accused of taking 10 gallons of milk from a milkhouse at 6680 Grass Lake Rd., was sentenced by Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams.

His partner, William Mack, 9260 Gale Rd., was put on two years probation and ordered to pay $150 costs.

A survey among U. S. steelworkers reveals that only 16 per cent of those married have the final say on spending the paycheck.

French Austerity Program Begins

PARIS (AP)—France's new austerity program, designed to save the franc from collapse and the government from bankruptcy, went into effect yesterday with publication of new tax schedules in the Official Journal.

The sales tax was boosted to 25 per cent from the previous 19 per cent on luxury items such as motor cars, scooters, jewelry, art objects, cameras, radios, refrigerators, household appliances, sports equipment, gloves and suitcases, china and glassware, watches, carpets, mirrors, smokers' articles, and alcoholic beverages.

The government was evidently resigned to seeing the index go beyond the point of 149.1 which, under the sliding wage law of 1952 will mean an automatic increase in the nation's basic minimum wage.

One decree carried by the Official Journal eliminated the subsidy to the gas company, a decision which will mean an increase of 20 per cent in gas rates in Paris, and 10 per cent elsewhere in the country.

President Grover Cleveland's favorite fishing grounds were off Buzzard's Bay, Mass., and in the lakes of New Hampshire.

Hal Boyle Says:

'Gray Flannelisms' Sweep Industry

For that matter do circus performers, soda jerks, college professors, psychiatrists, and men who rise early in the morning to open up banks with a gun.

Some individuals even—such as Sam Goldwyn—develop a private lingo that becomes a public joy.

But right now greatest interest centers in two new weird and wonderful languages—one spoken by the teen-ager, the other by the man in the gray flannel suit.

This second language—now known as "businessman's bebop"—originated in the ivory tower of advertising and has spread throughout all industry with the speed of chickenpox in a kindergarten.

Edward M. Meyers, a merchandising and sales promotion expert, has collected a number of these "gray flannelisms" overheard in conferences in many executives suites.

"What this idea needs is more of an idea."

"Let's stick antlers on it and see if it scratches."

"As long as the boss doesn't have to do it nothing is impossible."

"Let's get down to where the rubber meets the road."

★ ★ ★

"It needs a transfusion and the account executive isn't our blood type."

"I don't know about the rest of you, but I'm ready to pitch a tent and dig for worms."

"Let's drive it into the parking lot and see if we dent any fenders."

★ ★ ★

"Let's put on pith helmets and try running it around in the sun."

"That's the way the banana peels and the mop flops."

"Let's ignore it before we think about it."

"Let's try it with an accent and see if it's subversive."

"At this stage we're chopping wood—not burning it."

"Let's give it a name and see if someone will adopt it."

"Let's wash it and see if it shrinks."

"He's not interested in winners—he just wants to know if it can make the stable."

"Let's take it up the stairs and see if it wheezes."

"Let's not X-ray it. We might see it too clearly."

"The drawbridge might be up—but you can still jump the moat."

"Let's anchor if in deep water and see if it develops any leaks."

"Let's not bake any beans. I've got to catch the 5:27."

"Let's put it in a cage and see if it sings."

"I see feathers on it—but it's not flying yet."

"Let's hang on to the tail. You can never tell where it will wag us."

Let's!

Committee OKs 2 New States

Quick Action Unlikely on Bills to Admit Alaska, Hawaii to Union

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Senate Interior Committee yesterday approved bills to admit Alaska and the Hawaiian Islands as the 49th and 50th states of the Union.

voice vote without dissent but Sen. Gordon Allott (R-Colo.), said he had "reservations" about the admission of Hawaii and would reserve the right to object when the bill comes up in the Senate.

Senate action on the bills this year is considered doubtful. The House Interior Committee has approved Alaskan statehood butu has not yet acted on the Hawaiian legislation.

Unlike previous legislation, the Senate bills wouuld provide for entry of the territories into the Union without further action by Congress in approving their constitutuions.

LAND FOR FEDERAL USE

The Alaska bill would set aside some 103,550,000 acres of federal land for use of the prospective state government.

In addition, it would authorize the President to withdraw portions of the vast northern and western areas for exclusive federal jurisdiction if needed for defense puruposes.

Allott, in voicing doubts about the wisdom of admitting Hawaii at this time, said he is concerned bout "the Communist influences among the dock workers."

He said that Harry Bridges' International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union can "throttle" the economy of the islands.

On Oct. 27, 1909, Mrs. Ralph H. VanDeman made a four-minute flight at College Park, Md. She was the first woman to fly as a passenger in an airplane. Wilbur Wright was her pilot.

Hollywood Headlines

Lauren Bacall Will Star in Movie With Franciosa

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — I have lost too many good stories by keeping them quiet, and this I happen to know is true. When Lauren Bacall returns from New York she'll put her name on a contract for the femme starring role in "Our Love," a remake of "Sentimental Journey."

The only thing holding her back is she wants to be sure she has the right actor to play opposite her, and she certainly has him in Anthony Franciosa. He flew in from New York to have lunch with Charles Brackett and Lew Schreiber and to discuss the property.

Franciosa, who has been in New York with Shelley Winters, says he is not going to lose his temper again. I'd call Bacall and Franciosa pretty good casting, and additional evidence that Buddy Adler, production head of 20th Century-Fox, is a pretty smart showman.

Brilliant young Peter Glenville, the British producer who dropped into town unexpectedly, was at Dolly O'Brien's party Friday night. He told me that he has been talking to Harry Cohn about "Jacobosky and the Colonel."

With a little more investigating I found out that this will be William Goetz' next for Columbia. After all the good things said about "Sayonara" for Warners, Goetz is riding high! Danny Kaye is being sought for the "Jacobowsky" epic.

A BIG QUESTION

The million dollar question is how can the novel "Well of Loneliness" be adapted to the screen. Anyone who read this book knows What it is about. Al Zimbalist has bought it after a year's negotiations from the estate of the books. author, Radcliffe Hall.

He believes he can clean it up, but how can he and have any story left?

Zimbalist is on the Allied Artists lot now producing "Baby Face Nelson" with Mickey Rooney and Carolyn Jones. He would like to get Carolyn for one of the top roles in "Well of Loneliness," and he is asking for John Lee Hahin to adapt the book.

Before I was awake Sunday morning, Marie McDonald telephoned me from New York to say she was happier than she had ever been in her life, because she had reconciled with Harry Karl.

"I've got the world on a strong," she said. "More nightclub engagements than I ever expected to have, and I'm going to be on Steve Allen's show on Sunday, and will open in Florida. Life is just wonderful."

I asked her, "How did you happen to change your mind about Karl?"

1923 'Junk' Car Soars in Value After News Story

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A 1923 touring car, which sold last week for only $30, has made a 69-year-old woman $155 richer.

★ ★ ★

The woman, who prefers to remain nameless, sold the car to a junk dealer for $30. But when her story was carried in the newspapers and by The Associated Press, the value of the car soared.

The car was left in her garage in 1930 by her husband, who disappeared and has not been heard from since.

The wreck dealer later said he would give the woman all over $100 he got from resale of the car. Yesterday, he sold it to Charles Caplin of Hartford, Conn., for $225. Caplin read of the story in his local newspaper.

Kiwanis Hears Dr. E. B. Elliott

College President Tells of Vital Need to Expand State Schools

Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, president of Eastern Michigan College, yesterday told the weekly meeting of the Pontiac Kiwanis Club that higher education will be forced to hang out a "no vacancy" sign to prospective students by 1970 if present trends continue.

Citing population and birth rate figures and the educational financial situation, Dr. Elliott said the state is not keeping up with the growing demands on its educational system.

To keep up with the growing attendance in public schools, the state would have to build a 10-room building and hire 10 new teachers every school day, he stated.

Noting that Michigan State University has announced it may be forced to turn away students this fall, Dr. Elliott said Eastern Michigan did so last year and, in all probability, will do so again this year.

Born and raised in Pontiac, Dr. Elliott received his schooling here before receiving degrees from MSU and the University of Michigan.

He served as superintendent of public instruction for 13 years before taking over as president of Eastern Michigan.

Plastic Shuttle Durable

HOPEDALE, Mass.—A molded-plastic shuttle for the textile industry has been developed by a Hopedale firm. It is made of special phenolic laminated and macerated material. According to the Maker, it lasts 2½ to four times as long as the wooden shuttle now in use.

Labor Shortage Threat to Bean, Pickle Crops

MT. PLEASANT (AP) — The lateness of the cherry crop in northern counties has posed a serious threat to bean and pickle growers in the Isabella County area.

With the bean and pickle crop ready to harvest, a serious labor shortage has developed because many farm workers are still picking cherries further north.

Farmers have issued an emergency call for all available help from persons who normally do not take part in the harvest.

B. C. Mellencamp, Isabella County agricultural agent, said the labor shortage is a far more serious threat to the agricultural economy than the earlier invasion of army worms and the extremely wet spring.

New York Boy, 15, Killed in Gang Attack

NEW YORK (AP) — A city fireman's 15-year-old son was stabbed fatally and a companion suffered critical knife wounds in an upper Manhattan park last night.

The slain youth was quoted by police as saying just before he died in a hospital that a "bunch" of Negroes stabbed the two boys.

Police said they had a report of a fight near the pool about a week ago, during which a white boy was said to have punched a Negro.

Police said they were investigating the possibility that the stabbings resulted from rivalry over after-closing-hours use of the pool.

Money Is Now at $1,900 Level for Pot-O-Gold

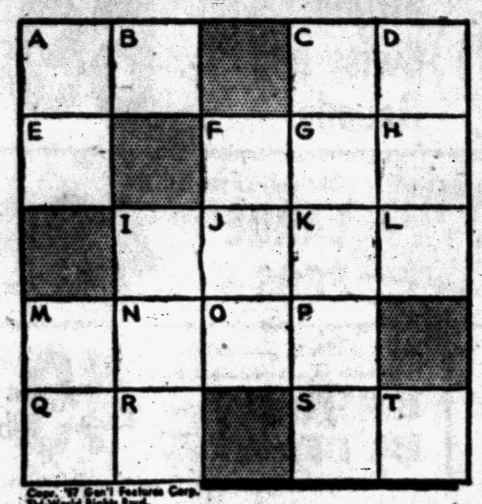

Another week without a winner means another $100 is dropped into Pot-O-Gold. This brings the total to $1,900 unless a winner is found in last week's entries. Better not waste a minute in getting your solution started—it would be very disappointing to miss out on all that money because you waited too long.

The new puzzle contains a series of squares which are alphabetically lettered and a corresponding list of sentences with two clue words. Each of the words is numbered. The object is to select the word which you think best fits the clue sentence. You then place the number of that word in the square which has the same letter as the clue sentence.

In other words, you will read the clue labeled A and decide which of the two words makes the most sense in the sentence. You then write the number of that word in the puzzle square marked A.

Soviets Get U. S. Aid on Cancer Research

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission disclosed today it has approved a first shipment of radioactive isotopes to Russia for use in cancer research.

In its 21st semiannual report to Congress detailing advances it said were made "in all major programs" for both military and peaceful uses of atomic energy, the AEC included this paragraph:

"The first application for a license to export radioactive isotopes to Soviet Russia was received and approved. It covered a small amount of (radioactive) carbon-14 which will be used for cancer research at the Bio-Chemical Institute of the Academy of Science, Moscow."

A commission spokesman told a reporter the license to export the material to the Russians had been obtained from the AEC by the Chemesco Corp. of New York City, one of the American firms that processes isotopes originally obtained from the AEC.

While the sections of the report dealing with weapons stressed armaments for "defense," the AEC made it clear it also is continuing to stockpile weapons that could be used in offense.

"During the period of this report emphasis continued on research and development activities designed to improve and increase the United States arsenal of nuclear weapons," it said.

Presumably the "new design principles" have to do with ways and means of (1) building H-bombs, as well as A-bombs, in smaller packages for deliverability by medium-sized bombers; (2) fabricating relatively small but high-wallop nuclear warheads for antiaircraft missiles and artillery shells, and perhaps even for rockets designed to destroy enemy submarines from the air.

★ ★ ★

Conceivably, some such design was employed in the air-to-air atomic rocket recently tested at the Nevada Proving Grounds, and described by officials as capable of blasting a whole fleet of enemy planes out of the skies.

The report said the current tests in Nevada were designed, among other things, to lead to the "development of weapons with minimum fallout"—presumably meaning bombs with reduced radioactivity for a given explosive yield.

At no point did the report refer to the recent statement by AEC Chairman Lewis Strauss and several scientists that the United States already knows how to produce H-bombs more than 95 per cent free of fallout compared with earliest models. Several scientists also have told President Eisenhower a completely "clean" H-bomb could be produced in four or five years, given continued research and testing.

Among other highlights of the semiannual report:

1. The United States "reached the position where a 10-year uranium supply is in sight, that is, the supply from sources under contracts and from estimated increased domestic production will provide for the military and civil power development programs as projected for the next 10 years, and for the United States international commitments."

2. The nation "made progress during the last six months in all principal aspects of the effort to achieve economic nuclear power," although estimated construction costs for power reactors have increased.

3. The quest for nuclear-powered aircraft reached the point where "construction of test and service facilities began" for the aircraft reactor program.

4. The AEC also "continued studies relating to the application of nuclear power to rocket and ramjet engines."

5. Radioactive isotopes "were contributing to the economy by an annual saving of some 400 million dollars in industrial uses alone."

37-Word Address Helps Tourist Find Lost Purse

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—It was a long shot but 10-year-old Jill Land got her purse back, after losing it while on a recent trip through the Eastern states.

Acting on a hunch that the purse was left in a Woodsville, N.H. restaurant, Mrs. G. D. Land, Jill's mother, decided to write the proprietor.

She did not know the name of the restaurant so she addressed the envelope: "To a restaurant on Highway 112 that sells swirl ice cream and which is across the street from a motel that has a painting of the Great Stone Face on the side of the building, Woodsville, N.H."

★ ★ ★

"Hold on, fellows, here we go!" That's what Dick Dorris (left) of Silverside drive and Gary Petty of Montroyal avenue called to our photographer and reporter just as the two water-skiers approached the Silver Lake ski jump.

Eddie Adler has good reason to feel gloomy. He built the ski jump — had a few turns around the lake — then his motor stopped. When these pictures were taken he was still waiting for the repaired motor.

Lake Residents Thrilled by Water Skiers' Stunts

By JUDITH L. CLEMENCE
Women's Editor, Pontiac Press

Things have been happening out at Silver Lake. It used to be that the only activity was fishing, and lake dwellers would watch an occasional motorboat whizzing by.

But that's all changed now. It came about when Eddie Adler of Silverhill road built a ski ramp. Then water skiers, along with Eddie, came to test their ability. Residents held their breath as time after time the ski jumpers failed to make their goal.

Gary Petty and Dick Dorris are two well-coordinated water skiers who prove what good timing and natural ability can do. They attempted to make the jump 10 days ago and were successful on the first try (neither had ever jumped before, although they have been proficient water skiers for some time).

When the jumping became "simple," they decided to jump in doubles. With that perfected, the boys began hitting the water on one foot.

Having lived on the lake most of their lives, Gary and Dick are aware of the importance in following safety rules. As Gary said, "You use common sense."

When swimmers are about in the area, water skiers stay away. And they clear with other ski jumpers, making sure all boats are out of the field of activity.

We learned that the driver of the boat plays an important part, too. Keeping his eye on the skier, he drives the boat about 25 feet to the side of the ramp. Duane Presson was the skilled driver on the day The Press watched the excitement.

Besides water skiing, Gary and Dick are hunting enthusiasts, and we understand that they are excellent hockey players.

Dick is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dorris of Silverside drive, and Gary's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Grant of Montroyal avenue.

And they made it! Of course, Dick Dorris (nearest camera) and Gary Petty hardly ever make a bad jump. Their hours of practice have made them proficient skiers as well as jumpers.

Skiing on one foot isn't any trouble at all for Gary and Dick. The photographer who was riding just ahead in the boat wasn't worried about getting wet either.

Fall Colors Hit Peak in Wear for Late Day

★ ★ ★

Uneven hemlines, too, via draping, panels, trains or rippling, all the more focus attention on the legs. Stockings must blend in with the total color picture and not stand out discordantly in pale nothingness. Sheer nylons in fabulous tints of precious gem colors, such as ruby, sapphire, emerald, amythest, garnet and topaz will carry through the dramatic costume colors to the legs.

Bride-to-Be Entertained at Shower

Kathryn Kramp, bride-elect of Thomas J. Schmidt of Pittsburgh, Pa., was honored at a crystal shower given by Mrs. Ernest Wilcox and Mrs. B. B. Roush at Mrs. Roush's home on West Iroquois road Tuesday evening. Mrs. Roush's mother, Mrs. Nettie Hymers, presided at the serving table.

★ ★ ★

Guests included Mrs. L. C. Kramp, mother of the bride; Mrs. T. P. Robertson, Mrs. Kenneth Uhan, Mrs. Harold Anscomb, Mrs. Elton Platts, Mrs. Grant Graham, Mrs. T. R. Price, Mrs. Charles Janter and Carol Messer.

Also attending were Mrs. Lee Kremer, Mrs. Donald Robertson, Mrs. A. T. Messer, Mrs. Michael Kerensky, Mrs. Corliss Armstrong, Mary Lou Kramp and Janet Zatik.

Kathryn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Kramp of Auburn road. Thomas, son of Mrs. Peter Schmidt of Pittsburgh and the late Mr. Schmidt, will wed Kathryn on Aug. 17 in First Congregational Church.

Somebody has to do the driving, so Duane Presson of Omira drive said he'd take the helm, even though he's an expert skier, too. Assisting him is Linda Dorris of Silverside drive.

Rep. Pfost Prepares to Rough It

Idaho Woman Dem All Set for Rodeos, Log Rolling

By JAN EEADS

WASHINGTON—Rep. Gracie Pfost D-Idaho) will be riding and walking all over her vast district, making speeches and shaking hands, riding in rodeos and competing in log-rolling contests, when Congress adjourns.

★ ★ ★

The colorful, auburn-haired congresswoman, known to her colleagues as "Hell's Belle" for her sponsorship in the House of Representatives of the Hell's Canyon Dam construction bill, isn't one to sit back and relax.

READY FOR ANYTHING

With her husband, Jack, she'll be of fin her new automobile equipped for whatever contingency arises, whether it be pitching a tent for the night in a ghost mining town in the mountains, twirling a log in a burling contest, or sharing a bit of her precious sourdough with a lumberjack's family nestled in some lonely spot off the beaten track.

"She never knows when she'll be riding in a rodeo, so she takes along her boots and riding pants and usually an orange silk shirt. She knows she couldn't be elected out there if she couldn't ride."

BURLING EQUIPMENT

The congresswoman also totes along jeans and sturdy, rubber-soled shoes just in case she's challenged to a burling contest.

★ ★ ★

In a burling contest, one contestant stands one way, another the other, each twirling the log with his feet, trying to out-balance each other.

Gracie and Schwiefert both fell off the same time into the icy cold water. The burling judges considered it a draw. The loggers loved it.

"Of course, this was all in the interest of good, clean fun," the office secretary said, "but Gracie won the election just the same."

Why Grow Old

TV Actress Gives Beauty Tips

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Murial Williams, who always looks beautiful and beautifully groomed when on a TV screen or off of it, gave me some hints about how she manages this in hot weather. As you probably know Miss Williams is starred in the CBS-TV serial "Brighter Day."

As to mental attitude Murial said, "Don't fight the heat. Accept it and concentrate on minimizing its effects. Resentment of weather is the most futile of all human pastimes and requires emotional energy which is heating.

"Forbid yourself to think or talk about the heat. Direct your thinking energy to the day's tasks, not its temperatures and your conversation to pleasant topics, not points of the thermometer. Remind yourself that the world without summer would be bleak."

As to physical attitudes she said, "Take it easy. Move slowly. It is worth getting up earlier in the morning or leaving ahead of time for appointments in order to take life leisurely. You'll get dividends on the time investment by having your clothes go on without sticking and your makeup without caking. Hurry does make one hot."

1. Bathe and change your clothes before supper.

2. Whatever can be said of hot meals in hot weather (and considerable can) they're not worth it at the cost of the kitchen heating up you and the rest of the house.

3. If your dining room has the afternoon sun have your meal in some other room that is cooler at supper time.

4. If you are hungry eat to satisfy your hunger. If you are not do not force yourself. The heat spell will end before you succumb to malnutrition.

5. Avoid rich foods high in calorie count. They're heating.

6. Avoid complicated dishes. They put a strain on your digestion which may have been as much of the physical you.

There are a lot of good ideas deranged by the heat as the rest here. You can be well nourished and still eat much of your summer food cold rather than hot. You can eat cold sliced meat or fowl or have seafood salads. You can also take many of your vegetables in salads.

Hot drinks are ultimately body cooling but they cause instant perspiration. Therefore, Murial suggests that if you want to look cool and lovely you should take your hot drinks in air-conditioning or on a cool day and console yourself with cold drinks on a scorcher.

Gingersnaps Are Coated With Sugar

Marty Dodge Rolls Dough Into Balls Before Baking

By JANET ODELL

Keeping the cookie jar full in the summer time is essential; youngsters have to have something to nibble on with cool fruit drinks. Gingersnaps are a good choice; most children love them.

Again we have a young cook. Marty Dodge is nine years old and has been cooking about a year. Her other domestic accomplishments are sewing and gardening. In addition, she plays the piano and likes to collect grasshoppers!

GINGERSNAPS
By Marty Dodge

¾ cup shortening
1 cup sugar
¼ cup light molasses
1 egg
2 cups sifted flour
¼ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons soda
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon cloves
1 teaspoon ginger

Cream shortening and sugar; add molasses and egg; beat well. Add sifted dry ingredients; mix well. Roll in small balls. Dip into sugar. Place two inches apart on greased cookie sheet. Bake in 375-degree oven for 15 minutes. Makes 4 dozen.

Don't Get Caught With Dirty Lights

Lighting fixtures and bulbs may embarrass an otherwise neat housewife. They should be cleaned occasionally, too.

Wipe lighting fixtures and bulb with a sponge saturated with soap or detergent. Rinse with a clean, damp cloth. The light should be turned off during this operation.

Buy These in 3's

Buying one pair of stockings at a time is false economy. Always buy three pairs so that when one pops a run, you've the others to match up.

Son Must Resist Mother's Misery

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

The mother has always loved misery. When, as adolescents, her children went out to enjoy themselves, they'd come home to find her reproachfully laboring over their next week's wash.

★ ★ ★

Now they're married and she uses her widowhood to reproach them, refusing visits and holidays. Her son's wife writes, "She's got my husband sick over her attitude. He wants to know how a Christian should deal with it."

To this son, I think Jesus might say, "Your joy no man taketh from you. Cast the beam out of your own eye."

The beam is his fear of his right to enjoy himself. It's the same obstruction that darkens his mother's vision. When he's cast his out, it will be time to start dealing with hers.

Right now his problem is not relieving his mother of misery. It is getting rid of his own helpless response to her misery. He hopes that she'll change herself—and spare him the arduous, grownup task of learning to resist her power to depress him.

It's a childish hope. For this son, I think there is no avoidance of the resisting struggle.

The problem of the self-persecutor's child is always fear of enjoying himself. Until he faces it, his pleasures are constantly haunted by thoughts like these:

"What right have I to this summer holiday when poor mother isn't enjoying it too? How selfish I am to be entertaining these friends to dinner when poor mother is eating dinner alone!"

He imagines that it's mother's pitiful state that is reproaching him. It isn't. The reproach comes straight from his own crippled conscience.

Long ago mother shaped it to echo her reproach so that no matter how far away he went from her, it could continue to keep him as miserable as she is.

That is what Jesus knew.

We cannot help her without compassion. To feel it for her, we must first wrestle with our own fear of joy—or its grip no her will arouse our hate instead of our understanding.

Until we can appreciate what her envy has tried to do to our life, we can experience no compassion for what another parent's envy has done to her life.

The Christian assignment has never been an easy one.

The full overblouse is made for the thin girl and makes skirts seem shorter, which is good on talls. Tuck-in blouses are better for suits.

Use Color Scheme

Skirts, while they have not been shortened noticeably, appear shorter because of the longer jacket line and overblouse. This is good for tall girls but short overblouses are more numerous in suits made by costume designers.

There are short-cuts and tricks in every trade. Fashion advisers agree that the first step is to settle on a color scheme; building your holiday wardrobe around two or three colors. Immediately, you save space and weight by cutting down on the required number of bulky and heavy accessories such as shoes and handbags.

Should Girl Ask Beau Into House?

She Will Be Alone While Parents Are Vacationing

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: My parents expect to take a trip shortly. They will be gone for several weeks. As I am working, I will not be able to go with them and will be home alone.

"I have a boy friend whom I will undoubtedly see while they are away. My mother thinks that I should not have him come into the house in their absence—even when he comes to call for me to go out for the evening.

"She's so afraid the neighbors will gossip if they see him come into the house, knowing that I am alone. I can't agree with her about this, but I told her I would promise to comply with her wish if you thought it could cause criticism."

Answer: You may not ask the young man to spend an evening at your parent's home while they are away. But there will be no criticism if you ask him in for a few minutes when he calls to take you out.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When serving dishes, to be handed from one to the other, are all put on the table, which dish should be started first—meat or vegetables? Should the person starting a dish help herself or himself first and then hand it to the next, and in which direction should it be passed?"

Answer: The meat is passed first and then the vegetables as they happen to come. All dishes should be passed to the right. Anyone starting a dish—except the host or hostess—helps himself first and then passes the dish on.

"Dear Mrs. Post: During the past two months I sent wedding presents to three brides. Not one has had the courtesy to send a thank-you note. Am I old-fashioned, or are good manners no longer in style?

"Perhaps a wedding present is simply taken for granted when an invitation to the reception is sent. Several of my friends have the same complaint. Won't you discuss this in your column?"

Answer: No, you are certainly not old-fashioned. A bride-to-be should try to write thank-you notes as she receives her presents.

If she gets behind, and when presents arrive in the last few days before, or even after, her wedding she must make every effort to get these remaining notes off promptly when she returns from her honeymoon.

Miracle Fashions Go to Fashion Forefront

Miracle fabrics have been with us long enough now for everyone to have accepted their versatile benefits. We have come to wait for each new flash from the world of chemistry, wondering only what else they will bring out for our convenience.

One of the newest in a long line of 'miracle' fibers combined with the standard staples has come to the forefront in the fashion picture. It has so far been combined with cotton, sharkskin and crepe to the distinct advantage of these fabrics.

It's manufacturers boast of its ease-of-care fibers that enable the wearer to play and work as hard as possible, with no detriment to the fabric. The machine washable fabric is particularly easy to iron, damp or dry.

Have Extra Piece

When making dresses for little girls sew a small piece of the material in the side seams in a way that the garment can be ironed neatly. Then when she snags her dress and it needs to be mended you will have a piece of cloth that matches the garment exactly as it has been laundered just as many times as the dress.

"UP or DOWN"

By Edythe McCulloch

The short hair-do so popular for these hot days spent at the beach can often be more versatile than you think.

If you are a little tired of looking the same all summer, why not be completely different just for summer's last fling.

However, if your hair is a little long and you hesitate to cut it now, a re-styling for the purpose of concentrating the bulk could be very helpful when wearing a bathing cap.

Let us help you with your End-of-Summer hair problems.

MR. and MRS. ALFRED MITCHELL

In St. Paul Lutheran Church Saturday, Brenda Burder and Alfred O. Mitchell were united in marriage. Brenda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Burder of Third avenue. Alfred's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Mitchell of Drayton Plains.

Brenda Burder Becomes Bride in St. Paul Church

Brenda Burder became the bride of Alfred O. Mitchell Saturday in St. Paul Lutheran Church. One-hundred and fifty guests attended the 7 p.m. wedding.

★ ★ ★

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Burder of Third avenue. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Mitchell of Jones road, Drayton Plains.

Brenda's ballerina-length gown of French lace featured a fitted bodice with a Sabrina neckline and long lace sleeves that came to points at the wrists. A crown tiara secured her fingertip veil. She carried six white roses on a prayerbook.

Joan Jarrard, wearing a ballerina-length gown of dotted yellow nylon, served as maid of honor. Marilyn Cremer, Annis Breadon and Dawn Mitchell, gowned in aqua, pink and mint green, respectively, were bridesmaids. All of the attendants wore crown tiaras and carried white daisies with colored ribbons.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of St. Paul Lutheran Church.

Upon returning, the newlyweds will reside on West Huron street.

Make Hobby Fabric

A new fabric comes in a delightful assortment of patterns, especially designed for hobbyists. There is a pattern glorifying French copper cookware, one that emphasizes Ironstone, favorite of antique collectors. Sea or lakeside interiors would be flattered by a design that shows lofty sailing schooners.

Put Baby in a cotton plisse sleeping bag while on a junket by car or train. At overnight stops, the bag can be sudsed clean. No ironing needed.

Nylon Hose Pet 'Tales' Aren't True

There are a lot of "old wives tales" about nylon stockings, most of them aren't true. Listed are four pet theories about nylons with the facts as follows:

1. "Freezing Nylon Hose before Wearing." Freezing does nothing except get your stockings cold.

2. "Washing Stocking before Wearing." This accomplishes nothing. It only subjects your hose to one additional washing.

3. "Wearing Stockings wrongside out." In the days of silk and rayon stockings, many women wore stockings wrong-side out to reduce the sheen. Others wore them this way in the mistaken belief that it would increase wear. Actually, you receive less wear from stockings worn wrong-side out, because the wrong side is more apt to snag and the seam is more apt to catch on objects.

4. "Dipping Stockings in Cold Water and Wrapping in Towel before Wear." This accomplishes nothing. The idea stems from the days when stitches in stockings were not pre-set. Today, when nylon stocking stitches are all pre-set, the cold water has no effect on the stockings at all.

Stuffing a shallow drawer with your linens defeats the storage purpose. Too many pieces piled one on another cause mussing.

MARY SERDA

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Serda of New Haven announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Serda, of Francis street, to Charles R. Porter. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Lucille Porter of Melrose avenue. No wedding date has been set.

Towel 'Snoozable'

You can snooze in a tropical atmosphere on any beach anywhere this summer if you spread out on a Mexican-bordered beach towel. Desert colors of sand, brown, red, or gold are colorfast for the repeated tubbings in the hot suds all towels need.

Grinding Differs

What's the correct grind for hamburgers to be grilled over a glowing ceramic or flame? There are differences of opinion as to taste and texture, but as a general guide: a coarse grind makes for a hamburger that is juicier but more likely to burn around the edges of hand-formed patties.

There are many different types of color fastness. Fabric may be color fast to perspiration, light, washing, dry cleaning or crocking.

Gives Tips for Sewing Corduroy

Cut Cloth Carefully to Insure Avoiding 'Two-Tone' Look

A clothing specialist has a few tips for making sewing with corduroy an easy task.

All corduroy must be cut carefully because it does have a nap, and the colortone is darker when the nap runs up.

Unless all pieces are cut in the same direction, the garment will have a two-tone look. The lady specialist suggests pinning and cutting all pieces with nap running up, away from the hem, for a richer effect.

She adds that to machine-stitch corduroy the tension must be loosened slightly.

For hems and facings, avoid any triple thickness of corduroy. Hems should be finished with seam tape or binding. Facings should be made of a matching lighter-weight cotton.

Press very lightly. Good results can be obtained by placing a heavy terry towel on the ironing board, then place the corduroy with pile side down.

The pile will bed into the towel and the back can be pressed with a steam iron.

Empty Food Cans Ideal Seedling Pots

Having a baby in the house means having baby food cans around—and those cans can be a great help to your gardening. They make ideal temporary flower pots for seedlings—they fit nicely behind the curtains on a windowsill where they are easy to water and watch and to move into available sunshine.

A few seedlings in each can are easy to transplant, too—just scoop them out with a tablespoon. Young tender plants in baby food cans are easy to move out of the reach of young but not so tender hands.

Final Impression Is Important

By ANNE HEYWOOD

A playwright friend of mine tells me that he puts most of his attention on the last-act curtain. The final impression, the impression they take out of the theater with them, must be good. It seems to me that all of us should pay attention to the final curtains—the way we leave them when we say goodbye—whether it's a job or a beau!

"I broke off with Bob," a friend told me the other day, "because he was unreliable, stingy and horrible. And believe me, I told him just what I thought of him!"

I couldn't help thinking what a mistake that is. Some day her path and Bob's may meet again and how much better to have him a friend than an enemy. Even if they never see each other again, how much better to terminate a stage of one's life on a pleasant rather than an unpleasant note.

The luxury of letting people know just why we're finished with them can be the most expensive luxury of our lives—and the most unrewarding. The same is true when you resign from a position for any reason at all.

Whether you're leaving because you've found a company that will pay you a better salary and this stingy employer won't; or because the people you work for are unfair and unpleasant; or because the work is deadly dull; or because they promised you many things when you took the job and have broken every promise—it still pays to leave them in a pleasant manner.

BIG TEMPTATION

The temptation is to let them have it. After all, you won't be around, so you might as well let go with both barrels, but it'll be the stupidest thing you ever did.

Here again, you must remember that you may encounter this boss or some of the people in this company later in your career. You must also remember that it pays to terminate a stage of life pleasantly. But more than that—you have your own self-estimate to think of.

OWN ESTIMATE

The most important thing in our careers, in a way, is the estimate we have of ourselves. Not what we say about ourselves, or act about ourselves, or put on our job resumes. But what we really secretly think of ourselves in the hidden recesses of our hearts—that's the important thing.

And any blowup, any telling-off, will make us secretly feel mean and petty and vicious. That secret feeling will affect the way we act, the rest of our lives. So count to ten and ask yourself if you can afford to tear yourself down in your own eyes.

ONE PHASE

This is just one phase of the all-important business of getting along with people.

If you want more pointers on this subject, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope in care of this newspaper, and I'll send you my pamphlet on the subject.

Beautiful—but Practical

Good Hair-Do Is a Vacation Must

AP Newsfeature

If it is romance you are looking for on that big vacation, don't underestimate the power of a hair style.

"Many men have been swept off their feet by a glamorous coiffure," says New York hairdresser James Caeser. "It can happen again, so it is a good idea to make sure that your tresses have that come-hither sweep."

The first step is to choose a hairdo that will holds its shape throughout weeks of swimming, sunning and traveling. It should look chic for evening parties even though you have been having a gay time all day.

"A showpiece coiffuure that needs the constant attention of a hair sylist is out of place on a summer vacation," says Caeser. "That does not mean that you can't have a dramatic hairdo, for which it will be easy to care.

SIMPLE RULES

Once you get that perfect style for yourself (and don't be intimidated by the hairdresser. It's your hair, so get the style you like) then observe these five rules for vacation hair care, suggested by Caeser.

1. It's a good idea to get a few permanent wave curls to give the hair a little body and prevent it from going limp. Avoid too many curls which may give your head a frizzy look particularly if you vacation around the water.

2. Your hair should not be left unprotected in the sunlight, particularly if it is bleached. But whether it is untouched or bleached too much sun will dry the hair.

3. Wash your hair immediately after having been in salt water, as salt neutralizes vital hair oils and may make the hair brittle.

4. Use a cream shampoo or cream rinse for extra sheen especially if you wear hats infrequently.

5. Use a special brightening shampoo for additional glamorous highlights during vacation days.

Try to dry your hair completely before going to the beach. One way to mar an otherwise perfect appearance is to lounge out in public with your hair up in curlers.

The sun may be a perfect hair dryer, but the effect achieved in taking advantage of it, is not one that is likely to promote romance.

Janis Boyer Speaks Her Bridal Vows

Janis Pauline Boyer became the bride of Ralph Thomas Blanzy of Dorchester at 11 p.m. Saturday. The ceremony was solemnized in St. Benedict Church.

The bride wore a white eyelet and embroidered organdy dress fashioned with a V neck line, short sleeves, fitted bodice and tiered skirt. She carried a colonial bouquet of white roses, shattered carnations and stephanotis.

Mrs. Floyd Blanzy was the matron of honor. The other attendants were Mrs. Edward Konzer, a sister of the bride, and Karen Newton.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Blanzy wore a pink street-length dress of nylon over taffeta. The gown featured a scoop neck line and bouffant skirt. She carried pink roses surrounded by carnations and stepanotis. The bridesmaids wore similar gowns in aqua.

★ ★ ★

A breakfast was served at the Hotel Roosevelt and the reception was held in the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Betty McIntyre of Washington street.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Boyer of West Huron street. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Boyer chose a dress and duster of blue lace over taffeta. She wore a corsage of white majestic daisies surrounded by white roses.

The newlyweds will live on Sashabaw road.

Fabrics for Fall Glow

Both daytime and evening fabrics glow this fall. Elegant wools glow with silk and cashmere, mohair and angora. Brilliant wool plaids and tweeds glow with jewel-toned flecks. Metal glints on sheers—one taupe iridescent reflects both ters in pastel brocades, lames and embroidered lace.

Bugle beads, sequins, jet embroidery on lustrous satins and brocades all add to the magnificent, shining splendour. Evening shoes, too, glow in luxurious fabrics and leathers—and with elaborate jewelry and embroidery.

Keeping pace with the resplendent fabrics, the glowing iridescent stocking plays a starring role with great finesse for both daytime and evening clothes. Practically every hosiery manufacturer includes one or more of the magnificent iridescents in his line.

★ ★ ★

In definite, fiery color tonalities these versatile changeable-color nylons flame from light to dark—from pale to brilliant, depending on the colors with which they are worn. Some of the radiant combinations are amber, fired with red—topaz with burnished brown—one taupe idierscent reflects both blue and rose—and in another, gunmetal lights up into a true gray. A pale rose tone deepens into a warm dusky rose—and still another iridescent flames with red, green, gold and rust tones—and on and on.

Andonian Among Three Qualifiers

7 Publinxers Ousted

(Special to the Pontiac Press)

HERSHEY, Pa. — Only three Michigan entries remained in the National Public Links tournament after 36-holes of qualifying. Seven failed to make the grade on the tricky 6,055 yard, par 70 course.

Mike Andonian of Pontiac scored a 75 to bring his two day total to 151. He faces Raymond Patak of Dallas, Texas in the opening round of match play today which continues through Saturday.

Two Detroit golfers also qualified. Roy Cullenbine of Detroit finished with 149 and Sam Lima also of Detroit posted a 152.

At the same time, Ronnie Rothbarth of Pontiac and Tim Baldwin of Birmingham were eliminated.

Baldwin added a 79 to his 78 for 157 and Rothbarth shot 84-82-166. Only golfers who had a two-day total of 152 or less qualified.

Jay Law of Utica missed qualifying by one stroke. He carded a 76-77—153.

Giant Fullback 'Retired' After Ultimatum Fails

Detroit Club Refuses to Give 'No-Release' Contract to Leon

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

The 250-pound fullback-end, who failed to report to Cranbrook yesterday with the rest of the veterans, was placed on the "retired" list by the Lions.

After all the remaining players came to terms, Lion officials gave Hart the ultimatum to sign his contract or be retired. He insisted he would not sign unless he was given a no-release clause and more than a one year contract.

"We have never given such a contract and we won't start now," said general manager Nick Kerbawy.

Last year Hart also wanted the clause, but he finally reported to camp at Ypsilanti on the Lions' terms.

Coach Buddy Parker, disgusted with Hart's delay, asked that the big fullback be placed on the inactive reserve list which means he cannot play with any other team until his option is severed May 1, 1958.

"It gets pretty ridiculous to go through this every year," said Parker.

Kerbawy, however, said that "if Hart changes his mind and asks for a contract, we will give him a contract."

At his business office in Detroit, Hart said the contract offered him was "not acceptable."

After a morning session before photographers and TV camermen, the veterans loosened up in a short drill in the afternoon.

The rookies had their first scrimmage session and it was a little 150 pound back, Marv Brown, lightest player on the squad who was a shining light.

Today the rookies and veterans join forces. Expected to report today is Val Joe Walker, defensive halfback, who was obtained in the Green Bay trade.

White Bros. Blank Baptists Third Time

Third shutout of the season was absorbed by the Drayton Softball league leaders last night when White Bros. took a 1-0 win over Emmanuel Baptists. Victory was clinched on Sid Gregory's 4th inning "inside the park" homer. White's has been the only club to dump the Baptists, more than once (3 times) all on 1-0 shutouts.

Drayton Drugs retained 2nd place with a 7-4 win over Lakeland Pharmacy. Drugs nailed the win in the 4th with a 3-run rally.

Baptists collected two hits off Bernie LaRue, Gene Daniels getting both. No Baptist got past 2nd base. Wimpy Johnson for Baptists was effective, too, allowing three hits and fanning 10. LaRue set down seven.

THE POWERHOUSE

By JIMMY POWERS

Giant owner Horace Stoneham has defended his desertion of New York by pointing out that his customers dropped from 1,600,000 to 600,000 and that even the Yanks' attendance had shrunk, dipping from 2,000,000 to 1,400,000, but he may have overlooked two things.

First, crowds have dropped on the Coast, too. Football and baseball is off. You can even buy a ticket to the Rose Bowl now without too much effort. Second, what guarantee has Stoneham that fans in large enough numbers will pay to see the Giants on their home sets after the novelty has worn off.

The average fan had unpredictable moods. He may resent paying even a quarter for a run-of-the-mill midseason game after receiving the All-Star game, the World Series and the Kentucky Derby free. The whole thing could develop into a fiasco if expensive toll-TV lines are installed (the first estimate of the San Francisco telephone company was 30,000,000) and the fans insist on watching free movies on TV or other live sport events.

The president of a toll-TV company has admitted he has been negotiating with "nearly all" the major league clubs. If the clubs do get together and go into toll-TV 100%, the net result may be baseball will promptly kill itself off in an out-of-sight, out-of-mind hari-kari deal.

Spectator Sports Down

Horace also overlooked the fact that while most spectator sports—with the exception of racing—are down, participation sports are up. Sales of swimming, tennis, golf, bowling, hunting and fishing equipment have reached astronomical figures. If the average head of a family has invested a sizeable sum of money in sports equipment he is going to get out of the house and enjoy it rather than let it gather dust while he sits home and pays to watch a ball game on his TV set.

HOLDOUT — Big Leon Hart, 250-pound veteran of the Detroit Lions, was placed on the retired list after refusing to sign his 1957 contract. Hart could return to the team only if he accepts the Lions' terms.

BOSTON (AP)—In their first time at bat the Boston Red Sox scored one run when Ted Williams and Jackie Jensen banged out singles to send Jim Piersall home.

That was all the Red Sox needed to subdue the injury-riddled Detroit Tigers last night with Bob Porterfield giving the Tigers only four hits.

Before the final score of 4-0 was posted, Williams, the American League's leading hitter with a .384 average, got two more hits. Jensen, a former New York Yankee, got two for four, one of them a two-run homer in the eighth inning.

The loss in the first game of the three-game series, combined with Cleveland's 6-0 triumph over Baltimore, knocked the Tigers back into the second division. They now are in fifth place, a half-game behind fourth-place Cleveland.

Beleaguered with enough troubles when playing at full strength, the Tigers took on the Red Sox with three substitutes in the lineup. J.W. Porter and Dave Philley took over two outfield positions, replacing Al Kaline and Charley Maxwell. Kaline has an ankle injury and Maxwell has bruised ribs. Jim Finigan replaced sore-armed Reno Bertoia at third base and got two of the Tigers' four hits off Porterfield.

Porterfield, a disappointment to the Red Sox since they obtained him from Washington at the start of last season, struck out three in marking up his third victory against three losses. His triumph over the Tigers was his second straight complete game.

Kaline, although pained when swinging a bat, got the second pinch hitting assignment of his four-day-old disability. He batted for Lary in the eighth and flied out.

Jim Bunning (12-3) was scheduled to start for Detroit in the second game of the series today. The Boston starter was expected to be Willard Nixon (8-5).

Giants Being Driven Hard

WINOOSKI, Vt. (AP) — The New York Giants are not taking the All-Star Football Game lightly. The coaching staff has too much respect for collegians like John Brodie, Ron Kramer and Don Bosseler.

In fact, the world champions of professional football are being driven at a furious pace under the whip hand of Coach Jim Lee Howell to reach peak effectiveness for the Aug. 9 classic in Chicago.

"The All-Star Game is a prestige game," Howell explained. "If you lose, you're terrible. If you win, it is expected. For that reason we are getting the regulars ready in a hurry."

"On the other hand, the rookies are being developed slower. We'll be able to put more attention to them after the game."

The coaching staff has been hustling the 57 candidates competing for 35 available positions twice a day since they reported July 19 at St. Michael's College campus.

"Basically, the clubs who have won for the All-Stars in the past have had good passers and big, fast lines," said Howell.

"Brodie, the boy from Stanford, impressed me particularly. Of course, Paul Hornung of Notre Dame is a fine looking player and with both at quarterback, the stars will be able to move the ball.

No-Hitter, One-Sided Games in Junior Play

Hayward had control trouble in whipping the White Sox 22-2. The losers made 10 errors. The Northside Tigers racked up 20 hits in a 23-9 blasting of the Athletics.

Five straight hits, two of them doubles, by Jerry Martin paced the winners. Fred Smith slammed three singles and a triple as the Pontiac Sluggers socked Dick's Sales 19-5 in Class E. The Red Sox upset Pontiac Boys' Club 5-1 in the other "E" game on Glenn Ray's three-hitter.

All Favorites Stay in Race for Net Honor

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP) — The talented field of the 42nd National Junior and Boys tennis championships moved into the third round in singles today with all favorites still in contention.

One seeded entry is certain to fall in the juniors as Ned Neely, No. 8, from Atlanta, Ga., meets Gerald Dubie, No. 17, from Hamtramck, Mich.

Bees Attack Hurler

BALTIMORE (AP) — Ray Moore, 31, may miss his regular pitching turn tonight because of three angry bees. The righthander was attacked at his Upper Marlboro, Md., tobacco farm yesterday when he put his hand on a fence—and accidentally covered the bees.

Water-Borne Deputy

Tames Boat 'Jockeys'

By JACK PATTERSON

Union Lake residents who have been driven to distraction by wild-eyed motorboat jockeys seem to have come up with a satisfactory answer, according to long time Union Lake resident and booster Bob Gregg. The local lake owners association has employed a water-borne deputy, who puts in full time weekends and whenever else the situation demands, and from all reports the setup is working out very well. This is not a "get tough" operation, but primarily an educational function. Most offenders, when they understand why their heedless acts constitute a danger, readily fall in line. Those who don't may receive a citation, and not for merit.

PATTERSON

It seems to us that a similar arrangement could be adopted on many a county lake where water traffic has become a problem. Residents of such lakes must remember, however, that rules and regulations laid down apply to them as well as to outsiders.

★ ★ ★

Imposition of reasonable "house rules" on county waters, backed up by the ability to enforce them, seems a step toward peaceable enjoyment of those waters. After all the lakes are primarily useful as playgrounds, not battlefields.

★ ★ ★

For anyone tired of fishing the same old hole, Realtor Charlie Wood suggests a change of pace with a little evening walleye fishing on the St. Clair River.

Simplicity itself, the fishing involves running upstream a piece, then drifting back with the current, dangling nightcrawlers in the depths.

Record Bass Zooms to 'Derby' Lead

By H. GUY MOATS

After several years the first seven-pounder to get into the contest was the tops. It is also the heaviest bass ever to find a place in the "derby". A seven and a half pound smallmouth held the honors for many years.

Andy M. Simko, 48, retired auto worker, 6915 Big Trail, near Rose Center, took the new division leader and record entry from Fish Lake Monday, while fishing for bluegills. The big fish weighed 7-pounds and 15½-ounces. It was two feet long.

★ ★ ★

Surprisingly, Simko says, the big one didn't put up much of a fight giving up after only about five minutes. The lure was a small green frog tossed in a weed bed. "I was just sitting there, letting the bait sink slowly, when the bass hit," the angler explained. "I guess it's the biggest bass I ever caught."

Pontiac Press Photo

RECORD-BREAKER—Here's the biggest bass ever to make the annual Pontiac Press "big fish derby." It's a 7-pound-15½-ounce largemouth, caught by Andy Simko of Rose Township, in Big Fish lake. The record-breaker displaced a 5-pound, 9½-ounce entry.

Although the pike division of the "big fish derby" has been moving rather slowly of late it was given a real jolt yesterday when a 9-pound, 8-ounce specimen was entered by Matt Grahek, 975 Voorheis Rd. Matt's entry was almost twice the heft of the previous 5-pounder. He took it from Crescent Lake, on a 4-pound test line and a spin rig. A night-crawler harness was the lure.

The Grahcks have just returned from a western vacation during which they visited Yellowstone National Park. They were lucky, fishing Yellowstone lake, creeling some nice, big brown trout, Mrs. Grahek says.

Grahek's northern was 33 inches long. He was fishing Crescent lake for the first time, he said.

★ ★ ★

Angling Thrill of Lifetime

Pontiac Man Lands 40 Pound Salmon

An avid Pontiac fisherman who didn't have any idea he was going to ascend to such piscatorial heights as taking a 40-pound king salmon on a trout spinning rig, did just that. The landing of the huge Pacific northwest Chinook was the big "thrill of a lifetime" for Joe Young, 7076 Pickering, Williams lake. The 46-inch-long, solid-bodied "king" was taken from a deep pool at the base of a little waterfall on the Little Salmon river, near New Meadows, Ida.

It was the culminating feature of a three weeks western vacation trip for the Young family of Mrs. Young and their son Joe (Dick) Jr. They were staying at the home of Mrs. Young's sister, Mrs. F. B. Barton, New Meadows storekeeper. Mrs. Barton had mentioned the spot as a possible "good' place for fishing.

"I'd just like to SEE one of those big salmon," Joe had said to his wife during the trip. The actual taking of the fish, rated a record for the area, was a two and one-half hour ordeal, says Young. "After I knew I had a big one on, we sent for help, as I had only a No. 6 line on a regular spin rig.

"That fish just hung down like a log until he decided to come up, and when he rolled my eyes almost popped out. But when he decided to show he broke water and a did terrific, tail-walking act, trying to shake the No. 12 triple hook lure.

"They told me out there that this fish was a record for the area," Young reported. Joe's having the lunker mounted, and it's sure to be in a prominent spot in the Young home.

Set Boat Race Dates

OCBC Regatta Aug. 18; Orion Event Sunday

On successive weekends, Pontiac area powerboat race fans will be offered two interesting and highly colorful regattas. The first is set for Aug. 11 at Lake Orion. It will be a combination sail and "hydro" event under auspices of the Orion Boat Club and the Orion Sportsmen.

Biggest regatta is expected to be the Oakland County Boat Club's Inter-Lakes event Aug. 18 at Sylvan Lake. It will be strictly for inboards and outboard runabouts—no hydros. Entries are expected from most lakes in the area, with possibly some fast boats from Detroit. Entries may be filed now at Oakland County Boat Club, but post entries will be taken.

Art Hickson is working with a club committee to set up details of the regatta activities, which will be opened the evening before (Aug. 17) with a ball in the clubhouse to which anyone is welcome. Dancing and entertainment are planned.

Lake Orion's races include Class A. Class B and Class X outboards, inboards of 95 h.p. and under and 135 h.p. and under plus an open class. Sailing is set for the morning, powerboat events at 1 p.m.

Testifies to Anti-Trust Group

Ex-Player Raps NFL Owners

WASHINGTON (AP) — Creighton Miller, the ex-Notre Dame back, told Congress today that pro football players have been mousetrapped by what he called dictorial policies of National Football League (NFL) cub owners.

Miller, appearing as attorney for the NFL Players Assn., said in testimony prepared for the house antitrust subcommittee that present practices invite such things as blacklisting and mistreatment of injured players.

And he said the newly formed players' association — a sort of football union — may go to the National Labor Relations board to gain bargaining recognition denied by NFL owners.

"To date," Miller said, "we have been unsuccessful in even obtaining an audience with them to discuss our difficulties."

Miller said he was authorized to represent more than 90 per cent of NFL players. The association reportedly includes members from all 12 league teams except the Chicago Bears.

Miller testified as the subcommittee headed by Rep. Celler (D-NY) opened the second half of its football inquiry. The group is checking into all professional team sports to determine if any legislation is needed to correct an apparent inconsistency created by supreme court decisions.

The court has held football subject to federal antitrust laws but baseball exempt.

Miller said he favored bills that would cover commercial features but exempt playing rules, league organization, territorial rights and employment of players.

Complete antitrust immunity, he said, "would sanction restriction, broadcasting and telecasting agreements, the exclusion of new franchises the blacklisting of players who refused to comply with the clubs' own agreement and any future restants of trade that football might establish."

Miller suggested pro football is a monopoly and that its contract reserve clause illegally restrains trade. But he proposed a limited exemption for the clause, which gives each team a year-to-year option on its players.

Eliminating the reserve provision, he said, "might act as a cure that killed the patient" by enabling rich clubs to grab off all the best players.

Lands Husky Perch

Improvement in fishing conditions around the Pontiac area is indicated in reports of successful angling efforts involving unusually large fish, such as the record bass that today leads The Pontiac Press "big fish derby." This one hit a half-ounce under eight pounds.

Pinch-Homer Beats Redlegs

Northey 'Home' to Help Phillies

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ron Northey, too slow for the American League's "go-go" Chicago White Sox, is "back home again just doing what comes naturally to keep the Philadelphia Phillies on the move in the National League race.

The bolding, 37-year-old slugger, in a Phillies uniform for the first time in 10 years, walloped a game-winning two-run homer in last night's 8-5 victory over Cincinnati —coming up in a pinch-hit role only hours after being picked up from the White Sox on waivers.

Northey's shot, his first home run of the year, hoisted the Phils within one percentage point of third place Brooklyn and kept Philadelphia within 2½ games of first place Milwaukee.

The Braves defeated Pittsburgh 5-2 but saw their lead shaved to a mere two percentage points over St. Louis as the Cardinals socked the New York Giants 7-3 on Joe Cunningham's pinch-hit grand-slam homer in the ninth.

In the American League, where the first place New York Yankees have been forced to fight for their "run-away," Dick Donovan tossed a three-hitter to beat Washington 7-1 and keep the second place White Sox within three games of the top. The Yankees whipped Kansas City 10-4.

Northey, who broke into the majors with the Phils in 1942, went to the Cardinals in 1947, then to Cincinnati and the Cubs in 1950 and finally slipped to the minors before the Sox brought him back in 1955, capped a three-run eighth inning for the Phils with his sock off losing reliefer Hersh Freeman.

Larry Doby and Minnie Minoso each hit a pair of home runs for the White Sox while Donovan won his third in a row for an 11-3 record. The 29-year-old righthander, tagged for two hits by Roy Sievers who belted his 26th home run, has permitted only eight hits and three runs in his last 27 innings. Russ Kemmerer lost it.

Rademacher Tilt Like Any Other

Jackson, floored three times and dealt a fearful beating by Patterson at the Polo Grounds Monday night, was reported "resting comfortably" today at Meadowbrook Hospital at East Meadow, N.Y. The eccentric contender went to the hospital five hours after he was stopped in the tenth round of the title fight.

Asked if he feared he might injure the professionally unproven Olympic heavyweight champion of 1956, Patterson replied:

"No. I would have to regard him like I did Jackson and other strong opponents. He's a big, strong fellow, I hear. He's been boxing 10 years and anyone who wins an Olympic title has to be good to beat the world's best amateurs."

CIO Trounces Thomas, 12-0

The two-hit pitching of Jim Wagner and 2nd inning home runs by Hal Trott and Leroy Baines paced CIO Local 594 to a 12-0 trouncing of Thomas Die & Stamping in a city baseball league game last night.

Trott had two singles and a walk with his two-run homer for a perfect night. Dave Cooper had two doubles and a single, while Baines was one of four others with two hits each in the 15-hit barrage off three pitchers.

Steels Improve on Stock Market

Steels were apparently helped by U. S. Steel's record earnings announced after yesterday's close. "Big Steel" itself was up around a pound and was in brisk demand.

Bethlehem, Republic Steel and Youngstown Sheet were all ahead fractionally.

There was a firmer tone among oils after their losses of yesterday on President Eisenhower's request for a 10 per cent cut in imports. Gulf Oil, which lost 1⅝ yesterday, rose a major fraction today.

Aircrafts were mainly lower as Douglas, United Aircraft and North American Aviation declined slightly. Boeing was on the upside.

Leading rails showed a slightly higher edge but nonferrous metals were mixed. There were some small gainers among the chemicals.

Grain Futures Move Lower

CHICAGO (AP) — Grain futures moved fractionally lower on the Board of Trade today, influenced mostly by favorable crop weather and lack of any important news.

Wheat started easier on scattered commission house selling and fairly good overnight receipts at Chicago terminals. Arrivals included 64 cars and around 310,000 bushels by truck and barge.

There still was no indication of any large scale flour purchases by chain and independent bakers, but traders said there were indications this business would develop soon.

Near the end of the first hour new style wheat was ⅛ higher to ½ lower, Sept. $2.14½, corn was ⅛ to ½ lower, Sept. $1.29⅞, oats were ⅛ to ¼ lower, Sept. 65, rye was unchanged to ¼ lower, Sept. $1.29, soybeans were ¼ to ⅞ lower, Sept. $2.41¼, and lard was unchanged to two cents lower a hundred pounds, Sept. $13.45.

Accessories Take Power From Automobile Engines

BY DAVID J. WILKIE
Associated Press Automotive Editor

DETROIT (AP) — Optional accessories can add $1,000 and more to the cost of your car but the cost doesn't stop there; in varying amounts you go on paying for them in the form of reduced fuel mileage as long as you use the car.

Engineers say the exact cost in lost fuel mileage is difficult to determine because of the numerous variable factors involved. These include atmospheric conditions, carburetor inlet air temperature and exhaust heat.

Generally, however, the engineers say such conveniences as air conditioning devices, automatic transmissions, power brakes and power steering reduce the net miles per gallon you get from a fully equipped car.

Operation of the fan and the generator, which are not optional items, also use up your supply of fuel.

The experts say you can lose as much as a mile per gallon of fuel because you installed an air conditioning unit. And, they add, when the compressor is working the loss could be more. Fortunately the compressor does not work constantly.

PAY FOR WHAT YOU GET

The automatic transmission does a lot of work for the motorist. "And you usually have to pay for anything that works for you," the driving habits of the motorist, the automatic transmission could reduce fuel mileage from one to two miles per gallon as compared with the manual gearshift car.

Generally the engineers prefer to talk in terms of the power loss due to extra equipment installation rather than in the cost in miles per gallon of fuel.

Right now emphasis on horsepower is frowned upon in the car industry. But last year when the industry was being criticized for the increasing level of car engine horsepower the engineers put together some interesting information as to where the horsepower goes.

Taking a bare engine — without generator or fan — which developed a dynamometer rating of 200 horsepower, they showed that atmospheric conditions, the muffler, air conditioning and the transmission and rear axle took the largest bite out of the power output.

Lesser amounts were consumed by exhaust heat and spark, air cleaner, fan and generator and power steering.

FROM 200 TO 120 HORSES

With the introduction of 1957 model cars late last year one leading car maker announced a device that automatically would cut out the fan operation at a certain speed. This was said to save power — and increase fuel mileage. It was pointed out that at certain speeds air rushing through the radiator reduced the temperature of the coolant without help from the fan.

Relatively little publicity has been given the unit. Some experts said the speed at which the fan safely could be cut out was so high that the principle had little practical value to the average motorist.

One leading industry engineer described what he called "foot octane" as a factor equally important with the chemical octane of the petroleum industry and the mechanical octane of the engine designers in fuel economy.

Caterpillar Price Hike Hit by UAW

DETROIT (AP) — A United Auto Workers Union spokesman today called a seven per cent price increase announced by Caterpillar Tractor Co. a "shocking example of the irresponsible price gouging of the American customer by big business."

★ ★ ★

Pat Greathouse, UAW vice president and director of the Union's agricultural implement department, said Caterpillar profits "have been sufficiently large to absorb the increase in steel prices."

Greathouse also discounted the Caterpillar statement that the price increase was made necessary by forthcoming productivity wage increases for 19,000 workers covered by UAW contracts.

"During the past year, the only increase in labor costs has come through increases granted as a result of prior price increases as reflected in the cost-of-living index," Greathouse said.

Cement Price Hike Possible After Strike

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Construction firms, trying to catch up on their summer schedules after a 2½-month cement strike, today faced the prospect of higher prices for cement.

★ ★ ★

Top executives from two cement firms in the Lehigh Valley, a rich producing area in eastern Pennsylvania, said a price boost will come along in late fall. They declined to be quoted by name, however, and would not estimate the size of the possible increase.

★ ★ ★

They pointed out that price increases customarily are withheld until after the peak summer building period so as not to upset construction contracts.

Meanwhile, additional plants across the nation returned to operation after signing agreements. By now, virtually all cement plants have settled or are well on their way to doing so.

DETROIT (INS) — The Automobile Manufacturers Association reports passenger car production totaled 119,903 units last week. Truck and bus output reached 21,829 units during the same period.

The association said the week's total output of 141,732 motor vehicles brought production for the year through July 27 to 4,454,916 units. Production for the same period a year ago totaled 4,275,862 units.

Approve Shift of Health Lab

City Department Plans Move to County Center on Telegraph Road

Approved last night by Pontiac city commissioners was the shifting of the City Health Dept.'s laboratory into a consolidated headquarters at the new County Health Center on Telegraph road.

Commissioners Floyd P. Miles and Roy V. Cooley were at first reluctant to approve the shift, feeling it would be an inconvenience for Pontiac residents to get to the center.

City Manager Walter K. Willman then assured the commissioners it was "worth a trial," and that the city would save $3,200 the first year of the consolidation.

The Board of Supervisors, following the suggestion of County Health Director John D. Monroe, toward the merger of the city lab with those located at the Pontiac General Mospital Annex and at the county health department's administration building in Royal Oak.

Commissioners approved a two-year agreement under which Pontiac will pay one-third of the operating costs of the consolidated labs. The city will also pay one-half the salaries of a medical technologist and a clerk typist there.

Willman stressed that all present operations of the health department in the City Hall would continue, except for laboratory testing which will be moved under the agreement.

Close Election in Argentina?

2 Major Parties Claim Assembly Vote Assures Victory in 1958

BUENOS AIRES — (AP)—The leaders of Argentina's two biggest political parties each claim results of Sunday's constituent assembly election promise their factions victory in the presidential balloting next February.

Ricardo Balbin, whose moderate Radical party came out on top Sunday, predicted an "even bigger" victory in February. He said his party had barely gotten organized before the election.

A similar victory claim was issued by Arturo Frondizi, standard bearer of the antireform left wing of the Radicals. Although he trailed Balbin's forces Sunday, Frondizi told a correspondent of the New York Herald Tribune the followers of ex-dictator Juan Peron would join his own supporters to elect him president.

In another bid for the Peronist vote, Frondizi promised a general amnesty if elected—in other words legalization of the now-outlawed Peronist party — and permission for Peron to return from exile and participate in Argentine political life on an equal footing with other citizens.

★ ★ ★

Peron issued a heated statement in Caracas labeling Sunday's elections a fraud and branding Provisional President Pedro Aramburu's regime a dictatorship. Peron in effect placed second in the election, since more than two million voters, or about 25 per cent, heeded his appeal to cast blank ballots.

Local Man Charged With Manslaughter

James A. McEvers, 24, of 860 Glendale Ave., has been charged with manslaughter in the death of Henry E. McCurry, 42, of 4975 Inkster Rd., Bloomfield Township.

The men were involved in a two-car accident June 20 on M59 near Woodstock drive, in Waterford Township.

Before his death July 21, McCurry reportedly told Waterford Township Police that the McEver car came toward him on the wrong side of the road.

He was arraigned before Waterford Township Justice Donald Adams yesterday and demanded examination. He was released on a $500 personal bond, with hearing set for August 29.

Fire Hydrant Test May Affect Water

As part of a survey to test Pontiac's fire fighting facilities, fire hydrants will be opened during tests at 20 locations in the city tomorrow, Joseph W. Gable, water superintendent, announced.

★ ★ ★

He said water in the areas might be discolored and pressures lowered during the testing. "The purity in no way will be affected," he emphasized.

The survey is being conducted by the National Board of Fire Underwriters in cooperation with the Michigan Inspection Bureau.

OK Bids to Equip Safety Unit

More equipment for the nearly completed $875,000 Public Safety Building was approved last night by city commissioners.

The General Printing & Office Supply Co. of Pontiac was the successful bidder for furniture for the building, with a combined bid of $12,268.

The other successful bidder was the Allied Steel Equipment Co. of Grand Rapids who submitted a combined bid of $12,043 for courtroom benches and counters for the building.

City Manager Walter K. Willman said all equipment for the building should be ready for approval by next week.

Other action before commissioners last night included the reading of Oakland County Judge George B. Hartrick's opinion on the suit which attempted to block construction of the Grand Trunk Railroad's industrial support yard in the city's North Side.

Commissioners did not comment on the decision, which might be the end of what was once a hotly debated issue before the commission.

OK FUND TRANSFER

The transfer of $121,926 from the city's contingency fund to certain departmental funds was approved by commissioners. Willman explained that it was a routine shift necessary because pay increases for city employes, approved last December, could not be computed in time to be entered in the 1957 budget. The money was set aside in the contingency fund.

In it, Broomfield asked that Pontiac join in an exhibit in Port Huron Oct. 8-10, aimed at securing more Defense Department work for Michigan and this area.

Squeaking by in a 4-3 vote was the approval of a package beer and wine license requested by Jack A. Robinson at 689 N. East Blvd. Opposing the new license were Commissioners Floyd P. Miles, Gilbert W. Long, and Roy V. Cooley.

The transfer of two other liquor and beer licenses in the city was passed by the commission.

A festival license for Aug. 6-10 for the Oakland County 4-H Fair was granted.

During action on a 28-point agenda, commissioners set payments for eight public improvement projects completed in Pontiac.

The commission also conducted five public hearings on other jobs included in the city's 1957 public improvement program.

Rezoning OK'd by Commission

Cooley, 10 Residents Fail to Prevent Change on Orchard Lake

Commissioner Roy V. Cooley (District 1) and ten residents of his district argued long but in vain last night during a hearing to rezone 15 lots on Orchard Lake avenue between Walnut and Lull.

After a one hour and 18 minute discussion, the City Commission approved 6 to 1 the rezoning to Commercial 1 of the lots. Commissioner Cooley cast the lone dissenting vot.

Representatives of the potential seller and buyer of the area in question appeared seeking approval of the rezoning. They said a vacant filling station at the corner of Walnut and Orchard Lake "was a blot on the city."

Residents of Lee court, in the middle of the two-block area to be rezoned, fought against the change saying it would interfere with their residential neighborhood, and might raise taxes.

Cooley said the rezoning should not be approved until provisions were made for an alley to the rear of the area. He also said "we have no guarantee that a gas station or anything else will go in there."

The petitioners for the rezoning said a new auto parts store, with two gas pumps, and a restaurant are planned for the area.

The City Planning Commission recommended the rezoning after receiving a petition signed by 75 per cent of property owners living within 500 yards of the area.

Says Treasury Hid Obligations

Congressman Reports Payments Delayed to Simulate Surplus

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Passman (D-La) charged today that the administration delayed payment of "vast sums" to show what Passman called a "fictitious surplus."

The Treasury Department on July 19 reported a budget surplus of $1,645,000,000 for the 1957 fiscal year, which ended June 30.

Passman, chairman of the House Foreign Aid Appropriations subcommittee, said the administration delayed payment beyond June 30 "of vast sums for goods and services already delivered in order to be able to show a surplus."

He called it deceptive bookkeeping.

Among the delayed payments, Passman said, was more than 500 million dollars "in military bills for which payment should have been made prior to the end of June."

Passman said deceptive bookkeeping by the administration has "vastly increased the difficulties of Congress in endeavoring to deal in an intelligent, businesslike manner with appropriations and revenue measures."

He said appropriation cuts made by Congress should tend to encourage some economy in government which "possibly will pave the way for tax reductions next year."

Union Lake Girl Struck by Car in Rainstorm

Helga A. Hersacker, 17, of Union Lake, crossed with the light, but was hit by a car making a left turn from Saginaw into Pike. The driver, Robert G. Lovins, 22, of 280 Liberty St., told police he applied his brakes but skidded on the wet pavement.

Fishing Plans Snagged

Roy E. Claxton's fishing plans had a crimp put in them when he discovered all his fishing equipment was taken from his car while it was parked at E. Montcalm and St. Clair Sts.

Claxton of 6866 Longworth Dr., Drayton Plains, told police someone broke into the auto and took a casting rod and reel, a spinning reel, a fly rod, two tackle boxes and even stole two chrome wheel discs. Total value of the missing equipment is $178.

One Person Is Struck in Southfield Township Last Week

Polio struck Pontiac twice last week and Southfield Township once, the second of two cases reported in the township in two weeks, according to Dr. John D. Monroe, director of public health.

This brings the 1957 polio total to six cases in the South Oakland area compared with 36 the same time last year. Pontiac did not have any cases reported last year at the same time.

Chicken pox and mumps led the list of communicable diseases in Oakland County last week yet they were down in Pontiac.

The company getting the biggest single rebate for 1956 was the American Viscose Corp. of Philadelphia, with refunds and credits totaling $20,287,225.

The law requires the Treasury to notify Congress before allowing any tax refund or credit in excess of $100,000.

Although the 1956 over-$100,000 rebates were in the nine-figure bracket, they were the smallest since 1947. The peak year on $100,000-plus refunds was 1951 with $698,563,686.

Refunds and credits reported for 1956 represented claims on years going back as far as 1941.

The estate of the late Lammot du Pont was granted a tax refund of $803,052 as the largest noncorporate return. Mary Ethel Pew of Philadelphia was granted $231,325, Warren J. Sheets of East Chicago, Ind., $226,691, and John and Fannie K. Hertz, Cary, Ill., $105,253.

The Celanese Corp. of America got back $8,169,501, Coca-Cola Co., $8,099,309, Western Union Telegraph, $7,147,396 and the Overland Corp. of Toledo—formerly Willys-Overland—$6,622,690.

Britain to Resist Loan Requests of Ex-Colonies

LONDON (AP) — Britain made clear today she will resist requests for direct loans from former colonial territories—such as Malaya and Ghana—which achieve independence within the commonwealth.

A government white paper on Britain's role in commonwealth development said firmly that the parent country's special responsibilities cease when a colony becomes independent.

"It (the government) therefore does not envisage government-to-government loans as a normal means of assisting such countries," the report declared.

"Their interests can better be served if they build up their own credit and thus make use of the facilities for raising money on the London market or elsewhere."

Malaya is scheduled to proclaim its independence from Britain Aug. 31. Earlier this year a Malayan delegation came to London for negotiations on a British loan.

The British also have been cool to Ghanian overtures for development loans, and the new African republic now hopes the United States will help.

Annual Mormon Pageant Opens

Sleepy New York Town to Host Nearly 100,000 From Around World

PALMYRA, N.Y. (INS) — By tomorrow evening this sleepy western New York state canal town will be bursting at the seams as its thousand-odd residents become hosts to nearly 100,000 visitors from every state of the union and many foreign countries.

The occasion will be the three-day presentation on Aug. 1, 2 and 3 of the 16th annual pageant of the Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter Day Saints — more commonly known as the Mormon Church Pageant.

Annually, over 600 young people — mostly between the ages of 18 and 25 — church missionaries and students from Brigham Young University at Provo, Utah, trek to Palmyra to work on this pageant, one of the world's most dramatic and largest spectacles.

"America's Witness for Christ," as it is technically called, takes place on the steep grassy slopes of Hill Cumorah about 4 miles south of Palmyra and about 25 miles east of Rochester.

It was atop Hill Cumorah that, according to Mormon belief, Joseph Smith in the early 1800s, then only a teenaged farm lad, received a set of plates upon which was inscribed information leading to the founding of the Mormon Church. Now nearly 1,500,000 persons, encircling the globe, are members of the church.

★ ★ ★

The series of pageants began in 1937 under the direction of Dr. Harold L. Hansen, who is head of the speech and dramatic arts departments of Brigham Young University. He has directed all the subsequent pageants held each year except during the war years.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF WALter A. Seaks, who passed away Aug. 2nd, 1956.
His smiling way and pleasant face,
He had a kindly word for each,
And died beloved by all.
Someday we hope to meet him,
Someday we know not when;
To clasp his hand in the better land,
Never to part again.
Sadly missed by Wife, Children & Grandchildren.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF MY mother, Cora McClennan, who passed away July 31, 1950.
Dear mother, you are not forgotten,
Though on earth you are no more;
In memory, you are still with us,
As you were on earth before.

Ex-Announcer Averback Plans to Direct Brennan Series

Gisele Refuses Broadway Offer

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS) — Hy Averback, a Hollywood radio-TV announcer only a few shows ago, will direct Walter Brennan's new (starting Oct. 3, ABC-TV) series "The Real McCoys," being filmed at RKO studios . . . He replaces Sheldon Leonard, too busy with Danny Thomas . . .

Gisele MacKenzie politely turned down the star role in Meredith Willson's Broadway tune show, "Music Man," to concentrate on TV.

Polly Bergen was NBC-TV's first choice to alternate Saturday nights with Dean Martin but Polly's a CBS chattel, so Peggy Lee gets the chance . . .

Nielsen had a frightening look at the dialing habits of the nation when Sullivan and Allen are on TV Sunday nights: Seems the great mass of the public switches back and forth between the two shows — as often as 14 times during the hour! . . .

SINGING SWEETHEARTS

Late flash: There could be either a Ford or a General Motors in Bing's TV future . . .

Gleason, an "exclusive" CBS chattel, will have his "Honeymooners" rerun on NBC starting Sept. 24; Jimmy Durante, an equally exclusive NBC man, is being rerun on CBS . . .

KAY GETS OFFERS

Previews of Kay Kendall, the newest Mrs. Rex Harrison, in MGM's "Les Girls," are fabulous. TV variety show offers are pouring in, but Kay's honeymooning and probably won't take 'em. . . .

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — I never thought I'd be mistaken for a Schnauzer dog. But this has now come to pass due to our family's devotion to Slugger's dog, Cookie.

Not only was I mistaken for Cookie, but I couldn't deny it.

It came about when the wife, mother-in-law, Slugger and I endeavored to take Cookie with us to an inn at Pike, N.H.

WILSON

The news that some people are anti-dog had reached our family. First we had a "dry run"—taking Cookie with us to the sidewalk cafe when we went for a cocktail.

"No dogs allowed!" a waiter growled.

We sat by the iron railing inside, holding Cookie on her leash outside. Everybody thought it was cute but a waiter who said, "You can't do that." That's what he thought.

★ ★ ★

When we arrived at the inn, the boss acted just like he was happy about seeing Cookie. Of course a couple of people said, "Why couldn't we bring our dog?" We just laughed and laughed.

On the way back to New York, we smuggled Cookie into a restaurant and got her stashed down beside the wife.

The food came. Then Cookie let out a bark.

"WHAT WAS THAT?" roared the manager, rushing over. "What was that that barked?"

"He's an old grouch," Slugger rushed in. "You ought to hear him bark at home."

The manager looked at me like he'd enjoy giving me a punch for being so nasty to such a sweet family. However, Cookie had a nice vacation. Dogs are entitled to vacations too, aren't they? That's what the wife says.

Tobacco Tax Gains

CHICAGO — The 41 states imposing tobacco taxes collected 5.6 per cent more revenue from that source in 1955 than in 1954. Collections totaled $496,000,000. With Missouri's adoption of a 2-cent-a-pack cigarette tax Jan. 1, 1956, the number of states imposing such taxes rose to 42.

Water Carnival Set for Sunday

Pontiac Lake Recreation Area Is Location for Annual Event

A gigantic water carnival will be held at 2:30 p.m. Sunday at the Pontiac Lake Recreation area, Waterford Township.

The water carnival is held each year following the township's learn to swim program. More than 600 children and adults registered for the seven-weeks course.

Classes have been held at six lakes in the area. Swimming events for children 7-14, and for adults, 15 and older, will be scheduled Sunday.

Additional entertainment will be provided by a water ballet. A demonstration of water safety and a 200 individual medley race by advanced swimmers of the Williams Lake Swim Club will be given.

Bleachers will be erected, a public address system will be used, and detailed scheduling of events is being planned by recreation department officials.

More than 100 awards were presented last year. Elizabeth Lake is the defending champion of the large team trophy awarded annually to the lake winning the majority of events.

The tournament site will be to the extreme left of the beach which is located west of Williams Lake Road, on Gale Road. Registration may be made at the beach Sunday, recreation director Thomas Belton said.

Freighter Reported on Egypt's Blacklist

CAIRO (AP)—The Danish freighter that passed through the Suez Canal 10 days ago with a cargo for Israel now is said to be on Egypt's shipping blacklist.

The Egyptian Middle East News Agency reported last night the 2,355-ton Birgitte Toft would be denied loading and unloading facilities in Egyptian ports. It did not say, however, whether the ship would be barred from the canal.

The Birgitte Toft went through the canal July 21 and delivered a cargo of Burma rice and other goods to the Israeli port of Haifa, on the Mediterranean.

An Israeli Foreign Ministry spokesman in Jerusalem said yesterday the Red Cross in Geneva had reported that its Egyptian representative has been unable to visit Eylon. Israel has asked the U. N. to help get the man freed, and the Jerusalem report said Israel has been told the U. N. secretary general's office believes he may be released soon.

Plan Building Probe in Mexico

Believe Poor Materials Used in 50 Buildings Ruined in Earthquake

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The possibility arose today that builders or building owners may be prosecuted as a result of Sunday's earthquakes.

The Federal District prosecutor's office said experts would carefully check materials used in the 50 old buildings which collapsed in the capital against specifications in their building permits. A spokesman said serious discrepancies would result in criminal charges.

Some engineers contend that most buildings in the Mexican capital are built to withstand quakes. These experts charge that faulty materils or construction methods were responsible for many of the structural collapses.

The nationwide death toll rose, meanwhile, to 68. The governor of Guerrero reported two more fatalities in that Pacific coast state.

★ ★ ★

The death count in the Mexico City Federal District stood at 52. Rescue squads completed their search through the ruins of a five-story apartment house, the last such site to be combed, without finding further bodies. Thirty-two persons were killed in the collapse of that building, and one of 12 rescued died later.

★ ★ ★

Crews of experts continued their inspections of damaged buildings in Mexico City. A total of 31 movie houses and theaters were closed, awaiting inspection, and their proprietors complained bitterly at the business they were losing.

Otherwise life had generally returned to normal in the capital.

Vivien's Dramatic Plea May Save Historic Theater

LONDON (AP) — Vivien Leigh's startling outburst in the House of Lords may save the historic St. James Theater from the wreckers.

Defying parliamentary tradition, she rose during debate in the upper house July 11 and appealed from the public gallery for action to keep the theater in business. She was ushered out of the chamber.

Last night Lord Silkin, former minister of town and country planning, told the lords two rich Americans had been attracted by the headlines Miss Leigh made and had cabled promises of substantial contributions to help keep the St. James open.

The Americans, said Lord Silkin, are Huntington Hartford, chain grocery heir who already operates a theater in Los Angeles, and D. A. Cort, world manager of the Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Co.

The lords by a 22-18 vote approved a motion that the St. James should stay up until both houses of Parliament reach a decision on its fate.

Man Counted Out in Return Bout With Wife

Joseph Crowe, an unemployed laborer, stood in the courtroom beside his wife Clara, 32, and heard Judge William Hodes agree with his wife that he needed psychiatric treatment.

Crowe meekly thanked Judge Hodes and Detective James Caffrey for the decision. Then he turned to his wife and said, "And thank you dear."

★ ★ ★

With that, he hauled off and punched her in the face. Mrs. Crowe started to run, her husband in hot pursuit behind her. When she lunged under a bench, Crowe, a wiry 4 feet 8, began kicking her in the ribs.

Within moments, the courtroom echoed with screams from Mrs. Crowe and other women. Throughout it all, Judge Hodes, gavel banged for order.

It took Detective Caffrey and Thomas Swangin and Patrolman William Allwell to subdue and handcuff the irate husband. The two detectives, both stocky men, were kicked in the legs during the melee.

Judge Hodes finally counted Crowe out. He sentenced him to one year in the county penitentiary on his wife's assault and battery complaint for a private bout in their apartment last July 29.

Visit to Russia Ends for Afghanistan Shah

LONDON (AP)—King Mohammed Zahir Shah of Afghanistan flew home from Moscow today in a Soviet jet airliner after a two-week state visit to the Soviet Union.

The state visit ended last night with the signing of a joint communique in which the Kremlin agreed to provide Afghanistan with technical and financial help in prospecting its oil resources.

The Soviet aid will "not be contingent on any political or other similar conditions," the communique said.

Chicago Police Sift Racial Issue

Two Muskegon Negroes Say White Mob Stoned Car in Sunday Riot

CHICAGO (AP) — Two Michigan Negroes told police yesterday that they were molested by white persons in the racial violence that swept Chicago's South Side Sunday.

Porter Anderson and Ben Han, both of Muskegon, said a large group of whites smashed the windshield of their car and dented the fenders with stones as they drove through the disturbed area.

Sixteen teenagers were seized by police last night for failing to disperse on orders of policemen. Most of them were released after questioning.

Police said 72 persons have been arrested since the first outbreak of violence in Calumet Park Sunday afternoon when a group of tenagers stoned about 100 Negroes at a picnic. At least 35 persons were injured in the disturbances that followed.

Mayor Richard J. Daley yesterday reaffirmed a pledge of the protection of rights of all Chicago citizens. He met with Negro leaders and city officials to discuss the outbreaks.

Three Negroes involved in the original rioting in the park told the meeting that park district police declined them adequate protection at the start of the trouble.

The couple was first married in Bangkok 10 years ago. They were divorced a little less than a year ago. The counutuess started traveling and settled in San Francisco five months ago.
