Race Car Flips Into Crowd; 22 Persons Injured

Many Children, Son of Driver Among Those Hurt in Missouri

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP)—A race car smashed into the bleachers, injuring 22 persons among a crowd of 500 at a small dirt track Friday night. The accident occurred during the first race on the program, for a purse of $10.

One of those injured seriously was Ronnie Lee Neidel, 8, son of the wrecked car's driver, Albert M. (Bud) Neidel, 30, St. Joseph.

The father suffered a bruised shoulder and shock. Of the 22 injured, 21 were hospitalized. Many were children.

Neidel's modified stock car and one driven by Jerry Hayes, Topeka, Kan., sideswiped on a turn of the quarter-mile Beverly Speedway while doing about 70 miles an hour.

They were the only two cars left in the race.

Neidel's car shot off the banked turn, over an eight-foot embankment and fence. It did a half-flip in the air and smashed into the bleachers upside down.

The car slid along the bottom row of seats, sweeping spectators before it. It hurtled across a space between bleacher sections and crashed to a halt against the next section.

Mrs. Lee W. Anderson of near St. Joseph, said:

"We were about four or five rows from the bottom. A car came hurtling over the fence and wiped the three rows in front of us clean. The car came to a stop on the bleacher to the south. A man and two children were pinned underneath."

Monkey Gives Pontiac Police the Business

A small monkey high up a tree gave the business to two Pontiac police officers and the city dog warden yesterday afternoon as they tried vainly to bring him down.

Patrolmen Gerald Navarre and August Martinez and dog warden William Schneider eventually tired of the animal's monkey shines and gave up the battle.

The monkey was in a 60-foot tree at the corner of Bloomfield avenue and Fern street.

Navarre climbed up the tree hoping to lure the monkey to him with monkey-food bought in a pet shop. "It was hopeless," he said.

Monkeys like bananas, so a Pontiac Press photographer who wandered on the scene got one. The monkey wouldn't bite.

After a half hour the police and dog warden left, the monkey still free and swinging from limb to limb. He is still at liberty.

Parks in Walled Lake

IN HOT WATER—The normally cool waters of Walled Lake warmed up fast for the driver of this auto transport yesterday. He told police that he fell asleep at the wheel. His truck ripped through guard rails onto a public beach and ended up parallel to the shore after striking and injuring one woman. The driver later pleaded not guilty to a drunk driving charge.

Both Elections Will Fill Two Education Seats

Polls Open 7 A. M. to 8 P. M. With 15 Trying for Ballot Victory

Voters will turn out at the polls Monday to fill two terms on the Pontiac Board of Education and the same number of seats on the Waterford Township Board of Education.

Hours for balloting are 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. in both school districts. Six candidates are on the Pontiac ticket for four-year terms, while nine will vie for the two three-year berths in the Waterford election.

Incumbents Monroe M. Osmun and Rev. J. Allen Parker are seeking their fifth and second 4-year terms, respectively, on the Pontiac Board. Competing for their seats are Thomas Horwitz, Mrs. Jennie R. Jones, Dr. Leonard F. Klausmeyer and Roy B. MacAfee.

Bidding for the two places on the Waterford Board are incumbent E. L. Windeler, Norman L. Cheal, Kurt H. Kuhne, Jerome Mulligan, Donald R. Murphy, John F. Nax, Eldon Rosegart, Mrs. M. Virginia Ross and Dean A. Salley. Marshal Smith is not seeking re-election.

Polling places for the two school board elections are listed below.

PONTIAC SCHOOL DISTRICT

Train Smashup Kills 48 in Brazil

2 Commuters Collide Head-on Near Station; at Least 100 Injured

SAO PAULO, Brazil (UPI) — Two commuter trains collided head-on near a suburban station during the rush hour last night, killing 48 persons and injuring more than 100 others.

The dead included 37 men, five women and three children.

"I was just standing there with other people coming from work when I heard a hissing sound and then the terrible crash," said a 13-year-old boy who was injured in the wreck. "I felt myself falling and heard people screaming and crying. People were trying to get out stepping on people who were hurt."

Officials feared rescue crews would find more bodies trapped in the wreckage. All available ambulances and medical teams converged on the scene from Sao Paulo and surrounding areas.

★ ★ ★

The trains were moving on the same track at about 25 miles an hour when they rammed each other.

★ ★ ★

The tracks were littered with splintered wood, broken glass and passengers' belongings. Some of the bodies were thrown clear of the train coaches.

Press Carrier Wins MSUO Scholarship

A Pontiac Press newspaper route this morning turned into the magic gateway to Michigan State University Oakland for 17-year-old Brian Woolcock.

A Press carrier for three and a half years, Brian this morning learned that he has been awarded the first Pontiac Press Carrier Scholarship to MSUO.

Brian, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace G. Woolcock, 201 Mohawk Rd., could scarcely believe his ears. "I'm nervous—I can't believe this is happening to me," he said.

A B-plus student at Pontiac Central High School, he is in the top 15 per cent of the graduating class. He was chosen on the basis of his school principal's recommendation, the report of the Press' district circulation representative, and for other general characteristics.

Interested in science, especially biology and chemistry, he hopes to obtain a master's degree in education.

★ ★ ★

Since he started delivering papers in January 1956, he has saved $700 toward his education. He has 113 customers.

Brian had already applied for entrance to MSUO before being named scholarship winner. He was the 68th applicant at the new university which opens in September.

He will, of course, be a member of the charter freshman class.

Brian said he was anxious to attend MSUO because of its curriculum.

The scholarship winner is active in extra-curricular activities. He's a Student Council alternate, assistant scoutmaster, plays in the high school band, and belongs to the Hi-Y's and the Biology Club.

He attends Christ Church Cranbrook and belongs to the St. Andrew's Guild and Marquis Club there.

He will receive $500 a year from The Press for four years provided his academic work meets university standards.

If he wishes, he will be able to work summers at The Press.

Twenty-two carriers are graduating from high school, and 12 were eligible to compete for the scholarship, having taken college preparatory courses.

Others will continue their educations in specialized and industrial fields.

The Press will award a scholarship for each of the next three years.

Contest judges were Conrad Church, former Pontiac Press editor; Roy Alexander, MSUO director of student services; and Dr. William Emerson of the Oakland County Board of Education.

Stalemate Halts Geneva Parley

West Asserts Nikita Must Break Deadlock If He Wants Summit

GENEVA (UPI) — The foreign ministers' conference ground to a standstill today, and Western delegates said it is up to Premier Nikita Khrushchev to break the stalemate if he still wants a summit meeting.

High Allied officials said Russian Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko obviously is marking time while he waits for orders from the Kremlin regarding Western proposals for an interim Berlin agreement.

Western delegates believe the new instructions may be delayed until Khrushchev has had time to put on a propaganda show with the 17 German Communist leaders who arrive in Moscow Monday.

The East German Communists were threatening again today to clamp a total blockade on West Berlin if West Germany goes ahead with plans for parliament to meet in this Red-encircled city and elect a new president.

★ ★ ★

The Communists have threatened three times this week to cut the lifelines linking isolated West Berlin with West Germany.

Western officials were talking today of setting a time limit for ending the Big Four foreign ministers conference, to force it to a point of decision.

Baccalaureate Set Here Sunday

Seniors From Northern, Central, Waterford Will Participate in Services

Seniors will participate Sunday in baccalaureate services held by Pontiac Northern High School, Pontiac Central High School and Waterford Township High School.

Rev. Galen E. Hershey, associate pastor of First Presbyterian Church, will be the evening's speaker at the PNH service beginning at 7:30 p.m. in Northern's auditorium. His topic will be "The Upward Way."

Rev. David K. Mills, curate, All Saints Episcopal Church, will deliver the invocation and benediction, while the prayer and scripture reading will be conducted by Rev. Edmund Watkins, pastor, Joslyn Avenue United Presbyterian Church.

Baccalaureate services for PCH will begin at 7:30 p.m. at the Central Methodist Church. "Spindle and Distaff" is the title of the speech to be delivered by Rev. Milton H. Bank, minister of the church.

★ ★ ★

The invocation will be delivered by Rev. Wesley C. Wibley, minister of the First Assembly of God Church; the prayer by Rev. Joseph W. Moore, minister of the Trinity Baptist Church.

★ ★ ★

Waterford graduates will hear a baccalaureate message from Rev. Donald C. Andrews, pastor of the Church of the Atonement United Presbyterian. The services will begin at 8 p.m. at WTHS.

Rev. William LaFountain, pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Ascension, will deliver the invocation and benediction.

Supper Snatches Many From Beach Death, Injury

Supper appetites probably saved a score of children from death or injury late yesterday afternoon, when an auto transport truck smashed through guard rails and careened across a public beach, ending up in Walled Lake.

★ ★ ★

The accident occurred shortly before 5 p.m. when the beach was deserted by youngsters in favor of the dinner table. Mrs. Jeannette Roberts, 50, of 584 E. Lake Dr., Walled Lake, was the only person struck by the truck.

She is in satisfactory condition at Pontiac General Hospital with shoulder and rib injuries.

★ ★ ★

"I was cleaning debris off the water at the beach across the road from my home," Mrs. Roberts told Police Chief James A. Deck er.

MISSES 'S' CURVE

Suddenly the big transport carrying a load of four new cars missed an 'S' curve going west.

★ ★ ★

The haulaway smashed several steel guardrails and traveled 300 feet across the beach striking the woman near the water's edge and plunging into the lake. It finally came to a halt in three or four feet of water.

The cars all remained on the truck, although several windows were smashed, police said.

★ ★ ★

The driver, Harold Sneed, 30, of Byron, said he fell asleep at the wheel and was awakened by the woman's screams.

"I just woke up and looked down and there she was floating in the water next to the cab," he related, according to police.

★ ★ ★

Sneed admitted he had little sleep Thursday night and had "a few drinks" Friday afternoon, said Chief Decker. Later Sneed pleaded not guilty to a drunk driving charge before Walled Lake Justice Herman Roth.

★ ★ ★

He was released after furnishing $200 bond and his trial is set for June 18. Police said it took two wreckers 2½ hours to pull the huge truck from its soggy position.

Sunday Outlook: How About a Dip?

Possible thunderstorms are predicted for the Pontiac area late this afternoon or evening. Temperatures will continue warm with the low tonight hitting 62.

★ ★ ★

Partly cloudy and a high of 86 degrees is the weatherman's forecast for Sunday. Today's south to southwesterly winds at 8-15 miles an hour will diminish tonight.

Partly cloudy and somewhat warmer with a chance of showers is the outlook for Monday.

★ ★ ★

Sixty-three was the lowest temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. The recording at 1 p.m. was 80.

Observe Great Privilege Tomorrow

Mark Freedom of Press

NEW YORK—In recognition of Freedom of the Press Day, Alberto Gainza Pas, President of the Inter American Press Assn., issues the following statement:

"This June 7 we in the Americas once more celebrate Freedom of the Press Day.

★ ★ ★

"The majority of IAPA members publish in countries where freedom of expression and the exercise of our profesion are free. In expressing our joy over this fact, we should reaffirm our decision to continue fulfilling our task of reporting the new objectively and of orienting public opinion with independence and without fear.

"In these last years we have seen the fall of dictatorships which were an insult to our civilization and our culture, but we must beware of giving in to the easy illusion that progress achieved by the forces of freedom is definite and irrevocable. Past dictators and would-be dictators of the present are lying in wait, ready to take advantage of any opportunity offered them.

"Today more than ever our constant vigilance is necessary; we must denounce before continental and world opinion any attempt at retrogression, whether such attempt be by governments or by anyone who acts with the support or consent of the authorities. Our people should not be fooled by those who use the vocabulary of democracy and freedom to disguise actions that lead to the curtailment of our liberties.

"Let us continue impressing upon the minds of our readers the conviction that freedom of the press is not a privilege or a monopoly of newspapers, but rather a right that belongs to all of us and that we must all defend it if we wish to avoid the disaster and the humiliation of tyranny.

"Let us also devote this day to remembering our colleagues who still suffer persecution in countries of the Western Hemisphere which have not yet recovered their freedom. They must know that they are not alone. The IAPA will never give up a fight than can only end with their complete liberation."

The Living Recall—D-Day, 1944

From Our News Wires

OMAHA BEACH, France—American and French military leaders gathered at this wind-swept beach today to pay tribute to the men who died making it the first foothold of freedom in France during World War II.

★ ★ ★

Fifteen years ago was D-Day, the start of the great Allied assault on Hitler's Atlantic wall.

Omaha Beach then was a chaotic tangle of landing craft, tanks, howitzers, ammunition crates, jeeps and struggling men of the 1st and 29th American Infantry divisions. They faced merciless pounding from well-dug-in German positions.

Before the beachhead was secured, more than 13,000 Americans, Britains and Canadians were killed or wounded.

The only signs of that bitter battle now are the crumbling fortifications of Hitler's Festung Europa, half-hidden by sand drifts and the 9,836 white crosses that mark the St. Laurent U.S. Military Cemetery.

★ ★ ★

Gen. Leon W. Johnson, air deputy to Allied Supreme Commander Gen. Lauris Norstad, and Brig. Gen. C. Coburn Smith, U.S. military attache in Paris, were the senior American officers attending today's ceremonies at the cemetery.

A delegation of U.S. National Guardsmen and a U.S. Army honor guard were joining French troops in a salute to the dead.

Some of the relatives of the fallen American soldiers and veterans of the battle also were present.

Among them was Cpl. Theodore Liska of Chicago, now on active duty with the Army in Paris, who came to the chalky bluffs overlooking historic Omaha Beach yesterday so he could be alone with his remembrances of the fateful battle.

Liska has kept that lonely vigil every year since 1944.

★ ★ ★

Sgt. Donald Duguette of Negaunee, Mich., now stationed in Germany, brought his wife Mary and his three children to share his memories of the beach.

Duguette recalls that 30 of his closest friends were killed by German fire in 15 minutes.

"I guess this is one of the things that was shooting at us," he said, leaning on the rusting snout of a German 88-millimeter anti-tank gun that poked from the ruins of a pillbox.

★ ★ ★

Today the setting was peaceful but the rubble of war still littered the invasion coast on the anniversary of the mammoth sea-and-front assault which started the Allied sweep across Europe and brought Germany to her knees within 11 months.

★ ★ ★

1959---Ike Knows Peace

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—President Eisenhower is spending this 15th anniversary of the Normandy landings in the rural peacefulness of this area which long ago also was scarred by war's fury.

The man who commanded the 1944 D-Day invasion of the French coast is taking it easy this weekend at his country home.

It is situated at the edge of another famed battlefield—where forces of America's North and South fought in 1863.

★ ★ ★

The President's plans for golf during the day and for being host at the farm this evening to about 200 White House staff guests are a dramatic contrast to the nerve-wracking ordeal he underwent 15 years ago.

★ ★ ★

Now, he is President. It is a day for memories of the start of the campaign which smashed Hitler's Fortress Europe.

Moss-covered barges lie scattered about Omaha Beach, and rusted troop carriers settle deep in the sand.

Strips of steel matting used for improvised roads have been twisted by rising and falling rip tides.

From off shore, you could hear the water slapping the burned-out hulls of vessels scuttled to make artificial harbors for the invasion craft.

★ ★ ★

Aside from a few fishermen, the vast expanse remains deserted. Even the inland reminders of the war have almost disappeared.

On the bluffs above the beach, fine sand has invaded the grass-covered pill boxes that sheltered the German defenders.

Hedge rows that provided cover for the Germans have reverted back to jungle thickness.

Herds of grazing cattle and the stillness made it difficult to believe that war ever passed this way.

Find Mystery Plane in Desert

DETROIT (AP) — Discovery of the wreckage of a B24 bomber in the sands of the Sahara Desert brought back memories of World War II for two Michigan families today — the 15th anniversary of the Allied L-Lay landings in France.

★ ★ ★

Carrying a crew of nine, the plane mysteriously disappeared after leaving its Cairo base for a bombing mission over Naples, Italy, April 4, 1943.

Two Michigan men, Tech. Sgt. Harold G. Ripslinger of Saginaw and Tech. Sgt. Robert E. Lamotte of Lake Linden, were on the plane.

No trace of the B24 was found until it was discovered by a team of exploring geologists in the desert some 380 miles south of Bengasi.

ALMOST INTACT

No bodies were found near the plane, which was almost intact and sand covered.

News of discovery of the wreckage was relayed to families of the two Michigan men in hopes the two had somehow made it back to allied lines. The crew was believed to have bailed out before the plane crashed.

But both families said they were notified shortly after the B24 disappeared that their sons were "missing in action."

★ ★ ★

Later both families received War Department notification that their sons were listed as "killed in action."

Russell Lamotte, brother of Robert, was entertaining his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Lamotte in Birmingham, when the news of discovery of the plane was relayed.

He recalled: "We were notified shortly after the plane disappeared that Bob was missing in action. No killed in action."

member of the crew was never found. It was one of Bob's first missions.

"Later the War Department notified us that the men were listed as

This desert mystery is as deep and baffling as any recorded in the annals of the seas.

The B24 bomber with a crew of nine, found in the waterless waste of Libya, 380 miles south of Bengazi, was last seen 16 years ago when it took off from a Libyan base for a bombing raid on Naples, Italy.

The bomber lies there on the sand, preserved almost perfectly in the hot, arrid desert air. Although its fuselage was snapped in two at the tail, the plane appears undamaged otherwise. Its radio still is in working order.

There is not a trace of the crewmen who flew off on that mission in 1943. No clothing, no written records.

Water bottles, presumably tightly capped, were found still filled in the cabin of the plane. Had the crew crash-landed in the desert and started to walk out to civilization, surely they would have taken all available water with them.

If they had been killed in the landing which caused so little damage to the plane, their remains would be there.

Did the crew all bail out somewhere else, as the Pentagon thinks is likely? Then how did the plane fly on for hundreds of miles to let down in a soft landing on the desert? And why apparently did none of the crew survive?

Ruford L. Moore, Portsmouth, Ohio, father of one of the crewmen, said he received a letter in 1946 from the War Department, saying the plane was returning from the bombing mission when it lost radio contact with its base and was presumed down in the Mediterranean.

JUMP OVER OCEAN?

Did the crew bail out over the sea for some reason while the plane flew on safely to the south?

The Pentagon identified the plane from its serial numbers. It released Friday night the names of the crewmen and their next of kin.

In spite of the passage of time, relatives of all nine crewmen were reached Friday night. They said they had been notified by the War Department in 1943 that their loved ones were missing in action. A year later they were told they had been killed.

★ ★ ★

In Saginaw, James Ripslinger remembered the last words of his brother, Harold, before he flew overseas.

"He told me, 'If we're attacked in the plane it's going to be rough —I'm the belly gunner.'."

"When they were reported missing, we thought, in the beginning, that they'd be found alive. Or that they had been taken prisoner, and maybe just injured. But 12 months later the Army told us they were listed as dead.

"Harold was a star athlete at St. Andrews High School, and he got the Purple Heart posthumously."

For 16 years the plane rested there and was seen by no one. Or, if some desert nomad came across it, he told no authority. It was found a short time ago by a team of exploring geologists.

The U.S. Air Force sent a plane crew to see the wreck and photograph it from the air. And it is sending experts overland to examine it more closely.

DESERT MYSTERY — A strange memento of World War II popped into the news today. Geologists exploring a rarely visited area of the Sahara Desert came upon the lonely remains of a U. S. B24 Liberator Bomber. Air Force experts say the plane apparently made an unmanned landing after the crew bailed out in 1943. There has never been any trace of the nine men.

To Finish Work on Telegraph

Resurfacing Job, Began 10 Months Ago, May Be Completed Next Week

Resurfacing of Telegraph road from West Huron south to James K boulevard, which began 10 months ago, is expected to be all completed by next week.

James Dykstra, assistant district road engineer with the Pontiac office of the State Highway Dept., said contractors "now are finishing up at some of the intersections."

The 1.2 miles of work began Sept. 20, 1958 and includes mostly resurfacing, replacing the curb and gutter on the east side of Telegraph, and putting in left turn lanes at three intersections.

Dykstra said adding additional work as the project progressed, including the left turn lanes, has boosted the state job from an original contract price of $101,883 to around $117,000.

★ ★ ★

A & A Asphalt Co. of Birmingham was the prime contractor, Max R. Frisinger of Ann Arbor did the concrete pavement work, while Kutchins Co. of Lansing did the curb and gutter work, Dykstra said.

Work also included adding a right turn lane on Huron at the Tel-Huron Shopping Center.

Waterford Jaycees Will Install Officers

There will be installation of newly elected Waterford Township Junior Chamber of Commerce officers at a banquet at 7 p.m. Tuesday at Community Activity, Inc., on Williams Lake road.

Woman Is Hospitalized After Headon Collision

A headon collision of two cars on M15 north of Grange Hall road, Brandon Township, sent one of the drivers, Mrs. Leota M. Westerby, 30, of 68 South St., Ortonville, to Goodrich Hospital.

She was described in satisfactory condition today with face and head injuries. The other driver, Walter T. Burwell, 54, of 31822 Carlelder Rd., Southfield Township, was uninjured.

Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies said the Westerby auto was pulling out to pass a truck when the collision occurred. Her car glanced off Burwell's, ran off the road sideswiping a tree, and came to halt in a field 250 yards from the point of impact.

The Day in Birmingham

Ballet on Lawn Today Launches Festival of Art

For the next nine days Birmingham becomes an art colony drawing spectators from far and near.

Harvey Kresge, general chairman, and Mayor Harry Denyes spoke briefly when the festival officially got under way this morning. The opening ceremony was a ballet dance on the lawn at Quarton Falls.

Among today's highlights also is the two-day show at the Community House. This will feature the works done in the crafts and hobby classes sponsored by the House.

Stores throughout the community are displaying the works of outstanding painters, many from surrounding communities, according to Mrs. Ernest Jay, publicity chairman.

★ ★ ★

The Bloomfield Art Association Building, 361 North Woodward Ave., will be the scene of a public reception until nine tonight.

Tomorrow, the Detroit City Ballet, will present its program at 8:30 p.m. in the Cranbrook Little Gym on Lone Pine Road.

One of the outstanding programs, according to Kresge, will be the concert by James Milton, internationally known singer. Milton will be heard at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Birmingham High School auditorium.

A constant changing of programs will provide new entertainment daily. A sidewalk cafe and strolling troubadour in the business area will serve to remind shoppers and out-of-towners of the many entertainment features available to them, Mrs. Jay said.

★ ★ ★

Birmingham Friends (Quakers) will meet at 3:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Community House.

Johan Eliot, regional pediatric consultant for the Michigan State Health Dept., and University of Michigan public health teacher, will be the speaker. He will tell how a Friend's meeting can help a concerned member to live a Quaker life.

Following his talk, a short worship service will be held, concluding the meetings till fall.

★ ★ ★

The Youth Night Supper of the First Methodist Church will be held in the church social hall at 6:30 p.m. Monday.

"The Tiger's Claw," a one-act play, will be presented by the Chancel Players. This will conclude the summer sessions.

★ ★ ★

Birmingham Community House is accepting registrations for childrens' summer art classes, according to Myra Showman, director.

Grade school students will receive water color and pastel training Tuesday mornings from 10 to 11:30.

Junior and senior high school students will have classes in drawings and painting instruction from 10 a.m. till noon Wednesdays.

Both terms are for six weeks, and will begin June 23.

The Altrusa Club of Greater Birmingham will hold a dinner-meeting at the Community House at 7 p.m. Monday.

Following the annual reports of committee chairmen, newly elected officers will be installed. The slate includes Mary Spalding, president; Mrs. Carl Wonnberger, vice president; Mrs. George Oehm, treasurer; Kathryn Zedder, recording secretary; and June Keil, corresponding secretary.

Fate of Strauss in Small Group

10-15 Senators Remain Undecided on How to Vote for Appointment

WASHINGTON (AP)— The fate of Lewis L. Strauss' nomination as secretary of commerce appears to be in the hands of a small band of 10 to 15 senators.

They are the senators who have not made up their minds about the controversial nomination, or, if they have, have not confided their decision to their colleagues.

They are both Republicans and Democrats. Seven Democrats have said they'll vote to confirm Strauss. One Republican, William Langer of North Dakota, says he'll vote against him.

★ ★ ★

Assuming that all the other 33 Republicans voted for him, Strauss would still need at least nine more Democratic votes to put him over the top. But he can't necessarily assume that all the Republicans will vote for him, although the tightest kind of GOP party discipline is being invoked.

Sen. Warren G. Magnuson (D-Wash) told newsmen Friday he thinks 10 to 15 senators haven't made up their minds. Other Senate observers agree with the figure.

Thus stand the skirmish lines in what has become by far the bitterest dispute between the Democratic-Senate and President Eisenhower in his six years in the White House.

Youth Seeks Honors at State Road-E-O

Winner of the Waterford Township Junior Chamber of Commerce Road-E-O Richard Carlson, of 3041 Barkman St., is competing at Midland today against some 100 contestants from towns and cities throughout the state.

Carlson, 18, is a senior at Waterford Township High School and won the local award, competing with 12 other teenagers May 24, in written and driving skill tests given at the high school parking lot.

Winner of today's contest will be acclaimed the outstanding teenage driver of the state and will receive an all-expense trip to Washington, D.C., to compete in the national finals.

★ ★ ★

He will also receive a scholarship sponsored by the Pure Oil Co.

Our Legislature Dumps 450 Bills Into the Ash Can

LANSING (AP) The Legislature's day with pre-eage of a first-dead focus will be narrowed when it line in the traditional timetable returns next Monday, with about leading up to adjournment pos 450 bills consigned to the ash can ably in July. Lawmakers set the before adjournment for the week date in joint rules adopted last end.

The big sweep out came yester week.

All except tax and appropriation bills not reported from committee in the house of introduction were cut down. Lost were nearly one half of all bills submitted at the present session.

Few of the casualties were unexpected, including most of the bills for which Gov. Williams made an 11th hour plea on Wednesday.

★ ★ ★

The House State Affairs Committee killed three bills to strengthen Michigan's civil rights law by failure to report them.

And for the 11th time in the 11 years of the governor's unprecedented tenure, the "seal of quality" bill wound up in a pig cuhole.

★ ★ ★

Republican legislators and Williams agreed on one point in a televised debate last night. Michigan's state government needs more money.

NOTHING ELSE

But they didn't agree on anything else, even the amount of money needed.

Neither side offered anything new in the way of argument.

The Democrats supported the piggyback state income tax proposal. This would cost an individual 7 per cent of what he pays the federal government in income tax.

Republicans favored increasing the sales tax from 3 to 4 cents.

Some parts of the earth are frozen to a depth of as much as 1,500 feet throughout the entire year.

St. Clair Monster 'Just Prankster in Black Fur Coat'

DETROIT (AP) — What was that monster the kiddies at Avon School in St. Clair Shores saw stomping around in Lake St. Clair?

★ ★ ★

It was no monster, it was just a prankster in a black fur coat.

That's the explanation police offer for the youngsters' story of a "hairy monster with four fangs, a huge head and hands with long claws" which lives in the lake.

Patrolman Arthur Ladas, St. Clair Shores youth officer, said he went to the school yesterday and told the children the prankster in the fur coat probably was the same person who paraded around in a purple suit last year.

★ ★ ★

"We've had four or five calls on this story from worried parents," Ladas said. "Most of the people around the school are taking it as a joke. But it's hard to explain these stories to youngsters."

Navy Releases Photo of Red Sub of Iceland

WASHINGTON (AP) The Navy not only sighted a Soviet sub south of Iceland, it photographed same.

The Navy which made the picture public Friday night said the Red submarine was of the "Z" class, a long range type but powered by conventional diesel and battery motors.

A U.S. submarine and a Navy plane spotted the sub loafing on the surface last week about 180 miles south of Iceland. The picture showed no deck structure such as might be used to launch missiles. Some of the "Z" subs are believed to be equipped for missiles.

The American submarine, the Grenadier, stayed nearly three miles away from the Soviet one.

The United States, India and China are the world's three largest producers of cotton.

Bottleneck Plagues Seaway

Ships Delayed 24 Hours on Downward Passage; Dozen Wait at Welland

PORT COLBORNE, Ont. (AP) — About a dozen ships are waiting to enter the Welland Canal, plagued by shipping delays since the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

The over-all delay for downbound ships now is about 24 hours. Vessels continue to lose time as they await entry into each of the seven locks of the 27½ mile canal.

Two ships waited in one lock for more than three hours yesterday before they were free to proceed.

Some shippers feel that a fleet of 10 to 15 vessels will be anchored at the Lake Erie entrance to the canal perennially during the navigation season.

★ ★ ★

To date 247 ocean vessels have moved upbound through the canal but only 150 have returned.

Three ships were moving upbound through the canal last night on their second trip through the St. Lawrence Seaway, which opened April 25.

At Montreal, T. R. McLagan, president of the Canada Steamship Lines, says Canadian and American lake ships are being treated unfairly when they use the Welland Canal.

McLagan said yesterday he was amazed at an announcement by Jean-Claude Lessard, vice president of the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority, that delays on the Welland are "not as bad as some people make out."

Lessard said Wednesday that complaints about the waterway were premature. He outlined priorities for ships carrying coal, grain and iron ore. He said the ships carrying those three commodities exclusively would proceed first.

Nikita Kremlin-Bound, Trip Remains Mystery

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev left for Moscow today, still leaving a lot of mystery about his visits to Albania and Hungary.

He spent two days in Budapest conferring with Communist leaders on his way home from a 10-day tour of the Soviet satellite on the Adriatic. His stopover here was marked by usual silence on his part.

About three million U. S. adults never attended any kind of school.

Rain Patches Dampen Muggy Weather Blanket

By The Associated Press

A warm, humid weather blanket wrapped up vast areas east of the Rockies today.

Patches of rain and slight cooling in some sectors pierced the muggy climate.

★ ★ ★

It was cooler in the Texas Panhandle and eastern New Mexico in the wake of a rain, hail and wind storm that lashed the region Friday night.

To the north, cool Canadian air seeped over the upper Great Lakes, driving the mercury 10 to 15 degrees below a corresponding period Friday.

Earlier Friday night, five inches of rain doused Brownwood in West Texas. Rain swollen Willis Creek near Brownwood overflowed and forced some families to leave their homes. Winds clocked at 75 miles an hour also hammered the region, damaging trees and disrupting telephone service. Baseball sized hailstones also peppered Wickett, Tex.

★ ★ ★

Two tornado funnels were sighted but neither did any damage.

More sunshine was on tap for the Southwest following Friday's century plus temperatures at some stations. Needles, in Southern California had a 100 while Yuma, Arizona, going Hot Pot mercury boosted over 100.

Many Councils 100 Miles From Camp

Area Scouting Facilities Stand Out

By JOE HAAS

(Member of National Scouting Council)

SAN FRANCISCO — The camping facilities that Oakland and Macomb counties' Clinton Valley Council of the Boy Scouts provide for their lads stand out like a beacon light when compared to sites of hundreds of other councils represented here at the forty ninth annual national meeting.

JOE HAAS

In Camp Aga warm and the other local connections of a similar nature, Clinton Valley has right at home what, in many respects, no other council in the entire nation can supply. In most instances the camps of other groups (if they have any) are located outside the area of the council—in many cases they are over 100 miles away. In one Texas council it is 300 miles away.

At the annual banquet at the San Francisco civic auditorium last evening the 2,500 in attendance were entertained in a program that was largely founded on a furtherance of the "Onward for God and My Country" theme, and "Conservation through Safety," as stressed in the general agenda.

At the business meeting this forenoon, the new Explorer program was the highlight as further plans were discussed for keeping boys in the scouting mood after they have gone through the usual courses. In this our Clinton Valley is taking a prominent part.

The national Court of Honor was the outstanding feature at the closing luncheon this noon. Silver Buffalo awards were given a few men who have devoted most of their lives to Scouting. This, on a national scale, corresponds to the Silver Beaver award on a local scale. In this connection, it is said that over 90 per cent of the delegates here are displaying their Silver Beaver neckpiece.

BIGGEST EVENT

Clinton Valley Council has received its confirmation for the acceptance of three troops at what is expected to be the biggest event in all of Scouting's history.

This is the Fifth National Jamboree and is to be held at Colorado Springs, Colo., July 22 to 28, next year. It also marks Scouting's golden jubilee.

This means that Clinton Valley can send 120 to this event, 111 scouts and nine leaders, an increase of one troop over the last jamboree which was held two years ago at Valley Forge, Pa. Also we have been assigned the quota of four sectional adult leadership.

The general setup of Clinton Valley's contribution to the Valley Forge Jamboree won national recognition. Its "Map of Michigan" entrance was publicized in picture and otherwise by newspapers throughout the nation.

At Valley Forge our council had 76 boys and 13 men in sectional and unit leadership. At Colorado Springs we will top that number to a great extent, and plans for a camp entrance that will keep us in the national limelight already are under way.

★ ★ ★

As the annual meeting of the National Council draws to a close, there is the general sentiment that scouting is generally meeting the challenge of a hectic period in our nation's history. Plans have here been formulated to keep the work abreast of the era's needs.

DELEGATES CONVINCED

From their associations with others engaged in the same work, the delegates go home with the conviction that the segment of our population, now numbering over five millions, that are in direct contact with scouting are building a manhood that will successfully cope with our nation's needs, regardless of the possibility of any extreme emergency.

As evidence of this, everywhere I hear quoted the 12 elements of the Scout Law: trustworthy, loyal, helpful, friendly, kind, courteous, obedient, cheerful, thrifty, brave, clean and reverent.

In his induction every scout takes the oath: "On my honor I will do my best to do my duty to God and my country, and to obey the Scout Law; to help other people at all times; to keep myself physically strong, mentally awake and morally straight."

The fulfillment of that oath has meant as much to the Clinton Valley Council area as to any other section of our nation. In fact, it is conservatively estimated that since scouting was introduced here, its direct influence, through membership or leadership in the movement, has entered over 100,000 homes in Oakland and Macomb counties.

Dividends Near Record

Profits Resembling Share-the-Wealth

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The rebound in profits is taking on today a corporate share-the-wealth aspect. Many companies are sharing more of the corporate earnings with the stockholders. Dividend payments are climbing toward a new annual record.

May was a particularly bright month — in contrast to a year ago when many companies were omitting or cutting dividends. Only one-fifth as many are doing that this year as last. And more than twice as many are raising them. Gains now top losses by six to one.

The majority are hewing to the old dividend line, however. And the split in corporate thinking on pay-out ratios continues.

Many companies retain large percentages of their earnings to finance future growth. Others are liberal payers — some even holding to the usual dividend rate on off years when earnings don't cover them.

The New York Stock Exchange magazine, The Exchange, notes today that the range last year in a sampling of its listed companies ran from a dividend payment of 10.3 per cent of earnings by Polaroid to 115.4 per cent by United Fruit.

The over-all figures this year tell a pleasant story. The Department of Commerce reports that in the first three months of the year cash dividend totals were running at the annual rate of 12½ billion dollars. This was a a gain of 700 million dollars over the final three months of 1958, and an increase of 200 million dollars over all of 1958.

The picture grows steadily brighter. Standard & Poor's records show that in the first five months of this year dividend increases, resumptions and extras totaled 801, compared with 475 in the like period of 1958. Dividend casualties — omissions and decreases — were 87 this year, in sharp contrast to 401 in the 1958 period.

The statistical organization notes that in May only 6 dividend cuts and 6 omissions were reported, compared with 65 and 48 respectively in May 1958. Increases numbered 81, compared with 29, and resumptions were 13, against 19. Extras rose to 51 from 37.

There are more shares to pay dividends on this year. Stock splits have picked up of late. Last year there were only 17 among companies listed on the big board, the lowest number in the last 10 years.

Companies were more liberal with stock dividends. The listed firms paid out 135 of these last year. But this was a drop from 164 the previous year, and from the record of 183 in 1956.

The strong upsurge in profits, and to a lesser degree the rise in dividends, are being used by labor as an argument for raising wages.

But stock exchange economists look at the impact on industry from another angle.

It is estimated that roughly 10 million individuals, as well as many companies and trust funds, own stocks. The 12½ billion dollars in dividends will add buying power to these individuals and to many large and small firms.

On just one day alone — next Wednesday — 24 companies listed on the big board will send nearly 313 million dollars in dividend checks to common share owners.

Plane Collapse Is Fatal to Pilot

Parachute Won't Open After Inflatable Aircraft Goes Bad at Akron

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Part of an inflatable airplane apparently collapsed, and the Army lieutenant who was learning to fly it plunged several hundred feet to his death.

Two persons said they saw Lt. Malcolm B. Wallace, 26, bail out after the tail of the craft collapsed Friday. Because he was too low, his parachute did not open, military authorities said.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Warner L. Hughes, who lives near Goodyear Aircraft Corp.'s Wingfoot Lake, southwest of Akron, said the motor "sounded like it was missing. I saw the tail collapse and the wings fall off afterwards."

But a Goodyear spokesman said this was wrong, the wings did not fall off. He would not say whether they had deflated. An investigator said it had been determined the motor was missing before the crash.

★ ★ ★

The body of the plane, made of neoprene - impregnated cloth, as are the wings and tail assembly, was still inflated after the crash. It landed about 500 feet from where the officer's body struck, waist-deep water in a swamp area.

★ ★ ★

Military authorities refused to give details concerning the crash, and the scene was sealed off.

Planned mainly for rescue work, observation and transportation, the entire craft when deflated can be packed in a space the size of a wheelbarrow bed. Bottled air is used to inflate it, with the engine supplying air after it has started.

GOP Chairman Sees Wide Open Contest

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — If hotel accommodations are admissible as evidence, the race for the Republican nomination for president should be wide open at the national convention in Chicago next year.

★ ★ ★

According to the GOP national chairman, Sen. Thruston B. Morton (R-Ky), there will be six individual suites reserved for those seeking the presidential nomination.

Morton told at a news conference of his plans for billeting.

"I go on the assumption there's going to be a contest," he explained.

Scouting Needs Blamed on Men, Not the Boys

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—"Ours is not a boy problem," says a former Idaho scoutmaster — Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson. "It is a man problem. Our boys want scouting. We want them to have it."

★ ★ ★

Thus did Benson size up the nation's youth situation in an address Friday night to the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America.

"It is not for us to moan and groan about juvenile delinquency and the other problems of youth," he said. "Our one problem is leadership. One of the great difficulties confronting our young people is that they have more critics than models."

Chance for Graduates

LANSING (AP)—June high school graduates are advised they can meet their military obligation and still enroll in college by joining the State National Guard, Michigan's Adjutant General, Maj. Gen. Ronald D. McDonald, says enlistees can take six months' active training and be back in time to enter college the first of next year. They can complete their obligation by one night of training a week and 15 days each summer at Camp Grayling.

Reflections

TRUST YOURSELF:

Too often we push aside a flash of inspiration; it is ours and being ours can't be any good, or so we think. However, Freedom was once a thought. Steam, as motive power was a thought. Edison's thought illuminated our cities. Madame Curie had a flash of inspiration; among other things she sent a ship under Polar ice. Marconi had enough confidence in himself and his new idea—wireless—to change all the then existing means of communications.

Christ changed the course of human behavior with a new concept. Juvenile Courts was an idea previous to 1899. Boy Scouts, an idea born in England, has members all over the world. One man thought, change long horns for tender beef; that thought made him a millionaire.

Trust yourself. Trust your ideas. Put them into execution; they'll help you, and your fellowman.

MONROE OSMUN—SCHOOL BOARD MEMBER

MONROE M. OSMUN

In the past fourteen years as a member of the Pontiac Board of Education I have felt that the publicity and news coverage of candidates for this important public office were sufficient to acquaint the public with the qualifications of each person. Only because there are apparently misunderstandings, rumors and statements because of lack of full knowledge of the program of the Board of Education does this ad appear.

It is the finest way I know to get the information before all the people, quickly and authoritatively. For this reason I am making the exception to my policy in connection with the coming election Monday.

MONROE OSMUN

Pontiac's School System Compares With the Finest

The programing of the Pontiac Board of Education and the Pontiac School Administration are giving Pontiac a school system among the finest in the country. Working together the Board and the Staff have constantly changed for the betterment of the educational curricula, teaching methods and equipment. This has enabled Pontiac to attract excellent teachers and staff. It has kept Pontiac on the Accredited List of the University of Michigan and the North Central Association, enabling Pontiac Graduates to enter the universities and colleges of the forty-eight states without penalty.

Stress is being made in the teaching of mathematics, sciences, reading and English. New emphasis is being placed on the foundation subjects to strengthen our entire educational program from kindergarden to high school.

The present Board of Educations has devoted hours of study to keep Pontiac's Schools up-to-date in both education offered and facilities with which to teach.

Pontiac's School Building Program Is Good

No other city in the state can match Pontiac for value received for the dollar in school construction. Through the cooperation of a Citizen's Advisory Committee working with the Board of Education and School Administration the building program has been able to meet reasonable demands and done so within budgeted allowances. The present planning of the Board of Education will continue this policy.

Pontiac's School Financing Is Outstanding

Among financing experts the manner of school financing of construction, expansion and administration by the Pontiac Board of Education is lauded as sound, economical and not burdensome to the taxpayers. It is looked upon as an example to be emulated.

The public has always been kept well informed of the activities of the Board of Education through the newspaper and other news agencies.

It Seems to Me . . . .

Klausmeyer and Osmun Best Qualified for School Posts

On Monday, Pontiac electors pick two citizens to represent them on the School Board.

These are important posts. School problems are huge.

★ ★ ★

With the number of children increasing rapidly, the voters must select competent people with good business judgment and a background of experience. The school board isn't just a pleasant social organization or a neighborhood gathering.

★ ★ ★

School problems are of increasing importance. The mere cost of keeping a roof over the heads of the new pupils falls under the heading of "Big Business." It takes money. Education is becoming an expensive necessity. The taxpayers should enlist the aid and guidance of well-rounded people with financial training.

★ ★ ★

Personally, I believe that Monroe M. Osmun and Dr. Leonard F. Klausmeyer meet these requirements most. I believe they are best qualified to handle the educational problems and the mounting costs which confront taxpayers today.

There is no substitute for hard-headed experience.

Credit Cards to Stay? . . . .

In the current issue of "Life" is a lengthy dissertation on these credit cards which are beginning to surround mankind.

Life shows a picture of a Detroit citizen who revels in the possession of 87. They come in the mail and they arrive without solicitation. But I'm not as sold on the pesky things as their sponsors and I predict that in a couple of years they'll be passe.

★ ★ ★

The Diners' Club is now 10 years old and has nearly a million card holders. The American Express claims more than 600,000 members. The first charges $5 a year and the second $6. The rest are free.

★ ★ ★

The use is spreading like wildfire. A publisher friend of mine stepped into the downtown office of an airline and when he started to pay cash, the young lady practically requested him to use a credit card. In fact, she had to leave the office to make change. She told him with some asperity that this transaction was the first cash deal she'd handled all day.

★ ★ ★

Puerto Rico is a tolerable stretch from Pontiac but when I dropped one of these pesky contraptions on the cashier's desk he merely noted down the number, asked me to sign and I got the bill back home two weeks later.

Shannon's "free airport" is several thousand miles in a different direction. It collects no taxes and thus everything is "dirt cheap." I flashed a credit card and it brought instant acceptance.

Money wasn't necessary.

You paid at home — later.

★ ★ ★

The reason I doubt the permanency of these things is twofold.

I understand that people who are thousands of miles from home can show one of these cards and remark:

"If I sign, you'll get your money in a few weeks minus seven per cent; or, I'll lay down cold cash right here and you'll give me five per cent discount."

In the second instance the seller is two per cent ahead and has his money instantly.

★ ★ ★

If these practices become widespread the real victim is the traveler, or the purchaser without a card. He possesses no lever. He's like "the soldier gone to war without a gun."

Life Magazine says sellers report greater sales because cash isn't required. Psychologically the ability to "charge it" leads the buyer to greater extravagance.

★ ★ ★

One of the officials says that ultimately there may be only one credit card which everyone will use so that charge accounts will become the accepted and orthodox practice of all peoples everywhere.

★ ★ ★

But somehow — from observation and listening — I think they'll run their course. This is a day of hysteria, experimentation and a burning yen to fool with something new and untried. It's in the air. The scientists put it there. And we're weaving a domesticated version of the same into the woof of everyday life.

The credit card is too ambitious.

And in Conclusion . . . .

Jottings from the well thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

BILL WILLMAN, City Manager and former MSU football star, declares State will take a big football step forward this fall. My scout at Ann Arbor says Michigan will be "improved" but several notches away from the Spartans. . . . . JOHN F. GORDON, President of GM, had his personal and private tomato plants ripped to shreds by last Friday's torrential rain and violent winds. The full fury of that storm centered in Bloomfield Hills. . . . . Glimpsed on Woodward Avenue, GEORGE TRUMBULL SR. in an especially doggy Bonneville convertible, top down, and looking every inch the undergraduate. Incidentally, he's a real terrific guy.

Tom Wilson tells me that after Sam Snead set his all time golf tournament record of 59, he watched Samuel Jackson spend the next 40 minutes on the practice tee. Newspapermen say Harry Truman's secret ambition is to be President of the University of Missouri.

You can mark down L. L. Colbert, Chrysler boss, as one of the most effective after dinner speakers in all the ranks of the nation's leading executives. When he finished addressing newspapermen this week, he was given a tremendous ovation — which he richly deserved. Newsstand sales of men's magazines are off a third and scores of them totter on the brink of oblivion.

★ ★ ★

A flying saucer settled gently and 13 little green men climbed out. "Is this Texas?" asked the leader. The Texan nodded, open mouthed. "We've been 20 days hunting. Is everything here better than it is everywhere else?" Again the Texan nodded. "Is is there anything I can do for you?" he asked uncertainly. His big Texas Adams' apple bobbed soundlessly. "There is," said the leader crisply. "We want 13 little green women." (Courtesy L.L.C.) . . . . . FRANCES DUFFY has the dilliest greenhouse you ever saw and it's attached to her own residence. The POWER of FAITH — by Howard Brodie

FAITH THAT AMERICANS LIVE BY — 10

Police surrounded the gangsters' hangout near Chicago. Inside was a captive. Bishop Robert Nelson Spencer, alone and unarmed, entered the stronghold, untied the prisoner and walked out with him.

Prayer tells you what to say," said the bishop. "In a sense, I let someone else do the talking."

Crippled in one arm as a youth and medicated until he was 18, this farm boy rose to become the Episcopal bishop of West Missouri. He is now retired. The governor recently proclaimed a day recognizing his "devoted services."

As a young minister Spencer worked on a road gang, when volunteers were called for to build new streets. He established a sanatorium for meningitis victims. He had cots and a soup kitchen set up in his church's basement for the unemployed during a freezing spell. For all this he sought no publicity, saying, "This is Christ's house." He'd probably have said, "See that you tell it unto no man."

Days of All Faiths

How Many Apostles Were There?

BY DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

How many Apostles were there really? We talk customarily about the "Twelve," but when you start counting you run into confusion. Of the original 12 Judas turned traitor and Matthias was elected to take his place.

That makes 13. Then St. Paul came along, "as one born out of due season," and claimed to be an Apostle. His claim may have been briefly disputed at the time, but he is now generally known as the Apostle Paul — and that makes 14.

Thursday the Christian calendar honors even a fifteenth: St. Barnabas, who by tradition has "the Apostle" added to his name even though he does not appear in any of the four Gospels and is never mentioned until the fourth chapter of Acts, verses 36 and 37.

★ ★ ★

It is well agreed that he is called an Apostle simply because his efforts in the development of the early Church were quite as great and as important as those of any who actually had a technical right to the title.

In fact, there was a time when Barnabas was the most influential of those who first took the new faith outside Jerusalem and began its world-wide extension.

By going to Antioch (in Syria) he shifted the center of Christianity to the Gentile world and broke through the narrow-mindedness of those who were saying that the Church could receive only persons who would conform to the Jewish Law.

★ ★ ★

Before long his followers at Antioch had so far outstripped the original group in Jerusalem that they were sending support and welfare supplies to the mother Church. Jerusalem had become a missionary responsibility for Antioch. It was here, while Barnabas was their leader, that the members of the new faith were first called by the name of Christians.

During all this time St. Paul was very much in a secondary position. For more than a year he was nothing more than Barnabas' assistant.

The assistant, however, was a fast learner, and he soon reached an equality with his instructor. But nowhere is it indicated that they traded positions with Paul becoming the number one man.

When the Church at Antioch was on a solid enough footing, Barnabas and Paul set out together on the first of the great missionary journeys, and continued as co-workers until they had a falling out as even saints will sometimes have.

Tradition says Barnabas was one of the Seventy whom the Lord sent out on a sort of "practice run" of evangelism — see St. Luke, chapter 10, verse 1. Whatever his now forgotten background may have been, there is no doubt that he was a very great and much underrated man. He must have been a popular man, too, among his fellow workers, for although his name was really Joseph they renamed him Barnabas, which means "son (or man) of encouragement."

Barnabas is said to have been martyred at the hands of an angry mob on the isle of Cyprus. His death was by stoning.

"At 19 I cut a right wisdom tooth, later had to have it extracted. At 22 cut the left, and had to have that extracted. Now the dentist says I still have a third wisdom tooth — is that possible?" (W.W.)

DR. BRADY

Answer — At the age of 18 to 25 years one should cut four wisdom teeth — two upper and two lower third molars. But nearly half of us fail to cut from one to all four wisdom teeth. Through evolution we are losing our molars — we have no use for them, thanks to our namby-pamby, refined diet.

"An uncle of mine takes several doses of (a nostrum containing acetanilide) every day. Claims he doesn't feel right without it."

Answer — Common signs of acetanilide addiction (chronic acetanilide poisoning) are headache, anemia, loss of weigh, peculiar livid or bluish appearance of lips, skin, nails; persistent fatigue. If he persists in taking the dope he will hasten his end.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Minister Needs to Use Psychology

Although Johathan is a brilliant seminary graduatee, his mother-in-law knows far more about how to fill a church than he does. For Jonathan is an intellectual four-flusher and imitates his polysyllabic professors instead of Jesus, who spoke simply, decried long public prayers, and was the greatest Applied Psychologist of all time.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE B-454: Jonathan B., aged 29, is a brilliant clergyman.

DR. CRANE

"But he needs help," his considerate mother-in-law informed me recently, following a speech I had made in Ogden, Utah.

"He has a splendid church. But people go to sleep when he gets into the pulpit. And it isn't because he is lazy. Why he works like a beaver to prepare his sermons.

"But they are so highbrow and phrased in such long words that the average parishioner can't understand what he is talking about.

"Besides, he deals with broad social problems and our international relations, instead of the simple home-like needs of housewives and their families.

★ ★ ★

"Dr. Crane, I've read your column back home in Miami, and have tried to get Jonathan to read it, too.

"But he considers it too low brow for his scholarly upbringing. He thinks everything stated in 2-syllable words is beneath his dignity."

POLYSYLLABIC FOUR FLUSHERS

A lot of intellectual hypocrites also are in the same boat with Jonathan. They, too, think nothing can be profound or scientific unless couched in 5-syllable words.

★ ★ ★

Jesus was thus attacked as a rabble-rouser because he used simple language which common folks could understand.

His foes couldn't arouse those same listeners because they talked over the heads of people.

The average word in the Bible contains 5 letters and has only 2 syllables.

Alas, many theological students follow their polysyllabic profs instead of the Founder of their Christian faith. That's why Morpheus moves into so many churches, and the parishioners stay away.

It takes a livewire in the pulpit to electrify a congregation.

And a verbal "livewire" not only is energetic and enthusiastic in his platform movements, but uses forceful words that ring the bell with his audience.

★ ★ ★

Jesus liked simple language and short prayers. And Jesus also used public platform psychology, including what we call stage materials.

Thus, he held up a coin to attract the attention of the vast throng. He employed "audience participation" by throwing questions at them, which they answered aloud (Ritual does this in modern churches).

He likewise had his patients cooperate in their cures so he demanded that one cripple "take up thy bed."

PREACHERS, NOTA BENE

Clergymen, start imitating Christ instead of your polysyllabic profs and you'll soon have overflow crowds in your churches.

Bishop Sheen and Billy Graham and Oral Roberts, plus Dwight L. Moody and Billy Sunday, didn't "obfuscate" their audiences.

So get hep to modern platform psychology. You are beating Christ all over again when you drive people out of His churches by your intellectual four-flushing tactics.

Jonathan's mother-in-law is far ahead of Jonathan in her grasp of forensic problems and public speaking demands for churches.

So send for the booklet "Public Platform Psychology," enclosing a a stamped return envelope, plus 20c (non-profit).

If you follow it, you can soon increase attendance 50 per cent, as many clergy will attest.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Voice of the People

Urges Everyone to Vote in School Board Election

School elections are of the utmost importance to all voters. Monday should see a big turnout of interested people who are anxious to follow school problems and make certain that the best candidates are elected.

Indifference to education is unthinkable. We face the question of costs and the question of proper education for our boys and girls so they can compete successfully with the graduates of other schools. The needs of the school system should bring all voters to the polls.

I'm tired of all this "professional" teacher hooey. Most of them graduated from college like thousands of other people, and the only thing special about them is their audacity in thinking they're so special.

M. A. Degree

If teachers are so all-fired anxious to be paid as much as other people, let them take some of the risk other people take. They expect never to be fired, never to be laid off, never to have to prove themselves individually, never to have a year go by without a raise and about 87 other guaranteed securities, and yet they expect to be paid top dollar besides. On any economic scale the risks are weighted against the securities in determining salary. Of course, teachers have an economic conception all their own.

I see it stated in the paper the contract for the new Courthouse was awarded to Fredman Company so more local men would have work. If you will look at his other jobs, you will find about 90 per cent of his men are from other states. More local men would be hired from the other company and he should have had it anyway as he was the lowest bidder. What do they accept bids for? To pay more money from taxpayers?

This we do know. The Reds have never forgiven Spain for the decisive defeat they received at their hands. They aim here as everywhere is to set race against race and religion against religion, and employe against employer. Tibet is an outstanding example.

They copy the Democrats about 10 years behind and that's what they'll do with this race with Russia.

Keep Eye on Goal

Creative Optimism Works

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Ignace Strasfogel made his debut as conductor at The Metropolitan Opera this winter when Dimitri Mitropoulos suffered a heart attack. Mr. Strasfogel replaced Mr. Mitropoulos in Tschaikovsky's "Eugene Onegin" and won immediate critical praise for his conducting. He received the same acclaim and enthusiastic, complimentary reviews for subsequent conducting.

When Ignace Strasfogel came to the United States from Berlin in 1933 he deliberately embraced a new attitude, one which he considers to be typically American. He capsules it this way: A European in a bad situation may lament it, but an American either tries to improve it or escape from it. He calls this attitude "creative optimism."

When asked if this is his permanent viewpoint he replied, "Yes, but it's only part of it. The important part, it seems to me, for anyone with a goal is to keep his sights fixed firmly on it, and not to be deflected from a forward, progressive effort toward it by setbacks.

"He should not waste emotional energy, which is absolutely essential in constructive activity, by lamenting misfortunes or being bitter about them. On the other hand you can't be rigid about things, holding out only for what you think will lead immediately to your goal."

Strasfogel already had won the German State prize for composition at the age of 16, and had been accompanist for such great violinists as Carl Flesch and Joseph Szigetti, later on he was composer and conductor for Max Reinhardt and accompanist and soloist for Lauritz Melchior on his tours. He also conducted some of the great orchestras such as the New York Philharmonic.

He accepted the position of assistant conductor at the Metropolitan although there was no immediate prospect of conducting a performance. He felt this post would furnish him an opportunity to acquire additional grounding in opera for the assistant conductor is entrusted with the preparation of works which another conductor will lead in performances. He found it stimulating to work with other conductors and musicians with performers, veterans and newcomers.

For eight years he was a conductor for the Metropolitan Opera Auditions of the Air and during summers was on the staff of the Katherine Long School which the Metropolitan maintains for training talented young operatic and ballet aspirants.

When fame knocked at his door everyone was so glad for him — musicians he had worked with, singers he had coached, young artists to whom he had given pointers, and conductors for whom he had meticulously prepared works which they would later conduct in the glory of the spotlight.

I had meant to ask Ignace Strasfogel if he had not found the years of waiting for that spotlight hard, but the question seemed meaningless after what he already had said. He obviously had used the years to develop his own capacities, and just as rewarding, those of others.

Ignace Strasfogel, conductor of The Metropolitan Opera, discusses his attitude of "creative optimism" in today's column.

They had not been years of waiting but years of doing. When this was mentioned to him he smiled in agreement and said something which every one of us could apply to our own lives. "That is the beauty of creative optimism. It frees you to explore the possibilities instead of immobilizing you to bemoan the improbable."

Do You Edge Dad Right Out of Picture

By RUTH MILLETT

Don't expect your husband to come right out and tell you that.

You ought to get busy and lose some weight. (But if he frequently admires the good looks of the women you know who have kept their figures, you certainly ought to take it as a broad hint that he would like it better if there were a little less of you.)

You're a poor housekeeper. (But don't ignore the storm signals when he complains that he never can find anything in all the clutter or that you are out of some household necessity again, or suggests that you get the children to clean up their rooms.)

Your social life is pretty dull. (But if he says "not the Joneses, again" when you mention that the Jonses are going to drop by for an evening of bridge, you had better check up to see if you haven't narrowed your friendships to such an extent that your social life is in a rut.)

You no longer bother to listen when he tries to talk to you. (But if you've wondered why your husband doesn't talk about his work or his hobbies or discuss the books he reads with you, chances are you quit listening to him a long time ago.)

You are so absorbed in the lives of your children that you don't have much time for him. (But if he looks disappointed when you tell him you can't go to a dinner or meeting with him because you've got to help Sis get dressed for a dance, or because Buddy has a line to say in the school play, look out. Your husband probably rightly feels that he shouldn't always be the one who can get along without you.)

★ ★ ★

He feels shut out of the family circle. (But when a man begins to say to his children, "You had better ask your Mother" it's time for his wife to start checking to see if she isn't taking over responsibilities that should be shared.)

Send Notes and Pictures Right Away

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: I am in a dither as to what is the correct thing to do in this situation: I was married seven months ago and due to financial circumstances, I was unable to get any of my pictures until this week. I ordered quite a lot of "thank-you photographs" which I intended to send out to those who sent wedding presents.

"I would like to know since so much time has elapsed if it would be proper to send these out now or just forget about it. I was told by a friend to send them out — that it is never too late. She also advised me to write a note explaining why it is so late. I would very much like your advice on this matter."

Answer: Your friend's advice is excellent. By all means send thanks for the wedding presents you received — and as soon as possible.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When an anniversary, or birthday, falls in the middle of the week and it is not convenient to give a party on that day, is it proper to have a party several days before the date? A friend and I have had an argument about this.

"I say that it should never be celebrated before the actual date, but can always be celebrated after. Will you please give us your opinion?"

Answer: There is no rule about this, although it is rather better that a celebration take place after an event than before.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please settle an argument my boy friend and I are having about pointing. I said it was very bad manners to point a finger at any time. He thinks that as long as you are showing direction, it is all right. What do you say about this?"

Answer: While pointing is not a habit to get into, it is not at all improper to point at objects so long as you are careful never to give the appearance of pointing at a person.

'Summer Skies' Shows Set at Cranbrook Institute

Summer activities at Cranbrook Institute of Science include the planetarium "summer skies" demonstrations. There will be three extra public demonstrations each week in July in addition to the usual scheduling.

★ ★ ★

Scheduled are two demonstrations Wednesday afternoon at 3 and at 4 p.m. and extra demonstrations at 3 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Saturday and Sunday displays will be at the usual 2:30 and 3:30 p.m. Views through the observatory telescope will be permitted, but reservations must be made by calling the Institute.

Other summer doings include a lapidary class beginning June 9 under the tutelage of James Garlick and continuing Tuesday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m. through July 28.

★ ★ ★

Two new exhibits will be featured in the natural history museum. One, a group of passenger pigeons, now extinct, shows the birds as they might have appeared in Oakland County in the late 19th Century.

Another exhibit shows Mexico's "Divine Mushroom" and concerns the curious custom of using mushrooms as drugs, a primitive religious rite that still persists among

Encourage Tots to Collect Seeds

Children like to collect things. Start them at the first of the summer collecting seeds from fruits in season.

Then when they have a lull in their play days because of bad weather, show them how to paste these to an old dish or cup. They make pretty designs and can be painted if desired, and topped with shellac for more permanent displays.

SCHOOL BOARD ELECTION

--Monday, June 8--

If You Believe:

The Board of Education needs more active and discerning participation in the management of your school affairs.

The Board of Education is failing to provide the proper Citizen leadership in determining policy and sharing with the school administration the responsibility for program, methods of operation, and the planning and development of the building program.

Better lines of communication are needed between the Board and the general public.

In more active and critical participation of the Board members in working with the school administration in planning policy and procedure.

In the creation of a citizen advisory committee to work with the Board in the planning and development of the building program: 1. To eliminate extravagant design which results in high costs of; A. Construction, and, B. Maintenance and operation.

Vote MONDAY

ELECT ROY B. MacAFEE

Qualified: EDUCATION: B. of Sc. Degree and a Major In Secondary Education, B.A.S. Degree in Boys' Work.

EXPERIENCE: Boys' Work — Social Case Worker, Housing management Now Executive Director of The Pontiac Housing Commission.

AND: Executive Committee Member of National Ass'n of Housing Officials and Past President of Great Lakes Chapter. Served on National Committee. Member of Social Service Planning Division of Greater Pontiac Advisory Council and Chairman of Committee on Ageing.

"If I am elected as your School Board Representative I will study the school laws and not be dominated by any one man. I will do my own thinking for the betterment of all the school problems. I promise I will not be any rubber stamp to anyone."

With Tina, Verbalizers Outrank Physicalizers

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — "I like guys," says Tina Louise, "who verbalize.

"More than guys who physicalize."

Tina, who's been reading a book lately, something about life on the moon, that was long-haired, literary and lunar, slammed it shut and came to lunch with me where she declared herself in favor of men who have minds over muscles.

"Physicalization is getting to be such a tired thing," said the tall, titian Tina, whose physicalization in "God's Little Acre" was something to see. "Verbalization is the coming thing.

"Men," she went on, "imagine that this Don Juan approach appeals to women, but I really think the route to seduction today is by verbalization rather than physicalization."

"You sound like Amos 'n' Andy," I mentioned to Tina, who is on such a diet that she was having for lunch only a cup of coffee — and a small cup, at that.

"I mean it," insisted Tina. "It's a surer way to a woman's heart to be interested in what she's thinking than what she's wearing or not wearing.

"For example," she added, dreamily, "how she feels about the coming elections or about planetary problems."

TINA

Tina looked me straight in my brain and added: "You can get tired to the point of tears with this dull, monotonous talk from men about how attractive you are. But the man who compliments you: brain piques your interest.

"For example, I have a friend who never sends me flowers without writing a poem to go with the flowers. It's lovely for a woman to know she has inspired a poem."

"What kind of poems does he write — limericks?" I asked.

Tina looked at me rather coolly. I thought. "Free verse," she explained, patiently.

"What men are the best verbalizers?" I asked Tina.

"Adlai Stevenson," she announced at once. "Bernard Baruch . . . The authors of 'Ugly Americans' . . . Arthur Miller . . . Eli Kazan . . . David Niven . . ."

"Any other actors?"

"Not many. I don't go out with many actors. They verbalize all right, but they mostly verbalize about themselves."

★ ★ ★

Hastily she interjected: "Of course Cary Grant is one whom I admire. He's a verbalizer more than a physicalizer."

Tina, a former model and Broadway actress who has made three movies, revealed that she's off to Paris and Rome where she expects to negotiate for foreign films. She could have done more Hollywood pictures, but the producers all wanted her to do films in which she concentrated on physicalizing.

As she walked out, every man in the place turned his eyes toward her and every man present was heard saying, "Wow! What a brain she's got." Sure they did.

EARL'S PEARLS: A modern sculptor is a man who can take a rough block of stone or wood, work on it for months, and make it look like a rough block of stone or wood . . . That's earl, brother.

Cecil B. De Mille's Son Sued for Divorce

HOLLYWOOD (AP)— The late Cecil B. De Mille's son, John, 45, is defendant in a divorce suit filed Friday by Louise De Mille, 44. She alleged cruelty.

★ ★ ★

She said community property consisted only of $5,000 insurance on her husband's life and asked that he be compelled to maintain the premiums with her as beneficiary.

★ ★ ★

She asked only $1 monthly alimony but $200 monthly support for two of their three children. The eldest, Allan, is 21; John is 16 and Dianne, 11.

The couple was married in 1934 and separated last December.
