GOP to Delay Districting Bill Effective Date

Kills Chances for Fall Supervisor Election on 1 Man-1 Vote Basis

LANSING (AP) — House Republicans made sure yesterday Michigan's 83 counties will not elect their supervisors on a one man-one vote basis next Nov. 8.

A bill, which calls for electing supervisors from single-member, equal-population districts, could cause "1966 election chaos and confusion," Republicans said.

They decided in caucus to withhold the one vote Democrats need to give immediate effect to an apportionment bill that has passed both Houses.

Without it, the bill would not become law until next April 1—90 days after the planned Dec. 30 adjournment of the Legislature.

★ ★ ★

A number of Republicans support the bill, now in a House-Senate conference committee, said Minority Leader Robert Waldron, R-Grosse Pointe.

VOTED FOR MEASURE

Waldron was among Republicans voting for the measure when it passed the House.

They oppose giving it immediate effect, he said, for the following reasons:

- A lack of time to solve technical problems involved;
- A lack of study of the "many existing statutes" involved;
- An "already overcrowded 1966 election ballot";
- Failure of the Michigan Supreme Court "to come up with a clear directive on the issue";
- A possible adverse effect on the success of pending home rule legislation.

Speaker Joseph Kowalski, D-Detroit, has said if the law were on the books by mid-May it would permit one-man vote-vote elections with only one change in the present schedules — a special primary in September. The statewide primary is Aug. 2.

From Germans

U.S. May Buy Arms Back

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department is considering new transactions to buy back and otherwise reacquire about 500,000 bombs and artillery shells previously sold or given to West Germany, it was learned today.

★ ★ ★

The shells and bombs would go into U.S. stocks and presumably would be available for the war in Viet Nam.

At the same time, the Pentagon is thinking of getting back about 5 million rounds of small arms ammunition, 35,000 small weapons and about 1,500 radios from the Germans.

This materiel would be redistributed under the military aid program to other allied and friendly countries, possibly including South Viet Nam.

★ ★ ★

The Pentagon's moves to reclaim this ordnance and equipment were disclosed in a letter from John T. McNaughton, assistant secretary of defense, to Rep. Durward G. Hall, R-Mo.

COPY OF LETTER

A copy of McNaughton's letter, dated March 31, became available after Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara testified before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee yesterday, denying once again reports of bomb shortages.

In his letter, McNaughton said "the guiding principle on reacquisition is, of course, that we will pay no more for the materiel than was paid to us when it was sold."

Last week, the Defense Department acknowledged that it had bought back from a German firm 5,570 750-pound bombs at a price more than 10 times what the weapons had been sold for as surplus.

The bombs were sold to the German firm for $1.70 each and the Defense Department paid $21 apiece to get them back. It was explained that, among other things, the high price took into account expenses the German firm incurred in transporting the bombs, building facilities to remove their nitrates for fertilizer and for other business costs.

WAR MATERIEL PRICE

McNaughton told Hall the price of the war materiel to be reacquired from Germany cannot be given precisely because some of it was sold and some was furnished as grant aid.

Officials said materiel which had been given as outright gift assistance could be reclaimed under terms of aid agreements.

McNaughton, who is in charge of the Pentagon's international security affairs office, said U.S. military personnel in Europe are currently inspecting the bombs, ammunition, arms and radios and negotiating the value.

LBJ Honors Dead GI With Highest Medal

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson presented the Medal of Honor posthumously today to a young paratrooper who threw himself on a Communist hand grenade in South Viet Nam and absorbed the blast with his body to protect four fellow soldiers.

A White House ceremony honored 19-year-old Pfc. Milton L. Olive II of Chicago with the nation's highest military decoration.

PFC. MILTON OLIVE II

The youth's father, Milton L. Olive of Chicago, and about 20 other relatives of the hero were flown to Washington last night for the ceremony.

The dead soldier is the third person and first Negro to be awarded the Medal of Honor for service in Viet Nam.

Young Olive was killed in action against Communist forces in Viet Nam Oct. 22, 1965, after falling on the grenade.

The citation states: "Through his bravery, unhesitating action and complete disregard of his own safety, he prevented additional loss of life or injury to the members of his platoon.

"Pvt. Olive's conspicuous extraordinary heroism and intrepidity at the risk of his own life above and beyond the call of duty are in the highest tradition of the United States Army and reflect great credit upon himself and the armed forces of his country."

Predicts Break in Viet

NEW YORK (AP) — W. Averell Harriman, ambassador at large, predicts a favorable "break will come" in Viet Nam if the United States acts as it did during the Berlin and Korean crises.

Announce UF Division Head

To Direct Planning of Women's Activity

MRS. JAMES H. COWEN

The appointment of Mrs. James H. Cowen, 6170 Overlook, Independence Township, to head the Pontiac Area United Fund Women's Campaign Division, has been announced by Donald O. Tatroe, 1966 general campaign chairman.

She will be responsible for over-all planning of women's campaign activities and major campaign appointments in Waterford and Independence townships and the Pontiac, Lake Orion and Lake Angelus areas.

Mrs. Cowen succeeds Mrs. William G. Wright who held the post in 1965.

She has served as Independence Township chairman the past two years as well as district chairman and solicitor in prior years.

★ ★ ★

The mother of three, Mrs. Cowen is a past president of Clarkston Guild Study Club, is currently active in the Drayton Plains Presbyterian Church, PFO Sisterhood, and is a member of the Women's Division Board of the Pontiac Area United Fund.

Her husband is assistant superintendent of Plant No. 3, GMC Truck & Coach Division.

Spring to Take a Holiday While Cold Comes In

Near-freezing temperatures are expected to hit the Pontiac area tonight with lows of 32 to 36.

The mercury started falling at 6 a.m. when the reading was 61. After dipping to 42 at 10:15 the temperature climbed back to 56 by 2 p.m.

The weatherman forecasts partially fair and cool with highs of 44 to 50 tomorrow. Fair and a little warmer is the outlook for Saturday.

Morning easterly winds at 10 to 30 miles will shift to west to northwest and diminish tonight.

Leaflets Urge a Boycott of Detroit School

DETROIT (AP) — Students going to classes at Detroit's predominantly Negro Northern High School today were given handbills urging them to report, instead, to classes at a "Freedom School."

Northern Principal Arthur Carty, whose ouster has been demanded by some of his students, was at his desk and said that despite the boycott "there are students in school today.

"We haven't made a count yet as to how many but it seems many are missing. However, I do not know how many and I do not know where they are."

The handbills, signed by three student leaders, urged students to "Disregard threats of reprisal. We will keep our united front."

★ ★ ★

Carty declined to say what measures, if any, would be taken against the missing students.

HINT OF DISCIPLINE

However, Detroit School Superintendent Samuel Brownell has hinted disciplinary action if the students don't return to classes.

Brownell yesterday rejected demands for Carty's ouster, but conceded "strong disagreements exist at the teacher-administrative level."

Students have complained they are receiving an inadequate education at Northern compared with the quality of teaching at many predominantly white high schools.

★ ★ ★

They laid most of the blame on Carty, and some faculty members backed them up.

OVER THE TOP — E. M. Estes, chairman of the St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Building Fund Campaign, adds the final 25 cents to the campaign total which exceeded the $3.25 million goal by nearly $150,000. Holding the long sheet of paper designating the final result figure are key campaign workers (from left) John W. Fitzgerald, Larry Hartman, Ernest A. Jones, Dr. Eugene J. Keeffe, Theodore B. Artificial Heart Tried on Man

Work to Save Patient After Device Falters

HOUSTON (UPI)—Famed surgeon Dr. Michael DeBakey today inserted an artificial heart for the first time into a human being and worked valiantly with it and with hand massage to try to save the patient.

DeBakey and a team of three surgeons implanted the artificial heart that has been DeBakey's life goal but the patient's blood pressure dropped and massage was adopted. A heart-lung machine, used successfully in the past, was hooked up.

The historic surgery began at Methodist Hospital when DeBakey opened the chest of Marcel L. L. De Rudder, 65, of Westville, Ill., to operate on a faulty valve in the aorta leading to the heart.

DeBakey had said beforehand he would use the artificial heart on a patient otherwise doomed.

★ ★ ★

Some 75 minutes after he started, Dr. John Lancaster, a heart specialist, announced:

"The pump is working beautifully."

★ ★ ★

Then, the pressure dropped seriously. The surgical team began to massage the heart laid bare before them on the sterile operating table.

St. Joseph Fund Drive Ends; $3.25 Million Goal Passed

A year-long team effort of business, labor, industry and private citizens culminated last night with the announcement that the St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Building Fund Campaign surpassed its $3.25 million goal.

E. M. Estes, chairman of the fund, announced a campaign total of $3,398,544.25 at the closing dinner and final campaign report meeting in the Pontiac Elks Temple. These funds will be used to help complete the $10,000,000 facility which is the over-all program under way at St. Joseph's.

Announcement of the "over the top" figure drew a standing ovation from some 315 key volunteers in attendance.

Since the campaign started last April more than 1,000 workers from the Pontiac area have participated in the drive by serving on various committees.

The minimum goal of $3.25 million established at the outset was aimed at meeting half of the estimated $6.5 million required for expansion and modernization of the hospital.

'VICTORY DINNER'

Mother Mary Leila, assistant Mother Provincial of the Sisters of Mercy, termed the report dinner as truly a "victory dinner."

She expressed gratitude to the many who had worked so diligently in the campaign and called upon key campaign workers to stand and be recognized.

"Your great gift of action gives the greatest satisfaction," Mother Mary Leila said: "This outstanding achievement demonstrates your confidence in the Mercy Sisters."

★ ★ ★

GROUPS CITED

He specifically cited the UAW-CIO, the three General Motors divisions based in Pontiac, the $1 million corporate matching gift of General Motors, the total of $199,000 contributed by members of the Edward Fisher family as well as efforts of campaign committee chairmen.

"The job seemed so big at the beginning, we wondered where we could get all the required funds," Fitzgerald said.

He added the successful campaign results point up the fact that there are many good people in our area.

★ ★ ★

It's Rewarding

Boy Is a Joy---Honest

An 11-year-old Pontiac boy made the day considerably brighter for a New York City man Tuesday — $710 worth of brightness to be exact.

JOHN DANIC

John Danic, a quiet sixth grader at St. Benedict's School, found a billfold containing $710 in a telephone booth at Telegraph and West Huron in Waterford Township.

John, the son of Mr. and Mrs. George P. Danic, 181 Mohawk, promptly turned the wallet over to a clerk in a nearby store who notified the Waterford Township Police Department.

It had been reported lost by Anthony Bianco of the Bronx.

★ ★ ★

For his effort, John was given a $50 reward by Bianco and a pat-on-the-back by all concerned.

Ford: Retain Defense Chief

Dirksen Is Mum on Secretary McNamara

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford, challenging anew the management of the Viet Nam war, said today Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara should remain in charge.

"I don't believe in this current crisis that we ought to change horses in the middle of the stream," Ford told a news conference after a reporter asked whether he deemed his mismanagement charge serious enough to warrant a call for McNamara's resignation.

"I think it would be unfortunate at this time . . . to make a shift and bring in a new man," Ford said.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen wouldn't discuss the question. "Well now . . . " said Dirksen, who questioned Pentagon judgment in war management but steered away from the mismanagement charge, "you're getting into a very sensitive and highly speculative area.

★ ★ ★

"I doubt that I would have any comment."

GOP LEADERS

While the two Republican leaders differed in their description of reported supply problems in Viet Nam, they insisted there is no GOP division about Ford's repeated accusations of "shocking mismanagement."

Ford raised another question today about Pentagon management, reporting what he said was an unconfirmed account that the Pentagon has decided to buy 30,000 bombs from U. S. allies over the next year for use in Viet Nam.

"If this is true," he said, "it is another sample of mismanagement."

Questioning Faces Caterer Who Turned Up Shot

MONROE (UPI) — Police were expected to question today a well-known kosher caterer who said he was held by kidnapers for 12 days before being shot in the back and released near the Ohio border.

Robert B. Rosenberg, 32, who staggered into a motel at nearby Temperance early yesterday and gasped "Call the police, I think I've been shot," was in fair condition today at a local hospital.

Police used the phrase "if there was a crime" several times when describing what Rosenberg said happened to him after he disappeared from his $35,000 home in suburban Detroit April 8.

Asked if there was any doubt about Rosenberg's kidnaping, officers replied, "We have not completed the investigation."

Rosenberg, who underwent surgery and was under heavy sedation, was questioned only briefly yesterday by police.

'BLINDFOLDED ME'

"They put me in a car, tied me up, blindfolded me and shot me," officers quoted Rosenberg as saying.

They said, however, he was unable to identify his abductors.

Near the motel where Rosenberg appeared officers found a revolver, two bloody ropes and a cotton-tape blindfold alongside the road.

Rosenberg had rope burns on his wrists and ankles and a heavy growth of beard, police said.

NO PRIOR TROUBLE

Police described Rosenberg, the father of four, as quiet and clean-living. He had been in no prior trouble.

No ransom requests were made to his family during the disappearance although Rosenberg telephoned his wife, Joyce, the night he vanished.

"Joyce, listen to me carefully," Mrs. Rosenberg quoted him as saying. "I cannot repeat myself. I am being held. Do not call the police. I'll contact you."

She contacted the Federal Bureau of Investigation and a search was launched.

ABANDONED CAR

Three days later police found Rosenberg's car abandoned in Detroit. There was no indication of foul play.

Police said Rosenberg indicated he left his home April 8, and drove to downtown Detroit where he parked his car.

As he was reaching for something in the back seat, his abductors seized him, he said, bound and gagged him and transferred him to another car.

Pontiac's Teachers Pick PEA

Pontiac's public school teachers last night voted by nearly a 2-1 margin to establish the Pontiac Education Association (PEA) as official bargaining agent for the district's 879 teachers.

Final results of balloting conducted by the State Labor Mediation Board showed 506 voted for the PEA, and 280 for the Pontiac Federation of Teachers (PFT), affiliated with the AFL-CIO.

Six voters indicated a preference for "neither group" while 87 teachers did not cast ballots.

Supt. of Schools Dr. Dana P. Whitmer said he would meet today with Raymond Reiche, a drafting instructor and chairman of the PEA negotiations committee, to set a date for bargaining between the administration and the teacher group.

★ ★ ★

Terms of teacher contracts specifying salaries, hours, and working conditions will be worked out by committees representing administrations and teachers.

Mrs. Cornelia Jackson, PEA president, termed the PEA victory a call for "positive, orderly action" in negotiating a contract.

Mrs. Jackson said the association would aim for an agreement bringing Pontiac "to the top" of the state's school districts.

Festival Plans New Exit Road

A new exit road from the Meadow Brook Music Festival grounds will be completed before the season opens on June 30, it was announced yesterday.

At a meeting of festival ticket chairmen at Oakland University, Mrs. Ben D. Mills, who serves with her husband as general chairman, told the group Mrs. Alfred P. Wilson has given consent for a road to be constructed through her property east to Adams Road.

This will be an exit road only for cars. Chartered buses will be allowed to use it for entering the festival grounds.

Five hundred additional parking places are scheduled to be ready when the season opens.

3 Changes Certified in Ballot Canvass

The Pontiac Board of Canvassers last night certified results of Monday's city election, making three minor changes in the unofficial vote totals for three city commission candidates.

The changes didn't affect the outcome of the election.

City Clerk Mrs. Olga Barkely reported that errors in computing changed the totals for William J. Winters, District 3 candidate; incumbent Leslie H. Hudson, District 4; and Joseph Singleton, District 7 write-in candidate.

Winters' official total was certified at 3,561 votes, instead of 3,563; Hudson got 5,246, instead of 5,164; and Singleton received 223, instead of 224.

Slaying Area Tense, Uneasy

DETROIT (AP) — Apprehension — tinged with humor — gripped patrons and barkeepers today throughout an eight-block string of Detroit bars where five persons have been slain within the past few weeks.

"Some people are scared," said one bartender. "I heard a couple of guys saying 'we'd better get the hell outa here by one o'clock.' But you can't tell if they're kidding."

The bodies of Mrs. Ann Slazenger, 45, night manager, and Edmund Thompson, 48, a porter, were found Wednesday morning at the Verdi Bar on the edge of a deteriorating section near downtown Detroit.

Last Feb. 23, the bodies of bar owner Philip Laudicina, 45; Mrs. Ruth Dukes, 34, and porter Philip Hood, 67, were found in the Miami Bar, eight blocks north of Verdi's.

BOUND, SHOT

Police said Mrs. Slazenger, Thompson, Laudicina and Mrs. Dukes all had been bound and then shot through the head. Hood was shot in the head but not tied up.

★ ★ ★

However, police said an autopsy showed Mrs. Slazenger and Thompson both were either strangled or fatally beaten before being shot.

About $200 was missing from the Miami Bar, and $1,000 from Verdi's.

Homicide Inspector Robert Grindle called Wednesday's slaying an execution and said he was "pretty much convinced that the same men were responsible" for all five murders.

Police still have not solved the Miami bar holdup-slaying. The tavern has been shuttered ever since the holdup and reportedly is up for sale. Verdi's was closed Wednesday night.

BUSINESS AS USUAL

But it was business as usual at other bars in the neighborhood, an older section of the city filled with low rent apartments, flats, and small businesses.

"It's a funny thing," said one bartender. "There was a lot of talk in the bar after the Miami holdup. But there hasn't been a word about this one."

★ ★ ★

However, customers at another bar talked freely about the latest slayings.

"I was in Verdi's last night and she (Mrs. Slazenger) bought me a drink," said one bar patron. "You never know."

★ ★ ★

Police patrols were increased in the area last night and early today in hopes of gaining information about the slayings.

A team of six homicide detectives questioned residents of the area.

to the entire Pontiac area community.

VARIOUS SOURCES

Campaign contributions reported at the dinner came from various sources.

The three advance committees contributed a total of $1,582,797. The doctor's committee raised $349,590; memorial gifts $651,207 and the corporations committee $582,000.

Contributions from the Pontiac general public campaign amounted to $63,606, with $58,796 coming from the employe divisions in Pontiac; $75,143 from St. Joseph Mercy Hospital employes and $148,890.25 from the Birmingham - Bloomfield drive.

★ ★ ★

A 25-cent contribution was made by a needy widow who was intent on participating in the drive, according to campaign officials.

CONTRIBUTIONS

Pontiac Motor Division employes contributed $250,467 to the campaign while GMC Truck & Coach Division personnel volunteered $144,000. Fisher Body Division employes contributed $74,845.

Key figures in the drive besides Estes and Fitzgerald were Dr. Eugene J. Keefee, chairman of the doctor's committee; Larry Hartman, coordinator of the GM employes divisions; and Don B. Whitfield, chairman of the Birmingham - Bloomfield Hills drive.

Others were Robert R. Eldred, chairman Pontiac general campaign drive; Theodore B. Bloom, chairman GM employe effort; Robert M. Critchfield, chairman of the corporations committee; and Ernest A. Jones, co-chairman of the memorial gifts committee.

Crash Witness Is Being Sought by Troy Police

Troy police are looking for the owners of a light blue compact station wagon who may have seen a fatal accident on South Boulevard near Livernois Tuesday.

Police say the station wagon was traveling east on South Boulevard when the accident occurred at 2:40 p.m. They believe that those who were in the station wagon may be able to provide them with helpful information regarding the accident.

The two-car collision resulted in the death of a Royal Oak man and injuries to two other persons who are now in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

School Board Passes Budget

BIRMINGHAM — The Board of Education has approved a tentative 1966-67 operating budget of $11,827,000 for submission to the Oakland County Tax Allocation Board.

This year's budget of $10,480,043 was increased to accommodate an anticipated growth of 1,100 more students, according to Dr. John B. Smith, superintendent of schools.

"This budget currently exceeds anticipated income for 1966-67 by $565,000. While it will be possible to meet 1966-67 commitments from planned reserves, it is clear that continued growth and program improvements will require a restudy of financial needs during the coming year," Dr. Smith said.

The budget allows for a long-planned extension of foreign languages into the fourth grade; special education programs; remedial reading; the opening of Covington Junior High School; improvement in library services; and an addition of five buses.

★ ★ ★

An anticipated 106 new staff members and 30 other personnel will be needed.

OTHER FACTORS

Dr. Smith noted that several factors are still undetermined which could affect the final budget.

The exact school district tax valuations, the results of employe salary negotiations currently in progress, and the amount of state aid allocated per child are unknown.

Action also was taken Tuesday to establish new Harlan and Greenfield Elementary School boundaries.

★ ★ ★

However, the Evergreen School Citizens Committee is still working with the administration to solve long-range housing problems before action can be taken.

REDISTRICTING

It is evident that some redistricting will be required, said Walter Piel, administrative assistant.

The board authorized the superintendent to purchase the John and Joe Patterson property adjacent to the board of education property for a price not to exceed $92,500 to expand maintenance and bus facilities.

The land covers about nine-tenths of an acre. Funds for the purchase were voted upon in the June 1964 election.

★ ★ ★

Industrial education courses were updated and the board agreed to begin foreign language study at the fourth grade level instead of the fifth.

PILOT COURSE

A pilot two-semester course in social studies will be offered as an elective to ninth grade students at Covington Junior High School in the 1966-67 school year.

★ ★ ★

It was originally a required course, but made elective for a trial period.

The board also approved the hiring of William Blackwell as assistant principal of Covington for the next school year.

His appointment is effective July 1, 1966. Blackwell is a former counselor at Berkshire Junior High.

Firemen Approve Tentative Pact on Wage Dispute

The Pontiac Firefighters Association (PFA) last night reportedly ratified a tentative agreement with the city on their wage dispute that began last summer.

The agreement still must be ratified by the City Commission.

Previously, State Labor Mediator Leonard Bennett said terms of the agreement must be withheld pending ratification by both sides.

However, a PFA spokesman indicated today that longevity pay and the requested wage hike of $49 more per year were not in the agreement.

Thus, the agreement covers working conditions and grievances.

9 GOP Senators Seek to Halt Lawmakers' Power to Set Pay

LANSING (AP) — Nine Republican senators, who voted against a proposed $5,000 legislative pay raise, want to take away lawmakers' power to set their own salaries.

The bipartisan, four - man State Civil Service Commission should decide on legislative pay, the Republicans suggested in a proposed constitutional amendment Wednesday.

* * *

Democrats said they would be willing to study the idea.

The Senate approved Monday night a raise in lawmakers' compensation from $10,000 to $15,000, plus the current $2,500 for expenses. The bill is in the House.

CHIEF SPONSOR

Sen. Guy VanderJagt, R-Cadillac, chief sponsor of the Republican proposal, said a major factor in the public anger which he said followed was the idea that the Legislature can set its members' salaries.

"In no other enterprise of which I am aware can a man set his own salary," he said. "I don't think the Legislature should be an exception."

* * *

VanderJagt's proposal would require a two - thirds vote of each house and a vote of the people.

The Civil Service Commission, which determnes pay and working conditions for state civil service employes, is appointed by the governor for overlapping eight - year terms. No more than two members may be from one political party.

DEM CAUCUS

Senate Majority Leader Raymond Dzendzel, D - Detroit, said the proposal probably would be discussed in Democratic caucus.

House Majority Leader J. Bob Traxler, D - Bay City, said another proposal which has been discussed would be to peg legislators' salaries at one - half of what congressmen receive—currently $30,000.

* * *

Dzendzel said there were questions of when the commission could raise legislative pay, and whether it also should set the pay of the governor and other executive officers.

Rezoning OK'd for Apartments

Large Complex Due in White Lake Twp.

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP—Rezoning has been approved by the Township Board to permit the construction of 340 new apartments — including a $4-million multiple residential shopping center complex on M59.

The larger of the two parcels rezoned from agricultural classifications is 156 acres on the south side of M59 adjacent to the Highland State Recreation Area.

A group of Oakland County professional men plan to use the property as the site for 14 apartment buildings and a shopping center comparable in size to Tel-Huron in Pontiac, according to Supervisor Edward C. Cheyz.

Spokesman for the group is J. Rudolph Miller of Franklin, Cheyz said.

★ ★ ★

Each of the buildings in the complex is to contain 16 units, giving the development a total of 224 apartments.

PLANNING STAGE

Construction of the complex, now in the preliminary planning stages, is expected to begin in the spring of 1967.

Also rezoned Tuesday night was a 40-acre parcel of property on the west side of Union Lake Road just south of Hutchins.

A small section of the property fronting Union Lake Road was changed to a commercial zone. Plans of the Cooley Development Co. of Detroit call for 29 four-unit apartment buildings to be constructed on the rest of the property, according to Cheyz.

★ ★ ★

Township trustees also approved the plat for Fox Bay Subdivision No. 2, a 43-lot development on the northeast corner of Elizabeth Lake and Williams Lake roads.

NEW MOTTO

In other action, the board approved a motto for the township: "Welcome to White Lake Township — The Four Seasons Playground."

The motto is to be used on the letterhead of township stationery, which also will depict a diver, swimmers, golfer, skier and archer.

Signs bearing the motto are to be installed on main roads leading into the township, Cheyz said.

Post to Sponsor Dance

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — Oxbow Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 4156 will sponsor a post-Lenten dance Saturday at the VFW hall, 321 Union Lake.

The Caretakers will provide music for the 8 p.m. event.

Salary Part of Budget OK'd

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The Township Board last night approved the salary portion of the proposed 1966-67 budget on a tentative basis to continue pay for employes.

The operative part of the budget will be an agenda item at a later meeting.

An open hearing on the budget will be needed before final action can be taken.

Categories and salary ranges include:

Deputies, office managers, bookkeeper-machine operators, $5,000 to $5,500 per year; clerical, type I, $4,500 to $5,000; clerical, type II, $4,000 to $4,500; chiefs and department heads, $7,000 to $8,500; police sergeants, $6,600 to $7,400; police patrolmen, $5,600 to $6,600.

Others are regular fireman, $5,300 to $6,300, inspectors in building department, $6,000 to $7,500, water department field man, class I, $5,300 to $6,300, water department field man, class II, $5,600 to $6,600; and maintenance $2.15 to $2.25 per hour.

POLICE, FIRE SALARIES

Supervisor John C. Rehard explained the salary ranges for police and firemen. He said that the figures are determined on the basis of a time range.

The individual starts at an established figure, receives an increase after a probation period, another at the end of the first and second years, and can earn an additional $200 more for merit between the third and fifth years. Longevity pay begins after five years.

The firemen have a meeting scheduled with the fire department committee for next Tuesday to discuss their grievances on salaries.

★ ★ ★

In other action, the Board announced that it had reviewed the cost and authenticity of estimates submitted by the Department of Public Works for the Clinton-Oakland sewage disposal contract.

A financial consultant will consider the costs of both the interceptor and trunk to determine total cost of the program.

★ ★ ★

Preliminary plats for Presidential Estates and Franklin Ridge have been referred to the Township Planning Commission for review.

The board received with regret the resignation of John A. Rexford from the board of review. In a letter to the board Rexford said he could no longer serve because of the press of personal affairs.

Paving Bid Is Approved

WALLED LAKE — The City Council has approved a bid of $9,252 from the Detroit Concrete Products Co. to pave 11,418 feet of streets.

Council also purchased Lot 12 on West Maple, a 100-by-470-foot plot, adjacent to the property of the new city building for $9,000.

In other business Tuesday night the council approved a security option for 700 feet of lake frontage for a water pumping station and city park.

A low bid of $1,140 plus trade-in for a new police cruiser was accepted from Schuman Ford.

Room Mothers to Hold Style Show, Card Party

UTICA — The Auburnshire School room mothers will hold a fashion show and card party at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

Tickets are available at the door or may be obtained from Mrs. Allen Watson, 4656 Sidney. Proceeds will be used to buy party ice cream for the children at the school.

Car-Train Crash Fatal

JACKSON (AP) — Fred E. Wright, 83, of Jackson was killed Wednesday when his car was struck by a New York Central freight train at a crossing in Jackson.

Bid to Rescind Action Revoking Bar's Permit

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP — Two Detroit attorneys representing Nicholas Manzella have asked the Township Board and Michigan Liquor Control Commission to rescind previous action which resulted in the revocation of Manzella's Class C liquor license for his bar business at 7504 Dixie.

Leniency was urged by Attorneys Richard G. Ward and James J. Rossie to give Manzella ample time to sell his business.

Manzella's Class C license was revoked by the Liquor Control Commission last week and was taken away from him Monday.

The Township Board recommended unanimously April 6 that the license be revoked following a public hearing on an incident at the bar in which a customer, John Adams, 6501 Maybee, charges he was assaulted by Manzella and his brother Angelo, 2356 Middle Belt, West Bloomfield Township.

Stressing the hardship faced by Manzella, Rossie said "In effect, his life earnings have been erased."

In response to Rossie's request, Township Clerk Howard Altman said, "I would be very reluctant to support any action that would rescind our previous motion."

Said senior Trustee Harold Bauer: "It was not the intent of the Township Board to cause anybody any financial loss by this action.

"It was a question of gaining quick control of a very undesirable situation that was apparently developing."

News of the Area

Township Supervisor Duane Hursfall was in accord with Bauer's remarks.

The board took no action on the request, but suggested that the attorneys put into writing exactly what they seek, after which an opinion will be asked of Township Attorney Paul Mandel.

The Manzella brothers were to appear in court today before Independence Township Justice Robert Carr.

Nicholas Manzella is charged with assault and batter, a misdemeanor, while Angelo Manzella faces a charge of assault with intent to do great bodily harm, a felony.

Nicholas Manzella will be tried, while Angelo Manzella faces pretrial examination.

In Independence Twp.

Two Rezoning Requests Approved

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP—The Township Board has approved two rezoning requests, one for a gas station and the other for a 59-lot subdivision.

Application for the gas station — to be located at the corner of Sashabaw and Waldon — was Forrest E. White.

The zoning change was from suburban farms to commercial.

The new housing development is to be located at Maybee and Waterford Roads, L.H.R., Inc., was the applicant.

Previously zoned suburban farms, the parcel is now classified residential 1.

The board has named Harold Goyette, 36, of 14 S. Main, Clarkston, as a member of the Township Planning Commission to fill the term of Stanwood Radoye, who died recently.

An owner of Goyette-Sharpe Funeral Home, Goyette is a member of the Clarkston Village Council and is president of a PTA group.

The term will expire Dec. 31, 1967.

A fire ordinance has been amended to strengthen the township's control over careless trash burning which often results in costly grass fires.

NEED PERMITS

Permits will be required to start certain types of fires, and penalties will be levied on those who fail to comply with the amended ordinance.

★ ★ ★

The board also has authorized installation of street lights at M15 and Hidden Lane.

McGregor Estate Rezoning Tabled

AVON TOWNSHIP — A request to rezone the 417-acre McGregor estate on Walton Boulevard was tabled by the zoning board last night until the developers make suggested changes.

The zoning board went along with the Regional Planning Commission's suggestion that proposed apartments be relocated and that a 20-acre parcel on Walton not be used entirely for professional offices.

★ ★ ★

Slavik Builders, Inc., of Oak Park propose to develop a nine-hole golf course, a 900-unit apartment complex, a shopping mall and a residential area on the estate.

The matter will come before the two groups again on May 17 and 18.

Library Has Open House

TROY — The Troy Public Library, 61 E. Square Lake, will hold an open house from 3 to 8 p.m. Thursday in observance of National Library Week.

★ ★ ★

Local artists will display their work during the open house. Library cards and memberships in the Friends of the Troy Public Library will be available.

New School Leader Will Speak to PTA

New Avondale Schools Supt. John Dickey will speak at the 8 p.m. meeting tomorrow of the Auburn Heights Elementary School PTA.

Dickey, who replaces George Shackleford who resigned last December, will discuss his philosophy of education.

MESC Job Training Program Will Be Held in Utica Schools

UTICA — One of two training programs sponsored by the Michigan Employment Security Commission will be conducted in the Utica Community Schools.

Made possible through federal funds, the programs are sponsored in conjunction with Macomb County Community College and are tailored to fit the needs of local employers.

Auto mechanics will be trained in the high school auto shop to help relieve some of the skill shortages in the county.

Unemployed and underemployed men are those working below their potential capacity.

★ ★ ★

Training allowances ranging from $39 a week for single men and up to $69 a week for married men with dependents will be paid by the MESC. Some part-time jobs are also available to help trainees supplement their incomes.

Trainees for the program are being screened by the MESC branch, 37570 S. Gratiot, Mount Clemens.

Vacancies on School Board

There will be 1 four-year term of office expiring on the Clarkston School Board of Education. Qualified electors eeeking nomination to the Board of Education must have their petitions in the office of the Board of Education not later than 4:00 P.M., May 14, 1966. Such petitions must be signed by not less than 50 registered school electors of the district. Nomination petitions may be obtained from the Board of Education office located at 6595 Middle Lake Road, Clarkston, Michigan.

Airline Cuts Flights Due to Flaw in 707s

LONDON (AP) — British Overseas Airways Corporation suspended four more of its long distance flights today because of suspected hairline cracks in its fleet of Boeing 707 jet liners.

The cracks in the tail assemblies were spotted last week and a full inspection of BOAC's fleet of 19 707s was ordered. Thirteen were cleared and six were grounded.

★ ★ ★

Flights from Toronto, New York and Hong Kong were withdrawn together with a flight from London airport to the United States.

BOAC said engineers were hard at work repairing the damaged liners. They hope to have two of the six grounded planes airborne by Saturday and Sunday. The remaining four will be in service again by the end of the month, the airline said.

TEMPORARY GROUNDING

In Washington, the U.S. Federal Aviation Agency said some older 707 and 720 jet airliners may be grounded temporarily because of the U.S. government order for inspection of 190 of the planes for possible cracks in their tail fittings.

The FAA issued the inspection order Wednesday after finding hair-line cracks in the tail fittings of 22 of 62 planes already examined. The planes involved are older models of the four-engine 707-720 series, with more than 12,000 flying hours.

★ ★ ★

But the FAA said it knew of no aircraft accident caused by the cracks.

The FAA order calls for inspections within 50 hours of flight time after April 15. Planes with cracks must have the part repaired or replaced before being returned to service.

★ ★ ★

The Boeing Co. in Seattle, Wash., said no shortage of spare parts was expected and "the spares have been going out within hours of request."

School Board to View Survey

The Waterford Township Board of Education tonight will review results of a recent survey in which a segment of voters were asked what they would support if a building program was put to a vote in the June 13 school election.

Questionnaires were mailed to 540 voters and about 250 were returned answered, according to school officials.

Other comments offered by citizens also will be considered at the meeting.

It is expected that Supt. of Schools Dr. Don O. Tatroe will recommend proposals for placement on the June 13 ballot.

★ ★ ★

A proposed $13-million bond issue and millage question were truned down by voters at a special March 28 election.

VOTE TOTALS

The bond proposition was defeated 2,667 to 2,334, while 2,843 persons cast negative botes for the millage proposal as compared with 2,252 affirmative votes.

★ ★ ★

Another election has been termed necessary by school officials "to avert future half-day sessions" in the school district.

Solons Reach for Taxpayers' Dollars

While a commission on legislation called for a $5,000 a year hike in legislators' pay tied to a "more business-like and efficient utilization of legislative time and effort," the eventual beneficiaries proposed spending programs for fiscal 1966 that could boost the State's budget to a record $1.06 billion. Not only that, but the present $135 million surplus that Gov. ROMNEY had seen taking Michigan through two years of fiscal solvency would go down the drain in one slurp.

At the outset of the 1966 legislative session, ROMNEY proposed a budget of $945 million. Though a record-breaker, it represented a carefully structured program for state financial management while providing reasonable increases in many essential areas.

★ ★ ★

Because the State constitution provides that no new appropriation bills can be introduced once the budget is adopted, the lawmakers circumvented this by immediately voting down the one submitted by the governor.

Thereafter, the legislature may introduce any spending bills it sees fit. And, in an election year particularly, a lot of them are seen fit.

Needless to say, ROMNEY will not take this economic irresponsibility lying down, and will fight to hold the line on a liberal but sound budget.

★ ★ ★

If you would like to back him as he plays the role of a fiscal Horatius at the Bridge and help keep Michigan from reverting to the 14-year interim of Democratic financial chaos, we suggest you acquaint State senators and representatives with your sentiments.

Waterford's Annual Tidying-Up Under Way

The second annual Beautification Month is being observed by the Greater Waterford Community Council (GWCC).

In addition to the month-long trash cleanup campaign, the GWCC in cooperation with the Township Building Department has instituted a series of landscaping classes.

Stressing the need for area consciousness in combatting the blight of littering, the Council points out that of the $58,000 spent by the County last year on trash cleanup, $800 was for tidying up the Dixie Highway route through the township.

A State Highway Department official reported that a check of a quarter-mile stretch of the highway showed in excess of 50 pieces of litter even though a trash pickup had been made hours earlier.

In addition to individual interest and participation, the township's beautification program is being actively advanced by several youth organizations.

We salute this fine display of community pride and urge comparable appreciation of roadside attractiveness on all users of our highways.

Taxpayers May Be Casualties of War on Poverty

If you want a little concrete evidence in support of the widely-held belief that the right hand of the Federal government doesn't know what its left is doing, we point to the fiscal fantasy that is the life of Detroit's OZIE BULOCK.

OZIE, with an eighth-grade education, was laid off his $104-a-week automobile-assembler job and went on relief at $67.40 a week.

★ ★ ★

After enrolling in a government course to learn upholstering, he began receiving $190 twice a month from the work experience project of the War on Poverty and another $72 a week from the skills-training program of the Manpower Development and Training Act of 1962. Both programs are 100 per cent financed by the Federal government.

Since OZIE's present income is tax free, his take-home pay while learning to upholster is $692 a month.

Eventually, after he begins plying his upholstering trade, his earnings may fall off a bit. But by that time another Federal agency will likely be created that will enable him to continue earning while learning.

Sunny Peace Hopes Grow Dim

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — In Washington, a sudden burst of words sometimes has a new and sunny and even hopeful look, like fresh flowers ready to bloom.

MARLOW

Then suddenly you remember something, something that's been said, and the new words lose their newness, hope looks less real, the bloom seems a little jaded, and you begin to fear that what was sunny was only in your imagination.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield proposed Monday, with the best intentions, that Japan or Burma take the lead in bringing about a "direct confrontation across a peace table" of the United States, China, North Viet Nam and "essential" elements from South Viet Nam.

It was a hopeful thought.

It was followed up by the Johnson administration, which Tuesday invited Burma, Japan or other Asian countries to take what initiative they see fit to help arrange a Viet Nam Peace conference. The State Department heartily endorsed Mansfield's proposal. But—

★ ★ ★

The chance that North Viet Nam or Red China would act on Mansfield's idea doesn't look any more likely now, of course, than it did earlier this year, when for weeks President Johnson stopped the bombing of North Viet Nam and worked hard to get peace talks going.

In fact, there is probably less reason to think Red China and North Viet Nam would want peace now than then, and not only because of the turmoil inside South Viet Nam.

For, while Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Arthur J. Goldberg, U. S. ambassador to the United Nations, were both endorsing Mansfield's suggestion for getting Peking to talk peace, both were laying down tough conditions for dealing with Red China or letting her into the United Nations.

Over the weekend, Rusk's testimony, given in closed session before a congressional committee, was released and indicated he didn't expect Red China to abandon its aggressive policy for a generation and that this country would try to stop Peking's aggression whenever it was attempted.

★ ★ ★

And Tuesday, Goldberg listed minimum conditions for permitting Red China to get into the United Nations, while saying the United States would oppose membership for her this year as in all previous years.

ABANDON HER POSITIONS

The Goldberg conditions would mean Red China, in effect, would have to abandon her present positions. And that's not likely, any time soon.

★ ★ ★

With Rusk and Goldberg sounding off on Red China like that—just at the moment the Johnson administration is wistfully embracing the Mansfield suggestion which wishfully talked of a peace conference with Red China — seems to stretch the imagination just a little too much.

Letter Outlines Program to End War in Viet Nam

A four point program for ending the Kennedy-Johnson war in Viet Nam: (It's true that the fumbling started during Eisenhower's second administration, but Ike thought Viet Nam was the name of a golf course in Texas.)

- Dismiss Defense Secretary Robert McNamara. He has masterminded the fiasco for two administrations: no replacement is necessary.
- Discharge, or simply squash, Henry Cabot Lodge. He has been hopelessly incompetent, actively hostile to American interests, or both.
- Give General Westmoreland carte blanche in running the show, free from interference by Southeast Asia authorities like Cassius Clay, Bobby Kennedy, or Nathan Leopold.
- Wipe the port of Haiphong off the face of the earth by conventional or nuclear bombing, the choice determined by which method is cheaper in dollars and American lives.

'We Should Demand Equal Hours and Pay'

Several years ago I felt sympathy for teachers and City employes who were really paid less than the average. This is not true any more. Our firemen have the shortest work schedule I ever heard of and they get more money than I get. Thousands of us should start picket lines around the fire station and demand equal hours with them and equal pay.

Comments on Attack of Automobile Critic

Henry Ford delivered a very pointed reply to this automobile critic who sets himself up as an international authority. What and where are his credentials? He attacks the industry that is our economic leader. Automobile companies spend millions to make cars better and safer.

★ ★ ★

This criticism does give the administration something to take the heat off the tremendous budget deficits and the staggering increases in Federal costs. Washington welcomes diversion. Their own sins are forgotten temporarily. But why attack the basis of our whole economic prosperity and advancement?

Reader Protests Press Warning to Voters

I protest strongly the article: "Voters Warned on 11th Hour Tactics." It carried a strong implication that the challenging candidates actually did resort to making last-minute charges. Over the weekend I received much campaign literature in support of the challenging candidates and I find absolutely no charges which had not been made early in the campaign. Your editorial was a most distressing accusation.

David Lawrence Says:

'Peace' Is Meaningless Today

WASHINGTON — The most ambiguous word in the dictionary of today is "peace." It is being used indiscriminately in a world of make believe. For, under the definitions of international law, there is no peace today.

LAWRENCE

World War II has never been ended by a peace treaty even though there have been some proclamations declaring that hostilities have ended.

Based on precedents, some of the belligerent rights of World War II are still in effect.

The Soviet government, for instance, maintains an occupation zone in the Kurile Islands granted her by the Yalta Conference of February 1945, and also has kept an occupation force in East Germany ever since the armed conflict there terminated that year.

The Soviets never signed the peace treaty with Japan. Nor did they join the western powers in signing in 1955 their treaty recognizing the sovereignty of West Germany.

The belligerents who accepted Germany's surrender in World War II have not signed any treaty with the German people as a whole.

But most perplexing of all is the situation in Europe. Here international law takes its biggest nose dive into legalistic confusion.

While armed conflict was terminated between West Germany and the nations which fought Hitler in World War II, Allied armies of occupation still remain in Berlin, and there have been occasional acts of war in recent years as the Russians have arbitrarily imposed air or road blockades.

The Soviet government, moreover, has formed an "alliance" with a bloc of countries under Communist control in eastern Europe.

Fifteen nations in the West have signed the North Atlantic Treaty pledging themselves to make war at any time to defend any member country against attack. France has not repudiated the treaty but is objecting to some aspects of the military organization.

These were designed to enforce the terms of the pact if a war between East and West breaks out.

Although President Truman, at the end of 1946, proclaimed a state of "peace," complications since then, growing out of World War II, have caused the United States to maintain troops in the Far East as well as in Southeast Asia and in Europe.

Because fighting is not going on in Europe at the moment, the fuzzy situation isn't called a "hot war." The phrase "cold war" has been substituted.

Legally speaking, however, the rights of belligerents in the "hot war" are being retained and occasionally are exercised.

Maybe the people who are calling for peace ought to concentrate on a conference that will reestablish "international law" in the world or at least define what it means today.

Rectification Is Overdue on Indian Land Grievance

NEW YORK — In many respects we treat unknown ingrates in lackluster lands better than we treat the people we stole this country from.

CONSIDINE

How loud would be the hue and cry if the federal government seized, let's say, the great Protestant cathedral in Washington, or Temple Emanuel in New York, or one of the California missions of Junipero Serra and turned same into camping sites?

★ ★ ★

Well, we did it to the Taos Pueblo Indians of New Mexico.

Fifty thousand acres of their religious sanctuary, including their sacred Blue Lake, were taken from them in 1906.

★ ★ ★

After that, we cut trails and roads across the area and built camp sites around the lake.

SYMBOLS OF THEIR GOD

"The Blue Lake area is just as much a church as a building with a cross," says Taos Gov. John J. Reyna. "The trees, flowers and waters are the Indians' symbols of their god."

They've been fighting this federal desecration for 60 years. Last September the Indian Claims Commission got around to acknowledging that the lake area did indeed belong to the Taos people and is a bona fide religious shrine. But it told the tribe there was nothing it could do about it unless Congress acted on it.

The commission is confined to offering money to salve hurts. The Taos turned down the obscene offer.

★ ★ ★

Now Sen. Clinton Anderson, D-N. M., has introduced a bill (S3085) which would give legal title to the Taos Pueblo over the Blue Lake area, in line with the commission decision.

It's 60 years overdue, but when it passes the Congress we will be able to say, without qualification, that we really do believe in guaranteeing religious freedom to all Americans—even to the original ones.

Reds Bank on Surprise Attacks

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) — New translations of Soviet military writing shows an increasing emphasis on one point:

The Soviet Union must begin any war with the United States with a surprise (sneak) attack. It can't afford to forego the advantages this surprise would give.

CROMLEY

One leading Soviet strategist says:

"The first massive nuclear strikes can in great measure predetermine the whole subsequent course of the war and lead to such losses in the rear and among the troops that the country will be put in an exceedingly difficult position.

"Surprise can, in almost an instant, disorganize and demoralize the enemy force, obliging them to operate in uncoordinated and chaotic fashion, and even to cease resistance."

Though Soviet military writers are not unanimous on the merits of pre-emptive sneak attacks the dissenters seem to be in the minority. They are now linked with Stalin and his "errors."

There's a tendency to believe that detection and warning systems and missile site hardening and dispersal will not be sufficient to prevent a successful surprise attack. There's an indication these writers believe that these warning systems can be overcome and the missile defenses penetrated in a carefully planned surprise (sneak) attack.

They suggest, in fact, that the warning and control systems can be obliterated or made unworkable during the crucial sneak-attack period.

By and large, these writers reject the thought of sparing cities. They include both military and civilian targets as prime objectives. They argue that weapons are built in the cities — but more importantly destruction of the cities will lead to national disorganization and confusion and a will to surrender.

Under the proper circumstances, a skillfully-conducted strategic sneak attack on U.S. missile sites and cities — if it created enough destruction, chaos and confusion — could result in a very short war, these writers believe.

Some ridicule the city-sparing concept now being discussed in high U. S. civilian and military circles. Others ignore it.

★ ★ ★

These writers assert destruction of military targets alone cannot assure complete victory because the armed forces can always be restored if the economy of a country remains operative and its human resources and its will to fight are not exhausted.

This Soviet military attitude requires the United Sates to do three things:

- Improve its intelligence, warning and operational control systems so that the Soviet Union cannot make them inoperative at the time of sneak attacks.
- Set up some system to defend U. S. cities in the event of Soviet attack. Though no system can completely defend cities, they can perhaps make Soviet attacks prohibitively costly.

★ ★ ★

- Make certain that Soviet leaders know the United States has made these preparations and that U. S. defenses and control systems would not be disorganized and inoperative in the crucial attack period.

Dirksen Still Hopeful Despite 2nd Districting Bill Loss

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Everett M. Dirksen refuses to concede the fight is over despite a second defeat of his proposed constitutional amendment on legislative reapportionment.

"Wait and see," the Senate Republican leader advised newsmen who wanted to know whether he would try to revive his proposed amendment at this session of Congress.

★

On a showdown roll call Wednesday, 55 senators voted for the amendment and 38 against it. This was seven short of the two-thirds majority required for approval of a constitutional amendment.

★ ★ ★

Foes of Dirksen's proposal jubilantly hailed the outcome as marking the end of the road for the attempt to undo the Supreme Court's one man, one vote ruling on apportionment of state legislatures.

MARKS THE END

And Democratic leader Mike Mansfield, who supported the amendment, said it looked to him as though its rejection for a second time was the end.

In August of last year, a similar amendment offered by Dirksen also fell seven votes short of a two-thirds majority. The vote then was 57 for and 39 against.

In a 6-3 decision in June 1964, the Supreme Court ruled that the seats in both houses of state legislatures must be apportioned on a basis of substantial equality of population.

Dirksen's amendment would have permitted geography and political subdivisions, in addition to population, to be taken into account in the apportionment of one house if a majority of the voters agreed in a statewide referendum.

Although Dirksen had predicted he would win, he told reporters that "a lot of things happened" in the 24 hours before the vote. He said the Garment Workers Union had lobbied against his amendment and spoke of "a lot of telephoning going on," but otherwise was vague about what he was referring to.

The roll call showed 26 Democrats and 29 Republicans voting for the proposed amendment. Voting against it were 35 Democrats and three Republicans.

Teenagers Still Missing; Foul Play Is Doubted

MILAN (UPI) — Police said today they do not believe two teen-aged girls, missing for a week, met with foul play.

Katherine Harrison and Crystal Rains, both 13, were reported missing by their parents April 14. Police Chief Arlee Dansfield said his department has traced the girls up unto 10 p.m. on the night before they were reported missing.

Both were students at Milan Junior High School.

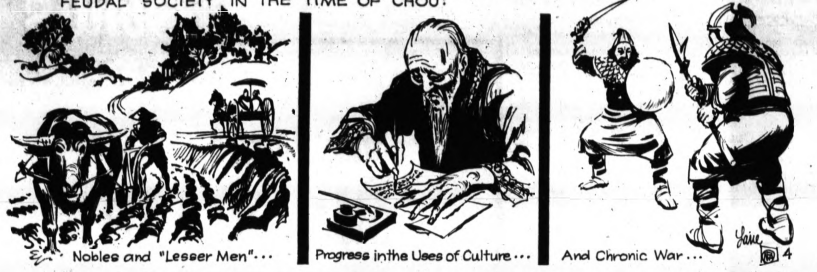
FEUDAL SOCIETY IN THE TIME OF CHOU:



In the Chou age originated the institutions and concepts which have governed the social and political life of the Chinese to the doorstep of modern times.

—Helmut G. Callis

Like wielders of the sword who were to come after them, the warlike Chou were to adopt and modify and enrich with new ideas the civilization they conquered in 1122 B. C.

To govern such a vast territory and its subject population, a feudal system was instituted, similar in many respects to the feudalism in Europe 2,000 years later.

Vassal princes owed nominal allegiance to the Son of Heaven, who was both political and religious head of the state, and followed, in both peace and war, an elaborate code of chivalry called "Li."

Chou society, like the Shang before it, was divided into nobles — the "hundred clans" —and peasantry — the "lesser men." The latter, without property and without rights, tilled their lords' lands in common.

★ ★ ★

The Chou valued learning. Both intellectual studies like writing and mathematics, and physical skills like archery and charioteering comprised the education of the sons of the aristocracy.

CULTURAL PROGRESS

Tools of iron, the plow, the crossbow and metal coinage came into use.

The wealth of the leisure class fostered art in the form of brush and ink, lacquered furniture, objects of precious metals, jade figurines.

Astronomers studied the stars and calculated the length of the year.

BARBARIAN INVASION

In 771 B. C., a barbarian invasion from the steppes forced the Chou kings to move their capital eastward, resulting in a steady decline of their central authority and the rise of independent states —some petty and some as large as modern European nations — who fought and absorbed one another.

A "league of nations" failed to provide a formula for peace and beginning in the fifth century B. C., 300 years of increasingly devastating "world wars" ensued, known as the Era of the Warring States.

Just before this period, however, a man of peace and wisdom and lofty ideals emerged, the greatest figure in Chinese history.

Amid a disintegrating society, he sought the answers to the fundamental questions of how men might attain moral perfection and live together in harmony. His name was Confucius.

Unachieved Goals Spice Life

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — It isn't what you do, it's what you may do that lends zest to life. It is the things undone that attract your interest.

All victories, to some extent, are boring. All possibilities, on the other hand, hold a potential thrill.

It pays, now and then, to write down the things you've managed to get done; then put down the things you have wanted to do, at one time or another, but never managed to get done. You'll invariably find there are still plenty of goals left to keep you happy — and frustrated.

Here, for example, is a one man's haphazard list of unachieved ambitions. I'd like to—

Milk a giraffe.

RIDE ELEPHANT

Ride an elephant in a circus parade.

Pitch a good game of horseshoes.

Spend a quiet week in a Trappist monastery with Cassius Clay and Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon.

Think of a way to wind up the war in Viet Nam so that everybody in it would gain face.

HARMONICA RECITAL

Give a harmonica recital at Carnegie Hall.

Come up with a magic ingredient that would make all martinis absolutely dry and replace the pugnacity in them with loving-kindness.

★ ★ ★

Free all the stubborn bums in alimony jail on Mothers Day.

Walk a tightrope across the Grand Canyon, using nothing but an umbrella for balance.

★ ★ ★

Land by parachute in an all-girl nudist camp.

Break the neck of a mugger with a judo blow taught me by my young daughter, who watches spy programs on television.

ICE LOCKED

Eat a steak hacked from a siberian mammoth, ice-locked for thousands of years.

Buy something wholesale sometime that looks like it was worth buying retail.

See Cuba's Castro overthrown —and given a job as chief barber in waiting for the Beatles.

Come up with a new-type telephone with teeth that would snarl and snap at the ears of any teen-ager that talked over it longer than three minutes.

When you get right down to it, there's no reason for either boredom or complacency in life. The world is full of worthwhile things crying to be done.

AF Pledges to Halt Clinton River Polluting

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force has pledged action to end dumping of pollutants into the Clinton River from Selfridge Air Force Base, Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., said yesterday.

The Air Force was pressed by Hart for an explanation after witnesses told the Michigan Water Resources Commission that Selfridge was the main pollution source.

Draft Bait Over Hill

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) — Dr. Benjamin J. Ersland has five days in which to register with his local draft board, the Selective Service advised him by mail.

"I'm going to sit this out and see what they do next," Ersland said with a chuckle Wednesday.

At 81, Ersland has 12 great grandchildren and was too old for the draft in World War I. He figures Selective Service will soon catch up with its mistake.

Reporting Law Flaw Illustrated by Doctor

By DR. WILLIAM BRADY

In some states, I believe, the law requires that physicians report to the health authorities cases of gonorrhea or syphilis that occur in their practice. This law has not appreciably lowered the incidence of these infectious diseases in the community.

Long before doctors were required to report gonorrhea and syphilis to the health department, a case of gonorrhea in my practice gave me great concern.

The patient was an impudent young man, who informed me that gonorrhea was no worse than a "cold." He was popular with the social elite and he seemed amused by my views.

After a week or two of treatment — we had neither penicillin nor sulfa drugs — he urged me to hurry up, for he was to be married next week.

★ ★ ★

I tried to tell him that marriage, while he still had gonorrhea, would inevitably ruin his wife's life and bring misery and unhappiness to them both. But he pooh-poohed my naive notion that his disease was something worse than a "cold."

MORE DISTURBING

I was still more disturbed when I learned that the girl he was to marry was the daughter of one of my favorite families.

Talking with her father and mother, at different times, I tried to make my disapproval clear, but short of telling them the truth I couldn't make them understand.

You see, I feared it would be violation of the Hippocratic oath and violation of the law governing privileged communications or knowledge a doctor gets in his confidential relation with a patient.

I believe this fear compels the doctor to become accessory to many such crimes.

If the state can enact a law requiring doctors to report cases of gonorrhea to the health department, why not a law compelling doctors to warn the parent or guardian of the young woman in such circumstance?

The young man went ahead and married the girl as planned. He couldn't ask for a six-month postponement — what would the girl and her parents think of him?

In due course of a year or so, the young woman had her one and only baby — one-child sterility is a likely consequence of gonorrheal infection of tubes and ovaries — and soon afterward an attack of pelvic peritonitis, which was followed by salpingitis (pus tubes) and surgical removal of tubes and ovaries. All of this is a familiar consequences of gonorrhea.

Some readers may think that the bridegroom's or prospective husband's health certificate, required in some states for a marriage license, protects against such tragic events.

MORE CONFIDENCE

If they do, they have more confidence in medical skill and probity than I have.

★ ★ ★

I still feel that I failed in my duty as family physician when I permitted a narrow view of moral responsibility to prevent me to warn the parents of that girl of the sad fate in store for her.

UFO Aftermath Unhappy for Spotter

DEXTER (AP)—Whatever it was Frank Mannor, 47, and his family saw near their rented farmhouse here last month, they are not too happy about the whole thing.

A month ago Wednesday, Mannor reported seeing a strange pyramid-shaped object with red, blue and white lights in swampland behind the house. His 19-year-old son, Ronald, and his wife, Leona, also saw something.

* * *

Their report, among the first of hundreds of such reports in Michigan, touched off an Air Force investigation, with the finding that what most people probably saw was the rare phenomenon of swamp gas.

But the Mannors still aren't buying that explanation. They still believe it was something else they saw—just what, they don't know.

NO OTHER UFOs

Mannor said Wednesday he hasn't spotted any more lights since that night.

"There have been sightings by other people around here, though," he said. "They're just not reporting them, in view of what happened to us."

* * *

What happened to the Mannors—and is still plaguing them—is a flood of curiosity-seekers roaming the area in hopes of seeing something, too.

"We still have them around here a couple of times a week, sometimes at 2 or 3 o'clock in the morning," he said. "Mostly, they're carloads of kids driving around or parking near the house."

PROWLERS

One night, Mannor said, some of the prowlers climbed onto the second story roof of the house, using a ladder that was left leaning against a wall.

"My daughter screamed, and I thought she was having a nightmare. But her mother went into the bedroom and heard them crawling across the roof, too," he recalled.

* * *

As a result, Mannor is prepared for trespassers.

"You'd better believe it," he said, "I've got a shotgun in every room."

OTHER REPORTS

Ever since the Mannors and others told of seeing strange objects there have been reports of mysterious lights and flying saucers elsewhere around the state and nation.

Only this week a deputy sheriff said he chased an unidentified flying object from Ohio into Pennsylvania. Hundreds of people in both states reported seeing the object which most agreed looked like two saucers, one atop the other.

On the same day, three municipal workers and a policeman in western Michigan saw what they said was a hotdog-shaped object.

* * *

These sightings were in hours of darkness. Since the furor started a month ago there have been no reported daytime sightings.

PANEL OF SCIENTISTS

Because of recurring and persistent reports, the Air Force has told Congress it probably will name a panel of scientists to investigate them in depth.

Dr. J. Allen Hynek, a Northwestern University astrophysicist and scientific consultant for the Air Force, urged just such a study after his probe of the sightings by Mannor and others in Michigan.

* * *

"I have recommended...that competent scientists quietly study such cases when evidence from responsible people appears to warrant such study. There may be much of potential value to science in such events.

"We know a very great deal more about the physical world in 1966 than we did in 1866—but, by the same token, the people in the year 2066 may regard us as very incomplete in our scientific knowledge," Hynek said.

"I don't like a mystery," Hynek told the Associated Press this week. "A mystery is an itch that should be scratched."

Flier Faces Fine

Balloon 'Cited' on Ground

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A policeman cited balloonist Tracy Barnes yesterday for taking up too much room — on the road.

Barnes, whose efforts to make a transcontinental flight have been hampered by adverse winds and technical difficulties, received a traffic ticket accusing him of towing an oversized and unsafe load.

He is to appear in court May 20 or post bail.

Barnes, 27, of Chester, S.C., was towing the balloon to another location in preparation for a new attempt to get off the ground.

He started April 9 from nearby Coronado and landed the same day about 10 miles east. A second attempt ended in near disaster when a vent stuck, forcing Barnes and a companion to parachute to safety.

* * *

Barnes was still on the ground last night, and still optimistic that the flight will get under way someday.

Central Region Post to Veteran of FAA

WASHINGTON (AP)—Daniel E. Barrow, a 24-year career civil servant and air traffic control expert, has been named deputy director of the Federal Aviation Agency's Central Region covering Michigan and 11 other states. Barrow has been chief of the airspace regulations and procedures division in the FAA's Air Traffic Service here.

Art Sale Price Adds to Woman's Fame

NEW YORK (UPI) — The sale of a sculpture for the unprecedented auction price of $140,000 wrote a fitting climax to the legend of the late cosmetics magnate Helena Rubinstein, as shrewd in art as she was in business.

Mrs. Rubinstein was reported to have paid no more than $5,000 — and some sources say quite a bit less — for Constantin Brancusi's 1937 version of his masterpiece, "Bird in Space."

English Nanny for JFK Children Recalls Difficult Days After Assassination

NEW YORK (AP) — The gentle gray eyes of Maud Shaw watered as she recalled today her most difficult task during the seven and a half years as nursemaid to the John F. Kennedy children — telling Caroline that her father had been assassinated.

★ ★ ★

The grieving mother had asked that the child be told before her return to the White House, and Miss Shaw had chosen bedtime for the moment, she said:

"When I read to her, the nightly ritual, I began to cry and Caroline asked me what was the matter," she said in an interview. "I took her in my arms and told her. It was dreadful for us both. Then I patted her until she fell asleep."

★ ★ ★

The ample English governess who retired last May to her homeland was back in the states this week to promote her memoirs, "White House Nannie."

★ ★ ★

When it was serialized in a magazine earlier, Miss Shaw said, Mrs. Kennedy objected to what she considered too much emphasis on the assassination.

MEETING QUEEN

Mrs. Kennedy also thought Miss Shaw made too much of rehearsing young John Kennedy for his meeting with the queen when the family went to Runymede last spring to dedicate a memorial to the late president.

★ ★ ★

"I guess she thought I made him sound stupid. I didn't mean it that way. He is a very intelligent boy. Both the children are," said Miss Shaw.

★ ★ ★

Miss Shaw said that after President Kennedy's death, his widow decided that conversation concerning him should not be avoided, that it should be as natural as possible, for the children's sake.

★ ★ ★

There is one decision which the young mother made a long time ago that Miss Shaw wishes she would change.

★ ★ ★

"I often told Mrs. Kennedy she should think of remarrying again," Miss Shaw said. "But she would look at me so distressed and say, 'Oh, Miss Shaw, I just couldn't, ever.' "

House Passes Consumer Bills

Qualification Plan for Medicare Also OK'd

LANSING (AP) — Health, hearing and food would come under new regulations under three bills passed by the House Wednesday and sent to the Senate.

A hospital bill, approved 66-40, is intended primarily to qualify Michigan hospitals for participation in the federal Medicare program and to qualify for construction funds.

It calls for a "comprehensive system of consultation, evaluation and licensing for all hospitals in the state" to assure a high level of patient care.

The hearing aid bill sets up a state board of seven dealers—working in "delicate balance" with an advisory board of two trained audiologists and one doctor — either of medicine or osteopathy — who specialize in treatment of ear disorders.

GROWING COMPLAINTS

The measure, which passed 92-7, was written in response to a growing number of complaints against unscrupulous and untrained dealers.

The food bill — part of a consumer protection package—grants new powers to the State Agriculture Department over the manufacture, distribution and sale of food.

★ ★ ★

It allows the department to detain or embargo food it suspects of being adulterated or misbranded. If it were shown in Circuit Court to be adulterated, the court could order its destruction at the owner's expense.

It would take effect Jan. 1, 1967.

Also passed and sent to the Senate was a heatedly debated bill to provide for compulsory arbitration beween local governments and unions representing policemen and firemen.

The bill is a sequel to one passed last year giving public employes the right to form unions and requiring management to bargain in good faith.

Dem Faces Discipline for His Outburst

LANSING (AP) — The House Democrat who stormed up the aisle of the House Wednesday and canceled his caucus membership will be disciplined, says Speaker Joseph Kowalski, D-Detroit.

Rep. E. D. O'Brien, D-Detroit, who frequently has bolted party positions, disagreed bitterly with Associate Speaker Pro Tem Dominic Jacobetti, D-Negaunee, over the right to explain his "no" vote. On a bill to regulate hospitals.

He charged up the aisle demanding his constitutional rights, followed up by declaring his independence of his party caucus "as long as it remains under the present leadership," and ended upon the subject of a caucus.

Complaining he has "walked around with a ring in my nose too long," O'Brien said he also would question Kowalski's holding the speaker's chair.

COOL OFF

"The caucus," Kowalski said later, "left any disciplinary action to the discretion of the speaker. We'll let this situation cool off a bit before we decide."

The State Constitution guarantees a legislator the right to dissent and to have his dissent entered in the record of the House. O'Brien insists it gives him the right to explain his "no" vote at any time.

State Senate Set to Tackle Major Money Measures

LANSING (AP) — The Senate prepared to tackle major appropriation bills today in the wake of a busy Wednesday during which 35 measures were passed and the calendar of business was more than cut in half.

Housing for persons displaced by urban redevelopment, regulation of some money lenders and a partial ban on certain weapons all were acted upon as the Senate met until just past midnight.

★ ★ ★

Today the appropriations committee planned action on half of general fund spending. Final Senate action on all Senate-originated bills must come by Friday midnight. Some general budget debate was expected late today.

★ ★ ★

Fewer than 30 nonmoney bills remained on the calendar after the rash of approvals Thursday.

RELOCATION GUARANTEE

Approved 31-0 was a bill which would prohibit condemnation of residential property until the condemning unit of government could guarantee relocation of the residents in nonslum dwellings within the same community.

The bill also requires that where government is providing new housing in a former slum area, it must also provide housing for rent and purchase by low and middle income families.

Urban renewal also must be phased so some new housing is ready for occupancy before all the families in the area have been displaced.

All the bills passed Thursday must go to the House except one House-approved measure permitting municipal judges to receive a pay increase during their term of office.

ACCUSATIONS

The money lender control bill passed 23-11 despite accusations fron Sen. Roger Craig, D-Dearborn, that activity surrounding the measure "illustrates the need for an anti-lobbying bill."

The bill limits second mortgage lenders to 14 per cent interest and certain fixed charges, and sets an 18 per cent interest ceiling on installment loans by finance companies.

However, it permits small loan companies to lend up to $5,000 instead of $1,000 as at present.

The weapons bill prohibits possession in a public place of a knife, icepick or razor with a blade or point longer than three inches. It exempts, however, persons using such tools "in good faith as a tool of legitimate and honest work, trade, business, sport or recreation."

McNamara Sets N-Talk

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara will meet with British, West German, Italian and Turkish defense ministers in London April 28-29 to discuss tactical nuclear weapons.

ACTRESS AT TRIAL — With merchandise involved in the case on the table, actress Hedy Lamarr and her attorney, Jordan Wank, await the resumption of her shoplifting trial yesterday in Los Angeles. Miss Lamarr is accused of stealing merchandise from a department store Jan. 27.

U.S. Agency's Transfer Seen as Civil Rights Victory

WASHINGTON (AP) — Roger Wilkins has his wish. After midnight tonight, he and his racial troubleshooting agency will be "where the action is" — in the Department of Justice.

The last obstacle to the transfer of the Community Relations Service out of the Commerce Department was removed Wednesday. The House defeated, 220 to 163, a resolution opposing the move. The Senate had done so earlier.

★ ★ ★

Thus the Justice Department and Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach shoulder even a greater share of the federal civil rights burden, which has focused more and more in recent years on the President's chief law enforcement agency.

"This is where we belong," Wilkins, 34, said after the vote. "This is where the action is, in civil rights. And I want this agency to be squarely in the middle of significant civil rights activities — not on the periphery."

RIGHTS VICTORY

The transfer — President Johnson's first, even if small, civil rights victory in Congress this year — was approved over largely Republican objections that the government's mediation arm should not be in the same agency as its prosecutor.

In a literal sense, it won't be under the same roof. The agency moved on Feb. 14 into a Justice Department-leased office building.

★ ★ ★

Wilkins, Katzenbach and other supporters of the transfer contend the Community Relations Service soon became an orphan in the Commerce Department after the service was created under the 1964 civil rights act.

Placed in Commerce because of anticipated resistance to the public accommodations provision of the law, the service soon found that businessmen were voluntarily complying at an unforeseen pace.

SEES BENEFIT

"The Justice Department," Wilkins said in an interview, "is where so much civil rights experience has accumulated, and we're bound to benefit from it. The attorney general is the President's chief civil rights adviser. Many of the recommendations our field people make require implementation elsewhere in government. And the attorney general's prestige and civil rights credentials will help there."

The first mail to be sorted on a moving train was done in 1862 on a train running between Hannibal and St. Joseph, Mo., according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Brando Staying in Hospital for Further Tests

LONDON (UPI) — Actor Marlon Brando today underwent further tests to determine the cause of an attack of abdominal pains.

Brando's personal physician, Dr. Robert Kositchek, said the 41-year-old actor was progressing well and probably could return to work in a few days.

★ ★

The Oscar winner was stricken Tuesday while on his way to Pinewood Studios where he is costarring with Sophia Loren in Charlie Chaplin's "A Countess from Hong Kong."

Before Mount Toal Volcano, in the Philippines, erupted this year, water in the lake surrounding it had risen to 115 degrees.

Shoplifting Trial

3 Testify Hedy Stole Goods

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Three witnesses have testified they watched actress Hedy Lamarr stuff $86 worth of merchandise into a shopping bag and then leave the store without paying.

The three, all employes of the department store where the actress was arrested last Jan. 27, testified Wednesday at Miss Lamarr's trial. She is charged with petty theft and has pleaded innocent.

Another witness testified that the actress offered to pay for the items — ranging from eye makeup to men's cologne — after she was apprehended by security officers in the parking lot.

Helen McGarry, security officer at the store, testified that Miss Lamarr put 25 items in the 10 cent shopping bag — which also allegedly was stolen — and left the store without paying.

'HAVEN'T PAID'

"You have items that you have not paid for," Mrs. McGarry said she told the actress.

She quoted Miss Lamarr as replying: "I want to sit down."

★ ★ ★

During the trial, Miss Lamarr, 51, sat quietly at the counsel table and exchanged notes with her lawyer, Jordan Wank. Wank has indicated her defense will be that she suffered a mental lapse.

The prosecution said in an opening statement that the actress "systematically and methodically stole" from the store.

Former Judge Is Fined $5,000 for Failing to File Tax Returns

DETROIT (AP) — Former Recorder's Judge Arthur J. Koscinski was fined $5,000 yesterday for his failure to file income tax returns over a period of five years.

Chief U.S District Judge Theodore Levin levied the fine and waived probation, customary in such cases, because of Koscinski's "fine reputation, Army record and excellent family background."

Koscinski, 51, son of the late U.S. District Judge Arthur A. Koscinski and a graduate of Northwestern University, had pleaded "nolo contendere," or no contest. By doing this, he put himself at the court's mercy.

The former judge, who resigned March 11 after entering his plea, stood erect before the bench in hearing his sentence.

* * *

Koscinski had said after resigning that he procrastinated in filing his income tax returns after his discharge from the Air Force in the late 1940s and subsequently out of concern that the disclosure of his failure to file might harm his parents.

18 YEARS

The government said Koscinski actually failed to file returns for 18 years since World War II but that the statute of limitations prevented the filing of charges going back any more than five years.

The $5,000 fine was at the rate of $1,000 a year Koscinski could have been fined $10,000 on each of the five counts of the government's indictment and also been sentenced to a year in prison on each count.

The government said Koscinski owes $38,000 including penalties and interest for the 13 years prior to 1959. The government could collect this through a civil suit. The criminal charges against Koscinski covered the period 1959-1963.

THE MONUMENT. By Nathaniel Benchley. McGraw-Hill. $4.95.

Benchley always writes with fond amusement of the canny New Englanders he knows so well, and loves to portray their weaknesses in farcical fashion.

He is as entertaining as ever in the present novel, but he also has created a piercing satire of a nasty social ill — the depths to which political extremists can descend.

The peninsular town of Hawley happened to have a monument or plaque for all of its war dead except one — Trafford (Bubba) Price, a victim of the Korean War.

In civilian life Bubba had been a shiftless, inept but likable knucklehead who possessed a natural talent for disaster.

Probably no one would have been interested in creating a monument for this nonhero until Horace Sutter saw it would be just the thing to spark his otherwise hopeless campaign for selectman.

Horace was an unsuccessful lawyer with extreme right-wing political views, and his campaign soon stirred up trouble.

This is a comic caper of foolish clowns, but more than that. It is a story with a sting, and don't say it couldn't happen here.

PAPA HEMINGWAY. By A. E. Hotchner. Random. $5.95.

To many readers, the main appeal will be the latter sections, which give a sort of running play-by-play of what Hotchner witnessed for several years prior to Hemingway's death by gunshot wound in 1961.

The tragic details are there: Hemingway's slipping memory; the obsessions that turned into delusions; the psychiatric treatment; several suicide attempts that were foiled before his death; the fears of his friends.

But only part of the book is about the tragic end.

The author met Hemingway in 1948. As a magazine writer and editor, and later as a television writer working on Hemingway stories, he knew the novelist professionally and as a companion.

Intermittently over the years he spent days, weeks and even months in his company. He has not attempted to construct a whole biography, but records at length his own contacts with the writer.

★ ★ ★

It is a gossipy book. It will catch the popular fancy, and intrigue the Hemingway cult. So far as the literary side is concerned, there is nothing very profound. Its picture of Hemingway is a series of candid snapshots.

DISINHERITED, THE LOST BIRTHRIGHT OF THE AMERICAN INDIAN, by Dale Van Every (Morrow $6): The settlement of America, from the standpoint of the American Indians, was an invasion.

As the white tide rolled farther and farther west, the Indians were compressed, cajoled, swindled and pushed out of their land by settlers, exploiters, local, state and national governments. By early 19th century the situation had become acute.

By then the Indians east of the Mississippi, especially the Creek and Cherokee, had become sophisticated enough to enlist powerful political leaders in their cause, but it was too late. The whole story is told in this well-researched and readable account.

Moors Trial Fervor Is Feared; Police Guard Defense Team

CHESTER, England (AP) — Police guarded defense lawyers in the Moors murder trial today and midwives were on hand to keep watch over a pregnant witness as she testified.

Fearing that passions aroused by the sensational trial might lead to violence, guards were posted at the homes of lawyers Emlyn Hooson and Godfrey Heilpern and at the home of Heilpern's mother.

The precautions were taken following the murder of Heilpern's sister-in-law, Rachel Heilpern, 53. Her body was found Tuesday night at the dress shop she managed 30 miles from Chester. She had been stabbed through the heart.

Detective Supt. Wilfred Cunliffe said so far there was nothing to indicate the murder was connected with the Moors trial, "but in a murder investigation one cannot rule out anything."

REQUEST GUARD

Six other persons named Heilpern living in northwest England have requested police protection.

Three police midwives were on duty for the resumption of the trial today. The court was to hear more testimony from Maureen Smith, 19, who expects a baby at any time.

Mrs. Smith is the sister of Myra Hindley, 23, who with her lover, Ian Brady, 27, is charged with the murder of three children for thrills.

Mrs. Smith, wearing a gray tweed coat and a maternity smock, faced her sister and Brady Wednesday as she testified for about 30 minutes. Atty. Gen. Sir Elwyn Jones had interrupted his outline of the prosecution case to bring her to the witness stand because of the advanced state of her pregnancy.

ALL-MALE JURY

Earlier, Jones told the all-male jury that Miss Hindley, a stenographer, and Brady, a clerk, enticed 10-year-old Lesley Ann Downey into a house and subjected her to "utmost indignities" before she was killed.

Space Probe Cooperation Said Lacking

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — The United States could get a lot more "mileage" from its deep space and planetary probes with little, if any, added weight if planners would consult radio astronomers long before the vehicles are hurled into space.

What scintists call "bistatic radar astronomy" is a key to learning about the makeup of interplanetary space and planetary atmospheres, Dr. Von R. Eshleman of Stanford University told the International Scientific Radio Union meeting here.

Dr. Eshleman called for more communication, cooperation and interplay between those concerned with the design and communications of spacecraft and those who decide what scientific experiments will be aboard.

The two are now "conceived, managed and funded separately," he charged.

* * *

As an example of what can be accomplished with cooperation, Dr. Eshlean cited the outstanding success of the Mariner IV mission in using telemetry signals to learn that the Martian amosphere has a pressure only one per cent that of earth's.

PUT ABOARD

This experiment, essential to planning for an unmanned Mars landing, was finally put aboard Mariner IV only four months before launch, although the idea of using the lenslike effect of the Martian atmosphere on radio waves to learn about its atmospheric structure had been suggested more than two years before launch.

Two of the three moon probes scheduled for launch this summer — the Lunar Orbiter and AIMP, for Anchored Interplanetary Monitoring Platform — will use bistatic radar for studies of the lunar surface.

Auxiliary Sees Fashions

Pontiac Press Photos by Edward R. Noble

Simplicity in black is keynoted with a silk stole lavishly paneled and fringed in silver scroll-work. Mrs. Robert V. Parenti of Oxford models the outfit from Lisbeth's of Birmingham at Wednesday's annual Oakland County Bar Association Auxiliary's luncheon and fashion show. This year the setting for the event was Glen Oaks Country Club.

Just the thing for hopping small rivers is this tangerine two-piece harem ensemble modeled by Mrs. Philip E. Rowston of Spokane Drive. The matching silk fringe around the calves and midriff add a special elegant touch.

Mrs. Gene Schnelz (left) of Walled Lake and Mrs. Douglas W. Booth of Inwoods Circle look so comfortable in these casual cottons for the coming warm weather. Each can be worn with or without a self belt and guarantees a fresh feeling throughout many washings.

To Discuss Adjustments in Marriage

Mrs. June Sears, Extension Home Economist in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb Counties, has been asked to provide information on "Achieving Adjustment in Marriage" at the Women's World Series at the Pontiac Mall.

Mrs. Sears will speak on this topic on April 27 from 10:00 a.m. to 11:00 a.m. Coffee will be served by the Pontiac Mall at 9:30 a.m. The meeting is open to the public.

* * *

Mrs. Sears, Extension Home Economist for the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service, comes well qualified to speak on the topic of husband-wife relationships. She is a graduate of Wayne State University with a Master's Degree in Child Development and Family Relationships.

Since family instability is a current problem in the country as well as in Michigan, this lecture can help point the way to increased understanding and family stability.

* * *

Divorces occur in one out of every four families today . . . and sociologists say that emotional immaturity, lack of understanding and increased tensions of our times are contributing factors.

* * *

In her lecture, Mrs. Sears will cover points such as husband-wife differences, causes for tension and disagreement, changes in marital trends and masculine and feminine roles, and some information on in-law relationships.

Mrs. Donald Dawson, Ottawa Drive, (left) and Mrs. Richard C. Poole, Orchard Lake, admire one of this year's posters for the Meadow Brook Music Festival. Cochairmen with their husbands for tickets in the Pontiac area, the two attended Wednesday's ticket report meeting in the Gold Room, Oakland University. The festival begins June 30 and runs for eight weeks with four concerts each week.

Women Work on MB Festival

The backs of 26,800 bank envelopes will be stamped with a plug for the Meadow Brook Music Festival before Community National and Pontiac State banks send out their May mailings.

This job is being undertaken by members of the Pontiac area committee under the direction of Mrs. Donald Dawson and Mrs. Richard C. Poole. A series of coffees are planned for these stamping 'bees'.

* * *

Mrs Ben D. Mills who serves with her husband as general chairmen of the festival this year held her first ticket report meeting Wednesday morning at Oakland University.

The last week in April and first week in May are designated as "Meadow Brook Music Festival" weeks Special exhibits in store windows and a tape for public address systems in shopping centers are planned.

The festival begins June 30. The Detroit Symphony Orchestra with Sixten Ehrling and Robert Shaw conducting will present four concerts during each of the following six weeks. Special concerts are scheduled for the concluding two weeks.

Among the soloists to be featured are Van Cliburn, Isaac Stern, Henryk Szeryng, Maureen Forrester, Eugene Istomin and Leonard Rose

Season tickets are available for pavilion seats for all nights. This year a new Sunday evening twilight concert has been added.

Single grounds' admission tickets may be purchased for the entire season also, merely by ordering them at $1.50 per concert from the Meadow Brook Music Festival office at Oakland University.

At the Wednesday meeting, Mrs. June Matthews announced that the Scholar Shop will be moved to Trumbull Terrace on the festival grounds June first.

The shop will be open each Tuesday and Wednesday afternoon during the summer as well as evenings during the concert season.

Late August vows are planned by Carol Ann Bell, daughter of the Cecil B. Bells of Sashabaw Road, and Marvin Douglas Barnhart, son of the Edwin C. Barnharts of Riviera Terrace. She is an alumna of Ferris State College. Her fiance, April graduate of the University of Michigan, will begin graduate studies in the fall.

Teach Child Play Habits Instead of Seeking Escape

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My problem is that I want to work outside my home but my husband doesn't want me to.

ABBY

When we were first married I worked and loved every minute of it. Now we have two children, nine and four, and I want to work again, but husband says no.

The little one has no one to play with. She has plenty of toys but that doesn't stop her from hanging on to me all day. She cries if she can't be with me. She wants all my time and this makes me nerous.

My husband says I have plenty of work to do at home, but I could get someone to do my housework and watch the baby. It's not a matter of money. I just need to get out. What do you think?

BORED

DEAR BORED: As I see it, the only good reason for a mother with pre-school children to work outside her home is because she needs the income. Small children must be taught to play alone, and not to hang on mother and demand all her time.

Don't let your failure to teach her this vital lesson drive you to an outside job.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Nine years ago I married a full-blooded Indian. (I am also an Indian.) We had three children. I divorced this man to marry a Caucasian. My Caucasian husband adopted my three children.

The adoption was handled thru the Tribal Court. I even had their birth certificates changed to show that my second husband was their legal father. Now my second husband is divorcing me and his lawyer claims that the adoption is not legal off the reservation and therefore he does not have to support my children. Is that correct?

IN DOUBT

DEAR IN: You need a lawyer to acquaint you with law of your state. If you cannot afford to retain one, seek help from your local Legal Aid society. "Tribal" law and civil law may differ.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: How can a woman tell for certain whether a man's proposal of marriage is sincere?

PROPOSED TO

DEAR PROPOSED: If a woman doesn't know a man well enough to know whether he's sincere or bluffing, she doesn't know him well enough to marry him.

* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO "A SORRY SAILOR," WHO WROTE FROM A LONELY ISLAND IN THE PACIFIC: Young man, if you only knew how many teenagers in love wrote to thank me for publishing your fine letter, it would make your broken-heart take wings.

Your frank confession was an inspiration to many young couples who were finding temptation increasingly difficult to resist. They wrote by the hundreds to say that your letter gave them the strength and determination to redouble their efforts to leave married love to married couples.

Thank you, sailor, for your honesty. I hope you get a second chance. You deserve it.

Mrs. Dorothy Thompson of Birmingham chats over scores with Oakland Hills Country Club golf pro, Al Watrous. Mrs. Thompson is wearing raspberry wool knit two-piece shorts and sleeveless top outfit from the Pro Shop. The pro golfer wears the outfit he modeled in Wednesday's Sport Fashion Show at the club.

Men Parade Fashions From OHCC Pro Shop

Usually it's the men at a fashion show who ogle the pretty models but Wednesday's fashion show at Oakland Hills Country Club put the shoe on the other foot.

★ ★ ★

Sport clothes from the club's pro shop were modeled by Al Watrous, club pro; his son Tom, assistant pro and the swimming coach, John Hussey.

CLUB COLORS

The pro (with a lot of encouragement from the audience) paraded down the runway in olive green slacks with cream Ban-Lon three button shirt and topped these with a lemon yellow Alpaca golf sweater.

★ ★ ★

His shoes were white calf trimmed in olive green patent leather. Carrying out the club colors, of green, white and yellow his socks were green with contrasting bands of yellow and white.

Even his calf glove was olive green.

★ ★ ★

On the heels of the athlete's retreat, came the sport fashions for women from the pro shop, Sak's and the Sportsman.

★ ★ ★

Modeling bathing suits, tennis dresses (so popular this year) and short go-togethers were club members: Mesdames John W. Harms, Fred E. Sheldon Jr., Dorothy Thompson, Joseph Mack II, Chester A. Cahn, and C. Norman Fry.

★ ★ ★

Also modeling the latest in fun clothes were Judy Ewald (just back from Florida with a fantastic tan) Karen Gunn, Carol Carino and Sue Wilder.

MRS. EWALD, CHAIRMAN

Bows were taken by Mrs. Harvey W. Ewald as the originator of the unusual fashion show and social chairman of the club. She was assisted by Mrs. C. Boyd Stockmeyer as vice chairman.

★ ★ ★

Those working on committees for the event were Mrs. Richard Benecke, Mrs. Reginald Cavill, Mrs. Horance D'Angelo and Mrs. B. Kenneth Sanden.

Beta Sigmas Elect Slate, Give Degree

The exemplar degree of Beta Sigma Phi sorority was conferred upon Mrs. Earl Kreps of Xi Gamma Delta chapter, Wednesday, in the home of Mrs. Carl Diehl on Sheffield Drive.

Rosamond Haeberle presented a program on "What Is Friendship?" and Mrs. Kreps spoke on "Friendship in Beta Sigma Phi."

Officers for 1966-7 are Mrs. Robert German, president; Mrs. Kreps, vice president; Mrs. Leonard Lackner, treasurer; Dorothy Phelps, recording secretary; Mrs. Ralph Ellsworth, corresponding secretary and Mrs. Stuart Hill, historian.

XI PI

Mrs. Ruth Shaw led the Tuesday meeting of Xi Pi chapter, in the home of Mrs. Carl Leedy on Pioneer Drive. Mrs. Robert Owen, incoming president, was cohostess.

Other officers for the coming year are Mrs. Alphonse Fowler, vice president; Mrs. Leedy, secretary, and Jean Warnock, treasurer.

Mrs. Ray Maidment and daughter Lois from Plymouth showed slides of Argentina where they lived for two years.

Club Ladies Get Things Done Fast

ARAPAHO, Okla. (AP) — When the ladies in the Sew and So Club want something done in this county seat town of Custer County, they're willing to work for their project.

The town council told the group it would buy needed street signs if the women would see that they were put up.

The determined ladies dug the post holes and mixed the cement, but the water superintendent stepped in to place the signs on the posts.

The club also took the lead in getting lights and setting up the town's public library.

New Jewels Are Rubber

Rubber jewels are for wearing when swimming.

They come styled like the big floral pins that have been around on jewelry counters for the past few years.

★ ★ ★

But because they're rubber, they can be pinned to a bathing suit or clipped to the ear and take to the water.

Reunion Draws Area Residents

Three area residents will be among alumnae and parents attending the Mercy College of Detroit dinner dance Saturday after a day-long reunion.

Among celebrants joining in the college's twenth-fifth anniversary fete will be Dr. and Mrs. Robert H. Johnson of Leinster Street, Avon Township, and Dr. Marvin E. Larson, Rochester.

PTAs

Riverside School, 2 p.m., Jerry Booth, host of Detroit television children's show "Fun House" with program of stunts and games, audience participation and cartoons. Tickets (limited) sold at door.

Hanging Chennile Wrong Side Out

When drying chenille bedspreads outdoors, hang with wrong side out.

Not only does this save colors from fading from sunlight, but it makes fluffier bedspreads. The chenille balls will rub together, fluffing them.

Expressing a romantic notion for spring is a slim and shifty dress of sheer lightweight rayon, printed in a delicate floral arrangement. Airy white lace makes a collar above the finely tucked bodice, and lacy frills bring the skinny sleeves to a feminine finish. Bobbie Brooks adds a perky bow at the neckline for contrast. Hardy Hats Can Take Abuse

All hail. The permanent-press hat has arrived. Business Week says that come next fall your husband will be able to buy a hat that can be sat on, rained on, or rubbed with catsup. The hat will love it, and prove it to you by retaining its shape and looking brand new.

* * *

The hardy hats, which look, feel and wear like felt are made of something called Surfel, vaguely described by the manufacturer as a complex of several polymers.

* * *

Not long after your husband tests these indestructible hats in the fall, you will have a chance, too. Researchers are now working on the next logical step: Surfel hats for the ladies.

Your Teen Has Need for Reassurance

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: I am 46, the mother of two children and the divorced wife of a man who was such a disaster as a husband and father that I've never wanted to marry again. But now I do! I'm in love after 10 years of trying to make the kids and my small interior decorating business my whole life.

I would be grateful for your thinking of my 15-year-old daughter's intense resentment of my coming marriage and happiness. I suppose it's jealousy . . .

ANSWER: Could be. Just the same I wish you'd try saying to her:

"Listen. If Jim turns out to be the wrong man again, I will survive. You will survive, too, if you marry the wrong man. It is sad and serious when we make a bad marriage judgment but it doesn't kill you. I made a bad one but now I think I'm making a good one. I can't be sure any more than you will be able to be sure you're making a good one. But I'm going ahead anyway, just as you'll have to do when the time comes."

You see, your adolescent daughter may not be so jealous of you as she is afraid that your sexual judgment could be wrong again. This possibility could arouse all her doubts of her own ability to make good sexual judgments, doubts that are both due to her age and to her experience as a child of divorced people.

I think that her intense resistance to this coming marriage of yours is resistance to your saying "Yes" again to sexual love because it forces her to wonder:

"If this 'yes' of mother's turns out to be wrong again, what chance on earth have I to recognize the man to say my own 'yes' to?"

Which is why I suggest you speak directly to this self-distrust of hers and reassure her that we are not destroyed by making a poor sexual judgment.

I couldn't be happier that you have found this happiness with your new man, but I'm also aware that this 15-year-old female child of yours, so near to obligation to make good sexual choice herself, is entitled to distrust your new one.

She's been the constant witness of the unhappiness caused by your old one. How then can we wonder that she's frightened of the new one and its possible ending in an unhappiness that suggests all sexual choices are doomed to unhappiness?

I'm no moralist. I just think that parents' sexual failures affect children's confidence in their own sexual judgment. And that it's time for divorced parents to appreciate this fact.

Try Rolled Hem This Neat Way

To make a neat tiny rolled hem, machine stitch about one-fourth inch back from the cut edge.

Trim excess fabric to about one-eighth inch from the stitching line. Carefully roll this edge and hand-whip with tiny invisible stitches. When making tiny stitches, be sure to use very fine needle and thread.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

While spring cleaning the house why not spruce up the chassis a bit? Why not throw away any old rolls which are lying around your waistline and any old bulges that are cluttering up your figure? While covering the furniture with slip covers why not uncover the lovely curves which lie hidden beneath the deposits of fat? You can rid yourself of these rolls and bulges in only a little more time than it takes you to finish your spring cleaning, that is, if you have only five to 10 pounds to lose.

* * *

This is the third day of my 9-Day Reducing Diet which gives you a loss of from five to 10 pounds in just nine days. I have tried to plan the luncheon menus to make it easy for those who eat away from home at that time. For instance, the items on today's and tomorrow's luncheon menus are available at practically every restaurant or counter.

If you carry your lunch to work, buy several small containers to use in your lunch box. Use these for items like cottage cheese, fruit salad, vegetable soup, a vegetable salad, jello and such items. Remember, the usual luscious sandwich is loaded with calories. However, if you make one with two thin slices of bread and a very little butter or mayonnaise and a thin slice of meat or cheese with a thin pickle slice, the total is not prohibitive.

The items I have mentioned are good for the lunch you take with you. So are hard-cooked eggs, whole tomatoes, celery and carrot sticks, fresh fruit and skim milk. You can take the latter along in a little jar or thermos bottle.

BREAKFAST

One poached egg on toast
Black coffee

LUNCHEON

One medium hamburger cake (cooked without butter and made of lean meat)
Celery sticks
One glass skimmed milk
Two raw carrots

DINNER

Small lean steak
One-half cup cauliflower
One baked potato (No butter. Medium sized potato has only about 90 calories)
One orange
One glass skimmed milk before bedtime

If you would like to lose from five to 10 pounds in nine day's time, and have missed some of the menus, or would like to have all of them in a booklet, send 10 cents and a stamped, self - addressed envelope with your request for the 9-Day Reducing Diet. Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Tomorrow: "Make Substitutions on Diet But be Careful Not to Cheat."

Engagement news is made by Michigan State University students Virginia Irene Fry, daughter of the James S. Frys of Silver Birch Drive, and Peter M. Bayer, son of Mrs. John A. Bayer of Elk River, Minn. and the late Mr. Bayer.

What Drinks to Serve at Teen Party

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: My 18-year-old son is having some boys and girl friends in next week and there's been some discussion of what drinks to serve.

He wants to serve liquor and my husband and I don't think it's right even though the law in our state allows it.

A: Definitely no hard liquor! But beer in limited quanitity isn't out of place for boys and girls that age. Be sure to have plenty of soft drinks available.

Many teens, especially girls, won't want beer anyway. Plenty of snacks, too, should be available.

One way of serving beer is to order a small keg to refill, they won't drink as much as if they get a full can or bottle to start with.

Whichever way it's served, when the supply is gone, don't bring out more.

* * *

A couple of the older boys may just arrive with a flask of hard liquor in the car, or even in their jackets. If one boy keeps disappearing, from the group, take him aside and check. Tell him liquor is out of order.

If he's looking for that kind of party, he can go elsewhere. A couple of boys passing out drinks behind your back can really raise havoc. It's one of the best reasons I know for a parent to keep an unobtrusive eye on things.

Essential rule for a good party: Stop trouble before it starts.

* * *

Details concerning the announcing and christening of a baby are described in the booklet entitled, "The New Baby"

To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Emily Post Institute, in care of The Pontiac Press.

* * *

Moore-Riley Vows Taken in Commerce

A reception in the Middle Straits Community Center followed the recent marriage of Judy Mae Riley to David Wallace Moore in the Commerce Methodist Church.

Their parents are Mrs. Thurman C. Riley of Oriole Road, Commerce Township, the late Mr. Riley, and the James Moores of North Perry Street.

* * *

An illusion veil with pearl tiara complemented the bride's A-line gown of white Chantilly lace over taffeta styled with lace train. She carried white carnations.

Attendants at the rite performed by Rev. J. McDonald Jones were Mrs. Monroe Estes, Janet Riley and Mrs. DeWayne Monroe.

Raymond Shaw was best man. Larry Moore and Monroe Estes were ushers.

Born in Hospitals

Ninety-seven per cent of the births in the United States occur in hospitals, according to a survey by Planned Parenthood-World Birth.

Pre-Schoolers in College

The Continum Center, part of the Division of Continuing Education at Oakland University, has added a Child Care Center to its facilities.

*

Mothers who want to complete or add to their education may register their preschool children for the Child Care Center on April 29 from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Room 114, Oakland Center.

* * *

Women planning to take a summer course should call the University immediately as the new semester begins May 2.

*

Operating hours of the Center will be flexible and the cost of this new service to mothers is nominal.

IN CHURCH

The Center will be located at Five Points Church, opposite the campus on Walton Boulevard and will be staffed by a professional director with students as assistants.

Additional information and registration materials may be obtained by calling the Continum Center at OU.

An advisory board, aware of the fact that women must be educated if they are to be useful in a specialized society after their children are grown, explored the possibiltiy of a nursery-day care plan for OU students.

The consensus was that this goal of achieving additional education can be completed best over a period of time while mothers are rearing their children. This new University facility was set up for this purpose.

The Center, with its flexible hours and acceptance of young children is also available to faculty wives and OU staff members.

* * *

Advisory board members include Rockne De Launey of Pontiac; Mrs. Priscilla (Walter) Jackson; Mrs. Gladys Rapoport and Elizabeth Wright of Birmingham.

Sightseers 'Flip Wigs' as She Toils and Talks

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. — Williamsburg sightseers may be startled — perhaps even "flip their wigs" — when they step inside the barber and perukemaker's to find a lady wigmaker presiding over the shop.

* * *

Here bonnie Mary Magee, a native of Scotland, enthusiastically explains the step-by-step procedures for fashioning wigs, the colonial art of tooth extraction or shaving eighteenth - century style. Her promise, "I'll try a wig on you in a wee minute," always brings gales of laughter from the many visiting school children. At nearby Robertson's Windmill, youngsters see her husband at work, a miller who learned his trade as a small lad in Scotland.

Mrs. Magee's occupation as wigmaker may be a novel idea to today's visitors. In the eighteenth century, however, lady wigmakers were not unknown. Abigail Peake of nearby Yorktown advertised in a 1751 issue of Williamsburg's Virginia Gazette: "Just IMPORTED . . . A CHOICE Parcel of Hairs, for Wigs, and will be made up at William Peake's Shop, in York Town, after the newest and neatest Fashion. Gentlemen that please to favour me with their Orders, may depend on being kindly and expeditiously served, at the aforesaid Shop . . ."

The New York Independent Journal or the General Advertiser (1787) carried a notice about a lady barber, Christian Edwards, who "has entered into partnership with David Grey at No. 39 Golden Hill-Street; A Person regularly bred and qualified for the purpose . . ."

Sweat Shirts Given Style

Manufacturers are beginning to call the lowly sweatshirt "twin-fleeced sportswear" and they're beginning to give it some style.

* * *

Newest look is a shirt with king-sized pockets both front and back. It's finished with ribbed trim at collar, sleeves and tail.

* * *

Called "Fore 'N Aft," the shirt was made for men but is going over big with the ladies.

Doing Needlepoint the Neat Way

Work with, rather than against, the twist of the yarn when making needlepoint.

* * *

To determine this, run your finger along each strand of yarn before threading your needle. This makes smoother, more uniform stitches.

Strings to Their Hobby

By JEANNE NELSON

When is a witch not a witch at all? Mrs. James Binder of Northville and Mrs. Harry Reed of Osceola Drive spell out the details in their original story created expressly for the puppet stage and aptly named "Wanda the Witch that Wasn't."

★ ★ ★

The two homemakers, each the mother of three boys, who have been friends for years began making marionettes during coffee klatches some time ago and are now the producers of an impressive collection.

Ten and 25 centing it for materials right along, the two puppeteers will soon be realizing a profit on their hobby.

They have contracted to produce a three-day series of performances in June at The Pontiac Mall. And according to the pair, "even more exciting things are in the planning stage."

Each marionette has a plastic wood head with facial contours painted on by Mrs. Reed. Cotton stuffing is covered to form the bodies. Lead weights inside control the balance and movement of the jointed dolls.

★ ★ ★

Bright clusters of yarn form the hair. And hardboard is used for the hand controls with black carpet thread for the strings.

A great deal of hand sewing has gone into the making of the costumes. The delicate detailing on most of the clothes has taken many hours of tedious work.

★ ★ ★

When it came to making a stage it was necessary that it be practical above all else. So the eight-foot stage was hammered and nailed together in such a way that it folds for easy traveling and storage.

Not satisfied with carpentry work alone, the inventive team created lights and spots for their stage. Red velvet curtains line the stage and are trimmed with gold for a professional look.

★ ★ ★

Just recently, they have started making a collection of hand puppets for a Punch and Judy production. These characters are made with felt heads sprayed a flesh color with bits of bright felt for the facial expressions.

Wire encased in the hands and fingers enable the puppets to hold props for an authentic touch.

★ ★ ★

Wooden dowels hold the "little people," keeping costumes unwrinkled and free from soil during performances and storage.

In the same way, folding ironing stands hold the marionettes.

★ ★ ★

The first few performances given by the pair were narrated at the time of the production. Now the use of a tape recorder has been employed which cuts down considerably on hectic backstage activities.

Up until this time, the two husbands have stayed strictly out of things but recently agreed to do the male roles on the tape.

Dorthe, the young Danish model, wears a white lace wedding dress featured by designer Pierre Balmain at his Paris spring-summer show. His collection featured costumes that were neither too young nor too old for the models who wore them.

Pontiac Press Photo

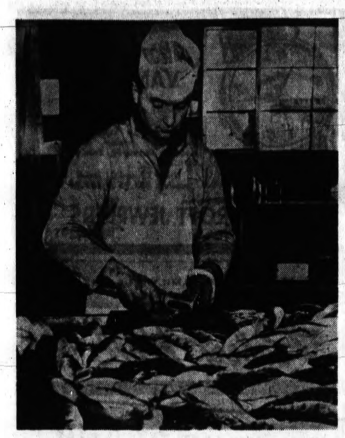
State Fishing—2

Men in Commercial Industry Not Optimistic



AP Photofax

SUCCESSFUL TEAM — Charles Jensen forms a successful commercial fishing team with his father, Chris, 76, owner of the Jensen Fishery in South Haven. The father is skipper of a 48-foot, diesel-powered tug. The son operates the retail portion of the business which includes a small smoking house, plus sales at the local level.

(EDITOR'S NOTE — In many cases, commercial fishing on the Great Lakes is a family tradition. But the fisherman himself is not optimistic about the future. This is the second in a three-part series by Associated Press newsman Ed Markaity.)

By EDWARD J. MARKAITY
Associated Press Writer

On a mild April day when he should have been plying his trade of the past 65 years, Reuben Sewers of Saugatuck was at home talking with a newsman.

★ ★ ★

"There's no money to be made in commercial fishing any more," he said. "I'm ready to quit any time now, but the two men in my crew have been with me for 20 years and I don't want to see them lose their jobs."

On the same day at St. Joseph, after returning from a net-lifting trip in Lake Michigan, Lloyd Mollhagen Jr. said: "If I don't make any money by September, I'm getting out."

★ ★ ★

A past president of the Michigan Fish Producers Association, but by his own decision no longer even a member, Mollhagen is the fourth generation of his family in the commercial fishing business. At 41, he has 25 years' experience.

NO LUXURIES

There is no room for luxury aboard a lakes fishing tug. Except for helm and engine spaces, its innards are given over to gear for catching, cleaning and stowing fish.

The luxury, it appears more and more, is in operating one for a living.

Spread thinly along the shorelines from St. Joseph to Charlevoix are fewer than 50 of the trim vessels—a mere shadow of what used to be.

"One trouble," according to 30-year veteran Glen Richter of South Haven, "is a shortage of experienced help. You can't guarantee the men steady work." A nearly standard practice in the trade now, in lieu of wages, is to offer helpers who provide their own nets an equal share of the returns.

ECONOMY BOOM

Another problem is the booming national economy. Many have abandoned fishing for less strenuous work, steadier hours and better pay in factories.

Sewers, 72, is acknowledged by fellow fishermen to be one of the best in the business.

★ ★ ★

"We fished because we liked it," he says of his brethren in the industry. "But one by one, they're dropping out. Fishing is so poor that a man can't pay the wages to get and keep experienced help."

His nephew, Jim Sewers, 49, less than 10 years ago told a reporter: "Sure, fishing is a tough life, but a good one." He spoke with a measure of pride aboard his boat, Bonnie, a steel-hulled, 52-foot craft with a crew of three.

UP FOR SALE

The boat is up for sale now. Asking price: $15,000. "That's about half of what it's worth," the owner says. He hasn't fished regularly in about two years. "The industry is going down," he claims.

Chub and perch fishing has been a mainstay of the Great Lakes commercial operation since the lamprey eel invasions dating back to World War II slashed into lake trout and Whitefish production.

★ ★ ★

Now the alewife—a trash fish ocean import — has added to problems of fishing for edible species. The alewives' summer mass deaths befoul southern Lake Michigan beaches. Their floating dead have been known to clog municipal water supply intakes.

They are believed to feed on the spawn and young of perch.

Official estimates place the alewife population at more than 90 per cent of the weight of all fish present in the Great Lakes.

U.S. Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., proposes that Congress appropriate $5 million to conserve and develop the Great Lakes fisheries for both commercial and sports activities.

He says it would permit the introduction of Coho salmon and other game fish to feed on the alewives, hopefully reducing their number. Michigan already has initiated the practice with a planting of some 600,000 this spring.

★ ★ ★

Roy Jensen of Escanaba, executive secretary of the Michigan Fish Producers Association, says a new plant at Oconto, Wis., is gearing to process about 30,000 pounds of alewives per hour for fish meal and animal food.

Hunt for Sunken Ships Slated in Saginaw Bay

BAY CITY (AP) — Skin divers are going after sunken ships in Saginaw Bay this summer, but don't break out the scuba gear.

There probably isn't any gold.

C. Patrick Labadie, who is in charge of the operation, says although rumors of treasure ships abound, there is no evidence to back them up.

Labadie is assistant curator of the Dossin Marine Museum on Belle Isle in the Detroit River.

The salvage project, to recover artifacts of the great sailing ship days on the Great Lakes, will be cosponsored by the Dossin Division of the Detroit Historical Museum and the Michigan United Conservation Clubs.

★ ★ ★

Labadie says there are at least 300 sunken vessels at the bottom of the bay. Most are old wooden hulks, but some are made of iron. Labadie says the earliest known wrecks were sunk in the 1830s.

Operations will be centered at Bay City, but recovery teams may be sent to Caseville, Pt. Aux Barques, the Au Sable River and Oscoda areas.

The divers, mostly from the conservation clubs, will be seeking artifacts from ships sunk before 1890.

These are needed to fill out museum collections, Labadie said. The museum, he says, is well stock with relics from vessels sunk after 1890.

51 From Area Pass Course in Seamanship

An eight-week course in basic seamanship and small boat handling has been passed by 51 Pontiac area residents, it was announced by the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary.

Robert C. Underwood, public relations officer for Flotilla 12-18 of the auxiliary, said the course was aimed at promotion of safety in the maintenance, operation, and navigation of small craft.

Presiding over the recent graduation ceremonies were Flotilla Commander Duane Brown and Vice Commander Donald Jewel.

Junior Editors Quiz on HYDROFOILS

QUESTION: How can hydrofoils lift boats above the water?

ANSWER: In the opening years of the 20th Century, Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, famous inventor of the telephone, was experimenting with kites and airplanes.

He was fascinated with the principle of the airfoil, which lifts the wing of an airplane. We show this principle at upper left.

The air, streaming over the curved top surface, with a longer way to go, has to speed up—and its pressure on the wing below grows less. The slower air at bottom, giving more pressure, lifts the wing.

Dr. Bell reasoned that the same principle would work in water if an airfoil was moving fast. He attached stilts equipped with a number of airfoil-shaped strips to boats.

They worked so well that the body of the boat was lifted up in the air and whizzed along on the foils.

In 1919, Dr. Bell built a large hydrofoil, as these boats became called, which made a world speedboat record of 70.86 miles an hour.

Despite this success, the hydrofoil boat was slow to develop; it is only now that its possibilities are being appreciated.

The big picture is of a regular outboard motor boat to which hydrofoils have been attached. The foils give great speed and a very smooth ride.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Large ocean-going hydrofoils have been built. Watch your newspapers for developments about these boats, which may be whizzing passengers over waterways before long.

New Home, Loan in Wake of 'Camp-In'

DETROIT (AP) — James Mitchell, who camped on the city housing director's lawn last weekend with his wife and family, has a new home, furniture and a loan to pay back bills.

Housing Director Robert Knox, still angry about the uninvited visit, Wednesday said Mitchell, his wife and five children moved into an eight-room house which rents for $55 a month.

★ ★ ★

Homer Sanders, a housing commission official, said the commission sought furniture for Mitchell from charitable agencies and arranged for a $120 loan so Mitchell could pay bills.

Mitchell said his "camp-in" was to protest the city's forcing him to move from his apartment by raising his rent from $50 a month to $78 after it bought the building for an urban renewal project.

★ ★ ★

Knox, however, said the rent was not raised and denied that Mitchell, a $125-a-week truck driver, had been evicted.

The Mitchell family pitched a tent on Knox's lawn and stayed there 16 hours with about 40 supporters until Knox returned home and ordered them to leave. Knox said the "camp-in" ruined his lawn.

It has been estimated that 20 million meteors enter the earth's atmosphere every day.

Coal Accord Said Far Off

Control of Operations May Be Big Issue

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A coal executive says industry and union negotiators are far from accord on a coal contract that could end a strike of 48,000 miners.

George L. Love, chairman of Consolidation Coal Co., said Wednesday bargainers in Washington "are pretty far apart" on a few issues.

★ ★ ★

Love implied the stumbling block involves the question of management control of operations. He did not go into detail.

For the past several days, there has been no word of any progress in the Washington talks between the United Mineworkers Union and the Bituminous Coal Operators Association.

STARTED APRIL 11

The walkout started April 11 and within 24 hours the number of strikers had swelled to 60,000 in eight states.

The miners, who earn a daily base pay of $26.25, walked out three days after the union signed a contract with three independent producers. They said the signing left other miners without a contract.

Miners working for the three independents received a daily pay hike of $1.32 immediately and eight paid holidays. They'll get another $1.00 next April.

Gromyko Is Due in Rome for Talks; May Meet Pope

ROME (AP) — Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko was due in Rome today for talks with leaders of the Italian government that are expected to cover NATO, European security and Viet Nam. He may also meet Pope Paul VI.

Gromyko and Foreign Minister Amintore Fanfani scheduled their first meeting for tonight. They will confer again Friday and Gromyko is also scheduled to meet Premier Aldo Moro.

★ ★ ★

There were widespread reports that Gromyko would ask to meet Pope Paul VI, and the Vatican neither confirmed that a meeting might take place nor ruled it out.

It would be the first meeting of a Pope and a top Soviet government official. Pope John XXIII received then Premier Nikita Khrushchev's son-in-law, and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Alexei Adzhubei, in 1963 when Adzhubei was editor of the government newspaper Izvestia.

NATO, VIET NAM

The Italian Communist party newspaper L'Unita reported from Moscow today that Gromyko would investigate the Italian government's attitude toward the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the war in Viet Nam.

L'Unita said Gromyko would also discuss Germany's eastern border, proposals to denuclearize some areas in Europe and Soviet worries over an increasing role in NATO for West Germany.

★ ★ ★

Gromyko is expected to ask Fanfani to support the recent Soviet Communist party congress' proposal for an all-European conference on European security problems.

★ ★ ★

L'Unita said he is also expected to ask Italy to insist that the United States stop bombing North Viet Nam.

U.S. POSITION

Addressing Parliament Wednesday, Fanfani stressed his government's loyalty to NATO and its understanding for the American position in Viet Nam. He said his talks with Gromyko would not affect present Italian foreign policy.

★ ★ ★

Gromyko's visit coincides with the presence in Turin of a Soviet economic delegation which is reported negotiating with the Fiat Motor Co. for a $300-million auto plant in the Soviet Union.

★ ★ ★

Such a deal would be a giant step in economic relations between Italy and the Soviet Union, which Soviet officials describe as already highly satisfactory.

Iraq Leader Vows Autonomy for Kurds

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

For more than 2,500 years a Mideastern people whose origin is lost in antiquity have inhabited a land which today includes parts of Iran, Iraq, Syria, Turkey and the Soviet Union.

NEWSOM

Never conquered but never independent, these are the Kurds.

In ancient times they fought the Greeks, the Syrians and the Mongols.

Today, their numbers are estimated at about four million, of whom 1.5 million inhabit the northern mountains of Iraq.

There, since 1961, they have been battling for an autonomous state of Kurdistan.

★ ★ ★

They fought the Iraqi government of Premier Abdul Karim Kassem until Kassem met his own violent death in a military coup in 1963.

COPTER CRASH

And they fought President Abdel Salam Aref until he died last week in a helicopter crash during a sandstorm.

New Aref's brother, Maj. Gen. Abdul Rahman Aref, in an interview distributed by the Middle East News Agency, has promised the Kurds they will have autonomy.

Baghdad governments have spoken softly to the Kurds before, only to resume military action against them.

★ ★ ★

The Kurds are not Arabs and do not speak the Arab language. Their own is closer to that of Iran.

OFFER REJECTED

An estimated 10,000 to 20,000 Kurdish rebels are led by 62-year-old Gen. Mustafa Al-Barzani.

Last December, Barzani rejected a government offer to recognize the Kurds as a "nation" with their own language and culture, saying the rebels would fight 10 to 20 years if necessary to win a geographically defined autonomous state with its own legislature, executive branch and police within the national boundaries of Iraq. He would would leave foreign affairs and over-all national defense to the Iraqi government.

The quarrel has gone beyond national. Iraqi relations with Iran have approached the breaking point over Iran's refusal to close its borders to the Kurdish rebels.

Also accused of helping the Kurds have been the United States, Britain, the Soviet Union and Israel.

★ ★ ★

Even for the United Arab Republic's President Gamal Abdel Nasser, it has had an annoying effect. Nasser opposes military action against the Kurds because it delays his own plans for a reunion between the U.A.R. and Iraq.

Cuba Will Hold Red Congress for Latin Students

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Cuba will hold another Communist-sponsored congress for Latin-American students, Havana Radio announced Wednesday night.

A news cast heard in Miami said the gathering, to be attended by 59 student organizations, has been called to discuss "the struggle for independence and self-determination of peoples against imperialism, colonialism and neocolonialism."

★ ★ ★

The announcement of the congress, the fourth for Latin students, was made by Francisco Dorticos, head of the Cuban Student Federation and nephew of President Osvaldo Dorticos.

Georgia Senator Urges Wider Air Strikes in N. Viet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Richard B. Russell said today he hopes the United States will expand its bombing of North Viet Nam to tighten the military squeeze on the Communists.

Russell, Georgia Democrat who heads the Senate Armed Services Committee and is close to President Johnson, left no doubt in an interview he advocates drastic measures to step up the Viet Nam military effort.

★ ★ ★

But he declined to comment on the possibility that action may be taken to seal off the harbor of Haiphong, North Viet Nam's largest, although he has urged such action.

★ ★ ★

"I hope our bombing operations will be intensified to take in all of the military targets in North Viet Nam," he said. "Understand, I'm not advocating invading. But I think we should use our full strength to push this war to a conclusion."

HEAR McNAMARA

Russell spoke out after Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara told senators Wednesday that "we will carry out continuing heavy air operations in the future." He said nothing about the targets to be attacked.

Carrier-based Navy planes have blasted railroad and highway bridges 10 miles north of Haiphong. Saigon reports said air attacks had halted all main highway traffic in the industrial area between the port and Hanoi, North Viet Nam's capital.

★ ★ ★

Russell said this was all to the good. He said wider-ranging attacks should be supplemented with naval interdiction of supplies bound for Haiphong.

★ ★ ★

The intensified bombing has accompanied a lull in ground action in South Viet Nam which McNamara told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee may not last long.

ON SIDELINES?

Testifying on a $917-million military aid authorization, the defense secretary said the Viet Cong appeared to have gone to the sidelines in a period of political turmoil in South Viet Nam. He said they probably are regrouping for larger future operations.

"I rather anticipate an increase in the level of the conflict," McNamara said.

He added that the Viet Cong may launch a large scale offensive during the monsoon season, from May until July or August. South Viet Nam elections are scheduled to be held in August.

Russell, who recently called for a reappraisal of the U.S. position because of the political upheaval in South Viet Nam, said he has become convinced that if Buddhist leader Thich Tri Quang gains power in Saigon, there will be no demand for the withdrawal of U.S. troops.

★ ★ ★

"I think they all know they couldn't last 15 minutes without us," he said. "I'm afraid our invitation to help them fight the Communists is going to be a long-standing one.'

Reds Reopen Funnel

Pass Approach Is Hit Again

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Air Force jets renewed their assaults on the approach to North Viet Nam's strategic Mu Gia Pass after thousands of coolies, laboring day and night, reopened the landslide-clogged funnel to the Ho Chi Minh Trail, a U.S. spokesman reported today.

Only eight days ago, eight-engine U.S. B52s dropped 700 tons of explosives on the winding mountain route on the Laotian frontier, 230 miles south of Hanoi, in the Strategic Air Command's first strike against North Viet Nam.

The U.S. spokesman reported that smaller fighter-bombers were sent back to the pass Wednesday after reconnaissance showed that Communist labor battalions had gotten traffic moving again through the pass. He said some traffic was still moving on Route 15, which follows the pass into neighboring Laos and links up with southbound infiltration routes.

The spokesman said Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs and F4C Phantoms tore into the highway at three locations leaving huge craters.

BATTLE REDS

For the first time in days, Vietnamese troops were reported in a hard fight with the Communists. Elements of government airborne and Ranger battalions killed 20 Viet Cong and captured a large store of weapons when they jumped a Red battalion 8 miles northwest of Quang Ngai City, on the northern coast, U.S. officers reported.

With South Viet Nam's generals preoccupied with political problems, operations against the Viet Cong by government troops have fallen off considerably.

However, U.S. combat casualties continued at the usual level and South Vietnamese casualties rose again after dropping below those of the Americans for the first time in the war.

The U.S. military command announced that 89 Americans were killed, 635 wounded and five missing in action last week. Ninety-five Americans were killed, 501 wounded and four missing the week before.

The new figures raised American dead to 2,594 and wounded to 15,863 in the Viet Nam war since January 1961.

The Vietnamese command reported 141 of its troops were killed and 52 missing last week compared with 67 killed and 204 missing in the week of April 3-9. Wounded figures are not announced.

Senator Raps Insurance Hike

LANSING (UPI) — Sen. Bernard F. O'Brien, D-Detroit, chairman of the Senate Insurance Committee, says he is out to find the answer to the apparent riddle of why auto insurance rates are rising while accident rates in Detroit decline.

O'Brien, whose committee had several go-arounds with former State Insurance Commissioner Allen Mayerson, said he will ask Mayerson's successor, acting Commissioner John Wickstrom, to appear before the committee Tuesday and explain the seeming paradox.

In Detroit, where motorists pay the highest insurance rates in the state, police records show a decline to date of more than 3,000 motor vehicle accidents compared to the same time period last year, O'Brien said.

"I contend there is not sufficient reason for the widespread increase in auto insurance rates based on these figures," O'Brien said.

"We want to find out whether the rate increases are due to auto accident costs or poor management on the part of the insurance companies," O'Brien added.

O'Brien also said he is dissatisfied with the way the Insurance Commission "shrugged off" earlier requests of some auto insurance forms.

Wickstrom took over as acting commissioner after Mayerson resigned the post in early January and returned to teaching at the University of Michigan.

Use Imagination and Skill to Cut Meat Costs

LAMB CURRY PIE

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Food prices are higher. Any woman who is responsible for the family meals knows that.

All of us have our pet economies. But few of us do everything we could do to cut food costs.

This seems like a good time to get in my regular plug about using nonfat dry skim milk to cut the milk bill.

By making up this milk and refrigerating it for 24 hours, you will get rid of the taste some object to. Add it to replace an equal amount of regular milk and no one will be the wiser.

Your family will not suffer; they will, in fact, benefit by getting more protein and less fat in their milk.

You may have to substitute canned fruit and vegetables for fresh or frozen. You can't buy all the specialty foods like pickles, shrimp, sauces and frozen pastries.

SHARE RECIPES

If any of our readers have a main dish that is considered an economy dish, will she send us the recipe? We'll be glad to print them.

It is the meat dish that takes the largest amount of our food dollar. This is the place where you have to work hardest to keep costs down.

If you are near a store that sells a cheper grade of meat than 'choice,' patronize it. You won't have fork-tender steaks, but you'll have good meat with as much protein in it as in the more expensive grades.

★ ★ ★

Spring lamb is in good supply now. Buy two pounds of lamb stewing meat for lamb curry pie. Just go easy on the curry powder unless you know your family really likes it.

LAMB CURRY PIE

2 lbs. boned lamb stewing meat, cut in 1¼" pieces
Flour, salt and pepper
½ cup chopped onion
1 clove garlic, minced
2 teaspoons curry powder
2 (8-oz.) cans tomato sauce
½ cup water
1 tablespoon flour
1 tablespoon peanut butter (optional)
2 cups packaged pre-cooked rice
2 cups water
¾ teaspoon salt
Garnishes: flaked coconut, chopped hard-cooked egg, chopped green onion, chutney.

Trim some fat from lamb and heat in skillet. Sprinkle lamb with flour, salt and pepper. Remove fat from skillet and brown lamb in drippings. Add onion and garlic; saute until transparent.

Stir in curry powder, tomato sauce and water. Cover and simmer for 1½ hours or until meat is tender. About 10 or 15 minutes before curry is done, stir in peanut butter.

Bring water and salt to boil in saucepan; stir in rice, remove from heat, cover and let stand 5 minutes. Pack into 9- or 10-inch pie plate, piling high on sides to make a rim.

Heap curry in center, garnish with coconut and hard-cooked egg. Serve with green onion and chutney. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Grated bacon isn't cheap. But when half a pound helps flavor a navy bean dish that serves six, it's economical.

NAVY BEAN SCALLOP

1 pound dry Michigan navy beans
1 quart water
½ pound bacon, diced
1 medium onion, finely chopped
¼ cup flour
½ teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
1 cup evaporated milk
¾ cup liquid from beans
1 cup sharp cheese, grated
1 cup mushrooms, sliced
¼ cup bread crumbs

Soak beans in the water overnight. Simmer till beans are tender, about 2 hours. Drain beans, saving ¾ liquid.

Fry bacon in skillet till crisp. Remove bacon and drain off excess fat leaving 5 tablespoons. Fry onion in the fat until tender but not brown. Blend in flour, salt and pepper and stir constantly while slowly stirring in the milk and bean liquid.

When mixture starts to thicken, add the cheese and mushrooms and cook only till cheese is melted. In a greased casserole place alternate layers of beans, cheese sauce and bacon pieces. Top with remaining bacon and bread crumbs.

Bake at 325 degrees for 30 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

QUICK METHOD. Forgotten to soak the beans overnight and want to prepare this dish for dinner anyway? No problem. Just put the beans in a large pot of water to cover. Bring to a rolling boil and cook 2 minutes. Remove pot from heat and let beans stand 1 hour. Then proceed with the regular cooking directions.

And don't forget hot dogs. One pound of frankfurters in a noodle casserole will feed the average family.

FRANKLY FANCY NOODLE BAKE

1 pound frankfurters or wieners
1 package (7 or 8-ounce) noodles
2 cans (11 ounces each) Cheddar cheese soup)
1 cup shredded Cheddar cheese
¼ cup prepared mustard
⅓ cup thinly sliced green onion, optional
1 can (4 ounce) pitted ripe olives, sliced (about ¾ cup)
1 teaspoon seasoned salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Cut franks or wieners crosswise into 4 even slices. Cook, drain and blanch noodles as directed on package. Combine ingredients; mix carefully. Turn into 2-quart baking dish. Place in moderate oven (350 degrees) to heat, about 30 to 35 minutes.

If casserole is prepared in advance, stored in refrigerator and transferred directly to oven, allow an additional 5 to 10 minutes heating time. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Peruvians Eat Crullers With Unique Flavor

South Americans take their coffee break at five in the afternoon. At that hour the city streets are practically cleared, the populace heading for "confiterias" or pastry houses. There they consume great quantities of sweet breads and pastries, and numerous cups of coffee, tea, or chocolate.

Latin sweet breads are highly unusual, quite unlike any we know. Typical are these yeast-raised Peruvian Crullers which resemble doughnuts without holes.

They are distinguished, however, by the unique flavor of sweet potatoes and mace. Sprinkled with confectioners' sugar and served with syrup or jelly, these intriguing little crullers are a coffee break treat.

Peruvian Crullers

½ cup warm water
1 package or cake yeast, active dry or compressed
½ cup mashed sweet potatoes
2 eggs, beaten
1 tablespoon lemon extract
¾ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon mace
2 cups unsifted flour
Peanut oil
Confectioners' sugar

Measure warm water into a large warm bowl. Sprinkle or crumble in yeast; stir until dissolved. Stir in sweet potatoes, eggs, lemon extract, salt and mace. Add flour and beat until smooth.

Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

Drop batter by teaspoonfuls into deep hot peanut oil (375 degrees.) Fry until browned on both sides, about 4 minutes. Drain. Sprinkle with confectioners' sugar and serve with syrup or jelly, if desired. Makes 3 dozen.

New Concept in Cooking

Shaped like a magazine stand, easy to carry, and economical—that describes a type of portable charcoal grill which is only 13 inches high and 11 inches long.

It represents a new concept in charcoal cooking. Wire grills hold the meat vertically on two sides beside the burning charcoal. Melting fat drips down harmlessly and seals in the naturally flavorful juices. No grease drops into the fire to cause flame-up or smoke.

★ ★ ★

Another advantage is that the choice of meat and the "doneness" can easily be accommodated on either side. It's a real "his and hers" deal.

The grate, in the center, holds about 2½ pounds of charcoal briquets — enough fuel to cook for 10 to 12 people.

A hand grill that locks the meat inside attaches to either side of the grate. The top area of the grate can be used in brewing coffee and for warming food.

Completely portable, the unit can bee brought indoors to a well ventilated area. It can accompany you on winter outings. And when not in use, it can be stored in a minimum of space.

Bottled Orange and Lemon Peel Are Useful to Have

The bottles of orange peel and lemon peel on your spice shelf are magic seasonings for many dishes. Both are made from the dried natural rind of fresh fruits, and their flavor is similar to that of the fresh rind.

They stand ready at all times to add flavor and distinction to foods without number. No preparation is needed and they know no season. These peels are appropriate to use the year round in dishes for any and all meals, plus snacks and party food.

How much to use? It is difficult to give exact equivalents of the prepared peel to the fresh rind because of the many variations which include thickness of the rind of the fresh fruit, size of grater and difficulty in accurately measuring the freshly grated peels.

However, slightly less or equal proportions of the bottled peel may be used instead of the grated peel. It is better to add the peel early in the preparation process to allow flavors to blend.

★ ★ ★

To name just a few of the possibilities of flavoring with orange peel or lemon peel:

Lemon peel improves the flavor of stewed fruits such as prunes, apricots, apples, figs or peaches. Mix a goodly amount with the sugar.

Blend orange or lemon peel with butter or margarine and honey for morning toast.

Add either orange or lemon peel to the beaten egg mixture in the preparation of French toast (1 tablespoon lemon peel or 2 teaspoons orange peel to 3 eggs).

IN WAFFLES

Give waffles or plain griddle cakes extra flavor by adding one of the peels to the batter (3 teaspoons to 4 teaspoons to 2 cups flour or mix).

Add lemon or orange peel to fruit salad dressing served at luncheon or supper.

Use it in cole slaw.

Use lemon or orange peel, or both, in seasoning spiced tea for an afternoon party. One tablespoon to a pot of tea with whole cloves and a stick of cinnamon will give a delightful flavor.

Make tiny orange or lemon bread rolls the easiest possible way for afternoon or dinner parties by creaming orange or lemon peel in butter or margarine. Spread on thin slices of bread, crusts removed, and roll each tightly. Chill in refrigerator. Toast just before serving and serve piping hot.

Use lemon peel in the sauce that is served on fish and add it to the seasoned stock when poaching fish.

Lemon peel gives zest to peas, snap beans, baby butter beans, zucchini and cauliflower.

FOR CAKE

Turn plain white, angel food or sponge cake into an orange or lemon dream cake by adding one of the peels to the batter, 1½ teaspoons to 3 teaspoons. Use it, too, in fillings and frostings along with a little of the frozen or bottled juice.

Use lemon or orange peel to dress up plain custard or bread or rice pudding.

Fold lemon peel into meringue for topping lemon cream pie, or orange peel in whipped cream for orange chiffon pie.

Fold either peel into whipped cream or whipped topping for gelatin desserts or puddings.

★ ★ ★

Use orange peel with frozen juice for easy orange cookies. The same holds true for lemon peel. Add lemon peel to spices in spiced puddings, fruit cakes and cookies.

★ ★ ★

Orange peel and lemon peel lend to the artistry of good cooking. They are so easy to use and give delightful results.

Magical Powers Are Given to Onions

At one time or another, people in many lands have attributed special, magical powers to most of the well-known vegetables. And the onion is no exception.

★ ★ ★

Perhaps is was the onion's ability to make the eyes smart, which made people think it was mystical and omnipotent.

★ ★ ★

Bohemians and Spaniards fed onions to their watch dogs, fighting cocks and ganders, to make them fearless. In some Central European countries, onions were hung in rooms to ward off evil spirits, that might otherwise attack persons in that room.

And years ago, the onion, which was sacred to St. Thomas, was used by maidens who were awaiting an offer of marriage. A merry fellow, who represented St. Thomas at Christmas, would cut the onion into quarters and have the maiden whisper the name of the young man of her choice.

He would then cast a spell, and hopefully that night, the maiden would be visited by a vision of the wedding.

★ ★ ★

The onion also has been known as a healing vegetable. It was used to treat scurvy, bronchitis and as a nerve sedative. It was later found to contain ascorbic acid (Vitamin C), and small amounts of calcium, protein and phosphorous, all elements necessary for body development.

★ ★ ★

However, most of us today use onions to enhance the flavor appeal of other foods. According to the U. S. Department of Agriculture there is a plentiful supply on the market, making now a good time for you to create onion magic of your own, by featuring it throughout your mid-winter menus.

Potato-Onion Soup

3 large potatoes, peeled and diced
3 medium onions, sliced
2 teaspoons salt
3 cups water
1½ cup evaporated milk
2 frankfurters

Add water to potatoes, onions and salt in large kettle. Bring to boil, cover and cook until potatoes are tender. Stir in evaporated milk and frankfurters. Heat to serving temperature, being careful not to boil.

★ ★ ★

Onions and Potatoes Charlene

3 cups peeled and quartered onions
3 cups peeled and quartered potatoes
1½ cups evaporated milk
½ cup cream
3 tablespoons butter
Salt, pepper, cayenne

★ ★ ★

Simmer potatoes and onions in salted water to cover. When tender, drain potatoes and onions. Add evaporated milk, cream and butter. Season with salt, pepper and cayenne pepper. Simmer until thoroughly heated. Serves 6.

New Chicken Spread

Honoring a spring graduate at a party? See if this flavorful chicken spread doesn't walk away with the honors at refreshment time: In a bowl, combine 1 can (5 ounces) boned chicken (finely chopped), 2 slices crumbled cooked bacon, ¼ cup sour cream, and 2 tablespoons pickle relish. Chill. Spread on crackers. Makes ½ cup.

You Can Pickle One Can of Beets

This is an excellent recipe for a young couple because it is small-quantity.

PICKLED BEETS

1 can (8 ounces) sliced beets
3 tablespoons cider vinegar
2 teaspoons light brown sugar
1½ teaspoons mixed pickling spice

★ ★ ★

Drain beets. Turn ¼ cup of beet liquid into a small saucepan with the remaining ingredients except the beets. Bring slowly to a boil; pour hot strained spicy liquid over beets; cover and cool. Refrigerate for several house or overnight.

Fruit Salads Have Eye Appeal

All sorts of fruits may be used to concoct refreshing salads for your spring luncheons or dinners. Cherries, fresh strawberries, tangy pineapple, sweet apricots, crisp apples, smooth bananas, plump peaches and many others can be used to build your "Fruit Fantasies."

The Fruit Kebobs in the upper left-hand corner of the picture are simply drained apricots, maraschino cherries, pineapple chunks and fresh strawberries speared on skewers. The Kebobs are then stuck into a peeled avocado half.

A hollowed-out pineapple holds the delectable dressing. The dressing is a sweet and tangy blend of sour cream, mayonnaise and zesty American blue cheese. The piquant flavor of the blue-marbled cheese is a natural companion to the sweet fruits.

Swan salad is canned pear halves "cemented" together with tinted cream cheese. Her head is carved from a slice of apple. Her eye is a whole clove. Daisy salad is made quickly from apple slices cut with a daisy cutter, then brushed with lemon juice to prevent the apples from darkening. The gay centers are colored miniature marshmallows. Green pepper makes the stems and leaves.

Fruit Fantasy Dressing

1 cup sour cream
½ cup mayonnaise
½ cup crumbled American blue cheese
¼ cup pineapple juice
pinch of sugar
¼ cup crumbled American blue cheese

Blend first five ingredients together until smooth. Stir in remaining blue cheese. Chill until serving time. Makes about 2 cups.

SALADS ANNOUNCE SPRING — Fruit Fantasies, accented with a dressing of sour cream, mayonnaise and tangy American blue cheese, will be a delight to family and guests. The salads are fun and easy to make. They will certainly add a touch of springtime to your table. Shown here are Fruit Kebobs, Swan Salad, and Daisy Salad. A hollowed-out pineapple holds the delectable dressing.

Pontiac Press Photo

CAREFUL NOW—Mrs. Lewis Goff, South Tilden Street, was one of the backstage helpers at this year's Pontiac Press cooking school. She shares her favorite jellied salad recipe with readers: Dissolve one package orange gelatin in one cup hot water. Add one cup cold water and one teaspoon vinegar. Grate two carrots; chop two stalks of celery and half a green pepper. Add to cooled gelatin with a bit of grated onion. Chill until firm. Serves 4-6, says Mrs. Goff who is a fairly new grandmother, a Sunday school teacher and a member of the Metropolitan Club's ladies' auxiliary.

Candy Tricks

Peppermint or molasses flavor hard candy may be ground and used in a number of desserts; or the candy may be used to sweeten milk drinks for children. If you are planning to put the candy through the food grinder make sure it is very dry before doing so.

Booklets Will Help You Feed the Crowd

For good fellowship, good eating, and good profits, feed a crowd. What? You wouldn't know where to begin to plan such a meal? Well, take heart. Two booklets have just been introduced, crammed full of tips on how to plan such an affair and recipes for every occasion.

★ ★ ★

And what is the principal secret recommended for success? Plan ahead and cook ahead! Many of the recipes, such as the delicious Oven-Barbecued Beef, include "plan-Ahead Tips" that you will find invaluable.

★ ★ ★

These tips tell you how you can do most of the cooking a day in advance — and how to store and reheat the food so that it will have the desired just-cooked flavor and appearance when it is served.

There are also serving suggestions to help you with your menu planning. Oven-Barbecued Beef, for instance, is recommended for a dinner with Baked Potatoes, green vegetables or salad, and dessert. But it's also noted that it can be used for hot open-faced sandwiches with just a salad for a lighter meal, such as lunch or late-evening refreshment.

Don't let those Baked Potatoes scare you off. They, too, can be baked in advance; reheat them in the same oven with the meat. For dessert try Quick 'n' Easy Cake frosted with a variety of flavored Butter Frostings. If you would like to add a Fruit Cup to the menu, you'll find a recipe with some helpful tips for this dish in one of the booklets.

For copies of "Feeding a Crowd, Vol. 1 — How To Take It In Stride" and "Feeding a Crowd, Vol. 2 — The Main Course," just send 50c for each booklet or $1.00 for each set of both booklets (specifying which volume and how many of each is desired).

Mail with your name and address (include ZIP code) to: General Foods Kitchens, Dept. HS, 250 North Street, White Plains, New York 10602.

Broiled Fish Cuts Down on That Fat

"Reduce Your Risk of Heart Attack" is the new booklet published by the American Heart Association. The booklet tells us that there are more than 500,000 deaths from heart attacks each year, and lists seven "risk factors," conditions or living habits which scientific studies have shown prevailed among those who have had heart attacks.

Heading the list is "High levels of cholesterol or other fatty substances in the blood."

To reduce the threat of this risk factor, the American Heart Association warns that we must replace saturated fats in the diet with polyunsaturated fats as much as possible. This booklet points out that while meat and dairy products are high in saturated fats, fish are high in the valuable polyunsaturates.

This recipe for Broiled Fish Steaks Paprika from the National Fisheries Institute not only is a seafood recipe, but also calls for corn oil margarine, which is polyunsaturated.

Broiled Fish Steaks Paprika

Plan on 1 pound of fish steaks for three servings. If fish is frozen, let thaw on refrigerator shelf or at room temperature. Wipe with paper toweling.

Place fish in preheated broiler pan. Brush with sauce made by mixing together 3 tablespoons melted corn oil margarine, 1 tablespoon paprika, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, and 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Place pan in broiler 2 inches from heat and broil three minutes.

Turn steaks, brush again with sauce and broil 3 to 5 minutes longer, or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork.

Beef Liver Differs

Beef liver differs in cooking procedure from calves or baby beef liver. The younger beef can be pan-fryed slowly in a little hot fat, while beef liver should be braised. Brown beef liver in a little hot fat, then add a few tablespoons of water, cover the pan and cook over low heat until tender.

Marinate Mixture to Use as Salad

For a simple but savory salad, core, rinse and drain 1 head of iceberg lettuce. Carefully peel off 6 large lettuce leaves. Shred enough remaining lettuce to measure 2 cups. Chill lettuce in saran or plastic bag.

Combine 1½ cups of sliced celery, 2 cups of fresh tomato chunks, ¼ cup of bottled herb and garlic dressing, ¼ teaspoon of crumbled sweet basil and salt and pepper to taste. Cover and chill.

At serving time, place lettuce cups in 6 individual salad bowls; divide shredded lettuce into cups. Spoon marinated mixture with 3 slices of hard-cooked egg. Makes 6 servings.

Oven-Barbecued Beef

10 pounds (about) brisket of beef
3½ cups (two 1-lb. 2-oz. bottles) barbecue sauce with hickory smoke flavor or mild garlic flavor

Place meat in roasting pan. Pour barbecue sauce over meat. Cover and bake at 325 degrees for 4 hours, or until tender, basting occasionally. Remove cover and bake 30 minutes longer, basting occasionally to glaze meat.

Place meat on warm platter or in shallow pan; let stand at least 20 minutes before slicing. Let pan drippings stand a few minutes; then skim off fat.

Serve meat hot or cold with the hot drippings as sauce. Makes 6 pounds cooked meat and 4½ cups sauce, or 20 to 24 servings.

★ ★ ★

Plan-Ahead Tips. This meat is moist and even more delicious after being reheated. It may be prepared in advance; cool quickly, cover, and refrigerate meat and sauce separately.

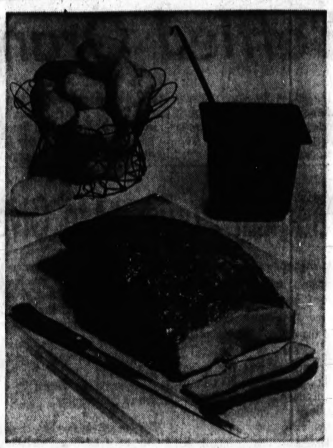
Before reheating, slice the meat (chilled meat slices easier); arrange in shallow pans. Reheat drippings and pour over meat, or pour on just enough hot broth, bouillon, or water to keep meat moist as it heats. Cover with aluminum foil and heat in a 400 degree oven about 15 minutes.



FEEDING A CROWD — Here's a menu you can prepare and serve to hundreds with the poise of an experienced restaurant chef. Oven-Barbecued Beef and potatoes can be baked in advance and reheated in the same oven as they are needed. A make-ahead dessert, such as cake, leaves only the preparation of a vegetable or salad for the last minute.

It's a good idea to slice potatoes extremely thin when you are using them in the scalloped dish.

Cracker meal in the house? You can use it for breading veal chops. Dip the chops in beaten egg, then in the meal.

FRUIT TARTS—Put a scant ½ cup cherry pie filling in the bottom of 3 6-ounce custard cups; put a scant ½ cup peach pie filling in 3 6-ounce custard cups. Top the cherry filled cups with the remaining peach filling and the peach filled cups with cherry filling. Mix one cup flour and one-fourth cup Cheddar cheese; cut in one-third cup shortening until particles are the size of small peas. Sprinkle three or four tablespoons water over the mixture and mix lightly with a fork until all flour is moistened. Gather into a ball. Roll on a lightly-floured surface to ⅛-inch thickness. Cut 3 circles with a 3½-inch scalloped cutter. Cut leaf designs from center. Place circles on top of half the pies and the leaf design on half. Cut 3 additional scalloped 3½-inch circles and remove center with a 2½-inch scalloped cutter. Arrange these rings around leaf design. Bake in a 425-degree oven for 25 minutes or until browned. Makes 6 little pies.

GUERRILLAS AT WORK — Uniformed rebels in Portuguese Guinea on Africa's west coast control part of the country and are waging guerrilla war against Portuguese army forces entrenched in the main centers. At top, a rebel political commissar explains the military situation while (below) guerrillas patrol on a secret rebel trail through the brush.

Portuguese Guinea's Rebels in Little-Known Guerrilla War

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH

JEGUE, Portuguese Guinea (AP) — Uniformed rebels, equipped with Russian, Chinese and American weapons, control part of Portuguese Guinea and are waging guerrilla war against the Portuguese army entrenched in the main centers in this country along Africa's west coast.

This reporter entered nominally Portuguese territory from Senegal and accompanied a patrol of guerrilla fighters on a long trek past deserted villages, derelict plantations and wrecked or abandoned Portuguese military posts.

★ ★ ★

Throughout the day-long patrol, there was no sign of Portuguese military activity, but the patrol leader said at one point: "About 200 Portuguese are holed up and surrounded in San Domingos, just two miles ahead. They never come after us because they know we have the upper hand here in the bush.

★ ★ ★

"All the roads leading out of the town are mined by us and under our control. The Portuguese are supplied by air. Once in a while, a river boat used to come up from the Cacheu River, but we sank one not long ago and now that access is blocked, too."

POST CUT OFF

Some 70 miles to the east, another Portuguese post at Farim is equally cut off, the leader said. All the countryside, he claimed, was under rebel control.

The rebels say they have "liberated" almost all the mainland except isolated strongpoints and the area around Bissao, the capital.

★ ★ ★

Portugal considers Guinea a province of the homeland. It is a wedge of bush country near the western tip of Africa, with some 200 miles of Atlantic coastline and a hinterland reaching 300 miles inland between Senegal and the former French Guinea Republic.

★ ★ ★

Thanks to extensive aid from Senegal and Guinea, the rebel "African Party of Independence for Guinea and the Cape Verde Islands" or PAIGC, has made more progress in ousting the Portuguese than have the rebel movements in the two larger and more important Portuguese areas in Africa, Angola and Mozambique. The Cape Verde Islands, 300 miles off the mainland, are as yet untouched by rebel activity. The Portuguese have been in Guinea and the islands more than four centuries.

Boy, 7, Killed by Car

DETROIT (AP) — Levoy alton, 7, was fatally injured Wednesday near his home in Detroit when he was struck by a car while chasing a baseball into a street, police said.

Ex-Museum Curator Heads New York City Park System

NEW YORK (AP) — His father is chairman of the board of Tiffany's, he is an authority on medieval art, and until recently his biggest problem was likely to be whether the Metropolitan Museum of Art should buy a particular piece of antiquity.

Today, Thomas P. F. Hoving, 34, has little time for art. He is concerning himself with problems like how to get slum kids to beaches; how to get the grading done on a Little League playing field in the Bronx; what "au go go" performers to hire for Central Park Mall, and putting flower boxes in playgrounds

★ ★ ★

The museum in Central Park and the Cloisters up in Fort Tryon Park, of which he was curator, are physically part of his new 35,859-acre domain — the New York City parks system.

But Hoving, who got his doctor's degree at Princeton by writing a thesis on old ivories, has jumped into the political arena with zest and vigor.

BEAUTIFY N. Y.

His day started out with a talk with a representative of the office of Mayor John V. Lindsay on a terrifying subject—how to beautify the whole city of New York.

After opening a "staggering amount of mail — we've had an intense press and I get about 110 letters a day," Hoving conferred with a lady who coordinates the city's Head Start program for preschool children.

Recreation is part of the Head Start plan, Hoving explains, and he hopes to find a way to get 12,000 children — and their parents —to city beaches this summer, possibly with passes for bus trips.

"It seems silly," he says, "but a quarter is sometimes too much."

VEST-POCKET PARKS

The next visitors are from the Department of Highways. They are the fellows who will level off and blacktop the vacant lots for the "vest-pocket parks" which Lindsay, in a campaign white paper composed by Hoving, promised to build all over the city. Seven such parks are already in the works.

Lunching in his office while he talks with the head of a civic group interested in the parks — "Our relations are very close" —Hoving then meets a booking agent about his latest idea to make the parks safe for the people —"Central Park au go go."

★ ★ ★

Hoving reasons that with crowds of teen-agers dancing to rock 'n' roll bands, Central Park Mall would be no place for a mugger.

NEW IDEAS

New ideas permeate the Old Arsenal:

New York tenements have no alleys, only ugly littered courtyards. Why not turn them into backyard parks?

Over 500 miles of city-owned waterfront is going to waste — why not turn the abandoned piers into recreation areas, maybe even moor swimming pools in the rivers, like they have on the Seine?

Why not turn lots in commercial areas into little rest places for office workers, with chairs under the trees and maybe even vending machines for outdoor lunches.

Hoving is most excited over the little parks.

2 From State Elected

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Irving B. Feldman of Detroit was elected vice president of the Association of Unclaimed Property Administrators Wednesday, and Margaret Finn of Lansing was named corresponding secretary.

Cause of Clots Aired at Talks

Electrical Change in Blood Vessels Cited

By Science Service

PHILADELPHIA — Clotting that often leads to heart attacks, stroke and other serious cardiovascular conditions has been linked to a minute change in the electrical properties of blood vessel walls.

When the electrical charge of the vessel walls changes from negative to positive, blood accumulates and causes a clot, a symposium on vascular disease here was told.

Dr. Philip N. Sawyer of the State University of New York said that the inner surface of blood vessel walls ordinarily, has a negative electric charge, and that since blood cells also are charged negatively, cells and walls do not attract each other.

It is only when the electrical charge of the vessel wall becomes positive, either naturally or because of current applied by the researchers, that blood is attracted to that portion carrying the positive charge.

* * *

By further understanding of this process, which follows basic laws of physics, Dr. Sawyer believes thrombosis in the blood vessels can be controlled.

METAL PROPERTIES

Dr. Sawyer's research showed that metals such as magnesium and aluminum, because of their electrical properties, would be less apt than other metals to cause thrombosis when they are used to make artificial heart valves and other cardivascular prosthetic devices.

A technique called direct current coagulation also resulted from the surgeon's investigations.

With this technique, he uses a direct current to bring about thrombosis where it is medically needed to stop bleeding.

He said the technique speeded blood clotting by as much as a thousand times and stopped uncontrollable bleeding.

The symposium was sponsored by Philadelphia's Albert Einstein Medical Center as a part of its centennial observance that began Sept. 23, 1965.

Postshower Charge-Up Explained

WASHINGTON (AP) — That supercharged feeling you have after your morning shower may result from strong but harmless electric fields generated by the running water, two California scientists have suggested.

E. T. Pierce and A. L. Whitson of Stanford Research Institute, Menlo Park, reported at an American Geophysical Union convention today on their studies of "Atmospheric Electricity in a Typical American Bathroom."

They reported strong but harmless electric fields are generated when water runs into a wash basin or bathtub from either a shower nozzle or tap, just as electricity is generated at the base of a natural waterfall.

This is especially true they said, if you keep the stopper out of the drain and let the water splash on the hard surface of basin or tub.

BATHROOM ATMOSPHERE

The negatively charged component of the electricity remains largely in the bathroom atmosphere while the positively charged stuff goes down the drain, the researchers said.

They added: "There is much evidence. . . that a negative spacecharge in an atmosphere promotes a feeling of well-being. It would be amusing if the bracing effect of a shower bore more relation to its charge-generating capacity than to its body-cleansing function."

Series With Montreal Starts Sunday

Red Wings' Goalie Welcomes Four-Day Rest Period

DETROIT (AP) — Of all the Detroit Red Wings, goalie Roger Crozier probably welcomes the four-day rest before the start of the Stanley Cup playoff finals most.

★ ★ ★

The Red Wings, who upset Chicago in the semifinal series in six games, meet the Canadiens at Montreal in the first game of the best-of-seven final Sunday afternoon.

"What do we have, five days off before the finals?" Crozier asked after Detroit's 3-2 victory Tuesday night. "Just four? That's still good."

★ ★ ★

The four days period will not be all rest for the Red Wings, however.

Manager-Coach Sid Abel planned a light skating drill this morning and said he planned a more vigorous workout Friday morning. He was undecided about the practice plans for Saturday before the team left for Montreal.

★ ★ ★

Chicago Coach Billy Reay gave Crozier full credit for the Detroit victory in the series-deciding contest.

★ ★ ★

"Crozier saved them from defeat," Reay said of the save the Detroit netminder made on Stan Mikita in a breakaway attempt just before Dean Prentice scored the tying goal.

"On a breakaway, you don't really think," said Crozier. "You watch him, you watch the puck and you try to make him make the first move.

★ ★ ★

"I would say the shooter has all the advantage because he knows what he's going to do. The goalie just has to wait."

★ ★ ★

Crozier, victim of 41 of Chicago's 51 goals against Detroit during the regular season, allowed them but 18 in the six games and recorded his first playoff shutout in the process.

BRISK WORKOUTS

Meanwhile, in Montreal, Canadiens' Coach Toe Blake sent his team through a brisk workout. Henri Richard, the little center who missed the final two games of the semifinal series against Toronto, skated without difficulty.

★ ★ ★

"My knee feels okay now," Richard said. "I'm ready to play. This layoff has brought me back in shape."

★ ★ ★

Several of the Canadiens said that Norm Ullman, Detroit's hard-working center, is likely to give them the most trouble when the series starts.

★ ★ ★

"He was just murder against us all year," said Ralph Backstrom, another centerman. Ullman scored eight goals and assisted on six others in 14 regular season games against the Canadiens.

Bosox Slugger Conigliaro Hits 3-Run Blow

Detroit Dumped, 5-3; Wickersham Injured; Fox Takes Loss

BOSTON (AP) — After seven frustrating games, Boston Red Sox slugger Tony Conigliaro is zeroed in for defense of his American League home run championship.

"It's a big relief to get that first one," Conigliaro said Wednesday after breaking a slump with a three-run homer that powered the Red Sox to a 5-3 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

"After hitting 10 homers and working hard in spring training, I was disappointed when I didn't start hitting the ball right at the start," he explained. "I certainly hope that now I'm on my way."

★ ★ ★

With only a double and three singles and a .148 batting average, Conigliaro grounded out against Dave Wickersham and then looked at a called third strike facing reliever Terry Fox.

Fox, who took over after Wickersham suffered a pulled muscle behind his right knee, retired 10 straight batters before Lennie Green singled through the middle with one out in the sixth. Eddie Kasko flied out, but Carl Yastrzemski beat out a hit behind second.

With the Red Sox trailing 2-1, Conigliaro wasted little time. He swung at Fox' first pitch and lined his first homer of the season into the left field screen.

"I was guessing on a fast ball, but looking for the breaking pitch," the 21-year-old slugger said. "I saw the curve ball good. The first time I faced Fox he threw me a couple of curves that I didn't even see, so I wanted to be ready."

DETROIT'S MODEL BID — Avery Brundage (left), president of the International Olympic Committee, stops and studies the scale model of Detroit's proposed sports plant for the Olympic Games on display in Rome yesterday. At the right is Giuseppe Parinelli, director of the exhibit hall. The woman is an interpretor. Detroit is a strong bidder for the 1972 games.

Missing Olympic Exhibit Located

ROME (AP) — Delegates from Salt Lake City, Utah anxiously awaited the arrival today of their Olympic exhibit — the valuable piece of missing merchandise which could play a key part in the city's bid to win the 1972 Olympic Winter Games.

The exhibit was held up at a London air field because of engine trouble in the plane carrying the display from the United States to Rome.

Telephone calls flew from Rome to London, and London to the United States.

Finally the exhibit was put on a special flight to Milan and then transferred to a truck for the 300-mile journey by road.

★ ★ ★

The other three cities trying to land the Winter Games — Lahti, Finland, Sappro, Japan, and Banff, Canada — already had their displays on show at the exhibition center.

Meanwhile some Olympic officials argued that Lahti's claim would suffer because the Alpine events would have to be staged in Sweden.

Oakland University to Join Cage Ranks

Oakland County high school basketball graduates may be able to compete for Oakland University on an inter-collegiate basis next fall.

OU Athletic director Hollie Lepley was unavailable this morning to confirm reports that the University's newest intercollegiate sport will be varsity basketball.

Reportedly, chancellor Durward Varner advised a faculty senate meeting earlier this week that the school would compete this fall in basketball.

The decision thus ended a series of debates that had lasted all winter over the possibility of sponsoring the court sport.

Presently, Oakland's Pioneers compete in cross-country, soccer, track, swimming and golf. Dick Robinson and Corey Van Fleet are the varsity coaches.

Robinson reportedly is in line to guide the basketball team, and the school is known to have contacted various county high schools during the past basketball season with letters reflecting recruiting measures.

Chancellor Varner is a former basketball player. Almost two-thirds of the permanent OU student body signed a petition this winter asking for basketball at an intercollegiate level.

Cranbrook Drops 2 Sport Verdicts

Cranbrook met with ill luck on the athletic fields Wednesday, dropping a 5-1 baseball verdict to Berkley and a 4-3 tennis decision to Grosse Pointe.

Jim Leadford blanked Cranbrook until Ned Heavenrich drove in a lone run in the final inning. The winless Cranes fell behind, 2-0, in the first inning and Berkley wrapped up the tilt with three more in the sixth.

Grosse Pointe won three singles matches, then had to take the final doubles decision to hand the Crane netters their first defeat.

Spring Grid Practice for Eastern Michigan

YPSILANTI (AP) — Coach Jerry Raymond expects some 83 candidates next Monday when Eastern Michigan University opens spring football drills for the first time since 1962. The Hurons who withdrew from the President's Athletic Conference, were not allowed to hold spring practice under PAC rules. Raymond is in his second year as head coach.

Ex-Football Stars Help

Army Receives 'Grid Volunteers'

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — Army men are coming out to help put a coachless West Point football team together for next fall.

"We're moving right along with our spring drills," Tom Cahill, who has coached the Army freshmen for the last six years, said today. "The morale is good, attitude excellent and we're getting the work done."

Cahill, a 46-year-old former infantry officer, and Tad Schroeder, quarterback coach, were the only assistants remaining when Paul Dietzel quit earlier this month and took five aides with him to the University of South Carolina.

That left Army facing spring drills without a head coach and none in sight — a peculiar situation.

The job of organizing the practice was tossed into the lap of Cahill.

COMPLICATED

"With two-platoon football, this is quite a complicated job," Cahill said. "We have managed very well, thanks to the volunteer help of officers around the base who formerly played football here."

★ ★ ★

Lt. Col. Bill Webb, a tackle on the wartime teams of Doc Blanchard and Glenn Davis, is handling the defense.

Maj. Pete Lash, a back under Red Blaik, is assisting with the backfield.

Maj. Joe Franklin, who played in the mid-50s, is working with the offensive line and Capt. Art Johnson, an Army player in 1956-57, is helping coach the ends.

Lt. Cammie Lewis, son of the late Coach Pappy Lewis, is working with the quarterbacks.

A dozen cadets graduating this spring also have offered their services to Cahill.

"We were delayed a week but we still intend to get our spring drills completed by May 14, cramming five weeks' work into four," Cahill said.

"So far we have been able to do only fundamentals but we are enthusiastic about next year.

★ ★ ★

We have a fine prospect in Gary Steele, an end from Levittown, Pa. Jim O'Toole and Steve Lindell are quarterbacks up from the plebe team that show good promise."

Waterford Divides Two Sports Events

Waterford posted a 193-238 golf triumph over St. Frederick but suffered a blanking in tennis against Southfield, 7-0, Wednesday.

The Skippers' Rod Skelton, Randy Reith, Bill Secoy and Dave Detmar all had medalist 38s on the par-35 Pontiac Municipal course. Teammate Bill Anderson had a 41.

Mike Novotney's 45 was tops for St. Fred. Waterford is 2-1. The Skippers remained winless on the courts, however, as only No. 1 singles player Mike McIntyre could win a set against Southfield's Blue Jays.

SOUTHFIELD 7, WATERFORD 0

Worst Becomes Best

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — Harold Worst of Grand Rapids defeated Irving Crane of Rochester, N.Y., 150-108 Wednesday as the World Invitational Pocket Billiards Tourney continued.

Michigan Diver Takes 1st Place in Target Event

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — John Chandler, of Ann Arbor, Mich., and Barney Cipriani, of Miami, Fla., won championships Wednesday in competition among members of the World Diving Association.

Chandler placed first in target diving from 60, 80 and 100-foot boards. Cipriani was first in high diving championships. Both are based on form.

Finishing in order behind Chandler were Dave Casper, of Chicago; Cipriani; Al Gonzales, of Miami, representing the Army; Nick Langdon, of Santa Ana, Calif.; and Bobby Hoffman, of Chicago.

'Red Wagon' to Race

Not Here to Split ---Celtics' Auerbach

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "We didn't come out here to split," said Boston Celtic Coach Red Auerbach, clarifying his team's intentions, in case there was any doubt.

★ ★ ★

The Celtics had just taken a 2-1 lead in the National Basketball Association final playoffs with a decisive 120-106 victory over the Los Angeles Lakers, and Auerbach had a reason:

"The Lakers played well, but we played better."

★ ★ ★

The win Wednesday night before 15,101 fans at the Sports Arena gave the defending champion Celtics the lead for the first time in the final series and established them as favorites to win their eighth straight NBA title.

The series resumes here Friday night and returns to Boston Sunday. The sixth and seventh games, if necessary, will be here next Tuesday and in Boston next Thursday, respectively.

Laker Coach Fred Schaus praised the Celtics and their veteran star Bill Russell:

"I thought we played a fine game, but when Boston shoots 48 per cent from the floor, it's virtually impossible to beat them. Russell was tremendous.

Aaron Really Raps 400th Career Homer

By the Associated Press
Associated Press Sports Writer

Hank Aaron, newest member of baseball's exclusive 400-homer club, has his potent bat aimed at another ambitious target.

But Bobby Bragan's magic ruler may have missed the mark.

Aaron poled a pair of home runs that helped Atlanta rout Philadelphia 8-1 Wednesday night and the second one had Bragan's ruler giving a foot for every eight inches.

"It went between 575 and 650 feet," Bragan exulted in the Braves' dressing room. Then the Atlanta manager reflected for a moment. "I don't think the Babe ever hit one as far as Henry hit that one."

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Connie Madigan of the Portland Buckaroos was named the outstanding defenseman in the Western Hockey League Wednesday. A trophy and $300 go with the award.

Clarenceville Also Triumphs

Clawson Thinclads Beat Orion

Clawson ran away from Lake Orion and Clarenceville did the same to a pair of foes in high school track meets yesterday.

The Trojans, led by Jerry Holley's victories in the long jump and 220, whipped Lake Orion, 63-46. Clarenceville ran up 82½ points to 35½ for Clarkston and 19 for Brighton.

North Branch downed Deckerville, 67½-41½, in another meet.

Mike Madison was a double winner for Clarkston, copping the high and low hurdles. Clarkston's two relay teams finished second.

John Hogan was the big winner for North Branch.

He took first place in the long jump, 100-yard dash and low hurdles and ran on the winning 880 relay team.

TORONTO (AP) — George (Punch) Imlach will be the general manager and the coach of the Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League until the endd of the 1969-1970 season under a contract he signed Wednesday.

★ ★ ★

The new pact extended his current contract, which still has a year to go, for three additional seasons. No financial details were announced.

★ ★ ★

There had been rumors that Imlach would leave the Leafs next season to take over the new Los Angeles entry in the league.

Weather Again Delays Ocean Boat Race

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Miami-Nassau Ocean Powerboat Race was postponed for the second time in 24 hours today because of bad weather.

★ ★ ★

Race officials postponed the event until 7 a.m., EST Friday. High winds, rain and heavy seas prompted race officials to put off for the second time the starting of the 65 entries.

U.S. domination of the event is being seriously challenged by seven British craft and one each from Denmark and Scotland.

Whitfield Again Adds to Woes

Pilot Not 'Keane' on Yanks

Manager Johnny Keane supposedly has had a little talk with his New York Yankees. He might meet with more success if he had a long talk with Fred Whitfield.

Keane has minimized his meeting with the Yankees, but there was no way to minimize Whitfield's bat Wednesday night as the Cleveland first baseman continued his one-man assault on New York pitching by hammering a game-winning homer in the Indians' 4-2 victory.

UPSET AT START

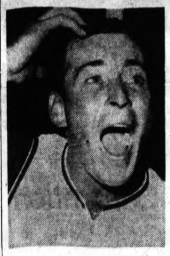
Apparently upset at the Yankees' dismal start, Keane reportedly blasted the players in a behind-closed-doors meeting before the Cleveland series got underway. But he didn't place any special emphasis on the session.

Tuesday night, Whitfield provided all of Cleveland's runs with a homer in a 3-1 victory over New York, then Wednesday night he hit a two-run smash in the eighth inning that broke a 2-2 tie and gave the unbeaten Indians their sixth victory.

Elsewhere, Baltimore rode the hitting of Andy Etchebarren and Luis Aparicio to a 6-3 victory over Washington, California edged the Chicago White Sox 4-3 in 11 innings. Minnesota and Kansas City were rained out. rained out.

The Yankees led 2-1 when the Indians rallied in the eighth with the aid of a throwing error by reliever Pedro Ramos. Vic Davalillo opened with a single. Leon Wagner then beat out a hit, and Davalillo raced all the way home when Ramos failed to cover first and Joe Pepitone's throw to the bag went into the outfield.

Wagner was cut down trying for third on the play but Ramos got into trouble again by walking Rocky Colavito. Whitfield then smashed a 1-1 pitch over the center field fence, bringing John O'Donoghue his first victory and handing Ramos his third loss.



BIG YELL — Fred Whitfield, Cleveland first baseman, gives out with a big yell and nearly loses his bubble gum after his two-run homer helped the Indians defeat the Yankees, 4-2, last night.

Soccer Tilt Decided After 473 Minutes

LISBON (AP) — It took a Portuguese Premier Soccer League team 473 minutes of play Wednesday to gain its way into the semifinals of the Cup of Portugal race.

Beira Mar finally edged Leixoes 2-1 just eight minutes before a coin was to be tossed to decide which would be eliminated.

Spain Feasts on Chile '5'

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Spain routed Chile 89-69 Wednesday night in the opening game of the final round in the world amateur basketball championship tourney.

A near-capacity crowd of 20,000 saw the game in the outdoor National Stadium after opening ceremonies highlighted by parade of the players and coaches of the competing countries.

The United States will play Bulgaria Thursday and Chile Friday in a revised schedule announced for the remainder of the round-robin tourney, which ends April 30.

Baseball Play Opens

Fast Big 10 Showdown

CHICAGO (AP) — Defending champion Ohio State again is tabbed as the team to beat as the 71st Big Ten baseball championship race opens Friday.

Coaches picking the Buckeyes to repeat like Michigan and Michigan State as main contenders.

It won't take long for the title chase to shake down because Ohio State, with a 13-4 pre-season record, is at MSU (11-8-1) for a single game Friday and at Michigan (12-4) in a Saturday doubleheader.

OTHER GAMES

In other Friday games Indiana is at Michigan, Northwestern at Iowa, Purdue at Illinois and Wisconsin at Iowa.

Ohio State has top-flight pitching led by Steve Arlin and sophomore Dick Bobbs and Mike Swain—all righthanders. Batting punch and reserve strength are weakness.

Soviet Women Record Victory in Cage Game

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP) — The world champion Russian women's national basketball team defeated the U.S. All-Stars 75-40 Wednesday night before a crowd of 2,000 at City Auditorium.

The Soviets scored 12 straight points midway in the first half to stretch an 11-7 lead into a 23-7 advantage, and made it 35-15 by half-time.

★ ★ ★

Galina Varonina, a 6-foot1½ forward, hit from inside, and Ludmila Bazarevich, a 5-6½ guard, connected from the outside in scoring 10 points apiece for the Russians in the first half.

'Ace in the Hole' Leads Quebec Win

By the Associated Press

Just when things looked darkest, Quebec came up with its ace in the hole — Ed Hoekstra.

Hoekstra fired three goals, the last two in the final seven minutes in leading the Aces to a 5-3 American Hockey League play victory over the Rochester Americans Wednesday night.

The triumph enabled Quebec to take a 2-1 lead in the best-of-seven semifinals. In the other semifinal, third-period goals by Gordon Wilkie and Tom McCarthy gave the Cleveland Barons a 3-1 victory over Springfield in the opener of their best-of-five set.

Hillsdale '9' Wins

HILLSDALE (AP) — Thrice-beaten Hillsdale pounded out a pair of baseball victories—their first of the season—Wednesday, defeating Olivet 3-1 and 5-1.

A solo homer by Ron Daid helped the Dales' first-game effort. In the second, a home run by Bill Bateman and doubles by Jerry Simmons and Bill VandeVeegaete highlighted a five-run sixth inning.

Classy Field Challenges Marks at Kansas Relays

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Twelve meet records and four national freshman records could be broken by a field which includes six Olympians during the 41st Kansas Relays starting today.

The university baton records in danger include the four-mile and spring medley relays Friday and the distance medley and mile relay Saturday.

Key figures in the races will be 880 anchor men like John Perry of Oklahoma State and Preston Davis of Texas and anchor milers such as John Lawson of Kansas and Conrad Nightingale of Kansas State.

Lawson is the NCAA cross-country champion and holds the fastest three mile, 13:40.2, and fastest two mile, 8:39.8, in Big Eight Conference history. His best mile time is 4:03 behind the 4:02.8 by Nightingale, NCAA indoor mile champion.

Davis was voted most outstanding athlete at the Texas Relays two weeks ago for his anchor victories in the sprint medley and two-mile relay.

★ ★ ★

Perry, with a career best of 1:48.5 in the mile, is top man on OSU's two-mile team which set a world record in 1965.

State Bowlers Place in WIBC Tournament

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Four Lansing girls figured high in the standings of the Women's International Bowling Congress tournament Wednesday. The tourney ends May 30.

Norma Van Dugteren with 599 pins and Lyle Felzke with 594 were first and second in Division 1 singles and Barbara Jenks and Blanche Stevens hit for 1076 and third place in Division 1 doubles.

St. Louis Group Will Seek 1976 Olympic Games

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The chairman of the board of trustees in the small St. Louis county village of Champ said Wednesday his city was going to make a concentrated effort to become the site for the 1976 Summer Olympics.

Chairman Bill Bangert said he had sent a letter to Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic Committee, enclosing the plans for a domed stadium proposed for construction in Champ.

Albion Relays May 7

ALBION (AP)—Seventy high school teams, divided into six classes, are expected to participate in the 26th annual Dale R. Sprankle Track and Field Carnival at Albion College Saturday, May 7.

HALL OF FAMERS — State sports writers and broadcasters have named Bobby Layne (left), Ted Lindsay (center) and the late George Young to Michigan's Sports Hall of Fame. Layne was a sharpshooting Detroit Lions quarterback in the 1950s. Lindsay was the National Hockey League's high scoring left wing when he retired after the 1965 season. He spent most of his career with the Detroit Red Wings. Young, who died in 1959 after a 26-year bowling career, was a member of five world title teams.

Ex-Champs in Contention

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Three former champions, all with impressive golf credentials, and a surprising 44-year-old outsider who has created little stir outside of her home state were today's semifinalists in the North and South Women's Amateur Golf Tournament.

Mrs. Nancy Roth Syms, 1963 winner from Hollywood, Fla., met Mrs. Harton Semple of Sewickley, Pa., in the opening 18-hole match.

The other match paired Mrs. Marlene Stewart Streit of Ontario, Canada, 1956 champion, and Phyllis (Tish) Pruess of Pompano Beach, Fla., who won here two years ago.

AMATEUR CHAMP

Mrs. Streit, trim 5-foot, 32-year-old mother of two girls, is playing here for the first time since she won this tournament a decade ago. Later that same year, she won the U.S. Amateur title.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Pruess was a runner-up here three years ago, a national finalist in 1961 and holds the Southern Amateur title. She won Florida winter circuit tournaments at Ormond Beach and Sebring this year.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Syms, finalist last spring, won the Doherty Tournament at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., last year.

Both she and Mrs. Pruess are 27 and were Curtis Cup teammates two years ago.

Honor Lindsay, Layne, Young

Named to Michigan Hall of Fame

DETROIT (AP) — A panel of state sports writers and broadcasters has named Bobby Layne, Ted Lindsay and the late George Young to Michigan's Sports Hall of Fame.

Layne, sharpshooting Detroit Lions quarterback in the 1950s, generalled the team to three National Football League championships.

Lindsay, a long-time star of the Detroit Red Wings, was the National Hockey League's highest scoring left wing when he retired in 1965, and also the all-time leader in penalty minutes served.

Young, who died in 1959 after a 26-year bowling career, was a member of five world title teams and shared in three American Bowling Congress team championships. He bowled 42 perfect games and led the ABC's 10-year average with 206.75.

Groves Whips Seaholm, 9-4

Northville Posts Win Over Plymouth, 6-3

Birmingham Groves used a big inning to down arch-rival Seaholm, 9-4, and Northville defeated Plymouth, 6-3, in non-league prep baseball games yesterday.

Groves broke a 4-4 tie with five runs in the last of the sixth against Seaholm. Winning pitcher Mike Rafferty doubled home the first two markers.

★ ★ ★

Gary Wallace then doubled him home and catcher Bob Hamilton hit his second two-run homer in two innings.

Wallace finished with three hits, Rafferty fanned 11.

Bob Bartski homered, Jerry Imsland doubled and Doug Swiss singled to account for four Northville runs in the first three innings, and Steve Evans hurled one-hit ball in relief as the Mustangs pushed their mark to 4-1 at Plymouth.

The lanky right-handed hurler whiffed seven in his four innings and now has 38 in 18 innings, during which he has allowed only two hits so far this spring while winning three times.

Second Place Has Jam in W-O League

Clarkston moved into a tie with Northville and Bloomfield Hills for second place in the Wayne-Oakland League baseball race with a 4-3 victory at Livonia Clarecneville yesterday.

★ ★ ★

The Wolves scored all their runs in the first three innings in the make-up contest. Rod Allen's two-run triple and a run-producing double by winning hurler Rich Johnson were the key blows. Johnson struck out eight and walked none.

Clarkston is 2-1 in the W-O race and 2-2 over-all. Milford leads the race with 3-0.

NIPPING A HUSKIE — Pontiac Northern base runner Art Jackson (5) is foiled on an attempted first-inning steal Wednesday against Waterford Kettering at Pierce Junior High School diamond. Second baseman Dan Giroux has taken catcher Greg O'Roarke's throw and prepares to make the tag. Backing up the play is Kettering's Jay Nash, the shortstop.

On Steal of Home

Huskies Edge Kettering

Pontiac Northern opened its baseball season by nipping Waterford Kettering Wednesday, 2-1, in a game that went nine innings.

Jim Chase singled, stole second base and moved to third on a passed ball, then stole home with two out for the deciding marker in the top of the ninth.

The run brought defeat to left-hander Jack McCloud, who went the full route for the Captains, allowing only three hits and striking out 12.

The first hit off him was Keith Deaton's lead-off double down the left field line in the second inning. He advanced on a sacrifice, and later scored when the Kettering infield messed up a possible inning-ending double play grounder.

Bruce Mihalek's solid double to left and Jerry Harkey's two-out single that just got into center field knotted the score in the fifth.

The defeat was Kettering's second straight 2-1 setback after an opening win. Larry Frye, who started the game with three strong innings then returned in the eighth to quench a Kettering rally, gained the mound decision.

Kettering now will be host to Waterford Friday, while PNH will visit Pontiac Central the same afternoon. Both games count in the schools' All-Sports Trophy competition.

Mikes Defeat St. Fred, 8-6

A seven-run second inning by St. Michael featured the Macomb Catholic League diamond opener yesterday in which the Shamrocks upset St. Frederick, 8-6

Trailing 1-0, after a run-producing double by the Rams' Mark Brasch, St. Mike roared back to take a commanding lead

Mike Oliver's double drove in the first two runs, Mike Thornberry and Tom Patch chipped in with two-run singles and Jerry Stanton added a run-producing safety in the outburst.

Gary Yapo's rbi-single and two bases-loaded walks led to three runs for St. Fred in the fifth.

The contest was the first for both teams.

CHIEFTAIN ACE — Senior Herb Doebler continued his strong hurling this spring with a no-hitter Wednesday against Center Line, allowing only two base runners and posting 16 of the 21 outs by strikeouts.

No-Hit Contest Recorded by Moundsman for Utica

Utica pitcher Herb Doebler Wednesday got the no-hitter he missed in his season debut last week, blanking Center Line 6-0, while permitting only two base runners.

Doebler, who held Remeo to one hit in his first outing, walked a batter in the first, and another with one out in the fourth.

The 6-1, 175-pound senior then retired the final 11 hitters in order (nine on strikes) to finish with 16 strikeouts. He is 2-1 on the season.

Singles by Gary Rojeski and Tom Orlowsky brought in two first inning runs for Utica. Orlowsky, Doebler and Jim Norman each had two hits for the winner.

In other non-league prep diamond action yesterday, Richmond whipped Almont, 13-3, and South Lyon dropped a 5-4, extra-inning verdict to Ypsilanti Lincoln.

Almont was victimized by an eight-run inning in which Richmond posted eight hits. Frank Bacholzky had two hits and accounted for two of the losing Raider's three runs.

South Lyon scored three runs to take a 4-3 lead on Lincoln when Eric Liddell delivered a two-run single in the fifth.

The lions were only one strike from victory when a wild throw let in the tying run. They then put the winning run on third in the bottom of the seventh with none out and failed to score.

Holly Golfers Score Win Over Clarkston

Holly set a school record for team score by defeating Clarkston 150-168 in a golf match at Davisburg yesterday.

Top Golf Stars Bypass Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — The $85,000 Dallas Open Golf Tournament begins today with its finest field despite the absence of such big names as Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus.

Doug Sanders and Gay Brewer, hottest players on the tour and ranking No. 1 and No. 3, respectively, in money-winnings, are the co-favorites.

★ ★ ★

And if either wins the $15,000 first money it will mean the Dallas contingent has come through. Eleven pros from Dallas are in the field of 145, and Brewer and Sanders are among them.

Sanders and Brewer live here and so do Don January, Billy Maxwell, Tony Lema, Ray Floyd, Jacky Cupit, Bruce Crampton, Shelley Mayfield and Joe Black.

Yankees' Shortstop Undergoes Operation

NEW YORK (AP) — Ruben Amaro was placed on the disabled list by the New York Yankees Wednesday after undergoing a two-hour knee operation.

The shortstop, acquired from the Philadelphia Phillies during the winter, was injured in a game at Baltimore Saturday in a collision with teammate Tom Tresh. He is expected to be sidelined about three months.

FISH

Mercury '66—most fishing features of any outboards

A new 9.8 fishing Merc silently pushes you toward your favorite fishing spot. For '66, new quietness begins with a new cowl, mounted to an aluminum frame to cut sound and vibration. New rubber seals and quieter exhaust relief muffle, too. And what's left of the sound is blown out the Jet-Prop exhaust, deep under water—where it is dispersed in the propeller slipstream. When it's time to slow down, just twist the throttle grip on the tiller handle to give less gas. And you don't have to worry much about hidden obstructions. The curved Glide-Angle design slides your Mercury right over them (over fishing lines, too). When you want to slip into a tight spot—where the fish always seem to hide—use the gearshift (forward, neutral, reverse) for easy maneuvering. See the fishing outboards with the big outboard features—3.9, 6, 9.8, 20, (Mercs also come in 35, 50, 65, 95 and 110-hp models) at your Mercury dealer.

PREPARE FOR MISSION — Pfc. Clark Richie sights through the barrel of his machine gun as he and a bunkermate, Pfc. James Buddano of New York City, clean their weapons. The word is out that a mission is coming up shortly, and jammed weapons can mean instant death in Viet Nam's peculiar war.

A Week of War—4

Finally Word Came---D-Day Tomorrow

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Finally the word came from the sergeant — tomorrow was D-Day for the outfit's first major assault against the Viet Cong. For young Clark Richie, it meant the end of uncertainty: Now would come the test of a man. But there was still one more day to live through. The following article tells of the fourth of five days in Clark Richie's Viet Nam existence.)

By JOHN VANCE

CU CHI, South Viet Nam (AP) — The soldiers busied themselves around their bunker this gray, warm Thursday morning and spoke very little.

Pfc. Clark Richie hung clothes he had washed in his helmet on the bamboo encircling their position. The three other men in Bunker 14 wrote letters and filled out money orders and worked over their rifles.

* * *

They were on the perimeter of the U.S. 25th Division camp near Cu Chi. It was Viet Cong country and had been for decades. Cu Chi was in the heart of it.

For more than an hour scarcely a word was exchanged. Richie, 22, of Jay, Okla., finished with his laundry and sat atop the sandbaged bunker with pencil and airmail stationery.

WRITES LETTERS

"Dear Mom," his letter started. "I got your letter yesterday. Glad you and everyone else are fine. I am to, except for the heat and my blisters.

"By the time you read this we will have completed our first major operation. If there's anything to worry about you'll know before you get this letter."

* * *

It was not official, but the talk all week around 2nd Battalion of the 27th Infantry Regiment — the famed 'Wolfhounds" of Korea — was that a big assault was due. It was to be the outfit's first operation in Viet Nam. Rumor had set it for Thursday or Friday. It already was 10 a.m. Thursday.

The stillness was broken from time to time by the blasts of the big American artillery. Shells whooshed overhead and out toward the Viet Cong jungles and rubber plantations.

KEEP GOIN'

"Keep goin', baby. Go right on by," one soldier said.

The possibility was ever-present of a short round, a misfire, a miscalculation. The thought of being hit by friendly fire was terrifying.

* * *

It happens," Richie said. "Percentages. But, man, what an awful way to get it. It'd be bad enough to die, but that way — aahh! Well it's part of the whole thing, senseless at times. Nobody to blame, I guess, bad equipment, bad ammunition, something.'

* * *

Richie had seen combat before, last year, when he was six months in Viet Nam as a machine gunner on a helicopter. But for most of the men their first combat had come when they battled the Viet Cong for the ground to establish this base camp.

* * *

After a lunch of cold C-rations, Richie put on fresh fatigues and drove a dusty three miles to Cu Chi where he taught English twice a week to Vietnamese children. He had started teaching just this week and was enthusiastic about it. The dark-eyed children had quick minds and were eager to learn.

BACK TO CAMP

Class over, Richie rode back to camp, his rifle on his knees. He squinted through the swirling dust toward the tree line along the road for possible snipers.

"Weird," he said, "to think that tomorrow or next week — or even right now — we could meet up with the big brothers and fathers of some of those kids back there, and we'd try to kill each other. It's a strange business."

* * *

He was just in time back at camp to make a special squad meeting.

A circle of soldiers formed around the sergeant. They kneeled and stared at him. The afternoon sun had burned away the overcast and was broiling down at around 95 degrees.

FINALLY TOLD

They were finally being told for certain: At dawn the 2nd Battalion would assault by helicopters and strike against a Viet Cong stronghold.

Richie and his machine gun would be in the first wave.

* * *

It was to be the first helicopter assault of 25th Division troops in Viet Nam. The mission was to last one day. From the landing zone the force would push through three minor Viet Cong jungled areas to reach Xom Moi — a Communist fortress area that had twice before thrown back Vietnamese attacks and only a month ago had forced and American assault force to curtail its mission and pull back.

* * *

Armored vehicles and tanks would smash into Xom Moi ahead of the battalion. The men would then assault and move on through to camp by nightfall. It would be a little less than three miles from the landing zone to Richie's bunker.

WOMAN'S VOICE

Around the bunker a transistor radio buzzed with music and then the voice of a woman. It was an Armed Forces network broadcast and the voice invited all the boys to "be sure and visit the USO in Saigon."

* * *

The women then read letters from people in the States. One said:

"To the wonderful boys in Viet Nam: As we sit here looking at our beautiful New England countryside our hearts and minds are with you. We appreciate the great sacrifice you are making to preserve the way of life you and we love."

* * *

"Hell, lady!" one soldier shouted, "if you are so damned hot for it, grab a rifle and get over here!"

KAYE

Comedian Danny Kaye says the morale of U.S. fighting men in Viet Nam is "phenomenal."

Arriving in Honolulu yesterday after entertaining troops in Viet Nam, he called them "the greatest fighting force I've ever seen."

Asked how he could tell about their morale, Kaye said:

"I didn't go up to each soldier and say, 'How is your morale today, Buddy? But I could sense the morale."

Communist's Daughter Quits School Post

The daughter of Communist party historian Herbert Aptheker has resigned in protest from the campus rules committee of the University of California in Berkeley.

Miss Bettina Aptheker, 21, was reported to have quit the post because the rules committee acted on a proposal she advanced while she was away on a speaking engagement.

Miss Aptheker, a history major, won a seat on the rules committee last November in competition with five other students.

Before the election, she said she was a member of the Communist party.

Kindergarten Sign-Up Friday

Lambert Elementary School's annual "school roundup" for parents of children planning to attend kindergarten next September will be held from 10 to 11:15 a.m. tomorrow.

Parents will be asked to complete registration forms and to provide a birth certificate and immunization record, according to Richard C. Way, principal of the Waterford Township school.

A child must be at least 5 years old on or before Dec. 1, 1966 to be eligible for kindergarten instruction, according to state law.

Parents unable to register their children tomorrow can contact the school office to make arrangements.

* * *

The school's preschool program also will begin at 10 a.m. tomorrow according to Way.

Offered to next fall's kindergarten pupils, the six-session program will be held each Friday through May 27.

OAKLAND UNIVERSITY — Seven years and $14 million later, the rolling pastureland of the Alfred G. Wilson estate has evolved into Oakland University's burgeoning campus. Dedicated in May 1962, the Kresge Library (lower left) is situated on the campus' highest elevation. Its site is the hub of the university's projected campus development plan. Connected by two covered walkways are the university's first two buildings, North Foundation Hall (left) and South Foundation Hall (center). Both part of the Wilsons' initial gift launching the university, they were occupied in the fall of 1959. Construction trailers and materials still mark the site of the recently completed classroom-office building, Matilda R. Wilson Hall (upper right). Housing the present food service facilities and serving as a student gathering place is the Oakland Center (right center). The bi-level building was opened in December 1959. Not shown in the aerial photograph are the Sports and Recreation and Science buildings and the dormitories.

Laborites' Massive Program Outlined for Parliament

LONDON (AP) — Britain's Labor government put before Parliament today a massive program of legislation concentrating on industrial reform and topped by the nationalization of the steel industry.

The government program was outlined in a speech read by Queen Elizabeth II on her 40th birthday at the glittering television ceremony formally opening the new Parliament.

Much of the program was made up of legislation introduced in the last Parliament — when Labor had a majority of only three votes—and then sidetracked for the election that gave Wilson a majority of 97 votes in the House of Commons.

Foreign policy was basically unchanged. No concessions were offered to the rebellious white minority regime in Rhodesia. Negotiation to end the war in Viet Nam was given as a basic British aim. Full support for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization was stressed.

SLIGHT SHIFT

But there was a slight shift in emphasis on the Common Market, reflecting Wilson's position outlined during the election campaign. In addition to working for links between the Common Market and the European Free Trade Association, the government said it also "would be ready to enter the European Economic Community provided essential British and Commonwealth interests were safeguarded."

The government offered no concessions to moderate Laborites who have been pressing for a compromise on steel nationalization, such as part government ownership.

"A bill will be introduced to restore public ownership and control of the main part of the steel industry," the queen announced. This means the nation's 12 largest steel firms which dominate the industry.

The government pledged legislation to reinforce its American-style policy of balancing prices, wages and productivity according to government guidelines. This is expected to include a bill forcing manufacturers and unions to report increases in prices and wages — and delay them for examination if the government insists.

AID INDUSTRIES

The Cabinet also proposed an industrial reorganization corporation to finance new and faltering industries which could help the economy by becoming more efficient. The government promised a stronger system of investment incentives for manufacturers to encourage them to install more modern machinery.

★ ★

The government also said it would bring in legislation to reform labor relations on the docks and reorganize their administration. They now represent a major bottleneck in the nation's vital export program because of conditions close to industrial and union anarchy.

Labor promised to redeem its election pledges by (1) setting up a government commission to buy vacant land for building, (2) reforming the ancient system of house leasing, (3) setting up a new system of subsidies to cut soaring local property taxes, (4) regulating private building to curb speculation in office building and unessential structures, and (5) setting up a unified ministry of social security with a new system of welfare state benefits.

With its emphasis on the problems of the economy, the speech contrasted with the pomp and pageantry of its presentation. The queen rode from Buckingham Palace to the House of Lords in the Irish State Coach, accompanied by mounted troopers in the scarlet and gold uniforms of the household cavalry.

QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY

"It was the queen's birthday by coincidence, and a brilliant sunny spring day, the first after a miserable week of typically English cold and rain. The Mall, Whitehall and Westminster Square were lined with crowds out to see the brilliant show.

The speech, made to the scarlet and ermine-robed peers with the members of Commons packed at the door of the Lords' chamber, was seen by the nation on television.

The House of Commons also permitted television for the first time in history. The cameras showed the three-century-old ceremony of a royal official known as Black Rod knocking to summon the Commons to the Lords. By tradition, the door of the Commons was slammed in his face to emphasize the supremacy of the Commons.

The televising was regarded as a test for possible televising of debating sessions in the chamber. Some members complained about the heat of the lights. The British Broadcasting Corp. explained they were about three times brighter than usually needed because color film was being made for newsreels.

★ ★ ★

The queen came from nearby Windsor Castle to open Parliament and planned to return there to spend the rest of her birthday with the royal family. The monarch's birthday is celebrated officially each year in June, when the chances are better that London will have good weather for the trooping of the color that is a crowd-pulling highlight of the event.

Outdoor Use in Learning Is Confab Topic

Educators from throughout the state are scheduled to meet in Pontiac tomorrow for a two-session conference on greater use of the out-of-doors as a learning medium.

Edwin Rydell, science specialist for Pontiac's secondary schools, described the meetings as dealing in a "relatively new concept.

"We believe school sites can be developed as 'outdoor laboratories,' " Rydell explained, "not just for instruction in natural sciences, but for staging of musical concerts, drama, a setting for architectural training, even practical work in mathematics."

Attending the conference, to be held jointly at Hawthorne Elementary, 1400 N. Telegraph, and Kennedy Junior High, 1700 Baldwin, will be representatives from as far away as Three Rivers, Grand Rapids and Mount Pleasant.

★ ★ ★

Rydell said local work in the out-of-doors concept so far has been carried out with the assistance of the City Department of Parks and Recreation.

"With some of our own people," he said, "we're going to try and explain how we think this new idea can be carried out, and then show what has been done in the Pontiac school system."

Bus Firm Reports March Revenue Up

Patronage and revenue last month for Pontiac Transit Corp. exceeded that of February, according to bus company officials.

★ ★ ★

There were 76,680 passengers in March for a revenue of $16,174, while there were 59,916 riders and a revenue of $14,128 in February.

In March 1965, there were 81,182 riders and a revenue of $19,399.

Senator: Dodd Fund Taxable

Delaware Republican Disputes Explanation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Finance Committee's ranking Republican today challenged the view that an estimated $100,000 raised for Sen. Thomas J. Dodd's use was a tax-free gift.

Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., said the money, raised at two dinners, was taxable as income unless it was used for campaign purposes.

"I don't see how it could be otherwise," said Williams, the man who waged a near-single-handed battle to keep the investigation of onetime Senate majority secretary Bobby Baker alive.

Williams was challenging claims by Dodd associates who contend the money was a tax-free gift because it was raised at testimonial, not campaign, dinners in 1961 and 1963 — both in Connecticut, the senator's home state.

★ ★ ★

The associates also said the money was raised for the Connecticut senator's personal use and was therefore a gift.

FUND-RAISER

They claim that money from a political campaign dinner and used by an individual for his own purposes would be taxable.

Newspaper accounts in Hartford, Conn., reported that a dinner in 1963 was to raise funds for Dodd's reelection campaign. It was attended by Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson.

The 1961 dinner, also attended by Johnson, was billed as a testimonial. There were no references in the press of the money's being raised for Dodd's personal use.

GMC Diesels Prove Big Hit

When GMC Truck & Coach Division's new Toro-Flow diesel trucks recently went to bat for Terminal Transport Co., Inc., of Atlanta, Ga., they stirred up almost as much excitement among truckers as the Braves' switch from Milwaukee to Atlanta.

Operating out of the Southeast's first major league baseball city, 66 Toro-Flows built by GMC Truck & Coach Division have scored outstanding fuel economy and performance records.

"The Toro-Flow truck," says Terminal's fleet supervisor Benjamin White, "is a natural in stop-and-go traffic, and it has proved itself over the road as well.

"Quite frankly, the fuel economy and performance of our Toro-Flows have been so good that I hesitate talking about them for fear someone will think we're stretching the truth. But the records are there to back us up.

"Driven side by side with good gasoline trucks, some of our Toro-Flows are getting up to three times the mileage."

With the latest delivery of the Pontiac-built Toro-Flows to Atlanta, Terminal Transport now boasts a total of 700 power units throughout its chain of terminal-warehouse cities.

These include nearly 400 diesel powered GMC trucks.

Terminal purchased its Toro-Flows after learning of their success elsewhere.

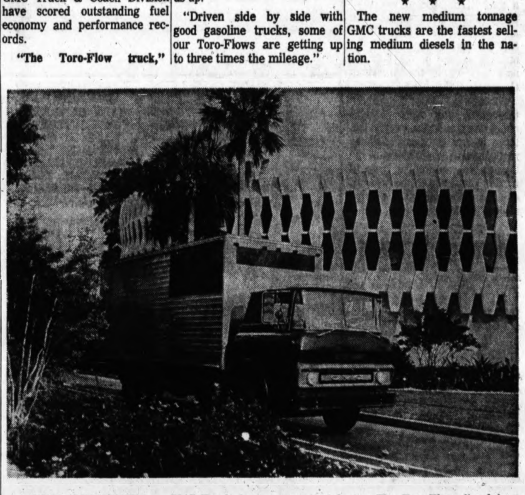
The new medium tonnage GMC trucks are the fastest selling medium diesels in the nation.



REAL PERFORMER — GMC Truck & Coach Division's Toro-Flow truck and baseball share something in common. Both are leading topics of discussion among the truckers of Dixie. Baseball is in the limelight because the Braves have opened their first season in Atlanta. The Toro-Flow diesel is making tongues wag because it has produced such amazing performance and fuel economy records for Terminal Transport Co., Inc., a leading Atlanta trucking firm.

Highest Since July

NCA's Outbound Patronage Is Up

The highest outbound patronage since last July was registered last month by North Central Airlines (NCA) flights at Pontiac Municipal Airport.

Outbound NCA flights carried 36 passengers, compared to 21 in February and 16 in March 1965.

It was the highest outbound passenger count in seven months since there were 38 passengers in July.

Inbound flights last month carried 19 passengers, compared to 20 in February and in March 1965.

★ ★ ★

Departing NCA flights last month carted 1,992 pounds of air mail, compared to 1,675 pounds in February. Inbound flights carried 1,169 pounds in March to 1,435 pounds in February.

AIR EXPRESS

There were 230 pounds of air express on outbound airplanes in March compared to 159 pounds in February. There was no inbound air express for last month or February.

★ ★ ★

Air freight totaled 2,640 pounds on outbound NCA flights in March, compared to 813 pounds in February.

Inbound flights carted 12,332 pounds of freight in March. In February, 7,992 pounds were brought in.

By JACOBY & SON

We have no intention of taking a firm stand that South's hand calls for a reopening bid of four hearts in fourth seat. He might well decide to open one heart or three hearts and a real pessimist might decide to pass the hand out because of the spade weakness.

JACOBY

But a four-heart opening bid looks like a good gamble so let's assume that you are South and bid it. Everyone passes and West opens the deuce of diamonds. East wins with the ace and returns the seven spot.

You win the trick and naturally go after the trumps. You play the ace and your opponents produce the four and deuce for you.

Which trump should you play next? There is a correct play at your disposal and a nothing play is also available.

You aren't so very happy about the hand at this point. You have lost a diamond trick and are going to lose a club trick later on unless your opponents really go haywire. If you lose two heart tricks you will be one down.

Going back to the last letter of the key word ARCH, you ask yourself, "How can I make this hand?" and the answer is: "By getting away with only one trump loser."

Is there any play that gives you a chance to hold yourself to one trump loser against best defense? There sure is! If you lead out your queen of hearts at this point and one of your opponents started with the doubleton jack your queen will bump the jack and the king will be the only trump trick for East and West.

What happens if you lead out the ten? Unless one of your opponents makes a rather childish error you will lose two trump tricks. You may bump the king but in that case the other player will have started with four to the jack and he won't have to eat it. So the queen play is correct. Any other lead is a nothing lead.

A—Pass. You have shown at least 10 black cards and your partner has heard all your bids. Three no-trump should be your best spot.

CIA Seeking Paid Vacations for Spies

WASHINGTON (UPI)—American spies may soon be able to come in from the cold — or the heat, as the case may be.

The Central Intelligence Agency asked Congress yesterday for permission to send its agents some place where they can relax and get away from the conditions which propmted the need for relaxation in the first place.

★ ★ ★

The agency sought legislation to permit the government to pay travel expenses to and from the vacation spot for the employe and his family. The privilege would apply only to those agents serving at certain designated hardship posts.

Bad Driver Actions Up

LANSING (AP) —A record high 4,267 actions were taken against errant drivers in March by the secretary of state's office. The actions included license cancellations, revocations, suspensions and other such disciplinary measures.

Clam and Oyster Oxygen Indicates Climate Changes

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — By analyzing the oxygen chemicals in ancient ocean clams and oysters and tiny shelled protozoa, scientists have found that the earth was inundated by three great successive temperature cycles each lasting 30 million years and fluctuating 86 degrees F.

These long cycles were followed by shorter ones with about the same temperature range, said Dr. Cesare Emiliani of the Institute of Marine Science, University of Miami, Fla.

During the past 425,000 years, a total of eight complete temperature cycles occurred, with an average cycle duration of 53,000 years, he reported at the opening session of the 47th annual meeting of the American Geophysical Union here.

Changes in the world's climate throughout the ages brought about changes in the oxygen isotopes in sea creatures such as mollusks and foraminifers of the Cenozic era, stretching from 63 million years ago to the present, and the more ancient Belemnites of the Mesozoic era.

Few Hundred Capitalists Still Living in Red China

(EDITOR'S NOTE — A group of Filipino journalists recently returned from Communist China. One of them was Osmundo Abad Santos, manager of the Philippine news service, who reports in this dispatch on capitalism in Red China.)

By OSMUNDO ABAD SANTOS
Manager, Philippine News Service

MANILA (UPI) — Do you know that there are still millionaires in Communist China?

We had the opportunity to visit with one during our recent visit to Shanghai, and during our two-hour interview with him over Western pastries and cups of coffee we got a glancing picture of how a capitalist lives in a collectivist society.

Our subject is N. N. Liu. He is one of the few hundred capitalists who chose, or were forced by circumstances, to remain in China after the Communists drove the Kumomintang out of the mainland in October 1949.

It is no secret that capitalists who had committed crimes against the state (graft, corruption) were executed by the Communists.

* * *

Those who had been able to salt away convertible assets fled the mainland before the liberation. All Chinese currencies in foreign banks were frozen by the Communists after their takeover. This probably accounts for the presence of millionaires in present-day China.

SEVERAL INVESTMENTS

N. N. Liu is one of two sons of a preliberation businessman-industrialists, who had investments in banking, coal mining, and the cement, match, wool and textile industries.

His family was then worth 20 million yuan (one US. dollar is equivalent to 2.43 yuan).

When the Communists took over in 1949, they confiscated all of the Liu properties. However, the family was allowed to draw five per cent interest on their original capital.

* * *

Liu, in his late 40s and educated in Cambridge, is married to a charming woman who also studied in England. Childless, they live in a two-story, four-room brick house in a suburb of the former international city of Shanghai.

OWN '54 CAR

They own a car, a 1954 Fiat. Automobiles are a very rare commodity in China. In Peking, for instance, a city of 6.5 million people, there are only 12 privately owned cars. They have a radio set and a stereo tape recorder.

Liu works eight house a day, seven days a week as manager of the China Match Co. one of the preliberation enterprises which his family owned. He receives a monthly salary fo 245 yuan, as compared to the average working man's pay of 70 yuan a month.

In spite of their early exexposure to capitalist luxuries, the Liu's say they are happy with their present life which is devoid of Western-style socials and entertainment.

* * *

What can Liu do with his yearly interest earnings of 1 million yuan (if deposited in a bank, these will earn an additional five per cent interest)? Nothing much, apparently.

While he may travel abroad, currency for travel is not obtainable. Conspicuous spending is taboo in China. This probably is the reason why he has not bought a new car. He fears criticism.

* * *

It would seem the Chinese capitalist is hardly better off than the average working man, whose 70-yuan monthly income affords him the same form of entertainment — state-controlled radio and television programs, state-produced movies and state-directed entertainment parks.

"We put up with it," he explained in his matter-of-fact tones, "because it is our tribal rite."

* * *

Indeed the Academy Awards event seems to grow more ritualistic and tribal as the years pass. There are many who carp at the profusion of awards, the endlessness of the telecast, the inevitable thanks to fellow workers by the winners, the utter chaos of the ball afterward.

Yet the Oscar affair seems to work. The confused atmosphere somehow adds to the excitement. And even a mishandled academy event bears more prestige than any other such doings, because of the vast, colorful history behind it.

26 AWARDS

That doesn't mean that Oscar couldn't stand improvement. It shouldn't take 2½ hours to dispense 26 awards. Monday's telecast ended at half-past midnight in the East, and many a viewer must have shuffled off to bed before the big prizes came up.

A change of setting would help. The Santa Monica Civic Auditorium is serviceable, but it remains what it is: a civic auditorium.

* * *

Joe Pasternak, who has produced the Oscar show for the past two years, agreed that the site should be moved.

"The academy is big enough and important enough to have its own place for giving out awards," he argued.

NEW HOME

A plan is being formulated to provide the academy a new home in Century City, the vast development on what used to be 20th Century-Fox's back lot. The place would include a hall which could be used for the awards.

Other afterthoughts on the 38th awards: the addition of color to the telecast gave color-set owners a chance to comment more fully on the stars' gowns. The startler was Julie Christie's outfit, gold lame pants. Shelley Winters played it more conservatively with an Oleg Cassini gown of black satin with wide white color.

* * *

Did the stage setting seem like $75,000 worth? That's what it cost.

Wonder if the Republicans will demand equal treatment after seeing the attention that Lynda Bird Johnson received. Look for George Murphy and Ronald Reagan to attend next year.

MARVIN'S VICTORY

There's nothing like a home town boy to evoke cheers. After years of handing Oscars to foreigners and New Yorkers, the academy audience shouted its approval to the win by Lee Marvin, who likes it here.

The commercials on the Oscar cast seemed to be the least offensive of recent years. If the academy must have a sponsor, it makes more sense to be selling film and cameras, rather than shampoo, coffee cakes and motor bikes.

'Flying Canoes'

Indian Identifies UFOs

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — All those people who think they have been seeing "flying saucers" are mistaken.

WEST

My authority for that statement is not the U.S. Air Force, which conducted the official investigation of unidentified flying objects.

I got the information from an Indian named Ted Applegate.

"These 'mysterious' object sightings in the sky may be no mystery at all, my brother," writes Applegate, who also is known as Lightfoot Talking Eagle.

He says the things that people have been calling flying saucers are probably flying canoes.

To me, this makes as much sense as any of the other explanations I have read.

According to Lightfoot Talking Eagle, who lives in Tamaqua, Pa., some of his ancestors who inhabited the North American continent before the coming of the white man were Quatahameans.

EXPERTS

The Quatahameans, variously described as "the ancients of ancients" and "the people nobody knows," apparently were experts on IFO's (identified flying objects).

At any rate, when they saw a strange object in the sky, they didn't make fools of themselves by going around claiming to have seen a flying saucer.

They recognized it as an "oobee-gee-aah-wuh," which may be roughly translated as "sky canoe of our brothers from the heavens or planets." The Quatahameans could say a lot with a few syllables.

Passengers in the flying canoes were "pa-pah-pee-ah" (foreign travelers), who could make themselves visible or invisible at will.

It is Lightfoot Talking Eagle's theory that the recent flurry of UFO sightings was caused by the pa-pah-pee-ah.

He speculates that they saw one of our spaceships in orbit and, fearing that we might be preparing to invade them, came down to earth in their flying canoes to see what was going on.

This would indicate that the pa-pah-pee-ah operate like a great CIA in the sky. However, Lightfoot Talking Eagle assures me that they are "usually most friendly and brotherly." Which is a nice thing to know.

"Should you be interested in further enlightenment, I shall be pleased to try to accommodate by means of talking leaves," he says.

By all means, Lightfoot, let's keep in touch. If the leaves aren't talking, maybe the pa-pah-pee-ah will deliver the message.

Bump Elliott Due for Talk in Waterford

Chalmers (Bump) Elliott, head football coach at the University of Michigan, will be featured speaker at the "Michigan Week" honors banquet at 6:30 p.m. May 16 at Mason Junior High School.

* * *

Outstanding senior students of Waterford Township and Waterford Kettering high schools, who have excelled in regular or extracurricular programs will be honored.

The event is sponsored by the Waterford-Drayton Rotary Club.

Howard Heldenbrand, Pontiac Press editorial writer, will be master of ceremonies.

* * *

Organist William Terry will play music during the dinner hour. The "Gleemen" from Kettering High School also will entertain, according to Kuga Kojima, president of the Waterford-Drayton Rotary Club.

The public is invited. Tickets at $3 each can be purchased from any club member.

Army Hunting Irish Extremists

DUBLIN, Ireland (UPI) — Army units joined police today in an intensified search for Irish extremists believed responsible for hurling a Molotov cocktail into a Dublin military barracks.

The attack last night spread a sheet of flame through a gymnasium at Cathal Brugha barracks, injuring Lloyd Hutchinson, 25, a civilian member of a basketball team.

Most of the violence has been attributed to extremist Republican leader Richard Behal, 27, who has been at large since he escaped over the wall of Limerick jail last February where he had been serving a sentence for attacking a British Navy vessel making a courtesy visit.

Shortly after the Molotov cocktail attack, police rushed to two of Dublin's main railway stations where an anonymous telephone caller said bombs had been planted. They found nothing.

The extremists have demanded that the government celebrate the 50th anniversary of Irish independence by granting amnesty to prisoners jailed for terrorism protesting the partition of Ireland.

'May Be Losing War on Pollution'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Despite 18 years of federal efforts the nation is barely holding its own — if not losing ground — in the battle against water pollution.

That was the report given a Senate subcommittee yesterday by Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall and Secretary John W. Gardner of the Health, Education and Welfare Department.

* * *

They urged approval of an administration bill which would set up a permanent river basin commission and a $50-million first-year program to make a coordinated attack on the pollution problem.

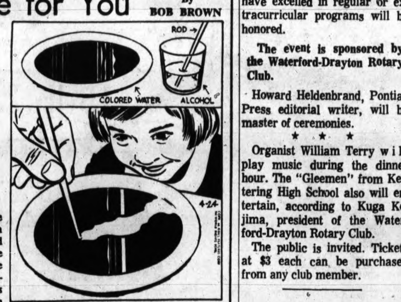
Singer Still Unconscious After California Crash

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Singer Jan Berry remained unconscious and in serious condition today at the UCLA Medical Center, a spokesman said.

Berry, 25, half of the Jan and Dean rock 'n' roll duo, sustained head injuries last week when his sports car slammed into a parked truck in Beverly Hills. A spokesman said he has not regained consciousness since the accident.

Science for You

By BOB BROWN



PROBLEM: A Surface Tension Stunt.

NEEDED: A flat white dish, cake coloring, colored water, some alcohol and a toothpick.

DO THIS: Barely cover the bottom of the dish with the colored water. Touch the surface with the end of the toothpick which has been dipped in alcohol. The colored water will flow away from the alcohol leaving that part of the dish apparently dry.

HERE'S WHY: The alcohol decreases the surface tension of the water so that the stronger surface tension pulls the colored water to the sides of the dish. The surface tension causes colored water to act as a stretched rubber sheet.

These experiments are in two books: "Science Circus" and "Science Circus No. 2." They are in libraries and bookstores.

Aged May Up Hospital Use

Medicare Expected to Increase Demand

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Health, Education and Welfare says elderly persons may increase their use of hospitals by as much as 20 per cent after medicare benefits become available July 1.

The estimate was given to a House Appropriations subcommittee in response to questions raised at a closed session Feb. 23. The material was made public yesterday.

* * *

The increased demand by the aged for hospital service would result in a 5 per cent over-all increase in utilization of hospitals, the department said.

"In general, hospitals will be able to handle this increased patient load because the average occupancy rate for the nation is only about 70 per cent," the department said.

"Admission and occupancy rates, however, vary considerably according to geographical, urban-rural and social factors. For this reason, some hospitals may have more difficulty than others in immediately meeting all requests for service."

The department said it cannot estimate yet how many beds will be needed in establishments such as nursing homes. But "at present, it is estimated that between 3,000 and 6,000 facilities with 120,000 to 240,000 beds will qualify for participation in the medicare program."

* * *

The department said it is working on various programs to increase the supply and skills of health personnel. It said "medicare did not create the shortage of personnel, but it does underscore the need to increase the supply."

Storms Sweep Across U.S. Center With Tornadoes, Cold, Heavy Rains

By the Associated Press

Storms continued across broad areas of the nation's midsection today after Wednesday's outbreak of violent weather which included small tornadoes, high winds, hail and heavy rain.

The twisters and severe thunderstorms struck areas from Arkansas and Mississippi to Illinois and Indiana. No serious injuries were reported and property damage was not extensive.

Thunderstorms continued during the early morning along a belt from eastern Michigan to southeastern Texas. In Upper Michigan, rain changed to snow as cold air spread across the northern Midwest. One inch of snow fell at Houghton.

Tornadoes caused minor property damage at Eureka Springs, in northwestern Arkansas; near Plymouth in northern Indiana; 25 miles northeast of Memphis, Tenn., and near Fort Smith, Ark. Three small twisters touched ground in Indiana causing minor damage.

Winds tipped over two house trailers near Kankakee, Ill., and three persons were slightly injured. Windstorms also struck Bakerville, in southern Illinois, damaging four homes and several farm buildings.

* * *

Nearly three inches of rain doused Monroe, La., in a six-hour period and more than 1½ inches fell at Tupelo, Miss. Rain swept wide areas in Illinois with hail and strong winds in many cities, including Chicago and its suburbs. Heavy hail peppered areas near St. Louis and parts of Arkansas, Mississippi and Indiana.

* * *

The cold air spread southward in the wake of snow storms in the Rockies and northern Plains and covered areas from Minnesota to northern Texas.

Blue Chips Show Strength

Stock Mart Higher on Balance

NEW YORK (AP) — Blue chips continued to show some strength but the best early gains were whittled away as the stock market remained higher on balance early this afternoon.

Gains of fractions to a point or so among key stocks kept the averages in plus territory.

★ ★ ★

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.1 at 353.4 with industrials up 2.0, rails up .6 and utilities up .1.

Most of the leading auto stocks showed moderate gains. Coppers and steels were ahead on balance. The rail average was up modestly.

Buying became extremely selective in the high-flying color TV - electronics - aerospace - airline group. Gains and losses intermingled.

Boeing's loss of half a dozen points was outstanding. The stock trimmed an 8-point plunge. The company said earnings will be hurt by development costs for the giant 747 airliner until deliveries start in 1969.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 2.28 at 953.56 — nearly two points lower than its highest reading in the morning.

Trading continued heavy but was at a slower pace than on yesterday's 10.5 million-share session.

Prices were generally higher in heavy trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate bonds were unchanged to fractionally higher. U.S. Treasury bonds were mostly unchanged.

Train Robbery Suspect Seized

Ends 3-Year Hunt for Alleged Mastermind

LONDON (AP) — James Edward White, hunted for nearly three years in Britain's multimillion-dollar great train robbery, was seized today by police.

White, 46, came out of hiding last weekend—saying he was broke and appearing nervous—and tried to sell his story to two journalists within a bus ride of famed Scotland Yard.

★ ★ ★

Then he vanished again and Scotland Yard took up the trail.

Accused of being one of the masterminds of the robbery, White disappeared with his wife and 2-year-old daughter after the robbery Aug. 8, 1963.

NEVER CAUGHT

Two others wanted in the $7.2-million robbery were never caught. Of 12 men sentenced to a total of 307 years, two escaped from prison and are still at large.

White was arrested in Littlestone on the Sea in Kent, about 40 miles from London.

★ ★ ★

Detectives said they had now learned that up to the end of last summer he was working in Nice, France, and before that was in Ireland.

Scotland Yard said the police have been unable yet to trace White's wife, Sheree, but were looking for her.

MOUSTACHE GONE

When White came out of hiding last week he was wearing loose-fitting clothes, a thick overcoat with green and red stripes, a deerstalker cap and a blue scarf with a white stripe.

He had shaved off his moustache that appeared in the first "man wanted" posters.

★ ★ ★

The Yard had ordered all its 18,000 men to join the hunt for White.

Bank to Pay New Interest

Milo J. Cross, board chairman, and Edward E. Barker Jr., president of Pontiac State Bank, announced today the bank will pay five per cent annual interest on time savings certificates, effective immediately.

The five per cent will apply to 12-month time certificates in amounts of $1,000 or more.

Interest checks will be mailed annually or semiannually, at the customer's option.

The new five per cent rate will automatically apply on April 22 to the bank's existing 12 - month certificates. Therefore, no exchange will be necessary.

Any of the 12-month certificates can be redeemed prior to their maturity by giving the bank 30-day written notice, but will earn a lower interest rate.

★ ★ ★

Regular savings accounts for those who wish to make frequent deposits and withdrawals will still earn four per cent annual interest, the maximum the bank is permitted to pay under present federal and state regulations.

Orion Man's Death Ruled Accidental

The gunshot death of a 42-year-old Orion Township man yesterday has been termed accidental by Oakland County sheriff's deputies and a coroner assigned to the case.

James D. Persinger of 4100 Waldon was found dead about 1:20 p.m. by his wife, with a 30.30-caliber rifle near his body.

★ ★ ★

Deputies said Persinger was apparently cleaning the weapon when it discharged, striking him in the face.

Speculation on Rise in Stock Exchanges

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK — Speculation fever is growing in stock exchanges across the nation. This is shown by the record volume of trading in recent weeks. It is shown even more clearly by the sharp rise in quotations on low - priced stocks where speculators hope for a quick buck. The blue chips have been dawdling.

DAWSON

The speculative bug has bitten the small or amateur investor who often buys in small lots. It also has bitten the professional and institutional investor who has been buying big blocks of supposedly glamorous issues.

And the inroad of the fever has aroused misgivings not only in government circles but also among stock exchange executives and brokerage houses.

SIMILAR SPREE

Many recall that a similar speculative spree in 1961, with little known stocks getting the major play, was followed by the big turndown in most stock prices in 1962 that hit bottom that June. Since then the market has tended up with only temporary setbacks.

This year the volume of trading has been closely watched.

In the first quarter of 1966 a record 540.7 million shares changed hands on the New York Stock Exchange. Big Board officials are quick to point out that the number of shares listed on the exchange has advanced rapidly in the last few years, and that the number of individual stock owners also has grown. But the exchange has several times stepped in to discourage speculative activity in specific issues by raising margin requirements for buying them.

On the American Stock Exchange, where many smaller companies with lower priced stocks are listed, trading volume so far this year has set a record of 307.9 million shares. The previous record for this time of year was 136.6 million just a year ago.

UNUSUAL DEGREE

Edwin D. Etherington, Amex president, says the turnover figures and wide price swings of some stocks listed on this exchange show an "unusual degree of speculation."

He notes that the turnover ratio—the number of shares traded as a percentage of the number of shares listed—was running at an annual rate of 82 per cent in the first 10 days of April. In the first quarter of 1966 the rate was 56 per cent. In 1961 its high was 27 per cent, while in 1947 through 1949 the rate was at a low of 11 per cent.

★ ★ ★

The Amex also has sought to dampen speculation by hiking margins on purchases of wide-swinging issues.

Stock averages that list blue chips hit their price highs in February and then slid off. Since March they have been mostly marking time.

CLIMBING FAST

Standard & oPor's index of low-priced stocks, on the other hand, has been climbing fast while the blue chips declined. Many of these glamor issues are now selling at much higher ratios of price to earnings than i the case of the seasoned investment issues.

More than half of the 1,250 issues listed on the New York Stock Exchange also are traded on regional exchanges. These exchanges also list local issues that are getting increased play from amateurs and pros.

How do you tell an amateur from a pro? A favorite definition in Wall Street is that the amateur often acts on a tip; the pro does his homework first.

But many pros now apparently are going in for the fast buck, as shown by the wide swings in prices of certain issues. Etherington has added his voice to those who increasingly warn against the possible consequences of today's unusual amount of short-term trading.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q) "I am retired on a disability at age 42. I would like to build up my estate. I have adequate insurance; a lifetime income and $12,000 in savings. I would like to invest in Fruehauf Corp.; American Telephone; Intercoast Life Insurance; Purex and IBM. What do you advise?" e. b.

A) Under present market conditions, I advise investing only $7,000 and maintaining the balance as a reserve. Fruehauf is a fine trailer company but it is a cyclical rather than a growth issue and has shown considerable variation in earnings and price over the past decade. I do not consider it suitable for your objective

American Telephone has come down sharply since the FCC proposed a prolonged rate investigation. For the present, I do not advise its purchase. Intercoast Life Insurance is a well-managed, relatively small California company, selling near its low for 1965-66. No dividends are paid and I believe, in your circumstances, you should instead consider Republic National Life of Dallas, which has just paid a 25 per cent stock dividend and has behaved much better than most life insurance stocks

I would avoid Purex, which is showing lower earnings on increased competition. IBM is excellent and you might also add Borden Company.

The tax-exempt, nonprofit organization is raising $250,000 for the purchase.

WHFI-FM will be refurbished and operated by Art Center for one year, after which it will be put on a self-sustaining basis, rather than being subsidized.

High Court Takes New Look at Congress' Inquiry Powers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court takes a new look today at Congress' power to investigate subversion and the spotlight is on the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

Backed by the American Civil Liberties Union, a former union officer convicted for contempt of Congress for balking at committee questions back in 1955 is challenging the committee's very existence.

★ ★ ★

The Justice Department is springing to the committee's defense with the argument that Congress cannot do its job properly if it is denied the power to compel testimony.

Both sides, in briefs submitted to the court before today's hearing, cited past decisions by the justices to support their arguments.

TIP THE BALANCE

The decision, later in the term, may turn on how the justices decide to tip the delicate balance between individual rights to freedom of association and the government's interest in staking out subversion.

This is the second time John T. Gojack, a former vice president of the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America, has come before the court on a contempt conviction.

His first conviction for refusing to answer committee questions during a hearing in Washington was thrown out by the high court in 1962 because the indictment did not state "the subject under inquiry."

He was indicated again the same year, convicted and sentenced to three months in prison, and fined $200. Last May the U.S. Circuit Court for the District of Columbia rejected his appeal and upheld the conviction.

Barbs Fly at AT&T Gathering

DETROIT (AP) — One part of the marquee billed "Ringling Bros., Barnum and Bailey Circus" as the coming attraction. The next part said "AT & T Share Owners Annual Meeting."

But, from what happened inside Cobo Arena here, it was hard to tell the circus wasn't already in town.

Dressed in an outlandish black and white striped hat, blouse and leggings and shiny black skirt, Mrs. Wilma Soss of New York City joined two other professionally dissident stockholders. They questioned, harangued and argued with board chairman Frederick R. Kappel of American Telephone & Telegraph Corp. for two hours Wednesday.

Mrs. Soss owns "some 16 shares" of the company's stock, officials said.

HOOTS, CHEERS

More than 4,000 other AT & T stockholders hooted, cheered, booed, stomped their feet or sat quietly as Mrs. Soss, Lewis D. Gilbert and Evelyn Y. Davis monopolized the four-hour, 39-minute annual meeting.

Outside, under the marquee, more than 50 members of the Communications Workers of America marched to drum up support for their 1967 contract bargaining.

Boos and groans greeted the nomination by Mrs. Soss and Gilbert of a New York psychiatrist as the first woman member of the AT & T board of directors.

But stockholders reelected the present 19 male board members by a margin of more than four million votes over the 19,106 cast for Dr. Frances Arkin, the nominee.

President Drops In at Congressman's Fete

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson dropped in for 10 minutes last night at a $100-a-plate testimonial dinner for Chairman Thomas E. Morgan, D-Pa., of the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

Johnson's visit was a surprise. The President made a brief talk, shook hands all round and praised Morgan for "his great ability."

Rites Saturday for Publisher

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Funeral services for Joseph Edward Ridder, 80, head of Ridder Publications, Inc., publishers of numerous newspapers in the United States, will be held Saturday in New York.

Ridder died Tuesday at Good Samaritan Hospital here after a long illness. Services will be held at 11 a.m. at his Glen Head, Long Island, home. A private burial was scheduled.

He was chairman of the board of an organization which publishes the New York Journal of Commerce; the Duluth, Minn., Herald and News-Tribune; the Grand Forks, N.D., Herald; the Aberdeen, S.D., American-News; the San Jose, Calif., Mercury and News; the Pasadena, Calif., Star-News and Independent; the Long Beach, Calif., Independent and Press-Telegram; and the Garden Grove, Calif., Orange County News.

Born in New York City, Ridder graduated from Columbia University. He later designed the Intertype composing machine and organized the International Typesetting Machine Co.

Probation Sentence for Perjurer

A Detroit man was placed on three years probation today for committing perjury when he testified before the Oakland County grand jury.

Circuit Judge James S. Thorburn, in sentencing Solomon Brown, 52, of 19975 Wyoming, also ordered him to pay $300 court costs.

Brown was found guilty by a jury March 18 of lying about a bribe he had given to a Royal Oak Township policeman.

The officer, working undercover for the State Police, was to inform Brown about raids planned on numbers establishments.

Grand Juror, Circuit Court Judge Philip Pratt, brought the charge against Brown last September.

SAME CHARGE

Another Detroiter, Clemon Wynn Jr., 35, of 19975 Roselawn, also was charged with perjury at the same time.

Wynn was convicted in January of falsely swearing under oath about his involvement in the numbers racket and was sentenced on Jan. 27 to 5-15 years in the state prison by Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams.

The grand jury probe began last June, focusing on crime and corruption in Royal Oak Township.

In February, however, it moved out of the confines of the township and now is investigating other parts of Oakland County.

India's Second Train Explosion in 3 Months Kills 55, Hurts 127

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — fifty five persons were killed and 127 others injured Wednesday night in the second explosion within three months aboard a train in a rebellious area of eastern India, the Indian government radio announced.

The broadcast said the blast shattered several compartments of the Tinsukia-New Jalpaiguri train as it stood in Lumding railway station. Medical teams and investigators were rushed to the isolated town deep in the wild Naga hills about 350 miles northeast of Calcutta.

★ ★ ★

The cause of the disaster was not yet known, the radio said. But rebel Naga tribesmen in Assam State have been waging a guerrilla campaign for years against the central government's control.

The Nagas were blamed for two explosions aboard the Assam Mail Express on Feb. 16 in which 38 persons were killed.

LEADERS CONFER

Naga leaders recently conferred with Prime Minister Indira Gandhi and pressed their case for establishment of a Naga state. She pronounced the talks satisfactory, but one Naga faction wants to fight rather than to negotiate and the rebellion has continued.

The Indian government also has been plagued by rebellion of the Mizo tribesmen in the hills of southeast India, south of the Nagas between East Pakistan and Burma. They overran the towns of Aijal and Langleh last month and it took at least a brigade of Indian army troops and planes to push them out. Langleh is about 200 miles south of Lumding.

★ ★ ★

The Indian government claimed its troops had crushed the rebellion but there have been signs that the Mizos were still fighting.

Both the Nagas and Mizos have hit at railroads, roads and other symbols of the central government. The two tribes together number about a million people, but far fewer are involved in the warfare.

Wants Batman to Buckle Up in Batmobile

WASHINGTON (UPI) — When the Dynamic Duo jump into the Batmobile in the basement of stately Wayne Manor, Rep. Andrew Jacobs, D-Ind., wants them to buckle up their seat belts before jetting off to fight crime.

Jacobs told William Dozier, executive producer of the weekly television series, yesterday that one of his nephews recently said he did not want to put on his seat belt because "Batman never uses seatbelts."

★ ★ ★

"If Batman can get millions of American children to turn their coats into capes, I just have the suspicion that he could also get them to wear their seatbelts," Jacobs said. "Holy belt buckle! Think of the lives that might be saved . . . ."

Man's Body Found in Royal Oak Twp.

DETROIT (AP) — The body of an unidentified man was found yesterday in suburban Royal Oak Township. Police said the victim, about 55, had been savagely beaten about the head.

Police Commissioner Howard L. Bibb said he believed the man, dead about 24 hours, had been slain elsewhere and dumped in a vacant lot.

Missing Boys Found in Boxcar

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Two Fayetteville, N.C., boys who have been missing from their homes since April 8 were found today, alive but hungry, in a sealed boxcar on a Milwaukee siding.

The car was loaded with cases of empty beer bottles. Authorities said the boys apparently had kept alive for nearly two weeks by draining whatever few drops remained in each bottle.

★ ★ ★

The two were identified as David Harvey, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Harvey; and William Waddell, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Waddell.

They were taken to County Emergency Hospital where a spokesman said they apparently would require no major medical treatment.

BIKE TRIP

Detective J. Earl Melvin told Milwaukee newsmen by telephone that the boys had been reported missing April 9, a day after they went out bike riding together.

"The parents have been frantic," he said.

★ ★ ★

Officials of the Jos. Schlitz Brewing Co. said the car, loaded with beer, had been dispatched to North Carolina March 28. A Milwaukee Road yardmaster said the refrigerator unit, insulated but not cooled on its return trip, reached the yards April 18 and has been standing on a Schlitz siding.

The car doors, sealed in the Fayetteville yards, were broken open this morning by workmen who were to remove the empty cases. The men were greeted by the boys.

Melvin said that the parents told him the boys had a sleeping bag with them and about $40, and had announced they were going on a "trip." The parents thought this involved a bike trip to a nearby park.

Peace Corps Seeking 500 for Work in India

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Peace Corps says it needs 500 more volunteers for agricultural work in India to help that nation relieve food shortages and nutritional deficiencies.

The 500 would raise the number of Peace Corps workers in India to more than 1,600 — the largest concentration of volunteers in the world.

Scientists to Study Sightings of UFOs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Gerald R. Ford, R-Mich., said today the Air Force has contracted with a group of scientists to make an independent study of sightings of unidentified flying objects.

He said the study is to start soon after July 1.

At 6th Wedding

Boom Falls on Groom

MESSINA, Sicily (AP) — Italy's much-married man went on trial here today, charged with bigamy, fraud, swindle and misuse of titles in the course of five marriages.

The defendant, Aldo Donati, 44, was arrested as he was about to exchange wedding vows for the sixth time. Police said Donati told them he got an irresistible thrill from marrying.

★ ★ ★

"Matrimony," he was quoted as saying, "'with its marriage ceremony, with all the human meaning it has for relatives and friends in an event of such import for the life of a man and woman, raises an extraordinary feeling in me. It's like a chill, a feeling of exultation difficult to explain."

Police said Donati had been cultivating that feeling since his first marriage in 1949 when he won a successful female neurologist in Milan. He subsequently married four more times, in churches all over Italy, always to well-educated women. Each time he listed himself in the marriage applications as something different—physician, businessman, professor.

LATEST ATTEMPT

The latest time, attempting marriage here in 1964 to a teacher, he described himself as an intelligence agent. This proved his undoing. The father of the prospective bride found it strange that an intelligence man did not know how to drive a car.

He took his suspicions to police, who made a few checks in marriage records and got to the church just in time to halt the wedding.

Jordan Says Israelis Attacked Border Posts

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — A Jordan military spokesman said today Israeli troops attacked Jordanian positions on the Jordan River Wednesday night. He said the Israelis were beaten off after they opened fire on posts in the Sheikh Hussein Bridge border area and added that a number of Israelis were killed or wounded and one Jordanian soldier was slightly wounded.

Victim in Shock

Assailant Suspect Still in Jail

A 27-year-old man suspected in the beating and rape of a Pontiac Township woman Tuesday remained in custody at the Oakland County Jail today, nearly 48 hours after being arrested.

Oakland County sheriff's detectives yesterday called in crime laboratory specialists from the State Police to assist in the investigation.

The victim of the attack, found bleeding from cuts and bound with clothesline in her home, remained in a state of shock at Pontiac General Hospital today.

Detectives said the woman was still unable to relate how the attack occurred or who her assailant was.

The suspect has denied knowledge of the attack, according to officers.

He was apprehended by Pontiac police about 4 p.m. Tuesday. A 16-gauge shotgun and 38-caliber starter's pistol were found in his automobile, police said.

Why can you buy a BEAUTY Crest home at Huntoon Shores Subdivision for several hundred dollars less than you would pay for a comparable home built by another builder? Because hundreds of hours of careful research by Beauty Crest's competent planning experts have discovered that today's home buyer will not sacrifice quality for price; he demands full measure for his dollar spent. Beauty Crest has cut building costs through volume purchases of raw material—and passed the savings on to the buyer. Your choice of a spacious Tri-Level — Ranch — Colonial — 3 of 4 bedrooms at only $16,150 (plus lot). Models on Airport Road between M-59 and Williams Lake Road.

We are privileged to offer a most outstanding 4 bedroom home filled to the brim with colonial charm. The quality of this home is obvious and spaciousness is found in every feature from the entrance foyer and carpeted living room, the antique elm paneled family room with raised hearth and beamed ceiling. There is carpeted formal dining room and the kitchen boasts built-in oven, range and dishwasher. The carpeted bedrooms have wealth of closet space, 3 of which are walk-in. There are 2 full baths up and ½ bath down. The basement recreation room is finished in ruff sawn cedar paneling and has formica cupboards and sink for a summer kitchen. The heating system is zoned gas fired hot water. A full 2 car garage is attached. The grounds are beautifully landscaped and a circular drive adds graciousness as well as convenience. Priced $46,500. 'Still in Power'

Foes' Tactics Irk Sukarno

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — President Sukarno complained today that political forces in Indonesia are trying to push him out of power and some groups are trying to make him a figurehead president.

Speaking at a Cabinet meeting, the 64-year-old president said he had received a number of leaflets saying "President Sukarno has become old" and accusing him of bragging about the many titles he holds, including president for life.

"Here and now I say, yes, that I have done the bragging!" he shouted. "Why? Because people abroad have said I was toppled by the army. I think it is my obligation to refute lies disseminated by the foreign press. I have not been toppled.

"I am the president. I am your leader. I appoint you to be my ministers under my leadership. Keep that in mind."

In the 2½-hour speech, Sukarno also admitted the nation of 105 million faces an acute food shortage.

The government had been criticized because of the food shortage, and political parties, Cabinet ministers and students have been saying in recent weeks that authority should be vested in Parliament. Until the Indonesian army assumed power last month, Sukarno ruled the country as a dictator.

It was announced that a special military tribunal sentenced former army Lt. Ngadmo Hadisuwignyo to death for his part in the unsuccessful Communist-backed coup attempt last Oct.1. The prosecution had demanded a life sentence.

The official news agency Antara said Hadisuwignyo would appeal to Sukarno for clemency. He is the third person sentenced to death for taking part in the coup. The others were Lt. Col. Untung, former commander of the palace guard, and Njono, a Communist party official. Both have been executed.

Immigration Law Aiding Skill Needs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The new immigration law is helping to fill the nation's demands for skilled workers — from English nannies to atomic scientists.

A spokesman for the Labor Department's Bureau of Employment Security said today that more than 6,800 immigrants have taken advantage of the special skills section of the new law to come to the United States since last December

New York and California are getting the lion's share of the talented immigrants, more than 30 per cent of whom were professional men and women — engineers, teachers, scientists and others with academic credentials.

Another 30 per cent were in the skilled worker category: lensgrinders, tailors, ornamental ironworkers and the like. The so-called service occupations — maids, nannies, cooks, secretaries — made up another 26 per cent, the spokesman said.

★ ★ ★

Under the law, the old national quota system is being phased out gradually, and special consideration is given to reuniting families.

'WORKING WELL'

Both of these aims are "working extreme well," according to Associate Immigration Commissioner Mario T. Noto.

He predicted that the total amount of immigration from former quota nations would go over the 170,000 mark this year.

Last year's total quota allotment was 158,000. But because of the manner in which the quota system was set up, this total was not reached. The system itself will be completely phased out over a three-year period under the new law. It will be replaced by an over-all total for immigration.

★ ★ ★

Under the special skills section of the law, the Labor Department was given the job of certifying immigrants for jobs where American workers were in short supply.

★ ★ ★

So far, the spokesman said, only 20 per cent of the immigrant requests have been rejected. To qualify, an immigrant must first find a job where there is a shortage of American workers. He also must not work under conditions that would depress American wages.

TV's 'Bad Actor' to Marry if Wife Gives 'Permission'

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — The Madison Av. world has been atwitter and a-lather over rumors that TV's bad little boy David Susskind has a "secret divorce" and will marry—or has married—lovely blonde Joyce Davidson, the panelist and commentator who's also been his press agent.

WILSON

Holding hands as they made the happy announcement at some parties, they spoke of their luxurious love nest just acquired in the UN Plaza neighborhood in a building also occupied by Bobby Kennedy . . .

But the Madison Avenue excitement came from the known resistance of Susskind's wife of 25 years, Phyllis Briskin Susskind, to divorce.

"Pneumonia I will give him . . . divorce, NEVER!" she has said.

But Susskind told associates he got a Mexican divorce, or assurances of one, weeks ago.

"I don't know whether he told his wife," a friend said.

"He only has a legal separation!" declared his mother-in-law Mrs. Frances Briskin, whose daughter is in Utah speech-making. "How can he get a divorce without her consent?"

"Done in Mexico all the time," shrugged a NY lawyer. "Most wives prefer ex-husbands keep working and sending them alimony, than trying to send them to jail."

Mrs. Susskind, mother of three, who has a $750-a-week allowance, has made her position so clear, that friends thought there would be an element of discord, to say the least, when Susskind tries to get married in Virginia or some other such state (if he hasn't already). Watch this space for developments!

Will Replant Tree as JFK Memorial

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP) —A honey locust tree from the property of the late President John F. Kennedy is en route to San Antonio, Texas, to be replanted as a memorial in Estrada Park.

The tree was flown to Boston Wednesday night from the Kennedy family compound of summer homes on the shore of Nantucket Sound.

Gov. John B. Connally of Texas, who was wounded when Kennedy was assassinated in Dallas in 1963, is to take part in the dedication of the tree Sunday.

Two Girls Show Attendant They Mean Business

DETROIT (AP) — Filling station attendant Charles Christian thought it was funny when two girls, aged about 12 and 14, pointed a revolver at him and said, "This is a stick-up."

"That's not a real gun," Christian, 49, said he told them. So one of the girls opened the gun. It was real he said, but empty.

★ ★ ★

"You run along now," Christian said. "I've got a customer." And he went outside to fill a gasoline tank.

While he was gone, he told police, the girls stole $11 from the cash register and fled.

Soviet Scientists Tell Americans How Cosmonauts Avoid the Bends on Space Trips

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Two Soviet scientists say cosmonauts fly in space ships with earthlike atmospheres — important in solving an age-old deep sea problem that still worries astronauts.

The problem is called the bends. It could cause an astronaut to double up in pain and could mean scrubbing a space mission in mid-flight.

★ ★ ★

Soviet space physiologist Armen A. Gyurozhian told the 37th annual meeting of the U.S. Aerospace Medical Association here Wednesday that Soviet space ships contain an oxygen-nitrogen atmosphere.

Gyurozhian and Ivan A. Filekin, Soviet engineer in charge of procuring cosmonaut training devices, attended the meeting as guests of the association.

BLENDED AIR

Gyurozhian said air in Soviet space ships is blended at 21 per cent oxygen and 79 per cent nitrogen — just like air at sea level — and is maintained at sea level pressure of about 14 pounds per square inch.

★ ★ ★

American astronauts still fly in space ships containing pure oxygen at less than seven pounds per square inch.

Pure oxygen is a fire hazard in the presence of electrical motors on board a space capsule — and the low pressure can be dangerous if an astronaut gets the bends.

★ ★ ★

Bends are painful cramps caused by a sudden drop in pressure — as when a diver surfaces too fast from the ocean bottom or when an astronaut steps from his capsule into space.

ONLY RELIEF

The only relief is an increase in pressure.

★ ★ ★

And not in a space suit — which stiffens in spread-eagle fashion if it is inflated to more than 3½ pounds per square inch.

★ ★ ★

A cosmonaut with the bends could step back into an earthlike atmosphere and sea-level pressure inside his capsule and get relief.

Buy Back From Germans

U.S. Eyes Bomb Deal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department is considering new transactions to buy back and otherwise reacquire about 500,000 bombs and artillery shells previously sold or given to West Germany, it was learned today.

★ ★ ★

The shells and bombs would go into U.S. stocks and presumably would be available for the war in Viet Nam.

At the same time, the Pentagon is thinking of getting back about 5 million rounds of small arms ammunition, 35,000 small weapons and about 1,500 radios from the Germans.

This materiel would be redistributed under the military aid program to other allied and friendly countries, possibly including South Viet Nam.

★ ★ ★

The Pentagon's moves to reclaim this ordnance and equipment were disclosed in a letter from John T. McNaughton, assistant secretary of defense, to Rep. Durward G. Hall, R-Mo.

COPY OF LETTER

A copy of McNaughton's letter, dated March 31, became available after Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara testified before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee yesterday, denying once again reports of bomb shortages.

In his letter, McNaughton said "the guiding principle on reacquisition is, of course, that we will pay no more for the materiel than was paid to us when it was sold.

Last week, the Defense Department acknowledged that it had bought back from a German firm 5,570 750-pound bombs at a price more than 10 times what the weapons had been sold for as surplus.

The bombs were sold to the German firm for $1.70 each and the Defense Department paid $21 apiece to get them back. It was explained that, among other things, the high price took into account expenses the German firm incurred in transporting the bombs, building facilities to remove their nitrates for fertilizer and for other business costs.

WAR MATERIEL PRICE

McNaughton told Hall the price of the war materiel to be reacquired from Germany cannot be given precisely because some of it was sold and some was furnished as grant aid.

★ ★ ★

Officials said materiel which had been given as outright gift assistance could be reclaimed under terms of aid agreements.

McNaughton, who is in charge of the Pentagon's international security affairs office, said U.S. military personnel in Europe are currently inspecting the bombs, ammunition, arms and radios and negotiating the value.

GOP to Delay Districting Bill Effective Date

Kills Chances for Fall Supervisor Election on 1 Man-1 Vote Basis

LANSING (AP) — House Republicans made sure yesterday Michigan's 83 counties will not elect their supervisors on a one man-one vote basis next Nov. 8.

A bill, which calls for electing supervisors from single-member, equal-population districts, could cause "1966 election chaos and confusion," Republicans said.

They decided in caucus to withhold the one vote Democrats need to give immediate effect to an apportionment bill that has passed both Houses.

Without it, the bill would not become law until next April 1—90 days after the planned Dec. 30 adjournment of the Legislature.

★ ★ ★

A number of Republicans support the bill, now in a House-Senate conference committee, said Minority Leader Robert Waldron, R-Grosse Pointe.

VOTED FOR MEASURE

Waldron was among Republicans voting for the measure when it passed the House.

They oppose giving it immediate effect, he said, for the following reasons:

- A lack of time to solve technical problems involved;
- A lack of study of the "many existing statutes" involved;
- An "already overcrowded 1966 election ballot";
- Failure of the Michigan Supreme Court "to come up with a clear directive on the issue";
- A possible adverse effect on the success of pending home rule legislation.

★ ★ ★

Speaker Joseph Kowalski, D-Detroit, has said if the law were on the books by mid-May it would permit one-man vote-vote elections with only one change in the present schedules — a special primary in September. The statewide primary is Aug. 2.

LBJ Honors Dead GI With Highest Medal

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson presents the Medal of Honor posthumously today to a young paratrooper who threw himself on a Communist hand grenade in South Viet Nam and absorbed the blast with his body to protect four fellow soldiers.

A White House ceremony was scheduled at noon to honor 19-year-old Pfc. Milton L. Olive II of Chicago with the nation's highest military decoration.

The youth's father, Milton L. Olive of Chicago, and about 20 other relatives of the hero were flown to Washington last night for the ceremony.

The dead soldier is the third person and first Negro to be awarded the Medal of Honor for service in Viet Nam.

Young Olive was killed in action against Communist forces in Viet Nam Oct. 22, 1965, after falling on the grenade.

The citation states: "Through his bravery, unhesitating action and complete disregard of his own safety, he prevented additional loss of life or injury to the members of his platoon.

"Pvt. Olive's conspicuous extraordinary heroism and intrepidity at the risk of his own life above and beyond the call of duty are in the highest tradition of the United States Army and reflect great credit upon himself and the armed forces of his country."

S. Viet Expels 6 U.S. Pacifists

Group Hopes to Go to Red China, N. Viet

HONG KONG (AP) — Six American pacifists expelled today from South Viet Nam said on arrival in Hong Kong that they would try to go to Red China and North Viet Nam "in the search for peace."

The leader of the group, Rev. A. J. Muste, 81, of New York, said their previous attempts to get to Peking or Hanoi had not been successful "but now that we're in Hong Kong we will see if we can make any personal contacts here that might lead to visiting those two capitals."

If that fails, the minister said, he and four others in the group will return to the United States.

A sixth member, Karl Meyer of Chicago, said he would try to get a visa for Cambodia "to see what the situation is there."

★ ★ ★

Saigon police pulled the six pacifists kicking and protesting onto the plane for Hong Kong after blocking their attempt to demonstrate in front of the U.S. Embassy in the South Vietnamese capital. The Americans threw out antiwar pamphlets as they were hauled up the ramp to the plane.

WILD SCENE

Police roughed up several newsmen, seized the cameras of two television photographers and briefly detained a third cameraman during the wild exit scene at Saigon's Tan Son Nhut Airport.

Five of the pacifists were brought to the airport in a police van five hours before they took off after police prevented their staging a one-hour antiwar vigil at the U.S. Embassy.

The pacifists slumped to the sidewalk when police told them to get into the van.

OVER THE TOP — E. M. Estes, chairman of the St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Building Fund Campaign, adds the final 25 cents to the campaign total which exceeded the $3.25 million goal by nearly $150,000. Holding the long sheet of paper designating the final result figure are key campaign workers (from left) John W. Fitzgerald, Larry Hartman, Ernest A. Jones, Dr. Eugene J. Keefee, Theodore B. Bloom, Robert M. Critchfield, Robert R. Eldred and Don B. Whitfield.

St. Joseph Fund Drive Ends; $3.25 Million Goal Passed

A year-long team effort of business, labor, industry and private citizens culminated last night with the announcement that the St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Building Fund Campaign surpassed its $3.25 million goal.

E. M. Estes, chairman of the fund, announced a campaign total of $3,398,544.25 at the closing dinner and final campaign report meeting in the Pontiac Elks Temple. These funds will be used to help complete the $10,000,000 facility which is the over-all program under way at St. Joseph's.

Announcement of the "over the top" figure drew a standing ovation from some 315 key volunteers in attendance.

Since the campaign started last April more than 1,000 workers from the Pontiac area have participated in the drive by serving on various committees.

★ ★ ★

The minimum goal of $3.25 million established at the outset was aimed at meeting half of the estimated $6.5 million required for expansion and modernization of the hospital.

'VICTORY DINNER'

Mother Mary Leila, assistant Mother Provincial of the Sisters of Mercy, termed the report dinner as truly a "victory dinner."

She expressed gratitude to the many who had worked so diligently in the campaign and called upon key campaign workers to stand and be recognized.

"Your great gift of action gives the greatest satisfaction," Mother Mary Leila said: "This outstanding achievement demonstrates your confidence in the Mercy Sisters."

★ ★ ★

John W. Fitzgerald, editor of The Pontiac Press and president of the hospital's lay advisory board, praised the team effort aspect of the drive.

GROUPS CITED

He specifically cited the UAW-CIO, the three General Motors divisions based in Pontiac, the $1 million corporate matching total of $199,000 contributed by members of the Edward Fisher family as well as efforts of campaign committee chairmen.

"The job seemed so big at the beginning, we wondered where we could get all the required funds," Fitzgerald said.

He added the successful campaign results point up the fact that there are many good people in our area.

Estes, who cited the outstanding campaign participation of persons in the Birmingham-Bloomfield Hills section, said credit for the effort should go gift of General Motors, the to-

Artificial Heart Surgery Today

Attempt Would Be 1st on a Human Being

HOUSTON (UPI) — Famed surgeon Dr. Michael DeBakey was ready today to insert an artificial heart for the first time in a human being otherwise doomed.

Methodist Hospital said a male patient had been selected as the apparent recipient, but would not identify him or state the exact nature of his heart ailment.

The attempt at a medical breakthrough could come at any time. Newsmen were called to the hospital to stand by.

The artificial heart, basically a pump, kept a calf alive for 18 days last December.

The main elements of the artificial heart remain outside the body.

TIME TO HEAL

Object is to take over the work of a weak or damaged heart and allow it to heal itself.

An estimated 900,000 Americans die every year of heart ailments, which are the nation's No. 1 killer.

A different type bypass was tried at Methodist Hospital several years ago. The patient did not live.

Leaflets Urge a Boycott of Detroit School

DETROIT (AP) — Students going to classes at Detroit's predominantly Negro Northern High School today were given handbills urging them to report, instead, to classes at a "Freedom School."

Northern Principal Arthur Carty, whose ouster has been demanded by some of his students, was at his desk and said that despite the boycott "there are students in school today.

"We haven't made a count yet as to how many but it seems many are missing. However, I do not know how many and I do not know where they are."

The handbills, signed by three student leaders, urged students to "Disregard threats of reprisal. We will keep our united front."

★ ★ ★

Carty declined to say what measures, if any, would be taken against the missing students.

HINT OF DISCIPLINE

However, Detroit School Superintendent Samuel Brownell has hinted disciplinary action if the students don't return to classes.

Brownell yesterday rejected demands for Carty's ouster, but conceded "strong disagreements exist at the teacher-administrative level."

Students have complained they are receiving an inadequate education at Northern compared with the quality of teaching at many predominantly white high schools.

They laid most of the blame on Carty, and some faculty members backed them up.

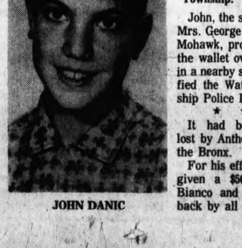
It's Rewarding

Boy Is a Joy---Honest

An 11-year-old Pontiac boy made the day considerably brighter for a New York City man Tuesday — $710 worth of brightness to be exact.



JOHN DANIC

Because of John Danic's good deed, Anthony Bianco of the Bronx recovered his billfold and $710 contents which he had lost earlier.

John Danic, a quiet sixth grader at St. Benedict's School, found a billfold containing $710 in a telephone booth at Telegraph and West Huron in Waterford Township.

John, the son of Mr. and Mrs. George P. Danic, 181 Mohawk, promptly turned the wallet over to a clerk in a nearby store who notified the Waterford Township Police Department.

★ ★ ★

It had been reported lost by Anthony Bianco of the Bronx.

For his effort, John was given a $50 reward by Bianco and a pat-on-the-back by all concerned.

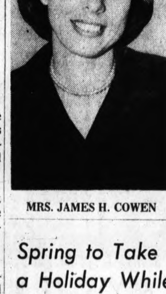
Announce UF Division Head

To Direct Planning of Women's Activity



MRS. JAMES H. COWEN

The appointment of Mrs. James H. Cowen, 6170 Overlook, Independence Township, to head the Pontiac Area United Fund Women's Campaign Division, has been announced by Donald O. Tatroe, 1966 general campaign chairman.

She will be responsible for over-all planning of women's campaign activities and major campaign appointments in Waterford and Independence townships and the Pontiac, Lake Orion and Lake Angelus areas.

Mrs. Cowen succeeds Mrs. William G. Wright who held the post in 1965.

She has served as Independence Township chairman the past two years as well as district chairman and solicitor in prior years.

★ ★ ★

The mother of three, Mrs. Cowen is a past president of Clarkston Guild Study Club, is currently active in the Drayton Plains Presbyterian Church, PFO Sisterhood, and is a member of the Women's Division Board of the Pontiac Area United Fund.

Her husband is assistant superintendent of Plant No. 3, GMC Truck & Coach Division.

Spring to Take a Holiday While Cold Comes In

Near-freezing temperatures are expected to hit the Pontiac area tonight with lows of 32 to 36.

The mercury started falling at 6 a.m. when the reading was 61. After dipping to 42 at 10:15 the temperature climbed back to 51 by 1 p.m.

The weatherman forecasts partially fair and cool with highs of 44 to 50 tomorrow. Fair and a little warmer is the outlook for Saturday.

Morning easterly winds at 10 to 30 miles will shift to west to northwest and diminish tonight.

Questioning Faces Caterer Who Turned Up Shot

MONROE (UPI) — Police were expected to question today a well-known kosher caterer who said he was held by kidnapers for 12 days before being shot in the back and released near the Ohio border.

Robert B. Rosenberg, 32, who staggered into a motel at nearby Temperance early yesterday and gasped "Call the police, I think I've been shot," was in fair condition today at a local hospital.

Police used the phrase "if there was a crime" several times when describing what Rosenberg said happened to him after he disappeared from his $35,000 home in suburban Detroit April 8.

Asked if there was any doubt about Rosenberg's kidnaping, officers replied, "We have not completed the investigation."

Rosenberg, who underwent surgery and was under heavy sedation, was questioned only briefly yesterday by police.

'BLINDFOLDED ME'

"They put me in a car, tied me up, blindfolded me and shot me," officers quoted Rosenberg as saying.

They said, however, he was unable to identify his abductors.

Near the motel where Rosenberg appeared officers found a revolver, two bloody ropes and a cotton-tape blindfold alongside the road.

Rosenberg had rope burns on his wrists and ankles and a heavy growth of beard, police said.

NO PRIOR TROUBLE

Police described Rosenberg, the father of four, as quiet and clean-living. He had been in no prior trouble.

No ransom requests were made to his family during the disappearance although Rosenberg telephoned his wife, Joyce, the night he vanished.

"Joyce, listen to me carefully," Mrs. Rosenberg quoted him as saying. "I cannot repeat myself. I am being held. Do not call the police. I'll contact you."

She contacted the Federal Bureau of Investigation and a search was launched.

ABANDONED CAR

Three days later police found Rosenberg's car abandoned in Detroit. There was no indication of foul play.

Police said Rosenberg indicated he left his home April 8, and drove to downtown Detroit where he parked his car.

As he was reaching for something in the back seat, his abductors seized him, he said; bound and gagged him and transferred him to another car.

Pontiac's Teachers Pick PEA

Pontiac's public school teachers last night voted by nearly a 2-1 margin to establish the Pontiac Education Association (PEA) as official bargaining agent for the district's 879 teachers.

Final results of balloting conducted by the State Labor Mediation Board showed 506 voted for the PEA, and 280 for the Pontiac Federation of Teachers (PFT), affiliated with the AFL-CIO.

Six voters indicated a preference for "neither group" while 87 teachers did not cast ballots.

Supt. of Schools Dr. Dana P. Whitmer said he would meet today with Raymond Reiche, a drafting instructor and chairman of the PEA negotiations committee, to set a date for bargaining between the administration and the teacher group.

★ ★ ★

Terms of teacher contracts specifying salaries, hours, and working conditions will be worked out by committees representing administrations and teachers.

Mrs. Cornelia Jackson, PEA president, termed the PEA victory a call for "positive, orderly action" in negotiating a contract.

Mrs. Jackson said the association would aim for an agreement bringing Pontiac "to the top" of the state's school districts.

Festival Plans New Exit Road

A new exit road from the Meadow Brook Music Festival grounds will be completed before the season opens on June 30, it was announced yesterday.

At a meeting of festival ticket chairmen at Oakland University, Mrs. Ben D. Mills, who serves with her husband as general chairman, told the group Mrs. Alfred P. Wilson has given consent for a road to be constructed through her property east to Adams Road.

This will be an exit road only for cars. Chartered buses will be allowed to use it for entering the festival grounds.

Five hundred additional parking places are scheduled to be ready when the season opens.

Orion Man's Death Ruled Accidental

The gunshot death of a 32-year-old Orion Township man yesterday has been termed accidental by Oakland County sheriff's deputies and a coroner assigned to the case.

James D. Persinger of 4100 Waldon was found dead about 1:20 p.m. by his wife, with a 30.30-caliber rifle near his body.

The bodies of Mrs. Ann Slazenger, 45, night manager, and Edmund Thompson, 48, a porter, were found Wednesday morning at the Verdi Bar on the edge of a deteriorating section near downtown Detroit.

Last Feb. 23, the bodies of bar owner Philip Laudicina, 45; Mrs. Ruth Dukes, 34, and porter Philip Hood, 67, were found in the Miami Bar, eight blocks north of Verdi's.

BOUND, SHOT

Police said Mrs. Slazenger, Thompson, Laudicina and Mrs. Dukes all had been bound and then shot through the head. Hood was shot in the head but not tied up.

★ ★ ★

However, police said an autopsy showed Mrs. Slazenger and Thompson both were either strangled or fatally beaten before being shot.

About $200 was missing from the Miami Bar, and $1,000 from Verdi's.

★ ★ ★

Homicide Inspector Robert Grindle called Wednesday's slaying an execution and said he was "pretty much convinced that the same men were responsible" for all five murders.

Police still have not solved the Miami bar holdup-slaying. The tavern has been shuttered ever since the holdup and reportedly is up for sale. Verdi's was closed Wednesday night.

BUSINESS AS USUAL

But it was business as usual at other bars in the neighborhood, an older section of the city filled with low rent apartments, flats, and small businesses.

"It's a funny thing," said one bartender. "There was a lot of talk in the bar after the Miami holdup. But there hasn't been a word about this one."

★ ★ ★

However, customers at another bar talked freely about the latest slayings.

"I was in Verdi's last night and she (Mrs. Slazenger) bought me a drink," said one bar patron. "You never know."

★ ★ ★

Police patrols were increased in the area last night and early today in hopes of gaining information about the slayings.

A team of six homicide detectives questioned residents of the area.

to the entire Pontiac area community.

VARIOUS SOURCES

Campaign contributions reported at the dinner came from various sources.

The three advance committees contributed a total of $1,582,787. The doctor's committee raised $349,590; memorial gifts $651,207 and the corporations committee $582,000.

Contributions from the Pontiac general public campaign amounted to $63,606, with $58,796 coming from the employe divisions in Pontiac; $75,143 from St. Joseph Mercy Hospital employes and $148,890.25 from the Birmingham - Bloomfield drive.

★ ★ ★

A 25-cent contribution was made by a needy widow who was intent on participating in the drive, according to campaign officials.

CONTRIBUTIONS

Pontiac Motor Division employes contributed $250,467 to the campaign while GMC Truck & Coach Division personnel volunteered $144,000. Fisher Body Division employes contributed $74,845.

Key figures in the drive besides Estes and Fitzgerald were Dr. Eugene J. Keefee, chairman of the doctor's committee; Larry Hartman, coordinator of the GM employes divisions; and Don B. Whitfield, chairman of the Birmingham - Bloomfield Hills drive.

Others were Robert R. Eldred, chairman Pontiac general campaign drive; Theodore B. Bloom, chairman GM employe effort; Robert M. Critchfield, chairman of the corporations committee; and Ernest A. Jones, co-chairman of the memorial gifts committee.

★ ★ ★

The building program at the hospital will raise the bed capacity from 330 to 500 and completely renovate existing buildings.

Crash Witness Is Being Sought by Troy Police

Troy police are looking for the owners of a light blue compact station wagon who may have seen a fatal accident on South Boulevard near Livernois Tuesday.

Police say the station wagon was traveling east on South Boulevard when the accident occurred at 2:40 p.m. They believe that those who were in the station wagon may be able to provide them with helpful information regarding the accident.

The two-car collision resulted in the death of a Royal Oak man and injuries to two other persons who are now in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Area Man Is Killed as Car Slips off Blocks

A West Bloomfield Township man was dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital last night, after his car fell on him, according to township police.

★ ★ ★

Dead is Thomas J. Helmreich 24, of 6360 Commerce. Helmreich was repairing the car when it slipped off blocks. He was found in the garage by his brother, John.

School Board Passes Budget

BIRMINGHAM — The Board of Education has approved a tentative 1966-67 operating budget of $11,827,000 for submission to the Oakland County Tax Allocation Board.

This year's budget of $10,480,043 was increased to accommodate an anticipated growth of 1,100 more students, according to Dr. John B. Smith, superintendent of schools.

"This budget currently exceeds anticipated income for 1966-67 by $565,000. While it will be possible to meet 1966-67 commitments from planned reserves, it is clear that continued growth and program improvements will require a restudy of financial needs during the coming year," Dr. Smith said.

The budget allows for a long-planned extension of foreign languages into the fourth grade; special education programs; remedial reading; the opening of Covington Junior High School; improvement in library services; and an addition of five buses.

★ ★ ★

An anticipated 106 new staff members and 30 other personnel will be needed.

OTHER FACTORS

Dr. Smith noted that several factors are still undetermined which could affect the final budget.

The exact school district tax valuations, the results of employe salary negotiations currently in progress, and the amount of state aid allocated per child are unknown.

Action also was taken Tuesday to establish new Harlan and Greenfield Elementary School boundaries.

★ ★ ★

However, the Evergreen School Citizens Committee is still working with the administration to solve long-range housing problems before action can be taken.

REDISTRICTING

It is evident that some redistricting will be required, said Walter Piel, administrative assistant.

The board authorized the superintendent to purchase the John and Joe Patterson property adjacent to the board of education property for a price not to exceed $92,500 to expand maintenance and bus facilities.

The land covers about nine-tenths of an acre. Funds for the purchase were voted upon in the June 1964 election.

★ ★ ★

Industrial education courses were updated and the board agreed to begin foreign language study at the fourth grade level instead of the fifth.

PILOT COURSE

A pilot two-semester course in social studies will be offered as an elective to ninth grade students at Covington Junior High School in the 1966-67 school year.

★ ★ ★

It was originally a required course, but made elective for a trial period.

The board also approved the hiring of William Blackwell as assistant principal of Covington for the next school year. His appointment is effective July 1, 1966. Blackwell is a former counselor at Berkshire Junior High.

Leaflets Urge Student Unity

boiled over after school administrators refused to permit the student newspaper to publish an editorial critical of the academic standards at the school.

Although two civil rights organizations were asked by the students for advice on staging demonstrations, observers of Detroit's racial scene said they believed the protest was not being pushed by any such group.

Establishment of a "Freedom School," student leaders said, would show that they prefer education to picketing.

★ ★ ★

Some 1,500 chanting demonstrators, including parents and teachers, paraded around the school for more than two hours yesterday.

Solons Reach for Taxpayers' Dollars

While a commission on legislation called for a $5,000 a year hike in legislators' pay tied to a "more business-like and efficient utilization of legislative time and effort," the eventual beneficiaries proposed spending programs for fiscal 1966 that could boost the State's budget to a record $1.06 billion. Not only that, but the present $135 million surplus that Gov. ROMNEY had seen taking Michigan through two years of fiscal solvency would go down the drain in one slurp.

At the outset of the 1966 legislative session, ROMNEY proposed a budget of $945 million. Though a record-breaker, it represented a carefully structured program for state financial management while providing reasonable increases in many essential areas.

★ ★ ★

Because the State constitution provides that no new appropriation bills can be introduced once the budget is adopted, the lawmakers circumvented this by immediately voting down the one submitted by the governor.

Thereafter, the legislature may introduce any spending bills it sees fit. And, in an election year particularly, a lot of them are seen fit.

Needless to say, ROMNEY will not take this economic irresponsibility lying down, and will fight to hold the line on a liberal but sound budget.

★ ★ ★

If you would like to back him as he plays the role of a fiscal Horatius at the Bridge and help keep Michigan from reverting to the 14-year interim of Democratic financial chaos, we suggest you acquaint State senators and representatives with your sentiments.

Waterford's Annual Tidying-Up Under Way

The second annual Beautification Month is being observed by the Greater Waterford Community Council (GWCC).

In addition to the month-long trash cleanup campaign, the GWCC in cooperation with the Township Building Department has instituted a series of landscaping classes.

Stressing the need for area consciousness in combatting the blight of littering, the Council points out that of the $58,000 spent by the County last year on trash cleanup, $800 was for tidying up the Dixie Highway route through the township.

A State Highway Department official reported that a check of a quarter-mile stretch of the highway showed in excess of 50 pieces of litter even though a trash pickup had been made hours earlier.

In addition to individual interest and participation, the township's beautification program is being actively advanced by several youth organizations.

We salute this fine display of community pride and urge comparable appreciation of roadside attractiveness on all users of our highways.

Taxpayers May Be Casualties of War on Poverty

If you want a little concrete evidence in support of the widely-held belief that the right hand of the Federal government doesn't know what its left is doing, we point to the fiscal fantasy that is the life of Detroit's OZIE BULOCK.

OZIE, with an eighth-grade education, was laid off his $104-a-week automobile-assembler job and went on relief at $67.40 a week.

★ ★ ★

After enrolling in a government course to learn upholstering, he began receiving $190 twice a month from the work experience project of the War on Poverty and another $72 a week from the skills-training program of the Manpower Development and Training Act of 1962. Both programs are 100 per cent financed by the Federal government.

Since OZIE's present income is tax free, his take-home pay while learning to upholster is $692 a month.

Eventually, after he begins plying his upholstering trade, his earnings may fall off a bit. But by that time another Federal agency will likely be created that will enable him to continue earning while learning.

Sunny Peace Hopes Grow Dim

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — In Washington, a sudden burst of words sometimes has a new and sunny and even hopeful look, like fresh flowers ready to bloom.

MARLOW

Then suddenly you remember something, something that's been said, and the new words lose their newness, hope looks less real, the bloom seems a little jaded, and you begin to fear that what was sunny was only in your imagination.

Senate Democratic leader MIKE MANSFIELD proposed Monday, with the best intentions, that Japan or Burma take the lead in bringing about a "direct confrontation across a peace table" of the United States, China, North Viet Nam and "essential" elements from South Viet Nam.

It was a hopeful thought.

It was followed up by the Johnson administration, which Tuesday invited Burma, Japan or other Asian countries to take what initiative they see fit to help arrange a Viet Nam Peace conference. The State Department heartily endorsed Mansfield's proposal. But—

★ ★ ★

The chance that North Viet Nam or Red China would act on Mansfield's idea doesn't look any more likely now, of course, than it did earlier this year, when for weeks President Johnson stopped the bombing of North Viet Nam and worked hard to get peace talks going.

In fact, there is probably less reason to think Red China and North Viet Nam would want peace now than then, and not only because of the turmoil inside South Viet Nam.

For, while Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Arthur J. Goldberg, U. S. ambassador to the United Nations, were both endorsing Mansfield's suggestion for getting Peking to talk peace, both were laying down tough conditions for dealing with Red China or letting her into the United Nations.

Over the weekend, Rusk's testimony, given in closed session before a congressional committee, was released and indicated he didn't expect Red China to abandon its aggressive policy for a generation and that this country would try to stop Peking's aggression whenever it was attempted.

★ ★ ★

And Tuesday, Goldberg listed minimum conditions for permitting Red China to get into the United Nations, while saying the United States would oppose membership for her this year as in all previous years.

ABANDON HER POSITIONS

The Goldberg conditions would mean Red China, in effect, would have to abandon her present positions. And that's not likely, any time soon.

★ ★ ★

With Rusk and Goldberg sounding off on Red China like that—just at the moment the Johnson administration is wistfully embracing the Mansfield suggestion which wishfully talked of a peace conference with Red China — seems to stretch the imagination just a little too much.

Letter Outlines Program to End War in Viet Nam

A four point program for ending the Kennedy-Johnson war in Viet Nam: (It's true that the fumbling started during Eisenhower's second administration, but Ike thought Viet Nam was the name of a golf course in Texas.)

• Dismiss Defense Secretary Robert McNamara. He has masterminded the fiasco for two administrations: no replacement is necessary.

• Discharge, or simply squash, Henry Cabot Lodge. He has been hopelessly incompetent, actively hostile to American interests, or both.

• Give General Westmoreland carte blanche in running the show, free from interference by Southeast Asia authorities like Cassius Clay, Bobby Kennedy, or Nathan Leopold.

• Wipe the port of Haiphong off the face of the earth by conventional or nuclear bombing, the choice determined by which method is cheaper in dollars and American lives.

'We Should Demand Equal Hours and Pay'

Several years ago I felt sympathy for teachers and City employes who were really paid less than the average. This is not true any more. Our firemen have the shortest work schedule I ever heard of and they get more money than I get. Thousands of us should start picket lines around the fire station and demand equal hours with them and equal pay.

Comments on Attack of Automobile Critic

Henry Ford delivered a very pointed reply to this automobile critic who sets himself up as an international authority. What and where are his credentials? He attacks the industry that is our economic leader. Automobile companies spend millions to make cars better and safer.

★ ★ ★

This criticism does give the administration something to take the heat off the tremendous budget deficits and the staggering increases in Federal costs. Washington welcomes diversion. Their own sins are forgotten temporarily. But why attack the basis of our whole economic prosperity and advancement?

Reader Protests Press Warning to Voters

I protest strongly the article: "Voters Warned on 11th Hour Tactics." It carried a strong implication that the challenging candidates actually did resort to making last-minute charges. Over the weekend I received much campaign literature in support of the challenging candidates and I find absolutely no charges which had not been made early in the campaign. Your editorial was a most distressing accusation.

David Lawrence Says:

'Peace' Is Meaningless Today

WASHINGTON — The most ambiguous word in the dictionary of today is "peace." It is being used indiscriminately in a world of make believe. For, under the definitions of international law, there is no peace today.

LAWRENCE

World War II has never been ended by a peace treaty even though there have been some proclamations declaring that hostilities have ended.

Based on precedents, some of the belligerent rights of World War II are still in effect.

The Soviet government, for instance, maintains an occupation zone in the Kurile Islands granted her by the Yalta Conference of February 1945, and also has kept an occupation force in East Germany ever since the armed conflict there terminated that year.

The Soviets never signed the peace treaty with Japan. Nor did they join the western powers in signing in 1955 their treaty recognizing the sovereignty of West Germany.

The belligerents who accepted Germany's surrender in World War II have not signed any treaty with the German people as a whole.

But most perplexing of all is the situation in Europe. Here international law takes its biggest nose dive into legalistic confusion.

While armed conflict was terminated between West Germany and the nations which fought Hitler in World War II, Allied armies of occupation still remain in Berlin, and there have been occasional acts of war in recent years as the Russians have arbitrarily imposed air or road blockades.

The Soviet government, moreover, has formed an "alliance" with a bloc of countries under Communist control in eastern Europe.

Fifteen nations in the West have signed the North Atlantic Treaty pledging themselves to make war at any time to defend any member country against attack. France has not repudiated the treaty but is objecting to some aspects of the military organization.

These were designed to enforce the terms of the pact if a war between East and West breaks out.

Although President Truman, at the end of 1946, proclaimed a state of "peace," complications since then, growing out of World War II, have caused the United States to maintain troops in the Far East as well as in Southeast Asia and in Europe.

Because fighting is not going on in Europe at the moment, the fuzzy situation isn't called a "hot war." The phrase "cold war" has been substituted.

Legally speaking, however, the rights of belligerents in the "hot war" are being retained and occasionally are exercised.

Maybe the people who are calling for peace ought to concentrate on a conference that will reestablish "international law" in the world or at least define what it means today.

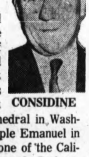
Rectification Is Overdue on Indian Land Grievance

NEW YORK — In many respects we treat unknown ingrates in lackluster lands better than we treat the people we stole this country from.



CONSIDINE

How loud would be the hue and cry if the federal government seized, let's say, the great Protestant cathedral in Washington, or Temple Emanuel in New York, or one of the California missions of Junipero Serra and turned same into camping sites?

Well, we did it to the Taos Pueblo Indians of New Mexico.

Fifty thousand acres of their religious sanctuary, including their sacred Blue Lake, were taken from them in 1906.

★ ★ ★

After that, we cut trails and roads across the area and built camp sites around the lake.

SYMBOLS OF THEIR GOD

"The Blue Lake area is just as much a church as a building with a cross," says Taos Gov. John J. Reyna. "The trees, flowers and waters are the Indians' symbols of their god."

They've been fighting this federal desecration for 60 years. Last September the Indian Claims Commission got around to acknowledging that the lake area did indeed belong to the Taos people and is a bona fide religious shrine. But it told the tribe there was nothing it could do about it unless Congress acted on it.

The commission is confined to offering money to salve hurts. The Taos turned down the obscene offer.

★ ★ ★

Now Sen. Clinton Anderson, D-N. M., has introduced a bill (S3065) which would give legal title to the Taos Pueblo over the Blue Lake area, in line with the commission decision.

It's 60 years overdue, but when it passes the Congress we will be able to say, without qualification, that we really do believe in guaranteeing religious freedom to all Americans—even to the original ones.

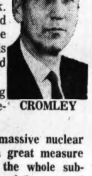
Reds Bank on Surprise Attacks

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) — New translations of Soviet military writing shows an increasing emphasis on one point:

The Soviet Union must begin any war with the United States with a surprise (sneak) attack. It can't afford to forego the advantages this surprise would give.



CROMLEY

One leading Soviet strategist says:

"The first massive nuclear strikes can in great measure predetermine the whole subsequent course of the war and lead to such losses in the rear and among the troops that the country will be put in an exceedingly difficult position.

"Surprise can, in almost an instant, disorganize and demoralize the enemy force, obliging them to operate in uncoordinated and chaotic fashion, and even to cease resistance."

★ ★ ★

Though Soviet military writers are not unanimous on the merits of pre-emptive sneak attacks the dissenters seem to be in the minority. They are now linked with Stalin and his "errors."

There's a tendency to believe that detection and warning systems and missile site hardening and dispersal will not be sufficient to prevent a successful surprise attack. There's an indication these writers believe that these warning systems can be overcome and the missile defenses penetrated in a carefully planned surprise (sneak) attack.

They suggest, in fact, that the warning and control systems can be obliterated or made unworkable during the crucial sneak-attack period.

By and large, these writers reject the thought of sparing cities. They include both military and civilian targets as prime objectives. They argue that weapons are built in the cities — but more importantly destruction of the cities will lead to national disorganization and confusion and a will to surrender.

Under the proper circumstances, a skillfully-conducted strategic sneak attack on U.S. missile sites and cities — if it created enough destruction, chaos and confusion — could result in a very short war, these writers believe.

Some ridicule the city-sparing concept now being discussed in high U. S. civilian and military circles. Others ignore it.

★ ★ ★

These writers assert destruction of military targets alone cannot assure complete victory because the armed forces can always be restored if the economy of a country remains operative and its human resources and its will to fight are not exhausted.

This Soviet military attitude requires the United Sates to do three things:

• Improve its intelligence, warning and operational control systems so that the Soviet Union cannot make them inoperative at the time of sneak attacks.

• Set up some system to defend U. S. cities in the event of Soviet attack. Though no system can completely defend cities, they can perhaps make Soviet attacks prohibitively costly.

★ ★ ★

• Make certain that Soviet leaders know the United States has made these preparations and that U. S. defenses and control systems would not be disorganized and inoperative in the crucial attack period.

Moors Trial Fervor Is Feared; Police Guard Defense Team

CHESTER, England (AP) — Police guarded defense lawyers in the Moors murder trial today, and midwives were on hand to keep watch over a pregnant witness as she testified.

Fearing that passions aroused by the sensational trial might lead to violence, guards were posted at the homes of lawyers Emlyn Hooson and Godfrey Heilpern and at the home of Heilpern's mother.

The precautions were taken following the murder of Heilpern's sister-in-law, Rachel Heilpern, 53. Her body was found Tuesday night at the dress shop she managed 30 miles from Chester. She had been stabbed through the heart.

Detective Supt. Wilfred Cunliffe said so far there was nothing to indicate the murder was connected with the Moors trial, "but in a murder investigation one cannot rule out anything."

REQUEST GUARD

Six other persons named Heilpern living in northwest England have requested police protection.

Three police midwives were on duty for the resumption of the trial today. The court was to hear more testimony from Maureen Smith, 19, who expects a baby at any time.

Mrs. Smith is the sister of Myra Hindley, 23, who with her lover, Ian Brady, 27, is charged with the murder of three children for thrills.

Mrs. Smith, wearing a gray tweed coat and a maternity smock, faced her sister and Brady Wednesday as she testified for about 30 minutes. Atty. Gen. Sir Elwyn Jones had interrupted his outline of the prosecution case to bring her to the witness stand because of the advanced state of her pregnancy.

ALL-MALE JURY

Earlier, Jones told the all-male jury that Miss Hindley, a stenographer, and Brady, a clerk, enticed 10-year-old Lesley Ann Downey into a house and subjected her to "utmost indignities" before she was killed.

Space Probe Cooperation Said Lacking

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — The United States could get a lot more "mileage" from its deep space and planetary probes with little, if any, added weight if planners would consult radio astronomers long before the vehicles are hurled into space.

What scintists call "bistatic radar astronomy" is a key to learning about the makeup of interplanetary space and planetary atmospheres, Dr. Von R. Eshleman of Stanford University told the International Scientific Radio Union meeting here.

Dr. Eshleman called for more communication, cooperation and interplay between those concerned with the design and communications of spacecraft and those who decide what scientific experiments will be aboard.

The two are now "conceived, managed and funded separately," he charged.

* * *

As an example of what can be accomplished with cooperaton, Dr. Eshlean cited the outstanding success of the Mariner IV mission in using telemetry signals to learn that the Martian amosphere has a pressure only one per cent that of earth's.

PUT ABOARD

This experiment, essential to planning for an unmanned Mars landing, was finally put aboard Mariner IV only four months before launch, although the idea of using the lenslike effect of the Martian atmosphere on radio waves to learn about its atmospheric structure had been suggested more than two years before launch.

Two of the three moon probes scheduled for launch this summer — the Lunar Orbiter and AIMP, for Anchored Interplanetary Monitoring Platform — will use bistatic radar for studies of the lunar surface.

Strings to Their Hobby

By JEANNE NELSON

When is a witch not a witch at all? Mrs. James Binder of Northville and Mrs. Harry Reed of Osceola Drive spell out the details in their original story created expressly for the puppet stage and aptly named "Wanda the Witch that Wasn't."

* * *

The two homemakers, each the mother of three boys, who have been friends for years began making marionettes during coffee klatches some time ago and are now the producers of an impressive collection.

* * *

Ten and 25 cenling it for materials right along, the two puppeteers will soon be realizing a profit on their hobby.

They have contracted to produce a three-day series of performances in June at The Pontiac Mall. And according to the pair, "even more exciting things are in the planning stage."

Each marionette has a plastic wood head with facial contours painted on by Mrs. Reed. Cotton stuffing is covered to form the bodies. Lead weights inside control the balance and movement of the jointed dolls.

* * *

Bright clusters of yarn form the hair. And hardboard is used for the hand controls with black carpet thread for the strings.

A great deal of hand sewing has gone into the making of the costumes. The delicate detailing on most of the clothes has taken many hours of tedious work.

* * *

When it came to making a stage it was necessary that it be practical above all else. So the eight-foot stage was hammered and nailed together in such a way that it folds for easy traveling and storage.

Not satisfied with carpentry work alone, the inventive team created lights and spots for their stage. Red velvet curtains line the stage and are trimmed with gold for a professional look.

* * *

Just recently, they have started making a collection of hand puppets for a Punch and Judy production. These characters are made with felt heads sprayed a flesh color with bits of bright felt for the facial expressions.

Wire encased in the hands and fingers enable the puppets to hold props for an authentic touch.

* * *

Wooden dowels hold the "little people," keeping costumes unwrinkled and free from soil during performances and storage.

In the same way, folding ironing stands hold the marionettes.

* * *

The first few performances given by the pair were narrated at the time of the production. Now the use of a tape recorder has been employed which cuts down considerably on hectic backstage activities.

Up until this time, the two husbands have stayed strictly out of things but recently agreed to do the male roles on the tape.

Dorthe, the young Danish model, wears a white lace wedding dress featured by designer Pierre Balmain at his Paris spring-summer show. His collection featured costumes that were neither too young nor too old for the models who wore them.

Pontiac Press Photo

Their world on a string is surrounded with colorful characters from an original story. Shown are Mrs. James Binder of Northville (left) and Mrs. Harry Reed of Osceola Drive with handmade puppets and marionettes the pair has constructed over the years.

Weather Again Delays Ocean Boat Race

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Miami-Nassau Ocean Powerboat Race was postponed for the second time in 24 hours today because of bad weather.

★ ★ ★

Race officials postponed the event until 7 a.m., EST Friday. High winds, rain and heavy seas prompted race officials to put off for the second time the starting of the 65 entries.

U.S. domination of the event is being seriously challenged by seven British craft and one each from Denmark and Scotland.

WEDNESDAY'S FIGHTS

RICHMOND, Calif. — Ralph McCoy, 160, Richmond, knocked out Rocky Montalvo, 158, San Francisco, 4.

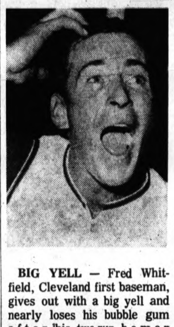
VANCOUVER, B.C. — Eddie Cotton, 183, Seattle, Wash., outpointed Emil Umek, 184, Germany, 10.

Whitfield Again Adds to Woes

Pilot Not 'Keane' on Yanks

Manager Johnny Keane supposedly has had a little talk with his New York Yankees. He might meet with more success if he had a long talk with Fred Whitfield.

Keane has minimized his meeting with the Yankees, but there was no way to minimize Whitfield's bat Wednesday night as the Cleveland first baseman continued his one-man assault on New York pitching by hammering a game-winning homer in the Indians' 4-2 victory.



BIG YELL — Fred Whitfield, Cleveland first baseman, gives out with a big yell and nearly loses his bubble gum after his two-run homer helped the Indians defeat the Yankees, 4-2, last night.

UPSET AT START

Apparently upset at the Yankees' dismal start, Keane reportedly blasted the players in a behind-closed-doors meeting before the Cleveland series got underway. But he didn't place any special emphasis on the session.

Tuesday night, Whitfield provided all of Cleveland's runs with a homer in a 3-1 victory over New York, then Wednesday night he hit a two-run smash in the eighth inning that broke a 2-2 tie and gave the unbeaten Indians their sixth victory.

Elsewhere, Baltimore rode the hitting of Andy Etchebarren and Luis Aparicio to a 6-3 victory over Washington, California edged the Chicago White Sox 4-3 in 11 innings. Minnesota and Kansas City were rained out.

The Yankees led 2-1 when the Indians rallied in the eighth with the aid of a throwing error by reliever Pedro Ramos. Vic Davalillo opened with a single. Leon Wagner then beat out a hit, and Davalillo raced all the way home when Ramos failed to cover first and Joe Pepitone's throw to the bag went into the outfield.

Wagner was cut down trying for third on the play but Ramos got into trouble again by walking Rocky Colavito. Whitfield then smashed a 1-1 pitch over the center field fence, bringing John O'Donoghue his first victory and handing Ramos his third loss.

Spain Feasts on Chile '5'

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Spain routed Chile 89-69 Wednesday night in the opening game of the final round in the world amateur basketball championship tourney.

A near-capacity crowd of 20,000 saw the game in the outdoor National Stadium after opening ceremonies highlighted by parade of the players and coaches of the competing countries.

The United States will play Bulgaria Thursday and Chile Friday in a revised schedule announced for the remainder of the round-robin tourney, which ends April 30.

Soccer Tilt Decided After 473 Minutes

LISBON (AP) — It took a Portuguese Premier Soccer League team 473 minutes of play Wednesday to gain its way into the semifinals of the Cup of Portugal race.

Beira Mar finally edged Leixoes 2-1 just eight minutes before a coin was to be tossed to decide which would be eliminated.

Baseball Play Opens

Fast Big 10 Showdown

CHICAGO (AP) — Defending champion Ohio State again is tabbed as the team to beat as the 71st Big Ten baseball championship race opens Friday.

Coaches picking the Buckeyes to repeat like Michigan and Michigan State as main contenders.

It won't take long for the title chase to shake down because Ohio State, with a 13-4 pre-season record, is at MSU (11-8-1) for a single game Friday and at Michigan (12-4) in a Saturday doubleheader.

OTHER GAMES

In other Friday games Indiana is at Michigan, Northwestern at Iowa, Purdue at Illinois and Wisconsin at Iowa.

Ohio State has top-flight pitching led by Steve Arlin and sophomore Dick Bobbs and Mike Swain—all righthanders. Batting punch and reserve strength are weakness.

Soviet Women Record Victory in Cage Game

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP) — The world champion Russian women's national basketball team defeated the U.S. All-Stars 75-40 Wednesday night before a crowd of 2,000 at City Auditorium.

The Soviets scored 12 straight points midway in the first half to stretch an 11-7 lead into a 23-7 advantage, and made it 35-15 by half-time.

★ ★ ★

Galina Varonina, a 6-foot-1½ forward, hit from inside, and Ludmila Bazarevich, a 5-6½ guard, connected from the outside in scoring 10 points apiece for the Russians in the first half.

'Ace in the Hole' Leads Quebec Win

By the Associated Press

Just when things looked darkest, Quebec came up with its ace in the hole — Ed Hoekstra.

Hoekstra fired three goals, the last two in the final seven minutes in leading the Aces to a 5-3 American Hockey League play victory over the Rochester Americans Wednesday night.

The triumph enabled Quebec to take a 2-1 lead in the best-of-seven semifinals. In the other semifinal, third-period goals by Gordon Wilkie and Tom McCarthy gave the Cleveland Barons a 3-1 victory over Springfield in the opener of their best-of-five set.

Rites Saturday for Publisher

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Funeral services for Joseph Edward Ridder, 80, head of Ridder Publications, Inc., publishers of numerous newspapers in the United States, will be held Saturday in New York.

Ridder died Tuesday at Good Samaritan Hospital here after a long illness. Services will be held at 11 a.m. at his Glen Head, Long Island, home. A private burial was scheduled.

He was chairman of the board of an organization which publishes the New York Journal of Commerce; the Duluth, Minn., Herald and News-Tribune; the Grand Forks, N.D., Herald; the Aberdeen, S.D., American-News; the San Jose, Calif., Mercury and News; the Pasadena, Calif., Star-News and Independent; the Long Beach, Calif., Independent and Press-Telegram; and the Garden Grove, Calif., Orange County News.

Born in New York City, Ridder graduated from Columbia University. He later designed the Intertype composing machine and organized the International Typesetting Machine Co.

Probation Sentence for Perjurer

A Detroit man was placed on three years probation today for committing perjury when he testified before the Oakland County grand jury.

Circuit Judge James S. Thorburn, in sentencing Solomon Brown, 52, of 19975 Wyoming, also ordered him to pay $300 court costs.

Brown was found guilty by a jury March 18 of lying about a bribe he had given to a Royal Oak Township policeman.

The officer, working undercover for the State Police, was to inform Brown about raids planned on numbers establishments.

Grand Juror, Circuit Court Judge Philip Pratt, brought the charge against Brown last September.

SAME CHARGE

Another Detroiter, Clemon Wynn Jr., 35, of 19975 Roselawn, also was charged with perjury at the same time.

Wynn was convicted in January of falsely swearing under oath about his involvement in the numbers racket and was sentenced on Jan. 27 to 5-15 years in the state prison by Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams.

The grand jury probe began lest June, focusing on crime and corruption in Royal Oak Township.

In February, however, it moved out of the confines of the township and now is investigating other parts of Oakland County.

India's Second Train Explosion in 3 Months Kills 55, Hurts 127

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — fifty five persons were killed and 127 others injured Wednesday night in the second explosion within three months aboard a train in a rebellious area of eastern India, the Indian government radio announced.

The broadcast said the blast shattered several compartments of the Tinsukia-New Jalpaiguri train as it stood in Lumding railway station. Medical teams and investigators were rushed to the isolated town deep in the wild Naga hills about 350 miles northeast of Calcutta.

★ ★ ★

The cause of the disaster was not yet known, the radio said. But rebel Naga tribesmen in Assam State have been waging a guerrilla campaign for years against the central government's control.

The Nagas were blamed for two explosions aboard the Assam Mail Express on Feb. 16 in which 38 persons were killed.

LEADERS CONFER

Naga leaders recently conferred with Prime Minister Indira Gandhi and pressed their case for establishment of a Naga state. She pronounced the talks satisfactory, but one Naga faction wants to fight rather than to negotiate and the rebellion has continued.

The Indian government also has been plagued by rebellion of the Mizo tribesmen in the hills of southeast India, south of the Nagas between East Pakistan and Burma. They overran the towns of Aijal and Langleh last month and it took at least a brigade of Indian army troops and planes to push them out. Langleh is about 200 miles south of Lumding.

★ ★ ★

The Indian government claimed its troops had crushed the rebellion but there have been signs that the Mizos were still fighting.

Both the Nagas and Mizos have hit at railroads, roads and other symbols of the central government. The two tribes together number about a million people, but far fewer are involved in the warfare.

Wants Batman to Buckle Up in Batmobile

WASHINGTON (UPI) — When the Dynamic Duo jump into the Batmobile in the basement of stately Wayne Manor, Rep. Andrew Jacobs, D-Ind., wants them to buckle up their seat belts before jetting off to fight crime.

Jacobs told William Dozier, executive producer of the weekly television series, yesterday that one of his nephews recently said he did not want to put on his seat belt because "Batman never uses seatbelts."

★ ★ ★

"If Batman can get millions of American children to turn their coats into capes, I just have the suspicion that he could also get them to wear their seatbelts," Jacobs said. "Holy belt buckle! Think of the lives that might be saved . . . ."

Man's Body Found in Royal Oak Twp.

DETROIT (AP) — The body of an unidentified man was found yesterday in suburban Royal Oak Township. Police said the victim, about 55, had been savagely beaten about the head.

Police Commissioner Howard L. Bibb said he believed the man, dead about 24 hours, had been slain elsewhere and dumped in a vacant lot.

Missing Boys Found in Boxcar

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Two Fayetteville, N.C., boys who have been missing from their homes since April 8 were found today, alive but hungry, in a sealed boxcar on a Milwaukee siding.

The car was loaded with cases of empty beer bottles. Authorities said the boys apparently had kept alive for nearly two weeks by draining whatever few drops remained in each bottle.

★ ★ ★

The two were identified as David Harvey, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Harvey; and William Waddell, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Waddell.

They were taken to County Emergency Hospital where a spokesman said they apparently would require no major medical treatment.

BIKE TRIP

Detective J. Earl Melvin told Milwaukee newsmen by telephone that the boys had been reported missing April 9, a day after they went out bike riding together.

"The parents have been frantic," he said.

★ ★ ★

Officials of the Jos. Schlitz Brewing Co. said the car, loaded with beer, had been dispatched to North Carolina March 28. A Milwaukee Road yardmaster said the refrigerator unit, insulated but not cooled on its return trip, reached the yards April 18 and has been standing on a Schlitz siding.

The car doors, sealed in the Fayetteville yards, were broken open this morning by workmen who were to remove the empty cases. The men were greeted by the boys.

Melvin said that the parents told him the boys had a sleeping bag with them and about $40, and had announced they were going on a "trip." The parents thought this involved a bike trip to a nearby park.

Scientists to Study Sightings of UFOs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Gerald R. Ford, R-Mich., said today the Air Force has contracted with a group of scientists to make an independent study of sightings of unidentified flying objects.

He said the study is to start soon after July 1.

At 6th Wedding

Boom Falls on Groom

MESSINA, Sicily (AP) — Italy's much-married man went on trial here today, charged with bigamy, fraud, swindle and misuse of titles in the course of five marriages.

The defendant, Aldo Donati, 44, was arrested as he was about to exchange wedding vows for the sixth time. Police said Donati told them he got an irresistible thrill from marrying.

★ ★ ★

"Matrimony," he was quoted as saying, ""with its marriage ceremony, with all the human meaning it has for relatives and friends in an event of such import for the life of a man and woman, raises an extraordinary feeling in me. It's like a chill, a feeling of exultation difficult to explain."

Police said Donati had been cultivating that feeling since his first marriage in 1949 when he won a successful female neurologist in Milan. He subsequently married four more times, in churches all over Italy, always to well-educated women. Each time he listed himself in the marriage applications as something different—physician, businessman, professor.

LATEST ATTEMPT

The latest time, attempting marriage here in 1964 to a teacher, he described himself as an intelligence agent. This proved his undoing. The father of the prospective bride found it strange that an intelligence man did not know how to drive a car.

He took his suspicions to police, who made a few checks in marriage records and got to the church just in time to halt the wedding.

Jordan Says Israelis Attacked Border Posts

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — A Jordan military spokesman said today Israeli troops attacked Jordanian positions on the Jordan River Wednesday night. He said the Israelis were beaten off after they opened fire on posts in the Sheikh Hussein Bridge border area and added that a number of Israelis were killed or wounded and one Jordanian soldier was slightly wounded.

Peace Corps Seeking 500 for Work in India

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Peace Corps says it needs 500 more volunteers for agricultural work in India to help that nation relieve food shortages and nutritional deficiencies.

The 500 would raise the number of Peace Corps workers in India to more than 1,600 — the largest concentration of volunteers in the world.

Victim in Shock

Assailant Suspect Still in Jail

A 27-year-old man suspected in the beating and rape of a Pontiac Township woman Tuesday remained in custody at the Oakland County Jail today, nearly 48 hours after being arrested.

Oakland County sheriff's detectives yesterday called in crime laboratory specialists from the State Police to assist in the investigation.

The victim of the attack, found bleeding from cuts and bound with clothesline in her home, remained in a state of shock at Pontiac General Hospital today.

Detectives said the woman was still unable to relate how the attack occurred or who her assailant was.

The suspect has denied knowledge of the attack, according to officers.

★ ★ ★

He was apprehended by Pontiac police about 4 p.m. Tuesday. A 16-gauge shotgun and 38-caliber starter's pistol were found in his automobile, police said.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF MY dearest mother, who passed away April 21, 1964
2 years have passed Mother,
Yet not a day does by;
Without a thought of you,
I love you and miss you.
—Eddie.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF WILfred W. Wilkins, who passed away April 21, 1965.
In the morning or in the evening,
When we are sitting alone;
Oh how our hearts cry out,
If only you could come home.
—Sadly missed by his wife, children, grandchildren, parents, and family.

'Im Still in Power'

Foes Tactics Irk Sukarno

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — President Sukarno complained today that political forces in Indonesia are trying to push him out of power and some groups are trying to make him a figurehead president.

Speaking at a Cabinet meeting, the 64-year-old president said he had received a number of leaflets saying "President Sukarno has become old" and accusing him of bragging about the many titles he holds, including president for life.

"Here and now I say, yes, that I have done the bragging!" he shouted. "Why? Because people abroad have said I was toppled by the army. I think it is my obligation to refute lies disseminated by the foreign press. I have not been toppled.

"I am the president. I am your leader. I appoint you to be my ministers under my leadership. Keep that in mind."

In the 2½-hour speech, Sukarno also admitted the nation of 105 million faces an acute food shortage.

The government had been criticized because of the food shortage, and political parties, Cabinet ministers and students have been saying in recent weeks that authority should be vested in Parliament. Until the Indonesian army assumed power last month, Sukarno ruled the country as a dictator.

It was announced that a special military tribunal sentenced former army Lt. Ngadmo Hadisuwignyo to death for his part in the unsuccessful Communist-backed coup attempt last Oct.1. The prosecution had demanded a life sentence.

The official news agency Antara said Hadisuwignyo would appeal to Sukarno for clemency. He is the third person sentenced to death for taking part in the coup. The others were Lt. Col. Untung, former commander of the palace guard, and Njono, a Communist party official. Both have been executed.

Immigration Law Aiding Skill Needs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The new immigration law is helping to fill the nation's demands for skilled workers — from English nannies to atomic scientists.

A spokesman for the Labor Department's Bureau of Employment Security said today that more than 6,800 immigrants have taken advantage of the special skills section of the new law to come to the United States since last December

New York and California are getting the lion's share of the talented immigrants, more than 30 per cent of whom were professional men and women — engineers, teachers, scientists and others with academic credentials.

Another 30 per cent were in the skilled worker category: lensgrinders, tailors, ornamental ironworkers and the like. The so-called service occupations — maids, nannies, cooks, secretaries — made up another 26 per cent, the spokesman said.

★ ★ ★

Under the law, the old national quota system is being phased out gradually, and special consideration is given to reuniting families.

'WORKING WELL'

Both of these aims are "working extreme well," according to Associate Immigration Commissioner Mario T. Noto.

He predicted that the total amount of immigration from former quota nations would go over the 170,000 mark this year.

Last year's total quota allotment was 158,000. But because of the manner in which the quota system was set up, this total was not reached. The system itself will be completely phased out over a three-year period under the new law. It will be replaced by an over-all total for immigration.

★ ★ ★

Under the special skills section of the law, the Labor Department was given the job of certifying immigrants for jobs where American workers were in short supply.

★ ★ ★

So far, the spokesman said, only 20 per cent of the immigrant requests have been rejected. To qualify, an immigrant must first find a job where there is a shortage of American workers. He also must not work under conditions that would depress American wages.

TV's 'Bad Actor' to Marry if Wife Gives 'Permission'

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — The Madison Av. world has been atwitter and a-lather over rumors that TV's bad little boy David Susskind has a "secret divorce" and will marry—or has married—lovely blonde Joyce Davidson, the panelist and commentator who's also been his press agent.

WILSON

Holding hands as they made the happy announcement at some parties, they spoke of their luxurious love nest just acquired in the UN Plaza neighborhood in a building also occupied by Bobby Kennedy . . .

But the Madison Avenue excitement came from the known resistance of Susskind's wife of 25 years, Phyllis Briskin Susskind, to divorce.

"Pneumonia I will give him . . . divorce, NEVER!" she has said.

But Susskind told associates he got a Mexican divorce, or assurances of one, weeks ago.

"I don't know whether he told his wife," a friend said.

"He only has a legal separation!" declared his mother-in-law Mrs. Frances Briskin, whose daughter is in Utah speech-making. "How can he get a divorce without her consent?"

"Done in Mexico all the time," shrugged a NY lawyer. "Most wives prefer ex-husbands keep working and sending them alimony, than trying to send them to jail."

Mrs. Susskind, mother of three, who has a $750-a-week allowance, has made her position so clear, that friends thought there would be an element of discord, to say the least, when Susskind tries to get married in Virginia or some other such state (if he hasn't already). Watch this space for developments!

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Sammy Davis finished TV-taping his last show, and wept. When a dancer began to cry, Sammy said, "Stop that, or we'll be washed out of here" . . . Jane Morgan and Richard Rodgers discussed a Broadway musical about Lillian Russell . . . Lyrical ladies together at Voisin: Mary Martin and Ethel Merman.

Leslie Uggams sang to the Guild of Authors and Composers at the Copa, marking their 35th ann'y . . . Bandleader Tony Pastor's ailing; his sons Guy and Tony Jr. will fill in for him with his orchestra . . . Singer Abbey Lincoln, now at the Five-Spot, won a Dakar African Arts Festival award for her film, "Nothing But a Man."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: The trouble with today's young housewife is that all she can do is thaw foods. Why can't she be like her mother and open cans?

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "Ten minutes of good luck will make you forget all the bad luck you ever had." — William Feather.

EARL'S PEARLS: Larry Mathews figures his wife's a little too neat. She puts curtains over the little window in the washing machine.

Shelby Friedman's very pleased with his new TV set with the four-inch picture. Only thing, is, the beer commercials foam over the top of the screen. . . . That's earl, brother.

Will Replant Tree as JFK Memorial

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP) —A honey locust tree from the property of the late President John F. Kennedy is en route to San Antonio, Texas, to be replanted as a memorial in Estrada Park.

The tree was flown to Boston Wednesday night from the Kennedy family compound of summer homes on the shore of Nantucket Sound.

Gov. John B. Connally of Texas, who was wounded when Kennedy was assassinated in Dallas in 1963, is to take part in the dedication of the tree Sunday.

Two Girls Show Attendant They Mean Business

DETROIT (AP) — Filling station attendant Charles Christian thought it was funny when two girls, aged about 12 and 14, pointed a revolver at him and said, "This is a stick-up."

"That's not a real gun," Christian, 49, said he told them. So one of the girls opened the gun. It was real he said, but empty.

★ ★ ★

"You run along now," Christian said. "I've got a customer." And he went outside to fill a gasoline tank.

While he was gone, he told police, the girls stole $11 from the cash register and fled.
