Small Blast Stalls Mine Rescue Efforts

MANNINGTON, W.Va. (AP) — A puff of smoke, triggered by a small explosion early today, ruled out the immediate possibility of sending more teams into deep mine shafts to look for 78 men missing for five days.

"These puffs are what scare the hell out of you," coal company official Alder Spote told a news conference today.

He said rescue teams, such as the two which probed the mine's tunnels yesterday, could be walking into "the dangers of fire from the explosion."

The small blast blew smoke from the Llewellyn shaft, scene of the great im-went as far as 4,500 feet, found some slight traces of concussion but no evidences of the missing men.

The two teams entered the mine in an area least affected by the explosions and one worked its way toward the Llewellyn shaft.

"As long as we have no assurance the fire is out," Spote said, "we cannot send men down."

Spote, an engineer for Consolidation Coal Co., parent firm of Mountaineer, said the puff didn't have any damaging effect on the mine.

He was unable to say whether it had increased the fire's intensity.

"The new explosion confirms the theory there is an explosion mixture of methane gas and coal dust," he said.

"When one team went to a place where they could detect explosive gases and see coal dust, we decided to pull up and reassess the situation," Spote told the news conference which ended at 11 a.m. (EWT)

5 in Area Die in Traffic

Three traffic accidents in 36 hours—including a double fatality in Addison Township early today—claimed the lives of five area persons.

In addition, at least one of two persons hospitalized as the result of crash injuries is reported in serious condition.

Killed about 3:40 a.m. today were Conrad W. Misenar, 22, of 28 Davidson, Oxford, and Leonard W. Schultz, 21, of 34 Lincoln, Oxford.

Oakland County sheriff's deputies said both apparently died instantly when a car driven by Misenar east on Noble

Road went out of control and struck a tree.

Robert W. Allen, 22, of 50 First, Oxford, also a passenger in the vehicle, was reported in serious condition this morning in Pontiac General Hospital's intensive care ward.

A collision in Pontiac early yesterday killed both occupants of one car and seriously injured the driver of the other.

City police said Larry W. Spurgeon, 21, of 465 S. Marshall, Waterford Township, 16, of 5361 Vincent, Waterford Township, were pronounced dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital and St. Joseph Mercy Hospital respectively, about 1:50 a.m.

Spurgeon was driving west on Auburn when his vehicle collided with a car driving north on S. East Blvd. by Douglas M. Lovins, 25, of 386 W. Huron, according to police.

Lovins is reported in fair condition in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Dollar Lifts Franc, Others as French Vow Austerity

PARIS (AP) — The franc strengthened in Paris today amid government announcements of new austerity measures. There was a stampede to buy dollars in Germany but uncertainty in Europe's markets gave little clue as to whether the world's monetary crisis was over.

Related Story, Page B-4

The sharp rise in the dollar pulled other currencies upward, even the franc, but dealers reported few transactions in the French currency.

Foreign speculators, who had figured on upward revaluation of the mark, began unloading their huge mark hoardings in Frankfurt and the West German bank exchanged marks for about 350 million U.S. dollars. The dollar also rose in Zurich, along with the franc.

Gold sold briskly in Paris but at a slower rate than last Tuesday before Paris markets were closed to dampen speculation.

Government leaders and experts watched closely for indications of whether President Charles de Gaulle's new austerity program can save the franc from devaluation.

DeGaulle announced over the weekend

he would not devalue the franc, declaring that would only reward "odious speculation."

The official quotation of the franc today was 4.9575-4.96 to the dollar. It reached a level of 4.974 last week, forcing the Bank of France to intervene. Official parity is 4.937.

The franc apparently had been bolstered by de Gaulle's decision to get the economy back in balance, but holders of francs still seemed anxious to shift their money into some other form.

The volume on the Paris gold market was $2.56 million, compared with $4.7 million on last week's final trading day.

One kilogram — 2.2 pounds — of gold closed at $1,348, up from $1,289 last week. Unofficial trading last week had seen the price of a one-kilogram ingot soar to $1,398.

DOLLAR'S LURE SURPRISES

One of the more surprising results was the rush to the dollar in Germany, where the government announced last week it would not revalue the mark upward.

Within half an hour of the opening in Frankfurt, the West German bank lost $200 million of the pile of $1.8 billion it bought up in last week's speculation.

New Director of Personnel at Pontiac Div.

Thomas C. Dorais was named today to replace Theodore B. Bloom as personnel director of Pontiac Motor Division.

John Z. DeLoach, a GM vice president and general manager of the division announced the promotion of Dorais, who was the director of labor relations for the division. His appointment is effective immediately.

Bloom was recently named personnel director of the GM Assembly Division.

Dorais joined GM in 1948 as a labor relations representative for the Chevrolet Motor Division in Detroit. He previously was football coach at St. Mary's High School in Royal Oak and chief scout for the Detroit Lions football team.

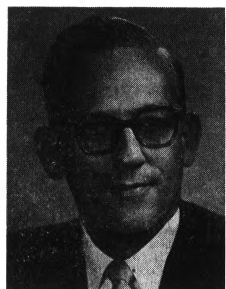

He was named supervisor of labor relations at Chevrolet's Detroit forge plant in 1953 and later that year he became assistant director of industrial relations at Chevrolet's central office.

A year later, Dorais was promoted to assistant personnel director of the Chevrolet spring and bumper plant in Livonia.

In 1955, he was named personnel director of the Chevrolet truck plant at Willow Run and in 1960 came to Pontiac as director of labor relations.

Dorais, the son of the late Gus E. Dorais who was a Notre Dame football star and long-time University of Detroit coach, lives at 31310 Foxboro, Bloomfield Hills.

He is a member of the Pontiac Area Planning Council's committee on race relations.

'Scare' Leaflets on Renewal Hit

By BOB WISLER

A self-appointed Paul Reverie has been sounding an alarm in a south side Pontiac neighborhood. His warning: Urban renewal is coming!

City officials are presently discussing a new type of federal program which would involve redevelopment and rehabilitation in the southwest area, but the program is not urban renewal as it has been known in the past.

Anticipating city involvement in this new type of redevelopment — called the Neighborhood Development Program (NDP) — some unknown person has mailed leaflets to residents of the city's southwest district.

POSSIBLE LOSS

The leaflets imply that residents will have to sell their homes for less money than they are worth and quotes a "proposed price" list.

"Someone's trying to pull someone's leg," City Director of Planning and Urban Renewal James L. Bates said of the leaflets. Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. said the person responsible is doing "a disservice to the community."

Bates said that whoever prepared the leaflets — which urged residents to write to the City Commission to protest NDP — "lifted" price lists from a recent study of the area purportedly to show what residents would receive for their homes.

He said the prices quoted were inaccurate and were derived by persons who merely looked at the outside of a house and then estimated a sales price for it.

INSURANCE

Bates said that in the event any NDP project is undertaken in the area residents have many safeguards to ensure that they are satisfied with the scope of the program.

He explained that if NDP projects were begun in the area prices could not be fixed from exterior appraisals, but only after professional appraisers had evaluated a house from the inside and out.

NDP has become an item of conversation among city leaders and planners during the past few months and was brought dramatically before the public in recent discussion of the Pontiac school district's super high school.

One proposal had the school going on 45 to 65 acres in the Orchard Lake Avenue, Bagley, Wesson area. To build the school there would have required a NDP program — to acquire the land, relocate residents and raze buildings.

The school controversy provided impetus for a spreading discomfort of residents in that area who feared they would be forced out of their homes.

Taylor said there is a great deal of misunderstanding about what the goals of the city are, what NDP would accomplish in the area and what redevelopment is planned by Hirambee, Inc., an all-Negro nonprofit corporation actively advocating rehabilitation and (Continued on Page A-2, Col. 3)

Waterford Millage Issues Detailed

(EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the first of five articles in which Waterford Township Schools Supt. Dr. Don O. Tatroe answers frequently-asked questions on the nine-mill tax proposal and $10.8-million bond issue to be voted on Dec. 7.)

Question: What are the election questions people will face Dec. 7?
Answer: There are two. One is a bond issue for $10.8 million which will be used to construct needed additional classrooms and expand existing facilities and acquire sites to keep up with continued enrollment growth and program needs. The second is a nine-mill operating tax increase which can be levied for two years.

Q: Why are the construction facilities needed?
A: Because the district continues to grow as new families move in; the younger children who are growing older are reaching the higher grades in the school system.

Q: What facilities would the construction levy build?
A: Included in the bond issue would be sufficient funds to construct a new junior high school to be opened in 1971 and a Twin Lakes Elementary School to be opened by 1970. Additions and some remodeling would be planned at the four older secondary schools improving science, cafeteria, and physical education facilities. Additional classrooms would also be provided at four elementary schools where new subdivisions are developing. We would have funds for the remaining sites and site additions and a small storage addition would be built at our maintenance headquarters.

Q: How much additional tax is required to construct these facilities?
A: None. The present eight-mill operating tax levy will allow us to construct these facilities.

Q: When will another construction program be required?
A: This would depend on future community development, but we fully expect that these facilities would suffice at least five or perhaps as long as 10 to 12 years.

Q: Why do we need additional operating taxes?
A: The problem which faces Waterford has faced nearly all Michigan school districts over the last two years. The problem, simply stated, is to find sufficient funds to give children reasonable adequate full-time education. Operating costs have risen rapidly and revenues have not kept up. Last year a number of school districts held millage elections in Oakland County. Ours failed, but subsequently most others were successful. We must do this year what our neighboring Oakland County districts did last year. The construction and equipment of school buildings is not our major problem since future construction can be financed within the present eight-mill debt levy. Our problem will be to continue to find operating funds. (Continued on Page A-3, Column 1)

Threat of Showers Seen for Tomorrow

Clouds will move into the area by tonight, bringing the threat of showers for tomorrow with the temperatures remaining on the mid side.

Tonight's low is expected to be 32 to 37. The low mercury reading in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. today was 30. By 2 p.m. the thermometer had climbed to 42. Precipitation probabilities in percent are: today and tonight 20 and tomorrow 60.

Child Safe; Suspect Held

Car Mishap Foils Kidnap

NEEDLES, Calif. (AP) — A traffic accident provided the break needed for the safe recovery of a 3-year-old New Orleans, La., girl and the arrest of a Fresno man charged with abducting her.

Frank Willis Castle, 39, was arrested yesterday by FBI agents and charged with kidnapping Brenda Ann Maquar, who was taken from a stroller in front of a grocery near her home last Wednesday.

He and the girl had been brought here for hospital treatment Friday after Castle apparently fell asleep at the wheel and his car left Interstate 40 about six miles east of Topock, Ariz., a small community, seven miles southeast of here.

FBI agents quoted hospital spokesmen as saying the girl became hysterical while being treated for minor injuries and told nurses that Castle was not her father. Because of difficulty in understanding the girl's statements, the FBI was not called into the case until yesterday.

When the girl was identified, kidnapping charges were filed against Castle in New Orleans and he was placed under arrest.

Hijack of 2 U.S. Airliners to Cuba 'Strikingly Similar'

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Two planeloads of travelers, forced to Cuba at gunpoint by separate teams of hijackers, returned to the United States with strikingly similar stories of the latest acts of air piracy.

A Pan American Airways jet, commanded by three gunmen over the Atlantic Ocean after leaving New York for San Juan, P.R., landed in Havana Sunday minutes after the first hijacking victims of the weekend were flown to freedom.

UNSUCCESSFUL SEARCH — This is the second of two 7-man search teams which unsuccessfully probed mine shafts yesterday in a search for 78 men trapped since Wednesday in a West Virginia coal mine. One team reported finding evidence of clear air 4,500 feet deep in one shaft. At 2 a.m. today, an official of the mine at Mannington, W. Va., said no further exploration of the underground areas is planned at this time.

Ground Broken for First MCOM Class Building

Another step toward the opening of the long-awaited Michigan College of Osteopathic Medicine (MCOM) was taken yesterday with ground-breaking ceremonies attended by a variety of city and state officials and leading spokesmen for osteopathic medicine in Michigan.

The school site is a 164-acre parcel at Auburn and Spdyke on Pontiac's east side. The ground was donated to the school in 1965 by Pontiac citizens after a $400,000 public subscription campaign.

MCOM has been nearly a decade in the making. A development committee began planning for the school in 1959 and a site committee began work in 1963. The school was granted a charter by the State Board of Education in 1964.

The ground-breaking officially was for construction of the first part of the college — a 15,000-square-foot "staging building" expected to cost about $50,000.

'STAGING BUILDING'

The building will house the facilities for the first class of 16 osteopathic medical students expected to begin studies next fall.

It is called a "staging building" because completion will enable the school to begin educating students earlier than would have been possible if initial classes were held off until completion of the entire medical complex.

The college expects to complete the construction of the entire school in 1971 and plans a freshman medical class of 64 students in 1972. The first class of 16 students would graduate with doctorate degrees in osteopathic medicine in 1973.

MCOM will become the fourth medical school in the state. Wayne State University and the University of Michigan maintain four-year medical schools granting medical doctor degrees and Michigan State University maintains a two-year course, after which students must transfer to a full medical college to attain a degree.

DOCTORS IN DEMAND

Dr. Myron S. Magen, dean of the school, said MCOM will meet the growing problem of statewide shortages of family doctors.

Among the speakers and guests at the ceremonies yesterday were Dr. Henry F. Olen, president of the Michigan Association of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons; Dr. Roy S. Young, president of the American Osteopathic Association; Mrs. Byron V. Kraft, president of the Michigan Osteopathic College Foundation; and Mrs. Carl B. Becker, president of the Michigan Women's Osteopathic Auxiliary, and Edgar L. Harden, president emeritus of Northern Michigan University.

Birmingham

Cluster-Housing Law Eyed

BIRMINGHAM — The city's cluster housing ordinance is expected to be eliminated at tonight's commission meeting at 8 p.m. pending changes to conform to state law on this type of housing. The housing is deemed very attractive for Birmingham, according to city officials.

Requirements of the new State Plat Act undermined the existing cluster ordinance. It states that all properties, divided into more than four parcels, divided into lots or less, must be platted.

This provision negates the cluster ordinance, and if combined with the cluster ordinance, would allow a plat on a private drive, according to Caryl C. McCollum, planning board chairman.

Without additional controls, this could be disadvantageous to the city, he said. However, it is anticipated that the positive features of the cluster ordinance could be incorporated into the subdivision control ordinance and the zoning ordinance.

PENDING A NEW LAW

Until these changes and ordinances are completed, it is necessary to eliminate the existing cluster ordinance, according to the recommendation of the planning board.

Also on tonight's agenda is a report from City Manager Robert S. Kenning on the opening of the new parking structure on Pierce Street between Merrill and Brown. A portion of the new deck is expected to be open Wednesday, although it may be delayed until Friday.

Barring Powell Again Proposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A member of the select committee that originally investigated Adam Clayton Powell says the House should consider barring the Harlem congressman again.

Wisconsin Republican Vernon W. Thomson also questioned in an interview whether the House would obey a Supreme Court order to seat Powell.

"If it should rule that Powell should have been seated, it would create a very serious constitutional impasse," Thomson said.

Thomson, who said he was surprised when the high court agreed earlier this month to hear Powell's appeal, added that Congress has the sole right to judge qualifications of its members.

RE-ELECTED NOV. 5

Thomson said no move is under way to bar Powell, overwhelmingly re-elected Nov. 5, from the next Congress.

"But," he said, "it seems that a Congress which is talking about improving its image and its ethics would give serious consideration to seating a member who has been charged by a select committee of that body with conduct which is highly unethical if not something more serious."

The select committee recommended in 1967 that the House seat Powell but censure him and require payment of $40,000 he allegedly misused for personal expenses.

The House, however, overrode the committee recommendation and excluded Powell from his seat in the 90th congress and stripped him of all seniority.

LATER ELECTION

Later that year Powell won a special election to fill the vacancy but never presented himself for seating.

9 to 14 Missing as Boat Sinks

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — With unexplained suddenness, a 170-foot oil company boat capsized and sank in today's predawn hours, dumping 25 to 30 workmen into the choppy, chilly Santa Barbara Channel, the Coast Guard said.

There were 16 known survivors in the all-male working crew. All were taken to three local hospitals while private, company and Coast Guard vessels combed the waters searching for the nine to 14 missing crewmen.

Two helicopters fired flares above the accident scene eight miles southeast of Santa Barbara. Winds gusted up to 35 miles an hour whipped the 60-degree waters.

The rescued crewmen were taken to the hospitals before they could be questioned by harbor officials but one of the survivors told a newsmen they had been working at an offshore oil drilling rig when the accident occurred.

Only two of the rescued crewmen were transported in ambulances — one suffering from deep shock, the other limping noticeably as he stepped onto the dock. The remaining survivors were taken to the hospitals in taxicabs.

At least three of the rescued men, whose identities were not given, were not wearing lifejackets when they were lifted from the water.

State Delays Certification of Vote Making Fast Time Defeat Official

LANSING (AP) — The Board of State Canvassers voted today to put off for two weeks official certification of the Nov. 5 vote on Michigan's Daylight Savings Time proposal.

Backers of DST requested the delay when a county-by-county canvass last Friday showed fast time had been defeated by 413 votes. Earlier, unofficial returns indicated it had passed.

The canvass of votes showed this State ballot proposition No. 1, which would have authorized the Legislature to enact a graduated income tax, was defeated 2,025,052 to 614,826.

The canvass showed daylight savings time drew 1,402,002 yes votes and 1,402,415 nos.

Proposition No. 3, a $335 million water pollution bond issue, was approved 1,906,385 to 796,079. A companion bond issue, authorizing a $100 million borrowing for recreation programs, passed 1,384,254 to 1,235,681.

Proposition No. 5, which would have allowed legislators to seek other elective offices during their terms, was defeated 1,783,186 to 778,388.

'Scare Leaflets on Renewal Decried

renewal in the southwest section of the city.

The mayor said the city hopes to dispel some of these fears at a Dec. 5 meeting arranged to explain what is being discussed in the way of renewal.

The meeting is expected to be held Dec. 5 at Trinity Baptist Church. Officials of the city will be present as will officers of Harbamee.

MEETING DELAYED

A meeting that was to be held at the church tonight was canceled in favor of the Dec. 5 meeting.

Taylor said that no program will be undertaken in the area without the active participation and approval of residents affected. "You have to start from the grass roots," he said.

Bates said he is concerned that whatever is achieved at a Dec. 5 meeting is not a permanent solution. He said any NDP program is alarming residents unnecessarily and is hardening residents against a program which has great possible benefits before NDP can be properly explained.

He said that in the event there is any program the area residents will be represented by a citizens council required by law—composed of the area residents themselves. The council is a prerequisite to any federal program, he said.

The identity of the person behind the efforts to discredit NDP has been the subject of much speculation in the past few days.

NDP is being boosted by the city staff and Harbamee as a vehicle for redevelopment and rehabilitation for an area which generally contains Pontiac's oldest and most unstable housing.

It is a recent program approved under the 1968 Housing Act by Congress in August to promote redevelopment in a different manner than it had been tackled under previous urban renewal programs.

NDP calls for spending $2 of federal money for every dollar spent for improvement in a NDP neighborhood. Almost any city can benefit from the program, according to city officials, but Pontiac, in particular, could benefit on a massive scale.

This is because of the number of improvements that have been or will certainly be made in the southwest and central city section in the next few years.

Major projects are redevelopment and realignment of Paint Creek, realignment of the Clinton River, construction of the school district's planned Humana Resource Center, and construction of a new super high school (federal money would be allotted on the basis of what percentage of the high school's population lives in an NDP area.)

The benefit to a city NDP program in federal dollars would be over $80 million.

Waterford Educator Delineates School Needs

Q: Aren't building costs related to operating costs?

A: Indirectly, of course, they are. Yet efficiently planned new schools do not increase the operating costs per pupil. Cost increases occur as salaries and the costs of what we buy increase. We would be faced with the same operating tax problem even if we had not built any of our recent buildings or additions.

Q: How high are our school taxes?

A: Our operating tax rate is 18th among Oakland County's 28 school districts. Our tax levy for the construction is about one mill above the average in the County eight or seven mills. We have moderate taxes but our low tax raising ability due to the absence of substantial industry in the community prevents relatively fewer dollars to operate the school system.

Q: What is Waterford's tax raising ability?

A: It is only a little over half the state average. One mill of tax produces only $9 per pupil in Waterford, in Oak Park it raises 28 per pupil. The average Oakland County district raises $14 per pupil. Several Oakland County school districts have more than 50 per cent more funds per pupil to spend than Waterford has.

Q: What does it cost per pupil to operate Waterford Schools?

A: This year it's $612 per pupil and of this total, $70 per pupil can only be spent for the special purpose for which the funds were given to us. And 65 per cent of our entire operating budget is committed to paying employee salaries.

Q: Are these operational costs high?

A: Waterford's costs are low. This year the average cost per pupil in Oakland County is $761; our's is $612. Because of this relatively lower income we have not been able to employ the personnel necessary to maintain full-day sessions and to support our professionals as other school districts have.

Q: Why can't some of the more expensive programs, such as data processing, be reduced or eliminated instead of shortening the days for students?

A: Data processing is no more expensive than other courses offered. So long as we have the required number of accredited with partial sessions?

A: Mott High School cannot become accredited until it is operating a full day. If this is not done for next year, the first graduating class at Mott High School will not graduate from an accredited high school. The other high schools will be warned this fall and we will have to show progress that we are on our way toward returning to full-day education to maintain our accrediting status. If we once lose the accreditation, then we must begin afresh and meet the initial criteria for accreditation all over again in order to get back on the North Central accredited list.

Q: What will the children receive if the vote on the Dec. 7 ballot is favorable?

A: They will be provided with sufficient classrooms for several years into the future.

• They will continue to receive a full day's program for elementary school children.

• They will receive a full day's program for secondary school children.

• Remedial reading help will be provided for all children who need it in primary grades.

• Our schools will be better maintained.

• Mott High School will become accredited by the time its first graduating class graduates.

• Waterford Township and Waterford Kettering high schools will remain accredited.

'Profiteering' Hikes Cost of Massachusetts Welfare

BOSTON (AP) — Massachusetts' effort to take full charge of public welfare and straighten out its problems has been shaken by charges that welfare costs are on a runaway track.

A report by the legislative Committee on Public Welfare said "profiteering" by health service vendors and abuses by welfare administration were hiking costs.

The welfare system, in the first four months of state takeover, also was under attack by some welfare recipients who demanded more of everything, invaded welfare offices, assaulted social workers and ransacked desks.

The report also stated that addition of Medicaid plus increases in aid to families with dependent children were pushing up welfare cost at an unprecedented rate.

TO TOP $1 BILLION
The report, developed chiefly under direction of Sen. Beryl W. Cohen, D-Brookline, committee chairman, with two state police investigators, asserted last week that yearly welfare costs would go over $1 billion within two years.

The report said:
• "Numerous physicians, druggists and dentists are exploiting welfare recipients to an alarming extent by providing unnecessary, duplicative and costly services." Doctors are writing prescriptions for items such as toothpaste, soap, band-aids and mouthwashes. Ten Boston dentists have been paid a total of more than $1 million this year for welfare work. Ten Boston druggists have been paid nearly $750,000 for sales to welfare recipients in the first seven months of 1968.

• Welfare recipients are allowed to own their own homes, and recipients are increasingly buying real estate, including "many instances" of two or three-family homes. When a recipient fails to pay his rent or utilities, the Welfare Department will make full payment without penalty. The use of emergency food orders "has skyrocketed."

• Department stores are creating divisions in furniture and household goods sections to encourage welfare recipients to buy. Recipients also have used taxicabs for unauthorized purposes and one Boston cab firm was paid $50,000 for transportation, including an average 12.20 per ride in July. The department will make full costs of moving and a mover who owns one truck has been paid $112,000 for the first seven months of 1968.

Lake Orion's Junior Miss Plans Major in Languages

LAKE ORION — A 17-year-old girl who hopes to major in languages is Lake Orion's new Junior Miss.

Debra Rome, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Denver J. Rome, 2992 Walmsley Circle, was awarded nearly $400 in scholarships following the contest Saturday night at Lake Orion Junior High School. She is a Lake Orion Senior High student.

The awards were sponsored by the Lake Orion Community Jaycee Aux.

Woman Replacing Spouse as Trustee

PONTIAC TOWNSHIP — Mrs. Ronald E. Drake, 2143 Allerton, replaces her husband as township trustee at tonight's 7:30 board meeting in the Township Hall, 3090 Opdyke.

A Republican, she defeated her Democratic husband in the Nov. 5 election by a count of 1,967 to 1,915.

She and Robert Grusnick, who defeated Claude Arnett in the same election, will be sealed as official members of the board.

Appointments, including those to the Township Planning Commission, are to be made tonight, according to Supervisor Roy Wahl.

House Is Weathered

At Home With Elements

By JEAN SAILLE

There is a derring-do about the weather in our kind of house — sort of an eyeball-to-eyeball confrontation with the elements.

Until the roof got repaired, the edge was taken off major disasters. Every sprinkle started the bucket brigade, and those children not old enough to remember living in our former subdivision ranch house thought everybody took stations in a rainstorm.

Our family of two adults, six children and assorted livestock has for the last two years inhabited a 100-year-old house in various stages of remodeling.

It is ours through a fit of blind exuberance.

ALWAYS A HOLE

Never has a first-snow-of-the-season caught us without a hole in the wall. People in Oakland County can't possibly realize how narrowly they missed a major blizzard this month.

Had our kitchen window, on order for six weeks and not delivered, been bigger, fate would have sent a real traffic-stopper.

It's Saille luck.

The first year it was a picture-window-size hole in the kitchen, and an early November snowstorm deposited seven inches of snow on the kitchen floor.

The fur-lined parka hung on a nail by the kitchen door, so I could keep warm while depositing the casserole dinner in the oven.

The elements defy us. Old linoleum, plywood, plastic — nothing stops the snow from entering.

SUMMER DELUGE

The worst rainstorm of the summer entered through an 8 x 8-foot hole in the family room wall — a hole which later became a fireplace.

One hole gets sealed up, only to have another revealed.

Currently the hole which aided and abetted the back kitchen hot-water heater to function is stuffed with insulation. Hopefully nothing but a due east wind sending pellets the size of golfballs can dislodge it until the siding gets replaced and the interior wall fixed.

Odds are there's a storm like that on the way.

State Weekend Traffic Kills 20, Including 6 in Oakland County

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A 6-year-old boy, pushing his bicycle across Owem Road near the I-75 Freeway in Benton Township was struck by a car and killed yesterday. He was one of at least 20 dead in traffic in the state over the weekend.

The Associated Press count of traffic deaths started 6 p.m. Friday.

Thomas Chapman, 6, of Benton Township was pronounced dead on arrival at a Flint hospital after being struck by a car driven by Lawrence Fisher of Byron, according to police. Other victims included:

Fred Schramm, 70, and his wife, Lilah, both of St. Joseph, killed when their car collided with another at an intersection on the eastern city limit of South Haven.

PONTIAC DOUBLE FATALITY

Stricken Family Aided by Workers at GMC Truck

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP — Fellow workers at GMC Truck and Coach Division are rallying to help members of the Dillard Brewer family, burned out of their home at 4622 Hillcrest last Tuesday.

Charles Bares, assistant superintendent of the coach division, said a fund used for Christmas card exchanges will be given to the Brewer family.

People with food, clothing and money to spare have been asked to leave it with Mrs. Herschel Sansom at 6661 Paramus, Clarkston.

Members of the Brewer family, including six small children 7 years old and under, have suffered a series of misfortunes this fall which included Brewer's hospitalization earlier this month after a beating by area ruffians.

A fire of undetermined origin last week gutted their one-story frame home. The house, due to be completely paid for in January, was not insured, Mrs. Brewer said.

2 Michigan Cities Will Get Model-City Cash

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Housing and Urban Development announced yesterday the selection of 23 more cities to receive model city cash grants, including two in Michigan.

Selected were Ann Arbor, which will get an original planning grant of $112,000, and Benton Harbor and Benton Harbor Township, which initially will receive $33,000.

The latest selections bring to 148 the number of cities in the program since it was put into action about one year ago. The cities receive federal funds to plan improvements in a selected neighborhood in each city.

The program is one of President Johnson's major moves to revitalize the nation's rundown cities.

Clifford R. Marcus, 19, of Engadine, struck by a car which fled the scene of an accident yesterday on old U.S. 2 in Mackinaw County's Garfield Township.

Greg Carline, 18, of 630 Second, Pontiac in a two-car collision Saturday night on U.S. 10 in Oakland County's Independence Township.

John Bojas, 67, of Allen Park, struck by a car on an Allen Park street Saturday night.

2 DIE NEAR FLINT

Douglas Taylor, 19, of Flint, and Clifford Geyer, 49, of Durand, in a two-car, head-on collision yesterday on Grand Blanc Road southwest of Flint.

Raymond A. Gill, 59, of Gary, Ind., struck by two cars while walking along westbound I-94 in Wayne County's Van Buren Township Friday night.

Ross Elliott, 59, of 210 Oneida, Pontiac, hit by a car on the Dixie Highway in Oakland County's Waterford Township Friday night.

DEATHS END ADOPTION

Beucilla Haynes, 49, of LaSalle, and 7-year-old Jane Henderson, who police said was going to be adopted by Mrs.

Haynes, in a car-train collision five miles south of Monroe Saturday.

Bernard Achatz, 47, his wife, Gertrude, 45, and their 11-year-old son, Bernard Jr., all of Marine City, in a two-car crash Saturday night in a four-way stop intersection west of St. Clair.

Conrad W. Misenar, 22, of 814 Gill, Oxford and Leonard W. Schultz, 21, of 34 Lincoln, Oxford, when a car driven by Misenar ran off Noble Road in Addison Township about 3:40 a.m. today.

Huron Valley Acts on School Park Site

At a recent special meeting, the Huron Valley Board of Education began work toward the purchase of a land site large enough to accommodate a possible school park.

Negotiations will begin soon to acquire roughly 85 acres in White Lake Township. The board presently has available funds for the land purchase from the last millage election, two years ago.

The board recently received a letter from the Federal Housing and Urban Development Office approving an application for funds to acquire open-space land for the future development of school sites.

The board announced that it will borrow $100,000 in state aid anticipation notes to meet operating expenses until January.

Concerns Cited for Health Unit

LANSING (UPI) — The rising cost of medical care and the problems of administering this care among the urban and rural populations should be a major concern of the newly organized Advisory Council on Comprehensive State Health Planning.

That was the recommendation yesterday of Dr. Andrew D. Hunt of East Lansing, chairman of the 32-member council.

Dr. Hunt, who is also dean of the Michigan State University Medical School, said federal funds could be most effectively used in providing health care for the state if the council takes an active part in their allocation.

The council will advise the Comprehensive State Health Planning Commission but has no authority to administer funds.

CHANGING ROLE

The council should also consider the changing roles of hospitals and suggest ways communities can eliminate duplications and coordinate hospital services, Dr. Hunt said.

"It should be noted that health can no longer be defined as absence of disease, but rather as individual well-being," he said. "Some way to measure quality of human life must be developed as a measurement of success in the health field."

Other areas for the council's study should be the problem of providing adequate numbers of medical personnel from the state's schools and providing for the abatement of health hazards such as pollution, Dr. Hunt added.

The council will begin preliminary study of some of these areas at its next meeting in January.

Kelley Denies Warrant Report

DETROIT (AP) — Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley Saturday described as "absolutely untrue and unfounded" a report that the state will seek warrants against several Oakland County political figures within the next two weeks.

A radio station in Detroit said it had been told by a source, who was not identified, that State Police have corroborated statements by Peter B. Lazaros of Troy, a reputed Mafia payoff man, regarding alleged widespread Mafia bribery and influence in Oakland, Wayne and Macomb counties.

Lazaros is being kept under protective custody by State Police while awaiting a new trial on a charge of fraud conspiracy.

Kelley confirmed that the "investigation is continuing" with Lazaros.

FLAT DENIAL

But he said, "Any report that any warrants will be issued is flatly denied. The only thing confirmed is that the investigation is continuing."

The radio station said that its source indicated not only that warrants could be expected against Oakland County figures, but that the warrants could be the springboard for indictments in Wayne and Macomb counties.

County Health Director Believes Hepatitis Rise Linked to Hippies

Oakland County hippies may be the "Hepatitis Marys" in the Detroit area's spread of the infectious liver ailment, according to County Health Director Dr. Bernard D. Berman.

He said over the weekend he believes that several recent cases of the infectious inflammation of the liver may be traced to young people who have been sharing a common hypodermic needle to administer drugs.

"It's very hard to prove when someone is taking drugs, but we have had six to eight cases in the last few months among a group we believe is using drugs," he said.

But he added that hepatitis runs in six-year peak cycles and was last on the rise in 1962. Some 35 more cases have been reported in Oakland County this year compared to 1967, Berman said.

ONLY ONE CASE

In neighboring Macomb County, officials reported only one case of "serum" hepatitis, a form of the disease directly associated with narcotic addicts and self-injectors. Macomb had a total of 64 hepatitis cases last year; to date this year there have been 74.

Heavily populated Wayne County reported only occasional cases of the needle-linked hepatitis.

"We have the classic hepatitis, not the serum hepatitis the hippies and yuppies keep coming up with," said Dr. M. Agah, Wayne County director of maternal and child health.

Walled Lake Awaits OK for Detroit Sewer Hookup

WALLED LAKE — Plans for construction of a citywide sewer system have been completed and negotiations are under way to hook up to the Detroit sewage treatment plant, according to City Manager Royce Downey.

Prospects of receiving permission to hook up to the processing plant, in the southwest corner of Wayne County, "look very favorable," he said.

Downey said the city has received a federal grant of more than $1 million for sewer construction to correct pollution problems.

Walled Lake was one of several communities recently cited by the Michigan Water Resources Commission to explain reported delays in pollution cleanup.

Representatives of the city may be asked to appear at the commission's January meeting.

DEADLINE IS JUNE

A stipulation for the city to receive the federal grant is that it gets construction under way by next June.

Downey said the major block to construction now is waiting for Detroit to give an affirmative answer to the request for hookup to the treatment plant.

Downey also reported on the progress of the citywide water system. He said bids on the sale of $1.85 million in bonds to pay for it are to be received Dec. 4 and, if they are sold, construction will begin Dec. 10.

Rochester Aims Parking Tonight

ROCHESTER — A program to relieve downtown parking problems will likely be considered by the council at its regular meeting at 7:30 tonight.

The Mayor's Committee on Parking met at 10 this morning to hear recommendations from planning consultants and traffic engineers.

A bonding program, to be paid from revenues and by special assessment of the merchants, is reportedly being considered.

Said City Manager William Sinclair, "We're just beginning. We've got to find out how much parking is needed, where it ought to be, and how we're going to get it."

For several years, merchants of the area have considered what to do about providing adequate parking, but no action has been taken.

Dem Senator Sees Nixon as Nation's Man of the Hour

We reprint herewith a current statement by FRANK J. LAUSCHE, Democratic Senator from Ohio, who steps aside. In commenting on RICHARD NIXON just before election, he said:

"Moving through the Nation are chaos, civil disorder, insurrection, deficit federal spending and its resultant cheapening of the buying power of the dollar; pornography, rape and criminal misconduct; hatred, hostility and disunity among our people; disbelief in the promises and commitments of our government, and finally the specter of the tragedy that might come if, because of fiscal mismanagement, the dollar will have to be devalued."

"At present there are no prospects that these ailments will be cured so I will cast my vote for Richard M. Nixon. I believe that he is best equipped to lead us out of our grave problems and into some semblance of social, economic and political strength."

"Regarding Vietnam, he will be in a position to take a new and uncommitted look at the issue, will give better protection to the law-abiding citizen and less sympathetic concern to the rioter and criminal."

"The duty and goal of providing for all minority groups equal opportunity in housing, employment and education will likewise better be achieved by the leadership of Mr. Nixon."

"Mr. Nixon will adhere to retention of a system of government which has done more for its people than any government in the history of the world."

This is the best summary I've seen of the tremendous duties and responsibilities that lie ahead. Never has anyone in history been confronted by a greater assignment. The Nation is fortunate to possess a man who will step up courageously to these monumental assignments and face them squarely, backed by great common sense and sharp intelligence.

Wall Street Woes . . .

Wall Street is currently the target for jibes from the unnamed millions that keep it going.

The accumulation of undone paper work is staggering and "the street" shows neither the ability nor the ingenuity to cope with the situation. They've been closing Wednesdays to try and correct the mess, but if a swimming pool's running over, you can't rectify the situation with a quart jar.

The New York Times says "they must reform by bolstering the financial position of many member firms, by introducing new equipment and by insisting on a greater efficiency in all of its administrative operations."

This firsthand observer further declares "all firms should be ordered to clean up by the end of the year or suffer dire and drastic penalties." In fact, The Times suggests the market close the entire week between Christmas and New Year and then start anew in 1969 with a clean face, clean hands and a will to provide the service the people have a right to expect.

Resignation of Warren . . .

Chief Justice EARL WARREN's resignation is clouded in some uncertainty. When he discovered the Senate wouldn't confirm Associate Justice ABRAHAM FORTAS, WARREN backed away a bit awkwardly. However, some assert his original resignation "was to become effective when his successor was named."

What's to prevent incoming President Richard Nixon from accepting this at face value and naming a new Chief Justice as soon as he takes office?

The Nation would certainly be the gainer. EARL WARREN is pretty much discredited on all sides.

And in Conclusion . . .

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

Statistics now indicate that approximately half the homes in the U.S. own a dog, and about a quarter possess a cat. . . . Fishermen, attention: Argosy Magazine says fish have an acute sense of smell and if you put cod liver oil on your lure, you'll nail extra specimens. Also, they're repelled by the odor of metallic corrosion. Even if your bait is clean, if it comes from a contaminated box, your line will be ignored. . . . Overheard: "When a woman says she won't be a minute, she's telling the truth."

Smothers Brothers are at odds with this department most of the time. . . . Liz Taylor's ten-year-old daughter is making her movie debut with her stepfather in "Staircase," currently in Paris. . . . They tell me in order to have status among dogs in the dog world you have to have your private hydrant. I'm getting quotations.

Overheard: "An old-timer is someone who can remember when the crooks got hung instead of the jury." . . . In many European cities, travelers are warned to beware of young toughs and thugs that hang around in gangs. This isn't a U.S. exclusive. . . . Foreigners are buying U.S. stocks at the rate of two billion dollars a year, showing great faith in "our future." . . . TV drops Dakari for a GLEN CAMPBELL musical. . . . Dept. of Cheers and Jeers: the C's—DANA VALERY and AUDREY MEADOWS on Wednesday's JONATHAN WINTERS show; the J's—most of the rest of the same show.

Each In His Own Way!

David Lawrence Says:

Federal Changeover Inefficient

WASHINGTON — What's going on nowadays in Washington is not easy to describe and, indeed, in many respects is not visible. For since there are 2,000 jobs which the new administration is expected to fill, this means that 2,000 individuals with varying terms of experience in governmental affairs must make preparations to leave as soon as their successors are appointed.

One wonders sometimes why anybody who is pursuing a successful career in his business or profession would want to interrupt his years of service and experience in a good job just to spend a few years in experimentalism and chance-taking in government.

Political ambition often plays a part and, when one serves in some more or less important capacity in Washington, this helps to build prestige back home. Many a former officer in a department or agency is today continuing to live in Washington as the representative of a corporation which does a big business with the government.

NOTHING WRONG There's nothing ethically wrong about this. In fact, government officials like to carry on their large transactions with private industry in conferences with experienced persons who know what the red tape is all about.

But the net effect of the changeover every four or eight years is to reduce the efficiency of the federal government.

Some of the individuals who may have been brought here through the channels of politics happen to be good enough to stay on, and the public interest would be served thereby. But the president-elect and his political entourage are cognizant of pressures for the jobs from influential persons or their friends who helped to carry the state or to obtain funds from campaign contributors.

So it isn't easy for a president-elect to tell himself that he is going to give America the most efficient governmental administration it has ever had when he knows he is obliged to take various persons into his "2,000 club," many of whom really don't belong there.

NO GOOD REASON

What is the answer to this perplexing problem? There is no good reason why purely administrative officials who are doing an efficient job should be replaced when an administration changes. The only people who ought to be brought in are those entrusted with the task of formulating policy.

Sooner or later, public opinion will insist that the civil service system be enlarged so that the most competent persons available will be willing to make a lengthy career in government service.

Bob Considine Says:

Victims of 'Wrong War' Need a Door for Privacy

NEW YORK — People . . . places . . . parables . . . Friend of mine named Paul McNamara, who used to work for Cosmopolitan magazine, wrote a great short story once about a pretty little USO singer who got lost in a veterans hospital and wandered into a wing filled with old beat-up guys who gave her a toothless whistle and the remnants of a beer.

She was startled, frightened. "I must be in the wrong ward," she said, edging for the gateway door. "No, baby," an old guy said. "Not the wrong ward, the wrong war." He was one of the forgotten.

PARAPLEGICS' LETTER We're back in that wrong war bit, apparently. A letter signed by paraplegics at Veterans Hospital, Long Beach, Calif., all of them from the war in Vietnam, pathetically requests: "We believe there is a definite need for a door to the entrance of this ward due to the fire hazard aspects, the lack of privacy and for health reasons."

"To begin with, the lack of entrance doors to this ward creates drafty conditions through the ward and in the event of fire this draft would do nothing but rapidly spread any minor fire."

"This rule seems most ludicrous when we have an open hallway blowing in gale-force winds 24 hours a day. A door would greatly enhance the feeling of privacy which is now all but totally lacking in this ward. Presently, various people wander in and out just to look at us. Patients from other wards come in just to see those of us in the 'iron lungs' and other respiratory equipment."

"FREAK SHOW" "Incredibly, some of these 'tourists' bring in their families for a look around. We patients deeply resent being on display, as if we were the prime attractions in a carnival freak show.

"It is a well-documented fact that many psychological problems arise in an enclosed community such as we live in where attention is given to each and everything one does at all times."

"The yearning for privacy and solitude is not a simple, idle desire. It is a deep, compelling impulse. We believe that a door to the entrance of the ward would greatly contribute to the sense of privacy which we so desperately need."

"In no way is this letter meant to be critical of the general nursing and medical care we receive . . ."

Any questions? Any door makers left in the richest country in history?

San Diego Union

He fought the great fight. Hubert Humphrey lost his bid for the presidency, but he put the Democrat Party back together again. This was miraculous in view of the party's sad state after the convention in Chicago.

The nation also may have about heard the last of George C. Wallace. His American Independent Party was a house of unmarked cards which slowly began to fall away under the pressure of the campaign.

Politicians of his type have never been able to extend their power beyond the confines of close association.

The Democrat Party, too, is well rid of Sen. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota. While Mr. Humphrey fought the vigor of the two-party system. Sen. McCarthy was withdrawing as a Democrat because he couldn't have his own way.

His chief interest was not his country but himself. Sen. McCarthy cannot

'Citizens Are Concerned About Condition of M59'

I commend The Pontiac Press for its fine editorial on the deplorable condition on M59. Members of the Oakland County Road Commission are well aware of this situation. For several years groups of concerned citizens in Highland Township have been confronting them with this problem, only to be brushed aside with empty promises.

Recently, through the efforts of Representative Loren Anderson, the speed limit has been cut to 50 miles an hour. This is a step in the right direction but certainly not the complete answer. This may make driving less hazardous but it cannot reduce the congestion.

'Do Citizens Know Whether Air Is Polluted?'

Since election day, all we hear stressed is what are we going to do about air pollution. How many citizens know whether the air is really polluted? They live in smoke-filled houses, work in smoky offices, spend hours at nightclubs and bars that are blue with smoke. The only clean air they breathe is the distance from building to parking lot. At once they light up a cigar, pipe or cigarette, drive home and back to a smoky atmosphere. What air is polluted?

I've been looking at used houses and found one in Holly that pleased me and my pocketbook. I asked to run it through G.I. and the price went up $1,000 for 10 points. What is this point stuff and who gets the money?

HAROLD DAVIDSON
HOLLY

REPLY

We talked to Mr. Sweet at Guardian Mortgage, a company that handles G.I. loans. He said such loans yield only 6 1/2 percent interest, while the present market yields over 7 percent. To make up this difference, the mortgage company applies "points" to the price of the home, and discounts what it will pay the owner by the amount necessary to cover the interest it will lose on the G.I. loan. The veteran is not allowed, by law, to pay these points, but it looks as though the owner raised the price to make up his loss. If you signed a purchase agreement, he will have to stick to the original price. For more detailed information, we suggest you talk with the company handling your G.I. loan.

survive alone; nor can he build a new third party by playing on the emotions of the young or inexperienced.

The most significant result of the close election is that it again proves that normally the country is fairly evenly divided between liberals and conservatives and between the two major parties.

In the long analysis it may be that Mr. Humphrey's greatest contribution to his country was in helping decisively in preserving the two-party system.

He, as well as Richard Nixon, made American politics vital and meaningful.

Scott Calls Bomb Halt Political

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A top Republican senator says the Democrats nearly won the recent presidential election because of President Johnson's "politically influenced" decision to stop the U.S. bombing of North Vietnam.

Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., leader of the GOP "truth squad" that followed Hubert H. Humphrey through the campaign, said in a UPI interview the bombing halt caused a dramatic defection from Nixon among women voters who believed it meant peace was near.

Scott said the large-scale defection of women from the candidacy of Richard M. Nixon and the inability of Republicans to reclaim rural, small town and suburban votes from George C. Wallace kept the Nixon victory from becoming a landslide and producing more GOP gains in congress.

He said Humphrey's "last-minute surge" of popularity "in my opinion, was largely due to a belief among the women of this country that peace was in the offing."

SKEPTICS, CYNICS

"Now some of us old skeptics and cynics knew it wasn't," Scott said. "We knew our politics when we smelled it, and we smelled it very strongly that last week or so."

Scott said many women, warned that "the Democrats always do this every presidential election . . . in late October they always come up with a gimmick," would reply "I don't care whether it's a gimmick or not, it looks like peace to me."

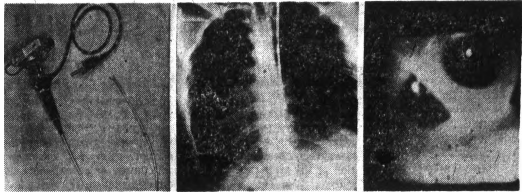

"And, oh Lord, how they defected that last week," Scott said.

Although he led the GOP group which was established to give instant Republican answers to Democratic claims, promises and charges, Scott said he refrained from accusing the opposition of playing politics with peace because "I have committed myself ever since we were in the Vietnam war to support the president of the United States."

QUITE ANGRY

"I was quite angry about it because I thought I'd been imposed upon as a citizen and as a senator, but I refused to be critical of it before the election," he said.

But Scott saw some potential good in the situation because of Nixon's "statesmanlike position" in supporting Johnson's move and "between them, that ought to improve the chances for peace."

Gore Sees Rocky Road to East-West Calm

WASHINGTON (AP) — A organization meeting in Brussels, Soviet-occupied Czechoslovakia, and Moscow. He made the trip with Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., and returned Saturday night.

Democrat Albert Gore reported Sunday on a European tour to the North Atlantic Treaty Or-Both senators are members of the foreign relations committee, Gore heading its disarmament subcommittee. He said they were told at the American Embassy in Moscow that they were the first American officials to see Kosygin this year.

Gore said he took no formal message to the Soviet leader, but wanted to impress on him—and thinks he succeeded—that the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia last August threatens to wipe out progress made toward easing tension between the United States and Russia.

MUTUAL INTEREST
The two countries, Gore said, he told the Soviet leader, have a "mutuality of interests" in avoiding a nuclear war.

Kosygin responded that they have not only a mutuality of interest but a common responsibility for world events. Gore quoted Kosygin as saying that the road toward disarmament must be negotiated in stages, perhaps beginning with an agreement not to deploy antiballistic missiles. These weapons are designed to knock an enemy's intercontinental ballistic missiles from the sky.

"I haven't changed my feeling about the need for rapprochement," Gore said. But, he added, "I come back feeling the road is rougher."

Gore said Kosygin told him it would not be possible for the two countries to negotiate if one has a significant nuclear edge over the other.

AIMED AT NIXON?
The premier's remarks appeared to be directed toward President-elect Richard M. Nixon, who asserted in a nationwide radio broadcast Oct. 24 that America must be able to negotiate with the Soviet Union

"not from weakness but with the persuasiveness of respect, able and evident power."

Such a philosophy, Kosygin told Gore and Pell, would mean each side would work to strengthen itself, and an escalation of the arms race would result.

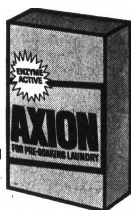

Gore's report on the hour-and-40-minute conference last Tuesday was taken from a summary prepared by the American Embassy, whose representatives took notes. Under the normal rules for interviews with heads of governments, no direct quotation is permitted.

Russia: Zond 6 Photos Unique

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union said today its unmanned spaceship Zond 6 gathered new information about the moon's dark side with a camera that took pictures "unique in their value" to prepare for landing a man on the moon.

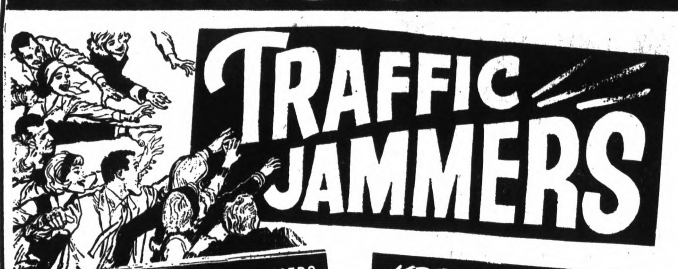

Zond 6 circled the moon earlier this month and returned to earth. Pravda said it brought back new data on the moon's gravity, the physical nature of the moon's surface, its geology and its terrain.

The new information will permit the Soviets to prepare "more precise maps necessary for scientific research and orientation during near-lunar journeys and for adjustments of the orbit of a spacecraft to the moon's physical surface," Pravda said.

What was particularly valuable was "the discovery of the peculiarities" of the moon's dark side, Pravda said.

1,000 TIMES MORE
It said, compared with pictures of the moon's dark side taken by Zond 3 in 1965, the photos taken by Zond 6 "yielded almost a thousand times more information."

Giant Craft Could Be Militarily Useful

MARIETTA, Ga. (UPI) — Developers of Lockheed's C5 Galaxy transport jet, the largest plane in the world, say the craft may be used as an airport in the sky in military situations.

The huge plane — nearly as long as a football field — is capable of launching and retrieving helicopters and small jets while airborne, the developers said.

"This is an aerial aircraft carrier," said Lockheed vice president F. A. Cleveland, outlining some of the possible uses of the huge plane built to carry cargo.

Cleveland said that because of the C5's power and cargo space — 35,000 cubic feet — the craft also could be adapted to fire missiles, using the Polarix "pop up" system.

POSSIBLE WAR USE

In the event of general war, Cleveland said, the C5 could be used as an airborne command post with its own fleet of jets to back up ground command centers and airports.

The mid air landing strip would work through a hookup assembly which would lower a plane into the airstream beneath the mother ship. The pilot would make an air start of his engine, and be off. On return, the plane would connect again to the assembly and be hauled into the Galaxy.

Cleveland said the command post idea would be particularly significant in the event of general war. "It's mobility provides a survivable system, where leaders could control the response of strategic forces," he said.

The C5 would provide as much as seven times the useable floor area now available in the current largest airborne command post, said the Lockheed official.

Hepatitis, a serious inflammation of the liver, afflicts 100,000 Americans every year and kills some 1,000.

SALVAGE OPERATION—Salvage crews work in San Francisco Bay yesterday to lift a giant Japan Air Lines DC8 from its muddy resting place. The jetliner pancaked into the bay Friday with 107 persons on board. No one was injured. The plane was finally lifted from the water by four huge cranes and waited for high tide today to be towed to land. One wheel was missing from the landing gear assembly, torn off when it crash-landed short of San Francisco International Airport.

U.S. Must Not Ignore Electoral Reform—Griffin

ST. CLAIR (UPI)—With the presidential election almost a month in the past, the American public already is beginning to forget its "brush with crisis" when the election almost was thrown into the House of Representatives, according to Sen. Robert P. Griffin.

Griffin Saturday night predicted that President-elect Richard M. Nixon would put a high priority on reform of the electoral college to prevent what almost occurred. But no "perfect solution" is in sight, he said.

At the annual meeting of the United Press International Newspaper Editors of Michigan, Griffin also predicted there would be no significant labor-reform legislation passed in the next session of Congress because of Democratic party control. In fact, he said, there necessary if we are going to pass that labor did not want.

Lady Bird Dedicates New Park

EUREKA, Calif. (AP)—Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson concludes her final beauty-America pilgrimage as first lady by dedicating the 56,000-acre Redwood National Park "to the happiness of the people."

"For us, this ceremony is the crowning moment of a crusade which has lasted two generations," Mrs. Johnson said.

Her remarks were prepared for the dedication ceremony to be held at the foot of a 300-foot-tall redwood in the new national park near Orick, 40 miles north of Eureka in coastal northern California.

Mrs. Johnson said creation of the park, out of existing California state parks and private timberland, "is one of my husband's proudest achievements."

'GREAT GENEROSITY'
And she complimented "the great generosity" of big timber companies in helping to create the park, a subject of a bitter, emotional dispute in the area where the economy depends on the redwood logging industry.

From the dedication site above Redwood Creek, Mrs. Johnson will return to that country within a few days for a second tour of duty.

Not only that, but Sgt. L.C. Herbert J. Huston, now a member of the Golden Knights Army parachute team, has been ordered to return to the same group in which he earlier lost a leg.

Huston, 33, a native of Elkhart, Ind., was adviser to the South Vietnamese airborne in August 1965, when his group came under mortar fire during a patrol, and he lost his right leg to a mortar round.

In a hospital in San Francisco, doctors told Huston he would never jump again. The Knights.

He began a long fight which he took finally to his congressman before orders came through keeping him in the Army.

Equipped with an artificial leg, he made 129 jumps to regain airborne status. Then earlier this year went through 45 days of arduous tryouts to become the first soldier to win a berth on the Golden Knights parachute team after losing a leg. Altogether, since losing his leg, he has made 300 jumps. He is now operations non-commissioned officer for the would never jump again. The Knights.

NOTICE!

The City of Pontiac will receive sealed Bids for Demolition of the following buildings and Site Clearance:

Buildings and Related Structures, Items 1 thru 9 located in the area bounded by S. Johnson Avenue, W. Jackie and Onassis

'The Wedding' Is Rehashed

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a Catholic woman who would like some kind of explanation to the following: How can Cardinal Cushing "excuse" Jackie Kennedy for marrying a divorced man whose wife is still living?

I was a good Catholic, and also a widow, and I did the same thing, and for this I was excommunicated from the Catholic church.

Why is Jackie Kennedy any better than me or a thousand other good Catholic women who married a divorced man whose wife is still alive?

With my own ears I heard Cardinal Cushing say, "Jackie Kennedy may marry anyone she wishes." Then he went on to say that she is no "public sinner."

Then I'm no "public sinner," either. After I heard Cardinal Cushing, I went right to my parish priest, demanded that I be let back into the church, and I was told it wasn't possible.

I suppose if you have the kind of money the Kennedys have, you can buy anything, but I never knew a person could buy himself back into the church. Please answer this in your column as I'm sure there are a lot of Catholics in the same boat who would like to see your answer. Sign me... "ONE OF MANY"

DEAR ONE: Richard Cardinal Cushing, Archbishop of Boston, said, (and I quote): "I said, 'why can't Mrs. Kennedy marry whomever she wants to marry?' The idea that she will be excommunicated or that she is a public sinner is a lot of nonsense."

"I presume that whoever reported my remarks would know that I meant Mrs. Kennedy could marry anyone she wanted, but not within the church."

"I told her that if the marriage was invalid, she could not receive the sacraments of the Catholic church, but that she could participate in the liturgy, namely the mass, for example. And that she could continue all the private devotion she had as a Catholic."

"What is wrong with that advice? Thousands in this archdiocese of over two million Catholics have received similar advice. Among them, my own sister who married a Jew. They lived together in perfect peace and harmony for over 30 years."

"In the beginning, they were married outside the Catholic church. Eventually they were able to get their marriage validated within the Catholic church. Her

Avon Players "Clown It Up"

A clown who tires of circus life and runs away, determined to make his living telling stories instead, is the focus of Avon Players' Children's Theater production, "The Clown Who Ran Away," this weekend.

DoDo, the Clown, played by Jack Lawson, finds himself missing the circus surroundings and finally returns, taking with him a new-found friend, Gladys, a very unusual horse.

In the meantime, his story-telling efforts provide the framework for exciting events, including a robbery, threatened arrest and encounters with numerous strangers including a maker of magnificent dolls.

Jarvis Lamb plays Rudolph Bernard Boo, who is "just as bad as I can be."

Boo's partner in crime, "Ugly," is done by Don Weston.

Clark Langworthy and Dave Munson, as the doll maker and his mechanic, fill the other major roles.

Dave Holderness is directing, assisted by Greg Crockett. Mrs. Martin Rosalick is producer; Ahti Petja, stage manager; Gene Diggs, set design; Mrs. Leon Steward, costumes; Mrs. Richard Albyn, makeup; Harold Wattles and Clark Quinn, sound effects.

Tickets may be purchased at the box office on East University Drive, Rochester, Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 10-12 a.m. and 3-5 p.m. or through Mrs. George McVeigh of Highland Street, Rochester.

Performances are scheduled Friday at 8 p.m., Saturday at 10 a.m. and 2 and 4 p.m. and on Sunday at 2 and 4 p.m.

Irene Murphy Will Combine Thanksgiving and Christmas

By SHIRLEY GRAY

Irene Murphy of Birmingham will have a traditional family gathering on Thanksgiving, complete with turkey — presents and a Christmas tree.

That's because by Christmas time, Mrs. Murphy will be in the Philippines. She leaves this week for a five-week stay.

Mrs. Murphy has been a United Nations social welfare consultant to the Philippines, and is a former U. of M. regent.

While in Manila, she has been invited by the president to visit the Presidential Palace. Mrs. Murphy is the last American woman to have lived there.

At the family dinner will be daughter Sharon, her husband Robert Keyes, and their daughters, Mary and Clover; Mrs. Murphy's sister and brother, Helen and George Ellis of Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. William R. Shaw of Bloomfield Hills are just back from a one-month vacation that started out to be a tour of Europe but ended up being an adventure in island-hopping.

It was all the doing of the Lloyd Diehls of Birmingham. Sunning at St. Croix, they called the Shaws who had stopped in Miami before going to Europe.

To make a long story short, the Shaws ended up in St. Croix, then took off for a series of stops along the Virgin Island chain. Maybe Europe next time.

The high spot of the trip was a stop in Washington, D.C., to visit the first Shaw grandchild, Christian Edward, born Oct. 5. Proud parents are daughter Elizabeth and son-in-law Edward Small.

The C. Allen Harlans hosted two Michigan State University trustees, Clare White and Frank Hoffman, and their wives for dinner at Bedell's Saturday night. Then all went to Meadowbrook Theatre for the closing performance of Bernard Shaw's "The Apple Cart."

Show Graphics From Michigan

Michigan Graphics '68, the Bloomfield Art Association's first state-wide competitive print and drawing exhibition, opens Sunday at the Birmingham Art Center.

Graham Hood, curator of the American Wing, Detroit Institute of Arts, and Mrs. Aris Kouroulis, assistant professor, Graphics Department, Wayne State University, selected 35 pieces from 255 entries received.

The Rosalie Kahn Butzel first prize award of $250 was awarded to Suzanne Zimmerman of Detroit for a crayon drawing, "Apple." Miss Zimmerman, a graduate of Wayne State University, is currently an art instructor at the Detroit Institute of Arts and the Jewish Community Center.

A pencil drawing, "Encounter," by David Tammany was awarded the second prize of $175, contributed by Mr. and Mrs. Leonard T. Lewis. A resident of Ann Arbor, Tammany is an instructor at Eastern Michigan University, Ypsilanti.

Third prize of $100, contributed by the B. W. Controller Corporation, was awarded to Elwyn Bush of Detroit for his charcoal drawing, "The Struggle."

The prizes will be awarded at a reception for members, jurors, and participating artists at 1 p.m. Sunday. The exhibition opens to the public at 3 p.m.

Mrs. David F. Wallace, Jr., exhibition chairman, has announced that Mrs. Herman J. Linn will be responsible for the installation of the show. She will be assisted by Mrs. David L. Tennent.

Gala Follows Meeting

The Pontiac chapter of Parents Without Partners will meet Wednesday at 8:15 p.m. in the Oakland County Supervisors' Auditorium. This will be a general open meeting with afterglow following.

Set Christmas Sale Featuring Card Party

The annual sale of Christmas decorations and gift items by the Middle Straits Community Association will take place Dec. 2.

Luncheon and a card party accompany the sale at the Green Lake Road headquarters, starting at 12:15 p.m. There will also be a baked-goods counter with home-made bread, pies, candies, etc.

Door prizes, table prizes and table favors are included in the luncheon cost. Tickets are available at the door.

Unit Notes Anniversary

A luncheon and tour of the Detroit Institute of Arts is "on tap" Tuesday for members of Kappa Delta Sorority marking the group's 71st anniversary.

In addition to the $10,000 contributed nationally each year to the Crippled Children's Hospital, Richmond, Va., local chapters and alumnae groups also assist crippled children in individual communities.

OU Musicians Present Excellent Performance of Menotti

By BERNICE ROSENTHAL
It is in the conservatories, the colleges and universities that experiments, new music and modern revisions of old forms are given a chance for public hearing and acceptance.

Just such a program was performed Saturday evening at the new Dodge Hall Auditorium at Oakland University. The Elizabethan Age, Menotti took to the stage, a rigidly composed and Chamber Players, under the capable and imaginative direction of John Dvaras, was posed twelve madrigals with Gian-Carlo Menotti's "The connecting orchestral in, Unicorn, the Gorgon and the Manticore".

chosen, and a capacity audience was stirred and moved by a compelling performance. Menotti, whose a typical opera, "Amahl and the Night Visitors" is known and loved by television viewers Christmas time, is, for the most part, a composer with a sociological axe to grind. Looking back to the Elizabethan Age, Menotti took to the stage, a rigidly composed and Chamber Players, under the capable and imaginative direction of John Dvaras, was posed twelve madrigals with Gian-Carlo Menotti's "The connecting orchestral in, Unicorn, the Gorgon and the Manticore".

The story, a satire on modern civilization, concerns the poet, "The man in the Castle," who parades his unicorn, a legendary animal, in the town. The villagers scoff at him until their social leader, the countess, decides that she wants one.

When it becomes a status symbol to own a unicorn, all the villagers scramble to own one. The poet now appears with a gorgon, having "discarded" his unicorn. Again it becomes the thing to do to ignore the unicorns, and own a gorgon.

The same procedure occurs with a third fabled animal, the manticore. When the "Man in the Castle," does not appear for the fourth time, the citizens storm his castle to find him dying, surrounded by his three faithful animals, which symbolize his youthful dreams, his mature concepts, and the ideals of his old age.

The music is sharp, terse, and excited and constantly moving at a rapid pace. The theme is treated lightly and merrily, which makes it even more satirical and diabolical.

Mr. Dvaras, the chorus and more variation in tempo and orchestra performed the difficult work with great skill and passages, to achieve more confidence in diction and definition great courage and determination in performing a work of such complexity and artistry, and the finished product was a tribute to intensive work, high goals and smooth delivery.

The engagement of their daughter, Linda, to Dennis Kirkwood is announced by the John A. Lundgrens of Highland Road, White Lake Township. Miss Lundgren's fiancé is the son of the Robert Kirkwoods of Novi. The couple will wed in March.

Father of New Quads Celebrates at Game

From Our Wire Services
DETROIT — There sat Gus Putter, 34, quietly taking in the Detroit Lions football game Sunday, providing a lesson in nonchalance to all who cared.

In 24 minutes earlier that day, he went from a father of two to a father of six as his wife, Pamela, gave birth to quadruplets in Oakwood Hospital.

While the 31-year-old Mrs. Putter and her four black-haired babies — three said daughters and a son — slept peacefully, Putter was worrying about beds for the infants, the extra bedroom he wants to attach to his three-bedroom suburban home and how his two older sons will react to the army of "little additions."

Brian, 6, "is very happy," Putter said. "I know he'll be glad to have his mom back again."

ADVANCE NOTICE
Putter said he and his wife learned of the multiple birth in late September and since then Mrs. Putter has spent about four weeks in the hospital.

"He's probably going to lose a lot of customers" after this," joked Putter of the physician who had treated his wife.

For the time being the babies who weighed from 3 pounds 4 ounces to 4 pounds 12 ounces at birth — will be placed in one bedroom. "I can't afford to move; we'll put an addition on as soon as possible," Putter said.

The Putters don't have any extra beds for the infants, the extra bedroom he wants to attach to his three-bedroom suburban home and how his two older sons will react to the army of "little additions."

Brian, 6, "is very happy," Putter said. "I know he'll be glad to have his mom back again."

Asked if he and his wife planned to have any more children, Putter emphatically replied: "I hope not."

Place Mats for Christmas

For Christmas gifts or the holiday bazaar, place mats are easy-to-make items that almost anyone can use.

To make novel place mats with a soft plush look, the National Cotton Council suggests wide wale corduroy in bright berry red. The ribbed cotton fabric will get softer with each machine-washing.

Give mats a decorative edge by sewing a satin-stitch on your machine or by hand about a half-inch inside all edges.

Trim away fabric outside stitching with sharp scissors. Add holly berry clusters in one corner of each place mat. For berries, stitch on red cotton pompons cut from ball fringe. Use green felt "leaves."

MRS. ALLEN H. RICHARDSON MRS. L. M. TREMONTI MRS. FREDERICK M. ADAMS

Three Couples Note Nuptials

First Congregational Church of Pontiac was the setting Friday for an exchange of vows uniting Laura Maxine Tippet and Allen Henry Richardson.

For the evening nuptials, the bride wore an Empire A-line gown of peau d'ange with Chantilly lace. She held a bouquet of cascading carnations.

ATTENDANTS

Debra Jackson and Kenneth Miles served as honor attendants for the nuptials with the Leo P. Insalaco, and Charles and Ray Tippet as bridesmaids and ushers.

Deborah Tippet and Tammy Biermacher were flower girls.

The son of the Charles and Arthur Koga, Rick, Brian and his Martin Carrier as ushers.

The bride, the daughter of the Fred L. Tippet of Starr Street, were feted at the Italian American Club. They are honeymooning in Chicago, Ill.

Tremonti-Carrier

Feted at a reception Saturday at the Detroit Athletic Club were newlyweds, the Louis Mario Tremonti (nee Catherine Marie Carrier).

The daughter of the Robert D. Carrier of Wing Lake Road, Bloomfield Township, and the son of the Michael Tremontis of Detroit, were wed that afternoon in Franklin Community Church.

Carrying a bouquet of white roses, Phalaenopsis with white roses, the bride wore a gown of candlelight satin highlighted with lace inserts.

Janis Carrier was maid of S. Adams of Highland and his honor for her sister with Mrs. bride were feted at the Michael Kelleher as matron of American Legion Hall. Milford.

Bridesmaids were Karen before they departed for a Walsh and Linda Awrey.

On the esquire side were Robert Heck as best man and Arthur Koga, Rick, Brian and his Martin Carrier as ushers.

The newlyweds are honeymooning in Puerto Rico. They will make their home in Stillwater, Okla., where the bridegroom is an instructor at Oklahoma State University.

Adams-Krajenke

Carrying a bouquet of pompons with a double orchid, Bonnie Jeanne Krajenke was escorted to the altar of St. Matthew's Lutheran Church, Walled Lake, Saturday where she became the bride of Frederick M. Adams.

For the evening rite, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Krajenke of Highland was attired in a lace gown.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Conway as best man.

Other members of the wedding party were the James Conzemiuses, the Norman Raymonds, the John Rieples, Teri Wesley, Cathy Schnitzler and Harold and Larry Adams.

The habit most women have of carrying combs loosely in their handbags is a bad one. Always make sure the comb is as clean as possible before using, because it may carry to the hair traces of face powder, lipstick or some other cosmetic with which it has been in contact in your handbag.

Also, lint, paper scraps, dust and bits of tobacco have a way of accumulating in purses, and the comb should be checked for such materials before being used in the hair.

Colorful Spring

This spring's color picture will emphasize red, white and blue then branch out into strong shades and feminine pastels, such as peach and aqua.

DeGaulle Hoping to Force World Monetary Revisions

By STEPHENS BRENNING
PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle is playing for time in a hope that the current crisis of the franc will force the Western world to remake its monetary system the way he decided it.

In the radio speech Sunday night in which he announced austere measures to defend the franc, de Gaulle said: "We are finally seeing the day when ... the whole world will agree to establish an impartial and reasonable monetary system putting each country when it needs it—in a place protected from sudden and absurd speculative movements."

De Gaulle's ideas on reform, high French officials explain, include a worldwide readjustment of currency parties within a return to the gold standard. This would mean a rise in the official price of gold—in other words devaluation of the dollar—an end to the dollar's role as the chief reserve currency.

People in the News

By The Associated Press
Robert Taylor probably will leave St. John's Hospital tomorrow after undergoing treatment for an infection that complicated his recovery from lung surgery, his family said last night.

Doctors say the 57-year-old actor entered the Santa Monica, Calif., hospital Wednesday for treatment of an abscess that formed after an Oct. 8 operation to remove a lung because of a fungus infection.

On Saturday, doctors reported the abscess had been drained successfully and listed Taylor in good condition.

TV Producer's Job Causes Honeymoon Delay

Television producer Aaron Spelling, 42, and his bride, Candy Maher, 23, are delaying their honeymoon so Spelling can work on his current production "Mod Squad."

His TV series have included "Burke's Law," "Dick Powell Presents," "The Guns of Will Sonnet," and "The Addams Family."

The wedding, performed Saturday in the home of Miss Maher's parents, was the second for each. Spelling formerly was married to actress Carolyn Jones. Miss Maher was divorced in 1964 from businessman Howard Leveson.

Ingrid Bergman, Matthau Sign for 'Cactus Flower'

Ingrid Bergman and Walter Matthau have been signed to costar in the film version of the Broadway comedy, "Cactus Flower." Columbia Pictures has announced. It will begin filming in Hollywood in January. Mike Frankovich will produce, and Gene Saks will direct, with the script by I.A.L. Diamond.

He was said to have been irritated at the conduct of U.S. and British officials at the monetary meeting in Bonn last week. The sources said Debre reported the United States and Britain at first supported France in pressing the Germans to revalue the mark but later abandoned the fight.

Debre was said to have considered this a maneuver to bring France into the "dollar zone," adding "There can be no question of that." Despite their apparent economic weakness, the French still retain a weapon to force consideration of de Gaulle's ideas for world monetary reform—the threat of a massive devaluation which could bring down the currency of de Gaulle's rivals.

Study Is Opposed to Surgery for Those With Severe Strokes

BAL HARBOUR, Fla. (UPI)—researchers led by Dr. John Stirling Meyer of Wayne's Department of Neurology and report said.

"The project is important because it gave us an enormous amount of information about stroke," said Dr. Meyer. "We now feel reasonably sure we can select from the patients who come to us those who will benefit by surgery and those who should avoid surgery."

The report made two additional points: no matter what type of treatment used, the older a patient, the less his chances of survival; and surgeons should take specialized training before undertaking the technically difficult carotid operations.

SEVERE STROKES
It was found that in two types of severe stroke — 48 per cent survives, 76 per cent with cent without; and 47 per cent survived, 76 per cent with medical treatment.

However, in the case of a mild stroke, there was 81 per cent survival with surgery, but 64 per cent with medical treatment.

Bank Is Paying for GI's Calls
In one group of severe, long standing stroke, surgical survival was 24 per cent; medical survival 89 per cent. This group had carotids the two main neck arteries blocked.

Dr. Bauer explained that patient selection and timing of surgery is very important since early surgical removal of a blockage could reinitiate a full flow of blood into a weakened area of the brain causing a severe hemorrhage.

PROJECT 'IMPORTANT'
The subjects ran three men to one woman since carotid artery blockage, like heart disease,

Udall Names New Historic Landmarks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall Saturday announced approval of 39 sites in 15 states as new eligible for designation as national historic landmarks.

Included among them was Windemere, author Ernest Hemingway's cottage on Walloon Lake near Petoskey.

Udall acted upon the recommendation of the department's Advisory Board on National Parks, Historic Sites, Buildings and Monuments which has declared 800 sites eligible for landmark status since the program was started in 1960.

Landmark are not administered by the National Park Service, but are recognized as a means of encouraging preservation of historic properties. The site owners are invited to apply for bronze plaques and certificates identifying the locations.

Nearly half of all Negro wives work, including two-fifths of those with children under six.

COMMUTER PLANE CRASH — The wreckage of a Cable Commuter Airlines twin-engine turboprop plane lies on the embankment of the Newport Freeway near Santa Ana, Calif., Saturday night after crashing in a dense fog. The plane clipped a 40-foot light standard and flipped to earth, killing seven passengers and two pilots. The airliner, en route from Los Angeles, was trying to land at the Orange County Airport.

Plane Crashes Take 16 Lives in California

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Fog, blamed for two of three plane crashes in California that took 16 lives, hampered the search today for another plane missing four days.

All seven passengers and two pilots lost their lives Saturday night when a twin-engine commuter airplane cutting through thick fog to land clipped a 40-foot light standard and flipped to earth. The prop-jet crashed on a freeway embankment, spewing flaming debris across all lanes of the Newport Freeway.

"A fog bank had just rolled across the freeway," said Randy Robertson, 28, of Huntington Beach, one of five motorists narrowly escaping injury from the cartwheeling wreckage.

"It's incredible that it missed all those cars," said Santa Ana Police Sgt. James Dillon.

CRASH SITE

The site of the crash southeast of Los Angeles was one mile from the Lo Angeles County Airport runway in Santa Ana, the plane's destination on a 38-mile hop from Los Angeles International Airport. Later, both airports were forced to halt operations.

Near Modesto in central California a rancher discovered the wreckage Saturday of a light plane that disappeared in fog three days earlier and crashed, killing two school administrators and the pilot aboard.

Four members of a San Jose family were killed in the Sierra Nevada range when their light plane crashed Saturday night.

The search was resumed for a pilot missing since Thursday on a flight over the Sierra in Northern California from Redding to Susanville. Thick cloud cover, sometimes dropping as low as 6,000 feet, has hampered the air search.

Christian Democrats Reuniting

Same Coalition Likely in Italy

ROME (AP) — Mariano Rumor, with his Christian Democratic party apparently reuniting behind him, appears once more to be in line for Italy's premiership.

Motorcycle Club Is Hit by Bomb

DETROIT (AP) — The headquarters of the Road Agents Motorcycle Club was bombed early Sunday, but all the 30 club members inside the building at the time escaped uninjured.

Police said dynamite was dropped down a ventilation shaft, blowing away the ceiling of the one-story structure. The club's president, Michael Pagan, 21, of Dearborn, said the makeshift bomb had stuck in an S-curve in the ventilation pipe.

Socialist Alessandro Pertini, Partial to give the Christian the premier-designate tapped Democrats and Socialists more Sunday by President Giusseppe Saragat, was given little chance to form a government. But Saragat's appointment of the 72-year-old president of the Chamber of Deputies. This coalition spent five years in power, force the skirmishing Christian from 1963 to 1968, but the Socialists back together, and it is expected to be doing that Sunday night.

Rumor resigned as secretary of Italy's largest party last week. The party council rejected the resignation Sunday night, making him once more the likeliest choice for premier.

Some 15 Americans suffer Saragat apparently nominated from angina pectoris.

'U.S. System Worth Saving'

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The American political system is worth saving if society can overcome its problems, U.S. Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., told an audience of students at the University of Michigan Sunday.

"We must save American society, not for what it is, but what it is capable of becoming," Fulbright told the audience of 4,000.

"If society is capable of solving its problems, it will be saved," he said.

Fulbright, who is chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, listed the war in Vietnam as one of the key problems facing America today. He has long been an opponent of U.S. policy in Southeast Asia.

OTHER PROBLEMS

He listed as other problems "the loss of individuality, particularly in the middle class," and the sterile nature of large universities.

"A professor is mainly a producer of salable data," he said.

Alienated youth, he said, "are the last stronghold of deeply committed people in American society."

But he told the students they must obey laws even if they don't agree with them, or face the consequence.

C130 Wings Crack; Repair Bill to Soar

WASHINGTON (AP) — The C130, workhorse aircraft of the Vietnam war, has developed serious wing cracks which will cost the Air Force more than $11 million to repair, Air Force officers report.

The problem has turned up in hundreds of C130s but apparently was detected before it led to any fatal crashes.

The C130 is used as a troop and supply carrier, weather observation craft, a pickup plane for satellites dropping special reconnaissance photos into the sea, a pilot rescue plane and a gun ship.

To keep the busy craft flying, the Air Force has been putting special reinforcing plates on the wings.

NEW WING NEEDED

But to "insure a long future life" many C130 models must have virtually an entire new wing, the Air Force said.

A new wing section will be installed in approximately 400 C130 models B through E series.

Not affected is the C130A, the version which has been converted to the "Puff the Magic Dragon" gun ship which can fire thousands of rounds per minute in support of ground troops.

The wing problem came to light a few days ago when the Air Force awarded Lockheed Aircraft Corp. a $7.7-million contract for "design, fabrication and installation" of a new C130 wing.

In response to questions, the Air Force said cracks had been discovered in the C130 wing skin during regular inspection.

Besides the $7.7 million, the Air Force said $3.86 million had been spent on other corrective measures, indicating that each C130 fix-up is costing the Air Force around $29,000.

Lockheed has built some 2,000 to 3,000 C130s.

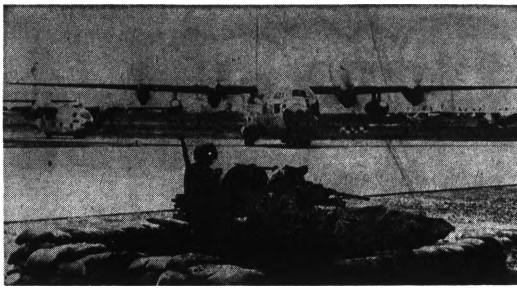

The Air Force apparently does not hold the company responsible.

Officers say the C130 is encountering more "fatigue-damage" than it was designed to cope with, because of the nature of the Vietnam war.

FASTER FATIGUE

The C130, officers say, makes a lot of brief hops in South Vietnam which mean many landings and takeoffs, usually off short, rough airstrips.

This has accelerated the "metal fatigue" or weakening of the wings.

WING PROBLEM — A C130 cargo plane taxis to its parking area followed by a C123 at a U.S. base in South Vietnam. The C130, workhorse of the Vietnam war, has developed serious wing cracks which will cost the U.S. more than $11 million to repair.

Now Possible To Shrink Painful Hemorrhoids

Relieve Pain In Most Cases.

New York, N. Y. (Special): A scientific research institute has discovered a medication which has the ability in most cases — to actually shrink hemorrhoids. In case after case, the sufferer first notices prompt relief from the itching, burning and pain. Then this medication starts right in to gently reduce the swelling of inflamed, irritated hemorrhoids.

Tests conducted on hundreds of patients by leading doctors in New York City, in Washington, D.C. and at a Midwest Medical Center proved this so.

And it was all accomplished without narcotics or stinging astringents of any kind.

The secret is Preparation H® — an exclusive formula for the treatment of hemorrhoids. There is no other formula like it! In addition to actually shrinking piles and relieving the painful distress — Preparation H lubricates, makes bowel movements less painful and soothes the irritated tissues. It also helps prevent further infection. Preparation H comes in ointment or suppository form. No prescription is needed.

Probe of Dem Coverage Hit

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (UPI) — House Minority Leader Gerald Ford thinks the congressional investigation of radio and television coverage of the Chicago Democratic convention is a threat to freedom of the press.

Speaking to the nation's radio and television news editors, here Saturday night, Ford said "I am appalled at the hint of government intervention in covering the news."

Ford, a Republican congressman from Grand Rapids, said he was "more disturbed at the treatment of newsmen in Chicago than by the nature of their coverage."

Who paid $1.18 for a dollar bill?

You did!

Yes, you did — the last time you bought a refrigerator or a TV set or anything else at 1½% interest on a revolving charge account. When you buy on time, remember that in effect you are borrowing money. And you pay interest on that money.

For example, when a store charges you 1½ per cent a month (as most do) on a revolving charge account, the annual rate is 18 per cent. And that's like paying $1.18 to borrow a dollar bill for a year.

Credit unions never charge their members more than 1 per cent a month. That's an annual interest rate of only 12 per cent. And it's just one more reason why over 1½ million members in Michigan agree it pays to be a credit union family. Before you buy or borrow, see your credit union first. You'll be glad you did.

Contact the CU where you work — or the one in your parish or neighborhood — or write Michigan Credit Union League, P. O. Box 5210, Detroit, Michigan 48235.

British Experts Look Warily at Foreign Investment

LONDON — Whatever the validity of arguments in the current debate in Britain over the real profitability of foreign investments, the facts are that the rate of British investment overseas has fallen from a peak of 308 million pounds in 1965 (379.2 million) to 287 million pounds ($62.4 million) last year.

For some people, the slow-down has been a regrettable but necessary step to help correct the balance of payments situation.

Others feel that the curbs, while perhaps helping to ease the situation in the short term, are detrimental to the health of the economy in the long run particularly as, before the imposition of restrictions, there appeared to be a chance that new foreign investments would become self-financing and would thus not pose a strain on the balance of payments situation.

A new and highly authoritative voice will be added to the debate before the end of the year when W.B. Reddaway of the department of applied economics at Cambridge University publishes his report, commissioned by the confederation of British industries, on direct overseas investment.

INVESTMENT RESTRICTIONS
An interim report has already been released and was not entirely to the liking of its sponsors as it concluded that there was a balance of payments case for imposing short-term restrictions on investment abroad.

The final draft is expected to offer the modified view that overseas investment does benefit the economy and the balance of payments in the long run, but not as quickly as some industrialists have assumed.

One of the key points in any discussion on direct overseas investment is the rate of return provided by these investments. This matter was examined in August when John H. Dunning, professor of economics at Reading University, writing in the National Provincial Bank Review, published a comparative study of British and American investments abroad.

This study reached several main conclusions the two most important of which were: (1) that Americans overseas subsidiaries were more profitable than British ones; and (2) although the United States currently owns three times the foreign assets of Britain, international investment transactions are still of greater economic importance to the British economy—expressed both as a product and of domestic investment.

HIGHER RETURNS

According to Dunning, working on statistics supplied by Britain's Board of Trade and the U.S. Department of Commerce, during the period 1960-65, American companies achieved a higher rate of return on their capital in most countries and on average they were 26.3 per cent more profitable than their British rivals.

His figures are based on the ratio of net income (after tax) to net assets of British companies and the ratio of corresponding incomes to total assets of American companies in similar countries over the same period.

Jewish Leader Blames Adults for Generation Gap

BOSTON (AP) — Henry N. Rapoport, president of the United Synagogue of America, says Jewish parents are to blame for a growing generation gap in Judaism.

He said Sunday parents have not met their responsibilities in civil rights and Jewish education.

"Too many of us today hide in middle class surroundings and isolate ourselves from the realities of life," Rapoport said. "Our children who are deeply disturbed by the turmoil in our present society recognize this failure on our part."

Rapoport addressed the New England Regional Convention of the United Synagogue of America at Temple Emeth.

Marriage Licenses

James E. Galt, Clayton Place and Shirley K. Butler, Dayton Place, both of 2150 N. Main St., Birmingham.

Dunning adds that most of the difference was due not to the geographical distribution of such investment, but to better performance by American companies in particular countries. Nor can much of the difference be attributed to variations in the industrial composition of the investments or in the size, age structure and accounting procedures employed.

The conclusion is that, while in certain sectors — such as mining — British companies perform appreciably better than their American counterparts:

"In general (they) are not as efficient abroad as their United States competitors," who have greater managerial and technological advantages. If British investments had been as profitable as American ones, Dunning estimates they would have earned on average about 55.4 million pounds ($84.96 million) more each year. Britain and the United States account for four-fifths of all international direct investment. Ten years ago the proportion was even higher but more recently other countries—particularly France, West Germany and Japan — have developed their overseas interests very rapidly.

During the 1950s and 1960s, American companies rather than British have been setting the pace in overseas investment. Of the 100 largest international companies listed by Fortune Magazine in 1966, 69 were American, 10 British and 19 continental European. America is clearly the dominating international investor in the latter half of the 20th Century as Britain was a century earlier.

Fate of 5 Soviet Intellectuals Points Up Policy Inconsistencies

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

A few days ago a Soviet court affirmed the sentence to exile or labor camp of five intellectuals who disagreed with the invasion of Czechoslovakia.

The case underscored how Soviet policy often seems to trip over its own feet in domestic, foreign and international affairs and in the use of the nation's enormous power. If policy aims are what they seem to be, Moscow often appears to defeat its own purpose.

The party has only a year to prepare for what obviously will be an elaborate celebration of the 100th anniversary of Lenin's birth. Signs indicate frantic haste to repair and polish the Soviet image, by then, but there's a lot of polishing to do and time is short.

Is Moscow trying to erase the memory of Stalin and give communism a more attractive look?

MOSTLY AN ILLUSION

Events in the orbit more and more evoke the Stalin image and create an impression that for 12 years "de-Stalinization" has been mostly an illusion.

Vladimir Ilyich Ulyanov, who called himself Lenin, established Bolshevik power 51 years ago. He promised all manner of freedoms, self-determination for minorities, the "withering away of the state." Since then Russia has come far in terms of state power, armed might, massive industry, scientific achievements. In terms of Lenin's promises, it has been retrogressive. What was autocracy under the czar is today's "partyocracy," or total domination by a relatively small group.

Does the Kremlin seek to maintain the picture of Western "imperialism" as the greatest threat to world peace?

The Soviet Union often looks like the imperial Russia whence it sprung. For the restless expansion of czarist Russia which enveloped one-sixth of the earth's surface, there is today's imperialism of "socialism." For czarist sway over subjugated states, there is today's sway over Communist European states. The Kremlin claims the right to dictate their foreign and domestic policies just as the czars controlled those matters for satrap states.

A LONG TIME

Does Kremlin policy, as has been evident for a long time, seek to drive wedges into the North Atlantic alliance and break it up?

The invasion of Czechoslovakia and the Soviet posture toward central Europe oblige NATO to tighten its structure, just as Stalin's policies 19 years ago helped bring about the birth of NATO.

Does Kremlin policy seek a lessening of tensions, a detente, to permit more attention to the crisis of international communism and to internal Soviet problems?

The recent declaration of the Brezhnev doctrine—claiming the right of intervention where Moscow feels "socialism" threatened—is a severe setback to any hopes of detente. The Brezhnev doctrine is extended even to include the right to intervene in West Germany at the appearance there of anything seeming to Moscow to be a "threat to socialism."

REACT WITH AWE

Westerners with access to Soviet technocrats in posts around the world react with awe to displays of the modern Soviet bureaucratic mind at work, a mind which says it was right and necessary to invade Czechoslovakia, that the Russians have a right, if they please, to invade Romania and Yugoslavia because "we gave them freedom" in World War II. The doctrine, in a nutshell, is: "They belong to us; we will do with them as we please."

All this has hastened the collapse of what until recently had seemed a fairly successful campaign to erode NATO.

One big difference between

Imperial Russia and the U.S.S.R. is that the czars lacked an international movement to use as an instrument of policy. Today's Moscow has one, but few will deny that the international movement is in deep crisis. Important parties are acting up, largely because of Moscow's own policies, which tend to damage prospects of Communists in the West.

The Russians blame everybody but themselves. Their troubles are caused by American "imperialists," by foreign spies, saboteurs and propagandists trying as Moscow tells it, to wrench nations from the Moscow orbit.

The invasion of Czechoslovakia and the Brezhnev doctrine delivered blows to Communist world unity for which Moscow still anxiously seeks a summit of party leaders.

Bluntly, however, Soviet theoreticians announce that there cannot be any such thing as liberalization in the Communist system. Parties seeking respectability in the educated West cannot openly accept such theses without risking heavy losses, and the divisions in the movement have deepened.

Oil Spillage Kills 5,000 Waterfowl in N. California

EUREKA, Calif. (AP) — An estimated 5,000 waterfowl, mostly ducks, died Sunday in Humboldt Bay where a ruptured oil tank hose had spilled 60,000 gallons of diesel fuel into the waters.

Sheriff's deputies said the light oil broke down the oil in the bird's feathers, and they couldn't stay afloat. The few who made it to shore died of exposure.

By Sunday night, wind and tides had washed most of the oil north of the northern California bay.

Dikes kept 40,000 gallons of the diesel oil from spilling into the bay after the rupture occurred at a Standard Oil of California dock.

The first time that an electoral college observed an inauguration was in 1944 for the first inauguration of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Tight Security Is Planned for GOP Confab

PALM SPRING, Calif. (AP) — Security in the air and on the ground will be provided for 34 governors and governors-elect when they meet here Dec. 4-8 for the Republican Governors Conference.

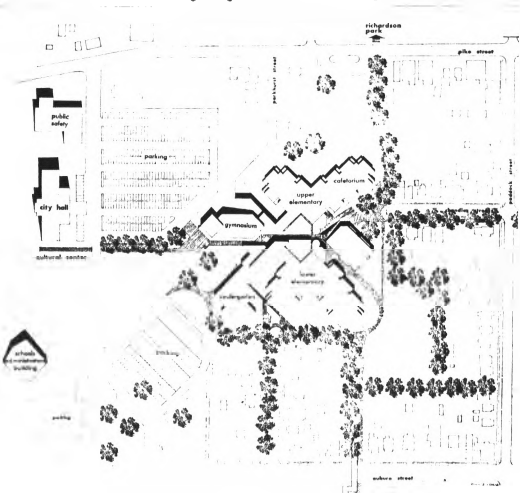

President-elect Richard M. Nixon is expected to attend a black-tie dinner at the conference Dec. 5, along with entertainers Bob Hope and Dinah Shore.

Police Chief Robert White said Friday at least 200 police, Riverside County sheriff's deputies, highway patrolmen, National Guardsmen and Secret Service agents will be on hand. The Army will provide a bomb disposal squad from Ft. Irwin to check meeting rooms, White military.

Helicopters carrying National Guard sharpshooters will hover over guests on a horseback-riding Dec. 5, White said. Policemen will ride with the governors.

The police chief said leaves for his 50 men have been canceled during the conference. Gov. Ronald Reagan and his wife Nancy will be hosts at the conference.

HUMAN RESOURCES CENTER SITE PLAN

UNIQUE FACILITY — About half the property has been acquired for Pontiac's Human Resources Center elementary school complex scheduled to open east of City Hall in September 1970. Its architect, Urban Design Associates of Pittsburgh, Pa., has called the 2,300 student complex "one of the largest of its kind in the nation and uniquely experimental." The $3.75-million facility is to serve pupils from McConnell, Central, Baldwin and Wilson elementary schools.

Agriculture Hardest Hit

Effects of Chile Drought Felt

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Summer has almost arrived in Chile, and with it will come the full impact of the nation's worst drought in 100 years. When Chileans describe disasters, they talk in terms of earthquakes, familiar crippling occurrences in this narrow Andean nation.

Seeking a description for the drought, they liken it to "a slow, silent earthquake."

"There is no quick roar with falling buildings and sudden death," says one Chilean. "Instead, the drought is a slowly accelerating disaster."

"WORST CATASTROPHE" — President Eduardo Frei calls it the nation's "worst catastrophe."

As summer nears, new signs of the drought's effect—higher food prices, electric blackouts, low water pressure—appear each day and portend growing problems of Frei's administration and the nation's nine million people. Agriculture is hardest hit so far.

Frei says 900,000 sheep, mostly lambs, have died or been slaughtered because of the drought. A U.S. official estimates that between 300,000 and 400,000 cattle have died.

Big Bird Needs Long Thawing

Probably the foremost question regarding frozen whole original wrap. Place frozen turkeys in how they should be thawed. Both the Poultry and Egg National Board and the newspaper. Place on tray or in National Turkey Federation baking pan. Thaw at room temperature. Allow 6 to 10 methods with the reminder that hours thawing time for a 4 to the slower the bird is defrosted, 10-pound bird; 10 to 14 hours for the juicier it will be.

18 hours for a 16 to 24-pound bird.

- HOW TO THAW FROZEN TURKEY
1. Cold Water Method. Leave turkey in original wrap. Thaw in running water that is changed frequently. Allow 3 to 4 hours for a 5 to 9-pound bird; 4 to 7 hours for a bird over 9 pounds. Cook immediately or refrigerate immediately for 3 to 5 days for a 16 to 20-pound cooking later in day.
 2. Room Temperature Method. Leave turkey in original wrap and place on tray or in roasting pan. Thaw in refrigerator. Allow 1 1/2 days for a 4 to 8-pound bird; 1 1/2 to 2 days for a 10 to 12-pound bird; 2 to 2 1/2 days for a 12 to 16-pound bird and 2 1/2 to 3 days for a 16 to 20-pound cooking later in day.

New Turkey Convenient, Self-Basting

Offering the ultimate in convenience to consumers, the self-basting turkey allows the homemaker to entertain with ease. For once, the hostess can enjoy her guests without basting a bird every 20 minutes. This Thanksgiving, you can serve the traditional turkey feast, but with far less effort.

By an exclusive process, real creamery, 93 score butter has been put deep inside the breast, legs and thighs of young turkeys. As the turkey roasts, it bastes itself from the inside out. The results are a moist, flavorful and tender turkey every time that can not roast dry.

SELF-BASTING TURKEY FOR BARBECUE GRILL

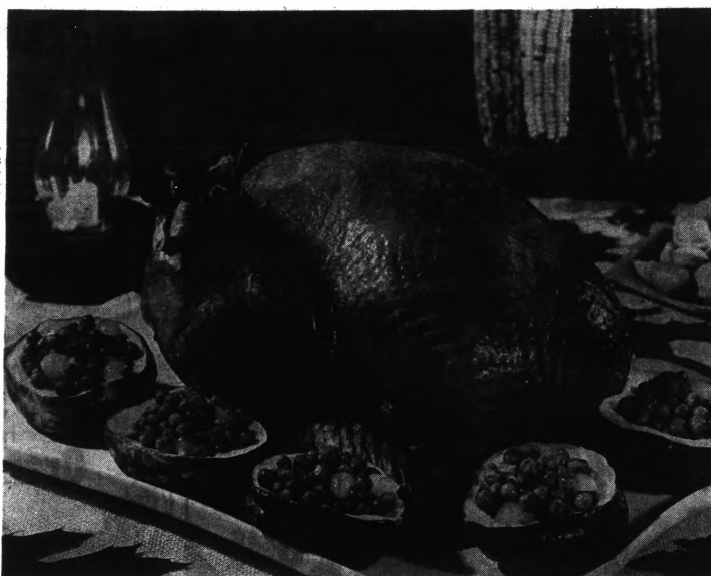

Thaw turkey. Remove giblets from neck cavity and neck from body cavity. Refasten clamp. Insert spit from tail end through body cavity and center of neck skin. Push prongs firmly into bird and fasten clamps tightly with pliers. Tie wings close to body with string (or turn wing tips back and hook under first wing joint).

Place spit on unit over double layer of ash gray coals (additional charcoal to be added as coals burn down). Coals should be in the rear half of the unit. Shape heavy duty foil into a shallow drip container in front of the unit. Turkey should be about 6 inches from heat.

Allow approximately 20 to 22 minutes per pound cooking time. A thermometer inserted in thickest part of thigh muscle will register 185 degrees F. when is done.

Do not baste. Barbecue sauce may be brushed on during final 1/2 hour of cooking time, if desired.

With any of these methods, do not allow a thawed turkey to stand at room temperature. Either refrigerate it immediately or cook it immediately. And, do not stuff the bird until ready to cook. Commercially stuffed frozen turkeys should not be thawed before cooking. Follow package directions.

KING FOR THE DAY — Get the family seated at the Thanksgiving table and bring in the bird, perfectly roasted. Surround it with acorn squash cups filled with buttered, sage-flavored peas and onions. If your platter isn't large enough for this garnish, pass the squash separately.

Stuff Turkey With Moist Dressing

By JANET ODELL
Food Editor, The Pontiac Press

Even though we made a protest in print recently about having too much fowl, we can't let Thanksgiving go by without turkey. We did one year; we had roast beef.

Unless there's just one of you, there is turkey for any size family. For a couple, the turkey roast is the best buy.

You can buy a small turkey, but under 12 pounds, the amount of bones almost equals the meat. Some stores will sell you turkey parts, but not many.

Elsewhere on this page, you'll find directions for thawing and cooking the bird.

As soon as dinner is over, remove all dressing from the turkey and store it in a covered container in the refrigerator.

Refrigerate the turkey carcass, too; or remove the meat and chill that. Don't let the bird stand out on the table so that the family can pick the bones.

Use the dressing within a day or two and don't reheat it more than once. Of course, if you freeze dressing, it will keep longer. Freeze turkey pieces in the amounts you can use at one time and wrap them well.

If you buy a bird that's already stuffed, you have nothing to do but roast it.

If you're stuffing your own turkey, don't do it the night before; it is not safe. Get everything ready mix up the dressing just before you put the bird in the oven and roast it at once.

HOMEMADE BREAD STUFFING

- 2 finely chopped medium onions
- 1/2 cup butter
- 6 tablespoons chopped celery leaves
- 4 tablespoons chopped parsley
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1 teaspoon pepper
- 2 teaspoons poultry seasoning
- 1 teaspoon sage
- 6 tablespoons New Orleans molasses
- 2 cups canned chicken broth
- 6 cups bread cubes, made from day-old bread

In skillet, wilt onions in butter. Add celery leaves, parsley, salt, pepper, poultry seasoning and sage; stir well. Add molasses, chicken broth and bread cubes, toss mixture together well, and use to stuff turkey.

Makes enough stuffing for a 10-lb. turkey.

Those who do not care for the above type of dressing might enjoy a fruit stuffing.

FRUIT STUFFING

- 10-12 lb. turkey
- 1/2 cup melted butter
- 4 tart apples, sliced
- 1/2 cup brown sugar
- 2 cups cooked mixed dried fruits, pitted
- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon

- 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
 - 1/4 cup port wine
 - 1/4 cup steak sauce
- Mix together all ingredients except butter, stuff lightly into turkey.

Package stuffing mixes are invaluable for the inexperienced cook and the woman who has very little time. With special ingredients added, this becomes a different dressing each time you prepare it.

COFFEE WALNUT PRUNE STUFFING

- 1 cup water
- 1 cup strong coffee beverage
- 1 cup butter or margarine
- 2 packages (8 oz. each) bread stuffing mix
- 1 cup snipped, pitted prunes
- 1 cup broken walnuts
- 1 tablespoon dried parsley flakes

Combine water and coffee in saucepan; add butter; heat until butter melts. Add stuffing mix; toss lightly. Stir in prunes, walnuts, parsley flakes and coffee. Makes enough stuffing for a 12 to 15 lb. turkey.

- 1 tablespoon savory
- Combine water and coffee in saucepan; add butter; heat until butter melts. Add stuffing mix; toss lightly. Stir in prunes, walnuts, parsley flakes and coffee. Makes enough stuffing for a 12 to 15 lb. turkey.

Note: To add subtle flavor and rich color to turkey gravy substitute strong coffee beverage for part of the water.

For example, for 4 cups of gravy use 3 1/2 cups water and 1/2 cup coffee. After the gravy is made, stir in the chopped giblets.

BROWN 'N SERVE SAUSAGE STUFFING

- 12 pound ready-to-stuff turkey
- 2 packages (8 ounces each) brown 'n serve sausage links cut into 1/2 inch pieces

- 1/2 stick (1/4 cup) margarine, melted
- 1/4 cup chopped onion
- 2 cups chopped celery
- 2 packages (8 ounces each) prepared stuffing
- 1/4 cup cup-cup parsley
- 2 cups water

Thaw turkey according to package directions. Combine remaining ingredients. Stuff bird just before roasting. Allow 1/4 cup sausage stuffing per pound of turkey. 9 cups will stuff a 12 pound bird.

Prepare With Wine

Thaw turkey according to package directions. Combine remaining ingredients. Stuff bird just before roasting. Allow 1/4 cup sausage stuffing per pound of turkey. 9 cups will stuff a 12 pound bird.

DUCKLING WITH FRUITED RICE

- 1 frozen duckling (4 1/2 to 5 pounds) defrosted and quartered
- 1 tablespoon cooking oil
- 1 medium onion, cut in eighths

Roasting the Turkey

1. If turkey is frozen, follow general instructions on thawing.
2. Preheat oven to 325 degrees F. (slow)
3. Remove neck and giblets, cook promptly and refrigerate until ready to use. Rinse turkey. (If turkey drumsticks are trussed with a metal clamp it is not necessary to remove clamp. Release drumsticks by pushing them downward and freeing with an upward motion.)
4. If turkey is to be stuffed, fill neck area loosely and fasten neck skin to back with skewer. Shape wings skimo-style and bring wing tips onto the back. Fill body cavity lightly, as dressing tends to expand. Tie drumsticks to the tail, insert drumsticks under band of skin at tail or replace legs in clamp.
5. Place turkey, breast side up, on rack in shallow roasting pan. Brush skin with butter. Insert meat thermometer so that the bulb is in the center of the inside thigh muscle. Be sure that the bulb does not touch bone.
6. Place in preheated oven. If desired, baste or brush occasionally with pan drippings or butter—especially any dry areas. When the skin is light golden brown, place a loose tent of aluminum foil over the legs and breast to prevent excessive browning. When turkey is two-thirds done, cut cord or band of skin at tail to release the legs and permit the heat to reach the heavy-meated part.
7. Roast until thermometer registers 180 to 185 degrees. (See accompanying Timetable.) If the bird is stuffed, the thermometer should register 165 degrees when placed in the center of the stuffing. Another "doneness test" used by many experienced cooks is a "feel" test. Turkey is done when the thickest part of the drumstick feels soft when pressed between protected fingers. Because of individual differences in birds and ovens, roasting time required may vary as much as 30 minutes.

Duck Welcome at Thanksgiving

If your family is long on tradition, you'll have turkey 3 hours or until drumsticks are again this Thanksgiving, with tender (25 to 30 minutes per pound.)

If desired, remove from oven 1/2 hour before end of cooking time and brush with a mixture of 1/2 cup honey and 1/2 teaspoon Kitchen Bouquet. Return to oven to glaze.

Giblet Gravy

Remove ducklings from roasting pan. Pour off all but 6 tablespoons fat, leaving brown drippings. Blend in 8 tablespoons flour.

Measure water from giblets; add enough water to make 3 cups; add. Cook and stir over medium heat until smooth and thickened. Remove from heat.

Add 1/2 cup white dinner wine and chopped giblets. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Makes about 3 1/2 cups gravy.

DUCKLING WITH FRUITED RICE

- 1 frozen duckling (4 1/2 to 5 pounds) defrosted and quartered
- 1 tablespoon cooking oil
- 1 medium onion, cut in eighths

- 3 1/2 cups water
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1 cup rice
- 1 cup dried apricot halves
- 1 cup light raisins
- 2 teaspoons sugar
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon poultry seasoning
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper

Wash, drain and dry duckling quarters. Brown quarters on both sides in hot oil. Add onion, 1 cup water and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Cover; cook slowly 45 minutes, turning once.

Remove duck from pan. Pour off excess fat. Add rice, apricot halves, raisins, sugar, cinnamon, poultry seasoning, pepper and remaining water and salt; stir.

Place duckling quarters on rice. Cover; bring to boil. Cook slowly until both rice and duckling are tender, about 30 minutes. Yield: 4 servings.

If your hunter came home with ducks this fall and you were foresighted enough to freeze them, serve them in the following manner for Thanksgiving.

WILD DUCK WITH PECAN STUFFING

- 4 cups soft bread crumbs
- 1 cup finely chopped celery
- 1 cup finely chopped onion
- 1 cup seedless raisins
- 1 cup pecan meats, chopped
- 1/2 cup milk, scalded
- 2 eggs, beaten
- 2 (2 1/2 lb.) wild ducks
- 6 slices bacon
- 1 cup tomato catsup
- 1/2 cup steak sauce
- 1/2 cup chili sauce

Mix together bread crumbs, celery, onions, raisins, nuts and salt. Add hot milk to the beaten eggs and then add dry mixture. Fill ducks with stuffing. Close the slits with poultry pins or by sewing.

Place in roaster, cover each duck with 3 strips of bacon. Roast uncovered in moderate (350 degree) oven, allowing 15-20 min. per lb.

20 minutes before serving time, combine catsup, steak sauce and chili sauce and baste the ducks. Garnish with parsley and sliced cranberries in center of each slice.

Skin the fat from the sauce and serve sauce with ducks. Serves 4 to 6.

Traditional Menu Fine but Change Good Too

Maybe you've always had mashed potatoes, squash and molded cranberry sauce for Thanksgiving dinner. This year, wouldn't you like a few changes? Following are a few ideas worth considering.

Baked Acorn Squash

- 3 small acorn squash
- 2 tablespoons softened butter
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon brown sugar
- 10 ounce package frozen peas
- 5 ounce jar pearl onions
- 2 tablespoons butter

Cut squash in halves. Remove seeds. Rub inside and out with butter. Season each with 1/4 teaspoon salt and 1/2 teaspoon brown sugar. Place cut-side-up on a baking sheet. Bake during the last hour of the turkey roasting time.

Meanwhile, prepare peas according to package directions. Add onions during the last 5 minutes. Drain, add 2 tablespoons butter. Stir until melted. Fill each squash with 1/2 cup of buttered peas and onions. Serve on turkey platter. Makes 6 servings.

Sweet Potato Souffle

- 3 tablespoons butter
- 2 egg yolks
- 2 egg whites
- 2 cups mashed, cooked sweet potatoes
- 1/4 cup hot milk
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon ground cardamom
- 1/4 teaspoon allspice
- 1 tablespoon grated orange rind

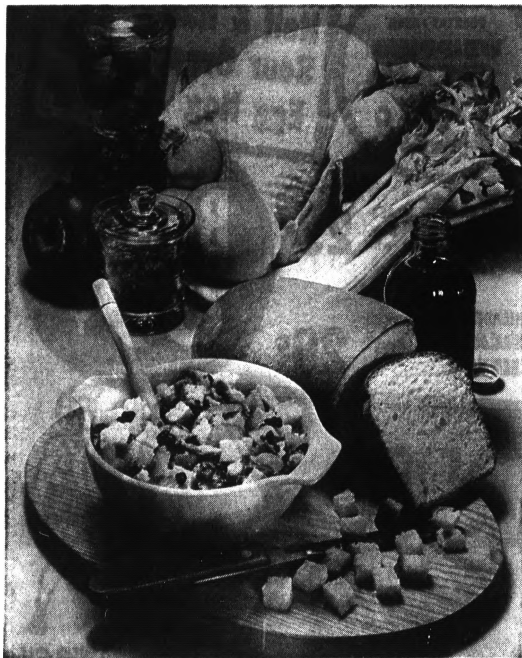

Preheat oven to 325 degrees F. Combine potatoes with milk, butter, salt, allspice, cardamom and orange rind. Beat egg yolks well; add to potato mixture. Beat egg whites until stiff; carefully fold potato mixture into whites.

Turn into ungreased 1-quart casserole. Bake uncovered for 1 1/2 hours. Makes 6 servings.

Orange Glaze

Prepare the roast turkey according to your favorite method. To make glaze, combine orange juice and mustard, mixing thoroughly. During last hour of cooking, brush bird with glaze every 15 minutes. Use drippings for making gravy—the glaze gives it a delicious flavor.

Note: Refrigerate any remaining glaze and brush over turkey leftovers before warming them in the oven or combine 1 teaspoon glaze with 1 cup gravy and pour over warmed turkey slices.

SAY IT WITH STUFFING — A turkey is as festive as the stuffing you choose. Win raves from the family with an easy-to-prepare basic bread stuffing that's flavored with molasses from New Orleans. Stuffings take just minutes but make the real difference in turkey.

DUCKLING WITH RICE — For sheer elegance, duckling with fruited rice is difference, yet deceptively easy to prepare. Quartered and cooked in an electric skillet, it is quickly cooked.

New Pumpkin Souffle Is Light, Airy Dessert

What better way to salute the or deep straight sided bowl to holiday season than to surprise form a standing collar. Pour guests with a unique "Pumpkin mixture into dish (mixture will Souffle?" This smooth-rich extend above rim of dish.

Chill until firm, about 4 hours. Carefully remove paper collar. Garnish with additional topping. A variety of interesting and serve with assorted sauces. sauces are suggested to give the delicately-flavored souffle intriguing piquancy: traditional cranberry, mincemeat-brandy and Cherry-Kirsch.

PUMPKIN SOUFFLE

8 eggs
1/4 cup sugar
1 1/2 cups canned pumpkin
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup honey
2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
1/2 cup cold milk
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1 envelope dessert topping mix.

Beat eggs in large mixer bowl until frothy. Gradually add sugar; beat until thick, about 15 minutes.

Combine pumpkin, milk, honey and gelatin in small saucepan. Bring just to a boil. Add sugar, beat until thick, about 15 minutes.

Combine milk and vanilla in deep one quart bowl. Add dessert topping mix; beat with electric mixer until stiff. Slowly beat cooled pumpkin mixture into beaten egg mixture. Fold in whipped topping.

Oil a 6" band of waxed paper or foil and tie it around the outside of 2 1/4 cup souffle dish.

CRANBERRY SAUCE

1 can (16-oz.) whole cranberry sauce
1/4 cup rum
Combine cranberry sauce and rum in saucepan. Bring just to a boil. Cool. Serve over pumpkin souffle.

CHERRY SAUCE

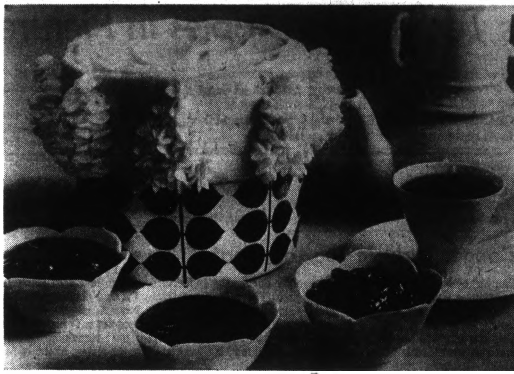

1 jar (12-oz.) cherry preserves
2 tablespoons Kirsch
Combine cherry preserves and Kirsch in small saucepan. Bring just to a boil. Cool. Serve over pumpkin souffle.

MINCEMEAT SAUCE

1 1/2 cups ready to use mincemeat
1/4 cup brandy
Combine mincemeat and brandy in small saucepan. Bring just to a boil. Cool. Serve over pumpkin souffle.

Scant the Water

When you are braising beef short ribs, use as little water as possible so the gravy will be rich. Half a cup of water should be enough for three pounds of short ribs and a couple of onions as a start; more water may be added if necessary.

PUMPKIN SOUFFLE — This unique Pumpkin Souffle, developed for holiday entertaining, is garnished with molded dessert topping and served with a colorful pour-on of tart-sweet sauce.

Cook Your Holiday Turkey on Outdoor Grill

Thanksgiving turkey roasted outdoor cooking of turkeys, giblets from the body cavities. The turkey may be stuffed or not. The idea has more than been accomplished by leaving the not and the legs retucked under the strip of skin at the base of the breast bone.

Next brush the skin of the turkey with oil and place it directly on the grill and adjust the cover. Add 4 or 5 briquets for each additional hour of cooking.

A fourteen pound unstuffed turkey will cook in about 2 1/2 hours or a little longer if the weather is cold. Add about 1 hour for turkey with stuffing.

Shrimp Soup Becomes the Sauce

For the homemaker who likes to have variety in her family meals, the gifts of the sea are readily available to use in tasty and tempting new recipes.

What, for example, could be more delightful to look at and more delectable to eat than a picture-perfect Shrimp Curry on Saffron Rice? The combination of the shrimp and rice in this tasty curry makes a dish most eaters will enjoy. And it's not difficult to make.

JEFFY SHRIMP CURRY ON SAFFRON RICE

1 tablespoon butter

1 10-ounce can frozen condensed cream of shrimp soup
1 cup sour cream
1 tablespoon instant minced onion
1/4 teaspoon curry powder
15-ounce can shrimp
1 pkg. (10 oz.) frozen peas
Rice:
1/4 teaspoon saffron powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 cups water
1 1/2 cups precooked rice
Heat butter and shrimp soup, stirring until smooth. Add sour cream, onion and curry powder. Add peas and shrimp. Cover and heat until just hot.

To prepare rice, add saffron and salt to water. Bring to a boil. Stir in rice, cover. Remove from heat and let stand 5 minutes. Fluff with fork. Serve shrimp over hot rice. Garnish with salted peanuts, preserved kumquats, chutney or chopped onion. Makes 46 servings.

Cut and Butter

Hot baked sweet potatoes are at their best when you make a criss-cross cut, add a pat of butter, some brown sugar and toasted slivered almonds.

Apple Punch Is Geared to All Tastes

You don't have to be football-minded to enjoy the apple bowl. Anyone — and everyone — can join in the fun.

The apple bowl takes on special importance at Thanksgiving as the center of activity before dinner or whenever guests gather. Youngsters can join in the hospitality when the punch bowl stars Apple Nog, speedily stirred up with apple cider or juice and ice cream. Adults can celebrate with a more potent team — punch made with apple cider and liquor.

APPLE NOG

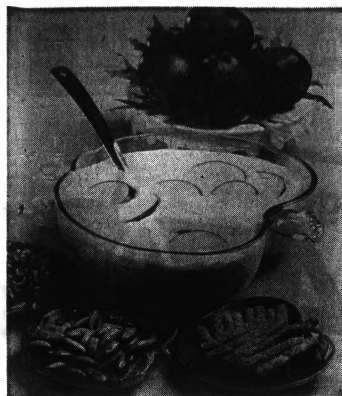

2 quarts apple cider or apple juice
1 quart vanilla ice cream, softened
2 quarts prepared dairy egg-nog

Pour apple cider or apple juice into punch bowl. Add ice cream and beat smooth. Stir in egg-nog and beat gently with a whisk to combine. Sprinkle with nutmeg, if desired, and garnish with apple slices. Makes about 40 servings, 4 ounces each.

APPLE CIDER BOWL

1 bottle (½ gal.) apple cider
1 bottle (fifth) applejack
Bourbon or blended liquor
3 dashes bitters
1 large bottle (28 oz.) ginger ale, chilled

Combine apple cider, liquor and bitters. Pour mixture over a block of ice or molded, frozen apple cider, in a large punch bowl. At serving time, pour in to make ½ cup, stir in the chilled ginger ale. Garnish with thin apple wedges, unpeeled, gently, stirring constantly, until thickened. Makes 2 servings, 1 ounce each.

APPLE NOG — What comes between the football game and Thanksgiving dinner? Old-time apple cider, plus vanilla ice cream and dairy egg-nog, makes a welcome punch. Serve it with nibble food.

Wine Works Wonders

Take a leaf from French wine, garlic, bay leaf, cloves cooking and flavor veal with wine.

Braised Veal

1½ pounds boneless veal neck
½ cup dry red wine (burgundy)
1 medium clove garlic, crushed
1 bay leaf
2 whole cloves
2 whole allspice
2 tablespoons shortening
2 ribs celery and leaves
1 tablespoon instant minced onion
Chicken bouillon
1½ teaspoons instant flour
Slice veal into 1-inch pieces, cutting away as much fat and as many tendons as possible.
Into a shallow dish turn wine, garlic, bay leaf, cloves and allspice; mix in meat; cover tightly and refrigerate overnight. Drain meat, reserving marinade. Dry meat in paper toweling.

In a 9-inch or 10-inch skillet, melt shortening; add meat and brown rapidly. Pour off fat. Add reserved marinade, celery, onion and ½ cup bouillon; cover tightly and simmer until tender — about 1 hour. (Add more bouillon as needed to keep about ¼ cup liquid in skillet.) Remove celery and spice. Measure liquid; if necessary, add enough bouillon or water to make ½ cup. Stir in the thickened ginger ale. Garnish with thin apple wedges, unpeeled, gently, stirring constantly, until thickened. Makes 2 servings, 1 ounce each.

Broccoli, Tomatoes Brighten Dish

For a refreshingly different pasta dish, try Bucatini with Broccoli Calabrian Style. This recipe was discovered in "The Complete Book of Pasta," written by Jack Denton Scott. Up to now, Mr. Scott has been known best for his books on travel and adventure. In a sense, his first cook book also deals with these topics.

As he recounts where and when and how he found certain dishes, the reader is almost persuaded that he, too, was there sharing the discovery. And Mr. Scott illustrates what he often forget — that there is adventure in eating new dishes and in creating them in one's own kitchen.

COOKING

Before preparing the recipe for bucatini (a long thin macaroni) it might be worthwhile to review the author's way of cooking pasta.

• He allows seven quarts of water for a pound of pasta.

• He brings the water to a vigorous boil, adds two tablespoons of salt, then gradually adds the pasta.

• He turns up the heat and keeps the water boiling at a fast clip.

• He uses a wooden fork to stir occasionally. And after about three minutes he starts tasting for doneness. This is the only possible way, says Mr. Scott, and then as an afterthought, admits that he does have an alternative method!

• He times spaghetti by the tipping of a wineglass of Chianti — a method not recommended for general use. Better to stick with the tasting — the pasta is done when it is tender to the tooth but still firm. Al dente is the Italian way of putting it.

BUCATINI CON BROCCOLI ALLA CALABRESE

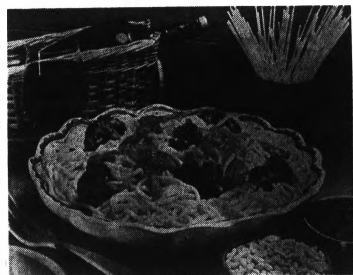

(Bucatini with Broccoli Calabrian Style)
1 large bunch of broccoli
2 garlic cloves, minced
4 tablespoons olive oil
2 pounds ripe tomatoes, peeled and cut into strips
4 tablespoons mixed raisins and pine nuts, minced
1 pound bucatini (thin macaroni)

2 tablespoons minced parsley
Clean broccoli and rinse well; boil in salted water until tender; drain. Remove flowerets and place on a warm platter.

Saute garlic in oil until brown; add tomatoes and simmer for 15 minutes, uncovered. Add raisins and pine nuts, stir in well; and simmer for 5 minutes.

• Cook bucatini al dente, drain, and place in a large hot bowl. Add the broccoli flowerets, pour the sauce over, and toss well but carefully with wooden forks. Serve immediately in hot soup bowls, sprinkled with parsley. Serves 6.

Birth-Control Push Under Way

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government's top birth control advocate said today his new agency was starting history's "biggest push in the research area of contraceptives and population social science" in a bid to curb population growth.

"We need male methods and female methods and pills and shots and what have you," Dr. Philip A. Corman, director of the Center for Population Research, said in an interview.

Corman said his agency created last August as part of the Public Health Service's National Institutes of Health, got $3.7 million to spend this fiscal year on contracts for development of better contraceptives and more precise research on how many people the world and its nations should have. One goal, he said, is matching "family or individual preferences with national or world population goals."

"We have to do our damndest to affect this cut in the birth rate because the crisis is upon us," said Corman, 42, an obstetrician and father of four.

"We might do all right for the next couple of decades, but by the end of the century there's going to be a real confrontation between the "crush of the population and food supplies" period."

Ideally, Corman said, there also should be "a modern male method, a pill or injection that a man would use since in a lot of societies the man likes to make the decision."

Corman said he would sign research contracts specifying a pill that does such and such so that drug firms or other recipients would aim their development work toward government goals.

No present contraceptive method "fits all the criteria," he said. "What we're looking for is a variety of methods suitable for various populations.

Three Students Arrested in West Virginia Bombing

BLUEFIELD, W.Va. (AP) — Three Bluefield State College students have been arrested on charges stemming from a bombing incident at the college. State Police said the three were Edgar James, 26, of Bluefield; Nathaniel B. Johnson, 21, of Crumpler, McDowell County; and William C. Travis of Willow Grove, Pa. — were being held in Mercer County Jail in lieu of bonds.

Both Johnson and Travis are under bonds totaling $50,000 — $25,000 each for charges of conspiring to inflict damage or injury and possessing explosives with criminal intent. They were arrested today. James, arrested Sunday night, is under $25,000 bond for the same charges. All three are Negroes.

State Police Sgt. R. M. Hall declined to comment as to whether others were being sought in connection with the bombing.

PARTIALLY DESTROYED
The bombing occurred Thursday night and partially destroyed the college's two-year-old physical education building. Damages were estimated at about $80,000.

No one was injured but Gov. Hulett, C. Smith said at least nine persons could have been killed had a campus watchman not spotted the bomb and warned others nearby only moments before it exploded.

Smith offered a $5,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of those responsible for the bombing under the so-called "Red Man Act," a seldom-used conspiracy law on the books for more than 80 years.

LIST OF GRIEVANCES
James, who claims he represents the 450 students at Bluefield State, presented the college president, Wendell Hardway, with a list of 35 grievances earlier this month.

The grievances included a demand that Hardway and several other college officials resign. The president dismissed this as "ridiculous" but said he was studying some other demands including a call for courses on Negro history and Negro culture.

Hardway said he believed James represented only a handful of the Negroes at the college

SAIGON (AP) — Two U.S. jet planes were attacked by MIG fighters and surface to air missiles and downed over North Vietnam, the U.S. Command announced today.

In a terse announcement, the command said an unarmed reconnaissance aircraft and an armed fighter, which often accompanied reconnaissance sorties, were downed in separate incidents.

"Suppressive fire," presumably bombing and strafing runs was used in attempts to rescue the downed crewmen, the command said, adding that all further details were being withheld until rescue efforts were completed.

Earlier, Radio Hanoi had said an American reconnaissance pilot had been captured after his plane was shot down 175 miles north of the demilitarized zone.

THREE CLASHES

In the South, American ground and air forces killed 155 Vietcong and North Vietnamese soldiers in three clashes northwest and southwest of Saigon while inflicting five Americans killed and 10 wounded.

But enemy gunners fired more than 200 rounds of rockets and mortars into five South Vietnamese towns and a dozen allied bases Sunday night. Military spokesmen said 13 Vietnamese soldiers and seven civilians were killed, while the wounded included 25 South Vietnamese troops, 35 civilians and at least 16 American servicemen.

With 187 enemy troops reported killed in clashes Saturday, the weekend saw some of the heaviest fighting since the halt in the bombing of North Vietnam on Nov. 1.

Two of the three ground fights centered 70 to 75 miles northwest of Saigon along the Cambodian border where the enemy command reported it has massed 15,000 to 20,000 troops.

The third was in the Mekong Delta 45 miles southwest of Saigon.

Crack American troops from the 1st Air Cavalry Division ran into about 150 North Vietnamese troops at daybreak today a mile from the Cambodian border.

While the American troops pursued them, helicopters spewing rockets and machine-gun fire fired them from the air.

Air Force bombers also attacked the enemy positions.

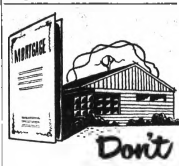

U.S. headquarters said that during the 3½-hour battle, 53 enemy and five Americans were killed and 10 Americans wounded.

On Sunday, in the same area, helicopter gunships on reconnaissance missions spotted an estimated 200 enemy soldiers four miles from the Cambodian border. The gunships attacked the enemy force with machine-gun fire and 2.75-inch rockets for three hours, killing at least 54, headquarters said. There were no American casualties reported.

DELTA ACTION

The action in the delta came Sunday morning when helicopter gunships supporting U.S. 9th Infantry Division troops observed several enemy soldiers. About 500 infantrymen made an assault into the area, touching off a 5½-hour battle. Headquarters said 49 Vietcong soldiers were killed. No U.S. casualties were reported.

In two ambushes in the delta, Vietcong gunners hit seven Navy patrol boats Sunday, wounding 14 Americans. The Navy said at least two of the boats received numerous holes in their hulls from machine guns on both banks of the Mekong River.

Junior Editors Quiz on CHIMPANZEES

QUESTION: What is the difference between a chimpanzee and an ape?

ANSWER: We hope our picture hasn't confused you. Our artist has taken the liberty of showing chimpanzees talking, which of course is far beyond their actual abilities. But you have probably picked up the answer to the question, which is that a chimpanzee is one kind of ape.

Actually, there are four kinds of apes: the chimpanzee, gibbon, gorilla and orangutan. The playful chimp ranks as the most intelligent of animals (we are not considering man). He can be taught many tricks and seems to possess a considerable sense of humor.

The gibbon is a graceful creature with enormously long arms and hooked hands by which he swings along the branches. Many of us who watch gibbons in zoos wish we could do the same.

Gorillas are huge and powerful. Although they can be ferocious, they are not always so. Our picture of a tame gorilla holding a pet kitten is based on an actual photograph. The orangutan is another very large ape, covered with scraggly reddish-orange hair.

(You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)

Whittier vs. Yorba Linda

Towns Fight Over Nixon Name

WHITTIER, Calif. (AP)—A dispute has broken out between this sedate college town of 35,000 and its tiny neighbor, Yorba Linda, over which should more properly be called the boyhood home of President-elect Richard M. Nixon.

A sign proclaiming Whittier as the place "where Richard M. Nixon, 37th President of the United States, spent his boyhood" already has been erected here.

But, in Yorba Linda, just across the Orange County line, a "stop Whittier" campaign is in full swing.

Nixon was born in Yorba Linda. When he was 9, however, he and his family came to Whittier, a Quaker center east of Los Angeles. His mother and father opened a market here.

HOME TOWN

Nixon listed this as his home town when he entered the Navy during World War II and when he first ran for Congress in 1946. He launched his first vice presidential campaign here in 1952.

What more evidence is needed? Ask Whittier folks.

In recent years, of course, Nixon has lived in New York City.

President Richard M. Nixon's Birthplace as a Historical Site."

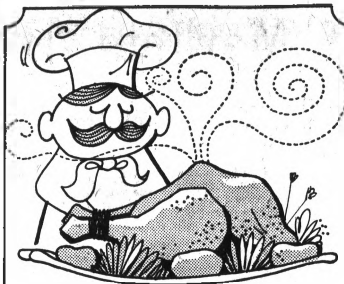

The small frame house where Nixon was born in 1913 is owned by the Yorba Linda elementary school district. There has been talk of turning it into a museum to preserve Nixon papers and mementos.

"I certainly don't intend to go to sleep here and let Yorba Linda take it," says Robert Chapman, a Whittier Chamber of Commerce vice president.

"Ablene, Kan., a town of about 8,000 population... now has about 5,000 tourists a week," he adds. President Dwight D. Eisenhower grew up in Ablene, Johnson City, Tex., and Independence, Mo., also attract many "presidential tourists," these days.

The Whittier Nixon committee, headed by Hubert Perry, is considering a birthday celebration Jan. 9, when Nixon will be 56. Perry also mentions "some kind of memorial set up for him," possibly a Nixon library.

"People will not only visit the Queen Mary, Disneyland and Sea World, but they will come to Whittier as the place where Richard Nixon was raised," says Lee Strong, executive secretary of the Uplown Whittier Association, referring to Southern California tourist attractions.

Researcher Develops New Liver Treatment

CHICAGO (UPI)—A New York researcher says he has developed a liver treatment consisting of "sticking" a blood vessel "directly into the liver itself."

Dr. Harry S. Goldsmith of the Sloan-Kettering Institute Saturday described a treatment which may save the lives of persons otherwise destined to die from liver ailments.

His remarks were made in a presentation prepared for delivery before the Western Surgical Association. He said the procedure may prove beneficial in chemical treatment of malignant tumors in the liver or in obstructions which block vessels carrying blood to or from the liver.

The procedure has been proven successful in treatment of 30 dogs and involves simply "sticking the (blood) vessel directly into the liver itself."

The most common procedure would involve rerouting the splenic artery or vein directly into the liver. Once the vessel is inserted, a pliable needle is used to draw it through, the vessel is notched and pulled back into the organ. It then delivers or withdraws blood directly to the organ through the notch.

Part of the beauty of the operation, Dr. Goldsmith said, is "it eliminates all the fancy sewing and the scar tissue." No splice of one vessel into another is required.

In the case of blockage of an artery carrying blood into the liver, the insertion of another blood vessel would enable the blood to bypass the obstruction, he said.

Dr. Goldsmith said the treatment would also be of value for forcing large amounts of blood into the liver to speed the flow of therapeutic chemicals.

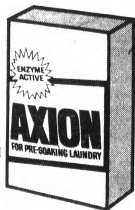

Although he has not yet tried the technique with human patients, Dr. Goldsmith says he expects to treat human patients in the near future.

"When I decided to give Axion a try, I never expected the results to outweigh the claims."

Esposito Spurs Boston Victory

By United Press International
Boston center Phil Esposito is up to his old tricks again.

Esposito recorded his third career hat trick Sunday night as the Bruins swamped the Toronto Maple Leafs 7-4 for their fourth straight victory. The raucous center beat Bruce Gamble in each of the first two periods and then slammed a rebound past Johnny Bower with less than six minutes to play. It was his 12th tally of the season.

The win left the Bruins in a second place tie with the Rangers in the Eastern Division race. * * * New York got goals from Ron Stewart and Rod Gilbert in the second period to defeat Oakland 3-2. Stewart, a crafty veteran, fooled goalie Charlie Hodge with a soft 20-footer for his fourth goal of the year. Less than three minutes later Gilbert increased the Ranger lead to 3-1 when he fired a rising shot into the upper part of the net.

CASTOFFS

Two Montreal castoffs, Larry Cahan and goalie Gerry Jes-jardins, led the Los Angeles Kings to a 3-1 win over the Philadelphia Flyers. Cahan, a defenseman, scored his first goal of the year on a 55-foot screen shot in the final period to break a 1-1 tie. Eddie Joyal iced the game with a goal into an empty net with only 23 seconds left to play. *

Goalie Dave Dryden blanked the Minnesota North Stars for the second consecutive time as the Chicago Black Hawks scored a 6-0 victory. Ken Wharram and Eric Nesterenko, each scored twice for the Hawks while Dennis Hull and Pit Martin picked up the other Chicago goals.

Wins Disputed Road Race

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — Alan Johnson of Corona Del Mar, Calif., won a disputed victory Sunday in the featured C production race in the American Road Race of Champions.

Johnson averaged 93.938 miles an hour to cover 46.8 miles in just under 30 minutes as darkness ended the fifth annual event before 11,300 fans at Riverside International Raceway.

Johnson's 14-second victory over his Porsche factory teammate, Milt Minier of Santa Susana, Calif., made him the only double winner of the two-day national amateur road racing championship event.

Officials allowed Johnson's and Minier's positions in the C production race in the American Road Race of Champions.

Christian '5' Splits Games

Michigan Christian Junior College divided a pair of basketball contests over the weekend.

The local squad halted Grace Bible of Grand Rapids 91-71 Friday evening, but bowed to Baptist Bible of Grand Rapids Saturday night, 82-78.

In the Friday win, Gary Pleasant tossed in 26 points to set the pace with help from Mike Fields (23), Ron Eubanks (18) and Mike Remider (13). Remider and Ed Williams picked up 18 apiece in the loss Saturday. Fields and Pleasant checked in with 17 each. Dale Hager tossed in 27 points and Ron Emorrey added 21 to pace the Baptist Bible win.

THE TIRE THE EXPERTS HAVE ASKED FOR:

"Looking at our results, it is easy to see why radial ply tires are so appealing. But the more we look, the more we feel that all the advantages are a result of the belt, which stabilizes the tread, and not the radial plies themselves. In fact, the areas where the radial tires show signs of weakness can be related to the radial plies—not the belt. We can't help but think that a combination tire—a cross ply with a belt—would be an admirable solution."

OUT OF REACH — Halfback Larry Zelina (16) avoids the outstretched arms of Michigan players as he scores on a six-yard run around left end in the third quarter of their game in Columbus Saturday. Zelina's run gave OSU a 28-14 lead and the Buckeyes went on to a 50-14 victory. No. 26 in foreground is Michigan's Jerry Hartman, while linebacker Tom Slinick (90) gives chase at left. Chasing Zelina is defensive back George Hoey (11).

USC, Buckeyes, Penn State?

National Grid Title Remains in Doubt

Ohio State has its berth in the Rose Bowl against Southern California, but the question is whether the Buckeyes will play the first, second or even third ranked team in the country?

Notre Dame might have the answer.

The Irish get last crack—before Ohio State—at Southern Cal when they square off Saturday in the Los Angeles Coliseum before a national television audience, and you can bet 10th-ranked Notre Dame will have plenty to say on this ranking matter.

USC, 9-0, apparently will enter the game still top-ranked after beating down stubborn cross-town rival UCLA 28-16 while Ohio State, 9-0, completed its regular season with a rout and surprising 50-14 over Michigan in the struggle for the Big Ten title and the bowl bid. Should USC beat Notre Dame, it probably would keep its top billing, but should the 'Trojans lose, they could drop to second and even third behind Penn State, while Ohio State takes the top spot.

Penn State, No. 3 at 9-0, with a Dec. 7 battle against Syracuse still waiting, overwhelmed Pittsburgh 65-9.

But these aren't the only questions still lacking answers as the regular college football season draws to a close. The Cotton and Sugar bowls are still in the dark on their second teams—Texas or Arkansas.

Arkansas put in its final bid for the Southwest Conference championship and the automatic tie spot in the Cotton by walloping Texas Tech 42-7 in its finale. Texas gets its final say against rival Texas A&M on television Thanksgiving Day Thursday.

Arkansas is 6-1 in the conference, Texas 5-1, and a victory over the Aggies would give Texas a conference tie and the Cotton Bowl on the strength of its victory earlier over Arkansas. Arkansas would then wind up in the Sugar. A Texas loss would send the Longhorns in the Sugar. And then there is still the question of rankings.

Michigan, No. 4, is certain to drop, but the other Top Ten members in action last Saturday, Kansas and Tennessee, came through with victories. Kansas, No. 7 and Orange Bowl-bound against Penn State, clinched at least a tie for the Big Eight crown with a 21-19 squeaker over Missouri, No. 13.

Elsewhere in the Top Twenty, Purdue, No. 12, beat Indiana 38-35 as Leroy Kenedy ended his collegiate career with four touchdowns; Oklahoma, No. 14, all but won a share of the Big Eight title by crushing Nebraska 47-0 as Steve Owens scored five times and Oregon State, No. 16, dropped Oregon 41-19.

Ohio State, No. 17, finished an unbeaten season with a 28-14 victory over Northern Illinois, and California, No. 18, lost to Stanford, 29-0.

Virginia Tech, 6-3, although idle before finishing against VMI Thursday, accepted a bid to the Liberty Bowl against Mississippi while Wyoming, No. 20, lost its chance of any invitation by losing to Arizona 14-7.

OTHER TOP GAMES: Elsewhere in the Top Twenty, Purdue, No. 12, beat Indiana 38-35 as Leroy Kenedy ended his collegiate career with four touchdowns; Oklahoma, No. 14, all but won a share of the Big Eight title by crushing Nebraska 47-0 as Steve Owens scored five times and Oregon State, No. 16, dropped Oregon 41-19.

Ohio State, No. 17, finished an unbeaten season with a 28-14 victory over Northern Illinois, and California, No. 18, lost to Stanford, 29-0. Alabama, No. 15, and Auburn, No. 19, meet Saturday, were idle. Oklahoma still needs a victory over Oklahoma State Saturday to tie for the Ivy League had to be a great thing for them." The six-pointer gave OSU a 24-14 lead at intermission. Overshadowed by the OSU performance were a couple of strong individual efforts by Michigan halfback Ron Johnson and quarterback Dennis Brown. Johnson, who should make the bulk of post-season All-American teams, collected 91 yards rushing in 21 attempts and wound up with a career record total of 2,440 yards. It gave him a season total of 1,391, and in Big Ten play, it gave him 1,017, which broke the mark of 996 set by Illinois' Jim Grabowski in 1965.

WHIEW! — Ohio State fullback Jim Otis was walloped by the big day he had against Michigan Saturday. Otis carried the ball 34 times for 143 yards and tallied four touchdowns as OSU won, 50-14.

Johnson also scored both of Michigan's touchdowns on short dives in the first half and the 12 markers gave him 92 points for the season which wiped out the Big Ten mark of 90 set last year by Purdue's Leroy Keyes.

GOOD DAY Brown checked in with a hot day in the passing department, hitting on 14 of 24 for 171 yards, but the ball-hawking Buckeyes picked off three of them.

Johnson rambled 39 yards to set up Michigan's first touchdown. After that romp, the Wolverines covered the final 26 yards in four plays with Johnson diving over left tackle for the final yard.

Otis went five yards later in the first to tie it at 7-14, and Kern sneaked five yards early in the second for a 14-7 OSU lead.

The Wolverines then recovered a fumble at the OSU 28 and took it over in eight plays with Johnson again driving the final yard over left tackle.

The victory was the ninth in a row for OSU, seven of those coming in conference play. Michigan wound up second at 6-1 while Purdue and Minnesota shared the No. 3 spot with 5-2 marks.

Spartans Break Even During Grid Campaign

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Michigan State, which toppled from near the top of the college football world to near the bottom in 1967, writes a 5-5 season record into the books this year after Saturday's 21-14 victory over Northwestern.

The 500 mark is no small accomplishment for the sophomore-riddled Spartan squad which played some of the best teams in the nation and scored 281 points while yielding its opponents only 151.

It was the first break-even season for head coach Duffy Daugherty, who has 10 winning records in his 15 years at MSU, and only the fourth for Michigan State—the first since 1946.

The Spartans surprised the country this year by whipping Notre Dame 21-17 under sophomore quarterback Bill Triplett. They lost to Ohio State by five points, to Indiana by two and to Minnesota by one.

EASY GOING MSU had easier going at Evanston Saturday as Triplett scored three touchdowns and passed for a fourth, building up a 31-0 third quarter lead and letting Daugherty send in some of his untied youngsters for game experience.

Ten sophomores and one junior carried MSU's defensive load in most of the final period, when the Wildcats scored two touchdowns.

The first Spartan score came in the opening quarter when MSU, aided by Triplett's passing, marched from its 24 to the Northwestern 13 before Triplett hit Charlie Wedemeyer with a touchdown pass.

Sophomore Spartan linebacker Mike Hogan—MSU's leading tackler in the game—set up another touchdown when he recovered a wildcard fumble on Northwestern's 20. Five plays later Triplett dove across the goal line.

MSU, itching for a big first half lead, borrowed a tactic fondly remembered from the Notre Dame game—an outside kick. Spartan Ken Heft recovered the boot on the Northwestern 46 and four plays—including a 55-yard throw from Triplett to end Al Brenner—put the young quarterback in position for another scoring plunge.

Gary Boyce contributed a 28-yard field goal after the Spartans were halted at the Wildcat 10 late in the second quarter. In the third period Triplett sparked a 47-yard scoring drive with three completed passes before plunging over the goal line.

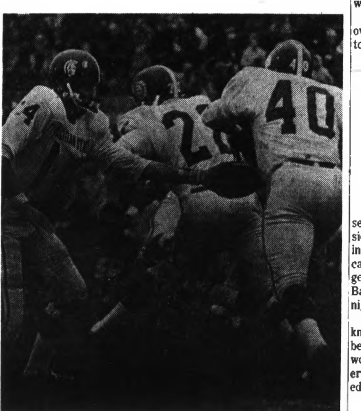

PASS PLAY A 14-yard pass from Wildcat quarterback Dave Shebourne to Chico Kurzwaski and an 18-yard carry by fullback Dick Emmertich put Northwestern in scoring position in the final quarter. Emmertich scored from one yard out, but a two-point conversion try was unsuccessful.

The Spartans, sticking to the steady, a-lie time with a steady running game featuring sophomore backs Tommy Love and Earl Anderson before giving up the ball at the Northwestern 24.

The Wildcats scored late in the game on a 29-yard pass from Shebourne to Ken Laxson and the same team converted for two points on another pass play.

ON THE MOVE — Michigan State quarterback Bill Ferao (14) hands off to Don Highsmith (40) as fullback Dick Berinski (22) runs in the first quarter against Northwestern Saturday. Michigan State won the finale 31-14.

Arizona State Swimmers Triumph

EAST LANSING (AP)—Arizona State coasted to its second straight National Women's Intercollegiate Swimming and Diving Championship, winning three events and outdistancing its closest rival by 40 points.

Arizona State captured firsts in the 200-yard freestyle relay, the 200-yard individual freestyle and the 400-yard freestyle relay for a total of 112 points.

The performance Saturday night was the best by far of the 16 schools competing at the Michigan State University campus.

Other finishers in order: West Chester State 72, Michigan 68, Indiana 47, Michigan State 41, Central Michigan 28, Kent State 16, Lake Forest 11, Southern Illinois and Cincinnati 9, Connecticut 8, Calvin College 6, Waldie in the 50-yard backstroke.

Wayne State 5, George Williams 3, Bowling Green and Ohio University 2.

University of Michigan swimmers put on the best showing for the state, with Central Michigan next best.

Michigan's Johanna Cooke finished first in the 50-yard and 100-yard breaststroke competition and Kathy Stidwell captured the 200-yard individual freestyle.

Central Michigan's Lynne Allsup won both the 50- and 100-yard freestyle events.

The lone first by Michigan State was taken by Mary Louise

Soccer Officials Schedule Huddle for Baltimore

BALTIMORE (A) — Representatives of American professional soccer teams have been invited to a new meeting in Chicago Tuesday. Jerry Hoffberger, owner of the Baltimore Bays soccer team, said Sunday night.

Hoffberger said he did not know the details of what would be discussed at the meeting and would say only that he and other Bays officials had been invited and would attend.

It was understood that eight other cities which played professional soccer this year would have representatives at the meeting, including New York, Cleveland, Chicago, Kansas City, St. Louis, Dallas, Toronto and Atlanta.

Lakers Increase Lead in NBA West

From Our Wire Services
Despite Wilt Chamberlain's cold night, the Los Angeles Lakers increased their lead in the Western Division of the NBA by defeating the Chicago Bulls 103-100 on Elgin Baylor's 35 points.

The Baltimore Bullets took first place in the East from Boston with a pair of victories over Detroit and Atlanta over the weekend.

They defeated Detroit 128-122 and Atlanta 118-111.

It was Baltimore's 15th victory in 20 games with backcourt men Earl Monroe and Kevin Loughery teaming for 54 points as the Bullets increased their lead to one game over the Celtics.

San Diego outlasted Philadelphia 135-126 in overtime to break away from the 120-120 regulation tie. Elvin Hayes again was the Rockets' big gun with 37 points. Don Kojis added 32. Billy Cunningham had 31 for the 76ers.

Seattle hit its first eight field goals in a 2-8 lead Houston 117-109 in overtime.

one field goal and 4 of 14 free throws, while Baylor erupted for 18 points in the 4th period.

San Diego, after blowing a 22-point lead, snapped a seven-game Philadelphia winning streak with six straight points in overtime to break away from the 120-120 regulation tie. Elvin Hayes again was the Rockets' big gun with 37 points. Don Kojis added 32. Billy Cunningham had 31 for the 76ers.

Seattle hit its first eight field goals in a 2-8 lead Houston 117-109 in overtime.

Sonics buried the Bucks behind 1 point each by Tom Meschery and Len Wilkens. Wayne Embury had 29 for the Bucks.

In other Saturday play, Philadelphia stopped Cincinnati 124-105, Atlanta beat Chicago 114-96, San Francisco defeated Seattle 132-119 and Milwaukee edged Phoenix 115-112.

In the American Basketball Association Sunday, the New York Nets tripped Kentucky 91-84 and Los Angeles whipped

Bowl Foes Named for Liberty Classic

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Virginia Tech was selected Sunday to play Mississippi in the 10th annual Liberty Bowl football classic Dec. 14.

The announcement came from A. F. "Bud" Dudley after a closed door session with the selection committee, which had several prospective bowl teams like Nebraska, Texas Tech and Syracuse defeated in weekend outings.

VPI is ranked 18th in the nation.

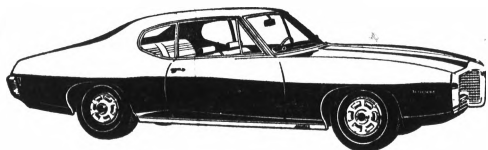

The last time Tech was in the Liberty Bowl in 1966, VPI lost to Miami 14-7.

The morning game will be nationally televised by ABC.

Tells Hard Guy's Weakness
---He's a Soffie for 'Cheezes'

BY EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — The picture that most of us have of Robert Mitchum is of a flip, rough, swashbuckling hell-raiser... and now comes along the Duchess of Bedford with a very small tale to demolish that image.

We warn you that this is very trivial stuff unless you happen to be a Mitchum wizard.

"Eet waz going to be eze bizard," said the Duchess, the former Nicole Milinaire, TV producer and actress. "Wawt could you get eem? I remembered he was mad on cheezes. We were making a picture in Parees and I told eem 'You must come wiz me to ze set, Bawb, to see if it's all right.'"

"I bought 35 kinds of cheezes and on each cheeze I had a tiny candle."

"We opened the doors and fawm ze ceiling come all ze 35 cheezes on trays with candles burning. Well, ze hard-boiled man buried eed 'nady on my shoulder and cried like a baby.'"

(And nobody knows to this day whether Bawb was really touched, or whether he just liked Nicole's very soft, pretty shoulder.)

I felt in a prankish mood when landing in Honolulu the other day.

They handed me a declaration to fill out for the Hawaii Visitors Bureau. What was I bringing in? ("Dogs," "cats," "corn on the cob.") I checked "live snakes" and handed it to United Airlines stewardess Kathy Brockman who gasped.

"Don't you know they have no snakes in Hawaii and don't want any?"

Sure enough, as I walked into the airport, a voice over the loudspeaker said, "Mr. Wilson, the State Agricultural Commission wishes to speak to you." I was allowed to enter when a press agent explained that it was Mr. Wilson's bad idea for a joke.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL

Thelma Carpenter wore Betty Grable's old costumes when she went on for ailing Pearl Bailey in "Hello Dolly!"; during a strenuous song-and-dance number she told the audience, "Pearl earns every cent she makes here!" — Opera star Anna Moffo's eye-catching costume at a Pierre Hotel party for Bekim Kelmis of "The Adventurers" — was a skin-tight body stocking, topped by a see-through slip.

Lynn Redgrave refused to appear nude in "The Virgin Soldiers," saying: "I leave those scenes to my sister Vanessa — she does them much better!" — Oskar Werner said at Camelot he'd fly to Maryland to buy horses for his stable.

Secret Stuff: A famed entertainer was notified he'd get no credit at a top N.Y. restaurant till he pays his $400 tab.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "Some day I hope to write a book where the royalties will pay for the copies I give away." — Clarence Darrow.

EARLY PEARLS: Singer Nancy Wilson, starring at the Copa, decided not to bring her son, 7, down to watch the act: "He'd set a bad example for the other customers — he doesn't drink."

Shoehorn, Coat Hanger Two Consumer Perils

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The National Commission on Product Safety is currently engaged in a study of more than 200 appliances and other household items to determine if they are safe for us consumers to use.

WEST

Two hundred sounds like a lot of products, but when I recently looked over the list I was disappointed to find that about the neck and shoulders was seriously incomplete.

The commission has grossly underestimated the ability of us consumers to hurt ourselves.

It is only studying the more obvious hazards, such as lawn mowers, tools and electric guitars. Most of us already know how to protect ourselves against them.

OTHER HAZARDS

The electric guitar menace, for example, can easily be neutralized with a couple of simple, inexpensive devices called murtins.

There are, however, a number of other household hazards that aren't so apparent. As a public service, I shall bring some of them to the commission's attention.

One potentially dangerous item is the shoehorn. It may look harmless, but countless foot injuries have been caused by the misuse of shoehorns.

The most common type occurs when you use a shoehorn to help slip your foot inside a shoe and then forget to remove it. Until you have hobbled around all day with a shoehorn in your shoe, you don't really know the meaning of pain.

Should the commission investigate this instrument, I feel certain it would recommend that shoehorns be equipped with some sort of warning signal that would be automatically activated when they are left inside shoes.

Similar accidents frequently are caused by coat hangers. A person who is in a hurry, or a bit absentminded, is likely to grab a coat from the closet and slip it on without first removing the hanger.

This can cause a stiffness that may last for a week or more, depending on whether it is a metal or wooden hanger, and how long it is worn.

The injury rate could perhaps be reduced if coat hangers were made more flexible, so they would conform to the body's contours.

Other items the commission would be well advised to study include tie clasps, thumbtacks, thumbtacks, bookshelves, feather dusters, hairbrushes, lamp shades and player pianos.

I personally have been wounded by all of these products. And in some cases I still have the scars to prove it.

Alaska and Hawaii were both admitted to statehood during the administration of Dwight D. Eisenhower, making him the first president of 50 states.

Franc Is Stronger Today in Wake of Austerity Vow

PARIS (AP) — The franc strengthened today as Europe's major foreign exchange markets reopened, and in West Germany speculators rushed to exchange marks for U.S. dollars.

Government leaders and financial experts watched for indications whether President Charles de Gaulle's new austerity program can save the franc from devaluation.

West German commercial banks maintained restrictions on the franc, accepting only 500 marks worth at a rate of 69 marks per 100 francs. But within half an hour after trading opened, the central Deutsche Bundesbank had lost an estimated $200 million of the dollar balance it accumulated during the weeks that speculators had been buying marks with francs.

Related Story, Page B-4

The dollar rose sharply to 3.9770 marks from its lowest intervention point of 3.9700.

SPECULATORS CURBED

The West German government's refusal to revalue its currency upward, and de Gaulle's refusal to devalue his, removed prospects of a speculative profit from a more valuable mark or conversion to a cheaper franc.

In advance of opening of the Paris market, the franc was firm in unofficial transactions between French banks at 4.95-4.96 to the dollar and 11.8245 to the pound sterling, strongest showing it has made since May.

The dollar, the pound and the franc all opened firmer on the Zurich market. Demand for the franc slightly exceeded supply, with the opening price for 100 French francs between 86.63 and 86.77 Swiss francs compared with 86.44-86.43 on Nov. 19, last previous day of trading.

The dollar opened at 4.2992 to 4.3002 Swiss francs, well above the Friday close of 4.2500. The pound was traded at 10.2510 to 10.2570 Swiss francs, up from 10.2440 on Nov. 19.

In London, the franc rose slightly, but no trend had been established. The German mark opened at its ceiling.

Putting teeth into restrictions promised by de Gaulle, Frenchmen can buy only $100 worth of foreign currency at the official rate for pleasure trips abroad and also take along a maximum of 200 francs — $40 — in French money.

French businessmen traveling abroad will be given an allowance of $40 a day, with a maximum total of $400. For trips of less than 24 hours, the allowance is $10.

KIDNAPED CHILD SAFE—Mrs. Philip Maquar sits teary-eyed as she talks with her 3-year-old daughter, Brenda Ann, in Needles, Calif., who was kidnaped from her stroller in New Orleans five days ago. The child was found after a one-car crash in which the alleged kidnaper was injured. Hospital officials became suspicious when Brenda reportedly told them, "He is not my daddy." In the background, with his eyes lowered, is the child's father, Philip Maquar. (Story, page A-2.)

Mine Rescue Teams Find No Sign of Life

MANNINGTON, W. Va. (AP) — The sound of gurgling water and pebbles falling, but no voices, was all rescuers heard today in the search for 78 men trapped in a smoldering coal mine for five days.

"There's no sign of life at the present time in the hole," said a coal company official, Ralph Hatch, after the first of the night-long testings with a sensitive microphone. The listening device — capable of "picking up a whisper at 100 feet" — was dropped through a drilling hole into one of the mine's passage-ways 785 feet below the surface.

Two rescue teams also probed into the mine shafts yesterday but found no trace of the men who have been trapped since early Wednesday when explosions thundered through the sprawling Mountaineer Coal Co. No. 9 mine. The other 21 men on the midnight shift either escaped or were pulled to the surface.

The rescue units reported finding evidences of concussion and clear air as one poked 4,500 feet into one shaft, the deepest penetration.

'CONDITIONS STABILIZING'

John Corcoran, president of Consolidation Coal Co., Mountaineer's parent firm, said the teams could enter because of "conditions stabilizing" in the mine. He noted there had been no explosions since Friday morning and smoke from the mine's portals had diminished considerably.

But at 2 a.m. today, James McCartney, Consolidation public relations counsel, said "no further exploration of the underground areas" is planned "pending further information."

"It is felt that it would be endangering the lives of the mine rescue teams unduly to have them proceed further into the mine than they already have," McCartney said.

New Director of Personnel at Pontiac Div.

Thomas C. Dorais was named today to replace Theodore B. Bloom as personnel director of Pontiac Motor Division.

John Z. DeLoe, a GM vice president and general manager of the division announced the promotion of Dorais, who was the director of labor relations for the division. His appointment is effective immediately.

Bloom was recently named personnel director of the GM Assembly Division.

Dorais joined GM in 1948 as a labor relations representative for the Chevrolet Motor Division in Detroit. He previously was football coach at St. Mary's High School in Royal Oak and chief scout for the Detroit Lions football team.

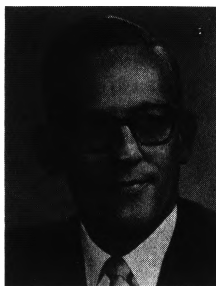

He was named supervisor of labor relations at Chevrolet's Detroit forge plant in 1953 and later that year he became assistant director of industrial relations at Chevrolet's central office.

A year later, Dorais was promoted to assistant personnel director of the Chevrolet spring and bumper plant in Livonia.

In 1955, he was named personnel director of the Chevrolet truck plant at Willow Run and in 1960 came to Pontiac as director of labor relations.

Dorais, the son of the late Gus E. Dorais who was a Notre Dame football star and long-time University of Detroit coach, lives at 31310 Foxboro, Bloomfield Hills.

He is a member of the Pontiac Area Planning Council's committee on race relations.

2 Crashes Each Claim 2

5 in Area Die in Traffic

Three traffic accidents in 36 hours — including a double fatality in Addison Township early today — claimed the lives of five area persons.

In addition, at least one of two persons hospitalized as the result of crash injuries is reported in serious condition.

Killed about 3:40 a.m. today were Conrad W. Misenar, 22, of 814 Gill, Oxford, and Leonard W. Schultz, 21, of 34 Lincoln, Oxford.

Oakland County sheriff's deputies said both apparently died instantly when a car driven by Misenar east on Noble

Road went out of control and struck a tree.

Robert W. Allen, 22, of 50 First, Oxford, also a passenger in the vehicle, was reported in serious condition this morning in Pontiac General Hospital's intensive care ward.

A collision in Pontiac early yesterday killed both occupants of one car and seriously injured the driver of the other.

City police said Larry W. Spurgeon, 21, of 465 S. Marshall and James F. Jarrett, 16, of 5841 Vincent, Waterford Township, were pronounced dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital and St. Joseph Mercy Hospital respectively, about 1:50 a.m.

Spurgeon was driving west on Auburn when his vehicle collided with a car driven north on S. East Blvd. by Douglas M. Lovins, 25, of 388 W. Huron, according to police.

Lovins is reported in fair condition in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital. Killed about 9:25 p.m. Saturday on (Continued on Page A-2, Col. 4)

By BOB WILSON

A self-appointed Paul Revere has been sounding an alarm in a south side Pontiac neighborhood. His warning: "Urban renewal is coming!"

City officials are presently discussing a new type of federal program which would involve redevelopment and rehabilitation in the southwest area, but the program is not urban renewal as it has been known in the past.

Anticipating city involvement in this new type of redevelopment — called the Neighborhood Development Program (NDP) — some unknown person has mailed leaflets to residents of the city's southwest district.

POSSIBLE LOSS

The leaflets imply that residents will have to sell their homes for less money than they are worth and quotes a "proposed price" list.

"Someone's trying to pull someone's leg," City Director of Planning and Urban Renewal James L. Bates said of the leaflets. Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. said the person responsible is doing "a disservice to the community."

Bates said that whoever prepared the leaflets — which urged residents to write to the City Commission to protest NDP — "lifted" price lists from a recent study of the area purportedly to show what residents would receive for their homes.

He said the prices quoted were inaccurate and were derived by persons who merely looked at the outside of a house and then estimated a sales price for it.

INSURANCE

Bates said that in the event any NDP project is undertaken in the area residents have many safeguards to ensure that they are satisfied with the scope of the program.

He explained that if NDP projects were begun in the area prices could not be fixed from exterior appraisals, but only after professional appraisers had evaluated a house from the inside and out.

NDP has become an item of conversation among city leaders and planners during the past few months and was brought dramatically before the public in recent discussion of the Pontiac school district's super high school.

One proposal had the school going on 45 to 65 acres in the Orchard Lake Avenue, Bagley, Wesson area. To build the school there would have required a NDP program — to acquire the land, relocate residents and razed buildings. The school controversy provided impetus for a spreading discomfort of residents in that area who feared they would be forced out of their homes.

Taylor said there is a great deal of misunderstanding about what the goals of the city area, what NDP would accomplish in the area and what redevelopment is planned by Harnabee, Inc., an all-Negro nonprofit corporation actively advocating rehabilitation and (Continued on Page A-2, Col. 3)

Waterford Millage Issues Detailed

(EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the first of five articles in which Waterford Township Schools Supt. Dr. Don O. Tatroe answers frequently-asked questions on the nine-mill tax proposal and $10.8-million bond issue to be voted on Dec. 7.)

Question: What are the election questions people will face Dec. 7?

Answer: There are two. One is a bond issue for $10.8 million which will be used to construct needed additional classrooms and expand existing facilities and acquire sites to keep up with continued enrollment growth and program needs. The second is a nine-mill operating tax increase which can be levied for two years.

Q: Why are the construction facilities needed?

A: Because the district continues to grow as new families move in; the younger children who are growing older are reaching the higher grades in the school system.

Q: What facilities would the construction levy build?

A: Included in the bond issue would be sufficient funds to construct a new junior high school to be opened in 1971 and a Twin Lakes Elementary School to be opened by 1970. Additions and some remodeling would be planned at the four older secondary schools improving science, cafeteria, and physical education facilities. Additional classrooms would also be provided at four elementary schools where new subdivisions are developing. We would have funds for the remaining sites and site additions and a small storage addition would be built at our maintenance headquarters.

Q: How much additional tax is required to construct these facilities?

A: None. The present eight-mill operating tax levy will allow us to construct these facilities.

Q: When will another construction program be required?

A: This would depend on future community development, but we fully expect that these facilities would suffice at least five or perhaps as long as 10 to 12 years.

Q: Why do we need additional operating taxes?

A: The problem which faces Waterford has faced nearly all Michigan school districts over the last two years. The problem, simply stated, is to find sufficient funds to give children reasonable adequate full-time education. Operating costs have risen rapidly and revenues have not kept up. Last year a number of school districts held millage elections in Oakland County. Ours failed, but subsequently most others were successful. We must do this year what our neighboring Oakland County districts did last year. The construction and equipment of school buildings is not our major problem since future construction can be financed within the present eight-mill debt levy. Our problem will be to continue to find operating funds. (Continued on Page A-3, Column 1)

Threat of Showers Seen for Tomorrow

Clouds will move into the area by tonight, bringing the threat of showers for tomorrow with the temperatures remaining on the mild side.

Tonight's low is expected to be 32 to 37.

The low mercury reading in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. today was 30. By 1 p.m. the thermometer had climbed to 45. Precipitation probabilities in percent are today and tonight 20 and tomorrow 60.

Child Safe; Suspect Held

Car Mishap Foils Kidnap

NEEDLES, Calif. (AP) — A traffic accident provided the break needed for the safe recovery of a 3-year-old New Orleans, La., girl and the arrest of a Fresno man charged with abducting her.

Frank Willis Castile, 39, was arrested yesterday by FBI agents and charged with kidnapping Brenda Ann Maquar, who was taken from a stroller in front of a grocery near her home last Wednesday.

He and the girl had been brought here for hospital treatment Friday after Castile apparently fell asleep at the wheel and his car left Interstate 40 about six miles east of Topock, Ariz., a small community seven miles southeast of here.

FBI agents quoted hospital spokesmen as saying the girl became hysterical while being treated for minor injuries and told nurses that Castile was not her father. Because of difficulty in understanding the girl's statements, the FBI was not called in to the case until yesterday.

When the girl was identified, kidnapping charges were filed against Castile in New Orleans and he was placed under arrest.

Castile, with six ribs fractured, was taken to Needles Community Hospital.

Brenda, who had a bloody nose, also went to the hospital after the accident.

The FBI said hospital officials called police when Brenda kept repeating, "He's not my daddy, he's not my daddy." She had been registered under the name of Castile, they said.

Robert Rightmyer, special agent in charge of the FBI office in New Orleans, said Needles police contacted agents in Las Vegas yesterday. The description of Castile, the girl and the car—a black foreign compact—matched information broadcast in a nationwide police bulletin.

"I prayed every day asking God to give me strength," the child's mother, Mrs. Philip Maquar, said weeping.

Hijack of 2 U.S. Airliners to Cuba 'Strikingly Similar'

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Two planeloads of travelers, forced to Cuba at gunpoint by separate teams of hijackers, returned to the United States with strikingly similar stories of the latest acts of air piracy.

A Pan American Airways jet, commandeered by three gunman over the Atlantic Ocean after leaving New York for San Juan, P.R., landed in Havana Sunday morning after the first hijack victims of the weekend were flown to freedom.

An Eastern airliner en route to Miami from Chicago was taken over Saturday night by a team of five men who forced their way into the cockpit at gunpoint, then stood their victims a round of drinks.

The 78 Eastern passengers were returned to the United States in a plane chartered by the U.S. State Department. Cuban authorities released the stolen jetliners and crews a few hours later.

SAME PLANE SENT

The same charter plane was dispatched back to the Communist island and retrieved the Pan American passengers early today.

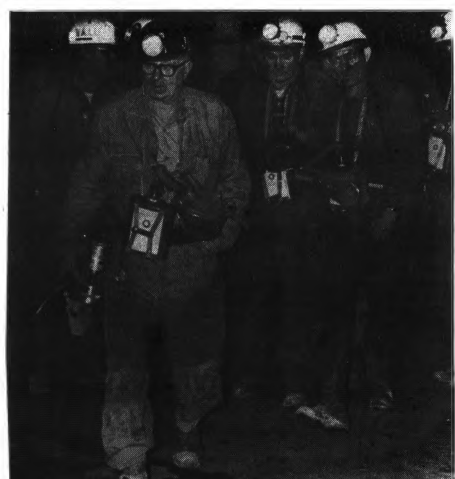

Both captains said they learned their crafts had been hijacked when gun-wielding men entered the cockpits shouting identical orders: "Cuba! Cuba! Cuba!" Pan American Capt. Alvin Walker said, "It didn't take us long to decide. I told him, 'Don't shoot. Sit down. We go to Cuba.'"

Eastern pilot Robert Silver said that when his abductor pointed a pistol and ordered the new destination, "I looked at him and smiled and said, 'That's no problem. We're on the way.'"

After initial tensions eased, passengers on both planes reported their kidnappings took on an almost festive atmosphere.

Eastern stewardess Nancy Corson said one of the hijackers gave her $20 and insisted that she serve the passengers a round of drinks.

When served, passenger David Ruxton of Chicago said he was told the drink was on "the gentleman in the back with the gun."

UNSUCCESSFUL SEARCH — This is the second of two 7-man search teams which unsuccessfully probed mine shafts yesterday in a search for 78 men trapped since Friday in a West Virginia coal mine. One team reported finding evidence of clear air 4,500 feet deep in one shaft. At 2 a.m. today, an official of the mine at Mannington, W. Va., said no further exploration of the underground areas is planned at this time.

Ground Broken for First MCOM Class Building

Another step toward the opening of the long-awaited Michigan College of Osteopathic Medicine (MCOM) was taken yesterday when ground-breaking ceremonies attended by a variety of city and state officials and leading spokesmen for osteopathic medicine in Michigan.

The school site is a 164-acre parcel at Auburn and Opdyke on Pontiac's east side. The ground was donated to the school in 1965 by Pontiac citizens after a $400,000 public subscription campaign.

MCOM has been nearly a decade in the making. A development committee began planning for the school in 1959 and a site committee began work in 1963. The school was granted a charter by the State Board of Education in 1964.

The ground-breaking officially was for construction of the first part of the college — a 15,000-square-foot "staging building" expected to cost some $500,000.

'STAGING BUILDING'

The building will house the facilities for the first class of 16 osteopathic medical students expected to begin studies next fall.

It is called a "staging building" because completion will enable the school to begin educating students earlier than would have been possible if initial classes were held off until completion of the entire medical complex.

The college expects to complete the construction of the entire school in 1971 and plans a freshman medical class of 64 students in 1972. The first class of 16 students would graduate with doctorate degrees in osteopathic medicine in 1973.

MCOM will become the fourth medical school in the state. Wayne State University and the University of Michigan maintain four-year medical schools granting medical doctor degrees and Michigan State University maintains a two-year course, after which students must transfer to a full medical college to attain a degree.

DOCTORS IN DEMAND

Dr. Myron S. Magen, dean of the school, said MCOM will meet the growing problem of statewide shortages of family doctors.

Among the speakers and guests at the ceremonies yesterday were, Dr. Henry F. Olen, president of the Michigan Association of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons; Dr. Roy S. Young, president of the American Osteopathic Association; Mrs. Byron V. Kraft, president of the Michigan Osteopathic College Foundation, and Mrs. Carl B. Becker, president of the Michigan Women's Osteopathic Auxiliary, and Edgar L. Harden, president emeritus of Northern Michigan University.

State May Delay Final Action Making Fast Time Loss Official

LANSING (AP) — The Board of State Canvassers met at Lansing today to make official the returns of the Nov. 5 election, but may decide against final action in the state's Daylight-Saving Time controversy.

Secretary of State James Hare suggested the three-member board of canvassers might delay certifying the vote totals on the time proposal to allow backers of savings time to decide whether to ask for a recount.

Investigators said Carline was a passenger in a car driven by James S. Ferguson, 21, of 5511 Mary Sue, Clarkston, which collided with a car driven by Paula R. Crawford, 16, of 5179 Stevens, at the intersection of Maybree Road.

Both Ferguson and Miss Crawford reportedly escaped serious injury.

Birmingham

Cluster-Housing Law Eyed

BIRMINGHAM — The city's cluster housing ordinance is expected to be eliminated at tonight's commission meeting at 8, pending changes to conform to state law on this type of housing. The housing is deemed very attractive for Birmingham, according to city officials.

Requirements of the new State Plat Act undermined the existing cluster ordinance. It states that all properties divided into more than four parcels, whether sold or leased, must be platted.

This provision negates the cluster ordinance, and if combined with the cluster ordinance, would allow a plat on a private drive, according to Caryl C. McCollum, planning board chairman.

Without additional controls, this could be disadvantageous to the city, he said. However, it is anticipated that the positive features of the cluster ordinance could be incorporated into the subdivision control ordinance and the zoning ordinance.

PENDING A NEW LAW

Until these changes and ordinances are completed, it is necessary to eliminate the existing cluster ordinance, according to the recommendation of the planning board.

Also on tonight's agenda is a report from City Manager Robert S. Kenning on the opening of the new parking structure on Pierce Street between Merrill and Brown. A portion of the new deck is expected to be open Wednesday, although it may be delayed until Friday.

Barring Powell Again Proposed

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A member of the select committee that originally investigated Adam Clayton Powell says the House should consider barring the Harlem congressman again.

Wisconsin Republican Vernon W. Thomson also questioned in an interview whether the House would obey a Supreme Court order to seat Powell.

"If it should rule that Powell should have been seated, it would create a very serious constitutional impasse," Thomson said.

Thomson, who said he was surprised when the high court agreed earlier this month to hear Powell's appeal, added that Congress has the sole right to judge qualifications of its members.

REJECTED NOV. 5

Thomson said no move is under way to bar Powell, overwhelmingly re-elected Nov. 5, from the next Congress.

"But," he said, "It seems that a Congress which is talking about improving its image and its ethics would give serious consideration to seating a member who has been charged by a select committee of that body with conduct which is highly unethical if not something more serious."

The select committee recommended in 1967 that the House seat Powell but censure him and require payment of $40,000 he allegedly misused for personal expenses.

The House, however, overrode the committee recommendation and excluded Powell from his seat in the 90th congress and stripped him of all seniority.

LATER ELECTION

Later that year Powell won a special election to fill the vacancy but never presented himself for seating.

A request will be heard from Johnson, Johnson and Roy, Inc., city landscape architects, for purchase of recommended street lights for Birmingham to expedite the testing of them for the urban renewal project.

An investment of approximately $300 would be required to obtain two lights for the testing.

WORK-TRAINING REPORT

Commissioners will hear a report on a work-training program for the city. A letter from the Oakland County commission on Economic Opportunity has announced that it can fund five work-training positions in the city for 24 hours a week for a period of 15 weeks.

The city would be required to fund the positions for the balance of a regular 40-hour week, at the rate of $2.50 per hour.

If approved, the city administration will work with the Office of Economic Opportunity to identify the positions to be assigned and to implement the program, according to Assistant City Manager John F. Saefke.

7 Supervisors Meeting Today on Pay Levels

One of the first orders of business for the new 27-man Oakland County Board of Supervisors will be the setting of salaries.

A meeting between Democratic and Republican representatives of the board was scheduled at noon today at the Oakland County Courthouse.

Besides the salary issue, the seven-man bipartisan committee was expected to discuss new bylaws for the reduced board and the restructuring of committees.

Democratic board members, who hold a 15-12 majority on the new board, have proposed formation of a bipartisan citizens' committee to make studies and recommendations regarding the pay scale.

HOPE-FOR SUPPORT

The current board members are paid $20 a day.

Supervisor Philip O. Mastin Jr. of Hazel Park named Democratic caucus chairman to replace Charles B. Edwards Jr. of Macomb Heights, indicated he hopes for bipartisan support of the proposal.

He added, however, that members of the Democratic caucus, which endorsed the plan unanimously, intend to work for its adoption nevertheless. The deadline for a decision is Feb. 15.

Mastin, 38, is a Hazel Park councilman and present supervisor. He is employed as deputy chairman of the county Democratic party.

REPRESENTATIVES

Mastin, Edwards, Alexander C. Perinoff of Southfield and William M. Richards of Royal Oak have been named to attend the first bipartisan supervisors meeting.

Robert F. Patnales, 43, a Royal Oak attorney, has been named Republican caucus chairman. He and Paul E. Kasper of Bloomfield Hills and Christian F. Powell of West Bloomfield Township were named to meet with the Democrats.

'Scare' Leaflets on Renewal Decried

residents affected. "You have to start from the grass roots," he said.

Bates said he is concerned that whoever is actively campaigning against any NDP program is alarming residents unnecessarily and is hardening residents against a program which has great possible benefits before NDP can be properly explained.

He said that in the event there is any program the area residents will be represented by a citizens council required by law-composed of the area residents themselves. The council is a prerequisite to any federal program, he said.

The identity of the person behind the efforts to discredit NDP has been the subject of much speculation in the past few days.

NDP is being boosted by the city staff and is being marketed as a vehicle for redevelopment and rehabilitation for an area which generally contains Pontiac's oldest and most unstable housing.

It is a recent program approved under the 1968 Housing Act by Congress in August to promote redevelopment in a different manner than it had been tackled under previous urban renewal programs.

NDP calls for spending $2 of federal money for every dollar spent for improvement in a NDP neighborhood. Almost any city can benefit from the program, according to city officials, but renewal in the southwest section of the city.

The mayor said the city hopes to dispel some of these fears at a Dec. 5 meeting arranged to explain what is being discussed in the way of renewal. The meeting is expected to be held Dec. 5 at Trinity Baptist Church. Officials of the city will be present as will officers of the HARBOR.

MEETING DELAYED

A meeting that was to be held at the church tonight was canceled in favor of the Dec. 5 meeting.

Scott Calls Bomb Halt Political

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A top Republican senator says the Democrats nearly won the recent presidential election because of President Johnson's "politically influenced" decision to stop the U.S. bombing of North Vietnam.

Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., leader of the GOP "truth squad" that followed Hubert H. Humphrey through the campaign, said in a UPI interview the bombing halt caused a dramatic defection from Nixon among women voters who believed it meant peace was near.

Scott said the large-scale defection of women from the candidacy of Richard M. Nixon and the inability of Republicans to reclaim rural, small town and suburban votes from George C. Wallace kept the Nixon victory from becoming a landslide and producing more GOP gains in congress.

He said Humphrey's "last-minute surge" of popularity "in my opinion, was largely due to a belief among the women of this country that peace was in the offing."

SKEPTICS, CYNICS

"Now some of us old skeptics and cynics knew it wasn't," Scott said. "We knew our politics when we smelled it, and we smelled it very strongly that last week or so."

Scott said many women, warned that "the Democrats always do this every presidential election . . . in late October they always come up with a gimmick," would reply "I don't care whether it's a gimmick or not, it looks like peace to me."

"And, oh Lord, how they defected that last week," Scott said.

Although he led the GOP group which was established to give instant Republican answers to Democratic claims, promises and charges, Scott said he refrained from accusing the opposition of playing politics with peace because "I have committed myself ever since we were in the Vietnam war to support the president of the United States."

QUITE ANGRY

"I was quite angry about it because I thought I'd been imposed upon as a citizen and as a senator, but I refused to be critical of it before the election," he said.

But Scott saw some potential good in the situation because of Nixon's "statesmanlike position" in supporting Johnson's move and "between them, that ought to improve the chances for peace."

Nixon Sees Stronger Ties With South Viet People

SAIGON (AP) — President-elect Richard M. Nixon has told President Nguyen Van Thieu he is confident the "bonds of understanding" between the United States and South Vietnam "will be further strengthened," the Saigon government announced today.

"I need not tell you that your courageous people command our admiration and respect for the indomitable spirit they have shown in the bitter years of conflict they have endured. I am confident that in the future the bonds of understanding which have grown up between our peoples, borne out of the common cause we share, will be further strengthened."

The government said Nixon's comments were made in response to a congratulatory statement from Thieu after Nixon's election.

The government statement quoted Nixon as saying, "The warmth of your letter and your thoughtfulness in sending it

LA Finds Byway Is a Faster Route

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Traffic experts want Los Angeles motorists to quit crowding the freeways and use the 20,000 miles of surface streets.

A test of time required to travel 11.7 miles from west Los Angeles to the downtown Civic Center at a rush hour showed: The drive on surface streets took 30 minutes compared to 48 minutes by freeway and 77 minutes by bus.

Three Couples Note Nuptials

First Congregational Church of Pontiac was the setting Friday for an exchange of vows Bloomfield Township, and the uniting Laura Maxine Tippet and Allen Henry Richardson.

For the evening nuptials, the bride wore an Empire A-line gown of peau d'ange with Chantilly lace. She held a bouquet of cascading carnations.

ATTENDANTS

Debra Jackman and Kenneth Miles served as honor attendants for the nuptials with the Leo P. Insalacos, and Charles and Ray Tippet as bridesmaid and ushers.

Deborah Tippet and Tammy Biermacher were flower girls.

The son of the Charles Richardsons of Plint and his bride, the daughter of the Fred L. Tippetts of St. Clair Street, were feted at the Italian American Club. They are honeymooning in Chicago, Ill.

Tremonti-Carrier

Colorful Spring

Adams-Krajenke

Carrying a bouquet of pompons with a double orchid Bonnie Jeanne Krajenke was escorted to the altar of St. Matthew's Lutheran Church, Walled Lake, Saturday where she became the bride of Frederick M. Adams.

For the evening rite, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Krajenke of Highland was attired in a lace gown.

The daughter of the Robert D. Carriers of Wing Lake Road, Bloomfield Township, and the son of the Michael Tremontis of Detroit, were wed that afternoon in Franklin Community Church.

Carrying a bouquet of Phalaenopsis with white roses, the bride wore a gown of candlelight satin highlighted with lace inserts.

Janis Carrier was maid of S. Adams of Highland and his bride were feted at the American Legion Hall, Milford, before they departed for a honeymoon trip to Daytona Beach, Fla.

Other members of the wedding party were the James Conzemiuses, the Norman Raymonds, the John Rieples, Teri Wesley, Cathy Schmitzhofer and Harold and Larry Adams.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack S. Adams of Highland and his bride were feted at the American Legion Hall, Milford, before they departed for a honeymoon trip to Daytona Beach, Fla.

The habit most women have of carrying combs loosely in their handbags is a bad one. Always make sure the comb is as clean as possible before using, because it may carry to the hair traces of face powder, lipstick or some other cosmetic with which it has been in contact in your handbag.

Also, lint, paper scraps, dust and bits of tobacco being used in the hair.

SAIGON (AP) — Two U.S. jet fighters and surface to air missiles and downed over North Vietnam, the U.S. Command announced today.

In a terse announcement, the command said an unarmed reconnaissance aircraft and an armed fighter, which often accompany reconnaissance sorties, were downed in separate incidents.

Earlier, Radio Hanoi had said it had been captured after his plane was shot down 175 miles north of the demilitarized zone.

THREE CLASHES

In the South, American ground and air forces killed 155 Vietcong and North Vietnamese soldiers in three clashes north and southwest of Saigon while offering five Americans killed and 10 wounded.

But enemy gunners fired more than 200 rounds of rockets and mortars into five South Vietnamese towns and a dozen allied bases Sunday night. Military spokesmen said 13 Vietnamese soldiers and seven civilians were killed, while the wounded included 25 South Vietnamese troops, 36 civilians and at least 16 American servicemen.

With 187 enemy troops reported killed in clashes Saturday the weekend saw some of the hardest fighting since the halt in the bombing of North Vietnam on Nov. 1.

Two of the three ground fights centered 70 to 75 miles northwest of Saigon along the Cambodian border where the enemy command reportedly has massed 15,000 to 20,000 troops. The third was in the Mekong Delta 45 miles southwest of Saigon.

Crack American troops from the 1st Air Cavalry Division ran into about 150 North Vietnamese troops at daybreak today a mile from the Cambodian border.

While the American troops pursued them, helicopters opening rockets and machine-gun fire raked them from the air.

2 U.S. Jets Downed by North Viet Fire

Air Force bombers also attacked the enemy positions.

U.S. headquarters said that during the 36-hour battle, 32 enemy and five Americans were killed and 10 Americans wounded.

On Sunday, in the same area, helicopter gunships on reconnaissance missions spotted an estimated 200 enemy soldiers four miles from the Cambodian border. The gunships attacked the enemy force with machine-gun fire and 2.75-inch rockets for three hours, killing at least 54, headquarters said. There were no American casualties reported.

DELTA ACTION

The action in the delta came Sunday morning when helicopter gunships supporting U.S. 9th Infantry Division troops observed several enemy soldiers. About 500 infantrymen made an assault into the area, touching off a 54-hour battle. Headquarters said 49 Vietcong soldiers were killed. No U.S. casualties were reported.

In two ambushes in the delta, Vietcong gunners hit seven Navy patrol boats Sunday, wounding 14 Americans. The Navy said at least two of the boats received numerous holes in their hulls from machine guns on both banks of the Mekong River.

Defense Sparkles as Baltimore Halts Vikings

Minneosta Falls to Colts, 21-9

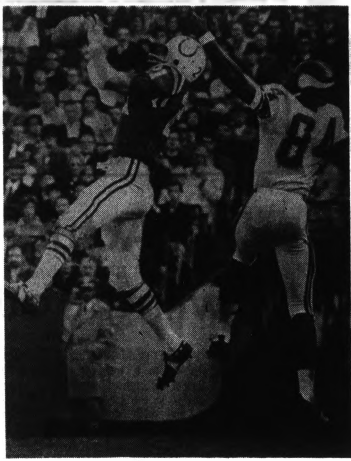

Losers Halted Twice on One-Yard Line

BALTIMORE (AP) — The goal line stand, seemingly a lost art in the National Football League, helped the Baltimore Colts to a hard earned 21-9 victory over the Minnesota Vikings Sunday.

The Baltimore defense, which has yielded just one touchdown in its last four games, reached a 1968 peak in the fourth quarter. Minnesota, which leads the NFL with 16 TDs on the ground, was stopped twice from the one-yard line with nine minutes remaining. The ball carrier both times was Bill Brown, the league leader on scoring runs.

"On our goal line team," said Baltimore Coach Don Shula, "each man is responsible for his area. His job is to get down lower than the offensive man and force the opponent to straighten up."

On the first play, tackle Fred Miller made the initial contact with Brown. On the second attempt, Brown was met in the air by middle linebacker Dennis Gaubatz—who received the game ball for his defensive play calling and over-all performance.

DEFENSIVE GEM — Baltimore Colts' safetyman Rich Volk leaps high to intercept a Joe Kapp pass intended for Minnesota's Gene Washington (94) in the first quarter of their game in Baltimore yesterday. The Colts turned in a sparkling defensive performance in whipping the Vikings, 21-9.

Substitute QB Spurs Cowboys Past Bears

CHICAGO (AP) — Craig Morton, replacing injured Don Meredith, directed the penalty-aided Dallas Cowboys to an easy 37-3 victory over the Chicago Bears to solidify their Capitol Division lead in the National Football League Sunday.

Two wild fist-swinging melees broke out late in the fourth quarter, and officials called an end to the game with 40 seconds still showing on the clock to preserve peace.

The Cowboys boosted their record to 9-3 as the Bears were ineffective with Jack Cannon making his first quarterback start in five weeks as a replacement for injured rookie Virgil Carter.

TD PASS — Morton hit Bob Hayes with a 15-yard touchdown pass and his teasing to set up the production of four touchdowns by the Cowboys.

Gary Garrison scored his second touchdown on a 14-yard run with time running out. He opened the Cowboy scoring with a one-yard plunge.

Dallas placekicker Mike Clark booted field goals of 21 and 49 yards but missed five times from 30, 31, 34, 38 and 47 yards.

The Bears, dropped to 5-6 in the Central Division and scored only with Mac Percival's 20-yard field goal which trimmed the Dallas lead to 17-3.

Cards Stop Drive

Falcons Clipped, 17-12

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals defense buckled down on a late scoring thrust after the offense squeezed off ten points in the third quarter to preserve a 17-12 victory over the Atlanta Falcons Sunday.

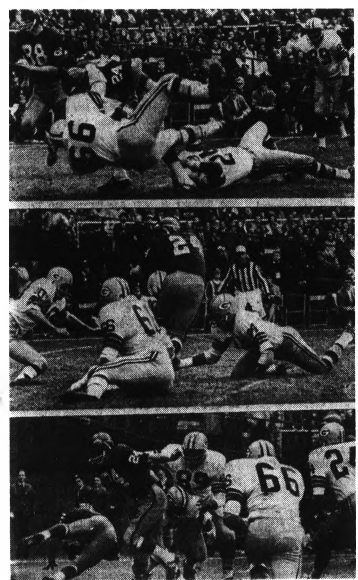

The Falcons were trailing 17-12 with five minutes left in the game when end Jerry Simmons hauled in passes of 20 and 22 yards and tight end Ray Ogden added 16 more. The Cardinal defensive tightened at the 17 and forced Atlanta back six yards on the next three plays. Then Bob Riter's 30-yard field goal failed and the Cardinals still had their lead.

In all, the Cardinals smeared Falcon quarterback Bob Berry down on a late scoring thrust for losses 11 times. The NFL record is 12 times.

SCRAMBLER — Pete Larson (24) of Washington proved an elusive target as he scrambles for a first down against Green Bay in the second quarter of their game in Washington yesterday. At top, Larson is tackled by Ray Nitschke (66) and Willie Davis (24) but breaks away (middle). At bottom, he's corralled on the Packers' three-yard line by Bob Jeter and Willie Davis (89). Packers won, 27-7.

Packers Return to Title Picture

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Green Bay Packers, returning to a vintage substitute for victory, have bounced back within reach of a fabled comeback in their try for a fourth straight National Football League title.

Balding super sub Zeke Bratkowski brought Green Bay back to within half a game of the top Sunday in its division battle for a playoff berth as he passed the Packers to a 27-7 conquest of outclassed Washington.

The veteran quarterback, who riddled the Redskins for 18 completions on 24 passes for 330 yards, said, "There's only one statistic that counts—the win."

The Packers, who have had to win their last two games just

Quarterbacks Spark Oakland to Easy Victory

CINCINNATI (AP) — The passing of Daryl Lamonica and then George Blanda sparked Oakland to an easy 34-0 victory over the Cincinnati Bengals Sunday.

The Raiders moved into a tie with Kansas City for first place in the American Football League's Western Division.

Lamonica passed for one touchdown and set up two others with losses of 27 and 32 yards. Blanda set up one touchdown with a 32-yard heave and added two field goals.

First downs Raiders 18, Bengals 11. Passing yardage Raiders 296, Bengals 296. Rushing yardage Raiders 296, Bengals 296. Points Raiders 34, Bengals 0. Turnovers Raiders 0, Bengals 4. Fumbles lost Raiders 0, Bengals 4. Yards penalized Raiders 24, Bengals 24. Time of game 1:00. At Cincinnati.

Kelly Tops 1,000 Yards as Browns Win, 47-13

CLEVELAND (AP) — Leroy Kelly pushed his National Football League rushing over 1,000 yards Sunday, scored twice and threw a touchdown pass as the Cleveland Browns won their third in a row, 47-13, handing the winless Philadelphia Eagles their 11th straight defeat.

Kelly, the NFL's leading ground gainer, went for 100 yards and reached the 1,000 mark for the third straight season. It also was Kelly's seventh time over 100 yards this year. The Browns' running back scored on runs of one and 30 yards.

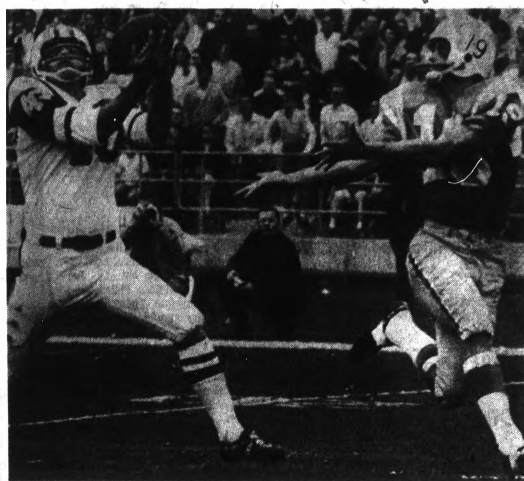

Rams Edge Giants in Last-Second Effort

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bruce Gossett kicked a 36-yard field goal with four seconds remaining and the Los Angeles Rams defeated the New York Giants 24-21 Sunday in a National Football League thriller.

The Giants' scrambling quarterback, Fran Tarkenton, had thrown an 11-yard scoring strike to Aaron Thomas with 42 seconds to go and tied the count at 21-21 after a 12-play series that consumed 50 yards in little more than four minutes.

It appeared that the Rams would have to settle for their second tie game in a row after their 20-20 deadlock with San Francisco.

CLOCK MOVING — Quarterback Roman Gabriel, with the clock running out, moved Los Angeles from its own 30 to the Giant 29 in four plays, where Gossett, who had missed three field goals earlier, booted the winning points.

PASS THEFT — New York Jets' defender Bill Baird steals a pass from John Hadl meant for San Diego Charge Lance Alworth in the first period of their American Football League game in San Diego, Calif., yesterday. Baird returned the ball 22 yards. The Jets won, 37-15.

Namath Sparks Jets to Upset

Chargers Fall in 37-15 Tilt

New York is Assured Share of Title

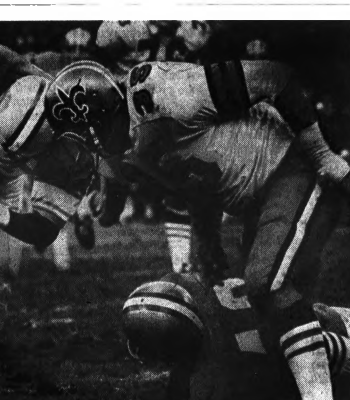

SAN DIEGO (AP) — "If I've ever had better passing luck I don't know when it was," Joe Namath said Sunday after passing for 337 yards and two touchdowns in the New York Jets' 37-15 upset of San Diego.

"It's just history—you have these kinds of games."

The American Football League game evened the records of both teams at 8-3, leaving the Chargers a game behind both Oakland and Kansas City in the Western Division title race and the Jets assured of a tie for the Eastern Division championship.

"You can't throw four interceptions in the New York, give Namath the ball that much and still beat him," a disgusted John Hadl said in the dressing room.

The Charger quarterback, who turned in his worst performance of the season, hit only six of 19 passes for 35 yards in the first half but finally connected with Jacques MacKinnon in the final quarter for a score.

Dolphins 'Pass' Patriots

BOSTON (AP) — The Miami capped a 67-yard march by Dolphins rode Bob Griese's passing to Larry Csonka from the ball to the five to set the stage for Howfield's winning 35-yard punt with 1:11 left.

The Dolphins settled down after a miserable start, falling behind 10-0 on a 15-yard goal by Gino Cappelletti and a 60-yard pass from Tom Sherman to Aaron Marsh.

Griese passed for three touchdowns, including a pair to Larry Csonka. The Dolphins settled down after a miserable start, falling behind 10-0 on a 15-yard goal by Gino Cappelletti and a 60-yard pass from Tom Sherman to Aaron Marsh.

Broncos Rescued by Field Goal in 34-32 Triumph

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Bob Howfield's 12-yard field goal with 11 seconds left rescued Denver after an unbelievable Buffalo comeback Sunday and gave the Broncos a 34-32 American Football League victory—its best showing since 1962.

Buffalo, trailing for 58 minutes, turned a blocked punt and a fumble into 10 points and a 32-31 lead with 26 seconds left. The Bills tried an onside kick but Denver recovered and Marlin Briscoe, who had thrown four touchdown passes, pitched a 50-yard completion to Floyd Little on the Buffalo 10.

Rookie Golfer Cerrudo Wins Cajun Tournament

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — bogied two straight holes, but Ron Cerrudo, the shaggy-haired rookie from California, fired a 36, closing round 68 Sunday to win the $35,000 Cajun Classic with a record score of 270 for 72 holes — 18 under par.

"I just can't believe it," said the 24-year-old Cerrudo as he signed his scorecard at the final green. "I'm in seventh heaven."

He finished four strokes in front of veteran Charlie Sifford, who had a closing round of 67 over the 36-hole Oakbourne Country Club course, and little-known Bobby Mitchell, who had a 68.

Another stroke back at 275 were Dave Stockton with a 68 Sunday, and Miller Barber with a 69.

FINAL STOP

Cerrudo earned $5,000 in this final stop on the 1968 PGA tour. Cerrudo had a three-stroke lead at the start of the final 18. By the time he was through the front nine his cushion was six strokes.

Cerrudo said he got a big rattled on the back side, where he

Auburn Hills Suffers Loss in Overtime

Penta Tech took control of the backboards in the overtime period Saturday night to spoil Oakland Community College Auburn Hills' basketball debut, 77-71, at Hazel Park High School.

The Nikis Bob McNab fouled out early in the extra period and the Toledo school quickly took advantage of the opening under the backboards.

Glen Lenhoff of Auburn Hills warmed up for defense of his Michigan Junior College scoring title by netting 30 points. The Nikis open conference play Friday at Hazel Park against Flint JC.

Auburn Hills jumped to a 23-8 lead against Penta, but went cold for the remainder of the first half which ended with Tech ahead, 31-30. The second half was close with the score saw-sawing. Regulation time ran out with the score 64-61.

Early Lead Helps Golfer Crampton to Bahama Win

WEST END, Grand Bahama (AP) — Bruce Crampton's early lead stood up and he won the $20,000 West End Golf Classic Sunday despite a double bogey on the final hole and a 72-hole total of 276.

Crampton, a touring pro from the Bahamas Reef Country Club at nearby Freeport, had a 72 on the final round to go with his earlier scores of 67-71-56 and got the winner's share of $4,000.

Gene Borek of East Norwich, N.Y., and Bob Watson of New Rochelle, N.Y., tied with 278 and split $4,000.

Butch Baird, Galveston, Tex., Art Wall, Honesdale, Pa., and Bob McAllister, Corona, Calif., finished with 279 and won $1,233 each.

Strong Finish Earns Crown

PORT ST. LUCIE, Fla. (AP) — Curtis Person and David Goldman won the World Four-Ball Senior Amateur Golf Championship Saturday by defeating the Florida team of Norton Harris and Leon Sikes 4 and 3.

Person, a Memphis, Tenn. auto dealer, and Goldman, a retired Dallas contractor, felt behind on the first three holes after Harris, a Key West golfer, sank consecutive birdies on holes 2 and 3 to put him and Sikes, from Palm Beach, two up.

Taking four of the next six holes, Person and Goldman came back with birdies on 5 and 8 to go two up at the end of the first nine. They went to three on No. 10, but Harris sank his third birdie to win 12.

10,000-Mile Rally Starts for Australia

LONDON (AP) — One-hundred cars set out from London's Crystal Palace Sunday at the start of the London-to-Sydney marathon, a 10,000 mile rally of the century halfway across the world.

Prizes worth $55,200 wait at the end of the road in Australia. Sponsors of manufacturing teams have poured an estimated $4.8 million into the event.

Organizers of the marathon are the London Daily Express and the Sydney Daily Telegraph newspapers, who have been planning the event for nearly a year.

Fourteen nations have entries and there are 22 car makes represented. The United States has only one entry, a Rambler American entered by Sidney Dickson, a motorcycle storeman from St. Michaels, Md.
