Ike Invites Dems to Join GOP Team

'Party of Future Must Embrace All the People'

Acceptance Speeches Hailed by Convention; Nixon to Carry Message

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—President Eisenhower has sent the Republican party into battle with the confident prediction that its program "will be decisively approved by the American people" in the fall elections.

He got a tumultuous reception yesterday from thousands of Republican National Convention delegates and San Franciscans who packed the Cow Palace to hear him formally accept his party's renomination.

He pictured the GOP as forward looking—"the party of the future"—and, by implication, accused the Democrats of looking backward.

He told the convention he was accepting its standard again "humbly but confidently." And, he said, "I pledge my best efforts to bring victory to our cause next November."

One of the biggest cheers President Eisenhower drew came in response to an invitation for "discerning Democrats" to pitch in with the Republicans.

It was an interpolation Eisenhower put into the text of his speech as it had been distributed to newsmen.

In the text, the speech read: "There are still enough injustices to be erased, still enough needless sufferings to be cured, to provide careers for all the young crusaders we can produce or find. 'We want them all.'"

To this, the President added: "Republicans, Independents, discerning Democrats, come on in and help us!"

Ike's color was good. His step was firm. His bearing had the old-time military earnestness. His voice was strong and resonant.

'GREAT SATISFACTION'

Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower, in royal purple hat and dress, carried a big sheaf of red roses, as did Mrs. Pat Nixon.

When he arose before the throng, the 65-year-old Eisenhower said he wanted to express his "great satisfaction" that the convention had decided to keep intact for this year's race the same team that won in 1952 against the Democratic ticket.

Vice President Nixon says he intends to work hard in the coming campaign in order to help President Eisenhower complete his "unfinished tasks."

WILL CARRY MESSAGE
Also accepting renomination yesterday, he promised the Republican National Convention he would carry the "great message" of the Eisenhower administration "to every corner of this land."

After delivering his speech—to heavy applause—Nixon flew back to the bedside of his ailing 77-year-old father in La Habra, east of Los Angeles.

IKE MAKES FORMAL ACCEPTANCE—Here are three studies of President Dwight Eisenhower as he formally accepted the Republican presidential nomination last night in San Francisco. He promised the American people he would try to lead them into "a brave and shining new world."

Find Wreckage of Navy Plane

No Trace of 16 Aboard, Britain Urged to Ask Reds if They Know

TOKYO (AP)—Search planes and ships today found wreckage and two empty life rafts presumed to be from a U.S. Navy patrol plane which disappeared after radioing it was being attacked off the Red China coast.

First reports of the finding said there was no indication of what happened to the 16 American airmen aboard the missing plane, a four-engine P4M Mercator. The Navy said it was on a routine patrol and training mission from Japan.

Navy officials refused to speculate on the possibility that Communist boats had picked up at least some of the men.

The State Department has asked Britain, which has diplomatic relations with the Peiping regime, to find out if the Reds have any information about the plane and its crew.

NEAR SHANGHAI

Navy spokesmen at the huge Yokosuka base said the first wreckage and rafts were found floating a few miles south of a Communist-held island about 100 miles southeast of Shanghai.

That put the wreckage nearly 200 miles north of the position given by the P4M when it radioed at 1:25 a.m. Thursday it was being attacked by unidentified aircraft.

However, the wreckage was found in approximately the same area, south of the Saddle Islands off the Bay of Hangchow, at which Peiping radio said Chinese Communist aircraft intercepted and damaged a "Chiang Kai-shek plane" early Thursday.

Nixon appeared first, and his reception gave no hint that a single doubt had ever been raised over keeping him on the ticket.

The wild demonstration set off as he and his popular wife walked down the long raised aisle to the speakers' platform was only slightly less in enthusiasm than that which greeted the President and Mamie later in the evening.

There were no vacant seats and many stood in the aisles.

Exit Faith Healer

Juliana Looks to Future After Patching Difficulties

THE HAGUE (AP)—Queen Juliana and Prince Bernhard reported to the Dutch people today that they've patched up their "difficulties" and "now look forward to the future with confidence."

The brief, joint statement was in effect the royal couple's denial of rumors that they were heading for a divorce—or that the Queen might abdicate—because of Juliana's close association with a 61-year-old faith healer, Miss Greet Hofmans.

An authoritative source said the Queen has ended her association with the faith healer, to whom she originally looked for treatment of her partly blinded, youngest daughter, Princess Maria Cristina.

A few hours before their communique was issued, the 47-year-old monarch and her 45-year-old prince took a plane for a short holiday on the Greek island of Corfu with Greece's King Paul and Queen Frederika.

The statement made no mention of Miss Hofmans nor did it specify the difficulties which had arisen between Juliana and Bernhard, married for 19½ years.

It expressed sincere thanks to a royal commission of three elder statesmen appointed to advise the couple after their rift became public. The statements said the commission had made a "very valuable contribution to the solution of the difficulties which had arisen."

Details of differences between Bernhard and Juliana—whispered in government and royal circles here for years—were published in a German news magazine early in June. The Queen reportedly came under the influence of Miss Hofmans after Bernhard brought her to the palace in 1948 to treat Princess Maria Cristina, now 9.

During the nominating Wednesday one Nebraska delegate held out for the privilege of nominating a Joe Smith. He eventually gave up and went along with his delegation to make the vote unanimous. Later he admitted there was no Joe Smith.

Nixon and his wife flew to the convention from southern California where they had rushed Wednesday afternoon because of the serious illness of his father. At the conclusion of his address he thanked the convention for the thousands of telegrams and messages which poured into his home hoping for recovery of his father.

Find 10 Hungry Children Alone in Home at Keego

Ten hungry children, one of them suffering from a badly burned hand, were found alone in a Keego Harbor home last night during an investigation by officials of the Oakland County Children's Home.

Ranging in ages from seven months to 13 years, the children had reportedly been left alone for two days with the oldest in charge while the father, William Wyatt, had gone to Indiana to pick up a load of watermelons for a Dixie Highway fruit stand which employs him.

The mother has been confined to a local hospital since Aug. 12 following an operation.

The situation is being investigated today by authorities of the Juvenile Court, with the possibility the parents will be prosecuted for child neglect.

The injured girl, Sherry A. Wilkinson, 8, the woman's daughter through a previous marriage, is in satisfactory condition at Pontiac General Hospital with third degree burns of the right hand.

Doctors have estimated the hand will require several years of treatment before it can be used normally again, according to a Juvenile Court spokesman.

Several knife cuts and welts were also reportedly found on the girl's body during an examination. The wounds were believed to have been inflicted by the mother.

4,282 Thwarted by Solution

Fruitless Hunt for Winner Drops Pall on Pot-O-Gold

A mournful wail came forth from the Press' judging room early this morning, crept along the hallways and hung heavily over the heads of gloomy staffers. Some said it began deep within the crepe-bedecked pot in the corner where 500 crisp dollar bills lay in jumbled misery.

But others swore it came from the judges who calmed themselves down long enough to say: "No Pot-O-Gold winner this week."

The 4,282 postcards in the neat piles might well have been edged in black.

But then a ray of light pushed the bloom aside when someone remarked: "Next week we'll be able to give away $600."

Puzzle No. 11, despite the elusive nature of its words, was almost conquered by six readers who came within one each of coming up with the correct solution. Several others missed it by only two words.

Indications that puzzle fans are becoming well-grounded in Pot-O-Gold rules are obvious in the happy fact that only 53 missed the deadline and a mere 10 entries came to us via envelopes.

In adding another $100, the Press makes it possible for a winner of our current puzzle to carry home up to $625 in prize money next week. The extra $25 is a bonus that goes to a regular Press subscriber.

Readers who have found themselves floundering in a maze of nouns and verbs can pick up a few pointers by studying the reasons for the answers on Page Five. Our puzzle-makers are great half-splitters, you'll find, but that's what makes Pot-O-Gold challenging.

And if this wasn't your week, turn to Page eight where you'll find the last copy of Puzzle No. 12. Pick all 16 words, send them to us by the deadline, and we'll up-end our gold pot with its $600 right into your pocket.

Encouraging News
CHICAGO (AP)—A record number of men and women are preparing to become physicians. The American Medical Assn. reported today that 28,639 students are enrolled in 76 AMA-approved four-year schools and in six schools which provide the first two years of medical training.

Color was added to the scene when hundreds upon hundreds of inflated balloons were released from high in the Cow Palace and floated down. Most of them dropped around the speakers' platform and into the press section. For a few minutes

Arrested

KIDNAPER SUSPECT — Angelo J. LaMarca, 31, of Plainview, N. Y., has been arrested as a suspect in the kidnapping of little Peter Weinberger.

Cabbie Admits Leaving Child Under Bushes

FBI Finds Decomposed Body Beneath Parkway Honeysuckle Vines

MINEOLA, N. Y. (AP)—A search party of police found today what they believed to be the body of kidnapped Peter Weinberger. The medical examiner was summoned.

The decomposed mass, which contained a safety pin, was found in the area where the FBI said Angelo J. LaMarca told them he had abandoned the child on July 5, the day after the month-old infant was kidnapped from the patio of his Westbury, N. Y., home on Long Island.

LaMarca was arrested yesterday by FBI and Nassau County police and charged with kidnapping the baby.

The body was found beneath some honeysuckle vines about 150 feet from a cutoff leading from heavily traveled Northern State Parkway.

More than 50 Nassau County police and FBI agents began searching the area at 9:15 a.m. The body was found shortly after 10:30 a.m.

The searchers moved through the wooded area in a line. The men were an arm's length apart. Inspector James Farrell said the baby had not been buried. Leaves and shrub branches, whipped by summer storms, had covered it.

The body was found only eight miles east of the Weinberger home and half a mile from LaMarca's home in Plainview.

LaMarca, a taxicab driver, was booked on a charge of kidnapping, which carries a maximum penalty of death in New York state.

Authorities said LaMarca admitted abandoning the child after being frightened away by the presence of police and newsmen when he showed up at an appointed spot to pick up $2,000 ransom money.

A ransom note was found on the patio of the Weinberger home where the baby had been taking a nap in his carriage.

Since the kidnapping, thousands of handwriting specimens were scrutinized from public records and compared with the ransom note and other letters received by the Weinbergers. It was not disclosed how, and from what source, authorities picked up the writing clue which led them to LaMarca.

Police said the kidnapping seemed to have been a one-man job. LaMarca's only previous arrest record was on a bootlegging charge for which he was given a suspended sentence last year.

34 Days Spiral to 180

Underpass Delay Puzzling

We're puzzled. Others are, too.

The half million dollar Telegraph Road underpass at Orchard Lake Avenue has been delayed SIX MONTHS by a 34 day steel strike. At least this is the announcement by an unnamed "Michigan Highway Department spokesman."

If the construction were delayed 34 days we'd understand. If it were delayed 68 days, which allows for a one hundred per cent lag, we'd be unhappy but might comprehend vaguely.

But The Press doesn't understand ONE HUNDRED AND EIGHTY DAYS delay because of a 34 day setback.

If this "unnamed highway spokesman" knew what he was talking about, we are respectfully requesting his superiors to "explain" so a couple of hundred thousand mystified and irate people in this general area can understand—at least in part.

We are speaking to the Oakland County Highway Department, to the contractor at Orchard Lake and Telegraph and to the State Highway Commissioner: "Will you please tell us, how come?"

As it stands now, we're told work will soon COME TO A HALT UNTIL NEXT FEBRUARY. Who gets all the steel made during these several months?

We need only 260 tons. That's peanuts.

of Los Angeles. The length of his stay there will depend on the older Nixon's condition, which is reported worse today.

He flew in from southern California a few hours before he stepped before the final session of the 1956 party gathering. Called away by his father's illness the day before, he worked on his text to the last minute.

"I am grateful beyond measure," Nixon said, "that you have given me the privilege of running on the same ticket with President Eisenhower. I shall work hard to re-elect the President by an even greater majority than the landslide of four years ago."

His wife Pat sat on the platform listening proudly as her husband—a House member at 33, a U.S. senator at 37 and vice president at 40—crossed another threshold in his fast-moving political career. Their two daughters, Patricia, 10, and Julie, 8, saw it all on television. They were with relatives in Whittier.

LABELS PARTY

The "peace, prosperity and progress" theme ran through Eisenhower's speech, in which he referred to the Republican Party as the "rallying point for Americans of all callings, races and incomes."

In labeling the GOP the party of the future, he said this is so because:

"It is the party of long-range principle, not short-term expediency. . . . It concentrates on the facts of issues of today and tomorrow. . . . It draws people together, not drives them apart. . . . It is the party through which the many things that still need doing will soonest be done. . . ."

Further, he said, "a party of the future must be completely dedicated to peace . . . for without peace there is no future."

He said that this country's economic power "is displaying a capacity for growth which is both rapid and sound even while supporting record military budgets."

And he declared that "our country has never before in peacetime been so well prepared militarily."

SKIPS DEM JABS

Eisenhower skipped any jabs at the Democratic presidential and vice presidential candidates, Adlai E. Stevenson and Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee.

But he slapped at the Democrats for their approach to solutions of farm and labor problems. And, in setting up the image of the Democrats as a party living in the past, he asserted:

"More than 20 years ago, our opponents found in the problems of the depression a battleground on which they scored many political victories. . . . Their obsession with depression still blinds many of these critics to the insistent demands of today."

Young Republicans Endorse Van Dusen

The Pontiac Republican Club has endorsed Richard C. Van Dusen of Birmingham as the GOP candidate for state attorney general, Robert C. Miller, club president said.

Miller announced William Treanor will be general campaign organization chairman of the local club. Earl Smith and Mrs. Grace Schulz were appointed co-chairmen of the Finance Committee; James Porritt, chairman of a Religious Group Committee; Lynn D. Allen Jr., chairman of the House Committee; and Daniel T. Murphy Jr., chairman of the Speakers Committee.

Miller said the next club meeting will be at 8 p.m. Sept. 4 at the Pontiac Federal Savings and Loan Assn. Building, 761 W. Huron St.

Toolbox, Tools, Tire Stolen From Car

A toolbox and wrenches worth $100, were stolen from an automobile Wednesday night, Pontiac Police reported.

Frederick Hillman of 38 Lexington Place, said the tools, and a spare tire were taken while his car was parked in the driveway at home.

Area Tackles Growth Problem

South County Schools Fail to Pace Enrollment Growth

Building programs not catching up with increases in school enrollments are causing staggered sessions in Oak Park, Hazel Park and Clawson, while other Southern Oakland County towns fare better.

With about 4,000 expected to enroll at Oak Park, 2,100 students will be on staggered sessions. Full day plan will start Nov. 1 with completion of Pepper, Dewey and Lessinger Elementary Schools.

An addition to Oak Park High School will be finished in January with the entire building done by the latter part of 1957.

Twelve first-grade school rooms are among needs in the Hazel Park system.

There, 7,434 pupils are expected. Ten rooms will be needed in the junior high and twenty in the high school. All schools will have staggered sessions.

Tots to Parade, Storybook-Wise in Romeo Event

ROMEO—A number of entries have already been received for the 1956 Children's Parade, the opening event of the Romeo Peach Festival's Labor Day celebration, according to parade chairman Mrs. Charles Meeker Jr.

The theme of the parade, "Once Upon a Time," offers a wide range of ideas for entries including mythology, history and literature, she said.

The parade will form at the intersection of North Main and Hollister streets at 10 a. m. Sept. 3 and proceed to Church street, where it will turn right for one block and continue south to West St. Clair and back to Main street. It will return from the center of town to the point of origin.

Large floats, small floats, walking groups and single entries will be judged separately as they pass the reviewing stand in the center of town. Cash prizes will be awarded in each category, Mrs. Meeker said.

Registration of entries are being accepted up to parade time by Mrs. Raymond Ritter, Mrs. Clinton Sieweke and Mrs. Howard Buzzell in addition to Mrs. Meeker.

Land Fill Argued by Avon Township

ROCHESTER — Fire equipment for Brooklands Fire Dept. was approved but the sanitary land fill project suggested by Rochester was referred to a joint committee for study.

The state's approval of the fill, which would be on the 23-acre site near the village sewage disposal plant, was received, as well as an objectioning petition with 70 names.

The state suggested dykes and trenches in case of high Clinton River waters.

Purchase of 600 feet of hose and an air pack was approved for Brooklands.

Boy, 4, OK After Fall Dents Skull

MARLETTE — When four-year-old Paul Sentz fell 18 feet from a barn rafter to a cement floor, late Wednesday, he received a depressed skull fracture. His mother, Mrs. Pauline Sentz rushed him to the Marlette Community Hospital, where his injury was diagnosed. Paul was immediately transferred to St. Luke's Hospital, Saginaw, where an emergency operation was performed. He has been discharged from the hospital, and stands an excellent chance of recovery.

Paul was playing in the barn where his 14-year-old brother and some neighbors were unloading baled straw. Somehow he tumbled.

He is one of seven children, and they had lived on the farm only four weeks. His father died in Arizona last March, where the family had lived for four years because of the father's health.

Little Paul is going to live with his grandmother for a month, the older brother said, because he is too active at home.

Fund for Families Grows Car Wash Days Net $325

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP—"Car Wash Days" at the Commerce Township Fire Department Hall at 393 West Commerce Road have produced about $325 for the Volunteer Firemen's Fund this far this summer.

Pleasant Ridge Trio Hurt in Ontario Crash

SIMCOE, Ontario (P)—Mrs. Leon Pfeffer of Trinity, N.Y., was killed today and four other persons severely injured in a 2-car collision near this town, 20 miles south of Brantford.

Injured were Leon Pfeffer, 57, and his passengers, Mr. and Mrs. William Paine of Pleasant Ridge, Mich., and their 5-month-old baby daughter. A second daughter, 2, escaped uninjured.

Police said the Pfeffer auto collided with another auto on highway 3 during a heavy rain storm.

A report on the condition of the injured was not immediately available.

Bank Construction to Begin Next Week

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP—Construction is expected to begin next week on a branch of the Community National Bank at the corner of Cooley Lake and Union Lake Rds. in the heart of the Union Lake shopping district.

Site of the new branch includes ample parking space.

Estimated cost of construction was listed at $55,000. A building permit was issued yesterday by Commerce Township.

The new branch will be built by J. A. Fredman, Inc. of Pontiac.

Is He Deaf — or Retarded?

Child Unable to Say Mama Now Subject of UM Study

ANN ARBOR (U)—The child who can't say "Mama" is being made an object of special study at the University of Michigan.

Purpose of the research is to find out why youngsters fail to show normal language development—and what to do to help them.

The $10,000 pilot study, financed by a legislative grant, will try new ways of testing and diagnosing some 30 to 40 children aged 4 to 8 whose language slowness does not seem caused by deafness or mental trouble.

H. Harlan Bloomer, director of the university speech clinic, said in some cases brain injury, emotional factors, glandular ailments or reduced hearing ability may account for the problem.

VERY BAFFLING
Cut off from communication with the world around him, a child, unless given help, may show signs of mental retardation. The very lack of speech in the child makes diagnosis of his trouble difficult.

"It's terribly baffling to sit down with a 3-year-old who can't talk," said Bloomer. "You say something to him and get no response at all, although he appears normal in all other respects."

To break down this barrier in communication, the U. of M. research team has devised special tests. In one, to determine whether the child hears normally, earphones are placed on him and recordings of such familiar sounds as a dog's bark or train whistle are played at various sound levels.

Cards with illustrations of these animals or objects are placed in front of the youngsters to see if he can point out the object related to the sound.

Bloomer said better training methods are also needed for children in the "twilight zone" between complete deafness or severe mental retardation.

Public schools can seldom accept children who lack normal language skills. Yet such youngsters are misplaced in schools for the deaf or mentally retarded.

Bloomer hopes improved diagnosis and treatment will make it possible for large school systems to incorporate special classes for these children, lighting up an unhappy "twilight zone."

City Seeks Descendants to Observe Anniversary

CHESTERTOWN, Md. (U)—Mayor Philip G. Wilmer wants to invite two persons to attend the town's 250th anniversary celebration October 5-13, but he doesn't know who they are.

Wilmer and celebration officials are looking for the nearest living descendants of two people who had a hand in the town's founding in 1705. They were Benedict Leonard Calvert, Baron of Baltimore, the 4th Lord Baltimore, who was Lord Proprietary of Maryland from 1670 to 1715, and Col. John Seymour, Colonial Governor of Maryland from 1704 to 1709.

Benjamin Franklin is credited with first recommending daylight saving time in 1731.

Dentistry in Communist China

Poor Po Loses His Tooth but Keeps Ache

By DAVID J. ROADS
(For Hal Boyle)

HONG KONG — It took a large economy-size toothache to drive Po Hsiao-chou to a Peiping dentist. He should have stayed in bed.

After three weeks of suffering with a swollen jaw, Po decided to risk it. Like all good Communists, he toddled off to the state hospital in Peiping.

Like all dental patients, he heaved a sigh of relief when the dentist couldn't see him on the first trip. His fever wasn't high enough to get him into line with a horde of other patients. But the tooth nagged and a short time later, Po whipped up his courage and trotted off to the state hospital again. This time they admitted him.

There was a big crowd in the waiting room again, so, just to while away the time, Po picked up a thing called the "Suggestions Book," a Communist invention in which people inscribe their complaints about life in a workers' paradise.

"I began to read," said Po, in a feature article written for the Peiping People's Daily. And the more he read, the more his fever rose.

One patient wrote: "Today you smashed my tooth while pulling it out hard. Because the under part of the tooth was still there, operation was required to take it out. So you pulled apart the opening with knives and used drill, chisel and other instruments to extract it. Then in stitching the opened part you broke three needles."

"Then, you waited for a long time for new needles borrowed from other sections. This time, you snapped the needle point and what was worse, the point just disappeared. You searched inside my mouth for the broken piece and even used small hooks to probe the part operated on."

For a while, Po could read no further. He wondered if his ailing tooth really had to be taken out. Po turned the page and found the doctor's reply to the patient's complaints.

"Comrade, your remark is basically correct. We accept it wholeheartedly.

"But the situation on that day requires explanation. Your tooth has had an abnormal growth and this makes our job difficult."

"As to the broken needles, they are homemade ones—bought in Shanghai. As the needles are not of good quality, we wish here to apologize to you on behalf of the needle factory."

"As to the time spent in locating the broken needle point, it was entirely worthwhile. For if the point were left in the jaw, it might develop complications."

"However, we have done our very best and the point has not been found. Maybe, it might have been washed away together with the blood."

"I had the creeps," wrote Po. "I turned tense. But just then the nurse called my number."

New Jail Coming Up

COLDWATER — The Branch County Board of Supervisors has authorized condemnation proceedings to obtain a site for a new $400,000 county jail. The new jail was authorized recently by referendum.

Trembling, he entered the consultation room.

"Remembering what I had read in the suggestions book, I was on guard," Po said.

"The doctor started probing the inside of my mouth with a spoon like mirror and a small hook. Knocking my teeth one by one the doctor finally located the bad tooth and decided to pull it out."

The operation was a success. No pain. On his way home, Po kept his mouth shut, so germs wouldn't get into his mouth. Back home, he laughed over the panic the suggestions book had brought him. "I started a good laugh and looked at my laughing mouth in the mirror.

"Good heavens! One thing froze my smile. I rubbed my eyes and took a good look. I was not wrong."

"The nasty tooth was still there but the good one next to it was gone."

State Police Promotion

MARQUETTE — Sgt. Ralph M. Sheehan, head of the state police traffic and safety bureau for the Upper Peninsula, with headquarters at Marquette, has been promoted to lieutenant.

Extended fire protection. FRUITLAND Township has been spending $240 annually for "standby" service from the Muskegon Township Fire Department. The township's civic club had pressed for the move after a widow and her nine children recently lost their home by fire as nearby fire departments were helpless to operate in an area without protection contracts.

Business Notes

The appointment of two of top men in the planning of December's National Automobile Show was announced yesterday by General Manager William J. Cronin. The appointments include William F. Sherman, Director of Exposition; and Harry A. Williams, director of advertising and promotion. Both are officials of the Automobile Manufacturers Assn.

Officials of Ford's Tractor & Implement Division will meet with dealer representatives at Mackinac Island next Monday for the fourth annual meeting of the firm's National Distributor Council.

I. A. Duffy, vice president and general manager of the Birmingham-based headquarter division, said the two day meeting will be devoted to "discussions of mutual interest to the factory and field organizations."

Grain Market
Prices Steady

CHICAGO 24 (AP)—Grains held in narrow price ranges in routine dealings on the Board of Trade today.

The market was not able to find any cue in the news for its direction and as a result it just drifted along without any sharp price changes.

The major show of firmness appeared in distant soybean futures; around a cent at one time. There was no significant weak spots although at times a few wheat and rye-futures dipped under the previous close.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was unchanged to 1/4 higher. September 2.17 1/2; corn unchanged to 1/4 higher, September 1.47 1/2; oats unchanged to 1/4 lower, September 73 1/2; rye unchanged to 1/4 lower, September 1.42 1/2; soybeans unchanged to 1/4 lower, September 22.39 1/2 and lard unchanged to 18 cents a hundred pounds for September 11.17.

Floods Wash Up Skull of Neanderthal Woman

MARBURG, Germany (U) — A German anthropologist has announced the discovery of a well-preserved skull of a Neanderthal woman who lived more than 120,000 years ago.

The skull was found by a rural schoolteacher.

Washed up by recent floods in the Hessian village of Rhuenda, it was taken to Prof. Eduard Jacobshagen, anthropologist of Marburg University.

"It is a sensational scientific discovery," Jacobshagen said in an interview. "And the skull is better preserved than the Neanderthal skull itself."

The Neanderthal man's skull was found a century ago this month in a limestone cave 60 feet underground in the Neander Valley, about 10 miles from Duesseldorf.

The skull of a second man of the Neanderthal race was discovered in World War I at Ehringsdorf, near Weimar, now Communist East Germany.

The Rhuenda skull was turned in by a 40-year-old country teacher, Eitel Glatzer, July 20. Rains had turned small Rhuenda Creek into a raging stream which washed away soil and laid it bare in a layer of gravel. Digging at the scene of the find thus far has failed to bring up more bones.

This city is said to have had the first auto taxicabs which were placed in public service during the year 1915.

Lodges to Hear Youth

FLINT (U) — Dietrich Sauer of Eagle Haus, a job training center for German youth sponsored by the

Fraternal Order of Eagles in West

Berlin, will make a week's speaking tour of Michigan Eagle lodges, starting at Flint, Sept. 4.

Conservation Fines

LANSING (U) — The State Conservation Department reported that 54 conservation violators paid fines totaling $806 and $421 in court costs during the past week. Top payment was $107 assessed against an Iron River resident for illegal possession of a deer.

GOP-ers Are Gossipy, to Columnist's Delight

By EARL WILSON

SAN FRANCISCO—Those Republicans are so gossipy (and am I glad). One of them tipped me off that Elizabeth Taylor may remarry Nicky Hilton who's been on the wagon for months and achin' for her to say yes. A delegate purportedly asked a dentist to drill a tooth. The tooth-puller protested there was nothing wrong with the tooth. "I know," replied the delegate, "but I'm from Texas, and I feel lucky today."

Margaret Truman and Clifton Daniel dined twice at Amelio's where Margaret ordered in Italian (she learned it studying music) until her bridegroom said, "Can't we order in English so I know what I'm eating?" This is the eat-in convention; when Will Rogers Jr. asked me if I was going to the convention, I told him, "Sorry, I haven't time. I just came from lunch and now I gotta get ready for dinner." (Thanks to those hospitable San Franciscans).

Ethel Merman's husband Bob Six—robbed of expensive cufflinks and studs in Chicago—is so embarrassed. At the fabulous parties here he's got to wear what he calls his "junk jewelry." Name heard here for a certain politico: "The Man With the Gray Flannel Mouth." Ike's nominator, Rep. Charles Halleck of Indiana, is a Phi Beta Kappa and quite a word-slinger. "The Democrats believe in the Constitution," he says. "They just don't believe in enforcing it."

Today's silly simile: "As badly prepared as a political convention reporter without a TV set."

Extry: Walter Reuther will be Democratic Presidential nominee in '60 or '64. At least some Republicans think so. Drew Pearson just finished writing "Confessions of an S.O.B." for the Satevepost.

Gene Tunney looked so pedantic in his steel-rimmed specs that Lou Lurie, who's in his late 60s, cracked, "All right, I'll fight him!"

The San Francisco fur is flying during the convention. Mink that is. One famous visitor bought two mink stoles for two local beauties. Another bought two stoles and gave one to his wife and another to his girl friend. An egghead, according to Ed Morgan of ABC, is somebody who refers to Marilyn Monroe as "Mrs. Arthur Miller."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL IN N. Y. . . .

Groucho Marx paid $100,000 for the land for his new Sunset Blvd. home. . . . Spencer Tracy's French film double had his name changed legally—to Spencer Tracy. . . . Red Steiger says he'll tour Europe, "to study people." . . . Merle Oberon is houseguesting with the Charlie Chaplins on the Riviera. . . . Jack E. Leonard told Frank Sinatra, "I feel awful—I feel worse than you used to look."

Rainier and Grace are doing the dark glasses bit, even in Riviera night clubs. . . . Producer Jule Styne sneaked into a "Mr. Wonderful" cafe scene and yelled to Sammy Davis Jr., "Sing 'Melancholy Baby'!" . . . Tommy Manville pays his bodyguard $100 a night. . . . Ted Williams' best manners are reserved for pretty Vicki Carlson.

Olivia de Havilland refused to return to the U. S. to plug her latest film, "The Ambassador's Daughter." . . . Dorothy Dandridge is getting phone calls from a Brazilian big wheel. . . . Mickey Mantle will net 15G's for his record with Teresa Brewer, "I Love Mickey." . . . The State Department offered jazz musician Charlie Ventura $7,500 to tour Japan.

Earl's Pearls
Nowadays the thing to put aside for one's old age is any thought of retirement.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "Political conventions remind us that the White House is a little like heaven. Not everybody who talks about it is going there."—Margaret Puchir.

Red Skelton, who owns $25,000 worth of camera equipment, was asked if the hobby's expensive. "It sure is," he said, "especially if you develop the film." . . . That's earl, brother.

NEW YORK—Let us note the fact that an 11-year-old winner of $100,000 on a TV quiz program has been seriously questioned about the price of coffee in Brazil.

Leonard Ross, the young financial wizard who won that amount on "Big Surprise" (which returns to NBC-TV next month), had barely recovered his breath from platform participation in the Democratic National Convention with young Gloria Lockerman, a CBS-TV $64,000 question winner, when he opened a letter from Sao Paulo Brazil.

"In view of your understanding of finance," a prominent Rotarian named Senor Alvaro Queiroa Filho wrote Leonard in Tijuana, Calif., "what would you tell us as to whether the present price of coffee is high in the view of the American housewife?"

While Leonard is pondering his answer, which should not take him long, let's see how fame and fortune continued to dog the paths of quiz winners.

Take the case of the lawyer Egan brothers, James and William, of Hartford, Conn., whose extraordinary knowledge of everything from baseball to ballet won them a pot of jack on the $64,000 Question a while back. Today they're boning up to answer another $64,000 question on "The $64,000 Challenge (CBS-TV) next Sunday night.

William, by the way, now has his own quiz program on a Hartford station. James is resisting pressure to run for Congress. . . . Due to appear on the same program Sunday is Mrs. Ida M. Sherburne, 76, whose knowledge of horse racing won her $16,000 on the big question.

Apparently there's something about winning on quiz programs that stirs humans to composition. Was heard in many parts of the U. S. the clack of their typewriters country this week.

Marine Corps Capt. Richard S. McCutchen, who won it all on the big question and won again on the challenge, is finishing writing a cook book. Michael O'Hanlon, New York policeman and Shakespearean authority, hopes to have his book on Shakespeare's puns ready for next spring.

Up in Bristol, R. I., Mrs. Alice B. Morgan, 78, who won $32,000—the big question, has completed "The Investor's Road Map," which Simon & Schuster will publish next month.

And let's not forget Gino Prato, the operative shoe-maker. He isn't writing a book, but he did write his name to a second year contract at $10,000 per annum with a rubber company as a cheerful ambassador to American shoe-makers.

So it went, a big week for quiz winners. But a typical week, too. When you win in a big TV contest these days, it's obvious that a lifetime annuity goes with the loot you take home.
