Most Dockers Ordered Back

WASHINGTON (AP) — The International Longshoremen's Association rejected a bid today for a complete settlement of the 83-day dock strike, but ordered longshoremen back to work tomorrow in all but two ports.

Representatives of the South Atlantic and West Gulf areas, primarily the ports at Miami and Galveston, rejected a proposal by federal mediators for settlement in their areas.

JCs Support Tax for City

Back Income Levy in March Election

The Pontiac Area Junior Chamber of Commerce has endorsed the proposed city income tax.

Jaycee President Chuck Hatter today said a motion has been passed by voice vote to lend support to the tax question.

Pontiac voters are slated to go to the polls March 18 to decide whether the city will have an income tax levy.

City Manager Joseph A. Warren met with the Jaycees and explained the tax, according to Hatter.

"We feel that the city does need additional revenue," said the Jaycee president, "and there isn't a better method to get it."

MILLAGE DEFEATED

Hatter pointed out that voters have previously rejected a proposed increase in the property tax millage.

Although the Jaycees endorsed the income tax, Hatter doubted if there would be any active campaigning in its behalf.

However, the Jaycees may help get voters to the polls on election day. Hatter said this was a normal activity for the group.

The Jaycees are the first group to formally announce support for the income tax, which was passed by the City Commission last fall.

IN OPPOSITION
A self-appointed Citizens Committee on Taxation, which petitioned for the spring referendum, has formally announced its opposition to the tax measure.

NEAR-MISS — A small aircraft that crashed early today at Pontiac Municipal Airport killing two brothers fell to the earth just 78 yards from the airport's terminal building on a fenced section of lawn east of the building. Other aircraft lining a runway were about the same distance from the wreckage as the building.

China Hints 'Volunteers' May Aid North Viet Reds

SAIGON (UPI) — Communist China hinted today that some of its "volunteers" might intervene in Communist North Viet Nam where a massive U.S.-South Vietnamese air attack yesterday dealt a heavy blow to Communist Viet Cong sources of supply.

A Peking broadcast said military units stationed near Viet Nam, Formosa and Laos "pledged support with actual deeds" to the North Vietnamese. It did not mention direct intervention but the implication was there.

It quoted a number of "Korean volunteers" as condemning U.S. "aggression" and pledging support for a Chinese government statement it would "not stand idly by" if U.S. air attacks continue.

North Viet Nam termed the American-South Vietnamese raids a "new, most serious war threat" but all indications were that attacks on military targets in the north were shaping up as a new American policy to counter increased North Vietnamese activities in South Viet Nam.

What action if any the Soviet Union would take in Southeast Asia remained to be seen.

Tells of Dating Arson Suspect

FERNDALE (AP) — Harry M. Belcher, accused of setting the fire which killed his wife and six children, had been dating a 30-year-old fellow employee for about a year, the woman testified yesterday.

Two days before the Jan. 25 pre-dawn fire she told him "he had to decide on either his wife or me," Joyce Ann Cross of Hazel Park testified at a preliminary hearing in Ferndale Municipal Court.

Belcher, 22, was bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court for arraignment Feb. 24 on arson and first degree murder charges.

Miss Cross said Belcher had spoken "many times" of divorcing his wife, 33-year-old Katherine, but said he "didn't think he would work out the financial adjustment."

"He was trying to figure out some way he could support his wife, the children and me," Miss Cross said.

DIVORCE
"The Saturday before the fire, I asked him why he hadn't discussed a divorce with his wife. He said he'd talk to her Sunday," she added.

The fire broke out early the following Monday.

In other testimony, Ferndale fireman William E. Reed nearly burst into tears as he described finding the bodies of Mrs. Belcher and the six children.

TESTIMONY—Joyce Ann Cross and her attorney John Katsoulas, are shown at a preliminary hearing yesterday in Ferndale Municipal Court. Miss Cross, 20, testified at the hearing she dated Harry M. Belcher, 22. Belcher is accused of setting a fire in which his wife and six children died.

Brothers Killed After Takeoff in Dense Fog

Plane Hits Ground Near Terminal Area; Pair Is Unlicensed

By JOE MULLEN

Two brothers were killed early today when their single engine plane crashed at Pontiac Municipal Airport moments after a takeoff in thick fog.

The Piper Tri-Pacer, a four passenger light aircraft, nosed down just 78 yards east of the airport's terminal building at 4:40 a. m.

Killed were Jerry W. Holland, 28, of 664 Jamestown, Pontiac Township, the pilot, and Gail M. Holland, 24, of Livonia.

Sgt. John Amthor, commander of the Pontiac State Police post, said the brothers had bought the plane jointly Feb. 2.

Jerry was taking flying lessons but neither of the brothers was a licensed pilot, Amthor said.

INSPECT WRECKAGE

A team of Federal Aviation Agency investigators will inspect the wreckage today to determine the cause of the crash.

Norman Mitchell, 34, of 2140 Whitfield, Waterford Township, a night watchman at the airport, said he heard the plane take off but couldn't see it due to the fog.

"Moments after it got into the air, I heard the engine quit," Mitchell said. "An instant later I heard the thud of the crash."

SOME SMOKE

"I saw some smoke coming from the plane but no flame," Mitchell said. "I sprayed the wreckage to prevent a fire."

State police were summoned to the scene. With the assistance of Waterford Township police, the plane's tail was pulled down from its vertical position so the bodies could be removed.

The bodies were taken to Pontiac General Hospital.

Mitchell said the brothers came to the airport about 3 a. m.

SAID NO

He said he asked if they planned to go up in the dense fog and they said no, that they had just come to look at their plane.

"They drove away in their car and I didn't realize they had come back until I heard (Continued on Page 2, Col. 8)

AREA SOLDIER BACK IN U.S.—Harold Feldmann Jr., 19, of Brandon Township arrived at a New Jersey Army hospital yesterday for treatment of wounds suffered last weekend in Viet Nam. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Feldmann of 1951 N. Baldwin.

Spec. 4 Harold J. Feldmann Jr., a Brandon Township youth who was wounded in Viet Nam Saturday arrived at Walston Army Hospital near Fort Dix, N.J., yesterday.

The 19-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Feldmann of 1951 Baldwin was hit in the leg by mortar fragments in the Viet Cong attack on Pleiku.

Feldmann was flown back to the United States with other wounded soldiers from South Viet Nam just 16 days before he was scheduled to return home.

He had been in Viet Nam since Feb. 2, 1964.

A graduate of Oxford High School, in 1963, Feldmann entered the Army the following September.

WELL-FORTIFIED

With regards to the Pleiku attack, Feldmann told newsmen that the compound at Pleiku was well-fortified and "it was almost impossible for the Viet Cong to sneak up on the place."

He said he could not understand how the attack could have taken place.

Feldmann's parents learned he was wounded by means of a telegram Monday from Maj. Gen. J. C. Lambert, the Army adjutant general.

Issue Warrant for Hubbard

DETROIT (AP) — A bench warrant for the arrest of sub-governor Dearborn Mayor Orville Hubbard was issued today when Hubbard failed to appear for arraignment on a two-count federal indictment.

The warrant was signed by U.S. District Judge Fred W. Kaess. The indictment charges Hubbard with violating the Civil Rights Act and with conspiracy to violate the act.

Federal marshals were sent to serve the warrant on Hubbard.

Assistant U.S. Attorney William H. Merrill had promised to seek the warrant against Hubbard, mayor of a predominantly white Detroit suburb of 115,000 population, if he did not appear for arraignment.

Hubbard missed a federal court appointment yesterday at which he was to be arraigned on charges of conspiracy and failure to perform his public duties in connection with the Labor Day incident.

The mayor and Dearborn's two top police officials, Public Safety Director George W. Lesis and Police Chief Garrison Clayton, were charged after police allegedly merely stood by while the mob stoned a home in the mistaken belief it had been sold to Negroes.

Data on Candidates

Court May Get Steel Election

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The close United Steelworkers Union election moved ominously toward a possible court fight today as both sides raised questions of voting irregularities.

A dispute already has reached court in one district.

There were rumblings from others as the vote for presidency of the big union continued to be close between incumbent David J. McDonald and I. W. Abel, the union's narrow-victory.

Abel holds a narrow unofficial lead with some big locals apparently still uncounted three days after the election.

FIGHT FEARED
An entangled court fight is just what has been feared by the basic steel industry, eager to get on with bargaining for a new contract.

The present contract was re-opened Jan. 1 but negotiations were recessed during the bitter campaign. The union can strike May 1 but it is generally believed talks won't resume until things settle down.

James Griffin, a top McDonald aide and Director of the USW's Youngstown District, told a news conference Thursday night "it's quite possible" the election will end up in a court fight, regardless of who wins.

At Hammond, Ind., U.S. Dist. Judge George Beamer dismissed a petition filed by a McDonald supporter protesting vote procedures at the big Local 1014 in Gary.

DENIED RIGHT
The petition charged that McDonald watchers were being denied the right to confirm the vote count posted by local officials.

Judge Beamer told attorneys: "If you still have problems Monday come back."

William Hart, pro-Abel director of a Pittsburgh District, said in a statement today that "obviously there is some hanky-panky going on."

He specifically mentioned Pittsburgh, where he said the vote count was slow from two McDonald locals, and Philadelphia, a mainstay of McDonald support.

WIDE DIFFERENCES
He said there were wide differences in the Abel totals for District 7 in Philadelphia, and those reported by the district director, Hugh Carrelia.

Carrelia, contacted at his home in Philadelphia, stood by his figures. He said Hart "has no business in District 7." And he added anyone was free to inspect his election records provided they were accompanied by "some impartial body." He asked Hart for the same privilege.

The vote count slowed to a trickle in the third day after the election although each side claimed there were some 300 big locals still uncounted.

THE LATEST FIGURES:
AP — Abel 278,843; McDonald 269,182; locals reported 2,659.
Abel figures — Abel 273,289; McDonald 242,286; locals reported 2,531.

OTHER FIGURES
McDonald figures — Abel 173,864; McDonald 220,849; locals reported 1,681.

Locals must report count to international headquarters within 10 days of the election.

SAVED FROM BUILDING — A U.S. soldier is given a stretcher ride after being pulled from the rubble of an enlisted man's hotel in Qui Nhon, South Viet Nam. The hotel was bombed by guerrillas Wednesday, and the rescued soldier was dug out this morning, after being trapped 35 hours.

GI Spends 35 Hours in Viet Rubble

QUI NHON, South Viet Nam — A slim, bald GI wriggled out of his clothes, greased himself with soap and was pulled free today after 35 hours buried in the rubble of the bombed hotel at Qui Nhon.

"Now don't tell me I need a shave," Spec. 4 Arthur Abendschein told his section commander as he did a little dance on the rubble.

Abendschein, 30, of Deptford, N.J., was the fifth American rescued from the shattered enlisted men's quarters which Viet Cong terrorists bombed Wednesday night. Two Americans were killed by the explosions and 19 were missing and feared dead. Twenty-two of the survivors were wounded, five of them seriously.

Trapped in a cave-like opening about six feet long, two feet wide and two feet high while rescuers tunneled through him, Abendschein suffered a slightly twisted back and a four-inch head cut.

BRUISED ALL OVER
"I feel bruised all over but nowhere in particular," he told a doctor.

Abendschein said when the Viet Cong attack began, he grabbed his weapon and shot at the terrorists from a balcony, possibly killing one. He had run back to his room for more ammunition when the explosions collapsed the four-story building.

The GI, a 10-year veteran, said he lay stunned beneath the debris until he heard the voices of rescue crews Thursday. They had to chip away a 36-inch concrete block to reach him.

Twice during the ordeal Abendschein pulled himself from the hole as far as his waist but could not squeeze his hips out.

GOT COLDER
As temperatures dropped during the night, the concrete wreckage began to contract and rubble began to fill the small opening that had been made through to him.

At dawn, with the digging going slowly, the rescue crews left. Then two 18-year-old members of the Vietnamese special forces pitched in and reached the trapped American within two hours.

During the rescue operation, Tass said, Lt. Cmdr. Robert H. Shumaker of New Castle, Pa., a 31-year-old Annapolis graduate, was brought before newsmen and asked "how he viewed this participation in the U.S. provocation against the democratic republic of Viet Nam."

"Shumaker found nothing better than to repeat the Pentagon lackeyed-retaliation version," Tass said. "None of us noticed any remorse on his face."

Tass however, said it saw "embarrassment" in Shumaker's face.

The news agency said Shumaker's plane crashed a half-mile out to sea and sank. It described him as "a tall blond man in green coveralls" and made no mention of any injury. He was tied to the news conference, it said, by "guards with fixed bayonets."

Tass said the newsmen also saw "remnants" of another U.S. jet fighter piloted by an American identified only as "Dixon" who was shot down Feb. 7.

Fairbury also had 30 inches and Offutt Air Force Base, south of Omaha 19.

National Guard vehicles were used to take doctors to their patients and patients to hospitals and a rescue stranded motorists when the snow brought conventional vehicles to a halt.

Behind the storm, temperatures fell below zero in some localities — 11 below at Sidney and Valentine, Neb., and 13 below at Bismarck, N.D. Even on the storm's fringes, temperatures were holding steady or falling during the day.

Freezing rain, an offshoot of the snowstorm, put a perilous glaze on the highways in northern Lower Michigan, upper New York State and northern New England.

HONOLULU (AP) — The burning Danish freighter Margit, abandoned by her crew after an engine explosion set the 4,967-ton ship afire, was a floating derelict today 1,100 miles southwest of Honolulu.

A Coast Guard plane from Hawaii circled the Margit and, dropping flares, sighted two lifeboats. The Coast Guard did not know how many men were in the crew, or in boats.

The Margit sailed from San Francisco Feb. 1, called at Los Angeles, then headed for Cebu, the Marine Exchange in San Francisco could not say what her cargo was. The freighter has tanks for vegetable oils.

Blizzard, Cold Lash Midwest

Storms, Tornadoes Hit Southern States

A blinding, paralyzing blizzard that dumped as much as 20 inches of snow on the nation's midlands moved from northern Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan today on its way into Canada. Severe cold swooped in behind it.

Thunderstorms continued in the Deep South, after spawning tornadoes that struck from Texas to Alabama, injuring at least 17 persons.

Three traffic deaths were attributed to the deluges. Montgomery, Ala., reported more than an inch of additional rain in the morning hours.

The weather bureau said the intense storm in the North would drop four to eight inches more snow during the week and blow east through the Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan border areas.

Candidates in Birmingham have until 5 p.m. Monday to file their nominating petitions while those in Bloomfield Hills are due by 4 p.m.

The deadline, some two weeks earlier than usual, was changed because of recent state election law revisions.

Needed in Birmingham are candidates for two City Commission seats and two library board seats.

The three-year terms of Mayor Charles W. Renfrew and Commissioner Carl F. Ingraham are expiring.

FOR A YEAR
Renfrew has served as mayor for a year, having been named by his fellow commissioners after last year's election.

Expiring on the library board are the three-year terms of Mrs. Carolyn A. Vogt and Daniel A. Nesbitt.

Mrs. Romney Still Subs for Ill Governor
LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney, laid low by a cold, was taking it easy in bed today while his attractive wife, LeRoy, was again pinch-hitting as his spokesman.

Mrs. Romney had just unpacked from a flying trip to Des Moines, Iowa, where she delivered the governor's speech Wednesday night before a Lincoln Day dinner, when she was asked to take a plane again.

She packed and flew to Boston today to deliver the governor's Lincoln Day remarks before the Middlesex club.

Romney is feeling better and his temperature has gone down slightly, said his attending physician, Dr. J. E. Alland, associate director of the State Health Department.

But he ordered the governor not to attend any public functions Thursday or Friday.

Howard McArthur, assistant airport manager, said that the control room is down from 10 p.m. to 6 a.m. However, an application for 24-hour tower service is pending with the FAA.

"Planes often use the airport facilities during the night when the weather is good," McArthur said.

"But I can't recall an attempted takeoff by a small plane in this bad a fog before."

Destination of the men was not determined but McArthur theorized they were planning a local flight.

Police said the plane's pilot had only a dime, and no money was found on the passenger's body.

Estimated value of the red and white 2,500-pound craft is $10,000. It was a total wreck. The craft was kept at Barber's Flight Service on the airport property.

Dispute Flint College Growth

LANSING (AP)—Disputes on whether to expand the University of Michigan's Flint campus program to four years erupted on two fronts Thursday.

A Flint citizens' group appealed to the Senate Appropriations Committee for money to expand the present Junior-Senior curriculum. But within hours the House of Representatives took action to avoid implying its acceptance of such a four-year university branch program.

The house argument arose unexpectedly during consideration of a supposedly routine resolution commending Charles S. Mott for his $2.4 million gift to the Flint campus.

The resolution passed unanimously—but only after a long fight to delete reference to the fact that the grant was "to construct additional facilities for a four-year program at the University of Michigan's Flint college."

WORD EQUIVALENT

Opponents objected that the wording was equivalent to "a policy decision" on University of Michigan expansion, despite the fact that the new State Board of Education is to make a study to determine needs and coordinate expansion.

In his proposed 1965-66 budget, Gov. George Romney recommended against the Flint expansion until the state could adopt an over-all policy.

The amendment, proposed by Minority Leader Robert Waldron, R-Grosse Pointe, carried 60-32 and the resolution was passed on a unanimous voice vote.

Reps. Dale Kildee and Speaker Pro Tem Albert Horrigan, Flint Democrats, spearheaded the fight against the change. Insisting the resolution was intended only to commend Mott's generosity.

CROSSED LINES
The fight crossed party lines. Democrats Harry Thorne of Dearborn and George Montgomery of Detroit backed the amendment. Republican Marvin Eise of Ann Arbor opposed it.

The fight was touched off when Rep. William Boos, D-Saginaw, moved to reserve the right to explain his "no" vote on the resolution—introduced by Sen. Garland Lane, D-Flint—which had passed the Senate and won unanimous approval of the House Policy Committee.

Gov. Bates, Chairman of the Flint Higher Education Study Committee, led a delegation of industrialists, businessmen, educators and civic officials who told the Senate Appropriations Committee that the Flint area's students and economy require the four-year program.

Sen. Jan Vanderploeg, D-North Muskegon, former Michigan State University trustee, probed to the center of the Flint campus controversy when he said the state should first decide if it wants to pursue a policy of establishing branch campuses of existing universities or wants to build independent schools.

BRANCH PHILOSOPHY

Vanderploeg said he thought establishment of independent establishment of the Louisville, Grand Valley State College in Grand Rapids had meant the branch campus philosophy was out.

Lane, appropriations chairman, charged that the Grand Valley program "is running higher in appropriations than any other starting university and is not getting off the ground."

Vanderploeg said he believed that "ultimately every university wants to be free-standing. If we go into this branch business it ought to be part of an over-all system and not a special case."

PLANE WRECKAGE RECOVERED — A piece of wreckage hoisted from the massive tangle of the Eastern Air Lines plane that crashed into the sea south of Jones Beach, Long Island, Monday night is brought to shore yesterday by the fishing boat Jess-Lu III, which discovered the wreckage.

May Hold Key to Fatal Crash

Airliner's Wreckage Found in Atlantic

NEW YORK (AP)—A mass of twisted metal lying under 75 feet of murky water apparently holds the key today to why an Eastern Air Lines plane dived into the Atlantic Monday night, killing all 84 aboard.

Salvage crews hope to shed some light on the airline's fate today as they try to bring to the surface the tangle of aircraft wreckage that appears to be the remains of flight 663.

The underwater debris was discovered Thursday 6.7 miles south-southeast of Jones Inlet, near the point where the airliner was believed to have hit the sea.

There was some indication that the ill-fated, propeller-driven DC-7B might have had a "close miss" with an incoming jetliner seconds before the crash.

'CLOSE MISS'
"We had a close miss here," said one pilot of the jetliner with 102 persons aboard, his voice captured on tape at Kennedy Airport's control tower.

Another said: "He was well over the top of us — he was well over the top of us and it looked like he went into an absolute vertical turn and kept rolling."

However, the Federal Aviation Authority, warned against drawing conclusions from the tape. "The vital question," said Regional Director Oscar Bakke, "is whether the Eastern plane was already in trouble when the apparent near-miss occurred."

DRAG SEA
After three days of dragging the Atlantic, a charter fishing boat, the Jess-Lu III, hooked onto what divers said appeared to be the main part of the 33-ton plane's fuselage.

Pieces of wreckage have been picked up over the past three days. Ten bodies have been found.

The DC-7B, with Capt. F. R. Carson in charge, apparently rolled over in the air before it plunged from 3,700 feet into the sea minutes after taking off from Kennedy Airport.

There was no indication of impending disaster in the last words of the Eastern pilot as he made a successful takeoff from Runway 31.

PLANES TOLD
According to the taped radio transmissions, each plane had been notified "of, and acknowledged, the others' presence when they were about six miles apart."

"Traffic at eleven o'clock, six miles, southeastbound, just climbed out of three (thousand feet)," the Kennedy control tower radioed to the pilot of Pan American's jet flight 212, just coming in from Puerto Rico. The traffic was the Eastern plane.

"We have the traffic," the jetliner replied 12 seconds later. Moments afterward, Flight 663 was told, "Traffic, two o'clock, five miles, northeastbound, below you."

'HAVE TRAFFIC'
"Okay," Eastern replied. "We have the traffic. Turning one seven zero, six six three. Good night."

"Good night, sir," replied Kennedy.

Exactly 60 seconds later, the Pan Am pilot radioed in response to landing instructions: "Uh, OK. We had a close miss here. Uh, we're turning now to, uh, three, six zero and, uh, did you have another target (on the radar scope) in this area at this same spot where we were just a minute ago?"

'NOT ON SCOPE'
Kennedy tower replied: "Uh, affirmative, however, not on my scope at present time."

Pan Am 212: "Is he still on the scope?"
Kennedy: "No sir."
Pan Am 212: "It looks like he's in the bay then—because we saw him. He looked like he winged over to miss us, and we tried to avoid him and uh, we saw a bright flash about one minute later."

BALL OF FIRE
That same ball of fire was also seen by the pilots of at least two other planes, and by startled persons near the South Shore of Long Island.

Bakke said there apparently was no actual danger of a collision, although the pilots might have thought there was.

Before the DC-7B went into its turn, he said, there were indications that the two aircraft were three to four miles apart, and separated vertically by the required 1,000 feet. However he conceded there was a 20 to 30 second blank in the record after that.

Piecing together information to fill that gap could be difficult.

2 More Set Selves Afire in India; 1 Dies

NEW DELHI (AP) — Two more Indians set themselves afire in protest against the proclamation of Hindi as India's only official language, reports reaching here today said.

The headmaster of an elementary school near Kullalal, Madras state, burned himself to death.

A farmer in the same state poured gasoline over his clothes and set himself afire. He was hospitalized in serious condition.

Two other Indians in Madras state burned themselves to death last month, and at least 30 persons have been killed this week in rioting in southern India over the language issue. Hundreds have been injured and thousands arrested.

Police opened fire on a mob of 1,000 demonstrators last night in Madras city, killing a 17-year-old youth. The mob stoned police and set railway coaches afire.

DISRUPTING SERVICE

Other mobs were reported forcing passengers from trains and burning railway cars, disrupting rail service throughout the state.

A student-directed strike paralyzed Madras, a city of nearly 3 million.

The strike appeared spreading throughout the state, which has a population of about 36 million.

The turmoil, which has spread to five of India's 16 states, produced a government crisis for Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri.

OFFICIALS RESIGN

Two top officials, Food Minister Chidambaram Subramaniam and O. V. Algesan, minister of state for petroleum and chemicals, resigned. Both are from South Madras.

Shastri hoped to persuade them to remain in the government. Subramaniam is a key in the huge program of American food aid for India and is considered one of India's most able politicians.

At least three other members of Shastri's cabinet were reported in agreement with the two ministers, posing a serious threat to Shastri's leadership.

Hindi became India's only official language Jan. 26 under a 15-year-old provision of the constitution.

A separate bill says English "may" continue as an alternate to Hindi for 19 years, but states which don't use the language fear that speakers of Hindi will freeze out English and dominate those who don't speak the official language.

Subramaniam and Algesan want the government to adopt a constitutional amendment recognizing English as the "link language" between Hindi and the more than 300 other languages or dialects spoken in India.

Dropouts Find Job Corps Training Classes Are to Their Liking

ASTORIA, Ore., (AP) — came here because they want to help us." * * *

George Howard, 18, got through the 10th grade at Butler, Ill., then quit school because "me and the teachers didn't get along." He gets along fine, though, with teachers at the Job Corps training center at the old Tongue Point Naval Station here.

James Miles, 18, of Oakland, Calif., says this is because the teachers "really want to help. They could make a lot more money other places, but they contract for job training. And Douglas Olds, a veteran Oregon school administrator is directing a reading, writing and arithmetic program along with job training.

MOST WORKED

Most of the youngsters have had a job or two, briefly, after dropping out of school. Louis Mendoza, 17, of Denver, Colo., says all he could get in two years were dishwashing or bus-boy jobs. Now he is studying electronics.

"I'll work on color TV and things like that," he says. "The classes are fun. They don't treat you like a 2-year-old."

* * *

Olds says that in both the academic and vocational classes, instructors aim at providing individual attention.

They are getting it and although the school has been open less than two weeks, the enthusiasm is evident.

VOWS TO GRADUATE

"I'm going to graduate," says Carl Nickels, 17, of Redding, Calif. "I'm going to get a high school diploma. And then I'm going to go to college — maybe UCLA, I hope — and study electronics."

* * *

Young Miles says the atmosphere has spawned a desire for college in perhaps half the students.

* * *

But most of the 100 boys here — they will be coming in at the rate of 200 a month until the 1,250 total is reached — are being trained for jobs.

The principal skills taught are automotive mechanics, marine mechanics and electronics.

SPEED FACTOR

"We'll have to do this quickly," Olds says. "We've started off with some mighty fine boys. I hope people will be patient."

Said one of the students: "We've got a couple of stupes here; they want to go home!"

From December 1963 to May 1964 total jobs swelled by 1.5 million while the labor force grew by 1.3 million.

Labor Factions Are Divided Over State Auditor Choice

LANSING—A simmering dispute has developed among labor leaders in the Democratic Party over the naming of Michigan's first legislative auditor.

The Associated Press learned today that the list of nominees for the newly created auditor post has virtually narrowed down to two men—Richard Austin, former Constitutional Convention delegate, and Albert Lee, owner of a Detroit accounting firm.

Behind the scenes, the struggle has resulted in a split among labor's ranks. State AFL-CIO President August Scholle is known to favor Austin, even though the AFL-CIO Councils in Wayne and Macomb counties and the Committee on Political Education (COPE) are backing Lee.

NOT WILLING

The AP also learned that many top United Auto Workers leaders would like to see Austin get the appointment, but are not willing to get involved in an open fight with other labor elements.

Strong backing for Lee also has come from the Teamsters Union.

Several Democratic legislators reportedly were entertained this week by Otto Wendel, the Teamsters lobbyist, who picked up the entire tab for cocktails and dinner at a plush restaurant.

Although the Democratic State Central Committee has State Chairman Zoltan Ferency told the AP he also favored Austin.

NO POSITION

"While the State Central Committee has not taken an official position on this, my personal choice is Richard Austin," he said.

"It's not that I have anything against the other candidates, but I feel that Dick Austin is more eminently qualified."

"He has given valuable service to the state as a con-con delegate and an appointment commissioner and he apparently is highly regarded by the accountants association."

Since Democrats now control both houses of the legislature, they will determine who fills the job. The decision may be forthcoming shortly when Democratic lawmakers take a secret caucus ballot on the matter.

The post of legislative auditor was created under Michigan's new State Constitution. He will assume most of the duties which are now held by the state auditor general.

ORIGINAL LIST

In addition to Austin and Lee, the original list of serious candidates included E. Boonie Mikrant, director of the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission; Franklin Gregg Jr., assistant state auditor, and J. Irving Grant, a Detroit accountant.

U. of M. Prof Cited

ANN ARBOR (AP) — University of Michigan Journalism Prof. John V. Field has been awarded a "Hallmark Citation" by the Future Journalists of America. The award cited Field's "outstanding service and devotion to young people interested in scholastic publication."

Smoldering Issues Face State Dems

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Michigan Democrats meet here this weekend for a spring state convention that is routine on its surface but potentially full of political intrigue.

Main item on the agenda is selection of a state chairman—but incumbent Zoltan Ferency is the only announced candidate and is expected to breeze to reelection.

The situation is far more unclear in regard to a national committeeman and legislative auditor.

Incumbent committeeman John Swanson is expected to resign when he's elected to a Wayne County Circuit Court judgeship in April.

STAEBLER PICKED

Ex-state chairman, committeeman and gubernatorial candidate Neil Staebler of Ann Arbor already has received endorsement for the post from 21 county or district conventions. Deputy Secretary of State Gordon Traye and ex-Calhoun County chairman Richard Stout also have picked up endorsements.

But the other major candidate appears to be State Treasurer Sanford Brown. Some speculation is that Swanson will name Brown as his assistant committeeman to ease the way for Brown to take over when—and if—Swanson steps down.

Party finance chairman Stuart Hertzberg, Wayne County chairman David Lebenbaum and Wayne County Recorder of Deeds Bernard Youngblood also have been mentioned for the job.

HAS THE JOB

The party central committee has the job of filling the post if it is vacated.

The convention could influence legislators on their attitudes toward tax reform. More than 50 county convention delegations have endorsed such reform and a statewide supporting resolution is expected.

Convict Raps Judge's Order

5 Children Put Up for Permanent Adoption

DETROIT (AP) — Robert Bradford Murphy, sentenced with his wife to 10 years in prison for possession of stolen U.S. documents, believes Detroit Juvenile Court had no right to order permanent adoption of his children.

The order, involving five youngsters ranging in age from 8 to 1, was sentenced by Judge James Lincoln.

Murphy, 46, and his 33-year-old wife, Elizabeth, were sentenced June 28 after the price-less documents were found in their Detroit apartment. They had been taken from the National Archives in Washington, D.C.

Murphy said Thursday the adoption order was unconstitutional because he is not a Michigan resident. Lincoln claimed jurisdiction because the children were neglected in Michigan.

Lincoln said his decision was based on the parents' refusal to talk about the children.

The couple had said relatives would care for the youngsters, but refused to say who the relatives were or where they lived. The judge said there was evidence that the older children had never attended school.

For one thing, Tydings wryly told members of Washington's Ad Club, "you do not have any of the worry or care of selecting office space, you get what's left."

And Tydings said that while it bothered him the first few weeks that he could not hear the speeches from his fifth row seat he now considers it "one of the most desirable seats in the house."

LANSING (AP) — The State Civil Service Commission Thursday reported overwhelming acceptance by state workers of liberalized health benefits added to its group health insurance plan.

Total cost of the new coverage will approximate $1 million for the 23,000 persons enrolled. The state is paying 60 per cent of the cost and employees 40 per cent.

Michigan Dems Put Off Tax Action for Time Being

LANSING (AP) — Democrats put off for a week to 10 days their consideration of fiscal reform in 1965 — but one of its chief supporters, Sen. Basil Brown, D-Detroit, said he's getting more and more support for the proposal.

Brown also received Thursday a letter from Gov. George Romney welcoming Brown aboard the fiscal reform bandwagon but repeating the Republican governor's oft-stated belief that no specific tax plan can be proposed until both parties agree that reform is needed now.

Brown wrote Romney last week proposing that Democrats support Romney's ill-fated 1963 tax package in return for the governor's support of an eventual graduated income tax.

Democrats caucused Thursday but were tied up with house-keeping matters and so did not get into a tax reform discussion.

STAFF RESEARCH

They planned to seek staff research on the whys and wherefores of tax reform before making any caucus decision on whether to cooperate with the governor in developing a plan this year.

Brown said he is "getting more and more encouragement compared with last December. It will come to a head pretty soon."

The Senate majority floor leader said he expected this week-end's Democratic State Convention "will definitely by resolution assume some posture favorable to tax reform."

Brown said he already is preparing the governor's formal fiscal package for submission to the legislature and, in addition, is having his own set of bills drafted.

GOP SUPPORT

"But to do what I really want would have to wait on a graduated rate income tax," he said.

Brown's proposed deal with Romney would involve Republican support of a constitutional amendment removing the present prohibition of a graduated income tax.

Romney's reply to Brown said "I am pleased to learn that you agree with me that we need tax reform now and you are prepared to support such action. I commend you for your individual expression at this time...."

"However, you have failed to recognize in your letter that these goals cannot be achieved until there is first bipartisan agreement on the immediate need for tax reform despite our current surplus."

TO USE INFLUENCE

Romney said any program which picked up a one-party label would meet resistance.

But he pledged to "use my influence to secure Republican legislative leadership and membership support for immediate tax reform action. I urge you to pursue similar efforts with the legislative leaders and members of your party."

House and Senate Republicans already have said they're willing to sit in on tax reform formulation if Romney and Democrats hold such sessions.

To this point the main stumbling block to such discussions has been the reluctance of either side to pick up a "tax party" label.

One Democrat observed that "we put the sales tax in and it took us 30 years to get back in control of the legislature. If we're the income tax boys ourselves, we might be out for 60."

Fears Shrimpers Seized by Cuba Were Off Course

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A Key West shrimp boat owner says he sent three new crewmen out without charts and believes it was probably they who were captured inside Cuban waters. "I think they evidently must have been off course," Roland Styron, shrimp fleet owner, said Thursday night.

A Cuban craft said over short wave radio Wednesday night that it captured a boat and took three men to port. A Cuban official at Batabano said the American boat was named Alice, a 58-footer.

Styron said his boat was named Alice, a 57 footer. Styron said the skipper, Dale Allen West, said he had not sailed from Florida and asked for charts.

Styron said he had no charts so told them, "just follow the fleet."

'Puffers' in a Huff Over Postal Fluff

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Over the years, post offices have provided a lot of cute feature stories about how they were able to figure out where to deliver letters which were incompletely or incorrectly addressed.

For a change of pace, I will now tell you about one that didn't get delivered. It was told me by a funfurious little group known as the Cigar Smokers of America.

It seems that the CSA occasionally pays tribute to stogie-puffing personages by conferring upon them honorary memberships. The late Sir Winston Churchill was so enrolled and such status recently was accorded to Jimmy Durante, the well-known comedian and etymologist.

The CSA does not enter into these matters blindly, but its visibility frequently is limited by dense cumulus formations of smoke clouds.

This perhaps explains why it mailed Durante's membership certificate to the wrong address. The destination was listed as Los Angeles rather than Beverly Hills, where Durante was domiciled.

Robert M. Donaldson of Boston, the organization's head smoker, was not necessarily astonished that the envelope was returned undelivered. He was, however, a bit taken aback by the reason ascribed thereon. When the CSA undertook to honor Durante, it harbored the impression that his was one of the most famous names in show business, instantly recognizable throughout America, including Southern California.

But someone in the Los Angeles Post Office had marked the envelope "addressee unknown."

In a moment of drollery, Donaldson dashed off a letter to Postmaster General John A. Gronouski inquiring as to how the postal service could have mislaid Durante, nose and all.

"Could this be the result of automation?" he asked.

The reply was written by Robert M. Huse, director of customer relations, who assured Donaldson that "every effort is made to have an experienced distribution clerk review mail which has an incomplete or erroneous address."

"But," he added, "we are sure you will agree that possibly a postal employee young in years may not be familiar with the name Durante."

Now everyone knows that fame is fleeting, but in Durante's case it appears to have set a new track record for rapid evaporation.

Remembering those old feature stories, I think I know what went wrong.

If the CSA had simply written the word "Schnozzola" on the envelope, it undoubtedly would have been delivered.

Flag-Raising Marine to Revisit Iwo Jima

BEDFORD, Mass. (AP) — Rene Gagnon is planning to climb a famous hill in a couple of weeks.

He's been there before, once, as an 18-year-old, one of a Marine patrol sent out to reconnoiter the hill, Suribachi. It dominated one end of the war-torn island of Iwo Jima.

Because he was there, he is one of half a dozen men of World War II who achieved a symbolic immortality for their part in the famous flag-raising scene.

Gagnon and John H. Bradley of Antigo, Wis., are the only two survivors.

RETURN TRIP

Gagnon is returning to the island this month, and expects to climb to the top of Suribachi with his wife and son, Rene Jr., 17. They leave by air Sunday from New York for Tokyo on the first leg of the trip.

The flag-raising scene was preserved for all time, first in a photograph made by an Associated Press war correspondent photographer, Joseph Rosenthal of San Francisco.

The photograph won Rosenthal a Pulitzer Prize, and it became one of the most widely published of all war pictures.

The scene was preserved in bronze almost 10 years later when the Marine Corps commissioned sculptor Felix de Weldon to execute the statue which now stands in Washington.

ON THAT DAY

But on that day 20 years ago Feb. 23, the patrol went out to climb the hill, an inactive volcano, to see if it was clear of the Japanese enemy.

When they reached the top, a lieutenant hauled out the flag he had been given by a colonel to raise as an all clear signal.

"We found a piece of pipe up there and we tied it on and raised it," Gagnon said, recalling the event.

"That photographer, Joe Rosenthal, got just one snap at it, and there it was. You know, he didn't have to go out on patrols, but he did, and that's how he got the picture," Gagnon said.

THREE LIVED

Only three of the six lived through the month-long Iwo Jima action. The third survivor of the battle was Ira Hayes, an American Indian, who died about 10 years ago.

Gagnon now is an airline ticket agent, assigned to the joint airline-military ticket office at L.G. Hanscom Field, a state-owned airport which also houses a number of Air Force and research facilities.

WTHS Classes Set in Data Processing

By JEAN PERRY

Classes begin next fall in computer language and unit record courses in the new data processing program at Waterford Township High.

This program will serve all of the township as an instructional tool.

The machines will also be used in scheduling payrolls and the grading system.

There are two distinct divisions. The computer language classes are slated juniors and seniors with business, science and math backgrounds.

The unit record course is in the main, for business students and as an elective for 10th through 12th grades. The machines are temporarily located in Room 120 until the A-Building is remodeled into the curriculum material center.

Next fall this program will be offered in adult education classes and the community school program. The course may be included in the summer school curriculum.

Waterford Kettering also will be taking these courses during the next school year. Plans are presently being made for the transportation of WKHS students.

In the fall, courses will be introduced in junior high to ready students for the data processing center.

Advanced classes may use machines to solve problems such as physics, math and the like.

Waterford and Kettering will have a joint dance Saturday at 8 p.m. in the WTHS gym. The "Valentine Venture" will help foreign exchange students from WTHS. School clothes are the appropriate dress.

S. Viet General Interviewed

Warns of More Cong Terror

WASHINGTON (AP) — A South Vietnamese general warns that more terror tactics should be expected from Communist guerrillas in their stepped-up offensive against American bases and personnel in South Viet Nam.

The warning came from Maj. Gen. Do Cao Tri. He was commander of South Viet Nam's 2nd Army Corps before coming here three months ago for medical treatment.

Interviewed at the South Vietnamese Embassy here, Tri said some of the terror tactics now used by the Viet Cong were used by the North Vietnamese army against the French before the 1954 battle of Dien Bien Phu.

Tri's command included the Pleiku and Qui Nhon areas where attacks against Americans within the past four days have caused more than 175 casualties.

EASY TO APPROACH He said that Pleiku, dominating a large plateau region, is easy to approach along valleys. Two kinds of security measures were taken there. Close security was maintained by guards around the Camp Holloway area while outside the Vietnamese army maintained mobile patrols.

"In addition I always had an armored car, and M4 tank and infantry troops in reserve," Tri said. "This was enough to make a counterattack once we knew from which area the Viet Cong were approaching."

Tri said that a sudden rush by a few Viet Cong guerrillas was most difficult to guard against in the kind of warfare now being fought in South Viet Nam.

"We should hit the Viet Cong each time they attempt to hit us and we should make the reaction in their territory," he said.

Tri said that he knows from captured documents that the reason the Viet Cong makes its general attack against U.S. installations is because of orders from Hanoi.

He said that many of the captured documents had specific instructions detailing how the target should be attacked.

Report Mao Rules Out China-U.S. War

HAMBURG, Germany (UPI)—Chinese Communist leader Mao Tse-tung last month ruled out the possibility of war between the United States and Red China, according to an account of an interview published here yesterday.

Mao predicted the war in Viet Nam would last only "one or two years more" and was quoted as commenting:

"The Americans probably will lose interest."

The account appeared in the West German weekly Stern. The magazine said American correspondent Edgar Snow interviewed Mao in Peking last month.

"The more armed forces the Americans commit in South Viet Nam, the higher climb the Viet Cong chances to win," Mao was quoted as saying. The Communist ruler continued:

"Only the Communist Viet Cong profit from American intervention. Many of the American-armed and trained soldiers, officers and perhaps even generals of the South Vietnamese army are going over to the Viet Cong."

"They change helmets."

Snow said Mao told him Red China would not send troops outside its own borders and had no intention of fighting anyone so long as Chinese territory was not attacked.

He reported Mao said this ruled out the possibility of war between Communist China and the United States because U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk had declared the United States would not attack.

Mao also was quoted as saying: "On atomic war: 'If one must fight, one should limit himself to conventional weapons.'"

On former Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, Red China will "miss him as a bad example." Mao said Sino-Soviet relations have improved only slightly since Khrushchev was ousted from the Kremlin.

There will be no war with India while Indian troops stay within their own territory.

Rights Leader Visits MSU

Negro Voter Drive Too Slow, Says King

EAST LANSING (AP) — Dr. Martin Luther King said Thursday that at the present pace, it will take 132 years to get one of the eligible Negroes registered to vote in Mississippi.

King flew from Selma, Ala., to address an overflow crowd of 4,000 at Michigan State University and returned immediately to his Negro voter registration efforts in that southern city.

House Committee Probe of KKK Activities Nears

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Committee on Un-American Activities today edged closer to an inquiry into the activities of the Ku Klux Klan.

Committee Chairman Edwin E. Willis, D-La., said he is making a "preliminary investigation" of the Southern white supremacist organization.

There was every indication that a majority of the nine-member panel would vote for a full-scale inquiry if Willis finds sufficient evidence to warrant one.

Members already have instructed Willis to look into the "feasibility" of an investigation which is the first stage of any committee inquiry.

Based on this study, Willis could order staff investigators into the South to dig up information on the Klan's operation, tactics and influence.

Hearings possible. Hearings, both closed and public, would follow if Willis decides they were necessary.

The committee is known for investigation efforts in that southern city. The Baptist clergyman, a Nobel Prize winner for his Negro rights work, estimated at the present pace it would take 68 years to get two-thirds of the eligible Negroes registered to vote in Alabama.

King criticized the notion that only time can solve the problems we face in race relations.

its investigations of Communists and allegedly pro-Communist groups, but has never looked into extremist groups on the right.

So far, Willis has made no decision on a request for an investigation made by Rep. Charles L. Wellner, D-Ga., who became a member of the committee this year.

Wellner, calling the Klan "this madness in our midst," said in a House speech that a thorough investigation of the KKK was necessary to eliminate its weapons of "secrecy, rumor and fear." Only "plain fact and simple truth" can ever make the 100-year-old Klan extinct, he said.

Military Use in New Space Shot

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The United States is a step nearer a military capability in space because of the remarkable orbit-shifting performance of a 15-foot-tall rocket stage dubbed "space switch engine."

During a 4-hour 23-minute period yesterday, the stage, officially called a transstage, recorded the first triple ignition of a rocket engine in space, changed orbit three times and then kicked loose two bonus satellites.

Air Force Brig. Gen. Joseph S. Heymaster, Titan 3A program director, said of the flight:

"This was a very ambitious undertaking. We stated from the outset that we were developing a standard launch vehicle capable of doing just about every type of orbital flight. This was certainly demonstrated."

Results of the first-of-a-kind test strengthened the argument of Defense Department authorities who contend a rocket can be developed to perform the precise maneuvers needed for military space operations.

The transstage is the third stage of a Titan 3A rocket, which is to be the heart of the Defense Department's program. Here is what the vehicle did on the near-perfect flight:

The first two stages, with more than a half a million pounds of thrust, shoved the transstage into space, where it ignited into an orbit from 188 to 123 miles high.

Seventy-eight minutes later, the transstage restarted its engine for 37 seconds and whipped Company Red-Faced as Sign Turns to 'Vice'

POST, Tex. (U) — It's surprising what a difference a few letters can make! Public utility company officials thought so, too. They sent for the repairman quickly when some of the letters faded from the large electric sign on their building. According to the sign, their "Public Service" was reduced to "Public Vice."

into an elliptical orbit between 116 and 1,768 miles up.

After three hours, the transstage started for an historic third time and switched into an almost perfect circular path in which the high and low points were only four miles apart—1,727 to 1,731 miles.

At this point, all primary goals of the test flight were achieved.

As a secondary goal, the transstage ejected two satellites into the near-circular path — a 60-pound experimental communications package and a 1,000-pound chunk of metal whose purpose was to demonstrate the rocket's ability to pack more than one payload.

Land Dispute Adds to 'Warming' Trend

Argentina's Siberia 'Melting'

USHUAIA, Argentina (AP) — Slowly, by stretch and yawn, Argentina's Siberia is coming awake from its frigid hibernation.

Tourism, a free-trade zone, and increasing interest in the general area and Antarctica are changing the pace of life in what once was only a sleepy prison town.

Ushuaia — pronounced ush-wa-ya, without accent — is the capital of Argentina's southernmost Tierra del Fuego territory. Argentines call it the world's southernmost city. Chileans regard Ushuaia as a mere village and reserve the title for their own Punta Arenas, a much larger community 150 miles north.

MINOR DISPUTE
This is the least of conflicting viewpoints between Chileans and Argentines. They dispute boundary alignments north of here and jurisdiction of three islands in the nearby Beagle Channel. Ushuaia's walls are plastered with slogans: "Out with the Chilean aggressor," "Let's react to Chilean invasion of our soil."

This community of some 4,000 is a collection of sheet metal and wooden structures, with a few sturdier concrete block and frame buildings, only 650 miles from the peninsula jutting out between the Weddell and Bellingshausen seas. It's cool in summer and bitterly cold in winter.

Ushuaia and Rio Grande, 125 miles north, are the only two towns of any size in Tierra del Fuego, a triangle-shaped portion of the island Argentina shares with Chile at South America's toe. A thriving lumber industry, the naval base, truck farming, and sheep raising provide the main sources of income for the territory's 10,000 people. Because this is a federally administered political entity, there are many government employees.

Founded in 1884, the town was best known as Argentina's maximum prison for criminals and politicians currently out of favor. The small penal installation, for a maximum of 400 inmates, was flanked by a formidable mountain range on one side and surrounded by cold waters on the other. There was hardly any place to escape to.

BEAUTY IN DISPUTE — A cluster of log cabins nestle in front of snow-capped mountains on a South American frontier area disputed by Argentina and Chile. A community nearby is called Ushuaia by Argentines, who say it is the world's southernmost city. This settlement is an Argentine frontier outpost.

BACKGROUND OF THE NEWS

SPECIAL REPORT

The prison was closed in 1948, and the navy converted it into a base to help keep the lifelines open between the mainland and Argentina's Antarctica outposts. This country claims a sizable chunk of the white continent. Argentine icebreakers, equipped with helicopters and scout planes, and supply freighters put in here for repairs or supplies and occasionally pick up technicians and scientists from other countries en route south to work.

Paul Chelminski, research scientist with Columbia University's Lamont Geophysical Laboratory, spent six weeks aboard the icebreaker San Martin which put into Ushuaia recently.

"It was like winter in Connecticut," he said, describing the antarctic climate when he was there. "Temperatures ranged 15 to 30 degrees above zero with occasional snow flurries and some times it was sunny."

Life in this gateway to Antarctica isn't very exciting but De-metrio Luizao, 29, a government employee, says: "The countryside is fun and I don't mind duty here."

SLOW PACE

Ushuaia's pace is barely above a crawl, creating a sense of timelessness accentuated by the long summer days. The sun rises at 5 a.m., and, describing a sort of semicircle in the sky, sets at about 10:30 p.m. In winter the day is correspondingly short.

Although it's midsummer in the Southern Hemisphere now, the air is sharply cool in Ushuaia and old-fashioned wood stoves crackle in the corners of stores and restaurants. Most people go about in sweaters, coats and scarves topped by a beret. Red wines, sold by the glass like draught beer, is a favorite beverage. Chess and dominoes are popular pastimes.

Almost every house has a small garden growing lettuce, chard, onions, cabbage and potatoes. Flocks of sheep and horses roam the green hills. There's good salmon and trout fishing in the many streams. Out of the cold Beagle Channel comes a giant crab, canned for export.

Foreign-made goods at prices well below the national level are available in shops along the town's one paved street. This is because of the port's tax-free status for imports. U.S. cigarettes sell for about 18 cents a pack and whiskies under $4. Latest models of American cars, when available, can be purchased for under $3,500, vs. $7,500 in Buenos Aires.

HEAVY TAXES

Except for limited personal purchases, the buyer can't take much outside the territorial limits without paying heavy taxes. "The idea of a tax-free zone here," said a customs officer, "was to ease the burden of the local inhabitant who's cut off from the rest of the country except by air. Transportation and essentials are excessive."

Ushuaia's hotel facilities still are just a shade better than outdoor camping. The Argentine tourist carries camping and hiking equipment. He shuns the town and installs himself and his family near a stream in the forest.

Work, but No Vote

LOUISVILLE (AP)—Railroad clerk Gene Murdhas served 36 years as a precinct captain for the Democrats in Louisville.

Few Go First-Class

with only eight of its 150 first class passenger accommodations filled. There were 150 persons booked in the 800-bed tourist class section.

Soft Whiskey. How do we soften it without lowering the proof?

A lot of people would like to know the answer to that one.

Distillers (and we're no exception) have been trying to come up with a Soft Whiskey since the year one.

Some thought lowering the proof would do the trick. No good! The result: weaker whiskey. But not Soft Whiskey.

And we're not so perfect either. We failed miserably with Soft Whiskey experiments. Finally after over 22,000 of them, Bingo! A way of Softening whiskey without draining its strength.

An 86 proof that could do anything any other 86 proof could do. Only do it softer.

86 PROOF

Calvert Extra swallows easy. It's gentle going down. It sort of walks softly, but carries a big stick.

As for letting you in on how we soften Soft Whiskey, this much is safe to tell. We do things with Calvert Extra that some distillers wouldn't hear of. Like doing some distilling in small batches as opposed to large ones.

You really can't expect us to tell you more. Not after all that work. That soft we're not.

Junior Editors Quiz on BATS

QUESTION: Is a bat really "blind as a bat?"

ANSWER: Bats are the only mammals (warm-blooded animals which nurse their young with milk) which can fly by catching insects in the air.

On land, they are much more clumsy and helpless than the average bird. They fly when it begins to get dark and fly. They are completely at home in the air.

Do they see them? People often use the incorrect phrase "blind as a bat." Bats are not blind; they do have eyes, as our illustration shows, and they can see with them.

However, a bat's eyesight is not the main reason it can fly so well in the dark. Experiments show that a bat with eyes covered can still avoid obstacles. If its ears are plugged, it's different—then he is almost helpless.

Many experts say that the squeaking, high-pitched sounds made by bats enable them to tell when something is in the way by hearing the echoes as they come back.

It is also thought bats may hear vibrations in the air caused by air currents, these in turn have been changed by objects or flying insects.

There is still much to be learned about these little creatures, although we do know that on the whole bats are very useful to mankind, eating huge quantities of annoying insects.

FOR YOU TO DO: Since we usually see bats at dusk, our impression of them is just a black silhouette with widespread wings. Draw such a simple silhouette, using our artist's flying bat as a model. Then fill it in with solid black.

Escapee May Win His Freedom

JACKSON (UPI) — Prosecuting Attorney James G. Fleming has indicated that escape charges probably will not be filed against a Texas carnival operator who enjoyed 29 years of freedom before his wife revealed he was an escaped convict.

The Texan, James R. Jones, 49, was returned to Southern Michigan Prison yesterday. He escaped from the prison's west farm in 1936 after serving 18 months of a four-to-five-year sentence for burglary in Lenawee County. Since then he has led an exemplary life, according to Texas friends.

Jones' estranged wife, Mary Ellen, 53, turned him in after an argument over her share of their real estate and business interests Feb. 1. The couple had been living as Mr. and Mrs. James Ray Keller in Aransas Pass, Tex., for the past 15 years.

Fleming said he would take

no decision on the matter of charges against Jones until Texas authorities submit more complete information on his life in that state.

But he said he did not think charges will be filed. Texas friends have appealed to Michigan Gov. George Romney to parole Jones because he has been a good citizen.

CONSIDER PAROLE

Michigan Corrections Director Gus Harrison said the parole board would consider a parole after it has studied all details of the Jones case. Jones was only 17 at the time of his arrest. He was married at 15.

The Joneses separated about five months ago after 34 years of marriage. He and his wife have been in the carnival and amusement business for several years.

"I thought I could buy her off by signing over mortgages I held on five houses, a house trailer, car and garage," Jones said.

"But that wasn't enough. She insisted on part of my Kiddie Land Show and a share of the proceeds on the threat of exposing me if I didn't comply. I told her to go ahead and she did."

Jones said his only law violation in his years of freedom was a ticket for "creeping through a stop sign" in Corpus Christi, Tex.

Of the total personal income in the nation, 41 per cent is received by residents in the five most populous states.

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill left an estate valued at 156,961 pounds ($439,490.80), a report filed with his will in the Probate Court said today.

He bequeathed one-third to his wife, Lady Clementine Churchill. The other two-thirds is to be divided equally among his children, actress Sarah Churchill, Mary Soames and Randolph Churchill.

The 90-year-old statesman died Jan. 24.

Executors reported his gross estate — before payment of debts and estate taxes — was 304,044 pounds ($851,323.20).

After payment of debts 266,054 pounds ($744,951.20) remained, and estate taxes came to 109,993 pounds ($315,460.40).

Malaysia Foils Indonesia Raid

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (UPI) — Malaysian naval and land forces smashed two new Indonesian landing attempts today on the Malaysian mainland and made preparations for more attacks.

One Indonesian was killed and 18 captured in land and sea operations.

Five other Indonesians were reported at large in southwestern Johore and two platoons of the Malay regiment were deployed to ferret them out.

In anticipation of more Indonesian moves, intensified patrolling was ordered in the waters separating Indonesia and Malaysia.

A three-mile offshore, dusk-to-dawn curfew covering much of the west coast facing Indonesia was invoked at 6 p.m. (5:30 a.m. EST).

2 BOATS

A government spokesman said the invaders came in two boats.

Malaysian land forces killed one Indonesian and captured eight others on the Kelap Peninsula about 15 miles west of Singapore Island.

The spokesman said the men landed in a boat capable of holding about 15 and that some Indonesians might be still at large.

Earlier the defense ministry announced that 10 Indonesian marine commandos "surrendered meekly" to the crew of patrol craft Ski Kedah.

Squelch the Friends Who Ask

By The Emily Post Institute
Q: My husband is a very busy attorney and has precious few evenings to relax and enjoy his friends. When he does have a free evening I usually invite people in to dinner or else we are invited out.
Not too infrequently on these occasions, one of the guests will ask my husband's advice about a legal matter.
Not wishing to be rude he answers the person's question and before long he is talking "shop" and instead of an evening of diversion and relaxation he is giving legal advice—and for free.
I think this is very unfair to my husband and I would like to know how this practice can be discouraged without causing hurt feelings.
A: Even at the risk of causing hurt feelings, your husband will be more than justified in saying to those who presume to ask for free legal advice, "I'm awfully sorry, but all this talking it serves no purpose to bring this to my attention and only causes embarrassment."
May I please have your opinion on this?
A: Unless she is at home or some place where she can change her stocking, I agree with you that it serves no purpose to bring this to her attention.

The ninth annual scholarship luncheon and fashion show to be held at Kingsley Inn on Feb. 18 at noon should be a record turnout, according to the three pictured here who are working on arrangements for the Michigan State University alumnae club. From the left are Mrs. Duan Ziegler, Stoddard Avenue, West Bloomfield Township; Mrs. Walter J. Matthes Jr. of Birmingham and Mrs. Diane Baker, Hamilton Road.

Faithfulness Wins Out

DEAR ABBY: You surely have heard the expression, "Great minds run in the same channel." Well, after a recent incident I think it can be said that "faithful minds" also run in the same channel.
I read your column in the LAKE WALES (FLA.) HIGHLANDER and when I came across the letter from the serviceman signed "JERSEY," who wanted to know what a normal, healthy married man is supposed to do about his "physical needs" during long separations from his wife, I clipped it and sent it to my husband, who is serving with the U.S. Army in Saigon.

A few days later (too soon for him to have received the clipping), HE sent me the very same column which HE had torn out of the SAIGON DAILY NEWS, which also carries DEAR ABBY.

I am sure that article will help us both to remain faithful though separated for a long time. Thank you for your wise reply.

LONELY BUT LOYAL
DEAR LONELY: And thank you for your kind letter.

I would like to say here that I receive thousands of letters from servicemen and their wives.

And today, while cynics eagerly point out that infidelity in modern marriage is on the rise, I am heartened by the obvious mutual trust and faithfulness between the serviceman and the wife he left behind.

DEAR ABBY: In your answer to a letter you implied that a barber would not know the difference between a black head, a mole or a wart.

Miss Van Buren, please be advised that the science of barbering today is far more advanced than it was in years gone by.

A barber is required to know all about the diseases of the skin, scalp, hair and appendages.

I thank you.

A UNION BARBER
DEAR BARBER: I am aware that many barbers daily perform the important service of alerting their clients to suspicious-looking growths on their faces.

However, even though a barber may recognize moles, warts and blackheads, he is not licensed to treat or remove them.

Woodwinds Will Play at OU Sunday

Oakland University's newly formed Meadow Brook Woodwind Quintet, made up of principals of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, will give its debut performance Sunday, at 3:30 p.m., in the Gold Room.

Gordon Staples, violin soloist, will give a first performance in the area of Alvin Etlers' Concerto for Violin and Wind Quintet. Members of the ensemble are Albert Tipton, flutes; Arno Mariotti, oboe; Paul Schaller, clarinet; Charles Sivard, bassoon; and David Krehbiel, French horn.

The program will include Haydn's "Divertimento," the Chaconne from Bach's D minor Partita, and Anton Reicha's Quintet in E flat, Op. 88, No. 2.

SECOND PROGRAM

This is the second of four programs the University will offer through April featuring one of three elite chamber groups formed from Symphony first-chair men and outstanding solo members.

The 16-man chamber orchestra conducted by Tipton appeared with great success January 24 and will be heard again on March 28.

The third group, a string quartet headed by Mischa Mischakoff, will perform April 18 in the ballroom of Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson's estate, Meadow Brook Hall.

A few single tickets at $3 are available for the February 21 performance through the Meadow Brook Festival office at the University.

WOMEN'S SECTION

Invite Men to Party of Altar Groups

A Mr. and Mrs. card party is slated by the Rosary Altar society of the Our Lady of the Lakes Church on Saturday at 8 p.m. in the high school gym.

Mrs. Richard Urban, chairman of the affair, has named the following assistants: Mrs. Joseph Baxter, Mrs. Leo Halfpenny, Mrs. Richard Miller, Mrs. Leonard Methner, Mrs. Henry Rickgers.

Mrs. Albert Feliks, Mrs. George Cesiel, Mrs. Robert Van, Mrs. Clerque Webster, Mrs. Ray Yost, and Mrs. Horace Howieson.

Proceeds will be used for the additional building program now in progress.

Tickets may be obtained at the door.

Area Weaver to Speak at Mall

Pontiac Mall's Woman's World Series will present "The World of Creating" with inspirational designs in yarn by Eileen Auvil, fabric designer and sculptress, on Wednesday.

Mrs. Auvil's desire for a self-supporting studio led to the creation of coordinated mohair throws and pillows, featured in a number of retail stores across the country.

Now, however, a large portion of her work is detailed for decorators and architects.

STARTED SMALL

This artist started her work in half of a 70-foot greenhouse and has just recently moved to Romeo where she has acquired a new studio boasting 10-foot ceilings.

Of herself, the designer says, "I'm a believer in intuitive creativity. It is impossible to tell why I do some things, other than I have to."

It's a conscious thing but you can't pin down why you did it—it just seemed right. Therefore it was done.

Of her surroundings she explains, "I love living in the country—17 acres with a lake and a lovely bubbling brook. To walk, not seeing anything manmade is a delight."

"But equally delightful is walking in a large city, watching people watch people."

AWARDS

She has consistently won awards for her work during the past few years. One of her rugs is on exhibit at the New York World's Fair.

The Woman's World Series begins with coffee at 9:30 a.m. and the program starts promptly at 10 a.m. All programs are held in the community room of the Mall.

There will be a workshop session after the lecture, from 11 to 12.

EILEEN AUVIL

Mrs. Poole Hosts Book Review Unit

Mrs. Gelston Poole of South Shore Drive will open her home to members of the Waterford Township Library Book Review group on Monday at 1 p.m.

"The Fountainhead" by Ayn Rand will be reviewed.

Assisting Mrs. Poole will be Mrs. Arthur Selden and Mrs. Arthur Arnold.

In charge of the business meeting will be Mrs. Francis Kinkle.

OU Theatre Slates Play

The Oakland University Meadow Brook Theatre Guild will present the folk play "Dark of the Moon" on Feb. 12-20.

Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. for each of the three performances in the University's Little Theatre, according to Tom Aston, adviser for the Theatre Guild.

The play will involve a large student cast, and will include folk dancing, folk music, singing, and creative dance as well as serious drama.

An unusual feature of the production will be the staging. The stage design will extend the acting area deep into the audience, allowing viewing from three sides.

The play is open to the public, and tickets will be available at the door at $1.50.

Opera Luncheon Was Big Drawing Card

By SIGNE KARLSTROM
Yesterday, some 250 opera lovers heard about the Metropolitan opera season which begins on May 24 at the Detroit Masonic Temple.

Mrs. Lynn Townsend president, informed the audience of the Women's Committee's purpose which is not only the promotion of tickets, but also the educational program.

This includes "Overture to Opera," in the suburban high schools, the program in the libraries, as well as in the general school system.

Mrs. Max Fisher, co-chairman introduced the guest speaker, John Gutman, assistant manager of the Met. He most amusingly told about incidents "behind the scenes" at the opera house and about their famous artists.

He also spoke about this year's opening night's performance "The Last Savage," and what good entertainment the opera is.

Following the luncheon the audience was invited to hear the scholarship aspirants.

When Mrs. Fred Matthei, Sr. chairman of the Judges appeared on the stage with Mrs. Sam B. Williams, assistant chairman and the Grinnell Music Scholarship representative, there were many anxiously waiting to hear who the winner would be.

Judith Hauman of Toledo was the happy choice.

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Despite everything, mothers sometimes disappoint their sons.

When Mrs. H. P. Judah went to the hospital maternity ward, she left her son, Speedy, age 2½, with an aunt.

After a telephone call from the hospital, the aunt reported to Speedy: "Guess what — you have a new little brother!"

"Oh, Nanny," he exclaimed, "I wanted a baby frog!"

A big kiss for the queen. Commissioner James H. Marshall of District 7 plants a big smacker on Deborah Sturgis, Going Street, after she was selected as queen of hearts at the Robert Frost PTA family program Thursday evening. David Taylor, South Marshall Street, newly elected king, takes it all in his stride. Both youngsters are third graders.

Companionship Needed

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case V-402: Frances M., aged 38, is a cousin of mine.

"We have had two dogs for several years," she said.

"Recently the younger dog got killed. After that the older dog moped around and refused to eat. It finally grew so weak we had to call the veterinarian."

"After making a thorough examination, do you know what he prescribed?"

DR. CRANE

GET A PUPPY

"Well, he told us to get a puppy, saying the older dog was just lonesome and brooding."

"So we obtained a puppy from the dog pound the very next day."

"And it teased the older dog, playfully biting its tail and barking at it."

"Before the week was over, the older dog snapped out of the doldrums and began to eat."

"In fact, it even began to romp and play with the puppy."

SECOND MARRIAGES

A similar situation often exists when a devoted husband and wife have spent many happy years together, only to have death snatch one of the team away.

The other feels lost and may grow moody, despondent and lack a normal appetite.

Living alone, the remaining mate may thus feel less interested in food, for a hearty appetite partakes partly of congenial company at the table.

So it is medically and psychologically wise for widows and widowers to remarry if they can meet congenial, certified mates.

SCIENTIFIC GROUP

Our Scientific Marriage Foundation, a non-profit educational organization with Dr. Penle, Bishop Gerald Kennedy and other eminent Jewish, Catholic and Protestant leaders on the board, thus renders a great aid to both the unmarried and the widowed.

"But my grown children think it is an insult to their dead mother," many a widower of 55 or 60 will report, "If I consider a second marriage."

On the contrary, it is actually a tribute to the former wife, for it shows she made marriage so happy that her bereaved husband considers a second marriage with favor.

You children cannot "communicate" properly with your remaining parent, for he (or she) needs somebody of the same age bracket.

Then their childhood experiences are much the same. Even their popular music tastes are alike, since they grew up in the same earlier generation.

Besides, two people stimulate each other's minds, much as the two dogs just mentioned.

They also perk up stomach appetite, too, and thus serve as good insurance for longer life and greater health.

There is also more incentive to attend church when you have a devoted companion at your side.

Big Weekend for U. of M.

University of Michigan students are anxiously waiting for a snow offering from the Gods to create an appropriate setting for the campus debut of Winter Weekend, "Five Fifths of Myth."

Winter Weekend is replacing the traditional Spring Weekend this year because of the new University trimester calendar.

All activities of the weekend are centered around Greek myths, and will begin this afternoon with a kick-off party in the Union where Bacchus, the God of wine and women, will reign and award prizes to the best dancers.

Ernie Humphreys of East

Tennison Street is chairman of the Alpha Tau Omega-Delta Phi Epsilon skit which is based on "Gifts of the Gods."

Acting one of the principal roles in the Delta Tau Omega-Delta Phi Epsilon skit, "Take Two, They're Small," is Fred Coffin of Indianwood Road.

Many students will jam Yost Fieldhouse Saturday afternoon to witness the "supreme sacrifice of the entire mythological festival" — the offering of the MSU basketball team to the Wolverine Five.

A special Winter Weekend half-time show will continue the mythological theme throughout the afternoon.

Both indoor and outdoor activities are planned to climax Winter Weekend Saturday night.

VALENTINE THEME

The I-M building will be converted into "Cupid's Cotillion," featuring twelve booths designed by pairs of housing units and will offer games, refreshments, and a band for dancing.

Working on the Delta Gamma-Beta Theta Pi booth, "Cupid's Corner," will be Martha Foren of Lake Angelus Drive, Alpha Gamma Delta and Evans Scholars will present "Sherwood Forest Golf and Country Club" which Tom McGrath of Niagara Road has helped construct this week.

Tom Jackson of James K is co-chairman of the Chi Psi-Chi Omega skill booth, "Mythical Mugs."

Many months of work goes into planning an all-campus weekend, and the organization is headed by a Central Committee, which coordinates the entire project.

Working with the Central Committee on Winter Weekend are Mary Fox of Ridgeview Road, tickets; Mark Lightfoot of McClintock Road, graphics; and Pat Corpron of Kelthdale Road, graphics.

PLEDGES

Five Pontiac-area girls are wearing sorority pledge pins around campus following the recent women's rush.

The new pledges are Cheryl Wilton of Lakewind Drive, Alpha Chi Omega; Monica Calhoun of Spokane Drive, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Carolyn Gaensbauer of North Hammond Lake Drive, Delta Gamma; Marguerite Hyde of Reading Road, Alpha Phi; and Sarajane Serwin of Oneida Road, Sigma Delta Tau.

Several Pontiac-area students are working on various student publications on campus.

Julie Fitzgerald of Cranbrook Court is a reporter for the Michigan Daily, and Mike Jenkins of Wenonah Drive is a staff member of the Gargoyle, Michigan's campus humor magazine.

Pam Griffin of Ogemaw Road is a member of the Women's League Public Relations committee and is copy editor of the Union-League Calendar Notebook. She has also been recently appointed to the Special Events committee of Panhellenic Association.

Warm Water Soak

If a tablecloth is stained with milk, cream or ice cream, soak the stain in warm water and launder as soon as possible.

MRS. EDWIN BENNETT

She's Loser Who Won

Five of the weight-losing clubs in the area crowned their queen Wednesday evening in the Mark Twain school. Receiving the honor was Mrs. Edwin Bennett of Stirling Avenue whose weight loss was 33½ pounds in about six months time.

She is a member of the Pontiac group of Fashionettes. Runners-up in order of losses were Mrs. Charles Ferguson, Mrs. Anthony Van Linden, Mrs. John Shuell, Mrs. Thomas Hereford, Mrs. Edward Zalenski, Mrs. Robert Chrisman, Mrs. Park Nique, Mrs. Harry Eastin, and Mrs. Robert McGowan.

A total of 163 pounds was lost by the queen and the runners-up. Corsages were awarded to each.

Following the crowning, the Clarkson High School chorus, under the direction of Lee Moore, presented several selections from the score of "My Fair Lady."

Take One of Each

Worth noting: two piece swim suits now can be bought as separates. This means a woman can get one size bra and another size short if she's built that way.

Called "Swim-Swaps," the group is color-coordinated in red, white and navy so a woman can be her own designer.

The two - parters feature stretch cottons like denim and duck as well as polka dot and pin stripe cotton.

Walking Shoes for Shopping

Never start on a shopping spree wearing a new pair of shoes. Neither should you wear sandals. Wear a well broken-in pair of comfortable walking shoes.

They should have a broad low or medium heel to provide a good base for walking and standing and fit snugly at the heels to cause no rubbing and painful blistering. Support at the arch is very important.

Mayde Jo Slippers
a Boom

SAN ANGELO, TEX. (U) — A desire to create wartime Christmas presents during a shoe rationing period lies behind a big business operation here.

In 1914, Mayde Jo Green was living with her mother, Mayde Bailey, while her husband was overseas. The two decided to take remnants and make fancy slippers to wear around the bedroom for Christmas presents.

The gifts were popular, and eventually a business was born. Today Mayde's Inc. sells $872,000 worth of bedroom slippers yearly—and the mother-daughter operation which began on a ranch near San Angelo now employs 125 persons. The company handles 2,500 accounts.

Sleep Away
in Ease

CHICAGO (UPI) — There seems to be no end of gimmicks to help people fall asleep, a survey by the Sleep Institute of the Spring Air Mattress Co., Chicago, shows.

For noise, there are ear plugs, acoustical ear muffs and even an electrical device that emits a steady hum to drown out the other sounds.

For snoring, there's an elastic band the snorer can wear to keep his or her mouth shut. There's also a snore ball worn on the back of the pajamas to discourage sleeping on the back, believed to be one cause of snoring.

SPADEA DESIGNER PATTERN

There's a lot of fashion prejudice this season and most of it is on the bias. This dress by Bill Blass who designs for Maurice Rentner, is full of bias and it is handled with an intricacy that takes a Bill Blass to devise.

Actually the intricacy is only in its appearance since the dress itself is surprisingly easy to make.

The tri-partite bodice front consists of three separate bias pieces, gettily fitted together to give an impression of contour without making a point of it.

Choose a material that lends itself to bias cutting such as crepe, heavy sheers, very fine wools.

Spadea's exclusive ready-to-wear sizes produce a better fit.

VISTA Volunteers Hold Key Roles in LBJ's War on Poverty

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — Volunteers in President Johnson's war on poverty are not giving a year of their life to be stamp lickers or cheap labor for overworked local welfare agencies.

They may not all be professional social workers but Volunteers in Service To America — VISTA — are much more than what is commonly associated with the word volunteer.

And the first 13 VISTA trainees know it.

"These volunteers are sub-professionals or will be," said Morris Cohen, director of their training program. "They will be able to give their full time to extending services to people of poverty."

LIVE WITH POOR

VISTA volunteers will live as well as work among the poor, he said, and probably will hold responsible positions in local anti-poverty programs approved by the federal government.

The volunteers radiate enthusiasm and confidence and admit to only a few apprehensions.

Speaking was petite, white-haired Mrs. J. E. Holmes of Spring Lake, Mich. She and her husband, a retired superintendent of schools, raised two children and now are looking forward to work among migrant farm workers in Southern California as VISTA volunteers.

AROUND WORLD

Mr. and Mrs. James D. Mawhinney, who have lived in all parts of the world during his Army career, also have an idea of what to expect in VISTA.

"We have seen poverty and we think we understand it," said Mrs. Mawhinney, the mother of three grown children. "We have lived in many places, in some difficult situations."

Mawhinney, 66, a mustached, pipe-smoking retired colonel, served as an Army engineer and is convinced he still has "something to contribute" to the less fortunate.

The two couples, representatives of one of two very different generations in VISTA, have the desire to help others but they also found retirement was not personally satisfying.

VOLUNTEERS EAGER

Age has little to do with the volunteers' enthusiasm or respect for each other. Both Elizabeth Brown, 31, Kingston, N. C., who feels "30 years young," and lanky Richard Guske, 20, are united in the desire to "help people help themselves."

Jacqueline Steingold, 22, Detroit, is ready to use her psychology-sociology degree from Wayne State University.

The first 13 VISTA trainees completed a two-week study and briefing session Jan. 23 at Camp New Hope, near Chapel Hill, and currently are on three-week field assignments working in anti-poverty programs in the North Carolina cities of Winston-Salem and New Bern. The program is federally financed.

Whether VISTA will work and whether these volunteers are satisfied with their part in it will come more into focus by the end of their training. They will have a final week of review before accepting their individual assignments.

Corvair by Chevrolet

The beauty of it, of course, goes deeper than the things you don't get. There's the other side of the coin—what you do get instead.

Take the no window post, for example. What you do get is hardtop styling—with curved frameless side windows—in every Corvair closed model. Even the lowest priced coupe or sedan.

The transmission and driveline hump you don't get means more foot room for both front- and back-seat passengers. Thanks to Corvair's rear engine, the floor is practically flat.

No radiator—the engine's air-cooled—also means no water, no antifreeze and no hose leaks to worry about. All of which add up to some more important pluses.

Power steering? Power brakes? Corvair needs them like a centipede needs crutches. With most of the engine weight on the rear wheels, the front ones are free to steer easily. And stops are quick and sure—with no nosediving.

Come on down to our showroom and discover the difference of driving one of these new Corvairs for yourself. Your reaction to all those "No's" you see up there will be positively great.

Science Quiz

By BOB BROWN

PROBLEM: The Dancing Balloon. NEEDED: A rubber balloon and a warm air register in the floor.

DO THIS: Place the balloon in the stream of rising air, and it will remain there. If the air stream is strong, the balloon will dance up and down in the air.

HERE'S WHY: Bernoulli discovered that air in motion exerts less side pressure than still or more slowly moving air.

Therefore, if the balloon moves to one side of the warm air stream, the greater pressure from the slowly moving air surrounding the moving stream pushes the balloon back.

There is also an irregular up and down dance representing a contest between the downward pull of gravity and the upward movements of the irregular balloon due to the ascending warm air currents.

A book, "Science Circus," is a collection of these "Science For You" tricks. It is in book stores.

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

In his search for a new head coach, prior to the naming of Harry Gilmer, William Clay Ford, president of the Detroit Lions had bundles of mail with applications and suggestions as to candidates.

One of the best offers Ford received came from a "football hero."

Here is his letter of nomination, giving the credentials of her pro-football loving husband:

Dear Mr. Ford:

I know that you will spend a great deal of time and money to find a new winning coach and staff of able assistants. I highly recommend a young man who lives, eats, breathes, sleeps, walks and talks FOOTBALL.

This man knows every player on every team. From a mere speck on a TV screen, he can tell the name of the player, age, weight, height, color of eyes and hair and in addition the numbers of passes thrown, yards gained and touchdowns scored.

He is supervising a future great quarterback and he would be a tremendous asset to your team. This man has an endless fund of knowledge of football on all levels. He is an arm-chair coach. He would blossom standing in the rain, sleet and snow.

Sir, the windows of his home vibrate from the force of his cheers as the Lions roll over their opponents and he moans when the Lions are pummeled by a stronger force.

This man has been known to miss breakfast, lunch and dinner to spend every possible waking moment at the TV, with radio in his lap, surrounded by stacks of football books, magazines and newspapers which he saves for years "in case he needs them."

My husband would be the most successful coach the Lions have had. If you sincerely desire to bring back the NFL crown to Detroit, avail yourself of this golden opportunity to obtain a tower of strength, pillar of society and giant among men. This great man, my husband, Merle R. Silverman (Rah, Rah, Rah), is your pot of gold at the end of the rainbow. Please contact him for contract terms.

Sincerely,
Mrs. M. R. Silverman

P.S. I want peace and quiet. I will do anything to obtain it. Therefore I give up to the Detroit Lions, my husband. I can no longer serve meals between halves. I can no longer keep three children and a dog quiet for a long drawn out football game which when the announcer says two minutes to go, drags out for 15 minutes. I retire, defeated.

Ford did not indicate whether or not Silverman was among those interviewed for the coaching job. With all the bowl games during the holidays, it would have been unlikely Ford could have lured the football-loving candidate away from his television set.

Twyman Latest Cager to Reach NBA Mark

Jack Twyman, a 10-year veteran, is the sixth player in National Basketball Association to surpass the 15,000 point mark.

Twyman made the list Thursday night in Cincinnati's 130-109 victory over Detroit.

In other games, St. Louis beat Baltimore 124-94 and San Francisco turned back Philadelphia 106-100.

The only other players to score more than 15,000 points are Bob Pettit, Dolph Schayes, Wilt Chamberlain, Bob Cousy and Paul Arizin.

Twyman's 15,000th came on a backhand layup with 4:45 left in the third period. Time was called, and Detroit Player-coach Dave DeBussche presented the ball to the Royal star. All told, he scored 17 points, finishing the game with 15,003.

TOP SCORER
Oscar Robertson led the Royals with 28 points while Eddie Miles scored 19 for the Pistons.

St. Louis moved three games ahead of the Bullets in their fight for second place in the Western Division. The Hawks broke open the game with a 17-1 spree that gave them a 36-16 lead shortly after the start of the second quarter.

The Bullets lost Gus Johnson with possible torn ligaments and may be without him for about two weeks. Johnson turned his left ankle in the second period and had to be helped from the floor.

The Warriors' victory at Oakland, Calif., was their first over the 76ers since San Francisco traded Wilt Chamberlain to Philadelphia. The Warriors opened up a 13-point lead in the last period and then staved off a 76er rally.

Lightweight Fight Is Definitely Off

PANAMA CITY, Panama (AP) — Lightweight champion Carlos Ortiz scheduled Saturday defense against Ismael Laguna of Panama is off until the New Yorker regains his health.

"We will set a new date when he gets well," said Bill Daly, Ortiz' manager, Thursday. "I'm not putting him in the ring, no matter who the opponent is, unless he is 100 per cent fit."

Ortiz, who was to have fought Laguna Saturday night in Panama's first world title fight, was stricken with a virus and upset stomach several days ago.

Four doctors examined the 28-year-old Puerto Rican-born champion but reserved their diagnosis until after further tests. They said they would make further examinations during the next two days.

'Still in Race' Say Wings After 5-3 Victory

Detroit Coach Hopeful After Beating Hawks

Chicago Still Leading NHL, 2 Points Ahead of Canadiens

DETROIT (UPI) — Call Sid Abel realistic.

The general manager — coach of the Detroit Red Wings admitted after Thursday night's 5-3 victory over the Chicago Black Hawks that his team is still "very much" in contention for first place in the National Hockey League.

Then, in the next breath, he put a reservation on the possibility of Detroit finishing atop the NHL for the first time since the 1956-57 campaign.

"Sure we're still in the race," Abel said. "But this was a big victory. Had we lost, we could have forgotten all about catching Chicago."

The Hawks lead the NHL with 61 points, two more than the second-place Montreal Canadiens.

The victory left the fourth-place Wings five points behind Chicago and one point out of third place.

"But if we're going to make a move toward taking first place, we've got to make it this month," Abel continued. "Of our next eight games, five are on our home ice. Then, in early March, we play six of seven games on the road."

BIG BULGE

And speaking of the Stanley Cup playoffs, the Wings have virtually clinched a spot in the post-season affair. The win over Chicago gave Detroit a 15-point bulge over the fifth-place New York Rangers, who have only 20 games remaining.

Detroit outskated and outshot the Hawks. Chicago goalie Denis DeJordy made 44 saves compared to a mere 19 for Roger Crozier.

"I used Val Fonteyne (obtained on waivers from the Rangers) for the first time to give us more speed and it paid off," Abel explained. "They were on top of us all night Wednesday when Chicago won (5-2), but we were on top of them tonight."

Parker MacDonald and Doug Mohns scored first period goals and Camille Henry hit early in the middle session to give the Hawks a 2-1 lead.

Then the Wings exploded and scored three times during a three-minute span.

Ted Lindsay poked in a rebound, Gary Bergman scored DeJordy and the puck into the cage and Gordie Howe beat DeJordy with a blazing 35-foot shot. Chico Maki cut the margin to one goal late in the period, but Norm Ullman wrapped up the victory with his 24th goal early in the final period.

The goal for Howe was his 19th of the season and proved to be the game-winning score. It was the first such game-winning goal for the all-time scoring king this season.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Bert Yancey carried a one-stroke lead into the second round of the $67,500 Phoenix Open Golf Tournament today, but much of the attention was focused on one of the two men tied for second.

Yancey, a Philadelphian, shot a five-under par 67 Thursday to take the first-round lead. The 28-year-old former West Point cadet recorded five birdies on the 6,894-yard Arizona Country Club course.

Tied for second at 68 were Al Geiberger and Frank Beard. It was Beard who was drawing the ravens.

Beard, 25, jumped into the limelight in Wednesday's pro-am competition when he fired a sizzling nine-under-par 63 for a course record.

Beard had nine birdies in his record run, and he added four more Thursday. For the second straight day he went without a bogey.

NEAR TOP

Jerry Steelsmith and Walter Burkemo were just off the pace with 69s.

A foursome at 70 included defending champion Jack Nicklaus, Julius Boros, Peter Mazur and Stan Leonard.

Nicklaus, Boros and Mazur had the misfortune of playing early rounds during which a chilly 25 miles per hour wind swept the course and kept most of the competitors from getting the best of par.

Although the temperature didn't climb above the high 40s, the wind quelled in the afternoon, 19 players shot sub-par rounds.

British Open champion Tony Lema carded a 73 in a morning round and PGA champ Bobby

TOP SCORER
Saginaw's Roy Hinton, a 6-7 center, leads the Conference scoring race with an average of 21.6, and the Chiefs' Carl Arnold holds down the No. 2 spot with a 20.7 mark.

When Hinton's hitting, and he seldom misses, the Trojans are tough to beat, but the Chiefs are hoping Hinton and his teammates run into some trouble in the last three contests.

Hinton has piled up 115 field goals and 51 foul shots in 13 outings for a total of 281 points. Arnold, a 5-8 guard, has tallied 270 points on 165 field goals and 60 free throws.

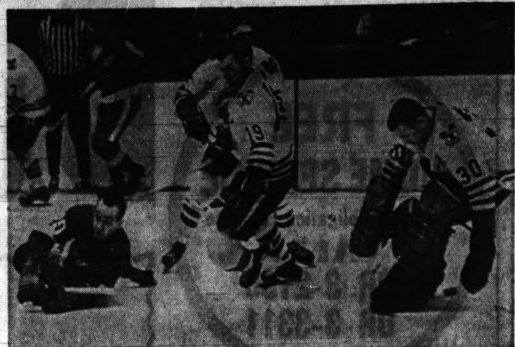

The Chiefs' Jesse Evans is eighth in the SVC race with 186 points and a 14.3 average.

Arnold could pick up some ground tonight since, in meeting Handy, he will be facing a team that has given up an average of 74.3 points in 13 games.

Handy has lost 19 regular season games in a row, 13 this season, and the Chiefs are heavily favored to extend the team's losing string to 20.

Long Win Drought Ends for Montreal

BOSTON (AP) — Henri Richard led Montreal out of its longest win drought in 14 years by setting up two goals and scoring a third in a 7-1 defeat of Boston Thursday night.

The triumph was the first in six National Hockey League starts for the Canadiens, who ended a five-game losing streak — their longest since December 1950.

Before the action was half over, Montreal had built up a 3-0 lead which was too much for the last-place Bruins to overcome.

The hard working Richard left a drop pass for Claude Provost a few seconds before the end of the first period and the latter slapped in an 18-footer. The entire Boston line was trapped down the ice. Provost got his second goal in the final moments of the game.

At 7:54 of the middle period, Richard stole the puck off Johnny Bucyk's stick in the Boston zone and his great pass sent Dave Balon in alone. Balon lifted the shot over rookie goalie Jack Norris' right shoulder.

REBOUND SHOT

Richard converted a rebound in the third period to make it 5-1.

Ralph Backstrom put his team ahead on a screened 15-footer at 10:43 of the opening period, his 19th goal of the season.

Rookie Bob Woytowich of the Bruins got his first major league goal on a 55-footer from the blue line.

Jim Roberts and Claude Larose also scored for the winners. If the Canadiens had lost the game it would have been the longest streak in 25 years.

GOOD SHOOTERS
It's a team with some pretty good shooters and when they're hot 'you're in trouble,' he explained. "Actually, after looking at the statistics, I had to concede that they should have beaten us up there. That's why we're not taking them lightly."

Michigan is assured of losing one of its challengers for the Big Ten title Saturday.

Lone Unbeaten Quint Has 6 Hurdles

By The Associated Press
More and more it appears that the Providence Friars will finish their regular season unbeaten in college basketball.

The Friars, the nation's only major unbeaten team, made it 17 straight with an 86-69 home court romp over the St. Francis Franks of Loretto, Pa., Thursday night.

Six more hurdles face the fourth-ranked Friars before the end of their regular season March 5. They play Duquesne Saturday, then go against Rhode Island, Villanova, Holy Cross, Massachusetts and Brown. Villanova, the last team to defeat Providence, looms as the most difficult opponent down the home stretch. They play Feb. 23 in Philadelphia where the Wildcats beat the Friars 77-66 last March in the first round of the NCAA playoffs.

ENTIRE SQUAD

Dexter Westbrook and Jim Benedict each scored 16 points for the Friars who held a 45-24 halftime lead and used their entire 15-man squad.

Sixth-ranked Duke Similarly enjoyed a home court breeze. The Blue Devils crushed Virginia 136-72. Jack Martin led the attack with 25 points as the ACC leaders made it seven in a row and their season mark 15-2.

In contrast Davidson's fifth-ranked Wildcats, the only other team in The Associated Press Top Ten to play, got their worst defeat of the season before defeating Furman 55-30 for their 19th straight and a 20-1 season record.

Furman, winner of only six games in 23 starts, led by 34-27 in the game at Greenville, S.C., and seemed to have a major upset in hand when big Fred Helzel, Davidson's star, went out on personals with 16 minutes to go.

Davidson scrambled back on 15 points by Don Davidson and 12 by Dick Snyder to pull it out. A jump shot by Snyder put Davidson ahead for good at 40-36. Dave Selvy tossed in 21 points for Furman.

UTAH EDGED

The heroes of the night came in the Western Athletic Conference where New Mexico edged Utah 65-64 in overtime and Brigham Young nipped Wyoming 98-94 to go into a triple tie for first place with Arizona.

A 25-foot jump shot by Bill Morgan with six seconds left in the extra period won for New Mexico at Albuquerque. It was the fifth straight for the Lobos, who now boast a 17-2 mark overall. Morgan scored 26 points. BYU won its eighth straight and upped its record to 16-4 on Mike Gardner's driving layup just two seconds on the clock at Laramie.

PANICKY POOCH—A puppy wandered onto a bowling alley in Savannah, Ga., and was panic-stricken as the big black object came rolling by to cause the pooch to come to a dead stop. He was evicted by the manager for failure to pay his fines fees.

Johnson in Pole Spot of '500' at Daytona

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (U)—Junior Johnson of Ronda, N.C., who finished ninth in last year's Daytona 500 stock car race, is the favorite for the seventh running of the event at the Daytona International Speedway Sunday.

The race, expected to attract 50,000 fans, concludes Daytona Speed Week which starts its second weekend of activity with two 100-mile NASCAR races this afternoon.

Johnson and Darel Dieringer of Charlotte, N.C., were on the pole in today's races and will start in the front row Sunday.

Each won the front row position by winning one of the 50-mile qualifying races last Sunday.

The other starting positions for the 500 will be determined by the order of finish in today's races.

Johnson, driving a 1965 Ford, averaged almost two miles an hour more than Dieringer, who drove a 1964 Mercury in the 50-miler.

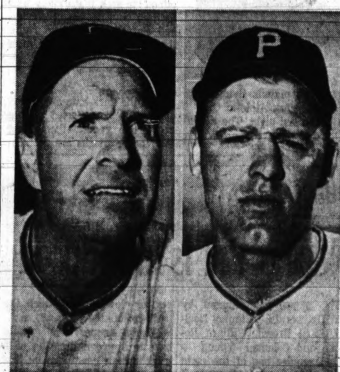

Johnson was named favorite in the race, worth $140,165, in a poll of race writers and sportscasters. Despite his victory, Dieringer trailed in the voting behind Fred Lorenzen of Elmhurst, Ill., and Marvin Panch of Daytona Beach.

Fords dominated the entry list with 28 of the 52 cars.

Richard Petty, Randleman, N.C., who won last year's race in a 1964 Plymouth at an average 154.324 m.p.h., is not entered.

At least 10 grand national drivers will be racing Saturday when the Speedway plays host to the 250-mile national championship race for modified and sportsman class cars. Tiny Lund, Cross, S.C., will be back to defend his title. Forty-six cars will start Saturday.

Fund Proposal Made for State Parks

LANSING (AP)—The State Conservation Commission has given enthusiastic approval to a proposal to spend $13 million on parks and recreation programs in the next 10 years.

The plan calls for spending $100 million between now and 1975 to buy lands and develop facilities and another $33 million for maintenance and operation.

"These estimates are based on realistic projections of population trends and public demands for the kinds of outdoor recreation that state parks and recreation areas provide," said Department Director Ralph MacMullan in his advisory to the commission.

MacMullan asked the commission to give approval of the broad outline of the 10-year program, with filling in of later details.

These details, will include, he said:—An outline of specific land acquisition proposals.

—A park-by-park summary of development plans, which will show all the facilities to be provided in each park by 1975 and the number of users that can be accommodated.

A proposed point scale system for determining park development priorities.

—Projections of population, park use, park fee income and spending by park visitors, with supporting data.

—Suggestions for possible new sources of revenue to finance acquisition, development, operation and maintenance of parks.

—A number of new policy statements over such matters as compatible and incompatible park uses, concession leases, expanded winter park operations and development of an experimental park area for practical research.

—Proposals for broadening and strengthening the parks interpretive program.

A suggested classification system for state parks.

For now, said the director, he only wanted the general endorsement of the program, as approved by parks chief Arthur Elmer.

Elmer said Michigan's population is expected to expand to 10.5 million by 1975.

"Wages are high, money is available, and there is time to enjoy it," Elmer said. "Michigan's state parks and recreation areas provide outstanding opportunities for economical family-oriented outdoor experiences. The problem is, we do not have enough of them."

DUNES BILL

Genevieve Gillette, president of the Michigan Parks Association, warned the commission that her impression from Washington sources is that Michigan might have a rough time obtaining the proposed Sleeping Bear Dunes Shoreline Area.

Mistrial Is Declared in Piston Suit

DETROIT (AP)—A mistrial was declared Thursday as a U. S. District Court jury was selected to hear a $5.3 million libel and breach of contract suit against Fred Zollner, owner of the National Basketball Association Detroit Pistons.

The suit was filed by W. Nicholas Kerbawy, former Pistons general manager, Kerbawy was fired by Zollner on Nov. 26, 1961.

Kerbawy's attorney, Joseph W. Louisell, sought the mistrial ruling, claiming a statement by defense attorney Fred Buesser in the presence of prospective jurors would be prejudicial.

Buesser challenged Mrs. Edith Catherman of Dearborn when she said her husband, a former high school coach, knew Detroit radio-television sportscaster Van Patrick.

Buesser said Patrick and Kerbawy were close friends. He added, in the presence of 34 other prospective jurors, that Mrs. Catherman's presence on a jury could allow Kerbawy to "communicate" with jurors.

The mistrial was granted by District Judge Ralph M. Freeman.

Freeman said he would make arrangements for a new jury panel and that a new selection of jurors would begin today.

Patriots Get 9th Choice

BOSTON (UPI)—The Boston Patriots Thursday signed their ninth draft choice, Louisiana Tech's Bob Malone, a 240-pound two-way tackle.

"freely and in the friendliest spirit for the good of Milwaukee and the Braves."

"We shall contribute five cents a ticket for every ticket sold up to the level of the lowest attendance record ever recorded in Milwaukee—our total of 766,927 in 1962," they said. "We shall contribute 25 cents for every ticket sold between that total and one million. We shall contribute $1 for every ticket sold above one million."

Bartholomay and McHale noted that if the 1965 attendance equaled the city's all time low, a promotional fund for a new team would receive $38,346. If the million mark was reached, the amount would be $96,414. And if Milwaukee's 12-year average of 1,583,697 paid fans a season was attained, the contribution would be $675,641.

The offer was made to Teams, Inc., a group of business and civic leaders formed to help Milwaukee obtain a new major league team, and Milwaukee County. McHale said that plans for the offer would have to be worked out.

Edmund B. Fitzgerald, acting chairman of Teams, Inc., said the proposal would be taken up at a Teams, Inc. meeting.

For March 8 Election

Three Villages to Caucus

Within the next four days, three area villages will hold caucuses to determine the candidates who will appear on their March 8 general election ballots.

In Leonard, voters will gather at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Addison Township Hall for the annual Citizens Party nominating event.

Metamora's caucus will be held Monday in the village fire hall, in two parts. The Progressive Party caucus starts at 7, followed at 7:30 by the Citizens Party caucus. Nonpartisan Dryden will ca-cus Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Dryden fire hall. Offices for which candidates are to be nominated, and the incumbents, are as follows in each village:

Leonard

President — Jesse Sutherby; clerk — Mrs. Calvin Shields; assessor — Elmer Powell; treasurer — Mrs. Lucille Porter; trustees — John Sutherby, Dwight Patterson and Charles Hamilton.

All are members of the Citizens party in a one-party village.

The slate nominated will therefore be automatically elected on March 8 unless write-in opposition develops.

In the event more than one person is nominated for a given office, balloting will select the candidate for the general election.

Metamora

President — Percy Clark; clerk — Mrs. Margaret Brewer; treasurer — Mrs. Jeannette

Schenkel; assessor — Victor Maslin; trustees — Richard Yorks, George Schenkel and Edward Haver.

The incumbents are all members of the Progressive Party.

Balloting will determine the candidate for that party or the Citizens Party in the event more than one person is nominated for a position in either caucus.

The trustees serve two-year terms, the others serve for one year.

Dryden

President — Oliver Braidwood; clerk — Mrs. Mildred Gray; treasurer — Mrs. Gladys Harrington; assessor — Robert Weingartz; trustees — Charles Carloss, Irvin Talmage and Raymond Stevens.

Stevens is an appointee replacing William Farnum, who moved out of town after being elected.

Balloting will be used to determine the candidate if more than one is nominated for any one position, and those nominated will be elected unless there is write-in opposition.

Those elected in March will serve one-year terms except for the trustees, who serve for two years.

Named to Units on Agriculture

Congressman John C. Mackie has been named to four subcommittees on the House Committee on Agriculture.

The four subcommittees on which Mackie will serve include forests, research and extension, farm labor, and rural development.

The subcommittee on rural development is a new one created to consider legislation designed to create new jobs in rural areas under the Rural Areas Development (RAD) program of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The forests subcommittee is one of seven commodity subcommittees operating under the agriculture committee. It is responsible for legislation concerning the management, protection and development of more than 186 million acres of national forests and grasslands in the U.S.

The research and extension subcommittee is responsible for federal programs conducted by state agricultural colleges and universities and state agricultural experiment stations.

All legislation affecting migratory agricultural labor is sent to the farm labor subcommittee.

Brotherhood Event Planned by Church

ROCHESTER — Brotherhood Sunday will be marked at 8:30 and 11 a.m. services Sunday at the First Congregational Church by a talk on "Protestants, Catholics, Jews."

Dr. Frehe is former associate minister of the North Congregational Church, Detroit, and is also a member of the Michigan National Conference of Christians and Jews.

The Detroit Round Table often counsels and cooperates with many human relations groups throughout Michigan.

Fewer, Larger Farms in Michigan, Nation

Michigan farms, like those throughout the nation, are becoming fewer but larger.

Director C. S. McIntyre of the Michigan Department of Agriculture says the number of farms in the state in 1965 is estimated at 102,000.

A report from the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service shows this to be a decline of about 3,000 farms from 1964.

Avon Twp. Board Delays Study of Sewer Extension

AVON TOWNSHIP — The Township Board is going to delay a decision on a proposed $9,500 study of a sewer extension into the northwest portion of the township to see if residents are willing to help a bit more in paying for it.

Engineers Giffel & Webster of Royal Oak, representing potential developers of the area, have already obtained pledges totaling about $4,900 toward the engineering study from residents.

After they reported the results of their informal survey of residents to the board, Trustees Wayne Holman and Donald J. Campbell suggested that the engineers try for more support.

Giffel & Webster will likely report back to the board at its next meeting, after contacting more residents and home owners groups.

The sewer extension would probably take the form of a new arm extending from the plant near Avon Road toward the northwest corner of the township in a generally diagonal fashion, opening many acres to development as well as providing future sewer service for present residents of the area.

COST ESTIMATED

Cost of the study was estimated by the Oakland County Department of Public Works at the request of the board, after the engineers asked that a study be made of the extension.

In other action, the board has authorized the township clerk and treasurer to bill railroad companies for the cost of putting out grass fires caused by engine sparks.

A letter from the Oakland County Board of Road Commissioners has informed board members that the paving of 1.22 miles of Avon Road would cost about $106,600 over a two-year period.

The project, covering the road from Crooks to Livernois roads, would be paid for by the township and the county on a 50-50 basis.

INITIAL WORK

According to the county estimate, $79,500 worth of initial work would be done this year, and $27,100 spent to finish the job in 1966.

Action on the project is likely at the next board meeting.

Slides of Britain Will Be Shown to County Group

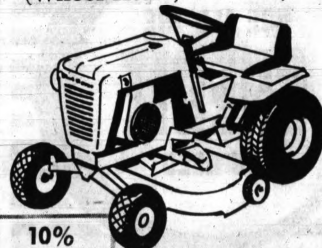

The South Oakland branch of the Transatlantic Brides & Parents Association will meet Tuesday at the Canadian Legion Hall, 1005 E. 11 Mile, Royal Oak.

Highlighting the 8 p.m. affair will be a showing of slides on the British Isles by Mrs. Mary Thomas of Clawson.

Recently installed officers of the association are Mrs. Leon Slomka of Utica, president; Mrs. Alfred McClellan of Utica, vicepresident; Mrs. Alex Majok of Madison Heights, branch secretary; Mrs. Eileen Barton of Royal Oak, treasurer; and Mrs. Jack Greenzbach of Clawson, social secretary.

All British girls in the area are invited to attend Tuesday's meeting.

New Angle in Zenith Heir's Death

TUCSON, Ariz. (UP) — Did a mystery man struggle with Zenith radio heir Eugene Francis (Stormy) McDonald when he met death in his rented $50,000 home?

This possibility was expected to be explored further next Thursday when an eight-member coroner's inquest resumes into the death of the 23-year-old youth, who shared a $3-30 million estate with his sister, Mrs. Jean Marianne Lust Cantwell, 28, Rancho Santa Fe, Calif.

"There could have been another person in the room, probably trying to dissuade McDonald from suicide," pathologist Dr. Joseph Beeman testified yesterday when the inquest resumed following a two-day recess.

"They could have started fighting over the 22-caliber pistol and McDonald could have been shot in the back of the head," said Beeman, who has conducted more than 6,000 post-mortem operations.

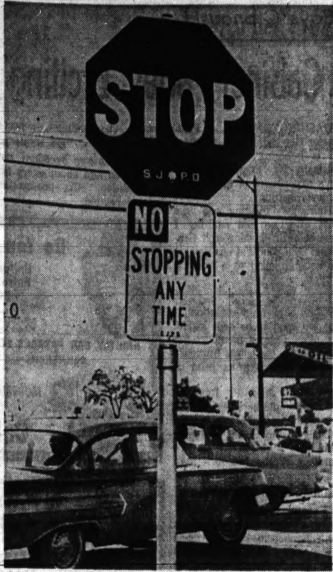

Following disclosure of the possible presence of a mystery man in the McDonald home, Pima County Atty. Norman Green said he planned more investigation into the case.

It was Green—in a rare move in Arizona for a county attorney—who insisted on the coroner's inquest after sheriff's detectives and two pathologists indicated they believed McDonald took his own life.

The body of McDonald was discovered lying in a pool of blood in his home by a friend Feb. 2. Both wrists had been cut and there was a bullet wound in the back of his head.

When he requested the inquest, Green said there were a lot of unexplained circumstances in the case that disturbed him, such as the position of the bullet wound, the fact the implement used to slash McDonald's wrists wasn't found and why a young man with up to $15 million would kill himself.

Authorities have testified that the wrist-cutting "improvements" could have been disposed of by McDonald after he slashed himself and that it was possible although awkward—for him to have fired the fatal bullet.

STOP AND GO TRAFFIC — No matter what you do at this corner in San Jose, Calif., you are doing the right thing, according to these signs posted yesterday. On the other hand, no matter what you do, you are wrong. Maybe it would be better to make a U turn and come in the other way. Now let's see, are U turns legal on this street?

Tax Tips

(EDITOR'S NOTE — The following tax information is furnished by the Internal Revenue Service.)

QUESTION: I am 18 years old. During 1964 I had a summer job in a resort area. I made $567 on this job. Of this amount, my employer withheld $46 for federal income tax. This was my only income for the year. Must I file a federal income tax return?

ANSWER: Since your total income was less than $600 you are not required by law to file a return. However, you should file a return so as to get a refund of the $46 which was withheld by your employer. This money will not be refunded unless you do file. The return you should file is the card Form 1040A since this form is the simplest to prepare and it will provide, in your case, for a refund of the total taxes withheld.

For the answer to your question, call your local Internal Revenue Service office.

Pat Reynolds admits she was wrong!

(She was sure electric dryers were more expensive. Then we showed her these money-saving facts.)

- 1 Gas dryers cost a couple of pennies less per load to operate; we'd be the first to admit it. But with electric dryers you still come out ahead. Read on.
- 2 Electric dryers cost less to buy. Model for model, prices run about $20 to $40 lower than gas dryers.
- 3 And now, for a limited time, this lower price includes installation and wiring, if needed, when you buy from one of the many dealers participating in this special sales event.
- 4 Electric dryers cost nothing for electrical repairs or labor, thanks to Edison's no-charge service. Based on manufacturers' repair policy premiums, this service can save you up to $200 over a 10-year period. And it doesn't matter where you buy your electric dryer, so long as you're an Edison customer. (This is the only no-charge dryer service offered by a utility company in this area.)

initial cost—up to $40.00 savings repair costs—200.00 savings
$240.00 total savings

To get that kind of savings with a gas dryer, you'd have to dry 2 loads of clothes a day for about 10 years! (And, confidentially, we couldn't wish that much wash on any woman.)

WEDDING PARTY — Beatle drummer Ringo Starr, 24, holds hands with his bride, the former Maureen Cox, 18, after their marriage in London yesterday. Others

Beatle John Lennon; Mrs. Cox; Lennon; Beatle George Harrison; Brian Epstein, Be-
and Mrs. Richard Starkey, Ringo's parents.

Dis-chord Among Teens?

Will a Wife Dim Ringo Starr?

LONDON (AP)—Will marriage spoil Ringo Starr's success?
Can stardom survive countless broken teen-age hearts?
Has Ringo gone wrong?
As the shaggy-haired Beatle drummer honeymooned today with Maureen Cox, 18, the Beatles' manager, Brian Epstein, pondered these vital questions and said: "I do hope his fans will understand."

"I must say I was pretty worried before the wedding. But now — well, after a wedding you feel it's happened and all over."
Of course, I'm terribly happy for Ringo, because he's happy.
And Maureen's a wonderful girl.
"So I do hope this won't make any difference to his popularity."

Ringo, 24, and Maureen, his steady for the past two years, married Thursday in a quiet civil ceremony at Caxton Hall registry office. They are honey-mooning until Monday at a secluded house near Brighton, the South Coast resort.

The honeymoon plans were supposed to be secret. But a passerby spotted the couple through a window and soon the place was surrounded.

COOK, BUTLER
The newweds are alone in the house with a cook and a butler.

The butler, Minton, came to the door in shirtsleeves and red slippers to accept congratulations.

A girl asked him to get Ringo's autograph.
Minton looked pained.
"You will appreciate," he said, "that the young couple are on honeymoon and do not wish to be disturbed."

At 9 p.m. he announced: "The young couple have just finished a light dinner and are watching television. They will not be out at all tonight."

An hour later: "There has been no champagne, no celebrating at all. They just want to be left to themselves."
After another hour, the lights went out.

"Among The Hills"

Says Gronouski

Cabinet Parley 'Exciting'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Postmaster General John A. Gronouski is bubbling over with enthusiasm for President Johnson's experiment in full - dress cabinet meetings.

Thursday's meeting was "the most effective and exciting I have been in Washington," Gronouski said. "In that one session the cabinet jelled as a working body."

"This kind of stimulation is just too good to be kept inside.
The other Cabinet members felt the same — there was immense excitement among us after it was over."

President John F. Kennedy felt more could be accomplished through individual briefings with Cabinet members on particular problems. But Johnson favors meetings of the full 10 - man body.

TALKED CONSTRUCTIVELY

"Everybody talked constructively about everyone's else's job," Gronouski said. "It was like a very active college seminar. The President wanted us to throw in our ideas about the other guy's area. You really got a feeling of what the government is all about."

"There was a brilliant briefing and discussion on Viet Nam," Gronouski said of the hour and 40 minute session at the White House.

Gronouski said Johnson discussed the cabinet concept again Thursday. "He wants us to make our own decisions and not call on him about every little question," the postmaster general related.

Actress Worried

Kim Novak Image Too Sexy?

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD—Kim Novak is worried about her image. Is it too sexy?

Not that Kim has anything against sex appeal. Not at all. Her career has blossomed on it, so much so that her more visible assets have perhaps obscured her acting talent.

The trouble is that some factors have combined to spotlight her as a super-sex image, if you'll pardon the phrase.

Item 1 — "Kiss Me, Stupid," in which she played Polly the Pistol, a B-girl who can't say no. The film was condemned by the National Legion of Decency as unfit for Catholic audiences — and Kim is a Catholic.

PLAYBOY LAYOUT

Item 2 — A Playboy layout, in which Kim is nude, and she could ever be on the screen.

Item 3 — A national magazine story which intimated Kim believed marriage was obsolete.

The breathless blonde was down from her Big Sur just long enough to conduct some business and gather art materials for her return. She brewed a pot of tea one morning at her Bel-Air hideaway and sat down to fret about the public's concept of Kim Novak.

"I'm afraid the whole thing is getting out of hand," she said. She took up the items individually.

WASN'T FUNNY

What happened to "Kiss Me, Stupid"? She's not sure, except that it apparently wasn't funny enough to get by with its sexiness.

"When I read the script, I thought maybe something was lacking," she admitted. "But I thought the necessary elements would be added during the shooting by Billy Wilder, and I was very anxious to work with him.

"I'm a questioner, you know; I'm always asking directors why I should be doing certain things in a scene. 'Kiss Me, Stupid' was the first time that I didn't ask questions.

But she still is devoted to Wilder and would work for him in another film, as would any performer with the possible exception of Peter Sellers.

GROWS INCENSED

Kim grows incensed when she thinks about the Playboy spread. She explained that Paramount suggested some sexy photos to help promote her new film, "The Amorous Adventures of Moll Flanders." She had an old Chicago pal shoot the layout, which turned out to be more bare than she had been led to believe.

"I wouldn't have minded quite so much if the shots were good but they weren't," she complained. "And I also didn't know that they would end up in Playboy. I detest everything the magazine stands for."

Concerning the other magazine story, she said: "It made me sound as if I were advocating free love. That's ridiculous."

Costly U.S. Program for Mars Would Be Foolish—Scientist

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A scientist critic of the U.S. space program said today that a multimillion-dollar search for life on Mars "could establish for ourselves the reputation of being the greatest simpletons of all time."

The critic, Dr. Philip H. Abelson, said available evidence provides "little basis for thinking that life will be found" on the Red Planet.

He suggested that "a few inexpensive experiments to probe the nature of the atmosphere and surface of Mars might save us from considerable eventual disappointment."

Abelson is director of the Carnegie Institution's Geophysical Laboratory and editor of "Science," weekly publication of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

He has frequently questioned the wisdom of spending billions for such things as the Apollo project to land men on the moon.

Today, in a "Science" editorial, Abelson addressed himself to the exploration of Mars.

The space science board of the National Academy of Sciences said recently that this exploration should be the principal goal of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) for the 1971-85 post-Apollo period.

Now Screening Women's Job Corps Recruits

WASHINGTON (AP) — A program was launched this week across the country to select the first recruits for the Women's Job Corps from 20,000 applicants.

The goal is to select 300 girls by Feb. 26.

Announcement is expected soon on the location of the first residence center to aid out-of-school, out-of-work girls aged 16 to 21.

A camp for youths already is operating in Calcutta National Park near Thurmont, Md. The first women center — to be located in some city — is expected to be ready by the end of March.

20,000 WOMEN

Of the 100,000 applicants for the Job Corps so far, 20,000 are young women.

Those accepted will receive special occupational training.

New N-Sub Tender Set for Launching

PASCAGOULA, Miss. (AP) — The Navy's fourth new-design Polaris submarine tender, the USS Canopus, is scheduled for launching today at Pascagoula. The 643-foot ship will be the heaviest vessel ever launched by a Gulf Coast shipyard. Her launching weight is estimated at more than 12,000 tons. The Canopus is designed to support nine nuclear-powered subs.

remedial education to bring them up in levels of reading and writing, plus training in basic homemaking skills and self-improvement — even grooming.

The aim is to help them to prepare to hold jobs, gain a better education or take up responsible roles in family life.

Volunteers from four major women's organizations have banded together in an interfaith, interracial effort to back the Women's Job Corps.

WORK BEGUN

They started work this week in Newark, N.J.; Pittsburgh, New Orleans, La.; San Francisco; Portland, Ore.; and Nashville, Tenn., to process recruits and go to their homes to explain to their parents what the program is all about.

A presidential task force headed by Dr. James Noble, a human relations professor at New York University, set up guidelines for the women's centers. The group believed that girls — more than boys — needed a more personal touch.

So WICS — Women in Community Services, Inc. — made up of members of the National Council of Catholic Women, National Council of Jewish Women, and United Church Women, was formed.

A year ago these groups got together to protest the inhuman treatment of women and girls in jails arrested during civil rights demonstrations.

LENDING HAND

Now, they are lending a hand to guide the Job Corps girls through the recruiting stage, providing clothing, transportation and moral support where it is needed.

WICS is headed by Mrs. William J. Cooper of Washington, a member of the board of the National Council of Jewish Women. Her top assistant is Edith Grover, former administrator for the United Church Women in New York.

They have an initial contract of $175,000 with the government to cover expenses in hiring professionals like psychiatrists, doctors and guidance counselors. The other work will be done by volunteers.

Director of the women's training centers in Washington is a well-known woman editor, Dr. Bennet Bullock Washington, who took a year's leave of absence of principal of Cardozo High School, where she had led a highly successful experiment aimed at reaching and teaching disadvantaged youngsters.

EXCITING CHALLENGE

She said she wanted to find out if the "change in attitude" she saw resulting from the Cardozo project in Washington could be repeated in the Job

Corps and looked at it as "a very exciting challenge."

Dr. Washington had qualms that her own students might see her departure as another rejection or withdrawal of support from them, so she wrote an open letter to them explaining that because they had responded so well they had become a model for other youngsters to follow.

Toward the end of last year, when Dr. Noble had finished her guidelines, appeals were sent to qualified agencies such as colleges and community services, to undertake to staff and operate women's job centers. Contracts with a number of these agencies are now being processed.

Recruiting goes on at these locations, where any girl can walk in and request consideration.

Columbus Houses in Newark, N.J., directed by Mrs. John Bookhart of the National Council of Negro Women.

The Church House at 330 Charles St., New Orleans, Mrs. Charles Stutch of the National Council of Jewish Women.

Trinity Methodist church, 2299 Market St., San Francisco, in charge of Mrs. Joseph McCarthy, a former president of the National Council of Catholic Women.

Neighborhood House, 3030 S.W. 2nd Ave., Portland, Ore., headed by Gussie Thompson of the National Council of Negro Women.

And the office of the Council of Community Agencies, 315 4th Ave., North Nashville, Tenn., headed by Miss Sarah Fischer, head of social service work of the council.

British MDs Urged to Quit Health Service

LONDON (AP)—A committee of the British Medical Association has urged the nation's 23,000 family doctors to quit the government's National Health Service and practice on a private basis.

The recommendation by the General Medical Services Committee followed a government pay raise of $14 per week that was termed "tragically disappointing."

The committee called for "immediate discussions with the Health Ministry with a view to devising an entirely new contract of service."

Under the present, socialized program, the doctors are paid by the Health Ministry according to the number of their patients and how often they are treated.

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)—Premier Janos Kadar says that the West must make some disarmament concessions before

Soviet troops will be removed from Communist Hungary.

"If the Western powers want the Soviet troops to leave Hungary... let them give something for something," he told parliament yesterday. "There are many Soviet proposals concerning power disengagement in Europe. Let them accept a suitable one."

Western sources in Vienna estimate 70,000 to 80,000 Soviet troops are stationed in Hungary.

HONG KONG (AP)—Agents have found another ton of narcotics on a Hong Kong chicken farm where almost two tons of opium and morphine were seized in a raid last week.

The total haul to date is 5,800 pounds of opium and 385 pounds of morphine.

A. A. Baggott, in charge of the Hong Kong narcotics bureau, said the raw opium and morphine could produce between 350 and 1,500 pounds of pure heroin—worth millions of dollars on the dope markets in the United States and Europe.

MADRID, Spain (AP)—Thirteen of Fidel Castro's ambassadors have been told in a conference here they must tighten their own belts and at the same time find means of expanding Cuban trade with non-Communist Europe, reliable sources said today.

Cuban Deputy Foreign Minister Arnoldo Rodriguez conducted the meeting of Cuban envoys which ended yesterday.

Killed in 2-Car Crash

MONROE (AP)—Mrs. Gwendolyn A. LaPointe, 35, of Temperance was killed Thursday in a two-car crash on U.S. 24 about 13 miles south of Monroe.

There were 8,814 civil airports in the nation last year compared with only 2,331 in 1949, the Federal Aviation Agency reports.

Calvin Plans Building

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Contracts for the new $1.7 million Calvin College auditorium-music-speech building here were approved by the college board of trustees. Plans call for completion of the structure in June 1966.

Who will win the "Big One" at Milford?

You will.

Because the "Big One" is our annual Durability Run at our Milford Proving Ground—one of the toughest tests of a car that you can imagine.

It starts in early November at our 4,011-acre Michigan facility where we take some 40 to 50 brand-new production cars—all gassed up and ready to be tested as strenuously as we did their prototypes.

Behind the wheel are trained test drivers—part of the GM team of professionals who'll keep these cars going over a test course that combines many driving hazards: Up the "Hill Route" to see how they do over the hills you meet on those vacation trips. Then to the Belgian Blocks for pounding over jutting granite stones.

Next, to the circular track. And then sudden stops on our brake pads. On again, whirring over asphalt roads, on to concrete, then over gravel.

Through all the kinds of roads you're likely to meet as a driver, and then some you may never encounter.

Our Durability Run takes in other things, too: Close to twenty thousand brake applications for each car. Driving in reverse the equivalent of a 57-mile uphill trip.

Until the cars have added up a grand total of well over a million relentless miles.

Our drivers do all the things you normally do: Use the heater and defroster, keep the wipers going, play the radio hour after hour.

They even slam the doors and open and close the windows a definite number of times—to duplicate the way you'd use them.

All the while, of course, our drivers keep meticulous records for computing operating costs like gas, oil, tires and maintenance.

Next, every last one of the cars is taken apart, then spread out on long tables in the "Teardown Room." Now our engineers go to work and begin the real accounting—inspecting the quality of everything from fit to finish.

In all, over 6,000 people—from our divisions and from central staff engineering—go over the cars piece by piece. Evaluating their reliability now, as well as finding ways to improve the cars we'll build in the future.

That's why we say you will win the "Big One" at Milford. In a car that's been proved the long, hard, right way. The GM way. To make it not only worth more when you buy it. But likely to be worth more when you go to trade it in.

General Motors cars are proved all around.

Historic Figure Not Celebrating Occasion

WASHINGTON (AP)—John L. Lewis, white-haired elder statesman of organized labor, turns 85 today. But don't wish him a happy birthday.

"He has hated birthdays since he was 70," said an aide in explaining why the still very much active Lewis wouldn't sit down for any birthday interviews or photographs.

Lewis, president of the United Mine-workers of America for 40 years until he retired in 1960, ducked out of his office Thursday and stayed away today to avoid the steady stream of visitors and well-wishers he usually welcomes.

He is expected to be back in his sixth floor office in the Mine-workers building on Monday as usual to handle his duties as chairman of the board of trustees of the union's welfare and retirement fund.

REGULAR WORK

Lewis normally puts in five or six hours every weekday, working at his desk or sunk deep in a comfortable leather chair chatting with visitors in a nearby reception room.

Although he has maintained a virtually unbroken public silence since his retirement, he still delights in talking for hours with anybody who drops in to see him—provided he won't be quoted publicly.

"Most people who go in there don't take notes because he doesn't like that," his aide said. "He spends a lot of time fighting off book publishers and television people who want to interview him."

Lewis has two major reasons for staying out of the limelight.

OUT OF LIMELIGHT
The first is that he does not want to overshadow the union's present chief, W. A. (Tony) Boyle.

The second is that he sees no profit in engaging in public debate with other labor leaders, many of whom he has sharply disagreed with in the past on labor's role in society.

Lewis is still outspoken in many of his views.

Although he refuses to be quoted for publication, Lewis still is a master conversationalist and loves to talk at length about any subject under the sun.

Two Die in City Airport Crash

Most Dockers Ordered Back

WASHINGTON (AP) — The International Longshoremen's Association rejected a bid today for a complete settlement of the 33-day dock strike, but ordered longshoremen back to work tomorrow in all but two ports.

Representatives of the South Atlantic and West Gulf areas, primarily the ports at Miami and Galveston, rejected a proposal by federal mediators for settlement in their areas.

JCs Support Tax for City

Back Income Levy in March 18 Election

The Pontiac Area Junior Chamber of Commerce has endorsed the proposed city income tax.

Jaycee President Chuck Hatter today said a motion has been passed by voice vote to lend support to the tax question.

Pontiac voters are slated to go to the polls March 18 to decide whether the city will have an income tax levy.

City Manager Joseph A. Warren met with the Jaycees and explained the tax, according to Hatter.

"We feel that the city does need additional revenue," said the Jaycee president, "and there isn't a better method to get it."

MILLAGE DEFEATED

Hatter pointed out that voters have previously rejected a proposed increase in the property tax millage.

Although the Jaycees endorsed the income tax, Hatter doubted if there would be any active campaigning in its behalf.

However, the Jaycees may help get voters to the polls on election day. Hatter said this was a normal activity for the group.

IN OPPOSITION

A self-appointed Citizens Committee on Taxation, which petitioned for the spring referendum, has formally announced its opposition to the tax measure.

MARQUETTE (AP) — Blizzard conditions and 17 inches of snow in a little more than 24 hours left Marquette virtually paralyzed today.

Miss Cross said Belcher had spoken "many times" of divorcing his wife, 35-year-old Katherine, but said he "didn't think he would work out the financial adjustment."

"He was trying to figure out some way he could support his wife, the children and me," Miss Cross said.

DIVORCE

"The Saturday before the fire, I asked him why he hadn't discussed a divorce with his wife. He said he'd talk to her Sunday," she added.

The fire broke out early the following Monday.

In other testimony, Ferndale fireman William R. Reed nearly burst into tears as he described finding the bodies of Mrs. Bel-

NEAR-MISS — A small aircraft that crashed early today at Pontiac Municipal Airport killing two brothers fell to the earth just 78 yards from the airport's terminal building on a fenced section of lawn east of the building. Other aircraft lining a runway were about the same distance from the wreckage as the building.

China Hints 'Volunteers' May Aid North Viet Reds

SAIGON (UPI) — Communist China hinted today that some of its "volunteers" might intervene in Communist North Viet Nam where a massive U.S.-South Vietnamese air attack yesterday dealt a heavy blow to Communist Viet Cong sources of supply.

A Peking broadcast said military units stationed near Viet Nam, Formosa and Laos "pledged support with actual deeds" to the North Vietnamese. It did not mention direct intervention but the implication was there.

It quoted a number of "Korean volunteers" as condemning U.S. "aggression" and pledging support for a Chinese government statement it would "not stand idly by" if U.S. air attacks continued.

North Viet Nam termed the American-South Vietnamese raids a "new, most serious war threat" but all indications were that attacks on military targets in the north were shaping up as a new American policy to counter increased North Vietnamese activities in South Viet Nam.

What action if any the Soviet Union would take in Southeast Asia remained to be seen. There were similar threats before the Chinese Communists intervened in Korea in 1950.

Okay Steps to Transfer TB Cases

A special committee for relocation of patients in the recently sold Oakland County Tuberculosis Sanatorium agreed this morning to take steps necessary to transfer them to the County Medical Care Facility.

The committee will meet with the supervisors' ways and means committee Tuesday to recommend that the board of supervisors form a seven-member board of institutions.

The new board would have jurisdiction over the Medical Care Facility as a combined TB and non-TB institution.

If the ways and means committee accepts the proposal, it will be presented to supervisors Feb. 23 for final action.

ALTERNATIVES

The special committee, headed by Daniel T. Murphy, chairman of the board of auditors, has considered several alternatives in trying to find beds for the TB patients.

Joseph Joachim, county engineer, reported to the committee this morning that placing them in the Medical Care Facility is feasible from an engineering standpoint, although considerable remodeling will have to be done.

A 1939 statute, under which the county's medical facilities are presently operated, prohibits housing TB and other patients in the same facilities.

A later (1962) statute, however, permits a combined facility, provided it is operated by a board of institutions and meets State Health Department requirements.

REMODELING

Joachim reported that the Medical Care Facility can be remodeled to house about 75 TB patients and 90 other patients.

Some 165 patients are now housed in the Medical Care Facility and about 110 are in the TB Sanatorium.

Plans are to transfer 75 Medical Care patients to private nursing homes to make room for the TB patients.

Dr. William F. Fidler, medical superintendent of the TB Sanatorium, said the balance of the TB patients will be sent to Herman Kiefer Hospital, in Detroit and William Mayberry Sanatorium in Northville.

Brothers Killed After Takeoff in Dense Fog

By JOE MULLEN

Two brothers were killed early today when their single engine plane crashed at Pontiac Municipal Airport moments after a takeoff in thick fog.

The Piper Tri-Pacer, a four passenger light aircraft, nosed down just 78 yards east of the airport's terminal building at 4:40 a. m.

Killed were Jerry W. Holland, 26, of 664 Jamestown, Pontiac Township, the pilot, and Gail M. Holland, 24, of Livonia.

Sgt. John Amthor, commander of the Pontiac State Police post, said the brothers had bought the plane jointly Feb. 2.

Jerry was taking flying lessons but neither of the brothers was a licensed pilot, Amthor said.

INSPECT WRECKAGE

A team of Federal Aviation Agency investigators will inspect the wreckage today to determine the cause of the crash.

Norman Mitchell, 34, of 3140 Whitfield, Waterford Township, a night watchman at the airport, said he heard the plane take off but couldn't see it due to the fog.

"Moments after it got into the air, I heard the engine quit," Mitchell said. "An instant later I heard the thud of the crash."

SOME SMOKE

"I saw some smoke coming from the plane but no flame," Mitchell said. "I sprayed the wreckage to prevent a fire."

State police were summoned to the scene, with the assistance of Waterford Township police, the plane's tail was pulled down from its vertical position so the bodies could be removed.

The bodies were taken to Pontiac General Hospital.

Mitchell said the brothers came to the airport about 3 a. m.

SAID NO

He said he asked, if they planned to go up in the dense fog and they said no, that they had just come to look at their plane.

"They drove away in their car and I didn't realize they had come back until I heard (Continued on Page 2, Col. 8)

Winter's Return to Bring Winds, Snow Flurries

Winter is officially back from its vacation. Windy and colder with snow flurries is the forecast for this evening. Lows of 20 to 23 are predicted.

Tomorrow will be partly cloudy and colder. Highs will be from 26 to 34.

The weather will be brighter Sunday with mostly fair skies predicted. However, continued cold temperatures are due.

Early today winds were southeasterly. They shifted to the southwest this afternoon and increased to 15 to 25 miles an hour.

The mercury stood at the freezing point early today. At 2 p. m. it was 29.

AREA SOLDIER BACK IN U.S.—Harold Feldmann Jr., 19, of Brandon Township arrived at a New Jersey Army hospital yesterday for treatment of wounds suffered last weekend in Viet Nam. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Feldmann of 1951 N. Baldwin.

Viet Nam Casualty

Area GI Returns

Spec. 4 Harold J. Feldmann Jr., a Brandon Township youth who was wounded in Viet Nam Saturday arrived at Walston Army Hospital near Fort Dix, N.J., yesterday.

The 19-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Feldmann of 1951 Baldwin was hit in the leg by mortar fragments in the Viet Cong attack on Pleiku.

Feldmann was flown back to the United States with other wounded soldiers from South Viet Nam just 16 days before he was scheduled to return home.

He had been in Viet Nam since Feb. 2, 1964. A graduate of Oxford High School in 1963, Feldmann entered the Army the following September.

WELL-FORTIFIED

With regards to the Pleiku attack, Feldmann told newsmen that the compound at Pleiku was well-fortified and "it was almost impossible for the Viet Cong to sneak up on the place."

He said he could not understand how the attack could have taken place.

Feldmann's parents learned he was wounded by means of a telegram Monday from Maj. Gen. J. C. Lambert, the Army adjutant general.

Issue Warrant for Hubbard

DETROIT (AP) — A bench warrant for the arrest of suburban Dearborn Mayor Orville Hubbard was issued today when Hubbard failed to appear for arraignment on a two-count federal indictment.

The warrant was signed by U.S. District Judge Fred W. Kaess. The indictment charges Hubbard with violating the Civil Rights Act and with conspiracy to violate the act.

Federal marshals were sent to serve the warrant on Hubbard.

Assistant U.S. Attorney William H. Merrill had promised to seek the warrant against Hubbard, mayor of a predominantly white Detroit suburb of 112,000 population, if he did not appear for arraignment.

Hubbard missed a federal court appointment yesterday at which he was to be arraigned on charges of conspiracy and failure to perform his public duties in connection with the Labor Day incident.

The mayor and Dearborn's two top police officials, Public Safety Director George W. Lesis and Police Chief Garrison Clayton, were charged after police allegedly merely stood by while the mob stormed a home in the mistaken belief it had been sold to Negroes.

One reporter asked if Rusk had resigned.

Voters in seven cities and 12 townships in western Oakland County will select nominees Monday for the vacant seat in the 14th Senate District. Biographical information on each of the nine candidates appears on page D-4.

Tells of Dating Arson Suspect

FERNDALE (AP) — Harry M. Belcher, accused of setting the fire which killed his wife and six children, had been dating a 20-year-old fellow employee for about a year, the woman testified yesterday.

Two days before the Jan. 25 pre-dawn fire she told him "he had to decide on either his wife or me," Joyce Ann Cross of Hazel Park testified at a preliminary hearing in Ferndale Municipal Court.

Belcher, 32, was bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court for arraignment Feb. 24 on arson and first degree murder charges.

Miss Cross said Belcher had spoken "many times" of divorcing his wife, 35-year-old Katherine, but said he "didn't think he would work out the financial adjustment."

"He was trying to figure out some way he could support his wife, the children and me," Miss Cross said.

Court May Get
Steel Election

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The close United Steelworkers union election moved ominously toward a possible court fight to day as both sides raised questions of voting irregularities.

A dispute already has reached court in one district.

There were rumblings from others as the vote for presidency of the big union continued to be close between incumbent David J. McDonald and I. W. Abel, the union's secretary-treasurer.

Abel holds a narrow unofficial lead with some big locals apparently still uncounted three days after the election.

FIGHT FEARED

An entangled court fight is just what had been feared by the basic steel industry, eager to get on with bargaining for a new contract.

The present contract was re-opened Jan. 1 but negotiations were recessed during the bitter campaign. The union can strike May 1 but it is generally believed talks won't resume until things settle down.

James Griffin, a top McDonald aide and Director of the USW's Youngstown District, told a news conference Thursday night "it's quite possible" the election will end up in a court fight, regardless of who wins.

At Hammond, Ind., U.S. Dist. Judge George Beamer dismissed a petition filed by a McDonald supporter protesting vote procedures at the big Local 1014 in Gary.

The petition charged that McDonald watchers were being denied the right to confirm the vote count posted by local officials.

Judge Beamer told attorneys: "If you still have problems Monday come back."

William H. pro-Abel director of a Pittsburgh District, said in a statement today that "obviously there is some hanky-panky going on."

He specifically mentioned Pittsburgh, where he said the vote count was slow from two McDonald locals, and Philadelphia, a mainstay of McDonald support.

WIDE DIFFERENCES

He said there were wide differences in the Abel totals for District 7 in Philadelphia, and those reported by the district director, Hugh Carcella.

Carcella, contacted at his home in Philadelphia, stood by his figures. He said Hart "has no business in District 7." And he added anyone was free to inspect his impartial records provided they were accompanied by "some impartial body." He asked Hart for the same privilege.

The vote count slowed to a trickle in the third day after the election although each side claimed there were some 300 big locals still uncounted.

The latest figures: AP — Abel 278,943; McDonald 269,182; locals reporting 2,859.

Abel figures — Abel 272,289; McDonald 242,286; locals reporting 2,351.

OTHER FIGURES

McDonald figures — Abel 173,964; McDonald 220,849; locals reporting 1,681.

Locals must report count to international headquarters by mail within 10 days of the election.

The GI, a 10-year veteran, said he lay stunned beneath the debris until he heard the voices of rescue crews Thursday. He had to chip away a 36-inch concrete block to reach him.

Twice during the ordeal Abendschein pulled himself from the hole as far as his waist but could not squeeze his hips out.

GOT COLDER

As temperatures dropped during the night, the concrete wreckage began to contract and rubble began to fill the small opening that had been made through it.

At dawn, with the digging going slowly, the rescue crews tried. Then two 18-year-old members of the Vietnamese special forces pitched in and reached the trapped American within two hours.

During the rescue operation, Tass, in a report from Dong Hoi, said Lt. Cmdr. Robert H. Shumaker of New Castle, Pa., a 31-year-old Annapolis graduate, was brought before newsmen and asked "how he viewed his participation in the U.S. provocation against the democratic republic of Viet Nam."

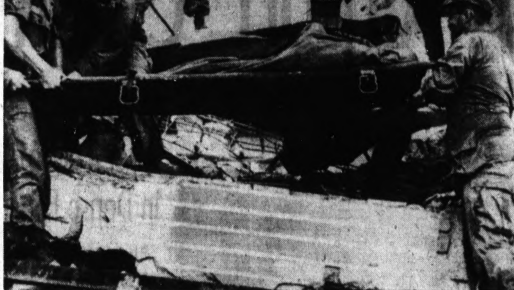

Crew Abandons Danish Freighter Afire in Pacific

HONOLULU (AP) — The burning Danish freighter Margit, abandoned by her crew after an engine explosion set the 4,967-ton ship afire, was a floating derelict today 1,100 miles southwest of Honolulu.

A Coast Guard plane from Hawaii circled the Margit and, dropping flares, sighted two lifeboats. The Coast Guard did not know how many men were in the crew, or in boats.

The Margit sailed from San Francisco Feb. 1, called at San Diego, then headed for California. The Marine Exchange in San Francisco could not say what her cargo was. The freighter has tanks for vegetable oils.

NATIONAL WEATHER — Showers are predicted for the south Atlantic coast states tonight, rain in the New England area, snow in the upper Lakes area and snow flurries in the central Appalachians and Rockies. Temperatures are expected to be warmer over the Plateau area and colder over the Great Lakes and Gulf Coast areas.

SAVED FROM BUILDING — A U.S. soldier is given a stretcher ride after being pulled from the rubble of an enlisted man's hut in Qui Nhon, South Viet Nam. The hotel was bombed by guerrillas Wednesday, and the rescued soldier was dug out this morning, after being trapped 35 hours.

GI Spends 35 Hours in Viet Rubble

QUI NHON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A slim, bald GI wriggled out of his clothes, greased himself with soap and was pulled free today after 35 hours buried in the rubble of a bombed hut at Qui Nhon.

"Now don't tell me I need a shave," Spec. 4 Arthur Abendschein told his section commander as he did a little dance on the rubble.

Abendschein, 30, of Deptford, N.J., was the fifth American rescued from the shattered enlisted men's quarters which Viet Cong terrorists bombed Wednesday night. Two Americans were killed by the explosions and 19 were missing and feared dead. Twenty-two of the survivors were wounded, five of them seriously.

Trapped in a cave-like opening about six feet long, two feet wide and two feet high while rescuers tunneled through to him, Abendschein suffered a cal Fighter Squadron. "Results were quite good."

COST FIXED

The cost of the latest strike was fixed at three U.S. Navy jet fighter-bombers lost and one American pilot captured.

The raid Thursday third this week against the Communist North — was carried out by about 160 U.S. and South Vietnamese planes. It was the most massive retaliation yet for Viet Cong terrorist attacks in South Viet Nam.

Barracks areas at Chan Hoa and Chap Le, regarded as staging areas for infiltrators headed into South Viet Nam, were singled out for the raid.

Reports said the bombs, rockets and gunfire left smoke columns surging up through broken clouds over the target areas.

Chap Le, 3 1/2 miles north of the border between North and South Viet Nam, was softened up by 28 U.S. Air Force F100 Sabrejet fighters, then pounded by 26 propeller-driven Vietnamese fighter-bombers.

Chan Hoa, 50 miles north of the border and four miles northwest of Dong Hoi, scene of a previous strike, was hit by more than 100 Navy jets from the 7th Fleet carriers Hancock, Ranger and Coral Sea.

Captured Pilot Defies Reds

MOSCOW (UPI) — A U.S. Navy pilot shot down and captured in North Viet Nam yesterday defied his Communist captors at a specially arranged news conference, Tass said today.

Tass, in a report from Dong Hoi, said Lt. Cmdr. Robert H. Shumaker of New Castle, Pa., a 31-year-old Annapolis graduate, was brought before newsmen and asked "how he viewed his participation in the U.S. provocation against the democratic republic of Viet Nam."

Blizzard, Cold
Lash Midwest

Storms, Tornadoes
Hit Southern States

By The Associated Press

A blinding, paralyzing blizzard that dumped as much as 20 inches of snow on the nation's midlands moved into northern Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan today on its way into Canada. Severe cold swooped in behind it.

Thunderstorms continued in the Deep South, after spawning tornadoes that struck from Texas to Alabama, injuring at least 17 persons.

Three traffic deaths were attributed to the deluges. Montgomery, Ala., reported more than an inch of additional rain in the morning hours.

The weather bureau said the intense storm in the North would drop four to eight inches of snow during its westward exit through the Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan border areas.

Travelers generally were advised not to brave the combination of heavy snowfall and up to 40 M.P.H. winds.

New snow depths already measured 7 to 14 inches in southern Minnesota, up to 10 inches in northwestern Wisconsin, and 3 to 5 inches in Upper Michigan.

DIGGING OUT

In eastern Nebraska, where the storm struck first yesterday, Lincoln and Omaha were digging out from falls of 18 to 20 inches, perhaps the heaviest snow in history for Lincoln.

Fairbury also had 20 inches and Offutt Air Force Base, south of Omaha 19.

National Guard vehicles were used to take doctors to their patients and patients to hospitals and a rescue stranded motorists when the snow brought conventional vehicles to a halt.

ICE STORM

The snow followed an ice storm Tuesday that forced many eastern Nebraska schools to close.

Strong winds hampered street-and-road-clearing operations in the Nebraska storm area and also in snow-choked southeastern Minnesota.

The Minnesota Highway Department warned against unnecessary travel as snow drifted in again behind its plows.

ONE KILLED

Behind the storm, temperatures fell below zero in some localities — 11 below at Sidney and Valentine, Neb., and 13 below at Bismarck, N.D. Even on the storm's fringes, temperatures were holding steady or falling during the day.

Freezing rain, put a perilous glaze on the highways in northern Lower Michigan, upper New York State and northern New England.

Anti-Castro Exiles Report Sea Battle

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A sea battle between Fidel Castro patriots and an anti-Castro exile boat was reported today by the "Anti-Communist Cuban Army," an activist group.

The official said the encounter was not connected with Wednesday night's reported seizure of an American shrimp boat in Cuban waters.

Waterford Township Tax Deadline Saturday

The office of Waterford Township Treasurer Mrs. Dorothy Olson will be open tomorrow from 8:30 a.m. to noon for tax collection. The deadline is tomorrow.

Taxes paid after tomorrow will be subject to a penalty, according to Mrs. Olson.

OPEN HOUSE

Fitzgerald Dormitory will host an open house prior to tomorrow's big dance when the 1965 Snow Queen will be selected and crowned.

Among the 15 queen candidates are Zita Miklos of 221 Sisson, Ramsey; Sharon Snyder of 6765 Woodbank, Bloomfield Township; Dianne Sturman, 2726 Windemere, Birmingham; and Frances Van Paele of 22455 Armada Center, Armada.

Birmingham Area News
Monday Is the Deadline for Candidates' Petitions

Slates for April 5 city elections will be formed in Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills Monday.

Candidates in Birmingham have until 5 p.m. Monday to file their nominating petitions while those in Bloomfield Hills are due by 4 p.m.

The deadline, some two weeks earlier than usual, was changed because of recent state election law revisions.

Needed in Birmingham are candidates for two City Commission and two library board seats.

The three-year terms of Mayor or Charles W. Renfrew and Commissioner Carl F. Ingraham are expiring.

Renfrew has served as mayor for a year, having been named by his fellow commissioners after last year's election.

Expanding on the library board are the three-year terms of Mrs. Carolyn A. Vogt and Daniel A. Nesbitt.

Bloomfield Hills electors will choose three city commissioners, a justice of the peace and a constable.

TWO-YEAR TERMS

Two-year terms to be filled on the commission are those of Mayor Louis J. Colombo Jr., David W. Lee and John W. Blanchard.

The latter was elected for one year last April after being appointed to fill the vacancy created by the death of Mayor Lyman J. Craig in January 1964.

Colombo was named mayor following Craig's death.

A successor to Justice of the Peace Alva J. Richardson also must be elected. The person replacing the retiree will be selected for a four-year term.

Also expiring is the one-year constable term of Homer J. Murphy.

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Because of the overflow crowd attending the first Cranbrook Curriculum Conference, the meeting place has been changed for the next two sessions.

The conferences, scheduled for tomorrow and Feb. 27, will be held from 10 a.m. to noon in the Cranbrook gymnasium.

The Harvard University Social Studies Project will be described by Dr. Fred Newman Feb. 27. Newman will recommend an "Analysis of Public Controversy" as the new focus for social studies.

Teachers and curriculum personnel of Southeastern Michigan schools who were turned away last week are urged to attend. The gymnasium has a capacity of about 1,000.

The public also is invited, although there is a nominal admission charge.

The conferences are sponsored by Brookside School Cranbrook, Cranbrook School and Kingswood School Cranbrook.

Plane Crashes at City Airport

the plane take off," Mitchell said.

Howard McArthur, assistant airport manager, said that the control tower is closed from 10 p.m. to 6 a.m. However, an application for 24-hour tower service is pending with the FAA.

"Planes often use the airport facilities during the night when the weather is good," McArthur said.

"But I can't recall an attempted takeoff by a small plane in this bad a fog before."

Destination of the men was not determined but McArthur theorized they were planning a local flight.

Police said the plane's pilot had only a dim and no money was found on the passenger's body.

Estimated value of the red and white 2,500-pound craft is $10,000. It was a total wreck. The craft was kept at Barber's Flight Service on the airport property.

Assisting

Assisting in the coronation ceremonies will be the 1964 Snow Queen, Lauri Bambach of 70555 North, Armada.

University personnel serving on the judging team are Mrs. Dolores Burdick, and deans Fred Ober and Duncan Sells.

Representing the fashion world as judges are Morris Fierberg, general manager of the Nadon store chain, and Nancy Weiss, Nadon's fashion coordinator on the college board.

The new queen has been invited to enter Northern Michigan University's annual Snow Queen Contest at Houghton Feb. 28 and 29.

Included in the dance's intermission festivities will be the presentation of the winter carnival trophy to the club or dormitory compiling the most competition points.

Cochairmen of the carnival are Margaret O'Reilly, 2952 Old Orchard, Waterford Township, and Gene Martineau of Detroit.

QUESTION: Is a bat really "blind as a bat"?

ANSWER: Bats are the only mammals (warm-blooded animals which nurse their young with milk) which can live by catching insects in the air. On land, they are much more clumsy and helpless than the average bird. They fly when it begins to get dark and fly. They are completely at home in the air.

Do they see them? People often use the incorrect phrase "blind as a bat." Bats are not blind; they do have eyes, as our illustration shows, and they can see with them.

However, a bat's eyesight is not the main reason it can fly so well in the dark. Experiments show that a bat with eyes covered can still avoid obstacles. If his ears are plugged, it's different—then he is almost helpless. Many experts say that the squeaking, high-pitched sounds made by bats enable them to tell when something is in the way by hearing the echoes as they come back.

It is also thought bats may hear vibrations in the air caused by air currents, these in turn have been changed by objects or flying insects.

There is still much to be learned about these little creatures, although we do know that on the whole bats are very useful to mankind, eating huge quantities of annoying insects.

FOR YOU TO DO: Since we usually see bats at dusk, our impression of them is just a black silhouette with widespread wings. Draw such a simple silhouette, using our artist's flying bat as a model. Then fill it in with solid black.

the Friends Who Ask

By The Emily Post Institute
Q: My husband is a very busy attorney and has precious few evenings to relax and enjoy his friends. When he does have a free evening I usually invite people in to dinner or else we are invited out.

Not too infrequently on these occasions, one of the guests will ask my husband's advice about a legal matter. Not wishing to be rude he answers the person's question and before long he is talking "shop" and instead of an evening of diversion and relaxation he is giving legal advice—and for free.

I think this is very unfair to my husband and I would like to know how this practice can be discouraged without causing hurt feelings.

A: Even at the risk of causing hurt feelings, your husband will be more than justified in saying to those who presume to ask for free legal advice, "I'm awfully sorry, but all this talking (or music) is very distracting and if you will come to my office tomorrow I will be only too glad to give you my full attention."

MISPRONUNCIATION

Q: When talking with a friend, what is the polite thing to do if she mispronounces a word and you have to use the same word in answering her?

A: Use a synonym if you can. If you can't, pronounce it correctly, of course, but with as little emphasis as possible.

WHY TELL HER

Q: Isn't it impolite to call to the attention of someone that she has a run in her stocking? I think it serves no purpose to bring this to her attention and only causes embarrassment.

May I please have your opinion on this?

A: Unless she is at home or some place where she can change her stocking, I agree with you that it serves no purpose to bring this to her attention.

The ninth annual scholarship luncheon and fashion show to be held at Kingsley Inn on Feb. 18 at noon should be a record turnout, according to the three pictured here who are working on arrangements for the Michigan State University alumnæ club. From the left are Mrs. Dean Ziegler, Stoddard Avenue, West Bloomfield Township; Mrs. Walter J. Matthes Jr. of Birmingham and Mrs. Diane Baker, Hamilton Road.

Faithfulness Wins Out

Distance, No Motive Here

DEAR ABBY: You surely have heard the expression, "Great minds run in the same channel." Well, after a recent incident I think it can be said that "faithful minds" also run in the same channel.

I read your column in the LAKE WALES (FLA.) HIGHLANDER and when I came across the letter from the serviceman signed "JERSEY," who wanted to know what a normal, healthy married man is supposed to do about his "physical needs" during long separations from his wife, I clipped it and sent it to my husband, who is serving with the U.S. Army in Saigon.

A few days later (too soon for him to have received the clipping), HE sent me the very same column which HE had torn out of the SAIGON DAILY NEWS, which also carries DEAR ABBY.

I am sure that article will help us both to remain faithful though separated for a long time. Thank you for your wise reply.

ABBY

LONELY BUT LOYAL
DEAR LONELY: And thank you for your kind letter.

I would like to say here that I receive thousands of letters from servicemen and their wives.

And today, while cynics eagerly point out that infidelity in modern marriage is on the rise, I am heartened by the obvious mutual trust and faithfulness between the serviceman and the wife he left behind.

DEAR ABBY: In your answer to a letter you implied that a barber would not know the difference between a blackhead, a mole or a wart.

Miss Van Buren, please be advised that the science of barbering today is far more advanced than it was in years gone by.

A barber is required to know all about the diseases of the skin, scalp, hair and appendages.

I thank you.

A UNION BARBER
DEAR BARBER: I am aware that many barbers daily perform the important service of alerting their clients to suspicious-looking growths on their faces.

However, even though a barber may recognize moles, warts and blackheads, he is not licensed to treat or remove them.

Woodwinds Will Play at OU Sunday

Oakland University's newly formed Meadow Brook Woodwind Quintet, made up of principals of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, will give its debut performance Sunday, at 3:30 p.m., in the Gold Room.

Gordon Staples, violin soloist, will give a first performance in the area of Alvin Eiler's Concerto for Violin and Wind Quintet. Members of the ensemble are Albert Tipton, flute; Arno Mariotti, oboe; Paul Schaller, clarinet; Charles Sirard, bassoon; and David Kneib, French horn.

The program will include Haydn's "Divertimento," the Chaconne from Bach's D minor Partita, and Anton Reicha's Quintet in E flat, Op. 88, No. 2.

SECOND PROGRAM
This is the second of four programs the University will offer through April featuring one of three elite chamber groups formed from Symphony first chair men and outstanding solo members.

The 16-man chamber orchestra conducted by Tipton appeared with great success January 24 and will be heard again on March 28.

The third group, a string quartet headed by Mischa Mischakoff, will perform April 18 in the ballroom of Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson's estate, Meadow Brook Hall.

A few single tickets at $3 are available for the February 21 performance through the Meadow Brook Festival office at the University.

WOMEN'S SECTION

Invite Men to Party of Altar Groups

A Mr. and Mrs. card party is slated by the Rosary Altar society of the Our Lady of the Lakes Church on Saturday at 8 p.m. in the high school gym.

Mrs. Richard Urban, chairman of the affair, has named the following assistants: Mrs. Joseph Baxter, Mrs. Leo Halfpenny, Mrs. Richard Miller, Mrs. Leonard Mether, Mrs. Henry Rickgers.

Mrs. Albert Feliksa, Mrs. George Cesel, Mrs. Robert Van, Mrs. Clerque Webster, Mrs. Ray Yost, and Mrs. Horace Howeson.

Proceeds will be used for the additional building program now in progress.

Tickets may be obtained at the door.

Area Weaver to Speak at Mall

Pontiac Mall's Woman's World Series will present "The World of Creating" with inspirational designs in yarn by Elen Auvil, fabric designer and sculptress, on Wednesday.

Mrs. Auvil's desire for a self-supporting studio led to the creation of coordinated mohair throws and pillows, featured in a number of retail stores across the country.

Now, however, a large portion of her work is detailed for decorators and architects.

This includes anything that can be woven — rugs, upholstery, drapery, fabrics, screens, wall hangings, etc.

STARTED SMALL
This artist started her work in half of a 70-foot greenhouse and has just recently moved to Romeo where she has acquired a new studio boasting 10-foot ceilings.

Of herself, the designer says, "I'm a believer in intuitive creativity. It is impossible to tell why I do some things, other than I have to."

It's a conscious thing but you can't pin down why you did it — it just seemed right. Therefore it was done."

Of her surroundings she explains, "I love living in the country—17 acres with a lake and a lovely bubbling brook. To walk, not seeing anything manmade is a delight."

"But equally delightful is walking in a large city, watching people watch people."

AWARDS
She has consistently won awards for her work during the past few years. One of her rugs is on exhibit at the New York World's Fair.

The Woman's World Series begins with coffee at 9:30 a.m. and the program starts promptly at 10 a.m. All programs are held in the community room of the Mall.

There will be a workshop session after the lecture, from 11 to 12.

OU Theatre Slates Play

The Oakland University Meadow Brook Theatre Guild will present the folk play "Dark of the Moon" on Feb. 18-20.

Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. for each of the three performances in the University's Little Theatre, according to Tom Aston, adviser for the Theatre Guild.

The play will involve a large student cast, and will include folk dancing, folk music, singing, and creative drama as well as serious drama.

An unusual feature of the production will be the staging. The stage design will extend the acting area deep into the audience, allowing viewing from three sides.

The play is open to the public, and tickets will be available at the door at $1.50.

Men Are Guests

Members of the Women's society of the Bethany Baptist Church had their husbands as guests at the Wednesday evening meeting.

Mrs. Walter Willson opened the meeting with a poem and Dr. Emil Kontz followed with devotions.

VISTA Volunteers Hold Key Roles in LBJ's War on Poverty

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — Volunteers in President Johnson's war on poverty are not giving a year of their life to be stamp lickers or cheap labor for overworked local welfare agencies.

They may not all be professional social workers but Volunteers in Service to America — VISTA — are much more than what is commonly associated with the word volunteer.

And the first 13 VISTA trainees know it.

"These volunteers are sub-professionals or will be," said Morris Cohen, director of their training program. "They will be able to give their full throes to extending services to people of poverty."

LIVE WITH POOR

VISTA volunteers will live as well as work among the poor, he said, and probably will hold responsible positions in local anti-poverty programs approved by the federal government.

The volunteers radiate enthusiasm and confidence and admit to only a few apprehensions.

Speaking as petite, white-haired Mrs. J. E. Holmes of Spring Lake, Mich. She and her husband, a retired superintendent of schools, raised two children and now are looking forward to work among migrant farm workers in Southern California as VISTA volunteers.

AROUND WORLD

Mr. and Mrs. James D. Mawhinney, who have lived in all parts of the world during his Army career, also have an idea of what to expect in VISTA.

"We have seen poverty and we think we understand it," said Mrs. Mawhinney, the mother of three grown children. "We have lived in many places, in some difficult situations."

Mawhinney, 66, a mustached, pipe-smoking retired colonel, served as an Army engineer and is convinced he still has "something to contribute" to the less fortunate.

The two couples, representatives of one of two very different generations in VISTA, have the desire to help others but they also found retirement was not personally satisfying.

VOLUNTEERS EAGER

Age has little to do with the volunteers' enthusiasm or respect for each other. Both Elizabeth Brown, 31, Kinston, N. C., who feels "30 years younger," and lanky Richard Guske, 20, are united in the desire to "help people help themselves."

Jacqueline Steingold, 22, Detroit, is ready to use her psychology-sociology degree from Wayne State University.

The first 13 VISTA trainees completed a two-week study and briefing session Jan. 23 at Camp New Hope, near Chapel Hill, and currently are on three-week field assignments working in anti-poverty programs in the North Carolina cities of Winston-Salem and New Bern. The program is federally financed.

Whether VISTA will work and whether these volunteers are satisfied with their part in it will come more into focus by the end of their training. They will have a final week of review before accepting their individual assignments.

(Some of the things you don't get in a Corvair) are among your best reasons for buying it.

Corvair by Chevrolet

The beauty of it, of course, goes deeper than the things you don't get. There's the other side of the coin—what you do get instead. Take the no window post, for example. What you do get is hardtop styling—with curved frameless side windows—in every Corvair closed model. Even the lowest priced coupe or sedan.

The transmission and driveline hump you don't get means more foot room for both front- and back-seat passengers. Thanks to Corvair's rear engine, the floor is practically flat.

No radiator—the engine's air-cooled—also means no water, no

antifreeze and no hose leaks to worry about. All of which add up to some more important pluses.

Power steering? Power brakes? Corvair needs them like a centipede needs crutches. With most of the engine weight on the rear wheels, the front ones are free to steer easily. And stops are quick and sure—with no nosediving.

Come on down to our showroom and discover the difference of driving one of these new Corvairs for yourself. Your reaction to all those "No's" you see up there will be positively great.

Science Quiz

By BOB BROWN

PROBLEM: The Dancing Balloon.

NEEDED: A rubber balloon and a warm air register in the floor.

DO THIS: Place the balloon in the stream of rising air, and it will remain there. If the air stream is strong, the balloon will dance up and down in the air.

HERE'S WHY: Bernoulli discovered that air in motion exerts less side pressure than still or more slowly moving air.

Therefore, if the balloon moves to one side of the warm air stream, the greater pressure from the slowly moving air surrounding the moving stream pushes the balloon back.

There is also an irregular up and down dance representing a contest between the downward pull of gravity and the upward movements of the irregular balloon due to the ascending warm air currents.

A book, "Science Circus," is a collection of these "Science For You" tricks. It is in bookstores.

British MDs Urged to Quit Health Service

LONDON (AP)—A committee of the British Medical Association has urged the nation's 23,000 family doctors to quit the government's National Health Service and practice on a private basis.

The recommendation by the General Medical Services Committee followed a government pay raise of $14 per week that was termed "tragically disappointing."

The boost gives the doctors an average of $168 a week; they had asked a minimum of $196.

The committee called for "immediate discussions with the Health Ministry with a view to devising an entirely new contract of service."

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)—Premier Janos Kadar says that the West must make some disarmament concessions before

Soviet troops will be removed from Communist Hungary.

"If the Western powers want the Soviet troops to leave Hungary... let them give something for something," he told parliament yesterday. "There are many Soviet proposals concerning power disengagement in Europe. Let them accept a suitable one."

Western sources in Vienna estimate 70,000 to 80,000 Soviet troops are stationed in Hungary.

HONG KONG (AP)—Agents have found another ton of narcotics on a Hong Kong chicken farm where almost two tons of opium and morphine were seized in a raid last week.

The total haul to date is 5,800 pounds of opium and 386 pounds of morphine.

A. A. Baggett, in charge of the Hong Kong narcotics bureau, said the raw opium and morphine could produce between 950 and 1,000 pounds of pure heroin—worth millions of dollars on the dope markets in the United States and Europe.

MADRID, Spain (AP)—Thirteen of Fidel Castro's ambassadors have been told in a conference here they must tighten their own belts and at the same time find means of expanding Cuban trade with non-Communist Europe, reliable sources said today.

Cuban Deputy Foreign Minister Arnoldo Rodriguez conducted the meeting of Cuban envoys which ended yesterday.

Historic Figure Not Celebrating Occasion

WASHINGTON (AP) — John L. Lewis, white-haired elder statesman of organized labor, turns 85 today. But don't wish him a happy birthday.

"He has hated birthdays since he was 70," said an aide in explaining why the still very much active Lewis wouldn't sit down for any birthday interviews or photographs.

Lewis, president of the United Mineworkers of America for 40 years until he retired in 1960, doctored out of his office Thursday and stayed away today to avoid the steady stream of visitors and well-wishers he usually welcomes.

He is expected to be back in his sixth floor office in the Mine-workers building on Monday as usual to handle his duties as chairman of the board of trustees of the union's welfare and retirement fund.

REGULAR WORK

Lewis normally puts in five or six hours every weekday, working at his desk or sunk deep in a comfortable leather chair chatting with visitors in a near-by reception room.

Although he has maintained a virtually unbroken public silence since his retirement, he still delights in talking for hours with anybody who drops in to see him — provided he won't be quoted publicly.

"Most people who go in there don't take notes because he doesn't like that," his aide said. "He spends a lot of time fighting off book publishers and television people who want to interview him."

Lewis has two major reasons for staying out of the limelight.

OUT OF LIMELIGHT

The first is that he does not want to overshadow the union's present chief, W. A. (Tony) Boyle.

The second is that he sees no profit in engaging in public debate with other labor leaders, many of whom he has sharply disagreed with in the past on labor's role in society.

Lewis is still outspoken in many of his views.

Although he refuses to be quoted for publication, Lewis still is a master conversationalist and loves to talk at length about any subject under the sun.

Who will win the "Big One" at Milford?

You will.

Because the "Big One" is our annual Durability Run at our Milford Proving Ground—one of the toughest tests of a car that you can imagine.

It starts in early November at our 4,011-acre Michigan facility where we take some 40 to 50 brand-new production cars—all gassed up and ready to be tested as strenuously as we did their prototypes.

Behind the wheel are trained test drivers—part of the GM team of professionals who'll keep these cars going over a test course that combines many driving hazards: Up the "Hill Route" to see how they do over the hills you meet on those vacation trips. Then to the Belgian Blocks for pounding over jutting granite stones.

Next, to the circular track. And then sudden stops on our brake pads. On again, whirring over asphalt roads, on to concrete, then over gravel.

Through all the kinds of roads you're likely to meet as a driver, and then some you may never encounter.

Our Durability Run takes in other things, too: Close to twenty thousand brake applications for each car. Driving in reverse the equivalent of a 57-mile uphill trip.

Until the cars have added up a grand total of well over a million relentless miles.

Our drivers do all the things you normally do: Use the heater and defroster, keep the wipers going, play the radio hour after hour.

They even slam the doors and open and close the windows a definite number of times—to duplicate the way you'd use them.

All the while, of course, our drivers keep meticulous records for computing operating costs like gas, oil, tires and maintenance.

Next, every last one of the cars is taken apart, then spread out on long tables in the "Teardown Room." Now our engineers go to work and begin the real accounting—inspecting the quality of everything from fit to finish.

In all, over 6,000 people—from our divisions and from central staff engineering—go over the cars piece by piece. Evaluating their reliability now, as well as finding ways to improve the cars we'll build in the future.

That's why we say you will win the "Big One" at Milford. In a car that's been proved the long, hard, right way. The GM way. To make it not only worth more when you buy it. But likely to be worth more when you go to trade it in.

General Motors cars are proved all around.

All around the clock, all around the calendar, all around the country, all around the car.
