Search for Others Goes On

Find Marine Flier's Body in Wreck on Pacific Isle

TOKYO, July 1 (AP)—The body of one of four missing U. S. Marine fliers was found today in the wreckage of a jet plane on Oshima Island 65 miles south of Tokyo.

The Marine Corps tentatively identified the body as that of Lt. Alan Murdock McAneny, Yonkers, N. Y.

Searchers positively identified the wreckage as the FJ2 Fury jet flown by McAneny and which disappeared Tuesday in the search for two other Marine fliers who vanished in a fog Sunday night.

McAneny was a son-in-law of B. C. Bernard, publisher of the Rome (N.Y.) Sentinel.

The plane was discovered by islanders as the search neared the end of its fifth day for the first two and a helicopter crewman who was lost Wednesday.

In Washington, the Defense Department identified the missing helicopter man at Lt. James R. Day, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rollins F. Day, 509 2nd St. NE, Minneapolis, Minn.

As good weather continued through the last three days of the vast search, officers said they could not explain the absence of results. Destroyers and planes wove an endless pattern over the sea.

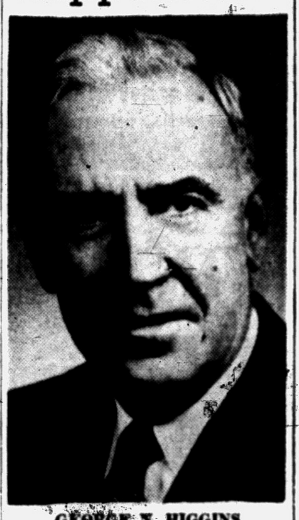

"All we know is that the search must go on as long as there is any hope, and there is certainly hope," an Air Force spokesman said.

The grim sequence began Sunday night when a Marine Sky Knight jet ran out of gas in a fog. Its pilot was Capt. Hodgin P. Montague, of Jackson, Miss.

With him was his ordnance officer, 2nd Lt. David Winton Bell, of Wayzata, Minn., son of the president of General Mills.

The following day a search plane piloted by Lt. Alan Murdock McAneny, of Yonkers, N.Y., vanished.

Williams Names 2 for Turnpike

Former Sen. Higgins, Ferndale, Gets Post on Toll Road Authority

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Williams today appointed former Senator George N. Higgins of Ferndale and Carl Smith, Bay City attorney, as the two new Republican members of the Michigan Turnpike Authority.

They replace William E. Slaughter Jr. of Birmingham, who failed to receive Senate confirmation, and the late Rollin M. McConnell of Detroit.

Williams said that while he and Higgins had often disagreed on policy matters when Higgins was in the Senate "I have always had the deepest respect for his ability and his integrity. No matter what others may have thought, we have always had a warm personal friendship."

Williams said Higgins would bring to the toll road program "a wealth of experience in government and a keen desire to see the toll road finished. I know he has the driving capacity and organizing ability, especially the ability to get along with people."

Higgins, a member of the House for six years and the Senate for eight years, formerly was chairman of the Senate Taxation Committee and proved to be the greatest obstacle to Williams securing passage of a corporations profits tax.

Smith, 56, is a former Bay County circuit judge and probate judge, former president of the state bar and former state commander of the American Legion.

He is the father of Rep. Richard G. Smith of Bay City, leader of the Republican Young Turk bloc in the House.

Road Use High in Pontiac Area, Survey Reveals

Detroit Tops in State With City 2nd Highest in Traffic Volume

Pontiac and vicinity is second only to the Detroit area in number of cars using highways.

This is shown by a traffic flow map with results of a 1953 survey made by the State Highway Department.

An enlarged insert has to be placed on the map to adequately show traffic in the Detroit-Pontiac region.

It reveals that U. S. 10 (Woodward Avenue) between the two cities carried up to 55,000 cars per day.

Telegraph road was traveled by as many as 24,000 cars a day past Pontiac. Some 13,000 to 25,000 vehicles moved along U. S. 10 (Dixie Highway) north of the city.

A point on Orchard Lake Road between Pontiac and Keego Harbor carried an average 13,000 autos.

Traffic on Auburn Avenue between Rochester Road and Pontiac averaged from 6,700 to 10,000 cars.

The highest average on a Grand Rapids-area highway was 15,000 Lansing's highest figure was 21,000. Both cities have fewer arteries than Pontiac in the 10,000-plus class.

Highest totals for Saginaw and Bay City were 10,000. Jackson's peak was 11,000 and Ann Arbor's 19,000 dropping off to 9,600. Muskegon's high was 8,600 and Port Huron's 9,200.

The top at Kalamazoo and Battle Creek was 12,000. Adrian reached 6,900.

Read Considine Story on July Fourth Peril

"Death, never more sure of himself, suppressed a yawn while the Babsons got ready for the July 4 weekend. . . ."

In an unusual article, Bob Considine today tells a new kind of safety story. The Babsons may be your family, or the folks next door, or people you know in the next block.

Their preparations for a holiday picnic, while Death waits patiently planning their destruction, make a startlingly different type of accident article.

Be sure to read Considine's story today on page 21.

Officials Gather in Planning Session on Bonds

PLAN NEW BONDING PROCEDURE — Some 40 Oakland County law enforcement officials met at the jail here yesterday to go over a proposed new bond-setting procedure to cover arrests for misdemeanors made without warrants. The plan, worked out by Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem, followed criticism of the present procedure by Municipal Judge Maurice E. Finnegan. In the past, said Finnegan, many justices have ordered prisoners released on bond before they are arraigned, contrary to law. The new system will provide a uniform procedure on misdemeanor arrests, said Ziem. Ziem said he will announce the complete plan next week. Shown seated are Ziem (at left) and Walled Lake Police Chief James Decker. Standing from left are Capt. Vance Hanger of Pontiac Police, State Police Capt. Raymond Mohr and Sheriff Frank W. Irons.

Trabert Winner of Wimbledon Tennis Tourney

WIMBLEDON, Eng. (INS) — Tony Trabert, 24-year-old U.S. Davis Cup star from Cincinnati, won the coveted Wimbledon men's singles championship today with a relentless 6-3, 7-5, 6-1 trouncing of Denmark's unseeded Kurt Nielsen.

Trabert became the seventh American in 10 post-war years to win the championship which ranks, along with the U.S. title, as the most important in the amateur tennis world.

Tony, who now has won 13 of the last 14 tournaments in which he has competed, completed almost two weeks of Wimbledon singles play in which he did not lose a single set.

His victory launched him on a trail he hopes will lead to another Davis Cup triumph for Uncle Sam, the U.S. championship — and an eventual professional career. (See earlier story on Page 27.)

Settlement Ends Shortest Strike Ever Recorded

Union Gives McDonald Rousing Ovation; Other Firms to Fall in Line

PITTSBURGH (AP)—U. S. Steel Corp. and the CIO United Steel Workers today agreed on a 15-cent-plus average hourly wage boost to end the shortest nationwide strike in the steel industry's labor history.

The union's Wage-Policy Committee gave a cheering, whistling ovation to union President David J. McDonald.

McDonald personally negotiated the wage pact in nearly night-long talks with John A. Stephens, vice president and chief negotiator for U. S. Steel.

The walkout began at midnight last night, but the settlement was expected to set idle mills and furnaces back into operation in quick order.

Other major steel firms were expected to quickly fall in line with similar settlement agreements, with the prospect that the prospering steel industry would be back humming in full operation by Tuesday morning following the Fourth of July holiday.

However, union leaders said picket lines would be maintained outside struck steel plants until agreements at each company were signed and sealed.

The formal agreement between Big Steel and the union was to be signed this afternoon.

The union planned to meet immediately with officials of five other major steel producing companies for expected negotiation of identical 15-cent wage increase agreements.

These companies are: Bethlehem, Republic, Jones & Laughlin, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, and Inland Steel.

* * *

McDonald was wildly cheered at the union's Wage Policy Committee meeting.

Other union officials hoisted the 54-year-old union leader on their shoulders in a victory dance for photographers.

* * *

For nearly an hour, various union district presidents and other union officials kept pumping McDonald's hand.

The agreement calls for a basic 1½-cent hourly pay boost and an increase of one-half cent in the spread between the 32 job classifications, making the between-job differential 6 cents an hour instead of 5½ cents.

The industry's average hourly wage rate previously had been $2.33. This pact would bring the new average rate to $2.48 per hour.

The increases are effective beginning today.

* * *

The negotiations were under a reopening of the two-year agreement negotiated a year ago and were limited solely to pay rate adjustments. The entire contract expires June 30, 1956.

A comparison between the steel pact and the recent auto industry settlements is difficult. Steel gave a 15-cent-plus straight wage settlement. The Ford and General Motors auto companies gave "package" deals valued at 20 cents an hour per worker, but all except seven or eight cents of this amount was negotiated in pension, guaranteed layoff pay and similar "fringe" benefits other than wages.

Copper Miners Ready to Strike

Workers Await Union Walkout Order; One Local Already Out

DENVER (AP) — A single walkout bit into copper production today as negotiations continued past the threatened strike hour with union and management teams seeking to avert a major tieup.

Despite the unauthorized walkout by Kennecott Copper Co. workers at Ray, Ariz., a spokesman for the independent International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers termed the situation "encouraging."

A new barrier loomed, however, with the impending arrival of workers on morning shifts in eight Western and three Eastern states. With no decision announced, the union said its 50,000 to 60,000 members have been told to report as usual for instructions by local officials.

The employes were to get work or strike orders at plant gates.

Western workers affected by the negotiations are located at copper installations in Utah, California, Idaho, Arizona, New Mexico, Colorado, Montana and Texas.

Also affected by the strike threat are Anaconda Copper, Phelps-Dodge, American Brass, American Metals and other smaller mining companies.

Sheriff Irons Issues Plea for Holiday Water Safety

Sheriff Frank W. Irons issued a plea today to families planning holiday lake outings to observe "every water safety precaution" to avert possible drownings which have cost the lives of 13 persons in Oakland County so far this year.

"Thousands of swimmers, fishermen and small boat enthusiasts will flock to Oakland County lakes over the long Independence Day weekend, and all of them will have fun if only they exercise caution and common sense in and on the water," he stated.

Pointing out that 312 persons drowned in Michigan last year, Irons said that observance of a few basic rules may mean the difference between life and death.

Here is his advice:

Swimmers should come out of the water before tiring, swim only during daylight hours and if possible at guarded beaches.

Keep children in sight at all times when they are around water.

Fishermen should stay ashore rather than take a seat in an overcrowded boat.

Persons who cannot swim should

Showers Predicted to Dampen Weekend

Raincoats and umbrellas will be needed again, with a U. S. Weather Bureau forecast of scattered showers and thundershowers developing this afternoon, tonight and again Saturday afternoon. The weather will continue to be warm and humid through Saturday.

By the first of the week it will be somewhat cooler with scattered showers throughout the period averaging around .50 of an inch.

A south to southwest wind from 15 to 20 miles per hour is predicted.

Today's high is expected to be about 85-92. The mercury will drop to a low of 65-72 tonight.

Downtown, today's low before 8 a.m. was 70 degrees. The thermometer registered 87 at 2 p.m.

City Working to End Pollution

Industrial Wastes Said Giving Utica Trouble in Drinking Water

LANSING (AP)—Pontiac industrial wastes threatening the water supply of Utica may be cleared up by the end of the year, the State Water Resources Commission was told yesterday.

Donald M. Pierce, chief of the State Health Department's sewage treatment division, told the commission Pontiac city officials and industry leaders seem "very intent" on ending pollution of the Clinton River, source of water for Utica.

The pollution problem is a double-barreled one, involving the dumping of toxic metallic wastes by Pontiac industries and incomplete treatment of sewage by the Pontiac sewage disposal plant, commissioners said.

"Most of the trouble is from the city's sewage disposal plant," said Loring F. Oeming, commission examiner.

The city is giving only partial treatment to about 10 million gallons per day, he said. The city expanded its sewage disposal plant a few years ago, but population growth made the expansion inadequate.

PROSPECTS GOOD

Prospects for quick elimination of immediate problem—industrial waste pollution—look "very good," Pierce said.

* * *

City Manager Walter K. Willman today took exception to only one point in the report to the Water Resources Commission. He said the city is giving better than "partial treatment" to its sewage.

He said industries, which are causing the toxic pollution, are cooperating with the city "100 per cent" in trying to track down the source. "Last week was quite an improvement," he said.

"We are working it out cooperatively with industry and we're going to solve it cooperatively," he stated.

The manager said first complaint of the increasing toxic content of the sewage was received from Utica about two weeks ago. "We weren't aware that the toxic content was increasing as rapidly as it was," he said.

He noted that no treatment plant will eliminate such industrial waste pollution. It has to be eliminated at its source, he said.

Siren's Wails Here Will Be Just Practice

Residents were reminded that the air raid warning siren atop the Pontiac State Bank Building will be sounded at 1 p.m. tomorrow, the first Saturday of the month.

William L. Collins, assistant city civil defense director, said the steam whistle at the Oakland County Service Center on Telegraph road will blast at the same time as an auxiliary to the regular siren.

Practical Filing Idea but Not Exactly Fawny

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Federal District Clerk V. Bailey Thomas adopted a new color scheme yesterday for filing cards in his office.

Red cards are for bankruptcy cases because the person involved is "in the red." Blue cards are for admiralty cases because the sea is blue.

Names of aplicants for naturalization go on fawn-colored cards. "They're 'fawerners'," Thomas said.

For Holiday Motoring:

Take It Easy — and Live

1. During the holiday, drive about 10 miles per hour below your normal speed. High speed gives you less time to react in an emergency, and you are more likely to be killed or badly hurt if you do have an accident.
2. Start in plenty of time so you won't have to hurry to reach your destination.
3. Stay alert. Don't let distractions take your mind off the serious business of driving.
4. Don't compete with the other fellow. Let him have the right-of-way.
5. Pass other cars one at a time, and be sure you have a clear margin of safety. Don't change lanes without looking, and leave plenty of room between you and the car ahead.
6. Slow down at sundown so you can stop in the range of your headlights. Avoid driving when sleepy or overtired.

MSU Now—Michigan State University—Forever

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan State College became a university today, by an act of the Legislature and by dint of its own spectacular progress over the past 100 years.

Effective today, the institution will be known as "Michigan State University of Agriculture and Applied Science," or "Michigan State University" for most purposes.

* * *

The name change went practically unnoticed, with no ceremonies or fanfare. The only visible evidence of it was in the campus book stores, which tried desperately to unload "Michigan State College" pennants, stickers and stationery at next-to-nothing prices.

Townspeople, students, faculty and alumni agreed the name change was a good thing—but a bit anticlimactic.

They insisted, as they had when the name change was a bitterly-contested issue in the Legislature, that the college had for years been a university in fact—if not in name.

The Legislature agreed, but only after a bitter fight that stretched over two sessions.

When the name change was proposed last year, a highly non-academic hue and holler could be heard from Ann Arbor, home of State's traditional rival—the University of Michigan.

* * *

Scholarly heads got together and agreed the time was not ripe for the battle. The matter was dropped.

But not forgotten. When the Legislature convened this year, rumors circulated that another name-changing attempt would be made.

Rep. John J. McCune (R-East Lansing), a graduate of the University of Michigan who had taught at MSC, introduced a bill, ushered it through the House by an 88-14 vote and saw it pass by a surprising 23-2 vote in the Senate.

There were outraged cries from Ann Arbor. "The bill was railroaded," some complained. Violent opponents of the change threatened lawsuits, on the theory that the new name conflicted with that of the University of Michigan.

Before long, the storm subsided, whether permanently or not, no one knows.

Meanwhile, university employes have started to erase the last traces of a college era, changing signs, repainting initials on the campus smokestack, changing silverware and stationery.

Compared with the changes that have taken place since the university was founded in 1855, these alterations are inconsequential, like a new lifebuoy on a battleship.

When classes began in the spring of 1857, only 63 students registered at what was then known as the Michigan Agricultural College. The biggest job was to clear away stumps to whittle a campus out of the wilderness.

Lack of money and manpower during the Civil War almost meant an end to the struggling college, but passage of the Morrill Act in 1862—setting up a system of land-grant colleges financed by the sale of public land—gave the college a new lease on life.

MODEST START

The college prospered, but modestly. In 1885 it had 147 students, 18 faculty members and property valued at $350,000.

By 1907, it had an enrollment of 1,000 students, and coeds were part of the campus scene.

In 1925, the name of the college was changed from Michigan Agricultural College to Michigan State College.

Old graduates visiting the campus today hardly know the place.

The cattle barns which once overshadowed all else—physically and in their relative importance in the educational scheme—are only a small part of a sprawling network of classroom buildings, dormitories and athletic facilities.

Where once emphasis was placed on agriculture, there is no limit to the educational range. Students can take any one of 126 courses, from mechanical engineering to Spanish.

This year, the university is observing its centennial—with a program of symposia and special events.

* * *

The centennial marks the monumental changes which have taken place on the campus during the last century, only the least of which were the changes in name.

Senate Probers Quiz Newsmen

Subpoena Two More Alleged Onetime Reds in Security Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate investigators said today they have subpoenas out for two persons named as onetime Communists and newsmen and are looking for others in an inquiry into Red influences dating back to the late 1930s.

The Senate Internal Security subcommittee, in two days of public hearings, heard Charles Grutzner, a New York Times reporter, and Winston M. Burdett, a CBS newsman, acknowledge they were Communists some 15 or more years ago.

* * *

Grutzner yesterday and Burdett on Wednesday testified they had joined the Communist party as reporters on the now-defunct Brooklyn Eagle in 1937 and had quit it before they went to work for their present employers—Grutzner in 1940 and Burdett in 1942.

Two stories which Grutzner filed from Korea as a war correspondent were questioned by Subcommittee Chairman Eastland (D-Miss) and the group's chief counsel, J. G. Sourwine.

* * *

Eastland said that Maj. Gen. L. C. Craigie had recommended that Grutzner be denied correspondent's accreditation for filing a story in December 1950 which reported that the U.S. Air Force had put F86 Sabre Jets into action against the enemy.

Grutzner said he never heard of that. He testified that the story had been cleared by the Pentagon in Washington before it was published by the Times.

* * *

Turner Catledge, managing editor of the Times, said in a statement issued in New York:

"The Times rejects any implication that national security was jeopardized by its publication of Charles Grutzner's dispatch regarding the F86 Sabre Jet."

Catledge said Grutzner had filed the story with a preceding note asking that it be cleared by the Pentagon. Catledge said a member of the Times Washington staff read the story to a civilian member of the Air Force's press section, and that this official said, "Go ahead and publish this story."

Man Sought Locally Avoids Extradition

A man, who Oakland County officials were attempting to extradite from Miami, Fla., on embezzlement charges, has jumped bond and apparently fled, Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem said today.

Florida police are again seeking Irwin H. Fisher, 28, previously arrested by them but set free on bond pending outcome of extradition proceedings.

Fisher, an advance man for the Cole and King Brothers Circus which played here June 4, is accused of converting $210 of advance ticket sale money to his own use and embezzling $1,055 from John A. Benson, of 549 N. Saginaw St.

The extradition has been approved by Governor Williams and the papers are en route to Florida, said Ziem.

Minor Accidents Begin Weekend

Expect Traffic Peak About 6 P. M. Today as Holiday Starts

Only a few scattered minor auto accidents were reported today as Oakland County highways began to swell with early holiday travelers on the eve of the long Independence Day weekend.

A record traffic peak is expected to began hitting this area at about 6 p. m. today, according to law enforcement officials who began stringent enforcement of their accident prevention plans.

Meanwhile, thousands of city dwellers began final preparations for outings at lakes, resorts and bathing beaches. Rural families were preparing to head for the cities to attend ball games, horse races and just see the sights.

The National Safety Council has estimated that 40 million automobiles will be on the nation's roads during the three days. From among these, the council estimates some 380 motorists and pedestrians will be killed between 6 p.m. tonight and midnight Monday.

Oakland County Sheriff Frank W. Irons, Pontiac Police Chief Herbert W. Staley and State Police of the Pontiac Post are cooperating with the local Red Cross Chapter, Civil Air Patrol and other groups to cut auto accident deaths and injuries to a minimum in this area.

Constant patrols will be maintained on all main and secondary highways. Planes will roam the skies to spot traffic jams. National Guardsmen will aid State Police on highway patrols.

"We're prepared for the worst, but hoping for the best," said Irons, who warned that the most careful traffic safety preparations go for naught if motorists fail to police themselves to good common sense driving.

House Sets Ceiling for Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House yesterday approved a $3,285,800,000 foreign military and economic aid program for the year starting today.

The measure, which merely sets a ceiling for future appropriations, now goes to a Senate - House committee to adjust differences. The Senate previously approved an authorization 139 million dollars larger. President Eisenhower had asked about 3½ billions. The actual appropriation, still to be acted on, may be trimmed further.

* * *

Strong Democratic support enabled the President's House backers to beat down 21 attempts to limit the program, including proposals to restrict help for Yugoslavia and India.

On final passage, by a 273-128 roll call, the bill was supported by 159 Democrats and 114 Republicans; opposed by 48 Democrats and 80 Republicans.

Names Union Official

LANSING (AP) — Kenneth W. Robinson of Grand Rapids, regional director of the CIO United Auto Workers, was appointed by Gov. Williams today to the State Economic Development Commission to succeed Dean E. L. Anthony of Michigan State University. The term expires Sept. 16, 1956.

A graduate of Pontiac High School, Cooney has been a deputy clerk for the past seven years. He is working toward a degree at Detroit Institute of Technology, is married and has two children.

Eisenhowers Set Picnic to Mark 39th Anniversary

WASHINGTON (AP) — President and Mrs. Eisenhower celebrate their 39th wedding anniversary today with a picnic at their Gettysburg, Pa., farm for upwards of 150 members of the White House staff and their families.

The picnic will be a private affair. The President arranged to leave Washington sometime after lunch after a round of morning engagements, including a Cabinet meeting. Mrs. Eisenhower has been at the farm for several weeks.

After the picnic supper the President and his family will go to Camp David near Thurmont, Md., for the Fourth of July weekend. That is about half an hour's drive from their farm.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the Eisenhowers have invited some personal friends to help celebrate their anniversary and Camp David has more space than the farm home for overnight guests.

The President is expected to return here Monday night.

City Man Wins Home, MG Auto on Quiz Show

HOLLAND (AP) — The Board of Education has adopted a budget of $1,125,000 for the 1955-56 school year. Supt. Walter W. Scott said Wednesday the budget, increased $146,096 over last year's figure, included higher costs and increased teachers' salaries.

August Draft Quota Set at 95 for County

Three Oakland County draft boards will call 95 of te 574 Michigan men scheduled for military induction during August.

Pontiac draft board No. 65 will call six men, while county board No. 67 will select 23 men for military service. Royal Oak board No. 66 will call nine men.

The 574 total is the largest call since May. Col. Arthur A. Holmes, state selective service director, predicted that most of the August quota will be filled by volunteers.

Non-volunteers will be at least 21 years of age. Wayne county will furnish 125 men of the total.

Committee Will Study License Plate Policy

LANSING (AP)—Secy. of State James M. Hare has appointed a special committee to review auto titling and registration, including the question of returning to front and rear license plates on autos.

The committee also will be asked for its opinion on proposals to leave the license plate with the owner rather than the auto, to adopt a permanent license plate and to continue the present policy of mailing prepared license plate applications to car owners.

Williams Faces About, Signs Business Tax

LANSING (AP) — Reversing his previous opposition, Gov. Williams today signed the legislative bill increasing the business receipts tax about $30,000,000 a year.

The governor noted that two years ago he had let the original tax become law without his signature. He said he signed the increase this year because it was a better bill.

Zimmerman will head solicitation of 30,000 workers in automotive plants and other major industries here.

A local resident for over 25 years, Zimmerman is vice president of the Pontiac Varnish Co. He has volunteered his services during several UF and Community Chest drives in the past.

He is a Chamber of Commerce and Federal Savings and Loan member.

The Day in Birmingham

City Officials Sweat Out Threatened Water Pinch

BIRMINGHAM — With an expected plentiful supply of water just a year away, city officials are keeping their fingers crossed that lengthy dry spells which could send water pressure dangerously low will not hit here this summer.

"We're trying to suffer through this year and hope we don't have to suffer through it again," said Park Smith, city fire chief and the official who keeps tabs on the ticklish water situation.

Next July, a supply of Detroit water will be brought into Birmingham, according to the schedule of the Southeastern Oakland County Water Authority, of which Birmingham is a member.

The city will be able to take as many as 6.5 million gallons of water per day from the big mains now slowly progressing northward, said L. R. Gare, city engineer.

Added to the 6 million-gallon capacity of the city's eight wells, the long-time water problem should be solved, officials believe.

MIXING TROUBLE

Gare said it is likely that some, if not all, of the local water will be used during peak summer days. He noted, however, that from studies it appears there may be some difficulty in mixing the Detroit water with the well water.

Detroit water, he explained, is much softer than Birmingham's. It is possible a water softening plant may have to be constructed to make the two compatible, he said.

Meanwhile, Smith is keeping a wary eye on the production of the city's wells, and more important, the consumption during peak periods of the day.

"It isn't what we can pump in a 24-hour period," he said. "It's what we can pump at peak periods." The 5-9 p.m. period on hot days is when most water is used, he said.

RECORD MAY 21

On May 21, Smith said, the city pumped the most water in its history. Consumption fell just below the 6,000,000-gallon mark, exceeding by more than 500,000 gallons the high established one day last September.

Smith said if a long, hot dry spell occurs lawn sprinkling restrictions may have to be tightened further. Now, sprinkling may be done at homes with odd-numbered addresses on odd-numbered days of the month, and vice-versa for even-numbered homes.

"We might have to make it just at night, or every fourth day. Of course, that decision would be up to the City Commission," he said.

"If we get any breaks, like we did Thursday, we'll be able to hold our own," he added optimistically.

The water authority, composed of cities from Birmingham south, is building a new main north from Greenfield and 8-Mile roads and is extending an old main that formerly went as far north as Royal Oak, according to Gare.

It is costing $6,000,000 to build the system, which will furnish 42.5 million gallons per day. The water will be purchased from the Detroit Water Dept.

The Detroit water will enter Birmingham's system at three points on 14-Mile road, at Southfield, Pierce and Cummings, Gare said.

Senate Passes Debt Extension

Measure Goes to Ike for Signing; Ceiling Set at $281 Billion

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Senate has passed and sent to the White House a bill extending for one year the temporary 281 billion dollar ceiling on the national debt.

By voice vote, the Senate approved the measure less than 12 hours before the temporary increase of six billion dollars voted last year would have expired at midnight.

The measure, which is expected to be signed quickly into law by President Eisenhower, was requested by the administration to avoid the possibility of the treasury running out of cash this fall.

The national debt is permanently fixed at $275,000,000,000 but the extra six billions was a compromise voted last year after the administration requested an increase of 15 billions to 290 billions in the debt limit.

Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey urged the one year extension of the six billion dollar temporary increase because the Treasury would be without cash between next October and February.

Senate Finance Chairman Harry F. Byrd (D-Va), said this stemmed from the administration's failure to reduce its spending, and because of tax reductions voted before the federal budget was balanced.

The Senate passed the legislation after Sen. George Malone (R-Nev), blasted the temporary debt limit increase and declared: "I'm tired of it and my people are tired of it."

Popsicle Tally Unnecessary, Court Decides

CHICAGO (AP)— Mrs. Dorothy Kratochvil, 37, won't have to account for popsicles she buys her five children, three by a second marriage.

Superior Judge Elmer N. Holmgren termed "nonsense" the demand of her former husband Charles Stanek, 40, that she account for the $20 a week he pays for her for the support of their two sons.

* * *

"He must be irked because when she takes all the children out together, she buys them all popsicles," contended Mrs. Kratochvil's attorney Joseph H. Becker.

Stanek's lawyer Charles Cooley replied that his client believes she is pro-rating among her five children the support money Stanek pays her for the support of their two children.

Judge Holmgren granted Mrs. Kratochvil $15 each for the support of her first two children and told her to spend it on them exclusively.

Bootleg Stills Wrecked by Cops in Forestville

FORESTVILLE (AP)—Two 500-gallon mash-filled stills were wrecked by police last night in a raid on a farm four miles south of Forestville in Sanilac County.

Seized in the raid and held for investigation of violating federal and state liquor laws were Louie Bryant, 45, and his brother Glenn Bryant, 47, both of River Rouge and Howard Sheriff, 43, of Detroit.

Barbers Want More

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Union barbers said last night they will ask the state to raise legal minimums for haircuts from $1 to $1.25 and shaves from 50 cents to 75 cents.

The word "meteor" is from the Greek, meaning "anything in the air." Meteorology, hence, is a study of the weather.

LANSING (AP) — Legislation giving community and junior colleges their first general fund appropriation from the state was among 18 bills signed into law this week by Gov. Williams.

5 Favor Plant Sale

KALAMAZOO (AP)—Five of Kalamazoo's seven city commissioners say they favor sale of the municipally owned light and power plant as approved by the public in an advisory vote. The Commission may take official action on the proposed sale at its meeting next Monday. Consumers Power Co. has offered to buy the plant for $1,625,000. The proposal carried by 62 votes Tuesday on the advisory ballot.

Teacher Boning Up

COLOMA (AP) — Dwight Brink, named "Michigan's Rural Teacher of the Year," is attending classes at Kalamazoo College this summer to become even better. Brink was honored by Prairie Farmer magazine for his 17 years of service at the little red schoolhouse in the Brick school district.

Masons Save Selves

DETROIT (AP)—Two stone masons saved themselves Wednesday when a scaffolding support broke while they were pointing up bricks six stories above ground at a department store warehouse. The pair, Paul Kinsel, 35, and Jack Pierson, 25, grabbed ropes holding the scaffolding and slid down them to safety. They were treated for rope burns on the hands.

No Trains to Atchison, Topeka or Santa Fe

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP)—It's still the Atchison, Topeka, & Santa Fe, as the song says, but if you plan a trip between those cities you'll have to take a bus.

The railroad filed an application yesterday with the Kansas Corporation Commission, for permission to discontinue its last passenger train into Atchison, Kan. Passenger service into Santa Fe, N.M. was discontinued several years ago.

Passenger trains still go to Topeka, but the main line of the railroad misses that city, as well as Atchison and Santa Fe.

Peron-Exiled Priests En Route to Brazil

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The two Roman Catholic prelates President Peron expelled from Argentina will leave Sunday for South America—but not for Buenos Aires.

Msgr. Manuel Tato, auxiliary bishop of Buenos Aires, and his assistant, Msgr. Ramon Pablo Novoa, will sail from Naples aboard the liner Augustus to attend the international Eucharistic Congress opening in Rio de Janeiro Brazil, July 18.

* * *

They will represent Argentina's Catholic clergy.

Peron's expulsion of Msgr. Tato on June 15 resulted in excommunication of the Argentine President and his government. A few hours after the Vatican announced the decree, navy and marine units launched their short - lived revolt against Peron.

* * *

Peron charged the two prelates with inciting antigovernment demonstrations and violence. The church denied the charges and said Peron's supporters provoked the clashes.

Mexico Women Vote for Very First Time

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexican women will vote for the first time Sunday in a general federal election. Twenty of them are among the 373 candidates seeking 161 seats in the Chamber of Deputies.

* * *

Woman's suffrage was authorized for the first time in Mexico by a constitutional amendment ratified in 1953. The first female candidate, Aurora Jiminez de Palacio, was elected without opposition last July 4 as the first lower house representative from the new state of Baja (Lower) California.

* * *

In the voting this weekend the government party probably will win about 150 seats in the lower chamber. The fact that opposition parties have little chance has resulted in an apathetic campaign.

Members of the 58-man Senate were elected in 1952 for six-year terms, so there are no senatorial elections Sunday.

Oakland Still Getting Bad Deal on Highways

Lieutenant Governor Philip A. Hart uncovers the encouraging information that Oakland county highways may not be as badly off as first reports indicate.

Glory be.

But it still doesn't look too good.

★ ★ ★

Deputy Highway Commissioner George Foster says the original priorities will be followed by subsequent lists with more improvements. They should. Oakland fares very unhappily on the first priorities.

We're practically ignored.

★ ★ ★

Further, the Commissioner asserts that some of Oakland's future development will depend on the fate of the toll road. If this goes through, the amount of money marked for the county will be reduced, despite the fact we're the second largest contributor.

★ ★ ★

The Press questions whether this is a fair decision. We feel Oakland should rate its rightful share, irrespective of the success or failure of any commercial ventures on the side. We are the second biggest county of the 83 and we are the second biggest givers. Why should our money be diverted to other localities?

★ ★ ★

Whose money is it?

Would the toll road mean our tax burden would be reduced? Would the State grant us some kind of financial credit?

The answer is a blunt "NO."

We just take it on the chin.

The Board of Supervisors is taking an active interest in the bad deal tossed our way on the early priorities. The Oakland County Road Commission promises to investigate and help. The Press believes we are richly entitled to our just due on the first work as well as that which follows.

★ ★ ★

What wrong has Oakland County ever done the State Highway Commissioner? Why does Mr. Ziegler shy away from his second biggest segment of people, roads and money? Why must our share be dependent upon outside action?

★ ★ ★

We still think the whole situation deserves more clarification and more study. The Supervisors and County road officials should be encouraged to find out what's wrong. We also think the Lieutenant Governor can play a helpful role in seeing his own home county get a square deal.

We don't ask favoritism.

We just want justice.

Japan Needs China Trade

There is realism and common sense in Senator George's contention that, except for strategic goods, Japan should be allowed to expand its trade with China.

"Japan," contends the Senate Foreign Relations Committee's chairman, "must not be discouraged from reopening her markets in the great trading area of China. There should be a relaxation. Japan should be allowed to trade in her ancient and natural markets."

★ ★ ★

Those who disagree with the Georgian should remember several important facts. One is that Japan is an industrial nation and must trade or perish. Another is that Asia, principally China, has been the natural outlet for Japan's finished goods.

Finally, if trade with China were barred, Japan would have to seek other markets and that means the United States. This country not only is unable to absorb the bulk of Japanese production but cannot go on indefinitely giving Japan economic aid.

★ ★ ★

With trade so vital to Japan's future, Senator George argues that the U. S. should do all it can to encourage expanded activity in normal trade goods. The Senator is right.

Pontiac Guardsmen Need a New Armory

It is to be hoped that the committee which is working on a site for a new National Guard Armory in Pontiac will come up with a recommendation soon. Pontiac needs a new Armory.

★ ★ ★

The National Guard is an important unit in our Nation's system of defense. It is also important in providing a State militia in case of local emergencies or disasters.

★ ★ ★

If the city provides a site it will free the present site for a portion of the public park that is planned to face the new City Hall. Many Michigan cities already have deeded sites for new armories, so if Pontiac is ever to get a new building this preliminary action is required before the city will even be placed on the list.

The two Pontiac guard companies drill regularly and are ready to go into service whenever they are needed. But their present building is old and inadequate. It should be replaced.

Nehrutrality

David Lawrence Asks:

World Will Hold Soviets Responsible if Talks Fail

WASHINGTON—There's a studied optimism, a deliberately hopeful attitude being assumed here toward the four power conference "at the summit." It's a smart tactic. It puts the burden of frustrating the hope of the world on the Soviets if the conference fails. It removes any suspicion that the United States is going to the conference with a belligerent attitude.

But underneath the surface, where the facts of international life are well known, the sad truth is that everybody knows the only result that can come out of the four power conference is a decision to talk some more and through specific channels.

In the old days whenever governmental officials got into a mess, they appointed a committee or a commission to get themselves out of it or at least to postpone decision by further talk.

What the four-power statesmen are about to do is to formulate a series of commissions or committees to take up specific items that are troubling the world. It's a form of postponement — of deferment. The disarmament problem has been drifting along that way for years. It will do no harm to drift along some more.

IKE'S IDEAS POPULAR

President Eisenhower is immensely popular today, primarily because he is neither an appeaser nor a warmonger. He holds to a remarkable degree the support of those in America who want him to explore every avenue that might give hope for peace and those who want him not to yield on any vital principle of morality or of justice to the oppressed peoples of the world.

• • •

On domestic issues, the President has achieved great strength. Tyros in politics, Trumanites and those who know little about grassroots sentiment in politics are mistakenly assuming that a Democratic Congress and a Republican President aren't a bad combination after all and might as well be continued.

But the facts are the Democratic Congress has cooperated not because it wanted to do so, but because it has been compelled to do so by reason of Eisenhower's great hold on public opinion.

The Democrats are cooperating because they are afraid of Eisenhower's political strength and capacity for reprisal on the campaign front in 1956. They are cooperating not because they have suddenly become wise statesmen, but because they are good politicians.

RADICAL FACTION

As a matter of fact, the Democratic Party is in worse shape today than the Republican Party. For inside the Democratic Party is a radical, socialistic group which would make mincemeat of Eisenhower's program if it dared. Conservative Democrats are afraid of their radical brethren.

There are outcroppings of it all the time. The Democratic group which wants public power and government ownership of public utilities, as well as eventually the nationalization of steel and autos and other major industries, shows its real colors when it keeps on yapping about the Dixon-Yates program.

Recently Sen. Kefauver of Tennessee demanded what Sen. McCarthy was so roundly condemned for demanding—the right to go into the executive department's files and pick out whatever would make good political ammunition.

Curiously enough, nothing was heard about "legislative encroachment on the executive," and the "left wing" press didn't condemn Kefauver—primarily because his objective was to accelerate in America the days of public power by government ownership, and that's good "left wing" doctrine. It all depends on whose ox is gored.

DIXON-YATES

These radical Democrats haven't hesitated even to disseminate innuendoes that Eisenhower is hiding a scandal in connection with the handling of the Dixon-Yates contract.

The Democrats also have played a clever game on the anti-Communist issue on which they were so vulnerable politically in 1952. They have sought by every means to play down the security problem and have skillfully changed it from an investigation of Communists and sympathizers to an investigation of the Eisenhower Administration.

Anybody who thinks this is a sign of cooperation by the Democrats or a pastime that the Eisenhower Administration is going to enjoy is naive in political matters. Ever since Sen. McCarthy blundered in his handling of the "censure" fight, anti-anti-Communists have been making progress, aided and abetted by Democratic leadership.

But in the next two years the anti-Communist issue will not die down. It will be heard from because, despite the satisfaction which the Daily Worker, organ of the Communist Party, takes over the tactics of the Democrats in putting barriers in the way of effective inquiries into Communist activities, the whole case will be put into focus before the next campaign arrives.

• • •

Maybe some of Eisenhower's advisers who have been a bit nonplussed by "left wing" pressures may come to realize that there can be no compromise with those who defend immorality in government, especially among those security risks who have refused to cooperate with their own government or have told lies to its investigators to protect their henchmen.

Case Records of a Psychologist

'Average' American Is More Interested in Personal Problems Than in Politics

Jerry's question is a good one, for brilliant adults can get into such a rut that their imaginations congeal. They no longer can look at themselves through the eyes of their clients, customers or subscribers. Our modern psychological polls of consumer habits were developed to meet this very need.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case O-371: Jerry J., aged 25, is a talented newspaper reporter.

"Dr. Crane, you mentioned that toddlers are restricted in their imagination," he said with a smile.

• • •

"I have a little boy who also hides his head under a pillow and then thinks we cannot see him.

"But my publisher doesn't have a very elastic imagination, either, yet he is a brilliant man with college education and certainly must have a very high I.Q.

"Yet he can't seem to realize that our newspaper readers don't see things through his eyes.

• • •

"Being about 65, he is naturally interested in political columns and heavy editorials along that line.

"And he evaluates all new features from his own standpoint. If he doesn't like them, he believes the public doesn't like them, either.

"So isn't it possible for a brilliant adult to become rather inelastic in his thinking?"

ONE-WAY MINDS

Yes, many brilliant adults have one-way minds. They look out upon life from their own viewpoint, but apparently can't conceive of how the public looks back upon them.

• • •

Sometimes they are very boring in conversation or on the speaker's platform, too, and may have no sense of humor.

Ask them some of the current riddles, and they try to put a serious scientific implication upon what you intended as humor.

"What is an atheist?" is one of the recent popular queries.

"It's a person who can watch a football game between Notre Dame and Southern Methodist, without caring which side wins!"

• • •

"I don't get the point," replies the one-track minder. "Why should that denote an atheist?"

And the breezy extrovert who asked the question just shrugs his shoulders and says, "Skip it."

• • •

MENTAL CALISTHENICS

Some brilliant minds think in one rut so long they have lost their versatility and spontaneity.

This publisher whom Jerry mentions doesn't realize that the "average" American, as per the last U.S. Census, is just 30 years old, married and with two children about ready for grammar school.

If you are older or younger than 30, you thus are not "average."

If you aren't married, you are not "average."

TRAITS LISTED

If you have no children, or if they are in high school and college, you also are not "average."

• • •

The "average" American is thus interested in kindergarten and grammar school for his youngsters, plus Sunday school.

He worries about unprotected street crossings and how to break bad habits in his children, such as taking other kids' toys, or about their bed-wetting.

He isn't primarily concerned with politics and heavy editorials, but wonders if his old jalopy will hold out another year.

• • •

Drive-in movies where he can take the kids without paying out dough for baby-sitters, are of more concern to him than a U.S. senatorial election.

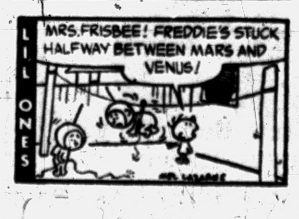

PERSONAL PROBLEMS

His wife wants to hold his affection and be a good mother. She gets stage fright about making a report at PTA meetings or worries about teaching a Sunday school class.

Incidentally, that's why this psychology column always beats political columns in reader polls, for people are far more interested in their own personal problems, which usually revolve around love, children and personality development.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his psychological charts.

Reader Suggests Bigger Main Library Art Museum and a Civic Auditorium

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

Lloyd H. Smith wants a suitable main library to accommodate Pontiac and its surrounding communities. So do I.

There is none here now with material available for a student interested in deep or extensive research in one chosen field. The Detroit Library is impractical for most people living here.

Why can't this city have an art center, too, with a large main library, an art museum and an auditorium for concerts, plays, lectures, etc.?

Money for some of these things would have to come from local taxpayers. It could come from some of the foundations, or from national or state funds. Perhaps some of the buildings could be provided from the state hospital where they have a lot of people who do not really require mental treatment.

Old Memories, New Plans Revived by Conference

President Eisenhower will confer with the leaders of Russia, Britain and France in Geneva, July 18. It will be the first top level east-west meeting since the Potsdam conference ten years ago.

President Eisenhower will take with him memories of that meeting and its result. He will also retain the memory of another disarmament meeting after a world war which was to end all wars with Germany. He will take with him memories of President Wilson and his shattered dream of a united league that would function successfully.

He might ask himself how the U.S. can effect a genuine, guaranteed disarmament with Russia.

The only answer seems to be that Russia must change completely in both action and thought.

Tax Law Discriminates Against the Self-Employed

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
INS Economic Commentator

The House Ways and Means Committee's two-day hearings this week on the Jenkins-Keogh bills (HR 9 and 10) to permit self-employed professional and businessmen the same tax deferment privileges now enjoyed by corporation employes, for accumulating retirement pensions, do not mean that favorable congressional action is near.

• • •

With the Eisenhower administration opposed to any tax revision this year which will cut revenues, and with the Democrats determined that any tax action taken before the presidential election in 1956 should put the accent on across-the-board cuts for the lower income groups, these bills, designed to provide a life-time tax exemption for up to $150,000, are not within the range of "practical politics."

But the basic concept is fundamentally sound, and should be carefully analyzed and publicly discussed. The objective is to open up avenues of tax deferment for the self-employed that will enable them to do as well in building up retirement incomes as employes of corporations which have funded private pension plans.

At present there is accordingly a discrimination in the tax law in favor of the corporation employe. The company can deduct from net taxable corporation income its current annual contributions to a pension fund, and the beneficiary—the person eventually to be taxed—is free of tax on this fund until he retires.

At present there is accordingly a discrimination in the tax law in favor of the hired men of corporations and against lawyers, physicians, accountants, businessmen and other self-employed persons. The self-employed enjoy no comparable tax advantage.

PROPOSED FORMULA

Under the formula proposed in the Jenkins-Keogh bills, the self-employed would be able to segregate as tax deferred, funds up to 10 per cent of their income, or $7,500 as a ceiling each year, with a lifetime ceiling of $150,000, provided such funds were invested in an airtight deferred trust with a bank or trust company, or in a deferred annuity with a life insurance company.

Harsh restrictions are set up making the funds unavailable until the individual attains the age of 65 or dies.

While all segments of the thrift and savings industry are in favor of the basic concept behind the bills, many think that the permitted avenues for setting up economic security are too rigid and too narrow. Likewise, they think that the inflexible provision that the nest egg not be touched until the age of 65 or in event of total and complete disability are unduly severe.

• • •

Some advocate liberalization so that in the event of family catastrophies or economic deterioration, the pensioner could draw on the reserves with a stated penalty, such as foregomg all or most of the tax advantages.

INSURANCE, TOO

Likewise, representatives of the life insurance fraternity think that the tax deferment should apply not only to deferred annuities and trusts but should be extended to life insurance contracts, including existing insurance and annuity contracts which the individual is carrying.

• • •

From the standpoint of the national interest, it seems a wrong approach to pit the self-employed as a class against corporate employes. This could lead to a seesaw with competitive bidding for continuous liberalization of the tax deferment privilege.

Likewise, it is pointed out that the self-employed have certain inherent advantages.

In the first place, they have within their own discretion the date of their retirement, with no mandatory age being set up by the employer.

Secondly, unlike a corporate employe, they are in no danger of losing pension rights through changing employers.

• • •

Thirdly, the self-employed, especially the proprietor of a business, has the hope of selling out and achieving capital gain, on which the ceiling tax is 25 per cent (for a long-term gain), as contrasted with the top rate of 91 per cent on earned income as a corporate employe.

SELF-HELP SECURITY

The objective should be to promote economic security through self-help. This could be done through mitigating the high rate of federal income taxation on those segments of earnings which are earmarked for retirement.

• • •

While the politicians have talked freely about promoting economic security through social security legislation, there has been an offset to the progress through confiscatory taxation, which makes savings more difficult, and through inflation, which reduces the purchasing power of dollar accumulations.

Brady Learned the Truth About Work as Farm Boy

By DR. WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Here's an Oregon man telling how happy he is to be back at full time work. But he doesn't fool me. I know, from study and experience, that work and happiness are incompatible in theory and practice. But let the man tell his story in his own way:

• • •

"From 1936 until March '54 I was up and down with rheumatism. Could work only part of the time. In April '54, wrote and asked for your pamphlet on rheumatiz.

"Took the tables as directed. Since about the first of September I have not had an ache or a pain. Am still taking them in half the original doses. I am happy to be able to work full time again."

What the man really means, I suppose, is that he is happy to be free from the rheumatiz.

• • •

How could any normal person, or even one who is slightly dippy, be happy to work?

LEARNED TRUTH

I learned the truth about work when I was a boy in Canandaigua. Weeding the onions, hoeing the potatoes and corn, doing chores, picking fruit, picking hops, grinding brick etc., for 5c an hour.

I never did enough to impair my health, but, man, I still moan and groan when I recall that dreadful experience.

So, when I hear anyone speak of the happiness of being at work I realize at once that the guy is going to try to make a touch or else he is not all there.

If work gives people so much happiness how come everybody who does work looks eagerly forward to the weekend, annual vacation or retirement? If work makes one happy why is Blue Monday?

For a good many years I have ground out a piece weekdays, and holidays, year after year, with never a miss. I am happy in the job. I get a lot of chuckles and many belly laughs out of it, and I get paid for it just as though it were work. But it isn't work. I haven't done an honest day's work since I was compelled to sell Topsy the Beautiful Sorrel.

Hi, Micky. I asked my boss, my real boss, isn't this so? She read the last paragraph and shook her head. Not entirely, she opined.

LOOKS LIKE WORK

On many of these beautiful summer days when you are pounding away at it and sixty or eighty of your cronies are gambling on the green, it looks like work.

• • •

But let me tell you in earnest, what the Oregon man reports makes me happy. Of course even I, don't know my advice was instrumental in curing his rheumatiz. Coincidence, remember? But anyway I'm sure my advice did no harm, and so I urge every poor soul with rheumatiz to send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask for the pamphlet, calcium and rheumatiz.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to the Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Mich.

Peron Appoints Four Ministers

Cabinet Taking Shape After All Resigned in Revolt Aftermath

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—President Juan D. Peron's new Cabinet began to take shape today with the appointment of four new ministers. Unofficial sources said they would be sworn in today.

* * *

The new ministers are Oscar Albrieu, succeeding Angel Gabriel Borlenghi as interior minister; Francisco Marcos Anglada, replacing Armando Mendez San Martin as education minister; Jose Maria Castiglioni, succeeding Carlos Hogan as agriculture minister, and Alberto J. Iturbe, transport minister succeeding Juan Maggi.

The entire 22-member Cabinet submitted resignations after suppression of the June 16 Navy-Marine revolt against Peron so the President could revamp his administration. Peron was expected to reappoint some of his associates.

* * *

The chief change so far has been the retirement of Borlenghi, long an intimate adviser to Peron. He was considered one of the chief directors of the government's campaign against Argentina's Roman Catholic hierarchy, which was climaxed by excommunication of the President.

Sea Lion Dries, Dies When Tide Runs Out

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Changing tides of the Delaware River yesterday left a sea lion high and dry on a pier at the Philadelphia Naval Base and caused it to die of heat prostration.

Frederick A. Ulmer, curator of mammals at the zoo here, said the 150-pound sea lion apparently had climbed on the pier at high tide and then was afraid to jump back in when the water receded. Ulmer said the species was not native to the Atlantic Ocean, but believed it might have escaped from an exhibition at Wildwood, N.J.

French Troops Kill Six Arab Guerrillas

PARIS (AP) — French authorities reported at least six nationalist guerrillas were killed yesterday in battles with French troops in troubled Algeria. Three Algerians were murdered by terrorists in the North African territory.

The battle deaths occurred in two skirmishes between French units and rebel bands near Conde Smendou, between Constantine and Philippeville. There was no mention of any French losses.

Aging Farmers Offer Tips for 'Those Golden Years'

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Civic activities, church, hobbies and good, honest labor besides.

Thus do two aging farmers from nearby Saline keep their minds active and their bodies fit as they look forward to the years ahead.

Spicing their views with bits of homely philosophy, Edward Foster, 73, and Andrew Ernst, 66, outlined their formulas for a long and happy life for a workshop at the University of Michigan conference on aging Wednesday.

Foster said a heart attack three years ago had somewhat restricted his activity and "on the advice of my doctor I decided to stop throwing hay around." Now, he says, he does carpentry work, raises flowers and is active in the Rotary Club.

Ernst, who still operates his farm near Saline, said he had been "throwing hay around" that very morning. Regarding health rules, he said "I watch my diet . . . my perfect 38 . . . my father always said to pick a lean horse for a long race."

Ernst added quickly: "I'm due for a long race then, because I'm one of them thin ones."

"Peace of mind," Ernst said, "is very important. Worryin' kills more people than callouses . . . headaches wear out more people than hard work."

Foster told the workshop he "was smoking about 50 cigars a week. And then I just decided I'd quit. Doesn't seem to help any, though. I don't feel any better or any worse."

Ernst said he didn't have near as much "courage" as Foster. "I quit on the first cigar," he said.

Both men agreed that religion plays a growing part in their lives as they get older. The two were members of a panel of four persons who discussed the aging problems in rural communities at the conference, which ended yesterday.

There were 22 workshops, each lasting three days.

Foster and Ernst concurred that older people should be allowed to continue with work they like and which is familiar to them. Foster pointed out that "No business is more diversified than farming — you have to be a carpenter, machinist, chemist and something of a veterinarian."

"And," he added, "you have to too."

Utah Convict Faces Rifle Squad Today

POINT OF THE MOUNTAIN, Utah (AP)—Convicted cop-killer Don Jesse Neal, who has cheated his executioners four times in as many years, is scheduled to die before a Utah firing squad at sunrise today.

The 35-year-old former San Francisco man lost his final desperate appeal for a fifth stay of execution yesterday when members of the U. S. Supreme Court, the Utah Pardons Board and Dist. Judge A. H. Ellett refused to intercede.

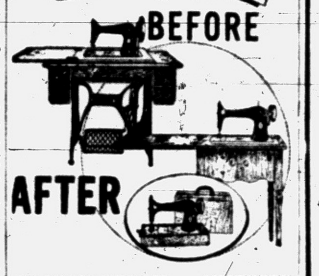

* * *

Neal was convicted of fatally shooting Police Sgt. Owen T. Farley of Salt Lake City May 23, 1951. Farley had arrested Neal and his companion—Mrs. Wilma Tully—for investigation of a motel robbery in Ogden, Utah.

Neal has been sentenced to die five times. Four times he has been saved by legal appeals made by his attorneys and by the American Civil Liberties Union.

Yesterday members of the Supreme Court refused for the second time in a month to grant a stay of execution. The Pardons Board denied Neal a new hearing, and Judge Ellett, who sentenced Neal, turned down a request for a delay in the execution.

'Migrant Ministry' Befriends Rootless Wanderers

NEW YORK (AP)—It's a strange army, with a strange church. Both are sons of the summer.

* * *

The army is a motley throng of migrant field workers—about two million men, women and children who today are trudging northward across the country, reaping crops.

The church is an institution of the open road and wayside camp. Its detachments dispense not only the spirit, but beds, bandages, books, baseballs and bread.

It's called the "Migrant Ministry."

This week, following regional briefing sessions at Benton Harbor, Mich., Island Heights, N. J., and Fresno, Calif., the ministry's 250 pastors, professors, social workers and nurses were on the harvest trail.

LONG, RUGGED ROAD

They'll travel a long, rugged road, where sun-browned, ragged families, always on the go, find the nearest thing to home in rows of shacks, tent camps or a sheltering grove of cottonwoods.

* * *

In nearly every state, along the northward-shifting perimeter of ripening fruits and vegetables and cotton patches ready to chop or pick, the bands of transient toilers make their stopovers—until the job runs out.

Then, loading kids and quilts and cooking pots in their jalopies, they move on to the next waiting beet patch or "pickle field." A man's earnings usually are no more than $600 a year.

About 60 per cent of these Americans can't read. One brown, wrinkled worker, who knew numbers but not words, told a church teacher in a reading class:

"When the road signs go by, I always know how fur, but never where to."

* * *

It is to help these rootless wanderers that the National Council of Churches, together with many local church groups, sends out the traveling mission of portable altars, kitchens and movie machines.

ASSIGNED TO CAMPS

Some of the ministry's staff are assigned to individual camps for the season, to hold worship services, care for children while parents work, teach old and young to read and write—or how to use a telephone.

Others keep to the highways in a fleet of 22 "harvesters"—specially built and equipped station wagons. They go from one remote camp to another, bringing faith—and cheer—to the drab rendezvous.

Each "harvester" carries a portable organ and altar, hymnals, medicines, movie projector, films, loudspeakers, toys, game equipment and musical instruments.

From spring to late fall, the trek goes on. The migrants, most of whom never have a vote or know the warmth of hometown belonging, leave their winter sojourns in south Texas, Florida and elsewhere and fan out northward.

They're joined by "wetbacks"—Mexicans who cross the border illegally—and Puerto Ricans flown in for the season.

THEY DON'T BELONG

No town is theirs. No regular church calls them its own. No playground or park beckons them during their lonely journey of sweat-and-stoop. By the time it's over, it's often too late for their children to get into any school.

The Migrant Ministry, as much as it can, tries to fill in these gaps with its program of religious services, schooling and recreation.

Often, families are found sick, without medical care, or hungry, without food. The ministry goes to work. Its "harvesters" are like springs of water in the desert lives of the migrants.

* * *

As one of these traveling cornucopias pulled away recently from a migrant family's "home"—half a dirt-floored garage with a canvas partition—a little boy and girl stood crying, and calling out:

"Come back again next time . . . come back again . . . come back."

India has less than a million radios for its 370 million people.

Death Has 3 Lives

by Brett Halliday

Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Private Detective Mike Shayne and his secretary Lucy Hamilton are deeply involved in a murder case and police will suspect them unless Mike solves the case. An anonymous phone call has demanded that Mike turn over money supposedly found on one of the victims and Mike fixes up a booby trap which explodes as Lucy tosses a dummy package into the blackmailer's car. The car goes into the bay.

XVI

Lucy had realized, from what Michael told her when handing her the package, that it contained some sort of bomb or explosive apparatus instead of $70,000. He had warned her explicitly against pulling the small knob protruding from the side until the instant it left her hands, and had emphasized the fact that she must immediately fling herself over the edge of the Causeway after releasing it.

But there were two things Shayne hadn't been able to take into account while planning how to entrap the man. He hadn't known the driver of the car would accelerate so fast the moment the bomb landed, or (even if he did and thus lost control of the speeding vehicle when the explosion occurred seconds later) that the accident would occur at a point where there was no guard fence along the edge to hold the car on the roadway.

So Lucy knew miserably that she had failed in her mission as she crouched in the soft sand 30 feet below the roadway. The gray sedan had sunk without a trace in the deep ship channel of the bay which paralleled the Causeway here, and there didn't appear the slightest chance that the driver could be rescued alive.

So, for the second time this same evening, a man who might be a murderer and who certainly had some guilty knowledge of murder had died through some fault of hers before he could be questioned.

She shuddered at the thought and tried to thrust it into the back of her mind. On the Causeway above her, she could hear cars stopping now, shouts and excited voices as occupants leaped out and converged at the point where the sedan had gone over.

At the same moment, she heard a second sound. From out on the surface of the bay to her right. The loud splashing of oars, and then the low voice of Michael Shayne calling urgently, "Lucy! Are you there, Lucy?"

She scrambled to her feet and saw him plainly. Bending his back into powerful oar-strokes that was driving a light skiff toward the shore 20 feet ahead of her.

GETS INTO BOAT

"Here, Michael."

The prow of the rowboat came in fast to ram against the sand directly in front of her just as the beams of two flashlights flashed down over the side of the embankment ahead of them and men began sliding down to the point where the gray sedan had gone under.

"In here quick, Lucy," Shayne ordered, standing and stretching out his hand to take hers. The moment she stepped inside, he shoved off hard and swung the prow about to row toward the excited group at the foot of the embankment ahead.

He spoke low and urgently. "Sit quiet and let me do the talking. We've been for a midnight row. I know the man went over the edge and is probably drowned. Tell me just this. Did everything go as planned? Anyone see you before the accident? Anything to hook you up with it?"

"I don't think so. There were no cars close when he pulled up. There was a loud explosion and then suddenly the car went over."

They were very close to the group by the water's edge now. Shayne stopped rowing to call loudly: "What's the trouble?"

At that moment a brilliant searchlight lit up the scene from the roadway above and an authoritative voice called down gruffly: "Come back up here, all of you. Got to start moving your cars out of the way to make room for a winch truck. Any if you know anything, we'll take your statements up here."

"I've got a rowboat," Shayne shouted up at the glaring light. "Want me to stand by here to help you locate the car?"

"Good idea."

SEES SHAYNE

A uniformed man came sliding down. He stood stock-still and stared with open-mouthed astonishment at the redhead and his secretary sitting in the boat under the bright light from above.

"Michael Shayne; What are you doing here?"

"Offering to help you locate the car that went over," Shayne snapped. "Hello yourself, Roberts. Ever met my secretary, Miss Hamilton?"

"No . . . I . . ." The young patrolman was still goggling helplessly. He turned to shout lustily up the bank, "It's that redheaded shamus from Miami, Sarge. Here in a rowboat with a dame."

"Okay. So it's a cinch they didn't shove him over," an irate voice shouted back. "Row out from shore a little and try an oar to see if you find anything. Wrecker'll be here in a minute with grappling hooks."

"You step out, Lucy," said Shayne quietly.

She reached the safety island between east and westbound traffic and paused to catch her breath when a man hurried up behind her and caught her arm tightly. She whirled about to see Timothy Rourke's grimly elongated countenance. "Where's Mike? Did it happen to the man we wanted?"

Lucy nodded mutely to the last question, wilted suddenly in Rourke's arms and sobbed.

New Gulf No-Nox gives you not just the highest octane but... full working octane

Remember this picture? This is Gulf's famous burner demonstration—proof of what a difference Gulf super-refining makes. Notice that Gulf refines out the "dirty-burning tail-end" of gasoline . . . instead of fighting it inside your engine with so-called "miracle additives." That's why New Gulf No-Nox gives you not just highest octane, but full working octane.

because it's super-refined to burn clean

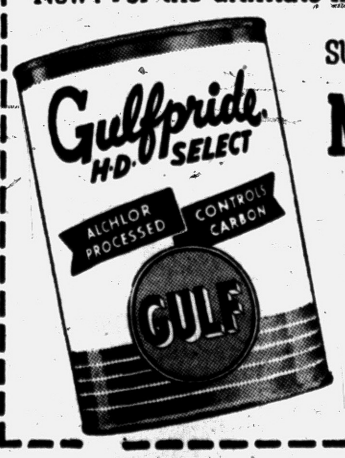

No gasoline, no matter how high the octane, can keep on giving you full power from your engine unless it burns clean.

That's why New Gulf NO-NOX is your best gasoline buy. In making new NO-NOX, Gulf refines out the "dirty-burning tail-end" of gasoline, the No. 1 troublemaker in today's high-compression engines.

As a result, you get a clean-burning gasoline that gives you:

- More complete engine protection than you get with so-called "miracle-additive" gasolines
- Extra gasoline mileage in the kind of short-trip, stop-and-go driving motorists do most
- Freedom from vapor lock, stalling and stumbling in hot-weather driving
- No knock, no pre-ignition—even in today's high-compression engines

Now! For the ultimate in working octane performance, always use Gulf's super-refined gas-oil team...New Gulf NoNox Gasoline and

New Gulfpride H.D. Select Motor Oil
THE WORLD'S FINEST MOTOR OIL

The only motor oil in the world that's super-refined by the Alchlor Process for modern high-compression engines.

- Controls carbon—cause of knock, pre-ignition, valve failure, power loss.
- Combats corrosive acids, rust and deposits that build up on engine parts.
- Assures lower oil consumption than multi-viscosity "all-season" oils.
- Provides the toughest protective film ever developed in a motor oil.

Available in 3 grades—SAE 10W, SAE 20/20W, SAE 30—a proper grade for each season.

Garden Success Hinges on Irrigation During Hot Weather

Proud of 18-Foot Climber

'Pioneer' Cherokee Hills Couple Watch Open Spaces Disappear, Garden Grow

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Krantz of 2971 Voorheis Rd. say things have "really changed" since they built their home, one of the first in the Cherokee Hills Subdivision, thirteen years ago.

What was all open country in the Waterford Township area is now built up.

With the years came the garden.

A Paul's Scarlet climber which grows 18 feet up the tall chimney is Krantz' favorite. He started it 11 years ago, and now Mrs. Krantz can reach out her upstairs window to pluck the brilliant red roses that grow on it.

Krantz grows "a little of everything" in the vegetable garden, and there are also raspberries, strawberries and a number of cherry, peach, apple and pear trees. When he's not working in the inspection department of Pontiac Motor Division, you can usually find him tending his plants.

Flowers are Mrs. Krantz' domain. She has her garden planted to produce blossoming flowers all summer, with a special eye to color variety.

Mums are her favorite, she thinks, though she admits it is hard to decide on the most beautiful flower. Her spacious garden includes petunias, snapdragons, asters, shasta daisies, pink and red peonies and, of course, roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Krantz enjoy their garden—and from the compliments they receive, so do others.

Looking over the well landscaped grounds of their neighbors and their own neat garden, though, they say they can't help marveling at how quickly a country home can become practically part of the city.

ROSES REACH FOR SKY — Mrs. Joseph S. Krantz plucks one of the hundreds of clusters of roses growing on an 18-foot-high rose bush at her home at 2971 Voorheis Rd. The Paul's Scarlet climber, planted 11 years ago, is Mr. Krantz' pet. When it outgrew its trellis, Krantz rigged wires across the chimney to provide more trellis room. What will happen when it outgrows the chimney is something he hasn't quite figured out yet, he says.

Narcissi, Daffodils May Need Thinning

How rapidly narcissus and daffodil bulbs increase varies with the variety and location.

When the foliage becomes crowded and the blooms fewer, the clump needs dividing. The best time to do this is just after the foliage has yellowed, indicating that the new roots have started growing. The presence of foliage tells you just where the bulbs are.

Use of a spading fork instead of a spade lessens the chance of damage to the bulbs. Remove only the baby bulbs which come easily away from the mother bulb.

Quizzing the Gardener

Q—We planted geraniums in our yard, and we would like to know if we should pick the blossoms when they start to wilt. Just what is the best way in which to care for them?

Also, do you advise picking the blooms from other plants such as dwarf marigolds? Should pansies be cut often?

A—Faded flowers of all plants should be picked, otherwise the plants stop blooming. Either cut them off close to the main stem or carefully break them off at the joint. When cutting pansy blooms take some of the foliage too — this prevents straggly plants. Faded flowers soon go to seed, thus fulfilling the purpose of the plant.

* * *

Q—Is it necessary to remove all seed pods after flowering from azaleas and rhododendrons? If this isn't done will they still bloom the following year?

A—It is not necessary to remove seed pods from any tree or shrub. Blooms will develop regardless. However, it does make for good gardening. Neatness, we must admit, adds greatly to the appearance. But when cutting the pods be sure not to remove the next year's growth which develops just below this year's faded flowers.

* * *

Q—Would appreciate your telling me what disease is affecting the leaves on our maples and how to treat it. I spray them with 50 per cent malathion, but do not know if it will help.

A—Leaf spotting is common on maples following wet spring weather. Spraying now is of no help. However, preventive spraying with fermate or bordeaux mixture two or three times in spring at two-week intervals as buds open and leaves expand is recommended. Malathion is of no help in combating disease.

Soak Soil Well, Expert Urges

Light Sprinkling Tends to Shorten Roots, Hurt Crop Quality

By JOHN K. BRAY
Oakland County Agricultural Dept.

Even if your garden has an over-abundance of nutrients, water could be the limiting factor in the home garden especially during July and August.

The smart gardener will plan on supplementing the usual light rainfall during this time of the year with some simple irrigation or sprinkling.

If is best, where irrigation is available, to soak the soil thoroughly during dry seasons rather than to sprinkle the garden frequently.

The sprinklers used for irrigation should apply the water only as fast as it can be absorbed by the soil, and the sprinkler should be allowed to operate in one place until the soil has been soaked to a depth of at least 6 inches.

* * *

Water penetration into sandy soils is much faster than into clay soils, therefore, the water can be applied at a much faster rate for a shorter period of time. However, irrigation will need to be repeated more frequently than on finer textured soils.

APPLY SLOWLY

Water should be applied slowly and for a much longer time on the finer textured soils. With fine-textured clay soils which tend to bake and crack, it is desirable to cultivate or hoe when the surface soil has dried sufficiently after irrigation.

This system of garden irrigation tends to produce deep-rooted crops which are better able to withstand drought and therefore produce better vegetables.

Frequent light sprinkling, on the other hand, which wets only a shallow depth of the top soil tends to produce shallow-rooted, poor quality crops. It is better not to irrigate at all than to irrigate unwisely.

The gardener who sows seed in hot, dry weather may have to hand-sprinkle the surface soil at frequent intervals in order to insure germination and give the seedlings a good start.

Hand-sprinkling at other times almost invariably does more harm than good.

Water may be applied by an automatic sprinkler, or by removing the nozzle and allowing the water to run from the hose onto a flat board or stone, thus preventing washing. Shallow furrows running along the plant rows distribute the water where it is most needed and can be arranged to cover large areas at one setting.

Out-of-Doors Offers Children Chance for Hobby

Now that school is out, children need occupation. Of course they will play, but a good summer project will add interest and zest to the long holiday.

If you plan a project that the whole family can take a part in, you not only keep the youngsters busy but bring the family together in an interesting enterprise.

The world of out-of-doors offers unending possibilities. Children love to make collections.

How about a collection of leaves or grasses or flowers? It may take some work on your part, too, to help identify the plants. But it's work you likely will find very pleasant. Learning with your children is one of the greatest pleasures of parenthood.

START COLLECTING

You might start very simply. Collect leaves. The first set might be all of the same kind—maple or oak or elm or whatever grows nearby.

Even leaves of one kind vary a lot in sizes and shape. Make a collection of as many different ones as possible.

Ferns are another excellent source of collections. A walk into the country will provide a dozen different variety of ferns. You will probably need a book from the library to help you identify the various species.

Once you get a book about ferns you'll probably get interested in the spores you will find on the back of the fronds, and you and your children can talk and learn how plants that do not have flowers reproduce themselves.

Collections are more fun if there is a way of keeping them. Leaves, ferns, grasses lend themselves to pressing.

A press can be simply made with newspapers. Spread the leaves out on the paper on the floor being careful not to have any parts overlapping. Cover the arrangement with more newspapers. Then add more leaves or plants and more newspapers until everything collected that day is taken care of.

Cover the entire pile with a flat board and add something heavy on top, like rocks or books.

For the next four days the plants should be changed to a dry place on the newspaper—or better yet the papers should be changed. Then during the next two weeks the plants should be changed every two or three days.

Mount Dried Plants on Window Glass

To mount dried plants you need a piece of window glass. Paint the glass with a thin glue diluted with vinegar. Place the dried plant carefully on the damp surface of the glass and then transfer it quickly to a piece of mounting paper.

Very attractive arrangements can be made. When framed they are truly beautiful decorations.

As your skill develops you might try mounting your specimens on a lamp shade. Not only will the whole family enjoy using such a lamp but think how tremendously please Grandma would be next Christmas with a lamp shade made and designed by her grandchild.

Learn to Detect Poison Ivy; Check Methods for Control

AP NEWSFEATURE

Lurking along the garden path, the woodland walk or the picnic site is a insidious growth—poison ivy.

Its principal danger is to the unwary.

If you don't recognize the shiny, bright green leaves, you can mistake it for a pleasant looking, harmless weed. And if you get your hands into it, or lie down in the area—you've got trouble.

Many don't recognize the quiet danger in the perennial poison ivy. It can incapacitate the strongest of men, painfully and in some cases, dangerously.

Each leaf, a Rutgers University bulletin admonishes, consists of three leaflets two to four inches long. They are irregular and notched along the margin.

* * *

Rutger's should know—New Jersey is full of poison ivy and the situation gets worse each year.

MANY FORMS

The woody perennial sometimes grows as a low bush, a shrub or a vine. It climbs on fences, trees, hedges—anything that grows.

It's very common on heavy, clay soils. It is found in parks and even playgrounds. Apple orchards are a prime place for its growth.

If you are not sure, and something looks like poison ivy to you, bear in mind an ancient saying:

"Leaflets three, let it be."

* * *

The plant is toxic all seasons of the year. The oil substance is found in the leaves, flowers, berries, bark, stems and roots.

CARRIED IN SMOKE

If you burn it—the smoke can carry it to you.

Some persons are so allergic to it, that they just have to walk by a patch of poison ivy and it produces the discomforting effects.

The preventative measure to poisoning is to avoid the plant.

But if you've been in contact with it—or think you have—the first thing to do on returning home is to wash with a soap. Use any strong yellow soap. If you do it right away, the chances are you'll wash out the poison oil.

ALCOHOL HELPS

According to the U. S. Public Health Service, if you get the inflammation, cleanse the area with a gauze pad soaked in alcohol, rub vigorously to break the blisters, and apply a 10 per cent solution of tannic acid in water.

Apply tannic acid to a dressing and leave it on for an hour or so. Repeat every six hours. Break new blisters as they form. This should halt the itching in a day or two and clear it up in a week.

These hints, from Dale E. Wolf and Gilbert H. Ahlgre of Rutgers will help, plus their suggestion to use a fresh solution of one five-grain tablet of potassium permanganate dissolved in a quart of water applied every hour or two. But don't get excited when the solution turns brown on the skin.

* * *

They also say a calamine lotion with about two per cent phenal added is used. Many drug stores sell prepared poison ivy lotions and salves.

DANGER—This is poison ivy.

CAN BE CONTROLLED

Poison ivy can be controlled in the garden in many ways.

With chemicals, ammonium sulphate used at ¼ pound to a gallon of water as a spray—from June till mid-August—should destroy it in two weeks. A second treatment is needed for heavy growth.

Then there is 2,4-D, sometimes combined with 2,4,5-T, or borax spread as a powder on the soil, to fight the pesky plant.

AVOID SHRUBS

But with all of these—be sure you do not use them near your valuable trees or shrubs — nor should you apply when it is windy.

Another way to get rid of the stuff is to dig it out. Use heavy nonporous gloves and always wash off all tools afterward, also the gloves and cover clothing.

Remember too, dogs and other pets running through poison ivy can transmit the oil to you if you are sensitive to it.

Some lucky people are resistant to the poisoning—they are fortunate.

So: Recognize poison ivy and stay away from it. If you are in doubt, stay away from the plant. If you get the poisoning—work on it right away.

And if it is a real tough dose—Your doctor is your best friend.

Historic Plane Will Fly Again

Key Brothers Staging Repeat of 1935 Fuel Transfer Aloft

MERIDIAN, Miss. (AP)—Fred and Al Key warmed up the 150-horsepower Wright Whirlwind engine on Ole Miss today to re-enact an airborne refueling stunt that helped make aviation history 20 years ago.

Such things are commonplace in this day and age when swift jets suckle up to tankers far out at sea, but in 1935 the Key brothers used the feat to set a 27-day world endurance flying record that still stands.

At a banquet here last night aviation notables from throughout the world honored the brothers and their Curtis Robin monoplane Ole Miss for ushering in a new flying era.

* * *

Col. Roscoe Turner, of Corinth, Miss., and Indianapolis, Ind., credited the Keys with leading the way toward modern long-distance flights and inspiring many youngsters to look to the skies for a career.

In 1935, when the Keys flew over Meridian for 27 days in an endurance test sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, aviation was still in its swaddling clothes.

Ole Miss proved that man is mightier than bird and that the man-made bird can take a lot of punishment. For its long-distance jaunt around Meridian, Old Miss will rate a place in the Smithsonian Institution at Washington alongside Charles Lindbergh's Spirit of St. Louis.

* * *

As befitting a hardy member of a vanishing race, the Ole Miss will make the trip under its own power. It was ready to take off at 3:30 p.m. today, spend the night in Atlanta, Ga., and arrive in Washington in time for a reception at 5 p.m. tomorrow. Fred Key and mechanic Carl Saxton, who helped reassemble the Old Miss after 14 years in mothballs, will be at the controls.

The refueling operation will be a re-enactment of the last hour of the historic flight, although the brothers refueled many times during the 27-day marathon in which they used 6,000 gallons of gasoline and 300 gallons of oil.

Al is now an Air Force colonel in charge of the U.S. air mission to Columbia and Fred is manager of Meridian's Key Field, named in their honor.

'Bonanzagram'

Have Fun! Win $100!

"Bonanzagram" is an exciting new puzzle in which the Pontiac Press offers both fun and a $100 cash prize. BUT before you try your hand at "Bonanzagram" be sure and read the rules at the bottom of this page. Solution will appear in the Press July 8.

CLAIM CHECK

Below is a duplicate of the "Bonanzagram" entry you send in to contest headquarters. It is ESSENTIAL that you fill it in and save it until the correct solution to "Bonanzagram" No. 17 is published Friday, July 8. Unless you do so, you will be unable to collect the prize if you should send in a winning solution. Check the rules below for further details.

Bonanzagram No. 17 Story Clues

Late one hot summer evening, an excited woman telephoned the police station to report that her husband was missing. He had left for work earlier than usual that day, but had never arrived there and no one had heard from him since. The officer assigned to investigate could not get much information from the worried wife. He did learn that neighbors considered the couple ideally happy, although they frequently had loud arguments about unimportant matters. In the course of looking over the pleasant little home, the officer found in a scrap basket a handful of small pieces of paper. They were pasted together, and showed that the missing man had made an effort to leave a note for his wife. A number of letters were unreadable, but by filling them in properly, an explanation of the man's disappearance was found. Can you, too, decipher the pasted-together note?

How To Play 'Bonanzagram'

Solve the "Bonanzagram" by filling in all the missing letters, as indicated by the underscores, in the message. Insert only one letter above each underscore. Many clues to the missing letters are hidden in the story, or anecdote, accompanying the message itself, and, in a few cases, the contestant's general knowledge should provide the correct letter. The contestant will note that the message is unpunctuated. Punctuation will help solve the message but is not necessary to win.

All missing letters must be correctly inserted to win a Bonanzagram prize. Punctuation will not be considered in judging a correct answer.

When properly filled in, the "Bonanzagram" will spell out a clear message that will conform in every way with the clues. In many cases it will seem that more than one word would be the correct one. That's part of the fun! You should weigh the clues and select the BEST possible word in each case.

How to Submit Entries

1. After solution is completed, "Bonanzagram" should be clipped and pasted to a two-cent postcard with your name and address.

2. Entries will be received at the Pontiac Press office, 48 W. Huron St., until 5 p. m. Tuesday, July 5. Mail entries must be postmarked before midnight Tuesday, July 5 for Bonanzagram No. 17. Address "Bonanzagram, %, Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Mich.

3. Entries may be mailed in envelope but contestant's full name and number of puzzle must be printed in upper left corner of address side of envelope.

4. Copies of the Press need not be purchased to enter. Facsimiles made by hand and corresponding as closely as possible to the original "Bonanzagram" printed in the Press will be accepted but are limited one to a family. Mimeograph, duplicator or other unofficial mechanical reproduction is forbidden.

How to Collect the Prize

The entrant must work out and keep duplicate solution as a claim check. When the solution is published in the Press, he should compare his "claim check" with the published solution, and, if his claim check is identical, he should call in person with his claim check at the Press office, 48 W. Huron St., before 5 p. m. on the Monday following publication of the solution.

If a winner cannot call at the Press office in person, he should mail his solution to "Bonanzagram Editor." This letter must reach the Press not later than 5 p.m. the Monday after publication of the answer. Correct answers are void unless the contestant reports his claim by the deadlines listed here.

About Eligibility, Information, Etc.

1. Anyone is eligible for the "Bonanzagram" contest except employes of the Press and members of their immediate families. (Immediate family means all those living in an employe's household.)

2. No question as to winners will be answered by phone.

3. The Press will award a prize of $100 to the winner of each weekly Bonanzagram. If more than one winning answer is received, the prize will be divided equally among the winners. If no correct solution is received, the $100 will be added to the next week's prize. If the winner is a subscriber of record to the Press a $20 bonus will be added to the $100.

4. Only one winning entry from a family will be eligible for the prize, but there is no limit on number of entries.

5. The Press retains the right to correct typographical errors.

6. Judges' decision will be final and contestant's submission of entries indicates acceptance of these rules.

7. No liability is accepted for entries that fail to reach us.

8. The Press reserves the right to alter rules and/or discontinue the contest at its discretion.

Here's How Government Agent Worked Message Written in Invisible Ink

It takes more than invisible ink to stump a government agent, and if you are as resourceful you too may have solved last week's Bonanzagram puzzle correctly.

The government agent filled in the invisible ink message in this way:

VIP ARRIVING. WILL COPE WITH TERMS OF WORKERS. COME would repeat unnecessarily the idea of ARRIVING; and it is very unlikely that a VIP would travel with TEAMS OF WORKERS. CONCERNED ABOUT CALLING OUR GROUP ties in with the phrase NOTIFY OTHERS later in the message, and therefore is more logical than FALLING OUT or any other combination here. TO MEET FRIDAY NEXT is sufficient to indicate the day, without the addition of the word WEEK.

SEEK TO RUSH PLANS. Obviously there is not much time if the group is to meet next Friday. RECEPTION MUST BE WELL-WATCHED.

RECEPTION follows logically the VIP ARRIVING, for he will need a proper RECEPTION, and is more in accord with the situation than DECEPTION MUST BE WELL HATCHED.

MEMBERS MAY NOT QUIZ—that is, question the VIP. This warning is issued so that the RECEPTION will be in good order. The writer would not be apt to warn members not to QUIP; and in the sort of organization implied, members would probably not be able to QUIT, OR BROACH PROMISES MADE EARLIER.

This undoubtedly refers back to TERMS OF WORKERS which the VIP is going to COPE WITH. BROACH, meaning "start a discussion of," is better phrasing than BREACH, meaning "break open or through."

IT WOULD BE FOLLY TO ATTACH SPECIAL CAUSES TO VISIT is more apropos than JOLLY TO ATTACK SPECIAL CAUSES. The following comment, SOUNDS REASONABLE, HOWEVER, indicates that the writer is certainly able to ATTACH SPECIAL CAUSES to the VIP's visit.

The writer's newspaper connections were mentioned in the story clues, hence A GOOD STORY WILL SURELY CLEAR THE DESK. He is indicating that the editorial DESK will clear for publication a GOOD STORY he has written. GOOD STORM would have called for CLEAR THE DECKS. AND WE MAY BE LEFT IN PLACE BETTER THAN BEFORE, in other words, their position will be improved. It is hard to imagine that such a group would ever be LEFT IN PEACE.

Then comes mention of the subject matter of the GOOD STORY which is a VIGORQUS REPORT. This is more logical than RIGOROUS RETORT.

Mr. X is well known in Capital circles, which makes ATTEMPT TO SLOW UP FLOCK OF BILLS more to the point than BLOW UP BLOCK OF MILLS. The following words tell the import of the FLOCK

VIP ARRIVING, WILL COPE WITH TERMS OF WORKERS, CONCERNED ABOUT CALLING OUR GROUP TO MEET FRIDAY NEXT. SEEK TO RUSH PLANS, RECEPTION MUST BE WELL WATCHED, MEMBERS MAY NOT QUIZ, OR BROACH PROMISES MADE EARLIER, IT WOULD BE FOLLY TO ATTACH SPECIAL CAUSES TO VISIT, SOUNDS REASONABLE, HOWEVER, A GOOD STORY WILL SURELY CLEAR THE DESK AND WE MAY BE LEFT IN PLACE BETTER THAN BEFORE; VIGOROUS REPORT ON ATTEMPT TO SLOW UP FLOCK OF BILLS PRESENTING LARGE LOANS TO CERTAIN COUNTRIES. RATHER YOU WOULD NOTIFY OTHERS. NOON WOULD BE GOOD TIME. FOR TRIP SET UP IN RE MICROFILM, PLANS MADE. PASSPORT IS READY. TEN

OF BILLS—PRESENTING LARGE LOANS TO CERTAIN COUNTRIES. PRESENTING is better than PREVENTING; bills aimed at making LOANS possible would be more usual than bills PREVENTING them. LOANS is, of course, a better fit than LOADS here. And CERTAIN COUNTRIES has more validity than the elliptic CURTAIN COUNTRIES.

RATHER YOU WOULD NOTIFY OTHERS is the right phrasing; GATHER would call for YOU WILL NOTIFY OTHERS. NOON WOULD BE GOOD TIME is more specific than the vague word SOON, especially in connection with the FRIDAY NEXT meeting.

The final words of the message contain the only information not tied up with the arrival of the VIP. FOR TRIP SET UP IN RE MICROFILM, PLANS MADE.

There is no evidence of the interpolation of a TRAP here. PASSPORT IS READY carries out the idea of TRIP, and is therefore more logical than PASSWORD IS READY.

The signature is not TEC or TED or TEX. The most appropriate signature for a man designated as Mr. X is TEN.

Gandy Dancer Hops Through $250 Pane

DETROIT (AP)—George Waits, 35, of Pulaski, Tenn., was held today for investigation of malicious destruction of property.

Police said Waits dived through a ground floor window of the new modernistic City-County Building yesterday.

"I just had an urge," he told police. "We don't have any pretty buildings like this in Pulaski. I never saw a window that big. I just had to hop through it."

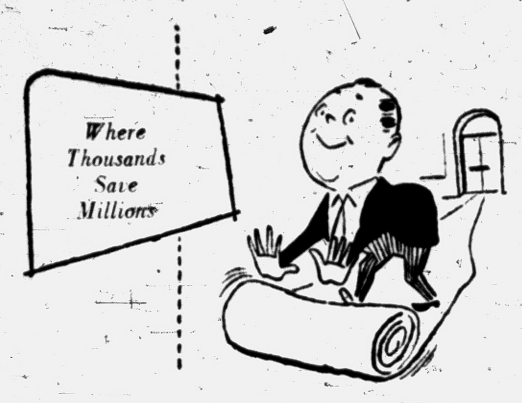

The 7-by-11 foot plate glass window costs $250.

Waits, a railroad worker, said, "It'll take quite a bit of gandy dancing to raise that kind of money, but it was worth it." He suffered only a three-inch gash on his hand.

Hal Boyle Says:

Modern Man Needs Drug Store in the Home

NEW YORK (AP) — Most new houses being built today have a recreation room. What they really need is a medicine room.

* * *

Every home today is a small drugstore.

It overflows with scores of tubes and bottles and jars of medicaments, lotions and cosmetics which the average human being now feels he needs to keep himself physically fit and socially acceptable.

The American people never have been more healthy—and never have taken more medicine. Some people now get their main exercise simply by the muscular effort expended in taking the medicines to keep themselves feeling well—or applying the toiletry aids which they hope will make them look less creepy.

* * *

A man's social status today is judged as much by the diseases he boasts as by his bank account. You never can be sure how far he really has risen in the world until you get a peek into his bathroom medicine cabinet.

The trouble is that no medicine cabinet is large enough any longer to hold the jumbled drug hoards of a civilized family.

* * *

I can remember as a boy when the old-fashioned small bathroom medicine cabinet in our home was quite ample. It held a jar of vaseline, a tube of toothpaste, a box of baking soda, a razor, a cake of shaving soap, a bottle of iodine, a package of absorbent cotton, a can of talcum, a roll of gauze and some adhesive tape. Oh, yes, and some boric acid solution and a small tin of aspirin tablets.

This small stock served the health needs of a family of seven. It enabled one to bandage a cut or ease a headache.

* * *

But in those simple days, when you got your vitamins from groceries instead of from a druggist, health was taken as a matter of fact. It hadn't become either a hobby or an industry. You didn't worry yourself sick over the question of whether you were healthy.

Today the ordinary home contains enough medical and toiletry supplies to furnish the clinic of a generation ago.

* * *

They overflow the bathroom into every room in the house and down into the basement. A modern man never throws away unused medicine after an illness. He simply puts it away somewhere, like a squirrel hiding an acorn, against a future emergency.

The other day I opened my crowded medicine cabinet. A bottle of scalp lotion I bought in London in 1944 tumbled out and bruised my head. The British druggist had assured me it was "good for falling hair" and it was: Everytime I applied it the falling hair fell out faster.

* * *

"Where's the liniment?" I called to my wife, rubbing the bump on my forehead.

Well, after a long search, Frances finally found it in the medicine cabinet in HER bathroom, hidden behind a jar of face cream and the eye lotion guaranteed to relieve TV optical fatigue.

That illustrates another peril of having medicine diffused all over the place. A fellow, stricken by a real emergency, could crawl from room to room, pawing through bottle after bottle, and die without finding the one he needed—particularly if his wife weren't there to help him.

* * *

Also modern medicines are changing, and the so-called modern home isn't suited to store them. For example suppose you have a bottle that says, "keep in a cool dark place." Where do you put it? In the refrigerator, naturally.

But what happens when you open the refrigerator to see if the medicine is keeping cool? The light flashes on, and you can almost see the bottle shudder as it cowers in search of a dark place. The old-fashioned lightless icebox was more practical.

* * *

No, in bringing the drugstore into the home we have only gone half way. What we need now is a full-sized room specially built to give everything from throat lozenges to high-fidelity vitamins and true-blue skin hormone creams exactly the right living conditions they should have.

The final step, of course, will be to staff the room with a professional pharmacist and an interne, and provide living quarters in your house for them, too.

* * *

Then a man can reasonably expect to stay healthy at home, independent of either hospital or drugstore.

STEPS TOWARDS LIBERTY—5
Cornwallis' Surrender

The Revolutionary War was drawing to a close when British Gen. Lord Charles Cornwallis surrendered to Gen. George Washington on Oct. 19, 1781.

With the help of the French fleet, Washington had bottled up British troops at Yorktown. While the French held off the British ships, Washington besieged Cornwallis for three weeks. Cornwallis had no supplies and no hope of escape. As shown in the picture, he surrendered his entire army to Washington on the very day 7,000 more troops sailed from New York to help him.

The British still had 30,000 troops in America and controlled Charleston, Savannah and New York. But the people in England were discouraged. The king finally decided not to fight on. The first treaty was signed in Paris late in 1782. Washington declared the war at an end exactly eight years after the firing at Lexington. On Sept. 3, 1783, the final treaty was signed.

The 13 colonies became an independent government which called itself the United States of America.

State Plans Survey of Dutch Elm Spread

LANSING (AP) — Reporting the spread of the Dutch elm disease the State Department of Agriculture will send out 25 trained men next week to survey for diseased trees.

The department said, 5,794 elms were found to be infected and were removed last year, all in southeastern Michigan except for one in Berrien County. This year, diseased trees have been found as far north as Saginaw and as far west as Coldwater.

The department said no cure is known but that trees may be sprayed to destroy a beetle suspected of carrying the disease.

The department said a laboratory has been set up at East Lansing in cooperation with Michigan State College to test specimens sent in by inspectors as well as the public.

The public may send pieces of branches, a half inch in diameter and six to eight inches long, from a branch that is still alive to the Dutch Elm Disease Laboratory, East Lansing.

MSU Professor Addresses 150 Area Soroptimists

Discusses the Rewards of Service

Five Clubs Conduct Joint Installation of New Officers

Prof. Charles E. Irvin of Michigan State University challenged Soroptimists to ask themselves what personal satisfaction they receive from giving to others when he spoke Thursday night at Devon Gables.

* * *

Asked to speak at the joint installation of Soroptimist International of Pontiac, South Macomb County, Rochester, Mount Clemens and Birmingham, Prof. Irwin said that his talk, "But I Am One," was inspired by a youngster.

This child, unable to boast in a group about his mother's club affiliations or professional status, could and did say, "She's awful easy to live with."

Noting this, the speaker thought of the many who go through life without any concrete evidence of what they do for their children—not like this woman who had given a great deal to her child.

* * *

"We have gotten so far away from the concept of service," Prof. Irvin declared, and he said, "Service cannot be measured in terms of a price tag."

MODERN DISCIPLES

But there were examples of those modern disciples who, without thought of self, have alleviated the suffering of others.

* * *

Service clubs, he said, are made up of members who live a good part of their lives for the other person, totally unaware of the service they are rendering.

Answering the question of what is gained by service, Prof. Irvin said, "It may be that in these hours the only recompense we'll ever get is the knowledge that the service we render becomes incorporated into a young life — that in the behavior of that person to other people is the echo of what we did before."

In conclusion, the speaker asked, "What one of us really and truly could ask for anything more?"

* * *

At the installation conducted by Helen Larkin, governor of the Midwestern Region Soroptimist International, Mrs. Arnold Hillerman was installed as president of the Pontiac club.

OTHERS INSTALLED

Other local officers installed were Mrs. John P. Bieschke, vice president; Mrs. Oliver H. Lemeaux, secretary, and Mrs. Roy Maxwell, treasurer.

* * *

Other presidents installed were Lillian Lawhon, South Macomb County; Cathrine Benson, Rochester, Peggy Genova, Mount Clemens, and Mary Dewey, Birmingham.

The Birmingham club was host to the group, with Gertrude Arnold as toastmistress.

Greetings were extended by Kathleen Pinter of Birmingham and Mrs. Ruby Schultz of Pontiac.

Frieda Huggett (left) of Murphy avenue and Mrs. Raymond Swackhamer of Oakcliff drive got together for a chat before the joint installation ceremonies held by Soroptimist International Association. A new group accepted into the federation was the South Macomb County Club. Conducting the installation was Helen Larkin, governor of Midwestern Region Soroptimist International Association.

Girl Wants to Give Man Onyx Ring

Poor Gift Choice Since They Aren't Engaged

By EMILY POST

A girl writes me: "I'm not engaged, but have been going steady with the same man for over a year. For a long time he has expressed a wish to have a black onyx ring with his initials.

"I was all set to buy this for him for his birthday when someone told me it was in very bad taste for me to give him a ring. Before I give up the idea and get him something he wants much less, I'd like your final word."

Answer: When a girl is not engaged, a ring from her to a man could easily be misinterpreted. In other words, the first ring should be from him to you.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I received an invitation to my niece's wedding. The invitation asked for a reply so I wrote a formal note of acceptance.

"I thought this was the correct way to acknowledge a formal invitation but apparently I was wrong as I have been criticized for answering an invitation from so close a relative in the third person, and was told that I should have either telephoned or written a personal note. I would very much like your opinion on this matter."

Answer: It was hardly necessary for you to answer the formal wedding invitation of your own niece, which was only sent to you so that you could see what the invitations looked like. But I really don't see that you did anything for which you should be criticized.

"Dear Mrs. Post: A girl friend of mine, with whom I lunch quite often, has a habit of stacking the dirty dishes together and putting them to one side after finishing a meal, as a convenience to the waitress. While her intention is kind, I think it shows lack of social training. Isn't this wrong?"

Answer: Yes, I agree with you. The dishes should be left where they are.

Two members of the Pontiac Soroptimist International Association gathering at Devon Gables Thursday evening were (left) Mrs. Maurice Wilcox of Murphy avenue and Mrs. Frank A. Anderson of Oneida road. The occasion was the joint installation ceremony held by South Macomb County, Rochester, Mount Clemens, Pontiac and Birmingham clubs.

Follow 'Recipe' for Best Wash

MADISON, Wis. (UP) — A University of Wisconsin home management specialist suggests that housewives follow a "recipe" when they do the family wash.

Katherine Bailey said a regular program on wash days will result in cleaner clothes and a saving of time and money.

Start with soft water. Both hot and cold water must be soft if the clothes are to be thoroughly rinsed, Mrs. Bailey suggested using a powdered softener before adding the soap, in case you don't have a mechanical softener.

Then she suggested adding ¼ cup of soap or synthetic detergent to the washer. The washer should be run for a few minutes. If it doesn't churn up about two inches of suds, you don't have enough soap.

But she warned against too much soap. A surplus "cushions" the clothes and keeps them from getting clean.

Meeting Conducted by Plymouth Group

The Plymouth Group of First Congregational Church was entertained Wednesday by Mrs. George Olson of Exmoor road.

Leather Coats Look Boyish But Feminine

NEW YORK (NEA)—Slim, boyish coats that suggest the 1920s but retain a feminine feeling typify fashions in leather coats for spring.

Important to the new collection of leather fashions designed by Lefeur is the unflaired coat in silky, lightweight kidskin. This has long easy lines.

Another coat in a favored spot is the slender, beltless sheath coat in supple African grain kid, with the new long, narrow look. The lines of this coat can be modified to a soft, semi-fit ted look by use of the casually tied belt.

The shirt-coat, in mauvy pink leather, is in line with spring's other shirtwaist fashions in dresses, coats and sweaters.

As a matter of fact, there are many of the new shorter coats in varying lengths and designs.

A full color range for these leather coats and jackets includes the fruit pastels and the vivid shock colors, oriental yellow, cornflower blue and hibiscus red.

Girl Wants to See Less of Her Steady Beau

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: How do you tell a boy you love very much that you think you are seeing too much of each other, without hurting yourself or him?"

Answer: Let's get this straight. Do you really think you are seeing too much of each other? Or have your parents been muttering things into your ears? It makes a big difference.

Perhaps it's your parents. They may feel that they never get to see you any more. You're always being monopolized by your boy friend. He's always over at the house, or has you out somewhere.

You spend all your time getting ready to see him or recuperating after seeing him. You just don't get anything else done, so far as they can see.

If he likes your mother and gets along well with her, let her tell him the dose is too big. She can put over the point in a gay, good-humored way that won't hurt his feelings.

* * *

If they don't like each other particularly, keep your mother out of it, but use her as an excuse. He knows what parental discipline is and, instead of being hurt, will feel that the two of you are in this boat together.

But if you're the one who feels that your life is completely lopsided these days because of the guy you adore, your tactics should be different.

Just what are you missing out on, being deprived of, avoiding or shrinking because of his constant company? Are your girl friends getting short shrift from you? Not enough time to spend with them? Do you want to get reacquainted with your own family?

Want more free, uninterrupted time around the house to read, to putter, or organize your possessions and surroundings? Want time to relax, beautify, lead your own quiet little private life?

Well, outline a new deal for yourself, and break the news to him gradually. For instance:

Decide for yourself, or on your doctor's say-so, that you're very tired after the gruelling school year. You have to be in bed by 9 o'clock so many nights a week. Announce the first of these off-nights for day after tomorrow.

Tell him you're going to wash your hair, take a long lazy bath and climb into bed early, so you won't be able to see him.

* * *

Tell him ahead of time that the girls are going to do something together and they want you along, so you won't be able to see him that night.

Or, your family is having guests for dinner and expects you on hand, so that night is out.

Legitimate excuses (meaning no other boys involved) for things to do which you consider important will lessen the dose without actually telling him to stay away.

He won't want to intrude when you make it clear you're going to be busy. Your busy-ness won't hurt either of you.

Gay Mattress Colors Showy

A brilliant new decorator idea is sweeping America. "Dress up the mattress and box springs, so they're gay and showy." Result: A pretty foil for plain white or pastel sheets when the bed is made—a handsome studio touch when you want it, needing only a few accessory pillows as accents.

New mattress ticking is keyed to wonderful decorator colors — floral green, rosy pink, iris blue and charcoal, misty gray and tangerine. With shining threads of golden Lurex, the new tickings give "living room elegance" and new versatility to the bedroom.

A northern Michigan honeymoon with the return trip along the Lake Huron shoreline was taken by the couple. They were married June 24 at 8 p.m. in Silvercrest Baptist Church. The bride's eldest brother, William, gave her away.

A pale pink shantung dress with white accessories and a single strand of pearls was worn by the bride. She carried a white Testament, a gift of the bridegroom, with an arrangement of white carnations and roses.

Alice Faye Carroll was the bride's only attendant wearing a light blue taffeta dress with white accessories and a corsage of pink Sweetheart roses and white carnations.

* * *

Donald Carroll, served as best man, and seating the guests were Kenneth Willson, brother of the bride, and William Rowe.

A reception was held for 75 guests in the church parlors.

The bride's mother wore a navy crepe dress and the bridegroom's mother chose a white crepe dress. Both mothers wore corsages of white carnations and red roses.

How Much Paint?

What determines how much paint you are going to need to paint walls is how smooth they are. The smoother the walls, the less paint. Usually a gallon covers between 300 and 500 square feet.

All-Women Vacations Gain Favor

Some distaff drivers regard traveling alone or with other women as "spinsterhood of the superhighway."

They are prey to fears and doubt about their ability to cope with emergencies. This little phobia came to light in a recent survey of women motorists.

Yet, despite this uncertainty on the part of a few—the popularity of one-woman or several-women vacation trips by car is growing by leaps and bounds.

The first and most important rule for the woman traveler is to have confidence in herself and her own ability to make all necessary arrangements en route.

Next, she should be sure that her car is put in perfect condition before she leaves. For example, the carburetor should be adjusted if the trip is to include mountain driving.

Also, the fear of boredom seems to figure in the lone woman's concept of car travel.

Good boredom-relievers for the woman who wants to "leave alone and like it" are listening to the radio, observing changes in the styles of architecture. But never pick up hitchhikers no matter how harmless they may look.

Avoid driving late at night over lonely stretches of road. Stay on the safe side by stopping for the night about 4 or 5 o'clock.

This also will help you avoid fatigue and drowsiness. Always stay at well-recognized and respected lodgings.

Several women traveling together can eliminate financial frustration by having a car "kitty." Each woman puts a certain amount into the "kitty" to defray each day's expense, and one member of the group is selected to be bookkeeper.

Paris Urges Naturalness in Makeup

PARIS (INS) — The latest Paris beauty trend is to look as natural as possible.

* * *

The new ladylike look has outdated feline and doe-eyed females in France.

Girls in Paris now want to look naturally blonde, naturally pretty, with a complexion naturally healthy and charm naturally feminine.

"To make up," says Paris beauty expert Jean d'Athene, "is to cheat. For beauty's sake, you may cheat, but don't get caught."

* * *

Jean d'Athene advises using a transparent complexion cream that allows the skin to show through. He also advocates outlining eyebrows and lashes in their natural shade — even for redheads.

SCANT MAKEUP

This expert has "beautified" (he prefers that word to "make-up") girls by using hardly any powder, some pale natural-pink lipstick and by matching eyebrows exactly to the shade of the hair.

* * *

D'Athene said you can "put it on" for evening. In artificial light, he said, a woman can even slightly overdo her makeup to bring out the characteristics of her face and personality.

For evening d'Athene advises bright red lipstick colors, which he thinks are more exciting than the pink and rose shades. The complexion should have a summery glow.

And in switching from the daytime look to the evening, Jean d'Athene proposes beauty-spots — the French call them "mouches" — in gold or diamonds for evening wear. They are glued to the skin near the temple or on the suntanned decollete.

Events Planned at Forest Lake

Swimming in the new pool at Forest Lake Country Club over Fourth of July weekend isn't the only activity which the children of members are anticipating. On Monday they will enjoy a circus which has been planned.

A buffet dinner-dance will be given for members and their guests Saturday evening and a series of handicap golf tournaments will be held during the holiday weekend.

Protect Books

Book covers will last much longer if they are given a coat of white shellac. Cut the shallac with alcohol before applying to the books however.

Pick your pinks in profusion this summer, even to mixing two (or three) shades of pink. Change your lipstick to a clear pink, too.

Handy for the beach is the terry robe with attached hood. Nice for keeping off wind and fine for protecting the hair from the sun.

Working Wife Causes Own Woes

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Working wives frequently make this complaint:

"Here I hold down a full-time job, yet when I get home, I have to do all the housework. My husband doesn't pitch in at all, so all the cooking, cleaning, mending, ironing and marketing is on my shoulders. It isn't fair!"

NOT NECESSARY

My experience has been that it not only isn't fair, it isn't necessary. All too often, the woman in this predicament has nobody but herself to blame.

If she finds herself in this spot, chances are it is because of one of the following reasons:

First, she never did talk it over intelligently with her husband.

Many men, don't forget, are in the habit of having women do all the housework. Their mothers did and took it for granted.

* * *

When the wife goes to work, she just has to make it clear to her husband that he takes on half of the housework. Nine times out of 10, once it's pointed out to him firmly but pleasantly, he'll pitch in.

Most men are good sports; but as a rule, none of us will take over extra chores without being asked.

WRONG APPROACH

Second, the wife has the wrong attitude about her own job.

The family does need and use the money, but she is apt to make the husband feel that she is only working because he is such a terrific failure.

Many women give this impression, open or subtly, and you can't blame the man, in that case, for letting her stew in her own juice.

And third, the woman just likes to be a martyr and have something to complain about.

* * *

Many women tell me that their husbands won't let them allocate part of their salary for a cleaning woman; but when you meet the husbands and have a talk with them, you find they have no objection at all.

In fact, they'd rather spend some money on a cleaning woman than have a bad-tempered, exhausted wife.

TWO PAYCHECKS

In our society more and more families desperately need two paychecks if the family is to keep up with the high cost of living.

Women should talk over this problem with their husbands, and devise a way of sharing household chores, so that they are not burdened with two full-time jobs. Hundreds of couples I know have worked it out smoothly.

In the last analysis, it's up to the woman to see that things run smoothly in her family.

If she does it in the right way, she'll be amazed to see how sportsmanlike and cooperative her husband will then be!

PARIS (INS) — The full skirt is fashionable again, judging from the mid-season showings of Paris couturiers.

Jacques Heim and Chanel, two designers who are wide apart on most ideas, agreed that the full, stiffened skirt is the thing for afternoon wear.

Heim revived the immensely wide, crinolined floor-length ball gown, and also showed many wide-skirted short evening dresses.

Chanel showed 15 full-skirted dresses, mostly of lace in pastel colors like green or yellow. The skirts were stiffened with crinoline or heavy net.

Your good grooming routine is not complete until your nails are cared for. Massage a bit of this lubricating cream into the base of each nail. It will aid dry, brittle nails and will help cuticle to stay soft and smooth. Miricles rarely happen, so have patience, and nightly care will show results.

Hot Weather Cooking Is Quicker

Mrs. Cotter Uses Canned Chicken to Make Casserole

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Most activities slow down in hot weather. Effort expanded in the kitchen is no exception. No one wants to spend hours preparing a meal when all outdoors beckons.

Mrs. Phil Cotter has an answer for this problem in the form of a recipe for her best quickie casserole. With it you need only a fruit salad and a beverage. It would taste wonderful on the porch or terrace.

Sewing and working with flowers are two pastimes Mrs. Cotter most enjoys. She is a faithful member of the Westside Extension group. In the Mary Martha Circle of her church she serves as telephone chairman.

MY BEST QUICK MEAL

1 box frozen peas
3 medium potatoes diced
Salt and pepper
1 package biscuits

Bone chicken; thicken gravy from can. While peas are thawing, bring potatoes to a boil. Mix all ingredients together. Pour into a baking dish. Put biscuits on top. Bake at 400 degrees until biscuits are done. Serves 6.

Neighbor Lads Monopolize Video

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Mrs. A. who has no children owns a TV set. Her neighbor who has two boys owns no TV set.

So the neighbor's boys use Mrs. A.'s. Every day, they demand use of it more aggressively. Regularly every night they open her back door, too intent on the TV screen to knock. Mrs. A. writes, "How can we stop this without offending their parents?"

* * *

By knowing why you're scared to stop it.

You imply, Mrs. A., that fear of offending the boys' parents obstructs your action.

Are you sure that this is the obstructive fear? I wonder. May not the real one be fear of your own anger at the boys? It's probably pretty intense. If so, it's the problem.

You'd dare not resist their intrusion lest this stored-up anger get out of control. You'd have to avoid any possibility of provoking their anger at you, lest yours burst out—and make you speak words that would show you to yourself, not as the lady of unusual neighborbly "kindness" but of neighborly rage.

LOSE THIS FEAR

If I'm right, Mrs. A., we can solve this problem. We can lose the fear of being "unkind" by correcting your idea of "kindness."

It is not kind to the children to permit them to sit for hours every night in a place where they are not wanted.

Because they know you don't want them.

* * *

Unfortunately, they have been allowed to ignore this important knowledge lest it interfere with their TV pleasure.

But it exists, believe me—and has taken toll of their nervous systems.

These young systems, exposed every night to two adults' resentment, have been manufacturing belligerence. That's why the children shove past you at the door, Mrs. A. It's why they give you arrogance instead of gratitude for your hospitality.

For months, while your young neighbors have absorbed themselves in the antics of shadows on your TV screen, self-respect has been draining out of them.

If you can see how unkind has been this "kindness," you have the moral ground you need to end it. Knowing that your firmness is protection of their self-respect you can say without fear, "No TV tomorrow night, children. We want to be alone. I'll let you know when you can come over again. That's a promise. Now pop along."

* * *

The moment you can see that protection of your privacy is also loyalty to the children, you can speak with the kindness you need to restore it — and keep your friends.

A new form of a popular fragrance is called "Perfume Mist." The scent is released by just a fingertip touch on the valve at the top of the pressurized container. "Perfume Mist" is more concentrated than toilet water and gives an especially pleasing and long-lasting fragrance. Our model is wearing a Jane Derby dress, complete with a Lilly Dache chapeau.

Sparkling Summer Jewels Great Asset if Cleaned

Costume jewelry and even real jewels seem to emerge from hiding in the summer. Lots and lots of it appears on well-dressed necklines, wrists and ears as the weather gets warmer and clothes get skimpier.

One catch is that in summer, jewelry is more often worn directly against the skin than it is against clothing, as it is in winter, and consequently the hazards of dirt and loss of luster are greater.

Keeping real and fake jewelry clean isn't hard, it's merely a matter of kowing what to do with which.

Imitation pearls should be wiped off with a slightly damp cloth. Oriental or cultured pearls should be washed with mild soapy water, rinsed carefully and wiped dry with a soft towel.

* * *

They should be washed while laid out on a towel. They should be perfectly dry before being worn again.

Frequent washing may cause the strings on beads to weaken, so it's a sound idea to take them to the jeweler periodically for cleaning and restringing.

WASH GEMS

Diamonds and colored gems may be washed in warm soapy water and swished with a sudsy shaving brush.They should then be rinsed and dried, then polished with a lint-free cloth or tissue paper.

In handling colored stones, be careful to keep the water at an even temperature as sudden change may cause the stones to crack.

Diamond rings may be boiled. Take a small pan and place a piece of cloth on the bottom of the pan, after filling with soapy water.

Put the diamond jewelry on the cloth, let the water come to a boil slowly and allow to boil until clean. Dry and polish.

Watches should not be tinkered with, of course. The jeweler is the one to open them and clean the insides.

Many Residents of Pontiac Attend Pittsburgh Rite

Dempsey of South Shore drive, Watkins Lake; Mrs. Allan Monroe of Cherokee road, Adeline Hook of Washington street and the Arthur MacAdams' of Oakland avenue.

* * *

Others from Pontiac included Mrs. Donald C. Porritt of Cherokee road, Ralph Briney of East Iroquois road and Mr. and Mrs. Frederick J. Poole with their daughters, Mary Margaret and Elizabeth Ann.

Relatives were also present from Erie, Detroit and Laingsburg.

Serving his cousin as head usher was Richard C. Poole of South Shore road.

* * *

The bridegroom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Homer B. Porritt of Ingomar, Pa. Dr. Porritt is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Porritt, and a brother of Mrs. Dempsey and Mrs. Gelston Poole.

Another brother, Charles Porritt, who lives in Detroit, also attended the wedding with his wife and children.

Synthetics Hailed in Banishing Moths

NEW YORK (UP)—The day is not far off when the torment of homemakers, the household moth, will vanish from the American scene.

So predicts the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association, which says the increase in popularity of the synethics will spell the death of this pest. The moth flourishes on woolens and furs. Further, the association says, most modern dry-cleaning methods make woolens moth-repellent, and washable woolens can be moth-treated at home. Cold storage of furs is a "must" for most women.

To clean out bottles, decanters or dressing bottles with narrow necks, a baby bottle brush is the best weapon.

Bob Considine Says:

Pentagon Ponders About Prisoner Policy

NEW YORK (INS)—Among the lids clamped down recently by the Department of Defense is one on the deliberations of the board assigned to draw up a code of behavior for future American prisoners of war.

* * *

The Marines feel one way about how a man should act under torture, the Army feels another way. The Navy leans toward forgiving and forgetting; the infantry prefers to put a broken man in jail. Somewhere in the middle of the muddle is the Air Force, the only arm that has made its position known from the start.

Looking back over a couple years of news releases and talks with Air Force officers, the USAF's attitude seems to be rooted in its firm belief that in this atomic age, and against the type of enemy we now face, it is senseless to demand of an American boy that he give to the enemy only his name, rank and serial number in the event of capture. That was for wars fought under the chivalrous terms of the Geneva Convention.

The Air Force thinks the board will strike at the heart of the enlistment and re-enlistment program and at pre-combat morale if board members come up with a hard-and-fast set of rules which fail to take into consideration the nature of the enemy, the weakness of the flesh and the fragility of the spirit.

* * *

USAF feels that the highly trained crews of its intercontinental bombers, say, should be excluded from all top-drawer information such as the number of A-bombs on hand, vast future plans, etc., and that it should be made abundantly plain to the world that this is the USAF's way of doing things.

COMPLETE FREEDOM

As for men forced down and captured, they should do everything in their power to avoid capture and escape from prison if possible. That failing, they should be given complete freedom to answer the enemy's questions to the best of their knowledge.

It must be presumed that the enemy—through his spies and previous knowledge—knows more of what is going on in the Air Force than any crew member of the single bomber.

It appears to be the Air Force's contention, too, that the importance of signed "confessions" is taken too seriously by such sister services as the Marines and the Army.

The "confession" was thoroughly discredited in the Korean War, the Air Force believes, and thus homefront reprisals are hardly in order. It would punish only those who bring harm to fellow prisoners.

* * *

This much seems certain: The Department of Defense is stumped for a ready answer. The board swirls with indecision. Some military men frankly resent the presence on it of civilians, on the ground that punishment of military personnel is a matter solely for the military.

SKEPTICAL CIVILIANS

The civilians are skeptical of what they suspect is saber-rattling, plus the stated opinions of some of the older career officers that the only honorable end for a man about to break under torture is suicide.

A new devil is loose in the world and it will take us time to figure the best way or ways of combatting him. If we had to lock grips with him tomorrow, we wouldn't know what to tell our boys as to their conduct after capture.

We're in the ring with a beast who never heard of the Marquis of Queensberry.

If war came today the 59 certificated airlines of the U.S. would hand over 1,454 transport planes to the Department of Defense, complete with crews.

The civil reserve air fleet could complete the massive switch in 48 hours. It would double the size of the Military Air Transport Service and give our side undreamt-of mobility.

Last year these 59 carriers flew more than 35,000,000 passengers in and out of 543 cities. Hundreds of the planes can fly the oceans.

Maintenance of such a reserve fleet would cost the Department of Defense $30,000,000 annually — a bill now picked up by the airline industry, which paid $400,000,000 for the planes.

The power of positive private enterprise!

Straits Ferry Rates Boosted

Passenger Cars Not Affected; Truck, Bus, Trailer Tolls Upped

LANSING (AP)—Increased tolls for trucks, buses and trailers on the Straits of Mackinac ferries went into effect at midnight last night, the State Highway Department said.

There is no increase on rates for passenger cars, which were increased last May 1, nor on motorcycles and horse-drawn vehicles.

For trucks, tractor combinations not wider than eight feet, the changes are:

Under 20 feet from $2.75 to $3.25, between 20 and 30 feet, $4.50 to $5.50, 31 feet to 40 feet, $6.00 to $7.50, and over 40 feet from $8 to $10.

Changes on passenger buses: Less than 32 seating capacity from $4 to $5; more than 32 seating capacity from $5 to $6.50.

Trailers drawn by passenger cars: Other than coach, from $1.75 to $2 and for coaches from $3.25 to $4.

The rates for truck width over eight feet will remain an additional $5 and on trucks carrying livestock will remain at $5 additional.

Increased operating costs make the changes necessary, the department said.

Monkey Shipments Will Be Continued

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Official Indian sources said today shipments of Rhesus monkeys to the United States for Salk antipolio vaccine work will continue under a temporary arrangement.

The arrangement had been scheduled to expire at midnight last night. American and Indian representatives have been meeting here 10 days to try to avert a halt to the shipments.

India banned the export of monkeys, which many Indians consider sacred, after several hundred suffocated en route to the United States last March. A month later the ban was lifted and shipments were permitted under a temporary licensing system.

Death Helps the Babsons Plan a July Fourth Outing

EDITOR'S NOTE: The author of this modern parable for Americans is a famed columnist, reporter and writer. Any similarity between the characters in this story and real persons you may know—living or dead—is intentional.

By BOB CONSIDINE

International News Service Staff Writer

Death, never more sure of himself, suppressed a yawn while the Babsons got ready for the July 4 weekend. He could wait. He leaned back luxuriously in Babson's favorite chair and glanced at the customary story from the National Safety Council, noting with a blush of professional pride that the headline read:

ESTIMATE 380 WILL DIE DURING LONG WEEKEND.

Death permitted himself the additional luxury of a wave of self-satisfaction. Yessirree, he had come a long way in a short time. When it looked like men were safely conspiring to deprive him of war, along came the automobile, the souped-up motor, the beckoning highspeed roads, the bottle, fatigue and all the other boons to his business.

He regarded the Babsons with the calculating eye of a merchant taking inventory, or a farmer counting hens earmarked for his deep freeze. Dopes! Think of all the trouble they could save themselves; all the senseless packing and happy planning. In a few hours . . . well, he hadn't quite made up his mind how this one would be.

Take Babson himself. Hard-working fellow. Gave up a lot to get the house, the car, the refrigerator, the TV, and to give the kids the best education he could buy. Pipe-smoking kind of fellow with a good word for everyone. A little corny about love of home, wife, church, friends — but in a quiet way.

Death scratched his jaw and figured ways and means of doing away with Babson. How about a headon at 60 mph, with him impaled by the steering-wheel post and his face all pushed in, like the metal of the hood? Not bad . . . not bad, death mused.

And the wife. She annoyed death, this woman who was the giver of life. She and her radiant health, her happiness with her lot in life! She and all her bustling about, neatly and patiently repacking the clothes the old man and the kids had packed for themselves; filling the thermos bottles, wrapping the cold fried chicken in foil, remembering the salt and pepper.

He'd fix her! She'd be in the seat next to the driver. Death licked his dry chops at the vision of her end: broken, mashed into a pulp hardly fit for burial, and flung through a gaping hole in the windshield, a hole of her own reluctant making.

And how about Junior Miss? Peaches-and-cream, Death thought of, looking at her and listening to her hum as she got her things ready for the holiday outing. Death didn't like peaches or cream, any more than he liked Junior Miss and her excited plans to meet Tom at the end of the car ride. Tom this, Tom that. Death smiled at the prospect of doing away with Junior Miss and all her girl-type dreams. He saw her bloody form hurtling through the air, flung from the car by the ghastly impact of the crash, and the crush of her as she landed by the side of the road. In his mind, Death helped spread the blanket over her and stepped aside to give the sickened photographer more room.

And the young fellow. All set for college, eh? And the Air Force? Har, said Death to himself. Pack your tennis racket and your fishing tackle, Buster, but you ain't going nowhere. By the time the highway police pry you out of that tin accordion, and the doctor down the road barely saves your life, nobody's going to want you. For your legs won't ever work again and hands won't pick up things and your head won't work like it did before the crash.

Well, it was time to go now. Death walked to the car with the happy little family, watched them load it, saw them get in, and hopped easily up on the hood as the car moved away.

They were out on the high road and the tempo had picked up like a great symphony building and surging to a climax. The crazy kid in the hotrod was on the road up ahead, advancing on the Babsons, weaving in and out of the orderly line of moving cars. He was ten minutes late for a date with a girl in blue jeans at a roadside tavern and he was making up the lost time.

Death had been through this impending tragedy so many times before that suddenly he was bored with the whole business. It was a fine day and comfortable up on the hood. He stretched and dozed off, content that everything would go as planned and the statistics of the National Safety Council would again stand up.

At the precisely planned stretch of highway, the kid in the hotrod miscalculated by an inch or two, sideswiped a bus, and shot across the road.

But there was no crash. He regained control of his car, pulled up to a stop, and was pinched by a cop for reckless driving.

The Babsons? Oh, they weren't there at that precise spot and moment. Seems that the old man — conservative kind of fellow — stayed in line, drove five miles slower an hour than he normally would, and just wasn't where he was supposed to be killed. The family gave scant notice to the hotrod boy and the cop as the family car tooled by.

Death? He was sore as the devil when he woke up and found himself in a pleasant picnic grounds, surrounded by scores of disgustingly alive Americans.

GOVERNOR INVITED — Gov. G. Mennen Williams has received a special invitation to attend the 1956 national Girl Scout senior roundup scheduled for the Highland Recreation Area. Representing the nation's Girl Scouts in the invitation ceremony were (l-r) scout leader Mrs. A. H. Williams of Royal Oak, Linda Baumer of Lansing, and Barbara Wagner, of Lake Orion. The camp will open June 29, and a record turnout of more than 5,000 senior girl scouts and leaders expected to attend.

Dixon-Yates Power Bloc Ebbing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Elated opponents of the Dixon-Yates private power contract today claimed a major and possibly decisive victory in their yearlong battle to block the project.

Cause of their jubilation was an order issued by President Eisenhower last night. It calls for a new look to determine whether it would be in the interest of the people in the Tennessee Valley area "to continue or to cancel the Dixon-Yates contract," now that the city of Memphis has decided to build its own plant.

* * *

The President asked the Budget Bureau to confer "promptly" on the matter with the Atomic Energy Commission and the Tennessee Valley Authority. Budget Director Rowland R. Hughes said "a probable result" may be that the Dixon-Yates plant won't be needed. He promised a recommendation "in ample time" for consideration by the Senate when it takes up TVA appropriations, probably next week.

* * *

Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn), who has fought the Dixon-Yates project from the beginning, said the President's action indicated to him that "they are thinking very seriously about this and I think the contract will be canceled." Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) agreed with Kefauver.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Senate Democratic leader, said he hoped the President's order "is preliminary to cancellation."

* * *

In Memphis, Mayor Frank Tobey said the "President's action was one to be expected, as it is perfectly logical that there would be no need for the Dixon-Yates plant to serve the Memphis area if Memphis was building its own plant."

Mayor George Dempster of Knoxville said, "I think after all the information is in, they'll drop the whole thing." Dempster, who also is president of Citizens for TVA, Inc., said the contract "has not one single item of justification."

On the other hand, W. K. Ingram, president of the West Memphis, Ark., Chamber of Commerce, said the plant would be built because "we know it will cost the government 140 million dollars to cancel the contract." The contract calls for the government to repay the project's backers for their actual outlays in the event of cancellation.

Acting under a contract with the AEC, the Dixon-Yates utility group already has started work on the 107-million dollar plant at West Memphis, across the Mississippi River from Memphis. Present plans call for feeding energy from this plant into the TVA system to replace power diverted to government atomic plants.

Ingram said "every piece" of the plant is on order or being made and that "the government would have to pay these costs, plus the engineering already done and anticipated profits for the first three years of operation." But Hughes was quoted by the Memphis Commercial Appeal as saying the cancellation costs "won't be much."

Crowds at the Wayne Major Airport outside Detroit will see a variety of stunts and maneuvers by the group, participating in the Saturday-Sunday-Monday show with other services.

The average distance between wing-tips during the exhibition is four feet, as they twist through loops, and rolls, at 500 foot altitude.

Lt. Col. Vincent P. Gordon, Richard L. Hellwege, Capt. Bruce D. Jones and Lt. James F. Low comprise the team, with Capt. Kenneth L. Moll as narrator.

Gronchi Grants Grace Period

Christian Democrats Are Given Two Days More to Form New Cabinet

ROME (AP)—Christian Democrat Antonio Segni — granted two days of grace by President Giovanni Gronchi—continued his quest today for support as Italy's next premier.

Segni was to have reported last night after four days of political soundings whether he could form a cabinet. Instead he told Gronchi he still was unable to say definitely and the President gave him until Saturday.

* * *

Segni has encountered obstacles within his own party and the Liberal party. He needs the latter to give his prospective coalition government the marginal support necessary in Parliament. The Christian Democrats alone have only 262 seats of the 590 in the Chamber of Deputies.

His own party has pledged support of Segni, but its right-wing "concentration" which forced Premier Mario Scelba's resignation June 20 still objects to forming a coalition with minor parties of the center bloc.

* * *

The Rightists want to try a one-party, Christian Democrat government, while Segni believes only a coalition is practicable.

The Liberals are hesitant to join Segni's government because they consider his advocacy of expropriation of land from big owners too advanced.

The Social Democrats and Republicans have indicated they will go along with Segni as premier. They are the other two center parties slated for the coalition.

Arabian Refugees Waiting Patiently for Egyptian Army to 'Open' Israel

GAZA (AP)—Their sole occupation is waiting.

They are 214,000 Arab refugees waiting for the Egyptian army to carry out a promise to return them to land in what is now Israel.

They crowd the 5-by-25-mile Gaza Strip at the edge of Palestine, hemmed in by Israel but backing on the Egyptian-held Sinai Peninsula.

About 3,000 Egyptian soldiers wait tensely at guns pointed toward Israel. The regular residents of Gaza, some 80,000, hope for United Nations action to keep their countryside from becoming a battlefield.

* * *

What to do about the refugees is one of the knottiest problems confronting Egypt's strong man, Col. Gamal Abdel Nasser. The problem gets tougher as time goes on for the ragged refugee women have 500 babies a month.

U.N. relief officials in the strip hand out food amounting to 464 calories a day—about half the minimum needed to keep a man's body operating provided he does no work.

* * *

Trying to stand between the refugee and starvation, the United Nations hands out this ration for two weeks: just under 10 pounds of flour; 12 ounces each of sugar, dried beans and rice; 7 ounces of vegetable oil; a cake of brown soap. From time to time clothing contributed abroad is handed over; much of this finds its way into bazaars.

* * *

Many of the Gaza refugees were rich landowners until Israeli armies swept them off their holdings in 1948. Now women and children in tatters loll in cement-block huts in eight camps. Men, mostly wearing the Arab's white headdress, wander aimlessly or sip Turkish coffee in coffee houses.

* * *

Israel's radio sounds in the coffeehouses morning and evening. Maj. Mohammed Ali Badran, in charge of the strip's refugee affairs, observes: "If we forbid them to listen, they'll say it's because we're afraid to let them hear true reports.

"A lot of them are Communists. They've lost houses and lands. What's to prevent them becoming Communist?"

Draft Extension Bill Signed by President

WASHINGTON (AP)—Authority to draft young men 18½ to 26 for two years' active duty in the armed forces has been extended for four years.

President Eisenhower signed the extension into law last night a few hours before the old law expired at midnight.

The same act extends for two years the authority to draft doctors, dentists and veterinarians. The upper age limit was lowered from 51 years to 46.

Ain't What It Used to Be

Fireworks Makers View July Fourth With Gloom

NEW YORK (AP)—The small boy of today doesn't know what he's missing—though his father does.

For the Fourth of July ain't what it used to be. An American tradition—fireworks—is only a dim but fond memory in most of the country.

True, the big, spectacular display types of pyrotechnics still can be seen in some areas at fairs, picnics and civil celebrations.

That hardly matches the old-time boyhood thrill of touching a punk to the fuse of a five-inch salute—and then getting loose from it as fast as possible.

This year has seen a once huge industry attain its gloomiest—and quietest—level.

* * *

With Georgia joining the ever-growing ranks, 28 states now ban what the trade calls "commercial fireworks."

This is the retail variety, sold in corner stands, filling stations and all kinds of places to (as one industry source puts it) "kids from 6 to 60."

Use of the display types, under handling of experts, is permitted.

* * *

Fourteen other states have various restrictions, some of them permitting "county option" as to whether fireworks will be sold.

In only six states no restrictions have been imposed by the legislature. They are Nevada, Oklahoma, Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi and Missouri. Even in these, numerous communities have their own laws.

What has brought all this about?

Mainly the deaths and injuries in bygone years—years in which some manufacturers tried to outdo each other with bigger and noisier products.

Exact casualty figures are hard to come by, though no one denies they were large. Around the turn of the century the death toll was numbered in the hundreds annually, and injuries in thousands.

House Starts In on Reserve Bill

New Proposal Would Encourage Enlistments by Teenagers

By RUSSELL BRINES

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House got another shot at President Eisenhower's military reserve program today with opponents primed to battle on two main issues.

Leaders predicted the House would pass a measure designed to encourage a million teen-agers to volunteer, during the next four years, for a planned reserve force of 2,900,000 men.

This was the second attempt to get House approval of an administration-baced bill aimed at strengthening the nation's military reserves.

* * *

As the new bill was called up for debate, Rep. Powell (D-NY) said he would use every parliamentary device he could in a new attempt to write in a provision to bar racial segregation in the National Guard. Powell conceded he has lost support since he successfully attached a similar amendment to the original reserve bill last month.

* * *

The new reserve bil, revamped to minimize opposition, would authorize the Pentagon to accept up to 250,000 volunteers under 18½ years of age each year. These youths would serve 7½ years in the active reserves as a substitute for two years' draft duty. The secretary of defense would draw up regulations to cover such a special group. These regulations are expected to include a requirement that the youths take six months intensive training.

Revived Tigers Get Double Chance to Boost Status

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The Detroit Tigers got well in a hurry when they headed into the western half of their long road trip and tonight they hit the westernmost point in the majors with a double chance to extend their three game winning streak.

The Tigers face the Kansas City Athletics in a twi-night doubleheader after mopping up on the 2nd place White Sox at Chicago three days in succession.

Detroit's come-from-behind 4-3 triumph yesterday made it six out of seven for the Tigers and gave them an 8-7 record for their road trip which sends them into every city in the league and brings them back to Detroit July 6.

The game yesterday was one that the Tigers would have blown for sure earlier in the trip. They grabbed a quick 2-0 lead in the 1st inning, then saw the White Sox tie it up with Minnie Monoso's two-run homer in the 6th and go ahead by a run in the 7th.

In the East anytime the other team got ahead in the late innings the Tigers were dead. But not yesterday.

Bucky Harris' boys promptly came back with a pair in the 8th on Ray Boone's 8th home run with a man aboard.

Then Steve Gromek topped off a fine pitching performance by striking out Minoso with two men on in the last of the 9th. The strikeout was one of four for Gromek, who walked only one man and that was an intentional pass.

Victory was No. 8 for Gromek who has been beaten four times.

It was the 1st time this season that the Tigers had swept a series from the White Sox. And it was the 5th straight defeat for the Chicagoans.

Tigers also gained a game over 5th place Boston Red Sox in the hot battle for a 1st division berth. The Red Sox bowed to Washington 3-2 and trail the Tigers by 1½ games. Detroit is 2½ games behind the league land and 9½ behind the league leading New York Yankees.

While the Tigers and White Sox were playing the Yankees announced the signing of pitcher Ted Gray who figured in a Detroit-Chicago winter trade. Gray, who used to work for the Tigers, was traded to Chicago and then released this spring. He signed briefly with Cleveland but was let go after nine days. Yanks picked him up to replace young Bob Grim who went on the 30-day disabled list with a sore elbow.

Heavy Title Bout Expected for Sept. 19

Yankee Stadium Likely Site for Rocky's Defense Against Archie Moore

NEW YORK (AP) — The Rocky Marciano-Archie Moore heavyweight title match that is top gossip along Broadway and other main stems across the country probably will come off Monday night, Sept. 19 at New York's Yankee Stadium.

Chicago remain the the running for the big fight and Houston, Los Angeles and New Orleans, to a lesser extent, still hold slim hopes. But New York is expected to get the fight—figured now to do about three quarters of a million dollars at the gate.

The two leading principals at the moment—the managers—met yesterday with Jim Norris, president of the promoting International Boxing Club. Al Weill, Marciano's boss, took top billing and Charley Johnston, Moore's manager, came in second.

According to statements from all parties only a few rough edges remain to be smoothed out.

"They want me to guarantee them a rematch in case we win," said Johnston. "I think we can arrange to put up some kind of guarantee."

Weill discussed the match last night with his undefeated champ who was in town to make a dinner appearance. Rocky has said all along that "it's up to my manager." There seemed to be no reluctance on his part to meet Moore, or any other fighter for that matter.

As Norris stated the case yesterday, the main drawback before full-speed-ahead can be given is Weill, Norris said:

"My job is to get Al (Weill) to say okay."

Norris indicated his preference for "New York or Chicago" although it was learned that only New York was discussed at the conference.

Norris told reporters he had worked out a deal with Dan Topping, president of the Yankees, to use the ball yard in late September if the match is made for New York.

Golfer's Ace Gives Him Five on Short Hole!

MONTPELIER, Vt. (AP)—If you are a golfer, how would you like to score a hole-in-one yet have to be charged with five strokes?

It happened yesterday to Deputy State Auditor Joseph Sargent on a local course—the 173-yard ninth hole.

* * *

Sargent shot out of bounds from the tee and took a penalty stroke by driving again. Same thing happened.

By this time he had four strokes against him at which time he stroked a brassie shot into the cup.

'Everything Seemed to Jell'

Hogan's Clubs Helped Fleck Beat Ben; Champ Cites Improvement in Chipping

NEW YORK (AP)—Jack Fleck got two new wedges from Ben Hogan just before he tied the four-time champion for the National Open golf title and then beat him in a dramatic 18-hole playoff.

"I didn't get them from Ben direct," the 32-year-old Davenport, Iowa, professional explained. "I ordered them from Ben's factory and they came just before the tournament."

Fleck, who played with Hogan-made clubs, credited the new implements with helping him to his Cinderella victory at the Olympic Club in San Francisco—one of the most surprising golf upsets in years.

* * *

"The main weakness of my game always had been my short game and my putting," he said, "but at San Francisco, particularly the last two days, everything seemed to jell perfectly.

"I was pitching and chipping beyond all expectations, and as for putting—I'd never putted like that before and I may never putt like it again."

Repeatedly, Fleck said, when he missed the green and found himself in what the golfers termed Olympic's "cabbage patch," he always recovered with a good blast or chip.

* * *

On a course on which Hogan never once broke par and on which the nation's finest golfers were placing double bogies by the dozen, Fleck shot three of the last four rounds in less than par.

He had rounds of 76-69-75-67 for a 287 over the par 70 course to tie Hogan and then he fired a 69 to Hogan's 72 in the playoff.

One of the Iowan's most dramatic shots was his approach to the 72nd green on the final round.

* * *

Needing a birdie 3 to tie Hogan who had finished an hour earlier, a conceded winner, Fleck hooked his tee shot into the rough —almost the same area where Hogan needed three strokes to get out during the 18-hole playoff.

Fleck took a six-iron and, while the crowd stood tense, nailed the ball seven feet from the pin. Nobody doubted then he would sink the putt and get his tie.

Recommended Changes in Hunting Regulations Listed

LANSING (AP) — The state conservation department has recommended several changes in hunting regulations for the approaching small game seasons.

The recommendations, which will be submitted to the conservation commission at its meeting next week, give a concise picture of the small game situation in Michigan now.

Here is a breakdown of recommendations requiring commission approval:

Pheasants — season to remain the same, except no closed season in Emmet county. The kill in 1954 was estimated at 1,115,000, compared with 453,000 in 1947. Survival during the winter has been high.

Ruffed grouse — same dates, except there will be no closed season on Bois Blanc island. The division recommended a reduction in the bag limits to 3 a day, 6 in possession and 15 a season. The limits are now 5 a day, 10 in possession and 25 a season.

Prairie chicken and sharp-tailed grouse — same dates, with no open season in part of Chippewa county and no open season in the Lower peninsula. Hunters could shoot in the upper peninsula from Oct. 1 to Nov. 1.

The department recommended a reduction in bag limits to 3 a day, 6 in possession and 15 for the season, conforming with the recommendations for ruffed grouse. Prairie chicken and sharptailed limits are now 5 a day, 10 in possession and 25 a season.

Cottontail rabbit and snowshoe hare — no change in dates, now Oct. 1 to March 1 in the Upper Peninsula and northern part of the Lower and Oct. 20 to Jan. 31 in southern part of the Lower Peninsula.

Some hunting regulations are set by the department without commission approval. The department agreed to leave hunting regulations on fox and gray squirrels and foxes unchanged.

Lindsay Shows Movies, Gives Talk at OCCH

Ted Lindsay of the Detroit Red Wings was the guest of honor Thursday night at a program in the Oakland County Children's Home. The fiery captain of the National Hockey League champions presented motion pictures of the 1955 Stanley Cup playoffs, both the semi-finals with Toronto and the finals with Montreal.

Following the movies a question-and-answer session was held, after which Lindsay spoke briefly concerning conditioning in professional ice hockey and the value of sportsmanship.

Pitching Jobs Feature Play in Softball Loop

Two Shutouts Recorded as Shaw's, Louie's Win City Contests

Pitchers had their flings in men's city league softball games Thursday night at Beaudette and North Side parks. Four well-pitched contests were on the menu, two of them shutouts by identical scores.

Veteran hurlers Alex Morris and Clell (Mutt) Morse combined their efforts to ration a single hit to Riteway as Shaw's Jewelers posted a 3-0 win. Don Moorhead singled in the 1st inning off Morris for Riteway's only hit.

Morris worked the 1st two innings before turning over the mound duties to Morse. Cal Atwood hurled creditably for Riteway, allowing only three hits. But Shaw's mixed them successfully with walks and errors to score all that was necessary.

Claude Trimm twirled a three-hitter as Louie's Tavern blanked Franklin Products, 3-0. Louie's utilized an error, stolen base and single in the 1st inning to score the only run it needed. Cal Bidwell gave up five hits during his mound stint for Franklin.

Stadium Inn seored a 3-2 win over the Elks, behind the one-hit pitching of Verle Sheldon. At one time the losers held a 2-1 advantage, but four timely hits in the 4th and 5th stanzas gave Stadium Inn its winning margin. Marvin Holler garnered the only safety off Sheldon, a single with one out in the final inning.

General Motors pounded out a dozen hits to easily defeat the Knights of Columbus, 7-1, as Lynus Grant hurled a four-hit game. GMC scored in each of the 1st two innings and then just coasted along behind Grant's steady pitching. E. G. Mann clouted a home run for the Coachers in the 6th frame.

Rosburg Still Leader as Clark Oversleeps

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP)—Gripping his clubs like a baseball player, Bob Rosburg of San Francisco set out today hoping to keep his neat hitting average intact for the third round of the 72-hole B.C. Open golf championship here.

* * *

Rosburg's average — 65-67—132 —leaves him 12 strokes under par and three ahead of the field at the halfway mark over the par 72 Shaughnessy course.

The field includes 69 picked professionals with 150 or better and 10 amateurs.

His unorthodox baseball grip and hot putter were the talk of the galleries on a course where putters have been cursed.

The only major change following yesterday's round was in second place and that was because Laguna Beach, Calif., entrant Jimmy Clark slept in. Officials disqualified him when he explained why he didn't tee off with Rosburg and Julius Boros of Mid Pines, N.C. Clark had a sharp 66, 6-below par, the first day.

* * *

A comparative unknown from Bedford Heights, Ohio, took over from Clark. Dow Finsterwald, an up and coming youngster, fashioned a 68 to go with his earlier 67 for 135.

Bulky Mike Souchak of Durham, N.C., couldn't find the putts to please the gallery of 500. He was lining up birdies most of the way but snared only four. The 68 was still good enough to take third spot alone with 136.

Sam Snead a man with a troubled putter, turned in the second day's low round of 66—but he still wasn't as happy as he might be with his 137 total.

Oakland Lakes Get Plantings of Walleyes

Young walleyed pike have been planted in three Oakland County lakes since May as part of a long-range program by the state conservation department. Little muskies, also part of the plan, as yet have not gone on their own in this area.

Fingerling walleyes were planted in Loon Lake last week, according to Harold L. Hughes, superintendent of the Drayton Plains fish hatchery. Fry-stage walleyes were planted in Oakland and White lakes during the month of May, Hughes said.

Planted walleyes are about two inches long, the conservation department reported. The muskies, scheduled for planting within the next two years, will range from two to five inches. Plantings will take place in selected lakes throughout the state.

A shortage of fish food has made the plantings necessary before the young fish were at peak size for planting, the department said.

DRC 'Climax Week' Set for July 2-9

DETROIT — More than 100,000 spectators are expected to visit the Detroit Race Course during the "climax week" of Michigan thoroughbred racing, between July 2 and July 9.

In a span of seven days will be packed the Independence Day holiday and two traditional stakes races: The $10,000-added Governor's Handicap on July 4 and the $50,000-added Michigan Mile on July 9.

The Michigan Mile is the richest race and the highest point of the Michigan thoroughbred season. This year it has attracted nominations from 66 of the naiton's finest handicap horses.

Jets Lace Elks, 8-1, in Class A City Baseball

Colle Hunt Pacesetter for Victors; Williams Twirls 3-Hitter

L. C. Anderson Jets racked up an easy 8-1 victory over the cellar-dwelling Elks team in a Class A city league baseball game Thursday night at Wisner Field.

Jets garnered nine solid hits, five of them for extra bases. Colle Hunt, who had a perfect night at the plate with three for three, slashed a triple and double. Eugene Cox and Bill Johnson each hit triples and Roy Beasly had a two-bagger.

Winners never left the issue in doubt, collecting six runs before the Elks tallied their lone run in the 3rd. A hit batsman, infield error and Ray Newton's single scored the counter off Jim Williams, who hurled for Anderson's and doled out a stingy three safeties.

A triple, double and two singles handed the Jets four runs in the 1st inning, then two more crossed the dish in the 3rd on Beasly's double, Hunt's triple and a wild pitch. Two singles and a three-base knock added two more needless runs in the 6th.

Williams struck out six and walked three in going the distance for the Jets. Jo.. Keel was the victim of Anderson's early fireworks and retired in favor of John Jackson in the 3rd stanza.

Yankees Get Gray to Replace Grim

NEW YORK (INS) — The New York Yankees placed 1954 rookie of the year Bob Grim on the 30-day disabled list last night and signed 30-year-old lefthander Ted Gray, who formerly pitched for Detroit, the Chicago White Sox and Cleveland.

Grim, a 20-game winner last year, has been bothered by a sore elbow and has a 4-2 mark this season. He worked two innings against the New York Giants in an exhibition game Monday night but soreness returned to his elbow the next day.

Hasty House Pair Heads Busher Field

CHICAGO (AP)—A field of 10, headed by the Hasty House Farm pair of Alspal and Queen Hopeful, was expected to go today in the $10,000 Busher Handicap for fillies and mares at Arlington Park.

The Busher, a 5½ furlong sprint, is named in honor of one of the greatest racing mares of all times. As a 3-year-old Busher won both the Arlington and Washington Park Handicaps in Chicago.

The race for 1st place in the Waterford Softball League was closer than ever today following the defeat of Drayton Drug Thursday night by Waterford Lions Club.

"Fat" Keith and the Lions blanked Drug, 3-0, after Sylvan Center had vacated the loop's basement by whipping Richardson Dairy, 8-5.

Keith limited the league-leading Druggists to 3 hits and struck out 7 in recording another victory. One run was scored in the 1st on Jim Long's single, an error, and another bobble after Marshall Rose's single.

A walk to Long, Rose's triple and an error brought in 2 more tallies in the 5th.

Sylvan knocked Richardsons into the cellar despite the presence of the Dairy mound ace, Bruce Dryer. Sylvan touched him for 8 hits, including a 3-run homer by Wayne O'Shaughnessy in the 4th.

Richardson's pulled within a run in the 6th, but Sylvan came back with 2 in its half on Nick Leibler's double, a fielder's choice and Martin Felt's single.

A game between the 16th (Downriver) district and the Detroit districts follows. Tickets are being disbributed through Wrigley Markets.

Yank Challengers Face Critical Stage

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The next 10 days—from now until the All-Star Game break—may decide the American League pennant race. And it looks as if the best thing the four challengers to the New York Yankees can do is pray for rain.

* * *

If the Yanks, ahead by 5½ games, don't come out smelling like roses, one of the four contenders, at least, figures to wind up a bit groggy. The pressure is on Chicago, Cleveland, Detroit and Boston.

* * *

The schedule tells the story. New York plays 10 games in the 10 days, with two days off. Eight of the games are with Washington and Baltimore, the seventh and eighth-place clubs the Yanks have beaten 17 out of 21 times thus far.

Boston is the only toughie immediately ahead for the Yanks. The Red Sox, whose five-game winning streak was cut by Washington 3-2 yesterday, have lost six of eight to New York but are much stronger now. And Ted Williams probably will be back in service for the Fourth of July double-header at Yankee Stadium.

Second-place Chicago, dropping its fifth straight yesterday to Detroit 3-2, plays 11 games in the 10 days, with only one day of rest. Seven are with third-place Cleveland, just 1½ games behind the White Sox.

* * *

After a three-game set with the Indians that opens tonight, Chicago splits its other four games between sixth-place Kansas City and persistent Detroit.

In addition to the seven games with Chicago, the Tribe has three scheduled with Kansas City and two with Detroit.

The Tigers play eight of their next 12 games against the A's, whom they've beaten in five of eight meetings. The Red Sox have 11 games on tap—the two at New York and nine against Washington and Baltimore.

* * *

Washington's Spec Shea fanned Norb Zauchin with the bases loaded in the ninth. Ted Abernathy gained his first major league victory for the Nats, although giving way to Camilo Pascual and Shea when Boston scored once in the ninth.

* * *

In the National, first-place Brooklyn came from behind three times to beat the New York Giants 6-5 in 11 innings on George Shuba's pinch single. Milwaukee copped second place from Chicago as the Braves scored four unearned runs in the eighth to beat the Cubs 7-4.

Willie Mays hammered home runs No. 20 with a mate on for a 5-3 New York lead in the 10th, but the Dodgers came back to tie with Duke Snider's triple and Jackie Robinson's sacrifice bunt scoring the runs. Ed Roebuck won it in relief of Don Newcombe. Ray Monzant lost it, becoming the sixth Giant pitcher after Manager Leo Durocher sent five pitchers in to face five Brooklyn batters in the 10th and 11th.

* * *

Randy Jackson's error opened the gates for the Braves, who had a two-run blast by Joe Adcock in the big inning. Ray Crone won in relief, with Hal Jeffcoat the loser.

Detroiters Get Limit of Smallmouth Bass

Harry Crutcher and Aaron Hargreaves took their limit of smallmouth bass in Union Lake recently after switching from nightcrawlers to crayfish. The Detroit anglers were having no luck with the worms. Three of the bass were three-pounders, landed in bout 10 feet of water.

John Bolton, another Detroit, caught a six-pound, 21-inch largemouth in Pine Lake near Kronk's boat livery. Bolton used a black jitterbug.

Linscott, Andrews Collide in Wisner Stadium August 4th

By JACK SAYLOR

A golden opportunity in the professional ring career of Pontiac's Gene Linscott lies just ahead.

A bout is in the offing that will send the 23-year-old Pontiac middleweight against Al Andrews in a bout at Wisner Stadium and a good showing could vault the Pontiac fighter into national prominence.

The return of boxing to Pontiac is set for the Oakland Avenue stadium on Tuesday, Aug. 4.

But before the shot at Andrews, Linscott has a date with Guido Picconi of Canton, O., July 12, at the Motor City Arena. This 8-rounder will be the weekly television scrap from the Detroit arena.

The bout with Picconi is by no means a setup. The Ohioan has won 30 of 38 fights. Numbered among his opponents is Yama Bahama.

The Linscott-Andrews setto should have an important bearing on the Michigan middleweight title. Andrews currently is listed as the state's top 160-pounder, while Linscott is listed 3rd behind Moses Ward.

But ore important are the overtones of national ranking. Andrews came out of Superior, Wis., and began campaigning for promoter Julius Piazza at the Motor City. He piled up an impressive record in 1952 and '53, then 2 straight decisions over Chuck Davey gave him a springboard to several money-making national TV shots.

He once was rated as high as 6th on the national listings, but is unranked at the moment. Along with the 2 wins over Davey, Andrews spanked Pat Lowry, the Toledo ex-Marine, 3 times before hitting the national circuit last year.

Andrews beat Joey Klein, but lost a 12-rounder to Ted Olla in Milwaukee for the Wisconsin middleweight crown. He lost to Gustav Scholz, currently the world's 5th ranked 160-pounder, beat Sammy Mastrean, and after fighting a 10-round draw with Joe Miceli, dropped a 10-round nod to Carmen Basilio in Syracuse.

Basilio, of course, is the current world welterweight champion. Andrews again was a loser last August to Gil Turner, but bounced back with a sensational 3-round knockout of Turner.

He handled Chico Varona before bowing in 10 rounds to highly-regarded Vince Martinez. Of his 9 defeats (in 44 bouts), Andrews reversed the decisions against 2 of his conquerors, Turner and Pat Manzi.

* * *

Meanwhile, Linscott has been progressing swiftly and steadily towards this chance. The Pontiac boy turned pro in 1949, and ran up 8 wins before losing to state welter king Allie Gronik.

Military service followed, then Linscott decided to make a comeback this year under the co-managership of Don Frayer and Chuck Richards.

He made his 1st comeback bout on Feb. 15 and has rung up 5 straight wins, the most important being a unanimous decision over Jimmy Perrault of Duluth, Minn. on May 17.

Linscott capped a brilliant amateur career in 1948 by winning the national AAU welterweight championship, after taking local and state Golden Gloves honors. One of Gene's victims was the currently popular Gene (Cyclone) Fullmer.

Fullmer lost only 3 bouts in his amateur career and Linscott administered the only knockout he incurred. The Pontiac southpaw lost only 7 amateur bouts, the last being a close decision to Davey in the final bout for both as "simon pures."

Manager Frayer reports that Harold Duggan, who was Gene's trainer and manager when he 1st turned prop, will become "corner man" for Linscott. He started Gene on his boxing career some 8 years ago and currently is recreation director at the Oakland County Children's Home.

A fine card is being arranged for the big outdoor show at Wisner, featuring among others, 2 other city professionals, Grady Johnson and Buddy Harris.

Pontiac Press Photo

BIG CHANCE—The door may be open for Pontiac middleweight Gene Linscott to return as a professional boxer to the national prominence he enjoyed several years ago as an amateur. Moving along nicely in a comeback campaign, Linscott is slated to meet the well-regarded Al Andrews in an outdoor bout at Wisner Stadium, Aug. 4, following another television spot, July 12, against Guido Picconi at Motor City Arena.

Writer Berates Oriole 9 as Worst Team in Years

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP) — The biggest mistake Paul Richards made when he took over the Baltimore Orioles was his failure to insist that his new employers also hire Frank Lane, the shrewd bargainer who had provided him with ballplayers in the previous four seasons while he was building a reputation as a master tactician with the Chicago White Sox.

We are not doubting Paul still knows as much as any man living about directing a club on the field. We hear even rival managers are reading his new book, "Inside Baseball," and grunting now and then in agreement with its contents. All we say is the man from Waxahachie should never have taken off that uniform, even at night.

We have said something of the kind before, and it isn't as though we haven't been given lumps by Oriole fans for saying it. They varied from highly indignant to merely hurt that Richards wasn't being given a fair chance to prove his genius as a trader. At least, the latter have been urging, give the man time. One wrote: "At least they're hustling for him."

* * *

Well, the Orioles have just left this town after being plucked clean in a four-game set with the Yankees. During the visit Richards' collection of over-age has-beens, minor league stars and bonus boys (five of them) impressed metropolitan observers as the very worst ball club seen in the big leagues since the war years.

Michigan State's defensive line coach, Lou Agase, played with Illinois' Big Ten champions in 1946 and was a Rose Bowl starter in the 45-14 win over UCLA, Jan. 1, 1947.

Constant Attack Is Win Formula for Ranger Team

Attack! Attack! Always Attack! That formula has made the Ivory Rangers one of the most successful and colorful polo teams in the country. The Big Red team's popularity as well as its impressive percentage of victories is based solidly on the club's readiness to rely on an over-powering offensive and let the defense take care of itself.

In the past 3 years, the Rangers have averaged almost 10 goals per game, a pace which few clubs have ever approached. Over the same span, the Rangers have yielded better than five goals per game. Other teams have better defensive marks, but few have such a margin between attack and defense in their favor.

Capt. Jack Ivory, the broad-shouldered Ranger leader, has set the pace with one of the fanciest displays of sharpshooting seen on any polo field in any campaign. In the last 3 seasons he has averaged exactly 100 goals per season.

His average of 3.8 goals per game explains why he is regarded as one of the game's foremost pointmakers. But even that figure doesn't show his real value to a team. He has passed for almost as many goals as he has scored.

The Rangers are up to their old tricks in their early games this season. In their first two starts they knocked in 29 goals against 15. Ivory continued his goal production with nine goals in the two contests. The scoring leader for the first two games, however, is Jack Stefani with 11 markers.

The Rangers will present their crowd-pleasing style of polo in game on the grass field each Sunday afternoon at the Ivory Polo Club, Lahser and Eight Mile roads. They will also take part in the indoor polo doubleheaders each Wednesday night at the club.

Crocker in Early Lead

WICHITA, Kan.—(AP) Fay Crocker breezed to a two-stroke lead in the opening round of the Women's National Open golf tournament yesterday—but she failed to better par.

The wind proved a severe handicap to the field.

Miss Crocker, a consistent player in tournament competition this year, turned in a 37-37—74, two strokes over par. But her opening effort indicated she was dead serious about winning first money in the $7,500 meet. She is from Montevideo, Uruguay.

* * *

A couple of strokes behind Miss Crocker was Jacqueline Yates, a Redlands (Calif.) College sophomore from Honolulu. She played the windy Wichita Country Club course in 38-38—76.

Another solid candidate for top money, Mary Lena Faulk of Thomasville, Ga., shot a first round 77. She was a stroke ahead of Patty Berg, the friendly pro from St. Andrews, Ill. Patty complained she "was dead tired" after winning her sixth Western Women's Open last week and "well spanked" by the winds here.

* * *

Louise Suggs, Sea Island, Ga., the leading money winner through 16 tournament this year, started the second round with a 79, same score posted by Gloria Armstrong of Oakland, Calif., and the colorful Mrs. Jackie Pung of Honolulu.

* * *

Most of the players found the opening going an almost impossible task. Miss Berg said it was the roughest winds he had faced in almost 23 years of tournament golf.

* * *

Informed the Southerly winds hit gusts up to 50 miles per hour Miss Suggs commented:

* * *

"I would have bet they reached 75 miles at times. I played in rain and winds up to 75 miles an hour in the 1948 British Amateur. I remember one that was just about as rough in Chicago in 1953. This one can't be any worse than third."

The tournament ends Saturday.

Moves Under Way to Pay Honor to Agganis Memory

LYNN, Mass (INS)—The widowed mother of Harry Agganis has moved to perpetuate the memory of the famed Boston University and Red Sox athlete, who died Monday following a long bout with pneumonia.

Mrs. Georgia Agganis, mother of the 26-year-old Red Sox 1st baseman, asked that a scholarship be established in his honor at Lynn Classical High School, where he first gained athletic fame. She asked that those desiring to send flowers as an expression of homage to her son, instead donate the money to the scholarship fund.

The grieving mother was not alone in her son's name. A move was underway to name a new gymnasium in the rear of St. George's Greek Orthodox Church, where the body of Agganis lay in state, in his honor, and city councilor William J. Curley said he would seek to have Federal Square, near the Agganis home, named in Harry's honor.

One of the most moving tributes to Agganis came from Archbishop Richard J. Cushing in an appearance at the mayor's annual field day for charity at Fenway Park, home of the Red Sox, in Boston. The archbishop said:

"He was an inspiration to all young people. He is no more an athlete to grace this park. Harry Agganis is dead.

"He has been in many contests and won many victories ... who will say he did not win the greatest battle of all?

"A character such as Harry Agganis never died. Death did not gain victory; for him, death had no sting. For him, life has been changed, it has not been taken away."

Fishing Outlook Reported Good During Holiday

LANSING (AP) — Fishing conditions in most Michigan waters will be good this weekend, the state conservation department said today.

Trout streams are clear and normal with good catches reported in all areas, the department said. Fishfly hatches on the Au Sable, lower Pere Marquette and Little Manistee Rivers are good, and fair fly hatches were reported on other streams.

Fishermen reported best luck using smaller flies in evening fishing on the Pere Marquette and Little Manistee Rivers.

The department reported good bass fishing on the south end of Lake Leelanau in Leelanau county, Hodenpyle backwaters in Manistee county, Lake Missaukee in Missaukee county, Pearl Lake in Benzie county, Fletcher Floodwaters in Alpena and Montmorency counties, in the Pinconning bayous and in the marshes along the shores of Saginaw Bay.

Good perch fishing was reported along the Lake Huron shore in Alcona county and off piers at Frankfort, Manistee, Ludington, Pentwater and Muskegon.

Bridge Jumpers Lose

BELMONT, N. Y. (AP) — When Nashua won the Belmont Stakes by nine lengths a number of bettors sought to beat the 3 to 20 favorite. A total of $82,039 was wagered against Nashua.

The total bet on the race was $328,336. Bridge jumpers is the racetrack term used for those who wager against a prohibitive favorite.

NBA Puts Okeh on Return Bout

Ring Body Approves Another Chance for Ex-Champ Carter

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — The National Boxing Assn. has decided to approve a return bout between newly-crowned champion Wallace (Bud) Smith and Jimmy Carter for the lightweight title.

Smith won the championship on a split decision at Boston Garden Wednesday night.

NBA President Tony Petronella said yesterday the NBA would sanction the return match even though the NBA frowns on return bout clauses in contracts.

Saratoga Opposes Nashua in Dwyer

NEW YORK (AP)—Saratoga was named to oppose Nashua Saturday in the $50,000-added Dwyer Stakes at Aqueduct, and the decision assures the racing customers and TV audience some action judging by past performances.

The black colt from Virginia, who has definite ideas of his own, might press Nashua to a track record. Or, he might hop over the fence and gallop down Rockaway Boulevard.

Race will be on TV (ABC) and radio (ABC) at 3:15 to 3:30 p.m.

High Voltage, Parlo Choices in Delaware

STANTON, Del. (AP)—A field of 20 is expected for Saturday's running of the $150,000 Delaware Handicap, the world's richest race for fillies and mares, with sophomore High Voltage and four-year-old Parlo the early favorites.

The Delaware Handicap is the last of Delaware Park's distaff big three—the Handicap, the Delaware Oaks and the New Castle Stakes, which are run on successive Saturday's.

The Delaware Handicap, at a mile and a quarter, replaces the New Castle Handicap which last year had a value of $100,000.

Hardtoppers Meet

Trabert Wins Wimbledon in Straight Sets

WIMBLEDON, England (UP)—Top-seeded Tony Trabert of Cincinnati, O., achieved the first major goal on his 1955 tennis program today when he won the men's singles title at the Wimbledon championships with a 6-3, 7-5, 6-1 victory over Denmark's Kurt Nielsen.

Trabert becomes the seventh U.S. player to capture the symbol of world amateur tennis supremacy in 10 renewals since World War II.

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Tony Trabert and Kurt Nielsen, two blast-away players of great power, bombard each other on Wimbledon's center court today for the men's singles title in the all-England tennis championships.

Either Trabert, the awesome American, or Nielsen, the dangerous Dane, will walk off the court recognized as the unofficial but undoubted world's amateur champion.

For both men this is their biggest day in tennis. For the spectators the battle promises booming services, stinging volleys and tactics calling for attack and more attack.

This should not be a contrast in styles. Both believe in pounding the ball hard and taking charge at the net as soon as possible. In a duel like that the man who cracks first usually loses the whole thing.

Trabert, the pride of Cincinnati and of American amateur tennis, is fit, relaxed and confident. So is Nielsen, a Copenhagen sporting goods importer. Nielsen went to a Mayfair restaurant and had a fancy meal and a glass of wine last night. Trabert read a novel.

Both are 24. They have met three times previously and Trabert has won each time. Those matches were on hard courts. Today's play will be on grass—or what little of it there is left on the worn center court.

Top seeded Trabert is the favorite. But Nielsen has become a miracle man of tennis. This is the second time in three years that he has fought his way through to the finals as an unseeded player. In 1953 he lost the big match to Vic Seixas, Philadelphia.

Trabert has not lost a set on his way to the finals. And he took out two international stars—fellow American Budge Patty and 1954 champion Jaroslav Drobny—to get there.

Nielsen has had some close calls—the closest being the five set win he had against Nicola Pietrangeli, of Italy, in the quarter finals. Nielsen's defeat of Australian star Ken Rosewall in the semi-finals was one of the big upsets of the tournament.

The all-American grip on the women's singles title became an all-California stranglehold yesterday.

The only non-Californian in the last four — Doris Hart of Coral Gables, Fla.—was upset by petite Mrs. Beverly Baker Fleitz 6-3, 6-0. Mrs. Fleitz shifts her racquet from hand to hand and laces into the ball with the power of someone twice her size.

She will meet Louise Brough of Beverly Hills in Saturday's women's final.

The men's doubles title match Saturday will be between two Australian teams with Rosewall and Neale Fraser meeting Lew Hoad and Rex Hartwig.

Casting Exhibition for Angling Devotees

A free demonstration of casting using many types of fishing lures will be offered area fans Friday night at the Sylvan Hardware, Sylvan Shopping center, Middlebelt and Orchard Lake roads.

Donald Hamm, widely known sports goods representative, will give the demonstration. A question-answer period will follow. Program will run from 6:30 to 9 p.m.

Jones Hurls Griffs to 2nd Win With 4-Hit Shutout

CLASS D
Mets 2, Dublin 1.
Griff's Grill 5, Rosebud Mkt. 0.
CLASS E
Lunsford Market 17, Cass Ponts 2.

Griff's Grill won its 2nd straight Class D City League game Thursday, while the Mets in D and Lunsford Market in Class E also were victorious in the only other games played.

All morning games in Knothole and Class F loops were rained out.

Jim Jones hurled a 4-hit shutout as Griff's beat Rosebud Market, 5-0. He struck out 11 and walked only 1.

The Grillmen got only 5 hits off Dave Smith. A double and single by Bud and Al Hayward in the 1st brought home a run, and 2 more were added in the 3rd on a walk, Jerry Vallad's single, an error and Bob Smith's single.

The other Class D contest was a tight pitcher's battle between Mets' Ron Sandage and Jim Swain of Dublin Community Center. Dublin took a 1-0 lead in the 2nd on Mel Bowick's double and a single by Swain, but Mets tallied twice in the 7th on Gary Thomas' single, Herb Butler's double and Sandage's single.

Lunsford's pecked away at Cass Ponts for 2 runs in the 3rd and 4th innings, and 4 in the 5th, but the game became a runaway when the Market nine clubbed out 9 runs in the 6th frame.

Sam Snead's Golf Clinic

Position the left foot an inch or two farther back from the direction line than the right with a wood club. And angle the left foot slightly toward the green. This permits a full, rounded finish. Now notice the diagonal line through the shoulder.

The left shoulder is rising, as it should, getting out of the way so the right shoulder can pivot down and under the chin.

The left hip, too, has pivoted back out of the way of the arms and hands, to permit a full follow-through. Most of the weight is now on the left leg, but the right toe still has a firm grip on the ground for balance. At the point pictured, all the forces contributing to a smooth, rhythmic, swing have now reached maximum. The club has reached its greatest speed just at impact.

Hollywood Headlines

Only One Studio Trains Young Folks for Stardom

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The star talent situation has reached the critical stage in Hollywood.

* * *

Does that sound drastic? Not if you talk to some producers and theater men. They will tell you that the number of stars who really mean something at the box office has dwindled to a dozen or two. Notable among these are John Wayne, Gary Cooper, James Stewart, Alan Ladd, Bing Crosby, Clark Gable, Humphrey Bogart and a few others.

You'll note that most of these stars are middle-aged. A few younger players have joined that stellar position — Marlon Brando, Marilyn Monroe, Martin and Lewis and possibly a handful of others.

* * *

A major reason for the decline is the breakdown of new talent programs at the major studios.

Only one lot still maintains an extensive training for future stars. That is Universal-International. The studio is even expanding its activities under the direction of Jess Kimmel, veteran of TV and stage associate of Jose Ferrer.

The U-I training, which has helped produce such names as Tony Curtis, Rock Hudson and Jeff Chandler, has become so well known that outsiders have tried to pay for the program. The studio has declined, limiting the curricula to its own young players.

Where do they come from? Many from little theaters around Hollywood, some from television, some merely come to the studio themselves. The majority are brought by agents, and that's how the studio prefers to deal.

* * *

The young hopefuls get some basic training in the classics. They learn body movement by dancing, get horseback riding lessons and some fencing, although Kimmel feels that it tends to create an attitude of posing.

"I've found that boxing lessons are excellent for actors," he added. "When they get in the ring, they lose their inhibitions and become aggressive."

A large part of the training is the day-in, day-out reading of parts. Kimmel believes in having the players study separately. Then they'll play the scenes over and over again with different students. Annually they produce their own show, "Inside U-I."

Some flunk out, others may start the perilous path to stardom.

Subversive List Guards Urged

Senate Group Wants U.S. to Prevent Unfair Use of Data

WASHINGTON (AP)—Government action to give individuals greater protection against being unfairly linked to subversive organizations is recommended by the Senate internal security subcommittee.

One proposal suggests that the attorney general publish information intended to put his list of subversive organizations in its "proper perspective."

Another recommends that applicants for federal jobs or jobs with government contractors be given a chance to explain any derogatory information about them.

The nine-member subcommittee, headed by Sen. Eastland (D-Miss), said in a report yesterday that the attorney general's list of subversive organizations is "widely misunderstood and misapplied."

* * *

"Membership or affiliation in one or more of the organizations on the attorney general's list is only one factor to be considered in the evaluation of a security case," the subcommittee said.

It urged that the attorney general publish a supplementary handbook giving additional information about organizations cited as subversive, saying this would be helpful in putting the list "in its proper perspective and in facilitating its proper use by security officers."

The subcommittee also recommended legislation to set up machinery under the Subversive Activities Control Board (SACB) to afford a hearing to persons rejected for federal employment or jobs with government contractors because of unevaluated derogatory information.

* * *

This proposal, the subcommittee said, is not intended to supersede or substitute for the security clearance required by any government agency but rather to give a job applicant "a place where he can explain derogatory information of a security nature."

Wilson Refuses to Reveal Data

Senator's Air-Power Questions Said Not Answerable in Public

WASHINGTON (INS) — Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson refused yesterday to answer publicly a series of questions on Russian airpower submitted by Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash).

Jackson demanded to know whether it is true that the Soviets have equalled the U. S. in quantity production of intercontinental atomic bombers, whether Soviet jet engines are more powerful than those of the U. S., and whether there is other evidence that Russia will dominate the skies by 1960.

Wilson said in reply: "These questions are such that I do not feel they should be answered categorically except to an appropriate committee of Congress in closed session."

The defense secretary said answers to the questions would "involve information or would have to be based upon information of the highest security classification."

Jackson said he was "sorely troubled by the massive and growing evidence of the extraordinarily rapid progress the Soviet Union is making in the field of airpower."

The senator said America's greatest weapons, technical supremacy, appear to be withering away, and that "military disaster could well result."

Wilson said he is "well aware of the problems," and added: "I assure you that appropriate and effective actions have been taken from time to time as the world situation changed or as additional information became available.

"May I again assure you that the questions you raised are taken into account in our planning to maintain a sound military program for the defense of the nation."

Jackson's questions stemmed from disclosure that the Soviets were able to fly squadrons of heavy jet bombers over Moscow last May. America has produced a small number of similar sky giants, but does not yet have them in combat squadrons.

The "Hundred Days" in French history was the term of Napoleon's second reign as emperor, climaxed by the battle of Waterloo.

Vickers, Inc., Drops Its Lawsuit Against Troy Township

Anglo-American School Term Ends in Moscow

MOSCOW (AP)—Children from 12 countries attended the Anglo-American School in Moscow this year. It has just closed its term.

The school attracts the children of most of Moscow's foreign colony. Represented this year were the United States, Britain, Israel, Yugoslavia, Pakistan, Thailand, Italy, Finland, Turkey, Afghanistan, Sweden and Indonesia.

All instruction is in English. Many pupils arrive not speaking a word of it, but by June they are generally proudest of their ability to speak English.

A typical comment in the school yearbook is written by Sinad Srinaganand, son of an attache at that land's embassy. Writing a biographical sketch of a Finnish diplomat's son, he says:

"His name is Jukka Hallama and he plays with me every day except when he is sick sometimes. He is from Finland and I am a Thailander. I understand what he says and he understands me because we speak English now. At recess we swing together. Finish."

Fireworks to Climax Milford Observance

MILFORD — A display of fireworks will highlight the celebration Sunday atthe Highland School grounds on Milford road.

Two teams of the Babe Ruth League are scheduled to play, and rides on the firetrucks will be offered to the children present.

Other attractions will be clowns, penny scrambles and games. Also planned is a concert by the Milford High School and junior high bands at 6 p.m.

The outing is sponsored by the Highland Fire Department and merchants of Milford.

Michigan Birth Rate Seen Growing in 1955

LANSING (AP) — Michigan again appears headed for a record number of births in 1955, the State Health Department said.

Dr. F. S. Leeder, director of disease control, said 73,082 births were reported in the first five months of the year, 500 more than in the same period last year.

Dr. Leeder noted also that the number of deaths has risen, from 14,951 to 15,690 in the same period.

Last year's 10 leading causes of death still maintain their pace, Dr. Leeder said. These are heart disease, cancer, vascular lesions, accidents, diabetes, pneumonia and influenza, immaturity, arteriosclerosis, congenital malformations and nephritis and nephrosis.

Bonham - Carter had been one of the Princess' most frequent escorts to theaters and parties. He is a grandson of the late Prime Minister Lord Asquith.

The Princess did not attend the ceremony.

Firm, New City Settle Dispute

Trouble Arose Over Company's Plans for Annexation

TROY TOWNSHIP — Vickers, Inc., and Troy Township officials reached agreement here Thursday night, with Vickers dropping its lawsuit against the township.

* * *

Walter O. Koch, attorney for Vickers Inc., appeared before the Township Board at a special meeting, where he filed the following statement in the form of a letter.

It said: "Enclosed is a signed stipulation for the dismissal with prejudice of the above action by Vickers, Inc., against Troy Township.

"It is the intention of Vickers, Inc., and we are authorized to so advise you, that no further court action will be taken to challenge the validity of the incorporation of portions of Troy Township as the City of Troy, as voted at a special election held on June 7, 1955." It was signed, Monahan, Hart and Crawmer, by Walter O. Koch.

DISCUSSION HELD

The matter was discussed by the Troy Township Board at the special meeting and the board asked Malcolm Heber, township attorney, to enter into the stipulation with Vickers on behalf of the township.

* * *

A year and a half ago, Vickers purchased a 76-acre site at the southwest corner of 15-Mile and Crooks Rds. in the township for an office building and experimental laboratory.

In early March of this year, an announcement came out that Vickers intended to annex the property from Troy to the city of Royal Oak.

On March 4, a citizens' group in the township was formed to stop the annexation. It prepared petitions for incorporation of certain areas of the township as a home-rule city.

* * *

Those petitions were filed with the county clerk on March 7, and were approved by the Oakland County Board of Supervisors on April 12.

ELECTION DATE SET

The County Board of Supervisors set June 7 as the date for a special election to vote on the question of incorporation.

* * *

A few days prior to April 12, Vickers officials started a suit in Oakland County Circuit Court challenging the validity of the incorporation.

They attempted to secure an injunction to hold up the June 7 election. Circuit Court Judge H. Russel Holland denied their request, but did not dismiss the lawsuit.

The election was held on June 7 and people of the township voted, 2,111 to 254, in favor of the incorporation.

In view of the overwhelming approval of the people, Norman R. Barnard, township supervisor, contacted Vickers officials and suggested that they work out the problems of services to the property together, and that they remain a part of Troy.

* * *

This negotiation has been going on since June 8 and the decision last night was the culmination of the negotiation.

Waterford High Principal Appointed to Position at the University of Chicago

WATERFORD—Roy A. Larmee, Waterford Township High School principal, has been named a staff associate to the Midwest Administration Center at the University of Chicago.

* * *

One of six young school administrators chosen from a nationwide group of candidates, Larmee takes over his new post in September. He has been associated with the Waterford Schools for the past seven years.

The Waterford Board of Education granted his release Thursday night at a special board meeting.

In his work at the Midwest Administration Center, Larmee will assist in the programming and execution of the center's clinics, field studies and seminars, for which this organization is widely recognized.

His fellowship will last for two years and he will have an opportunity to complete his work on his doctoral degree. Larmee plans to become a professor in educational administration.

STUDIED IN MICHIGAN

A native of Ann Arbor, he studied at Michigan State Normal College and the University of Michigan. He has had all of his teaching administrative experience in the Waterford Township Schools.

After serving in the U. S. Army Air Corps in World War II, he began teaching in the Waterford Village School in September 1948. He was later named principal at Hudson Covert School and went from there to the principalship of the high school.

Superintendent William Shunck in commenting upon Larmee's leaving, said, "I consider Roy Larmee to be one of the outstanding school administrators in the state of Michigan. He has imagination, initiative, good planning ability and is forceful and courageous."

ROY A. LARMEE

Shunck said that his loss would be keenly felt in Waterford Township, but that the program at the University of Chicago will be of great benefit to Larmee and eventually to public education in the country.

* * *

Larmee was named "Outstanding Young Man of 1954 of Waterford Township" and has been active in civil defense planning for the entire area.

MILITARY PROGRAM

He promoted statewide interest in a military orientation class for high school boys which resulted in Waterford being named a pilot school for this program. Others states are now adopting the same class as part of regular school curriculum.

* * *

Larmee said, "I feel that I have been extremely fortunate in having spent the past seven years in Waterford Township Schools. It has been an inspiring experience for a school man to watch the courage and determination with which the people here have met the problem of tremendous growth in their school system.

"It has been my good fortune to work with a board of education and a school staff of the highest caliber, and I know that if it had not been for the expert guidance of Superintendent Shunck, I would not have been offered this opportunity."

Mr. and Mrs. Larmee have made their home in Elizabeth Lake Estates. They will move to Chicago in the early fall.

Waterford Township Opens Bids for 3 Grade Schools

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — Bids for three elementary schools were opened as the Board of Education met in special session here last night. Submitted as a combination bid for all three schools, the low basic bid of $713,611 came from Schurrer Construction Co. The second low of $721,700 came from the Bundy Construction Co.

Bids were turned over to architect Eugene Cleland for study and recommendations. The contract will be awarded next Thursday.

The three schools are to be located on Winding Drive in Elizabeth Lake Estates, on Midland Drive just off the Dixie between Waterford Village and Drayton Plains, and on Pontiac Lake Road near Cass Lake road.

Plans for the three will be basically the same as those for the building now under construction on Crescent Lake road near Hatchery Road.

11 CLASSROOMS

There will be eleven classrooms plus a kindergarten room, teachers' lounge, and principal's and secretary's offices, in each. They will be one-story brick buildings with sintered clay block used on the inside partitions. The rooms will feature acoustic ceilings, exposed laminated wood beams, and asphalt tile floors.

* * *

The corridors will have cement enameled wainscoting applied to the masonry block and the floors will be of quarry tile. Lavatories of ceramic tile will be accessible from the playground.

Two of the rooms, with dividing folding doors, will be used for an auditorium. They are situated next to the lobby so that auditorium space may be increased by folding back the lobby partition.

Construction is to be completed in 210 days.

In other business, the board approved three new teachers' contracts and accepted the resignation of high school principal Roy Larmee.

Ivor G. Penhale, Teacher, Dies

WALLED LAKE—Faculty and students of Walled Lake High school are today mourning the death of Ivor G. Penhale, head of the High school English department for the past eight years. The teacher died in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Wednesday, after an illness of three weeks.

Mr. Penhale received his education at Marquette Teachers College and Lawrence College in Wisconsin, and his master's degree from the University of Michigan.

Before coming to Walled Lake, he taught at Hancock, Sault Ste. Marie, Whitmore, and was principal at Grand Ledge. At Walled Lake, Mr. Penhale taught senior English and American history. He served as sponsor of the Walled Lake chapter of the National Honor Society.

He is survived by his widow, Katherine, of 42490 Parkhurst, Plymouth.

Service will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday from the Schroeder Funeral home, Plymouth.

Birth Date Disqualifies Pontiac Representative

A Pontiac Junior Chamber of Commerce spokesman today said it was an oversight in age requirement that disqualified Charlotte Stark, Miss Pontiac, from the Miss Michigan contest.

Miss Stark, of 365 S. Marshall St., turned 17 a few days after she was chosen Miss Pontiac.

Michigan Granted Territorial Status by Lawmakers 150 Years Ago Today

DETROIT (AP)—A 150-year milestone in Michigan history is marked today.

* * *

On July 1, 1805, the Territory of Michigan was established by act of Congress and with the sanction of President Thomas Jefferson.

* * *

At that time Michigan included all of the present state, all of Wisconsin and small parts of Minnesota, Iowa, South Dakota and Ohio.

The new territory took over its own government that day as a separate political entity, first step in the road toward statehood which came 28 years later—in 1837.

* * *

Officers of the new government were sworn in on fields near where the Fort Shelby Hotel now stands in downtown Detroit.

FIRST GOVERNOR

The first territorial governor was William Hull. He took his oath of office in New York on the way to Michigan. Then he administered the oath to judges who were to administer the new territory's judicial system and, with Hull, make up its legislative body.

Michigan had reached territorial status after a varied political history that found it first a possession of France, then of Great Britain.

It actually got into the United States on July 11, 1796 when the British evacuated it and it was occupied by American troops headed by Capt. Moses Porter.

A month later the area including Michigan and Wisconsin, with pieces of Indiana and Ohio, was designated as Wayne County, a part of the Northwest Territory.

Gov. Hull had won fame during the Revolutionary War as second in command of the band under Gen. (Mad Anthony) Wayne that captured the British bastion at Stoney Point.

HULL DISGRACED

He was major general of the Massachusetts State Militia, a judge and member of the State Senate when President Jefferson named him to head Michigan's new government.

In 1812 he was given command of the American Army of the Northwest. His public career ended in disgrace when he surrendered that army and Detroit to the British without firing a shot.

First Town to Halt Garbage Collection

GROSSE POINTE WOODS (INS) —Garbage collecting is a thing of the last today for Grosse Pointe Woods which becomes the first Michigan community to abandon door-to-door pickups.

All but 84 of the city's 5,000 homes and 200 business places now have installed either incinerators or sink-type garbage disposals as part of a campaign to eliminate an annual budget item of $42,000 for garbage handling.

The 82 private homes and two business places which did not take part in the campaign are expected to do so within six months.

Until then, garbage will be collected by a private contractor.

Jericho, Biblical town 15 miles northeast of Jerusalem, is 3500 feet lower than the Holy City and 840 feet below sea level.

Most Grains Remain Static

CHICAGO (AP)— Except for those on soybeans, prices on the Board of Trade were glued to previous closing levels during early trading today.

* * *

Moderate liquidation entered July beans at the start, but the contract recovered sturdily from a one-cent loss. All deliveries beyond July suffered from excellence of new crop prospects. Losses extended beyond a cent at times.

There was little in overnight news to influence price trends in other sections of the market.

During the first hour wheat was unchanged to ⅜ cent higher, July $1.98⅞; corn was ⅛ lower to ⅛ higher, July $1.42½; oats were unchanged to off ⅛, July 64⅝, and rye was ⅛ to ½ higher, July $1.01¾. Soybeans were ¼ to ¾ lower, July $2.42, and lard was 3 cents lower to 5 cents a hundred pounds higher, July $11.72.

* * *

There were 657,000 bushels of corn tendered yesterday for delivery today, of which 254,000 were retendered. Small lots of corn were sold overnight for export to the European continent and the United Kingdom.

Steel Settlement Spurs Market

NEW YORK (AP) — The quick settlement of the steel strike sent the stock market higher today in heavy trading.

Steel shares moved to gains of 1 to 2 points minutes after the settlement was reached, he rest of the market soon joined the upswing. The flood of buying orders put the ticker tape behind in reporting transactions.

In early afternoon, Bethlehem Steel was up 2⅜, U. S. Steel ⅞, Youngstown Sheet & Tube 1⅛, Alleghany Ludlum 1⅛ and Jones & Laughlin 1.

The strike itself had failed to upset the steel shares much. They were mostly fractionally lower at the opening and a few had managed to edge to the plus side by the time the settlement was announced.

The copper industry was hit by strikes, but copper shares advanced.

Couple, Both Blind, Become Parents

DULUTH, Minn. (AP)—A blind Korean War veteran and his pretty blind wife who captured the hearts of thousands upon their marriage yesterday became the parents of a son—7 pounds 11¼ ounces.

The baby was born to Mrs. John L. Thornton at St. Lukes hospital.

The Thorntons were married in Cloquet last Sept. 25 in a ceremony topping off a community drive that resulted in a home and furnishings for the couple and a job for Thornton.

Sadistic Wife Kills Crippled Husband

LOUISA, Ky. (AP) — Mrs. Garnet Stucker, 42, admitted yesterday she shot her crippled husband, beat him to death with a pipe, then hacked off his legs to "make him fit" in a shallow grave.

She was held for investigation pending a coroner's inquest today.

Chief Deputy Edward Fyffe said Mrs. Stucker signed a statement giving details of the death of her husband Estell, 59, who used crutches because of arthritis.

In her statement, she said her husband came home drunk and they argued. He hit her with his crutch, then went to the basement to sleep. She shot him in the head while he slept, she said.

Then she hit him on the head three times with an 18-inch pipe "to keep him from suffering." She said she dug a grave in the dirt portion of the basement and severed her husband's legs with a large hatchet to "make him fit."

The Stuckers were married in 1940 and had no children. He was a former construction worker.

Paper Industry Mergers Loom

Four Major Companies Announce Agreements in Evaluating Stock

NEW YORK (AP)—The big merger trend in the nation's paper industry was stepped up yesterday when two of the largest manufacturers in the field moved toward major acquisitions.

Crown Zellerbach Corp., San Francisco, largest western producer of printing, wrapping and specialty papers, and Gaylord Container Corp., St. Louis paperboard maker, announced that they had reached an agreement in principle on a merger of the two concerns.

St. Regis Paper Co., a 200-million dollar enterprise, and General Container Corp., Cleveland, said St. Regis had been granted options to acquire a majority of the holdings of the General Container capital stock. If this transaction is carried out, it will be St. Regis fourth acquisition in a little more than one year.

On the New York Stock Exchange, C-Z common closed yesterday at $84.25 a share, up $2.75. Gaylord ended the session at $46.75 a share, up $1.37 for the day.

Upon completion of the transaction, it is the intention of C-Z to increase its dividend rate in order that the present dividend income to Gaylord stockholders may be maintained, Zellerbach said.

NO DEAL

Gaylord, with annual sales of more than 87 million dollars, has been reported negotiating with other big papermakers. Last fall St. Regis and Gaylord broke off initial talks with an announcement from Gaylord that "no deal" was reached. Yesterday, there were rumors in Wall Street that St. Regis and Gaylord were about to merge.

St. Regis announced that it will make an offer to all holders of stock of General Container Corp. to exchange their shares for St. Regis common the same terms as the present options. Under terms of the offer, holders of General's capital stock would receive 2⅛ shares of St. Regis common for each share of General.

Last month St. Regis took over Pollock Paper Corp., Dallas, Tex., with annual sales of 35 million dollars. Other St. Regis acquisitions within the past year included Michigan Molded Plastics, Inc., in Dexter, and Superior Paper Products, Pittsburgh, Pa.

600,000 New Cars Scheduled in July

DETROIT (AP)—The trade paper Automotive News said today auto makers are scheduling production of 660,000 cars in July. This increases original planning and is attributed largely to efforts of General Motors and Ford to overcome losses suffered during the labor troubles experienced in June.

Putting June assemblies at approximately 649,000 cars, the paper says its estimates show 4,257,468 cars will have been built during this year's January-June period. This compares with the 3,559,026 cars assembled during the second half of the record production year of 1950.

This week's domestic output is put at 158,784 cars and 26,237 trucks. Last week 151,265 cars and 29,184 trucks were built.

Door locks were very large in the middle ages. Sometimes they were more than 17 inches long, with keys about 18 inches long.

Climbs Up to Nest, Hits High Voltage

DETROIT (AP)—A bird's nest lured a 14-year-old boy into a steel structure atop a high-voltage electric power substation last night where he was knocked in flames 20 feet to the ground when he brushed a live wire.

"I saw the flames leap when he touched the wire," said Florence Gould, 19, who watched Thomas Serra and a companion scale a 10-foot fence topped by six strands of barbed wire to get into the station.

Thomas climbed higher on the structure, alone to get the nest. "His shirt and levis were afire when he fell," Miss Gould said.

Police said the boy touched a wire carrying 24,000 volts of electricity. He was in serious condition today, burned over 80 per cent of his body.

A passerby climbed inside the fence and beat out the fire in the boy's clothes.

Stassen Out of Job as FOA Terminates

WASHINGTON (AP) — Harold E. Stassen said today in his last report as foreign aid director "the most urgent challenge" confronting the United States is to build up the military and economic power of free Asian nations.

"It is clear that it is a major undertaking requiring continuous effort for a long time to come," he said in a report to President Eisenhower which he arranged to submit personally.

* * *

The Foreign Operations Administration which Stassen has headed for its 23 months went out of existence last midnight. It was replaced by the International Cooperation Administration, operating within the State Department and headed by John B. Hollister.

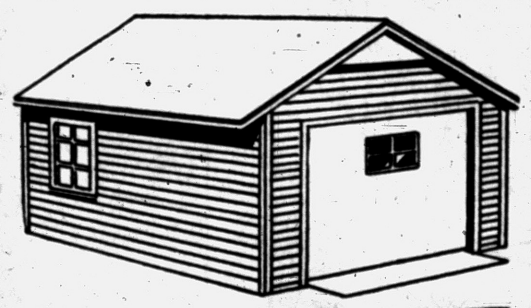

Beginning today, Stassen plans to devote full time to his new post as special adviser to the President on disarmament.

Here Are Some Tips on How to Avoid Tips

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS)—The business of knowing how much to tip is a science; but knowing how NEVER to tip—that, fellow spenders, is an art!

* * *

The Michaelangelo of this money-saving set is a man we shall call Mr. C. N., because those are not his initials. There are some vicious waiters lurking around New York who might recognize him by his real initials, he says.

"I have saved approximately $2,000 annually for the past four years," says C. N., "by avoiding this frightfully cruel and costly system of financial demise and synthetic samaritanism called tipping.

"I figure that more than half of the tipping money has been saved in and around New York City and Beverly Hills, Calif., althought I must confess to purchasing an auto on monies saved in Cleveland.

"They tip quite frenziedly in Cleveland, considering their size."

* * *

C. N.'s system for not tipping has complexities, but basically, he insists, it is imple in concept.

BE DEDICATED

First of all, one must be dedicated to the task at hand. One must be able to penetrate the facade of our tip-dippy culture and see that it is leading to only one catastrophic end—the return of the ancient feudal system, in which there are masters and slaves."

* * *

Soberly, C. N. withdrew a quarter from his imported worsted vest pocket and held it tenderly to the light.

Monstrous!" he remarked, "what havoc this slender disc hath wrought."

Mrs. C. N., sitting beside him, spoke out: "Easy, Dearie, don't overdo."

Eyeing her cooly ("She saves less than $500 a year," he sighs, "poor planning"), C. N. continued: "Realizing what harm tipping can do, then, it becomes easy for one to look at the tipee and think, 'If I give money to this good man, who is in every way my equal in the eyes of heaven, it will only make him feel like a slave. I shall not subserviate him.' "

CONSCIENCE CLEAR

This makes a lot of would-be subservients mad but, as C. N. points out, it is all for their own good so his conscience is clear.

Naturally, for the sake of those tipees who look as if they will neither understand my concept, nor be grateful for it, I have certain rules of procedure. For example:"

When a waiter, untipped, holds out his hand—C. N. presses it warmly in both his own and says, "Thank you for excellent service. I always longed to be a waiter myself, but simply could never make the grade."

When a cab driver, untipped, bawls, "Hey, you—, where's my —!!!," C. N. returns to the car and says, "I hate to interrupt but it was such a delightful ride. Let's not let it end this way."

When a doorman (the most gentlemanly of the non-tipped tipees in C. N.'s book) looks disappointed after bringing around the limousine, C. N. smiles compassionately, looks at the fuel gauge and remarks, "I'm certainly glad you didn't put gas in it, my boy. I ate like a gourmand and haven't a spot of change left."

AIR OF MILD PANIC

When a barber, valet or other personal grooming expert gives C. N. a quizzical look. C. N. assumes an air of mild panic.

"Good heavens, man, did you make a mistake on my hair (or shirts or shoes or shave)." He glances at his watch. "Well, never mind." he says, quickly turning on his heel. "there's no time for amends now."

* * *

"You see how easy, and how basicially right, this is?" asked he. "After all, a quarter saved is a quarter earned; and when you can earn money and save America from creeping feudalism in one clever gesture . . . well, it's smart humanitarianism.

"That," chortled C. N., "is my tip to you."

Fish Confound Men on Color

Scientists Will Know Answer After Fish Learn to Talk

ANN ARBOR (UP)—Can a fish really see all those guady colors on hook lures?

Fisheries scientists have been trying to answer this question conclusively for ages, said Karl F. Lagler, chairman of the University of Michigan's department of fisheries.

* * *

The best answer so far is that "no fish is known to have color vision."

On the other hand, there is no final proof that a fish does see color as the fisherman sees it, he said.

Some fish, such as the large-mouth bass and certain trouts, definitely have shown that they are able to discriminate between colors. It is probable that various fishes exhibit different degrees of color sensitivity, he said.

Judging from appearances to man when viewed under water, he continued, it seems that surface lures like dry flies and floating plugs offer no color but are viewed only in silhouette.

FISH SEE COLOR

Some support to claims that fish do perceive colors is the fact that many fresh water species are so brilliantly hued. This is especially so during the breeding season, Lagler said, and may be of use in recognition of mates.

"Males are usually brighter or more intensely colored than females," he pointed out.

* * *

Further support for those who say fish have color vision is the fact that many fish are able to adapt themselves to differently colored backgrounds.

"An outstanding example of this chameleon-quality in fish is the flounder, which can closely match a checkerboard or a piece of plaid when placed on it," Lagler explained.

* * *

But he admitted that not enough is known yet about the color matter to give any great help to fishermen.

Says Old Folks Prefer to Live on Their Own

ANN ARBOR (UP)—Clark Tibbitts, chairman of the committee of aging of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, says things never were so promising for the aged as they are now.

Tibbitts made the statement yesterday at a conference on gerontology at the University of Michigan.

He said although there is no immediate prospect of a dramatic increase in life span more people have the opportunity to live out the average. The average is set at 66.8 years for men and 72.5 for women. This is expected to go up to 69.8 for men and 76 for women by 1970, Tibbitts said.

Tibbitts also exploded what he called some of the myths about the aging. He said that contrary to popular belief, most parents prefer to be on their own rather than live with their married children.

And he ruled out any enormous increase in the proportion of persons 65 and older in the total population.

INCOME PROBLEM

On the debit side, Tibbitts said, the income of the aged continues "a great problem."

And, he said, the transition into retirement continues to present difficulties.

* * *

Although about 75 per cent of retired persons have made a satisfactory adjustment to the problems of retirement, anticipation of retirement is "very important" in order to prepare for it, Tibbitts pointed out.

Michigan and Ohio Rate With Real Italian Prince

By EARL WILSON

ROME—My son and I met a real Italian prince here . . . "The Prince in Blue Jeans" . . . at the Hollywood of Italy.

★ ★ ★ ★

Roamin' in Rome we've met Richard Basehart (from Zanesville, O.) and M. Lincoln Schuster (from N. Y.)—and Prince Massimo who likes Ohio and Michigan, though he's never been there, because he loves to get into overalls and go hot-rodding in a jeep which is part Willys and part Ford.

DAWN

Us Yankees get funny ideas of Italian princes — and I never thought that Prince Massimo, who married Dawn Addams (the gal who took a bath in "The Moon Is Blue") would cut up like Marlon Brando.

The prince was sitting in his levis petting his dog on a movie set when he made my eyes do an Eddie Cantor.

Lovely Miss Addams had quit emoting for a second in "The Treasure of Rommel" and called to His Highness:

"Hey, Vittorio, give me a cigarette!"

He leaped up and did so, lit one for himself and headed for the studio exit.

★ ★ ★ ★

"I forgot — I must go outside to smoke," the prince said. Stars may smoke on the set — visitors can't.

★ ★ ★ ★

The prince, who's one of the old, old, old families, going back to Fabius Maximus, wasn't taking advantage of the family name to violate any rules — which I thought nice of him.

He's 44 or so and was with a brewery for awhile.

"Now we have a factory that produces Geneozen," he said, leaning against the studio wall. It seems to be oxygen.

Dawn Addams—who, you may remember, was once one of Arline Judge's many step-daughters — made quite a catch in landing Prince Massimo. Many an Italian beauty would have quaked in her girdle, except that they don't wear girdles here.

"Why shouldn't I drive the jeep? They win the war," the prince said.

Dawn persuaded him to get a big Italian car, too. But he prefers the jeep and he wants to visit the factories in the United States.

PRINCE MASSIMO

"I want to see America first!" he said.

★ ★ ★ ★

From that studio I went next door to see Dick Basehart's wife, Valentina Cortesa. I had a few cameras, such as a Nikon, Rollei, and Voigtlander, but we stopped production when I took a picture in a minute with a Polaroid.

"Miracolo!" shouted one actor. They were still excitedly buzzing about it when we said goodbye.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

The Jack Bennys arrive in New York next week to await their first grandchild . . . Noel Coward's take for those three CBS-TV spectaculars will be a whopping $500,000 . . . Pres. Eisenhower's planning to visit France and England (and maybe Italy) after the Big Four meeting.

PIPER LAURIE

Walter Slezek rejected a TV series because his horoscope frowned on it . . . Maureen O'Hara's under medical treatment as a result of the custody hassle . . . Steve Allen's July 2 NBC-TV spectacular (8-9:30 p.m.) will be called "Allen in Movieland"; Piper Laurie will be a guest.

Sherry North, who came to N. Y. to publicize "How to Be Very, Very Popular," told 20th Century-Fox, "It's not right for a movie star to visit New York without a mink." So they rented a mink stole for four weeks for $150.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Robert Q. Lewis may do one of his shows from a local department store, and says, "It'll be a 28-minute show—marked down from 30 minutes." That's earl, brother.

Russians Blame Church Holidays for Crop Losses

MOSCOW (AP)—One of the Soviet Union's top newspapers charges that the celebration of religious holidays by collective farmers is causing vast damage to Russian agriculture.

The new attack on religion was published in a recent issue of the Leningrad Pravda, the Communist party organ in the nation's second largest city.

* * *

Asserting that the Russian people "under the leadership of the Communist party are carrying out gigantic work in the remaking of nature and subjecting more and more to the will of man," the article said they were "not in need of religion."

* * *

The Soviet press previously had been softpedaling attacks on religion following decree by party chief Nikita S. Khrushchev last November warning Communist agitators not to insult the clergy or churchgoers.

But with a new growing season under way in Khrushchev's vast campaign to boost farm production, religion-practicing farmers could be held at least partly to blame for crop failures.

Paratroopers Seize Detroit City Hall

DETROIT (AP) — Paratroopers seized Detroit's City Hall in a surprise assault yesterday.

It was just a stunt to how how easy it could be done.

Forty-five paratroopers from the 82nd Division, Ft. Bragg, N.C., leaped from their special bus and rushed the City Hall at 2 p.m. In less than a minute the soldiers had everybody of importance lined up and had blacked out City Hall communications.

The paratroopers had the building under control when Mayor Albert E. Cobo walked in and found himself surrounded.

"I surrender," the mayor said.

Cobo examined the guns of his guards and chatted about their training. He watched them drill before a crowd in front of the hall.

The precision drill was performed by the 504th Regiment's honor guard.

The guard is part of a contingent of 2,000 active duty paratroopers of the 82nd Airborne Division given special eight-day leave from Ft. Bragg to attend the annual convention in Detroit of the 82nd Airborne Division Assn.

Racket Boss Wanted to Answer Questions

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP) — St. Clair County authorities plan to seek the extradition of reputed rackets boss Frank (Buster) Wortman if he doesn't return today for questioning in a gang style killing here.

The victim was J. Fred Koenig, former operator of a horse racing news service, whose body was found stuffed in the trunk of his car last week.

A warrant naming Wortman as an accessory after the fact in the slaying was issued yesterday by Justice of the Peace Edgar Grossman.

* * *

State's Atty. Richard T. Carter, who filed the complaint, said the warrant won't be served if Wortman keeps his promise to interrupt his Michigan vacation and return for questioning.

Wortman left St. Louis Tuesday for a resort hotel on Mackinac Island. Carter sent a telegram Wednesday demanding his return and the prosecutor said Wortman later called and promised to come back.

Vernor Workers Reject Company Wage Offer

DETROIT (AP)—Employes of the James E. Vernor Co. bottling plant, on strike since May 26, voted 220-14 last night to reject a three-year contract offered by the company.

Local 297, CIO United Beverage Workers, represents 350 striking drivers, helpers, bottlers and other workers.

Robert Banderwell, president of the local, said the company offered a 7½ cent pay increase this year, a 5-cent increase in 1956, and a 5-cent contribution to the worker's pension fund in 1956.

Crooner Given Musical Scores

Boop-a-Doop Vocalist Helen Kane Will Make TV-Record Comeback

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS)—His sponsor's affectionate goodbye gift to Perry Como after their dozen radio-TV years together was all of his musical arrangements used through the long and pleasant relationship. Value: More than $350,000 . . .

Helen Kane, the boop-a-doop girl, makes a comeback, first with four MGM records and then TV . . .

The $500,000 NBC-Korda deal for a first-run movie hasn't been settled yet despite a too-quick announcement. They're still haggling over details.

TV scripter Reginald Rose of "12 Angry Men" and "The Private World of Horace Ford" (which caused its own world of angry viewers) tells us the snarl hasn't untangled yet. He's still getting puzzled letters from fans, the score running about two to one writers still snug in our quandary.

He wishes to state, however, that he tangibly apologizes "only to the irritation of his dramatic puzzle."

BRAVE ATTITUDE

"I do not and would not apologize for the show itself," Rose bravely states.

"The fact that I wrote it and believed in it precludes any possibility of and desire for an apology on my part."

As they say on the unfunny programs, why not repeat this pleasantly infuriating puzzle written or juggled by Reginald Rose and starring Art Carney sometime soon on Studio One?

From the noise it caused among the vast majority who would like to know what the heck really happened, and the equally angry outcry from the cult who claims actually to dig this brand of cubist whodunit, it might be a fine stunt to play it again during summertime.

Ten Deaths Listed in Alaskan Crackup

KODIAK, Alaska (AP)—Ten deaths were marked up today as one of the early costs of an air raid warning installation on isolated Sitkinak Island, off the southern tip of this North Pacific outpost.

An Air Force C47 transport from the Elmendorf base at Anchorage, flying from here to drop supplies, hit the island's highest peak late Wednesday. The crew's seat belts were unfastened, and a plane door apparently open at the time, the first party to reach the wreck reported.

* * *

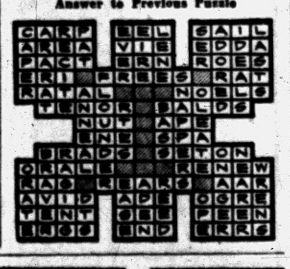

The crew of four was accompanied by three Western Electric Co. representatives, engaged on the installation, and three soldiers from the 558th Aerial Communications System.

Turbulent weather handicapped searchers but one party reached the wreckage yesterday.

Children Turn Green

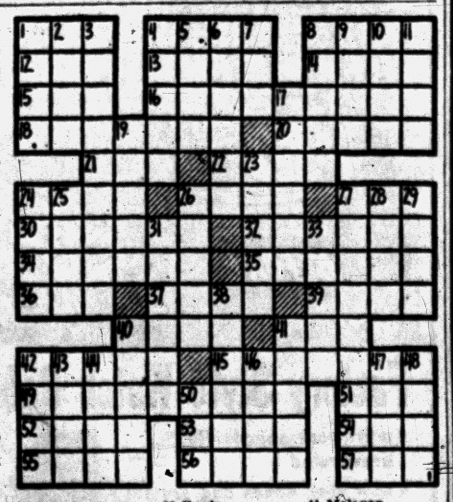

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Three hundred green-tinted children emerged from a swimming pool at nearby Glenside. They were stained with a harmless — and eventually removable—dye from a Navy dye marker tossed into the pool by a 10-year-old boy. The boy was angry because he had been refused admittance to the pool, open only to residents.

3,000 Answer Graham Appeal in Rotterdam

ROTTERDAM, Netherlands (AP)—Answering a call for repentance by American evangelist Billy Graham, some 3,000 persons took "decisions for Christ" last night at a mass service in Rotterdam's Fyenoord stadium.

With an interpreter from the Salvation Army translating his words, Graham appealed to his hearers to seek God's forgiveness. Waving the Bible he shouted "it has an answer to all your problems."

The evangelist, who has said he would preach in the Soviet Union if invited, told newsmen earlier that he planned to visit the Middle and Far East in the near future. He said he had been asked to go there by Christian groups.

Sprinkling Is Curtailed

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Wyoming Township has sent an emergency appeal requesting residents to sprinkle lawns on alternate days to prevent a fire hazard because of an overburdened water supply. Supervisor George Sietsema said recent lawn sprinkling has cut sharply into the 8,000,000 gallons of water stored daily by the township's supply system.

Loretta Recovering

OXNARD, Calif. (AP) — Actress Loretta Young probably will be confined to St. John's Hospital for another three weeks recuperating from an operation Wednesday to correct abdominal adhesions.

LIGHTNING PROTECTION for FARM PROPERTY is a "FIRST RANK" Necessity
Provision for Lightning Protection should be made AHEAD of other needs and certainly before the purchase of more conveniences or luxuries.
THIS MIGHT HAPPEN TO YOU DURING THE VERY NEXT STORM

A picture of the still burning remains of a fine barn.
The records of the National Board of Fire Underwriters show that lightning ranks FIRST among the known causes of loss to farm barns. It ranks SECOND among the known causes of loss to farm homes and other farm structures. The Lightning loss record being what it is—NO ONE can afford to be without an approved and fully Guaranteed Lightning Protection System.

Washington Walks in Transit Walkout

WASHINGTON (AP)—Thousands of government workers rode automobiles—or walked—to their jobs today as a strike of bus and streetcar operators paralyzed the capital's main transit system.

The walkout of 2,400 drivers was signaled at 45 minutes after the midnight deadline when Walter J. Bierwagen, president of the AFL Transit Workers Union, came away from last-ditch negotiations with Capital Transit Co. officials and announced:

* * *

"We tried, we tried everything but failed. The strike is on now."

Many of the roughly 1½ million people in the Washington area were affected by the stoppage of bus and streetcar service.

* * *

Capital Transit lines run throughout the District of Columbia and into nearby Maryland areas. Still operating were a number of bus companies which run between Washington and suburban Virginia and Maryland areas, but do not serve the district itself.

Barbara Stanwyck Hurt After Falling at Home

SANTA MONICA, Calif., June 30 (AP)—Actress Barbara Stanwyck suffered a torn ligament and severe bruises in the sacroiliac region in a fall at her home, her physician states.

* * *

Miss Stanwyck tripped yesterday while walking down a stairway at her home in nearby Holmby Hills. She was carrying clothes and tripped on a hanger.

At St. John's Hospital here X-rays disclosed today that she suffered no fractures. The doctor said she will be in the hospital for several days.

State Tourist Campaign Behind in Advertising

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—The Michigan Tourist Council has agreed to boost its promotional advertising for the year by $44,000.

The council expressed fear that Michigan was falling behind other states in luring tourists to this state.

The advertising and promotional budget was fixed at $177,276.

The council also voted to use part of the increase to lengthen the tourist season with spring and fall advertising schedules and will map a winter sports promotion program later.

Robert W. Budd, president of Great Lakes Greyhound Lines, was reelected to his third term as chairman. Lawrence Tucker of Iron Mountain was elected vice-chairman and Frank Davis of Bay City secretary.

Highway Department Taking Bids July 20

LANSIN G(AP)—The State Highway Department will take bids July 20 on $4,000,000 worth of the first priority projects under Michigan's new arterial highway program.

At the same time, bids will be received on another $4,000,000 worth of normal trunkline construction outside of the arterial system.

Other projects may be included in the July 20 bidding if approval from the Federal Bureau of Public Roads can be received in time.

Weekend Jet Pilots Aiming for Detroit

ONTARIO, Calif. (AP) — Twenty-two of the nation's top weekend jet pilots take off tomorrow on the second annual Earl T. Ricks Trophy Race, a 1,945-mile dash to Detroit.

Six models of jet aircraft will compete in the Air National Guard race, with each given a handicap.

Last year's race was won by Lt. Charles J. Young Jr., of Ft. Dix, N.J., flying an F86 Sabre Jet, a test pilot in civilian life who is back to defend his laurels. Young made the trip in 3 hours 27 minutes 13 seconds.
