FBI Arrests 18 in Rights Slaying Case

Dem Group to View Fund-Raising Issue

LANSING (AP) — The Democratic Party Policy Committee will meet Dec. 12 to consider campaign fund-raising and expenditure questions raised yesterday by Secretary of State James M. Hare.

Hare asked his more than 200 branch office managers — political patronage appointees — to withhold cash contributions to the party until leaders agreed to investigate the fund situation.

He said "it is time to take a hard look at the cause of this ever - recurring situation" after reporting the party is deeply in debt again.

The move by Hare yesterday caught party leaders by surprise but within hours state chairman Zolton Ferency talked briefly with Hare.

"We had an understanding... I think everything will be okay," said Ferency today.

"There really isn't any battle," said Hare. "Im going to place before the policy committee a statement of spending as recorded in our office, then make my pitch for a policy based on need, period."

Ferency said Hare has "not been too active in party affairs since his illness. Some things have been going on he is not aware of."

Ferency wouldn't say what they were, refused further comment until reading Hare's letter to branch managers and declined to say if any announcement would come from the closed policy committee meeting.

Hare said Ferency "has done a magnificent job of raising money...now all we have to settle is how it's spent."

He added that if the 211 branch office managers agree to suspend all donations, Democratic policy makers "are sure to act on this situation very quickly."

The branch fee officers, most of them political appointees, have contributed "well over $500,000" to the party in the ten years he has been secretary of state, Hare said.

Another Unit Tops Its Quota for UF Drive

Commercial Division Goes Over the Mark; Others Give Reports

The commercial division of the Pontiac Area United Fund drive, topped its quota today just prior to the campaign deadline set for Monday by Bruce J. Annett, general campaign chairman.

Jack Brannack, commercial chairman announced his division slightly over the $223,642 quota set.

Brannack expressed confidence that the Commercial Division would reach close to the $240,000 mark when all returns are in.

"We still have a big task ahead to finish collections if we are to surpass last year's $224,052," Brannack stated.

★ ★ ★

"Most of our solicitors have done a conscientious job of emphasizing the need for increased contributions to provide for additional needs and use of agency services in the community."

EXCEEDED QUOTAS

Three of five units — education, government and small teams — have already exceeded quotas set. Chapter plans and professional groups are still short of meeting their quotas, according to Brannack.

Dr. Donald Tatroe, Waterford Township superintendent of schools, a pace setter for the commercial division, led educational units to $25,657 — 117 per cent of quota.

George Stout, chairman of small teams, another pace-setting unit, announced the teams' quota was reached several weeks ago, and now reports 110 per cent of the $7,711.00 quota, or $8,508.00.

★ ★ ★

Government units, with Walter K. Willman, chairman, have reached 102.6 per cent reporting $21,687.00.

Criminal Charges Are Issued Against 21 in Mississippi Case

PHILADELPHIA, Miss. (AP) — The FBI today arrested 18 Mississippians, including Neshoba County's Sheriff and his deputy, in connection with the midsummer slayings of three civil rights workers here.

Federal agents took Sheriff Lawrence Rainey, 37, and Deputy Sheriff Cecil Price, 27, into custody at their office a few minutes before 9 a.m. Rainey and Price surrendered quietly and removed their revolvers.

Other FBI agents fanned over this east-central Mississippi town picking up other men. Still others were arrested at nearby Meridian.

In Washington, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said 21 men altogether have been named in criminal charges in connection with the deaths last June of Andrew Goodman and Michael Schwerner, two white New Yorkers, and James Chaney, a Negro from Meridian.

★ ★ ★

Hoover said 19 were charged with conspiring to interfere with federal rights and the other two with being accessories after the fact of a crime.

TO GET DATA

The FBI said its information would be made available to state authorities for possible murder warrants.

Price was the last person to acknowledge seeing the trio alive on June 21 and was one of those who helped remove their bodies from a giant earthen dam near here on Aug. 4.

Among others arrested here were Herman Tucker, the foreman of the construction crew at the earthen dam; James E. Jordan, a construction worker, and Jerry Sharp, a used car dealer.

★ ★ ★

The scene at the courthouse was tense as FBI agents arrived. Rainey and Price were out on a call.

Predict Heavy Snow, Issue Road Warning

Old Man Winter delivered a stunning one-two punch to Oakland County this morning, more than two weeks before he is scheduled to make his official appearance.

Freezing rain began falling in the southern part of the county in the early morning hours and gradually moved northward.

Hazardous driving warnings are out for the area today. Heavy snow, accumulating up to six inches, is expected, diminishing to flurries tonight and tomorrow.

A low of 14 to 22 is predicted for tonight, followed by a high tomorrow of 22 to 30.

★ ★ ★

Sunday's outlook is more snow flurries with little change in temperature.

DRIFTING SNOW

Today's northeasterly winds at 15 to 25 miles an hour should cause considerable drifting late today and tonight, says the weatherman.

The low temperature this morning in downtown Pontiac was 28. Twenty-nine was the reading at 2 p.m.

Motorists on their way to work found driving conditions perilous, especially on secondary roads which hadn't had the attention of winter maintenance crews.

★ ★ ★

In Pontiac, salt trucks were called out at 5 a.m. today. By 7:30 a.m., all five trucks were salting city streets, according to the Department of Public Works.

FLEET MOBILIZED

The Oakland County Road Commission mobilized its entire fleet of 75 trucks and scrapers at 4 a.m. in an effort to keep main roads passable for the early rush-hour traffic.

All of the trucks were carrying salt or sand, and 25 were equipped with underbody scrapers.

Sgt. John Amthor, commander of the Pontiac state police post, cautioned drivers to be extremely careful.

Burch Ouster Plan Splits Denver Parley

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Republican governors split wide open today over a proposal by their chairman, Gov. Robert Smylie of Idaho, that they demand the ouster of GOP National Chairman Dean Burch.

But the state executives were nearly unanimous in agreement that something drastic has to be done to lift their party out of the abyss of the defeat it suffered Nov. 3.

Smylie, who said he would accept the national chairmanship if the party wanted him, declared in a speech prepared for the opening session of an extraordinary conference that the governors ought to have the stamina to recommend that the national committee "consider making appropriate changes in its leadership."

The Idaho governor said, "We are a defeated party with defeated leadership."

He said the GOP presidential nominee Sen. Barry Goldwater, as a defeated candidate, "is the symbol of a rejected alternative" to Democratic President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Noting that Goldwater had said four years ago that Richard M. Nixon was "just going to be a Republican lawyer," Smylie said that Goldwater is in a similar category now.

"For that reason," he said "we really are a leaderless party, because no one has earned the right to leadership by winning an election."

But Smylie's "dump Burch" demand ran into instant opposition.

Gov. George Romney of Michigan said on his arrival at the conference last night that the Idaho governor's proposal for adoption of a resolution recommending Burch's ouster was "Gov. Smylie's idea, and I won't comment on it."

Romney, saying he is a team player and not a political "loner" as he has sometimes been described, said, "This is not the time to read anybody out of the party."

The important thing, he added, is to bring all elements in under one tent.

In contrast, Gov. John H. Chafee of Rhode Island, who won reelection by the highest pluarlity scored by any GOP gubernatorial candidate, said he is willing to back a resolution demanding Burch's ouster.

Family Discord Slaying Cause?

Attribute Mass Killing to Wife's Leaving

DETROIT (AP)—A simple, well-kept frame home in a quiet neighborhood yesterday was the scene of the second mass slaying in the Detroit area in a little more than two months.

Seven persons were killed, each with a single 22-caliber bullet through the head, including the young father who, police said, apparently became angry because his wife was leaving him.

The man, James Burgan, 28, telephoned his sister-in-law yesterday morning and told her he had "killed my wife and children." The relative, Mrs. Mary Judkins, 31, called police.

When police arrived, they found the bodies, including that of Burgan who apparently committed suicide, officers said.

Police identified the victims as:

Burgan's wife, Joyce, 22; their children, 18-month-old Linda, 6-month-old Robert, Kathy, 3, and Mrs. Burgan's son by a previous marriage, Roger, 6; and Mrs. Billie Gene Nolan, 22, a friend of Burgan's wife.

APPEARED CONTENT

The family had moved into the home just three months ago. Neighbors said that they didn't know the family well but the Burgans appeared content.

Mrs. Judkins said Burgan, who worked for a paper box company, told her Monday his wife had left him and taken Roger with her.

Burgan left the other three children with her until yesterday, when he returned for them less than 30 minutes before the killings, Mrs. Judkins said.

Police said three of the children appeared to be alive when they broke into the house shortly before noon.

Court Official Gets Position in Waterford

Dr. Kingsley Montgomery, education coordinator for the Oakland County Juvenile Court since 1960, last night was appointed director of Childrens Services for Waterford Township Schools by the township school board.

The new post combines part-time duties of an administrator who is leaving the system this month and another who will retire next June. It also includes several new functions.

A consulting psychologist under the State Psychologist's Certification Act, Dr. Montgomery, 46, received his doctorate in education from Michigan State University in 1955.

His appointment is effective Dec. 15 at a salary level equivalent with that of a junior high school principal.

Montgomery will assume the duties of Dr. Clayton Lafferty who has served on a part-time basis as consultant for special education.

SOME FUNCTIONS

He also will take over some functions of Dr. Edgar G. Johnston, coordinator of research. Dr. Johnston will retire next year.

Joint Effort Halts Area Bog Blaze

By JOE MULLEN

Waterford Township firemen, State Conservation Department personnel and prisoners from Camp Pontiac combined forces recently to extinguish a muck fire that smouldered for three weeks in Waterford Township.

The bog fire in an approximate 15-acre area one half mile south of Pleasant Lake was touched off by a grass fire.

This ignited the peat-humus in the ground which averages a depth of about 2 feet and is 4 to 5 feet deep in some places.

Waterford firemen had kept the smouldering muck under control in the heavily wooded area but township Fire Chief Lewis Goff recognized two danger signals and decided to call for conservation department help.

The rising smoke was creating a driving hazard, and trees were toppling with increasing regularity.

There's Time to Click Off Hand-Knit Christmas Gift

By JODY HEADLEE
Home Editor, The Pontiac Press

If you get those needles to clicking, there's still time to give a hand-knit for Christmas.

Or perhaps that special friend or mother is a knitnut who would be thrilled with a pre-packaged kit from Santa.

Pattern and yarn for the popular sweater shell come in assorted colors from sizes 12 to 18. And there are the sweater shell kits which also include the wool fabric for a matching skirt.

For evening, there are glamorous sweaters and blouses with glittering sequins knit into the garment. In sizes 10 to 16, these packs range from $8.95 to $11.25.

And, if needlepoint is your forte, there is a wide assortment of pictures priced from $6.00 to $8.50.

For the toddler in your life, there are sweater and bonnet kits as well as afghan packs. All tots love cuddly toys and you're sure to win a baby heart if you sew together and stuff the turtle and bunny preprinted on a single sheet.

SMART PATTERNS

Preprinted model doll clothes come in smart patterns for both daytime and sportswear. If your hours are accounted for, it's an ideal way to introduce your daughter to the art of sewing and it makes a good stocking stuffer too.

Husbands and sons can get into the creative act with sun catcher kits. These cast plastic medallions are all the rage in home decoration this season.

numbering about 100. No one in the crowd spoke to the FBI.

The crowd got angry after the FBI departed with the arrested men. Several bystanders threatened newsmen and photographers, and one pulled a knife on AP photographer Jack Thornell.

The FBI identified the others arrested or charged as:

Bernard L. Akin, 50, a Meridian salesman; Earl B. Akin, 32, a Meridian trailer salesman; Jimmy Arledge, 27, a Meridian truck driver; Horace D. Barnette, 25, a salesman formerly of Meridian; Travis M. Barnette, 36, part-owner and operator of a Meridian garage.

★ ★ ★

Also, Otha Neal Burkes, 71, a Philadelphia Police Department patrolman; Olen L. Burrage, 34, a trucking company operator in Philadelphia; James T. Harris, 30, a Meridian truck driver; Frank J. Herndon, 46, who runs a drive-in restaurant in Meridian; Tommy A. Horne, 28, Meridian, owner of a plumbing firm in Bonita, Miss.

OTHERS NAMED

Also Edgar Ray Killen, 39, a minister, farmer and sawmill operator in Union; Billy Wayne Posey, 28, Philadelphia, operator of a Williamsville service station; Alton Wayne Roberts, 26, a Meridian salesman.

Also Jimmy Snowden, 31, a Meridian truck driver; Jimmy Lee Townsend, 17, Philadelphia, a service station attendant at Williamsville; and Oliver R. Warner Jr., 54, a Meridian grocery store operator.

At the time of the FBI announcement those listed as still at large were Horace D. Barnette, Otha Neal Burkes and Tommy A. Horne.

The FBI refused to say where the arrested men were being taken. It was thought they would be taken to Meridian for arraignment.

CHURCH BURNING

The dead civil rights workers — Schwerner, 24, and Goodman, 20, and Chaney, 22 — came to Neshoba County June 21 to investigate the burning of a rural Negro church four days earlier and the beating of the church elders.

Leaving the church site at dusk, they were stopped at the edge of town by Price.

Price said their battered station wagon was speeding. He took them to jail.

Price said he released the trio six hours later — around 10 p.m. — after Chaney put up $20 bail bond.

The deputy said the youths headed toward Meridian.

More Cuts Considered for Reserve

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the second time in two years, defense officials appear to be preparing for major surgery on military reserve forces.

Just what form that surgery will take is not yet clear. Studies have been under way in both the Air Force and the Army.

The service recommendations are awaited by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, who will make the final decisions.

Indications point to possible heavy losses for the Army and Air Force Reserve, perhaps virtual elimination of the Reserve and its merger with the National Guard.

The aim of any new streamlining would be elimination of wasteful and cumbersome duplication and strengthening of the readiness of Reserve forces which cost about $2 billion a year to support.

SAME PURPOSE

Pentagon planners find it hard to understand why the Army and Air Force should maintain dual organizations — the Reserve and the National Guard — serving essentially the same purpose.

Little fault is found with the Marine Reserve whose 45,000 men would form a fourth Marine division and supporting air wing.

Officials claim it would be ready to go overseas in 30 days from call-up.

Handmade Christmas decorations increase in sentimental value with every passing year.

In addition to the usual round styrofoam ornaments, from the tiny 1-inch to the jumbo 8-inch, there are rectangular blocks, cones and canes. With glitter, sequins, braid and tinsel, these can be made into tree baubles and table arrangements.

Available this year are panoramic styrofoam spheres. These 6-inch spheres are slightly flattened on the bottom with peek-a-boo openings looking into the scooped out middle.

You can mount a miniature Christmas scene in the center. For a finished look, cover the openings with colored cellophane, and glue or pin rick-rack or braid over the transparent material's raw edges.

Setting Up Trust Fund for Pontiac Woman

A group of Pontiac area residents today announced they are establishing a trust fund for Mrs. Hector McMillan, wife of the missionary who was killed in the Congo, Nov. 24.

The fund-raising group is made up largely of friends and former classmates and neighbors of Mrs. McMillan.

The First Baptist Church, 34 Oakland, is accepting contributions for Mrs. McMillan, the former Ione Reed of Pontiac and her six sons.

Mrs. McMillan is still in the Congo with her sons Kenneth, 17; Paul, 16; David, 14; John, 13; Stephen, 11; and Timothy, 10. Kenneth is in a Congo hospital with a hip wound.

Mrs. McMillan attended First Baptist Church where her family had been members for over 35 years. This church has supported the McMillans in their missionary work.

VISITING FRIENDS

Her father died in 1938. Her mother is presently visiting friends in Waterford Township.

The McMillans were under arrest in the Unevangelized Fields Mission guest house at Stanleyville when the Rev. Mr. McMillan was killed.

According to a letter received this week by Mrs. McMillan's mother, from the Unevangelized Fields Mission, "Dr. Paul Carlson was shot as he tried to jump the wall . . . and all in the house were rescued except Hector McMillan.

"Earlier the same morning, the Simbas came and shot into the living room with women and children all sitting about," the letter related.

HIT IN HIP

"Kenny McMillan was hit in the hip. Everybody fell to the floor as dead, even the children, so the Simbas went on. They found Hector and Bob McAllister in the yard and shot Hector at point blank range.

"Hector's body was taken to the house and placed on a bed and Ione called the children around and said to them, in effect, 'You should count it a privilege that we could give our daddy for the salvation of the Congo people.'

Those contributing to the trust fund will receive a receipt for income tax purposes from First Baptist Church, Pastor Robert Shelton said.

Bloomfield Hills Board Sets School Vote Date

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — An additional operating levy of 3.3 mills will be sought by the Bloomfield Hills Board of Education in a special election Feb. 8.

The election date and amount of the proposed 15-year levy were set by the board last night following tentative approval of an incentive salary schedule for district teachers.

School board trustees had made some alterations in the schedule recommended to them last month by the teachers salary study committee.

They regulated the incentive increment, establishing it at 5 per cent of the base pay for each step.

★ ★ ★

They also extended the schedule over 14 rather than 12 years for the holders of master's degrees, to provide for more regular progression.

PROPOSED SCHEDULE

Although the proposed schedule would be put into effect during the next school year, the incentive provisions would be held until 1966-67 to allow time for a system of evaluation to be developed.

Teachers would be eligible for merit pay after they had attained three years of experience.

Administrators have estimated that 85 per cent of those eligible would qualify for the superior salaries.

★ ★ ★

Assistant Schools Supt. Irving E. Menucci last night presented a breakdown of estimated costs for the schedule's first four years of operation.

264 TEACHERS

He noted that under the present schedule the district's 264 teachers would be paid a total of $1,818,933 next year, while they will get $1,767,940 this year.

If the new schedule is approved, the payroll will be $2,003,389 for 1965-66.

However, Menucci calculated the addition of 30 new teachers a year to the system.

★ ★ ★

Adding their salaries and funds for substitute teachers, supplemental pay and driver education to the pay for present teachers takes the total to $2,286,889.

INCENTIVE PAY

The addition of the incentive pay provision and 30 more teachers in 1966-67 would take the total to $2,573,548.

Menucci noted it would be difficult to determine the percentage of the payroll consumed by the incentive increment.

Additional cost would be covered by the 3.3-mill levy, expected to net $397,916 in 1965-66 and $422,050 in 1966-67.

The sum would be added to that raised through the current 18.83-mill levy for operations, part of a total levy of 24.51 mills.

TABLE REQUEST

School board members tabled until Dec. 22 consideration of a recreation commission request to include on the Feb. 8 ballot a one-third-mill proposition for recreation.

★ ★ ★

Donald C. Hyde, school board member on the recreation commission, last night said the group had altered its request somewhat.

★ ★ ★

Recreation commissioners now are asking that the board either seek the one-third-mill for recreation or increase the allocation to the commission enough to make up the difference.

Future of Special Education Uncertain

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of two articles dealing with past growth and future potential of Oakland County's special education programs.)

By L. GARY THORNE

A cloudy future confronts Oakland County's efforts to teach the handicapped. However, the cloud was forecast and even planned.

Presently celebrating 10 years of growth, special education has reached its predetermined limits, at least financially.

When the extensive plans were mapped in 1954 for the instruction of the physically, emotionally and mentally handicapped, county educators prophesied steady growth for a decade.

The decade is past and the future uncharted.

"We have a million-dollar program and a million dollars," explains Kenneth W. Brown, Oakland Schools deputy superintendent.

COUNTYWIDE TAX

The money, actually $1.1 million, comes from a half-mill tax levied countywide. The charter millage was approved by a 10-1 margin by voters in 1954.

Combined with other sources of revenue, mostly state aid, special education's estimated income for 1964-65 will total $1,688,147. Included on the income side of the ledger is a balance of $509,597 from the past fiscal year.

Expenditures will top $1,510,431 this year, leaving a balance next June of $177,716.

★ ★ ★

With this type of budget, school officials have clamped the lid on their cashbox, insisting there can be no expansion.

NEED GROWING

While income matches expenditures, the need for special education classes continues to grow.

How much growth is needed? How much money will be needed to finance that growth? Where will the money come from?

These questions must be answered by school officials. Help in finding the answers will come from the Oakland County Superintendents Association.

★ ★ ★

This group, made up of superintendents from the county's 30 school districts, pushed the original enabling legislation that made special education possible.

PAVED WAY

In addition, the superintendents made a survey of needs a decade ago to pave the way for special education.

A study committee, headed by Hazel Park Supt. Dr. Wilfred Webb, will review the county's program and make recommendations next spring for the future.

County school officials look to the future and see four alternatives for special education. These are:

- Seek voter approval of more millage
- Get more state aid
- Give less service — let waiting lists accumulate
- Give lower subsidies—local districts would begin picking up a greater share of the costs

Compounding the financial problems of special education has been the decreasing amount of state aid over the years. During 1963-64, the state only paid out 85 per cent on a formula of $224 per pupil.

★ ★ ★

School officials are reluctant to forecast on the future of state aid. Securing state funds has generally been difficult in the past. State aid does increase, but the state's percentage of school costs continues to drop.

FINAL SOLUTION

Oakland County's final solution to the present cloud that hangs over its pioneering program is apt to be watched closely across the state.

Since the enabling legislation was passed in 1954, tailored to conditions here, the Oakland Schools' program has been a pacesetter in the field of special education.

Other districts, set up on a similar county-centered basis, have patterned themselves after Oakland County. Some 43 out of 83 counties in the state have special education plans.

Oakland County's example may continue to blaze new trails for still another decade.

Total Job Security Tops Steel Union's Goals

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Total job security for the steelworkers — just a concept for the past few months — today is a five-point program and a goal the United Steelworkers union says it will seek in coming contract talks with the basic steel industry.

A 12-page statement issued at the conclusion Thursday of a meeting of the union's international wage policy committee specified what USW President David J. McDonald had referred to previously in only general terms.

* * *

Other objectives listed were higher pay and "justice on the job." McDonald declined to estimate what the package would cost but said the proposals were not inflationary.

As expected, the statement from the union's highest policy-making body directed that negotiations on the current contract be reopened Jan. 1 with 11 major steel firms that represent 70 per cent of the nation's production.

PLANT-LEVEL

Plant-level talks on local issues already were scheduled to start Dec. 15. If no agreement is reached on either level by May 1 the union is free to strike.

Total job security headed the list of USW goals outlined in the statement.

It added: "Existing benefits provide protection for limited periods, in limited amounts, against these hazards. Our goal must now be to improve and weld these benefits into an integrated program, providing job and income protection for unlimited periods."

The proposed program was broken down into five categories, including:

Unemployment pay for senior employes for the full period of their layoff, regardless of how long.

Postage stamps Honor John F. Kennedy

NEW YORK, Dec. 4 (EN)—A very unusual series of large diamond shaped postage stamps honoring John F. Kennedy was issued recently by the Kingdom of Yemen . . . half the stamp bears a striking portrait of JFK with appropriate inscription—the top section depicts American space craft in flight . . . This very unusual set of three stamps sold out day of issue and are now quite scarce.

Because of the intense interest in JFK memorial stamps issued by foreign nations, Elmont has prepared a collection containing recently issued John F. Kennedy stamps from Colombia, Argentina, Chile, and Togo, plus the popular Yemen set mentioned above.

Interested collectors may obtain this extraordinary collection of 9 different stamps memorializing John F. Kennedy by sending $1.00 to Elmont Stamp Co., Queens Village 29, N.Y. Approvals and other offers included.

Report Africans Feel Criticism of Congo Action Will Bring U.S. Policy Reappraisal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some African diplomats in Washington have advised their governments that their critical attitude toward the recent Congo rescue operation would force the United States to take a hard second look at its African policy, diplomatic observers reported today.

These observers conceded that "critical attitude" is a euphemism for the angry denunciation Africans gave the joint U.S.-Belgian mercy mission of last week. They also added that by no means all of the diplomats in the city agreed with the angry statements which came from their capitals.

U.S. officials would not acknowledge that the criticism could change or even affect the administration's general policy toward Africa. They conceded, however, that they are watching closely the public utterances of African leaders.

A few African nations did not join the loud concert of denunciation. They include Nigeria, Morocco, Ivory Coast, the Malagasy Republic, Senegal, Liberia, Zambia and Tunisia.

MOST SCATHING

Probably the most scathing commentaries came from Algeria and Ghana. Neither caused much surprise in Washington. Both countries are striving to become leaders of an Africa they hope will be united one day.

* * *

U.S. officials deny the administration is concerned by the angry noises from Africa. Some say it was expected, although not to such an extent.

It would be beneath the dignity of the United States to respond by repeating that the operation had no aim other than to rescue hostages, officials said. The withdrawal of the paratroopers proved this was the case, and those still talking about political motives and the "return of the ex-colonial power," meaning Belgium, are "talking nonsense, and they must know it," an official commented.

* * *

Criticism from Communist countries outside Africa, on the other hand, is firmly dismissed as irrelevant and raised solely for political purposes.

Some anxiety in Africa about colonial aspirations can be understood, an official explained, but Moscow and other Communist capitals should know better.

More than 1,000 high school jazz or dance bands were organized during the 1963-64 school year, an increase of 14 per cent.

State Dems Call First House Caucus Since Gaining Power

LANSING (AP)—House Democrats called their first caucus today as they continued gearing up for a legislative takeover six weeks from now.

Most of the 72 Democratic state representatives were expected to attend the afternoon caucus aimed at choosing next year's leadership and working out "as smooth a transition as possible," said Rep. Joseph Kowalski, D-Detroit. Kowalski is House minority floor leader and the leading candidate for of the house.

The caucus was to be asked to elect a speaker. Other posts may not be filled until a later date, Democratic spokesmen said.

The legislature, scheduled to convene Jan. 13 will be dominated by Democrats for the first time since 1938.

GIVES BACKING

"I'm backing Albert Horrigan D-Flint (assistant minority floor leader), for speaker pro tem," Kowalski said. "He has ability and seniority."

Appointment of an assistant speaker pro tem (a new post), a minority floor leader, caucus chairman and two whips (also new posts) will be made by the Democrats, Kowalski said.

"We'll want two whips because of the size of the delegation," Kowalski said. "We can't be in caucus all the time. "We'll need to set up a system of communication and will need someone to keep track of all the members."

Democrats also will meet soon with Republican House members, he said.

ARRANGE DETAILS

Rep. Robert Waldron, R-Grosse Pointe, majority floor leader, has asked for the meeting to work out the physical details of the transition.

"We are definitely going to need such a meeting," Kowalski said. "We have to make an orderly transition and it must be done before the end of this month.

"The problems are many and varied—such as changing the legislative service bureau into a legislative council, deciding on clerks, a sergeant at arms, pages, stenographers."

The State Constitution calls for a bipartisan council to handle research, bill drafting and other services, some of which are now performed by the service bureau.

Place of Core City in Burgeoning Areas

Shifting sociological trends engender shifting concepts in the provision of basic public services — notably in the area of water supply and sewage disposal.

As suburban communities adjacent to established cities have grown beyond capacity or feasibility of residents or small land sections individually to provide essential utilities, a new municipal entity has emerged —the core city.

Pontiac is one of them.

With a new sewage treatment plant in operation and a water distribution system supplied by Detroit, the city has abundant capacity to extend its advantages to adjacent localities.

The economics of wider use of the installations are mutually sound. Pontiac can make good use of the revenue thus obtained, and the benefiting communities are supplied needed services at a fraction of the cost of developing plant facilities of their own.

Indeed, a start has already been made in that direction. Waste disposal for the city of Sylvan Lake and some areas of Waterford Township is being handled jointly with Pontiac, and Pontiac Township has indicated interest in obtaining its water supply from the City.

In addition to these governmental contracts, Pontiac has made water supply and sewage disposal available to commercial complexes outside the city limits.

The pattern of modern living has minimized the significance of municipal boundary lines, and logic points to the wisdom of providing community needs in the most efficacious and economical manner.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac as a well-qualified core city has much to offer its expanding neighbor areas.

Capitol Hill Ideal: Laws While You Wait

With many new faces in the 89th Congress, there are also likely to be some changes in the ground rules.

For some time now, the "liberal" Democrats have been chafing at the restraints to hasty enactment of legislation posed by seniority, unlimited debate (in the Senate) and other age-old trappings of our Congress.

Now they will be in a position to impose their will.

Sen. Joseph S. Clark has drawn up proposals for "reforming" the Senate to maximize an administration's chances of speedy action on its programs and minimize discussion of opposition views.

The House during the 88th Congress effected a compromise that reduced the ability of the Rules Committee to cool off legislative proposals before they reached the floor. And now, since it is not mandatory that seniority determine chairmanship of the House's 20 committees, it has been proposed that committee heads be appointed by the House leadership.

This would further grease the ways for sliding legislation through with a minimum of opposition or delay.

This is all a part of the gradual transfer of power from the legislative to the executive and judicial branches. Increasingly in recent decades administrations have proposed legislation and written it, then demanded that it be enacted. And the Supreme Court has been accused by some of its own Justices of appropriating powers that belong to Congress by writing new laws.

There is no question that all this makes government easier. There is much question that it makes it better. The Presidency is decided by the whole nation, but no President since Washington could claim to represent all States. The Supreme Court is not even elected.

★ ★ ★

Congress is the branch that is close to the people. There are many divergent points of view in the U.S. deserving of attention, and if Congress is weakened all of us will lose.

THE roar you have been hearing is caused by unprecedentedly violent turbulence in the upper air caused by those in areas where military installations are being closed yelling to the high heavens in protest.

Republicans Still Confused, Split

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON — Republicans, repudiated in most of the past 32 years about as thoroughly as possible in American politics, are still confused and divided almost a month after one of their worst calamities.

MARLOW

They need more than some kind of agreement among themselves to end their intraparty strife. They need a policy and an attitude giving voters far more confidence in them than has been demonstrated these past 32 years.

Only in this way can the two-party system work, with voters willing to entrust control and direction of the government to either party at fairly regular intervals.

Otherwise, Republicans are doomed to remain a minority party in danger of disintegrating altogether.

The confusion and division were illustrated again this week when on the same day:

1. Sen. Barry Goldwater, defeated for the presidency in November, stood firm against any other Republican's attempt to throw out his hand-picked chairman of the party's national committee, 38-year-old Dean Burch.

★ ★ ★

2. Charles H. Percy, the defeated Republican candidate for governor of Illinois, said he thought Burch no longer could successfully lead the party and called for a change in Republican policy.

INESCAPABLY LINKED

Burch, fervent believer in Goldwater's brand of Republicanism, is inescapably linked with more than just the senator's disastrous 15-million vote defeat by President Johnson last month.

The Republicans lost more than the presidency. In Congress, where they had been a minority party since 1954, they became even more of a minority by losing 38 seats in the House and probably two in the Senate.

If the Republican National Committee fails to give Burch a vote of confidence when it meets next month, this can be interpreted as a repudiation not only of Goldwater and his kind of conservatism but of those sharing his views.

Goldwater said the anti-Burchers on the 132-member committee don't have enough votes to get rid of the young Tucson attorney whom he chose to head the committee after his own presidential nomination in July.

At that time the committee elected Burch to a four-year term at $30,000 a year, which would seem to give him good reason for thinking he had a right to want to make the committee stick to its contract.

WOULD BE EMBARRASSING

Nevertheless, it would be embarrassing for him, the party, and any hope of party unity if a majority of the committee gave him a vote of no confidence and he still refused to step down. However, he has indicated he would resign if the committee voted no confidence.

'Mind If We Join In?'

David Lawrence Says:

U.S. Elected Conservative in LBJ

WASHINGTON—Maybe some of the Republican governors and the so-called moderates will wake up sooner or later to the fact that the American people elected a conservative as President of the United States last month.

The theory expounded by the moderates that LAWRENCE the country repudiated conservatism doesn't seem to have been accepted by President Johnson himself. For, in his speech on Wednesday to the Business Advisory Council, he made one of the best expositions of conservative doctrine that has come from the lips of a chief executive in many years.

★ ★ ★

Mr. Johnson endeavored to make it clear that the government and business are really partners in the all-important task of preserving an equilibrium in wages and prices.

He emphasized the need for a growing population.

The President, in listing "the foremost economic problems" of the day, used, of course, generalities, but he did specify the obligations of business and government and stressed the fact that both are important. He said:

"I believe the federal government's role is to create a climate conducive to prosperity."

'PRIMARY OBLIGATIONS'

The President spoke of what he called "primary obligations" of the government.

These included a tax system "that does not overburden businessmen or consumers" but maintains incentives for productive effort, "expenditure programs that promote development of human and natural resources," and "keeping a clear field for private initiative in the wide range of activities where competitive enterprise is the most efficient way of getting things done."

Mr. Johnson spoke of the importance of "an over-all budget policy that promotes balance between purchasing power and productive capacity," and he stressed the need for "monetary and credit policies that provide funds to nourish an expanding economy without overfeeding it."

★ ★ ★

Finally, the President listed the necessity for "an alertness and a willingness to act promptly and decisively when the nation is threatened by either recession or inflation."

NO CERTAINTY

These same principles have been expressed again and again by presidents who have been confronted with uncertain economic conditions, and there is no doubt that most businessmen feel—as Mr. Johnson does—that, while general business conditions today are good, there is no certainty that this will continue unless a policy of caution and prudence is followed.

In the main, Mr. Johnson's expressions, were on the conservative side, and if those Republicans who are anxious to rebuild their party imagine that the country today is antagonistic to conservatism, they will be making a serious mistake.

The administration expresses the philosophy that prevails—to apply conservative principles in the management of both the public and the private sectors of the American economy.

Blazes Trail for Her Sex as Chaplaincy Assistant

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON—Slim, attractive Julia Sibley is a pioneer in a fascinating experiment that may open the doors to an entire new career for women.

RUTH MONTGOMERY

As the nation's first professional woman in chaplaincy work, she is blazing a trail that could also provide a useful outlet for the excess energies of untold thousands of women who busy themselves with church circles and bazaars.

★ ★ ★

As an Episcopalian, Julia knew that she could not be ordained to preach, but she nevertheless spent three years studying for her master's degree in theology.

★ ★ ★

During the summers she worked as a volunteer in hospitals, and exhibited such talent as a counselor and comforter of the sick that after her graduation the Rev. Cornelius Trowbridge, head chaplain at St. Luke's Hospital, proposed that the Episcopal Church hire her for chaplaincy work.

★ ★ ★

A woman chaplain? Who had ever heard of a chaplain who was not a minister? But why not? The questions flew back and forth.

NEW YORK

Four months later through the efforts of Dr. Frederick M. Morris, rector of St. Thomas Church in New York, Julia Sibley became the first unordained woman to serve as a professional chaplaincy assistant.

In underwriting her salary, St. Thomas Church called it "a three-year experiment in a new type of religious work for women."

★ ★ ★

Wearing regular street clothes and a chaplain's pin, Miss Sibley calls regularly at all four hospitals several times a week. She baptizes babies, counsels families, prays with them if asked, and attends the bedside at death.

★ ★ ★

She is responsible for two Sunday services in the hospitals, assisting those who want to be wheeled to the chapel, and attendance is up 1,000 per cent over last year.

JUST LISTENING

A good part of her time is spent "just listening" to the woes of patients, who tell her: "You don't know how wonderful it is to be able to talk to someone — the doctors and nurses are too busy to listen."

★ ★ ★

Miss Sibley hopes that through this embryo experiment, churches throughout the nation will be inspired to pool funds for hiring hospital chaplains. She also envisions short seminars conducted by clergy and chaplains in their home communities to train housewives in theology and psychology.

These volunteers, like nurses' aides, could then assist the regular chaplains in comforting hospitalized patients, and letting them know that the church really cares about them.

Voice of the People:

Indecent Literature War Is Merely the Beginning

Your war against obscene literature makes me sick. Are you trying to make an excuse for the mistakes you made when you were a teen? Is it best for our teens to experience sex in a parked car or to read about it in the privacy of their own home?

When you rid our newsstands of this so-called indecent literature you can start with television, theaters and most all of the beaches. Next summer when you put on your skin-tight bathing suit, remember the war against indecent literature.

Don't tell me there wasn't any indecent literature back in your days—I know better. I have books dated back to 1919.

Asks What's Happening to Our Nation

What is becoming of our nation? Since when have the lives of Americans become so worthless as not to defend them or to revenge their deaths? Why were Dutch mercenaries sent into the Congo instead of the United States Army? Why did President Johnson in effect apologize to the Communists for our meager assistance in the Congo airlift? Have we ceased to care about our fellow countrymen?

★ ★ ★

Once the murder of even one of our citizens was an act of war. Now it merits only a half-hearted attempt to save the survivors. Once the prestige of our nation was so precious that we overthrew a Mexican dictatorship for refusing to salute our flag. Now it is so meaningless that to be a patriot is to be an extremist.

Says Republicans Need to Clean House

Mr. Burch said they did not have time to spend all the money in the kitty before election time.

★ ★ ★

It looks like the Republicans think money can buy anything they want. But the people are getting weaker and wiser as time goes by. I hope the Democrats in Lansing will vote for the promises Mr. Romney made two years ago and see them passed.

★ ★ ★

The Republicans don't need a rebuilding program, they need a good housecleaning. Honest Abe said a house doesn't need good furniture as long as it is clean.

'We Should Support Leaders of Nation'

I was surprised when you printed the letter denouncing Barry Goldwater as being a conservative. He will not run for the presidency in 1968. Those who concern themselves with the downgrading of Sen. Goldwater are not really concerned with the welfare of the nation.

If Republicans who supported him can now accept Mr. Johnson as President, I don't think it would be too much to ask of gloating radicals to keep their opinions of such matters to themselves. Barry Goldwater believed in himself. He believed in the United States. We cannot condemn a man for this.

★ ★ ★

Mr. Johnson will do the best he can. We can help by supporting our leaders instead of trying to downgrade them.

Economic 'Blockade'

The Portland Oregonian

The United States' economic "blockade" of Cuba has not been successful. Our allies have continued to trade with the island Communist regime, notably Canada, Britain, and France. But Castro's inability to pay for goods purchased abroad may accomplish what the United States has failed to effect by friendly persuasion.

Foreign debts of the Cuban regime have been estimated as high as 2.5 billion dollars by the Cuban economic research project. It may be considerably less but the falling price of sugar, which is Cuba's source of foreign exchange, makes payment of its foreign debts questionable. Sugar sold at 10 cents a pound early in the year but recently has been less than 4 cents.

If the estimated 1965 sugar crop of 4.2 million tons averages out as between 6 and 7 cents a pound, the half billion dollars taken in would be insufficient to meet long-term and current commitments. Next year's sugar crop is expected to be about the same and the price may be lower.

★ ★ ★

Castro's government has been able to get by thru assistance from the Soviet bloc. If the new rulers continue to pour provisions into Cuba he will get by for a while. But if he cannot pay for his purchases, western nations likely will shut off his credit.

★ ★ ★

Castro faces almost certain bankruptcy unless other Communist countries bail him out again. There is some indication that they are tiring of giving him money and goods they need badly at home.

Arabs Supported

The Arab News and Views

The leaders of 47 countries attending the seven-day nonaligned conference in Cairo unequivocably declared their full support for the Arab people of Palestine in the struggle for their rights in their homeland.

★ ★ ★

In a declaration entitled "program for peace and international cooperation," the leaders condemned "imperialistic policy" in the Middle East as being in "unconformity with the U.N. Charter." They endorsed "the full restoration of all rights of Arab people in Palestine to their homeland and their inalienable right to self-determination."

★ ★ ★

The declaration urged all participating member nations to extend material and moral support to the Palestine Liberation Organization. Referring to the Arab people still living in Palestine, the declaration supported them in their "struggle for liberation from colonialism and racism."

Pontiff Visits Bombay Slum

Orphanage Greeting Brings Tears to Eyes

BOMBAY, India (AP) — Pope Paul VI visited a wretched slum area of Bombay today, comforting the destitute and the ill and wiping tears from his eyes as he talked with orphan boys of various faiths.

Thousands jammed the squalid streets, straining for a glimpse of the Roman Catholic pontiff. Rioting threatened as police fought to maintain a path for the papal entourage, but frantic loudspeaker appeals calmed the crowd moments before the Pope arrived.

★ ★ ★

The Pope opened his third day in India by celebrating an outdoor Mass in a Catholic school stadium. He then walked to a nearby orphanage for breakfast and from there drove miles through the teeming streets for one appointment after another.

"Many of us have no fathers," 13-year-old Tony Mascerenas said as he welcomed the Pope to the orphanage. "Many of us have no mothers. Some, like me, have no one in this world."

WIPED HIS EYES

The Pope wiped his eyes as the boy continued: "You have left important people and grand places to see us in our poor home. We cannot give you anything because we have nothing. But we ask God to reward your holiness."

The Pope joined 30 of the home's 216 boys for breakfast, praying with them and drinking coffee and orange juice. The boys had milk tinged with coffee, jam sandwiches and oranges.

★ ★ ★

The Pope announced a gift of $10,000 to the orphanage. And to each of the boys he personally distributed Rosaries and commemorative medals.

As he left the room, some boys were examining their Rosaries and medals and a few continued eating.

PUSHED WAY IN

"Goodbye, goodbye," the Pope said. "Bless you, bless you."

At St. Xavier School stadium, where he celebrated the outdoor Mass, tickets were given 16,000 people and police said at least 4,000 more pushed their way in.

★ ★ ★

Wearing a crimson cape over his white cassock, Pope Paul appeared tired when he arrived but during the ceremony he seemed to gain energy and spoke with vigor about his journey to India.

NOT A STRANGER

"We do not feel ourself a stranger among you," the Pope said. "The Pope is at home wherever the Church is at home. The Church everywhere is closely united to the people in all their efforts for the betterment of the nation."

After Mass, Pope Paul visited St. Paul's Church nearby. About 200 ill persons sat patiently inside under rotating ceiling fans, waiting for his blessing.

★ ★ ★

The Pope went to the altar, prayed briefly with the sick and spoke a few words of comfort. He then blessed a new wing of a neighboring technical school named "The Pope Paul VI Wing."

The midmorning temperature was in the 80s as Pope Paul left the school and motored through bumpy slum streets to Don Bosco, a Catholic boys high school.

At the school a crowd of at least 100,000 jammed the streets for two blocks, perching in trees and on balconies and lining the rooftops.

Briton Hails County Use of Plan to Teach Alphabet

Oakland County is one of two areas in the United States making profitable use of Initial Teaching Alphabet (ITA), a new means of teaching children their ABC's.

This was the observation of John Downing, a British reading expert who visited the county this week.

Downing, who toured local classrooms and spoke to county educators, is head of the Reading Research Unit of the University of London Institute of Education.

ITA is a 44-symbol alphabet used to teach children to read and write.

Unlike the traditional alphabet, there are no capital letters in ITA. This is one means of cutting down on the confusion for the beginning student.

NEW APPROACH

For example, he does not have to learn "g" and "G" in ITA.

The new approach, which Downing prefers not to call revolutionary despite its widespread growth, substitutes other symbols for common sounds.

For instance, the common sound "u" as in ruby, rule, do, move, fruit, moon, etc., can be expressed in 17 different ways in conventional print.

In ITA, a single symbol is substituted, which looks like a fancy "w."

Thus, said Downing, the load is greatly lightened for the beginning pupil.

Downing said the student in ITA has only one letter to learn for each of the 40 odd basic sound units of English.

Oakland County has 12 school districts testing the ITA approach, including Pontiac and Waterford Township.

In the United States, only Cleveland can match the county's use of ITA according to the British expert.

* * *

Invented by Sir James Pitman, grandson of the inventor of shorthand, ITA is unique in that a student can easily transfer to conventional books and reading.

VARIOUS SYSTEMS

Downing said that in the past, various systems had been devised from time to time, but that none provided for the transfer to the conventional alphabet.

Downing said 1,000 English schools are using ITA, although it is only about three years old.

"And I expect it to spread like anything by next summer," added the 42-year-old Englishman.

"It's pretty well caught on in a nice way, although I would not regard it as revolutionary," said Downing.

UNIVERSAL MEANS

He said that some day it was quite likely to be a universal means of teaching beginning reading.

Downing's visit to Oakland County is part of a month-long national tour which will take in 18 educational gatherings.

Controversy in Japan Over Medal

TOKYO (UPI) — The Japanese government announced today it will present the highest decoration it can give a foreigner to Gen. Curtis LeMay, chief of staff of the U. S. Air Force. The announcement immediately provoked a storm of controversy.

LeMay will arrive in Japan Sunday as part of a Far Eastern tour. At a regular cabinet meeting, the government decided to present him with the First Order of a Grand Cordon Rising Sun medal.

Toru Ohara, ranking member of the opposition Socialist party, said it was "ridiculous" to present a medal to "a man who directed the dropping of atomic bombs in Hiroshima and Nagasaki."

During World War II, LeMay commanded a bomber squadron with headquarters on Mariana Island in the Pacific, and was in charge of directing aerial bombing of Japan.

"I have no grudge against Gen. LeMay as a person," Ohara said, "but I think it is ridiculous to award a medal on behalf of the Japanese people."

HELPED JAPAN

Officials of the Japanese Self-Defense Agency said LeMay has helped Japan establish a modern air force.

And another member of parliament who led a Japanese naval squadron in the attack against Pearl Harbor backed the government's decision. He was Minoru Genda, who two years ago received a meritorious award from the late President John F. Kennedy for postwar services.

"No matter what he (LeMay) did during the war, we should evaluate highly his service for the maintenance of peace and prevention of a nuclear war," Genda said.

But Shinzo Hamai, the mayor of Hiroshima, questioned the advisability of the government's action.

"The general's contribution to the development of Japan's self-defense force is well-known but the atom bombing of Hiroshima cannot be erased from memory," he said.

Viet Generals Urge End to Squabbling, Unity Against Cong

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (UPI) — South Viet Nam's top generals today urged the nation's political and religious leaders to cease squabbling and unite against the Communist Viet Cong insurgents.

In a communique published by the government news agency, 22 generals and one colonel asked the civilian leaders to end "all petty differences and shatter all plots to sow division among the people."

The statement amounted to formal backing of civilian Premier Tran Van Huong, who imposed martial law last week to put down demonstrations by factions which seek a greater share in running the government.

The communique was drawn up at a meeting of the military brass Wednesday in the mountain resort of Dalat. The generals said they resolved:

- To stand by their promise of last August to leave the government in the hands of civilians.
- To "fully support a clean civilian government which works for the nation and the people and does not bow to pressure from within or without the country."
- To "hope that the present civilian government would restore order at the rear so the fighting men on the front could devote their concern to defeating the Communist aggressors."

Maxwell D. Taylor, U. S. ambassador to South Viet Nam, left Washington en route to Saigon after consulting with President Johnson on ways to improve the conduct of the war against the Viet Cong.

In Hong Kong, the Copley News Service quoted President Ho Chi Minh of North Viet Nam as warning that his country will "resolutely strike back" in the event of attacks by the United States.

UNTIL TODAY

Generals who approved of the Huong government had avoided formal expressions of support until today, for fear the Buddhists would accuse Huong of being a front man for a military dictatorship.

Huong, who has sternly put down demonstrations against his government, went on the government radio Wednesday night to warn that he will deal just as strictly with future disturbances.

"If the disturbances break out again, the government naturally will have to again take extraordinary measures, and once again the people will have to put up with hardships," he said.

Struggle Seen Less Hopeless

Signs Remove Some of Gloom From War

SAIGON (UPI) — The outlook for the United States in South Viet Nam remains grim. But there are signs that make the anti-Communist struggle appear a little less hopeless.

First, the government has been killing Viet Cong soldiers at an unprecedented rate for the past two weeks, with relatively few losses of its own.

It is far too early to call this a trend, but last week's "kill ratio" of 630 Communists to only 110 government soldiers was a sharp change from months of gloomy statistics.

Second, the month-old government of Prime Minister Tran Van Huong has turned out to be stronger than most observers had expected.

* * *

Third, the Viet Cong appear worried about American threats to bomb their supply bases in Communist North Viet Nam.

LOCAL RUMORS

This is the interpretation which American intelligence officers here are putting on the recent spate of local rumors that the Viet Cong want to negotiate their way out of the war.

These experts believe the rumors are deliberately planted to buck up American optimism and make the United States feel that an attack on the North is no longer necessary.

A fourth hopeful sign is the flow of new recruits out of the Vietnamese training camps and into the field.

Board Offers Land Parcel as Park Site

Waterford Township Schools will offer a 10.5-acre parcel fronting on Loon Lake for sale the township as a propective park site.

The site, located behind the Mason Junior High School plant now under construction, is priced at $37,320.

Prospectes of the sale had been discussed informally several times in the past.

Purchase of the parcel was recommended nearly a year ago to the township by the township's planning commission but action was deferred because no funds were available.

* * *

The price offered by the school board includes a proposed five-foot fence that would separate the school from the park area.

Also specified in the offer is that the township pay interest of 3.59 per cent on the $37,320 from Nov. 7 last year, the date of the school district's bond sale.

The proposed agreement also asks that the township deed over to the school district five acres of swamp land the township owns adjacent to the Monteith School.

In other business last night, the school board voted to accept the low bid of Schefke Builders for remodling the annex building at Waterford Township High School.

* * *

Besides the $82,835 construction cost the school district also will pay an architect's fee of $4,473 for the project.

The board also authorized architects to proceed with the bus garage project.

A budget of $65,000 was specified.

Following discussion of difficulties faced by junior high youngsters who must walk along M59 to school, Trustee Donald Porter called for a formal resolution stating that the board wants walkways throughout the district.

The resolution will be prepared and acted upon at the Dec. 17 meeting.

Board members also were briefed on the Michigan Youth Work-Training Program for graduates or students out of school six months by Dr. Burton K. Thorn, director of Vocational Education.

* * *

The program, which is not related to the pilot program on school dropouts planned by the school system, is being considered by several other county school systems.

It's our business to help you get there fast . . . and at sensible rates.

Board Hears Music Pupils

Music filled the air last night as youngsters in the Waterford Township Schools instrumental music program demonstrated their progress for the benefit of the school board.

Besides hearing the actual demonstration of musical accomplishments, the board heard a report on the program by Mary Phipps, supervisor of the elementary music department.

Miss Phipps said that 422 youngsters are receiving instrumental music training, 247 in the string class and 175 in band classes.

The band program is in its third year and the string instruction began this fall, Miss Phipps said.

Teachers, Miss Katharine Derr and Thomas McMillan put their respective string band pupils through their paces.

Transit Exec, Wife Hurt as Car Hits Tree

Glenn Crawford, manager of Pontiac Transit Corp., and his wife, Ellen, were injured last night when their car left the road and hit a tree in Troy.

Troy police said that Mrs. Crawford was driving when the car went off the road at Adams and Newgate, about a half-mile north of Big Beaver, at 9:28 p.m.

Both were taken to William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak, where Mrs. Crawford is in fair condition and her husband's condition is serious.

The Crawfords, of 559 Brown, Birmingham, received multiple fractures and lacerations, with possible internal injuries.

Troy police are continuing to investigate the accident. No statement has been obtained from the Crawfords.

Sustains Injury at Orion Twp. Construction Site

Jerry Herndon, 22, of Plymouth is in satisfactory condition at Pontiac General Hospital after suffering a head injury yesterday at an Orion Township construction site.

Sheriff's deputies said Herndon was working in a ditch at Baldwin and Waldon when a hydraulic back hoe above him struck him on the head.

Herndon, who was wearing a construction helmet is employed by Downing Construction Co. of Detroit.

Enters Guilty Plea in Station Holdup

A Commerce Township youth yesterday pleaded guilty in Circuit Court to holding up a White Lake Township gas station while being AWOL from the Navy last August.

To be sentenced Dec. 22 for assault with intent to rob while being armed is James B. Howitt, 17, of 3658 Benstein. He is to appear before Judge Frederick C. Ziem.

* * *

Howitt, according to Detective Herbert Dolby of the sheriff's department, robbed Emery Spencer, an attendant at Corey's Hi-O gas station, 5410 Highland, of $25 on Aug. 22, Dolby said. Howitt was armed with a 12-gauge sawed-off shotgun.

A week later he was picked up by Royal Oak police on the AWOL charge and turned over to naval authorities to whom he admitted the holdup. The sheriff's department was then called in to investigate.

Enters Innocent Plea After Return to Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — Raymond Wyngaard, once one of the FBI's 10 most wanted men, pleaded innocent to armed robbery charges Thursday in Recorder's Court.

Wyngaard, who was captured by FBI agents in Madison, Wis., last Saturday, is being held under bond raised to $50,000. He is charged in connection with the June 20 holdup of a Detroit market.

Predictions of Strange Results in Illinois House Vote Came True

CHICAGO (AP) — When Illinois elected its House of Representatives on an at-large basis last Nov. 3 political observers predicted that strange things would happen. They were right.

First, there were the preliminaries, with both parties searching for candidates with well known names — such as Eisenhower and Stevenson.

Then there was the bath-towel-size paper ballot, listing the 118 candidates to which each Republicans and Democrats were limited by hastily enacted laws. The 177 with the most votes would be elected, insuring minority representation.

Announcement of the winners was made Thursday after an unofficial canvass, one month after the election. All 118 Democrats won handily, and Republicans scrambled for the remaining 59 seats.

After the 1962 elections, Republicans held an 89-88 House margin. Those legislators approved a plan to remap the state along lines of population changes, but Gov. Otto Kerner, a Democrat, vetoed it, and all other attempts at resolving the deadlock failed.

Failure caused the first election in the nation in which an entire chamber of a state legislature was elected at large.

Among Republicans elected were Earl Eisenhower, brother of the former President who led the GOP candidates, and John Clinton Youle, a former Chicago television weather forecaster. Both were making their first bid for public office. Adlai E. Stevenson III, son of the U.S. ambassador to the United Nations and former governor of Illinois, was the leading vote-getter for the Democrats. He also had never run for public office before.

* * *

One of the major tasks facing the new legislators will be reapportionment of the House, the controversy which started the whole problem.

Republicans retain control of the State Senate 33 to 25. The Senate contests were not affected by the at-large vote.

Set Service for Doctor

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Funeral service will be held today for Dr. Frank L. Doran, 68, a past president of the Kent County Medical Society, who died Tuesday at his home here after a brief illness. He was a former chief of staff of St. Mary's Hospital.

Recount on Liquor Vote

GREENVILLE (AP) — A recount of votes on the issue of liquor by the glass will be held Tuesday, according to City Clerk Leo Foster. The proposal lost by eight votes in the Nov. 3 general election.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Whiplash Injuries Are Often Overtreated

When you are sitting in a car that is suddenly and vigorously rammed from behind you may incur what is loosely known as a whiplash injury.

BRANDSTADT

Your head weighs about 12 pounds. As your heavier body is forced forward, your head first snaps back, then, as it to catch up with the rest of your body, it snaps forward. A boxer may have a similar injury from a rabbit punch to the back of his neck.

Although this may cause tearing of a ligament, injury to one of the vertebrae of the neck, or a rupture of one of the cartilage disks between the vertebrae, 94 per cent of all whiplash injuries are simple sprains which will get well spontaneously with little or no treatment.

Unfortunately, many of these injuries are overtreated with hot compresses, ultrasound, diathermy and traction and are made worse, according to Dr. H. E. Crowe.

* * *

In support of this belief he reported that many victims of auto accidents who suffered major fractures in addition to their whiplash injury at no time complained of whiplash nor had any aftereffects of such an injury.

TOO CONCERNED

They were too concerned with the broken arms or legs to worry about the minor injury to the neck.

What then should be done for a whiplash injury? Because this is not a single disease, a very careful examination, including X rays, by a competent physician is the first step.

If the victim has incurred a simple sprain, a word of reassurance is often all that is needed.

* * *

Cold compresses applied promptly following the injury and continued for 24 hours often gives marked relief. These are far less likely to do harm than hot compresses.

MORE SERIOUS

In those victims whose condition is more serious special tests are often necessary to determine the exact nature of the injury.

When headaches persist for many months, operation on a cervical vertebra or disk may be the only treatment that will relieve pressure on a nerve and stop the pain.

Q — I have a Baker's cyst in the bend of my leg. What is the proper treatment?

* * *

A — Baker's cyst is a bursitis behind the knee joint. In adults it is most frequently seen in the 50s and may be due to arthritis, injury or unknown causes.

Cortisone or a related drug injected into the area involved may prove beneficial but in most victims the cyst must be removed surgically.

Glass Bottle Nothing New

It started in Egypt some 4,000 years ago.

The crude vials of those days were laboriously turned out by hand, while today's slick containers are machine-made at the rate of some 25.5 billion a year in the U.S. alone according to the Glass Container Manufacturers Institute.

Bottles in ancient times were priceless luxuries. Today they are household necessities.

Liberals Set to Oust 'Goldwater Dems'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Liberal Democrats in the House believe they now have enough votes to purge from the party two Southern Congressmen who supported Sen. Barry M. Goldwater for president.

Key members of the liberal-oriented Democratic Study Group held a strategy session behind closed doors yesterday.

They said afterward that they would go ahead with plans to discipline the two defectors, Reps. John Bell Williams, D-Miss., and Albert W. Watson, D-S.C., at a caucus of all House Democrats Jan. 2.

"We are satisfied we have a majority," said Rep. Frank Thompson Jr., D-N. J., spokesman for the six members who attended the meeting in the office of Rep. John A. Blatnik, D-Minn. Blatnik is chairman of the study group.

★ ★ ★

Other sources said Thompson based his claim on an informal nose count conducted mainly by telephone.

COULD DISAPPEAR

The sources also said, however, that the majority now believed to favor the ouster could melt swiftly away if President Johnson or some other top party leader opposed it.

To bolster their case against Williams and Watson, the group assembled for display to the party caucus an array of press clippings, speeches and other materials to show how the two congressmen openly supported Goldwater against President Johnson.

Thompson was asked about reports that Johnson has indicated he would rather not begin the new session of Congress with an intraparty fight.

★ ★ ★

Thompson said none of his group had heard anything to this effect from the President, adding, "I doubt that the President would inject himself into this matter."

TOLD INTENTION

The Democratic study group, which numbered about 125 members in the 88th Congress, announced before the election it would seek to bar from the party any members who directly opposed the Democratic national ticket.

The party discipline, if sustained by the Democratic caucus, would hit Williams hardest because it would mean loss of his seniority.

An 18-year House veteran, he is No. 2 man on the House Commerce Committee and could become its chairman eventually if he is not deprived of his party status.

★ ★ ★

Watson, who was just elected to his second term, has little to lose in seniority.

FIGHT PROMISED

Williams has promised to fight any move to oust him from the party.

★ ★ ★

He contends that he was nominated and elected as a Democrat by the people of Mississippi's 3rd congressional district and no one can read him out of the party.

Quick Deployment of New Jets Cited

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Air Force is ready to deploy its new 1,600-mile-per-hour Phantom II jet fighters to any part of the world within 36 hours of getting orders.

★ ★ ★

Brig. Gen. Albert W. Schinz, commander of the 836th Air Division at MacDill Air Force Base, Fla., made the statement at a Pentagon news conference yesterday.

★ ★ ★

He reviewed a record-setting 10,000-mile nonstop training flight completed by four of the Phantom IIs.

★ ★ ★

Schinz said that during Wednesday's record flight—completed in 17 hours, 32 minutes and involving seven air-to-air refuelings—the Navy-developed Phantom II "performed beautifully."

Him Gets Lift With President

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson took pity on a lonesome Beagle yesterday and gave 'Him' a ride in the presidential limousine.

The chief executive noticed the dog as he was getting into the car outside his White House office for a trip to Georgetown University for convocation address. He had the dog placed in the rear seat.

Johnson left Him in the limousine while he delivered the speech, then rode back to the White House with the dog beside him. Her, Him's sister, died last week after swallowing a stone.

Junior Editors Quiz on NAILS

QUESTION: What are the different kind of nails used for?

ANSWER: A nail is a most useful little thing if you remember how cheap it is and how securely it can hold two pieces of wood together.

The pointed end opens the wood in advance of the body of the nail and tends to keep the wood from splitting. The flattened head makes an even, neat surface when driven in.

There are many kinds of nails but carpenters use mostly the four kinds shown against the black background.

The common or wire nail is best where strength is required, having a stout body. The more slender box nails are used for careful joinery. Finishing nails have heads only slightly larger than the body.

They must be driven carefully as they bend easily, but are very useful in fine work as the small head can hardly be seen and can be driven below the surface with a nailset. The sturdy flooring brad is used for nailing down floor boards.

To drive a nail properly, be sure to hold your hammer so it will come down perfectly evenly on the nail-head, neither to one side or the other. This will require practice but is a very useful knack to acquire.

FOR YOU TO DO: Get a few wire nails, box nails and finishing nails and do a bit of practicing, driving in each kind. Be careful you don't hit your thumb.

Anti-Semitism Seen in Decline

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The American Jewish Committee said today a study shows that open anti-Semitism has declined sharply in the last 25 years, but could make a swift comeback in time of social crisis.

Results of a survey by Rutgers University sociology Prof. Charles Stember were announced by Dr. John Slawson, AJC executive vice president.

Slawson said one of the study's most significant findings was that Jews are being increasingly viewed as individuals "rather than as a special kind of people with fixed qualities."

★ ★ ★

He said the study also indicated latent and ingrained prejudice is still in evidence and could be activated by upheavals in American society.

2 WTHS Seniors, Physics Instructor Attend Conference

JEAN PERRY

Selected to represent Waterford Township High School in the Southeastern Michigan Junior Science and Humanities Symposium this month were seniors Kenneth Main and Richard Miller.

Physics instructor Alfred Pavlish also attended.

The conference was sponsored by the United States Army Research Office — Durham, U. S. Army Mobility Command and Wayne State University.

Held in hope that the participants would bring back with them knowledge, it was hoped the JSHS program would stimulate further the scientific and humanistic enterprise in their schools.

★ ★ ★

Major speakers were Dr. Harold A. Basilius, director of the Wayne State University Press; Dr. George W. Beadle, president of the University of Chicago; Lawson M. McKenzie, teacher at George Washington University; and Major General Alden K. Sibley, candidate for the Ph. D. in nuclear physics at George Washington University.

TO DECORATE LOBBY

This year student council will again decorate the WTHS lobby with a large Christmas tree decorated by the art club, along with the Christmas drive and nativity scenes throughout the school.

The campaign for the Waterlog, the WTHS yearbook, has finally come to an end after reaching the goal that was set at the sale of 1200 yearbooks.

Reaching this goal means that there will be full color in the '65 Waterlog resembling the color in the '64 book. This year's book will have 216 pages.

★ ★

WTHS has been able to keep up its tradition of no advertising in the Waterlog, also by reaching this goal.

BOOKS SOLD

The books were sold in homeromos, costing $4.50 without an activity card and $4 with.

Debate Team in Tie for First

Clarkston, 2 Others Lead After 1st Round

By CATHY RICHARDSON

The Clarkston High School debaters share first place in the Wayne-Oakland County league standing with Northville and Bloomfield Hills after a first round debate held at West Bloomfield recently.

★ ★ ★

Wins for Clarkston were gained over Clarenceville by the affirmative team of John Slade and Thomas Masters and over Brighton by the negative team of Gary Fitch and Paul Taylor.

Other members of this year's debate squad are Charles Pearson, Gloria Bridges, Terry Dutcher, Carol Cinader, Andrew Rossano and Sue Logan.

Debate coach Lee Moore announced that Clarkston will host Tuesday's league meet and the team will compete in a state schedule at Oxford Thursday.

★ ★ ★

For the past week, Clarkston sophomores have been in the process of selecting their class rings. After voting for their favorite, from three selections, they ordered the rings which will arrive in the spring.

The Y-teens will go swimming at the Oakland University pool tomorrow afternoon from 1 to 3 p.m. Monday evening they will participate in the hanging of the greens at the YWCA.

Clarkston's first basketball game with Milford will be topped off by a dance this evening.

★ ★ ★

Clarkston's student government sponsored the Wayne-Oakland County league student council meeting last night. At this time members from all of the student governments met to discuss problems and projects.

PCH Ensemble to Join Chorus

By KAY COSMA

Monday night the Pontiac Central High School senior girls ensemble will perform with the MacDowell Male Chorus.

The ensemble is the special guest at the concert which will be held at Washington Junior High School at 8:15 p.m. A. Michael Dempsey will direct the girls' portion of the program.

Included in their performance will be such numbers as "Ebb Tide," "One Little Candle," "Somebody Loves Me," and the Christmas song "Do You Hear What I Hear?"

Last night Central's male chorus and senior boys' ensemble performed a combined concert at Washington Junior High School. The concert also included Washington's male chorus and Jackson Swingers.

The entire male concert did excerpts from Rodgers and Hammerstein's "South Pacific." Soloists included Edith Payne, Bill Kimball, Nathan Jones and Judie Gordon, with a chorus line of Central's senior girls ensemble.

The entire concert was under the direction of A. Michael Dempsey and Gilbert Jackson.

225 to Sing Sunday

By ALICE TURNER

Two-hundred and twenty-five Pontiac Northern High School students from the various glee clubs and choirs will blend their voices and efforts Sunday for their annual Christmas concert.

To be held at 3 p.m. in the Pontiac Northern auditorium, there will be no admission charge for the concert.

The Northern Lights will be singing "You Hear What I Hear?" and "Sleigh Ride." "White Christmas" and "The Angels Are Flying" will be done by the Northern Nine.

"Go Tell It on the Mountain" and "Psalm 19" of Beethoven will be presented by the a cappella choir. The girls ensemble will sing "Christmas Medley," "Silver Bells," "Let It Snow," "Chestnuts Roasting on a Open Fire" and "A Christmas Child."

★ ★ ★

"Carol Brothers Carols" will be done by the boys' chorus. The Madrigal Singers will present "Jingle Bells" and "He Is Born," while the cantata "Love Transcending" will be one of the main features of the concert.

NARRATOR

Wayne Annable will act as the narrator who will tell the Christmas story during the cantata. He begins with the prophecy of the coming of Christ and ends with His birth. The cantata will be sung by the boys' and girls' choirs and glee clubs.

Nancy Elkins, Neil Findley, Giles Kandt, Cheryl Heldberg and Debbie Hopper will be singing solos with Donna Shaw accompanying them on the piano. Judith Waid and John Tousley are directing the concert.

Production dates for Northern's second musicale, "Carousel," by Rodgers and Hammerstein have been set for Feb. 25-27. Beginning Monday tryout sheets and committee applications will be available to the students. Tryouts will begin the following week.

Judith Hansen and John Tousley will direct this production. Also aiding in the production are Alonzo Seaboldt and the Northern orchestra, Pauline Woodin and the Stagecraft club and Madeline McConnell as choreographer.

Four Northern students have been selected to participate in an honor quartet which will try out for the Michigan Honor Choir, which meets each month in Lansing.

Future teachers club of Northern has a new sponsor this year, John Buchanan. His wife, who teaches at LeBaron Elementary School, will be assisting him in various projects.

This is the first time a co-op sponsorship between different teaching levels has been tried at Northern.

The ski club has elected officers for this year. Officers are Eric Sturdy, president; Carol Rose, vice president; Peggy Johnson, secretary; Rick Patterson, treasurer; and Robyn Humphries, historian.

Mary Saranen and Alice Turner, accompanied by the Bruce Neelys, attended the National Scholastic Press Association convention at the Conrad Hilton in Chicago over the Thanksgiving holiday vacation.

Society Inducts New Members

Oxford High Students Join Honor Group

By SHIRLEY EVANS

The induction ceremony of the Freda Quayle chapter of the National Honor Society at Oxford High School was held recently.

Speakers for the club were Carol Torrey, Jeanne Hoover, president; David Houck, Carole Statwick and Elizabeth Johnson.

Several selections were sung by the choir under the direction of Mrs. Dorothy Valentine and guest speaker was Duncan Sells, the assistant dean of Oakland University.

Seniors newly inducted were Robert Francis, Martha Gardner, Richard McGlashen, Peggy Rowley, Judy Sutton and Julie VanWagoner.

★ ★ ★

DAR AWARD

The Daughters of the American Revolution recently selected Linda Bishop, a senior, for their annual good citizenship award.

Work is being done for the coming senior dance Dec. 12 which will be called "Meet Mr. Snowman." Bob Viau is chairman and on his committee are Judy Polovich, Elizabeth Johnson, Marlene Tottingham and Carole Statwick.

Michael Schlusler, a junior, was selected to travel to Europe with the Michigan Youth Chorale group this summer. He recently attended the tryouts in Ann Arbor in order to be eligible.

Trick Cagers to Play at Milford

By BOB GORSLINE

The Harlem Diplomats, a trick basketball team from Canada, will meet the Milford High School faculty all-stars in a game sponsored by the student council and the dad's club tomorrow night.

Beginning at 8 p.m. in the high school gym, tickets for the game are available from members of the sponsoring organizations and will be sold at the door.

Final rehearsals are being held in preparation for the Christmas concert of the Milford High School band, to be held Thursday. The concert will begin at 8 p.m. in the little theater.

Included on the program are the overture to "The Messiah" by Handel, "Procession of Nobles" by Rimsky-Korsakov, selections from "The Sound of Music" by Rodgers and Hammerstein, and various other Christmas melodies.

★ ★ ★

The scholastic aptitude test, necessary for admission to many college, will be administered tomorrow at 8:30 a.m. at the high school to seniors who have previously registered.

Club to See Noted Singer

By LINDA TONG

The humanities club of Avondale High School is planning to see singer Johnny Mathis tomorrow. The club has attended the play "J. B." and plans to attend other attractions in the future.

★ ★ ★

The ski club plans to take a weekend trip to Wolverine. Cost of the trip will be $30 to club members. Claude Wiseman is club sponsor.

Yearly Retreat Lends Quiet to St. Fred's

By JANIS QUARLES

A spirit of solitude has been prevalent at St. Frederick High School for the past week instead of the usual routine schedule and activities. Students have been attending their annual retreat, a time of self-betterment.

Some of the senior and junior boys attended their retreat at Manresa on Woodward. The senior and junior girls had the opportunity to make this spiritual event at the Dominican Retreat House in Oxford.

Remaining students stayed at school to make their retreat. The boys and girls went to school on the assigned days of Tuesday and Wednesday, respectively.

Fr. George B. Cronin from St. Kevin's parish in Inkster conducted the retreat for both boys and girls.

Morning services comprised an opening conference and discussion followed by a period of private prayer. A Mass was then celebrated according to the new changes with the text in English and an offertory procession in which the retreatants took an active part.

AFTERNOON AGENDA

The afternoon also included conferences and discussions. Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament closed the day long ceremonies.

Friday marked the resuming of normal class activities. Today, the students assembled to celebrate the feast day of our pastor, Rev. Arthur F. Oldani. The assembly greeted father with songs and presented him with a gift.

Walled Lake

By VIVI METTALA

Walled Lake High School senior Pamela Connelly won the title of "Miss Photogenic 1965" in the Midwest Photo Contest held recently at Cobo Hall.

Competing against more than 100 girls, Pamela received a trophy, a $25 cash prize, two dozen roses, and the opportunity to model for a professional photographer.

An outstanding senior in debate and forensics, Robert Smart has placed among the 11 finalists in the Brotherhood Speech contest. Sponsored by the Junior Roundtable of Christians and Jews in the Detroit area, the contest had a topic of "Brotherhood is my Business."

The deciding contest was held yesterday.

A fall sports banquet was held this week for the families of boys in cross country and football. The program included a potluck dinner, a film, and presentation of awards by coaches David Smith, football; and Don Smith, cross country.

Our Lady of the Lakes

By ANN LONGO

The glee club and the dramatics club at Our Lady of the Lakes High School are preparing for the annual Christmas festival on song Dec. 20.

Albert Mayworm has been directing the glee club, which has been rehearsing since September.

For the first time the junior-senior dramatics club will be participating. It is presenting a play, "Song of Glory," a Christmas story.

Cast members are Sharon Tracey, Jane Zelnis, Dean Sovey, Marjory Moultrop, Michael Feliska, Jean Nichols, Cynthia James, Gerald Roberts, William Methner, Jeanette St. Louis, Jeffrey Janik, Lee Smith and Nancy Thill.

The play is being directed by Sister Mary Lawrence, dramatic club sponsor. Stage managers are Gerald Roberts and Jeffrey Janik.

West Bloomfield

By SUSAN LAFEHR

The West Bloomfield High School Student Council, under the supervision of David Vivian, social science instructor, is investigating a proposal made by the senior class to revise the present constitution.

★ ★ ★

The new constitution will give the student government more power in school activities.

Hosting the Wayne-Oakland County league debate Wednesday was the WBHS debate club. The affirmative team of Richard Straus and James Strong won their debate against Brighton.

Negative team members Charles Urchart and Robert Ousterhout lost to Northville. This organization is sponsored by Mrs. Donald Leinweber.

Art classes have their work displayed throughout the school for the student body to view. Oil paintings, metal and wood crafts are among displays.

Program to Improve Student Understanding

A program to improve student's geographic understanding —beginning with ninth and tenth grades—has been launched under a $160,000 National Science Foundation grant to the Association to the American Geographers.

The program's immediate aims are to develop stronger and updated high school geography courses and to develop new instructional materials for them.

Letters Awarded

By TIM MAYER

Varsity football letters were awarded at Emmanuel Christain High School. Presented by coach Roger Sykes, 23 students received their awards.

★ ★ ★

Starters heading the list were John Allen, Jack Bramblett, Ronald Dillingham, Aubrey Grogan, Michael Hickmott, Darrell Hutto, Paul Lenker, Tim Mayer, Ronald Morgan, Robert Roe, David Savage and William Simpson.

Also on the program was the presentation of trophies to the captain, Tim Mayer; and the most valuable player, Ronald Morgan, who was selected by his teammates.

Emmanuel had four of its students honored in the recent Salute to Youth program sponsored by the Pontiac Citizens Committee on Youth.

Cheryl Jackson and Tim Mayer received awards in the field of outstanding leadership. Pat Palmer was awarded a speech certificate and Michael Hickmott received one of the two awards given for heroism.

NHS CHAPTER

The newly organized Valiant Shield chapter of the National Honor Society is making plans for its first fund raising project. Together with the senior class the combined groups are going to sponsor a Christmas tree sale.

Proceeds will go into a scholarship fund for outstanding NHS members and toward the senior trip.

Senior president Don Spring and NHS president Tim Mayer are undertaking direction of the project.

Some Mediums Have Performed Remarkable Feats

Scientists Seek Positive Proof of Life After Death

Editor's Note: This is the fifth and last dispatch on extrasensory perception by the UPI's national reporter.)

By HARRY FERGUSON
United Press International

Newspapermen sometimes discuss what would be the biggest news story of all.

★ ★ ★

Over the years nominations have included a total war, tidal waves on all shores of all continents, the conquest of cancer and even some variation of the Duke of Windsor story in which love conquers all in high places.

The man who probably cut closest to the heart of the question of what fascinates us all was a talented New York editor named Herbert Bayward Swope: "positive proof of life after death."

Survival beyond the grave is an article of faith in most religions. But Swope was not talking about ironclad scientific proof.

Great intellects have ranged themselves on both sides of the controversy over whether the personality can survive death.

William James was convinced that a medium named Mrs. Leonore Piper was in touch with the great beyond. William Shakespeare, in a famous soliloquy on death, has Hamlet say that the other side of the grave is an undiscovered country from which no traveler returns.

★ ★ ★

Spiritualism is the religion that deals most directly with the problem. Its followers believe that we not only survive death but, through mediums, can communicate with our friends and loved ones among the living.

Dr. J. B. Rhine of Duke University, a pioneer in the study of extrasensory perception, has no interest in attacking faith or discrediting religion.

REMARKABLE FEATS

Reputable scientists agree mediums have performed some remarkable feats. William James was not a naive fool. He was a doctor of medicine and a distinguished psychologist at Harvard University. He probably was the best qualified man in the United States to pass judgment on Mrs. Piper.

When James went to see the medium, he took care that she would not know his identity or any facts about his family. Mrs. Piper went into a trance and began naming and describing some of James' dead relatives.

She answered questions about the relatives accurately, although she did not claim to be in direct touch with them. She said she was getting her information through an intermediary in the spirit world or, in her own language, a "control."

After much investigation James came to the considered judgment that Mrs. Piper "has supernormal powers."

The search for scientific proof of life after death was one of Rhine's primary objectives when he began his research more than 30 years ago. Not to keep you in suspense, he hasn't found it yet.

A THEORY

One scientific hypothesis offered to explain the powers of mediums is that they truly are receiving information, but not from beyond the grave.

This theory is that in their trances they are receptive to mental telepathy from the minds of the persons grouped around them. It should be emphasized that this is a theory and not a proven fact.

Thousands of persons have reported visitations, most frequently in dreams, from dead relatives. One of the most interesting is described by J. Gaither Pratt, who has worked with Rhine, in his book "Parapsychology":

In 1905 James L. Chaffin, a farmer in Davie County, North Carolina, made a will leaving everything to his third son, Marshall. In 1921 Chaffin suffered a fatal fall.

Sometime in June 1925, the second son, James, said he began dreaming that his father was visiting his bedside. On one such occasion, according to James, his father said "You will find my will in my overcoat pocket."

James found his father's old overcoat and ripped away the thread that had been used to sew up the inside pocket. He found a note in his father's handwriting instructing him to read the 27th chapter of Genesis in the family Bible. Before doing so, James got three witnesses.

OLD BIBLE

The Bible was so old that it fell apart when they opened it to the 27th chapter of Genesis, which tells the story of Jacob and Esau and their birthright.

There they found a will in their father's handwriting, made on Jan. 16, 1919, which divided the property equally among all four children. A court certified it and the property was redistributed.

A visit from beyond the grave? Or a case of clairvoyance on the part of the son? Pratt answers it this way:

"On the face of the matter, the experience looks like an instance in which the father returned in the son's dreams for the purpose of righting a wrong to his family.

"But where a question of such momentous importance is at issue, we dare not claim an affirmative answer until there is no alternative explanation.

"The will was there, all the while, in the Bible. And the paper giving the clue was in existence in the lining of the old coat. If we assume that the son was concerned with the injustice of his father's earlier will, he had sufficient reason to want to discover the later document which would set things right.

"It is not difficult, therefore, to suppose that ordinary extrasensory perception (clairvoyance) could have detected the existence of the paper in the father's coat."

A SAD DAY — Leroy Perring of LeRoy, Ill., comforts his two daughters, Jane (left), 15, and Gail, 11, in Chicago yesterday afternoon when their grand champion Angus steer was sold at the International Livestock Exposition. The family was sad at selling the animal they raised so carefully, but may find some consolation in the price it brought, $17,850, or $17.50 a pound.

Tammany Gal Wasn't in Boss Tweed Image

NEW YORK (AP) — Boss Tweed, legendary ruler of Tammany Hall, would have flipped in his grave if he'd known who has been in charge of his old territory the last month. Not only was the acting leader of the New York County Democratic Committee a woman, but a very feminine one at that.

* * *

When County Leader Edward N. Costikyan resigned shortly after the national election, he asked Charlotte Spiegel to perform his duties until a new leader was elected.

Thursdasy, Tammany chose a successor to Costikyan, J. Raymond Jones, veteran Democratic leader in Harlem.

Mrs. Spiegel, a petite brunette who is the complete opposite of the traditional Tammany image, remains as one of Manhattan's 66 district leaders.

* * *

About her temporary leadership of the Democratic organization, she says with a laugh: "The old Tammany bosses would be completely scandalized."

* * *

"But I must say," she adds, "that anyone with any real imagination living in this era must realize this is something you can't stop and wouldn't if you could. The old stereotype of the potbellied politician, brass spittoons and smoky rooms is no longer true in any sense—nor is the misconception that the woman who enters the world of politics or business must be kind of a gargoyle creature who wears tweeds and a slouch hat!"

And she was living proof in a chic black and white checked suit, very high heels and a graceful upswept hair style.

The attractive 40-year-old views her unprecedented appointment as "a hallmark in progress for all women."

"Women are getting more active in politics all the time," says Mrs. Spiegel. In her opinion, it's a good trend.

* * *

"There's undoubtedly a growing awareness that women have the same capability as men, and the time to give to political action that men often don't because they generally have to earn a livelihood."

FOR THEMSELVES

And women, she thinks, owe it to themselves to take an active part in politics.

"They're doing a disservice to themselves if they don't," she said in an interview. "Their voice has to be heard because it represents more than half the population. It would serve their best interest if they showed an active interest in the rules by which they live."

CHARLOTTE SPIEGEL

As for the contradictory theory that "a woman's place is in the home" Mrs. Spiegel feels that this depends on the person.

"Some women are very content with staying at home and being housewives—I really think that's marvelous. On the other hand there are women who feel this isn't enough," she said.

ASSUME RESPONSIBILITY

"Any woman who has the capability, interest, time and health to devote to public service should assume the responsibility."

Mrs. Spiegel has contributed her share.

* * *

After graduating as an English major from Hunter College, she married and settled in the neighborhood where she was born and raised, Manhattan's lower East side. She then went on to get her masters degree from Columbia Teachers College.

She traces the start of her political career to "a community interest."

NATURAL GROWTH

"It was a natural outgrowth of living in the community all my life and realizing the needs of the people," she explains. Then, 10 years ago, she asked to run for the position of female district leader. She won the election—and every one since—and automatically became a member of the Executive Committee of the New York County Democratic Committee. Last year she was elected chairman of that group.

Far from resenting her political career, her husband, Judge Samuel Spiegel, and her two daughters, 10 and 15, are proud of her. "My husband," she says, "thinks it's a fine opportunity not only for me, but for all women."

Train Derails; Woman Is Hurt

TOPEKA, Kan. (UPI) — Four cars of a Santa Fe line passenger train derailed early this morning in downtown Topeka.

*

One woman passenger suffered a bump on the head, which was not believed to be serious, and was hospitalized.

She was not immediately identified.

Four cars in the center of the 15-car San Francisco Chief, bound from Chicago to San Francisco, left the tracks five blocks from the railway depot as the train pulled slowly out of Topeka. They were the dining car, chair car, a dome lounge car, and sleeping car.

* * *

The cars remained upright.

Czech Chief Ends Visit

MOSCOW (AP) — Czechoslovak President Antonin Novotny left for home today after five days of talks with the new Kremlin regime on economic and political questions.

Leonid Brezhnev, first secretary of the Soviet Communist party, saw him off with pledges of continued friendship.

Novotny, chief of the Czechoslovak Communist party, was known as a close friend of ex - Premier Khrushchev. His country is embarking on a program of economic reforms highly unorthodox for the Communist camp.

Novotny was believed to have concentrated on assurance that he was not straying from the Communist fold.

REGINA, Sask. (AP)—Development of an enormous deposit of high quality iron ore in the Canadian Arctic hinges on extending the shipping season by several weeks, a government official says.

* * *

Arthur Laing, federal Northern Affairs minister, said the deposit may be as much as 180 tons, with 69 per cent of it iron.

He called it "the best ore in the world — so pure and of such quality it can be fed directly into furnaces."

The deposit is at Milne Inlet, 120 miles from the northern tip of Baffin Island in Canada's northwest territory.

Laing said two icebreakers will be sent to the inlet next summer to investigate the possibility of a three- or four-month shipping season.

SAN'A, Yemen (AP) — Joint Egyptian-Saudi Arabian observation teams have been formed to police the cease - fire in Yemen's civil war, informed sources reported today.

Saudi Arabia backed the deposed Royalists with arms and money in the two-year civil war, while 40,000 Egyptian troops are the mainstay of the Republican government.

RANGOON, Burma (AP)—Communist Chinese Foreign Minister Chen Yi arrived in Rangoon yesterday on a surprise three-day official visit. He is on his way home from Indonesia.

Observers say the main purpose of the visit is to win Burmese consent to attend the worldwide disarmament conference Peking called after it exploded its first atom bomb.

CAIRO (AP)—A five-man council has been formed to replace Sudanese President Ibrahim Abboud, Radio Omdurman announced.

Abboud, 64, stepped down as president and commander of the armed forces last month after a public uprising against military rule. He had headed the government since a coup in 1958.

His presidential function was shifted to the council, and a coalition cabinet headed by Premier Sir El Khatim El Khalifa took over the government until elections in March.

Reprieve Gives Condemned Boy Hope

(EDITOR'S NOTE — For the first time since he entered a death row cell three years ago, Preston Cobb Jr. has been interviewed in prison. This is an exclusive report on that interview — that came only hours before Cobb's murder conviction was set aside—on his 19th birthday.)

By DON MCKEE

REIDSVILLE, Ga. (AP) — Three years and three months on death row had passed and still Preston Cobb Jr., condemned at 15 to the electric chair, was hopeful of reprieve.

"Seems like I've been here all my life," the gangly Negro youth said Thursday in an exclusive prison interview on his 19th birthday.

* * *

That was only a few hours before the decision came.

Cobb's interview was ended, he was back in his death row cell when the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans reversed a lower court and handed the youth the right of a new trial. The appeals judges held that Cobb's rights had been violated by the exclusion of Negroes from the jury that tried him for the slaying of his white employer, 70-year-old Frank Coleman Dumas.

AP Photofax

WINS RETRIAL—Preston Cobb Jr. (left) is with attorney D. L. Hollowell at Reidsville (Ga.) State Prison only hours before the 5th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans reversed his murder conviction and handed the youth the right of a new trial. The decision came on Cobb's 19th birthday. The youth was condemned to the electric chair at 15.

DENIED KILLING

Cobb had said at his trial in August 1961, that he shot Dumas after an argument over a fish the boy caught in the farm pond. Last year, Cobb denied the killing but said he knew who was guilty.

While the appeals moved their slow course, Cobb spent four birthdays on death row. He has seen five men take the last walk down that corridor in front of his fifth-floor cell.

Even before he had any inkling of the big birthday ruling, Cobb said he was more hopeful than when he entered the prison.

"I think about getting out the most," he said. And under the appeals court decision, he might be out — but only long enough for the state to rearrest, reindict and retry him.

In that prison interview before the decision, Cobb talked quietly of his tenure on death row at Reidsville State Prison.

Cobb said he quit smoking about five months ago.

"I didn't like the way the doctors were talking about smoking giving you lung cancer. I got scared and quit," said the youth who has been growing up within sight of the death chamber on the prison's fifth floor.

He was wearing a new pair of black shoes, not exactly a birthday present but a gift sent about a month ago by his mother, who last visited him in May.

Since he entered prison, Cobb has grown three or four inches; he now stands about 5-11 and weighs 155.

Cobb smiled broadly when he met his attorney, D. L. Hollowell of Atlanta, in the visitors area on the main floor. He had been brought down from his fifth floor cell.

Sitting hunched on a metal folding chair, Cobb talked quietly. He wore the faded blue denim that marks prisoners and his beard had begun growing.

"I'll shave if it gets too long," he said.

The youth talked animatedly about his studies in a correspondence course. He is studying health and general science after completing courses in English, psychology, American history and world literature.

His grades?

GOOD GRADES

"They have been from 80 up to 96," he said. "I failed some tests but I got a review and made it up."

He started the correspondence studies about a year ago.

Hollowell would not permit Cobb to be questioned about the murder case. But this was the first interview with Cobb since his confinement began.

The youth said there had never been a time when he was alone on death row.

"There are four others up there now," he said. From his cell, he can see two of the condemned men. He was asked what he felt when a man died in the electric chair.

* * *

"A sick feeling," he said. "After seeing the fellows and talking to them." His voice trailed off. "You can hear something like a motor running. A hum."

* * *

Cobb said he hadn't given a lot of thought to what he will do if he gets out, but, "I would like to go back to school first."

Snowfall May Be Record

GREENLAND (AP) — Residents of this former copper mining town in northern Michigan may have shivered through a record Midwest snowfall for the current year.

* * *

With 58 inches of snow falling in the final 12 days of November, the area has been covered with 64 inches since late October.

* * *

Daniel O'Hara, Michigan Highway Department snow statistician who made all measurements, said only 19.3 inches fell in the same period last year.

Greenland's normal snowfall for an entire year is 190 inches.

Letters, Wires to Defense Department on Base Closings Only Ripple in Daily Deluge

WASHINGTON (AP)—The letters and telegrams trickling into the Pentagon in the wake of Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's base closing order last month were only a ripple in the daily deluge of communications from Congress and the public asking questions or complaining about something.

Department officials estimate that about 300,000 letters, telegrams and telephone calls are handled during the course of a year. McNamara gets only part of them—about 8,000 letters are addressed to the secretary personally.

The remainder go to the Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Air Force. And they are not all complaints about what the Pentagon has or hasn't done.

The great bulk are merely merely questions about a multitude of subjects, ranging from inquiries on the whereabouts of a soldier to queries about contracts.

NOTABLY HIGHER

Normally, one official says, "perhaps one or two per day" of the letters landing in McNamara's office are complaints, although the count was notable higher in the reaction to the base closing program.

Some of those communications have been to the point. Some referred to "Mac the Knife" but some also had praise for his action.

The pentagon officials express a little surprise about the small volume of congressional communications on base closings, considering the verbal storm which flared up around the country.

The McNamara order will close or merge 80 bases in the United States. But officials say only about 35 letters or telegrams came from Congress members — which, of course, didn't include several thousand words spoken at personal meetings with McNamara and other defense officials.

Of the 35 or so congressional reactions, the officials classify five as commendatory, the rest either as protests or requesting more information about the program.

Members of the New York, New Hampshire and Maine delegations — where the doomed Brooglyn and Portsmouth Navy yards are located—were among the leading letter writers.

Ex-Track Star Wins Race in Another Arena—Politics

By JOE MULLEN

"I'll get around somehow even if I have to crawl."

* * *

Such was the remark of Frank Crowley during his recent campaign when someone asked how he would maneuver in Lansing if he won his race for state legislator.

Crowley did win and Crowley will get around. He begins duties as the 61st District representative next January.

The legislator-elect was stricken with a strange spinal malady four years ago that drained the power from a great pair of legs.

* * *

Legs that three decades ago propelled him to international fame as a distance runner suddenly failed.

LABORED TIRELESSLY

Crowley had always labored tirelessly to aid the handicapped, particularly the blind, through various Lions Club projects.

Then suddenly he was as handicapped as many he helped.

For nearly two years Frank was unable to walk at all. The days passed slowly as he was virtually confined to his house at 7341 Deer Lake, Independence Township.

* * *

Crowley, a former Army captain, had to get out, to get around, to be with people and to accomplish things.

BEGAN WALKING

He began walking with the aid of a metal device and driving his car which was equipped with hand-operated instruments.

But this wasn't enough. The Vermont-born Irishman, who had operated a successful beer business prior to his illness, wanted to get back on the firing line.

A job opportunity arose in Waterford Township last winter and Township Supervisor James E. Seeterlin pegged Crowley for the general office work post.

* * *

The job, which involves working in all administrative departments of the township, helped stimulate Crowley's ever-present interest in government.

Then last August when the primary election filing deadline was approaching and it appeared that the incumbent 61st District representative would be unopposed, Crowley said, "Let's give it a whirl."

He filed as the Democratic candidate. His opponent was Lloyd Anderson, a seasoned political campaigner.

Having hung up his spikes in 1937 after winning national and world titles in the mile, 3,000-meter, 5,000-meter and two-mile runs, here was Crowley running again.

* * *

"This is a wonderful thrill," he said a few days before the election. "I want to win, of course, but just being in the race is a great feeling."

RAN HARD

Crowley, a Manhattan College alumnus, ran hard during his campaign for office — as hard as a man, who can't walk, can run.

He had two big things going for him.

One was the same fiery competitive spirit that earned him a spot on the 1932 Olympic team and drove him to a grand slam as he won the three major distance races in 1934 and was named to the All-America track team.

* * *

The other was his host of friends who encouraged him to run and did some of the campaign leg work.

HARDWORK

Crowley handled all the head work himself.

He has some positive thoughts on state needs that he hopes to help implement when the new legislative session begins.

Among these are aid to education which he feels is presently inadequate and the city income tax provision which he strongly opposes.

* * *

"Something must be done about the increasing school drop-out problem," he said, "and we must stop the flow of smut literature so readily available to youngsters."

STRANGER TO FAMILY

Crowley is already becoming somewhat of a stranger to his family what with the full-time job at the township and the numerous briefing sessions at night and on weekends as he prepares for the legislative session opening.

His proud family consists of his wife, Billie; daughters, Mrs. David Hertler and Mrs. Edward Bishop and sons, Michael and Tim.

Being the type who makes friends easily, Crowley undoubtedly will encounter many a helping hand as he makes his way around Lansing.

* * *

But, the independent and self-sufficient Irishman will wave off his would-be aides with a polite, "Thanks, but I can make it."

Frank Crowley: A Hard Runner

Furrier Needs 2nd Alarm

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Fur dealer Jerry Hochman has a burglar alarm on his automobile. If you open the trunk, the horn sounds.

The apparatus proved effective when thieves entered Hochman's house the other night and stole his car keys.

When they tried to get into the car trunk, containing more than 100 fur pieces, there was a loud honking and they fled, leaving the furs.

But there was a hitch. Police said the same individuals loaded up earlier with $43,000 worth of furs they found in the house.

* * *

Hochman's house, obviously had no burglar alarm. The robbery took place Wednesday night.

Edward Hillie of Going Street looks at the mountain of gifts students in the Pontiac school system donated for residents of the Lapeer Home and Training School. The fifth grade student is joined by Mrs. John Buchanan of Sylvan Lake and Judge Donald Adams. The occasion was the annual Christmas tea and ingathering of gifts by the Pontiac branch of the Association for Childhood Education held Thursday.

City Children Share Gifts With Lapeer

Thursday was chosen by the Pontiac Association for Childhood Education for the annual Yuletide tea and ingathering of gifts for residents of the Lapeer State Home and Training School.

Robert Frost Elementary School was the setting for the affair where Probate Judge Donald Adams received the gifts made possible by the boys and girls throughout the city's schools.

★ ★ ★

In his thanks on behalf of the Lapeer Home staff, Judge Adams stressed the importance of this ACE project, for the many people who might not be remembered otherwise.

ADDED GIFTS

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hudson, McCarroll PTA parents, upon learning of this gesture through their own daughter, Kathleen, added to the gifts with a number of miniature "U-Haul-It" trailers loaded with candy.

President Mrs. John Buchanan extended greetings and presented the Robert Frost Choir in a program of Christmas carols. Valson Daugherty directed.

Mrs. Terrence Cantrell, Mrs. Elwin Hodges and Evelyn Peterson were in charge of the tea hour. Frost Principal Mrs. Effie Mitchell and the school staff served on hospitality.

Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, William Lacy and Lewis Crew were special guests.

WOMEN'S SECTION

His Chair Has Special View

By MIRIAM NEAL

Viewing America as editor of the "Atlantic Monthly," Edward Weeks sees a country growing stronger and more diversified.

He spoke "From the Editor's Chair" Thursday in an interview and a lecture to Birmingham Town Hall listeners.

That chair, he said, is attached to a "Network of experiences and friendship" through which he can feel reverberations from any part of the country.

Since 1938 when he became editor-in-chief, Weeks has felt the pulse of America through the throb of the manuscripts he receives.

In reading more than 500,000 selections a year, Weeks has discovered a "new kind of self-determinism" in America.

TRACES TREND

He traced the trend through the "web" of friends and experiences he started building when he became first reader for the magazine in 1924.

According to Weeks "fiction's golden age" during the 20s was altered by the effects of the second world war and the silent terror that followed the coming of the atomic age.

The result, states Weeks, is that the American "experiment is paying off."

EDWARD WEEKS

America in the 20s isolated herself from world problems and had few of her own to worry about.

AGE OF DIALECT

While its writers produced prolific and quality literature, Weeks remembers that one in every four manuscripts submitted to the Atlantic was written in dialect—written by an 'all-American' writer in what he considered the speech of a 'hyphenated-American.'

Since the 20s, Weeks reminded the audience, there has been an exodus of "go-outers," top people in all fields who go to the trouble spots of the world. There they use their talents in the struggle for world peace and human dignity.

★ ★ ★

Their letters home have become what he calls "skin and bleed" literature. They have come so involved with the problems that their writing "bleeds" the truth.

Dialect very rarely appears in modern literature.

NEW BLOOD

Many among the go-outers and among the leaders at home are second and third generation immigrants, processed by American education into a "new bloodstream coming to the surface."

America formerly took its leaders from those of the Anglo-Saxon, French and Germanic heritages.

"Leaders now are coming from everywhere."

This, said Weeks, is the proof of the "experiment."

★ ★ ★

Dr. Kenneth Gass, rector of St. James Church, introduced Weeks at the lecture in the Birmingham Theatre. Luncheon followed at the Birmingham Country Club.

Mrs. Sidney Huff, Mrs. David Bird and Mrs. O. F. Pearson were special guests. Honored at today's luncheon were Mrs. Harland Walter, Mrs. Edward Codner and Mrs. W. A. P. John.

Gala Party Anticipated by Children

Children from the Oakland County Children's Center will be guests of honor at a Christmas luncheon Tuesday in the Bloomfield Open Hunt Club.

The women's activity committee is substituting this affair for their regular holiday party.

★ ★ ★

A chartered bus will bring some 45 youngsters ranging in age from 2 to 14 in time for a hot dog and hamburger meal. Games, gifts and pony rides will be features of the afternoon.

Mrs. Frederick Bush, president of the women's group, will be assisted by Mrs. Robert Halsted, Mrs. A. Howard Maedel, Mrs. Paul Shine, Mrs. Donald Green, Mrs. John Taylor, Mrs. Charles Noonan and Mrs. Joseph Risdon.

Hang Greens at YWCA on Monday

It will be a special "Hanging of the Greens" Monday at the Pontiac YWCA.

The event, set to start at 7 p. m., will probably be the last such celebration to be held in the Franklin Boulevard location the YW has occupied for 20 years.

★ ★ ★

Foreign students in the area have been invited to join the Y-Teens, ex-Day Campers and other YW members as they decorate three trees, wind the ballustrade of the staircase with evergreen roping and prepare the building for the holidays.

A Y-Teen program, featuring Mrs. Donald McMillen and Serwind Netzler, will be presented later in the evening.

PREPARE FOR SANTA

Young people in the Pontiac State Hospital Y group will also participate in the greens' hanging by preparing the recreation room for Santa's visits with nursery tots. These have been set for 11:30 a. m. Tuesday through Friday.

Wednesday women in the Y's fall term of classes will gather at noon for the traditional cooperative luncheon marking the close of the term.

★ ★ ★

Twenty women from Mrs. Ruby Dunstan's flower arranging class will miss the luncheon while they demonstrate their skills at the Pontiac Mall from 10 a. m. to noon.

Another class planning a special event for the term's end is Mrs. Lucinda Wyckoff's furniture refinishing class. They will tour members' homes Monday, viewing students' work, then end the tour with a cooperative luncheon.

Guild Honors Christmas

Each member of the Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital Guild brought Christmas gifts for the patients at the Pontiac State Hospital at the annual Guild Christmas party.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Paul Trimmer opened her Bloomcrest Drive home Thursday for the 1 p.m. affair. Mrs. Franklin Mills was cohostess.

Mrs. Lucille Simon of the Detroit Story League and the Edna Chaffee Noble Association related Christmas stories.

Eleven-year-old twins James and Joanne Granger presented Christmas organ selections.

Area Hills Residents Leading Busy Lives

By SIGNE KARLSTROM

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Gordon returned to their home early this week after a short vacation at Camel Back Inn, Arizona and a weekend in New York.

Together with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Whiting Jr., they attended the Metropolitan Opera gala performance in New York when the first act of three operas was presented with the world's foremost singers participating.

Elizabeth Schwarzkopf performed in "Rosenkavalier," Renata Tebaldi, in "La Boheme" and Joan Sutherland, in "La Traviata."

Mrs. Gordon said it was fascinating to watch maestro Thomas Schippers, as he sang each word with the singers while conducting the "Rosenkavalier."

SUPPER PARTY

Following the opera performance, Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Powell of New York honored the Gordons at a supper party in the Opera Club. Among the guests were Tore Tallroth, consul general of Sweden, and his wife.

Knut Hammarskjold, deputy secretary-general of the European Free Trade Association, Geneva, will speak at the Wednesday dinner meeting of the Detroit Swedish Council in the Whittier Hotel.

TO DISCUSS MARKET

Glen A. Carlson is chairman and Oscar A. Lundin, toastmaster for the event at which Hammarskjold will discuss "The European Market Today."

Among those at the honor table will be Charles J. Koebel, council president; Earl C. Daum of New York, vice president of General Motors; and Bo Jarnstedt, consul general of Sweden in Chicago.

★ ★ ★

Sir James Easton, British consul general in Detroit; Edward Johansson, Swedish consul in Detroit and Raymond T. Perring will also be honored at the gathering.

Cranbrook Unit Sets Date for Holiday Tea

Mrs. Norman C. Fry will open her home in Bloomfield Monday at 1 p.m. to members of the Cranbrook branch, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, for a Christmas tea and meeting.

★ ★ ★

Assisting the hostess will be Mrs. Ben Glowacki, Mrs. Oscar Mezey, Mrs. C. E. Dalton and Mrs. William G. Walters.

★ ★ ★

A Christmas box will be filled by members with items needed at the Pontiac State Hospital.

★ ★ ★

"The Changing Pace of Today's Woman" will be the subject of a talk given by Mrs. William A. Bostick, an assistant professor of home economics at Wayne State University.

Select Girl Scouts for '65 'Roundup'

The names of girls chosen to attend the Girl Scout Senior Roundup in Idaho next July have been announced by the Northern Oakland County Girl Scout Council.

The roundup patrol will consist of Peggy Joos, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loyola Joos, Ottawa Drive; Carol Bacak, daughter of the Martin Bacaks, Cortwright Street; Diana Greaves, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Greaves, South Cass Lake Road; and Dru Neal, daughter of the Donald W. Neals, Windcroft Street.

Others are Ann Simpson whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Simpson, Pontiac Lake Road; Laura June, daughter of the George Junes, Lakeview Street, West Bloomfield Township; Frances Wolff, daughter of the Frank R. Wolffs, Rochester; and Joette Schultz, daughter of Mrs. Anita Schultz, Clarkston.

ALTERNATES

Those on the alternate patrol are Ruth Neville, Pontiac; Linda Wright, Nancy Grogg, Jenny Riley and Joyce Scafe of Waterford Township; Diana Masini and Konnie Parks, Milford; and Cherie Kelley, Lake Orion.

Mrs. John D. McNeely, roundup coordinator, will train both groups.

This is the fourth senior roundup which is a national encampment held every three years. The first one was held at Highland Recreation area in 1956.

IN IDAHO

This year, the girls will go to Farragut Wildlife Management area, 23 miles north of Coeur 'd'Alene, Idaho. The site, now state owned, was a Naval training station during World War II.

8,500 senior girls and 1,500 adults will live together for 10 days, July 17-26.

Attendance is based on the number of registered senior scouts in the council; Northern Oakland County may send one patrol of eight girls. Member countries from all over the world send representatives to the roundup.

For Family of Boys

Wanted: Father to Rent

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

ABBY

DEAR ABBY: If they rented out "fathers" for special occasions, I would be their best customer.

Every time my boys need their father, he's somewhere else. Our youngest son played first base with the Little League last summer and his father didn't come to see him play once!

Now it's football season and one of the boys plays in the band and the other one is on the team, and every time they ask their father to go to a game, he's too tired.

But let one of his friends call him up and he finds the strength to go with them. Frankly, I am getting sick and tired of being the only mother there.

One of the kids asked our boys if they HAD a father. I have yelled at him, scolded, cussed him out, threatened and shamed him, but I still can't get him to go.

Any suggestions?

DISGUSTED

DEAR DISGUSTED: Try a little tenderness. You've tried everything else, and you've nothing to lose.

DEAR ABBY: My wife is expecting her fifth baby and, of course, we have been telling our friends the news.

Our other children are 17, 15, 12, and 9. We are amazed at how many people ask us, "Was it planned?"

We consider this none of their business, but we don't know of an answer to put them in their places.

Have you any suggestions?

EXPECTANT FATHER

DEAR FATHER: Reply, "If you'll forgive my rudeness for ignoring your question, I'll forgive your rudeness for having asked it."

DEAR ABBY: I have two daughters, just starting to date. What worries me is their going in cars with boys.

How can a mother find out what kind of a driver a boy is without embarrassing him? I have forbidden my girls to go out with some boys because of the way they drive.

But what about the boys I never meet until they come for a date? I worry myself sick until the girls get home safely from a date.

Don't say, "Ask your daughter," because if she likes a boy she isn't going to say anything against him.

CONCERNED

DEAR CONCERNED: There is no way to find out what kind of a driver a boy is unless you have seen him drive, or his reputation for driving has preceded him.

Tell your teen-age daughters that they risk defacing, crippling injury or death when they accept dates with dangerous drivers.

And if they do not get the message, your alternative is prayer.

DEAR ABBY: My fiance is about two inches shorter than I am. We have never discussed the difference in height, but I have always worn flats when we were together, which made us about the same height.

We are now making plans for our wedding. I would like to wear high heels, which would make me taller than he, so I asked him if he minded wearing elevated shoes just for the wedding.

He said YES, he minded very much, and if I wanted him to be taller than I, I should wear flats.

Will you tell me what is the right way to settle this?

TALL GIRL

★ ★ ★

DEAR GIRL: Since you have always worn flats with him in the past, wear them for your wedding.

WNFGA Unit to Lunch

Joe Smith of Midland has chosen "Holiday Trimmings" as his topic for a lecture demonstration program for the Osage branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association.

The group will meet Monday for its annual Christmas luncheon at the Pagoda Restaurant.

Flower show committee chairman Mrs. Joseph Dworski and committee members Mrs. Joseph E. Fouser, Mrs. Edward Goralewski and Mrs. Russel Kock have been designing "birds and bottle" arrangements to be used as centerpieces.

Social Welfare Children Are Main Topic

Jean Walter of the Children's Division of the Michigan State Social Welfare spoke at a meeting of Alpha Alpha chapter or Epsilon Sigma Alpha sorority in the 300 Bowl.

★ ★ ★

She told of the many foster homes and children placed in these homes through the Social Welfare.

A table and chairs for the office and toys for these children were given by the chapter to Miss Walter for the Welfare.

★ ★ ★

In other business Mrs. Bertha Lampkin directed the making of Christmas decorations for needy families.

Mrs. Edmund Smith and Mrs. A. J. Latoza served refreshments.

Juvenile Home Director to Speak to Pilot Club

James W. Hunt, director of the Oakland County Juvenile Home will address the Pilot Club of Pontiac, Inc. at a Monday meeting in the Holiday Inn.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Glen J. Dolan, chairman of the community service committee, will introduce Mr. Hunt following the 6:30 p.m. dinner.

The Oakland County Juvenile Home is the club's service project at this time.

WILL PRESIDE

Mrs. John Buhr, assistant director of the Leader Dog School in Rochester, is president of the Pilot club and will preside at the business session.

At this time she will announce that Mrs. Almetta Cooke, president of Pilot International, has been appointed by President Johnson on the Women's Committee of the President's Committee for the Employment of the Handicapped.

★ ★ ★

The Pilot Club of Pontiac, Inc., is a member club of Pilot International, one of the five international classified service organizations for executive and professional women.

Discuss Project at Meeting

Donna Burling, educational director of Beta Mu chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha sorority, headed the chapter's education program in a Tuesday meeting at the West Side Lanes.

★ ★ ★

Each member of the chapter told of a special project done for Christmas and brought samples of the project for display.

Mrs. Fred Vollrath, welfare chairman, announced that the chapter is making a contribution to the day care center for mentally retarded children, which meets at the Covert Methodist Church.

Gifts Collected

Christmas gifts for the Bloomfield Convalescent Home were collected at a Thursday evening meeting of Zeta chapter of Alpha Delta Kappa sorority.

Mrs. Eugene Carey opened her Navajo Drive home for the affair with Mrs. Arthur O'Neill serving as cohostess.

Holding an arrangement for the annual Christmas exhibition of the Birmingham branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association are Mrs. Marvin L. Katke of Kirkway Road, left, and Mrs. Donald H. Goldsmith of Birmingham. The Santa Claus and greens in the wooden shoe represent the "Toward World Understanding" category, in one of 12 in the exhibition. The event will be held in Birmingham Community House 2 to 9 p.m. Wednesday and 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. Thursday.

For Money Leaks, Scan Food Budget

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

You've heard me say it before, but the message bears repeating. When your budget is in trouble, the first place to look for leaks is in your food allotment. That food dollar is the stretchiest one in your budget!

MARY FEELEY

Here's an example:

Dear Miss Feeley:

A friend whose husband is making twice as much as mine manages to feed her family of five on almost the same amount I spend for the four of us. Or so her husband tells mine!

Our children are all in the same preschool age group. Jim brings home $100 a week, and our food costs around $35 a week. Does that sound high to you?

Mrs. W.F., Tulsa, Okla.

Dear Mrs. F.:

For your income, yes. For your friend's income, no. You're hitting the high mark for Jim's salary; your friend is cruising along at low altitude on her husband's income. It's as simple as that.

But cheer up! You CAN spend from $21 to $31.50 a week, and still serve nutritious, substantial meals.

CHECK YOURSELF

To start with, check yourself on these buying habits: Do you pay for packaged foods when bulk would serve as well? Are ready-prepared and ready-cooked items running up the bill?

★ ★ ★

Do you buy economical large sizes in canned fruits, juices and vegetables, and Grade B eggs instead of Grade A ones? How about using powdered milk instead of whole milk for cooking?

★ ★ ★

Do you plan for at least one or two all-out economy meals each week, such as a hearty soup or a vegetable and cheese casserole?

★ ★ ★

Get yourself a cookbook that tells you how to buy various cuts and grades of meat, as well as what to do with them. Time spent reading cookbooks is often money saved.

Match your menus to weekend specials at the supermarkets. Be a comparison shopper. Different stores have different bargains from day to day. It takes footwork, but walking builds up appetites for those low-cost foods!

Dear Miss Feeley:

I enjoyed reading the letters you received regarding paying board at home.

Here is the way I pay my board. My mother and I have found it works out very well.

MONEY LOST

When I started working, I would give my mother a certain amount of cash, depending upon my salary. She found that the money just wasted away along with her regular household money.

★ ★ ★

We opened up a savings account two years ago and, when I make my monthly deposits, I deposit my board money into her bank account. This has enabled her to have extra savings on hand. We hope this suggestion will provide others with an extra "emergency" fund.

G.P.B., New York City

Dear G.P.B.:

You've proved your idea is a sound one, and I'm glad to pass it along. It's a fact that money in the pocket goes a lot faster than money in the savings bank.

(You can write Mary Feeley in care of The Pontiac Press).

Special Gifts Collected at Chapter Event

Rho chapter of Alpha Delta Kappa members brought gifts to be given to the patients of the Hilltop Rest Home to a meeting at the home of Mrs. Walter Sheffield on Schoolhouse Drive.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Melvin Boersma led the group in Christmas carols following a gift exchange.

★ ★ ★

The "Legend of the Black Madonna" and "The Game Board" were the stories told by Mrs. Theodore Fauble.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. E. Cleo Wiley and Wilma Webb will be attending the state executive board meeting of Alpha Delta Kappa in Ann Arbor Saturday.

Garden Group to Give Exhibition

"A Christmas Adventure," the annual Christmas exhibition of the Birmingham branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, will feature arrangements in 12 special categories.

There will be no judging of the exhibits which can be seen in the Birmingham Community House from 2 to 9 p.m. Wednesday and from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. Thursday.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. George O. Cutter, general chairman, has planned a special stage decoration featuring sculpture by Marshall Fredericks.

His original plaster model of the "Nordic Swan" of the Hans Christian Andersen fountain was created for the Danish Old People's Home in Rochester.

Helping prepare the exhibition are Mrs. Marvin Katke, president, Mrs. Lewis Dibble, Mrs. Seth B. Slawson, Mrs. Hobart Andreae, Mrs. Donald Irwin, Mrs. Carl Rogers and Mrs. Ralph H. Scheel.

ALSO HELPING

Mrs. Chester Wisniewski, Mrs. Henry Beam, Mrs. Richard Kaltz, Mrs. Norman Berry, Mrs. J. P. McConkie, Mrs. R. B. Pokorny, Mrs. C. E. Nickel, Mrs. J. V. Birch, Mrs. William B. Grabendike, Mrs. John Doerfner and Mrs. James Croushore are also assisting.

The 12 classification titles start with letters from the general theme of "Christmas Joy." In charge of the classifications are Mrs. Robert Fowler, Mrs. Derwood Gamble, Mrs. Charles Bechtel and Mrs. William A. Hyland.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. F. F. Maish, Mrs. John Rosier, Mrs. Richard Baird, Mrs. George Dixon, Mrs. D. H. Goldsmith, Mrs. Vernon Schneider and Mrs. Reed Alexander are also working with the classifications.

CANDY ANGEL

Paper Christmas Angel Holds Box of Candy

CANDY ANGEL (Height 24")

1 pkg. Norcross "Tree Frolic" Christmas wrap
Gold Ribbon, ½" wide
2 large sheets of heavy art paper
Small box
Pink and blue paper
6" styrofoam ball

From 18" cone of art paper; cement together. Cover with gift wrap. Scoop out a bit of the ball large enough to fit on point of cone and set it in place. Pin on face parts. Pin on lengths of ribbon for hair, tying pony tail with colored bow.

Arms are strips of art paper about 4" wide, covered with wrap. Make wings in same manner using blue paper. Attach wings and arms to back of neck with paper fasteners.

Cover small box with pink paper and attach between hands with fasteners. Fill with candies.

Cards Help Home Decor

NEW YORK (UPI)—When decking the house with holly, remember that Christmas cards make unusually effective Christmas trimmings, too.

* * *

Combine cards and candles to create a table-top tableau telling the Christmas story. Choose a selection of holiday greetings that depict Mary and Joseph's journey to Bethlehem, the appearance of the Star, the trip of the Wise Men and shepherds.

* * *

It is suggested that you arrange such cards around a small creche flanked with candles.

You also can attach the cards to a folding cardboard screen covered with gold paper that would serve as a backdrop for a statue of the Madonna or a replica of the Christmas crib.

CARD TREE

To turn gay cards into a colorful wall decoration, cut a giant tree-shape from green felt.

Tape it to the wall and as the cards arrive, just add them to the "tree."

* * *

Another good trick: use wide strips of red satin ribbon to show your Christmas greetings. Tape ribbons to either side of a doorway or window.

If the curtains won't interfere, run ribbons right down the window, attaching them to the frame at top and bottom.

IN AND OUT

Make a two-sided display by taping or stapling cards to both sides, thus making a window decoration that can be enjoyed from both outdoors and indoors.

Try your hand also at making a Christmas card mobile. Children love this idea. The mobiles can be constructed, using wire coat hangers.

For a decorative touch that is different, strip an old umbrella of fabric, spray the spokes gold, and anchor the handle in soil or clay to make an umbrella card tree.

Hang the cards with red and green ribbons. Add a few small ornaments or sprigs of greenery and you've got a real conversation piece.

Christmas Party

Zeta Zeta Omega sorority will hold their annual Christmas party Monday at 8 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Gary Hetherington.

* * *

No business meeting is planned for this social meeting and gift exchange.

Soda Water Puts Trim on Window

There's no need to discourage children from fancying up the windows for Christmas because of haunting visions of the traditional struggle to remove the push-button snow, soap or decals at the end of the holidays.

You'll have no trouble erasing the decor if youngsters use a homemade concoction consisting of 4 tablespoons of baking soda to a half cup of water. Fill a flit-gun, or other squirt-type contraption with this solution and let children spray the "snow-da."

After a couple of applications it produces the same effect as the push-button variety only it just brushes off with a damp terrycloth towel when dismantling time comes due. And it takes soil with it and leaves panes sparkling clean. to the "snow-da."

There are other advantages

- Baking soda, being a food, is perfectly safe for the youngsters to work with . . . no need to worry if it travels from hands to mouth.
- Also, there's no need to worry if the aim is wild and the "snow-da" lands on rug or furniture.

On a sheet of brown paper cut to the size of the pane, draw free hand or trace with carbon paper from a magazine a Christmasy motif. Cut out the design and secure the resulting stencil to the pane with a snip of cellophane tape.

Reply Is Assured

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY —Please send another dollar to Paula who shared her father's cure for a slow letter writer.

My 16-year-old son has spent the last three summers working on his uncle's ranch. I know he loves me but he was so involved in his job that he never wrote except for a birthday card he always remembered to send.

TRIES CURE

I tried the "cure" last summer and I got a letter. It really worked. I GOT A LETTER.

I still chuckle when I think about it.—MYLDRED

GIRLS—In case you missed Paula's letter, the gist of it was that her father always marks the first page of a letter "number two" and then proceeds with the remainder. The slow writers are so absorbed with curiosity that they immediately write back to ask for the missing page.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY—I have three granddaughters, ages 3, 5 and 7, who come to visit. I never seemed to have anything for them to play with until I hit on the following idea.

They love to play house and dress up like ladies. I filled an old suitcase with three complete outfits including dresses, scarves, hats, purses, gloves, shoes and costume jewelry.

Now they rush for the suitcase and will play lady by the hour. When time comes for them to go home, they pick up everything and pack the suitcase so it is ready for the next time.

They have fun and there is no mess left for me to clean up.—A HAPPY GRANDMA

DEAR POLLY — When I send for a booklet or anything that requires a stamped, addressed envelope, I stamp and address the envelope and turn the gummed flap back to the front of the envelope. On this I write the name of the booklet. It saves me writing a letter and the company reading a letter.—DOROTHY

Local Bride Is Wed in High Mass

A recent nuptial High Mass in St. Michael Catholic Church united Mary Ruth Floyd and Lawrence John Burrough Jr.

For the ceremony the daughter of the B. J. Floyds of Fourth Avenue chose a white floor length gown of imported French Chantilly lace.

The three tiered skirt was complemented by a fingertip veil of French illusion. A bouquet of white roses with a center corsage completed her ensemble.

Barbara Wilson of Utica was maid of honor while Darlene B. Floyd attended her sister as bridesmaid.

On the esquire side, Steve Pernal of Troy performed the duties of best man for the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence J. Burroughs of New Albin, Iowa.

Seating guests at the ceremony performed by Rev. David A. Britz were Gary Stout and Gregory Bodnovich.

Boosters Club Sponsors Dance

The fifth annual dinner dance of the Boosters club of St. Joseph Hospital will be held tomorrow at Kingsley Inn.

★ ★ ★

A formal, black tie affair, it will be attended by some 300 persons, including doctors and their wives and others interested in the hospital.

The $25 a couple admission profits will be used to benefit the hospital.

CLUB BEGINNING

Mrs. John Petraklis began the Boosters club five years ago. She got the idea for the club while a patient in the hospital's emergency ward and is honorary president of the group.

President is Dr. James E. Henderson; Dr. Clare G. Johnson is vice president; and Dr. Edward C. McPhee, treasurer.

Mrs. Meyer Simon and Sister Mary Reginald, RSM, serve on the treasurer's committee. Sister Reginald also serves as adviser to the boosters, appointed by Sister Mary Xavier, RSM, administrator of St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Exchange May Hurt Feelings

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: I received a lamp for a wedding present. It didn't look well with the rest of my furnishings so I took it back to the store and exchanged it for another.

When the friend who gave it to me came to see me she asked about the lamp and I told her what I had done and said I hoped she didn't mind.

★ ★ ★

She said she didn't but I could tell she was hurt. I always thought it was the bride's privilege to exchange some of her wedding gifts if she wishes.

Will you please tell me if I have been wrong about this?

★ ★ ★

A: A bride may always exchange one of two duplicate wedding presents, but she cannot, without deeply hurting the feelings of the person who gave it, exchange a present simply because she doesn't like it unless the giver has told her she may do so.

Q: My father died two weeks ago and I would like to know whether or not it is necessary to acknowledge the many condolence cards we have received.

★ ★ ★

I have already written personal notes of thanks to those who sent flowers and Mass cards, but there seems to be a difference of opinion as to whether these cards have to be acknowledged as well.

★ ★ ★

A: It is not necessary to acknowledge condolence cards on which there is no handwritten message.

If, however, you happen to see any of the senders, you should of course thank them for their kind thought.

The correct wording and addressing of wedding invitations and announcements are described in the Emily Post Institute booklet entitled, "Wedding Invitations and Announcements."

History Weaves Tinsel Legend

The use of tinsel as a decoration for Christmas trees has an interesting legend attached to it. The legend relates that there once was a Christmas tree which spiders had covered with their webs. The Christ Child then turned the lacy webs to silver threads, hence the coming of tinsel.

House Republicans, Dems to Discuss Problems as Parties Prepare to Switch Roles

LANSING (AP) — House Republican leaders have asked House Democrats to sit down and discuss mutual problems as both parties prepare to switch roles in the legislature.

Rep. Robert Waldron, R-Grosse Pointe, majority floor leader in the last session of the legislature, and the leading candidate for minority floor leader in the next, said an informal Republican "housekeeping" committee has asked for the meeting.

* * *

The Democrats tentatively have agreed to the meeting but wanted it postponed until after their caucus here today, Waldron said.

"That was okay with us," he added, "they've got a lot of work to do."

Serving on the Republican committee are Waldron, Reps. Arnell Engstrom of Traverse City, Martin Buth of Grand Rapids, and Joseph Swallow, representative-elect from Alpena.

Democrats are preparing to take over leadership in the House for the first time since 1938. They won 72 of the 110 House seats in the Nov. 3 Democratic sweep. They were outnumbered 58-52 in the last session.

* * *

The meeting will not deal with issues or committee assignments, Waldron said. "We may or may not discuss ratios (of Republicons to Democrats on committees)."

The controlling party has traditionally kept the chairmanships of key committees and the majority of the committee seats. Appointments are made by the speaker, a member of the majority party.

'FAIRER SHAKE'

Several Democrats, however, have promised a "fairer shake" on committee assignments than the Republicans gave them in the past. They have pledged to use talent where they find it—presumably meaning that some Republicans would receive important committee assignments.

* * *

Rep. E. D. O'Brien, the only announced candidate for majority floor leader, has pledged to do away with nonworking committees — where, he said, Democratic legislators often were pigeonholed in the past.

Among the housekeeping chores, Waldron said, will be the naming of pages, a decision on a sergeant-at-arms, and the selection of a staff.

Such meetings may have been held in the past, but probably were rare.

* * *

"This whole situation is new," he said. "There probably never was the necessity there is this time."

* * *

The problem is further complicated by the fact that 53 of the House members are brand new this year. Four other nonincumbents who won seats in the general election had served in the leislature previously.

4 State Educators Take Office Oaths

LANSING (AP) — Four of the eight members-elect of the new State Board of Education took their oaths of office Thursday in Lansing, where they were observing a meeting of the old board of education.

Michigan Supreme Court Chief Justice Thomas Kavanagh administered the oath to Charles Morton, Peter Oppewall, Marilyn Jean Kelly and Dr. Leon Fill. All eight members also are scheduled to take oaths of office during the Jan. 1 inauguration ceremonies.

The new board was created by the 1963 constitution to take over policy making duties from the superintendent of public instruction. Its members were elected Nov. 3.

Unit on Indians Meets

PETOSKEY (AP)—The governor's Commission on Indian Affairs meets here today in one of a series of stops planned at several northern Michigan communities to study economic conditions of area Indians. The tour includes visits to Indian settlements near Harbor Springs, Charlevoix and Escanaba.

Come look them over! Come try them out!

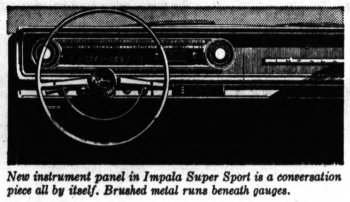
They're in our showroom now—ready for you to see and drive. So come on in and get the full story on the beautiful new Chevrolets for '65.

'65 Chevrolet Impala Super Sport Coupe

'65 Chevrolet

Body by Fisher interior of this bucket-seated Impala Super Sport would do a high-priced car proud. Elegant? Almost shamefully!

Curved glass side windows add tailored look.



New instrument panel in Impala Super Sport is a conversation piece all by itself. Brushed metal runs beneath gauges.

It's a longer, lower, wider, roomier, quieter, handsomer, swankier kind of Chevrolet. Beneath its clean-hewn lines, you'll find more shoulder room, more leg room up front and (thanks to a smaller floor tunnel) more foot room too. Even Chevrolet's Jet-smooth ride is smoother. More '65 models are on the way every day, and we're itching to show them off.

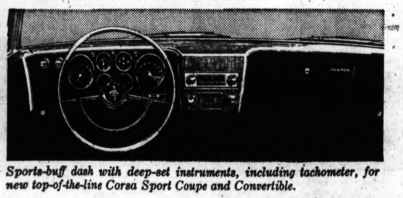
CHEVROLET

New Corvair Corsa Sport Coupe

'65 Corvair

More shoulder and entrance room in all models. Front bucket seats are standard on Monzas and Corsas.

New frameless curved side windows.



Sports-buff dash with deep-set instruments, including tachometer, for new top-of-the-line Corsa Sport Coupe and Convertible.

It's a racier looking, quicker steering, surer stopping, flatter cornering, roomier riding kind of Corvair. There's a sweeter riding independent suspension system, bigger self-adjusting brakes, more responsive steering, a wider stance. Also up to 180 hp available in the Corsas—up to 140 hp for the Monzas and 500's. Just follow the enthusiasts —to our showroom.

DECIDES IT ISN'T WORTH IT — Albert H. Zabala, 31, decided yesterday he wouldn't return to his wife, Adelaide, 27, after hearing her conditions in Los Angeles Superior Court. Zabala, a truck driver, was given a list of 15 rules he must follow before his wife would take him back. The list included a ban on drinking, an order that he come straight home from work each day and turn over all his money to his wife.

Peron Is Under Police Guard Awaiting Word on His Status

SEVILLA, Spain (AP) — Juan Peron remained under a strong police guard in a Sevilla hotel today while the Spanish and Argentine governments discuss his status. He was joined by his wife, Isabel Martinez.

There was no word from Spanish authorities whether they would again give the former Argentine dictator asylum.

He flew to South America Tuesday night, hoping to wait in Paraguay until he could return to Argentina. But the Brazilian government stopped him in Rio de Janeiro and sent him back to Spain.

Police sources said Mrs. Peron arrived from their residence in Madrid at dawn and was taken immediately to her husband's rooms.

* * *

Peron is being kept in seclusion while the Spanish government decides whether he will be permitted to continue living in Spain after violating conditions under whch he was given asylum nearly five years ago.

Eight plainclothesmen are on duty at the hotel to prevent newsmen from reaching the ex-dictator.

Telephone operators at the hotel were instructed to turn down any calls for Peron.

Spanish officials in Madrid said Peron was warned before leaving Madrid that if he had to return he would not be allowed to stay unless the Argentine government agreed.

* * *

The officials said Peron replied: "I well know what my situation would be if I had to return. But I wish to take the risk and try to reach Argentina and so keep my promise to return to my followers."

Peron, now 69, had announced he would return to Argentina this year.

NY Reporter Dies

NEW YORK (AP) — Marshall H. Covert, 75, a reporter in Brooklyn for the New York Times, the Associated Press and other news media for 58 years, died Thursday.

U.S., Soviets Set New Talks

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union moved today toward a new search for cold war solutions after avoiding — at least for the time being — a head-on fight over U.N. finances.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk arranged a third meeting with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko Saturday and left open the possibility of further talks next week.

* * *

These are the first high-level U.S.-Soviet discussions since the new regime took over in Moscow, and the two Rusk-Gromyko sessions earlier this week focused on the immediate crisis over Soviet arrears on U.N. dues.

Rusk was reported ready now to canvass with Gromyko the possibilities for agreement on other East-West problems ranging from disarmament to trade.

UNDER RULING

The U.S. assessment is that the Soviet government is still under committee rule and thus not likely to make radical policy changes. In contrast to Moscow's currently harsh propaganda, Gromyko in speaking privately to Rusk was said to have left out charges against U.S. policy in the Congo and Viet Nam.

American sources said Gromyko was interested in broadening the 1963 nuclear test ban. France and Red China have refused to join, and there seems to be little Washington or Moscow can do about that. However, Rusk and Gromyko were said to agree that the possibility of extending the ban to underground explosions — now exempt — could be explored in technical talks at the Geneva disarmament conference.

The two also touched on the "bonfire" proposal. This disarmament idea, which has made little headway at the Geneva parley, calls for the big powers to destroy weapons obsolete for them but still desired by smaller countries.

Another matter raised by Gromyko and due for further discussion is expansion of U.S.-Soviet trade. That could bring on another round of negotiations on the Soviet World War II lend-lease debt to the United States.

The U.N. financial argument is on a back burner and the simmering question is: How much will the Soviets have to pay — and in what manner will they pay — to escape losing their vote in the General Assembly for not paying their assessments for U.N. peace-keeping operations in the Congo and the Middle East?

* * *

The United States and the Soviet Union have tossed this problem to Secretary General U Thant.

A solution to the financial dispute is not yet in sight, and U.S. diplomats believe the assembly may have to continue its temporary no-vote truce until the Christmas recess in order to give the negotiators time.

U.N. Afro-Asian Bloc Demanding Quick Action

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Chafing over the no-vote truce in the U.N. General Assembly, the African-Asian group mobilized today to force the world forum to get down to controversial issues.

Such action could result in the U.S.-Soviet showdown over peace-keeping finances which was averted earlier this week.

The Africans particularly want to pressure the assembly into taking up its agenda — and the stormy African issues on it — rather than waiting out three weeks of general debate and a month-long Christmas recess.

A leader of the group said a move may be launched Monday to get prompt election of the assembly's 13 vice presidents and the chairmen of its seven principal committees. This is necessary before the committees can begin considering the items on the agenda. But until the U.S.-Soviet dispute over finances is settled, any proposal requiring a record vote will result in an American demand that the Soviet Union be barred from voting because it has not paid its assessments for peace-keeping operations.

SOVIET THREAT

The Soviets have threatened to walk out if they are denied their vote.

The Soviets and the Americans agreed Tuesday that the assembly would proceed with noncontroversial business — not requiring votes — while negotiators worked on the financial dispute.

FBI Leader Not Ready for Rocking-Chair Life

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Approaching 70, J. Edgar Hoover is once again the subject of criticism and controversy. But he is fazed by neither and looks forward to a continuing active career. He granted an exclusive interview to Don Whitehead, author of "The FBI Story" and former Associated Press correspondent.)

By DON WHITEHEAD

WASHINGTON (AP) — J. Edgar Hoover has survived more than 40 turbulent years as director of the FBI under seven presidents. Now he merely chuckles at those who talk of his early retirement.

Hoover, who is 69 years old, said in an interview: "I feel fine. I'm in better physical condition than I have been in years. And I intend to remain active because I just don't like the rocking-chair life. If I retired, I wouldn't enjoy life very much."

* * *

Hoover gives every appearance of a man who is enjoying life hugely, even when it becomes a bit hectic as it has been in recent days. He is 33 pounds lighter than he was six years ago. He appears to have lost little if any of his old restless energy. And he places no cutoff date on his future.

Part of his exuberance, no doubt, comes from the fact that President Johnson waived last May the requirement that he retire at 70, which he reaches in January.

'I'M HOOKED'

"So you might say I'm hooked — and I'm happy about it even though staying on the job will cost me money," Hoover said. "If I retired, I could, under the new law, draw a tax-free pension of $30,000 a year. But by staying on the job I must pay a substantial part of it in income taxes."

Hoover said he had observed that men who remain physically and mentally busy are less subject to heart attacks and other ailments than those who retire, slow their working pace, and grow fat from leisure.

* * *

He mentioned Bernard Baruch, Winston Churchill and the late Herbert Hoover as examples of men who continued active, useful lives long after they had passed 70.

"If I quit," he said, "I think I would have trouble. After three or four days of vacation I get so itchy for activity that I call the office and ask them to send me some work."

ABOUT HEALTH

The FBI chief at first was more interested in talking of his health than such matters as his tiff with the Rev. Martin Luther King, the civil rights leader, and his annoyance with the Warren Commission's report on the assassination of President John F. Kennedy. He shoved them into the background.

* * *

"A few years ago," Hoover recalled, "I spent the Christmas Holidays in Miami with friends. We ate at all the best restaurants — a lot of rich food — and when I got back to the office I was much too heavy.

* * *

"Then I got an invitation to a formal dinner at the White House. When I got out my dress suit, I could hardly squeeze into it. In fact, I was afraid during the evening that I'd pop something loose. That is when I decided that I — and all my special agents — were going to take off weight. A survey had showed that almost 1 agent in 10 was too fat.

"I took off 10 pounds in a short time merely by leaving off the bread, butter, potatoes and chocolate cream pie. Now I'm down 33 pounds to about 170. And we have only five overweight agents in the entire bureau."

KNEW KENNEDYS

Hoover, who has served as director of the FBI since 1924, speaks with affection of the late President Kennedy and his father, former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy.

"I have known Joe Kennedy for many years," he said, "and I knew the boys as they grew up. My relations with John were very cordial. Soon after his election, and before his inauguration in January 1961, he called me and asked me to stay on as director of the FBI. He also called Allen Dulles and asked him to remain as head of CIA. I told him I would be happy to stay."

* * *

Recently Newsweek magazine said President Johnson had decided to find a new FBI boss. It described the President as a "disenchanted fan" of Hoover's. The White House denied the report.

As to his differences with Dr. King (whom he recently called "a notorious liar"), the FBI chief added: "I don't enjoy a controversy, and I don't go looking for one. I have tried for years to avoid public disputes. But I cannot let attacks on the FBI go unchallenged when they are not justified. If I didn't speak out in defense of my agents, I would have no morale left in this organization."

HARSH WORDS

About two weeks ago Hoover leveled some harsh words at his critics during a news conference attended by women reporters. Some thought the words popped out on the spur of the moment, but such wasn't the case.

For several months Hoover had been smarting under reports of criticisms from civil rights leaders, which he felt added up to:

Deriding the efforts of the FBI to bring to justice the men guilty of slaying civil rights workers and bombing Negro homes and churches in the South; advising Negroes not to take their problems to the FBI; saying most FBI agents were Southerners who were not sympathetic to the Negroes' cause; blaming the FBI when the Department of Justice decided not to prosecute certain complaints; and criticizing the FBI's cooperation with "segregationist" police officers in law enforcement.

* * *

In his talk with the newswomen, Hoover replied to the criticism.

"The time had come to be blunt," he said in the latest interview. "Public trust in the FBI is an important part of law enforcement and national security. If that trust is chipped away, our defense against crime, espionage and subversion is weakened."

EARLY COMBATANTS

Then he added: "They seem to forget that we have been in the fight to preserve civil rights for the past 40 years. We were fighting against injustices before many of our present critics were born."

In his interview the director said that pressures have increased to turn the FBI into a national police force; people who should know better are suggesting that more and more of the responsibilities of law enforcement should be transferred from local police to the FBI.

"It has been intimated that in protecting the life of the President of the United States," he said, "that federal officers should take into custody everyone who might conceivably be a threat to the President's life when he visits a city.

"This would mean picking up every Communist, kook and beatnik in a city and holding them without charge. If federal officers did this, there would be a tremendous uproar over the violation of these people's civil rights — and rightly so."

UNJUSTIFIED

Hoover still thinks the Warren Commission was unjustified in chiding the FBI for not having passed the name of Lee Harvey Oswald along to the Secret Service as a potential killer. It was Oswald whom the commission held solely responsible for the assassination of President Kennedy. Hoover contends there was nothing in the record to suggest that Oswald was dangerous.

"Total security for the President of the United States is ridiculous," Hoover said. "When he is gregarious and loves to move around, you can't box him in. You can advise him to take certain precautions — but that doesn't mean he will take them."

* * *

Hoover said there is pressure from civil rights leaders for the FBI to give personal protection to civil rights workers and those demonstrating for civil rights causes. The proponents argue that local police cannot be trusted to view the Negro cause with sympathy.

"They want us to be bodyguards and to give personal protection," Hoover said, "but that is impossible. It was even suggested at one time that our agents should drive the buses used by Freedom Riders going across Alabama. I refused to do it. Our agents can not be chauffeurs for any cause.

LEGAL RIGHTS

"After all that has been written, so few people know what we legally can do and can't do. Our agents can not be used as instruments for social reform. They are law enforcement agents. Their job is to gather facts when there is an indication that a federal law has been violated. These facts are presented to the Department of Justice, and the department decides whether there will be or will not be a prosecution.

"An FBI agent is not authorized to pass judgment on the guilt or innocence of a person. He can only gather the facts and let the facts speak for themselves. If he were allowed to become an investigator, judge and jury all in one, then we would have no constitutional law enforcement. We would have a police state."

* * *

Hoover is convinced that the only sound law enforcement system is one based on a local police system working in cooperation with the federal agencies. He argues the main police responsibilities lie at the local level and must remain there. He insists that this system, with all of its faults, serves the cause of justice best and should be improved upon rather than changed or destroyed.

"We still have trouble with some red-neck backwoods sheriffs," he said. "We still find police forces with whom we can not cooperate. But law enforcement today is far better than it was 30 years ago. The police are better trained and I like to think this is partly due to our training of police officers at our National Police Academy.

* * *

"I believe the FBI is operating on sound principles. My duty is to see that it keeps a steady course and is not used to serve any pressure group."

Then he added with a grin: "I expect to be around quite a while, too."

Romney Doesn't Want to Defend Every Aspect of Constitution

By DICK BARNES
Associated Press Writer

LANSING (AP) — George Romney, who parlayed his call for constitutional reform into the governorship, is trying to make sure he is not caught having to defend every aspect of what some persons call "Romney's Constitution."

* * *

The massive task of implementing the 1963 constitution and reorganizing state government faces the overwhelmingly Democratic 1965 legislature.

News Analysis

Democrats nearly defeated the constitution when it went to the voters and are expected to criticize parts of it again during the next legislative session.

Republican Romney sought to take himself off such a collision course Thursday when he voluntarily chided two major points of the document and remarked several times during a 40-minute news conference that he was only one of 144 delegates who wrote it.

The governor stressed his opinion that it is "a basically good constitution—far superior to what we had"—but his criticism was new.

He said he had opposed provisions calling for:

—Initial election of Supreme Court justices rather than gubernatorial appointment followed by election if a second term is sought.

—A balanced state budget each year rather than long-term balance with deficit financing permitted in economically bad years.

The governor acknowledged that he is finding himself blamed for shortcomings of the constitution.

One key administration official said Romney simply can't afford to get in an argument every time some phrase of the constitution is attacked.

THINGS TO COME

The aide indicated current rumblings over the constitution's requirement of elections to fill vacant judgeships are probably a harbinger of criticism to come in 1965 during implementation.

Questions as to how duties—and even occupancy—of the heretofore elected offices of treasurer, auditor general and highway commissioner will pass to successors have the attorney general's office at work.

* * *

With strong points of the constitution now taken for granted and other provisions moving under attack, the governor apparently believes it is time to step, at least in Michigan, away from total embrace of the document.

Romney's comment on judgeships came after he set dates for special elections to fill seven lower court vacancies. The constitution has been criticized for requiring the costly special elections rather than allowing at least interim appointment of judges by the governor.

RUNS INTO TROUBLE

Another provision allowing retired judges to fill vacant seats temporarily has run into trouble because of a scarcity of willing and able retirees.

Romney said he had not, during the Constitutional Convention, debated how to fill lower court vacancies. He offered a theory Thursday that "the appointive system combined with the subsequent election produces better-qualified people."

His budget comment came during a discussion of the state's $37-million surplus. Seemingly also trying to protect some of the surplus from fund-seeking state agencies, Romney said the yearly budget balance requirement means:

* * *

"The are only two things that can keep us from having a real (financial) problem at some point—continued good times or the buildup of a reserve in good years so we can have more funds than just current revenues in bad years."

Hart Predicts Dunes Bill OK

Plans to Reintroduce State Park Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Philip A. Hart, D - Mich., said Thursday he will reintroduce the bill to create a Sleeping Bear Dunes National Lakeshore in western Michigan. He predicted it will pass.

He told a news conference he will propose a bill which includes provisions passed by the Senate a year ago. One of those provisions provided for a 51,000-acre park on the shores of Lake Michigan.

* * *

This is a scaled-down version of the bill originally proposed by Hart and Sen. Pat McNamara, D-Mich., calling for a 77,000-acre lakeshore park.

In discussing the Nov. 3 election results, Hart said the people of Michigan like the approach of President Johnson better than that of Sen. Barry Goldwater, the GOP presidential nominee.

SECOND TERM

Since he was identified with the Johnson approach, Hart said, he reaped the benefits. Hart was re-elected to a second six-year term with a majority of about 987,000 votes over Mrs. nominee.

Asked what he intended to do during his new term, Hart said Elly Peterson, the Republican that he had campaigned for the war on poverty, aid to education, conservation, and consumer protection. He said he intends to press forward in all these areas.

Hart said he will support Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D - Maine, for Senate Democratic whip—the post is being vacated by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey D-Minn., the vice president-elect.

Houseful of Hopefuls

Each year on some small off-Broadway stage, the curtain goes up on a diligently-rehearsed variety revue that is destined to run for only one night.

The show plays to a select audience of critics, agents, stage and TV directors and "just about anyone who can give a girl a break in show business."

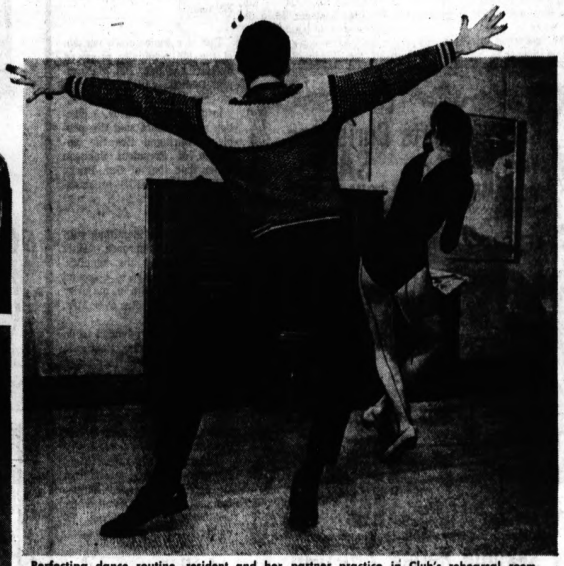
Nine years ago, singer-comedienne Carol Burnett produced and starred in the show. Then, as now, each member of the all-girl cast lives at Rehearsal Club—a four-story brownstone that provides low-cost housing for struggling young performers.

Rehearsal Club is located several blocks away from where Miss Burnett's name is blazoned in lights on a Broadway theater marquee. But the glow of those lights pervades the entire household.

The girls live two to a room and take two meals daily in the dining room. A large rehearsal room equipped with piano, tape recorder and record player and full-length mirror is maintained for them. The club also provides phone message service and a bulletin board where casting calls, auditions and job openings are posted.

More than 10,000 starry-eyed young actresses have lived in the club since it was founded in 1913. A few have gone on to stardom, some have achieved a small measure of show business success, many more have not. But each of the girls living there now is sure her name will someday be up on a theater marquee in lights—just like Carol Burnett's.

Rehearsal Club's bulletin board is scanned daily for casting calls, auditions and special notices.



Perfecting dance routine, resident and her partner practice in Club's rehearsal room.

Spirit of cooperation is part of Rehearsal Club living. Girls help each other with hairsets, wardrobes and drama studies.

Aspiring dancers team up for exercises in one of Club's 25 bedrooms.

Agent calls with her first big opportunity.

She can't believe it really happened.

Drama practice is part of life at Rehearsal Club. Aspiring actresses audition for each other.

Honest self-evaluation is the mark of maturity in an actress. Rehearsal Club's tape recorder gets constant heavy use.

Recount Starts Monday in Mason Sheriff Race

LUDINGTON (AP)—A recount of 25 Mason County precincts begins Monday in the Nov. 3 race for sheriff. Incumbent Ed Anderson, in office 22 years, lost by 58 votes to Ludington city policeman Wallace Bentz. Anderson asked a recount of 23 precincts and Bentz wants a recount in 2 others.

Enough Unusual Gifts to Fill Centipede's Stockings

By JOY STILLEY
Written for Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Santa won't have any trouble filling my stocking this year. In fact, there are so many unusual gifts around I wish I were a centipede.

Everything I could possibly want is available, plus a lot of things I definitely don't want, such as a set of cuff links made of real glass eyes.

Even Santa himself is on the market. He's a life-size, jolly gentleman who may look a bit undernourished at first glance, but just feed him a diet of crumpled newspapers and he'll have as round a belly as anyone could wish. He's made of all-weather plastic, so he can spend the entire holiday season atop my chimney.

There's one gift of far-reaching importance. It's an 18-inch-long electric back scratcher. Press the button and the busy fingers start to scratch 3,000 times a minute. I'm itching for that one.

I've discovered just the thing to add the romantic touch our bathroom needs. It's a filigree toothbrush holder "looking for all the world like an heirloom antique." This should go well with our toothbrushes, which also tend to look like antiques.

Most useful items, though, are the cozy duster slippers. Just put these miniature mops on your feet and dust as you dance. I plan to whirl gracefully about my morning chores, doing the twist in the corners and the Charleston for the stubborn spots.

Then there's some spy paper that vanishes right before your eyes. Dunk your secret message in a glass of water and it's gone. It's a little risky to use for notes to the milkman, though. It just might rain.

* * *

I've a couple of gift ideas for my husband, too. One is a long-handled shoe buffer so he can shine his footwear standing up. The only trouble is he won't be able to get his eyes open wide enough in the morning to see that far.

And, though I've been giving him the red-carpet treatment figuratively for years, now I can do it literally. The bright red felt rug comes with golden fringe and his name custom-lettered in matching gold for that personal touch.

One thing I must have — those candles in the shape of a question mark for my next birthday cake.

BLUE SHIELD ANSWERS YOUR QUESTIONS

Blue Shield covers treatment for pre-existing illnesses

? I have an ulcer which may require surgery. Will Blue Shield cover the cost of the operation after I become a member even though I have suffered from this condition for years?

Yes. Blue Shield provides a benefit for pre-existing illnesses immediately after the effective date of the contract if you belong to a group. If you don't belong to a group there is a six-month wait after the effective date before these conditions are covered.

? Suppose I have an accident around the house that requires treatment by my doctor. Will Blue Shield pay benefits even if I'm not admitted as a hospital patient?

Yes. Blue Shield provides regular benefit payment for all services covered in the Blue Shield contract in case of non-occupational accidents.

? When I get married can I include my wife for Blue Shield coverage and if so, when will her coverage start?

Yes, you can add your wife (or husband) to your contract by notifying Blue Shield directly or through your payroll or personnel department within 30 days before or after the marriage. Coverage becomes effective on the date of marriage.

? I have lost my Blue Cross-Blue Shield identification card. How can I get another one?

Send a letter or postcard to Blue Cross-Blue Shield, 441 E. Jefferson, Detroit 26, or notify your group contact person. Be sure to include your name and address and the name of the company where you work, or other group in which you are enrolled.

? When I started working at my present job I did not take advantage of the opportunity to join our group Blue Shield plan. Can I still join?

Yes. You can still get Blue Shield group coverage, but you must wait until your group holds an enrollment reopening period. Most groups have these reopenings once each year.

Do you have a question about your Blue Shield coverage? Just write Dept. 54, Michigan Medical Service, 441 E. Jefferson, Detroit, Michigan 48226.

Antipoverty Study Group Disbands

'Troy Too Sound for Federal Aid'

TROY — A joint committee formed to study possible participation by Troy in the federal antipoverty program has disbanded after deciding that Troy's private economy is too healthy to merit federal funds under the program.

★ ★ ★

But the ideas formed by the six-member group will not die with its dissolution, inasmuch as they are at the core of the "community school" concept now being studied by Troy educators.

The committee made the following statement regarding the antipoverty program:

"After due consideration of the information that the Troy Community Action Program (TROYCAP) committee has been able to assemble, the members of the committee are of the opinion that the economic level of the families of the city of Troy appears to be too high to warrant consideration for federal aid under the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964."

★ ★ ★

This means that the minimum requirements in terms of economic need established by the government to determine eligibility for the program would likely not be met by Troy.

SURPRISING FACTS

Two pages of substantiation for the opinion followed the statement, and contain some facts that were pleasantly surprising to committee members.

Among them are:

● Low-income families—Census figures from 1960 show that four years ago, at the end of a recessional period, there were only two census blocks in all of Troy with average home cash values of less than $6,750.

This figure has been equated with a probable annual income of $3,000 or less.

These two blocks contained only 13 owner families and three renting families.

● Unemployment — Up-to-date information on this for the city alone is unavailable, but most indications are that the rate of unemployment is very low and should get even lower as the pace of construction in Troy continues to pick up.

● Delinquency in payment of property taxes — Another indication of financial need, it has been dropping steadily, from 12.5 per cent in 1959 to 9.5 per cent in 1963.

● Welfare and other assistance — Currently, only 14 Troy families are receiving welfare aid regularly, and only two or three families are receiving Aid to Dependent Children (ADC) help.

● Disease and infant mortality — the incidence of tuberculosis is sometimes used to test the presence of poverty conditions.

In all of Troy last year, there were only two inactive and one active case of tuberculosis, out of about 21,000 people.

The infant mortality rate in Troy was 1.6 per cent, compared with the Oakland County average of 2 per cent, and the overall death rate was one-half of 1 per cent, compared to 1 per cent for the nation.

● Housing conditions — One of the more surprising facts turned up is that the 1960 average cash value of all owner-occupied houses in Troy was $16,700, with 88.8 per cent of all houses occupied by the owners, committee members said.

The 11.2 per cent who rented were paying an average of $80 per month.

★ ★ ★

Although the committee ruled participation in the antipoverty program as unlikely, it made five recommendations to the Troy School Board and the City Commission.

The recommendations cover basic areas examined as fertile for work through the antipoverty program, but which are key factors in the "community school" concept recently put in the spotlight by Schools Supt. Dr. Rex B. Smith, a TROYCAP member.

The group recommended:

● Expansion of public library services.

● Expansion of recreation, self-improvement and adult education programs.

● Establishment of prekindergarten classes for disadvantaged children.

● Establishment of neighborhood senior citizens centers.

● Construction of sidewalks along heavily-traveled mile roads where needed to provide safe walking routes to the schools for children and adults.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Smith said that the School Board will discuss the recommendations at its next meeting Tuesday.

In the meantime, study on the community school idea, which would embody most of the recommendations made by TROYCAP, is going forward, with two bus trips slated to observe Flint Community Schools.

★ ★ ★

A busload of 88 interested school and city officials and citizens will go to Flint on Feb. 4, and another on Feb. 25.

★ ★ ★

The concept of the community school, totally involved in the activities of the community for the benefit of schoolchildren and adults alike, has been flourishing there for many years.

"DECK THE HALLS"—This is the carol-inspired invitation of members of the Rochester branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association to residents of the area at this time of year. Showing just a couple of the decorations to be offered at the group's Christmas Greens Market next weekend are Mrs. Donald Scripture, marketing chairman (left), and Mrs. Tage Ketelsen, treasurer. Also featuring fresh greens brought in each morning, the market will be open from 10 a. m. to 9 p. m. Friday and 9 a. m. to 1 p. m. Saturday in Avon Park Pavilion, Rochester.

NEWS OF THE AREA

Troy to Ask Civil Service Changes

TROY—The City Commission has gone on record as favoring legislation designed to change three of the more stringent portions of Act 78, which governs Civil Service employes.

The commission has approved a resolution to notify the Michigan Municipal League of its support of changes in Act 78 by means of new legislation.

Specific parts of the act which are apparently causing difficulties in Troy, as well as other municipalities, are those covering residency and age requirements, as well as a portion called "rule of 1."

At present, Act 78 requires city residency for one year on the part of a potential Civil Service employe such as a policeman.

★ ★ ★

Since Troy's firemen are voluntary, only the police department is covered by the act.

AGE LIMIT

The act sets an age limit of 21 to 31 years for the hiring of policemen, which cuts down the number of potential applicants too far to suit the commission.

The "rule of 1" requires that the candidate scoring highest on a written examination be hired for a vacant job, or promoted, regardless of other qualifications.

Troy and other municipalities would like to be able to choose from the top two or three scorers on an examination, placing some emphasis on other factors such as experience and personality.

The city was literally "stuck" with Act 78 when Troy voters put it into effect in April despite opposing recommendations by a nine-member citizens study committee set up by the City Commission.

CALLED ACT

The committee called the act "ambiguous and difficult to interpret" and said that it "does not recognize the principle that local self-rule can best serve Troy's citizens."

Inasmuch as Act 78 was passed by the State Legislature, it can be changed only by action of that body.

At the time of the citizens committee study, the City Commission drew up a city ordinance which would have provided Civil Service status for all city employes under a locally managed program.

★ ★ ★

But 1,000 citizens signed a petition circulated by friends and relatives of police officers in a successful drive to put the state program on the April ballot.

SPURRED BY FIRING

The campaign was spurred by the firing of Police Chief David E. Gratopp, now a commissioner, early this year, and job security was made an issue.

Commissioner and Mayor Pro Tem Wallace B. Hudson was authorized by the commission to make recommendations for Act 78 changes to the Michigan Municipal League by means of a letter in September.

The letter asked for restudy and amendments with regard to the three sections which have created difficulties for Troy in hiring policemen.

★ ★ ★

One of two vacancies was recently filled after a lengthy search for candidates who met Act 78 requirements.

ONE APPLICATION

Another remains vacant, with only one application received in response to new advertisements.

The Michigan Municipal League asked for resolutions such as that passed by Troy's commission, in order to gauge support for, or opposition to, action in the legislature aimed at changing Act 78.

Troy Methodist Men to Attend Breakfast

TROY — The Methodist Men of the Troy Methodist Church will have a breakfast tomorrow at 7:30 a.m. at the church.

Speaker will be Rev. J. Douglas Parker of St. Paul's Methodist Church, Rochester. All men of the community are welcome to attend.

School Parley Set in Dryden

To Discuss Upcoming Bond Issue Election

DRYDEN — A public meeting is slated for 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Dryden School gymnasium for a discussion of the upcoming school bond issue election.

Voters will be asked to approve a $375,000 bond issue to support a proposed building program Dec. 21.

The bond issue, which will require about 4 mills ($4 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation) to finance, covers the cost of an addition to present facilities.

The addition would provide 10 elementary classrooms, including kindergarten and special education rooms; a combined elementary and secondary library; cafeteria and kitchen; music offices and storage; elementary administrative offices; an enlarged boiler room and storage rooms.

★ ★ ★

Facilities now housed in a vintage 1908 building and temporary rooms added in past years would be replaced by the addition.

The meeting was called by the Dryden School Board in order to answer questions from residents of the district.

It is also planned to garner the opinions of the taxpayers on the school plant problems of the district.

To Air School Vote at PTA Meeting

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP — The Dec. 14 school election on a $1.5-million building program and additional one-mill operating levy will be discussed Monday at Union Lake Elementary School.

Walled Lake Schools Supt. Clifford H. Smart will be the speaker at the 8 p.m. PTA meeting.

The bond issue proposal is aimed at construction of a new elementary school, addition to Keith Elementary and broad renovations to existing buildings.

Also deemed necessary are three or four elementary school sites and property for a secondary school.

The additional millage is being sought for operation of the proposed facilities.

At Milford School

To Talk on College

MILFORD—Dr. John E. Tirrell, first president of Oakland Community College, will speak at the Monday night meeting of the Johnson School Elementary Association.

DR. JOHN E. TIRRELL

All parents, teachers and college-bound students in the Huron Valley School District are invited to attend the 8 p.m. session at the school to hear about plans for the new college.

Tirrell now is directing preparations for the opening of the institution in September 1965.

The 38-year-old educator came to Oakland County from St. Louis, Mo. last fall to head the program.

★ ★

A former teacher and principal in Michigan public schools, Tirrell was assistant director of the Harvard Center for Field Studies and dean of Grand Rapids Junior College. From 1958 to 1962, he served as general secretary of the University of Michigan Alumni Association.

In St. Louis, Tirrell was instrumental in establishing three junior college campuses.

Oxford Choir Sets Annual Yule Cantata

OXFORD — Holy Cross Lutheran Choir will present its annual Christmas cantata Sunday at 5 p.m.

The cantata, "Sing, Oh Ye Heavens!" by Helen Jun Marth, is directed by Mrs. Helen Grey, choir director.

Soloists include Mrs. Charles Stillwell, Mrs. Elmer Greenwald, Mrs. Walter McCoy and Susan Hall. Others are James McGuire, Richard Eaton, Leonard Sass and Hubert May.

Organist will be Mrs. Richard Eaton.

The congregation will participate in the service through hymns and prayer.

CHRISTMAS DINNER

After the service, members of the choir, the church and friends will gather in the fellowship hall for a potluck Christmas dinner and carol singing.

★ ★ ★

The cantata will be given in the church at 136 S. Washington.

SCHOOL GOING UP—Workmen hurry to complete the exterior work on the new junior high school on the 20-acre site adjacent to Lake Orion Community High School as the temperatures dip below the freezing mark. To accommodate some 1,200 students, the combination one- and two-story building also will contain a cafeteria, library and athletic facilities. The $1.1-million project is due for completion next summer.

Bumper Apple Crop in Michigan This Year

LANSING (AP) — Michigan enjoyed a bumper apple crop of 18.5 million bushels this year, 54 per cent larger than the 1963 crop and 39 per cent better than the five-year average.

The Federal-State Statistical Service said production of Jonathan, McIntosh, Northern Spy and Red Delicious, the state's four leading varieties, totaled 13.35 million bushels, 72 per cent of the total crop.

By aiming for higher yields and applying high rates of fertilizer, farmers have increased their need for zinc on mineral soils, reports Ray L. Cook, MSU soil scientist.

Anniversary to Be Marked by Farmington Methodists

FARMINGTON — Methodism's 135 years in Farmington will be marked Sunday during special programs at the First Methodist Church.

★ ★ ★

Bishop Dwight E. Loder will speak at both the 9:15 a.m. and 10:40 a.m. services.

Immediately following the second service, at 12:30 p.m., a churchwide anniversary dinner will be served at Farmington Junior High School, located behind the church.

Bishop Loder will officiate at the 2:30 p.m. ceremony in which the church's mortgage for its educational unit will be burned.

★ ★ ★

Rev. Dr. Russell Sursaw, former pastor of the church, will be the speaker at the special 7:30 p.m. service.

CAME TO FARMINGTON

Methodism came to Farmington when Rev. J. A. Baugham, a circuit rider, stopped at a small group of houses on Grand River to speak to the neighbors in the community.

The church which he established was among the earliest institutions in the small village.

At first the congregation met in the homes of the members, but in 1840 a frame church was built at the corner of Shiawassee and Warner. It later was enlarged and improved.

After the building was destroyed by fire in 1920, a new church was built under the guidance of Rev. Sidney D. Eva. The building was dedicated in 1922 on the present site at Grand River and Warner.

MAJOR EXPANSION

Next major expansion came in 1958, when the educational unit was completed and consecrated.

Growth has continued during the administration of the present pastor, Rev. Richard T. Markham.

Among the changes is expansion of the sanctuary to provide seating capacity for 160 additional worshipers. The basement has been finished to provide more facilities for social functions and new assembly rooms for junior and adult choirs.

Mrs. Sidney D. Eva has joined the church staff as parish visitor and last July Rev. David R. Stone began his work as associate pastor, being primarily responsible for the religious education of youth.

Elections Slated April 5 to Fill Seven Judgeships

LANSING (AP) — Special elections will be held around the state April 5 to fill seven vacant judgeships, Gov. George Romney said yesterday.

Five of the vacancies are the result of election of incumbent judges to the new State Court of Appeals.

Elections will be held to fill the posts of Appellate Judges-elect Louis McGregor, Flint, Seventh Judicial Circuit; Richard Smith, Bay City, 18th Circuit; Donald Holbrook, Clare, 21st Circuit; Timothy Quinn, Lapeer, 40th Circuit, and John Watts, Detroit Traffic Court, and Charles Kaufman, Detroit Common Pleas Court.

Kaufman was elected to Wayne County Circuit Court.

An election already has been called in Detroit to fill the vacancy left by the death of Wayne County Circuit Judge Miles Culehan.

ANNOUNCED FOR POST

Former Democratic Gov. John Swainson has announced for the post.

Romney took the opportunity to say, in effect, "I told you so," as he announced the special election.

"As one Constitutional Convention delegate out of 144, I tried to get judges on the basis of appointment," he said.

★ ★ ★

"It was only when I found that I was opposed by a combination of both Republicans and Democrats that I decided to do the best I could," he said, adding:

TWO DISAVOWALS

"The best I could do was to give the judges the ability to renominate themselves so they did not have to go back to party conventions for nomination."

It was one of two disavowals Romney made in his news conference of some elements in the new Michigan Constitution he helped formulate.

★ ★ ★

The other dealt with the state's requirement for an annually balanced budget.

The April 5 election was called to coincide with local elections around the state, Romney said.

Farm Products Prices Steady as of Nov. 15

LANSING (AP) — The index of prices received by Michigan farmers remained unchanged at 214 per cent of the 1910-14 base during the month ending Nov. 15.

★ ★ ★

The Federal-State Statistical Service said price increases for dairy products, cash field crops and fruit were offset by declines in prices for meat animals, poultry, eggs, vegetable and feed crops.

Conference at Church in Rochester

ROCHESTER — A Christian Life Conference will start Sunday and run through Wednesday at First Baptist Church, at Walnut and Fourth streets.

Guest preacher and speaker for 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. Sunday services and three 7:30 p.m. meetings on the three days following will be Rev. Dr. W. Wilbert Welch.

The Rev. Dr. Welch is president of the Grand Rapids Baptist Bible College and Seminary and has had pastorates in Rome, Ga., and Muskegon.

He is noted for an ability to translate the Gospel into everyday language, thus making Christian doctrine more easily applicable to everyday living.

The purpose of the Christian Life Conference is to challenge Christians to make their faith a more important part of their daily life.

Pastor Rev. Donald K. Olsen has invited any Rochester resident to attend the conference.

Owner Dies in House Fire

A Franklin man, who apparently was taking a nap yesterday afternoon when his house caught fire, was dead on arrival at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Victim of the 12:28 p.m. fire was Stanley M. Hunter, 67, of 32665 Colony Hill who was alone in the house.

Franklin Fire Chief William Albee said the cause of the blaze has not been determined.

Damage to the $35,000 ranch house is estimated at between $10,000 and $12,000. Damage to contents is undetermined.

Albee said that an explosion of an oil storage tank in the basement of the house occurred while his department and the men from Bloomfield Township's department fought the blaze.

81 Arrested at U. of California

Calls Demonstration 'Anarchy'

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — President Clark Kerr of the University of California, says the student Free Speech Movement's chaotic sit-in demonstration on campus Thursday amounted to "anarchy by a willful minority of radical students."

An army of police dragged rag-limp students out of the littered corridors of the administration building on the Berkeley campus, and hauled them to jails in buses. They arrested 81 persons.

★ ★ ★

The rebels seized Sproul Hall Wednesday night and refused to vacate despite a plea to disperse peacefully by campus Chancellor Edward Strong.

Mario Savio, 21, a philosophy major who moved to California from New York City, led the demonstrators in their demands for unrestricted freedom to recruit members and collect funds anywhere on campus for off-campus political activities.

ARRESTS ORDERED

Gov. Edmund G. Brown ordered the arrests. Of those jailed, only a handful were released on bond.

"Seizure of the building had nothing to do with free speech, and the F.S.M. knew it," Kerr said.

"This protest has never been over free speech," he said. "There has been and is freedom of speech at the University of California. The protest has been over organizing political action on the campus. This has been granted within the limits of the law."

CHARGE BRUTALITY

Some students released on bail made charges of police brutality. But law enforcement officers said the only injuries were those inevitable in the job of lifting, carrying and arresting limp or struggling bodies.

A group of faculty members asked Berkeley's presiding municipal judge, Rupert Crittenden, to release the arrested students on their own recognizance or to cut their bail to $25.

★ ★ ★

The students face one or all of several charges — unlawful assembly, trespassing and resisting arrest. Bail for most of them was set at about $300.

The judge said he would consider the request of the faculty members, who also urged that university Chancellor Edward Strong resign.

OK RESOLUTION

Physics Prof. John H. Reynolds, chairman of the Berkeley chapter of the American Association of University Professors, said the chapter's executive committee had approved a resolution calling for Strong's resignation.

"The present crisis cannot be settled unless there is complete amnesty and a new chief campus officer who has the complete confidence of the members of the university," Reynolds said.

AP Photofax

ESCAPES ARREST — Bob MacLaren, who said he was not a student but a sympathizer in the sit-in demonstration at the University of California at Berkeley, escapes arrest by climbing down a rope from the second floor of Sproul Hall. Members of the Free Speech Movement are protesting the university's disciplinary action against four self-styled free speech leaders. As the students were arrested, they were taken by police to a waiting van.

Say Pentagon Parsimony Leads to Overseas Education Decline

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Overseas teachers, pressing for pay raises from the Defense Department, claim that Pentagon parsimony has led to a decline in the quality of education offered children of U.S. military personnel abroad.

The dispute involves about 6,500 teachers in nearly 300 schools at U.S. military bases around the world. They teach about 154,000 children.

The National Education Association (NEA) entered the dispute yesterday, charging that defense officials have been evasive about raising salaries as authorized by Congress.

The teachers had threatened to "withhold their services," beginning Dec. 9. But the Defense Department, labeling such action a strike, warned they would be fired and could be fined or imprisoned if they did so.

★ ★ ★

It was learned yesterday that the teachers had temporarily postponed any such action.

MET TWICE

Representatives of the NEA, the American Federation of Teachers and a delegation of overseas teachers met with defense officials twice yesterday, but no conclusive results were reported. It was expected they would meet again today.

Gael Pierce of Madrid, president of the Overseas Federation of Teachers Councils, said yesterday the discussion did not center entirely on teacher salaries.

He said the teachers also outlined to officials what they felt were deficiencies in the entire overseas school administration, including substandard or outdated equipment and books.

★ ★ ★

"The quality of education has declined due to the misguided parsimony of a few individuals," he said.

RELATIVE EXPENDITURES

Pierce explained that schools for U.S. dependents abroad are operated on the basis of a $285-per-pupil cost. He said the average per-pupil cost in the United States is estimated to be $432.

He said that this $285 must pay for books and other supplies as well as teacher salaries.

The $285 figure was authorized by Congress in 1963 and was an increase of $10 over the 1961 figure. But the funds for the increase were never appropriated. Thus, Pierce claimed, salary increases have been withheld and school supplies have become outdated.

★ ★ ★

Under these conditions, he added, "there is one way the schools can operate . . . by cutting corners."

This includes increasing classes, eliminating special teachers and programs for retarded or handicapped children, and using obsolete materials, he said.

★ ★ ★

The teachers have been frustrated in their efforts because the Defense Department claims it cannot discharge funds not appropriated by Congress. And they have no recourse to Capitol Hill because Congress is not in session.

Disabling Injuries Rate May End Up Highest Since '53

LANSING (AP)—The rate of disabling injuries among manufacturing employes this year could be the highest since 1953, the Michigan Department of Labor said Wednesday.

For the first nine months of this year, preliminary reports showed, there were an average 9.5 disabling injuries for each million employe hours worked, up 9 per cent from the rate for the first nine months of last year.

The department called for stiffer state work safety laws and for more department safety inspectors and consultants to investigate industrial accidents.

Wampum, the medium of exchange between the early explorers and Indians in America, consisted of tiny purple and white beads made from the inner sides of clam shells.

Inflation Curb Is Urged

(Editor's Note: This is the last article in a five-part series on the Alliance for Progress.)

By JACK BRANNAN

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Inter-Americas Committee on the Alliance for Progress (CIAP) has recommended a three-point program for halting inflation, a monetary problem considered a major threat to the alliance's prospects for success.

The program was outlined in a recent CIAP report on the accomplishments and prospects of the cooperative development plan involving 19 Latin American nations and the United States.

Briefly, the inflation-control program involves the following:

- A reduction of government deficits.
- An increase in the amount of consumer goods available on the market.
- An agreement on income policies among government, industry and labor groups.

* * *

The CIAP noted that inflation is not a problem throughout Latin America. But since it is prevalent in some of the larger countries, such as Brazil, inflation is a problem that must be considered in over-all alliance planning.

CONSUMER GOODS

The report said an increase in the amount of consumer goods could actually reduce the cost of living.

Such a program "should include high-priority efforts within the over-all limits of monetary and credit ceilings to insure that food stuffs in distant parts of the country are brought to major urban markets," the report said.

A CIAP source said the committe felt that many consumer goods, particularly food products, are wasted simply because they cannot be moved to adequate markets.

* * *

Thus, those goods that do reach market are scarce and draw high prices, while similar goods away from the market are not used and simply wasted.

WORK TOGETHER

The CIAP recommended that the government and the private sector of labor and industry work together to control wages and prices and prevent their inflationary, upward movement.

* * *

"There is, in short, no substitution for a deep communal understanding between government, industry and labor in the form of wage-price policies which avoid the process of inflation via mutual expectation, and which systematically relate wage increases to the average increase in productivity," it said.

Near Death in Fight for Five Cents

DETROIT (UPI) — A classroom fight over a nickel Wednesday put one 14-year-old junior high school student in the hospital in critical condition from two stab wounds, and another boy in custody as his assailant.

* * *

The victim was Edward Risha, a student at Jackson Junior High School, who was stabbed twice in the chest. Held at Wayne County Youth Home was Ronald Pitts, 14.

Both boys are seventh graders at the Jackson School on the Detroit East Side.

The stabbing incident happened in the social studies classroom of Harold Dean. Mrs. Kathleen Tenney, the school principal, said the bell ending the class had rung and Dean walked into the corridor while the students filed out.

* * *

However, some boys remained in the classroom and some started pitching nickels against a wall. Mrs. Tenney said Pitts walked up and wanted to take part.

THROWS NICKEL

Edward Risha was among the bystanders. Pitts threw a nickel against the wall, and it rolled under Risha's foot, and he refused to move. Other bystanders said he hit Pitts in the eye.

Mrs. Tenney quoted Pitts as saying, "When he did that, I just had to let him have it."

Police said Pitts pulled a pocket knife with a 3½-inch blade and plunged it twice into Risha's chest.

* * *

Witnesses say Risha picked up a chair and swung at Pitts but was stopped by Dean, who rushed back into the room. Risha then collapsed.

Mrs. Tenney said Pitts had a record of truance, and had low marks, but was not considered a troublemaker. Risha was an average student.

Crash Injuries Fatal to State GI's Kin

HANNIBAL, Mo. (AP) — Two young daughters of an Air Force sergeant stationed near Oscoda, Mich., died of injuries suffered in a two-car accident near here Thursday.

A 62-year-old Schenectady, N.Y. woman also was killed in the crash on the snow-packed highway.

* * *

The dead girls, the daughters of S. Sgt. and Mrs. Elzea Carroll of Wurtsmith Air Force Base, were identified as Debra, 7, and Sandra Gale, 3.

Excessive Use of Car Can Hurt Grades

By DR. LESLIE J. NASON

Dear Dr. Nason: My son wants a car. Is it a good idea to let him have it — and would it hurt his studies while he is in high school? B.U., Los Angeles, Calif.

This question depends on the boy. Statistics show that when a boy gets a car in high school, his grades go down. If he has a car of his own which he is allowed to drive any time he wishes, his grades drop the lowest.

DR. NASON

If he has a car on which there are certain restrictions during the week, grades don't drop quite so far. If he has the use of the family car a couple of nights a week, they drop only a little.

A few parents have been able to control the situation by saying, "When your grades go down, you don't get the car!" Some boys have been able to discipline themselves to get good grades and still use the car, but that's the exception.

Dear Dr. Nason: At the age of ten my son became the victim of a serious illness. Pain and medication fogged his mind so that he had great difficulty in school. A private tutor has helped during the past two years. However, a return to school at this time would necessitate his going into the same class with his younger brother, who is in the seventh grade. This, the older boy does not understand as he now is physically stronger and more active.

Inasmuch as he is so far behind in his schooling, and still has trouble learning, what can you suggest to help him? Mrs. B.G.T., Troy, O.

★ ★ ★

Explain to your son that anyone going back to formal schooling after being away finds it difficult. It is better to start at a grade level where the work can be done well.

Suggest that he not worry about comparison with his younger brother but center his attention on becoming a good student.

The suggestions in my booklet You Can Get Better Grades are especially helpful for boys in your son's predicament.

Dear Dr. Nason: I am a senior in high school. I took my scholastic aptitude test in May, 1964 and will take it again in December. My mark in English is 556 but I would like to improve this.

Would you please advise me how I can go about it? C.O.L., Port Chester, N.Y.

★ ★ ★

Here are two things you can do to improve your test score in English. Get the small booklet which explains the test and provides a few sample questions. Take the sample test.

Study carefully each wrong response. Ask yourself: "How should I have known the correct answer from the way the question was worded?" In this manner you will improve your skill in analyzing each type of question used in the test.

Practice handwriting which will improve your ability to write and think at the same time. This is vital to success in taking timed tests.

(You can write to Prof. Nason in care of The Pontiac Press. be answered in this column.)

By OSWALD JACOBY

The United States increased its lead to 31 International Match Points on board 13 of the World Bridge Olympiad matches. Three no-trump was the contract at both tables on rather prosaic bidding. Both Wests opened the nine of spades.

JACOBY

Each South played and won the trick with the jack, and the Italian player led a club toward dummy. West played low and dummy's nine lost to East's jack. A spade was returned and eventually the defense made two clubs, the ace of hearts and two spades to set the contract one trick. Of course, if the Italian South had played dummy's queen of clubs he would have wound up making at least four odd, but he was only looking at his own cards and dummy's.

Bobby Jordan decided to attack diamonds. He played the king from his hand, led to dummy's ace and a third diamond bumped the queen and jack together.

He won the second spade in dummy, cashed the two good diamonds and led a heart. This gave him his ninth trick which was sufficient for his purposes.

Apart from the fact that it succeeded, Bobby's play was eminently correct. It worked against the actual break, it would have worked against any 4-2 diamond break with split honors; most important of all, if the diamond suit failed to break, Bobby would still have had time to attack the club suit.

5-Year Drive Successful

Music Center to Open in LA

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

LOS ANGELES — This is the weekend when cultural Los Angeles takes its big leap forward.

Amid fanfares and furbelows, the magnificent new Music Center will open its doors for the first time Sunday. The initial concert features Jascha Heifetz making a rare appearance as soloist.

THOMAS

The event will mark the culmination of a five-year drive by music lovers led by Mrs. Norman Chandler of the publishing family. Seeking a proper home for symphony, grand and light opera, concert and drama in Los Angeles, they raised $18.5 million from local citizens. County-guaranteed bonds added to the $33.5 million total.

The pavilion is the first and biggest of the three auditoriums — a normal theater and smaller one in the round will follow later. The entrance is massively impressive.

Inside are spacious, marble-floored lobbies and a spectacular center staircase reminiscent of the Paris opera. It almost seems too big until you realize you are seeing it without people. They will make the difference.

Likewise the interior is deceptively large with the seats unfilled. Actually the 3,250-seat Music Center is more intimate than the cavernous shrine and philharmonic auditoriums which previously housed longhair events. And the European seating — no center aisles — adds to the note of intimacy.

All is done with simple elegance. There is no overpowering chandelier, only small ones to add shimmering light on the side walls. The major feature is the golden shell which extends from the back of the stage, over the proscenium and into the hall.

The philharmonic was rehearsing the Beethoven Ninth Symphony. It seems a relatively youthful orchestra and the members were attired in a variety of informal clothes. There was nothing informal in their attention to the conductor, Rubin Mehta, who looks dashing enough to have been a movie star in his native Bombay.

Mehta, 29, slim and athletic in black slacks and turtleneck sweater, was still tinkering with the acoustics.

"Move the entire percussion section two feet to the left," he instructed during a rehearsal break.

The average per capita income in Washington, D.C., was $3,219 in 1962, higher than any state except Nevada.

There will be 95 million passenger cars registered in the nation by 1967 compared with about 68 million today.

Nothing to Wart Surgery—LBJ

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Those two "little old warts" doctors removed from President Johnson's hand may be a legacy from his boyhood days in sunbaked East Texas.

* * *

Johnson watched yesterday while the growths were removed with an electrical surgical needle from the back of his right hand in a 20-minute operation in his White House bedroom.

"It was nothing," the President told newsmen later. "It's something that's done every day. I've had dozens of them."

The growths, both nonmalignant, were located near the knuckle of the forefinger and the center of the back of his right hand, the one he uses to "press the flesh."

* * *

White House Press Secretary George E. Reedy said the wart-like growths were painful to Johnson if dug by a fingernail or squeezed by a well-wisher.

PROOF OF PAIN

Photographs taken during the campaign showed Johnson in open-mouthed pain when a fan latched too firmly onto his right hand.

* * *

Capt. Gustave T. Anderson, chief of dermatology at Bethesday Naval Hospital, performed the operation, assisted by Dr. Peter Horvath, professor of dermatology at Georgetown University.

Horvath described the process as scraping the growths from the skin — "like paint on the surface of a board; like a barnacle from a ship."

The only way a justice of the Supreme Court of the United States can be removed from office is by impeachment. Proceedings must be initiated by the House of Representatives and carried out in the Senate.

Train, Goose Collide; Two Women Injured

NANTWICH, England (UPI)— Two women passengers were injured by flying glass yesterday when a three-coach train collided with a wild goose.

* * *

There were no remains, but engineer Arthur Hatton identified the victim shortly before impact.

Asks Exam on Charges of Counterfeiting Bills

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Jesse W. Compeau, 48, of Ludington demanded preliminary examination Thursday on charges of manufacturing, possessing and passing counterfeit $100 bills.

Compeau was arrested at his home Wednesday by a U. S. Treasury agent and Ludington Police Chief Harold Mehl and Detective Robert Rock.

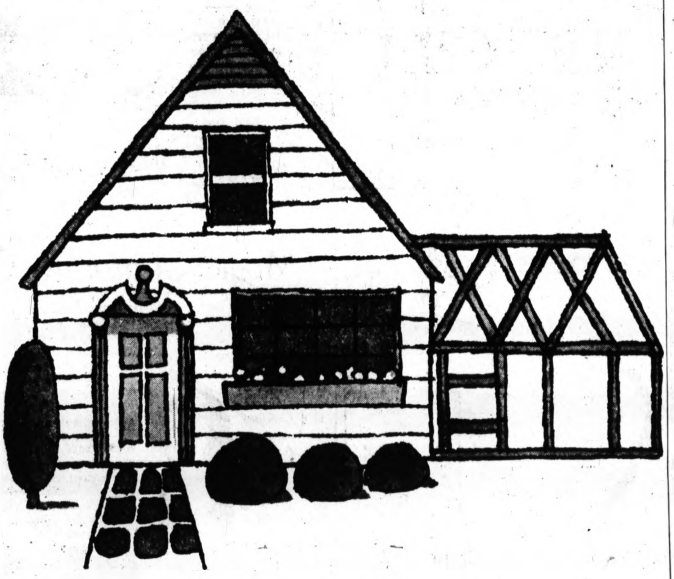
How to add a room...



without cooling off the rest of the house

consider electric heat

The minute you try to heat a newly finished room, you place an extra burden on your existing heating system. There's a better way.

Give that new room its own heating system—a modern flameless electric heating system. It's clean. It's comfortable. It's perfectly controllable. You simply dial the heat you want and you get it, exactly, without stealing heat from the rest of the house.

How much will this modern way to heat cost to install and operate? That depends on your particular home. One thing sure, it won't cost you a cent to find out.

An Edison Heating Specialist will gladly come out to discuss equipment and cost of operation estimates with you. (It's amazing how accurate these estimates prove to be.)

There's no obligation, of course. Just give us a call.

Oil and Money Flow as Libya's Economy Continues to Spiral

BACKGROUND OF THE NEWS — AP SPECIAL REPORT

TRIPOLI, Libya (AP) — With the coming of darkness, the muezzin's Koran chant floats nightly from the hilltop Gurgi mosque calling the Islamic faithful to the day's final prayer.

* * *

It has been thus in Tripoli for centuries — even before it was famed as the Barbary Coast, a lair for pirates.

Nowadays, a new and discordant refrain is added.

* * *

"Craps, snake eyes, Little Joe" rises from the Italian-run casino almost in the shadow of the minaret. Boisterous American oilmen crowd the dice table; oil money covers three busy roulette wheels; slot machines jangle merrily.

MORE MONEY

Until the oil boom the casino had been sliding gloomily downhill for years. Its current gaudy affluence emphasizes what is happening in Libya — a placid Mediterranean country being overwhelmed with money.

* * *

Horse-drawn gharries that once provided leisurely transportation are giving way to meter taxis, with New York rates.

* * *

Women clutch their veils tightly in public, peering at the world through one exposed eye. But beneath their shroudlike "baracans" some are now sporting sheer stockings and Dior gowns.

A few years ago Zelten and Dahra were oases known only to desert Bedouins. Now the names designate oil fields famed wherever oil men gather. They have put this once little known nation among the world's top 10 oil countries.

$50 MILLION

As recently as 1960 the bureaucrats of ascetic King Idriss got along on $50 million yearly — half of it from American and British handouts and rental for military bases.

Since then, the oil companies, mostly American, have spent more than a billion dollars here. This year Libya will get $150 million in oil income. Next year it will be $230 million. The Esso company is preparing to invest many more millions for plants to liquefy natural gas and ship it to Europe in refrigerated tankers — insuring even more millions for Libya.

* * *

All this in a nation with less than 1.5 million mostly illiterate people. These are scattered over 1,500 miles of coastline and deserts almost the size of Western Europe.

It is proving too much. The economy is spiraling wildly. United Nations figures make Tripoli the 13th most expensive city in the world to live in — and getting worse.

SALARIES DOUBLED

Last month the government added to the spiral by doubling civil service salaries. A top bureaucrat will now get about $9,000 yearly, an unthinkable salary only a few years ago. The government newspaper which announced the happy tidings was hardly on the streets before merchants began marking up prices.

Responsible oil company officials shuddered. They know they are sitting on political quicksand. They can handle only about 10 per cent of Libya's labor force.

* * *

The government bureaucracy and private business take in a few more. The rest, now flocking into the cities and, in many cases abandoning farms, are being squeezed by the inflation.

A ministerial decree was recently adopted saying all foreigners had to be replaced in a year. Another said that at the time a foreign technician entered the country his Libyan replacement had to be named and be able to take over in a year. If enforced, such rules would halt the flow of oil, and money, almost immediately.

BIG BASE

"How do you make an engineer in a year?" asked an oil company man.

National sensitivity is also mounting over the big U.S. air base at Tripoli and a British base agreement. Money from base rentals is no longer needed and increasingly vocal Arab nationalists want them out.

The bases, oil inflation and rising Arab nationalism create political pressures on 77-year-old King Idriss.

* * *

Preferring the isolation of his palace at Tobruk, he rules by long distance and with Oriental suspicion, frequently juggling his ministers.

IRKSOME

Such situations are increasingly irksome to the slowly growing number of young officials and students.

Until recently, politics in Libya largely revolved around separatist movements in the provinces of Tripolitania and Cyrenaica. Now they swirl around the monarchy, particularly the crown prince, the king's nephew.

* * *

The king's popularity dropped sharply this year at parliamentary elections. His police arrested possible opposition candidates on the eve of the day they were to register.

The U.S. Embassy is watching all this nerously. With more than a billion-dollar investment to protect, it has reasons. The Libyans, however, are more and more disdainful of advice, even from such agencies as the United Nations.

Science Quiz

By BOB BROWN

PROBLEM: Cloud in a jug.

NEEDED: A milk jug and a match.

DO THIS: Hold the lighted match under the mouth of the jug for a few seconds, then blow hard into the jug, compressing the air in it as much as possible. Release the air pressure suddenly, and a cloud will appear in the jug and remain for an instant.

HERE'S WHY: Blowing into the jug compresses the air and adds a little moisture, from the breath. The compression heats the air somewhat, but most of the heat is absorbed by the glass walls of the jug. As the pressure is released, the expansion of the air cools it, and since it cannot then hold as much moisture as the warmer air, some of the moisture is condensed briefly into tiny droplets which make up the cloud.

The purpose of the lighted match is to warm the air in the jug slightly, and add tiny smoke particles around which molecules of water vapor will condense to form the fog. This is called "seeding" the air. The invisible separate molecules of water vapor condense when cooled on the surface of the solid carbon particles of smoke to make the visible fog.

Two collections of these science tricks are in book form, "Science Circus" and "Science Circus No. 2." They are available in book stores and libraries.

AP Announces 1964 All-America Teams

NEW YORK (AP) — John Huarte, Bob Timberlake, Donny Anderson and Gale Sayers comprise the offensive backfield of the 1964 Associated Press All-America football team named today.

Illinois linebacker Dick Butkus, the lone holdover, heads a defense averaging 219 pounds per man on the squad which reflects the wholesale revival of a platoon game this season.

For the first time since 1952 separate units, a 22-man first team, has been selected on the recommendations of the sportswriters and broadcasters who made up the eight regional boards. All games through Nov. 28 were taken into account.

Huarte, Heisman Trophy winner as college player of the year, was the quarterback who changed Notre Dame from a 2-7 to a 9-1 performer and left a flock of school records in his wake.

His most notable season marks are 2,069 yards and 16 touchdowns.

"We built our whole offense around Huarte," says Coach Ara Parseghian. "I've lived in constant dread of what we would do if something happened to him."

Timberlake quarterbacked Michigan to the Big Ten title and a Rose Bowl berth but he's so good a runner he was elected at a halfback slot in his conference.

The 6-foot-4 senior rushed for 574 yards, passed for 807 and scored 80 points.

By means of pass receptions and kick runbacks as well as sprints from scrimmage junior Anderson from Texas Tech — a first round futures pick in both pro drafts — accounted for 1,710 yards. He also punts.

Kansas' Sayers, the whirlwind of the plains, is one of the most exciting runners in Big Eight history and leaves a league career rushing record of 2,675 yards behind him.

LIONS' CHOICE

The closest of some hectic position contests on offense was at end where Florida State's Fred Biletnikoff and Baylor's Lawrence Elkins got the nod over Jack Snow of Notre Dame and Karl Noonan of Iowa.

* * *

Biletnkoff, Detroit Lions' 3rd draft choice, operated at flanker back and split end with equal ease besides being a sound blocker and kick runback specialist.

He caught 57 passes for 987 yards and 11 touchdowns this season.

Southeast area board members rated him the finest athlete in that sector.

Elkins, first man picked in the AFL draft, grabbed 50 aerials for 851 yards at Baylor, scored seven touchdowns, returned 13 punts 126 yards and went in on defense on goal line situations.

Jim Wilson of Georgia and Nebraska's Larry Kramer, a combined 480 pounds of tackles who were future drafts last year, are on the interior offensive line with guards Tommy Nobis of Texas and Bill Fisk of Southern California plus Syracuse's Pat Killorin.

Nobis, a noted linebacker, is also a great blocker on offense.

STANDOUT IN UPSET

Fisk finished a standout season by starring in the 20-17 upset over Notre Dame. Ace Trojan ball carrier Mike Garrett calls Fisk "one of the most underrated blocking linemen in the country."

* * *

The quickness with which the New York Giants drafted Auburn's Tucker Frederickson is testimony of the fullback-safety's prowess. Although he led Auburn in rushing, receiving, scoring and kickoff returns, Frederickson was rated even higher stopping foes and permitted only one pass completion in the zone he covered all season. He personally killed four enemy drives with his tackling.

Clarence Williams of Washington State, Ohio State's Arnold Chonko and Cosmo Lacavazzi of Princeton are the other defensive backs.

Teamed with Butkus in the highly-competitive linebacker-guard spots are Tennessee's Steve DeLong and Pat Caveness of Arkansas.

The trio shaded Marty Schottenheimer of Pitt, Penn State's Glen Ressler and Carl McAdams of Oklahoma.

* * *

Dan Kearley of national champion Alabama is teamed with John Van Sicklen, Iowa State, at defensive tackle with Purdue's Harold Wells and Mississippi's Allen Brown manning the ends.

Caveness made 157 tackles, intercepted one pass for a touchdown, recovered two fumbles and threw backs for a total of 94 yards in losses as the Razorbacks had a surprising unbeaten year and blanked five foes.

Butkus, another first round pro draft choice with DeLong, is described by Pete Elliott as "the finest player I have ever coached."

Williams paced Washington State in six offensive categories worth 1,441 yards by various means but it was in the defensive secondary he was the toast of the coast.

Chonko had seven key pass interceptions for the year, including a last minute theft on his goal line to preserve victory over Indiana.

Iacavazzi was a record-breaking fullback for unbeaten, untied Princeton yet Dick Colman says he would have preferred to play him only on defense.

* * *

Adds Colman, "His inspirational leadership, competitive drive and excellence as both a defensive and offensive player are possibly unsurpassed in all Princeton football history."

Offensive backs Roger Staubach of Navy and Jimmy Sidle of Auburn, All-Americans a year ago, did not repeat because of their injury plagued seasons. Staubach was hindered by a severe leg injury and Sidle's hurt shoulder forced his move from quarterback to half.

Jerry Rhome of Tulsa, Craig Morton of California, Bob Berry of Oregon and Bob Schweikert of Virginia Tech make up the second team of offensive backfield.

Van Sicklen, Rush Given Tackle Spots

Two former All-Oakland county football stars, John van Sicklen of Walled Lake and Jerry Rush of Pontiac Central have been accorded honors on the Associated Press All-America football teams listed today.

Van Sicklen, a 217 pound tackle at Iowa State, received first team honors on the defensive unit, while Rush, last week named to the All-Big Ten team, was picked for second team on offense.

He stands 6-4 and weighs 245 pounds and was signed by the Detroit Lions as their second draft choice.

MVP AWARD — Roger Ruminski, Walled Lake's All-County and All-State tackle, will receive The Pontiac Press-Thom McAn Bronze Shoe Award for being named Oakland County's outstanding high school football player in 1964.

Viking Tackle Gets a 'Boot'

Football honors continue to flow in for Walled Lake's All-State tackle Roger Ruminski.

Ruminski, an All-Oakland County selection and a member of nearly everybody's All-State teams, today was awarded the 1964 Thom McAn Bronze Shoe by The Pontiac Press.

The McAn award came at the same time that another former Walled Lake player, John Van Sicklen, a tackle at Iowa State, was accorded All-America honors when the Associated Press named him to the first team on defense.

The Bronze Shoe award is given annually to the outstanding senior football player in the county.

The recipient is selected on the basis of his football ability, leadership and academic achievement.

SCHOLARSHIP

With the award, Ruminski now becomes eligible to compete for a $1,000 scholarship given by the Thom McAn organization.

* * *

The 6-4, 260-pound Ruminski led Walled Lake to the Inter-Lakes League championship and an 8-1 over-all record.

He averaged more than 14 tackles a game and cleared the path for the Vikings' runners.

"He's a very, very fine young man and an outstanding football player," says Viking coach Dave Smith.

"He's got everything it takes to make a success," Smith continued," . . . . physical ability and brains . . . . he'll make a go of anything he does."

GOOD STUDENT

Ruminski, a B-minus student, has been wooed by a number of the top universities in the nation. Among them are Notre Dame, Michigan and Michigan State.

* * *

Smith was equally lavish in his praise of Van Sicklen, who was an All-Oakland County selection in 1960.

"He's just a heckuva a player," says Smith. "He's very quick for a big man . . . real good lateral movement."

AAU Convention Must Select New President

HOUSTON (AP) — Jay-Ehert Mahoney took most of the delegates at the annual Amateur Athletic Union convention by surprise when he said he didn't want a second term as president.

* * *

This leaves the convention with the job of naming a new president. And the man they pick will be the one who will be stepping into the thick of the AAU-National Collegiate Athletic Association squabble.

Clifford H. Buck of Denver, Colo., a retired division manager for a sporting goods firm, appears to be in line for the post since he is first vice president. the first vice president has stepped up the last three times a president was elected.

Until Thursday, there seemed to be little doubt Mahoney would be head of the AAU another year. Many thought he could even keep the job by acclamation.

LAW FIRM

He said, however, that "the press of private business" had forced him not to consider another term at this time. He has a law firm in New York.

Mahoney said the argument between the AAU and the NCAA over sanctioning of open track events had nothing to do with his decision.

Jeremiah T. Mahoney, the present president's father, was the only previous AAU president not to serve consecutive terms. His father stepped down in 1936, but was reelected a year later.

The election of a successor will be conducted at the closing session on Sunday.

Young LA Golfer in Tourney Lead

MONTEBELLO, Calif. (AP) — Ray Botts has posted a 68 for the second half of the field to shoot at as it tees off today in the 19th Montebello Open Golf Tournament.

* * *

Botts, a youthful Los Angeles pro, had nines of 35-33 as he and the rest of the first contingent opened the 54-hole contest Thursday.

Bob Duden, Portland, Ore., fired a 36-35—71; Bill Spiller, Los Angeles, 39-33—72, and amateur Jerry Preuss, Los Angeles 39-33—72.

U.S. Tied in 'Cup' Field

KAANAPALI, MAUI, Hawaii (AP) — A dispatch on golf from this exotic isle in Hawaii is not much different from one filed stateside. That is to say, Arnold Palmer led the way into the second round of the Canada Cup matches Friday and the United States was tied for the team lead with South Africa.

* * *

The American Masters champion and Jack Nicklaus combined to lead their nation in the all-important team competition, Palmer with a six-under-par 66 and Nicklaus an even par 72 for a total of 138.

South Africa's Gary Player and his less known partner, Denis Hutchinson, each shot a 69 for the same 138, and but for at least two unhappy shots, would have led through the first 18 holes.

STIFF FIGHT

Promising a stiff fight for the Canada Cup, as play continued over the green slopes and hills of the Royal Kaanapali golf course, Argentina was third at 140, Hawaii next at 141, trailed by the Philippines, 142, and Brazil, 143.

Stretched out behind were twosomes from a total of 32 nations, and Hawaii and Puerto Rico entered in this international good will event.

* * *

Palmer toured the par 36-36—72 challenge in 33-33—66 in a round that included trips to two traps, six birdies and an eagle.

Palmer closed out his birdie string on No. 16 with a putt that traveled an estimated 118 feet — Arnie's estimate, confirmed by Nicklaus. Maybe it was only 85, but who was to argue.

Palmer and Nicklaus finished first, in company with Hawaii's strong pair of Ted Makalena, 69, and Paul Scodeller, 72. Much later Nationalist China's Chen Ching Po checked in with an individual 68, which is about par for a man well known in the Orient if not in the United States.

The main drama came when Player made the turn in 32 and Hutchinson in 34. Here was a threat to Palmer and Nicklaus.

But Player, playing his first tournament in two months, fell victim at a water hole, No. 14, and took a double bogey 6.

College, Pro Stars Honored

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Glen Ressler, Penn State linebacker, and Johnny Unitas, star quarterback of the Baltimore Colts, were named winners of Maxwell Memorial Club football awards Thursday.

Ressler, a 230-pounder from Dornsife, Pa., will be honored as the outstanding college football player of 1964, while Unitas, for the second time, will receive the Bert Bell Award as the top National Football League performer.

Bears-Packers Meet in NFL 'Appetizer'

By The Associated Press

A year ago it would have been The Big One, this game between the Chicago Bears and the Green Bay Packers, but now it just serves as an appetizer for the Cards-Browns clash.

The Cleveland Browns, longtime also-rans in the East, can clinch their divisional title with a victory over St. Louis in the National Football League's top attraction Sunday, while the Cards must win to keep alive their paper-thin hopes.

* * *

Chicago and Green Bay, 1-2 in the West last season, are out of title contention now—Baltimore has clinched it—but each is in the running for the No. 2 position and a spot in the Pro Bowl game.

They play in a nationally-televised game in Chicago Saturday, a game the schedule makers probably figured would be the top test of the week. But that was before the revival of the Baltimore Colts.

Baltimore has an 11-1 record. Green Bay is second at 7-5 while Chicago, at 5-7, is one of five Western teams still in the running for the No. 2 spot.

THREE STRAIGHT

Both Green Bay and Chicago have shown marked improvement in the last few weeks. The Bears have won three straight, including a 27-24 decision over Detroit Thanksgiving Day. Green Bay has won two straight, 28-21 over Cleveland and 45-21 over Dallas.

The Packers, who beat Chicago 23-12 on opening day, can sew up their second straight trip to the Pro Bowl by winning their last two games.

* * *

And Cleveland, which has finished second or third for five years, can clinch the Eastern title with a victory at St. Louis Sunday. The Cards can finish no worse than second.

The rest of the Sunday schedule has Detroit at Baltimore, Los Angeles at San Francisco, Minnesota at New York, Pittsburgh at Washington and Dallas at Philadelphia.

Detroit Downs Boston, 4-2

Norm Grabs Scoring Lead in League

DETROIT (AP) — It could be that the Detroit Red Wings with old pro Norm Ullman showing the way, just may be serious in their bid for the lead in the National Hockey League.

* * *

Ullman, in his 10th NHL season, sparked the Wings to a 4-2 victory over hapless Boston Thursday night, increasing Detroit's leading margin to three points and extending their unbeaten string to five straight.

Montreal stormed over Toronto 4-2 in the only other game played, moving the Canadiens into a tie with the Leafs for second place, each with 23 points. Detroit, which has picked up eight points in its last five games, now has 26.

SCORING LEADER

Ullman, a 28-year-old center, assisted on Detroit's last three goals and took over the individual scoring lead. He now has 24 points, one up on Chicago's idle Bobby Hull.

The Wings, however, had some troubles. The Bruins' Murray Oliver shocked them with a goal just 61 seconds deep into the game and they didn't recover until the middle period.

* * *

But when they did recover, it was all over. They harvested four goals out of a 22-shot barrage, with Pit Martin, Floyd Smith, Gary Bergman and Parker MacDonald the marksmen. It was Bergman's first NHL goal and MacDonald's 100th.

Johnny Bucyk got the other Boston goal.

* * *

The Canadiens, who now have a three-game winning string going, wasted little time against the Leafs, building a 4-0 lead and coasting in.

Dave Balon and Jean Beliveau scored in the second period and Bobby Rousseau and Jim Roberts added to the margin before Toronto's Dave Keon and Ron Ellis broke through in the last 12 minutes.

Huge Stadium Suggested by Lions' Owner

DETROIT (AP) — Construction of an 80,000 permanent seat multi-purpose stadium for football and baseball games in Detroit was proposed Thursday by William Clay Ford, owner of the Detroit Lions football team.

* * *

Ford has sent letters to Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh and Michigan Gov. George Romney, asking if they would join in creating a stadium authority.

Ford suggested the stadium be built on the State Fair Grounds at Detroit's northern limits.

Baptist Seminary After First Win

Midwestern Baptist Seminary has a two-week rest behind it and now takes aim on Grand Rapids' Baptist College as its first victim in the state Christian College Athletic Association.

* * *

The Falcons, the defending league champions in basketball, lost their first two contests. They will visit Grand Rapids for a 3:30 p.m. tilt Saturday with tough Baptist College.

The Pontiac area's other league entrant, Michigan Christian Junior College, will be idle this week. The Warriors also dropped their first two MCCAA games this year.

U. S. Player, Aussie Win Doubles Match

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — Billie Jean Moffitt of Long Beach, Calif., and her partner, Robyn Ebbern of Australia, won their women's doubles match in the Victorian Tennis Championship at the Kooyong courts today.

* * *

They defeated Fay Marriott and Sue Crapper of Australia 7-5, 6-3.

In men's singles, Neale Fraser of Australia, former Wimbledon champion, was hard-pressed to turn back Jan Hajer of Holland, 4-6, 9-7, 5-7, 8-6, 6-4.

Six Gridders Gain Awards

Pontiac Optimist Club Honors Local Athletes

Six Pontiac High School football players were honored at the seve..th annual Optimist awards luncheon yesterday at the Elks Temple.

★ ★ ★

The gridders were selected on the basis of their performance on the gridiron and on their performance as students and citizens.

Receiving the awards were: Neal Peterson, Pontiac Central tackle; Al Rayner, Pontiac Northern guard; Rick Lavoie, St. Michael tackle; Mike Dean, St. Frederick end; Gerald Gebrowsky, Waterford tackle; and halfback Jim Havi'and of Kettering.

Speaker for the occasion was John Neville, basketball and football official and Wayne County juvenile court referee.

Also on hand was Dr. Lee Hasl' ger, director of physical education for Pontiac schools.

★ ★ ★

Among the 110 persons attending were parents of the players honored, along with coaches and representatives from each of the six schools.

Lead Is at Stake

East AFL Teams Travel West

The battle for supremacy in the East is all in the west in American Football League action this weekend, with defending Eastern champion Boston at Kansas City and front-running Buffalo at Oakland.

New York is at San Diego in the only other game scheduled Sunday. Denver and Houston, tail-enders in the East and West, are idle this week.

★ ★ ★

Both Buffalo and Boston desperately need victories, but for different reasons. The Bills, 10-1, could virtually clinch their first title by beating the Raiders. Should they win, the Bills would need only a tie in two remaining games to insure at least a share of the title.

★ ★ ★

Boston, 9-2-1, has only one game remaining — with Buffalo — after the Chiefs and needs to win to keep alive the hopes of a showdown with the Bills in the season's final game.

Both have their work cut out, but it would appear the Bills may have the toughest time. The Raiders, 3-7-2, are unbeaten in their last three games, including last week's 20-20 tie with Denver and appear to have jelled at last.

HAVE PROBLEMS

The Bills however, have their problems. They lost their only game of the season, to Boston, two weeks ago and, still troubled by the Cookie Gilchrist incident, had to rally for a 27-24 edge over San Diego Thanksgiving Day.

Boston, on the other hand, has won three straight, including last week's 34-17 romp over Houston, and looks like it is on the move. The defense is as solid as ever, Babe Parilli is throwing and Gino Cappelletti scoring by all manner of means, enough to give anyone trouble. And Kansas City has lost two of its last three.

★ ★ ★

San Diego, leading the West with a 7-3-1 mark, had a six-game winning string broken by Buffalo Thanksgiving Day and hope to rebound against the off-and-on Jets, who are starting a final three-game road trip.

Northern Tops Kettering; Seaholm Matmen Lose

Pontiac Northern knocked off Kettering and Birmingham Seaholm was pinned in its first outing in high school wrestling action yesterday.

Northern won six events and tied one to down the Kettering squad. The winners picked up five big points in the 103-pound division on a forfeit when Kettering was unable to produce a wrestler for the class.

Seaholm, participating in wrestling for the first time, ran into Royal Oak Kimball and came away with a 55-3 setback.

Only 3 Events in Bowlerama

Qualifying in three events of the 1964 Bowlerama, the singles handicap, doubles and team competition, will continue at various sites this weekend, but due to the lack of interest shown, the actual's singles portion of the tournament, slated for next week, has been eliminated from the tournament schedule.

★ ★ ★

There have not been enough entries to form even one squad in the actual's singles and therefore tournament officials agreed that the lack of interest does not warrant holding this event.

Any entries turned in will be returned, or they can enter into another division of the tournament.

The singles handicap and the doubles have been drawing most of the attention in the tournament. More than 30 have already qualified in singles handicap.

Additional qualifying in singles handicap and doubles will continue next weekend, along with the team event and the top ten per cent or better will enter the finals of each division at 300 Bowl, December 19-20.

★ ★ ★

Bowlers can enter the events at the given houses up to squad times listed and can re-enter in successive squads.

Besides the cash prizes, a large list of trophies will be awarded after the finals, which if necessary can go to December 27th, but it is doubtful that they will be carried to that date.

Angels Expected to Trade 'Bo' to Phillies

Minor League Duo Involved

Major Loop Officials in Final Session

HOUSTON (AP) — The Los Angeles Angels probably will trade pitcher Bo Belinsky to the Philadelphia Phillies for two minor league players, a source close to the Angels told The Associated Press today.

This source said he could not identify the minor leaguers but another informant said they probably are Costen Shockley, a first baseman who led the Pacific Coast League in home runs last season, and Rudy May, a left-handed pitcher who was with Indianapolis of the Coast League.

There hadn't been a deal of any consequence in more than three days as major league executives began the final session of their winter meeting today.

But American and National League club owners did approve two important pieces of legislation Thursday.

DRAFT LAW

They adopted a pro-football-type draft of players with no professional experience and voted to give the next commissioner of baseball the broad powers vested in the first man to hold the office, Kenesaw Mountain Landis.

Of the trade rumors, the one involving Belinsky was the strongest. Since he had an altercation with a Los Angeles sports writer in a Washington hotel last season, there has been no doubt Belinsky would be traded. And the concensus was it would happen before the winter meeting ended.

★ ★ ★

Belinskv, who will be 28 on Monday, had a 9-8 record and a 2.87 earned-run average last season. Shockley, 22, batted .281 for Arkansas, hit 36 homers and shared the league lead in runs batted in with 112. May, 6-9, had a 4-2 record and a 2.77 ERA.

Minnesota Manager Sam Mele said his club was dickering with the New York Mets and expected to get a yes, no or maybe today from George Weiss, New York's general manager.

Mele said Minnesota outfielder Jimmie Hall and New York second baseman Ron Hunt "might be key figures" in a trade if one materialized.

The legislation involving the commissioner's power and the free-agent draft was approved by the two leagues in separate meetings Thursday and was expected to be formally ratified at a joint meeting today.

Owners decided to broaden the commissioner's power in two ways:

1. By repealing a rule that no action taken by vote of club owners can be construed as detrimental to baseball.

2. By providing that owners will have no recourse to the courts on action taken by the commissioner.

PCH Cagers on Road

Milford, Orion Face Tests

Milford and Lake Orion face major basketball tests tonight in separate league games tonight.

The Redskins, picked by many to win the Wayne-Oakland League, journey to Clarkston for a game with the graduation-riddled defending co-champion Wolves.

Lake Orion, expected to challenge for the Oakland A crown, braces for the invasion of always strong Troy.

Pontiac Central goes to Bay City Central in search of its third win. The Chiefs are currently leading the Saginaw Valley Conference and are expected to have little trouble with the injury-plagued Wolves.

Pontiac Northern and Waterford are idle. Kettering opens its season at home against North Farmington.

HEAVY LOSES

This game should shed some light on Kettering's hopes of defending its Tri-County championship despite heavy losses from the starting five that went undefeated last season.

St. Michael goes after its second straight win at Madison Junior High against Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows. St. Frederick travels to Royal Oak St. Mary.

A full house is assured for the game tonight. That will be Rochester's engagement at Avondale. Athletic contestants between the two schools have resulted in the blossoming of a close rivalry.

This, plus the small size of the Avon gym, is expected to result in a standing room crowd.

Dryden's hopes in the Southern Thumb will either soar or be all but shattered tonight. The Cardinals travel to New Haven, pre-season favorite to retain the championship.

The Rockets also have a score to settle from football season.

Birmingham Seaholm's tall cage team seeks win No. 2 tonight at home against Port Huron. These two teams were league-mates last season, but Seaholm since has joined the Southeastern Michigan Association.

Bloomfield Hills, another quintet aiming for the W-O crown, hosts Brighton. The Barons opened with a nonleague conquest of Oak Park.

Pontiac Press Photo

BARON SHARPSHOOTER—Packing a big share of the scoring punch for Bloomfield Hills basketball squad is guard Greg Anderson, who tossed in 10 points in the Barons' 65-45 win over Oak Park Tuesday. Anderson and his teammates will take on Brighton at home tonight in a Wayne-Oakland League opener.

Christiansen Stays at Helm of 49ers

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Jack Christiansen, whose team has won only five of 21 games since he took over as head coach of the San Francisco 49ers, will be back next year.

★ ★ ★

General Manager Lou Spadia of the National Football League club said Thursday he has signed Christiansen to a contract and that Christiansen would be the 49er coach "for next year and many years to come." He declined to spell out terms of the contract.

Christiansen, a former defensive ace with the Detroit Lions, joined the 49ers in 1959 as an assistant coach. He was elevated to the top coaching job when Red Hickey resigned early last season.

Two Grid Choices Big Prizes for NFL

By The Associated Press

The National Football League has picked off two more plumbs — big ones —in its pocketbook battle with the American Football League and now has signed half of its first round draft choices.

So, it must be noted, has the AFL.

★ ★ ★

Dick Butkus and Craig Morton, two of the biggest of the big prizes, signed with NFL clubs Thursday. Butkus, a 245-pound Illinois linebacker, signed with Chicago, and Morton, California's quarterback, signed with the Dallas Cowboys. No terms were announced, but each was believed to have signed for a package of about $200,000.

Their signings gave the NFL seven of their 14 first round choices with two lost to the AFL. The AFL has signed four of its eight first round choices, with three lost to the NFL.

TRADED RIGHTS

Butkus was one of three first round choices acquired through trades by the Bears and a second round choice by Denver, which traded negotiation rights to New York's Jets.

Of the five players drafted in the first round by both leagues, two have gone to the NFL and two to the AFL. Joe Namath, Alabama quarterback, was the first round choice of both the St. Louis Cardinals and New York Jets but has announced he will not sign until the New Year's Day Orange Bowl.

New York Giants — Ben Crenshaw, Jackson State back, 10th round choice; Smith Reed, Alcorn A&M back, 19th round.
Pittsburgh Steelers — Jim Butler, Edward Waters College back, 14th round.
Washington Redskins — Dave Estrada, Arizona State halfback, 14th round.
Boston Patriots — John Frechette, Boston College tackle, 10th round; Ed Meixler, Boston University linebacker, 17th round.
Denver Broncos — Max Leetzow, Idaho tackle, 5th round.
Dallas Cowboys — Martin Amster, Evansville State tackle, 18th round.
Baltimore Colts — James Martin, Fisk University linebacker, free agent.

Deadlock Continues in Table Net Loop

Pine Knob and Dorris & Son Realty battled to a 3-3 deadlock last night and remained tied for the lead in the Pontiac Table Tennis Association.

In other matches last night, Anita Lettering downed Club 99 4-2; Francis Fuel split with Clark's Drive-in, 3-3; Seaman knocked off Harvey's Colonial, 4-2; Pepsi Cola and Buettner's wound up in a 3-3 tie; A & W Root Beer blanked Crocker Candy, 4-0 and Frostop topped Kennerly, 4-2.

Dorris Realty and Pine Knob, with 36-12 records, hold a one-point lead over Anita Lettering.

Injured Driver Marshman Dies of Burns

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Bobby Marshman, a 28-year-old auto racer who held the unofficial speed record for the Indianapolis 500 track, died Thursday of burns received in a high-speed crack-up.

A native of Pottstown, Pa., who was born into a racing family and learned to drive a car on the track at 11, Marshman suffered burns over 90 per cent of his body Nov. 27 in an accident at Phoenix, Ariz., that occurred as he was testing tires for a tire company between official races.

★ ★ ★

He was flown to the Brooke Army Medical Center at San Antonio Nov. 30, where he died. The center has a burn treatment clinic.

Marshman had finished a lap at a speed of more than 115 miles per hour when his Lotus Ford slammed into a retaining wall.

★ ★ ★

He was sprayed with gasoline and trapped in the cockpit for about a minute as the fuel ignited. As he was extricated, he said to his mechanic, Jack Beckley of Los Angeles:

HARD-LUCK DRIVER

"Jack, get me to a hospital, quick. I'm burning all over."

Known as a hard-luck driver because he often seemed to be doing well in races only to become plagued with mechanical difficulties, Marshman was named co-rookie of the year with Parnelli Jones after he finished seventh in the Indianapolis in 1961.

His widow, the former Janet Fairlie of Graterford, Pa., and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Marshman of Yerkes, Pa., were at his side when he died. They planned to fly to Pottstown this evening.

★ ★ ★

Funeral service will be conducted at the Holcombe funeral home at Trappe, Pa. Final arrangements were pending.

Other survivors include a son, Robbie, 4, and two sisters.

Wolverines Set Grid Practices for Rose Bowl

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — The Rose Bowl-bound University of Michigan football team will open practice for its New Year's Day date with Oregon State Monday.

Head Coach Bump Elliott said the daily sessions will be set for the field house or outdoors if the weather permits.

The squad flies to Pasadena Sunday, Dec. 20. Twice-daily sessions are scheduled to start Monday, Dec. 21, and continue through Dec. 29 or 30.

Elliott has named a 44-man Rose Bowl squad but added that it may be revised somewhat, depending upon practice progress at Ann Arbor.

300 Hunt Saturday

Elk Hunters Poised for Opener

VANDERBILT (AP) — The first legal elk hunt east of the Mississippi since before the turn of the century opens Saturday in Michigan.

Hunters won't be swarming in, however, although 23,339 applied for licenses to shoot one of the massive animals.

★ ★ ★

The Michigan Conservation Department used an electronic computer to pull the names of the lucky hunters and only 300 were selected.

It is expected the 300 sportsmen will harvest about 200 elk from the herd, now estimated at 3,500 animals.

All are descendants of an original planting of less than a dozen elk in the Pigeon River State Forest area toward the end of World War II.

★ ★ ★

About half a foot of snow is reported in the elk range. More snow and cold weather is forecast for the weekend.

16-BELOW ZERO

A temperature at night as low as 16 below already has been reported at the Pigeon River trout research station near Vanderbilt.

This will be the headquarters for the elk shoot. Hunters who bag an elk are required to bring it to the station for checking to help the department learn more about the herd.

Carl Latta, biologist in charge of the station, reported that the first elk hunters already are checking in. They wanted to look over the territory, arrange for guide service and find truckers and gasoline stations with vehicles ready to help drag the huge animals out of the woods.

Hunters were advised to use snowshoes. They also were urged to use the "buddy" system, hunting with a friend, since even a cow weighs up to 500 pounds and wouldn't be easy to pack out.

★ ★ ★

Latta said conservation officers recently flew over the territory and spotted more than 200 elk. Most were seen in open hardwood country or along watercourses.

If weather and bad luck foil the hunters so they don't take the expected crop of about 200 animals, Conservation Department Director Dr. Ralph MacMullan has legislative authority to lengthen the season.

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP) — Alvin Odom Jr. and Loddie Kempa moved into the final round of the National Left-Handed Golfers' Open today tied at 218, six strokes ahead of the field.

★ ★ ★

Kempa, former champion from Macon, Ga., shot a 72 Thursday, one over par on the 6,608-yard DeSoto Lakes course.

Odom, from Galveston, Tex., moved into first place with a 70, the tournament's first sub-par round.

Different From Rugby

NFL Action Baffles Britishers

LONDON (AP) — The violent world of pro football was exposed to the British Thursday. It left most viewers baffled.

An American airline arranged a showing of movie highlights of two National Football League games at a London hotel.

★ ★ ★

The showing stirred up comments such as these:

"Why are they wearing all that padding?" This from fans of British Rugby, where the players go at it in shorts and a light sweat shirt.

"Why all the substitutions?" This from soccer fans, who are used to a game where you start with 11 players and if one gets knocked out you just drag him off the field and go on with 10 men.

WHY STOP?

"Why do they keep stopping the action?"

It is the soccer fan's proudest boast that play never stops for the full 90 minutes.

The American football fan retorts that most of this nonstop action consists of muddling around in the middle of the field to little avail, but that is another argument.

★ ★ ★

There was a general consensus that the blocking and tackling in the pro games were downright brutal. Each collision brought gasps from the crowd.

The Americans in the crowd also seemed a little startled by the violence of modern pro football.

★ ★ ★

"The last game I saw was when Red Grange ruined Michigan," said one American who hasn't seen the homeland for about 40 years.

"The players seem to have gotten bigger since then. And a lot rougher."

Spartan 5 Scores 1st Cage Win

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan State opened its 1964-65 basketball season with an 82-76 victory over stubborn Northern Michigan Thursday night.

Six Spartans scored in double figures, with Stan Washington hitting 18, and Joe Johnson and Bill Rutis 15 each.

Gene Summers of Northern led all scorers with 24 points and 19 rebounds.

The Spartans held only a 34-31 lead at halftime and never trailed in the second half.

MSU jumped off to a 13-4 lead early in the game. But the contest was tied five times in the first half.

NO CLOSER

The Wildcats closed the gap to 79-74 with 59 seconds left but came no closer.

The loss was the second in two games for Northern, which bowed to Bradley Tuesday.

BOWLING

Fontana Brothers now leads the Huron Bowl Classic and Doug Swords set a new individual high series for the year in the West Side Lanes Classic League this week.

The Fontana squad swept eight points from Waterford Realty as Don Martell hit 234—636; and Calbi Music moved into second by taking eight from All-Star Lanes.

Don Myers of Calbi had high game with 285 (683). Joe Foster ripped into the pins for 253—704 (high series) as J. A. Fredman was an eight-point winner from Gay Brothers.

It was a night of sweeps. 300 Bowl, Howe's Lanes and Veterans Disposal also cleaned up on their foes last Friday.

★ ★ ★

The West Side action found Swords rapping the pins at 248-246-258 tempo in easily surpassing 700. But his teammates were generally below par and Oakland Vending swept eight points led by Dr. Harold Alexander's 235-246—677.

Al Pietz, who received his perfect game ring from the American Bowling Congress prior to the evening's action, had 223-222—649.

FIRST NIGHTERS

Back at Huron Bowl, Monday's First Nighters were led by Ida Wilson's 210-230—584 and Key Berberich's 228—573. Westside Mobil leads with 33-15 to Rowena's 31-17.

The Gold Cross Ambulance crew maintained first place among the Pontiac General Hospital bowlers that same night.

Airway Lanes had an unusual feat this week when Frank Renko bowled his first sanctioned game in two years in order to establish an average in the Airway Mall circuit.

He posted a 234-234—656. His last league bowling two years ago ended with a 169 average.

Tuesday night in the Airway Men's Classic, the 300 Bowl team hit 1044—2935. Jack Robinson scored 226-232—672, and Jim Long 247-212—663 for "300;" while Ray Keith also had 672 on 237-235 for Airway. George Grady of Airway Food Service recorded a 255—631.

Larry Thompson's 227-214—632 paced the Airway King and Queen bowlers last Friday. Bernie Greenwood hit 258—615. Pablo Rodriguez 246 and Bob Summers 620 to top the Pontiac Motor Tempest loop.

Airway's Queen bowlers had a 511 by Alice Foster as the Rattletraps moved into first place Tuesday. Florence Smricna shot 260—511 and Jerry Ray 211.

NINE IN ROW

There were nine straight strikes by Bill Lucas at Lakewood Lanes before the 6-7 split had to be converted. The New Way Asphalt team member finished with 615. The team hit 1180 as Bill Bull added 253 (636) in Lakewooders League action.

Paul Rochon rapped the pins for 232-208—612 in Lakewood Pinspillers competition; and Eula Vick's 224—529 stood out among the Lakewood Independent Women bowlers.

After Dinner Speaker

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — John Quinn, general manager of the Philadelphia Phillies, will be a featured speaker at the city's annual Diamond Dinner Jan. 24.

Navy, Spartans Duel for NCAA Soccer Crown

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Navy, beaten finalist last year, and Michigan State will decide the 1964 NCAA soccer championship Saturday.

The two advanced to the showdown Thursday when the Middies upset two-time defending champion St. Louis 2-1 while Michigan State edged Army 3-2 in overtime.

★ ★ ★

Navy junior Dick Hulsa scored the winning goal over St. Louis at 12:25 of the fourth period on a pass from Navy captain Paul Daulerio of Philadelphia.

John Boretti and Jose Gonzales erased a 2-0 deficit for Army and forced the overtime play. But Michigan State's Syd Alozioe kicked a 25-yard goal at 3:35 of the extra period.

Stock Market Advance Fades

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market's advance faded in light trading early this afternoon.

Prices withered from earlier levels but managed to hold in the plus column.

* * *

The market had advanced yesterday and Wednesday after six days of losses.

Mack Trucks, losing more than 2 points, hit a new low for the year.

Comsat, most active stock yesterday, advanced more than 2 points.

RCA gained more than a point on the strength of a 10 per cent stock dividend and a 10-cent extra dividend.

International Business Machines, announcing plans to deliver its new 360 computers several months earlier than originally scheduled, advanced 4 points.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon had gained .3 to 324.7 with industrials off .2, rails up .2 and utilities up .5.

* * *

Pan American World Airways lost more than a point while United Air Lines gained a point.

Sears Roebuck continued its advance, adding a point. United Aircraft was ahead by about a point and a half.

* * *

The averages were dragged down by losses of a point or so by Kennecott, Eastman Kodak and Union Carbide.

Du Pont was a fractional loser while American Telephone was ahead slightly.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were higher in moderate trading. Pittsburgh and Lake Erie gained nearly 3 points.

Corporate bonds were mixed and treasuries were lower.

Plan to Correct Mariner Shot

Malfunction Sends Spacecraft Into Spin

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Scientists postponed today an attempt to curve Mariner 4 closer to mars after the 575-pound spacecraft went temporarily out of control.

The Jet Propulsion Laboratory, which built and is guiding Mariner 4 on a seven-month voyage to take the best pictures yet of earth's neighbor, said it would try again tomorrow morning.

The malfunction, first major trouble since Mariner was launched Saturday, came as scientists prepared to trigger a small rocket in its base designed to correct its course to pass within 8,600 miles of Mars.

All went well until 6:35 a.m. when signals indicated Mariner had gone into an uncontrolled roll. One minute later scientists sent a signal stopping the roll and ordering it to search again for the distant star Canopus, which guides the craft on its journey through space.

* * *

In rapid succession, Mariner 4's light sensor found several other stars and each time was ordered to continue searching for Canopus.

Mariner still apparently is well ahead of Russia's Mars-bound Zond 2, launched Monday. At 8 a.m. Mariner was 1,084,344 miles from earth.

Firing of its 50-pound-thrust liquid-fuel rocket was planned to increase Mariner 4's speed from 7,048 to almost 7,100 m.p.h.

* * *

Just before the firing, tiny jets of steam were to roll the spacecraft and point it more directly at Mars. Hopefully, the burst would send it past Mars at a distance of about 8,600 miles next July 14, with a chance to snap the best pictures yet of the mysterious planet's surface.

Grains Are Mixed, but Mostly Higher

CHICAGO (AP) — Prices for grain futures were mixed but mostly higher on the Board of Trade today. Volume early in the session was smaller than the past several days.

* * *

About an hour after the opening soybeans were ¾ cents a bushel higher to 1 cent lower, January $2.94; wheat was ⅛ to ½ cent higher, December $1.49¼; corn ⅜ to ½ higher, December $1.22⅛; oats ⅜ to ½ higher, December 67½ cents, and rye was ⅜ to ⅞ cents lower, December $1.20¾.

Indonesia Gets Protest on U.S. Library Sacking

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Howard Jones protested to the Indonesian Foreign Office today after a Communist-led mob sacked the library of the American Cultural Center.

About 1,000 Indonesians — most of them students — marched to the center after attending a rally sponsored by the government-backed Youth Front organization to protest American actions in the Congo.

Atlas-D Is Launched

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — An Atlas-D intercontinental ballistics missile was launched by the air force down the Pacific missile range from this base at 3:10 a.m. PST) today, the air force announced.

Johnson Plan Neat Barring Any Jolts

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

DAWSON

NEW YORK—It's a neat trick President Johnson is asking businessmen and bankers and the Congress to help him achieve. And to work, the trick requires that nothing about it jolts either business or consumer confidence. A misstep could be dangerous.

What the President is outlining in his plea to the Business Council, composed of leading industrialists and financiers, is higher interest rates on some loans but not on others; further business growth without too much of a rise in prices and wages; a bit more government spending, along with lower taxes, without any overheating of the economy because of the deficit financing implied.

* * *

The President quickly got help from Boston. Its First National Bank rescinded a boost in its prime interest rate announced Tuesday.

A chief danger as many economists see it is that any of the President's objectives, if they falter or are misconstrued, might make businessmen and consumer wonder if the long period of prosperity could be in danger of ending.

TRIP BALANCE

Such doubts might trip the delicate balance built to a considerable extent on confidence in still better days ahead. Business expansion planning, consumer buying intentions, financial policies, all are tied to this confidence which has been growing until recent days.

To main that confidence seems one reason President Johnson stresses that he doesn't want general increases in bank interest rates lest they discourage or alarm business and consumer borrowers, or too generous wage increases and price raises that could be catching and start inflation rolling again, or Congressional measures that would cramp government's contribution to economic growth.

Some congressional leaders are warning that they will oppose any reduction in excise taxes or increased appropriations that aren't balanced off by cuts in other expenditures proposed in the federal budget now being readied by the White House.

The appeal to bankers to hold the interest rate line comes from the uncertainty this week after federal monetary authorities boosted the rates on short-term money. The aim is to make yields on such loans attractive enough to prevent dollars flowing overseas because the British have raised their rates still higher.

KEEP RATE HIGH

The trick is to keep this short-term rate high here without boosting interest charges on the longer-term loans that are used for business expansion and consumer purchases. The nation's banks have been pondering how long they can hold the line on what they charge their customers, now that they must pay more for lendable funds they borrow from Federal Reserve banks.

* * *

Both the President and Federal Reserve Board Chairman William McChesney Martin assure the bankers —and also the would-be borrowers — that plenty of funds will be made available for continued economic growth. Any excess of such funds would tend to curb bank tendencies to raise interest rates.

* * *

The trick will be in keeping short-term money here by higher yields and at the same time narrow the spread between such rates and those on long-term loans. And beyond that the trick is to keep businessmen and consumers from wondering if there really is some hidden worry that the promised economic growth might be less certain than previously supposed.

$ Successful Investing $

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q) "I am wondering what your opinion is of tax-exempt bond funds. My husband is well over the $10,000 bracket, and we would like to reduce our income taxes on earnings and stock holdings." R. R.

A) All of the tax-exempt bond funds seem perfectly sound, although some have a tendency to buy rather heavily into special revenue bonds, which pay higher yields. Then, there is, of course, the question of sales fees to be reckoned with.

Many people will do about as well buying tax-exempts directly, since diversification in this strong field is not so important as elsewhere.

I suggest the purchase of State of California 3½'s due 11/1/92 to yield 3.40 per cent. These bonds are rated AA, and default of any sort appears inconceivable to me. Your taxable equivalent return would be relatively high.

* * *

Q) "I'd like a little help in the proper investing of a $6,000 legacy received at age 60, 5 years before retirement on pension. I would like to put equal dollar amounts in certain of the stocks I have listed. I am interested solely in growth. We have adequate cash reserves." E. B.

A) Of the soap and cosmetic stocks you list, my choice would be Bristol-Myers—also in pharmaceuticals — which has compiled a strong and consistent record of growth.

In your food group, I would select Consolidated Foods, an excellent vehicle for capital enhancement. Pennsylvania Power & Light has moved ahead steadily and I commend it to you.

Sears, Roebuck — which recently proposed a stock split and increased its dividends—is the only other issue you list which I can recommend strongly.

To make up the balance, I suggest Texaco and Procter & Gamble.

Man Was at Baker Party, but Won't Reveal Details

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Rules Committee today got a second-hand account of Bobby Baker's party-giving activities, but could pry no information at all from a man who was said to have been there.

A committee investigator testified that Puerto Rico businessman Paul Aguirre told him last February that he spent several days in New Orleans in May 1963 with Baker, his secretary, Carole Tyler and German beauty Ellen Rometsch.

Aguirre steadfastly refused to answer any questions about the incidents related by the committee staff member, invoking his constitutional right to avoid self-incrimination and challenging the committee's right to ask questions of him.

Then investigator Samuel J. Scott said Aguirre told him the visit to New Orleans was spent "partying," but refused to go into details about Baker's "social activities."

Furthermore, Scott said, Aguirre said if he was asked to testify publicly about the partying, "I'll deny it, even if the committee has photographs."

EXPECTS DENIAL

"My wife is expecting a denial and she'll get it," Scott quoted Aguirre as saying. "I'll take the first through the twenty-eighth" (amendments).

According to Scott, Aguirre said of Baker's partying: "I'm sure he is paying dearly at home for this."

The investigator said Aguirre talked freely about various business dealings with Baker and several trips with him in that connection.

* * *

Aguirre was quoted as saying he was associated with Baker and eight other men in a prospective trailer park development.

Scott said Aguirre told him he went to New Orleans with the former Senate Democratic secretary and the two women to talk with two other men, Wilson Abraham and Nick Popitch, about the enterprise.

LBJ OKs Orders on Rights Act

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has approved regulations banning discrimination in aid programs of seven federal agencies and declared they will serve "this nation's commitment to the principle of equality."

The White House announced today that Johnson took the action Thursday to implement Title 6 of the Civil Rights Act. The regulations will be effective in 30 days. Title 6 prohibits racial discrimination under programs receiving federal aid.

* * *

The regulations cover programs administered by the Departments of the Interior, Agriculture, Labor, and Health, Education and Welfare; the Housing and Home Finance Agency, the General Services Administration and the National Science Foundation.

"This nation's commitment to the principle of equality of treatment and opportunity for all Americans will be well served by the new regulations assuring that federal programs are available to all citizens without regard to their race, color or national origin," Johnson said in approving the rules.

The White House said the new rules set the procedures to be followed "in putting into effect the principle enunciated by the Congress that federal programs should not be operated in a manner that discriminates against citizens on the basis of race, color or national origin."

The announcement said that regulations covering other federal departments will be issued within a few weeks.

LAKE FRONT — 300 feet of lake frontage which includes approximately 4½ acres of rolling wooded property. There is no way of describing this 4-bedroom brick with family room and bar. Other than a prestige home for exclusive living. To go through this home and see for yourself would be well worth your time. Call today for appointment.

IDEAL ROOMING HOUSE — This is the ideal home for a rooming house. Its spiral stairs lead directly to the front entrance. 5 bedroom and 4½ baths up. There is one bedroom down, 2 large living room and 2 fireplaces and a large formal dining room, full basement with 6 rooms, 1½-car garage. A large barn on rear of the 72x277 ft. lot. There is a large finished attic which could be used for a 5-bedroom dormitory. Shown by appointment only.

NORTH SUBURBAN — Here is a doll house for the small family. Situated on a lovely corner lot, just far enough out to be called suburban, yet very conveniently located for the Drayton shopping center, etc. This is a very attractive suburban home with new nylon 500 carpeting in the living room. It has rugs in bedrooms and also a new 2-car garage and can be yours for only $500 down plus mortgage costs.

NORTH END PONTIAC — A real nice 2-bedroom home for the newlyweds or retired. Has hardwood floors with wall-to-wall carpeting on living room. Full basement with new gas furnace and electric water heat, 1-car garage and situated on 2 lots. Sewer, water, gas and paved street. Near factory, bus and shopping center. Can be bought with low down payment and $66 per month includes taxes and insurance.

BE YOUR OWN BOSS
If you have confidence in yourself and your ability to take over a light manufacturing business; if you feel you can develop distributor sales or an advertising program that will get results, then you should investigate this business we are offering for sale. Manufactures a building product that is widely used in Canada and Florida with some sales in the Great Lakes states. Other business interests, plus the owners reluctance to travel, has kept this product from reaching the market potential that is definitely there. Rampaging Students Are Fans of 'Long Hair'

MINOMO, Japan (AP) — About 400 high school students went on a rampage today, demanding that their school let them wear their hair long.

★ ★ ★

One hundred policemen were needed to quell the demonstrators, who hurled rocks at the school's buildings and shouted for three hours. No injuries were reported, but police said considerable damage was done to the buildings. The school requires its students to wear their hair cropped close.

Congolese Trio Linked to Rebels?

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (UPI) — The rebellion-wracked Congolese government today investigated possible links between a former foreign minister and the regime of rebel "president" Christophe Gbenye.

★ ★ ★

Reliable sources said yesterday that former Prime Minister Auguste Mabika-Kalanda and two other men have been detained by government authorities.

Mabika-Kalanda served in the administration of former Premier Cyrille Adoula, who was succeeded by Premier Moise Tshombe last summer.

The sources identified another of the three men as Alphonse Mukendi, director general of Air Congo.

★ ★ ★

The third man was not named.

But the sources said the men had in their possession documents linking them to Gbenye, who fled across the border into Sudan following the Belgian-American air rescue of white hostages last week.

IN CUSTODY

The same sources said the brother of the Congo's first premier, the late Patrice Lumumba, also was in custody in Leopoldville.

The sources said the brother, Louis Lumumba, played a prominent part in the Communist-backed regime in Stanleyville.

They said he was arrested and brought to Leopoldville under guard by six armed soldiers.

★ ★ ★

Other reports said nearly 200 additional whites have been rescued from the rebel-infested region northeast of Stanleyville.

REFUGEES ARRIVE

A group of 93 refugees arrived in Leopoldville by plane yesterday, and 100 more were expected later today.

★ ★ ★

One of the refugees, a Belgian nun, said rebels in the Bunia area executed three white priests because they believed a spell was cast during a religious Mass.

NUN KILLED

The nun, Sister Rafele Bourguignon, also reported that last month a nun was killed in the Bunia area and others were raped.

Court Rules on Evidence in NY Case

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Evidence of adultery — even if illegally obtained — is admissible in divorce cases in the State of New York if it is gathered by private parties, says the state's Court of Appeals.

★ ★ ★

It ruled Thursday that a U.S. Supreme Court decision prohibiting the use of illegally seized evidence in state courts does not apply to evidence obtained by private parties.

★ ★ ★

The case decided began in a divorce action by Dr. Abraham M. Sackler of Brooklyn against his wife, Gloria, charging adultery — the only ground recognized for divorce in New York.

The divorce was granted and Mrs. Sackler appealed on the basis that Sackler and several private detectives forcibly entered her apartment to obtain evidence.

Romney Names Board on Accident Funds

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney Thursday announced the appointment of Earl Johnson of Prudenville to the State Accident Fund Advisory Board and the reappointment of the remaining 14 board members.

★ ★ ★

Johnson succeeds Samuel Stovel of Sault Ste. Marie. All the terms are for one year and will expire Oct. 16, 1965. Senate confirmation is not required.

Grant a Top Performer in Bond Drive M.C. Role

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — In a thin ribbon of blue light in that great dark pit of Madison Square Garden, Cary Grant was m.c.'ing a Chanukah Festival for Israel Bonds. . . . his tongue rippled musically over expressions like "bubba," which, I have on excellent authority, means grandmother.

It was a masterful job he did there on the podium with Bess Myerson . . . Cary Grant, hero of 26 movies at the Music Hall (the 27th, coming up, will be "Father Goose").

What class! Never once "Give this guy a great big hand!" Caressingly he read his notes about Jan Peerce.

"Let us greet him!" His arms went out in a circle, embraced the thousands, and pulled from them a roar.

I asked "Father Goose," who now can take the pumpernickel out of the mouths of millionaire m.c.'s like Bob Hope and Milton Berle, how he happened to get into the m.c. dodge.

"I suppose I've got some of the old Hebrew blood left in me somewhere . . . haven't we all?" He had his feet up on a coffee table at the Plaza a few hours before.

"During the war, we had our group of British citizens raising funds for British War Relief . . . a lot of my religion didn't help much . . . Me? I'm Protestant, I guess.

ONE COLOR

Nationality Groups Never Assimilated

Creating Canada Culture Frustrating

(Editor's Note: Canada has seen her novelists, actors and painters blend into the American artistic landscape while Hollywood television programs fill the Canadian airwaves. The following, last of five articles, explains the efforts Canadians are making to develop a national culture.)

By MAX HARRELSON

OTTAWA (AP) — Despite the huge, creeping shadow of the United States, Canadians like to talk about building a distinctive Canadian culture.

Trying to create a cultural identity is even more frustrating for many than attempting to assert Canada's economic independence.

* * *

Some Canadian intellectuals complain that their own efforts are constantly nullified by massive doses of "Madison Avenue" influence. They also deplore the pull of big money which lures Canadian talent across the border.

Another obstacle noted by visitors is the multicultural nature of Canada's 19 million people. It would be difficult enough to develop a cultural image if there were only English and French cultures to consider. But Canada is a country of many transplanted cultures and it has never attempted to assimilate any of its numerous national groups.

WITH BAGPIPES

In Nova Scotia and Cape Breton Island there are Scottish clans with their bagpipes; in New Brunswick there are French-speaking Acadians, who do not agree with the Quebec French; in the west there are Ukrainians, Germans, Irish, Hungarians, Greeks and Chinese; in Victoria, B.C., there are English who still retain the flavor of their British ancestors.

The prairie provinces in many ways are much more like their neighbors south of the border than the French of Quebec or the Scottish of Nova Scotia.

HARD TO DEFINE

Canadians themselves are hard put to define what they mean by Canadian culture. In a seminar, one speaker came up with an unusual definition. "It's not American, it's not English, it's not French," he said.

Canada has produced some excellent novelists, poets and painters, but not all of them could be readily identified by their works as Canadians. One of those who can is writer Hugh Maclennan, who deals mostly with purely Canadian material.

FREQUENT MISTAKES

Prof. Neil Compton, chairman of the English Department at Sir George Williams University in Montreal, has noted that the late, Stephen Leacock is often taken for an American humorist, Jack Ludwig for an American novelist and Christopher Plummer for an English actor. He doesn't think Canadians should be irritated by such mistakes.

"The modern national state is an extremely useful organ of social policy," Compton said, "but we should not exaggerate the extent of its relationship to artistic creativity."

* * *

This view is reflected by Canadian scholar Brian Stock, who was graduated from Harvard in 1962, is now at Cambridge and has elected to live abroad. In a letter to the Atlantic Monthly, Stock expressed doubt that Canada has the spiritual resources to support creative arts.

"A great writer can only let the spirit of his age speak through his sensitive pen," he said, "and Canada is incapable of producing a Mann or a Chekhov, for she lacks the spiritual nourishment which might produce such an artist."

HOTLY DISPUTED

This view is hotly disputed by many Canadians, including Maclennan, who often has struck a blow for a Canadian identity in the arts. Others are campaigning in their own fields.

* * *

Canada has made a real effort to produce distinctive television shows in an effort to get away from U.S. influence, but this has been a losing battle, too. Even some Canadian products, such as the Miss Canada Pageant, are carbon copies of U.S. shows.

Henry Comer, president of the Association of Canadian Television and Radio Artists, recently complained about U.S. dumping of television shows on the Canadian market not only at the expense of Canada's economy but at a high cost culturally.

* * *

"We are virtually subsidizing the American television industry," Comer said, "neglecting our own, importing large quantities of television programs and exporting their precious and irreplaceable commodity, our Canadian artists."

EXPORTED ARTIST

One of those exported artists is Lorne Greene, star of the American television hit "Bonanza." During a visit to Canada not long ago, Greene expressed the hope that Canada would build its own motion picture industry to keep Canadian actors at home.

* * *

The Canadian government is trying to protect Canadian periodicals by legislation to curb competition from U.S. publications. Proposed legislation would affect mainly Time magazine and Reader's Digest, which have special editions carrying advertising aimed directly at Canadian readers.

In the House of Commons this issue was raised by Douglas Fisher of the New Democrat party. He said he had received a letter from an official of Canada's suspended Liberty magazine indicating that attempts to restore publication of the periodical were "floundering because of the continued swing of advertising revenue to Time and Reader's Digest."

Newton Minow Lands Curtis Publishing Job

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Curtis Publishing Co. has elected Newton N. Minow, former chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, a director of the firm, filling a vacancy left by the death of Walter D. Fuller last month.

* * *

Minow also was appointed special counsel by the publishing company. He had been retained last Nov. 13 as a consultant on mergers and acquisitions.

MSU Requirement Cut for Engineers

EAST LANSING (AP)—Michigan State University has cut the requirement for a bachelor of science in engineering degree from 212 credits to 180 and dropped some applied technology courses which it said were outdated.

Dr. John D. Ryder, dean of the college of engineering, said the credit reduction conforms to the view that pressures no longer exist to "justify heavier than normal course loads for engineering students."

He said removal of the outdated courses is reflected in the credit reduction.

FBI Arrests 16 in Civil Rights Deaths

In Detroit Mass Slaying

Family Discord Seen as Cause

DETROIT (AP)—A simple, well-kept frame home in a quiet neighborhood yesterday was the scene of the second mass slaying in the Detroit area in a little more than two months.

Seven persons were killed, each with a single 22-caliber bullet through the head, including the young father who, police said, apparently became angry because his wife was leaving him.

The man, James Burgan, 28, telephoned his sister-in-law yesterday morning and told her he had "killed my wife and children." The relative, Mrs. Mary Judkins, 31, called police.

When police arrived, they found the bodies, including that of Burgan who apparently committed suicide, officers said.

Police identified the victims as:

Burgan's wife, Joyce, 22; their children, 18-month-old Linda, 6-month-old Robert, Kathy, 3, and Mrs. Burgan's son by a previous marriage, Roger, 6; and Mrs. Billie Gene Nolan, 22, a friend of Burgan's wife.

APPEARED CONTENT

The family had moved into the home just three months ago. Neighbors said that they didn't know the family well but the Burgans

Another Unit Tops Its Quota for UF Drive

Commercial Division Goes Over the Mark; Others Give Reports

The commercial division of the Pontiac Area United Fund drive, topped its quota today just prior to the campaign deadline set for Monday by Bruce J. Annett, general campaign chairman.

Jack Brannack, commercial chairman announced his division slightly over the $223,642 quota set.

★ ★ ★

Brannack expressed confidence that the Commercial Division would reach close to the $240,000 mark when all returns are in.

"We still have a big task ahead to finish collections if we are to surpass last year's $224,052," Brannack stated.

★ ★ ★

"Most of our solicitors have done a conscientious job of emphasizing the need for increased contributions to provide for additional needs and use of agency services in the community."

EXCEEDED QUOTAS

Three of five units — education, government and small teams — have already exceeded quotas set. Chapter plans and professional groups are still short of meeting their quotas, according to Brannack.

Dr. Donald Tatroe, Waterford Township superintendent of schools, a pace setter for the commercial division, led educational units to $25,657 — 117 per cent of quota.

George Stout, chairman of small teams, another pace-setting unit, announced the teams' quota was reached several weeks ago, and now reports 110 per cent of the $7,711.00 quota, or $8,508.00.

★ ★ ★

Government units, with Walter K. Willman, chairman, have reached 102.6 per cent reporting $21,887.00.

Criminal Charges Are Issued Against 21 in Mississippi Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI arrested 16 men in Mississippi today in connection with the midsummer murders of three civil rights workers at Philadelphia, Miss.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said 21 men have been named in criminal charges in connection with the slayings of James Chaney, Andrew Goodman and Michael Schwerner last June 22.

Nineteen, he said, were charged with conspiring to interfere with federal rights. Two others were charged with "misprision of a felony."

Misprision means being an accessory after the fact of a crime.

★ ★ ★

Hoover said the FBI will make its information available to state authorities for possible murder warrants.

INCLUDE SHERIFF

Those arrested include Sheriff Lawrence A. Rainey, of Neshoba County, and his deputy, Cecil Price, who was the last to acknowledge seeing the three young men alive.

Hoover gave this account of the crime, as pieced together by an intensive FBI investigation:

Late in the morning of June 21, the three victims left Meridian in a 1963 station wagon for the purpose of investigating the June 16 burning of a Negro church near Philadelphia.

★ ★ ★

About 4 p.m. Chaney, a Meridian Negro, was arrested for speeding at Philadelphia.

ALSO HELD

Price, who arrested him, also held Goodman and Schwerner, white New Yorkers, for investigation.

About six hours later Chaney posted $20 bond and the three were released.

The station wagon was found two days later, burned and abandoned on a dirt road 13 miles northeast of Philadelphia.

Delay Donations to Dems Until Fund Studied---Hare

LANSING (AP) — Branch office managers have been asked by Secretary of State James M. Hare to withhold cash contributions to the State Democratic organization until party leaders agree to investigate the raising and spending of campaign funds.

The move by Hare yesterday caught party leaders by surprise.

Hare said "it is time to take a hard look at the cause of this ever-recurring situation" after reporting that the party treasury is deeply in debt again.

He added that if the 211 branch office managers agree to suspend all donations, Democratic policy makers "are sure to act on this situation very quickly."

★ ★ ★

The branch fee officers, most of them political appointees, have contributed "well over $500,000" to the party in the ten years he has been secretary of state, Hare said.

MANY TICKETS

Beyond that, he said, "they buy many, many tickets to various Democratic fund raising affairs."

Last month, Hare urged the Democratic State Police Committee to investigate the fund raising system and recommend a new concept for distributing campaign money.

Zolton Ferency, state Democratic chairman, said that at the meeting of the policy committee, Hare raised a question of raising and spending of campaign funds and "he was advised then the place to raise the question was in the finance committee."

★ ★ ★

Ferency added that there is nothing new about campaign fund problems.

NO REACTION

The state chairman added he will have no reaction on the Hare suggestion until he has a chance to see Hare's letter to branch managers and to discuss it with Hare.

More Cuts Considered for Reserve

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the second time in two years, defense officials appear to be preparing for major surgery on military reserve forces.

Just what form that surgery will take is not yet clear. Studies have been under way in both the Air Force and the Army.

The service recommendations are awaited by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, who will make the final decisions.

Indications point to possible heavy losses for the Army and Air Force Reserve, perhaps virtual elimination of the Reserve and its merger with the National Guard.

★ ★ ★

The aim of any new streamlining would be elimination of wasteful and cumbersome duplication and strengthening of the readiness of Reserve forces which cost about $2 billion a year to support.

SAME PURPOSE

Pentagon planners find it hard to understand why the Army and Air Force should maintain dual organizations — the Reserve and the National Guard — serving essentially the same purpose.

Little fault is found with the Marine Reserve whose 45,000 men would form a fourth Marine division and supporting air wing.

★ ★ ★

Officials claim it would be ready to go overseas in 30 days from call-up.

Icy Weather Threat to Area

Predict Heavy Snow, Issue Road Warning

Old Man Winter delivered a stunning one-two punch to Oakland County this morning, more than two weeks before he is scheduled to make his official appearance.

Freezing rain began falling in the southern part of the county in the early morning hours and gradually moved northward.

Hazardous driving warnings are out for the area today. Heavy snow, accumulating up to six inches, is expected, diminishing to flurries tonight and tomorrow.

A low of 14 to 22 is predicted for tonight, followed by a high tomorrow of 22 to 30.

★ ★ ★

Sunday's outlook is more snow flurries with little change in temperature.

DRIFTING SNOW

Today's northeasterly winds at 15 to 25 miles an hour should cause considerable drifting late today and tonight, says the weatherman.

The low temperature this morning in downtown Pontiac was 28. Thirty-three was the reading at 1 p.m.

Motorists on their way to work found driving conditions perilous, especially on secondary roads which hadn't had the attention of winter maintenance crews.

★ ★ ★

In Pontiac, salt trucks were called out at 5 a.m. today. By 7:30 a.m., all five trucks were salting city streets, according to the Department of Public Works.

FLEET MOBILIZED

The Oakland County Road Commission mobilized its entire fleet of 75 trucks and scrapers at 4 a.m. in an effort to keep main roads passable for the early rush-hour traffic.

All of the trucks were carrying salt or sand, and 25 were equipped with underbody scrapers.

Sgt. John Amthor, commander of the Pontiac state police post, cautioned drivers to be extremely careful.

GOP Governors Split on Burch

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Republican governors split wide open today over a proposal by their chairman, Gov. Robert Smylie of Idaho, that they demand the ouster of GOP National Chairman Dean Burch.

But the state executives were nearly unanimous in agreement that something drastic has to be done to lift their party out of the abyss of the defeat it suffered Nov. 3.

Smylie, who said he would accept the national chairmanship if the party wanted him, declared in a speech prepared for the opening session of an extraordinary conference that the governors ought to have the stamina to recommend that the national committee "consider making appropriate changes in its leadership."

The Idaho governor said, "We are a defeated party with defeated leadership."

He said the GOP presidential nominee Sen. Barry Goldwater, as a defeated candidate, "is the symbol of a rejected alternative" to Democratic President Lyndon B. Johnson.

SIMILAR CATEGORY

Noting that Goldwater had said four years ago that Richard M. Nixon was "just going to be a Republican lawyer," Smylie said that Goldwater is in a similar category now.

"For that reason," he said "we really are a leaderless party, because no one has earned the right to leadership by winning an election."

But Smylie's "dump Burch" demand ran into instant opposition.

★ ★ ★

Gov. George Romney of Michigan said on his arrival at the conference last night that the Idaho governor's proposal for adoption of a resolution recommending Burch's ouster was "Gov. Smylie's idea, and I won't comment on it."

TEAM PLAYER

Romney, saying he is a team player and not a political "loner" as he has sometimes been described, said, "This is not the time to read anybody out of the party."

★ ★ ★

The important thing, he added, is to bring all elements in under one tent.

In contrast, Gov. John H. Chafee of Rhode Island, who won re-election by the highest pluarlity scored by any GOP gubernatorial candidate, said he is willing to back a resolution demanding Burch's ouster.

Goodfellows Hold Area Paper Sales

Goodfellow paper sales began today in Troy, Avondale, Clarkston and Addison Township.

Troy's campaign to provide funds for a Dec. 19 children's Christmas party and help for needy families is a one-day affair, while the other three drives are to continue tomorrow.

The Clarkston Goodfellows will provide shoes for youngsters who might otherwise go without them during the holiday season from funds they collect.

PLAN PARTIES

In Avondale and in Addison Township, children's Christmas parties also are slated for Dec. 19, and part of the funds collected there also goes toward help for the needy.

Court Official Gets Position in Waterford

Dr. Kingsley Montgomery, education coordinator for the Oakland County Juvenile Court since 1960, last night was appointed director of Childrens Services for Waterford Township Schools by the township school board.

The new post combines part-time duties of an administrator who is leaving the system this month and another who will retire next June. It also includes several new functions.

A consulting psychologist under the State Psychologist's Certification Act, Dr. Montgomery, 46, received his doctorate in education from Michigan State University in 1955.

His appointment is effective Dec. 15 at a salary level equivalent with that to a junior high school principal.

Montgomery will assume the duties of Dr. Clayton Lafferty who has served on a part-time basis as consultant for special education.

SOME FUNCTIONS

He also will take over some functions of Dr. Edgar G. Johnston, coordinator of research. Dr. Johnston will retire next year.

In addition, Montgomery will administer, coordinate and supervise all special education services in cooperation with the Oakland County Board of Education office.

Probe Report Again on Sale

Five hundred volumes of the Warren report will go on sale at the Pontiac Press at 8 a.m. tomorrow.

The hard-cover book prepared by the Associated Press sells for $1.50. It contains the report on the death of President Kennedy, the arrest of Lee Oswald, and his death at the hands of Jack Ruby.

This illustrated book will not be on sale at book stores, and we cannot accept mail orders. Persons who had previously reserved copies must pick them up before 5 p.m. Wednesday.

There's Time to Click Off Hand-Knit Christmas Gift

By JODY HEADLEE
Home Editor, The Pontiac Press

If you get those needles to clicking, there's still time to give a hand-knit for Christmas.

Or perhaps that special friend or mother is a knitnut who would be thrilled with a pre-packaged kit from Santa.

Pattern and yarn for the popular sweater shell come in assorted colors from sizes 12 to 18. And there are the sweater shell kits which also include the wool fabric for a matching skirt.

For evening, there are glamorous sweaters and blouses with glittering sequins knit into the garment. In sizes 10 to 16, these packs range from $8.95 to $11.25.

And, if needlepoint is your forte, there is a wide assortment of pictures priced from $6.00 to $8.50.

For the toddler in your life, there are sweater and bonnet kits as well as afghan packs. All tots love cuddly toys and you're sure to win a baby heart if you sew together and stuff the turtle and bonny preprinted on a single sheet.

SMART PATTERNS

Preprinted model doll clothes come in smart patterns for both daytime and sportswear. If your hours are accounted for, it's an ideal way to introduce your daughter to the art of sewing and it makes a good stocking stuffer too.

Husbands and sons can get into the creative act with sun catcher kits. These cast plastic medallions are all the rage in home decoration this season.

Joint Effort Halts Area Bog Blaze

By JOE MULLEN

Waterford Township firemen, State Conservation Department personnel and prisoners from Camp Pontiac combined forces recently to extinguish a muck fire that smouldered for three weeks in Waterford Township.

The bog fire in an approximate 15-acre area one half mile south of Pleasant Lake was touched off by a grass fire.

This ignited the peat-humus in the ground which averages a depth of about 2 feet and is 4 to 5 feet deep in some places.

Waterford firemen had kept the smouldering muck under control in the heavily wooded area but township Fire Chief Lewis Goff recognized two danger signals and decided to call for conservation department help.

The rising smoke was creating a driving hazard, and trees were toppling with increasing regularity.

agents, Mississippi state troopers and Navy personnel ended Aug. 4 when FBI agents dug into a new earthen dam near Philadelphia and discovered the three bodies.

KKK MEMBERS

Hoover said the FBI, in narrowing the massive field of possible suspects, directed its attention primarily toward known members and sympathizers of the Ku Klux Klan — "which group includes most of those arrested today."

Several of the men have been prime suspects since the investigation began, Hoover said.

But weeks of further checking were necessary to identify the alleged accomplices and compile the evidence which resulted in today's arrests.

The FBI identified the following, aside from Price and Rainey, as those arrested:

Bernard L. Akin, 50, a Meridian salesman; Earl B. Akin, 32, a Meridian trailer salesman. Jimmy Arledge, 27, a Meridian truck driver; Horace D. Barnette, 25, a salesman formerly of Meridian; Travis M. Barnette, 36, part-owner and operator of a Meridian garage.

ALSO ARRESTED

Also, Otha Neal Burkes, 71, a Philadelphia Police Department patrolman; Olen L. Burrage, 34, a trucking company operator in Philadelphia; James T. Harris, 30, a Meridian truck driver; Frank J. Herndon, 46, who runs a drive-in restaurant in Meridian; Tommy A. Horne, 28, Meridian, owner of a plumbing firm in Bonita, Miss.

★ ★ ★

Also James E. Jordan, 38, a construction worker formerly of Meridian and now of Gulfport; Edgar Ray Killen, 39, a minister, farmer and sawmill operator in Union; Billy Wayne Posey, 28, Philadelphia, operator of a Williamsville service station; Alton Wayne Roberts, 26, a Meridian salesman. Jerry McGrew Sharp, 21, manager of a Philadelphia pulpwood supply company.

★ ★ ★

Family Discord Seen as Cause

Mrs. Judkins said Burgan, who worked for a paper box company, told her Monday his wife had left him and taken Roger with her.

Burgan left the other three children with her until yesterday, when he returned for them less than 30 minutes before the killings, Mrs. Judkins said.

★ ★ ★

Police said three of the children appeared to be alive when they broke into the house shortly before noon.

DIED IN SURGERY

Doctors worked for 90 minutes to save Linda's life, but she died on the operating table.

Employes at the restaurant where Mrs. Burgan started working as a part-time dishwasher six weeks ago quoted her as saying she had decided to leave her husband because she "couldn't stand him and four kids."

Mrs. Judkins said when Burgan came to get the three children Thursday morning he said his wife was leaving him and taking Roger and he wanted the other children to "kiss their mother goodby."

★ ★ ★

Some detectives said Burgan already may have killed his wife, Mrs. Nolan and Roger by that time.

In addition to the usual round styrofoam ornaments, from the tiny 1-inch to the jumbo 8-inch, there are rectangular blocks, cones and canes. With glitter, sequins, braid and tinsel, these can be made into tree baubles and table arrangements.

STYROFOAM SPHERES

Available this year are panoramic styrofoam spheres. These 6-inch spheres are slightly flattened on the bottom with peek-a-boo openings looking into the scooped out middle.

You can mount a miniature Christmas scene in the center. For a finished look, cover the openings with colored cellophane, and glue or pin rick-rack or braid over the transparent material's raw edges.

To Aid Widow of Missionary

Setting Up Trust Fund for Pontiac Woman

A group of Pontiac area residents today announced they are establishing a trust fund for Mrs. Hector McMillan, wife of the missionary who was killed in the Congo, Nov. 24.

The fund-raising group is made up largely of friends and former classmates and neighbors of Mrs. McMillan.

The First Baptist Church, 34 Oakland, is accepting contributions for Mrs. McMillan, the former Ione Reed of Pontiac and her six sons.

Mrs. McMillan is still in the Congo with her sons Kenneth, 17; Paul, 16; David, 14; John, 13; Stephen, 11; and Timothy, 10. Kenneth is in a Congo hospital with a hip wound.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. McMillan attended First Baptist Church where her family had been members for over 35 years. This church has supported the McMillans in their missionary work.

VISITING FRIENDS

Her father died in 1938. Her mother is presently visiting friends in Waterford Township.

The McMillans were under arrest in the Unevangelized Fields Mission guest house at Stanleyville when the Rev. Mr. McMillan was killed.

According to a letter received this week by Mrs. McMillan's mother, from the Unevangelized Fields Mission, "Dr. Paul Carlson was shot as he tried to jump the wall . . . and all in the house were rescued except Hector McMillan.

"Earlier the same morning, the Simbas came and shot into the living room with women and children all sitting about," the letter related.

HIT IN HIP

"Kenny McMillan was hit in the hip. Everybody fell to the floor as dead, even the children, so the Simbas went on. They found Hector and Bob McAllister in the yard and shot Hector at point blank range.

"Hector's body was taken to the house and placed on a bed and Ione called the children around and said to them, in effect, 'You should count it a privilege that we could give our daddy for the salvation of the Congo people.'

Those contributing to the trust fund will receive a receipt for income tax purposes from First Baptist Church, Pastor Robert Shelton said.

The proportion of children borne by women in their 30's and early 40's has sharply declined in the past 25 years.

The U.S. birth rate has declined from 26.8 births per thousand of population in 1947 to 22.1 per thousand in 1963.

Bloomfield Hills Board Sets School Vote Date

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — An additional operating levy of 3.3 mills will be sought by the Bloomfield Hills Board of Education in a special election Feb. 8.

The election date and amount of the proposed 15-year levy were set by the board last night following tentative approval of an incentive salary schedule for district teachers.

School board trustees had made some alterations in the schedule recommended to them last month by the teachers salary study committee.

They regulated the incentive increment, establishing it at 5 per cent of the base pay for each step.

★ ★ ★

They also extended the schedule over 14 rather than 12 years for the holders of master's degrees, to provide for more regular progression.

PROPOSED SCHEDULE

Although the proposed schedule would be put into effect during the next school year, the incentive provisions would be held until 1966-67 to allow time for a system of evaluation to be developed.

Teachers would be eligible for merit pay after they had attained three years of experience.

Administrators have estimated that 85 per cent of those eligible would qualify for the superior salaries.

★ ★ ★

Assistant Schools Supt. Irving E. Menucci last night presented a breakdown of estimated costs for the schedule's first four years of operation.

264 TEACHERS

He noted that under the present schedule the district's 264 teachers would be paid a total of $1,818,933 next year, while they will get $1,767,940 this year.

If the new schedule is approved, the payroll will be $2,003,389 for 1965-66.

However, Menucci calculated the addition of 30 new teachers a year to the system.

★ ★ ★

Adding their salaries and funds for substitute teachers, supplemental pay and driver education to the pay for present teachers takes the total to $2,286,889.

INCENTIVE PAY

The addition of the incentive pay provision and 30 more teachers in 1966-67 would take the total to $2,573,548.

Menucci noted it would be difficult to determine the percentage of the payroll consumed by the incentive increment.

Additional cost would be covered by the 3.3-mill levy, expected to net $397,916 in 1965-66 and $422,050 in 1966-67.

The sum would be added to that raised through the current 18.83-mill levy for operations, part of a total levy of 24.51 mills.

TABLE REQUEST

School board members tabled until Dec. 22 consideration of a recreation commission request to include on the Feb. 8 ballot a one-third-mill proposition for recreation.

★ ★ ★

Donald C. Hyde, school board member on the recreation commission, last night said the group had altered its request somewhat.

★ ★ ★

Recreation commissioners now are asking that the board either seek the one-third-mill for recreation or increase the allocation to the commission enough to make up the difference.

Future of Special Education Uncertain

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of two articles dealing with past growth and future potential of Oakland County's special education programs.)

By L. GARY THORNE

A cloudy future confronts Oakland County's efforts to teach the handicapped. However, the cloud was forecast and even planned.

Presently celebrating 10 years of growth, special education has reached its predetermined limits, at least financially.

When the extensive plans were mapped in 1954 for the instruction of the physically, emotionally and mentally handicapped, county educators prophesied steady growth for a decade.

The decade is past and the future uncharted.

"We have a million-dollar program and a million dollars," explains Kenneth W. Brown, Oakland Schools deputy superintendent.

COUNTYWIDE TAX

The money, actually $1.1 million, comes from a half-mill tax levied countywide. The charter millage was approved by a 10-1 margin by voters in 1954.

Combined with other sources of revenue, mostly state aid, special education's estimated income for 1964-65 will total $1,688,147. Included on the income side of the ledger is a balance of $509,597 from the past fiscal year.

Expenditures will top $1,510,431 this year, leaving a balance next June of $177,716.

★ ★ ★

With this type of budget, school officials have clamped the lid on their cashbox, insisting there can be no expansion.

NEED GROWING

While income matches expenditures, the need for special education classes continues to grow.

How much growth is needed? How much money will be needed to finance that growth? Where will the money come from?

These questions must be answered by school officials. Help in finding the answers will come from the Oakland County Superintendents Association.

★ ★ ★

This group, made up of superintendents from the county's 30 school districts, pushed the original enabling legislation that made special education possible.

PAVED WAY

In addition, the superintendents made a survey of needs a decade ago to pave the way for special education.

A study committee, headed by Hazel Park Supt. Dr. Wilfred Webb, will review the county's program and make recommendations next spring for the future.

County school officials look to the future and see four alternatives for special education. These are:

- Seek voter approval of more millage
- Get more state aid
- Give less service — let waiting lists accumulate
- Give lower subsidies—local districts would begin picking up a greater share of the costs

Compounding the financial problems of special education has been the decreasing amount of state aid over the years. During 1963-64, the state only paid out 85 per cent on a formula of $224 per pupil.

★ ★ ★

School officials are reluctant to forecast on the future of state aid. Securing state funds has generally been difficult in the past. State aid does increase, but the state's percentage of school costs continues to drop.

FINAL SOLUTION

Oakland County's final solution to the present cloud that hangs over its pioneering program is apt to be watched closely across the state.

Since the enabling legislation was passed in 1954, tailored to conditions here, the Oakland Schools' program has been a pacesetter in the field of special education.

Other districts, set up on a similar county-centered basis, have patterned themselves after Oakland County. Some 43 out of 83 counties in the state have special education plans.

Oakland County's example may continue to blaze new trails for still another decade.

Report Africans Feel Criticism of Congo Action Will Bring U.S. Policy Reappraisal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some African diplomats in Washington have advised their governments that their critical attitude toward the recent Congo rescue operation would force the United States to take a hard second look at its African policy, diplomatic observers reported today.

These observers conceded that "critical attitude" is a euphemism for the angry denunciation Africans gave the joint U.S.-Belgian mercy mission of last week. They also added that by no means all of the diplomats in the city agreed with the angry statements which came from their capitals.

U.S. officials would not acknowledge that the criticism could change or even affect the administration's general policy toward Africa. They conceded, however, that they are watching closely the public utterances of African leaders.

A few African nations did not join the loud concert of denunciation. They include Nigeria, Morocco, Ivory Coast, the Malagasy Republic, Senegal, Liberia, Zambia and Tunisia.

MOST SCATHING

Probably the most scathing commentaries came from Algeria and Ghana. Neither caused much surprise in Washington. Both countries are striving to become leaders of an Africa they hope will be united one day.

* * *

U.S. officials deny the administration is concerned by the angry noises from Africa. Some say it was expected, although not to such an extent.

It would be beneath the dignity of the United States to respond by repeating that the operation had no aim other than to rescue hostages, officials said. The withdrawal of the paratroopers proved this was the case, and those still talking about political motives and the "return of the ex-colonial power," meaning Belgium, are "talking nonsense, and they must know it," an official commented.

* * *

Criticism from Communist countries outside Africa, on the other hand, is firmly dismissed as irrelevant and raised solely for political purposes.

Some anxiety in Africa about colonial aspirations can be understood, an official explained, but Moscow and other Communist capitals should know better.

More than 1,000 high school jazz or dance bands were organized during the 1963-64 school year, an increase of 14 per cent.

State Dems Call First House Caucus Since Gaining Power

LANSING (AP)—House Democrats called their first caucus today as they continued gearing up for a legislative takeover six weeks from now.

Most of the 72 Democratic state representatives were expected to attend the afternoon caucus aimed at choosing next year's leadership and working out "as smooth a transition as possible," said Rep. Joseph Kowalski, D-Detroit. Kowalski is House minority floor leader and the leading candidate for of the house.

The caucus was to be asked to elect a speaker. Other posts may not be filled until a later date, Democratic spokesmen said.

The legislature, scheduled to convene Jan. 13 will be dominated by Democrats for the first time since 1938.

GIVES BACKING

"I'm backing Albert Horrigan D- Flint (assistant minority floor leader), for speaker pro tem," Kowalski said. "He has ability and seniority."

Appointment of an assistant speaker pro tem (a new post), a minority floor leader, caucus chairman and two whips (also new posts) will be made by the Democrats, Kowalski said.

"We'll want two whips because of the size of the delegation," Kowalski said. "We can't be in caucus all the time. "We'll need to set up a system of communication and will need someone to keep track of all the members."

Democrats also will meet soon with Republican House members, he said.

ARRANGE DETAILS

Rep. Robert Waldron, R-Grosse Pointe, majority floor leader, has asked for the meeting to work out the physical details of the transition.

"We are definitely going to need such a meeting," Kowalski said. "We have to make an orderly transition and it must be done before the end of this month.

"The problems are many and varied—such as changing the legislative service bureau into a legislative council, deciding on clerks, a sergeant at arms, pages, stenographers."

The State Constitution calls for a bipartisan council to handle research, bill drafting and other services, some of which are now performed by the service bureau.

French Grumble Over 'Grandeur'

Some Say De Gaulle Going Too Far

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

President Charles de Gaulle's comfortable majority in the French Chamber of Deputies assures that so far as France is concerned, he will continue to have his way. But many Frenchmen are unhappy over his pursuit of the grandeur of France.

NEWSOM

Businessmen are unhappy over anti-inflation measures which are making profits harder to get and slowing down the French economy.

Workers in state-run industries are unhappy over government refusal to grant wage increases in excess of four per cent per year.

And France's allies are not alone in their unhappiness over de Gaulle's determination to push his independent nuclear deterrent.

At home, his opposition on both right and left is grumbling over his projected five - year program for economic and military development, including $11 billion for thermonuclear weapons and their means of delivery.

* * *

Far from contributing to the French economy, the arms program will slow it further.

FARMERS UNHAPPY

Farmers are unhappy because the government continues to reject demands for price increases.

As de Gaulle spread good will and French prestige in South America during September and October, dairy farmers were staging a milk strike.

It was in February 1963 that the government began taking the measures which now are having their effect.

* * *

In the last year, retail prices had jumped nearly five per cent, the greatest increase in 10 years. Food prices were going up week by week.

TIGHTER CREDIT

In its first step, the government tightened credits both on industrialists and consumers buying on the installment plan.

Later, came a freeze on prices and profit margins of a wide list of consumer goods. Taxes went up.

These and other measures had the desired effect of cooling off the French economy.

* * *

But now from both industry and labor comes the complaint that government restrictive action has gone too far.

PROTEST STRIKE

On Dec. 11, an estimated 1.5 million state employes have scheduled a 24-hour protest strike against government wage policies which, they claim, neither have kept pace with the rise in the cost of living nor with increases granted to workers in private industry.

Should other workers join the state employes, some four million could be involved and the public once again cut off from electricity, gas and transport.

In industry, soft spots are developing, indicating a slowing of the French boom.

* * *

Sales of French cars are down five per cent from a year ago.

CAR SDOWN

Retail sales are down 10 per cent, and a slump in orders has been noted in the important machine-tool industry, often regarded as an economic barometer.

* * *

Opponents of the government program charge that the new five-year plan does not go far enough in public-welfare projects such as public housing and roads. And they say austerity measures to date do not take into account obsolete machinery and an old-fashioned distribution system.

The result is concern not only among Frenchmen but among France's European Common Market partners as well. An economic downturn in France could affect all.

It's our business to help you get there fast . . . and at sensible rates.

Virus Halts Leukemia ---in Mice

NEW YORK (UPI) — A new virus has been discovered which appears capable of halting one form of leukemia, at least in mice.

A team of scientists report the virus has worked well on mice but has not been tried on humans.

It does not seriously harm the mice and appears to be different from any other found in the animals.

Mice injected with the viruses at the same time lymphatic leukemia cells were administered have been reported free of leukemia and in good health 150 days later.

* * *

Previously the mouse leukemia had killed all its victims within 12 days.

FOUND VIRUS

The virus was found by the Waldemar Medical Research Foundation of Woodbury, N.Y.

The findings will be published in the British scientific journal, Nature, as well as in the journal of the National Cancer Institute.

The discoverers were Drs. Norman Molomut, the foundation's medical director, and Morton Padnos. They named the discovery the "Molomut-Padnos Virus."

* * *

It has not been decided whether the new viruses will be tried on humans.

First, it will have to be administered to species other than rats and mice.

Fatalities Rise at Record Clip

CHICAGO (AP) — The nation's traffic deaths in the first 10 months this year totaled a record 39,250 and the toll for 1964 appeared headed for an all-time high of more than 48,000.

* * *

The National Safety Council said Thursday that deaths on the highways from Jan. 1 to Nov. 1 were 11 per cent more than in the first 10 months of 1963. Last year's toll of 43,600 was a record high.

* * *

Traffic fatalities in October were 4,680, an increase of 15 per cent over the 4,070 in October 1963.

The council estimated that in the first 10 months this year about 1.4 million persons suffered auto accident injuries which disabled them beyond the day of the accident.

Quartz crystals, which it would take nature three million years to produce, are now made synthetically in three weeks.

The U.S. Secret Service Bureau was established in 1860 and its only function then was to apprehend counterfeiters.

Italy has a coastline of 2,270 miles. On the peninsula no point is more than 60 miles from the sea.

The density of population of the valley of the Nile in Egypt is greater than any of the European countries.

Ex-Track Star Wins Race in Another Arena---Politics

By JOE MULLEN

"I'll get around somehow even if I have to crawl."

* * *

Such was the remark of Frank Crowley during his recent campaign when someone asked how he would maneuver in Lansing if he won his race for state legislator.

Crowley did win and Crowley will get around. He begins duties as the 61st District representative next January.

The legislator-elect was stricken with a strange spinal malady four years ago that drained the power from a great pair of legs.

* * *

Legs that three decades ago propelled him to international fame as a distance runner suddenly failed.

LABORED TIRELESSLY

Crowley had always labored tirelessly to aid the handicapped, particularly the blind, through various Lions Club projects.

Then suddenly he was as handicapped as many he helped.

For nearly two years Frank was unable to walk at all. The days passed slowly as he was virtually confined to his house at 7341 Deer Lake, Independence Township.

* * *

Crowley, a former Army captain, had to get out, to get around, to be with people and to accomplish things.

BEGAN WALKING

He began walking with the aid of a metal device and driving his car which was equipped with hand-operated instruments.

But this wasn't enough. The Vermont-born Irishman, who had operated a successful beer business prior to his illness, wanted to get back on the firing line.

A job opportunity arose in Waterford Township last winter and Township Supervisor James E. Seeterlin pegged Crowley for the general office work post.

* * *

The job, which involves working in all administrative departments of the township, helped stimulate Crowley's ever-present interest in government.

Then last August when the primary election filing deadline was approaching and it appeared that the incumbent 61st District representative would be unopposed. Crowley said, "Let's give it a whirl."

He filed as the Democratic candidate. His opponent was Lloyd Anderson, a seasoned political campaigner.

Having hung up his spikes in 1937 after winning national and world titles in the mile, 3,000-meter, 5,000-meter and two-mile runs, here was Crowley running again.

* * *

"This is a wonderful thrill," he said a few days before the election. "I want to win, of course, but just being in the race is a great feeling."

RAN HARD

Crowley, a Manhattan College alumnus, ran hard during his campaign for office — as hard as a man, who can't walk, can run.

He had two big things going for him.

One was the same fiery competitive spirit that earned him a spot on the 1932 Olympic team and drove him to a grand slam as he won the three major distance races in 1934 and was named to the All-America track team.

* * *

The other was his host of friends who encouraged him to run and did some of the campaign leg work.

HARDWORK

Crowley handled all the head work himself.

He has some positive thoughts on state needs that he hopes to help implement when the new legislative session begins.

Among these are aid to education which he feels is presently inadequate and the city income tax provision which he strongly opposes.

* * *

"Something must be done about the increasing school dropout problem," he said, "and we must stop the flow of smut literature so readily available to youngsters."

STRANGER TO FAMILY

Crowley is already becoming somewhat of a stranger to his family what with the full-time job at the township and the numerous briefing sessions at night and on weekends as he prepares for the legislative session opening.

His proud family consists of his wife, Billie; daughters, Mrs. David Hertler and Mrs. Edward Bishop and sons, Michael and Tim.

Being the type who makes friends easily, Crowley undoubtedly will encounter many a helping hand as he makes his way around Lansing.

* * *

But, the independent and self-sufficient Irishman will wave off his would-be aides with a polite, "Thanks, but I can make it."

CANDY ANGEL

Paper Christmas Angel Holds Box of Candy

Isn't she the cutest thing? Norcross suggests making her from left-over gift wrappings. The materials needed and instructions for making the "Candy Angel" pictured follow:

CANDY ANGEL (Height 24")

1 pkg. Norcross "Tree Frolic" Christmas wrap
Gold Ribbon, ½" wide
2 large sheets of heavy art paper
Small box
Pink and blue paper
6" styrofoam ball

From 18" cone of art paper; cement together. Cover with gift wrap. Scoop out a bit of the ball large enough to fit on point of cone and set it in place. Pin on face parts. Pin on lengths of ribbon for hair, tying pony tail with colored bow.

Arms are strips of art paper about 4" wide, covered with wrap. Make wings in same manner using blue paper. Attach wings and arms to back of neck with paper fasteners.

Cover small box with pink paper and attach between hands with fasteners. Fill with candies.

Cards Help Home Decor

NEW YORK (UPI)—When decking the house with holly, remember that Christmas cards make unusually effective Christmas trimmings, too.

* * *

Combine cards and candles to create a table-top tableau telling the Christmas story. Choose a selection of holiday greetings that depict Mary and Joseph's journey to Bethlehem, the appearance of the Star, the trip of the Wise Men and shepherds.

* * *

It is suggested that you arrange such cards around a small creche flanked with candles.

You also can attach the cards to a folding cardboard screen covered with gold paper that would serve as a backdrop for a statue of the Madonna or a replica of the Christmas crib.

CARD TREE

To turn gay cards into a colorful wall decoration, cut a giant tree-shape from green felt.

Tape it to the wall and as the cards arrive, just add them to the "tree."

* * *

Another good trick: use wide strips of red satin ribbon to show your Christmas greetings. Tape ribbons to either side of a doorway or window.

If the curtains won't interfere, run ribbons right down the window, attaching them to the frame at top and bottom.

IN AND OUT

Make a two-sided display by taping or stapling cards to both sides, thus making a window decoration that can be enjoyed from both outdoors and indoors.

Try your hand also at making a Christmas card mobile. Children love this idea. The mobiles can be constructed, using wire coat hangers.

For a decorative touch that is different, strip an old umbrella of fabric, spray the spokes gold, and anchor the handle in soil or clay to make an umbrella card tree.

Hang the cards with red and green ribbons. Add a few small ornaments or sprigs of greenery and you've got a real conversation piece.

With homemade stencils to guide them, children fancy up the windows for Christmas with homemade "snow-da" which wipes off at the end of the holidays with a quick swipe of a dry terry cloth towel.

Christmas Party

Zeta Zeta Omega sorority will hold their annual Christmas party Monday at 8 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Gary Hetherington.

* * *

No business meeting is planned for this social meeting and gift exchange.

Soda Water Puts Trim on Window

There's no need to discourage children from fancying up the windows for Christmas because of haunting visions of the traditional struggle to remove the push-button snow, soap or decals at the end of the holidays.

You'll have no trouble erasing the decor if youngsters use a homemade concoction consisting of 4 tablespoons of baking soda to a half cup of water. Fill a flit-gun, or other squirt-type contraption with this solution and let children spray the "snow-da."

After a couple of applications it produces the same effect as the push-button variety only it just brushes off with a damp terrycloth towel when dismantling time comes due. And it takes soil with it and leaves panes sparkling clean to the "snow-da."

There are other advantages

- Baking soda, being a food, is perfectly safe for the youngsters to work with . . . no need to worry if it travels from hands to mouth.
- Also, there's no need to worry if the aim is wild and the "snow-da" lands on rug or furniture.

On a sheet of brown paper cut to the size of the pane, draw free hand or trace with carbon paper from a magazine a Christmasy motif. Cut out the design and secure the resulting stencil to the pane with a snip of cellophane tape.

DEAR POLLY CRAMER
DEAR POLLY —Please send me a dollar to Paula who wrote for her father's cure for a writer.

My 17-year-old son has spent three summers working on his uncle's ranch. I know he was so involved in his job that he never wrote or sent for a birthday card he always remembered to send.

TRIES CURE

I tried the "cure" last summer and I got a letter. It really worked. I GOT A LETTER.

I still chuckle when I think about it.—MYLDRED

GIRLS—In case you missed Paula's letter, the gist of it was that her father always marks the first page of a letter "number two" and then proceeds with the remainder. The slow writers are so absorbed with curiosity that they immediately write back to ask for the missing page.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY—I have three granddaughters, ages 3, 5 and 7, who come to visit. I never seemed to have anything for them to play with until I hit on the following idea.

They love to play house and dress up like ladies. I filled an old suitcase with three complete outfits including dresses, scarves, hats, purses, gloves, shoes and costume jewelry.

Now they rush for the suitcase and will play lady by the hour. When time comes for them to go home, they pick up everything and pack the suitcase so it is ready for the next time.

They have fun and there is no mess left for me to clean up.—A HAPPY GRANDMA

DEAR POLLY — When I send for a booklet or anything that requires a stamped, addressed envelope, I stamp and address the envelope and turn the gummed flap back to the front of the envelope. On this I write the name of the booklet. It saves me writing a letter and the company reading a letter.—DOROTHY

AP Announces 1964 All-America Teams

NEW YORK (AP) — John Huarte, Bob Timberlake, Donny Anderson and Gale Sayers comprise the offensive backfield of the 1964 Associated Press All-America football team named today.

Illinois linebacker Dick Butkus, the lone holdover, heads a defense averaging 219 pounds per man on the squad which reflects the wholesale revival of a platoon game this season.

For the first time since 1952 separate units, a 22-man first team, has been selected on the recommendations of the sportswriters and broadcasters who made up the eight regional boards. All games through Nov. 28 were taken into account.

Huarte, Heisman Trophy winner as college player of the year, was the quarterback who changed Notre Dame from a 2-7 to a 9-1 performer and left a flock of school records in his wake.

His most notable season marks are 2,069 yards and 16 touchdowns.

"We built our whole offense around Huarte," says Coach Ara Parseghian. "I've lived in constant dread of what we would do if something happened to him."

Timberlake quarterbacked Michigan to the Big Ten title and a Rose Bowl berth but he's so good a runner he was elected at a halfback slot in his conference.

The 6-foot-4 senior rushed for 574 yards, passed for 807 and scored 80 points.

By means of pass receptions and kick runbacks as well as sprints from scrimmage junior Anderson from Texas Tech — a first round futures pick in both pro drafts — accounted for 1,710 yards. He also punts.

Kansas' Sayers, the whirlwind of the plains, is one of the most exciting runners in Big Eight history and leaves a league career rushing record of 2,675 yards behind him.

LIONS' CHOICE

The closest of some hectic position contests on offense was at end where Florida State's Fred Biletnikoff and Baylor's Lawrence Elkins got the nod over Jack Snow of Notre Dame and Karl Noonan of Iowa.

★ ★ ★

Biletnkoff, Detroit Lions' 3rd draft choice, operated at flanker back and split end with equal ease besides being a sound blocker and kick runback specialist.

He caught 57 passes for 987 yards and 11 touchdowns this season.

Southeast area board members rated him the finest athlete in that sector.

Elkins, first man picked in the AFL draft, grabbed 50 aerials for 851 yards at Baylor, scored seven touchdowns, returned 13 punts 126 yards and went in on defense on goal line situations.

Jim Wilson of Georgia and Nebraska's Larry Kramer, a combined 480 pounds of tackles who were future drafts last year, are on the interior offensive line with guards Tommy Nobis of Texas and Bill Fisk of Southern California plus Syracuse's Pat Killorin.

Nobis, a noted linebacker, is also a great blocker on offense.

STANDOUT IN UPSET

Fisk finished a standout season by starring in the 20-17 upset over Notre Dame. Ace Trojan ball carrier Mike Garrett calls Fisk "one of the most underrated blocking linemen in the country."

★ ★ ★

The quickness with which the New York Giants drafted Auburn's Tucker Frederickson is testimony of the fullback-safety's prowess. Although he led Auburn in rushing, receiving, scoring and kickoff returns, Frederickson was rated even higher stopping foes and permitted only one pass completion in the zone he covered all season. He personally killed four enemy drives with his tackling.

Clarence Williams of Washington State, Ohio State's Arnold Chonko and Cosmo Lacavazzi of Princeton are the other defensive backs.

Teamed with Butkus in the highly-competitive linebacker-guard spots are Tennessee's Steve DeLong and Pat Caveness of Arkansas.

The trio shaded Marty Schottenheimer of Pitt, Penn State's Glen Ressler and Carl McAdams of Oklahoma.

★ ★ ★

Dan Kearley of national champion Alabama is teamed with John Van Sicklen, Iowa State, at defensive tackle with Purdue's Harold Wells and Mississippi's Allen Brown manning the ends.

Caveness made 157 tackles, intercepted one pass for a touchdown, recovered two fumbles and threw backs for a total of 94 yards in losses as the Razorbacks had a surprising unbeaten year and blanked five foes.

Butkus, another first round pro draft choice with DeLong, is described by Pete Elliott as "the finest player I have ever coached."

Williams paced Washington State in six offensive categories worth 1,441 yards by various means but it was in the defensive secondary he was the toast of the coast.

Chonko had seven key pass interceptions for the year, including a last minute theft on his goal line to preserve victory over Indiana.

Iacavazzi was a record-breaking fullback for unbeaten, untied Princeton yet Dick Colman says he would have preferred to play him only on defense.

★ ★ ★

Adds Colman, "His inspirational leadership, competitive drive and excellence as both a defensive and offensive player are possibly unsurpassed in all Princeton football history."

Offensive backs Roger Staubach of Navy and Jimmy Sidle of Auburn, All-Americans a year ago, did not repeat because of their injury plagued seasons. Stauback was hindered by a severe leg injury and Sidle's hurt shoulder forced his move from quarterback to half.

Jerry Rhome of Tulsa, Craig Morton of California, Bob Berry of Oregon and Bob Schweikert of Virginia Tech make up the second team offensive backfield.

Van Sicklen, Rush Given Tackle Spots

Two former All - Oakland county football stars, John van Sicklen of Walled Lake and Jerry Rush of Pontiac Central have been accorded honors on the Associated Press All - America football teams listed today.

Van Sicklen, a 217 pound tackle at Iowa State, received first team honors on the defensive unit, while Rush, last week named to the All-Big Ten team, was picked for second team on offense.

He stands 6-4 and weighs 245 pounds and was signed by the Detroit Lions as their second draft choice.

MVP AWARD — Roger Ruminski, Walled Lake's All-County and All-State tackle, will receive The Pontiac Press-Thom McAn Bronze Shoe Award for being named Oakland County's outstanding high school football player in 1964.

Viking Tackle Gets a 'Boot'

Football honors continue to flow in for Walled Lake's All-State tackle Roger Ruminski.

Ruminski, an All - Oakland County selection and a member of nearly everybody's All-State teams, today was awarded the 1964 Thom McAn Bronze Shoe by The Pontiac Press.

The McAn award came at the same time that another former Walled Lake player, John Van Sicklen, a tackle at Iowa State, was accorded All-America honors when the Associated Press named him to the first team on defense.

The Bronze Shoe award is given annually to the outstanding senior football player in the county.

The recipient is selected on the basis of his football ability, leadership and academic achievement.

SCHOLARSHIP

With the award, Ruminski now becomes eligible to compete for a $1,000 scholarship given by the Thom McAn organization.

★ ★ ★

The 6-4, 260-pound Ruminski led Walled Lake to the Inter-Lakes League championship and an 8-1 over-all record.

He averaged more than 14 tackles a game and cleared the path for the Vikings' runners.

"He's a very, very fine young man and an outstanding football player," says Viking coach Dave Smith.

"He's got everything it takes to make a success," Smith continued," . . . . physical ability and brains . . . . he'll make a go of anything he does."

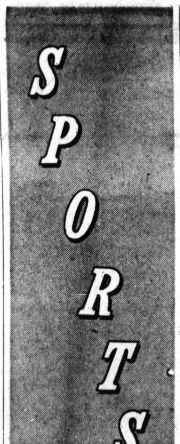
GOOD STUDENT

Ruminski, a B-minus student, has been wooed by a number of the top universities in the nation. Among them are Notre Dame, Michigan and Michigan State.

★ ★ ★

Smith was equally lavish in his praise of Van Sicklen, who was an All-Oakland County selection in 1960.

"He's just a heckuva a player," says Smith. "He's very quick for a big man . . . real good lateral movement."



AAU Convention Must Select New President

HOUSTON (AP) — Jay-Ehert Mahoney took most of the delegates at the annual Amateur Athletic Union convention by surprise when he said he didn't want a second term as president.

★ ★ ★

This leaves the convention with the job of naming a new president. And the man they pick will be the one who will be stepping into the thick of the AAU-National Collegiate Athletic Association squabble.

Clifford H. Buck of Denver, Colo., a retired division manager for a sporting goods firm, appears to be in line for the post since he is first vice president. the first vice president has stepped up the last three times a president was elected.

Until Thursday, there seemed to be little doubt Mahoney would be head of the AAU another year. Many thought he could even keep the job by acclamation.

LAW FIRM

He said, however, that "the press of private business" had forced him not to consider another term at this time. He has a law firm in New York.

Mahoney said the argument between the AAU and the NCAA over sanctioning of open track events had nothing to do with his decision.

Jeremiah T. Mahoney, the present president's father, was the only previous AAU president not to serve consecutive terms. His father stepped down in 1936, but was reelected a year later.

The election of a successor will be conducted at the closing session on Sunday.

Young LA Golfer in Tourney Lead

MONTEBELLO, Calif. (AP) — Ray Botts has posted a 68 for the second half of the field to shoot at as it tees off today in the 19th Montebello Open Golf Tournament.

★ ★ ★

Botts, a youthful Los Angeles pro, had nines of 35-33 as he and the rest of the first contingent opened the 54-hole contest Thursday.

Bob Duden, Portland, Ore., fired a 36-35—71; Bill Spiller, Los Angeles, 39-33—72, and amateur Jerry Preuss, Los Angeles 39-33—72.

College, Pro Stars Honored

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Glen Ressler, Penn State linebacker, and Johnny Unitas, star quarterback of the Baltimore Colts, were named winners of Maxwell Memorial Club football awards Thursday.

Ressler, a 230-pounder from Dornsife, Pa., will be honored as the outstanding college football player of 1964, while Unitas, for the second time, will receive the Bert Bell Award as the top National Football League performer.

Palmer in Front

U.S. Tied in 'Cup' Field

KAANAPALI, MAUI, Hawaii (AP) — A dispatch on golf from this exotic isle in Hawaii is not much different from one filed stateside. That is to say, Arnold Palmer led the way into the second round of the Canada Cup matches Friday and the United States was tied for the team lead with South Africa.

★ ★ ★

The American Masters champion and Jack Nicklaus combined to lead their nation in the all-important team competition, Palmer with a six-under-par 66 and Nicklaus an even par 72 for a total of 138.

South Africa's Gary Player and his less known partner, Denis Hutchinson, each shot a 69 for the same 138, and but for at least two unhappy shots, would have led through the first 18 holes.

STIFF FIGHT

Promising a stiff fight for the Canada Cup, as play continued over the green slopes and hills of the Royal Kaanapali golf course, Argentina was third at 140, Hawaii next at 141, trailed by the Philippines, 142, and Brazil, 143.

Stretched out behind were twosomes from a total of 32 nations, and Hawaii and Puerto Rico entered in this international good will event.

★ ★ ★

Palmer toured the par 36-36—72 challenge in 33-33—66 in a round that included trips to two traps, six birdies and an eagle.

Palmer closed out his birdie string on No. 16 with a putt that traveled an estimated 118 feet — Arnie's estimate, confirmed by Nicklaus. Maybe it was only 85, but who was to argue.

Palmer and Nicklaus finished first, in company with Hawaii's strong pair of Ted Makalena, 69, and Paul Scodeller, 72. Much later Nationalist China's Chen Ching Po checked in with an individual 68, which is about par for a man well known in the Orient if not in the United States.

The main drama came when Player made the turn in 32 and Hutchinson in 34. Here was a threat to Palmer and Nicklaus.

But Player, playing his first tournament in two months, fell victim at a water hole, No. 14, and took a double bogey 6.

Bears-Packers Meet in NFL 'Appetizer'

By The Associated Press

A year ago it would have been The Big One, this game between the Chicago Bears and the Green Bay Packers, but now it just serves as an appetizer for the Cards-Browns clash.

The Cleveland Browns, long-time also-rans in the East, can clinch their divisional title with a victory over St. Louis in the National Football League's top attraction Sunday, while the Cards must win to keep alive their paper-thin hopes.

★ ★ ★

Chicago and Green Bay, 1-2 in the West last season, are out of title contention now—Baltimore has clinched it—but each is in the running for the No. 2 position and a spot in the Pro Bowl game.

They play in a nationally-televised game in Chicago Saturday, a game the schedule makers probably figured would be the top test of the week. But that was before the revival of the Baltimore Colts.

Baltimore has an 11-1 record. Green Bay is second at 7-5 while Chicago, at 5-7, is one of five Western teams still in the running for the No. 2 spot.

THREE STRAIGHT

Both Green Bay and Chicago have shown marked improvement in the last few weeks. The Bears have won three straight, including a 27-24 decision over Detroit Thanksgiving Day. Green Bay has won two straight, 28-21 over Cleveland and 45-21 over Dallas.

The Packers, who beat Chicago 23-12 on opening day, can sew up their second straight trip to the Pro Bowl by winning their last two games.

★ ★ ★

And Cleveland, which has finished second or third for five years, can clinch the Eastern title with a victory at St. Louis Sunday. The Cards can finish no worse than second.

The rest of the Sunday schedule has Detroit at Baltimore, Los Angeles at San Francisco, Minnesota at New York, Pittsburgh at Washington and Dallas at Philadelphia.

Norm Grabs Scoring Lead in League

DETROIT (AP) — It could be that the Detroit Red Wings with old pro Norm Ullman showing the way, just may be serious in their bid for the lead in the National Hockey League.

★ ★ ★

Ullman, in his 10th NHL season, sparked the Wings to a 4-2 victory over hapless Boston Thursday night, increasing Detroit's leading margin to three points and extending their unbeaten string to five straight.

Montreal stormed over Toronto 4-2 in the only other game played, moving the Canadiens into a tie with the Leafs for second place, each with 23 points. Detroit, which has picked up eight points in its last five games, now has 26.

SCORING LEADER

Ullman, a 28-year-old center, assisted on Detroit's last three goals and took over the individual scoring lead. He now has 24 points, one up on Chicago's idle Bobby Hull.

The Wings, however, had some troubles. The Bruins' Murray Oliver shocked them with a goal just 61 seconds deep into the game and they didn't recover until the middle period.

★ ★ ★

But when they did recover, it was all over. They harvested four goals out of a 22-shot barrage, with Pit Martin, Floyd Smith, Gary Bergman and Parker MacDonald the marksmen. It was Bergman's first NHL goal and MacDonald's 100th.

Johnny Bucyk got the other Boston goal.

★ ★ ★

The Canadiens, who now have a three-game winning string going, wasted little time against the Leafs, building a 4-0 lead and coasting in.

Dave Balon and Jean Beliveau scored in the second period and Bobby Rousseau and Jim Roberts added to the margin before Toronto's Dave Keon and Ron Ellis broke through in the last 12 minutes.

Huge Stadium Suggested by Lions' Owner

DETROIT (AP) — Construction of an 80,000 permanent seat multi-purpose stadium for football and baseball games in Detroit was proposed Thursday by William Clay Ford, owner of the Detroit Lions football team.

★ ★ ★

Ford has sent letters to Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh and Michigan Gov. George Romney, asking if they would join in creating a stadium authority.

Ford suggested the stadium be built on the State Fair Grounds at Detroit's northern limits.

Baptist Seminary After First Win

Midwestern Baptist Seminary has a two-week rest behind it and now takes aim on Grand Rapids' Baptist College as its first victim in the state Christian College Athletic Association.

★ ★ ★

The Falcons, the defending league champions in basketball, lost their first two contests. They will visit Grand Rapids for a 3:30 p.m. tilt Saturday with tough Baptist College.

The Pontiac area's other league entrant, Michigan Christian Junior College, will be idle this week. The Warriors also dropped their first two MCCAA games this year.

U. S. Player, Aussie Win Doubles Match

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)— Billie Jean Moffitt of Long Beach, Calif., and her partner, Robyn Ebbern of Australia, won their women's doubles match in the Victorian Tennis Championship at the Kooyong courts today.

★ ★ ★

They defeated Fay Marriott and Sue Crapper of Australia 7-5, 6-3.

In men's singles, Neale Fraser of Australia, former Wimbledon champion, was hard-pressed to turn back Jan Hajer of Holland, 4-6, 9-7, 5-7, 8-6, 6-4.

Market Advance in Third Day

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market posted a slight gain in moderately active trading early today.

It was the third straight day of advance after six losing sessions.

★ ★ ★

Gains and losses by key issues were narrow.

RCA, which declared a 10 per cent stock dividend and a 10-cent special dividend, opened up ¾ at 36 on a block of 20,000 shares. It later increased its rise to a point.

ANNOUNCEMENT

After announcing that shipments to customers of most models in its new 360 computer line will begin several months earlier than originally scheduled, International Business Machines gained 4 points.

U. S. Steel and Jones & Laughlin made gains of about half a point. Chrysler was ahead by a minor fraction.

★ ★ ★

Opening blocks included Mack Truck, off 1⅛ at 35 on 10,000 shares; and Chrysler, up ⅛ at 60¼ on 1,500.

Thursday the Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 1.3 to 324.4.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange.

Shot to Mars Does 'Twist'

Space Maneuver Is Delayed for 24 Hours

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Mariner 4 cruised smoothly toward Mars today as its earthbound mentors prepared to give it a gentle kick in the pants that could mean success or failure in history's first interplanetary race.

The "kick in the pants" will be a short burst from a small rocket in the base of the 575-pound spacecraft, to be ordered by radio as Mariner 4 passes over Jet Propulsion Laboratory's Goldstone, Calif., tracking station about 8 a.m.

★ ★ ★

At that time Mariner 4, launched Saturday, will be 1,084,344 miles from earth, apparently still well ahead of the Soviet Union's Mars-bound Zond 2, and 123,594,864 miles from Mars.

Last report from Moscow placed the Soviet craft, launched Monday, 443,750 miles from earth at 11 a.m. Wednesday.

EVERY 4 HOURS

At 12 noon Wednesday — the nearest comparative time, because Mariner 4's position is figured every four hours — the U.S. craft was 771,263 miles from earth.

Firing of its 50-pound-thrust liquid-fuel rocket was planned to increase Mariner 4's speed from 7,048 to almost 7,100 m.p.h.

★ ★ ★

Just before the firing, tiny jets of steam were to roll the spacecraft and point it more directly at Mars. Hopefully, the burst would send it past Mars at a distance of about 8,600 miles next July 14, with a chance to snap the best pictures yet of the mysterious planet's surface.

3 Fidel Aides Said Arrested

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A Cuban underground radio message said Fidel Castro has arrested three of his cabinet ministers.

The message, released by the Citizens Committee for a Free Cuba Thursday, also mentioned gunfire in the presidential palace at Havana.

★ ★ ★

It coincided with accounts by recently arrived refugees of unrest in Cuba, of rumors of plots against Castro and of a possible power struggle within Cuba's Communist party.

Pauth Paul Bethel executive secretary of the citizens committee, said the palace shooting apparently was the one reported in a Dec. 1 Havana dispatch by New York Times correspondent Juan De Onis. This mentioned a "reliable report of a shooting within the presidential palace in which the head of the security guard for President Osvaldo Dorticos was killed."

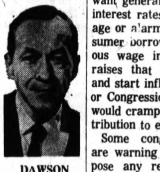
Johnson Plan Neat Barring Any Jolts

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK—It's a neat trick President Johnson is asking businessmen and bankers and the Congress to help him achieve. And to work, the trick requires that nothing about it jolts either business or consumer confidence. A misstep could be dangerous.



DAWSON

What the President is outlining in his plea to the Business Council, composed of leading industrialists and financiers, is higher interest rates on some loans but not on others; further business growth without too much of a rise in prices and wages; a bit more government spending, along with lower taxes, without any overheating of the economy because of the deficit financing implied.

★ ★ ★

The President quickly got help from Boston. Its First National Bank rescinded a boost in its prime interest rate announced Tuesday.

A chief danger as many economists see it is that any of the President's objectives, if they falter or are misconstrued, might make businessmen and consumer wonder if the long period of prosperity could be in danger of ending.

TRIP BALANCE

Such doubts might trip the delicate balance built to a considerable extent on confidence in still better days ahead. Business expansion planning, consumer buying intentions, financial policies, all are tied to this confidence which has been growing until recent days.

To main that confidence seems one reason President Johnson stresses that he doesn't want general increases in bank interest rates lest they discourage or alarm business and consumer borrowers, or too generous wage increases and price raises that could be catching and start inflation rolling again, or Congressional measures that would cramp government's contribution to economic growth.

Some congressional leaders are warning that they will oppose any reduction in excise taxes or increased appropriations that aren't balanced off by cuts in other expenditures proposed in the federal budget now being readied by the White House.

The appeal to bankers to hold the interest rate line comes from the uncertainty this week after federal monetary authorities boosted the rates on short-term money. The aim is to make yields on such loans attractive enough to prevent dollars flowing overseas because the British have raised their rates still higher.

KEEP RATE HIGH

The trick is to keep this short-term rate high here without boosting interest charges on the longer-term loans that are used for business expansion and consumer purchases. The nation's banks have been pondering how long they can hold the line on what they charge their customers, now that they must pay more for lendable funds they borrow from Federal Reserve banks.

★ ★ ★

Both the President and Federal Reserve Board Chairman William McChesney Martin assure the bankers —and also the would-be borrowers — that plenty of funds will be made available for continued economic growth. Any excess of such funds would tend to curb bank tendencies to raise interest rates.

★ ★ ★

The trick will be in keeping short-term money here by higher yields and at the same time narrow the spread between such rates and those on long-term loans. And beyond that the trick is to keep businessmen and consumers from wondering if there really is some hidden worry that the promised economic growth might be less certain than previously supposed.

$ Successful Investing $

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q) "I am wondering what your opinion is of tax-exempt bond funds. My husband is well over the $10,000 bracket, and we would like to reduce our income taxes on earnings and stock holdings." R. R.

A) All of the tax-exempt bond funds seem perfectly sound, although some have a tendency to buy rather heavily into special revenue bonds, which pay higher yields. Then, there is, of course, the question of sales fees to be reckoned with.

Many people will do about as well buying tax-exempts directly, since diversification in this strong field is not so important as elsewhere.

I suggest the purchase of State of California 3½'s due 11/1/92 to yield 3.40 per cent. These bonds are rated AA, and default of any sort appears inconceivable to me. Your taxable equivalent return would be relatively high.

★ ★ ★

Q) "I'd like a little help in the proper investing of a $6,000 legacy received at age 60, 5 years before retirement on pension. I would like to put equal dollar amounts in certain of the stocks I have listed. I am interested solely in growth. We have adequate cash reserves." E. B.

A) Of the soap and cosmetic stocks you list, my choice would be Bristol-Myers—also in pharmaceuticals — which has compiled a strong and consistent record of growth.

In your food group, I would select Consolidated Foods, an excellent vehicle for capital enhancement. Pennsylvania Power & Light has moved ahead steadily and I commend it to you.

Sears, Roebuck — which recently proposed a stock split and increased its dividends—is the only other issue you list which I can recommend strongly.

To make up the balance, I suggest Texaco and Procter & Gamble.

Baker Investigation Shifts to Witness GOP Stressed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators investigating an alleged political payoff shift sights today to question a witness Republicans once wanted to ask about the role a German beauty played in the Bobby Baker case.

Paul Aguirre, who has business interests in Puerto Rico, was scheduled among the opening witnesses on what could be the windup day of this round of the Senate Rules Committee investigation.

In a minority report filed after the committee's first hearings into the outside business activities of Baker, former secretary to Senate Democrats, the Republican members said: "The minority unsuccessfully fought to have Mr. Paul Aguirre called as a witness.

FINANCIAL INTERESTS

"Aguirre could have been asked what part Ellen Rometsch, or other like individuals, had in the promotion of Baker's financial interests or dealings with government officials, government contracts, and others.

"He could have been asked what interests Baker had, or sought to acquire for himself or others, in housing, gambling concessions, and other enterprises in the Caribbean area."

Mrs. Rometsch is the former wife of a soldier once attached to the West German Embassy here. She was a hostess in a luncheon club in which Baker was interested. She has returned to Europe.

Seven other witnesses were scheduled today, including Milton L. Hauft, who once made out income tax returns for Baker and Don B. Reynolds.

'BAG MAN'

Reynolds has testified he was the "bag man" for Baker and Philadelphia contractor Matthew H. McCloskey in a deal to siphon $25,000 into the 1960 Democratic campaign fund from the McCloskey firm's contract to build the District of Columbia Stadium.

McCloskey, former ambassador to Ireland and Democratic fund raiser, testified he knew nothing about such a deal.

Testimony Thursday was interrupted by a shouting match between Lennox P. McLendon, special committee counsel, and Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del. Williams triggered this round of the Baker investigation by charging last September in a Senate speech there had been a political payoff.

After Thursday's flareup, Williams stalked out of the hearings and said he wouldn't be back.

NOT ON COMMITTEE

The Delaware senator is not a member of the committee, but has been advising Republican members in the often politically tinged and frequently stormy hearings.

Cong Tax Collectors Nabbed in Copter Raid

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. helicopters swooped down on three Viet Cong men collecting taxes on the main highway west of Saigon, yesterday and captured them, a U.S. spokesman reported today.

The Americans were dispatched to the scene during an operation near Boi Loi Forest in which 43 Viet Cong were captured and four killed.

Taylor Goes Back to Air Viet Steps

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U. S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor was on his way back to Saigon today to discuss with South Vietnamese officials joint steps to improve the struggle against Communist insurgents.

Administration officials kept a tight lid on the nature of measures to be proposed.

Taylor, talking with newsmen at the White House yesterday, declined to say whether bombing of Communist supply routes or bases outside South Viet Nam was discussed in his Washington talks.

The ambassador said he did not want to put undue emphasis on any phase of the talks. "We talked about all aspects of the situation . . . you can draw your own conclusions," he said.

He said he did not feel any more U.S. manpower was needed in South Viet Nam beyond the 20,000 American military "advisers" already there.

BEGIN TALKS

The ambassador said he expected to arrive in Saigon Sunday and begin talks with Vietnamese officials Monday.

He said his Washington talks with President Johnson and Cabinet officials during the past week focused on two problems.

One, he said, was the continued political instability in Saigon.

The second was the "continued ability of North Viet Nam to reinforce the Viet Cong."

The White House on Tuesday issued a statement which also called attention to North Vietnamese aid and cited "accumulating evidence" that it had been increased and that more North Vietnamese troops had been infiltrating into Laos and through Laos into South Viet Nam.
