Pontiac's 1961 assessed valuation has been set at $290,254,000, a $9,120,800 increase over last year that apparently is enough to bear the proposed 1961 tax rate of $13.60 for every $1,000 of assessed valuation.

City Assessor Edward C. Bloe announced the final figures today after totaling the reductions made by the board of review over the past month.

The reductions, Bloe said, totaled $997,800 and were wholly applied to the assessing department's recommendations on real property.

Recount Looms for College Post

Adams Now Leading Richman by 510 Votes
for Wayne Governor

DETROIT (UP)—The possibility of a recount loomed large today in the contest for one of the two Wayne State University Board of Governors posts on Michigan's spring ballot.

The final unofficial Associated Press tabulation showed Republican Thomas B. Adams, an advertising company president from Bloomfield Hills, leading Democrat Ralph E. Richman of Holland by 510 votes.

Adams, 41, president of Detroit's Campbell Ewald Co., polled 696 votes in Monday's election to Richman's 696,573, according to the unofficial count which was not completed until Wednesday.

Richman, 71, an insurance man, said today the possibility of his asking for a recount is "something I would have to give some thought to."

"If the official canvass shows a similar margin," he said, "I can assure you I will give a recount the most careful consideration."

Adams, in Washington on a business trip, said to the Capital "We are extremely glad we have won such a close contest. We are looking forward to confirmation of the victory by the State Board of Canvassers."

"I am grateful to all the men and women who supported me. I hope they are pleased with the outcome," he added.

Adams' assumption of the lead in the unofficial tabulation reversed the positions of the rivals of a day earlier.

The board of canvassers must complete its checking by 11 a.m. after an election, according to Michigan law, and must report the results within 24 hours after the official tabulation is complete.

Many of the smaller counties already have completed their official canvass, with most of the remaining slated for completion by early next week.

Richman's runner-up position was contrary to a general Democratic victory on the state ballot. The Democrats won seven of nine partisan races on the ballot, securing the positions of State Highways Commissioner John C. Mackie and State Superintendent of Public Instruction Dr. Lynn M. Bartlett.

The other Wayne State University Board of Governors' seat went to incumbent Dr. DeWitt T. Burton, a Democrat.

Paul Gobel, former Grand Republican, was the only other Republican to win in a partisan race, securing a seat on the University of Michigan Board of Regents. He defeated former Chrysler executive James C. Zeller of Bloomfield Hills.

Romney to Seek Con-Con Post if CFM Agrees

DETROIT (UP)—George Romney of 1330 E. Valley, Bloomfield Hills, chairman of Citizens for Michigan, said today that he will seek election as a delegate to the state constitutional convention if the non-partisan Citizens for Michigan (CFM) which he heads has no objection.

"I personally would consider it a great privilege to be permitted to serve as a delegate," Romney who is president of American Motors Corp., said. "However, I will make no decision on this question pending the scheduled April 15 meeting of the board of directors of Citizens for Michigan."

Romney said he will not feel free to make a decision on his candidacy until the CFM board has had an opportunity for "full consideration of the implications of such a move for Citizens for Michigan."

The citizens group was one of the major backers of a convention to consider revision of Michigan's constitution, which is 35-year-old.

India Is Asked to Reactivate Board for Laos

LONDON (UPI) — Authoritative diplomatic sources said today Britain and Russia are working out "practical arrangements" for the ending of hostilities in Laos, including a joint appeal for a cease fire.

They said representatives of the two nations are drafting a letter to the Indian Premier Jawaharlal Nehru, calling for reactivation of the three-member international supervisory commission for Laos.

"A sufficiently great measure of agreement has now been reached in the diplomatic talks in Moscow to allow both sides to work out the practical arrangements for the projected peace moves in great detail," the sources said.

Final agreement has not yet been achieved, but the sources said that an accord is almost "in the bag."

The Russians were authoritatively reported to be showing good will in the confidential talks which are being conducted in Moscow by British Ambassador Sir Frank Roberts.

Stops Showing of Film

LANSING (UP)—Public showings of two controversial films by the state police subversive activities squad were ordered discontinued today by Gov. Swainson.

The films — "Operation Abolition" and "Communism on the Map" — have been shown to four high schools in the state and a number of private groups by the state police unit.

Would Beef Up NATO Forces

Johnson Says Alliance Needs Regular Arms
Before N-Power

PARIS (UP)—Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson said today the North Atlantic Treaty Organization needs an effective nuclear capability but the building up of the alliance's nonnuclear forces is a "high priority task."

In a speech marking the 10th anniversary of the founding of NATO military headquarters here, Johnson served notice that the Kennedy administration intends to press first for greater conventional forces to beef up the alliance.

Johnson added that "an effective NATO nuclear capability is also needed to achieve our goal and the United States stands ready to consult with all members of the alliance on the best ways and means of maintaining this capability in the future."

Informants say that the Kennedy administration has shown no enthusiasm for any plan to give atomic weapons to NATO under any kind of complicated multination control.

At present all the NATO nuclear arms are under U.S. control only, or under joint two-power control as in the case of U.S. rocket bases in Britain.

Johnson also called on America's European allies to step up political and economic integration and pledged the full support of the United States and President Kennedy in strengthening the Atlantic community.

JFK, Macmillan to Cruise and Talk

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Kennedy, visiting British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan focused their allied policy charting on the crisis in Southeast Asia today.

They planned particularly for negotiations with Russia and Red China on a permanent settlement in Laos.

The two leaders worked separately at the White House and the British Embassy, their foreign policy chiefs met at the State Department to review the progress of the British-American talks so far and get ready for the final rounds this afternoon and Saturday morning.

At a Potomac River dock the 92-foot presidential cabin cruiser was made ready for this afternoon's Kennedy-Macmillan meeting.

'We'll Fight It,' Says Dr. Finch

Lovers Sentenced to
Get Parole in 7 Years

LOS ANGELES (AP)—"We'll fight it, we'll still live," Dr. W. E. Finch, convicted of murdering his wife, said today.

Finch and his wife, Dr. R. Bernard Finch, were sentenced to life in prison for the murder of their 13-year-old daughter, Carol, who was found dead in a swimming pool.

Finch and Carol were convicted of murdering the 13-year-old girl, who was found dead in a swimming pool.

Finch, 43, dropped his head on his folded arms and cried out the counsel table in the packed courtroom was wet with tears.

Then he said to his attorney: "Thank God, thank God."

Cost $750,000

Over three trials, a year and a half of suspense and an estimated $750,000 of taxpayers' money, did one of the most publicized murder cases of recent years come to a dramatic conclusion.

Under California law, Finch and his now plumpish paramour will be eligible for parole, depending on their prison record, in seven years—1967.

The two men and their advisers were scheduled to board the cruiser "Honey Fitz" in mid-afternoon and spend two to three hours conferring on the Laos crisis, the Communist threat in South Vietnam, nuclear tests, disarmament.

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Kennedy and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of Germany will meet at the White House next Wednesday and Thursday, diplomatic informants said today.

And other issues in the Cold War conflict between the Communist bloc and the Western powers.

The two Western leaders, in the second day of their Washington conference, were reported optimistic about Soviet agreement to a guaranteed cease fire in the Laotian civil war.

They were expected to agree that once the fighting ends they should focus their efforts on unifying and neutralizing Laos, forthcoming international conference on the future of the Southeast Asian kingdom.

Kennedy and Macmillan, in fact were described as substantially agreed in their positions on a wide range of world problems—with one notable exception in the case of United Nations membership for Red China.

Their differences on this point could lead to trouble between the United States and Britain at next fall's meeting of the U. N. General Assembly.

But the President and prime minister indicated a determination to do everything possible to minimize the rift.

They discussed the Red China issue at the White House Wednesday in a series of meetings which began at 11 a.m. and continued until after 6 p.m.

MEETING USEFUL

U. S. and British officials subsequently described the consultation as "most valuable and useful" in providing a basis for strengthening allied cooperation in many fields, despite the inability of either Kennedy or Macmillan to do anything to narrow the differences on Red China.

The second day of British-American talks on worldwide problems got under way today with a forenoon meeting between Secretary of State Dean Rusk and British Foreign Minister Lord Home.

Macmillan spent the morning at the British Embassy attending to British government business, aides said.

The prime minister arranged to attend a congressional luncheon before resuming his meeting with President Kennedy—this time about the presidential yacht.

Mrs. Norfänger of 433 Highland Road, Drayton Plains, served as Waterford chairman during the 1960 campaign and served as district chairman the preceding two years. She was also active with the Greater Lansing United Fund for three years.

"I am pleased with my appointment and feel confident that the Women's Division will exceed its 1961 goal just as it has done every year since 1950," said Mrs. Norfänger.

The Women's Division with a working team of 2,000 women raised $7,000 for agencies supported by the Pontiac Area United Fund in the Waterford and Pontiac areas last year.

Mrs. Norfänger attends the Central Methodist Church in Pontiac, is active in the Waterford Republican Group, and is a board member of the Camp Fire Girls. Both she and Mr. Norfänger are members of the Capharn Dance Group.

Appointments of Pontiac, Waterford, and Lake Angelus co-chairmen in the Women's Division will be announced in the near future by Mrs. Norfänger, who will be attending Women's Division Planning Sessions the next few weeks.

Yearly Hike of $37 Million Is Authorized

Increase Will Result in Average Combined
Boost of 16.2 Per Cent

LANSING (UP)—State Insurance Commissioner Frank Blackford today authorized a $37-million yearly increase in Blue Cross and Blue Shield insurance rates.

The increase, effective June 1, would grant a $28-million increase to Blue Cross and a $9 million increase to Blue Shield.

In Detroit, Blue Cross-Blue Shield said the hikes will result in an average combined increase of 16.2 per cent to subscribers. New rates will scale from $8.12 a month for one person to $23.01 for a full family.

Blackford said the increases bring the total rate boost for Blue Cross since 1955 to 88.1 per cent and for Blue Shield a total of 56.3 per cent.

Blue Shield got a 10 per cent hike. It had requested an $11 million increase.

Blackford said:

DECISION NOT EASY

"Undoubtedly our action in approving an increase in the cost of Blue Shield-Blue Cross coverage will be critically received by many of our citizens.

"The decision was not an easy one. It was made more difficult by a realization of its impact on older citizens with limited incomes, and the unemployment."

In the absence of any substitute program to meet the health needs of the 3.5-million Blue Cross-Blue Shield subscribers," he said, "we are compelled to recognize our responsibility to maintain the solvency of both corporations so that they may meet their obligations to their subscribers."

He said that in the past year coverage have been granted in New York, Maryland, New Jersey, Ohio and Pennsylvania, in most cases even larger than the increases in Michigan.

"We recognize that this is small consolation to those who must dig deeper to pay the increase and those who must contemplate dropping their coverage because of inability to pay."

"Still, we would not be justified in depriving those who are willing and able to pay for such coverage from a chance to get it. An arbitrary or capricious denial (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Red Technicians Annoyed in Cuba; Quit, Head Home

From Our News Wire
HAVANA — Communist technicians sent here to train Cubans in their specialties were reported today to be heading for home, disgruntled by the inefficiency of Premier Fidel Castro's government.
Seven aviation instructors from Red Czechoslovakia left Monday, telling friends they had found it impossible to work under the "inefficient direction" of the Castroites.

Dag Puts Fate in U.N. Hands

Gives Standing Offer to Resign, but Majority Not Likely to Accept

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld left his fate in the hands of the United Nations General Assembly today with a standing offer to resign, but there seemed no prospect that a majority of the members would accept.

Hammarskjöld made his show-down move during the assembly's Congo debate Wednesday in an obvious maneuver to take the sting out of repeated Soviet block demands that he step down. Judging from the applause he received at the close of his unscheduled address, most delegates want him to stay on.
Hammarskjöld, who has been under mounting Communist attack since Soviet Premier Khrushchev demanded his resignation last fall, stood by his previous vow not to yield to the Red demand unless the assembly asks him to quit.

The U.N. executive also made clear he would consider silence from the assembly to mean he should remain in office.

EXPLAINS STAND
He told the delegates: "I do not consider that I am entitled to present the General Assembly with a fait accompli, resigning because I have been requested to do so by a big power and its like-minded supporters."
On the other hand, I regard the will of the General Assembly in this respect as my law, and the General Assembly may thus consider itself as seized with a standing offer of resignation. It is to find it to be in the interest of the organization that I leave."

But, he added, if the assembly does not ask for his resignation, he must conclude that "you neither expect me to proceed on the basis of that offer, nor desire any possibility it opens."
Hammarskjöld's term of office does not expire until April 1962.

Elsewhere in the U.N. Yugoslavia and 14 Asian-African nations proposed that the General Assembly threaten Belgium with punitive action if it does not pull all Belgian military men and political advisers out of the Congo within three weeks.

Another group of Czechs assigned as advisers to the National Bank of Foreign Commerce left recently, saying they could not work with the "undisciplined Cubans."

A Russian team overseeing the construction of a cement factory near Matanzas pulled out without explanation, leaving the job half done.

The Cuban government said today it had put down an "uprising" in Oriente Province despite aid to Castro forces from the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo.

A communique from the armed forces ministry said eight persons, including two militiamen, were killed and more than 100 counter-revolutionaries captured in a series of skirmishes in the Western Cuban province over the past two months.

USES 'NEW' WORD

For the first time the government used the word "uprising" to describe armed attacks by rebel groups.

Oriente province was the cradle of Castro's revolution and once the source of his main popular support.

Firing squads executed two more men in Le Capiano today, raising to 60 the unofficial tally of persons executed by Prime Minister Fidel Castro's regime since he took power on Jan. 1, 1959.

They were condemned by separate military tribunals Wednesday night.

24 OFF TO PRISON
The two tribunals also sentenced 24 persons to prison for terms ranging from 6 to 20 years on charges of counter-revolutionary activities.

Saboteurs were blamed for a $5-million loss Wednesday night in one of Cuba's largest sugar mills, formerly the American-owned Hershey mill, 40 miles east of Havana.

Russ Plan May Wreck N-Ban Negotiations

From Our News Wire
GENEVA — The Soviet delegate to the three-power nuclear test ban talks announced today his government will insist the system to police an agreement must be headed by a three-man administrative committee.

Western conference sources say Soviet insistence on this demand may wreck the 2½-year-old conference at which the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union are trying to write a treaty to ban nuclear testing.

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson told the Russians on notice there will be no treaty unless Moscow drops its demands for veto powers.

"There is no point to a treaty for a treaty's sake," Johnson said in a statement to reporters before leaving for Paris.

The assistant Senate Majority Leader said the Soviet "tactics of retrogression and filibustering" in the slow-moving Geneva talks are "irresponsible and dangerous."

Named Chairman of District

Harold Wright Heads Scouts

Harold B. Wright, a veteran Pontiac scoutmaster, has been elected chairman of the Pontiac District of the Boy Scouts of America.
Wright, a former district vice chairman, was picked to succeed retiring chairman John E. Oster.

More than 215 scouters and guests saw election of officers, applauded trophy winners and listened to guest speaker Clyde Clark, deputy regional executive from the Chicago regional office.

Wright, 51, of 145 E. Huron St., a postman, has been in scouting over 22 years and is a holder of the Silver Beaver Award for distinguished service to boyhood.

Associated with Pontiac Troop 28 (Fisher Boy) as a committee man since 1938, Wright was active in the organization of the Pontiac District.

ON COMMITTEE SINCE '36
A member of the district committee since 1936, Wright was a vice chairman from 1954 to 1959.

He will include golf and tennis tournaments, fashion, beauty and flower shows, and a luncheon.

Mrs. John Nichols, chairman of the district committee for "The Pontiac Story," explained how the program was being handled.

The queen's contest to choose a "Miss Centennial" was explained by contest chairman, Mrs. S. V. Sekles. Each woman's group may enter a candidate, married or single.

Mrs. Philip Rowan explained how to get special patron tickets for the June spectacle and Mrs. Peter Hoogerhyde outlined plans for centennial caravans slated to begin June 15, weeks before the year celebration.

Plans were also discussed for International Day, June 23, and the big Centennial Costume Contest July 24.

But, as we said, it wasn't all business and festive.

A square dance group, with caller William Perry, thumped it up for the assembled ladies.

SONGS RING OUT
The Pontiac Revelers, a group from the local chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Singing in America, Inc., sang several selections under the direction of Ray Hallman.

They were followed by a SPEDQSA quartet, The Key Knights.

The temple rocked with "You'll Never Know What a Good Fellow I've Been — Until I've Gone Away" and other such ditties.

There was laughter and gaiety and one woman thought the beard-moored lady looked like the Great Gildersleeve.

Denies He Made False Theft Report

A 22-year-old salesman who Pontiac police said admitted a robbery report made to them yesterday was a hoax insisted today he really was robbed.

Charles Akers, 388 N. Perry St., told police he was robbed of $252 at gunpoint by a lone bandit Saturday night and then retraced his story rather than submit to a lie detector test yesterday, officers said.

Pontiac police would like Akers to get in touch with the department if he has information about the robbery.

Gets 1-15 Year Term for Second Break-In

A 17-year-old Pontiac youth, Leslie C. Motley, of 805 St. Clair St., was sentenced to a 1-to-15-year term in Jackson Prison yesterday by Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem.

Motley previously had been found guilty on a charge of breaking and entering a Pontiac restaurant for the second time in three months.

He was charged with the March 5 break-in of Donna's Restaurant, 801 Baldwin Ave. Motley was placed on probation in January by Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams for breaking into the same place last New Year's Eve.

City Optimists Choose President at Luncheon

The Pontiac Optimist Club today elected H. Wayne Gabert its new president, succeeding Gerald "Bud" Stark, at a noonday luncheon in the Waldron Hotel.

Other newly elected officers are: Glen Randolph, first vice president; Julian Galan, second vice president; George Tuson, secretary-treasurer; and Ralph Merkovich, sergeant-at-arms.

Gabert, 54, of 349 Auburn Ave., has operated his own household appliance retail store in Pontiac for more than 30 years.

He served as vice president of the Chamber of Commerce in 1956, and was the first chairman of the Commercial Division in the Pontiac United Fund Drive the year before.

Eichmann Is Moved
JERUSALEM, Israel (UPI) — Adolf Eichmann has been transferred to a heavily guarded cell on the top floor of the five-story building in the heart of Jerusalem where he will be tried next week for the murder of 6 million Jews in Nazi Germany, it was disclosed today.

In a joint statement, Sumner G. Whitely, executive director of Blue Cross, and William S. McNary, executive vice president of Blue Cross, said Blackford's recommendations created new problems.

"It is altogether premature even to suggest how, in the face of a lower rate than requested, the plan will be able to set aside the lower rate than requested, the plans will be able to set aside the 3 per cent reserve set forth in the commissioner's report," they said.

Blackford was accused of "white-washing" operational methods of Blue Cross and Blue Shield by Mike Marasco, vice president of United Auto Workers Local 7.

Marasco and Paul Silver, president of UAW Local 351, had fought to the State Supreme Court in their effort to block rate increases. They contended Blackford did not give adequate public hearings on the increase requests.

The death weapon has never been found.
The verdict brought a smile of relief to attorney Maxwell Keith who replaced courtly Grant Cooper as Finch's counsel in the third trial.

"LOOKED LIKE GAS"
"From the look on the jury faces when they came in, it looked like gas to me," Keith said. "The verdict couldn't be any better under the circumstances."

Cooper, who took most of the surgeon's testimony, including his home and yacht-in legal fees for the very first defense, said: "I'm very happy with this portion of the verdict."

Clifford Cral, the crusty prosecutor who masterminded all three trials, said: "We'll accept the verdict without comment. The jury has spoken."

The jurors retired to a hotel, dined on steaks and then jury foreman James Dyer read this statement to newsmen: "We as 12 individuals listened to all the testimony during the trial — the same testimony that all of you heard. When we returned to the jury room we discussed the testimony and various pertinent points and came to a decision on all counts. We feel we came to a fair and just decision. The verdicts speak for themselves."

Says Bagwell Won't Return to Post at MSU
DETROIT (UPI) — An associate of Paul D. Bagwell, the twice-defeated Republican candidate for governor, indicated today Bagwell does not intend to return to his post at Michigan State University.

The associate said Bagwell will hold a news conference here Friday to "discuss his future plans."

The Day in Birmingham

Arts and Crafts Exhibit to Be Held April 29-30

BIRMINGHAM — The annual arts and crafts exhibit at the City and Country School in Bloomfield Hills will be held April 29 and 30. It was announced today.

Parents of the school children are already preparing for the two-day "Spring Gallery."

A special feature this year will be artist craftsmen at work, demonstrating their talents in leather tooling, woodworking, glass blowing, mosaics, weaving and pottery.

Artists from the metropolitan area will display their works which will include oil paintings, water colors, sculpture and ceramics. Many of the items will be on sale. Craft materials also may be purchased at the exhibit.

John Ingalls Barnes will be the guest speaker Tuesday at the 10 a.m. meeting of the Ruth Shain class on international affairs at the Community House.

He will discuss the question "Will the Banning of Nuclear Weapons Test Insurance Pay?"

Barnes, a former counterintelligence officer with the U.S. Army in Germany, recently returned from Geneva, Switzerland, where he had access to reports on the ban talks there.

Barnes, a graduate of Cranbrook and Harvard where he majored in economics, studied political economy in Geneva after his tour of duty.

The public is invited to the meeting.

A modification in church assessments has delayed the confirmation of the rolls for the Northwest Quadrant Parking lot.

City commissioners have directed Clark Hagstrom, city assessor, to revise the rolls to relieve the assessments of four churches in the area of the parking area.

The action was taken by commissioners, who unanimously agreed to a new formula for assessing churches, because they would not use the parking lot as extensively as the businesses in the area.

Hagstrom said this is the first time churches have been involved in a parking lot assessment district. The commission set the lower rates should be granted. The assessment rolls will be submitted to court.

He described the amendment as a "united plan" and contended it would have been "unrealistic" to present the issues in any other form.

It was on the basis of Ewart's arguments that Judge Ziem dismissed the Henry-Landry suit last May. The suit was brought last April 21, just three days after voters approved the amendment $406 to $403.

Exercising his new powers, City Manager Walter K. Williams fired Henry-Landry suit last May. The issue was then appealed to the high court.

It was the decision of Circuit Judge William J. Beer, ruling in a different suit some weeks after Judge Ziem's decision.

There was a move to appeal Judge Beer's decision to the high court, but this action has been stalled pending the outcome of the Henry-Landry appeal.

Carole, Finch Get Life

The jury returned its verdict in the third trial of the slaying of Barbara Jean Finch, 36—a bullet in the back—was discovered on the lawn next to the Finch estate in suburban West Covina.

In the three trials—the first ended in jury deadlocks—Finch testified that he went to see his wife to plead for a divorce, not Mike Marasco, vice president of United Auto Workers Local 7.

Marasco and Paul Silver, president of UAW Local 351, had fought to the State Supreme Court in their effort to block rate increases. They contended Blackford did not give adequate public hearings on the increase requests.

NATIONAL WEATHER — It will be cooler tonight on the Gulf Coast and in the Eastern Mississippi Valley while warmer weather is forecast for the Central Plains. Snow flurries are expected in the Great Lakes area while the Southern states from Arizona to Georgia will have showers.

A 17-year-old Pontiac youth, Leslie C. Motley, of 805 St. Clair St., was sentenced to a 1-to-15-year term in Jackson Prison yesterday by Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem.

Motley previously had been found guilty on a charge of breaking and entering a Pontiac restaurant for the second time in three months.

He was charged with the March 5 break-in of Donna's Restaurant, 801 Baldwin Ave. Motley was placed on probation in January by Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams for breaking into the same place last New Year's Eve.

LOVERS MEET — Carole Tregoff (center) and her erstwhile lover Dr. R. Bernard Finch (right) pass each other in the crowded Los Angeles courtroom where they heard a sentence of life in prison handed down to them by a jury Wednesday. The woman at the left is a Los Angeles County deputy.

AP Photos
The jury returned its verdict in the third trial of the slaying of Barbara Jean Finch, 36—a bullet in the back—was discovered on the lawn next to the Finch estate in suburban West Covina.

In the three trials—the first ended in jury deadlocks—Finch testified that he went to see his wife to plead for a divorce, not Mike Marasco, vice president of United Auto Workers Local 7.

Marasco and Paul Silver, president of UAW Local 351, had fought to the State Supreme Court in their effort to block rate increases. They contended Blackford did not give adequate public hearings on the increase requests.

The death weapon has never been found.

"LOOKED LIKE GAS"
"From the look on the jury faces when they came in, it looked like gas to me," Keith said. "The verdict couldn't be any better under the circumstances."

Cooper, who took most of the surgeon's testimony, including his home and yacht-in legal fees for the very first defense, said: "I'm very happy with this portion of the verdict."

Clifford Cral, the crusty prosecutor who masterminded all three trials, said: "We'll accept the verdict without comment. The jury has spoken."

To Arraign City Man in Holdup of Teen

A Pontiac man charged with armed robbery in the $1.35 holdup of a Pontiac teen-ager March 26 will be arraigned in Circuit Court April 10.

Tommy Williams, 38, of 272 Hughes St., was returned to the Oakland County Jail after examination before Municipal Judge Cecil McCallister.

He was unable to furnish bond of $5,000.

Williams is charged in the holdup of Leonard F. Grant, 17, of 330 Elizabeth Lake Road, Waterford Township.

The robbery occurred early March 25 as the youth sat in a car in front of 82 Green St. waiting for a friend.

Grant said he could not understand what he was signing would be a gun concealed in his pocket.

Rules Drivers Can OK Tests Although Drunk

LANSING (AP)—A motorist picked up for drunken driving is usually still sober enough to put his legal signature on a document, says Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams.

Adams, handed down an opinion in answer to a query from Mary M. Anderson, executive secretary of the Michigan Board of Nursing. He said a motorist's signature authorizing a blood test, though he was under the influence of alcohol, would protect the nurse giving the test from a charge of assault and battery.

Usually, the opinion said, a person so heavily intoxicated that he is signing would be a gun concealed in his pocket.

Postpones Examinations of 2 on Felony Charges

Examinations of two Pontiac men facing felony charges were postponed in Municipal Court yesterday to April 12.

W. C. Conant, 35, of 456 Montague St., is charged with felonious assault, with a motor vehicle against a policeman as well as a drunken driving charge stemming from an incident March 19. John E. Merritt, 21, of 35 Nebraska St., is charged with assault with intent to murder in the beating of a nurse March 23 in the World War II building parking lot of Pontiac General Hospital.

Nozi Spy to Be 'Keelied' HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—The story of the activities of famed German spy Alexandra Bastenager of a nurse March 23 in the World War II building parking lot of Pontiac General Hospital.

Plunging by the Public Could Hurt Sound Investors

Fast-Buck Fever Making Stock Brokers Win

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst NEW YORK (AP)—The yen to make a fast buck is an old American characteristic. But if its devotees turn in droves from the stock window at the race tracks to the stock brokerage offices there's always the danger that should they guess wrong they can hurt more than just themselves.

A boom built in part on plain ignorance and greed could lead to a bust that would harm the sound investors in American business.

That is why alarms are being sounded today. How much good these warnings will do is debatable. The yen sometimes feeds on warnings, mistaking them for indications that the big boys expect rising prices to go on indefinitely.

Some brokers are now viewing with less than whole-hearted enthusiasm the rush of the general public into the stock market.

The brokers appreciate the increased volume of commissions they get on a seven-million share day on the New York Stock Exchange. But when a lot of their new customers seem ignorant of the nature of the stocks they want bought, the brokers remember other years when such plunging by novices led to unhappiness for all.

At first this year's heavy trading in stocks was attributed to big investors picking up bargains, or preparing for the expected business recovery, or perhaps hedging against feared revival of inflation.

Big investment institutions, various funds and others with money piling up, were said to be doing much of the buying—at least most of the wise buying.

Of late it's evident that the general public is in there plunging. Some of this buying—perhaps a majority of it—is done on just as sound reasoning as that used by professionals guiding the purchasing for the pension funds, the mutual funds, the trust holdings.

But for those who are just out looking for a fast buck—without much of an idea as where it can be found beyond some vague tip picked up somewhere—advice is now pouring in.

The Securities and Exchange Commission proposes curbs on the exuberance of the advertising of some of the 1,600 investment advisers registered with it, and on uncounted others who may be collecting fees for such advice.

The SEC seems to think some of these ads appeal too strongly to the yen to make a fast buck.

G. Keith Funston, president of the New York Stock Exchange, urges the uninformed who seem to be rushing headlong into the market to exercise at least as much care in selecting a stock as they would in buying a car. He thinks the majority of investors are following sound practice. But he thinks some newcomers are plunging without knowing what they are buying.

In March 1959 the exchange issued a warning to member firms against allowing "reckless speculation by the uninformed". The market was on a buying spree then, too. Prices kept on rising. But then less than a year later the market was registering a sharp and general break.

Trading on the exchange went above the seven-million share level this week for the 17th time in its history. It has topped six million shares 47 times. The highest volume was 16,410,030 shares Oct. 28, 1929, at the start of the Great Depression.

Many more shares are listed on the exchange now—more than 65 billion today, a gain of 4 billion in the last 10 years. Today's volume looks less awesome with that in mind.

Oppose Easing Tax on Underground Ore

LANSHING UP—Three Upper Peninsula representatives have gone on record in opposition to a House bill aimed at easing the tax on underground benefited iron ore.

The spokesmen expressed their views here Wednesday at a hearing on the bill before the House General Taxation Committee. Rep. Dominic Jacobetti, D-Negamee, termed the measure "an attempted steal" by the mine companies.

There was no immediate committee decision on whether or not to report the bill out for debate on the House floor.

Additional Comments on Recent Elections

Additional election notes . . . Another township has done away with its annual meeting. After five persons joined the township board at its annual session Saturday, Oxford voters abolished the meeting Monday. Sixteen of the 24 townships still hold them. Many new township residents are unaware of this annual change to actively participate in their local government.

Both Waterford and White Lake Township got voter approval to set up planning boards to help guide their future growth. This is a progressive step which other growing areas might well consider. Planning boards can head off lots of the problems that come with population expansion, especially spot zoning requests.

In Walled Lake, the voters rewarded two men who led the move for revamping assessment procedures. RICHARD WATKINS and CLYDE MORTON led the field of five candidates.

Another indication of townships and cities in transition, from rural to suburban government, was shown in Troy. As has happened in other areas during the population bulge of Oakland County, some elected officials went this time to younger residents who live in the community, but work elsewhere. They replaced council members who grew up in the area when it was relatively undeveloped, and maintain their business there.

When the missing or long-delayed precincts were flushed out of the rural counties, Bloomfield Hills advertising executive THOMAS B. ADAMS appears to be the winner of a post on the Wayne State University Board of Governors.

The margin was slight, but another Oakland County resident takes his post of serving the public.

Adult Education Offers Foreign Policy Course

Among the many interesting adult education courses being offered during the spring term at Michigan State University Oakland is one which is of particular significance today.

For the first time, MSUO is presenting a series on foreign policy. This is a topic of vital importance to all residents who are concerned about the United States and its relations with other powers.

Entitled "Challenges of the Cold War: Problems and Issues of American Foreign Policy," the 10-week program is endorsed and supported by a number of area organizations, including both political parties and the Oakland County AFL-CIO Council.

For those interested in some of the background of the Nation's current problems, one evening a week at MSUO will be quite rewarding.

Portugal Riots Expose Temper of Dictatorship

Stoning of the American embassy in Lisbon recently showed the disapproval of this country's United Nations vote in favor of inquiry into conditions in the Portuguese colony of Angola.

To some extent Portugal's annoyance is understandable if misplaced. It is a loyal member of NATO but that does not bind each member to approve of another member's policies outside the treaty area.

The United States reluctantly took its stand against an ally in the hope that Portugal would see the necessity for change in Angola before it's too late. Patterns established 400 years ago must give way to the new order in Africa. Our attempt to influence and moderate the change by persuading Portugal of the need for preparing Angola for self-government was resented.

Portugal itself is a rigidly controlled dictatorship. Protests against the U.S. could hardly have happened without government acquiescence. If not outright connivance. Photographs of the mob scene outside the American embassy show U.S. property being destroyed without interference from on-looking police and soldiers.

Our position was not one of hostility toward Portugal but of warning to a friend. President Salazar's objections could have been expressed through normal diplomatic channels and without riots.

President Treated BAC Unfairly

WASHINGTON—There is beginning to be a feeling here that the Kennedy administration is "shooting from the hip," acting impulsively, and not thinking things through before acting.

The latest episode emphasizing this feeling is the inapt way the administration has handled the artificial controversy which was stirred up over the alleged secrecy of the sessions of the Business Advisory Council of the Department of Commerce.

Many businessmen are displeased with the gratuitous attack on them and are saying that, if the sessions of their advisory council are to be open to the press when government officials are present—the Kennedy administration now has ordered—the same rule should apply to the sessions of the Labor-Management Advisory Conference in the Department of Labor and also to the sessions between farm groups and the secretary of agriculture.

To put it another way, if it is a sin for a government official to talk privately to a business group and the sessions are to be open hereafter to the press, then it is only fair that all meetings between Cabinet officers and other economic groups should also be open to the press.

The Kennedy administration, however, doesn't practice what it preaches. Thus, on March 21, when the initial meeting of the Advisory Committee on Labor-Management Policy was held, Secretary of Defense McNamara, Undersecretary of State Bowles and several other high officials addressed the group behind closed doors.

Later on, while a transcript of what the President said was made public, an inadequate summary of what the other government officials said was issued by the secretary of labor, Arthur Goldberg.

As a practical matter, unless the Kennedy administration modifies its one-sided decrees and begins to apply them fairly to all advisory conferences with special groups, the chances are that they will not serve the useful purpose that might have otherwise been achieved.

Everybody knows that there is likely to be a much more frank and comprehensive discussion of any topic when the participants are not going to be quoted in the press than if every word is for public consumption.

An erroneous impression has been spread that the Business Advisory Council is some sort of secret body which has been influencing government action in its favor. As a matter of fact, the council has given as much as it has received by way of economic information, and has sought no favor for any member of the group or for special interests.

It has offered advice when asked but has been mostly concerned with economic issues. Charges have been trumped up that the council ignores small business. Actually, it always has had a number of members from small businesses, and the impression that the council somehow is concerned with big business alone, as opposed to small business, is baseless and is really a piece of political demagoguery.

Originally Congress created a single Department of Commerce and Labor, but in subsequent years it was determined to have a separate department for each. The impression has grown in recent years that the labor secretary must be a champion of labor unions and that the commerce secretary must serve as the defender of business as such. Much depends on the experience of the secretary in each case.

Secretary of Labor Arthur Goldberg came from one of the big labor unions in the steel industry. Commerce Secretary Luther H. Hodges, although once engaged in the textile industry, has been active for the last several years in the business of politics as the Democratic governor of North Carolina.

Naturally, when the political pressure from Democrats in Congress is put on him to weaken the line of communication between businessmen and the government and, as in this case, he gets instructions from President Kennedy to do what the foes of business want done, he tends to ride along.

Dr. William Brady Says:

It's Usually Silly to Take Aspirin, Other Analgesics

It doesn't matter whether you have headache, neuralgia, neuritis, sciatica, rheumatism, "cold," flu, eye strain, sinus trouble, fatigue, insomnia, exhausted nerves, or aches or pains of any kind.

Aspirin, acetaminophen, aspirin, acetaminophen or alcohol will dull your sense of pain or discomfort, but they will give you a chance to develop into something.

Aspirin, acetaminophen, aspirin, acetaminophen or alcohol will dull your sense of pain or discomfort, but they will give you a chance to develop into something.

Doctors and folks who use these analgesics (sense deadeners) indiscriminately seem to forget that aspirin, acetaminophen (phenacetin) and alcohol are not remedies and do not cure anything, but merely blunt the senses and so make the victim less aware or unaware of his condition for the time being.

It may well be that I set greater value in my health than you do, or you.

If so, you will probably laugh at my advice in reference to the use of aspirin, acetaminophen or phenacetin or any of the scores of nostrums containing one or more of these pain killers.

My advice is that if you must take any such medicine, you should be at it sparingly for at least a half hour after the dose.

If the condition that prompts you to take such medicine is not serious enough to warrant rest it is not serious enough to warrant the use of an analgesic.

Indeed, many persons have found they can get a great deal of relief by just lying down quietly for half an hour or an hour, without taking medicine at all.

The harm done by acetaminophen (acetphenidin) and a few other pain killers is chiefly the destruction of red blood corpuscles and the reduction of the oxygen-carrying power of the blood. Iron compound that gives blood red color.

Secondary to this damage to the blood is degeneration of the heart muscle.

It is only fair to say that aspirin and acetaminophen are far less damaging to blood and heart than acetaminophen and phenacetin.

So if you must take something to kill pain, aspirin is the least dangerous analgesic. But bear in mind that aside from dulling ache or pain from whatever cause, aspirin is not a cure for any ailment.

Signed letters, more than one per day or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not diet, disease, diagnosis, treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan (Copyright 1961)

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE H-432: Pete J., aged 37, is operating a gas station.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "I have a competitor directly across the street from my station."

"And he pumps twice as much gas as I do," he said, "though my price is the same price and just as high as his."

"How does he do it? For I have been located here two years longer than this other fellow. Is the public just plain dumb?"

"He does twice as much business. I can't figure it out."

SALESMEN MUST SMILE
Pete is supposed to be a salesman, for he "fronts" before the public in his duties of selling gas and oil, car washes and auto accessories.

But he wears a poker face most of the time, yet apparently doesn't realize he is thus affronting customers.

Salemen must smile, even if they have business burning up their lungs and lungs!

For it is the duty of every "front" man or woman to start the process of being friendly by the non-verbal compliment called a grin.

A lot of folks look grim and grumpy when their face is in its normal state of repose. Yet they may not be grim and grumpy at all!

So the public thinks they are, so it patronizes their rival across the street who pays them a compliment.

Pete's rival smiles. That breaks the ice and says, in effect, "I like you and am glad you are patronizing my station."

'State Cancer Foundation Doesn't Appeal for Funds'

Through the courtesy of The Pontiac Press and other area newspapers the public is aware that April is Cancer Control Month. However, there still seems to be a great deal of confusion concerning fund raising.

I have found that many area residents who are asked to solicit for or to donate to a cancer fund drive feel that our office on West Lawrence Street is the recipient of their contributions. This is not true.

The Michigan Cancer Foundation is a United Fund Agency and at no time makes a direct appeal for funds. We have two main sources of income: the United Fund and contributions given in memory of a deceased member of a family, friend, or neighbor.

Giving to a charitable agency is a fine thing, but we should be sure we understand fully to whom and why we are giving.

More Suggestions for Our Centennial

Happy centennial year to the people in the Pontiac area and a toast to those who boast they can drink unalcoholic beverages to celebrate.

Oh, for a classroom like they used to have in the suburbs of Pontiac in prohibition days, one where a lady could step in and get a beverage made from bulk lemons with a few left in the cup so she could read them and think happily of the future. Sassafras tea is supposed to be a good spring tonic. Mint is a nerve tonic. Both are grown locally.

An old-fashioned remedy for stomach pains is a tea made with powdered ginger, sugar and warm water, but this is not grown locally. It is imported from the East or West Indies.

Not a Bearded Beak
I have heard many "years" and "days" (mostly may) concerning beard growing, so why not just buy your very prominent friends who have hired to organize a centennial and let the untidy go right along criticizing and forget the Pontiac centennial? Then listen to them cry, "I have no power to our centennial committee."

Member of the Bearded Beaks

The evening stars are Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history: In 1789, the first federal congress of the United States got underway as a joint session of the Senate and House convened in New York City.

In 1830, Joseph Smith organized the Church of Latter-day Saints, commonly known as the Mormon Church.

In 1896, veterans of the Union Army organized the Grand Army of the Republic.

In 1909, Robert Edwin Peary became the first civilized man to reach the North Pole.

In 1959, the United States picked seven men to train for space flight.

Thought for today: Oliver Wendell Holmes said: "The world's great men are not commonly the great scholars, nor its great scholars great men."

Case Records of a Psychologist: Get Hep to Modern Sales Strategy

Repeatedly I have coached you about the axiom of applied psychology for winning friends. For everybody bears this brand stamped across his chest: "It is to feel important."

Remember, too, that it's nice to be important but it is far more important to be nice!

Don't Let Down
A lot of wives complain that their husbands can put up a cordial, kindly "front" when the guests are on hand, but when the strangers are gone, the husbands grow surly and critical.

Pete also tends to let down when old friends and neighbors drive in for gas. He fails to wash their windshield.

"Aw, they're old friends," he defends himself, "so they don't mind."

But they do mind, for Pete's competitor does wash the windshield. So he gives them a smile, plus a glass of lemonade, plus 10 gallons of gas at the same price.

Pete gives them only the 10 gallons of gas.

Naturally, customers tend to go where they get more for their money.

When customers ask Pete, "Have you time to change my oil?" he pauses for a moment and then grudgingly replies: "I'm pretty busy but I guess so."

That is lousy salesmanship. A good "front" man should say: "Certainly, glad to do it. It won't take long for I have only one car ahead of you."

Joan gave us a splendid name for our salesmen when he urged us to "Go the second mile."

boon maintain a profit so he can still pay their salaries.

Sales are the "Goose" that lays the golden egg of salaries, so get hep.

Send for the booklet "Modern Sales Advertising Strategy," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents.

Use it on yourself or your "front" men for it contains a super-duper "Advertising Trick" that'll weed out the men from the boys.

Plane Delivered to Philippines

Gift From Pontiac to Islands to Help Spread Christianity, Literacy

The U.S. Navy today delivered to Manila today a $30,000 plane, a gift from the people of Pontiac to the people of the Philippines.

The Hello-Courier, christened the "Spirit of Pontiac," was brought to Manila aboard the aircraft carrier Keewauke from San Diego, Calif.

Clyde R. Headlin, 4123 Athens, Drayton Plains, chairman of the funds here last year, will go to the Philippines aboard the ship to help dedicate the plane there.

Last July the plane was accepted here by Philippine Ambassador Carlos Romulo in a ceremony at the Pontiac Country Club.

The plane will be used to spread Christianity and literacy to the natives of the Philippines. It is designed for operation from small, unprepared fields needing only half the length of a football field to take off or land.

Although the plane will be owned by the Philippine government, it will be maintained and operated by the Summer Institute of Linguistics, a wing of Wycliffe Bible Translators, Inc.

Gelston V. Poole was vice chairman of the fund-raising committee. Other committee members were Leslie R. Ware, secretary-treasurer; Dr. H. H. Savage, pastor of First Baptist Church of Pontiac; and Gordon K. Hicks of Bloomfield Hills.

State Senate OKs Appointment of 2 Area Men

The State Senate yesterday unanimously confirmed appointments by Gov. Swainson of two area men to the State Fair Commission.

Approved for three-year terms were Eldon C. Rosegart, 3007 Lansdowne Road, Waterford Township, and Harry F. Garling, 2220 E. Clarkston Road, Orion Township. Rosegart has been commission chairman the past two years. Director of the Pontiac Northern High School band, Rosegart is a member of the Waterford Township Board of Education, and president of the Pontiac Federation of Teachers.

Garling, a member of the commission since 1952, is secretary-treasurer of the Monitor Mutual Insurance Co. in Pontiac. He was president of the commission in 1955-56.

The Senate also approved four other appointments to the commission, the appointment of nine members of the Grand Valley College Board of Control, two members of the State Board of Examiners of Barbers, and one member of the State Council of Health.

Rodgers Likes
Lerner's Work

They Have No Written Contract or Agents but Do Songs Together

NEW YORK (AP)—Mutual admiration, says composer Richard Rodgers, is the keynote on which he and lyricist Alan Jay Lerner decided to become a songwriting team.

"When Rodgers' famed collaborator, Oscar Hammerstein 2nd died last August, Broadway immediately began speculating on the makeup of another hit-making combination in the musical comedy field."

Rodgers termed his joining forces with Lerner "almost inevitable," adding: "There was no marriage broker involved, no agents or representatives."

"We've both admired each other's work. And I've known Alan for a long time. I think I was one of the first people to hear 'Brigadoon.' He and Fritz came up to my apartment and played it for me."

"Brigadoon" was the hit musical turned out by Lerner and composer Fritz Loewe, who have collaborated on the boxoffice smashies "My Fair Lady" and "Camelot" in a some-time partnership which extends back to 1942. The pair also were responsible for the Academy award winning movie, "Oli."

Loewe suffered a heart attack in February, 1958. He currently is reported resting at his home in Palm Springs, Calif., and recently announced he was taking an 18-month vacation. Lerner said Wednesday there has been no personal arrangement with Loewe. Both will work together, Lerner said, on the filming of "My Fair Lady" and "Camelot."

Airmen After
New Mark in Bed-Rolling Fad

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Eight airmen stationed here proposed to give college boys a mark to shoot at today in the current fad of rolling a bed on wheels from town to town.

The Carswell Air Force Base crew set out to push a bed carrying a 1,200-pound out to Denton, 36 miles northwest of Fort Worth. They hoped to complete the trek by Saturday afternoon.

"We've got to make it," said Robert Shriner, one of the airmen. "They're planning a reception for us at Texas Woman's University and giving a dance that night."

If the airmen succeed, they plan to turn the bed over to a fraternity at North Texas State College in Denton—which recently rolled a bed minus car to Dallas—with a challenge to beat their record.

Man in Space

Miss in Interplanetary Flight Is Good as Thousands of Miles

By JOSEPH L. MYLER
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Space scientists hope in a matter of weeks to solve mysteries about Venus which have baffled man ever since he began to study the bright planet.

They also expect to calculate more accurately than ever before the distance between earth and sun and other members of the sun's planetary family.

These distances must be plotted as precisely as possible because man can hope to visit such neighbors of earth as Mars and Venus. Even slight errors could throw a space ship off course.

A new investigation of Venus and of interplanetary distances is being carried out by scientists at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory (JPL) of Pasadena, Calif. JPL is operated for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) by the California Institute of Technology.

At 9:34 p.m. (EST) March 10 at JPL's Goldstone tracking station, 30 miles north of Barstow, Calif., a radio signal completed a 70-million-mile round trip to Venus. The signal had left Goldstone 9½ minutes before. It was the first time a signal bounce off Venus had been immediately confirmed without elaborate analysis of taped records.

REPEAT EXPERIMENT

Since March 10, a day astronauts of the future may want to commemorate: the JPL scientists have repeated the experiment many times and will continue their research for several more weeks. By studying variations in the returning signals they expect to get information impossible to acquire in any other available way.

Venus is perpetually shrouded with clouds which no optical telescope can penetrate. Astronomers do not know what the planet's surface is like. It may be all dry land or, for all anybody knows certainly, it may have seas of water or some other liquid such as petroleum.

Because different kinds of surface reflect radio signals differently, JPL scientists hope to answer this question, and also to find out whether Venus spins on its axis, as the earth does, and how the axis is oriented in relation to the sun.

There have been reports, which JPL refused to confirm, or abrupt changes in the returning radio signals of a sort that would be expected if Venus' surface were partly land and partly liquid.

All Dr. William H. Pickering, JPL's director, would say about this is a recent telephone interview was that he expects the current research to "indicate the nature" of the planet's surface. JPL also expects answers to questions about Venus' rotation.

But the laboratory feels it is too early to discuss results to date because, Pickering said, "We want to be real sure about our technical information."

YARDSTICK FOR PLANETS

The orbital positions of the various planets can be accurately predicted years in advance in terms of a yardstick known as the Astronomical Unit (AU). This unit is the mean distance between the earth and sun.

What that distance is in terms of units of measurement which can be used in space flight—yards, meters, kilometers, or miles—is not known with anything like the accuracy space exploration requires.

For 65 years scientists have been striving to improve the accuracy of the Astronomical Unit in terms of miles. Their calculations vary by as much as 178,000 miles.

One way to calculate the AU is to fire a radio signal at an object in the solar system and clock the time it takes to make the round trip. Such signals travel at the speed of light, which has been determined with considerable accuracy. It is roughly 186,300 miles a second.

In 1958 the Lincoln Laboratory of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT) aimed signals at Venus from its millstone hill station and confirmed, after lengthy study, that they got there and back.

MIT scientists calculated the astronomical unit as 92,954 million miles. The early JPL results are reported to have confirmed this figure, and later results are expected to refine the accuracy out to a few more decimal points.

This, too, Pickering refused to confirm. He said, however, that he expects the JPL work to provide an interplanetary yardstick accurate enough to enable man to put spacecraft "quite close" to Venus and Mars.

This yardstick, he indicated will be ready well before the first U.S. Venus probe is launched next year.

The Emperor Charlemagne (742-814) founded many cathedrals and monasteries, although he himself was illiterate until his old age.

Rickenbacker's Son in Court on Census

NEW YORK (AP) — A son of Capt. Edward V. Rickenbacker, World War I flying hero and board chairman of Eastern Air Lines, pleaded innocent Wednesday to a charge of refusing to answer a 1960 census special questionnaire.

The son, William F. Rickenbacker, 22, answered the questionnaire, of a detailed type sent to every fourth household, was snooty, a violation of privacy and unconstitutional.

U.S. Dist. Court Judge Charles M. Metzger released him on his own recognizance and scheduled May 4 for the setting of a trial date.

Flag Pupil Has UN Day at Baltimore Used Car Lot
BALTIMORE (U-P)—If you know your flags, every day can be United Nations day at used car lots. One flag student walking along Belair Road one morning identified: national flags of Luxembourg, Monaco (in distress), Indonesia (in distress), Thailand and the Netherlands; the German state flags of Saxony, Hesse (in distress), Thuringen and Schleswig-Holstein, the Swiss city flags of St. Gallen, Unterwalden, Vaud and Solothurn, and the Danish pilot's flag.

The yearly growth of fish is virtually unlimited. The major factor affecting growth is the productivity of the water in which the fish lives.

Fines Restaurant Owner for Lottery Tickets
CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., (U-P)—The city court odds were slightly more than 2½-to-1 against Brainard restaurant operator Leonard Owens, accused of possessing football parlay sheets and lottery tickets.

He was fined $88.75 — slightly more than $2.50 for each of the 13 parlay sheets and 13 books of lottery tickets which officers reported finding in his restaurant.

This Optimist Believes Things Could Be Worse
CLARKDALE, Ariz. (U-P)—The trailer on a cement truck overturned in this small northern Arizona community and covered a block of the main street with 12,000 pounds of dry cement.

The cement was ankle deep before city workers cleaned up the mess. One city official commented, "Well, at least it didn't rain."

Old Contraption Better Than Jets

BALTIMORE (AP) — You know how it is on Sundays, when the kiddies go out to the airport to watch the big jets come in? Well, don't kid yourself.

At Friendship International Airport one Sunday, for instance, the eyes of young America weren't on the airliners.

The spectacle they climbed on touched, stared at and exclaimed over was a miniature imitation 19th-century railroad locomotive in the lobby which costs 10 cents to ride.

Award Contracts on Satellites With Wacky Names

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Initial contracts have been awarded for a series of geophysical satellites with the unusual names of OGO, EGO and POGO. First launches are scheduled for 1963.

OGO — for orbiting geophysical observatory — is the over-all name of the program whose 1,000-pound satellites will measure various space properties.

EGO — eccentric geophysical observatory — will study these properties in a wide-swinging orbit ranging from 170 to 70,000 miles above the earth's surface.

POGO — polar orbiting geophysical observatory — will take readings chiefly in the unexplored regions around the north and south poles.

In Getting Started Early

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Phoenix police captured the leader of a burglary gang that had taken hundreds of dollars in loot from 20 homes and churches.

The gang also stole two cars for transportation to and from the sites of the crimes. The leader was a 14-year-old girl. Her gang consisted of two 13-year-old boys.

In Arkansas, it is illegal to take or attempt to take any wild game that is fleeing from fire or flood.

Multiple Sclerosis Hits Up North Most Often

NEW YORK (UPI) — Young adults are the chief victims of multiple sclerosis, a disease which strikes as many as one in 720 Americans.

Essentially a cold-climate disease, the prevalence of multiple sclerosis is 5 to 10 times higher in the northern states of the nation than in the southern states, according to a report in Patterns of Disease, a publication of doctors from her window and into the house.

Invites Peepers Inside

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — After police investigation revealed that a reported peeping-tom was a San Antonio woman's boy friend, the woman invited the man away from her window and into the house.

Eichmann Orders Worse Horrors During Last Days of Dachau

Editor's Note: This is the fourth in a series of articles in which Bob Considine reports from the scene of the Dachau concentration camp. In October, 1945, and from Israel, where the camp was being liquidated, he reported on the first trial, the trial of the "Big Four" and the trial of the "Big Three".

By BOB CONSIDINE:

DACHAU—One of the more incredible aspects of the Nazi torture and extermination program against Jews and others is that in the hands of men like Adolf Eichmann it continued right through the last hours of the camp's collapse of the Third Reich. In anything, it got worse.

Dachau, the first of the horror camps, was destined to become the last. The first German people had known about it was on March 31, 1933, when this announcement appeared in the paper "Munchner Neuesten Nachrichten":

"On Wednesday, March 31, 1933, the first concentration camp will be opened in the vicinity of Dachau. It can accommodate 5,000 people. We have adopted this measure, motivated by policy reasons, in the conviction that our action will help to restore calm to our country and is in the best interest of our people. Heinrich Himmler, Commissioner of Police for the City of Munich."

Now in the spring of 1945—no body really knows how many tortured lives—Dachau again stood virtually alone, deep in Hitler's deceptively lovely redoubt. The Allies had overrun most of the others, yet such was the craze to punish and destroy the helpless victims that some of these places had been evacuated of their human refuse and the starvelings sent to Dachau.

Dr. Johann Neuhäusler, auxiliary bishop of Munich, tells about it with the help of other Dachau inmates, notably Joseph Joss, author of "Leben auf Widerstand".

"The frantic mass transports from the Balkans continued," Joss noted. "Concentration camps were being evacuated head over heels in the east, south and west. All to Dachau! How would it end? Overnight the blocks were overcrowded threefold, fourfold, sixfold. Rest and sleep were out of the question. And vermin were everywhere. The man responsible for the disinfection of the camp breathlessly shouted to us:

ARCHIE BARNETT

"Come and see! Millions and millions of insects! The clothes which the newly arrived prisoners have discarded are moving! We shall all perish."

"What took place at Dachau during January and February 1945 belongs to the most staggering tragedies in the history of all concentration camps."

Paul Ferrier, a Frenchman who had arrived in a shipment of dead and dying in which cannibalism was practiced, was to write:

"We were full of lice and fleas. Many had no longer a mattress and lay upon the boards naked. If a helpless prisoner became very dirty, he was dragged into the washroom, the dirt was scrubbed off with rough brushes, and then he was thrown upon the boards again."

"The fisherman, Michel Schulz, 41, remained three weeks naked upon the boards without receiving any treatment. Believed to be dead, he was thrown upon the heap of corpses. Using every effort of his will, he succeeded in reaching his bed again."

"On Jan. 5, 1945, we had to go back from the bath to the block in talcum cold, dressed only in short drawers and a thin shirt. Some collapsed on the way and died. When these were brought back from the disinfection, they were still full of vermin."

"The disinfection of Jan. 25, 1945. We had to go to the bath at 6 a.m. Anyone who could not walk was thrown naked upon a wheelbarrow. It was bitterly cold. Many of us had temperatures. He who did not get along quickly enough received floggings from the block senior, and anyone who did not succeed in reaching the shower at once was pulled along the cement floor and plunged into the water tank. Some drowned."

"The return to the block took place at 8 o'clock in the evening. Barefooted, and many were without clothes. We had been kept in the bath for 14 hours without food or drink. In the following days the number of deaths increased quite considerably."

Rank meant nothing at Dachau. The Geneva Convention might have applied to the moon."

"On April 13, 1945, just 10 days before our glorious liberation," Bishop Neuhäusler told me, close to tears over the memory, "the French General Delestraint served the Mass celebrated in our barack by Bishop Piguet."

"Hardly had the service begun when an SS under-commandant came in and interrupted. The general must pack at once," he announced. Gen. Delestraint, a magnificent man, left his position at the foot of the makeshift altar, packed his few little things, and came back to receive Holy Communion. His last Holy Communion!"

"After Mass I asked the under-transferrers, 'What is wrong with the general?' 'Ah,' he answered lightly, 'he is going to Innsbruck, as all of you are. We have just now leaving a small bus with eight seats but only seven people. We are taking the general with us.' Three hours later, Delestraint was shot with three other French prisoners and 11 Czechoslovakian officers."

Even to the last days . . .

"We are writing on Saturday, April 28, 1945," the diary of a Franciscan priest reported. "A frightful agitation in the camp because the shots of the artillery cause the machine guns to come on and mostly walking corpses. Some fall down dead. The political bureau does not distribute numbers any more but it learns from the accompanying lists that there are 116 women from Leipzig, many of whom are very sick, and 3,638 men from seven other camps."

"At the siding are 15 to 20 wagons containing 2,500 corpses, mostly comrades from Flossenburg and Buchenwald who died en route. The funeral-commando transports the bodies to the crematorium. The gruesome work lasts until midnight. Mountains of bodies are piled up high at the depot on the railroad, at the crematorium and on the block street of the infirmary."

Bishop Neuhäusler relieved the last chapter for us:

"On April 27, 28 and part of the 29th, 1945, one experienced a diabolical agitation in the camp because the shots of the artillery cause the machine guns to come on and mostly walking corpses. Some fall down dead. The political bureau does not distribute numbers any more but it learns from the accompanying lists that there are 116 women from Leipzig, many of whom are very sick, and 3,638 men from seven other camps."

"Now, on the 29th, the watch-towers, one after another, hung out white flags, a sign for capitulation."

Actually, the American soldiers, I learned later, had not intended to occupy the territory of the camp. An advance party advanced to the railroad depot and found there a great number of dead bodies in the wagons.

Without having a clear idea of where they were going, they advanced farther and not finding any resistance they suddenly found themselves in the camp. The sentries in one of the watch-towers who did not want to surrender were liquidated.

"An immense joy filled the hearts of the prisoners. All who could move went to the roll-call square which still held such terrible memories and thanked the liberators."

We asked the rugged old bishop what were his thoughts about the impending trial in Jerusalem of one of the chief architects of this crime.

Capital Digs Its Own Grave

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Why was it necessary to sound a warning for Capital Airlines—a company which in 34 years grew from a fleet of three tiny biplanes to the nation's fifth largest carrier?

There is no single answer for Capital's financial troubles. Some sources blame it on bad management, some just bad luck and some a combination of the two.

The immediate cause of Capital's death was the $34 million mortgage held by Vickers-Armstrong, Ltd., the British aircraft firm whose threat to foreclose led to the merger negotiations with United Air Lines.

But an obvious question is why and how Capital fell into this financial quicksand in the first place.

DIGS OWN GRAVE
—Capital dug its own grave in 1955 when it bought 60 prop-jet Viscounts from Vickers and the $67 million price tag in only three years; it was a burden only the biggest and healthiest airlines could have assumed.

—The Viscount fleet, with only 44 or 46 seats, was not well-suited to some of Capital's routes and had a limited profit potential.

—Capital made this sturdy little plane the backbone of its fleet and failed to modernize the rest of its equipment until it was too late. Eventually it was forced to pit the Viscount against bigger and faster planes and then compounded this mistake by trying to compete with the schedules of larger airlines—namely scheduling Viscount flights in direct competition with DCEBs, DCA, Electras and even pure jets during peak traffic periods.

—Capital's stock was strong at the time of the Vickers purchase but the airline made no effort to raise equity capital which would have permitted modernization of the rest of its fleet.

Some of Capital's difficulties can be traced as far back as two decades ago when the airline failed to seek and develop new route structures. Capital repeated this error in the 1950s when it only half-heartedly tried to improve its routes.

—Capital never used its Viscounts efficiently: scheduling heavily through the South where traffic potential was poor instead in the West.

—Capital held onto its obsolete DCBs, DCs and Constellations when it could have sold them in 1955 and 1956—a period when used aircraft prices were high; when it finally did try to dispose of them, there was no market.

IN A RUNOFF—William A. Blakley of Dallas (left), interim senator from Texas, and John Tower of Wichita Falls, the top candidates in the April 4 special senate election, will face each other in a runoff in June. Blakley, a cowboy turned financier, led the Democrats, but Tower, the lone Republican in the race for the seat vacated by Vice President Lyndon Johnson, collected the most votes.

AS FAVORABLE progress has been made in this field. F. W. Reichelderfer, chief of the Weather Bureau, said modifying a widespread snowstorm would be comparable to leveling a mountain and would be only temporary.

LANSING (UPI)—Bids will be opened April 18 on 39 highway construction projects, the State Highway Department said Wednesday. Nineteen new projects were added to the bidding session. Included in the latest jobs added was a million dollars worth of road construction and improvements.

But U.S. Agencies Won't Quit Weather Is Still King

WASHINGTON (U)—Two government agencies today confirmed what most people have known for some time—there's little you can do about the weather except talk about it.

But the U.S. Weather Bureau says the outlook is still not hopeless. Further experiments are now under way which could lead to weather control.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration says it may not be able to do much about the weather but the fancy satellites it plans will enable weathermen to predict its behavior with greater accuracy.

GIVE VIEWS

The two agencies gave their views in letters to Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., who had written for information on weather control.

Keating made the replies public and urged the Kennedy administration to consider a stepped-up program to find ways to control and forecast the weather more effectively.

He said curbing the impact of snowstorms and other damaging weather systems could save millions of dollars annually. He said it is disappointing that so little

Murder Trial
Has a Twist

Man Acquitted 2 Years Ago for Same Crime to

ST. JOHNS — Prosecution and defense attorneys predict that Vincent Hengschbach of Westphalia will figure heavily in a murder trial here — two years after his own trial for the same crime ended.

Now on trial is Richard J. Pohl, 21, of Westphalia. He is being tried in the 1958 Hengschbach slaying of Hengschbach's stepmother, Mrs.
Anna Hengschbach, 63.

Hengschbach, 54, was tried but released when the trial ended in a hung jury.

Asst. Prosecutor Fred Lewis, the prosecutor for the previous trial, said the other case "could not be avoided."

Jack Walker, court-appointed defense counsel, said "a lot of facts brought out in Vincent's trial would prove Richard is innocent."
The second trial started Wednesday in Clinton County Circuit Court before Judge Paul R. Cuth.

Judge Dismisses
Charge of Assault

Municipal Court Judge Cecil Mc-Callum yesterday dismissed a felonious assault charge against John Shaw, 51, of 623 Dittmar St.

Shaw had been accused of stabbing another Pontiac man in a brawl March 11.

Police said Walter Andrew, 28, of 53 Vermont St., was stabbed in the stomach with a 3-inch pocket knife during a fight at 504 Arthur St.

McCallum ruled that Shaw's examination that there was not sufficient evidence presented to try
Shaw on the charge.

Suspend Congressman

QUITO, Ecuador (UPI) — Francisco Salazar Alvarado, deputy director of the Conservative party and spokesman of the national anti-Communist front, complained today that unidentified attackers showered his home with stones Tuesday night. Several windows were broken, but no one was injured.

KITTENS ARE SAVED — Unidentified Lawton, Okla., firemen give artificial respiration to five Siamese kittens they saved from a burning house. Bystanders watch as life is worked back into the tiny victims. Firemen said the mother cat died in the flames. No one was injured but the animals.

Pontiac Firm Gets General Trades

Contracts Out for First MSUO Dorms

Michigan State University trustees have approved construction contracts for the first dormitories on the Michigan State University-Oakland campus, according to Chancellor D. B. Varner. Subject to approval of the State Legislature, the board of trustees awarded the general trades contract to J. A. Fredman, Inc., of Pontiac, which submitted the lowest of 13 bids — $382,963. Twelve other bids were opened.

The electrical trades contract was awarded the Soma Co. of Detroit which submitted a bid of $82,000, lowest of 13 placed before trustees.

J. D. Naylor & Son, a Detroit firm, submitted the lowest of 13 bids — $118,000, and was awarded the mechanical trades contract.

UNDER-ESTIMATES

The three contracts totaled $555,964. The university had estimated cost of building its first four dorms at $600,000.

The dorms will be constructed with funds from a $1,100,000 loan from the federal government. The remaining money will be used to increase the size of the Oakland Student Center.

University officials have scheduled a fall completion date for the self-heating units so that they may be used when the next academic year gets under way.

With a total capacity of 192 students, the dorms, two for men and two for coeds, will each consist of two floors with 12 rooms to a floor. Two students will be assigned to each room.

Dormitory residents will eat in the Student Center until the number of dorms reaches or approaches 10, at which time university officials plan on the campus residents having their own dining room and kitchen facilities.

Each succeeding cluster of dorms will have its own facilities.

The trustees also approved a grant of $500,000 by the Kresge Foundation to MSUO. The $500,000 foundation grant for building the $1.5 million Kresge Library on the university's campus.

The library is scheduled for completion in the fall.

Portuguese India, Timor in the East Indies and Macao in China have contrived the principal overseas holdings of the Portuguese government.

Brinks Truck Burns

KALAMAZOO — A Brinks, Inc. money truck caught fire Wednesday in downtown Kalamazoo. Firemen quickly doused the fire and saved the money. The driver, R. T. LaFollette of Detroit, and his guard escaped injury. Fire broke out after a broken gas line stalled the truck and a spark ignited fumes.

Locales for 'Cleopatra'

LONDON (AP)—Movie magnate Spyros Skouras said today his ill-fated epic "Cleopatra" will definitely be filmed in Italy, Egypt and California.

Stopping off on his way to Cairo, Skouras, president of 20th-Century-Fox, told airport reporters: "It's all decided now."

CONTEMPLATES DEFEAT—Paul Egan, 61, had been mayor of Aurora, Ill., for eight stormy years before he lost the job by a 2-4-1 margin Monday. Jay L. British Feed Chickens
'Scotch' to Fatter 'Em

LONDON (UPI) — British chickens, in an attempt to encourage them to grow fatter faster, are being put on a Scotch "whiskey" diet.

solubles that are produced from the liquid remaining when malt whiskey is first distilled from beer. The chickens stay sober, however, because the diet is alcohol-free.

Pigeons Ignore Penthouse Atop
Modern Store

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (UPI)—There's a pigeon penthouse atop the modern Boston Store in downtown Springfield.

Louis B. Margolis, executive manager of the store, says he understands the birdhouse was specified in the sales agreement between the store and Second Presbyterian Church when the church sold the lot 40 years ago.

But Henry F. Quentin, assistant manager in 1921, says it was a matter of sympathy; the pigeons lived in the church belfry. However, while the birdhouse remains, it has been vacant for many years. Apparently the elevator in a shaft just below it makes too much noise.

Maybe We Should Go Back to Barter System

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Business and individuals were stuck with a total of $800 million worth of known bad checks in 1959, according to the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

It is estimated that in December the bad check loss rate moves up from $1,000 every minute to as much as $1,500.

Yugoslavia had almost 13,000 than 4,000 at the end of World War II, compared with less than 10,000 in 1950.

County Needs No Draftees Again in April

No one will be drafted into military service from Oakland County again this month, according to local draft boards.

They report that they have received no quotas for the month of April, nor did they receive any for last month.

The reason for this is twofold. The nation's military strength is temporarily at full force and recruiting stations are meeting their target of quotas of enlistments. Navy recruiting stations are accepting no enlistments at present. Local Army and Air Force recruiters report enlistments are average at this time, sufficient to meet requirements.

Noted Inventor Is Dead

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. George F. Myers, 96, inventor, patent Attorney and officially credited as the first person to attempt a helicopter flight in America (in 1904), died Tuesday.

Approximately 20 students from each school will participate in the Eastern Michigan League Student Council meeting.

Emphasis this year will be on the fine arts. There will be several other speakers.

There are so-called "bargain" tires, "cheapie" tires, "discount" tires and other tires you've never even heard of.

Most of them do a lot of shouting about price. But there's a big difference in what goes into them, as compared to a Goodyear tire.

1. Goodyear gives you a stronger tire body. It's the tire body that takes the beating. And it all depends on cords and plies. So we tested our 3-T Nylon All-Weather—priced at $12.88*—against nine other nylon cord tires in the $10-$12 price class or better. Goodyear's tire rated 23.2% stronger than the average rating of all the others.

2. Goodyear gives you a tougher tread. You need toughness where the tire meets the road. So, Goodyear gives you all-new tread rubber in every tire. And it pays off good: Goodyear's tread was greater than the average of the rest.

3. Goodyear gives you greater over-all strength! Comparing the results of body tests and tread tests, Goodyear comes out way ahead. Actually, Goodyear not only proved out best on both counts but topped them all in over-all quality rating, too!

Before you part with $10, $11 or $12 for any tire, get the inside story. Remember that for about the same price, you can get a lot more tire—a Turnpike-Proved Goodyear tire. It's called the 3-T Nylon All-Weather. And it costs you as little as $10.88

GOODYEAR NATION-WIDE GUARANTEE

1. Road Hazard Guarantee—All new Goodyear automobile tires are guaranteed by written certificate against normal Road Hazards—i.e. blowouts, fabric breaks, cuts—except repairable punctures. This guarantee limited to original owner for number of months specified.

2. Lifetime Guarantee—All Goodyear tires are guaranteed against any defects in workmanship and material without limit as to time or mileage. Remember, wherever you and your family drive, any Goodyear tire dealer (in all 50 states, there are over 60,000 of them) will repair your damaged tire without charge, or make you an allowance toward the purchase of a new tire, based on the original tread depth remaining and the current "Goodyear Price."

Aim for $5,000

By JIM LONG
MILFORD—What are friends for but to help when help is needed and Jerry Van Rossen has lots of friends.

Berkley Firemen Have Trouble Fighting Blaze
in Junk-Filled Home

BERKLEY—A junk-filled, one-story home at 2446 Oakshire Road, was partially destroyed last night when fire broke out in the utility room causing an estimated $4,000 damage.

No one was injured. The owner John D. DeWald, 69, and his wife were in the house at the time. A son, George, 35, had left the house to get a tube for the television set and on his return found his father fighting the blaze.

The younger DeWald called Berkley firemen.

Fire Capt. Frederick Hill said that in all his 22 years on the police and fire department he had never seen a house "so cluttered with junk."

Capt. Hill said his men had trouble extinguishing the fire because every room in the house was "piled high" with boxes and old newspapers.

The utility room, he said, was "cramped with paint cans and shims." Hill blamed the fire on spontaneous combustion.

He refused to allow the DeWalds to remain in the house overnight and is contacting the board of health and the Berkley building department for an inspection. Hill said he would not allow the DeWalds to return to the home until it was cleared of debris.

The bond issue was approved by voters in November 1959. It is half of the bond issue given approval at that time. The other funds were used to get construction under way.

Girls Pay $140,000 for 188 Acres Near Romeo; Cookie Sales Help

ROMEO—The Otsikita Girl Scout Council of Macomb County has completed the purchase of 188 acres of rolling farmland two miles west of here for a permanent campsite.

The Mill Valley Farm property is located on the north side of 32-Mile Road, just west of Eldred Road. Owned by Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Knechtel, it was sold through Annett Incorporated, Realtors, Pontiac, for $140,000.

The parcel consists of 74 acres of wooded hillside, 60 acres of rolling hills and a 54-acre lake containing three picturesque islands.

Present farm buildings included in the deal are a 40x150 barn of brown glazed tile and white wood siding, two tenant houses, an eight-room building, granary and bull barn.

The Knechtels are retaining 70 acres of the Mill Valley property which includes their home on the east shore of the lake.

According to Mrs. George A. Mansfield, camp committee chairman, seven parcels within a 100-mile radius were examined by the selection committee before the choice was made.

Scout officials say they plan to convert the present farm buildings for year-round use for troop camping, special programs, councilwide activities and adult leadership training.

The first event to be held on the new campsite will be a High Land Fling Campout for the 3,606 girls who are members of the council. It is slated for May 19 and 20.

Money for the purchase of the property is being raised through cookie sales with a separate fund drive to be conducted within the next two years, according to scout officials.

'Luck of Draw' to Decide Pontiac Twp. Board Edge

By DON FERMOYLE
PONTIAC TOWNSHIP—Whether the Pontiac Township Board will be controlled by Republicans or Democrats for the next two years was to be decided here today.

Incumbent Richard F. Avery (D) and Wayne Dever (R), the two candidates who tied for one of the trustee posts in Monday's election, were to draw two slips of paper from a hat today.

The candidate who picks a small slip of paper with the word "elected" written on it will be the fourth trustee on the seven-member board.

A canvass of the votes completed yesterday afternoon still showed the two candidates tied for the post with 616 votes apiece.

If Avery draws the winning slip of paper, Democrats will hold a 4-3 edge on the Township Board. Other Democrats are Supervisor Leroy Davis and Trustees George E. Lyle and Mont D. Bodman.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Editors of the American Dietetic Association's Journal have traced the businessman's lunch back to 40 B.C. That was the year, the editors report, that a Roman innkeeper named Segius Locates served a special meal for ship brokers too busy to return to their villas.

Meat Buy Is Pork Loin; Fruit Supply Is High

Does the family enjoy pork loin roast or chops? Beef chuck roasts? Fryers? This is a good week to include them in your shopping plan. The Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Leavitt, says that the supply of these meats is high. You'll find increasing supplies of meat and bass. Eggs are one to two cents a dozen less than a week ago.

Increasing supplies of cucumbers, new Texas onions, new potatoes and strawberries are more in evidence at produce counters. Many canned foods are among store features this week. Pineapple, grapefruit and tomato juice in 46-ounce cans and fruit-cocktail, corn, beans and tomatoes in 303 size cans are included among these.

The whole pork loin may weigh 12 to 14 pounds, but the ideal size for the largest proportion of lean is 12 to 14 pounds. Three basic cuts are made from the pork loin—the rib end, the loin center and the butt end. The rib and loin ends supply chops or roasts most commonly featured at low prices. The loin center is usually sold as a roast or center cut pork chops.

Checks in local markets show the following price comparisons for similar size servings of protein foods this week: Two large size eggs, 8 to 9 cents; ground beef, 15 to 18 cents; small, 15 to 19 cents; Boston butt (pork shoulder), 16 to 19 cents; frozen veal roll, 15 to 20 cents; rib end pork roast, 15 to 20 cents; loin end pork roast, 16 to 24 cents; ham, 20 to 25 cents; lamb shoulder, 20 to 28 cents; turkey, 22 to 27 cents; center cut pork chops.

Meat Counter Is Place to Save

You can save food dollars with sense, states the Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Leavitt. Since an average family usually spends about one-fourth of its food money for meat, this is one place to lower costs if you wish.

Learn to select thrifty trades among the protein foods. As an alternate for a 4-ounce serving of meat, you may substitute six tablespoons of cottage cheese; four tablespoons of peanut butter; three ounces of mild yellow cheese; two large size eggs; three-fourths of a cup of cooked dry beans, peas or lentils; or one-third cup of shelled peanuts.

Standard and Commercial grades of meat are lower in cost but just as high in food value as Good, Choice or Prime grades of meat. It's the lean that contains the protein and higher grades of meat have more fat.

A serving of fish will cost less than a serving of meat when you buy in bulk. Ready-to-eat fish costs less than one pound of all-lean, no-waste meat. At present, small and ocean perch are the thrifty fish choices.

The variety of organ meats such as liver, tongue, kidney and heart are usually lower in cost-per-serving than other meats. Milk, skin or whole—is a lower-cost protein than meat when one quart costs less than one and one-half pounds of all-lean, no-waste meat.

As you plan the family's meals, learn to use alternate protein foods. You can save food dollars with sense. You can stretch meat flavor in casserole and main dishes and still have the protein your family needs.

In Plentiful Supply
Peanut butter, whether creamed or crunchy, makes a festive sandwich filler when combined with a processed cheese spread. It's a good time to try this combination too, since peanut butter and cheese spreads are among the foods listed in plentiful supply this month by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Who Wants to Serve Just Plain Bread All the Time?

Bread is going gourmet—French bread, Brown 'n' Serve, party rye, and even the familiar frankfurter bun. Nearly all of the bakers' daily dozens are teaming up with savory or sweet companions for gracious serving.

To bring wonder to the eyes of dinner guests is to serve a toast—hot herb or cheese loaf made with French bread — the Brown 'n' Serve type if you wish. Slice it almost through to the bottom crust, then spread with a tangy filling. Done dramatically, a whole toasted loaf is served on a long ash hobo rod — as the center of attraction of a hot steak platter, graced with meat and potatoes.

If feeling fancy at brunch or lunch, add a sweet touch to the bakers' loaf of French bread or halved buns, with spreads sugared and spiced, flavored with fruit or nuts to be extra nice.

Cheese Buns
1 loaf French bread
1 cup soft butter or margarine
1 cup finely grated Parmesan cheese
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Cut buns in half, horizontally. Combine butter, Parmesan cheese and Worcestershire sauce. Spread Parmesan butter on cut sides of bun halves, using 1 tablespoon per-bun. Place buns on a shallow pan, spread side up, and toast in moderate oven (350 degrees) for seven minutes, or until lightly browned. Yield: 6 servings (2 buns halves per serving).

Cinnamon-Orange Loaf
1 loaf French bread
1 cup soft butter or margarine
1 cup light brown sugar, firmly packed
1/2 cup granulated sugar
1/2 cup cinnamon
1/2 cup orange juice
1 teaspoon grated orange rind, if desired
Cut each loaf of bread diagonally, almost through to bottom crust, into 4 equal-sized slices. Combine butter, brown sugar, granulated sugar, cinnamon, orange juice and rind. Spread 1 1/2 teaspoons sugar mixture between each slice of bread.

String loaves on a long, sharp-pointed skewer, inserting the skewer through the center of each one. Heat over hot coals, or under a broiler, turning to brown bread on all sides. Yield: 4-6 servings.

Toasted Lemonade-Ginger Muffins
1 dozen English muffins
1 cup lemonade concentrate
1 cup soft butter or margarine
1 teaspoon ground ginger
Cut muffins in half, horizontally.

Melt lemonade concentrate and butter together in a small pan; add ginger. Arrange muffin halves, cut side up, on ungreased cookie sheets. Brush about 1 1/4 teaspoons butter mixture on cut sides of each bun half. Toast in a hot oven (400 degrees) for fifteen minutes. Yield: 12 servings — 2 halves per person.

Chocolate Nut Rollarounds
1/2 cup soft butter or margarine
1/2 cup chocolate chips
1/2 cup chopped nuts
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup white sugar
1/2 cup flour
1/2 cup baking powder
1/2 cup salt
Divide each roll into 3 sections, pulling them partially apart between the flakes. Melt butter in a small saucepan. Add chocolate chips and stir until melted. Add confectioners' sugar and nuts. Spread 1 teaspoon chocolate mixture into each open section of the rolls.

Insert skewer rod of rotisserie through each roll so that filled section is across skewer, leaving roll tops and bottoms exposed and sides of rolls next to one another. Place skewer rod into position on support rack. Rotate under high broiler heat until loaf is browned, about four minutes. Yield: 6 servings.

Chocolate Nut Rollarounds
1/2 cup soft butter or margarine
1/2 cup chocolate chips
1/2 cup chopped nuts
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup white sugar
1/2 cup flour
1/2 cup baking powder
1/2 cup salt

Garlic Rye Toasties
1/2 cup (1/4 pound) soft butter or margarine
1/2 cup garlic clove
1/2 cup sliced party rye bread
Cut garlic clove into 4 pieces; cream garlic pieces into butter. Let stand for thirty minutes to allow flavor to permeate butter; remove garlic. Spread on each slice of rye bread, using 1/2 teaspoon and toast in a hot oven (400 degrees) for ten minutes, or until crisp. Serve as a snack, or with salads and soups. Yield: 2 dozen Garlic Rye Toasties.

Zippy Horse-Radish Loaf
2 1/2 cups leaves Swiss chard, or dill
1/2 cup soft butter or margarine
1/2 cup horseradish
1/2 cup Worcestershire sauce
1/2 cup Tabasco
Cut each loaf of bread diagonally, almost through to bottom crust, into 4 equal-sized slices. Combine butter, horse-radish, Worcestershire sauce and Tabasco. Spread 1 1/2 teaspoons butter mixture between each slice of bread. String loaves on a sharp-pointed skewer, inserting 1 lb. skewer through the center of each one. Heat over hot coals, or under a broiler, turning to brown bread rounded by sunshiny sections of orange wedges.

Onion Butter for Beans
NEW YORK (UPI) — Onion butter for snap beans is quick to make. Season 2 cups of hot cooked beans with 1/4 teaspoon of salt, and 1/4 teaspoon of ground black pepper. Melt 1/2 tablespoon of butter or margarine, add 2 teaspoons of instant minced onion, pour over beans and serve at once to 4 persons.

Lively Avocado Salad
A very special lunch or supper can be prepared in no time by peeling avocados and slicing them thickly to be filled with a lively flavored combination of deviled ham, a little chili sauce, spiced with a little French dressing. Serve on fresh greens sun-broiler, turning to brown bread rounded by sunshiny sections of orange wedges.

Students Have Burger Ideas
Teen-age-tested hamburger ideas popular with students at the Chicago branch of the University of Institutions Magazine, directed to mass-feeding mass-housing establishments. These offer new ideas for homemakers who want to give the old family favorite a different twist.

Hamburger pizza is made by combining beef, egg, tomato paste, monosodium glutamate, garlic salt and sautéed onions in a frying pan. When these ingredients are thoroughly browned, the mixture is heaped high on English muffin grain; and whole tomatoes.

Another ground beef specialty popular with the college crowd is a French fried beef and cheese sandwich. Institutions says. Browned beef is mixed with sharp cheese, mustard relish; salad dressing and seasonings for the flavorful filling. Sandwiches are dipped an egg and milk mixture and griddle or deep-fat fried.

Other popular hamburger variations are: Ground steak with cream gravy on baked potato; chopped beef and potato cakes; chopped beef and onion sandwich on toast with cole slaw; chopped beef noodles and mushrooms au gratin; and whole tomatoes.

Editor's Note—Because of fear, ignorance and delay 85,000 Americans who could have been saved die of cancer each year. To this list of a nation's leading doctors, honorary education chairman of the American Cancer Society, the current crusade to save lives is being waged. The doctors and the public are urged to take action for everyone.

By ARTHUR GODFREY
Written for The Associated Press

Like most people, I'd always thought of cancer as a disease that happens to the "other fellow" until two years ago, when it happened to me.

How did I react?

COMMERCE

GRAND OPENING THIS FRIDAY!

With disbelief, horror, haste in that order. The doctor advised surgery. He said: "The sooner, the better." There are no two ways about cancer: Either you destroy it or it destroys you. So I didn't delay.

Unfortunately some people are not informed or are so paralyzed by fear that they permit the cancer to destroy them. They make a horror of cancer that makes them avoid the family doctor until it's too late for cure—or which even sends them on a wretched journey to quacks, charlatans and purveyors of fake remedies and home cures that can't possibly help them.

Fear feeds on ignorance.

IGNORANCE KILLS

When it comes to cancer, what you don't know can kill you.

Ignorance, fear, delay, do, in fact, lead to needless death for 85,000 cancer patients a year in these enlightened times, in these United States.

They could be saved.

Without a single research advance, without any new developments in diagnostic and treatment methods, the doctors could, actually, save 85,000 more cancer patients a year than the 170,000 they are now saving.

The American Cancer Society tells me that those 85,000 people have the kinds of cancer that can be cured by prompt, proper treatment. Their lives depend on knowing what to do—and doing it without delay.

Improved communications could save them.

Now this, in an area I know something about, after 32 years in radio and TV.

USING ALL MEDIA

What is required is an all-out effort through all the media against the fear, ignorance and superstition which each year kill 85,000 people needlessly—men and women whose medical knowledge can—should—and must save.

There are barriers to overcome. One of them is a belief in black magic and mumbo jumbo that is not confined to the underdeveloped areas. It exists right here in the U.S.A.; not 18 1/2 million miles and remote areas alone, but often in our big cities, and, surprisingly enough, even among some otherwise educated and intelligent people. Some of these men and women believe that certain foods or living habits can afford protection against cancer. They think that if they "eat right," they don't have to worry about those seven warning signals of cancer.

Fake remedies, and old wives' tales appeal not only to the ignorant, but also to the desperate.

Now a certain amount of fear is healthy and necessary for self-preservation. That's the kind of fear which leads a man or woman to heed a cancer warning signal and brings him or her to the doctor's office without delay.

There's another kind of morbid, neurotic fear which leads to self-destruction. It keeps people who are worried about possible cancer symptoms away from the doctor's office.

These morbid fears wear many masks.

AFRAID TO KNOW

There's the rationalized indifference to cancer—an indifference based on terror. Some people simply refuse to have an annual health checkup or to learn the simple facts about cancer that can save their lives. That's the ostrich type, who prefers burying his head in the sand to looking facts in the eye.

There's the hale, hearty type who passes up the annual checkup because he or she "never felt better." And if symptoms should develop, this brave individual sits it out, week after week, month after month, heroically ignoring the warning signals until it's just too late for cure.

A recent house-to-house study in a large city showed that two out of five people refused a free health checkup. Forty per cent of those interviewed passed up this life-saving opportunity.

There are all sorts of excuses for avoiding an annual health checkup. The most common ones are: "I don't want to know." "It costs too much." "It's too embarrassing." "I don't really need it."

Those are four different ways of saying, "I'm running scared."

The facts are that an annual health checkup saves money and anxiety in the long run. Early detection can save your life as well as your savings. A clean bill of health, which is what the vast majority of people get from their doctors, brings peace of mind and an end to nagging fears. False modesty is just one more excuse. It does not belong in a doctor's office.

NEVER BE SOLD

The problem, again, is communications. As I see it, the major problem in cancer control today is to convince millions of Americans that, first of all, the outlook for today's cancer patient is hopeful. This is a drastic change from the situation only 30 years ago. Today there are over one million Americans cured of cancer. In 1941, there were 200,000. Quite a difference.

One-third of all cancer patients are now being saved. One-half could be saved by earlier detection and prompt, proper treatment.

Convincing people of these facts isn't easy. People tend to cling to ingrained thought habits.

That's where the mass media comes in. They can help save lives. They can take this message into every American home. They can help wipe out the barriers of misinformation and let the new, optimistic knowledge about cancer grip the minds and hearts of Mr. and Mrs. America.

Much has been done. But so long as 85,000 people a year die

Spade Cooley Blank While Facing Music

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP)—Ostinately hilly musician Spade Cooley stared blankly in court as he was ordered to stand trial for the murder of the former singer he married 15 years ago.

The erstwhile "king of western swing" failed to acknowledge an introduction to his lawyer Wednesday—and seemed not to know his son by a previous marriage, John Cooley, 28.

"Father, father, don't you recognize me?" John asked. Then he added: "Dad, everything is going to be all right."

Ella Mae Cooley, 37, who once sang with Cooley's band, was beaten to death during a violent quarrel Monday. Cooley was arrested after taking his wife to the hospital that night.

Cooper, Laurel, Lesser and Mills to Be Lauded

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Special awards will be presented to Gary Cooper, Stan Laurel, Hayley Mills and Sol Lesser April 17.

The board of governors of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences announced the honors Wednesday. They will be bestowed in connection with the annual Oscar awards.

Cooper was cited for his many film performances and Laurel as a "creative pioneer in the field of cinema comedy." The honor for Miss Mills, 13, stems from her performance in "Pollyanna," and producer Lesser was voted the Jean Hersholt Humanitarian Award.

Cuban Paper to Resume Publication in Miami

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The Times of Havana, last newspaper taken over by the Fidel Castro regime, will resume independent publication in a Miami setting April 20.

Clarence W. McO's, Miami Beach lawyer who was founder and publisher of The Times of Havana, said weekly editions will be distributed in south Florida and the Caribbean area.

The Inter-American Press Association cited the Times. In 1959 for courageous opposition of the Castro dictatorship.

Problem Behavior Hits Mentally Ill Hardest

NEW YORK (UPI)—The first step in understanding the troubled person is to realize that disturbed behavior or problem behavior can be more painful to him than to anyone else.

Harry Mill of the National Association for Mental Health makes this point in a booklet—"How to Deal With Mental Tensions."

Both Party Chairmen
See Good in St. Louis,
Michigan, Texas Vote

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democratic and Republican leaders both saw portents today in the results of the re-election of a Democratic mayor in St. Louis, but the portents didn't look alike.

Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey also noted that Democrats won a majority of state seats in Monday's election in Michigan, and said the big majority of the combined Democratic vote over the Republican candidate in Texas' senatorial election makes it clear that a Democrat will win the June runoff.

Bailey said the Democratic victories in St. Louis and Michigan "once again demonstrate that the Democratic party has the support of the people," adding:

"It also points up the fact that the Republican party is not going to make inroads into the Democratic strength in urban areas while the Republican party in Washington fights a fair increase in the minimum wage, opposes a House Rules Committee change to let Congress vote on the Kennedy program, and carries on a continual battle against progressive legislation."

Republican National Chairman Thomas B. Morton said the GOP candidate in St. Louis, Ben H. Linderbach, scored a 100 per cent gain in the Republican vote compared with 1957 even though he lost to Democratic Mayor Raymond R. Tucker.

"This is a highly significant accomplishment in our long-range program to whittle down the monolithic Democratic vote in the big cities," Morton said.

He added the GOP showing in St. Louis gives his party a head start on the 1962 senatorial race in Missouri.

44-Year Veteran Retiring From Fisher Body

Retirement of Frederick H. Hanson of Birmingham, general factory manager of body assembly plants in the Western states, was announced today in Detroit by Fisher Body Division of General Motors.

An automotive veteran with more than 44 years of body-building experience with Fisher, Hanson was directly responsible for the operation of five plants assembling Chevrolet bodies.

Born in Cincinnati, Ohio, on Jan. 17, 1901, he began his career with the Hercules Buggy Co. in Evansville, Ind., when he was 12 years old. He started with Fisher Body in 1917 as a trimmer at Plant No. 18 in Detroit. He is retiring on May 1 under provisions of the GM retirement program.

A resident of 1375 Dorchester Road, Hanson plans to pursue his interest in travel and deep sea fishing.

Early in his career he served as general superintendent of Fisher Body plants in Pontiac, and in Norwood, Ohio. He later was promoted to manager of the Norwood plant, and during World War II was resident manager of Fisher Body's aircraft units in Cleveland and Detroit.

Hanson was made assistant general factory manager in 1948 and named general factory manager in February 1950.

Senator Asks Probe of State Insurance

LANSING (AP)—A special investigation of the Civil Service Commission's handling of a life insurance contract for some 31,000 state employees was demanded today in a resolution before the Senate.

Sen. Haskell L. Nichols, R-Jackson, introduced a resolution Wednesday calling for the creation of a five-man committee of senators to function now and during the interim between the 1961 and 1962 legislative sessions.

The committee would "investigate the action of the State Civil Service Commission in letting the contract for state employees' life insurance," and report its findings to the Senate.

The investigation request was an outgrowth of charges of irregularities in the awarding of a $1.6-million life insurance contract for state workers.

The committee would "investigate the action of the State Civil Service Commission in letting the contract for state employees' life insurance," and report its findings to the Senate.

Gray, born in England, graduated from the Detroit Medical College in 1888 and then moved to Petoskey where he set up a dental practice.

He was a former state commander of the American Legion, served as postmaster and city councilman here and on the state board of dental examiners.

Many MSUO Students Show Yen for Teaching

Michigan State University Oakland students are doing their part to eliminate the teacher shortage in America.

A recent survey of the sophomore class disclosed that 123 of the 388 sophomores attending the university.

Questionnaires on major fields of interest were returned to the registrar's office by 388 of the 388 sophomores attending the university.

The greatest number of education majors (81) indicated a desire to teach in junior high and high schools, while 42 expressed a desire to major in elementary education.

Thirty-four students planning to teach in secondary schools said they planned to major in history.

Papers Refused $7.64 Million in Bad Ads in '60

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Newspaper Publishers Association says hundreds of newspapers reported false and misleading advertisements allowed to a trade in 1960.

Despite this, an ANPA survey of 750 United States and Canadian daily newspapers showed they rejected $7,645,488 in advertising last year because it failed to meet standards of truthfulness and good taste.

"Publishers everywhere know this vigilance protects a basic ingredient of the newspaper," said ANPA General Manager Stanford Smith in commenting on the figures.

In 1959, when 348 newspapers participated in the survey, advertising amounting to $5,166,321 was rejected. In 1958 some 219 newspapers rejected advertising valued at $8,909,766, Smith said.

Well, It's Spring in the Southland, at Any Rate ...

By The Associated Press
Chilly weather persisted across wide areas in the northern half of the country today, with strong winds, snow and rain in many sections. Fairly pleasant spring weather was the rule in most of the Southland, but heavy rain hit parts of Texas and Louisiana. More snow and rain dampened areas from the Dakotas into the Lower Great Lakes, with mostly rain southward from Pennsylvania through Virginia into Kentucky and Tennessee. A shower belt along the Texas-Louisiana Gulf Coast extended inland into northeastern Texas and most of Louisiana. Heavy rain fell along the lower Texas Coast, including 4 1/2 inches in a six-hour period at Hattiesburg. Air Force Base northwest of Brownsville. Two inches of rain fell in Brownsville. Exports of asbestos from Canada reached 474,771 tons in the first half of 1960.

Kennedy to Ask Shift of Tax Load

Wants Lighter Burden on Firms, Heavier on Stockholders

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy will propose next week that Congress collect more income taxes from stockholders and less from businesses that invest in new plants and equipment. He was not expected to call for a temporary tax cut for individuals. Administration sources have been rejecting any such plan as a way of giving the economy a shot in the arm. The tax revisions Kennedy will recommend would result in a shift of $1 billion or more in annual income tax payments, informed sources said. One group of taxpayers would pay that much more and another group, limited to corporations and business proprietors, would pay that much less. They said the plan would call for outright or partial repeal of a tax break on dividend income enjoyed by stockholders for the past seven years.

It also was likely to call for a tightening of tax rules governing expense accounts and imputed withholding taxes on dividend income and certain interest income. The White House announced Wednesday that Kennedy would send a message to Congress next week outlining his tax recommendations. Chances were that Congress would enact part of the revision Kennedy wants.

Ford Defends Buying Abroad

Says This Will Raise Ability to Compete — Mum on Small Car

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Henry Ford II Wednesday night defended American investment in foreign industry and predicted his company would increase its activities abroad. "We are convinced," the president and board chairman of Ford Motor Co. said, "that if all our facilities shop the world for the best values, we can materially increase the competitive efficiency of each company component." Ford defended buying of materials and industrial components from foreign sources. He said:

"In many instances, a low-cost imported part or component may make it economically feasible to produce or assemble in the United States a complete product that would otherwise be produced abroad or not at all. Clearly, such imported parts create jobs."

Ford, who spoke before the Southern Research Institute, did not mention Ford's recent purchase of Ford of England or reports that Ford plans to make a small car, at least in part abroad, for American sale.

"Our industry invests in the automobile business abroad as well as at home," he said, "because there are markets with tremendous growth potential abroad — markets that we cannot hope to share in any other way."

The speech was viewed as a reply to criticism sparked by Ford's announcement of plans to purchase all outstanding stock of the British firm and criticism from the United Auto Workers Union.

Abby Says: Tell 'Em Off

Return Their Charity Collect

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: First, let me explain our circumstances. We are not rich, but we work steady and save our money.

We have some relatives on my husband's side who spend money faster than they make it. They owe everybody in town. They live out of the state, thank goodness. A few months ago they asked us for a "loan." We told them no.

We have had our lesson lending them money. It took them nine years to pay back $300. Ever since that time we have been getting boxes filled with their old worn-out clothes and shoes. They are nothing but rags and junk. Little notes are enclosed. "Maybe you can use these." I think this is going too far.

DEAR INSULTED: Express your feelings to your relatives. Then express the boxes back to them (collect) if they send any more.

DEAR ABBY: I can't seem to please my husband. He brags about everybody else's cooking but mine, and I try so hard to fix things the way he likes them. He never takes me out in company with him. I admit I house, but I dress up when I go places. I have the hardest time getting him to introduce me to his friends. I still don't know half his family. I am only 35 and he is 60. Do you think I don't dress up around the house? I am ashamed of me!

LONELY

DEAR LONELY: No. He is probably ashamed of himself. DEAR ABBY: About two months ago our daughter told us she was going to marry the young man she had been going with. She said they intend to marry "some time this fall" in our church.

The young man has been a visitor in our home many times, but he has never spoken to either me or my wife about marrying—our daughter. Had the young man asked, we would have given our approval, but we feel he should have asked anyway.

Our daughter claims that the formality of asking the parents "for their daughter's hand" is an old-fashioned custom that has been done away with. Is this so?

THE PARENTS
DEAR PARENTS: The custom is very much alive. Unless the young man wants to start down the aisle on the "wrong foot," he had better ask the parents for their "daughter's hand."

Better Try Dieting, Men

Don't Overdo That Exercise

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
Most women are interested in helping their husbands stay young for as long as possible. However, they may have problems on their hands.

Take as an example the heavy, mature, sedentary man who tends to keep the mental image of himself as he looked and acted when he was very young. He's all too eager to get out on the tennis court under a blazing sun.

He walks too fast when there is no hurry, digs a backyard garden that's three times too large for him to take care of and does all of the snow shoveling, no matter how deep the drifts are.

He may even try to keep a younger man's hours, indulging in food and drink as though he were as bouncy physically as he was 25 years ago.

LIKE JUNIORS

Some men also tend to dress like their juniors. Not acknowledging their expanded waistlines, they may squeeze into tight-fitting suits. If hubby's waistline once measured 32 inches and now reads 38 or 40 inches on the tailor's tape, he may tell the salesman:

"I'm not as slim as I used to be but my waist is still a neat 36, not bad for my age." He forces the salesman to sell him a skin-tight suit that makes him look like an over-age collegian.

The outlook of these men is good in a way, because if it isn't. Heaven save us from the dreadful outlook of age-consciousness! However, it is unattractive and even dangerous if it takes too far.

It has been said that the waistline is the lifeline and it is true that an expanding waistline endangers life. When the waist begins to approach the chest in size, that is a danger signal. Too little exercise, too much weight, and lax muscles, have left their mark.

To go back to the subject of masculine clothes, according to the American Institute of Men's and Boy's wear, mature men can choose today among 253 different sizes in men's suits, many of which are flatteringly designed to remove years from the wearer's appearance.

This is done with clever cutting measurements are too much alike and tailoring. For example, the use of you would like to lose some of that deftly placed pleats are con-weight, you may want my Tubby ductive to comfort in all positions of Hubby diet which gives you a loss the body and yet enable jacket and of from seven to 12 pounds in 12 trousers to retain a slimmish of days' time. If so, send 10 cents and it stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request in care of The Pontiac Press.

Men, if your chest and your waist of The Pontiac Press.

Auxiliary of Jaycee Sees Film

The film, "The Pontiac Story of Progress and Promise," was shown before Pontiac Junior Chamber of Commerce Auxiliary Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Raymond Harris on Exmoor Road, Waterford Township. John Hurlinger, manager of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce, narrated.

Nominating committee members preparing a slate of candidates for the May elections at the National luncheon are Mrs. Leslie Langford, Mrs. William Dean Jr., Mrs. James Ehl, Mrs. Raymond Harris and Mrs. Norman O'Brien.

A large food basket was given to a needy area family at Easter and members are donating food for another food gift for the same family for the July 4 holiday.

The Pontiac group has sponsored a new auxiliary at Lake Orion and will present the gavel on charter night, April 22.

Mrs. John Adams of Madison Heights, candidate for district vice president and guest for the evening, joined the members in sewing cancer dressings.

The April 29 card party will be at the home of Mrs. Harris.

Conclude Season of Music

Noted Trio to Perform

Waterford Civic Music Association subscribers will conclude their season Friday evening at Pierce Junior High School with a concert by the Nieuw Amsterdam Trio. The program is set for 8:15.

Scheduled to appear earlier this year, the group was unable to meet its commitment due to the paralyzing snowfall that New York underwent at the time.

The three artists are pianist Edith Mocsanyi, violinist Joseph Rabushka and cellist Dan iel Vandersall. Each, an artist in their own right, they have the rare ability to unify their talents in ensemble. Critics acclaimed them during 1951 year's 92 concert appearances across the country as "coming as near perfection in chamber music as we have ever heard." Their repertoire includes music of the French and Romantic periods as well as the complete trios of Beethoven and Mozart trios. Modern composers are also represented in the group's literature.

Have You Tried This?

College Girl's Version of Sweet and Sour Pork

Pontiac Press Home Editor

Last weekend the Grow-up Daughter came home to visit. For the past 3 months she has been working in New York City and keeping house with 2 other college girls. Becky was the cook of the trio.

When the girls entertained, Sweet and Sour Pork was one of their favorite dishes. Becky wants to share her recipe with Press readers. She tried it out on the family while she was home.

SWEET AND SOUR PORK

By Becky A. Odell

Sauce:
1/2 cup soy sauce
1/2 cup water or pineapple juice
1/2 cup vinegar
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup ketchup
Mix all ingredients together and cook over medium heat until thickened, stirring constantly.

Meat:
3-4 pounds hamsteak pork, cut into cubes
2 cup water

Simmer meat in water in frying pan about 20 minutes. Drain and cook meat until nicely browned.

Vegetables:
2 medium onions, cut into strips large or 2 small green peppers, cut into strips
1 large cucumber, peeled and sliced
1 pound fresh mushrooms
2 fresh tomatoes, cut into slices

Saute mushrooms in butter or margarine. Add rest of vegetables, except tomatoes. Simmer about 3 minutes. Mix sauce, meat and vegetables together. Add tomatoes and 1 medium can pineapple chunks, drained.

Simmer until heated through. Serve over hot rice. Serve 6 to 8.

Stroh's, Falstaffs at ABC Tonight

DETROIT (UPI) — Twenty-seven years ago a band of bowlers wearing the now famous cream-colored flannel bowling uniforms of the Stroh's Brewery of Detroit carried off an American Bowling Congress title with a 3081 total.

After last night there is a good chance the 1961 edition of this bowling powerhouse for more than a quarter-century may be headed for another ABC tournament title.

The present day Stroh's opened their classic division play here last night with a 3086 opening block, the best start of any of the 41 classic clubs that have appeared here to date.

Now they come back tonight seeking to take first place away from Hamm's of Chicago, pacing the professional division with a 3010 six-game total.

The Stroh's appeared to be destined for failure after a poor 983 opener, made even more disastrous because the team folded up in the final frames after a great start. However, the Detroiters came back with games of 1017 and 1013 to become the first classic club to open with a better than 3000 total.

The St. Louis Budweisers have the top classic series to date, a 3024 rolled in the second block several weeks ago.

The Stroh's will be crossing lanes tonight with the national match game team championship Falstaffs of St. Louis here to open their classic play.

The Falstaffs, boasting such stars as Steve Nacy, Harry Smith, Dick Hoover, Al Hoover, Glenn Allison and captain Billy Weir, are considered a top threat.

Detroit bowlers also stole the show in the afternoon's minor events play. William Spargo, a 24-year-old groundskeeper at Tiger Stadium, rolled a 1931 classic all-events total for third place and Spargo paired with Dale Seavoy for a 1292 classic doubles score and sixth in these standings.

Spargo had a 596 team series, 687 in doubles and 648 in singles. Seavoy had a 605 two-man series.

Santa Clara Is 'Mad' Filly to Be Retired

NEW YORK (UPI) — Plenty Papaya, the "mad" filly who carried jockey Roy Gilbert to his death at Aqueduct Tuesday, will never race again.

The 2-year-old daughter of Polyneesian, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Cortwright Wetherill of Philadelphia, will be returned to the Happy Hill Farm "as soon as possible."

The dam (mother) of Plenty Papaya—Raise You—also was responsible for the death of a jockey in 1950. Raise You tumbled during a race at Delaware Park and fell on her rider, Richard Rottelle, who died two days later.

An autopsy performed on Gilbert's body Wednesday confirmed that the 22-year-old jockey from London, Ky., died of "multiple skull fractures." Gilbert was hurled to the ground when Plenty Papaya dashed into the inner rail during the fourth race at Aqueduct Tuesday.

Globetrotters Whip Stars for 3rd Time

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Harlem Globetrotters, performing their customary basketball antics through much of the game, had little trouble defeating the Chicago All-Stars 94-73 Wednesday night.

It was the third victory in four games for the Globetrotters.

Walt Bellamy, highly touted Indiana player, did not play for the All-Stars because of a heel injury.

The Trotters led by only one point, 47-46, at halftime, but opened up a 7-6 lead at the three-quarter mark.

Donovan Hurls Route for Leading Senators

By The Associated Press
It's been a great spring for Dick Donovan, the one-time Chicago White Sox ace who gained a chance for a new life with the New Washington Senators. And at the moment, it must feel like the greatest spring ever for the big right-hander.

Dropped out of the starting rotation by the White Sox a year ago, and then grabbed by the Senators for $75,000 in the American League's player pool, Donovan pitched a full nine innings for Washington Wednesday and beat the Philadelphia Phillies 10-2 with a seven-inning lead.

Going nine innings is no great achievement at this stage of spring training, with the major league season set to open Monday. But it's become something of a novelty for Donovan. This was his first complete game since Sept. 6, 1959—when he helped the White Sox to their first flag in 40 years—and his first full route victory since Aug. 29, 1959.

The victory padded the spring exhibition record, tops among American League clubs, to 14-8 for the Senators, who debut at home against the White Sox Monday.

Elsewhere, the Detroit Tigers made it two in a row over Pittsburgh, whipping the world champions 12-8; the New York Yankees beat St. Louis on the fifth try, 5-4, in 11 innings; Cincinnati defeated Milwaukee 5-4; San Francisco stopped the Los Angeles Dodgers cold, 2-0; the Boston Red Sox beat Chicago's Cubs 4-3; the White Sox defeated Kansas City 3-1; the Los Angeles Angels beat Cleveland 5-3 and Minnesota and Baltimore split a doubleheader. The Twins won 7-4, then lost 5-4 in seven innings.

The Senators backed Donovan with a dozen hits, but needed only one while scoring five runs in the sixth inning against a wild Johnny Buzhardt.

After Bill Skowron kept the Yankees in the game by driving in the first four runs with a double and three-run homer, slumping Roger Maris singled home the winning run off Rommie Kline.

Sacrifice flies by Gene Freese, who also belted a two-run homer, and Ed Bailey brought the Reds from behind in the seventh inning against the Braves' Seth Morehead. Young Jim Maloney allowed the Braves only one hit in his five frames.

Southpaw Mike McCormick and Stu Miller combined for a six-hit job that handed the Dodgers their first shutout of the spring. Don Blasingame produced the run the Giants needed in the fifth with his first home run of the spring.

Don Buddin, back after a two-week bout with an allergy, hammered a home run and drove in another run with a single for the Red Sox. Bill Monbouquette allowed nine hits — one a two-run homer by Cub right-hander Bob Anderson.

The White Sox made fine pitching by Early Wynn and Gerry Staley pay off when Ed Rakow, the pitcher the A's bought recently from the Dodgers for $40,000, walked in the winning run in the eighth inning.

Jerry Chance and Ron Mueller allowed Cleveland just six hits, and Casper opened a clinching three-run fifth for the Angels with a double.

Gus Triandos, who had been batting .178, hit a three-run homer in the first inning of the second game for the Orioles, then doubled and scored the winning run. The Twins smashed Milt Pappas for 11 hits in the opener, but lost young right-hander Don Lee for two to three weeks. He suffered a fractured finger when he made a barehanded stab of Whitey Herzog's line drive.

Football Back for Spring at 'M'-MSU Next Week

ANN ARBOR — Old-fashioned football coaches say there's no substitute for a strong line and a first-class punter, and that means Michigan coach Bump Elliott faces a brand new year with some old-fashioned problems.
 Replacement of virtually all of the interior line and the search for a new kicker will occupy much of his time during Michigan's annual spring practice which opens next Tuesday.
 Graduation took 18 lettermen from the team which won five and lost four last fall. Seven of these were regular letter in the forward wall and coached at was Ed Bushong, who handled most of the U-M punting duties, averaging 35.7 yards on 39 tries.

 Despite the loss of starting offensive ends Bob Johnson and John Halstead, Michigan appears to have no shortage of ends for next fall.
 Capt. George Mays, Scott Maertz and Bill Freehand — experienced hands all — are among Elliott's 30 returning lettermen.
 But only Mays will be available for spring workouts. Maertz is out for tennis and Freehand is on the baseball team.
 One of the more interesting aspects of spring practice will be the shadings of several quarterback prospects. Best known among these leading candidates are Dave Glines, the star's post to Paddy Evashkevich, son of former Wolverine great Forrest Evashkevich, now athletic director at Iowa.

 As a freshman griddle last fall, the younger Evashkevich showed a lot of promise. So did Tom Fritchard, a 180-pound newcomer from Marion, O.
 Spring practice will conclude with the annual intra-squad game on May 6.
 EAST LANSING — More than 100 candidates are expected to report for opening of Michigan State's spring football practice next Monday, April 10th, but right from the start a tight little group of six will attract a lion's share of attention.

 They are the top quarterback candidates as coaches view them now.
 From this group likely will emerge the successors to Tommy Wilson, Spartan field general and "most valuable player" of the 1960 team which won six, lost two and tied one.
 "We are in for a good team," declared Head Coach Duffy Daugherty, "at least one and preferably two quarterbacks will have to demonstrate that they are capable almost at once of leadership in the tough Big Ten."
 And there will be opportunity for a couple of others to show they have future potential, too. These six boys are really a key group for us. Much depends on them." Here's a brief rundown on the pick six:
 Pete Stewart, junior, from Muskegon, a two-time varsity letter-winner, Stewart is easily the most experienced player at the position and will get early and thorough attention. He stands 6-6 and weighs 190.
 Pete Smith, sophomore from Ecorse, stands 5-11 and weighs 185. Pete was on the varsity squad last fall and attracted considerable favorable interest from coaches and sideliners but played too little in games to win a letter. He can throw the ball well.
 Dick Proebstle, freshman from Canton, Ohio, 6-2 and 202. Proebstle has the size coaches like in a quarterback. He can pass the ball well, carry it with speed and power and handle it with finesse.
 Doug Miller, freshman from East Lansing, 6-2 and 170.
 An All-State at quarterback in high school and showed well last fall with the freshman club.
 Ken Bankey, freshman from Detroit St. Thomas, 6-2 and 175. An All-League choice in football as a prop. Bankey is a fine passer with exceptionally quick action.
 Charles Mileyanka, freshman from East Coudersport, Pa., 5-11 and 175. He made All-State honorable mention as a prep.

Braun May Lose Knick Job

NEW YORK (AP) — Frank McGuire, basketball coach at the University of North Carolina, may succeed Carl Braun as coach of the New York Knickerbockers in the National Basketball Association.
 The New York Mirror, in a story by Harold Weisman, said the Knicks' board of directors have decided to fire Braun and offer the job to the New York-born McGuire, who coached at St. John's before going to North Carolina.

No Knick officials were available and, in Chapel Hill, N.C., McGuire said he had no comment.
 All-America Tom Stith and Whitey Martin of St. Benaventure signed contracts Wednesday with the New York Knicks of the National Basketball Association.

U. of D. Spring Grid Workouts to Begin

DETROIT — About 70 football players are expected to report tomorrow when the University of Detroit begins spring practice.
 Nucleus of the 1961 squad is quarterback Jerry Gross, the Bay City Central all-star who heads a list of 19 lettermen returning to coach Jim Miller. Two of Gross' favorite passing targets of last season, ends Larry Vargo and Steve Stonelocker, also will be back.

Net Tourney in 'Quarters' 'Seeds' Meet Tougher Foes

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — The quarter-finals of the Masters Tennis Tournament opened today with the going figured to be a little tougher for the seeded players.
 Neale Fraser of Australia, top seeded, goes against Jon Douglas, an unseeded player on leave from the Marine Corps.
 Douglas made the quarter-finals by defeating Ed Turville Jr. of St. Petersburg, Fla., 6-0, 6-2 Wednesday.
 Fraser scored 8-6, 6-3 over Rodney Mandelstam of South Africa. Rod Laver of Australia, No. 2 seed, meets Jerry Moss of Miami, one of the top rated Americans in the event.
 Roy Emerson, No. 3 seed from Australia, drew Miguel Olivera of Ecuador. Olivera defeated John Hammit of South Africa 6-3, 6-0 Wednesday.
 The opponent for quarter-finalist Luis Ayala, No. 4 seed, will be determined in a delayed second round match today. Ayala defeated Ed Rubinfeld of Miami Beach, 6-3, 6-4 to keep the seeded list intact.

Feather' Contenders Conclude Training

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The training grind was behind today for champion Davey Moore of Springfield, Ohio, and Danny Valdes of Los Angeles, who fight for the world featherweight boxing title Saturday night.
 The 27-year-old champion finished conditioning at his camp in the mountain country east of Los Angeles and the 21-year-old challenger eased off here.
 The 15-round bout will not be broadcast on telecast.

Market Trading Is Restrained

NEW YORK (U-P)—Trading moved at a restrained rate on the stock market early this afternoon with prices mixed.

Prices fell below their best level of the session.

Investors apparently still were impressed by the statement by which Keith Funtun, president of the New York Stock Exchange, urged caution in making investment.

The market also seemed to be marking time in the absence of any business and political developments of importance. A broker said all it needed was one good development to set it off again.

The oil turned in the best performance of any group with gains up to a point or so. Steels, motors and electronics advanced. Airline and utilities were mixed. Rails declined.

Southern California Edison fell 2 1/2 to 71 in a delayed opening on a block of 25,300 shares.

Union Oil led its advancing group with a gain of about 1 1/2. Added 1/2, and Republic, Texaco and Gulf moved up around a point.

Steels gained fractionally. Bethlehem, reopening two hearts at its Sparrows Point plant in Baltimore, added 1/2, and Republic, recalling 200 men in Chicago, added 1/2.

RICHARD WAGNER

C. of C. Prexy Describes Self

'Pot-Bellied, Sawed-Off Little Man With a Big Voice,' He Says

By FRANK CORMIER
WASHINGTON (AP) — Richard Wagner, the new president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, is "a pot-bellied, sawed-off little man with a big voice."

"If the description seems unflattering, it is Wagner's assessment of his own image on the occasion of his election as the chamber's 34th president."

Wagner, 64, is chairman of the board and chief executive officer of the Champlin Oil and Refining Co., Chicago. He said today he may have to revise part of the title because his one-year stand as chamber president, which begins May 2, will leave him little time for company affairs.

The chamber job carries no salary. Champlin pays Wagner $70,000 a year, a large jump from his first earnings—12 cents an hour for a 60-hour week — as a bank runner in Chicago's Loop in 1910.

Wagner was 14 at the time and went to work because of necessity. His family was poor. His father was a professional singer who tried to piece out the family income through sales jobs and waiting table.

"Don't play-up the Horatio Alger bit," Wagner said. "It's not false modesty, believe me. It's just that in my day a lot of fellows started with nothing and got somewhere. It wasn't unusual."

Wagner wasn't content as a bank runner and studied a short-hand book in his spare time. Within a year he was assistant secretary to the bank's president.

Further promotions meant shorter hours and an opportunity to attend night classes. He got a high school diploma and took some courses at Northwestern University and the American Institute of Banking.

By 1929, he was vice president of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust Co., the institution that originally paid him $3 a week.

Macmillan, JFK Outline Strategy

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan are expected to begin charting allied strategy today for negotiations with the Soviet Union, Red China and other countries on a permanent settlement of the crisis in Laos.

The two Western leaders, in the second day of their Washington conference, were reported optimistic about Soviet agreement to a guaranteed cease fire in the Laotian civil war.

Would Beef Up NATO Forces

Johnson Says Alliance Needs Regular Arms Before N-Power

PARIS (AP)—Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson said today the North Atlantic Treaty Organization needs an effective nuclear capability but the building up of the alliance's nonnuclear forces is a "high priority task."

In a speech marking the 10th anniversary of the founding of NATO military headquarters here, Johnson served notice that the Kennedy administration intends to press first for greater conventional forces to beef up the alliance.

Johnson added that "an effective NATO nuclear capability is also needed to achieve our goal and the United States stands ready to consult with all members of the alliance on the best ways and means of maintaining this capability in the future."

Informants say that the Kennedy administration has shown no enthusiasm for any plan to give atomic weapons to NATO under any kind of complicated multilateral control.

UNDER U.S. CONTROL
At present all NATO nuclear arms are under U.S. control only, or under joint two-power control as in the case of U.S. rocket bases in Britain.

Johnson also called on America's European allies to step up political and economic integration and pledged the full support of the United States and President Kennedy in strengthening the Atlantic community.

The vice president, who is on his way home from Senegal's independence celebrations, stopped in Geneva and conferred with Arthur H. Dean, the U.S. delegate to the U.S.-British-Soviet negotiations in strengthening the Atlantic community.

India Is Asked to Reactivate Board for Laos

LONDON (UPI)—Authoritative diplomatic sources said today Britain and Russia are working out "practical arrangements" for the ending of hostilities in Laos, including a joint appeal for a cease fire.

They said representatives of the two nations are drafting a letter to Indian Premier Jawaharlal Nehru, calling for reactivation of the three-member international supervisory commission for Laos.

"A sufficiently great measure of agreement has now been reached in the diplomatic talks in Moscow to allow both sides to work out the practical arrangements for the projected peace moves in great detail," the sources said.

Final agreement has not yet been achieved, but the sources said that an accord is almost "in the bag."

The Russians were authoritatively reported to be showing good will in the confidential talks which are being conducted in Moscow by British Ambassador Sir Frank Roberts.

Eichmann Is Moved

JERUSALEM, Israel (UPI)—Adolf Eichmann has been transferred to a heavily guarded cell on the top floor of the five-story building in the heart of Jerusalem where he will be tried next week for the murder of 6 million Jews in Nazi Germany, it was disclosed today.

Romney Plans Are Up to CFM

Says His Group Must Give View on Whether He'll Seek Con-Con Bid

DETROIT (AP)—George Romney of 1830 E. Valley, Bloomfield Hills, chairman of Citizens for Michigan, said today that he will seek election as a delegate to the state constitutional convention if the non-partisan political action group which he heads has no objection.

"I personally would consider it a great privilege to be permitted to serve as a delegate," Romney, who is president of American Motors Corp., said. "However, I will make no decision on this question pending the scheduled April 15 meeting of the board of directors of Citizens for Michigan."

Romney said he will not feel free to make a decision on his possible candidacy until the board has had an opportunity for "full consideration of the implications of such a move for Citizens for Michigan."

The citizens group was one of the major backers of a convention to consider revision or replacement of Michigan's 35-year-old constitution. Voters approved a convention in Monday's election.

Stops Showing of Film
LANSING (AP)—Public showings of two controversial films by the state police subversive activities squad were ordered discontinued today by Gov. Swainson. The films — "Operation Abolition" and "Communism on the Map" — have been shown to four high schools in the state and a number of private Greater Lansing United Fund in the Waterford and Pontiac areas last year.

Mrs. Noffsinger attends the Central Methodist Church in Pontiac, is active in the Waterford Republican Group, and is a board member of the Camp Fire Girls. Both she and Mr. Noffsinger are members of the Chatham Dance Group.

Pick Woman UF Leader

Mrs. Walter Noffsinger has been appointed campaign chairman of the Women's Division of the 1961 Pontiac Area United Fund Drive. Announcement of her appointment was made today by Thomas F. Withern, general chairman.

Mrs. Noffsinger, 43, Highfield Road, Drayton Plains, served as Waterford chairman during the 1960 campaign and served as district chairman the preceding two years. She was also active with the Greater Lansing United Fund for three years.

"I am pleased with my appointment and feel confident that the Women's Division will exceed its 1961 goal just as it has done every year since 1959," said Mrs. Noffsinger. "The Women's Division with a working team of 2,000 women raised $77,000 for agencies supported by the Pontiac Area United Fund in the Waterford and Pontiac areas last year."

Mrs. Noffsinger attends the Central Methodist Church in Pontiac, is active in the Waterford Republican Group, and is a board member of the Camp Fire Girls. Both she and Mr. Noffsinger are members of the Chatham Dance Group.

Recount May Be Asked

Adams Edges Out Richman

DETROIT (AP)—The possibility of a recount loomed large today in the contest for one of the two Wayne State University Board of Governors posts on Michigan's spring ballot.

The final unofficial Associated Press tabulation showed Republican Thomas B. Adams, an advertising company president from Bloomfield Hills, leading Democrat Ralph E. Richman of Holland by 510 votes.

Adams, 41, president of Detroit's Campbell Ewald Co., polled 600,783 votes in Monday's election to Richman's 600,273, according to the unofficial count which was not completed until Wednesday.

Richman, 71, an insurance man, said today the possibility of his asking for a recount is "something I would have to give some thought to."

'EXTREMELY GLAD'
Adams, in Washington on a business trip, said at the Capitol, "We are extremely glad we have won such a close contest. We are looking forward to confirmation of the victory by the State Board of Canvassers."

"I am grateful to all the men and women who supported me, hope they are pleased with the outcome," he added.

Adams' assumption of the lead in the unofficial tabulation reversed the positions of the rivals of a day earlier.

The board of canvassers must complete its checking within 11 days after an election, according to Michigan law, and must report the results within 24 hours after the official tabulation is complete.

Many of the smaller counties already have completed their official canvass, with most of the remaining slated for completion by early next week.

Richman's runner-up position was contrary to a general Democratic victory on the state ballot. The Democrats won seven of nine partisan races on the ballot, securing the re-election of State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie and State Superintendent of Public Instruction Dr. Lynn M. Barber.

The other Wayne State University Board of Governors' seat went to incumbent Dr. DeWitt T. Burton, a Democrat.

Paul Goebel, former Grand Rapids mayor, was the only other Republican to win in a partisan race, securing a seat on the University of Michigan Board of Regents. He defeated former Chrysler executive James C. Zeder of Bloomfield Hills.

Democrats now hold a 5-3 majority on the U.M. regents board, a 5-1 majority of the Michigan State University Board of Regents, and a 5-1 advantage on the Wayne board.

City Assessed Valuation

Up $9,120,800 From 1960

Pontiac's 1961 assessed valuation has been set at $290,254,000, a $9,120,800 increase over last year that apparently is enough to bear the proposed $1.61 tax rate of $13.60 for every $1,000 of assessed valuation.

City Assessor Edward C. Bloe announced the final figures today after totaling the reductions made by the board of review over the past month.

The reductions, Bloe said, totaled $97,800 and were wholly applied to the assessing department's recommendations on real property.

There were no reductions on personal property, said Bloe.

GMC FACTOR
A factor in the $9 million increase was the General Motors Corp. assessment, Bloe said. Personal and real taxes on the corporation in Pontiac are up $7,016,400 over last year, Bloe said.

General Motors last year accounted for 55 1/2 per cent of the city's tax base, including nearly 33 per cent of the assessment of real property and 81 per cent of the personal.

In adopting a record $6,571,800 budget Jan. 31, the City Commission was counting on a tax base of at least $290 million on which to base the proposed 33-cent increase in the municipal tax rate. The rate has been $13.27 the past three years.

The budget calls for a tax levy of $13.93, 200.

A levy of $13.60 on a tax base of $290,254,000 would amount to $3,947,640, about $8,000 over the budget estimate.

Now that the assessment figures are final, the $13.60 rate probably will be made official by the Commission shortly.

Bloe said there are no changes this year in home assessments except in the case of new construction.

Some 500 eager women jammed the Elks Temple last night to inaugurate the Centennial Belles, the female equivalent of the Brothers of the Brush.

The ladies held their side of the celebration spelled out in detail by various activity chairmen.

There were speeches, square dances, singing. It was a gala affair, abounding with that ingrained Detroit breed success — enthusiasm.

Lovers Sentenced to Life in Prison; Could Get Parole in 7 Years

LOS ANGELES (AP)—"We'll fight it, darling, we're still alive." Wet-eyed and grateful a jury had spared their lives, Dr. R. Bernard Finch so consoled Carol Tregoff Wednesday after a third murder trial jury decreed life imprisonment for the once wealthy surgeon and his red-haired mistress.

Finch and Carol—convicted of murdering the playboy doctor's socialite wife—broke into sobs when the jury decided after a dozen suspenseful hours to send the lovers to prison and not to the gas chamber.

Carol, at 24 no longer the tawny beauty she was two years ago as Finch's pampered mistress, cried at the verdict: "No, no, I'll be an old woman when I get out."

Finch, 43, dropped his head on his folded arms and cried until the counsel table in the packed courtroom was wet with tears. Then he said to his attorney: "Thank God, thank God."

COST $750,000
Thus after three trials, a year and a half of suspense and an estimated $750,000 of taxpayers' money, did one of the most publicized murder cases of recent years come to a dramatic conclusion.

Under California law, Finch and his new plump paramour will be eligible for parole, depending on their prison record, in seven years—1968.

Commissioner Grants 16.2 Pct. Average Boost

New Cost to Run From $8.12 Monthly for One to $23.01 for Family

LANSING (AP)—State insurance Commissioner Frank Blackford today authorized a $37-million yearly increase in Blue Cross and Blue Shield insurance rates.

The increase, effective June 1, would grant a $28-million increase to Blue Cross and a $9 million increase to Blue Shield.

In Detroit, Blue Cross-Blue Shield said the hikes will result in an average combined increase of 18.2 per cent to subscribers. New rates will scale from $8.12 a month for one person to $23.01 for a full family.

Blackford said the increases bring the total rate boost for Blue Cross since 1955 to 88.1 per cent and for Blue Shield a total of 56.3 per cent.

Blackford said the approval of a total of 26 per cent increase for Blue Cross is 3 per cent short of the original request which would have brought in an estimated increase of $31.7 million.

Blue Shield got a 16 per cent hike. It had requested an $11 million increase.

DECISION NOT EASY
"Undoubtedly our action in approving an increase in the cost of Blue Shield-Blue Cross coverage will be critically received by many of our citizens."

"The decision was not an easy one. It was made more difficult by a realization of its impact on older citizens with limited incomes, and the unemployed."

In the absence of any substitute program to meet the health needs of the 3.5-million Blue Cross-Blue Shield subscribers, they are compelled to recognize our responsibility to maintain the solvency of both corporations so that they may meet their obligations to the subscribers."

Blackford pointed out that the increase in rates was not unique in Michigan.

He said that in the past year increases have been granted in New York, Maryland, New Jersey, Ohio and Pennsylvania, in most cases even larger than the increases in Michigan.

Blackford declared:
"We recognize that this is small consolation to those who must dig deeper to pay the increase and those who must contemplate dropping their coverage because of inability to pay."

"Still, we would not be justified in depriving those who are willing and able to pay for such coverage from a chance to get it. An arbitrary or capricious denial of the request inevitably would have had this consequence."

Red Technicians Annoyed in Cuba; Quit, Head Home

From Our News Wire
HAVANA — Communist technicians sent here to train Cubans in their specialties were reported today to be heading for home, disgusted with the inefficiency of Premier Fidel Castro's government.

Seven aviation instructors from Czechoslovakia left Monday morning, telling friends they had found it impossible to work under the "inefficient direction" of the Castroites.

Gives Standing Offer to Resign, but Majority Not Likely to Accept

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld left his fate in the hands of the United Nations General Assembly today with a standing offer to resign, but there seemed no prospect that a majority of the members would accept.

Hammarskjöld made his show-down move during the assembly's Congo debate. He was in an obvious maneuver to take the sting out of repeated Soviet bloc demands that he step down. Judging from the applause he received after the close of his unscheduled address, most delegates want him to stay on.

Hammarskjöld has been under mounting Communist attack since Soviet Premier Khrushchev demanded his resignation last fall, stood by his previous vow not to yield to the Red demand unless the assembly asks him to quit.

The U.N. executive also made clear he would consider silence from the assembly to mean he should remain in office.

EXPLAINS STAND

He told the delegates: "I do not consider that I am entitled to prevent the General Assembly from a fair and free decision."

"On the other hand, I regard the will of the General Assembly in this respect as my law, and the General Assembly must consider itself as seized with a standing offer of resignation were it to find it in the interest of the organization that I leave."

But, he added, if the assembly does not ask for his resignation, he must conclude that "you neither expect me to resign nor on the basis of that offer, nor desire in any other way to avail yourselves of the possibility it opens."

Hammarskjöld's term of office does not expire until April 1963.

Elsewhere in the U.N. Yugoslavia and 14 Asian-African nations proposed that the General Assembly threaten Belgium with punitive action if she does not pull all Belgian military men and political advisers out of the Congo within three weeks.

Russ Plan May Wreck N-Ban Negotiations

From Our News Wire
GENEVA — The Soviet delegate to the three-power nuclear test talks announced today his government will insist the system to police an agreement must be headed by a three-man administrative commission.

Violence Fought in Cuba

Western conference sources say Soviet insistence on this demand may well wreck the 21-year-old conference at which the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union are trying to write a treaty on nuclear testing.

Violence Fought in Cuba

There is no point to a treaty for a treaty's sake, Johnson said in a statement reporters before leaving for Paris.

Violence Fought in Cuba

The assistant Senate Democratic leader said the Soviet "tactics of retrogression and filibustering" in the slow-moving Geneva talks are "irresponsible and dangerous."

Arts and Crafts Exhibit to Be Held April 29-30

BIRMINGHAM — The annual arts and crafts exhibit at the City and County School in Bloomfield Hills will be held April 29 and 30. It was announced today.

Parents of the school children are already preparing for the two-day "Spring Gallery."

High Court Has Straley Case

Considering Arguments for Voiding Amendment to City Charter

The State Supreme Court today has under advisement legal arguments to upset last year's charter amendment which former Police Chief Herbert W. Straley was fired.

A spokesman for the court said it would probably be two or more months before a decision is announced.

Appearing before the high court yesterday, City Attorney William A. Ewart and City Commissioner Milton R. Henry rehearsed arguments presented last spring before Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem.

In a suit brought by himself and City Commissioner Robert A. Laney, Henry contended that the charter amendment was unfairly presented to voters.

He said it called for the re-establishment and reorganization of the Police Trial Board, but at the time the amendment was presented to voters, Straley from his jurisdiction.

Henry maintained that Straley's status should have been the subject of a separate amendment.

Ewart pointed out that the attorney general's office had approved the form of the amendment before it was presented to voters in the April 18 city election.

He described the amendment as a "united plan" and contended it would have been "unrealistic" to present the issues in any other form.

It was on the basis of Ewart's arguments that Judge Ziem dismissed the Henry-Laney suit last May. The suit was brought last April 21, just three days after voters approved the amendment 4,006 to 4,023.

Exercising his new powers, City Manager Walter K. Willman fired Straley soon after the dismissal. The issue was then appealed to the high court.

If the Supreme Court tosses out the charter amendment, it will mean that Straley was improperly fired.

But such a move would also leave the city without a legally constituted trial board, since another court decision concluded that there was no trial board in existence at the time of last April's election.

This was the decision of Circuit Judge William J. Beer, ruling in a different suit some weeks after Judge Ziem's decision.

There was a move to appeal Judge Beer's decision to the high court, but this action has been stalled pending the outcome of the Henry-Laney appeal.

Carole, Finch Get Life

15, 1959, when the body of Barbara Jean Finch, 36—a bullet in the back—was discovered on the lawn next to the Finch estate in suburban West Covina.

In the three trials—the first ended in jury deadlocks—Finch testified that he went to see his wife to plead for a divorce, not to kill her. He said she pulled a gun, they struggled—and the weapon accidentally went off.

Her dying words—according to Finch: "I'm sorry, darling, please take care of the kids."

The death weapon has never been found.

The verdict brought a smile of relief to attorney Maxwell Keith who replaced courtly Grant Cooper as Finch's counsel in the third trial.

"From the look on the jurors' faces when they came in, it looked like gas to me," Keith said. "The verdict couldn't be any better under the circumstances."

Cooper, who took most of the surgeon's testimony—including his home and yet-in-legal fees for the first two deaths—said: "I'm very happy with this portion of the verdict."

Clifford Crail, the crusty prosecutor who masterminded all three trials, said: "We'll accept the verdict without comment. The jury has spoken."

The jurors retired to a hotel, dined on steaks and then jury foreman Jamps Dyer read this statement to newsmen: "We as 12 individuals listened to all the testimony during the trial—the same testimony that all of you heard. When we returned to the jury room we discussed the testimony and various pertinent points and came to a decision on all counts. We feel we came to a fair and just decision. The verdicts speak for themselves."

Says Bagwell Won't Return to Post at MSU

Released American at Point of Death

HONG KONG (AP) — Robert McCann of Pasadena, Calif., released after nearly 10 years in prison in Communist China, hovered near death here today.

Doctors canceled all plans to fly him to a U.S. Air Force hospital in Manila unless his condition, which they described as extremely grave, improves. McCann, 60, long a businessman in China, is dying of lung cancer.

Attendees at St. Teresa's Hospital said he was semiconscious and tossing restlessly.

McCann was carried across the Chinese Communist border into Hong Kong on a stretcher at noon today. He was half-conscious then, apparently under heavy sedation. His eyes were glazed, his body emaciated.

His wife, who flew 9,000 miles last week to be at his side, said his condition took a drastic turn for the worse during their grueling 1,500-mile journey by plane and train from Tientsin, in North China.

GOP Renews Warning Against Laos Coalition

WASHINGTON — Republican congressional leaders today renewed their warning against a coalition government for Laos in the face of a Democratic protest they are conducting "policy guerrilla warfare" against efforts to solve the crisis.

Rep. Charles A. Halleck, R-Ind., House party leader, said after a GOP leadership meeting that Republicans are concerned that a coalition might "wind up with a Communist takeover of Laos."

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., said earlier that GOP attempts to define a coalition government as one necessarily dominated by Communists amount to "emotional misrepresentation."

Dig Up Relics in National Park

Pueblo Cliff Dwellings
Give Up Pottery, Axes
and Mummified Turkey

WASHINGTON — The National Park Service and the National Geographic Society have completed a second season of excavations at abandoned cliff dwellings of Southwest Pueblo Indians. Indians vanished from the Wetherill Mesa section of what is now Colorado's Mesa Verde National Park before 1300 A.D. Archaeologists want to know how they lived and what happened to them.

Scientists, who were housed in a tent city there during the summer, are conducting a broad program of research. Studies of the cliff architecture, artifacts, burials, soil, pollen, wood, charcoal, and the area's plant life are part of the long-range project.

Thousands of articles have been collected at the main cliff settlements—Long House, Mug House and Step House. These include pottery, baskets, bone fishers, bone awls, stone axes, and, surprisingly, a mummified turkey.

Bit by bit, the scientists are learning more about the shadowy people of the mesas. Examination of rock deposits of nearby Mancos River and the La Plata Mountains suggests, for instance, that these were the sources of stone from which the Indians made tools.

A poignant discovery was made in front of Mug House. Chancing upon a burial place, excavators found the remains of 23 Indians, most of them infants and children. There were meager grave offerings—pottery, awls, axes, arrowpoints and a bead.

Master floor plans are being made of the larger settlements. Surveyors have located hundreds of smaller pueblo sites on the ridges of the tree-tangled, canyon-scoured hills.

During the first part of the Great Pueblo period, 1100 to 1300 A.D., people lived atop the mesas in 1200, possibly 1/4, 1/4, 1/4 well-built masonry pueblos.

About 1200, possibly because of enemy attacks, then began to move down into the canyons and build their pueblos in cliff faces and caves.

Eventually they departed, harassed perhaps by drought as well as enemies.

Many pueblos, particularly Long House, were nearly wrecked by early looters. A chief objective of the Park Service-National Geographic project is to stabilize the ruins of Wetherill Mesa so they can be opened to the public.

The Wetherill cliff dwellings would then serve as an alternate attraction to Chapin Mesa's famous Cliff House, which is literally being worn down by the growth.

Miss in Interplanetary Flight Is Good as Thousands of Miles

By JOSEPH L. MYLER
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Space scientists hope in a matter of weeks to solve mysteries about Venus which have baffled man ever since he began to study the bright planet.

They also expect to calculate more accurately the distance between earth and sun and other members of the sun's planetary family.

These distances must be plotted as precisely as possible before man can hope to visit such neighbors of earth as Mars and Venus. Even slight errors could throw a spaceflight tens of thousands of miles off course.

A new investigation of Venus and of interplanetary distances is being carried out by scientists of the Jet Propulsion Laboratory (JPL) of Pasadena, Calif. JPL is operated for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) by the California Institute of Technology.

At 9:34 p.m. (EST) March 10 at JPL's Goldstone tracking station, 50 miles north of Barstow, Calif., a radio signal completed a 70-million-mile round trip to Venus. The signal had left Goldstone 6 1/2 minutes before. It was the first time a signal bounce off Venus had been immediately confirmed without elaborate analysis of taped records.

REPEAT EXPERIMENT
Since March 10, a day astronauts of the future may want to commemorate, the JPL scientists have repeated the experiment many times and will continue their research for several more weeks. By studying variations in the returning signals they expect to get information impossible to acquire in any other available way.

Venus is perpetually shrouded with clouds which no optical telescope can penetrate. Astronomers do not know what the planet's surface is like. It may be all dry land or, for all anybody knows certainly, it may have seas of water or some other liquid such as petroleum.

Because different kinds of surface reflect radio signals differently, the JPL scientists hope to answer this question, and also to find out whether Venus spins on its axis, as the earth does, and how the axis is oriented in relation to the sun.

There have been reports, which JPL refused to confirm, or abrupt changes in the returning radio signals of a sort that would be expected if Venus' surface were partly land and partly liquid.

All Dr. William H. Pickering, JPL's director, would say about this in a recent telephone interview was: that he expects the current research to "indicate the nature" of the planet's surface. JPL also expects answers to questions about Venus' rotation.

But the laboratory feels it is too early to discuss results to date because, Pickering said, "We want to be real sure about our technical information."

YARDSTICK FOR PLANETS

The orbital positions of the various planets can be accurately predicted years in advance in terms of a yardstick known as the Astronomical Unit (AU). This unit is the mean distance between the earth and sun.

What that distance is in terms of units of measurement which can be used in space flight—yards, meters, kilometers, or miles—is not known with anything like the accuracy space exploration requires.

For 65 years scientists have been striving to improve the accuracy of the Astronomical Unit in terms of miles. Their calculations vary by as much as 170,000 miles.

One way to calculate the AU is to fire a radio signal at an object in the solar system and clock the time it takes to make the round trip. Such signals travel at the speed of light, which has been determined with considerable accuracy. It is roughly 186,300 miles a second.

In 1958 the Lincoln Laboratory of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT) aimed signals at Venus from its millstone hill station and confirmed, after lengthy study, that they got there and back.

MIT scientists calculated the astronomical unit at 92,874 million miles. The early JPL results are reported to have confirmed this figure, and later results are expected to refine the accuracy out to a few more decimal points.

This, too, Pickering refused to confirm. He said, however, that he expects the JPL work to provide an interplanetary yardstick accurate enough to enable man to put spacecraft "quite close" to Venus and Mars.

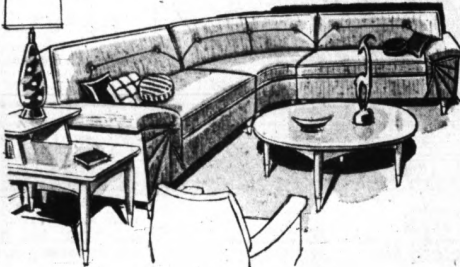

This yardstick, he indicated will be ready well before the first U.S. Venus probe is launched next year.

The Emperor Charlemagne (742-814) founded many cathedral and monastery schools although he himself was illiterate until his old age.

Rickenbacker's Son in Court on Census

NEW YORK (UP) — A son of Capt. Edward V. Rickenbacker, World War I flying hero and board chairman of Eastern Air Lines, pleaded innocent Wednesday to a charge of refusing to answer a 1960 census special questionnaire.

The son, William F. Rickenbacker, 33, contended the questionnaire, of a detailed type sent to every fourth household, was snooty, a violation of privacy and unconstitutional.

U.S. Dist. Court Judge Charles M. Metzner released him on his own recognizance and scheduled May 4 for the setting of a trial date.

Capt. Rickenbacker sat in the spectator section of the court during the proceedings. He declined later to comment to newsmen.

(Editor's Note: This is the fourth in a series of articles in which Ben Cohen reports from the scene of Adolf Eichmann's crimes. In Germany, and from Israel, where the main evidence stands that starting April 11.)

By BEN COHEN

DACHAU—One of the more incredible aspects of the Nazi torture and extermination program, against Jews and others is that in the hands of men like Adolf Eichmann it continued right through the last hours of the colossal collapse of the Third Reich. In anything, it got worse.

Dachau, the first of the horror camps, was destined to become the last. The first the German people and known about it was on March 21, 1933, when this announcement appeared in the paper "Munchener Neuesten Nachrichten":

"On Wednesday, March 22, 1933, the first concentration camp will be opened in the vicinity of Dachau. It can accommodate 5,000 people. We have selected this location, undisturbed by paltry scruples, in the conviction that our action will help to restore calm to our country and is in the best interest of our people. Heinrich Himmler, Commissioner of Police for the City of Munich."

Now in the spring of 1945, nobody really knows how many tortured lives later—Dachau again stood virtually alone, deep in Hitler's deeply lovely redoubt. The Allies had overrun most of the others, yet such was the crazed zeal to punish and destroy helpless victims that some of these places had been evacuated of their human refuse and the starvelings sent to Dachau.

Dr. Johann Neuhaeuser, auxiliary bishop of Munich, tells about it with the help of other Dachau inmates, notably Joseph Joos, author of "Leben Auf Widerruf." "The frantic mass transports from the Balkans continued," Joos noted. "Concentration camps were being evacuated head over heels in the east, south and west. All to Dachau! How would it end? Overnight the blocks were overcrowded threefold, fourfold, sixfold. Rest and sleep were out of the question. And vermin were everywhere. The man responsible for the disinfection of the camp breathlessly shouted to us:

"Come and see! Millions and millions of insects! The clothes which the newly arrived prisoners have discarded are moving! We shall all perish."

"What took place at Dachau during January and February 1945 belongs to the most staggering tragedies in the history of all concentration camps."

Paul Ferrer, a Frenchman who had arrived in a shipment of dead and dying in which cannibalism was practiced, was to write:

"We were full of lice and fleas. Many had no longer a mattress and lay upon the boards naked. If a helpless prisoner became very dirty, he was dragged into the washroom, the dirt was scrubbed off with rough brushes and then he was thrown upon the boards again."

"The fisherman, Michel Schulz, remained three weeks naked upon the boards without receiving any treatment. Believed to be dead, he was thrown upon the heap of corpses. Using every effort of his will, he succeeded in reaching his bed again."

"On Jan. 5, 1945, we had to go back from the bath to the block in intense cold, dressed only in wet drawers and a thin shirt. Some collapsed on the way and died. When these were brought back from the disinfection, they were still full of vermin."

"The disinfection of Jan. 25, 1945: We had to go to the bath at 6 a.m. Anyone who could not walk was thrown naked upon a wheelbarrow. It was bitterly cold. Many of us had temperatures. He who did not get along quickly enough received floggings from the block senior, and anyone who did not succeed in reaching the shower at once was pulled along the cement floor and plunged into the water tank. Some drowned."

"The return to the block took place at 8 o'clock in the evening, barefooted, and many were without clothes. We had been kept in the bath for 14 hours without food or drink. In the following days the number of deaths increased quite considerably."

Rank meant nothing at Dachau. The Geneva Convention might have applied to the moon.

"On April 19, 1945, just 10 days before our glorious liberation," Bishop Neuhaeuser told me, close to tears over the memory, "the French General Delestraint served the Mass celebrated in our barracks by Bishop Piquet."

"Hardly had the service begun when an SS under-commandant came in and interrupted. 'The general must pick at once,' he announced. Gen. Delestraint, a magnificent man, left his position at the foot of the makeshift altar, packed his few little things, and came back to receive Holy Communion. His last Holy Communion!"

"After Mass I asked the under-commandant, 'What is wrong with the general?' 'Ah,' he answered lightly, 'he is going to Lunenburg, as all of you are. We have just now leaving a small bus with eight seats but only seven people. We are taking the general with us.' Three hours later, Delestraint was shot with three other French prisoners and 11 Czechoslovakian officers."

Even to the last days . . . "We are writing on Saturday, April 28, 1945," the diary of a Franciscan priest reported. "A long procession of newcomers passes through the gate. They are mostly walking corpses. Some fall down dead. The political bureau does not distribute numbers any more but it learns from the accompanying lists that there are 116 women from Leipzig, many of whom are very sick, and 5,628 men from seven other camps."

"At the siding are 15 to 20 wagons containing 2,600 corpses, mostly comrades from Flossenburg and Buchenwald who died en route. The funeral-commando transports the bodies to the crematorium. The gruesome work lasts until midnight. Mountains of bodies are piled up high at the depot on the railroad, at the crematorium and on the black street of the infirmary."

Bishop Neuhaeuser relived the last chapter for us:

"On April 27, 28 and part of the 29th, 1945, one experienced a frightful agitation in the camp because the shots of the artillery and of the machine guns came closer and closer. Gen. Patton's army! The American planes fly of ting very low over the camp and destroying the leading approaches and other important military objects gave us great hope."

"Then on April 28 news went through the camp that the entire camp together with its inmates was to be destroyed during the night by order of Himmler! This news almost drove the prisoners mad. The former camp commandant Weiss, by now inspector of all concentration camps, hindered the carrying out of this order."

"Now, on the 29th, the watchtowers, one after another, hung out white flags, a sign for capitulation."

"Actually, the American soldiers, I learned later, had not intended to occupy the territory of the camp. An advance party advanced to the railroad depot and found there a great number of dead bodies in the wagons.

Without having a clear idea of where they were going, they advanced farther and not finding any resistance they suddenly found themselves in the camp. The sentries in one of the watchtowers who did not want to surrender were liquidated."

"An immense joy filled the hearts of the prisoners. All who would move went to the roll-call square which still held such terrible memories and thanked the liberators."

We asked the rugged old bishop what were his thoughts about the impending trial in Jerusalem of one of the chief architects of this crime.

WANTS PART OF COUNTY ANNEXED TO ANOTHER

CALUMET (U) — A resolution calling for the extension of Keweenaw County to include all those lands north of the Portage Channel was adopted Tuesday night by the Calumet Chamber of Commerce.

The lands now belong to Houghton County.

The chamber said the extension proposal will be presented to Sen. Charles McManis, D-Houghton, in the hope he will present it to the State Legislature for consideration.

The chamber said that by securing the land, it hopes to give Keweenaw County more tourist allure.

If Keweenaw County got the land, it would acquire the cities of Calumet, Larim, Lake Linden, Hancock and Hubbell. This would leave Houghton County with Houghton as its only major community.

Postal Border Trouble Precedes Gronchi Visit

ROME (U) — President Giovanni Gronchi left today for state visits to Peru, Argentina and Uruguay and embarrassed postal officials here are rushing out new stamps to commemorate the occasion.

The first stamp issue showed all three countries with the wrong borders. Diplomats from the three countries noticed the errors.

Kennedy Bops Guard With Wild Golf Shot

WASHINGTON (U) — The White House confirmed Wednesday that President Kennedy bearded a Secret Service man with a wild golf shot at Palm Beach, Fla., Monday.

"It was on the first bounce," Press Secretary Pierre Salinger told reporters.

The President insisted that the agent, whose name Salinger said he did not know, "go down town immediately and get a checkup."

The Secret Service man was not injured and returned promptly to the Palm Beach Country Club course where the President was playing, Salinger said.

Salinger said he didn't know whether the ball was a hook or a slice, but reports from Palm Beach earlier indicated Kennedy was hooking some shots that day.

NCA Reports Record for Revenues in 1960

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — Record revenues of $2,688,628 have been reported by North Central Airlines for 1960.

The amount is an increase of 17 per cent over the company's 1959 take in 1959.

The airline, which serves a number of points in Michigan including Pontiac, is now second ranked among all U.S. airlines in number of cities served.

Draftees Have It Made; Get 18-Month Furloughs

TRIESTE, Italy (U) — Draftees, 34 and 35 years old, are being enrolled in the army in this Italian port today and receiving instant furloughs.

Born in 1926 and 1927, they should have been drafted 14 or 15 years ago. But because of the German occupation and then the dispute with Yugoslavia over Trieste their class was never called up.

However, Italian law says every able bodied man must do military service.

So the 1926-27 class is reporting to draft boards, taking physicals, and getting papers putting them on leave for the entire 18 months of their compulsory military service.

MAKE OVER $5,000 to Help Friend

By Jim Long
MILFORD—What are friends for but to help when help is needed and Jerry Van Rossum has lots of friends.
And all with a goal—to raise $5,000 to aid the former Milford High School star athlete who is in a Hollywood, Fla., hospital, the victim of a near-fatal knife attack.

$4,000 Damage as House Burns

Berkley Firemen Have Trouble Fighting Blaze
in Junk-Filled Home
BERKLEY — A junk-filled, one-story home at 2446 Oakshire Road, was partially destroyed last night when fire broke out in the utility room causing an estimated $4,000 damage.

No one was injured. The owner John D. DeWald, 69, and his wife were in the house at the time. A son, George, 25, had left the house to get a tub for the television set and on his return found his father fighting the blaze.

The younger DeWald called Berkley firemen.

Fire Capt. Frederick Hill said that in all his 21 years on the police and fire department he had never seen a house "so cluttered with junk."

Capt. Hill said his men had trouble extinguishing the fire because every room in the house was "piled high" with boxes and old newspapers.

The utility room, he said, was "cramped with paint cans and thinner." Hill blamed the fire on spontaneous combustion.

He refused to allow the DeWalds to remain in the house overnight and is contacting the board of health and the Berkley building department for an inspection.

Hill said he would not allow the DeWalds to return to the home until it was cleared of debris.

$1.5 Million in Bonds Okayed for Schools

FARMINGTON — Approval to issue $1.5 million in bonds for new school construction and furnishings has been given by the Farmington School District by the State Municipal Finance Commission.

The money will be used to complete the Beechview Elementary School and the North Farmington High School and erect a new elementary school. An addition will be built on the Wadsworth Elementary School.

The bond issue was approved by voters in November 1959. It is half of the bond issue given approval at that time. The other funds were used to get construction under way.

Parents Announce Couple's Engagement

ORTONVILLE — The engagement of Ingrid Christine Wenger to Michael LeRoy Irvine is announced by the parents of the young couple, Mrs. Elizabeth B. Wenger of Phoenix, Ariz., John G. Wenger of 15 S. Church St., Ortonville, and Mrs. Mary L. Trill of Scottsdale, Ariz.

The bride-elect, a former student at Oxford High School is attending Central High School in Phoenix. The prospective bridegroom, a graduate of Roswell High School, Roswell, N. M., has attended the New Mexico Institute of Mining and Technology.

The American Lutheran Church in Phoenix will be the setting for the wedding April 14.

Hunger Leads to Jail

KALAMAZOO — David L. Hart, 20, of Vicksburg was sentenced in Circuit Court Wednesday to a 24-to-36 month prison term for breaking into a bakery at Schoolcraft Jan. 1. He pleaded guilty, saying he broke into the bakery because he was hungry.

victim of a near-fatal knife attack.

James Carlo, a 30-year-old with a long police record, started an unprovoked fight with Van Rossum and then stabbed him in the stomach, seriously injuring a kidney.

The incident occurred Feb. 12 and for six weeks Jerry remained on the critical list. Two weeks ago his condition improved considerably and was allowed to sit up but this week he had a relapse and went into a coma.

Classmates of the 1957 graduate learned of the family debt.

A week from Saturday, April 15, they hope to realize a portion of their $5,000 goal by sponsoring a benefit dance at the American Legion Hall in Milford from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Other funds are to be raised through a canister campaign.

Jerry and his family moved from Milford to Joplin, Mo., in November when his father's employer transferred him there. In January Jerry decided to join the Air Force but before going he took the trip to Hollywood to visit Bonnie Becker, 18, also formerly of Milford.

Jerry only planned to spend a few days with his family and then return to Joplin for induction. The money injury might prevent that now.

Sports page readers probably will have no trouble remembering Jerry's athletic accomplishments in high school where he excelled in track—specializing in shot put and pole vaulting.

He was league champion for three years in pole vaulting. He was regional champion in the event during his junior and senior years. In his last year at Milford he placed second in both the Albion College Relay Carnival and the state relays.

He is the holder of the Milford school pole vault record with 11 feet 6 inches and the league record with 11 feet 3 inches.

His friends haven't forgotten and are hoping that many others remember.

ANNETTE B. SHEPARD

The engagement of Annette Bernice Shepard to Richard N. Ashley is announced by her parents Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Shepard of Worcester, Maine. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Dorothy Ashley of 1120 Maple Heights Road, Commerce Township. No wedding date is set.

BOATING, SWIMMING SITE — A 54-acre lake will provide boating and swimming facilities for more than 5,800 Macomb County girl scouts at their new campsite, two miles west of Romeo. ## Otsikita Scouts Buy Campsite

Girls Pay $140,000 for 188 Acres Near Romeo; Cookie Sales Help

ROMEO—The Otsikita Girl Scout Council of Macomb County has completed the purchase of 188 acres of rolling farmland two miles west of here for a permanent campsite.

The Mill Valley Farm property is located on the north side of 32-Mile Road, just west of Eldred Road. Owned by Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Knechtel, it was sold through Annett Incorporated Realtors, Pontiac, for $140,000.

The parcel consists of 74 acres of wooded hillside, 60 acres of rolling hills and a 54-acre lake containing three picturesque islands.

Present farm buildings included in the deal are a 4x10 barn of brown glazed tile and white wood siding, two tenant houses, an implement building, granary and bull barn.

According to Mrs. George A. Mansfield, camp committee chairman, seven parcels within a 100-mile radius were examined by the selection committee before the choice was made.

Scout officials say they plan to convert the present farm buildings for year-round use for troop camping, special programs, campfire activities and adult leadership training.

The first event to be held on the new campsite will be a Highland Fling Campout for the 5,800 girls who are members of the council. It is slated for May 19 and 20.

Money for the purchase of the property is being raised through cookie sales with a separate fund drive to be conducted within the next two years, according to scout officials.

Dem, Republican to Break Tie

'Luck of Draw' to Decide Pontiac Twp. Board Edge

By DON FERMOYLE

PONTIAC TOWNSHIP—Whether the Pontiac Township Board will be controlled by Republicans or Democrats for the next two years was to be decided here today.

Incumbent Richard F. Avery (D) and Wayne Devor (R), the two candidates who tied for one of the trustee posts in Monday's election, were to draw two slips of paper from a hat today.

The candidate who picks a small slip of paper with the word "decides" written on it will be the fourth trustee on the seven-member board.

ASSURED OF WIN

Davis, who outpolled Republican Leonard F. Terry by a 722-to-633 margin in Monday's balloting, was the only Democrat assured of victory. The terms of Lyle and Bodman were not up in the election. However, if the luck of the draw is with Devor, then the outcome of the election will mark an almost-complete reversal in the formerly Democrat-controlled township.

Kenneth E. Gidley (R) defeated Emory L. Mitchell (D), a former member of the township board, in the race for the other trustee vacancy, 650 to 578.

Republican incumbents Greta V. Block, clerk, and Gollie B. Malinin, treasurer, turned back their Democratic opponents by wide margins.

Republicans also swept every other office available in the township election, including four constable vacancies, a board of review post and a justice of the peace position.

Unless a recount of the entire vote is demanded by either candidate, the controlling party in Pontiac Township will be decided by two pieces of paper in a hat.

4 Programs Set at Troy on Alcohol

TROY — The Commission on Christian Social Concerns of the Big Beaver Methodist Church will sponsor programs on four succeeding Sundays beginning next week based on a book called "The Stumbling Block."

Next Sunday's meeting will have as its speaker, Frances Zaluska, director of the Pontiac Alcoholism Center. Her talk is entitled "What Alcohol Does and the Need for Control."

The April 16 program will feature Dr. L. G. Rowley, director of the Oakland County Medical Center as guest speaker. His subject will be "Alcoholism—A Modern Disease."

Rev. Albert Hartog, pastor of the host church, will talk on "Alcoholism and the Bible. Alcoholism and the Churches," at the April 23 meeting.

An Appeal to Christian Responsibility will be the topic of Corinne Perkins' address on April 30. She is district president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union.

The public sessions will be held from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. each Sunday.
