Rallies Behind LBJ

Senate Blocks Cut in Aid

Rejects 3 Tries to Slash Bill for $3.29 Billion

Senator Attempts to Reduce Low-Interest Development Loans

WASHINGTON (AP) —The Senate rallied behind President Johnson today to reject the first three attempts to reduce the $3,299,500,000 foreign aid money bill.

The bipartisan majorities reflected an apparent response to Johnson's plea against further cuts.

Johnson said the funds were "needed for our own security and well-being."

In the third roll call vote of the day, the Senate defeated 54 to 30 an amendment by Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., to slash funds for long-term, low-interest development loans abroad from the $800 million recommended by its appropriations committee to the $600 million approved by the House.

★ ★ ★

Ellender and others, including Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S. D., argued that the loans amounted to little more than grants with the bulk of them carrying three-fourths of 1 per cent interest over a 40-year period.

TO BUY U. S. GOODS

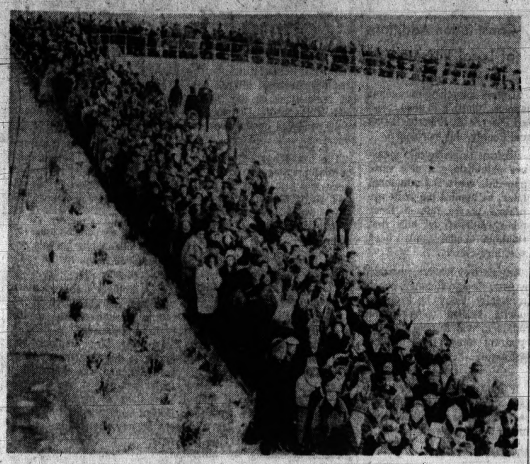

Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R. I., floor manager for the bill, replied that more than 95 per cent of the loans are used to purchase "commodities and goods made in the United States."

In two earlier votes, the Senate rejected proposals to cut economic support assistance.

It rejected 55 to 25 an amendment by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., to reduce funds for supporting economic assistance to defense pact allies from $380 million to the $300 million voted by the House.

It next defeated 53 to 34 an amendment by Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., to cut these funds from $380 to $350 million. Sup-

TICKETS TO EAST—Some of more than 2,000 West Berliners line up outside the Schiller School today for applications for permits to visit East Berlin for Christmas. The East government announced this week the visits would be allowed for persons having relatives in the zone.

Wall Cracks for Holidays

W. Berliners Cross to East

BERLIN (AP) — The first West Berliners crossed through the Red wall today with newly issued Communist passes to meet relatives in East Berlin for the first time in more than two years.

Official West Berlin police reports said six persons, three adults and three children, crossed in the early afternoon. A police guard at one crossing point said 22 persons crossed.

The fact that persons were already crossing today came as a surprise, since officially no passes issued today were to have been valid until 5 a.m. tomorrow.

★ ★ ★

A West Berlin government spokesman said it was possible the East Germans made some exception. They said that the big rush of visits would start Friday.

EXPECT THOUSANDS

Thousands are expected to pour through the crossing points for Christmas holiday reunions with relatives.

Communist officials appeared to be doing their utmost to avoid traffic jams at the five crossing points in the wall, which was built 28 months ago to prevent the escape of East Germans and to isolate West Berlin.

The Reds felt large lineups at the wall might lead to trouble.

The East Germans knocked an additional door-sized hole into the concrete barrier at the pedestrian crossing at Oberbaumbruecke.

They also enlarged the vehicle crossing in the Neukoelln district by removing several concrete slabs.

UNUSUAL STEP

The Communist regime took the unusual step of assigning mostly officers to the work. Apparently they can be more relied upon not to make a break for the West.

Under the agreement between the East Berlin administration of Mayor Willy Brandt, an estimated 800,000 West Berliners will be allowed to visit close relatives on the other side of the wall on one-day passes until Jan. 5.

The Communists have refused to admit most West Berliners to East Berlin since the wall was started in August 1961. The restriction has not applied to Allied military personnel and non-German civilians.

★ ★ ★

Long lines of West Berliners waited outside the 12 offices where applications for crossing permits were received. Some complained when the offices closed at 6 p.m. with applicants still waiting in the cold.

Extra police were called to disperse those who refused to leave.

About 24,000 applications were turned over to East German authorities for their approval Wednesday.

In the West Berlin City Parliament, Christian Democrat Ernst Lemmer, a former West German cabinet minister, caused an uproar by saying that the Communists might use the agreement for future political blackmail.

Lemmer said the Reds already were giving the agreement misleading interpretations.

Brandt, a socialist, replied that West Berliners had shown repeatedly they could not be blackmailed. He insisted that the agreement did not indicate any recognition of the Communist regime.

Large Gains Prompt Probe of Tax Privilege

Chrysler Disclosure on Exec Stock Option Eyed by Senators

WASHINGTON (AP) —The Senate Finance Committee yesterday directed a new study of stock option tax privilege in the wake of disclosures of large stock option gains by Chrysler Corp. executives.

Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., long a critic of stock option plans, asked for the study, which is to be made both by treasury and congressional staff experts with a report early next year.

Gore said the privilege should have been removed from the law long ago "and now, with Chrysler's help, perhaps we can accomplish it."

There is no hint of anything illegal in the Chrysler options, he said.

A Chrysler stockholders' meeting in Detroit Tuesday was told that president Lynn A. Townsend and other executives had bought large amounts of stock and had sold or given away substantial portions of their purchases.

Under the stock option plan, executives are given the right to buy a specified number of shares of stock at 95 per cent of the market price on the day the option is granted.

They have up to 10 years to make the purchase. If the price rises and the option is exercised, the official can hold the stock six months, sell it and pay only at capital gains rates on the profits.

These rates are half of the normal tax up to a 25 per cent ceiling; normal rates could rise to 91 per cent for high-salaried executives.

GIVES INCENTIVE

Defenders of the plan insist that it gives a proper incentive to executives to perform well for their company.

Gore contends that such profits are compensations, not capital gains, and should be taxed at the regular income rates.

He told reporters the Chrysler case is "a clear example of how insiders receive, at their own initiation, large income on which they do not pay normal tax if any at all."

Divided Legislature Ordered to Stay in Special Session

LANSING (AP) — Under threat of being called into another special session after Christmas, a legislature torn by partisan wrangling was ordered today to continue its work on implementation of the new constitution.

Gov. George Romney and legislative leaders agreed on an emergency plan to keep going at least one more day on a list of issues vital to the new document.

Technically, the bills died at midnight when both chambers adjourned—the House at the end of its bitterest day of political battling of the entire year.

But in a post-midnight meeting in his office, an angry Romney told Republican leaders and Democratic Lt. Gov. T. John Lesinski he would call another session between Christmas and New Year's Day unless they found a way to keep the bills alive.

"This legislation is far too important to the future of this state to have it sacrificed as a result of parliamentary maneuvering," said the governor.

The basic problem lay in the fact that the two chambers had not agreed to adjourn the same way.

COMPLICATED MOVES

House Republicans, using their voting edge in almost brutally effective fashion, rammed through a series of complicated parlimentary moves that sustained the session until Dec. 24, with work to continue on the revived bills.

But the Senate, adhering to previous plans, called a halt to all action on bills at the midnight deadline for final passage and intended only to return for formal adjournment Dec. 24.

Lesinski and GOP Senate leaders disagreed with House Speaker Allison Green, R-Kingston, and his aides on whether the session could continue.

In their meeting with Romney, they finally consented to the issuance of orders for all lawmakers to be present at 10 a.m. today.

The emergency order resolved a disagreement in which Green and House leaders insisted Lesinski had not been within the rules in adjourning the Senate for more than three days without a special resolution.

The lieutenant governor, however, contended that the order — signed by the two top GOP leaders of both chambers — was "the only way to continue the session legally."

Without it, he said, bills approved might not be able to withstand court challenges.

The emergency order was signed by Green, speaker pro

Little Chance to Save Cattle

Rescuers Struggling in Subzero Weather

KENNEBEC, S. D. (AP)—Workmen struggling in subzero temperatures said today there appeared little hope of saving 120 head of cattle trapped on an island in the Missouri River.

Fire Chief Joe Hieb of Reliance, S. D., said the cattle were standing belly-deep in water but refused to swim to shore through an alley chopped and blasted in the ice.

The cattle were stranded after walking onto a sandbar when the U.S. Corps of Engineers shut off water releases at Big Bend Dam because of an icing condition.

Some top-grade herd bulls are included in the stranded herd. It appeared the cattle might be shot rather than be left to drown or freeze.

Waters are 10 feet deep between the island and the shore, about a quarter-mile away.

Hare Making Progress After Heart Attack

LANSING (UPI)—Secretary of State James M. Hare, 53, was reported to be "making satisfactory progress" in Sparrow Hospital today after suffering a mild heart attack late yesterday.

Hare, a Democrat, has been secretary of state since 1954. The doctors report termed the attack "a mild coronary occlusion" and indicated Hare "experienced a good night."

Hare was born in 1910 in Racine, Wis., and got his bachelors degree from Wayne State University and a masters' from the University of Michigan before completing his doctoral work at the Lawrence Institute of Technology.

Enjoy Last Days

Just Relax, Shopper!

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

Now that there are only four shopping days left before the big Christmas Day celebration, how's your state of mind? Still have a million things to do, more presents to buy and rooms to decorate?

The best way to do it is to slow down and enjoy what's left of the time before the big event. Stop a moment and listen to the soft background Christmas music that is floating through the stores and out over shopping center parking lots.

It's always fun to get a bargain, and right now there are price mark-downs in almost every store in the area.

One downtown store has reduced a doll from $25 to $8.88. This includes a complete playwear kit in a hatbox.

Another store has reduced a plastic laboratory set from $7.95 to $1.29. And so it goes.

★ ★ ★

With so many toys operating by batteries this year, why not purchase a battery charger for about $6. The Goulton charger cannot overcharge, the company claims.

Eye Personal Diplomacy in LBJ-Russia Dealings

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson evidently has decided to make full use of personal diplomacy to carry out his announced policy of seeking improved relations with the Soviet Union and an eventual end to the cold war.

This raises the possibility of an active period in U.S.-Soviet relations next year, although at the moment officials say no plan for negotiation or meetings been developed.

The means of personal diplomacy open to the new President include periodic exchange of messages with Soviet Premier Khrushchev, public statements by Johnson specifically designed to influence the course of policies East and West and a meeting with Khrushchev.

The President yesterday kept the way open for a meeting in a brief news conference statement that also had diplomatic implications in relation to the administration's developing view of the cold war and its interest in the struggle between the Soviet Union and Red China.

EARLY MEETING

Johnson was asked what he thought about the prospects for an early meeting with Khrushchev.

A negative response might have been construed in Moscow and Peking as a rebuff to the Soviet premier by the new U.S. chief executive.

He, therefore, took a positive line, saying: "I am ready and willing to meet with any of the world leaders at any time there is any indication a meeting would be fruitful and productive. When there are such indications, I will be glad to make a decision and inform you of it."

★ ★ ★

From other sources, it is known that, like the late President John F. Kennedy, Johnson is favorably disposed to carry on a private correspondence with Khrushchev whenever he thinks it is useful.

DEALT POSITIVELY

Secretary of State Dean Rusk also dealt positively with the idea of a summit meeting in a broadcast interview released last night by the State Department.

Muskegon Digging Out After Storm

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP) — Muskegon—buried under nearly three feet of snow—shoveled and plowed its way through a dying Midwest storm today.

The Lake Michigan port city expected another one to three inches of snow today. This would bring its total accumulation to as much as 37 inches and set more weather records for December.

"Every time it snows now, we set a new record for the month" a Weather Bureau official said. Yesterday, the snow squalls and near-blizzard conditions broke five records.

★ ★ ★

Cold and snow continued to invade most of the eastern half of the nation in a pattern that has held true for nearly a week.

SNOW DUMPED

The storm that blew in off Lake Michigan and dumped snow on Muskegon at the rate of one inch an hour Tuesday night and early yesterday was part of a late fall storm centered over Southwestern Ontario.

It brought midwinter temperatures and snow to most of the Midwest.

The snowstorm toppled Muskegon's 1962 month of December record of 54.2 inches. The total so far this month is 69.4 inches.

The Weather Bureau measured 15.7 inches in the 24 hours ending at 7 p.m. Wednesday and a record 17.9 inches in the 24 hours ending 12 hours earlier.

One heart attack death was attributed to the snow in South Haven, where a resident was stricken while shoveling. Detroit, which got only two inches of snow, recorded three shoveling deaths.

NATIONAL WEATHER — Scattered snow flurries are forecast tonight for the northern Appalachians, the lower Great Lakes region and parts of the northern and central Plateau region. Occasional rain and drizzle is forecast for the northern and central Pacific Coast region. It will continue cold over the eastern half of the nation while a warming trend is expected over the nation's midsection. Seasonably cool weather will continue over the western third of the nation.

Community National Bank's Main Office Addition Will Be Modern

Bank Plans to Expand

Community National Bank today described plans for a $350,000 modernization and expansion of its main office at 30 N. Saginaw.

A. C. Girard, bank president and chairman of the board, said 6,000 square feet of space will be added with the current remodeling of a former two-story commercial building north of the present bank headquarters.

Construction began in November.

"We believe that a revitalized downtown is not far off and our expansion program will allow us to serve our growth of customers in a more efficient and convenient manner, Girard said.

Walls between the bank and a former women's apparel shop will be removed, he explained, and allow for new executive offices, four new teller stations and officer's desks.

The commercial loan department will also be relocated there.

The addition to the bank's front will be faced with matching limestone, and feature a 20-foot sculptured Indian design which has become Community National's trademark.

The interior will be functional, but contain wall-to-wall carpeting, customer-styled furnishings and a vivid color scheme.

The existing main office will be partially redesigned and provide new customer desks and improved work area. A customer lounge and reception area will take the space now occupied by the new account department.

SIX MONTHS

Girard said construction will be completed within six months.

★ ★ ★

Final contracts have been signed with Bank Building and Equipment Corp. of America. The firm will manage the project, utilizing local labor and material supplies, Girard said.

★ ★ ★

The expansion is the second major addition to CNB's downtown location in recent years. A four story annex at 15 E. Lawrence was completed in 1960.

Civil Service to Staff State Branch Offices

Secretary of State branch offices in Pontiac and eight other major Michigan cities will be staffed and managed by salaried civil service personnel next July 1.

The State Civil Service Commission told Secretary of State James M. Hare yesterday that he must stop operating his major branch offices on a fee, or commission, basis after the present fiscal year.

Willis M. Brewer, manager of the Pontiac branch, said the move will probably move him out of the managerial post automatically.

"I'd be over the age limit to qualify for a civil service job," he said.

MUST PASS

It would also mean that present employes at the local branch would have to pass civil service examinations or they'd be out of jobs.

Under the fee system, office managers are responsible for providing their own personnel, office space and supplies. The manager, in turn, receives a fee from the state.

"Normally, I have three full-time employes, but I hire as many as eight during rush periods," Brewer said.

Brewer said that in his opinion it will cost the state more to operate under civil service. "For example, when someone is sick, there will have to be a replacement handy that qualifies under civil service, or a larger staff to handle the load.

'LARGEST'

"I believe we're the largest branch in the state in terms of volume of work."

Brewer is a Pontiac real estate man.

Other offices affected are those in Detroit, Flint, Grand Rapids, Saginaw, Bay City, Muskegon, Kalamazoo and Lansing.

The commission said it found that "the operation of fee branch offices in populous areas which could support a full-time state office is a violation of the civil service provision of the constitution . . . which requires that all such positions in the state service be filled on the merit system basis."

The commission said smaller, part-time offices should be left on a fee basis.

Senate Backs LBJ, Blocks Foreign Aid Cut

porting assistance is used to aid the economies of nations on the borders of the Sino-Soviet bloc to enable them to maintain larger military forces than their own resources will allow.

On the Morse amendment the party breakdown was 39 Democrats and 16 Republicans opposed, 18 Democrats and 10 Republicans in favor.

Morse contended "hundreds of millions of dollars" are being wasted on such assistance to Formosa, South Korea and other countries. He said the military forces of most of them could be "licked with ten boy scout troops" and their real defenses rest with U.S. military troops.

★ ★ ★

But Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., floor manager for the bill, argued that the funds enable countries on the periphery of communism to provide soldiers, who, should the program be eliminated, would have to be replaced by Americans.

"If there is waste," Pastore said, "let's cut it out. But, in heaven's name, let's stop throwing out the baby with the wash."

ASKED HALT

He called for a halt to "cliches, generalities and platitudes" in efforts to cut the bill, and said the appropriations committee had explored the item fully.

Sen. Frank Lausche, D-Ohio, joined in opposing the cut, arguing it would be the worst place to reduce the bill. Lausche defended the valor of the Nationalist Chinese soldiers on Formosa.

The Morse amendment was the first to come up as the Senate reached the showdown stage on the badly battered bill.

The assistant Senate Democratic leader, Hubert H. Humphrey, said that with the President's prestige "on the line," he felt there are sufficient votes to reject a series of amendments aimed at reducing the $3,299,500,000 measure to the $2,810,700,000 voted by the House.

IN LIMBO

When the gavel fell in each chamber at midnight, a number of key bills were still in a limbo of House-Senate dispute, among them the State Appeals Court and Civil Rights Commission measures.

The House, voting along strict party lines after a two-hour debate, approved a GOP-backed amendment that would divide the court into nine single-judge districts.

But the Senate voted 20-1 against concurring in the amendment and made clear its determination to support the plan for three districts with three judges each.

Wreckage of Jet Plane Is Identified by Police

FLASHER, N. D. (AP)—A plane which exploded and crashed on a farm near Flasher in south-central North Dakota was identified by the state highway patrol at noon today as an F106 Delta Dart jet interceptor from the Minot, N. D., Air Force Base.

Farmer Clarence Erickson said a jet passed low over his house and exploded in the air. He said he could see no markings on the smoking wreckage, scattered over a wide area.

Death Faced by State Bills

Constitution Additions of Local Interest

"Unless something miraculous happens, that bill is dead," said Sen. Farrell E. Roberts, R-Oakland County, this morning.

He was referring to a measure establishing a new state appellate court. But a moment later, he applied the same appraisal to the fate of three other controversial bills that Oakland County has been watching closely.

Legislative leaders, prodded by Gov. George Romney, sought frantically today to keep the special session going despite confusion and dispute over the apparent lapse of its deadline last night.

★ ★ ★

If they fail, nearly 20 important measures implementing sections of the new state constitution would be dead.

STATUS OF FOUR

Here is the status of the four having special interest locally:

● County officer terms: The Senate yesterday amended a routine election bill to extend the terms until 1966.

The House, which last week rejected that idea, refused to concur in the amendment. It would be thrashed out in a joint Senate - House conference committee if the session continues, otherwise be lost.

● Appointed judges' terms: The Senate amended the bill to put back in the term extension until 1966 which the House earlier deleted. The House did not get to it again yesterday. It could also go to a conference committee if the session is kept alive.

★ ★ ★

● Incumbency designation for appointed judges: The House failed to act on the Senate-approved bill. But the Senate amended a House measure to give it to appointed as well as elected judges and the House concurred.

BILL UNCLEAR

Legislators originally thought the House bill applied to city judges only, but State Rep. Henry M. Hogan, R-Bloomfield Hills, says they now think it also covers Circuit Court judges.

Roberts is not sure.

● Appellate Court: The House amended the Senate's bill to change three 3-judge districts into nine single-judge districts despite arguments that the single-judge districts would be unconstitutional.

★ ★ ★

The Senate rejected the amendment and this also would go to a conference committee if the session continues.

Fire Takes Art Worth $300,000

DETROIT (AP)—An estimated $300,000 in art works — including $150,000 in works by Pablo Picasso — was destroyed by fire in a downtown art gallery last night.

Estimates of damage to the furniture store that housed the gallery totaled $250,000.

Also destroyed were Picasso engravings, lithographs and ceramics.

★ ★ ★

Apparently the only works to escape destruction were bronzes of Seff Widl.

OTHER WORKS

Other works destroyed were paintings by a Canadian artist, Riopelle, and his teacher, Borduas. Part of a Canadian art show, they were crated and ready for shipment.

Paintings by Irma Cavat, who is married to a Detroit man and lives in Rome, were destroyed—along with works by Michigan artists.

The collection included 400 art works, Lester B. Arwin, gallery owner, said. He said at least 90 per cent of the collection was damaged.

★ ★ ★

The cause of the fire has not been determined, Fire Chief Glen Thom said.

Bloomfield Board Views Zoning Effect on Schools

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The possible effects of altered zoning restrictions on the Bloomfield Hills School District are being pondered by the board of education.

The board has scheduled a special meeting for Jan. 8 to hear a report from a Michigan State University survey team which has studied the district's anticipated growth pattern.

The meeting will be a week before a public hearing on a proposed new zoning ordinance for Bloomfield Hills.

School board members plan to attend the hearing and want to hold a joint meeting with the Bloomfield Hills Planning Commission.

The reexamination of school needs by the survey team follows by only three years its original study. However, the district is increasing by almost 500 students annually.

The board is considering altering the school district from fourth to third class.

The change in classification would require a special district-wide election.

The family and friends of the late art patron and collector, Mrs. William J. (Eleanor Edythe Poplack, 511 Lake Park, Birmingham, have established a memorial fund in her honor.

Income from the fund, to be called the Eleanor E. Poplack Memorial Scholarship Fund, will be used to enable qualifying students to attend Detroit Institute of Arts workshops.

Officials of neighborhood art centers and public schools will help select recipients of the scholarships.

Mrs. Poplack's collection of paintings has been seen in museums throughout the United States and Canada.

Recently Mrs. Poplack was active in the Archives of American Art, and was chairman of their first fund drive. She also served as a member on the Docent Committee of the Founders Society, Detroit Institute of Arts.

Bases Looted by Moroccans

AF Bares Pillage of Ex-U. S. Installations

WASHINGTON (AP)—Native thieves pillaged U.S. air bases in Morocco before the Air Force turned over the bases to that country, it was learned today.

* * *

The bases were picked clean of everything from latrines to electric motors. At least one Arab was electrocuted accidentally.

"These actions are rendering all facilities now closed useless to anyone," said an Air Force report from Morocco.

HANDED OVER

The report, dated Dec. 2, became available to The Associated Press today, three days after the last of a trio of bases once used by the Strategic Air Command was handed to the Moroccan government.

The United States stopped flying bombers from those bases earlier this year and the Air Force gradually cut back the number of men stationed there.

* * *

By the time the $386-million complex was evacuated by U.S. forces this month, the rear guard was down to 150 men and all the equipment the Air Force wished to keep had been shipped out.

The long list of items stolen included all wooden doors, doorlocks, windows and frames, window screens, partitions, electric panels, copper wiring, brass, copper and bronze fittings, sainless steel latrine fixtures, mirrors, wash basins.

SIDING STRIPPED

Metal siding was stripped from a maintenance building.

"Electric motors of all sizes are disappearing," the report said.

Poles carrying power lines were sawed off at the ground. Electrical and communications cable was was cut away in sections.

* * *

An Arab was electrocuted on Nov. 22 while stealing cable, the report said. A high tension line broke and fell across him.

An estimated 48-million people are added to the world's population each year, according to United Nations statistics.

Walter Gehrke

Oakland County loses a truly stalwart citizen in the death of WALTER GEHRKE. Although he was primarily a Detroit businessman, he was a resident and this area profited enormously through his activities.

Along with Judge Arthur E. Moore, he was the founder and godfather of Camp Oakland and a huge number of young people owe their new ways of life to his activities. Never have two men raised as large a sum of money from hundreds of sources without an avowed campaign; and every penny goes to the advancement of those who have been facing difficulties.

Mr. GEHRKE was an exceptionally courteous, gentlemanly individual and made friends rapidly wherever he went. He started with nothing and yet his death saw him at the head of the largest Home Loan institution in this section of the Middle West. It all came through tireless, well directed energy and capabilities.

A sturdy Christian soldier who marched unceasingly forward in the ranks of those aligned with right, with decency and with the highest personal standards goes on unafraid into the Kingdom of Heaven and the eternal rewards that grace the lot of the most worthy here below.

Another Capital Figure Betrays Friends' Trust

This ROBERT G. BAKER case is back on page one.

ROBERT is the chap who was very hard put for ready answers as to how he lived on a social and economic level many, many reaches above and beyond his own governmental remuneration in Washington.

He was under fire and then deposed. However, the "investigation" made slow progress. Robert was a protege of President Lyndon B. Johnson's and no one seems to be just sure where the big boss wanted absolution to begin or end. Early rumors suggested some dubious girls were involved in the unholy mess. Will they all be dragged into the open or will they bask in some shameful anonymity? No one at any time connected Lyndon Johnson with this phase, even remotely. These escapades were purely Baker's own side ideas.

★ ★ ★

Several newspapers feel the President has a chance now to declare himself in no uncertain fashion by aligning completely on the side of a full investigation with all facts uncovered.

Hospital's Expansion – a Dream Come True

Sister MARY XAVIER, administrator of St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, and other ranking members of her order, justifiably find uplift as prolonged consideration of an addition to the institution comes to fruition.

★ ★ ★

The $3.5 - million expansion, will increase capacity by 10 per cent as well as provide new service and utility facilities. In addition, a new unit for chronic disease rehabilitation will be created.

★ ★ ★

Cost of the project was underwritten by private sources aided by a $1.5 grant under the Accelerated Public Works Act. A cosponsor of the act, Democratic Sen. PATRICK V. MCNAMARA, was principal speaker at the recent ground-breaking event.

The PRESS congratulates St. Joseph Mercy Hospital on its fine growth and the significant place it has established among the community's institutions.

You've had a lot of hard luck in your time, of course, but it is hoped you've never been bitten by a kinkajou, as were three New York policemen recently.

Long Wait Ahead for Softer China

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — President Johnson's administration, like President John F. Kennedy, is reconciled to a long wait before there can be hope of dealing with Red China in a reasonable and peaceful way.

MARLOW

The hope, such as it is, apparently is based on the idea that when the present leaders of China die out the men who take over—younger men just below the top now—will be more realistic about the world they live in.

This was the essence of a talk made a few days ago by Roger Hilsman, assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs.

It is not a new idea in history that the pioneers, in a political movement are often impelled by fanaticism to convert and dominate and that the zeal remains undiminished in their lifetime. The result is extremism.

In this revolutionary process, the early revolutionary has nothing to lose but his life, along with that of everyone else. If death doesn't stop him he may create a new order. This is what his successors inherit.

★ ★ ★

Now they have more to lose than their lives in any romantic or reckless adventure, certainly in a nuclear time like this. The realization has a sobering and conservative effect.

WERE THE PIONEERS

The Red Chinese leader, Mao Tze-tung, and the other top men still around him, all aging now, were the pioneers, the fanatics, who began the Chinese revolution back in the 1920s and never stopped until they won in 1949.

They are beginning to die out. It was on their successors that Hilsman seemed to pin his hope. He called them "the second echelon" men of today.

Of the present leaders he said: "Peking remains wedded to a fundamentalist form of communism which emphasizes violent revolution, even if it threatens the physical ruin of the civilized world. It refuses to admit there are common interests which cross ideological lines."

★ ★ ★

He said they were "wedded to outdated theories," called them disastrously naive in economics, and gave as an example the "great leap forward" in the 1950s, an effort at a massive overnight improvement which collapsed in farce.

MORE SOPHISTICATED ECHELON

He said "the more sophisticated second echelon of leadership knows that it was simple ignorance of the techniques of administering a complex economy which led to many of the mistakes of 1958."

But until there is evidence of change, Hilsman said, this country will continue its policy of "strength and firmness," which, in blunter language, means stiff-arming China.

Although real peace with the Soviet Union is in the future, the relationship with the Soviets is a lot better than it was and far better than it is with Red China.

★ ★ ★

But even the present Chinese leadership seems to be taking a more realistic view, at least about its capabilities. The Red Chinese foreign minister, Chen Yi, recently told an Australian television producer in an interview: China needs 100 years to become a modern state.

'—And That's An Order!'

Voice of the People:

Southern Senator Backs Youths' Freedom Group

Young Americans for Freedom is the most responsible, effective, conservative youth group in the United States. The vital work is without a doubt the most encouraging sign on the American political scene. It has over 300 chapters and 25,000 members. The National Board of Directors set a goal of starting YAF chapters on 1,000 college and university campuses by November 1964.

The prospect of patriotic anti-Communist youth groups on 1,000 college campuses is truly an inspiring and heart-warming thought. A YAF chapter will prepare a young man or woman for the struggle ahead with liberalism, socialism and communism. In making addresses on various campuses across the country I have been impressed with the decided difference in the atmosphere where YAF chapters are in existence.

Thoughtless Drivers Injure, Kill Pets

Two men ran down my beautiful boxer dog on East Wilson Avenue. I begged the driver to take me and the dog to the dog hospital. His answer—call the dog warden.

266 E. Wilson — Mrs. Johnson

I cannot understand people who cause injury and offer no aid. Recently someone killed our pet on Baldwin near W. Chicago. The driver was in such a hurry to leave the scene that my husband couldn't catch up to him. It could have been a small child that was struck, but this person didn't intend to stop and find out.

David Lawrence Says:

JFK Death Not Fault of Guards

WASHINGTON—Many people are puzzled by the terms "FBI" and "Secret Service," and there is a tendency to assume that both agencies are charged with protecting the life of the President and members of his family.

LAWRENCE

Actually, this duty is imposed by law only on the Secret Service, which is a division of the Treasury Department. The Federal Bureau of Investigation, a division of the Department of Justice, has no statutory responsibilities relating to the protection of the President.

The Secret Service has only about 400 agents, and they have two primary responsibilities — protection of the President, the Vice President and their families, and the detection of counterfeiting of coins or currency.

Many statements have been made to the effect that the FBI and the Secret Service have not cooperated with each other and that hard feelings exist between the agencies. This is denounced as false by persons inside both agencies.

Thus, the chief of the Secret Service, James J. Rowley, is a former special agent of the FBI and a close personal friend of the present director, J. Edgar Hoover. Mr. Rowley also is a lecturer at the FBI National Academy, which is a training school for local law-enforcement officers.

★ ★ ★

Cooperation between the two agencies is carried on day after day in personal liaison contacts, and the unequivocal statement is made by FBI officials that if, in the course of their investigations, any information which comes within the jurisdiction of the Secret Service is developed, it is immediately transmitted to the Secret Service.

VIEW BLOCKED

During President Kennedy's administration, it was argued by some of the television cameramen that they could not get a good view of the President in a parade if he was too closely surrounded by Secret Service men.

In the Dallas motorcade, the Secret Service men were not placed around the President as closely as they have been on other occasions. But there were agents not only in the car with the President and Vice President but in other cars immediately behind each automobile, all watching the crowd for any threatening gesture.

So the all-important problem of how to protect the life of the President of the United States is not going to be solved by blaming either the FBI or the Secret Service or both.

The main dilemma relates to the policing of the high buildings along streets through which a procession might be passing.

If the Secret Service and the FBI were required to post guards in every building, or if they were obliged to investigate the record of every employe on every floor in every building along the parade route, there would not be enough personnel in either the Secret Service or the FBI or the two agencies combined to do the job. Certainly they couldn't act on four days' notice.

There does not seem at present any sure way to prevent an attack on the President's life except by insisting that he ride in a bullet-proof automobile.

Bob Considine Says:

Reinstatement by Navy Only Present Flier Wants

WASHINGTON — What do you want for Christmas?

Well, I met a young Navy pilot here the other night who had already received his present. He got it after troubles few of us could comprehend, much less survive.

CONSIDINE

Lt. Frank Ellis' Christmas present No. 1 was a letter from the Department of the Navy stating that it would be happy and honored to have him back in uniform and flying its aircraft.

Present No. 2 was Mutual of Omaha's Public Service Award.

Lt. Ellis has no legs below the knees, except a pair made of willow and another pair that he uses when he water skiis.

★ ★ ★

The Navy citation that accompanied his award of the Distinguished Flying Cross tells the story succinctly:

HEROIC ACTION

"For heroism during aerial flight on the afternoon of 11 July, 1962. Experiencing a failure of the elevator trim system of his jet aircraft while on a landing approach of Naval Air Station, Point Mugu, Cal., Lt. Ellis elected to remain with his plane long enough to avoid crashing into a housing area situated directly in his projected flight path.

"Guiding his almost uncontrollable aircraft away from this populated section, he finally ejected at an extremely low altitude, a moment before the plane crashed into an open field.

"Although sustaining serious injuries, Lt. Ellis, by his selfless and decisive action, undoubtedly prevented great loss of life and property in the housing area."

★ ★ ★

There were quiet tears now as he told of his rescue, the awakening to the fact that his right leg had been sheared off, the game fight to save the left leg, the "honorable discharge" that was surely in the mails from Washington.

MIRACULOUS RECOVERY

His rebellion was a miracle of self-rehabilitation. Against all sorts of opposition, and scant encouragement, he proved to the Navy that he could make a parachute jump on his artificial legs, get himself and his copilot out of a cockpit submerged in a test tank simulating a plane sinking after a sea landing, and that he could run through the tough Navy Frogmen's obstacle course.

Lt. Ellis has plans beyond flying in the atmosphere. He wants to be an astronaut and believes he can bring something unusual to the program.

"I'd be the only one able to leave my legs on the launching pad," he told us.

In Washington:

Suggests Attack on Poverty Woes

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Direct attack on the problems of American poverty at the source has just been proposed to the National Committee on Pockets of Poverty by Prof. John Kenneth Galbraith of Harvard.

EDSON

A former Kennedy administration braintruster and ambassador to India, economist Galbraith is also author and expert on "The Affluent Society."

He asks: "Why don't we select, beginning next year, the 100 lowest income counties in the country? In the cases of urban slums we could select more limited areas of equal population. We could designate them as 'special educational areas.'

"They would then be equipped with a truly excellent primary and secondary school plant, the best in recreational facilities and adequate transportation to work centers.

"Then, in the manner of the Peace Corps, but with ample pay, an elite body of young teachers would be assembled. They would be tough enough and proud enough to go to Harlan County or to Harlem. And in the year following we would proceed to the next most abysmal areas."

★ ★ ★

This would not be federal aid to education, Dr. Galbraith insists.

"This is an attack on poverty," he says. "Can anyone argue that youngsters with these facilities and this training would share the dismal fate of their parents?"

There are adequate precedents for this kind of action, according to Galbraith. Ten years ago when it became obvious that America's highway system was not able to carry its traffic load, the federal government stepped in with 90 per cent aid to the states for road building.

★ ★ ★

Galbraith might also have mentioned that the school lunch and pilot food stamp plans for feeding the undernourished now are accepted, routine activities of government.

One other merit of his plan is that if any community did not want to accept federal aid to clean up its own pockets of poverty, it might tackle the job alone.

★ ★ ★

This direct approach of the Galbraith plan is far different from other proposals given to the National Committee on Pockets of Poverty in a two-day Washington conference just concluded.

This committee was formed three years ago by the Farmers Educational Fund, established by the National Farmers Union under its president, James G. Patton.

For the last two years it has been conducting a survey of American poverty under the direction of Dr. Oscar Ornati of New York School of Social Research.

In brief, Dr. Ornati finds there are now about 20 million people in America who can be classed as "abject poor." They are individuals with incomes of less than $500 a year or members of families of four or more where the total income is less than $2,000 a year.

This is roughly 11 per cent of today's population of 180 million. In 1935-36, with different income levels and costs of living, there were around 34 million people or 27 per cent of the population of 126 million who could be classed relatively as "abject poor."

The Social Security system is held largely responsible for this reduction in American poverty over the last 27 years.

Previous plans for dealing with this mass of poverty have been based principally on bigger appropriations for welfare programs already proposed or in operation.

They include a bigger public works program to provide more jobs, a permanent food stamp plan, more aid for education and vocational training, youth conservation programs, health care for the aged and mentally ill, urban renewal, rural development and job training.

All of these plans do some good, but not enough.

President Johnson already has called for an all-out attack on American poverty. He told the American Public Welfare Conference in Washington that "current programs to reduce poverty in America are not nearly enough."

Unkindest Cut of All

Disdained Pinkie Is Laid Off

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — On Thanksgiving Day I went outside between football games to perform a ritual, familiar to all suburbanites, that is known as "putting the lawn mower away for the winter."

WEST

While I had the thing upended, trying to remove the blade, the wrench slipped and mashed the end of the little finger on my right hand. It was excruciating. Besides that, it hurt.

I ran into the house where I encountered my wife coming up from the basement with a load of laundry. She could sense from the way I was screaming that something was wrong. My wife is very perceptive that way.

★ ★ ★

"What's the matter?" she asked.

"I hurt my pinkie," I said.

POOR KID

"You poor kid," she crooned. "Come here and I'll kiss it and make it all well."

I didn't appreciate her sarcasm one bit. Besides that, she lied to me. This happened more than two weeks ago and my finger is still sore.

Mashing one's finger is not, I'll admit, a mortal wound. But for someone who earns his livelihood playing the typewriter it is just about the worst thing that can happen.

★ ★ ★

Outside of discovering that one's wife can't really heal a mashed finger by kissing it, I don't know of anything more traumatic than having to change one's typing technique.

LOTS TO DO

Under the typing system I employ, the right little finger has jurisdiction not only over the colon-semicolon, its home key, but is also responsible for the letter P, both capital and lower case; the zero; the star-board parenthesis; the asterisk; the dash; the margin release; the ½ and ¼ signs; the plus and equal signs; the question mark and slash mark; a shift key; the per cent mark and that little A with the circle around it.

India is one of the few countries where men can expect to live longer then women, though only by about a year, a UN population study has disclosed.

30-DAY FORECAST — These maps, based on those prepared by the U.S. Weather Bureau, predict that Pontiac will have near-normal precipitation and below-normal temperatures for the next 30 days.

Mom Felt Strange

Surprise! It's a Baby!

SLOUGH, England (UPI)—Mrs. Phyllis Watts, a 48-year-old mother of eight children, knew she felt a bit strange.

She went to the doctor several weeks ago and he gave her some pills for her "nerves."

They didn't help. So she checked into the Slough Hospital last Friday night. Twenty minutes later, her ninth child—an eight-pound daughter named Daphne—was born.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Watts and her husband, Stanley, 50, both said today they had no idea she was pregnant.

START OVER

"If anyone had told me what was happening, I'd have thought they were crazy," she said. "Now I'll have to start getting used to babies all over again."

The baby arrived on the eve of the wedding of Mrs. Watts' oldest son, Stanley, 29. The couple's other eight children range between 13 and 26 years of age.

State to Get More Aid for U.S.-Filled Schools

WASHINGTON (AP) — Michigan should get an additional $1,188,900 for its impacted area schools. That is the state's share of $216,204,000 of additional federal payments which senators said Wednesday they plan to include in a final appropriation before adjourning.

Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., said the increase was authorized in the federal school aid legislation signed by President Johnson Wednesday.

Chimp Kidney Transplant Saves Dock Worker's Life

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Christmas came a week early at the home of dockworker Jefferson Davis.

Davis suffered from a kidney ailment that doomed him unless drastic action was taken. Six weeks ago, that action was taken when he received the kidneys from a 90-pound chimpanzee.

Last night, Mrs. Davis and the four Davis youngsters were elated when Davis arrived home from Charity Hospital. He was their main Christmas gift. Having been unemployed for medical reasons for a year, the dockworker could offer only himself and his love.

★ ★ ★

"We never expected to get him home again," Mrs. Davis said. "It sure will be a nice Christmas."

"I feel fine," Davis said.

EARLIER FAILURE

Intricate medical treatment, so far, has overcome the body's natural tendency to cast off foreign matter. An earlier transplant by Tulane University surgeons into a woman patient failed because the "immunologic barrier" was not broken.

Drugs and X rays were used to keep the animal kidneys functioning in Davis.

Davis will return to the hospital tomorrow night for reevaluation and tests. If no complications have developed, he will be given a pass or will be released Monday for the holidays.

★ ★ ★

A team of Tulane University surgeons operated on Davis Nov. 5.

39 MINUTES

They transplanted the chimp kidney into his body in 39 minutes.

Davis entered the hospital last January with a severe kidney ailment. It steadily worsened until he needed an artificial kidney to live. Doctors knew that Davis needed new kidneys to survive.

Unable to find a suitable human donor, they decided on the chimp. Davis agreed.

WORK IMMEDIATELY

The animal kidneys were tied into Davis' system and began functioning immediately. His own kidneys, which doctors left in his body, were nearly inoperative.

"The doctors told me I couldn't live with what I've got," he said later. 'I have no choice."

The key problem doctors faced was the natural tendency of the human body to reject foreign tissue — even the healthy kidneys.

Earlier this year, a transplant was tried on a 32-year-old unidentified woman. Her body rejected the Rhesus monkey kidneys seven days after the operation and they failed.

★ ★ ★

She died of her original kidney disease two days after they were removed.

FLINT (AP)—Genesee County's employment climbed by 1,600 to 141,600—the highest in six years — during the month ended Nov. 15, the Michigan Employment Security Commission said Wednesday.

Unemployment increased slightly, to 1.7 per cent of the county's labor force of 145,400 persons.

McNamara in Viet Nam for 2nd Survey of U.S. Program

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara arrived today for his second on-the-spot survey in three months of the war in South Viet Nam.

"I am here to discuss the progress of the United States program in Viet Nam, the problems we are facing and solutions," McNamara said in a brief airport statement. He leaves for Washington Friday

★ ★ ★

Since his visit in September, the governments of both the United States and South Viet Nam have changed hands. President Ngo Dinh Diem was overthrown by a military coup Nov. 1 and killed. President John F. Kennedy was assassinated Nov. 22.

U.S. military sources said the two changes and an increase in Communist guerrilla activities in the last three months prompted McNamara's return.

MEET SECRETARY

McNamara was met by the Vietnamese revolutionary government's defense minister, Maj. Gen. Tran Van Don, U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and Gen. Paul D. Harkins, commander of U.S. forces in Viet Nam.

The secretary and his aides went into conference at once with senior American officials in South Viet Nam.

McNamara is to meet Friday with top members of the military junta that replaced the Diem regime.

Also on hand for the conferences was the chief of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency, John A. McCone. He arrived Wednesday night and is expected to return with McNamara to the United States.

'A FEW CHECKS'

President Johnson, in announcing Dec. 7 he was sending McNamara back to Viet Nam, said the secretary would "make a few checks, not anything to be concerned about, but just to be sure that we are getting the maximum efficiency" in the war against the Viet Cong Communist guerrillas.

McNamara and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, said after touring front-line units in September they were satisfied with the government's campaign against the Reds. They said that if progress continued, major U.S. involvement in South Viet Nam could end by 1965.

Since the Diem government was overthrown, however, Viet Cong attacks have increased sharply, and so have losses of men and equipment by the South Vietnamese forces.

The United States is spending about $1.5 million daily in the battle. An estimated 16,000 American military men are in South Viet Nam.

McNamara arrived from Paris, where he attended the year-end meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. His departure nearly ended in tragedy when his plane almost collided with an incoming commercial airliner. The secretary's pilot cut his power and braked, blowing two of the plane's eight tires. McNamara and his party switched to another plane.

Freighter Rescues Icebound Carrier

DETROIT (AP) — The Canadian freighter Red Wing rescued the cement carrier J. B. Ford from 4-inch ice in Lake St. Clair Wednesday by breaking the ice with the wash from her propellers as she raced past the Ford.

★ ★ ★

The Red Wing then cleared a path for the Ford through the Detroit River and into clear water in Lake Erie.

★ ★ ★

The fully loaded Ford had called for aid after ice forced her out of the shipping channel and against the underwater bank of the dredged-out channel, causing a list.

Staebler Word Due on Governor Race

DETROIT (AP) — Democratic Congressman - at - large Neil Staebler said Wednesday he'll disclose in "early January" his plans for Michigan's 1964 gubernatorial election.

Staebler apparently will violate the moratorium until Feb. 15 called for by the Wayne County Democratic organization.

★ ★ ★

The moratorium was sought by Democratic chairmen in the county's six congressional districts to prevent or postpone a primary election fight.

"It's too early to ask the party to undergo the strain of primary competition," the resolution said.

DEMOCRATIC PARTY

Democratic State Chairman Zolton Ferency, who released the resolution, said it "speaks for itself" but does not represent a party position at the state level.

In Washington, Staebler said: "To postpone all announcements until the middle of February would be to concede the victory to the Republicans in 1964."

★ ★ ★

Former Gov. John B. Swainson and other nomination hopefuls were varied in their reactions.

"The chairman's point is well taken and should be considered," Swainson said, but he declined to say immediately whether he would accept the moratorium.

'WON'T WORK'

"I have not even decided whether I will run," he said.

Staebler said such a moratorium might work in Wayne County but not outstate.

★ ★ ★

"It takes a great deal of time steps must be taken to develop a good organization," said and hundreds and hundreds of Staebler. "Any campaign of that scope must be started in January."

Burton, Liz 'Happier When Wed'

PUERTO VALLARTA, Mexico (AP)—"We're very happy now, but we'll be happier when we're married," says Richard Burton of his two-year romance with Elizabeth Taylor.

★ ★ ★

The couple said Wednesday that they will marry "just as soon as possible—and the sooner the better."

The announcement capped a 48-hour silence following the divorce Sybil Burton obtained Monday in Guadalajara, Mexico.

EXACT DATE

Burton said speculating on an exact marriage date "is hard to do. There are so many things to get arranged. But we do hope it's soon."

One of the "things to get arranged" is Eddie Fisher, Miss Taylor's present husband. Fisher has said repeatedly that he wishes only the best for his estranged wife and that he "will do anything to oblige the lady."

★ ★ ★

Miss Taylor said the question whether she or Fisher would get the divorce had not been decided.

"The date depends on Mr. Fisher," said Burton.

Attorneys for Miss Taylor and Fisher have been negotiating for several months.

WEDDING SITE

Burton said a wedding site "could be Mexico City or anywhere in Mexico except Puerto Vallarta."

He said this isolated village is ruled out "because we understand that according to Mexican law you cannot be married in the same state in which you received a divorce, and, as you know, I just received a divorce in this state."

A Mexican attorney says he believes Burton's understanding is not correct.

Hitler's Family Chart Up for British Auction

LONDON (UPI) — A chart of Adolf Hitler's family tree, from the Berlin bunker where he committed suicide in 1945, was up for auction at Sotheby's today.

A spokesman said it was sent by a former German soldier who hoped to use the proceeds to buy himself an artificial leg. His name was being kept secret.

Requests 6th Star for Gen. MacArthur

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., proposed yesterday that Gen. Douglas MacArthur receive the "ultimate tribute" from the nation by making him a six-star general of the armies.

★ ★ ★

The rank was conferred only once before — on the late Gen. John J. Pershing.

★ ★ ★

Symington, in introducing a bill to carry out the proposal, said MacArthur is a "towering figure" of the times that embraced World War II and the Korean conflict.

Boy Right on Santa

SANTA CLARA, Calif. — John Deodiuc, 3, doubted that anyone as fat as Santa Claus could get down his chimney Christmas night.

Unable to research his own chimney, he climbed on the roof of the house next door and jumped down the chimney. He was right. He got only half way.

Eight firemen worked two hours before getting John out.

U.S. Response High for Ruby

Brother Says Many Offer Funds for Trial

CHICAGO (UPI) — A brother of Jack Ruby said today there has been "a very good response from all over the country" from persons wanting to help pay the costs of Ruby's trial.

Ruby is being held in Dallas for the slaying of Lee Harvey Oswald, alleged assassin of President Kennedy. Oswald was shot on Nov. 24, two days after Kennedy was slain.

Ruby formerly lived in Chicago.

★ ★ ★

The brother, Hymen Rubenstein, said 300 telegrams and 2,000 letters have been received from "friends and sympathizers from all over the country."

ENCLOSED MONEY

Some enclosed checks or cash and other made pledges, Rubenstein said.

"There are a few crackpots," Rubenstein said, "but most are very sympathetic with my brother Jack."

Rubenstein said all money and pledges were being turned over to a certified public accountant in Dallas.

★ ★ ★

The Rubensteins' family lawyer, Michael Levine, said yesterday Ruby's two Dallas nightclubs will be sold to raise funds for his defense.

TV QUESTION

The question of television broadcast and photographic coverage of the trial Feb. 3 may be answered by a joint resolution of judges instead of by the jurist who will hear the case.

The resolution would ban from the court room nearly all tools of journalism except pencil and paper.

★ ★ ★

Dist. Judge Hoyt A. Armstrong said he has been asked to draw up a "uniform standard" resolution that would apply in all courts.

Allies Get Presents From West Berliners

BERLIN (AP) — The citizens of West Berlin are giving a Christmas present to each soldier in the western Allied Garrisons, an Allied spokesman announced Wednesday.

The gifts are in gratitude for the protection given the Communist-surrounded city by the American, British and French troops. About 10,000 men of rank up to captain will get presents.

Noted Cartoonist Dies Portrait Painter Dies

REDONDO BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Bruce Russell, 60, Pulitzer Prize-winning political cartoonist for the Los Angeles Times, died Wednesday of a heart attack. Russell, who started his newspaper career in 1926 as a sports cartoonist at the Los Angeles Evening Herald, has been with the Times since 1933. He was born in Los Angeles.

Gene Kellys Expect Bundle of July Joy

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor Gene Kelly and his wife, Jeanne say they expect a child early next July.

The couple has a son, Timothy, who will be 2 in March. Kelly also has a daughter, Kerry, 21, by his first wife, actress Betsy Blair.

SYLVIA PORTER

Girl Dies in Beloved Mountains

LITTLETON, Colo. (AP)—Sylvia Porter, a pretty 16-year-old, was concerned about her school work.

In a letter to a girlfriend, apparently written Dec. 9, Sylvia said:

"The mountains have always given me refuge when I needed it before, and I'm calling on them again today. I refuse to die in town."

She drove alone to Squaw Mountain about 40 miles west of Littleton, a Denver suburb. Her body was found last Monday on the ground near where her car was parked on a deadend road.

★ ★ ★

Sheriff Harold Brumbaugh said it may be weeks before the body will be thawed out sufficiently for an autopsy.

FRIEND AWAY

He declined to identify the girlfriend but said she was visiting in South Carolina and didn't receive the letter until she returned home Tuesday. It said:

"... I love those mountains more than anything in this world."

Britain to Aid Thais

Old Greeting Cards Are Prized in Asia

It seems a shame to throw away all those pretty Christmas cards when the holiday season ends, You don't have to.

Senior citizens club at Redondo Beach, Calif., doesn't. Members collect them for shipment to remote villages, mostly in Asia, where such colorful pictures are prized possessions.

One year 17 tons of discarded greeting cards were sent.

Besides sending abroad the Christmas cards, members help Dr. C. T. Walberg, Congregational Church of Christ pastor, ship other goods all over the world.

The gifts range from 30 pianos sent to Korea to 1,000 pounds of canceled postage stamps and tons of soap scraps.

Dr. Walberg says nothing is too large or too small to be of use,

"We never send anything unless it has been requested," he adds.

★ ★ ★

The stamps, for instance go to Japan where they are sold to stamp collectors to pay for printing and distribution of Christian literature.

LITERATURE GIVEN

So far, 10 million pieces of literature have been distributed in Japan as a result of this system.

The program started with soap. When Dr. Walberg was visiting a Taegu children's hospital several years ago he discovered surgery being performed without using soap for bathing patients. The hospital had none.

"If we could get American people to send us soap they throw away, we'd have enough," declared a surgeon.

★ ★ ★

After Dr. Walberg returned and told his congregation of this, they collected soap scraps and made 3,000 pounds of lye soap in the church kitchen to send.

That was in 1959. Since then, the program has grown to its present size.

Until the U.S. Navy offered to transport the goods, the congregation was donating $22,000 a year for shipping costs.

The average American ate about 37 pounds of poultry (chicken and turkey) in 1962.

The average American ate 220 pounds of vegetables in 1962.

U.S. Set to Launch Polka-Dot Satellite

POINT ARGUELLO, Calif. (AP)—The U.S. Space Agency plans to give the world a new "Christmas star" today—a polka-dot satellite that could yield rich gifts in helping scientists predict the awesome explosions on the sun called solar flares.

★ ★ ★

The balloon satellite, called air density explorer, is to be aimed at an orbit passing close to the earth's poles. It is 12 feet in diameter. A solid-fuel Scout rocket from this naval missile facility is the booster.

Inflated in space, the aluminum and plastic sphere was expected to be visible only at twilight, illuminated against the dark sky by rays from the sun just below the horizon.

PINPOINT OF LIGHT

Because of its height, ranging from about 375 miles to 1,875 miles, it was to be just a pinpoint of light but discernible because of its movement against fixed stars as it circled the globe every 122 minutes.

White polka dots, 3,400 of them 2½ inches wide and 400 just 1½ inches wide, were painted on the silvery skin to block some of the sun's rays and thus keep radio gear inside from getting too hot.

★ ★ ★

The primary purpose of the satellite will be to help scientists measure density of the atmosphere at high altitudes. Plans called for a worldwide network to track its radio beacon and note the "drag" exerted by sparsely scattered molecules of air.

★ ★ ★

A previous 12-foot balloon satellite — Explorer 9 launched from Wallops Island, Va., in 1961—indicated that the density of the upper air decreases in proportion to a decrease in solar flare activity during an 11-year cycle.

MORE DENSE

In other words, solar flares—great eruptions on the face of the sun that can cause blackouts in radio and telephone communications—tend to compact the upper air and make it more dense.

★ ★ ★

Satellite measurement of air density eventually may help scientists tell in advance how severe a beginning solar explosion may become.

★ ★ ★

Explorer 9 was orbited roughly along the equator. The polka-dot satellite was intended to cross over the Arctic and Antarctic circles, thus exploring regions not previously surveyed by this type.

Soviets Okay Fertilizer Plan

New Russian Budget Has Less for Arms

MOSCOW (AP)—The Supreme Soviet gave its expected unanimous approval today to Premier Khrushchev's $46-billion plan to expand the Soviet chemical industry and greatly increase production of chemical fertilizers.

The Soviet parliament also approved the nation's budgets for 1964 and 1965, which include funds for carrying out the first phase of Khrushchev's 7-year plan for the chemical industry.

The 1964 budget listed revenues of $102.1 billion and expenditures of $101.5 billion; for 1965 revenues were put at $112.4 billion and expenditures at $111.5 billion.

Only slight changes were made from the figures presented by the government three days ago when it announced a cut of $666 million — 4.3 per cent—in military spending next year. At the time Soviet propaganda organs said the 1964 budget would mean a big increase in consumer goods.

SAGGING FARMS

To aid the sagging Soviet farm output, which Khrushchev hopes will also be improved by massive use of fertilizer, the budget proposed a 22.7 per cent increase in appropriations for agriculture, or a total of $13.2 billion. Over-all spending was increasd by $5 billion over 1963.

★ ★ ★

The budget calls for military spending of about $52.7 billion in 1964, representing slightly more than half the budget. But this figure is not considered comparable to U.S. military allocations because it does not include investment in many industries meeting military needs.

The late President John F. Kennedy proposed a U.S. budget of $98.8 billion for the current fiscal year, including $55.4 billion for defense.

The 1965 Soviet military budget was not given.

Dems Led by Veteran Dzendzel

LANSING (AP)—Senate Democrats have picked an experienced political hand for their new minority leader.

Sen. Raymond Dzendzel had the post during the 1962 fiscal reform fight—when a state income tax momentarily passed the Senate, then died when two Republicans left the bi-partisan coalition.

★ ★ ★

Dzendzel was succeeded by Charles Blondy, a fellow Detroit Democrat, at the beginning of 1963.

But Blondy, a 23-year Senate veteran, announced he will not seek Senate election again in 1964, and stepped aside for Dzendzel, a senator since 1959.

HOT SUBJECT

Fiscal reform was the hot subject when Dzendzel first took the minority leader post to succeed Harold Ryan, who had become a U. S. representative.

Dzendzel doesn't look for the income tax to become an issue again in 1964.

★ ★ ★

"I don't believe fiscal reform will be a main issue in the next session unless something unforeseen happens, like a decline in the economic climate," he said Wednesday in an interview.

Dzendzel isn't expecting a decline, either. A carpenter, he said all reports indicate the outlook for the building business in the next two years is "tremendous."

BIG ISSUES

The budget and constitutional implementation, he said, figure to be the big legislative issues of 1964.

Implementation questions regarding justices of the peace and elections laws, if the latter remain unsettled in the current session, loom especially large, he said.

Salad Oil Exec to End Silence

Will Answer Probers on Firm's Collapse

NEWARK (UPI) — The president of the bankrupt vegetable oil firm whose failure triggered a multimillion dollar edible oils scandal agreed yesterday to answer selected questions about his corporation.

Anthony (Tino) Deangelis, the 48-year-old head of Allied Crude Vegetable Oil Refining Corp. of Bayonne, N.J., announced at a contempt citation hearing before federal Judge Robert Shaw that he would break his silence.

Deangelis agreed to answer 44 of the 66 questions to which he pleaded the 5th Amendment during two appearances in federal bankruptcy court.

★ ★ ★

Ben Rotello, controller of Allied Crude, followed Deangelis' lead and said he would answer 25 of the 42 questions to which he had pleaded the 5th Amendment. Contempt citations were signed last week against both men.

RESUME HEARINGS

Today, deposition hearings resume here with Frank Vivenzio, Allied Crude superintendent, scheduled to testify. Earlier this week, his assistant testified that millions of pounds of missing oil probably never existed.

Creditors of Allied Crude hold warehouse receipts for at least 1.3 million pounds of oil which cannot be located. As a result, they stand to lose more than $100 million.

Creditors began looking for the oil after Allied Crude went into bankruptcy last month when it was unable to meet $18.6 million in margin calls.

★ ★ ★

Allied Crude's collapse led to the failure of a large brokerage house, the merger of another and several investigations.

Spirit Hits Wine City

ST. HELENA, Calif. (UPI) — The holiday spirit is rampant in this Napa Valley wine-growing community 50 miles north of San Francisco. City fathers removed the tops of parking meters, inserted Christmas trees decorated by school children and proclaimed free parking through Jan. 6.

Socialist Will Run Against De Gaulle

PARIS (AP) —Gaston Defferre, Socialist mayor of Marseille, will challenge President Charles de Gaulle in France's 1965 election and says he hopes "to be a candidate of the entire left wing."

De Gaulle is expected to seek a second 7-year term. So far, Defferre is his only opponent.

Defferre announced his candidacy after a meeting of the board of directors of the French Socialist party in Paris.

Russian, Woman Plead Innocent to Spy Charges

NEW YORK (AP)—A Russian and his woman companion have pleaded innocent to charges of spying for Russia.

★ ★ ★

Alexander Sokolov, 44, a native of Tiflis, and a woman who posed as Joy Ann Garver Baltch were ordered held without bail. They were arraigned Wednesday in U.S. District Court in Brooklyn.

Sokolov had posed as Robert K. Baltch. The woman's true identity has not been learned.

They were arrested last July 2 in Washington and accused of attempting to send atomic and rocket information to Russia via short wave radio.

Tractor Pins Youth in Snow 10 Hours

MISSOULA, Mont. (AP)—Gerald Richard, 20, was pinned face down in 12 inches of snow with a tractor wheel on his back for 10 hours Wednesday.

★ ★ ★

Ambulance drivers who helped remove him said he suffered from exposure and was numb from the freezing temperatures and the weight of the one-ton tractor. Richard was pinned after his tractor hit a rut in the road, tipped over and rolled down a 30-foot embankment.

Dec. 25: Just a Day to Tennessee's Poor Miners

WHITEWELL, Tenn. (AP)—The Leo Sanders family will pay scant attention this year to Dec. 25. As Christmas Day, it will be stark and bleak.

And, as the end of a full year for southeast Tennessee's longest and bloodiest coal strike, it will have no special meaning. Like all days since 1959, it will be jobless, hopeless and hungry.

Sanders, 35, unskilled and illiterate, is one of thousands of former coal miners laid off long before the current walkout began. He and his wife, 33, have seven children.

She is pregnant, expecting her eighth baby in January.

HUSBAND WORKED

"My husband worked in the mines when we was married in 1948," said Mrs. Sanders, "But he was laid off four years ago.

He hasn't hardly worked since. Just what he could pick up, and there hasn't been much of that.

"He received $15 per week in benefits from the United Mine Workers Union, "but they're fixing to cut that out."

Like so many families who live in the isolated mountain pockets which make up the southeast Tennessee coal fields, Sanders' future was set when he quit school, like his father before him, to work in the mines.

AFTER THE WAR

After World War II, 4,000 coal miners toiled in southeast Tennessee. But as mountain mines closed in the face of mechanized competition from the central plains states, the work force dwindled.

When the present UMW walkout began Dec. 28, 1962, only 600 union miners were affected. The violent contract dispute has seen three men slain, as 100 miners defied entrenched union sentiment and returned to work without a contract.

The strikers seek a wage of $23.44-26.40 per day, plus 40 cents per ton royalty to the UMW Welfare Fund. The coal operators have offered $20.12 per day—paid the 100 working miners—plus 10 cents per ton royalty.

The issues in the strike parallel those in a $30 million antitrust suit filed against the UMW by a group of small coal operators and scheduled for trial in April.

The Southeast Tennessee operators accuse the union of conspiring with the big, mechanized coal operators of western Kentucky to freeze them from the giant Tennessee Valley Authority coal market.

TVA's Widow Creek steam plant, just across the state line at Bridgeport, Ala., is virtually the sole market for southeast Tennessee coal.

But because of labor difficulties—present and past—TVA has turned to western Kentucky for the tremendous fuel quantities needed to operate the plant and generate electricity.

The operators say they cannot pay the UMW scale and compete economically with mechanized mines elsewhere for the TVA market. Only one mine in southeast Tennessee is fully mechanized.

Most of the others, operators claim, defy mechanization because of the small, mountainous coal seams. As a result, most mine cars in this area are handloaded.

Therefore, most mines in southeast Tennessee are closed.

But Leo Sanders goes into the mines virtually every day—into the abandoned mines to scratch for fuel for the pot-bellied stove which warms the 2-room house—a converted garage—in which his family has existed for the past six years.

"That was when our house burned down," said Mrs. Sanders. "We didn't never have it so rough until then." The eldest son, Isaac Grady, 13, lives across the road with his grandmother, "else she'd be all alone."

He is in the sixth grade, likely the last schooling he'll ever know.

The rest of the family—three girls, three boys and their parents—live and sleep in a 12x12 room, furnished with two double beds, a couch and a stack of blankets.

Two tiny windows shed little light.

To reach the kitchen, they go outside and in a back door. Mrs. Sanders carries water from her sister's, "three houses down" — about 200 yards. They have two kerosene lamps, no electricity.

The Sanders' circumstances may be extreme—but the pattern is a familiar one.

Mrs. Sanders was born across the road from where she now lives. When she was 17, she married Sanders. When the mines were operating, she saw little need for education; without education, they see no need to school their youngsters.

Whitwell, 10 miles away at the foot of the mountain, has the nearest junior high school.

For one reason or another —lack of clothes, money or simply out of fear—few mountain parents send their children.

Officials charged with enforcing compulsory school attendance laws give up in futility and frustration.

When the mines were operating, this was, perhaps, tolerable.

But when the mines closed, it was disastrous. With neither mines nor education, the mountain families have nothing and no hope of anything.

In Whitwell itself, youngsters at least can go through the eighth grade without leaving home. Whitwell parents, for the most part, send their youngsters through high school—and even on to college.

Few college graduates, however, come from the mountains.

"Our biggest payroll," said a professional man, ruefully, "is the post office.

22 Helped Run Auschwitz Camp

Face Largest German War Crimes Trial

By HANNS NEUERBAURG

FRANKFORT, Germany (AP)—Twenty-two Germans who helped run the Nazis' Auschwitz death factory face court tomorrow in the largest war crimes trial ever held under German law.

Accused of murder or complicity in the death of millions of Auschwitz inmates are 21 former members of the camp's SS (Elite Guard) administration and one prisoner who prosecutors say became their henchman.

According to the 700-page indictment, the victims died in gas chambers, were shot, hanged or tortured to death. Most were Jews—men, women and children. Many were Soviet prisoners of war. Poles, gypsies and others also were murdered at Auschwitz.

6-MONTH TRIAL

The trial is expected to last at least six months, longer than that of Adolf Eichmann, who was hanged in Israel in 1962 as one of those responsible for German crimes against the Jews.

The defendants include two former adjutants to Auschwitz commanders, three doctors and dentists, the chief camp pharmacist and SS guards. They could draw a maximum of life in prison. The death penalty was abolished in West Germany in 1949.

The top ranking defendant is a former SS captain, Robert Mulka, 68, who was an aide to Rudolf Hoess, first Auschwitz commander.

Hoess was hanged in Poland in 1957. In his diary, part of the evidence in the Frankfort trial, Hoess estimated four million persons were murdered in the camp.

250 WITNESSES

About 250 witnesses from 15 countries, including Auschwitz survivors, are listed to testify.

The presiding judge will be Hans Hofmeyer, 59, who has been serving in the German justice administration since 1928.

Hofmeyer replaced Dr. Hans Forrester, who was suspended as Auschwitz trial judge by justice authorities to preclude possible defense objections of bias.

The action was taken after Forester entered into the records that some of his relatives were persecuted by the Nazis.

CHIEF PROSECUTOR

Chief prosecutor will be Dr. Hanns Grossmann, 51, who was a Wehrmacht (army) soldier throughout World War II and personally conducted much of the pretrial investigation, some 1,300 people questioned and the results of the investigation fill 60,000 pages bound in 88 volumes.

The chief defendant was to have been Richard Baer, last commander of Auschwitz. But Baer died of a heart attack in his jail cell last June.

Also missing will be Joseph Mengele, chief Auschwitz physician, who headed the group making "selections" of gas chamber victims. Mengele fled to Latin America.

German extradition requests to Argentina and Brazil drew the answer that he could not be located.

14 FREE ON BAIL

Fourteen defendants are free on bail or because of bad health. Of the eight in custody, most are accused of personally committing atrocities. They include Wilhelm Boger, 57, who is charged with torturing many prisoners to death.

Former guard Oswald Kaduk, 57, a butcher and male nurse, is accused of strangling inmates during a drunken spree by standing on a cane placed across their throats.

Also, according to the indictment, once when the rope broke in the hanging of an inmate, Kaduk gave him a whipping and had him hanged again.

Josef Klehr, 59, also is accused on numerous counts of murder. Among his alleged victims were an aging Jewish woman and her daughter who refused to part during a "selection" for the gas chamber and were pushed into an open fire.

Chief pharmacist Dr. Viator Capesius, 56, is charged with personally conducting fatal medical experiments on prisoners.

In accordance with German law, the defendants do not enter any formal plea at the beginning of the trial.

The first few weeks will be spent by questioning them on their personal background. The first witness is expected to testify in mid-February.

The complete list of defendants: Wilhelm Boger, 57, Klaus Dylewski, 47, Perry Broad, 42, Franz Hofmann, 57, Oswald Kaduk, 57, Stefan Baretzki, 44, Heinrich Bischoff, 59, Dr. Viator Capesius, 56, Josef Klehr, 59, Emil Bednarek, 56, Robert Mulka, 68, Karl Hoecker, 51, Johann Schöbert, 40, Bruno Schlage, 60, Hans Stark, 42, Arthur Breitwieser, 53, Herbert Scherpe, 56, Emil Hantel, 60, Gerhard Neubert, 54, Dr. Franza Bernhard Lucas, 52, Dr. Willie Frank, 60, Dr. Willie Ludwig Schat, 58.

Unexplained Tie-In of Animal Varieties

Members of the ruminant or the cud-chewing families of animals—cattle, camels, sheep, goats, antelope, deer, and giraffes—invariably change from a reclining to a standing position hind feet first.

Other large four-footed animals—horses, pigs, elephants, and the cat family—get up front legs first. The tie-in is unexplained.

Until about 1900 the practice of sending Christmas cards was frowned on by Baptists, Methodists, Mennonites, Amish and Lutherans.

Michigan's Civil Rights Laws Set Pace for Rest of Nation

By GENE SCHROEDER

News Analysis

DETROIT (AP)—Will Michigan's civil rights laws, among the strongest in the nation, be wiped off the books by the United States Congress?

In the view of some legal authorities, the answer may be "yes" if the proposed federal Civil Rights Act is approved in its present form.

* * *

The federal proposal—now in the House Rules Committee—might be interpreted by the courts as preempting the entire field of civil rights, taking it out of the hands of individual states, they contend.

* * *

Other observers, however, say this is hogwash, and the measure would do no such thing. They point out that the proposal specifically declares in more than one section that state laws shall remain in effect when they do not clash with the federal statute.

COURT TESTS

Virtually all agree that the final answer to the question probably would not come until after a "shakedown period" of court tests lasting many months.

The long and bitter wrangle in Washington over passage of the civil rights bill apparently will not reach a showdown until next year.

* * *

But as far as Michigan is concerned, the federal government is a "Johnny-come-lately" in the field. The first Civil Rights Act in Michigan was adopted in 1885.

The Wolverine State already has laws in effect which in some respects are stronger than the compromise bill yet to be debated on the floor of Congress. These include some statutes in the fields of public accommodations and fair employment.

KEY SUBJECTS

Key subjects covered by the proposed federal law are public accommodations, fair employment, voting rights and desegregation of public education and other public facilities.

Most of these matters already have been incorporated in Michigan statutes or the state's new constitution.

* * *

Other subjects covered by the pending Congressional measure include permanent extension of the United States Civil Rights Commission, (with its scope expanded to include vote fraud), establishment of a community elations service, authorization to the U.S. attorney general to institute civil proceedings to protect against the deprivation of rights, and provision for review of an order remaining a civil rights case from a federal court back to a state court.

In the field of public accommodations, the bill would outlaw racial discrimination in a long and specific list of places serving the public, basing the federal government's authority to intervene on its power to regulate interstate commerce.

SOME NOT TOUCHED

But where the federal bill would prohibit discrimination in most hotels and lodging-houses, eating places, and centers of entertainment and spectator sports, it would not apply to barber shops, beauty parlors, retail stores, bowling alleys and other places of recreation, unless they serve food.

Michigan law specifically prohibits discrimination in all these fields.

* * *

In addition, anyone found guilty of violating the state law is subject to not less than 15 days in jail and a possible $100 fine. The offended party also can file a civil suit for triple damages.

Under the federal proposal, the law would be enforced only by civil suits for an injunction, and neither criminal penalties nor the recovery of money damages is involved.

SCOPE OF STATUTE

Here is now the Michigan statute defines the scope of the coverage:

"All persons within the jurisdiction of this state shall be entitled to full and equal accommodations, advantages, facilities and privileges of inns, hotels, motels, government housing, restaurants, eating houses, barber shops, billiard parlors, stores, public conveyances on land and water, theatres, motion picture houses, public educational institutions, in elevators, on escalators, in all methods of air transportation and all other places of public accommodation, amusement, and recreation subject only to the conditions and limitations established by law and applicable alike to all citizens and to all all citizens alike, with uniform prices."

VOTING RIGHTS

These sweeping Michigan provisions have been further defined in a series of attorney general's opinions.

* * *

An unpublished opinion in 1939 held that proprietors could not maintain two separate price lists for the purpose of discriminating against prospective patrons because of race, creed or color.

In 1956, the Michigan Tourist Council was warned not to distribute calendars advertising a resort farm which claimed "for 63 years we have served a gentile clientele."

GOLF COURSE CASE

The following year, the attorney general ruled that if a court determined that a golf club was operating as a public facility admitting only members of the Caucasian race, the golf course would be subject to the provisions of the Michigan Civil Rights Law.

It also was pointed out that the court could suspend or revoke the club's liquor or other licenses where discrimination is practiced.

* * *

In the fair employment field, the Congressional bill proposes establishment of a Federal Equal Opportunity Commission, which would fulfill a function similar to what Michigan's Fair Employment Practices Commission (FEPC) has been doing for years.

The federal law would give the new commission the authority to go into federal district court to get a cease-and-desist order if an investigation indicates a complaint is justified.

ISSUE ORDERS

The Michigan FEPC—charged with responsibility to investigate and hold hearings—has authority to issue cease-and-desist orders on its own, with the case landing in court only on appeal.

The Michigan Fair Employment Practices law spells out in meticulous detail — some 3,500 words—how the state guarantees as a civil right the opportunity to obtain employment "without discrimination because of race, color, religion, national origin or ancestry."

* * *

The FEPC will soon become only a memory in Michigan, however.

Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley has ruled that as of Jan. 1, Michigan's newly created Civil Rights Commission will assume full authority in the fields of employment, education, housing and public accommodations—putting the FEPC out of business.

NEW YEAR BIRTH

As the nation's only constitutionally established Civil Rights Commission, the body will be born officially when the new state constitution goes into effect New Year's Day.

Kelley says the commission has authority to enforce civil rights to purchase, mortgage, lease or rent private housing, and that the legislature is without authority to abrogate or limit the commission's power.

* * *

Some legislators refused to take Kelley's word for it, however, and introduced legislation to limit the Commission's power to promulgate rules.

Kelley says if the proposal is enacted he will move to have it struck down by the courts.

ROMNEY VIEW

Gov. George Romney believes the whole question probably will go to court for final settlement in either case.

In outlining the scope of the commission's function, the attorney general says there is no question but that the new constitution empowers that body to conduct investigations, hold hearings and issue final orders upon its own motion when the public interest demands.

* * *

"It is equally clear," he said, "that the commission has been commanded by the people to serve the cause of elimination of discrimination in the fields of employment, education, housing and public accommodations because of religion, race, color or national origin and to advance equal opportunities therein through the fostering of educational programs, studies and reports.

"This furthers both the public interest and the interest of the individual."

That section of the proposed federal law dealing with voting rights is expected to have little effect on Michigan. The provision concerns guarantees of the right to vote without discrimination and is aimed chiefly at southern states where so-called literacy tests have been used to keep Negroes from the polls. Michigan has no such tests.

* * *

The federal law would require that such tests be given in writing, with a sixth-grade education being considered proof of literacy for registration.

* * *

Legal authorities in Michigan say there have been virtually no complaints along this line in recent years.

Another key provision in the federal bill — desegregation of public education—also is aimed chiefly at southern states where there has been foot-dragging on school integration.

One purpose of the measure is to authorize the commissioner of education to provide, upon application by local school authorities, technical assistance and financial aid to help in desegregation problems.

It also would authorize the U.S. District Attorney to file suits seeking school integration where he considers that such action would help the orderly achievement of desegregation.

* * *

Again, Michigan would not be expected to be substantially affected by this provision.

Michigan statutes now declare that no separate school or department shall be kept from any person or persons on account of race or color.

MORE SPECIFIC

State laws against discrimination touch on numerous specifics not included in the bill pending in Congress. There also are several administrative rules and regulations and declarations of policy.

Included are such matters as jury service, life insurance sales, public assistance and the rights of Indians to sue and be sued.

* * *

Michigan public policy on civil rights is spelled out in more than 10,000 words in statutes, attorney general's opinions and the constitution.

CRIMINAL CODE

For example, it is a crime in Michigan to:

—Make any distinction or discrimination between white and colored persons as to life insurance premiums or rates, with violators being subject to up to a year in prison and a $500 fine.

—Discriminate in the rendering of public welfare assistance.

—Disqualify any citizen from grand or petit jury service because of race, creed or color.

Newspaper ads are subject to a 1956 attorney general's opinion which said that an ad for a "Christian baby sitter" or a "colored cook" would be publishable so long as they are sought for domestic service, which is not covered in the statutes.

LARGER CONCERN

But an advertisement by a prospective employer of eight or more persons would violate the law if it specified "colored" as a preference or requirement.

In this case, it was pointed out, the desire to employ a colored cook might be related to a bona fide occupational qualification. The ruling was that in doubtful cases, the newspaper has the responsibility to determine whether the statute is applicable.

The attorney general also said that an employer covered by the Fair Employment Practices Act may not advertise for an employe of his own stated race, nationality or creed simply for the purpose of promoting harmony among employes.

Heading for Utopia, or Disaster?

Problem of Automation: What to Do With Leisure

(Editor's Note: This is the fourth in a five-part series on automation by UPI reporter Harry Ferguson.)

By HARRY FERGUSON

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The average working man today enjoys 22 years' more leisure than his grandfather did. He has a longer life span, a shorter work week and more vacation time.

Automation offers him even more leisure because the shortening of the work week has been relentless and inevitable.

In 1800, the work week was 84 hours, in 1909 it was 52 hours and today it is slightly under 40 hours. Labor unions are pressing now for a 35-hour week.

* * *

Joseph Prendergast of the National Recreation Association has predicted that within a century the work week will consist of seven hours.

MARCH TO UTOPIA?

On the surface it would appear we are on the march toward an industrial utopia. But many psychiatrists are coming around to the opinion we are headed for disaster unless Americans can be shaken out of their mental and emotional patterns.

"This civilization is not going to depend on what we do while we work but on what we do in our time off," Herbert Hoover said many years ago. Subsequent events give him top grade for prophecy.

The fact seems to be that millions of Americans don't want more leisure time and are bored when it is forced upon them. The files of psychiatrists are crammed with thousands of cases of executives compelled to retire at 65.

* * *

In about six months it dawns on these men that fishing and golf are not so attractive as they looked from the office window. The results are mental disturbances and deterioration in health sometimes to the point of death.

A more dramatic example is available on the streets of all large cities. In the age group between 14 and 24 there is a hard core of youths who are unemployed with no hope of finding a job.

The National Urban League says 10 per cent of the white boys and 17½ per cent of Negro boys seeking work are in that category. Here you have enforced leisure 24 hours a day, 52 weeks a year.

You also have an available pool of manpower from which juvenile delinquent gangs can recruit members. In fact, many government economists view this as the most serious aspect of automation — the boys who drop out of school.

* * *

They are unemployable because they lack educational skills, they have nothing to do but roam the streets, and too many of them become adept in the manipulation of switch-blade knives.

ALL AGES

But deterioration because of too much leisure spreads through all age groups. Dr. Alexander Reid Martin writes in "Education for Life Off the Job":

"Sleeplessness, the inability to relax and the fear of leisure are among the earliest and most common symptoms of so-called psychiatric illness. These symptoms are, of course, unrelated to pain and any demonstrable physical disease.

"When these patients are confronted with leisure, they are restless, dissatisfied, irritable and they show great intolerance of inactivity and waiting.

* * *

"They have great feelings of guilt if they read a book, go to the movies, watch TV or do anything for sheer pleasure.

INTOLERANT

"They are especially intolerant of children. They can overcome this feeling of guilt somewhat if they place all these activities under the heading of necessity — TV and theater are 'musts' for education and vacations are 'musts' for health.

"Unless they give a logical purpose and good practical reasons for what they do, their feeling of guilt persists. Many things that should be openly pleasureful are done rebelliously or defiantly. This, in turn, then is followed by an even deeper sense of guilt."

Before leaving the impression that mental hospitals are crammed with persons who cannot endure leisure, let's hurry to say that millions of Americans are idle and contented.

* * *

Travel inside the United States has boomed in recent years, and here the defenders of automation are able to score a telling point:

MOTEL GROWTH

Sure, there are more retired workers riding the highways and the result has been a mushroom growth of motels.

In other words, when more people are not working, the economy automatically adjusts itself by creating new businesses and industries.

How do Americans kill time when not working? In the inactive field (reading, listening or watching somebody else do something) the rating is in this order: Watching television, listening to radio, reading newspapers, reading magazines, watching motion pictures.

* * *

In the field of hobbies: Collecting things (stamps, coins, books etc.), traveling, card playing, gardening, fishing, bowling, sewing, hunting, swimming. Photography, boating, handicrafts, outdoor cooking, golf, tennis and painting.

SPECTATOR SPORTS

Spectator sports doubtless would be listed except for the fact that so much of it is classified under television watching and radio listening. Such things as do-it-yourself carpentry are listed under handicrafts.

Most psychiatrists put much hope for the future in self-education. They want people to buy phonograph records and acquire a taste for good music. They want them to read history and biography or even study foreign languages at home.

But the prospects for self-education are dim in this country. A recent poll showed that only 17 per cent of Americans were currently reading a book. For Great Britain the figure was 55 per cent.

(Tomorrow: Automation and the future.)

Junior Editors Quiz on TREES

QUESTION: Why don't evergreens drop their needles in the fall?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Evergreens belong to a very ancient group of plants called "gymnosperms" which are related because their seeds are formed in a similar way.

Prints of such plans are found in rocks which date far back in our planet's history. Having flourished so long on earth, evergreens must be very successful living things.

Among present day evergreens are the biggest trees and the tallest trees; also the oldest evergreens are said to be the oldest living things.

The narrow needles or leaves are one of the evergreen trees's greatest assets. Since all green leaves make plant food with the aid of sunlight, such narrow leaves enables the sunlight to filter through a mass of foliage and reach all of them.

In winter the broad leaves of other trees present too much surface to the cold for the leaves' little food factories to operate; result, they fall from the stems and the trees become dormant until next spring.

But the evergreen's thin, leathery leaves are not so affected by the cold, so they remain making food for their trees all winter long.

FOR YOU TO DO: Look closely at an evergreen twig on a sunny day. Notice how cleverly the leaves are arranged so that each can get its share of energy from the sunlight.

Fra Junipero Serra, whose mission settlements in California grew into great cities, was born on the island of Majorca. The names of many of the cities — San Francisco, San Diego, San Luis Obispo, San Buenaventura and San Juan Capistrano — come from the names of chapels in the Franciscan convent at Petra where Fra Junipero went to school.

High School Students? Absurd! They're Pupils

By DR. WILLIAM BRADY

Of course there have been some changes since the "Gay Nineties," but I still can't understand why high school pupils (it is absurd to call them "students") should drag home an armful of textbooks every day.

A recent news item said 200 pupils (the item called 'em "students") walked out of a Connecticut high school for 10 minutes to force school officials to allow a smoking period during school hours.

The principal called them back in and promised their request would be considered after it was put in writing.

Pupils in a Maryland high school two years ago demanded that the school provided a place where they could smoke, and some of their parents backed them up.

COCKTAIL LOUNGE?

I wonder whether the parents of those smart aleck and smart alice pupils will approve when the precocious youngsters demand that the school provide a cocktail lounge to supplement the smoking room.

Now I don't care what the show-off may call me, so long as it is printable, but I'm really sorry for the poor soul who lets anyone tell him it is smart to drink, or that one must drink to get anywhere in social life today, or that a party or a reception would be a dreary affair without alcohol.

Recently I printed a letter from the wife of a man who comes home drunk every night. He insists his job, which involves meeting and entertaining the firm's customers, requires a lot of drinking.

So his wife and daughters are deprived of everything they should have in order to pay for his liquor. Now his unhappy wife, afraid their home will go next, is getting a divorce.

EDITORIAL JOB

When the children were quite young, the man had an editorial job which provided a comfortable living for his family in their own home. But he was so fond of cocktails and highballs that he gave up his editorial job and took a job as sales supervisor, which paid more but also gave greater opportunity for indulging — and incidentally dulled his conscience about abusing his wife and daughters.

Like most hardened drinkers, this man indignantly rejected the suggestion that he get in touch with Alcoholics Anonymous. He was no drunk! He knew what he was doing! He could take it or leave it!

What has all this to do with high school pupils overburdened with "homework"?

★ ★ ★

The sight of a high school youngster toting home so much work that should be done in school makes me wonder what high school pupils do with their spare time during school hours, besides attending assemblies to whip up enthusiasm and collect cash contributions for the football team's expenses.

SNEAK SMOKES?

Do the smart aleck and smart alice pupils sneak into the locker room for a smoke? Do the unsophisticated ones just sit there and wait for the next class? Don't tell me they go to gym class.

Why does the high school girl carry the equivalent of a peck of potatoes on her protruding hypogastrium, while the high school boy makes as good or better marks, carrying one book, if any?

I am constitutionally opposed to homework anyway. As I see it, the better the teacher, the less the pupil needs homework —and vice versa.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Are Jobs Created or Lost?

Answer to Automation Woes as Varied as Issues

(Editor's Note: This is the second in a series of five articles on automation by UPI reporter Harry Ferguson.)

By HARRY FERGUSON

WASHINGTON (UPI) — You own a small candy store located one block from a high school and you have one clerk. One day a man appears at the high school and installs a machine from which the students can get candy bars by dropping a coin in a slot.

Here, in its simplest form, is the dilemma of automation. The pupils begin buying candy from the machine and your business drops to the point where you have to fire your clerk.

But the nation's labor force still is in balance. One job has been lost but one also has been gained — the man who stocks the candy machine.

★ ★ ★

But then he installs two, then three, then four machines in the school. The time comes when you can't pay the rent and you go out of business.

OUT OF BALANCE

Now the labor force is out of balance because two jobs have been lost and only one gained.

One estimate is that 40,000 American workers are losing their jobs every week because of automation. It is a guess rather than an estimate because nobody has any hard figures on the problem, nobody has gone from city to city counting heads.

Even if they did so, the statistics would be deceiving because many of the 40,000 might have moved to another town and found work.

★ ★ ★

You will not find here any definitive answer to the question of whether, over-all and in the long run, automation causes unemployment.

BOTH SIDES OF ISSUE

Persons eminently qualified can be found on both sides of the question with statistics and examples that are above reproach. Like this:

In the first nine months of this year, General Motors Corp. employed a total of 346,167 persons in this country. For the same period last year, 332,207 were employed.

General Motors relies heavily on automation, but here we have the number of workers increasing.

★ ★ ★

There are instances were automation causes only a temporary loss of jobs. Cadillac installed an engine cylinder block machining department. It reduced the number of workers needed from 89 to 71.

★ ★ ★

Thus 18 persons were laid off early in July, but all of them were rehired for other jobs in September.

That is the bright side of the automation picture, but there is a dark one, too:

In 1923 there were 643,200 men employed in this country mining bituminous coal. Over the years labor-saving machinery was introduced.

By 1960 the number of miners employed had fallen to 139,400. Here you have more than 500,000 men, trained to do only one thing, thrown on the labor market.

Studies made last June showed that the number of employes in a leading chemical company was down by 8 per cent; a big oil company was down 28 per cent; and a food corporation was down 25 per cent. All of them had gone in heavily for automation.

DANGEROUS CONCLUSION

Any generalization about automation is dangerous, but it is fairly safe to say that the competitive position of the industry or corporation involved is a basic factor in the employment picture.

General Motors hired more people this year than last, but it also manufactured more automobiles. Bituminous coal was forced into a bad position when the demand for coal fell off because of the competition from natural gas and petroleum.

Those factors, plus the labor-saving machinery, spelled disaster for the bituminous labor force.

Persons who look on automation without fear like to cite what happened when the United States emerged from the horse and buggy age.

OUT OF WORK

There were about 225,000 persons employed to make wagons, harness and put shoes on horses. The automobile swiftly put them out of work.

But within a few years there were 2 million persons employed in manufacturing, servicing and selling automobiles.

Persons who fear automation have this quick reply: if it is true that automation creates jobs, why are there 3.9 million persons unemployed today?

★ ★ ★

They mention "silent firings," meaning that jobs that might be available to the army of unemployed already are being done by automation.

JOB RETRAINING

Much emphasis is put on the retraining of the unemployed to equip them for jobs in automated factories. The federal government has plunged into it with 12,294 projects all over the country involving 96,335 persons.

There are about 6,000 additional persons being trained on the job, that is, they are taught while they are working.

But the program runs into some curious resistance regardless of whether the project is sponsored by the government or private industry. In California, 50,000 unemployed persons were eligible for a 13-week retraining course.

★ ★ ★

Only 38 applied and only 26 actually took the course. A meat packing firm offered retraining to 433 workers displaced by machines.

Only 58 actually took the course and only 20 wound up with jobs.

FELT OVER U.S.

The automobile unions have a saying that "automation in Detroit can mean firings in Fort Wayne."

What they mean is that the auto makers can automate one process that eliminates the need for a feeder factory in some other city. Are workers willing to move out of a dead town into a live one?

The fact is that those thrown out of work are the least able to move because they usually are the oldest workers and the lowest paid.

★ ★ ★

A middle-sized company built an automated factory in a new area and offered 325 persons a moving allowance to make the change. It developed that more than 100 owned houses for which there was no market and could not afford to move.

TOMORROW — What the machines can and can't do.

Automation Birth? Ford Motor Co.!

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Del S. Harder of the Ford Motor Co. was the man who coined the word "automation." It was in 1946 as he was discussing plans for a new plant. He said:

"Let's have more mechanical handling between the transfer machines, more of that automatic business. Give us some more of that . . . that . . . automation."

When Baby Sleeps, She Stays Asleep!

CLEVELAND, Tenn. (AP) — When Janet Faith Ballinger, 1, goes to sleep, she stays asleep. The baby was asleep in the back seat of her mother's parked car when it rolled down a 12-foot bank.

Mrs. J. C. Ballinger, her mother, rushed up to the car — to find the baby sleeping peacefully and unhurt.

ONE COLOR

China's Drive for Influence Tied to Racial Dissension

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

In April 1955, in Bandung, Indonesia, 29 nations met for what Indonesian President Sukarno called "The first intercontinental conference of the so-called colored peoples in the history of mankind."

NEWSOM

It also marked the beginning of Red China's determined drive to extend its influence beyond Asia and to the emerging new nations of Africa.

In the last two years, as the Soviet Union and Red China have become more deeply embroiled in their ideological war, the Chinese have intensified their drive in Africa, with the Soviet Union a major target and with the difference in the colors of men's skins noted at Bandung a major weapon.

At the third Afro-Asian solidarity conference held in Moshi, Tanganyika, in February of this year, the head of the Chinese delegation told Soviet representatives, "The whites have nothing to do here."

★ ★ ★

At a meeting of journalists in Jakarta, the Chinese sought to bar Soviet participation on the grounds that the Soviet Union is not an Asian country.

ONLY TRUE FRIENDS

As the Chinese have pressed their claims to being the only true friends of black Africa, they have referred contemptuously to the Russians as "white" and "European," and have stressed the solidarity of yellow and black races against colonialism.

Pressing the Chinese case in Africa with personal visits this week are Chinese Premier Chou En-lai and Foreign Minister Chen Yi, first stop the flag-decked streets of Cairo.

One objective is an attempt to undermine Soviet influence in personal conferences.

★ ★ ★

Another is to press for another Bandung-type conference.

Red Chinese newspapers have been stressing the need for "solidarity and mutual support of Asian and African peoples on the basis of the Bandung spirit."

NO SOLACE

There could be no solace for the free world if either the communism of revisionist Russia or orthodox China should take root in Africa.

But tragic consequences of an entirely different sort would be the result if the Chinese were to be successful in their attempts to divide the world between white and colored.

At least the early stages of Chou's tour were less successful than he might have hoped. President Nasser who was to have greeted him, was away in Tunisia.

★ ★ ★

The Cairo newspaper Al Gumhouria noted that one of Chou's aims would be to try to end the "virtual international isolation" growing out of Sino-Indian border fighting "which showed China as the aggressor."

NOT UNSOPHISTICATED

Nor are the new African nations quite so unsophisticated as the Chinese seem to hope.

Last February's Tanganyika conference left many delegations angry at the thought that the Red Chinese had used them simply as a cover for an attack upon the United States and an attempt to present these attacks as representing the voice of Africa.

It led to this cold conclusion by Tanganyika Minister of Home Affairs Oscar Kambona:

★ ★ ★

"We are not going to accept the enemies chosen for us by others."

Holiday Happiness Is Year Round Teen Effort

By JEANMARIE ELKINS

Teen-agers are good! They are people! They have feelings!

Put them all under one big label and you'll come up with a mass of individuals with a heart bigger than that of any other age group.

Christmas is the time of year for giving. Pontiac area teen-agers give in a very special way. They give from the heart.

* * *

Each year at Christmas time, teen-agers in organizations and as individuals spend much time, money and effort to making the holiday just a little brighter for some stranger they may never meet.

The Boys' Club of Pontiac has a number of organized benefit projects for Christmas. Each year, the group sponsors a toy dance. This is a social dance and party function given by the teen-agers.

Admission price is a toy.

All toys are placed in Christmas baskets for less fortunate children and distributed anonymously by the boys themselves.

Groups of these club boys visit shut-ins, hospitals and their own neighborhoods to sing Christmas carols.

SHOVEL CREWS

Snow removal, with shovel crews from the club take responsibility of cleaning neighborhood sidewalks which are not cleaned because of sickness, vacations or age of residents.

Teen-age boys take turns serving at locations selling Boys' Club Christmas trees.

Funds are used to buy equipment and aid programs for boys in the community and at the Boys' Club.

These programs express teen-age giving and are small examples of their sharing.

ALL YEAR LONG

In youth development and character building, it is the Boys' Club effort to make this spirit and understanding a 365-day-of-the-year rule, not just a Christmas exception.

Throughout the area, teen-agers are giving of themselves for Christmas.

They are giving through clubs, organizations, school sponsored groups and local agencies.

Teen-agers must put in a six-hour day at school.

SOMETIMES MORE

If they are aiming toward college, and most are, it is possible to add another six hours or more study time outside of class — an hour and sometimes two of homework for each class, topped off by special projects, assignments and themes.

Then there are those extra activities — yearbook, sports, clubs, band practice and the like.

Free weekends are often taken up with more homework, possibly including the watching of a special TV program as an assignment, library work, a ski club meeting and on and on and on!

* * *

Yet in their busy and demanding schedule, the majority of the area teen-agers have found time, not only to do their Christmas shopping for family and friends, which often meant taking an extra part-time job to pay for gifts, but have opened their hearts to those in need.

ANOTHER GROUP

Another group of boys doing benefit work not only at Christmas, but year round, is the Elimination Engineering Club.

This car club is organized by 18 Oakland County boys. They stand for public safety on the highways. The club motto is: "People can only judge a club by its members' actions."

The boys currently are looking for a garage to rent and hope to be able to learn about cars, engines and to build a car in the future.

* * *

One of their Christmas projects is a dance to be held tomorrow at Four Corners. Proceeds from the dance will be partly donated to charity.

COLLECT FOR NEEDY

Obtaining the names of families in need, the boys have collected carloads of food and other household items they plan to deliver for Christmas.

Not the type of boys to go in for "Woodwarding," their reputation is excellent. Norman Dehnke, chief of the Bloomfield Township police force, is familiar with the boys.

According to Dehnke, these are not the type of boys he notices getting in trouble.

* * *

In fact, he has received numerous calls from area citizens who have received help from the boys when their cars were stalled on the road.

HOLIDAY PROJECTS

Entire area high schools, as well as individual clubs in school, have organized Christmas projects.

Waterford Kettering High School students will provide a holiday for some 49 families in the Waterford area. Each homeroom has been assigned a family for which they are collecting food, clothing and toys.

At Oxford High School, the Latin Club has gone caroling and is gathering Christmas gifts for the needy.

An annual affair at Walled Lake High School is the collection and distribution of baskets to the needy by the Future Teachers Club.

FUTURE NURSES

Future nurses at Walled Lake also spent time visiting children, singing carols and bringing small gifts.

At Pontiac Northern High School, members of the Future Nurses Club fixed old toys and delivered them to the Children's Home.

The Forum, the Latin club at Bloomfield Hills High School, is collecting used clothing for Christmas. This will be mailed to the Foster Parents Plan in New York.

That agency will then forward the clothing to needy families in foreign countries.

HOSPITAL WORK

Members also spent an afternoon decorating the Northville State Hospital for Christmas and passed out small gifts to patients.

Teen-age girls work year round at Pontiac General Hospital as candy stripers.

Their job is to make the patient more comfortable and take some of the work load from hospital personnel.

* * *

Two area girls will be giving up their Christmas to bring cheer to those confined to the hospital on this holiday.

E. Pike a Two-Way Street Till Perimeter Rd. Finished

East Pike will be a two-way street until the perimeter road is completed, city officials announced today.

Assistant City Manager John F. Reineck said that tomorrow, Pike will change to a two-way street from Perry to Saginaw. It had been one-way west bound.

"In addition, there will be no on-street parking allowed in that block," Reineck said.

* * *

The change was initiated at the request of businessmen on East Pike. It is designed to improve access to that area as well as traffic circulation, Reineck said.

However, left turns from Saginaw into E. Pike will still be prohibited, but northbound vehicles will be able to turn right onto East Pike.

Traffic moving west on Pike will still be allowed to turn right or left at Saginaw.

Since the Perry to Saginaw portion of Pike is to be part of a one-way interior loop road once the perimeter road is completed, the change to two-way traffic can't be permanent, Reineck noted.

Baby Boom Hits Hospital; Records Fall

Newborn babies are setting records at Pontiac General Hospital.

Hospital officials reported at midweek that 3,165 babies have been born so far this year, surpassing last year's total of 3,133.

A spokesman predicted that the final figure would near 3,250 for the year, which would top the record of 3,188 set in 1961.

* * *

Seventy-eight babies have arrived as early Christmas presents since Dec. 1.

NEAR RECORD

Sunday the hospital came close to setting a new record for a 24-hour period. Some 21 babies were born, which neared a mark of 22 (18 boys) set Aug. 31.

Pontiac St. Joseph Hospital, meantime, reports a decline this year in their total number of births.

To date the hospital has had 2,538 births, while last year at this time there were 2,852. The total for 1962 was 2,967.

$34 Million Raised by State UF Units

The 166 local United Fund units in Michigan raised more than $34 million this year, it was disclosed at the Michigan United Fund's recent achievement celebration at East Lansing.

The meeting, sponsored by Pontiac Motor Division at Kellog Center, heard praises for the generous support of business, labor and employes in meeting fund goals.

Pontiac Area United Fund and E. M. Estes, Pontiac Motor general manager who headed its fall campaign, were cited for raising well over $822,000 to exceed a $776,700 local goal.

Conductor Collapses From Nervous Fatigue

After emergency treatment at a Hollywood Hospital, Wagner was sent home to rest. His physician, Dr. Paul Roen, said Wagner apparently was suffering from nervous exhaustion.

By Whitehall Board

Book Taken Off School List

WHITEHALL (UPI) — Students in the 11th grade English classes will not be required to read the Pulitzer Prize winning novel "Andersonville" under a ruling made last night by the Whitehall Board of Education.

The novel about a prison camp in Andersonville, Ga., during the Civil War had split this Muskegon County community into two camps.

One faction claimed the book, by MacKinlay Kantor, was obscene and ". . . liberally laced with profanity, vulgarity, obscenity, brutal and bloody passages."

* * *

The other group claimed that it was a "great historical novel which more than pointed up the true conditions of that bloody chapter in American history when brother fought against brother."

PARENTS COMPLAIN

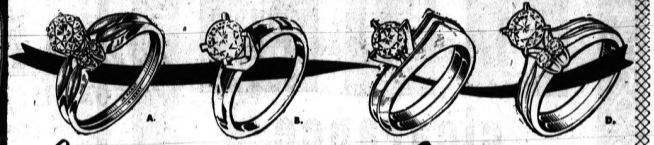

The controversy erupted when parents of students complained about the book. School Supt. Melvin Lubbers outlawed it as textbook material in Robert Heaton's 11th grade English class.

Heaton, described as an excellent teacher by school officials, placed the novel on the required reading list when he came here two years ago.

Women Provided Luke With Many Stories About Jesus

(Editor's Note: Only in Luke can the story of the origins of Christ's coming be found. Here, in the fourth of five Christmas articles, is how this Greek physician went about gathering the story of Jesus' birth.)

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

Of the women, little was known. And he wondered. In the depths of women, behind the watchfulness of their eyes and the stillness of their lips, lay untold secrets. Luke would seek to learn them.

★ ★ ★

Theretofore, none of the disciples had sought to do so. It was a notable omission.

To Luke, a cultured, urbane Greek physician, there could not be sufficient understanding of Jesus without inquiring into what the women knew of it. In every design, women fill a part.

Luke purposed to discover it.

STRODE ALONG

He strode along the road. From time to time, trains of traders passed, wool buyers returning to Tyre or Sidon with packed mules; camels laden with wine casks from Cyprus.

By foot it was about a three-day journey from Caesarea to Jerusalem, but it had taken him five. Several times he had stopped to treat the afflicted.

★ ★ ★

Beside the vials and instruments he carried with him, a quiver of quills hung at his side, and a pouch of folded papyrus. He already had been in Galilee, gathering facts for his book, and he now proceeded into Judea.

As he later stated in his introduction, he set down information "delivered to us by those who from the beginning were eyewitnesses." It included material about Christ's coming unrevealed in any other document.

PARTICULAR NOTE

Of particular note was what he ascertained from women, to whom most scholars in those days paid scant heed.

Luke, a Gentile heathen converted to Christianity, had become an associate of the missionary Paul, who had been arrested for sedition in 58 A. D., and was in Roman custody in Caesarea. He was kept in jail there for two years.

★ ★ ★

During that period, it is feasible that Luke made his investigations. Most of those who had known Jesus, in the flesh, still lived.

Luke had taken the coastal road, avoiding the interior which was torn with raids, pillage, executions and Roman patrols. Arrests and massacres multiplied, and insurrection smouldered.

TEEMING NOW

At Joppa, he had turned eastward through the hill country to the Holy City, teeming now with soldiers, spies and gladiators brought there by the procurator, Festus, and also with hidden hostilities and cabals, including the dread dagger-men, the Sicarii.

Luke learned that the Apostle John had sold his property in Galilee and purchased a house on Mount Olivet for Mary, the mother of Jesus.

There, Luke must have found her and talked with her, for the account he gives could have come from no other source.

Mary was an humble woman, of calm and grace, in her final years. She welcomed him warmly, "Blessed be your coming." They sat in the garden, as tradition has it, and Luke, a painter by avocation, did her portrait, while marking her reminiscences.

DEEPLY PERSONAL

It was a deeply personal account, how the angel had come to her, frightening her. "Hail, O favored one, the Lord is with you." She had been just a girl then, a promised bride, deeply devout, and afraid. "The power of the Most High will overshadow you; therefore the child to be born will be . . . the son of God."

This, and much else, Luke learned . . . of Mary's distraught visit to her aunt, Elizabeth, who offered reassurance, "Blessed are you among women, and blessed is the fruit of your womb."

★ ★ ★

Luke, in compiling his account, obtained exclusive disclosures not only about Mary and Elizabeth, but also about other women to whom Christ's coming brought testing and opportunities.

Among these were the Bethany sisters of Lazarus, Martha and the other Mary; the widow of Nain; the penitent harlot, Mary Magdalene; Susanna; Joanna the wife of Chuzas and other ministering women of Galilee; the prophetess, Anna.

SUCH AGITATION

It was the aged Anna, Luke learned, who stirred such agitation at the temple when the child, Jesus, was brought there by Jewish custom, for his dedication.

★ ★ ★

It may be that Luke gave such attentive ear to women, partly because his friend and teacher, Paul, customarily advised them to keep silent. Doing otherwise, Luke elicited their help and brought unknown details to light.

★ ★ ★

He also uncovered the boyhood episode, when Jesus disappeared from a family caravan returning to Nazareth, and after a frantic search by his parents, was found at the temple talking with learned rabbis.

Through his inquiries in Jerusalem and Bethlehem, coupled with what he had heard in Galilee, Luke also determined the historical circumstances that had caused Joseph to take his bride away from home in her pregnancy.

DECREE WENT OUT

"In those days," Luke learned "a decree went out from Caesar Augustus that all the world should be enrolled. This was the first enrollment when Quirinius was governor of Syria. And all went to be enrolled, each to his own city.

"And Joseph also went up from Galilee, from the city of Nazareth, to Judea, the city of David, which is called Bethlehem, because he was of the house and lineage of David, to be enrolled with Mary, his betrothed, who was with child.

"And while they were there, the time came for her to be delivered. And she gave birth to her first-born son and wrapped him in swaddling cloths, and laid him in a manger, because there was no place for them in the inn."

Luke stood inside the limestone grotto, which inhabitants thereabouts had pointed out to him as the place. There, still, he could see the hollowed-out rock food trough for oxen where the child had lain.

SALT WATER

There, the gentle woman had washed him with salt water, warmed by Joseph over an open fire. There she had wrapped him around and around with long strips of muslin to hold his body firm and stimulate breathing through his nostrils.

Things had been difficult then, as they still were for believers. Luke worked with caution in his interviews at the crowded Bethlehem inn and elsewhere, lest undue suspicion be aroused against him.

★ ★ ★

Along an outlying road Luke encountered a young lad crying and imploring passersby for help. Luke was led by the youth to a shepherd's camp where an old man lay with a broken leg.

★ ★ ★

He had been hurt in a fall. Luke set the leg and was prevailed on to take supper with the shepherds. There, around the campfire, he gained other special remembrances for his book.

FINISHED LATER

Luke did not finish his writing until later, probably in Rome following the execution of Paul, after 65 or 70 A. D. Luke himself, tradition says, lived on until he was 74, and died a bachelor in Thebes.

But this cultivated doctor, with his consideration for women and his artistic touch, left the sole record of some of the most memorable cameos of Jesus.

★ ★ ★

Only Luke records the parables of the good Samaritan, the prodigal son; the lost sheep. He saw the human side of Jesus, his responsiveness not only to men but to women, customarily relegated to a secondary place in those times.

★ ★ ★

Indications are that Luke incorporated some items from Mark's book, and from the logia known as "Q", presumably by Matthew. But his most famous contributions are his own, chiefly his intimate portrayal of the first Christmas.

MOST STIRRING

One of the most stirring scenes was gleaned from those shepherds he had befriended. They told him how they had trembled as the sky brightened at midnight and rang with a glad proclamation.

"Be not afraid: for behold, I bring you good news of great joy which will come to all the people; for to you is born this day in the city of David, a Savior, who is Christ, the Lord."

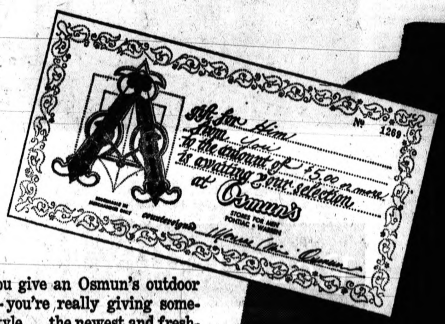

Suddenly as that night Luke writes, the whole shimmering heavens had pulsed with celestial melody, with vast, angelic chorus: 'Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace among men with whom He is pleased."

Halls of the White House Will Be Decked With Holly

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

DECORATIONS: Boughs of holly replace the somber drapes of mourning at the White House next week.

The official 30-day period of mourning for John F. Kennedy ends Sunday, and that evening President Johnson presses a button to light the national Christmas tree in the park behind the executive mansion.

★ ★ ★

The next day staff members will take down the crepe and decorate the halls of the mansions with cedar and balsam trees, holly, red candles, red carnations and mistletoe. All will be ready to be viewed by the public Tuesday — Christmas eve.

A spokesman for the First Family said Wednesday that the Christmas decorations will be pretty much in the same vein as followed previously by the Kennedys, including a nativity scene in the east ballroom.

PRESIDENT'S CARDS

The Johnsons, who plan to spend the holiday at their Texas ranch, are sending out white Christmas cards with the presidential seal and this message in black script: "The President and Mrs. Johnson wish you a blessed Christmas and a happy new year."

GREETINGS: President Johnson sent Christmas greetings to the men and women of the armed forces Wednesday.

★ ★ ★

"This is the time of Christmas — when the spirit of peace and brotherhood burns brightly in the hearts of all men of good will," the message said.

"It is also a time for remembrance of the good things of the past — of the strength and courage of our dead President Kennedy of the countless blessings with which our country and people have been favored.

★ ★ ★

"And, Christmas is a time for all Americans to be thankful for what is ours and what is promised us."

RED SALES: East Germany has bought $8,764,000 worth of American grain since President John F. Kennedy cleared the way on Oct. 9 for the sale of wheat and other agricultural products to the Soviet Bloc.

GERMAN PURCHASES

The East German purchases included tobacco worth $221,000, soybeans $717,000, barley $933,000, corn $3,450,000, clover seed $180,000 and wheat $3,200,000. American exporters negotiated the sales with a trading agency of the East German government in West Germany.

The State Department said Wednesday that the sales "neither involve nor imply in any form U.S. recognition for the Communist puppet regime headed by Walter Ulbricht." Ulbricht heads the East German Communist party.

ACHESON MISSION: A proposal to send former secretary of state Dean Acheson to Cambodia to talk with Prince Norodom Sihanouk is still up in the air, according to State Department officials.

★ ★ ★

Sources said the suggestion that Acheson undertake the mission was made by Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman in a conversation last week with Cambodian Ambassador Nong Kimny.

Acheson is a friend and champion of the Cambodian chief of state.

PLANES - LIGHTNING: The Federal Aviation Agency recommended Wednesday that all jet airliners be equipped with devices to drain off static electricity.

The FAA said its recommendation was based on the fact that the metal and plastic rods—called "wicks" in the trade — can improve the planes' radio communications and might offer some protection against lightning.

★ ★ ★

Lightning has never been officially blamed for any crash, although it's not rare for lightning to strike an aircraft.

Last week, the Civil Aeronautics Board reported evidence that lightning hit the left wing tip of a Boeing 707 jet airliner that crashed Dec. 8 near Elkton, Md., killing all 81 aboard.

WICKS COMING

The Air Transport Association announced that it was going along with the FAA recommendation and that the 117 jets without "wicks" would receive them as soon as possible. The rest of the 440 jets operated by U.S. airlines have been equipped at the factory with the devices.

LYNDA BIRD: President Johnson's older daughter, Lynda Bird, 19, will leave the University of Texas next month, move into the White House and attend one of the colleges in the Washington area.

The decision was said to be her own, made shortly after her father became President. The problems of security reportedly were not involved.

★ ★ ★

Lynda Bird, a sophomore, has had a bodyguard of Secret Service agents following her around the Austin campus since Johnson took the oath of office.

Her sister, Lucy Baines, 16, lives at home at the White House and attends the National Cathedral Schol for Girls in Washington.

For Children

Jackie's Task: Cheerful Yule

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The task of submerging her sorrow and providing a cheerful Christmas for her two children faces Mrs. John F. Kennedy.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Kennedy took the children, Caroline, 6, and John Jr., 3, to the grave of their father in Arlington National Cemetery Wednesday before they flew from Washington to Palm Beach for the holidays. It was John Jr.'s first known visit to the grave.

The holiday plans of Mrs. Kennedy and of the rest of the Kennedy family have not been announced, but it was expected that most would gather at the home of Joseph P. Kennedy, the late president's father.

DRIVEN TO AIRPORT

The elder Kennedy, former ambassador to Great Britain, was driven to Palm Beach International Airport to greet his daughter-in-law and grandchildren.

Mrs. Kennedy, dressed in black, smiled at the small crowd that had gathered. She rode from the airport in the former ambassador's black limousine under heavy guard.

★ ★ ★

About 25 Secret Service men, more than often seen during visits of President Kennedy, were at the airport, in addition to a large contingent of state and city policemen.

Mrs. Kennedy and the children will stay through the New Year holiday at the oceanfront mansion loaned to them again this year by C. Michael Paul, a family friend.

LOANED HOME

Paul loaned the $400,000 home to the late president in 1961 and last season. The home is about two miles from the Joseph P. Kennedy home.

Mrs. Kennedy's departure from Washington was delayed more than 3 hours. Aides said she needed time to complete a number of things, including plans for decorating her new home in Georgetown.

★ ★ ★

An Air Force jet carrying personal belongings and a dozen Secret Service agents preceded Mrs. Kennedy to Palm Beach. It also carried the three Kennedy dogs.

Mrs. Kennedy was accompanied to the airport at Andrews Air Force Base by her sister, Princess Lee Radziwill. Mrs. Radziwill's two children were to fly in from London today. Her husband, Prince Stanislas Radziwill, is expected in time for Christmas.

FLORIDA BOUND—Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy and her children, John Jr., 3, and Caroline, 6, leave their Georgetown home for a flight to Florida. They plan to leave snow-covered Washington and spend the holidays at Palm Beach, Fla.

Pupil Gets Angry; Shoots 2 Teachers

GROVES, Tex. (AP) — Reportedly angered at a reprimand by his teachers, a 15-year-old boy shot teachers Carlos Rojo, 35, and David Garrett, 34, outside the gymnasium of Woodlawn Junior High School Wednesday, the sheriff's department reported.

Garrett was wounded superficially by pellets from a .410 gauge shotgun. Rojo underwent surgery for wounds in the lower abdomen.

The youth is in custody of juvenile authorities.

Aussie Missile Ship to Be Christened Jan. 9

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. David O. Hay, wife of the Australian ambassador to the United Nations, will christen the Royal Australian Navy's second guided missile destroyer Jan. 9 in Bay City, Mich., the Australian embassy announced Wednesday.

The vessel is one of three guided missile destroyers being built in the United States for the Australian Navy.

United States citizens averaged consumption of 111 pounds of potatoes and seven pounds of sweet potatoes in 1962.

Ceremony Set for Renaming Idlewild Airport

NEW YORK (AP) — Idlewild Airport will become John F. Kennedy International Airport next Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

It will be the third name in 20 years for the airport, which has never been named Idlewild officially. Idlewild was the name of the golf course where the airport was built.

★ ★ ★

Its first name was Maj. Gen. Alexander E. Anderson Airport, in honor of the decorated New York City veteran of two world wars. In 1948 the City Council changed it to New York International Airport-Anderson Field.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner signed a law changing the name Wednesday. He said Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, brother of the late president, will attend the rededication ceremony.

2 Earlier Sinatra Kidnap Tries Reported

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Two earlier attempts to kidnap Frank Sinatra Jr. and the near-success of the crime were related today by a cellmate of one of the three suspected kidnapers.

"Once in Arizona, we just missed connections," John William Irwin, 42, was quoted as telling Robert Dale Howard, 27, Lakewood, Calif., before his transfer here Tuesday from a San Diego, Calif., jail.

Howard, who is serving a six-month term for failing to support his family, was interviewed by a reporter for the San Diego Union, which carried the copyrighted story.

★ ★ ★

Irwin also was quoted as telling Howard that the two younger suspects, Barry Worthington Keenan and Joseph Clyde Amsler, both 23, spirited Sinatra Jr. through roadblocks in the Lake Tahoe area where the youth was kidnaped Dec. 8.

ON FLOOR

He said Sinatra was placed on the floor of the back seat and covered with a blanket while one of the two abductors hid in the trunk.

"He said the other two told him they were stopped by a patrolman or a sheriff, but waved on when the officer saw only one man in the car," Howard said.

Frank Jr., 19, was held captive 54 hours and released after his father paid $240,000 in ransom, nearly all of which has been recovered.

Irwin turned himself in to the FBI through his brother, James Irwin, 41, a retired Navy man currently employed by the Imperial Beach, Calif., school system.

DENIED LEADING

Howard said Irwin denied being the ringleader, claiming Keenan, scion of a wealthy Los Angeles area family, was the one who planned and insisted the crime be carried through.

"He (Keenan) was bound and determined that he would kidnap the Sinatra kid," Howard quoted Irwin as saying. "They had made plans to do it twice before."

Howard said Irwin had talked the other two out of the second attempt and they missed connections with Sinatra in the first attempt in Arizona. Howard said he could not remember details of the first two attempts related by Irwin.

★ ★ ★

Howard said Irwin maintained he was in Los Angeles while the other two did the actual kidnaping. He said Irwin was the one who made the calls to Frank Sinatra Sr.

Irwin said Keenan picked up the ransom money.

SITTING IN CARS

Later Keenan told Irwin he believed FBI agents were sitting in a fleet of cabs when he picked up the ransom money.

"He said he could see several (agents) up telephone poles with cameras, also," Howard related. "He assumed they were FBI agents.

"Irwin said he decided to turn himself in because it was just a matter of time before he was caught. He denied he turned in his accomplices."

★ ★ ★

Howard was allowed to talk to reporters because he was a state prisoner. The Department of Justice does not allow federal prisoners, such as Irwin, to be interviewed.

Capitol Hill Phenomenon

Congressmen for Economy--Elsewhere

By STANLEY MEISLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressmen may like economy in general, but they don't always like it in particular.

When the House debated the tax bill three months ago, for example, Rep. Thomas Pelly, R-Wash., like many other congressmen, arose to preach economy in government.

"I believe fiscal balance is even more important than tax reduction," he said. ". . . I certainly favor a tax cut if accompanied by a reduction in federal expenditures."

★ ★ ★

More recently, Pelly, like many other congressmen, arose to protest what looked like economy in government.

TAKE AWAY JOBS

Pelly said Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's decision to end the Dyna-Soar program would take away 5,000 jobs from his district.

"In the past," Pelly said, "I have stated that if Mr. McNamara could justify closing or curtailing defense establishments of contracts affecting my constituents, I would support this action."

But in this case, Pelly went on, he could not support the action. He said there were implications the decision was political, not economic. Why, Pelly asked, didn't the Pentagon close down the Naval shipyard in the Democratic stronghold of Boston?

★ ★ ★

The two positions of Pelly, with their differing tones of emphasis, illustrate a general phenomenon on Capitol Hill:

While congressmen often cry out for economy throughout the government, they just as often cry out against it when it touches their own district.

DENUNCIATION

Last week, for example, Reps. Alexander Pirnie and Carleton J. King, New York Republicans, joined most of the other New York congressmen in a denunciation of McNamara's decision to close down several military installations in New York. They called McNamara's move a "so-called economy" drive.

In the tax bill fight of last Sept. 25 both Pirnie and King were among the 199 congressmen who voted for an unsuccessful motion that would have held back the tax cut unless the administration held its budget down to $88 billion in the next fiscal year. Pelly also was one of the 199.

The evidence shows, however, that the general rule is not always followed on Capitol Hill.

Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., when informed last week that McNamara planned to close an Army camp in the congressman's home district of New Orleans, said, "I've been preaching economy for all these years, and I'm not going to start screaming now just because they shut something down in my backyard."

ALSO HAILED

Another economy preacher, Rep. Robert McClory, R-Ill., also hailed McNamara's decision to shut down some installations.

"It is gratifying to note that a more economical and efficient use of various defense installations has been recommended by . . . McNamara," McClory said.

But McClory's reasons for hailing McNamara were different from that of Hebert.

★ ★ ★

McClory showed this when he expressed particular pleasure over McNamara's decision to transfer 5th Army headquarters from the South Side of Chicago to Fort Sheridan, Ill.

★ ★ ★

Fort Sheridan happens to lie in McClory's congressional district.

IN CONTRAST

This particular economy move drew a contrasting reaction from Rep. Barratt O'Hara, D-Ill. Unlike McClory, O'Hara protested angrily against the decision to move the headquarters out of the South Side of Chicago, for the South Side happens to lie in O'Hara's congressional district.

Christmas Presents He'll Be Happy Not to Receive

NEW YORK—Once again the time is upon us when American womanhood will blithely indulge itself in its annual billion-dollar mistake.

In the supreme conviction that they know better how to dress their mates and relatives than the men themselves do, women will grandly present:

● Ties that will never be worn except by an acromatopsiac.

● Sports jackets suitable for wear only while raking leaves.

OUTDATED ROBES

● Lounging robes which would nicely fill the needs of the prop department of a high school period play.

● An assortment of socks, vests, jewelry, doodads and gimcracks that will earn a dutiful "thanks, darling" from the man who couldn't care less, but who is too nice a guy to tell you.

The reasons for this inept ritual dance are that (1) women really intend to please and (2) really never come to grips with buying habits of men.

The men, moreover, have been brainwashed since their mothers first eased them into a pair of Doctor Dentons.

BRAINWASHED

They have been convinced that their wives know best, despite the existence of that tie rack festooned with never-worn cravats.

Women generally make these mistakes:

● The outerwear they purchase tends to be ultraconservative — dark blues and grays, reflecting a subconscious desire to have married a banker. Fact: He might prefer a casual vented herringbone suit in light brown or camel hair.

● Choice of socks leans the other way — tending to be short and gaudy — due to a "let him live it up a little" approach. Fact: The socks should be conservative and high. The concession to color and crispness should appear rather in the suit and tie.

★ ★ ★

● Tie choices by women incline toward plaids, solids and discreet stripes, even though the lock-step march of male fashions has left these delicacies behind. The man might just prefer today's bolder patterns and hues. Better leave the tie buying to him.

SAFE PURCHASE

Thus, clothes buying for men becomes a perplexing business fraught with good intentions. The result is often the "safe" thing which is neither fish nor fowl.

The "safe" gift, in fact, should be something he can hold& work with, catch trout with, view or sit down upon.

Throughout the year the perceptive wife will detect hints that tell her his fishing pole is out of kilter, that he is tired of fighting with the archaic television set, that his contour chair has slipped a disc, or that his electric razor has turned into a miniature harrow.

Perhaps the secret of Christmas success lies in these areas. Besides, the tie rack is already groaning under the strain.

Civil War Death Toll Is Still Impressive

CHICAGO (AP) — Civil War deaths on the Union side, 364,000, outnumbered the total deaths in World War I, 131,000, almost 3 to 1.

They nearly equalled the total deaths of World War II, 409,000, the Veterans Administration reports.

Yell Now if Your Budget Shoe Pinches

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Most of us were raised on the old adage: "Don't yell till you get hurt." But where money matters are concerned, it's a lot smarter to raise a ruckus before you feel the pain. Sometimes you can ward off the blow entirely.

MARY FEELEY

The following letter from D. V. H. expresses the mood a lot of wage earners find themselves in. They're supporting their families — in this case, well enough surely — they're paying the rent, and they manage to make it okay from one payday to the next.

But there's the haunting realization that they're just spending, not building. It's frustrating to look back on the year just past and find that, in spite of all the energy and hard work and hopeful planning, you're still standing in the same old spot.

I maintain this is the time to start yelling. This is the time to round up the family, sit down with the budget figures, and pose the problem: "This is what we're getting out of our income. Now what do we really want?"

★ ★ ★

Dear Miss Feeley: We are regular readers of your column and appreciate your sound advice on money matters. I have a well paid job as an engineer with a take-home pay of approximately $800 a month.

Although there are only myself, wife and two children in the family, and we do not spend a great deal on entertainment, it is difficult for us to save.

Could you suggest a budget for us?

D.V.H, Rochester, N.Y.

Dear D. V. H.: Since your letter doesn't handicap me with many facts, I'll proceed on theory.

I want you to check over the following budget — a reasonable setup on your income with the four of you to consider. Now obviously, your actual budget and this spending plan will not jibe, or you wouldn't feel that your own method of dividing up your money was out of kilter.

Needless to say, you have many minor budget items on on your own list that are not specified here. However, the category "miscellaneous" is expected to cover some of them at least.

This is just a framework for you to pull apart and put back together again, for a more precise fit:

★ ★ ★

Housing, $150; household operating costs, $60; food, $140; clothing, $70; savings, including insurance, $80; personal allowances for all of you, $90; miscellaneous, $60; medical, $30; recreation, $60; books, educational material, $20; car operating, $40.

DISCUSS PLANS

Now is the time to discuss college plans for the children, any new furniture purchase that may be needed, the life expectancy of the car, possible need for more insurance. Set up your most important aims first, then try to build your budget around them.

Don't make the mistake of thinking that somehow "extra" money will show up. It won't.

You have to find it right there in that $800 a month. It's rarely possible to eliminate any one budget item completely.

You simply have to lower some so you can raise others. Bring your engineering talents to bear in order to make your new budget structure stand up and take it!

Dear Miss Feeley: I have always tried to make most of my clothes, partly because I rather like to sew and partly because it was possible to buy materials in a very short time and then work the sewing in when I was at home tending the children.

There were two big drawbacks, however. Most of the things I made either did not fit well, or they were just plain unbecoming and thus embarrassing to wear. Now that the children are nearly raised, I would like to forget about sewing and try to learn how to shop properly for myself.

My monthly personal allowance is $15, which covers clothes, haircuts, and Christmas and birthday gifts for my husband. Could you suggest how that amount might best be divided among dresses, coats, shoes, etc., budgeting it on a yearly basis of $180?

My life centers mostly around church activities and home. Frankly, having many clothes has never seemed of great importance to me, but I would like to feel comfortable and appropriately dressed.

Mrs. R. L. S., Wilmington, Del.

Dear Mrs. S.: It wouldn't be realistic if I tried to suggest a certain number of garments at specific prices, since I don't know what's already in your wardrobe.

Anyway, I believe the solution to your clothes problem lies in adopting this practice: buy simple styles — inexpensively priced — and use some of your shopping money to have them properly fitted.

I have personally paid a bargain price for a suit, for instance, and spent half again as much having it altered! The suit looked several times what it cost when the fitter got through with it. Make it a point to shop where a good fitter is available.

You'll have to experiment to find one that pleases you. You may find her in a big department store or in a small specialty shop.

Another important investment is the right foundation garment. It's truly a woman's best friend. Even if you have to forego a new dress or a pair of shoes, it'll be worth it in the long run.

I'll bet that some of the clothes now in your closet can lead a new life with skillful alterations. Track down a dressmaker or ladies' tailor who will do the work at reasonable rates.

Arlington National Cemetery originally was part of a 6,000-acre grant made by the Virginia colonial governor to a ship captain, Robert Howsen, for bringing colonists to the New World.

21 Years Old

'White Christmas' Still Top Yule Disc

The country's biggest selling Christmas record, Bing Crosby's "White Christmas," is 21 years old this year.

It has sold between 10 and 12 million copies and is still selling — on 45, extended play 45 and two long-playing records.

Irving Berlin wrote "White Christmas" in 1942. Bing Crosby sang it in the movie "Holiday Inn" and later that year recorded it for Decca's cast album "Holiday Inn," 12 songs from the movie in a six-record, 78 r.p.m. package.

★ ★ ★

On the other side of "White Christmas" he sang "Let's Start the New Year Right."

SAME ARRANGEMENT

The company reissued "White Christmas" as a single several times, and in 1947 Crosby recorded it again.

Recording techniques were better but the arrangement was the same and the Ken Darby Singers were again in the background.

It's that 1947 version you'll buy this year if you buy Bing singing "White Christmas."

★ ★ ★

On 45 he backs it with "God Rest Ye Merry, Gentlemen."

On 45 extended play he also sings "Silent Night," "Adeste Fideles" and "Jingle Bells."

BIG SELLER

Bing sings carols and popular Christmas songs, including "White Christmas" of course, on the LP "Merry Christmas," which has been a big seller for the past half-dozen Yuletide seasons.

And his "White Christmas" is also available on "Holiday Inn," one of the 15 LPs Decca released during 1962 as a collection of all the songs Crosby ever sang in the movies.

Though Decca doesn't count them in their totals of how many Bing Crosby "White Christmasses" have sold, Bing did record two other versions.

One was as part of a quartet from the 1954 movie "White Christmas" and the other was taped at a Christmas show he did on radio in 1955.

DUET NEXT?

Since Crosby signed earlier this year with Frank Sinatra's recording company, Reprise, we surely can expect a new version—possibly even a duet.

The National Association of Record Merchandisers Inc. has rated "excellent" four of the 206 Christmas LP records on the market during the Yuletide season 1962.

The four are John Mathis' "Merry Christmas," Bing Crosby's "Merry Christmas," Elvis Presley's "Elvis' Christmas Album" and "Perry Como Sings Merry Christmas Music."

The association took a survey of its members, who rated the albums on the basis of sales.

Suburbs Baffle Poor Bloodhound

WASHINGTON— Bloodhounds remain keen tracers of lost persons, but as fugitive hunters they're almost obsolete.

The mournful-eyed, long-eared sleuths can't track a convict who roars off in a black sedan. And the varied scents of suburbia and industry create "olfactory distractions" that frustrate the dogs.

The District of Columbia's Lorton Reformatory, located just beyond the fringe of the capital's growing Virginia suburbs, recently sold its pack of bloodhounds.

A prison official said it was not uncommon for the dogs to lope off hot on the scent, strike a multilane highway, and "sit around looking bewildered."

Bloodhounds still are used in a few rural areas to track criminals; they are invaluable everywhere for finding children and hikers lost in the woods.

BROUGHT BY NORMANS

The bloodhound is descended from stag-hunting hounds that Norman conquerors brought to England in the 11th century, the National Geographic Society says.

Breeders preserved the purity of the strain, giving rise to the term "bloodied hound." The name probably also derives from the dogs' skill in following the blood scent of wounded game.

The English also found bloodhounds useful for tracking men—cattle thieves and poachers. In the United States, the bloodhound earned an undeserved reputation as a bloodthirsty manhunter.

Abolitionists painted a grim picture of the relentless beasts mauling runaway slaves, and every reader of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" remembers how they hounded poor Eliza across the ice.

Actually, the purebred bloodhound is a gentle dog, more likely to lick the hand of a fugitive than to bite it. "Joe," a Georgia bloodhound, once tracked down an escapee and greeted him with vigorous tail-wagging. The prisoner patted Joe, tied the dog to a tree, and went on his way.

Puerto Rico Experiment

Door of Failure Shut on Near Birth Control Success

(Editor's Note—This is the first article in a two-part series on the collapse of birth control experiments in Puerto Rico.)

By WARD CANNEL

SAN JUAN, P.R. (NEA)— After seven years of tantalizing nearness to success, the door of failure is closing on what might have been Latin America's—and the world's—most telling experiment in revolution.

The Sunnen Foundation is withdrawing its support of the Family Planning Association (FPA) of Puerto Rico.

With it goes a $1.7 million investment in what might have been the beginnings of a damper on the world's underdeveloped, incendiary areas where the hunger, misery and overcrowding breed tyranny and bloody revolution.

★ ★ ★

To understand the Sunnen-Family Planning experiment and why it failed, one has to travel with a man like Jose Rivera out of San Juan and deep into the green but undernourished interior that could be any country in the explosive Caribbean or uneasy South America.

AREA SUPERVISOR

Rivera, 32, is a former schoolteacher who responded to his inner call to help his country by joining the FPA as an area supervisor.

His assignment: To recruit community leaders in the tiny villages and mountain shanty-towns and to supply them with free birth control information and materials for distribution to local residents who want them.

TYPICAL CASE — This Puerto Rican mother of nine stands outside the door of her rundown home with some of her children. She is a symbol of the over-population problems in impoverished sections of the world.

Since 1956, people like Rivera have been employing the startling innovation of community leaders, foundation money and —since 1959—a new birth control product, Emko, devised by Joseph Sunnen himself, for a massive public education assault against the ills of the island.

★ ★ ★

The hope and half-understanding was that the Commonwealth government would eventually step in and help the program.

ENDLESS POVERTY

In Rivera's territory a woman of 25 may have at least a dozen children, many of them sick and all of them growing up to endless poverty.

Free information and material have not been hard to distribute, despite organized opposition from the Catholic Church.

Nor has it been hard to recruit community leaders.

★ ★ ★

By their very existence these women describe eloquently the mortal cycle which governs the underdeveloped areas of the world:

THE LEADERS

Tomasa Nieves, for example, midwife of El Salto and mother of 19.

Angel Aponte, shopkeeper of Comerio. Benigna Rivera of Aibonito, mother of nine—one born crippled, one mute, one dead of childbed fever.

But despite the FPA's obvious success in finding voluntary leaders and a population ready to learn a new way of life, the Puerto Rican government has not stepped in with active help.

★ ★ ★

Nor will it, in all probability. Politics still is stronger than the press of population.

WITHDRAW PLAN

The Sunnen Foundation consequently has decided to withdraw its Puerto Rico program. In an effort to continue anyway, the FPA has taken two new steps:

First, it has asked community leaders to sell the birth control materials at a yearly cost to recipients of about $3 or $4.

Second, as an alternative, the association has donated a supply of Emko to public health clinics for free distribution to those who come in and apply.

★ ★ ★

The result has been a sad defeat from the start.

CAN'T AFFORD IT

"The people in El Salto can't afford even $1 a year," says midwife-community leader Nieves. "We never see money here."

Says nurse Vazquez: "People near enough can come to a clinic for free materials. But most people aren't near enough."

Reports shopkeeper Aponte: "They refuse to buy it from me. They think I'm taking a profit on what they used to get free."

★ ★ ★

But the sternest words come from Mrs. Rivera:

"After my ninth baby, born a cripple, I asked the people at the hospital for the sterilization operation so I would not have any more babies. I had the operation and they told me to report to the public health clinic for checkups afterward.

"And do you know what the public health doctor told me when I came for an examination? That God would damn me eternally for what I had done and I would go to hell and burn forever."

SPADEA DESIGNER PATTERN

The day Brigance designed this one, he had just been playing some old tunes on his hi-fi and the one that kept spinning around in his head was, "Did You Ever See a Dream Walking?"

You can be the dream girl of Christmas parties, if you get right to it and make it up in silk, rayon or wool jersey, silk or rayon crepe.

These soft, floaty fabrics are exactly right for the skirt of unpressed pleats that billow out from the defined top-stitched waistline.

The top-stitching detail repeated on the yoke is another way to make the most of you in the very new low cut neckline.

If you plan to be a dream in tropical climes, handkerchief linen, voile, novelty batistes or very fragile oriental materials are what it takes to walk and waltz right into romance.

'I'm No Sex Symbol'

Debbie Frowns on Nude Swim

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — This is the story of how Debbie Reynolds did not do a nude swimming scene.

She was reading the script of her new musical, "The Unsinkable Molly Brown," when she let out a small shriek. She stormed into the office of prodeucer Lawrence Weingarten and tossed the script on his desk.

THOMAS

"You want me to swim in the nude?" she demanded. "Me? Debbie Reynolds?"

The producer tried to explain that it seemed natural that Molly, an uninhibited frontier girl, would take a bath in a mountain lake—in the altogether.

"Are you out of your mind?" she said. "That might be all right for some of the other girls, but I'm no sex symbol. Never was, never will be."

THINKS ABOUT IT

The producer asked her to think about it. She thought about it.

She needed counsel. Who could advise her better than her friend, Carroll Baker, who has been making a kind of career of nude scenes.

★ ★ ★

"Hey—how did you do those scenes, anyway?" Debbie asked.

"Nude," Carroll replied.

"Now look here, Miss Carpetbag, you know I couldn't do that."

"Okay, tell you what you do. Get some stripper's tape. Put it on and you get the same effect."

Debbie told the MGM makeup department to hunt up some stripper's tape. The makeup people called all over town. Nobody had ever heard of stripper's tape.

This was reported back to Debbie.

"Then ask a stripper what it is," she suggested.

★ ★ ★

So the studio called the local ecdysiast academy, the Pink Pussycat, and asked to speak to a stripper.

"We'd like to get some stripper's tape for Debbie Reynolds to do a nude swimming scene in a movie," said the studio aide.

BUY HER OWN

"Let her buy her own," was the answer. "She's loaded."

"No, you don't understand. We'd like to know where we could buy some stripper's tape."

The voice instructed where the studio could buy some of the flesh-colored tape that strippers use.

★ ★ ★

The makeup people brought it to Debbie.

She suggested that they try it on her stand-in first.

They outfitted the stand-in and showed the result to Debbie. She let out a small shriek.

Debbie took the swim in Molly Brown's underwear.

Spain's Shortest Man Dies; Height 2 Feet

ALICANTE, Spain (AP) — Francisco Fernandez Perez, 50, a midget billed as "Spain's shortest man," died yesterday at his home in nearby Villafranqueza. Relatives said his height at death was less than two feet.

Fernandez Perez traveled throughout Europe as a circus performer. He was separated from his wife, by whom he had four normal daughters.

They Walk on Bed of Extinct Volcano

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii (AP) — There can't be many U. S. Navy men in the world who hold parades and reviews on the bed of an extinct volcano — but men of the Pacific Fleet Service Force do.

The crater is at Makalapa near Pearl Harbor, and the service force's headquarters is right on the rim.

Niles Man Arrested for Florida Robbery

NILES (AP)—John Batson, 22, of Niles, was arrested Wednesday for investigation of a $19,700 robbery of the Florida Bank of St. Petersburg Dec. 16.

★ ★ ★

Niles Police Chief Arthur Pears said he received a tip from the FBI and arrested Batson as he returned from a trip to Chicago. A suitcase in Batson's car trunk contained $19,590, Pears said.

★ ★ ★

Pears said Batson denied knowledge of the robbery and refused to say where he obtained the money.

Record Sales in Sight for Christmas Stamps

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Christmas postage stamps may have record sales this year.

The Post Office Department said yesterday a survey in seven cities — Seattle, Indianapolis, Minneapolis, New York, Philadelphia, Richmond and Memphis — showed that sales of the holiday stamp will be 30 per cent higher this year than last.

Large ocean-going vessels can penetrate 2,300 miles along the Amazon—about three-quarters of the way across the South American continent.

Military Flair for Waste 'Outrageous'

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press International

The shocking waste of public money by the national Defense Department military brass continues unabated and unrebuked despite claims from time to time that national defense has saved, another billion here, and another billion there.

If the Pentagon were a private corporation, the stockholders would have fired the management long since.

The comptroller general of the United States has been calling fouls against the Pentagon ever since the monstrous building was erected to house the consolidated armed services. The comptroller general is an arm of the U.S. Congress. The office was created to audit the expenditure of funds appropriated by the Congress.

* * *

The comptroller's reports on national defense procurement consistently have revealed reckless waste of public money.

ANNUAL AUDITS

There are anually many such audits of national defense spending. These tales of what the generals and admirals do with the taxpayers' dollars are almost incredible. They belong in a believe-it-or-not museum.

Here is an example, dated Nov. 19, 1963. Toward the end of the 1962 fiscal year the Air Force discovered that it had a reserve of unexpended funds that had been appropriated for expenditure in fiscal 1962.

The Air Force, of course, had asked for this money on grounds of urgent need. The facts seem to be that the Air Force did not need the money at all and was somewhat embarrassed to approach the year end with a large unexpended balance.

* * *

The Air Force had to spend the money or turn it back to the Treasury. So, the Air Force spent $323,000, of its surplus funds for new furniture it did not need. The comptroller general called the expenditure largely undjustified.

NEED FOR ECONOMY

"Such waste and extravagance illustrates the need," the comptroller's report said, "for a greater sense of individual responsibility for economy in government operations."

This outrageous waste of public funds is a pretty fair sample of the waste which has gone on year after year and which is reflected in reports prepared by the comptroller general.

Rep. Earl Wilson (R-Ind.) told the House in a recent speech that the Army had wasted about $35 million in purchases of radio equipment without competitive bidding.

The Navy has achieved even more spectacular feats of flushing public funds down the drain.

SHOCKING ASPECT

The most shocking aspect of this situation is that no one is doing anything about it. Or, anyway, nothing shows on the public record at this time.

You might expect the civilian management of the National Defense Department to blackball the promotion of officers who waste public money. Or, you might expect some other action to discourage such inexcusably careless administration of the public business.

If Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara or any of his civilian aides has ever read any of the comptroller's reports, there is no evidence of it.

* * *

The reports go, specificially, to the speaker of the House and to the president pro tempore of the Senate. Those elderly statesmen probably don't read them either.

REQUIRED READING

President Johnson should make the comptroller's reports required reading for all Cabinet officers and agency chiefs.

* * *

When the Air Force throws a lot of money out the window, the responsible general should be chewed out in the classic military tradition. Are you listening, Mr. Secretary?

Hostages Head Home for Holiday

LA PAZ, Bolivia (UPI) — Three of four Americans held hostage by rebel tin miners for 10 days earlier this month head home for Christmas today in a U.S. Air Force plane.

Those making the trip are U.S. Information Agency officers Thomas M. Martin of New York City and Michael Kristula of Cadillac, Mich., and Bernard Rifkin of Montclair, N.J., a labor adviser to the U.S. aid agency.

The fourth American, Peace Corpsman Robert Fergerstrom of Honolulu, will spend the holidays here.

* * *

President Johnson ordered the Air Force to expedite the homeward journey of the hostages when they were released Monday. The rebels seized them in an unsuccessful effort to force the government to free three Communist union leaders arrested on charges of homicide or embezzlement.

GE Settles Suits; Cost $11 Million

NEW YORK (AP)—The General Electric Co. has agreed to nearly $11 million in out-of-court settlements of 32 suits filed as a result of 1961 antitrust decisions. U.S. Dist. Judge Sylvester Ryan approved the settlements Wednesday.

The largest, almost $6 million, was made to Consolidated Edison Co. of New York.

Hundreds of utilities sued GE, Westinghouse Electric Corp. and about 25 other suppliers for reimbursements of overcharges on electrical equipment.

AF Sets Firing Record With 3 Atlas Missiles

VANDENBERG AFB, Calif. (AP)—The Air Force set a new one-day launch record with its firing Wednesday of three Atlas rockets in little more than 12 hours.

All were successful, industry sources said.

Children Have a Ball at Annual Hospital Party

Mrs. Sadie McIntyre, head of the outpatient department at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, enjoys the annual children's Christmas party as much as the small guests do. With her admiring the ice carving of Rudolph are Michael Winton, Howard McNeil Street; DeBonna Lucier, Judah Road; and Benino Casares, South Sanford Street.

Womens

Big brother has to examine the toy monkey his younger sister received from Santa Claus. Hezzy and Alice Atkins live on Rockwell Street. They seem unconcerned that their goodies on the floor could get trampled by other eager children. Members of the Women's Auxiliary were hostesses at the party.

Imperfect Gift May Be Taken

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: I received a birthday present (a blouse) from one of the girls in the office for whom I did a few favors. I was quite surprised when she gave it to me as I didn't think she even knew when my birthday was.

When I opened the package I noticed that underneath the size tag was another one reading "irregular." I was very much taken back when I saw it.

I feel that when giving a present to someone it should be of first quality and to give anything less is an insult. I would like your opinion.

★ ★ ★

A: While I do agree that when giving a present to someone it should be of first quality, if the imperfection is so slight as to be barely perceptible, I would hardly consider it an insult and I think you should accept it in the kindly spirit in which it was given.

It is very possible the giver did not notice the blouse was marked "irregular."

Q: My nephew was married six months ago. In the past I have always given him a Christmas present. Now that he is married, is it necessary to give his wife a present too?

Would it be discourteous to give him a present and not her? I don't want to add to my already long Christmas list.

★ ★ ★

A: To give something to him and not to her might very easily hurt her feelings, especially if she is a sensitive person.

I suggest that you find something they would like for their house and send it to them both.

Q: When soup is served in a bowl with a plate under it, should the spoon be left in the bowl or put on the side of the plate?

★ ★ ★

A: If the bowl is wide and fairly shallow, the spoon may be left in it; otherwise it should be put on the edge of the plate underneath.

Details concerning the announcing and christening of a baby are described in the Emily Post Institute booklet entitled, "The New Baby."

Bride-Elect and Fiance Share Shower Honors

Sylvia Jean Longyear and her fiance Donald Meroy Heggen, opened wedding gifts at a dinner-party and shower, Sunday in the Highland Park home of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Mix.

★ ★ ★

Among the guests were the bride-elect's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Harold W. Longyear of West Long Lake Road and a group of their friends.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Jesse Bollinger and Mrs. Glen Doyle were cohostesses at a recent luncheon and shower in the former's home on Kirkway Drive.

Friends of the future bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Abner M. Heggen of Cottontail Lane, were invited to meet Miss Longyear, her mother, also her grandmother Mrs. Fred Longyear of Detroit and an aunt, Mrs. Marvin Longyear of Birmingham.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Donald Kehl of Dexter honored Miss Longyear at a recent shower and buffet supper to which her sorority sisters and Ann Arbor friends were invited.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Harold C. DeWindt will officiate at the Dec. 27 wedding at Kirk-in-the-Hills.

Sorority Dinner

Mrs. Donald DeVoe of Rochester opened her home to Xi Gamma Alpha chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority Wednesday for a cooperative dinner and Christmas party.

A secret pal gift exchange concluded the evening's entertainment planned by Marcelle Kitson, program chairman.

Pontiac Area Residents Plan to Attend Wedding

Among Pontiac area residents who plan to attend the marriage of Susan Jean Ketcham to Joel Alan Hickey, Saturday, in Livonia, are her grandparents, Mrs. Glenn P. Seeley of Watkins Lake and the Glen G. Ketchams of Cooley Lake Road.

★ ★ ★

The bride-elect's great-aunts, Mrs. Rufus M. Traver and Gladys Brondige of Sylvan Lake, and the Thomas Moffats of Watkins Lake and the Garold Mannings will also attend the ceremony in the Emmanuel Baptist Church.

The Gilbert N. Ketchams of Livonia, parents of the bride, are former Pontiac residents. Her fiance is the son of Mrs. Castle Martin of Livonia and the late Mr. Hickey.

Husband Who Kicks a Dog May Have Mental Problem

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I recently had to get rid of our dog (she was only a puppy) because my husband abused her so terribly.

ABBY

If anything happened at the shop, or if he became upset around the house, he'd kick that poor little dog within an inch of her life.

He says it's better to take it out on a dog than on a person. Is that a good enough excuse?

He is 33 years old and in good health, but I can't understand such cruel actions.

Do you think something could be the matter with him? Mentally, I mean.

WORRIED WIFE.

★ ★ ★

DEAR WORRIED: You are worried with good reason. Getting rid of the dog did not solve your problem.

The hostility that motivated your husband to abuse the pup is still with him. Your husband may appear to be "in good health," but he could well be mentally or emotionally upset.

(P.S. And some will say you threw out the wrong dog!)

DEAR ABBY: I wish my in-laws would stop sending us gifts! They are so one-sided in their giving.

I don't mean to sound like an ingrate, but at Christmastime and on birthdays they give us so much that I feel like a piker because we can't give anything to match it.

How can this be handled?

"THAT GIRL OUR SON MARRIED"

DEAR "THAT": Your signature revealed more information than your letter.

You never have felt "accepted" by your in-laws. And if they gave you less, you'd probably complain more.

DEAR ABBY: I am 15 and I've got a problem. His name is Paul and he doesn't even know I'm alive.

Every girl in school has flipped for him, including me. Some of the kids I hang around with have tried to find out if he likes me, but he doesn't say anything.

★ ★ ★

I am not bad looking. In fact some people think I am cute. I have long blonde hair (natural) and large blue eyes.

I've got everything but a good figure. (No curves.) I don't expect you to work miracles, Abby. I just want a little help in getting this guy to notice me.

BOY TROUBLE

★ ★ ★

DEAR TROUBLE: Sometimes, the more "help" a girl has trying to get a boy to notice her, the faster he runs —away.

Don't try too hard, and tell your friends to quit "helping" you, and you might catch him through the novelty of your indifference.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, in Care of The Pontiac Press.

Santa Claus at Sorority Yule Party

Santa Claus and Christmas carols starred at the Tuesday evening party held by Alpha Chapter of Beta Theta Phi Sorority.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Russell Beam of Whitmore Road opened her home for the party at which Mrs. Howard Johnson was initiated into the sorority.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Frank Coad played Santa Claus and Mrs. Wendell O. Crisp accompanied carol singing at the piano.

★ ★ ★

The chapter donated a hair dryer for women at the Oakland County Medical Facility and collected articles for use in occupational therapy at the Pine Knob Nursing Home.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. U. C. Meeker, Mrs. Walter Kinsler, and Mrs. Jack Greathouse were in charge of the meeting at which Mrs. Duane S. Bates was a guest.

Yule Party, Dinner for Sorority

The Christmas dinner and party for Epsilon Rho Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi was held at the home of Mrs. Charles Hoffman, of North Cass Lake Road Wednesday evening.

★ ★ ★

The committee in charge of the evening was headed by Mrs. Jack Payne. Members were Mrs. Marvin Haskins, Mrs. Stuart Hill, Mrs. Edward Amann, Mrs. Harold Boone and Mrs. Earl Kreps.

★ ★ ★

The members brought books for the Osteopathic Hospital.

Mrs. Robert German, a transfer from Jackson, was welcomed into the sorority.

★ ★ ★

The group's highest honor was conferred upon Mrs. M. A. Calbi, Mrs. Ralph Ellsworth, Rosamond Haeberle and Mrs. Philip Stomberg.

Alums Hold Holiday Tea

Birmingham and North Suburban Alumnae of Alpha Omicron Pi will sponsor a Christmas tea for active collegiate members of the sorority and their mothers.

★ ★ ★

The annual affair will be held Dec. 30 from 2 to 4 p. m. at the Lathrup Village home of Mrs. Leo Damsky.

'Post 20' Coed Club Has Party

A combined Christmas party and organizational meeting is being planned at the YWCA for the new "Post 20's club", a coed group for all single young men and women on the shady side of 30.

★ ★ ★

An invitation is extended to all eligible persons in the area to attend the first meeting Friday at 7:30 p.m.

Future activities of the new group will be planned, with games, seasonal music and refreshments to complete the evening. Reservations by today may be made by calling the YWCA.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. John Streit, young adult chairman, and Mrs. Jane Stagg, acting program director, will be in charge.

Fashions for Little Grown-Ups

Simplicity is the word for this quilted robe.

More grown-up color and sophistication than little girls have ever tasted is available today in new, colorful at-home wear made of nylon fabrics.

★ ★ ★

Ideas from the current wardrobes of fashion-conscious mothers, particularly ideas about fashion-right colors, are going into the styling of at-home wear for little girls.

★ ★ ★

Robe designers who achieved color distinction with fabrics of Allied Chemical's Caprolan nylon in women's apparel are turning to Caprolan to create at-home wear for youngsters.

★ ★ ★

Strawberry pink iced with gold embroidery, for example, is a new shade likely to catch the fancy of little girls. The tailored and simple as well as the frosted look of embroidery and satin ribbons are present in at-home styling for the very young.

★ ★ ★

The new colors and the "long" look in robe styling for youngsters add up to an appealing Christmas gift idea.

And Caprolan nylon's easy-care, wash-and-wear benefits provide extra reasons why mothers will love the new robes being designed for little girls.

Long fashions are highlighted for at-home wear this season, including fashions for the little people. This quilted robe is white with blue satin buttons marching all the way down the front. The blue satin belt can be tied Empire style. About $10.95.

An air of elegance is found in this quilted robe with its golden Schiffli embroidered free-falling leaves and flowers. A grand touch of fashion is added in the extra fat shoestring tie at the neckline. About $11.

Serve Half Pound

When choosing the 'Christmas bird,' allow about one-half pound of ready-to-cook turkey per serving, then add more for second helpings.

The Atlantic hurricane, which occurs seven to eight times a year, is not as concentrated as a tornado. But it packs a punch estimated as the equivalent of 500,000 atomic bombs of the type dropped on Nagasaki in World War II.

Will-O-Way Presents Play

"The King of the Golden River," an original play by Celia Merrill Turner, will be presented Dec. 30 at the Birmingham Theater.

Produced by the Will-O-Way Apprentice Theatre, with Mrs. Turner as director, the musical fairy tale will be presented at 10 a. m. and 1 p. m.

It is one of three sponsored annually by the Birmingham American Association of University Women for youngsters in first grade and up.

Mrs. Turner wrote the play especially for the 1962 International Freedom Festival. It had its first performance before 2,000 children at the Detroit Institute of Arts.

Leading roles are being played by David Merrill, Kenneth Way Turner and Bob McGonigal of Bloomfield Hills. Lead dancing part is performed by Connie DesAutels of Orchard Lake.

In supporting roles are Patti Dell of Draper Avenue, Dean Yanuszeski of North Avery Street, Sheryl Dooley of Walled Lake, and Orchard Lake residents Peggy Huntley, Shari Lightstone, and Kris Kreeger.

Pat and Deveny Unick of Walled Lake are also in the cast.

Let's Knit

Stitches for Thought

At one time or another we all feel the need to be alone so that we can sort out our thoughts or just be thankful for the many little things that brighten our life. While we are knitting, either for us, our loved ones, or our friends, we have the best opportunity to meditate, especially while knitting this very easy V-back shawl sweater.

★ ★ ★

The interest is kept at the cuffs and the shawl collar. The collar can also be knitted in the same color as the sweater and the effect will be equally stunning. As the hem is knitted, the sweater has a neat appearance.

★ ★ ★

Try any one of the many delightful new yarns now on the market, for a special effect mix your yarns for the body of the sweater to give it a tweed look.

★ ★ ★

V-back shawl sweater No. 31 may be obtained by sending 50 cents by coin, check, or money order to: Ursula du-Bois, The Pontiac Press Pattern Dept., Box 3307, Van Nuys, Calif.

Germany Is Home of Christmas Tree

The Christmas tree came from Germany, a custom dating back to the 8th Century. The lighting of the tree with candles is credited to Martin Luther. Prince Albert carried this custom to England when he married Queen Victoria. Some years later it replaced the older, native Kissing Bough, a hanging garland of greens shaped like a crown decorated with candles. The first German immigrants brought this heart-warming custom to America.

Mrs. L. B. Johnson Announces Specialties of Special House

WASHINGTON—Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson today shared three of her favorite recipes with American housewives, including the President's favorite sweet—"Double Divinity Fudge."

★ ★ ★

The White House announced the First Lady's recipes for turkey dressing, spinach souffle and the fudge.

TURKEY DRESSING

Medium-size pan of corn bread; four slices of toasted bread; one stalk of chopped celery; three large onions, chopped; six eggs; one-fourth cup butter; salt, pepper; sage; stock from turkey.

★ ★ ★

Mix together bread and corn bread that has been crumbled with stock from turkey. Be sure to use enough stock so it will not be stiff. Add eggs and remaining ingredients. Bake slowly for one hour. Serves eight.

SPINACH SOUFFLE

Three eggs separated; one cup chopped cooked spinach; one-half cup of thick white sauce; one-fourth cup of chopped onions; one-half cup of grated cheese.

Saute onions in small amount of butter. Make white sauce of two tablespoons of butter; two tablespoons of flour; one cup of milk—rich milk or light cream—one-half teaspoon of salt and one-eighth of a teaspoon of pepper.

★ ★ ★

Beat yolks until thick and lemon colored. Stir into white sauce and add spinach and cheese. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites and turn into greased casserole. Set in pan of hot water and bake in moderate oven (350) about 50 minutes. Serve at once.

DOUBLE DIVINITY FUDGE

Two cups of sugar; two-thirds cup of water; one-half cup of light corn syrup; two egg whites slightly beaten; one teaspoon of vanilla; dash of salt.

★ ★ ★

Combine one-half cup of sugar and one-third cup of water and cook at 240 degrees until small amount of syrup forms soft ball in cold water. Cook remaining one and one-half cups of sugar, one-third cup of water and corn syrup at 254 degrees until it forms a hard ball in cold water.

Cool first syrup slightly. Add slowly to egg whites, beating constantly about one to two minutes or until mixture loses its gloss; add second syrup in same way. Add vanilla and turn into greased pan. Cut in squares when cold.

This candy is softer and creamier than regular divinity. Approximate yield about 40 pieces.

Wreaths Symbolic of Yule's Meaning

What is the meaning of wreaths at Christmas? Circular in shape and made from greens, they stand for eternal life. With candles in the center, they are meant to welcome the Infant Jesus to each home, for it is believed in some countries that He wanders the streets on Christmas Eve looking for refuge.

No Nation Can Claim St. Nick

St. Nicholas Day was first celebrated in Asia Minor in the 4th century. The white-haired bishop appeared on Dec. 6, his saint's day, riding a white horse laden with gifts for children.

★ ★ ★

By the 11th century, St. Nick was appearing regularly on Dec. 6 in Germany and Austria. Kriss Kringle, representing the Christ Child, comes on Christmas Eve in Western Europe. In Sweden and Norway Christmas dwarfs appear on Christmas Eve, and in England Father Christmas, closely resembling our own Santa Claus, is in evidence.

Teen-age girls at the State Hospital made the dollhouse in occupational therapy under the direction of Mrs. Ernst and Mrs. Carl T. Blauman Jr.

Is Old Way Too Far Gone?

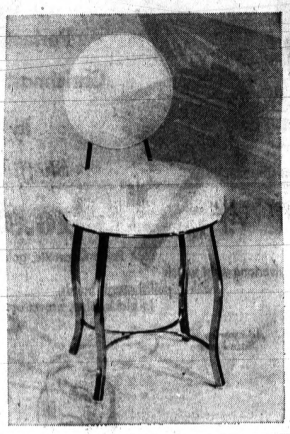

Some old fashioned spot-removal techniques still work, but on modern fabrics and dyes, these same remedies might also remove the garment's color—or even a portion of the garment itself, Institute researchers cautioned.

Art Display on Medicine at OU

A 42-print art display depicting the history of medicine will be exhibited at Oakland University Jan. 12-26.

★ ★ ★

Co-sponsored by the Oakland County Medical Society and the university, the display will feature paintings by Robert A. Thom, of Birmingham.

Thom did the series of oil paintings for Parke-Davis and Co. He currently has been commissioned by Michigan Bell Telephone Co. to do a "History of Michigan" series.

The two-week display will be highlighted Jan. 15 by a dinner meeting of the Oakland County Medical Society and its women's auxiliary.

★ ★ ★

Edgar "Bud" Guest, radio announcer-humorist, will be the speaker for the meeting. Faculty members, their wives and area physicians and their wives will attend.

The picture exhibit will be on display through Jan. 26, a society spokesman said, in order that area high school students might be able to see it.

Offering Bursts Into Splendor

Nature's star-shaped wonder — the Poinsettia — has virtually become the symbol of Christmas in the United States. The plant was brought here from Mexico over 125 years ago by Joel R. Poinsett, our first minister to that country.

★ ★ ★ ★

Its popularity endures year after year and when you select a Poinsettia as a gift, you are giving the number one plant wired each year during the Yuletide. The story is that the Poinsettia was not originally a very beautiful flower. A Mexican child picked it as her humble offering to the Virgin and it burst into radiant bloom.

St. Nick, U.S.A.

Santa Claus, Ind., in the only town so designated in the United States. The privilege is reserved to its post office by Congressional Act.

Tiny Fir Starts Great Tradition

You have a Christmas tree, say some authorities, because of an eighth century missionary to the Scandinavians. He felled a mighty oak that had been the object of Druidic worship. It crashed to the which remained unharmed was a tiny fir.

★ ★ ★

The missionary supposedly said that the "young child" of the forest would then be the object of worship for one night only. He explained that it was the wood of peace because homes were built of it and that its greenness in the midst of winter stood for everlasting life and bade the people to take a fir into their homes and rejoice around it to commemorate the birth of the Christ Child.

St. Francis Began Creches

The creche was first originated by St. Francis of Assisi in the 13th century. Live animals were used, and the music accompanying the ceremony was the beginning of Christmas Carols.

★ ★ ★

"Silent Night, Holy Night," sung in many tongues in many lands, was born in 1818 on Christmas Eve in the village church of Oberndorf, Austria. As the organ was out of order, Josef Mohr, church custodian, sat down and wrote the joyful little poem heard around the world on Christmas Eve.

Mistletoe Miss Lasts Whole Year

Lassies who get kissed under the mistletoe have an old Scandinavian myth to thank for this charming custom. It was the goddess Friggia who hung mistletoe high and was the first to stand under the glistening plant, offering kisses to all who passed beneath it. The English brought fresh meaning to mistletoe kissing when they said that a girl who was overlooked under the mistletoe would remain a miss for more than a year.

Greeting card historians report the first American greeting card was sent by R. J. Pease of Albany, N. Y., in 1853.

Mary Martin

Broadway Monarch Marks Anniversary

NEW YORK (UPI) — A quarter of a century ago on an evening in late fall, a girl who had never been on Broadway before stood on stage wrapped in lynx jacket and little else and sang a song called "My Heart Belongs to Daddy."

The song stopped the show and turned into an overnight Cinderella the girl from Weatherford, Tex. who sang it in "Leave It to Me."

For Mary Martin, that night started a long love affair with Broadway and one which promises to continue for some time to come.

"No, I have no plans to retire," said Miss Martin, a grandmother of two with a third grandchild on the way.

"Only to retread," said the star whose luster goes on undimmed.

★ ★ ★

"Richard and I are seriously considering not doing anything for a couple of years after 'Jennie'," she said. "That's our dream anyway, just to go to our farm in Brazil and catch up. That's the story of my life . . . I've never had time to catch up."

"But I know what'll happen," she smiled. "Someone will ask us to read a script and we won't be able to resist. . ."

Miss Martin's current starring vehicle is "Jennie," a musical based on the early life of the actress Laurette Taylor. She has a run of play contract.

Her husband of 22 years is Richard Halliday who also is her manager and a producer in his own right. That farm she mentioned is about 50 miles from Brasilia, Brazil's capital city.

"I haven't the vaguest idea how many acres," said Miss Martin. "We keep saying it's so far away, we ought to sell. But each time we go down we buy some more."

★ ★ ★

The actress said she had forgotten all about this year marking the 25th anniversary of her Broadway debut. But the cast and production staff of "Jennie" didn't.

★ ★ ★

She recalled that it was a matinee day and "I'd gotten up with a toothache . . . a wisdom tooth that came out later . . . and was worrying about getting through the day. When the final curtain came down, I started home as usual, when someone yelled 'Hey, you're wanted on stage.'"

CAKE WITH CANDLES

Said Miss Martin, "I got out there and here was the biggest cake you ever saw . . . with 25 candles on it."

To help commemorate the event, the producer of that first show, Vinton Freedly, was on hand.

★ ★ ★

Miss Martin has a son, Larry, by a previous marriage one daughter, Heller. Larry, 30, married and the father of two tots, is an actor and currently is working on a picture being filmed in Lugoslavia.

"He's a bigger ham than I am, if that's possible," said his mother.

★ ★ ★

Daughter Heller, 21, married to Anthony Weir, an advertising agency executive, is expecting her first child in June. And, said her mom, "She couldn't care less about the stage. All she wants is to be a wife and mother.

★ ★ ★

"Me mind being a grandma three times? Heavens no, The more the merrier."

★ ★ ★

Miss Martin, born Dec. 1, 1913, works to stay at the top. She takes voice lessons weekly even while doing eight performances a week. When she's not in a show, she works out regularly at a gymnasium to keep trim.

★ ★ ★

But in "Jennie," she said, she's been losing "about four pounds between Monday night and Saturday night. I get them back by stoking up on food Sundays."

★ ★ ★

What is the enduring quality of Mary Martin?

"I just," she said, "have been extremely fortunate."

Goblets Glow With Holiday Greenery

Goblets, turned upside down, can be used attractively as candleholders in floral arrangements for the holidays. The candles should be trimmed to fit the hollow of the bases.

Red-berried holly clusters can be tied to the stems with narrow red ribbon. An important extra touch is the addition of a few red or white carnations or rose buds.

Open 'til 9 P.M. until Christmas! Saturdays 5:30 P.M.

Guests will be pleased as punch with an unusual party idea featuring Fostoria's "Coin Glass" crystal grouping. The inventive innovation shows a large punch bowl centered on an area defined by a circle of green felt. Seemingly floating on the vivid red punch is a small "Coin Glass" bowl containing a floral arrangement of red and orange carnations. The setting is created by placing an upturned mixing bowl in the punch container and using it as perch for the candy bowl holding the flowers. Small circles of white felt are used to denote places for each punch cup. Punch, felt and flower colors can be changed to suit party themes or color schemes.

Teens 'Bribe' Attention

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE R-432: Debbie D., aged 17, is an attractive high schooler.

"But, Dr. Crane," her father began, "she is much like the wife you mentioned recently.

"For she feels abused unless she can blossom out in a new dress every few days.

★ ★ ★

"Yet, I tell her we can't afford such extravagance. And I remind her that other girls don't have new clothes that often.

"But she seems desperately addicted to her hunger for new clothes. Can't you talk to her a few minutes?"

COSMETIC COVER-UPS

Debbie's great yen for new frocks was a cover-up mechanism.

She didn't know how to carry on gay conversation with her male classmates.

★ ★ ★

"Dr. Crane," she tearfully confessed, "I am tongue-tied. So how can I ever hope to win a boy friend unless I attract him with my new dresses?"

Debbie was thus trying to buy or bribe the interest of men via her ensembles.

MAY FLAUNT CAR

Other girls, who feel insecure as to their social charms, may also flaunt their dad's ritzy car before their classmates.

Analyze your teen-age classmates and you will probably find several girls who coax their fathers to let them drive the big, new car to high school. Why?

Not just to ritz the girls who haven't such wealth. But largely to "bribe" the attention of boys!

Such girls thus are trying to have their parents do their courting for them!

Instead, every reliant teenager should do his or her own courting.

Win friends by developing YOUR OWN charms instead of flaunting those of your father and mother!

QUIT COWARD'S ROLE

Quit being such cowards that you try to four-flush with the ritzy car or costly clothing that your parents can furnish you.

That's a cowardly means of winning friends.

Send for the various helpful booklets offered via this column so you can quickly learn the art of gay repartee and easy conversation.

★ ★ ★

Join the "Compliment Club" and thereby learn how to win friends and popularity with your classmates of both sexes, even if your most expensive frock is just a washable print dress!

For it isn't the "wrapping paper" that holds the usual person's interest in you, but the "merchandise" inside that wrapper.

NOT POPULAR

Your swanky furs and costly cars will not make you attractive or permanently popular. Oh, they may catch attention briefly.

But in selling merchandise, as well as your own personality, it is what HOLDS ATTENTION that gets the name on the dotted line!

Face up to the facts and then quit being so chicken or cowardly that you try to get by on daddy's swanky car or your family's country club membership and luxurious home.

That false "caste" system is un-American, anyway, so send for the booklet "How to Carry on Gay Conversation," enclosing a long stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents. It beats Cadillacs and mink coats!

Write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of the Pontiac Press, Pontiac Michigan, enclosing a long, 5 cent stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.

'Kissing Green' Brings Good Luck

Mistletoe, the Golden Bough of classical legend, was held sacred by the Celtic Druids and by the Norsemen. Mistletoe brought good luck and protected houses it hung in from witchcraft. It was always the plant of peace, under which enemies in ancient Scandinavia were reconciled.

Traditions of Christmas Log

The yule log came from Scandinavia. Centuries ago on Christmas Eve it was brought in with great ceremony and kindled with a piece of last year's log. In Provence, France, wine is poured over it before it is lit.

Elsewhere wheat and corn are sprinkled on it. Sometimes it is wreathed in garlands. As soon as the Yule Log is burning brightly a neighbor strikes the log with a rod to make the sparks fly, meanwhile chanting a wish for the prosperity of the family.

In present-day Athens, a favorite wedding gift from the bride's parents to the groom is a quarter interest in a privately operated city bus.

The United States leads the world in oil production, followed by the Middle East, Zenezuela and the Soviet Union in that order.

Most in Poll Think Father, Mother Greatest

Parents Are Admired by Teen Offspring

Gilbert Youth Research, Inc.

Parents get such a beating these days from self-appointed critics that it will be refreshing to most of them to learn what the teen-age generation actually thinks of them.

Refreshing not only because the young people think their parents are pretty nice people, on the whole, but because of what their comments show about themselves.

If a father admires kindness, generosity, intelligence, understanding, determination, fortitude, integrity, hard work and a sense of humor, it will comfort him to know that those qualities top the list of what the 1,082 teen-agers we surveyed see in their own fathers.

In mothers the young adults most admire kindness, understanding, patience, personality, congeniality, good looks and consideration.

The very fact that the teeners appreciate these virtues must certainly be a favorable reflection of their own standards and tastes.

And who could have inculcated most of these standards but the parents themselves?

LONG LIST

The lists given above by no means exhaust what are viewed as parental pluses. Others include cooking ability, ability to make money, good judgment, good looks, courage, nice manners, and skill in guidance.

It would be foolish of course to assume that everything is sweetness and light in the relationships of parents and young adults.

We asked the young people not only what they most admired but what they least liked about their parents.

It was no great surprise therefore that we were able to build up a catalog of failings as well as one of virtues.

But it was significant, however, that the number of respondents who said they could think of no faults was three times as high as the number who could bring to mind no virtues.

CHIEF FAULT

The chief fault perceived in both parents was temper—with the father greatly excelling in this department.

Not getting a better education, and not spending enough time with the family were the second and third criticisms noted for fathers; pampering, worrying and lack of understanding followed in that order for mothers.

There were some interesting divergencies between the girls and the boys.

Boys were more prone to admire the father's money-making ability than the girls, whereas the girls found fathers more understanding, more congenial and of greater determination.

On the other hand, the boys found mother even more understanding than the girls. They admired her cooking more and her courage less.

Criticism of father's failure to get more education came mostly from the boys, as did that of his practice of picking on his youngsters.

The girls were the chief critics of mother's temper, her worrying, lack of understanding and nagging.

More revealing than the child figures were the comments of some of the individuals we talked to.

Speaking of Father, Pat Tutty, 17, of Aldenville, Mass., said: "I admire him for his persistence—he never gives up."

"He keeps his promises," said Karen Kaufman of Brooklyn.

"I have yet to see another father display his independence in thought and action," commented Sheila Smith, 16, of Tacoma, Wash.

"Kindness, discipline and intelligence make him a wonderful father," said Barbara Grier, 17, of Vermillion, S.D.

"I admire his love and good nature," said Wayne Browne, 17, of Blackburg, Va.

Mothers got their full share of kind remarks.

"My mother is very concerned about everything I do," said Sherry Dundore, 14, of Wyomissing, Ga.

"She always helps people," commented Lana MacArthur of Prince Edward Island, Canada.

"Her sense of humor makes the glummest moment seem not as bad as it really is," said Beth Gassel, 16, of Bridgeton, N.J.

There were a few bitter remarks to round out the other half of the picture, but even some of these had a reverse twist.

"My father's only fault is spoiling his family," said Linda Bridges of Gaffney, S.C.

But there were comments also like these:

"I don't like to see him mad."

"My father never cared enough about my mother to support her."

"He won't get me my driver's license."

"Pride prevents him from accepting help."

★ ★ ★

"He's lazy around the house."

"He doesn't let us explain."

Yet, most of the youngsters would chime in with Janeen Suth, 16, of South Bend, Ind., in saying "My mother (or father) has no great failing of any importance."

NO Bake Cookies Are Rich in Vitamin B

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

At a recent visit to Ladies Day Out at the YWCA we received a leaflet of cookie recipes. Margaret Kingda (Mrs. Nicholas) is represented with a number of good sounding recipes, one of which we're bringing you today.

These no-bake cookies can be made by children if mother will help with the first part. They're best when kept in the refrigerator. They're nutritious too.

NO BAKE CHOCOLATE COOKIES
By Mrs. Nicholas Kingda

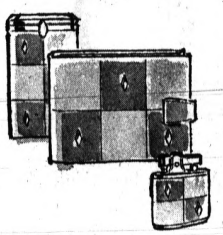

2 cups granulated sugar
4 tablespoons cocoa
¼ cup margarine
½ cup milk

Mix these ingredients in a saucepan, bring to a boil. Boil one minute.

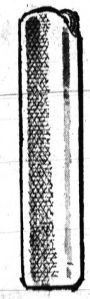

½ cup peanut butter
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 cups oatmeal

Add to first mixture. Mix well, drop by teaspoons on waxed paper while hot. Cool. Makes approximately 50 cookies.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

Want to feel like a piker or a sissy? Nobody does and everyone hates the person who makes him feel that way, so I don't know why I am writing this column. I think it will make you feel like a piker, and I like to be liked!

I just have to share with you a letter I have received from one of the men who read my column.

"Dear Mrs. Lowman:

"I am a daily reader of your articles, 'Why Grow Old?' so I thought I would write a line to let you know how much and why I get a great deal out of them.

* * *

"Perhaps I should identify myself. Last Aug. 15 I celebrated my 92nd birthday and enjoy the best of health. I have always been a firm believer in physical exercise. I do 25 push-ups each morning and each night and walk two miles a day.

"Also I have one or two physical checkups every year. Recently my doctor remarked, 'If you keep going the way you have been going you could live to be 120.' I hope to reach 100 anyway."

It is likely that this remarkable man comes from a long-lived family. However, I have noticed that most of those I have known who remain youthful into later years have been addicted to exercise.

Many of them have carried strenuous exercise down the years with them as a daily habit.

* * *

It would not only be foolish for a person who has not been accustomed to exercise to suddenly begin going through strenuous motions, it would be downright dangerous.

However, if you are in good health you can form the habit of daily exercise at any age with profit.

Saint's Dowry Started Stockings

The hanging of the Christmas stocking is attributed to Bishop Nicholas. The kindly bishop generously provided dowries for the daughters of an impoverished nobleman. As the saint threw presents of gold into the house, they fell into a stocking that had been hung near the chimney to dry. In Holland children set their shoes in the chimney corners on the eve of Dec. 26.

Meaning of Yule Flowers

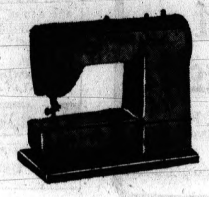

Red roses, carnations and white chrysanthemums are popular Christmas blossoms that 'bloom' in the living room even if outdoors is deep in snow. Floral colors have special meaning during the holiday. Red flowers symbolize joy and laughter; the white, spiritual calm and purity. Silver and gold trimmings stand for the radiance of the Christ Child's birthday.

YW Holds Yule Party for Patients

Some 30 patients at Pontiac State Hospital attended the annual Christmas party for the 'Y' group at the YWCA on Franklin Boulevard Wednesday evening.

★ ★ ★

Santa Claus appeared bringing gifts for everyone and games were played. Singing carols the group made a tour of the building to acquaint new members of the group with YWCA facilities.

★ ★ ★

Pouring at the buffet table was Mrs. Russell V. Thurston. Assisting with entertainment were Mrs. Roy Ward, Mrs. Jane Stagg and Mrs. Eva Terrell.

★ ★ ★

Serwin Netzler led carol singing. Brief remarks were made by Ted Panaretos, of the hospital in charge of the group.

Ceremonial Dinner at Area Shrine

Mrs. Dorothea E. Shaffer, supreme worthy guide, was a special guest at a ceremonial dinner Wednesday evening at the Masonic Temple.

★ ★ ★

Also honored in the Pontiac White Shrine ceremonies were Mrs. Marquis Sartell, district deputy, and district chairmen Mrs. Wilbur Blight and Kirsten Baker; and Braymer Hutchison.

Others honored included the worthy high priestess of other shrines.

Mrs. W. H. Taylor and Mrs. Chauncey Berdan were initiated into the order.

Mrs. Samuel Smith was dinner chairman and Catherine McCrindle was in charge of the dining room.

Some 15 shrines were represented and approximately 100 members and guests attended.

Candles at Heart of Yule

It has been said that there was no candle to light the manger, in the stable at Bethlehem.

But from time immemorial tapers have been placed in windows to light the way for the Christ child. Anyone who came to the door was invited to enter as there were those who believed He would appear, concealing His identity, to learn the extent of their kindness.

Candles contribute not only to the feeling of reverence but play an important role in our holiday decorations.

The selection of tapers is wide this year. There are delicately scented bayberry candles (said to bring good luck to those who burn them during the Yuletide season), big candles, or a series of tall and short ones. All come in a variety of colors. Among the many designs made for the Yuletide season are Santas, angels, carolers, Christmas stockings and snowballs. Rope type candles also are available in numerous hues.

Tapers can be given an added festive touch if you surround the base with fir branches and pine cones. Or, anchor two or three tall ones in a shallow ceramic dish, then arrange ivy or poinsettias around it. Big candles, or a series of tall and short ones, might be mounted with modeling clay on a silver or brass tray. Add leaves at the base that have been sprayed white or gilded and intersperse with holly.

Whether they are used as table centerpieces, placed in windows, or on chests or on the mantel, their glow will truly reflect the spirit of the Yuletide season.

Gluhwein—Good?

Gluhwein, a favorite after-ski warmer-upper, is mulled wine—wine heated, sweetened and spiced.

Whether or not your favorite male has a TV, a radio and a clock, he'll welcome this combination General Electric TV-radio-clock personal information center which has everything within a cabinet that's only 18½" wide and 9¾" deep. It's possible to go to sleep and awake to TV or radio through a sleep switch. A regular alarm is also included. Housed in a vinyl-on-steel case, the GE clock-radio-TV is available in walnut grained finish vinyl (illustrated) or antique white vinyl with gold trim.

History of Holly Holds Humor

When you hang a holly wreath, you're imitating an early French and English custom. They pinned the bright-berried plant on their doors to indicate homes in which Christ dwelled.

Some historians say that the first settlers brought holly to the New World with them along with their other treasures. They used it as a table decoration and in wreath form as gay caps for the children. Legend also says that the first person to bring holly into the house will rule it for the coming year.

Polly's Pointers

Soap Always at Hand

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—I am hoping my hint will make someone's day less complicated. The recent hint for washing a lace tablecloth was really a smart one. Mine is now as good as new.

● Save the last bits of facial soap and dry them thoroughly. Grate them on your kitchen grater, fill a small pill vial and keep this in your purse.

If you are ever stranded in a rest room with no soap with which to freshen up, you always have some in your purse. It seems I always pick a rest room that has run out of soap. —MARY.

★ ★ ★

DEAR POLLY—I have devised a game for our four-year-old daughter that helps to teach her the alphabet.

I wrote the alphabet and numbers on a piece of cardboard and on paper, too. I cut out the paper numbers and letters so each is in its own square.

She matches these paper squares to the same numbers or letters on the cardboard. As she matches I tell her their names. She has already learned to identify many of them. —MRS. K. C. G.

★ ★ ★

DEAR POLLY—Large iron nuts from the hardware store make attractive candle holders.

They are heavy enough to hold tall tapers and the threads inside the nuts hold the candles snugly in place.

They can be painted gold, silver or any desired color. Decorate after painting.—SARA.

Share your favorite homemaking ideas . . . send them to Polly in care of The Pontiac Press. You'll receive a bright, new silver dollar if Polly uses your idea in Polly's Pointers.

Lady Bird's Staff Is Loaded With Political Savvy

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — The new distaff White House team packs more political savvy than any other in our history.

The three women who have replaced Jacqueline Kennedy, Pamela Turnure and Nancy Tuckerman in the feminine "eyes" of the presidential hurricane have also amassed more college degrees and governmental experience than any previous triumvirate in the powder-puff wing of the executive mansion.

Glamorous Jackie was educated at Vassar College, and has little interest in politics. Lady Bird Johnson holds two bachelor's degrees in arts and journalism from the University of Texas, and has been campaigning at her husband's side for two and a half decades.

RUTH MONTGOMERY

Elizabeth Carpenter, the new distaff press secretary and staff director, also has a journalism degree from Texas U. and has covered Washington as a political writer for sixteen years before casting her lot with the Johnsons.

She is therefore much better equipped for the exacting role than her petite predecessor, Pamela Turnure, who went two years to fashionable Mount Vernon (Junior College) Seminary and was without newspaper experience when she transferred from Sen. Kennedy's secretarial staff.

The new White House social secretary is Bess Clemens Abell, a graduate in political science from the University of Kentucky, who cut her eyeteeth on big-league politics as the daughter of a former governor and senator.

HIGH SCHOOL CHUM

Bess Abell has replaced Nancy Tuckerman, a high school chum of Jackie Kennedy's at Miss Porter's exclusive classes in Farmington, Conn., who did not go to college.

Miss Tuckerman had only recently inherited the job from talented Vassar graduate Letitia Baldridge, and she and Miss Turnure are being retained by Mrs. Kennedy to help wind up her public affairs.

They have moved with their notebooks to the executive office building next to the White House, and at their former offices in the mansion's East Wing, the Southern drawl has already superseded the Eastern boarding school accent.

LBJ's women employes are chic and well-groomed. Not one of them has ever had to wheedle time off to go to the beauty parlor. If she didn't go, he sent her.

QUICKIE COURSE

In fact, the new President is so hep on appearance that he once sent Lady Bird and Liz Carpenter to New York for a quickie course in makeup from Eddie Senz.

Interestingly enough Liz Carpenter is the first newspaper woman to serve as a first lady's press secretary. No press secretary was needed until 1933, when energetic Eleanor Roosevelt launched weekly press conferences, aided only by social secretary Edith Helm and personal secretary Malvina Thompson.

Retiring, motherly Bess Truman dropped the custom like hot coals when she became first lady, and turned over press relations to Mrs. Helm and Reathel Odum, her husband's former Senate secretary.

★ ★ ★

Mamie Eisenhower held only one news conference at the White House. Thereafter, she left press announcements to her close-mouthed secretary, Mary Jane McCaffree.

Jackie Kennedy never held a news conference as first lady although she herself had once worked for a local paper. Pam Turnure was her sole pipeline to the press.

Now it's a new day, with a new first lady who has played a more active political role than any predecessor except Eleanor Roosevelt. Lady Bird Johnson has always been unusually accessible to reporters —she had once hoped to become one—and in the '60 campaign she held scores of news conferences with professional aplomb.

Liz Carpenter will hold weekly briefings for the press, and Mrs. Johnson will field the questions in person when news of the distaff side warrants her appearance.

★ ★ ★

The three women have been a smooth - working team since shortly after LBJ's vice presidential inauguration in 1961. They are long - time personal friends as well.

Liz Carpenter met the future First Lady early in 1942 when, freshly arrived in Washington, she called at the capitol to meet her legislator from Austin. LBJ was then off fighting the war in the South Pacific, however, and Mrs. Johnson was managing his office.

Grey-haired, 43-year-old Liz Carpenter and her husband, Leslie, were running a highly successful news bureau here, when the Johnsons tapped her to help with the '60 campaign.

A past president of the Women's National Press Club, she put new sparkle and zest into distaff campaigning, and flew 30,000 miles in 71 days with Mrs. Johnson.

★ ★ ★

Both were born in antebellum Southern mansions, Mrs. Johnson at Karnack in East Texas, and Mrs. Carpenter at Salado, near Austin. Liz Carpenter's forebears on both sides were signers of the Texas Declaration of Independence, and the Saledo Manor House has been continuing in her family since its construction in 1840.

HILARIOUS SKIT

For a surprise birthday party three years ago, her husband wrote and staged a hilarious skit called "This Is Your Life," which highlighted Liz Carpenter's career from birth to the greater pangs of campaigning.

Witty GOP Sen. Kenneth Keating played the role of Les Carpenter, and none of us laughed louder than Lyndon B. Johnson, unless it was the teen-aged Carpenter, youngsters, Scott and Christy.

Slim, blonde, 30-year-old Bess Abell has known her new boss since her early girlhood. Sens. Lyndon Johnson and Earl Clements were close friends who served in harness as majority leader and whip respectively.

★ ★ ★

When LBJ suffered his heart attack in 1955, her father took over as acting majority leader until his return to the Senate.

HOSTED PARTY

Eight years ago the Johnsons hosted a lavish party to celebrate Bess' marriage to Tyler Abell. Three years later, when her first son was born, Sen. Johnson called to congratulate her, but chided: "If you'd named that boy Lyndon, I'd have given him a head of cattle."

A second son was born shortly before the Democratic convention in 1960, and the Abells called his bluff. The pleased senator promptly branded a heifer calf for Lyndon Abell. He further decreed that its progeny would be set aside each year, to be delivered to young Lyndon on his 21st birthday.

Since originality is a trademark of both Abell and Carpenter parties — guests of the former once had to find their dinner partners by matching commemorative postage stamps — visiting foreign dignitaries can expect novel entertainment and relaxed Southern hospitality at state dinners.

The Johnsons' favorite kind of party is an informal barbecue around a heated swimming pool, but lest visiting heads of state begin to worry, it should be stressed that no Johnson guest has yet plunged fully clothed into a Johnson pool.

Try Quartet of Apple Recipes for Christmas Time

The Christmas holiday season ushers in the fanciest eating time of the year. The rich fruit cakes, the candies and confections, elegant cookies, spicy drinks, candied fruits, plum puddings, mincemeat pies and the rest are all part of the happy gaieties of the season. So let's enjoy them while we may. The following recipes for holiday goodies help carry on the bright tradition of the season:

Cranberry Punch Is a Party Goer

½ cup unblanched almonds
1 cup light or dark raisins
Peel from 2 oranges
1 teaspoon whole cloves
½ teaspoon whole allspice
1 stick cinnamon
1 quart water
4 1-pint bottles of cranberry juice cocktail
1 quart apple juice

In saucepan place almonds, raisins, peel. Tie cloves, allspice and cinnamon in cheesecloth; add with water to almonds. Simmer, uncovered, 15 minutes; cool. Discard bag of spice and peel.

Combine cooled mixture with cranberry and apple juices. Serve cold, over ice in punch bowl. Makes about 24 punch-cup servings.

Apple Walnut Cookies
the daughter of the family will have fun making these

1 cup canned apple sauce
1½ cups sugar
½ cup butter
¼ cup cocoa
¾ teaspoon salt
3 cups quick rolled oats
1 cup chopped walnuts
½ teaspoon vanilla extract
½ teaspoon almond extract
Confectioners sugar

Simmer apple sauce gently 5 minutes. Add sugar, butter, cocoa and salt; boil 1 minute. Remove from heat; immediately add oats, walnuts, vanilla and almond extracts. Mix well.

Drop by teaspoons on waxed paper. When cool, roll in sifted confectioners sugar. Makes about 50-55 cookies.

Jellied Apple Crystals
a confection that none can resist

6 envelopes unflavored gelatin
1 cup cold water
2 cups canned apple sauce
½ teaspoon salt
3 cups sugar
Few drops mint extract
Few drops green coloring
Green sugar

Soften gelatin in cold water for 5 minutes. Mix apple sauce, salt and sugar. Bring to boil; add gelatin and boil slowly for 15 minutes. Add mint extract and green coloring.

Pour into 9"x9"x2" pan; chill in squares with wet knife and roll in sugar. Makes 3 dozen squares.

Chunky Spread to serve with drinks when friends drop in

1 8-ounce package cream cheese
1 cup chopped canned apple slices
½ cup finely chopped stuffed olives
2 teaspoons prepared horseradish
½ teaspoon salt

Soften cream cheese to room temperature. Combine apple slices, olives, horseradish and salt. Mash cream cheese with fork until creamy; add apple mixture. Mix well. Serve as spread on crackers. Makes about 2½ cups.

Broil Honey Icing

No frosting for that cake? Mix honey, melted butter and finely chopped nuts; spread over the cake and broil. Serve at once while the topping is deliciously hot.

Veal and Sour Cream

Ever make the gravy for veal cutlets with sour cream? Add a touch of paprika along with salt and freshly-ground pepper.

Holiday Cookies Plump With Fruit and Nuts

Cookies are light hearted. Cookies can be offered to the Young, the Middling and to Seniors . . . almost any time, anywhere. And they never miss. Cookies, it seems, are here to stay, and a good thing, too.

Take these Holiday Fruited Cookies, for instance.

They're delicious morsels to offer when friends drop in. They also make wonderful gifts because they keep well, pack well, waft a spicy fragrance and look enticing.

Fruited Cookies are soft and plump, spicy with cinnamon, cloves and nutmeg. They're thick-fruited with dates, prunes, candied fruits and canned apple sauce. They have chopped nuts. Bite into them and you find them moist and chewy. They're even better the second and third day because they "ripen."

Stored in a covered container they stay fresh for a long stretch . . . not that you'll ever have them around long enough to find that out. Decorate with frosting, if you wish. Or leave them unadorned. Either way, they're great!

HOLIDAY FRUITED COOKIES

1 cup soft shortening
2½ cups dark brown sugar, firmly packed
2 teaspoons salt
2 eggs, unbeaten
3½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon cinnamon
2 teaspoons ground cloves
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
2 teaspoons soda
2 cups canned apple sauce
1 cup chopped walnuts
1 cup chopped filberts
1½ cups chopped dates
½ cup chopped prunes *
1 cup chopped mixed candied fruits and peels
Frosting **

In a medium-sized mixing bowl, put shortening, brown sugar, salt and eggs. Beat thoroughly until well blended. Sift together flour, cinnamon, cloves, nutmeg and soda. Add ½ of flour mixture to shortening mixture. Blend well.

★ ★ ★

Stir in apple sauce, nuts and fruits. Add remaining flour. Blend well.

Drop by rounded tablespoons on greased baking sheets. Bake at 400 degrees 12 to 15 minutes.

Remove cookies from baking sheet. Cool on wire rack. Makes 7 dozen.

* Snip prune meat from pits with scissors.

 To make Frosting: Combine 2 cups confectioners sugar, 1 tablespoon butter, ¼ teaspoon vanilla, ⅛ teaspoon salt and 2 tablespoons scalded milk in bowl; beat until creamy. Frost cookies. If desired, decorate with bits of candied cherries and citron.

Avocado Dip Is Different

Mashed California avocado, cottage cheese and seasonings add up to an easy-do but delight "Whip-Up Dip" for holiday entertaining.

Velvety-smooth avocado is one of the most popular ingredients in many party dips, and this is the time of year to start taking advantage of the new winter crop now coming into markets from Southern California.

Whip-Up Dip

1 California avocado
1 cup cottage cheese
1 tablespoon lemon juice
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon seasoned salt
Apple slices and crisp crackers

Cut avocado lengthwise into halves; remove seed and skin. Mash avocado with fork. Blend in cheese with lemon juice, salt and seasoned salt. Serve with apple slices and crackers. Makes about 1½ cups dip.

Sherbet Has Real Zest

Sherbet with a difference! This one whets your appetite.

Mix 2 cups canned applesauce with 1 tablespoon or more of drained horseradish and ½ cup heavy cream whipped. Add a dash of Tabasco sauce, a tablespoon of lemon juice and seasoning to taste. Freeze.

Serve as an appetizer or with the main course. Store in freezer for reuse.

Green and Gold Fruit Folded Into Gelatin

Prepare this dessert in the morning.

Grape and Orange Gelatin

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
¼ cup lemon juice
1 cup boiling water
⅓ cup sugar
⅔ cup syrup saved from canned fruit cocktail
½ cup seedless green grapes, halved if large
½ cup membrane-free orange sections
½ cup heavy cream

Sprinkle gelatin over lemon juice to soften. Add boiling water; stir to dissolve. Add sugar; stir to dissolve. Chill until slightly thickened, stirring a few times during chilling.

Fold grapes and orange sections into half of the gelatin mixture; turn into a 1-quart mold; refrigerate. Whip cream until it holds soft (but not very stiff) peaks and fold into remaining gelatin mixture.

Turn into mold over fruit layer; chill until firm. Unmold. Makes 6 servings.

Patty Shells Hold Corn and Salmon

A New Jersey cook serves this interesting combination.

Woodsie's Salmon and Corn

1 can (7¾ ounces) salmon
1 can (12 ounces) whole kernel corn
Milk
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
4 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
Minced parsley or pimiento strips

Drain liquid from salmon and corn into a measure; add enough milk to make 2 cups. In a 1-quart saucepan over low heat, melt the butter; stir in the flour, salt and pepper. Add milk mixture; cook and stir until thickened and bubbly.

★ ★ ★

Add salmon and corn; reheat stirring occasionally; salmon will break up during stirring. Serve on whole-wheat toast or in patty shells; garnish with parsley or pimiento. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Rich Holiday Pie Has Five Layers

If you like to entertain your friends during the holiday season but don't wish to spend all your time in the kitchen, here's a dessert that will really surprise and delight your friends.

★ ★ ★

Date Bar Crumble may be made the day before leaving you free for those last minute details. It is so simple to make this dessert and yet it looks and tastes like you've been baking all day.

★ ★ ★

With a package of date bar mix, a little apple or currant jelly and some whipped cream you, too, can become a "famous" cook in your own home.

Cut in a wedge shape and served as a piece of pie, the alternating layers of whipped cream, crumble crust and date filling make this a marvelously rich dessert. Top it with a sprig of holly and you will have the perfect accompaniment for hot fragrant coffee or tea.

RICH, BUT EASY—This glamorous-looking holiday dessert starts out as a package of date bar mix. There are layers of jelly-starred whipped cream on each side of the center date layer.

Date Bar Crumble

¼ cup soft butter
1 package date bar mix
½ cup hot water
¼ cup apple or currant jelly
1 cup whipping cream, whipped

Heat oven to 400 degrees. Blend butter and Crumbly Mix with a fork. Spread in oblong pan, 13x9½x2". Bake 10 minutes.

Take from oven; stir with fork to crumble. Cool.

In a small bowl, mix water with the date filling mix. Cool.

★ ★ ★

Fold jelly into whipped cream, leaving small pieces of jelly throughout the cream. Reserve ¼ cup crumbly mixture.

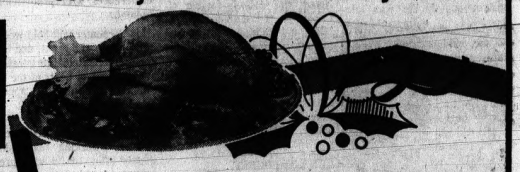

In an 8" layer pan, use ½ of the crumbly mixture and of the whipped cream-jelly mixture for each layer and make alternating layers with the date filling in the center.

Top with the reserved crumbly mixture. Chill at least two hours before using.

Quick Bread Is Mixed Fast and Baked Slowly

Orange and lemon rind add distinction.

Walnut Oatmeal Loaf

1¾ cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup firmly - packed dark brown sugar
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 cup rolled oats (quick cooking)
½ cup coarsely chopped walnuts
1 egg, slightly beaten
¾ cup butter or margarine, melted
1½ cups buttermilk

Into a mixing bowl, sift together the flour, baking soda and salt. Stir in brown sugar, grated orange and lemon rinds, oats and walnuts. Add egg, butter and buttermilk; stir only until dry ingredients are moistened.

Turn into greased loaf pan (8½ by 4½ by 2½ inches). Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven 55 to 60 minutes, or until cake tester inserted comes out clean.

Turn out of pan onto wire rack; turn right side up; cool. Loaf slices best when covered tightly and stored overnight.

Candied Sweets Are Nutty, Too

This quickie from the pantry shelf will complement your roast.

Praline Yams

1 can (1 pound) yams
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
⅓ cup firmly-packed brown sugar
½ cup chopped pecans

Arrange yams in buttered shallow baking dish. Dot with butter. Sprinkle with sugar and pecans. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven until hot — 20 to 25 minutes. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Western Style Fruitcake Has Dates and Chocolate in It

For weeks to come, fruit cakes will make food news. No matter how many favorite, tried-and-true fruit cake recipes you may have, there always seems to be room in the recipe file to squeeze in one more variation on this popular holiday dessert.

* * *

Certainly "Mocha Date Fruit Cake" deserves an honored position among fruit cake recipes. Its chocolate-and-coffee flavor coupled with its moist fresh California dates puts this festive dessert in a class by itself. You may want to bake several as gifts for friends and, naturally, for the family.

* * *

Fresh dates from the California dessert do more than glorify fruit cakes this time of year. Pitted and stuffed with almost anything — cream cheese, Roquefort, Cheddar, walnut halves, miniature marshmallows, minced olives, peanut butter, fondant mints, candied fruit — dates readily solve any party hors d'oeuvre problems that may confront you.

Packaged pitted dates are very convenient. But if you buy fresh California dates with pits, simply use kitchen scissors to remove the pits easily. Snip the fruit along one side and flick! — out go the pits.

Mocha Date Fruit Cake

2 cups fresh California dates
4 squares (1 oz. each) unsweetened chocolate
⅔ cup vegetable shortening
1 cup sugar
3 eggs
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 tablespoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
¼ cup cold coffee
1 jar (8 oz.) glace cake mix
1 cup roasted diced almonds

Chop dates. Melt chocolate in top of double boiler. Cream together shortening and sugar; beat in eggs and chocolate. Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and cinnamon. Stir into batter alternately with coffee. Stir in dates, glace cake mix and almonds.

Turn into well-greased 9x5x3-inch loaf pan. Place shallow pans of hot water on bottom rack of oven. Bake cake in 300-degree (slow) oven 2½ hours.

Remove to rack to cool for about 20 minutes, then remove from pan and cool thoroughly. Store in airtight container. Makes 1 cake (about 4 lbs.).

Blue Cheese and Chili Add Zest

A delicious accompaniment for hamburgers, hot dogs or cold sandwiches is Chili Blue Cheese Mold. It is a fluffy gelatin salad with the tang of chili sauce and the zest of American blue cheese.

* * *

The light red salad is accented with flecks of white cottage cheese and bits of hearty American blue cheese.

* * *

It is exceptionally attractive served on green lettuce leaves and is a cool accampaniment for hearty sandwiches or big bowls of chili.

Chili Blue Cheese Mold

1 cup chili sauce
1 cup cottage cheese
½ cup mayonnaise
¼ cup crumbled American blue cheese (about 1¼ ounces)
½ teaspoon salt
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
¾ cup cold water
½ cup heavy cream whipped

Combine chili sauce, cottage cheese, mayonnaise, American blue cheese and salt. Dissolve gelatin in water. Add to chili, cheese mixture. Fold in whipped cream.

Turn into 1 quart mold. Chill until firm. Unmold on lettuce leaves. Serve as sandwich accompaniment. Makes 6 servings.

Holiday Breads in New Cookbook

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

You know the old cliche about killing two birds with one stone.

This article is going to tell you about an interesting cookbook and give you some Christmas bread recipes.

Better Homes and Gardens Bread Cookbook (Meredith Press, Des Moines and New York, $2.95) is the perfect gift for the woman who likes to make bread.

* * *

A large, lavishly illustrated volume, this cookbook offers some plus values. Not only are there hundreds of excellent bread recipes, but chapters on sandwiches and what to serve with bread are included. The latter discusses beverages and special butters.

Here's a Christmas bread recipe from this new book.

Cherry Puff Trees

1 package active dry yeast
¼ cup warm water
1 cup milk scalded
½ cup shortening
¼ cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
3-¾ cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 well-beaten eggs
1 cup chopped candied cherries

Soften yeast in warm water. Combine scalded milk, shortening, sugar and salt. Cool to lukewarm. Stir in 2 cups of the flour; beat 'til smooth. Add eggs and yeast. Mix well.

Beat in remaining flour to make a very thick batter. Beat until smooth. Cover; let rise 'til double, about one hour.

Add cherries; stir down. On greased baking sheets, mark 3 triangles, each 8 inches tall and 6 inches wide, using rubber spatula.

Drop batter by teaspoons within marked triangles — one spoonful at top, two for second row and so on, ending with sixth row of six spoonfuls. Add two spoonfuls for "trunk." Let rise until double, about one hour.

Bake at 375 degrees for 15 minutes or til lightly browned. When slightly cooled, brush with orange glaze. If desired, trim with clusters of halved candied cherries. Makes 3 trees.

Orange Glaze

Mix 1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar, 5 teaspoons orange juice and ½ teaspoon vanilla. Beat smooth.

* * *

Here's another gala bread recipe for the holiday season. Fastened on a little tree, these ornamental rolls will be conversation pieces.

Christmas Tree Ornaments

½ cup milk
½ cup sugar
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ cup (½ stick) margarine
½ cup warm water (105-115 degrees)
2 packages or cakes yeast, active dry or compressed
2 eggs beaten
1 teaspoon anise seed
4½ cups unsifted flour (about)
4 egg whites
½ teaspoon cream of tarter
¼ teaspoon anise flavoring
4 cups confectioners' sugar
Colored decorettes

Scald milk; stir in sugar, salt and margarine. Cool to lukewarm. Measure warm water into large warm bowl. Sprinkle or crumble in yeast; stir until dissolved.

Add lukewarm milk mixture, eggs, anise seed and half the flour; beat until smooth. Mix in enough additional flour to make a soft dough. Turn out onto lightly floured board. Knead until smooth and elastic, about 8 minutes.

Place dough in greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

Punch dough down. Turn out onto lightly floured board.

Divide into 32 equal pieces. Shape each piece into a smooth ball. Place on greased baking sheets. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk about 45 minutes.

Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) 10 to 15 minutes, or until done. Cool. Makes 32 rolls.

In small bowl of electric mixer combine egg whites, cream of tarter and anise flavoring. Beating at low speed, gradually add and blend in confectioners' sugar. Beat at high speed until frosting holds in stiff peaks.

ROLL ORNAMENTS — Bake tiny Christmas tree ornaments from a basic yeast-raised dough. Mount them on posterboard for a centerpiece, or make a cardboard tree and hang the "ornaments" with wire.

Appetizing Ham Spread

Sandwiches are always popular for a holiday buffet. Ham heads the list of favorite sandwich fillings. Season ground ham with mustard and blend in either crisp sweet gherkins or flavorful dill pickles for a tasty filling for buffet sandwiches.

Ham and Pickle Sandwich Filling

1 pound ground cooked ham
½ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
¾ cup chopped sweet or dill pickles
1 teaspoon prepared mustard

Combine ingredients; mix well. Makes 2¾ cups.

PNH Five on Road for I-L Tilt

High Scoring Huskies Visit Walled Lake

Northern in Search of Victory No. 4; Vikings 1-0 in Loop

The high-scoring Pontiac Northern Huskies will attempt to dispel the title hopes of one Inter-Lakes League cage hopeful when they journey to Walled Lake Friday night.

* * *

Walled Lake has won only one of three games, but that victory was an overtime success against Farmington's Falcons in the Vikings first I-L start this season.

They have been victimized by Royal Oak Dondero and Plymouth in non-league starts.

PNH, meanwhile, pre-season favorite to continue its domination of the Inter-Lakes cage championships, has amassed an 86-points per game scoring average in winning its only three starts.

Included in that average is an 88-point effort last Friday at Berkley in the Huskies' league opener. They hit 76 at Flint Southwestern, and 95 at home against Livonia Franklin.

TOP SCORER

Roger Hayward leads the Northern attack with a 24 ppg tempo, but he has capable support from Mike Burklow with a 19-point mark, and Jerry Reese who is just under 13.

Walled Lake coach Bob Bolton had hopes before the season began that the Vikings would be able to unseat the PNH kings.

They rely on strong scoring balance without the one key threat to offset Hayward's efforts. The Vikings will be at a height disadvantage, but are not undersized.

John Thomas and Jim Broome, both with 15-point averages, led a Walled Lake attack that has improved in every game. George Bullock and Rick Trudeau are other threats, along with Jim Grant.

But the home team must improve its defense which has not been impressive. The Vikings have hurt themselves with too many personal fouls.

PNH has a fine fast-break attack that may find willing foes Friday night. Walled Lake has run, too, and indications are the game could be very high scoring.

It very likely will take the best offensive effort of the season by Walled Lake if the coach's hopes are to be realized.

Both teams will be concluding December basketball schedules. For PNH, it is the last start before the Huskies encounter fast-breaking Pontiac Central Jan. 3rd.

REESE(N) TO WORRY—One of Walled Lake's prime worries tomorrow night against Pontiac Northern will be stopping the Huskies' Jerry Reese who teams with Mike Burklow to make one of the top backcourt combinations in the county.

Kaline Inks $65,000 Pact

DETROIT (UPI) — On history's clock, 11 years is just an instant in time.

And it seems just yesterday that Al Kaline was a shy, 18-year-old son of a Baltimore broom maker who suddenly found himself thrust from the sandlots to the big leagues when the Detroit Tigers gave him a $35,000 bonus.

But actually it was 1953 and that was a long time ago in the life of Kaline — now a mature, engaging and self-confident star who today celebrated his 29th birthday.

Kaline also had something else to celebrate — the contract for an estimated $65,000 that he signed for the Tigers for the 1964 season that made him the third highest paid player in Tiger history.

"Those years have really gone by fast," Kaline mused as he thought back to the beginning of his career which has already lasted 1,149 games.

Generally considered to be the best rightfielder in baseball, Kaline is at the apex of his career.

SECOND IN 1963

Last year he was second in the American League in batting with a .312 average, second in RBI with 101 and second in the most valuable player voting.

He did all that even though he was plagued by a bad leg which caused him to go into a slump in the second half of the year after he was hitting in the .350s up to mid-June.

But Kaline, who received a clean bill of health during a checkup at the Mayo Clinic in October, is ready to go and hopes to get through the 1964 season without an injury. He suffered a broken collarbone in 1962.

I'm ready to play everyday," Kaline said, "although it's nice sometimes to sit out those second games of the doubleheaders."

WANTS WINNER

Kaline, whose main ambition is to play on a pennant-winning team, feels the Tigers have helped themselves with their winter trades and are ready to move up after finishing in a tie for fifth last season with Cleveland.

"I really like these trades, I think they've given us a much sounder team," Kaline said.

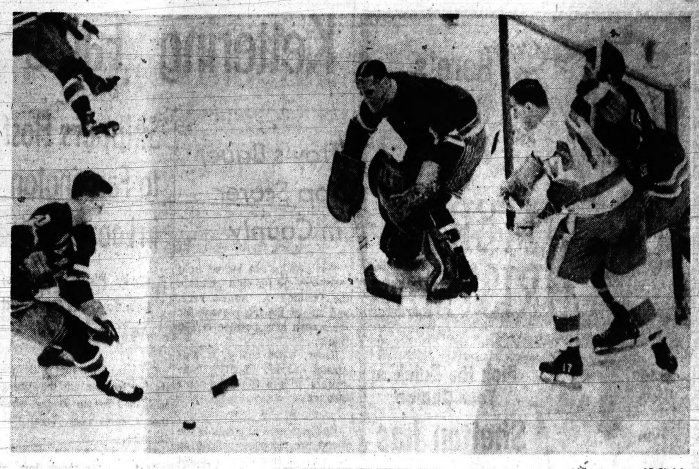

"Jerry Lumpe and Dick McAuliffe give us the best double-play combo we've had since I've been with the club. Lumpe is an important player who does a lot of things he doesn't get credit for.

"I haven't seen Don Demeter play much because he was in the other league but from what they tell me, he's going to be a good addition to our outfield," Kaline, who said he is pleased with manager Charlie Dressen's decision to switch him from the No. 3 to the No. 4 spot in the batting order, also would like another shot at the batting crown.

He became the youngest player ever to win the American League title in 1955 when he hit .340 but he has been unable to match that average since.

Kaline's $65,000 pact was topped only by the contracts in the $70,000 range received by Hal Newhouser and Hank Greenberg.

Only New York's Mickey Mantle ($100,000) and Roger Maris ($72,000) received more money in the American League last season.

Pontiac Central Wary of Visiting Midland 5

Waiting for a veteran team to jell into a winner can be nerve-racking for that team's coach.

It can also cause plenty of sweating in the camps of future opponents. This will be the situation Friday night when Midland invades Pontiac Central's gym for a Saginaw Valley Conference clash.

Coach Keith Carey is beginning to wonder if the Chemics are ever going to get untracked. PCH mentor Fred Zittel said yesterday.

"Frankly, Midland scares us. On paper they are a good team. There is good experience, but the team hasn't been winning.

"Our scouting report shows they had good shots against Saginaw, but lost the ball on steps, fumbles and poor passing at the last moment."

Midland posted a 3-14 record last season and finished next to last in the SVC. This season the Chemics are 0-3 in league play.

"Midland is a better team than its record indicates," said Zittel, "and this what has us worried."

NOT SO TALL

The Chiefs should find one thing more to their liking.

Midland doesn't have an exceptionally tall starting five. Dan Jaster (6-2) and Jim Ruh (6-3) are the tallest. This will be a change from the 6-4 to 6-7 players PCH has been opposing while posting a 3-1 overall mark.

Jaster, in his third season on the varsity and a top scorer last season, has been moved to center. But he has been unable to find the range.

Guard Steve Habkirk (5-10) has been carrying the scoring load.

The Chiefs will be keeping an eye on the Flint Northern-Saginaw clash Friday. Both teams are undefeated in league play and PCH has a date with Flint Northern Jan. 10.

* * *

Zittel indicated he would go with the same five that started in the 70-64 win over Arthur.

Mel DeWalt and Gerald Henry will be the forwards, Jim Johnson the center, and Al Keel and William Morgan the guards. Walter Moore could see action early in the contest.

Zittel has moved sophomore Jeff Lane (5-4) up from the junior varsity. He will fill in at guard.

AFL ROOKIE—Fullback Billy Joe of the Denver Broncos has been chosen the American Football League's rookie of the year by the Associated Press. He will end the season against San Diego Sunday.

It's Era of Ara at Notre Dame

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — The era of Ara has dawned in Notre Dame football and all officialdom under the Golden Dome seems happy.

The Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, university president, was not in South Bend when former Northwestern coach Ara Parseghian walked out of a contract signing meeting Monday.

What has been described as a slight personal difficulty was resolved the next day and the 40-year-old Presbyterian was welcomed back as head football coach by Notre Dame.

Carrying the ball for the Irish through all this was the Rev. Edmund P. Joyce, executive vice president and chairman of the athletic board.

WANTS JACKET

When Parseghian returned to the fold his first request was that he wanted a Notre Dame jacket sent to him so he could wear it to the East-West Shrine game Dec. 28 in San Francisco, where he will be a member of the East coaching staff.

This was promptly attended to, it was confirmed Wednesday night by Father Hesburgh.

* * *

After returning to South Bend from the East, Father Hesburgh told The Associated Press:

"Father Joyce ordered the jacket sent to Parseghian immediately and he should have it by now."

He said it was ordered through the campus book store. It presumably is the type of jacket anybody could purchase from the shop.

"I am very happy with the coaching situation," said Father Hesburgh. "We have a great coach and we are looking forward to a wonderful football era."

* * *

Parseghian becomes the first non-Catholic Notre Dame coach since the immortal Knute Rockne, whose regime was from 1918 to 1930. The Rock, however, was converted to Catholicism in 1925.

Ara also is the first non-alumnus of Notre Dame to be head coach since Jesse Harper in 1913-1917. Ed McKeever, a 1944 war-time coach, was a Texas Tech graduate but served his freshman football year at Notre Dame under Rockne.

HUMAN FISH — Considered the best swimmer in Michigan high school swimming, Ken Wiebeck swam the backstroke faster than many swimmers can swim the freestyle. He won the event in 56.4 as Detroit Thurston defeated Pontiac Northern, 58-39 in the PNH pool last night.

Hope in Loop Victory

HOLLAND (UPI) — Defending MIAA champion Hope defeated Albion, 89-77, last night for its first league basketball triumph of the season.

Ron Venhuizen led Hope's scoring attack with 31 points.

High scorer for Albion was Larry Colburn with 17 points.

Record in PNH Pool

There are a lot of swimming pools around Michigan which will have the name Ken Wiebeck inscribed among its records for a few seasons to come.

The Detroit Thurston swimmer, who is considered the best high school swimmer in Michigan and an All-American selection, took part in only one individual event last night against Pontiac Northern and helped Thurston to a 58-39 victory.

It was Northern's first loss in three meets this season.

Wiebeck set a pool record by going 56.4 in the 100 yard backstroke and he was part of the winning medley relay team. His backstroke time was better than Northern's best effort in the 100 freestyle which was 58.6.

Dick Johnson who finished second to Wiebeck in 1:04.3 set a school record with his time.

PNH managed to win five events with Carl Cascaddan taking his specialty in the breaststroke, Alex Hiller in diving, Bob Basinger in the 50 freestyle and Skip Ervin in the 200 freestyle.

PNH-Thurston Summary

200 medley relay — Thurston (Wiebeck, Vedder, Duthie, Amberg) Time: 1:47.3

W. Michigan Players Ask Coach's Firing

KALAMAZOO (AP) — Western Michigan University's varsity football players have asked the administration to remove head coach Merle Schlosser, Dr. James W. Miller, university president, said Wednesday.

Miller said the request had been turned over to the director of athletics for study. Schlosser's record was 2-7 this year and 23-33-3 over seven seasons.

Torch Bearer Sets Records

MELBOURNE (AP) — Ron Clarke, a 26-year-old Australian distance runner best remembered as the teen-ager who lit the Olympic torch in 1956, cracked world records for 10,000 meters and six miles here Wednesday night.

Running in the Victorian Marathon Club's annual "Emil Zatopek" 10,000-meter run, Clarke was clocked in 28 minutes, 15.6 seconds for the metric distance which is equivalent to 6 miles, 376 yards, and passed the six-mile mark in 27:17.6.

Clarke clipped 3.2 seconds off the 10,000-meter mark held by Russia's Pyotr Bolotnikov and 26.2 seconds off the six-mile mark held by Sandor Iharos of Hungary.

Fans Flock to Big Ten Gridirons

NEW YORK (AP) — Ohio State, a traditional powerhouse at the turnstiles, led the nation's colleges to a record football attendance of over 22 million in 1963, despite the cancellation of 34 games because of the assassination of President Kennedy.

* * *

Statistics released today by the NCAA Service Bureau, show a record jump of 1,009,932 over the 1962 season, pushing the total attendance to 22,237,094. The NCAA estimates the canceled games would have added 268,900 to the total.

The attendance marked the 10th consecutive year in which college football has recorded gains. In 1953, attendance was 16,681,731.

Ohio State, meanwhile, was the individual leader for the 12th time in 13 years, although Michigan had the highest attendance count. Michigan is the only team to interrupt the Buckeyes' domination, winning the title in 1957.

BUSKEYES TOPS

Ohio State was No. 1 with an average attendance of 83,205 per game, an increase of 264 a game over the 1962 figure. Michigan attracted 424,728 to the Buckeyes' 416,023, but played seven home games to Ohio State's five.

* * *

Louisiana State was second in average attendance at 66,141, with Michigan State No. 3 at 65,319. The rest of the top ten consisted of Wisconsin, Michigan, Texas, Minnesota, Iowa, Washington and Southern California. Four other schools also averaged over 50,000-a game—Oklahoma, Illinois, Notre Dame and Georgia Tech.

Illinois, bound for the Rose Bowl, recorded the biggest jump over last season, averaging a gain of 16,336 a game. Southern Methodist was second with a 13,532 increase and Stanford third with a 13,160 pickup.

N.Y. Held to 1-1 Game by Crozier

NEW YORK (UPI) — Defeat, the absence of victory, is a word which is completely foreign to Detroit Red Wing goalie Roger Crozier as far as the National Hockey League goes.

Crozier, the 21-year-old sub for regular Wing goalie Terry Sawchuk, was promoted from Pittsburgh of the American Hockey League last month and still hasn't tasted defeat in the NHL in four starts with the Wings.

Last night, the little Detroit goal tender earned the Wings a 1-1 standoff against the New York Rangers with the aid of Pit Martin's second period goal.

Crozier made some brilliant saves but was lucky early in the third period when Rod Gilbert and Don Marshall of the Rangers both hoisted shots over the cage after apparently having Crozier beaten.

Jacques Plante also played an excellent game in the New York net, turning aside a total of 35 shots to 25 for Crozier.

In the opening period, Norm Ullman barely missed scoring for Detroit. Plante slowed down his bullet drive with his pads and then reached behind him to retrieve the puck just as it was about to trickle into the cage.

Plante also made several good stops on shots by Gordie Howe who has yet to score a goal in six games against the Rangers this season.

Martin, a first-year center, converted linemate Claude La Forge's rebound less than two minutes after Andy Bathgate had hammered his own rebound past Crozier to put New York ahead 1-0.

Practice Ends in City League

The last city recreation basketball practice games before the holidays are on tap for tonight at Madison Junior High while eight teams finished up last night.

Two close decisions found Town & Country defeating the Pontiac Police, 45-39, and White Lake Pharmacy edging Messiah Baptist, 45-38, in the adult league.

West Bloomfield Heating ripped Becker's, 51-24; and in a Class D game, Victor Paint walloped St. Luke's Methodist, 62-29.

Beliveau Wastes No Time Tying NHL Center's Mark

By The Associated Press

"I knew after I got my first goal that I had one more to go," said Montreal's Jean Beliveau. "I was glad it came right away because usually it can take four or five games to score a big goal."

Beliveau's big goal came off a 30-foot drive in the third period of Montreal's 7-3 National Hockey League victory over Toronto Wednesday night. It was the 324th of his career, tying the record for centers held by another Montreal player, Nels Stewart.

Beliveau spoke frankly about the shot and the record in the Canadiens' dressing room, admitting that he knew as he took the shot that it would go in.

"But it was close," he said. "It just got between the post and Johnny Bower (the goalie). I knew as I shot that I could score the goal but I was scared when it nearly went wide."

POINT PARADE

Beliveau also started the Canadiens' scoring parade in the first period. His two goals gave him 14 for the season and left him within one goal of becoming the fifth highest scorer in NHL history.

The Canadiens' victory snapped a second-place tie with the Leafs and boosted Montreal to within six points of first-place Chicago, defeated by Boston 2-1. Detroit and New York battled to a 1-1 tie in the other game.

* * *

Henri Richard also scored two goals for Montreal while Bernie Geoffrion, Gilles Tremblay and J. C. Tremblay collected one each. Jim Pappin, George Armstrong and Frank Mahovlich scored for Toronto.

The Bruins handed the Hawks their first defeat on Chicago ice in 17 games on a first period goal by Orland Kurtenbach and Johnny Bucyk's clincher in the third period. Boston goalie Ed Johnson kicked aside 31 shots, allowing Ken Wharram's goal only after the Bruins had built a 2-0 lead.

Troy's Bauer Top Scorer in County

Troy's Colts are locked in a three-way tie for first place in the Oakland A League race, and one of the big reasons for the team's lofty position is Ted Bauer.

Bauer, a 6-4 center, is tops among Oakland County's cage scorers with a 26-point-a-game average.

★ ★ ★

He has scored 52 points in the Colts' two victories, picking up 40 in the season opener against Lake Orion.

Holding down second place on the scoring ladder is Pontiac Northern's Roger Hayward, a sharp-shooting 6-3 forward who has compiled an average of 24.0 for three games.

Ralph Wingate of Emmanuel Christian, the 1962-63 scoring champion, is nestled in third position with a 22.6 average.

Dwight Lee of New Haven won the 1963 area football scoring championship and the 6-2 forward is leading the area cage scoring race with an average of 29.0 for four contests.

Carl Kemp has dumped in 66 points in three outings for Romeo and trails Lee with an average of 22.0.

Skippers Host to Farmington in Loop Game

Oaks Play Captains; Romeo Goes On Road Against Oxford

Unbeaten Kettering will face its stiffest test of the young basketball season Friday when the Captains host Royal Oak Dondero.

★ ★ ★

At about the same time, a mile away, Waterford Township High will be seeking its first Inter-Lakes victory against a tall Farmington quintet.

Southfield plays at Berkley in the other I-L contest.

Romeo opens its Tri-Couty season at Oxford and Lapeer steps outside the league at Flushing.

Dondero has only a 2-2 record but the Oaks have faced some good competition. They downed Walled Lake in their opener, then lost to Monroe and Wyandotte before topping Southfield.

★ ★ ★

Dondero, a member of the Border Cities League, is expected to be one of the better teams the Captains face this season.

OUT OF ACTION

Co-captain Bill Sevald is the top player. The Oaks have good height in 6-5 Mike Murphy. Rick Sherwood, the other co-captain, has not played because of a football injury.

Waterford will be the underdog in its game with Farmington.

★ ★ ★

The Skippers showed good potential in Tuesday's loss to Lapeer, but inexperience on defense and trouble under the backboards proved costly.

The Skippers will have to improve in the rebound department if they are going to handle Farmington's towering front line.

The visitors will send 6-8 Neil Warriner into the pivot. He will be flanked by 6-2 Bob Lorenze and 6-3 Dave Schlack, the team's leading scorer.

Waterford and Farmington are both 0-1 in league play.

★ ★ ★

Romeo will be favored to hand Oxford's its third straight setback. The Bulldogs were impressive while downing Utica. The Wildcats showed promise in the last outing against L'Anse Creuse.

Maples, Groves in Pre-Holiday Cage Contest

Birmingham Seaholm, still licking its wounds, and neighboring Birmingham Groves, now feeling its oats, will play their intra-city clash Friday night.

Seaholm dropped from atop the Eastern Michigan League standings last week when Mount Clemens handed the Maples their first loss in three starts.

★ ★ ★

Groves, meanwhile, was winless in two games until surprising Oak Park Tuesday to square its Northwest Suburban League record.

The talented Seaholm squad figures to have too much height for Groves, though, and should post a decisive win to close both teams' December schedule.

The EML will have one game Friday, Roseville and Port Huron will meet in the shore city both seeking their first victory.

The lone Northwest Suburban contest will have Livonia Franklin traveling to North Farmington. The home team Falcons have a win in league play while Franklin will make its debut after two non-league defeats.

OTHER GAMES

Other contests of local interest will have Grosse Pointe University School at Emmanuel Christian, Utica at Warren Lincoln, Imlay City at Marlette, Lapeer at Flushing and Flint Hamaday at Ortonville Brandon.

The Southern Thumb race will feature Armada entertaining unbeaten New Haven; while undefeated Capac will be host to Almont, Anchor Bay will visit Dryden, and Memphis will play at Brown City.

Two EML teams in non-league starts are East Detroit at Grosse Pointe, and Mount Clemens will meet Romulus at home.

Millington will visit New Lothrup and Lamphere has a date at Chippewa Valley.

Trinity Baptist Five Has YMCA Cage Lead

Trinity Baptist stayed on top in the Pontiac YMCA-Church Basketball League by downing All Saints Episcopal in last week's senior division action.

Dickie LeDoux picked up 18 points and Gary Banks added 11 to pace the Baptist attack. The squad now owns a 2-0 record.

Rote Named AFL's Most Valuable

AP Photofax

AFL'S BEST—Former Detroit Lion was selected as the Player of the Year in the American Football League by the Associated Press. Rote gets treatment for bursitis in his throwing arm by trainer Kearney Reeb of the San Diego Patriots.

NEW YORK (AP) — Tobin Rote, a restless man who had played in three pro leagues, was named Most Valuable Player in the American Football League Thursday for his job of directing the San Diego Chargers close to a championship.

The 35-year-old former Green Bay, Detroit and Toronto quarterback, received 15 of the votes cast by a panel of 24 sports writers and sportscasters for the Associated Press. Each city was represented by three voters.

STARTS IN 1950

Way back in 1950 Rote broke into the National Football League at Green Bay. That was the year Y. A. Tittle also played his first NFL ball with Baltimore after two years in the All-America Conference. In 1957 he took over at quarterback for the Detroit Lions after Bobby Layne had suffered a broken leg in a late season game, and led the Lions in a 59-14 rout of the Cleveland Browns in the NFL title game. Rote threw four TD passes, including one on a fake field goal, and also scored once on a plunge.

★ ★ ★

The former Rice star moved to Toronto in 1960 after playing out his option in the NFL. He played out his option in Canada, too, where he was reported getting $32,000 and came to San Diego this season at $30,000 a year.

Although Rote was troubled by bursitis in late season and had trouble throwing the long ball, he was the big man for Sid Gillman's Chargers, who need only one more victory to clinch the Western Division title.

Rote's 1963 figures show 163 completions in 270 attempts for 2,401 yards and 19 touchdowns.

"I don't have to run any more," he said recently. "I've got too many good runners to hand the ball to on this club."

Lance Alworth, an exceptionally fine flanker back and top receiver of Rote's passes at San Diego, drew four MVP votes.

Clem Daniels, Oakland's fine running back who has been up near the top in the rushing race all season, drew two votes as a key man in the surprising surge of the Raiders. Archie Matsos, Oakland's middle linebacker, acquired from Buffalo in an off-season trade, also got one vote.

Last Second Basket Gives Tulsa Victory

TULSA, Okla. (UPI) — The joy ride is over, at least temporarily, for Michigan State's ambitious basketball team.

The previously unbeaten Spartans bumped into Tulsa here last night and saw their four-game winning streak snapped at the final buzzer, 89-88.

Senior forward Bill Kusleika hit a followup jump shot as the gun sounded to clinch the comeback upset for Tulsa.

Trailing by seven points with 1:55 to play, the golden hurricane made its move. Kusleika pushed through a long shot. Then Rick Park and Carlos Gripado each stole the ball to put in driving layups and give Tulsa the lead.

MSU's Marcus Sanders quickly hit two free throws to give the nod back to the visitors. But Tulsa brought the ball in and played for one shot, with Kusleika following up his own attempt from the corner for the winning basket.

Spencer Floors Take 1st Place in Cage League

John Herrington scored 27 points as Spencer Floors whipped Frushour and Struble Realty 82-52 last night and took over first place in the Waterford recreation basketball league.

Tom Cordingly helped Spencer up its record to 3-0 with 20 markers. Dick Shipman had 18 for the losers.

Lakeland Pharmacy took Wardrobe Cleaners 83-54 as Tom Nickman hit 24 points. Mike Reed counted 19 for Wardrobe.

Tonight's games scheduled for Crary have been postponed. There will be no league action until January.

Spilled in Cage Surprises

Toledo, NYU Feel Bumps

By The Associated Press

THUD! Thud.

The sounds you just heard were seventh-ranked NYU stumbling again, and ninth-ranked Toledo falling for the first time.

The bigger sound came from Staten Island in New York, where NYU tripped over little Wagner College, and bowed 77-76 Wednesday night on Hank Pedro's jump shot with five seconds remaining in overtime.

ANOTHER THUD

The smaller sound came from Philadelphia, where Toledo — NYU's first conqueror—ran into an aggressive Villanova team led by Wally Jones and lost its first in seven games, 63-59.

Three other Top Ten teams were in action, but they met with considerably more success. Fourth-ranked Cincinnati beat Colorado 82-64, eighth-ranked Vanderbilt stunned Texas Christian 113-56 and 10th-ranked Davidson walloped Furman 89-63.

★ ★ ★

Elsewhere, Bill Kusleika's basket with one second left gave Tulsa an 89-88 victory over Michigan State, Joe Adamitis' lay-up with 46 seconds remaining pulled George Washington to a 60-57 triumph over Richmond and Larry Lankins scored 40 points in North Carolina State's 104-88 romp over Tulane.

SURPRISES

In other surprises, Army downed previously unbeaten Ohio University 58-45, Hofstra defeated Navy 82-81, Manhattan downed Temple 75-73 and Arizona overcame California 64-58 for its first victory over the Bears since the 1923-24 season.

But it was NYU that got the biggest shock of all. Facing Wagner, a school that plays in small college circles in the Metropolitan area, the Violets had a chance to win it in regulation time on a final shot by All-America Barry Kramer, then lost a five-point lead in overtime.

★ ★ ★

NYU reeled off 11 straight points for a 67-64 lead with three minutes to go in regulation time but with 1:10 left the Seahawks had pulled into a tie on a foul shot by John DiMaggio and Fred Klittich's basket. Kramer then missed a shot at the buzzer.

In overtime, the Violets built a 76-71 lead before baskets by Pedro and Van Neher cut the deficit. Kramer then missed on a one-and-one foul situation that could have clinched it, and Pedro followed with his winning shot.

Klittich led Wagner with 23 points. Pedro had 14. Ray Bennet paced NYU with 25 while Kramer scored 20.

★ ★ ★

Villanova's Jones boy was the outstanding ball hawk in a Wildcat zone defense that handcuffed Toledo until Larry Jones connected for their first basket at 14:20, and the Rockets never left the launching pad.

Jones was high man for Villanova with 18 points while Ray Wolford topped Toledo with 20.

Cincinnati snapped Colorado's 28-game home court winning streak as Ron Bonham tied his career high with a 32-point effort. George Wilson added 21 points to the Bearcats' total. Bob Joyce was high for the Buffs with 15.

★ ★ ★

Vanderbilt doubled up the score against TCU while running its victory streak to 11 games. Wayne Taylor led the rout with 22 points. Fred Hetzel scored 32 points—22 in the second half — as Davidson outclassed Furman in a Southern Conference game.

State Snow Reports Promise Good Skiing

By The Associated Press

Reinforced by fresh snow, most Michigan ski resorts report that their slopes will be in dandy shape for weekend skiing.

The western portion of Lower Michigan, where heavy snow has accumulated this week, appears to be a skier's paradise. The West Michigan Tourist Association says conditions range from very good to excellent.

Following is a report on skiing conditions as of Wednesday (numbers indicate inches of snow):

WEST MICHIGAN

Excellent:

Avalanche, Boyne City — six packed base, five new snow; Big M, Manistee—four to six base, three powder, opening Saturday; Eskar Ski Slopes, Middleville — six base, opening Saturday; Glacier Hills, Bellaire—four base, nine new snow, opening Saturday; Missaukee Mountains, Lake City — six packed base, four new snow; Mt. Skiing Planned for Christmas

Local Resorts Have Slopes in Top Shape

Alpine Valley Opens With Fashion Show; Summit Starting, Too

The final weekend before the holiday period should be the best one on the local ski slopes as conditions continue to improve.

Christmas day will find the schedule curtailed with four area facilities planning to open, but later than usual.

Grand openings are planned by Summit Mountain Ski Club and Alpine Valley this weekend. The former will have some skiing tonight and tomorrow, and will open officially Saturday morning.

Alpine has had some activity on its slopes previously, but plans a grand opening tomorrow.

All area ski slopes will be closed by 6 p.m. Christmas eve. Mt. Holly and Pine Knob will resume operations at noon Christmas day; while Dryden will open at 2 p.m. and Mt. Brighton will start again at 3 p.m.

TOP CONDITIONS

Conditions are currently good-to-excellent and all facilities are operating at Dryden, Mt. Christie, Pine Knob, Mt. Holly and Grampian Mountain.

The prolonged cold spell and increased snowfall has also brightened prospects at Teeple Hill and the Pontiac Lake recreation area runs.

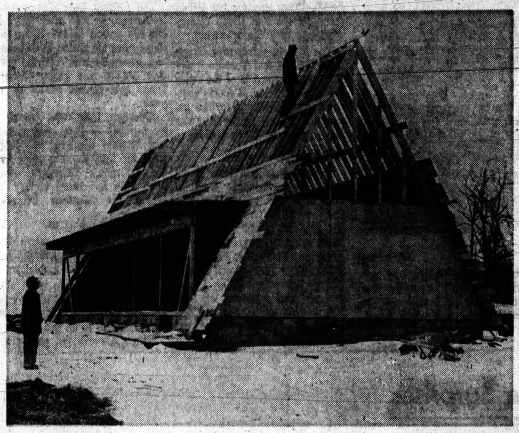

Mt. Brighton reports its slopes to be fair-to-good.

Both Summit and Alpine Valley have very good conditions and all facilities will be working by Saturday.

★ ★ ★

Included in the improvements at Alpine is a new chair lift, reportedly giving the resort two of the finest in the state. Increased dining and lounging comfort has been provided in the lodge.

Manager Joe Kosik is looking forward to Alpine's best season and has arranged for a fashion show at 4 p.m. tomorrow to inaugurate the season.

Pontiac Press Photo

NEW SHOP — Mt. Christie ski area, north of Oxford, is expected to have a new ski shop completed shortly on the hill next to the lodge. Mt. Christie is in full operation for the season with very good skiing on all slopes.

Mikemen Looking for Third Victory

St. Michael's Shamrocks will be looking for their third win of the season when they invade winless Waterford Our Lady of Lakes Friday evening.

★ ★ ★

The game is one of two on the Northwest Parochial League schedule. In the second, league-leading Royal Oak St. Mary journeys to meet St. Agatha. The other teams in the loop will be idle until January.

The Mikemen are 1-3 in loop competition and 2-3 for the season.

They ran into foul trouble Tuesday night and dropped a 58-52 decision to ROSM.

The Mikemen have shown a lot of potential, but that old bugaboo — the personal foul — has been the difference between victory and defeat.

Mike Pope was expected to give the Shamrocks a big boost on the boards Tuesday evening, but he collected four personals in the first and made only a token appearance in the closing quarter.

LEADING SCORERS

The big point producers for the Mikemen have been Pope and Rick Ravoie. Lavoie picked up 21 points against ROSM to push his season total to 77.

WOLL's Lakers have dropped six straight games, five in league play, and face the prospect of entering the New Year without a win.

Bill Brandt is the top point producer on the Laker unit with an average of 15.5 for six tilts.

The Irish of ROSM have lost but once in five outings and they should have little trouble with St. Agatha.

★ ★ ★

In other games on the parochial scene Ferndale St. James will visit Detroit St. Theresa, University of Detroit High School invades Birmingham Brother Rice and Royal Oak Shrine plays host to Detroit St. Anthony.

Brother Rice has jumped off to a good start, winning its last two games for a season mark of 2-1.

Dave Walter, Bill Moore and Paul Jagels give the Rice squad a balanced scoring attack.

The Shrine quintet will try to break a three - game losing streak against the visiting St. Anthony.

The one-two scoring combination of Chet Murowski and Pete Marvin has kept the St. James squad above the .500 mark for the season at 3-2.

The sharp-shotting Murowski ranks eighth among Oakland County leaders with an average of 20.8 for five games.

Northwood 5 Rolls

MIDLAND (UPI) — Northwood Institute smothered New York Tech last night, 107-81 after carrying a 21-point lead into the second half.

Bullets Down Detroit 5

By The Associated Press

Baltimore's Gus Johnson, a first - year man from Idaho known for his rebounding skills, is making a strong bid for Rookie of the Year honors in the National Basketball Association.

And he's doing it on his scoring ability.

Johnson, the second leading rebounder in the college ranks last year, hit 10 consecutive shots and wound up connecting on 17 of 22 tries for 38 points in the Bullets' 124-107 victory over Detroit Wednesday night.

Johnson the third leading scorer for Baltimore behind previous Rookie of the Year selections Walt Bellamy and Terry Dischinger, didn't miss a shot until the third period in rasing his average to 15.6.

OTHER GAMES

In other games, Eastern Division leading Boston walloped New York 133-111, San Francisco whipped St. Louis 104-96 and Los Angeles thumped Philadelphia 116-96.

After Johnson missed his first shot for the Bullets, the Pistons closed to within four points. But Johnson regained his touch and sank two more baskets, Dischinger and Si Green each connected once and the Bullets had a commanding 96-85 lead. Bellamy added 36 points to the Baltimore total while Ray Scott led Detroit with 26.

John Havlicek scored 27 points, Sam Jones 23 and Tom Heinsohn 21 as the Celtics' balanced attack brought them their 22nd victory in 25 games. New York led 32-28 in the second period, but Boston scored 12 consecutive points to put it out of reach. Bob Boozer and Len Chappell were high for the Knicks with 23 each.

Musicman Meredith Wilson composed the Iowa "fight song."

Concern for Migrants May Be Too Late

By LOIS BLACKBURN

EAST LANSING (UPI)—Concern over the plight of migrant farm laborers is increasing across the nation, but any action to improve the place in life of this segment of mankind may come too late.

Migrant workers still are used by the thousands in Michigan from mid-April through late October to harvest the various farm crops.

Efforts have been made in the State Legislature during the last 12 years to require land owners employing migrant workers to provide essential sanitary facilities and decent living quarters for these people. Educational training standards for children of migrant workers also have been recommended.

On the national level, Michigan's U.S. Sen. Philip A. Hart has been spurring an effort to get similar requirements on the federal level.

LARGER INROAD

These government efforts to date have gained insufficient support for passage, although a little larger inroad is made annually toward its accomplishment.

During the past few years, however, it has been anybody's educated guess as to whether the regulations will be enacted before the demand disappears.

The advances being made in the development and use of mechanical harvesters have been increasing rapidly. Presumably widespread use of mechanical devices to pick crops will substantially cut down the need for outside farm labor at harvest time.

★ ★ ★

The Grand Traverse area, the nation's cherry capital, has been one of the prime users of migrant labor forces in Michigan. Mechanical harvesting has made a substantial dent in the harvesting work involved in this industry.

BEING DEVELOPED

Methods are still being studied to reduce injury to both the trees and crops in cherry-picking by machine. A machine similar to the cherry harvester is also being developed for use in harvesting other orchard crops.

At Michigan State University, researchers also note considerable advances on the development of a mechanical harvester for the pickle industry.

Dr. Stanley K. Ries boasts that use of the machine should take the aching back out of the business of pickle picking. The gadget, developed by the MSU Department of Horticulture and Agricultural Engineering, picks up all the vines and removes the cucumbers with a squeezing action.

★ ★ ★

Ries, of the horticulture department, likened the action to that of a washing machine roller.

WORK CONTINUING

Work on this particular machine is continuing as is study into the possibilities of mechanically harvesting certain varieties of tomatoes, cabbage and asparagus.

Potato pickers are already on the market, along with a number of other effort-reducing harvesters.

The price of these mechanical marvels may be prohibitive to small farmers, but all indications are groups of farmers could profit by using the machines to harvest crops on their several farms.

★ ★ ★

Widespread use of these machines, which undoubtedly will be developed for nearly every farm crop at some time in the future, could easily cut firmly into the need for outside labor in the annual harvest.

JACOBY

When you have the choice between playing no-trump yourself or steering the play to your partner you usually can find some reason to bid it yourself. The most common excuse is the "tenace theory." You hold something like ace-queen-small or king-jack-small in some suit and want the lead to come up to you.

This is all very lovely provided your opponent opens one of those tenace suits, but he is much more likely to open some other suit and it is a far better policy to look at your worst suit, not your best before you bid no-trump.

South certainly was ready for any lead, except spades, and it was "just inconceivable" that his partner wouldn't have good spades for his diamond bid and rebid. So South leaped to three no-trump and that "old devil West" opened the three of spades. East popped his ace on dummy's king and continued with the queen whereupon South lost five tricks before he could gain the lead.

Everything was roses from then on, but you can't lose the first five tricks and make a no-trump game.

Of course, South did have a tough rebid. He had a mighty good hand that appeared to be suitable for no-trump play.

But it was suitable only with North as declarer and South should have rebid two hearts in order to give North a chance to try no-trump. North would have obliged and would have made at least the nine tricks necessary for game.

Q—The bidding has been:

What do you do now?

A—Bid five no-trump. If your partner shows two kings you are prepared to gamble out seven diamonds.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding three diamonds, your partner jumps to three no-trump over your one diamond response. What do you do?

Homeless Pups Make Fine Presents

Black And Tan, Barky And Quiet Dogs Are Available

By JIM LONG

An electric train may be fine, but don't overlook a canine for Christmas.

Scores of homeless dogs, full-grown and puppies, are just waiting to brighten up the Christmas of youngsters.

Both the Oakland County Animal Shelter in the County Service Center and the Michigan Humane Society, 790 Featherstone, have large selections of dogs and cats from which to choose.

* * *

Only a donation to cover the cost of food is required to obtain an animal from the county, according to Dr. Frank R. Bates, director of the shelter.

RABIES SHOTS

All dogs over four months have had their rabies inoculations.

The shelter is opened from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday.

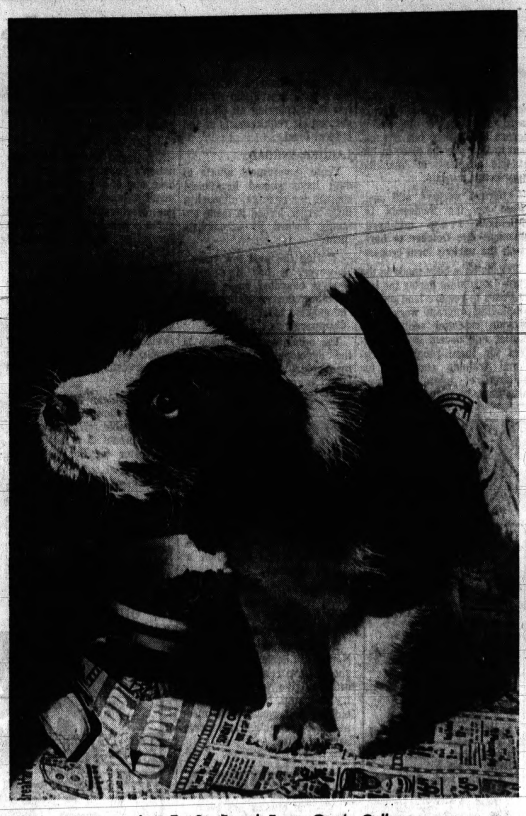

Mrs. Martin Davis, director of the Michigan Animal Rescue League (Humane Society) in Pontiac, said puppies can be purchased for $8 for females and $10 for males, while the grown dogs differ in price.

* * *

Most of the dogs have had distemper shots, she said. Some are registered.

* * *

The rescue league is opened from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

GOP Readies Budget Attack

Johnson Plans to Cut All Possible Waste

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional Republicans are loading their elephant guns for an assault on the spending budget that President Johnson will submit to Congress in January.

Johnson told a news conference Wednesday that he intends to cut every possible dime of waste out of the new budget but doesn't know yet what the expenditures total will be.

* * *

Informed members of Congress think the total is certain to go over a record $100 billion despite Johnson's efforts to keep the amount down in an election year.

At best the new budget will be only an estimate of how much revenue the government will receive and pay out in the fiscal year beginning next July 1. While spending can be estimated fairly accurately, it is more difficult to forecast revenue.

COULD CUT DEFICIT

With a report in hand that the gross national product is passing the $600-billion mark, Johnson conceivably could shave the projected deficit with an optimistic revenue estimate.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois made it clear Republicans are going to watch this process carefully and be ready to pounce on anything they believe they can characterize as excess spending.

* * *

Dirksen suggested at a news conference Wednesday that the President might send Congress a pared-down budget that would not stand up for a full year's operations and then ask Congress in 1965 to close the gap with additional appropriations.

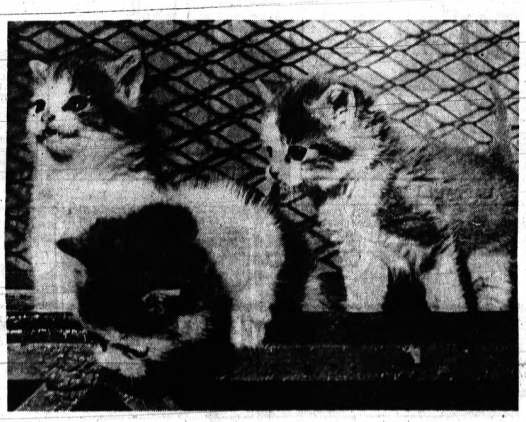

"I am going to have to have some sound assurances that there are not going to be such supplemental requests for funds before I go along with any spending estimates that are submitted in January," he said.

NOT TO SACRIFICE

Johnson said that in trimming the budget he is going to be careful not to sacrifice U.S. security and will not pass up new programs that are needed.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., said he can't figure out how any new programs can be added because of the $3.5-billion built-in increases Johnson said were represented in pay increases, new programs and other legislation.

"I see where the President wants to abolish poverty all over the world," Byrd said. "This is a worthy objective, but it could be mighty costly for us."

From the Middle

His Kids Sure Take the Cake

By BOB SALMON
Written for Hal Boyle

BOSTON (AP) — We don't have chocolate cake at our house anymore. It's too exhausting.

We have children, little children.

* * *

Actually, Karen isn't too bad. She's 8 and she's been out in the world a good deal, weathering through first and second grade and all that. She doesn't do anything to a chocolate layer cake that really can't be repaired—as long as you have a sponge, dish cloth, broom and mop.

But Bootsie, who is going on 6, seems to think that chocolate layer cake should be attacked from the middle—with a spoon, yet.

RESURFACING JOB

And that comes after she has reapplied the chocolate frosting from the top and sides to the other exposed surfaces of the cake—and to her wrists, sleeves, chair and nose.

That line of frosting running across the middle of the slice seems to activate this furious pursuit of curiosity. Bootsie can't figure out how her mother got the frosting into the middle of the cake in the first place.

* * *

She goes about that part first, digging it out with a methodism that would shame an auditor. And if this doesn't seem difficult, just try to dig out the frosting from the middle of a chocolate layer cake with a spoon.

It'll come out, all right. But so will the bolts of an automobile license plate on the morning of Jan. 1.

MIND YOUR BUSINESS

About this time I've finished my slice of cake and am starting in seriously on my coffee. That's when my downfall begins.

I keep telling myself. "Don't look up. Mind your own business. Drink your coffee. Don't look up. Don't be a busybody."

* * *

But it doesn't work. Curiosity always gets this cat, too. I can't resist looking over at the battlefield on my right. Naturally it's the big mistake of the evening.

* * *

At about that first look, Bootsie's usually pretty well losing her battle. The cake has crumbled. Frosting has scattered to neutral corners, to Bootsie, the chair and the floor.

* * *

Don't get me wrong. I love chocolate cake. It's just that we had it for dessert again last night. It'll take me a few days to regroup my nerves.

Russ Duck Newsmen at U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The Soviet Union's U.N. delegation canceled its traditional assembly-end news conference today, apparently to duck questions on Soviet troubles with the Africans and the Red Chinese.

The delegation announced without explanation Wednesday night that Chief Delegate Nikolai T. Fedorenko would not hold the conference at which he was to appraise the 18th assembly session. The announcement said Fedorenko would issue a statement.

Delegates speculated that the demonstration by African students in Moscow Wednesday, coming on top of recent African attacks on Soviet policy at the U.N., may have prompted the cancellation.

Newsmen were certain to bring up the Moscow disturbance even though it had no direct bearing on the United Nations. The Russians rarely have missed a chance to taunt the United States about civil rights troubles during U.N. debate on racial issues.

RED FEUD

It also was believed that Fedorenko did not relish the prospect of parrying questions about the Moscow-Peking feud, which spilled over into assembly debate on African demands for enlargement of the Security Council and the Economic and Social Council.

The Russians opposed the enlargements unless Red China replaced Nationalist China in the U.N. and said Peking wanted it that way. Peking and the African bloc said the Chinese were not opposed to enlargement of the councils to give the Africans more representation.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson, in his news conference appraisal of the assembly Wednesday, said Peking's policy of aggression in Asia bars any change in its relations with the United States or the United Nations.

Questioners asked about the possibility of a change in relations in view of a speech last week by Roger Hilsman Jr., U.S. assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs.

DOOR OPEN

Hilsman said the door is being kept open for negotiations between the United States and Red China if the Chinese change their attitude of hatred for the United States. Stevenson said the United States is ready to extend the hand of cooperation to all peace-loving nations, but the decision to pursue peaceful objectives is up to Peking and not Washington.

Malaysia Uncovers Indonesia Plot

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Police guarded Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman and other high officials today as the government continued rounding up persons suspected of involvement in an alleged Indonesian plot to sabotage vital installations in Malaysia.

The prime minister accused Indonesia Wednesday of sending saboteurs to blow up water lines, railroads and power stations in an effort to shatter Malaysia's economy.

* * *

A government source said hundreds of persons have been picked up for questioning and the backbone of the plot has been broken.

The prime minister, Malaysia's king and queen and senior cabinet members were under close guard.

MUNICH, Germany (AP) — The Bavarian innkeepers' association announced today it is planning a test suit for damages from the state, claiming authorities ordered too many days of mourning.

The association said many innkeepers had serious losses because of the no-dance, no-juke-box mourning periods proclaimed after the assassination of President John F. Kennedy and the death of Theodor Heuss former West German president.

* * *

Officials said that since Nov. 1, dance halls and other entertainment places have been closed four days for Kennedy, five days for Heuss, memorial day, and three religious holidays.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — South Viet Nam's new military government has repealed Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu's law banning divorce, dancing, prostitution, abortion, contraceptives and beauty contests.

Mrs. Nhu, then South Viet Nam's first lady, barreled the law through a reluctant National Assembly in May 1962. Premier Nguyen Ngoc Tho cancelled it today.

Tho's decree said the law "cannot be applied in the reality of present - day life." But some provisions were continued by a decree.

Professional dancing girls are banned, but nothing was said about waitresses and hostesses. Dance halls are banned but dancing is permitted in restaurants by persons over 18.

LONDON (AP) — About one-half million Africans from Portuguese Angola have slipped past Portuguese patrols and taken refuge in the Congo in the last two years, a British Baptist missionary reports.

* * *

The Rev. W. David Grenfell said Wednesday night that 200 to 400 refugees are entering the Congo weekly. He said the "refugees dare not cross over at night because the Portuguese have planted trip mines which blow them to pieces."

* * *

Grenfell was one of 32 Protestant missionaries transferred from Angola to the Congo by their mission boards. Some were accused of subversion by the Portuguese and expelled.

ROME (AP) — South Africa has decided to resign from the U.N. Food and Agriculture Organization following prolonged criticism of its apartheid policy of racial segregation by African members.

NOT EXPLAINED

A spokesman for the organization said Wednesday night he was not sure whether South Africa has explained its reasons for withdrawing. The organization, prodded by its African members, voted Dec. 5 to exclude South Africa from any of its meetings held in Africa.

* * *

South Africa has been a member since 1945. The organization deals with the world's food and agriculture problems and handles technical aid to developing countries in those fields.

Ex-Tennessee Rep Censured by Court

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A former member of the Tennessee Legislature has become the second lawyer barred from federal court practice for being involved in alleged attempts to fix the jury that tried James R. Hoffa here last year.

Harry Beard Jr. of Lebanon Tenn., a former state representative, was disbarred in an order signed yesterday by U. S. Dist. Judges William E. Miller and Frank Gray Jr.

The judges accused Beard of discussing with Z. T. Osborn Jr., Hoffa's Nashville lawyer, proposals on how to get a juror to vote for the acquittal of Hoffa, president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

* * *

Osborn was disbarred by the judges last month and subsequently indicted by a federal grand jury.

CONTACT HUSBAND

Osborn, the judges said, asked Beard to contact the husband of a juror and offer him $10,000. The grand jury indictment in the Osborn case identified the juror's husband as D. M. Harrison.

The judges said Beard appeared voluntarily before them last Friday and admitted discussing the alleged bribe proposals on four occasions.

Beard, the order said, told the court, "That while he was 'appalled' and 'astounded' at the offer of a $10,000 bribe, he didn't reject it, but instead said he 'would see about the situation.'"

The judges said Beard told them he never contacted the juror or her husband.

The judges noted that Beard at no time reported the alleged bribe proposal to the proper authorities. They also noted that he didn't appear before them until after his name had been mentioned publicly in connection with possible jury tampering efforts.

WHILE ON TRIAL

The alleged $10,000 offer was made in November while Hoffa was on trial charged with conspiring to violate the Taft-Hartley Act by taking kickbacks from a trucking firm.

The trial ended last Dec. 23 with the jury hung 7-5 for acquittal.

* * *

Subsequently indictments have been returned charging Hoffa, Osborn and 11 others with attempts to fix the jury. The trial of Hoffa and six codefendants is set to begin Jan. 6.

The lights are part of the capital's Christmas, and in 10 years have become a London tradition.

Architect Gets Utica OK

City Hall Plans Proceeding

UTICA—The municipal building authority last night gave architect Neal B. Smith of Royal Oak the go-ahead to prepare two plans for the proposed new city hall.

The decision was made at a joint meeting of the City Council, building authority, the architect and the city library board.

Purpose of the session was to determine whether the library board is interested in incorporating plans for a new city library into the city hall project.

★ ★ ★

City Clerk Mrs. Eunice Kopietz said the board appeared "partially favorable" to the proposal.

The library administrators have been considering building a $7,000 addition to the present facilities.

Last night building authority members recommended the library board sell the present structure and put money from that and from the new addition fund into a new library which would be attached to the city hall.

The architect will determine a cost estimate on the proposed new library after surveying the present one.

★ ★ ★

When the architect shows plans to the building authority and library board next week, he will have a drawing of the proposed $85,000 city hall and an alternate showing the city hall and adjoining library.

STEPS UP PACE

The building authority is stepping up the planning pace in hopes of breaking ground for the facility — either with or without the library — next spring.

It will be built on an $18,000 site on Auburn across from the new post office.

A week ago the City Council and the building authority decided to quit waiting for a federal grant and concentrate on a building which could be financed without government aid.

★ ★ ★

The authority will issue revenue bonds to finance the administrative headquarters. Then the city will pay rent to the authority, which in turn will be used to pay off the revenue bonds.

ALL OFFICES

All municipal offices including the police department, will be housed in the new city hall.

Should a library become part of the plans, a larger and more costly building will be required. It is expected that an estimate of this building's cost will be provided by the architect next week.

BLAZE DAMAGES HOME—Firemen from two departments fought a fire spreading in the home of the Arlan Stone family at 484 Indian Lake, Orion Township, for a half hour last night before bringing it under control. Lake Orion Fire Chief Jack Caylor estimated damage at approximately $8,000. Neighbors and firemen helped remove contents of the house before they were stopped by the heat and smoke.

Installation Slated by Mason Lodge

DRYDEN — New officers of Dryden Lodge No. 150, F&AM, will be installed at 8 p.m. tomorrow in Masonic Temple. The ceremony is open to the public.

★ ★ ★

Donald A. Vandawaker will take over duties of worshipful master of the lodge.

★ ★ ★

Other new officers to serve with Vandawaker include John Ousnamer, senior warden; Richard Thomas, junior warden; Norman Muir, secretary; and Oliver Braidwood, treasurer.

Plan Church Program

IMLAY CITY — The Sunday School department of the Imlay City Church of the Nazarene will present a Christmas program entitled "If Christ Had Not Come" Sunday at 7 p.m.

Keego Eying Street Extension

KEEGO HARBOR — City officials here are studying the proposed extension of Square Lake Road into their community.

They put their engineers to work on preliminary cost estimates after being approached by West Bloomfield Township and the Oakland County Road Commission.

AREA NEWS

Keego Harbor, though uncommitted, had indicated a definite interest in the project.

★ ★ ★

The extension would cut west from Middlebelt to Orchard Lake Road, crossing the Grand Trunk Western Railroad track and Summers Street in Keego Harbor. Its route through the city would be about a quarter of a mile.

ALTERNATE ROUTE

The stretch has been proposed as an alternate route for Orchard Lake.

"It would relieve the traffic problem of coming up Woodward or Telegraph and then over by Orchard Lake," City Manager Gordon B. Hunter said.

Square Lake Road, which now ends just west of Middlebelt, will soon be carrying additional traffic when the I-75 exit onto it is opened in Bloomfield Township.

★ ★ ★

With the preliminary cost estimates prepared by Spaulding & Decker, Birmingham consulting engineers, city councilmen have said they think the project is a worthy one. They authorized Hunter to continue negotiations.

The estimate—only a working figure — was that construction costs on a 423-foot strip would be $9,100. This does not include acquisition of rights of way. It is based on a 22-foot-wide pavement.

The portion of the proposed road studied would be between the railroad tracks and Summers. It would include a sharp curve.

★ ★ ★

Hunter said financing the project has not been discussed in his talks with West Bloomfield and county road commission representatives.

Choir Plans Yule Concert

AUBURN HEIGHTS — The 30-member choir of Elmwood Methodist Church will present a Christmas Concert by John W. Peterson, "The Night of Miracles," at 7 p.m. Sunday.

Mrs. Eric Wehrli will lead the choir, which will be accompanied by Mrs. George Huntington at the organ. James Wagner will narrate the performance.

★ ★ ★

The public is invited to attend the concert. Elmwood Methodist Church is located at the corner of Auburn and Grant.

Labor Secretary to Get U. of M. Honor Degree

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz was to receive today a University of Michigan honorary doctor of laws degree citing his work to ease the problem of machines replacing men.

Former state legislator George N. Higgins of Ferndale was to receive a Regents' citation of honor for "aid and counsel" to college students.

PAMELA SUE CHANTER

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Chanter, 7900 Ormond, Davisburg, announce the engagement of their daughter Pamela Sue to Larry N. Tatton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mahlon Morris, 7005 Ormond, Davisburg. A March wedding is planned.

Party Planned in Rochester

Methodist Students to Present Program

ROCHESTER — A high moment for the children of St. Paul's Methodist Church will be a Birthday Party for Jesus planned for Sunday at 5 p.m.

The program will center around a tableau entitled "Light from Darkness," which tells the story of the life of Christ.

The tableau will be presented by third and sixth grade students of the Sunday School.

★ ★ ★

The program was prepared by Mrs. Robert Ludwig and Mrs. George Martin and is directed by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cummer.

CHERUB CHOIR

Music will be provided by St. Paul's Cherub Choir directed by Mrs. J. D. Parker.

★ ★ ★

The program in the church will be followed by a birthday party in Friendship Hall.

Fire Strikes Home in Orion Township

ORION TOWNSHIP — The Oxford and Lake Orion fire departments battled a house fire here last night which caused an estimated $8,000 damage before it was brought under control.

Flames started in the kitchen of the Arlan Stone home, 484 Indian Lake, about 8 p.m.

Before the fire was contained, it gutted the kitchen, an adjacent bathroom and the attic, and caused extensive heat and smoke damage to the remainder of the house and its contents.

★ ★ ★

Mr. and Mrs. Stone were both home at the time of the fire. Their two children, Lee Ann, 9, and Carla, 1, were staying with their grandmother.

3 TRUCKS

"When we arrived, flames were shooting about six feet out the window," Lake Orion Fire Chief Jack Caylor said.

Three trucks were on the scene, two from Oxford and one from Lake Orion. Caylor said the house was "pretty well gutted," but could be repaired.

"There was a lot of smoke hindering us so we had to use the fans," he added.

★ ★ ★

The Stones have lived in the one-story home for about three years. The house was fully insured.

WEDDING GIFTS

In addition to the furniture and rooms destroyed, Mrs. Stone said numerous wedding gifts that had never been used were lost. They were stored in the attic.

No one was injured in the fire.

Caylor said the fire apparently started from the blowtorch being used by Stone. However, the owner said he was not certain of the cause.

Five Hold Up Troy Store, Take $270

TROY—Five men, one dressed like a woman and brandishing a 22-caliber pistol, stole $270 from the Maple Party Store last night after forcing the owner to lie on the floor.

George Beamish told Troy police that the quintet walked into his store about 11:30 p.m. He said a man wearing a wig did the talking while the four others took the money out of the cash register.

Beamish called police after the men drove away.

★ ★ ★

Police believe that the robbery was staged by the same persons who held up an Avon Township market Monday night.

★ ★ ★

At that time, three bandits, one of them dressed like a woman, robbed the Brookland Market, 1744 Auburn, of $170.

S. Lyon Gets Sewer Grant

SOUTH LYON — The Community Facilities Administration has awarded South Lyon a $64,000 grant for construction of storm sewers.

The grant will be matched by the city through issuance of general obligation bonds.

The storm sewers are to be located in the western portion of the city. The principal streets they will serve are Hagadorn, Washington, Lake and West.

In Utica Case

Officer Faces Arrest

UTICA — Police here have a subpoena ready for patrolman Frederick Holloway, who was suspended after refusing to take a lie detector test on the disappearance of $3,000.

Chief Hazen Anderson and the City Council agreed to suspend Holloway when he wouldn't take a polygraph test after almost two months of pleading with him.

The money was missing after Holloway accompanied Attillo Zanni, manager of the Utica A&P Store, to the bank on Oct. 21 to pick up seven bags of bills and silver, totaling $4,800.

★ ★ ★

Zanni made two trips from the police car into the bank, bringing out a load of moneybags each time. When he arrived back at the store some $3,000 was gone.

ANONYMOUS CALL

Five days later, police received an anonymous phone call from a woman who said the money was in a brown paper bag in a culvert behind the store.

Police found the bag, but Holloway still refused to take the test.

He has been missing since he was suspended a week ago. Anderson said no charges have been filed against Holloway, whom he described as a "good, average policeman."

★ ★ ★

However a subpoena is waiting for the former officer to appear in court today as the arresting officer in another case. Anderson said he really didn't expect Holloway to appear for the court case.

FATHER OF FOUR

The suspended officer is the father of four children. He has been with the department for the past four years.

Anderson said Holloway refused to take the test because he thought "his badge was his merit of honor."

Trade Moderately Active

Mart Prices Lower Irregularly

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market headed irregularly lower early this afternoon in moderately active trading.

The market's recent drive to new highs appeared to have run out of gas and profit taking held sway.

Losses of key stocks went mainly from fractions to a point except for some of the high flyers which lost more.

Aside from technical reasons for the retreat—a mild one—Wall Street also had reason for caution in the mixed nature of some economic news. These included November declines in housing starts and factory orders for durable goods, plus a rise in personal income to a record rate in the same month.

Motors, airlines chemicals, electronics and tobaccos were among the losers. Rails and utilities remained steady on balance.

Oils, mail order-retails, building materials and electrical equipments were mixed. Rubbers edged higher.

AVERAGE UNCHANGED

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was unchanged at 286.8 with industrials off .5, rails up .1 and utilities up .3.

Both of these averages closed at record highs yesterday, even though more stocks fell than rose in the over-all list.

★ ★ ★

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were mixed in moderately active trading. Syntex fell more than 3. Losses of a point or so were taken by Aerojet-General and Aqua-Chem. Among fractional losers were TWA warrants, Seeburg, Universal Controls and Apache Corp.

★ ★ ★

Corporate bonds were irregular. U. S. Government bonds produced a few small gains.

Did Ricochet Kill Kennedy?

New Theory Offered by Ballistics Expert

WASHINGTON (AP) — The bullet that killed President John F. Kennedy may have ricocheted off a part of the president's automobile before striking him on the back of the head, an expert on wound ballistics said today.

★ ★ ★

This presents still another possible odd twist to the unfolding medical story of the tragic event.

Or, said Dr. James Beyer—reiterating a theory he advanced the day after the assassination—the assassin may have used soft-nosed, incompletely jacketed hunting-type bullets in an effort to produce maximum size wounds.

NOT CONNECTED

Beyer, a pathologist at an Arlington, Va., hospital who formerly was with the Army surgeon general's office, is not connected with the Kennedy case.

★ ★ ★

He said in an interview that these possibilities concerning the course or character of the fatal bullet appear to offer about the only satisfactory explanation for the extent of the president's lethal wound as described by Dallas doctors who attended him minutes after the Nov. 22 shooting — and by a reliable source familiar with findings of a still-unannounced autopsy report.

★ ★ ★

The autopsy was performed at the Naval Hospital, Bethesda, Md., the night of Kennedy's death, but hospital authorities and the White house have not made the report public.

A source familiar with the autopsy said Wednesday night that the president was struck by two bullets, the first hitting him in the back and the second—and fatal one—in the back of the head. The first bullet, the source said, may have first glanced off some part of the presidential limousine since its penetration was not deep.

STILL SURPRISED

Said Beyer: "I'm still surprised at the reported size of the head wound if a normal, completely jacketed, military-type bullet was used—and if it did not strike some object, such as a portion of the president's limousine before hitting the president's head."

Soybeans Up Limit on Bullish Report

CHICAGO (AP)—A very bullish government report drove all old crop soybean futures up the limit of 10 cents a bushel for a single day at the opening of the board of trade today. They held firmly at those peaks through the first hour of transactions.

Most soybean meal deliveries advanced $5 a ton, and soybean oil also was strong. All grains moved well ahead.

PRICE RANGE

At the end of the first hour, soybeans were 6¾ to 10 cents a bushel higher, with only the November delivery still short of the limit, January $2.83¾; wheat ½ to 1⅝ higher, December $2.17¾; corn ⅛ to 1 cent higher, December $1.19¼; oats ⅛ to ½ higher, December 69¼; rye 1¼ to 2 cents higher, December $1.48½.

Bigger Payrolls Help Fill Street With Shoppers

DAWSON

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK — If you find the stores jammed this week and downtown sidewalks unusually crowded, you can seek the reason in government statistics:

—There are 1.5 million more persons on payrolls this year than last.

—Factory workers' weekly earnings are at a record $101.09 and average hourly pay is at a record $2.49, or 8 cents more than a year ago.

★ ★ ★

—Overtime in manufacturing plants averaged three hours a week at latest count, and in the auto industry it was 6.4 hours.

—Profits of manufacturing firms are climbing to more than 10 per cent above last year.

RECORD SALES

All of this forms the background for the record December sales which the nation's stores seem sure to set.

And with the shopper flush, but still bargain conscious, the store aisles are crowded both days and evenings. Merchants have plenty of competition — downtown stores with suburban shopping centers, department stores with discount stores—and most newspapers are filled with promotional advertising.

★ ★ ★

Larger payrolls in factories tell only a part of the story.

The big gain in employment this November over last, the Labor Department reports, was in the service industries, up 77 per cent from 1962, and now accounting for 34 per cent of all payroll employment.

JOB NUMBERS

Nonfarm jobs now number 58,304,000. Manufacturing employment is now 17,241,000 of that, for a gain of 218,000 over last year. So, for all of the higher wage scales, longer work weeks and more overtime in factories, the big increase in spending money can be traced to others than the producers of goods.

Wholesale and retail trade jobs increased by 320,000 over a year ago—and that figure was before the traditional swelling of store payrolls in December.

★ ★ ★

Government employes now number 9,811,600, with all of the 335,000 gain this year in the state and local units. Transportation and public utilities now employ 32,000 more than a year ago.

Other service industries increased by 190,000.

DIVIDENDS UP

Many saw their incomes increase this fall from other than payroll sources. Dividend payments are running well ahead of a year ago, thanks largely to a marked increase in corporate profits. Outlays from pension and other funds and from interest on savings also are fattening the shoppers' purses.

Capital gains, including the rise in stock prices, also are traditionally good targets for the merchants in the final month of any year — and this one is better than average that way.

★ ★ ★

A rise in corporate profits loosens shareholders' purse strings even before dividends are increased.

Government statisticians figure that about 80 per cent of the population is sharing to some extent in the increase in Income this year from one source or another. The other 20 per cent is still the nation's stickiest problem.

But the more fortunate ones are crowding store aisles and the sidewalks between stores.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q) "I have recently inherited a one-half interest in the following: 100 shares of Anaconda Copper; 130 Consolidated Edison; 200 Central Gas & Electric; 158 Commercial Solvents; 100 Curtis-Wright Class A; 327 Martin-Marietta; 208 Republic Steel; 450 Standard Brands; 370 Stokely-Van Camp; 1,272 Warner Lambert. I have thought of selling the Curtis-Wright; Republic Steel; Commercial Solvents; and Stokely; and buying Sears, Roebuck; Long Island Lighting; Maytag; and Avon. My objective is growth. Would you approve?" W. P. M.

A) If you make the proposed changes, you will greatly enhance your growth position.

I would also think seriously of switching Anaconda into Procter & Gamble and your Martin-Marietta into General Electric.

Your half interest in Warner Lambert appears disproportionate, and I would switch part of this holding into Consolidated Foods.

You are also a little heavy in Standard Brands, but since this is a well-managed and strongly growing food situation, I would retain your holdings.

★ ★ ★

Q) "I am 25 years old, married, have $8,000 in a savings account. I bought Allis-Chalmers at 32 and Bethlehem Steel at 42. Should I hold these stocks or switch them into Borden and Corn Products?' F. L.

A) With 40 years ahead of you before retirement, I believe that your sole objective should be strong and steady growth.

Allis-Chalmers, a heavy industry stock, has been trending downhill in earnings, dividends, and price for the past decade. I see no future in this situation.

Bethlehem Steel is a strong company in a cyclical industry where little growth can be anticipated.

I would certainly switch these issues into Borden and Corn Products, two of the best food producers, which have shown consistent growth for many years.

Soviets Block Africa Students

Seal Ghana Embassy With Militia, Trucks

MOSCOW (UPI) — About 50 fur-hatted Soviet militia today sealed off the Ghanaian Embassy where a group of students had tried to force their way in. Several Africans were pushed back into the snow.

Shortly before 1 p.m. (5 a.m. EST), the militia's trucks had closed off both ends of the snow-covered street leading to the embassy.

A militia loudspeaker car warned Soviet citizens and all others in the area to move on.

★ ★ ★

A high-ranking officer also blocked the way to newsmen.

HAD INSTRUCTIONS

He said he had instructions from Ghana Ambassador John Elliott to let no one pass.

★ ★ ★

The embassy was cordoned off shortly after a group of 30 Ghanaian students tried to enter.

They said they wanted information on the death of fellow Ghanian student Edmund Asare-Addo, whose body was found frozen in the snow alongside a railroad track north of Moscow last Thursday.

★ ★ ★

An estimated 400 African students marched into Red Square yesterday with banners charging Soviet maltreatment of Africans in the U.S.S.R.

Students in the crowd said they feared Asare-Addo was the victim of foul play.

SOVIET CLAIM

The Soviets claim the 29-year-old Ghanian medical student froze to death while in a state of intoxication after returning from Kenya independence celebrations in Moscow.

The Soviet news agency Tass, in a foreign broadcast, today quoted the Moscow prosecutor's official as saying "There is no reason to believe that his (the student's) death was caused by violence."

An official at the prosecutor's office repeated a number of details of the preliminary investigation.

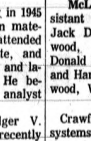

★ ★ ★

Tass said no signs of any struggle were detected around the body. The student's document case and overcoat were lying not far away, Tass said.

4 Promotions Revealed by Bank in City

Four top-level promotions at Community National Bank were announced today by A. C. Girard, president and chairman of the board.

Gordon M. McLeod, 2997 Old Orchard, Waterford Township, has been advanced to vice president and cashier. A CNB employe 28 years, he has held posts as assistant cashier, auditor, comptroller and cashier.

McLEOD

Named assistant vice presidents were Jack D. Craword, 3502 Lakewood, Waterford Township; Donald D. Taylor, 1260 Maures; and Harold J. Owen, 2796 Lakewood, Waterford Township.

★ ★ ★

Crawford was promoted from systems manager and will continue in charge of the bank's electronic data processing.

Taylor, formerly assistant cashier, will continue in charge of the accounting department.

★ ★ ★

Owen, manager of the bank's Huron office, was assistant cashier.

Business Notes

Newly named as supervisor of labor relations for the Fisher Body Pontiac plant is Allen L. Rososky, 3125 Shawnee, Waterford Township.

He joined Fisher Body in 1945 as an hourly employe in materials handling, later attended General Motors Institute, and held posts as a foreman and labor standards analyst. He became a labor relations analyst in 1958.

Rososky succeeds Alger V. Conner, who was recently named plant director of industrial relations.

Stephen J. Tompkins, 4645 Pickering, Bloomfield Township, has been appointed director of Dodge Truck Operations for Dodge Division of Chrysler Corp.

TOMPKINS

Tompkins will head all marketing, advertising, sales promotion and product planning activities and continue his duties as chief engineer.

He joined Chrysler in 1939 as a field service engineer after receiving a master's degree from the Chrysler Institute of Engineering.

Tompkins advanced through a series of supervisory posts, becoming chief engineer and director of truck product planning for Dodge in 1958.

Irenee Du Pont Is Dead at 86

Industrialist Headed World's Largest Firm

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — Irenee du Pont, last of the three brothers who led the Du Pont Company from a small explosives manufacturing concern to the position of the world's largest diversified firm, died here today.

He was 86 and had been ill for some time.

Du Pont, who made $2 a week on his first job, was president of the Du Pont empire for seven years, 1919-1926. Upon his retirement he became vice chairman of the board, a position he held until 1940.

★ ★ ★

He served as a member of the finance committee until 1946.

RETIRED FROM BOARD

He severed formal connection with the firm in May, 1959, when he retired from the board of directors to be succeeded by his son, Irenee Jr.

But he maintained active interest, visiting his office daily as long as health permitted.

Born Dec. 21, 1876 near Wilmington, du Pont always said he based his industrial success on three principles (1) It's nice to be friendly with competitors, (2) A business fails when it doesn't make money, (3) Sometimes a man has to swear at his colleagues to drive home a point.

Du Pont had a strong formative role in the growth of the billion-dollar-a-year firm founded by his great-grandfather in 1802.

★ ★ ★

As president he led the company into major areas of diversification, directed its reorganization into the decentralized lines under which it now operates.

★ ★ ★

The seventh Du Pont to head the business, he was the second of the three brothers who in succession were presidents. Pierre S. du Pont, the eldest, died in 1954. Lamont du Pont, the youngest, died in 1952.

TO A TEE—It's easy to fit a gift to the interest of an avid sportsman. A golfer will welcome a dozen golf balls in a Christmas box that doubles as a jewelry box by Spalding; a fisherman will enjoy a new general-purpose spin-casting reel by Garcia; and a bowler will appreciate his own ball, bag and shoes by AMF.

Easy to Buy Sportsman's Gift

When it comes to the world of sports, almost every man is a "boy at heart," and today the expression of this avid interest (irrespective of age) is by no means confined to the grandstand, TV screen or sports pages of the newspapers.

More and more men of all ages are actively engaged in more and more sports, which can range all the way from a leisurely game of quoits to a strenuous set of tennis or a fast slalom down a ski slope.

This is all to the good from the standpoint of Christmas gift shopping for men, because if a man is a sportsman of any denomination, choosing a gift to please him becomes comparatively easy.

★ ★ ★

For instance, take the golfer. Golf bags and carts, club-head "mittens," umbrellas, golf shoes, shorts and jackets are just a few of the gift suggestions that come to mind.

And put this down for sure: every golfer can always use boxes of his favorite brand of golf balls.

FOR TENNIS

For tennis players, there are cans of tennis balls, racquet presses, white tennis sweaters, shorts and shoes, club bags for their garb and gear.

Fishing devotees go for the new fiber glass rods. Other useful gifts are spinning reels, creels, waders, bait boxes, fishing line, dry flies and new lures. There's always something new popping up in the realm of the angler!

Hunters prize such gifts as new rifles and shotguns, telescopic sights, camping equipment, hunting togs and boxes of ammunition.

For the bowler, there are bowling shoes and shirts and a bag to carry his shoes and ball. And the ball, itself!

The skier welcomes such items as boots, sweaters, jackets, goggles or caps, geared to this popular sport.

FASTEST GROWING

Today's fastest growing sport is boating, and if your man has a yen in this direction, you translate it into action via your gift of an outboard motor.

Or, if he already has a motorized boat, you can find your gifting cue in such accessories as a compass, life-preserver cushions, chartholders, a marine radio and a host of other nautical aids.

4 City Youths Get Jail Term

Assault, Drunk Cases Result in Sentences

Two Pontiac youths were sentenced yesterday to one year in the Oakland County jail for aggravated assault, while two others were given 90 days for being drunk and disorderly.

The long terms were given to Dennis C. Hyde, 18, of 172 Hurondale and Harold Gilbert, 22, of 504 East Blvd., by Municipal Court Judge Cecil McCallum.

The pair was charged with breaking the nose of another youth during a fight at a drive-in restaurant Oct. 16.

★ ★ ★

A similar charge was dismissed against Ronald F. Krieger, 19, of 7781 Maceday Lake, Waterford Township.

DRUNK CHARGE

Krieger and Robert J. Parker, 20, of 326 N. Saginaw were found guilty, however, of being drunk and disorderly at another time — Dec. 6.

They, along with Hyde and two others, were arrested by Pontiac police following a Dec. 6 attack on two teenagers. The charge of drunk and disorderly against Hyde was dropped because he was convicted of the more serious offense earlier.

Two others, Ronnie P. Kester, 17, of 89 Oakhill and Jay T. Seres, 19, of 870 Farnsworth were charged with felonious assault in the attack on the two youths with a beer bottle. They are awaiting trial in Circuit Court.

★ ★ ★

Hyde and John Thurman, 17 of 60 N. Shirley, are awaiting sentence in Circuit Court after being convicted earlier this week of assault with intent to rape a 43-year-old Detroit woman.

HAPPY TIME — Some could not see, and others not stand or reach, but 52 handicapped children met Santa at the Pontiac Lions Club annual Christmas party yesterday. They were feted with food, music and song, and each went happily home with a gift. Busily telling Lions member Howard Wideman what she hopes to find under the tree next Wednesday is Cindy Bolt, 7, of 41 Poplar, an orthopedic student in Pontiac schools.

Solons Can't Alter State Worker Wage

LANSING (AP) — Legislators can't change the pay scale contained in the State Civil Service Commission recommendation for a $6.5-million wage increase for state workers, experts agreed today.

Lawmakers can only reject or reduce the wage hikes recommended by the commission.

★ ★ ★

Spokesmen for two unions demanding higher pay for low bracket workers had planned to flood the mails and put pressure on their senators and represent tives to change the order.

They might as well save the ink and postage, advises Rep. Joseph Gillis, D-Detroit, an expert in the house of representatives on constitutional law.

'STUCK TO IT'

"That's the way the constitution reads and we are stuck with it," said Gillis.

The constitutional provision says, in brief:

★ ★ ★

"The legislature may, by a two thirds vote...reject or reduce increases in rates of compensation authorized by the commission. Any reduction ordered by the legislature shall apply uniformly to all classes of employes."

The experts saw no provision in the constitution enabling lawmakers to change the pay scale, as in upping the two per cent increase allowed the lowest-paid workers in state institution

LITTLE TO DO

Sen. William Ford, D-Taylor, a former delegate to the Constitutional Convention, agreed there was not much the legislature could do.

"The Democrats at the convention objected to this provision," said Ford.

It would be possible, Ford said for the legislature to completely reject the pay raise proposal.

"We could tell the commissio in effect, that there would be no approval unless there were better pay rates for the people protesting. Meanwhile, this would hold up the entire pay raise and wouldn't seem a very sensible thing to do."

PLEAD FOR HIKE

The state employes union paraded a dozen witnesses before the commission. Charwomen, men who wash and diaper senile mental patients and the institute plumber who has the job of replacing plumbing torn out by violent mental patients pleaded for a pay hike.

"We realize the dedicated service they give," said Commissioner Sarah Robinson of Detroit spokesman for the commission in its rejection of more pay for low level workers.

"It seemed for a time," she said, "that a two per cent increase was not in keeping with the rates paid in other public jurisdictions, we're second from the top. Under these circumstances, we feel that two per cent is justified."

State Women Struck by Bus

CHARLEVOIX (AP) — Two women were hospitalized today with skull fractures and other injuries suffered when struck by a Greyhound bus in the Antrim County village of Atwood.

★ ★ ★

Injured Wednesday night while walking to their car were Norma DeYoung, 18, of Charlevoix, and Mrs. Edwin Drenth, 20, of Ellsworth.

Bus driver Henry Keeter, 58, of Muskegon, told police he swung out to pass a car and saw the two women walking. Dunson said snow was falling and the road was slippery.

★ ★ ★

Police said the bus swerved to avoid striking the pair but bounced off their parked car and into the walkers.

Man Settles for Part of Large Jury Award

A White Lake Township man who won what Oakland County Circuit Court officials said was the largest damage award here in their memory has agreed to settle for less than half the jury's judgment.

Attorneys for Robert H. Hickey, 24, of 9245 Half Acre, who won a jury verdict of $85,000 for loss of an eye after a police station fight, yesterday agreed to accept a $45,000 payment from the City of Ferndale and one of its policemen.

Hickey won the award in October at the conclusion of an eight-day trial in his $150,000 suit against Ferndale and Patrolman Patrick T. Sullivan, 29.

★ ★ ★

Yesterday's settlement came as a motion for a new trial by Ferndale was pending before Circuit Court Judge William J. Beer.

PLANNED APPEAL

Attorneys for the city had planned to appeal to the State Supreme Court if the motion were denied.

Hickey claimed Sullivan beat him without provocation and failed to provide medical treatment. The officer said Hickey attacked him while under arrest for drunk and reckless driving Nov. 4, 1961.

Before the jury's verdict, Judge Beer ruled that Ferndale could not escape liability for the policeman's actions on the ground of governmental immunity.

★ ★ ★

The Ferndale City Council must approve the settlement before it becomes final. Its next meeting is set for Jan. 6.

Gets Contract for OU Dorm

A Ferndale firm was the low bidder yesterday to be the general contractor for Oakland University's fourth dormitory.

Alfred A. Smith, Inc., of Ferndale received the general contract over seven other bidders with a bid of $449,000, Robert W. Swanson, director of business affairs, said.

The total cost of the new dormitory, scheduled for completion by Sept. 1, 1964, was bid at $798,511.

★ ★ ★

The general contractor will subcontract the difference between his bid of $449,000 and the total cost. Twenty-six bids were received on the subcontracts.

START TOMORROW

Construction is slated to begin tomorrow on the six-story dormitory, which will be paid for out of student fees.

Meathe, Kissler & Associates of Grosse Pointe are the architects for the project.

Gen. Taylor in Pakistan to Patch Ties

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, arrived in Karachi today to try to improve strained Pakistan-U.S. relations.

Taylor, who has just completed three days of talks with Indian officials, confers Friday with Pakistan's president, Mohammed Ayub Khan. He had appointments with Foreign Office and Defense Ministry officials today.

★ ★ ★

Taylor's jet plane made a detour across the western Himalayas on the flight from New Delhi to Karachi so he could see the mountain terrain where Indian and Communist Chinese troops confront each other.

Pakistan has expressed anger and concern at U.S. military aid to India after the Red Chinese border attack on India last year. Taylor hopes to ease Pakistanai fears about the Indian arms buildup and to prevent a further drift by Pakistan toward Red China.

Club Sale to Aid Salvation Army

More than 60 members of the Exchange Club will be standing on street corners of downtown Pontiac ringing the familiar bells and selling the Salvation Army magazine, "The War Cry" tomorrow evening.

Members will also be selling at Pontiac Mall and Tel-Huron Shopping Centers from 7 to 9 p.m.

"We hope to raise $1,500," Lt. Gary Crowell of the Salvation Army said.

Proceeds of the War Cry sale and money contributed through Salvation Army kettles furnish the Army with the only source of income for its Christmas program of providing baskets for needy families.

Tennis Monopoly Possible for U. S.

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP)—Should the Americans recapture the Davis Cup from the Australians next week as expected they may set up a monopoly reminiscent of the Bill Tilden days in the early 1920s and the Jack Kramer era just after World War II.

The two top U.S. aces, Chuck McKinley, 23, and Dennis Ralston, 22, emphasized that they have no immediate pro plans and expect to be playing in amateur ranks for the next several years.

★ ★ ★

"The pros made me an unsatisfactory offer and I rejected it," said Wimbledon champion McKinley. "I do not expect any reopening of negotiations and I am not sure that I want to play pro tennis at all."

Ralston, newest sensation of American tennis, said flatly he is not interested in a pro career.

Negro Singer Robeson to Retire Upon Return

LONDON (AP)—Paul Robeson's agent announced today the American Negro singer has decided to retire from the stage after he returns to the United States.

Gym Program Off Saturday

The Waterford Township Recreation Department's gym and crafts program at Crary Junior High School will not be held Saturday.

Gym and crafts activities will be held as usual, however, at the two other sites, the Community Activities, Inc., building and Donelson Elementary School.

All three sites will be closed the following Saturday, Dec. 28. The Saturday program will resume at all three locations Jan. 4.

Staff Pays Honor to Dan T. Murphy

Dan T. Murphy Jr., 344 W. Iroquois, former county clerk-register, was honored at a party Tuesday by 60 members of his old staff.

★ ★ ★

Murphy will assume duties as chairman of the board of auditors Jan. 1.

Also honored at the buffet dinner at Alpine Lodge was Mrs. Florence J. Allen (Lynn D.) who is retiring after 5½ years as deputy county clerk.

Colony Cites Increase in Chinese Refugees

LISBON, Portugal (AP)—The number of refugees entering Macao from Communist China has increased sharply in the past few weeks, Portuguese news reports said today.

Dispatches from the Portuguese possession on the mouth of the River Canton said 15 junks sailed into the harbor last weekend, unloading "close to 65 men women and children" who had fled the Communist mainland.

Treasures Found in Iran Ruins

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)— A treasure hoard of exquisite jewelry and more than 200 pieces of gold charms and ornaments, has been discovered at Pasargade, near the windswept ruins of an ancient palace.

The treasure may have belonged to a court lady who lived in the age when Cyrus the Great founded the Persian Empire, hundreds of years before Christ.

She is thought to have hidden her jewelry in a water jug near the garden pavilian of Cyrus' residential palace as she was hurrying out of court in a flutter.

★ ★ ★

This was the theory put forward today by David Stronach, director of the British Institute of Persian Studies, and leader of the British team that made the discovery just as they were winding up their third year of work at the site.

Stronach dated the treasure at about 522 B.C., during the Achaemenian Age. It includes a pair of solid gold ibex-headed bracelets, similar to the gold bracelets from the Oxus treasure found in South Russia and now in the British museum.

Major items include three pairs of magnificent gold earrings — one pair made of tiny gold pendants that shimmer and tremble with the slightest vibration so that when worn they give a dazzling effect.

★ ★ ★

Also discovered were hundreds of gold beads and minute gold charms, the kind that might be worn today on a charm bracelet.

Mansion Razed; Pair Flees Fire in Mount Clemens

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP)—A fire destroyed the Dr. Clayton Stubbs "White Hall" mansion, a Mount Clemens showplace, today.

Stubbs and his wife, leaving behind jewelry and other valables, fled the blaze in their pajamas in 10-degree temperatures.

★ ★ ★

Approximately 100 firemen from half a dozen communities and Selfridge Air Force Base fought a furious blaze which ripped from the basement up and out the roof of the three-story home.

Traffic through the city on Gratiot Avenue, U.S. 25, had to be rerouted.

Stubbs estimated the loss at about $250,000, including art collections.

Accent for Room Decor

Why Not Gold, Blue as Holiday Color?

If you're tired of trimming your home in the traditional Christmas red and green, try gold and blue.

One interior decorator suggests that if your home is decorated mainly in cool colors (blues, greens, mauves), gold will add a sparkle of sophistication.

And for a warm room (done in reds, yellows, oranges, browns) decorations in a vibrant, clear blue will enhance it.

★ ★ ★

For either the tiny apartment, or the home with large, spacious rooms, use decorations on the bold side. But not too many.

FOCAL POINT

And you'll draw the most attention if you save the focal point of the room, like a fireplace mantel or wall behind a sofa, for your most dramatic efforts. Put smaller bits of tinsel and greenery in less important spots.

Don't forget that no matter how small your entry hall or foyer, this area is the first to greet the guest's eye. If space is limited, hang your decorations from the ceiling.

Ordinary houseplants will add a festive touch, if you drape tinsel or icicles from the stems of larger varieties or wrap foil around the pots of smaller plants.

★ ★ ★

But if you're tradition bound, you'll probably incorporate a poinsettia plant somewhere in your trimming.

DIFFERENT PLANT

Today's poinsettia is far different from the plant which Dr. Joel R. Poinsett brought back to his home in South Carolina in 1834 from Mexico where he was serving as U.S. Ambassador.

Natural varieties were then small, with dumpy blossoms and ragged stalks. The plants' present velvet-like beauty has been brought about by breeding the best hybrids.

Poinsettias didn't begin to gain acceptance here as a holiday plant until the early 1900s. But by the 1930s, demand had grown so much that leftover plants were hoarded because stock plants weren't obtainable.

To care for your poinsettia so it will last the longest (three to four weeks in the average home), keep it away from temperature extremes, like cold window panes and hot radiators.

LIKE WARMTH

The plants do best with warmth and humidity. Use warm water when watering it from the surface.

Ever wonder how the poinsettia became identified with Christmas?

There is an old Mexican legend which tells of a poor child who went to church on Christmas Eve feeling sad because he could not afford a gift for the Holy Child.

★ ★ ★

The tale goes that he knelt outside the church and assured God of his great desire to offer the Child a gift. When he arose he saw at his feet a green plant with blinding red blooms, and he joyfully broke off some of the branches of this poinsettia, entered the church and placed his offering at the feet of the Christ Child.

Slaves' Son Will Be 107

LA FORGE, Mo. (AP) — William Edwards says Christmas 1963 will be his 107th.

Edwards, whose parents were slaves, had five children, four still living. They vouch that he hunts regularly for squirrels, rabbits and raccoons, takes an occasional drink; attends church regularly; and picked 220 pounds of cotton in less than seven hours this fall.

State Road Toll 1,745

EAST LANSING (AP) — Traffic accidents have killed 1,745 persons in Michigan so far this year, provisional figures compiled by state police showed today. The death toll at this date last year was 1,521.

Mr. Roberts, an operating engineer, died yesterday after an illness of six months.

Surviving are his wife, Lila; two daughters, Joyce of Brighton and Mrs. Dina Mihelich of Walled Lake; two sons, Forest of Garden City and Michael of Belleville; a brother; and two grandchildren.

At 9:00 a.m. on December 23, 1963, a 1962 Pontiac Convt., Serial No. 362D6945, will be sold at public sale at 1970 E. Nine Mile Rd., Ferndale, Michigan, that address being where the vehicle is stored and may be inspected.
December 18 and 19, 1963

PITIFUL PEARL — The heart-rending doll version of the ragamuffin (left) is back in toyland with a patched cotton dress, a glamour wardrobe and a booklet telling how to perform the rags-to-riches trick. Charmin' Chatty (center) is the doll that plays with YOU. She comes with hundred of recorded phrases. And for the junior engineer, the cub set of heavy gauge steel can be used to design a variety of vehicles —from sports car to pickup truck.

Children's Toys Growing Up

NEW YORK — (NEA) — The jolly little elf with the long white beard must have boned up on science and engineering to turn out this year's crop of toys.

Santa's bumper toy pack encompasses not only the new frontiers of science, but also industrial design trends and the latest in consumer convenience products in miniature.

There are monorail construction kits, an operating digital computer, new approaches to moon rocketry and the latest army engineering equipment for efficient earth moving.

A significant trend is the widening span of age interest, with more science toys and games, for example, beamed at enthusing the kindergarten crowd and hobby kits designed to interest teen-agers.

STRATEGY GAMES

Games this yuletide offer a variety of themes. Strategy lovers now collect games keyed to replay of historic battles, ranging from Dogfight, a lively new competition cued to World War I air conflicts, to Stratego, keyed to Napoleonic times.

A new game, based on the Broadway hit, "How to Succeed In Business Without Really Trying," offers a Horatio Alger touch. Players struggle to rise from window washer to chairman of the board.

Dolls approximate human behavior more closely than ever before.

★ ★ ★

Sure to evoke astonishment will be the latest version of the roly-poly baby doll, a cherub who squirms and wriggles as she sucks her bottle with uncanny realism.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE

Foreign languages get representation in a travel-oriented doll kit. Records spark the doll's conversation in six different languages and she has costumes suited for each country, reports Mel Freud, president of Toy Guidance Council.

More boy dolls are in evidence and there is stepped-up stress on family doll units, with teen-age children and younger offspring represented as well as parents.

Fashion's sportive look is reflected in the crop of glamour dolls who are proud owners of turtle neck bulky sweaters, espouse the layered look and own wardrobes of boots.

New thrills in transportation include a Cub Set which permits junior engineers to custom design a series of smartly styled vehicles with interchangeable parts, from a station wagon to a racer and a utility truck.

Another surprise in vehicles is a car that runs by solar engery.

The play world of 1963 is burgeoning with new household appliances, too. There's even an automatic can opener for the well-equipped toy kitchen.

Look at the Long Gift List

She's Not So Hard to Please

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Multiply $165 by 190-million people. The sum total should mean across-the-board happiness for Christmas '63.

Of those involved in the gift-giving triangle, the businessman may be the jolliest once all the presents are rescued from the crumpled ribbons and wrappings on the living room floor.

Frankly, many men believe nothing makes a woman happy.

★ ★ ★

To hear them talk, any man who buys the perfect gift yuletide after yuletide is too perfect to be mingling freely with society.

CAN BE FUN

With a little thought, though, holiday giving and receiving can be fun.

The surveys a guy reads at this time of year may vary, but they prove the old adage that a woman does change her mind.

So, heave a sigh. Mink does not top her "most wanted" list this year.

★ ★ ★

Instead she would like such shoppable reminders of your affection as a dress, a watch or a ring.

NO MONEY

What she really doesn't want is money. This gift she considers crass, casual, cool and careless.

Many men, one survey reveals, feel shy in the lingerie department although their gals vote more often for these gifts than they do for JFK.

If this is you, try the more antiseptic environs of the housewares or household appliance departments.

★ ★ ★

Women warm to items here as ideal Christmas gifts.

In fact, they appear as "most wanted" second only to personal clothing items.

FREEZER, DRYER

Favorites include such snuggly things as a food freezer, sewing machine, air conditioner, clothes dryer and dishwasher.

And, high on the list this holiday will be the portable hair dryer.

Remember to ask about antiqued panels, decorator colors, wood chopping block tops and furniture housings for these.

Also in the home gift department are sofas, new carpeting, dining room or bedroom furniture.

Wait. Don't close your notebook.

NEW CAR NICE

She also would accept with little nagging such homey goods as a new car, tableware, television, stereo or hi-fi equipment, transistor radio and paintings or prints.

There are those with other ideas of what constitutes a suitable Christmas gift for the home.

One woman said she wanted a new set of tires, another a crate of celery and another a horse.

★ ★ ★

All in all, if you are an average guy, you'll wind up in the dog house with 65 per cent of the other wrong-guessing males.

After all, if she wants a cotton candy machine or adding machine for the home, what are you going to do?

Confusing but Happy

Greeks Have Two Christmases

ATHENS (AP) — In ancient Greece's happy, confused holiday season there are two Christmases, one on Dec. 25 and the other on New Year's Eve. And Jan. 6, Epiphany, is another holiday.

Before World War II, the traditional Yuletide exchange of gifts, for children only, was made on New Year's Eve. Only recently have adults started exchanging small tokens presents.

The gift exchange is being extended, moreover, beyond close members of the family. All this occurs now on Dec. 25.

With the influx of foreigners living in Greece since the war, new Christmas attitudes have been adopted by the Greeks. Previously the Christmas tree and decorations familiar to Americans were practically unknown.

CHRISTMAS TREES

Now Christmas trees are so common that Greek forests can't keep up with the seasonal demand, and trees have to be imported from Germany and Yugoslavia.

In the more remote villages, the "old" Christmas is celebrated, without its gay and festive aspects, on New Year's Eve.

There, Easter is still the big holiday.

★ ★ ★

In cities there is even "official" recognition of the Western celebration, with elaborate street decorations and lighting.

Athens' main shopping avenues reflect a Greek attempt to copy the holiday displays of New York and London.

Shopkeepers welcome the Yuletide season.

They do their new rush business before Dec. 25, close down for two days, and then reopen for the "second" Christmas of those not yet converted to Western ways.

★ ★ ★

As in most of the Western world, turkey is the main feature of Christmas dinner in Greece.

TURKEY MAN

The "turkey man" makes the rounds of villages and suburbs with his herd of young birds early in the fall.

The average family, more for reasons of economy than custom, buys its turkey then and fattens him up at home for the two or three months before Christmas.

Shortbreads and cakes are an integral part of the seasonal meal. They are prepared with flour, butter, sugar, eggs and flavors called "Tsourekia."

Another pastry is called "Kourabiedes" (or Lazy Soldiers).

SWEET PASTRY

And "Melomakarona," a sweeter pastry, is made like the Kourabiedes but drips with honey.

Technically, the Greek Santa Claus is St. Basil.

His "nameday" falls on Jan. 1, but songs to his praise are sung by all school children for weeks before Christmas.

Early on the morning of Dec. 24, all children, regardless of age or economic standing, go around singing carols.

The children sing in the streets, public buses, subway trains, taverns, cafes and homes, and they receive small coins plus candy and toys for their efforts.

Citation Replaced by Theater Ticket

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Motorists in suburban Florissant sometimes find the long arm of the law extending theater tickets, instead of traffic tickets.

The theater tickets are part of a new driving courtesy program of the Florissant Police Department.

The local Junior Chamber of Commerce developed the idea.

When a policeman stops a well-mannered driver, he issues him two tickets to a local theater.

The courtesy citation is canceled by the theater and returned to the driver as a souvenir.

New Name; Horses Gone

HONOLULU (AP) — With nary a horse left in its venerable stables, Honolulu Construction & Draying Company Ltd., streamlined its title and came up to date.

The old Honolulu firm now, in fact, has one of the shortest names in the yellow pages — HC&D.

A top company official, pointing out that the company hasn't used a drayhorse for years, said the company name was changed because "draying is archaic."

Traverse City Grant

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Community Facilities Administration announced Wednesday a public works grant of $500,000 for Traverse City, Mich. The money will help pay for a $1.5 million water facilities construction project.

Gleason's Christmas Tree Once Grew in Brooklyn

BY EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Jackie Gleason, taping his Christmas show, said, "I remember Christmas in Brooklyn vividly. That was the day we used the dining room" . . . Victor Borge's going into personal management to help people who haven't had his opportunity. First beneficiary: Viennese mimic Lotta Goslar who's been seen in NY once: in an off Broadway show that lasted only one night.

WILSON

Mickey Alpert nominated Sam Chapman for the Goldwyn Award for saying, "Want a ride to the football game? There's an empty car right there that's only got five people in it." . . . Herb Shriner told about the time the fire house in his home town caught fire and one fireman was a hero. He rushed right in and rescued the deck of cards.

* * *

One world-famous woman movie star is sick here: seeing doctors about her shrinking weight. . . . Kevin McCann, ex-speech writer for Dwight Eisenhower, and president of Defiance College, is considering opposing Robert A. Taft Jr. for the U.S. Senate nomination in Ohio. . . . Burl Ives is going to the Duke Clinic for the rice diet that slimmed Buddy Hackett down to Bud Hackett.

Beautiful Virginia Lyon, London's Deb of the Year in '59, great-great-great-granddaughter of Jenny Lind, who calls herself "Dum-Dum" though she isn't, is here studying voice with Sue Seton and drama with Wynn Handman, while pushing off the wolves.

Tony Webster's album, "Marriage Counselor," is performed —and written—by a guy who, as you might expect, has been divorced (twice). In one dialogue, the marriage counselor asks "What's your problem?" The wife says to her irate husband, "You tell him, hon'." Marriage Counselor: "There's hope for your marriage if you call him 'hon'." Wife: "That's his name. Attila the Hun."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Editor & Publisher caught this goof in America's biggest circulation daily: "She made the statement as she received the Woman of the Rear Award." . . . Once a pun a time (Jan. 5-12) Gagwriters Workshop celebrates Save the Pun Week. Dr. Louis Satler, Brooklyn College, thinks he has the worst pun, about an entomological specialist: "He can see boll weevil, hear boll weevil and speak boll weevil." . . . Fashion writers say decolletage this year is at its lowest yet. One gal was so low-cut an observer cracked: "Isn't she wearing a very high belt?" . . . "The straighter the drink, the crookeder the walk" (H. E. Martz, San Jose, Cal.) . . . Doris Lilly's book "How to Make Love in 5 Languages" will be broken up into "Chap 1, Chap 2, Chap 3, etc."

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "Maybe a man does love his wife as much as he does his dog, but you never heard of him whistling around the neighborhood half the night trying to get her to come home." Taylorville (Ill.) Taylorvillian.

Peking Chief Says Kennedy Line Still On

CAIRO (UPI) — Communist Chinese Premier Chou En-lai was quoted today as saying the international situation remains the same after the assassination of President Kennedy as before.

Chou scheduled his third and final session of talks with U.A.R. President Gamal Abdel Nasser today following a tour of the Egyptian pyramids.

The newspaper Al-Gomhouria quoted Chou as saying, "There is no difference in the (international) situation before and after Kennedy's assassination because the forces directing capitalistic policy remain the same, whether in monopolies or oil companies or others.

* * *

"There is no difference between President Johnson and the late President Kennedy, particularly since the new president increased American military appropriations beyond the level existing in the days of the late president."

NEW EFFORTS

Political observers said the results of Chou's talks with Nasser will be released Saturday in a joint communique. They said the communique might disclose new efforts on China's part to seek a peaceful settlement of its border dispute with India.

The Communist Chinese premier plans to fly to Algeria Saturday at the close of his week-long visit to the U.A.R., first stop on a two-month goodwill tour of Africa.

Nasser, one of the leaders of the nonaligned bloc, recently appealed for a new effort to end the feud between China and India which led to intense fighting in border areas last year.

The U.A.R. state newspaper Al Ahram quoted an official Chinese source this week as saying Chou was prepared to meet Indian Premier Jawaharlal Nehru in Peking or New Delhi without preconditions.

The Chou-Nasser communique was expected to reaffirm their agreement on the importance of strengthening Afro-Asian solidarity by aiding emerging African countries.

Latin Alliance Award Goes to Mrs. Kennedy

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The president of the San Antonio Mexican Chamber of Commerce, Perry Salinas, said Wednesday that Mrs. John F. Kennedy will receive the chamber's third John F. Kennedy Alliance for Progress Award.

Mrs. Kennedy's diligence in promoting good will and understanding between the United States and Latin American countries was cited by Salinas as the reason for giving her the award, which she will receive early next year.

'Lolita,' Actor Francher Get Marriage License

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) —Actress Sue Lyon, who starred as the nymphet "Lolita," and actor Hampton Fancher III took out a marriage license Wednesday.

Miss Lyon, 17, and Fancher, 25, said they will marry on Sunday at the West Los Angeles home of Dorothy Jeakins, film costume designer.

COOL SUGGESTION—Quality sherbet glasses along with favorite recipes add a personal touch to a holiday gift presentation.

Man Held in Death of Thief Pal

LANSING (AP) — Charles Hoffman of Lansing, charged with the falling out among thieves murder of ex-convict Marion Bodo, was ordered Wednesday to face Circuit Court arraignment on Jan. 3.

Municipal Court Judge Earl McDonald said at the examination: "I'm satisfied that the crime of first-degree murder was committed and that the respondent did it."

* * *

Police said Hoffman has admitted the rifle shooting of Bodo. Hoffman led police to Bodo's body, found partially buried, three weeks after the shooting.

First indication of a killing came when a car was found abandoned near a corn field north of Lansing with a bullet-shattered window and blood on the seat.

ADMITS SHOOTING

Police say Hoffman has admitted he shot Bodo three times with a single-shot rifle to climax an argument about their theft loot. His wife then dumped the rifle in the river and it has been since recovered, police say.

The pair was charged with numerous car robberies in the Lansing, Grand Rapids and Jackson areas.

* * *

Hoffman was ordered held without bond.

A court-appointed attorney, Delmer Smith, said he would try to establish grounds for a self-defense plea.

Lansing police detective Lt. Mack Seagraves testified that Hoffman told him he was afraid of Bodo and that Bodo previously had hit him with a tire iron during an argument.

'Negro Revolt Will Continue'

King Praises Role Played by Kennedy

KALAMAZOO (UPI) — Negro leader Dr. Martin Luther King predicted last night the pace of the Negro revolt would be maintained despite President Kennedy's death.

King, president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference in Atlanta, Ga., said, "Sometimes in history, a man does more in death than he ever does in life. It may well be that in his (Kennedy's) case."

He said Kennedy "did more for the cause of civil rights than any other president," but added, "I have no doubt that President Johnson plans to use all his resources in securing civil rights legislation."

* * *

King spoke to 1,200 persons at Western Michigan University. His topic was "social justice," in contrast with the case Mississippi Gov. Ross Barnett presented for "segregation in the South" here last September.

SOUTHERN LEADER

Referring to Johnson's Texas heritage, King said, "Now the South can no longer say the nation's leader does not know what it is like."

The integrationist leader said, "A wind of change is blowing all over the world and the old order is being swept away, bringing a new order.

"The old order begins to take on a new look with the Negro's reevaluation of himself," he stated.

* * *

"We must all learn to live together as brothers or perish together as fools," King said.

Senate Blocks Aid Bill Cut

Chrysler Disclosure Brings New Tax-Privilege Study

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Finance Committee yesterday directed a new study of the stock option tax privilege in the wake of disclosures of large stock option gains by Chrysler Corp. executives.

Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., long a critic of stock option plans, asked for the study, which is to be made both by treasury and congressional staff experts with a report early next year.

Gore said the privilege should have been removed from the law long ago "and now, with Chrysler's help, perhaps we can accomplish it."

A Chrysler stockholders' meeting in Detroit Tuesday was told that president Lynn A. Townsend and other executives had bought large amounts of stock and had sold or given away substantial portions of their purchases.

Under the stock option plan, executives are given the right to buy a specified number of shares of stock at 95 per cent of the market price on the day the option is granted.

★ ★ ★

They have up to 10 years to make the purchase. If the price rises and the option is exercised, the official can hold the stock six months, sell it and pay only at capital gains rates on the profits. These rates are half of the normal tax up to a 25 per cent ceiling; normal rates could rise to 91 per cent for high-salaried executives.

GIVES INCENTIVE

Defenders of the plan insist that it gives a proper incentive to executives to perform well for their company.

Gore contends that such profits are compensations, not capital gains, and should be taxed at the regular income rates.

He told reporters the Chrysler case is "a clear example of how insiders receive, at their own initiation, large income on which they do not pay normal tax if any at all."

Muskegon Digging Out After Storm

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP)—Muskegon—buried under nearly three feet of snow—shoveled and plowed its way through a dying Midwest storm today.

The Lake Michigan port city expected another one to three inches of snow today. This would bring its total accumulation to as much as 37 inches and set more weather records for December.

"Every time it snows now, we set a new record for the month" a Weather Bureau official said. Yesterday, the snow squalls and near-blizzard conditions broke five records.

★ ★ ★

Cold and snow continued to invade most of the eastern half of the nation in a pattern that has held true for nearly a week.

SNOW DUMPED

The storm that blew in off Lake Michigan and dumped snow on Muskegon at the rate of one inch an hour Tuesday night and early yesterday was part of a late fall storm centered over Southwestern Ontario.

It brought midwinter temperatures and snow to most of the Midwest.

The snowstorm toppled Muskegon's 1962 month of December record of 54.2 inches. The total so far this month is 69.4 inches.

The Weather Bureau measured 15.7 inches in the 24 hours ending at 7 p.m. Wednesday and a record 17.9 inches in the 24 hours ending 12 hours earlier.

One heart attack death was attributed to the snow in South Haven, where a resident was stricken while shoveling. Detroit, which got only two inches of snow, recorded three shoveling deaths.

The huge mass of cold air covering northern sections of the nation invaded much of the Southeast, dropping temperatures to near zero in some areas and to freezing along parts of the Gulf Coast from Northern Florida westward to South Central Texas.

Personal Diplomacy Eyed in LBJ-Russia Dealings

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson evidently has decided to make full use of personal diplomacy to carry out his announced policy of seeking improved relations with the Soviet Union and an eventual end to the cold war.

This raises the possibility of an active period in U.S.-Soviet relations next year, although at the moment officials say no plan for negotiation or meetings been developed.

The means of personal diplomacy open to the new President include periodic exchange of messages with Soviet Premier Khrushchev, public statements by Johnson specifically designed to influence the course of policies East and West and a meeting with Khrushchev.

The President yesterday kept the way open for a meeting in a brief news conference statement that also had diplomatic implications in relation to the administration's developing view of the cold war and its interest in the struggle between the Soviet Union and Red China.

EARLY MEETING

Johnson was asked what he thought about the prospects for an early meeting with Khrushchev.

A negative response might have been construed in Moscow and Peking as a rebuff to the Soviet premier by the new U.S. chief executive.

He, therefore, took a positive line, saying: "I am ready and willing to meet with any of the world leaders at any time there is any indication a meeting would be fruitful and productive. When there are such indications, I will be glad to make a decision and inform you of it."

★ ★ ★

From other sources, it is known that, like the late President John F. Kennedy, Johnson is favorably disposed to carry on a private correspondence with Khrushchev whenever he thinks it is useful.

DEALT POSITIVELY

Secretary of State Dean Rusk also dealt positively with the idea of a summit meeting in a broadcast interview released last night by the State Department.

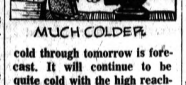

Rusk said that "the fate of the world does relate very definitely to the sense of responsibility of the President of the United States and the chairman of the Soviet Union, as heads of the two greatest nuclear powers."

In the interview, recorded for television last week, Rusk said he thought that Johnson and Khrushchev would want to keep contacts open through diplomacy and "whatever means are suitable."

Rejects Plan to Slash Funds Given to Allies

Morse Amendment Asked Halt to Money for Border Countries

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate, cautioned by President Johnson against further cuts in funds "needed for our own security and well-being," turned back today an attempt to slash $80 million from a $3,299,500,000 foreign aid money bill.

It rejected an amendment by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., to cut supporting economic assistance for defense pact allies from $380 million to the $300 million previously voted by the House.

These are the funds used to bolster the economies of nations on the borders of the Sino-Soviet bloc to enable them to maintain larger military forces than their own resources would support.

Morse contended "Hundreds of millions of dollars" are being wasted on such assistance to Formosa, South Korea and other countries. He said the military forces of most of them could be "licked with ten boy scout troops" and their real defenses rest with U.S. military troops.

★ ★ ★

But Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., floor manager for the bill, argued that the funds enable countries on the periphery of communism to provide soldiers, who, should the program be eliminated, would have to be replaced by Americans.

"If there is waste," Pastore said, "let's cut it out. But, in heaven's name, let's stop throwing out the baby with the wash."

ASKED HALT

He called for a halt to "cliches, generalities and platitudes" in efforts to cut the bill, and said the appropriations committee had explored the item fully.

Sen. Frank Lausche, D-Ohio, joined in opposing the cut, arguing it would be the worst place to reduce the bill. Lausche defended the valor of the Nationalist Chinese soldiers on Formosa.

The Morse amendment was the first to come up as the Senate reached the showdown stage on the badly battered bill.

The assistant Senate Democratic leader, Hubert H. Humphrey, said that with the President's prestige "on the line," he felt there are sufficient votes to reject a series of amendments aimed at reducing the $3,299,500,000 measure to the $2,610,700,000 voted by the House.

Legislature Ordered to Stay on the Job

LANSING (AP)—Under threat of being called into another special session after Christmas, a legislature torn by partisan wrangling was ordered today to continue its work on implementation of the new constitution.

Gov. George Romney and legislative leaders agreed on an emergency plan to keep going at least one more day on a list of issues vital to the new document.

Technically, the bills died at midnight when both chambers adjourned—the House at the end of its bitterest day of political battling of the entire year.

But in a post-midnight meeting in his office, an angry Romney told Republican leaders and Democratic Lt. Gov. T. John Lesinski he would call another session between Christmas and New Year's Day unless they found a way to keep the bills alive.

"This legislation is far too important to the future of this state to have it sacrificed as a result of parliamentary maneuvering," said the governor.

★ ★ ★

The basic problem lay in the fact that the two chambers had not agreed to adjourn the same way.

COMPLICATED MOVES

House Republicans, using their voting edge in almost brutally effective fashion, rammed through a series of complicated parliamentary moves that sustained the session until Dec. 24, with work to continue on the revived bills.

But the Senate, adhering to previous plans, called a halt to all action on bills at the midnight deadline for final passage and intended only to return for formal adjournment Dec. 24.

Lesinski and GOP Senate leaders disagreed with House Speaker Allison Green, R-Kingston, and his aides on whether the session could continue.

In their meeting with Romney, they finally consented to

Death Faced by State Bills

Constitution Additions of Local Interest

"Unless something miraculous happens, that bill is dead," said Sen. Farrell E. Roberts, R-Oakland County, this morning.

He was referring to a measure establishing a new state appellate court. But a moment later, he applied the same appraisal to the fate of three other controversial bills that Oakland County has been watching closely.

Legislative leaders, prodded by Gov. George Romney, sought frantically today to keep the special session going despite confusion and dispute over the apparent lapse of its deadline last night.

★ ★ ★

If they fail, nearly 20 important measures implementing sections of the new state constitution would be dead.

STATUS OF FOUR

Here is the status of the four having special interest locally:

• County officer terms: The Senate yesterday amended a routine election bill to extend the terms until 1966.

The House, which last week rejected that idea, refused to concur in the amendment. It would be thrashed out in a joint Senate - House conference committee if the session continues, otherwise be lost.

• Appointed judges' terms: The Senate amended the bill to put back in the term extension until 1966 which the House earlier deleted. The House did not get to it again yesterday. It could also go to a conference committee if the session is kept alive.

★ ★ ★

• Incumbency designation for appointed judges: The House

Hare Making Progress After Heart Attack

LANSING (UPI)—Secretary of State James M. Hare, 53, was reported to be "making satisfactory progress" in Sparrow Hospital today after suffering a mild heart attack late yesterday.

Hare, a Democrat, has been secretary of state since 1954. The doctors report termed the attack "a mild coronary occlusion" and indicated Hare "experienced a good night."

Hare was born in 1910 in Racine, Wis., and got his bachelors degree from Wayne State University and a masters' from the University of Michigan before completing his doctoral work at the Lawrence Institute of Technology.

Enjoy Last Days

Just Relax, Shopper!

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

Now that there are only four shopping days left before the big Christmas Day celebration, how's your state of mind? Still have a million things to do, more presents to buy and rooms to decorate?

The best way to do it is to slow down and enjoy what's left of the time before the big event. Stop a moment and listen to the soft background Christmas music that is floating through the stores and out over shopping center parking lots.

It's always fun to get a bargain, and right now there are price mark-downs in almost every store in the area.

One downtown store has reduced a doll from $25 to $8.88. This includes a complete playwear kit in a hatbox.

Another store has reduced a plastic laboratory set from $7.95 to $1.29. And so it goes.

★ ★ ★

With so many toys operating by batteries this year, why not purchase a battery charger for about $6. The Goulton charger cannot overcharge, the company claims.

CANDY DISHES

For the green-thumber, flowerpot covers made of straw in brilliant colors have been imported from Italy. Practical little breadbaskets of the same type and color straw are also available.

Moscow Ghana Embassy Sealed Off From Students

MOSCOW (UPI) — About 50 fur-hatted Soviet militia today sealed off the Ghanaian Embassy where a group of students had tried to force their way in. Several Africans were pushed back into the snow.

Shortly before 1 p.m. (5 a.m. EST), the militia's trucks had closed off both ends of the snow - covered street leading to the embassy.

A militia loudspeaker car warned Soviet citizens and all others in the area to move on.

★ ★ ★

A high-ranking officer also blocked the way to newsmen.

HAD INSTRUCTIONS

He said he had instructions from Ghana Ambassador John Elliott to let no one pass.

The embassy was cordoned off shortly after a group of 30 Ghanaian students tried to enter.

They said they wanted information on the death of fellow Ghanian student Edmund Asare-Addo, whose body was found frozen in the snow alongside a railroad track north of Moscow last Thursday.

★ ★ ★

An estimated 400 African students marched into Red Square yesterday with banners charging Soviet maltreatment of Africans in the U.S.S.R.

Students in the crowd said they feared Asare-Addo was the victim of foul play.

SOVIET CLAIM

The Soviets claim the 29-year-old Ghanian medical student froze to death while in a state of intoxication after returning from Kenya independence celebrations in Moscow.

The Soviet news agency Tass, in a foreign broadcast, today quoted the Moscow prosecutor's official as saying "There is no reason to believe that his (the student's) death was caused by violence."

An official at the prosecutor's office repeated a number of details of the preliminary investigation.

★ ★ ★

Tass said no signs of any struggle were detected around the body. The student's document case and overcoat were lying not far away, Tass said.

Pentagon Eyes Naval Yard Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon has launched a broad study of shipyard requirements that almost certainly will lead to the closing of some of the 11 major Navy owned yards.

The Pentagon announcement Wednesday night of the study order by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara came in the turbulent wake of his announcement last week that 26 military bases and facilities in this country would be shut down or curtailed in operation.

★ ★ ★

The Pentagon statement said that at the direction of McNamara, Secretary of the Navy Paul H. Nitze has set up a board composed of representatives of both McNamara's office and the Navy Department "to undertake a comprehensive study of the nation's shipyard capacity and requirements."

Five subjects were listed for the study, but the Pentagon said the survey need not be limited to them. The first item was "an analysis of present capacity of shipyards, both public and private, for the construction, overhaul, conversion and repair of all types of vessels."

OTHER ANALYSIS

Others included analysis of workloads at yards estimated for the next five years, the impact of strategic and mobilization considerations on locations of shipyards and major bases and a study of yard operating costs.

One small yard at San Diego already has been tabbed for closing. It is among the 26 installations listed by McNamara last Thursday.

★ ★ ★

There had been speculation that some big government yards —among them those at Philadelphia, San Francisco and Boston —would be included in that list. They were not, and McNamara sidestepped questions about intentions regarding the three yards.

NATIONAL WEATHER — Scattered snow flurries are forecast tonight for the northern Appalachians, the lower Great Lakes region and parts of the northern and central Plateau region. Occasional rain and drizzle is forecast for the northern and central Pacific Coast region. It will continue cold over the eastern half of the nation while a warming trend is expected over the nation's midsection. Seasonably cool weather will continue over the western third of the nation.

Community National Bank's Main Office Addition Will Be Modern

Community National

Bank Plans to Expand

Community National Bank today described plans for a $350,000 modernization and expansion of its main office at 30 N. Saginaw.

A. C. Girard, bank president and chairman of the board, said 6,000 square feet of space will be added with the current remodeling of a former two-story commercial building north of the present bank headquarters.

Construction began in November.

"We believe that a revitalized downtown is not far off and our expansion program will allow us to serve our growth of customers in a more efficient and convenient manner, Girard said.

WALLS TO GO

Walls between the bank and a former women's apparel shop will be removed, he explained, and allow for new executive offices, four new teller stations and officer's desks.

★ ★ ★

The commercial loan department will also be relocated there.

The addition to the bank's front will be faced with matching limestone, and feature a 20-foot sculptured Indian design which has become Community National's trademark.

The interior will be functional, but contain wall-to-wall carpeting, customer-styled furnishings and a vivid color scheme.

★ ★ ★

The existing main office will be partially redesigned and provide new customer desks and improved work area. A customer lounge and reception area will take the space now occupied by the new account department.

SIX MONTHS

Girard said construction will be completed within six months.

★ ★ ★

Final contracts have been signed with Bank Building and Equipment Corp. of America. The firm will manage the project, utilizing local labor and material supplies, Girard said.

★ ★ ★

The expansion is the second major addition to CNB's downtown location in recent years. A four story annex at 15 E. Lawrence was completed in 1960.

Civil Service to Staff State Branch Offices

Secretary of State branch offices in Pontiac and eight other major Michigan cities will be staffed and managed by salaried civil service personnel next July 1.

The State Civil Service Commission told Secretary of State James M. Hare yesterday that he must stop operating his major branch offices on a fee, or commission, basis after the present fiscal year.

Willis M. Brewer, manager of the Pontiac branch, said the move will probably move him out of the managerial post automatically.

★ ★ ★

"I'd be over the age limit to qualify for a civil service job," he said.

MUST PASS

It would also mean that present employes at the local branch would have to pass civil service examinations or they'd be out of jobs.

Under the fee system, office managers are responsible for providing their own personnel, office space and supplies. The manager, in turn, receives a fee from the state.

"Normally, I have three full-time employes, but I hire as many as eight during rush periods," Brewer said.

Brewer said that in his opinion it will cost the state more to operate under civil service. "For example, when someone is sick, there will have to be a replacement handy that qualifies under civil service, or a larger staff to handle the load.

'LARGEST'

"I believe we're the largest branch in the state in terms of volume of work."

Brewer is a Pontiac real estate man.

Other offices affected are those in Detroit, Flint, Grand Rapids, Saginaw, Bay City, Muskegon, Kalamazoo and Lansing.

★ ★ ★

The commission said it found that "the operation of fee branch offices in populous areas which could support a full-time state office is a violation of the civil service provision of the constitution . . . which requires that all such positions in the state service be filled on the merit system basis."

The commission said smaller, part-time offices should be left on a fee basis.

Fire Takes Art Worth $300,000

DETROIT (AP)—An estimated $300,000 in art works — including $150,000 in works by Pablo Picasso — was destroyed by fire in a downtown art gallery last night.

Estimates of damage to the furniture store that housed the gallery totaled $250,000.

Also destroyed were Picasso engravings, lithographs and ceramics.

★ ★ ★

Apparently the only works to escape destruction were bronzes of Seff Widl.

OTHER WORKS

Other works destroyed were paintings by a Canadian artist, Riopelle, and his teacher, Borduas. Part of a Canadian art show, they were crated and ready for shipment.

Paintings by Irma Cavat, who is married to a Detroit man and lives in Rome, were destroyed—along with works by Michigan artists.

The collection included 400 art works, Arwin, gallery owner, said. He said at least 90 per cent of the collection was damaged.

The cause of the fire has not been determined, Fire Chief Glen Thom said.

Time Running Out for Critical Bills

failed to act on the Senate-approved bill. But the Senate amended a House measure to give it to appointed as well as elected judges and the House concurred.

BILL UNCLEAR

Legislators originally thought the House bill applied to city judges only, but State Rep. Henry M. Hogan, R-Bloomfield Hills, says they now think it also covers Circuit Court judges.

Roberts is not sure.

● Appellate Court: The House amended the Senate's bill to change three 3-judge districts into nine single-judge districts despite arguments that the single-judge districts would be unconstitutional.

The Senate rejected the amendment and this also would go to a conference committee if the session continues.

Japanese Barge Sinks After Hitting Freighter

NAGOYA, Japan (AP) — The British freighter Diomed and a Japanese barge collided outside this central-western Japanese Port today. Maritime officials said the Japanese barge, Aki Maru, 52 tons, sank shortly after the collision, but all seven crew members were rescued.

★ ★ ★

There were no reports of injuries among the crew of the 7,984-ton British freighter, which proceeded to Osaka. She suffered no serious damage, officials said.

Solons Told to Stay on Job

the issuance of orders for all lawmakers to be present at 10 a.m. today.

'AGAINST RULES'

The emergency order resolved a disagreement in which Green and House leaders insisted Lesinski had not been within the rules in adjourning the Senate for more than three days without a special resolution.

The lieutenant governor, however, contended that the order — signed by the two top GOP leaders of both chambers — was "the only way to continue the session legally."

Without it, he said, bills approved might not be able to withstand court challenges.

★ ★ ★

The emergency order was signed by Green, speaker pro tem Wilfred Bassett, R-Jackson, Senate president John Smeekens, R-Coldwater and GOP majority leader Stanley Thayer, R-Ann Arbor.

IN LIMBO

When the gavel fell in each chamber at midnight, a number of key bills were still in a limbo of House-Senate dispute, among them the State Appeals Court and Civil Rights Commission measures.

The House, voting along strict party lines after a two-hour debate, approved a GOP-backed amendment that would divide the court into nine single-judge districts.

But the Senate voted 20-1 against concurring in the amendment and made clear its determination to support the plan for three districts with three judges each.

★ ★ ★

The House erupted into confusion several times during debate on the appeals court bill, Democrats accusing Green of ignoring the rules and refusing to recognize their demands to be heard.

Death Takes Former Exec

Was Vice President of Massey-Ferguson

Herman G. Klemm, former Massey-Ferguson, Ltd., vice president, died yesterday in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor.

Service will be 10 a.m. tomorrow at the Vasu-Lynch Funeral Home, Royal Oak. Burial will follow in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery, Troy.

Mr. Klemm, 64, of 30329 Bristol, Bloomfield Township, retired in 1961 as vice president of engineering and a member of the board of directors of Massey-Ferguson.

★ ★ ★

A native of Steinreinach, Germany, Mr. Klemm immigrated to the United States in 1924. From 1927 to 1943 he was employed by the Glenn L. Martin Aircraft Co.

COMPANY MERGED

He joined Harry Ferguson, Inc., of Detroit in 1947. When the company merged with Massey-Harris in 1953, Mr. Klemm became vice president of engineering.

Mr. Klemm was a member of the Society of Automotive Engineers, American Ordnance Association, Engineering Society of Detroit, other technical groups and the Detroit Athletic Club.

Surviving are his wife, Elsie; a daughter, Mrs. Morgan Davis of Orchard Lake; and two sisters in Germany.

Bloomfield Board Views Zoning Effect on Schools

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The possible effects of altered zoning restrictions on the Bloomfield Hills School District are being pondered by the board of education.

The board has scheduled a special meeting for Jan. 8 to hear a report from a Michigan State University survey team which has studied the district's anticipated growth pattern.

The meeting will be a week before a public hearing on a proposed new zoning ordinance for Bloomfield Hills.

School board members plan to attend the hearing and want to hold a joint meeting with the Bloomfield Hills Planning Commission.

The reexamination of school needs by the survey team follows by only three years its original study. However, the district is increasing by almost 500 students annually.

The board is considering altering the school district from fourth to third class.

The change in classification would require a special district-wide election.

The family and friends of the late art patron and collector, Mrs. William J. (Eleanor Edy-the) Poplack, 511 Lake Park, Birmingham, have established a memorial fund in her honor.

Income from the fund, to be called the Eleanor E. Poplack Memorial Scholarship Fund, will be used to enable qualifying students to attend Detroit Institute of Arts workshops.

Officials of neighborhood art centers and public schools will help select recipients of the scholarships.

Mrs. Poplack's collection of paintings has been seen in museums throughout the United States and Canada.

Recently Mrs. Poplack was active in the Archives of American Art, and was chairman of their first fund drive. She also served as a member on the Docent Committee of the Founders Society, Detroit Institute of Arts.

Bases Looted by Moroccans

AF Bares Pillage of Ex-U. S. Installations

WASHINGTON (AP)—Native thieves pillaged U.S. air bases in Morocco before the Air Force turned over the bases to that country, it was learned today.

* * *

The bases were picked clean of everything from latrines to electric motors. At least one Arab was electrocuted accidentally.

"These actions are rendering all facilities now closed useless to anyone," said an Air Force report from Morocco.

HANDED OVER

The report, dated Dec. 2, became available to The Associated Press today, three days after the last of a trio of bases once used by the Strategic Air Command was handed to the Moroccan government.

The United States stopped flying bombers from those bases earlier this year and the Air Force gradually cut back the number of men stationed there.

* * *

By the time the $386-million complex was evacuated by U.S. forces this month, the rear guard was down to 150 men and all the equipment the Air Force wished to keep had been shipped out.

The long list of items stolen included all wooden doors, doorlocks, windows and frames, window screens, partitions, electric panels, copper wiring, brass, copper and bronze fittings, sainless steel latrine fixtures, mirrors, wash basins.

SIDING STRIPPED

Metal siding was stripped from a maintenance building.

"Electric motors of all sizes are disappearing," the report said.

Poles carrying power lines were sawed off at the ground. Electrical and communications cable was was cut away in sections.

* * *

An Arab was electrocuted on Nov. 22 while stealing cable, the report said. A high tension line broke and fell across him.

An estimated 48-million people are added to the world's population each year, according to United Nations statistics.

Walter Gehrke

Oakland County loses a truly stalwart citizen in the death of WALTER GEHRKE. Although he was primarily a Detroit businessman, he was a resident and this area profited enormously through his activities.

★ ★ ★

GEHRKE

Along with Judge Arthur E. Moore, he was the founder and godfather of Camp Oakland and a huge number of young people owe their new ways of life to his activities. Never have two men raised as large a sum of money from hundreds of sources without an avowed campaign; and every penny goes to the advancement of those who have been facing difficulties.

★ ★ ★

Mr. GEHRKE was an exceptionally courteous, gentlemanly individual and made friends rapidly wherever he went. He started with nothing and yet his death saw him at the head of the largest Home Loan institution in this section of the Middle West. It all came through tireless, well directed energy and capabilities.

A sturdy Christian soldier who marched unceasingly forward in the ranks of those aligned with right, with decency and with the highest personal standards goes on unafraid into the Kingdom of Heaven and the eternal rewards that grace the lot of the most worthy here below.

Another Capital Figure Betrays Friends' Trust

This ROBERT G. BAKER case is back on page one.

ROBERT is the chap who was very hard put for ready answers as to how he lived on a social and economic level many, many reaches above and beyond his own governmental remuneration in Washington.

★ ★ ★

He was under fire and then deposed. However, the "investigation" made slow progress. Robert was a protege of President Lyndon B. Johnson's and no one seems to be just sure where the big boss wanted absolution to begin or end. Early rumors suggested some dubious girls were involved in the unholy mess. Will they all be dragged into the open or will they bask in some shameful anonymity? No one at any time connected Lyndon Johnson with this phase, even remotely. These escapades were purely Baker's own side ideas.

★ ★ ★

Several newspapers feel the President has a chance now to declare himself in no uncertain fashion by aligning completely on the side of a full investigation with all facts uncovered.

Hospital's Expansion – a Dream Come True

Sister MARY XAVIER, administrator of St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, and other ranking members of her order, justifiably find uplift as prolonged consideration of an addition to the institution comes to fruition.

★ ★ ★

The $3.5 - million expansion, will increase capacity by 10 per cent as well as provide new service and utility facilities. In addition, a new unit for chronic disease rehabilitation will be created.

★ ★ ★

Cost of the project was underwritten by private sources aided by a $1.5 grant under the Accelerated Public Works Act. A cosponsor of the act, Democratic Sen. PATRICK V. MCNAMARA, was principal speaker at the recent ground-breaking event.

The PRESS congratulates St. Joseph Mercy Hospital on its fine growth and the significant place it has established among the community's institutions.

You've had a lot of hard luck in your time, of course, but it is hoped you've never been bitten by a kinkajou, as were three New York policemen recently.

Long Wait Ahead for Softer China

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — President Johnson's administration, like President John F. Kennedy, is reconciled to a long wait before there can be hope of dealing with Red China in a reasonable and peaceful way.

MARLOW

The hope, such as it is, apparently is based on the idea that when the present leaders of China die out the men who take over—younger men just below the top now—will be more realistic about the world they live in.

This was the essence of a talk made a few days ago by Roger Hilsman, assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs.

It is not a new idea in history that the pioneers, in a political movement are often impelled by fanaticism to convert and dominate and that the zeal remains undiminished in their lifetime. The result is extremism.

In this revolutionary process, the early revolutionary has nothing to lose but his life, along with that of everyone else. If death doesn't stop him he may create a new order. This is what his successors inherit.

★ ★ ★

Now they have more to lose than their lives in any romantic or reckless adventure, certainly in a nuclear time like this. The realization has a sobering and conservative effect.

WERE THE PIONEERS

The Red Chinese leader, Mao Tze-tung, and the other top men still around him, all aging now, were the pioneers, the fanatics, who began the Chinese revolution back in the 1920s and never stopped until they won in 1949.

They are beginning to die out. It was on their successors that Hilsman seemed to pin his hope. He called them "the second echelon" men of today.

Of the present leaders he said: "Peking remains wedded to a fundamentalist form of communism which emphasizes violent revolution, even if it threatens the physical ruin of the civilized world. It refuses to admit there are common interests which cross ideological lines."

★ ★ ★

He said they were "wedded to outdated theories," called them disastrously naive in economics, and gave as an example the "great leap forward" in the 1950s, an effort at a massive overnight improvement which collapsed in farce.

MORE SOPHISTICATED ECHELON

He said "the more sophisticated second echelon of leadership knows that it was simple ignorance of the techniques of administering a complex economy which led to many of the mistakes of 1958."

But until there is evidence of change, Hilsman said, this country will continue its policy of "strength and firmness," which, in blunter language, means stiff-arming China.

Although real peace with the Soviet Union is in the future, the relationship with the Soviets is a lot better than it was and far better than it is with Red China.

★ ★ ★

But even the present Chinese leadership seems to be taking a more realistic view, at least about its capabilities. The Red Chinese foreign minister, Chen Yi, recently told an Australian television producer in an interview: China needs 100 years to become a modern state.

WASHINGTON—Many people are puzzled by the terms "FBI" and "Secret Service," and there is a tendency to assume that both agencies are charged with protecting the life of the President and members of his family.

LAWRENCE

Actually, this duty is imposed by law only on the Secret Service, which is a division of the Treasury Department. The Federal Bureau of Investigation, a division of the Department of Justice, has no statutory responsibilities relating to the protection of the President.

The Secret Service has only about 400 agents, and they have two primary responsibilities — protection of the President, the Vice President and their families, and the detection of counterfeiting of coins or currency.

Many statements have been made to the effect that the FBI and the Secret Service have not cooperated with each other and that hard feelings exist between the agencies. This is denounced as false by persons inside both agencies.

Thus, the chief of the Secret Service, James J. Rowley, is a former special agent of the FBI and a close personal friend of the present director, J. Edgar Hoover. Mr. Rowley also is a lecturer at the FBI National Academy, which is a training school for local law-enforcement officers.

★ ★ ★

Cooperation between the two agencies is carried on day after day in personal liaison contacts, and the unequivocal statement is made by FBI officials that if, in the course of their investigations, any information which comes within the jurisdiction of the Secret Service is developed, it is immediately transmitted to the Secret Service.

VIEW BLOCKED

During President Kennedy's administration, it was argued by some of the television cameramen that they could not get a good view of the President in a parade if he was too closely surrounded by Secret Service men.

In the Dallas motorcade, the Secret Service men were not placed around the President as closely as they have been on other occasions. But there were agents not only in the car with the President and Vice President but in other cars immediately behind each automobile, all watching the crowd for any threatening gesture.

So the all-important problem of how to protect the life of the President of the United States is not going to be solved by blaming either the FBI or the Secret Service or both.

★ ★ ★

The main dilemma relates to the policing of the high buildings along streets through which a procession might be passing.

If the Secret Service and the FBI were required to post guards in every building, or if they were obliged to investigate the record of every employe on every floor in every building along the parade route, there would not be enough personnel in either the Secret Service or the FBI or the two agencies combined to do the job. Certainly they couldn't act on four days' notice.

There does not seem at present any sure way to prevent an attack on the President's life except by insisting that he ride in a bullet-proof automobile.

Bob Considine Says:

Reinstatement by Navy Only Present Flier Wants

WASHINGTON — What do you want for Christmas?

Well, I met a young Navy pilot here the other night who had already received his present. He got it after troubles few of us could comprehend, much less survive.

CONSIDINE

Lt. Frank Ellis' Christmas present No. 1 was a letter from the Department of the Navy stating that it would be happy and honored to have him back in uniform and flying its aircraft.

Present No. 2 was Mutual of Omaha's Public Service Award.

Lt. Ellis has no legs below the knees, except a pair made of willow and another pair that he uses when he water skiis.

★ ★ ★

The Navy citation that accompanied his award of the Distinguished Flying Cross tells the story succinctly:

HEROIC ACTION

"For heroism during aerial flight on the afternoon of 11 July, 1962. Experiencing a failure of the elevator trim system of his jet aircraft while on a landing approach of Naval Air Station, Point Mugu, Cal., Lt. Ellis elected to remain with his plane long enough to avoid crashing into a housing area situated directly in his projected flight path.

"Guiding his almost uncontrollable aircraft away from this populated section, he finally ejected at an extremely low altitude, a moment before the plane crashed into an open field.

"Although sustaining serious injuries, Lt. Ellis, by his selfless and decisive action, undoubtedly prevented great loss of life and property in the housing area."

★ ★ ★

There were quiet tears now as he told of his rescue, the awakening to the fact that his right leg had been sheared off, the game fight to save the left leg, the "honorable discharge" that was surely in the mails from Washington.

MIRACULOUS RECOVERY

His rebellion was a miracle of self-rehabilitation. Against all sorts of opposition, and scant encouragement, he proved to the Navy that he could make a parachute jump on his artificial legs, get himself and his copilot out of a cockpit submerged in a test tank simulating a plane sinking after a sea landing, and that he could run through the tough Navy Frogmen's obstacle course.

Lt. Ellis has plans beyond flying in the atmosphere. He wants to be an astronaut and believes he can bring something unusual to the program.

"I'd be the only one able to leave my legs on the launching pad," he told us.

In Washington:

Suggests Attack on Poverty Woes

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Direct attack on the problems of American poverty at the source has just been proposed to the National Committee on Pockets of Poverty by Prof. John Kenneth Galbraith of Harvard.

EDSON

A former Kennedy administration braintruster and ambassador to India, economist Galbraith is also author and expert on "The Affluent Society."

He asks: "Why don't we select, beginning next year, the 100 lowest income counties in the country? In the cases of urban slums we could select more limited areas of equal population. We could designate them as 'special educational areas.'

"They would then be equipped with a truly excellent primary and secondary school plant, the best in recreational facilities and adequate transportation to work centers.

"Then, in the manner of the Peace Corps, but with ample pay, an elite body of young teachers would be assembled. They would be tough enough and proud enough to go to Harlan County or to Harlem. And in the year following we would proceed to the next most abysmal areas."

★ ★ ★

This would not be federal aid to education, Dr. Galbraith insists.

"This is an attack on poverty," he says. "Can anyone argue that youngsters with these facilities and this training would share the dismal fate of their parents?"

There are adequate precedents for this kind of action, according to Galbraith. Ten years ago when it became obvious that America's highway system was not able to carry its traffic load, the federal government stepped in with 90 per cent aid to the states for road building.

★ ★ ★

Galbraith might also have mentioned that the school lunch and pilot food stamp plans for feeding the undernourished now are accepted, routine activities of government.

One other merit of his plan is that if any community did not want to accept federal aid to clean up its own pockets of poverty, it might tackle the job alone.

★ ★ ★

This direct approach of the Galbraith plan is far different from other proposals given to the National Committee on Pockets of Poverty in a two-day Washington conference just concluded.

This committee was formed three years ago by the Farmers Educational Fund, established by the National Farmers Union under its president, James G. Patton.

For the last two years it has been conducting a survey of American poverty under the direction of Dr. Oscar Ornati of New York School of Social Research.

In brief, Dr. Ornati finds there are now about 20 million people in America who can be classed as "abject poor." They are individuals with incomes of less than $500 a year or members of families of four or more where the total income is less than $2,000 a year.

This is roughly 11 per cent of today's population of 180 million. In 1935-36, with different income levels and costs of living, there were around 34 million people or 27 per cent of the population of 126 million who could be classed relatively as "abject poor."

The Social Security system is held largely responsible for this reduction in American poverty over the last 27 years.

Previous plans for dealing with this mass of poverty have been based principally on bigger appropriations for welfare programs already proposed or in operation.

They include a bigger public works program to provide more jobs, a permanent food stamp plan, more aid for education and vocational training, youth conservation programs, health care for the aged and mentally ill, urban renewal, rural development and job training.

All of these plans do some good, but not enough.

President Johnson already has called for an all-out attack on American poverty. He told the American Public Welfare Conference in Washington that "current programs to reduce poverty in America are not nearly enough."

Voice of the People:

Southern Senator Backs Youths' Freedom Group

Young Americans for Freedom is the most responsible, effective, conservative youth group in the United States. The vital work is without a doubt the most encouraging sign on the American political scene. It has over 300 chapters and 25,000 members. The National Board of Directors set a goal of starting YAF chapters on 1,000 college and university campuses by November 1964.

The prospect of patriotic anti-Communist youth groups on 1,000 college campuses is truly an inspiring and heart-warming thought. A YAF chapter will prepare a young man or woman for the struggle ahead with liberalism, socialism and communism. In making addresses on various campuses across the country I have been impressed with the decided difference in the atmosphere where YAF chapters are in existence.

I cannot understand people who cause injury and offer no aid. Recently someone killed our pet on Baldwin near W. Chicago. The driver was in such a hurry to leave the scene that my husband couldn't catch up to him. It could have been a small child that was struck, but this person didn't intend to stop and find out.

Russian, Woman Plead Innocent to Spy Charges

NEW YORK (AP)—A Russian and his woman companion have pleaded innocent to charges of spying for Russia.

★ ★ ★

Alexander Sokolov, 44, a native of Tiflis, and a woman who posed as Joy Ann Garver Baltch were ordered held without bail. They were arraigned Wednesday in U.S. District Court in Brooklyn.

Sokolov had posed as Robert K. Baltch. The woman's true identity has not been learned.

They were arrested last July 2 in Washington and accused of attempting to send atomic and rocket information to Russia via short wave radio.

Tractor Pins Youth in Snow 10 Hours

MISSOULA, Mont. (AP)—Gerald Richard, 20, was pinned face down in 12 inches of snow with a tractor wheel on his back for 10 hours Wednesday.

★ ★ ★

Ambulance drivers who helped remove him said he suffered from exposure and was numb from the freezing temperatures and the weight of the one-ton tractor. Richard was pinned after his tractor hit a rut in the road, tipped over and rolled down a 30-foot embankment.

Art Display on Medicine at OU

A 42-print art display depicting the history of medicine will be exhibited at Oakland University Jan. 12-26.

★ ★ ★

Co-sponsored by the Oakland County Medical Society and the university, the display will feature paintings by Robert A. Thom, of Birmingham.

Thom did the series of oil paintings for Parke-Davis and Co. He currently has been commissioned by Michigan Bell Telephone Co. to do a "History of Michigan" series.

The two-week display will be highlighted Jan. 15 by a dinner meeting of the Oakland County Medical Society and its women's auxiliary.

★ ★ ★

Edgar "Bud" Guest, radio announcer-humorist, will be the speaker for the meeting. Faculty members, their wives and area physicians and their wives will attend.

The picture exhibit will be on display through Jan. 26, a society spokesman said, in order that area high school students might be able to see it.

Offering Bursts Into Splendor

Nature's star-shaped wonder — the Poinsettia — has virtually become the symbol of Christmas in the United States. The plant was brought here from Mexico over 125 years ago by Joel R. Poinsett, our first minister to that country.

★ ★ ★

Its popularity endures year after year and when you select a Poinsettia as a gift, you are giving the number one plant wired each year during the Yuletide. The story is that the Poinsettia was not originally a very beautiful flower. A Mexican child picked it as her humble offering to the Virgin and it burst into radiant bloom.

St. Nick, U.S.A.

Tiny Fir Starts Great Tradition

You have a Christmas tree, say some authorities, because of an eighth century missionary to the Scandinavians. He felled a mightly oak that had been the object of Druidic worship. It crashed to the which remained unharmed was a tiny fir.

★ ★ ★

The missionary supposedly said that the "young child" of the forest would then be the object of worship for one night only. He explained that it was the wood of peace because homes were built of it and that its greenness in the midst of winter stood for everlasting life and bade the people to take a fir into their homes and rejoice around it to commemorate the birth of the Christ Child.

Rescue Is Attempted for 120 Stuck Cattle

KENNEBEC, S.D. (AP)—Operations were under way today to rescue more than 120 head of cattle stranded in the Missouri River west of this central South Dakota community.

The cattle, reported standing chest deep in the icy stream, were isolated by rising waters of the Big Bend Reservoir. A sheet of ice lay between the animals and the shoreline, 200 yards away.

Portrait Painter Dies

NEW YORK (AP)—Margaret Foote Hawley, 83, a noted miniature-portrait painter, died Wednesday after a brief illness. Miss Foote, whose works hang in the New York Metropolitan Museum of Art and other museums, maintained studios in New York and Boston. She was born in Guilford, Conn.

Upward Drive Halted

Lower Trend on Wall Street

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market's drive to new highs seemed stymied early today as prices showed an irregularly lower trend. Trading simmered down to a moderately active pace.

Profits were taken in some recent high flyers, including Xerox and its when-issued stock which is based on a 5-for-1 split.

Xerox slipped about 8 points and its when-issued 2 points.

Chrysler remained in demand, keeping a fractional gain and its when-issued stock, based on the 2-for-1 split, was about unchanged.

LOSSERS

The late rally by steels Wednesday failed to carry through and a number of leading steelmakers showed fractional losses. Motors performed indifferently, General Motors dropping a fraction, Ford easing.

Press average of 60 stocks rose .1 to 286.8, a new high.

Tobaccos yielded some of their recently gained ground.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange. Fractional gains were made by Wednesday, the Associated Barnes Engineering, Pyle National and Molybdenum. Among losers were Universal Controls, Gulton Industries and Rayette.
