Korea's Plan for Unification Due to Draw Reds' Refusal

GENEVA (AP)—South Korea finally agreed today to elections throughout divided Korea but laid down conditions which the Communists are sure to reject.

In a speech before the 19-nation conference on Korean peace, South Korean Foreign Minister Pyun Yung-tai outlined a 14-point plan for the unification of his country and the Communist-controlled North.

Millard Gives Tax Base Ruling

Declares 67 Counties Must Assess Applying State Valuation

LANSING (AP)—Atty. Gen. Frank G. Millard today notified 67 Michigan counties that they must start next Jan. 1 to assess all their taxes on the state equalized valuation, which is almost five billion dollars higher than the county equalized tax base they now use.

Millard's opinion stunned local officials who had succeeded only a few months ago in defeating a legislative bill to make the state equalized values the tax base. This has been widely sought by public school districts to obtain more local tax income.

Actually, Millard said he made public the same ruling late in February, but it seemed to go unnoticed, until recently when county tax allocation boards began meeting.

He issued a new opinion, coordinating all previous opinions on the subject, today at the request of Edward W. Kane, secretary of the State Tax Commission. Copies were sent to all counties.

Kane said the new—and higher—tax base will not be effective until Jan. 1 except in counties where an appeal has been taken to the state from the decisions of county allocation boards.

So far, only Saginaw and Genesee counties are in this position and can be brought under the new tax base this year, Kane said. He added that others may be possible but that he had no way of knowing where allocation appeals still are possible.

The new tax base affects 67 counties, including Oakland, which have so-called fractional school districts—those that overlap from one county into the next. The 16 counties not affected include 12 in the Upper Peninsula and four in the Lower Peninsula.

Millard said that under numerous supreme court decisions these principles must be followed:

1—The Constitution requires all property in a taxing district to be assessed at the same "uniform rate;

2—If a taxing district spreads over more than one county the only method of obtaining that uniformity is to tax on the state equalized valuation.

Millard said that the 13-mill tax limitation is not reached until the tax rates allocated by the county allocation board equal 15 mills on the state equalized valuation.

47 Horses Perish at Livonia Track

Tugboats Churn Detroit River in Annual Race

DETROIT (AP)—At least 14 squat, powerful tugboats from American and Canadian ports on the Great Lakes were expected to answer the starters gun today in the fifth International Tugboat race.

The tugs will churn up the Canadian side of the Detroit River as a salute to the 100th birthday of Windsor, Ont.

The contestants will be divided into five horsepower classes for the race.

At stake is the England Trophy and this year, the Windsor Centennial Trophy.

Pontiac Detective Calls Burglaries Early Today 'Professional'

Yeggs dynamited open a two-ton safe at the Pontiac Plumbing and Heating Co., 492 S. Saginaw St., early today and opened another safe with a pickaxe at the Eastern Auto Parts Co., 382 S. Saginaw St., Pontiac Police reported.

Entering both places through rear windows, the thieves took $500 from the smaller safe and only $15 from the plumbing company's safe.

Detective Allen D. Noble said the safecrackers "apparently were professionals."

The safe's door was cleanly blown open without other damage to the building or contents. He said the muffled explosion was reported heard by a nearby resident.

The burglars also stole a German automatic pistol from a desk drawer at the auto parts company. Offices at both companies were ransacked.

Air Crash Victims in Critical Condition

A 31-year-old South Lyon pilot, whose plane crashed near New Hudson Thursday night, was reported in "very critical condition" in University Hospital at Ann Arbor today.

The pilot, Kenneth A. Burger, and his passenger, Robert L. Peach, 32 of Howell, both suffered severe fractures when Burger's two-place ship suddenly nose-dived into a swamp as it approached Knapp Airport in the dark Thursday.

The hospital reported that Burger is still unconscious, but that Peach has regained consciousness. Peach, however, is still on the critical list.

Three State Troopers witnessed the mishap and rushed to the scene of the crash. Burger was under water when they reached the smashed plane.

The troopers said the plane was about 200 feet in the air when it made a steep bank and nosed into the swamp, about 100 feet short and 300 feet to one side of the landing strip.

Township Board OK's Annexation of Court Site

City Commission to Act June 2 on Taking Over 112-Acres

The Waterford Township Board cleared the way Friday night for Pontiac to annex 112 acres of its land as a site for a new Oakland County Courthouse.

Unanimous approval was given by the five-man board at a special meeting.

Endorsement by the Pontiac City Commission is all that is needed to annex the property presently owned by the county. A vote is not required because the plot is publicly-owned.

Pontiac Mayor William W. Donaldson said today the commission is reluctant to see the courthouse and offices moved from downtown Pontiac, but the annexation probably will be approved.

"I personally can't see any reason why the city shouldn't accommodate the county in placing the proposed courthouse in its most advantageous position on the county-owned land as long as county officials have long-since made up their minds to move it to that site," he said.

The land facing annexation is east of Telegraph road and south of the Dixie Highway. It is adjacent to the County Children's Home and the County Infirmary.

Its accessibility to all residents of the county was cited today by Waterford Township Supervisor Lloyd L. Anderson, one of the voting board members.

The vote came a week after a public hearing on the proposed annexation. No opposition to the change was voiced last Friday at the Waterford Township meeting.

"We feel it (the annexation) is the best thing for the county as a whole," Anderson said. "The center will be located in virtually the geographical center of the county and the offices will be centralized instead of scattered."

Mayor Donaldson said the city probably will discuss the annexation at a June 2 special meeting previously called to eye the city's various building projects.

New Shot Put Mark Set by High Schooler

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Huge Joel Boyden, who towered head and shoulders over most of the 300 athletes competing in the Michigan High School and Field Championships, today put the shot 57 feet for a new state record.

Boyden, a 17-year-old senior from Muskegon High School, actually broke the Class A record three times. His first throw was 55 feet, 10 1/2 inches. He then threw 57 feet and tossed 54 feet 10 1/2 inches on his third try.

The former Class A state record was 54 feet, 4 1/2 inches set by Thomas Johnson of Muskegon Heights in 1948.

Stassen Blasts McCarthy for His 'False Statements'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration seemed headed today for continued conflict with Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) despite cautions from some Republican quarters against broadening the senator's dispute with top Army officials.

Foreign Aid Administrator Harold E. Stassen loosed a fresh attack on McCarthy yesterday with an assertion that "we need less headline hunters and more Eisenhower backers for the good of America."

Air Secretary Looks at Sites

Talbott Helping Group Choose for Academy; Michigan on List

CHICAGO (AP)—Harold E. Talbott, secretary of the Air Force, said today he will take a look at two or three possible sites for an Air Force Academy Sunday while he is flying back to Washington.

Talbott, who is stopping in the Chicago area on the way home from a tour of air defense facilities, declined to specify the sites.

Sen. Capehart (R-Ind) said Friday in Washington that he had been informed the number of possible sites for the academy had been winnowed down to five, including one each in Indiana, Michigan, California and Colorado.

Talbott told a newsman that Capehart is "speculating." Talbott said the commission in charge of the selection of a site "has not indicated to me" which sites it prefers.

He said the commission probably has narrowed the choices down to 12 or 10 or even a few, but he added, "I don't know."

Pickle Factory Fire Loss Set at $50,000

LAWTON (AP)—A fire caused an estimated $50,000 loss to the Budlong Pickle Co. and adjacent lumber company property early today.

The blaze destroyed the pickle plant and the cement and roofing building of the Lawton Lumber Co.

The fire burned for about two hours. There were no injuries. Firmen of Paw Paw and Lawton fought the blaze.

Floyd Spickley, an employee of one of the firms, reported seeing an explosion while he was driving to work. He said it appeared to be in the lumber company but later investigation cast doubt on this. An investigation was continuing.

Old Wood Barn Burns in Night; 4 Grooms Hurt

Hundreds of Animals Run Loose for Safety; Damage $250,000

DETROIT (INS)—Fire destroyed an ancient, tinder-dry stable at the Michigan Racing Assn. track in Livonia early today, killing 47 horses and injuring four grooms.

Forty-one thoroughbreds and five lead horses perished in the flames. Another horse, badly injured when he ran into a fence, was put to death.

The loss in horses was estimated at $200,000. Damage to property was put at $50,000.

In a matter of minutes, the fire of unknown origin raced the 250-foot length of the 60-stall barn.

Fearing that the intense flames would spread, attendants turned loose hundreds of horses in other stables, creating a garish bedlam of whinnying horses running wildly among firefighters in the brilliant light of the flames.

But there was no wind and firemen were able to keep the flames from spreading and causing an even worse disaster. The main building and grandstand were not damaged and track manager Robert Leavitt said today's race program would go on as scheduled.

The track opened the 1954 season only yesterday.

Among the most valuable thoroughbreds killed in the fire was "Foot Specialist," valued at $20,000 by his owner, Dr. Harry W. Lindy of Detroit. Dr. Lindy also lost "Just Made It," another well known runner.

Some 20 grooms were asleep in the barn when the alarm was sounded. Four of the men braved the flames in an attempt to free the screaming horses.

They are Jose Ponce, Antonio Fernandez, Jerome Winski and Victor Rodriguez. All were burned on the face and arms, and Ponce received cuts when he struggled with a door at one of the stalls.

Despite the efforts of the grooms, most of the horses died, shackled to their feed boxes, in a rain of flaming rafters. A few of the horses that could have run to safety, backed into their flaming stalls and died.

Only five of the thoroughbreds kicked their way to safety. But all five were burned and one of them may not live.

The fire was confined to the one old barn. It had been purchased from the old Detroit race track at the state fairgrounds and was reassembled when the new track was built. It was a one-story structure. The nearby barns are built of cement blocks.

State Police, Livonia Police and Livonia Fire Chief Calvin Roberts began interrogating witnesses in an effort to determine how the fire started.

Chief Roberts said that while they are not ruling out the possibility of arson, it is more likely that the fire started by a cigarette dropped carelessly in the straw at the south end of the barn.

Boy Hit by Bat Dies at Albion

Traffic, Drownings Kill Ten Others in Michigan in 24 Hour Period

Eleven persons died in Michigan in accidents in the past 24 hours. Traffic mishaps claimed eight lives; a man and a boy drowned, and a 7-year-old lad died after he was accidentally struck in the abdomen by a baseball bat.

William Lester Mulkey, of Albion, was struck with the bat during a game Friday afternoon at Wright rural school near Albion, and died a short time later.

The drowning victims were Frank Ortman, 60, of Phillipsburg, Ohio, in Benway Lake, Antrim County, and Jerry Woodman, 11, of Lansing, in a gravel pit northwest of Lansing. Ortman's boat capsized. His wife was rescued. Jerry was swimming with three other boys. His body was recovered.

Three of the traffic victims were killed in Detroit. George Chiger's car struck a viaduct support at Lafayette and Twelfth. Albert Spraggins, 55, and Franciszek Ozog were killed in a two-car head-on crash on the Edsel Ford Expressway.

Other traffic deaths include: Joseph Kejesky, 16, of Muskegon Heights, motorcycle crash near Grand Haven; William Golden, 18, two-car crash in Lansing; and Mr. and Mrs. William Qualis, 79, and 75, of South Bend, Ind. at James-town, in Ottawa County. Mrs. Elsie Shorro, 39, Stockbridge, near East Jordan.

Cloudy, High of 77 Predicted Sunday

Mostly fair weather tonight with a low of 50 to 54 is expected to precede partly cloudy and warmer weather on Sunday with a high of 73 to 77 in the Pontiac area, according to the U. S. Weather Bureau.

Friday the mercury climbed from a low of 38 to a high of 68 degrees here.

At 8 a.m. today the reading was 56, but by 2 p.m. in downtown Pontiac the mercury was 70.

500 Students to Delve Into Job Futures on BIE Day

Nearly 500 high school seniors will get a look at local job and career opportunities Tuesday in a Business - Industry-Education Day sponsored by the education committee of the Pontiac Chamber of Commerce.

About 400 students graduating in June from Pontiac High School and 50 each from St. Michael's and St. Frederick's will go behind the scenes to view future possibilities as guests of 35 firms.

The students will assemble in the Pontiac High School auditorium at 8:30 a. m. and hear a talk by Dr. Leonard Klausmeyer, chairman of the C. of C. education committee, according to Robert J. St. Clair, chamber manager.

Glenn H. Griffin, president of the Pontiac Board of Education will also speak, St. Clair said, and representatives of the various firms will be introduced.

Students then will be assigned to their regular hosts for the day. The program includes a tour of the businesses, lunch and question periods, St. Clair said.

Teachers will accompany the larger groups. Group leaders picked from among the students will lead the smaller ones, he added.

"The program will point out at first hand how the American free enterprise system functions," St. Clair said.

Bike Owners Are Urged to Buy License, Padlock as Insurance Against Theft

From Our Birmingham Bureau
BIRMINGHAM — With the seasonal increase in bicycle thefts now in high gear, Police Chief Ralph W. Moxley today urged bike owners to invest $1 in a license, which is good for the life of the bike.

When a license is purchased at the police station, a record of the registered owner is put on file, expediting return of an abandoned or a stolen bike to its proper owner.

"That's why we hold police auctions," Moxley said, "to clean out the bikes whose owners we have been unable to locate."

He also suggested purchase of a good bicycle lock "that goes through the rear forks and locks the wheel. That way, it has to be picked up and carried away."

"I feel very strongly about this," Moxley stated. "In 75 per cent of our bicycle theft cases, the person who has no license or lock has contributed to the theft by offering the temptation. It's the theft of things like bicycles that leads to worse crimes."

Moxley estimated that "about 40 per cent of our thefts under $50 would be eliminated if bike thefts could be done away with."

To illustrate the work involved in the candidates' bulletins issued by the voters service committee of the League of Women Voters before elections, the league will present a skit on the subject at Monday's 1:15 p.m. meeting at the Community House.

Manning Says Unrest Increases Obligations of Papers

This era of experimentation and world unrest has increased the moral obligation of the press, John C. Manning, Detroit Times editor, told Pontiac Exchange Club members here Friday.

Speaking at the group's weekly luncheon meeting in the Hotel Waldron, Manning said "The function of the press is to inform people fully by printing the complete news and letting the chips fall where they may."

"If it's news the people have the right to know; if the news is played down, the publication becomes derelict of duty," he said.

Manning said it is not the primary duty of the press "to act as a schoolmaster." Informing readers is the first duty. "Luxury" departments such as editorials and features are secondary, the Hearst newspaperman said.

Manning drew a brief sketch of American journalism, citing noted newspapermen as setting the pace for objective reporting in the past.

mission on which North and South Korea would have equal representation.

"A careful perusal of the Communist proposals reveals that while the Communists set a time limit to the withdrawal of foreign forces from Korea, they have carefully avoided to name a time for the elections.

"This means that the Communists seek to perpetuate the division rather than to achieve the unification of the country, if unification cannot be achieved in Communist fashion."

"It further means that the proposed All-Korean Commission will legalize the Communist infiltration and subversive activities in the free part of the country until the whole country can be taken over legally. In short, the so-called All-Korean Commission will be an overpowering, brainwashing team."

Man Struck by Car Suffering Amnesia

A 58-year-old Waterford Township man is suffering from amnesia today after he was struck by a car Friday. He is listed in fair condition at Pontiac General Hospital with a possible skull fracture, cuts and bruises.

The victim, identified as Norman G. Bentley, of 3300 Elizabeth Lake Rd., was struck by a car driven by Walton Bass, 30, of 5581 Savoy St., Waterford, as Bentley was crossing West Huron street near Elizabeth Lake road.

Waterford Township Police said Bentley stepped from between waiting cars. Bass was issued a ticket for failure to have a driver's license.

U. S. Bombers Able to Strike

Boss Gen. LeMay Sees Nations Target Ability Factor Against War

WASHINGTON (AP) — The boss of America's long-range bombing force says his planes and crews are set to strike at targets anywhere in the world.

Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, chief of the Air Force's Strategic Air Command, said yesterday "the readiness of our strategic bombers to strike back on a global scale is a considerable factor . . . in discouraging the spread of a limited war."

Gen. LeMay told the Armed Forces Chemical Assn. that his bombers can take off in any kind of weather, "fly direct to within a few hundred feet above any designated point on the globe," and "hit their target when they get there."

The administration's military policy is based on the concept of "massive retaliatory power" as a deterrent to Soviet aggression. LeMay said his command has been assigned the mission of "swift and certain retaliation" against an aggressor.

Should all-out war come again, LeMay said the strategic bombers would have the job of striking at enemy air bases and atomic installations, "destroying his striking power at its source," by systematically wrecking the foe's industrial capacity, and of trying to hold back the advance of enemy ground forces.

Federal Civil Defense Chief Val Peterson dealt in a speech with the other side of the coin — the problem of home front measures against possible atomic attack.

Peterson said military men have estimated 22 million Americans might be killed or wounded by an all-out Russian atomic, chemical and germ weapon assault. He said that from 40 to 100 of America's major cities could be struck at the outset of such an attack.

Peterson said the American people can "dig, die or get out of their cities," if such an attack should come and he urged the trial evacuation of some city like Indianapolis, Ind., or Columbus, Ohio.

Action Is Halted in Murder of 3

Chief U. S. Prosecutor Wants to Study Case of Army Officers

By RICHARD K. O'MALLEY

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — Chief U. S. Prosecutor Thomas Lancia today abruptly halted further action in the 1946 murder of three American Army officers pending "full study of the case."

Deputy Prosecutor William Canfield of Hampden, Mass., yesterday filed murder charges against former Army Capt. James M. Leech, 44, of Lima, Ohio, and said he was forwarding extradition papers to the U. S. High Commission at Bonn for action.

The charges accuse Leech of the ax-and-arson murders Jan. 7, 1946, of Maj. Everett S. Cofran of Washington, D.C., Capt. Adrian L. Wessler of New Rochelle, N.Y., and 1st Lt. Stanley M. Rosewater of Omaha, Neb.

But Lancia, of Boston, Mass., disclosed the extradition request had not been forwarded to Bonn. He said through a State Department press officer:

"This is a highly important case and I want to study all the facts before making any further statement."

He indicated nothing further would be announced until Monday, at the earliest.

Leech faces three charges of murder, three of intentional homicide and one of arson.

Extradition may take a long time. After a request is received at Bonn, legal experts would decide whether to forward it to the State Department in Washington which, in turn, would relay it to the Justice Department for recommendation.

Canfield, due to leave his post in June, said he had a "very strong circumstantial case" against Leech, former deputy to Cofran when the latter was town commander of Lassau, in Bavaria.

Canfield said Cofran had discharged Leech's German girl friend from her job as secretary and canceled an order to finance her father's business.

Dressler and Rosewater apparently were killed by mistake. They were overnight guests in the house when the murderer entered. A fourth officer, Maj. Hugh Hesson, of Lexington, Ky., was in a locked first floor room and escaped the flames.

Leech was released as a suspect in 1946, subsequently discharged from the Army and returned home. The case remained open and was turned over to High Commission courts by the Army less than a month ago. A U. S. Army spokesman at Heidelberg said today no further action had been taken by the Army "because nothing conclusive had been turned up."

Grave Marker Used to Make Corner Stone

LANSING (AP) — The Lansing Police Department's Black Maria has been in strange company for 45 years.

Workmen, tearing down the police garage in back of the city hall, removed a white corner stone on which had been chiseled "Police Patrol 1909."

But on the back of the stone were other letters which showed the corner stone was an old tombstone, apparently converted for a new purpose by a workman with a sense of humor or a sense of thrift.

The long-hidden inscription contained an etching of a Bible, the words "Josephine, Wife of George Zachariah, Sept. 15, 1882," and the phrase "Asleep With Jesus."

Born Aug. 11, 1876, in Windsor, Ont., she was the daughter of Wilson I. and Lydia I. Davenney. She came to Pontiac in 1936.

Her only survivors are five cousins, Mrs. Neva Godsell, Mrs. Hyette Buckley and Mrs. Grace Betts, all of Pontiac, Byron Rockwell, of St. Clair Shores, and Mrs. Laura Erman, of Los Angeles.

The funeral will be held Tuesday at 1 p.m. from the Voorhees-Siple Funeral Home. The Rev. Malcolm K. Burton, pastor of the First Congregational Church, will officiate and burial will be in Oak Hill Cemetery.

Thief Distracted From Pursuit, Falls Asleep

ATLANTA (AP) — Reconstructed from the evidence, here's what happened:

A burglar broke into a chemical company's offices, armed with burglary tools and some whisky. He took a drink or two and then ransacked some drawers with no results.

Another nip and he broke open a metal box. No money.

Whisky low, he built a fire from trash. Then he went into an adjoining office, built another fire, tried unsuccessfully to open a safe, finished his whisky and went to sleep.

An early-arriving employee found him asleep beside the dead fire and empty whisky bottle. He awoke, asked "Is there any place I can get a taxi around here at this time of day?" Then he walked away before the flabbergasted employee could stop him—leaving his burglary kit behind.

MRS. O. J. BEAUDETTE

Mrs. Oliver J. (Louise I.) Beaudette, 83, widow of one of Pontiac's leading industrialists, died in her home at 87 Franklin Blvd. at 8:10 p.m. Friday. She had been ill several months.

Born at Pine Grove, Tuscola County June 10, 1870, she was the daughter of Everett and Emmeline Teeples Vastbinder. She married Mr. Beaudette April 10, 1890. He died in 1944.

Mrs. Beaudette came to Pontiac as a bride, five years after her husband had taken over the King Foundry with W. F. Stewart, a Flint manufacturer.

By Mr. Beaudette's side, she shared the ups and downs of the early days of organization of the plant that grew to be one of the leading industrial plants in Pontiac, the O. J. Beaudette Co.

Mrs. Beaudette was a member of All Saints Episcopal Church. Surviving are a son, Oliver Leo of Pontiac; three grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

The body will be at Sparks-Griffin Funeral Home until 11 a.m. Monday when it will be taken to the residence for service at 2 p.m. The Rev. C. George Widdfield, her pastor, will officiate and burial will be in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery.

Bearers will include William R. Fitzgerald, Howard H. Fitzgerald, H. James Corwin, Jack and Richard Patterson and John D. Mills. In lieu of flowers, the family suggests that friends make their memorials to their favorite charitable institutions.

Editor Deplores Gangster Politics

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Basil L. Walters, executive editor of Knight Newspapers, Inc., said today that gangster politics, which caused the assassination of editor Don Mellett 28 years ago, is a greater threat to this country than in Russia.

Delivering the Don Mellett memorial address at Butler University, Walters said, "I do not want to minimize the threat of Russia, but we need fear her only if we permit cancerous gangster politics to destroy our own greatest experiment in government ever developed."

Walters emphasized the need for citizens to participate actively in local politics, saying:

"Politics will be dirty only so long as we permit it to be dirty. Instead of permitting the foul smell to drive us away, we must accept it as a challenge, something to be cleaned up."

Man Hospitalized After Auto Crash

A 23-year-old Pontiac man is listed in fair condition at Pontiac General Hospital with a broken right leg, cuts and bruises suffered Friday night when his car struck a tree on Hiller road in Bloomfield Township.

Oakland County Sheriff's deputies, who were unable to question Donald G. Ashbeck, of 4779 Lakeview St., said the victim apparently lost control and struck the tree about three feet from the roadway.

Stassen Attacks McCarthy Statement

Secretary of the Army Stevens run its course without unnecessarily fanning further the flame of party dissimilarity.

The GOP senator, regarded as one of Eisenhower's staunchest supporters, declined use of his name but told an interviewer of his counsel to White House officials.

"I just reminded them," he said, "that McCarthy is going to be a senator for four and a half years more and there will be a lot of occasions around here when we may need Republican votes."

Stassen, whose agency faces rough going in Congress on its 3½ billion dollar new foreign aid request, made clear yesterday he does not expect to find McCarthy among those voting "aye."

McCarthy and Eisenhower are at odds over a presidential order cutting off testimony about a high-level administration conference at which the Army's dealings with McCarthy and his aides were discussed.

Eisenhower issued his ban on grounds the Constitution requires separation of the executive and legislative branches of government, and he said the order was aimed at keeping the televised Senate investigation of the dispute "on its rails," not at hindering it. Stevens then said charges against McCarthy came from the Army and not higher up.

McCarthy, who has voiced the opinion that Eisenhower was acting without full knowledge of the situation, criticized the order again last night at a Chicago plane stop on his way to Wisconsin. He termed it "peculiar" because Eisenhower "wants the public to have all the facts—except those on the one meeting."

He said the Senate hearings are causing the Republican party's "slow and painful suicide before the television cameras." He refused to disclose what course he would adopt when the hearings resume Monday, however, saying he would not discuss the matter until a speech he is scheduled to make tonight before the Fort Atkinson, Wis., Chamber of Commerce.

Later, at Sturgeon Bay, Wis., McCarthy said "I will not attack Ike" at Fort Atkinson for what he termed the President's "Iron Curtain" order. But the senator said again he thought Eisenhower was acting on bad advice.

McCarthy also said if the hearings continue next week he would like to have subpoenaed for testimony five newsmen — Homer Bigart, New York Herald Tribune; columnist Joseph Alsop; Phil Potter, Baltimore Sun; and Murray Marder and Al Friendly, both of the Washington Post.

Army Counselor John G. Adams has testified he talked to these newsmen about alleged improper pressures from McCarthy's office before the Army charges became public. Adams said he gave the information to the newsmen in confidence and they did not violate his trust.

But he added that if the find is proved to be what it appears, geologists and prospectors will have millions upon millions of more acres all over the world in which to look for coal.

No attempt will be made by scientific exploration to assess the commercial possibilities of the deposit, Barrett said. He added that it was doubtful from first appearances that there was enough to make a mining operation profitable.

Eddy, himself a geologist, agreed with this observation. But he added that if the find is proved to be what it appears, geologists and prospectors will have millions upon millions of more acres all over the world in which to look for coal.

The discovery of a few chunks of coal in such old rocks threw the geological world into a turmoil. The American Geological Society has put up $2,000 for a scientific exploration this summer.

The discovery became known when L. P. Barrett of the Atomic Energy Commission, head of the crew which found the coal, asked the State Conservation Department for permission to dig. The state owns the mineral rights on the land. The federal government owns the surface rights, and the land is part of the Ottawa National Forest.

Conservation Director G. E. Eddy said the permission would be granted.

Barrett will be joined in the "exploratory digging by Dr. Stanley A. Tyler, of the University of Wisconsin, and Dr. Elso Baghorn, of Harvard University, both recognized authorities in the field.

They hope to prove beyond any doubt that the coal is the oldest ever discovered. If they do, geologists throughout the world can start looking for undreamed of coal deposits in vast areas of pre-Cambrian rock where they previously were sure no coal existed.

These rocks cover much of eastern Canada, small parts of the northeastern United States, parts of Russia and elsewhere all over the world.

Geologists looking for uranium were stunned to stumble across the coal in the re-cambrian rocks, the oldest in the world; six miles north of here.

Previously, geologists believed that no coal was formed before plant and animal life emerged from the water to take over the land more than 300 million years ago. Most of the world's known coal deposits were laid down in an age that started 80 million years ago.

But this coal, on the basis of preliminary studies, is well over 500 million years old, and unlike most other coal, was laid down in water by water-dwelling plants. Coal of this type has never been found, geologists said.

Munitions Train

GUATEMALA (U)—Guatemala said last night saboteurs blasted a rail line in an attempt to blow up a munitions train. The announcement came as the government heatedly charged the United States with spreading alarmist reports about arms arriving here from Iron Curtain countries.

Interior Minister August Charnaud MacDonald said the explosion occurred Wednesday killing a civilian and a soldier and injuring three other soldiers.

The saboteurs fought a gun battle with federal troops, he said, and then fled into the hills near the Honduran border. The arms shipment, moving to Guatemala City from Puerto Barrios on the east coast, was unharmed, he said.

(The U. S. State Department, voicing concern over increasing Red-influence in Guatemala's leftist government, notified other Latin American countries last Monday that the Swedish ship Alphen was unloading a shipment of arms from Communist Poland at Puerto Barrios. Some Washington officials estimated the value of the arms at 10 million dollars. The State Department said they were loaded at Stettin, a former German port now in Poland.)

Charnaud said he believed Guatemalan political refugees in neighboring Honduras took part in the plot.

The gang placed about 32 one-pound powder charges but only two went off.

The government did not identify the civilian victim of the blast. It was believed, however, that he was one of the plotters.

The Foreign Ministry issued a communique yesterday accusing the United States of spreading "malicious and unjustified reports about arms purchases from the Communists."

The statement denied Guatemala had received any guns made in Russia or Poland and added it was no concern of the United States if it had.

The statement said also U. S. guns were going to several governments which have an "unfriendly and aggressive" attitude toward Guatemala.

The statement declared, also, the United States had committed an "act of aggression" against Guatemala by trying to "wear down the defensive capacity of the Guatemalan army through an arms boycott."

Face Little Opposition in House

WASHINGTON (U)—President Eisenhower's program for a bigger and more liberal social security system was almost ready today for House consideration.

Members of the House Ways and Means Committee predicted their group would approve the legislation next week after a couple of finishing touches. The committee has been taking up the Eisenhower program on an item-by-item basis.

Late yesterday, the committee approved all of the President's requests for higher benefits, and in a few cases added some of its own.

It also approved—over the opposition of most committee Republicans—the President's plan to raise from $3,600 to $4,200 the maximum annual income on which benefits are based and taxes are levied.

That left only two substantial items still to be acted upon: a proposal to extend coverage to farm laborers, and a plan to give disabled workers full benefits.

The committee already had accepted Eisenhower's request to extend social security coverage to doctors, lawyers and other professionals, to farm operators, ministers, state and local government employees and various smaller groups.

If the bill becomes law, the system, now covering some 70 million workers and paying benefits to 6 million persons, would blanket almost the entire working force of the nation.

The new benefit structure would provide monthly payments to workers and their families on retirement or to their survivors. Both workers and their employers pay special taxes into a trust fund from which benefits are paid.

Although some parts of the program are controversial, little opposition to the over-all bill is expected in the House.

The new benefit structure would boost the minimum monthly payment for a single retired worker from $25 to $30, and the maximum from $85 to $98.50. The minimum for a retired worker and his wife—if she is 65 or over—would rise from $37.50 to $45; the maximum from $127.50 to $147.75.

Even bigger increases would be provided for those retiring after the new $4,200 base takes effect next year. The maximum monthly payment would be $108.50 for a single worker and $162.50 for a worker and his wife.

The new $4,200 base also would increase taxes by $12 a year for those making that much or more. Insured workers' survivors would get similar increases, with the monthly minimum for a family rising from $18.75 to $30 and the maximum from $168.75 to $200. Eisenhower had proposed a family ceiling of $190, but the committee went $10 higher.

Benefits are based on average monthly wages under the system.

Regrettable Retirement

Decision of MONROE M. OSMUN against seeking re-election to Pontiac's Board of Education is both regrettable and understandable.

People generally don't realize how much of a sacrifice community minded men like Mr. OSMUN have to make in order to serve their neighbors.

His feeling that expansion of his business makes it impossible for him to give school affairs adequate attention, amply justifies his retirement from the board.

Mr. Osmun has been more than generous in helping make Pontiac a better city and improve our schools. His service on the Board of Education which began in 1946, includes a term as president.

Besides this he has been active in the Retail Merchants Association, which he also served as president. During World War II he played an important role in the city's civil defense organization, has been treasurer of the Junior Chamber of Commerce and president of the Kiwanis Club.

We feel we can speak for the community in thanking Mr. OSMUN for his unselfish public and civic service. He has always stood for a sound and businesslike direction and handling of school affairs.

$25,000,000 Worth Saving

There is promise of good news soon for about 35,000,000 income tax payers.

A plan to exempt them from filing income returns may be enacted into law during this session of Congress. Word from the Treasury is that the plan is ready and will be submitted to the tax writing House Ways and Means Committee.

While all details haven't been revealed, it would exempt from filing returns all persons whose income doesn't exceed $5,000 a year. A further qualification is that this income must be derived from salaries or wages.

Persons affected would supply little more information than they do now. The Revenue Department would make out the returns and send them to the taxpayers for verification.

T. COLEMAN ANDREWS, Internal Revenue Commissioner, believes this plan will save the Treasury $25,000,000 a year, a sum he would like to apply to better enforcement of the tax laws.

Any plan which promises such savings certainly is worth considering. So also is Mr. ANDREWS' proposal to step up tax collection efficiency.

De Valera Loses in Eire

Even before the counting was complete, it was apparent that voters of Eire had turned thumbs down on another term as Prime Minister for EAMON DE VALERA.

He and his Fianna Fail (Men of Destiny) party failed to capture a majority of the 147 seats in Parliament. This means that the reins of power will be turned over to a coalition headed by former Prime Minister Costello.

The issues were wholly domestic. DE VALERA, now 71 and almost blind, had made one party government the central issue in the campaign. Though aware that defeat might mean the end of his public career, the Brooklyn born prime minister had declared himself unwilling to head a coalition.

The tall, gaunt "Dev" has been a leader in Irish politics ever since the bloody "Easter Rebellion" of 1916. His part in that short-lived insurrection brought him a death sentence but he was reprieved and ultimately released.

For 19 of the last 22 years he has been prime minister and long will be remembered for his unsuccessful effort to revive the difficult and almost obsolete Gaelic as Eire's official language.

Dien Bien Phu's Heroine

History will record that Dien Bien Phu not only had innumerable heroes, but a lone and glorious heroine.

She is the courageous French nurse, Lieut. GENEVIEVE DE GALARD-TERRAUBE the only woman in the garrison besieged for 57 days. On her second tour of duty the helicopter which carried her there was struck by enemy fire.

Following the news of the isolated fortress' fall, fears for her safety were felt throughout her homeland and the free world. Then came word that she was safe and agreement by her Communist captors to release her.

But freedom was farthest from Lieut. Galard-Terraube's thoughts. She wants none of it until the last of Dien Bien Phu's wounded have been evacuated.

By that decision she has added luster to the traditions established by FLORENCE NIGHTINGALE in the Crimea almost exactly 100 years ago.

"I HAVE never painted my lips, smoked a cigarette, spoken a slang word, worn a bathing suit, had a date, or kissed a man," asserts a woman evangelist. Are you bragging, sister, or complaining?

"A WHALE can travel faster than a horse," says a zoologist. Maybe so, but unless the racetrack is unusually wet, our advice would be that you bet on the horse.

The People's Business

Teamster Leader Jobs at Williams, Backs Ferguson

By JACK I. GREEN
 LANSING (AP) — Like a stocky, handsome colossus, Jimmy Hoffa, the Teamsters' Union boss, straddles both the Republican and Democratic camps in the 1954 elections.
 With one foot he appears to be trying to muddy up Gov. Williams' political strategy. With the other he reportedly is trying to hook U. S. Sen. Homer Ferguson, a Republican, to re-election.

That would be quite a combination for an ordinary man, but no one pretends that James S. Hoffa is an ordinary man. High in the councils of Teamster President Dave Beck and a little dictator to thousands of Midwest Truck drivers, Hoffa is quite capable of attempting, and possibly succeeding, in such a subtle campaign.

To politicians, there seems to be little doubt that Hoffa is working to re-elect Ferguson. This, in itself, is unusual for a labor leader because the rest of them are willing to back anyone but Ferguson.

Just why Hoffa wants to keep Ferguson's snowy locks bobbing around Capitol Hill for another six years is a major political question.

A nationally syndicated gossip columnist has spread one version of the tie-up and the politicians are accepting it as gospel.

This story says that Rep. Clare Hoffman (R-Mich) was called off his investigation of Teamsters' Union activities in Detroit by persons high in the Eisenhower administration. Hoffman himself asserted that, without naming any names.

But the story is that Hoffa is supporting Ferguson, either in gratitude or in the hope of having a friend at court if a congressional committee ever again delves into his union's business.

The story may be a complete fabrication, but Hoffa will have to do an awful lot of denying to convince politicians that he isn't in Ferguson's corner for some reason.

Crossing over to the Democratic camp, Hoffa appears to be tossing his attorney, George S. Fitzgerald of Detroit, into the race for lieutenant governor.

This, of course, is an outright challenge to Gov. Williams. The governor wants his former legal adviser, Philip A. Hart of Birmingham, to have that job.

Here, again, Hoffa's motives are cloudy. Almost alone among the leaders of organized labor, Hoffa has been sour on Williams for several years.

The best guess is that Williams hasn't done something, or everything that Hoffa wants done. And politicians know that if you deal with Jimmy you take orders.

Politicians think that Hoffa is backing a long shot in Fitzgerald. They reason thus:

If he can elect Fitzgerald, his man might be the logical person to step into party leadership when and if Williams goes on to greener pastures. Then Jimmy would have his muscular forearm right around the Democratic Party's neck.

Hoffa may be able to make trouble in Democratic ranks, although the Williams' folk don't think so. But there are lots of Democrats mad at Williams, or mad at his functionaries, and Hoffa may be able to present them with a rallying point.

Obviously, to date at least, doesn't see a chance to knock Williams off in the primary. And so far there has been no sign he is tying up with one of the Republican candidates for governor.

At this writing, then, it appears that Hoffa is seeking a strong friend in Washington through Homer Ferguson and playing for future control of the State Capitol.

Suggests State Increase Compensation or Let Aged Work When Collecting Aid

(Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests, unless the letter is critical in its nature.)

Considerable time has been spent by Gov. Williams in getting more compensation pay for the man who is idled a while and has a job to return to in the near future. However, not a word has been said about the old fellow who is drawing a miserable $25 a month, social security benefits.

How can a man live on $25 a month? I tried to hire a man who was on compensation, but oh no! He wouldn't work because he would lose his compensation.

The state should do a little more for the aged people, and it would be doing something good for the entire country.

Days of All Faiths

Tomorrow Known as Rogation or Rural Life Sunday; Special Prayers Are Said

By HOWARD V. HARPER

The fifth Sunday after Easter, which has for centuries been known as Rogation Sunday, has also been designated by many Protestant churches as Rural Life Sunday. In either case the meaning is the same.

The word "rogation" is from the Latin "rogare" which means "to pray." Special prayers were said on the fifth Sunday after Easter for the newly planted crops.

On Rural Life Sunday the Protestant churches, especially in rural areas, will call attention to the religious significance of the farmer's task.

Man is, in agriculture perhaps more obviously than in his other activities, a partner with God in the use of Creation. One of the day's sermon themes will be the careful treatment of the land resources which God and man develop as partners.

May 27 the weather is always fair, for this is the day on which the Lord kissed the clouds. This is the oldest of Christian festivals. It is always the 40th day after Easter.

In the first chapter of the book of Acts, it is recorded that Jesus ascended into Heaven from the Mount of Olives on the 40th day after His Resurrection.

It is thought that the Lord's ascension was being commemorated as early as the year 68. On this day the famous "marriage of the sea" took place each year in Venice, when that city was at the height of its power. On this day in 1877 Pope Alexander III, in celebration of a naval victory, gave labor and farmers and the country as a whole.

May the people of Michigan send him again to Congress as a token of esteem. The future of the state now appears brighter.

Says 'Under God' Would Infringe Basic Liberty

It is my honest opinion that a man can be an atheist or agnostic and still be a loyal citizen of the United States.

Sen. Ferguson's proposal to insert the two words "under God" in the Pledge of Allegiance is utterly needless. It would constitute an infringement upon intellectual liberty and would deprive agnostics and atheists of their privilege of pledging allegiance to this country.

Ralph Keeling, who ardently supports the Senator's proposal, should be willing to explain how a person could honestly pledge his allegiance to this country "under God," if that person has no belief, knowledge, or conception of that god.

Leave Games, Gimmicks Out of Modern Schools

The modern way of teaching is a very sad mistake. For one thing children should be taught the alphabet and how to write it. Also practice on the sounds of the letters.

In the beginners class they never learn the sounds, consequently, they haven't the faintest idea on how to pronounce a word. They don't learn to write until the fourth grade. They print for four years and then are scolded for not knowing how to write.

Too much is done by sight. Even young adults coming out of college can't write legibly, and can't pronounce words not having the slightest conception of sounds or tones. We are with Mother of Two, also of Four, Middle Age and H. D. Let's get back to school instead of these games and gimmicks.

Case Records of a Psychologist

Life Is a School; Face Daily Problems; Learn

Hubert was insulting his dead wife. But he thought he was paying her a compliment with his threat of suicide. So get wise to the facts of life. Ten consecutive dates with an eligible member of the opposite sex will banish Hubert's type of despondency and brooding.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case L-312: Hubert V., aged 29, says he is contemplating suicide. "Dr. Crane, my life is just a living hell," he began, morosely. "For five years I was happily married to the most wonderful woman on earth. But she died six months ago tomorrow.

"Since then I have had nothing to live for. She is constantly before my mind. I see her wherever I turn.

"It has got so bad that I can't live at home any longer, so I now have a room downtown in a hotel.

"At night I re-read some of her old love letters to me, and I cry whenever I look at her picture. And I am no more reconciled to her death now than I was the day the tragedy happened. So why should I go on any longer?"

Life is a school in which we are supposed to face our daily problems and learn something.

Suicide is no proper way out, for if you try to play hooky from this schoolroom here on the planet

Earth, you may be demoted to a far less attractive classroom someplace else.

So you better learn to face the music and develop a proper philosophy of living which will enable you to have fun while you likewise are learning your daily lessons. It is really an insult to the memory of his wife for Hubert to refuse to consider a second marriage.

For if she was such a wonderful helpmate, then the best proof of that will be his desire to marry again and establish a similar type of marital bliss.

Too many people in ages past have felt it was a compliment to a former departed sweetheart or mate, to remain forever a widow or widower or an unmarried mourner for the dead sweetheart. Actually, it is an insult, not a compliment, for if your previous marriage was happy, the best compliment for your dead mate is to marry again.

Love is not an emotion that strikes you only once. No sirree! It is just like grief and fear and anger in that you can experience it many times, if you give yourself a chance.

So I prescribed another romance for Hubert. In fact, I picked out the girl, who was an attractive secretary, 27 years of age, and with similar hobbies, interests and religious affiliation.

"It'll be just like medicine to go on a date with anybody else," Hubert protested.

"That's O.K. with me," I replied. "As a doctor, I'm prescribing this date as medicine. It will cure you, whether you believe me or not."

So Hubert dated her twice the first week. By the fourth week, they were dating three times per week.

And it wasn't long thereafter till he was seeing her every night. In three months, they were engaged, and have now been happily married for almost a year.

So force yourself to take the medicine which you know is right, even if you would like to avoid it. For the proper medicine, whether organic or psychological, will get you back into normal health.

You must go through the normal motions if you want to feel normal emotions.

So grit your teeth, if need be, and start dating an eligible member of the opposite sex when you have been jilted or when death has broken your former romance. Ten dates with the same person will get you out of your despondency and make you think forward, instead of backward.

Why Not Chew Wheat Instead of Candy? Dr. Brady Answers: Well, Why Not?

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.
 THE MAIL BOX
 Wheat Is Good Chewing

As you have recommended vitamin B as a heart tonic and plain wheat is the best food source of B complex, why not suggest chewing wheat instead of candy? — H. G.

Answer—Send stamped, self addressed envelope and ask in writing for pamphlet Wheat to Eat. I do suggest the habit of chewing wheat every day.

Not Communicable
 Is cancer in any way contagious? I have articles of clothing, bedding and other things that were used by a person with cancer. — (Mrs. A. G. K.)

Answer—No. Ordinary laundering, dry cleaning or just airing and sunning for a day will make such things perfectly safe for anyone to wear or use.

Baby Eats Cellulose

Granddaughter, 16 months, eats any food she can get. We're afraid... — (Mrs. M. W. A.)

Answer—Afraid you'll run out of firewood? The child's fondness for wood, ashes, sand, soil, wall plaster, etc., is called "pica" and will pass as she grows older. It is harmless, provided the wooden things she gnaws are not painted with lead paint.

B-12 With Folic Acid

Sister, 58, has arthritis. She has had two strokes, first at 29. Can I give her vitamin B-12 and folic acid? It has done me so much good... (G. L.)

Answer—I don't know why not. Send stamped, self addressed envelope and ask in writing (clipping will not suffice) for pamphlet The Red Blood Vitamin. B-12 without its potentiators, folic acid, is like calcium without vitamin D.

In Pittsburgh?

Our son, 17, is 6 feet 3 inches tall. He loves milk and drinks a lot of it. We're afraid this will make him grow still more. His father is 5 feet 11 and I am 5 feet 1, and no one else in either family has ever been so tall. (Mrs. —)

Answer—Move to the Southwest—the boys there will probably call your son "Shorty." Plenty of milk favors normal growth but does not account for greater than normal stature. I haven't even a plausible theory to explain it.

Calcium for Asthma

My son has had asthma for some years, but the past winter he has had little or no trouble, since he began taking calcium and vitamin D as you advise in your asthma pamphlet. (Mrs. M. V.)

Answer—Thank you. Any reader may have the pamphlet on Asthma on written request accompanied with stamped, self addressed envelope.

If You Must Dye to Win
 Is it harmful to use pure food dye on the hair? Is shampooing too harmful? It contains aniline... (E. V. A.)

Answer—I don't know what pure food dye is. Black dye made of aniline is pretty dangerous poison; paraphenylenediamine, used for dyeing fur and hair, has produced many severe skin inflammations resembling ivy poisoning. Better have a reliable hair dresser or barber tint or dye your hair.

Signed letters, not more than six pages or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self addressed envelope is enclosed.

Pontiac Artists Will Open 2-Week Exhibit Monday

Sixth Show to Be Held in Library

Over 70 Canvases Will Be Previewed on Sunday

By WILMA GREENWAY

Over 70 canvases, the original work of Pontiac artists, will be presented for public viewing when the Pontiac Society of Artists opens its two-week art exhibit here Monday.

The impressive collection of oil paintings, watercolors, pastels and charcoal drawings will be displayed in the Pontiac City Library, Williams and W. Pike Sts.

A preview of the exhibit, to which 350 friends of the artists have been invited, will be given from 4 to 7 p.m. Sunday.

Judging the work of the group will be Clyde H. Burroughs of San Diego, Calif., former curator of Detroit Institute of Arts; Lyman J. Beckwith, Detroit artist and ceramist, a member of the Scarab Club, and John S. Coppin of Bloomfield Hills, internationally known portrait painter. First, second and third awards will be made in four categories.

This is the sixth exhibit by the Pontiac society. The club sprang into being in August 1948. Formed by 11 people who had been receiving art instruction under J. Hart Gould, the association grew to its present membership of 33 working artists.

In addition to private painting, the artists launched a program last year to donate two original paintings yearly to public institutions. So far, two pictures have been hung in the city library, another in Oakland County Tuberculosis Sanatorium, and a fourth in the pediatrics ward at Pontiac General Hospital.

In tribute to the creative work of the local artists, book and art supply stores in the city are drawing attention to the exhibit by special window displays. Featured prominently are the historic houses painted by John Allhouse, many of them easily recognized as old Pontiac landmarks.

Officers of the artists' society here prepare to hang paintings at the Pontiac City Library, where the group will display some 70 original works of art during the two-week exhibit. Holding a portrait of Albert Einstein, the work of Peter Zampol of Fairgrove avenue, is club secretary J. Hart Gould of Pine street. President Ingvar Davison of South Avery road (center) offers an oil entitled "Last Laugh" by Gertrude Allhouse of Blaine avenue. Treasurer Brownie Mellinger, also of Blaine avenue, stands by. Not shown is Vera Rombough, vice president, of West Huron street.

Getting ready for a two-week exhibit which opens here Monday, new members of the Pontiac Society of Artists discuss the work of a fellow artist. Holding the picture is Paul B. Taylor of West Iroquois road, whose painting of Eisenhower will be included in the show. At the left are Mildred Russell of Union court, Mary Heitsch of Mary Day avenue and Blanche Goforth of Drayton Plains, who will exhibit oils and watercolors. The historic houses in the pictures were painted by John Allhouse of Blaine avenue. This is the sixth annual exhibit by the local artists. The public opening Monday will be preceded by a preview showing for friends of the artists Sunday in the exhibition room at the Pontiac City Library, Williams and W. Pike streets.

By Bethany Baptist Women

Circle Meetings Are Held

Women's Society units of Bethany Baptist Church met during the week at the homes of various members.

Mrs. Turrill McCully opened her West Iroquois road home to members of Dorcas Circle for a salad luncheon Thursday noon, with Mrs. O. W. Lewis and Mrs. Lynn Rorabacher assisting her. Mrs. John Webb gave devotions.

Lydia Group met in the church parlors Thursday evening to appoint committees for the coming year. Agnes Hilton was re-elected secretary and Mrs. Maynard Johnson gave devotions. The group later attended a choir variety program.

Easter Circle met with Mrs. Henry Berry on Argyle avenue for a dessert luncheon, with Mrs. Jesse Andrews leading devotions.

Mrs. Tilton Rogg was appointed White Cross chairman; Mrs. C. N. Derrick, house chairman, and Mrs. Robert Gray, card chairman.

A report of the Wayne Association meeting was given by Mrs. Aden Thornton Thursday before Martha Circle. Mrs. Clifford Steffy of Woodbine drive was hostess to the group. Plans were made for coming activities and Mrs. Elmer MacLean gave devotions.

Mrs. Clifton Dennis presided at Naomi Group meeting Thursday at the W. J. McCulloch home on Nelson street. Mrs. Elsie Sutton gave devotions and the group sewed cancer pads.

Mrs. James Donaldson was hostess to Ruth Group Tuesday at her home on Preston avenue. Mrs. James Mercer gave devotions and Mrs. Wilbur Crawford led a discussion of suggested activities for the coming year.

Gordon WCTU Holds Dinner

Anna Gordon WCTU was hostess at a family dinner and program for the WCTU Federation Thursday evening in the Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church.

Elva Ashley led the group in community singing accompanied by Mrs. Orla Mason. Joseph Gower gave devotions and prayers were offered by the Rev. Andrew Creswell and the Rev. Herbert Ryan.

Mrs. Frank Clemens announced that Flower Mission Week will be held in June highlighted by a silver tea. Mrs. Clemens will be a hostess during that week.

On the program for the evening was Mrs. George Perkins of Royal Oak who played accordion and guitar selections, and presented vocal solos and readings. Mrs. Perkins' daughters gave a reading. A duet was sung by Mrs. William Carl and Mrs. Mable Wiser.

Also entertaining was the Sunshine Quartet from the Free Will Baptist Church of Hazel Park. Speaker for the evening was the Rev. Herbert Ryan of the Baldwin Evangelical United Brethren Church. Talking on conditions existing in Pontiac today, he used portions of the 126th Psalm for his background.

BARBARA JOYCE WAGGENER

Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. Waggener of Clarkston announce the engagement of their daughter, Barbara Joyce, to Carl A. Gusie of Pine Grove avenue. Carl is the son of Mrs. Howard S. Duckworth of New Orleans, La. No wedding date has been set.

New Members Added to Group

Twenty new members have been added to the Forest Lake Country Club Women, it was announced at the luncheon meeting Tuesday at Kingsley Inn.

Mrs. Lowell N. Mays also announced that Ladies Day at the club has been set for each Friday at 9:30 a. m., and she said a general business meeting will be held Tuesday at 1:30 p. m. in the club.

Among those present for the luncheon meeting were Mrs. Robert G. Beedell, Mrs. Christian A. Addison, Mrs. James R. Blakeney, Mrs. Arthur Horst and Mrs. Joseph P. McManus.

Members signed up to attend the June 8 style show of the Fashionette Club.

Mrs. Wallace Rauch was appointed program chairman for the group and Mrs. James Doyle is the news editor. New trophy chairman for the club is Mrs. Clarence Edwards. Mrs. Nick Kerchoff heads the flower committee. Mrs. Robert Bunce received the weekly Oscar at this meeting.

Parties Precede Alumnae Dance Friday Evening

Several cocktail parties were held in area homes preceding the Friday evening dance sponsored by St. Joseph Mercy Hospital alumnae.

Before heading for the Knights of Columbus Hall where the dance was held, Mr. and Mrs. James Greene of Eileen drive were hosts to the Donald Thomases, the Ralph Conlans, the Leland Cotters, the Troyce Hudnells and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wyzgoski.

The Kenneth Stockmans of Berkeley entertained Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Timmreck, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Ebaugh and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Gould were hosts in their Birmingham home to the Steve Whites, the Norman J. Days of Rochester, and the Albert Lendinos, the Norman Prentices, the Richard Hemeisters and the Larry Bingham, all of Birmingham.

Church Unit Meets

Mrs. Lester Kinby led devotions Wednesday evening for Plymouth Group of First Congregational Church. Mrs. George Gaches was hostess to the group at her home on Moreland avenue.

KATHLEEN FISH

Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Fish of Overton, Nev., announce the engagement of their daughter, Kathleen, to John M. Dalton, son of the Clyde Daltons of Delrose drive. June 12 will be the wedding date.

Club Members Go to Belle Isle

Belle Isle Garden Center was the destination of Better Home and Garden Club members who held a luncheon meeting at the White House Friday.

After the meeting members toured the conservatory. Mrs. A. E. Kilpela reported on horticulture therapy. Donations amounting to $170 were derived from the club's recent luncheon and card party, it was reported.

This money is being used to purchase trees and shrubs to help beautify the entrance to the city on Woodward avenue. It was learned that marigolds will also be planted there later in the season.

Mrs. J. I. Kindel was appointed as a delegate to the annual meeting of the federated garden clubs to be held June 9 and 10 in Kalamazoo. It was announced that Mrs. E. L. Potter will take over the supervision of field trip for the summer meeting. Mrs. Kindel was chairman for the day.

Past Presidents Name Chairmen

Mrs. Kenneth Parson was named civil defense chairman and Mrs. Bessie Clark, U. N. chairman, at the Thursday meeting of Zone Eight Past Presidents Club, MOMS of America, Inc.

Mrs. William Jones of North Cass avenue was hostess to the group. Mrs. Gladys Hibbler and Mrs. Clayton Stokes, both of Lake Orion, were guests at the meeting. Reports were given by delegates to the convention last week at Baltimore, Md.

The group sent invitations to Mrs. Joan Huller of Ann Arbor, state president, and to Mrs. A. W. Mack of Allen Park to attend the meeting June 17 at the South East boulevard home of Mrs. Charles O'Brien.

Mary Freegard Feted at Shower

Mary Freegard, bride-elect of Charles F. Halpin, was honored at a personal bridal shower Thursday evening at the home of Jeanette Ashton on Norton avenue.

The daughter of the Thomas Freegards of North Saginaw street, Mary will speak her vows with Charles on May 29 in St. Michael Church.

Amelia Jo Schapman Becomes Bride

Vases of gladioli and snapdragons decorated the altar of St. Michael Church where Amelia Jo Schapman spoke her vows this morning with William Paul DeClerck.

She is the daughter of Mrs. Joseph Schapman of Lake Angelus road, and the senior James DeClerck of Utica are her parents.

For the 11 a. m. Nuptial High Mass performed by the Rev. Michael J. O'Reilly, the bride wore a gown of filmy nylon tulle over satin accented with hand-clipped angel Chantilly lace.

The portrait neckline was trimmed with sequins and pearls and the sculptured bodice featured full-length lace sleeves. A matching scalloped illusion veil was held by a sequin and pearl tiara.

The bride's only jewelry was the bridegroom's gift of pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of roses and stephanotis.

Ann Margaret Schapman, the bride's sister, was maid of honor. She wore a gown of pink net over taffeta with a matching jacket and carried a bouquet of aqua carnations and pink roses.

Other attendants were Clare Krimpenfort of Cincinnati and Betty Ann Schapman of Romeo, the bride's cousins. They wore gowns identical to the honor maid's in pale turquoise.

Their bouquets were composed of pink carnations and pink roses, and they wore small headpieces with nosegay veils and lily-of-the-valley trimmings.

The bridegroom's brother, James DeClerck Jr., was best man and another brother, Ronald DeClerck, was an usher, along with Oscar Chapoton of Utica.

A navy dress with matching lace jacket and pink accessories was chosen by Mrs. Schapman for her daughter's wedding. Her corsage was composed of white roses and pink carnations.

Mrs. DeClerck wore a blue and white stripe nylon dress with white accessories and a corsage of white roses and pink carnations.

A breakfast was served after the ceremony at Old Mill Tavern in Waterford. After a reception this evening in Chieftain Hall, the bride will change to a toast-colored silk shantung dress with brown and white accessories for the honeymoon trip to the Smoky Mountains. The newlyweds will reside in Royal Oak.

To honeymoon in the Smoky Mountains are the William DeClercks who were married this morning in St. Michael Church.

She is the former Amelia Jo Schapman, daughter of Mrs. Joseph Schapman of Lake Angelus road, and the senior James DeClerck of Utica are his parents.

Upsurge Seen for Straw Hats

More men will be wearing more straw headwear this summer than ever before.

The reason for this rise in hat wearing is a very simple one. Eye appeal!

The choice of novelty headwear, to complement America's increasing popular leisure way of living, is almost limitless, and colors will be brighter and much more exciting than any we've ever seen.

Men's hat designers have felt the European influence, especially Italian, which is so prevalent in other fashion items. Thus, the result is casual headwear, both fun to wear and also a real eye-stopper! Many are ideal for both men and women's wear, and will undoubtedly start a matching hat fad.

For business and dress wear, eye appeal is again the new topic of interest, ranging all the way from pastels on up to the charcoal shades. Even the bands are exciting enough to talk about. Gay-colored prints, wider widths and contrasting shades, all combine to make them real fashion news for summer 1954. As far as hat styles, fashion experts agree that the center crease, narrower brim and the Optimo shape, will be the No. 1 favorites.

Not only are men in for a pleasant surprise in the fashion department, but also they'll get new pleasure out of the variety of straws available. The roll-call of straw hat names sounds more like the itinerary of a round-the-world cruise. Coconut from Nassau and Haiti; Leghorn, Milan and Pedalino from Italy; Baku and Sisal from China; Hinoki from Japan; Balibuntal from the Philippines; and Panama from Ecuador and Colombia.

Whether they're at business or at a social gathering, gardening, participating in a sport, or just plain lazing around in the sun, men this summer will be better "hatted" and have more enjoyment out of it than they've had in a long, long time!

Esther Circle Has Dinner and Meeting

Esther Circle of Oakland Park Methodist Church met at Highland Manor Wednesday for the annual dinner.

Afterwards the group gathered at Mrs. Bessie Slaybaugh's home on Glenwood avenue for a meeting and gift exchange. Mrs. Charles Baynes gave the opening prayer and Mrs. William Fizzard gave devotions on the Beatitudes, closing with a poem and prayer.

Mrs. E. Gay swim and play fashions highlight the romper with special emphasis on a knee-length playdress topping matching rompers. Or the romper with a full, cover-up skirt.

Old Cotton Dresses Make Cafe Curtains

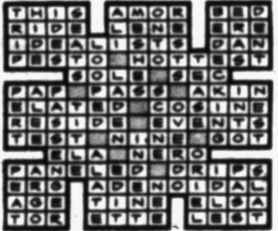

If last year's cotton dresses are faded or worn, try making short "cafe" curtains of them, and tint them a lively color to give a lift to your kitchen.

Cottons go beautifully through the household washer and so there is no chore to keeping them clean.

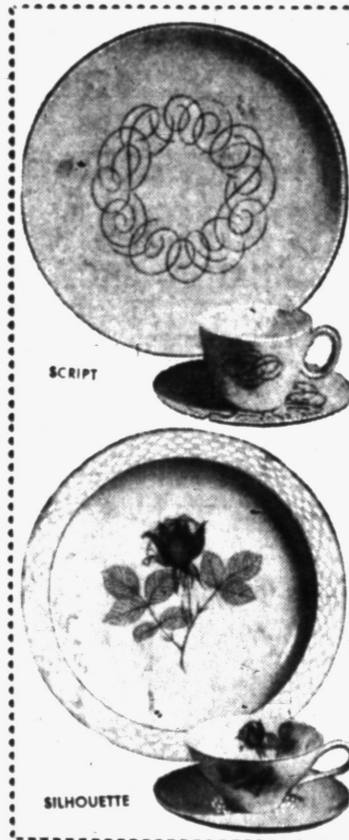

If there is a dining nook in the kitchen, slipcover the chairs, using the fabrics of discarded cotton articles.

Inquire How to Approach Employers

Project to Begin on Volunteer Basis in Parish House

By ANNE HEYWOOD

"You said once that if women want part-time jobs, they'll have to do something about creating a market for them," begins a letter just received.

"Well, a group of us have decided to do just that, but we need a lot of advice."

"First of all, there are six of us, and we're all in our 30s, with school-age children."

"Most of us had some business experience before marriage. We plan, if all goes well, to start operations this coming fall."

"Ours is a big city and we're convinced there must be some need for part-time workers."

"As a beginning, our church has offered us the use of a good-sized room in the parish house. The minister is in favor of the project, and we can use the church bulletin board to list any openings we get."

"We'll operate on a volunteer, no-charge basis for a start, but of course, if we're successful, we may open a regular employment agency specializing in part-time jobs."

"We have a good many people," the writer continues, "who are available for part-time work—ourselves included—and who have such skills as typing, shorthand, bookkeeping, selling and so forth."

"But how do we go about approaching the employers—and what kind of employers?"

First, try to think up a good name for your project, a name which implies that it is an employment service for part-time jobs.

In the temporary agency field, there are such good names as Temporary Talents, Secretaries-at-Large, etc. Put your heads together and get a concise catchy name.

Next, chip in and get some kind of letterhead printed with the name of the organization, its address, in the parish house, and an indication that it is a voluntary service.

You should also be able to give a telephone number. Check with the minister about this, and if it would be awkward to use the parish house telephone, get one of your members to use hers and to cover the phone at regular hours.

Finally, write a brief letter explaining what you have to offer, and soliciting customers.

Address it to all the doctors in your city; many doctors require part-time assistants. Also address the lawyers, interior decorators, dentists, real estate offices. Many of these, especially when they are beginning, use part-time workers.

Follow up your letters with a personal call, establishing the contact and explaining in more detail.

And, last but not least, be sure that the first openings you fill are filled by really good workers. Word of mouth will bring you most of your business.

Steady Deals Shouldn't Be Taken So Seriously

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"I don't want to go steady any longer" is about the most unpalatable speech a girl has to listen to.

by Laura Wheeler

Today's smartest handwork! Swedish weaving on huck toweling is easy, too. Use on curtains, aprons, towels, baby-bibs, knitting bags, anything made of huck!

Use huck toweling—here are the designs. Pattern 830 has charts and directions for four.

Send 25 cents in coins for this pattern—add 5 cents for each pattern for first-class mailing. Send to 124 Pontiac Press Needlecraft Dept., P.O. Box 164, Old Chelsea Station, New York 11, N.Y. Print plainly pattern number, your name, address and zone.

It's the end of a certain sort of social existence for her. It's a mortal wound to her self-confidence and vanity.

It announces that she's in for loneliness, frustration and mangled emotions for a time. (Not being a soothsayer, she can't see that the time may be short.) When the blow falls, she shatters into a million tinkling pieces.

A boy who wants out may make a speech about it. He may go into details and explain just why the relationship is no longer romantic, practical satisfactory to him. And the girl takes it all very personally and is left with her self-esteem cut to shreds.

Since most boys don't really want to hurt girls they've had fun dating, they make no speeches—they just quietly fade away. And the girl is left with a thousand unanswered questions.

When he announces that he does not want to go steady any more, he doesn't really mean it though. He means that he doesn't want to be tied down to going only with her. That "we'll see each other now and then and still be friends" is a vague promise to make her feel better.

What he wants is the freedom to date other girls. And sooner or later establish a going-steady deal with someone else. He may have no particular girl in mind at the time—but he wants to be able to take advantage of any romantic possibility that comes along.

A girl usually has somebody all lined up before she breaks off a dating deal. Some other boy has already captured her interest and she's had to turn him down because of her entangling alliance. Since boys still have the dating initiative most girls make sure they've already been asked by someone else before they risk switching partners.

But the big switch can happen for any number of other reasons. There doesn't have to be someone else who's more fun to go with.

Some boys have their own interpretation of the arrangement. Their preamble and buildup to tying a girl down is short and sweet. They're going together exclusively; it gets going before they really know each other. And it ends as soon as he feels they're really well acquainted.

Such a boy can go with six or eight girls in this fashion during a year. Each girl interprets the arrangement in her own way (strong romantic attachment) and considers herself left in the lurch when he goes on his way.

The colossal possessiveness of some girls can lead to a break. "He would flirt with all the other girls, even when I was around, so the only logical thing to do was break up with him." And of course, she is sorry she did.

Sleek Midriff Puts Accent on Pleating

Tina Leser Design Shows Why She's 'Specialist'

Tina Leser is a "specialist" in fashion. She has a special way of making unexpected color combinations literally sing in harmony; she has a special knowledge of just how much and exactly where to use trimming; and she has that extra-special perception, characteristic of all great designers, that stamps her designs with a special something.

Miss Leser's pattern today demonstrates to perfection just what "specialist" means.

She has molded a sleek, fitted midriff to bring out the soft fullness of the tiny pleats across its top, and faces the neckline band that extends into bowed shoulder straps with colorful embroidered ribbon or braid. Thus, when the straps are reversed on the shoulder as shown in the front view sketch, a tiny but effective bit of the trim is exposed.

Originally made in a riotously flowered print (very new this season and especially good with velvet facing), the dress was later made in linen. Either of these materials or any cotton, nylon or lawn will make a most pretty production.

This pattern is cut in designer sizes.

Bust	Waist	Hips	Size

Size 12 requires 3½ yards of 36-inch material for dress. To order Pattern 1084, address Spadea Fashions, Inc., P.O. Box 535, Dept. P-6, G. P. O., New York 1, N. Y. State size. Send $1. Airmail handling 25 cents extra.

Wants to Nip Friendship in the Bud

Woman Wonders if Invitation Must Be Returned

By EMILY POST

A young woman asks: "Is it very rude not to return the invitation of an acquaintance? I went to her house and was convinced on that occasion that she and I had nothing in common. I'd really rather not encourage any more invitations."

"Mother says I must invite her once. If I do so, won't I then find it more embarrassing to refuse her if she should invite me again?"

Answer: Not necessarily. I agree with your mother that you should return her invitation. But you need not accept any more of her invitations — if you don't wish to.

As a matter of fact, likes and dislikes are usually mutual and it may very well be that she won't want to invite you again.

Dear Mrs. Post: While shopping downtown the other day my husband and I ran across a neighbor, and as she did not have her car, we offered to drive her home.

Upon reaching the car, my husband opened the door and I got in and took my usual place in the center. Mrs. X. got in next and sat near the door.

After we let Mrs. X. off, my husband told me that I was very discourteous and that I should have let her get in first and sit between us. Will you please give your opinion?

Answer: Your husband was right! I can't even imagine your getting in before Mrs. X. Nothing could have been ruder.

Dear Mrs. Post: What is an oyster fork and is it used only for oysters? Where is it placed?

Answer: The oyster fork is a small fork about 6 inches long and only a half inch across the tines, designed for eating oysters and clams. Usually it has only three tines which are proportionately broader than those of an ordinary fork.

It is put at the extreme right of the knives and spoons because, unlike the other forks, it is held in the right hand.

Sorority Elects Mrs. Buhl Burt

Members of Iota Eta Chapter of Pi Omicron sorority re-elected Mrs. Buhl Burt president when they held the annual meeting Thursday at the Oakland County Society for Crippled Children headquarters on West Lawrence street.

Members met at the headquarters in order to view the equipment that was recently contributed to the society by the chapter.

Mrs. George Reuter was reelected vice president of the group at this meeting and Mrs. Leon Skelley is recording secretary. Mrs. Gerald Kirkby, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. William Hotham, treasurer.

Mrs. Reuter is a delegate to the state convention being held today in Detroit. She is also the toastmistress for the event. Others attending the convention are Mrs. Burt, Mrs. Paul Hoskins and Mrs. E. Verne McCall.

Moms and Tots Honored at Tea

More than 200 mothers and their children who attend First Presbyterian Church nursery were honored this afternoon at the 18th annual Cradle Roll Tea held at the church.

Mrs. Chester Varney was in charge of arrangements for the event and the Rev. Edward Auerbach showed pictures of the nursery class in session.

Put Cotton Overalls on Creeping Baby

When baby is at the creeping stage, you'll find it impossible to keep his overalls fresh-looking for very long, even if you go over the floors frequently with a mop. To solve this problem, you could make him a pair of extra-large, dark-cotton overalls to wear over his good ones.

Then, when company arrives or when you want to take him out, you'll need only whisk them off to have Baby neat again.

OES Group Meets

Mrs. Thomas Pruitt of Hadriell court was hostess for the recent meeting of Group Four, OES. Mrs. William Coleman entertained with piano selections and it was announced that the June get-together will be a picnic.

Patricia McGriff Weds The Rev. Ward Clabuesch

Two altar vases filled with all-white flowers decorated the altar of All Saints Episcopal Church this morning when Patricia Anne McGriff of Prall street spoke her vows with the Rev. Ward Henry Clabuesch of Washington street.

She is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. Rollins McGriff of McLean, Va., and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest G. Clabuesch of Pigeon are his parents.

Officiating at the 11 a. m. ceremony was the Rt. Rev. Richard S. Emrich, bishop of the Diocese of Michigan. He was assisted by the Rev. C. George Widdfield, rector of All Saints Episcopal Church, and the Rev. Alfred Matthews, rector of St. John Episcopal Church of McLean, Va.

The bridal gown was fashioned of pearl-tone satin with a lace yoke and a skirt that ended in a cathedral-length train. She wore a matching lace Juliet cap with fingertip veil and carried a white orchid on a prayerbook.

Mrs. George M. Kriner, the bride's sister from Washington, D. C., was matron of honor. Her ankle-length gown was made of pearl-tone antique satin along princess lines. She wore white elbow-length gloves and carried a bouquet of alstroemeria.

The Rev. Ralph E. Hutton came from Syracuse, N. Y., to be best man. Groomsmen included the Rev. Raymond Bierlein of Otter Lake, the Rev. Louis Breitenbach of Hillman, the Rev. Ellsworth Koons of Saginaw and the Rev. Theodore Lewis of Auburn, N. Y.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. McGriff wore an ankle-length toast-colored lace dress with melon shade trim. She chose a begonia corsage.

Mrs. Clabuesch wore a mauve silk shantung suit-dress with navy accessories and corsage of pink romance roses.

Stevens Hall was decorated with bouquets of white flowers and greenery for the reception. Lyn McGriff, the bride's sister, had charge of the guest book.

A navy blue silk shantung silk-dress with navy and white accessories and a white orchid corsage was worn by the new Mrs. Clabuesch for a motor trip through northern Michigan. Upon their return the newlyweds will reside on Newberry street.

She is a graduate of the School of Nursing of the Catholic University of America in Washington, D. C. He was graduated from Michigan State College and the General Theological Seminary in New York and is now curate of All Saints Episcopal church.

Newlyweds Traveling to Nassau

Ruth Oldberg and William K. Downey Wed at St. Hugo

Ruth Hannon Oldberg spoke her nuptial vows this noon with William Kinsel Downey at St. Hugo of the Hills Church, Bloomfield Hills.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Oldberg of Birmingham, and the William K. Downey, also of Birmingham, are the bridegroom's parents.

The bridal gown, designed by Balenciaga, was of antique Italian taffeta with long, fitted sleeves ending in points over the wrist. Lace accents highlighted the portrait neckline as the full skirt swept into a train.

A small cap of heirloom Rose Pointe lace secured her short illusion veil, which was also bordered in Rose Pointe lace. She carried a bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley, stephanotis and variegated ivy.

Karin Oldberg was her sister's maid of honor, and the other attendants were Martha Miller Hanson of Ft. Dix, N. J., Susan Halsted of Birmingham, Mrs. Jerome Earl of Grosse Pointe, Robin Glover of Grosse Ile and Gloria James of Grosse Pointe.

The attendants were gowned in similar frocks of white French organdy scattered with coin dots over taffeta. The waltz-length dresses were fashioned with square necklines and short puffed sleeves.

Green foliage wreaths formed their headpieces, with a single daisy to match their yellow daisy bouquets. The honor maid carried aqua daisies and her wreath was fastened with a white daisy.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Oldberg chose pale blue lace and organdy, and the bridegroom's mother wore navy silk organza.

Russell Layland II was best man, and ushers were Jerome C. Earl of Grosse Pointe, Raymond Cunningham II, Patterson Wall, Richard Reilly and Lee Hanson, all of Birmingham, Robert Dunbar of Kalamazoo and John Kelsey of Grosse Ile.

For the wedding trip to Nassau, the new Mrs. Downey chose a raw silk jacket-dress of navy with white accessories. On their return they will reside in Grosse Pointe.

Rose Marie Spadafore Speaks Vows

Palms and spring flowers decorated the altar of St. Benedict Church this morning when Robert J. Ranzilla claimed Rose Marie Spadafore as his bride.

Rose Marie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Spadafore of Newberry street, and the Sam Ranzillas of Voorheis road are the bridegroom's parents.

For the 10 o'clock double-ring ceremony, the bride chose a gown of Italian taffeta and Chantilly lace. The bodice was fashioned with long sleeves coming to points over the wrists and a scalloped portrait neckline. Chantilly lace over pleated nylon tulle formed the skirt which fell into a cathedral train.

A pearl-trimmed crown secured her veil of French illusion and Chantilly lace. A matching lace fan fastened with a white orchid, roses and stephanotis formed her bouquet.

The bride's cousin, Betty Jane Spadafore, was maid of honor in a waltz-length gown of turquoise Chantilly lace and tulle fashioned with a tiered skirt of pleated tulle and a lace bolero. On her head she wore a tiara of lace and beads, and she carried a white lace fan fastened with shrimp-colored shattered carnations and streamers.

In similar gowns of a shrimp color were the other attendants, Therese Caruso of Dowagiac, Therese Spadafore, Mrs. Robert H. Mazza, Mrs. Frank Spadafore, Monica Palace, Edith DeRose of Lansing and Betty Lou Allison. Rosemary Tenuta was junior bridesmaid. They carried fans adorned with turquoise flowers and streamers.

Mary Jo Spagnuolo was flower girl in white Chantilly lace and Frankie Mazza was ringbearer.

Paul DeRose of Lansing was best man, and ushers were Clarence McKay, Robert Rundquist, both of Detroit; Robert Green and Joe DeRose, both of Lansing; Robert H. Mazza, Frank Spadafore, Melvin Zajas of New York and Louie Sesti, junior usher.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Spadafore wore a blue cocktail dress of Chantilly lace and tulle with a lavender orchid corsage.

Mrs. Ranzilla wore beige and brown Chantilly lace and tulle with a lavender orchid corsage.

A wedding breakfast in Berkley followed the ceremony and a reception will be held in the evening.

MRS. ROBERT J. RANZILLA

Married this morning in St. Benedict Church were Rose Marie Spadafore and Robert J. Ranzilla. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Spadafore of Newberry street, and the Sam Ranzillas of Voorheis road are the bridegroom's parents.

2 Attend Luncheon for Past Presidents

Mrs. Howard Fairman of Whittemore street and Mrs. Fred Kemp of Birmingham were among the guests at a recent luncheon for past national presidents of Metropolitan Club Auxiliary.

Others attending were Mrs. Leo Maat of Kalamazoo, Mrs. Herbert Merrill of Lansing and Mrs. Harold Flechig of Roseville.

Would Admit Reds to Church Assembly

DAYTON, O. — Barring churchmen who live behind the Iron Curtain from the second assembly of the World Council of Churches at Evanston, Ill., in August would be "a foolish position to take," Charles P. Taft said here.
The Cincinnati attorney, a member of the World Council's Central Committee, said that some groups, including the American League of Cook County (Chicago), had objected to the proposed attendance of Czechoslovakian, Hungarian and Polish churchmen at the assembly.
"None of those visitors are going to divert, convert or subvert any of us," Mr. Taft told 300 church women here. He added, "They are going to find out many things about America contrary to what they have been told, and they are going back home with their communistic beliefs shaken."

Protestants Rap Columbia Ban

Urge Nation to Grant Same Freedom Given to Roman Catholics

A delegation of American Protestant churchmen called at the Colombian embassy last week to express hope that the Latin American country will guarantee the same religious freedom to the Protestant minority which the United States grants to its Roman Catholic minority.

The spokesman for the group, Charles P. Taft, Cincinnati attorney and member of the General Board of the National Council of Churches, expressed concern over proposed changes in the Colombian constitution. These changes he said would impose a "severe restriction on the religious freedom of Protestants" and would conflict both with the Colombian-U. S. treaty of 1946 and the statement of religious freedom in the U. N. Universal Declaration of Human Rights to which Colombia is a party.

The proposed changes would deny Protestants in Colombia many freedoms including the right to hold religious gatherings in homes; to publish magazines, books and papers; to use the public press and broadcasting facilities; and to teach in Protestant educational institutions.
Meanwhile in Colombia the picture brightened as President Gustavo Rojas Pinilla ordered the reopening of five Protestant schools on the San Andres and Providencia islands, in response to petitions by a delegation of islanders.

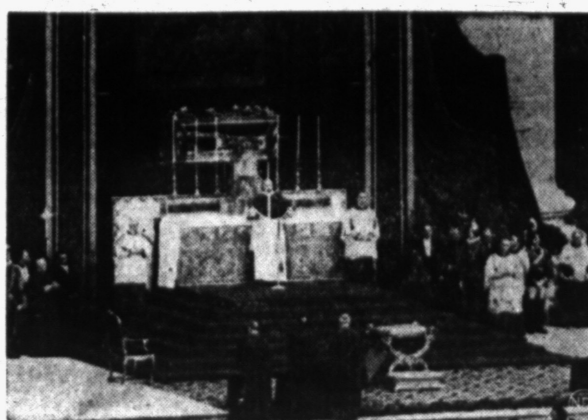

Flying Pastor to Take Over Mission Station

To replace a missionary who also knows how to fly was the problem the Board of Missions of the Methodist Church faced when the Rev. John Kenneth Vincent, the "flying missionary" of Vieques Island off the coast of Puerto Rico, returned for service in the United States.

Bishop Fred Corson, of the Philadelphia area, who administers the work of the Puerto Rico conference, announces that the man has been found. He is the Rev. Earl Rodman Barr Jr., a thirty-year-old assistant minister of the church of St. Paul and St. Andrew in New York City.

The Rev. Mr. Barr learned to fly in the United States Army Air Force during the war. He had already applied for mission service and when the opportunity came to take over the Vieques mission, he accepted the appointment.

In June Rod and Ruth Barr will arrive on Vieques Island to take over the many "pilot projects" established by Mr. Vincent in his seven-year ministry there. These include, in addition to the church, a clinic, a program for U. S. servicemen, a housing cooperative, a demonstration farm, a vast recreational program for island youth, and the flying ambulance service to ferry seriously ill patients to the mainland of Puerto Rico for care.

POPE TO BE CANONIZED—Pope Pius XII became "Blessed Giuseppe Sarto" at his beatification conducted by Pope Pius XII on the steps of St. Peter's in June, 1952. The body rests in a glass coffin on the altar behind Pius XII. On May 29, he will be canonized St. Pius XII.

Confident Living

Meet Difficulties Head On and Think Constructively

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

I had a peculiar experience recently. I made a speech at a convention and had to hurry away

DR. PEALE

There was no taxi in sight, so we started to walk toward the station. "Can you talk fast?" I asked my companion. He thought he could. "I am dissatisfied with my present situation," he explained. "I want to get out of it."

"Why?" I asked. "Aren't you doing well?"

"Last year I made ten thousand dollars," he answered. "That's a good income. Why do you want to leave a ten thousand dollar a year job?"

There's something else I like better. I often go out to the airport and watch the planes take off and land. I'd love to work with airplanes."

"Well," I replied, "if there is anything you want to do, if you want it badly enough and are willing to make the necessary sacrifices, you can do it."

"I've written to the airline presidents asking for an executive job," he told me, "but they don't even answer me."

"Perhaps you ought to start at a more realistic level. Why not go out to the airport and ask for a job carrying baggage back and forth to the planes?"

"I don't want to carry baggage!"

Pastor Attends Chicago Parley

Rev. G. J. Bersche One of 1,108 at Missionary Alliance Convention

The Rev. G. J. Bersche, pastor of Christian and Missionary Alliance here attended the convention of the International Christian and Missionary Alliance in Chicago during the past week.

A total of 1,108 clergy and lay delegates attended the sessions in Morrison Hotel. They heard the report that 61,000 members in the United States and Canada contributed more than $3,000,000 total gifts for the missionary work of 720 missionaries on 22 foreign fields in 1953.

The Rev. Harry L. Turner, Attleboro, Mass., was elected president to replace Dr. H. M. Shuman, 75, who had been president for 28 years.

It also was reported that 150 Alliance persons in Indochina face evacuation, and that the Alliance is the only Protestant (except for 11 Swiss Brethren) group in missionary work there.

It was also stated that Alliance missionaries had successfully flown into the Shangri La valley of World War II fame and had been received by friendly "stone age" natives.

Australian Hits Church Disunity

Head of World Council Urges Protestant Faiths to Join Together

SYDNEY, Australia—Protestant bodies in Australia were urged to "quicken their interest in Church unity" by Dr. G. Calvert Barber of Victoria, president of the Australian Council for the World Council of Churches. He addressed the annual meeting of the agency here.
"The divisions in Christianity are a scandal in the eyes of the world," said Dr. Barber, a Methodist minister. "The Churches have been apart for centuries; I hope it will not take them centuries to come together again."

A plea by Dr. Ernest Henry Burmann, Anglican Bishop of Canberra and Goulburn, that churches use more women in key positions was roundly applauded by the delegates.

"Why shouldn't we have women as organizing secretaries for this Council in all the states of Australia?" the bishop asked. "Women work harder than men and, besides, the masculine mind has dominated the ecumenical movement almost to the point of death."

The Rev. Winifred Klek of South Australia, a Congregational minister and convenor of the Council's commission on the life and work of women in the Church, said she would support such appointments.

"Women are in the majority in nearly every church. The commonwealth," she said, "and our women's groups now understand what the Christian unity movement is all about."

William C. Wentworth, an Anglican delegate and a member of the Australian Federal House of Representatives, told the meeting he would ask the Joint Parliamentary Committee on Foreign Affairs to discuss day-to-day developments overseas with representatives of Churches.

Queen Elizabeth Praises Work of Scotch Church

By Religious News Service
EDINBURGH—Queen Elizabeth II, in a message to the General Assembly of the Church of the Scotland, praised the work of the Church in "deepening the spiritual life of our people" both in Scotland and the mission fields abroad.

The Queen, who recently returned from a five-and-a-half month tour of the Commonwealth, said:

"We have returned from our visit to other countries of our Commonwealth more than ever convinced of the importance of the work of the Church and we acknowledge with deep sincerity the debt that is owed to the selfless labors of all who serve her."

15-Voice Chorus to Sing for New Hope Baptists

Executive of Chase Bank to Address Presbyterians

Frank Totten, vice president of the Chase National Bank, New York City, will address the dinner meeting for commissioners and their wives at the General Assembly of Presbyterian Churches to-night in the Masonic Temple. His subject will be "Now Let Us Witness."

An elder in the Larchmont Avenue Presbyterian Church in Larchmont, N. Y., he is a former president of the YMCA in New York City, former grand master of the Masonic Order in New York and prominent in other civic and denominational activities.

Dr. Glenn Harris will preside at the Sunday evening service at which time Dr. W. A. Visser 't Hooft, executive secretary of the World Council of Churches will speak on "The Church Proclaims Her Faith Through a United Witness."

On Monday evening a dramatic production "Prelude to Reprieve" will be presented.

The final meeting Tuesday evening will be addressed by Dr. George Buttrick, pastor of Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church in New York City. He is well known as a preacher and author.

Pope Asks All Children to Pray for Peace Sunday

VATICAN CITY (INS)—Pope Pius XII asked the children of the world today to pray for peace Sunday and he wrote a special prayer himself which the Vatican made public today.

A free translation of the prayer from the Italian text:

"Dear Jesus, You too were one day a child like us and they told us You loved to have little children around You.

"So we come now, children of all nations of the world, to offer You our thanks and to elevate to You our prayers for peace.

"You crave to be with us in every hour and every place. Make of our hearts therefore your dwelling, Your altar, Your throne.

"Make it so that we all form a single family united under Your custody and Your love.

"Keep away from every man, young or adult, thoughts and deeds of egotism which divide sons of the Celestial Father one from the other and from You.

"Make Your grace be a shield for all against the enemies of You, God, and Yours. Forgive them, Saviour, they know not what they do.

"If men with Your help will love one another there will be peace in the world and we children can live free from the fear of the horrors of a new war.

"We ask You Immaculate Mother who is our Mother, too, to offer to You this our prayer of peace. Then You surely will heed it.

"Thank You, sweet Jesus! Amen."

The Pope's closest collaborators said the Pontiff places "great importance" on the youthful "prayer crusade for peace" because "the unblemished souls" of the children "hold particular promise in prayer."

POW Chaplain to Speak Sunday

Harold Voelkel to Relate Korea War Experiences at First Baptist Church

First Baptist Church and Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church are uniting to present Chaplain Harold Voelkel Sunday at 7 p. m. in First Baptist Church.

Chaplain Voelkel, who had been a Presbyterian missionary in Korea for 25 years, was assigned to minister to the North Korean POWs during the Korean War.

Previous experiences and training in dealing with Koreans had fitted him for this task. He will tell the story of his work, of its difficulties, and how as a result of his efforts, some 60,000 POWs refused to return to Communism.

Study Tour of Africa Set for July, August

Every year almost half a million Americans travel to Europe, Asia and South America. But comparatively few have visited in Africa.

Now church lay leaders, ministers and other interested persons have the opportunity to join a study tour of the continent to observe its "problems, progress, programs and potentials and the relation of these to the growing Christian community of 21,000,000 Africans."

Open to Christians of all denominations and races, the tour is planned for July and August. It is under the sponsorship of the Association for World Travel Exchange, in cooperation with the Africa Committee of the Division of Foreign Missions of the National Council of Churches.

Believed to be the first such study tour of the continent ever undertaken, the itinerary will include several parts of West Africa, Cameroon, the Belgian Congo, South Africa, Southern Rhodesia, Kenya, Uganda, Ethiopia, the Sudan and Egypt. After a short visit to the Holy Land the group will travel across Europe, stopping at various European capitals to meet with colonial officials and church leaders.

Tour leaders will be Dr. and Mrs. Emory Ross and Miss Clara Bentley. The Rosses were for many years missionaries in Africa. Dr. Ross, president of the board of trustees of the Phelps Stokes Fund, was formerly secretary of the Africa Committee. Miss Bentley is associate secretary.

Applications for the tour are still being accepted, according to Dr. Ross, and interested persons are urged to apply to the association.

H. W. Beaty, a blind Bible class teacher at a Miami, Fla., Presbyterian Church, has memorized 6,000 verses in the last 10 years.

Bethany Pastor to Attend Minneapolis Convention

The Rev. Fred R. Tiffany, pastor of the Bethany Baptist Church will leave Monday to attend the American Baptist Convention in Minneapolis, May 24-28. He will be accompanied by the Rev. Wendell Maloch of Wall Lake.

Lay delegates from Pontiac will be Mr. and Mrs. Ivan H. Long. A message dealing with the subject of freedoms in America and the world, is due to be acted upon during the convention.

This resolution will take its place as one of the significant church statements of this year on matters relating to encroachments of authoritarian systems upon the freedoms of the American people.

Church officials believe the resolutions was inspired by the fact that Baptists this year are observing the 350th birthday of Roger Williams, one of the pioneers of religious liberty and the founder of Rhode Island.

Churchman Hits McCarran Act

Dr. W. W. VanKirk Says Ruling Aids Red Effort to Win Asia

The McCarran-Walter Immigration and Nationality Act of 1952 "gives offense to large segments of the free peoples of the world and adversely affects American foreign policy," Dr. Walter W. Van Kirk, executive director of the National Council of Churches' Department of International Justice and Goodwill, has declared.

Speaking before the Church Conference of Social Work meeting in Atlantic City, Dr. Van Kirk said the restrictive quota provisions of the law were "legislative madness." Although the U. S. moves forward step in setting up a radically conceived "Iron Curtain" with only token immigration quotas for the Asia-Pacific Triangle, an area in which lives half the population of the world.

This act, Dr. Van Kirk said, "creates in the mind of Asia the impression that United States regards them as inferior people."

"The fact is apparent . . . to the people of Asia and to the Communists whose propagandists, day in and day out, tell them they are being discriminated against and insulted by the people of the United States. (We) desperately need their friendship and goodwill . . . and it cannot be bought with American dollars nor rendered certain by American oratory."

Dr. Van Kirk said he did not advocate unlimited immigration. "Eligibility should be related to personal character, individual worth, and commitment to the ideas of freedom and democracy cherished by the American people," he said.

CHRISTIAN OSBOURN

Concert to Be Given at Salvation Army

The Oshawa Citadel Songsters will be directed in a concert by Christian Osbourn tonight and Sunday at the Salvation Army.

The choir of 50 voices will present concerts of sacred music, both vocal and instrumental, as many of the singers also play brass and wind instruments.

Mr. Osbourn is the eighth leader of the group. His parents were Salvation Army officers and he grew up in an atmosphere of music. He has played in some of the army's finest bands, both in Canada and the United States.

At present he is chairman of the Oshawa Center of the Canadian College of Organists.

Christian College Reopens in Korea

By Religious News Service
SEOUL — Union Christian College reopened here after being closed for 17 years. Ceremonies marking the occasion were held in Yong Nak Presbyterian church, the school's temporary quarters.

Founded in 1907 at Pyongyang, now the capital of Communist North Korea, it was the first college ever established in Korea. The Japanese, who had annexed Korea in 1910, forced the school to close down in 1937 in a dispute over Shinto shrines.

Reopening of the college was made possible by funds from a Korean businessman who attended the school in his youth.

Dr. Han said that more than 1,700 students had applied for admission to its two schools—liberal arts and law and economics—but that only 200 of them could be accommodated.

The college president added that officials of the school hope to return it to its original site in Pyongyang "as soon as Korea is reunified."

Pan-Orthodox Group to Meet Here Sunday

The Pan-Orthodox group composed of all youth of the Metropolitan Area will meet Sunday at 5:30 in St. George Greek Orthodox Church.

The choir of the host church will chant the service and the Rev. Soterios Gouvelis, pastor, will speak from the subject "What Can Orthodoxy and I Do?" Refreshments will be served by the junior and senior GOYA.

Catholics Plan 2 Observances

Family Communion and Marian Day Service to Be Held Sunday

Two special-emphasis events are being observed in Catholic churches of Pontiac on Sunday. All of the churches of Pontiac area have been requested by Edward Cardinal Mooney to make Sunday Family Communion Day. He also has suggested that all the Masses encourage the recitation of appropriate prayers for peace.

At 3 p. m. Sunday a Marian Day service will be held in the University of Detroit Stadium. The ceremony will be conducted around a special altar erected at the north end of the stadium.

Some 85,000 are expected to attend from the Archdiocese of Detroit. Approximately 550 buses have been chartered from Detroit, and altogether around 800 buses are expected to bring the crowds, besides a large number who will go by private car. Eleven buses have been chartered by Pontiac churches.

Seventy-five members of a Memphis Baptist Church erected in one day a new building worth more than $10,000.

Synods Fail to Agree

MILWAUKEE—Top officials of the Lutheran Church—Missouri Synod and the Wisconsin Lutheran Synod ended a conference here without final agreement on a doctrinal dispute which threatens to end their 82-year-old fellowship.

While no decisions were reached, the meeting led to a "better understanding of each other's position," said Dr. John W. Behnken, St. Louis, Mo., president of the Missouri synod, and the Rev. Oscar J. Naumann, St. Paul, Minn

Avondale High Is Accredited

Receives Membership Charter From North Central Assn.

AUBURN HEIGHTS — Principal Roscoe V. Crowell today announced that Avondale High School has received its membership charter from the North Central Assn. of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

Membership in the association entitles any graduate to attend any of the organization's member colleges in 19 states with only the high school's recommendation. Students from non-member schools must take an entrance examination.

"Since only a small percentage of the Michigan schools which applied for membership were admitted, it was a great honor for the school to be accepted on its first attempt to qualify," Crowell said.

Admittance to the association is based on standards of annual reports, organization, qualifications of the administration and teaching staff, requirements for graduation, guidance, library facilities and curriculum.

According to Crowell, the charter will be valid as long as the school continues to meet the conditions of membership.

51 File as Delegates to Political Meetings

Thirty-three Republicans and 18 Democrats have filed petitions for election as delegates to the August county conventions with County Clerk Lynn D. Allen. It was announced today.

Each of the 204 voting precincts in the county is entitled to one delegate at each of the county conventions with delegates being chosen at the Aug. 3 primary.

Deadline for filing is 4 p.m. Tuesday and Allen today urged others planning to file to do so immediately.

2 From Pontiac to Attend Exchange Clubs' Meeting

Delegates Geiston V. Poole and H. Delos Nichol will represent the Pontiac Exchange Club at the 1934 annual convention of the Michigan Exchange Clubs June 13-15, at East Lansing, John J. Lee, president of the local group, announced Friday.

Highlighting activities during the three-day meeting will be installation of new state officers, a state board meeting, an annual banquet, and a tour of the Michigan State College campus by the members' wives.

Detroit's Highest Taxes Certified by Assessors

DETROIT (INS) — Detroit's highest combined tax rate, including both city and board of education levies, was certified today by the board of assessors.

$540,000 Bond Issue Approved

High School, Addition to New Hudson Building Are Provided

SOUTH LYON — By a nearly four to one vote, citizens Thursday approved a $540,000 bond issue providing for a new high school here and an addition to the New Hudson Elementary School.

Also approved was a proposal rate for an additional 20 years.

The bond proposal passed by a vote of 403 to 112, while the millage rate continuation was passed 410-112.

Plans call for construction of a new 300-pupil high school on a 27-acre site adjacent to the South Lyon Elementary School at the end of Warren street. A one-room addition is slated for the New Hudson school.

According to plans drawn up by the architects, Walter Anica and Associates, the high school will be of cinder block construction. Besides 10 classrooms it will have facilities for a library and commercial, agricultural science, music and home economics departments.

There will also be an 800-spectator capacity gymnasium, administrative offices, a kitchen and cafeteria. A bus loading platform will also be provided alongside the building.

The present millage rate, which was voted into effect several years ago for construction of other school buildings, will continue through 1973.

Roam Pastures of Windrow Farms

C. E. Wilson Has Biggest Importation of Hornless Ayrshires in Entire State

By BURDETTE B. ASHLEY

Associated Press Farm Writer

Regardless of his official policy as Secretary of Defense, C. E. Wilson has introduced a "disarmament" note in the pastures of celebrated Windrow Farms near Birmingham, which he operates with his son, Edward E. Wilson.

Windrow Farms has long been noted for its Ayrshire cattle, a breed of dairy cow easily recognized by its red and white coat and long, graceful upswep horns.

But now 11 naturally hornless, or "polled" Ayrshires, purchased from Greenacre Farm in Vermont, roam the pastures of Windrow Farms.

Windrow manager Charles L. Miles said Wilson has been interested for some time in establishing a line of polled animals in addition to the horned cattle.

Miles explained that owners of the new type pen barns, in which cattle are allowed to move about freely instead of being confined in stanchions, are showing considerable interest in polled breeds.

There are other polled Ayrshires in Michigan but the Wilson purchase is the biggest single importation of the breed in the state.

Jim Howe and Andrew Suggars, the Bloomingdale "popcorn kings," are two of the strongest supporters in Michigan of the practice of "planting on the furrow."

Of significance to growers of small fruits and vegetables is the possibility suggested by Howe and Suggars that the same method of planting that works wonders for their corn crop may do as much for small crops.

"Planting on the furrow" simply means plowing the ground and planting in the crack of the tractor wheels. Disc and drag, and the compacting of the earth that results with repeated trips over the ground are eliminated.

The tractor tracks provide a firm seedbed and the ground between lies soft and loose, Suggars says.

He and Howe maintain there's no runoff of rain, that weed seeds in the loose ground between rows do not grow so fast, and that quick grass turned down deep is slow to get started again.

But what might interest fruit and vegetable growers is the fact that Howe has planted red raspberries, strawberries and pickles the same way he does popcorn.

3 Seriously Hurt in 2-Car Crash

Collision at Wyoming and 8-Mile Rd. Occurs Early Today

ROYAL OAK TOWNSHIP — Three persons were reported in serious condition at Mount Carmel Mercy Hospital, Detroit, today after a two-car collision at 8-Mile Rd. and Wyoming early this morning.

Most critically injured were Jerry Terrell, 32, of 10766 Halley Ct., the driver of one car, and Mrs. Louis Cunningham of 10765 Dunlap, a passenger in his car.

The driver of the second car, Philip Mohan, 25, of 10221 Troy, Oak Park is in slightly better condition, the hospital reported.

According to township police, who happened to observe the accident, Terrell's auto was heading east on 8-Mile road at about 60 m.p.h. when it went through a red light, striking Mohan's vehicle.

Police have been unable to question either driver.

Almont Girl Named Class Valedictorian

ALMONT — Attaining a 3.88 honor point average through four years of high school, Marilyn Popp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Popp of Almont, has been named valedictorian of the 1934 class of Almont Community Schools.

Dolores Popp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Popp, has been named salutatorian. Dolores achieved a 3.63 average.

Marilyn is president of the local chapter of National Honor Society, of which she has been a member for two years. She has won scholarship medals in her freshman, sophomore and junior school years.

Dolores is captain of the band, and has been on the girl's basketball team for the past four years. She is treasurer of the Varsity Club, and also is a member of the honor society.

Commencement services will be June 3 in the school auditorium. Speaker will be news commentator Austin Grant.

ORTONVILLE — Baccalaureate service for Brandon Township school graduates will be held at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Brandon Auditorium.

Music will be furnished by the Seymour Lake Methodist Choir, and the invocation and benediction will be given by the Rev. Edward Humphrey.

Demonstration Group Re-elects Its Officers

LAKE ORION — The Orionettes Home Demonstration Group, formerly the Pontiac-Lake Orion group, re-elected present officers at a recent meeting, with the exception of vice chairman.

Mrs. Herbert Kottke was named to the post. The group decided to donate funds to the community youth center project.

Veterans Asked to March on Memorial Day

ROME — A call has been sent out to all veterans living in the Rome area to participate in the Memorial Day parade which will be staged May 31.

All ex-GIs, whether members of veterans organizations or not, have been invited to march. Participants are asked to wear their uniforms, if possible.

The parade will assemble at the North Grade School at 10 a. m. A service will be held at the Rome Cemetery following the parade.

Nurses Meet to Form Association

ROME — Initial meeting to form a nurses' organization was held recently at the home of Mrs. Donald Burley in Almont. Attending were 26 nurses from the region of the proposed area hospital.

According to a spokesman, the group hopes to form a district association.

The organization, she added, is chiefly concerned with working in conjunction with the new hospital. Another objective will be to work as a unit in case of disaster in the immediate region.

Officers of the new group are Mrs. Maurice Doebler, chairman; Mrs. Pat Bryce, vice chairman; Mrs. Dorothy Shoenfeld, secretary, and Mrs. Donald Burley, treasurer.

A second meeting is set for June 8 at the home of Mrs. Ralph Turner, 69110 Campground Rd.

Extension Group Given Table Setting Lesson

HOLLY — "Table Arrangements and Centerpieces" was the lesson for the Mt. Bethel Extension group meeting at the home of Wilma Stewart of Orionville this week.

New officers elected were Virginia Wood, chairman; Ethel Riggs, vice chairman; Lillian Brondige, secretary, and Mary Wudarcik, treasurer.

Senate Defeats 18 Voting Age

Southerners Gang Up on Bill; Defend States' Rights to Set Limit

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's request to lower the voting age from 21 to 18 years was doomed for this session of Congress today by a solid line of 24 Democratic senators.

The minority party members—mostly Southerners—killed the proposed constitutional amendment in the Senate late yesterday when supporters were able to round up only 34 votes. That fell far short of the two-to-one majority required to approve the constitutional change and send it to the house for a similar test.

While Eisenhower's request was also pending in the House it was believed futile for that body to even consider the amendment at this session after the senate turn-down.

Not a Republican opposed the amendment in yesterday's record vote although two, Hugh Butler of Nebraska and Malone of Nevada, were paired against it. Only seven of the 47 Democrats voted for it, while seven others were paired in its favor.

It was the second recent setback for an Eisenhower legislative proposal by the Senate. Democrats earlier were chiefly responsible for shelving, 50 to 42, Eisenhower's request for changes in the Taft-Hartley Labor Law.

Opponents of the proposed constitutional change were led by Sen. Russell (D-Ga.), who bitterly assailed it as "an implied insult" to governors and legislatures of all the 48 states.

Russell's home state of Georgia now is the only one that permits 18 year olds to vote. Although the Georgia senator said he is not opposed to an 18-year-old vote as such, he said the decision should be left up to each state individually.

Chairman Langer (R-ND) of the Senate Judiciary Committee, who has often sided against Eisenhower on other matters, this time teamed with Republican Leader Knowland (Calif) and Republican Sens. Dirksen (Ill) and Ferguson (Mich) in speaking for the lower voting age.

Both Knowland and Langer predicted Congress eventually will approve an 18-year-old minimum for voters—a change that has been proposed in Congress for years. All states except Georgia now set the legal age at 21.

Betty Hutton Charges Cruelty in Divorce Suit

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actress Betty Hutton charged extreme mental cruelty in a divorce suit filed yesterday against dance director Charles O'Curran, 39.

The 33-year-old star asked return of her maiden name and said there is no community property. The couple married March 18, 1952.

Miss Hutton divorced Ted Brislin, Chicago camera manufacturer in April 1950 and again, after a reconciliation, in January 1951.

Frogman Sport Is Growing From Coast-to-Coast

LAWRENCE, Mass. (INS)—Roaming under the water has become a great sport from coast to coast.

The National Frogman's Club, a non-profit organization formed three years ago in California, has spread to the Atlantic seaboard and now has 60,000 members.

A chapter has been formed in Lawrence, known as the Spear Fin Club. It has 75 members, including Bill Loeffler, a business man who has made a 35-minute motion picture of scenes under the surface of the Atlantic.

Underwater demolition teams of the navy during World War II gave the sport its start. With suit, flippers, masks, spear gun, snorkel or aqua lung the clubmen explore the deep.

The Lawrence clubmen put out of Plum Island aboard a raft, going 300 feet off shore. The raft is rigged with a window porthole to allow those aboard to see the mates below.

The pal swimming idea is used—that is when a descent to low levels is planned a pal is along with a line. Some divers go down 400 feet but the members of the frogmen generally limit their submergence to 75 feet.

Photography, spear fishing, locating submerged objects and recovering bodies have been engaged in by the frogmen.

An average motorist takes three-fourths of a second to react and apply his brakes when he sees the need to stop.

3 Children, Sitter Asphyxiate in Boston

BOSTON (INS)—Three small children and a young woman were killed today and three other children when a lighted water heater consumed the oxygen in their south Boston home.

Dead on arrival at Boston City Hospital were Peter Pittore, 4½, Kathleen, 15 months, Arthur, five months, and Irene Tossi, 18, of Hyde Park, a friend of the family.

In critical condition at the same hospital were Adelaide Pittore, 18, her brother, Arthur, 8, and Elizabeth, five months, a twin of one of the victims.

Peter Pittore, discovered the tragedy when they returned home from a night out.

Nickel Lender Finally Gets Proper Thanks

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Police traffic clerk Neldon Barker has "loaned" many nickels to motorists for parking meters—and then forgot about the coins.

But a thankful woman driver recently mailed him 5 cents.

"That's the first time," Barker exclaimed, "that anybody ever returned a borrowed nickel!" She also sent him two fine linen handkerchiefs.

GOP Governor Gets Nomination

But Congressman, 79, Is Defeated by Oregon Party Voters

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Oregon's Republican voters gave Gov. Paul L. Patterson a smashing victory yesterday in his fight for the gubernatorial nomination, but they apparently defeated Congressman Homer D. Angell, 79-year-old dean of the state's congressional delegation.

While Patterson snowed under Secretary of State Earl T. Newberry and thus won a vote of confidence for his 17-months-old administration, a 41-year-old radio commentator, Tom Lawson McCall, was scoring a surprising upset over the veteran Angell who has served in Congress since 1939.

Returns from 1,826 of the state's 2,499 precincts gave Patterson a 97,767 to 36,211 lead over Newberry. McCall, whose only venture into politics was 31 months' service as secretary to Interior Secretary Douglas McKay when the latter was governor, held a lead of 19,909 to 14,022 over Angell in 591 of the district's 815 precincts. The third candidate, A. W. Lafferty, had 1,567 votes. The district consists of Multnomah County, which includes Portland.

In November, Patterson, who became governor Dec. 17, 1952, when McKay resigned to enter President Eisenhower's cabinet, will face Joseph K. Carson Jr., former Portland mayor who has been on the United States Maritime Commission, Carson had no opposition for the Democratic nomination.

The winner of the Angell-McCall race will run against Mrs. Edith Green, Portland club, civic and parent-teacher leader. She won the Democratic nomination easily.

Secretary McKay's power policy, in which he advocates a partnership between public and private power agencies, came under some fire in the quiet campaign.

But the power issue will figure heavily in November, when U.S. Sen. Guy Cordon fights for reelection against State Sen. Richard L. Neuberger, Portland author. Cordon won Republican renomination without opposition, and Neuberger had no Democratic opponent.

The Story of a Diamond

Before we exhibit a diamond in our showcase, we first place it in the Diamond-scope (A), where with the help of this light-penetrating microscope, we judge it for clarity and cutting. Next, the Diamond-lite (B) measures it against master stones to determine color. After weighing for carat weight on our diamond scales (C), we can then price it accurately. This system of diamond grading is used exclusively by us and our fellow Registered Jewelers, American Gem Society. Convenient Budget Terms Available.

We have mounting styles to suit any taste and a diamond prior to suit any budget. We invite you to shop.

Unforgettable Moments in Television

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD — What are your most memorable moments in television?

Day by day the TV tube pours forth its unending stream of humdrum entertainment. But there are moments—all too rare when the screen comes alive with unforgettable scenes. Recently I was mesmerized through my favorite TV memories, and these came to mind:

The fire on the floor of the 1952 Democratic National Convention, a startling climax to an already dramatic scene. The "loyalty oath" issue was being debated hotly when the incident occurred. A quick-witted delegate grabbed a mike and prevented panic.

The first guesting of Martin and Lewis with Milton Berle. "Mr. Television" found his match in the brand-new young comics. It was tops for sheer hilarity.

Lucille Ball's battle with the assembly line in a candy factory. It was one of the first in the "I Love Lucy" series and hasn't been equalled.

Bobby Thomson's homer in the ninth inning, winning the 1951 pennant for the Giants over the Dodgers. A real Frank Merriwell finish.

The exchange between Dean Acheson and the Russian delegate at the Japanese peace conference in San Francisco. There was added drama in the realization that history was being watched from coast to coast for the first time. It was the first transcontinental telecast.

The tramp number of Sid Caesar and Imogene Coca on "Show of Shows."

The funeral train sequence in the Abraham Lincoln series on omnibus. It captured the era and the republic's sorrow for the martyred President.

The Ethel Merman-Mary Martin duet on the Ford 50th anniversary show.

The attempted rescue of Kathy Fiscus, the little girl who fell down a pipe. In the early days of local telecasting, it electrified viewers, who sat before their sets for hours until the tragic ending.

Rocky Marciano's defeat of Joe Louis, 1951.

9 Persons Testify in Trial of Warner

Nine persons testified Friday in the trial of Donald G. Warner, 29-year-old Avon Township man accused of the first degree murder of his wife, Barbara, in their home near Rochester last January.

The Oakland County Circuit Court trial was adjourned by Judge Frank L. Doty until 9:30 a. m. Tuesday when Chief Assistant Prosecutor George F. Taylor and First Assistant Prosecutor Robert D. Long will continue calling witnesses.

Defense attorneys Lewis R. Bebout and Edward A. Potere have indicated Warner's defense will be temporary insanity.

Police said Warner of 2645 Emmons St. admitted shooting his 21-year-old wife Jan. 14 after she started divorce proceedings.

Six Oakland County sheriff's deputies, two doctors and former assistant prosecutor James G. Hartwick took the stand yesterday.

Both Dr. John J. Marra, Pontiac General Hospital pathologist, and Dr. Isaac C. Prevette, Oakland County deputy coroner, testified that Mrs. Warner's death resulted from a bullet wound in the head.

Warner is held in Oakland County Jail pending the outcome of the trial. Long said the prosecution expects to rest its case either Tuesday or Wednesday.

DC3 Crash Kills 3, Hurts 26 in Auckland

AUCKLAND — Three children were killed and 26 other persons received minor injuries today in the flaming crash of a New Zealand National Airways airliner.

The big plane, arriving from Christchurch, limped in a few feet over the sea in obvious trouble. The DC3 sideswiped a house, then swerved into a clump of trees and burst into flames. An elderly couple living in the house narrowly escaped injury when one wing of the plane knifed into their bedroom.

Bystanders rushed to the stricken craft and pulled out the passengers many of whom were suffering from minor burns. The pilot, Capt. William Pettet, suffered shock and burns.

4 Killed, 11 Hurt in Blast at Fireworks Factory

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil — Four persons were killed and 11 gravely injured by an explosion in a secret fireworks factory in the Rio suburb of Caxias yesterday. The blast was believed caused by a careless smoker.

The blast was believed caused by a careless smoker.

Warning Ignored

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UP) — A friend warned a liquor store proprietor Alex Kegelles, there was a suspicious character outside the establishment. "He might be a holdup man," his friend said. Kegelles laughed it off. After the friend left the man entered and robbed Kegelles of $25.

CAMERA DEBUT—Ricci James Martin, born in September of 1953, makes his first appearance before the camera on the set of Paramount's "Living It Up." With him are proud parents Dean and Jeanne Martin. "Daddy and Jerry Lewis are being co-starring in the movie version of Broadway hit, "Hazel Flagg."

Says Medical Men Want Proof of Rabies in Humans

Charles Chapman, chairman of the Oakland County Sportsman's Club's rabies committee, today said several top medical men have challenged authorities to prove that a single human being has ever died of rabies.

Chapman cited the National Fox and Fox Hounds Protective Assn. and Red Ranger Magazine, which quotes several doctors as saying they've never seen a proven case of rabies in a human being.

The magazine says the Humane Education Committee of New Jersey has counted 82 deaths in humans following Pasteur treatment in recent years. Last summer's Aug. 15 New York Daily News told of the death of John Moccia, 23, of inflammation of the brain after a treatment.

"Some of the top medical men seem to believe that humans just do not get rabies," Chapman said. The magazine quoted Dr. Charles W. Dulles, late manager of Pennsylvania University Hospital, as saying that in 30 years he has never seen a human being with rabies.

Other quotes say that symptoms of hydrophobia, meningitis, brain tumors and "rabies" are very similar.

Dr. William Brady believes the so-called "negri bodies" that are supposed to show rabies are merely dwarf blood corpuscles.

As for Pasteur treatments, the late British physician, Dr. Walter R. Hadwen, says that Pasteur's tests on dogs ("boring holes into their skulls and injecting 'virus' from mad dogs into their brains") merely inflamed the dogs' brains, driving them mad.

As for the Pasteur treatment in humans, Dr. J. W. Hodge, Niagara Falls, writes "The Pasteur treatment of people who have been bitten by supposedly mad dogs is without doubt an imposture and a notorious humbug. It has been exposed, discredited and denounced as a disastrous delusion by many of the most distinguished medical scientists of the 19th and 20th centuries."

The magazine says in Jefferson county, Alabama, which has had compulsory rabies vaccination of dogs for 20 years, health authorities found 137 cases of rabies in 1950; 253 cases in 1952; and 405 cases in 1953.

The article quotes another doctor as saying that in other areas, rabies in dogs has actually increased after dog vaccination was started.

Clean-Cut Error Ends in Clean-Up for Dirty Hudson

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UP) — It was a clean case of mistaken identity but everything turned out all right for William Nerreau.

He was hired by Patrolman John Weddington to clean, wax and polish the officer's automobile.

"Here are the keys. It's a 1951 green Hudson. You can't miss it," Weddington told Nerreau.

Several hours later Nerreau was back — in a 1951 Hudson that sparkled in the sun.

"How do you like it?" he asked Weddington proudly.

"Fine," replied the officer, "but it's not my car."

It happened that the keys of Weddington's auto fitted a cream colored car belonging to Ralph Duncan, operator of Art Metals Co. Duncan was so pleased with Nerreau's work he gave him $10 in merchandise.

Today, Nerreau will be back to work on Weddington's car.

AEC Chairman's Job,
Private Industry's Role
Big Problems

By RUSSELL BRINES
WASHINGTON (AP)—Legislators working on President Eisenhower's blueprint for a revised atomic energy law today faced two major bones of contention:

1. How to write into law the job of the Atomic Energy Commission chairman, who is now Lewis L. Strauss.

2. How far private industry should be allowed patent rights on peacetime atomic power improvements.

The Eisenhower-requested omnibus bill, now being considered by the Senate-House Atomic Energy bill is designed to let private industry into the peacetime atomic power field. It also would provide authority for exchanging more weapons and civilian power information with foreign allies.

Reported discontent within AEC ranks was underlined last night with the announcement by James G. Beckerley that he intends to leave his post as the commission's director of classification "before the end of the summer."

In this job, Beckerley plays a key role in selection of data which may or may not be made public.

Beckerley declined to comment on his reasons for quitting, but it was learned he considers the AEC too conservative about releasing atomic information.

During both closed door and public committee hearings so far sharp objections have been voiced against a provision in the original bill naming the AEC chairman as "the principal officer" of the commission.

Reps. Holtfield (D-Calif) and Price (D-Ill), committee members, said it would point toward "one-man" rule of the commission.

Staff officials then rewrote the clause to say that the "chairman, as the principal officer, shall preside at all meetings." The purpose, it was then understood, was to water down the language to avoid a fight.

But Holtfield has said he is strongly opposed to any wording that designates the chairman as "the principal officer." Both he and Price say they will carry the fight to the House floor, if necessary.

Arthur Miller Play Will Be in Ann Arbor

"The Crucible" by Pulitzer prize-winning Arthur Miller is the important play of the University of Michigan Drama Season, filling the third week of the season, May 25-29.

To be staged at the little Lydia Mendelssohn Theatre in Ann Arbor, this newest Arthur Miller play is a shivering real drama of early Salem and witchcraft, and the slanders and persecution resulting.

In the large cast of characters—where almost every man and woman has a leading role—E. G. Marshall stands out. Those theatre-goers who don't know him now will remember for a long time—E. G. Marshall as John Proctor. They will remember, too, Frederic Tozere as Danforth, Virginia Kaye as Dame Proctor, and Patricia Barry as Abigail. Patricia Barry, by the way, is the daughter-in-law of the famous playwright, Philip Barry.

Starting Tuesday night, evening performances will begin at 8:30, the Thursday and Saturday matinees at 2:30.

background for LIVING

WRIGHT HOUSES GROW FROM THE GROUND — A view from the balcony porch which runs along the side of the Gregor Affleck home reveals the clean lines of Frank Lloyd Wright design. Exterior of cypress and red brick are congenial with the sloping hillside of their Bloomfield Hills home. The vertical window section marks the loggia and the tiny windows, a Wright trademark for bedroom areas, break the wall line of the third level wing. Now 84 years of age, Wright will lecture on May 27 before the American Institute of Architects in Detroit's Masonic Temple auditorium.

LOGGIA LINES REACH UP — Space is infinite in this brick and cypress walled loggia in the Gregor Affleck home in Bloomfield Hills. By using skylights, Frank Lloyd Wright brings the sky inside in the room whose only decor is the beauty of simplicity of line, material and luxuriant greenery. Nature, says Wright, is as much at home inside a house as outside. A rectangular shaped floor insert built of cypress wood is a glass-floored planter in the winter time and an air conditioning facility in the summer time when screens replace the glass. Strong currents of air come up from the ground area of the house and produce a natural cooling system, says Mrs. Affleck.

Your Neighbor's House

Frank Lloyd Wright's Organic Design Considered Incomparable by G. Afflecks

By HAZEL A. TRUMBLE

Frank Lloyd Wright has become a way of life to many people. A case in point — the Gregor S. Afflecks, of Bloomfield Hills.

More than an architect to the Afflecks, Wright has been their "constant guest." His presence is felt in the sky-ceilinged two-story high kitchen; again in the loggia where the walls are red brick and the wood is warm cypress with straight, clean lines reaching into infinite space; his master touch is perpetuated in the mitered cypress ceiling designed for the long, living-dining room and in the way he has allowed one room to flow into another without even a minute suggestion of a demarcation line.

Gregor Affleck grew up in Wisconsin where Frank Lloyd Wright has his "Talisin East" at Spring Green. When Affleck decided to build a home in Bloomfield Hills, he knew what he wanted — a Wright design.

Mrs. Affleck recalls that they visited with Wright, told him what they would like in a home and the result was a cantilevered living unit in red brick and cypress. Wright believes that America's major architectural problem is its home designs.

"People do not really know how to live, imagining their idiosyncracies to be their tastes, their prejudices to be their predilections, and their ignorance to be virtue where any beauty of living is concerned," he often has said.

Owners of the first Wright-designed home in this area, the Afflecks have had 13 years of complete and fulfilled living in the organic architecture for which Frank Lloyd Wright is world-famed.

The Affleck home is compatible with its surroundings; it not only gives the illusion of growing out of the ground, it actually SKY MOVES IN — By using skylights for entire ceiling sections, the Affleck home is able to bring the sky inside. This is one of the Wright secrets in creating a feeling of free space. Each window section is framed in cypress wood.

Dean of Architects, 84, to Address AIA

As I'll Work
As I am!

This is the work song of Frank Lloyd Wright, white-haired, octogenarian architect who is revered by his disciples and respected by his antagonists.

Eighty-four productive years have cast his footprints in the stones of time to prove that this prophet of organic architecture is not without honor in his own country. Neither has he been without honor in all the other countries of the world.

The American Institute of Architects will hear this iconoclast of architecture lecture in Detroit's Masonic Temple, May 27. Many will follow Wright's thinking as his ardent disciples and there will be others who will call him revolutionary and a non-conformist—but all will stand in awe of this expansive man who is a vital force in building design.

Wright once said: "To take this matter of an organic architecture a little deeper into the place where it belongs—the human heart—the design matter is really principle at work."

Wright's ideas and ideals will not die with him for he has been able to perpetuate his theories in his many students and followers in architecture. At "Talisin East" in Wisconsin, and "Talisin West" near Phoenix, Ariz., he carries on his "Fellowship" program. Here young students of architecture work with him. He teaches them to use their hands, first in actual basic construction, and then on the drafting boards.

Challenging each pupil to retain his individuality, Wright emphasizes the need for certain basic fundamentals in engineering and design which must always be followed.

The fellowships are carried on in a family group with the young followers having an opportunity for play as well as work.

An admirer of Walt Whitman and Henry David Thoreau, Wright exposes the students to these two "greats" and also insists that good music be part of their daily schedule.

Born in June, 1869, Wright is known as the pioneer of the "open plan." He designed the Imperial Hotel in Tokyo, Japan, which was the only building not leveled during a violent earthquake in the 20s. In New York, he drew plans for the Museum of Non-Objective Art and has done many industrial and commercial buildings besides the homes he is noted for.

GROWING FOLIAGE NATURE'S DECOR — A house grows inside as well as outside in the Wright theory of interior design. More of moving the outdoors indoors and the trend toward allowing the indoors to move outside is the objective of Wright in his organic architecture. This photo was taken from the third level balcony bedroom looking towards the large combination living-dining room.

CYPRESS COMPLIMENTS BRICK IN AFFLECK HOME — Frank Lloyd Wright calls it "organic architecture." Designed by the dean of American architects for the Gregor S. Afflecks of Bloomfield Hills, this home is compatible with the contour of the land. By using native materials, brick and wood, with vast expanses of glass, the vertical cantilevers provide a picture in balance as well as a balanced design for serenity in living. Interior walls match the exterior with red brick and cypress woods. A Frank Lloyd Wright trademark, the tiny over-window wood carvings are as individual as the owners of the Wright designed homes. The greatest contribution made by this famed architect to the world of design is his use of interior "space." No room in a Wright home ever appears to have four walls; fluid lines create an illusion of one room flowing into another. (See other pictures, page 16, 18, 19.)

does by the use of native, basic materials — brick and wood.

Too, the Wright plan includes completing the building in one operation as it goes along, inside and outside. Hence the brick interior walls. The Affleck house is split-levelled in that there is a lower level for recreational area; still another for the kitchen, living room and dining area plus the loggia and a few steps of elevation to the bedroom wing.

Not a single nail has been used in the house. The wooded sections are put together with oval-headed brass screws. The house is devoid of plaster.

Floors, a study in line and earth material, are actually poured, colored concrete slabs. Their glossy coat comes from several waxes a year.

Wright designed cypress furniture to go with the house. In the living-dining room the ceiling is faced with a concealed lighting balcony and home-spun fabrics in warm, vibrant shades of yellow, brown, blues and orange upholster the furniture.

A balcony-type porch area runs across the windowed wall of the living room.

The Affleck's son, Gregor, 28, studied with Wright at both "Taliesin East" in Wisconsin and "Taliesin West," near Phoenix, Ariz.

"The most inspiring experience of my life," said this young man.

Would the Affleck's ever live in any other type of home?

"Never," said Mrs. Affleck. "This is the ultimate in living and I am sure when more people discover what Mr. Wright can do for them in home design, they, too, will find the calmness and serenity possible in this kind of a background."

Watch for Minor Features That Make, Break a Home

Little design details can make or break a house.

Fortunately, this is an era of straightforward design in home exteriors, with the emphasis on good, clean lines. Probably you couldn't get a builder to build a house covered with mid-Victorian scrolls and ornaments even if you tried. Just the same, there are a number of design pitfalls to beware of when buying one of today's new homes. For instance:

Mixture of too many exterior materials. Stone, brick and wood are fine materials, but if they are combined badly they will cut up the appearance of a house and make it seem small.

Frills. Scallops may look just ducky at first glance, but they get mighty boring to come home to night after night. Ask yourself whether such details are really needed, or just tack on.

No terrace. Today's emphasis is on outdoor living at home. A terrace will blend well with grass. Bald spots won't develop on a lawn with a terrace.

High foundation walls. Foundation walls that project well above the ground are unattractive, and a good deal of money has to be spent in plantings to conceal them.

A tiny entrance. Guests like a home that seems to invite them, but a tiny entrance does not do that. Also, the entrance should always offer some protection from the weather, while callers are waiting for you to answer the bell.

A winding entrance walk. Unless you have a mansion set far back from the road, a winding entrance walk will look ridiculous. People like to take a direct course to a house, unless there is good reason for doing otherwise.

Paint Remover Clears Surface for Refinishing

When the old paint coating on a piece of furniture has become so thick or rough that you wish to remove it, the job can be done with paint-and-varnish remover. Apply it to a small area at a time and let it stand until the old coating has softened—about 20 minutes.

Then scrape with a putty knife and steel wool.

Shutters Make Comeback to Add Beauty to Windows

By ELIZABETH HILLYER

Shutters might not have made the comeback they have today if they weren't so well liked for their decorative good looks. But designing eyes discover more good points about them everyday on the practical side.

Of course shutters control light, air and privacy expertly wherever they are used on windows, and they're also idea-full solvers of special problems.

In the sketch at right, the windows were too high, too small and off-center. How could they be made to look lower, larger and as if they belonged? Shutters solved the problem by spreading across the wall in two rows, one below the windows.

The create the effect of an attractively treated window wall and provide one advantage that window treatments sometimes do not when they conceal so much wall where windows should be.

The shutters open to let in the most possible light and air from the windows, and because shutters are often part closed and part open, there's no strangeness to the look of a single window, or two of them, being open while the rest are closed.

New shutters are now being made in quantity and in as great a variety of sizes as they once were when each one was custom made for its particular window.

One new idea is to make them very tall and free-standing, screen style, so they are almost as effective as a wall for room dividing.

These and smaller ones like them can be used to create an entrance effect where an outside door opens into the living room, to separate dining areas from living areas and in other practical room dividing ways.

However, they are often used merely for room decoration, to change the pace from the monotony of flat walls.

Small shutters have so many decorative uses, and are finding their way into rooms where windows are shutterless.

A small pair is shown in the sketch set in front of a conventionally draped window, where they can provide privacy when the draperies are open, as well as extra interest for the window treatment.

Other ideas for small shutters are their use as radiator cover-ups, as new fronts for door chests, and as screen-like shields for high windows over built-in bookcases, where they are set on the bookcase tops rather than attached to the windows.

128 Trees for Each Baby

A baby is born in the United States every eight seconds. One hundred twenty eight trees are planted for every baby born — to assure enough lumber for future housing needs.

Railroad Runs Traveling School for Farmers

A railroad classroom for farmers will enroll its one hundred thousand student early this season, according to a railway magazine. The bright yellow mobile school is a rebuilt passenger car that the Union Pacific railroad sends through the West to promote scientific farming.

The faculty is made up of a Union Pacific agricultural supervisor and six regional representatives. Visiting lecturers include state college agronomists and dairy and soil specialists. The car, with its film library of 30 motion pictures, a public address system, and an automatic record player, has traveled 60,000 miles since its maiden run early in 1948, the magazine says.

It's a wise idea to treat fabrics and leather articles with a fungicide before they are stored away in the attic or storeroom for the summer. This will prevent them being damaged by mildew should the area be damp and poorly ventilated.

Radioactivity Traces Heating System Leak

If your radiant heating system leaks don't tear up the whole floor.

Just send for a couple of physicist friends like Robert Marden did in Weston, Mass. The physicists brought along their Geiger counters, injected radioactive iodine 131 into the pipes and traced it. They located the leak within two inches.

When giving a wood a light-colored stain, keep in mind the fact that wood will naturally darken a little. It's best, therefore, to use a stain a little lighter in color than you want the finished job.

April Building Gains on March

Year's First 4 Months Also Ahead of Same Period Year Ago

WASHINGTON (UP)—Construction work moved along at a record pace again last month, the government reported today.

New construction in April totaled $2,800,000,000, nine per cent above March. This brought the total so far this year to $10 billion, slightly above the first four months of boom 1953.

The joint construction report by the Commerce and Labor Departments was the second set of favorable business statistics issued by the government within a week. The Commerce Department last Thursday said that manufacturers' business picked up substantially in March.

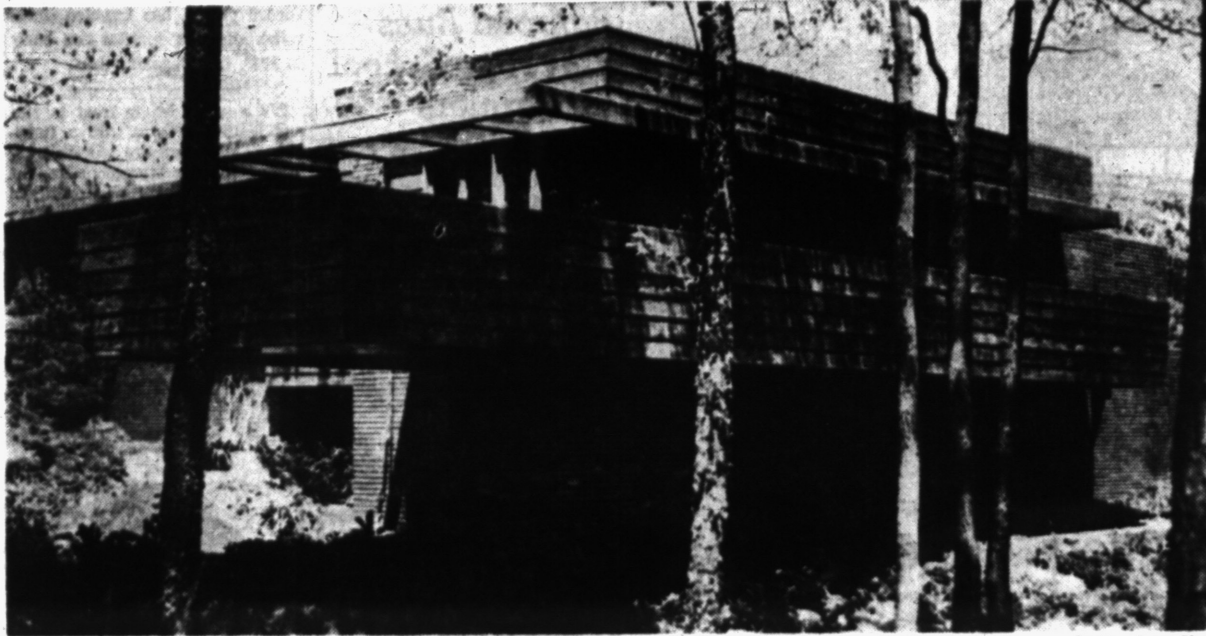

These reports lent support to beliefs, expressed by some government and private economists that the economic decline has been halted. Their evaluations of the situation varied from "a leveling off" to a "moderate upturn."

Economists and businessmen generally said they do not expect a general upturn until next fall. And some cautioned that business then may level off for many months at a level below the 1953 peak.

But even then, such business activity would spell prosperity by pre-1953 standards.

Paint Tree Wounds

When the bark of a tree is scraped off, cover the wound with tree paint or a coat of fresh white shellac as soon as possible. This prevents decay and fungus infection and permits the scar to heal.

CANTILEVERS PART OF WRIGHT PLAN — Brick columns support cypress framed cantilevers in the Gregor Affleck home designed by Frank Lloyd Wright. The long balcony facility is accessible from the second level combination living-dining room and is an outdoor living room and porch. In a heavily wooded area, an abundance of shade is provided in the summer months.

See New Homes for Style Ideas

Before Beginning Job of Remodeling, Borrow Design Features

Before remodeling — whether the project is the family home, a bargain bungalow, or an old stable like the one of a Tucson, Ariz., family — take time to do some idea-shopping in new homes.

Many of the best ideas of today's houses can be applied just as successfully by a clever remodeler. Built-in storage, a fireplace that works well, large areas of glass to let light and lawn become part of the room — all these things give the same measure of livability to an old home as to a new one.

If the structure you start with is blessed with simple lines, you're in luck. It will be able to meet window walls, carports and overhanging eaves on their own styling level.

That's one reason the Tucson couple had the courage to tackle the old, long, gable-roofed horse stable. Its lines were so clean that, with few structural changes, they could incorporate many contemporary ideas. In fact, they believe their finished home almost looks like a new house.

So, borrow new-house ideas. By smart remodeling, you can enjoy open-plan living and built-in convenience right now.

Proper Care Is Essential to Guard Furniture Finish

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

If you're the proud owner of a fine piece of new furniture, resolve to keep your prized possession shining. Modern finishes, wonderful as they are, only can protect the fine woods.

Washers, Water Create Hazards

Ground Wire Needed to Drain Off Electricity Leaks

Washing machines, dryers, dishwashers and other electrical appliances involving water can be dangerous hazards in a home if they are not grounded properly.

Wet hands are common in the operation of these appliances. And tap water is conductor of electricity. If motor insulation breaks down, or other internal wiring fails, the metal housing of these appliances can become charged with electricity.

Three-wire outlets for such appliances, with the third wire grounded, are the safest insurance against shock or tragedy. Since 110, 115 and 120 volts, commonly used in home current, can prove fatal under certain circumstances, the use of the word "tragedy" is no exaggeration.

Three-wire grounded circuits are specified for such appliances by the National Electrical Code. So if you plan to install your own washing machine, dishwasher, or other electrical appliance that has anything to do with water, it is wise to familiarize yourself with the grounding system.

Three-wire plugs are attached to three-wire rubber cable. The third, or grounding wire, connects to a bolt or screw in the frame of the appliance. Through the third prong on the plug, this grounding wire connects with the receptacle box, which is grounded.

This permits leaking current to flow into the ground instead of shocking you when you touch the appliance housing and provide a ground circuit through your body.

Safety experts now consider ungrounded electrical equipment of any type hazardous because of the likelihood of contact with stoves, radiators, sinks and other grounding agents.

Modern house wiring is grounded properly when installed. One wire of the circuit will be noticed to be identified as the grounded wire by a white or gray covering.

Sanding, Shellac Result in Natural Wood Finish

Sand Down to Bare Wood Before Using Shellac

A natural wood finish can be obtained on kitchen cabinets by sanding down to the bare wood. A thin coat of pure white shellac is then applied. Further sanding and additional coats of very thin shellac will provide a protective finish against cooking greases.

They don't abolish the home-maker's need for her cleaning kit. Some manufacturers provide instruction booklets on the proper care of their furniture. If you have a booklet, pay attention to these directions.

In talking with the people who make fine furniture, I've picked up some tips that may be helpful, especially to the newly married housekeeper who hasn't yet evolved her own housekeeping routine.

Regular dusting — every day, or every other day — keeps your furniture looking better. It also helps to prevent damage from abrasive specks of dust.

This is particularly important in the care of the new pale-toned or natural finishes. Accumulated grime can work its way into the fiber of the wood and permanently darken it.

For this reason some experts recommend routine washing with soap and water. How often depends on the finish, the climate and your furniture expert's advice. One authority says once a month; another says twice a year. A young homemaker I know, living in a midwestern city, bathes her walnut woods every three months.

This isn't a slapdash operation. You need to work carefully, yet quickly, to get up the grime without soaking the wood.

Sponge dry lather from the top of the suds onto a small area, rinse at once with a soft cloth wrung out in warm water and wipe dry before proceeding to the next section.

Let the piece dry thoroughly before shining up the surface with wax or a non-oily polish.

Although most furniture manufacturers recommend waxing or polishing the wood, they do caution not to overdo it. A very thin coating of wax, spread over the surface and rubbed to a gloss with your strong right arm will leave a durable, protective finish.

With paste or liquid waxes or polishes, it's necessary to use spotlessly clean, soft cloths to avoid rubbing in the dirt.

Lacquered wood finishes should be treated with non-oily polishes.

Smooth Floors Cut Rug Wear

Padding Levels Ridges, Reduces Uneven Spots, Adds Covering Life

A smooth floor surface is very important when you plan to lay linoleum or other floor covering.

Any loose boards must be nailed down and any large cracks should be filled and smoothed if you want to prevent your floor covering from wearing unevenly over the ridges created by the basic floor.

"When you put down linoleum," says John Carlton, "be sure to use regular felt underlayment, which is made for this purpose."

"The felt is cemented to your wood floor and then you cement the linoleum to the felt — using the regular adhesive which is recommended by your floor covering dealer."

"The easiest way to figure the amount of linoleum you'll need for a room is to sketch a floor plan of the room, taking careful measurements and putting all measurements on the sketch. Take this sketch to your floor covering dealer and he can figure the right amount of materials you will need."

"I used a rubber cove base around the edges of the linoleum. This cove base fits on top of the linoleum, conceals any crack you may leave between the linoleum and the wall. The cove curves upward along the wall to guard against soiling when the floor is mopped."

Carlton put an inlaid ribbon strip of yellow linoleum in his maroon floor covering to form a border. To do this he cut the linoleum to accommodate the ribbon, ripped up the cut piece and set the ribbon in place.

Paint the shutters of a house a different color and you can change the appearance of the entire house.

Mineral Spirits Are More Economical

You can save a lot by using mineral spirits where possible, instead of turpentine.

Mineral spirits are fine for cleaning paint brushes, or keeping them in condition overnight, as well as for thinning oil paints.

Ask your paint dealer about where and when you can use spirits.

Start at Bottom When Washing Wall Surfaces

To wash a wall, start at the bottom and work up.

If you start at the top, the dirty water runs down over the dirty surface below and makes the dirt on the lower wall stick harder.

If you start at the bottom, dirty water running down over the clean surface is easier to sponge off as you go.

Experimenters also have found that the easiest way to remove finger marks from a painted surface is to wet the marks with a cleaning solution, allow it to remain a few minutes to soften the dirt, then sponge it off with a circular motion.

After any painted area is washed, it should be rinsed thoroughly with clear water.

Build Your Own Shuffleboard

Narrow Strip in Yard
Only Thing Necessary to Construct Court

You don't need an estate to have a private shuffleboard court. A narrow strip in the garden or back yard will give you room aplenty to build one.

The regulation shuffleboard court is 32 feet long and six feet wide.

They are made with concrete, and the surface should be smooth and even so the discs can slide along easily.

When laying out the court be sure that the area is level and well packed inside the forms.
Usually, 2x4's held in place by stakes are used for forms.

The construction of a shuffleboard court differs little from that of a well-built sidewalk or driveway, except that more attention is given to securing the proper finish.

In finishing the wearing surface of the court, the concrete should be fairly stiff and require light tamping to settle it in place.

The surface should be brought to grade with a straightedge, leveled with a wood float and again tested with a wood straightedge.

You should delay steel-troweling until the water sheen on the surface is disappearing and until the concrete is stiff enough so that an excessive amount of fine material will not be brought to the surface by the trowel.

At this time the concrete will bear the weight of the finished on knee boards. It should then be steel-troweled until the desired finish is obtained.

Curing is one of the most important operations in the construction of the court. If the concrete is not cured, the mixing water needed for hardening evaporates too rapidly and may cause the surface to crack later on. Premature drying also causes the surface to dust under play.

As soon as the concrete is hard enough to resist marring, the curing process should start and last for a period of seven days. The method of curing will depend on the conditions at hand. A two-inch layer of clean sand, or a covering of burlap, kept wet for the period, are excellent methods.

If you are in doubt about the plans or construction of a shuffleboard court just inquire at the local dealer who handles cement products.

Many Styles, Materials Available

Deciding Which Type of Window to Buy Poses Problem for Builder, Remodeler

of the trickiest problems encountered when planning to remodel or build a house. There are more styles and types of windows on the market today than you can shake a stick at.

Some open, some don't—even when they are supposed to. The movable kinds range from finely precision devices to near gadgets, as you probably have observed.

So much has been said recently about various windows that a look at real modern millwork reveals some big surprises for most of us.

For instance, have you noticed that the old-fashioned sash window is gone? Have you seen the windows that you can wash in the middle of the living room floor?
And have you heard of "treated" windows.

The sash weight may be mourned by writers of murder mysteries, but not by householders who have tried to cope with a broken sash cord.

These clumsy devices have been replaced by spring balances, carefully matched to the weight of the window for easy operation.

The spring balances don't take up as much space as the sash weight arrangement, so window frames are much narrower than they used to be. Narrow frames prove to be better looking and result in more wall area, more glass area in a window, or both.

Washing the outside of a window in the middle of the living room floor is much less of a trick nowadays than risking your neck by sitting out on the sill.

New double-hung windows are made to be taken out at will. A flick of the finger a slight push and a gentle lift does it. Various built-in devices make it possible.

Among other improvements are better methods of weatherstripping.
A great many modern windows are manufactured as units. The sash and frame are matched to each other and used as one assembly. This permits installing weatherstripping at the factory by carefully engineered methods. Complete units are easier and less expensive to install.

A "treated" window is one that has been immersed in water-repellent preservative.

This protects the wood from moisture and holds shrinking, swelling, warping and rotting to a negligible minimum. The treatment does not discolor the wood and it serves as an excellent base for paint.

Windows and doors, of course, are the principal moving parts of a house. So experience has been a great teacher for the millwork manufacturers.

About half a century ago, almost any handy soft wood was used for millwork. But when abrasive wear caused some woods to splinter and disintegrate in other ways, research began.

One reason wood framed windows hold their popularity is because of the insulating capacity of wood. On cold winter days, metal window frames drip with condensation. Double glazing may insulate the panes enough to keep the glass clear, but metal frames still "sweat."

Of course, everything seems to have its advantages and disadvantages. There is no denying that

Car Trunk Holds Backyard Pool, 20 Feet Wide

NEW YORK (UP) — This summer the home wading pool will come family-size: three feet deep and 20 feet in diameter.

The circular pool—consisting of a sturdy wire fence and a flexible plastic liner — is entirely above ground. All it requires is a level stretch of lawn or backyard.

You first set up the fence and then fit the heavy-gauge liner into place. After smoothing down the floor and sidewalls, the wading pool is ready to hold some 7,000 gallons of water.

The plastic seams are electronically welded to prevent leakage. A hose outlet drains the pool, which can be cleaned easily.

In the 20-foot model, which covers more than 300 square feet, adults as well as youngsters can enjoy a cooling dip.

When the pool is not in use, the fence can be rolled up, and the liner folded so compactly that they fit into the trunk compartment of a car.

Smooth Floors Easier to Clean

Decorators Stressing Kitchen-Type Coverings for Entire House

If you like the easy, wipe-up care that bathroom and kitchen floors thrive on, why not enjoy the same smooth floor coverings in other rooms of the house as well?

Today, professional decorators are using more and more smooth floors, not only because they're practical, but because they're so attractive. A quick look through a dealer's stock of colors and patterns will show that they're no longer kitchen-y. They've been designed for use in any room.

If you're your own decorator, begin by choosing the proper material for the surface on which it will lie and the proper pattern for the furnishings to be used with it. A dealer can help you make these choices.

Study the room for corrections you can make with a carefully planned floor. For example, adjoining small living and dining rooms look more spacious with a continuous floor treatment through both rooms.

On the other hand, a large, many-purpose room is more inviting if divided into use areas with different floor treatments. The right floor can even change the apparent size and shape of a room.

Adding Windows to Room Liable to Increase Heat Loss

The home owner who may be considering modernizing his middle-age house will do well to include "comfortizing" while modernizing. This is the suggestion of the National Warm Air Heating and Air-Conditioning Assn., which states that any structural changes made to an existing house must be accompanied by compensating changes in the heating system in order to provide continued comfort.

For example, the size and number of windows in a room have a direct bearing on the amount of heat that is introduced into that room from the furnace.

Glass loses heat faster than any other type of building material. Of two rooms of equal size, the room with more window glass area will require more heat.

Therefore, if you plan to install a large picture window in a room formerly equipped with smaller windows, you may find it wise to check with a heating man to learn whether the registers in the room provide sufficient heating capacity to meet the added heat demands created by the larger glass area.

It may be necessary to install another duct and add another register to adequately heat the remodeled room. Wintertime enjoyment of picture windows can be best experienced only when the room in which the window is located is comfortably warm.

A new surface of durable asphalt shingles can usually be laid right over the old roofing for an economical job which retains the insulation value of the worn material.

Home Buyers Asking for Two Bathrooms

Building an extra bath in a house is almost sure to be a good investment.

The Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau says a survey has shown that 75 out of every 100 home buyers want more than one bathroom. One bath and a powder room was asked for by 47 per cent; two baths by 21 per cent, and two baths and an extra lavatory by 7 per cent.

Make Do

MAKE DO—When a ladder must be placed directly in front of a window, lash a strong board across the upper end of the ladder and pad the ends of the board to avoid marring paint on the trim. Rags will serve as pads.

Ceilings Take Paint First
When painting a room, do the ceiling first, walls next, wood-work last. When painting a paneled door, coat panels first, center rail next, then top and bottom rails, then vertical stiles, and edges last.

Cutting Scallops Not Hard When Laid Out Properly

Cutting symmetrical scallops in a valance board is no trick if you plan your project carefully. You can use a plate or tin can to pattern the design.

Graceful scallops are easy to cut by using a sheet of tempered hard-board, 1/4-inch thick, for the front of the valance. The top and ends of the box can be ordinary 1/4-inch lumber to provide nailing surfaces.

The width of the end pieces is determined by the type of curtains, drapes and fluorescent lighting fixtures to be installed.

Ample space must be allowed for ruffled or pleated headings on curtains. But it's a good rule not to exceed 7 1/4 inches from the window trim to the inner side of the valance front.

Brackets to hold the cornice box are screwed to the window trim and trued up; then the cornice box is bolted to the brackets.

After deciding on the size of scallop desired, by trying various plates and pans available, plot your curves by drawing a line parallel to the edge of the valance board at a distance to equal less than half the radius (see table).

Then using the measurement in A, shown in the accompanying diagram, mark off points on the line across the board. Place your plate or other pattern between the pairs of dots, alternately as indicated in the diagram and draw around the edge of the pattern from dot to dot.

The scallops can then be cut with a jig saw, coping saw or key-hole saw. Bevel the edges slightly with a sandblock or rasp.

Here are some approximate measurements you'll find handy for patterns:

ITEM	DIAMETER	A	B
1 lb. coffee can	5 1/4"	3 1/4"	1 1/4"
Soup plate	6"	4 1/4"	1 1/4"
Salad Plate	7"	5 1/4"	1 1/4"
Dinner Plate	9"	6 1/4"	1 1/4"
Large Dinner Plate	9 1/4"	6 1/4"	1 1/4"

Bathrooms Need Overhauling Too

Clean Medicine Chest,
Refinish Wall Surface,
Freshen Up

When thinking of summer slip covers for the living room, don't forget that the bathroom may need some summer freshening too. Tired towels, marred finishes and overloaded medicine chests spoil the appearance of a bathroom at any time of year, and they are particularly depressing in summer. That's a time everyone expects freshness and a new and shining look on everything.

Review your towel and bath-mat situation first. Perhaps it's time to put those special towels, hung out for guests only into daily use. Perhaps you've let your towels become too much a miscellaneous assortment of colors.

Check wall finishes, particularly over the tub. If paint is peeling or other finishes getting shabby, a good plan is to have the bathroom refinished.

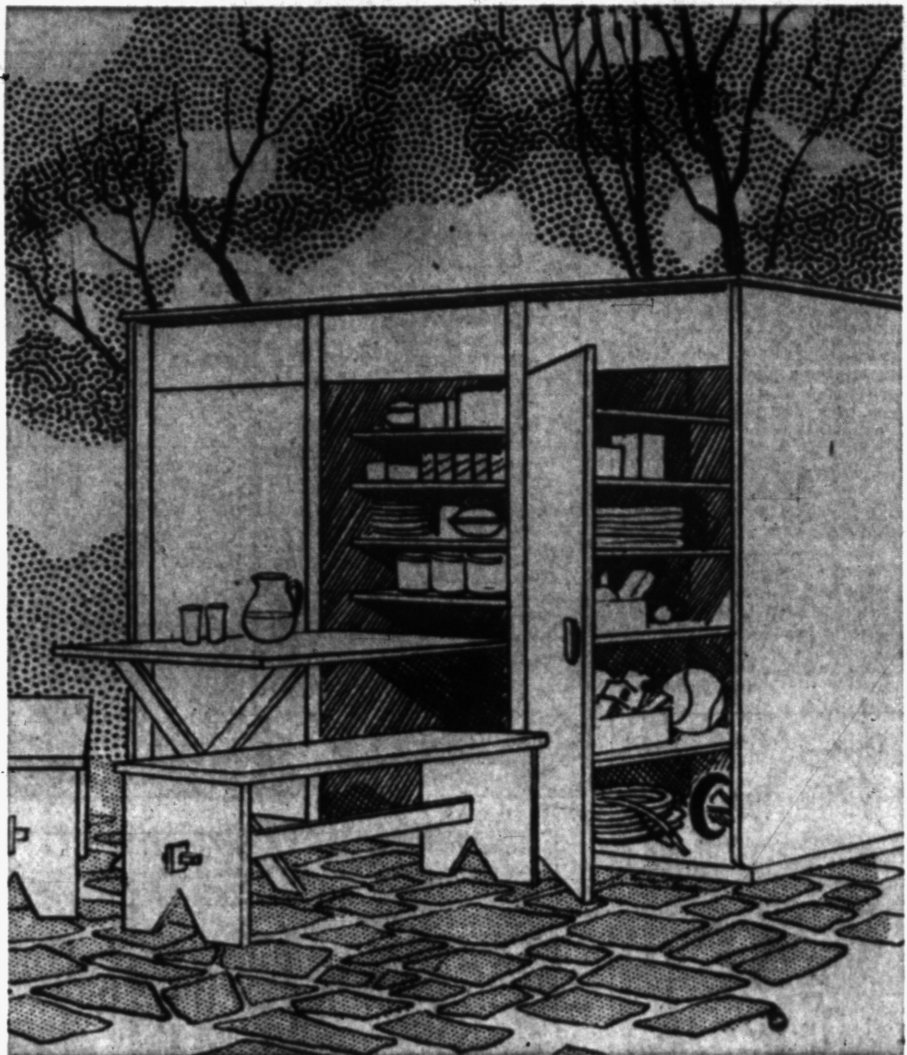

Look over the shower curtain. If it is not in good condition now is the time to replace it. Avoid a sharply contrasting color, for it will just make the bathroom seem smaller.

Clean out the medicine closet. Every family has a score of remedies and medicines for which it no longer has use. It's a good idea to know what dangerous medicines you have on hand. If you have small children, be sure and medicines are stored where small fingers can't reach them.

If you need a little more storage in the bathroom consider having your husband build some simple open shelves over the water closet or opposite the medicine chest. Many bathroom supplies are in attractive containers that can be displayed well on such shelves.

STORAGE WALL—A facility which adds elegance to backyard recreation center and provides a handy place to keep things in winter and summer.

Outdoor Storage Units Hold Equipment for Lawn, Recreation All Year 'Round

What could be better with spring and summer coming on than an outdoor storage unit?

It can serve the backyard dining and recreation center during the sunny months and become a storehouse for yard and garden equipment all year round.

Here's a plywood outdoor storage wall that's just the ticket.

As handsome as it is useful, this "outdoor built-in" features both storage and work space. Garden tools, fertilizer, children's toys, outdoor games and barbecue equipment can be stored with room to spare in its spacious lockers.

There is plenty of shelf space for pots and plants and its unique center door can be folded down for summer dining or a garden work table.

The storage wall can be built either as a free standing unit anywhere in the yard or as an incorporate part of the house or garage.

For example, if built separately, a frame roof can be extended from it to form a shaded terrace over any portion of a patio.

When built at right angles to the house, it affords a private work and play center which can be further protected by a canvas roof extended from both house and storage wall.

Or it can become an integral part of the garage either at one side or at the rear.

Eight feet high by 12 feet long by four feet deep, the spacious unit is so simple and fundamental in design that it can be built easily by the "week-end" or home craftsman—with a few basic tools.

Paneling, doors, shelves and roof are all exterior type plywood with 100 per cent waterproof glue manufactured to withstand year-round exposure without deterioration.

Of course, proper finishing of the material is necessary to insure maximum performance. Frame-work is lumber and fittings are all standard.

To provide a permanent foundation for the unit, it either should be bolted to an already existent patio floor of stone or concrete or to a similar foundation laid especially for it. Make certain all wood in direct contact with ground is properly treated.

Here's what you'll need to build this outdoor storage wall:
Plywood—5 panels 4' good one side (Plyshield grade); 4 panels 4' good two sides (EXTDFA. A-A); 3 panels 4' good one side (Plyshield grade).

Lumber—2x4's, 136' 1x3's, 84' 1x2's 60', 1x1's, 22' 2x2's, 12'. Hardware and Miscellaneous—6 6" T-hinges; 6 hooks and eyes; 10 1/2" anchor bolts with nuts and washers; 10 sacks Portland cement for concrete slab of 1-2 1/2' 3' mix; all exposed hardware should be galvanized.

Construction plans for this unit can be obtained by writing Douglas Fir Plywood Assn., Tacoma, 2, Wash.

Power Tools Seen Boon to Home Building

Without portable power tools the postwar housing shortage could not have been eased as quickly as it has been. Many jobs slowly "done by hand" in the '20s are performed quickly today by electric saws, drills, sanders and other portable tools, saving money for the buyer of the house.

Power saws have reduced the time needed for wood-cutting operations from hours to minutes. Equipped with abrasive discs, tools easily cut through tile, concrete, metals, and composition materials.

Electric floor sanders and edgers, the magazine says, not only speed occupancy of new homes, but are also widely used in restoring drab floor in older houses. Oscillating sanders are used to make gypsum wallboard joints invisible. This tool is also used in wood-finishing.

Court Rules Convicts Have No Patent Rights

CHICAGO (UP)—State prison wardens have the right to prevent convicts from painting pictures or taking out patents on inventions, the U. S. Court of Appeals ruled yesterday.

The ruling of Justice H. Nathan Swaim upheld U. S. District Judge William J. Campbell's dismissal of a $427,000 suit against Warden Joseph E. Ragen of the Illinois State Penitentiary.

Clyde Wagner, serving a 100-year sentence for the 1937 slaying of an Alton policeman, brought the suit. He alleged his civil rights were violated because Ragen confiscated his paintings and refused to allow him to apply for a patent for a self-heating shoe pad as a protection against frostbite.

Use of Wrought Iron Big Boost to Industry

The addition of soft materials to wrought iron—foam rubber cushions, wood tops for desks, wicker seats and backs for chairs—can be partially credited with the growing popularity of wrought iron furniture for indoor use.

The combination of such materials with wrought iron—actually one of man's oldest furniture materials—has brought this industry out of the done-in-small-shops class into a modern, multi-million dollar industry.

When Painting Outdoors Stay Clear of Dust, Wind

When painting furniture outdoors, select a place to do the work that is protected from the weather and free from dust. Paint the lower sections of chairs and tables first. Turn them upside down so you can work at a convenient level. Then turn them right side up and finish the job. This will save you from having to become an acrobat for the day.

GM Re-Elects 33 to Board of Directors

WILMINGTON, Del. (UP)—The 33 member board of directors of General Motors Corp., all men, was re-elected Friday as a resolution to have women on the board was defeated overwhelmingly at the annual stockholders meeting.

The resolution was defeated 69-270.775 to 849,590. It may not be brought before the stockholders next year because it failed to get three per cent of the total votes cast.

Harlow H. Curtice, company president, reported dollar sales for the first quarter of 1954 were within five per cent of the all time high set last year despite a 14 per cent decrease in defense deliveries.

City Jobless Claims Down 108 in Week

Jobless pay claims dropped by 108 this week, according to Luther C. Olson, manager of the Pontiac office of the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

Claims this week totaled 2,122, as compared to 2,230 the previous week. Initial claims this week totaled 292, compared with 231 during the previous seven-day period and continued claims dropped 169, Olson said.

Mountain Lion Writes News, Views of Humans

The column consists of chatty observations on museum activities.

Honor System Makes Money

Cafe Uses No Prices; Customer Pays What He Feels Meal Merits

SEATTLE, Wash. (UP) — The rising cost of coffee doesn't mean a thing to the proprietors of a small roadside cafe near Seattle. The prices never vary — there aren't any.

Instead of offering a menu with a fixed charge for each item, Mr. and Mrs. Ed V. Connor tell their customers, "Pay what you think it's worth."

Most patrons rate the meals highly. They give more for hamburgers and steaks than Connor would dare put down on a regular menu.

The Connors started their unusual system when Ed became exasperated with a table of customers who couldn't decide what to order. They all wanted steak but were afraid of being served fresh "flet of old Dobbin."

"That did it," Connor said. "I told them to order anything and pay what they thought it was worth. Everybody paid — and more than usual."

From then on there hasn't been a price in the house. Such methods wouldn't work for poor cooks who could easily go broke serving poor dishes. The Connors, with more than 14 years' experience as cooks, know how to select and prepare food.

"People don't cheat," Connor said. "They lean over backwards to be fair and even pay extra cups of coffee. I just leave a fresh pot on the table so they can help themselves. Under the old system, I was second and third-cupped to death."

One evening when a dozen or more teen-agers ordered hamburgers by the gross and soda pop by the gallon, Connor thought his business was about to be wiped out. But the teen-agers paid for everything and even left a tip.

Although the "pay what you think it's worth" method has been in operation only a few months, business has improved so much that the Connors are expanding their cafe and have already added another waitress.

Hal Boyle Says:

Travel Expert Suggests Taking Wife on Journeys

NEW YORK (UP) — If you are planning to go abroad this summer, why not take along something useful? Your wife, for example.

A good sound wife can often perform invaluable services that more than make up for the cost of her passage. She makes a fine talking crutch to lean on in those little emergencies that leave a man helpless.

"Women really do stand up better under travel than men, generally speaking," said Horace Sutton, who has written seven books for footloose folk and armchair tourists.

But this isn't necessarily because husbands are like some fine French wines, too delicate for far journeys, or because wives are like bottled ketchup, durable in any climate.

"I think the real reason is that a man usually goes on a trip for a rest," said Sutton. "He starts tired. But his wife is looking for fun, and she starts fresh and strong."

Under these circumstances a man often becomes short-tempered at travel hardships, whereas a woman, accustomed to getting her own way under all conditions, can evaporate most difficulties with her firm charm.

"A husband will do well to take his wife on his travels, even business trips abroad," said Sutton, "because through her he will be paid more attention."

"American women hold a fascination today for foreigners, who have heard of their independence and their power over men. They want to meet and talk to them. An American wife right now makes a much better good will ambassador for our country than the average husband."

Horace, who is 35, red-haired, and married, served as an Army counter-intelligence agent in the last war. He is travel editor of The Saturday Review. To get material for his latest book, "Sutton's Places," he tripped 100,000 miles through some 20 states and 25 foreign countries, ranging from Finland to Japan. Whenever possible he took his wife, Nancy along.

"She travels better than I do, too," he admitted manfully. "Wore me down on a hike through a snowfield in the Arctic Circle. On a mountain peak in Switzerland she skipped and danced around. I was panting and dizzy. You know—the altitude."

Horace dutifully samples the local dishes wherever he goes, including cactus candy in Arizona, cold octopus in Italy, dried reindeer and salted coffee in Swedish Lapland, boiled seaweed in Japan.

"Actually, I have a lousy stomach," he admitted, "and I think anybody traveling purely for enjoyment can overdo this exploring of foreign foods."

Here are a few Sutton tips to travelers who want to go abroad, have a good time, and return in reasonable shape:

"Don't start off drinking wine three times a day unless you are used to it. It costs you money to be sick abroad."

"Don't eat three rich, heavy meals every day; in Latin countries limit the number of foods you eat that have been cooked in olive oil.

"Don't use ice cubes in drinks in countries where you must drink only bottled water. Bottled beer is usually all right."

"Travel light. At some railway terminals it is impossible to get porters. The best rule is never to take along more baggage than you can carry yourself without strain."

"Don't try to bring your own civilization along and insulate yourself from the country you're visiting. If you try to measure everything you see abroad by how it compares to what you have back home, travel will only narrow your understanding."

"Don't fret if you don't know a foreign language. It isn't necessary. You will always be able to make yourself understood—particularly if your wife is along."

When the U. S. military academy at West Point was opened July 4, 1802, there were only 10 cadets. West Point has been a federal military post since January 20, 1878.

Ed Wynn Has Wacky Idea for TV but Nobody Bites

By ALINE MOSBY
HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Ed Wynn, the zaniest comic in show business, lamented today he finally snared a television idea that's wacky enough to match his talents—but so far nobody's bought it.

For 52 years of his varied career Wynn has been famed for his ludicrous props, hats and gadgets. He has stored hundreds of contraptions in his home, and his closets and trunks are jammed with costumes.

Recently an idea was presented to Wynn that he thought would use up those props and be a sure-fire success on television. But the show was so wacky, he sighed, no sponsor has been found yet to foot the big bill.

Wynn's idea, which sounds better than many a current program,

Youth, 15, Gets Life in 1st Degree Murder

ST. LOUIS (UP)—A 15-year-old boy was convicted of first degree murder yesterday in the slaying of a teen-age girl. A Circuit Court jury set his penalty at life imprisonment.

The boy, Jesse Ray, was charged with slaying 12-year-old Mynette Foster here last Feb. 8. The girl's body was found near her home here with 10 stab wounds and a broken neck.

Assistant Circuit Atty. George W. Draper said the penalty was the stiffest ever given to a juvenile in his experience.

The youth at first denied the crime but later made a written confession to police.

Average time of the moon's circuit around the earth is 27 days 7 1/2 hours.

was to act out those fantastic contraptions drawn by cartoonist Rube Goldberg.

"We would have contestants bring us their problems and we would solve them with these inventions," explained Wynn.

Wynn made one pilot, or test, film of the show. On that show a woman complained she couldn't get her husband out of bed in the morning.

A man wanted an invention to silence his back-seat driver wife.

Another complainant asked for a way to eliminate people who talk too long in public telephone booths.

"For each problem, Goldberg drew an invention and I presented it," said Wynn.

"But the show required 20 actors and $7,000 worth of props to act out the inventions. For example, a man would be shown buying a bottle of ketchup, and the gag had a chain-reaction from there."

So far the idea has not seen the light of a television screen, except when Wynn presented one of the stunts as a guest on Ed Sullivan's "Toast of the Town" show.

"CBS took an option on the program but their option is up," Wynn said sadly.

The comedian with the lisping falsetto giggle and the horn-rimmed glasses hasn't had his own TV show for four years. He was the first comedian with a national program in the beginning days of TV.

But now, he said, if the Goldberg idea fizzles he will return to Broadway.

"I've been sitting around a year and I don't like being inactive," he said.

"TV isn't knocking down my doors so I'll probably do a stage revue next fall," said Wynn.

Court Says No Sale to Producer's Suit

LOS ANGELES (UP)—A judge has ruled in favor of producer Arch Oboler and his associates, sued for $1 1/2 million dollars over the first 3D feature movie, "Bwana Devil."

Producer Edward L. Alperson sued Oboler and the film's distributor, United Artists, and nine investors, alleging he bought the film for two million dollars. The defendants said it was sold to United Artists for $1,750,000. They said an agent had made an agreement to sell the picture to Alperson without their approval.

Superior Judge Joseph W. Vickers held yesterday there was no contract with Alperson.

Lawyers Told to Stop Whispering in Court

ST. LOUIS (UP)—Lawyers should speak right out—for everyone to hear—in conducting conferences with judges in court, says Federal Judge Designate Charles E. Whitaker of Kansas City.

Whispered conferences in court are poor public relations for the legal profession, Whitaker told the St. Louis division of the Missouri Bar yesterday.

Whittaker recently was nominated by President Eisenhower as federal judge for the Western District of Missouri.

Dry Summer in Tokyo: Beer Workers Strike

TOKYO (UP)—It looks like a long, dry summer.

Workers at the nation's three largest beer breweries are currently striking for higher wages—and company officials say the resultant shortage of beer will be felt in late July and early August.

Daily average production of the three breweries is about three million bottles.

Europe Plans for TV in Big June Network

LONDON (INS)—Eight European countries will introduce big-time international television to the world in a blaze of pictorial splendor this June.

Britain, France, Western Germany, Belgium, Denmark, Holland, Italy and Switzerland have organized what has been described by experts as "the greatest undertaking in the history of television"—a month-long TV hook-up to exchange "live" programs.

This first-ever experimental interchange of European TV is confidently expected to lead directly towards a permanent European television network.

The novelty of the ambitious project, unofficially labelled "Eurovision," lies in the fact that, unlike last year's Coronation telecasts which were transmitted only from London to the Continent, a "two-way" system of exchanges will be possible.

Report USW Seeks 50 Cents

U. S. Steel and Union Refuse to Comment on Pay Hike Demands

PITTSBURGH (UP)—A wall of silence and quick retorts of "no comment" met a published report today that the big CIO-United Steelworkers Union is seeking a 50-cent-an-hour pay package boost from basic steel producers.

Some industry observers, although surprised at the figure, felt the union—following an old labor custom—was asking for more than it knew it could get. Others called the report ridiculous.

Officials of the union and U.S. Steel Corp., contract pacesetter of the industry, generally were mum but one union representative did say:

"We prefer to negotiate our contracts at the bargaining table, not in the newspapers."

U. S. Steel and union negotiators would a preliminary three-day bargaining session last Thursday at which the USW outlined its demands. Now the nation's No. 1 steel producer is studying the proposals and expects to have an answer ready in about two weeks.

Contracts expire June 30.

The USW represents some 600,000 workers in basic steel who now earn between $2.14 and $2.24 an hour.

Nationalists Want Isles Under 7th Fleet Aegis

TAIPEH, Formosa (UP)—Nationalist China hopes to put under U.S. 7th Fleet protection a chain of small islands it holds off the Communist-held mainland, sources here indicated today.

The fleet's present assignment is to guard Formosa and its satellite islands, notably the strategic Pescadores, and there was no indication it would be changed.

Invasion of the Tachens, Quemoy

X-ray inspection of grain is sometimes used to find hidden insect infestation.

FLOWERS BEAUTIFY

by J. Lee Voorhees

Flowers have been symbols of esteem for countless centuries; garlands of beautiful blossoms were placed on the brow of heroes; petals were strewn on the path of Royalty as marks of highest esteem; bouquets of gorgeous flowers are handed to the Star of the stage. There can be no greater message of affection than giving flowers to one we love. The mansion on the knoll would be a cold, lonesome structure without flowers. The most humble home, in sordid surroundings, can be a jewel on black velvet when colorful flowers are in evidence. Wild flowers lure thousands of people to our deserts to witness a carpet of staggering beauty.

Flowers are acceptable at anytime but there are occasions when they have a significance words cannot express. When life seems soiled, our path uncertain and doubt clutches our heart, flowers are the beacon to cleanliness, certainty and peace.

Defense Secretary Visiting Hong Kong

HONG KONG (U)—U.S. Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson arrived here today on a Far East tour and said the United States should not fight for Asian peoples unless they ask for help.

"The biggest problem confronting us is to determine whether we are fighting a national movement or Communist aggression," Wilson told newsmen.

"The United States wants to be helpful in social revolutions for nationalism of Asians, but this is not an easy thing to do," he added.

Wilson came here from Formosa and said Nationalist China has "considerable military strength for its size."

The defense secretary characterized recent sea and air clashes between Nationalist and Communist forces as border skirmishes.

Air Force Reverses Stand on Commissions

WASHINGTON (U)—Nearly 5,000 college seniors who faced Air Force enlistment or the Army draft now have a new chance for Air Force reserve and National Guard commissions as second lieutenants.

The Air Force changed direction yesterday and offered commissions to 4,840 college men with air ROTC training. These were men who had been found to be physically unqualified or who were unwilling to become pilots.

Marchioness Gets Rapid-Fire Divorce

EL PASO, Tex. (U)—A quickie Juarez divorce is apparently quicker than the American-born Marchioness of Milford-Haven thought.

Effective today, the marchioness is divorced from the Marquess of Milford-Haven, a cousin of Britain's Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh.

The clerk of the Juarez First Civil Court affirmed last night that Judge Fenando R. Figueroa granted the divorce yesterday, less than 24 hours after the marchioness flew here from New York.

He explained that divorces are granted immediately in such cases where there is no contest by either party.

Judge Figueroa granted the divorce on the grounds of "incompatibility of characters."

The former Mrs. Romaine Simpson filed the papers in the name of Romaine Pierce Simpson and gave her age as 30.

New Boeing Transport Damaged in Testing

SEATTLE (U)—The inboard wing flap of the Boeing Airplane Company's new 15-million-dollar 4-jet commercial transport plane was damaged severely yesterday when the craft's left landing gear buckled during taxiing tests. Boeing officials refused to estimate the cost of the accident.

Federal Figures Show Better Job Situation

WASHINGTON (U)—Fresh Labor Department figures point to an improvement in the unemployment situation.

The department's Bureau of Employment Security said yesterday unemployment among workers covered by state jobless insurance declined by 56,800 during the week ended May 8 to a new level of 2,124,000 — the lowest in three months, but still well above the 899,100 total a year ago.

The bureau traced the improvement to a seasonal employment pickup in certain industries.
